Movement update

WIKIMEDIA
FOUNDATION

Wikimedia movement highlights

- Wikimedia and Outreachy: Technical internships are bridging the free and open source inclusion gap. Outreachy running two rounds of paid internships a year with the help of Wikimedia staff members and volunteer mentors from organizations like the Wikimedia Foundation.
- Why we must all support policy that keeps the internet open and accessible. Together, we can help protect a flourishing and open internet that allows for new forms of culture, science, participation and knowledge.

Wikimedia movement highlights

- Wikimedia Czech Republic hosts hackathon to improve Wikimedia's software. In May, Wikimedia Czech Republic (WMCZ) brought together 220 people from 47 countries for the 2019 Wikimedia Hackathon. The annual Wikimedia Hackathon brings people with different skillsets together to improve the software that powers Wikimedia websites.
- We're back in court opposing the NSA's mass surveillance. On Thursday, 30 May, Wikimedia Foundation lawyers were in a courtroom in Alexandria, Virginia, to watch oral arguments in our ongoing case against the United States government's mass surveillance practices.
