MR. CHARLES BOSSERMAN DIES AT HIS WINTER HOME IN GLENDALE

Mr. Charles Bosserman, father of Bosserman Hardware company, passed away at his winter residence, 1228 Chestnut street, Glendale, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Bosserman was a man of considerable prominence in his home town, La Porte, Indiana. He was at one time president of the State Bank of Indiana. He was also president of the Old Ladies' home there and held other prominent positions.

In masonry, Mr. Bosserman had attained a high rank. He was a Knight Templar and a 32nd degree mason in the Scottish Rite. He was also a Shriner. In the Macabean order he was also a man of prominence.

Mr. Bosserman was born in Newport, Penn. Leaving that city at the age of 17 years he came to La Porte, Ind., where he was for a long time in the hardware business. After a successful career in this business he retired and was in the habit of coming to Glendale, where his son, Mr. Le Roy Bosserman has been engaged in business for the past few years. The deceased was anxious to be near his own people. About three weeks ago he arrived in Glendale and rented a furnished bungalow of Mrs. Chaddock on Chestnut street.

On Wednesday, November 17, Mr. Bosserman was taken suddenly ill and immediately developed high fever. He was attended by Dr. Teel who diagnosed the attack as pneumonia. In spite of most careful nursing the deceased rapidly grew worse and died Sunday.

Mr. Bosserman is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Lee Dresser of Michigan City, Ind., and Mrs. Emmett Scott of La Porte, Ind., and by his son, Mr. LeRoy Bosserman of this city. The remains will be shipped tomorrow to La Porte, Ind. for interment. The Jewel City Undertaking company is in charge of the arrangements.

THREE BIG SERVICES

Large congregations greeted the three big services at the First Baptist church Sunday. The Rev. John H. Troy preached in the morning to an audience that filled the church in every part. In the afternoon special services were held at which A. B. De Roos, a converted Holland Jew told a thrilling story of how he had been converted to the faith of Jesus Christ. De Roos was an actor. Twenty years ago he was giving exhibitions of Turkish dances on the stage. In the course of his engagements he came to Philadelphia where the famous Baptist preacher, Russell Conwell was doing a great Christian work. Under the influence of the preacher, De Roos was led to accept the Christian faith. Immediately his whole family and relatives turned against him, and he was subjected to persistent persecution. He was ostracised and even his mother when she was dying cursed him with her latest breath.

At the evening service, Mrs. Bob Fitzsimons, wife of the Australian prizefighter, a recent convert, gave very interesting details of her conversion. Mrs. Fitzsimons who was an actress told how she had gradually become convinced that there was no peace in this world apart from Christ and how she had resolved to devote her life to His cause. She is now a White Cross nurse. For a time Mrs. Fitzsimons was associated with Nat Goodwin. She is a French woman and has had a vast and interesting experience in the course of her actress' life. She says that all the money Fitzsimons ever made has done him no good. It came easily and went easily. She expressed the belief that Bob would be converted.

Mr. De Roos speaks again at the Baptist church this afternoon and Mrs. Fitzsimons will tell the full story of her life at the evening service.

The gorgeous coloring of an Indian summer beautified the attractive Borthick home, No. 1308 W. 7th St. when on Saturday afternoon, Miss Fredonia Borthick, worthy Matron of the Eastern Star received as special guests the incoming officers whom she is to install on the evening of December 16, and a few friends.

Autumn leaves, boughs and huge bunches of grapes hung everywhere, affording a novel setting for the delightful afternoon spent at cards.

Mr. A. M. Beamon, worthy patron, was the only gentleman present throughout the afternoon. Messrs. E. U. Emery, E. K. Daniels and the hostess' father, F. L. Borthick joined the party in time for supper.

The 500 scores were kept upon hand-embellished autumn leaves, Mrs. F. A. Pollock being awarded the winner's prize, while the consolation fell to the lot of Mrs. Ed Carvel.

An elaborate hot supper was served at the small tables, covers being arranged for Mesdames E. U. Emery, Warren Roberts, J.H. Hunchberger, Sallie Campbell Braden, Anna L. Smith, Henry Story (nee Miss Faith Sence) of Burbank, F. A. Pollock, Ed Carvel and the Misses Lulu and Minnie Hughes of Norwalk, Cora Hickman, May Cornwell, Harriett Nichols, Della Echols; Messrs. A. METHODIST BARACAS WIN

What turned out to be a rather one-sided game of American football was played Friday afternoon between the Junior Baraca teams of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches. The Methodist team outclassed the Presbyterians in cleverness of playing. The Presbyterians had all the weight on their side but the Methodists using the forward pass with great effect went through their lines with ease. Trusting to weight to win, the Presbyterians endeavored to force an advance by straight-line bucks. Wilbur Lee made the two touchdowns scored by the Methodists. No field kicks were successful. The score was 12-0 in favor of the Methodists. The line-up was as follows: Fanset, l. e.; Franc, l. g.; Claver, r. g.; Tummel, r. e.; Berkman, l. e.; Brooks, l. t.; Ingledue, c.; Reid, r. t.; Stokes, s.; Laichinger, r. h.; Lee, f.

