HARDING ASKS CONGRESS ACTION ON STRIKES

THUGS TRAIL MAN RAPIDLY GROWING SCHOOLS SHOWN HERE TO SLUG AND ROB HIM BY REPORT

Two Hard-Boiled Crooks Get $400 From W. A. Mondon at Brand and Los Feliz

Assault and robbery were committed in Glendale just before 8 o'clock last evening at Brand and Los Feliz boulevard, when $400 was taken from W. A. Mondon of 1417 South Brand boulevard by a pair of hard-boiled crooks. Mondon was on his way home from Los Angeles, where he had secured the money in a transaction too late to bank it. His assailants, who had evidently followed him, alighted from the same street car and almost immediately "beamed" him.

Brace of Itinerant Crooks Caught Here

A brace of notorious itinerant crooks was netted up by fast work on the part of the Glendale police yesterday when the pair were recognized from a Los Angeles police-department bulletin description. The captured men, Melvin and Edward Groce, have police records in Bakersfield, Riverside, Oakland and San Quentin.

A horseman, said to be connected with the Glendale stables, rushed into police headquarters yesterday morning and asked to take another look at the bulletin previously shown him by the police, bearing the description of the Groce brothers. A glance reassured him, and a moment later Detective Sergeant Stine and Royce accompanied the informant hurriedly to a point near the city limits.

Mrs. M. B. Jones Is Back From Trip With Husband

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of North Highland avenue and Kenning road returned to Glendale yesterday from San Francisco and the northern part of the state, where she had been accompanying her husband on his campaign for governor. She relates some very pleasant experiences, especially enjoyable to her was the visit to Jack London's "Valley of the Moon" country and also Blue Lake, Santa Rosa, Santa Clara and many other cities.

Superintendent White's Figures Are of Interest to Parents, Citizens

By VIRGINIA KAY
Readin', writin' 'n' rithmetic in all their modern forms and developments are dispensed and assimilated in ten elementary schools in Glendale, according to the annual report of the Glendale city schools made recently by Superintendent D. White, city superintendent, for elementary school activities from July, 1921, to July, 1922.

Reflects City's Growth

Reflecting the continued growth of the city, Glendale's intermediate schools are growing, and in his general introduction Mr. White says, "The outstanding feature of the school year has been the large increase in attendance necessitating the employment of ten more teachers than were employed the previous year and resulting in crowded conditions everywhere."

Enlarging on this statement Mr. White states that during the year Glendale has maintained ten schools, employing eighty-eight principals and teachers and ten janitors, and has also maintained seven kindergartens with eight teachers.

LEGIONNAIRES TO SEE SOME SHOW

All former service men and their friends in Glendale are urged to be present tonight at the local American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, when the second big "open house" entertainment of the season will be staged under the direction of the following specially elected committee: Robert Rowley, chairman; W. E. Seidel, E. L. Sullivan, Dr. E. T. Remmen and Paul Vissman.

'Open House' Entertainment Tonight Has Lots of Variety Numbers

The all-star program which is in store for the Legionnaires and their friends will include one of the most diversified array of talent yet staged in Glendale, every person appearing being a different variety of "joy bringer". The entire personnel of artists who will take part in the entertainment have gladly donated their services for the occasion "for the sake of the American Legion."

As was announced in yesterday's Evening News one of the headliners of the evening's performance will be the feature dancing acts of Adeline Woodbury, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Woodbury of 1111 East Orange Grove avenue.

E. A. Thurkittle of Los Angeles, will attempt to please the audience with his original acts in log dancing, singing and ventriloquism. Mr. Thurkittle is well known as an entertainer in the various lodges and clubs of southern California, where he is invariably called upon for a second appearance.

Mlle. De Vere and partner, who claim Glendale as their home, have been engaged for several novelty songs and acrobatic dancing stunts. Others who will appear on the program will include Don Cameron of Los Angeles, known in various parts of California as "the comic singer," and George Martin, musician. Mr. Martin has recently been heard by wireless fans from several Los Angeles broadcasting stations. Eddie Moniot's "Jazz Hour" will furnish musical numbers during the show.

BOOZE BOOSTS EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The Canadian dollar is virtually at par on the exchange market today for the first time in seven years. The rise in the value of Canadian money is attributed partly to the large sums spent in Canada for liquors by American bootleggers.

Today's World News in Brief

By International News Service Leased Wire

ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSINATE LEON TROTZKY

LONDON, Aug. 18.—An unconfirmed dispatch from Stockholm today reported that an attempt had been made to assassinate Leon Trotzky.

HARDING SIGNS UNIVERSAL SCRIP MILEAGE BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—President Harding today signed a bill, backed by various commercial traveling men's associations, authorizing the interstate commerce commission to have the railroads issue either interchangeable mileage or scrip books. Traveling men before the congressional committee claimed that such a measure would stimulate passenger travel.

AUSTRIAN TROOPS MAY REBEL TO COLLECT PAY

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A military uprising is threatened at Vienna because the Austrian government lacks funds with which to pay the troops, according to reports received here from the Austrian capital. Grave fears over the Austrian outlook were expressed in British official quarters. It was said that the Austrian ministry has made preparations to flee.

SIX BELIEVED DEAD IN MINNESOTA FOREST FIRE

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 18.—Several small towns and a number of camps were threatened with destruction today by forest fires which raged in the Lake county district. Already six persons are believed to have perished in the fires. Several small settlements are already in ashes. From Eveleth, with a population of over 7000, nearly 1500 persons went forward today in organized bands to fight the flames.

THREE MISSOURI SHOPMEN SLASHED IN ATTACK

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 18.—Three Missouri Pacific shop foremen, John Reid, Samuel Swain and Leon Hewitt, were attacked, badly beaten and slashed with knives while on their way to work today. The attack was made, it was alleged by the Missouri Pacific, by three gunmen imported for the purpose of intimidating workmen. One of the assailants was captured. He refused to give his name. The Missouri Pacific charged that the police permitted the other two to get away.

RIOT IN PRISON TAILOR SHOP GETS 4 PAST GUARDS

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Aug. 18.—Armed men by the hundred turned out here in a man hunt for four convicts who escaped from the state prison here during the night, taking with them Warden George W. Jameson. An airplane was being used to direct the search. The convicts made their escape following a riot in the tailor shop of the prison. They forced Warden Jameson to unlock the prison gates and accompany them and used him as a shield to prevent guards from shooting at them.

SEIZE STILL AND EQUIPMENT FOR COUNTERFEIT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Seizing a still, a small amount of liquor and equipment for labeling alleged counterfeit gin and Scotch whiskey, prohibition agent in charge H. H. Dolley and Burns detectives today arrested W. F. Brown, who was declared by Dolley to be known as Allan Dale and Grant Vevington in the movies. The raid in which Brown was arrested, Dolley reported, was carried out at the suspect's home in West Twenty-third street, opposite Chester place, a high class, exclusive residential street.

RAIL LEADERS REMAIN IN CONFERENCE AT N. Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Chiefs of the five train service brotherhoods and the committee representing the Association of Railway Executives went back into conference here today, determined, if possible, to find a means by which the railway shopmen's strike, in effect since July 1, can be brought to an end. None of those taking part in the conference would make any statements for publication. They all had a hopeful air, however, and made it clear that they believed the conference would be the means of the strikers going back to their posts.

ONE MAN KILLED BY BOLD BALTIMORE BANDIT

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18.—One man was killed and another knocked unconscious in a bold daylight hold-up by a lone bandit staged on a crowded Baltimore street today. The dead man is William B. Norris, secretary-treasurer of the Hicks, Tase & Norris Company. Fred W. Keuthe, a bookkeeper for the firm, was knocked unconscious. The hold-up was staged in front of the firm's offices, the bandit securing a $6750 payroll. Hundreds of pedestrians and passengers on a street car who attempted to run to the assistance of the victims were held off at the point of a revolver by the bandit who escaped in an auto.

CALIFORNIA IN NEED OF CARS TO HANDLE CROPS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—California fruit growers will face a new crisis September 1, even though the rail strike situation is completely cleared up. About that date the heavy grape crop will come in and thousands of refrigerator cars will be needed to transport the grapes east. With the roads in the middle west working at peak capacity to handle coal it is feared there will be serious delay in returning refrigerator cars. The interstate commerce commission is to be appealed to by California growers, who urge that empties be returned at full speed from the east for re-loading.

MARY MAC SWINEY LEADING IRREGULAR TROOPS

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who died on hunger strike, is commanding the republican irregulars holding Waterfall. Miss MacSwiney is one of a number of women fighting in the ranks of the irregulars. Countess Markiewicz took part in the battle of Dublin, but since then she has never been heard of. A half hour battle took place in Dublin today when irregulars attacked Beggar's Bush barracks, said a dispatch from that city to the Star this afternoon. Broken in health and spirit, Eamonn de Valera, commander-in-chief of the republican irregulars, was reported to be lying ill in a farm house near Kilpaddar, in western Ireland.

FIGHT TO DISMISS SEVERAL KU KLUX DEFENDANTS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—A fight for the dismissal of the charges against William S. Coburn, former grand goblin of the Ku Klux Klan, Gas W. Price, king klegle, and eleven others of the thirty-six klansmen on trial in Superior Judge Frederick K. Houser's court for perpetrating the Inglewood masked mob violence, was expected to be made by the defense attorneys today when the prosecution completed its case on the ground that sufficient evidence was not introduced against them by the prosecution. Only a few minor witnesses for the prosecution remained to be called when the trial was resumed this morning and it was expected that the defense would open its case before tonight. Paul Barksdale D'Orr, chief counsel for the klansmen, was prepared to make an opening statement to the jury, outlining the defense to be entered in behalf of the men.

MOTION PICTURES LIFESAVING TO BE SUBJECT FOR ROTARIANS CITY POOL

Manager Howe of Glendale Theatre Reveals Inside Information In Talk

Motion pictures provided the topic of yesterday's program at the Glendale Rotary club with William A. Howe, lessee and manager of the Glendale Theatre, making the speech of the day. He asked the Rotarians to support the effort made by exhibitors to keep the business on a high plane. He told of the vast investments in motion picture producing and exhibition and called attention to the fact that 90 per cent of the films made in America are photographed in and around Los Angeles. The payroll here amounts to $80,000,000 a year, it is estimated, he added.

Several Visitors Present

Visiting Rotarians present yesterday included J. K. Thompson of Fort Worth, Texas; Harlow Potter of Los Angeles; Ned Harlow of Tacoma, Wash.; Charles Ash of Topeka, Kan.; William Harthorn of Parsons, Kan., and among the visitors was Bill Emmanuel of Ada, Okla., and Ralph Brooks of Glendale.

Following the routine meeting, the club adjourned to the Glendale Theatre, where Mr. Howe first took the entire group upstairs into the spacious "operating" or projection room, where the mechanics are performed, and make the movies move on the silver screen.

M. Mollett of Eagle Rock to Ask Opinion on Tax on His Trucks

M. Mollett, of the Eagle Rock Sand & Gravel Company wants to know why the city of Glendale tries to collect $9.00 from him every three months for driving one of his trucks through that city.

Tomorrow morning at Glendale in the police court presided over by Judge Lewis Johnson, will be going to test the validity of the ordinance of that city to arrest him for failure to pay a certain tax provided for in an ordinance adopted and passed by the city council of Glendale on May 17, 1922.

Marble Still Sticks In Boy's Sarcophagus

John Porter, of 755 North Isabel street, seven year old boy who swallowed a marble three weeks ago, is still at the Glendale Sanitarium under the care of physicians. The marble lodged in the sarcophagus and persistently refuses to move. He can swallow no solid food but is taking plenty of liquid nourishment. X-ray pictures are taken frequently and hopes are entertained that the marble will ultimately move into the stomach where it can be removed. No operation will be performed while it is in the sarcophagus.

Inter-Gulf Reunion Saturday at Grove

Reminiscences of that part of the "Sunny South" included in the Gulf states, Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi, Texas and Alabama will be the feature of the big inter-gulf state reunion picnic tomorrow, Saturday, August 18, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. "Fighting Bob" Shuler will be the orator of the day and M. M. Johnson will lead in old Southern melodies.

Noted Expert Demonstrates Methods of Resuscitation From Drowning

The public is invited to a demonstration of lifesaving and prevention of water accidents to be held at Glendale's new municipal swimming pool, Patterson Park, at 7:45 o'clock Monday evening, August 21. The exhibitions are the best given under the auspices of the Troop Leaders' Round Table of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout district.

Travels Over Country

During the past few years Mr. Killick has travelled over the country, giving lectures and demonstrations to Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, high school students, sailors, firemen and policemen. His lectures included methods of reviving those who have been nearly drowned or nearly suffocated with smoke.

