A complete bibliography of Georgia history has not as yet been attempted. Monographs on various periods of our state history are equipped with lists of sources, but there are several gaps, notably in the period of the War between the States. The present book-list, partially annotated, is intended as a preliminary survey, and in no sense claims to cover the field. An effort has been made to select only the more important sources and secondary accounts, so far as they are known to me. Of many omissions I am aware. Georgia history is, of course, treated in all the more comprehensive histories of the United States. These works are not here listed.

Apart from serving as a basis for a more extended bibliography, as well as a guide for University students pursuing courses in Georgia history, it is hoped that the alumni, to whom copies will be sent, will be impressed by the lack of material in the University bearing on our local history. Only those titles which are marked with an asterisk are in the library, and many of these have been acquired very recently. The slender resources of the librarian do not now justify him in purchasing many books needed for constant reference. The librarian will welcome contributions of any unstarred books, as well as other material of historical value, such as memoirs, diaries, letters, etc. Such material, if entrusted to the University library, would not only be preserved from destruction, but would contribute to a wider knowledge of Georgia history.

For helpful suggestions and for assistance in proof-reading I am indebted to Dr. J. H. T. McPherson, Professor of History and Political Science, to Prof. W. D. Hooper, and especially to Mr. Duncan Burnet, University Librarian, who at all stages of the work has lent me the aid of his wide knowledge of books and skill in cataloguing.

A Preliminary Bibliography of Georgia History

(Except in a few instances the titles are arranged by authors. In the index the titles are grouped into subjects. The * indicates that the book is in the University library).

1-6.

A

Adair, James.

The History of the American Indians; particularly those nations adjoining to the Mississippi, east and west Florida, Georgia, etc.

London, 1775.

Adair was a trader and resided among the Indians forty years. "A work of great value, showing the relation of the English traders to the Indians, and is of much importance to the student of Indian customs." Winsor: Narrative and critical hist. of Amer., 5:68.

*Adams, Nehemiah.

A south-side view of slavery; or three months at the south, in 1854.

Boston: 1854.

[2.]

Notes of a Boston preacher who visited Savannah and vicinity in 1854. He came prejudiced against slavery, but his observations were far from agreeing with what he had expected. Roseate picture of slavery.

*Ames, Herman V.

State documents on federal relations.

Phila: Univ. of Penn. 1906.

[3.]

Reprints of original documents. The following are important for Georgia history:

Nos. 3 & 4. The Chisholm case. 1793.

Nos. 52-60. Creek and Cherokee troubles. 1825-35.

No. 69. The tariff. 1827.

Nos. 74-5. The tariff of 1828.

No. 80. Georgia on a southern convention: Nullification. 1832.

No. 107. Resolutions on the abolition question. 1831-9.

No. 132. The Georgia platform. 1850.

*Andrews, C. H.

Long's priority in the discovery of anaesthesia.

Washington: Pub. of Sou. hist. assn., VIII, no. 4. 1904.

[4.]

*Andrews, Eliza Frances.

The war-time journal of a Georgia girl, 1864-1865.

New York: Appleton & Co. 1908. Illus.

[5.]

A very vivid picture of social life in Georgia during the Federal occupation in 1865.

"It is, in fact, what one might call an original document in history." N. Y. Times.

Andrews, Garnett.

Reminiscences of an old Georgia lawyer.

Atlanta: 1870.

[6.]

(3)

821864

Andrews, S.

The south since the war; as shown by fourteen weeks travel in Georgia.

Boston: 1866. [7.]

Angier, N. L.

Proceedings of the investigating committee and testimony against N. L. Angier, state treasurer.

Atlanta, 1870(?). [8.]

Arthur, T. S., and Carpenter, W. H.

History of Georgia.

Phila: 1854 and 1869. [9.]

Narrative extends to c. 1830.

Avery, I. W.

History of Georgia, 1850-1881.

New York: Brown & Derby. 1881. Illus. [10.]