TURKEY DINNER

Foss, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. P. Diederick, Mr. and Mrs. Severance of Los Angeles, Misses Arline Hallihan, Edith Booth, Miss Riensoldson of Los Angeles, Messrs. H. E. Johnson, James Mason, Ernest Gregg and H. Miller of Los Angeles.

The perfectly appointed dinner was served on a large oval board, artistically done in chrysanthemums and fern sprays, with miniature bird favors at each place. The dining room was brightened with brilliant red cannas and foliage. After the dinner hour all sorts of games afforded amusement for those present.

IN JUDGE WHOMES' COURT

Stupified by the liquor he had drunk and wholly helpless and ignorant of his whereabouts Nono Giarda, a Mexican, was discovered by the police Saturday wandering about the streets. He was placed under arrest and was found to be in possession of two bottles of brandy, $14 and a bankbook. The police took charge of him and released him Sunday morning on bail. He appeared this morning before Judge Wholmes and was fined $5.00.

AVALON HALF DESTROYED BY FIRE

TWO HOTELS AND 150 SUMMER COTTAGES AND THE TUNA CLUB AND WHARF BURNED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AVALON, Catalina Island, Nov. 29.—Half of Avalon was destroyed by fire today. The fire originated in the Grand View hotel, at 2.45 this morning. A strong wind was blowing at the time and the fire traveling on the wings of the half-gale, swept the business section. The island has little or no fire protection and with what imperfect apparatus that could be assembled there was no chance to stop the course of the flames. The fire traveled down the business section for two blocks where it caught the Hotel Metropole, and swept it out of existence. It then destroyed the Tuna club, the Bristol cafe and the wharf with its stands. The damage is estimated at $500,000.

The Banning company which controls the Island is the greatest loser. The hotel Metropole was insured for $100,000. The steamer Hermosa was summoned by wireless to aid the firefighters and rendered all assistance possible. It took away the guests of the hotels to San Pedro and returned with provisions for the stricken city. The only thing that saved the city from being entirely wiped out was the fact that the wind died out at 9 a. m.

AVALON, Nov. 29. (1 p. m.)—Sheriff Futmaier stated today that the fire which destroyed so great a part of Avalon this morning was of criminal origin. He said that the home of Captain J. Willy was destroyed by an explosion, Saturday night, and added that it was his belief that a similar explosion in the Grand View hotel started the fire this morning.

PREVENTION AND CURE

DR. J. E. ECKLES SAYS TUBERCULOSIS CAN BE CURED IF ONLY DIAGNOSED AND TREATED EARLY

Under new directorship the Bureau of Tuberculosis is experiencing a process of reorganization. The field is immense. The state is now granting a subsidy to such counties as raise the standard of tuberculosis hospitals. All this has directed public attention to the question of tuberculosis and it has been found that 75 per cent of the patients who die from tuberculosis have incomes of less, much less, than $1000. With such an income the question of a private room at a hospital is out of the question. Again, 47 per cent of those who die from tuberculosis are married and 27 per cent of the orphans cared for by the state are children of fathers and mothers, one or the other and sometimes both of whom have died from tuberculosis.

What should be done to handle such a situation? Where can the community to protect itself send these patients? Where can 47 per cent of these patients, who have families and want to be near them, and at the same time receive care and treatment, go? In all California there are 860 beds in county hospitals. There are more than 5000 deaths from tuberculosis annually, in the state. What is done with all the patients for whom there is no room? These questions are in process of being solved by the tuberculosis bureau.

"Meantime," said Dr. J. E. Eckles, D. O. M. D., to a representative of The Glendale Evening News, "it would be well for the public to know that tuberculosis is a curable disease if diagnosed early and treated in its first stage. It is a great matter to know early the nature of the disease. We frequently find in the hospitals patients who have had tuberculosis and have recovered from it. In some of these cases a large area has been affected, but it has healed and the patient ultimately died of something else."

"Tuberculosis is more dangerous when it attacks young people. There is more chance of a grownup party recovering from the disease. Older people, too, are less likely to become affected with it. To prevent tuberculosis children should as a matter of precaution have removed all obstructions to the respiratory system, such as adenoids, or growths on the tonsils or diseased tonsils; nasal deformities should be corrected. Whatever obstructs the proper oxygenation of the blood is an aid to tuberculosis."

"Living as much as possible in the open air is also a means of protection. The sleeping porch is a great preventive; or a tent. Avoid draughts. The draught is frequently sufficient to start the disease, because it attacks a single point. With proper precautions there is no danger of tuberculosis infection. Sunlight is the great foe to the disease; therefore to live much in the sunlight is to insure against the possibility of infection."

"There is a great deal of tuberculosis in California because so many people come here to get the benefit of the climate. Doctors, too, send patients here when it is manifest that they cannot get better. Many come in the last stages of the disease. As a matter of fact just because it is possible to be in the open air in California almost every day in the year there is less chance of taking tuberculosis here than in any other state."

"In addition to open air and sunshine people should avoid overeating. They should also take time to masticate their food and to digest it. They should avoid too rich food and if they can dash the throat, face and chest with cold water every morning they can fortify themselves against the disease. With these precautions I believe it will be found that there is less danger of taking tuberculosis in California than elsewhere."

