

Scanned from the collections of
The Library of Congress

Packard Campus for Audio Visual Conservation www.loc.gov/avconservation

Motion Picture and Television Reading Room www.loc.gov/rr/mopic

Recorded Sound Reference Center
www.loc.gov/rr/record

The TALKING
MACHINE
WORLD

For the makers & sellers of talking machines

Published Each Month by Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., at 373 Fourth Ave., New York, July 15, 1922

Victrola

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

The word "Victrola" as well as the picture "His Master's Voice" is an exclusive trademark of the Victor Talking Machine Company. Being registered trademarks they cannot lawfully be applied to other than Victor products.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Victor Talking Machine Company, Camden, N.J.

America's Leading Establishments
Sell and Endorse as a High Quality
Phonograph

The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World

Among the several thousand merchants selling Sonoras, many conduct the largest or leading establishment in their respective cities.

The latest establishments of national reputation to add the Sonora line are James McCreery & Co. and Abraham & Straus. And even now other great companies are negotiating for a much-desired Sonora representation. These famous firms are not opening new departments. Many of them have been selling only one line for years and are taking on the Sonora in addition because of the insistent demand for it.

The fact that these powerful stores sell the Sonora is a hint to you that you cannot afford to ignore. Notice the partial list of great Sonora agencies below, think it over, and write for our proposition.

NEW YORK

John Wanamaker
James McCreery & Co.
Bloomingdale's
Hearn's
Frederick Loeser & Co.
Abraham & Straus

PHILADELPHIA

N. Snellenburg & Co.
Lit Brothers
John Wanamaker

BOSTON

Jordan Marsh Company

CHICAGO

Rothschild & Company

DETROIT

J. L. Hudson Company

DENVER

Daniels & Fisher

LOS ANGELES

Barker Brothers

SAN FRANCISCO

City of Parish Dry Goods Co.

SEATTLE

Fraser-Paterson Co.

KANSAS CITY

The Jones Store Company

ST. LOUIS

Stix, Baer & Fuller

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.

GEO. E. BRIGHTSON, President

NEW YORK : 279 BROADWAY

Canadian Distributors: I. Montagnes & Co., Toronto

The Talking Machine World

Vol. 18. No. 7

New York, July 15, 1922

Price Twenty-five Cents

MARCONI INVENTS NEW DEVICE

Inventor of Wireless Exhibits Mechanism for Directing Radio Sound Waves Before Engineers

With a "baby wireless set" sending signals across about twenty feet of space, Senator Guglielmo Marconi at a lecture before 1,000 engineers in New York City recently demonstrated how a flying shaft of radio waves may be hurled in a desired direction, straight at a receiving station intended to receive it. It illustrated one of his most recent experiments—one on which he and his staff of engineers are still working.

He used the same midget apparatus to point out a vast undeveloped field of the radio—the field of the short wave, which, Senator Marconi thinks, is capable of as high development and use as the long-distance field employing waves of thousands of meters in length for hurling messages across oceans and continents.

Marconi received a welcome due the "master of the wireless" when he appeared in the auditorium of the Engineering Societies Building to deliver a lecture on recent developments in the radio and to receive the Medal of Honor of the American Institute of Radio Engineers for his discoveries in 1921.

In the shooting of the wave a reflector apparatus is used and the wave is caught at the receiving end on a horizontal metal standard. When the semi-circular reflector, a skeletonized apparatus covered with wires and resembling a dish cut in half, is turned with its open side toward the receiving stations the signals are strong and clear. When the open part of the apparatus is turned away the signals become inaudible.

With this system applied to telephony sounds are recorded in much clearer notes and reception is possible on the transmitting aerial while the transmitter is operating.

Telling of his experiments with the short waves recently Senator Marconi said that the greatest trouble to the experimenters had been caused by gas engines, because every ignition plant in a motor, in engine or boat is a potential wireless set, sending out waves from one to forty meters in length. These waves, especially in America, create an immense static condition all its own.

"If radio has already done so much for the safety of life at sea," he said, "for commerce and for commercial and military communications, it is also destined to bring new and, until recently, unforeseen opportunities for healthy recreation and instruction into the lives of millions of human beings."

APPROVE REORGANIZATION PLAN

Creditors of Pathé Frères Phonograph Co. Favor Reorganization Program

The plan of reorganization submitted by the reorganization committee of the Pathé Frères Phonograph Co. seems to be meeting with universal favor among the creditors of the company. The Music Publishers' Protective Association, through the medium of E. C. Mills, chairman of the board of directors, has placed his stamp of approval on the plan in a letter sent to Eugene C. Widmann, formerly president and now one of the receivers in equity of the Pathé Frères Phonograph Co. It was announced that the Association adopted a resolution recommending that the plan be supported and that each creditor member forward his agreement to the committee.

In closing his letter Mr. Mills stated: "Mindful of years of pleasant and profitable relationship with your company, we are anxious to co-operate in any and every consistent manner in assisting toward its rehabilitation. You have our best wishes and if there is anything we can do to serve you in the matter please do not hesitate to command us."

GRAND RAPIDS HOUSE ADDS CHENEY

Wurzburg Dry Goods Co. Features This Line in "Cheney Week"—Devotes Large Floor Space to Elaborate Display—F. C. Dietzel Is Manager

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., July 5.—Van Korn-Shower Co., Michigan distributor for the Cheney phonograph, with headquarters in Detroit, is quite proud of the successful opening of a Cheney department by the Wurzburg Dry Goods Co., one of the largest department stores in this city.

Large advertisements in the local newspapers heralded the event and twenty-five feet of window display space, attractively arranged, invited passers-by to visit the elaborate exhibition in the store.

The Wurzburg Co. set aside an entire week and termed it "Cheney Week." About five thousand feet of floor space was devoted to the display of Cheney instruments, embracing every model. In addition to the large floor display the management placed a machine on the main floor facing the entrance to the store, where it could not escape the notice of every person entering the building. On all floors, directly in front of the elevators, machines of the upright type were placed, each one carrying a card on which was the message: "Cheney Week, Phonograph Department Fifth Floor."

Cheney Display at Wurzburg Co.

The success of the opening is now making itself manifest in the great number of sales that are resulting from the first visits of prospective customers during the inauguration of the line.

F. C. Dietzel, manager of the music section and one of the best-posted phonograph and piano men in the country, states he is extremely gratified with the results he has attained with the Cheney line the short time he has had it. Every visitor to the phonograph department was presented with a package of needles and a song book during the opening week.

The Latona Talking Machine Co., of Evansville, Ind., has increased its capital stock by an issue of $50,000 of preferred stock.

ALL SET FOR OUTING OF TALKING MACHINE MEN, INC.

Even the Cripples and the Blind Will Find Entertainment at the Big Picnic on July 26, for There Is Something Scheduled to Please Everybody—Make Your Reservations Now

As The World goes to press all plans are practically completed for the annual outing and games of the Talking Machine Men, Inc., which will be held at Karatsonyi's Hotel, Glen Head, N. Y., on Wednesday, July 26. The committee of arrangements, of which Sol Lazarus is chairman, has arranged a program that should serve to make the occasion most interesting and pleasant for everyone concerned, for there have been events programmed calculated to meet every one's desire for pleasure.

The outing party will leave East Fifty-seventh street, New York, between First and Second avenues, at 9 a. m. sharp and proceed to Glen Head, arriving at about 11 o'clock. Luncheon will be the first event, following which there will be a three-inning baseball game for dealers only, and then a baseball game for jobbers exclusively. The track and field events include a seventy-yard

NEW TALKING PICTURE INTRODUCED

Satisfactory Synchronization of Film and Talking Machine Record Demonstrated in New York—Some Details of the Mechanism

The synchronization of the talking machine record and the motion picture film, which has been attempted by many inventors during the past couple of decades, appears to have been accomplished to a degree at least by a combined mechanism being exploited by the Vocal-Educational Film Corp., with headquarters in New York.

The corporation, which controls a score or more patents known as Rogers and Ebling patents, has been conducting demonstrations of the new talking pictures on Broadway for the purpose of interesting the public in financing the proposition. In the demonstrations the picture and the voice are perfectly synchronized, although the volume and distinctness of the talking machine reproductions leave much to be desired. This problem will probably be solved satisfactorily in the future.

The synchronization is brought about through the use of a special film carrying perforations that serve to make contact with the electrical devices controlling the talking machine, thereby starting or stopping the record as desired. The talking machine and the projecting machine are operated by the same motor, thus insuring uniform speed. Ordinary disc records are used and arrangements are made whereby at the conclusion of the first record the second record can be thrown in operation without the slightest interruption, by changing the records intermittently. It is said to be possible to produce an entire opera, using a score or more of records in the operation.

The reproducer is of the electric type and the sound from the record is carried by wires to various parts of the auditorium and dispensed through the medium of amplifiers. It is possible to so regulate the film and the record that the sound will be heard only at intervals during the showing of the film if desired.

The corporation plans to place the machine in theatres, schools, etc., on a rental basis, but actual operations will not begin for some time in the future. Meanwhile, the inventors seem to have accomplished something real in the art, although there is still room for considerable development so far as the clearness of the voice and music is concerned.

Courage is not recklessness. A good example of pure courage is that of the salesman who grits his teeth after constant rebuffs and determines not to give in to any feeling of discouragement.

How a Saleswoman Created and Developed Talking Machine Business in Her Territory

[EDITOR'S NOTE:—The following practical paper, by Miss E. Stephens, of F. F. Herrmann's Store, Staten Island, N. Y., won the first prize in the suggestion contest on "How to Improve Victor Business," at the monthly gathering of Metropolitan Victor retailers, held under the auspices of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Inc., Victor wholesaler, last month. The varied means displayed by Miss Stephens in creating and developing business should prove of interest to our readers.]

The people of our section are Saturday spenders—men who wear working shirts most of the week and on Sunday dress up. You can spend a lot of time during the week going after them. I sold children's books for three years, rang door bells, and in that way came to know people. I made more money then than I probably ever will again.

During the last month I have made a house-to-house canvass of certain sections. I have charge of our store and have to be there a great deal of the time. But I gave half an hour a day to canvassing, and it has brought me three sales of No. 240 machines and one No. 50. This may not be much, but just now it is worth going after, and it shows the possibilities in this field. I have directly traced the selling of these machines to this campaign. When I call at the house I address the woman by her name and say, "We would like to put you on our mailing list. Do you receive the supplements from any other store?" If she does she is a good record prospect and if she doesn't she is a good machine prospect.

I am also interested in doing work for schools. You can do that sort of thing in every community. I gained access by getting in touch with the principal and explained that it was for the good of the school. I talked to her on nationality in music and asked her to let me try it. After permission was granted I brought some records to entertain the children. I started down South. Then we heard Indians, went to Hawaii and heard Hawaiian music, then Japanese and Chinese music. I showed them how there is a rowing rhythm to Italy's music. The children entered right into the spirit of it. I told them the name of the record, let them repeat it, had them sing it, made them pronounce it. We then went to Ireland and came home, all the children singing "Home, Sweet Home."

During the next two weeks I sold two or three of each particular record in that community.

I have classified three ways of getting business.

First, through children in the schools; second, through the home, and third, in the store. If a fellow comes into the store for a record I am going to try to sell him two instead of one. I try to get into the booth before he gets out. While I am wrapping the package I have the customer listening to another record in the booth. Of course, sometimes they will exchange the record for some other that they have already selected, but sometimes they take the new record, too. Then, again, it may be another thought to bring them into the store.

Before the customer goes out I ask if he is

*Just Read and Learn How Miss Stephens,
Undaunted, Went After and Secured Business
Despite Quiet Times*

in need of needles. This is a small item, but the record isn't good without them. I explain the value of the tungsten needle and what it does for the records. Just last week I let a saleslady go because she couldn't do that one thing right.

We call ten people every day on the telephone. On rainy days we manage to keep the operators busy. I think it is best to have a girl call, as she will always talk more graciously to another woman. The usual form of address is: "I am Miss _____, from _____ shop. Some one has given us your name for our mailing list (it may not always be true, but it works well). We will be pleased to mail you our supplements if you do not receive these from another store. If you are in our neighborhood and need anything in our merchandise, stop in. Ask for me. I would like to wait on you myself. My name is _____.

Have you a machine?"

If she says she hasn't, of course there is a prospect. If she says they have an old machine tell her that you can put this old machine in first class condition. I have traced fifteen direct sales to our telephone this past month. I find very few people are rude; in fact, most of them thank you for calling up.

Even in a large community this will work out if you take the exchange nearest you. Every time I sell a machine I catalog that customer. I try to find out his tastes. A week after I have sold the machine I make a personal call and ask if I can come during the evening and play some records for the family. I tell them to invite some neighbor, relative or friend. I usually take ten records along with me—a little of everything—and give them an idea of the Victor records. Most record buyers do not know of the large variation you have in the Victor library. I have found that customers will take half, at least, of the records I bring up with me. Very often you meet Cousin George or someone there who has no machine and I try to interest him in something. For next month I have twenty-five in mind that I can call upon through these trips.

I go back and catalog the music they like and if it is, say, John McCormack, I call them as soon as I have a good record of his and say, "I have a record of John McCormack's I think you'll like and I'll lay one aside for you. If you don't like, there is no obligation whatsoever." It is well to catalog the likes and dislikes of your customer. Last month I called up twenty people who were piano enthusiasts, told them we had a new Rachmaninoff record, something they had never heard anything like before. Of the twenty we laid aside twenty were sold.

I am a confirmed Victor enthusiast. I like and have a lot to learn. I lie awake nights and think of little things to do to improve our business. The Saturday preceding Mothers' Day I realized we hadn't anything to attract for Mothers' Day. I dressed the window simply with John McCormack's record, "Little Mother o' Mine." I also put a card in the window saying, "I cannot tell you, mother, dear, how in my heart you shine." We sold a box of these records that day. I try to think of unusual things, not what everyone else tries out.

The man whose sole satisfaction in his work is the weekly or monthly stipend can safely quit business. His loss will be a relief to any concerned

THE TALKING MACHINE'S HELPMATE

DURABILITY

Nyacco albums are durable not only because of the quality and materials used and the strength of construction, but through the loose-leaf system of pockets giving long and lasting satisfaction.

The loose-leaf system allows a torn or soiled pocket to be immediately replaced by a new one, making the album as good as new.

Through the durability of Nyacco albums, dealers and manufacturers are making many satisfied customers.

NYACCO trade mark guarantees durability.

Quotations and Prices on Request.

New York Album & Card Co., Inc.

NEW YORK

23-25 Lispenard St.

A. W. CHAMBERLAIN

New England Factory Representative
174 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

CHICAGO

415-417 S. Jefferson St.

The Only Loose-Leaf Record Album on the Market

Victor supremacy is the supremacy of performance

Every worth-while achievement in the talking-machine industry is directly traceable to Victor skill and progressiveness. A consideration of vital importance to every dealer in Victor products.

Victrola IV, $25
Oak

Victrola VIII, $50
Oak

Victrola No. 80
$100
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 130
$350
Victrola No. 130, electric, $415
Mahogany or oak

Victor Wholesalers

- | | |
|---|--|
| Atlanta, Ga.....Elyea Talking Machine Co.
Phillips & Crew Piano Co. | Milwaukee, Wis.....Badger Talking Machine Co. |
| Baltimore, Md.....Cohen & Hughes
E. F. Droop & Sons Co.
H. R. Eisenbrandt Sons, Inc. | Minneapolis, Minn..Beckwith, O'Neill Co. |
| Birmingham, Ala...Talking Machine Co. | Mobile, Ala.....Wm. H. Reynolds |
| Boston, Mass.....Oliver Ditson Co.
The Eastern Talking Machine Co.
The M. Steinert & Sons Co. | Newark, N. J.....Collings & Co. |
| Brooklyn, N. Y.....American Talking Mach. Co.
G. T. Williams Co., Inc. | New Haven, Conn...The Horton-Gallo-Creamer Co. |
| Buffalo, N. Y.....Curtis N. Andrews
Buffalo Talking Machine Co., Inc. | New Orleans, La....Philip Werlein, Ltd. |
| Burlington, Vt.....American Phonograph Co. | New York, N. Y....Blackman Talking Mach. Co.
Emanuel Blout.
C. Bruno & Son, Inc.
Charles H. Ditson & Co.
Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Inc.
Musical Instrument Sales Co.
New York Talking Mach. Co.
Ormes, Inc.
Silas E. Pearsall Co. |
| Butte, Mont.....Orton Bros. | Oklahoma City, Okla.....Oklahoma Talking Machine Co. |
| Chicago, Ill.....Lyon & Healy
The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co.
Chicago Talking Machine Co. | Omaha, Nebr.....Ross P. Curtice Co.
Mickel Bros. Co. |
| Cincinnati, O.....Ohio Talking Machine Co.
The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. | Peoria, Ill.....Putnam-Page Co., Inc. |
| Cleveland, O.....Cleveland Talking Machine Co.
The Eclipse Musical Co. | Philadelphia, Pa....Louis Buehn Co., Inc.
C. J. Heppé & Son.
Penn Phonograph Co., Inc.
The Talking Machine Co.
H. A. Weymann & Son, Inc. |
| Columbus, O.....The Perry B. Whitsit Co. | Pittsburgh, Pa....W. F. Frederick Piano Co.
C. C. Mellor Co., Ltd.
Standard Talking Mach. Co. |
| Dallas, Tex.....Sanger Bros. | Portland, Me.....Cressey & Allen, Inc. |
| Denver, Colo.....The Knight-Campbell Music Co. | Portland, Ore.....Sherman, Clay & Co. |
| Des Moines, Ia.....Mickel Bros. Co. | Richmond, Va.....The Corley Co., Inc. |
| Detroit, Mich.....Grinnell Bros. | Rochester, N. Y....E. J. Chapman Co. |
| Elmira, N. Y.....Elmira Arms Co. | Salt Lake City, U...The John Elliott Clark Co. |
| El Paso, Tex.....W. G. Walz Co. | San Francisco, Cal..Sherman, Clay & Co. |
| Honolulu, T. H....Bergstrom Music Co., Ltd. | Seattle, Wash.....Sherman, Clay & Co. |
| Houston, Tex.....The Talking Machine Co. of Texas | Spokane, Wash....Sherman, Clay & Co. |
| Jacksonville, Fla..The French Nestor Co. | St. Louis, Mo.....Koerber-Brenner Music Co. |
| Kansas City, Mo...J. W. Jenkins Sons Music Co.
The Schmelzer Co. | St. Paul, Minn....W. J. Dyer & Bro. |
| Los Angeles, Cal...Sherman, Clay & Co. | Syracuse, N. Y....W. D. Andrews Co. |
| Memphis, Tenn....O. K. Houck Piano Co. | Toledo, O.....The Toledo Talking Machine Co. |
| | Washington, D. C...Cohen & Hughes
E. F. Droop & Sons Co.
Rogers & Fischer |

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Important: Look for these trade-marks. Under the lid. On the label.

Victor Talking Machine Company
Camden, New Jersey

Records of Religious Numbers and Old-Time Ballads Having a Sales Vogue :: By Arthur H. Foster

Despite the demand for records of popular and dance music of every type many dealers report a very great demand from all classes of people, young and old, for sacred music. This is not surprising, for there are millions of people in the United States who still go to church and who love the old hymns that they learned in the Sunday school in their youth. This applies to every religious persuasion. Despite the modern trend, they like to have the records of these hymns in their home, and it is a question whether this fact is considered by a great many dealers.

In selling records it is always well to keep in mind every phase of merchandising and to appeal to the largest possible clientele of buyers. It must be remembered that the old hymns and the old songs make a very keen appeal to the millions of people who are middle-aged and who have little time to keep in touch with the fugitive jazz numbers, some of which ill deserve the term musical. If every dealer would sit down and consider how many middle-aged people there are in his territory, how many church-goers, and then ask himself how many of these people he has on his books as customers he will be able to get a fair idea whether he is "on the job" or not. It is the time for one to criticise himself—to just ascertain what is being done and what could be done to increase record sales. There is a great deal of empty talking, but not enough action—not enough real constructive performance.

Talking to a dealer along these lines about six weeks ago he admitted that he had not given serious attention to this matter of selling records of religious and old-time music—that is, making a special appeal or drive. The other day this same dealer told the writer that after a six weeks' carefully developed campaign he had actually sold a surprisingly large number of religious and standard old-time records and, better still, a surprisingly large number of machines to people who heretofore did not seriously consider the value and importance of the talking machine. "Some of these people looked," he remarked, "upon the talking machine, because of its association with jazz, as something unholy, but when these old church-goers realized that the old standard church hymns could be heard in their parlors on Sundays, as well as the old ballads, it delighted and consoled them, and not only have they become enthusiasts, but they have told their friends about it, with the result that the sales which I have closed from your suggestion have been beyond any calculations which I could possibly make."

Record Lists Should Be Analyzed Closely and Particular Numbers Picked Out and Featured to Advantage

Now, we venture to say that there are thousands, yes, millions, of people in America just like those people who have just expressed themselves. And the point is, what are the dealers doing to get this trade? It is to be assumed that a great many dealers are covering this field intelligently and persistently, but there are hundreds, yes, thousands, of others who are doing nothing constructive to push their record business other than along ordinary every-day lines and depending largely upon the public to voluntarily visit the store.

Now, it is time to be up and alive to every opportunity. Dealers should study their lists closely and pick out the various types of records that appeal to the people of varied tastes. They should make special appeals to arouse interest and incidentally move their records more rapidly than they are doing now.

All this implies thought and planning, but that is the duty of every business man. There is no use in having a store and placing goods in it unless the owner can get close to the public and move his product. He can no longer wait for customers to come in; he must seek for trade, and the whole question centers on the modus operandi of seeking and, by seeking, finding customers.

MONTAUK MFG. CO. CHARTERED

The Montauk Mfg. Co., of Hoboken, N. J., has been granted a charter of incorporation under the laws of the State of New Jersey, for the manufacture of talking machines, with a capital of $125,000. Incorporators are: William H. Hotchkiss, W. E. Hotchkiss, Henry L. Slade and William S. Stuhr.

Victor Victrolas—Victor Records—Victor Accessories

Sherman  Clay & Co.

Pacific Coast Distributors

Five Wholesale Depots for Your Convenience

Main Wholesale Depot:

741 Mission Street, San Francisco

Branch Wholesale Depots:

10th and Santee Sts., Los Angeles, California

N.W. Corner 13th and Glison Streets
Portland, Oregon

Oceanic Bldg., Cor. University and Post Sts.
Seattle, Washington

330 W. Sprague Ave., Spokane, Washington

Victor supremacy is the supremacy of performance

Victrola VI, $35
Mahogany or oak

Victrola IX, $75
Mahogany or oak

Actual accomplishments are better than promises and expectations. What the Victor has done in the past and continues to do today is the safe index of what the future holds in store for the musical instrument dealer.

Victrola No. 100
$150
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 110
$225
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 300
$250
Victrola No. 300, electric, $315
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 330
$350
Victrola No. 330, electric $415
Mahogany

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Important: Look for these trade-marks. Under the lid. On the label.

Victor Talking Machine Company

Camden, New Jersey

The TALKING MACHINE WORLD

For the makers & sellers of talking machines

(Registered in the U. S. Patent Office)

PUBLISHED BY EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc.

President and Treasurer, C. L. Bill, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Vice-President, J. B. Spillane, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Second Vice-President, Raymond Bill, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Secretary, E. L. Bill; Assistant Treasurer, Wm. A. Low.

J. B. SPILLANE, Editor

RAY BILL, B. B. WILSON, BRAID WHITE, Associate Editors

L. M. ROBINSON, Advertising Manager

L. E. BOWERS, Circulation Manager

Trade Representatives: A. F. CARTER, WILSON D. BUSH, C. CHACE, EDWARD LYMAN BILL, V. D. WALSH, E. B. MUNCH, C. R. TIGHE, SCOTT KINGWILL, A. J. NICKLIN

Western Division: Republic Building, 209 So. State Street, Chicago, Ill. Telephone, Wabash 5242

Boston: JOHN H. WILSON, 324 Washington Street

London, Eng., Office: 2 Gresham Building, Basinghall St. W. LIONEL STURDY, Mgr.

The Talking Machine World has regular correspondents located in all of the principal cities throughout America.

Published the 15th of every month at 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

SUBSCRIPTION (including postage): United States, Mexico, $2.00 per year; Canada, $3.00; all other countries, $4.00. Single copies, 25 cents.

ADVERTISEMENTS: $5.50 per inch, single column, per insertion. On quarterly or yearly contracts a special discount is allowed. Advertising pages, $150.00.

REMITTANCES should be made payable to Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., by check or Post Office Money Order.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS—Advertising copy should reach this office before the first of each month. By following this rule clients will greatly facilitate work at the publication headquarters.

Long Distance Telephones—Numbers 5982-5983 Madison Sq.
Cable Address: "Elbill," New York

NEW YORK, JULY 15, 1922

UNUSUAL EFFORTS BRING BUSINESS RESULTS

SURPRISING as it may seem to some people, business is being done this Summer by those who are making strenuous efforts to secure it. Dealers who are obsessed with the idea that business is dead and that it is best to drift along until it gets better are, of course, not doing well, and naturally so. Those who are aggressively inclined and who believe that there is always business when properly sought are not complaining. This is briefly the situation in the talking machine trade this Summer.

A prominent member of the trade who has just come back from an extended trip covering important trade centers in the United States, when asked about the situation, thus sententiously summed it up: "Twenty per cent of the merchants who are intelligently active are doing the bulk of the business, while the other 80 per cent, the inactive ones, are complaining, more or less, about the situation."

From reports reaching The World office this remark covers fairly accurately the condition which, in a large measure, prevails throughout the country. Two or three live dealers in a locality report a volume of business equal to or exceeding that of a year ago, and a dozen or more of their competitors, while deprecating poor business, cast doubts on the statements of the prosperous ones.

Now, Mr. Dealer, the question arises in which category are you to be placed? It is in your hands to increase the 20 per cent who are actually doing business, or to augment the 80 per cent who are complaining about conditions. The choice rests with you. It is natural that if there is only a certain volume of business obtainable, and only 20 or 25 per cent of the merchants are really going after it vigorously and getting it, there is logically a mighty small proportion left for those who sit passively doing nothing but complaining and waiting for a change in conditions.

At no time in the history of the trade was it so necessary as to-day to recognize that unusual efforts must be made to develop sales. It is not a time for resting by the wayside; it is a time for pressing onward to victorious accomplishments, and this can only be achieved by the employment of aggressive methods of merchandising—in other words, going after customers rather than waiting for them to call at the store.

While these remarks apply to the sales of talking machines they are even more applicable in the sales of records. There has been a slump in record sales largely because talking machine dealers and salesmen are not "selling music" to their customers. With many there has been no intelligent follow-up policy adopted; there has been no effort made to secure direct contact, and as a consequence talking machines are not being used as frequently as they should be in the home because the owners have not been educated to the idea that they should buy new records.

Now the progressive minority of dealers, referred to at the opening of this article, who are doing business, have secured the position they occupy by failing to recognize seasons. They have made their customers understand that records are just as entertaining in the Summer as in the Winter months, and as a consequence the output of records has shown a very large proportion of increase with these concerns. What these dealers are doing can be done by every other dealer who is awake to the necessity of aggressive merchandising. There is enough of Summer business to be secured to give every dealer who goes after it a rather satisfying share—if the effort is made.

PROSPECTS FOR THE FUTURE ARE BRIGHTER

THE message delivered to the members of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers at their convention last month by Ralph L. Freeman, Director of Distribution of the Victor Talking Machine Co., is one that is vital not alone to members of the Victor Co. family but to business men in general, who seek to establish their institutions on a permanent basis.

The text of Mr. Freeman's talk was fair dealing, and although every line of the message itself was of great importance the following paragraphs should find a place on the desk of many discerning business leaders:

"The Victor Co.'s message to you is one of good cheer. The shock of the inevitable post-war readjustment has not shaken the solid foundation upon which your business and ours was builded. The prospects for the future are much greater than anything that has been realized.

"New conditions, so large and far-reaching that it is difficult to visualize or comprehend them, are developing throughout the world. They represent greater opportunities for conscientious workers than have heretofore existed, and it is plain that we in this country must benefit from the position of advantage we occupy.

"There is, however, a condition that we must fulfill. We must be faithful—unto others as to ourselves—no less. No mad scramble for business can be allowed to benumb our sense of obligation and fairness else we shall deserve to lose and will lose our opportunity.

"This statement is not a mere platitude, referring generally to the public at large, but a definite fact to be applied to each of us individually who have it in mind to contend within our sphere for a share in the prosperity in the future. We must work and we must be faithful to the trust of those whose patronage we desire."

VALUE OF INDIVIDUALISM IN ADVERTISING

CO-OPERATIVE advertising in one form or another appears to be quite active at present in the music industry as well as in other lines of business, and viewed from the broad angle of increased publicity it is a progressive move. It would appear, however, that some of the plans recently broached are calculated to sacrifice individuality in the carrying out of a general campaign.

It is all well enough for wholesalers or manufacturers to join together and put over campaigns that will be beyond the means of the individual, but the results in proportion to the expenditure are likely to prove distinctly disappointing unless steps are taken to hook up the individual concern with the general campaign and to direct the thought of those appealed to in the general campaign along the proper lines.

In the talking machine trade the manufacturers have carried on for years extensive advertising campaigns—in fact, according to authorities musical instrument advertising in volume comes immediately after the advertising of passenger automobiles, and of this total volume over 90 per cent represents talking machine advertising. The value of this publicity, however, has rested chiefly in the fact that local dealers and distributors have hooked up their own advertising with the general campaigns, that with the desires of the public to purchase a given make duly stimulated, it has taken local advertising to bring the purchaser into the store where the machines or accompanying records could be purchased.

The same idea applies with equal force in the distributing field. It is well enough to flood dealers at regular intervals with stock publicity, but the value of that publicity will lie in the ability of the individual distributor to tie up with the general campaign. He either does that or he is paying a substantial proportion of his competitor's publicity expenses.

Advertising is one field where standardization alone does not make for profits. It is the individual appeal, the ability to persuade the purchaser, whether dealer or ultimate consumer, to do his purchasing from one particular concern—that of the advertiser—that makes the publicity worth while. The manufacturer spends his millions in building up recognition for the name and trade-mark of his product, and it is just as essential that the distributor and dealer devote themselves in some manner at least to building up recognition for their own ends. The firm establishment of a name value in the minds of buyers is the ultimate goal of any sound publicity.

WINDOW DISPLAYS FOR THE SUMMER BUYER

DURING July and August, the great vacation months of the year, talking machine dealers should make a special effort through window displays to interest vacationists in the portable talking machine and in a goodly number of records to carry along with them on their outings. There is no one factor that contributes more to the enjoyment of a vacation than the talking machine. It entertains with concerts in the evening; supplies dance music where necessary, and is a real friend in need on a rainy day. There is a superabundance of ideas that can be worked by the dealer into striking, suggestive window displays that should arrest the attention of vacationists, and contribute to a goodly increase of sales during the Summer months. It will pay to clear the window out and arrange some kind of a camping scene or install some original conception that will suggest the timeliness of the portable and a goodly supply of records during the vacation period.

HELPING DEALERS TO ELUCIDATE PROBLEMS

THE practice of manufacturers, and particularly distributors, either individually or in association with others in the same line, of bringing their dealers together at intervals for the purpose of discussing the problems of the trade as applied to their particular lines and mapping out campaigns that represent co-operative experience is a practice that is worthy of hearty endorsement.

Up to a few years ago the average dealer was, and felt himself, somewhat apart. His only contact with the manufacturer or distributor was through the medium of the salesman who called at regular intervals and the dealer's viewpoint regarding the business as a whole was obtained through salesmen, its accuracy depending upon the latter's ability to collect and then retail the ideas.

The conferences of dealers that have been and are being held at various central points have already accomplished much for them, and have given to the weaker member the benefits of advice and experience of his successful fellow dealer. Even the successful man has been able to gather one or two ideas that are applicable to his own business.

The big thing, however, is to develop contact between the retailer and the distributor or manufacturer; to give him a new angle on the business; to acquaint him with the general plans for exploiting the product, and to make him feel that he is part of the institution—a partner in its success or failure. There can be no question but that this close contact established between dealers and distributing headquarters through the medium of annual or semi-annual conventions has an intangible value which it is impossible to measure in dollars and cents.

THE TALKING MACHINE AS AN EDUCATOR

DURING the last two decades the attention of educational authorities throughout the world has been directed to the need for broadening the cultural foundation of the schools, and music has become recognized as affording an unsurpassable basis for general culture. But musical art has in the past been the property almost exclusively of those who possess executive musical talent; that is, of a very few, comparatively speaking. Good listeners, however, are the greatest need, for trained, intelligent listeners alone can constitute the public audience which the musician, creative or executive, must have. Good listeners again are simply those who have been "exposed" to a sufficient quantity of music, who have, in fact, become familiar with it by much hearing and some intelligent guidance. The making of such listeners must naturally begin in the school-room with the rising generation.

Here the talking machine finds its place in the school. By its aid musical culture is taught to thousands who otherwise might never hear an orchestral performance or an orchestral instrument. By its use children are taught to know and love music, to sing and play for themselves, to want more and better music in their daily lives. Within a few years the educational side of the talking machine has assumed outstanding importance and to-day there is hardly a town of any size in the country which does not include at least some talking machine equipment among the items of its educational tool shop, making the talking machine, without a doubt, one of the most potential forces in modern education.

The value of the talking machine in this special field is, in fact, only beginning. The day is at hand when the value of this system of conveying instruction and artistic enjoyment to every corner of the earth will be recognized everywhere as supreme and as no more to be omitted from the school-room than the blackboard or the maps.

Dealers should keep in close touch with the educational authorities in their territories and emphasize strongly at every opportunity the paramount importance of the talking machine as a factor for the advancement of education.

This one word distinguishes Ormes service and has contributed not only to our success but to the success of our retailers.

Service that is out of the ordinary—not only in the supplying of merchandise but in helping Victor retailers develop their business.

ORMES, Inc.

Wholesale Exclusively

TELEPHONE NUMBERS
FITZROY 3271—3272—3273

15 West 37th Street

New York

The Importance of Manners and Their Relation to Effective Sales Work

By W. Braid White

Manner is more than merely manners. Yet good manners will make a man even where the more or less frequent distinction of "manner" is lacking. From the salesman's point of view the distinction is important.

The "manner" which distinguishes a man or a woman is the product of his or her birth, environment and education. Men are doubtless created equal in respect of political rights, but they are most decidedly unequal in respect of mental and physical attainments. Now, it is a complaint not infrequently or unjustly made that the men and women of the present generation are ill-mannered; that they have lost the idea of good temper and politeness; that they take an almost savage delight in showing themselves surly and rude. The belief appears to be that politeness is a form of servility and that one cannot show oneself an independent American citizen unless one adopts a tone of superiority or of insolence toward those who are thrown into contact with one in the course of business.

Salesmen ought particularly to consider these facts, for salesmen are particularly susceptible to the error just mentioned. The salesman must wait upon men and women of all kinds and, consequently, his or her success will very largely depend upon manner in general and upon manners in particular.

Manner vs. "Manners"

There is an enormous difference between manner and mere "manners." Any one can be educated into adopting certain external styles of speech and action, and so any one can be educated into adopting "good manners." But to attain to a natural "manner," to a manner which stamps one as a gentleman or as a lady, is a different sort of thing altogether and calls for careful study, a fine character and a sincere attitude toward all men and all things.

In the first place, then, be it understood that politeness is not necessarily either familiar or servile. To learn how to smile, to learn how to shake hands, to learn how to give instant and unstudied attention to questions put by a customer, no matter how stupid they may be, all this can and should be learned without leaving upon the salesman's nature the slightest trace of servility. In fact, servility is a matter of inner-character. A man who looks down upon those who are less successful materially than himself or who carries favor with those who are higher up in the scale is servile, and though he disguise his servility under ever so many outer mannerisms or tricks of "independent" speech and manner he cannot conceal the essential fact.

Manner Is One of the Prime Principles of Salesmanship and an Asset Worthy of Intensive Cultivation

The first thing to learn, then, is the lesson of sincerity and kindness. If we really believe that the men and women who pass before us each day in the course of our business and social dealings are really, alike with us, God's children, we shall respect them on the ground of our common humanity and shall therefore treat them as we treat whatever we respect. That is to say, we shall be neither servile nor insolent, but natural, simple and genial.

The prime requisite, in fact, for the attainment of good manners is this sincere belief that men and women are alike entitled to courtesy and attention. It is the mark of ignorance to suppose that insolence or discourtesy are marks of independence. They are simply marks of stupidity and swinishness. The greatest aristocrats are often the most suave, polite and courteous of beings.

The Brotherhood of Humanity

A salesman has to meet persons of all sorts. No artificial manner will suffice for the proper handling of them all. It is therefore the salesman's duty to learn to believe in his fellow men, to realize that each of them has a right to exist in the world, and to get over the idea that any one is fundamentally better than any one else. Variety is indeed infinite. Men and women are not equal in respect of wealth, opportunity or culture, birth or breeding. But all men and women are nevertheless men and women, enrolled in the brotherhood of humanity and entitled, even when they are themselves bad mannered, to recognition as our fellows.

To recognize this brotherhood in humanity with one's customers is the most important part of that priceless asset, a good manner. For a good manner, as said before, is the natural, unspoiled product of a sincere belief in the fundamental goodness and decency of human beings.

The external accompaniments and signs of the fine manner are, of course, to be found in that natural courtesy that radiates from men and women of fine, broad mentality. Courtesy is expressed in many ways. Courteous men and women do not raise their voices, because they know that a noisy voice usually distresses or disgusts. They do not tell funny stories to casual acquaintances, because they know that many men and women resent such familiarity. They are never effusive, for they realize that excessive politeness too easily degenerates into the manner of the second-hand clothing salesman. They, on the contrary, never refuse a request, are never too busy to stop and listen, never take advantage of the helplessness or ignorance of the aged or of foreigners, and, above all, never laugh at distress or trouble. They are kind to children, but they do not slobber over them. They are polite to all, but they never allow themselves to be known for their extreme politeness. They wait till they are asked to talk and when they talk they say what they mean, without falsehood or rudeness.

The foundations of a fine manner are sincerity and love. Given these, everything else follows. The foundations of good manners are restraint, good temper and consideration for the feelings of others. Both can be acquired. Both are singularly lacking in the equipment of most young men and women who essay to sell. Yet the higher reaches of salesmanship simply cannot be attained without both.

OHIO FIRM CHARTERED

The Columbia Music Shoppe Co., of Lakewood, O., has been granted a charter of incorporation in that State, with a capital of $1,000. Incorporators are W. W. Du Breinl, Anna E. Du Breinl, M. L. Stener, D. C. Rolli and E. L. Coopson.

SEND FOR YOUR SAMPLE TO-DAY

This is the New Design

Mr. Victor Retailer—

Would you spend 15c to bring a customer into your store and keep your name constantly before a Victrola owner?

We'll say you will! That is why we will send you a free sample on request of our Advertising Sales-Building Record Brush.

YOUR ad inserted without extra charge.

KNICKERBOCKER TALKING MACHINE CO.

Victor Wholesalers

138 West 124th St.

New York City

Peerless Builds Confidence

REPUTATION

Reputation is, above all else, the merchant's greatest asset. Fire can burn him out, competitors can harass him with their bargain sales and imitators can steal his thunder, but—if the established reputation remains—his business goes right on.

"— and Son," or "Established in 18—" are mercantile mile stones which people follow instinctively because of a feeling of certainty in dealing with a store which is founded on reputation and has endured through many years.

A Bazaar is brilliant, noisy and sometimes does a good business, but it passes quickly away and is forgotten, while the names of reputable business institutions are bred into the very conscience of the people.

And a merchant's reputation unquestionably is established on the quality of merchandise he handles.

Phil Ravis

There exists today a new relationship between the retailer and his clientele. It is that of solid confidence and loyalty which merits the approval of all far-seeing merchants and their customers.

Showing how 10 inch records fit into Peerless Big Ten.

Now is the time to build your business by giving careful attention to the quality and intrinsic value of every article you offer for sale. Give a thought to the most important accessory of the industry and start your "Confidence Campaign" right by selling

PEERLESS

—the Album

Have a supply of twelve-inch albums with ten-inch leaves known as Peerless Big Ten; an album which maintains filing uniformity of any phonograph or record cabinet. It is a book which meets the approval of every purchaser of cabinets containing shelves.

Display This Sign—It Will Sell Peerless Albums for You—Send for Yours at Once.

Send for a sample today—and see for yourself that—

It Does Make A Difference What Albums You Sell

NOTE: Albums, particularly Peerless Albums, do sell records just the same as an empty garage invites an automobile. We said this more than three years ago and have continued saying it; and nothing but the confirmation of the fact has come to us from the trade. What are your ideas on the subject?

PEERLESS ALBUM COMPANY

PHIL. RAVIS, President

WALTER S. GRAY
San Francisco
942 Market St.

636-638 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

L. W. HOUGH
Boston
26 Sudbury St.

Some Window Display Ideas That Should Help to Increase Record Trade :: By F. H. Williams

Arrange a display of all the records you carry which are designed for the entertainment or amusement or soothing of babies. Then from some local photographers secure photos of babies and place these photos in the window with the records. See to it that the price of each record is clearly indicated. Use a placard with this display emphasizing the fact that a talking machine is a great help in taking care of babies and that you have a particularly big and comprehensive stock of records for the entertainment and amusement of the infants. People are always interested in babies, so this sort of a display would get a lot of attention and help you greatly in selling more records of this sort.

People are always interested in diagrams. This being the case, it would be a good stunt to have a sign painter get up a sign on which would appear a large circle divided into segments representing the amount of business you do in records of various classifications. For instance, one segment could be labeled "Volume of dance records," another could be labeled "Volume of operatic selections," a third might show the amount of business you do in dialogue records, and so on through the various classifications. Above the diagram you could have this inscription painted, "This is a well-rounded store—we do a good business in all lines of records. You can find here the very record you want." In front of the diagram there should be a display of some of the more popular records in all the various classifications. This sort of a stunt would be sure to make a big impression on the folks who looked in at your window.

Everybody knows about the "blues" in music, but who is as familiar with the "reds"? You have a large number of titles among the records you carry in stock in which the word "red" figures. Why not get some of these records out, place them in your show window, decorate your show window appropriately in red and then place in the foreground of the window a placard reading like this: "You've heard about musical 'blues'—here's where you learn about some of the popular musical 'reds.' Every one of these records has something red about it and all of them are popular. Come in, get a red record now."

The Cheapest and Most Effective Sales Medium for the Talking Machine Dealer Is the Attractive Window

In what shape do you get your shipments of needles? How many different kinds of needles do you regularly carry in stock? It would be interesting to all owners of talking machines to see a window display in which you showed the original packages in which you get your needle shipments and in which you showed the various kinds of needles you carry in stock and in which you told about the special advantages of these various kinds of needles. Such a window display could be very easily arranged and it would be different from the usual run of phonograph store window displays.

Put a record display stand in the foreground of your show window. Over it place a little placard reading like this: "This is the first record we sold to-day. Come in and get one for your machine." Then on this stand each day place another one of the first records you sell each day. This sort of a stunt would be timely and different and, for that reason, would attract more attention than the ordinary kind of a display and help more than the ordinary display in selling more records.

Paste some of the more popular records on the inside of the glass of your main show window just above the range of vision of the person of average height. Above each record paint the price of the record and some such selling phrase as this: "Snappy dance record," or "Very popular vocal," or something of that sort. All passers-by would be attracted by the unique appearance of your window and in this way you'd get an extra amount of attention for the records and make more than the usual number of sales.

All of these window display ideas can be easily used in your store without much trouble and without much expense. Use them now!

BUSINESS IS LIKE A TREE

A business can be likened to a tree. The store is the trunk, the salesmen the roots and the customers the leaves. If the roots lack nourishment (knowledge) the trunk withers and there will be no leaves.

THE EMPIRE UNIVERSAL TONE ARMS

Will Give Your Product Individuality That Will Greatly Strengthen Its Selling Force

Send for sample of our new Tone Arm for Portable
Machines.

Ball Bearing

Pivot Base

We invite a personal test. There is nothing more convincing. Order a sample arm and test it out. It will win you on merit only. Our prices are low and the quality second to none.

Write or wire us for samples and quotations and give us an outline of your requirements.

THE EMPIRE PHONO PARTS COMPANY, 1362 East Third Street, Cleveland, O.

Established in 1914

Manufacturers of High-Grade Tone Arms and Reproducers

W. J. McNAMARA, President

Trend Toward Co-operative Advertising Is Evident Throughout the Country :: By W. B. Stoddard

The old adage that "in union there is strength" finds its modern counterpart in co-operative advertising, many firms having found that it is not only cheaper but more effective to advertise with a group of merchants in their own or related lines than it is to advertise individually. Some very interesting campaigns have thus been undertaken by groups in different cities, sometimes independently, at others in co-operation with a live newspaper. One of the best of the latter is the campaign just concluded by a group of Louisville, Ky., merchants. A dozen leading firms took a page and divided it between them. They then announced that they were in the market for ads to fill these spaces. Each week each merchant gave five dollars in merchandise to the best ad submitted to him, and that one was used as his ad for the succeeding week. Each merchant also offered a special prize for the best ad submitted during the entire contest, and the ad was chosen from the prize-winning ads submitted each week during the eight weeks of the campaign. Best of all, the newspaper under whose auspices the campaign was conducted offered a cash prize of $75 for the best ad submitted during the eight weeks, the winner being chosen by having the twelve firms each submit their best ad, and these twelve were laid before three judges—who were among the best advertising men in the city—who selected the one that in their judgment was the most effective. Among the firms co-operating was the Baldwin Piano Co., and the text of the prize-winning ad which it submitted to the judges was as follows:

"Is your home equipped for your own pleasure, or do you have to go elsewhere for your enjoyment? Try an evening at home with a phonograph."

This text, of course, was very effectively displayed.

Up in Oregon one of the local papers, in connection with a number of leading merchants, offered a school children's popular home necessities educational contest. Nineteen dealers in conjunction with the editor of the paper offered an aggregate of $500 in prizes for a contest extending over twenty weeks, $25 in cash being given each week in the form of one first, second, third and fourth and five additional $1.00 prizes. The contest was open only to children under the age of eighteen and only one prize could be won by any family—this being to distribute the prizes more widely and to prevent one gifted member of a family submitting ads under different names. The idea in the contest was to write in prose or verse an ad of not more than fifty words telling why the wares of a certain merchant should be purchased. The children were at liberty to choose any of the firms on the page, and as many as four ads could be submitted each week by any child, provided they were all concerning different firms. The Oregon Eilers Music House, Portland, was one of the participants in this contest and laid special stress on its records—the winning ads generally having reference to the enjoyment obtained from the dance and concert records rendered on the phonograph.

For all-the-year-around advertising it would be hard to surpass the plan of a group of merchants of Iola, Kan. They got together and formed an association with a duly elected president and secretary. Their first step was to get out a four-page bulletin, which they ran as an insert in the local newspaper. This prospectus stated in part:

"This particular bulletin is the first of a series you will receive regularly once a month. The purpose of it is to notify you that the merchants of Iola, whose names are mentioned herein, will hold a special sale Saturday, to which you are cordially invited.

"Every merchant announces an especially low price on some one article of common use, and, since every dealer announces a price on a different article, you will be able, by going from one to another, to make a long list of purchases at reduced prices."

C. G. Nelson, secretary of the Association, explained in detail the workings of the plan, which has been in successful operation for a year:

"The bulletin mentioned above is issued every month. Every article on the two inside pages is censored by our advertising committee and the merchandise must be a real bargain or the ad is turned down. The spaces in the bulletin cost $4.00 each. On the inside pages no advertiser can combine spaces, use cuts or name plate. This is for the purpose of giving the small advertiser the same benefit as the larger one. On the outside pages there are no restrictions—cuts and name plates can be used and any number of spaces up to four may be combined to form a single ad if the merchant wishes."

Dealers in Many Sections of the Country Find Co-operative Advertising Economical and Most Resultful

Another plan carried out by these enterprising Iola merchants to secure the rural trade is the monthly auction sale. These sales are held at a regular auction pavilion, with entranees on two streets. Household goods, farm implements, automobiles and live stock are sold on commission, the first two classes being auctioned off in the morning, the latter two in the afternoon. No charge is made for listing goods to be sold, and free pens are provided for the live stock. A commission of 2 per cent is exacted on live stock and automobiles and 5 per cent on all other merchandise. Auctioneers are provided by the Association, but any one who wishes can bring his own auctioneer. These monthly sales have brought much trade to town that formerly went to the mail-order houses and have made for closer relationships between town and country. The John V. Roberts Music Co. was among the co-operative group and specialized on records, their offer being three double-disc records.

TEMPLE OF MUSIC OPENS STORE

Brunswick Line Featured by Attractive New Establishment in Allentown, Pa.

ALLENTOWN, PA., July 3.—The formal opening of the Temple of Music, 940-942 Hamilton street, this city, was held late last month with daily concerts, which were well attended. This is one of the finest establishments in this part of the State and, in addition to a complete line of pianos of well-known makes, the Brunswick line of phonographs and records will be featured by the firm. The main floor of the establishment is used as a display room and the mezzanine floor has been converted into a demonstration department, a number of booths having been constructed here. The basement has been turned over to a completely equipped repair department.

DUPLEX RADIO PHONO. CO. FORMED

The Duplex Radio Phonograph Co., of New York City, has been granted a charter of incorporation under the laws of the State of Delaware, with a capital of $500,000.

FILES BANKRUPTCY SCHEDULES

Talking Motion Pictures, Inc., of 203 West Fortieth street, New York City, has filed schedules in bankruptcy, listing liabilities of $120,822 and assets of $3,864.

Sonora DISTRIBUTORS EXCLUSIVELY
for New York, Staten Island and the lower Hudson Valley

Greater City Phonograph Co., INC.
311 SIXTH AVE. TEL. CHELSEA 9237 NEW YORK

The superiority of the Sonora is as marked
as the ease with which it sells.

Just compare any record of any make with the needle cut Pathe Actuelle and then you will know why the Pathe Actuelle is—

The Best Record in the World

For Example, try "Stumbling"—Our Record No. 020746

Play on any phonograph with steel needles

Double Disc Classical Records by famous Artists

Pathe
Actuelle
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
~ RECORDS
Needle Played

Standard
Selections also First with the hits

2 for $1.00 - 55c each

(59c in Rocky Mountain States)

Partial List of Famous Artists—

Tito Schipa
Yvonne Gall
Adamo Didur
Margarethe Matzenauer
Rudolph Ganz
Anna Fitziu
Eleonora de Cisneros
Claudia Muzio
Luigi Montesanto
Kathleen Howard
David Bispham
Grace Hoffman
Alexander Debruille
Helen Yorke
Roberto Rotondo

DEALERS—

Write to us at once for information regarding the Blue Ribbon Order.

PATHÉ FRÈRES PHONOGRAPH CO.

20 Grand Avenue

Brooklyn, New York

An Appealing Store Atmosphere Is Necessary for Business Growth on a Sound Basis

Probably one of the most effective methods of retaining patronage after advertising, canvassing, correspondence, window displays, etc., have done their work in bringing the customer to a mental state of desire and interest in the line handled is through the medium of an atmosphere in the store which is pleasing to the customer or prospect.

Many concerns spend large sums of money in advertising, circularization and other methods of interesting the public in their goods and then they neglect the most important element entering into the building of a successful business enterprise. As an example of this point: A man prominent in the advertising world, while reading the newspaper, was so favorably struck with an advertisement that he decided to visit the store. He had already made up his mind that he would purchase the article advertised and, although the store was a considerable distance out of his way, the influence of the ad was so strong that he could not resist its appeal. When he entered the store, instead of the high-class service suggested by the advertisement, he met an attitude of indifference that left him cold and he went out without making the purchase. The atmosphere of that establishment was repellent.

Atmosphere depends on many things; dignified and attractive arrangement of stock, cheerfulness on the part of the sales staff, quick service, honesty, courtesy, etc. A merchant can spend a fortune on his establishment and without these attributes his store will prove uninviting to customers.

A good example of store atmosphere which was favorable from the standpoint of customers was found in a medium-sized city recently by the writer. Out of about a dozen stores visited this was the only one which could boast of a really appealing atmosphere. In the first place the store was a model of cleanliness and attractive arrangement. From the windows to the rear of the place everything was in order and, what is more important, there was no evidence of that

*Attention to Details
Commonly Called Service
Is Necessary to Hold the Unswerving Loyalty of Customers*

stiffness which is evident in many establishments. An interview with the proprietor was illuminating. In answer to an inquiry he explained some of his policies as follows:

"I do not tolerate anything but cheerfulness on the part of my sales staff. From experience I have discovered that the grouch is the most detrimental factor in a business enterprise. I make it a point to learn my customers' names and their likes and dislikes in the way of music, so that when they come in I can greet them as a friend and make suggestions concerning records which I am quite sure will please them. This alone has been instrumental in building up a large and steady clientele of record customers.

"Another thing many dealers do not seem to realize is the important part children play in the selection of music. A source of great personal as well as profitable satisfaction to me is the fact that I find it easy to make friends with the children. They like to come here with their parents and I have made many record sales through the child's liking for music. Along this line also it is possible to influence the parents toward the selection of music which is bound to prove beneficial to the welfare of their children from the standpoint of education. It must be borne in mind that the majority of record customers in any community are women, many of whom have children.

"Advertising and all the other mediums for bringing the customer into the store are practically worthless unless the people are handled in the proper manner once they have been induced to enter. It is better not to have a prospect come into the store at all if he is to be handled in a manner that will arouse a feeling of dislike and distrust in the concern. It is not only the losing of that one customer, but because of the fact that the disgruntled one spreads the story of his ill-treatment or imagined slight and several other persons have been added to the list who will do their shopping elsewhere."

Theodor Chaliapin, the noted Russian singer and Victor artist, will soon leave Russia to settle permanently in the United States with his family; according to a report reaching the United States from Copenhagen.

94.7%

Send your record orders to Pearsall. Our stock is 94.7% perfect.

That's Pearsall Service.

Ask any Pearsall Dealer—He'll tell you

"Desire to Serve Plus Ability"

10 EAST 39th ST.

NEW YORK CITY

SILAS E. PEARSALL COMPANY

DISTRIBUTORS

A Portable of Distinction

INTO the Columbia Portable Grafonola have been built the requirements of the finest musical instrument. Sturdy and compact in form, it has still all the best reproduction features of the cabinet Grafonola. From the sound chamber in the upper lid, regulated by adjustable tone leaves, there is produced a volume of tone which will surprise you. And the scientific perfection of its construction loses nothing of the sweetness and purity.

Here is an instrument that is always ready to play. Every part has been cleverly fitted into this small cabinet in the most convenient position. Lift the lid, insert the winding crank and everything is ready. The Columbia Portable will find a place of usefulness in every home. The young folks can move it to the porch for summer evenings of dancing and the children can make it their own. Its sturdy construction is made to withstand the hardest usage.

For vacation time it is an ideal partner—an asset to every outing. Music out of doors—on the river—at the summer camps—on lawn parties—picnics—what a sales vista this opens up among your customers.

Into the Columbia Portable Grafonola go only the finest selected materials and careful workmanship. You will be pleased at the perfection of detail of this instrument. Metal tops fit tightly over the needle cups when the cabinet is closed, and every part fits snugly for a journey. The handle of the case has been given a perfect adjustment, which makes carrying easy. You will not find such a list of sales features embodied in any other portable.

You can make many summer sales with this instrument that you can make in no other way. Put it on display in your windows and its appearance alone will produce inquiries. Demonstrate its compactness, its lightness, its perfect musical qualities, and sales will follow.

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY

NEW YORK

Columbia

- a*—Two-pivoted tone-control leaves at the mouth of the amplifying chamber permit modifying the volume of tone as desired.
- b*—The cover encloses the scientifically shaped amplifying chamber (or horn) which permits the full and natural development of the sound-waves (as in the big cabinet Grafonolas) from the neck of the tone-arm to the mouth of the horn.
- c*—An escutcheon at this point fits over the motor pinion and secures the turntable against rattle or damage during transportation.
- d*—The standard Columbia bayonet-joint tone-arm conveys the sound-waves directly into the amplifying chamber in a continuously widening channel without obstruction or the necessity of employing special turns or adjustments to suit this type of a phonograph.
- e*—Needle cup covers seal needle cups when cover is lowered for carrying.
- f*—Three shaped nickel needle cups (one for used needles) prevent aggravating forgetfulness.

- g*—The position of the winding spindle gives the crank a wide swing which permits easy and safe winding of motor.
- h*—Complete exterior is covered with the best grade of heavy black Fabrikoid.
- i*—Heavy nickeled corner protectors give strength, withstand abuse and save scratching of furniture.
- j*—The inside is finished in highly polished Red Mahogany which, with the highly polished nickel parts and black Fabrikoid exterior, makes this instrument very attractive in the playing position.
- k*—Tone-arm and improved standard Columbia reproducer swing back without adjustment and are safely positioned by a spring for carrying.
- l*—Winding crank is conveniently positioned here for transportation.
- m*—Ingenious safety catch permits dust-proof closing of cover.

Portable Grafonola

The ALBUM method EXCELS all other RECORD FILING systems EVER TRIED

SELECTING THEIR FAVORITES

To the Trade:

Our Record Album factory—all or any part of it—is at your command. Hundreds of customers can and will gladly testify as to the good quality of our production.

Our large and growing business is due to satisfied customers and repeat orders.

Imprint (firm name or trade mark) stamped on covers if desired when orders are sufficiently large to justify it.

OUR ALBUMS ARE MADE TO CONTAIN VICTOR, COLUMBIA, EDISON, PATHE, VOCALION AND ALL OTHER DISC RECORDS

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., 239 S. American St., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

New York Office, 54 Franklin Street, Telephone, Franklin 1227, James E. Maguire, Representative

THE PERFECT PLAN

"DAILY DOZEN" POPULAR IN SCHOOLS

Health Builders' Records Proving Boon to Many Schools—Increased Use of Talking Machines in Institutions of Learning as a Result

The talking machine has long figured prominently in the curriculum of public schools of this country, particularly in the period devoted to physical culture exercises. The advent, however, of the Health Builders' course, which is appropriation does not allow for a physical culture director the Health Builders' course is supplying a long-felt want.

Robert B. Wheelan, president of Health Builders, Inc., New York City, has received many enthusiastic letters of commendation from school teachers in all sections of the country who are using this course in their classrooms. Many have had photographs taken and sent them in showing their classes going through the exercises. The accompanying photograph depicts the Mont-

MAKES RECORDS OF TRIBAL SONGS

Member of Taos Indian Tribe Aids Smithsonian Institute in Work of Preserving Historical Data—Has Made Many Interesting Records

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—Rosendo Vargas, a member of the old Taos tribe of Indians of New Mexico, has been lending valuable aid to the Smithsonian Institute of Washington in its splendid work of preserving historical data. He has made a number of talking machine records of the tribal songs of his people in their native language.

These songs, including examples of every kind of singing practiced by the Taos Indians, carry the atmosphere of old New Mexico and reflect the spiritual thoughts of a tribal people that once was in a high stage of cultural development. Some of the words of the songs—expressed in a language which, although extremely complicated, is capable of expressing an infinite variety of intricate thoughts, and discloses an advanced stage of mental development—are very long and have delicate shades of meaning that are difficult to translate into English.

Many of the songs are action-songs—one of them being called a "going song," which simply means a song that is sung by the Indians when going into the fields to work or when starting out to catch their horses preparatory to going on a trip—in fact these records reveal the traits and habits of the Taos tribe.

PHILADELPHIA INCORPORATION

Everybody's Talking Machine Co., Inc., of Philadelphia, Pa., has been chartered in that State, with a capital of $25,000. I. B. Grabuski is the incorporator.

The Branford Music Shop, Victor dealer, was recently opened at 282 Main street, Branford, Conn.

Montross, Va., Scholars Doing "The Grind"

Walter Camp's "Daily Dozen" set to music, has materially increased the use of the talking machine in public schools for physical culture purposes.

In the Health Builders' course, constituting twelve distinct exercises, the music is not only supplied, but the instructions and commands as well. Thus while the exercises may be given under the capable direction of the physical culture director of the school the pupils, with the help of the Health Builders' course, are able to efficiently go through the entire twelve exercises under the guidance of a monitor selected from their number. In rural districts where the school ross School, of Montross, Va., doing the "Daily Dozen" to the accompaniment of the talking machine. This period is an eagerly anticipated daily event for the children.

Talking machine dealers who retail the Health Builders' sets are bringing them to the attention of the local school boards with much success, and one dealer in Virginia recently set out in his car to visit in turn every school in the State on the proposition.

In the last analysis knowledge and the ability to apply knowledge practically is the only road to success in any job.

Patented
1914

Patented
1914

MONTH by MONTH

The growth of the Boston Book Co.'s business has been neither hectic, spotty nor other than steady and consistent. When one stops to consider the reason, namely, that Boston albums are handled by successful merchants, who appreciate the fact that satisfied customers mean increased business, there is no room left for discussion.

Since their introduction in 1914, Boston Albums, as the trade well knows, have set the pace, for others to follow. The wise dealer takes cognizance of this fact and his business grows accordingly.

Because of their wooden backs and interchangeable leaves, Boston Albums are Business Builders. Have you sent for a sample of the latest Bostonian?

BOSTON BOOK COMPANY
501-509 PLYMOUTH COURT CHICAGO, ILL.

ATTRACTIVE INTERIOR ARRANGEMENT

Jones Store Co., of Kansas City, Designs Unusually Practical Arrangement of Service Counters and Demonstration Booths

KANSAS CITY, KAN., July 3.—The Jones Store Co., of this city, now has one of the most attractive and convenient talking machine departments in this part of the country. It is in striking contrast to what the department was the first of the year when C. R. Lee, the present manager, took hold of it. The principal change has been in arranging the booths around the space,

View of Jones Store Co. Warerooms and in the center of the space, building in the counters and record files.

These counters are in easy reach of all the booths and have openings so the clerks can get in and out readily to serve the customers. In the racks there are spaces for 12,500 records and they are well filled up at this time. When Mr. Lee took up the work the stock of records consisted mostly of the current month's supply, but since then he has filled up his files, and now claims to have every record the Victor Co. puts out that he can get from his jobber. In addition to this he has on hand something over 1,500 Columbia records.

The department is now well supplied with Victor, Columbia and Sonora models and the case for parts and needles is well stocked up. In fact, the management of the Jones Store Co. has given Mr. Lee a free hand in building up the department, and he has used his opportunity to the limit. Mr. Lee is assisted by Mrs. Marie Walker, formerly of the Park Music Co., of Hannibal, Mo., and Miss Vera Kelly, until recently with the Peck Dry Goods Co., of this city. The talking machine department is situated just off the woman's rest room and furnishes concerts for the people who gather there. One of the features of the Jones stores are their very complete mailing lists, which are used to push the talking machine business, as well as other departments. This department of the work is under the direction of a former employe of the post office and he is wonderfully efficient. He now has a list of 6,800 talking machine owners and 60,000 names.

GOOSMAN CO. BUYS STARR STORE

Starr Piano Co. Closes Out Toledo Branch in Line With New Policy—Goosman Piano Co. Secures Local Agency for Starr Line

TOLEDO, O., July 1.—The Goosman Piano Co., 314 Jefferson avenue, this city, has purchased the entire stock of pianos, player-pianos, talking machines, etc., of the local branch of the Starr Piano Co., of Richmond, Ind. The Starr branch has been located at 318 Jefferson avenue for twenty years.

The closing out of the local Starr store is in line with the policy of the company of establishing agencies where the concern does not have proper representation and of closing out stores where the agency can be placed with reliable and aggressive concerns, according to R. E. Taylor, district manager of the Starr Piano Co.

The Goosman Piano Co. has been established since 1912 and was but recently granted a charter of incorporation. At a meeting of the stockholders of the company it was decided to increase the stock to $100,000, the additional capital being necessary to finance the combined stores operated by the company.

RECORD TRADE WITH THE INDIANS

How J. F. Neece, Jr., Has Established a Demand Basis of Twelve Records Per Order in Oklahoma Territory—Doing Big Victor Trade

OKMULGEE, OKLA., July 8.—James F. Neece, Jr., has established a remarkable record for selling records to the Indian residents in this section of the country. He is known to them under various familiar titles or cognomens and has established a demand on the basis of not less than twelve records per order. In other words, his Indian customers have been educated to buying in dozen lots, the same as in buying razor blades, etc. Mr. Neece is manager of the Carney-Neece Music Shops, which operate in both Okmulgee and Henryetta, Okla. This concern is doing a $5 per capita Victor business in the territory it serves, principally through new applications of proved selling ideas.

If you have a job to do attend to it promptly and make a good job of it or let someone else attend to it who knows how.

INGLEWOOD MUSIC CO. OPENS STORE

New Grafonola Shop in Coast City Under Management of Carroll Scroggs

INGLEWOOD, CAL., July 3.—The Inglewood Music Co., a new concern, recently opened an attractive store in which the Columbia line of machines and records is featured exclusively. The store has been handsomely fitted up with the most modern fixtures obtainable and an aggressive campaign in the interest of the Columbia Grafonola is under way. In addition to machines and records pianos are handled. The establishment is under the management of Carroll Scroggs, who has had a wide experience in the talking machine field and is well known to the trade in this section of the country.

REGULAR VICTOR DIVIDEND

The Victor Talking Machine Co., of Camden, N. J., has declared the usual quarterly dividend of $10 per share on common stock, payable July 15, to stock of record June 30.

HARPONOLA

The Phonograph with the "Golden Voice"

Announcing A Superb New Line of Models

Words fail in describing the new HARPONOLA models, just produced.

The beauty of this line, together with our price quotations, constitute a combination that is simply unbeatable.

Information will be ready for dealers and jobbers by the time this announcement appears.

Write or wire for the Harponola Proposition at once, it's a profit-maker that you can't afford to overlook.

THE HARPONOLA COMPANY

101 MERCELINA PARK
CELINA, OHIO

Edmund Brandts, President

TOTEMS

The Totem—

Likeness of a bird or beast used by Indians as a symbol for family or clan

THE Indian Chief displays in the most prominent place before his house, a sign by which he is proud to be known — his Totem. In the Indian picture language it gives the history of his family, and represents the great achievements of his clan.

Victor dealers have a Totem. It means no less to them than does the Indian chief's totem. The Victor dog, listening at the horn, tells in civilized picture language a more wonderful story than ever an Indian totem could hope to tell. It tells of a line of merchandise that, for a generation, has unfailingly demonstrated its quality, its dependability and its beauty in every corner of the earth. In every clime, and by every race the unimpeachable sincerity of Victor products is recognized, and the symbol is that modernized totem—the Victor Dog.

The right to use it is surely something to be highly treasured. Victor dealers should respect the Victor Totem and be ready to defend it against unfair competition.

The name Blackman is our Totem reflecting in Service all that the Victor Totem does in manufacture.

Blackman
TALKING MACHINE CO.
28-30 W. 23RD ST. NEW YORK N.Y.
VICTOR WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS

A Thorough Knowledge of Operating Costs Reduces Danger of Undercharging

By Thornton Hall

About a year ago there was a small musical instrument store in a busy section of upper New York. This store was notable for the almost constant stream of customers who daily entered the establishment and who purchased liberally. It was located in one of New York's uptown shopping streets which has many talking machine, piano and musical instrument stores, but this little shop seemed to do a business that was decidedly more than its share.

The reason for its phenomenal sales record was its low-price policy. Merchandise was offered at figures drastically below the ordinary level in force in the neighboring shops. It was the price concessions that drew the customers into the store. Business was apparently unusually good. It was so good, in fact, that the sales manager of one of the companies whose product was handled by the dealer paid him a visit one day to find out how he was doing it. He spent a day in the store, observing the sales activities of the clerks and noticing how business was done. He plied the proprietor with a number of important questions.

"Just as I expected," was the sales manager's report upon returning to the office. "Although he does not know it, he is losing money on every sale he makes. He keeps no record of costs and has no idea of how much it is costing him to do business. I predict that in a year's time he will be out of business."

He was right, except that the dealer is still doing business. He is doing it on a different basis, however, and while the bargain-hunting crowd is no longer storming his doors he is doing a tidy little business at legitimate, profit-allowing prices.

Just as the sales manager predicted, there eventually came a time when this dealer found that he could not keep on eating his cake and having it, too. He came to the manufacturer and asked to have an extra extension of credit. The reply was that credit would be extended only upon the absolute acceptance of very stringent conditions. The panicky dealer would have accepted any conditions, so with the credit terms went one of the company's accountants, who introduced into the modern method of storekeeping. His new selling prices were to be arrived at by adding to the cost of the merchandise the exact (no guesswork) cost of selling it and a fair profit. The important points in the system he is now using successfully are well worth the consideration of other dealers.

The first item he keeps a record of is the expense of buying. All of the buying is done by himself and one of his more reliable clerks. He is able to estimate fairly accurately the amount of time spent by each in the duties of buying merchandise, and a proportionate amount of the salaries is allotted to this expense. Under this head he places all time consumed in examining stock, making stock records, ordering goods, inspecting salesmen's samples, interviewing salesmen and making buying trips. Traveling expenses in quest of merchandise, of course, are included.

Then there is the item of selling expense, and a large item it is. First, under this head come salaries and wages of the members of the sales force. All of the time devoted by buyers or the proprietor or any other member of the organization to selling effort should be included in this item and properly charged to selling expense. Whatever method is used in paying sales employees it must all be figured in. Premiums or prizes of any sort, commissions on volume of sales or bonuses must be added to the salaries or wages and applied to the expense of selling the merchandise.

Then there is the matter of advertising, the cost of which is quite properly a selling expense, and must be so reckoned. According to modern standards of musical instrument merchandising establishment a rigid system of cost finding. Every little item in the cost of retailing musical instruments was included and the merchant began to learn how he had been losing money while his sales were so great.

(Continued on page 22)

The Dealer Who Keeps a Record of the Cost of Doing Business Increases His Chances of Making a Success

Gradually he began to realize what a fool he had been and with this humiliating realization came a determination to prove that he could make good on a new basis. This new basis was the

Improve Your Service AND Increase Your Sales

By Equipping With The OGDEN "UNIT" or Sectional System

which has been used by thousands of dealers for the past six years and "Sold" to all on our UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION, QUALITY AND PRICE.

Model No. 1 and No. 31 Sectional Cabinet

FILES YOUR RECORDS so you can find them for QUICK SALE and SERVICE. Fits any space and Stock. Visible Tab Indexes locate every Record Instantly. $14.00 per 1,000.

ORDER PORTABLE VICTROLAS NOW

and be ready to "Tie Up" with National Advertising and "Cash In" this opportunity for an extra profit by Selling

OGDEN STAND YOU-NITS

For the Portable Victrola No. 50, Also No. IV and No. VI

Don't wait but be ready and go after the Summer Business with a VICTROLA-STAND OUTFIT for Sea Shore or Camp,—Town and Country, with Music for every Occasion.

Order a Stand for every Portable Victrola (to Match) and we will Guarantee the Sale if only Displayed and Advertised.

Positively Rigid and Strong

Matches the Victrola in Material, Finish and Design. If your Jobber does not have Stock order direct and we will deliver them FREE.

Improved Model No. 50a is a dandy.

Delivered $7.00 each

Write for New Catalogue and Cuts free.

OGDEN SECTIONAL CABINET CO., Inc. LYNCHBURG, VA.

Weight, each, 10 lbs. Packed in a Portable Carrying Case.

Six Pieces Assembled or "Packed Down" as a Record Carrier in Five Minutes

KNOWLEDGE OF OPERATING COSTS

(Continued from page 21)

advertising expense is considerable. The pre-sale cost of advertising, however, is not so very large, for a large advertising expenditure means a rapid turnover. In the cost of advertising should be included all money spent for newspaper and periodical advertising, circulars and letters for sales promotion, billboards and electric signs, theatre and other local entertainment programs, gifts, premiums, trading stamps, coupons, etc.

There are a number of miscellaneous items hard to classify that should be charged to selling expense if the dealer is to keep an accurate cost record that will enable him to fix his prices properly. Such things as wrapping paper and twine must not be forgotten. Many times goods come back for alterations and repairs without charge. These alterations and repairs must be paid for by the store and are a proper part of sales expense. Also there often will be returned articles which entail a certain amount of expense and loss—a natural part of selling expense.

All of these various selling expenses must be carefully recorded if you would run your store on a systematic basis and keep any sort of intelligent tabs on your business. They must all be lumped each month and a pro rata allotment made to each machine and article of merchandise that you carry.

Besides buying and selling expense, most dealers also have the item of delivery expense. This includes the wages of such of your help engaged in delivery work for the actual time devoted to this part of the business, stable or garage expenses, by which it is meant to include the cost of operating the truck in delivery of merchandise. Whenever a dealer uses his own car in delivering merchandise he should not fail to estimate the operating and depreciation costs incurred during the time spent in delivery and charge these costs to this item. Express, mail and freight shipments must be listed under this head, as well as miscellaneous expenses that every dealer knows will occur from time to time.

Then there are certain expenses in the operation of any retail store that properly come under the head of management expenses. This will include such effort as hiring and training employes, supervising their work in the store and other managerial duties. Such portion of the time of the proprietor or manager as is spent in these duties should be recorded as management expenses.

Office expenses are fixed and include the salaries of bookkeepers and stenographers, or the salaries of other clerks for that portion of their time that they may spend in these duties. They include also the salaries and wages of cashiers, inspectors and office messengers. The cost of office supplies comes under this head, including stationery, printing, postage, account books, etc.

There are certain definite fixed charges that should be grouped together. Rent must be charged, whether the dealer owns his own store or not. This seems quite obvious, but it is surprising to discover how many dealers are placing false profits on their books because they omit to allow for rent on buildings that they own themselves. Rent includes both the store premises and storage warehouse. This group of charges includes heat, light, power and insurance, fire, burglary, fidelity, plate-glass, employer's liability, elevator accident, sprinkler system water damage, warehouse, merchandise en route, life insurance payable to firm. Another important item is that of taxes on the property, stock and store equipment.

A charge must be estimated for the cost of upkeep and depreciation, both of store and of stock. This will include repairs and renewals of equipment and depreciation of equipment and merchandise stock.

In concluding a list of charges that must be made in accurately recording the expenses of operating a musical instrument store mention must be made of a few miscellaneous expenses that are bound to be incurred. The individual merchant will best know what these charges are likely to be in his particular store. They will probably include telephone and telegraph service, water and ice, care of the store, including janitor's service, cleaning, tips, etc.

The above review of store-operating costs shows a great many items that are very often neglected by dealers in estimating their expenses. Too many retail failures are due to inefficient cost keeping. False profits very often give a false sense of security and lead to the practice of pricing merchandise on a basis that allows an insufficient profit. The writer suggests that those dealers who maintain an accurate cost system go over this system with the various points made in this article. For those dealers who employ the hit-or-miss system of estimating operating costs the points made in this article will serve as the basis for installing a very good, workable system.

MALCOLM MUSIC HOUSE OPENED

FLINT, MICH., July 4.—The Malcolm Music House, which for the past six years had been located at 113 East Kearsley street, this city, is now located in attractively arranged new quarters on West Kearsley and Buckingham streets. The third floor of the establishment has been turned over to the display of talking machines. Modern equipment has been installed, including sound-proof demonstration booths, record racks and service counters.

CANARY MASTERS JAZZ MUSIC

Peggy, a canary belonging to Mrs. G. R. Farley, of Seattle, has mastered jazz. This high-bred bird of the German roller variety for years has discoursed the best quality of bird music, but the advent of some jazz whistled records into the home turned the classically educated brain into a syncopated one.

Now every day Peggy nearly drives her dainty mistress frantic by such tunes and antics.

In addition to imitating the syncopation of the latest productions, Peggy has a habit of joyfully dancing a rhythm, hopping up and down on her swinging perch, or leaping to the floor of the cage and back to the swing.

WIDENER (N. Y.) Sells 1,003 GRANBYS

GRANBY EDITORIAL LETTER

Number Four

From Granby Phonograph Corporation, Newport News, Va.

"In a period of one year, beginning the last half of 1921 and continuing up to this day (May 25, 1922) we have sold exactly one thousand and three (1003) Granby Phonographs." This is the statement made on May 25 by Mr. Speare, Manager of Widener's, 4 West 37th Street, New York.

When asked to explain his selling methods, Mr. Speare replied:

"We push the Granby because we are in business to make BIG PROFITS right NOW. We push the Granby because it also builds for us bigger FUTURE PROFITS.

"For instance: The Granby owner grows used to the beauties of the full round tone. When she (or he) hears a different machine, with a less resonant tone, the boosting begins. She tells the owner of the other machine how much nicer her own is—and tells it enthusiastically, because she has noticed the decided difference in the roundness of the tone, and that makes her realize just WHY she likes her Granby better. This starts her talking.

"I don't mean to say that Granby owners go around talking all day long about their machines," Mr. Speare continued, "That wouldn't be true.

"But the fact is, WHEN THE SUBJECT COMES UP a Granby owner is right Johnny-on-the-spot to tell how different the tone really is! 'As Mellow as Southern Moonlight' is how they say it in the ads.

"Another odd thing I discovered is that the old owner is a better word-of-mouth advertiser than the new owner. The old owner has heard the Granby more often, and therefore has a BETTER MEMORY of the individualities of the tone—and so when she hears another machine, she UNDERSTANDS WHY she likes her own machine better. That is why she boosts.

"We sold 1,003 Granby Phonographs in our first year, just ended. We reached this figure not alone because we ourselves made more money on each machine sold and therefore PUSHED IT, but also because we had first 100, then 200, then 400, then 700, and now 1,003 boosting owners doing WORD-OF-MOUTH ADVERTISING in New York for the Granby."

The Granby proposition is a very liberal one, with BIG PROFITS, and terms that we shall be glad to give you when you write for them. Write now, and say, "Explain, please, the big profits and liberal terms offered by the Granby Corporation."

GRANBY No. 13, $135

"Especially popular,"

says MR. SPEARE

GRANBY Phonograph CORPORATION

Capital, $2,500,000.00

Offices and Factory

Newport News,

Virginia

HERE IT IS!

The
FLETCHER UNIVERSAL
 TONE ARM and REPRODUCER

Gives Proper Playing Weights for All Records. No Adjustment Screws or Springs
 SAMPLES $8.00 Specify 8½" or 9½" arm

FLETCHER-WICKES CO., 6 East Lake Street, Chicago, Illinois

THE McLAGAN PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION, LIMITED, STRATFORD, ONTARIO, EXCLUSIVE CANADIAN AGENTS

TONE ARMS
Fletcher
 REG. TRADE MARK
REPRODUCERS

Fletcher
 REG. TRADE MARK

Reproducer
 and Connection
 for
NEW EDISON
 Plays all Records

Dealers, Send for Prices and Terms

FLETCHER-WICKES CO.

6 East Lake St., Chicago, Ill.

THE McLAGAN PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION, LIMITED, STRATFORD, ONTARIO, EXCLUSIVE CANADIAN AGENTS

SOMETHING ENTIRELY NEW IN TONE ARMS
THE FLETCHER "STRAIGHT"

STRAIGHT INSIDE—Taper Outside
BALL BEARINGS THROUGHOUT
NEW DESIGN NEW CONSTRUCTION

Yes, it is universal and equipped with the Regular Fletcher Reproducer, giving the same natural tone quality as heretofore

Made in two lengths, 8½" and 9½"

SEND FOR PRICES AND TERMS

FLETCHER-WICKES COMPANY
6 EAST LAKE ST. CHICAGO

THE McLAGAN PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION, LIMITED, STRATFORD, ONTARIO, EXCLUSIVE CANADIAN AGENTS

Determining Realized and Unrealized Profits on Instalment Sales :: :: :: :: By M. L. Seidman, C. P. A.

of Seidman & Seidman, Certified Public Accountants

The method of determining income on instalment sales is the most perplexing problem with which instalment dealers have to contend when preparing income tax returns or computing profits. Mr. Seidman points out in a simple, yet precise manner, by means of practical illustrations, just how readers may take fullest advantage of the rulings of the Revenue Department in keeping their books.—EDITOR.

The Internal Revenue Department has raised a question in a number of instances as to the accuracy with which instalment dealers determine realized and unrealized profit on instalment sales. In a number of cases the Treasury Department has thrown out entirely the right of instalment sales dealers to report their profits on the basis of cash collected from instalments instead of the full sales price, because these dealers could not definitely establish the exact facts in connection with when the profits were finally realized.

The question the Internal Revenue Department raised rests upon the proper method of determining what year's unrealized profit reserve is affected when cash is collected on account of an instalment contract. The usual practice of instalment dealers is to set up a reserve for unrealized profit on account of uncollected instalment sales measured by the uncollected gross profit on such sales. For different years this unrealized profit might be a considerably different percentage. The following is a typical example:

	1918	1919
Sales	100%	100%
Cost of Sales	70%	50%
Gross profits to be realized	30%	50%

In setting up the reserve for unrealized profit for the various years in question an instalment dealer should include all sales made for which cash has not been collected. For the year 1918, the above case, for instance, this reserve would be thirty per cent of the sales price of uncollected instalment contracts entered into during 1918. In 1919 he would set up fifty per cent, etc.

The trouble has been that when cash is finally collected on the instalment sales for these various years dealers have not tried to determine what year the cash collection applied to, but usually computed the realized profit on such cash collection on the current year's gross profit percentage. It is to this method that the Internal Revenue Department objects.

A number of ways have been suggested to determine the year against which cash receipts apply. Most of them, however, are very cumbersome and impractical of operation. For instance, a number of instalment houses are attempting to designate each check as it comes in with the year against which it applies. It is apparent what an enormous job this is where a large number of customers are on the books and how expensive and impractical this method is in getting at the facts.

It will be noted that in order to properly ascertain the annual profits when a dealer keeps his accounts on an instalment basis for income tax purposes it is necessary to know the following:

- 1—The amount of instalment sales made during a given year.
- 2—The amount of cash collected during a given year and the year or years to which the cash collections apply.
- 3—The determination of gross profits to be realized on the instalment sales made during a given year and the amount of such sales uncollected at the end of the year.

The following method is submitted as one that will meet the requirements of the Internal Revenue Department and gives the above information in practical and acceptable form:

It should be noted that permission to report on an instalment sales basis was not granted until a comparatively recent date. Very few instalment dealers therefore reported on the unrealized profit basis until the year 1918. In this respect, the department has ruled that where a dealer has previously been reporting his sales in full in the determination of taxable profits such taxpayer when changing to an instalment sales basis does not have to report the cash collections received on account of sales of prior years in arriving at his taxable income. The reason for this is obvious. The reporting of a sale as realized profit has resulted in paying the tax at that time and therefore to take the cash collection on such sales in again as profit to be accounted for would make a duplication in taxation.

Assuming, therefore, that an instalment dealer begins reporting on a "cash" or "unrealized profit" basis beginning with the year 1918. As of January 1, 1918, therefore, all instalment accounts receivable represent items upon which the tax has already been paid. All such accounts collected subsequent to January 1, 1918, should therefore not be included in the tax calculation for such subsequent year.

For example, assume that X Furniture Co. had outstanding on instalment accounts as of Jan. 1, 1918

That during the year 1918 it sold on instalment contracts, which included sales both to customers that had balances on the books as of Jan. 1, 1918, as well as to new customers opened during the year 1918	$180,000.00
That during the year 1918 cash or its equivalent was received from the old customers on their old accounts and on their new purchases for 1918 as well as from the new customers for sales during 1918. The total amount for all being	300,000.00
	$230,000.00

At the end of the year, therefore, there was a balance outstanding for instalment contracts in the amount of $250,000, made up as follows:

Instalment accounts receivable Jan. 1, 1918	$180,000.00
Instalment sales, 1919	$300,000.00
Instalment cash collected, 1918	$230,000.00
Instalment accounts receivable Jan. 1, 1919	$250,000.00

It is apparent that the outstanding accounts receivable as of January 1, 1919, are made up of two classes, as follows:

1—Accounts outstanding as of January 1, 1918, which are still outstanding on January 1, 1919, but which balance has been either increased or decreased during the year 1918 by purchases and payments.

2—Accounts newly acquired during the year 1918 resulting in a balance at the end of the year 1918 for transactions which occurred wholly during the year 1918.

The problem confronting us is to determine how much in dollars and cents of the instalment accounts receivable that were outstanding January 1, 1918, were still outstanding on January 1, 1919. If we determine that factor we can then tell what portion of our collections or other receipts for the year 1918 went to pay the balance outstanding as of January 1, 1918. In that way we can determine how much of the collections apply to sales prior to 1918 and how much to 1918.

To arrive at these figures the following method is suggested:

When taking a trial balance of the instalment accounts receivable ledger as of January 1, 1919, instead of showing only the balance of each account, it is shown in five columns, as indicated in Tabulation No. 1, at bottom of this page.

It will be noted from this tabulation that we have the following information:

(Continued on page 26)

Account	Balance Jan. 1, 1918		1918		Balance Jan. 1, 1919
	Dr.	Cr.	Dr.	Cr.	1917 Accounts	1918 Accounts
John Smith	$ 200.00
Jas. Brown	300.00	$ 100.00		$ 250.00	$ 50.00
Henry James	100.00	100.00		200.00	100.00	100.00
Tom Whitson	75.00	200.00		200.00		100.00
Wm. Roe	300.00	250.00		100.00		225.00
John Kelly		200.00		125.00	175.00	200.00
Alfred Ames	500.00	300.00		100.00		200.00
L. Harding	400.00			400.00	100.00
		500.00		900.00
Total	$180,000.00
Balance		$300,000.00		$230,000.00	$ 70,000.00	$180,000.00

The General Phonograph Mfg. Co.
Model "E"
TABLE PHONOGRAPH
The Greatest Value on the Market
 IMMEDIATE DELIVERIES IN ANY QUANTITY
 Plays All Makes of Records
 Superior Tone Quality
Write for our Proposition
The General Phonograph Mfg. Co.
 ELYRIA, OHIO

The Swanson

PORTABLE PHONOGRAPH

It's A Marvel

The only portable on the market equipped with a wooden tone arm, the recognized acme of perfection in tone production. Standard double spring Heineman No. 36 motor, high-grade sound box and speed regulator. Needle containers at right of turntable.

Compact, attractive and absolutely fool-proof. No clamps, hinges or push buttons to get out of order. Furnished in handsome black case and equipped with record album.

The lightest portable ever manufactured; a real portable.

Weight—15¼ lbs.

Phantom View—showing each part in place ready for carrying

The Swanson—ready for playing

List price of the SWANSON — $40. Unusually liberal discounts to live jobbers and dealers. Write our nearest sales office for details.

Weight complete, 15¼ lbs. Dimensions, 11⅛" x 13" x 7½"

We have an exceptionally attractive sales proposition for successful established jobbing houses. Wire our nearest office today. Territory now being allotted.

Swanson Sales Company

R. W. MOON, General Manager

1133 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

308 West Ontario Street
Chicago, Ill.

536 Merchants Nat'l Bank Bldg.
Los Angeles, Cal.

DETERMINING REALIZED AND UNREALIZED PROFITS ON INSTALMENT SALES—(Continued from page 24)

1—The balance of each account outstanding on January 1, 1918.

2—The debits or purchases made during the year 1918.

3—The credits or cash receipts from each customer during the year 1918.

4—The balance outstanding on each customer's account for purchases made up to January 1, 1919, and still unpaid for, showing the amount unpaid on account of the current year's purchase and the amount applicable to prior years.

In arriving at our balance applicable to each year we assign the credits on payments during a given year as applying to the last balance until such balance is wiped out rather than applying any of it to the current year's purchases.

"In case of continuous accounts covering sales of personal property, the income from which is reported on the instalment plan as provided in T. D. 3082 (C. B. 3, p. 107), the cash payments received should be allocated in accordance with the generally recognized principle of law governing such cases—that is, that failing application by the vendee, the cash payments should be applied to the earliest items of the account."

Thus applying this fundamental ruling to the above facts, we can arrive at the collections for the year 1918 made on account of sales prior to 1918 as follows:

Table showing instalment accounts receivable outstanding as of Jan. 1, 1919, and collections for 1919. Total collections for 1919 are $260,000.00.

Thus we know that in the total cash collections or other credits of $230,000 from instalment accounts receivable for the year 1918, $110,000 was collected on account of purchases made prior to January 1, 1918, and $120,000 on account of purchases made during the year 1918.

Table showing uncollected portion of $180,000.00 and gross profit for 1918 realized of $54,000.00.

It will be noted that we have automatically by a simple analysis of the trial balance arrived at the distribution during the year 1918 of cash and other receipts divided as between the portion applicable to the current and previous years.

Tabulation No. 2: A T-account showing balances for 1917, 1918, and 1919 for various accounts like John Smith, James Brown, etc., with a total of $250,000.00 for 1919.

It will be noted from the above that our instalment ledger trial balance as of January 1, 1919, shows the balance of each outstanding account divided as to whether that balance is applicable to the period ending January 1, 1918, or January 1, 1919.

In order to show the workings of this method for subsequent years we will assume the following:

The X Furniture Co. made instalment sales during the year 1919 of $250,000.00. That it made collections on instalment accounts of $260,000.00.

We proceed by taking off our instalment contract trial balance in the same manner as illustrated previously except that our opening balance will be carried forward in two columns showing the 1918 and 1919 balance separately.

The distribution of the $240,000 accounts receivable as of January 1, 1920, is therefore as follows:

Table showing distribution of $240,000.00 as of Jan. 1, 1920, with a total of $240,000.00.

From these figures we arrive at the distribution of the collections for the year, as follows:

Table showing accounts receivable outstanding Jan. 1, 1919, and collections for 1919, totaling $260,000.00.

We can now determine our gross profit for tax purposes from the above figures as follows:

Table showing gross profit realized on account of collections applicable to period prior to Jan. 1, 1918, and for 1918, totaling $85,500.00.

The above method can be continued from year to year in the same way as illustrated above, keeping account of the balance outstanding as at the beginning of each year distributed into various years to which the balances are applicable.

The question might be raised as to the effect of the method outlined above of "reverts" and other similar credits that might be made to instalment contract accounts, other than cash receipts.

PLAN WISCONSIN ASSOCIATION

Victor Dealers of Eastern Part of State Meet and Take Preliminary Steps Toward the Formation of an Association

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 1.—At a recent meeting of Victor dealers from the eastern part of the State at the Hotel Appleton here the first steps toward the formation of an association were considered.

During the meeting here L. C. Parker, of the Badger Music Shop, Victor dealer of this city and Milwaukee, described in an interesting manner the good work accomplished by the Milwaukee Dealers' Association, and H. A. Goldsmith and O. Schopen, representing the Badger Talking Machine Co., of Milwaukee, discussed the success of similar associations throughout the State.

Among those who attended the meeting were: D. M. Groniz, Green Bay; T. R. Bowring, DePere; H. G. Brauer and Otto Look, Kaukauna; Ray Peters, Neenah; Ralph Wilson, Oskosh; James Sandee and W. J. Augustin, this city; Henry Clusen, Manitowoc; Harry Stoffels and E. J. Carroll, of Appleton.

Isn't it funny how many salesmen there are who call other people stubborn for possessing a certain quality which in themselves they call firmness? Tolerance of the other fellow's ideas is worth cultivating.

Advertisement for BRUNS MADERITE DELIVERY COVERS, PORTABLE TALKING MACHINE COVERS, and MADERITE DUST COVERS, featuring an illustration of a cover and contact information for A. BRUNS & SONS, 50 RALPH AVE., BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Four-Minute Conference on Business Topics

No. 3—Your Losses—Their Prevention

[This is the third of a series of four-minute conferences on topics of direct interest to business men in the talking machine trade which have been prepared for this publication by Lester G. Herbert.—EDITOR.]

Loose collection methods cause much business embarrassment.

Money talks, and the business man who is up to date will bring his affairs to as nearly a cash basis as possible in order to prevent leaks and to insure his own ability to discount his bills. Banks are now using extra precautions in making loans in order to discourage the over-expansion of credit, for only by this means can sound business conditions be fostered.

If you, the business man, are to pay your bills promptly you must be careful to extend credit only to those who are entitled to credit, and you must inaugurate a system which will make courteous but tactful and businesslike insistence on prompt payment.

It is exceedingly important that all invoices and statements be made out and mailed promptly; that the printed terms upon which credit is granted shall appear upon the letterhead; and that delinquents will be followed up with polite firmness in a letter stating that you, as a modern business man, cannot conduct your affairs in a manner to give the best of service and rock-bottom terms without having the cash to reinvest regularly. This will usually bring a response in money or an explanation as to when money may be expected.

The right sort of business men observe their due dates and try to have the cash in their creditors' hands on that date instead of twenty-four or forty-eight hours late. Individuals who pay no attention to their obligations are not entitled to credit concessions.

It is undesirable to offend patrons, but having a regular system which is known as a policy of the firm a precedent is soon established which is taken for granted. It is true that an individual may have a good deal of property, but if this is not in the form of cash with which he can pay it does not avail you very much.

Another loss comes through permitting high-priced and skilled men to do work which could be handled as well by less skilled and much cheaper labor.

In one concern the employment of a young fellow of seventeen years of age relieved three trained men so that they did the work previously done by four of them. That is, the young fellow who was paid $12 a week made it possible to dispense with one who had been paid $50 a week, thus effecting a saving of $38 a week, or $1,976 a year.

Another ease of loss is through the excessive reduction of working hours and laxity about tardiness. Employees respect their work and their employers more when it is managed in an efficient and worthy manner.

VICTOR PUZZLES FOR THE TRADE

Clever New Picture Puzzles Just Issued for Distribution by Dealers at Fairs, Celebrations, Store Openings and Other Local Events

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has just issued an attractive and interesting picture puzzle for the use of dealers for distribution at fairs, anniversaries, school celebrations, store openings, etc. The puzzles are of the sort that should make a general appeal both to children and grown-ups, and when put together the various sections make up a replica of a Victor record with the faces of many of the noted Victor artists thereon.

Each puzzle comes in a separate envelope upon which there is left sufficient room for the dealer's own imprint and they are offered to the trade at a nominal price considerably below cost. The puzzles were introduced at the Jobbers' convention at Atlantic City recently and were strongly endorsed.

E. E. HOHMANN COMPLETES TRIP

General Sales Manager of Modernola Co. Returns From mid-West—New Portable Popular

JOHNSTOWN, PA., July 1.—E. E. Hohmann, general manager of sales of the Modernola Co., Inc., of this city, recently returned to headquarters after completing a four weeks' trip throughout the Middle West. Mr. Hohmann visited Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and other important trade centers. On this trip he not only traveled in the interest of the Modernola, but in the interest of the Modernolette as well. This new portable has already attained considerable popularity throughout the trade and it is expected that it will prove not only an exceptionally big Summer seller, but will enjoy considerable sales throughout the year. Mr. Hohmann stated that he did very good business on the trip and that a number of new agencies were established for the Modernola and its small edition, the Modernolette.

TALKING MACHINE IN AMBULANCE

Memphis Concern Adopts Innovation for Soothing Ambulance Patients

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 1.—Music while you suffer is the latest refinement in ambulance service in this city. The innovation is found in Collins-Sturla's new ambulance, just put into service, and which is equipped with an excellent talking machine and a large library of records ranging from opera to "blues." While en route in the ambulance the patient is allowed to select his own music and, according to Elmo Cullen, ambulance attendant, the "blues" are the most popular with the sick and injured. The instrument is placed near the pillow of the patient and the tone properly subdued through use of fiber needles.

PORTABLE PAL PHONOGRAPH

*This is a portable
year!*

"PAL" has met with a national response!

Dealers have been quick to recognize PAL's value!

Many orders have come to us! Many complimentary messages have been sent in. It seems that everybody is expressing genuine favor toward the PAL machine!

People see that PAL is the kind of a portable they have been waiting for—in tone quality—design—price!

They know that PAL gives full $50 worth of value. They are satisfied—in every way!

That is why they are buying.

And that is why PAL dealers find that PAL brings good business all around.

Order a sample—Today!

DEALERS' PRICES

WOODEN CASE . $20
COWHIDE CASE . $25

SPECIFICATIONS

Walnut or Mahogany finish or Cowhide case; 12" wide, 18" long and 8½" high. Weight, about 20 lbs. Equipped with a high-grade motor, playing three 10" records with one winding. Extra fine universal tone arm and soundbox playing all types records. Special sounding board. Equipped with a 10" record album. Heavy nickel plated brass hardware, strong handle for carrying purposes.

PLAZA MUSIC CO.

18 West 20th Street New York

SUPERIOR STEEL
BRILLIANTONE
 REGISTERED TRADE MARK
 NEEDLES

SUPERIOR
BRILLIANTONE
 REGISTERED TRADE MARK
 NEEDLES

SUPERIOR
BRILLIANTONE
 REGISTERED TRADE MARK
 NEEDLES

SUPERIOR
BRILLIANTONE
 REGISTERED TRADE MARK
 NEEDLES

Packed expressly for YOU with your Name

On An Order For 175 Tin Boxes

Three Tones: Extra Loud, Loud, Medium

300 needles in each attractively decorated and colored tin box. Think of the value of having your name go into the homes of your customers! Think of the value of having your name seen every time a phonograph is played! Your name on each box of needles will be a constant advertisement for you.

Link Your Name With Brilliantone Needles

The largest manufacturers of talking machine needles in America.

Prices and samples upon request.
 Tell us to whom you desire shipment billed.

BRILLIANTONE STEEL NEEDLE CO.
 OF AMERICA, Inc.

Selling Agent for W. H. Bagshaw & Co.
 Factory: Lowell, Mass.

347 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK

SUPERIOR STEEL
BRILLIANTONE
 REGISTERED TRADE MARK
 NEEDLES

NO. VII

Dear Bill:

At last the fine, warm Summer days are at hand and, as usual, there are signs everywhere which indicate that many so-called business men have not awakened to the important fact that opportunities for doing business during this season are just as favorable as during the Winter months. Honestly, it gives me a pain the way some dealers accept this as an indisputable fact and make not the slightest effort to find out for their own satisfaction whether people will buy in the Summertime.

Perhaps it is natural to lie down on the job during these enervating days, but no prosperous business can be built up in that way. There are many opportunities for business if the dealers have energy enough to make a stab at getting some of it. Certainly, sitting in the office and telling fish stories will not achieve this highly desirable result.

Knowing you as I do, Bill, old pal, I strongly suspect that you are spending a great deal of your time poring over vacation folders and sitting at your desk dreaming of the fishing and golf which you are shortly to enjoy and, therefore, I am working on the old bromide that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" in an effort to make you realize what an opportunity you are letting slide.

You certainly can't afford to sit back in your office chair twiddling your thumbs while a golden opportunity like this slips by during the brief vacation period. Of course, there is a temptation to do this very thing. I have been through the mill myself and I know how it is, but you can wager anything you wish that you are due for an unprofitable rest if you don't roll up your sleeves and go to it.

As to ways and means of getting Summer business, they are varied. The first thing to do is to carefully plan a campaign in which consideration should be given to advertising, circularization, special window displays, personal letters and a Summer service. All of these should be designed especially to carry an out-of-doors appeal. The copy should be of a character which will show the utility of the talking machine as a vacation adjunct, an instrument without which the greatest enjoyment cannot be obtained from any trip. The window displays offer a fine opportunity of impressing the public with the value of the small portable machines for use on trips, etc., and right here I want to stress the fact that when a portable machine is sold during the Summer you have a live prospect for a larger machine when the vacation is over and in either case you have a good prospect for future record sales.

Now, as to special Summer service. The annual migration to and from town can be made the source of profit through increased record sales by making provision to keep these people in touch with the latest records no matter where they are, and it is also a wise and effective stunt to establish a record mail service so that they can be supplied with records without loss of time should they desire any. As your customers return it might prove valuable in building good will if you sent them a list of records which you think they might be interested in, together with a little note stating that you are glad to see that they have returned, expressing the hope that they have had a pleasant time, etc.

Hoping this hits the spot and makes you sit up and take notice, I am,

Your friend,

Jim.

MAGNAVOX SHIPMENT FOR LONDON

Full Carload of Radio Amplifiers Sent by Express From Oakland, Cal., to London to Fill a Special Rush Order—Liked in England

OAKLAND, CAL., July 3.—So great is the demand for American radio equipment that one American firm, the Magnavox Co., of Oakland, Cal., found it necessary to fill an English order by shipping a full carload of amplifiers by express over the six thousand miles between this Pacific Coast city and London.

It is estimated that the shipment will be less than fourteen days on the road and that two weeks after the last box was placed in the express car here the instruments will be on the shelves of London dealers.

Indicating the great increase in radio business

Magnavox Shipments by Express to England are the output figures of this same Oakland factory. One year ago the daily production of radio amplifiers was five; to-day approximately 800 are being produced every day. It is expected this figure will be nearly doubled within the next six months.

The chap who is always bragging about how he told this and that customer where he got off at when the patron came in to make a complaint is not doing himself or the firm any good.

INTRODUCES THE PHONOGAME

Cleverly Conceived Game to Be Used in Conjunction With the Talking Machine—Sales Tests Are Favorable—Campaign Planned

A new concern recently entering the talking machine field is the Phon-O-Game Co., of Elizabeth, N. J., which is manufacturing a specially designed game to be used on the talking machine turntable. This game is in the shape of a round disc with several figures and a dial. The turntable is released and the break applied after a few revolutions and the number opposite the dial when the machine stops designates the number of moves which the player can make on a board nearby. The company has had considerable success in the past few weeks in marketing this new product, and is planning to introduce it to the talking machine trade throughout the country. Sales tests have been made in several stores in New Jersey to try out the sales possibilities of this device, and it was found that this article could be successfully merchandised by the talking machine dealer. In consequence the company is now planning an extensive campaign, and it is expected that within a very short time talking machine dealers throughout the country will carry this device as a part of their regular stock to meet the demands of the buying public.

OSCAR W. RAY TO VISIT COAST

Manager of Wholesale Vocalion Record Department to Call on Trade in Principal Cities in Course of Transcontinental Trip

Oscar W. Ray, general manager of the wholesale Vocalion record department of the Aeolian Co., left New York on July 5 on an extended transcontinental business trip, in the course of which he will visit the Pacific Coast as well as call upon the trade in the principal cities enroute. Mr. Ray expects to be away about a month.

Wall-Kane Needles Protect the Record

WALL-KANE NEEDLES

Used by 80% of the population, sold by the leading jobbers throughout the world.

A nationally advertised article that has been in ever-increasing demand since it was established in 1913

WALL-KANE needles are packed in metal display stands holding 60 packages, 24 loud, 24 extra loud and 12 medium.

They are also packed in cartons of 100 packages of a single tone, either loud, extra loud or medium.

JOBBER ONLY—APPLY FOR SPECIAL PROPOSITION

WALL-KANE NEEDLE MANUFACTURING CO.

Successors to

The Greater New York Novelty Co.

Sole Manufacturers of

WALL-KANE NEEDLES

3922 Fourteenth Avenue

Brooklyn, N. Y.

The NEW

*Chippendale
Console $295*

*Italian (Umbrian)
Design
$350*

“THE period cabinets which Mr. Edison has adopted for his phonographs are in pleasant contrast to the rather grotesque cases which one so frequently sees. From the characteristically diminutive and graceful Hoppelwhite to the costly replicas of historic pieces, the superior furniture value of Edison cabinets can scarcely fail to impress the lover of good furniture.”

ELSIE DE WOLFE
Author of "The House of Good Taste" and celebrated designer of household interiors.

EDISON

THE New Edison Consoles, in period designs, have merited even the approval of those who instinctively look for flaws in every attempt that is made to reproduce the achievements of the master craftsmen of other days. The New Consoles will bear comparison even with the originals of the various periods that they represent.

*William and Mary
Design
$325*

*XVIII Century English
(Adam) Design
$375*

HERE indeed is mechanical perfection enclosed in cabinets that are to Mr. Edison's latest triumph what the faultless case is to the masterpiece of the watchmaker.

Coupled with the high sense of public appreciation that has always been accorded Mr. Edison's achievements, the undeniable charm of these new designs is almost certain to result in an unprecedented demand that every Edison dealer will be called upon to satisfy.

THOMAS A. EDISON, Inc.
ORANGE, NEW JERSEY

INSECTS AND LUCKY DOGS

By EDWARD FRASER CARSON

Out in the Pacific Ocean there are thousands of tiny islands. Verdant and bright with flowers they are veritable garden spots and they are the homes of thousands of people, who, though they may not know it, owe their beautiful island homes to the wonderful work of insects.

Edward Fraser Carson

Ages ago the coral insects began their work. Their life was but of a few days' duration, and when they died their skeleton remained as the foundation on which succeeding generations of insects built their homes and likewise died. In the building of those islands untold billions of insects had a part. That part did not amount to much—but it counted. It was part of the final structure which finally reared itself above the level of the sea and became an island.

The work of those coral insects holds a great lesson for man, and that lesson is not to despise the little things. It is the little thing that counts, that becomes an integral part of the big thing. It is the trifle that makes perfection—and, added Michelangelo, perfection is no trifle.

But it is in its application to thrift that I mentioned the coral insect. Take the smallest coin we have—the humble copper cent. Save one cent a day and you have $3.00 a year—counting only business days. In fifty years that is $150 and at compound interest at 4 per cent it will amount to nearly $500. Truly did Poor Richard speak when he said, "Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves."

The way money grows when once you get the habit of saving regularly is simply astounding. Ten cents a day—60 cents a week—saved for twenty-five years and put in the bank at compound interest will run up to $1,270 or more. And in fifty years it will amount to nearly $5,000.

It is so easy to spend money that the ordinary chap is perpetually and everlastingly "broke." But while he is enjoying all the money he makes his careful companion is putting something by for the future.

Take, for instance, yourself. You are twenty years old. You are making, say, $25 a week. You have none but yourself to support. You can easily save $10 of it. And $10 saved each week will make you independent of a job in twenty-five years. In that time you will have $21,000—and you'll still be a young man, as age is reckoned in these beardless days. Keep it up till you are seventy and you'll have $80,000 or more.

You, young man who read this—wouldn't you like to know that when you are forty-five years old you would have an income of $1,000 a year—or at seventy an income of $3,200—about $60 a week?

It's all up to you. Barring illness or idleness beyond your power to prevent you can do just that.

Save money. That's as good advice as anyone can give you. Money has been called the root of all evil. That's not so. It's the mania to get it too fast. Money, in truth, is the root of all blessings—or of many of them.

If you have money in the bank you can hold your head up. You can afford to be independent. Sickness loses many of its terrors.

Every young man who has red blood in his veins dreams that some day he will go into business for himself. He sees some of his friends doing it. He calls them "lucky dogs" and wishes that he, too, might start his own business, be his own boss and eventually boss others.

But the other fellow isn't simply lucky. Nine times out of ten he's a "wise bird" rather than a "lucky dog."

Not a man who can work—and this includes you—but can save something. And the man who saves can "look the whole world in the face, for he owes not any man."

FORM BUSINESS RESEARCH BUREAU

Providence Chamber of Commerce Co-operates With Brown University in Bureau Formation

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 3.—What may be the first comprehensive organization established for active co-ordination between business organizations and a university has been devised by the joint action of the board of directors of the Providence Chamber of Commerce and the faculty of the economics department of Brown University, to be known as the Brown Bureau of Business Research. Any individual, firm or corporation residing or doing business in the State of Rhode Island may apply for the service of the Bureau.

AN ANECDOTE WITH A POINT

A well-known advertising man once answered a man's disbelief in the value of advertising in the following manner: "You can't see the wind, can you?" The man answered, "No." "But you can feel it and see its effects, isn't that right?" "Yes, that's very true," answered the incredulous one. "Well, it is just so with advertising," concluded the ad man.

YES—THE BEST

De Luxe Needles may cost more but they are made to deliver a Result and not fit a price

Always Insist on Getting

DE LUXE NEEDLES

and you won't be disappointed.

DUO-TONE COMPANY, INCORPORATED

Sole Manufacturers of De Luxe Needles

ANSONIA, CONN.

Full Tone

Medium Tone

DON'T FORGET THESE FACTS

Perfect Reproduction of Tone No Scratchy Surface Noise

PLAYS 100-200 RECORDS

Three for 30 cents (40 cents in Canada)

TALKING MACHINE EXHIBITS AT GRAND RAPIDS SHOW

Furniture Exposition Well Attended—What Talking Machine Men Are Showing—Optimistic Feeling Over Business Outlook—Stocks Are Low Throughout Country—Exhibits Reviewed

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., July 8.—The semi-annual furniture exhibit in this city, which opened on June 15 and closes on July 15, produced a rather unexpected volume of business. Although the number of buyers at the market so far this year has been a record-breaking one, the hotels proved by means of their reservation list that hundreds of buyers will be in before the end of the show. In the furniture as well as the talking machine lines the unexpected rush of buyers with large orders caught manufacturers in many instances unaware and numerous orders have been held up by the failure of new offerings to be ready for display. Quite a number of firms were unexpectedly held up in business by the non-arrival of the samples of their products.

Buying is very liberal this season. Many dealers frankly declare that their stocks are exceptionally low and that they are anxious to have a supply of good merchandise on hand for anticipated Fall business. The number of jobbers and dealers who are placing orders this way is rather surprising. The dopesters around town, at least all who are in the manufacturing end of the game, firmly believe that many dealers are going to be caught with short lines because of this unexpected increase in business. They reason that the building boom, which is general all over the country, is bound to result in great demands for high-grade talking machines and furniture.

One outstanding feature of this Summer show is that all exhibitors made their spaces attractive with carpets, wall hangings and fancy partitions, which showed up their lines to the best advantage. This line of decorations was followed with great care this year by all the exhibitors, who certainly spent more money in decorations than ever before. In most of the exhibition buildings the dolling-up process was carried out to the Queen's taste, displaying the various lines of goods as they might appear in the home of the ultimate purchaser. Some hotelkeepers visiting these spaces were struck with their possibilities and assert that their own places of business would go through the decorating process immediately upon their return home.