A number of demonstrations will be given next Monday evening. Mr. Killick will show how six persons can be saved in a boat capsized, how a body which has been under water for 30 minutes can be revived.

In addition to the lifesaving exhibitions, Mr. Killick is to demonstrate how to construct a suspension bridge across a deep stream full of treacherous rapids and rocks, and how to build a hangar, and the preservation of life. He will demonstrate the various methods of artificial resuscitation and how a body which has been under water for 30 minutes can be revived.

Harry Stock Master of Stone Masonry to Be Buried Saturday

The head stone to be placed over the grave of Harry Stock, whose funeral and burial will take place Saturday afternoon in Forest Lawn cemetery, will not be the sole monument to the deceased, for the great cobblestone arch over the cemetery entrance was designed and built by Mr. Stock ten years ago and has received wide recognition as a splendid feat in stone masonry.

Stone masons and architects said "it can't be done," but Harry Stock accomplished it, building the arch entirely out of cobblestones and cement, and, when, four years later, the city told the cemetery owners the arch had to be moved "stone masons and architects again said, "It can't be done," but Harry Stock moved his master work six or eight inches without one crack in the stone and cement structure.

MEX. TREASURER QUILTS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 18.—Rafael Manzo, general treasurer of Mexico, has tendered his resignation, according to word received here today.

'Little Ed' Blue, Peggy Mourning, for Buster's Dead

Out at 405 West Doran little Ed Radke, Jr., 5-year-old son of Ed N. Radke, local jeweler, is feeling blue.

And behind Mr. Radke's store at 109 South Brand, Peggy, a thoroughbred black and white English bull dog, is whimpering for a little brindle pup who will never come back.

When the Radkes went to the picnic Wednesday they left Peggy and her pup Buster behind the store for the day. Peggy was chained up, but little Buster was left loose. Wandering out onto Broadway he was run over by a flyover.

The little dog crawled back down the alley to a spot close to where his mother was chained, and could go no farther. When Mr. Radke arrived from the picnic the blood-stained little dog was dead, and his mother straining at her chain in an effort to reach his body. When she was released she licked the blood off the cold little body, and tried in vain to wake Buster, mothering him and whimpering softly.

BELFAST, Aug. 18.—Four free state troops and two irregulars were killed and fifteen free staters and thirty irregulars were wounded in fighting around Dundalk, according to an official dispatch received today from the scene of action.

12 Die In Fires

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 18.—The entire northwestern sections of Wisconsin and the northeastern section of Minnesota were in serious danger from raging forest fires today. From northern Minnesota reports were received placing the list of known dead in the fires at twelve.

Strikers' Last Stand

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Conferences were rushed today by brotherhood officials and railway executives to settle disputes at three tie-up centers on the Santa Fe line where "big four" strikers have made a last stand. In spite of difficulties at these points, Needles, Seligman and Winslow, the Santa Fe continued to operate through trains today.

Cost of Rail Strike Incalculably Great

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The cost of the railroad strike is incalculable, but staggering, it was the opinion today of government officials who sought some comprehensive idea of how much the strike is costing the country. The striking railway shopmen have lost 40 working days since laying down their tools on July 1. Approximately 400,000 men are affected, according to union officials, and on a basis of an eight-hour working day they have lost 128,000,000 working hours. At 70 cents an hour this would have netted them $89,600,000.

Missing Girl Found Visiting Hollywood

Frances Pittman, aged 15, of 1325 San Fernando boulevard, who was reported missing from home overnight, was found in Hollywood and returned to the care of her parents after explaining to the authorities that she had gone visiting without taking her trouble to advise her parents of her intentions.

PRESIDENT FIXES BLAME FOR RAIL, COAL TIEUP

Says Federal Agencies Inadequate, and Condemns Labor, Capital Alike

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Under the shadow of a great impending industrial crisis, President Harding went to congress today, told the "full story" of the twin coal and rail strikes and asked that legislative steps be taken to deal with the present situation, and to safeguard against a repetition of it.

The president's message, a vigorous document, dealt with both coal and rail strikes. In the coal situation the president recommended:

What's to Be Done
First—That he be given authority to create a national coal commission to investigate the whole industry.

Second—That congress consider at once the creation of a temporary national coal agency with the needed capital to purchase, sell and distribute coal which is carried in interstate commerce.

In the railroad strike the president did not recommend any legislation except insofar as it related to the protection of alien workmen.

He severely criticized both sides in the rail dispute, carriers and unions; he described the railway labor board as entirely inadequate to deal with the situation, declared it would have to be strengthened, and condemned in almost unprecedentedly strong terms the acts of violence all the way from the Herrin, (Ill.) massacre to the desecration of trains at desert terminal points in Arizona.

The president's appraisal of the present industrial situation as a result of weeks of coal and rail strikes was that it was most acute. On the one hand, he pointed to the nation's empty coal bins, and on the other to the slow strangulation of transportation by impaired equipment on the railroads.

He re-counted at length how sporadic lawlessness and intimidation have kept men away from work.

"Under these conditions of hindrance and intimidation," he declared, "there has been such a lack of care of motive power that the deterioration of locomotives and the non-compliance with safety requirements of the law are threatening the break-down of transportation."

Neither the roads nor the unions may escape moral responsibility for this situation, he said.

Urges Congress' Action

The whole tenor of Mr. Harding's address was a plea that congress must take steps to prevent a recurrence of present conditions.

"There can be no liberty and democracy maintained in America," he asserted, "unless there is the same recognition given the right to work as there is the right to quit work."

"However," he concluded, "the legal safeguarding against like cases in the future must be worked out when the passion sways, when no prejudice influences, when the whole problem may be appraised, and the public welfare may be asserted against any and every interest which assumes authority beyond that of the government itself."

Meanwhile, the president indicated the government is prepared to insure maintenance of transportation, whatever comes.

Text of Speech Shows Firm Stand

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—President Harding in his message to congress this afternoon on the industrial situation spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the congress: "It is manifestly my duty to bring to your attention the industrial situation which confronts the country. The situation growing out of the prevailing coal and coal mining strikes is so serious, so menacing to the nation's welfare, that I should be remiss if I failed frankly to lay the matter before you and at the same time acquaint you and the whole people with such efforts as the executive branch of the government has made by the voluntary exercise of its good offices to effect a settlement.

Relates Strike History.
"The suspension of the coal industry dates back to last April 1, when the working agreement between mine operators and the United Mine Workers came to an end. Anticipation that expiration of contract, which was negotiated with the government's sanction in 1920, the present administration sought as early as last October, conferences between the operators and miners in order to facilitate either a new or extended agreement in order to avoid any suspension of production when April 1 arrived. SOMEBODY LIED? HUH! COP PROVES IT WASN'T HIM

Courtesy Wins Argument Over Speed Charge In Eagle Rock

An irate motorist, clutching in his hand the familiar "notice to appear," stalked into the Eagle Rock city hall yesterday afternoon to put up bail.

"This tag says I was going 26 miles an hour. I never went 26 miles an hour in my life. I was going 18 miles an hour and I have three witnesses to prove it."

J. Roy McClay stated that since the offense was committed in a fifteen-mile zone, it wouldn't make much difference, since in either case the law was violated. Eighteen miles would cost $10 and 26 miles $15. When the motorist protested against the 26-mile charge, Mr. McClay advised him to tell his troubles to Judge Harold Ide Cruzan on Saturday morning.

"Haven't time to argue with the judge. Here's the fifteen dollars. But I'd like to see that cop who pinched me," stated the irate one.

"Right out in front, cleaning his machine," answered Mr. McClay, tendering the receipt and gathering in the greenbacks.

Outside the alleged speeder glared at Sparks Sprague.

"Somebody's a liar," he announced.

"Come with me," returned Sparks.

The two entered the city hall, where Sparks produced his little book, looked up this particular case, and evidently reckoned he wasn't the liar. He then addressed a courteous little oration to the motorist, explaining his method of timing speeders, his duties and ambitions as a motorcycle officer.

The fiery one turned and walked toward the door.

"I'm not afraid of you," he stated as he left.

Austrian Finances Deplorable Reports Dr. and Mrs. Boyer

Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Boyer are happy to be back at their home in Glendale after a tour of Europe, during which they visited England, France, Italy and Vienna, Austria, at which latter place Dr. Boyer studied for three months. They report a very interesting and beneficial trip but say America is the only place to live.

Dr. Boyer says: "The financial condition in Vienna is deplorable and is growing worse every day. It was depressing to hear of the suffering due to lack of good food. The money there is almost worthless. When I left Vienna the exchange rate was 8,000 kronen to the dollar. Now it is 50,000, and before the war it was only five. Although Americans are charged higher rates for commodities than the native Austrians, still the prices were comparatively low. In fact the Americans traveling in Austria are treated much better than in many of the other countries.

"There is no country that is as prosperous as America and the foreigner has an idea that dollars grow on trees in the United States. The improvements in Glendale during our absence have been remarkable. Nowhere in this country or abroad have we seen such wonderful progress."

Local Methodists to Attend Camp Meet

Glendale Methodists are planning to participate in the old-fashioned camp meeting of Southern California Methodists August 20 to September 2 at the Pacific Palisades near Santa Monica. The meeting will mark the close of the newly-established Christian community at the Palisades.

The night preceding the opening of the meeting the chautauque will close with an outdoor pageant, "The Spirit of California," directed by Miss Eleanor Miller.

Features of the camp meeting program will be music directed by Prof. R. E. Clark and addresses by Dr. T. O. Grieves, Dr. H. W. Peck and Rev. F. H. Ross, evangelists.

Accommodations are offered in the tent city and a cafeteria and stores are maintained on the grounds.

SUBDIVIDERS BUSY ON HILLS LYING NEAR COLLEGE

Streets Being Widened and Graded in Vicinity of New Tract

The "College Hill Tract," a new subdivision owned by James G. Garth and which is soon to be placed on the market by the H. G. Warren Company, realtors, at 214 South Central avenue, Eagle Rock, is platted, and the streets are being graded and paved in preparation for the opening which is to be held within a month.

The new tract lies mostly within the Summit drive, being bounded on the south by Campus road and practically encircled by the drive. It includes the entire hill just north of the Occidental College campus, and from the various lots on the hill one can see for miles into the valleys surrounding Eagle Rock.

Place High Restriction

The eight acres of land are to be divided into lots of varying sizes and shapes. A $5,000 building restriction will be placed on each lot, according to Mr. Warren, as it is the intention of the subdividers to make of the new tract a high-class residential district. Most of the lots are large, averaging about 75x250 feet, says Mr. Warren.

Campus road, where the College Hill tract adjoins it, and the entire length of Summit drive are being graded. As soon as this work is completed, a good paving will be laid, it is stated, and as soon as the streets can be opened, the property will be placed upon the market as Eagle Rock's newest high-class residential subdivision.

Summit drive is being enlarged to a 20-foot width, and Campus drive will be wider. The work is being done by S. McCray of Highland park, and it is announced that the paving will be laid with rock and oil.

Mr. Warren states that Dr. Remsen DuBois Bird, president of Occidental college, just to the south, is pleased with the new subdivision, believing that it will open up a place where the faculty of the college may live and be nearer and thus be more closely associated with the college activities.

Graduates Guests at Lagourgue Home for Informal Dinner

The fifteen graduates of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital training school for nurses were honored guests at a dinner and informal affair given last night at the C. R. Lagourgue home, at 1452 East California avenue, where Mrs. Lagourgue and Dr. Lydia Parmale were hostesses.

Dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock about tables decorated in green and white, the class colors. The only departure from these colors was the large centerpiece of pale pink amaryllis blossoms.

The fifteen graduates were seated about one large table, with the places marked by clever little bird cards resting on the water glasses. Additional guests were seated at another table.

After the dinner, music and games were enjoyed and each of the graduates was presented with a prophesy of the future.

In addition to the members of the 1922 class there were present Clarence Kimlin, Dr. and Mrs. Wiley Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Dart, Miss Zeda Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harris, Miss Emily Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nelson, Elder Parmale and the hostesses.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Westphal were among those invited but were unable to be present because Dr. Westphal had a previous engagement to deliver a medical lecture at Long Beach.

H. S. WEBB PARTY HOME

H. S. Webb, Mrs. Frankie Webb, Mrs. Helen Sawyer and children, Barbara and Henry, have returned from a several days' motor trip and vacation at Balboa Beach, San Diego and Coronado Beach.