TRAMPS IN VACANT HOUSES

During the past six weeks there have been various reports concerning the occupation of vacant houses by tramps. Usually the information has reached the police after the transient occupants of the houses had betaken themselves out of town. The casual tramp is cunning enough to keep still when he occupies vacant premises knowing that any unusual noise will attract attention. Sometimes, however, immunity from detection makes them lose their caution and they light fires; consume liquor and talk loudly. This appears to have been the case in connection with certain vacant premises on Louise street, concerning which complaint has been made. The police will keep strict watch on this as on other premises.

PAST AND FUTURE

CHORAL CLUB; BIRTHDAY SURPRISE; FIRE ALARM; BROTHERHOOD MEETING; EARLY COPY

Tonight is the date of the Glendale Choral club concert at 8.15 at the Masonic hall. Music lovers will have an excellent opportunity of hearing a good and carefully arranged program. Two well known and widely known artists will appear in voice numbers, Mrs. Catherine Shank, soprano of Glendale and Mr. George H. Bemus, basso of Los Angeles.

Miss Ina Whitaker will appear publicly for the first time since her return from Europe where she spent three years of study under masters in Berlin and London.

A special effort should be made by Glendale people to attend this affair as the chorus members are all local people as well as Mrs. Shank and Miss Whitaker.

Tickets can be had at the door for the very moderate sums of 25 and 35 cents.

13TH BIRTHDAY

In a setting of bright red geraniums Mrs. G. H. Rowe of 516 Orange street entertained several young girls at an impromptu birthday party in honor of little Miss Nellie Rowe, who celebrated her 13th natal day on Saturday, the 27th. The affair was a real "chocolate" party, for there was a huge chocolate cake with thirteen pink tapers lighted, chocolate to drink and plenty of chocolate candies to eat. The guests hidden remembered their young hostess with many pretty gifts and the afternoon was spent at games, both inside and out-of-doors. Guests bidden to the happy birthday party were Miss Avis Thompson, Miss Edith Haggman, Miss Margaret McCluskey, Miss Violet Mock, Miss Hettie Orth, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Lucile Thompson, Miss Marguerite Paul, Miss Marion Springer, Miss Mercedes Spong, Miss Gladys Russell, Miss Clara Russell, Miss Beryle Caswell of Perris Valley, and Miss Cora Thayer of Los Angeles.

FALSE ALARM OF FIRE

An alarm of fire was turned in this forenoon shortly after 11 o'clock. The fire department responded at once. On arriving at the premises indicated, the store at 419 S. Brand boulevard, occupied by the Glendale Paper and Paint company, it was found that someone had taken alarm at the volume of smoke pouring out of the chimney of the establishment. This was caused by the burning of a few oil-soaked rags in the stove.

CONGREGATIONAL BROTHERHOOD

What is certain to prove both an interesting and entertaining meeting of the Congregational Brotherhood will take place tonight in the Congregational church at 8 o'clock. The Brotherhood has arranged for an excellent speaker in the person of Mr. Cross, principal of the Pasadena High School. The meeting will be open to the public. Ladies are specially invited to attend. The Men's Quartet, consisting of Messrs. H. W. Yarrick, L. P. Abell, Blake Franklin and R. W. Beers, will give a program of music. The quartet is deservedly popular on account of its efficiency and its readiness to oblige. Another feature of the evening will be a violin and piano selection by Dr. H. V. Everly and Mrs. Everly—Menuett by Beethoven.

HANDING IN COPY

The Evening News is asked the question so often, "When is the latest I can get a communication to your office for publication?" The reply is as early as possible, and that time is usually too late. All communications and announcements should reach the office very early on the day of publication or the day prior. It is not the preference of the publisher to hold communications and announcements until the following day, but sometimes it is absolutely necessary to do so. A newspaper can never be absolutely sure of the space to be taken by advertising until late in the day, and as paid matter is so essential to the success of a paper the requests of advertisers must not be ignored.

Mr. Luis L. Schremp and bride recently of Rockwell, Iowa are house guests in the J. J. Schremp home, No. 1442 West Broadway. After a short visit with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Luis L. Schremp will move to the Hawthorne apartments, for they fully expect to make Glendale their home.

EDUCATING THE EDUCATORS

Realizing that the future greatness of the United States depends largely on the prosperity of the 50,000,000 men, women and children who live in the rural communities of the land, the Federal Education Bureau has started to educate the country school teacher, so that she can educate the fifty million and equip them to become prosperous.

Every state, county, township and village in the country and the National Education Association is helping Uncle Sam in this education of educators with a view to ultimate national prosperity. The first step in the campaign was the organization of the National Rural Teachers' Reading circle, through the co-operation of the National Education association and state departments of public instruction. H. W. Foght, specialist in rural school practice, is directing the work from the Bureau of Education. Branches have been organized in 34 states, giving an opportunity to 250,000 rural school teachers to have a part in this work.

By means of a two years' course of non-professional books of culture value, educational classics, general principles and methods of education, rural education and rural life problems, it is hoped to raise very considerably the standard of knowledge among the teachers and thus indirectly influence the various communities. Those who give satisfactory evidence of having read intelligently seven-teen books from the lists given will be awarded a "With Honor" certificate, signed by the United States Education Commissioner and the state school officials.