The Cheney Talking Machine Co., as usual, had a beautiful display in the showrooms of its building on Munroe street. The entire line of Cheney instruments was on display and attracted favorable comment. Many visiting buyers, even though not in the talking machine game, were drawn to this exhibit. The sales department of the Cheney Co., headed by Professor Forrest Cheney, formed a reception committee for visitors, being augmented from time to time by Cheney distributors who were visiting Grand Rapids.

Up in the Gilbert Exhibition Building the talking machine line which attracted the most attention was that of the Consolidated Talking Machine Co., which held forth in Room 521 under the direction of L. Weguson, local representative. A full line of the products handled by the Consolidated Co. was on display, and much attention was given to the Strand talking machine, which is jobbed by this company.

Another interesting display was that of the Udell Works on the second floor of the Klingman Exhibition Building. This display was in charge of Tom Griffiths, sales and advertising manager of the Udell Co. Visiting buyers had an excellent opportunity of looking over the entire Udell lines, consisting of talking machine cabinets, piano roll cabinets and portable talking machines. This concern placed attractive invitation cards in the mail boxes at all the hotels. The cards were printed in red and showed portraits of the Udell products. Pasted on top of each card was a small envelope containing a large-sized Baltimore cigar. Immediately under this cigar was printed the invitation to visit the Udell demonstration.

The Player-Tone Talking Machine Co., of Pittsburgh, held its exhibit in the Klingman Building, with I. Goldsmith in charge. This concern exhibited its full line of ten standard models, consisting of cabinets, period and table talking machines. Mr. Goldsmith is an old-time furniture man who for many years prior to his entrance into the talking machine business was engaged in the furniture field. There are very few dealers visiting in Grand Rapids who are not acquainted with him. His line of instruments is in big demand at the show.

H. C. Naill, secretary and sales manager of the George A. Long Cabinet Co., of Hanover, Pa., was in charge of the Long exhibit, also in the Klingman Building. Much interest was centered about this line of three handsome and popular console models, which it has been advertising to the trade for the past two months. In a few weeks the cost of these cabinets will revert to former prices. Mr. Naill stated that the customers had a great opportunity to take advantage of these models and that this was one of the reasons why the Long exhibit was so crowded.

J. G. Griswold and M. A. Guest were on deck, as usual, at the beautiful Widdicomb display held at the Widdicomb factory. For many years the Widdicomb Co. has been a leader in the construction of aristocratic furniture. Dealers who visited this exhibit soon found that the Widdicomb console talking machines in period styles are faithful interpretations of the best designs of the old masters in the art of wood fashioning. The artistry of cabinet designs and finish was shown at its best and the handiwork of this organization, which has for the past three generations enjoyed the reputation of a leader in the design of real furniture, was exploited to the highest degree.

The Bush & Lane factory at Holland, Mich., was also the scene of much activity during the show. Bush & Lane dealers from all over the country, who visited Grand Rapids, hied themselves Hollandward with their friends to make the rounds of this big plant. Walter Lane, president; F. J. Congleton, vice-president; C. L. Beach, secretary, and W. H. Beach, treasurer and general manager, with a large corps of their travelers, were on deck to welcome the visitors, who, after being shown over the plant and its workings, were entertained at the Ottawa Beach Hotel, at Ottawa Beach, a suburb of Holland. The Bush & Lane Co. showed the visitors its new line of beautiful console and period models which is being prepared for the Fall trade. This line is entirely new, every instrument in it having just been designed by President Walter Lane.

(Continued on page 34)

POPULAR ITALIAN RECORDS LATEST RELEASES

10 Inch Records $.75 Each

- 1007 Pulcinella Ad Una Festa Da Ballo. Scena Comica. Un Balbuziente in Tribunale. Scena Comica.
- 0991x L'Altalena. Song.....Cav. G. Godono
E L'Ammore. Song.....Cav. G. Godono
- 1000 'O Guarracino. Part 1. Song, P. Mazzone
'O Guarracino. Part 2. Song, P. Mazzone
- 0957x Luntano 'A Te, Mari'. Song, Cav. G. Godono
L'Acquaiola. Song.....Cav. D. Giannini
- 0997x Serenatona. Song.....R. Ciaramella
Vipera. Song.....Jole Baroui
- 0955x Tie-Ti-Tie-Ta. Song.....R. Ciaramella
Pierrotta. Song.....R. Ciaramella
- 0993x Venerdi'. Song.....F. Rondinella
'E Ssignurine D' 'O Palazzo. Song, R. Ciaramella
- 0989x Mia Dolce Amica...Cav. Uff. G. Godono
Voce D'Amor.....Cav. Uff. G. Godono
- 0995x Totonno 'E Quagliarella.....Ciaramella
Niru TeLangella
- 1001x Signora Mia (Duetto),
Donnarumma-Ciaramella
'A Cura 'E Mamma' (Duetto),
Donnarumma-Ciaramella
- 1003x Canzone AmericanaDonnarumma
Donna Fifi'Ciaramella
- 1005x Mo Esce Achille. Scena Comica.
Il Cavamaachie. Scena Comica.
- 1019x Momenti Gioiosi. Orchestra.
Al Bosforo. Polka.
- 1021x Carmen (Selection). Bells.
Nozze D'Oro. March.
- 1033x Abat—Jour (Salomè),
Ciaramella-Rondinella
Ninnolo....Cav. Uff. G. Godono, Tenore

We Are Also Manufacturers & Distributors of Italian Popular Music Rolls

New Hits Released the 15th of Each Month

JUST OUT

- 190—Donna. Versi e Musica di A. Giuliani.
(Word Roll)$1.25
- 230—Tarantella A Cunailante. Versi di L. Sica. Musica di R. De Luca (Word Roll) 1.25
- 202—Dichiaramento. Versi di A. Scala. Musica di F. Buongiovanni. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 213—Fior Di Campo. Waltz, by D. Ietti... .90
- 057—L'Incantevole. Mazurka, by J. Gioè .90
- 218—Coscienza. Versi di S. Baratta. Musica di R. Falvo. (Word Roll)... 1.25
- 203—L'Epoca. Marcia Sinfonica di C. Papa 1.00
- x201—Te Chiamme Maria. Versi di L. Bovio. Musica di G. Lama. (Word Roll)$1.25
- x180—Acqua Mmoeca. Versi di R. Chiu-razzi. Musica di R. Falvo. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 051—Napule. Addio! Versi di R. Cacace. Musica di D. Ietti. (Word Roll) 1.25

ITALIAN BOOK CO.

Music Dep't

145-47 Mulberry St.

New York City

DISCOUNT TO DEALERS—ASK FOR CATALOGUES

PHONOGRAPH CASES RADIO CASES

Reinforced 3-ply Veneer

The Standard Case for Talking
Machines and Radio Sets

Let us figure on your requirements

MADE BY
PLYWOOD CORPORATION, Goldsboro, N. C.

Mills in Va., N. C. and S. C.

For straight slap-stick song-and-dance comedy "Skeeter and The June Bug," by Harry C. Browne, gets the horse hair handkerchief. This hick act is backed up by a coon classic, "Dars a Lock on de Chicken Coop Door." A-3622.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

EXHIBITORS AT GRAND RAPIDS SHOW (Continued from page 33)

True to Bush & Lane fashion, these instruments are made throughout in beautiful piano finish.

Across the street from the Pantlind Hotel, in Grand Rapids, are located the big showrooms of the Aeolian Co., wherein was displayed the Aeolian Co.'s line of graceful new Queen Anne period models. All these instruments were equipped with the famous "Graduola" tone control, which makes the Vocalion a musical instrument par excellence. Besides the line of talking machines a complete library of Vocalion Red records was shown.

Visitors to the plant of the Grand Rapids Brass Co., on Scribner avenue, were shown around by J. L. Murray, vice-president, who explained in detail the manufacture of brass hardware for talking machines. This company manufactures automatic stops, cover supports and cabinet hardware of all descriptions and designs. The visitors received a liberal education in the manufacture of these parts and soon discovered that it is no simple matter to turn them out. Many of them took advantage of this little schooling from an educational standpoint and admitted that heretofore they had confined their sales arguments to cabinet manufacture and tone production, with very little attention to the hardware. Now, however, a great many of them intend giving the prospect some insight into the production of hardware.

J. Kersten, president and general manager of the Kersten Composition Products Co., Inc., of Grand Rapids, brought out the fine points of his amplifiers before the visitors to his plant. The company manufactures the well-known Kersten composition talking machine horn and makes a specialty of building horns to order. Quite a number of very high-grade talking machines of repute now on the market use this company's product exclusively and Mr. Kersten pointed out the reason for their doing so to his listeners. Not only were composition horns shown to the visitors, but all products of this company were shown as well. These embraced manikins, dress models and so forth for the use of window decorating. The decorations are used in turn by all commercial houses in windows for displaying clothing, household things and so forth.

The Ionia street plant of the American Phonograph Co. was also very active during the show season. E. L. Meeuwesen was kept busy entertaining out-of-town buyers who were interested in talking machines. The new model put out by this concern attracted considerable attention.

One of the interesting novelties in talking machines to be shown during the show was the "Davenola," manufactured by Andy Mouw, Inc., in the Gilbert Building. The "Davenola" is an interesting combination of the davenport and talking machine. The davenport is of a regulation overstuffed style, with the arms on either side constructed so as to tip back to reveal the instrument. The talking machine itself is concealed in one arm and the other is given over to a record-filing case, which will hold fifty or more records of either ten or twelve-inch size. The talking machine part may be had with either a spring or electric motor. The amplifier is of standard size and swings down toward the bottom of the arm.

NEW VOCALION DISTRIBUTOR

Woodside Vocalion Co. Has Very Attractive Quarters in Portland, Maine

The latest addition to the growing list of Vocalion and Vocalion record distributors is the Woodside Vocalion Co., 134 High street, Portland, Me., which has for its territory the entire State of Maine and has already established a number of very promising dealers for both phonographs and Red Records. The company has very attractive and commodious quarters for the display of the Vocalion line, as is indicated by the illustration herewith, and has on hand a complete stock to provide for the prompt filling of orders.

Woodside Vocalion Co. Warerooms

RADIO AS A CURE FOR CANCER

Chicago Physician Reports Successful Experiments With Some Forms of Disease

CHICAGO, ILL., July 8.—Radio is now taking its place in the scientific treatment of human ailments, according to Dr. T. Howard Plank, of this city, who says that some forms of cancer, considered incurable for years, can be cured through this agency, and naming two persons who were so healed.

In describing the method in which the radio is used as an aid to a cure before the National Society of Physical Therapeutics at the national convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy Dr. Plank said: "The electric scalpel is run by radio. The machine uses the same current that is used in sending radio messages. There is no actual contact between the diseased tissues and the knife, because as soon as the instrument approaches the infected part the tissues wither up and disappear. In four or five days the patient is out of bed and in ten days he is on the street again."

Criticism is a bad thing unless it is constructive.

VELVET COVERED TURNTABLES

ADD TO THE QUALITY OF MACHINES

A.W.B.

Boulevard
VELVETS

THE BEST TALKING MACHINES ARE EQUIPPED WITH

A. W. B. BOULEVARD VELVETS

GRAND PRIZE—GOLD MEDAL, ST. LOUIS EXHIBITION

WRITE FOR SAMPLES AND PRICES

A. WIMPFHEIMER & BRO., Inc.
450-460 Fourth Avenue, New York

ESTABLISHED 1845

RICHARD STRAUSS
Dean of European Composers

ELLY NEY
International Pianist

FLORENCE EASTON
Prima Donna Soprano
Metropolitan Opera Company

BRUNSWICK (Double-faced) Gold Label Records

Win Nation-Wide Popularity with Dealers and Public

The record-buying public is fast learning two things of vast importance to Brunswick dealers:

First; that Brunswick Artists are supreme in their fields and that whenever they desire the world's best music rendered with the greatest beauty and fidelity, the Brunswick is the record to buy.

Second; that in purchasing a Brunswick Gold Label (double-faced) Record they are getting something that will forever prove a valuable possession in the home, a living inspiration at all times.

Strauss, Chamlee, Easton, Rosen, Dux, Godowsky, Danise, Pavloska, are only a few of the internationally famous Brunswick artists who are now recording on double-faced records—giving record buyers twice the value for just a little more.

THE BRUNSWICK-BALKE-COLLENDER CO.

Manufacturers—Established 1845
CHICAGO—NEW YORK—CINCINNATI
New England Distributors: Kraft, Bates & Spencer, Inc.
1265 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass.
Canadian Distributors: Musical Merchandise Sales Co.
79 Wellington Street West, Toronto, Ont.

Brunswick
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

Other noted Operatic and Concert artists of the day recording exclusively for Brunswick are:

Richard Bonelli	Theo Karle	Marie Tiffany
Elias Breeskin	Elizabeth Lennox	Irene Williams
Max Rosen	Virginia Rea	Willem Willeke

BRONISLAW HUBERMAN
Sensational Violinist of the Day

IRENE PAVLOSKA
Soprano
Chicago Opera Association

GIUSEPPE DANISE
Premier Baritone
Metropolitan Opera Company

CLAIRE DUX
Soprano
Chicago Opera Association

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
Master Pianist

MARIO CHAMLEE
Tenor
Metropolitan Opera Company

DISCOVERED!

A Brand New Method of Learning

The Radio Code Quickly—

Mr. J. C. H. Macbeth, author of this new method, was able to train thousands and thousands of men in the British Signal Forces, in one-tenth the usual time required to learn the Radio Code. This phenomenal short cut to code study and a code practice record has been recorded exclusively on

Okeh Records

The Records of Quality

By JACK BINNS, the famous wireless man and Radio Editor of the New York Tribune.

The American Code Company has published this system in book form, to retail for 50c per copy. The records mention the book and the book advertises these Records. Okeh Dealers can sell both records and books.

Hundreds of thousands of Radio Fans are eagerly looking for a quick and easy way to learn the Radio Code. Okeh dealers will have this field to themselves! Write to the nearest Okeh Distributor today for full details on this proposition. The records will soon be released.

COMPLETE LIST OF OKEH DISTRIBUTORS

CALIFORNIA—San Francisco,
KOHLER & CHASE, 26 O'Farrell St.

COLORADO—Denver,
MOORE-BIRD Co., 1751 California St.

GEORGIA—Atlanta,
J. K. POLK FURNITURE Co.,
294 Decatur St.

ILLINOIS—Chicago,
CONSOLIDATED TALKING MACHINE Co.,
227 W. Washington St.

W. W. KIMBALL COMPANY,
Wabash Ave. & Jackson Blvd.

INDIANA—Indianapolis,
KIEFER-STEWART Co.,
Capitol Ave. & Georgia St.

LOUISIANA—New Orleans,
JUNIUS HART PIANO HOUSE,
703 Canal St.

MARYLAND—Baltimore,
A. J. HEATH & Co.,
321 Park Avenue.

MASSACHUSETTS—Boston,
THE BAY STATE MUSIC CORP.,
142 Berkeley St.

MICHIGAN—Detroit,
CONSOLIDATED TALKING MACHINE Co.,
2957 Gratiot Ave.

MINNESOTA—Minneapolis,
DOERR-ANDREWS & DOERR
MISSOURI—St. Louis,
THE ARTOPHONE CORP., 1103 Olive St.

NEBRASKA—Omaha,
LEE-COIT-ANDRESEN HARDWARE Co.,

NEW YORK—Buffalo,
IROQUOIS SALES CORP., 210 Franklin St.

New York City,
BRISTOL & BARBER Co., INC.,
3 East 14th St.
NEW YORK DISTRIBUTING DIV.,
15 W. 18th St.

NORTH CAROLINA—Goldsboro,
INDEPENDENT JOBBING Co.,

OHIO—Celina,
HARPONOLA COMPANY

Cleveland,
THE RECORD SALES COMPANY,
1965 E. 66th St.

Cincinnati,
STERLING ROLL & RECORD Co.,
137 W. Fourth St.

PENNSYLVANIA—Philadelphia,
A. J. HEATH & Co.,
27-29 So. Seventh St.
SONORA COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA,
1214 Arch St.

Pittsburgh,
THE RECORD SALES COMPANY,
806 Penn Ave.

Williamsport,
RISHELL PHONOGRAPH Co.

TEXAS—Dallas,
SONORA DISTRIBUTING Co. OF DALLAS
Houston,

HOUSTON DRUG COMPANY.

WISCONSIN—Milwaukee,
YHR & LANGE DRUG Co.,
207 E. Water St.

General Phonograph Corporation

OTTO HEINEMAN, PRESIDENT

25 West 45th Street, New York City

GOLF TOURNAMENT OF JOBBERS

Interesting Annual Contest Followed Jobbers' Convention—C. Alfred Wagner Proves Champion for Year, With Low Gross Score of 87—C. A. Grinnell Wins The World Cup

Immediately following the annual convention of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers at the Hotel Ambassador, Atlantic City, N. J., the golfers of the Association adjourned to the Seaview Golf Club, at Absecon, for the purpose of participating in the annual golf tournament of the Association, which proved a distinctly interesting contest.

C. Alfred Wagner, of the Musical Instrument Sales Co., proved the tournament champion by winning the prize for the low gross score, this being the R. S. Steinert trophy, with a score of 87.

C. Alfred Wagner Is Champion

C. A. Grinnell, of Grinnell Bros., Detroit, captured The Talking Machine World trophy with the second low gross score of 89, while French Nestor, who made such a good showing in last year's tournament, captured the Walter Staats ringer trophy with a low net score of 77.

All the other prizes, and they were numerous, were awarded for net scores. L. W. Collings captured the Eldridge R. Johnson trophy, with a low net of 79; C. G. Campbell, the J. N. Blackman trophy with 84; J. S. MacDonald, the A. A. Grinnell trophy with 84; R. S. Steinert, the George A. Dodge trophy with 85; A. A. Grinnell, the J. C. Roush trophy with 86; G. T. Williams, the Louis Buehn trophy with 87; W. H. Russell, the George E. Mickel trophy with 87; Norman Curtice, the L. W. Collings trophy with 88; Lloyd L. Spencer, the Knickerbocker Co. trophy with 89; A. A. Trostler, the T. H. Towell trophy with 89; W. F. Davisson, the A. A. Trostler prize with 90; F. P. Oliver, G. P. Ellis, E. J. Dingley and A. D. Geissler, with low net scores of 91, each were awarded a dozen golf balls presented by the Schmelzer Co.

WILL DO GENERAL RECORDING

Bell Recording Corp. Announces Plans—C. R. Johnstone General Manager—Associated With National Metals Depositing Corp.

The Bell Recording Corp. was recently incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, for the purpose of making records for individuals and the trade in general. The recording is under the personal supervision of C. R. Johnstone, who has been identified with the recording industry for thirty years and who was formerly associated with the Aeolian Co.

The Bell Recording Corp., whose offices are located at 9 East Forty-seventh street, New York, is associated with the National Metals Depositing Corp., Mt. Vernon, N. Y., which for the past year has been an active figure in the production of masters, mothers and stampers. The executive personnel of the two companies is similar, Louis G. Young being president of both companies, with Milton G. Lumsden secretary and treasurer of the two concerns.

MUSIC HELPS GOLF STROKE

President of California Golf Association Demonstrates Value of Music in Golf

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., June 26.—Rhythm enters in a large degree into successful golf playing and one may accomplish much toward mastery of the game through practicing strokes to talking machine music, Everett H. Seaver, president of the California State Golf Association, and former amateur champion of the Western States, told 450 delegates of a Cleveland firm in convention here. Mr. Seaver demonstrated his contention by driving imaginary golf balls from an improvised tee on a hotel rug, at the same time indicating how his movements corresponded with the tempo of waltz music played by a pianist.

MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

The American Phonograph Exchange, jobber of phonographs, records and accessories, moved recently from 339 Central avenue to 366 Wilson avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., where the company has increased facilities for supplying dealers.

NYOIL
FOR YOUR PHONOGRAPH

IN THE HANDY CAN

Made in Our Watch Oil DEPARTMENT

which for half a century has made 80% of all the watch, clock and chronometer oil used in America.

The Best Oil For Any Talking Machine

In refining, Nyoil is given the same care as our famous watch oil receives. All gums and impurities are removed, leaving it

Colorless, Odorless and Stainless.

Housekeepers say they would not be without Nyoil because it is best for phonographs and sewing machines—for polishing furniture and woodwork and is odorless and will not stain. It is free from acid and will not gum, or become rancid. Sportsmen find it best for guns because it prevents rust.

Nyoil is put up in 1-oz., 3-oz. and 8-oz. Bottles and in Quart and Gallon Cans.
For Sale by all Talking Machine Supplies Dealers

WILLIAM F. NYE, New Bedford, Mass., U.S.A.

M. PHILIPS IN NEW LOCATION

Grafonola Shop Now in Heart of Business District—Van Veen Installation

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—The Grafonola shop of M. Philips has been moved into attractive new quarters at 1128 Seventh street, N. W., the heart of the business section of this city. Before moving into the new location the entire store was remodeled and tastefully decorated. The forward portion of the store is taken up with the service counters, accessory display cases and a large record rack. On both sides of the rear of the establishment are located sound-proof record demonstration booths, and the center of the floor contains the display of Grafonola models. The fixtures were installed by Van Veen Co., Inc.

M. Philips Grafonola Shop

MUTUAL
TONE ARMS & SOUND BOXES

There are three things that go to make up satisfaction:

1. QUALITY
2. SERVICE
3. PRICE

And we can satisfy you in each particular. A test will convince you that Mutual Tone Arms and Sound Boxes are the Best on the market. We give prompt and efficient service. Prices from $2.15 up.

No. 3 TONE ARM
No. 5 REPRODUCER

Mutual Phono Parts Manufacturing Corp., 149-151 Lafayette Street New York City

The Russell Gear & Machine Co., Ltd., 1209 King St., West, TORONTO, CAN., Exclusive Distributors for Canada and All Other British Possessions

SIMPLEX

Electric Phonograph Motors

The SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor Represents a New Phase in the Development of Sound Reproducing Instruments.

NOISELESS

ELIMINATES WINDING

TROUBLEPROOF

Make This Your LEADING
Line for the Coming Season

Sample
Price $19.50

GUARANTEE
The SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor is guaranteed Trouble-proof throughout and any parts or part thereof that should prove defective at any time, we will repair or replace same by a new motor, free of charge.

Particulars,
Quantity Prices, etc.,
on Application.

TRADE

MARK

The Mission of the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor is to reproduce music just as it was originally rendered. For its perfect and faithful reproductions of all disc records the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor will play any record you wish to hear and play it as it should be played.

It has an absolute constant speed under variations of voltages and frequency and records may be set at any speed desired—and it is built absolutely without a governor.

BETTER BUILT

BETTER DESIGNED

The SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor has no competition because it is the only electric phonograph motor of its kind in the world. There are many features by which one can determine the efficiency of the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor. The essential features are:

- | | | | |
|----------------|----------------|------------|--------------|
| No Gears | No Commutator | No Springs | No Oiling |
| No Governor | No Brushes | No Winding | Noiseless |
| No Adjustments | No Transformer | No Belts | Troubleproof |

Record Stops Automatically on Last Note

It represents the very best of inventions and improvements and we therefore confidently say that the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor is combined with the highest precision of workmanship and select material.

TEST A SIMPLEX ELECTRIC MOTOR ON OUR 30-DAY TRIAL OFFER

When a Simplex Electric Motor is sent out, it is not sold until the motor has demonstrated in your own shop, in your own cabinet, during a 30-day test, that it will do all we claim. An extremely fair proposition in which the Simplex Motor is judged by its performance in your cabinet under your inspection. No strings to this offer. Your decision is final.

Manufactured in United States and Canada by the

Simplex Electric Phonograph Motor Co.

104 NEW WILDER BUILDING, 321 BLEURY ST., MONTREAL, CAN.

PHONOGRAPHIC EPIGRAMMATICS

By

HAYWARD CLEVELAND

Mourn not the "Nothing down—Nothing a month" competitive sale you have lost. That is the other fellow's funeral now and it may be his funeral in more senses than one before he has done with that sort of business.

When writing a letter soliciting business do not turn the page. Let the other party see the end from the beginning. He will then take time to read.

Dr. Alexander McL. Hamilton, the great alienist and grandson of Alexander Hamilton, once said: "We are none of us at all times sane." Should not this make us more charitable toward the eccentricities of others?

The window—let it not be said that "Now we see through a glass darkly," but display "With such a luster he that runs may read." Observe, appreciate and enter.

When despondent ask yourself this question: Would I exchange places with another without knowledge of his past and a look into his future? Then cheer up!

CIRCULAR BOOSTS PORTABLE SALES

G. W. Haltom, Fort Worth Victor Dealer, Boosts Record Business by Monthly Letters Calling Attention to Special Records

FORT WORTH, TEX., July 6.—G. W. Haltom, jewelry and talking machine dealer at Seventh and Houston streets, is taking advantage of the vacation season to boost the sale of portable Victrola models in a result-getting manner. The plan consists of an attractively prepared circular with illustrations of the various types of portable models. The text is in tune with the vacation spirit. The circular has brought good returns.

Each month also a circular letter is sent to customers calling attention to four or five special records. These letters are sent out just before the new record releases are received and have resulted in a considerable stimulation of business during the period of each month when record buying is inclined to lag.

RECORD MUSIC CURES STAMMERING

Well-known Professor Cures Impediments in Speech With Aid of Special Records

Talking machine record music has been used for many strange purposes, not the least of which is its aid in the curing of diseases and as an aid to physicians. One of the latest uses to which record music has been put, however, is as a cure for stammering.

Professor O. H. Ennis, who has gained national fame for his work in the curing of this form of disease, is responsible for this latest use of the talking machine and the music which it reproduces. He has recorded three double-disc records which contain a complete course of instruction for the correction of stammering. A number of children and adults who have been handicapped through stuttering have already been cured.

TALKING MACHINE SHOP OPENS

HAGERSTOWN, MD., July 5—The Talking Machine Shop, an exclusive Victor establishment, was recently opened in the Young-Stickell Building, South Potomac street, this city. The Victor line is displayed to advantage in the spacious and attractive quarters, which have been entirely remodeled to meet the demands of the business.

THE WIDE APPEAL BUILDS BUSINESS

An Enterprise Can Grow Only in Proportion to the Growth of the Number of Customers and These Can Be Materially Increased by Reaching a Greater Number of People

In every mercantile enterprise growth depends entirely upon the number of customers who patronize the establishment. This is one of the fundamental principles of business building. Naturally, then, the rapidity with which the business grows depends upon the speed with which the customers are secured and the success of the efforts of the dealer in holding them once they are secured.

There are many ways in which customers can be induced to enter the store, one of the most important of which is through the advertising, and right here is where many dealers make a serious error. They make up their minds that they want to cater to some one particular class of people and all advertising is prepared with this particular object in view.

The population of the average city or town consists of the wealthy people, middle class and poor. Included in the wealthy and middle classes are people of various nationalities, and this fact offers the talking machine dealer a further opportunity of enlarging his clientele by well-directed advertising pushing his foreign records. The first two classes of people mentioned are the ones which the dealer should cater to if he is to attain a maximum degree of success. The very poor people offer little opportunity for profitable selling and at any rate the time spent in this direction could be put to better and more profitable use by devoting it to sales promotion work with the others. A sales campaign planned with these facts in mind which has for its basis intensive selling is bound to produce results.

VOCALION RECORD CUT-OUT PLAN

Aeolian Co. Announces Cut-out Plan Effective on July 1 and Applying to Popular Records—Will Affect Over 10 Per Cent of Catalog

In effect on July 1, and continuing until August 15, the Aeolian Co. has announced a special cut-out plan for Vocalion Red records which will affect over 10 per cent of the popular records in the catalog and which is expected to reduce materially the stock in the hands of distributors. The cut-out exchange applies to the 14,000 series and the plan provides that distributors shall purchase two new records of the same series as the records returned in the cut-out list or that they shall have the option of purchasing three records from any series other than the 14,000 for two records returned in the cut-out list.

Only records that are in perfect and salable condition can be returned. All records are returned at the distributor's risk, with transportation charges prepaid, and no records will be received under the cut-out arrangement after August 15.

It is believed that the cut-out arrangement will prove of distinct advantage to the distributors by enabling them to get their stocks of live records in first-class shape before the coming of the Fall season.

Cash in on the Wireless Demand

Our specially equipped Cabinets, with horn and all apparatus out of the way, sell themselves. Also in stock as complete Phonographs or Cabinets for assemblers. Write for Prices

Seaburg Mfg. Co.
Jamestown, N. Y.

No. 250T, List Price $195.00
Usual discounts to dealers
48"x28"x31" high. Finished all around
Genuine Mahogany, Walnut or Oak

The Biggest Value on the Market. A Trial Order Will Convince

Never such REALISTIC
Volume of Sound from a Phonograph before!

To play a band or dance record for a customer with a volume of sound equal to that made by the original musicians, and yet retain with that volume all the sweetness and harmony of Sousa's leadership—that is what the MAGNAVOX TELE-PHONOGRAPH is doing for phonograph dealers—doing it for more of them every day.

Selling records (while important) is just a beginning of what it will do for you and your store.

It is bringing new business to hundreds of dealers.

The Magnavox Tele-Phonograph is a simple attachment to the phonograph. It is a genuine business-builder and money-earner.

Every phonograph owner is a prospect for

The MAGNAVOX TELE-PHONOGRAPH

—and we help you sell them.

On the veranda of a summer hotel—full strength dance music—as much like band or orchestra as the real thing

Write our nearest office for full information about this truly wonderful instrument.

THE MAGNAVOX COMPANY
General Offices and Factory
2701 East 14th Street, Oakland, Cal.
New York Office:
370 Seventh Avenue
Penn. Terminal Building

MAGNAVOX
Tele-phonograph

The roads in all directions are alive with motorists. Columbia road signs, imprinted with your name, along your highways will catch them coming and going. See the Columbia Dealer Service Man about a supply of these signs.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

GRANBY CORP. IN NEW YORK CITY

Takes Possession of Central Quarters at 37 West Twentieth Street, With O. P. Graffen in Charge

The Granby Phonograph Corp., of Norfolk, Va., has taken possession of its new headquarters for the New York sales offices of the company. The suite of offices located on the ninth floor of the building at 37 West Twentieth street provides excellent display rooms as well as business quarters. One room will also be devoted to storage purposes. These offices will be conducted in addition to the warehouse on Sixteenth street. It is expected that these greatly increased facilities will provide remarkably increased service for Granby dealers in the metropolitan district.

O. P. Graffen

O. P. Graffen, well known throughout the talking machine industry, is in full charge of the offices as New York sales manager. His training well qualifies him for his important duties in this respect. He has been closely connected with the talking machine industry for almost seventeen years, two of which were spent with the Victor Talking Machine Co. and fourteen years with the Columbia Graphophone Co. Mr. Graffen is not only a thoroughly experienced talking machine man, but numbers many friends throughout the trade.

PREPARED FOR LARGE FALL TRADE

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 1.—Mrs. Gloraine Hastings Miller, manager of the Watkin's Book Store, of this city, recently returned from a two months' trip to the Pacific Coast. Mrs. Miller had a very enjoyable trip and visited all points of interest. Referring to future business conditions she states that she is preparing for a very large Fall business and is entirely optimistic over the outlook for the balance of the year.

The Harklin Store, of Goshen, Ind., is planning to open a talking machine department.

MECCA BAND ON OKEH RECORDS

Four Mecca Shrine Numbers Now in Hands of Okeh Dealers — Interesting and Popular Marches Well Played by Mecca Band

The Mecca Band of the Mecca Temple of New York has recorded four of its six most popular numbers on two Okeh records, and these records are now in the hands of Okeh dealers throughout the country. One of these records, No. 4536, carries on one side the Mecca song written by Mack Stark and on the reverse side the popular march, "Turque," so long identified with Shrine ceremonial work. The other record, No. 4583, features on one side the march, "Tartare," now used by Mecca Temple for processional work, and on the other side, "Cyrus the Great," also used during the ceremonials.

These Okeh records were made by the Mecca Temple Band, under the direction of Arthur H. Hoffman, conductor, and a royalty is paid to the band for the records, the proceeds of which will be invested in bonds for the new Mosque.

GOES AFTER VICTOR PUBLICITY

HERRIN, ILL., July 5.—Fay Luyster, manager of the Victrola department of the Cline-Vick Stores, which operate a number of branches in this State, took advantage of a Country Club dance recently to demonstrate some of the latest Victor records to the dancers. The demonstration was received with enthusiasm and much good publicity resulted.

OPENING OF ALEXANDER'S SHOP

Handsomely Equipped Establishment in Long Branch Is Well Laid Out—Opening Well Attended—Floral Pieces Sent by Jobbers

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 27.—Alexander's Music Shop, Victor retailer, had its formal opening here on Saturday, June 24. The new showroom, located in the Imperial Hotel Building, is attractively and efficiently laid out and is said to be one of the show places of the city. Eight demonstration booths have been installed and another showroom is devoted to pianos and other musical instruments, as Mr. Alexander is also the local agent for J. & C. Fischer pianos. The opening was well attended; flowers were sent by C. Bruno & Son, Inc., New York City; the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., of New York; and Collings & Co., of Newark. Other attractive pieces were also sent by personal and business friends of Mr. Alexander outside of the trade.

A. Murray, of the sales staff of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., Victor distributors, spent the evening assisting Mr. Alexander, who stated that on the opening night he made over 250 sales. An appreciation of Mr. Murray's co-operation was to be found in an advertisement of the company appearing in the local papers the following week, in which this paragraph appeared: "We also wish to thank Mr. Murray, of New York, representing Bruno & Son, Victor distributors, who so kindly assisted us."

Superior Tone Quality

Bell Hood Needle

does it

Most natural tone reproductions

Try your favorite record with a Bell Hood Needle

BELL HOOD NEEDLE COMPANY
183 Church Street, New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.

JOHN V. DUGAN HONORED

Well-known New Orleans Dealer Now President of Southern Victor Dealers' Association—Well Qualified for This Very Important Post

At the recent convention of the Southern Victor Dealers' Association, held in Mobile, Ala., John V. Dugan, of the Dugan Piano Co., New Orleans, La., was elected president. Mr. Dugan's election was a matter of keen pleasure to every member of the Association, as for the past four years he has been an active factor in all of the Association activities.

John V. Dugan

As a progressive Victor retailer Mr. Dugan has left nothing undone to make his establishment in New Orleans one of the most attractive Victor stores in that city. His thorough knowledge of every phase of retail selling has enabled him to give splendid service to his clientele and he is planning to give the same kind of service to the Southern Victor Dealers' Association during the coming year.

STUDENTS MAKE GOOD CANVASSERS

A certain talking machine dealer has secured a number of live prospects and closed several machine and record sales as a result of hiring high school boys and girls as canvassers.

GERMAN PHONOGRAPHS AT ADEN

Germans Making Inroads Into Market That Is Neglected by American Manufacturers, According to Report by United States Consul

German machines have for the first time recently appeared on sale at Aden, says Consul Cross in a report to the Department of Commerce. These machines are small but attractively painted, a feature which appeals strongly to the native purchaser. They are of the hornless type, which also is an attraction, because the careless use to which the horns were subjected in many cases speedily ruined the sound box on the old machines. Other minor features such as the detachable character of the sound box when not in use also are arousing favorable comment.

The most attractive aspect of the new machines, however, is the price. The Austrian machines were sold at Rs. 65 each. The German instruments can be purchased for Rs. 23, including six small records, put up in an attractive album. The records are only four inches in diameter. The selections are exclusively instrumental and band pieces. The machines will, however, play full-sized records.

If the promise of the importers of the German instruments that records in Arabic and Hindustani will shortly be available for these instruments proves true, there will be a very strong attraction for the purchase of the instruments by the wealthier classes of the population. Such records would find a ready sale in this district, for the number of old machines in the possession of families is large.

American phonographs occasionally reached this market in the pre-war days and still have the reputation of being the best, but the market has recently been almost wholly neglected by American exporters.

The consul thinks it would be well worth while for the American manufacturers to place a small, cheap machine on the Aden market, since with the cessation of intertribal warfare in the interior the back country demand for phonographs and records should be good. The phonograph is the one musical instrument which appeals with equal force to the miscellaneous races of the Red Sea district.

The voluble salesman who drives customers from the store because he did not know when to stop talking is a poor investment. It is a well-known fact that the fellow who talks the loudest and longest often has the least to say.

Okeh Records

GRANBY PHONOGRAPHS
MASTER-TONE TALKING MACHINES OUTING PORTABLES

NEEDLES

Okeh — Truetone — Wall Kane
Tonofone — Gilt Edge

Delivery Bags, Accessories, etc.

Complete Stocks—Prompt Service

IROQUOIS SALES CORPORATION

Wholesale Distributors

210 Franklin St. BUFFALO, N. Y.

NEW VICTOR RECORD SALES MANUAL

Latest Edition of Helpful Volume Just Issued—
Has Proven of Great Practical Value

There has just been issued by the Victor Talking Machine Co. the 1922 edition of the Victor Record Sales Manual, previous editions of which have proved of tremendous value to Victor salesmen throughout the country.

The book was originally tried out in connection with the classes in salesmanship at the Victor factory and its value thus established. Since being issued to the trade at large, it has proven a distinct factor in improving the caliber of record salesmanship in many quarters.

The volume contains carefully classified lists of all records in the Victor catalog for 1922 except dances and selections in foreign numbers. The records are classified according to types of music offered, according to voices, such as bass, tenor, etc., according to various periods of the year, such as Easter and Christmas, and are otherwise classified so carefully that the record salesman has but to learn of the general desire of his customer to be able to offer a series of records all calculated to meet that particular desire.

The opening page of the book gives general instructions for utilizing the information contained therein, and there are blank spaces under each classification to be filled in by the salesman from the current supplements, thus keeping the volume up to date for reference purposes. This is but another of the many practical sales helps that have been established for the benefit of the Victor trade.

INTRODUCES THE CLAROPHONE BANJO

The Fred Gretsch Mfg. Co., manufacturer of musical instruments, has announced a new banjo named the Clarophone, which was designed to meet a popular-priced demand. The Clarophone is in three models, consisting of a tenor banjo, banjo-mandolin and a banjo-ukulele, and has an improved resonator back and sound holes. The Clarophone has been developed particularly for Summer selling, when price is more important than during the Fall and Winter, although it is expected that the new instrument will have an all-year-around demand. It is made entirely of maple, with rock maple rim and neck, and it is planned to retail this instrument at $15, allowing an adequate profit to the dealer, and it is said that the new instrument compares very favorably, indeed, with many higher-priced banjos. The tone value is notable and is a surprise to the dealers who have seen this new instrument.

Sherburne Automatic Stop

The Stop that Actually Stops

You Manufacturers who are having trouble with your automatic stop — Investigate the Sherburne Stop.

Sample sent upon request.

SHERBURNE MANUFACTURING COMPANY

948 Penobscot Building

Detroit, Mich.

Announcement

Through an alliance recently achieved, Jewett will be represented in Detroit by the

Max Strasburg Co
1264 Library Avenue

Mr. Strasburg is Michigan's pioneer phonograph merchant.

His choice of the Jewett was based on a long and searching investigation in which Jewett superiority was carefully analyzed and elaborately proved.

This alliance of Jewett and Strasburg is typical of many similar arrangements in steady process of ratification everywhere.

Far-seeing phonograph merchants desiring a medium for their salesmanship on which they can rear a growing and permanently profitable business are showing universally an increasing preference for the Jewett line.

JEWETT PHONOGRAPH CO.
DETROIT, MICH.

JEWETT
PHONOGRAPHS

Style No. 5
$125

Style No. 9
$185

Style No. 7
$175

Only lead feet can resist the wheedling, tricky accordion playing of Guido Deiro. Here is a pair of fox-trots that will make the heaviest feet get happy. "You Won't Be Sorry" and "Mona-Lu." You'll say he can play. A-3620.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

COLUMBUS

Business Volume Increasing Steadily — Greenfield Piano Co. to Move—Month's News

COLUMBUS, O., July 3.—According to F. L. Fritchey, special representative of the Perry B. Whitsit Co., Victor wholesaler, the talking machine business is slowly increasing in volume, particularly in the rural districts. "In traveling through the various parts of Ohio," said Mr. Fritchey, "I find that some dealers make a large portion of their sales by developing new prospects and selling machines through sound salesmanship talk to old prospects."

The Greenfield Piano Co., Victor dealer, of Greenfield, O., will shortly move to a new location in the Public Square, which is considered the best location in that city. Not only will all the fixtures be changed and improved, but the floor space will be doubled. This additional room will enable the firm to install more sound-proof booths than it formerly had and offer more conveniences to its patronage in other ways. Oscar Heidingsfeld and D. R. Cowman are the owners of this concern.

The Spence Music Store, Zanesville, O., reports a remarkable sale of records during the school year. So far advanced is the music appreciation course in that city that during the last year there were enough Victrolas in the public schools to permit one Victrola to each floor and both the Board of Education and the students have been instrumental in building up a large record library.

Through the co-operation of the Home Furniture Co., Athens, O., with the Ohio University, located in the same city, the Victor Co.'s literature has been introduced in that university and the books entitled "What We Hear in Music" and "Music Appreciation for Little Children" are used in the music department. Both Victrolas and Victor records are also used for demonstration purposes and concerts in the music department of this institution.

Miss Edna Gray, of the Wainwright Music Store, Marietta, O., has been in California since the early part of March. Returning from the West, Miss Gray will visit many places of interest, including Yellowstone National Park.

"Business has picked up splendidly in the last week," said E. M. Levy, of Heaton's Music Store, 168 North High street. "Victor machine business is particularly good. Our record business has also improved considerably." At the present time carpenters have about completed enlarging the display windows of this firm.

F. J. Connor, manager of the Victrola department of the Z. L. White Co., 106 North High street, gives an encouraging report on the increase of business during this month in comparison to last month.

W. F. Davisson, vice-president and general manager of the Perry B. Whitsit Co., returned last month from the convention of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers at Atlantic City very enthusiastic regarding the success of the meeting. Mr. Davisson was elected secretary of this important Association.

NEW PLAN TO SELL RECORDS

Illustrated Chart Prepared for Popular Odeon Record—Chart Illustrating Song Is Sold Together With Record—A Novel Proposition

The foreign record division of the General Phonograph Corp., New York, has just worked out a new plan to sell records by illustrating the song with pictures that are sold together with the record. The first selection to be introduced in this way is the famous German song, "The Schnitzelbank," and the General Phonograph Corp. has prepared a chart of distinctive and humorous drawings illustrating the various paragraphs in the song. This chart is sold together with the record and dealers who have visited the company's headquarters in the past few weeks are enthusiastic regarding the sales value of this new plan.

IST DAS NICHT 'NE Schnitzelbank?—

Odeon Record Song Chart

The Odeon record of "The Schnitzelbank" is made up in two parts and is sung by the well-known German comedian, Paul Bendix. The first part begins with a few humorous verses, with orchestra accompaniment, and is followed by Mr. Bendix in a comical monologue explaining just how "The Schnitzelbank" was conceived. The second part features twelve entirely new subjects in the usual way, and is also sung with orchestra accompaniment. The chart that has been prepared to accompany the record shows twenty-four illustrations, twelve of which are mentioned in the record. The additional twelve are supposed to be sung by the purchasers of the record and their friends, giving a community spirit to the rendition of the song.

"If the mountain will not go to Mohammed, Mohammed must go to the mountain," quoted a prominent dealer in an interview recently in explaining the reasons for his success. "The answer to the whole question is sustained effort," said this merchant.

HENRY BURR

ALBERT CAMPBELL

JOHN MEYERS

EIGHT FAMOUS VICTOR ARTISTS

In Concert and Entertainment
Personal Appearance of

Eight Popular Victor Favorites on One Program

A live attraction for live dealers and jobbers

Bookings now for season 1922-1923
Sample program and particulars upon request

P. W. SIMON, Manager
1658 Broadway New York City

FRANK CROXTON

MONROE SILVER

BILLY MURRAY

FRED VAN EPS

FRANK BANTA

Famous Ensembles including
Campbell & Burr - Sterling Trio - Peerless Quartet

OGDEN SAYS IT'S TIME TO GET BUSY

Prominent Cabinet Man Sends Out Forceful Letter Telling of Improved Conditions and Urging Dealers to Increase Their Activities

A betterment in general business conditions is reported from various sections of the country. Rush business in other industries that were formerly very quiet is a strong indication of the good business that can be safely expected during the Fall and Winter season in the talking machine industry. In many lines experienced workmen are at a premium and generally increased employment throughout the country is bound to enlarge the buying power as it affects our industry.

J. B. Ogden, president of the Ogden Sectional Cabinet Co., Lynchburg, Va., has pointed out, for the benefit of the talking machine dealer, many of these optimistic signs and has also incorporated in a letter addressed to the trade some excellent suggestions and how to take advantage of these opportunities. The letter states in part:

"A runaway market on lumber for building purposes is a result of an unprecedented home-building boom. Building and hardware manufacturers are 'sold up' for Fall delivery. More auto-camp equipment was sold in April and May than in the past two years. The main highways are getting full to the point of a procession. Many are out for cross-country trips and more automobiles were sold in May than in the four months previous. This looks as though the hard times were behind us; anyway, people are spending money.

"This should benefit every dealer—if he is willing to work.

"Get a list of new homes now. Find out who is going or gone camping and by mail and personal calls suggest the outfit best suited to each condition. Drop an invitation in the cars that stop over in garages at night (if you can't meet them personally). You will be surprised how many will welcome a little music and then note how easy it is to sell a portable that will fit in a small nook.

"But before they come 'stack the deck' and 'deal out' some good old familiar hymns or songs your mother sang, also instrumentals that put the tickle in the feet and bores under the skin. Then if you can't get business we suggest a change—for instance, the undertaker. He sits and waits till they die and someone has to spend money, but without getting the pleasure received by exchanging cash for musical joy."

PAGING GUESTS BY RADIOPHONE

Boston Hotel Adopts This Plan and Eliminates Noisy Boy Pages

BOSTON, MASS., July 1.—This city now boasts paging by radio in one of its first-class hotels. The plan is operating most successfully at the Hotel Essex, near the South station. There is no longer a "flock" of noisy boys running through the main dining-room shouting names of various guests wanted at the telephone desk. Instead, the soft but distinct voice of the telephone operator is sent out to various parts of the hotel through devices from the telephone switchboard.

"Mr. Brown is wanted on the telephone—Mr. Brown on the telephone," calls the operator into a transmitter beside her switchboard, and out in the hotel her tones are carried by amplifying apparatus.

HAHNE & CO. OPEN BRANCH STORES

Extend Business by Opening Stores in Butler and Boonton—Display Talking Machines

NEWARK, N. J., July 5.—The music department of Hahne & Co., this city, has opened two branch stores in Boonton and Butler in an effort to extend its activities. In addition to the pianos handled here the Victor, Sonora and Widdicomb talking machines are on display. Frank McClusky, of the sales staff of the local store, is in charge of the Boonton branch and Jack Henderson, of the local store, manages the Butler store.

McCORMACK'S VOICE UNIMPAIRED

Famous Tenor Sings at Birthday Party at Summer Home Outside of London—Entertains American Friends Who Enthuse Over Him

According to a dispatch from London to the New York Herald, John McCormack's voice has not lost any of its richness through his illness. The popular tenor and Victor artist demonstrated that to a select gathering of friends, including many American singers, who assembled at his country home outside of London recently to celebrate his thirty-eighth birthday. A day or two before his birthday Mr. McCormack drove into London, made a tour of the leading hotels, picking up all the friends he could find, and sent them in motors to his place. Among the notables present were: Clarence Whitehill, Barbara Maurel, Mischa Elman, Vladimir de Pachmann, Fred Powell, Charles Wagner, his manager; Madge Titheridge and Mary Anderson de Navarro. The tenor, looking almost his old-self, but slightly thinner and paler, presided at an informal dinner, which was made delightful by his high spirits as well as charming personality. His friends naturally were very anxious about his voice. He kept assuring them that it was as good as ever, and when they appeared still unconvinced he sang for them. In "Asthore" and a cradle song, both of which are familiar to record lovers, he convinced his friends that his voice was as charming and pleasing as ever. Mr. McCormack's voice continues to be exceedingly popular in English homes, and the increased sales of his records since his illness has almost equaled the rush for Caruso's since his death.

THALLMEYER ON LONG TRIP

A. Thallmeyer, manager of the foreign record department of the General Phonograph Corp., New York, left Wednesday, June 28, for a two months' trip. According to his present plans, Mr. Thallmeyer will visit Okeh jobbers and dealers throughout the Central West, co-operating with their sales organizations in the introduction of plans that will develop the demand for foreign language records.

Built by Engineers with the highest Engineering Skill.

DESIGNED to stand the shocks of hard usage.

BUILT to run smoothly and noiselessly under varying conditions.

OPERATED with uniformity, and constant in speed.

Write for prices

Sphinx Gramophone Motors Inc.

21 East 40th St.
NEW YORK CITY

DON'T SHOW
THIS GAME
IN YOUR WINDOW

—until you first prepare for enormous, immediate sales. You won't be able to supply the public demand for these Phon-O-Games the first four weeks you have them in your store. Phon-O-Game actually sells itself on sight and every sale brings at least three more. Profits to you are 50% to 100% (see price list above). Put the Phon-O-Game on the phonograph and watch the crowds collect. What's more, watch your cash register get into action.

The Phonogame

Prices To You:
	Per Doz.	Profits
1 doz.	$8.00	50%
2 doz.	7.50	60%
6 doz.	7.00	71½%
12 doz.	6.00	100%

Retails Easily
for $1.00

Sure Sales and Rapid Turnover Assured by Our Advance Sales Test

Before offering you the Phon-O-Game as a business booster we thoroughly tested its selling value and thus proved in advance that there is a tremendous natural demand for this game. One dealer in each of seven towns was selected for the test. IN THREE DAYS SALES RAN UP TO 92 DOZEN PHON-O-GAMES, SHOWING AN AVERAGE DAILY PROFIT OF $19.92 per dealer!

Description of the Phon-O-Game

Consists of (1) a 12-inch disc resembling a record; (2) a chart of "key" numbers on heavy Kraft paper, size 24 x 30 inches; (3) a brass pointer; (4) official rules. Attractively packaged, with full color illustration on the front. Disc contains 36 red and black numbers and 2 "zeros." To play, spin the disc on phonograph, like any record; apply brake; pointer indicates winning number. Five hundred points win game. Can also be played in other interesting variations as shown in rules. Green section on disc also makes this a PUT AND TAKE game. Two games in one. For home, clubs, parties, entertainments, camps, or wherever men meet for a sociable time. A fun-maker for your customers, a money-maker for you.

Mail in your order at ONCE or write for FREE sample

Dealers sending orders for 2 to 6 dozen will be given the privilege of earning the lower price on larger quantities if the second order is placed within 10 days after the first order.

The Phon-O-Game Company

128 Fulton Street

Elizabeth, N. J.

Big news! Eddie Cantor has signed up to record exclusively for Columbia. On the August list you'll find his first—two typical Cantor songs. "I Love Her—She Loves Me" and "I'm Hungry for Beautiful Girls" from "Make It Snappy." Both are on the one record. A-3624.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

STRIKING SUMMER DISPLAY WINDOW

Camping Scene Featuring Portable Victrola Planned by C. Bruno & Son, Inc., a Sales Producer—Popular With Dealers

The window display of the camping scene featuring the portable Victrola, which was shown in the window of William Waldman, Victor retailer, located at Forty-third street and Ninth avenue, New York City, was such a decided success that three duplicates were made of it by C. Bruno & Son, Inc., Victor distributors, New

Bruno Window Much in Favor

York City. The original display in Waldman's window was planned by C. Bruno & Son, Inc., and successfully executed by E. G. Evans, of that organization. It has proved an actual sales producer. Mr. Waldman reports that he has traced four sales directly to it, one amounting to $90.

The display is not a cardboard cut-out, but all real. The window consists of an outing-clad figure, with pipe in hand and sitting on a tree stump, listening to the Victrola located on an adjacent stump. A regulation "pup" tent, log camp fire, camp cooking and dining equipment, canoe paddle, fishing tackle and grass mat are among the other material used, together with a big drop-curtain of a lake scene. Through the means of blue and green electric bulbs many artistic lighting effects can be obtained, such as twilight, daylight and night effects. The display is adaptable to any window of a minimum five-foot depth and six-foot width.

C. Bruno & Son, Inc., have placed these four displays at the disposal of their Victor retailers and are putting them out on a small rental basis for a period of two weeks to each dealer.

The demand for the displays has been so heavy that it has already become a problem to arrange the bookings, as all four are booked solid for some weeks ahead. The display has proved an undoubted success in stimulating interest in portable models.

COTTON FLOCKS

.. FOR ..

Record Manufacturing

THE PECKHAM MFG. CO., 238 South Street, NEWARK, N. J.

HARRY GENNETT HEADS STARR CO.

Former Vice-President Elected to Succeed the Late Henry Gennett

RICHMOND, IND., July 5.—The Starr Piano Co., of this city, has announced the election of Harry Gennett, formerly vice-president of the company, to the position of president to fill the vacancy occasioned by the recent death of Henry Gennett. Harry Gennett has already assumed his new duties, with which he is quite familiar.

The Secretary of State has authorized the increase of the capital stock of the Starr Piano Co. from $200,000 to $2,500,000. Of this latter sum $1,000,000 is common stock and $1,500,000 is 7 per cent preferred stock. A stock dividend of 300 per cent has been declared payable to the common stockholders in the new common stock. The balance of the common stock and the preferred stock remain in the treasury of the company, but will be used to advance the interests of the company, particularly to further extensions of the plant at Richmond, Ind., and the Gennett Recording Laboratories in New York.

BRICK'S MUSIC HOUSE CHARTERED

Brick's Music House, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been granted a charter of incorporation in this State, with a capital of $5,000. The concern, which will deal in talking machines, was incorporated by C. and M. Brick.

MAKES ENVIABLE SALES RECORD

Columbia Dealer Sells 132 Grafonolas in Less Than Eight Weeks—Intensive Sales Drive Produces Results of Satisfactory Kind

BREWTON, ALA., July 6.—Grafonolas to the number of 132 sold in less than eight weeks is the record of the Hainje Specialty Co., of this city, as the result of a strenuous advertising campaign, which was coupled with efficient and intensive salesmanship. J. A. Hainje, president and general manager of the company, seems to be determined to place a Columbia Grafonola in every home in this section, and at the present rate he is moving will undoubtedly reach his goal. The 132 Grafonolas sold in less than eight weeks represented a carload shipment and the Hainje Co. accomplished what was considered the miraculous in disposing of these instruments in such a short while. Starting business here a few years ago Mr. Hainje has specialized in the sale of Columbia Grafonolas and records. While he deals in other lines of household specialties the Columbia line is handled exclusively in his music department, and his record business is increasing so rapidly that additional facilities will soon be required to meet the demands of a growing clientele.

The Belvidere Disc Co. was recently incorporated in New York, with a capital of $25,000, by J. Black, E. E. Efron and S. Baum.

FELT

We are prepared as never before to give prompt delivery.

Turntable Felt

The name of a special product made by the American Felt Company for the Talking Machine Trade.

It possesses features which distinguish it from Felts made by this company for other purposes.

Only our special Turntable Felt is good enough for leading Talking Machine Manufacturers, who use it exclusively.

American Felt Company

TRADE MARK

BOSTON
100 Summer St.

NEW YORK
114 East 13th St.

CHICAGO
325 So. Market St.

Reasons

Sonora

is the easiest

$50.00

The Sonora Portable is the surest cash-sale maker for the summer months ever offered to phonograph dealers. It is the easiest portable to sell because it combines in the highest degree possible the two qualities a portable should have—compactness and tone quality.

Easiest to Carry. The Sonora Portable is not only small and conveniently shaped for carrying, but weighs only 16 lbs.

Large Record Capacity. Carries 18 records in perfect safety in its own case—enough for many weeks' outing.

Finest Tone Quality. With the utmost economy of space and bulk, the Sonora Portable has been so scientifically developed that its tone quality is typical of the clarity and volume for which Sonora is famous.

Handsome in Appearance. As a traveling piece the Sonora Portable—with its cover of genuine calf-skin—excites the same admiration produced by the finest English hand-luggage.

The Highest Class Talking

Gibson-Snow Co.,

Syracuse, N. Y.

State of New York with the exception of towns on Hudson River below Poughkeepsie and excepting Greater New York.

Griffith Piano Co.,

605 Broad St., Newark, N. J.
State of New Jersey.

Hessig-Ellis Drug Co.,

Memphis, Tenn.
Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi.

Kiefer-Stewart Co.,

Indianapolis, Ind.
State of Indiana.

Lee-Coit-Andresen Hardware Co.,

Omaha, Nebr.
State of Nebraska.

M S & E,

221 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.
Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

C. L. Marshall Co., Inc.,

514 Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.
Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky.

The Magnavox Co.,

616 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.
Washington, California, Oregon, Arizona, Nevada, northern Idaho, Hawaiian Islands.

Southern Drug Company,

Houston, Texas.
Southeastern part of Texas.

Southern Sonora Company,

310-314 Marietta St., Atlanta, Ga.
Alabama, Georgia, Florida and North and South Carolina.

The Fox-Vliet Drug Company,

Wichita, Kans.
Southern part of Kansas, Oklahoma (except 5 N.E. counties) and Texas Panhandle.

Doerr-Andrews-Doerr,

Minneapolis, Minn.
States of Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota.

Why the

Portable

portable to sell

Most Compact. Its dimensions, 14½ in. x 14½ in. x 9 in., make it possible to tuck the Sonora Portable away in almost any space, in the canoe, motor, motor-boat or tent.

Best Materials Throughout. In addition to the calf-skin cover, the Sonora Portable is provided with stout spring-locks, strong leather handle, and nickel-plated trimmings.

A Full-fledged Phonograph. The Sonora Portable is equipped with a substantial motor of double-spring type, large amplifying chamber, regulation tone arm, and plays all makes of disc records, including diamond point and sapphire ball records.

Guaranteed. Like all Sonora phonographs, the Sonora Portable is covered by a guarantee expressing the full confidence of the manufacturer.

Sell this wonderful money-maker this summer. Write the jobber in your territory for particulars. (See list below.)

$50.00

Machine in the World

C. D. Smith Drug Co.,

613 Arcade Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
St. Joseph, Mo.

Missouri, northern and eastern part of Kansas and 5 counties of N.E.
Oklahoma.

Moore-Bird & Co.,

1751 California St., Denver, Colo.

States of Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming east of Rock Springs.

Strevell-Paterson Hardware Co.,

Salt Lake City, Utah.

Utah, western Wyoming and southern Idaho.

C. J. Van Houten & Zoon,

720 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Illinois and Iowa.

Yahr & Lange Drug Co.,

Milwaukee, Wis.

Wisconsin, Upper Michigan.

Sonora Co. of Phila., Inc.,

1214 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Virginia.

Sonora Dist. Co. of Pittsburgh,

505 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Long Island Phonograph Co.,

150 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

All of Brooklyn and Long Island.

Greater City Phonograph Co., Inc.

311 Sixth Avenue, New York.

Counties of Westchester, Putnam and Dutchess; all Hudson River towns and cities on the west bank of the river, south of Highland; all territory south of Poughkeepsie, including Greater New York, with the exception of Brooklyn and Long Island.

PONSELLE AT TEXAS RADIO STATION

Famous Columbia Artist Broadcasts at Kelley Field—San Antonio Concert a Signal Success

Upon her recent visit to San Antonio, Tex., Miss Rosa Ponselle, famous operatic soprano and exclusive Columbia artist, was prevailed upon to have her voice broadcasted at Kelley Field, where the United States Government radio station is located. The singing radius of this station is 2,000 miles and Miss Ponselle's concert was heard in Laredo, Brownsville, Eagle Pass and El Paso.

Miss Ponselle at San Antonio

At the concert that she gave in San Antonio Miss Ponselle was obliged to give fourteen encores and the newspaper critics devoted considerable space to the wonderful performance given by this famous operatic soprano.

MAX LANDAY "SOME" GOLFER

Max Landay, of Landay Bros., the prominent Victor dealers of New York City, recently spent a few weeks' vacation at beautiful Otsega Lake and Cooperstown, N. Y., accompanied by his wife and family. He participated in the annual golf tournament of the American Association of Advertising and displayed quite some form in this ancient and honorable game of the Scots, which has been so wisely adopted by wide-awake Americans as a means of relaxation and physical well-being.

DIRECT FACTORY PRICE—JUST MENTION THE QUANTITY

MOTORS	CASTINGS	TURNTABLES	Stylus Bars
TONE ARMS	Grey Iron	MOTOR FRAMES	Screw Machine Parts
REPRODUCERS	and Brass for	TONE ARMS	Talking Machine Hardware
		HORNS and THROATS

Direct Quantity Importations On { JEWEL and STEEL (Bulk or Packed)
PHONOGRAPH NEEDLES
GENUINE RUBY BENGAL MICA

D. R. DOCTOROW

Vanderbilt Ave. Bldg.
57 East 42nd Street, New York
Tel. Vanderbilt 5462
Murray Hill 800

C. ALFRED CLARK A REAL SAILOR

Managing Director of Gramophone Co., Ltd., Has Crossed the Ocean Seventy Times

One of the interesting personages who attended the convention of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers at Atlantic City last month was C. Alfred Clark, managing director of the Gramophone Co., Ltd., London, England, who spent some weeks in conference with the Victor Co. officials. While Mr. Clark was being introduced at the convention a newspaper man saw a real opportunity of asking the conventional question: "What do you think of the United States?" "Quite well," replied Mr. Clark. "You know this is my seventieth crossing." The laugh was general. Mr. and Mrs. Clark sailed for home late in June.

MAKES PLEA FOR THE RECORD

Recently in one of the large hospitals an unfortunate soldier who had been severely wounded during the late war and who is now in a state of slow convalescence was so deeply impressed with the joy and pleasure caused by the music rendered on a Victor record that its frequent abuse, which often came under his observation, aroused his indignation and the poetical effusion herewith was the result of his rumination:

A Victor Record Speaks

No one seems to think of me,
They keep me in a rack;
Sometimes I'm thrown around the room,
Or piled up in a stack,
They only want to use me
When they want a dance or song,
And the way that I am treated
Is a shame—I say it's wrong.

Don't let a worn-out needle
Ever travel 'cross my rills,
For if it's not sharp it scratches,
And gives me nasty chills.
You'll find that I'll do better,
If you'll brush me ere I start;
And if you do not speed me
I'll sing and dance my part.

ANNOUNCES NEW STARR CONSOLE

Style 19 Added to Starr Line—Has Many Attractive Features—Dealers Pleased With Its Appearance—Plan Fall Campaigns

The Starr Piano Co., Richmond, Ind., has just introduced the Style 19 Starr phonograph, which bids fair to become one of the most popular models in the Starr line. The accompanying illustration will give some idea of the artistic appearance of this new instrument, and Starr dealers throughout the country are planning to use the Style 19 as the basis for their Fall publicity campaigns.

New Starr Console, Style 19

This new Starr model is thirty-three inches high, thirty-six and one-eighth inches wide and twenty-one and one-eighth inches deep. Its mechanical equipment includes all of the distinctive Starr features that have contributed so materially to the success of this well-known line, and its cabinet design is in keeping with the attractiveness of the general Starr line.

TONE ARMS for Portable Machines

TONE ARMS for Medium Priced Machines

TONE ARMS for High Grade Machines

Quantity prices from $2 up, including sound box

Let us know your requirements and we will quote you prices

The Phillips Octagon Throw Back Arm No. 5
Equipped with No. 3 or No. 5 reproducer
Special Quantity Prices on Request

The William Phillips Phono Parts Corp.

145 West Forty-fifth Street New York City

The Six Essentials in Retail Store Success

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

What are the six most essential things in making a success of a retail talking machine store?

Here's what they are, according to a successful Middle Western dealer in this special field:

- 1—The right goods.
- 2—The right prices.
- 3—A good location.
- 4—Courteous, efficient sales people.
- 5—Attention-arresting newspaper advertising.
- 6—Attractive window displays.

What are the six things you have found in your experience, Mr. Talking Machine Dealer, to be the most essential in making the success you have made of your establishment?

Certainly it does seem as though the above six things are just about as important as anything in the world in making a success of a store unless the matter of adequate capital might be added. Certainly no dealer can sell talking machines unless he has satisfactory, well-known instruments to sell. Nor can he sell machines and records unless his goods are priced right. A merchant can, of course, get people under some conditions to come to an out-of-the-way location, but a good location is, undoubtedly, a big asset. Courteous, efficient sales people will satisfy and hold the trade while attention-arresting newspaper advertising and attractive window displays will get people into the store where the sales people can sell them.

Consider these points in connection with your store, Mr. Dealer. Are you slipping up on any of these essentials to the making of a big success in the retail talking machine business?

COMPARES TRADE WITH A YEAR AGO

Dealers Are Too Busy to Think of Summer Dullness, Says Dun's Review

Existing business conditions contrast sharply with those of a year ago. Instead of the repressed demands of the earlier period current buying in various lines reflects breadth and activity, and price advances, rather than declines, now predominate. Less is heard at present than was the case last year of the quieting influence of the hot weather Summer months, because there is more work to be accomplished, and it is significant that the question as to whether business has improved has changed to discussion of the extent and scope of the revival.

While the recovery has actually been in progress for many months, it had come so slowly and irregularly in different quarters as not to be widely noticed, and some unsatisfactory phases had raised doubts as to the character of the forward movement. Recent statistical exhibits, however, have caused a more general recognition of the fact that the commercial situation has taken a decided turn in the right direction, gains in iron and steel output, in building permits, in railroad traffic and in bank clearings being among the favorable indices. Supporting these and other measures of progress is the more confident sentiment in many channels and the increasing disposition to anticipate future requirements.

GILLINGHAM SAILS FOR JAPAN

Well-known Recording Expert Joins Forces of Nipponophone Co., of Yokohama—Identified With the Industry for Many Years

Lewis E. Gillingham, one of the best-known phonograph recording experts in the East, left New York on July 1 for Yokohama, Japan, and will be associated with the Nipponophone Co., of that city, as research engineer. Mr. Gillingham has had extensive experience in the record manufacturing industry, having been identified for more than eighteen years with the Victor Talking Machine Co. For several years he was head of the Aeolian Co.'s recording laboratory and was also general manager of the Rodebeaver Record Co. For some time past he has been associated with the engineering department of the Columbia Graphophone Co., at Bridgeport, Conn.

A MOST ARTISTIC ANNOUNCEMENT

Fitzgerald Music Co. Tells Public About Acquisition of Brunswick Line by Means of an Unusually Artistically Prepared Folder

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 3.—One of the cleverest and most artistic announcements of the acquisition of a line of talking machines that has been produced in a long time is that of the Fitzgerald Music Co., 727-729 South Hill street, this city, which recently added the Brunswick line of phonographs and records to its stock.

The announcement is in the shape of a folder on heavy brown stock, which bears the title on the outside, "For the Advancement of Music." The text on the inside, arranged on old ecclesiastical lines and printed in dark brown, calls attention to the tone and quality of the new line and mentions several of the famous artists who record for the Brunswick.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK HONORED

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 5.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, world-famous contralto, was made an honorary Doctor of Music by the University of Southern California here recently on the occasion of her sixty-first birthday. Mme. Schumann-Heink will remain in California some time before returning East.

H. N. McMenimen

Consulting Engineer

Consultation by appointment on every phase of the phonograph industry, including:

Recording, Plating and Pressing

Motor, Tone-Arm and Reproducer Design

Patent and Model Development

Sales Promotion and Advertising Plans

Laboratory:

Scotch Plains, N. J.
Tel. Fanwood 1438

Offices:

2 Rector Street, New York
Tel. Rector 1484

REGAL

Regal has been a consistent leader in the popular-priced record field—from the first!

Naturally!

Regal offers release priority—a superior quality—

—and dependable dealer service; plus—

—a larger Regal catalog to fill the wider Regal demand.

That explains Regal's leadership — quality — service!

Write us today for details!

REGAL RECORD CO., Inc.
20 W. 20th ST NEW YORK

Al Jolson has gone Coo Coo. His morning's morning of bird seed finally set him twittering and "Coo Coo" is the result. It's a scream. Frank Crumit, on the other side, comes right back with "Stumbling." We hope to be able to make enough of this record to go 'round. A-3626.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

STUDIES CAUSE OF SALES DECLINE

Interesting Results of Questionnaire Regarding Talking Machine Sales Sent Out Recently by National Retail Dry Goods Association

The National Retail Dry Goods Association, which some time ago made a very exhaustive survey of the talking machine field, particularly in relation to the handling of machines and records in department stores, recently sent out a questionnaire in an effort to discover the cause of the decline of sales in that field. The questionnaire, it must be remembered, covered talking machine conditions in the department stores in which the Association is naturally interested. It therefore does not give a fair approximation of the actual conditions in the talking machine industry, particularly as it does not fully consider the accomplishments of the small dealers, who by their individual efforts and more strenuous campaigning have built up a fairly good business when compared with the talking machine sections in the department stores. The results of the questionnaire embodied in the report give the following conclusions in part:

"From figures just received from forty-six leading stores there was evident during the months of February, March and April a curtailment of phonograph buying by the public amounting to about 15 per cent in dollars-and-cents volume as compared with the same period last year.

"On the other hand, thirteen out of the forty-six stores replying showed increases up to 146 per cent and the average increase for these stores during the months of February, March and April was about 30 per cent. These increases have been due to special stimulation—special prices, offering lower and longer terms of payment on instalment purchases, adding more lines to give great variety to the department, featuring special low-priced machines or the introduction of other new merchandising appeals.

"Twenty-eight stores reported decreases for the same period as compared with last year's business, these running as high as 75 per cent. Numerous reasons were given for this falling-off. Several stores expressed the opinion that phonographs were essentially a luxury commodity, and the curtailed purchasing power of the public, reacting against luxuries, has, therefore, directly affected the sale of these articles. This was especially evident in replies from mid-Western stores in agricultural communities.

"The lack of construction of new homes has been given as another reason, as it was pointed out that during the last two years the intensified selling efforts made by phonograph companies have almost saturated the market, and machines will only be purchased by people opening up new homes.

"Several stores put some of the blame for the decrease on the popular interest in radio. On the other hand, a number of stores varied in this opinion, stating that radio was more of an individual hobby for men and boys, and was not a home proposition as yet, so that it could not be compared with the phonograph.

"The high prices of phonograph records was another complaint made by the stores for decreased sales. Many of the stores which have been able to increase business during this period have done so through the sale of low-priced records selling for about 49 cents."

ENLARGE "TALKER" DEPARTMENT

L. Bamberger & Co. Open Fine New Department—Unit Construction Co. Installs Demonstration Booths—C. W. Morgan in Charge

NEWARK, N. J., July 6.—The large addition to the L. Bamberger & Co. store on Market street, this city, has resulted in greatly increasing the space of the talking machine department, which has been moved to a portion of the sixth floor adjoining the piano department.

The new location is most attractive and twenty-two sound-proof record demonstration booths have been constructed on the sides of the department, leaving the center of the floor space clear for the display of the Victor, Brunswick and Pooley machines, which the firm handles. The installation of the booths was made by the Unit Construction Co. and the department is undoubtedly one of the most handsome in this section of the State. The booths are finished in old ivory and their attractive arrangement makes this a convenient place for shoppers. The entire music department is under the supervision of W. J. Connelly, and C. W. Morgan has succeeded C. A. True as manager of the talking machine department. Mr. Morgan has had wide experience in the talking machine business.

"A RECIPE FOR SUMMER JOY"

W. J. Dyer & Bro., Victor Distributors, Prepare Handsome Portable Folder for Distribution by Victor Dealers to the Purchasing Public

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 3.—The Victrola portable models are being featured by W. J. Dyer & Bro., Victor distributors, of this city, in a unique and clever manner. A quantity of folders for distribution by the dealers has been prepared. When closed, ready for mailing, the first thing that strikes the eye of the recipient is an illustration headed by the title, "A Recipe for Summer Joy." The obverse side of the folder contains an illustration of the Portable No. 50 with some text concerning the advantages of owning a Victrola. The inside is completely taken up with an illustration of a Victrola portable model, Style IV, on a green background. The value of the machine as a means of entertainment is cleverly brought out both in the text and the illustration.

AVOIDING AND REMEDYING MISTAKES

Mistakes are better never made—but the next best thing when an error does creep in is a prompt report and a frank acknowledgment by the one who makes it. That shows the mistake was of the hand and not of the heart. It costs less and is better for all concerned to have an error adjusted on the spot rather than later on—and is much more satisfactory to have a mistake reported by an employe than by a customer of the house.

ATLANTIC JR.

Crystal Receiver

$18.00

Ready for Installation

Atlantic Instrument Co.
INCORPORATED

13-21 PARK ROW NEW YORK

Victor
Wholesalers

The House
of Mellor
in Pittsburgh
since 1831

GEORGIA
 Irresistible Fox Trot - Full of Rhythm and Snap - It's a Hit

"You can't go wrong with any 'Geist' song"

Proved Instantly Popular in Vaudeville
 —A Great Favorite with Dancers.

HEAR IT NOW!

EDDIE CANTOR PRESENTS COLUMBIA

Well-known Comedian and Columbia Artist Presents Gift to Ill Theatrical Writer

Eddie Cantor, famous musical comedy and vaudeville star and exclusive Columbia artist, recently presented a Columbia Grafonola to Miss Nellie Revelle, who is at present in St. Vincent

BUYERS OF RECORDS CANNOT PLAY THEM FOR PROFIT

When Copyrighted Musical Numbers Are Used a License to Exploit the Records for Profit Must Be Secured From the Copyright Owner—A Legal Point of Great Interest Elucidated

An important question of law which should be understood by talking machine men recently came up in a controversy between a restaurant owner and the owner of copyrights of certain musical compositions recorded on these records. The facts as related by the Brunswick Despatch, which follow, are interesting:

The Goldstein-Migel Co., of Waco, Tex., sold a number of Brunswick phonograph records to Mrs. Pittman, who operates a café. She played these records on a phonograph in her café and was advised by the resident counsel of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers that she was infringing upon copyrights owned by members of that society.

The matter raised the question as to the rights of purchasers of phonograph records in relation to the copyright law of the United States.

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. obtained a competent legal opinion on the point. Reduced to its simplest and most understandable terms, the opinion is as follows:

The U. S. statutes involved state that the copyright owner has the sole right to perform a musical composition in public for profit, unless that right is waived or assigned in some way to some other party. In the case of Victor Herbert vs. Shanley Co., 242, U. S. 591, it was held by the court that where a copyright musical composition was performed by an orchestra in a hotel, this constituted a public performance for profit, although the only charge made was for the food served, there being no specific charge made either for admission or entertainment. The theory of this case was that where music is performed in a restaurant the charge for food is so regulated as to make the public pay for the music.

The copyright owner of musical compositions in making a royalty agreement with record manufacturers gives those manufacturers the right to make and sell records in the usual way, which is for use in homes, etc.

Consequently, under this opinion, owners of cafés, restaurants, shoe shining parlors and other places operating for profit are guilty of a violation of the copyright law in playing phonograph records for their patrons, unless they comply with that law by securing a license from the copyright owner.

TO EQUIP STORE IN GOTHIC DESIGN

Grimmler & Co. Close Contract With Zimmerman-Bitter Construction Co. for Full Equipment of Their Store—Trade Outlook Pleases

The Zimmerman-Bitter Construction Co., New York, manufacturer of general store equipment, reports that since its entry into the talking machine field a short time ago the demand for its equipment has been very gratifying. The company is now working on four different jobs recently contracted for, and is now making bids on several others, which it expects may be turned over shortly. The latest contract secured by the company is for the complete renovation and equipment of Grimmler & Co., at 2544 Broadway, corner of Ninety-sixth street, New York City. This equipment calls for the very finest material and workmanship, and when completed will represent one of the best store equipment jobs which it has yet installed. The general scheme is to be of Gothic design in the interior of the store, while the show window is to have the appearance of French windows. Officials of the company are very enthusiastic over the way its product has been received by the trade in general, and it is expected that in a short time the company will be firmly established as a manufacturer of high-grade store equipment.

Eddie Cantor and the Columbia Grafonola

Hospital, New York. Miss Revelle is one of the best-known members of the theatrical world, having formerly been a prominent press representative and now doing special writing for the leading theatrical magazines. Miss Revelle has been confined to St. Vincent Hospital with spine trouble for the past three years, and Mr. Cantor presented her with the Columbia Grafonola to relieve the tediousness of her confinement.

EQUIP TRUCKS WITH RADIOPHONE

Many merchants throughout the country are taking advantage of the radio for publicity purposes, which in some instances are of a unique character. Several concerns in the West have even equipped their delivery trucks with a radiophone and as the machine is driven through the streets the news and music is received from the broadcasting stations and amplified for the delectation of pedestrians.

TRUCKS

The Lea Phonograph and Talking Machine Truck must be used to be appreciated.

With it one man can handle the Edison Chippendale, Victor No. XVII, Cheney No. 6 Queen Anne and other large models. This truck also fits the smaller sizes.

It is only a one-man job to deliver your instrument from the showroom to any apartment floor.

Piano trucks, hoists, covers, straps, movers' supplies. May we send you a circular and prices?

Made only by

Self Lifting Piano Truck Co.
 FINDLAY, OHIO

"The Records of Quality"

"A line no live dealer can afford to be without."

"One sale makes a steady customer for Okeh."

SO SAY THE Okeh DEALERS!

We link up these superior Records with Consolidated Service — filling your orders promptly in every case. We can help you make your business grow if you will give us the opportunity. It will pay you to investigate.

Write Us For Our Dealers' Proposition

Consolidated Talking Machine Co.

227 W. Washington St.

Chicago, Ill.

Branch: 2957 Gratiot Ave., Detroit, Mich.

AEOLIAN CO. HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING AND BALL GAME

Piano Department Team Wallops Vocalion Team in Exciting Contest—Game Followed by Elaborate Dinner With T. H. Fletcher Acting as Toastmaster—Entire Affair Most Enjoyable

Over seventy members of the executive and sales staffs of the Aeolian Co. attended the annual outing and baseball game held at Tarrytown, N. Y., on Saturday, June 24, and voted it the most successful outing of the series. It was an ideal day, particularly in the country, and the majority had the privilege of enjoying the motor trip along of the runs on his side. A look at the score will prove how hard he worked.

A homer in the ninth inning and some sensational playing on both sides served to excite the spectators, who were interested in a pool on runs and who took pleasure in eliminating various individuals as the number of runs increased. When verses appropriate to the occasion were sung by the gathering, and a particular hit was made by some special parodies on members of the Aeolian staff, written and sung by Cliff Hess.

CLEVER COLUMBIA EXHIBIT

Display of Products Used in Making Columbia Records Attracts Attention

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., July 6.—A "Made in Bridgeport Week" was held here recently, in which the products manufactured by local firms were given special prominence in windows and stores of the city. Conspicuous among the displays was an exhibition of Columbia Graphophone products featured by the George B. Clark Co. The process of making a record was exhibited here; the various products used in record manufacture were displayed and a number of Columbia machines were also shown. The display attracted considerable attention.

THREE NEW VICTOR DANCE RECORDS

Victor Co. Announces Special Release of Dance Records Which Were Put on Sale on July 14

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has announced the release of three splendid new dance records, which were ready to be placed on sale by the retail trade on July 14. The first of the records bears "Lonesome Mama" and "Memphis Blues," fox-trot, played by the Virginians; the second, "Soothing," played by the All-Star Orchestra, and "Night," played by the Club Royal Orchestra, and the third, "It's Up to You" and "'Neath the South Sea Moon," fox-trots, played by Whiteman and his orchestra.

JAMERSON MUSIC HOUSE OPENS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 26.—The Jamerson Music House, the latest addition to the music stores of this city, was recently opened at 223 Collinsville avenue, with a complete line of pianos, player-pianos, talking machines and small musical instruments. The members of the firm are E. W. Jamerson, well known in musical circles as an accomplished pianist; Charles E. Scruby, also a prominent musician, and Eugene F. Schirmer.

OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK

A. L. Jewett, general traveling ambassador for the Starr Piano Co., makers of the Starr piano and Starr phonographs, in Richmond, Ind., was a visitor to New York the early days of the month, and in a chat with The World expressed himself as optimistic regarding the general outlook for the talking machine trade next Fall.

The Aeolianites at Their Annual Baseball Game

1—The Winning Piano Department Team. 2—The Vocalion Team. 3—Cliff Hess Leans on the Pill. 4—The First Hit. 5—Laurino Fans Again

the Hudson from New York to the scene of the picnic.

The baseball game was the first feature and, as usual, was held on the grounds of the Hackley School, where the participants had the use of the magnificent pool, the showers and other facilities. The team representing the piano department cleaned up again, winning over the Vocalion team by a score of 18 to 2. The score, however, did not indicate as it should the excitement of the game, for there were some real ball players in the field and some of the plays would have done credit to big league stars.

C. A. Laurino captained the winning piano team, and did some sensational work to the plaudits of the gallery. Laurino had charge of the arrangements of the outing, as usual, and naturally felt it incumbent upon him to give those in attendance the proper amount of action. Cliff Hess and his cigar helped in keeping the Vocalion team from facing the disgrace of a shut-out, but Charlie Tracy, of the Vocalions, although walloped on the knee by a ball, bragged loudly that he was responsible for 50 per cent of the nineteenth run seemed to be the limit Moe Stein opened up his heart and his flask, but when the final twentieth came in he closed down tight on both.

There was talk at one time of members of the Vocalion team chipping in for a pair of glasses for Frank Nichols, the umpire, it being declared that his eyesight failed just as the ball passed the plate and that his guesses were generally wrong. Hess declared that his nose was grazed by a ball officially announced as a strike.

Following the game and the settlement of the various disputes—friendly, of course—arising therefrom the party adjourned to the Philipse Manor Yacht Club, where they enjoyed an elaborate menu amid the very pleasant surroundings. After the dinner T. H. Fletcher, manager of the retail department of the Aeolian Co., assumed the role of toastmaster and introduced several speakers, including Charles Goldman, president of the Bronx Board of Trade; C. A. Laurino, C. Arthur Longwell, Moe Stein, manager of the Bronx branch of the Aeolian Co.; D. F. Cordingly and several others. A number of Model 17. Mahogany, Golden Oak or Fumed Oak, 75-record file. Emerson music-master horn. Exposed metal parts gold plated. A beautiful machine worth many, many dollars more than we ask.

Emerson Phonographs

at startling low prices

WHAT would it mean to you to be able to offer your customers a beautiful, nationally known, high-grade Emerson Phonograph at a price so low that it seems ridiculously impossible—and yet be able to make a fine profit on them? You can do so. We have a number of Emersons, fine, new machines, which we made up for the Emerson Co., which we can sell you at a price you will scarcely believe possible. We want to break even and that's all. You and your customers get the benefit. You know the Emerson—how really high grade it is—and what a splendid reputation it has. Cash in on this real buying opportunity!

Write for full information

The UDELL WORKS :: Indianapolis

28th Street and Barnes Avenue

ANNOUNCING

STYLE XIX
Oak, Walnut or Mahogany

Height, 33 inches; width, 36 $\frac{1}{8}$ inches; depth, 21 $\frac{1}{8}$ inches; adjustable tone-arm for playing all disc records; high-grade, silent, Starr-made motor; twelve-inch turn-table; speed control; automatic motor stop; tone regulator; nickel-plated hardware; one package steel needles; filing system.

The Style XIX Starr is an instrument you'll be proud to have on your floor. Not only has it the features and refinements now expected of the modern phonograph, but it possesses beauty and dignity throughout and is replete with that quality of workmanship which has made all products of Starr origin famous for half a century.

Silver Grain Spruce, "the music wood of centuries," forms the path for the perfect tone reproduction through the "Singing Throat" of the Starr Phonographs. All tones are produced with exact fidelity to the original. That is why we say "The difference is in the tone."

You'll marvel at the tone of Style XIX as well as its other features of obvious merit. Let us send you further information.

THE STYLE XIX STARR PHONOGRAPH

Silver-grain Spruce, "The Music Wood of Centuries," Makes
"The Difference in the Tone" of the Starr Phonograph

The Starr Piano Company

Established 1872

Richmond, Indiana

NEW YORK—CHICAGO—LOS ANGELES—BIRMINGHAM—DETROIT—CINCINNATI—CLEVELAND
INDIANAPOLIS—BOSTON—JACKSONVILLE—LONDON, CANADA

A NEW DANCE CRAZE STUMBLING

A FOX TROT ODDITY

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

HEAR IT NOW

Stum-bling all a-round. Stum-bling all a-round, Stumbling all a-round so fun-ny, Stum-bling here and there, Stumbling ev-ry-where And I must de-clare-

FORMS SWANSON SALES CO.

R. W. Moon General Manager of New Company—Will Merchandise Swanson Portable Phonograph—Offices Located in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles—All Central Points

R. W. Moon, general manager of the Swanson Sales Co., was a visitor to New York the past few weeks, making arrangements incidental to the merchandising of the Swanson portable phonograph, for which his company is the sole sales representative. Before leaving for his home in Los Angeles Mr. Moon announced that the New York office of the Swanson Sales Co. will be located at 1133 Broadway. The company also maintains offices in Los Angeles and Chicago, Ill., and plans have been completed for an intensive sales campaign in behalf of the Swanson portable.

How Parmelee-Dohrmann Co. Featured the Swanson

This portable, which weighs only fifteen and one-quarter pounds, has a number of distinctive features, including a wooden tone arm. It is equipped with a Heineman thirty-six double-spring motor, and its general design provides for maximum compactness with a minimum of annoyance and inconvenience. Mr. Moon plans to merchandise the Swanson portable phonograph through jobbers and dealers and within the next few weeks will announce the names of the jobbers who have already been appointed.

The Swanson portable phonograph is not a newcomer in the industry, as it has been manufactured in Chicago for the past few years. Under Mr. Moon's direction, however, the factory facilities have been increased tremendously and arrangements have been made whereby the output will be sufficient to meet the demands of the trade.

At the present time the Swanson portable phonograph is being merchandised by a large number of the well-known talking machine dealers on the Pacific Coast, and among these is the Parmelee - Dohrmann Co., which maintains seven stores on the Coast. In its Los Angeles store the Parmelee-Dohrmann Co. recently featured the Swanson portable phonograph in an attractive window display and Mrs. H. P. Howard, manager of the talking machine department, states that this display was responsible for a large number of direct sales and an invaluable list of prospects.

PLANS TO ADD RADIO

Canadian Concern Notifies Trade That It Has Two Sets Under Consideration

LONDON, ONT., July 8.—The following letter to the trade has been issued by the Starr Co. of Canada, Ltd.: "Following our policy of keeping fully abreast with the times, we now have options on two radio sets considered the best on the market to-day. These will be available for Starr dealers just as soon as we are satisfied in regard to the patent, plus the satisfactory results from these particular sets. Starr dealers, therefore, need not make arrangements outside of this company for their radio requirements. On the other hand, it is not our intention nor desire to place radios in the hands of Starr dealers until we are absolutely satisfied in connection with the patents laws, and also we wish to give the radio proposition time to find its proper level, that is, we have no intention of placing stock of radio part sets with Starr dealers and then have the equipment improved upon with stock remaining in the dealer's hands

"The two sets we have under consideration are undoubtedly the best offered to-day, and just as soon as we get one or two matters cleared up in regard to these Starr dealers will receive announcement from us."

The Whiteside Music Store, Colton, Cal., has been succeeded by Eckland's Music Store.

NEW REPEAT-A-RECORD JOBBER

Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. Appointed Jobber for New Repeater—Important Deal Means a Wide Distribution for This Repeating Device

CINCINNATI, O., July 5.—P. E. Snell, of the Repeat-A-Record Co., of Los Angeles, manufacturer of the Repeat-A-Record, a new repeating device, was a visitor to this city recently and while here closed a very important deal with the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., whereby this concern becomes a distributor for the Repeat-A-Record. Mr. Snell received the initial order and plans have been made for an extensive sales and publicity campaign in behalf of this repeater. The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., with its various wholesale branches and many retail stores, is in a splendid position to give this new repeater an excellent sales representation, and the Repeat-A-Record Co. is co-operating with the Wurlitzer organization in every possible way.

Earl C. McNeil, 5711 Pasadena avenue, Los Angeles, Cal., is planning to enter the talking machine and musical instrument business.

Main-Springs

For any Phonograph Motor
Best Tempered Steel

	Each
3/8 inch x 10 feet for all small motors.....	$.30
1/8 " x 10 " " " Pathe, Columbia, Heineman.....	.35
1 " x 10 " " " Columbia.....	.40
1 " x 11 " " " Columbia with hooks.....	.50
1 " x 13 " " " Victor, old style.....	.45
1 " x 15 " " " Victor, new style.....	.50
1 1/4 " x 18 " " " Victor, new or old style.....	.70
1 " x 12 " " " Heineman and Pathe.....	.45
1 " x 10 " " " Saal, Silvertone, Krasberg.....	.45
1 " x 13 " " " Saal, Silvertone, Brunswick.....	.50
1 " x 16 " " " Sonora, Brunswick, Saal.....	.60
1 3/16 " x 18 " " Heineman and Pathe.....	.75
1 1/2 " x 25 " " Edison Disc.....	1.50

SAPPHIRES—GENUINE

Pathe, very loud tone, each 15c, 100 lots $11.00.
Edison Loud-tone, each 15c; in 100 lots, $11.50.

TONE-ARMS

The very best, loud and clear, throw-back.....$4.50
With large reproducer, very loud, Universal..... 4.00
With smaller reproducer, but loud and clear..... 2.50

PHONOGRAPH NEEDLES

We can give you best price on Brillantone, Magnedo, Wall-Kane, Tonofone, Nupoint, Gilt Edge, Incas and Velvetone Needles.

ORDER RIGHT FROM THIS AD

Send for price list of other repair parts and motors.

Terms—F. O. B. St. Louis, Mo. Send enough to cover postage or goods will be shipped by express.

The Val's Accessory House
1000-1002 Pine St. St. Louis, Mo.

and
Repair Parts

SAMUEL ESHBORN

65 Fifth Avenue
New York

M I L W A U K E E

Decided Improvement in Trade—Portables in Favor—Badger's Effective Advertising Campaign—Victor Sales School in Fall

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 8.—As conditions improve in the Milwaukee industrial world a corresponding improvement is reflected in the talking machine trade. A better feeling seems to have developed within recent months and volume of sales for June, compared with the same month for the preceding year, shows a material increase.

A Message of Cheer

"Our records show that sales of talking machines this year are better than those of a year ago and nearly equal to the record season two years ago," declared Sam Goldsmith, of the Badger Talking Machine Co., Wisconsin distributor for the Victor Talking Machine Co., expressing the opinion held by most distributors and jobbers here. "We find that sales are increasing instead of falling off as the Summer season progresses. July and August, which had hitherto been considered dull months, will be, in all likelihood, listed among the banner months of the year if the trade continues as well as it started the Summer session in July.

"All factories in the city are working at capacity and 'Help Wanted' signs are seen in the industrial districts. The poorer class of people who had been compelled through lack of funds to postpone buying anything but strict necessities can now satisfy their tastes, possessing the necessary funds.

"We are selling the medium-grade machines at this period, mostly to the middle classes. The wealthier trade is not in the market for anything but portable talking machines for their Summer homes, vacation tours and camping trips. In the Fall, upon their return, the higher-grade stock will again show signs of activity. For the present we are content to accept the large volume of trade in the lower-priced machines."

This condition and state of affairs was found to be the same in practically every distributing and jobbing house in the city visited by The Talking Machine World correspondent. Expensive stocks are inactive; medium grades are selling well.

Many Portable Models Sold

One of the features of the Summer-month sales is the unprecedented demand for portable talking machines. Jobbers declare that the demand for these machines has spread and that every music lover who is in a position to do so purchases a portable machine for his Summer outing. Excellent sales are reported in northern Wisconsin, in the lakes and parks district and in the upper peninsula of Michigan, the haven of vacationists.

Dealers in the Summer resort cities have had the forethought and experience to lay in large stocks of the portable machines. Several Milwaukee distributors of standard makes report emergency orders filled and others received from many of the dealers in the famous Wisconsin lakes and parks district who had sold their stocks earlier than the most optimistic had predicted.

Records Moving Apace

Sales of records are keeping pace with the Summer trade in talking machines. The average vacationist lays in a large stock of new records and goes on his Summer tour, returning in the Fall for newer releases. Jobbers are issuing booklets containing ideal "vacation libraries," lists of records suggested for the Summer camps that are assisting materially in record sales promotion.

Wisconsin, "The Playground of America," is an ideal field for portable talking machines and Summer records, and a canvass of Milwaukee distributors who supply this territory indicates that a goodly volume of trade is yet to be enjoyed during July and August.

The Phonograph Co. reports excellent sales in the New Edison, together with a corresponding trade in Summer dance hits and popular songs in the records. Consistent advertising is responsible to a great degree for the popularity of this line in the territory.

Grafonola Sales Booming

"The Columbia Grafonola sales for June easily surpassed those of the preceding month," said R. H. Walley, representing the line in the eastern half of Wisconsin. "Columbia machines still rank with the leaders in popular favor," he declared, resting for a moment to discuss market conditions with The Talking Machine World correspondent. "Sales to the country trade, usually the poorest buyers, have greatly improved, due to excellent crop reports and general all-around good feeling in the agricultural districts. City dealers have no difficulty in keeping their stocks in constant motion."

Sales Record for Sonora Portable

The leather-covered Sonora portable phonograph is establishing new records for the Summer, according to Fred E. Yahr, president and general manager of the Yahr & Lange Co., jobber for the Sonora in Wisconsin and northern Michigan. The portables are easily the features of the Summer, he declared. The Yahr & Lange Co. is running semi-weekly advertisements featuring the Sonora portable and records to stimulate and encourage the Summer sales.

A. G. Kunde Returning From Europe

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kunde sailed from London last week on their return from a three-month European tour. Mr. Kunde, formerly one of the prominent Columbia dealers in the city, now markets the Gennett records, with headquarters at 344 West Water street. He also handles the Starr phonographs. Upon his return to Milwau-

Flexlume Signs—
Advertising at Low Cost

A Flexlume Electric Sign will tell your story to thousands at a cost of only a few cents a day. They are the kind with the raised, snow-white glass letters standing out from a dark background—perfect day signs as well as night signs. Flexlumes have greatest reading distance, lowest upkeep cost, most artistic designs.

Let us send you a sketch showing a Flexlume to meet your particular needs.

FLEXLUME CORPORATION
36 KAIL STREET BUFFALO, N. Y.

Flexlumes—Electric Signs Made Only by The Flexlume Corporation

"The Parade of The Wooden Soldiers" is one of the reasons why "Chauve Souris," the Russian Vaudeville Show, has taken New York by storm. Ray Miller and His Orchestra have woven this martial music in miniature into a fox-trot that won't let your feet behave. "Twas in the Month of May" from the same show is on the reverse. A-3628.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

kee he plans the institution of an intensive advertising campaign. Billboards at vital points on the city's highways and the State trunk roads have been leased by him. A number of leaflets and "gem selection" pamphlets will be printed and large semi-weekly advertisements will be run in the local newspapers. Mr. Kunde, together with a number of other prominent jobbers and wholesalers, plans to start his Fall business early in August and will start his advertising campaign around that date. He intends to feature the Starr phonograph, particularly the new styles, and Gennett records in an effective way.

Plans Victor Campaign

Harry A. Goldsmith, secretary of the Badger Talking Machine Co., was found comfortably located in his new offices at 191-193 Fourth street busily engaged in mapping out another Summer advertising campaign. He has prepared a list of records, termed a "suggestion list," containing a few choice records, mostly classical and old favorites. It will be printed and distributed to dealers to be used as a sales stimulus. Past experience has shown that the little pamphlets have more than proved their worth.

"Business may be classed as pleasantly fair," said Mr. Goldsmith in reviewing the present market conditions. "Summer season, usually slack, will not be dull during this year's vacation period. People seem to have more money to spend this Summer than they did last year and are satisfying their tastes for music. The vacationist who can get away to country homes and camps is purchasing portable machines and a large stock of popular songs and dance hits to tide him over until his return. On the other hand, the urbanites who are doomed to remain in the city are seeking Victrolas to while away or dance away the warm Summer evenings.

"The outlook for Fall is surprisingly encouraging and we are sure that our hopes will not be blasted in wishing for an active Fall movement in records and machines. In preparation for Fall sales I am getting up a large number of advertisements to be set up, with a good layout, proper type balance, to be sent, together with all necessary cuts, to our country-town dealers, so that simultaneously with the launching of our campaign in the big cities the smaller towns will likewise be covered with Victor ads.

To Open Victor Sales School

"Early in the Fall we will open our Victor Sales School and all retailers and their clerks in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and upper Michigan are invited to attend. One week of intensive training in sales promotion, under the supervision of Victor experts, will be given. We have not decided definitely the exact week that will be chosen for the training, but announcements will be sent out within the coming week to that effect. We expect a large number of out-of-town dealers to attend the sales school."

Invents New Needle

The necessity for using more than one style of needle to obtain different tones from the music of the phonograph will be eliminated when a new needle invented by George E. Bernecker, president of the Standard Accessory Corp., this city, comes into general use.

"In experimenting with phonograph needles," said Mr. Bernecker, "I found that the vibration causing the sound affected the surface of the needle only. The needle-point travels on the record along a spiral path, on the side of which there are little grooves. This travel causes vibration on the needle. Changing the shape of the needle changes its vibration and the tone of the music produced.

"An idea struck me. Why not make a needle with an irregular profile and see what would happen? I tried it out. I took an ordinary standard needle and made a groove or indentation on one side of it. When I put it on the record with the grooved side toward the needle's track the music given out was low and soft. When the straight edge was turned in the music was loud. By rotating the needle to a point in between the music was reproduced in a tone of medium quality."

Steady Demand for Brunswick

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co.'s local branch, under the management of Thomas I. Kidd, reports that machines and records of the Brunswick make are holding their own with the leading standard instruments. Records are moving in a steady stream through the Milwaukee branch and market reports from Manager Kidd's offices are anything but pessimistic.

NOW THE FLETCHER RECORD CO.

Plant of Olympic Disc Record Corp. Purchased by Harry Pace and John Fletcher and Will Be Operated by a New Corporation

The plant of the Olympic Disc Record Corp., located at Meadow and Creek streets, Long Island City, according to an announcement, was recently purchased jointly by Harry Pace, of the Pace Phonograph Corp., and John Fletcher and has been reorganized as the Fletcher Record Co., Inc. The officers of the company are: John Fletcher, president, and Harry H. Pace, vice-president and treasurer. Mr. Fletcher has long been known in recording circles, having been one of the pioneers in that field. He was the organizer and head of the old Operaphone Co., Inc., which one time occupied the same plant, it later being taken over by the Olympic Disc Record Corp. on whose staff Mr. Fletcher was retained in executive capacity.

The Fletcher Record Co., Inc., has been operated, since the acquisition, exclusively for the production of Black Swan Records marketed by the Pace Phonograph Corp. It is understood that the plant is now running to capacity and the arrangement with the Pace Phonograph Corp. gives this latter company exceptional facilities, not only for quantity production, but for the rendering of unusual service, owing to the location of the plant.

Harry Pace, president of the Pace Phonograph Corp., in speaking of the development of his company, said: "We are now issuing ten numbers a month instead of three, on which basis this business was started. We do our own recording, plating, pressing, as well as printing of every description, in the above plant."

There is some likelihood that in the early Fall Mr. Fletcher will revive the pressing of the Olympic record.

The clerk who acts in a condescending manner toward the customer who asks to see some cheaper models is curtailing the firm's profits.

OPENS OFFICES IN NEW YORK

The Superior Phono Parts Co., 560 Grand street, Brooklyn, N. Y., recently opened up offices at 799 Broadway, New York City. The company distributes phonograph parts of all kinds, including main springs, tone arms and motors and has recently added radio parts to its line. It looks for an increased demand for its product in the early Fall.

Sharpen the Fibre Needle

Without removing it from the
Tone Arm of the Phonograph

It's 5 years ahead of the times

CONVENIENT

FAST SELLER

GOOD PROFITS

MECHANICALLY RIGHT

Very Simple

LIDSEEN
FIBRE NEEDLE
CUTTER

LIDSEEN PRODUCTS
832-840 So. Central Ave. CHICAGO

RECORDING FOR THE TRADE

We have a modern well-equipped laboratory with facilities for producing the highest grade recordings. We Solicit Your Business

Manhattan Recording Laboratories
48 West 39th St. New York

"Genius is but the infinite capacity for taking pains"

Where Father Passes on to Son His Talent and His Craft

A Typical Story of Cheney Workers

Klass van Bolhause was known for forty years in Groningen, Holland, as a cabinet maker par excellence. Having brought his son Berend up in the craft, he passed his business on to him when he died at the age of seventy. Berend for thirty years maintained the name and fame of the family. His son, John van Bolhause, in turn tutored in the art, entered the business at seventeen, and ten years later, in 1913, sought wider opportunities in America. Today, with his fellow craftsmen, he is building into Cheney cabinets the character and beauty that have helped to make The Cheney known as the "Master Instrument."

Poets, it is said, are born—not made. So it is with every art where genius lends wizardry to the fingers of skill.

In the Cheney factories, located in the heart of one of the greatest furniture building centers in the world, father and son stand side by side putting into Cheney cabinets all of the enthusiasm of youth and the talent of age.

Cheney cabinets excel because Cheney workmen excel. They are artists and craftsmen just as surely as the guild workers of old. Scores of Cheney workmen are scions of a long line of cabinet makers and are devoting their lives to making furniture worthy of their names. Their rich heritage of genius is being preserved for future generations—they are building it into the beautiful cabinets of The Cheney.

THE CHENEY TALKING MACHINE COMPANY
CHICAGO

The CHENEY

THE MASTER INSTRUMENT

"The Longer You Play It, the Sweeter It Grows"

BUFFALO

Victor Dealers Come Together at Annual Outing—Business Improving—Trade Activities

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 8.—The annual outing of the Victor Dealers' Association of Western New York was held at the Automobile Club at Clarence, N. Y., on June 28, and was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the organization.

Meeting at Elmwood avenue and West Utica street, at noon, one hundred dealers, salespeople and members of their families motored to Clarence, where the afternoon and evening were spent. A ball game between the Coo Coos and the Kicky Coos was the first event of the day, the Kicky Coos winning, 13 to 9. Julius Szabo, of Bieda Bros., won undying fame by hitting a home run, while John Wills, of the C. N. Andrews wholesale store, drove out a three-bagger which cleaned the bases.

A program of games, races and athletic events was held and provided thrills and entertainment in abundance. Winners of the contests for ladies were: 50-yard race for lightweights, Miss Ruth Shirk; 50-yard race for heavyweights, Mrs. J. Kibler; baseball throw, Mrs. C. Wright; broad jump, Mrs. H. Childs; balloon race, Miss Isabelle Berryman.

In the men's contests the winners were: 50-yard race for lightweights, H. A. Clark; 50-yard race for heavyweights, Hal F. Clark; wheelbarrow race, Wright and Bensching; broad jump, Joseph Quirk; tug of war, Melzer team.

Dinner was served to ninety-three guests at 7 o'clock. Speechmaking was barred, it was announced by Acting President B. E. Neal. At the conclusion of the banquet dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Most of the stores of Western New York were closed in honor of the event.

C. E. Siegesmund, chairman of the committee on arrangements, received congratulations for the splendid manner in which the outing was conducted and for the general excellence of the program. Prizes of real value were obtained and awarded to the winners in each event.

General Business Improving

General business conditions among the Buffalo and western New York trade are showing a gradual improvement, although June sales were not up to the expectations of many dealers. The outstanding feature of the present condition is the optimism which is held by dealers. The retailers are practically unanimous in their conviction that early Fall will see the return of normal business in the talking machine world.

Sales now are running large to portables and other models which are in general use in camps and resorts. Record demand is seasonal, with emphasis on the dance and lighter numbers.

Columbia dealers in this territory profiting by the intensive advertising campaign report June an excellent month in volume of sales. Dealers who conducted individual campaigns in connection with the national advertising are more than pleased with the results obtained.

There is unusual interest among Columbia dealers in the release of the new Columbia portable. Lew Berk, songwriter and publisher and proprietor of the Song and Gift Shop, of Rochester, has just concluded a successful sale of the Columbia "Gallagher and Shean" record. A unique window display helped increase the volume of sales to near record proportions.

New Victor Dealer in Warsaw

C. N. Andrews, Victor wholesaler, has added another live account to the growing list of retailers which he is serving. The Ballantine Hardware Co., of Warsaw, N. Y., has opened a talking machine department. This firm takes over the franchise of the J. C. Hoffstetter Co., whose business house was recently destroyed by fire. The Hoffstetter company will not resume business, it is understood.

As announced exclusively in last month's World, Mr. Andrews has been very fortunate in adding to his force C. E. Siegesmund, former president of the Talking Machine Dealers' Association of Buffalo. Mr. Siegesmund recently retired from the retail branch of the trade.

Death of Lawrence F. Lewis

Regret was expressed here at the death of Lawrence F. Lewis in the DeGraff Memorial Hospital, at North Tonawanda. For several years Mr. Lewis had been working on an invention which, if completed, would have been a great step forward in the production and operation of automatic musical instruments, it is believed. The device upon which he was at work consists of a number of strong magnets, and is intended to replace motors in talking machines and other instruments. It is understood Mr. Lewis brought the device so near perfection that its completion is practically assured, despite his death.

Benj. Neal Honored by University

Benjamin E. Neal, president and treasurer of Neal, Clark & Neal, and active head of one of Buffalo's largest talking machine and record stores, has just been elected an alumni trustee of Syracuse University. Mr. Neal defeated William J. Harvie, of Auburn, for this honor, which has seldom been conferred on any save persons residing in the immediate vicinity of Syracuse. A spirited campaign preceded the election.

The Columbia at Chautauqua

Some exceptionally good work was done at the convention of the American Federation of Women's Clubs at Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., by the educational department representatives of the Columbia Co. Aided by several assistants, W. A. Willson gave a number of demonstrations with Grafonolas, special attention being given to the school outfit with pushmobile.

Duci di Kerekjarto, Columbia artist, visited a number of dealers here during a recent engagement in Buffalo. He was accompanied by M. H. Batz, city sales representative. Mr. Kerek-jarto's records are most popular in the Buffalo and, in fact, throughout this territory.

Recent visitors at the Buffalo Columbia branch include J. W. Besch, Gowanda; S. Saeli, Jamestown; Robert Mann, Warsaw; F. W. Bolender, Cuba; G. F. Schafer, Batavia; Mrs. J. Cona, Rochester, and Mrs. M. Reickhoff, Niagara Falls.

Work Started on New Factory

Ground has been broken for the new factory of the Artizan Factories, Inc., at North Tonawanda. Among the products of the new firm will be talking machines, it is understood; also office furniture and interior woodwork.

Recent Change in Jamestown

The newly formed Walter Andrews Piano Co. has purchased the stock and business of the Goranson Music House, at 101 East Third street, Jamestown, and will occupy the quarters of the latter store. The new company, of which Walter Andrews is president and treasurer, is having a complete new talking machine department installed and will handle several makes of instruments and records.

Two New Departments

Two new talking machine departments were opened here in June, that in the new Kurtzmann retail store in the Pierce Building and that in the new store of J. N. Adam & Co. in Washington street. Both are attractive and are notable additions to Buffalo's beautiful stores.

INTRODUCES NEW REPEATER

Repeat-A-Record Now Ready for Trade—Will Be Merchandised Through Jobbers and Dealers—Has Various Distinctive Features

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 3.—The Repeat-A-Record Co., of this city, has just completed plans for the manufacturing and merchandising of the Repeat-A-Record, a new type of record repeater that embodies several distinctive features. In a circular recently issued the company calls attention to the following details: "Bevel-edge, which conforms to the arc made by the needle while traversing the record; adjustable rubber slide, adjustable to all widths of music on ten-inch records, prevents damage by returning needle; trussed graduated grooves guide the needle, preventing a lateral motion with no injury to the sound box; a rubber wheel prevents surface noise and scratching.

The Repeat-A-Record, which is made of steel, case hardened and hard nicked, will retail at $1.50, and the company plans to merchandise its product through jobbers and dealers. Jobbing territory is now being allotted and an aggressive sales campaign has already started.

KRUCK PIANO CO. CHARTERED

The Kruck Piano Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., has been granted a charter of incorporation under the laws of the State of Delaware to deal in pianos and talking machines. The concern is capitalized at $200,000.

The Madison — ACKNOWLEDGED THE BEST VALUE PORTABLE MACHINE IN THE MARKET TODAY

Size 13" wide—12" deep—7½" high

Dealers Delighted with the MADISON. REPEAT ORDERS Prove Its Worth

Special Release of Imported Record

Symphony Concert Record No. 2824

10 Inch

Violin Solo { Souvenir de Drdla } 50c.
 { Kubelik's Serenade } RETAIL

and many other numbers. Write for complete list and dealer prices.

An Attractive Jobbers Proposition—Write for Territories

Madison Music Co., 114 E. 28th St., New York, N. Y.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF TRADE ASSOCIATIONS PROPOSED

Bill Recently Introduced in United States Senate by Senator Edge Has Aroused Considerable Interest in the Music Trade and Other Industries—Follows Secretary Hoover's Recent Investigation

Considerable interest is being shown by the various trade associations in the music industry in a bill recently introduced in the Senate by Senator Edge, of New Jersey, Senate Bill No. 3385, which provides for Federal control of trade associations by forcing those organizations to file with the Federal Trade Commission the names and addresses of their members, officers, directors and committees, copies of their by-laws, the minutes of all meetings and copies of all resolutions and agreements entered into.

The bill also provides that the Commission shall be supplied with copies of all statistics gathered by the associations or for its benefit, and that the Commission may give publicity to such statistics if considered of interest to the public. Under the measure it will also be necessary for trade associations to notify the Commission seven days in advance of all meetings whether general or of committees.