With his remarkable victory in the seabright bowls matches William Johnston, the diminutive Californian, appears to have rounded into perfect form for the coming national championships and the succeeding Davis cup contests.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE IS MAKING PREPARATION FOR ACTIVE YEAR; FRESHMAN ENROLLMENT LIMITED

Eagle Rock's Institution of Higher Education Being Improved During the Summer; Students Need Furnished Rooms

By TED JOHNSON

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE is already making preparations for the large enrollment which is expected at Eagle Rock's higher institution of learning this school year. The buildings are all being renovated, the grounds, which have been kept in excellent condition all summer are being gone over, and repairs, alterations, improvements and additions are being made on all sides.

Although the school already has one large automobile shed on its grounds, another is being built. These shelters are for use by students who live some distance from the college and drive automobiles to school each day.

The floors in the Johnson hall of letters are being gone over and repainted. Other parts of the interior are also being renovated, and the rooms cleaned and brightened in preparation for the nine months of classes which will be held there.

Remodel Book Store
The students' book store, on the main floor of Johnson hall, is being entirely remodeled. So great was the demand upon this store last year, it is understood, that an entire rearrangement of the place was necessary, providing more space for the stock of books and other supplies, and a better method of handling business.

The W. C. Patterson stadium is being repaired and renovated in preparation for the athletic events which will be held there. The 6,000 seats in the bleachers and the 1,500 in the grandstand are being repainted, and it is promised that the big stadium will be just like new within a few more days.

$3,000 for Lawn
A donation of $3,000 has recently been received from a Pittsburg, Pa., man who has long been a friend of the college. This money is to be used in making a new lawn on the upper quadrangle, which lies between the Johnson hall and the Fowler hall of science. It is the expectation of college authorities that this lawn will be completed before the students begin to arrive.

Students are expected to begin arriving early in the week of September 10th. Entrance examinations are to be held on the days from Thursday to Saturday, September 14 to 16 inclusive. The first term will open on Monday, September 18, at 11 a. m.

President Bird in New York
Dr. Remsen DuBois Bird, who is now away on a business trip to New York hopes to be able to return in time to be present at the opening exercises of school on September 18. The length of his stay in New York is indefinite, and the railroad strike further complicates matters, but he will make every effort to return to Eagle Rock in time for the opening.

Only 175 freshmen will be admitted to Occidental College this year, 100 men and 75 women students. Since a waiting list is usual with the college, high school graduates who are considering entering Occidental in September are urged to signify their intentions as soon as possible, since the allowed number is expected to be reached before the entrance examination days.

Here Are Requirements
Freshman standing is granted to graduates of approved preparatory schools presenting fifteen units of work for entrance. Of the fifteen, two units must be in English, one in elementary algebra, and one in plane geometry. Those having less than fifteen units may supplement their standing by taking the entrance examinations. No one with less than fifteen units, either from a preparatory school or from passing the entrance examinations will be considered for enrollment.

At Occidental students from other colleges and universities are admitted in case there is room enough in the higher classes. Their standing is set at what is deemed the correct relation between the standings of it and the other school, and on the basis of the character of the work performed at the other institution.

Hold To Standard
In any case, no new student, freshman or special, is matriculated until he has completed one semester at Occidental, and during that semester has made a satisfactory record in scholarship. At the end of the semester, if his work has fallen below the rating designated as three in Occidental's system of grading, he is not only not allowed to matriculate, but is dropped from the rolls.

Dr. Bird, president of the college, expects a record enrollment this year, it is reported. Nothing is being left undone to amply provide for the largest year in the history of Occidental college. The arrangements extend to the listing of rooms in private homes and elsewhere in the neighborhood of the college where students will be taken in as roomers.

Chance for Roomers
Residents of Eagle Rock who have spare rooms and would like to have one or more students, either men or women, as roomers or boarders during the coming school year are requested to leave the particulars, with their name and address, number, size and equipment of rooms, and all necessary information at the office of the college in Johnson Hall.

The school calendar for this year has been compiled and is now announced. It is as follows, including all holidays, etc.:

Women of State Are Grateful to Senior California Senator

"Women of California are grateful to Senator Hiram Johnson because, both as governor of the state and as senator he has always consistently championed beneficial measures endorsed by women's clubs and organizations," declared Miss Josephine Stevenson, attorney of Pasadena, and president of the Business and Professional Women's club of that city, one of the most representative organizations in the state. Miss Stevenson also is corresponding secretary of the Women Lawyers' club of Los Angeles.

"This is but one of my reasons for supporting Senator Johnson," Miss Stevenson continued. "His record while governor is well known and he was successful in securing the passage of a large number of beneficial laws, including the minimum wage bill, the eight hour law, workmen's compensation, and a score of others that have been of great value."

Celine Moniot and G. Meyer Married

Miss Celine Moniot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Moniot of 414 West Los Feliz road, was married at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, August 16, 1922, at the parish house of Rev. James S. O'Neill to George Meyer, in the presence of a group of relatives and intimate friends. The single ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attired in a white sport costume and wore a corsage bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses. She was attended by her sister Miss Louise Moniot, as bridesmaid, the latter also wearing a white sport costume. Ralph Meyer, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Following the ceremony the party adjourned to the bride's home where a wedding dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer left at 10:30 o'clock for Pacoima Canyon, where they will spend several days at a cabin there and will then continue their honeymoon trip by automobile to San Francisco, returning in two weeks. They will be at home to their friends at 532 West Elk avenue. Mrs. Meyer has been employed as telephone operator for the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company and her husband is a member of the Glendale fire department.

Judge Shaw Backed for His Re-election

In Los Angeles the Shaw independent campaign committee has been organized, with headquarters at 439 I. W. Hellman building, with E. W. Britt, leader of the bar, as chairman of the committee, and J. J. Petermichel as secretary. At these headquarters, endorsements of Judge Shaw for re-election have poured in from every part of the second appellate district from the most representative men and women of the communities. His friends, however, are bearing down on the fact that votes at the primary, not endorsements, must be secured to re-elect Judge Shaw.

TEXAS GIRL, WORTH $15,000,000, SPURNS PALACES TO REMAIN ON OWN ALKALI PLAINS

WHINNY OF PONY IS MUSIC TO EARS

Anne Burnett Inherits Many Millions of Dollars From Grandfather

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 18. Texas plains—vast areas of alkali stretching from the borders of civilization far into the distant, blinding glare of a Western sun—have more enchantment for Anne Burnett, nineteen-year-old heiress to $15,000,000, than have the lures of all the gilded palaces of Europe's most famous resorts.

The whinny of a prairie pony, the shot of a rifle, the yelp of a cow puncher, the sight of a branding iron or the crack of a whip—all these are music to the ears of Miss Burnett.

Inherited Millions. With her minor disabilities legally removed, Miss Burnett, only granddaughter of the late Burk Burnett, who pioneered his way to wealth on the cattle ranges, takes rank among the richest young women in America. By provision of the will of her illustrious, grim-visaged "granddad" she now has a bank account of $6,000,000, with a residue of real estate valued at $9,000,000.

Oil wells in the central Texas fields are spouting liquid gold that will pour additional wealth into her coffers. Hundreds of thousands of thoroughbred cattle are grazing on the thousands of acres of land now recorded as Anne Burnett ownership.

The question of "what to do with a fortune" is not bothering Miss Burnett. A competent staff of executives will handle her business affairs. She will continue to live—secluded and protected—with no inclination toward a more strenuous life. A live coal of the old West, she has no interest in traveling abroad, as so many other Americans do. Nor is she going to return to school. For the past three years she has been a student in Holton Arms School, at Washington.

Through With Study. "I'm through with study for a while," she says.

Popularity is earned by Miss Burnett because she radiates all the soulful cordiality of the West. The freedom of the plains still lives within her, even though a noticeable finesse characterizes her every action. She dances, swims and is a great lover of music.

Above all things else, however, she loves to ride horseback. That love is inherent, because her famous "granddad" made his millions while he sat in the saddle.

There are vast stretches of land that she owns. The "6666" Ranch, in King County, famous in pioneer lore, with its more than 200,000 acres, belongs to her. She also is sole owner of the Dixon Creek Ranch, in Carson County—an area of 100,000 acres. And up in the Burk Burnett township named for her grandfather—many acres of valuable oil lands give further token of her wealth.

She Is Not Impressed. Holding the family coffers, almost bursting, in her strong grasp she can afford to be tolerant to an aged grandmother, who has come upon the scene and now is occupying the Burnett home with Anne and her mother.

The grandmother is there for the first time since May, 1911, when she was declared insane. The wife of the late millionaire cattleman has lived for eleven years with her relatives in Weatherford, a small town near here.

Served as Guardian. While Burk Burnett served as her guardian during his life, his sister was appointed guardian of Anne at his death. Soon thereafter his wife was declared sane and was brought here to reside with Anne and her mother, Mrs. Ollie Burnett, divorced wife of Tom Burnett, the virtually dis-

Anne is not impressed with the vastness of all this. Nor is she materially affected by the tragedy that has colored her life. In the midst of it all her youth is unimpaired and flows on.

Tom Burnett, following a di-voiced from his first wife, the mother of Anne, married Lucile Mulhall, professional horsewoman. Recently he was divorced from her, and rumor has it that he may be reunited with his first wife.

While the hand of Anne Burnett herself may be sought by many youthful cavaliers she has no thought of marriage. "Get married?" she queried incredulously in reply to a question. "I should say not. I do not care to talk about that."

Though rumor has it that suitors are flocking to the "mansion of millions" courting the favor of the youthful Anne, blonde and pretty.

While the ghosts of the past move about her and are constantly being revived in person, Anne goes blithely on, tossing her permanent wave—bobbed, at that—snapping her fingers and letting her millions accumulate interest.

Annual Convention Of Quakers at Ind.

RICHMOND, Ind. — Quakers from all parts of the United States and England will have Richmond as their goal this summer and fall. Four great gatherings of Friends, two of which are held here annually, one of which is held but once each five years and the other but once each four years, will be the cynosure of all eyes of Quakerdom this year.

Greatest of all sessions will be that of the Five Years Meeting of Friends in America, the governing body of those of the orthodox faith, which will be held from September 5 to 12. Each of the thirteen yearly meetings in America and Canada is permitted to send six official delegates regardless of the membership of the meeting. One delegate for each 200 members over a given quota is also allowed.

Information from officials of the Five Years Meeting, whose offices are here, indicate that between 500 and 600 Friends will be present for this parent conference. Besides the most prominent members of the denomination of America, John Henry Barlow, former clerk of the denomination held in London in 1920, will be present for an address. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Rountree Gillett, head of Friends social work in London, is another prominent English Quaker to be present, as will also Barrow Cadbury, well known among Friends in America and England.

Some of the American Friends to be on the program include Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the national council for Reduction of Armaments, Washington; Elbert Russell, head of the Woolman School, Philadelphia; and Rufus Jones, professor of philosophy at Haverford College, Philadelphia.

Discover Soldier's Record Is Curiosity

PARIS—From Warsaw comes a story from the correspondent of a French newspaper. He adds that the only documents available in the case vouch for the authenticity of the tale.

It concerns a Polish soldier of fortune who claims to have been twenty-three years old when Napoleon was returning from Russia in 1815. Once that fundamental promise is admitted, it is easy to imagine this hero of three centuries doing military service in the French army in the days of the First Empire and rounding out his fighting career in Manchuria in the Russo-Japanese war 1904-05.

Some weeks ago, according to the correspondent, Menselas Krasinski, passing through the Polish capital, lost a pocketbook containing 50,000 marks. He went to the police station to make inquiries and laid before the astonished officials documents giving the date of his birth as 1790, in Volhynia. They showed, moreover, that Krasinski served in the French army from 1809 to 1813, having been a lieutenant in the Third Squadron of the First Regiment of the Imperial Guard under Colonel Kosietulski.

Still going by the ageworn papers, it appears that Krasinski passed into the Polish army in 1828 and took part in two rebellions against the Russians, which resulted in his being sent to Siberia for sixteen years. He forgot his national hate for the czar and joined the Russian army during the Crimean war. He was in the campaign in China 1909-1901 and served in the Russian forces against the Japanese.

Krasinski, recounting his early days, told how he had seen Napoleon on his way back from Moscow garbed in a green overcoat. He recalled also how he had been at the Beresina where he had seen the emperor's soldiers burning masses of glorious tricolors while the Cossacks gathered in the distance.

Liquor Baron In Kentucky's Hills

CINCINNATI, Ohio — Charges that a moonshine "liquor baron," enthroned high in the mountain fastness of Kentucky, is responsible for the mysterious disappearance of six women during the last half year, were made by Carl Schuett, prominent musician, here, today.