There is no doubt a vast deal of truth in the idea that Mr. Foght has, that the greatness and the future of the American nation depend on the prosperity of its rural communities. No one will deny that the 50,000,000 men, women and children in the open country and in villages and small towns must have more adequate opportunity for wholesome and remunerative living. To produce this effect the rural communities must have new leadership. They must have men and women of the highest education among them that from those individuals as from a center may emanate a new spirit. The human element in this case is the greatest factor of all.

In every center the teacher can be a means of spreading education of a cultural and practical kind. How can this be done where the teacher has little more than an elementary education; has had no opportunity for travel even in his or her own country; has no library of value at command and too often has no means of acquiring farther knowledge than the mere smattering acquired in a very meager course.

How valuable is the influence of a clever, able, cultured individual in any small community is well known. Often a community takes its tone from such a person. Too often the tone has to be acquired from some empty-headed individual, with the tooth and claw of the beast of prey, who has acquired money by rapacity and has no other possession.

GREECE'S ATTITUDE TOWARD THE WAR

No man in Greece is better fitted to speak for the nation than the man who was premier of the country, twice elected by the people, but sacrificed by the king—M. Venizelos. He is a man of vast experience and wide knowledge of European affairs. Venizelos is strong on the side of Greece and thinks the best interests of that country would be served by its observation of the treaty which binds it to go to the assistance of Serbia. He believes that Greece would be acting wisely to assist to preserve the balance of power that is created by the existence of an independent state in Serbia.

Venizelos urges on the Greek people the necessity of going to the help of the brave Serbians who are in danger of annihilation by the two strong powers, Germany and Austria, aided by Bulgaria. He tells his countrymen that the question is not whether they shall go to war but when. Bulgaria, he tells them, is pushing toward their frontier with evident intention to grab all it can get.

Now is the time, according to this statesman, to take the step that shall put an end to this aggression. He tells his countrymen that the leading military men of Greece are of the opinion that the Central Powers will win in this struggle; but he also points out to them that those military men were educated in Germany and are naturally prejudiced in favor of that country's system, he admits that a great portion of the daily press of Greece is controlled by German money and is made to speak in terms of German thought.

The Greek statesman, however, points out that if Germany could not win at the outset of the war when she had everything in her favor that she is less likely to win now when every day sees an increase in the Allies' fighting strength. He tells his countrymen that they need not mix in this war at all and yet that they may secure all the advantages they desire from the struggle. Greece has only to keep her sword in hand and inform Bulgaria that she is ready to defend her remotest interests in the present alignment of the Balkan states to make a complete change in the whole aspect in the Balkans.

There is no doubt that if the advice of the ex-premier had been taken there would have been no outbreak on the part of Bulgaria. Even now by neglecting to follow the advice thus given Greece is in great danger. Serbia is threatened with annihilation and Bulgaria is likely to acquire part or the whole of Servian Macedonia and to extend her possessions to the Adriatic. It is likely that Greece will realize this position when it is too late.

With an army controlled by officers educated in Germany; with a king who is greatly in sympathy with the Germans by reason of his marriage with the kaiser's sister, Greece is facing war one way or the other. It is an unfortunate position in which to be placed and it is still more unfortunate that Greece should have clung to an obsolete monarchy instead of having become long ago a free republic, a form of government to which her ancient history should have inclined her.

We cannot climb the heights of lofty action if our motives lie below sea level.

WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS

Editor The Glendale Evening News:
The News, November 22, 1915, published an article entitled "Increase of Knowledge and What Do These Things Mean?" The writer quotes the Scriptures Daniel 12:4 as referring to the time of the end. He asks the question, "Has there been an increase of knowledge sufficiently notable to indicate that we have reached the time of the end?" He mentions a number of modern inventions and refers to them as an unmistakable sign of the approaching end. He also quotes from the prophet Nahum 2:3-5 and says that it refers to these modern electric cars, automobiles, etc., and points out as God's preparation for the end.

I am puzzled to know what end the writer has in mind for he cannot reconcile these scriptures with the 20th century automobile. Nor will they harmonize with any present or future end. Any one with a fair increase of knowledge can read the book of Daniel and see that this reference does not refer to this era; for Daniel 12:4 is explained by Daniel 12:7 which tells us when that end came. In verse 6 the question is asked, "How long shall it be to the end of these wonders?" and the reply in verse 7 is "That it shall be for a time, times, and a half; and when he shall have accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished."

The time is clearly the last great crisis of the Jews in the time of Antiochus Epiphanes, a little more than a hundred years before the Saviour's birth, and 1900 years before the invention of the modern automobile to which the writer connects it. This is established in two ways: 1. The contextual reading is clear on this point. 2. Josephus the great historian of the Jews tells us that they "spoiled the temple, and put a stop to the constant practice of offering daily sacrifices of expiation for three years and six months, which is the interpretation of Daniel 12:7—"for a time, times, and a half." From this dispersion of the Jews they were scattered throughout the world and their persecution as a distinct holy people of Israel came to an end, and this corresponds to verse 7 in the latter part which says, "all these things shall be finished."

The writer must have been taking a "joy ride in a modern jitney bus or had wheels in his head when he quoted from Nahum 2:3-5 and said it referred to electric cars and automobiles at the present time, for this scripture clearly recites the overthrow of that ancient city of Nineveh as is shown by the very first words the prophet utters (chapter 1, verse 1)—"The burden of Nineveh." This end is also far removed from the present "increase of knowledge" as evidenced by so many modern inventions.