Trade associations and executives generally see in the bill a real menace and a direct effort to increase Federal control of general business, which has already reached a point where it proves a distinct hindrance in many instances. It is felt that to comply with the requirements of the new law, should it be passed, would interfere materially with the activities and usefulness of various trade bodies, and it is probable that the opposition will make itself felt in no uncertain way when the bill comes up for consideration.

In addition to the Edge Bill there has been introduced in Congress what is known as Joint Resolution No. 188, which provides for the "creating of a committee to investigate existing conditions of industry and commerce in the United States for the purpose of recommending to Congress legislation defining the rights and limitations of co-operative organizations as distinguished from illicit combinations in restraint of trade."

The Edge Bill and the Joint Resolution have developed out of the recent investigation of certain trade associations which engage in practices alleged to be illegal and in violation of the Anti-Trust laws. Such associations are not in any sense representative of trade bodies as a whole, and it is felt that it is unjust to attack and penalize all trade bodies indiscriminately for the crimes of a few.

The Government, through Secretary Hoover, of the Department of Commerce, has for some time past been engaged in studying the trade associations and their work, ostensibly for the purpose of developing closer co-operation between the Government and business interests through the medium of trade bodies. It is felt that legislation such as that proposed would serve to nullify any good work that has been accomplished at the meetings between Government officials and trade association executives.

AEOLIAN MUSIC FOR THE SHRINERS

Steinway Duo-Art Piano and Vocalion Phonograph on Special Train Which Carried Kismet Temple Nobles to the Pacific Coast

When the Nobles of Kismet Temple, of Brooklyn, set out on the annual pilgrimage, this time to the Pacific Coast, they engaged a special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Sam Reider, general passenger representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who was in personal charge of the train, had the comfort of the Nobles in mind to such an extent that he arranged for the installation on the train of a Steinway Duo-Art piano and a Vocalion phonograph, with a liberal supply of Red records. The music from the instrument served to help pass many a long hour on the trip through the South, going, and through the Northwest and Canada, returning.

NEW GRAFONOLA HEADQUARTERS

Bungalow Grafonola Shoppe Opens for Business in Duluth, Minn.—Well-equipped Store

DULUTH, MINN., June 26.—Beautiful and unique is the description accorded the Bungalow Grafonola Shoppe, 101 West First street, just opened for business. Duluth has no other spot like it nor any that approaches it in its particular field.

Interior of Bungalow Grafonola Shoppe

Two Duluth young men, A. Edelson and Harry Segal, are owners of the business, in which Columbia Grafonolas and records are handled exclusively.

As one enters there is noted the actual replica of a bungalow, with the doors leading to seven sound-proof, glass-enclosed rooms, where selection of instrument or records may be made privately in comfort. The bungalow represents the utmost in originality and beauty and is one of First street's most notable points of attraction.

NO SUMMER SLUMP EVIDENT

Demand for Banner Records Suffers No Curtailment With the Coming of the Summer Months, According to Sol. Kronberg, of Plaza Co.

Sol Kronberg, manager of the Banner record division of the Plaza Music Co., New York City, recently stated that evidently Summer business on the popular-priced Banner records seems to show no curtailment. He credited this situation to the fact that every effort has been made to supply the dealer with the biggest successes in quantities prior to the height of the demand, thus allowing the retailer ample time to meet all demands.

"We are keeping the Banner quality up to the highest standard and this in every detail, including the musical recording, workmanship and the material used. Our service to the dealer not only means an immediate shipment of orders, but liberal supplies of very attractive window display material, catalogs, mats for newspaper advertising and the assistance of our advertising department. The agencies for Banner records, arranged for in different parts of the country, are showing substantial increases from month to month."

NEW VICTOR ENVELOPE STUFFERS

Selected Records Advertised in Convenient Way for the Use of the Dealer

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has arranged to issue monthly domestic and foreign record supplements in attractive envelope stuffers featuring selected groups of records and intended for the use of dealers in all letters they send out. The first of the stuffers was issued with the July supplements and lists seven records, including Bartlett's "A Dream," the Berceuse from "Joscelyn," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "There Is Somebody Waiting for Me," and others.

COMMERCIAL REALIZATION CORP.

The Commercial Realization Corp., South La Salle street, Chicago, Ill., has been granted a charter of incorporation to deal in musical instruments, with a capital of $2,500. Incorporators are: Henry J. Brandt, W. R. Swissler and A. L. Rittenberg.

The Modernolette

A REAL
Talking Machine
in
Portable Form

Retail Price

Wax Finish
Case
$35.00

Leatherette
Covered Case
$40.00

MODERNOLA CO., Johnstown, Pa.

The Modernola Sales Co., Inc.

No. 929 Broadway

New York City

A Real Musical Instrument for Children

Cabinet—Durable Diamond construction throughout. Made from selected veneers and hardwoods. Built with infinite care by experienced cabinet makers. Height, 24 inches; width, 14 inches; length, 28 inches.

Finish—Enameled in Gray, Blue and Ivory. Washable finish. Blue or old rose silk grille.

Motor—Heineman motor — cut gears—cast frame—fully guaranteed—removable motor board.

Tonearm—Die cast—nickel plated — Artois reproducer.

Turntable — Special 9-inch felt faced—plays all records, 10-inch or smaller. Particularly adapted to all children's records, including Bubble Books.

List Price, $25.00 each.
Six machines or over,
$15.00 each
Less than six machines,
$16.50 each

The Diamond Juvenile Console

Diamond Juvenile Furniture

Six pieces—4 chairs, table and hat rack. Juvenile proportions. Durably made. Beautifully enameled and decorated. Makes perfect juvenile booth when installed with the Diamond Console. Fine for window display.

Six Pieces — $17.50
F.O.B. Oswego, N. Y.

New Profits from Three Directions

The Diamond Juvenile Console is giving new impetus to the entire retail talking machine industry.

It is the first practical talking machine for children. Appeals instantly to youngsters. Sells itself to parents. Profit is generous and turnover surprising.

Creates a real child's department. Brings youngsters into the store. Stimulates buying of juvenile records.

Through children it brings parents into the store more frequently. Thus it increases the sales of regular records.

Dealers say the Diamond Console is the greatest contribution to the business in years. Write for full particulars.

The Diamond Products Corporation

Executive Offices and Showrooms:

25 West 43rd Street, New York Factories: Oswego, N. Y.

NEW REGAL SALES MANAGER

Harry G. Neu Now Sales Manager of Regal Record Co.—Aggressive Sales Campaign Under Way—Company Announces That It Will Market Through Dealers Exclusively

Harry G. Neu, formerly sales manager of the Emerson Phonograph Co., has been appointed sales manager of the Regal Record Co., which was recently incorporated under the laws of the State of New York for the purpose of manufacturing Regal records. Mr. Neu, who is well known in wholesale talking machine circles, has been identified with the industry for a number of years. Prior to becoming sales manager of the Emerson Phonograph Co. he was sales manager of the Emerson Record Sales Co., New York, where he acquired an intimate knowledge of the dealers' requirements for developing a profitable record business.

Harry G. Neu

According to the plans of the Regal Record Co., new lists will be issued monthly and the records will retail at fifty cents as heretofore. Popular and standard numbers will be recorded, and the merchandising plan calls for distribution through the dealers exclusively. Mr. Neu has organized an efficient sales staff and an aggressive campaign has already been inaugurated in behalf of Regal records.

DENVER EDISON DEALERS ORGANIZE

Colorado Division Forms Association With W. Le Roy Larson as President—Knight-Campbell and Wells Co. in Radio—Other News

DENVER, COLO., July 5.—An Edison Dealers' Association was launched at a meeting of dealers from the Colorado division held in the Edison department of the Denver Dry Goods Co. recently. Dealers from Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska were present. W. LeRoy Larson, of Sidney, Neb., was elected president and Carl Schultz, of Denver, secretary. The organization is formed for an exchange of merchandising ideas and problems that confront Edison dealers. The plan is to meet semi-annually. In the Association are eighty-five dealers. The society was largely formed at the suggestion of Norman D. Tharp, buyer of the Edison department, wholesale and retail, of the Denver Dry Goods Co.

June 21 in Denver found a temperature of ninety-eight. Humanity sweltered. The Darrow Music Co. took this psychological moment to feature an old beer keg used for the mounting of a phonograph. Two little doors cut in the side of the keg, when opened, revealed the interior workings of the talking machine. The tune "How Dry I Am!" coming from the keg hailed the passer-by, who looked on thirstily, wishing he could have such music with the good old stein of beer. The idea was not entirely new, but made quite a hit locally.

C. G. Campbell, president, and W. W. Bradford, treasurer of the Knight-Campbell Co., have returned from the East, where they attended the various trade conventions in New York and Atlantic City.

At least two Denver music houses have gotten into the radio game. Others contemplate giving out programs later. Each Tuesday night the Knight-Campbell Music Co. puts on a radio concert. Many artists of prominence have been heard under the auspices of this company and Tuesday is known as Knight-Campbell night. Alexander Saslavsky, violinist, and Alfred De Voto, pianist, with their wives, are vacationing in Denver and on June 27 the Knight-Campbell Co. prevailed upon these two musicians to broadcast for the first time in their history a concert for the benefit of radio fans. The Charles E. Wells Music Co. also furnishes programs for radio fans during the week, special artists giving piano and vocal numbers.

A judgment for $250 was given in favor of Irving Berlin, Inc., New York, in its suit against the Edelweiss Café, of Denver, in Federal Court here. Berlin says the café orchestra had played his copyrighted song, "My Mammy," without paying royalty. Three other suits by Berlin against the café, involving other popular songs, were dismissed.

INVENTS NEW TYPE OF AEROPLANE

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—Harry A. Berliner, son of Emile Berliner, president of the Berliner Gram-O-Phone Co.; Ltd., of this city, has invented a flying machine that will rise from the ground without the necessary forward run of the ordinary aeroplane. A number of difficulties remain to be overcome, but the progress of the invention is being watched with interest by Government officials.

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment Turned Up to Change Needle; Also Position When Not in Use

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Vertical Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

JEWEL Needle Equipment for the NEW EDISON
See Our Exhibit
PAGEANT OF PROGRESS
EXPOSITION
CHICAGO, ILL.
Booth 13, Section A

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Lateral Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Showing Back View of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Lateral Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

N O T

Just Another Equipment

B U T

a distinct improvement in Tone Reproduction as well as in Mechanical Construction and Finish.

Send for descriptive circular which contains "HINTS REGARDING THE CARE OF A PHONOGRAPH."

If your jobber does not handle, write us.

Price the same. Liberal discount to dealers.

GUARANTEED IN EVERY WAY.

MONEY BACK IF NOT SATISFIED.

We handle highest grade Jewel Point Needles.

Needle CENTERS on all records.

Straight air-tight construction and absence of movable joints insure perfect reproduction and great volume.

Pivoted ball-joint insures perfect reproduction and freedom of movement both vertically and horizontally.

Weight is the lightest that can produce perfect results, thus saving the record, and permitting a freedom and sweetness of tone considered impossible.

Indestructible NOM-Y-KA diaphragms do not blast, crack, split or warp, and are the greatest development in phonographic sound reproduction in years.

Plays all types of records. Operates the same as the "EDISON" with the LEVER.

No adjustments necessary when changing from lateral to vertical cut records. Stop prevents swinging to the right.

Needle scratch almost entirely removed.

Turning back of Reproducer permits of easy access to needle socket and saves records from unnecessary scratching.

Is the ONLY equipment that plays vertical cut records in the proper "EDISON" position with the Reproducer turned FACE DOWN to the record, giving it a floating action.

JEWEL PHONOPARTS COMPANY

154 W. Whiting St., Chicago

The Lyradion Console

Combination radio and phonograph. An attractive cabinet completely housing all instruments, batteries, etc. Wired for Westinghouse "set" or complete with Lyradion 5 stage non-regenerative set.

Radio and phonograph combined in the LYRADION —your customers will prefer this line

Lyradion Italian Renaissance

Combination radio and phonograph. A beautiful hand carved cabinet in polychrome finish for large homes and clubs. Wired for Westinghouse "set" or complete with Lyradion 5 stage non-regenerative set. All instruments and batteries completely housed.

Radio enthusiasts are expressing their preference for the Lyradion line of attractively housed radio sets in no uncertain terms. While the lady of the house has tolerated the old method of placing batteries and sets on the library table and floors as a matter of necessity in the past, she is now demanding the attractive Lyradion combination radio and phonograph completely housing instruments and batteries and offering dual and perpetual entertainment features. Besides these attractive cabinets harmonize with the furnishings of the modest, as well as the most luxurious home surroundings.

The Lyradion instruments do not stop at presenting radio in its highest form. They make possible the perpetuating of popular broadcasted selections by means of phonograph records and thus provide a source of year around entertainment.

The wonderful Seabrook amplifying horn used on all models is responsible for the remarkable reproducing qualities of Lyradion instruments. This horn employs entirely new principles of sound reproduction which are fully protected by basic U. S. patents.

Lyradion cabinets can be furnished wired complete for Westinghouse 2 stage R. C. sets or with Lyradion 5 stage non-regenerative receiving set.

To the dealer or jobber who desires to make the most of radio, the Lyradion line offers unusual opportunities for volume sales and quick turnover. Every owner of a Westinghouse set is a prospect for a Lyradion cabinet. Those who have not purchased radio sets are prospects for a cabinet with Lyradion set.

Territory is being rapidly allotted—dealers or jobbers should write or wire immediately for proposition.

Lyradion Model A, B & C

Radio only. Permanently wired to completely house a Westinghouse "set" or complete with Lyradion non-regenerative set.

Lyradion Sales & Engineering Co.

which is Plant No. 5 of the Dodge Mfg. Co.

Mishawaka, Indiana

KENYON W. MIX, Director

TOLEDO

Energetic Sales Efforts Result in Better Business—Opening of New Stores—The Month's News

TOLEDO, O., July 3.—Talking machine merchants are putting their shoulders to the wheel and are securing a consistent volume of Summer business. The old bogey that the warm months are just naturally dull and that customers cannot be coaxed into the store has been routed and the gospel of hard work, little play and much push is being substituted.

Dealers have experienced a nominal revival in trade and the odor of victory is in their nostrils. In most stores advertising and sales campaigns have been launched recently or are being continued unabated—often with a new twist or unusual angle—destined to interest the most elusive buyer. New approaches are constantly being invented with the result that the reward justified the effort.

Charles H. Womeldorff, general manager of the Toledo Talking Machine Co., is highly enthusiastic over the convention of the Victor jobbers at Atlantic City. He states this year's gathering easily ranks as the most helpful and beneficial of any yet held.

Early Ordering Urged

Dealers are being urged to place orders now for Victrolas to be delivered in thirty or sixty days, else it will be an impossible task to supply the demand which is sure to come before many moons. A few retailers have realized this and are placing orders, but by far the greater number are still watching and waiting. These, it is feared, will lose many sales because of a shortage of stock and unpreparedness to meet conditions which are steadily growing better.

Larger Quarters the Rule

Summer resort dealers at Petosky, Bay View, Mackinaw and other popular northern Michigan watering places are reporting an awakening in the demand for talking machines and supplies. As a result orders are being booked more freely. The outlook is for a prosperous season's trade, according to W. B. Gannon, Toledo Talking Machine Co., representative for Michigan. Several Detroit clients of this company are planning to move into new quarters at an early date, among them: The Markowitz & Zuroff Music Co., Hastings street, which will move into a larger and finer location directly opposite its present store; the Henry S. Doran Co., which moves to a new shop on Washington street, and the Goldberg Phonograph Co., which will likewise occupy new quarters.

Further, the formal opening of the new three-story store of R. D. Malcolm, Kearsly street, Flint, Mich., was an event of the middle of June. This was not only attended by patrons and friends, but by many persons from outside the city. The store is one of the most complete and convenient in every way to be found anywhere.

Handsome New Toledo Store

Whitney, Blaine & Wildermuth Co., Toledo, now occupies the new upstairs store at 620 and 622 Adams street. This is one of the busy downtown thoroughfares. The store interior is decorated in fawn and mahogany. The demonstration booths are old ivory and are composed of French door designs, thus making each light and very attractive. A feature worthy of special mention is the arrangement of the booth interior. A settee or wicker chair is placed at a point back from the door and the machine for demonstrating purposes is just inside the door. Therefore, when a customer enters the room and is seated it is never necessary to pass in front of her or to apologize for discourtesies. The booths are constructed for quick, efficient service and all waste motion has been eliminated. Then, too, each room is provided with a perfect ventilation system. Record racks are finished in old ivory and are so arranged that a customer may be served in a jiffy. Miss M. Plotkin is in charge of the department. A formal public opening will be held in the near future, according to Henry Wildermuth, treasurer of the company.

Portables in Demand

At the LaSalle & Koch Co., according to R. O. Danforth, manager of the Victrola Shop, a steady increase in sales is being registered. June is showing a substantial growth over last June. Portables are in brisk demand for canoe and cottage use. Large machines are likewise selling well, more than at any time within the past two Summers.

Some Live Publicity

Grubbs Music Shoppe is exploiting current hits in an unusual manner. At the LaBounty Lakeside Ballroom, the La Tabernilla, Toledo Beach, Walbridge Park and other nearby resorts neatly painted cards displayed in prominent places state, "All numbers played in this hall are on records and sheet music at Grubbs Music Shoppe."

In addition to this Grubbs is distributing a total of 60,000 concert programs for the various municipi-pal outdoor band concerts. Each program lists one or two hits as a part of the program being rendered, and endeavors to couple the number with records sold at the store. In this manner the Shoppe, the concert and the selection are brought together and each shares in the publicity of the other. The plan has been instrumental in bringing many new faces into the store.

Rae & Maxwell have evolved a novel method of marketing portables that have been used. A sign such as this has been placed in a large display window, "Don't take your good machine to the cottage, come in and rent a small one from us." The experience is that few customers rent one of the instruments, but that they usually buy outright. The card draws them inside and gives the salesman the opportunity of applying his art.

At Grinnell Bros., according to R. C. Elwell, manager of the Victrola department, a pleasing increase in record volume is recorded, particularly in popular selections. Also a favorable increase in Victrola sales to the early vacationists featuring Style 50 is reported. These buyers will be followed up in the Fall with a canvass for records and a proposition for exchanging the small outing machine for a larger instrument for the house.

Sales Staff Enlarged

At the Record Shop a healthy increase in record sales is reported by Pratt Egbert, manager. Several additions to the sales force have been made. The increase in sales is attributed to the fact that the store is selling records and not merely clerking or passing out numbers asked for. This change has shown that, while persons do not buy readily or freely, nevertheless they will buy if given plenty of service and appealed to in the proper way.

Some Popular Recordings

"Lovey Dove," from "The Rose of Stamboul," fox-trot, Carl Fenton's Orchestra; "The Sun God," fox-trot, Isham Jones' Orchestra, both Brunswick records, and "Rosy Posy," from "The Blushing Bride," and "California," Vocalion records, are enjoying wide popularity.

Strong Demand for Portables

At the J. W. Greene Co., Talking Machine Manager A. E. Kopf states a brisk demand exists for portable Victrolas. Never in the history of the department has there been so many Style 4-6-9 and 50 Victrolas sold during the vacation season. Moreover, many talking machines have been sold which went as gifts to June brides.

Takes on New Lines

In line with the expansion policy of the house the following changes are announced: The Brunswick phonograph agency has been acquired for Fremont, O. A downtown branch store will be opened and will be in charge of C. E. Struble, who is now representing the J. W. Greene Co. in that city. Further, the Cheney agency was secured for Fostoria, where a branch store is maintained in charge of Geo. Moore.

Miss Manton, of the record department of the Toledo store, is spending her vacation in short sojourns to nearby resorts. A. E. Kopf, manager, is motoring East to Washington, Baltimore and other points. The intention is to spend some time at the Victor factory.

The Lion Store Music Rooms, according to A. J. Pete, manager, have tripled June sales over a year ago. The demand has been greatest for Victor console types and portables. Many outing machines go to cottages, yachts, canoes and autoists. It is indeed a sight worth seeing at Walbridge Park of an evening to watch the many canoes paddle up and down the river, each supplied with a portable, and rendering music which may be heard far over the placid Maumee.

"A Dime a Day" Campaign

A dime a day campaign to exploit the $25 Victrola was started June 25 and continued for a week. Machines were delivered upon the purchase of four Victor records. Payments of 10 cents a day can be made weekly or monthly as preferred. Half-page advertisements in newspapers launched the campaign and a five-column

(Continued on page 66)

THE PHONOMOTOR CO.

W. F. HITCHCOCK, Proprietor

121 WEST AVENUE
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

5 years of success everywhere

THE PHONOSTOP

100%
Efficient

THE NEED-A-CLIP

Two Well-known Phonograph Accessories Needed in Every Instrument of Class. Satisfaction Guaranteed in Every Case

Once adapted becomes permanent.

A WHOLE PAGE of references if desired.

DON'T DALLY with inferiors, get THE BEST.

PHONOSTOPS are universal, STANDARD, and finished in nickel and gold.

NEED-A-CLIPS in nickel only.

Get Our Printed Price List Immediately

Samples sent by parcels post C. O. D.; money back if unsatisfactory, but you'll want more.

Model
506
$250

Model
502
$125

Model
503
$165

Model
509
$225

STEGER

*the finest reproducing
Phonograph in the World*

IN its faithful reproduction of all music the Steger Phonograph is distinctive.

It is also a work of art. The rare excellence of the woods, the true craftsmanship shown in the cabinet work, the attractive designs of the various models, the piano finish — all these are deserving of emphasis and praise, equal to that given the Steger's wonderful powers of perfect tone-reproduction.

INSURE YOUR SUCCESS!

The artistic Steger offers a big advantage to merchants by this remarkable combination of appeals to the varying tastes of discerning customers.

Let us tell you about attractive open territory. Investigate our effective plan of merchandising and extensive national advertising. Then you will recognize the opportunity—you will want to sell the Steger.

Phonograph Division

STEGER & SONS

Piano Manufacturing Company

Established by John V. Steger, 1879

Steger Building, - - CHICAGO, ILL.

Factories: Steger, Illinois, where the "Lincoln" and "Dixie" Highways meet.

"If it's a Steger—it's the most valuable Piano in the world."

Model
505
$200

Model
504
$150

Model 501 $100

Model
500
$65

Model
510
$250

HAPPENINGS IN THE TOLEDO TRADE

(Continued from page 64)

cut of Style 4 Victrola was a feature of these ads. Several large window displays were also employed in this effort. This dime-a-day drive has been an annual event with the Lion Store for the past five years and is always a tremendous selling force.

Elaborate plans are under way for the annual store outing day which will be observed this year at Sugar Island, which lies at the mouth of the Detroit River and is about fifty miles across the lake from Toledo. The steamer "City of Toledo" will transport the entire force, which numbers several hundred, to the island.

Games of every nature to suit the tastes of young and old alike will be provided. They will include baseball, races, contests of skill and a prize waltz. The store will furnish refreshments.

News Brieflets

The Radiola Co., manufacturer of the Radiola receiving instrument, is going to talking machine dealers with a proposition to make Radiola-phonographs out of talking machines. The possibility of quick turnover by combining the two is dwelt upon in the campaign.

On July 1 the Goosman Piano Co. completed plans for absorbing the Starr Piano Co. store. The business will be housed in the original Goosman store.

Record and machine trade at the Cable Company is showing marked improvement. Kenneth Frederick, formerly assistant manager of the Victrola department at Grinnell Bros., is now in charge of the same section at the Cable. He has in formulation aggressive sales and advertising plans which he will put into effect as soon as possible.

Warren Kellogg, Ohio representative of the Toledo Talking Machine Co., is enjoying his vacation fishing for bass in Michigan.

R. O. Danforth, manager, Victrola Shop, the LaSalle & Koch Co., is motoring East to Boston, the Berkshires and other centers.

DISCUSS RADIO PROBLEM

Talking Machine Men, Inc., Hear Several Authorities Express Opinions on Radio

The most important topic of discussion at the monthly gathering of Talking Machine Men, Inc., held at the Café Boulevard, New York City, Wednesday, June 21, was the question of radio and the future possibility and the present profitability of the installation of receivers by retailers.

The main speaker was R. F. Yates, radio editor of the New York Evening Mail, who gave as his opinion that although in some circles the electrical dealer was considered to be the best equipped for the distribution of such goods there had lately been a more predominating opinion that the music dealer was the more logical outlet. In reviewing the problems of the music dealer, however, he made the point that much care should be taken in the stocking of electrical parts, and in the strictly technical end of the radio business.

C. L. Dennis, of the Trade Service Bureau of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, followed Mr. Yates and his remarks were in evident agreement with much of what Mr. Yates said. In addition, he had the word of David Sarnoff, a director in the Radio Corporation of America, that it was agreed the music dealer would take a predominating position in the distribution of radio products.

At the last gathering of the Association a committee of three, composed of M. Max, Harry Cohn and Nathan Goldfinger, was appointed to investigate the possibility of radio distribution by the talking machine dealer. A report by M. Max showed that the committee had been quite active. It was pointed out that the dealer must take much care in the buying of such goods; a minimum discount should be arrived at and adhered to and should be sufficient to cover the music dealer for the service rendered and allow a profit for carrying on such business. It was advisable also that there be territorial allotment.

Nathan Goldfinger was appointed chairman of the committee to carry out the details of a proposal to have 100 dealers, interested in radio retailing, join together and work out details for buying in combination.

The Edison dealers have never been very active in the Talking Machine Men, Inc. However, at this meeting L. J. Rooney presented the names of seven Edison retailers and an Edison group of the Association is to be formed.

B. Guy Warner, 549 Nostrand avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., was elected vice-president of the Edison division of the Talking Machine Men, Inc., by the Edison dealers present.

The date for the next meeting of the Association has been set for July 12, at which Otto Heine-man, of the General Phonograph Corp.; George E. Brightson, president of the Sonora Phonograph Co., Inc., and Edward Strauss, of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., will talk on the future of the phonograph industry.

Song demonstrators from Joe Mittenenthal, Inc., sang two numbers from that firm's catalog, "Tell Her at Twilight" and "Sunshine Alley."

Abram Davega, of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., well-known Victor distributor, announced that on July 6 a director of the Educational Department of "System" would address the meeting of dealers at the Knickerbocker Auditorium.

Louis A. Schwarz, H. Reinhardt and Lambert Friedl, of the Triangle Radio Supply Co., were voted associate members of the organization.

"PAL" MACHINE SELLING WELL

The portable phonograph manufactured by the Plaza Music Co., under the trade name "Pal," is having a substantial sale in all parts of the country, according to one of the officers of the Plaza organization. Distributors have been appointed in centrally located territory and deliveries are now being made almost overnight, giving to dealers a high-class service.

YOU NEED
HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
 in your business to give Satisfactory Service to your customers.
 Order from Your Jobber TODAY.
HALL MANUFACTURING CO.
 Successors to B & H FIBRE MFG. CO.
 33-35 W. Kinzie St. Chicago, Ill.

Date.....

Jobber's Name

Address

Gentlemen:—Please forward via.....

..... CARTONS COMBINATION HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
 25 pkg. No. 1—50 pkg. No. 5.

..... CARTONS NO. 5 PACKAGES HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
 100 pkg. in carton.

..... CARTONS NO. 1 PACKAGES HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
 50 pkg. in carton.

DEALER'S NAME

ADDRESS

The Trade in BOSTON and NEW ENGLAND

JOHN H. WILSON, Manager
324 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON, MASS.

BOSTON, MASS., July 8.—The Summer has now set in in earnest and much hot weather and a great deal of rain have placed the month of June quite to the fore among the twelve periods of the year. Also comes to an end the first half of 1922, which, on the whole, has not been so very bad, though it could, as everyone wishes that it might, have been better. With the beginning of the last half of the year comes a long double holiday, for the trade for the most part agreed, as the Fourth comes on Tuesday, to throw in Monday for good measure, but to do this consistently and not overdo the idea it was planned to keep open all day Saturday, the first of the month. This was gracefully accepted by everyone in view of the added advantage.

National Education Convention Brings Crowds

The past week was a busy one in the trade. There was in convention here the National Education Association, which brought fully 15,000 teachers and their friends into the city. Music was prominently featured and Director O'Shea, of the music department of the Boston public schools, has been rehearsing for some time a large chorus which held forth on several occasions in Mechanics Hall and other places. A large proportion of the teachers were talking machine enthusiasts and, as a special tribute to the visitors, many window displays making a special appeal along this line were arranged for by the retail stores.

Filled With Good Material

The second issue of the Hallet & Davis Salesman is out and is in every respect a fit companion to the first number. It is filled with good material for the talking machine man, as well as for the piano man. It is planned with each succeeding issue to more and more feature the talking machine which is put out by this house.

Music Trade Association Luncheon

Owing to the lateness of the season the third of the series of luncheons of the New England Music Trade Association held at the Engineers' Club the middle of June was also the last. President Frank S. Horning, the Boylston street merchant, was absent, being on a trip, and was naturally missed by the assemblage, which was not as large as at the previous two luncheons. The special guest of the occasion was Everit B. Terhune, publisher of the Boot & Shoe Recorder, member of the foreign commerce department of the Committee of the National Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C., and a student of international economics.

Mr. Terhune at the close of the luncheon entertained the members with an address on "The Butcher's Bill," which, being interpreted, means the price that is to be paid for the slaughter of men in the late war, a price that must be paid one way or another, as Mr. Terhune pointedly brought out. He spoke of his several trips to Europe and gave a near view of the conditions that obtain abroad and he showed that only in proportion as the economic conditions in Europe change will American prosperity be widespread. He had much to say about the Republican Party, what it has done and has not done, spoke in considerable detail about what high tariff on certain commodities has done by way of retarding progress in this country, and the Soviet propaganda, which, he declared, is very widespread, came in for a severe arraignment. Mr. Terhune received great applause at the conclusion of his talk and there was general regret that more members had not availed themselves of the pleasure of hearing him.

There was no lack of entertainment. Miss Mildred Efford and Miss Florence Fitzgerald were present through the courtesy of the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange and gave musical selections, and Herbert W. Smith, baritone, who made a big name for himself as a song leader during the war, gave several vocal selections. Before and during the early part of the luncheon Arthur Morse played a medley of selections on the piano, generously contributing his services, as he did at a previous luncheon.

In the meantime let credit be given to the committee which worked up the program: Walter Gillis, the Victor dealer of Boylston street, who put a lot of time into the plans; Jerome Murphy, of the Steinert Co., and Leonard Wright.

New Accounting System a Success

Manager Fred E. Mann, of the Columbia Co., in an informing conversation a few days ago said that the new accounting system put into operation a while ago is working out most satisfactorily and is resulting in a great saving all around, expenses alone in his department having been greatly reduced. Mr. Mann a few days ago went down to Bridgeport, accompanied by George P. Donnelly, and there they were in consultation with some of the Columbia officials and factory executives relative to the new type of motor with which the company has been experimenting for some time, and which was lately perfected in the Columbia laboratories. This, he says, is to be put on the market in the Fall.

Business Conditions Shaping Up Well

Manager Mann has been doing a great deal of traveling lately, having made a pretty complete canvass of his territory, and in most of New England, where he has visited with the exception of the State of Maine, he has found business conditions shaping up pretty well, the one place where business was not good being Vermont, and this because of the poor dairy and crop conditions, not to mention the prevailing strikes in the marble quarries. The only field not yet covered in New England, said Mr. Mann, is Maine, and either he or Mr. Donnelly will make the canvass of that State within the next few weeks, visiting every Columbia dealer there.

Columbia Officials Welcomed

President H. L. Willson, of the Columbia Co., and General Sales Manager George W. Hopkins were in town a few days ago and were entertained by Manager Mann. This was President Willson's first visit to the Columbia Co.'s headquarters at 1000 Washington street, and he was favorably impressed with the splendid facilities that the Boston branch has for handling business.

A. C. Erisman Becomes Vocalion Jobber

Arthur C. Erisman has just contracted to handle the Vocalion records for the New England territory, the deal having been completed during a recent visit here of Oscar W. Ray, who is manager of the wholesale record department of the Vocalion business. Official announcement of this new relation with the Vocalion will be made in the newspapers in a few days and the home company in New York will make a similar announcement of Mr. Erisman's representation of Vocalion records. Mr. Erisman, who will operate under the title of the Arthur C. Erisman Co., is especially pleased that he has been able to secure this line, for he has long felt that the Vocalion was one of the specially high-class types of records on the market to-day.

Manager Erisman is feeling most optimistic over the way the Strand and Outing machines have been gaining in popular favor and in his enthusiasm he does not fail to speak in the highest terms of the popularity of the Walter Camp line of records which Mr. Erisman contracted to

(Continued on page 68)

DITSON VICTOR

SERVICE

Are Your Record Racks For Stock or Storage?

By giving the catalog a real chance and not concentrating on monthly supplements alone your Victor Record business can be increased materially. DITSON SERVICE offers worthwhile suggestions to that end.

CHARLES H. DITSON & CO.
NEW YORK

OLIVER DITSON CO.
BOSTON

THE TRADE IN BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND—(Continued from page 67)

handle for the New England territory only a few months ago. He says that the original consignment of goods which he took for distribution through New England for a year was entirely exhausted in a few weeks, which may not be surprising when it is stated by Mr. Erisman that there are now 1,400 dealers in New England to whom he is selling merchandise.

Norman Mason Badly Injured

The many friends of Norman Mason, who is now the retail manager for the Grafonola Co. of New England, will be sorry to learn that he was badly injured Tuesday, June 27, while at an outing of the Reciprocity Club, near Peabody. He was playing in a baseball game and made a rather unusual strike, sending the ball so far away that he was able to make a home run. Just as he reached the plate he slipped and fell, badly injuring one of his knees. He was taken to the Peabody Hospital, and for the succeeding several days suffered intense agony. He has since been brought home and is receiving the best possible attention, but it will be some time before he will be able to leave his bed.

Attended Ponselle Concert

Several of the local men connected with the Columbia Co. went to Hartford a short time ago to be present at the concert which Rosa Ponselle, exclusive Columbia artist, gave at Foot Guard Hall, that city. The Columbia dealers in Hartford were able to get considerable interest created in this artist, whose singing was of such an effective character that any number of good sales of Miss Ponselle's record was the resultant effect. Fred C. Collins, of the Boston branch of the Columbia quarters, worked hard to make the concert a success and through his instrumentality the Columbia dealers in Hartford devoted some of their windows to displays featuring this artist.

F. S. Horning's Pleasant Vacation

Frank S. Horning, head of the Boylston street establishment bearing his name, and who is also president of the New England Music Trade Association, got in his vacation early this Summer, for already he is home and reviving pleasant memories of the many places he and Mrs. Horning visited while away. From Boston they motored down to New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City, thence into northern New York, taking in Watkins Glen and Saratoga, then over to Williamstown, motoring over the Mohawk trail and finally back to Boston. Mr. Horning has found the early Summer business about normal. With the great throng of people who daily pass by this store he ought to find a pretty good Summer business.

Joins Hallet & Davis Force

The Hallet & Davis Co. has recently added two new men to its staff and they will devote all their time to pushing to the fore the talking machines of this house in the New England territory. These men are C. E. Kammler, lately with the Lansing Sales Co., and George E. Kimball, who has been in the repair department of the Hallet & Davis Co. for some time, and who gives promise of becoming a good road man. Mr. Kammler, through having been around considerably in the interests of several of the best houses in the last few years, is well acquainted with the trade and the field. R. O. Ainslie, the new secretary of the Hallet & Davis Co., who is focusing much of his attention on the Hallet & Davis phonograph line, has lately signed up with several good houses to handle this machine.

Pushing the Brunswick Proposition

Manager Harry Spencer is making no plans for a Summer vacation, as he wants to keep close to business during the next few months and lose no opportunity of pushing the Brunswick proposition. It is his custom to spend the forenoon and the early afternoon at the new salesrooms in Boylston street in the heart of the music section, and the late afternoons he goes down to the wholesale headquarters farther out on Boylston street. At the showrooms there is a fine line of

An Antidote for Summer Dullness
IS FOUND IN
"LONG QUALITY" CABINETS
"PEERLESS" ALBUMS

They are both good all-year-'round sellers. If you do not already carry these lines, write today to choice Brunswick models. Mr. Spencer states that business is moving along very well and that the business for the first half of the current year showed an increase over that of the same period in 1921. He reports that among the new connections lately formed for handling the Brunswick is the Gibbs Piano Co., of Springfield, which took a large initial order.

L. W. HOUGH

New England Representative
20 SUDBURY STREET BOSTON, MASS.

Kenneth Reed a Busy Man

These have been busy days for Kenneth Reed, manager of the wholesale department of the Victor at the Steinert establishment, and after his trip to the Atlantic City convention he feels more like staying home these days and confining himself to visiting the trade, using his car when it comes to going any distance and especially when visiting Providence, Worcester, Springfield or points in Connecticut. Mr. Reed now has his family settled in his Summer estate on Cape Cod, where there are excellent opportunities for playing golf.

Lloyd Spencer Guest of Robert Steinert

A recent visitor to the Victor trade was Lloyd Spencer, of Silas Pearsall & Co., who for one day was the guest of Robert Steinert at the latter's beautiful Summer estate at Beverly, on the North Shore. They motored out and enjoyed eighteen holes of golf, Mr. Spencer remaining overnight and coming back to town with Bob in the morning.

KRAFT-BATES AND SPENCER INC.

NEW ENGLAND DISTRIBUTORS

of
Brunswick
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

Do You Want to Deal With 77 Years of Square Dealing?

The House of Brunswick was established in 1845—long before phonographs were invented.

For three-quarters of a century it has borne an international reputation for quality products and sound business policies.

The notable enthusiasm of Brunswick dealers for their line is only the logical result of broad, generous policies. Within the past year Brunswick withdrew 15,000 phonographs from dealers' stocks and rebuilt them, to protect dealers on a change of model.

The Brunswick dealer who enters the field now is in a particularly enviable position. A letter brings our representative ready to go into details.

KRAFT - BATES AND SPENCER, Inc.
1265 Boylston Street - - Boston, Mass.

Steel Needles

Albums

Record Brushes

Khaki Covers

Speaking of Bob reminds one that he and his father, Alexander Steinert, head of the Boston house bearing the family name, are going to keep bachelors' hall this Summer, as Mrs. Alexander Steinert and their talented young son, Alexander, Jr., are going abroad, sailing about the middle of July on the "Aquitania." Alexander, Jr., was graduated last week with honors from Harvard and once abroad he will spend several years there studying music, as it is his intention to devote himself to composition. A number of his pieces have already been heard in public.

Eastern Talking Machine Co. Changes

Several changes at the Eastern Co. are announced which became effective July 1. A. N. Hersee, who has represented the Eastern in western Massachusetts and Rhode Island for three years, has resigned, as he has planned to go with a motion picture corporation. E. P. Johnston, who has been attending to the Eastern Co.'s interests in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, has been transferred from that territory and will succeed Mr. Hersee in the latter's field. John McGuire, who has long been a valued employe of the Eastern, has been assigned to Mr. Johnston's territory.

Notable Sonora Visitors

F. J. Coupe, vice-president of the Sonora Co., was in town a week or more ago, accompanied by J. O. Morris, president of the Musical Supply & Equipment Co., having come to Boston to confer with Manager Joseph H. Burke, of the New England territory. In conference with this group also was H. J. O'Connor, assistant sales manager of the Sonora Co., who had just completed a tour of the New England territory. Mr. Burke subsequently took a trip over the Connecticut field, from which he has just returned.

Important New Cheney Agencies

Stephen Colahan has lately completed a tour of some of the New England centers in the interest of the Cheney line of talking machines and he announces some new representations who have lined up with this company's goods. These include the Steiger-Cox house, in Fall River; the United Talking Machine Co., of Brockton; D. S. Marsh & Co., at New London, Conn., and Flint Brickett & Co., of Springfield. Plans are under way to inaugurate a Cheney campaign at the Quincy headquarters of Henry L. Kincaide & Co. early in July. It will continue three weeks and will be in charge of Frank A. Colahan.

John Maguire a Benedict

John Maguire, traveling man for the Eastern Talking Machine Co., has become a benedict, having lately married Miss Margaret S. Riley. Both Mr. Maguire and Miss Riley have been residents of Reading, in which town the couple

EASTERN SERVICE

NEW ENGLAND SERVICE FOR NEW ENGLAND DEALERS

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

Having no retail connections — either directly or indirectly — and with our efforts and interests concentrated on your problems, Mr. Dealer, we can serve you best.

Wholesale Exclusively.

85
ESSEX
ST.

THE EASTERN TALKING MACHINE CO.

VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS

BOSTON
MASS.

have taken up their residence, following a honeymoon trip into the White Mountains and over to New York. Mr. Maguire's associates in the Eastern Co. did not forget to do the proper thing when it came to wedding gifts.

W. E. Birdsall Keeps Close to Business

Manager W. E. Birdsall, of Vocalion Hall, is keeping his ear and eye close to business these days and he does not know if he will be able to get away on a vacation. If he does it will be to go over to Brooklyn, N. Y., which is his home city, and while there naturally he will see more or less of the Aeolian-Vocalion people. Three people of his old staff at the F. H. Thomas Co. whom he has brought with him to Vocalion Hall are: C. M. Moore, Miss R. Precourt and Mrs. L. I. Keeting. Manager Birdsall says he sees business picking up some.

Attended Educational Convention

W. A. Willson, manager of the educational department of the Columbia, and Miss Grace Drysdale, the company's educational representative in New England, came to Boston for the convention of the National Education Association, held here this week. Miss Drysdale has been in Maine for three weeks, spending her vacation at Bar Harbor.

Columbia Agency Change in Taunton

Through the Boston headquarters the Columbia Co. has just established relations with the Bostock Furniture Co., of Taunton, by which this house takes over the Columbia franchise formerly held by the Dana Furniture Co. This department will be in charge of Mr. Bostock personally, and he will be assisted by Miss Jackson, who is experienced in handling the Columbia product.

E. H. McCarthy's Success

E. H. McCarthy, crew manager of the Columbia campaigns, which have been under way in the New England territory for some time now, has been meeting with pronounced success. He has just put over an especially successful campaign at New London, Conn. As it is, he has the "hiring and firing" of canvassers;

(Continued on page 70)

Announcing Price Reductions

of

"Perfection" Edison Attachments

and

"Perfection" Reproducers

The "Perfection" Flexi-Tone Edison Attachment (No. 4 and No. 7) as illustrated, attached to all types of Edison Disc Machines, makes the most perfect attachment available for playing all makes of lateral cut records requiring steel, tungstone or fibre needles. Only first quality mica diaphragms used in "Perfection" reproducers, giving clear, natural tone. The horizontal ball-joint and direct uplift construction give freedom of movement so that attachment may be used with or without lever, giving excellent results.

Retail price $9.00 Gold. $8.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Pur-I-Tone Edison Attachment (No. 6 Universal) plays All makes of records on New Edison Disc Machine.

Retail price $10.00 Gold. $9.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Edison Attachment (No. 4 and No. 2) plays all makes lateral cut records on New Edison Disc Machine.

Retail price $7.00 Gold or Nickel.

The "Perfection" Pur-I-Tone Reproducers to play all makes hill and dale records on Victor Machines.

Retail Price $6.00 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Flexi-Tone Reproducers to play all makes lateral cut records on Victor and Columbia Machines.

Retail Price $6.00 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Pur-I-Tone Reproducers to play all makes hill and dale records on Columbia Machines.

Retail price $6.50 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

NOTE—Special Discounts to Dealers, also Quantity Prices on Request

New England Talking Machine Co. 16-18 Beach St., Boston, Mass.

THE TRADE IN BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND—(Continued from page 69)

he has received a valuable training in the careful selection of good people for this sort of work, and it is largely due to his keen insight that he has been able to gather around him such a group as can produce the best results.

Congratulations

Miss Isabel Elkins, of Somerville, for several years an employe of the Hallet & Davis Co., in the collection department, has become a bride, her husband being Edward Kelleher, of Cambridge. The bride's associates in the Hallet & Davis Co. presented her with a handsome tea wagon.

Attended Meisse Co. Opening

H. C. Spain and Arthur Forbes, of the Hallet & Davis Co., made a flying trip by auto to Northampton the latter part of the month, to be present at the opening of the new store of the J. L. Meisse Piano Co., at 27 Pleasant street. They described the store as an exceedingly handsome place, with the new Hallet & Davis talking machine given conspicuous representation. They

LANSING KHAKI COVERS

The Pioneer Moving Cover

High Grade

Khaki

Announcing the new

CONSOLE PADDED COVER

SLIP AND RUBBER COVERS
FOR PHONOGRAPHS AND PIANOS
MANUFACTURERS

Lansing
SALES CO.

170 Harrison Avenue
BOSTON, 11, MASS.

Piano Stools, Chairs, Benches

also took a run over to North Adams to look the field over. A week before Messrs. Spain and Forbes visited Springfield to take part in the opening of the Gibbs Music Co.'s store.

Some Vacation Brieflets

Herman Baker, of the A. M. Hume Music Co., spent several days at his father's estate on the shores of Lake Sunapee, N. H., but there was so much rain that he could get about with his car very little and he therefore returned to Boston rather disgusted with the weather.

Herbert Shoemaker, wholesale manager of the Eastern Co., hasn't given much thought to vacations up to this time other than to come to the tentative conclusion that week-end motor trips to attractive places will work out as pleasantly as anything.

Francis T. White, manager of the talking machine department of the C. C. Harvey Co., has planned to take his family to Lake Sunapee, N. H., for his vacation, and will leave town toward the middle of July, to be gone a fortnight.

Winthrop A. Harvey, head of the C. C. Harvey Co., enjoyed a cruise along the coast of Maine the latter part of June. He took the Bangor steamer from Boston, leaving the boat at Northport, Me., where he was joined by a group of friends for the cruise.

Ernest A. Cressey, of the Harvey Co., has planned to spend his vacation this season at Jackson, N. H., where he and Mrs. Cressey will be guests at Gray's Inn, one of the popular places in the mountains. They will motor up to the resort and enjoy many mountain trips while at Jackson.

Chester J. Sylvester, manager of the talking machine department of the C. E. Osgood Co., is planning to take his vacation on the shores of Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H., where he lately purchased some property on the shore front. Your correspondent saw the record of his sales, which warrants the statement that he has had a very satisfactory month, considering all the circumstances facing trade in general.

REDUCE TAX ON KNOWLEDGE

Why Bill to Lower Second-class Mail Rates
Should Win Universal Support

A bill which vitally affects all business men, and particularly the readers of advertisements and users of newspapers, magazines and the business press, was introduced recently in Congress by Congressman Kelly. It has for its purpose the reduction of the second-class mail rates. In connection with his bill, Congressman Kelly spoke in part as follows:

"Newspaper and magazine publishers of the country are in need of relief from the discriminatory war tax in order that the press may continue to function. The proposed measure retains the present zone system of postal charges, but proposes to reduce the amount of the charge from the fourth advance, effective July 1, 1921, to the second advance in rates, which became effective July 1, 1919. The rates asked for would still give the Government 175 per cent more than the pre-war rates and would not relieve the publishing industry of one cent of the other Federal taxes paid by it in common with other industries.

"The present postage rates on newspapers and publications were fixed in the War Revenue Law passed in 1917, and are 325 per cent higher than the pre-war rates. Everyone of the items carried in that measure, with the exception of the tax on second-class mail matter, has been modified or repealed. These wartime postage increases have driven millions of pounds of second-class matter from the mail into private channels of distribution. There is something radically wrong when private companies can make a handsome profit at rates less than those charged in postage. I believe there is no good reason why the publishers of newspapers and magazines should be singled out to pay this extra war tax.

"The fact that these high rates are charged on the advertising pages does not lessen the in-

HEADQUARTERS
For Single Spring Motors
and
Mica Diaphragms
WILLIAM BRAND
27 East 22nd St., New York City

justice. Advertising is not merchandise, but information. The newspapers are information highways, just as essential to the business prosperity of this country as the highways and waterways. Not a sale can be made or a pound of goods shipped without the interchange of information. The advertisements are chronicles of every advance in industrial achievement. Without them publication of the newspapers and magazines would be impossible."

COLUMBIA STAFF ON OUTING

Detroit Branch Holds Successful Outing—Interesting Sports Program—Manager Gardiner Important Factor in Handling Arrangements

DETROIT, MICH., July 5.—The members of the wholesale branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co., this city, held a very successful picnic recently at Bob-Lo, an island in the Canadian waters. The entire party, including Manager Gardiner, assembled early in the morning and journeyed by way of a specially chartered steamer to Bob-Lo. In addition to the Detroit organization there were present as the guests of honor Manager Larmon and Assistant Manager Cooley, of the Columbia Co.'s Cleveland branch.

The sport program included a baseball game, which was won by Assistant Manager Brewster's team, which defeated Manager Gardiner's team by the close score of eight to six. Miss Clarabelle Young, secretary to Manager Gardiner, won the girls' race and Melvin Ploof, Dictaphone Service man, was the winner of the men's race.

In the fat men's race Ed Rockett was the winner, and in the three-legged race Ted Hastings and Miss Young were the prize winners. Miss Young's team was also the victor in the egg relay race, and in the cracker-eating contest Miss Clara Dierksen and Mr. Ploof carried away the honors.

There was plenty of swimming and dancing for all of the guests, and at the close of the day the 1922 outing was voted a signal success, thanks to the efforts of Manager Gardiner and his associates.

FAMOUS TENORS TO BE HEARD

Orville Harrold, Metropolitan Opera Company tenor, and Victor artist, as well as Mario Chamlee, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Brunswick artist, will be heard during the Summer opera season at Ravinia Park, Chicago. Mr. Harrold is scheduled to sing in "Boheme" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" the opening week and Chamlee is to be heard in "Traviata," "Lucia" and "Manon." Chicago is to be envied in securing such noted artists.

ACME-DIE
• CASTINGS •
ALUMINUM-ZINC-TIN & LEAD ALL TYPES
Acme Die-Casting Corp.
Boston Rochester Brooklyn, N.Y. Detroit Chicago

Something You Can See Through!!

DO YOU believe that merchandise can be successfully sold by keeping it under the counter, on a back shelf, or, perhaps, down in the basement? Certainly not, is your answer. And yet, Mr. Victor Dealer, there are lots of intelligent merchants who are doing this very thing every day in the year—their store having become a sort of “storage warehouse.”

Just so long as merchandise is kept “hidden,” just so long will the sales of that merchandise be limited. On the other hand, it has been conclusively proven and it is an acknowledged fact that goods well displayed are more than half sold.

How are you showing your Victor Needles, Mr. Victor Dealer? Are they right up in the front of your store on the counter, readily seen, nicely displayed, where every person entering your establishment cannot miss buying them? Certainly, that’s where they should be—yes, if you want to reap the harvest of profits that is open to you and justly yours.

And there can be no better way of presenting a beautiful, attractive, sure-shot selling display than through the use of the ideal showcase now offered by the Victor Talking Machine Company to every Victor dealer.

The accompanying illustration and description hardly do justice to this money-making display case. You will have to see it to really appreciate it. The price is but $3.00 for each case and how can you spend $3.00 to equal advantage? One sure thing, there is going to be a temporary shortage of these display cases, so lose no time in sending the coupon in the lower corner of this page to your jobber or to the Advertising Department, Victor Talking Machine Company, Camden, New Jersey. No Victor Dealer, to be really successful, can afford to be without this ideal exhibition showcase. And, think of it, only $3.00.

An Exhibition Showcase—of Permanent Construction

This display case is of all-metal construction, 17½ inches wide, 7 inches high, and 8 inches deep from front to back. It has a glass panel door, through which the needles may be seen but not handled. The door is opened by means of a concealed snap-lock in the back of the case, and is supported by a brace, when open. The rear of the case contains a printed guide strip, showing the kind of Victor needles in each division. The Victor trademark is advantageously displayed in full colors on the front and ends of the case, and across the vertical face appear the words “Look for This Trademark on All Victor Products.”

The case has room for a complete stock of Victor needles. From left to right, there are seven divisions, which display, in the order named: Victor Full-tone Steel Needles, Packages of 100; Victor Half-tone Steel Needles, Boxes of 500; Victrola Tungs-tone Stylus, Soft Tone, Boxes of 8; Victrola Tungs-tone Stylus, Full Tone, Boxes of 8; Victrola Tungs-tone Stylus, Extra Loud Tone, Boxes of 8; Victor Full-tone Steel Needles, Boxes of 500; Victor Half-tone Steel Needles, Packages of 100.

C. BRUNO & SON, Inc.
 351-353 Fourth Avenue New York
Victor Wholesalers to the Dealer Only

Gentlemen:—
 Please send us with all speed one of the all-metal VICTOR NEEDLE DISPLAY CASES costing $3.00, as described in the July issue of the “Talking Machine World.”

S A I N T L O U I S

Studying Radio Situation for Fall—Business Review—Tri-State Dealers Get Together—New Agency Changes—Other Happenings

St. Louis, Mo., July 10.—Talking machine men here are viewing the mid-Summer business situation with as much fortitude as they can summon and are looking forward to the early Fall, when trade is expected to speed up immensely, aided and abetted by the radio wave, which is calculated to reach its crest along about then. All of the distributors and dealers are taking radio into account in the Autumn reckonings. Those who have taken steps to tie up the radio to the talking machine are experiencing delay, which was expected, in getting their supplies, and are not fretting greatly about it, as they figure the radio rush will not be strong until the Fall. Those who have not decided to take on radio are studying developments closely, ready to take it on as soon as they are satisfied that it has reached a stage of sufficient stabilization.

Steady improvement in general business conditions throughout this district in the past month is indicated in the monthly report of William McC. Martin, Federal Reserve Agent for the Eighth Federal Reserve District: "In virtually all lines investigated reports indicate good gains over the corresponding period last year, also over the preceding month this year. In addition to betterment in concrete results, sentiment in both city and country is considerably more optimistic than earlier in the year. The latter fact is reflected in a disposition on the part of merchants and the public to more freely supply their needs, immediate and future. Almost unanimously manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers indicate substantial increases in unfilled orders. Many large distributors of commodities who in recent months had little or no future business booked now have a showing of orders for forward shipment comparable with their volume during normal years in the past."

An Old Saying Tied to Victor Line

A new twist to an old saying is given in the advance list of the Koerber-Brenner Co., Victor distributors, in the advice to dealers to "Hitch your wagon to the stars." Says the sprightly writer of the Koerber-Brenner stimulants:

"To be very direct about it, 'your wagon' is your business. You ride in it along the road to Success. The 'Stars' are the great Victor artists. And the closer you tie your business to them the steadier and surer will your progress be.

"It's getting easier all the time to sell good music. The 'jazz' craze that started back in war-times is suffering a reaction. Of course, there'll always be a good demand for the lighter sort of music—for popular songs and dance hits. But more and more people are getting around to an appreciation of good music. Victor advertising is in a great measure responsible for this appreciation and will continue to foster it.

"So tie to the 'Stars' now—and stay with them. They are real stars. Where is there a tenor with a greater following than McCormack, a more wonderful soprano than Galli-Curci, a violinist to equal Kreisler, a pianist more brilliant than Rachmaninoff? In the music of these and of dozens of other 'stars' you have something to offer the public that no one else can offer them."

Tri-State Dealers to Meet

The members of the Tri-State Victor Dealers' Association will eat, dance and make merry Friday night, July 14, at the Century Boat Club.

MICA DIAPHRAGMS

Absolutely Guaranteed Perfect
We get the best India Mica directly.
We supply the largest Phonograph Manufacturers.
Ask for our quotations and samples before placing your order.

American Mica Works
47 West St. New York

F. J. Ennis, manager of the talking machine department of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Co., will furnish radio music. T. R. Husseton, of the Victor organization, will speak and sing. It will just be a get-together meeting, with no business to be transacted.

P. A. Starck Co. to Move

The talking machine department of the P. A. Starck Piano Co. will be greatly enlarged when the St. Louis store moves, about September 1, to a new location at the southeast corner of Eleventh and Olive streets. The Starck Co. has leased the entire building and will remodel it and occupy the first and second floors and basement. The plans for the talking machine department have not been worked out, but Manager J. E. Reger says it will be the last word in modern construction.

Stix, Baer & Fuller Hold Sale

Manager F. J. Ennis, of the Stix, Baer & Fuller talking machine department, returned near the end of June from a three weeks' rest at home and found that the balance sheet showed a gain over June of last year and that the business of the first half of the year was about up to the same period of last year. Popular-priced stuff went best in June, he said, with a good demand for Victor and Sonora portables. During the month the department had a sale of used phonographs. About one hundred machines were disposed of.

Uses Edison and Victor in Radio Concerts

Edison and Victor talking machines are used by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in broadcasting concerts with its new sending equipment. The Edison is supplied by the Silvertone Music Co. and the Victor by the Koerber-Brenner Co.

News Brieflets

R. M. Kempton, wholesale manager of the Vocalion, and Harry L. Levy, Western wholesale manager, passed through St. Louis recently, returning from a Western trip.

The Silverstone Music Co. has installed on its main floor the equipment for the radio department. Some accessories have been received, but a complete stock will not be on hand for some time yet. The firm expects to be distributing by the early Fall.

The Armstrong Furniture Co., Memphis, Tenn., has taken on the complete Edison line. M. Goldberg, vice-president of the Silverstone Music Co., has returned from a visit to the Armstrong firm, which is one of the oldest in the South.

O. A. Reynolds, field representative of the Silverstone Music Co. in Missouri and southern Illinois, has returned from his vacation.

J. F. Stapleton, general sales manager of the Granby Phonograph Corp., Newport News, Va., was in St. Louis recently.

Robert Watts, formerly a salesman for H. J. Arbuckle, manager of Widener's, Inc., has established himself in the motor repair business in the Benoist Building. Miss Patricia Lanham, formerly with Mr. Arbuckle, has gone to California to live.

The Kieselhorst Piano Co., which recently had an opening for its new line of Brunswicks, reports an excellent business.

St. Louis Victor dealers are reporting a good sale of records of the light opera numbers from the operas being given in Forest Park.

F. L. Parrish, Victor dealer of Metropolis, Ill., was a recent visitor at Koerber-Brenner headquarters.

F. B. Jenkins, Jr., manager of the wholesale Victrola department of the Jenkins Music Co.,

TONE QUALITY par excellence

Purity, resonance, volume, individuality, sweetness, mellowness, nuance, color—all these qualities are faithfully reproduced by the Violin Spruce Diaphragm. Nature's perfect resonating medium—violin spruce—scientifically adapted, is free from all the inherent faults of mica and other vibrating mediums.

Wins Instant Approval

The following excerpts are from letters in our files:

A famous artist, under exclusive contract with a maker of phonograph records, says:
" . . . that is the most perfect, the most beautiful reproduction of my playing I have ever heard."

From a phonograph manufacturer:
" . . . it proves to be first-class and the best we have heard on classical records."

From a builder of special designs only:
"We have concluded our tests . . . it is superior to any we have tested heretofore . . . we intend to use your tone arm."

From household owners:
" . . . is the most wonderful I have ever heard."
" . . . it has brought out tones from my records I never heard before."
" . . . I tell my friends it is the perfect reproducer."

From a sales executive, fourteen years in the talking machine business:
" . . . I have tried it (the reproducer) on every kind of record imaginable and the reproduction is excellent."

Violin Spruce Diaphragm Reproducer as illustrated retails for $7.50

THE DIAPHRAGM COMPANY
Room 311, 5005 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.

Of Special Interest to Manufacturers

We are prepared to furnish in any quantity the following items adapted to any make of phonograph: Tone Arm, equipped complete with Violin Spruce Diaphragm Reproducer; Violin Spruce Diaphragm Reproducer; or Violin Spruce Diaphragm alone to assemblers in 2-9/16" diameter only.

Violin Spruce Diaphragm

Kansas City, recently visited A. W. Hosier, manager of the talking machine department of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Co.

Conducts Sales Classes

Morning classes are being conducted in the talking machine department of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Co. for making salespeople more familiar with talking machines and records. Manager A. W. Hosier conducts the machine class and Miss B. S. Rosebrough, educational director, has charge of the class in records. At each class session a sale is made by one of the members who is criticized by the others.

R. V. Johnson in New Post

R. V. Johnson, who has been made manager of the Vocalion department of the Aeolian Co. here, is working the wholesale field in Colorado and will remain in that section until the Fall. In his absence the department here is in charge of John L. Stevener.

T. L. Hesselton in Town

T. L. Hesselton, a very popular member of the traveling staff of the Victor Co., is spending a few weeks in St. Louis and vicinity, discussing business problems with Victor dealers. He will spend one morning in the study class of Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney, which is being conducted by Miss Blanche Rosebrough.

A Clever Stunt

At the close of a successful demonstration in the schools of his territory, Fay Luyster, manager of the Victor department of the Cline-Vick Stores, of southern Illinois, asks the children to help him by filling out a questionnaire telling whether or not they have a talking machine in the home and other questions. In a rural school recently sixteen answers were returned. In only four homes were there talking machines. Six of the twelve non-owners said they were interested.

Ties Up With Artists

A unique way of tying up with artists' appearances in St. Louis has been worked out by Miss Annabelle Weible, who is in charge of the Victrola department of the Weinell Hardware Co. at Columbia, Ill. She frames small pictures of the artists announced in two frames with a framed list of the dates and places between them and displays the group in a prominent place.

Make Study of Record Selling

A class in the study of record selling was held in the Koerber-Brenner Co.'s offices recently. Those attending were: Misses Thelma Bullock, of the Taylor Music Co., Moberly, Mo.; Adeline Coyle, of the F. B. Wolff Co., Chester, Ill.; Alice Heilman, of Stix, Baer & Fuller, St. Louis; Estelle Heuman, of W. C. Daumueller Co., Lebanon, Ill.; Merle Ofill, Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney, St. Louis, and Margaret Todd, of the Todd Jewelry Co., St. Louis. Miss Blanche Rosebrough, of the educational department of Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney, addressed the class on educational work with teachers and in the home. The class also attended the opera "Sweethearts," at the Municipal Opera in Forest Park.

To Enlarge Wellston Shop

The Wellston Talking Machine Shop, Victor dealer, of Wellston, expects to add materially to its floor space soon by moving a back wall, building a balcony for offices and adding some hearing rooms. Below the balcony will be built space for surplus record stock.

The Buettner Furniture Co., which had a formal opening a few days ago at its new location, Ninth street and Washington avenue, has an attractive talking machine department in charge of Mr. Jost. Columbia and Granby machines are handled.

A. W. Meyer and Miss Thea Muehlenberg, of the Stix, Baer & Fuller talking machine department, have returned from their vacations. Miss Tillie Gerlack, of the record department, is on her vacation.

R. O. Wahlman, of the radio department of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Co., spent his vacation on an automobile trip.

Mr. Coats, of the Sonora Co., New York, went from St. Louis to his home for the Fourth of July, but returned directly afterwards to this territory.

CLOSING HEALTHY BUSINESS

DETROIT, MICH., July 5.—The Sherburne Mfg. Co., of this city, manufacturer of Ferro automatic stops and balance lid supports, states that it is closing a very satisfactory business and, if orders are any criterion, the usual Summer slump is not going to be as severe this year as in previous years. In a short while the company expects to have several new inventions to announce to the trade, and it is believed that these new devices will meet with a hearty reception.

THE TALE OF A FOOLISH MERCHANT

There was once a merchant who was exceedingly foolish. He conducted his store on the principle that a customer was here to-day and gone to-morrow. In other words, he made no effort to retain the patronage of persons enticed into his establishment. That principle is wrong. Proof? That same store is now operated by another dealer.

The ultimate result of misdirected effort is failure.

NEW FOREIGN RECORD HANGERS

Victor Co. Announces New Hangers in Five Languages for Early Release

In connection with the advance list of Victor records for August, the Victor Talking Machine Co. announces the issuance of five new hangers printed in Greek, Hebrew, Italian, Polish and Russian, and featuring the new July records and other good-selling records in each language.

Dealers who have made use of the hangers already issued by the Victor Co., which are of the standard size of the domestic hangers and fit into the same holders, have found that they have stimulated the sale of foreign records to a material degree and have been of substantial assistance in developing Summer sales totals.

The Bach Music Co., 22 South Broadway, Rochester, Minn., has purchased the building which it occupies. This concern also recently acquired the business of the Wagoner Music Co. at 23 First avenue.

PUSH the PORTABLE

Portables of Quality at

$35 THE OUTING
$30 THE PLYMOUTH
$30 THE STANDARD
$25 THE ORPHEUS
$25 THE SPRAYTONE
$15 THE STEWART

The Plymouth

We are distributors for Geer and Gold Seal Repeaters, the biggest selling accessories

Radio Apparatus, Jones Motrola, Recordola, Attachments for Edison, Victor and Columbia, Albums and Album Sets, Bubble Books, Cabinets, Record and Roll, Record-carrying Cases, Corrugated Boards, Moving Covers, Dust Covers, Dancing Toys, Envelopes, Record Delivery Stock and Supplement, Geer Repeaters, Needles, Steel and Tungsten, Fibre Needle Cutter, Display Fixtures, Record Lights, Lubricants, Motors, Nameplates, Piano and Duet Benches, Player-piano Cleaner, Polishes, Record Cleaners, Tonearms and Sound Boxes, Springs, Strings.

Write for our 100-page encyclopedia containing illustrations and prices

The Cabinet and Accessories Co.

Incorporated
OTTO GOLDSMITH, Pres.

145 East 34th St.

New York

Mr. Edison Man:—

Don't Say

"KAN'T," say "KENT"

Write for catalog of complete line

The KENT No. 1

With "S" Sound Box

Has given complete satisfaction for years

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

F. C. KENT CO.

Irvington, N. J.

Featuring the MUSICAL POSSIBILITIES of the TALKING MACHINE

[EDITOR'S NOTE.—This is the twenty-first of a series of articles by William Braid White, devoted to the various interesting opportunities which prevail in the domain of education for the retailer of talking machines. The subject is one of great interest and we commend these articles to the consideration of all who are devoting attention to the featur- ing and developing of the musical possibilities of the talking machine.]

3. LEARNING INSTRUMENTAL VOICES

The record salesman or saleswoman who desires mastery over all the details of his or her business, that mastery which the super-salesman always has and which lifts an otherwise dull routine to the level of a joyous art, must realize that the sale of music is the sale of an illimitable thing; of something which we only begin to appreciate when we have dug deeply into it, and which only then reveals itself as ever so much bigger than anything we ever expected to find. The mastery which the live salesman wants, whatever be the medium for the expression of his abilities, is always built upon the most complete knowledge of details. The more one knows about the little things, about the features which the customer is no more likely to know than is the ordinary salesman, the greater one's approach to mastery, the greater that sense of power which enables one to brush aside all obstacles and go on from success to success.

The Bigness of the Thing

That is why in these present articles I am talking so largely about what appeared to be little things, as about how to train oneself to listen rightly, how to know the inside, as it were, of the music one offers for sale. The greatest want of the retail talking machine business today is an army of salesmen and saleswomen filled with enthusiasm for fine music and able to work the spell of their enthusiasm upon the great masses of the people who depend upon them for musical food.

Music is very wonderful. The more one knows about it the more wonderful one finds it to be. No feature of musical expression is so wonderful as the variety of the instrumental voices. Whoever can pick out from the record of an orchestral piece the individual voices of clarinet, oboe, bassoon, of horn, trumpet and trombone, of violin, viola, 'cello and contrabass, without hesitation has learned a great deal already about music appreciation and has opened up for study and enjoyment a field of unlimited depth and scope.

"Voyages of Discovery"

Every salesman ought to be thoroughly acquainted with every instrumental voice in the orchestra. It is now possible to buy records which show every instrument commonly included in the orchestral scores of to-day, each voice so clearly that after a little experience one finds its tone-quality stamped indelibly upon the memory. Not only is there much pleasure in listening to the little excerpts from well-known scores in which the voices of these various instruments are one by one brought forth— isolated—so that we may hear them clearly by themselves, but also a sense of discovery and of growing power. The listener learns to acquire a habit of analysis which makes the hearing of every instrumental record thereafter a voyage of discovery.

Practice is, of course, as necessary here as anywhere else. It is supposed to be easiest to begin with the wind instruments, but I believe those shades of difference which distinguish the five members of the string choir from each other should first be studied. One special reason for taking up the strings first lies in the fact that there are plenty of records for the string quartet, of two violins, viola and 'cello. To disentangle the voices of a quartet movement is one of the finest of exercises in instrumental listening.

Wind Instrument Specimen

There are Victor and Columbia records which give excellent specimens of the voices of almost every orchestral instrument known. The Victor educational records of the prominent companies include some specially devoted to little solos by all the commonly used instruments. Every salesman should have these records at hand for the purpose of identifying any voice heard for the first time and consequently unidentifiable. When wind instruments are being studied it is well to have at hand Columbia records A-7546, which contains a wood-wind quartet, and A-3011, which has a brass quartet. Also the very excellent A-1884, which has on one side a French horn and flute example and on the other a trio for flute, clarinet and oboe. Among the Victor records of the same kind I suggest 18655 and 35237, as well as the "Instruments of the Orchestra" record before mentioned.

Each of these should be heard over and over again, until every instrumental voice can be detected and recognized as soon as it appears. Then the study of these voices in ensemble can be seriously taken up.

The Quartet of Strings

If possible, however, as I said before, one should begin by thoroughly identifying the instruments of the violin family. Everybody knows, one may presume, the tone of the violin well enough to recognize it as soon as it is heard. There is no physical difference between first and second violin. The instruments are the same, but the first violin takes the highest part in the quartet. The second violin simply takes a part

Where the Money is Made

WITH some kinds of merchandise you have to make all your profit in the first sale — because there's not much chance of a "repeat."

But with Bubble Books it's different.

The first Bubble Book purchase just starts your customer on a royal road—to entertainment for him, and profit for you.

Sell one and you've got a good prospect for the other thirteen—and it's up to you to push the sales.

There are fourteen chances for profit in

BUBBLE BOOKS

"that Sing"

When you sell one you sell a habit and when you sell a habit, you're building business.

HARPER & BROTHERS, BUBBLE BOOK DIVISION

Established 1817

Franklin Square

New York

somewhat lower, filling in the harmonies and carrying sometimes the melodies. Of course, sometimes the first violin plays on a lower level of pitch than the second, but in general the first violin is the soprano and the second the contralto of the string quartet.

A perfectly magnificent example of the work of two violins supporting each other in this way is found in the great concerto for two violins, with string orchestra, as done by Kreisler and Zimbalist in three Victor records.

The Lovely Viola

The viola is a lovely instrument. It ranks a fifth lower than the violin in pitch and so is a little larger, though small enough to be played from the shoulder position. It is the alto or first tenor of the quartet. Its voice is plaintive, appealing and modest. It is like that lovely viola in Shakespeare's play—noble, modest and withal strong. Unhappily, the viola is the least appreciated of musical instruments. Those, however, who heard the London String Quartet during its recent visits to this country know that the viola can be played so thrillingly as to awaken new sensations of joy and delight in every musical heart. London String Quartet records, by the way, are to be found in the Columbia London catalog, and some are to be released soon which were made at the Columbia studios in New York during the quartet's last visit.

Opportunity to hear the voice of the viola to unusual advantage is to be found in the London String Quartet's London records of the Mozart D Minor Quartet and in some of the Flonzaley Quartet's Victor records, particularly in the allegro from the Haydn Quartet and in the allegretto from the Brahms Quartet. Also the opening phrases of the second movement of the C Minor Symphony of Beethoven (obtainable both in Victor and Columbia records) give an excellent example of viola with 'cello. The 'cello, by virtue of its very wide range, is at once second tenor, baritone and bass in the string quartet. Its beauties well repay close study and I recommend for the purpose the solo 'cello records by Pablo Casals (Columbia), Hans Kindler (Victor) and Julius Beyer (Okeh). For a splendid example of the 'cello in the quartet the Victor record of "The Flonzaleys" in the Nocturne of Borodin's Quartet should be lovingly studied.

In fact, every available quartet record should be painstakingly listened to. The task will be found delightful and will repay many times over any labor devoted to it.

CHILDREN'S HOURS PROVE POPULAR

Cline-Vick Stores Feature Victrolas Very Successfully in Public Parks in Series of Saturday Morning Concerts for Children

The Cline-Vick Stores, of Marion, Herrin and Carterville, Ill., have been getting some excellent publicity for their talking machine department through the medium of children's hours conducted each Saturday morning and afternoon in the public parks of the various towns. Miss Ruth Mercer and Fay Luyster, manager of the Victor department of the Cline-Vick Stores, are in charge of the children's hours and the accompanying snapshot taken on the third Saturday of the series would indicate that the Victor music is highly appreciated by the little ones.

Children Enjoying Victrola Music

MIDDLETON TO TOUR AUSTRALIA

Arthur Middleton, Edison artist, and formerly with the Metropolitan Opera Company, leaves this month for an extended concert tour of Australia. He will not return before December.

COLUMBIA NEWS BRIEFLETS

F. J. Herbek Returns From Honeymoon—Branch Managers Visit Executive Offices—R. F. Porter Back From Six Weeks' Trip

Among the recent visitors to the executive offices of the Columbia Graphophone Co. were C. A. Dalzell, manager of the Columbia Stores Co., Denver, Colo., and S. H. Nichols, manager of the Columbia Co.'s Pittsburgh branch. Both of these visitors brought optimistic reports regarding business conditions in their respective territories, and Mr. Nichols was especially enthusiastic regarding the outlook in Pittsburgh.

Robert F. Porter, field sales manager of the Columbia Co., returned recently from a six weeks' trip, which included a visit to practically every Columbia branch from New York to San Francisco, and throughout the Southwest and Northwest. Mr. Porter co-operated with the branch managers in making plans for the 1922 Fall season, and many of his recommendations have already produced tangible results.

F. J. Herbek, of the advertising department of the Columbia Graphophone Co., is back at his desk after joining the ranks of the Benedicts. Mr. and Mrs. Herbek spent their honeymoon at a nearby Summer resort, and when Mr. Herbek arrived at his desk he found suitable congratulatory messages from the members of the advertising staff.

OPENS NEW STORE IN BAYONNE

J. E. Maloney has opened a very attractive talking machine and sporting goods establishment at 190 Broadway, Bayonne, N. J., where he will handle a complete line of Aeolian-Vocalion phonographs and Vocalion records. The store has been attractively arranged and four demonstration booths have been installed. One part of the store is being devoted to a very complete line of the latest sporting goods. The combined display is successfully attracting the public to the store. Mr. Maloney has had quite an experience in the talking machine field and expects to build up a very successful business.

THE BEST REPEATER AT ANY PRICE EVER OFFERED THE TRADE

Bevel edge conforms to arc made by needle while traversing record. Needle strikes edge of Repeater at right angle and prevents record scratching.

Adjustable rubber slide, adjustable to all widths of music on ten-inch records, prevents damage by returning needle.

Made of Steel; Case Hardened; Hard Nickeled
Gold-Plated on Special Orders

REPEAT-A-RECORD

(TRADE MARK)

AN IMPROVED RECORD REPEATER

Continuous use does not affect surface.

SIMPLE—EFFECTIVE—SAFE

Does not injure or affect any part of the phonograph.

Does not necessitate a mechanic to adjust.

Reasonable retail price within reach of all.

$1.50 to consumer; $1.00 to retailer in less than 100 lots; 10% extra to retail dealer in lots of 100 or more.

Exclusive jobbing proposition open only to bona-fide jobbers of accredited standing; no shipments to jobbers in less than 1,000 lots. Wire us for jobbers' discounts.

DON'T WAIT—DON'T MAKE A MISTAKE

The REPEAT-A-RECORD will prove the livest selling specialty in the phonograph business. Get in early. We have very large advance orders now.

If you want quick deliveries wire orders now

REPEAT-A-RECORD CO.
LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., Distributors

Cincinnati Chicago New York San Francisco

LONG
QUALITY
HANOVER, PA., U.S.A.

MAXIMUM SALES VALUE

LONG CONSOLES

were the first cabinets introduced to the trade to accommodate table machines. They "made good" from the very start and today are recognized leaders in their field.

LONG CONSOLES have maximum sales value for the dealer knows that the purchaser of a LONG CONSOLE will be a satisfied customer. They are quality cabinets produced by a company with years of experience to its credit.

You will find that LONG CONSOLES are invaluable sales producers, and this popular line of cabinets coupled with our regular line of record cabinets will undoubtedly prove one of the most profitable departments of your business.

Write for Complete Catalog.

The Geo. A. Long
Cabinet Company
HANOVER, PA.

Style 600
Sheraton

Style 601
Colonial

Style 602
Louis XV

Style 603
Chippendale

Style 604
Hepplewhite

INDIANAPOLIS

Close Profitable Six Months' Business—Edison Activities—Portable Machines Are Popular—Music Memory Contests Help—The News

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., July 8.—Talking machine dealers of this city have worked a bit harder than usual to keep the month of June from showing total business less than in the corresponding month of last year. Most of them have succeeded and as a result find that the first six months of the year were more profitable than the first six months of last year. June for many of them might have turned the balance the other way. Although June was the most difficult month to meet it failed to develop discouragements, for all Indianapolis dealers have learned that the man who goes after the business never fails to get it.

Severin Hotel Buys an Edison

Reports on Edison business for this territory are noteworthy for their optimistic tone. W. O. Hopkins, of the Edison Shop, says that June was the best June he has had in several years. Among his sales was that of one of his highest-priced art models, the Umbrian, to the Severin Hotel for use on its mezzanine balcony. His record business has shown a steady improvement through the hot weather. Mr. Hopkins says the dance records are particularly popular because of the fact that they play longer than other records.

L. L. Rosenberg, of the Edison laboratories, is spending some time at the Edison Shop, superintending the inauguration of Mr. Edison's newest sales idea, which is to be tried out here, Mr. Hopkins says, as the first experiment in the larger cities of the country. It is expected that the July report of the Edison Shop will include evidence of the practical advantages of this sales idea.

Mr. Hopkins added three salesmen to his force during June. They are: W. B. Smith, S. C. Bush and C. T. Hawkins. Also he has added two new Ford trucks to his equipment.

"Conditions continue to show steady improvement in our territory," says H. G. Anderson, general sales manager of the Kipp Phonograph Co., Edison distributor. "Our June business showed a very pleasing increase. Many of our dealers are reporting an excellent June business in both instruments and re-creations, which goes to show that the dealer who is putting his shoulder to the wheel and pushing hard, not taking 'no' for an answer, is getting results commensurate with the efforts put forth."

Walter E. Kipp, president of the company, is spending his vacation fishing in Canada.

Outside Men Getting Results

A. C. Hawkins, manager of the Indianapolis Talking Machine Co., says that the Victor record business picked up in an encouraging manner during the latter part of June. His machine business, he reports, has also been good during the last several weeks, due to the activities of a crew of four "outside" men. "These men have each been making on an average of three or four sales a week," Mr. Hawkins says, "which is well worth while, in view of the fact that the hot weather has reduced store sales considerably."

Strand Phonographs and Okeh Records

Ben L. Brown, former manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co. in this city, and now general manager of the Sterling Record & Roll Co., of Cincinnati, spent a few days during the last of June with W. G. Wilson, of Widener's Grafonola Shop. He reported increasing sales of Okeh records and Strand talking machines in this State.

Mr. Wilson says his business for the first six months of this year has been better than the first months of the year indicated it would be. The Spring and Summer business has been kept up largely through the sales of the Outing portable machines and the Banner records, he says. He reports, also, a steady sale of his regular lines of Columbia and Granby machines.

Says Radio Improves Musical Taste

Interest in the radio has developed a taste for better music and a corresponding increase in the demand for Kimball talking machines, according to C. F. Kahn, of the Capital Paper Co., Kimball distributor. He reports that the increased sales of this machine have been more noticeable recently in Indiana than in the remainder of his territory, which includes Illinois, Ohio and West Virginia. The farmers are buying much more readily than they have been, as indicated by the fact that small-town dealers are doing a considerably more brisk business than are the city dealers.

Mr. Kahn reports among his new dealers the names of Orville Wisheart, of Shirley, Ind., and R. J. Timmerman, of Batesville, Ind. E. H. Jarrard, general sales manager of the Kimball department of the Capital Paper Co., is spending his entire time on the road developing trade among the smaller dealers.

The Stewart Talking Machine Co. has made no announcement to supplement the one it sent to Victor dealers several weeks ago to notify them that the company had given up the distribution of Victor machines. It was said at the company's office late in June that an announcement concerning its future business might be made this month.

John Cartwright Married

John Cartwright, advertising manager of the Stewart Co., married Miss Charlotte Chance, daughter of Frank Chance, Indianapolis advertising man, June 26. He spent the early part of July on a honeymoon trip in the East.

Strong Portable Machine Demand

A big demand for portable machines has made this year so far an exceptionally good one for Sonora talking machines in Indiana, according to Edward Mayer, in charge of the Sonora department of the Kiefer-Stewart Drug Co., State distributors. He says the demand for portables has been greater this Spring than ever before. Reports received by him from the dealers over the State indicate a much better outlook generally than was apparent early in the year, although in certain sections the farmers have not yet begun to buy.

Now Traveling for the Sonora

C. C. Matthews, formerly a salesman out of the local office of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., is traveling now for the Sonora line in southern Indiana and Kentucky. This is the territory he covered for the Brunswick machine. He takes the place of G. J. Corrigan, who has left the Kiefer-Stewart Drug Co. to accept a position in the Sonora factory at Saginaw, Mich.

"The outlook for Fall and Winter trade is exceptionally good," says Walter J. Baker, of the Brunswick Shop. "Not very many prospective machine buyers came to the store during May, but the number that came in June was large. That makes us feel better, whether or not it is a sure indication of the amount of business we will do later. Our business so far in both records and machines has been very satisfactory. The records of 'Stumbling' and 'Some Sunny Day' and the console models of machines have been the leaders in the last few weeks."

Miss Dorothy McCarney, who has been cashier of the Brunswick Shop, was married the latter part of June to Donald Edmonson, of Clayton, Ind. The couple are spending their honeymoon in California.

Baldwin Co. Gains Over Last Year

The first six months of this year were much better in volume of business than the corresponding period of last year for the talking machine department of the Baldwin Piano Co., according to C. P. Herdman, manager. "It kept us working like the devil to do it, especially through June," is the way Mr. Herdman explains the good showing. He says his crew of "outside" men were largely responsible for continued sales. Their reports have been that people are looking for bargains and that the coal strike and threatened railroad strike have made them timid in buying.

T. H. Bracken, of the Starr Piano Co., says his talking machine and record sales for the first six months of the year show a marked increase over the first six months of 1921. This last June was particularly good, he says.

Does Well With Fire Sale

The Pearson Piano Co. sold 250 talking machines in the first six weeks of its fire sale, which started May 10, according to H. A. Brown. (Continued on page 78)

Record Rack

Gothic Design

Zimmerman-Bitter Construction Co.

Specialists in
Sound-Proof Hearing Rooms — Record Racks — Service Counters
and General Store Equipment for the Talking Machine Trade
WHY EXPERIMENT?

Let us figure on your needs—we can save you money
OFFICES, FACTORY AND WAREHOUSES:

325-327 East 94th Street

Display Counter

New York City

You'll have to buy A-3633 early and often when folks hear Nora Bayes sing "Atta Baby" and "Cow Bells." This record is Miss Bayes at her best.

Columbia Graphophone Co
NEW YORK

TRADE NEWS FROM INDIANAPOLIS

(Continued from page 77)

manager of the talking machine department. The sale followed a fire which damaged the company's store and made it necessary for it to do business in new quarters. Business will be resumed in the old store July 20 with an entirely new stock of machines and records, the latter including a full Victor library, Mr. Brown says. The company is revising its mailing list and in other ways is preparing for the biggest Fall trade in its history. It will continue to carry Victor, Edison, Cheney and Vocalion talking machines.

Wins Out With Music Memory Contests

Music memory contests have developed exceptionally good business for Grover W. Sims, Edison dealer of Oakland City, Ind., Mr. Anderson reports. Mr. Sims operates four exclusive Edison stores. He has conducted the contests once a month this year in each of four counties in which his stores are located. At the end of the school term he held a final contest, at which twenty pupils from the four counties had marks of 100 per cent. This has made it necessary for Mr. Sims to plan an additional contest for the purpose of ascertaining which of the twenty shall be adjudged winner of an Edison talking machine he has offered as a prize to the pupil with the highest grade.

Stimulates Edison Business in Louisville

H. T. Castello, manager of the Edison department of the Baldwin Piano Co., at Louisville, Ky., has developed a scheme which is bringing him good business in both instruments and re-creations, he says. Recently he began giving recitals at the store with students of the Louisville Conservatory of Music. The recitals became so popular that they were given also before church audiences and at entertainments conducted by various other organizations. The featured artist has been a young woman, sixteen years old, who is said to be one of the most promising students of Madam Cara Sapin, of the Conservatory. The popularity of these concerts shows no sign of abatement.

THE TWIN CITIES

Crop Conditions Create Optimism Among Dealers—Trade Stocking Up—Business Prospects Decidedly Stimulating—News of Month

MINNEAPOLIS and ST. PAUL, MINN., July 7.—The wailing notes heard so long in the Northwest although covered somewhat by various devices representing optimism are almost completely stilled by the highly encouraging reports on crop conditions. Nothing equal to the roseate predictions have been heard for twenty years and unless some dreadful visitations appear a large and bountiful harvest is almost a certainty right now. The result is that merchants and manufacturers and everybody else are on the qui vive of expectancy. And the talking machine men are in the crowd.

Geo. A. Mairs Says Things Look Bright

"We now can definitely say that matters are breaking in a satisfactory manner," declared George A. Mairs, manager of the Victrola department of W. J. Dyer & Bro. "We are sorry to relate that some of the rural dealers are hard boiled in pessimism, but the majority are imbued with the prevailing spirit that the good times are right at our doors. Our books show an increase in orders. To be sure, some of the dealers are very cautious in placing orders, but it is best that way under present circumstances, and we know that they will have to stock up later."

Edison Dealers Beginning to Stock Up

It is reported by Laurence H. Lucker, Northwestern distributor of Edison phonographs and records, that the rural dealers are beginning to stock up for the Fall trade. Quite a number of orders for immediate delivery are being received, which indicates that local stocks are low. Good crop returns inevitably will mean good business for the jobbers and distributors. Mr. Lucker has been visiting the Edison factories for some time, selecting machines for the Fall trade.

From a retail standpoint the Twin Cities are doing well with the Edison machines. The new console models at the new low prices are proving immensely popular, according to Milton Lowy, of the Minnesota Phonograph Co.

Col. Sprague Visits Trade in Minnesota

Col. W. S. Sprague, of the Northwestern branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co., is back from an extended tour of visits with dealers in southern Minnesota. He reports that every mother's son is highly pleased with the outlook and predicts a fine year for the Columbia products.

"Business on Up-grade," Says E. F. O'Neill

"All fundamental business in our section is on the up-grade," says Eugene F. O'Neill, of Beckwith-O'Neill Co. "While everything is dependent upon the crops, the latter are said to be in the best condition for many years. If the condition is maintained for a few weeks longer it will mean a tremendous upward lift for every line of business in our section. Anticipating the harvest somewhat, merchants already are doing some buying for Fall. Collections are improving. But—everything depends upon a good crop. If we get it everybody will prosper, if we don't we will have another dreary year."

Pathé Outlook Improves

Pathé instruments and records are going fine, according to H. F. Sharar, manager of the phonograph department of G. Sommers & Co. Due to a poor Spring and the distractions of automobil- ing, fishing and other outdoor activities the trade still is somewhat slow, but the road men are turning in more orders and report that there will be something good to be had in a month or so.

NEW HIS MASTER'S VOICE BRANCH

Opening of Vancouver, B. C., Branch Completes Trans-continental Chain of Stores

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 8.—His Master's Voice, Ltd., has announced the completion of the last link in its chain of warehouses by the opening of a Vancouver branch, at 1206 Homer street, in this city. This completes the distribution system of the big company, giving it a chain of warehouses extending from Halifax, N. S., to Vancouver, B. C. The new branch will be in charge of J. H. Biggar, for many years connected with the Toronto, Ont., office of the company, both as a road salesman and latterly having charge of the sales force of the Province of Ontario.

The Starr Piano Co. branch at Vincennes, Ind., has been discontinued.

PERRY B. WHITSITT

Records Make Ideal Gifts
Every Victor dealer should teach his community to accept this fact.
It will sell records the year around as well as in the holidays and it will sell Victrolas as well.

COLUMBUS ~ OHIO
VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS

LAUTER MADE TALKING MACHINES

GOLDEN OAK
FUMED OAK
BROWN MAHOGANY
For Early Delivery

Let us figure today on your requirements, or write us for illustrations and prices.

THE H. LAUTER COMPANY

Indianapolis, Indiana

Latest Design Beautiful Tone

Best Quality Lower Price

PHONOGRAPHS

Strand Queen Anne
Period Console
Lists at $125

Strand Louis XV
Period Console
Lists at $150

The Policy that Succeeds

1. Quality and Design

To build none but first-class instruments and to concentrate on correct flat-top consoles, every instrument guaranteed.

2. Low List

So that you may offer better values, make sales easier and oftener and increase your rate of turnover.

3. Long Discounts

To give you a liberal profit on each sale and make it doubly attractive to handle Strand Consoles.

4. Trouble-proof Shipping

Prompt, safe deliveries assured by an ample output and a trouble-proof shipping system.

5. Protection

Exclusive territory; you are protected against dividing your trade with nearby competitors.

"It's the Dealer's Turn Now"

These Direct Strand Representatives are Ready to Serve You:

RICHARD H. ARNAULT, 95 Madison Avenue, New York City
 W. O. CARDELL, Tulsa, Okla.
 A. H. DANKMAN, 327 Adams Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
 CONSOLIDATED TALKING MACHINE CO., 227 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.
 A. C. ERISMAN, 174 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.
 W. S. GRAY, 942 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.
 STERLING ROLL & RECORD CO., 137 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio
 ARTOPHONE CORPORATION, 1103 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.
 H. KALISKI, Hotel Monteleone, New Orleans, La.

G. C. SILZER, 1019 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Ia.
 WALTER L. ECKHARDT, 624 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.
 RICKEN, SEEGER & WIRTS, Globe Bldg., Detroit, Mich.
 W. F. STANDKE, 1120 Grand Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.
 MERVIN E. LYLE, 214 Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga.
 R. J. JAMIESON, 25 Taylor Arcade, Cleveland, Ohio
 H. J. IVEY, General Delivery, Dallas, Texas
 L. D. HEATER, 614 East 28th Street, Portland, Ore.
 OTIS C. DORIAN, 11 Bloor Street, E. Toronto, Ont.
 R. L. CHILVERS, 49 Lincoln Avenue, Montreal, Que.

To responsible dealers we offer a profitable franchise in localities not being yet covered. Write or wire.

MANUFACTURERS PHONOGRAPH CO., Inc.

95 Madison Avenue

New York

GEO. W. LYLE, President

SPECIAL EFFORTS BRING RESULTS IN BROOKLYN

Portable Models and Records for Summer Camps in Evidence in a Sales Way—Long Island Phonograph Co. Scores in National Sales Campaign—New Establishments, Agencies and Store Enlargements—News of the Month

The Brooklyn and Long Island talking machine trade during the past month has been generally quiet, but, as usual, there are always some dealers who are more progressive than others and who have made special effort to bring their sales totals to normal, which has resulted in a very fair month, generally speaking. Sales of large machines have not been very satisfactory, but there have been a large number of the small portable models sold. Record business has been very fair and the demand for popular numbers has been especially lively. No doubt these popular selections are sold as a part of the equipment of the small table types which are to be taken away to Summer camps by purchasers.

Some dealers, taking advantage of the lull in business, are devoting their time to redecorating and renovating their stores so as to be better prepared to meet the expected large Fall and Winter business. This is time well spent and, no doubt, sales and business done in the Fall will more than justify the expenditure made by the dealer in rearranging his store at this time.

Wins Sonora Jobber Contest

The Long Island Phonograph Co., Sonora jobber for this section, is being congratulated by the Sonora Co. and its many friends on the splendid showing it has made during the past year in the national Sonora sales campaign. Through the good work of everyone connected with the organization the sales total for the year has won for the company the honor of showing the greatest gain of any jobber based on the ratio of sales to the population of the territory which they cover. Every Sonora jobber in the country participated in this unique sales campaign, which started May, 1921, and ended May, 1922. As the Long Island Phonograph Co. is the youngest jobber on the list, the winning of this coveted prize is a signal honor and reflects the splendid work done during the past year. A handsome silver loving cup is to be presented to this organization for its great achievement. According to R. H. Keith, general manager of the Long Island Phonograph Co., no particular man in the organization is responsible, but every

NOW IS THE TIME

MAKE YOUR PREPARATIONS NOW—NOT ONLY FOR YOUR SUMMER BUSINESS BUT FOR YOUR FALL TRADE.

DO NOT LET YOUR STOCK GET TOO LOW. YOU MAY REGRET IT.

WE LOOK FORWARD TO A LIVELY FALL AND WINTER TRADE.

BE PREPARED

AMERICAN TALKING MACHINE CO.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.
VICTOR WHOLESALERS

member played an important part in enabling this company to secure this enviable position among the Sonora jobbers. The members of this organization are: J. J. Schratzweiser, sales manager; Geo. A. Sheehan, credit and office manager; J. A. Keelan, dealer service manager, and Lee Coupe, who covers Long Island territory.

Arell Phonograph Co. Enters Field

Among the latest additions to the retail trade in this section is that of the Arell Phonograph Co., Inc., which has just opened its new Victor establishment at 220 Utica avenue. A. J. Freeman, well known in talking machine circles in Greater New York, is the proprietor of this new store and is a man of long experience in the retail talking machine field. He was formerly with Bamberger's talking machine department in Newark, N. J., and also managed the talking machine shop conducted by Levy Bros., on Broadway. His experience covers a period of fifteen years and he is well qualified to carry on this business successfully. The store is probably one of the finest-equipped in metropolitan New York, and no pains have been spared to equip it with every modern convenience for handling retail trade. Several private hearing rooms are a part of the equipment and a magnificently appointed reception room as one enters the store is a feature. The first impression of the customer as he enters is a lasting one, as the general scheme of decoration is one of harmony and welcome. Mr. Freeman is receiving the congratulations from a host of friends who are wishing him unlimited success in this new venture.

R. W. Olsen & Co. to Move

R. W. Olsen & Co., well-known Victor dealers, who have conducted a successful retail business at 914 Flatbush avenue, are moving into larger and more commodious quarters at No. 904, a few doors below. These new quarters are modern in every respect, new booths and new service counters having been installed and, in general, equipped with the latest improvements in retail talking machine shops. This move was made necessary by the steadily increasing business of the company and this change is made at this time so as to be prepared for the expected increased business during the coming Fall and Winter months. As heretofore, the company is to feature the Victor line of machines and records exclusively.

Victor Dealers Pushing Portable Models

The American Talking Machine Co., Victor wholesaler, is very enthusiastic over the progress made by its dealers in marketing the Victrola portable model. A special effort has been made to bring this high-class portable machine to the attention of many prospective buyers and the result has been that many of these machines already have been sold. The officials of this company are sparing no effort to co-operate with dealers to make the Summer business a prosperous one and are offering them a service that is bound to show results.

Nassau Radio Co. Opens New Agencies

The Nassau Radio Co., distributor of John Firth & Co. radio products in Brooklyn and Long Island, reports that talking machine dealers are showing a keen interest in wireless products and that many new agencies are being opened up. Otto and Albert Ruckaber, who manage this business, are very enthusiastic and are making every effort to introduce John Firth products to talking machine dealers in this section. Although

WE offer our dealers a Service which is in keeping with the standards of "the Highest Class Talking Machine in the World."

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

The bond between us and our dealers is "more than a business connection." It is said of us that we are "Suppliers to Satisfied Sonora Dealers."

Any communication from you will have our prompt and careful attention.

Long Island Phonograph Co., Inc.

Sonora Distributors for Brooklyn and Long Island

150 Montague Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Telephone Main 4186

business has a tendency to be quiet at this time they state that work done now will bear fruit in the early Fall. Many dealers who have been interviewed have signed up with the provision that they will begin to carry stock on September 1. However, there has been a demand for complete radio sets and all indications are that many more complete units will be sold during the Summer months.

Sterling Co. Absorbs Goetz Business

An important event in talking machine circles in this section this month was the closing of negotiations by the Sterling Piano Co. for the purchase of the entire stock and lease of Goetz & Co., at 81 Court street, where the Sterling Co. will move its stock of pianos and talking machines and make its headquarters from now on. This move has been under consideration for some months past and a new location has been sought, but heretofore a desirable one could not be found and in order to procure an advantageous locality the company concluded arrangements whereby it secured the store and business of Goetz & Co. The two enterprises have been merged and the business will be conducted under the name of the Sterling Piano Co., Inc. The officers are: George U. Tompers, president and treasurer; Philip Ritzheimer, vice-president, and J. F. Smith, secretary.

The complete line of well-known makes of pianos and talking machines which have been featured in the past by both companies will be carried. The talking machine department, according to E. A. LeTure, manager, will be given a very fine position on the first floor, which will represent a decided improvement over the old location at the Fulton street store; where the talking machine department was located in the basement. Mr. LeTure is very keen about this new move and expects a substantial increase in business as a result. The Victor line will be featured.

W. Ackerman Takes Over Getts Co.

Another newcomer in the Brooklyn retail talking machine trade is William Ackerman, who has bought out the business of the Getts Piano Co., located at 698 Central avenue. Mr. Ackerman has been manager of this store for some time past and when the opportunity presented itself to purchase this business he immediately took advantage of it. The firm name is to be changed from the Getts Piano Co. to the Ackerman Music Store and Mr. Ackerman is in direct charge, as he has been heretofore. His long experience in retail circles in metropolitan New York qualifies him as one of the best retail salesmen in this section and his host of friends are congratulating him and wishing him unlimited success in his new business.

Does Fine Sonora Business

Manager A. G. Smith, of the Lafayette Music Shop, at 269 Kingston avenue, is being congratulated on the splendid showing in sales made during the month of June. The total receipts for this month were greater than those of May and greater than June of last year, a record which is an enviable one in every respect. Among the sales made during this month by Mr. Smith were two Chippendale DeLuxe Sonora models, which retail at $450 each. In view of the fact that retail sales generally have been at a minimum this record is worthy of high commendation, but, as Mr. Smith stated, it is the result of a concentrated effort made by himself and his organization to make the month of June a record one if possible. Some newspaper advertising was re-

VICTROLAS

“STUMBLING”

To fill an order for the Victor record “Stumbling,” or any other current success, without making at least one additional sale, is stumbling salesmanship.

The attention of every purchaser of popular records should be drawn to the wealth of material to be found in Victor Red Seal records.

VICTOR RECORDS

G.T. WILLIAMS CO. Inc.

217 DUFFIELD ST. ~ BROOKLYN, N.Y.

sorted to, but the principal work done was in the way of personal calls on prospective buyers, backed up by a very friendly personal letter.

Brunswick Temple Adds Sonora

The Brunswick Temple of Music, located at Kings Highway and Coney Island avenue, has just been appointed Sonora representative by the Long Island Phonograph Co., Sonora jobber in this territory. Milton Kramer, proprietor of this up-to-date shop, has successfully conducted the business for some time past and, with the addition of the Sonora line, is equipped to cater to all classes of trade. Heretofore Mr. Kramer has featured the Brunswick line exclusively. Recently Mr. Kramer took advantage of a moving picture which was being shown at the local theatre by placing a Brunswick phonograph in the lobby of the theatre, which played the record of the same name as the moving picture. This resulted in splendid publicity for his store and the Brunswick line.

A. Lesser Remodeling Store

A. Lesser, prominent Victor dealer, at 631 Sutter avenue, is taking advantage of the Summer months to renovate and redecorate his entire store. The general scheme of arrangement in the store is being changed and a new service counter and a specially designed record rack are being installed near the entrance to the store. Heretofore the record racks were in the rear, but the new arrangement will facilitate service and prove more efficient. A new window is also to be installed. When completed the store will present a very attractive appearance.

Two Fine Sonora Sales

A. Heilbronner & Sons, who conduct a store at Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street, made two fine sales this month, consisting of Sheraton period Sonoras, which retail at $375 each. These two sales were the result of much active campaigning on the part of Ralph Heilbronner, manager of the business in the absence of his father,

A. Heilbronner, who is vacationing in Europe for the Summer months.

A. Sklar Takes Over Sumner Store

A. Sklar, of the Ralph Music Shop, 149 Ralph avenue, has taken over the entire stock and business of the Sumner Music Store, located at 268a Sumner avenue. Mr. Sklar conducts a thriving business at 149 Ralph avenue. He will continue the Sumner business at the present location, but will change the name to the Ralph Music Store. Mr. Sklar intends to take personal charge of this new business for the time being and intends to make several improvements that will make the store one of the finest in this section. The new store is to feature the Sonora line of machines in conjunction with other well-known makes. Sheet music and musical instruments will also be handled.

RECORDING DEVICE FOR TELEPHONE

Latest Contribution of Poulsen, of Telephone Fame, Supplemented by Invention of Nasarischwily—Records Telephone Messages

Bottling up a telephone message until the person rung up has returned to the office or house has become a possibility by the combination of an invention of Poulsen, the famous wireless telephone pioneer, and a wireless valve.

If a telephone call is made and the person wanted is not available a simple recording instrument can be set in motion and a message dictated that can be repeated at any time later.

The Poulsen telegraphone, invented many years ago and displayed, by the way, at an electrical exhibition in New York, is a device in which a telephone message can be impressed upon a moving steel ribbon by means of magnetic action. When the ribbon has run through a simple reproducing device it repeats the message but so feebly that the invention was abandoned.

An instrument has now been constructed by a man named A. Nasarischwily with which the reproduced sound can be amplified to any degree of loudness by the use of one of the valves now employed universally in wireless reception. The steel wire or ribbon, with its magnetic message, can be removed from the instrument and sent by post and the message reproduced in any other instrument and permanent records can be made of speeches and so on.

The inventor claims that a message or signal may be spoken from a train into a railway line and received by the engineer of the train directly following.

$3.25 Sample

With 10 inch Turntable
and All Accessories

MOTORS

2 SPRINGS

$3.25 Sample

With 10 inch Turntable
and All Accessories

We are the Exclusive Manufacturers of

THE MAGIC MOTORS

Parts for These Motors Always on Hand—Also Tone Arms—Sound Boxes—
Main Springs, Etc.

MAGIC PHONO SUPPLY CO., 261-273 Lorimer St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Telephone Stagg 1591

CLEVELAND

Dealers Going After Business—Co-operative Ad Campaign Effective—Window Displays Help—Announce New Agencies—The News

CLEVELAND, O., July 10.—Advertising seems to be the outstanding feature in the talking machine trade here during the last month. Louis Meier, of the L. Meier & Sons Co., gained a great deal of favorable publicity when he gave a children's lawn party to 300 Cleveland youngsters on the spacious lawn which is located next to his establishment. Mr. Meier's daughter, Lillian, took charge of the affair and the little ones played games and danced while a large Victrola with an amplifier, placed on a truck, supplied the music. Passers-by gathered about the lot, and Mr. Meier received many requests for permission to use the truck in other parts of the city. Before the children left they were supplied with candy and balloons as favors.

Starts Co-operative Ad Campaign

The Eclipse Musical Co. has started a big co-operative advertising campaign, which is expected to make this Summer one of the biggest in the history of the talking machine. It is planned to send out suggestions for advertising, and material for the same to the dealers for direct distribution to the consumer. The Victor portable machine is the big feature of this campaign.

T. H. Towell, president of the Eclipse Musical Co., has created an article which will make the portable Victor machine one of the most popular sellers. It is a new leather cover and the big feature is that the cover is finished with a pocket that will contain twelve records.

According to Edward B. Lyons, general manager of the Eclipse, Mr. Towell thought of the cover when it was noticed that many consumers complained of the marring effect of weather on the finely finished surfaces of the portables. He experimented with a leather-like material and discovered that the appearance of the portable might be improved and the attractiveness increased. Corners, handles, catches and other hardware on the exterior of the machines were removed, and the leather material applied with shellac. The hardware was then replaced, and a leather-cased machine resulted. The patent on this feature has been applied for.

Featuring Window Displays

Dealers in the city are doing advertising on their own account. The Euclid Music Co., on Superior avenue, has installed a Magnavox outside of its store which advertises the new records, and M. O. Mattlin, of the Home Piano Co., claims that a window display of Cheney phonographs has increased the sales of this establishment one hundredfold.

Window displays seem to be the most popular means of advertising. One of the outstanding windows of the month was that of the B. Dreher's Sons Co., created by William G. Bowie, manager of the talking machine department. The green Victor record books and pink pamphlets were arranged in checkerboard form on the window floor, with the well-known Victor dog on guard. It was possible to see this striking color scheme from different points in Play House Square, where the Dreher establishment is located.

Doing Well With Health Records

Manager Dan E. Baumbaugh, of the talking machine department in the May Co., is continuing his campaign on the Walter Camp health records and the Wallace reducing records. His latest step is a new pamphlet just issued, which announces special demonstrations and lectures on the Wallace reducing records, and arrangements are being made for four classes in weight reducing, which will be held in the private demonstra-

ILSLEY'S GRAPHITE PHONO SPRING LUBRICANT

Isley's Lubricant makes the Motor make good. Is prepared in the proper consistency, will not run out, dry up, or become sticky or rancid. Remains in its original form indefinitely.

Put up in 1, 5, 10, 25 and 50-pound cans for dealers. This lubricant is also put up in 4-ounce cans to retail at 25 cents each under the trade name of

EUREKA NOISELESS TALKING MACHINE LUBRICANT

Write for special proposition to jobbers

ILSLEY-DOUBLEDAY & CO., 229-231 Front St., New York

tion rooms of the May Co. talking machine department. Miss Jane Louis, who has charge of this division, is now on her vacation at Sedalia, Mo. On her way back to Cleveland she plans to stop at the Wallace Institute in Chicago, for further instruction in conducting the work here.

Much interest was aroused in local talking machine circles when the Arrow Phonograph Co. announced that it had just perfected a new lateral record. The completion process has been simplified and the result is claimed to represent a real forward step in record production. The right to manufacture the new record will be disposed of shortly.

Some New Cheney Dealers

Four significant accounts were closed by the Cheney Phonograph Sales Co. this month. These include the Buescher Co., the George E. Dales Music Co., Akron; the Andrewson Music Co., Dayton, and the Ampico Studio, Columbus. These are only a few of the new accounts being booked by jobbers serving this locality, the best indication of the trend of new business at this time.

To Extend Brunswick Territory

Plans for taking over the Buffalo territory and making it a definite part of the Cleveland district branch are being completed at the local Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. branch headquarters, and it was expected that by the middle of July the new plan will be in operation.

New Concerns in the Field

The Home Piano Co. recently announced that it has opened a new store, the Globe Piano Co., in the Woodland-East Fifty-fifth section, and already the Vocalion Co., of Ohio, has designated the new store as retailer of the Vocalion records in Cleveland.

The Center Furniture Co., which opened a short time ago, will handle Sonora machines, according to latest announcements.

Pleased With Convention Visit

Victor jobbers from Cleveland who attended the recent convention at Atlantic City returned home with plenty of enthusiasm for their respective lines. Leaders in the industry in Cleveland who were at the meetings included George R. Madson, president of the Cheney Phonograph Sales Co.; Edward B. Lyons, general manager of the Eclipse Musical Co.; Howard J. Shartle, general manager of the Cleveland Talking Machine Co.; Miss Elsie Baer, manager of the M. O'Neil Co., Akron; Louis Meier, the L. Meier & Sons Co.; J. W. McNamara, of the Empire Phono Parts Co., and Dan E. Baumbaugh, manager of the May Co. talking machine department.

Two New Starr Phonographs

Two additions in the styles of machine have been made at the Starr Piano Co., according to D. G. Free, retail sales manager. One is a large machine called "Eighteen," made in both dark and light finish. The other is a small table machine, and is proving popular with purchasers.

Tie-up of Record and Photoplay

An interesting experiment of linking up the photoplay appearance and records of the same name was effectively made by the Remick Song Shoppe, when "Second Hand Rose" was tied up with the arrival of the film of the same name at the Cameraphone Theatre.

Meeting of Local Association

At the last meeting of the Cleveland Music Trade Association the following firms were represented: The H. B. Bruck & Sons Co., the Cheney Phonograph Sales Co., M. V. De Forest, the B. Dreher's Sons Co., Home Piano Co., the May Co., the Muehlhauser Bros.' Piano Co., G. M. Ott Piano Manufacturing Co., J. O. Raeder, Randolph House of Good Music and the A. B. Smith Piano Co.

BANNER 50c. RECORDS

Summertime—dancing-time
—and the 50c. record!

Summertime is dancing-time—country homes, lawn parties, beach parties, automobile parties! Everybody dances and everybody buys dance music!

But who buys the expensive dance records?

Surely not the man who knows where to buy the good popular priced records.

If he is near a BANNER RECORD dealer he knows that he can step in and buy full 75c. worth of record value for 50c. He knows that the tone quality is the same and that the record will last as long. He knows that the records are all famous stars "Broadway-known."

He knows this and he buys BANNER. He tells his friends and they, too, buy.

They all buy — continually. That explains why BANNER sells big the year round.

Write us today! We will send you complete details and samples.

PLAZA MUSIC CO.

18 West 20th Street

New York

The Trade in PHILADELPHIA and LOCALITY

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 8.—A rather unexpected, but very welcome, increase in the volume of business is reported by the majority of the talking machine and record dealers in Philadelphia for the week or ten days preceding the Fourth of July holidays.

The sudden spurt served to increase the optimistic outlook of the trade in general in this city regarding the Fall business, as the dealers admit that a pre-Fourth of July rush in business has not always proved to be the rule in the past except in those years when very prosperous times were ahead.

Therefore, they feel that they now have solid grounds upon which to base their general predictions that the Fall trade will prove to be exceptionally brisk and that the decline in business has passed. As a consequence all of the leading distributors are rounding up their forces to meet the heavy demands they anticipate from the dealers shortly.