Mr. Schuett declared his wife, Anna May, 27, was a victim of the alleged moonshine chief, who, after mistreating her, forced her to poison herself under threat of a torturous death.

Mr. Schuett claimed that with the assistance of friends he had solved the mystery of the mountain chief, following the disappearance of his wife several weeks ago.

Authorities recently were puzzled over finding the body of a girl named Anna May in the little town of Jean, Ky. She had taken her life with poison. She was buried in Lawrence county, Ky., where, according to Schuett, the "moonshine baron" is an official. Schuett said that from interviewing natives who had viewed the girl's remains he learned of her identity. He received his "tip" he said, from meager press dispatches that carried the girl suicide's name as Anna May.

Schuett asserted he would call upon Governor Edwin P. Morrow for aid in recovering the girl's body.

"I have enough information to throw the entire state of Kentucky into civil war," he continued, "but I cannot tell it all to the newspapers. I shall carry my story to the governor."

HUNDREDS OF NEW TELEPHONES INSTALLED HERE DURING JULY

Manager Fred Deal Suggests Using the List Published Instead of Calling Busy Information Clerks for Changes

Following are the names, addresses and numbers of new telephones or corrections made by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company at their Glendale exchange since July 1, most of which are not listed in the new directory.

- Manager Fred Deal requests that patrons keep this list for reference and save work by the information operators. You can easily clip the alphabetical classifications and paste them in the big book in their approximate place.

Appellate Judgeship Is Sought by Jurist Fred W. Houser

"Judge Houser for the Appellate Court" is the slogan adopted by the 1600 jurors who have organized into Houser clubs in the thirteen counties composing the second appellate court district. Judge Frederick W. Houser's candidacy is being conducted by the friends throughout the district while the candidate remains in Los Angeles tied up with his court duties.

There is much that is still to be done between now and the primaries when the contest is determined. The Ku Klux Klan trial will demand every minute of Judge Houser's time until election and after that date the hammer trial will be scheduled in Department 12, where Judge Houser has been superior court judge for the past sixteen years.

Mrs. Clara Atchley is in charge of the organization work among the jurors in the outside counties. E. Neal Ames is campaign manager. Headquarters have been opened in the C. C. Chapman building in Los Angeles and every thing possible is being done to further his campaign.

PANNING ONE'S FRIENDS

A Letter Friend brings me this trouble:

"Last night I heard one of my best friends speaking in a sturring manner of me. I was so shocked I cannot tell you how I felt. I have fairly trembled ever since. If anyone had told me what she said I could not have believed it. Not that the statement was so terrible, but that Grace, a woman I am with constantly, had said it. I expect ordinary acquaintances to pan me but not my friends."

Don't you call that woman an optimist?

I do.

What, NEVER?

I wonder if she never, never, NEVER says things behind her friends' backs that she would not want to say to their faces?

If she doesn't, she is an exceptional woman. Yes, more than that—an exceptional human being.

In regard to the particular instance of which she writes, I cannot judge. She does not tell me just what the woman said, and apparently the latter was someone whom she had befriended in some unusual way and who had reason to be grateful to her. (How hard it is for a small nature to endure being grateful; perhaps the malice and spite came from just that fact.) Very likely it was an experience that she had good reason to resent. But as for saying that she doesn't expect her friends to

L. I. I. MYSELF: I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXII
A GORY STORY

Perhaps if my Grammie had been at home she would have known it was not anything serious, and my Mama would not have been so awfully frightened when I spat up that milk with a little blood in it.

I had had my dinner and my Cherie and I had had a beautiful communion with each other, she murmuring soft dear things to me every once in a while during my dining. I was in perfect health, had gained my usual 5 or 6 ounces that week, and in ways was what a husky lad of my age should be.

When Muddie put me up to her shoulder gently after nursing, so that any air that I had swallowed would come up and not cause me cramps—up came a little milk with the air. (I think I am a little greedy at times for often I spit up a little milk, but as I am gaining all right I sure do get enough.)

Well, when the milk came up there was a little blood in it. Mama nearly fainted. Her face paled. She put me down gently and ran to the phone crying as she ran, "Oh, Dear God, Oh God! Not my baby, not my baby, dear God!"

She got my Daddie on the phone, and told him to come home, come, come immediately, and before he could find out anything more she hung up and got our doctor. While I realized that there was considerable fuss about something, it did not seem to me to be of sufficient importance to keep me awake and I went to sleep as I do usually after my nursing. Meanwhile, she walked the floor with her hands tightly clasped, crying big tears and coming over to look at me at every turn.

When Daddie came in, breathless, he found her crying and poring over two or three baby books we have.

"Sweetheart! What is it? What has happened?" and he gathered her in his arms and she told him about the blood. He, too, was terribly frightened, but he bravely said: "Oh, dearest! It cannot be anything serious—it cannot be! He has been so well! Look at him, sleeping so naturally!"

I woke up and I cooed at them and smiled reassurance and told them as plain as I could that whatever the fuss was about, I was all right. "Look at the rascal," said Daddie. "There cannot be anything the matter with him! Didn't you find anything in the books about babies spitting blood? No? Is Doctor on the way?"

Yes, Doctor was on the way. She was with us as soon as the words were out of his mouth. "What is it, children?" was her cheery greeting when she came in, and Mama was in tears again as she told her. Doctor listened intently. "Open your waist, I will examine you," she said.

"Oh, Doctor, you did not understand! It is not I, but the baby!"

"Yes, I understood. Let me see your breasts, I thought so," said doctor. "A little crack in your nipple, my little Mama, and baby swallowed a little blood which came from it."

Mama nearly fainted again, for joy. "Oh Doctor, I thought it was something serious and that I was going to lose my baby! A little crack in my nipple, that is all!"

"That is all!" repeated the Doctor. "That is serious enough! Don't you remember how much I emphasized the importance of your nipples being kept free from cracks? Lucky you did have the scare over the baby. If that little crack which you think is unimportant is neglected, you may have an abscess of the breast. Then that might mean something serious for the baby, as well as for you. Now, I want you to get a set of lead nipple shields and keep

BEAUTY CHATS

CUCUMBERS AS AN EFFECTIVE BLEACH

In yesterday's chat we considered the action of bleaches upon the skin. It may have been discouraging to some readers, especially those girls who have been requesting formulas for "the strongest bleach possible." However, the bleach I am offering today will do all that a stronger one can do, even though it takes more time, and it is safe.

The following formula is as near to a perfect mixture as is possible in any skin bleach since every ingredient has some purpose. The cucumber juice, which comprises almost two-thirds of the lotion, does much of the bleaching; while the oil of sweet almonds nourishes and counteracts any irritation to a very sensitive skin.

Oil of sweet almonds, 1 ounce
French cucumber juice, 10 ounces
Essence of cucumbers, 10 ounces
White castile soap, powdered, 3 ounces
Tincture of benzoin, 1-4 ounce

2-3 drachm

The juice of the cucumbers is obtained by slicing them thin, cooking slowly in a little water and straining. Make the essence by putting an ounce and a half of the juice into the same quantity of high proof alcohol. Shake this with the soap in a large jar. When dissolved, add the cucumber juice and then when mixed, add the oil and the benzoin, stirring until the liquid is creamy. Keep in tightly corked bottles in the dark and shake well before using.

P. A.:—An excellent blood tonic is a tea made by steeping roots of burdock, yellowdock and dandelion until all their juices are extracted. The dose is a wineglassful three times each day. This tonic is not unpleasant to take, if kept on the ice, but it is bitter like all the tonic herbs.

Lost Lash:—There is not space

Make your own face bleach

Paddy:—With blue grey eyes and brown hair your colors will be electric and bright blue as first choice. After that all shades of brown. But your type should not find any color unbecoming.

Tomorrow—Decline of the Corset.

MOTHER SHOULD BE PAL TO DAUGHTERS JUST AS DAD TO BOY

Observer Believes Movies Not Bad in Effect If Selection Good

By MINNA G. MAPES

I have always played and drummed with my children—my boy between seventeen and eighteen and my daughter just three years and one month younger.

Lately I've turned the boy over to his father and they are on an extended fishing and camping trip. I sent them the article in August "American" by Mr. Gest—"My Job as a Father"—which inspired me to write this. Whether or not my effort will be accepted as well as Gest's, at least it comes right from my heart.

If a mother wishes the full confidence of a daughter, she must not begin from the start to be austere and dignified and have the child "mind" from the fear of being punished; but rather the child should have such love for mother that with a little smile and kiss she will obey. Even if one must persuade the child, how much better than a short—"No!"

Now mind me, or get a whipping! Do not believe in having a child mind through such punishments, either at home or in school. If mothers and teachers would take a little of their time to study and understand the individual child!

No two children are alike—we would not have them so. Their temperaments are not alike, so each child should be dealt with individually.

One of the finest principals in the city schools today, I consider, is one who took my boy into her school after others had failed utterly to get along with him, and from the time both my children went to her school they did better work, were much better in deportment; because, as she herself said:

"I study the child first." In so doing her school as a whole loves her, and she is called by most "Dear Heart."

But I am branching off from the daughter, which I reckon one will do when there is also a son. Maybe some of my neighbors and acquaintances think I am rather undignified and prone to act too young for my years; but one cannot act middle-aged—look, or even feel so—if one is to be a chum of a fourteen-year-old girl these days. Many times have I gone to a picture play, or swimming, or even dancing, when I would rather have said, "No."

But after the compliment, my little daughter gave me a few weeks ago, I feel more than ever like trying to keep young, so as to be in touch and in sympathy with, and a real chum to her.

I have asked several school girl friends down to the beach to spend week-ends with my daughter. One evening I wanted to know, "Who shall I ask this time?" She said, "Mama, could we just bum around alone this time? I love to be just with you!"

I wonder if many mothers really have such compliments as I feel this from their little girls. I talk things over with her like she was my own age and enter into the little things she tells me of as though I was fifteen again. We discuss minor things that have happened during each day when I cannot always be with her, and generally end with some film star whom she is "crazy about." (I am using the expressive words of the schoolgirl age. They may not be perfectly correct, but we all use them more or less, for they are expressive.)

Someone undertook to remonstrate with me for allowing my daughter to see so many picture plays, and be so enthusiastic over the film stars. Why should she not? The pictures that are put out nowadays at the best theatres are for our daughters as well as for ourselves. I am not going to see one that I would not take her to see. Our best movie stars are just good, hard-working people like many of us in offices, and the ones who make a success are hard workers, too.

We watched a picture being made mostly on the beach at Santa Monica not long ago. The stars had their families with them and their little babies. All were a good, clean, wholesome group, putting forth their best efforts in some picture for the public amusement.

I speak of the film stars and picture plays because so many mothers think their children must not see them, or have the wrong idea entirely about such things. If we are to help our children grow up and broaden out intelligently, we must take them to see accepted things.

"Keep the girl with you all you can. Do not try to shift the responsibility off onto some boarding school. We have too many good public schools and universities, especially here in California. Have parties at home. Help train your girl at home. Keep her as long as you can, a little girl!"

I am thankful to be broad-minded and able truly to say I am a chum and playmate to my daughter, as well as her adviser and mother.

one over that nipple all the time, except when nursing, so the little crack will heal right up. You can get them at any drug store.

"Now, we'll look at Soekums." She gave me a good examination—my mouth and chest and all over.

Next time, I'll tell you more about what she had my Muddie do to heal the little crack which her greedy little offspring inflicted! Ashamed I am of myself!

PICKLES, CATSUP, ETC.

No storeroom is properly equipped unless it has a few varieties of spicy pickles, relishes, and condiments, and as they need not be sealed hot, nor require more than the ordinary care in their preparation, small lots may be put up whenever there is spare time or there is opportunity to procure good material.

Sweet Cantaloupe Pickle: Place over slices of cantaloupe enough vinegar to cover and let stand forty-eight hours. Measure the vinegar, and to every pint add one pound of brown sugar, one-third cup whole cloves and stick cinnamon. Boil the vinegar thirty minutes, keeping well covered and skimmed, then add the slices of cantaloupe and boil until done. Put the melon into jars, boil the vinegar until a thick syrup, then pour over the cantaloupe and splices.

Mustard Pickles—For each quart jar allow twelve small white onions; one-fourth of a small red pepper; two tablespoons mustard seeds. Select the large ripe yellow cucumbers, pare, halve, and scrape out all seeds and soft pulp. Place in earthen crock, sprinkle lightly with salt, and let stand over night. In the morning wipe each piece with a clean coarse towel, skin the onions, seed and shred the pepper, and then place

CHAPTER IX.

The Second Victim.