We may be coming to the end; this I do not know; but this one thing I do know, that is that we cannot legitimately use Daniel 12:4 and Nahum 2:3-5 to prove that point without perverting the intended meaning of the plain word of God. The automobile, electric cars and the Ford are useful means of transportation and may be used for the good of mankind as a blessing, but they may be used as a curse now as they were in the times of Nineveh, and I am quite sure if Daniel or Nahum were alive today and imbued with the spirit of prophecy they would speak against the abuse of these good vehicles, crying out for the joy rider to repent of his wickedness or speedy destruction would follow.

Our end will depend on how fast we are hitting the road, whether the end of the world comes while we are here or at the time of some other generation. In using the scriptures so carelessly the writer shows no better morals than the auto speeder.

AMERICANS IN AIR WAR

(By a Correspondent of the United Press)

The Americans in the French Aviation Corps are making good. There are six of them left; one, Jimmy Bach of Utah, having recently been taken prisoner by the Germans.

Among the others are Elliott Cowden, wealthy Bostonian and a good polo player; Bert Hall of Texas, lean, lank and good-natured; Billy Thaw, of Pittsburgh; Norman Prince and some others. I saw Hall and Cowden today. Both are "fast cruisers," flying the swiftest machines in the squad. Georges Carpentier, the famous French middleweight youngster, is a member of the same group. I visited the aerodrome towards sundown. One by one the birds were coming home to roost, circling over the field, volplaning down, turning and rolling back on the ground under their own power. Down from one of the tiniest of these—a beautiful, shortwinged creation in pearl-gray and blue—stepped Hall. Seating himself on a runner he was helped out of his fur-lined overalls, Esquimaux boots and other Arctic overwear.

"Gee!" he exclaimed, walking up and warming his hands before a benzine flare lighted to guide belated pilots home. "Lordy, but it's cold up there!"

"I thought I was going to be late," he said. "I got out pretty far. It is no joke landing in one of these little rapid boys like mine, even in the day time. And if it is getting dark the machine capsize three-fourths of the time. Leon Hourlier and his brother-in-law, Leon Comes, both famous French bicycle racers, were killed in the same machine only the other day on this very field in just such a stupid landing accident. Pretty tough to escape the Germans only to get smashed before your own door, eh?"

The French air fleet is now as perfectly organized and in much the same way as is the high seas fleet. It has its powerful two-engined, double propelled planes corresponding to the dreadnaughts. They can mount to any altitude quickly, taking considerable high explosive in addition to pilot and observer. There are super-dreadnaught, some with three planes and enormous double engines carrying bombs enough to blow up a small town, in addition to a cannon and machine-guns. There are scouts, "coast-defense" planes, escort cruisers for the slower, bigger, mightier air navigators.

This is a big change from the first days of the war when an aeroplane performed any service its pilot was ordered to do. Hall, for example, never carries explosives. His duty, with his swift, short-winged biplane, is either to do scout service far behind the German front, or accompany a bombarding fleet and, like a destroyer at sea, ward off the enemy. When you read of the French air fleet bombarding some position or other in German territory, you may know that these lightning fast biplanes accompany it, scouting in advance and protecting it on flanks, rear, above and below.

Other aeroplanes specialize on photographing; still others cruise behind their own lines, coast defending, chasing or attacking with machine-guns any German planes coming over. These "chasers" are so constructed that they can train their machine guns on the enemy from any angle, up, down, fore or aft. All these machines are armored.

The flower of the army is in the aviation group. The air service appeals to all classes, but particularly the sporting element, and it can take its pick from many candidates. The officers are exceedingly smart and the underlings a very superior type.

MARY'S FRISKY LAMB

Mary had a little lamb
Which used to prance and play;
It made folks grin and chortle in
A comic operay.

Two acrobats composed this lamb;
You doubtless know the kind—
One chap was grand as front legs, and
The other did the hind.

When Mary saw the hit they made
She had a jealous chill.
She took her things and now she sings
In current vaudeville.

LACE CORSETS POPULAR

You can't put an 1830 bodice on a 1915 figure with any great success. Hence, since femininity just must wear these adorable little boned and pointed bodices it is up to femininity to reconstruct the female form divine. Special corsets to make the firm foundation for this work of reconstruction are now on the market and the spot.

They differ in three vital points, or perhaps we should say curves, from "little old last year's" stays. They are two and three inches higher in the bust, smaller and more curved at the waist and most amazing of all, they are shorter and less boned over the hip, with what is called a "free hip" finish.

Doesn't it just take your breath away to think that you are going to have fashion on your hip again? What will probably take your breath a trifle more, however, is when you pull on your 1915 corset strings to get the new curved-in waist effect. Don't let anybody else string you for it's going to be a mighty hard yank. The sartorial success of this season's dame hangs on a string. She starts it with a corset lace and ends up with a shoestring.

Let there be no waste of energy in the pull, either, or there will be no waist of modish dimensions in the corsets.

Front lace corsets are gaining ever increasing popularity because of their greater comfort as well as their good lines. They are most successful with medium and heavy figures. For the truly svelte the back lace effects are the most approved models. Simplicity of line and adornment is the keynote of the new corsets and they are staid stays indeed.