Viewing the local talking machine and record business from every angle several of the leading distributors assert that the trade has a more healthy aspect at the present time than even they had hoped for a few months ago.

Believes in Canvassing

One of the dealers and distributors who believes that the business in the Fall will equal, if not exceed, previous records and who also believes that the best way to increase sales during comparatively dull times, such as the present is, by going out after the business in a vigorous fashion is H. W. Weymann, head of the well-known firm of H. A. Weymann & Son.

"Recently I have made a number of personal calls upon many of our Victor dealers to persuade them to put on outside canvassers for the purpose of boosting their business in Victor talking machines and records," said Mr. Weymann. "At first their objections to this course were based on the belief that it would not pay them to employ special canvassers during the Summer months. However, several of the dealers who decided to give my suggestion a trial have just reported that they have succeeded in selling a number of Victor machines of the portable type to families who will spend the Summer or their vacations at the seaside, in the country or in the mountains. "The sale of these small portable models, I know, will eventually lead to the purchase of more expensive cabinet models."

Mr. Weymann states that if all of the Weymann dealers will write to him, giving a list of the Victor records of which they have especially big stocks on hand the Weymann firm will give these records consideration when the list of records for the mid-month suggestion hanger is being made out, as this suggestion hanger is issued for the purpose of aiding the dealers in disposing of their surplus stock of Victor records.

Penn Co. Officials in New Offices

The officials of the Penn Phonograph Co. have just moved into their new offices, located on the second floor of the company's handsome building, at 913 Arch street, which was formerly used as a stockroom. The entire floor has been beautifully decorated and extensive alterations have been made during the past few months, until now the offices of T. W. Barnhill, the head of the Penn Phonograph Co., and those of his assistants and the general office force are undoubtedly among the most attractive that may be found in Philadelphia. The walls and ceilings of the new offices have been finished in a light cream color, which, combined with the many large plate-glass mirrors located decoratively in various parts of the second floor and the handsome indirect lighting fixtures, tend to give the offices a soft light that fills every corner.

Mr. Barnhill's personal offices are situated at the front of the building with the side and rear partitions made up largely of plate-glass, so that he has absolute privacy as far as sound is concerned, but at the same time he is able to see everything that is going on in the rest of the offices. Next to Mr. Barnhill's offices is found the elevator entrance, with the telephone switchboard, next to which is located a large and handsome display room. Back of this comes the spacious reception room, while at the rear of the building are the general offices, where the clerks are to be found.

Reports Heavy Jump in Orders

F. B. Reinecke, manager of the Louis Buehn Co. sales force, at 835 Arch street, reports that he is very much pleased and surprised by the remarkably large sales made during the first week of this month. He attributes this unusual spurt in business to the fact that the Buehn dealers undoubtedly have made big sales of talking machines and records prior to the Fourth of July holidays, with the natural result that they at once gave orders to fill up their stock.

Louis Buehn and his family have recently moved into their Summer home at Ocean City, N. J. Mr. Buehn is commuting to his office three or four days each week.

The Victor Co. has just sent to Mr. Reinecke a sample of the new wrapping envelopes which will be issued soon as coverings for the Victor records. Prior to this time the Victor Co. has never made a wrapping envelope and consequently all Victor dealers will welcome this innovation. He expects a stock of these envelopes within a week and, owing to the fact that the Victor Co. purchases them in large quantities, they will be sold at a very low price to the dealers.

G. W. Hoover Believes in Action

G. W. Hoover, president of the Philadelphia Victor Dealers' Association, whose store is located at 1031 Chestnut street, is of the opinion that now is the time for all the talking machine dealers to concentrate their efforts upon the sale of the portable models, as during the Summer months people want light, durable and efficient machines to take with them during their vacations. Mr. Hoover points out that the time for selling the more elaborate models is during the rest of the year, when people are at home.

Mr. Hoover states that there will be no further meetings of the Victor Dealers' Association during the Summer months, but that their regular sessions will be resumed in the Fall, when he expects that many items of considerable importance will be brought up for consideration and action.

Auto Fleet for Edison Field Men

With the acquisition of a new Ford roadster, especially equipped, the Girard Phonograph Co., Edison distributor, has done away almost wholly with railroad fares as part of salesmen's traveling expenses.

P. R. Hawley, manager of this organization, has aimed for a long time to organize a fleet of automobiles for the use of his traveling representatives. As proof of his contention that traveling by auto enables the men in the field to strike many towns not reached by railroads and that it does away with the endless delays provoked by railroad schedules, the entire staff has demonstrated that it can now cover just three times the ground that it heretofore has and with better results.

The new car, like those already in service, is equipped with a phonograph and a generous supply of re-creations. This affords the salesman an excellent opportunity to demonstrate the phonograph anywhere and at any time and it is no unusual sight in small towns to see one of these cars in front of a prospective dealer's store, with dozens of the townspeople standing about enjoying a midday concert.

Columbia Grafonola Dealers' Association Meets

The June meeting of the Columbia Grafonola Dealers' Association of Philadelphia was held on the 27th at the Hotel Adelphi. The entertainment and publicity committees submitted various reports for the meetings of the Columbia dealers to be held in Philadelphia this Fall and further details regarding these meetings will be presented to the members at the July session. A special drive for membership will be inaugu-

(Continued on page 84)

On Guard

Penn-Victor Dogs are the best watchmen of Victor Welfare in the Home.

Sold by most Victor Distributors. Write them or us for prices.

Penn Phonograph Company

913 Arch Street Philadelphia, Pa.

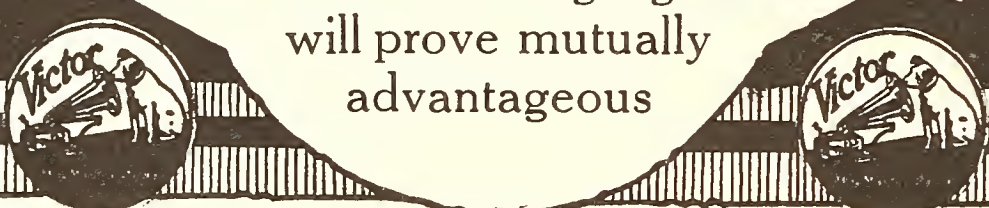

Victor Wholesale Only

THE TRADE IN PHILADELPHIA AND LOCALITY—(Continued from page 83)

H. A. WEYMANN & SON, Inc.
1108 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, Pa.
VICTOR WHOLESALERS

Q. R. S. PLAYER ROLLS
WEYMANN "KEYSTONE STATE" STRING INSTRUMENTS

YOUR BUSINESS
and OUR BUSINESS
are very much the same, "Mr. Victor
Retailer. We have the common purpose of increasing Victor merchandise sales. Getting together will prove mutually advantageous

rated before the next meeting and it is expected that this drive will produce substantial results.

George Ross, of the Ross Frankford Music Store, supplied the music for the races at the Frankford Driving Club Race Track, with a Columbia Grafonola and Columbia records in conjunction with a Magnavox. The music made such a hit that Mr. Ross secured several Grafonola prospects, including two of the judges.

W. C. Stiver, Jr., Undergoes Operation

William C. Stiver, Jr., field representative for the Girard Phonograph Co., local Edison distributor, has just recovered from an operation which took place a few weeks ago.

Having been formerly identified with the W. C. Stiver Co., Edison dealer in this city, and enjoying the acquaintance of practically every Edison dealer in the local territory, Mr. Stiver had the personal good wishes of the entire Edison trade during his illness.

Interesting Vocalion Records

The Lincoln Business Bureau, 1011 Race street, of which B. H. Rogers is the manager, and which is the local distributor for the Vocalion phonographs and Red records, has just issued a new list of twenty-four double-face records that have just been placed on the market. Included among these records is one that features a melody that is more than 200 years old. In telling of this record and the others on the list, Mr. Rogers said:

"A distinctly new art has been developed in the composition of the music settings for phonograph recording. Songs are not recorded 'as is' any longer. In fact, the Vocalion always strives to introduce appropriate pieces of musical scenery of a descriptive character that add materially to the effect of the whole composition."

Open Attractive Columbia Store

The South Ninth Street Talking Machine Shop has opened up a very attractive Columbia store at 903 South Ninth street. The owners of the store, Antonio Gallo and Joseph Caroley, are very enthusiastic regarding the possibilities for Columbia business and have arranged for an important advertising campaign.

Reports Encouraging Conditions

The Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor, reports an increased demand from its dealers during the last two weeks of June, which has continued to manifest itself thus far in July. Good Fall business is looked forward to.

G. W. Witney Tells of Heppe Activity

George W. Witney, manager of the C. J. Heppe & Son's store, tells of numerous sales within the last few weeks of the portable outing models of the Victor machines, which, he says, seem to be increasing in popularity with the general public by leaps and bounds.

Conditions With Weymann

H. W. Weymann, of H. A. Weymann & Son, is commuting each day between the Quaker City and Atlantic City, where he is spending the Summer months with his family at one of the well-known hotels. He says that fully 50 per cent of the Weymann dealers have placed their advance orders for Victrolas for September, October, November and December, and from this fact he declares that it is apparent that these dealers seem to hold his views to the effect that the Fall trade will establish new records and that in accordance with this optimistic outlook the dealers wish to be prepared to meet the demands of their customers and consequently are placing their orders now so that they "will not be caught napping."

Enlarged Quarters for Stern & Co.

Stern & Co. have just completed an addition of 10,000 square feet to the second floor of their building at 712 Market street. The Columbia department, which is located on the second floor, is included in the improvement and plans are being made for an active Fall trade. This is a Unico-equipped department throughout, which, naturally, made rearrangement and enlargement easily accomplished. The department is under the management of Miss Frances J. Eastbrom.

HAWLEY ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

Manager of Girard Phonograph Co., Edison Distributor, Pictures Life of Edison

ALLENTOWN, PA., July 3.—Unusual interest surrounded the regular noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club here recently, when P. R. Hawley, manager of the Girard Phonograph Co., Philadelphia, Edison distributor, gave the members a verbal picture of the life of Thomas A. Edison and of the invention of the phonograph.

W. J. Flach, secretary and treasurer of the Yeager Store, Inc., Edison dealer, was chairman of the luncheon and introduced Mr. Hawley, who had been invited to visit Allentown especially for the occasion. Following the address Albert Schantz, a violinist well known in Coopersburg, entertained the members with several numbers, including a tone test with the phonograph, which was generously applauded.

Both the Allentown newspapers gave space to the address in full and expressed the belief that the renewed interest in the phonograph engendered by the affair would prove an added stimulus to the trade in that community.

MUSIC MASTER HORN POPULAR

Product of General Radio Corp., Philadelphia, of Great Acoustic Merit—Also Handles Radio Parts and Equipment—New Dealers Added

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 5.—The Music Master horn, announced by the General Radio Corp., of this city, last month, has met with much popularity among the talking machine dealers carrying radio equipment. Mr. Eckhardt points particularly to its laminated wood construction as the best suitable means for magnifying sound naturally. It is claimed that this horn produces an exceptional volume of sound and at the same time retains the true tonal quality of the singer, the full richness and accurate shadings of expression. Mr. Eckhardt stated that the Music Master horn has the advantage of being a tested, fully proved invention, having been fully accepted in the difficult requirements of talking machine circles. These horns, attractively built and finished, are planned in two sizes, twenty-one-inch for concert work and fourteen-inch for the home.

The General Radio Corp. is also the producer of the "Geraco" line of radio parts and equipment. Mr. Eckhardt states that a number of new dealers have been added to its list.

Stimulates
Talking Machine Business!
The PHONO-TONER
TRADE MARK
(Registered in U. S. Patent Office)

Renders softer, sweeter music and reduces surface noise.

You cannot find a more satisfactory answer to that oft repeated objection—"Too much surface noise."

Retails for 35c. and 50c.
Regular Trade Discounts.

The Phono-Toner (actual size)

The Phono-Tone Co.
310 Lincoln Building
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Forms handle
for needle set-
screw.

Italian Music Rolls
Largest collection of Italian and other foreign music rolls in the United States. Catalogs and discounts on application.
UNITED MUSIC STORES
619 Cherry Street Philadelphia, Pa.
225 W. Mulberry St. Baltimore, Md.

DECALCOMANIA

Name Plates for Talking Machines, Pianos, etc.
High Class Workmanship
Write us for further information
National Decalcomania Co.
220-230 N. 60th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Only 50 Cents

The Talking Machine World Trade Directory has filled a long standing want of the industry. It is kept as a handy reference volume on the desks of a large number of the members of the talking machine industry where, in an instant, it provides detailed knowledge about this or that company and the products made by each company.

It gives the kind of information it would otherwise consume much time to secure. For instance, it will give you a complete up-to-date list of the manufacturers and jobbers who comprise the talking machine industry, including the invaluable data about each concern, such as location of factories, names of officers, location of branch offices, trade names controlled, policy of marketing product, etc., etc.

HERE IS WHAT SUBSCRIBERS SAY:

"Your 1922 Model Talking Machine World Trade Directory reached us all right, and the writer went over it carefully yesterday at his home, and we wish to compliment you. There has never been a Trade Directory got up that has been so accurate as regards firms listed and that has covered the field so thoroughly.

"There is no question but that this Directory will prove of real, tangible benefit, not only to its advertisers and those who are listed in same, but to the general dealer trade at large, who have needed a directory of just this nature."

"We congratulate you on the appearance of The Talking Machine World Trade Directory and trust that you will make it a yearly feature of your business.

"We could use two more copies of this publication in our organization to great advantage, therefore request that you send them to us, proper billing.

"Just before closing wish to state that we consider the move on your part of issuing a directory of the talking machine industry as being one of the most forward movements occurring in the industry for several years."

Only 50 Cents

Only 50 Cents

USE THIS COUPON NOW

Send Stamps or Check

EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc.,
373 Fourth Ave., New York City.

Gentlemen:

Please send me postage prepaid a copy of the 1922 edition of The Talking Machine World Trade Directory, in payment for which I enclose 50 cents.

Name

Firm

Street

City and State

HOT LIPS

The New "Wang Wang Blues"
by the same Writer.

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

HEAR IT NOW!

He's got hot lips — When he plays Jazz, — He draws out steps.

BUEGELEISEN & JACOBSON CATALOG

New Edition Admirably Produced With Great Line of Musical Instruments That Make Wide Appeal—Many New Lines Added

Buegeleisen & Jacobson, importers and wholesalers of musical merchandise, New York City, have just presented to the trade their 1922 catalog, known as No. 120. The new edition is up-to-the-minute in every detail and contains within its covers an exceptionally wide variety of salable musical merchandise from the various markets of the world. Although larger in scope, the 1922 catalog has been compiled with less number of pages. This has been accomplished by reducing the number of illustrations. Those left, however, show complete details and give the dealer all the required information for making his selection. Many new lines have been added and improvements made where possible. The numbers shown have been carefully selected and criticized by both the buyers and sales staff, who are intimately familiar with the wants of the trade.

The merchandise listed is of such standard makes as Lester, Monarch and Salanti accordions, Duss band harmonicas, Durro & Durro Master violins, bows, strings and accessories and the S. S. Stewart line. Particular attention is directed in the catalog to the Automat showcases, which are described therein. Buegeleisen & Jacobson report that their many dealers have found these showcases of invaluable assistance in the handling of sundries and strings, and that they enable them to carry a small but complete line in a very limited space. Attention is called to the probable increased tariff on imported musical merchandise and its corresponding effect on the cost of these instruments. The company hopes, however, that the prices on domestic lines will remain stable, although the contemplated change in the tariff might have some effect.

INVENTS NEW RECORD FILE

W. H. Snyder, Long Island City, N. Y., is the inventor of a new device for filing records, which will be known as the "Recordpark." A company is now being formed to manufacture and market this new filing device, which embodies several distinctive features. The "Recordpark" is built on the principle known as the "compression-expansion" method of storage, whereby records are supported and adjusted under pressure between plates, with means for expanding the capacity.

COMBINED RADIO AND TALKER

The Concertola Corp., of New York City, which is the jobber for the National line of talking machines, is placing on the market a combined radio and talking machine within one console cabinet. It is expected that production will shortly be obtained and the new addition to the line will be marketed in an energetic manner.

L. K. Tipton, Victor dealer at 506 East Grand avenue, Beloit, Wis., has discontinued business.

AN ATTRACTIVE OHIO STORE

Establishment of Chas. M. Zitzer in Mansfield Most Modern in Every Particular

MANSFIELD, O., July 5.—There are many very handsome talking machine stores in the State of Ohio, stores upon which have been spent much time and money, but one of the most attractive of the lot, according to talking machine men who know, is that of Charles M. Zitzer,

Interior of Zitzer's Handsome Store

well-known Victor dealer in this city. The equipment of the Zitzer store is most modern in every particular, as is indicated by the accompanying illustration. The entire arrangement has been highly praised by traveling men, among them F. L. Fritchey, of the Perry B. Whitsit Co., who has an opportunity to study the arrangement of many establishments.

KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH THE TRADE

The Wall-Kane Needle Mfg. Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., manufacturer of the semi-permanent needle of that name, reports satisfactory business. The executives of this concern are strong believers in keeping in close touch with the trade and are energetically going after business. B. Cohen, brother of the president of the company, is on the road in the interest of the Wall-Kane needle and has now reached as far as the Pacific Coast. Mr. Cohen reports that conditions on the Coast are good and is attesting this through the orders he is sending in.

S. Kaminshine returned from a trip through Canada with optimistic reports of present and future conditions in the Dominion.

N. Cohen, president of the company, left recently for a trip embracing the principal cities in Canada.

L. G. Evans, of 225 West King street, Lancaster, Pa., has leased a store in that city, which he will open as a talking machine and musical instrument business in the near future.

The West Piano Co., dealer in talking machines and pianos, of Moorhead, Minn., is remodeling and enlarging its store.

"Musical Merchandise Sales Are Keeping Us Going—"

That's what a customer from up-state tells us.

He has found his Small Goods department a life-saver. The brisk business he's been doing in the smaller instruments and accessories has kept down overhead, brought new customers into his store (every one of them a phonograph prospect) and paid profits!

And Musical Merchandise can do the same for YOUR Store.

Send for our new illustrated Catalog and our Confidential Trade Price List No. 4. These two FREE books make Musical Merchandise buying easy—successful.

THE FRED. GRETSCH MFG. CO.

Musical Instrument Makers

60 BROADWAY

Since 1883

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

LOS ANGELES

Portable Machines Lead Demand—New Columbia Store—Prominent Visitors—Sherman, Clay & Co. to Move—Trade Activities

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 1.—Sales of talking machines during the month of June seemed to show a slight slackening, although, according to a number of reports, business from departments at least equaled and, in many cases, exceeded that of the corresponding period of last year. The jobbers and distributors generally report their sales to be above anticipation.

Southern California Association Honored

A letter has been received from C. L. Dennis, secretary of the National Association of Music Merchants, which was addressed to Secretary Farquharson, of the Music Trades Association of Southern California, announcing that the National Association banner for organized effort had been awarded to the Southern California Association. The banner is being properly inscribed and will be officially presented at the July general meeting.

Sherman, Clay President in Town

The Victor dealers of Los Angeles were greatly pleased to receive a visit from Philip Clay, president of Sherman, Clay & Co., during the last week in June. Mr. Clay had just returned from the jobbers' convention in Atlantic City and returned by way of Los Angeles, where, accompanied by the genial Charlie Ruggles, Los Angeles manager, he made a number of calls on the trade.

Motion Picture People Keen for Portables

W. H. Richardson, president of Richardson's, Inc., reports the sale of Victor portables to Gloria Swanson, Paramount star, and to Tom Moore, famous Goldwyn artist. Richardson's has sold quite a number of portables to motion picture people, who use them when "out on location" as well as for their own private use. The Motion Picture Directors' Association also recently bought a beautiful console or period model phonograph from Richardson's, which they installed in their club house.

Columbia Field Sales Manager in Los Angeles

Robert Porter, field sales manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co., spent several days in Los Angeles last month, where he held a number of salesmen's meetings and visited the trade in the city as well as out of town.

New Columbia Store in San Bernardino

R. L. Tamplin, owner of the Columbia Stores Co., operating an exclusive Columbia store in San Diego, which has been extremely successful during the eight months it has been established, has opened a second store at San Bernardino, which he calls "The Store Beautiful." The general design is patterned after the main store in San Diego, with the decorating scheme somewhat different. Following the same plan inaugurated in his San Diego store, Mr. Tamplin will handle Columbia products exclusively in San Bernardino, and he states that this is number two of a chain of stores which he intends establishing throughout southern California.

Dupont Takes on Columbia Line

Thomas Dupont has opened a new exclusive Columbia establishment at 854 South Hill street. He had been handling several lines of phonographs at another location, but on moving to his new store decided to handle the Columbia line exclusively.

Robert F. Porter a Visitor

Robert F. Porter, field sales manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co., paid a visit to this city a few weeks ago on a tour of inspection of the Pacific Coast branches. While in this territory he called on all of the Columbia dealers, giving them the benefit of his experience and knowledge in the general merchandising field.

Swanson Portable Great Success

R. W. Moon, sales manager of the Swanson Co., Los Angeles, has made a phenomenally fine sales record with the Swanson portable phonograph on the Pacific Coast. Between March 10 of the present year and the first week of June he sold over 100,000 of these home and vacation joy bringers. Mr. Moon left for Chicago last month and was forming plans to take over the distribution of the Swanson throughout the entire country.

Blue Bird Man Comes South

After spending several weeks in San Francisco and in the northern part of the State I. S. Lessor, special representative of the Blue Bird Talking Machine Co., returned to Los Angeles for a few days last month. He reported that he had been devoting a good deal of time to the radio supply business and had secured several thousand dollars' worth of orders for cabinets for the Radio Supply Co., which is affiliated with the Blue Bird Talking Machine Co.

Sherman, Clay & Co. Move

Sherman, Clay & Co., Victor distributors, are having a new building specially erected for them, at the corner of Tenth and Santee streets. Unfortunately this building is not yet completed and their lease in Parmelee Dohrmann Building having expired and their old quarters being urgently needed by the owners, it became necessary to obtain temporary headquarters with the Wood Mfg. Co. Manager Ruggles reports that, in spite of the inconvenience caused, service to Victor dealers has been uninterrupted and no complaints have been received.

Good Results From Campaign

The Eastern Outfitting Co., of this city, which opened its first selected dealers' Grafonola newspaper advertising campaign last month, has completed the campaign and reports the sale of 250 instruments as a direct result of this drive. The company is delighted with the success of the campaign, which was far beyond all expectations. This enterprising dealer recently added an automobile truck to its delivery service for the exclusive use of the Grafonola department, a novel feature of the truck being the fact that there is painted in colors on each side a reproduction of the illustration used on the front cover of the Columbia record supplement in February, 1922.

Los Angeles Salesman Goes to Seattle

C. H. Meurs, who is known very well in Los Angeles, where he had been employed in several phonograph departments as a salesman, left here for Seattle last month to fill a position with the Bush & Lane Piano Co. Mr. Meurs, in addition to being an excellent salesman, is an enthusiast in music and grand opera.

George W. Lyle in Los Angeles

George W. Lyle, president of the Manufacturers' Phonograph Corp., spent several days in Los Angeles last month and was met by Walter S. Gray, of the Walter S. Gray Co., of San Francisco. Mr. Lyle, who has many friends in the trade on the Pacific Coast, reported excellent sales of the Strand phonograph, both in Los Angeles and in the East.

SUGG & ROUNTREE BUILDING STORE

KINSTON, N. C., July 8.—Sugg & Rountree, of this city, dealers in musical instruments, including talking machines, are erecting a new store in order to facilitate the handling of their increased business. The company also plans to increase its stock as soon as the new establishment is completed.

Every Sale Counts This Time of Year

There is a good steady profit to be made during the summer months by displaying and featuring Sonora Semi-Permanent Needles. They are easy sellers because the Sonora name is on every package and because they are the ideal needles for dancing.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

Semi-Permanent NEEDLES

Note the long, uniform shaft on the needle point magnified above. That is what makes it possible to play fifty or more records with these needles, with the minimum of wear on the record.

Send in your order today and boost your July and August profits.

CAUTION! Beware of similarly constructed needles of inferior quality.

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.

GEORGE E. BRIGHTSON
President

279 Broadway New York

Canadian Distributors:
I. Montagnes & Co., Toronto

MOTORS

(Swiss)

DOUBLE SPRING

Suitable for Portable Phonographs

Stock On Hand, Ready For Delivery

Sample $3.75—Write for One

MERMOD & CO., 874 Broadway
N. Y.

NEW ORLEANS

Effective Advertising Stimulates Sales of Machines—Satisfactory Upward Trend in Business During June—Month's News

NEW ORLEANS, LA., July 5.—A general improvement has been experienced throughout the music trade during the month of June. Nearly all dealers report a much better month than May and some state that the past month was better than June, 1921. It remained, however, for the out-of-town salesmen to report the prize sales of the month.

The success of the two projects has in both instances been attributed to well-planned and organized advertising. The first took place in Brewton, Ala., where the Hainje Specialty Co. sold, in less than eight weeks, one hundred and thirty-two Grafonolas, one carload, and the drive is not over yet. J. A. Hainje, president and manager of the firm, has branch stores at Atmore and Century, which are also working hard in the campaign. His record sales have been correspondingly as large.

Down in Biloxi, Miss., J. A. Abrams, who ran two full pages and six half-page ads in the Daily Herald on Tuesdays and Fridays from May 20 to June 9, reports the following result: "Thirty-four Columbia instruments, ranging in price from $60 to $175, were sold. The down payments received were $417.25 and about two hundred inquiries from various parts of this section were received from people whom we hope to sell later on. This was during our duller months."

Mrs. Trembley, at the Dugan Piano Co., reports a much improved trade, though they have not pushed the advertising as much as in the earlier months.

"The people seem to be freer with their money now that the danger of the flood is over and cases of unemployment have become fewer among the solicited public," said Mrs. Trembley. "The horizontal model has been our best seller, but our record sales show a big increase within the past month. This is due partly to the Wallace Reducing Record, which Dugan is featuring now, and partly to the noted increase in demand for popular music."

At Werlein's Manager Powell agrees that there has been an improvement in buying and states that he has received his share and that the salesmen are kept in a stream of perspiration all the time answering questions put to them by the many buyers. The portable model has been the feature of the selling. Everyone seems to want a Portable to take away with him during the Summer and the demand shows no sign of abatement. Lucille Hawley is the latest addition to the sales force of this establishment.

Ralph Young, sales manager of Grunewald, has found the mahogany Victor cased portable his biggest seller and popular records going like hot cakes. Cash sales have been fine.

Over at the Edison Co. things have been rather quiet during the past month in spite of the new models that have come out. However, sales are not below normal for this season of the year and a good Fall business is looked for there.

A. Sparrow, head of the Southern district of the Columbia Co., reports business in the northern part of Louisiana as booming. He has just opened three new accounts up there. The territory is also good, but the northern part of Mississippi is quiet.

THE PORTABLOOP

The logical antenna for congested districts, offices and apartments

List Price
$10.00

Order a sample now

210 Central Avenue

REPAIRS

TALKING MACHINE TROUBLES AND HOW TO REMEDY THEM

Conducted by Andrew H. Dodin

Getting Volume From a Portable

Englewood, N. J., June 15, 1922.

Andrew H. Dodin,

Talking Machine World, New York.

Dear Sir: I have a portable machine and cannot seem to get any volume of sound from it, even with an extra loud needle. This machine has a horn on the left side of the cabinet extending to the front. Do you think, if I rebuilt this cabinet with a horn constructed on the style of the Victor portable, that I would get better results? If so, what wood would you suggest using for the horn part? (Signed) T. Sansone, Englewood, N. J.

Answer: Nearly all the portable machines on the market that are constructed with a side horn lack both volume and quality of tone. The chief reason of this is in the fact that there is hardly any semblance of a horn in the machine, a piece of thin board is merely curved around the motor, a small block of wood, cut at an angle, is glued just underneath the tone arm opening (on the bottom of the cabinet), presumably for the sound to strike and be forced to the front of the cabinet. The material that these makeshift horns are made of, combined with their shape and size, naturally prevents good results.

If you have carefully examined the Victor portable you will find that the idea of the cast-iron horn elbow and wood bell used in all Victrolas is carried out on a smaller scale in this model. The top lid of the machine also adds to the volume of tone, for the sound, after leaving the horn, is reflected by the lid and its fine varnished surface is no doubt a factor in the surprisingly good results obtained.

If you could reconstruct your machine in such a way as to make use of the lid as a reflector—first lining it with oak or spruce, well varnished and rubbed smooth—I am sure that you would get good results.

As to the wood for the horn, oak, spruce or mahogany are all worth trying.

Correcting Motor Slipping

Ilion, N. Y., June 24, 1922.

Talking Machine World, New York.

Gentlemen: Can you advise me, through your repair column, how I can stop the following trouble in my Columbia machine? This is a machine with a three-spring motor and it seems that after playing about one-half of a record the pitch of the tone will change and keep going up and down the scale for some time, when it will stop and run along all right. I have had the motor apart, graphited the main springs and oiled all parts thoroughly, but cannot seem to stop the trouble. Could it be caused by one of the gears being badly worn? Your help would be appreciated. (Signed) P. J. Conway.

Answer: Your trouble is one that is often met with. It is entirely in the governor of the machine and the governor friction pads (the two little felt pads that act as a check on the speed of the governor). I would take the governor apart, clean the governor shaft with emery cloth until it is absolutely smooth and bright, try it in the governor disc, see that it will work freely without sticking at any spot. Assemble the balls and springs in their correct position, being sure that the governor springs are all of the same shape so that one would not have a greater tension or pull than the other. The governor balls must be firmly attached to the springs.

Replace the governor in the motor. Now take the friction pad frame and remove the little felt pads and see if there is a hard spot on the surfaces which rub against the governor disc. In case there is, cut a thin slice of the pad off with an old razor blade. Soak the pads well in oil, replace in the frame, being sure to have them held tight by the little clamps or fingers of the frame, then place the frame into position in the motor. It will probably be necessary to re-set your speed indicator, inasmuch as you have changed the position of the felt pads.

You will find that if you go over these points very carefully that the trouble will be cured, and can be prevented in the future by more frequent oiling of the felt pads, which will prevent a hard spot forming on them.

No. 35767/10 Palm Plant, natural prepared, everlasting in green.

My SEASONABLE CATALOGUE No. 35 containing illustrations in colors of Artificial Flowers, Plants, Vines, Garlands, Hanging Baskets, etc., will be MAILED FREE ON REQUEST.

	Inches High	Palm Leaves	With Pot	Without Pot
35767/24	24	10	$1.50	$1.00
35767/5	30	5	1.00	.75
35767/7	42	7	2.00	1.50
35767/10	48	10	2.50	2.00

FRANK NETSCHERT
61 BARCLAY ST. NEW YORK, N. Y.

WALTER CAMP'S DAILY DOZEN

NOT AN EXPERIMENT, BUT A PROVEN SUCCESS

An imitation "twelve" can never equal the DAILY DOZEN, because any system of physical culture exercise records cannot possibly be any greater than the man who conceives or directs them.

Walter Camp is recognized internationally as America's foremost athletic authority. His system, known as the DAILY DOZEN, has been universally accepted as the acme of perfection in physical culture exercise.

Dealers handling Walter Camp's DAILY DOZEN on HEALTH BUILDERS records have the satisfaction of knowing that they represent the original and best obtainable system of exercise records on the market.

HEALTH BUILDERS' national advertising has educated the public to look for Walter Camp's signature before buying physical exercise records. None genuine without Walter Camp's signature.

Write us today for sample and full information

HEALTH BUILDERS

DEPARTMENT W7

334 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK, N. Y.

When the mountain wouldn't come to Mahomet, Mahomet went to the mountain. Get your truck in action, put a Grafonola aboard and a stock of records and go get 'em. Your Dealer Service Man can furnish a large facsimile Columbia Record sign for display; a weather-proof, padded cover for the Grafonola; a special rack so records will ride safely.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

SAN FRANCISCO

Increased Business Follows Shriner Conclave—Strong Demand for Portable Models—Magnavox Co. Enlarging Plant—The News

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 5.—As a result of the National Shriner Conclave in San Francisco this month there has arisen a great deal of discussion among the retailers as to the benefits of conventions and carnivals to the merchant. During Shriner Week retail business was almost at a standstill. Everybody was too busy enjoying himself to think of buying. The visitors, of course, patronized the hotels and restaurants and bought souvenirs of all sorts, but they did very little in the way of stimulating business in general. Chinatown did a rushing business. But the good from conventions usually comes after the events have passed. Every visitor to the Pacific Coast in a measure becomes a missionary and the ultimate effect is that the stream of new settlers to the Coast is kept flowing. New settlers are what the Coast wants; new citizens are a permanent asset. The money spent entertaining visitors is well spent and undoubtedly the business man who stays with the game will profit. The week after the Shriner convention retail business showed a marked increase and business has been very fair since. More money is in circulation and the talking machine dealers are getting a share along with the rest.

The demand for portable talking machines is splendid this season, and record business is good. Medium-priced machines are also moving pretty well, but the expensive models are lagging for the moment. Radio interest has not yet reached the peak, apparently, and broadcasting programs of high merit are featured for almost every half hour of the day and evening.

As a result of the broadcasting of operatic selections in connection with the recent grand opera season at the Stanford Stadium at Palo Alto, the demand for Martinelli records and other classics was much increased in San Francisco and vicinity. Martinelli was the star tenor of the Stanford opera company, which gave a series of wonderful performances in the open air and which drew audiences of vast numbers.

The Magnavox Co. is enlarging its manufacturing plant in Oakland and when the improvements are completed the capacity of the factory will be at least doubled. The demand for the loud speaker is growing fast day by day on account of its value in radio concerts. The plant of the Magnavox Co. is situated on the outskirts of Oakland in the midst of beautifully laid out grounds and flower gardens.

C. T. Compton, acting manager of the Phonograph Shop on Stockton street, is spending a three weeks' vacation with his family party at the Yosemite Valley. The party has an automobile camping outfit, including a portable Sonora phonograph. A very attractive show window of the Phonograph Shop is devoted to a display of an ideal camping outfit in which a portable phonograph is prominently featured. Bent Davies, who represents the Sonora Co. in southern California, is taking Mr. Compton's place in his absence.

John Foster, manager of the San Francisco store of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., has been transferred to the new store of the company in Los Angeles.

Clark Wise, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Wise leave this week for a short vacation at Napa Soda Springs. Mr. Wise, who is a Shriner, says business after the convention picked up pretty well, though he regrets the shortage of portable Victor machines, which is somewhat of a handicap at this time.

Mr. Abrams, manager of the wholesale and retail phonograph department of Kohler & Chase, is taking a trip down the San Joaquin Valley in the interests of Burnham machines and Okeh records.

Mr. Corcoran, manager of the San Francisco wholesale department of the Brunswick Co., has been calling on the trade in the Sacramento Valley. He says business was quiet in Sacramento during the big Forty-niner carnival.

Frank Crumb, of Marysville, one of the most successful dealers handling the Brunswick line exclusively in California, is installing several additional booths in his store. Business is satisfactory in northern California.

C. L. Hemphill, vice-president of the Commercial Investment Trust Co., of New York, which firm is largely interested in financing Brunswick dealers, has just paid a business visit to San Francisco.

Louis Schroeder, manager of the talking machine department of the John Breuner Co., Sacramento, is spending his Summer vacation with his home folks in Oakland, together with his newly acquired bride.

J. J. Black, of the Wiley B. Allen Co., has gone to the Hawaiian Islands with the Shriner expedition. All the stores of the Wiley B. Allen Co. on the Coast close this Summer from June 17 to July 29 at noon on Saturdays.

The new phonograph department of the Sterling Furniture Co., in this city, has enjoyed such a success that it has already found it expedient to enlarge the department. The space has been remodeled and beautifully decorated and in connection there is a miniature bungalow in which a Brunswick phonograph is displayed. Everett Saxe is manager of the department.

The new Victor record, "You Won't Be Sorry," a dance piece played by Whiteman's Orchestra, has made a fine start toward popularity on the Coast since it was released a few weeks ago. This selection is one of the song hits published by Sherman, Clay & Co.

The California Phonograph Co. has closed its Oakland store and will concentrate all business at the San Francisco establishment. Some of the Oakland stock was taken over by Harry N. Chesebrough, the well-known music dealer of Oakland. Manager Jessen was recalled to the San Francisco store of the California Phonograph Co.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY IN ENGLAND

English Mercantile Firm Is in the Market for Talking Machine Motors and Records

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—A mercantile firm in England, having a representative in the United States, desires to purchase talking machine motors and records, according to a request received by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here. Quotations should be f.o.b. American port. Terms, payment against documents. References are offered. Further information can be secured by communicating with the bureau or any of its district offices and referring to opportunity No. 2736.

LAYTON BROS. VISIT GOTHAM

Recent visitors to Gotham included E. C. Bray, sales and advertising manager of Layton Bros., Ltd., of Montreal, Can., and Armitage and Gilbert Layton, who were in search of ideas relative to the talking machine and radio fields which they could apply to use in their territory in Canada.

Nelson V. Edgar, 162 S. Glassell street, Orange, Cal., is planning to open a music store in the near future.

THE SHELTON Electric Motor

The "Simplicity" electrifies Victor, Edison and Columbia phonographs by simply taking off winding handle and placing motor against turntable. Automatic switch in motor operated when the turntable is started or stopped. Operating on AC or DC current of 110 volts. Specify type of current when ordering.

SHELTON ELECTRIC CO., 16 East 42nd Street, New York

HAPPENINGS IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA

MERCHANTS IN TORONTO ADOPT AGGRESSIVE METHODS

Unusually Enticing Window Displays Aid Machine and Record Business—Vocalion Records by Canadian Artists Well Received—Changes and Trade Activities of the Month

TORONTO, ONT., July 7.—That a great musical movement is afoot in Canada was affirmed by Dr. A. S. Vogt, Dr. James L. Hughes and Duncan McKenzie at the close of a fascinating demonstration of educational talking machine records at the Toronto Conservatory of Music. This was the first of a series of six evenings. The hall was filled to capacity and the audience of teachers and friends listened with intense interest as it was shown how children in the junior grades could be introduced to the best music through the use of reproducing machines.

Your correspondent noticed in the window of one of the biggest music stores in Canada the other day a card bearing the titles of ten "His Master's Voice" records. These records appeared under the headline, "Album of the Immortals," and nearby was an album filled with each of the ten records: 87070, "For You Alone" (Caruso); 87243, "O Sole Mio" (Caruso); 64454, "Gavotte-Mignon" (Maud Powell); 18595, "Train Time at Pum'kin Center" (Cal Stewart), and "Uncle Josh and Nancy Put Up the Stove" (Cal Stewart); 64457, "Barcarolle—Tales of Hoffman" (Maud Powell); 64411, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" (Evan Williams); 64389, "Just Awear'ing for You" (Evan Williams); 87321, "A Dream" (Caruso); 18311, "Narcissus" and "Humoresque" (Felix Arndt); 18284, "Valse Blue" and "Marionette" (Felix Arndt)—a good idea.

A new link in the phonograph store chain of Welland, Ont., is Tuck's Music Store, which carries Starr phonographs and Starr-Gennett records.

P. P. Kruger, 212 Victor avenue, has been granted patent rights on a new design of phonograph tone arm and reproducer.

Minifies Music Store, Sarnia, has lately sold the Sarnia School Board three Columbia Grafonolas. The Canadian Radio Corp., Ltd., has been allowed by Ottawa fourteen claims on an electrical device for producing musical notes. Said device is registered under number 217813.

Several of the music stores in and around Windsor, Ont., ran special displays to mark the "Better Furnished Homes Week" held there recently. The Malloney-Connolley Piano Co. issued a special invitation to the public to visit the store and familiarize themselves with its lines, including pianos and Vocalion and Edison phonographs. Grinnell Bros. had their show window artistically laid out to represent a completely furnished living-room. The Columbia Grafonola Store featured an electric Grafonola as a suitable companion for a nicely furnished home. H. R. Sill's Music Store, of Walkerville, also co-operated by a varied display of musical instruments and sheet music.

Marguerite D'Alvarez, the great Peruvian contralto and Vocalion artist, made a very agreeable impression upon her audience while in this city recently.

The Scythes-Vocalion Co., Ltd., of this city, is now offering for sale Vocalion records made by Albert Downing, well-known Canadian tenor, who has the honor of being the first Canadian to make records for this company.

Arrangements have been completed by this company with Miss Lorraine Wyman, a widely-known singer, to record French-Canadian folk songs for the Vocalion.

Employees and staff of Layton Bros., Ltd., Edison, Brunswick and Columbia dealers, were guests at the fourth annual picnic and outing given by Philip E. and Herbert A. Layton recently at Otterburn Park. Between seventy-five and eighty employees, with their wives, children, sweethearts and friends, enjoyed one of the most successful "get-together" meetings held by the firm.

"TALKER" AND RADIO CONCERTS FOR MONTREAL KIDDIES

Musical Concerts of Educational Nature to Be Held in Various Playgrounds—Record Artists Appear in Local Theatres—V. P. Bouvier Plans Trip—News of the Month

MONTREAL, CAN., July 8.—It was announced by Dr. Gadbois, director of playgrounds, that the first open-air radio concert for children will be held shortly, as soon as arrangements are completed for the instruments. The demonstration will be educational as well as entertaining, and will be held at Parc Lafontaine. Besides the radio show, a talking machine will also dispense music for the kiddies. If the experiment at Parc Lafontaine is successful the apparatus will be taken around to the various playgrounds.

J. Donat Langelier, Ltd., has installed a radio department in addition to its phonograph and piano business.

The Famous Chicago Novelty Orchestra appeared recently in person at the Princess Theatre, Sherbrooke, Que., and was billed as Columbia and Edison artists.

"Fronsi," Edison accordion artist, recently appeared here in vaudeville at the Imperial Theatre (Keith's) and demonstrated his talent as a master of his instrument.

Gingras Pianos & Gramophones, Ltd., this city, has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors.

V. P. Bouvier, of Bouvier, Ltd., Edison and Columbia distributor, St. Catherine street, East, will shortly visit New York on a combined pleasure and business jaunt and while in the vicinity will take a trip to the Edison plant in Orange, N. J. This concern has opened a branch store at 1255 St. Lawrence boulevard, specializing in foreign Columbia records. Henry Rheame is in charge.

C. W. Lindsay, Ltd., recently gave over its handsome show windows to a display of Stewart machines, appropriate suggestions directing attention to their popularity as a suitable companion for Summer camps and homes. A most effective showing of various Columbia Grafonola models was also staged.

The Venetian Gardens has the distinction of being the first cabaret in the Dominion of Canada to install individual radio telephones at each table for the entertainment of guests.

This is the way Goodwin's, Ltd., of this city, advertised "Walter Camp's Daily Dozen": "Music's the medicine of the mind," wrote John Logan in his Danish Ode. "It turns out now that it's the medicine of the muscle, too—Walter Camp's Daily Dozen is a set of physical exercises set to music. And inspiring music. People who may have found exercise tedious mentally will find this method an enjoyable recreation. Good for reducing also.

"Five records in an album—vocal instructions and instrumental time—a chart of exercises—the lot for $15."

Arthur Blouin, Sherbrooke, Que., is reorganizing and enlarging his record department. A practical young lady will shortly preside over this end of the business. Mr. Blouin reports the sale of new Columbia Grafonolas and Brunswick phonographs as quite satisfactory.

The local branch of the Musical Merchandise Sales Co., Toronto, Brunswick distributor, which is under the management of S. J. O'Donnell, has been moved from 719 Drummond Building to 364 St. Catherine street, East.

The leading music stores handling "talkers," as well as the exclusive talking machine shops, are closing at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoons during the months of June, July and August.

The Berliner Gramophone Co., Ltd., has secured the selling rights in Canada for Walter Camp's Daily Dozen and it is putting out a large number of sets daily.

Brown's Talking Machine Shop will shortly install a radio department. It reports a goodly demand for "His Master's Voice" console models, which it claims are selling freely, a large number of users turning in their table models in exchange for the newer console types.

Miss Didier, in charge of the phonograph department of Dupuis Frères, has on more than one occasion made direct importations from Paris, France, of Pathé records, for which she has a large sale, particularly the complete grand operatic selections. She also handles the machine manufactured in Paris, France, of which she sells quite a number.

"HONEST QUAKER" LINE IN CANADA

The G. L. Laing Co., talking machine accessory jobber, 41 Richmond street, Toronto, has completed arrangements to handle "Honest Quaker" mainsprings in Canada. These springs, manufactured by Everybody's Talking Machine Co., of Philadelphia, comprise styles adaptable to any kind of motor. In addition a complete line of motor parts manufactured by this concern will be handled by the G. L. Laing Co., which is planning a vigorous campaign.

HEADS CANADIAN PLAZA OFFICE

TORONTO, CAN., July 7.—M. G. Beatty, well known in the talking machine jobbing trade here, has taken over the Canadian office of the Plaza Music Co., of New York City. Mr. Beatty's headquarters are located in this city and he carries a complete stock of talking machine accessories and repair parts for talking machine motors.

Talking Machine Springs and Repair Parts

NONE BETTER IN QUALITY

NONE LOWER IN PRICE

THE RENÉ MANUFACTURING CO. MONTVALE, NEW JERSEY

I don't know why I should cry o-ver you, sigh o-ver you, e-ven be blue,

The Big Waltz Ballad Hit

Why Should I Cry Over You

It's Another "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry"

HEAR IT NOW!

"You can't go wrong With any FEIST song"

SALT LAKE CITY

Dealers in This Territory Most Optimistic Regarding Trade Outlook—Interested in Radio—Many New Talker Agencies Opened

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, July 1.—Some of the dealers in talking machines seem to be doing fine just now. The O'Loughlin Co., which will handle the Brunswick line exclusively hereafter, expects to do nearly twice as much business this month as it did in June of last year. "Ukulele" Hughes, formerly with the Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co., where he had charge of the small goods department, is with this firm now and he tells your correspondent that the company is putting on a "stunt" soon that will "start something." He would not say what it will be, but declared it will be worth watching.

George A. Bolduc, the popular manager of the talking machine department of the Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co., who went to the Coast with the Shrine Band, of which organization he is a member, is not home yet. He is making a tour of southern California and may go to Honolulu before returning to this city and—work.

Col. Jos. J. Daynes and family are making an extended tour of the Northwestern States.

The Western Radio Sales Corp. is the name of a new concern that has been formed here to sell radio supplies to the trade. It will make a drive on local dealers who could carry radio equipment along with their other goods. Some of the music dealers do not seem at all anxious to handle radio sets yet. They regard wireless as being in its experimental stage and a little hazardous from the merchant's standpoint.

R. F. Perry, manager of the phonograph sales division of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., on West South Temple, has just returned from a trip through the Idaho territory and reports business conditions there in the phonograph line as much improved. He said there was an increasing public demand for Brunswick products and several new accounts were opened. He

VOCALION DISTRIBUTOR IN BOSTON

Arthur C. Erisman Appointed Wholesale Representative in New England for Vocalion Red Records, With Headquarters in That City

The Aeolian Co. has announced the appointment of Arthur C. Erisman, with headquarters at 174 Tremont street, Boston, as New England distributor for Vocalion records, the new arrangement going into effect on July 1. In order to give his entire attention to the Vocalion line Mr. Erisman disposed of his entire stock of records of other makes. The business will be conducted under the title of the Arthur C. Erisman Co.

Mr. Erisman is one of the best-known talking machine men in New England, having been manager of the Boston branch of the Columbia Co. for a number of years and then being in the wholesale business on his own account. The quarters on Tremont street, from which he will wholesale the Vocalion line, are particularly well situated in the heart of the business district.

C. D. McKinnon, Eastern manager of the Vocalion interests, is spending some weeks in Boston for the purpose of co-operating with Mr. Erisman in getting his new project under way.

Mr. Erisman will have associated with him in his new venture A. W. Chamberlain, H. M. Blakeborough and T. Norman Mason, all of says there is a demand for the recording of exclusive Brunswick artists and feels that his company's machines and products are going to play an even greater part in the musical life of the Mountain States than ever. Mr. Perry said new accounts have been opened in Utah of late. One at Price, the seat of Carbon County, where they will be represented by the Burgener Music Co., and another at Park City and other places. The Brunswick people here are receiving increasing inquiries for the records of Mario Chamlee, the American artist.

them men of wide experience in the talking machine field.

The Aeolian Co. announces that it will make

Arthur C. Erisman

no further shipments of Vocalion records into the New England territory direct, and all record deliveries will be made through the A. C. Erisman Co., as New England distributors.

RAYMOND RADIO CORPORATION

Manufacturers To The Radio Industries
Apparatus Designed From The User's Standpoint

Crystal Detector Sets
Vacuum Tube Sets, From One To Six Tubes
Sets Of The Talking Machine Type Entirely Self Contained

V. T. Sockets
Rheostats, Plain and Vernier
Audio Frequency Transformers

Our non-regenerative 3-tube set was admittedly THE hit of the Chicago Radio Show

Variable Condensers
Crystal Detector Units
Control Panel Units

Executive Offices:
309 LAFAYETTE STREET
NEW YORK CITY

Works:
FARMINGDALE, L. I.

Victor Wholesalers Exclusively

NEW YORK
TALKING MACHINE CO.
521 West 57th Street

A.D. Geissler
President

CHICAGO
TALKING MACHINE CO.
12 North Michigan Ave

Mid-West Point of View

WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WORLD, CHICAGO, ILL., July 10, 1922. THE state of business throughout the Middle West in particular, and throughout the country in general, is eminently well set forth in the monthly Business Indicator issued by the National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago. In a series of well-executed graphs the bank displays the trend of general business during the present year as disclosed in the state of the Federal Reserve System, in the bank clearings, in the number of building permits issued in Chicago, in the price of pig iron, in the orders for pig iron, in the prices of grain and in the state of the bond market. The display is extremely interesting and most encouraging. Few of us perhaps realize that a good deal of the discontent which business men have been feeling over the condition of trade in general has been due to the insistence upon making their comparisons with the boom year 1919. The graphs which are a feature of the Chicago bank's Business Indicator show how absurd this practice is. The condition of all business during 1919 and until the break in the middle of 1920 was so exaggerated, so abnormal, that no useful comparison can be made between it and the conditions pertaining to any other year before or since. Now, as a matter of fact, 1922 so far shows actual improvement over the period 1913-1917 in a number of important items, such as bank clearings, while, on the other hand, the state of the building business at this moment shows, for the Middle West, a prosperity such as has not been known for years. Indeed, the number of building permits issued so far during the year 1922 in Chicago far exceeds any number previously registered. The Middle West is in for a boom in building, in home-making and, consequently, in retail buying, such as has not been known for years. Talking machine men, please take notice.

The Business
Indicator

CONSIDERING the wonderful facilities which are now available in the way of sound-proof partitions, complete demonstration-booth equipment and similar utilities, it is surprising to observe how many talking machine merchants still seem to think that records can be sold in noisy, uncomfortable surroundings. It is still more surprising to find talking machine merchants neglecting the very obvious point of maintaining all demonstration machines in good condition, of seeing to changes of needles, that motors are oiled and silent, that tone arms and reproducers are functioning well, and so on. In some recent traveling around among the retail merchants in this vicinity we have observed with no little astonishment how often merchants otherwise seemingly keen and intelligent allow themselves to neglect the details of record demonstration service. Yet it is just here where the difference comes in between the high-grade merchant and the near-high-grade competitor. The foundation of successful record-selling is in comfortable, restful arrangements for the customer's benefit. To neglect this is virtually to invite customers to go elsewhere. Add to this fact the further fact that the best demonstration booth in the world is no good if it is not watched and served in the details of machine operation, and we have the whole secret of failure in record departments, as well as the whole secret of success. Have the booths really sound-proof! Keep them served! See that records are not played with old needles! Do not let the machines become noisy in operation. Remember that you are selling music and that music and noise do not go together.

Obvious,
Isn't
It?

THE representative of The Talking Machine World who attended the semi-annual furniture show which closes on July 15 at Grand Rapids, Mich., was much impressed with general conditions there. Pages 33-34 of the present issue of The Talking Machine World contain a complete story of the show at Grand Rapids, which lends point to our representative's impressions. Not only was the number of buyers in attendance very large, but the actual quantity of business transacted was a good deal larger than the most sanguine had anticipated. The talking machine exhibits were, for the most part, very impressive. The Cheney Talking Machine Co. had a remarkable display in its beautiful warerooms on Monroe street. The Widdicomb Furniture Co. was also much in evidence, and so were Bush & Lane, the Consolidated Talking Machine Co. and the Aeolian Co. All these makers go in for the best, and the general effect of their exhibits was wonderfully fine, both as to fine workmanship and musical quality. The talking machine may be regarded, from one point of view, as a fine piece of furniture. When furniture buying is active it is safe to bet that talking machines are also selling. Well, furniture is showing activity again, and talking machines are selling. But one thing is sure: the talking machine that sells steadily and profitably is the talking machine of quality.

The Great Big Shows

THE Chicago Furniture Show discloses activities similar to those of Grand Rapids in their encouraging features. It seems to be certain that retail dealers are now sold on the question of getting large stocks in hand for Fall trade. The controlling factor is, of course, the building situation. Despite a recession during the last two months, largely due to local conditions in one large Eastern center, the present movement has all the appearance of a real boom. Now, a boom in building means a boom in home furnishings. Furniture men are already boosting the home-building movement in their advertising, for they know that home building means furniture buying. But does not home building also mean talking machine buying? If not, why not? Let the talking machine men follow the excellent example set by their brethren and boost the home-building movement. The more it is talked about, the better the situation will be for everyone. The talking machine is a domestic article, a home maker as well as a home entertainer. No merchant is so admirably placed as the talking machine dealer in devoting a great deal of his time and advertising space to boosting home building. Every home that is built means a talking machine and a great many records. Anyhow, it behooves a live dealer to be a factor in the community and he can best occupy this position by putting himself in evidence as in favor of every movement that will help the town or city in which he is doing business.

Tie Up With Home!

THE Mid-West Victor Dealers' Association has been giving a luncheon to John Steel, the eminent Victor tenor. The guest of honor was voted a regular fellow. He sang to his hosts and showed them that his voice is all that it has been cracked up to be. During the same week, too, he was headliner at the Majestic, our leading vaudeville theatre. Naturally, the Victor dealers made a general tie-up with his appearance and sold many records through timely and judicious publicity. To bring together in personal contact the living artist and the men who sell the records he makes is always timely and always effective. The dealer needs to have this contact in order that he may the better visualize what it is he is really selling. The artist needs to come in contact with the men who sell what he produces, for then he can better understand their problems and realize that the salesmanship is just as important as the production. We should like to see much more of this intelligent tying-up. Mr. Steel is now on tour through the country in high-class vaudeville, and Victor dealers everywhere will take notice therefore of the opportunities presented to them to take advantage of his appearance.

Contact
With the Man

WE hope it is not too hot to ask why there are not more trade associations springing up this year in the Middle West. As a matter of fact, the talking machine business is one of the very trades which most need strong local associations of dealers. It is hardly necessary to give reasons why local associations would be helpful. The fact remains that wherever they have been formed they have been a most potent means of making local dealers better acquainted—they remove silly prejudices and broaden out the minds of men and they bring men together for the uplift and development of the industry.

Last Timely
Topic

From our CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS

REPUBLIC BLDG., 209 SOUTH STATE ST TELEPHONE WABASH 5242

EDWARD VAN HARLINGEN

WILLIAM BRAID WHITE

EUGENE F. CAREY

ARTHUR E. NEALY

A. SNYDER

CHICAGO, ILL., July 9.—Contrary to the belief that the hot Summer spells would cause a depression in business, it appears that just the reverse is taking place. This statement applies particularly to manufacturers. They have been doing an increased business for months. For a few weeks there was a short falling off, which seemed to indicate that a recession would prevail during the Summer months, but such is proving not to be the case. Business is beginning to pick up in a very substantial way, according to the manufacturers, and here is what they say is the reason:

A great many dealers, in fact, nearly all of them, are short on stock. It can also be said here that quite a number of manufacturers have not been piling up beyond their immediate needs. Therefore the surplus of talking machines in the country is not so great after all. It was thought a few month ago that the warehouses were loaded to the guards with goods of all kinds, mostly machines of inferior makes manufactured during the abnormal war days. There were great numbers of these products, it is true, but quite a bunch of them were sold. There were still greater numbers disposed of through the liquidation route, to concerns who had use for them in various ways. Many were bought to be dismantled so that the panels and other wooden parts could be used for other purposes. In this way thousands of these inferior instruments were taken off the market.

Many dealers who had machines of this kind on hand unloaded them at the beginning of the radio wave to radio fans who desired them for the installation of home radio sets. There was a time at the beginning of the year when radio enthusiasts were being born every minute and they lost no time in manufacturing their own hook-ups. But it has been found that this whole manufacturing business was merely by way of a preliminary education, which has instilled radio enthusiasm into the fans to the utmost degree. The fans now know that they cannot get the same result out of cheaply constructed home instruments that they can out of one manufactured by a high-class concern. They are, therefore, contending that their home-made sets are all right for the time being, but sooner or later they will all fall in line for the purchase of "tailor-made" hook-ups. Now, all this accounts for great numbers of the inferior makes of talking machines, which once had the dealer scared into believing that when business picked up and people began buying there would be a flood of them on the market again, which would put a crimp in his happiness. Nearly every dealer is now convinced that "there ain't going to be no such happening."

As has been said before, the dealers have been quite short on stock, and this state of affairs was born of necessity. Now, however, there is every indication of a good Fall business, and the wise buyers are accordingly making hay while the sun shines, by looking over their stocks and reordering. This reordering in turn is naturally reflected in the factory of the manufacturer who likewise is getting busy.

Now, on what is the assertion based that business will be good in the Fall? The answer is found in the building movement, which is rapidly spreading to all parts of the country. Home building is being encouraged in all localities and every effort is being made to relieve the housing shortage. No matter where one goes, in cities, towns or hamlets, or even along country roads—the sound of the hammer can be heard. One knows that very nearly every line of the industry is associated in some way or another with the building of a house. If house-building keeps on at its present rate a favorable reaction on other lines of industry must follow.

Furniture men throughout the country are taking cognizance of this activity, and are giving all the encouragement they possibly can to the movement. We suggest that it behooves the talking machine men to get in line with the furniture men and boost the home-building program. To-day there are literally thousands of talking machine prospects who for the moment are camping in someone's else backyard or doubling up with relations, in order to cut down the high cost of rents, which in a great measure has been caused by the housing situation. Just as soon as this situation is relieved and enough houses can be had to go around at reasonable rents those prospective buyers will loosen up their purse strings, take flats or houses and do a great deal of shopping. Figure it out any way you want to, and you will see that our future prosperity in all lines of business is hinged upon a comprehensive house-building movement. Therefore, we say again most emphatically, get behind and push, for the sweat of to-day brings the gold of to-morrow.

The Power of Suggestive Advertising

There is a great deal of power in suggestive advertising, as everyone knows. Then again
(Continued on page 96)

See Our Exhibit
PAGEANT OF PROGRESS
EXPOSITION
CHICAGO, ILL.
Booth 13, Section A

FEATURES

LARGE diaphragm and long stylus bar lengthens vibrations, producing a deeper and more natural quality of tone.

Perfectly balanced in accordance with carefully worked ratios and with regard to co-ordinate parts, this tone arm and reproducer permits a freedom and sweetness of tone heretofore thought impossible. Surface sounds almost entirely removed.

Throw-back design permits of easy access to needle socket. Saves records from unnecessary scratching.

PLAYS
ALL RECORDS

KKNOWN the country over for its excellent quality of tone and natural, life-like reproduction of all musical tones, and its great volume. This tone arm on your machine spells success, because of its high standing in the Phonograph World.

Made only in 8½-inch length. Can be furnished with or without Mute Tone Modifier, with Mica or diaphragm.

NOM-Y-KA

THE JEWEL MUTE

CONTROLS volume just like the human throat. Built in the reproducer and functions in such a way that the length of vibrations is minutely regulated and the tone reproduced to a softness and clearness that are remarkable.

Operates by means of a thumbscrew and is instantly adjustable. Tone has free and unimpaird passage throughout tone arm and chamber—Not "Muffled" or "Choked" as with ordinary type of tone modifier.

Perfect regulation without in any way changing character of tone.

JEWEL PHONOPARTS COMPANY

154 Whiting Street

Chicago, Ill.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 95)

there are certain times when this suggestive advertising has great pulling power, especially if it is timely. A striking example of this may be seen this month in the show window of the Cable Company at Jackson boulevard and Wabash avenue. This window is well laid out and very appropriate for this season of the year. It is, therefore, attracting a great deal of attention and its suggestive power is asserting itself on the company's books. The display calls attention to Victor portables, but the hook-up to this portable is rather unique. The decorative scheme of the window suggests by the background that the scene is a shady nook in a wood. The foreground is laid out in imitation grass. Spread over the grass on one side is a lunch cloth whereon reposes a very tempting picnic lunch. Near the back edging of the lunch cloth is placed a Victor portable. Should one stand by the window for any length of time he will hear the remark, "Oh, boy! Don't that look good," and many of those who make this remark step inside and make immediate arrangements to become the owner of a Victor portable.

New Wireless Corporation

L. Mandel, formerly president of the Mandel Mfg. Co., is now president of the Wireless Corp. of America, a Chicago concern which is manufacturing radio apparatus, supplies and parts. This company had a very attractive display of its goods at the recent radio show held in the Leiter Building. The Wireless Corp. has some interesting methods of assembling high frequency transformers, which they exhibited at the show and which attracted considerable attention.

Schoessling Resigns from Wurlitzer Co.

Hans Schoessling, who for several years has managed the wholesale Victor department of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., Chicago branch, has announced his resignation, to take effect soon. He has completed plans for the opening of a retail Victor shop in Chicago. He will call his new place of business The Jefferson Music Shop, and will open it on or about October 1, in the vicinity of Milwaukee and Lawrence avenues, in the township of Jefferson, where Mr. Schoessling has lived for many years. Nearly everyone in this vicinity knows "Hans" and it is safe to assume that the new Victor shop will be a thriving place of business in short order. Of course, the retail Victor trade customers of the Wurlitzer Co. regret to see Hans leave, but they are all wishing him the best of luck in his new venture. His many years of experience in Victor circles have given him a keen insight into the methods of doing retail business.

Service Shop Enlarges

The Service Shop, owned by the F. C. Henderson Co., of Boston, is now located in its new and spacious headquarters at 26 East Randolph street. This shop was formerly located at 8 West Washington street, but business during the past year has grown to such an extent that it was found necessary to seek larger headquarters. The new Service Shop boasts of ten modern sound-proof record-hearing rooms and a number of spacious demonstration booths. Up-to-date record racks and counters decorate the front of the establishment. Forest Edwards, manager of this shop, which, by the way, is exclusively Victor, is enthusiastic over his new location and has received many compliments from the trade in Chicago because of the beauty of this place of business.

The "Pilgrim's Progress"

Will H. Wade, Potentate of Medinah temple of Chicago, returned to town with his caravan of nobles this week. They had gone to San Francisco to attend the annual Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine. There is a story going around that when the Honorable "Bill" and his followers attended the Roundup at Cheyenne, Wyo., said Honorable "Bill" won a prize for exhibiting his prowess in sitting aboard a sea-going broncho. The "Honorable" refuses to divulge what said prize was. We thought we could find out from C. E. Johnson, Michigan representative for the Chicago Talking Machine Co., who was in the party, but he only held his sides and laughed.

Views of Unit Construction Co. Manager

W. B. Montgomery, district manager of the Chicago branch of the Unit Construction Co., has just returned from a trip through the Eastern half of the Central Western States. He reports that the trade in all sections visited by him are now convinced that the days of uncertainty and suspense are over and they are therefore preparing foundations for good substantial business. The trade now knows that appearance is a prominent factor in business life as it adds an air of stability. They are, therefore, remodeling and equipping the latest types of demonstration booths in order to lend this air of stability to their business. This has been proven true in other lines of commercialism, but the talking machine industry attained such proportions in so short a time that the trade really had no opportunity to take advantage of stabilization. It is doing so now, however.

On Vacation

S. A. Ribolla, manager of the Chicago branch of the General Phonograph Corp., and William Pilgrim, treasurer of that concern, are spending a month's vacation at Grand Beach, Mich. Both of these gentlemen were accompanied by their families. Mr. Pilgrim left Grand Beach for a run to Chicago during the latter part of the month. His visit here was short and he immediately returned to Grand Beach.

Another prominent member of the General Phonograph Corp. is A. Thallmayer, who is in charge of the foreign record division of this company. Mr. Thallmayer left his headquarters in New York some time ago for the purpose of calling on the trade throughout this section. While here he spent considerable time in Chicago and went over the retail field very carefully. His reports show that the Okeh foreign record business in Chicago is advancing rapidly.

Templar Business Barometric

A lot of the boys in the trade have been mak-

The Best Motor Money Can Buy

1. The wick lubricating system, an exclusive feature of our motor, keeps every part in the gear box running in a film of oil. Not a mere smear of grease to dry away and get gummy and hard with exposure to the air, causing noise and variable speed within a short space of time, but constant circulating lubrication.

For at least two years after our motors are installed the wick will circulate pure oil and governor and gears will be perfectly lubricated. Some of the high-priced motor cars have recently adopted wick lubrication—because it is right—continuous, automatic, certain.

2. The enclosed construction makes this lubricating system possible and also keeps dirt, bits of excelsior, lint and phonograph needles, etc., from getting into the works. This prevents those trouble cases that cost the dealer money and cause his customers annoyance.

3. The design of our motor lends itself to accurate alignment of bearing and springs. When our box-like casting is clamped into the holding tools to be machined it does not distort with pressure as open castings do. The reason we have almost no spring breakage is that perfect alignment does away with the side strain which causes crystallization and breakage of springs.

REAL PRICES

1. We have a modern, complete, specially designed equipment solely devoted to the production of this motor.

2. Our plant is spacious, light, modern in every feature and our organization is seasoned and imbued with spirit of quality.

We have the necessary volume of output and can produce efficiently. Because of these facts we are furnishing a motor of positively unequalled merit, at unmatched prices.

Let Us Furnish You Samples

United Manufacturing and Distributing Company

536 Lake Shore Drive

CHICAGO

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 96)

ing inquiry recently as to the condition of the manufacturing end of the business. Reports from houses dealing in accessories indicate that the manufacturers are going along very nicely at this particular time. The business of the Templar Mfg. Co. is going on at a very pleasing pace. This concern reports that it had anticipated a general falling off in business during June, but that, on the contrary, the demand for Templar stops was quite heavy during this month and many new inquiries were received.

New Cheney Models

At the Chicago office of the Cheney Talking Machine Co. this week the announcement was made that the new Cheney art models were now ready for distribution. Model No. 117, known as the Abbotsford, was announced to the trade on July 1. This new model follows the general lines of the present Queen Anne model No. 107, but is larger and of more ornate design. It comes in rich mahogany finish only, which is in general keeping with the type of ornamentation and treatment which characterizes that famous period. The new Cheney Abbotsford will retail at $300.

Opening New Store

The North Shore Talking Machine Co., of 603 Davis street, Evanston, is opening a branch store in Winnetka, a suburb on the North Side of Chicago. Great activity is also seen around the Evanston branch by reason of the remodeling process which went into operation recently. The entire store is being redecorated and handsomely fitted up with the latest type of hearing rooms and demonstration booths. This is an exclusive Victor shop whose owners are aiming to have the most beautiful retail talking machine shop in that section of Evanston.

Brunswick News Brieflets

A. J. Kendrick, sales manager of the talking machine division of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., has just returned from the East, where he attended the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce convention in New York. Immediately thereafter he began a two weeks' vacation, during which time he motored throughout the New England States.

Gus Haenschen, of the Brunswick Co.'s recording laboratory in New York, is spending a few days in Chicago. Mr. Haenschen also made several other stops in the Central West before returning to New York.

B. E. Bensinger, president of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., sailed for Europe a week or so ago for a combined business and pleasure trip. He was accompanied on the voyage by his family and the party will visit many points of interest in European countries, returning to the United States about September 1.

E. S. Bristol, proprietor of the Brunswick Shop at Rockford, Ill., was a visitor to the Chicago trade a few days ago. Mr. Bristol opines, and his opinion is in accord with that of other dealers at Rockford, that the Fall is going to see some mighty good business stirring around in Rockford territory. All lines of industry in that section, he believes, are getting into full swing, slowly but very steadily, and the building program is going on at a very rapid rate.

Lyon & Healy Open Radio Shop

Lyon & Healy are preparing for the formal opening of their new retail radio shop, which will occur about the time this issue of The World goes to press. The new shop is located on the Jackson boulevard side of their building, which was formerly occupied by an art store. The management of this new department will be looked after by Charles P. Hindringer. The interior decorations, fixtures, counters, etc., will all be of walnut. The layout of the store will be along the following lines: Accessories and parts will be handled on the main floor. Demonstration booths and complete receiving sets will be handled on the mezzanine floor. The repair parts and such will be handled in the basement.

Arrangements have been made for the use of the Lyon & Healy recital hall for three nights a week for the purpose of giving evening radio concerts. Mr. Hindringer states that the line of radio goods carried by Lyon & Healy for both wholesale and retail purposes is complete in every detail and large stocks of goods are now on hand for the trade.

More About Suggestive Advertising

In another column is told a story on suggestive advertising by means of window displays. Still another example of the same idea has been worked out by Lyon & Healy, who, during the last week of June, devoted their great corner window to a wonderful display of Victor portable machines. The window here, unlike the other, suggests not the picnic, but the camp. The scenic layout depicts a camping scene on the border of a small stream. The background of the picture is heavily wooded and to one side of the window is seen a pretty little waterfall in actual operation, which supplies the stream which runs around the base of the window. The posed model is of a camper dressed in the conventional garb of a fisherman. The model is seated on the grass with his back leaning against a tree and immediately in front of him is a portable Victrola in operation. Scattered around in the foreground are the other accessories that are so essential to the life of a fisherman.

Wins First Prize

In last month's issue of The Talking Machine World there appeared an item telling of the Brunswick Co.'s Question and Answer Contest. The questions were set forth in connection with the story and details of how the contest was being run were also given. Since that time prizes have been awarded to the contestants who turned in the best answers to the list of questions. The first prize has gone to Miss Helen Moreau, who is connected with the sales department of the Lang & Hess Music Shop, Escanaba, Mich.

Repeating Devices Attract Attention

Some time ago we told in these columns the story of Piano Row and how it was making use of the Geer record repeater to attract attention.

(Continued on page 98)

"Built by tone specialists"

IN ITS SEVENTH YEAR OF STEADY SUCCESS

4 Cabinet Styles:

Mahogany, Walnut and Oak Finishes.

Patented Tone-Deflecting System:

Unsurpassed Workmanship.

Vertical Record Filing:

Mechanical and Acoustic Equipment Beyond Criticism.

Write for our Revised Wholesale Prices

Magnola Talking Machine Company

OTTO SCHULZ, President

711 Milwaukee Avenue

Chicago

Magnola Style Louis XVI

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 97)

The trade well knows that a moving object will attract greater attention than one which is not moving. A certain retailer on Chicago's Piano Row took advantage of this bit of psychology by using Geer repeaters as part of his show window dressings. These repeaters were mounted on moving turntables, some enclosed in regular machines and some without.

Since the working agreement was entered into between the Gold Seal Co. and the Walbert Mfg. Co. the dealers have added to the attractiveness of their repeater displays by showing both of these well-known instruments. The Gold Seal repeater is made of a material which looks like celluloid and can be had in many different colors. These bright-colored little devices, working all day long in a dozen Wabash avenue windows, have attracted a remarkable amount of attention from passers-by.

Brunswick Picnic

Employees of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. will have their picnic this year on July 16 at Rainbow Springs, St. Charles, Ill. There will be plenty of fun as usual, with dancing, boating, fishing, races and games of all kinds. Trains will leave the Grand Central Station at 9 a. m., Chicago time, and return from St. Charles at 7:43.

The automobile route to the Springs will be over Roosevelt road, thence to bridge over the Fox River at Geneva, thence via the car tracks on the East River road for one and four-tenths miles to Fifth avenue, then a right turn on this road to St. Charles and through the town for a mile and three-tenths to the Springs.

It is expected that all officials and employees of the Brunswick Co. will be there.

Professor Cheney's Educational Tour

Plans for the second lap of the educational tour of Prof. Forrest Cheney, of the Cheney Talking Machine Co., have just been completed, and the professor is making ready for his departure over this route. The proposed itinerary covers Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin. Professor Cheney will leave his headquarters at Grand Rapids and will call upon and visit every Cheney dealer in person. The trip is being made in the professor's Packard twin six, which is rapidly becoming the best-advertised car in the world. This car was made to order for Professor Cheney and is known as the "Blue Gull."

As has been said before, these trips are made for the purpose of bringing the professor in contact with Cheney dealers everywhere, in order that these dealers may have first-hand information and personal talks with him on selling methods and other matters connected with good salesmanship.

By this personal contact selling methods can be intelligently talked over so that the dealer in turn may convey to the public the Cheney points of merit. Professor Cheney knows how to talk in an interesting and entertaining manner and in his recent trip through the Eastern section he made a great impression upon the Cheney dealers. One point that he brings out in his talk is not how cheap but how good can the Cheney Co. build its talking machines, as it is the constant aim of his company to insist that only the best material shall be used.

The professor also tells of his research and study in the realm of talking machines and also goes into detail in the history of the evolution of the Cheney talking machine and how he came to invent it. One big point in particular is that every penny that can be consistently saved in doing business is utilized in some other way in material and so forth. An illustration of this, according to Professor Cheney, may be seen as one goes along the roads. One sees on every hand billboard after billboard where good money is wasted needlessly.

Prof. Cheney and His Famous Car

"Now, get me right," he continued. "I am not against billboard advertising, if it is done rightly, but the way it is being handled by a great many industrial concerns in this country is a shame. For example, when traveling around the country road one invariably sees from two to six billboards in some secluded spot all loaded down with the same ad. This is obviously wasted space and money." Instead of spending its money in this manner, the Cheney Co. believes in putting that money into its product and in this way giving the dealer and the public the benefit of every available penny in good merchandise.

On his recent Eastern trip Professor Cheney gave talks to dealers at such points as Cleveland, New York, Brooklyn, Newark and many intervening towns. The first trip was made in six

Templar Autostop
It Stops as a Stop
Should Stop
For Proof of this, order a Sample

TEMPLAR MFG. CO.
3225 Lexington Street
CHICAGO, ILL.

weeks, during which time he drove "Blue Gull" over 3,000 miles.

Give Factory Concert

More than 500 people heard a wireless concert and entertainment recently at the Lyon & Healy factory. A radio instrument with an amplifying device was placed on the roof of the building, and another was fixed up inside. The concert, broadcasted from Station KYW, was heard by employees inside of the factories and by residents of the neighborhood, who congregated on the streets outside. Marguerite A. Healy gave a short talk and after 9 p. m. another program was given, with "Billy" Collins injecting a little of his characteristic humor with stories and songs. Miss Sylvia Chapleau gave some piano solos and her brother, Earl Chapleau, sang. Miss Mary Titus also sang, after which refreshments were served, followed by dancing. The entertainment was a big surprise and delight to the Lyon & Healy factory workers, who had never enjoyed this sort of thing before.

Brunswick Goes Through Fire

An interesting item in the Brunswick Dispatch—June-July issue—says that when a disastrous fire recently consumed the Rialto Theatre Building at Muskegon the Brunswick Music Shop, of that city, had a Brunswick talking machine in the theatre. Firemen patrolling the cooling mass of ruins came upon the charred and water-streaked case of a Brunswick with lid down and record on the turntable. It had stood through many hours of heat, smoke and water; yet when the firemen wound it up, the record played.

The Brunswick Music Shop will utilize the instrument for display purposes by placing it on the sidewalk in front of its store.

Hold Annual Meeting

At the recent annual meeting of the Midwest Victor Dealers' Association, which was held on June 28 in the Auditorium Hotel, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: George W. McCauley, president; William C. Cotton, vice-president; C. T. Landherr, secretary, and Joseph Hassmer, treasurer. This Association is now in its second year and promises to do many big and important things before the next election of officers rolls around.

One proposal made at this meeting was that the Association hold two conventions each year in Chicago, that the conventions be of an educational nature and that they last for three days each, one to be held at the beginning of the year and the other in the middle of the year. It was suggested that the days be given over to educational programs and talks on salesmanship, etc., by officials of the Victor factory and that the evenings be given over to entertainments. Another suggestion was that the Association enlarge its field of activities by taking in Victor dealers whose places of business are located outside of the present boundaries of the Association, which are Chicago and Cook County.

The belief is that if these proposals are carried out greater activity will be manifest throughout the local Victor trade and increased sales will be a natural result. Owing to the lateness of

VIS-MATIC

The Most Wonderful Trade Stimulator and Profit Puller in the Talking Machine Field. Exasperated users groping to touch the record wished for, when wanted, has discouraged the use of machines.

"SELL" every tenth record buyer one VIS-MATIC and the records become at once accessible, accurately, assuredly and with but the finger tips of one hand. Resuscitates the playing of records and using of machines. Old records are discarded. New records and even machines purchased. THE PULMOTOR OF THE TALKING MACHINE TRADE. "SELL" the first VIS-MATIC and repeat orders are insured. Albums, unused, are discarded. A new lease of life is begun with this easy, convenient, accurate, accessible, instantly automatic, all-open, all-receptive, all-numbered, all-labeled, all-in-one "at-last" accomplishment. The "impossible" overcome. MUCH MORE ACCURATELY AND EASILY ACCESSIBLE UPON A STOOL OR CHAIR OR OPENED UPON THE FLOOR, NEAR THE MACHINE, THAN ANY ALBUM SPREAD OPEN OVER THE REQUIRED LARGE AREA UPON A LARGE SPACE UPON A LARGE TABLE.

VIS-MATIC IS THE AVAILABLE MEANS FOR MAKING SALES. A WONDER WORKER. 10" RECORDS ARE AS INSTANTLY FINDABLE IN THE 12" ALBUMS AS IN THE 10". A MARVELOUS FILING GAIN.

UNYVERSAL UTYLYTY UNYTS CO.

6111 Winthrop Ave.

Chicago, U. S. A.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 98)

these proposals it was suggested that they be shelved until the next meeting of the Association, which will occur in a few weeks.

Melody National Sales Co. in New Quarters

The Melody National Sales Co. has just opened up a new sales office and display room in Suite 410 State and Lake Building. The new headquarters are much larger and more pretentious than those just vacated and offer greater opportunity for display. They are placed near the elevators and on either side of the entrance are two large show windows which are handsomely decorated for the purpose of displaying the latest models of Melody console type talking machines.

The interior decorations in this showroom suggest the music room of a fashionable home. Behind are two modern sound-proof demonstration booths, and behind these again is located the sales office. Two large windows in the sales office overlook the State street station of the elevated railroad, and these windows are therefore used for displays. There is a platform behind each window on which are Melody console models, which are thus easily seen from the station platforms.

C. C. Slack, of the Melody Sales Co., announces that in a short time he will offer a full line of radio-equipped console talking machines, which the factory is now building. Announcement of this new line will be made at a later date.

Lyon & Healy New Service

The Victor service department of Lyon & Healy is now offering a set of fifty-two ready-made advertisements to Victor dealers. One will be sent out each week for a period covering one year and with them will come letter-press proofs as well as matrices. All copy and drawings are the work of the Lyon & Healy advertising department, which boasts a large number of experienced, high-grade copy men and commercial artists. There are at present fifteen commercial artists connected with the advertising staff.

This weekly advertising matter will be sent out beginning on the first of July. It is offered to all Victor dealers at a nominal figure.

Another piece of service work that this institution is putting out is a weekly bulletin to Victor dealers in and about Chicago. This bulletin is for the information of dealers, telling them when Victor artists will appear at the big movie houses in their territory. This offers a splendid opportunity for these dealers to hook up with the appearance of the artists and call the attention of the public to the fact that their work can be heard on Victor records.

Thieves Have Predilection for Sonoras

F. S. Spofford, who conducts a retail music establishment in the Republic Building, reports the loss of two late model portable Sonoras. He says that some one must have slipped into the store while he was in his office and, unobserved, walked out with the two instruments. Quite a number of other retail places around Chicago have been complaining that some party, or parties, have been purloining parcels of their goods. It would be well for all retailers in and about Chicago to be on the lookout for this stealthy party or parties, in order to try to effect their arrest.

Lakeside Supply Co. Dolling Up

The Lakeside Supply Co. is effecting a transformation of sales and stockrooms at its new location at 339 S. Wabash avenue. Partitions reaching from the floor to the ceiling have been erected, for the purpose of dividing the salesroom from the stockroom and repair departments. There have also been erected several beautiful demonstration rooms of modern sound-proof construction, handsomely fitted up with comfortable furniture and silk hangings. There are two entrances to the Lakeside's new home, one being directly off of Mrs. Young's Cafeteria, and the other a private stairway, which leads directly into the north end of the warerooms. The demonstration rooms are located near the top landing of this private stairway.

This company is bringing out many new designs and talking machines of both the upright and console type, which are particularly well adapted for the installation of radio equipment. Quite a bit of attention was called to the Lakeside headquarters during the week of June 26 and July 1, at which time the National Radio Show held forth at the Leiter Building, within a stone's throw of the Lakeside location. Amateurs interested in building their own sets kept the Lakeside headquarters crowded and many of the company's talking machines adaptable for radio were disposed of to these amateurs.

Prepares for Fall Business

On July 10 the North Shore Talking Machine Co., Evanston, Ill., started its drive for Fall and holiday business. With the firm conviction that preparation is half the battle in commerce as it is in actual warfare, first attention was given to the efficient arrangement of the warerooms. The Unit Construction Co. is installing complete equipment. When completed the North Shore Co. will have an attractive and efficient layout certain to prove an active factor in the merchandising of the Victor line which they handle.

Honor John Steel

The Midwest Victor Dealers' Association gave a luncheon on Friday, June 30, to John Steel, the prominent young Victor artist. The luncheon was the result of an outburst of enthusiasm on the part of Victor dealers in Chicago, and the culmination of a week's tie-up with Mr. Steel's appearance at the Majestic Theatre, which began June 26 and ended July 2. Thousands of people heard Mr. Steel during his appearance at the Majestic and Victor dealers all over Chicago tied up with his appearance by means of billboard, window and other methods of publicity. An exceptionally large number of enthusiastic theatre-goers kept the dealers of Chicago busy handing out Steel records and so successful was the week that the Association took it upon itself to hold a special meeting and give the luncheon in honor of Mr. Steel.

A large number of those in attendance had
(Continued on page 100)

How to Merchandise Repeaters

EVERY phonograph retail store has two big merchandising problems. One is to sell phonographs; the other is to develop a profitable business in selling records, needles and other accessories.

It is in helping to interest prospects in buying phonographs and in influencing them to use their phonographs more, thereby stimulating sales of records and needles, that a record repeater proves its merchandising value.

For the benefit of our dealers, we have developed a special record without music that plays through in 18 seconds. This quick playing record is given free with orders of 12 or more repeaters and is unusually valuable in making window demonstrations.

Write your jobber or clip and mail the attached coupon—today.

Important Notice

The manufacturers of the Gold Seal Repeater have recognized the validity of the Geer Repeater patents and the litigation between them and the Walbert Mfg. Co. is settled.

The Walbert Mfg. Co. will manufacture and market the Geer Repeater as heretofore and will also act as sales representative for the Gold Seal Repeater in the territory west of the Alleghenies, including Canada west of Toronto.

The Gold Seal Co., 105 West Fortieth street, New York, will manufacture and market the Gold Seal Repeater under the Geer patents and will act as sales representative for the Geer Repeater in Eastern territory, including Toronto and Eastern Canada.

WALBERT MANUFACTURING COMPANY,
925-941 Wrightwood Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Please send by return mail Geer Repeaters and Gold Seal Repeaters—price to be 40% off list—retail prices to be $2.50 and $1.00 respectively.

Check here if you want free window demonstrating record and sales helps.

Name
Address
Jobber

Terms C. O. D. to firms not rated.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 99)

never before seen John Steel in person. Some of them thought he would be a great big barrel-chested tenor. They had been led to believe this by reason of hearing his powerful voice on Victor records, but what they really found in John Steel was a young and unpretentious man with a wonderful voice, who in appreciation for the little luncheon gave a few of his selections. Needless to say, each and every one of the guests were thrilled with the singing.

New Sales Stimulator

W. McK. White, of the White Mfg. Co., Goshen, Ind., was in Chicago recently intro-

A Giant Size Tungs-tone

ducing a very novel trade stimulator to the Chicago trade. The article in question is a giant size Victor Tungs-tone stylus to be used for window and store display. It is an enlargement of the famous Victor Tungs-tone needle magnified 110 times. It is six feet long and seven inches in diameter. Although it is made of steel, its actual weight is but ten pounds and its shipping weight is thirty pounds. It comes in two parts and telescopes in the center.

Mr. White claims that a number of dealers have found the giant needle especially effective for window display, and that it has attracted many customers into the dealers' store seeking information concerning the stylus. The giant stylus is manufactured by the White Co. at its Goshen plant and will soon be offered to the trade through jobbers. The illustration herewith shows the immensity of the article. The man shown in the picture is W. McK. White in person.

Western Music Shop Opens Store

The Western Music Shop has opened a new store at 2451 West Forty-seventh street. Unico equipment consisting of audition rooms, record racks, service counters, sales stimulators and lighting units. The community which it serves offers an excellent opportunity for a phonograph shop and prompt and complete success is expected.

Daily Papers Boost Wallace

The famous Wallace reducing records are being featured by daily newspapers throughout the country, which have been taking advantage of the opportunities offered and are putting on contests for stout ladies. The way they have been doing it is to form "lose a pound a day" clubs. The Tribune, of Terre Haute, Ind., was the first to bring out this method of advertising records. Here's the way they did it.

Down in Terre Haute is the big Root Dry Goods Co., which has a large Victor department. The store recently took on the Wallace reducing records and began pushing them with advertisements in the daily papers. The attention of the Tribune was called to the success of this new line of merchandise by the Root Co. and Anna Bowles Wiley, the feature writer of the Tribune, came out to cover the story. We are told that her report caused the editors to get busy and form a "weight-losing club" for the fat women of Terre Haute. The Tribune offered a $25 prize to the woman who should lose the largest amount of weight in a given time by means of the Wallace record, and the Root Co. offered an additional $50 prize to the winner.

The offer of these prizes put considerable pep into the contest, so that by the time the opening day rolled around two hundred and fifty Terre Haute women were signed up. From this group three classes were formed, each of which was given an hour's lesson per day. A trained demonstrator from the Wallace Institute was placed in charge of the contest. Each of the 250 women bought a set of Wallace reducing exercises. Moreover, the Root store, as part of the program, sold a gymnasium outfit to each contestant. The affair made such a tremendous success that other papers throughout the country immediately began taking it up. The second paper which tied up with the idea was the Toledo News Bee, which connected with the Lion Dry Goods Co., of Toledo. The same success was scored in this case, and, in fact, is being scored wherever these contests are being put on. So numerous have been the requests to the Wallace Institute for trained demonstrators to carry on like contests that a new department has been established in the Wallace Institute for taking care of this business. The function of the new department is to take all inquiries and arrange them in circuits, as in the theatrical

Reducing Class of Root Dry Goods Co.

RADIO — PHONOGRAPH

The Wolf
MADE BY THE WOLF MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES
 QUINCY, ILLINOIS

A COMBINATION CABINET

Made so you can install

Radio Panel or Panels

In One Side and Phonograph
 in the Other

This cabinet is Flexible to the wants of your trade—can even be sold by the dealer to the Radio Enthusiast who wishes to install his own Radio Set.

Made in Quantities and Carried in Stock by Us—so can give you Prompt Service on "Hurry-Up" Orders, Large or Small.

WRITE TODAY

To THE WOLF MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES

Sales Offices
 123 WEST MADISON STREET
 Chicago, Ill.

Factory and General Office
 110-126 3rd STREET
 Quincy, Ill.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 100)

field. In other words, bookings are being made in such a manner that when the Wallace demonstrator leaves the Chicago office she follows a route over a given territory and arrives in each place where the contests are to be held on date. Arrangements are also made for weekly bookings.

All the Wallace accounts that have put on contests of this nature have reported tremendous success in the new venture. They have all said that many talking machines, especially portables, have been sold to members of the classes. All these accounts say that their success is far greater than they had anticipated.

C. G. Steger Gives Reasons for Optimism

Under the caption, "Piano and Talking Machine Sales Grow in Volume," C. G. Steger, president of the Steger Piano Mfg. Co., in a recent issue of the Chicago Daily Journal, referred to general conditions, in part, as follows:

"The talking machine and piano business has been getting better since the first of the year and promises to be satisfactory this Fall. The demand indicates a preference for the more expensive instruments. Buyers are insisting upon receiving the utmost value for their money, but are willing to pay for the best, realizing that it is the most satisfactory in the long run. Grand pianos are selling better, comparatively, than up-rights. During the last year, instead of shutting down, Steger factories were kept going and orders were received in sufficient numbers to enable us to keep our organization busy.

"The music industry is on a strong financial basis. There has not been any overproduction of pianos or recklessness in offering selling terms, such as prevailed about seven or eight years ago. It is to be hoped that the banks will discourage any attempt to return to the old destructive 'wildcat' sales terms.

"Many manufacturers have taken losses as a result of the trying conditions of the last year. With favorable factors looming up, such as the encouraging outlook for the steel industry, extensive building construction work now under way, betterment in the employment field and the growing buying power of the farmer, there is cause for optimism. This is best indicated by the just secured Booth No. 13 in Section A at Chicago's Pageant of Progress, which will be held during the latter part of the month on Chicago's constantly increasing volume of orders. Crop conditions are fair and sentiment in the agricultural sections is improving considerably—which means added activity for the music industries."

Headquarters of C. G. Steger. "Well Equipped With Business Tools," Says System.

Jewel Phonoparts Co. at Pageant

A. B. Cornell, of the Jewel Phonoparts Co., has big municipal pier. Three new tone arms, which will be marketed by this concern in the Fall, will be on exhibition.

The Jewel Co. has been working for months on various refinements and improvements, which are said to have never been offered before on any

(Continued on page 102)

Sterling

Supersensitive
Head-Set

For Commercial and Private Radio Service

The Sterling 3000 Ohm Supersensitive Radio Head-Set embodies the very latest electrical and mechanical features of head-set design. Adjustable—with patent leather replaceable covering] on head band making it perfectly sanitary. Guaranteed against mechanical or electrical defects.

LIST PRICE
$7.50

STERLING DEVICES CO.

Manufacturers of the celebrated line of Sterling Reproducers, Tone Arms and Attachments

1819 Carroll Avenue

Chicago, Ill.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 101)

tone arm, and all of which include patented features. Jewel will also demonstrate its new Victor and Columbia attachments for playing all records.

Mr. Cornell reports that the factory is very much busier than could be expected at this time of the year, and that the outlook indicates a large increase in business for the balance of the year. He states that business this year to date is far in excess of the corresponding period last year and that unless some unforeseen calamities happen to the trade, the entire industry will come nearer to normal business this Fall and Winter than it has since the period of depression began.

Return From Europe

By the time the July issue of The Talking Machine World reaches the trade Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kunde, of A. G. Kunde, Milwaukee, will have returned to their home from a three months' European trip. The couple is expected to reach New York on July 8 and after spending a few days in that city will return to Milwaukee.

Blood Co. Gratified at Prospects

The Blood Tone Arm Co. is much gratified at the success of its new arm, which is quite extensively used now among the manufacturers in this country. There seems to be a desire on the part of the manufacturer for better merchandise, and a willingness to take the advice of those who know how to construct the tone chamber so it will conform to the conditions of the arm used. The old method used to be to make the arm fit the machine. Now this matter seems to be adjusting itself, as some of the best factories are making experiments to find out just what is best suited to the arm they expect to use.

Another matter of great importance is the length of the arm and its ability to withstand excessive vibration. The only reason that eight and one-half inches has been recognized as a standard in length is because the first independent maker of arms used that length and manufacturers of machines became accustomed to it. Put adequate tests will show that a reasonably long arm gives a more satisfactory tone, and eliminates much of the foreign noises which accompany all records to some degree.

Ted Snyder's Live Music Headquarters

Music dealers all over the country would do well to take a lesson from the store recently opened in Chicago by Ted Snyder, which might every day. The result is enormous sales of sheet music, records, etc. How do they do it? Simply by means of the untiring enthusiasm and energetic efforts of the men connected with the organization. Imagine the head of an internationally known concern, a man of business and affairs, in the basement of a flooded building,

Views of Ted Snyder's Song Shop: 1—The Lobby. 2—Sheet Music Counter. 3—Record and Roll Department. 4—Demonstration Booths safely be called the liveliest music establishment in the mid-West. While the average music merchant pulls off a stunt once a year Ted Snyder's Song Shop pulls off one every week—ofttimes wading knee-deep in muddy water to rescue a cat and five kittens in order to place that cat and her family in the show window of one of the busiest thoroughfares of the world, thereby

The PORTOPHONE

Open

The Biggest Value in the Talking Machine Industry Today

A Portable Phonograph built into a leatherette Traveling Case. Plays all makes of disc records with perfect tone.

The PORTOPHONE is the pioneer in the portable phonograph field, and more than 40,000 have been sold. Equipped with the highest grade, powerful, double-spring motor, regulator and turntable brake.

An instrument that is pleasing to the eye and the ear—a favorite in any home. The tone of the PORTOPHONE is equal to any instrument selling at from 5 to 10 times its price, a fact that is made possible through quantity production and organized distribution.

The Big Season for instruments of this class is just starting—tourists, campers, autoists and people with money to buy will soon be looking for a portable phonograph—and the PORTOPHONE is the answer.

A comparison of the PORTOPHONE will quickly prove our contention that it is the biggest value in the talking machine industry today. Made complete from the motor to the cabinet in one factory and sold through the legitimate channels of trade at a good margin of profit to the dealer.

Write us for full particulars at once.

The CONSOLIDATED
Talking Machine
Company
229 West Washington St.
CHICAGO

Branch, 2957 Gratiot Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Closed

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 102)

MELODY CONSOLE

Height 36½, Width 36, Depth 20½. Heineman No. 77 Motor, Improved Blood Tone Arm and Reproducer. Genuine Mahogany. List Price $125.00. Dealers' Price, $60.00.

MELODY NATIONAL SALES CO.

190 N. State Street, Chicago, Ill.

Manufacturer

MELODY PORTABLE PHONOGRAPH

featuring the song-hit "Little Thoughts"? This was the act performed by Henry Waterson on the opening day of the store a few weeks ago.

But we are getting ahead of our story. The fact is, we have got so much to tell about Ted Snyder's new Song Shop that we don't know where to begin, and we can assure dealers who read this article that if they will apply just a little bit of the enthusiasm cited in our story their sales will show a marked increase.

To start at the beginning, we must travel over to the LaSalle street station and meet Ted Snyder, Al Jolson and Jack Partington, moving picture magnate, who arrived in Chicago expressly for the opening. They were met by a tally-ho coach drawn by twelve horses and seating forty-five of Chicago's stage celebrities. From the station they went to the office of the Herald Examiner, played for the first time a special bonus song written by Ted Snyder, received the "freedom" of the city for twenty-four hours and proceeded to the new Song Shop, where the opening program was inaugurated. They were greeted at the window by the aforementioned cat and kittens, which had been placed in front of a sign reading "Five Darn Fools Got Married for Money, But I Got Married for Love," advertising "Little Thoughts." It was a highly successful affair from start to finish. Two hours after the opening Frank Clark, Chicago manager for Waterson, Berlin & Snyder, was able to leave for Michigan to enjoy a little fishing trip, confident that the store would pay its way and score a great success, in spite of the fact that not one of Henry Waterson's friends and advisers before the opening would concede even the chance of pulling through successfully, with so elaborate and expensive a retail establishment for merchandising sheet music exclusively.

Many features contribute to the store's success. It boasts a silver dollar floor, which brings curiosity seekers who afterward became purchasers. This silver floor idea was thought up by Ted Snyder as something similar to the waterfall staircase in the Crystal Palace of New York, where patrons of this establishment walk upstairs on glass steps, underneath which is constantly flowing a stream of water. This, however, is only one of the novel features of Ted Snyder's Song Shop. The window displays each week are famous in themselves. For instance, the second week of the opening was devoted to "Sapphire Sea" and was illustrated by a large goldfish aquarium, in which a blue electric bulb set off the brilliant hues of the goldfish. A base of sand and a tropical setting further enhanced the "Sapphire Sea" display. The third week, "Dancing Fool" was featured. The window was painted to appear as though a brick had been hurled at it; in fact, the brick itself lay in the window, just in front of the song, carrying on its face in large letters "Song Hit Here." The boxing gloves of Benny Leonard, with which he won the championship, were shown as a further inducement for passers-by to pause and gape at this bellicose display. These three are just a sample of the winning windows appearing in Ted Snyder's Song Shop each week. Here is real, live, aggressive merchandising of a nature calculated to win sales. Can anyone wonder why the Song Shop is so successful?

Much credit must be given the men responsible for the store's success. Frank Clark is a figure in Chicago's music publishing and theatrical life. He counts as his friends the biggest men of the profession and his particular hobby is pulling off stunts that astonish Chicagoans and bring business to his store. S. J. Hein is in direct charge. He worked tirelessly to prepare for the opening and his middle name could well be changed to enthusiasm.

Vitanola Co. Decreases Capital

The Vitanola Talking Machine Co., of Cicero, Ill., has decreased its capital stock of $500,000 and 50,000 shares of stock at no par value, to $130,000 and 5,000 shares of stock at no par value.

Some Columbia Brieflets

Sam Aroks, Columbia merchant in Racine, Wis., visited the Chicago office of the Columbia Co. the other day in a most jubilant mood, because business has shown a most noticeable incline in the past two weeks in his city.

July 3 witnessed the opening of Fred Mann's new Rainbo Gardens, the home of Frank Westphal and his dance orchestra extraordinary. This organization has lured thousands of Chicago's merry-makers to its doors and supplied them with those snappy dance tunes which have made it so popular here as well as on Columbia records.

Hyman Metzger is the new proprietor of the Wm. Shuchalter Music Shop, at 1559 North Halsted street. Although at present the greater part of the business is in popular records, the new owner anticipates building up an extensive German record trade.

I. S. Leon, southern Illinois representative of the Columbia Co., has just returned from his trip to the Coast, where he attended the Shrine convention. He stopped off and paid visits to several dealers and branches en route.

Cyrena Van Gordon, Columbia artist and popular Chicago opera star, has been engaged to appear in the open air concerts at the Chicago National League Baseball Park (Cubs' Park) this Summer. This will offer many music lovers an opportunity to hear this splendid artist.

Among the singers who are entertaining Ravinia's opera-goers are Leon Rothier, Morgan Kingston and Graham Marr, Columbia artists who have starred in various roles in past seasons. They are great favorites and should enjoy a most successful season.

F. L. Thompson, Clinton, Ia., a Columbia record fan, recently visited the Columbia office here. He owns a rare collection of over four hundred Columbia records, including all by Oscar Seagle and Rosa Ponselle. He is a close adviser of the Clinton dealer, W. C. Volckman, on all new records as they are released and his views are always worthy of consideration.

THE NEW ORO-TONE CONCERT EDISON EQUIPMENT

No. 2-E. C.

MAY WE SEND SAMPLE ON APPROVAL?

You and Your Customers will be Delighted with the Deep, Powerful Tone Quality Operated with the raising and lowering lever the same as the regular Edison reproducer.
Retail price—Highest grade nickel plate..... $7.25
Retail price—Highest grade gold plate..... 9.25

Usual Discount to Dealers

The above prices include this very essential and attractive needle cup case. Substantial and durable mahogany color leatherette. Fitted with gun metal finish needle cups as shown. Just what every Edison phonograph requires for needles and to hold either reproducer when the same is not in use. These cases will be supplied separately at 25c. each, less the usual discount.

Order Your Sample To-day—It Will Be Sent on Approval
Send for Folder Showing Wireless Equipment

THE ORO-TONE CO.

Manufacturers of Highest Grade Phonograph and Wireless Equipment

1000 to 1010 George Street, Chicago, Ills.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 103)

BRUNSWICK RECORDS OF "CHICK" EVANS' GOLF SECRETS

Proceeds From Sale of Records Will Be Devoted to "Chick" Evans' National Caddy Championship Foundation—Splendid Plan of Widening the Popularity of Golf—On Sale This Month

CHICAGO, ILL., July 7.—The latest addition to the famous Brunswick line of records is none other than a set of five records which carry the message of "Chick" Evans' golf secrets. These five records divulge secrets which the famous golfer has never revealed to his closest friends and contain the real inside dope which has led him to so many championships.

These records will be sold without profit either to "Chick" Evans or the Brunswick Co., as the entire proceedings, except the actual cost of problem by getting in touch with P. L. Deutsch, secretary of the Brunswick Co. These gentlemen in turn got together with W. A. Brophy, general manager of the Brunswick Co.'s recording laboratories. A plan was then worked out, and the five records, telling all about brassies, drivers, midirons, jiggers, stoppums, mashies, niblicks, etc., were recorded by Mr. Evans and prepared for the market by the Brunswick Co.

The money taken in by the sale of these records will go to the "Chick" Evans Foundation and will be held in trust by a Chicago bank for the purpose of paying all expenses of the National Caddy Championship, including the traveling expenses of the contestants. This will make possible to the caddy champions a college education when they shall have finished their grade and high school courses.

It will exert among the boys of America an influence positive in nature, help make them better men and citizens and direct their lives along right channels, not only in sport but otherwise.

The "Chick" Evans records will be placed on the market early in July and the caddies themselves will boost the good cause and direct inquiries to the dealers by soliciting and taking orders. The commissions which the caddies earn through taking orders for the records are, however, not for the purpose of paying their expenses to the National Caddy Championship Tournament, but will be their own, whether they attend the tournaments or not; if they do attend, all their expenses will be paid by the Western Golf Association.

A large number of sets of records have already been subscribed to by golfers of Chicago, many of whom had the opportunity to hear "Chick" Evans tell his secrets of par golf before they ordered. It was rather unusual (and yet it wasn't at that) that these Chicago players who heard the records ordered them immediately.

W. A. Brophy With "Chick" Evans manufacture and distribution, will be devoted to the "Chick" Evans National Caddy Championship, under the auspices of the Western Golf Association.

The idea behind the "Chick" Evans Foundation is to give the caddies a chance to bring out everything in them, and to carry the game of golf more vitally into the lives of the boyhood of America.

How to take the element of professionalism out of the caddy tournaments and keep these boys in the amateur ranks was a puzzling problem. There were certain expenses which had to be met during the tournament and ways and means had to be devised so that the boys could meet these expenses. "Chick" Evans solved the

NATIONAL RADIO SHOW HELD IN CHICAGO A SUCCESS

About Seventy-five Exhibitors Displayed Various and Latest Radio Developments at the Leiter Building—Attracted Quite a Crowd of Talking Machine as Well as Furniture Men

CHICAGO, ILL., July 8.—The National Radio Show, which held forth at the Leiter Building from June 26 to July 1, has just closed and from all reports the show met with greater success than had been anticipated. There were in all about seventy-five exhibitors and everything in radio ranging from the minutest part or accessory to complete receiving and sending outfits was shown. Some of these exhibits created quite a bit of interest and this was especially true of the Board of Education exhibit, which had Chicago school children demonstrating the simplicity of building home receiving outfits.

Among the exhibitors was the Tresco Radio Co., of 813-814 Putnam Building, Davenport, Ia. This concern manufactures a radio receiver which is licensed under the Armstrong patent. Their units are of the sectional universal type. This company has been manufacturing radio receivers for the past twenty years, and at one time operated under the Marconi patent.

The Winkler-Reichmann Co., Chicago, demonstrated the Thorophone, a handsomely made loud speaker, which has been received with much favor by the trade in general. This concern claims to be the oldest manufacturer of loud-speaking telephones in America. The Thorophone concert horn is of heavy aluminum, bell construction with mahogany base.

The Duophone Mfg. Co., of Chicago, exhibited a complete receiving unit which is combined in a console type cabinet with a talking machine. These cabinets are finished in either mahogany or walnut and the amplifier of the talking machine is utilized as a loud speaker for the radio. The size of the cabinet is fifty-four inches long, twenty-four inches wide and thirty-one and a half inches high.

The National Radio Co., of New York, was represented by the Ayan-Jay Sales Co., of Chicago. The exhibit here consisted of headphones, radio dials and other radio equipment.

Quite a number of the exhibitors utilized the product of the Super Antenna Co., of Quincy, Ill., which concern manufactures a little device which connects a radio receiver with any electric light socket. Its purpose is to take advantage of the electric light wires that are strung from the alley poles and utilize them as antennæ. This instrument uses no electric power or current and is controlled by an "off and on" switch.

The Ekko Co., of Chicago, attracted much attention by its radio talking machine loud-speaking unit. This little device is made to fit all standard talking machines and all makes of radio headphones. It is devised to slip on the tone arm of the talking machine and then by means of a clamp the head receivers are hooked on. In this way the amplifying horn of the talking machine may be used as a loud speaker.

The Lyon & Healy exhibit, under the direction of Charles Hindringer, manager of Lyon & Healy's radio department, was the scene of considerable activity. Much interest was centered about the product of the Westinghouse Co., the Aeriola, Junior and Senior sets, distributed exclusively by the Radio Corp. of America. Aeriola sets are characterized by their extreme simplicity of operation, the absence of complicated adjustments and their light weight. Aeriotron tube detectors are used in the Senior sets, the Junior utilizing crystal detectors. Besides these sets Lyon & Healy exhibited a full line of radio equipment which they job, namely, Cunningham tubes, DeForest equipment, De Veau loud speakers, Remler supplies, Bowman radio receivers and Clapp-Eastham receiving sets.

The Bristol Co., of Waterbury, Conn., exhibited a compact and artistically designed loud speaker to which it has given the trade name Audiophone. The horn of this loud speaker is fifteen inches in diameter. It is adaptable for use on all types of two or three-stage power amplifiers. A little auxiliary unit this company manufactures is a special talking machine record transmitter and control box which can be utilized

Have 10,000 Tone Arms—Suitable for the Better Class of Phonographs
Sample - - - - - $2.50 Special Quantity Prices

A HIGH GRADE DETECTOR TUBE

TRY ONE AND YOU'LL WANT MORE

List $5.00

NEW TYPE Balanced Condenser

TRY THESE FOR CLOSE ADJUSTMENT

- 14 Plate.....List $3.00
- 22 Plate.....List 4.00
- 42 Plate.....List 5.00

LAKESIDE SUPPLY COMPANY, 339 So. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois
 PHONE HARRISON 3840

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 104)

for amplification of voice or talking machine records.

The Cruver Mfg. Co., of Chicago, exhibited their product, the Proudfoot super-sensitive detector and two-stage amplifier. This is a very small but compact amplifying unit which is fitted in a cabinet barely five inches deep.

The Electrical Research Laboratories, Chicago, showed a full line of Erla radio equipment, such as radio frequency transformers, variable grid leaks and condensers, as well as sockets, radio plugs and bezels.

Davistone clear speaker, guaranteed to give no vibration distortion, but absolute insurance of the clearest possible reproduction from radio sets, was exhibited by the Davistone Co., of Chicago.

Single circuit radio tuners with wave length ranges from 180 to 1,500 meters were shown by the Radio Sales & Service Corp., of Chicago. This outfit does away with loading coils or series condensers and is very easily operated in tuning. Their tuner employs a special variable mica condenser.

A crystal receiving set, known as the Dixie, was exhibited by the Darce Mfg. Co., of Chicago. Besides this little set, other products of this company, such as variable condensers, dials, sockets, etc., were shown.

States Radio Corp., Chicago, exhibited a receiving set which utilizes a loop antenna. The set is a very neat piece of workmanship, coming in a genuine-mahogany case with silver-marked dials and panels which are guaranteed not to turn color.

A large line of home receiving sets was shown by the Radio Units, Inc., of Chicago. This set is very compact and complete. Their model R. U.-1 is constructed with its own aerial.

The latest thing out in antennae to be shown was the Shinn amplitone antenna cable, which comes packed in a neat box all ready for use. This antennae cable is made of the regulation No. 14 gauge wire braided so as to offer a continuous one-inch-wide strip. This company also manufactures a carbon ground, which it claims assures absolute certainty in a ground connection and this in turn helps build up a greater capacity charge in the antennae.

Another loud speaker to attract considerable attention is an artistic affair manufactured by the American Art Machine Co. This unit is made in two parts and is composed of "die cast" wood. The two parts are, namely, the radio horn and the radio resonance box and it carries the trade name of "Madera," and comes in three finishes, ivory, antique browns and Tiffany gold. The composition of Madera is of selected wood which has been broken down to its original fiber and molded under great pressure and heat into desired forms.

A very popular line that attracted considerable attention was the Estru Lattice Variometer and Variocoupler. These little units are extremely small and compact and offer great possibilities for inductance purposes. It was not the intention to design these units to produce an apparatus in miniature—the small size is a result of careful electrical design. This apparatus is manufactured by the Dalton, Wittier, True Co., Chicago.

The Weston Electrical Instrument Co., Newark, N. J., exhibited a full line of filament voltmeters, ammeters and thermo galvanometers.

Vacuum tube units for detection in two-stage amplification were shown by the Steinmetz Wireless Mfg. Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The United Mfg. & Distributing Co., Chicago, manufacturer of the well-known United talking machine motors, exhibited a full line of variable condensers, which they manufacture. These condensers range from eleven to forty-three plates. They have devoted quite a bit of their well-equipped plant and seasoned organization to the production of numerous radio parts.

The Widdicomb Co., of Grand Rapids, exhibited a full line of its high-grade cabinets, especially designed for the combining of radio receiving units with the talking machine.

Another horn and loud speaker which attracted attention was that of the Beckley & Ralston Co., of Chicago.