The alterations at Merriton Towers were certainly a success, from the builder's point of view at any rate. White paint had helped to dispel some of its gloominess, though there were those who said that the whole place was ruined thereby. However, it was certainly an improvement to be able to have windows that opened, and to look into rooms that beckoned you with promises of cozy inglenooks, and plenty of brilliant sunshine.

Borkins looked upon these improvements with a censorious eye. He was one of those who believed in "letting things be"; to whom innovation is a crime, and modernity nothing short of madness. To him the dignity of the house had gone. But when it came to Nigel installing a new staff of servants, the good Borkins literally threw up his hands and cried aloud in anguish. He did not hold with frilled aprons, and when he held with woman assuming places that were not meant for them.

But if the maids annoyed Borkins, his patience reached its breaking point when Merriton—paying a flying visit to town—returned in company with a short, thick-set person, who spoke with a harsh cockney accent, and whom Merriton introduced as his "batman". "Whatever that might be," said Borkins, holding forth to Dimnick, one of the undergrooms. James Collins soon became a necessary part of the household machinery, a little cog in fact upon which the great wheel of tragedy was soon to turn.

Within a week he was completely at home in his new surroundings. Collins, in fact, was the perfect "gentleman's servant" and thus he liked always to think himself. Many a word he and Borkins had over their master's likes and dislikes. But invariably Collins won out. While every other servant in the place liked him and trusted him, the sight of his honest, red face and his ginger eyebrows was enough to make Borkins look like a thundercloud.

The climate was reached one night in the autumn when the evening papers failed to appear at their appointed time. Collins confronted Borkins with the fact and got snubbed for his pains.

"Ere you," he said—he hadn't much respect for Borkins and made no attempt to hide the fact—"what the dooce 'as become of his lordship's pyper?" "Ave you bin 'avin a squint at 'em, ole pieface? Just like your bloomin' cheek!"

"Not so much of your impudence, Mr. Collins," retorted Borkins. "When you 'addresses a gentleman try to remember 'ow to speak to 'im. I've 'ad nothink whatever to do with Sir Nigel's evening papers, and you know it. If they're late, well, wouldn't it be worth your while to go down to the station and 'ave a gentle word or two with one of the officials there?"

"Oh well, then, old Fiddlefyece," retorted Collins, with a good-natured grin, "don't lose yer wool over it; you ain't got any ter spare. 'Is Lordship's been a-arkin' fer 'em, and like as not they ain't turned up. Let's see what's the time? Arf-past eight." He shook his bullet-shaped head. "Well, I'll be doin' as you say. Slap on me 'at and jacket and myke off ter the blinkin' styion. What's the shortest w'y, Borkins, 'as beauty?"

Borkins looked at him a moment, and his face went a dull brick color. Then he smirked sarcastically.

"Like as not you're so brave

Seaplane Christened at New York

By Daughters of Naval Aviators

Left, little Miss Adelaide Martins; right, little Miss Shirley Tribken, the two children who, on August 15, at the Columbia Yacht Club, christened the new flying boat "Sampaio Correia," in which Lieutenant Commander E. Pinto Martins, of the Brazilian naval air forces, and Lieutenant Walter Hinton, U. S. N., will fly from New York to Rio de Janeiro to attend the Brazilian centennial celebration. Adelaide is the daughter of Lieutenant Commander Martins, while little Shirley is the daughter of Lieutenant Tribken of the U. S. navy air forces. They are both 2 years and 6 months old. The Correia hopped off from the waters of Jamaica bay at the naval air station at 7:20 o'clock Thursday morning on the first leg of its 8500 mile journey.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE GRASSHOPPER

Sammie Littletail, the rabbit boy, and his sister Susie were playing one day down in the meadow behind the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily Longears. Sammie was sailing a little toy boat he had made from some birch bark, like an Indian canoe. Susie was playing house on a green, mossy log, with her doll, Priscilla Jane Peppercorn.

"Look at me, Susie," called Sammie, as he gave the boat a push out into the little brook which flowed through the meadow. "I've got a lot of carrots, cabbages and turnips on my boat, and I'm going to send them away down the big ocean to China."

"That's nice," answered Susie. "And look at my doll! She's going up in an airship and when she jumps down she's going to turn a somersault like the man in the circus!"

Of course, none of these things were really true. It was just "make believe," but lots of fun for all that. The carrots, cabbages and turnips which Sammie said he had on his toy ship were just little stones.

And this is how Susie sent her doll up in an airship. The little rabbit girl tied a piece of wild grapevine around Priscilla.

Then Susie flung one end of the grapevine rope over the low limb of a tree and pulled up and down. Thus Priscilla Jane Peppercorn went up and down as though she were in an airship. And when Susie "jiggled" the wire it made Priscilla look as though she were turning somersaults.

"And it's lots of fun to make believe this way!" laughed Susie.

Uncle Wiggily, hopping over the fields and through the woods, came to where the rabbit children were playing with the boat and doll. The bunny gentleman twinkled his pink nose and laughed as he asked:

"Have you seen any adventures, children? I'm looking for a little adventure, and if I could find one here I would not have to hop away over in the forest, where the Fuzzy Fox and the Woolzie Wolf live."

"We haven't seen any adventures," Uncle Wiggily answered Susie. "But, if you like, you may play with my doll Priscilla Jane Peppercorn."

"Or you may play going to China on my boat," added Sammie.

"Oh, thank you, but that would hardly be an adventure," said Uncle Wiggily, and just then a voice cried:

"If you helped me perhaps that would be an adventure."

"Oh, my goodness!" screamed Susie, clasping her doll in her paws. "Is that the Skillery Scallery Alligator?"

"Or the Fox or the Wolf?" asked Sammie, looking toward his boat floating down the brook.

"No, I am only a poor Grasshopper," was the answer. "My legs are caught in a tangle of grass, and unless some one sets me free I can't hop around and be jolly. Oh, will no one help me?"

"Yes, I will," exclaimed kind Uncle Wiggily, and with his red, white and blue striped rhematism crutch the bunny gentleman untangled the grass from the hoppers legs and the green chap perched himself on the log beside Susie and her doll.

"You were very kind to me,

"Oh, my poor doll!" cried Susie

But, all of a sudden the wind began to blow very hard, the boat went faster and faster away beyond the reach of Sammie's paws. He couldn't pull the boat back again.

"Oh, my poor doll!" cried Susie. "She'll be shipwrecked!"

"I'll get her for you," said Uncle Wiggily, but just then the wind blew the toy boat and the doll out into the middle of the very widest part of the brook, and the bunny gentleman could not reach Priscilla!

"Oh, what shall I do. My poor, dear doll!" cried Susie.

"I think I can help!" said the grasshopper. "Have you a long string, Sammie?"

"Yes, I have a ball of cord that I was going to tie on my boat only I didn't!" answered the rabbit boy.

"Give me one end of the string and you hold the other end," said the grasshopper. Holding one end of the cord in his mouth the hoppers gave a big, long jump and landed on the boat close to Susie's doll, who was being sailed away. The Grasshopper then tied his end of the string to the boat and cried:

"Now, everybody pull!"

Sammie, Susie and Uncle Wiggily pulled on the other end of the string, and soon hauled the toy ship back to shore, and Priscilla Jane Peppercorn wasn't harmed a bit, except a drop of water splashed in one eye. But she didn't mind that.

"Now I see," said Susie, "how a grasshopper can do a favor." So everything ended happily, and when the cow jumps over the moon, if she doesn't spill all the cream so there is none left for the Milky Way, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the butterfly.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

TELEPHONE PLUG SUPPLANTED BY CONNECTOR.

This ingenious telephone connector does away with the usual telephone plug and jack system with its permanent soldered connections on the jack side of the circuit. The device consists of six spring cord tips, with two connecting switches, permitting one, two or three pairs of telephones to be connected in at will. On its other side provision is made for the usual leads to receiving set in the shape of two posts. Con-

They Say That

All the world over, and from the earliest times, much mysterious lore has attached itself to birds, says Answers, London.

It is a very old belief that the souls of the dead pass to Heaven in the form of birds, and in the East it is still believed that some of these souls flutter about us in bird form.

Some Indian tribes will never hurt or even touch certain birds, regarding them as abodes of the animated souls of their dead chiefs. Old prints and carvings nearly always picture the soul as leaving the body in the shape of a bird.

In this country and in Scotland especially, the robin is regarded as sacred. Its red breast is supposed to be of that color because a drop of Christ's blood fell on a robin, and thenceforward all robins were so marked.

It is deemed unlucky to kill a styx to make him normal. Typhoid fever is prevented by fascination.

A BIT OF ORATORY

Jim Reed had enough to carry, and enough to bear without this doubtful show of affection. I have never seen anything like it in my life, the junior Senator from Missouri (Mr. Spencer) throwing his loving arms around the senior Senator from Missouri (Mr. Reed.) There is only one other such instance in truth or fiction. Under the shadows of Gethsemane there was a loving kiss, as sincere, and let us hope more deadly, than the kiss of the junior Senator from Missouri upon the cheek of the senior Senator from Missouri—Senator Stanley (D) Ky., in speech in Congress.

FASHION NOTE

There will be only two styles in bathing suits this summer; those suitable for stout women over sixty, and those suitable for denunciation from the pulpit.

VACUUM TUBES IN TRANSMISSION

When normally operated the filament of the power tubes now available on the market and used for transmitters are at a white heat, approximately the same as the filament of an ordinary lamp used for lighting purposes. When the key is held down in continuous wave position the plates normally become dull red. If the plates of any tube become so hot as to be cherry red it is evidence of trouble, either in the tube or elsewhere. A short period of operating will give an operator a knowledge of the appearance of the tubes when properly functioning.

In adjusting the oscillator tubes of the set it is important to get the desired output with the lowest value of plate current. This will give better modulation and longer tube life. It will be found that at higher values of plate current the antenna current or radiation may be perhaps 10 per cent higher, but this is more than offset by the resultant poorer modulation and shorter tube life.

Usually the filament voltage to be applied is plainly marked on power and other tubes by the manufacturer, and this should be rigidly observed. If satisfactory output is not obtainable at the rated filament voltage it is an indication of either poor adjustment or some abnormal condition in the set or antenna system. In the case of filament voltage regulator it may also be found that an increase in filament voltage of, say, one or two volts may give a few tenths of an ampere more radiation or output, but this slight gain is negligible in the final result obtained and is entirely offset and insignificant compared with the resultant loss in tube life if persisted in. On the other hand, if by careful adjustment, satisfactory operation can be obtained at a lesser voltage than that at which the tube is rated, say, one or two volts less, the average tube life will be nearly doubled.

UNIQUE CAMPAIGN BY RICHARDSON SPEEDS UP

Candidate for Governor Wins Friends Without One Penny Expense!

Friend William Richardson, treasurer of the state of California, candidate for the office of governor, is making one of the most remarkable campaigns since the historical "Buckboard" tour, which terminated in the election of James H. Budd to the office of governor, Richardson has firmly set aside all political precedents by refusing to "organize" in the accepted fashion. To all political hangers-on he has turned a deaf ear. For the petty grafters who beset every candidate for office with pleas for "advertising funds," donations to this and to that, pleas for money to "fix" certain people or districts and even to some very substantial established "federations" proferring financial assistance, there has been nothing but silence from Richardson.

Many of Richardson's old time friends, who have never seen a political campaign like this one, wonder when they see how faithfully he has heeded to the line of courageous independence in politics. They would wonder that a candidate can run for office without red fire, bands, campaign speeches, elaborate committee headquarters and paid workers and take the lead against an entrenched opponent, as Richardson has done.

Slowly Sweeps State But those who have watched Richardson's progress in the past and see the assurance with which he prepares his simple campaign, at this time, running a poor man's race for an office for which he is eminently qualified and opposing one of the most powerful organizations of state employes and machine henchmen that ever controlled a state administration, begin to understand that this novelty is catching the popular fancy. It has swept through the back counties of California like wildfire, resulting in the almost unanimous endorsement by the country newspapers, which are giving space, gratis, to Richardson that would cost any other candidate thousands of dollars to secure.

John E. King, president of the Southern California Editorial Association, an organization of country newspapers of Southern California, in towns from 500 to 50,000 inhabitants, editor of the Hemet News, although a Democrat, is one of the original Richardson backers, recognizing the state treasurer because of 20 years of unselfish service for the country newspapers of California as president of the state association. There are also dozens of country towns in California where there is a Republican newspaper and also one of the Democratic faith, in which both have declared for Richardson and in some instances, Democratic editors, who have voted with the party of Jefferson all of their days, have registered Republican for this year's primary in order to support Friend Richardson for governor.