Frills of lace and ornate trimmings are lacking, but in many exquisite pale tints of silk broche are the corsets evolved in their entirety.

Where once all save white or flesh tinted corsets were frowned upon by the fashionably elect, now maize, azure, Nile green, mauve, grey, apricot and even black ones are clasped to most fastidious bosoms.

Verily, with the new high lace corsets either front or back, and the new

ADORNED WITH FLOWERS

Rarely beautiful artificial flowers seem to be used by Redfern on many of his evening gowns. For instance, on a black and white gown I will describe were two large calla lilies. The gown was black chiffon over white satin and the satin was veiled with white chiffon, on which were undulations of black chiffon at the top and bottom. This was veiled again with black chiffon on which were corresponding undulations of black velvet. The same idea was carried out in an 1830 bodice which had little puffed sleeves finished with velvet and ruffs of black and pink tulle plissee together. The effect produced from plaiting the tulle in this way, doubling the black with the pink, is a gray tint, and very charming. And the lilies added to the artistic effect, one of them being white faintly tinged with green, and the other yellow, while the leaves were of a vivid green velvet.

Still another black and white model was for a restaurant gown. It had a white satin foundation over which was a very strong black tulle skirt having four graduated bands of Lynx beads. A band of these beads also formed the belt, and there were two narrow bands on each side of a white tulle front. This front was gathered into bands of one fourth inch silver on two at its lower part and one to finish the top at the neck. The long sleeves had close fitting linings of tulle, while fuller ones of black tulle formed one large puff, being held close below the elbow by three bands of the silver ribbon and ruffling over the hand. At the back there was a little mantilllette of black tulle, falling from the shoulders early to the waist. This was edged at top and bottom with beads. The corsage was unlined except for a band of satin veiled with white lace.

TROPICO

Samuel Rasmusson of Selma, Cal., who while attending Throop College in Pasadena is Eugene H. Imler's roommate in the new dormitory, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with young Imler at the latter's home, Palm Villa, on West Park avenue. Eugene and his college chum spent three days camping in the mountains north of La Crescenta. This would be rather a novel experience for eastern college boys, so late in the season. Young Imler and his friend returned to their studies at Throop this morning, very much rested and refreshed from their holiday outing. Imler and Rasmusson were on the Throop football team, where they received vigorous training and also participated in the pole rush, the first ever given in Throop college.

Mrs. Edward U. Emery of 115 So. Kenwood street is recovering from a recent indisposition that was sufficient to earn much earnest solicitude among her many friends in Glendale and Tropic.

Mrs. Audrey Smith entertained Miss Cora Hickman of West Park avenue, Tropic, at the banquet given Tuesday evening at Christopher's by the Woman's Press club of Southern California.

Miss Minnie Hughes and sister, Miss Lulu Hughes, of Norwalk, were the week-end guests of Miss Fredonia Borthick and sister, Miss Ruby Borthick, at their Seventh street home.

Miss Phoebe Armstrong and her equally talented sister, Miss Dorothy Armstrong, of Blanche avenue, each year contribute a musical program for the benefit of some worthy institution. This year these two charming artists have decided to assist the Children's Hospital of Los Angeles, and will give a benefit concert at the U. C. Washburn home, on Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles, Wednesday evening, December 8. Miss Phoebe Armstrong will appear in several piano selections; Miss Dorothy Armstrong in violin numbers; Miss La Rooka Conwell, cello, and Mrs. Grace Broufield Haver, who achieved so much renown in the great musical aggregation, Fairyland, will delight the audience with several vocal numbers. The program will then be varied from solos, by each of these clever artists, to duets and trios, thus affording a splendid program by accomplished artists.

Since the Pythian Sisters scored such a financial success with their Christmas bazaar and cafeteria dinner, the Knights of Pythias have been anxious to demonstrate just what they can do and are arranging to give a minstrel show in K. of P. hall, on San Fernando boulevard, Thursday and Friday evenings, December 2 and 3. The first part of this big minstrel show will consist of funny songs, jokes and sayings of the down South darkey. Then there will be the olio of six big vaudeville acts, including music, song specialties, monologues, sketches, novelty acts, etc., concluding with the amusing afterpiece, "Careless Cupid, or fun in a bakery. A grand free band concert by the Tropic band at 7 p. m. at the entrance to the K. of P. hall, both nights, will be special features of this show. These will be the initial performances of the Tropic Concert band. Merrill Burke has but recently been honored by being appointed director of the band.

Many pretty and dainty Christmas concerts will be on sale in the Christmas Shop, to be given under the auspices of the Tropic Thursday club, Tuesday, Nov. 30, in Knights of Pythias hall on San Fernando boulevard. Luncheon will be served at noon, while in the evening a cafeteria dinner will be one of the pleasant features of the shop. Mrs. Karl E. Hollingsworth, as chairman, will preside at the booth where fancy articles and various holiday gifts will be on sale. Miss Elsie Anderson will look to the success of the fish pond and grab barrel, while Mrs. Harry Bowman will preside at the booth where homemade candies, bon-bons and sweet meats will be on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Coleman of Blanche avenue entertained with a charmingly appointed dinner party at their home Thursday evening, when their guests, including Mr. and Mrs. James Hood of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bone of Tropic and Mrs. R. Hanna of Tennessee, who is spending the winter in Southern California, alternating her visits to her sisters, Mrs. Hood and Mrs. Coleman.