The United Radio Laboratories had a fine exhibit, which was in charge of L. H. Morris, president, and at which E. W. Wesselman, the sales manager, and Paul P. Ewing, in charge of the publicity, assisted.

Powel Crosley was another Cincinnati who was present with a comprehensive display.

The General Phonograph Corp. had an exhibit that was very interesting. This display was in charge of Homer Stephens, sales manager for the company. The exhibit consisted of the General Phonograph Co.'s product, such as head-phones and other high-grade accessories.

Other exhibitors who were present at the show with interesting demonstrations were the Aerex Radiophone Corp., American Art Machine Co., American Electric Co., Ampli-Radio Co., the Benson Co., L. S. Brach Mfg. Co., the Chicago Radio Co., Chicago Radio Dealers, Inc., Continental Radiophone Co., Drisco Mfg. Co., Electric Service Products Co., Ferry Radio Laboratories, S. R. Fralick & Co., Jefferson Electric Mfg. Co., Hercules Radio Corp., Hipwell Mfg. Co., Hughes Radio Electric Co., Indiana Electrical Specialty Co., J. E. Jenkins, Jewett Mfg. Co., Walter Lytton, Inc., M. & M. Mfg. Co., Maring Wire Co., R. C. Mills, Morscan Radio Co., W. G. Moyer, the Nash-Udell Co., Philadelphia Storage Battery Co., Post Electric Co., Radio Sales & Service Corp., Ray-di-co Organization, Raymond Radio Co., A. H. Redden, Schreuder-Lockwood, United Radio Laboratories, Universal Battery Co., Wireless Corp. of America.

NEW CHENEY DISTRIBUTORS

Important Connections Made in Los Angeles and Buffalo, N. Y.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 10.—E. A. Sanders, sales manager of the Cheney Talking Machine Co., announces the appointment of two new Cheney distributors in the West and East. The Munson Rayner Corp., of Los Angeles, Cal., has just signed up as distributor for the Cheney product in the States of California, Arizona and western Nevada. This important Coast organization will give the Cheney Co. strong representation in the West. Mr. Munson, formerly vice-president of the Melachrino Co., and Robert L. Rayner, son of the founder of Buck & Rayner, are the part-

BLOOD TONE ARM CO.

Phonograph Equipment

326 River St.

Chicago, Ill.

Unless you see this name on a tone arm it is NOT a Blood arm. Do not be misled by those who are trying to sell you a substitute for Genuine Blood Arms.

Look for our adv. in the August issue of The World. It cannot fail to interest you.

ners in this organization. The Munson-Rayner Corp. has been located in Los Angeles for four or five years, and its determination to take on the Cheney product means that highly desirable accounts in the Western territory will undoubtedly be established.

Another new distributor has been established with headquarters in Buffalo. This is John Adams Scanlan, Jr., who will have the State of New York from Albany to Buffalo. Mr. Scanlan formerly covered the Pittsburgh territory for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. There his Brunswick sales per capita ranked third among all the Brunswick representatives in the country. Mr. Scanlan is a live wire in the talking machine line and has already put five men out on the territory in the interest of Cheney instruments.

NO LABOR TROUBLES AT STEGER'S

In an Interesting Article in Forbes' Magazine, Chas. E. Byrne Is Given Credit for Work in Maintaining Morale of Employees

"Why Steger Piano Co. Never Has Labor Trouble" is the subject of a most interesting article by George A. King in the June issue of Forbes' Magazine, in which the writer takes occasion to pay high tribute to Charles E. Byrne, secretary-treasurer, Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., who joined the staff of that company ten years ago in a minor capacity. As a matter of fact, the article is something of a business biography of Mr. Byrne, whose experiences with the Steger Co. as an employe enabled him to map out a system whereby employes are provided with helpful entertainments during leisure hours and are encouraged to own their own homes and consider themselves partners in the business, and are treated in a way that has gone far to build up the morale of the organization to a notable degree.

KIMBALL Phonographs

Kimball prestige — long established—and a reliable guaranty are the foundation on which the dealer can safely build.

Style R
Equipped with Albums
37 in. High 40½ in. Wide
23½ in. Deep

Variety of Designs in Console and Upright Models; Superior Construction; Attractive Appearance; Truth of Tone—these qualities command the attention of Dealer or Customer. Write for Agency Terms.

W. W. KIMBALL CO.

306 So. Wabash Ave.

Kimball Bldg.

CHICAGO

After the jazz has palled, when the popular song hit is passe, the old, old melodies will live on and on. There's a place waiting in every collection of records for such a genuine delight as Oscar Seagle's rich baritone voice in "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." To demonstrate this record is to sell it. A-3619.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

CANTON

Trade Quickens—Windows Used to Good Purpose—Interested in County Fair—News of Month

CANTON, O., July 5.—The past four weeks were among the most active of the entire year and the majority of the stores report that business was considerably in excess of the same period a year ago.

Several of Canton's leading music stores offered really attractive Independence Day window displays, which were the source of much comment in downtown retail circles. These displays not only brought out the timeliness of the holiday, but exploited the portable talking machine and the many occasions on which it might be featured.

The new Economy Furniture Store, which will open during this month, will carry a well-known make of talking machine, an official of the company announced this week. This store is located in Court avenue, N. W., and is the first retail store of any consequence to invade the avenue.

Canton music dealers, it is announced, will lend their co-operation to the Stark County Fair Board in making the annual Stark County Fair a success. The event opens Labor Day and it is understood that the majority of dealers will exhibit merchandise in the Merchants' Hall.

It is an even break between the Starr and Cheney machines at the Alford & Fryar Piano Co., according to C. M. Alford, head of the firm. "We are selling some talking machines, but not as many as should be sold," said Mr. Alford. There was only a fair volume of record business in June.

Edisons have been holding their own in the Canton district, according to information from Rhine's Edison Shop. Edison records seem to have moved more lively than other makes during the month, and Manager Rutledge reports an occasional machine sale.

At a recent meeting of the Retail Merchants' Division of the Canton Chamber of Commerce it was agreed that all music stores would close at 5 p. m. during July and August. This does not affect the usual Saturday 6 o'clock closing.

Sales at the talking machine department of the William R. Zollinger Co. department store nearly doubled those of June a year ago, according to Manager Pyle. There has been a falling off in machine sales since the first of July. The management of the department circularized the auto owners the past week, setting forth the features of the portable Victrola, and this store expects to do a big business on this particular machine during the month.

Medium-priced talking machines are the only ones that received the call during the past month, according to C. H. Shrake, head of the music department of the Klein-Heffelman-Zollars Co. Sales were very satisfactory, Mr. Shrake said, and now that this store has completed its new talking machine department at the rear of the main floor on the mezzanine, it is able to display many more machines than it did when this department was located on the third floor.

Music dealers of Canton are delighted with the announcement that the Eight Famous Victor Artists will return to Canton next Winter as one of the numbers of the People's Music Course. The Victor Artists in past years have proved one of the biggest drawing cards of the entire series and their coming to Canton always has stimulated record sales.

MORRISON & PUTMAN HOLD OPENING

Public Flocks to Establishment for Formal Re-opening Following Alterations

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., July 7.—It is estimated that at least 5,000 persons attended the opening of the Morrison & Putman music store on Market street, of this city, last week and listened to a delightful entertainment provided by Kolomoku's Hawaiians, who were stationed in the balcony of the establishment. The occasion marked the installation of four additional booths in the store, all being located in the Victrola department and giving the establishment a capacity of seven booths in all. The decorations of palms, ferns and flowers were most artistically arranged.

The opening was a tremendous success for the store, it bringing out many who were visiting the well-known business place for the first time.

TO INTRODUCE SHELTON RADIO SET

W. Gentry Shelton, president of the Shelton Electric Co., which is well known throughout the trade through the production of the Shelton electric motor and the Shelton non-set automatic stop, is planning to produce a radio set to be known as the Shelton. The many years of experience that the Shelton Electric Co. has had in the electric field is a valuable asset to it in the production of this new radio receiving set. Much time has been spent in the perfecting of this instrument and it is expected that it will be ready for the market before long.

NEW EDISON TURNTABLE PLAN

Thomas A. Edison, Inc., announced that the turntable plan of selling new Edisons had recently been revised along new lines which involve an increased rebate and which look toward increased selling results. Among other things a special series of turntable advertisements have been prepared for the use of Edison dealers in their local publicity work.

"TALKER" MARKET IN NETHERLANDS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—An excellent market for talking machines, records and accessories is developing in the Netherlands, according to advices received by the Department of Commerce here from United States Consul General Anderson, stationed at Rotterdam.

EDISON JOBBERS VISIT FACTORY

Confer With Officials of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., Regarding Fall and Holiday Merchandising—Receive Message of Cheer

The latter part of June the executive committee of the Edison Disc Jobbers' Association visited the laboratories of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., at Orange, N. J., for the purpose of conferring with the Edison executives regarding merchandising plans for the forthcoming Fall and holiday seasons. The sessions lasted a full week and the various announcements made by the Edison officials to the jobbers' committee aroused the greatest kind of enthusiasm. In this connection A. H. Curry, vice-president in charge of the phonograph division, said to a representative of The World:

"The Edison Co. for some time past has been working on a number of important plans, which are due to be put into operation within the near future. The reception given the advance announcement of these plans by the visiting Edison jobbers proved highly gratifying to the Edison officials.

"The officials of the Edison Co. explained the revised and extended production program of the company, including various refinements of product and large-scale record production. Further details will be given later as better advantage of them can be taken by the Edison trade. The schedule of special facilities for 'hit' production and distribution, which was outlined, was received with particular enthusiasm by those present. The release of popular song and dance numbers by the Edison Co. will henceforth compete in a most vigorous manner in priority and quality with the rest of the industry. The Edison officials have aimed to secure advantages in special releases and are now enabled to offer their dealers something extraordinary in this line."

There was an enthusiastic vote of thanks from the visitors for the intelligent and skillful work of the Edison officials on the 1922-1923 plan of operations. A substantial profit and rapid turnover now seem assured by the Edison Co. to wholesale and retail dealers of Edison products.

The jobbers' committee which attended included Laurence H. Lucker, of Minneapolis, Minn., president of the Association; M. M. Blackman, of Kansas City, Mo., secretary; Albert A. Buehn, Pittsburgh; P. H. Oelman, Cincinnati, O., and George Schultz, of Omaha, Neb. L. N. Bloom, of Cleveland, the only absent committee member, was prevented from attending through illness. Thos. A. Edison, Charles Edison, Stephen Mambert and A. H. Curry were the principal representatives of the factory in the various conferences.

INCORPORATION

The High Point Music Co., 200 North Main street, High Point, N. C., was recently incorporated in that State, with a capital stock of $50,000.

Steinway & Sons, Cincinnati, Ohio

M. Steinert & Sons, Boston, Mass.

Steinway - Victor - Brunswick

and

The Unico System

Steinway & Sons, the famous Piano House, who represent the Brunswick Line thruout the Middle West, have installed Unico Equipment thruout their establishments.

M. Steinert & Sons, Steinway and Victor Distributors for New England, have installed The Unico System thruout their nineteen stores.

Unico Equipment has proved a Sales Increasing—Profit Producing factor with these well known companies —also with 2,500 dealers, both large and small, in all parts of the country.

Ten Unico Service Branches offer you the same opportunities and advantages of the Unico System.

Quality —the acknowledged standard of equipment excellence.

Price —within the reach of every dealer—irrespective of quality and patented features. Complete departments, including Audition Room, Record Racks and Counter from $360.20 upward.

Economy —the Patented Principle of the Unico System Protects and insures your investment.

Terms —Deferred Payments—if you desire—enable you to Pay Out of Profits.

Prepare NOW to Secure your Full Share of Fall and Holiday Business—Consult our nearest Branch TODAY.

Unit Construction Company

RAYBURN CLARK SMITH, President

NEW YORK, N. Y.
299 Madison Ave.

58th Street and Grays Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

CHICAGO, ILL.
30 N. Michigan Blvd.

ATLANTA, GA.
49 Auburn Ave.

DALLAS, TEX.
209 Dallas Bank Bldg.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
506 Marine Bank Bldg.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH
150 Main St.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
942 Market St.

DENVER, COLO.
1642 Arapahoe St.

H. A. MOORE & CO., LTD. (Sales Agents)
Premier House, London (W.C.I.), England

AKRON, O.

*Business Shows Decided Gain—Collections Improve — Dealers
Very Active — News Gleanings*

AKRON, O., July 8.—After several weeks of unusual quiet in the talking machine trade business with the dealers in practically every instance shows a gain. Dealers are more cheerful with respect to the future and are well satisfied with the mid-Summer volume done to date, they say. Machines seem to be moving much better, especially with the better stores, where the standard makes are featured. Money is becoming easier and dealers say there is a decided improvement in collections, which is a sure indication of better business the coming Fall months.

Dales' Store Announces an Innovation

What is said to be an innovation in Akron retail music circles is the installing of a talking machine record shop, with a Main street entrance, by the George S. Dales Co., Victor and Cheney dealer. This shop is most modern in every respect and every patron of the store who enters the upstairs section must pass through it. Mr. Dales believes this will greatly stimulate record sales, as in the past the record department had been maintained on the second floor. It has been the experience of many dealers that record departments upstairs have proved a poor-paying proposition.

George Savage, for many years a traveling representative of the Eclipse Musical Co., Cleveland, has assumed charge of the talking machine department of the George S. Dales Co.

Miss Baer at Convention

Miss Elsie Baer, head of the talking machine department of the M. O'Neil Co., recently returned from the music trades conventions in New York and says the meeting was one of the most successful she has ever attended. Miss Baer reports record sales quiet for June, but said there is quite an improvement in machine sales and that Victor, Cheney and Brunswick machines were much in demand.

Adds Line of Talking Machines

The F. W. Van Scoyoc Piano Co., the newest Akron music concern, has added the Stradivara line of talking machines. To date it has installed no line of records in its new store.

Smith With Frederick Co.

Ernest V. Smith, for several months manager of the Akron, O., store of the A. B. Smith Piano Co., has been named district manager for Ohio by the W. F. Frederick Piano Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., which maintains many branch stores in eastern Ohio.

Merchants Have New Plan

Akron retail merchants, including piano and talking machine stores, have joined with the merchants of other trades in the launching of a campaign which will protect them against out-of-town promotions. Before any solicitor or ticket seller can make a canvass of Akron retail stores he must first present his scheme in detail to a committee representing the Akron Retail Merchants' Association. This is the suggestion of Jack Moore, secretary of the Association, and approved by the majority of the merchants.

Windsor-Poling Co. to Foster Concerts

Earle Poling, of the Windsor-Poling Co., exclusive Victor dealer, has announced a series of six concerts to be offered next Winter by that firm, and which will bring to Akron many of the world's most famous artists, including Gallucurci, Olive Kline, Edward Johnson, Madame Schumann-Heink and others. There will be three individual concerts and six others will be offered as a concert series. This firm last Winter was responsible for sponsoring several previous concerts, but Mr. Poling says this year's series will surpass anything heretofore attempted in a musical way in the Rubber City.

The Windsor-Poling Co. is making a special effort to make a record of sales of the portable talking machine for camp entertainment. Results are proving more than satisfactory and the drive will be continued all Summer.

The music shop of J. Rudick will move to another location after August 1. The building housing the shop has been sold and the tenants have been ordered to find new quarters.

Ray A. Porter, who for several years has given much attention to the management of the talking machine department at the store of George S. Dales Co., has taken active charge of the jewelry department of the same firm.

Will Handle Talking Machines

The Baer Furniture Co., which will open its spacious new store on South Main street within the month, will maintain a large talking machine section, it is announced. Just what make machines and records will be featured was not made known at this time.

Records Move Better

An outstanding feature of the talking machine trade during the past month was the improvement in record sales. In all shops visited by the representative of The World records were reported moving better than in many weeks.

COLLEEN MOORE BUYS A SWANSON

Popular Motion Picture Star Purchases Portable —Uses It at Studio and in Home

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 5.—Miss Colleen Moore, motion picture star, who has been selected to play the leading part in "Broken Chains," the $10,000 prize-winning scenario of the Chicago Daily News, was a recent visitor to the phonograph department of the Parmelee-Dohrmann Co., in this city. While there Miss Moore became keenly interested in the Swanson portable phonograph, which is featured in this department and purchased one for her private use. Miss Moore not only uses the Swanson at her home, but also takes it to the Goldwyn Studios, where she plays it frequently during spare moments. The accompanying photograph showing Miss Moore and her Swanson was taken on one of the "lots" at the Goldwyn Studios.

Colleen Moore and the Swanson

LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR FALL

Collings & Co. Announce Arrangements to Take Care of Expected Requirements of Victor Dealers

Collings & Co., Victor distributors, of Newark, N. J., have just launched a Fall campaign through which Victor retailers in this company's territory are encouraged to complete plans and arrangements whereby they will be assured of Victrola stock for a six-month period.

The Collings & Co. house organ, The Record, announces the details of the Fall plans, under the caption, "Anticipation," in which is stated: "We wish to reiterate that our encouragement to buy now is placed upon an intelligent analysis of conditions as they exist. Moreover, rest assured that we are doing our part in protecting your interest by buying and stocking both machines and records to the limit of this company's ability."

BRUNSWICK OFFICES MOVED

CLEVELAND, O., July 7.—The local headquarters of the Brunswicke-Balke-Collender Co. were recently moved from Huron Road to attractive and more desirable quarters at 624-634 St. Clair avenue, Northwest. The new headquarters are more spacious and offer better facilities for supplying the needs of the trade.

MOTORS

Double spring, plays three 10-inch records without rewinding. Nickel plated, worm drive. Complete with all accessories. Sample $3.25. Special prices in quantity lots. Motor suitable for portable machine.

Pleasing Sound Phonograph Co.

Manufacturers—Jobbers
204 East 113th St., New York City
Jobbing Territory Open

Are You Getting Your Share of the Summer Profits?

You Can With a Small
Assortment of

MUSICAL MERCHANDISE

Such as

Ukuleles — Banjos
Harmonicas — Violin Outfits
Strings and Trimmings

It Means

No Additional Expense
Quick Sales
Liberal Profits
Fine Window Displays
Repeating Customers

We can supply you with the finest line of
MUSICAL MERCHANDISE
in the Trade at the Very Lowest Prices

Write for our 1922 Catalog
Fully Illustrated
(Just off the Press)

BUEGEISEN & JACOBSON

5-7-9 Union Square
NEW YORK

THE ORSENIGO PERIOD PHONOGRAPH

WREST GOTHIC

A true exemplification of the art that has come down through the ages since its inception in the Third Century A. D.

Could the two arts—Architectural and Musical, be better combined than in this imposing cabinet?

TO DEALERS: We have endeavored to fill all orders in rotation and with despatch; but we respectfully request that all orders for fall delivery be placed as soon as possible to avoid disappointment and to insure early delivery.

THE ORSENIGO COMPANY, Inc.

Showroom:

112 West 42nd Street
New York City, N. Y.

Factory:

Skillman Ave. and Rawson St.
Long Island City, N. Y.

Improve Your Department During the Summer
Be Prepared for Fall and Holiday Business

The musical merchandise department store of M. Philips, Washington, D. C., completely equipped by Van Veen & Company

VAN VEEN & COMPANY, Inc. 413-417 E. 109th St., New York City
Phone 7758 Harlem

The efficiency of Van Veen equipment has been established through years of use by hundreds of successful dealers.

The prices of Van Veen equipment were never lower than at the present. Buying the best at the right price is true economy.

Write for Catalog—the Equipment is Ready to Ship.

Offices and Warerooms

KANSAS CITY

Large Wheat Crop Stimulates Business and Creates Optimism for Fall Trade—All Lines Enjoy Good Demand—Publicity Helps

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 6.—“Business?” “Fair.” “Prospects?” “Fine.” That is the substance of the conversations held to-day with talking machine jobbers in Kansas City. The one variation was in the case of A. A. Trostler, manager of the wholesale Victor department of the Schmelzer Co., and the newly elected president of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers. His response to the question, “Prospects?” was, “Oh, wonderful.”

The optimism for the Fall business is based on the increasingly large wheat crop which is being harvested, and the wonderful fruit crops which are ripening throughout the Kansas City territory, as well as the good prospects for most all other crops. Then there is the reassuring smile of the dealer as he comes into the Kansas City offices, and talks enthusiastically of the big business which he is going to do in the near future, and the fact that he backs his judgment with orders for the goods to sell.

An Edison dealer from western Kansas, in Kansas City this week, ordered the goods he wants for his sales during September. He knows there will be the business, but he was not sure that he could get the goods when he wanted them, so he ordered them in advance. Another Edison dealer visited the jobber this week and hauled home in his truck a full load of machines, reporting that he is now closing deals which he has had on the string since before the days of the depression began two years ago. Other dealers are reporting that conditions are assuming such a shape that now they are confidently going out to sell, whereas for the past two years they were convinced that it would not be much use to try to do so.

New Edison Consoles Please

W. W. Blackman, manager of the Edison branch here, has just returned from a conference of dealers at the factory. He is unusually enthusiastic over the conditions there, and the prospects of the fullest possible co-operation with the dealers in the way of increased facilities and more marketable machines. One of the outstanding features of this service is the production of an Edison console model which will be offered at $175. It is to be called the Baby Console, and will have all the high qualities of the other Edison machines. The Kansas City branch has just been able to get in its shipments of the Chippendale consoles, to sell at $295, and its William and Mary consoles to sell at $325, and these are finding ready takers. But with the coming of Fall trade, and with the Baby Consoles to offer, the management is expecting its biggest business.

New Record of Local Interest

A new Victor record, the release of which is looked forward to with more than ordinary interest by Kansas City folks, is that of one of the productions of the late lamented Billie Brown. This piece of Miss Brown's is entitled “Lonesome Mama,” and is one of a series of “Blues” which she wrote. The date of its release is announced as July 14.

Dealers Using More Publicity Material

Fred Jenkins, of the wholesale Victor department of the J. W. Jenkins' Sons Music Co., is finding an unusually ready response to his efforts to secure the co-operation of the Victor dealers throughout the territory in using the Victor publicity materials. There have been more of the dealers ordering the cuts to be used in newspapers and circular advertising than at any time in the past. His mail, and the field men, are bringing in reports of better use of the circular matter that is supplied, and a more intelligent appreciation of the value of the co-operation which the company offers the dealer in reaching the public. He considers this one of the most encouraging signs of better business for the future.

Sure Money in Standard Records

“The sure money is in the standard records—the ones that we can count on being bought for all the years to come. The so-called popular hits are a doubtful proposition. If the hit goes, and continues to be popular, there is big money in it. But if, on the other hand, its popularity is short-lived we are apt to get stuck with a lot of records that we will never sell. We are finding good sales for records of the standard variety which we are listing with the regular monthly offerings of the factory. There is a growing demand for these records which we are thus bringing to the attention of the dealers,” said Mr. Jenkins.

Brunswick for the Shriners

The Kansas City branch of the Brunswick is in receipt of a photo of the machine, as it was being delivered from the truck, which was fur-

Brunswick for Muskogee, Okla., Shriners nished by the Brunswick phonograph department of the Harbour Furniture Co. to the Muskogee, Okla., Shriners as they started on their trip to the big ceremonial at San Francisco recently. They were not satisfied to carry in their solid train of Pullmans their crack band, and their drum corps, both of which are justly renowned, but they secured the talking machine to give them the best of music as they sped along their way. The picture shows John Caldwell, one of the firm, in uniform, and his young son, who was a mascot for the bunch, and Harlan H. Winn, the manager of the phonograph department of the Harbour Furniture Co.

Ferguson Bros., of Muskogee, Okla., appreciate the value of the 1922 Columbia record catalog. They had a young man in uniform deliver one of these catalogs to the home of each Grafonola owner in Muskogee. No doubt the customer appreciates the value of the catalog more by having received it in this manner.

Brunswick Activities

Field Man Henry, of the Brunswick, is in from a trip through western Kansas, and is enthusiastic concerning the prospects for business in that part of the territory. He has been doing a good

Cotton Flocks of Uniform Quality

FOR RECORD MANUFACTURERS

Guaranteed Free of Loading

Prices Consistent With Quality, Service and Market Conditions

Claremont Waste Mfg. Co.

Claremont, N. H.

business during June, and finds the dealers all ready to push the phonograph departments. The record sales have been good. Manager Briggs, of the Kansas City branch of the Brunswick Co., reports that the June business was about up to their business for May.

Working on Association Committees

President A. A. Trostler, of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers, is working away on his list of committees, and getting the matters pertaining to the Association well in hand. He is enthusiastic about the prospects for the coming year, and the things that are to be attempted for the good of the Association. He sees only the big opportunities that are before the jobbers in the future, and has full faith in the ability of the jobbers to take advantage of them. He expects to have some definite plans worked out and ready to announce in the near future.

The Ernest Dickerson Music Co., of Hutchinson, Kan., exclusive Columbia dealer, has prepared a folder about the size of the ordinary newspaper sheet featuring its line of Grafonolas and pianos, which have gone into many homes in Reno County and one-fourth of the homes in McPherson, Rice, Stafford and Kingman Counties. Mr. Dickerson is paving the way for a splendid music business this Fall after the crops are harvested.

The J. Ed. Black Music Co., of Springfield, Mo., Columbia dealer, believes in working the city of Springfield systematically for Grafonola business. It has a large map of the city of Springfield framed on a compo-board backing and each street divided into city blocks. On this map it has a tack showing the house location of every Grafonola owner in Springfield. This map is prominently displayed in its store and is a substantial influence on a prospective customer, due to the fact that it impresses on his mind the popularity of this line.

M. B. Kendis, of Sedalia, Mo., of the Kendis Jewelry Co., exclusive Columbia dealer, called on the Kansas City branch a few days ago after having returned from a few weeks' visit in California. Mr. Kendis said that he had a most wonderful trip, picked up many ideas and was very anxious to get back to his store and make some changes and improvements, and while he stated his trip cost him a few thousand dollars, he expects to make it up in Grafonola sales within the next few months.

HEALTH BUILDERS RECORDS STORY

Walter Camp's "Daily Dozen" Set to Music Being Sold at the Rate of $1,000,000 a Year—Sold Profitably by Dealers Throughout the Country

The story of the Health Builders records, which consist of Walter Camp's "Daily Dozen" set to music, was told in an interesting article appearing in the July issue of Printers' Ink monthly. It points out that in April of last year, when Robert B. Wheelan, the president and founder of Health Builders, Inc., had published his first advertisement, several successful mail order advertising men, and also a number of prominent dealers, predicted that the "Daily Dozen" phonograph records could not be sold profitably through dealers. The fallacy of this prediction is to be found in the statement that business is coming in at the rate of $1,000,000 a year and that a large part of this is contributed by 500 dealers throughout the country. The story relates how the mail order advertising of the company is also developing business for the talking machine retailer. It is Mr. Wheelan's belief that all extensive mail order advertising creates a demand that cannot be met by mail and that in many instances such a demand can profitably be supplied through dealers. He further states that at the present rate his organization probably will be shipping one-half of his output to dealers in the near future.

Mr. Wheelan's inception of the idea of setting Walter Camp's "Daily Dozen" to music in record form, together with descriptive and health charts, is described at length as well as his meeting with Nelson Doubleday, of Oyster Bay, and the forming of the partnership.

Mr. Wheelan stated in part, in the article in Printers' Ink: "As soon as the new organization was working well I took up the matter of the dealer. I called on several New York dealers, but all of them balked at the price. We were selling the system at $20, then, and that price, because of our small production, gave us a rather close profit."

He then told of the demonstration before The Talking Machine Men, Inc., although at that time with no appreciable results. Increased production soon brought the list price down to $15, which proved attractive to the talking machine dealer. Mail order advertising created a demand by the buying public upon the dealer and trade journal advertising put the proposition direct to the dealer.

In closing, Mr. Wheelan stated: "Our experience shows plainly that a mail order proposition that has anything to do with an old-line business creates a demand through the old channel. Because our system used phonograph records as one of its features a lot of prospects would not break their buying habits but went to phonograph dealers to find out about it. The other class, represented by the ones who came to my office, we are trying to send to dealers. Thousands of them have written to us wanting to know where they can see and hear our Health Builders' system. We are now going after this class through mediums that we think will send them to the dealer."

UNICO INSTALLATION IN TUSCOLA

TUSCOLA, ILL., July 8.—H. S. Bassett, Victor retailer, of this city, recently installed a Unico demonstration room with double sound-proof insulated construction. With his added merchandising help it is expected that the sale of Red Seal records will increase materially through the opportunity afforded his customers to hear the records without disturbance.

The Hopkins Piano Co., of Chester, Pa., has added the Brunswick line of phonographs to its stock.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A GOOD FIFTY-CENT RECORD

- 1. Good Material.
- 2. Careful Recording.
- 3. Experienced Artists.
- 4. Hits while they are "hits."
- 5. The backing by a well-organized company which allows entire safety in building up business for the future.

The Puritan Records have all these qualities and offer you an excellent 50-cent Record Proposition.

If you are located in territory East of the Ohio and North of the Potomac it will pay you to write today for full details.

The BRIDGEPORT DIE & MACHINE Co.
170 ELM ST. BRIDGEPORT, CONN.

C I N C I N N A T I

Trade Is Normal—Retail Stocks Continue Low—Victor With Widener—Helping to Sell Records—Radio Makes Slow Progress

CINCINNATI, O., July 8.—The even tenor of trade in the talking machine business in this city continued during the past few weeks. Neither extraordinary increase nor extraordinary slump was noted, though there are dealers who by unusual effort report slight increases in trade most noticeable during the past week. Practically all dealers are carrying only such stock as is absolutely needed, since it is now very easy to obtain stock quickly, and dealers are taking no chances of losing money on large invoices. For the most part the jobber is kindly allowed to carry the risk, while the retailer retrenches as far as possible.

The Dealers and Radio

Little enough practical activity is manifested in the exploitation of radio apparatus. With the exception of the Chubb-Steinberg Music Shop, the Victrola department of the John Shillito Co. and a small Norwood branch of the Otto Grau Piano Co., which only leases space to a separate dealer in radio equipment, no stores are making any effort to combine radio with talking machines. This is not so much due to the possible conflict between the two lines as to the extreme difficulty of even the slightest expansion. The stores which handle radio equipment, however, are doing very well with it. Various manufacturing plants also are making, or planning to make, radio apparatus. The Precision Instrument Co. is perhaps the most active and successful in this field. The Herschede Hall Clock Co. now is equipping an addition to its factory to take care of the manufacture, on a broad basis, of radio stock.

Widener's Secures Victor Agency

A new Victor account opened is that of the local branch of Widener's Grafonola Shops. Heretofore this store has carried the Granby and Columbia lines, but for some time has desired to add Victor goods to its stock. Owing to the policy of the Ohio Talking Machine Co., jobber in Victrolas and Victor records, not to overcrowd its field and thereby handicap its dealers, Widener's was unable to obtain an account. This is one of the chief reasons for the purchase by Widener's Shop of the store of the Werner Industries, which contained a Victor stock, the Victor account of this store passing into the hands of the purchaser.

Morris Fantel, manager of Widener's, reports a fine business for June. Mr. Fantel said: "Our business for June was even better than that for May, which represented a 50 per cent increase over any month previous in 1922. Our trade has been uniformly better this year than last, in a comparison of months. There will, of course, be something of a slump during the very hot weather to come, but by Autumn it seems to me that business in machines and records should be fine."

Fine Business in June

Chas. H. North, secretary of the Ohio Talking Machine Co., reported a fair business for the month of June. Mr. North said: "Dealers are not buying many machines or records for stock. They are buying as they need supplies. Retailers are letting the jobbers carry the bulk of the goods and run the bulk of the risk of possible fluctuation in price. Time was, not so long ago, when retailers were unable to obtain enough machines and records to satisfy demands upon their stock. Now they are unable to find enough buyers to satisfy demands upon their income."

E. M. Abbott Piano Co. May Continue

It has not yet been decided what disposition will be made of the stock, both pianos and talking machines, of the E. M. Abbott Piano Co., which two weeks ago sued for and obtained a receivership. It is possible either that the company, upon disposal of its Seventh street branch, which seems to have caused the trouble, shall be allowed to continue in business in an effort to work its way out, or that stock will be disposed of to satisfy, in part, demands of creditors. Until the receiver completes a survey of the company's condition no decision will be made.

Unique Record Sales Stunt

H. L. Druly, of the Baldwin Piano Co., Muncie, Ind., has rigged up a unique arrangement to sell records to persons who come in to pay bills and instalments. He has attached a small record fixture at the side of the cashier's window. This fixture is so placed that the wings containing the records fall directly across the window, and it is necessary for the customer to move them to one side to transact business with the cashier. This is salesmanship after the fashion of "Giving it to 'em and let 'em handle it." This method, said Mr. Druly, paid for itself in record sales the first afternoon that it was installed.

C. Link Back From Shriner Convention

Clifford Link, of Link's Music Shop, dealer in Columbia goods, accompanied Cincinnati delegates of the Mystic Shrine to the Shrine convention at San Francisco. He returned to Cincinnati by way of Seattle, Vancouver, Banff, St. Paul, arriving home near the end of June.

Grafonola for Palestine

Mrs. S. J. Goldstine purchased a Grafonola from Silverstein Bros., Terre Haute, Ind., and ordered it shipped to her husband in Palestine. Mr. Goldstine is opening a chain of retail furniture stores in Palestine and plans to handle Columbia Grafonolas and records.

Columbia Branch Picnic

The annual picnic of the local branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co. was held at Humboldt Park, near Cincinnati, June 16, on which day the usual jollity was in order. There was a big crowd and a good time.

Messages of Good Business

The business of the Aeolian Co., dealer in the Aeolian-Vocalion, has been satisfactory during the month of June, according to Manager Devine. E. I. Pauling, of the Starr Piano Co., also reports a very fair business in Starr machines and Gennett records.

Miss Yates, manager of the Victrola department of the H. & S. Pogue Co., also reports a good business for the past month.

DEATH OF JOHN CHILD RAY

Well-known Columbia Man Dies Suddenly at Phoenix, Ariz.—Popular in Talking Machine Circles Throughout the Country

The talking machine industry learned with regret recently of the death of John Child Ray, who died at Phoenix, Ariz., a few weeks ago. Mr. Ray was well known in the talking machine trade, having been identified with the industry since 1903. His first position after leaving school was in the shipping department at the Columbia Graphophone Co.'s factory, Bridgeport, Conn. He filled various executive positions at the factory until February, 1912, when he was brought to New York as an assistant to H. L. Willson, now president of the company. He remained with Mr. Willson's staff until October, 1920, when, on account of poor health, he went to Pasadena, Cal.

After a rest of three months, Mr. Ray resumed active work on January 1, 1921, joining the sales promotion department of the Columbia Co.'s Los Angeles branch and doing excellent work under W. F. Stidham, manager of the branch. His never-failing ambition to further advance in the Columbia organization, coupled with his untiring energy, resulted in his almost complete breakdown in health, and necessitated his giving up business activities in March, 1922. He then went to Phoenix, Ariz., with the hope of regaining his health, but died there suddenly. While confined to his bed he made arrangements to open an exclusive Columbia shop in Phoenix, Ariz., which was scheduled for opening on June 20.

Mr. Ray is survived by a widow and two children, together with his parents. H. B. Ray, his father, is one of the veterans of the talking machine industry, and at the present time is associated with the Manufacturers Phonograph Co., New York.

VICTOR SCHOOL IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, CONN., July 8.—Arrangements have been completed for holding the classes of the Victor school of salesmanship in this city, according to an announcement made by E. C. Gallo, head of the Horton-Gallo-Creamer Co. The sessions will be held from July 31 to August 3 and salesmen who desire to take advantage of this opportunity are requested to notify Mr. Gallo.

WE ARE ALWAYS READY TO HELP YOU MR. VICTOR
DEALER ALONG CONSTRUCTIVE PRACTICAL LINES

A Significant Trade-Mark

The world famous Victor trade-mark, symbolic of Victor supremacy and leadership, is the Victor dealer's greatest asset and protection.

Mickel Service is offered to the Victor dealer as a means of thoroughly capitalizing Victor strength and prestige.

MICKEL BROS.

We Finance Your Radio Sales

No doubt, you would like the following questions answered:

1. Should I stock radio?
2. If so, what lines should I handle?
3. Will I be left "holding the bag" on some of the present-day goods?
4. Where is my protection on entering this new field, which seemingly assures large profits, but, to me, has no guarantee of permanency?
5. Will I have to stock a line of accessories?

Extract from an article by Mr. R. F. Yates, Editor "The Evening Mail" Radio Review, appearing under date of July 1, 1922.

"The writer has given this matter considerable thought and is of the opinion that the phonograph dealers are best fitted to handle complete radio receivers. They have the booths all ready for their patrons and, furthermore, they are thoroughly acquainted with the sales plan, under which the more expensive radio receivers will eventually be sold. Reference is made to the time-payment plan."

Here Are Your Answers

We will place in your stock a demonstrating line of Prima radio receiving apparatus retailing complete with all batteries, tubes and other accessories, from

$30.00 to $250.00

You pay us the usual dealer's price, with regular discounts allowed, as is customary in the talking machine trade.

Sales Guaranteed

You sell these efficient, complete and among the best receiving sets on installment terms. We will take up the installment paper on each and every sale.

Sell on Installments

No cost to enter—No accounts or stock to carry—Every sale means profits. We will ship you the demonstrating set, or sets, on regular or installment terms, and sales will be guaranteed.

The Best Dealers in Every City

This opportunity is open only to live, progressive, up-to-date merchants. Territory will be restricted.

*Act quick—Wire or write your offer.
Enter the Radio Field without gambling.*

Prima Radio Corp., 185 Twenty-second Street
Brooklyn, N. Y.

It's three o'clock in the morning, We've danced the whole night thru.

THIS YEAR'S BIG WALTZ HIT IS

"Three O'Clock in the Morning"

That Entrancing Melody You Hear Everywhere

"You can't go wrong with any Feist song"

HEAR IT NOW

ATLANTA DEALERS LOOK TO FALL

Business Marks Time Until Crop Returns Materialize—Jesse G. Bowen Piano Co. to Open "Talker" Department—Month's News

ATLANTA, GA., July 10.—This Southeastern district is so largely agricultural that except in the larger cities and towns the talking machine business is marking time. The large returns from crops do not come until Fall. Dealers are, however, already planning for the coming season.

In Greensboro, N. C., the Frazier Piano Co. will shortly move into a fine new store and will push talking machines more aggressively than ever before.

The Jesse G. Bowen Piano Co., of Winston-Salem, N. C., is completing a new building and has made its plans to open a well-arranged talking machine department, featuring the console type.

Geo. F. Alexander has opened a large music store in High Point, N. C., featuring the Victor and Brunswick. He was formerly located at Roanoke, Va.

Many Victor dealers throughout this section are taking on the Console cabinet equipped with Victor VI and thus have a true period, flat-top console model to sell at a reasonable price.

M. E. Lyle, representing the Strand, has been absent for several weeks looking after his trade through North Carolina and later going on to New York to visit the executive office of the Manufacturers Phonograph Co. He has been successful in opening new Strand accounts in many towns.

P. C. Brockman has returned from a trip North, his time being chiefly spent at the offices of the General Phonograph Co. Mr. Brockman is in charge of the wholesale phonograph division of the Polk Furniture Co., Atlanta, Okeh record distributor.

Westervelt Terhune, Columbia branch manager, has just returned from a brief visit to the company's executive office in New York. Mr. Mohl, assistant manager, has been off to Florida, looking after the company's interests there.

I. M. Bame and Leroy Webb, who have been with the Shriners on their long jaunt to the Pacific Coast, have returned home to this city.

The Cable Piano Co. recently decorated its large show window to represent a forest camp. The floor was carpeted with sand and rocks. Pine trees formed the background. Near the tent was a camp fire all ready for service. Displayed most appropriately were small Victor models. This clever window trim made an attractive sales appeal.

Very handsome and timely Fourth of July window decorations were featured by the Phillips & Crew Piano Co. and the Goodhart-Tomkins Co.

FIRTH EXECUTIVES VISIT TRADE

P. A. Wilkinson Calling on Western Trade—H. E. Brennan Spends Several Days in Boston

P. A. Wilkinson, vice-president of John Firth & Co., New York, N. Y., manufacturer of Firth wireless telephone products, who is now making an important trip through the Middle West, has appointed several jobbers and full details regarding these appointments will be announced in the course of the next few weeks.

Herbert E. Brennan, secretary and sales manager of the company, spent several days in Boston recently in conference with Robert E. Steinert, of the M. Steinert & Sons Co., distributors of the Firth product. Mr. Brennan states that the outlook in New England territory is very satisfactory, and while in Boston managed to spend a half day on the links under Mr. Steinert's able supervision.

A. H. CURRY ON SOUTHERN TRIP

ORANGE, N. J., July 14.—A. H. Curry, vice-president in charge of the phonograph division of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., leaves to-morrow on a Southern trip, during which he will look over his wholesale and retail phonograph interests in Texas. In addition to visiting Dallas and other cities in Texas, Mr. Curry plans to call on Edison jobbers located in Indianapolis, St. Louis, New Orleans, Atlanta and other points. He expects to return to Orange by the end of July.

EDISON WINDOW DISPLAY FOR AUGUST

Music and Flowers Principal Theme of This Very Attractive Window Arrangement

The Edison window display service put out by Thomas A. Edison, Inc., for the benefit of new Edison dealers is moving ahead very fast. An increase in the demand for it of 33 1-3 per cent occurred in July, as against the previous month. This remarkable growth is attributed by the Edison organization to two things: First, the fact that Edison dealers are anxious to use every worth-while plan for securing additional customers, and, second, to the fact that the service itself has been recently greatly improved.

The Edison August Window for Dealers

Thomas A. Edison, Inc., has prepared a very attractive window for the use of Edison dealers in the month of August. The principal theme of this window is music and flowers, and every effort has been made to portray the scenes which are most appealing to those who derive the most pleasure from the Summer season. The center of the display is built around the Re-Creation "Hearts and Flowers," by Walter Chapman. The other selections featured are "Serenade—Les Millions d'Arlequin," by Albert Spalding; "Carnival of Venice" and "As Once in Happier Days." Walter Scanlan is the subject of the portrait in the upper center of the window.

ANDREWS WITH OKLAHOMA T. M. CO.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., July 6.—The Oklahoma Talking Machine Co. has added to its staff Warren Andrews, who has had a varied Victor retail experience. He has been connected with the Oklahoma Talking Machine Co. for some time in the past in various capacities familiarizing himself with the general wholesale business. He has been assigned to no particular territory, but will travel chiefly in Oklahoma. In addition to P. A. Ware, sales manager, who will spend most of his time in the field in dealer development, this gives the Oklahoma Talking Machine Co. three representatives on the road.

The "VICSONIA" REPRODUCER

For Perfect Interpretation of Edison Disc Records on Victrolas and Grafonolas.

Fitted with permanent jewel point. No loose parts.

Meet the demand—Serve your customers

Sample Model "A" or "B" Vicsonia, nickel plated, will be sent on receipt of $4.50. Retail price $7.50.

Note: Model "B" Vicsonia plays both Edison and Pathé records.

VICSONIA MFG. CO., Inc.

313 E. 134th STREET

NEW YORK, N. Y.

GLEANINGS from the WORLD of MUSIC

INTRODUCE NEW TITLE DISPLAY DEVICE FOR ORCHESTRA

Will Aid the Sales of Talking Machine Records, Player Rolls and Sheet Music in Most Effective Way—Device Entitled Songtitlegraph—Being Used by Vincent Lopez and Others

We have at various times since the opening of this department outlined plans by which orchestras could aid directly the sales of talking machine records, player rolls and sheet music. Our contention invariably was that the display by the orchestra of the title of the numbers being played would be of considerable value to the manufacturer and retailer, as well as the public.

We must confess that although there have been a number of schemes devised to encourage orchestras to carry out such plans they have not, to any extent, proved successful. Most orchestras believe that if they play a given number they are doing all they are obligated to do. The publisher, naturally, is not in a position to dictate the methods by which selections are programmed, but must be satisfied with the fact that he induces the orchestra to play a number from his catalog.

The retailer, however, is not obligated to the orchestra as is the publisher and he can, where his relationship will allow, bring pressure to bear and often persuade the orchestras of his city to carry out some plan of displaying the titles of the numbers rendered.

The latest innovation along these lines, which marks an important step forward in the announcing of titles by an orchestra, was that inaugurated by Vincent Lopez and his orchestra at the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York City. Mr. Lopez is ever on the alert to make his organization one of the leaders in its field and he spares no time or expense to carry out new ideas and to render service.

This new Lopez method consists of an electric sign above the orchestra stand which registers the titles of the numbers as they are being played. It is operated automatically, with the titles of the various numbers being flashed from a series of slides which are set in motion by the pressing of a button. The machine holds as many as 100 titles, which are operated in rotation, and by pressing the shift button two seconds before the end of the selection the title of the following piece is flashed by the time the introduction is taken up. The machine is known as the Songtitlegraph and Mr. Lopez controls full selling rights.

By its use the orchestra not only offers a distinct novelty, but renders to its clientele a service that, once inaugurated, will, we believe, be difficult to discontinue. From the commercial standpoint it has exceptional value. The dance enthusiasts receive, in addition to the melody, the title of the number which they have received more or less favorably, leaving them in a position to call on the retailer for the record, roll or sheet music if desired.

Following the initial expense of the installation of this electric machine the cost of maintenance is quite low and we believe that there are possibilities of the device being installed by at least one leading orchestra in every large city.

"ROMANY LOVE" SHOWS UP WELL

New Sam Fox Number Proving an Active Summer Offering

Early this Spring Sam Fox, head of the Sam Fox Publishing Co., brought East with him a manuscript copy of "Romany Love." He believed he had a number of big possibilities. He had no idea, however, that "Romany Love" was to prove one of the most popular of the Summer offerings. However, shortly after the release of the song in New York territory it made an impression on the various recording rooms which are this year particularly looking for hits—something to create activity and add to sales. Mr. Fox was induced to give the leading orchestras manuscript copies of the number until he could rush through the printed orchestrations. All of which resulted in "Romany Love" finding much favor.

A special orchestra arrangement similar to that made for the Paul Whiteman organization has now been printed and sent to the prominent orchestra leaders and the original band arrangement made for John Philip Sousa has been printed and forwarded to the larger bands. Regular orchestrations, band and vocal copies are now ready and the Sam Fox organization has inaugurated one of the most elaborate campaigns ever arranged for a popular song.

It must be remembered by those who are interested in the success of this method of programming—and every one selling records, rolls and sheet music is interested—that if this plan is taken up by a sufficient number of orchestras the musical combinations of lesser caliber will be forced to display the titles they are playing. Of course, in every instance the smaller orchestra would not be able to carry the expense, but there are many less costly methods of displaying titles which can and, no doubt, will be used if the idea makes the progress its importance justifies.

It might be said in closing that the Songtitlegraph now being used by Vincent Lopez and his orchestra is the third machine of this character that has been tried out by him. He conceived the idea many months ago and experimented extensively before completing the successful device now used nightly on the Pennsylvania Roof.

TO REVIVE "SOME OF THESE DAYS"

New Arrangement to Be Introduced by Sophie Tucker on Her Return From Europe

CHICAGO, ILL., July 8.—Will Rossiter announces that the big-time hit, "Some of These Days," is to be revived with a new arrangement and placed on sale all over the country. It has practically been decided that Sophie Tucker will introduce the new arrangement of this song upon her return from her present European tour.

Incidentally, we might mention, in passing, that the two big present Rossiter numbers, "Those Longing-for-you Blues" and "In Bluebird Land," are selling in a most satisfactory way in Chicago. The Six Brown Brothers have been featuring "In Bluebird Land" at all Ballaban & Katz theatres and will return to Chicago next week. Will Rossiter has a man now in New York plugging on "Those Longing-for-you Blues." It is already out on a number of records and bids fair to be a remarkable success.

M. J. Mintz, president of the Cameo Music Pub. Co., announces that through an arrangement with Jack Loeb, manager of the William Fox Theatres, Catherine A. Borland's "The Voice From Calvary" will be featured in all the Fox theatres on the first anniversary of Caruso's death, August 2.

Now Ready—Records of the Smashing Blues Hit

Lonesome Mama BLUES

FOX TROT

Records by almost every talking machine Co.

The demand promises to be tremendous
Order your supply now—and liberally

Published by J.W. JENKINS Sons' Music Co. Kansas City, Mo.

BIRDIE

A Sweet-Tweety Fox Trot Song by Jesse Crawford

HEAR IT NOW!

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

SUIT OVER "GALLAGHER AND SHEAN"

It is quite the usual thing when a song becomes a national hit to hear the charge of plagiarism or the entering of a suit charging that the whole or part of the melody is an infringement. The latest action of this sort is that instituted by Bryan Foy, in private life Bryan Fitzgerald, alleging that he wrote the song "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean" in May, 1921. The vaudeville team of Gallagher and Shean are made defendants and Jack Mills, Inc., the publisher, co-defendant.

IMPROVEMENT IN WINDOW DISPLAYS

Sheet Music Retailers Giving More Attention to This Form of Publicity—An Interesting Recent Example in Weymann & Son Store

As remarked some time ago in these columns, there has, during the last twelve months, been a decided improvement in window displays of both sheet music and talking machine records, thus showing that the retailer has come to realize the great advertising value an attractive window display offers.

Much credit, we think, for this advance in window arrangements belongs to such houses as Lyon & Healy, J. W. Jenkins' Sons Music Co., Sherman, Clay & Co., H. A. Weymann & Son, Inc., and others of like caliber, who seem to have led the way in this connection. Their pioneering, as it were, has had a very large and exceedingly favorable response in retail circles.

The above brings to mind an attractive display recently shown in the Chestnut street window of the Weymann store in Philadelphia, a reproduction of which is shown herewith. Here is, undoubtedly, one of the most elaborate displays of the past twelve months. The Victor record of "Three O'Clock in the Morning," and the sheet music of the number (Feist), as well as player-rolls of the same selection, are all shown, and of particular importance is the fact that the display of the merchandise seemingly does not intrude upon the setting. In other words, the ball-room scene, with figures of a boy and girl dancing, and an artistic clock denoting the hour of 3 a.m.,

Weymann Window Display of Feist Hit attract the attention and arouse the interest. The merchandise, seemingly, is supplementary, but those who are attracted, undoubtedly, get the message intended without in any way feeling that they have been imposed upon by the commercial activities of the house—an important psychological point.

ARTHUR J. LAMB'S LATEST EFFORT

Veteran Songwriter Collaborates With J. S. Zamecnik in "Romany Love"

It has often been said, particularly in sporting circles, that "they never come back" and there has been some basis for believing that that maxim applies to the writers of songs, but, while this may be true in general, there is evidence in several instances that a writer's vogue may last at least twoscore years.

Arthur J. Lamb, who wrote "Asleep in the Deep," has, from time to time since, contributed other offerings, though none seems to rival that number for which he is chiefly known. It is quite surprising, then, to find his name linked as collaborator with J. S. Zamecnik in the current fox-trot and song success, "Romany Love," issued by the Sam Fox Pub. Co.

Recently was instanced a case or two where publishers who did not recognize a Summer depression were cashing in heavily on the sale of songs through their Summer activities. Among such publishers is the house of Fox, which operates upon the basis that if you have the goods of merit and create a demand for them the public will buy. An almost overnight recognition of "Romany Love" seems to prove the contention.

GORDON V. THOMPSON RECOVERING

Canadian Manager of Leo Feist Convalescing—Dealers Tie Up With Movie, "Smilin' Through," and Boost Sale of That Number

TORONTO, CAN., July 6.—Gordon V. Thompson, Canadian manager of the Leo Feist Co., this city, has been very ill the last two or three months, with a complication of troubles. Mr. Thompson's personality, good-fellowship and general likableness have endeared him to the trade and everybody will be very glad when he is able to be back at his desk.

The moving picture, "Smilin' Through," is playing at the Allen Theatre, and those sheet music dealers who have hooked up with this picture have been selling a satisfactory quantity of the song of that name published by M. Witmark & Sons.

"ROMANY LOVE"

The New Gypsy Fox Trot Song Hit

Featured by the prominent leaders while yet in manuscript and released on leading records and rolls before printed copies were available; by far, the quickest popular hit we have struck. Its appeal is instantaneous. Printed song copies and orchestrations now on sale at the low introductory price.

INTRODUCTORY TRADE PRICE 13½c.
(12½c. in 100 Lots)

Extra Title Pages and Display Streamers
Supplied with Every Order

Published by

SAM FOX PUB. CO.

Cleveland, O. U. S. A

TO MANAGE BRUNSWICK ARTISTS

Arthur Judson in Conjunction With International Concert Direction to Book Artists for Coming Musical Season—Co-operating With Dealers

Wm. A. Brophy, managing director of the Brunswick recording laboratories, New York, announced recently with keen enthusiasm the fact that Arthur Judson, manager of the Philadelphia Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, is to undertake in conjunction with the International Concert Direction Incorporated Bureau the management of several Brunswick artists for the coming Fall and Winter musical season. The Brunswick artists who will come under this new arrangement are Claire Dux, Bronislaw Huberman, Marie Tiffany, Theo Karle, Siegrid Onegin and the Elshuco Trio, all well-known Brunswick artists who have made many recordings on Brunswick records. It is expected that under this new arrangement these artists will be given wide publicity throughout the country, and will be heard in most every prominent center during the coming season. Mr. Brophy stated that Brunswick dealers will be notified in advance of the appearance of these artists in their particular cities, and that the Brunswick Co. will do everything possible to co-operate with the dealer to the fullest extent, which no doubt will result in increased sales of the records of these artists and arouse an interest in Brunswick product generally.

FOUR CONTRACTS RENEWED

Witmark Organization Renews Contracts With Four Prominent Writers

Four noted and successful songwriters and composers have renewed their contracts with M. Witmark & Sons by which the firm acts as exclusive publishers for the quartet for a term of years. Included in these are Sigmund Romberg, the well-known composer of musical comedies, who last season had to his credit such productions as "The Blushing Bride," "The Rose of Stamboul," "Bombo" and "Blossom Time." Eubie Blake and Noble Sissle, of "Shuffle Along" fame, are also included in the list of renewals, as well as that contributor of unusual ballads of marked distinction, Arthur A. Penn.

FOLDER OF O'HARA SONGS

Ditson Co. Features Three of the Popular Songs of That Composer

The Oliver Ditson Co., Boston, has issued for the use of dealers an interesting little envelope folder devoted to the songs of Geoffrey O'Hara, two of them clever French-Canadian numbers for which William H. Drummond supplied the lyrics, they being "The Wreck of the 'Julie Plante,'" and "Leetle Bateese." Both these songs have proved distinctly popular among a large group of concert singers. The third number featured in the folder is a ballad, "Sweet-heart, Do You Remember," for which May Stanley supplied the words.

FEATURES GENNETT RECORDS

DULUTH, MINN., July 8.—The McClure Music Co., of St. Paul, Minn., has taken over the music department of the I. Freimuth Co., of this city, and, in addition to the sheet music department, the former concern has installed a complete line of Gennett records. A window display of these records in connection with a vigorous campaign is showing excellent results.

J. Will Callahan, the blind composer, and his wife are spending the Summer at their home in Bay View, Mich. Mr. Callahan and his wife for the past several months have been sojourning down in Florida in an endeavor to recuperate Mr. Callahan's health. It is said that he has just finished a new number in collaboration with Lee S. Roberts and Max Kortlander.

EDISON CONTESTANTS ENJOY TRIP

Winners of Sales Contest Sponsored by Harger & Blish, of Des Moines, See Sights of Gotham and Visit Edison Laboratories at Orange

The prize-winning dealers of the sales contest recently put on by Harger & Blish, Des Moines, Ia., for the Edison dealers located in the territory which this company serves as an Edison jobber, started on their journey East to New York, and to the Edison laboratories, the early part of this month. They arrived at the factory and called on the Edison officials and went through the factory on Monday, July 10. Each prize winner was presented with a handsome autographed photograph of Thomas A. Edison and the whole party received a most cordial reception from the Edison executives throughout the day they spent in Orange. An attractive luncheon was served at the famous inn located on the mountain which lies back of the center of Orange. In the evening, as the guests of the Edison people, the visiting dealers were given a wonderful Italian dinner at Carrie's, the famous dining place of New York's Great White Way. Following the dinner party they were taken to "The Music Box Revue."

The prize-winning dealers who made the trip were: Division 1: Guy Cooper, S. E. Cooper & Son, Maxwell, Ia.; Division 2: F. M. Cooper & Son, Woodward, Ia.; Division 3: Harry C. Shroyer, Bethany, Mo.; Division 4: H. A. Lorenzen, Newcomb & Mathews, Creston, Ia.; Division 5: Ray Fude, Carl E. Schlegel Drug Store, Davenport, Ia.

On the way to the factory and on the return trip the party stopped off at several points of interest.

TALKING MACHINE SPEEDS UP WORK

Stimulates Men Working on Rebuilding of Mississippi Factory to Such an Extent That They Break Some Real Speed Records

MERIDIAN, MISS., July 5.—The value of the talking machine in speeding up the efforts of merchants was illustrated most forcibly recently in connection with the rebuilding of the big lumber plant of the Long-Pell Co., at Quitman, Miss. When the plant was destroyed by fire the general manager was instructed to use every available man and speed up rebuilding operations as rapidly as possible. Thirty days was set as the time limit.

Work was started with two shifts of men working right through the twenty-four hours, and every effort was made to keep things moving. It was found, however, that the day shift accomplished much more than the night men, owing, probably, to the monotony of night work. The manager thereupon secured a talking machine and several dozen jazz records and kept a boy operating the outfit throughout the night hours. The result was that the night shift was able to lay 1,500 more bricks than was the record before music was furnished, and by actual comparison accomplished more than the day shift. The plant was entirely reconstructed in twenty days, or ten days within the time limit, and credit for the last work was given to the talking machine.

MACINTOSH BROS. IN NEW HOME

Handsome Victor Shop Equipped by the Unit Construction Co.

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J., July 8.—MacIntosh Bros., Victor dealers in Collingswood and Woodbury, N. J., announce the opening of their new store on Haddon avenue in Collingswood. In the new location MacIntosh Bros. will be able to give even better service to their many customers and the service department of the Unit Construction Co. has accomplished the equipment changes for them. Old ivory is the predominant tone in their new store, which has been attractively arranged to produce an effect which is sure to please customers.

ANOTHER "DOWN HOME BLUES" ON BLACK SWAN RECORDS

RECORD No. 14115

"Ain't Got Nothin' Blues"

Soprano with Orch. by Mary Straine

COUPLED WITH

"The Fowler Twist"

Baritone with Orch. by John P. Vigal

ORDER TODAY and let this record keep your Summer sales going big. IT'S A HIT!!!

PACE PHONOGRAPH CORP., 2289 Seventh Ave., New York

Made of High Grade
Hardened Steel
Specially Treated
to Give
Frictionless Surface

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
No. 995758 which will
be strictly enforced

Extra Heavy
Size—1 1/8 in.

7/8 in.

3/4 in.

5/8 in.

1/2 in.

3/8 in.

Furniture Footwear

Simplicity

Furniture footwear to give thorough satisfaction must be simple in character—otherwise it means trouble and dissatisfaction.

There is only one device that meets this specification

DOMES of SILENCE

The perfect footwear for furniture.

Domes of Silence also have these additional qualities, which ordinary devices do not possess:

- Economy*
- Silence*
- Invisibility*
- Adaptability*—Suitable for covered and uncovered floors alike.
- Service*— Long wear.

Protection to furniture, floors and rugs.

The perfect footwear for furniture—

DOMES of SILENCE

“Better than Casters”

Henry W. Peabody & Co.

DOMES OF SILENCE DIVISION

17 State Street, New York City

In All Your Talking Machine Orders,

Specify DOMES of SILENCE

F 63

What we say above about Furniture applies also to Phonographs

RED SEAL CLASSES IN NEW YORK

First Class Under Auspices of Victor Wholesalers of Metropolitan District Holds Sessions at Hotel Pennsylvania This Week With One Hundred in Attendance—Second Class Will Meet on Monday, July 17, at Same Place

The first of the Red Seal salesmanship classes under the auspices of the Victor Wholesalers of the New York metropolitan district, opened at the Hotel Pennsylvania on Monday of this week, July 10, and continued daily up to and including Thursday. About one hundred members of local retail sales organizations attended the classes, two sessions being held daily from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m.

The course at the school was very similar to that covered at the Red Seal School in Camden, although in condensed form, and followed along the lines of the Red Seal classes that have been held in Buffalo, Washington and other cities. F. A. Delano, in charge of the Victor Co.'s classes in salesmanship at the factory, was in charge of the course, and among those who gave talks during the week was Mrs. Frances E. Clark, head of the educational department of the Victor Co.

Following the close of the school on Thursday afternoon those who attended the sessions were taken in automobiles to Brighton Beach where they enjoyed dinner and dancing at the Hotel Shelburne and later attended the vaudeville show at the Brighton Beach Theatre as the guests of the metropolitan wholesalers.

Although all the wholesalers co-operated in the holding of the classes the arrangements of the details for the school were in the hands of a committee consisting of J. Newcomb Blackman, of the Blackman Talking Machine Co.; L. L. Spencer, of the Silas E. Pearsall Co., and Charles B. Mason, of the New York Talking Machine Co.

Beginning next Monday, July 17, the second and final class will begin its sessions at the Pennsylvania with a registration of about seventy-five. The second class will end on July 20 and the course will be the same as that of the first class.

LUDWIG & CO. ENLARGING STORE

WILKES-BARRE, PA., July 10.—The Simon Long Building, headquarters of Ludwig & Co., talking machine and musical instrument dealers, is being remodeled in order that the enlarged business of the concern can be taken care of in an efficient manner. The company is considered the largest house in this section of the State, and when the alterations are completed it will be one of the most attractive in the East. The remodeling includes the installation of a number of booths for record demonstration purposes, new show cases, larger window space, etc.

GETTING AFTER THE NEWLYWEDS

Cline-Vick stores in Indiana send special and attractive cards of congratulation to all newly

JOY and HEALTH to the BRIDE and GROOM
 WE WILL SAVE YOUR VICTROLA UNTIL AFTER THE HONEYMOON

Cleverly Designed Greeting Card

married couples in the towns where their stores are located and incidentally offer suggestions that mean Victrola sales.

The Ideal Furniture Co., of Hazard, Ky., Columbia dealer, is planning to move into a new five-story building about September 1.

INSPIRING BUSINESS TALKS

Metropolitan Victor Dealers Enjoy Talks by J. T. Lange, Abram Davega and J. W. Schwetz at Knickerbocker Co. Meeting in New York

The Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor, New York City, invited metropolitan Victor retailers to attend a lecture in the concert hall of the company at 138 West 124th street, on Thursday, July 6, at 2 p. m. Joseph T. Lange, educational manager of System Magazine, talked interestingly on "Salesmanship in Selling Merchandise," and gave many valuable suggestions that were applicable to the talking machine retailer in the conduct of his business.

Previous to Mr. Lange's talk Abram Davega, president of the company, spoke on "Selling Good Business." He said in part: "You, yourself, have got to be sold on good business, and I am sold on this idea. I know that there is absolutely nothing the matter with business conditions." Mr. Davega pointed out how the dealer who was sold on the idea of good business was far better equipped to overcome obstacles and urged the spreading of this doctrine. He analyzed conditions leading up to the present time and told of a letter recently received from the Victor Co. stating that students of business conditions say that the 1922 Fall season will be the best business season we have had in two years. "If things are slack during the Summer don't give up and go away for a two months' rest, but just knuckle down to business and plan out a systematic campaign," stated Mr. Davega. "There are hundreds of good business ideas. You have to be sold on good business before other ideas can be carried out to improve your business."

Another talk which was intensely practical and inspiring was given by Joseph W. Schwetz, vice-president of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co. Although thoroughly experienced in the talking machine business from both the retail and wholesale angles, this is said to be Mr. Schwetz's first speech. The subject was "How to Conduct Your Business," and represented Mr. Schwetz's twenty years' experience in talking machine merchandising.

Patent Pending
 Size: 8 in. x 14 in.
 x 15 in.
 Weight: Complete,
 including album,
 22 lbs.

"One handle handles it"

Outing

TALKING MACHINE

Perfection in a Portable Phonograph

❖ ❖

Made in Mahogany and Fumed Oak Finishes

THE OUTING is the most complete and up-to-date portable phonograph ever made.

It is unique and attractive in design. Superior tone quality. Built to give years of satisfactory service.

JOBBERS:

- | | | | |
|---|--|--|---|
| GENERAL PHONOGRAPH CORP.
 New York Distributing Division
 15 West 18th Street
 New York, N. Y. CABINET & ACCESSORIES CO.,
 145 East 34th St.,
 New York, N. Y. BRISTOL & BARBER
 3 East 14th St.
 New York, N. Y. THE GRAFONOLA CO. OF NEW ENGLAND
 174 Tremont St.,
 Boston, Mass. | GEO. C. ULRICH & CO.
 718 Lincoln Bldg.,
 Philadelphia, Pa. A. J. HEATH & CO.
 27-29 So. 7th St.,
 Philadelphia, Pa. IROQUOIS SALES CO.
 210 Franklin St.,
 Buffalo, N. Y. UTICA'S GIFT & JEWELRY SHOP
 Utica, N. Y. DAVENPORT PHONO. & ACCESS. CO.,
 217 Brady St.,
 Davenport, Ia. | VOCALION CO. OF OHIO
 Cincinnati, O. VOCALION CO. OF OHIO
 Cleveland, O. BURNHAM, STOEPEL & CO.
 101 East Larned St.,
 Detroit, Mich. WALTER S. GRAY CO.
 942 Market St.,
 San Francisco, Cal. | J. K. POLK FURN. CO.
 294 Decatur St.,
 Atlanta, Ga. CANDIOTO PIANO CO.
 120 S. Limestone St.,
 Lexington, Ky. WM. ANDERSON PIANO CO.
 79 Eighth St., S.,
 Minneapolis, Minn. RICHMOND SPORT & SPECIALTY SHOP
 (Newton Corp.)
 616 E. Broad St.,
 Richmond, Va. |
|---|--|--|---|

There are still several good States and large Cities open. Full details or samples will be furnished responsible jobbers on application.

Outing

TALKING MACHINE CO., Inc.

A. J. COTE, President

MT. KISCO, N. Y.

Dealers in Mexico and Cuba should send orders and inquiries to

R. C. ACKERMAN
 291 East 162nd Street New York, N. Y.

Foreign Export—CHIPMAN LIMITED
 8-10 Bridge Street New York City
 Cable Address, CHPMUNK, New York

BALTIMORE

Portable Machines Have the Call—C. B. Noon's Enterprise—Ordinance to Muzzle Talkers—Trade Outlook Improves—The News

BALTIMORE, Md., July 10.—While business, generally speaking, is quiet, dealers here are satisfied with the business being done and have no cause for complaint. The demand for small portable machines by campers and vacationists is reported as exceeding the supply and in addition quite a number of the larger types of machines are being sold. Manager Roberts, of E. F. Drake & Sons, said his business for the last four weeks was 20 per cent ahead of the corresponding period of last year and the way business had started in this month so far he figured on also beating last July's record. Both the other Victor agencies, Cohen & Hughes, and Eisenbrandt's, also report a fair business being done and a good demand for the popular records.

Sales of portable machines have been greatly stimulated by the advertising being done in the daily papers here, featuring these instruments.

The Columbia branch here reports difficulty in keeping up with the sales of portable machines and it is by no means a dull season for the regular line of Grafonolas. This company has also been doing some extensive local newspaper advertising and is helping dealers to organize outside sales forces. Business is reported exceptionally good on records on Saturdays in the western part of the city, but quiet in the eastern section.

Loans "Talkers" to Sick in Hospital

The importance of music as a factor contributing to the rapid recovery of those convalescing from illness has been demonstrated twice recently in this city through the courtesy of C. B. Noon, president of the C. B. Noon Co., Inc., who loaned a talking machine to two patients at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Some weeks ago

Mr. Noon was asked to rent a machine to a woman patient who was in the local hospital to undergo an operation. He placed a machine in her room without charge and the same day relatives of the patients called at the Noon establishment and purchased a large number of records.

When the woman left the hospital she personally called upon Mr. Noon to thank him. About the same time one of the other patients made the request that the machine be loaned to her and Mr. Noon complied. Another supply of records was sold.

With his customary enterprise, Mr. Noon now is making plans to put machines in the other hospitals of the city.

Voluma Corp. in New Home

The Voluma Corp., of this city, patentee of the Voluma reproducer, has rented the store at 317 North Howard street and is giving daily demonstrations of the instrument.

Effective Work in Schools

The work of Miss Margaret R. Martin, educational representative, who has been working in the local territory, has met with great favor among the universities and schools of Virginia and North Carolina, and letters received at the Baltimore branch office indicate that educators with whom Miss Martin has worked have been most agreeably surprised at the wealth of educational material available for Columbia dealers.

Fine Grafonola Business

Lester B. Harvey, at Oakville, Va., depends entirely on country trade for his Grafonola sales. When competition began to root for depression in business Mr. Harvey put in his efforts boosting and selling. Results are very gratifying. It is the belief of both Mr. Harvey and the Columbia branch that the healthy business being done under present conditions will continue to show a steady, wholesome growth. What better commentary on the success of the carload sale than to note that W. T. McCoy, of Charlotte, N. C., whose carload sale last December netted 111 Grafonolas, is now enjoying a well-earned vacation in Atlantic City, N. J.

Flood Damages Bristol Store

Gutman's, Inc., of Bristol, Va., was nearly inundated by the recent big flood in that section. Water on the first floor was deep enough to float a boat in, although sand bags, piled breast high across the doorway, acted as a dike. Their store warehouse, however, was in the deepest part of the flood and suffered considerable damage. Walter J. Boggs, the general store manager, reports that swimming suits and waterwings were the order of the day.

Changes in the Trade

William H. Swartz has succeeded J. H. Marshall as head of the Dealers' Service Bureau of the local branch of the Columbia Co. and has some new idea along this line which he intends to put into operation in the near future. H. W. Webb Peptor has been made manager of the dictaphone department of this agency.

Would Muzzle "Talkers"

A city ordinance muzzling talking machines, horns and other musical instruments and devices used for advertising purposes was favorably reported to the Second Branch City Council this week by the Police and Jail Committee. It was laid over, under the rules, until the Fall meeting of the Council. The purpose of the ordinance, which carries penalties ranging from $25 to $100, is to prevent stores selling musical instruments from disturbing people on the highways and in office buildings by "continuous noises."

A number of stores have been using talking machines with large horns in the doorways of their stores and running the same continuously all day. This brought a number of complaints from business houses in the vicinity of these places to the police and resulted in the introduction of the above ordinance.

Receiver for Setchell's Song Shop

Judge Rose, of the United States District Court, signed an order this week adjudicating George W. Setchell and Mary E. Setchell, individually and as co-partners, trading as Setchell's Song Shop, 332 North Howard street, bankrupts, and appointing Joseph M. Hasselhoff receiver for their business, fixing his bond at $4,000. The orders were signed upon a petition filed by the R. F. Volland Co. and others, alleged creditors.

Talking Machine Shop Chartered

Talking Machine Shop, Inc., 704 Union Trust Building, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000; 250 shares preferred stock, par value $100 and 100 shares common stock without par value. This company is incorporated to deal in talking machines, etc. Incorporators are Francis S. Harris, Allan H. Fisher and Morton P. Fisher.

We Are Now DISTRIBUTORS for the

Swanson Portable Phonograph

The most compact, up-to-date portable on the market.

Wooden tone-arm, Heineman No. 36 double spring motor—weight only 15¼ lbs.

For further details regarding the Swanson Portable Phonograph see page 25

Write today for dealer proposition

CABINET & ACCESSORIES CO.

145 East 34th Street NEW YORK

SHERATON
MODEL 8

The Widdicomb Sheraton model illustrated is finished in Red or Antique Mahogany, or Walnut, and is equipped with albums for records, automatic stop and patented tone control. Widdicomb Phonographs play all records. All Widdicomb models are now selling at pre-war prices. New prices range from $90 to $260.

WIDDICOMB Phonographs are distinguished alike for their exquisite cabinet work and for their beauty of tone. Their artistic period designs are the handicraft of an organization which for three generations has enjoyed a deserved reputation for leadership in fine furniture building. Their tonal beauty and faithfulness in reproducing recorded music have been perfected by years of painstaking research. Naturally they have won an unusual prestige among discriminating buyers. It follows as a matter of course that merchants with the Widdicomb franchise are accorded the esteem and patronage of the best class of trade. If you are genuinely interested in building up your business among this class of buyers, write for catalog and detailed information regarding the Widdicomb franchise.

THE WIDDICOMB FURNITURE COMPANY

Grand Rapids, Michigan

Fine Furniture Designers Since 1865

Widdicomb
PHONOGRAPH
The Aristocrat of Phonographs

DETROIT

Business Is Normal—Collections Improve—The Radio Situation—Some Notable Changes

DETROIT, MICH., July 10.—Business is normal in the talking machine field. Nobody reports a very brisk trade, yet most dealers have apparently enjoyed more than average trade for the past month. July and August are expected to be in the same class as June and dealers are looking for a good Fall trade. It's the same old thing every year, according to one dealer. The same months are good and the same months are dull, year in and year out. The one outstanding feature of trade conditions for the past month was the great improvement in collections, which is a very healthy sign and indicates that people have money. This is certainly true in the city of Detroit, as people have been working, wages have

NO. 578. UNIVERSAL SELF-SERVICE RECORD DISPLAYOR made to hold 5 swinging leaves, each leaf accommodating three 10" pockets and one 12" pocket. Each pocket holds four records. Total number of records shown is 40 records and holding a reserve stock of 160 records. Height 6 ft. Width 30 in. Weight 125 lbs. Constructed of steel throughout, with heavy cast-iron base and finished in two coats of ebony enamel.

Complete.....$35.00

Write for complete catalogue

UNIVERSAL FIXTURE CORP.
133 West 23rd St. New York

been good and employment steady since last March. The outlook that such a condition will continue is very bright. Motor car factories have more orders than they can fill and this will obtain for at least another three or four months, if not longer.

Radio Demand Loses "Pep"

The radio, which has been worrying some of our dealers, seems to have lost its "pep." At least that's the report we get from dealers in radio outfits and supplies. There doesn't seem to be near the interest in radio to-day that there was two months ago. It may be due to the warm weather. Dealers do not even attempt to predict that it will come back again in the Fall. "It's not as good as a talking machine" is the way one person expressed it who had gone to the expense of installing a $500 outfit in his home. "The beauty of the talking machine is that you can put on a record whenever you want to, whereas with the radio you have to sit and wait and you can only get entertainment for several hours and then it usually comes between six and seven when you want to eat your supper."

Fine Vocalion Business

Sam Lind, of Lind & Marks Co., distributor of the Vocalion, says that business for the first six months has shown a very fine increase over the same period of last year and that new dealers are being taken on every week and that the old customers are increasing their orders. Record business, he adds, is exceedingly good for this season of the year.

Music Memory Contest Creates Interest

The Music Memory Contest continues to create great interest among local music houses. The contest is sponsored by the Detroit News in co-operation with the Detroit Talking Machine Dealers' Association and the whole city seems to be manifesting an interest in it. The stores that have joined into the spirit of the contest with vim and vigor are The Edison Shop, Grinnell Bros., J. L. Hudson Music Store, Detroit Music Co., Gardner-White Co., Reich Music Store, Waite Music Co., and the Peoples Outfitting Co. These stores are giving concerts every week, changing the program each week, and the attendance at the recitals is surprising.

New Edison Records Daily

An interesting announcement appears in the window of The Edison Shop to the effect that new records arrive daily. In other words, instead of releasing twice a month as other companies do, The Edison Shop releases new records as fast as they come in so that every day there is something new to offer. R. B. Alling, general manager, states that retail business is holding its own for this time of the year and that wholesale business, which is conducted through the Phonograph Co. of Detroit, is also normal, with new accounts being opened steadily.

Doran Phonograph Co. to Move

Henry Doran, of the Doran Phonograph Co., Victor dealer, who for many years has been located on Michigan avenue, says that he expects to close definitely for his new store during the present week. His lease expires August 1 and he must vacate at that time as the building is to come down.

Jewett Plant Speeds Up to Fill Orders

A. A. Fair, of the Jewett Phonograph Co., states that business has been very good the past few months, and that the factory at Allegan, Mich., is further oversold than at any time this year. In addition to the regular Jewett line the company is now producing a combination radio-phonograph which is selling faster than the factory can produce it. The company has extensive plans in mind for enlarging the factory, and hence production. Mr. Fair has been East most of the past four weeks and has been meeting with big success everywhere in securing new business.

TAKE ON COLUMBIA LINE

Salano Bros., proprietors of the Murray Hill Music Store, located at Forty-fifth street and Second avenue, have recently added the Columbia line to their stock. They will specialize in Italian records.

NEW EDISON RE-CREATION CATALOG

Latest Edition Is Second Volume Issued—More to Follow in Consecutive Volumes

Thomas A. Edison, Inc., recently issued volume two of the Edison Re-Creation Catalog, which is, in fact, a Re-Creation stock book as well as the Edison Re-Creation catalog. It is the plan of the Edison Co. to issue succeeding catalogs in consecutive volume form, so that the Edison dealers will secure the complete library by assembling the different volumes as fast as they are received, each new volume not in any way superseding the previous editions, but being supplementary thereto. This plan obviates the necessity of transferring the inventory and sales data contained in the previous editions.

VICTOR EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Members of Educational Staff of Victor Talking Machine Co. Carrying on Work in Many Parts of the Country During Summer

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 7.—These are busy days for the staff of the Educational Department of the Victor Talking Machine Co., the members of which are for the most part busy attending conventions of teachers and music supervisors in various sections of the country. Mrs. Frances E. Clark, head of the educational department, attended the National Educational Conference held in Boston recently, later going to New York to address the salesmanship classes in that city. Miss Edith M. Rhett is giving a course of instruction during the Summer at the Northwestern University in Evanston, Ind. Miss Margaret M. Streeter is in the South attending various educational gatherings.

Miss Bess Daniels recently gave a three weeks' course in music at the Latter Day Saints' University in Salt Lake City and is now in Colorado. Miss Marie Finney and S. Dana Townsend are in the Middle West. Robert J. Coleman is visiting the normal schools in Virginia and West Virginia and Miss Mabel Rich is in Europe on vacation.

Two new members of the educational staff are Miss Alice Keith, of Chicago, an authority on pageants, and Dr. Esther L. Gatewood, of Connersville, O., who has a wide reputation as a lecturer on philosophy.

APPOINT NEW YORK REPRESENTATIVE

The American Musifer Co., recently incorporated in the State of Delaware with a capital of $3,000,000, has certified to the Secretary of State that C. J. Kilber, 167 West Sixty-fourth street, New York, will represent the corporation here.

We Have It!

A HIGH-CLASS TABLE MACHINE AT A PRICE THAT SELLS

Mahogany, 16x16x10, Double Spring, Universal T. A. Back Casting and Metal Horn
Sample Price to Dealers Now—$12.50
Send for Sample To-day
Phonographs and Accessories, Repair Parts for All Makes.
Best Steel Needles of American Manufacture at 30c. per M.

FULTON TALKING MACHINE CO.

253-255 Third Ave., New York City
Between 20th and 21st Streets

Sprague Radio Receiving Sets

are the product of many years of radio development in a laboratory continuously and exclusively engaged in Radio research

Simple Operation—Selectivity—Perfect Reproduction and Amplification

The market has been flooded with amateur radio equipment of uncertain quality and imperfect construction wholly lacking in those points of superiority found in professional equipment.

All Sprague radio equipment was developed and is manufactured in a plant that has designed and built many successful transmitting stations for marine and land service and has been one of the principal suppliers of the Government and the commercial companies. Sprague home sets are all made with the same care and precision used in the construction of this fine professional equipment.

First, you sell this self-contained, complete unit Receiver

Professional in construction, but so simple in design that anyone, even a child, can operate it easily. Our detector control makes possible the clear reception of weak distant signals.

List $88.50—"A" Battery and Head Set extra

Sprague Radio Console

This Queen Anne Period Console is an ideal home instrument of remarkable delicacy and range. It encloses a complete wireless receiving equipment of the same high quality and construction identical with all Sprague Radio.

CLOSED

OPEN

List
$450.00

The second unit, "A" Battery Case

This is connected at the side of the first unit and forms a neat compact housing for the "A" Battery. The case is protected from battery acid by a lining of asphaltum. Will hold a large size six-volt storage battery.

List $11.50

Then add the Three-Stage Amplifier

This connects with the top of the Receiver, the first unit. The unique scientific arrangement of the component parts of this Sprague Radio amplifier effectively avoids distortion.

List $130.00

Complete the Assembly with Spragaphone Loud Speaker

The fourth unit connects with the side of the amplifier and over the Battery Case. It is especially designed for home use, is extremely sensitive, but is capable of producing a greater volume of sound than is required to fill even a very large room.

List $95.00

"Long Range"
Four Units Assembled Complete
$325.00

Except in large cities, agency is limited to one dealer in a town

Sprague Radio corporation

342 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

TELEPHONE: 8373 VANDERBILT

Extreme discounts to Reputable Dealers. Write or wire us at once

C. R. JOHNSTONE
VICE-PRES., GEN. MGR.

THE BELL RECORDING CORP.

Associated With National Metals Depositing Corporation

BEST RECORDING
EXPERIENCED SPECIALISTS
LOUD AND CLEAR
LAST WORD IN QUALITY

9 East 47th Street, New York City

We Specialize in Private Recording

and

General Recording for the Phonograph Trade

W. HAUSSLER'S STRONG ARGUMENTS

General Manager of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., Makes Forceful Address Before Meeting of Metropolitan Victor Dealers' Association—Value of Window Displays for Dealers

General business conditions as they affect the Victor retailer formed the subject of an intensely interesting address given by William J.

W. J. Haussler

Haussler, vice-president and general manager of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., Victor wholesalers, of New York City, at a recent meeting of the Metropolitan Victor Dealers' Association. Mr. Haussler touched on the present-day situation and stressed the big future possibilities in Victor business. Describing the Victor Co. as the greatest and ablest organization of its kind in the world, he stated that to be associated with such an institution was an asset and just cause for pride on the dealers' part and urged that Victor retailers put the interest of the Victor business as a whole far above any personal or passing consideration of their own. Mr. Haussler pointed to the advertising of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., in the talking machine trade papers and told how the merchandising suggestions given therein were given solely for the purpose of helping the Victor retailer to increase his business. In his talk Mr. Haussler demonstrated a complete mastery of his subject and presented it in a spirited manner. Many dealers at its close described it as one of the most helpful addresses that they had ever listened to.

With the co-operation of a number of music publishers, C. Bruno & Son, Inc., Victor wholesaler, New York City, are preparing a series of window displays for the Victor retailer featuring from three to seven of the popular song hits appearing on Victor records. The first display was sent out on July 10, to be followed by others at short intervals.

S. L. COOK IN NEW HOME

INDIAN HARBOR, IND., July 8.—S. L. Cook, successful Columbia dealer here, has moved his place of business to larger quarters in the same community. Attractive interior decorating, coupled with reliable service and merchandise, has made this Grafonola shop one of the foremost music shops in this locality.

NEW LINES FOR BRISTOL & BARBER

Bristol & Barber, New York City, have taken on the Outing portable, made by the Outing T. M. Co., and the Clay-o-la line of talking machines, manufactured by Geo. Clay Cox, in addition to the other lines of machines and accessories that they distribute.

EDISON PITTSBURGH DEALERS MEET

Quarterly Meeting of Dealers in Pittsburgh Zone Hears Interesting Address by F. C. Beatty and a Number of Other Trade Members

PITTSBURGH, PA., July 6.—An important meeting of the Edison Disc Dealers' Association, Pittsburgh Zone, was held here recently at the Fort Pitt Hotel. This was one of the regular quarterly meetings held by this body. The feature of the occasion was an address by F. C. Beatty, who represented Thomas A. Edison, Inc., and whose talk was devoted to explaining the important new plans which are now on deck with the Edison trade. Other talks of an illuminating sort were made by representatives of the Buehn Phonograph Co., local Edison jobbers, and members of the Dealers' Association. The entire affair was a complete success and announcements made by Mr. Beatty provoked great enthusiasm from the Edison retail merchants attending.

NEW BRUNSWICK SHOP IN SALEM

Odell Bros. Take on Brunswick Line for New Store—Unico Installation Throughout

SALEM, Mass., July 10.—Kraft, Bates & Spencer, Brunswick distributors for New England, have concluded arrangements for a Brunswick account in Salem. This will be known as The Brunswick Shop and is under the ownership of Francis B. and Charles Odell. The Odell brothers are planning to go after business in an energetic manner and are providing efficient store equipment through arrangements they have made with the Unit Construction Co., of Philadelphia, for an installation of Unico equipment in their store at 64 Washington street. The formal opening will be on July 21. Arrangements have been made for the Carl Fenton Orchestra to be there on the opening day.

NATIONAL METALS DEPOSITING CORPORATION

FACTORY
34 East Sidney Ave., Mt. Vernon, N.Y.
Telephone: Oakwood 8845

MOUNT VERNON — NEW YORK
MANUFACTURERS OF

LABORATORY
415 Fourth Ave., New York, N.Y.
Tel. Madison Square 6635

WE DEPOSIT THE FINEST COPPER
IN THE WORLD

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
DELIVER RECORDED WAX
TO OUR LABORATORY

OUR IMPROVEMENT
ALL STAMPERS
HAVE
HIGHLY POLISHED
MACHINED BACKS

AMONG THE LEADING FIFTY

Four Talking Machine Manufacturers in List of Leading Advertisers—Victor Talking Machine Co. Is the Second on the Entire List

In the July 6 issue of Printers' Ink there appears an interesting table showing the amount of money spent by fifty advertisers in thirty-six publications during 1921. These data were compiled by the Curtis Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, and the compilation does not include the total advertising investment of the concerns in question. The great majority of these companies are heavy users of newspapers, farm papers, outdoor advertising, window displays, etc., and the figures, therefore, constitute only a certain proportion of their expenditure.

It is interesting to note that four prominent talking machine companies are included in this list of fifty leading advertisers. The Victor Talking Machine Co. is second on the entire list, with an expenditure of $1,239,693 in the thirty-six publications comprising the estimate. The leader of the list is the Joseph Campbell Co., manufacturer of Campbell soups.

The Columbia Graphophone Co. is seventeenth on the list with an expenditure of $497,411, while Thos. A. Edison, Inc., spent $326,471 and the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. spent $302,975. These figures are especially interesting when it is realized that talking machine manufacturers are the only musical instrument concerns included in this list of fifty leading advertisers.

NEW PHYSICAL EXERCISE RECORDS

Victor Talking Machine Co. Puts on Market Sets of Three Special Records and Charts Prepared by Prof. Charles H. Collins

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has just placed on the market the new Victor physical exercise records which are now being delivered to wholesalers and dealers. The outfit consists of three double-face records, 10-inch size, covering twelve distinct exercises with appropriate music prepared on a plan and under the supervision of Prof. Charles H. Collins, of the Collins Health Institute, of Philadelphia. The records, with instructions for use, are packed in a durable case which, when opened, shows complete charts and positions for each exercise. The set of three records and container is listed at $3.

O. H. WILLIAMS WITH CHAPMAN

O. H. Williams, well known in talking machine circles in Greater New York and who was formerly actively engaged as general manager of the Halsted Williams Co., Brooklyn, is now located in Rochester, N. Y., as representative for E. J. Chapman, Victor distributor for New York State. Mr. Williams has had wide experience in the Victor field, which covers a period of many years. He was a traveling representative of the Victor Talking Machine Co. for a long time and also was connected with two well-known Victor wholesalers and is well qualified to promote dealer interests in his present connection. Since joining the Chapman organization, three months ago, he has been able to establish many new and desirable accounts and no doubt will prove himself a valuable man for this wholesaler in every respect.

VICTOR CO. PLANS EXTENSION

CAMDEN, N. J., July 8.—Approval was given by the Street Committee of the City Council here to a request of the Victor Talking Machine Co. that the city vacate Ambler street from Cooper to Penn streets.

The Victor Co. agreed to pay the nominal sum of $500 in return for the privilege granted by the city. The company is planning to erect a building in the space to be vacated.

The fellow who is sure that he knows it all usually lacks the brainpower to know much of anything.

Radiophones For Dependability

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

To the list of distinguished houses recently announced as jobbers, De Forest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Company has added

ALBANY RADIO CORP.
ALBANY, N. Y.

The size, prestige and reputation of the music houses that endorse De Forest products should convince the most skeptical dealer that the De Forest Line is the one to which he should tie up.

Possessing an old-established radio business, De Forest is not cultivating the talking machine trade for the sake of immediate returns.

We would not, if we could, load up phonograph dealers' shelves, nor is there any stock in this company for sale.

Consequently, in conferring patronage upon us, which we will accommodate to the best of our increasing capacity, the talking machine dealer may rest assured that he will never be left high and dry with "out-of-date" merchandise.

Nor will we use his "ownership of stock" in our company as compulsion on him to over-buy.

The De Forest Line includes MR-6 all wavelength range Receiver, the Everyman Receiver, the Radio-home Receiver, the DT-800 Amplifier, and the Radiobest Receiver

For those who build their own sets, De Forest also manufactures Rheostats, Tube Sockets, Coil Mountings, Honeycomb Coils, Grid Leaks, Condensers, Transformers, Crystal Detectors and Switches.

"I'm Glad We Own a Radio Phone"

General Offices:
Franklin Street and Central Avenue
Jersey City, N. J.

Factories:
Jersey City, N. J.
Jackson, Mich.

On - ly a ba - - by That's why ev - ry - bod - y "ba - bies" you,

You're Only A Baby

A Fine Swinging Fox Trot Melody

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST' song"

SCORE AT CHICAGO RADIO SHOW

Raymond Engineering Corp. Exhibits Its Non-regenerative Three-tube Receiving Set, Which Wins High Praise at Exhibition

The Raymond Engineering Corp., New York, manufacturer of everything in radio, reports that since the company entered this field some eight months ago its plant has been kept extremely busy and that present indications point to a very busy Fall in the radio field. The company specializes in the manufacture of complete radio units for manufacturers and distributors, but is now planning to enlarge its field of radio activities by manufacturing a receiving set that will be known as the Raymond radio receiving unit. This will be placed on the market as a separate unit, and also will be furnished in a well-designed cabinet of the console type, which it is expected will meet with considerable favor in the talking machine field.

C. M. Hunt, sales manager of the company, working in conjunction with A. Schwartz, manager of the Chicago office, spent a profitable two weeks exhibiting at the Chicago radio show held in that city the latter part of June. In Booth 71 was featured the company's non-regenerative three-tube receiving set, which attracted considerable attention. This set was attached to a specially designed loud speaker and functioned without the use of an extra battery. Mr. Hunt stated that the results obtained from this non-regenerative set and loud speaker were most satisfactory and it was commented on favorably by all who saw it. Several technical schools who were exhibiting and giving instructions to radio amateurs were so impressed with the merits of this set that parts for constructing a complete unit were loaned to these schools by Mr. Hunt and were used for instructing and demonstrating radio receiving during the time of the show.

The success attained at the radio show was very gratifying to the officials of the company, and influenced them to manufacture a set of the same type to introduce to the talking machine trade, which will be placed on the market within a very short time.

SONORA PORTABLE PRODUCES SALES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 8.—W. E. Pugh, city salesman for the Yahr & Lange Drug Co., Milwaukee, Sonora jobbers, is a keen admirer of

An Enterprising Sonora Man

the Sonora portable and always carries one with him on his sales trips. Mr. Pugh maintains that the combination of an automobile with a Sonora portable cannot be excelled for producing speed records in Sonora sales.

The White Music Co., of Berkeley, Cal., has added radio outfits and supplies to its general stock of musical instruments.

NEW DE FOREST RADIO AGENTS

Several Prominent Talking Machine Houses Now Handling That Line

The DeForest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. announces an addition to the list of distinguished music houses who have been appointed jobbers of DeForest radiophones. It has included the Schmelzer Co., of Kansas City, Mo., and the Albany Radio Corp., Albany, N. Y. Other music houses included are: Lyon & Healy, Chicago; Owen & Beers, New York City; Triangle Radio Supply Co., New York City; Silverstone Music Co., St. Louis, Mo.; Rochester Phonograph Co., Rochester, N. Y.

PENNSYLVANIA HOUSE REORGANIZED

The Pioneer Music House, Inc., Has Elected a Strong Board of Officers, With J. M. Stewart as President—Capital Stock Now $150,000

INDIANA, Pa., July 10.—The Pioneer Music House, Inc., has succeeded the old firm of S. Ren Pollock, Inc., which has been operating in this city since 1891, having been founded by S. M. Work. The officers of the new company are: J. M. Stewart, president; C. F. Gaylord, vice-president, and H. C. Trader, treasurer. The company is incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania with capital stock of $150,000.

The new company has started work on a two-story addition to its present building and also plans to entirely remodel the interior of the store, making it one of the most attractive establishments in this section of the State.

The Pioneer Music House features the Brambach, Packard and other makes of pianos and player-pianos, and has a large talking machine department, in which is handled the Victor, Edison and Brunswick lines of machines and records. Musical merchandise and sheet music are also carried.

RETAIL PRICE $15.00
FULLY GUARANTEED

Qualitiphone

A SMALL PHONOGRAPH THAT WILL LAST

A Success With Dealers Everywhere—It has proven its worth

Neat, compact and sturdy, with all the features of the high priced instrument. In perfect balance—tested by experts to the thousandth part of an inch.

Equipped with automatic speed regulator—start and stop device, genuine mica sound box. A real motor—silent and durable.

Attractive Proposition for Jobbers — Write for territories

QUALITIEPHONE SALES CORP. 17 EAST 42nd STREET
NEW YORK CITY

MAY BE THE OFFICIAL GOLF SONG

"The Nineteenth Hole," Published by Leo Feist, Has Made a Tremendous Hit

Leo Feist, Inc., announces the release of a new song called "The Nineteenth Hole." This number, as its title indicates, is a golf song and has already been heard in some of the country clubs in and about New York, where it has been received with much enthusiasm. There is every indication that it will be adopted by golfers as their official song. It lends itself readily to the "gang" spirit and inasmuch as its lyric is typical golf language it wins immediate approval.

Edgar F. Bitner, general manager of Leo Feist, Inc., speaking of the release of "The Nineteenth Hole," said: "We have looked for some time for a song that would describe the life on the links and in the club house. Many lyrics were presented to us for examination, but none seemed to fit the situation. We believe this number, which is full of comical golf language, fills the bill."

BOOKED SUBSTANTIAL ORDERS

Player-Tone T. M. Co. Secures Substantial Business at Furniture Show—I. Goldsmith Optimistic Regarding Future

PITTSBURGH, PA., July 8.—I. Goldsmith, president of the Player-Tone Talking Machine Co., this city, returned recently from the Grand Rapids furniture market where the company maintained an attractive exhibit. The company has arranged to manufacture three new upright models at popular prices and, according to the business booked by Mr. Goldsmith at Grand Rapids, the outlook for the talking machine business this Fall is going to be far better than heretofore.

Mr. Goldsmith states that there was a considerable amount of buying done in the West owing to excellent crop conditions and the dealers who visited the furniture show were confident that business in general would be healthy and active during the coming Fall. During the past few months the Player-Tone Talking Machine Co. has received substantial orders from its dealers and Mr. Goldsmith is making arrangements whereby the new models will be ready for delivery next month.

CARL KNITTEL VISITS NEW YORK

Carl E. Knittel, sales manager of the Wolf Mfg. Industries, Quincy, Ill., was a recent visitor to New York. Mr. Knittel secured some good-sized orders for the Wolf products and found the trade particularly interested in the new console cabinet that the company has just introduced which is adaptable for radio installation. He states that business conditions generally show a decided improvement and, judging from the orders received, the talking machine trade will enjoy a healthy Fall business.

SIXTH WEEK OF GOLDMAN CONCERTS

The Goldman Band, under the direction of Edwin Franko Goldman, is completing its sixth week at Columbia University, with programs that will be a delight to all music lovers. As the Summer session of the University is now in full swing, with its 13,000 new students, the audiences will now be larger than ever. On Friday night, July 21, the first half of the program will be devoted to the works of Tchaikowsky. Mr. Goldman's two new compositions, "The Chimes of Liberty" and "In the Springtime," have become so popular that they are demanded almost nightly. Free season tickets are still available and may be had upon written request to "Summert Concerts," Columbia University, New York City, the only requirement being that a self-addressed, stamped envelope be enclosed with request.

The Inland Music Co., of Spokane, Wash., recently went out of business.

VICTOR TRAVELERS TO MEET

Annual Convention of Traveling Sales Department to Be Held in Camden Next Week

The annual convention of the members of the traveling sales department of the Victor Talking Machine Co. will be held at the factory in Camden next week, the first conference being held on Monday, July 17. An extensive and intensive program has been mapped out for the convention. Members of the traveling staff will be housed at Green Hill Farm during the week, although the business sessions will be held at factory headquarters.

NEW SONORA WINDOW STRIPS

The advertising department of the Sonora Phonograph Co. has just forwarded to all Sonora dealers thirteen window strips, consisting of twelve paper strips and one of muslin. The muslin strip, being large and durable, may either be fastened to the dealer's awning or tacked on to the wood base of the window. The other twelve strips are of various sizes, each different in design and showing the latest Sonora models in handsomely lithographed color effects.

VOCALION RECORDS OF NEW PIANO

Successful Recordings Made of Tones of Moor Duplex Octave Coupler Piano

The Aeolian Co. has announced Vocalion records of the music of the new Duplex octave coupler piano, the invention of Emmanuel Moor, and which has been subjected to international comment during the past year or two. The records have been made by Winifred Christie and Max Pirani, there being four twelve-inch double-face records in the group. The new piano, it is declared, makes possible effects absolutely unattainable on the ordinary piano.

The Music Master Radio Amplifier greatly magnifies sound volume, with reproduction free from any harsh metallic screeching. The horn is made from richly grained mahogany and with the nicely finished goose-neck and base provides a handsome yet practical radio necessity.

Made in two sizes—21-inch for concerts and out of doors, $45.00. 14-inch for general use in home, $35.00.

Geraco Variometer and Variocoupler assemblies are a long step ahead in the development of accurate tuning instruments, being the perfected result of exhaustive tests by competent experts. Note the detail of design (see variometer illustrated to left) the composition posts and absence of unnecessary metal parts. Price $6.00 each.

Geraco moulded dials will improve the appearance of any set. A smooth black surface that will not discolor or chip. Neatly finished and accurately calibrated. 3-inch size, 50c

Geraco moulded parts are carefully manufactured from a durable and tested industrial material. This dielectric substance has proved qualities which assure our guarantee of minimum power loss. This fact is borne out by the opinion of the Bureau of Standards of the United States. See circular No. 74, Radio Instruments and Measurements.

- Items in the Geraco line now obtainable:
- Variometers complete
 - Variometer rotors
 - Variometer Post Assemblies
 - Variometer stators
 - Dials
 - Knobs
 - Music Master Radio Amplifiers
 - Variocoupler complete
 - Variocoupler tubes
 - Variocoupler balls
 - Vacuum tube sockets
 - Crystal detector bases
 - Aerial insulators

Manufacturers and Dealers—Write at once for complete schedule

General Radio Corporation
 Manufacturers and Distributors of
 High Grade Radio Apparatus
 624-628 Market St.
 PHILADELPHIA

GERACO
 PROVEN RADIO PRODUCTS

The two units of the Geraco line illustrated above represent the most masterly development in the electro-mechanical field our products dominate.

The Last Word in Electric Phonograph Motors

Make this your leading line for the coming
s e a s o n

The Electromophone

Absolutely Silent

Adjustable to any voltage. Tone arm equipped with electrical stopping device, which operates in conjunction with the Electromophone—Record stops automatically on last note—Never fails!!

The Sole Selling Rights of This Unique Mechanism Are in the Hands of

THE STERNO MANUFACTURING CO.

19 CITY ROAD

LONDON, E. C., ENGLAND

Prince's Dance Orchestra has scored another knock-out for the waltzers in "Gypsy Love Song," introducing the "Good Morning Chorus" and "She Said 'I Was So Lonely'," from The Fortune Teller. For an encore they play, on the other side, Victor Herbert Waltz Gems. Here is waltz rhythm de luxe. A-3636.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

PORTLAND, ORE.

E. B. Hyatt Heads Oregon Music Trade Association—Rose Festival Produces Many Artistic Windows—Dealers Co-operate—The News

PORTLAND, ORE., July 8.—E. B. Hyatt, of the Hyatt Talking Machine Co., was unanimously elected president of the Oregon Music Trades Association at the annual meeting held recently. Other officers elected for the coming year were W. A. McDougall, of the McDougall-Conn Music Co., first vice-president; M. Davis, district manager of the Brunswick Phonograph Division, second vice-president; J. J. Collins, vice-president of the Reed, French Piano Co., secretary, and Frank M. Case, manager of the Wiley B. Allen Co., treasurer.

Portland's annual Rose Festival was again a thing of "joy and beauty" and was successful from both an artistic and business standpoint. It brought many visitors to the City of Roses and, although not much business was done by any of the music houses during the days of the festivities, sales took a big jump immediately following the celebration.

All dealers dressed up their stores and windows to suit the occasion. J. N. Dundore, manager of Sherman, Clay & Co., was "Prime Minister of Rosaria" and escorted "Queen Harriet" wherever she went.

The floral parade was most beautiful, and out of the many hundreds of floats the one entered by the Victor dealers of Portland stood out as one of the most attractive and unique floats of the entire parade. The judges must have thought so, too, as the float was awarded the grand prize of its division.

Mary Elizabeth Godwin, educational director of the Victrola department of Seiberling & Lucas Music Co., was the originator of the plan and it was due to her untiring efforts that the float was perfect in every detail. A Victrola made of pink roses, large enough to enclose a six-piece orchestra, was built on the float, and music was dispensed all along the route. Nine beautiful little girls were on the float and danced aesthetic and folk dances whenever the parade halted to give the drill. Victor dogs were much in evidence.

The following Victor dealers contributed to the affair: Sherman, Clay & Co., wholesale and retail; Hyatt Talking Machine Co.; Bush & Lane

E. B. Hyatt, President Oregon Association Piano Co.; G. F. Johnson; Wiley B. Allen Co.; Powers Furniture store; Reed, French & Co.; McCormick Music Co.; Seiberling & Lucas; Meier & Frank, and Charles D. Ray.

A Sonora phonograph completely dismantled, showing the complete construction of motor and sound box, made an attractive window display at the Lipman, Wolfe & Co. store and many people interested in the "inner works" of a phonograph stopped to examine it. Men especially stopped to see first what "made the wheels go round." Roy Feldenheimer, manager of the phonograph department, reports increased Sonora business since the window demonstration and says: "I always find it pays to advertise your goods, no matter how well known they are, and to keep them before the eyes of the public."

Mary Elizabeth Godwin, educational director of the Victrola department of Seiberling & Lucas Music Co., is being featured on the Willard Hawley, Jr., Broadcasting programs and several times a week she entertains with a "children's hour" when selected records for the kiddies are broadcasted.

J. Walter Johnson, window decorator of Powers Furniture Co., won a handsome silver cup as a grand prize for the best decorated window displays during the Elks' Golden Jubilee and another large silver cup awarded for the best music display window. A large Victor dog and a handsome elk's head were the main figures in the window with Victrolas, Victor records and purple and white ribbons artistically arranged.

All of Portland has gone or is planning to go on a camping or beach trip this season is what the dealers in the small camp outfits believe and reports from all sides are to the effect that the portable machines are going like "hot cakes."

C. W. Collins, manager of the Cable Piano Co., of St. Paul and Minneapolis, was a recent Portland visitor. He was on his way home from the Rotary Club convention in Los Angeles. He paid his respects to Frank M. Case, manager of the Wiley B. Allen Co.

C. N. Sundquist, floor manager of the Victrola department of Sherman, Clay & Co., took unto himself a June bride (Olivette Mills) and is receiving the congratulations of his friends since his return from Vancouver, B. C., where a two weeks' honeymoon was spent.

O. N. Gore has been added to the sales force of the Victrola department of the Sherman, Clay & Co.'s store.

Kathryn Campbell has been placed in charge of the record and roll department of the Portland Piano Co. of Lipman, Wolfe & Co.

A new agency for the Valuphone and Mandel phonographs has been established in Portland at 467 Washington street, with Frank A. Bergman, manager in charge. Mr. Bergman handles the Gennett records and has the honor of being the exclusive dealer of this popular record on Washington street. Miss Belle Montpas is in partnership with Mr. Bergman and it is announced that the business partnership is soon to be a life partnership as well.

UNEMPLOYMENT DECREASING

Figures gathered by the Merchants' Association of New York for the use of the Committee on Unemployment of New York City show that industry is reviving. A canvass just completed indicates a decrease in the number of workers now out of work. This means greater activity in the retail domain.

There is no time like the present for performing disagreeable tasks. Get them over with at once and set your mind at rest.

OSLAND, Inc.

122 Fifth Avenue, New York City

Alpha Reproducer

Pivot stylus with spring tension

Radio products

Variocouplers

Variometers

Variable condensers

MANUFACTURED TO SPECIFICATIONS

THE MELODIOUS AND TUNEFUL
A "HIT" EVERYWHERE
STAGE AND DANCE
THREE LITTLE WORDS
FOX-TROT
SHEET RECORDS ROLLS
JOE MITTENTHAL INC. NEW YORK

RADIO AND THE LOOP AERIAL

H. F. Thornell Explains the Adaptability of the Loop Aerial for Use in Connection With the Receiving Apparatus of the Radio in the Home

Harrison F. Thornell, who is well known throughout the country, particularly in the music industries, having traveled extensively in the interest of several musical devices, recently entered the radio field, forming a company under the firm name Eagle Radio Co., Newark, N. J. Mr. Thornell is the producer of a series of devices, some of which are for the purpose of eliminating obstacles and simplifying radio receiving apparatus and its use in larger cities, particularly apartment houses.

In an interview with a representative of The World Mr. Thornell said:

"Due to the enormous demand in the cities for radio receiving apparatus, the problem of aeri-als has become a big and a serious one, but, like other difficulties connected with radio, it couldn't be a difficulty long, and now is satisfactorily overcome by means of an indoor loop aerial.

"The great majority of city dwellers live in apartments, and comparatively few of these people have been able to install radio receiving sets because of the question of aeri-als. Only a limited number of aeri-als can be erected on one roof, and none can be erected if the owner of the building objects, which the majority do, either because they think that there is danger from lightning or because they do not want the outside of the building cluttered up with wires. Then, too, in some cases, where an aerial could be erected, the question of lightning ground and the location of the rooms make this type of aerial impractical. This has resulted in the growth of the industry to date being largely limited to the country and suburban sections of the cities, with the vast majority of the city dwellers without any radio to date.

"The rapid growth of the radio industry has been so sudden that until very recently this matter has not been seriously studied by radio engineers. The consensus of opinion now is that the solution of the problem lies in the loop aerial and with the advent of a good and practical loop aerial on the market the number of radio enthusiasts will jump ahead again by leaps and bounds.

"The loop aerial, to be practical and at all efficient, has required considerable experimental work and careful study. Special kinds of wire and careful designing to reduce the losses to an absolute minimum have resulted in the loop aerial now being practical in its operation and construction. A point overlooked by many people is that the loop aerial must be of such a size that it will not be in the way and take up too much space in an ordinary room, such as is found in a city apartment house.

"In a great many cases, other than those mentioned above, the loop aerial is more practical and serviceable than the conventional out-of-door aerial. Due to its marked directional receiving qualities, it is a big help in reducing, and eliminating, the interference from nearby transmitting stations, and also static electrical interference is greatly reduced, a big advantage in the Summertime. The loop aerial can also be used in any place desired without the necessary delay or bother in running wires, climbing trees, erecting poles, etc. With the coming perfection of radio-frequency amplification the use of the loop aerial will come into almost universal use for receiving, and it is only a question of a comparatively short time when the aerial will only be used by the ultra-energetic person who delights in climbing around high places and who doesn't care about the unsightliness of an outside aerial.

"There is not the slightest doubt that radio is here to stay, and with it the loop aerial, because of its portability, directional qualities, reduction of static and other undesired interference and general all-around usefulness in the radio field."

Study the SILENT Motor

Its Advantages for Your Line of Talking Machines Are Self-Evident

The Silent Motor With Spring Barrels Demounted. Note the Sturdy and Simple Construction.

An Exclusive
SILENT MOTOR Feature.

Self-aligning governor shaft, mounted on universal ball-andsocket bearing. Eliminates governor trouble forever.

Send for Sample and Prices

THE SILENT MOTOR CORPORATION

CHARLES A. O'MALLEY, President

321-323-325 Dean Street,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

MELODY SHOP OPENS IN SEATTLE

Victor and Columbia Machines and Records
Featured in Fine Department

SEATTLE, WASH., July 7.—The most recent addition to the music stores of this city is an attractive establishment opened at 1402 Second avenue and known as the Melody Shop. The store features the Victor and Columbia lines of talking machines and records. During the formal opening, which was well attended, each purchaser was presented with a popular dance record. Purchasers of sheet music were presented with an autographed copy of the latest composition from the pen of Harold Weeks.

BUSINESS PROSPERITY HERE

Survey by Department of Commerce of Various Industries Indicates Revival

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—Business is booming again, the Department of Commerce reports.

Statistics for June, just completed, show the tide of prosperity is rising steadily. Out of forty-two industries tabulated thirty-eight showed increases in production over the previous month.

The agricultural situation is considered particularly good. Building is having the biggest boom it has ever known and is carrying with it many allied industries.

The department issued a warning against business men practising "excesses" during the period of prosperity, because they cause depression.

The coal and railroad strikes constitute the only threat to better business, the Department states.