Avoids Buncombe. Richardson's personal canvass of California has been free of the usual political buncombe. He has told the voters that he is running for office on his own money and the support of the country newspapers.

He has said that he doesn't need to emphasize the efficiency and economy plank of his platform (which was overworked by the present governor four years ago but is abandoned this year) for the reason that his record as state printer and later as treasurer of the state has proven his ability to meet efficiency and economy requirements.

State Treasurer, Friend Richardson, makes no claims as a spell-binder and is diffident about making speeches, although he makes a good talk with a lot of sense in it. He is essentially a doer and not a talker. He prefers to allow his public record in California to speak for him and to let the volunteer organizations of the state carry his message to the voters.

He's Never Ruffled Richardson grew up in a good of Councilman Lapham, bid of George R. Curtis was accepted and all other bids rejected, and Resolution No. 1645, "Resolution of Award of Contract," was accepted by unanimous vote.

Superintendent of Plant and Production reported bid of City of Glendale as bidder on Pacific, Burchett and Stockers streets and city controller reported sufficient money in budget to pay for same and upon motion of Councilman Kimlin, Resolution No. 1644, "Resolution of Award of Contract," was accepted by unanimous vote.

City engineer reported the bid of B. D. Zaick as lowest responsible bidder for the contract of sewer, etc. in Verdugo Canyon. On motion of Councilman Lapham the bid of B. D. Zaick was accepted and all other bids rejected and Resolution No. 1645, "Resolution of Award of Contract" accepted by unanimous vote.

The city engineer reported the bid of Ducey & Breitenstein as the improvement of Broadway. On motion of Councilman Lapham, the bid of Ducey & Breitenstein was accepted and all other bids rejected and Resolution No. 1646, "Resolution of Award of Contract" was accepted by unanimous vote.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, the following resolution was adopted as Resolution No. 1647, "A resolution of the city of Glendale ordering certain improvements to be made on North Adams Place and portions of Adams street and certain streets and alleys intersecting therewith in the city of Glendale by unanimous vote.

Easement Accepted On motion of Councilman Kimlin, easement of P. E. Carter, a single man, to the city of Glendale, was accepted and clerk directed to record the same by unanimous vote.

Adjourned. old Quaker family and so they named him Friend. The Quaker influence for peace, tranquility and simple living has remained with him through his whole life. He is never ruffled and when he entered the bedlam of the state printer's office, as it was in the days before he swept it clean, it didn't even ruffle his temper. He told the gang that ruled that office that he was taking it as an experiment to see whether it was possible to run it without graft and do printing as cheaply as the private concerns, that there were plenty of the latter who were ready to take the work that he had no particular desire to be away from his newspaper in Berkeley.

He told them that he was perfectly willing to recommend the abolishment of the state office if it should not prove successful. He would have done it, too, under his direction and with the same gang of helpers, he reduced the cost of state school books from 25 to 50 per cent. In passing, it is worth while to note that now the state printing department is in as deplorable condition as it ever was before his time. It needs another Richardson.

It Takes Nerve Thousands of voters like a single-handed fighter without a political machine, with the nerve to clean up the present army of employed politicians in California, increased from 4,000 to 11,000 within the time of the present state administration. They realize that he cannot expect any votes from among the people who pay state taxes. The latter would like to give him a chance to show what he can do to the old system.

Slain Man's Stepson Grilled by Officials

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Aug. 18.—Joseph Richmond, 24 years of age, son of Mrs. William Gibson of Lakehurst, N. As the result of the new clues it is said that another arrest may be made in the case, but the detectives working under the direction of Prosecuting Attorney W. H. COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Soldiers' Bonus Comes Next Interesting Displays Service Before Profits Strike Cripples Industry

By Gil A. Cowan

It is a relief to newspaper readers to see that passage of the tariff bill is but a few hours away.

This administration measure has been the subject of a wrangle for months and it is pleasing to note that California profits most from it, the result of work done by Senator Hiram Johnson and his California colleagues at the capital.

The next measure on the program is the soldiers' bonus bill and heaven knows that if the needy haven't starved to death they have well earned anything that Congress grants for the patient waiting, if it has been so.

There again Senator Johnson scores heavily for he is a friend of the fellow who fought to make the world safe for democracy and America free from foreign entanglements.

Such a change is as noticeable in the display windows of Glendale. And all of this has come about since the war.

There was a day in Glendale when window shopping wasn't worth while, but now there is nothing more pleasurable than walking about the business section of this thriving city and noticing what the merchants have to offer.

The same is true of glancing through the columns of the News tonight and seeing what bargains may be had at the various stores. They keep you informed through this medium and certainly you may profit thereby.

Speaking of profits, the Glendale merchant makes but little, comparatively speaking, for his trouble in serving you better than a Los Angeles store would dare do.

Here the business man takes a personal interest in your welfare, plans such things as the community picnic, boosts bonds for civic improvements and, best of all, pays taxes to aid the building of this city.

When you stop and consider all of these things for a moment, you can readily realize what it means to trade at home, or as near home as possible.

You will get more pleasure in noting how the neighbor spends his dollar than mailing it away to some distant city where you only know it has been received, accepted and exchanged for least in merchandise and service permissible in the conduct of business.

Just how the recent railroad strike struck home in Glendale is indicated by G. W. Strang, vice president of the International Chemical Products Company which has established its plant on West Colorado boulevard.

Here is an industry with more than a million dollars in business signed without the machinery to work with. However, they have part of the equipment coming by ocean freight from New York and by the middle of September will be grinding night and day on printers' ink and by-products.

While only the first unit has been built for the factory, another must be commenced immediately and four more will follow as soon as the production and sales department can get on an even basis.

Fine compliments have been received by The Glendale Evening News for its complete account and pictures of the Community picnic at the new city park Wednesday of this week.

It demonstrates the efficiency of organization developed within an institution under capable direction. The public recognizes that fact in the splendid support given this home town newspaper.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur Compound enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Weth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so natural and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

If It's Worth It, Booth Can Sell It

See Frank Booth first. His 15 years' residence in Glendale insures both the buyer and seller a square deal. F. Booth knows every hole and corner of this little burg, knows values, knows what to buy and what not to buy. Has seen this place grow from a population of 4000 to its present proportions. Its geographical location, and beautiful surroundings, compared to other towns in the state, make it the one spot on God's earth where one would wish to spend the remainder of their lives.

FRANK BOOTH has a wonderful list of bargains for sale, with a reasonable payment down and the remainder like rent. Below are a few. No trouble to show whether you buy or not. It's a pleasure to show them.

"Rush Hours"

In all lines of business patronage is irregular. Street cars, stores, banks and restaurants have their "rush hours" when some delays in service are unavoidable. The public, with the situation before its eyes, good naturedly accepts a degree of inconvenience.

There are "rush hours" in a telephone exchange. With business service the "loads" of telephone traffic are determined by commercial activities, banking hours, etc.—the "load" of the residence telephone varies with household and social needs.

The demands upon the telephone operator and a complicated mechanical equipment cannot be seen, but telephone traffic varies in every hour of every day according to the individual desires of thousands of patrons.

If there should be at times a delay in answering your call, remember that trained young women with nimble fingers are doing their best to serve you, and that at the moment there may be a "rush" of telephone traffic.

The exercise of patience and consideration will mean better service.

GOLDEN STATE GIRL HELD AS HOPEFUL TENNIS CHAMP

Little Helen Wills Impresses Writer As Capable of Winning Title

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Aug. 18.—Semi-final matches in the singles and doubles are expected to be productive of the best tennis of the tournament when the survivors meet in the women's national championships today.

In the most important match of the singles, Miss Helen Wills, San Francisco school girl, will meet Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Los Angeles. The remaining semi-final courses are Mrs. Molla Mallory, the playing-through champion, and Miss Leslie Bancroft of Boston.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
FOREST HILLS, L. I., Aug. 18.—There comes a time in every man's life when a hunch ceases to be a hunch and becomes a conviction; whereat he plays at the thing across the board and lets it go at that.

This writer has nursed the suggestion of a hunch all through the women's national tennis championships, now in progress, that a little child shall lead them, or words to that effect, and that Miss Helen Wills, 16-year-old Californian, is destined to furnish the sensation of the tournament.

After seeing little Helen come from behind and storm her way to a smashing victory over Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup in the fourth round yesterday, the hunch is so close to a conviction that if the championship itself goes west to "Prisco" this writer will scarce be able to lift an incredulous eyebrow.

Helen Wills has the game to become champion of this or any other country. She has played by long odds the best tennis of any entry in the championship tournament and were the latter to end at this moment, this child would have to be acclaimed the best of the lot.

Whether she can go through to the title or not is quite another matter. All she has to do is to dispose of Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Los Angeles and Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York in successive rounds.

Candidly we will be vastly disappointed if she does not defeat Mrs. Bundy in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Mallory faces Mrs. Leslie Bancroft of Boston in the other semi-final. The champion should win as she has won all of her matches this week—rather easily. Then she will meet either Miss Wills or Mrs. Bundy in the finals.

Sport High Spots

Not even the presence in the lineup of Manager Wade Killefer yesterday could keep the Los Angeles team on top. Ivan Howard's charges walking away with the second game of the series in easy fashion, the final score being 7 to 3. The contest started out as if it were to be a real pitchers' battle, but all such ideas were dissipated from the minds of the fans in the first half of the eighth inning when the transvay lads sent over five runs and chased the veteran Ote Randall to the showers.

Kremer was the heavier who dished 'em up for Howard, allowing but six hits in the nine innings.

The Angels underwent further mishaps yesterday when Tony Reago, the undersized sub catcher who has been making such a name for himself through his clever receiving during the past week, suffered a broken finger on a foul tip from Art Koehler's bat in the second round. Tom Daly, who has been filling in at first in the absence of Art Griggs, was then called behind the bat and Killefer himself chose to cover the initial sack. The old boy got away with the job in an entirely acceptable manner, although he was checked up with an error. In three trips to the plate Killefer banged out a brace of hits and scored a run.

William Wrigley's request for a permit to erect a huge concrete baseball plant on Thirty-ninth street and South Park avenue, Los Angeles, was yesterday granted by the council of that city and plans are already under way for the clearing of the property in preparation for the construction. It is hoped that the grounds and grandstand, which will be the largest and most modern in the west, will be ready for the start of the 1924 season.

Toots Mondt, heavyweight grappler who has appeared in Glendale twice during the past few weeks in matches with John Hackensmidt, local wrestler, is diligently training for what will probably be the hardest match of his career on Saturday night of next week, when he will be pitted against Wladek Zhyzsko, former world's champion. The match is to be the main event of the attractive wrestling schedule which is being arranged by Umberto Rovene to take place at the American Legion stadium in Hollywood. In his two performances here Mondt obtained the hearty support of the fans through his clean and sportsmanlike grappling, and he will go into next week's match with a heavy following. In the two matches with Hackensmidt he accounted for a victory and a draw.

BIG LEAGUE RECRUITS

By WOOD COWAN

GEORGE IS ONE OF THE LEADING HITTERS IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

GEORGE TOPORCER
SPECTACLED YOUTH WHO HAS PROVEN THAT GOOD EYES ARE NOT ESSENTIAL TO GOOD HITTING

HE'S ALL BAT AND GLASS

WHAT CHANCE HAS A BALL LIKE HE GOT AGAIN A PAIR OF CHEATERS THE THICKNESS THIS BIRD'S GOT PERCHED ON HIS BEAK

YOU LOOK AS BIG AS THE ALLIED DEBT THROUGH THESE SPECKS

FIELDS WELLS

Here's a youth with cheaters who has upset all scientific theories that good eyesight is essential to good hitting—George Toporcer, although handicapped by an eighth of an inch of glass, has busted his way, in spite of the bay windows, right up among the leading hitters of his league!

Hailing from New York, but of Hungarian parentage, he practically jumped from backlot baseball into the majors.

In 1920 this bespectacled youth got a try-out with the Cards through Bert Daniels who believed the training would develop Toporcer into a good man for Syracuse, where he was interested.

Because of the absence of Milton Stock, Hornsby was shifted to third and the "guy with the cheaters" filled in at second and immediately began to sock the old pill to all corners of the training camp. Fact is, he outhit the mighty Hornsby during the training season games.

So it came to pass that upon Stock's return at the opening of the season, rather than bench a hitter of Toporcer's ability, Hornsby was sent to the outfield and George cavorted about the keystone bag. This experiment did not pan out, however, and time soon found the recruit on the Syracuse payroll.

This spring George was recalled, and because of John Lavan's illness, Rickey plugged the hole at short with Toporcer. He filled that hole to the tune of .350 hitting and good fielding until Lavan's return.