Mrs. Herman Melrose is entertaining as her house guests at her home, 304 Blanche avenue, Mrs. May A. Parsons and Mrs. Flora Pugh, who arrived Sunday morning from Merced for a visit of several weeks with Mrs. Melrose and family.

Midst a profusion of radiant bloom mingled with generous hospitality and good cheer, Thanksgiving day was celebrated at Palm Villa by Mrs. David H. Imler and her sister, Miss Cora Hickman, who entertained a coterie of friends at a six o'clock dinner. Autumn leaves in a riot of glorious colors formed the base of a pretty mound of fruit of tree and vine, for the table's center, accentuated with white and gold chrysanthemums arranged in a huge crystal bowl. Those seated with Mrs. Imler and her sister were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Calhoun and son, Will Calhoun, of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Eva M. Blain and son, Merrill Blain, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Frank I. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Poland of Lyons, Kansas; J.

B. Hickman, Miss Marjorie Imler, Samuel Rasmusson, of Pasadena, Colie E. Kenney, Berna Martin and Eugene H. Imler.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson C. Ayres of Los Angeles, who are spending the winter in Tropic with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ayres, were the guests Thursday at a dinner party given by Mrs. Ayres' sister, Mrs. Meyers, at her home in Los Angeles.

NORTH GLENDALE

In honor of the birthday of Dr. J. E. Eckles, of 920 North Central avenue, his charming wife entertained informally at a prettily appointed dinner Saturday evening, the guests who enjoyed the happy occasion including Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Howe of 1605 Ruth street and Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Alston of Edendale.

Mrs. Margaret Glenn of 421 North Brand boulevard was the guest over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McKeever of Hollywood.

Mr. Lawrence Williams and family, who for the past year have occupied a residence on Burchett street, have moved to 1520 Lorraine street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Alston of 1344 Valley View road entertained as their guests at dinner very recently Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bullard of Salem street and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Howes of 1605 Ruth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Dunn of 1600 Ruth street left recently for San Francisco, where they will spend two weeks visiting the fair and other points of interest while there.

Miss Elizabeth Terry of Los Angeles was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. H. Brown, of 913 San Rafael St., during the past week.

Mrs. Alfred Hezmalhalch and little son Jack, of 1433 West Seventh street, were luncheon guests of Miss Alpha Clement of 1321 North Pacific avenue, last Friday.

Mrs. Judd Mead of 1648 Ruth St. was the guest for the day of Mrs. U. S. Moffatt of West First street, Belvedere District, Los Angeles, on Saturday of last week.

At Fairmount Hotel

The Fairmount hotel has reservations for nineteen turkey dinners, Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Hanger assured the Progress reporter that she had two turkeys ready—and if they wouldn't go around, she'd see to it that everybody would get all they wanted anyway.

Parent-Teachers Meet

La Crescenta's Parent-Teacher association held the largest meeting in the history of that organization last Friday evening at the school. Over seventy valley people were present and the following interesting program was given:

a greater interest than ever before was being taken in the local school now that the new building is nearing completion.

Miss Blanche Craven of Los Angeles was a guest at the T. P. Dyer home Sunday.

Goss Canyon people are very much elated over the "strike" made Monday by Mr. Aiken, who is extending their water tunnel one hundred feet. He reached the thirty-three foot mark and found a flow of one miner's inch with prospects of much more.

The stage line which has been running between Littlelands, Sunland and the La Crescenta terminus of the Glendale & Montrose railway was discontinued last Sunday. It didn't pay, say the stage people, Paul Johnson, however, has been running the old bus for the accommodation of the High School pupils night and morning.

Real Estate Doings

Joe Hawkins, La Crescenta's real estate man, at the depot, reports the following transactions during the past week: The half-acre lot next to Dave Cochran's place was purchased by his sister-in-law, which she will improve; Green's cottage rented to W. M. Ostrander of Los Angeles.

Mr. J. Lewestein is quite ill at his home on Los Angeles avenue.

Mrs. Wm. Scheuner celebrated her birthday in Los Angeles last week with her daughter.

The well drillers have completed the second well for R. A. Walton and will now commence a third. There is every indication of an enormous supply of water, which will aid materially in developing the valley.

Mrs. Hendrickson is suffering from asthma and a bad cold and is barely able to be about.

Mr. Cookson's son from Fullerton is visiting at the ranch home. Incidentally, young Mr. Cookson is making his vacation profitable and is working for the La Crescenta Water company during his stay.

The grading outfit which is working on the State Highway has reached Pennsylvania avenue. Old Michigan avenue is beginning to assume a new aspect and before long some of the old timers will no longer recognize it.

Miss Katherine Klassen is at San Francisco enjoying the exposition.

Miss Kate Smith spent the weekend at her bungalow on New York avenue.

Mrs. R. Toschke has recovered from an attack of heart failure, from which she suffered a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Fehlhaber have become grandparents again, their daughter having recently given birth to a fine baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wetherbee were visitors in Los Angeles at their son's home the fore part of the week.

Mr. Nettleton of Mayfield avenue is building another house.

Water Company Busy

The La Crescenta company's men were busy relaying pipes on Michigan avenue (the State Highway) the first of the week. The plows which were excavating for the new surfacing had so damaged the pipes that it was decided to relay them. Water was off several hours a couple of days.