The Brunswick Music Shop, 49 Tenth street, Allentown, Pa., is the name of the latest addition to the music stores in that city. The Brunswick line is handled exclusively.

A few years ago there was a small dealer in a medium-sized town who believed in the power of advertising and each year as his business grew he made his advertising appropriation larger. To-day he has a very large business. The reason is obvious.

The Aristocrat of All Radio Receiving Sets

The Radio Phonolier

Awarded first prize for most meritorious Radio Novelty exhibited at New York Radio Show, May, 1922

In reality the Radio Phonolier comprises the most perfect and compact 3-step receiver including our new "ALL WAVE" coupler (with guaranteed wave length of 150 to 3,000 meters) and loud speaker, all artfully yet artistically embodied in the form of a beautiful table lamp, built entirely of copper. Easily and accurately tuned and can be set for any desired wave length—then all that is required is to connect the lead from the instrument to battery box—just child's play. Functions equally well with indoor or outdoor aerial. The indoor aerial is incorporated in the outfit, but if the use of outdoor aerial is desired a dial on panel governs the change from one to the other. The base (which conceals the loud speaker) is finished in bronze, silver or gold.

In appearance and efficiency it surpasses any phonograph

Because—The first cost is the last!

No changing of records!

No additional records to buy!

Monotonous repetition is replaced by endless variety of entertainment

For the Radio Phonolier is a permanent, yet ever changing record bringing in the wonderful vocal and musical selections now being broadcasted all over the country, CLEAR, SWEET, and LOUD, WITHOUT DISTORTION.

*Easy to tune
Mistake-proof
Nothing to get out of order
No technical knowledge required*

The Radio Phonolier is a musical instrument to be proud of.

Now is the time to book up out of the forthcoming production at a cost of $300 up—less attractive discounts.

Capitol Phonolier Corporation

54-60 Lafayette Street

New York, N. Y.

The Merchandising Possibilities of Radio in the Talking Machine Field :: :: By Raymond F. Yates

Radio Editor, The Evening Mail

One of the most interesting talks on radio that local talking machine dealers have been privileged to listen to was that delivered at a recent meeting of The Talking Machine Men, Inc., by Raymond Francis Yates, radio editor of The Evening Mail, in New York, who offered some practical thoughts regarding the merchandising of radio and the lines on which it might be expected to develop.

After commenting upon the development of the automobile, motion picture and the talking machine through various stages, from the time when they were considered merely as fads to a point where they became recognized commercial successes, Mr. Yates emphasized the close connection between radio and the talking machine and enlarged upon the field for a combination instrument including, in one cabinet, a talking machine and a radio receiving set.

The speaker made the point that the success of the talking machine business and the quantity sale of higher priced machines came when means were provided for selling better class instruments on instalments. In this connection he said:

"The radio industry must parallel the phonograph industry in this respect if it is to enjoy the same prosperity. To-day radio instruments cannot be bought on the time payment plan simply because the manufacturers do not have to sell them that way. They have found enough purchasers who are willing to pay cash. The great majority of American homes will not have the more expensive radio instruments until the manufacturers co-operate with the dealers in arranging more convenient payments.

Should Be Sold by Phonograph Dealers

"To-day radio instruments are being sold in various kinds of establishments. We see them in drug stores, hardware stores, electrical shops, dry goods stores, phonograph shops and recently I saw a display of instruments in the show windows of a hat store. The electrical industry claims that radio belongs in the electrical shops, but I am not inclined to accept this view. I firmly believe that radio belongs with the phonograph industry or at least it should be sold by phonograph dealers. It would seem that the general merchandising plan used in the disposal of the more expensive radio receivers that are about to be placed on the market will be very similar to that used to-day in the sale of phonographs. Then, too, we must not forget that the radio, in its present stage at least, is essentially an entertaining device as well as an educational one. Radio and the phonograph must go hand in hand.

"With few exceptions, the radio receiving devices that are on the market to-day are not in the least ornamental. They do not harmonize in any way with the furniture and surroundings of even the most modest home. In general they are encased in a plain cabinet with a number of unsightly knobs, dials and switches arranged on the panel. In the case of vacuum tube receivers a storage battery, with all its

Why the Talking Machine Dealer Is Admirably Equipped to Give Proper Attention to the Sales of Radio

attending troubles, is necessary. How simple it would be to place these radio receivers in a cabinet with a phonograph and put this troublesome storage battery in the cellar with a plug receptacle on the baseboard. Radio receivers at present are supplied with unsightly tin horns when the perfectly designed wooden horn of the phonograph could be arranged so that the radio receiver could make use of it as well as the phonograph mechanism. It does not take a great deal of foresight to see that the radio receiver as it stands to-day cannot take its place in the American home as a substantial piece of furniture. We all know that the phonograph, in its early days when all the mechanism was exposed, had to meet a certain amount of prejudice on the part of the purchaser. The thing did not look ornamental enough. It did not look like a piece of furniture.

"Another thing in favor of the phonograph dealer are the facilities he has at his disposal for patrons to listen to the phonograph or the radio music. He already has in his place of business a number of comfortable booths which may be used for the sale of radio instruments as well as for the sale of phonographs and phonograph records.

The Question of Stock

"Most every phonograph dealer who contemplates entering the radio field is confronted with the question, 'What kind of instrument shall I buy and who makes the best radio receivers? Shall I stock only finished receivers or shall I include a supply of parts and accessories?' In this respect radio is very much different than the phonograph industry. Among the radio enthusiasts we find a certain class who like to fuss around with independent instruments. They would much sooner go out and purchase a number of parts and assemble them rather than purchase the finished instruments. This class of buyers, however, is by no means in the majority. Probably five per cent of those who purchase radio instruments would care to do this. However, it is true that many people who buy instruments in this way do so not because they are particularly interested in the assembling of the receiver, but because they are forced to do so as a matter of economy. The volume of this part business will, no doubt, be greatly reduced when the time comes that a purchaser can buy an instrument on time payments. There will then be no desire to purchase parts on the part of those who cannot afford a more elaborate assembled instrument.

"For the time being, at least, I would strongly advise every radio dealer to stock a few spare parts simply with the idea of building up a patronage. A man buying apparatus to-day from the dealer will, in the majority of cases, come back to that dealer when he wishes to purchase the finished receiver on the time-payment plan. Of course, aside from these spare parts, every dealer must be able to offer his customers service in the way of battery vacuum tube replacements, crystals, telephones and the many

The
ECLIPSE MUSICAL CO.
VICTOR WHOLESALE ONLY

CLEVELAND
OHIO

SELLING VICTROLAS IS A YEAR AROUND BUSINESS

The old idea that musical instruments cannot be sold in the summer is a fallacy worthy only of the passing generation of the trade. Everybody doesn't leave town in the summer and those few that do are back in a week to the comforts of home.

Living cost is lower in summer, there is more money to spend and sales competition is less.

The Victor has a style for every season and every home.

Selling Victrolas is a Year Around Business

Emerson Foreign Records

Foreigners are Good Customers
All Year 'Round

Do you know? EMERSON FOREIGN RECORDS have proven a most profitable merchandise in the stores of

4000 DEALERS

Comprehensive Catalogues of steady selling records are ready in the following languages:

JEWISH—GERMAN—ITALIAN POLISH—RUSSIAN

NEW RECORDS JUST OUT

Write Us About Them Today and Cash In

Our efforts are being entirely concentrated upon the production of Standard Records—Exclusive Merchandise that has a 100% Sales Value at all times. This new policy will include, Standard American (Vocal and Instrumental), Operatic, Violin Solos, Instrumental Combinations, Sacred-Holy, Irish Ballads, Irish Instrumentals, Hawaiian and Foreign Records. The policy of concentration will enable us to give Quality and Service.

EMERSON PHONOGRAPH CO.

206 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK CITY

SEVERAL TERRITORIES are open for Jobbing Franchises
We Invite Correspondence from Responsible Individuals or Firms

Wow! Here's a bear cat! Edith Wilson and Johnny Dunn's Original Jazz Hounds break loose in these two "blues" for August.

"Mammy, I'm Thinking of You."
"Take It 'Cause It's All Yours." A-3634.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

THE SALES POSSIBILITIES OF RADIO

(Continued from page 132)

other necessary little knick-knacks that make up a complete receiver.

"I approach the subject of crystal receivers with no little reservation and with great caution. The crystal receiver is put in a very uncertain position, not only on the account of certain patented and legal matters, but from the standpoint of its lasting power as a factor in the field. With the crystal receiver headsets are absolutely necessary and certainly those people who can afford to spend the amount necessary for a vacuum tube receiver do not care to sit hour after hour with a pair of heavy telephone receivers clamped to their aching ears. I would advise phonograph dealers going into the radio business to purchase this type of instrument with the greatest caution.

"The great demand for radio devices has brought into the field a large number of opportunists and sharpers who are supplying apparatus that cannot be manufactured fast enough by the legitimate houses. As a result of this unfortunate situation the market has been flooded with apparatus of doubtful parentage. In some instances deliberate attempts have been made to hoodwink the buying public with fake devices that function with the lowest efficiency. This condition makes it very difficult for the average phonograph dealer, who does not have any technical knowledge of radio, to go out in the open market and purchase a supply of parts or assembled instruments that will stand up and render efficient service.

"I firmly believe that the phonograph dealers of New York City would do a very wise thing if they established temporarily a central purchasing office or at least enlisted the services of an expert who could steer them clear of the many pitfalls that are apparent. When a man goes into a clothing store for a suit of clothes he usually buys with some sense of value. But not so with radio. Take a pair of headphones, for instance. Many people buy them for appearance, but this is a mistake. In radio appearance means little or nothing as far as operating efficiency goes. It is the details of construction and design that count.

"We now come to the question of technical service in connection with the sale and installation of radio apparatus. When radio parts are handled the services of a salesman who at least has an elementary knowledge of radio are necessary. If there is one phase of radio merchandising that requires intelligent salesmanship it is that of parts.

"A man with little or no knowledge of radio may come into the store and ask for the parts of a regenerative receiver. He does not know himself exactly what he wants. The clerk or salesman must think for him and help him to purchase the right kind of instrument.

"Installation and maintenance service are another thing that must be considered by the radio dealer. I believe that every dealer should offer free installation with outfits that sell beyond a certain price. In the average case an outfit can be installed at a total cost of five dollars for labor. This service strengthens the bond between the purchaser and the dealer and opens a way for future sales in the form of vacuum tubes, batteries and other replacement articles.

"In closing, let me repeat that I firmly believe that radio belongs to the phonograph dealers since they are best qualified to handle it. The phonograph industry was built up through their patience, understanding and sense of public service. The national sale of radio receivers can be entrusted to them with every assurance of complete success. However, let it be understood that often less qualified agencies are attempting to bring radio into their own fold and if the phonograph dealers want to enjoy their share of this business they will have to go out and fight for it."

HOUSE FAVORS MILEAGE BOOKS

Passes Senate Measure Providing for Issuance of Interchangeable Mileage Books or Scrip for Use of Commercial Travelers

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—The House of Representatives recently passed the Senate Bill authorizing the issuance by the railroads of an interchangeable mileage book. The original bill was amended, however, to permit the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine whether such books should be issued or whether the railroads should place on sale scrip books. The Commission will determine what form the books will take and whether the charge per mile will be lower than the regular tariff.

Various organizations of traveling men, particularly the National Council of Traveling Salesmen's Association, of which the National Piano Travelers' Association is a member, have been fighting for special mileage books for many months, advocating a rate of two and a half cents per mile for bona fide commercial travelers. The interchangeable mileage books will be a boon to all members of the traveling fraternity.

SPRAGUE RADIO MODELS INTRODUCED

Prominent New York Manufacturers Make Important Announcement Regarding Plans for the Talking Machine Trade—Strong Staff of Experts Connected With This Company

A new concern manufacturing radio receiving sets to market in the talking machine trade is the Sprague Radio Corp., of New York, which is manufacturing several models, both console and upright, which are now being introduced in the talking machine field. The personnel of this company are well-known men in the radio engineering field, their experience covering a period of many years in radio sending as well as in receiving. The company is credited with the installation of more radio sending stations in the United States Navy ships and merchant marine than any other company in this country. This phase of the business has been established for many years past, and extensive experiments have been conducted to the end of manufacturing a receiving set that will be of the same high caliber as the other products, mainly the sending stations which the company has manufactured heretofore.

The first models to be introduced to the trade are to retail from $125 up, depending on the quality of the cabinets and also the number of units with which they will be equipped. It is the plan of the company to market these radio receiving sets direct to the retailer and to give him a discount large enough to enable him to carry a representative stock and also to market it to the consumer at a profit large enough to insure the dealer a stable business.

The officers of the company are: C. W. Sprague, president; Harry E. Sherwin, vice-president and general manager; A. W. Duckett, secretary and treasurer. Well-appointed offices have been opened at 342 Madison avenue, New York City, and the manufacturing is being done in one of the most modern and best-equipped factories in this country, located in Portchester, N. Y., which insures facilities for extensive experiments and room to insure a maximum production and a prompt delivery of all orders. W. H. Knowles, well known in radio engineering circles, is in charge of the factory. He has with him engineers who enjoy a wide reputation as experts in radio engineering circles, such as Harry Shoomaker and Geo. Farrand, who were for many years connected with the radio wizard Marconi in the capacity of consulting engineers, and who also conducted practical experiments and installations of radio sending and receiving stations all over the world. Another engineer of note connected with the factory is William McIntyre, who has had a wide experience in radio receiving.

Mr. Sherwin, general manager of the company, is leaving New York this week for a two months' trip which will take him as far West as the Coast and back again. This trip is for the purpose of visiting retail trade throughout the country and introducing Sprague radio products to the talking machine dealer in each city.

THREE (3) MILLION DOLLARS

Spent in

RECORDING

Now Offered For Sale

in the form of MOTHER MATRICES 10, 12 and 7 inch

A Rare Opportunity for those who are now manufacturing and those who contemplate to manufacture or press 10, 12 and 7 inch Records with their own label and trademark.

Records of proven Distinctiveness for compiling a Variety Catalog. This diversified Repertoire consists of the following selections:

- 1200 American Ballads and Dance Selections (Standards)
- 50 Rube and Hebrew Dialogues (Comic)
- 50 Marches—Military Bands and Orchestras
- 75 Negro Dialect and Blue Songs
- 35 Instrumental Combinations
- 100 Church Hymns—Holy Songs
- 75 Violin, Piano and 'Cello Solos
- 50 Hawaiian—Ukulele and Guitar
- 50 Operatic Arias
- 400 Hebrew-Jewish
- 70 German
- 300 Italian (Neapolitan and Sicilian)
- 90 Polish
- 12 Russian

Sales Price of Mother Matrices About $\frac{1}{10}$ th of Our Actual Expenditure

NOW IS THE TIME FOR YOUR OWN LABEL RECORD

Write for any list that is of interest to you

APEX RECORDING LABORATORY

1126 Broadway

New York, N. Y.

OH YOU GOLFERS!

AT LAST A "GOLF SONG"

A REAL "SPORTSONG"

"The 19th Hole"

A SONG THE "GANG" WILL SING AND ENJOY
IT'S FUNNY—OF COURSE

READY SOON FOR RECORDS AND ROLLS—WATCH FOR IT

"You Can't Go Wrong With Any 'Feist Song'."

MUSIC WILL DOMINATE PAGEANT

Publicity Director of Forthcoming Chicago Event Details Musical Features of Great Municipal Week Which Opens July 29

CHICAGO, ILL., July 10.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the provision of music during the great Pageant of Progress which will begin on Chicago's Municipal Pier on July 29 and last until August 14. Questioned as to the musical events which are scheduled to take place, John F. Delaney, director of publicity, said:

"With a civic music association of rare ability and indomitable energy, with the most democratic grand opera in the world and with the great symphony orchestra, child of the late Theodore Thomas, as three of its principal musical assets, music will receive marked recognition at the Pageant of Progress Exposition, which opens in Chicago on the Municipal Pier, July 29, to continue until August 14. The bands of Chicago, adult and juvenile, will lend their aid to the harmony of the seventeen days. There will be music from the great Deagan chimes to be set up at the entrance to the pier; there will be the great organ from Northwestern University and scores of choruses, ranging in size from the official Pageant chorus of 250 voices to the 3,500 in the singing organization of the colored people of the city.

"Removing the organ from Northwestern University to Congress Hall on the pier where the musical programs are to be given is a task of interest to builders and manufacturers of musical instruments. The magnitude of the work may be gauged when it is remembered that every pipe, section and cross section must have individual attention, both in the dismantling and in the setting up. When placed in position on the pier the whole great instrument will have to be voiced.

"Singing of the colored chorus from barges anchored off the pier is expected to be one of the most delightful features of the Pageant. The plaintive lullabies and folk songs of the old South will take on new beauties as they float across the lake.

"Another organization expected to attract attention is the 'President's Own Chorus,' of Mooseheart, Ill., the national home of the Loyal Order of Moose. This chorus, consisting of 1,000 voices, is being trained for the Mooseheart Pageant which President Harding will attend. It will be brought to the Pageant here on Moose Day, August 12, with the Mooseheart band of one hundred players, considered one of the finest juvenile organizations in the country.

"Other choruses will be from the Italian and German singing societies of Chicago, each of approximately 2,000 voices, and another composed of singers from the more than 5,000 church choirs of the city.

"The story of the evolution of music from the most primitive of instruments down to the present day will be told in exhibits by leading manufacturers of the country.

"Among the firms that have taken space for the exposition are: Lyon & Healy, the Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., M. Schulz Co., Starr Piano Co., Samuel C. Osborne Mfg. Co., Martin Band Instrument Co., Ludwig & Ludwig, Chicago Conn Co., Gulbransen-Dickinson Co. and George C. Diver."

APPOINTED SWANSON JOBBER

Cabinet & Accessories Co. Will Distribute New Portable—Active Sales Campaign Under Way

The Cabinet & Accessories Co., New York (Otto Goldsmith, president), announced this week that it has been appointed a jobber for the Swanson Sales Co., which is the exclusive agent for the Swanson portable phonograph. The Cabinet & Accessories Co. will represent this portable in the metropolitan district and Mr. Goldsmith is keenly enthusiastic regarding the merits of this instrument. According to the plans of the Cabinet & Accessories Co. an intensive sales campaign will be inaugurated in a few days featuring the distinctive qualities of the Swanson. R. W. Moon, general manager of the Swanson Sales Co., who has been visiting New York the past few weeks, closed this deal with Mr. Goldsmith, and a good-sized shipment is now en route to New York.

NEW MATHUSHEK MANAGER

The Mathushek & Sons Piano Co. announces that Howard Weber has been appointed general manager of the retail stores of that company, with headquarters at 37 West Thirty-seventh street, New York.

Alexander Rosansky, well known to the metropolitan music trade, has been made general sales manager for Saul Birns, 111 Second avenue, dealer in pianos, talking machines, records, etc.

HOW ABRAHAM & STRAUS ARE ADVERTISING THE SONORA

ABRAHAM AND STRAUS INC

Store Hours: 9 to 5:30 BROOKLYN Telephone Main 6100

The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World.

Baby Grand $200
The popular bulge model, beautiful and distinctive, with exclusive Sonora features.

Imperial $150
A simple and handsome upright style, remarkable in value.

Queen Anne $250
A new period model, with the latest Sonora improvements in tone quality and cabinet design.

Presenting

Some of the newest models of the famous

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY

Sonora

CLEAR AS A BELL

The Phonograph which won highest score for tone quality at the Panama-Pacific Exposition

IT was our pleasure some months ago to add the Sonora line to the vast stock of highest quality merchandise which this store has built up in its years of service to the public.

For many years it has been the custom of Abraham & Straus to search the markets of the world for the best merchandise obtainable in every class.

In the case of the Sonora, both the steadily increasing demand for this superb instrument and our conviction that it stands among the highest achievements in phonograph making, led to its adoption.

The Sonora has won world-wide fame for its clarity and beauty of tone. We offer these instruments in the confidence that they will bring life-long pride and satisfaction to every purchaser. A wide selection of magnificent period and upright models is now on our floors, inviting your examination. These new models embody the latest exclusive improvements in tone quality and construction.

Prices, $50 and Upward

Terms may be arranged according to your convenience.

The Sonora Portable $50
Combining the tone for which Sonora is famous with the utmost compactness. Carries 18 records in its own case. Beautifully bound in calfskin.

Canterbury $200
A graceful and dignified model in the exquisite style of Hepplewhite. A. & S.—Fourth floor, West

Pablo Casals, than whom there is no greater cellist, has given us in "Would God I Were the Tender Apple Blossom" a tone poem that is marvelous in its beauty. No collection of records is complete without a few good cello selections. You'll go far before you'll find the equal of 80159.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

IN PITTSBURGH

Healthy Trend to Trade—Spear & Co. Managers Appointed—Machine and Record Shortage Probable—Other News of Interest

PITTSBURGH, PA., July 10.—Talking machine sales during the past month, while by no means brisk, have shown a very healthy trend, and there is every indication that the bottom of the economic depression has been passed in this section and that the talking machine trade is approaching a better buying season. A decidedly optimistic note is found among dealers and jobbers in all lines and a moderately busy season is anticipated the coming Fall and Winter.

It was announced recently that L. Weinberg, who has had charge of the Victrola department of Spear & Co., and Fred Johnson, of the Johnson Music Co., East Liberty, would assume charge of Spear & Co.'s new East Liberty furniture house at the corner of Broad street and Collins avenue. Mr. Weinberg will serve as manager of the new store, while Mr. Johnson will have charge of the finances. R. R. Myers, formerly associated with the C. C. Mellor Co., has been appointed manager of the Victrola department of Spear & Co.'s downtown store, which position he has already assumed. Mrs. Johnson will take Mr. Johnson's place in charge of the Johnson Music Co.'s store at Pennsylvania avenue, East Liberty.

T. T. Evans, of the C. C. Mellor Co., Victor wholesaler, states that there is no doubt in his mind but that there will be a decided shortage of Victor products during the months of November, December and January. Mr. Evans believes this is due to the fact that the dealers are working on skeleton stocks at this time, with the idea in mind that the jobbers will carry the stocks until they are ready to sell them.

J. C. Roush, president of the Standard Talking Machine Co., Victor wholesaler, spent a few days in the East, visiting the Victor factory and calling upon some of the jobbers nearby. Among the recent callers at the Standard offices were Arthur A. Trostler, secretary of the Schmelzer Co., Kansas City, Mo., and the newly elected president of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers; Rayburn Clark Smith, president of the Unit Construction Co., Philadelphia, and Gus Hellman, of the Yahrling-Rayner Music Co., Youngstown, O.

Edward John Fox Marx, local representative of the Victor Co., was married recently to Miss Edith Habbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick Habbe, of Indianapolis. Mr. and Mrs.

Marx spent their honeymoon at Chautauqua Lake and are now at home in Wilkesburg, Pa.

Kaufmann's Department Stores, Inc., had a week's demonstration in their auditorium for Wallace reducing records and this demonstration produced splendid results.

NEW OUTING JOBBERS APPOINTED

Bristol & Barber Added to List of Outing Jobbers—Factory Now Working to Capacity

The Outing Talking Machine Co., Mount Kisco, N. Y., has closed a number of important deals whereby well-known concerns in different parts of the country will act as distributors for this popular portable, among these new jobbers being the Grafonola Co. of New England, Boston, Mass., and Bristol & Barber, New York. Both of these companies have attained unusual success in their respective territories, and Bristol & Barber have been successful in placing the Outing in a number of the leading retail stores in Greater New York.

A. J. Coté, president of the Outing Talking Machine Co., states that the demand for the Outing portable has far exceeded all expectations and the factory is working to capacity to give the jobbers and dealers efficient service. At the present time the Outing is being distributed in practically all of the leading trade centers and, without exception, these jobbers are enthusiastic regarding the sales value of this portable. They say it has made a most favorable impression.

SHOW JEWETT RADIO PHONOGRAPH

A. A. Fair Visits New York to Show New Jewett Product—Trade Enthusiastic Regarding Instruments—Jobbers Now Being Appointed

A. A. Fair, sales manager of the Jewett Phonograph Co., Detroit, was a visitor to New York recently, accompanied by E. Trowbridge, radio expert, who is associated with the company's radio division. Mr. Fair brought with him several models of the new Jewett combination radio phonograph, which has attracted wide attention throughout the country.

While here Mr. Fair was visited by a number of prominent distributors who evinced keen interest in the combination Jewett radio-phonograph, and negotiations were strated for the distribution of these instruments in important territories. In all probability these deals will be closed in the course of the next few weeks and Mr. Fair is delighted with the reception accorded the new product.

In a chat with The World Mr. Fair stated that the announcement used by the company in the June issue of The World featuring the new Jewett combination instrument had produced a great many inquiries from prominent concerns in all sections of the country. These inquiries are being given careful attention and it is interesting to note that at the present time the Jewett factory is working to capacity to produce sufficient Jewett phonographs to keep pace with the demands of the trade.

TONE TELLS

SOUND SELLS

The ORANOLA

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

"The Perfect Talking Machine"

The Perfection Talking Machine Co., well-known as the manufacturer of the Oranola (the perfect talking machine) announces an addition to its line of instruments.

A RADIO CONSOLE

A combination talking machine and radio cabinet, completely equipped, upon which patents are now pending, at present being marketed in console type of cabinet, especially designed for its purposes.

The officers of the company have been identified with the talking machine industry since its inception, and assure the trade of the highest possible quality of workmanship, both in cabinet work and equipment.

A particularly inviting opportunity awaits jobbers and dealers. Exclusive territory. Act at once.

PERFECTION TALKING MACHINE CO., Inc. 228 SEVENTH AVE. NEW YORK CITY

FAMOUS VOICES RESURRECTED

Old Edison Recordings by Famous Men Brought to Light in England—Will Be Brought to United States by C. R. Johnstone, General Manager of Bell Recording Corp.

Phonograph records of the voices of famous men, taken more than thirty years ago by one of the first Edison machines sent to England, and buried since that time in the dust of a London warehouse, are to be resurrected and brought to this country late this Summer by Charles R. Johnstone, an English phonograph expert, who made many of the records, and is now general manager of the new Bell Recording Corp., at 9 East Forty-seventh street, New York City.

Among the old cylinders are records of some of the most famous voices of the latter part of the nineteenth century, including P. T. Barnum, Lord Tennyson, Florence Nightingale, William E. Gladstone, Robert Browning, Thomas Bailey Aldrich and Prince Louis Napoleon. They were the first records taken in what was intended to be a great "library of voices," to comprise the human utterances of the noted men in all countries.

Few persons knew of the existence of these records, and early this year, when Professor A. J. Armstrong, of Baylor University at Waco, Texas, undertook to find the old Tennyson records the search for the men who knew something about them took several months of his time. Finally he found Mr. Johnstone, the owner of the records, through the assistance of Frederick Kenyon, of the British Museum.

That search for the Tennyson records by the professor in the Texas University brought to the mind of Mr. Johnstone the idea that the old and dusty records might have great interest for the present generation, and he decided to dig them up in the London warehouse and make some duplicates for use in this country and England.

The finest record of the group, according to Mr. Johnstone, is that of the voice of P. T. Barnum, made while the famous American showman had his "greatest show on earth" in London for a long appearance.

The record of the wonderfully musical voice of Mr. Gladstone was taken at a party at his house. He had sent for the new machine to show his guests the mechanical marvel, and at the end of the entertainment the demonstrator asked him if he would like to speak a few words into the horn. Then, in a strong voice, Gladstone spoke into the recording apparatus a short address to Thomas A. Edison, thanking him for his great invention and praising its value.

Florence Nightingale, England's great nurse, spoke into the horn a few words about the suffering of the soldiers in the Crimea, with a plea for sympathy and help for the wounded.

Speaking of the possible commercial value of the records, Mr. Johnstone said he thought he could make copies of these old master records, which are cylinders, and then put the new masters through the modern process of record-making, so that they could be sold at low prices to schools, colleges, museums or others who wanted them.

JOINS PEARSALL SALES STAFF

Thomas F. Green, president of the Silas E. Pearsall Co., Victor wholesaler, announced this week the appointment of C. A. True as a member of the company's sales staff. Mr. True was manager of the talking machine department of L. Bamberger & Co., Newark, N. J., for many years and has a splendid record.

Andrew Haug, well known in talking machine manufacturing circles, passed away recently at his home, 2659 Nina street, Lamanda Park, Cal., at the age of 53 years. Mr. Haug was formerly associated with the Columbia Graphophone Co., Thomas A. Edison, Inc., at Orange, N. J., and the American Phonograph Co., as factory manager.

INVALUABLE

Here is the handbook of the talking machine industry for which you have long been waiting. It is a directory you can keep on your desk to give you, in an instant, detailed knowledge about this and that company, which would otherwise consume much of your time to secure.

ONLY 50 CENTS

For instance, it will give you a complete up-to-date list of the manufacturers and jobbers who comprise the talking machine industry, including invaluable data about each concern, such as location of factories, names of officers, location of branch offices, trade names controlled, policy of marketing product, etc., etc.

ONLY 50 CENTS

Also it will give you a full, up-to-date list of the manufacturers who make any given class of product, such as talking machines, records, parts, accessories, store equipment, etc.

ONLY 50 CENTS

This book contains the kind of data about each concern which cannot be put into the company's current advertising for lack of space and which is nevertheless a kind of data that is valuable from your standpoint.

ONLY 50 CENTS

This volume also contains a number of pertinent articles on highly important topics and much other material too extensive to enumerate here in detail.

ONLY 50 CENTS

It is the only book of its kind ever published and is a volume which no enterprising member of the industry can fairly afford to do without. It has been produced by the publishers of The Talking Machine World.

USE THIS COUPON NOW

Send Cash, Stamps or Check

EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc., 373 Fourth Ave., New York City.

Gentlemen: Please send me postage prepaid a copy of the 1922 edition of The Talking Machine World Trade Directory, in payment for which I enclose 50 cents.

Name Firm Street City and State.....

JOINS EIGHT VICTOR ARTISTS

Rudy Wiedoeft, Well-known Saxophonist, Joins This Organization—Prominent in Musical Circles Everywhere—A Valuable Addition

P. W. Simon, manager of the Eight Famous Victor Artists, announced this week that Rudy Wiedoeft, one of the foremost saxophonists in America, would join this well-known organization for the 1922-1923 season. Mr. Wiedoeft has appeared as a vaudeville headliner and as the director of well-known dance organizations in all parts of the country, and he is recognized generally as one of the greatest saxophonists who have ever appeared before the public. His records have attained exceptional success and he will be a welcome addition to the Eight Famous Victor Artists.

Owing to the fact that his plans for the coming season necessitate his stay in New York almost continuously Fred Van Eps, the popular banjoist, who has heretofore appeared with the Eight Famous Victor Artists, will not play with this organization during the 1922-1923 season.

ANOTHER NEW TALKING MOVIE

Remarkable Claims for Invention of Prof. Tykociner, on Which He Has Long Been Working

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., July 11.—After more than twenty years of research Prof. Tykocinski Tykociner, Polish instructor employed by the experiment station of the State University, declares he has invented a method of making talking movies that will work.

By the unique method Prof. Tykociner has perfected it will be possible to photograph acting, the speech of the actors, all noises of nature, such as the wind and the ringing of bells and creaking of doors. Prof. Tykociner believes that this will develop a new art in the movies and that the film industry may be revolutionized.

Prof. Tykociner photographs variations in a manometric flame resulting from sound waves produced by speech at the same time that he photographs the subject. He then photographs these waves by means of a mercury vapor lamp invented by himself for the experiment. The developed negative shows the subject on one side of the film and the sound waves running in a steady line on the opposite side.

When a light is thrown through this film on the wave side and concentrated on a photoelectric cell, an electric current, varying with the volume of light, is set up. The current is amplified many times and run through a loud-speaking phone. The natural voice may then be reproduced distinctly.

SONORA DANCERS WIN HONORS

The sales department of the Sonora Phonograph Co., New York, received recently from W. H. Schermly, Sonora dealer at Durand, Wis.,

First Prize for Sonora Dancers

the photograph shown herewith, representing the Sonora dancing girls who took the first prize at the recent Firemen's masquerade ball held in Durand. The girls in their clever costumes danced to the music of a Sonora portable and the judges were unanimous in giving them first honors.

THE TALKING MACHINE WORLD'S CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING—(Continued from page 139)

FOR SALE OR RENT
PHONOGRAPH
Recording Laboratory

Completely equipped for all classes special and regular commercial work. Established trade. Address inquiries, "Recording Laboratory," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

For Sale

200,000 Standard Make Phonograph Records. Wide Variety of selections.

CHICAGO PHONOGRAPH REALIZATION

315 Union Park Court, Chicago, Ill.

FOR SALE

Splendid music store in southern California city of 15,000. Only exclusive music store in town. Carries a fine line of pianos and has the only Victrola agency in the city. Forced to sell because of ill health. A wonderful opportunity for a live man. Can be handled for $8,000 to $15,000. Address "Box 1174," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

FOR SALE

Music house, well established for 14 years in a large middle West city. Pianos and Victor and Brunswick Depts. High-class clientele. Good reason for selling. All cash preferred, but terms to reliable party, or parties. Address "Box 1161," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

FOR SALE

Genuine Pathé sapphire needles. 12 cents each for cash. The Pathé Shop, 228 West Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich.

FOR SALE

Several thousand standard make records, late numbers, also sacred, instrumental standard numbers, etc., at thirty-five cents each. Send for catalog. Central Phonograph Co., 127 N. 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

WANTED—Salesmen to sell a line of metal nameplates to talking machine dealers and manufacturers. Big profits. No bulky samples. Commission paid on receipt of orders. Can be handled in connection with any line. Write for our proposition to-day. Fogarty Manufacturing Co., Dayton, O.

Phonograph and Music Dealers

Victor compound is a real money maker of quality for the progressive dealer. An easy seller and sure repeater. Nothing like it on the market. Free sample and full information to established dealers. Address Victor Chemical Co., Box 195, Battle Creek, Mich.

CARVED LEGS

Eight designs in gum, oak and mahogany. Prices reduced. Send for circular. Klise Mfg. Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Recording Laboratory For Sale

Recording machine, shaving machine, wax, lateral recording heads, motors, etc., etc. Perfect condition. May be seen in operation. Complete, without plating, $500, or best offer. Opportunity for party desiring to make lateral disc records. Address "Box 1175," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

RECENT TALKING MACHINE EXPORTS

Exports of Machines and Records in April Announced by the Department of Commerce

Exports of phonographs and records now amount to more than a quarter of a million dollars a month, according to figures which have just been made public by the Department of Commerce, showing our export trade in April. The department reports that 4,406 phonographs, valued at $154,891, and 196,750 records, valued at $101,912, were exported during the month.

Our most important market for phonographs is Canada, whose imports in April amounted to 1,317 machines with a value of $50,486. Japan was the next most important market, taking 986 machines with a value of $30,834, and Mexico was third with 382, valued at $13,754. Mexico, however, was our most important market for records, taking 26,743, valued at $12,528, while Argentina was second with 19,156, valued at $11,346. Other large exportations were 26,669, valued at $10,732, to Australia, and 13,826, with a value of $10,379, to Chile.

FEATURE COLUMBIA RECORD

Detroit Music Co. Makes Attractive Display of "Smilin' Through"

DETROIT, MICH., July 6.—The Detroit Music Co., of this city, recently featured an effective window display in connection with the Columbia record, "Smilin' Through." In this window placards were presented calling attention to the fact that this well-known motion picture is being shown at the local theatres and also mentioned that the Columbia record may be purchased at that establishment. Columbia dealers throughout the country have been featuring this record by Oscar Seagle, which is proving very popular.

PIANO BOOKS

THE Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., technical library represents the only books written in English for the men who constitute the piano and player-piano industry of the United States. Each book covers its respective subject clearly and completely. Each volume is the standard work of its particular field. Every one of these books should be in the hands of every progressive man who wants to help keep the American piano industry the world's leader, both from an artistic and commercial standpoint.

Modern Piano Tuning
 A very comprehensive book covering principles and practices of tuning, regulation of piano action, elementary principles of pneumatics, general construction of player mechanisms, repair of old pianos or player mechanisms. 331 pages, $2.00.

Theory and Practice of Pianoforte Building
 An essential book for every manufacturer, scale draftsman, superintendent, dealer or piano salesman. The only work of its kind in the English language. 160 pages, fully illustrated, tables, diagrams, etc., $2.00.

Player-Piano Up to Date
 The best available source in English for player-piano knowledge. Principles of construction, regulation and use of pneumatic mechanisms. Descriptions of leading mechanisms. For salesmen, tuners, repairmen, etc. 195 pages, illustrated, $1.50.

Regulation and Repair of Pianos and Player Mechanisms
 Indispensable for salesmen and executives in piano factories, two books in one, illustrated, tables, diagrams. 158 pages, $1.50.

Mail This Inspection Coupon

Edward Lyman Bill, Inc.
 373 Fourth Ave., New York City.

You may send me on five days' free inspection the book or books I have marked. I will return them to you within five days or remit $..... in full within ten days.

Name

Address..... City.....

Mark which books you want to see
<input type="checkbox"/>	Modern Piano Tuning
<input type="checkbox"/>	Theory and Practice of Pianoforte Building
<input type="checkbox"/>	Regulation and Repair
<input type="checkbox"/>	The Player Pianist
<input type="checkbox"/>	Player-piano Up to Date

FROM OUR EUROPEAN HEADQUARTERS 2 GRESHAM BLDG., BASINGHALL ST., E.C. LONDON

W. LIONEL STURDY, MANAGER

Music Trade Convention the Dominating Happening of Month—Topics of Interest to Gramophone Dealers Discussed—Hire Purchase System Considered—Radio Development in the Trade in Great Britain—Invicta Record Co. in Liquidation—Interesting Views on German Reciprocity—Association Discusses the Subject of Unsalable Records—News of the Month

LONDON, ENG., July 4.—A feature of dominating interest in the British trade during the past month was naturally the music trade convention which was held at the Hotel Metropole, Blackpool. All agree that it was the best convention ever. From a point of attendance—well over 200 delegates, with a sprinkling of the fair sex—it established a record. President Louis Sterling handled the business side admirably; his tireless energy, tact and good humor won general praise. Lt. Col. R. H. Tatton, organizing director of the Federation of British Music Industries, under whose auspices the convention was held, and the various secretaries and officials of each Association worked hard to make the convention the great success it was from both a business and social viewpoint.

There were two or three business sessions each morning, the rest of the day being given over to pleasure. Of the subjects discussed—and generally the program was a heavy one—that which most interests my readers relates to the talking machine industry. The great question of unsalable records and their exchange by the manufacturers resulted in a very animated discussion among a big meeting of retail dealers from all parts of the country. The three to one exchange met with general condemnation as being mutually inimical to dealers and makers. As will be seen by the following report some very good suggestions were put forward as a solution of the difficulty and there is every reason to believe manufacturers will accept the 10 per cent exchange proposal. Here is the report:

At the meeting of the Gramophone Dealers' Association, which was held recently, the chair was occupied by E. Rasin Jones, of Manchester, the president of the Association, who said in part: "We are not working for ourselves alone. The committee is working for the whole of the gramophone trade and especially of the members of the G.D.A. and we may say that the relations existing between the manufacturers and the G.D.A. are most friendly. If anyone thinks we are out, as an Association, to use force, let me tell him he is greatly mistaken; our policy is not force, but reason and right. You have a paper asking for answers to seven questions. We would be very much pleased if every member of this Association, and every gramophone dealer here, will answer those questions because by so doing you will enable us to form some idea as to what you desire and require."

Joseph Riley, Birmingham, speaking on the "Limitation of Catalogs and the Disposal of Unsalable Records," said: "If the catalog is a big one we have to stock the lot. We don't mind stocking all these records if we can sell them all, but our Association thinks that no maker's list should exceed 2,500, and if the manufacturers can only cut the catalog down to all good sellers, we should be able to get them to agree to take the old ones off as they put the new ones on. When we find a record is dead we want to return it to the manufacturer. We don't want to create a museum of dead records. We ought to be able to part with these records or come to some arrangement with the manufacturers by which we could return them before their sale is finished in certain districts. For instance, in certain districts a record may be absolutely finished and if it came to Blackpool for a little fresh air it might live a little bit longer. The point is we don't want to bring it into the drapery trade where we can have sales once a year or every three months. We believe in price maintenance and if the manufacturers would come along and enable us to get rid of the unsalable stock then the record business would be a very sound one. On the question of exchange we think dealers should be entitled to return 10 per cent of their purchases every six months with credit in full."

M. E. Ricketts said on the subject: "I think a dealer has a right to know to a small number how many records a manufacturer intends to place in his catalog, what space will be necessary for racking purposes and to know approximately how much money he will have to invest in that side of his business. Unsalable records in the main consist of two kinds: badly chosen titles, which is not the fault of the dealer, and well chosen titles issued late, when the market has gone. If a dealer has 100 records to send back and a company says to him: 'You must take three to one,' that is, 'You have to take 300 before we give you credit for that 100,' is that in the best interests of the dealer or the public? Well, anyone who knows anything about this business

(Continued on page 142)

"His Master's Voice"

Copyright

This intensely human picture stands for all that is best in music

—it is the "His Master's Voice" trade-mark, and it brings to you, no matter where you are, the very best music of every kind, sung and played by the world's greatest artists—the greatest singers, pianists, violinists, orchestras and bands—all enshrined in the unequalled "His Master's Voice" records

'His Master's Voice'

—the trade-mark that is recognized throughout the world as the

HALL-MARK OF QUALITY

DENMARK: Skandinavisk Grammophon-Akti-elskab, Frihavn, Copenhagen.

FRANCE: Cie. Française du Gramophone, 115 Boulevard Richard Lenoir, Place de la République, Paris.

SPAIN: Compañía del Gramófono, 56-58 Balmes, Barcelona.

SWEDEN: Skandinaviska Grammophon-Aktiebolaget, Drottning Gatan No. 47, Stockholm.

RUSSIA: The Gramophone Co., Ltd., 45, Nevsky Prospect, Petrograd (Petersburg); No. 1 Solyanka, Solyanoi Dvor, Moscow; 9, Golovinsky Prospect, Tiflis; Nowy-Swiat 30, Warsaw; 11 Michailovskaya Ulitsa, Baku.

INDIA: The Gramophone Co., Ltd., 139, Bal-haghatta Road, Calcutta; 7, Bell Lane, Fort, Bombay.

Great Britain:

The Gramophone Company, Ltd.

HAYES - MIDDLESEX - ENGLAND

AUSTRALIA: S. Hoffnung & Co., Ltd., Sole Concessionaries of The Gramophone Company, Limited, 163, Pitt Street, Sydney.

NEW ZEALAND: Gramophonum, Ltd., 118-120 Victoria Street, Wellington.

SOUTH AFRICA: Darter & Sons, Post Box 174, Capetown; Mackay Bros., Post Box 251, Johannesburg; Mackay Bros. & McMahon, Post Box 419, Durban; Ivan H. Haarburger, Post Box 105, Bloemfontein; Frans Moeller, Post Box 108, East London; B. J. Ewins & Co., Post Box 86, Queens-town; Handel House, Kimberley; Laurence & Cope, Post Box 132, Bulawayo; The Argus Co., Salisbury.

EAST AFRICA: Bayley & Co., Lourenço Marques.

HOLLAND: American Import Co., 22a, Amsterd Veerkade, The Hague.

ITALY: A. Bossi & Co., Via Orefici 2, Milan.

EGYPT (Also for the Sudan, Greece and the Ottoman Empire): K. Fr. Vogel, Post Box 414, Alexandria.

FROM OUR LONDON HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 141)

knows the answer is 'No.' The manufacturer says, 'You will have to take three to one'; what happens? A month or two or three weeks before those records are to be sent back the dealer begins to hold up his orders until he can collect orders for 300 records. Then he gets his 100 and sends in an order for 300. That 300 comes in and he fills the depleted racks. But what has really happened? That man has been without records which he should have had. The manufacturer does not sell one record more, and the public has not had the service it has a right to demand. With regard to the remarks of Mr. Jones and Mr. Riley, that the gramophone business can only be a success so long as the dealers are absolutely friends and partners with the manufacturers, that is the only way in which any big industry can be a success, and therefore this should not be made a question of fighting between the dealers and the manufacturers. When you get down to the bed-rock the dealers' interest is the manufacturers' interest. Therefore, I would suggest that the manufacturers should go into this matter properly and come down to this point. It will very likely be a matter of compromise. Supposing they were to say to the trade, 'We are going to cut off 100 records and you people that are stocking our goods in sufficient quantities for the needs of your district, send them all back to us,' what does it mean to the manufacturers? The loss is not a great one. It is the cost of the pressing minus the material. That is the loss. If you take the royalties of the artists, I believe the manufacturers will agree with me when I say that they would not even lose their royalty stamps. So that if I am correct the manufacturers can say to dealers, 'You are making as much as we are out of this business; the loss will average 6d.; you bear 3d. and we will bear 3d.' I don't say those are the exact figures, but a committee of manufacturers and dealers could in forty-eight hours settle the whole question."

Ernest Marshall, opening the discussion on "The Hire Purchase System as Applied to the Gramophone," remarked: "We have arrived at a decision on the question of the percentage basis that 10 per cent should be added to the cash price. It was the decision not only of the committee but of a general meeting of our members. It is subject to modification or alteration and so that we should not merely discuss the matter we have circulated certain questions which we want you to just put a simple answer 'Yes' or 'No' to in reply to each one. Now, we are dealing here with the hire purchase as applied to the gramophone, and the dealer says that the gramophone business is a little more risky than the piano business, as the gramophone is more easily removed and is more difficult to trace. In all these matters we are not opposing the manufacturers. This is always a friendly discussion and it is very unfortunate that a company happens to adopt methods that the trade is against. The question is, 'What is a fair rate of interest to charge?' You have the question to answer as to whether you are in agreement with the 10 per cent being added to the cash price or not. One company has introduced, as you all know, this new method of hire purchase business. We in our Association were extremely interested in this new method. We did not turn it down and we did not take any antagonistic view. Our committee got into communication with the company and asked them if they would kindly send the best exponent of that system to us. This was eighteen months or two years ago. The business was explained and the dealers who were present, I think there were somewhere about forty, on a vote at the end were unanimously agreed against that system. We are not out to fight against it. You know the difficulties. I am sure I need not go into details of it. A dealer feels that when you are talking percentages, when you are talking about adding so much in the pound on the outstanding balance you are putting the hire purchase business to the customer in the worst light. It is better to say as a dealer says, 'Add 5 per cent to the cash price,' but if you say '10 per cent on outstanding' balance it sounds a lot, but it is the same thing. The next question is whether it is wise to have a great deal of competition in this question advertised. For instance, suppose we got one firm saying, 'We do our business on the hire purchase system at 2½ per cent' and another firm at 5 per cent, another 6 per cent, and so on. Is it not better to keep on to the old method, so much cash down and so much per week? One other point—the question of deposit, as to whether the amount we add to the cash price should be taken into consideration in the question of the deposit. Supposing we were adding 10 per cent on the amount and the man was paying £5 down, should we deduct that £5 from the cash price before adding the 10 per cent? The consensus of opinion is that if the instalments were level it should not be taken into consideration, but if a reasonable deposit be paid down then it should be deducted. It is rather a difficult matter to lay a hard and fast rule upon. There is another question and that is the limit of time for payment. Do you think all machines supplied under £40 should be paid for in a period not longer than twelve months, and if a machine is at a higher price, say £60 to £80, for a longer period. There is also the question whether a deposit of 10 per cent is satisfactory."

W. Holmes said: "We have made a rule, with a few exceptions, that we have half the price down and 5 per cent added to the remaining half, payable within six or twelve months according to the value of the machine. We find it works very well indeed. Our losses have been cut down to almost nothing and it is a very simple way out of the difficulty."

The various members present discussed the question at length, a number of them being of the opinion that being forced to demand a fixed increase over the cash price would play into the hands of competitors. In fact, several merchants testified to their experience in that direction.

Brunswick Activity in England

If the opinion be correct—and it has been freely expressed by men who should know—that American recordings, particularly on the instrumental side, be superior to our best here, then without a doubt the proposed distribution of Brunswick records through a London center should meet with a hearty reception. I can personally testify to an appreciation of your Brunswick discs, having been privileged to hear an advance series recently received by Alfred Graham & Co., of Crofton Park, London, S. E., and Saville Row, W. I may not be far wrong in stating that this consignment evidently foreshadows a move towards the marketing here of this record which, I believe, has secured a deservedly high reputation in the States. It would, perhaps, be somewhat premature to go into details at this stage of the negotiations between the two firms, but, undoubtedly at an early date something of interest to the trade and the gramophone enthusiast will develop along definite lines. There are several matters of policy yet to be decided. The scale upon which distribution will be carried out is still under consideration, and it is not yet possible to indicate a definite policy in regard to prices and conditions of sale, etc. Whatever this aspect of the business may resolve itself into, the fact remains that at Messrs. Graham's West End salon, so centrally situated, anticipations point toward a substantial retail trade in Brunswick records from this branch alone. The wonderful "Algraphone" series of instruments made by this firm, of which in all there are 101 models at prices from 15 to 750 guineas, are the admiration of the gramophone world. To conform with this high-grade standard of production Mr. Graham has chosen the Brunswick record. In my judgment a very happy and appropriate combination, which coupled with the fine organization and enterprise of this British house should quickly exert a big influence to the good of and throughout the whole industry. More anon!

Wireless as It Affects the Music Industry

The subject was appropriately enough raised at the British music convention at Blackpool by E. Brinsmead Gough, who conducts a live retail business within the London area. Owing possibly to an overfull convention program, which curiously enough gave no mention of this new science, Mr. Gough unfortunately failed to get a proper hearing. That his remarks were taken up by many newspapers shows how lively is the general interest in what has been described as "the miracle in a little box." Thousands of these little miracle boxes are now being sold here so that the public may sit at home and "listen in" to concerts, news, or whatever is radiating around. We are at the dawn of a new era, and it is the far-seeing folk like Mr. Gough who are going to reap benefit by directing the wireless apparatus trade into the right channel. It is nobody's perquisite at the moment, but the gramophone dealer will need to wake up, and that quickly, if he would take advantage of the present opportunity. Who more fitted to develop this new business advantageously than the musical instrument dealer? Would you place it with the photographic dealer, the electrical apparatus shop—so restricted in number—the cycle dealer? No! By character, environment and intelligence, the musical shop undoubtedly represents the best retail channel through which wireless home apparatus should pass to the public. The music dealer once made a mistake in ignoring the gramophone when it first came along, with the result that much of the trade was for years lost to another branch of industry, i. e., the cycle shops. Success doesn't consist in never making mistakes, but in never making the same one twice. Let us remember that and get to grips now with this wireless musical broadcasting scheme.

The idea that wireless may supplant home music to some extent and reduce the demand for pianos, gramophones, etc., is not supported by Louis Sterling, president of the Federation of Music Industries, who in the course of an interview said: "In the march of science there has never been a great invention yet that had not been in the long run of incalculable benefit to the industry with which it was concerned. When gramophones were invented people said they would kill pianos; the cinema was fully expected to give the quietus to the legitimate stage; vaudeville was at first looked on as the death dance of musical comedy. None of these things had happened, and the new had in every case benefited the old. Appetite grew on what it fed upon, and the more good music the people got from broadcasting the more they would want from their own gramophones and pianos. But we in the music industry are very jealous that the broadcasting firms should give the best, there is no room for bad music."

One of the first gramophone firms to make a move in the direction of home wireless apparatus is Messrs. J. T. Hough, Ltd., of Edison Bell fame. In conjunction with Messrs. Elwell, Ltd., radio engineers, they have been working on some interesting mechanism which, the result of much experiment, is bound to claim universal attention at the appropriate time.

A combination wireless receiving set and gramophone amplifier is also under way by Messrs. Alfred Graham & Co., Crofton Park, London, S. E. Mr. Graham tells me that he has been working on it for some time. His extensive knowledge and experience of this branch of the trade is the outcome of many years' actual production of telephone and electrical apparatus, microscopes and such-like, of which Messrs. Graham were one of the chief sources of supply during the war. In Mr. Graham's opinion the development of the new wireless business here cannot be so rapid as in the States because of the many existing official restrictions, and of a somewhat involved situation regarding patents.

Horn, Hornless and Table-Grand GRAMOPHONES

FOR

EXPORT

Please State Your Requirements

REX GRAMOPHONE CO. 2 Elizabeth Place
Rivington Street, LONDON, E.C. 2, England
Cable Address "Lyrecodisc, London"

FROM OUR LONDON HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 142)

The Marconi Co. apparently holds the key to the situation. This firm, by the way, is doing a big business in wireless apparatus and, in fact, it is literally besieged with applications.

Most of the big London stores are handling the business and are meeting with great success.

H. M. the King of Siam Ass.sts Recording

Among the many interesting items in the Gramophone Co.'s "The Voice" is a reference to news from Bangkok that during a recent recording session the king granted exceptional facilities to the "H. M. V." recorder. Records were not only taken at the Royal Palace, but His Majesty instructed leading artists to place themselves at disposal and in one case specially commanded an artist to return from up-country for the purpose of recording. It is stated that the "His Master's Voice" expert was as much gratified as surprised at the unusual interest displayed by the King of Siam.

Invicta Record Co., Ltd., in Liquidation

A meeting of the creditors of the above company was held June 12, following upon an extraordinary general meeting, when a special resolution was passed that the firm be wound up voluntarily. A. C. Simmons, 1 New Inn Yard, London, E. C., the appointed liquidator, informs me that the interests of the two directors, Messrs. Barrand and Barton, have been purchased by the Aeolian Co., Ltd. Mr. Barrand has now retired from business altogether, and Mr. Barton proposes to establish a new business as a merchant. The Invicta Co. was well known as the maker of the "Guardman" record.

Annual Meeting of Gramophone Association

On June 28 was held the annual meeting of the Association of Gramophone and Musical Instrument Manufacturers and Wholesale Dealers, whereat was discussed the best method of disposal of unsalable records, having regard to the interests of manufacturer, jobber and dealers.

Business News of Interest

Though the actual figures of our imports and exports for April (the last available) show a decrease over those for March, allowing for the number of working days, the April totals are comparatively better. A slight but welcome indication of trade improvement.

The latest returns of the cost of living show a drop of 95 points since November, 1920, when the figure was 176 points above the pre-war level. The reduction is getting proportionally less each month, as expected, but there is a decrease each month and, however slight it may be, it's a good sign of more purchasing power. That's the point!

The great engineering strike is over, thanks be. Many thousands of men have returned to work. Also, after eleven weeks on strike 20,000 Mersey shipyard workers have resumed.

In March and April, owing to trade disputes resulting in lockouts and strikes, etc., it is estimated that no less than 9,000,000 working days were lost. No wonder there's little money for the purchase of gramophones!

We have still over 1,500,000 men and women unemployed. Others who are not registered and those on short time may number an additional half million. That trade is gradually on the mend is indicated by the fact that the decrease of unemployment is now something between 30,000 and 40,000 per week.

On the other hand reports from Germany show that not one person in a hundred is unemployed. Out of 6,000,000 workmen only 51,000 are known to be idle.

The London Fair and Market

The above exhibition at the Agricultural Hall, London, is for the most part of a trade character. Its life is short, July 3 to 14, but during this period a substantial amount of good business is registered. Among the exhibitors are several musical instrument firms, including A. J. Balcombe, Ltd., who are showing a range of small goods and gramophones, and the C. H. Roberts Manufacturing Co., whose wonderful portable, the "Bestone," is creating an unusual amount of interest this side. An unique selling feature is the three years' full guarantee given with each machine!

V. F. Record Wins Favor

The higher class gramophone trade has welcomed the Edison Bell "Velvet Face" records, which were introduced a few months ago. It just means that on quality alone the V. F. has won a well-justified position on the shelves of the big dealers throughout the country. Recent issues embrace some fine chamber music by the Royal Symphony Orchestra, Michael Zacharewitsch, the Philip Lewiss Palladium Octet, the Royal Military Band, etc. An unique contribution is by Guido Gialdini, described as the greatest exponent of the whistling art. On the vocal side are some really good records by the lady tenor, Miss Ruby Helder, Margaret Wray and Robert Carr.

Messrs J. E. Hough also announce some exclusive recordings on their popular "Winner" record. Interest will center on some Jewish selections by the Rev. Meyer Formin, Ober Cantor of the Glasgow Synagogue. As a contrast, the Blackpool Tower Orchestra has been laid under tribute for the recording of a series of fox-trots and waltzes—just the type most popular with almost every class of the community.

The "H. M. V." Easy Payment Scheme

At the Blackpool music convention, also at the Scottish gathering, gramophone dealers exhibited opposition to the above scheme. The principle never for a moment came under question, the scheme so far as it develops a new channel of trade proving welcome. What dealers condemn is the method by which the scheme is worked, i. e., the adding of interest on the capital balance remaining over each month. At the two conventions referred to, many dealers expressed the view that this method is too complicated, especially from the customer's point of view. The Gramophone Dealers' Association registered its opposition some time ago and sent a delegation to the company, so far, I believe, without result. Dealers require to handle the hire-purchase proposition, as they put it, on the straightforward basis of a definite extra percentage on the cash price, the whole payable in fixed monthly instalments over a given period.

The Gramophone Co. has circularized its dealers on the subject to (in part) the following effect:

"It is recognized that the old system of charging customers a heavy rate of interest has been the means of restricting trade, while our scheme is creating confidence and good feeling, which will cause sales to increase enormously. This is no mere theoretical statement, but is made as the result of practical experience.

"Announcements in the press, giving particulars of the scheme, have already been made by dealers, and we are considering the advisability of setting forth its advantages in those great newspapers in which our advertisements appear regularly, when all inquiries would be sent to those who have adopted our scheme.

"The easy payment system is the coming great sales force in the gramophone industry, and under our scheme the possibilities are unlimited."

German Reciprocity

An illuminating instance of German ideas on commercial reciprocity in the music trades has just come to light, says the Federation of British Music Industries. More than a year ago a leading gramophone maker wished to send three gramophones into Germany. He was informed that they could not be sent without an import license from the German Government and has been trying unsuccessfully for twelve months to obtain the required permission.

Another manufacturer sent experts to Germany to make records by native artists for distribution among the German population in the United States. The German Government refused permission for these records to leave the country. Representations were made through diplomatic channels, but the sole concession granted was that if the surfaces of the wax "master" records were scratched and defaced, then only would the goods be allowed to leave the country.

On the other hand, a German gramophone maker, who acquired the factory and plant of a British company in Germany during the war, has now issued catalogs identical with those of the former owners and is offering the records at ridiculously low prices. Many of the artists, being under exclusive contract with the British company, are receiving substantial royalties from that company. The German manufacturer pays no royalties and is offering the records throughout the world (United Kingdom excluded at present—Editor) at prices below the bare costs of manufacture in this country.

The German gramophone manufacturers have clearly succeeded in inducing their Government to keep out every outside competitor while they themselves ship their goods freely into this country and compete on unfair terms with the British manufacturers in foreign markets.

EDISON BELL

WINNER

GRAMOPHONE RECORDS

CABLE
"PHONOKINO,
LONDON"

ARE THE GREATEST VALUE FOR MONEY PRODUCED IN GREAT BRITAIN

TEN INCH DOUBLE SIDED NEEDLE CUT

PLAY ON ALL GRAMOPHONES

Catalogue contains 4000 Titles by the Premier Artistes, Instrumentalists, Orchestras and Bands of the British Empire

DEALERS PREPARED TO DO BUSINESS ARE INVITED TO COMMUNICATE WITH

Proprietors and Manufacturers, J. E. HOUGH, Ltd., 62 Glengall Road, London, S. E. 15, England

LATEST PATENTS RELATING TO TALKING MACHINES AND RECORDS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.—Gramophone Record Brush. John Priespilis, Brooklyn, N. Y. Patent No. 1,414,302.

This invention relates to brushes for cleaning phonograph record plates or the like, and has for its object to produce a brush adapted to keep the record grooves clear of dust and the tiny shavings produced by the needle while reproducing a record. A further object is to provide means for elastically mounting the brush in such manner that it will readily follow the needle and yield when meeting obstructions or uneven spots, and which allows a securing of the brush to tone arms of varying diameter.

Figure 1 is a side view of a record plate, sound box, needle and tone arm with the brush constructed according to the invention mounted thereon. Fig. 2 is an enlarged detail view partly in section taken along line 2—2 of Fig. 1. Fig. 3 is a top plan view of a guide strip.

Talking Machine Record and Method and Apparatus Therefor. Daniel Higham, East Orange, N. J. Patent No. 1,414,185.

This invention relates to recording of sound waves for a talking machine record, and its object is to so provide for this recording that the distortions ordinarily made in recording and reproducing sound waves can be correctly compensated for.

With present recording means and methods, the amplitude of the recorded sound wave is reduced in amount by the opposing action of the recorder diaphragm, and the lower the pitch, with relatively greater amplitude of the sound wave, the greater the ratio of this reduction of amplitude of the recorded sound waves will be, compared to the original sound waves.

Figure 1 is a side elevation, partly in section, of means for carrying the method of recording into effect. Fig. 2 is a view, partly in section, looking from the left to Fig. 1 with certain parts removed from the left of the dash line V. Fig. 3 shows a portion partly in section; Fig. 4 a part in another view. Fig. 5 is a diagram showing a different position of parts of Fig. 1; while Fig. 6 graphically shows the performance of the method of recording as distinguished from present recording, and the distinguishing performance of each when operating the present reproducer.

Phonograph. Henry Orsenigo, Mount Vernon, N. Y. Patent No. 1,414,151.

An object of the invention is to provide a phonograph with movable panel or closure member for the discharge opening of the phonograph and open to view for the purpose of enhancing the phonograph as an article of furniture when not in use as a phonograph and to provide means for mounting such panel or closure member to conceal such panel when removed. Such provision of means affords a suitable arangement whereby the motor of the phonograph is placed in operative connection automatically upon concealing such panel in its opening position and automatically effecting non-operative relation of the motor and the phonograph parts when the panel or closure member is in its viewed position.

Figure 1 is a perspective view of a phonograph embodying the invention, showing the panel in position when the phonograph is not in operation. Fig. 2 is a similar perspective view partially broken away to show hidden parts and showing the panel moved to its concealed position and the contact member of the motor circuit closed, in which relation the grill-work of the phonograph is shown to view. Fig. 3 is a detail sectional view on line 3—3 of Fig. 2; Fig. 4 in a detail sectional view on line 4—4 of Fig. 3. Fig. 5 is a detail perspective view of the panel; Fig. 6 is a detail perspective view similar to Fig. 3, showing a modification, and Fig. 7 shows a further modification.

Phonograph Cabinet. Joseph Janes, Somerville, Mass., assignor of one-half to G. Clay Cox, Rochester, N. Y. Patent No. 1,414,086.

This improvement consists of a phonograph cabinet of such character that it may be used as an ordinary library table for writing, holding book, a lamp, etc., thus combining in one the functions of the two articles of furniture, especially desirable in a small apartment. It comprises means for supporting the phonograph mechanism, starting, stopping it, etc., automatically in a way convenient for changing records.

Figure 1 is a perspective view of a table, the phonograph support or drawer being open to enable the record to be changed or the needle adjusted. Fig. 2 is a cross section on line 2—2 of Fig. 3. Fig. 3 is a partial horizontal section showing the parts as ordinarily arranged when out of use. Fig. 4 is a corresponding view, the drawer carrying the record table being open. Fig. 5 is a partial front elevation of the table when the drawers are closed and the phonograph out of use, and Figs. 6 and 7 are details.

Phonograph. Frank A. Lee, Cincinnati, O., and Frank G. Rose, Dayton, Ky., assignors to the John Church Co., Cincinnati, O. Patent No. 1,413,919.

This invention relates to megaphones for phonographs. The object is to so influence the sound waves produced by the phonograph that said waves are amplified, intensified, made richer in quality and clarified, so as to reproduce more nearly the actual quality of the sound waves imparted from the phonograph record to the phonograph diaphragm.

Figure 1 is a sectional perspective view of part of a phonograph in which the invention is embodied in its preferred form. Fig. 2 is a detail perspective view of the megaphone of a phonograph, together with a throat according to the invention, but modified from that shown in Fig. 1, the megaphone being shown in longitudinal section. Fig. 3 is a detail perspective view of the megaphone and throat shown in Fig. 1, but the view being from the rear. Fig. 4 is a similar view of part of the megaphone and another modified throat according to the invention. Fig. 5 is a rear elevation of the megaphone and throat shown in Figs. 1 and 3; and Fig. 6 is a side elevation of the same.

Sound Modulator for Phonographs. Nils Seaholm, Mount Vernon, N. Y. Patent No. 1,414,673.

This invention relates to a modulator or sound modifier for graphophones or phonographs and the like. It more particularly appertains to a device interposed between the stylus of a sound-reproducing machine and the sound box thereof by means of which the audibility of the acoustic waves may be regulated.

Figure 1 is a side elevation showing this improved device in operative position with respect to a sound box and a record of a phonograph of well-known type. Fig. 2 is an enlarged sectional elevation of the device alone, in a position conducive to the maximum softening of the sound. Fig. 3 is a top plan view of the device shown in the preceding figure. Fig. 4 is a view similar to Fig. 2, showing the device in a position corresponding to a minimum of tone suppression; and Fig. 5 is a rear elevation of the device in the position seen in the last-named view.

Graphophone. Leopoldo Roberto, Philadelphia, Pa. Patent No. 1,414,898.

This invention has particular reference to the tone arm sound box mounting of the talking machine or graphophone.

This invention has many objects, among the most important being the provision of a graphophone wherein the tone arm is freely detachable therefrom with the hinged cover of the graphophone box constituting a sounding board upon which the outlet end of the tone arm is supported.

Figure 1 is a side elevational view of a graphophone constructed in accordance with the present invention, a portion of the sectional tone arm and sound box being moved to inoperative position and illustrated by dotted lines. Fig. 2 is a top plan view of the same. Fig. 3 is a front elevational view of the tone arm with the hinged section thereof elevated to inoperative position. Fig. 4 is a horizontal sectional view taken on line 4—4 of Fig. 3, showing the rotatable connection between the tone arm and the supported bell end thereof. Fig. 5 is a cross-sectional view taken on line 5—5 of Fig. 1, showing the stylus arm of the sound box connected to the dia-

PATENTS RELATING TO TALKING MACHINES AND RECORDS—(Continued from page 144)

phragm. Fig. 6 is a front elevational view of the removable elbow of the tone arm for supporting the sound box. Fig. 7 is a side elevational view of the removable elbow of the tone arm. Fig. 8 is a fragmentary side elevational view of the inner end of the tone arm showing the hinge connection between the sections thereof, and Fig. 9 is a cross-sectional view showing the connecting means between the elbow section and the hinged end of the tone arm.

Sound-deadening Device for Phonograph Reproducers. Ernest F. Dahlheim and Walter S. Hulet, Minot, North Dakota. Patent No. 1,414,937.

This invention relates to new and useful improvements in sound-deadening or regulating devices for phonograph reproducers and has for its primary object the provision of a device of the above stated character which may be easily and quickly applied to an ordinary sound box and is provided with means for regulating the vibration of the vibratory transmitter bar so as to increase and decrease the sound and thereby obviate the employment of different types of styluses now used for such purpose.

Figure 1 is a side elevation of a sound-deadening or regulating device applied to a repro-

ducer and constructed in accordance with the invention. Fig. 2 is a rear elevation illustrating the same and removed from a reproducer. Fig. 3 is a sectional view illustrating the device applied to a reproducer. Fig. 4 is a detail sectional view illustrating means for urging the clamping members into engagement with the vibratory transmitter bar. Fig. 5 is a detail sectional view illustrating an adjustment for the clamping arms or members. Fig. 6 is an edge view, illustrating a modified form of the invention.

Repeating Attachment for Talking Machines. Everett G. Clements, Washington, D. C. Patent No. 1,414,980.

This invention relates to repeating attachments for "talking machines," and has for its object to provide means whereby such machines can be started into operation with a single record and will repeat the reproducing of the matter on the record continuously without requiring the attention of an operator. It further relates to means whereby the repeating apparatus may be adjusted to automatically return the needle from the point where it has completed the traversing of the record to the point of beginning, to accommodate records of various lengths or diameters. The object of said invention is to produce such a mechanism which will not only be automatic in its action, but will be simple and inexpensive in construction and positive and reliable in its operation.

Figure 1 is a top plan view of the rotary record bearing table, such as commonly employed on a machine of the type described, with a record disc thereon, and also illustrating the attachment as it appears in position for use. Fig. 2 a transverse section on the dotted line 2—2 in Fig. 1. Fig. 3 a detail plan view on an enlarged scale (practically full size) to illustrate more clearly the adjusting features of the invention, and Fig. 4 an edge view of the attachment.

Phonograph Reproducer. George B. Burch, New York, assignor to Leslie Stevens, Glen Ridge, N. J. Patent No. 1,414,803.

The invention relates to phonograph reproducers, and more particularly to improvements in means for vibrating the sound-reproducing diaphragm, and the invention aims to provide such means which shall be simple in construction, durable and highly efficient in transmitting vibrations from the record to the diaphragm so that a very perfect reproduction of the recorded sounds may be secured.

Figure 1 is a sectional view of a phonograph having a reproducer embodying the invention.

Fig. 2 is an enlarged sectional view of a portion of the diaphragm, stylus holder, transmission rod and connected parts. Fig. 3 is a sectional view, taken on the line 3—3 of Fig. 2, looking in the direction of the arrows. Fig. 4 is a plan view of a disc, which supports one end of the transmission rod.

Phonograph. George B. Burch, New York, assignor to Leslie Stevens, Glen Ridge, N. J. Patent No. 1,414,804.

The object of this invention is to provide a phonographic apparatus which requires no amplifying horn and which is efficient in operation and accurately reproduces all sounds recorded in the record and yet is simple in construction and efficient in operation.

Figure 1 is a sectional view of the instrument. Fig. 2 is a sectional view showing the stylus holder, transmission rod and connected parts. Fig. 3 is a sectional view taken on the line 3—3 of Fig. 2, looking in the direction of the arrows. Fig. 4 is a sectional view showing the lower part of the structure shown in Fig. 2, the section being taken at right angles to that of Fig. 2. Fig. 5 is a sectional view showing a portion of the diaphragm and a portion of the rim on which it is mounted. Fig. 6 shows a portion of the edge of the diaphragm. Fig. 7 is a sectional view showing a slightly modified construction in and about the stylus holder.

Reproducer. Martin Jones, Philadelphia, Pa., assignor of one-half to Joseph S. MacLaughlin, same place. Patent No. 1,415,361.

One object of this invention is to provide a sound box or reproducer for talking machines which shall be capable of so affecting the sound waves as to produce the required volume of sound without being as heavy as is at present the practice. By reason of the resulting lightening of the reproducer structure there is a reduction of the pressure upon the record and a consequent increase in the life of the latter.

The invention also contemplates a novel arrangement and form of intermediate diaphragm whereby the above noted desirable results are obtained and also a construction whereby vibration of the body of the box is prevented or damped, as are also certain objectionable metallic noises commonly produced when records of a certain class are played.

Figure 1 is a plan of a sound box or reproducer constructed according to the invention. Fig. 2 is a vertical section on the line 2—2, Fig. 1; and Fig. 3 is a plan of the auxiliary diaphragm forming part of the invention.

Diaphragm Attachment. Joseph E. Jones, Waltham, Mass. Patent No. 1,415,360.

This invention relates to diaphragm attachments, especially designed for use in connection with such diaphragm construction as used upon the Edison phonograph.

Another object of this invention is the production of a very simple and efficient means for attaching the cord to the diaphragm in such a manner as to permit the cord to be released from the diaphragm when so desired and replaced should occasion arise.

Figure 1 is a top plan view of the diaphragm. Fig. 2 is a bottom plan view thereof. Fig. 3 is a central transverse sectional view through the diaphragm. Figure 4 is a top plan view of a modified form of the diaphragm which will be known as the friction cone construction. Fig. 5 is a bottom plan view of the diaphragm attachment shown in Fig. 4, and Fig. 6 is a central transverse sectional view through the diaphragm.

Lederer Feibelman, Inc., of Terre Haute, Ind., is planning to add a music department to its department store in that city.

REPAIRS

All Makes of Talking Machines
Repaired Promptly and Efficiently

REPAIR PARTS FOR ALL MACHINES

ANDREW H. DODIN
26 Sixth Avenue New York
TELEPHONE, SPRING 1194

Advance RECORD BULLETINS for August, 1922

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE CO.

Table listing Columbia Graphophone records including Symphony Records (e.g., Blue Danube Waltz, Would God I Were the Tender Apple Blossom) and Popular Songs (e.g., Kinky-Koo, Kinky-Koo, I Love Her, She Loves Me).

VICTOR TALKING MACHINE CO.

Table listing Victor Talking Machine records including Popular Songs (e.g., Stumbling, Coo-Coo), Dance Records (e.g., Lonesome Mama, Moon River), and Vocal and Instrumental Records (e.g., Violets, Giannina Mia).

RED SEAL RECORDS

Table listing Red Seal Records including Lucrezia Bori, Emilio de Gogorza, Mischa Elman, Flonzaley Quartet, and others.

EDISON DISC RE-CREATIONS

Table listing Edison Disc Re-creations including Spagoni's Wedding Jubilee, Polonaise Militaire, My Melancholy Baby, and others.

Table listing records including Duke Rogers, Criterion Quartet, The Homestead Trio, and others.

BRUNSWICK RECORDS

Table listing Brunswick Records including Mamma Mia Che Vo Sape, A Vuchella (A Little Posy), and others.

AEOLIAN CO.

Table listing Aeolian records including Coo-Coo (Al Jolson-Bud DeSylva), Romany Love, Deedle-Deedle Dum, and others.

EDISON BLUE AMBEROL RECORDS

Table listing Edison Blue Amberol records including Pick Me Up and Lay Me Down in Dear Old Dixieland, The Laughing Girl Has Her Picture Took, and others.

ADVANCE RECORD BULLETINS FOR AUGUST—(Continued from page 147)

- Whenever You're Lonesome—Duet—Orch. Acc., Thomas-West
- 1079 Smilin' Through—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Sam Ash
Annie Laurie—Contralto Solo—Orch. Acc., Nevada Van der Veer
- 1080 O'Reilly, I'm Ashamed of You—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Billy Clarke
Oogie Oogie Wa Wa—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Bert Trever
- 1061 Pick Me Up and Lay Me Down in Dear Old Dixieland—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Bob White
California—Quartet—Orch. Acc., Stellar Male Quartet
- 1084 Little Red Schoolhouse—Duet—Orch. Acc., Thomas-West
I Wish There Was a Wireless to Heaven—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Sam Ash
- COMEDY RECORD
- 2045 Cohen Listens to the Radio—Comic Monolog, Monroe Silver
Cohen at the Movies—Comic Monolog, Monroe Silver
- VIOLIN RECORDS
- 2046 Souvenir (Drdle)—Violin Solo—Piano Acc., Margaret Lorenzo
Valse Bluette (Drigo)—Violin Solo—Piano Acc., Margaret Lorenzo
- 2047 Viennese Popular Song—Violin Solo—Piano Acc., Margaret Lorenzo Little Song (Deuxieme Cansonette) (A. d'Ambrosio)—Violin Solo—Piano Acc., Margaret Lorenzo
- HAWAIIAN RECORD
- 2048 My Old Kentucky Home—Medley Hawaiian Guitars, Ferera-Franchini
Sweet Hawaiian Girl of Mine—Hawaiian Guitars, Ferera-Franchini
- PIANO SOLO
- 2049 Kitten on the Keys—Piano Solo, Vi Palmer
Poor Buttermilk—Piano Solo, Vi Palmer

REGAL RECORDS

- DANCE RECORDS
- 9320 South Sea Moon (Follies 1922)—Fox-trot, Glantz and His Orchestra
(J'En Ai Marre) (It's Up to You)—Fox-trot, Glantz and His Orchestra
- 9321 Lovable Eyes—Fox-trot, Eddie Davis Orchestra
El Calendario Del Ano—Fox-trot, Majestic Dance Orchestra
- 9322 Nobody Lied—Fox-trot, Stellar Saxophone Sextet
Gee, but I Hate to Go Home Alone—Fox-trot, Stellar Saxophone Sextet Vocal Chorus, Arthur Hall
- 9323 Sweet Indiana Home—Fox-trot, Hollywood Dance Orchestra
Coo-Coo—Fox-trot, Hollywood Dance Orchestra
- 9324 Do It Again—Fox-trot, Regal Dance Orchestra
Cavalleria Rusticana—Fox-trot, Regal Dance Orchestra
- 9325 Deedle, Deedle, Dum—Fox-trot, Original Memphis Five
- POPULAR VOCAL RECORDS
- 9326 Why Should I Cry Over You?—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Arthur Hall
I Wish There Was a Wireless to Heaven—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Sam Ash
- 9327 Little Red Schoolhouse—Duet—Orch. Acc., Thomas-West
Whenever You're Lonesome—Duet—Orch. Acc., Thomas-West
- 9329 Smilin' Through—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Walter Scanlan
I Hear You Calling Me—Tenor Solo—Orch. Acc., Walter Scanlan
- COMEDY RECORD
- 9328 Cohen Listens to the Radio—Comic Monolog, Monroe Silver
Cohen at the Movies—Comic Monolog, Monroe Silver
- STANDARD RECORDS
- 9330 Irish Medley Waltz—Part 1, Regal Dance Orchestra
Irish Medley Waltz—Part 2, Regal Dance Orchestra
- 9331 Dreamy Hawaii—Hawaiian Guitars, Ferera-Franchini

- Hawaiian Twilight (Hawaiian Guitars), Ferera-Franchini
- 9332 The Mocking Bird—Whistling Solo, Margaret McKee
The Song Bird—Whistling Solo, Margaret McKee
- 9333 Medley of Country Reels—Violin Solo, Michael Donovan Medley of Country Jigs—Violin Solo, Michael Donovan
- VIOLIN SOLOS
- 9334 By the Brook, Margaret Lorenzo
Swing Song, Margaret Lorenzo
- 9335 Meditation From Thais, Milan Lusk
Humoresque, Milan Lusk

BLACK SWAN RECORDS

- POPULAR SONGS
- 14115 Ain't Got Nothing Blues—Soprano, Mary Straine
Fowler Twist, John P. Vigal
(Bobbie Lee and His Imperial Six)
- 14116 Honey Rose, Mamie Jones
Mandy 'n' Me, Mamie Jones
- COMIC MONOLOG
- 40002 The Dog, the Flea and the Bumble Bee, Archie Harrod
When Malindy Sings (Dunbar), Archie Harrod
- DANCE RECORDS
- 10068 Zowie—Fox-trot, Fred Smith's Society Orchestra
Arabia—Fox-trot, Fred Smith's Society Orchestra
- 10069 The Last Waltz, Henderson's Dance Orchestra
Jane—Fox-trot, Henderson's Dance Orchestra
- 10070 Spread Yo' Stuff—Fox-trot, Ethel Waters Jazz Masters
Snuggle—Fox-trot, Ethel Waters Jazz Masters
- INSTRUMENTAL
- 60002 Southern Dixie Medley—Banjo, Joe Briggs
Yankee Jigs—Real Old Southern Fiddler, Tony Gray
- HAWAIIAN RECORDS
- 25002 Dreamy Alabama, Kaluana & Brown
Drifting, Kaluana & Brown
- STANDARD VOCAL
- 18047 Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline—Tenor, Harry A. Delmore
A Dream—Tenor, Harry A. Delmore
- SACRED RECORDS
- 16057 Hallelu, Harrod's Jubilee Singers
Live Humble, Harrod's Jubilee Singers

CORSON OPENS FINE STORE

Music Merchant of Dalles, Ore., Handles Complete Line of Musical Instruments

DALLES, ORE., July 3.—One of the most attractive music stores in this section of the State is that of G. E. Corson, who recently opened a general music store in this city under the firm name of "Corson the Music Man." Mr. Corson is a firm believer in aggressive merchandising methods and the handling of the musical requirements of the people of his community with the aid of a representative stock. Among the instruments handled by him are pianos, player-pianos, stringed instruments of all kinds, sheet music and Brunswick phonographs and records.

A model example of unadulterated asininity is the fellow who sits in his store weeping salty tears because business is going to the dogs.

TRADE PROGRESS DURING 1922

Distinct Advances in Business Noted During First Half of Year, Says Dun's Review

The half-year just ended brought a distinct advance in business, with most of the gain in confidence and actual transactions achieved during the second quarter, says Dun's review of business conditions. Unsettled labor conditions in some industries have long been a detriment, curtailing operations and enhancing costs of production, and the railroad strike has greatly increased this uncertainty. Despite various drawbacks, however, recovery from previous depression has been substantial, if highly irregular, and many interests will be more active this Summer than was anticipated.

Interruptions from inventories and vacations will be experienced as usual, but there is clearly more work to be done this year and shutdowns will be less general and extended. A new and rather unexpected phase has arisen with the more frequent reports of labor scarcity in certain lines, the steel industry among them, and competitive bidding for workers is heard of in isolated instances. While there is still considerable idleness in different quarters more opportunity for employment is now afforded, and the public purchasing capacity would be measurably augmented if strikes were not present at coal mines and elsewhere. Such disputes invariably retard progress, though they may not wholly check it, and their effect on primary market prices is plainly visible in the existing situation.

MUSICAL MUSEUM CHARTERED

A provisional charter has been granted to the American Museum of Musical Art by the regents of the University of the State of New York. The museum will be located in Brooklyn, N. Y. The aims of the organization are to diffuse knowledge of the history and production of music; to preserve objects of interest relating to music and to maintain a building suitable for the service of the institution.

The Cammack Co., dealer in musical instruments, of St. Claire, Ill., has purchased a building in that village which it will occupy.

You Ought to Know

In case you are contemplating expanding the sphere of your business to include departments devoted to Pianos, Player-Pianos, Musical Merchandise or Sheet Music, that you'll find news and comments about them all in

ESTABLISHED 1876

The oldest and leading music trade weekly, which covers every branch of the industry

It Contains

Instructive and educational articles. Hints on salesmanship and advertising. Editorials that are timely and authoritative. Facts about the new things in the trade. Trade happenings in all parts of the United States

"Review the Music Trade With Us"

Send your $2 now for a full year's subscription to

THE MUSIC TRADE REVIEW
373 FOURTH AVENUE NEW YORK

Some Leading Jobbers of Talking Machines in America

TEST IT.

OUR VICTOR

Record Service

has a reputation for efficiency.
Suppose you try it.

E. F. DROOP & SONS CO.
1300 G. STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C.
231 N. HOWARD STREET, BALTIMORE, MD

W. J. DYER & BRO.
DYER B'LD'G, ST. PAUL, MINN.
NORTHWESTERN DISTRIBUTORS
OF THE

 VICTOR
Machines, Records and Supplies

Shipped Promptly to all
Points in the Northwest

Mickel Bros. Co.

Omaha, Nebraska
Des Moines, Iowa

Victor Distributors

Where Dealers May Secure

COLUMBIA

Product

Ready, Full Stocks, and Prompt Deliveries
from Convenient Shipping Centers
all over the United States.

Distributors

Atlanta, Ga., Columbia Graphophone Co., 561-563 Whitehall St.
Baltimore, Md., Columbia Graphophone Co., 16 South Howard St.
Boston, Columbia Graphophone Co., 1000 Washington St.
Buffalo, N. Y., Columbia Graphophone Co., 737 Main St.
Chicago, Ill., Columbia Graphophone Co., 325 W. Jackson Blvd.
Cincinnati, O., Columbia Graphophone Co., 317-321 East 8th Street.
Cleveland, O., Columbia Graphophone Co., 1812 East 30th St.
Dallas, Tex., Columbia Graphophone Co., 318 North Preston St.
Denver, Colo., Columbia Stores Co., 1608 Glenarm Ave.
Detroit, Mich., Columbia Graphophone Co., 115 State St.
Kansas City, Mo., Columbia Graphophone Co., 2006 Wyandotte St.
Los Angeles, Cal., Columbia Graphophone Co., 809 S. Los Angeles St.
Minneapolis, Minn., Columbia Graphophone Co., 18 N. 3rd St.
New Orleans, La., Columbia Graphophone Co., 517-525 Canal St.
New York City, Columbia Graphophone Co., 121 West 20th St.
Omaha, Neb., Columbia Graphophone Co., Eighth and Jackson Sts.
Philadelphia, Pa., Columbia Graphophone Co., 40 N. 8th St.
Pittsburgh, Columbia Graphophone Co., 632-640 Duquesne Way.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Columbia Stores Co., 221 South West Temple.
San Francisco, Cal., Columbia Graphophone Co., 345 Bryant St.
Seattle, Wash., Columbia Graphophone Co., 911 Western Ave.
Spokane, Wash., Columbia Stores Co., 161 South Post St.
St. Louis, Mo., Columbia Graphophone Co., 1127 Pine St.
Tampa, Fla., Tampa Hardware Co.

Headquarters for Canada:
Toronto, Ont., Columbia Graphophone Co., 347 West Adelaide St.
Montreal, Que., Columbia Graphophone Co., 824 St. Denis St.

Executive Office
COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE CO.
Gotham National Bank Building New York

Sherman, May & Co.

San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Spokane
PACIFIC COAST DISTRIBUTORS OF VICTOR PRODUCTS

SOUTHERN
VICTOR WHOLESALERS
The Corley Company
RICHMOND VIRGINIA

The
Toledo Talking Machine Co.
Toledo, Ohio

Wholesale Victor
Exclusively

CONSTRUCTIVE ARTICLES IN THIS ISSUE OF THE WORLD

Ready Reference for Salesmen, Dealers and Department Heads

How a Live Saleswoman Created and Developed Talking Machine Business in Her Territory	4	Germans Making Inroads Into Foreign Markets	40
Records of Religious Numbers and Old-Time Ballads Have Big Sales Vogue	6	A Striking Summer Display Window	45
Value of Individualism in Advertising Unusual Efforts Bring Business Results	8	Six Essentials in the Success of the Retail Store	49
Prospects for the Future Are Decidedly Brighter	8	Cost of Sales Decline Studied and Explained	50
Helping Dealers to Elucidate Their Problems	9	Buyers of Records Cannot Play Them for Profit	51
Arranging Window Displays to Attract the Summer Buyer	9	Aeolian Co.'s Annual Outing and Ball Game	53
The Talking Machine as an Educator	9	Propose Federal Control of Trade Associations	60
The Importance of Manners and Their Relation to Effective Sales Work	10	Denver Edison Dealers Form Association	62
Some Window Display Ideas That Should Greatly Increase Record Trade	12	Discussion of Radio Problems	66
A Trend Toward Co-operative Advertising in Evidence Throughout the Country	13	Review of Trade Conditions in New England Territory	67-70
An Appealing Store Atmosphere Is Necessary for Business Development on a Sound Basis	15	Why Tax on Knowledge Should Be Removed	70
Records of Tribal Singers for Smithsonian Institute	18	Featuring the Musical Possibilities of the Talking Machine	74-75
A Thorough Knowledge of Operating Costs Essential to Business Success	21-22	Trade Happenings in the Quaker City and Pennsylvania	83-84
Determining Realized and Unrealized Profits on Instalment Sales	24-26	Talking Machine Troubles and How to Remedy Them	88
Four-minute Conferences on Business Topics	27	Interesting Budget of News From the Dominion of Canada	91
Letter of a Veteran Salesman to a Friend	29	Mid-West Point of View and General Western Trade News	94-105
Edward Fraser Carson's Monthly Talk	32	"Chick" Evans' Golf Secrets Revealed Through Records	104
Talking Machine Exhibits at Grand Rapids Furniture Show	33	National Radio Show in Chicago a Great Success	104
Phonographic Epigrammatics	37	Gleanings From the World of Music	115-117
It Is the Wide Appeal That Builds Business	37	The Talking Machine Situation in Europe	141-143
		Late Patents of Interest to the Talking Machine Trade	144-145
		Advance List of August Bulletins of Talking Machine Records	146-148

R C T A C O F H I K L N P Q S U A X V B D E G I J L N P Q S U V X Z V C E F H J K W O P R T A C E M O N
INDEX TO ADVERTISERS
 R P O M K V H F E C V B C E F H J K W O P R T U N Y L B D E G I J M J O Q S T V W X Y A B A D

A

Acme Die Casting Corp. 70
 American Felt Co. 45
 American Mica Works. 72
 American Talking Machine Co. 80
 Apex Recording Laboratories. 135
 Atlantic Instrument Co. 50

B

Barnhart Bros. & Spindler. Inside back cover
 Bell Hood Needle Co. 39
 Bell Recording Co. 124
 Blackman Talking Machine Co. 20
 Blood Tone Arm Co. 105
 Boston Book Co. 18
 Brand, William 70
 Bridgeport Die & Machine Co. 111
 Brilliantone Steel Needle Co. 28
 Bruno & Son, Inc., C. 71
 Bruns & Sons, A. 26
 Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. Insert following page 18
 Buegeleisen & Jacobson. 108

C

Cabinet & Accessories Co. 73, 120
 Capitol Phonolier Corp. 131
 Cheney Talking Machine Co. 58
 Chicago Talking Machine Co. 93
 Claremont Waste Mfg. Co. 110
 Classified Want Ads. 139, 140
 Columbia Graphophone Co. 16, 17, 34, 39, 42, 45, 50, 57, 78, 90, 106, 129, 134, 137
 Consolidated Talking Machine Co. 52, 102
 Corley Co. 149

D

De Forest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. 125
 Diamond Products Co. 61
 Diaphragm Co. 72
 Ditson & Co., Chas. H. 67
 Ditson Co., Oliver 67
 Doctorow, D. R. 48
 Dodge Mfg. Co. 63
 Dodin, Andrew H. 145
 Droop & Sons Co., E. F. 149
 Duo-Tone Co. 32
 Dyer & Co., W. J. 149

E

Eagle Radio Co. 88
 Eastern Talking Machine Co. 69
 Eclipse Musical Co. 132
 Edison, Inc., Thos. A. 30, 31, Back cover
 Eight Famous Victor Artists. 42
 Emerson Phono Co. 133
 Empire Phono. Parts Co. 12
 Eshborn, Samuel 55

F

Feist, Leo 51, 55, 86, 92, 114, 116, 120, 126, 136
 Fletcher-Wickes Co. 23
 Flexlume Sign Co. 56
 Fox Puh. Co., Sam. 116
 Fulton T. M. Co. 122

G

General Phonograph Corp. Insert following page 34
 General Phonograph Mfg. Co. 24
 General Radio Corp. 127
 Gihson-Snow Co. 47
 Gramophone Co., Ltd. 141
 Granby Phono. Corp. 22
 Greater City Phono. Co. 13
 Gretsch Mfg. Co., Fred. 86
 Griffith Piano Co. 47

H

Hall Mfg. Co. 66
 Harper & Bros. 74
 Harponola Co. 19
 Health Builders 89

Hessig-Ellis Drug Co. 47
 Hough, J. E., Ltd. 143
 Hough, L. W. 68

I

Ilsley, Doubleday & Co. 82
 Iroquois Sales Co. 40
 Italian Book Co. 33

J

Jenkins' Sons Co., J. W. 115
 Jewel Phonoparts Co. 62, 95
 Jewett Phono. Co. 41

K

Kent Co., F. C. 73
 Kiefer-Stewart Co. 47
 Kimball Co., W. W. 105
 Knickerbocker T. M. Co. 10
 Kraft, Bates & Spencer, Inc. 68

L

Lakeside Supply Co. 104
 Lansing Sales Co. 70
 Lauter Co., H. 78
 Lee-Coit-Andreesen Hdw. Co. 47
 Lidseen Products 57
 Long Cabinet Co., Geo. A. 76
 Long Island Phono. Co. 80
 Lyradion Sales & Engg. Co. 63

M

Madison Music Co. 59
 Magic Phono. Supply Co. 81
 Magnavox Co. 38
 Magnola T. M. Co. 97
 Manhattan Recording Laboratories. 57
 Manufacturers' Phono. Co. 79
 Marshall Co., Inc., C. L. 47
 McMenimen, H. N. 49
 Mellor Co., C. C. 50
 Melody National Sales Co. 103
 Mermod & Co. 87
 Mickel Bros. Co. 112
 Minneapolis Drug Co. 47
 Mittenthal, Inc., Jos. 117, 129, 134
 Modernola Co. 60
 Montagnes, I., & Co. 47
 Moore-Bird & Co. 47
 M. S. & E. 47
 Mutual Phono. Parts Co. 35

N

National Deca'omania Co. 84
 National Metals Depositing Corp. 124
 National Publishing Co. 18
 Netschert, Frank 88
 New England Talking Machine Co. 69
 New York Album & Card Co. 4
 New York Talking Machine Co. 93
 Nye & Co., Wm. F. 35

O

Ogden Sectional Cabinet Co., Inc. 21
 Ormes, Inc. 9
 Oro-Tone Co. 103
 Orsenigo Co. 109
 Osland, Inc. 129
 Outing T. M. Co. 119

P

Pace Phono. Co. 117
 Pathé Frères Phono. Co. 14
 Peahody & Co., Henry W. 118
 Pearsall Co., Silas E. 15
 Peckham Mfg. Co. 45
 Peerless Album Co. 11
 Penn Phonograph Co. 83
 Perfection Talking Machine Co. 137
 Phillips Phono. Parts Co., Wm. 48
 Phon-O-Game Co. 44
 Phonomotor Co. 64

Phonotone Co. 84
 Plaza Music Co. 27, 82
 Pleasing Sound Phono. Co. 108
 Plywood Corp. 33
 Prima Radio Co. 113

Q

Qualitiephone Sales Co. 126

R

Raymond Engg. Co. 92
 Regal Record Co. 49
 Rene Manufacturing Co. 91
 Repeat-A-Record Co. 75
 Rex Gramophone Co. 142

S

Seaburg Mfg. Co. 37
 Self-Lifting Piano Truck Co. 51
 Shelton Elec. Co. 90
 Sherburne Mfg. Co. 40
 Sherman, Clay & Co. 6
 Silent Motor Corp. 130
 Simplex Elec. Phono. Motor Co. 36
 Smith Drug Co., C. D. 47
 Sonora Distr. Co. of Texas. 47
 Sonora Co. of Philadelphia 47
 Sonora Phonograph Co., Inc. Inside front cover, 46, 47, 87
 Sonora Phonograph Co. of Pittsburgh. 47
 Southern Drug Co. 47
 Southern Sonora Co. 47
 Southwestern Drug Co. 47
 Sphinx Gramophone Motors 43
 Sprague Radio Corp. 123
 Starr Piano Co. 54
 Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co. 65
 Sterling Devices Co. 101
 Sterno Manufacturing Co. 128
 Strevell-Paterson Hardware Co. 47
 Swanson Sales Co. 25

T

Talking Machine Supply Co. 139
 Talking Machine World Trade Directory. 85
 Templar Mfg. Co. 98
 Toledo Talking Machine Co. 149

U

Udell Works 53
 Unit Construction Co. 107
 United Mfg. & Distr. Co. 96
 United Music Stores 84
 Universal Fixtures Co. 122
 Unyversal Utylyty Unyts Co. 98

V

Val's Accessory House 55
 Van Houten, C. J., & Zoon. 47
 Van Veen & Co. 110
 Vicsonia Mfg. Co. 114
 Victor Talking Machine Co. Front cover, 5, 7

W

Walbert Mfg. Co. 99
 Wall Kane Mfg. Co. 29
 Walthall Music Co. 47
 Weymann & Son, H. A. 84
 Whitsit Co., Perry B. 78
 Widdicomb Furniture Co. 121
 Williams Co., G. T. 81
 Wimpfheimer & Bro., A. 34
 Wolf Mfg. Industries. 100

Y

Yahr & Lange Drug Co. 47

Z

Zimmerman-Bitter Constr. Co. 77

The NEW Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer

A new external shape of grace and beauty—without changing the internal design:

That same angle turn with the solid inclined plane deflecting the sound waves straight downward into amplifying chamber. That same famous Scotford tone—the tone of refinement—genuinely musical. Now in a tonearm of accepted, conventional, popular design. WRITE FOR SAMPLES.

STYLE NO. 1 FINISH
A combination of Nickel or Gold Plate and Black Rubber Japan

STYLE NO. 2 FINISH
A different combination of Nickel or Gold Plate and Black Rubber Japan

STYLE NO. 3 FINISH
All parts Plated in Nickel or Gold

NEW CONSTRUCTION

The long straight tube is of drawn Yellow Brass. Tonearm Base, Main Elbow and Connection Elbow and the Reproducer Frame, Face Ring and Back Plate are cast of TENSO White Brass Alloy—an alloy more than double the tensile strength of cast iron—much stronger, harder and lighter in weight than ordinary white metal alloys. New dies have been produced for casting all parts. The new parts are solidly cast, and are very substantial and durable.

In ordering specify whether Reproducer should have Plain Gilt Plate or "Superior" Name Plate. To obtain Individual Name Plate, customer must furnish Decalcomania Transfer

Samples Will be Submitted on Approval

Style 1 Tonearm long tube and main elbow, Reproducer face ring and back Black Japanned; other parts Plated.
Style 2 Tonearm long tube and main elbow Plated, base Black Japanned; Reproducer back Black Japanned, the face ring and frame Plated.
Style 3 All parts of Tonearm and Reproducer are Plated.

No. 1 New Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer . Nickel $7.00 Gold $ 9.00
No. 2 New Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer . Nickel 7.75 Gold 10.00
No. 3 New Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer . Nickel 8.50 Gold 11.00

Samples Prepaid at the Above Prices

*Write for Our
Specification Sheet and Quantity Price List*

BARNHART BROTHERS & SPINDLER

Monroe and Throop Streets

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

NO PHONOGRAPH, even though it be Mr. Edison's latest achievement, can be quite complete, just as no rare gem can be quite perfect until a setting is produced that is worthy of it.

The settings of four New Edison Consoles in period designs are displayed on pages 30, 31.

THOMAS A. EDISON, Inc.
ORANGE, NEW JERSEY

JOBBER OF THE NEW EDISON, EDISON RE-CREATIONS, THE NEW EDISON DIAMOND AMBEROLA AND BLUE AMBEROL RECORDS

CALIFORNIA
Los Angeles—Edison Phonographs, Ltd.
San Francisco—Edison Phonographs, Ltd.

COLORADO
Denver—Denver Dry Goods Co.

GEORGIA
Atlanta—Phonographs Inc.

ILLINOIS
Chicago—The Phonograph Co.
Wm. H. Lyons (Amberola only).

INDIANA
Indianapolis—Kipp Phonograph Co.

IOWA
Des Moines—Harger & Blish.

LOUISIANA
New Orleans—Diamond Music Co., Inc.

MASSACHUSETTS
Boston—Pardee-Ellenberger Co.
Iver Johnson Sporting Goods Co. (Amberola only).

MICHIGAN
Detroit—Phonograph Co. of Detroit

MINNESOTA
Minneapolis—Laurence H. Lucker

MISSOURI
Kansas City—The Phonograph Co. of Kansas City.
St. Louis—Silverstone Music Co.

MONTANA
Helena—Montana Phonograph Co.

NEBRASKA
Omaha—Shultz Bros.

NEW JERSEY
Orange—The Phonograph Corp. of Manhattan.

NEW YORK
Albany—American Phonograph Co.
Syracuse—Frank E. Bolway & Son, Inc., W. D. Andrews Co. (Amberola only).

OHIO
Cincinnati—The Phonograph Co.
Cleveland—The Phonograph Co.

OREGON
Portland—Edison Phonographs, Ltd.

PENNSYLVANIA
Philadelphia—Girard Phonograph Co.
Pittsburgh—Buehn Phonograph Co.
Williamsport—W. A. Myers.

RHODE ISLAND
Providence—J. A. Foster Co. (Amberola only).

TEXAS
Dallas—Texas-Oklahoma Phonograph Co.

UTAH
Ogden—Proudfit Sporting Goods Co.

VIRGINIA
Richmond—The C. B. Haynes Co., Inc.

WISCONSIN
Milwaukee—The Phonograph Co. of Milwaukee.

CANADA
Montreal—R. S. Williams & Sons Co., Ltd.
St. John—W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd.
Toronto—R. S. Williams & Sons Co., Ltd.
Vancouver—Kent Piano Co., Ltd.
Winnipeg—R. S. Williams & Sons Co., Ltd.
Bahson Bros. (Amberola only).

The TALKING MACHINE WORLD

For the makers & sellers of talking machines

Published Each Month by Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., at 373 Fourth Ave., New York, August 15, 1922

The best-known trademark in the world designating the products of the Victor Talking Machine Co.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World

Sonora Makes Sales Where Others Fail

HEPPLEWHITE
PEMBROOK
$165

BABY GRAND
$200

Thousands of sales are lost by dealers who do not carry the Sonora. The prospects who say "they are not ready to buy", the purchaser who says she "will look around a bit further"—how large a percentage of these people could be turned into buyers if you offered them Sonora's exceptional tone and splendid values.

The Sonora has always been built to sell and stay sold. No possible advantage has been neglected. The new Sonoras have carried tone perfection beyond former dreams of possibility. The cabinets are soundly constructed and alluring in appearance. The exclusive features cannot be duplicated or equaled.

That Sonora makes sales where others fail is demonstrated regularly by the fact that so many big stores that have long held out are one by one becoming Sonora representatives.

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.
GEORGE E. BRIGHTSON, President

279 BROADWAY

NEW YORK

Canadian Distributors: I. Montagnes & Co., Toronto

The Easiest Portable to Sell

It's never "too late in the season" to sell the Sonora Portable. At $50 it represents such a wonderful value that it sells regardless of seasons—and a Portable owner is a good prospect for a larger Sonora.

The Talking Machine World

Vol. 18. No. 8

New York, August 15, 1922

Price Twenty-five Cents

PADEREWSKI TO MAKE CONCERT TOUR

Famous Pianist and Statesman Will Give Limited Number of Recitals Next Winter—Is Again in Evidence in the Record Field

The members of the talking machine trade will receive with no small degree of pleasure the news that Ignace J. Paderewski, the world-renowned pianist and former Premier of Poland, his native land, has decided to re-enter the concert field next Winter, following his return from Europe. He will be heard in a limited number of concerts in the United States and Canada through the medium of his favorite piano, the Steinway.

Ignace Jan Paderewski

For some years it had been assumed that his artistic career in the musical field was at an end, but previous to his departure for Europe early this month, after a long rest at his ranch in California, he permitted it to be known that he would again be heard in concert, much to the delight of millions of admirers. Paderewski is one of the unique characters of history, being composer, pianist and statesman, in each of which posts he has scored a success.

Paderewski is represented in the Victor catalog by seven records which he made shortly before he assumed the troublous paths of leadership as Premier in 1917.

It is pleasing to note, however, that in the September Victor list Paderewski is again in evidence with a record of his own Nocturne in B Flat. This, the first Paderewski record in many years, is significant. It may be expected that the great pianist will reach his admirers through other records now that he chooses to resume his great role in the world of music.

LEONARD WITH COLLINGS & CO.

Joins Traveling Staff of Newark Distributors—Business Shows Improving Trend

Ernest C. Leonard was recently added to the traveling staff of Collings & Co., the well-known Victor distributors, of Newark, N. J. He will divide up the territory with David Roche and A. J. Wilckens, who already represent the Collings firm.

Harold J. Lamor, manager of the sales and order departments of the company, in a chat with The World, stated that July business showed much increased activity. The sales campaign recently inaugurated by the Collings firm received a gratifying response from the dealers in the territory in which they serve and indications, seemingly, are that business for the balance of the year will show increasing gains.

Put yourself in your customer's place occasionally and watch results.

OUR EXPORTS OF TALKING MACHINES

Exports and Imports of Talking Machines and Records Show a Decreasing Tendency as Compared With Last Year—Our Buyers

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 10.—In the summary of exports and imports of the commerce of the United States for the month of May, 1922 (the latest period for which it has been compiled), which has just been issued, the following figures on talking machines and records are presented:

The dutiable imports of talking machines and parts during May, 1922, amounted in value to $29,688, as compared with $61,370 worth which were imported during the same month of 1921. The eleven months' total ending May, 1922, showed importations valued at $492,302, as compared with $733,520 worth of talking machines and parts during the same period of 1921.

Talking machines to the number of 3,736, valued at $141,513, were exported in May, 1922, as compared with 2,564 talking machines, valued at $115,000, sent abroad in the same period of 1921. The eleven months' total showed that we exported 34,387 talking machines, valued at $1,392,206, as against 65,330 talking machines, valued at $2,951,283 in 1921.

The total exports of records and supplies for May, 1922, were valued at $110,598, as compared with $212,986 in May, 1921. The eleven months ending May, 1922, show records and accessories exported valued at $1,385,331; in 1921, $2,817,134.

The countries to which exports were made in May and the values thereof are as follows: United Kingdom, $11,515; Canada, $42,334; Central America, $4,232; Mexico, $13,526; Cuba, $2,328; Argentina, $7,827; Chile, $150; other South American countries, $9,603; China, $3,485; Japan, $7,897; Philippine Islands, $1,394; Australia, $16,985; other countries, $20,237.

WHY NOT A NATIONAL RECORD WEEK LATE THIS FALL?

Time for Vigorous Action by Talking Machine Retailers to Develop Trade—Must Arouse the Interest of the Buying Public in Their Line—Live, Persistent Campaign Needed

Record trade has been quiet. Whether this is due to the indifference of the public, or the dealer, is a question for the doctor to decide. The fact remains that the Fall will soon be with us, and it is time for dealers to wake up to a realization of the fact that records must be sold—that a new interest must be revived in their wonderful merits as one of the greatest entertainers in history.

A year or more ago when the automobile business was so dull that many dealers talked of retiring from the field what did the leaders in that industry do to stimulate interest? Did they arrive at the conclusion that the public was oversold on automobiles? No, they just started a campaign to show the essentiality of the automobile and they stuck at their guns until they converted the public back again to the greatest demand for automobiles in history.

Now, we are not selling automobiles, or buying them, but what was done by the automobile people can be done by the record people if a real, earnest effort is made. The manufacturers and jobbers can do their share, but the dealer, after all, is the man who must do the greatest amount of work, for he has the direct contact with the buyer.

Why not a National Record Week in one of the late Fall or early Winter months? Why not educate the public to the wonderful variety of records made and handled? To this end utilize the newspapers, the display windows, use special contest literature and inaugurate a live personal contact campaign by the sales force that will awaken the people to a realization of the great musical value of the talking machine

WOMEN DO THE BULK OF BUYING

Merchants Must Pay Attention to Details Which Please Fair Sex to Hold Patronage

The women of the Nation are the shoppers of to-day. Statistics from authentic sources show that in almost all lines of business by far the greater percentage of customers are women and even in those establishments classed as distinctly men's shops women do a large percentage of the buying for their men folks and practically all purchases for the home are first endorsed by the woman who rules it before the purchase is made.

With these facts in mind, there can be little doubt that the merchandiser of a product such as the talking machine must exert particular efforts to attract members of the fair sex to his establishment.

Now women are basically different from men in that they have and develop certain prejudices through little things which a man would never notice and if he did he would tolerantly pass by as irrelevant.

A few examples of the things which please women most are courtesy, cleanliness, artistic arrangement of stock and the appearance of the men or women in the store with whom they come in contact. No explanation concerning the achievement of these things is necessary. Anyone with a grain of sense and a little energy can accomplish them.

ELMAN MUSICAL ART CORP. FORMED

One of the most recent additions to the talking machine field of New York City is the Elman Musical Art Corp., which has been incorporated in this State, with a capital of $500,000. M. S. and M. Elman are the incorporators.

Neglected Complaints Result in Loss of Trade and Considerable Harmful Publicity

The merchant, or salesman, who lets complaints go in one ear and out the other, unless the complainant is persistent enough to win attention as a means of keeping peace, is sometimes making a bigger mistake than he realizes, for a complaint, even if it is not justified, is like the plague, and, unless checked in the beginning, is liable to spread and cause irreparable damage.

A dealer handling a well-known line of machines and records was canvassing the residents of a select section of the city recently when he began to pick up a story of a man in that section who had purchased a machine of the same make he was selling and found it unsatisfactory. After several prospects had indicated their intention of buying another make of machine because of this man's experience the dealer felt it incumbent upon him to investigate the matter, even though he had not sold that particular machine.

He called upon the man from whom the complaint emanated and had to listen to a lengthy lecture regarding the deficiencies of the outfit before he could find the opportunity to explain that it was his desire not to sell another machine, but to inspect the one already installed and see what was the trouble. A cursory inspection showed that the reproducer was in bad condition, the diaphragm being cracked and the rubber gaskets being hard and unyielding.

He also found that one of the springs of the motor was broken, which formed the basis for the owner's complaint that the motor jumped and would not play more than two records without rewinding.

Under ordinary circumstances it would have been a simple matter to have explained the difficulties and arranged for the necessary repairs and adjustments, but the owner in this case maintained that the machine had been in that condition for a year and from within a week after it had been delivered. He had bought records for a time and told his dealer of the trouble, but the latter evinced little interest and the purchase of records stopped. Neither dealer nor his salesman had called at the house since the outfit was purchased.

It took some first-class salesmanship to prove to the machine owner that the case was an exceptional one and was due to the carelessness of one dealer rather than to any fundamental weakness in the machine. Arrangements were quickly made for having the machine put in first-class playing condition, for which the owner agreed to pay. The result was general satisfaction all around.

The dealer who made the investigation told frankly why he had gone out of his way to look into the matter and the machine owner was quick to acquaint his friends with the service he had received and his satisfaction with the instrument after it had been repaired. The direct results of the investigation were the listing of a new record customer in the person of the ma-

Complaints Offer an Opportunity for Service Which Will Result in Business Expansion and Profits chine owner in question, the sale of a number of machines to his friends and, finally, to the checking of a complaint that had threatened to cause many hundreds of dollars of loss to at least one talking machine manufacturer and his dealers.

It happens frequently that a talking machine dealer is faced with unjust complaints and his patience is sorely tried in meeting demands that are frankly ridiculous, but at the same time every complaint should be looked into regardless of how unfair it may appear on the surface.