Since then Toporcer has proven a mighty fine utility man, playing outfield and filling infield positions. And he is a reliable pinch hitter.

It is possible that the aspiring youth of the land who will be coming to bat in the backlots, adorning their beaks with a pair of cheaters the same model as George's, may lead the league in swats in years to come. Who knows?

Tagging All Bases

Shut out until the ninth, the Browns replied by scoring eight runs against the pitching of Morige and Francis and won by a score of 8 to 5. The Senators are still wondering what it was all about.

Having saved one game with a sparkling catch, the rejuvenated Casey Stengel won another by smacking two triples off Morrison and Adams, the Giants pulling out a 6 to 3 decision over the Pirates.

The sinking Cards dropped another game to the Dodgers, 5 to 7, in spite of the fact that the St. Louis outfit rushed Vance off the premises with a four run rally in the eighth.

Bullet Joe Bush won his nineteenth game of the season for the Yanks in turning back the Tigers with seven hits and a 7 to 1 defeat. The Yanks won the game by getting to Dams for four runs in the fourth inning.

The Athletics tossed the Indians for a goal and their third straight victory, 8 to 1, by tapping Uhle and Bagby at strategic moments. Tillie Walker got his 15th homer of the season.

San Jose Host to State Convention of Legion Next Month

SAN JOSE, Aug. 18.—Reunions for three famous California service outfits, and the presence of regular troops with bands will lend a truly military air to the fourth annual convention of the American legion, department of California, here from September 4 to 9, inclusive.

The One Hundred Fifty-ninth infantry and companies B and M, sanitary detachment, will assemble to again live training days at Camp Kearney. Commander of this outfit, in which over 5000 men from northern California served is Col. L. M. Farrell, San Jose.

The Eighth Infantry, practically a California organization, which trained at Camp Fremont, and the One Hundred Fifty-eighth hospital train also will gather here.

Members of the Forty and Eight, playground society of the legion, will flock here from all parts of the state. Their wrecking crews will be at their best the night of Wednesday, September 6, when a big celebration is scheduled.

Dempsey Pleased at Hot Weather in Michigan City, Ind.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 18.—The terrific heat wave which has held the lake district in its grip for the past few days has been "just what the doctor ordered" for Messrs. Dempsey and Brennan.

Both fighters were hard at work today in the broiling sun working off surplus poundage in preparation for their ten-round encounter in Floyd Fitzsimmons' big bowl here on Labor Day afternoon.

"I like this hot weather," Dempsey said today. "You don't have to warm up to get going. As soon as I get a tan I'll be okay."

That Jack regards Brennan as no ordinary scrapper is indicated by the way the champion is digging into the training grind. He is putting a lot of steam behind the thumps he crashes at the two big colored men, Thompson and Taylor, while for speed he milks Joe Benjamin, the fast stepping lightweight.

Brennan has shown great improvement this week. He is almost down to weight and is doing heavy boxing with Kid Norfolk and Panama Joe Gans, both negro boxers of the rough and ready style. Billy Shado, Australian middleweight, is Brennan's sparring mate in the speed brushes and Shado said today that Brennan is boxing better than ever.

Australasians Going After Spanish Luck

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—In the second day's play of the final round Davis cup matches, the Australian doubles team of Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood will attempt to break the existing tie in victories, meeting Manuel Alonzo and Count De Gomar, Spain's representatives on the courts of the Germantown Cricket club today.

Popular opinion favors the Australians to win in doubles and thus assume a tactical position for the final singles matches tomorrow.

TOM MARSHALL IS DEAD
CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Tom Marshall, veteran trap-shooter and sportsman, died here today after an illness of acute indigestion. Marshall was known as one of the most successful wing shot experts in the world and twice won the grand American handicap.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Unless the business of accepting and completing $500,000 building contracts languishes very suddenly it is not likely that the growing world will ever again see John B. Kelly, of Philadelphia, Olympic champion sculler, in active competition.

Right at this moment Kelly has contracts to the amount of a round half million dollars to be filled, and the end is by no means yet. He has become one of the foremost contractors in and around Philadelphia, and rowing now comes under the head of an expensive luxury.

Kelly is no Adeline Patti. He has retired from the sculling game, not because he feels that he has reached the end of achievement there. Like all oarsmen, the river never loses its charm for him, and at least twice a week he goes out in a shell for exercise. But he cannot now afford to indulge in intensive training nor trips to distant regattas any more than John D. can afford to wear handkerchiefs. Both are too busy making money.

The Olympic champion is just as good as he ever was. He proved that a few weeks ago when he left Tom Rooney, a former national champion, five lengths astern in a practice dash over the quarter-mile distance. To the casual eye he seemed to be only a few days away from top form when he rowed an exhibition with Water Hoover at the national regatta recently. Therefore it is not a question of waning speed either.

Kelly's success in the contract game is purely self-created. When he first came into prominence ten years ago or more he was a bricklayer. The evolution from manual laborer to builder and later contractor was gradual but definite. The path upward was strewn with alarm clocks, lunch pails, hard work and long hours, but no rose leaves.

SPORTS CHATTER

The Grand American handicap is conceded to be the greatest trap shooting tournament in this country, if not in the world. This year, the first time in twenty years, it will be held in an eastern state Atlantic City, N. J., being the site where shooters from all over this country will congregate for the great handicap and championship matches which run continuously from September 11 to 16, inclusive.

The world-famous Grand American was originally staged at Interstate Park, Long Island, N. Y., in 1900, and up to 1902. The next year it went to Kansas City and since that date it has at all times been held in a western state. The first three years less than 100 shooters participated each year, but since then the event has grown in importance and in 1915 an entry of 884 shooters was recorded at Chicago.

The cost of a Grand American is far greater than the cost of a world series in baseball. Last year at Chicago a total of 637,355 shells were used in the shooting, the cost of this one item approximately $20,000. The clay targets shot at cost approximately $10,000, while the value in "shooting iron" of the 637 entrants ran into more than a million dollars. On top of all this the shooters spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in railroad and transportation not to mention hotel bills, etc., and it has been conservatively estimated that a present day Grand American handicap accounts for the expenditure of about two million dollars.

The Grand American itself is a handicap event lasting just one day, and round it are built up various other handicap shoots of more or less importance and all the great national amateur and professional championships.

Since the inception of the event only one perfect score has been recorded. That was in 1910 when Riley Thompson of Gainesville, Mo., won the event from nineteen yards with an unbroken run of 100 straight targets. Riley came to the tournament, held at Chicago, more as a spectator, and it was only at the last minute that he decided to enter. Harvey Murchy had finished with 99 when Thompson came to the last trap with 80 straight. He knew what Murchy had accomplished and knew what he had to do to win. Thousands stood at the rails and watched Stage right never entered his head and he won.

In the coming shoot at Atlantic City some changes have been made over previous years. There will be no 18-yard championship, but this distance will be held as a special event without a title. The only championship will be shot at a now standardized distance of sixteen yards and will be open to the world, instead of as in the past open only to state and zone champions. The doubles championship will be at 200 targets and the junior title at 100 targets.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

For one full month, or four complete weekly series, not a team in the Pacific Coast baseball league has moved out of its place in the standings. The teams that have gained a little ground in the interval are Los Angeles, San Francisco, Vernon and Seattle. The remaining four clubs have lost a little. Comparing the present standings of the teams with their standing at the corresponding time last year we find the following alignments:

1922	W	L	Pct.
San Francisco	85	49	.634
Vernon	78	53	.595
Los Angeles	75	60	.555
Salt Lake	65	67	.492
Oakland	63	70	.474
Seattle	60	72	.455
Portland	54	70	.436
Sacramento	51	82	.383
1921	W	L	Pct.
San Francisco	82	52	.615
Seattle	75	56	.576
Sacramento	76	59	.563
Los Angeles	71	57	.555
Oakland	72	59	.549
Vernon	70	64	.523
Salt Lake	48	84	.364
Portland	42	97	.248

Of the pitchers Scott of San Francisco, May of Vernon and Mitchell of San Francisco are the trio which stand out of the ruck. They have been pitching consistently good ball and there is no indication that they are likely to crack. It would not be surprising if some of the major league scouts were keeping their eyes on them.

MINUTIVE FRENCH BOX CARS WILL HAUL LEGION DELEGATES TO THEIR BIG NATIONAL CONVENTION

Overseas Veterans To Recall World War Days By Traveling Same Way They Did While Facing Boches

Here is shown a group of the organization which will use French box cars in traveling to the American Legion national convention in New Orleans. The inset shows Edward J. Eivers of Portland, Ore., national president of the society. This scene will recall to overseas veterans the way in which they traveled during their service in France—cramped into a small box car, with no seats, to sleep and rest as they could. Anyway, those were the jolly days.

BERT LYTELL ON GLENDALE SCREEN

'Alias Ladyfingers' Starring Vehicle With Good Dramatic Punch

Bert Lytell will be seen in another of those entertaining crook dramas when "Alias Ladyfingers," a Bayard Veiller production for Metro, comes to the Glendale Theatre today and tomorrow.

Unlike most of the usual run of crook dramas, "Alias Ladyfingers" deals with the career of the orphaned child of a family of wealth who, by accident, is brought to the attention of a notorious safe breaker. Because of the little lad's delicate hands, which earn him the name of "Alias Ladyfingers," he is educated in the risky art of opening strong boxes. His proficiency gains him a national reputation with the police, who, while trying to trap him, learn that the much-wanted safe cracker is the heir to the fortune of his grandmother. The valuable pearls of that grandmother become a lure to Ladyfingers, who is ignorant of his relationship, and his entrance as a thief into the home where he is being sought as the heir brings about complications which make "Alias Ladyfingers" one of the most powerful dramas of the screen.

A Baby Peggy comedy, Pathe Review and other pictures are on the program.

Victor E. Shaw Has Incomparable Record, Friends' Declaration

Declaring that Judge Victor E. Shaw of the district court of appeal, has made an incomparable record of efficiency during the past sixteen years, lawyers, business men and civic workers throughout the community are campaigning actively to secure Judge Shaw's re-election to office at the primaries, August 29.

Judge Shaw, during his sixteen years' incumbency on appellate bench, has manifested such unusual intellectuality and legal qualifications, that he has been called, on many occasions, to sit as judge pro tem of the State Supreme court. His record for efficiency is shown, his friends declare, in the manner in which he keeps his work done instead of allowing cases to lag in the appellate court sometimes for years, as they used to do. Judge Shaw made the star record known during one year when, from the appellate and the Supreme court benches, he wrote ninety-eight opinions. In his court, attorneys declare, it is now possible to file a case and get final disposition of it within two or three months, as against several years under less competent hands.

In the plebiscite of the Los Angeles county bar association of a week ago, Judge Shaw received a heavy majority vote for re-election. He has been endorsed by the leading attorneys of the state, and by men and women who are anxious to preserve the integrity of the courts, and to perpetuate high ability after it has been definitely proven in a sixteen years' service.—Advertisement.

J. M. Rhoades Signs Jurors' Affidavit

An affidavit signed by James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, was among the five affidavits filed Wednesday by jurors in the second murder trial of Madalynne C. Obenchain before Judge John W. Shenk of the criminal branch of the superior court, alleging that Foreman M. E. Paddock used high-handed methods in presiding over the discussions in the jury room.

The affidavits were filed by Jud R. Rush and William B. Beirne, attorneys for the defendant.

MOTION PICTURES SUBJECT FOR ROTARIANS

thing they're told—when properly told—by a competent operator. The Rotary members were baffled by a barrage of facts which Mr. Howe turned loose, and the principal result was to impress the visitors with the great expense and elaborate knowledge and equipment required to operate a top-notch picture palace from behind the scenes.

Use Lots of Juice
From the tidal-wave of facts let loose, it was gleaned that the Glendale Theatre's projectors use arc-lights at 80 amperes, developing about 50,000 candlepower for projecting the images; the distance of 147 feet from the film to the screen. Instantaneous change of reels is possible by the simple act of pushing a button, and there are numerous safety devices to prevent fire, flood, frost and boneheadedness.

To obviate placing the theatregoers where Moses was alleged to have been when the lights went out, the Glendale Theatre has its own emergency storage battery system to operate the lights. If the Edison power by any mischance is temporarily shut off, the auxiliary system immediately and automatically goes to work, and the patrons in the house wouldn't even know of the change. Among the numerous other things in the projecting room is a modern spotlight—also a stereopticon for slides. There is also the generator to convert direct current from alternating.