The bulk of the book is devoted to an account of the carpet-bag period. Avery was editor of the Atlanta Constitution from 1869 to 1874 and was thus in a position to keep a close watch over events. Full account of Bullock's administration. Much material on Gov. J. E. Brown. The lack of references to authorities lessens the historical value of the work.

BBanks, Enoch Marvin.

Economics of land tenure in Georgia.

New York: The Columbia University Press. 1905. [11.]

An analysis of the various forms of land tenure in Georgia, the cropping system, the "third and fourth" system, the "standing rent" system. General thesis is that the return to something like the old plantation system is the solution of the present labor troubles. A very interesting book.

Barrow, D. C.

Georgia Plantation.

Scribner's Monthly, v. 21, p. 830. [12.]

Interesting study of the Barrow plantation in Oglethorpe county, showing the division of a large ante-bellum plantation into small farms and the introduction of the tenant system.

Bartram, William.

Travels through North and South Carolina, Georgia, East and West Florida, the Cherokee country, the extensive territories of the Muscogulges, or Creek Confederacy, and the country of the Choctaws.

Phila: James & Johnson. 1791. [13.]

Map of east Florida.

Bourne, Edward Gaylord.

Narrative of the career of Hernando de Soto in the conquest of Florida as told by a knight of Elvas, etc. Trans. by Buckingham Smith.

Contains (v. 2) a map of supposed route taken by de Soto through the southern states.
New York: A. S. Barnes & Co. 1904. 2v. [14.]

Boykin, Samuel.

Memorial of Howell Cobb.

Phila: Lippincott & Co. 1870. [15.]

Of little historical value. No letters or speeches.

Bowen, Elija A.

Story of Wilkes county.

Washington, Ga., c. 1882. [16.]

Brown, Isaac V.

Memoirs of the Rev. Robert Finley.

New Brunswick: 1819. [17.]

Mr. Finley was president of the University of Georgia a short while, dying soon after assuming his duties in 1817. Silhouette of Finley.

Brown, Joseph E.

Correspondence between Governor Brown and President Davis on the constitutionality of the conscript act.

Atlanta: Atlanta Intelligencer. 1862. Pamphlet. [18.]

Brown, Joseph M.

The mountain campaigns in Georgia, or war scenes on the Western and Atlantic R. R.

Buffalo: Art Printing Works. 1886. Illus. [19.]

Bruce, Henry.

Life of General Oglethorpe.

New York: Dodd, Mead & Co., c. 1890. [20.]

"The best brief biography." Amer. lib. assn. review.

Bullock, Rufus B.

Reconstruction in Georgia.

New York: The Independent, March 19, 1903. [21.]

A short defense of the congressional plan of reconstruction.

Testimony before and report of legislative committee appointed to investigate the official conduct of R. B. Bullock, late governor.
Atlanta: 1872. [22.]

Butler, J. C.

Historical record of Macon and central Georgia.

Macon: 1879.

[23.]

"Best local history in the Georgia field." U. B. Phillips.

- History of Georgia.
Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. 1883. 2v. [108.]
- This is the historian's most important work. It is the best account we have of the colonial and revolutionary period of Georgia history. The author intended to write the history of the state in four divisions of a volume each, but completed only the first two volumes, carrying the narrative to the close of the Revolutionary war. Well illustrated. Full references.

Appendix to v. 1, Toombs's Boston address, 1856; appendix v. 2, Steph-ens's letters, speeches; Confederate States provisional and permanent Constitutions; Confederate States civil officers, congressmen, etc.

This work was pronounced by Von Holst to be the most authoritative exposition of the causes of the war from the southern standpoint.

Stephens, Thomas.

A brief account of the causes that have retarded the progress of the colony of Georgia in America, attested upon oath.

London: 1743. Reprinted in Collections, v. II, Ga. hist. soc.
[252.]

Many of the early colonists were thoroughly discontented with their lot.
The favorable accounts of the colony issued by the trust (see Martyn, Benj.)
provoked replies. The regulations of the trustees in the matter of slavery, rum, and land tenure are bitterly complained of, as well as the conduct of Oglethorpe and the magistrates. (See also Tailfer).