It happens frequently that a machine owner, and particularly a new one, grows quite enthusiastic over the instrument and champions its qualities among his friends, but it happens just as frequently that the owner becomes dissatisfied and blames his particular make of machine indiscriminately for his dissatisfaction and then proceeds to tell his friends and the world at large just how rotten the product is in his estimation.

There is no worse sales killer in the world than one of these individuals with a grudge and if he can be headed off, even at an expense of time and money out of proportion to the value of his individual trade, the talking machine dealer is really accomplishing something. He is saving future business.

It does not always mean that the dealer must not show firmness in dealing with those customers who are unquestionably unjust and perhaps fraudulent in their claims. Firmness is most desirable where it appears necessary in handling a complainant, but the main thought is to look into the complaint in every instance. It is the neglected complaint that kills the budding sales.

JOHN ELLIOT CLARK CO. EXPANDS

Well-known Salt Lake Victor Distributor Takes Over Orton Bros. Wholesale Victor Interests in Montana Territory—An Important Move

BUTTE, MONT., August 5.—The John Elliott Clark Co., of Salt Lake City, has taken over the agency for the Victor Talking Machine Co. and has given to Butte a new wholesale Victor house, to be located at 224 South Main street. The agency was formerly handled by Orton Bros., Butte music dealers, who for years served the merchants of Butte and Montana with Victor goods in the wholesale department.

The John Elliott Clark Co. is now the exclusive wholesale distributor for the Victor people in this territory. The Salt Lake City house of this concern is one of the largest in the West, and it is purposed to make the new local firm one of the leaders in point of service in that field.

Orton Bros. will continue to handle the Victor line of talking machines and records for the retail trade.

BALLOONS BRING PUBLICITY

St. Louis, Mo., August 3.—Bauer's Music House, one of the live-wire Victor dealers of this city, is gaining considerable publicity through the medium of toy balloons with the firm name and a brief message upon them. The balloons are given to automobilists and children. The firm is also featuring its library of foreign records by consistent advertising.

THE TALKING MACHINE'S HELPMATE

NYACCO Albums Aid Fall Business

Right Price, Service, Increased Sales, Quality, Strength and Durability—all are found in NYACCO albums.

These qualities mean dollars and cents to you. Plan now for your fall business. Plan to sell NYACCO albums this fall. NYACCO albums make satisfied customers and develop reorders.

Write us for quotations and prices—Today.

A beautiful colored display card mailed upon request. JOBBERS and DISTRIBUTORS—How many do you want?

The Only Loose-Leaf Record Album on the Market

New York Album & Card Co., Inc.

NEW YORK
23-25 Lispenard St.

A. W. CHAMBERLAIN
New England Factory Representative
174 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

CHICAGO
415-417 S. Jefferson St.

Victor supremacy is the supremacy of performance

Of performances past and present. Just as the Victor has occupied its position of leadership for a quarter-century, so it continues to lead the way in the talking-machine industry.

Victor Wholesalers

- Atlanta, Ga.....Elyea Talking Machine Co. Phillips & Crew Piano Co.
- Baltimore, Md.....Cohen & Hughes E. F. Droop & Sons Co. H. R. Eisenbrandt Sons, Inc.
- Birmingham, Ala...Talking Machine Co.
- Boston, Mass.....Oliver Ditson Co. The Eastern Talking Machine Co. The M. Steinert & Sons Co.
- Brooklyn, N. Y.....American Talking Mach. Co. G. T. Williams Co., Inc.
- Buffalo, N. Y.....Curtis N. Andrews Buffalo Talking Machine Co., Inc.
- Burlington, Vt.....American Phonograph Co.
- Chicago, Ill.....Lyon & Healy The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. Chicago Talking Machine Co.
- Cincinnati, O.....Ohio Talking Machine Co. The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co.
- Cleveland, O.....Cleveland Talking Machine Co. The Eclipse Musical Co.
- Columbus, O.....The Perry B. Whitsit Co.
- Dallas, Tex.....Sanger Bros.
- Denver, Colo.....The Knight-Campbell Music Co.
- Des Moines, Ia.....Mickel Bros. Co.
- Detroit, Mich.....Grinnell Bros.
- Elmira, N. Y.....Elmira Arms Co.
- El Paso, Tex.....W. G. Walz Co.
- Honolulu, T. H....Bergstrom Music Co., Ltd.
- Houston, Tex.....The Talking Machine Co. of Texas
- Jacksonville, Fla..The French Nestor Co.
- Kansas City, Mo....J. W. Jenkins Sons Music Co. The Schmelzer Co.
- Los Angeles, Cal....Sherman, Clay & Co.
- Memphis, Tenn.....O. K. Houck Piano Co.

- Milwaukee, Wis....Badger Talking Machine Co
- Minneapolis, Minn..Beckwith, O'Neill Co.
- Mobile, Ala.....Wm. H. Reynolds
- Newark, N. J.....Collings & Co.
- New Haven, Conn...The Horton-Gallo-Creamer Co.
- New Orleans, La....Philip Werlein, Ltd.
- New York, N. Y....Blackman Talking Mach. Co. Emanuel Blout. C. Bruno & Son, Inc. Charles H. Ditson & Co. Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Inc. Musical Instrument Sales Co. New York Talking Mach. Co. Ormes, Inc. Silas E. Pearsall Co.
- Oklahoma City, Okla.....Oklahoma Talking Machine Co.
- Omaha, Nebr.....Ross P. Curtice Co. Mickel Bros. Co.
- Peoria, Ill.....Putnam-Page Co., Inc.
- Philadelphia, Pa....Louis Buehn Co., Inc. C. J. Heppie & Son. Penn Phonograph Co., Inc. The Talking Machine Co. H. A. Weymann & Son, Inc.
- Pittsburgh, Pa....W. F. Frederick Piano Co. C. C. Mellor Co., Ltd. Standard Talking Mach. Co.
- Portland, Me.....Cressey & Allen, Inc.
- Portland, Ore.....Sherman, Clay & Co.
- Richmond, Va.....The Corley Co., Inc.
- Rochester, N. Y....E. J. Chapman Co.
- Salt Lake City, U...The John Elliott Clark Co.
- San Francisco, Cal..Sherman, Clay & Co.
- Seattle, Wash.....Sherman, Clay & Co.
- Spokane, Wash.....Sherman, Clay & Co.
- St. Louis, Mo.....Koerber-Brenner Music Co.
- St. Paul, Minn.....W. J. Dyer & Bro.
- Syracuse, N. Y....W. D. Andrews Co.
- Toledo, O.....The Toledo Talking Machine Co.
- Washington, D. C...Cohen & Hughes E. F. Droop & Sons Co. Rogers & Fischer

Victrola VI, $35 Mahogany or oak

Victrola IX, $75 Mahogany or oak

Victrola No. 100 $150 Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 120 $275
Victrola No. 120, electric, $315.00 Mahogany or oak

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF

Important: Look for these trade-marks. Under the lid. On the label.

Victor Talking Machine Company

Camden, New Jersey

How Continuous, Intelligent Advertising Has a Tremendous Trade-Making Influence

The inclination toward a general let-down in business activities during the Summer that apparently affects so many members of this and other industries frequently extends to the advertising and the result is a curtailment of publicity of all kinds during the heated season that is not only unwise but actually means money lost. No merchant with the average run of trade would think of closing his store for three or four months in the year and then be faced with the subsequent problem of winning back his customers from competitors who kept right on doing business, and yet that same merchant, or manufacturer, for that matter, will discontinue or cut down his advertising when what he accepts as the dull period of the year approaches.

Many erstwhile liberal advertisers fail to realize that when their advertising campaigns are stopped or curtailed for even a comparatively short period they are checking the business momentum developed by the advertising already done and are losing much of the value of the previous advertising. In fact, the loss in that direction may come close to offsetting any actual cash saving through a temporary discontinuance of the campaign.

The fact that in many sections of the country 20 and 25 per cent of the merchants are doing close to 80 per cent of the business affords striking proof of what happens when the majority of retailers apparently accept things as they come and rest on their oars while waiting for improved conditions. The retailer who advertises consistently and persistently throughout the so-called dull months, even though he may not use the volume of space warranted during the pre-holiday season, is keeping up with the procession, and although the direct results may not seem to be large he is at least holding his own with competitors, keeping fairly active, and is maintaining his status among the merchants of his community against the time when that status will mean real patronage.

The modern advertiser doesn't insert his copy spasmodically as the spirit moves him, but makes his appropriation intelligently and lays out his entire campaign for the year so that he knows just about what proportion of his overhead will be devoted to advertising. In this campaign every month in the year is properly taken care of, with special attention, of course, given to those months when extra selling effort is warranted, as, for instance, the Fall and pre-holiday period. Under this plan there are no gaps left in the advertising throughout the year and the results are therefore calculated to be the more satisfactory.

Curtailed Advertising Checks the Business Momentum Developed by Advertising Already Done

That talking machine merchants recognize the fact that stock copy will not do for Summertime is evidenced by the increasing number of retailers who have been presenting sales arguments in their advertisements calculated to make a special appeal at this season. The arguments take various forms, but are all designed to overcome the tendency of certain elements to put off musical instrument buying until cool weather.

The business man should no more think of cutting out advertising at any period than he would think of closing down his establishment and taking the sign off the door. His advertising is what keeps his name before the community and the regularity with which it appears represents the power that influences prospective buyers who select his store from among several as the one to receive patronage when they reach the point where they are ready to buy.

Mark Twain's story of the spider that looked over the newspaper files to learn the address of a non-advertiser so he could go where his web would not be disturbed carries a moral that is just as true to-day as it was when the story was first told.

USES SONORA TO BROADCAST

The Sonora Phonograph Co. recently received a letter from the Delta Electric Co., of Worcester, Mass., reading as follows: "It may be of interest to you to know that this broadcasting station is using a Sonora and has had very satisfactory results. In fact, during one concert the tone of this instrument was so clear that it was difficult to convince listeners that we were using a phonograph."

Main Wholesale Depot:

741 Mission Street, San Francisco

Branch Wholesale Depots:

10th and Santee Sts., Los Angeles, California

N.W. Corner 13th and Glison Streets
Portland, Oregon

Oceanic Bldg., Cor. University and Post Sts.
Seattle, Washington

330 W. Sprague Ave., Spokane, Washington

Victor Victrolas—Victor Records—Victor Accessories

Sherman  Clay & Co.

Pacific Coast Distributors

Five Wholesale Depots for Your Convenience

Victor supremacy is the supremacy of performance

Victrola IV, $25
Oak

Victrola VIII, $50
Oak

Victrola No. 90
$125
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Chaliapin, Jeritza, Schipa, New York Philharmonic Orchestra — every new name added to the list of famous Victor artists further strengthens the position of every dealer in Victor products.

Victrola No. 130
$350
Victrola No. 130, electric, $390
Mahogany or oak

Victrola No. 240
$115
Mahogany or walnut

Victrola No. 260
$160
Mahogany or walnut

Victrola No. 280
$200
Mahogany or walnut

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Important: Look for these trade-marks. Under the lid. On the label.

Victor Talking Machine Company

Camden, New Jersey

(Registered in the U. S. Patent Office)

PUBLISHED BY EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc.

President and Treasurer, C. L. Bill, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Vice-President, J. B. Spillane, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Second Vice-President, Raymond Bill, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Secretary, E. L. Bill; Assistant Treasurer, Wm. A. Low.

J. B. SPILLANE, EditorRAY BILL, B. B. WILSON, BRAID WHITE, Associate Editors*L. M. ROBINSON, Advertising Manager*L. E. BOWERS, Circulation Manager

Trade Representatives: A. F. CARTER, WILSON D. BUSH, C. CHACE, EDWARD LYMAN BILL, V. D. WALSH, E. B. MUNCH, C. R. TIGHE, SCOTT KINGWILL, A. J. NICKLIN

Western Division: Republic Building, 209 So. State Street, Chicago, Ill. Telephone, Wabash 5242

Boston: JOHN H. WILSON, 324 Washington Street

London, Eng., Office: 2 Gresham Building, Basinghall St. W. LIONEL STURDY, Mgr.

The Talking Machine World has regular correspondents located in all of the principal cities throughout America.

Published the 15th of every month at 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

SUBSCRIPTION (including postage): United States, Mexico, $2.00 per year; Canada, $3.00; all other countries, $4.00. Single copies, 25 cents.

ADVERTISEMENTS: $5.50 per inch, single column, per insertion. On quarterly or yearly contracts a special discount is allowed. Advertising pages, $150.00.

REMITTANCES should be made payable to Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., by check or Post Office Money Order.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS—Advertising copy should reach this office before the first of each month. By following this rule clients will greatly facilitate work at the publication headquarters.

Long Distance Telephones—Numbers 5982-5983 Madison Sq.
Cable Address: "Elbill," New York

NEW YORK, AUGUST 15, 1922

PLANS FOR DEVELOPMENT OF FALL TRADE

WITHIN a few weeks vacationers will begin to flock back to their homes to settle for the Winter, and the season will arrive when talking machine dealers will find the opportunity for cashing in on the efforts and advertising of the Spring and Summer months and realize sales in increasing numbers.

Of particular interest this year has been the great volume of business done in portable talking machines of various types. A number of dealers have been frank to declare that the sale of portables, and the records that go with them, have proven their salvation during the Summer months. As talking machine values go the sale of a portable model does not represent a big transaction in itself, but it has a double value that should not be overlooked, because, for every portable model that is sold to the owner of a large cabinet machine, there are probably two sold to those who own no other machine. Therefore, it behooves the retailer to comb over his list of purchasers of portable machines very thoroughly with the idea of interesting them in larger models for installation in their permanent residences.

The idea is not a new one in any sense, as for years dealers have sold small models of machines with the idea of exchanging them for large cabinet types when the interest of the purchaser had been aroused to the proper pitch. There is no question but that many portable machines have acted as missionaries in acquainting individuals with the musical possibilities of the talking machine and accompanying records, and this new appreciation is ready to be capitalized by the retailer who understands it and follows it up energetically. In other words, the list of buyers of portable machines does not represent a list of closed machine accounts, but rather a prospect list for larger sales.

KEEPING THE BUSINESS HOUSE IN ORDER

CONDITIONS in the talking machine trade, and for that matter in business circles generally, during the past few months have been calculated to lend considerable importance to the question of dealer financing, and there has naturally been much discussion of this subject by the dealers themselves, as well as by manufacturers and wholesalers.

The question of financing retailers who make a practice of selling on instalments has been a pertinent one in many lines of business, and has only been partially solved in many instances owing to the credit conditions frequently involved.

The fact that instalment paper is often frowned on by bankers is not because it has little intrinsic value, but because the payments are so long drawn out that it means a tying up of the banker's money for a lengthy period, and represents an investment rather than a loan. This condition has prevailed particularly in the piano trade, where credit terms of from thirty to forty months or more are common.

A banker in discussing piano paper recently pointed out that bankers were not enthusiastic about long-time paper, but desired a quick turnover, despite the fact that his experience has shown that even long-time piano paper paid 100 per cent as a general rule if collections were carefully followed.

In the light of the experience of other industries, there appears to be no reason why talking machine dealers cannot keep their business houses in order and do business on terms that will make their instalment paper attractive to bankers. The average talking machine instalment contract is paid out within the year and in a goodly proportion of cases can be so arranged as to pay out within six months or so. While this business may not appeal to bankers quite as much as call loans, it nevertheless compares very favorably with the usual run of commercial paper.

Talking machine dealers have the advantage of seeing what long-term contracts have done to retailers in other fields, and can very easily make it a point to avoid those pitfalls and keep their credit terms within reason. Simply to charge interest on a long-term contract does not solve the problem, because that means the dealer himself is acting as banker. What he wants is to have his instalment paper in such shape that it represents a more or less liquid asset and attractive collateral.

The easing up of the financial and banking situation and the reduction of discount rates by Federal Reserve Banks is calculated to benefit the retail merchant who is doing an instalment business, but doing it conservatively and on a sound credit basis. He may perhaps in a pinch have to go to a discount company to tide him over, but the bulk of his paper, and ordinarily a sufficient amount to keep him going if he has adequate capital to start with, should be discounted by his regular bank. Where there is lack of capital at the outset, there are few financing plans that will bring relief except at a premium almost prohibitive.

The talking machine dealer handling nationally known and established lines of machines and records has substantial collateral in his good will and franchise rights, as well as in his instalment contracts. If his business ability and integrity will stand the test, it is to be assumed that he has a genuine opportunity to build up and maintain a substantial volume of business under the protection of definite selling rights. He is dealing in a product that ordinarily suffers little, if any, fluctuation in value, and if he deals with his customers on a sound credit basis his standing with the bank should be assured.

The danger lies in offering extravagant and unsound terms in an anxiety to increase sales volume without giving thought to the individual financing problems of the immediate future.

WEDDING THE FILM AND "TALKER" RECORD

ON several occasions during the past year or so there have been published reports of more or less successful attempts to produce talking moving pictures, through the synchronization of the motion picture film and the talking machine or through some of the several announced systems for registering sound waves on the motion picture film itself through the medium of light.

The talking machine trade is naturally interested in those projects for the reproduction of talking pictures that make use of the talking machine in its present state or in some specially developed form. But the trade should also be interested in the other experiments being made, especially those concerning the photographing of sound waves, which may be expected, if carried out to a successful conclusion, to have some direct or indirect effect upon talking machine record production of the future.

At the present time the talking machine record in its accepted form has reached an acknowledged high state of development, but even the most enthusiastic will hesitate to declare that the final point of perfection has been reached. If no improvement in records or recording systems were to be expected in the future the industry would be in a bad way, for there would be nothing to look forward to. Hence experiments in sound recording and reproduction, along whatever line they are conducted, are of interest to the trade, not so much for what they offer at the present time as for the possibilities they hold for the future of the industry.

JUSTIFICATION FOR TRADE OPTIMISM

THOSE who see a substantial improvement in business for the next Fall and Winter are likely to find justification for their optimism in the reports of the many retail concerns which have been, and are, spending many hundreds of thousands of dollars in the aggregate to enlarge and remodel their quarters in anticipation of the business to come.

It is all very well to talk about a possible improvement in business conditions, and to tell the other fellow just how good things look, but when an individual or concern goes to the extent of investing hard cash in new and better equipment to take care of better business there must be something substantial upon which to base future calculations.

It is significant that practically all the moves reported in the trade are towards expansion and improvement. Those who have "given up the ghost," or who have resorted to a policy of conservatism, are so far in the minority as to be insignificant, which is an added reason for the prevailing feeling that a much healthier condition may be expected.

RETAILERS MUST BE AGGRESSIVE TO WIN

AT no time in history was it so necessary to be aggressive in the retail field as to-day. The dealer or dealers who are going to command the largest measure of success are those who are giving serious thought to the question of presenting their establishment and the product which they handle to the public in a manner to invite its support and confidence. There has been a slowing down of things in the talking machine field, largely because there has been a slowing down of effort on the part of the trade.

The World has recorded time and time again that where individual dealers have made extraordinary efforts to get after trade they have been successful. This has been done without any sacrifice of prices or special sales. Business has been developed by recourse to unusual methods of personal contact—by analyzing the conditions prevailing in the dealers' territory and becoming acquainted with the people who have as well as those who have not machines in the home.

Dealers must get away from the idea that trade is coming their way without effort. It is not. Those days are past and he who succeeds to-day is the man who is getting out of the beaten track and building up his trade by methods that are out of the ordinary. Thinking men, not automatons, are going to win the largest measure of success the coming Fall and Winter.

RADIO APPEAL IS ON BASIS OF MUSIC

A FACT in connection with the selling of radio equipment that has not escaped the attention of those who are interested in the possible effects of the existing radio craze on the sale of musical instruments is that in the great majority of cases the appeal to the buyers of radio receiving sets is made on the basis of music.

A member of the trade who has had considerable experience in radio is authority for the statement that the men who have to do with the selling of radio equipment have practically abandoned most of the arguments looking to the sale of receiving sets except that based upon the class of music broadcasted and which the owner of a set can listen to in his own home.

It has been found that the average fan is not enthusiastic over the fact that he can listen to lectures on the care of infants or of hogs or reports of crop conditions and of the weather, by means of the radio. Even the fact that news is broadcasted apparently means little to the average man unless it be, perhaps, the scores of baseball games or the results of prize fights. What gets an immediate response is the statement that certain groups of artists, whether classical or jazz, are playing at broadcasting stations.

So long as music holds such a high place in the radio world; so long as the chief appeal to the purchaser of radio equipment is that of music he can hear, sellers of musical instruments need fear no permanent harm to their business. Whether the music merchants as a class will eventually act as distributors for radio equipment is beside the question. The thing that should interest them most is whether radio is going to injure or help their business, and in the long run it may be expected to prove beneficial rather than otherwise.

Victor Scholars

Pearsall Service is an essential part of Good Selling.

Ask any Pearsall dealer—he will tell you.

"Desire to Serve—Plus Ability"

10 EAST 39th ST.

NEW YORK CITY

SILAS E. PEARSALL COMPANY

DISTRIBUTORS

Getting Out of the Beaten Path in Making the Effective Selling Appeal :: By W. Bliss Stoddard

In the Summer there are bound to come some dull days—people are away on vacations, and those at home do not want to venture out in the heat unless it is absolutely necessary. Instead of sitting back and waiting for business to revive, Cline Vick, of Carterville, Ill., goes after the trade that refuses to come to the store. On dull days Miss Griggs, the saleswoman in charge of the talking machine department, selects a few records from her stock, places them in an envelope, takes along the general record catalog, with the latest monthly supplement, and starts out. She makes up a list of persons to be visited before starting out, selecting her records according to the class she intends to visit. For example, if she intends to call on old women she takes religious and old-time songs; if middle-aged people, she takes both old and new selections, but of a conservative nature; while if she intends to visit young matrons she takes the liveliest dance music and the snappiest songs from the new musical shows. She calls only on those she knows possess a talking machine and rarely returns with orders for less than ten records. She makes it a point to do all her calling in the afternoon, as she figures the average woman will have her housework over and be in a more receptive mood by that time. She never goes out on Saturday or Monday, the busiest days of the housewife. If she gets a call for a record she does not have with her she makes a note of it and the store delivers it the following morning. Being of a pleasing personality these personal calls put the store before the public in a very favorable light. Even when no purchase is made much good is accomplished, for Miss Griggs leaves her card with the phone number of the store printed on it, and suggests that the patron call her up when records are needed for special occasions.

Appealing to Sentiment

The McKelvey Co., Youngstown, O., has been very successful during the past few months in arousing interest in records by means of circular letters which it sends out at intervals. Like all live-wire concerns, it has a complete list of all purchasers of records and at intervals Mr. Dan-

Constructive Selling Appeals by Well-known Dealers Which Are Entitled to Consideration and Emulation forth, the manager, picks out some new record, writes a human interest story about it, and mails the letter to everyone on the list. The entertaining manner in which the selection is talked about results in many requests that it be sent out, and in all events it keeps the firm and its records constantly before all lovers of the talking machine and causes them to instinctively drop into that store when in need of new records.

Getting the Trade of Music Students

All music teachers and students realize that proper interpretation of a piece of music is one of the greatest elements of success, and it is strange that more dealers have not seized upon this phase of phonograph publicity. By the use of talking machine records the best music of every period, sung by the greatest artists, is as available for the student in the smallest hamlet as in the largest city. Several of the live-wire dealers have thought of this, and the way in which they have worked up a big music student trade should prove of interest to others. In talking to a special class newspaper advertising is of little value—or rather it is an expensive manner of reaching them—and the firms who have given it careful consideration regard the carefully written circular letter as the best means of increasing business. This letter should be made as individual as possible, and the subject presented in an interesting manner. Two letters recently sent out by firms in different parts of the country might well serve as models which each dealer could adapt to suit his own particular clientele.

The first sent out by the Morehouse-Martens Co., Columbus, O., read as follows:

"Miss Dorothy Moore,

"1720 Devon Road, Columbus, Ohio.

"Dear Miss Moore: Knowing of your interest in vocalization or a well-trained voice, and fully appreciating the difficulty encountered in the training, it affords us much pleasure to offer the Oscar Saenger course for consideration.

"We sing a great deal by imitation; then, of course, the artist's own interpretation means much. We believe you could follow no better leaders in coloratura work than Galli Curci, Garrison or Tetrizzini. They all sing Charmant Oiseau from Perle de Bresil, each perhaps differently, yet from each you can get a splendid thought that you may apply to your own work.

"All the necessary technique and exercise for the development of perfect vocalization are provided and explained in Oscar Saenger's own school. Mr. Saenger is, and has been, the teacher of such artists as Althaus, Garrison, Jacoby, Rappold, Baker, Scott and Hempel. We know it to be a wonderful advantage to be able to possess these lessons.

"In our music room we have all of the Victor artists' records, and desire to give you such service as will enable you to enjoy and appreciate this much-prized course. Yours very truly,

"The Morehouse-Martens Co."

The second letter, sent out by the Victrola department of the Rosenbaum Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., read:

"Galli Curci said, 'The Victrola has been my greatest teacher.' With this statement in mind we wish to tell you of the real value the Victrola and Victor Red Seal records can be to the music teacher and student.

"By listening to the records of the Red Seal artists you can benefit by their masterful rendition of many of the world's famous compositions. You can study opera with Caruso, Melba, Farrar or Scotti; oratorio with Even Williams, Louise Homer, Witherspoon; concert songs with McCormack, Alma Gluck, de Gogorza, Galli Curci or Mabel Garrison; you can study violin with Heifetz, Kreisler, Elman, Maud Powell or Zimbalist; violoncello with Hans Kindler; piano with Paderewski, Cortot or Rachmaninoff.

"You can repeat their records as often as desired and, by playing over the part you are particularly interested in, become familiar with the artist's vocalization and interpretation.

"We extend an invitation to the music teachers, musicians and students of Pittsburgh to come to our Victrola department and make use of our large library of Victor records. We will gladly play any of them for you at any time. Yours very truly,

The Rosenbaum Co."

SEND FOR YOUR SAMPLE TO-DAY

This is the New Design

Mr. Victor Retailer—

Would you spend 15c to bring a customer into your store and keep your name constantly before a Victrola owner?

We'll say you will! That is why we will send you a free sample on request of our Advertising Sales-Building Record Brush.

YOUR ad inserted without extra charge.

KNICKERBOCKER TALKING MACHINE CO.

Victor Wholesalers

138 West 124th St.

New York City

PEERLESS ALBUMS

The Incomparable Medium—

RESPONSIBILITY

TALKING MACHINE DEALERS, as a class, have a reputation for being merchants. Too, they are looked upon as leaders in the community in cultural development along musical lines.

There is no other industry today in which so much educational enterprise is necessary, where so large a responsibility devolves upon a merchant to step out of his store and take an active part in the social and domestic affairs of his neighbors.

In this position it is an easy matter for the talking machine man to combine his altruistic and commercial endeavors and concentrate them upon one focal point—A RECORD LIBRARY IN THE HOME.

The PEERLESS RECORD ALBUM is the one incomparable medium for accomplishing notable results along these lines.

Phil Ravis

for a thousand and one different merchandising plans in connection with records. But there is one plan you can depend upon as offering the greatest opportunity for steady, constant sales. It is the Home Record Library plan.

To the consumer

PEERLESS

—the Album

Stands Steadfast and Reliable as:—

A protection to fine and expensive records.

A means of classification for the HOME RECORD LIBRARY.

An incentive to collect and preserve the world's best music.

A storage house for the overflow of records from the instrument cabinet.

To the talking machine dealer

PEERLESS

—the Album

is an ever-ready business partner which means:—

An additional service to the patrons of your store.

An actually profitable item of constant demand.

An implanted idea which brings customers back to your store for more records.

An accessory as important to your business as rubbers are to the shoe man.

Display This Sign—It Will Sell Peerless Albums for You—Send for Yours at Once.

It Does Make - A Difference What Albums You Sell

PEERLESS ALBUM COMPANY

PHIL. RAVIS, President

WALTER S. GRAY
San Francisco
942 Market St.

636-638 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

L. W. HOUGH
Boston
20 Sudbury St.

PUT CAN'T IN THE CAN

By EDWARD FRASER CARSON

"I can't" gives up ere the fight begins,
In fear of the strife and stress.
"I can" will try. He may quit with a sigh.
But "I WILL" is INSURED SUCCESS.

I never have heard who the author was of the above, but that quatrain hits the nail squarely on the head. Cut it out. Paste it in your hat or over your desk. Read it once in a while. And Can the Can't.

Edward Fraser Carson

Don't think because you have failed ONCE that you never will succeed. Don't be discouraged. If things go wrong keep smiling and keep going. Keep going, keep at it even if you don't smile—though you will find it considerably easier if you do.

The greatest successes in the world have come because some man didn't know he was licked. Every time fate knocked him down he bobbed up serenely and took another wallop at it. And in the end he WON.

Edison, Whitney, Westinghouse, Wright, Stephenson, Columbus—in every line of endeavor, whether invention, discovery or otherwise—they all kept everlastingly at it. And to-day they have statues and streets and rivers and continents named after them—just because they put Can't in the Can.

In fact ALL of the really BIG THINGS of life are made possible only after repeated failure. For failure is the goal that drives genius on to its goal—SUCCESS.

And it is right that it should be so. Success wouldn't be worth while if it came without effort. What we get for nothing is seldom worth more than the price we pay for it.

Remember the story of Robert Bruce. Six times the Scottish leader had been defeated. Six times he had been forced to retreat. Six times he had failed.

Retiring from the last field of battle he stopped at a cottage to refresh himself and when resting awhile he watched a spider spinning its web.

The spider would lower itself on the end of its web from the top of the door and then try to swing over to reach the jamb. Time and time again it failed. Six times its efforts were thwarted. But again it tried and the seventh time it succeeded.

Hope again thrilled the breast of the warrior. He had learned a lesson. Gathering his followers about him he bravely returned to the attack—and was victorious.

So runs the story. Maybe it is true. Maybe not. But that makes no difference. The lesson is there for him who reads to learn. You CAN succeed if you refuse to be beaten.

You may be a salesman, prize fighter, mail clerk or merchant—it makes no difference. You have your problems. Everyone has. You may oftentimes get discouraged. Often it may seem that the only thing to do is to lie down and quit. That is the time to do just the opposite.

No matter what your task may be you CAN succeed. And you WILL if you persist.

Don't be a quitter. Take pattern by the bulldog. Nothing can discourage him. He will fight as long as he has strength to stand. And even in dying he will close his jaws on his antagonist—and nothing can pry them loose but death itself. A kick only makes him more determined to put over the job he started out to do.

If you will only shoot often enough you are BOUND to hit the bull's-eye.

ALBUS CO. IN NEW QUARTERS

LOUISVILLE, KY., August 3.—The Albus Talking Machine Co. is now located in its new big store in the Commercial Hotel Building, where in quarters double the size of those formerly occupied a very attractive display is made of Strand console model talking machines and Okeh, Emerson and Gennett records. Mr. Albus has been in the business quite some years, and during the war did a large trade in the way of repairing for the great army of soldiers who were at Camp Taylor. The repair department, then as now, is in charge of Mr. Smith.

LOESER & CO. ADD RADIO STOCK

Popular Brooklyn Store Operates Fine Radio Department in Conjunction With Music Section—H. E. Erickson in Charge

A spacious radio department was recently opened by Frederick Loeser & Co., Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y., as an adjunct to their talking machine department. The new department is modernly equipped and is under the management of H. E. Erickson. The products of the Radio Corp. of America and Westinghouse radio supplies are handled.

In connection with the merchandising of radio outfits and supplies, Mr. Erickson stressed the necessity of service of a high order. "Nine out of every ten people entering this department do so for the purpose of making inquiries regarding the relative merits of the different outfits," said Mr. Erickson, "and it is up to those connected with the department to give out intelligent and courteous information because the inquirer of to-day may actually be in the market next week or the week following."

KEEPS MAILING LIST UP TO DATE

H. V. Beasley Music Co. Evolves Effective Plan for Keeping Mailing List Straight—Saves Waste and Unnecessary Expense

TEXARKANA, ARK., August 3.—The H. V. Beasley Music Co., 111 East Broad street, this city, Victor dealer, has evolved a simple and effective plan of determining whether prospects are interested in its line of instruments. A folder with a tear-off return postal was mailed to all persons listed as prospects. The text of the folder was in the form of a questionnaire, asking if the recipient were interested in a talking machine or records and to notify the concern promptly of any change of address. The response was good and from this the concern revised its mailing list, with the result that considerable time and money are now saved in the useless mailing of literature to disinterested persons.

RADIO BUGS HAVE HOUSE ORGAN

Organization Formed by Fay Luyster, Manager of Cline-Vick Victor Interests, Issues Snappy Little House Organ—Is Full of Pep

The Egyptian Radio Bugs, an organization composed of radio enthusiasts and those dealing in radio outfits and supplies, formed recently through the efforts of Fay Luyster, live-wire manager of the Victor department of the Cline-Vick Stores, which operate branches in a number of Illinois towns, with headquarters in Marion, have just issued the first number of a house organ, entitled Egyptian Radio Broadcasting News. The publication is well edited and contains live news pertaining to radio as well as club notes. Mr. Luyster is one of the most active and aggressive persons engaged in the merchandising of talking machines in the State of Illinois. Besides his duties in connection with the management of the Victor department of the Cline-Vick stores he edits the music section of one of the local papers.

RECORD SERVICE AIDS SALES

Victor Dealer Sends Selected List of Records to Customers for Try-out Each Month—Service Produces Very Satisfactory Results

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., August 2.—"A New Kind of Record Service" is the title of a small folder sent to customers by R. L. Berry, Victor dealer, of this city. These folders have been indirectly the means of increasing the record business of this concern. The message contained in the folder tells of the willingness of the concern to send to customers each month a special selection of records for a "try-out," with the privilege of exchange within two days. The record selection is suited to the taste of each customer.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

Greater City Phonograph Co., INC.
311 SIXTH AVE. Tel: Chelsea 9237 NEW YORK
SONORA DISTRIBUTORS EXCLUSIVELY for New York, Staten Island & the lower Hudson Valley

The superiority of the Sonora is as marked
as the ease with which it sells.

"Sonora & Sales are Synonymous"

When Marconi heard the AERIOLA GRAND

© Underwood & Underwood

"It comes closest to the dream I had when I first caught the vision of radio's vast possibilities. It brings the world of music, news and education into the home, fresh from the human voice. It solves the problem of loneliness and isolation.

"The Aeriola Grand is at present the supreme achievement in designing and constructing receiving sets for the home—a product of the research systematically conducted by scientists in the laboratories that constitute part of the R C A organization."

G. Marconi

Perfect in Tone Quality—Easy to Manipulate

In tone quality, in simplicity of manipulation the Aeriola Grand is unrivalled. A child can snap the switch and move the single lever that tunes the Aeriola Grand and floods a room with song and speech from the broadcasting station.

The Aeriola Grand is a product of the research systematically conducted by the engineers of the Radio Corporation of America and the companies affiliated with it. Because it has been so carefully designed, because it embodies the approved principles of the foremost radio engineers, it will give pleasure for years after it has been purchased.

Backing the Dealer with National Advertising

The Aeriola Grand and other R C A receivers will be nationally advertised in the Saturday Evening Post, leading radio, electrical and musical magazines, and the principal newspapers of the country.

Think of this vast circulation, aggregating 10,139,000, and what it means to every R C A dealer with a stock of Aeriola Grands on hand.

There is a radio set for every purse — Retail prices range from $18 up.

Aeriola Grand with stand Retail price $350

Radio Corporation of America

WORLD WIDE WIRELESS

Sales Dept., Suite 2076
233 Broadway
New York City

District Office
10 South La Salle St.
Chicago, Ill.

Co-Operation of Sales Force Necessary to Insure a Larger Volume of Sales :: By F. V. Faulhaber

"Only by improving our methods can we hope to make more and easier sales," observed a talking machine dealer the other day. "It is not alone my own experience upon which I must rely; every individual salesman must play his part and be on the alert seeking and thinking about improvements which should make for better salesmanship."

Other talking machine dealers may be interested to know just what novel tactics this particular merchant is using in order to bring about improvements in his establishment. He distributes cards each day to the individual salesmen for the purpose of recording any new suggestions that may crop up. The salesmen are also directed to jot down such remarks as may hint of further improvement in the store. Many of these suggestions and remarks, naturally, are based largely on the salesmen's observation while waiting upon different customers. Let us show specifically how this idea works out.

One salesman, during his experience in this store, has noticed that a certain customer dislikes to be accompanied to a booth while trying out a number of records. Well and good. That very fact may justify jotting down for the benefit of other salesmen who may not yet have waited upon that particular customer. He will jot down, for instance: "The tall, well-built chap, who usually comes in before noon, greeting

'Mornin'!', which we all can hear, dislikes to be bothered when trying out records. I usually sell more to this customer when I let him be by himself."

Another suggestion will be: "Mrs. Doring, who comes in here quite frequently, never buys any popular records and seems to show impatience when offered any, or when you discuss them. She dotes on classical pieces. I find that by showing her some old ones which she may have missed I make a hit with her, and many additional sales result. She delights in discussing classical pieces."

Then we have: "Never keep Mrs. Bardell, that stout woman, waiting for any records for which she inquires. She is very impatient. She usually comes in here, asking for about seven or eight records, which she has listed on a piece of paper. I give her the first one I find that she wants, then she makes a bee-line for a booth. The first few times she came in here I used to keep her waiting until I found those we had in stock which she had asked for, during which time she had indicated her restlessness and shown a tendency to grumbling."

Then we have the hint: "Let's have Barton (meaning the porter) unpack those cases in back of the store. A young lady nearly tore her dress on a nail protruding from a board at 10.50 to-day."

Who cannot see the possibilities in the foregoing suggestions? These cards are collected daily and during such times when the business is slowest a conference ensues relative to subsequent sales policies, discussing the various remarks and suggestions for the benefit of all, laying particular stress on the most important.

It will pay all the salesmen in the talking machine retail establishment to know that the customer who loudly greets "Mornin'!" wishes to try new records by himself; that Mrs. Doring wants to know nothing about popular pieces; that the stout Mrs. Bardell wants action, and that it is out of place for Barton, the porter, to unpack his cases in the front of the store. Herein are suggestions for other talking machine dealers.

USES TIMELY PUBLICITY

Pacific Coast Columbia Dealer Features Attractive Sales Message—Publicity Produces Sales

SAN PEDRO, CAL., August 5.—The San Pedro Furniture Co., of this city, Columbia dealer, recently carried an attractive full-page advertisement on the back cover of The Periscope, the official magazine for the United States Navy boys on the Pacific Coast. This advertisement was headed "How About Your Divisional Phonograph?" and featured a liberal offer to the sailors in order to encourage them to include a Columbia Grafonola as part of their divisional equipment.

An interesting feature of this advertisement was the use of an illustration divided into four sections, entitled "The Demonstration," "The Sale," "A Friend for Life," and "Personal Delivery." The page attracted considerable attention and the San Pedro Furniture Co. received direct results from the use of this timely publicity.

ENJOYED VACATION AT LAKE PLACID

Amos E. Russell, manager of the talking machine department of the Cluett Store, in Troy, N. Y., and president of the Music Merchants' Association, of that city, has just returned from a very pleasant vacation spent at the Lake Placid Club, Essex County, N. Y. Mr. Russell reports a decidedly better condition in the record field, and is optimistic regarding trade generally for the Fall.

Two Good Reasons

Why Bubble Books Will Go Big This Fall

THE two new Bubble Books — No. 13, "Child's Garden of Verses" and No. 14, "The Chimney Corner"—just ready to ship, are going to help you to big Bubble Book sales this fall.

These splendid books will give new life to the whole line.

Display them. Talk them up. Start your public on the new books, and you'll find they will come back for the old ones, too.

BUBBLE BOOKS "that Sing"

When you sell one you sell a habit and when you sell a habit, you're building business.

HARPER & BROTHERS, BUBBLE BOOK DIVISION

Established 1817

Franklin Square

New York, N.Y.

Successful Salesmanship in the Domain of Talking Machines and Records :: By Jos. T. Lange

[Joseph T. Lange, educational manager of System Magazine, talked on "Salesmanship and Selling Musical Merchandise" before the dealers who attended a recent meeting at the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., New York. His remarks are of more than usual interest and we are passing them along to our readers because of their general application to the development of sales in the talking machine business.—EDITOR.]

If business isn't good or if business is bad, it is because of a definite law that underlies it. There is one law of life and that is we must give if we would get. The sooner you recognize this law the sooner you will find business much better.

The best thing I can give you, outside, of course, of an order for Victrolas, and then I couldn't use more than one at a time, is ideas on how to serve the other fellow in order to get his business, and I will try to give you a short talk on this subject, near and dear to your heart.

Whether you are an owner or whether you are a clerk, there are only three things that any man can sell, and we are selling one or the other of them from the time we leave the cradle until we enter the grave. The first is the idea, the second, merchandise, and the third—service. Those are the only things any man can sell and we are engaged in selling one or the other of them all the time. If you are not as successful a merchant or salesman as you would like to be, or as others are, it is not the fault of the proposition, but the fault of yourself. You have failed in selling one of these three things.

Every normal being wants to succeed. If you are not succeeding you have failed to develop factors in yourself and instill them into your clerk or clerks.

Everything is a condition of the mind and has to do with the mind. There are plenty of men doing time in the prisons to-day who have a better brain than some of you or I have. They failed to develop the part of the brain where the sense of feeling is. The only physical factor has to do with endurance. If you are not succeeding, or if business isn't good with you, it would pay you to hesitate and analyze yourself or your business, or those who represent you in business, and you can tell in a jiffy why a clerk is succeeding or failing.

I assume you are all hustlers, reliable business men, all willing and all physically fit, with staying qualities, and I now want to talk upon the subject of your ability.

The only reason that you have for living, or that I have for living, is because we serve, and in the proportion we give, in the same proportion we receive. If you give little you get little. The hobos are giving nothing; they are getting nothing. Some business men are giving very little; they are getting very little. In order to give with a view to getting you have got to develop yourself and multiply it into those who are working with you. You have got to develop head, hand and heart and then go into the business with a view to giving service to the people. Don't give poor service, give quality of service. You will get customers, which will mean money, contentment and growth as your reward.

Selling is a science, the same as medicine. Many men have never taken the trouble to find out what may not come in right then to buy it. Selling is a study of the mind. As soon as the salesman pours something into the mind of the customer that pleases him, that results in the sale. Just as soon as you pour something into that customer's mind that he does not like or want he claps the lid right down and walks out and says, "I am not interested." The next step is desire. Thousands of people who have a desire to own a talking machine or automobile do not, because there has not been aroused in back of that desire as a result of the advertising anything to bring a definite motive. If your salesman could arouse in the minds of more of the customers who enter your store definite motives for their taking the action you would carry them all to the top, which is the making of the sale.

Four motives prompt a man to own a talking machine, or to do anything, even to committing murder. The first motive that prompted the action was the motive to gain or make money. If you can show people where they are going to earn in dollars and cents by owning a machine or anything else it would be easy to close a sale. I might buy a Victor machine to-day. I didn't buy it to satisfy gain because I couldn't sell it to-morrow for what I paid for it to-day. It was the merchant who gained in dollars and cents. I bought it to utilize. I purchased a Victor machine five years ago and have never spent a nickel on it since. The utility of that machine was very good. I bought a Victor because I wanted to get the best the market had, which suited my pride. You must play upon the pride of a prospect. That is another strong motive. John Wanamaker carries six million dollars' worth of insurance, which takes in all three motives mentioned, gain, utility, pride, as well as the fourth motive, and that is caution. None of us knows when we are going to kick in (to use a slang expression) and we buy insurance because we are cautious and to take care of those who are dependent upon us and are dear to us.

Make the customer feel about it as we feel about it. After you get the order and after the Victrola is delivered, and after payment is received, you must recognize one more step. That is the step called satisfaction. So many men overlook that step in business and work on the basis to get, not to give. Your individual suc-

(Continued on page 18)

There Are Only Three Things Any Man Can Sell—First, Ideas; Second, Merchandise, and Third, Service

the fundamental principles are. Some clerks have no knowledge of them, which is the reason why many customers are not sold when they come into your store, although they are brought in as a result of the advertising which the Victor Co. and you get out. The reason for this is that salespeople often do not consider the customers' reasons for visiting the store.

In retail selling customers enter the store because anything we are vitally interested in we want to own. They come in with the idea of buying and sometimes these customers walk out without buying. Everything in life is based upon law, as I said before. No two objects can fill the same space at the same time. The same is as true of the mind as of a teapot. We can concentrate only on one thing at one time. When a person comes in to look at a Victrola it shows there is a desire there to own it although he

TELEPHONE NUMBERS
FITZROY 3271—3272—3273

DEFINING ORMES SERVICE

We are not content with just giving so-called service to our dealers.

Ours must be Exceptional to satisfy us. That's why we have been saying for several years—

"Ormes Really Means Exceptional Service"

ORMES, Inc.

Victor Wholesalers

15 West 37th Street

New York

A Portable of Distinction

INTO the Columbia Portable Grafonola have been built the requirements of the finest musical instrument. Sturdy and compact in form, it has still all the best reproduction features of the cabinet Grafonola. From the sound chamber in the upper lid, regulated by adjustable tone leaves, there is produced a volume of tone which will surprise you. And the scientific perfection of its construction loses nothing of the sweetness and purity.

Here is an instrument that is always ready to play. Every part has been cleverly fitted into this small cabinet in the most convenient position. Lift the lid, insert the winding crank and everything is ready. The Columbia Portable will find a place of usefulness in every home. The young folks can move it to the porch for summer evenings of dancing and the children can make it their own. Its sturdy construction is made to withstand the hardest usage.

For vacation time it is an ideal partner—an asset to every outing. Music out of doors—on the river—at the summer camps—on lawn parties—picnics—what a sales vista this opens up among your customers.

Into the Columbia Portable Grafonola go only the finest selected materials and careful workmanship. You will be pleased at the perfection of detail of this instrument. Metal tops fit tightly over the needle cups when the cabinet is closed, and every part fits snugly for a journey. The handle of the case has been given a perfect adjustment, which makes carrying easy. You will not find such a list of sales features embodied in any other portable.

You can make many summer sales with this instrument that you can make in no other way. Put it on display in your windows and its appearance alone will produce inquiries. Demonstrate its compactness, its lightness, its perfect musical qualities, and sales will follow.

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY

NEW YORK

Columbia

- a*—Two-pivoted tone-control leaves at the mouth of the amplifying chamber permit modifying the volume of tone as desired.
- b*—The cover encloses the scientifically shaped amplifying chamber (or horn) which permits the full and natural development of the sound-waves (as in the big cabinet Grafonolas) from the neck of the tone-arm to the mouth of the horn.
- c*—An escutcheon at this point fits over the motor pinion and secures the turntable against rattle or damage during transportation.
- d*—The standard Columbia bayonet-joint tone-arm conveys the sound-waves directly into the amplifying chamber in a continuously widening channel without obstruction or the necessity of employing special turns or adjustments to suit this type of a phonograph.
- e*—Needle cup covers seal needle cups when cover is lowered for carrying.
- f*—Three shaped nickel needle cups (one for used needles) prevent aggravating forgetfulness.

- g*—The position of the winding spindle gives the crank a wide swing which permits easy and safe winding of motor.
- h*—Complete exterior is covered with the best grade of heavy black Fabrikoid.
- i*—Heavy nickeled corner protectors give strength, withstand abuse and save scratching of furniture.
- j*—The inside is finished in highly polished Red Mahogany which, with the highly polished nickel parts and black Fabrikoid exterior, makes this instrument very attractive in the playing position.
- k*—Tone-arm and improved standard Columbia reproducer swing back without adjustment and are safely positioned by a spring for carrying.
- l*—Winding crank is conveniently positioned here for transportation.
- m*—Ingenious safety catch permits dust-proof closing of cover.

Portable Grafonola

The ALBUM method EXCELS all other RECORD FILING systems EVER TRIED

SELECTING THEIR FAVORITES

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., 239 S. American St., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

New York Office, 54 Franklin Street, Telephone, Franklin 1227, James E. Maguire, Representative

To the Trade:

Our Record Album factory—all or any part of it—is at your command. Hundreds of customers can and will gladly testify as to the good quality of our production.

Our large and growing business is due to satisfied customers and repeat orders.

Imprint (firm name or trade mark) stamped on covers if desired when orders are sufficiently large to justify it.

OUR ALBUMS ARE MADE TO CONTAIN VICTOR, COLUMBIA, EDISON, PATHE, VOCALION AND ALL OTHER DISC RECORDS

THE PERFECT PLAN

TALK ON SUCCESSFUL SALESMANSHIP

(Continued from page 15)

Success depends financially upon your doing all you can for a customer after a sale is made. The best recommendation anyone can give you is a personal recommendation. For instance, if a customer knows of a friend who wants to buy a talking machine and he says to him, "Buy it from Mr. ———, the Victor store man. What he persuades you to buy will give you satisfaction." If a customer gives you that sort of a recommendation you are headed the right way, the direction known as success instead of failure. It is much easier to go right than wrong.

There you have the scientific steps of a sale which carry the customer from the first step to the top, or the step of satisfaction. The more you satisfy and serve the more you will succeed. There is another law in life you must recognize and that is the law of gravity. Everything that goes up must come down. The scientific ladder is up in the air. The keystone is based upon one word. If I didn't have confidence in the Victor machine or in you as a business man you couldn't give me a machine. Therefore, that is confidence, but there is still a rock-bottom foundation. You may get my confidence once, but you won't hold it very long unless you develop character, because success is an expression of character and right here is the first principle of success. What you do depends upon what you are. What you are depends upon what you think. As a man thinketh so is he, and what you think depends upon the stimuli and impressions you get from the outside world and accept as your own. If a fellow tells you business is rotten and you accept that, business is rotten—for you. Business isn't rotten; it has been good for months as far as I am concerned.

As I said before, the first principle of success is this: what you do and what you are, and this depends upon the impressions you get from the outside world. What you do not accept as your own is not yours. Develop character and confidence. Surround yourself with a thick blanket of self-confidence to keep out pessimists. Business is just as you make it.

There you have in a nutshell the science of selling. There is no secret of success. If there were we would all be out of luck, because someone else would have cornered that market long ago. The part that luck plays in life is so small, it is negligible. Everything is law. Luck is an effect without a cause and "there ain't no such animal" in this life. If business is rotten there is a cause for it. If business is good there is a cause for it, so don't depend upon luck.

This formula I have mapped out is the secret of success if there ever was any. You will then get lots of customers, which will mean lots of money. You will be content and you will grow. You will have to make additions to your store and the result will be that you will get the reward. All I can do or anyone can do is to show you the guideposts that lead to the paths.

JOINS J. K. POLK CO.'S STAFF

Chas. J. Rey Now Associated With Okeh Jobber Well Known in Southern Talking Machine Trade

ATLANTA, GA., August 4.—Chas. J. Rey, well known in the Southern talking machine trade, has joined the sales force of the J. K. Polk Furniture Co., of this city, Okeh distributor. Mr. Rey has had several years' experience in the talking machine business, having been associated with the Elyea Talking Machine Co., Atlanta, and the Southern Sonora Co., of Atlanta. The J. K. Polk Furniture Co. recently completed arrangements whereby it will handle a complete line of main springs, supplies and other accessories, in addition to its Okeh record line, and Mr. Rey has joined the organization in order to take care of the company's fast-growing business.

RADIO DEMAND CONTINUES ACTIVE

De Forest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. Reports No Let-up in the Call for Its Products

The opinion was quite prevalent that the sale of radio apparatus to the consumer would be greatly curtailed during July and August. A recent report, however, from the De Forest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co., Jersey City, N. J., shows that there has been no let-up in the demand for this company's goods. While it is true that some of the shipments now being made are for dealers who have not heretofore handled radio, the fact that the outlets appointed some months back are sending in substantial re-orders justifies the conclusion that the wave of radio popularity has not waned. Naturally, with the opening of the Fall season the interest and demand will show heavy increases. The De Forest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. has a large volume of unfilled orders and the company's two plants, both in Jersey City and Jackson, Mich., will work at capacity for the balance of the year.

RENTS TALKING MACHINES

At the Lake Placid Club, Essex County, N. Y., quite a big business is being done by the Club store in renting talking machines and records at fifty cents a day. Pianolas and rolls are also rented—a rather novel idea. The Lake Placid Club has from fifteen hundred to two thousand guests during the Summer months.

QUEENS PHONOGRAPH CO. CHARTERED

The Queens Phonograph Co., of Queens Borough, New York City, was recently granted a charter of incorporation under the laws of New York State, with a capital of $10,000. Incorporators are S. Bloom, D. Leibowitz and J. J. Marcus.

Patented
1914

Patented
1914

STABILITY

The word is of tremendous importance to the talking machine trade—to retailers, jobbers and manufacturers alike. It indicates accurately the present condition of the market.

Why can we say the trade is now Stable?

Because:—The days of inferior goods are gone—

Because:—Inferior goods will never be welcomed again.

Because:—Determination of many manufacturers to produce and of many dealers to handle only goods of the highest quality.

Boston Albums were patented and placed on the market in 1914 and have ever since maintained their superiority by virtue of their high quality, materials and workmanship. Boston Albums are stable albums and are, therefore, used by the trade as a factor in stabilizing retail business.

BOSTON BOOK COMPANY
501-509 PLYMOUTH COURT CHICAGO, ILL.

PHONOGRAPH'S 45TH ANNIVERSARY

Thomas A. Edison Tells of Perfection of Phonograph—Discusses Radio Experiments—Recording Beethoven's Ninth Symphony—Looking to Future, Not the Past, Is General Policy

Thomas A. Edison and his great invention, the phonograph, were much in the public eye on July 18, when the daily papers devoted a great deal of space to his achievements, giving the history of the invention of the phonograph and quoting the data which Edison made on the draft of his invention on July 18, 1877, the day he wrote this prophetic declaration:

"Just tried an experiment with diaphragm having an embossing point and held against paraffin paper moving rapidly. The speaking vibrations are indented nicely and there's no doubt that I shall be able to store up and reproduce automatically at any future time the human voice perfectly."

Naturally, the forty-fifth anniversary of the invention of the phonograph attracted quite a lot of newspaper men to Orange to interview Mr. Edison. They found him in a new light suit, apparently in the best of health, sitting at his desk in the laboratory rapidly calculating a group of figures. In the first few minutes of conversation Mr. Edison added another to his already extensive list of epigrams: "All things come to him who hustles while he waits."

"No," said Mr. Edison in reply to a question, "I don't think the radio will ever replace the phonograph. I worked on the radio after the war, using the apparatus we had on our submarines, but I found when I tried it for recording there was too much mutilation of sounds, which is rather difficult to overcome. A low voice or a baritone carries fairly well on the radio, but it is not perfect. Talking is very good on the radio, because of the even pitch."

"I believe I have the phonograph close to perfection," Mr. Edison continued. "The piano can now be perfectly reproduced. I am trying now to achieve a reproduction of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, played by seventy-five instruments. I can't say when I shall be able to accomplish it, but I think I can."

In speaking of the original model of the phonograph, now in South Kensington Museum, London, Mr. Edison said: "Nobody around here seemed interested in it, and the museum wanted some things. I also gave them the original of the first incandescent light. I am not interested in old models. I suppose it is because they take so much time and trouble to make them right that I lose the sentimental interest. It's what is ahead that interests me, not the past."

REJOINS PETERSBURG MUSIC CO.

J. K. Fletcher, Reappointed Manager of Successful Victor Establishment, Prominent in Retail Circles—Making Plans for the Fall

PETERSBURG, VA., August 5.—J. K. Fletcher, for a long time manager of the Petersburg Music Co. in this city, and more recently manager of the Victrola department of the Andrews Bros. Co., has returned to his old position as manager of the Petersburg Music Co. Mr. Fletcher's many friends in the trade will undoubtedly be pleased to know that he is "back on the job," for he is well known to the retail talking machine trade in the South and has a host of friends in the retail business. Mr. Fletcher is now going after business aggressively and is making plans for a healthy Fall trade.

RELEASES OF STANDARD RECORDINGS

The Apex Recording Laboratory, 1126 Broadway, New York City, announces the release to the general trade of standard recordings in the form of mother matrices in seven, ten and twelve-inch form. The purchasers can either take a complete catalog of all or any of the above-size records or can compile a variety catalog giving them diversified selections. Sales of the mother matrices are made outright for pressing purposes.

"ANNUAL FRIVOLITY RELEASE"

Distinctive Brunswick Copy Appearing in National Mediums Features Dance Records and Makes Strong Appeal to the Masses

A very striking double-page advertisement carried above the name Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. in the July issue of the Saturday Evening Post bears the title "Here It Is! Brunswick's Annual Frivolity Release." The first page is devoted to a list of popular numbers played by the Isham Jones Orchestra, the Oriole Terrace Orchestra, Benny Krueger's Orchestra, Carl Fenton's Orchestra, Rudy Wiedoeft's Californians and Selvin's Orchestra.

The text matter on the opposite page is written in a light vein, but right to the point, reading in part as follows: "Nothing serious—just the newest conceits of world-famous dance orchestras to fill dainty slippers with toes that tingle from one end of the land to the other."

"For eleven months of the year Brunswick is serious.

"We talk about the New Hall of Fame of world-noted artists who have chosen Brunswick as the most fitting means to perpetuate their art. For we are proud of that for which Brunswick stands in the world of musical art. And, quite humanly, like to talk about it.

"But for one month seriousness is cast aside. Frivolity supplants art, with brightness and gaiety, and happy Summer evenings, beguiling the world to play. That's all we have to say."

This is followed by reference to the personalities of the various orchestras, constituting altogether a very clever appeal to the public—one that inclines the reader to buy records. There are some very clever illustrative conceits throughout the advertisement, and it must be said that this latest Brunswick publicity is valuable not only for its sales-creating possibilities, but also for the fact that it is a distinct departure from much of the customary advertising in its special appeal to the rank and file of people.

The merchant who possesses a correct and live mailing list is the owner of a gold mine from which he will garner wealth if he makes the most of it.

Are You Going to Lock the Door After the Horse is Stolen?

The HARPONOLA RADIO de LUXE

If you dealers and distributors of Talking Machines let the electrical and radio shops "cop" all the cabinet radio orders, it will be your own fault.

Let the radio stores sell the experimenters and the boys. You phonograph dealers should sell the folks who want a "drawing-room" radio outfit—and there is a great and growing host of people who want these well-finished cabinet radios.

You can't afford to wait until the cream of this trade is attracted elsewhere. Establish yourself NOW as a cabinet radio shop. There is nothing intricate about the business. In HARPONOLA RADIOS, the units are standard and dependable.

Get our proposition. We'll show you the way to introduce cabinet radios successfully. The profits and volume of sales are going to set new records in money-making.

THE HARPONOLA COMPANY

Makers of the Phonograph with the Golden Voice

CELINA, OHIO

Edmund Brandts, President

Just compare any record of any make with the needle cut Pathe Actuelle and then you will know why the Pathe Actuelle is—

The Best Record in the World

Play on any phonograph with steel needles

For Example, try

"Stumbling"	No. 020746
Romany Love	No. 020777
Parade of the Wooden Soldiers	No. 020780
'Neath the South Sea Moon	No. 020781
Three o'Clock in the Morning	No. 020791
My Yiddisha Mammy	No. 020782
Swanee River Moon	No. 020803

Pathé
Actuelle
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

2 for $1.00 - 55c each

(59c in Rocky Mountain States)

Partial List of Famous Artists—

Tito Schipa
Yvonne Gall
Adamo Didur
Margarethe Matzenauer
Rudolph Ganz
Anna Fitziu
Eleonora de Cisneros
Claudia Muzio
Luigi Montesanto
Kathleen Howard
David Bispham
Grace Hoffman
Alexander Debruille
Helen Yorke
Roberto Rotondo

DEALERS—

If you don't act quick your neighbor will be selling Actuelle Records. Write to us at once for information regarding the Blue Ribbon Order.

PATHÉ FRÈRES PHONOGRAPH CO.

20 Grand Avenue

Brooklyn, New York

Some Practical Ideas That Helped Not Only to Promote but to Close Sales :: By Thornton Hall

August is the month of vacations, but it is also the month of ideas. Several excellent notions for developing the sale of talking machines and records have already cropped up this month. The first case in point that comes to mind is that of a dealer in one of the larger Long Island towns about half-way down the Island.

This chap operates a sheet music department in connection with his talking machine business. It is a very good sheet music business, but like all other sheet music merchants the end of each month finds him with a fair-sized supply of popular music dead on his hands. He calculates the demand and when the popular run on a number has burned itself out or failed entirely to materialize he finds himself with a certain quantity of unsalable copies.

On the first day of this month he looked over his stock and sorted out copies until he had a pile several feet thick of popular "hits" which had passed out of the picture of popular desire. There was a very slim chance that he could sell more than thirty cents' worth. He might bale it and sell it to an old paper merchant, but it was an expensive pile of paper. Some of the numbers had cost him twenty-three cents a copy. He might throw it in the window and cut the price in two, but he had tried that and it never worked. If the public wants a number it wants it when it is fresh. Price is not an inducement.

Here is where idea number one comes in. Why attempt to sell them? Why not give them away? Accordingly he got himself a rubber stamp and an ink pad and stamped every copy, "Compliments of The Music Shop, 171 Main street." It was Saturday night and he knew where he could dispose of every copy. The movie house on the corner had a very good bill and a crowded house. The curb was lined with automobiles on both sides of the street for a block. In each sheet of music he inserted a circular advertising a portable talking machine and the record releases for July and August. Packing them all in a bushel basket he set out personally to distribute them. Along the line of machines he went, placing several copies in each car until he had disposed of the entire lot.

The Man on the Firing Line Gives Away the Secret How Some Dealers Really Close Substantial Orders

He considers that he has secured at a small expense some very effective advertising of the most direct type. A great many of the motorist-movie fans were very pleased with the music, and those who had already owned copies appreciated the dealer's spirit. He was able to reach a great many new prospects direct and he advertised his store, his talking machine department and his sheet music department. He not only eliminated a charge for envelopes and postage, but he created the impression in the minds of several score of desirable prospects that he was a live-wire merchant.

Dealers who are confronted with the monthly problem of disposing of their surplus music copies might do well to profit by this chap's stunt. This dead merchandise is usually a flat loss and this method of clearing it off your shelves paves the way for some future business. It also goes to show that a sheet music department is closely and naturally allied with the business of selling talking machines.

Putting Sales Over Satisfactorily

So much for idea number one. Let us consider another of the practical August-born merchandising stunts. This one has to do with an Indiana dealer who decided that the Summer slump in machine business gave him a fine opportunity to experiment with a hunch he had been considering. Experiment he did and the hunch went over big.

The equipment for carrying out this idea included a list of every home in the territory which was without a talking machine, a Ford roadster and a live, energetic canvasser-salesman. He succeeded in obtaining a very good list of names, and sent the salesman out in the Ford to dispose of one hundred machines to these prospects. Here is the way he worked it.

Ford stops at the house of Mrs. Brown, who happens to be the first prospect on the list. Salesman hops out and rings the bell, which is answered by Mrs. Brown.

"Good morning, Mrs. Brown. I know just what you're thinking. You see my Ford out there and a phonograph on behind. You think I'm here to

(Continued on page 22)

The Recent Chicago Radio Show

Resulted in quantity orders from concerns ranging from Florida to California on—

THE RADIO BUILDER SET

Shipped to customer in "knock-down" form and requiring only a screwdriver and a few moments to complete its assembly.

When finished it provides a vacuum tube set which is very selective, giving extremely loud and undistorted signals.

Price - $30.00

SOME DEALER PROPOSITIONS STILL OPEN

The above type set is available in one, two and three tube form.

RAYMOND RADIO CORPORATION

Manufacturers to the Radio Industry

Offices: 309 Lafayette Street, N. Y.

Works: Farmingdale, L. I.

PRACTICAL IDEAS PROMOTE SALES

(Continued from page 21)

sell you that phonograph and you're all prepared to say 'No'.

"Not at all," he continues, glibly and pleasantly, before Mrs. Brown can interrupt. "Not at all. That's a ———— talking machine. The ———— company is a big advertiser and they do things in a big way. Just now they are putting on the biggest advertising stunt you or I ever heard of. For one month, Mrs. Brown, they are going to loan one of the ———— talking machines to every home in this city that hasn't already a talking machine of some kind.

"This is being done merely to advertise music. There is absolutely no obligation incurred by you to buy the machine at the end of the month. The company figures that by doing this in every home in the country without a talking machine they are going to sell the idea of music to the country. The more musical the country is the better the company's business will be. You see the idea?"

"Another thing, Mrs. Brown. The ———— company is represented in this city by the Beethoven Music Shop. The allotment of instruments for this city is limited, so the Beethoven people have had to cut down the list of homes to those in which they know the instrument will be well taken care of. You may be pleased to know that you were first on the list."

This settles Mrs. Brown. This surprising offer had rather bewildered her. She was suspicious; it seemed too good to be true. There must be a catch somewhere, but the subtle flattery of the salesman removed all doubts. He easily obtained her permission to place the instrument in the home for a month. He showed her how to operate and take care of the instrument and left. The next day Mr. and Mrs. Brown dropped in and bought a few records.

Now what happens? A few evenings later the Browns are sitting in their parlor when their neighbors, the Lathrops, come to call. "Oh, I didn't know you had a talking machine! Isn't it a handsome instrument! What a fine tone it has."

Do the Browns confess that it isn't really their machine, but merely loaned to them as an advertising stunt? They do not, and their silence implies ownership. They cannot return the machine now. What would the Lathrops think? Anyway, they are becoming imbued with the desire to own it.

Soon the dealer telephones Mrs. Brown. Is the machine working all right? Can he be of any assistance? What's that? Oh, yes, Mrs. Brown, I think it can be arranged that you can keep the machine at the end of the month.

The next day the salesman makes another call at Mrs. Brown's and the terms of sale are arranged. This dealer had one hundred prospects on the list. Eighty per cent of the prospects were persuaded to take a machine for a month. Only 25 per cent failed to keep their machines at the end of the month, so the campaign netted him sixty sales of machines, a great deal of record and needle and accessories business, and twenty live prospects for future sales.

Co-operating With the Local Newspapers

The third of these sales-producing ideas originated with a merchant in Massachusetts. It commends itself to us because we think it is a practical one that can be adopted with a good deal of success by other talking machine dealers. It is an extremely simple stunt and consists of a music department in a local newspaper. He made a co-operative arrangement with the editor to provide a music page every Saturday evening.

The dealer agreed to take complete charge of the department. It was decided that the salary of such an editor would amount to just about the cost of the merchant's advertising in the paper, so that was the financial arrangement.

The subject matter in the music page was along the lines of the music pages that appear in the several metropolitan dailies. There were short sketches on musical men and affairs, both past and present. A regular list of popular records, player-piano rolls and sheet music was given, showing the relative popularity of the selections week by week. Experts on musical topics were engaged to write pertinent articles. Concert notices and reviews were given. The report is that the page resulted in much mutual benefit.

These examples indicate that even though business may show a falling off during the hot weather the merchant's gray matter must be kept working at top speed. When business lags it affords an opportunity to put on the thinking cap and to evolve some ideas that may be used later on, when the demand gets better and the competition grows keen.

PLANS ACTIVE SALES CAMPAIGN

A new use for the talking machine which can be included in the "indoor sports" was recently introduced by the Phon-o-Game Co., Elizabeth, N. J., samples of which are now being forwarded to the trade gratis. The main feature of the game is a twelve-inch disc somewhat resembling a standard record. Upon the outer edge of this disc is printed in red and black a series of numbers. The disc is placed upon the machine (without the tone arm or needle) and the brake is released. The record spins at high speed and when the brake is applied the winning number is indicated by a brass arrow, a part of the outfit. A set of rules accompanies the Phon-o-Games, showing the variations of playing the disc. Incidentally, there is an extra circle on the disc whereby the favorite "put-and-take" game can be played.

The manufacturer has planned an active Fall sales campaign and has issued window display signs and other publicity matter for dealers' use.

DELAWARE INCORPORATION

The Redorad Park Corp. of America, of Wilmington, has been granted a charter of incorporation under the laws of Delaware for the manufacture of talking machines. The concern is capitalized at $500,000.

Past experiences often indicate the things to avoid in the future.

Are You Selling "ORPHAN" Machines?GRANBY EDITORIAL LETTER*Number Six

From Granby Phonograph Corporation, Newport News, Va.

There was a time in nearly every State when someone was trying to start an automobile company. Promoters sold stock, made promises, and built a few cars. A lot of people lost a lot of money.

Some of the promoters were honest, and some were not. The less said about those who were not honest the better. This country wants to rid itself of dishonesty.

But a great many of the promoters were honest. They tried. Tried hard. They failed because they didn't have enough capital to tide them over the hard spots.

And when they stopped manufacturing automobiles what happened? Who suffered? The investors—yes, but more:

A LOT OF DEALERS SUFFERED, TOO. They had cars on hand which were no longer being made. Would customers want to buy these "ORPHAN" cars? No!

Suppose you are an automobile dealer. You have a lot of cars on hand which are no longer being made. Stuck, perhaps! Because "Who wants to buy a car when it isn't good enough to keep the makers from going in the hole?" That is what possible purchasers would figure. "Those cars you have are ORPHANS. They have no father or no mother." In just such a way the prospects would reason.

Let's turn to phonographs. Before and during the war great numbers of manufacturers started making machines that sold simply because people bought up everything. And then all of a sudden competition began again. You know the story, you dealers who THINK.

The makers didn't have enough capital to keep going. Most of them failed. THERE was the crop of "ORPHAN" phonographs, without manufacturer backing.

This is a condition that dealers should beware of. It is dangerous to the growth of their profits. Now you see why we tell you about the financial backing behind the GRANBY PHONOGRAPH.

The Granby is made and distributed by the Granby Phonograph Corporation of Newport News, Virginia. Capital is $2,500,000.00. That is the FIRST fact.

Lifetime Construction
EARLY VIRGINIAN CONSOLE
Granby No. 51—$175

The Granby Corporation is in turn OWNED and FINANCIALLY BACKED by the FOUR AND ONE HALF MILLION DOLLARS of the AMERICAN HOME FURNISHERS CORPORATION of Norfolk, Virginia. That is the SECOND fact.

The entire resources of the American Home Furnishers Corporation are behind GRANBY. And that is why GRANBY is now gradually and surely growing. The Granby Phonograph is a sterling-true product, backed by plenty of capital. These facts give CONFIDENCE to Granby dealers. These facts give CONFIDENCE to Granby owners. They HEAR for themselves the "Mellow as Southern Moonlight" tone, and they KNOW that their machine is now and ever shall be fathered and mothered by its makers.

There is a generous offer awaiting you in Newport News. Send for it. Write a letter to us today and let us show you how the GRANBY FRANCHISE will positively bring greater PROFITS to you. We shall send you this liberal offer the same day we get your letter.

GRANBY Phonograph CORPORATION

Capital $2,500,000.00

Offices and Factory

Newport News,

Virginia

"The road to profit is as plain as the road to market"

Movies Present a Real Profit Opportunity

"Movies" in the home spell opportunity for the progressive dealer who is first to introduce them in his territory. There is a satisfactory profit in the sale of the machine, but there is a continuous profit in the steady demand for Daypho Paper Prints---the Safety film that is made of paper.

The Demand for Paper Films Brings Customers to Your Store Every Day—A Steadily Growing Demand

You need a small and varied stock of Daypho Films to start with, in addition to catalogs covering the entire Daypho-Bray Library. Then each customer can choose his Library of Films at his leisure.

Daypho Cabinet Model Ready for Projection

Cabinet Model Closed

Homes, Schools and Clubs

Every person and every organization is a prospect for the Daypho Motion Picture Machine and a Film Library to suit their needs.

Catalogs and Advertising Furnished to Aid in Promoting Sales

Daypho Paper Films Absolutely Eliminate Fire Risk

CUT OUT - - - Pin to Letterhead

Send Catalog	()
Send Advertising	()
Quote Prices and Terms	()
Send Sample of Film	()
Have You Sold Projectors	()
Do You Sell Photo Supplies	()
Please check (✓) for "Yes"
Use cross (X) for "No"

These Paper Prints (or Films) are made of a specially treated paper of extremely tough fiber, which will not crack or break. It provides a picture of remarkable clarity, is less expensive than celluloid, and is absolutely safe.

The Dayton Photo Products Co.
DAYTON, OHIO, U. S. A.

Some Practical and Valuable Tips on How to Conduct Your Retail Business :: By Jos. W. Schwetz

Joseph W. Schwetz, who for twenty years has been connected with the firm of I. Davega, Jr., Inc., and its successor, the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., made his first public address in all those years at the last dealers' meeting of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Victor wholesaler, New York. In view of Mr. Schwetz's reticence as a public speaker his remarks on "How to Conduct Your Business" aroused a great deal of interest among the dealers present. He presented his ideas in a modest way, setting forth that whereas he felt that perhaps a great many of his listeners may be utilizing the ideas he was about to set forth, yet he might present some thoughts that are new which may be overlooked by some during the days when the cash register is working overtime. He also pointed out that in all the years he had been doing business he had always tried to practice the theories he was about to preach. He then proceeded:

How and Where to Find Customers

"The first and most important thing in most businesses is to find customers. Therefore it is advisable to utilize every plan you can think of to get in touch with those with whom you are likely to do business. Customers are often found where least expected. Do not miss any customers that may be right in your own circle of acquaintances, or let your acquaintances put you in touch with interested parties.

Read the Newspapers

"Keep in touch with all that is going on in your locality. There is often an item of news in the paper that will show you where you can find a customer. For instance, several newspapers, one in particular, called The Chief, has a column exclusively devoted to marriage licenses. Here is an exceptional opportunity for you to get in touch with newly married couples who would be interested in the merchandise you sell. If you read of a person's house or flat being damaged by fire it will probably pay you to visit the party at once, for as soon as he collects insurance, which he undoubtedly has on his property, he may be in the market for Victrolas or records which you can sell him. Notices of engagements in your local papers also suggest opportunities for making sales.

"Make friends with children, for through children you will often reach the parents and learn of their desires, which you may be able to fill. Make inquiries among those whom you meet in your store, lodges, at meetings, etc. Let people know you are a Victor dealer. Impress this upon them by courtesy and ask them to let you know if they have any friends or know of anyone who may be a Victrola prospect.

Jos. W. Schwetz

Be Systematic

"Keep the name and address of anyone who may be a prospective customer in an index file. Keep after them by letter, 'phone or personal calls. Remember, keeping everlastingly after them brings the business. Remember also that you should sell to those who sell to you. If you are doing business with a grocer, butcher, baker or tailor be sure to get all the business possible out of them. If you are giving them business they should return the favor by giving business to you whenever they need anything in your line. You in turn can help them by aiding them to get new customers among your friends and acquaintances.

"To cite an example of this: The other day I had lunch with one of our retailers. It was not the first time he had taken me to lunch and I noticed that every time he took me to a different restaurant. I asked him why he changed his restaurant so often when the service and food were so good in the places where we had dined before. He told me that he had made several sales to the various employees in these different restaurants and in the particular restaurant where we were having our lunch that day he had sold three Victrolas to the waitresses and one to the chef, and his next prospect was the proprietor, who promised him an order for a period Victrola as soon as his house was completed. This dealer made the most of his opportunities and he let everyone know he was a Victor dealer. This was the way in which his order was carried to the chef, 'One order of roast chicken for the Victrola man,' and, believe me, when that order was brought out everything was on the table but the kitchen stove.

"If you are a member of a club or some organization that brings you in touch with a number of people that should be a good basis to work up a list of prospective customers.

Be an Advertiser

"Advertising for customers by means of letters, by special circulars or through newspapers is very important.

"If you can get your relatives, friends and acquaintances to help you advertise and boost the sales of Victrolas it will help wonderfully in getting in touch with customers. Do not forget that a good time to sell something is when you are purchasing something yourself. For instance, 'Three new specials will be released next week,' 'We have just received the new model Victrolas,' or 'Stumbling,' 'Some Sunny Day' and 'Coo Coo' are Whiteman's best numbers this month. Tell these things to all with whom you do business. Invite them into your store to hear these records and see the new model Victrolas, for, as I have said before, people whom you give your business to should give their business to you.

Show Appreciation

"Do not forget to show your appreciation for every little help you receive whenever a sale is made to a person whose name was suggested by or secured from some other customer or friend. Be sure to call upon the party who gave you this new customer's name and give him at least a hearty word of thanks.

"Treat your customers as if you hoped to do business with them the rest of your life. Try your best to please them. Make your customers your friends. Then, when they hear of anyone in the market for a Victrola they will go to any reasonable amount of trouble to let you know about it and recommend you.

Go After Summer Business

"During the Summer a great many retailers and salesmen discontinue their efforts to get business. This is a mistake. It is just because of this condition that you have a chance to do plenty of business if you will push as hard as you usually do. With less competition you ought to do as well in the Summer months as during the other seasons of the year.

Study to Please Customers

"In dealing with your customers be sure to impress upon them your desire to please and satisfy their wants. Your success depends upon pleasing customers, and in handling record customers the Victor catalog offers you enough variety to suit all customers. After a record sale has been

(Continued on page 26)

BRUNS MADERITE

MADERITE

WATERPROOF

PHONOGRAPH MOVING COVERS

Cover, Straps Attached

A cover that will fully protect against damage in delivery and against the ravages of inclement weather.

Why be troubled with packing and unpacking? Why not just slip a MADERITE Padded Delivery Cover over the machine? No fuss, no dirt and positive insurance against damage incident to delivery.

The use of the BRUNS MADERITE Covers, made of highest grade waterproof fabric, heavily padded, is not only serviceable but profitable. This cover is highly recommended.

Consult your regular jobber or write us for sample of cloth and prices.

A. BRUNS & SONS
50 RALPH AVE.
BROOKLYN
N. Y.

A. BRUNS & SONS
50 Ralph Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Manufacturers of Everything Made of Canvas

The Swanson

PORTABLE PHONOGRAPH

Sweeping the Country

This marvelous portable with its wooden tone-arm is proving a revelation to talking machine dealers. The splendid tone quality of the SWANSON makes it superior to any portable on the market.

Weight—15¼ lbs.

Compact, attractive and absolutely fool-proof. Heineman double spring motor; high grade sound box and needle container. A real portable.

Write for details of liberal jobber and dealer proposition

Phantom View—showing each part in place ready for carrying

The Swanson—ready for playing

List price of the SWANSON — $40. Unusually liberal discounts to live jobbers and dealers. Write our nearest sales office for details.

Weight complete, 15¼ lbs.
Dimensions, 11⅞" x 13" x 7½"

We have an exceptionally attractive sales proposition for successful established jobbing houses. Wire our nearest office today. Territory now being allotted.

Swanson Sales Company

R. W. MOON, General Manager

1133 Broadway
New York, N. Y.

308 West Ontario Street
Chicago, Ill.

536 Merchants Nat'l Bank Bldg.
Los Angeles, Cal.

TIPS ON CONDUCTING RETAIL TRADE

(Continued from page 24)

consummated and you have bid your customer good-day a little remark such as, 'I hope you and your family will be pleased with your selection,' tends to show your customer that you have his best interest at heart. This will do a great deal towards inducing them to call again when they wish to make other record purchases and will also induce them to recommend others to your store.

"Study the people with whom you come in contact. Gain their friendship, their confidence, for that is one of the biggest factors in getting business. Learn their likes and dislikes. A knowledge of people with whom you are trying to do business will help you greatly.

Study Yourself

"You can learn a lot of these general principles by studying yourself, for if you yourself know what sort of treatment you would like to receive or what motives will induce you to buy and what methods will attract or repel you, you are pretty sure to have a good line on the other fellow.

"We all have our faults and weaknesses and we will be more successful when we learn what they are and overcome them. If a salesman has a cold or repellant manner he should endeavor to change it. Meeting people with a smile and a warm, hearty handshake goes a long way towards winning friends and customers and, by the way, one of our retailers who pays the highest rent for any one store in New York City is the greatest handshaker in the world. His success is attributed to his handshake, his smile and his interest in his customers.

"Care in personal appearance is an important matter. The salesman whose shoes need cleaning, whose linen is soiled and who needs a shave is not likely to attract the right kind of people. Never be too 'fresh' or too familiar with customers. Familiarity breeds contempt. Business matters are serious matters with most people, and if any joking is to be done let your customers do it. Always be polite. Politeness may not in itself secure any customers, but it will surely create a favorable impression and cannot possibly cause you to lose customers, as may a cold or brusque manner.

Do Not "Knock"

"Do not try to win customers for yourself by knocking the other fellow, his merchandise, and what he is trying to sell. Every time you talk about a competitor you advertise him and when you are talking about another man's goods you are neglecting to talk up your own merchandise. A wise salesman learns all about his own merchandise and tells his customers about it. If he studies what his competitor is selling it is only for the purpose of pointing out the difference in the article offered and not for the purpose of defaming his competitor or misleading his prospective customer.

Be Continually Active

"The way to find customers is to be as industrious as possible in your search for them. Intelligent activity is the thing that counts and when you are not active in searching for customers be active in thinking out new ways to find them and how to create and increase your sales of records and Victrolas. Keep your mind on your business. Do not waste time and energy on outside lines that cannot help you any. Victrolas and records are your main line. That is your calling. Remember, you are selling the best talking machines and records in the world. Go after that business."

EXPANSION OF MAGNAVOX CO. PLANT

Addition Just Completed to Meet Increased Demand for Special Magnavox for Use With Radio Receiving Sets—Davis Ends Trip

The Magnavox Co., manufacturer of amplifying loud speakers heretofore used in telephones, which talking machine dealers have installed in stores for publicity purposes, is now manufacturing a loud speaker on the same principle for use with radio receiving sets. At the present time the company is devoting a considerable portion of its large factory in Oakland, Cal., to the manufacture of these radio loud speakers, but the demand for them necessitated the construction of a large addition, which was completed last month and is now being occupied. W. R. Davis, sales manager of the company, has just returned from a two months' trip which took him to the plant in California. En route he visited all of the important trade centers and conferred with talking machine men in the interest of both the radio loud speaker and the speaker used in conjunction with the talking machine. He stated that everywhere talking machine dealers were in a very receptive mood as regards radio, and that all are making plans for a very fine Fall and Winter business. Although the month of July showed little activity in actual sales many orders were booked for early Fall delivery, and the Magnavox plant has been kept busy accumulating a stock to meet these future orders, and all indications point to a brisk demand.

The sales offices of the company in New York City have been moved into larger and more commodious quarters at 370 Seventh avenue, where they are much better prepared to take care of the expected increase in business during the coming Fall.

THE MELODIOUS AND TUNEFUL

A "HIT" EVERYWHERE

STAGE AND DANCE

THREE LITTLE WORDS

FOX-TROT

SHEET RECORDS ROLLS

JOE MITTENTHAL INC. NEW YORK

LECTURES AID RECORD SALES

Representative of Columbia Co. Delivers Lectures on Music Appreciation to College Students and Boosts Sale of Records

FAYETTEVILLE, ARK., August 5.—Increased sales of talking machine records followed the recent appearance of Miss Florence E. Hazlet, of the educational department of the Columbia Graphophone Co., before the students of the University of Arkansas, to whom she demonstrated how very young children may be taught to appreciate music by forming small bands and following the music on records. Miss Hazlet also discussed music appreciation as taught to grammar and high school students. The public was invited to listen to her lectures and the result was a noticeable increase in the sale of records by local merchants.

SPECIALIZES IN STANDARD RECORDS

The Emerson Phonograph Co., 206 Fifth avenue, New York City, announces that its efforts are being entirely concentrated upon the production of standard records. A catalog of standard American works, vocal and instrumental, secular and sacred, operatic, Hawaiian and foreign records is to be featured under the new plan. The foreign record catalogs are particularly interesting, including universally known works, and are quite comprehensive in scope.

Nick Nelson, who was formerly vice-president of A. L. Cummings, Sheridan, Wyo., has purchased the Ball Music Co., of Billings, Mont., and will continue that business under his own name, handling the Victor line exclusively.

THE NEW PHILLIPS OCTAGON THROW BACK ARM No. 5

Pleasing to the Eye
and
Pleasing to the Ear

Also equipped with our regular
No. 3 Reproducer if desired

Tone Arm measures 8½ in., and
9 in. from centre to centre

Tone Arms and Sound Boxes
complete from $2.00 up

Quantity Prices on Request

The William Phillips Phono Parts Corp.

Manufacturers of Tone Arms for Portable, Medium and High Grade Machines

145 West Forty-fifth Street

New York City

Reputation Counts

MR. VICTOR DEALER

You cannot afford to overlook the reputation of the Victor Distributor you select as your main source of supply.

Your Distributor investigates your reputation before giving you credit. He wants to know your reputation for keeping promises and meeting obligations. You are generally served and supported accordingly. Why not investigate your Distributor's reputation?

Your source of supply should be dependable under all conditions. Choose your Victor Distributor as you would your doctor or lawyer. The best is none too good in critical times. You may need financial support or advice to meet your particular situation during a business depression. You have learned the need of a dependable source of supply during a great shortage.

Experience and reputation are extremely important. In our experience of over twenty years we have seen manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers come and go. The failures, however, seldom suffer alone.

Do not overlook the value of representing a product of a strong manufacturer with a source of supply through a wholesaler of corresponding strength and reputation. Profit by the experience of others.

The Victor Talking Machine Co. and its product are supreme. The events of recent years pay tribute to that fact. As the Fall and busy holiday season approaches, you should weigh carefully the reputation of various Victor Distributors in your territory and make your choice accordingly. If you do, you will not disregard the Blackman reputation, through experience, financial strength, preparedness and, above all, dependability. They are all at your service, Mr. Victor Dealer. Can you afford to overlook the opportunity?

Take this seriously, Mr. Victor Dealer, and interview us if we are not your main source of supply. Blackman preparedness and dependability, we are confident, will convince you of the need of the combination—the Victor and Blackman.

Yes, reputation counts, Mr. Victor Dealer, and it is going to count big between now and January 1st.

Blackman
TALKING MACHINE CO.
28-30 W. 23RD ST. NEW YORK N.Y.
VICTOR WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS

"Genius is but the infinite capacity for taking pains"

Where Cheney Makes Its Own Gauges Accurate within .0005 of an Inch

This is part of the tool room in the Cheney metal plant—where Cheney experts make many of the gauges used in The Cheney.

In other advertisements we have told you how practically every part of The Cheney mechanism is required to be perfect within the limits of $2/10,000$ ths to $4/10,000$ ths of an inch. Cheney gauges with which these most exacting tests are made must be more perfect yet—perfect within $5/10,000$ ths of an inch.

How can we tell you what that means? Possibly by saying that an average human hair is $4/1000$ ths of an inch in diameter, and that the utmost limit of variation permitted in the manufacture of Cheney gauges is only $1/8$ th of that. Think of it— $1/8$ th of the diameter of a hair!

Only such precision and such care could build for The Cheney its reputation as the "Master Instrument."

THE CHENEY TALKING MACHINE COMPANY · CHICAGO

The dial gauge illustrated above is only one of scores of special testing devices originating in The Cheney factories. The sensitive finger of the dial will point out a variation as small as $1/10,000$ th of an inch, a variation so minute that it is microscopic.

It is with such devices, made perfect under the trained eyes of its own experts, that Cheney is able to maintain its own high standards of quality of manufacture for its instrument.

Regular Cheney models sell from $115 to $325. Cheney console art models are priced as low as $250.

The CHENEY

THE MASTER INSTRUMENT

Four-Minute Conference on Business Topics

No. 4—Your Reputation

[This is the fourth of a series of four-minute conferences on topics of direct interest to business men in the talking machine trade which have been prepared for this publication by Lester G. Herbert.—EDITOR.]

Business reputation is quite as important as personal reputation. In fact, it is difficult to separate one from the other. But oftentimes a business principal with an excellent record will be surprised to learn that curious rumors are afloat which may be true, and he has supposed that he has kept the facts to himself. Or the rumors may be entirely false and intensely annoying.

As a rule, the cause of such reports can be traced to too much talking. Someone has been too ready to give information. The business principal himself can be genial, straightforward and a good mixer, without giving away facts which concern himself and his own affairs only.

There will be plenty of people ready to pump him for no reason at all save to gratify curiosity and to have something to peddle about, and there will be others who will be anxious to get business tips in order to determine just where competition will hit the hardest. The old maxim, "A wise head keeps a close mouth," applies here.

A recent case came to notice where a business man boasted of having been able to buy a lot of goods at a price so low that it enabled him to make a 200 per cent profit. The story became current and much was made of it, and a general impression prevailed that this man's prices were exorbitant on all of the goods and service which he offered. It cost him a lot of patronage and much advantage which it had cost him years to win.

Then employes are often thoughtless in the details which they impart. Many people make a point of placing workers in any and every capacity in order to discover something of a startling nature. All employes having records to handle should be impressed with the responsibility laid upon them by reasonable loyalty, and records containing details should be properly cared for and not left lying about for everyone to read and perhaps misinterpret.

Our war experience proved to us that it is even possible for spies to dwell deliberately in our midst and to gain our confidence. It is not desirable to be suspicious of everyone, nor to give ourselves unnecessary worry. Nevertheless freedom from worry is purchased by sound business methods and wise discretion which insure safety and do not make public affairs which are justly of a private nature.

A business man who had been disappointed in moneys which he had expected to receive and who had been called upon to pay out more than he had planned to do on a certain day drew his bank account down to $11. This gave him no anxiety, however, as he was amply prepared to protect himself by deposits from various other sources. Knowing, however, that he was to have a substantial sum of money paid to him that day he hesitated to disturb any other matters. The money came in and the deposit was made and everything was tidied over without trouble.

But in the meantime an employe had seen that record, "Balance, $11.47," and forthwith a rumor was sent flying abroad that the firm was on the edge of bankruptcy. Much embarrassment resulted, and not a few creditors pressed their claims insistently. The business man learned his lesson, but at no small expense.

Your business reputation takes a long time to build up. It can be torn down in short order. It pays to be careful!

WISCONSIN VICTOR DEALERS MEET

Eastern Wisconsin Victor Dealers' Association Holds Second Meeting—J. A. Sandee Elected Chairman of Next Meeting

APPLETON, WIS., August 2.—The second monthly meeting of the Eastern Wisconsin Victor Dealers' Association was held here recently, resulting in the election of J. A. Sandee as chairman of the third meeting of the organization, to be held in Fond du Lac this month. The local meeting was held in the Hotel Appleton and followed by a banquet. Among those who attended were: Mr. Bleck, Sheboygan; J. A. Sandee, Fond du Lac; Henry Brauer and O. A. Look, Kaukauna; Henry Chrisen, Manitowoc; Thomas Dowring and Mr. Zobrowsky, De Pere; Otto Schopen, Milwaukee; D. M. Grioux, Green Bay; Ralph Wilson, Oshkosh. There was quite a profitable exchange of ideas.

NEW OKEH RADIO RECORDS

Interesting Records Featuring Radio Code Now Ready for Trade—Okeh Jobbers Enthusiastic as to Their Value

The General Phonograph Corp., New York, manufacturer of Okeh records, has just released two new records for the purpose of furthering the interest of radio enthusiasts in the radio code. These records are known as radio code lessons number one and two on Okeh record 4633 and lessons number three and four on Okeh record 4634. The first record is a complete explanation and instruction in a new method of learning the radio code, which it is stated will enable radio fans to learn the code in one-tenth of the time usually required.

These very interesting records were made for the Okeh library by Jack Binns, the famous COD wireless operator of the S.S. "Republic" and radio editor of the New York Tribune. The short-cut system for learning the code, which is featured by Okeh, was presented by J. C. H. Macbeth, code expert and author of the Marconi code.

The General Phonograph Corp. is planning a vigorous sales campaign in behalf of these two records and a feature of this campaign is the publication of an instruction book, which accompanies the records and forms a complete outfit. The book is a detailed explanation regarding the new system on which the records are based and is also written by Mr. Macbeth. The complete outfit of two records and the book retails for $2.00 or may be sold separately by Okeh dealers at 75 cents each for the record and 50 cents per copy for the book. Okeh jobbers have evinced keen interest in these radio records and the Moore-Bird Co., of Denver, Colo., wrote the following interesting letter to J. A. Sieber, advertising manager of the company:

"You have 'hit the ceiling' again with your two new radio records and we are anxiously waiting to receive our samples, together with the sample of the book. This thing is so simple that it is hard to understand why it has not been done before, but it is only another tribute to the efficiency of the Okeh organization in being the first with new, fast-selling merchandise."

The Pierian Phonograph Mfg. Co., of Goshen, Ind., has filed a decree of dissolution.

Cash in on the Wireless Demand

Our specially equipped Cabinets, with horn and all apparatus out of the way, sell themselves. Also in stock as complete Phonographs or Cabinets for assemblers. Write for Prices

Seaburg Mfg. Co.
Jamestown, N. Y.

The Biggest Value on the Market. A Trial Order Will Convince

No. 250T, List Price $195.00
Usual discounts to dealers
48"x28"x31" high. Finished all around
Genuine Mahogany, Walnut or Oak

VOCALION PHONOGRAPHS

THE VOCALION LINE

Combines High Grade Distinction with the Best Merchandising Value in the Trade

Style No. 550

Style No. 1623

Style No. 1627

Style No. 720

Style No. 1624

The Graduola

The great Tone-controlling device—obtainable only on The Vocalion

Style No. 1593

The A E O L
NEW YORK CINCINNATI

VOCALION

RED RECORDS

Plavable on All Phonographs

THE DISTRIBUTORS OF
THE VOCALION AND VOCALION RECORDS

- MUSICAL PRODUCTS DIS. CO.,
37 E. 18th St., New York City
- A. C. ERISMAN CO., 174 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.
Vocalion Record Distributors
- WOODSIDE VOCALION CO., 154 High St., Portland, Me.
- LINCOLN BUSINESS BUREAU,
1011 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.
- GIBSON SNOW CO., 306 West Willow St., Syracuse, N. Y.
Vocalion Record Distributors
- CLARK MUSICAL SALES CO.,
324 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.
- SONORA DISTR. CO., 505 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Vocalion Record Distributors
- PENN-VOCALION CO., 16 W. King St., Lancaster, Pa.
- O. J. DE MOLL & CO., 12th and G Sts., Washington, D. C.
- VOCALION CO. of OHIO,
328 W. Superior St., Cleveland, Ohio
- VOCALION CO. of OHIO, 420 W. 4th St., Cincinnati, Ohio
- LIND & MARKS CO., 530 Bates St., Detroit, Mich.
- THE AEOLIAN COMPANY,
529 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.
- LOUISVILLE MUSIC CO., 529 S. 4th St., Louisville, Ky.
- HESSIG ELLIS DRUG CO.,
Memphis, Tenn.
Vocalion Record Distributors
- THE AEOLIAN CO., 1004 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.
- GUEST PIANO CO., Burlington, Iowa
- D. H. HOLMES CO., New Orleans, La.
- STONE PIANO CO., Fargo, N. D.
- STONE PIANO CO., 826 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
- CONSOLIDATED MUSIC CO., Salt Lake City, Utah
- COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATES,
754 N. Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal.
- THE MAGNAVOX CO., 616 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.
Vocalion Record Distributors

Let Us Get in Touch With You Regarding the Complete Vocalion Line

Evelyn Scotney

Noted Australian Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company

EXCLUSIVELY VOCALION

I A N Company
CHICAGO ST. LOUIS BOSTON

You pick a winner when you order A-3652. This is Nora Bayes in two typical Bayesesque songs, "You've Had Your Day" and "I Ain't Never Had Nobody Crazy Over Me." Nora has a wheedling, whimsical way in these swinging melodies that makes one just have to have that record.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

DETROIT

Vacationists Keep Trade Volume Up—Music Contest Helps—Dealers Adopt Aggressive Tactics

DETROIT, MICH., August 6.—The talking machine business in this city, while not as brisk as a few weeks ago, remains comparatively active. This fortunate state of affairs is attributed to the fact that the vacation season is in full swing and that many people desire to take some music with them. As a result there is a steady demand for used machines at prices ranging from $15 upwards, depending of course upon the model and its general condition. The new portables are also finding big favor with the public and the majority of dealers say that they cannot get them fast enough. Dance records are selling briskly and there is a slightly increasing demand for the more enduring type of music.

Music Memory Contest Stimulates Trade

Dealers believe this demand is created by the Music Memory Contest, which is city-wide in its scope and is well under way with over 15,000 contestants already enrolled and more coming in, despite the lateness of the date. Many of the leading music stores, in addition to being donors of prizes, are keeping the contest well to the fore by means of weekly concerts in their various shops. Among such firms featuring these concerts, at which themes used in the contest are played, we find the following: J. L. Hudson Co., Kimball Piano Co., Grinnell Bros., The Edison Shop, Peoples Outfitting Co., White Furniture Co., Gardner-White Co. The concerts are well attended and serve as a means of bringing in many new faces to the shops. One of the good things resulting from the contest is the bringing into prominence of much local talent of exceptional ability. Many people are buying records of the themes used, both from a desire to become more familiar with them and also because they are awakening to a better appreciation of music.

The majority of dealers here are putting forth strenuous efforts to land business and are achieving very gratifying results. Grinnell Bros. are among the leaders in aggressive sales tactics and they are doing a remarkable amount of business, all things considered. One of the members of the firm stated that, "We are working hard for the business we are getting but we are inclined to believe that anybody could do it if they wanted to."

The majority of dealers are anticipating a brisk Fall trade and are setting the stages early, so to speak. One of the dealers on Woodward avenue remarked that he had noticed a different attitude on the part of the buying public, a happier attitude, and he attributed this to the fact that the large Detroit industries are running full time and in many cases overtime. This means that there is plenty of work for everyone and also means that nearly every one has some ready money. With the return of prosperity the need for strict economy is passing. "As soon as the people return to the city in sufficient numbers, from their vacations, I confidently expect to see my sales greatly increased. At present I am disposing of all the second-hand machines I receive and this business is not to be despised," he says.

"Vacations cost money and without money are not to be indulged in. If the people who are away on vacations did not have a source of income they would remain in town and look for work. People able to indulge in vacations are able to buy and upon their return will undoubtedly do so, if the record of the last two or three months can be regarded as any indication."

George W. Bourke, of the Kimball Piano Co., also handling the Kimball phonograph, returned the first of the month from a fishing trip to the upper peninsula of Michigan. Accompanied by friends he motored through, covering over 1,500 miles, and reports it the most successful and enjoyable trip he has ever taken. He also reports a good demand for Kimball phonographs and believes that 1922 will set a new record for his store.

FOR ALL-SEASONS' SALES

Pal Phonograph Seems to Have Won Favor With Purchasers Along These Lines

According to a recent announcement the Portable Phonograph Co., 20 West Twentieth street, manufacturer of the Pal phonograph, will include the manufacture of this instrument for all-seasons' sales. The officers of the company state that there is no reason why sales of portable machines should be confined to the Summer season. A survey of the sales possibilities in various parts of the country shows that there will be a substantial demand throughout the year.

In speaking of the position the Pal portable has taken in the trade a member of the sales organization said: "From the large volume of sales which followed the first announcement of our company it is evident that the Pal type of machine has found favor with buyers in general. Some of the excellent features of our product are the universal tone arm and sound box, special sounding board which gives a clear, strong tone, as well as the Triangle motor which we use and the album which carries twelve ten-inch records.

"We believe the design and finish, either in mahogany or walnut, or encased in a genuine cowhide box, make the Pal portable as desirable for use in the home as for outdoors."

OCCUPYING ATTRACTIVE QUARTERS

The Cantlon Piano House, of Great Falls, Mont., has moved into attractive new quarters next to the Hotel Rainbow. In addition to a complete line of pianos and musical instruments talking machines and records are handled.

VELVET COVERED TURNTABLES

ADD TO THE QUALITY OF MACHINES

A.W.B.

Boulevard
VELVETS

THE BEST TALKING MACHINES ARE EQUIPPED WITH

A. W. B. BOULEVARD VELVETS

GRAND PRIZE—GOLD MEDAL, ST. LOUIS EXHIBITION

WRITE FOR SAMPLES AND PRICES

A. WIMPFHEIMER & BRO., Inc.
450-460 Fourth Avenue, New York

ESTABLISHED 1845

CATERING TO THE AUTOMOBILIST

Vogue of the Motor Car Offers Live Dealers an Opportunity for Sales Impossible Under Conditions Which Prevailed in Former Days

One of the most popular outdoor pastimes during the Summer and Fall in the present day is motoring. Every city, town or hamlet, no matter how isolated and distant from the congested centers of population, has a steady stream of motor cars passing through it during the entire Summer and Fall and especially on Saturdays and Sundays. Many dealers have capitalized the motor vogue through billboard advertising and other means of bringing motorists to their establishments.

One dealer recently sent out folders describing the portable type of talking machine as an adjunct to the motor trip to all persons in his territory owning motor cars and the results from this bit of publicity more than justified the expense and trouble. Another dealer is using large billboard space which is devoted to advertising of a dignified type. He, too, has realized good results on his investment.

People on the outskirts of towns and cities who own automobiles usually motor to town at least once each week to do their shopping and advertising of this character is bound to draw their attention.

ARTIST TIE-UP BOOSTS SALES

Boyer Music Co. Takes Advantage of Appearance of Isham Jones' Orchestra to Feature Brunswick Records by These Artists

ELKHART, IND., August 3.—The Boyer Music Co., 417 South Main street, this city, took advantage of the recent appearance of the Isham Jones Orchestra in Christiana Park here to boost the sale of Brunswick records by these artists. During the appearance of the orchestra the company used extensive publicity in the local newspapers, emphasizing the entertainment value of the recordings of the Isham Jones Orchestra, with the result that a substantial increase in the demand for these records was enjoyed.

BOOM HOME RECORD LIBRARIES

Phil Ravis, president of the Peerless Album Co., New York, recently stated that the increased demands for his company's product coming from various sections of the country showed a decided return towards normal conditions. "This renewed activity," he said, "coming at the Summer period leaves no doubt as to Fall activity. Every indication seemingly showed the Fall season would be quite active."

The early Fall sales campaign of the Peerless Album Co. will include a plan to increase the demand for "home record libraries." This, the company has found, increases the sales of records for the retailer as well as sells its product.

THE ESSEX CO.'S ATTRACTIVE STORE

The Essex Talking Machine Co., of Montclair, N. J., recently opened its new warerooms to the public, where a full line of Victrolas and Victor records is on display and daily demonstrated. The new home is one of the show places of New Jersey. It is an attractive, well-arranged and lighted store, the interior woodwork of which is in old English style.

BUSINESS-GETTING STATEMENT

Wm. Hengerer Co. Increases Record and Machine Sales Through Monthly Statements Sent to Customers Having Charge Accounts

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 2.—The talking machine department of the Wm. Hengerer Co., of this city, which handles the Victor line of talking machines and records, has adopted a unique and effective method of keeping this department and the line handled before the patrons of all sections of the store at all times.

The store has a clientele of customers numbering about 20,000, who have accounts, and each month statements are sent to these people. That part of the statement which the customer retains contains a cut of a console model Victrola, No. 300, together with the price of the instrument. Immediately below this an attractive arrangement of type calls attention to the company's Victrola studios.

These statements reach many people who possess talking machines and considerable record business has resulted. To those who do not own a Victrola the statement is a monthly reminder that the store which they patronize can serve them in this respect.

STUDENTS SEE "MOVIE" OF VOICE

Interesting Apparatus and Mirrors Used in Transferring Voice to Screen

The Columbia Summer school students were shown motion pictures of the human voice in the Horace Mann Auditorium, in New York City, last week. For three hours the students, most of them teachers from other States, witnessed demonstrations of recent advances in wireless telephony by leading engineers.

A projecting machine, the stereopticon-oscillograph, was used and the demonstration accomplished by transferring the voice waves as they were transmitted by Mr. Mills electrically over a telephone circuit to the light by means of delicately balanced mirrors. These light beams were then projected upon a motion picture screen, appearing in the form of waves and varying in intensity, amplitude and character as the voice of the speaker varied in vowel and consonant sounds.

By means of the oscillograph it is possible to determine the relative audibility of various words and expressions. The vowel "o," it was pointed out, is the easiest human sound to understand, as illustrated by the word Chicago, the final vowel of which produced on the screen a marked broadening of the light in contrast with the weaker effects of the other letters.

A feature of the demonstration was the use of college yells, "Harvard," with its broad vowel sounds, leading in magnitude of light impressions. Yale, Columbia, Chicago and other university yells were shown on the screen, where the sound impression made by Yale was noticeably weak.

D. C. STEEL SECURES COLUMBIA

McPHERSON, KAN., August 3.—The Upshaw Furniture Co., of this city, has sold its agency for Columbia Grafonolas and records, including its entire stock of Columbia products, to D. C. Steel, who recently opened the City News & Music Shop on South Main street. The establishment is well equipped.

POPULAR ITALIAN RECORDS LATEST RELEASES

10 Inch Records $.75 Each

- 1007 Pulcinella Ad Una Festa Da Ballo. Scena Comica. Un Balbuziente in Tribunale. Scena Comica.
- 0991x L'Altalena. Song.....Cav. G. Godono
- E L'Ammore. Song.....Cav. G. Godono
- 1000 'O Guarracino. Part 1. Song, P. Mazzone
- 'O Guarracino. Part 2. Song, P. Mazzone
- 0957x Luntano 'A Te, Mari'. Song, Cav. G. Godono
- L'Acquaiola. Song....Cav. D. Giannini
- 0997x Serenatona. Song.....R. Ciaramella
- Vipera. Song.....Jole Baroni
- 0955x Tic-Ti-Tic-Ta. Song.....R. Ciaramella
- Piererotta. Song.....R. Ciaramella
- 0993x Venerdi'. Song.....F. Rondinella
- 'E Ssignurine D' 'O Palazzo. Song, R. Ciaramella
- 0989x Mia Dolce Amica...Cav. Uff. G. Godono
- Voce D'Amor.....Cav. Uff. G. Godono
- 0995x Totonno 'E Quagliarella....Ciaramella
- Niru TeLangella
- 1001x Signora Mia (Duetto), Donnarumma-Ciaramella
- 'A Cura 'E Mamma' (Duetto), Donnarumma-Ciaramella
- 1003x Canzone AmericanaDonnarumma
- Donna Fifi'Ciaramella
- 1005x Mo Esce Achille. Scena Comica. Il Cavamacchie. Scena Comica.
- 1019x Momenti Gioiosi. Orchestra. Al Bosforo. Polka.
- 1021x Carmen (Selection). Bells. Nozze D'Oro. March.
- 1033x Abat—Jour (Salomè), Ciaramella-Rondinella
- Ninnolo....Cav. Uff. G. Godono, Tenore

We Are Also Manufacturers & Distributors of Italian Popular Music Rolls

New Hits Released the 15th of Each Month

JUST OUT

- 209—'O Viaggio 'E Nozze. Versi e Musica di M. Nicolò. (Word Roll).....$1.25
- 181—Legenda Di Guerra. Versi di A. Giuliani. Musica di G. Bonavolontà. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 192—La Figlia Della Strada. Versi di A. Giuliani. Musica di A. Granozio. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 054—Lassanno Napule. Versi e Musica di F. Pennino. (Word Roll)..... 1.25
- 227—Se-Malia-E. Mancini. F. P. Tosti. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 228—Non E' Ver. Romanza di F. P. Tosti. (Word Roll) 1.00
- 212—In Viaggio. Polka di D. Ietti..... .90
- 057—L'Incantevole. Mazurka by J. Gioè.. .90
- 051—Napule, Addio! Versi di R. Cacace. Musica di D. Ietti. (Word Roll) 1.25

ITALIAN BOOK CO.

Music Dep't

145-47 Mulberry St. New York City

DISCOUNT TO DEALERS—ASK FOR CATALOGUES

PHONOGRAPH CASES RADIO CASES

Reinforced 3-ply Veneer

The Standard Case for Talking Machines and Radio Sets

Let us figure on your requirements

MADE BY PLYWOOD CORPORATION, Goldsboro, N. C. Mills in Va., N. C. and S. C.

THE PHONOGRAPH AN ONLY SURVIVOR

Filmer "Nanook of the North" Tells This Story—Eskimo Carried It 312 Miles—After Years of Adventure It Is Now Out of Tune

Anyone who has ever been lulled into sleep, or out of it, by the dulcet melodies of one of these faithful, dependable household pets will find that all his sympathetic chords will respond to this tale of the plain, ordinary little talking machine that ventured into the frozen North. It is a tale of the pluck, heroism and courage under circumstances which would have made even a $3-a-record grand opera tenor quail, of one small phonograph which at the present moment is probably doing its humble, unassuming bit to make life more endurable for some rugged factor, some candle-fed Eskimo or some dashing Northwest mounted cop in the great open spaces up there in the Hudson Bay country.

The tale comes from Robert J. Flaherty, F. R. G. S., who has been in the colder North off and on for the better part of the past decade, and was written for the New York Sun. He just returned after spending two years filming a picture of Eskimo home life, which he called "Nanook of the North," and which, as everyone knows, New York has had opportunity to see at a Broadway theatre.

And if the story of this plucky little phonograph doesn't remove the prejudice of every flat-dweller, then the writer is no Eskimo.

On one of his trips to the North Mr. Flaherty, who is a mining engineer by profession, experienced more than the ordinary difficulty. In fact, the good ten-ton schooner "Laddie," which had carried the party to Belcher Island, in Hudson Bay, had to be chopped up for kindling wood. All had to be chopped up save honor, the food and the instruments and papers.

There was a talking machine present. This would have gone to the axe, too, except that something about it that was appealing restrained the hand of the executioner at the last minute.

"I can't do it," he said, probably with a frozen tear just outside his eye.

It was at that moment that Wetalltak, Mr.

Flaherty's expert hunter and sledgeman—Eskimo, of course—came up and said, "Woodman, spare that phonograph," or words to that effect. The result was that Mr. Flaherty on leaving for the trip down James Bay gave Wetalltak the phonograph to have and to hold and to do with what he willed, until death did them part. Mr. Flaherty and his party went out into the snow and thought no more of the donated phonograph.