TEST QUESTIONS FOR THE "EDUCATED"

A professor of the University of Chicago has evolved a series of test questions for the educated, which, he avows, are the best evidences of a real education. If you answer "yes" to all the questions you are truly educated, the professor says. Here are the questions:

- Has education given you sympathy with all the good causes and made you espouse them?
Has it made you public spirited?
Has it made you a brother to the weak?
Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?
Do you know what it is to be a friend to yourself?
Can you look an honest man or pure woman in the eye?
Do you see anything to love in a little child?
Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?
Can you be high-minded and happy in the meanest drudgeries of life?
Do you think that washing dishes and hoeing corn is just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?
Are you good for anything yourself?
Can you be happy alone?
Can you look out on the world and see anything but dollars and cents?
Can you look into a mud-puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?
Can you see anything in the puddle but mud?—Riverside Press.

NATION-WIDE EMPLOYMENT

Few of our readers are, perhaps, aware that the United States government, through the Department of Labor, has inaugurated as a part of the Division of Information a country-wide employment bureau. It is the belief of those connected with the work that it will go far toward improving business conditions in the United States. The underlying principle of the work is, perhaps, best expressed by the Secretary of the Department of Labor in the following words:

"The Department of Labor has established Distribution Branches throughout the country for the purpose on the one hand of developing the welfare of the wage earners of the United States and improving their opportunities for profitable employment, and on the other hand of affording to employers a method whereby they may make application for such help as they need, either male or female, citizens or alien residents, and have their wants supplied through said Distribution Branches." Comparative statistics show that there has been in some portions of the United States a surplus of labor, while in other portions a deficiency. It is believed that this condition will be almost, if not entirely, eliminated by this work. This will appear from the following brief explanation of the system under which the work is conducted:

The United States has been divided into eighteen sections or "Distribution Zones," as they are called, and in each of these zones an employment office has been opened. These zones in nearly every case have been subdivided and branch offices opened under the jurisdiction of the controlling zone office. This means that a large number of employment offices have been opened by the United States government. At these offices the employer who needs help of any kind, skilled or unskilled, be he farmer, merchant, manufacturer, or whatever his business, can secure what he wants without any more trouble or expense than the work of stating what he desires, and the expense of a postage stamp if he finds it inconvenient to call at the Distribution Office in person. Neither is any fee accepted by the government from those seeking employment. It goes even further; every postmaster in the United States is a representative of this Employment Bureau. At every postoffice in the United States will be found, on application to the postmaster, blanks for the use of employers in need of help and for the use of persons seeking employment. These blanks, upon being handed to the postmaster, are transmitted by him, free of charge to the proper zone office, where both blanks are properly registered, and proper help selected for the employer in need of help, either from applicants residing in the city in which the office is located, or on applications on file. On the day the employer's application is received by the Distribution Office, a copy is sent to the Division of Information, at Washington, D. C. At frequent intervals these applications are assembled and published in the form of bulletins and distributed to all Distribution Offices, thereby making it possible for each office to know where help of any description is in demand.

At the Distribution Office the best interests of the employer are kept constantly in mind, and only such help is selected for positions as is in the opinion of the officer in charge, well qualified to perform the duties required.

CROP NOTES FROM PACIFIC FRUIT WORLD

Up to November 8 the shipments of Tokay grapes were 2842 cars against 2096 cars last year.

The California Fruit Canners' association will pack ripe olives at Fresno this season, says the Republican of that city.

The New York Fruitman's Guide says the grapefruit market is growing easier under liberal receipts from Porto Rico and the Isle of Pines.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange has notified its members that it will not ship oranges unless they come up to the eight-to-one test.

The Randolph Fruit company, the big independent fruit shippers, on the 13th of this month shipped the first car of navel oranges of the season from Clavical station, Tulare county.

A. J. Cook, state horticultural commissioner, who has just finished inspecting the citrus groves of the state, says the crop will be lighter than last year, but the fruit of better size.

Fairoaks, California, orange growers are said to be packing and shipping green oranges. They can't be going east, or they would be confiscated by the government as soon as they passed the state line.

C. E. Campbell of the Stewart Fruit company of Fresno, says that frost came too late to do much damage to the grape crop. There may be some little loss on Emperors, but the Malagas were cleaned up two weeks ago.

California's citrus crop is estimated by G. Harold Powell, from reports of 150 associations and individuals shipping through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, at 47,000 cars. This is slightly larger than last year's crop. With better business conditions the coming year, it is thought the crop will be worth $30,000,000.

There is a great turkey trot going on from the Imperial valley to Los Angeles to be in at the Thanksgiving killing soon to take place. The turkeys coming run into the thousands, and the birds this year are said to be very fine.

It is announced from Oroville, Butte county, that W. J. Moore of that city will plant 100 trees of the soft-shell pecans on his ranch in Pleasant Valley. After investigation he is satisfied that these nuts will do well in Butte county.

The bean shipments by rail from Oxnard, California, for October, it is said, were 19,000,000 pounds, or about 237,000 eighty-pound sacks. This is the record and 2,200,000 pounds greater than October last year. The shipments for September were 1,000,000 pounds heavier than the same month last year.