Organ Is Intricate

If the audience was dazzled by the intricacies of the first scene, it was flabbergasted by the technicalities of the three-in-one Estey organ system which Organist Paul Carson operates by means of two hundred and fifty keys, pedals, buttons and petcocks. By using both hands, both feet, his head—for Manager Howe declares Carson has a head with something in it—the organist succeeds in squeezing a remarkable variety of harmony from the wonderful instrument, whose component parts are strewn about like bridal chambers at the Ambassador.

It was learned that Carson's fundamental training as an organist started with a diploma from the Northwestern university which established him as a bachelor of music. Then a few years of study and practical training, coupled with a bit of mechanical knowledge and a native tendency to produce music and to recognize it, barefoot, brought Carson to his present highly-developed state of organism or whatever one may call it.

Needs Lots of Pep

In short, he has the education, experience, mentality and acrobatic ability to handle the 250 buttons, keys and levers and know what he's doing and why. However, most of the Rotarians look upon the mere requirements as something akin to running two Fords at one and the same time in opposite directions, while piloting an airplane over the Alps, tuning in with Mars on a six-step radio outfit and looping the loop in a submarine.

The whole group went up into one of the organ chambers and got an earful of music at its source that will make their spines tingle until next meeting. Otherwise, all admit there ain't much to the theatre business, now.

61-YEAR FLAPPER AT T. D. L. TODAY

Edna Wallace Hopper In Personal Appearances; Feature Film, Too

To the women of Glendale one of the most interesting things that could happen has happened.

Ralph Allan of the T. D. & L. theatre has at a tremendous expense engaged and brought to this city one of the most beautiful and most talked of women in America—Miss Edna Wallace Hopper, who looks like a girl 19—to tell the women of Glendale "how she did it." In a most interesting talk she explains fully in detail the whole affair. Its novelty alone is appealing, but its value to the fair sex is inestimable, and there is, of course, that possibility that such an attraction will never be presented in Glendale again.

Not to see and to hear Edna Wallace Hopper will be to miss the most unusual entertainment ever offered to any audience. There will be a special matinee Saturday at 1 o'clock for women only. This has proven one of the most successful ventures ever presented. Mr. Allan states: "Don't fail to see her. It will be an inspiration, an enlightenment."

Summer Work Done By Welfare Bureau

The report of the assistant director of the Glendale Welfare Bureau presented at the recent meeting of that organization held at the city hall showed that during June and July there had been the following activity:

Home visits, 40; office interviews, 15; registered for employment, 6; employment secured for, 4; families assisted, 18; city grocery orders, $10. In addition to the clothing secured and distributed, food given, etc., there were checks amounting to $56.20 given for relief during the two months. The reports for the months of June and July were approved at this meeting. Mrs. E. D. Yard, president, having charge of the session. The next meeting will be held the first Monday in October, at which time the annual election of officers will take place.

Ruth Zents Guest of Honor at Party

Miss Frances Payne of 105 North Central avenue entertained informally yesterday afternoon complimentary to her guest, Miss Ruth Zents of Bakersfield, who has been spending two weeks at the Payne home.

A yellow color scheme was chosen by Miss Payne for the apertments for the Five-Hundred games and for the buffet luncheon served late in the afternoon. Miss Elsie Church was awarded a vase as prize for the high score.

Miss Payne's guests were: Misses Rachel Lowry of Wilmington, who is spending two days at the Payne home; Myrtle and Elizabeth Hughes and Lois Kendrick of Los Angeles, Frank Waller, Douglas Balthis, Frank McBryde, Fred Farmer, James McBryde, Don Packer and Misses Elsie Church, Alice McCoy and Leota Snyder of Glendale.

WHAT A BRUTE

Hostess—It was so good of you to come, Mr. Greenley. But where is your brother?
Guest—You see, we are so busy just now that it's impossible for both of us to get away, so we tossed to see which one should come.
Hostess—How nice! And you won?
Guest—No, I lost.

Help Enforcement Of Pure Food Law

WASHINGTON—Because of the cooperation brought about by the United States department of agriculture enforcement of the federal food and drug act, state food and drug laws and municipal regulations has been made much easier and more effective.

The bureau of chemistry of the department, established several years ago, keeps in touch with the various sectional organizations, state officials and many of the men in charge of administering city food and drug regulations. Although only appointed to office a few months ago, W. S. Frisbie, chief of the cooperation office of the bureau, has already visited more than half of the state officials and will complete the whole circuit before the end of the year.

"As a result of this close relationship the eyes of the law are multiplied," declares the department of agriculture. "The states, cities and the department exchange valuable information, and now most of the state inspectors carry authorizations from the secretary of agriculture to collect samples for the department and are, therefore, participants in the enforcement of the national food and drug law.

"Another improvement being brought about is the standardization of rules and regulations, which is welcomed not only by the enforcement authorities, but also by the manufacturers. This plan of uniformity is being fostered also by the national association of food, drug and dairy officials, as well as by several of the smaller organizations of these officials. The formation of these smaller organizations by groups of neighboring states is looked upon as a very favorable means of promoting cooperation, especially between the states and cities which are members.

"Seven group associations have been formed, and now every state is a member of one of them. The department is always represented at the meetings, and many city officials attend."

PRESIDENT FIXES BLAME FOR RAIL COAL TIEUP

At that time the mine workers declined to confer, though the operators were agreeable, the mine workers excusing their declination on the ground that the union officials could have no authority to negotiate until after their annual convention.

Decline Peace Parley

"A short time prior to the expiration of the working agreement the mine workers invited a conference with the operators in the central competitive field covering the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and in spite of the union declination of the government's informal suggestion for the conference, five months before, the government, informally, but sincerely, commended the conference, but it was declined by certain groups of operators, and the coal mining controversy ended in the strike of April 1. It was instantly made nation-wide, so far as the organized miners could control, and included many districts in the bituminous field where there was neither grievance nor dispute, and effected a complete tie-up of the production in the anthracite field.

Two Sides Clash

"It is to be noted that when the suspension began large stocks of coal were on hand, mined at wages higher than those paid during the war, there was only the buying impelled by necessity, and there was a belief that coal must yield to the post-war readjustment. When the stocks on hand began to reach such diminution as to menace industry and hinder transportation, approximately June 1, overtures were initiated by the government in the hope of expediting settlement. None of these prevailed. Individual and district tenders of settlement on the part of operators—in some instances appeals for settlement—were wholly unavailing. The dominant groups among the operators were insistent on having district agreements; the dominant mine workers were demanding a nation-wide settlement. The government being without authority to enforce a strike settlement in the coal industry, could only volunteer its good offices in finding a way of adjustment.

Talks and Efforts

"Accordingly, a conference of the coal operators' associations and the general and district officials of the United Mine Workers was called upon to meet in Washington on July 1. The designation of representation was left to the officials of the various organizations, and there was nation-wide representation, except from the non-union fields of the country. Before the joint meeting I expressed the deep concern of the country and invited them to meet at a conference table and end the disputes between them. The conference did not develop even a hope. The operators were asking for their district or territorial conferences; the workers demanded national settlement on old bases. Appraising correctly the hopelessness of the situation, I again invited both operators and workers to meet with me, and tendered a signed check so justly inspired that it was difficult to see how anyone believing in industrial peace and justice to all concerned could decline it. In substance, it called upon the operators to open their mines, and the mine workers to resume work at the same pay and under the same working conditions as prevailed at the time the strike began. In turn, the government was to create at once a coal commission, or two of them, if preferred by all parties to the dispute, so that one could deal with the bituminous situation, the other with the problems in the anthracite field.

Refuse Arbitration

"Among the commissioners were to be representatives of the operators, representatives of the mine workers and outstanding, disinterested, and able representatives of the American public. The commission was to be instructed to direct its first inquiry to the period ending next April 1, and then to enter upon a fact finding inquiry into every phase of the industry, and point the way to avoid future suspensions in production. The disputants all endorsed the suggestion of a fact finding commission. The anthracite operators promptly accepted the entire proposal. The mine workers refused to resume work under the arbitration plan. The majority of the bituminous operators filed an acceptance, but a considerable minority declined the proposal.

Production Waves

"Under these circumstances, having no authority to demand compliance, the government had no course than to invite a resumption of production under the rights of all parties to the controversy with assurance of government protection of each and every one in his lawful pursuits. This fact was communicated to the governors of all coal-producing states, and with two exceptions assurances of maintenance of law and order were given. In some instances concrete proof of effective readiness to protect all men, strikers and non-striking workers alike, was promptly given. But little or no new production followed. The simple but significant truth was revealed that, except for such coal as comes from the districts worked by non-organized miners, the country is at the mercy of the United Mine Workers.

Seek Settlement

"Governors in various states reported that their operators and made by Mr. White that "this system has reduced the cost of administration to a minimum."

For those who recall being educated in the "little old red school house," some of the outstanding figures of Mr. White's report cannot fail to be comprehensively interesting and enlightening with regard to the activities of the rising generation.

For instance, there were 1519 boys and 1410 girls enrolled in Glendale's elementary schools in the eight grades the past year, making a total of 2929 students, with an average daily attendance of 2715.

Salary Totals Given

These 2,929 students were under a corps of administrative officers and grade teachers, who received the total amount of $145,621.75 in salaries, while $12,582.50 was paid out in janitors' salaries.

All of which but emphasizes the wide difference between the "little old red school house" days and the twentieth century and brings to mind that administration of schools today must be worked out to the minutest detail.

Mr. White has deduced that during the last year the cost per grade pupil for teaching was $47.53, while the cost per pupil for all other expense was $14.71, amounting to $62.24 per pupil. He then sets down that the average number of pupils enrolled per class teacher was 40, while the total number of principals and teachers was 87.

Average Pay Good

And just to prove that the day is past when the teacher struggled along on $1,200 a year and in most cases less, Mr. White states that the average annual salary of principals in Glendale elementary schools for the past year was $1,995, while the average salary of teachers was $1,593. That the janitors fared well too is shown in the statement that the average annual salary of janitors was $1,345.

Some final points of interest in Mr. White's report were total property valuations of elementary school sites, buildings, furniture and apparatus, $542,400; extra compensation for playground work for regular teachers, $15 per month for two days per week; salary of substitute elementary teachers, $7 per day; salary for kindergarten substitute teachers $5.50 per day; kindergarten enrollment 117 boys, 99 girls, total 216, average daily attendance 195; total average cost per kindergarten pupil, $80.74; total kindergarten teachers' salaries, $11,044.50.

Balances for elementary schools: July 1, 1921—$7,097.29, July 1, 1922—$154,150.75.

Balances for kindergartens: July 1, 1922—$154,588, July 1, 1922—$2,996.87.

'Ghost Like Corpses' March In Front of Turkish Bayonets

LONDON, Aug. 18.—"A ghostly march of corpses" was the way a returned traveler today described the deportations of Greek Christians from Anatolia by the Turks. The traveler is Ethel Thompson of Boston, who has just returned from the near east, where she was an eye witness of the sufferings which the exiles were compelled to undergo.

"The whole thing was too ghastly for adequate description," said Miss Thompson. "The Greek men, women and children were herded together and stumbled forward at the point of Turkish swords and bayonets. Thousands perished by the wayside. I saw women who looked unhuman. I saw three hundred children surrounded by Turkish gendarmes who beat them with their swords. "There were girls in the ranks with faces disfigured and distorted beyond all human hope."

Archeologists have found bones believed to be those of Giovanni Boccaccio, the great Italian novelist and poet-of-the-fourteenth century. The bones were found in the house at Certaldo in which he lived.

Paul Rom, Tailor, In Glendale a Year

Paul Rom, the Broadway Tailor, located at 202 E. Broadway, is celebrating the anniversary of his first year in Glendale today. To mark the anniversary, he is presenting to the public his long awaited big anniversary sale on tailored to measure suits.

In speaking of his satisfaction of the year's business accorded him, Mr. Rom said that the satisfaction was not one-sided, as he had tailored over two hundred suits to date for Glendale men, and as far as he knew, not one had a word of complaint as to the style, fit or workmanship of the clothes he had tailored.

miners had no dispute and were eager to resume work. District leaders informed me that their workmen were anxious to return to their jobs, but that they were not permitted to do so. Hundreds of wives and workmen have addressed the White House, beseeching a settlement, alleging that they knew no grievances and there is an unending story of appeals for relief where necessity or suffering were impelling, where a mere expression of need ought to find ready compliance.

"The necessity for a searching national investigation with constructive legislation is imperative. At the moment the coal skies are clearing, but unless we find a cure for the economic ills which affect the industry and therein find a basis for righteously relationship we shall be faced with like menacing situation on next April 1 on the expiration of the wage contracts which are now being made."