With the characteristic thrift of the Eskimo, Wetalltak saw a chance to make some money. He did not want the phonograph, because he had tired of music. Besides, it was October and night was coming on and he knew that if he played the phonograph very much the neighbors would complain sooner or later, by March at the latest.

He decided to take the phonograph to Mavor, the factor at Great Whale River, 125 miles away. Mavor, Wetalltak knew, would give him a skin or two for it. That is, he knew Mavor would do the right thing; he would skin him and yet he wouldn't.

Wetalltak later told of that trip with the phonograph. It was across "rafted," that is, rough ice. Wetalltak stood it all right because he used to be an iceman. But the phonograph was a product of civilization. In the States it had been handled by expressmen and wound by children, but it never had had a time like this.

Many times it weakened and would fain have given up, but Wetalltak, the sturdy, was always there to wind it up and hearten it. For days it was without needles until Wetalltak finally took the needle from his compass and gave it to the phonograph.

At last the 125 miles across the rough ice were accomplished and they reached the trading post at Great Whale River. Even Wetalltak was all in and the phonograph—you should have seen it. Then they told Wetalltak that Mavor, the factor, had been transferred to Fort George, 187 miles further on down James Bay.

There is no use going into details. Wetalltak made the trip. He was so mad that he just made the trip anyhow to spite Mavor for being transferred. And he got the phonograph to Fort George!

But when Mr. Flaherty returned to that country on his latest trip to take the Nanook pictures he came across his friend Mavor, who said to him:

"Say, Wetalltak brought me down an old phonograph of yours two or three nights ago—I think it was about 1917—and I wisht you'd take a look at it. IT'S OUT OF TUNE! ! ! !"

DOUBLES 1921 SALES TOTALS

CLEVELAND, O., August 5.—In a recent chat with The World, W. J. McNamara, president of the Empire Phono Parts Co., of this city, stated that the company's orders for tone arms, sound boxes and attachments during the past few months had been far beyond expectations. In fact, the sales totals for June and July were double those of the corresponding period of last year and Mr. McNamara believes that the talking machine industry is going to enjoy a healthy trade this Fall.

DUTY ON RECORDS IN FIJI

According to a decision of the Commissioners of Customs of Fiji, states the Board of Trade Journal, London, Eng., gramophone records are to be classified for customs purposes under tariff item, "Goods not specified," the rates of import duty being 27½ per cent ad valorem for the General Tariff and 15 per cent ad valorem for the Preferential Tariff, which applies to all goods produced in the British Empire. Ad valorem duties are based on the invoice value of the goods, plus 10 per cent to cover insurance and freight.

The Mamaroneck Music House was recently opened at 82 Mamaroneck avenue, Mamaroneck, N. Y. Included in the stock handled by this concern are Victor and Columbia talking machines, records, sheet music and music rolls.

Genuine Manhattan Radio Telephone Headsets are identified by the M-Seal-Flash on the back of each receiver case.

It is a mark that stands for high quality and dependability—a protection for dealers and consumers.

No. 2500
2000 Ohms
$6.00
No. 2501
3000 Ohms
$7.00

63,548 Headsets!

Outstanding Features of the New Manhattan Radio Telephone Headsets

- Extreme Sensitivity
- Amplifying Qualities
- Freedom from Distortion
- Sanitary Head Band with friction grip adjustment
- No Hair Catching Obstructions
- Concealed Cord Tips
- Polarity Indicating Cords
- Matched Receivers

For the four weeks ending July 1st—this was the production AND SALES of the new Manhattan Radio Telephone Headsets. Since the first new Manhattan Radio Headset was produced on March 20th—over 130,000 have been manufactured and SOLD.

Only by producing the highest grade of headset—a headset built with the precision of a watch—a headset designed to STAY on the market—could such an achievement be accomplished.

The materials that enter into the manufacture of Manhattan Radio Telephone Headsets are the same as used in the most expensive headsets.

Precision in manufacture, highest quality materials and most rigid tests and inspection during manufacture, are the factors that insure Manhattan Headsets a position of leadership and permanency in the market.

Get ready for the big fall and winter business—place your order with your jobber for Manhattan Headsets NOW.

MANHATTAN
ELECTRICAL SUPPLY CO., INC.

Makers of the famous Red Seal Dry Batteries

NEW YORK ST. LOUIS
CHICAGO SAN FRANCISCO

Each Manhattan Headset is individually boxed in the distinctive Manhattan carton and is identified by the M-Seal-Flash insignia.

The NEW HALL OF FAME

OPERATIC and CONCERT

FLORENCE EASTON
 Prima Donna Soprano
 Metropolitan Opera Co.
 as Fiordiligi in "Cosi Fan Tutte"

THESE great artists, whose names are on the lips of musical critics the world over, have confined their artistic achievements exclusively to Brunswick Records, as the most fitting medium to perpetuate their art and to safeguard their fame.

THE BRUNSWICK-BALKE-COLENDER CO.
 Established 1845
 CHICAGO NEW YORK CINCINNATI TORONTO

CLAIRE DUX
 Soprano
 Chicago Opera Co.
 as Mimi in "La Boheme"

GIUSEPPE DANISE
 Premier Baritone
 Metropolitan Opera Co.
 as Scarpia in "Tosca"

MARIO CHAMLEE
 Tenor
 Metropolitan Opera Co.
 as Cavaradossi in "Tosca"

ELLY NEY
 Pianiste
 "The Woman Paderewski"

THEO KARLE
 Foremost in ranks of American tenors

BRUNSWICK
 PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

Percy Grainger, at the piano, playing Grieg's "Norwegian Bridal Procession," then pausing a moment and playing Liszt's "Liebestraum." That is the musical treat Columbia has prepared in Symphony Record A-6217. The pause comes when one turns the record over.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

CONFERENCE OF VICTOR TRAVELERS

Representatives of Victor Talking Machine Co. Come From All Parts of Country to Attend Annual Conclave in Camden

CAMDEN, N. J., August 5.—The annual conference of members of the traveling department of the Victor Talking Machine Co. was held at the company's plant in this city recently. Victor traveling men from all parts of the country were present at the conclave, which lasted the greater part of a week, and problems confronting them were discussed and analyzed.

Frank K. Dolbeer, manager of the traveling department, welcomed the representatives at the opening of the meeting, following which attention was given to the consideration of the problems of the department. The usual custom of executives and officials of the company to address the travelers at the annual conferences concerning the work of their respective departments was followed out this year and both the inside and outside staff of the traveling department were given an insight into the ramifications of the promotional and development work carried on by the company. Practically a whole day was devoted by the men to the exchange of ideas which have been found effective in sales promotion in various sections of the country.

The business discussions at the conference ended with a luncheon and sports. Tennis enthusiasts among the travelers repaired to the courts of the Overbrook Country Club, where several hotly contested matches were played. The remainder of the men engaged in a golf tournament on the links of the Bala Country Club, the result of which was the acquisition of a handsome handbag as first prize by James A. Frye, the Boston representative.

In the evening the travelers departed for their respective territories as follows: R. A. Bartley, eastern Pennsylvania; B. F. Bibighaus, New York City; R. S. Cron, Chicago; W. T. Davis, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia; R. A. Drake, eastern New York, Vermont and New Hampshire; F. C. Erdman, eastern Ohio; J. A. Frye, Massachusetts and Maine; W. G. Gaston, Michigan; R. P. Hamilton, California and Nevada; R. C. Hopkins, northern New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania; T. L. Husseilton, Missouri; E. W. Killgore, Connecticut; A. H. Levy, Brooklyn and Long Island; E. J. F. Marx, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia; A. C. Mayer, western Ohio and Indiana; L. S. Morgan, Wisconsin; K. B. Owen, Texas; D. S. Pruitt, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida; G. L. Richardson, Iowa and Nebraska, and P. W. Willis, western New York.

The Music Shoppe, Casper, Wyo., recently celebrated the formal opening of its fine new exclusive Victor store. The new quarters are modernly equipped, all the booths and counters being finished in French gray.

L. A. Peck has opened a new talking machine store in Hay Springs, Neb., handling the Victor line.

MEASURING MUSICAL TALENT

Scientific Methods Now Being Used in Educational Centers Are Most Interesting

Modestly but earnestly there have been in progress at a few educational centers of this country during recent years most interesting efforts to develop a scientific method of musical education. The method is based largely on psychology, and various instruments have been devised not only for making tests of nerve reactions but also for measuring musical talent and classifying it.

Apart from the psychological element, an instrument for visibly registering tonal vibrations, known as a tonoscope, has been under development for some twenty years, though it is only within the last few years that it has been practically applied. This instrument indicates the exact number of vibrations a second of any tone tested by it, and as, of course, the number of vibrations of all tones is known the instrument determines whether the pitch is correct. It consists of a perfectly balanced drum that rotates horizontally, making exactly one revolution a second. The white face of the drum is covered with black dots arranged in rows, which, in connection with a scale, enable the operator to read the number of vibrations a second made by a small gas flame in front of the drum, which is caused to vibrate in accordance with the tone of a voice or instrument conducted to it through a speaking tube.

Other instruments have also been developed for making various tests to determine the natural aptitude and musical talent of students, says Popular Mechanics. Many of these are now being practically applied at the public schools in Evanston. Among them are instruments for measuring nerve reactions to discover the degree of susceptibility to pitch of sound, others for testing precision, and still others for testing free and controlled rhythm.

THE IDEAL SONG SHOP OPENS

WAKEFIELD, MASS., August 5.—The Ideal Song Shop is the name of the latest addition to the music stores here. A complete stock of talking machines and Edison records is handled. In addition pianos, sheet music and small musical instruments are handled.

NEW BUILDING FOR ORSENIKO CO.

Demand for Period Styles Made by This Company So Great That Manufacturing Facilities Have to Be Expanded—Looks for Busy Fall

The Orsenigo Co., manufacturer of high-grade period model talking machines, of Long Island City, N. Y., is firmly establishing itself with the talking machine trade throughout the entire country. The Orsenigo period phonograph is being presented to the trade in several artistic designs, and dealers have shown such interest in these models that all indications point to a very healthy demand for the Fall and Winter trade.

T. Davies, general manager of the company, stated that the plant had been so rushed for the past seven months that it has been found necessary to find additional floor space to take care of the increased business which the company is receiving. Consequently the company purchased a large lot adjoining the present plant, on which a new building is being erected, modern in every respect, which will supply additional floor space of more than 100,000 square feet. This new addition is being rushed to completion and it is expected that equipment will be installed in this new plant and that it will be running in full swing by September. This addition will enable the company to take care of its increased business in a very efficient manner. The new plant will be devoted almost exclusively to the manufacture of the period phonographs, of which there are now twenty-five models. With increased facilities orders can be taken care of promptly and the company will be placed in a position to provide for the future growth of the business.

SELLS SONORAS TO SCHOOLS

LANSING, MICH., August 4.—E. E. Cummings, of the Michigan Sonora Shop, of this city, recently sold fifteen Sonora "Etudes" to the Lansing Board of Education. Mr. Cummings is naturally delighted with the closing of this sale, for there was keen competition over this order.

The Gaskill Music Co., Nebraska City, Neb., has moved the Victor talking machine department to the front part of the store and added two Unico booths, a service counter and a large record rack.

The "VICSONIA" REPRODUCER

For Perfect interpretation of Edison Disc Records on Victrolas and Grafonolas.

Fitted with permanent jewel point. No loose parts.

Meet the demand—Serve your customers

Sample Model "A" or "B" Vicsonia, nickel plated, will be sent on receipt of $4.50. Retail price $7.50.

Note: Model "B" Vicsonia plays both Edison and Pathé records.

VICSONIA MFG. CO., Inc.

313 E. 134th STREET

NEW YORK, N. Y.

The New EDISON
Baby Console

(See page facing this)

The New EDISON Baby Console $175.00

THIS newest addition to a famous group of consoles completes a line that contains a model for almost every prospective purchaser of a quality instrument.

The conservative design of the Baby Console assures a widespread demand for it as a unit of household furnishing, while the best indication of its mechanical fitness is the fact that it incorporates the best features of Mr. Edison's latest laboratory experiment.

THOMAS A. EDISON, Inc.
Orange, New Jersey

HOT LIPS

The New "Wang Wang Blues"
by the same Writer.

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

HEAR IT NOW!

He's got hot lips — When he plays Jazz, — He draws out steps, —

NATIONAL SALES CODE FOR USE IN HARDWOOD FIELD

Trade Members, Representing the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, Endorse Recently Adopted Code of Procedure Intended to Simplify Transactions and Prevent Trade Disputes

Conditions surrounding the sale and purchase of hardwood lumber, which constitute a matter of vital importance to the members of the music industry, have been the subject of a recent conference of the National Hardwood Lumber Association, as the result of which a "National Sales Code" was adopted for the purpose of establishing uniform practices in lumber transactions and providing practical and responsive means for the settlement of disputes between buyers and sellers.

This code, which is the outcome of several years' preliminary work by the Lumber Association, establishes definite rules governing quotations, orders, acceptances and cancellations, stipulates the terms of settlement of accounts growing out of transactions under the code and provides for the inspection of lumber upon receipt by the purchaser when desired. The matter has been under discussion for some months past, with the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce as the representative of wood consumers in the music field, and a committee has been appointed by the Chamber to study the subject, consisting of: Thure A. Johanson, of the Cable Company; Howard C. Darnell, of the Victor Talking Machine Co.; Percy A. Deutsch, of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co.; A. G. Gulbransen, of Gulbransen-Dickinson Co., and Warren Thayer, of the Thayer Action Co. The conference recently held in Chicago was attended in person by Messrs. Johanson, Darnell and Gulbransen.

An important feature of the code is the provision for arbitration of disputes arising between buyers and sellers of lumber. In case of such a dispute involving a member of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, the arbitrators would consist of the secretary of the National Hardwood Lumber Association and the secretary of the Chamber, who, in case of their failure to arrive at an agreement, would select a third arbitrator, the decision of a majority of the arbitrators to be binding on the disputants.

In expressing his approval of the National Sales Code Mr. Johanson, chairman of the committee appointed by the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, said:

"The committee is of the opinion that this revised code is quite fair to manufacturers, jobbers and consumers. It would seem as if this initial step in the standardization of selling and buying lumber as designated in this code is a good move forward and we hope similar steps will soon be taken to clarify and simplify the grading, marking, etc., of lumber.

"Secretary Hoover's representative made quite a brilliant talk on this subject, pointing to this lack of standards as one of the weak points in the business and suggesting methods for remedying the same. Along this subject of standardization it might be a good thing to spend some thought on standardizing our own lines of trade.

"The committee also heard discussed other subjects pertaining to the lumber industry, all of which were of interest to the trade and its relations, and the energetic, businesslike method in which these discussions were conducted was a pleasure to behold.

"While the reported output of lumber is greater than the consumption, which would seem favorable to the consumer, yet it seems that prices of lumber in many instances have increased, while the grading of the stock has correspondingly lowered. The business outlook of the lumber industry seems to be favorable and both manufacturers and jobbers are quite optimistic as regards the future."

COLUMBIA ARTIST IN BUFFALO

Famous Hungarian Violinist Receives Ovation During Recent Vaudeville Engagement

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31.—Duci di Kerekjarto, the famous Hungarian violinist and exclusive Columbia artist, appeared in this city recently at Shea's Vaudeville Theatre, where he received an ovation from Buffalo's music lovers and theatre patrons. During the week he was here Kerekjarto and M. H. Batz, city representative of the Buffalo branch, visited Columbia dealers, who were co-operating with this artist's appearance in Buffalo through the use of attractive window displays. While Kerekjarto was not the programmed star act at Shea's Theatre, he scored a hit that easily overshadowed all of the other acts on the bill. Incidentally, his visit to Buffalo stimulated materially the demand for his records.

Silvestre Teixeira, a talking machine and bicycle merchant of New Bedford, Mass., was recently declared bankrupt and H. A. Lider was appointed trustee by the court.

The agency for the Victor line of talking machines and records, formerly held by the Hofstetter Drug Store, of Warsaw, N. Y., has been taken over by the Ballantine Hardware Co.

EIGHT FAMOUS VICTOR ARTISTS

In Concert and Entertainment
Personal Appearance of
Eight Popular Victor Favorites on One Program
A live attraction for live dealers and jobbers

Bookings now for season 1922-1923
Sample program and particulars upon request

P. W. SIMON, Manager
1658 Broadway New York City

HENRY BURR
ALBERT CAMPBELL
JOHN MEYERS
FRANK CROXTON
MONROE SILVER
BILLY MURRAY
FRED VAN EPS
FRANK BANTA

Famous Ensembles including
Campbell & Burr - Sterling Trio - Peerless Quartet

REGAL
PREDOMINATES
IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

JAPANESE LIKE EFREM ZIMBALIST

Famous Violinist and Victor Artist Plays for Music Lovers of Nippon

Efrem Zimbalist, the world-famous violinist and Victor artist, who has been touring the Orient, accompanied by G. Ashman, pianist, has attracted widespread attention from music lovers in Japan, where he recently gave a number of concerts, according to advices received by The World from the firm of Jiujiya Gakkiten, Victor dealer, one of the largest music houses in Tokyo, Japan, and an old-time subscriber of The Talking Machine World.

Messrs. Zimbalist and Ashman in Tokyo

While in Tokyo Mr. Zimbalist visited the establishment of Jiujiya Gakkiten several times and the photograph reproduced herewith was taken in this concern's talking machine department during one of these visits. The photograph shows Mr. Zimbalist, Mr. Ashman and Miss Ai Kurata, the pretty daughter of K. Kurata, proprietor of the establishment.

PLANS ACTIVE FALL CAMPAIGN

H. G. Neu, Manager of Regal Record Co., Tells of Impressions Gained From Recent Trip

H. G. Neu, manager of the Regal Record Co., Inc., 18 West Twentieth street, New York City, returned recently from a visit of several weeks to the trade centers of the Middle West. In speaking of his trip he said: "Dealers in some of the territory visited reported the usual falling off in Summer business. The outlook, however, was quite satisfying everywhere."

Mr. Neu made it a point to visit the merchandising managers of several of the leading department stores and he said, without exception, they all predict an unprecedented demand for records during the coming Fall.

The plans for the Fall Regal record campaign have been completed and call for much advertising material for dealers' use and other co-operative "hook-ups."

NEW LANDAY STORE IN BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., August 5.—Landay Bros., who operate a chain of music stores in New York and surrounding cities, have leased attractive quarters at 1194 Main street, this city. The building is a four-story structure and the lease is for a period of ten years. Landay Bros. handle Victor talking machines and records and musical instruments of all kinds.

FRIEDA HEMPEL SCORES IN LONDON

Frieda Hempel, famous soprano and Edison artist, received a royal welcome from music lovers in London where she was recently heard in recital. The press was unanimous in its praise of this American favorite, and she has promised to give some extra recitals previous to returning to the United States.

SUGGESTS NEW "TALKER" MARKET

Writer in Printers' Ink Brings Out Possibility of Talking Machine Sales to Business Men for Office Use—Why Not Sell the Music Idea

The business man as a field for talking machines is suggested in a recent article appearing in Printers' Ink. The article, entitled "Couponless Advertising That Brought in 1,800 Dimes," by George H. Wicker, states, in part:

"A short time ago a salesman called to see the general manager of a large concern in the export field. As he sat waiting he heard the sound of music. It seemed to come from the general manager's office, the door of which was closed. He listened attentively and, being a music lover, was able to make out a violin rendition of the Meditation from 'Thais.' The selection was played twice over.

"Soon after the salesman got his audience, transacted his business and, when rising to leave, said:

"As I sat outside waiting I heard someone playing a violin. I'd like to know who played it and how music comes to occupy a place in your day's work, if it does."

"Thereupon the general manager pointed to a screen in one corner of his office, back of which stood a cabinet phonograph.

"That is what you heard," he said; "I've had that in my office for several months now. I get relaxation and refreshment from music. I have a habit of working too fast for my own good health. When my nerves get the best of me I quit, shut the door, turn off all telephone calls and give myself up to music for fifteen minutes. As a knitter of the raveled sleeve of care I find it better than sleep."

"Right there is a use for music that few people know about. Making a business man understand how he could use music that way would ordinarily require a longer story than it takes to induce people to buy popular dance music."

Here's an idea well worth thinking about! The field is entirely undeveloped.

WHY NOT YOU?

Wide-awake Dealers are increasing their profits thru the sales of De Luxe Needles

Before you place your next order don't fail to write us for samples and full particulars about

DE LUXE NEEDLES

DUO-TONE COMPANY, INCORPORATED

Sole Manufacturers of De Luxe Needles

ANSONIA, CONN.

Full Tone

Medium Tone

DON'T FORGET THESE FACTS
 Perfect Reproduction of Tone No Scratchy Surface Noise
 PLAYS 100-200 RECORDS

Three for 30 cents (40 cents in Canada)

COLUMBUS

Dealers Optimistic Regarding Trade Outlook for Fall—Vacations Under Way—The News

COLUMBUS, O., August 5.—A busy Fall for talking machines and records is the prediction of dealers and jobbers alike. Perry B. Whitsit, president of the Perry B. Whitsit Co., Victrola jobber, of this city, stated that the building activities now noticeable in this territory are bound to help the talking machine trade. Hundreds of houses are now going up all over the city and it is these new homes that will offer a new field for talking machines and records.

C. E. Avery, manager of the Victrola department of Stewart Bros., also looks for a busy Fall season. Having been engaged in an intensive campaign for an increase in volume of business, Mr. Avery anticipates the results of this campaign to be in evidence during the Autumn months. During the Summer months Mr. Avery put into being a plan to arouse interest in talking machines and records among people who formerly did not profess any interest at all in this line. "Two young women from our firm made house-to-house canvasses in territories in close proximity to our store. Out of 1,272 calls we secured 250 good prospects and 402 fair prospects. We have sold a number of machines as a result of this campaign and we expect to sell more in the near future. Experience has shown us that it takes about ninety days before the actual results of such a campaign can be calculated. As our campaign has only been going on for two months, it is too early to state definitely the degree of its success. At the present time, however, our sales have increased 20 per cent each week," said Mr. Avery.

Just as soon as Mr. Avery received a report of the interview which a representative of the firm had with the prospect he sent a follow-up letter. These letters brought many customers to the store.

An outstanding policy of the Stewart Bros. Furniture Co. is to have as many numbers of Victor records as have been issued by the Victor Talking Machine Co. An evidence of the completeness of this firm's stock may be had from the fact that only two customers were turned away inside of three months because records asked for were not in stock and these particular discs could not be obtained in the city.

Visits to a number of the local talking machine firms revealed the fact that July, more than any other month, is the month of vacations. Those on vacation during July included: F. J. Connor, manager of the Victrola department of the Z. L. White Co., Victrola dealer, 106 North High street, who visited Cleveland, Cedar Point and Detroit; Mrs. Besse Bell, of the same concern, spent one month in Gloucester; Miss Vera Hammond, who visited her home in Amarilla, Tex.

Members of the C. C. Baker Co., 43 South High street, who enjoyed July vacations were: Mr. Baker, Mrs. F. Barnes, of the record department; Miss Julia La Rue, of the sheet music department, and Kenneth Pyles, of the player roll department.

Leslie I. King, manager of the music department, of the Morehouse-Martens Co., Victrola dealer, together with his family, is visiting his parents in Oakland, Md. Miss Mildred King, sister of Mr. King, accompanied them.

The Victrola department of this store took the honors in the sales contest that has just been concluded. Miss Dorothy Dawson, of the record department, headed the team that won the prize offered in this contest. Prize consists of three days' vacation with pay in addition to the regular vacation period that is granted to employes by this firm. Fifteen people constituted one team. Miss Dawson was the captain of team No. 2. At the close of the contest Miss Dawson's team was $1,051 ahead of any other team.

In connection with the contest meetings were held frequently and salesmanship methods were emphasized to each member of the team by Miss Dawson. There were thirteen young women and two young men on this team. Each one of the 15 members received three days' vacation with pay.

Mrs. Esther Reynolds Beaver, educational director of the Perry B. Whitsit Co., is visiting relatives in San Francisco, accompanied by her mother and aunt. She visited many points of interest en route, such as the Grand Canyon and Yellowstone National Park.

Out-of-town visitors at Perry B. Whitsit Co. during the past month included: O. A. Rider, Gem Pharmacy, Nelsonville, Ohio; A. E. Sargent, Crooksville, Ohio; Henry Ackerman, Jr., Marion, Ohio, and M. L. Phillips, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

NO. VIII

Dear Bill:

In my last letter to you I stressed the necessity of going after business during the Summer months and outlined several good plans for conducting a profitable and sales-building Summer service. Now, I want to point out the necessity of taking advantage of the waning vacation season to prepare for the Fall and holiday business. This may seem a little premature to you, but remember that I have been through the mill myself and know whereof I speak.

In a little more than two weeks the vacation season will be practically over and once again the schools and churches will reopen their doors. People who have been away during the sweltering days will be back to their homes ready to settle down for the Fall and Winter. Experience has shown me that at this time, with longings for home life and comforts at their highest, people are most susceptible to the approaches of salesmen engaged in the selling of musical instruments.

It is well to plan a definite campaign to turn this susceptibility to good account. In this connection your advertising should make the home appeal and the value of your instruments as a means of home entertainment should be put forth most strongly. You will find that this sort of publicity at this time will be most effective in bringing customers to your store.

During the Summer you undoubtedly sold a number of the portable models of talking machines to people who desired them for use in camps and other vacation places. If you have a list of these people now is the time to capitalize on it by approaching them regarding the purchase of a larger instrument.

Now, in connection with the reopening of schools and churches, there is a big field for sales. In every church there are one or more organizations of a social character which offer fine prospects of not only making a sale of a machine to the society, but to individual members as well. You will probably find that most church organizations are hampered by lack of funds and you can secure their everlasting gratitude by helping them raise the money through one or more talking machine concerts. You carry a large stock of records and it would be an easy matter for you to arrange a well-balanced concert to be given in the church. Members of the congregation would be more than willing to pay an admission fee when they were told what the money was to be used for and by doing this you would also obtain some very fine publicity for your store and the line you handle.

Schools also offer a fine field for sales. The talking machine is being used more and more as an educational medium and Boards of Education are always willing to listen to plans whereby they can make their schools more efficient. Then there are concerts at the store or in the school for the school children which, while not resulting in any immediate sales, would provide live news for the local papers and widespread publicity for your store.

These are only a few of the opportunities which await the live dealer who takes time by the forelock and beats his competitor in getting to the prospects. It is a mighty good thing to have your plans prepared beforehand, so that you can start operations at a moment's notice. Thus, if one of your competitors should suddenly start work along these lines you are in a position to start something yourself without too much loss of time. As always, your friend, Jim,

IN the Swim as usual

Regardless of the season of the year, Mickel service to the Victor dealer is complete, up-to-date and practical.

For the Summer months—Swimming time—we are equipped to offer Victor retailers timely dealer helps that are well worth careful investigation.

MICKEL BROS.
DES MOINES IOWA

JEWETT RADIOPHONOGRAPH
No. 10

(Licensed under Armstrong Regenerative Patent No. 1,113,149, Oct. 6, 1914, and under pending patent application Serial No. 807,388)

“Guaranteed—Electrically and Mechanically—The Best That Money Can Buy.”

Are You An Ostrich— Or A Lion?

The Ostrich tucks his head into the sand and reasons that the Lion can't get him because he can't see the Lion.

With equal logic many a music dealer shuts his eyes to Radio, and proclaims that therefore it will never affect his business.

Ostriches, every one of them! And the fate of the Ostrich will surely be theirs, for Radio—one year old—is already the biggest and fastest money maker in the Musical Instrument field.

For distributors who are not Ostriches but Lions—merchants who know and appreciate Radio—this Company has territory, a product, and a proposition that means Profits.

Jewett Phonographs and Radiophonographs—the only actually complete line in the world—can be yours to sell if you're a Lion. The line is tested, approved and in full production. Our proposition is waiting for you.

You Lions! Let us hear you roar!

THE JEWETT RADIO and PHONOGRAPH CO.
DETROIT, MICHIGAN

The Stewart Sales Co., 18 W. Georgia St., Indianapolis, Ind.
Distributors for Indiana and Kentucky

The REGAL 50¢ Record

"Predominates"

Regal's good quality is not "accidental"

The artists are the same talented stars who record for other leading record companies.

The recording supervisors are experts who have had long experience in this very important branch of record making.

The materials are of a high quality because good materials are necessary for a good record.

And the pressing is perfectly done in a factory that is the third largest record producer in the world.

That comprises Regal's quality!

But add to it the service of the organization that is back of the Regal Record.

Consider the tremendous scoops that Regal has made these past few months.

Remember that Regal is invariably out with the hits first! And that it maintains a 24 hour delivery service to ship these hits to the dealer!

Isn't it logical that Regal is the kind of a record company you could deal with profitably and satisfactorily?

Write for exclusive dealer proposition!

REGAL RECORD CO., Inc.
20 West 20th Street NEW YORK

RECORDS OF ALL RACES AND TRIBES

German Professor Has Collection of More Than 2,000 Recordings of Songs of All Races and Tribes—Says Wicked Do Not Sing

A museum for living voices—more than 2,000 phonograph plates of prominent personages, of wild tribes and all races—has been collected by Prof. Wilhelm Doegen, of the Public Library in Berlin, Germany.

The professor believes that from this extraordinary museum he could start a movement which would solidify peace in the world, and he is now trying to arrange for contact with American and other scientists.

"Furthering the mutual understanding of the peoples as well as of scientific progress," he said, "has always been the aim of our work. For instance, the general idea about the Ghurkas is that they are a savage tribe glorifying in bloodshed. Now take this record."

The sounds of a beautiful and melancholy tune ceased.

"Can anyone imagine a tribe having such songs and being a mere set of cut-throats?" he continued.

"'Wicked people do not sing,' says the German proverb. All human tribes, as we have confirmed, possess songs, some of which are merry and harmless ones, others full of passion and love, and some, the Slavic and Oriental races principally, which seem to be distilled out of sobs and tears."

Prof. Doegen says that wherever he had given performances in Germany and abroad the press has been unanimous in affirming that a wave of practical pacifism had emanated therefrom, more effective than the speeches made by political pacifists.

ARE YOU DOING YOUR SHARE?

If the organization with which you are connected offered a star to the worker who during the month contributed the idea which helped the most to increase income or decrease unnecessary expenses, would you be the one to wear it or would it go to someone else? asks Tom Dreier in Forbes' Magazine.

Without being impertinent, we want to ask you right now how much you have done during the past month to increase the sales of your company. Have you contributed one real, original idea? Has some thought of yours made the work of your associates easier and more efficient?

If you haven't helped to increase sales what have you done to effect economy? Have you been able to suggest anything that would eliminate certain unnecessary expenses? Have you suggested any short-cuts?

Just for your own pleasure and to test your own value to yourself and to your organization, ask yourself some searching questions like these.

HAVE MONEY TO BUY "TALKERS"

Savings Deposits in Banks in the United States
Total More Than $16,500,000,000

Savings deposits in banks in the United States total more than $16,500,000,000, according to a survey just completed by the American Bankers' Association through its savings bank division. Leo D. Woodworth, deputy manager of the division, under whose direction the study was made, points out that the total conflicts with the estimates recently issued by a United States Government bureau, which places the total savings for the country at $27,000,000,000, a figure based on mutual savings bank deposits and outstanding United States bonds. The present figure of $16,500,000,000 includes savings deposits, certificates of deposits and postal savings.

Ideas are everywhere. Good, bright, new ones abound in every line. When applied to your business they are valuable.

Pep is wasted energy unless it is directed along effective lines.

NEW VICTOR SHOP IN ALBANY

F. C. Henderson Co. Opens Attractive Store—
E. J. Yerick in Charge

ALBANY, N. Y., August 7.—A new, up-to-date Victor shop, to be known as Henderson's, has been opened by the F. C. Henderson Co., at 23 Steuben street. A complete assortment of Victrolas and records is stocked. E. J. Yerick, who formerly had charge of the talking machine department of the W. M. Whitney Co., has been made manager of the new establishment. No modern detail has been omitted in making Henderson's a store where practical service can and will be given its patrons. Its equipment includes sound-proof record-hearing rooms and large marble demonstrating rooms.

RADIO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

First Annual Meeting of Radio Manufacturers in Capital Results in Finishing Touches to Organization Recently Formed

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 4.—The first annual meeting of the National Radio Chamber of Commerce was held at the Wardman Park Hotel, this city, during the last week of July. The process of organization was completed during the convention and a constitution and by-laws were adopted.

The opening address was made by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and other interesting addresses were made by Secretary of War Weeks, Major General George O. Squier, chief signal officer of the Army; Dr. S. W. Stratton, Director Bureau of Standards, and others prominent in the radio field.

The delegates enjoyed the pleasure of a trip to the big naval radio station at Arlington, Va., and an inspection of the radio equipment at the Bureau of Standards.

SLIDE SERVICE PRICE REDUCED

Columbia Co. Announces Reduction in Price on Motion Picture Slides

The advertising department of the Columbia Graphophone Co. announced recently that the moving picture slide service for Columbia dealers had been reduced from $2.40 to $1.00 per month. For this nominal sum the Columbia dealer receives four different hand-colored moving picture slides with his individual imprint. Each slide features a different record, as, for example, one set of slides presented Marion Harris singing "Fickle-Flo"; Eddie Cantor singing "I Love Her, She Loves Me," while the other two records featured several of the latest dance hits.

MOTROLA PRICES INCREASED

Jones-Motrola, Inc., 29 West Thirty-fifth street, New York City, manufacturer of the Jones-Motrola, an electric winding device for the talking machine, has announced an increase in the price of the product. Effective August 15, the retail price of the Motrola is advanced to $25, maintaining the regular trade discounts to dealers and jobbers. The previous price of the Jones-Motrola was $19.50.

Jones-Motrola, Inc., has also recently entered the radio manufacturing industry, manufacturing jacks, plugs, lamp sockets and other parts.

ISSUES FOREIGN RECORD POSTER

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has just issued an exceptionally handsome window poster for dealers' use in connection with the sale of foreign language records on the August list. The poster contains the national colors of Arabia, Bohemia, Croatia, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Spain, Poland, Portugal and Sweden and beneath these are listed the records in these languages.

To-day is the day to get down to business; to-morrow never comes.

The Stand-Patter Hinders Business Progress

By J. H. TREGOE, Secretary-treasurer, National Association of Credit Men

Make us thoroughly dissatisfied with ourselves is my earnest prayer for our business men, for the stand-patter in business is quite as much of an obstacle to progress as the stand-patter in politics, religion or other fields. To go on the principle that things merely happen, that the proper attitude is to take things as they come and make no effort to understand the whys and wherefores of past and present, just to accept as a matter of course that business must have its ups and downs, it is this sort of attitude that keeps us from moving forward and registering real progress in commercial affairs.

Progress is predicated on having the right point of view, the acceptance of the principle that to-day's events grow out of yesterday.

As business men, therefore, it is our duty to know the reasons for our present situation and, knowing them, to equip ourselves to bring new forces to bear to make the new situation better. If well-directed action were ever needed it is needed now. If good thoughts ever had place it is now. The stand-patter must be jogged along and carried with the crowd or left behind. In full appreciation of the past, with right appraisal of the present and clear determination for to-morrow, we must go forward. What business shall be in the Fall of 1922 or the year following rests with us. It is not to be merely a matter of opinion.

A first dividend of 7 per cent has been allowed creditors of the Regina Co., Newark N. J., which was recently declared bankrupt, according to Atwood L. DeCoster, referee in bankruptcy. Creditors who consented to receive stock in the company in satisfaction of claims were exempt from the dividend.

Built by Engineers with the highest Engineering Skill.

DESIGNED to stand the shocks of hard usage.

BUILT to run smoothly and noiselessly under varying conditions.

OPERATED with uniformity, and constant in speed.

Write for prices

Sphinx Gramophone Motors Inc.

21 East 40th St.
NEW YORK CITY

No Wireless Receiving Set is complete without

The MAGNAVOX Radio

The Reproducer Supreme

TO show your customer the full use and enjoyment of a receiving set, demonstrate it equipped with Magnavox Radio—the Reproducer Supreme.

The Magnavox Radio opens up a large and most profitable radio market—by making it possible for the entire family to “listen in” at the same time.

Your profit margin is ample—your turnover on the sale of Magnavox Radio is rapid and sure. Carry it—understand it—demonstrate it—push it in your community.

Magnavox National advertising is producing “prospects” everywhere. Write for name of nearest distributor, and information as to how we help you sell Magnavox Radio.

Magnavox Radio consumer folder and other valuable “sales helps” link you up with the most interesting consumer advertising campaign in the entire industry.

The Magnavox Company Home Office and Factory
Oakland, California
New York Office, 370 Seventh Avenue

R-2 Magnavox Radio with 18-inch Horn

FOR those who wish the utmost in amplifying power; for large audiences, dance halls, etc. Requires only .6 of an ampere for the field
Price, $85.00

Type R-3 Magnavox Radio with 14-inch Horn

THE same in principle and construction throughout as Type R-2, and is ideal for use in homes, offices, amateur stations, etc. Price, $45.00

3-Stage

Magnavox Power Amplifier Model C

INSURES getting the largest possible power input for the Magnavox Radio. Can be used with any “B” battery voltage which the power tube may require for best amplification.
AC-2-C, 2-Stage..... $80.00
AC-3-C, 3-Stage..... 110.00

The playing of Brahms' "Hungarian Dance No. 1" by Toscha Seidel is fireworks set to music. With broad sweeping bow strokes he plays the opening theme, then dashes into a fiery torrent of glistening notes that fairly trample each other in their rush to burst from his violin, then by almost magical transitions he regains the original quiet, halting rhythm. 49690 12-inch Symphony.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

NOW THE "DAPHO" MOVIES

Moving Picture Machine for the Home Introduced by Dayton Photo Products Co.—Paper Films That Are Effective and Fireproof

DAYTON, O., August 4.—The Dayton Photo Products Co., of this city, recently embarked on an extensive merchandising campaign of the "Dapho." This is a moving picture projection machine for use in the home and which, in design, is constructed along lines that closely resemble the talking machine.

This company also manufactures the Dapho paper prints—films of especially treated paper of extremely tough fibre that are fireproof and which, therefore, eliminate the fire handicap with which moving picture instruments have hitherto had to contend. This company is already in production of the "Dapho" motion picture machines, and has assembled an extensive library of films, including the entire "Dapho-Bray" Library.

Already retail dealers in several fields have become interested in securing the agency for this unique product and, according to the present outlook, a very substantial portion of the national distribution will be accomplished through retail talking machine dealers, because the new product is also essentially an instrument for home entertainment.

Quite a number of prominent American business men are interested in the Dayton Photo Products Co., and included among its directors and officers is one of the most prominent figures in the American music industry.

WALTER CAMP'S "DAILY DOZEN"

Health Builders' Record Course Is Steadily Extending Its Popularity

To make two blades of grass grow where one grew before is a goal for which most business houses are striving. Robert B. Wheelan, president of Health Builders, Inc., New York City, reports that the Health Builders' record course, consisting of Walter Camp's "Daily Dozen," set to music, is developing additional sales for dealers selling this set. A number of dealers have recently written Mr. Wheelan that they have definitely traced additional sales from friends of the original purchasers. Mr. Wheelan attributes the popularity of the Health Builders' course to the prestige of Mr. Camp and his "Daily Dozen."

MAX LANDAY WINS GOLF PRIZE

That Max Landay, president of Landay Bros., Victor retailers in the metropolitan territory and vicinity, can play golf as well as sell talking machines in a scientific manner was demonstrated recently, when he won the prize for turning in the low net score at the Advertisers' Golf Tournament in Cooperstown, N. Y. Mrs. Landay, who accompanied him, showed her skill in the ladies' tournament, going around the nine-hole course in 56 and winning a prize.

ALL PERSONS HEAR DIFFERENTLY

Research in Western Electric and American Telephone Laboratories Brings Out Interesting Facts Regarding Vocal Sounds

What you hear when you listen to talk or music is not the same thing that anyone else hears. All human ears hear the same thing differently. This is one of the discoveries made in the research laboratories of the Western Electric and the American Telephone & Telegraph companies, according to Dr. Harvey Fletcher, who has given this subject much consideration.

The normal human voice can be reduced to one-millionth of its volume and still be heard, says Dr. Fletcher, but if the voice is reduced to one ten-millionth it becomes inaudible. The ear will receive a human voice amplified to 100 times its normal volume without distress, but if increased a thousandfold the sound is painful to the ear. At this volume of sound also the words are indistinguishable. Thus the range of good hearing is from one-millionth the volume of the normal voice to 100 times its volume.

By a series of filters which eliminate any desired group of vibrations from the slowest to the most rapid Dr. Fletcher has discovered that E is the hardest sound in the English language to kill. Next to it is I. Th is the black sheep of the family. This sound, together with V and F, accounts for more than half of the errors in understanding what is said. Ou was found to be the easiest sound for all ears to recognize and the most difficult to misunderstand.

Dr. Fletcher has a perfect telephone apparatus which carries the voice without distortion. This is still a laboratory product, too expensive and fragile for commercial use. The results of 8,000 tests, which are still being studied, will, he says, eventually be of great value in improving the commercial telephone and revealing to actors, singers, teachers and public speakers what sounds must be stressed in order to be heard perfectly by the greatest number of hearers.

You may think a whisper does not start a sound wave, but Dr. Fletcher's perfect phone shows there is no difference in clearness in the reproduction of whispered sounds. Radio telephone orators take notice. Dr. Fletcher has compiled a list of sounds, giving the following order in which they are easy to recognize: OU, L, NG; long O, FR, Y; long A, I, D, O, W, T; long U, M; long E, Sh, B, H, A, U, A, J, Z, N, Ch, K, S, G, P, E, V, F, Th.

WONDA PHONOGRAPH CO. CHARTERED

One of the latest additions to the talking machine establishments of New York City is the Wonda Phonograph Co., which recently incorporated under the laws of this State, with a capital of $10,000. Incorporators are: H. Tausig and C. E. Bilkes.

"A man who boasts he never changes his mind after it is made up," says Trude Hills, "is about as valuable as a glue-pot that has glued its own stopper in."

THE PHONOMOTOR CO.

121 WEST AVENUE
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

W. F. HITCHCOCK, Proprietor

5 years of success everywhere

THE PHONOSTOP

100%
Efficient

Retails at 75c

THE NEED-A-CLIP

Two Well-known Phonograph Accessories Needed in Every Instrument of Class. Satisfaction Guaranteed in Every Case

Once adapted becomes permanent.

A WHOLE PAGE of references if desired.

DON'T DALLY with inferiors, get THE BEST.

PHONOSTOPS are universal, STANDARD, and finished in nickel and gold.

NEED-A-CLIPS in nickel only.

Get Our Printed Price List Immediately

Samples sent by parcels post C. O. D.; money back if unsatisfactory, but you'll want more.

A Selling Point That Can Be Proved

LAFAYETTE
$165

IMPERIAL $150

The following statement of fact, from a Sonora advertisement, is typical of the arguments that are winning new victories for Sonora dealers:

"Playing the same record, some phonographs are so sharp and shrill that one's ear-drums vibrate almost painfully, while some go to the other extreme and are dead, weak, or sound as though played in a barrel, so noticeable are the unnatural overtones and reverberations.

"These objectionable effects cannot be created on the Sonora. The patented Sonora sound box, tone arm and laminated all-wood horn, designed according to the correct basic principles of sound waves and acoustics, refine and make clear and sweet the sounds of a high pitch such as piccolo tones, harsh bass notes and those of the middle register which frequently reproduce unnaturally on other phonographs.

"One of the most important of these factors contributing to Sonora's tone is the scientific design and substantial construction of the Sonora amplifier. Unlike the thin, flimsy horns found on some phonographs, the Sonora all-wood laminated amplifier is made of from five to fifteen thick, cross-banded veneers, impervious to climatic changes, and incapable of opening up or cracking."

Experience has shown you that the talk that can be proved is the most powerful influence for sales. With the new, improved Sonoras on your floor you can demonstrate the facts related above.

Write for information about our liberal discounts and other advantages of handling the Sonora line.

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.

GEORGE E. BRIGHTSON, President

NEW YORK : 279 BROADWAY

Canadian Distributors: I. Montagnes & Co., Toronto

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World

The distributor named below who covers the territory in which you are located will be glad to answer all inquiries regarding a Sonora agency on receipt of a letter from you.

Syracuse, N. Y.

State of New York with the exception of towns on Hudson River below Poughkeepsie and excepting Greater New York.

605 Broad St., Newark, N. J.
State of New Jersey.

Memphis, Tenn.

Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi.

Indianapolis, Ind.
State of Indiana.

Omaha, Nebr.

State of Nebraska.

221 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

514 Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.
Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky.

616 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.

Washington, California, Oregon, Arizona, Nevada, northern Idaho, Hawaiian Islands.

BESIDES possessing important patents of its own, Sonora is licensed and operates under BASIC PATENTS of the phonograph industry. Sonora's future and the future of Sonora's dealers' business are secure.

Houston, Texas.

Southeastern part of Texas.

310-314 Marietta St., Atlanta, Ga.
Alabama, Georgia, Florida and North and South Carolina.

Wichita, Kans.

Southern part of Kansas, Oklahoma (except 5 N.E. counties) and Texas Panhandle.

Minneapolis, Minn.

States of Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota.

613 Arcade Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
St. Joseph, Mo.

Missouri, northern and eastern part of Kansas and 5 counties of N.E. Oklahoma.

1751 California St., Denver, Colo.
States of Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming east of Rock Springs.

Salt Lake City, Utah.
Utah, western Wyoming and southern Idaho.

720 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Illinois and Iowa.

Milwaukee, Wis.
Wisconsin, Upper Michigan.

1214 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Virginia.

505 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

150 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
All of Brooklyn and Long Island.

311 Sixth Avenue, New York.
Counties of Westchester, Putnam and Dutchess; all Hudson River towns and cities on the west bank of the river, south of Highland; all territory south of Poughkeepsie, including Greater New York, with the exception of Brooklyn and Long Island.

A SURVEY OF SUMMER BUSINESS IN THE RETAIL MUSIC FIELDS

Trade Service Bureau Presents Interesting Analysis of Factors Which Enter Into Summer Music Business, With Suggestions for Increasing Sales

The Trade Service Bureau of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce has recently made an extended survey of retail business in the music trade during the Summer months and has embodied the results of that survey in an interesting report, including charts showing sales evident that those who want to keep up their sales averages during otherwise dull months must cultivate out-of-town business.

The answers to the questionnaire of the Trade Service Bureau on "Bracing Up the Dull Months" prove conclusively that the two great fields for

The music merchant in an agricultural community having Summer resort attractions is, of course, especially favored in this respect. (See Chart No. 4.)

The fact is generally known and is emphasized by the reports that the great majority of

No. 1—General Monthly Sales Averages

This chart represents the average monthly percentage of sales of nearly 200 stores of all classes throughout the United States. Compare your own monthly sales percentages with these to find out whether you are above or below the average during the dull months. The 100 per cent month is December, while June, July and August are each below 50 per cent of the peak month.

No. 2—Average City or Industrial Sales

In the cities, particularly those which are industrial centers, Summer sales drop down to 40 per cent, and even below that during August. The dotted line shows what one merchant was able to do in an industrial city, the dashes showing the monthly business of another merchant, under identical conditions, who apparently was willing to accept the dull period without a struggle.

averages during the various months of the year and suggestions based upon the experiences of those retailers who have managed to overcome in some measure the Summer quietude. While none of the suggestions for increasing Summer sales may be termed radical or sensational a number of retailers may find in them some material that they can put to good use in their own localities.

intensive special effort to raise the sales averages of the most difficult months, July, August and early September, are as follows:

(1) Among the farmers who find time for mid-Summer diversion, before harvest, on the one hand, and

(2) Among city workers who are seeking vacation pleasures, on the other.

music business is done with city people, thereby emphasizing the opportunity for developing demand in rural and resort districts. The exodus of city workers into the country creates an obvious opportunity to transfer the city appreciation of music to country residents. At the resorts, Summer hotels and boarding places the country dwellers see what kind of diversions the Summer

No. 3—Average Sales in the Country

One of the most uniform individual reports returned on the questionnaire is shown by the dotted line, representing monthly sales in an agricultural community, with half the sales to country people and half to city people. The dashes represent a report showing the greatest variation, and although the business thus represented depends upon the agricultural element the fluctuation is explained by the statement that industrial and city people make up most of the sales. Apparently the farm trade has not been cultivated.

No. 4—Mixed Sales

Where the reports show the business to be evenly divided between city and country people, or industrial and agricultural workers, the monthly sales percentages run about parallel with the general averages of Chart No. 1, but there is greater evidence of sales opportunities being grasped. Here was found the most uniform report, as shown by the dotted line, with the explanation: "We do not have dull months. We have a big resort business in Summer and our regular good Winter trade, 60 per cent agricultural (with farmers)."

ties. For that reason the report is published in full as follows:

When the business done during the Summer months by music merchants who cultivate country trade averages better than 60 per cent (see Chart No. 3) of the peak month of December, while the city business in industrial centers drops below 40 per cent (see Chart No. 2), it becomes

The great army of stay-at-homes of all classes is susceptible to special arguments for musical equipment to break the monotony of the quiet Summer months and there should be no let-up of advertising and canvassing effort in the regular field. After all, it is only a relatively small minority of prospects who are away at a given time.

visitors enjoy, and if music takes its proper place in such diversions a new market is created, not only for the dull months, but for continued cultivation.

The figures secured by the Trade Service Bureau prove that the music merchants who keep after their regular business persistently and add to their usual efforts a special drive for busi-

A QUALITY SOUND BOX

Here is a sound box that has won a reputation for its quality features of design, construction and tone.

It reproduces a full, mellow, resonant tone of unrivalled volume and clearness.

Good enough for the highest-class phonographs and cheap enough for the lowest-priced machines.

Get acquainted with the superior qualities of the Presto rubber-hub sound box and you will realize why it has been adopted by the leading independent manufacturers.

PRESTO PHONO PARTS CORPORATION

124-132 Pearl Street

Brooklyn, N. Y.

ness among farmers and city people who are spending the Summer in the country or at resorts can maintain a fair degree of uniformity in their monthly sales averages.

Work alone is not the solution, unless that work is intelligently directed with certain definite ends in view. Every business presents different problems, but the following three channels of effort are representative of the methods by

(3) Building Up the Prospect List

Even when the cultivation of Summer prospects does not result in immediate business there has been created the opportunity for future sales. People's minds are out of the rut of routine thoughts. Under the different conditions which surround their Summer activities they may be approached from some new angle. A man who is thinking in terms of golf or an auto creating community spirit and friendly rivalry between towns, institutions and organizations.

The foregoing will suggest other avenues of approach, perhaps, and other methods of creating immediate or prospective business.

The report is intended to show that sales volume can be built up during otherwise dull months and that it is up to the individual enterprise of the music merchant to produce results at a time when

No. 5—Two Merchants in the Same Town

An interesting comparison of the attitude of two merchants working the same territory. The dotted line represents the one who reports a "great slump" in the particular field from which he was getting the most business, stating further that his poorest months (even though they were twice as good as his competitor's) were due to "not working hard enough on other prospects." Evidently this merchant is studying how to keep up his monthly sales percentages.

which higher monthly averages can be maintained:

(1) Offering of Seasonal Goods

There are certain offerings which are more likely to appeal to the indifferent prospect and create a desire in him to make music a definite part of his Summer diversion. The following are examples:

Used pianos, players and talking machines which can be priced low enough to make their installation in Summer bungalows within the means of many more prospects than could afford new instruments.

Small pianos of the type which are increasing rapidly in popularity, and which take up little room in limited Summer quarters.

Automatic pianos (coin-operated) for various resorts and public places frequented during the Summer.

Rental instruments of various types.

Portable phonographs which can be used in camps, on boats, on motor trips and, in fact, almost every place.

Special assortments of rolls and records, selected with particular reference to outing conditions and pleasures and all ready made up to save the time of the last-minute purchaser. Some old numbers, more or less out of demand, might be incorporated in such assortments, like "The Good Old Summertime."

Radio equipment for the Summer place.

Small goods like the banjo, ukulele, guitar and mandolin and novelties.

Band and orchestra instruments, especially the former.

Other items may suggest themselves to the music merchant who makes a careful study of his possible markets.

(2) Adapting the Sales Arguments

In order to develop the demand for Summer music special arguments adapted to the season must be put forth in advertising, window displays and sales solicitation, while the canvass for prospects must be suited to changed conditions.

Music for impromptu dances and concerts, music on motor and boating trips and in camp; music at boarding places, Summer cottages and clubs, and music as a happy addition to every kind of outdoor diversion and amusement should be pictured vividly. The lure of music across the water is irresistible.

Advertising should be very pointed, less detailed and should concentrate on a few basic ideas. People give less time to reading and less thought to what they read.

Window displays should associate music with outdoor ideas—the settings should show music on a cottage porch, amid grass and trees, along with fishing tackle or tennis outfits and other equipment which individualizes the window.

If there is a resort center nearby, but too far distant for convenient sales contact, a Summer branch headquarters might be desirable. The resort business might seem too small a factor to make this profitable, but the reports indicate that enough volume is gained in certain cases to make such a move practical.

trip may be more easily approachable than one who is buried in business during other months.

One may cultivate resort proprietors, provide concerts for the entertainment of Summer visitors in order to develop the idea and secure lists of guests. At some resorts and hotels time begins to hang heavy on the hands of many guests, who will welcome impromptu musical programs or the diversion of dancing. There is business to be built upon this awakened desire.

Informal contact with prospective customers under Summer conditions opens up a wonderful opportunity to secure information which can be used later—with regard to musical equipment in the home, music study for the children when vacation time is over, etc.

Summer is a good time to organize and teach bands. Community spirit may be stirred up, whether in a Summer colony or an industrial center, and band music is an important factor in it is easy to let business drift, when sales usually drop to a minimum and when the monthly percentage of overhead expense goes up to a peak which may be disastrous to the year's profits.

SECURES OAKLAND VICTOR AGENCY

OAKLAND, CAL., August 5.—The local branch of the California Music Co. was recently purchased by Harry N. Chesebrough, giving him a Victor agency, in addition to the Kimball and Pathé lines that he now handles. Mr. Chesebrough's main store is located at 1448 San Pablo and it is understood that he will run both stores until the first of next year, when the two establishments will be consolidated at 1432 San Pablo.

Boost your sales by going after prospects as soon as they return from their vacations.

No. 6—Piano and Talking Machine Percentages

A comparison of the monthly percentages of piano and talking machine sales, the dots representing piano sales and the dashes showing the talking machine sales. The percentages were furnished by a large organization having retail interests operating in many localities and under varying conditions, making the comparison above fairly representative of a national average.

Wall-Kane Needles
Protect the Record

WALL-KANE NEEDLES

Used by 80% of the population, sold by the leading jobbers throughout the world.

A nationally advertised article that has been in ever-increasing demand since it was established in 1913

WALL-KANE needles are packed in metal display stands holding 60 packages, 24 loud, 24 extra loud and 12 medium.

They are also packed in cartons of 100 packages of a single tone, either loud, extra loud or medium.

JOBBERS ONLY—APPLY FOR SPECIAL PROPOSITION

WALL-KANE NEEDLE MANUFACTURING CO.

Successors to

The Greater New York Novelty Co.

Sole Manufacturers of

WALL-KANE NEEDLES

3922 Fourteenth Avenue

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Clear as the notes of a nesting thrush, tender with deep mother love is Lucy Gates' rendering of "Sleep, Little Baby of Mine," an old-fashioned lullaby that has hushed babies to sleep the world around. As a complement for this, making an unusually complete record, she sings "Son O' Mine" a mothering song of exquisite sentiment. A-3639.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

GRIFFITH BRANCH STORE OPENED

Well-known Piano Firm of Newark, N. J., Opens Branch in Scranton

SCRANTON, PA., August 3.—The Griffith Piano Co., with headquarters in Newark, N. J., has opened its third retail branch at 211 North Washington avenue, this city. A branch of this concern is also operated in Paterson, N. J. The local store is one of the finest in this part of the State and the lines of instruments handled here make it one of the most representative piano houses in this vicinity.

Included in the stock are Steinway, Sohmer, Krakauer, Hallet & Davis, Lester, Brambach and Griffith pianos, players and Sonora phonographs, Vocalion records, Q R S melody rolls and also reproducing rolls. The finishing and rebuilding shop is located in the rear of the store. Surplus stock is carried in the basement.

T. M. Griffith is president; P. O. Griffith, treasurer; Paul Griffith, who is in charge of the Scranton store, secretary; F. E. Griffith, vice-president, and H. G. Griffith, general manager.

H. MICHLOSKY VISITS GOTHAM

Harry Michlosky, partner with Hyman Landau in the firm of Landau's, Victor dealer, operating stores in Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton and other cities in Pennsylvania, was a recent visitor to New York City. While in the metropolis Mr. Michlosky visited various Victor jobbers.

The person who is "just looking around" to-day may be the buyer of to-morrow.

ATLANTIC JR.

Crystal Receiver

$18.00

Ready for Installation

Atlantic Instrument Co.

INCORPORATED

13-21 PARK ROW

NEW YORK

OBTAINING CUSTOMERS' CONFIDENCE

Salesman Who First Serves Customer Has Best Opportunity of Promoting Further Good Will by Follow-up of Original Visit

A simple plan to retain the patronage and confidence of customers has been put in effect by a certain aggressive merchant in a medium-sized city with considerable success. Realizing that customers who make the acquaintance of a salesman through having made a previous purchase would probably be better satisfied with the services of that particular man than a stranger on the second visit, each salesman received instructions to present his card to customers after the sale has been concluded and request that if the customer desired anything in the future to ask for him personally and he would see that his or her wants were satisfied.

These salesmen were also instructed to keep track of the names and addresses of persons to whom they had given their cards and at certain intervals they were told to communicate with these customers by letter or telephone, calling their attention to records which would be most likely to arouse their interest—a plan which promoted good will and increased sales.

LANDAU FIRM LEASES BUILDING

Plan to Convert Theatre Building Into a Number of Stores—Expansion of Business Makes Larger Quarters Necessary

HAZLETON, PA., August 4.—The Landau firm, of this city, well-known music merchants, operating stores in Wilkes-Barre, Pittston and this city, have completed arrangements for the leasing of the Campbell Theatre Building at 27 Broad street.

The building will be converted into a number of stores, one of which will be occupied by the Landau firm, which has outgrown its present quarters on Wyoming street.

The company, besides handling Victrolas, jewelry and musical instruments, has added to its lines the Lester and Pease pianos, uprights and grands, in all stores; also radiophones and radio accessories.

Landau's expect to occupy the new quarters on or about October 1 of this year. When completed this will be one of the most beautiful establishments of its kind in the State.

MITCHUNK GIVES CONCERTS

Columbia Artist Heard in Series of Afternoon Concerts in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 4.—A. Maisel, live-wire Columbia dealer in this city, announced a series of concerts recently by L. Mitchunk, well-known accordionist and Columbia artist. Mr. Mitchunk gave a series of concerts from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening, playing a group of Russian and Polish selections, which were enthusiastically received.

ITALIAN RECORDS FIND BIG MARKET

Interesting Report on Business Progress by Italian Book Co.—A. De Martino Visiting Europe in Interest of Company

The Italian Book Co., sole American distributor for the Phonotype record, manufactured in Italy, and who also distributes special releases of popular Italian numbers, of the Neapolitan line of records, reports that its business has shown a steady increase since January 1, and that the demand for its records has grown country-wide. Plans are now being made for an intensive Fall campaign which will introduce these records into every center in this country. In order to procure a record that will appeal more strongly to the Italian-speaking people in this country, A. De Martino, one of the officials of the company, is now in Italy, conferring with the officials of the Phonotype Co. there with a view of establishing a closer contact and to offer suggestions in giving these records an American color that will appeal to record buyers in this country.

Mr. De Martino, who has several copyrighted Italian popular songs under his control, is planning to offer these to the manufacturers of Phonotype records in Italy with a view of having them recorded, so that they will be ready to market in the early Fall. While in Europe he plans to visit France and Germany in the interest of his company, and will return by way of England some time during the month of September.

Victor Wholesalers

The House
of Mellor
in Pittsburgh
since 1831

An Enormous Demand Exists

For Records By

MAMIE SMITH

Colored Queen of Syncopation

Her records can be secured only of Okeh Dealers because Mamie Smith is an Exclusive Okeh Artist and sings only for

Okeh Records

The Records of Quality

If you want to get in on this valuable trade write your nearest Distributor for full particulars

MAMIE SMITH

COMPLETE LIST OF OKEH DISTRIBUTORS

CALIFORNIA—San Francisco,
KOHLE & CHASE, 26 O'Farrell St.

COLORADO—Denver
MOORE-BIRD Co., 1751 California St.

GEORGIA—Atlanta,
J. K. POLK FURNITURE Co.,
294 Decatur St.

ILLINOIS—Chicago,
CONSOLIDATED TALKING MACHINE Co.,
227 W. Washington St.

W. W. KIMBALL COMPANY,
Wabash Ave. & Jackson Blvd.

INDIANA—Indianapolis,
KIEFER-STEWART Co.,
Capitol Ave. & Georgia St.

LOUISIANA—New Orleans,
JUNIOUS HART PIANO HOUSE,
703 Canal St.

MARYLAND—Baltimore,
A. J. HEATH & Co.,
321 Park Avenue.

MASSACHUSETTS—Boston,
THE BAY STATE MUSIC CORP.,
142 Berkeley St.

MICHIGAN—Detroit,
CONSOLIDATED TALKING MACHINE Co.,
2957 Gratiot Ave.

MINNESOTA—Minneapolis,
DOERR-ANDREWS & DOERR

MISSOURI—St. Louis,
THE ARTOPHONE CORP., 1103 Olive St.

NEBRASKA—Omaha
LEE-COIT-ANDREESSEN HARDWARE Co.,

NEW YORK—Buffalo,
IROQUOIS SALES CORP., 210 Franklin St.

New York City,
BRISTOL & BARBER Co., INC.,
3 East 14th St.

NEW YORK DISTRIBUTING DIV.,
15 W. 18th St.

NORTH CAROLINA—Goldsburo,
INDEPENDENT JOBBING Co.,

OHIO—Celina,
HARPONOLA COMPANY

Cleveland,
THE RECORD SALES COMPANY,
1965 E. 66th St.

Cincinnati,
STERLING ROLL & RECORD Co.,
137 W. Fourth St.

PENNSYLVANIA—Philadelphia,
A. J. HEATH & Co.,
27-29 So. Seventh St.

SONORA COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA,
1214 Arch St.

Pittsburgh,
THE RECORD SALES COMPANY,
806 Penn Ave.

Williamsport,
RISHELL PHONOGRAPH Co.

TEXAS—Dallas,
MARTIN WEISS Co.,
903 Elm St.

Houston,
HOUSTON DRUG COMPANY.

WISCONSIN—Milwaukee,
YARR & LANGE DRUG Co.,
207 E. Water St.

General Phonograph Corporation

OTTO HEINEMAN, PRESIDENT

25 West 45th Street, New York City

No matter what your customers ask for be sure to let them listen to Ray Miller and His Orchestra as they put their hearts and heads and hands into "Neath the South Sea Moon" from Ziegfeld's Follies of 1922 and "It's Up to You." They'll Fox-Trot all over your store. A-3649.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

BROADCASTING OF VOICES AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Radio Fans Often Wonder Why Some Notes of Music Are Intense While Others Weaken and Drag —Noted Expert Tells Interestingly Why Some Concerts Are Often "Blurred"

The Radio Editor of the New York Times carried a very interesting story the other day on the broadcasting of music. After pointing out how the Radio telephone commenced to gain recognition among Radio operators, both amateur and commercial, a couple of years ago, and how its entertainment features began to influence thousands of others to listen in, he said:

"Many people hear a concert which is 'blurred' and far from being as perfect as the original tones. This is not due to radio defects, but to the receiving operator's failure to understand his set properly, a run-down battery, or some defect in tuning because of inexperience. Transmitting operators have their troubles, but experiments and study are fast overcoming the agencies which in the early days of the radio telephone made it difficult to produce with true fidelity and clearness all classes of voices, and the tones of musical instruments.

"It is a question in the minds of many radio fans why some notes are heard with abnormal intensity and others have a tendency to weaken and drag. This effect can best be understood by considering the manner in which the notes of the piano reproduce and transmit. All who have listened to a piano recital by radio are familiar with the way some notes 'push through' and do not sound normal in their relation with other notes. This increase in the volume of certain piano notes is called 'blasting.' There is a definite group of notes on the piano in the middle register closest to the particular frequency at which the microphone or transmitter diaphragm vibrates best. The combination causes the increase in volume and creates a 'blast.' Much of this unpleasant sound has been eliminated by building microphones which are particularly adapted for use with the various types of instruments and by placing the instruments at the correct distance from the transmitter. In one of the early broadcasting stations the piano was shifted for six months before a position was found which overcame certain acoustic effects, harmful to radio transmission. Many of the peculiar problems presented by the piano in radio work have been solved in this way, but further improvements are still to be made before the piano music can be broadcasted perfectly.

Brass Instruments Carry Well

"Brass instruments, such as the horn and cornet, have characteristics which require care in handling, especially in their position and distance from the microphone, but when properly placed they are most successful in radio transmission. If these instruments are played directly into the transmitter, 'blasting' is certain to result.

"The cornet is considered one of the best musical instruments for radio concert work. The saxophone ranks high so long as the musician stays away from the extremely low notes. Traps carry very well over the radio because of their sharp, clearly defined characteristics. The bass drum is too slow and low. The music of the clarinet carries exceptionally well, but care must be taken to place it far enough from the microphone so that the mechanical click of the stops is not picked up by the transmitter. The flute at times reaches too high and piercing a pitch. The violin has characteristics which make it a great favorite and one of the finest instruments for radio entertainment. Its tones are reproduced by the microphone almost to perfection.

"Bells and the xylophone sound very good by wireless, as they produce tones which are clear and sharp, generally having a higher frequency than the natural vibrating frequency of the metal diaphragm of the transmitter. The ukulele is not as good as the banjo and mandolin. The ukulele produces what might be termed dead accompaniments, as its notes, clearly defined at the beginning, suddenly die away or fade, making reproduction difficult. The mandolin can be reproduced a trifle more efficiently than the banjo or harp. The tenor banjo and harp when struck vibrate at certain frequencies and die out gradually, making them well suited for a place in the radio orchestra.

Baritone Best Radio Voice

"The human voice can be reproduced and broadcast to a finer degree than any of the musical instruments. Voices, like the instruments, have their peculiarities for radio transmission. Articulation and correct breathing must be given every consideration to render the concert a success.

"Male voices reproduce and carry far better than female because of more efficient modulation. This explains why the majority of announcers are men. The baritone has the vocal strength and quality which produces excellent modulation and places it first among the voices adapted to radio. The bass has to be placed closer to the transmitter than the baritone and the tenor still nearer.

"Soprano may be broadcast effectively and can be heard over great distances because of the high pitched notes. The alto and contralto singer must be careful in striking notes too low and deep for they are apt to fade out and the beauty of the song cannot help being lost in the microphone.

"All singers do not have voices desirable for the radio, although on the concert stage they may be beyond reproach. In some cases personality and appearance capture an audience, but radio has not reached the stage where its invisible waves can transmit personality, therefore it is vocal qualities alone which make a singer a success as a radiophone artist. The distance of the singer from the microphone and the correct selection of the proper microphone for each class of music add in a great degree to the perfection of the concert. Each instrument and each voice present a different problem.

"The most popular and pleasing music to the average radio fan is the well-known jazz, and the ideal combination of instruments to send forth the tones as near to the originals as possible is the violin, saxophone, tenor banjo and piano. With a well-tuned receiving set the music is as clear as if its source were a few feet rather than many miles away. As observed, much depends upon the set and the competency of the operator."

Experience is a good teacher, but only a fool selects this method of gaining knowledge when he can, by very little effort, take advantage of the experiences of others.

REGAL
PREDOMINATES
IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

TRUCKS

The Lea Phonograph and Talking Machine Truck must be used to be appreciated.

With it one man can handle the Edison Chippendale, Victor No. XVII, Cheney No. 6 Queen Anne and other large models. This truck also fits the smaller sizes.

It is only a one-man job to deliver your instrument from the showroom to any apartment floor.

Piano trucks, hoists, covers, straps, movers' supplies. May we send you a circular and prices?

Made only by

Self Lifting Piano Truck Co.
FINDLAY, OHIO

Okeh

Okeh

CONSOLIDATED SERVICE

is famous for its Promptness and Efficiency. It's the foundation upon which we have built our business. We handle Okeh Records because they give the public utmost satisfaction, and increase the dealer's trade. You can build a lasting business on Okeh. We give you co-operation and sales helps which make your trade grow. Write and ask us about an Okeh Agency.

Consolidated Talking Machine Co.

227 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

Branch: 2957 Gratiot Ave., Detroit, Mich.

CLEVELAND

Tie-up Between Theatre and Dealer Pays — Interesting Sales Stunts — Buying Holiday Stock — Ohio Merchants Boost Music

CLEVELAND, O., August 9.—The biggest tie-up between a theatre and a music concern that this city has ever witnessed took place here this month, when the Columbia Graphophone Co., under the able direction of George Krauslick, service manager, arranged with the State Theatre that songs suggested by the Cleveland branch should be featured each week, and that a sign should be hung in the lobby of the theatre, which lists the selections and gives the Columbia record number.

A striking stage setting, which depicts a music shop, is used. The scenery is all Columbia. Through the courtesy of E. Strong, manager of the Loew Theatres, and Al Wolman, a Grafonola, Columbia records, fixtures and sign and framed artists' posters of Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, Rosa Ponselle and Jeanne Gordon are used as stage decorations.

G. J. Murray, manager of the record department of the Columbia Graphophone Co., states that this "stunt" has created a great deal of interest about town. People are curious to find out how Mr. Krauslick managed to do it.

Columbia Song Tie-up With Theatre

Not very long ago Al Wolman, stage director at the State Theatre, put over "Moonshine" in great style, and then he informed the audience that they could hear the song over again on their Grafonola. His rendition of "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean" scored heavily and it is expected that this will add to the sales of record A-3609.

"Safety First" Campaign Aids Business

The Buescher Co. is also giving an example of keeping right up to date. Cleveland Boy Scouts have been painting large footsteps at every crosswalk to help in a "Safety First" campaign in the city, and an idea of utilizing this "stunt" for novel advertising purposes was conceived by I. H. Buescher. The border of the advertisement, which is run in the dailies, is made of many black footprints, and in the center is the following: "FOOTSTEPS!—you see them at every crosswalk for 'Safety First.' When buying a Victrola and Victor records let your feet carry you to our new store at 1310 Huron road."

Vocalion Co. Co-operates With Dealers

A "cut-out" list, which is aiding dealers in the sale of records, has been started by the Vocalion Co. of Ohio. A plan has been arranged by which Aeolian dealers may return records that have lost popularity. The list, which now has about forty records on it, is called the "cut-out" list, and is proving popular among dealers, as it enables them to add more popular pieces to their stock without fear of having them left over on their hands.

Simple Stunt Boosts Sales

Since a simple improvement has been installed in the Randolph House of Good Music, at St. Clair and Parkwood Drive, this establishment has found drawing new clientele during the hot Summer months an easy matter. A block distant from the Randolph House is one of the biggest food markets in this section of the country. Crowds flock to this market every evening, since they have the best selection of foodstuffs direct from the growers.

C. H. Randolph, head of the Randolph House, decided that he would let the people who visit the market know of the music store nearby. So a frame was fitted into the transom of one of the doors facing the market, a Magnavox connected and music distributed all over the neighborhood. A likely number of prospects has already been acquired through this medium, asserts the energetic Mr. Randolph.

Orders Christmas Stock

Louis Meier, president of the Northern Ohio Talking Machine Dealers' Association, and member of the L. Meier & Sons Co., is showing dealers in this city that the old saying, "Do your Christmas shopping early," applies to the dealer as well as the consumer. Business has so far been good, and the outlook for the future is so bright that Mr. Meier went ahead and bought in his Christmas stock. He explained that machines cannot be made in a day, and as the demand will be large he wants to be prepared to meet it. Mr. Meier is also having twelve-foot Victor dogs with the name and address of the L. Meier & Sons Co. on them distributed along the country roads outside of Cleveland.

Growing Demand for Edison Records

The Bailey Co. is finding a large market for the white label Edison record, the only difficulty being, members of the company say, that there is such a demand for it that the black label Edison will have to fight to hold its place.

New Starr Console Popular

A new type of console model has been introduced by the Starr Piano Co., and is proving quite successful. A rather curious incident occurred at this establishment the other day. Several orchestra men entered the store to listen to the Gennett record, which is becoming popular here, to improve their style of playing.

Giving Suggestions to Dealers

L. G. Hart, sales representative of the Pittsburgh district, was a visitor at the new Brunswick headquarters in Cleveland, and he was greatly pleased with the facilities for improving the service to the dealers.

A. F. Hughes, service manager of the Brunswick Cleveland branch, has been visiting dealers in surrounding towns for the past few weeks giving them many new ideas on sale suggestions which will improve business.

Columbia Co.'s Prize Contest

The Columbia Co. is sending out a list to the different dealers to find out what are the best records, in their opinions, under different classifications, such as dance music, etc. These lists are then to be returned to the company, and three lists will be made out consisting of the records which have received the most votes. The dealer who turns in a list which nearly complies with the list put out by the company will receive a prize.

Some Live News Brieflets

The Tabak Music Co. has secured the Columbia agency and will handle this line exclusively. This store opened Saturday, July 15, and visitors were entertained by a five-piece orchestra.

The Buescher Co. has acquired the agency for the Cheney phonograph, and members of the firm expect that this will greatly increase the sales of the company, as this machine is one of the most popular makes in the city.

The Oriole Terrace Orchestra has made its first record for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. This is considered by the company as a wonderful addition to its catalog. This company also announces that the merger of the Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Cleveland districts has been completed, and all business will hereafter be handled from the Cleveland office.

Howard J. Shartle, general manager of the Cleveland Talking Machine Co., is now visiting dealers in northern Ohio, and he expects to aid and assist dealers to procure increased sales. He will return in about a week.

Ohio Merchants Organize Music Committee

The Ohio Music Merchants' Association will organize its "Advancement of Music" committee at the annual convention at Toledo. This committee was authorized by amendment to the by-laws at a meeting of the council at Columbus, O., January 31, 1922. It was decided that the committee should consist of five mem-

(Continued on page 55)

Model 17, Mahogany, Golden Oak or Fumed Oak, 75-record file. Emerson Music Master horn and Thrush Throat tone arm. Heine-man No. 44 motor. All exposed metal parts gold-plated. A beautiful machine worth many dollars more than we ask. We have also a number of Emerson Model 20's.

Emerson Phonographs

at startling low prices

WHAT would it mean to you to be able to offer your customers a beautiful, nationally known, high-grade Emerson Phonograph at a price so low that it seems ridiculously impossible—and yet be able to make a fine profit on them? You can do so. We have a number of Emersons, fine, new machines, which we made up for the Emerson Co., which we can sell you at a price you will scarcely believe possible. We want to break even and that's all. You and your customers get the benefit. You know the Emerson—how really high grade it is—and what a splendid reputation it has. Cash in on this real buying opportunity!

Write for full information

The UDELL WORKS :: Indianapolis

28th Street and Barnes Avenue

Starr

PHONOGRAPH

The Soul of the Artist

again finds expression when the record is Starr-played. The Starr searches out each shade, each refinement, each warm glow of inflection and tone color entrusted to the record. Through the Starr's singing throat of silver grain spruce, the tones pure, and untinged by obtrusive mechanical sounds come to the music lover's ear.

To realize new records delight, hear your favorite record Starr-played. Any Starr dealer will gladly give you this opportunity. Also ask to hear the ultimate in record perfection—The New Gennett Records.

THE STARR PIANO COMPANY
RICHMOND, INDIANA

New York—Chicago—Los Angeles—Birmingham
Detroit—Cincinnati—Cleveland—Indianapolis
Boston—Jacksonville—London, Canada

STYLE III

TRADE HAPPENINGS IN CLEVELAND

(Continued from page 53)

bers who shall choose their own chairman, and who shall be originally appointed to terms of one, two, three, four and five years by the president, and thereafter the president shall annually appoint one member for five years.

The duty of this committee will be to assist the national as well as the local organizations in Ohio in their effort to advance the interest in good music.

The committee has already been appointed. Its membership is as follows: One year, A. L. Maresh, of Cleveland; two years, Marie C. Kratz, of Akron, O.; three years, Robert C. Wilkin, of Columbus, O.; four years, Charles H. Yahrling, of Youngstown; five years, F. B. Reinkamp, of Cincinnati.

ALTERATIONS AT MEIER & FRANK CO.

Portland Concern Makes Extensive Changes in Talking Machine Department—Mary E. Godwin Resigns From Seiberling-Lucas Co.

PORTLAND, ORE., July 31.—The Meier & Frank Co. is making extensive improvements in its phonograph department. The entire department is torn up, but business is being conducted as usual. Harry Andrews, manager of the department, says that the alterations will be finished about September 1 and that this will then be one of the largest and best-equipped talking machine departments in the city.

Mary E. Godwin, who has so ably filled the position of Victor educational director of the Seiberling-Lucas Music Co., has severed her connection with the firm, as the position of educational director has been discontinued during the Summer months. Miss Godwin was a live wire and only recently put over the Victor float, which took the first prize during the recent Rose Festival.

GEORGE JARROW IN TOWN

Chicago Columbia Dealer and Party of Friends Visit Columbia Co. Offices

Geo. Jarrow, well-known Columbia dealer in Chicago, accompanied by Mrs. Jarrow and a party of friends, visited the executive offices of the Columbia Graphophone Co. in New York after a four weeks' motor trip to various sections of the country, including Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and New York State. While visiting the Columbia offices Mr. Jarrow took advantage of the opportunity to hear Ray Miller and Nora Payes record in the Columbia laboratories and then left for Bridgeport to visit the Columbia factories. Mr. Jarrow is keenly enthusiastic regarding Columbia product and states that he is making plans for an active, healthy Fall trade.

Courtesy means kindness, sympathy, a desire to serve and a willingness to help.

MULTUM IN PARVO

A careful reading of the business publications, a receptive attitude toward real selling ideas and the ability to adopt them and pass them on will do more to bring business back to normal than any number of inspirational appeals or speeches.—Printers' Ink.

WHY BUSINESS MUST IMPROVE

Rank and File of American People Are Saving Money, Thanks to Prohibition, Says One of Our Subscribers—To Resume Buying This Fall

One of our prohibition friends who is a "bull" on the United States, and also on the future of the talking machine business, is looking for an immense demand for talking machines and records when the people get ready to buy, because reputable authorities estimate that before prohibition some three billions of dollars a year was spent by the American people for intoxicating beverages. About 20 per cent of this amount has gone into the savings banks, while the rest has gone into the building of homes and the buying of merchandise, which raises the standard of living of the American people. Next!

INCORPORATES FOR $200,000

Emerson Phonograph Co., Recently Reorganized, Plans Expansion of Foreign Record Business—Some Jewish, Russian and Italian Issues

The Emerson Phonograph Co., which was recently reorganized, has been incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, with an active capital of $200,000. The incorporators are the purchasers of the Emerson assets, B. Abrams, Rudolph Kanarek and L. Guth. As announced in these columns, the company will continue the manufacture of Emerson records, confining its activities to its comprehensive catalog of standard and foreign records. Particular attention is being given to the foreign issues and this is to be greatly enlarged in scope. The new releases of the company repeat a series of records that were issued some time back, but were not cataloged, and, in addition, it announces some interesting new records in Jewish, Russian and Italian.

BRUNSWICK SHOP OPENS IN SALEM

SALEM, MASS., August 5.—The Brunswick Shop was formally opened at 60 Washington street, this city, recently by Charles and F. B. Odell. The demonstration booths, service counter, etc., were constructed by the Unit Construction Co. The Brunswick line is handled exclusively.

Superior Tone Quality

Bell Hood Needle

does it

Most natural tone reproductions

Try your favorite record with a Bell Hood Needle

Now selling at 15 cents per package

BELL HOOD NEEDLE COMPANY
183 Church Street, New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.

Made of High Grade
Hardened Steel
Specially Treated
to Give
Frictionless Surface

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
No. 995758 which will
be strictly enforced

Extra Heavy
Size—1 1/8 in.

7/8 in.

3/4 in.

5/8 in.

1/2 in.

3/8 in.

Furniture Footwear

Silence

Noise in the home is particularly annoying.

There is but one form of furniture footwear that permits of furniture being moved silently and that is

DOMES of SILENCE

Which also has these additional important qualities which ordinary devices do not possess:

Economy

Simplicity

Invisibility

Adaptability—Suitable for covered and uncovered floors alike.

Service— Long wear.

Protection to furniture, floors and rugs.

The perfect footwear for furniture—

DOMES of SILENCE

“Better than Casters”

Henry W. Peabody & Co.

DOMES OF SILENCE DIVISION

17 State Street, New York City

In All Your Talking Machine Orders,

Specify DOMES of SILENCE

F 66

What we say above about Furniture applies also to Phonographs

TWO VICTOR RED SEAL CLASSES HELD IN NEW YORK

F. A. Delano Directs Two Most Successful Classes Under the Auspices of the Victor Distributors of Metropolitan New York—Guests of Jobbers at Brighton Beach and Theatre at Close

Two Victor Red Seal sales classes were held in New York during the month of July at the Hotel Pennsylvania, under the direction of F. A. Delano, of the Victor Talking Machine Co. Both of these classes were signally successful, and Mr. Delano was delighted with the attention and consideration given the courses by the Victor ance at the first, indicating that the dealers keenly appreciated Mr. Delano's efforts to cooperate with them. The second class closed on July 20, and the same program of entertainment was furnished to the members of this class as the entertainment of the previous week.

Mr. Delano received the hearty congratulations

ris Nimcowitz, New York City; Miss E. Cohen, Max Rosen, Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. F. Crosson, Sedgwick & Casey, Hartford, Conn.; H. Cunningham, New York Talking Machine Co., New York City; H. G. Dillon, New York Band Instrument Co., New York City; I. Donlon, Rye Music Shop, Rye, N. Y.; J. B. Elwood, Quackenbush Co., Paterson, N. J.; A. Eskild, Manor Music Co., Brooklyn; F. W. Evans, McManus Bros., Elizabeth, N. J.; V. J. Faeth, Winterroth Piano Co., New York City; D. Feiner, Woodhaven Music Shop, Woodhaven, L. I.; Miss F. L. Fitzgerald, Dunlap Sporting Goods Co., Far Rockaway, N. Y.; Miss M. Fowles, Alfred Fox Piano Co., Bridgeport, Conn.; C. Geller, Montauk Music Shop, Rockville Centre, L. I.; W. Helfer, Paul Helfer, New York City; R. H. Henning, Wm. H. Keller & Son, Easton, Pa.; J. Herchenroder, Ormonde Music Shop, Brooklyn; Miss Heeyde, Baumer Piano Co., New Rochelle, N. Y.; Miss A. Howley, Alfred Fox Piano Co., Stamford, Conn.; James Jenkins, Cool & Schaller, New York City; Sam Kaminsky, Graham T. M. Shop, Brooklyn; G. P. Kasmiri, C. P. Wing Co., New Bedford, Mass.; M. Klaus, Ideal Music Co., Brooklyn; V. Lanzaro, Neopolitan Talking Machine Co., Brooklyn; S. Larschan, L. R. Sherman, Brooklyn; Miss A. Lazarus and Mrs. S. Lazarus, Sol Lazarus, New York City; B. Lehrer, M. Rappaport Music Shop, New York City; A. Lerat, Hyde Music Co., Jersey City; A. Levine, Emanuel Blout, New York City; D. Levine, A. Lesser, Brooklyn; Mrs. I. A. Lynn, R. P. Dunlap, Peekskill, N. Y.; V. McGuinness, McGuinness & McGuinness, Jersey City; Paul McNulty, Kay T. M. Co., New York City; J. H. Mayers, International Phono Co., New York City; H. A. Micha, Traeger's Music House, Stapleton, S. I.; A. A. Miller, Franklin Music Parlors, Englewood, N. J.; R. Montalvo, Jr., New Brunswick, N. J.; A. R. Murray, C. Bruno &

Snapshot of the Attendants at the First Red Seal Sales Class

dealers in the metropolitan territory. All of the Victor jobbers in Greater New York co-operated with Mr. Delano, and a jobbers' committee consisting of Lloyd L. Spencer, Silas E. Pearsall Co.; Fred P. Oliver, Blackman Talking Machine Co., and Chas. B. Mason, New York Talking Machine Co., worked indefatigably in the interests of the classes.

The first class opened on July 10 and the last session was held on July 13. On the evening of that day all of the members of the class were the guests of the local Victor wholesalers at a dinner party held at the Hotel Shelburne, Brighton Beach, followed by a theatre party at the Brighton Beach Theatre. The members of the class, together with the representatives of the jobbers, were conveyed by automobile buses to the Hotel Shelburne, where a delightful shore dinner was served, during which the dancing devotees were given an opportunity to indulge in their favorite pastime. After the close of the performance at the Brighton Beach Theatre the party was conveyed to Manhattan by automobile buses.

On Monday, July 17, the second class opened and it is gratifying to note that the attendance at the second class was larger than the attendance of all the members of his classes upon the practical value of this sales course, and the hope was expressed that he would have an opportunity to visit New York again in the near future and conduct another series of similar classes. During the course of the sessions Mrs. Frances E. Clark, head of the Victor Talking Machine Co.'s educational department, was a visitor, and many of the dealers discussed important educational subjects with her. The Victor jobbers who cooperated with Mr. Delano consisted of the following: American Talking Machine Co., Blackman Talking Machine Co., Emanuel Blout, C. Bruno & Son, Chas. H. Ditson & Co., Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., New York Talking Machine Co., Ormes, Inc., Silas E. Pearsall Co. and the G. T. Williams Co.

Those Who Attended the Second Red Seal Class

The members of the first Red Seal sales class were: C. N. Abelowitz, Abelowitz Phono Co., New York City; J. W. Ackerly, J. W. Ackerly, Patchogue, L. I.; H. H. Ahrens, Carl Fischer, New York City; R. S. Allen, Ideal Music Co., New York City; Miss E. H. Bann, Lord & Taylor, New York City; L. F. Barg, Crescent Hill Music Co., Brooklyn; F. W. Baumer and F. Baumer, Baumer Piano Co., New Rochelle, N. Y.; Miss E. Beel, R. Montalvo, Jr., New Brunswick, N. J.; J. O. Benton, Lynbrook Music Shop, Lynbrook, L. I.; Miss H. Bjaanes, C. A. Hansen & Bros., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Clem Boling, New York T. M. Co., New York City; Arthur Boxer, University Music Shop, New York City; F. Bullenkamp, New York City; Miss K. R. Burnite, W. N. Burnite, Riverhead, N. Y.; T. A. Cabasino, Corona, L. I.; Miss L. M. Campbell, Mor-

Son, Inc., New York City; H. Nimcowitz, Morris Music Shop, New York City; D. Owens and R. B. Owens, Gibbons & Owens, Brooklyn; Mrs. C. PerLee, John Wanamaker, New York City; W. S. Phillips, W. S. Phillips, Cedarhurst, L. I.; Miss C. Pickett, Kay Talking Machine Co., New York City; C. M. Price, Jersey Music Co., Bloomfield, N. J.; A. B. Ross, Miss Ross and Chas. Ross, A. I. Ross Music Store, Astoria, L. I.; F. B. Roth, E. Leins Piano Co., New York City; I. Schlanger, Henry Mielke, Inc., New York City; Mrs. L. Schlein, Jersey City Talking Machine Co., Jersey City; H. G. Schoennauer, Koch & Droge Piano Co., Brooklyn; Miss E. Scholl, Fred G. Scholl, Woodhaven, L. I.; S. L. Schott, S. L. Schott, Inc., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Miss E. Schultz, Hunts Leading Music House, White Plains, N. Y.; E. Schwartz and Mrs. M. Schwartz, Schwartz & Chakrin, Brooklyn; H. E. Schweiger, E. A. Schweiger, Brooklyn; W. H. Shearer, Arthora Music Shop, Brooklyn; E. M. Sheetz, Blackman Talking Machine Co., New York City; Al Siegel, A. H. Mayers, New York City; S. B. Simms, Weil Bros., New York City; G. Sinisgallo, Max Rosen, Brooklyn; H. L. Smith, Brooklyn; H. Steinhart, Jacob Piano & Phono. Corp., Brooklyn; Miss Stevens, F. F.

(Continued on page 58)

Repair Parts

SAMUEL ESHBORN

65 Fifth Avenue
New York

C. R. JOHNSTONE
VICE-PRES., GEN. MGR.

THE BELL RECORDING CORP.,

Associated With National Metals Depositing Corporation

BEST RECORDING

EXPERIENCED SPECIALISTS

LOUD AND CLEAR

LAST WORD IN QUALITY

9 East 47th Street, New York City

We Specialize in Private Recording

and

General Recording for the Phonograph Trade

TWO VICTOR RED SEAL CLASSES

(Continued from page 57)

Herrman Talking Machine Corp., Port Richmond, S. I.; Miss L. Sweeney, James Donnelly, So. Norwalk, Conn.; T. Tollefson, S. Kjeldsen, Brooklyn; E. M. Veith and H. T. Veith, Franklin Music Parlors, Englewood, N. J.; Miss A. Wernick, L. Wernick, Holyoke, Mass.; Harry Wernick, Holyoke Phonograph Store, Holyoke, Mass.; W. R. Wielage, Whitehall Co., Jamaica, L. I.; Miss H. Wylie, Wm. Berdy, Brooklyn; Miss E. Zapf, Fred G. Scholl, Woodhaven, L. I.; Miss D. Zvirin, Jacob Zvirin, Larchmont, N. Y.; Helen T. Coffman, Cool & Schaller, New York; M. Strangfeld, Empire Music Co., New Rochelle.

Those Who Attended the Second Class

The members of the second Red Seal class consisted of the following: Miss A. Allstrom, Muklijohn Piano Co., Providence, R. I.; M. Bachenheimer, Joseph Donlan, New York City; H. B. Baggett, Ormonds Music Shop, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Tilly Bahnert, White Music Shop, Danbury, Conn.; Geo. A. Baker, Blackman Talking Machine Co., New York City; E. Bartels, Chevalier's, Inc., Brooklyn; H. L. Behrman, Savoy Music Shop, New York City; Wm. Berdy, Brooklyn; Albert Bersin and Miss R. Bersin, Albert Bersin, Brooklyn; John H. Bieling, Hempstead, L. I.; W. H. Bishop, Blackman Talking Machine Co., New York City; Barrie C. Bloedon, C. Bruno & Son, Inc., New York City; I. Bobowick, Island Musical Shop, Coney Island; Edw. G. Brown, Jr., E. G. Brown, Bayonne, N. J.; Gus Brown, Baumer Piano Co., New Rochelle, N. Y.; Miss Ruth A. Burke, Norman A. Burke, Nyack, N. Y.; C. Caradaglies, Greek American News Co., New York City; Miss M. Cocharan, Empire Music Co., New Rochelle, N. Y.; Wilson R. Casell, New York Talking Machine Co., New York City; T. T. Cavanaugh, Ideal Music Co., New York City; Geo. L. Cooper, Dunlap Sporting Goods Co., Far Rockaway, N. Y.; Mrs. Arthur

Dunkerley, Dunkerley & Co., Passaic, N. J.; R. P. Dunlap, Peekskill, N. Y.; Mrs. V. J. Faeth, Winterroth & Co., New York City; Fred E. Fuller, M. Rappaport's Music Shop, New York City; M. Goldblatt, Park Slope Talking Machine Shop, Brooklyn; Miss F. Goldfinger, Liberty Music Shop, New York City; Moe Goldsmith, M. Goldsmith & Son, New York City; David Goran, Morris Goransky, Miss S. Goransky and Charles Granett, Yenkens Talking Machine Co., Yonkers, N. Y.; Max Hanover, Talking Machine Shop, Norwich, Conn.; Sidney Helfer, Paul Helfer, New York City; William Herchenroder, Ormonde Music Shop, Brooklyn, N. Y.; F. F. Herrmann, F. F. Herrmann Talking Machine Corp., Stapleton, S. I.; Miss Edna Hoffer, Baumer Piano Co., New Rochelle, N. Y.; Fred R. C. Hoffmann and Mrs. M. A. Hoffmann, Hoffmann's Music Shop, Valley Stream, L. I.; Miss Hulst, Frederick Loeser & Co., Brooklyn; J. A. Johnson, Ormes, Inc., New York City; Jos. C. Kerr, Emanuel Blout, New York City; Miss Alice Knipe and Miss Ella McLean, Frederick Loeser & Co., Brooklyn; A. Koslitz, Fred Ponty, Portchester, N. Y.; John Lanzaro, Neapolitan Talking Machine Co., Brooklyn; Raoul Larue, Muklijohn Piano Co., Woonsocket, R. I.; H. C. Littlefield, Sedgwick & Casey, Inc., Hartford, Conn.; Horace Lubin, Schwartz & Chakrin, Inc., Brooklyn; William Luscher, Luscher's Music Shop, New York City; Sol Mahl, Modern Music Shop, Brooklyn; Miss M. C. Manley, Quackenbush Co., Paterson, N. J.; Geo. Martin and Wm. W. Miller, G. T. Williams Co., Brooklyn; Frederick Merritt, Ponty's Art & Gift Shop, Greenwich, Conn.; J. P. Middleton, Pittsfield, Mass.; Harry Meyers, Meyers Store, Pittsfield, Mass.; Miss H. M. Moses, The Carpenter Co., New York City; James Murray, McManus Bros., Elizabeth, N. J.; Miss Rena Nathan, White Hall Co., Jamaica, L. I.; Phil Palatrack, A. H. Mayers, New York City; Miss Ella V. Peck, Gunther-Kenny, Inc., Middletown, N. Y.; C. B. Perry, Ideal Music Co., Brooklyn; Theodore Peyser, S. B. Davega Co., New York City; Mrs. May Relyea, H. L. Schott, Inc., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Paul Rescouise, Woodhaven Music Shop, Woodhaven, L. I.; J. Rosenberg, Max Davis, West Hoboken, N. J.; Albert I. Ross, A. I. Ross, Astoria, L. I.; Mrs. Leo Schlein, Jersey City Talking Machine Co., Jersey City, N. J.; Mrs. Rex L. Schott, S. L. Schott, Inc., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; A. V. Schouler and Miss E. M. Schouler, A. V. Schouler, Inc., New York City; I. Seldin, Montauk Music Shop, Rockville Centre, L. I.; Miss Sophie Sherry, Carl Fischer, New York City; Chas. S. Simonson, Lynbrook Music Shop, Lynbrook, L. I.; Miss D. Smith, New York Band Instrument Co., New York City; Herman Spitz, Sag Harbor Music Shop, Sag Harbor, N. Y.; Miss F. Steadman, Frank Steadman, Yonkers, N. Y.; H. E. Terhune, Haverstraw, N. Y.; Frank W. Tillinghast, Kay Talking Machine Co., New York City; Miss L. M. Tisch, Adam B. Tisch, Elmhurst, L. I.; Wm. R. Tyler, Lord & Taylor, New York City; Edward Ugast, Ludwig Baumann & Co., New York City; Miss E. White, White Music Shop, Danbury, Conn.; I. Wolfson, M. Goldsmith & Son, New York City; Milton P. Young, Harmony Talking Machine Shop, Brooklyn; Marie R. Zak, James Donnelly, South Norwalk, Conn.; Miss J. Ziemkewicz, Dunkerley & Co., Passaic, N. J.; William Zvirin, Jacob Zvirin, Larchmont, N. Y.; Gus Sclafani, LaScala Phonograph Co., New York.

CANTLON PIANO HOUSE TO MOVE

GREAT FALLS, MONT., August 2.—The Cantlon Piano House, 415 Central avenue, will move into more advantageously located quarters next to the Hotel Rainbow on August 5. In addition to the Knabe and other high-grade pianos handled, the A. B. Chase line was recently added by this concern. Musical merchandise, including talking machines, records, sheet music, etc., is also handled.

NATIONAL METALS DEPOSITING CORPORATION

FACTORY
34 East Sidney Ave., Mt. Vernon, N.Y.
Telephone: Oakwood 8845

MOUNT VERNON — NEW YORK
MANUFACTURERS OF

LABORATORY
415 Fourth Ave., New York, N.Y.
Tel. Madison Square 6635

WE DEPOSIT THE FINEST COPPER
IN THE WORLD

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
DELIVER RECORDED WAX
TO OUR LABORATORY

OUR
IMPROVEMENT
ALL STAMPERS
HAVE HIGHLY POLISHED
MACHINED BACKS

Appealing to the Individual Record Buyer

By GEORGE FOSTER PARSONS

Accurate analysis by the dealer of his prospect list is necessary if maximum results are to be obtained. There are many dealers who, realizing the value of the prospect list, obtain the names of people visiting their stores and who send the customary literature descriptive of the machines and the monthly record supplements each month and let the matter go at that. There are some who send canvassers and salesmen to sell both records and machines, but in the majority of cases this is as far as the merchant goes.

How many talking machine dealers have taken advantage of their opportunities and have analyzed their prospect lists in an endeavor to learn just what the significance of the name which they have secured means? It is a safe venture to say that the number is comparatively few. Probably not one talking machine merchant in ten has stopped to think that for each name at hand from two to six more can be added in the majority of instances by the expenditure of very little effort. Each name on the dealer's list represents only one unit of a family and it is also safe to assume that in most families there are a variety of tastes in music which the wise dealer can turn to his advantage through catering to the musical tastes of the individuals in the family.

What pleases son and daughter may be entirely at variance with the musical likes of father and mother. It is up to the dealer to gain the knowledge which will enable him to increase his sales in this manner. With the wonderful variety of music recorded by the various companies every musical taste can easily be satisfied. Jazz, hymns, light classics, operas, etc., they all have their admirers and in one family may be found devotees of each of these classes of music. The practice of many merchants of sending special lists of records to customers containing music designed to please each individual can easily be amplified so that several individuals in one family will receive lists of the records which will appeal to each. In other words, if the members of the family are particularly fond of operas or hymns special lists of recordings of these numbers should be sent to them and if dance music appeals to the younger element the special list should be confined to records of this character. This same method could also be followed in using the telephone for drawing the attention of customers to certain records.

BUSINESS WAKING UP, SAYS EDISON

American Manufacturers Making Study of Cost of Doing Business

"For the first time in his life the American manufacturer is beginning to know what it costs him to run his business, and he's beginning to appreciate that it isn't the first cost, but the last cost that really counts," declared Thomas A. Edison, in a recent interview, pointing out, at the same time, that the English and Germans do business on a "much firmer basis."

"When a German manufacturer puts up a building he builds for all time—solid, tremendous foundations, tessellated floor and everything possible to make for permanence. When we build a factory we build a shack," the inventor said.

"This hurry to get wealth was the fundamental basis upon which the American manufacturer went into business. Put as little as you can in, get as much as you can out. But it's changing now. We were beginning to see that it doesn't pay for one thing, and then there is more available money. The American manufacturer is beginning to wake up."

INTRODUCE NEW TONE ARM

Mutual Phono Parts Co. Introducing New Product Particularly Adapted for Portable and Upright Machines—Business Is Improving

The Mutual Phono Parts Co., New York City, has placed on the market a new tone arm, which is described as particularly adaptable for portable and upright machines, known as the IA tone arm. It ranges in size from seven inches to eight and one-half inches and has a straight tone passage from the reproducer to the tone chamber. It is claimed that this new tone arm has exceptional tone value. It has already met with much favor with the trade and it is reported that dealers and manufacturers are placing good-sized orders for the same.

Andrew Frangipane, secretary and general manager of the company, reports that business is now on the increase and so far results have been very gratifying. He states that indications point to a prosperous Fall and Winter.

FEATURES VICTROLA ON FINE FLOAT

BLAIR, NEB., August 3.—An exceptionally fine Victor float was featured in the Fourth of July parade here by James Mose, Victor dealer and one of the most aggressive talking machine merchants in this vicinity. A console type Victrola was placed on the rear of a handsomely decorated automobile and a large Victor dog occupied a prominent position on top of the auto hood, while smaller dogs graced the front of the float.

TAKE OVER VICTOR DEPARTMENT

HERKIMER, N. Y., August 1.—Rudd & Rex have bought the Victor department of the Keefe Co., of this city. The entire department will be moved to the headquarters of Rudd & Rex, but the Keefe Co. will continue the merchandising of small goods and other musical instruments in which it has built up a large business.

The Radio Symphony Phonograph Co., of Huntington, W. Va., was recently incorporated in that State, with a capital of $500,000.

PORTABLE PAL PHONOGRAPH

An all-year-'round phonograph—particularly adapted for portable use!

PAL'S excellent quality and beautiful appearance make it as suitable a phonograph for the home as it is for outdoor use.

The guaranteed motor is smooth running—long lasting! The tone arm and soundbox could not be improved upon. The tone is sweet, clear—as strong in volume as the regulation cabinet size.

The finish is beautiful—walnut or mahogany; with nickel-plated hardware. (Each machine is equipped with a twelve-pocket album.)

That gives it quality—the quality which is the lever for an all-year-'round portable business. It offers people an excellent phonograph at a price they are willing to pay.

This means good business—something that you have been waiting for. Write us. TODAY!

Dealers' price $20.00

F. O. B. New York

Plaza Music Co.
18 West 20th St. New York

PLAZA MUSIC CO.

(Portable Division),

18 W. 20th St., New York

Please send complete details on the "PAL" portable.

Name

Address

City State

H. N. McMenimen

Consulting Engineer

Consultation by appointment on every phase of the phonograph industry, including:

Recording, Plating and Pressing

Motor, Tone-Arm and Reproducer Design

Patent and Model Development

Sales Promotion and Advertising Plans

Laboratory:

Scotch Plains, N. J.

Tel. Fanwood 1438

Offices:

2 Rector Street, New York

Tel. Rector 1484

T O L E D O

Dealers Consider Plans for Fall Activities—Railroad and Coal Strikes Affect Trade—The News

TOLEDO, O., August 7.—Talking machine merchants are persistent in their efforts to obtain all possible Summer business before the warm weather comes to an end, and while the vacationist is in the buying mood. They are not overlooking the turn of the year, however, and are giving close attention to Fall plans.

The railroad and coal strikes are having some effect on a few industries in that the delivery of freight has slowed up, hampering deliveries of musical instruments to some extent. None of the large local industrial plants has as yet curtailed production or reduced its working forces.

Announces New Victor Model

Announcement is made by the Toledo Talking Machine Co. of the new Victor model No. 111, which is to take the place of No. 110, which will be discontinued. This new machine will be available in October, according to Chas. H. Womeldorff, general manager.

Adds Pathé Records

At the LaSalle & Koch Co. Victrola Shop a marked increase in July sales was experienced, R. O. Danforth, manager, declares. This growth amounted to fully 25 per cent over July, 1921.

One of the contributing factors of the July increase, it is believed, was the changing around of the departments and placing those which naturally fit together in close proximity to one another. Such a move took place on the seventh floor where the Art and Gift Shop, one of the finest in the State, is now a neighbor of the Victrola department.

The Actuelle-Pathé line of fifty-cent records was added during the past month and has proved a big winner. The Madison portable, an imported model, was offered as a special recently, and moved so rapidly that the entire lot was sold within a few hours.

Fine Victor Business at Lion Store

The Lion Store Victrola rooms recorded a fine increase for July, Manager A. J. Pete reports. This showing brings the total sales for the seven months up to a point which has exceeded expectations. Seasonable merchandise has played a leading part in putting Summer sales ahead. At no time within recent years have so many portable machines been sold. Many of these small machines will be exchanged in the Fall for larger instruments.

Moreover, store events had much to do with making the favorable showing possible. For example, a recent sale day—Dollar Day—which is a seasonable event, proved a big factor in closing talking machine sales. This showing explodes a theory often heard that a talking machine department cannot hook up with store events to advantage. These sale days always draw large crowds to the store and offer a golden opportunity for the Victrola rooms to share in the benefits of the occasion.

The annual store field day held July 19 at Sugar Island was attended by 1,700 employees and friends of the store. Among the prize events was a waltz. This was won by Orville Schaffer, of the Victrola rooms. This marks the third consecutive season that this section has won the dance prize.

Grinnell Bros. Plan Fall Drive

At Grinnell Bros. July sales were double those of last year during the same period, and the outlook for a continued run of business was never brighter, R. C. Elwell, manager of the Victrola department, states. Plans are in formation for an early Fall drive for talking machine volume. The farmer as well as the city dweller will be solicited. New equipment has been ordered in order to facilitate the campaign.

Henry F. Stucke, general manager of Grinnell Bros., is angling for the finny tribe in the Au Sable River in northern Michigan.

Downstairs Store Aids Sales

The downstairs store recently inaugurated by the Goosman Piano Co. is proving a great aid to closing talking machine sales. By starting customers with the used and repossession instruments and then showing them the newer finishes and designs it is often easier to secure the signature on the dotted line, whereas if the reverse process is employed folks sometimes feel they cannot afford a machine which involves such a large outlay.

Merchants Enjoy Outing

Fred N. Goosman, president of the Goosman Piano Co., was chairman of the Retail Merchants' Board entertainment committee for the annual outing, which was held at Monroe, Mich., July 25. Thirty automobiles transported the group. Practically every music dealer in the city is a member of the Board.

Good Business at Compton Bros.' Stores

The Record Shop, one of the Compton Bros. chain of stores, is experiencing an improved demand for records, Pratt Egbert, manager, declares. Brunswick, Vocalion and Kimball machines are dealt in. At the Findlay, O., store a steady run of business has been recorded nearly all year. The Carey, O., shop is experiencing an awakening in the demand for machines.

Exhibits Laddie Boy's Cake

At Grubbs Music Shoppe, the birthday cake sent to Laddie Boy, President Harding's famous Airdale, by Chas. Quetschke, of the Caswell Kennels, breeder of the canine, was on exhibition and drew wide interest. The cake is a three-tier affair, built up pyramid fashion and mounted by three birthday candles. It was made of dog biscuit held together by red, white and blue ribbons.

New Da-Lite Displays

The Da-Lite Electric Display Co., 116 North Erie street, announces the following panel releases for August: "Lonesome Mama," "Nobody Lied," "Neath the South Sea Moon" and the Victor Physical Exercise records.

At the J. W. Greene Co. the Victor panel sign enumerating ten records which should be in every home is the center of attraction in a very effective window display. Each of the ten records is exhibited mounted upon a stand. A ribbon is extended from the panel title to each record, thus connecting the two. This window has brought a volume of sales greater than expectations, according to E. A. Kopf, manager of the department.

Farmers Again in Market

At the J. W. Greene Co. branch stores in Fostoria, Fremont and Stryker, O., the farmer is again becoming a buying factor. His crops are maturing and prices are favorable to him. With the abundant yield of nearly all farm products the outlook for a brisk Fall trade is very promising.

Ohio Merchants to Meet in Toledo

The Ohio Music Merchants' Association, of which Fred N. Goosman is president, will hold its annual convention at the Hotel Secor, Toledo, September 26 and 27. Rex Hyre, of Cleveland, secretary of the Association, recently made a trip to Toledo for a conference with the president and to complete arrangements for the convention.

Henry Dreher, Cleveland, and Chas. Yahrting, Youngstown dealers, challenged any two members of the Association to a golf match during the convention. Their challenge has been accepted by Wm. R. Gaul and A. M. Dom, both of Cincinnati.

The Toledo Music Merchants' Association, of which Henry F. Stucke, manager of Grinnell Bros., is president, will co-operate with the State organization to make the convention one long to be remembered.

News Brieflets

Doyle N. Wyre, formerly assistant to A. J. Pete, manager of the Lion Store Victrola rooms, and more recently in charge of the electrical shop, on August 1 assumed the position of manager of the Victrola department of the McAlpin store, Cincinnati, O.

Henry Dreher, president B. Dreher's Sons Co., Cleveland, was a caller recently on Fred Goosman.

Warren E. Kellogg, representative of the Toledo Talking Machine Co., and family are motoring in western Pennsylvania.

W. C. Wiant, Marion, O., Victor dealer, wife and son are enjoying their vacation in the wilds of Canada.

C. A. Ericsson, president of the Toledo Talking Machine Co., spent a few days in Toledo on his way East from the Pacific Coast.

Geo. Schweitzer, Victor dealer, Leipsic, O., made an extensive motor trip East. Stops were made at Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and other centers.

Chas. H. Womeldorff recently returned from a business trip to Indiana and Ohio points. He found crop conditions very good and the Fall outlook promising.

A. L. Leyborn, of the Toledo Talking Machine Co., recently occupied his new cottage on the Toledo Beach line on Lake Erie.

KIMBALL Phonographs

Invite good customers and Ready Sales

Because the line is attractive from a business-getting standpoint and is thoroughly reliable the Kimball is the phonograph for the dealer who is building wisely and well.

Style R
Equipped with Albums
37 in. High 40½ in. Wide
23½ in. Deep

Write for Agency terms and the Kimball direct co-operative plan for financing sales.

Variety of Models in Console and Upright types.

W. W. KIMBALL CO.

306 So. Wabash Ave.

Kimball Bldg.

CHICAGO

Manufacturers of Phonographs, Pianos, Player-Pianos, Pipe Organs, Distributors of Okeh Records.

THE ORSENIKO PERIOD PHONOGRAPH

QUENBY WALNUT

Reproduction of an English Piece Front doors and side panels made of beautiful burl walnut. Note particularly the graceful sweep of the hand-carved legs. No detail of construction omitted; its workmanship is of the highest order.

Are your windows and showroom in the mediocre class? A selection from our line will create new interest in your display and put you in the progressive class.

QUENBY LACQUER

The same model as above, only finished in lacquer, with decorations done by real artists. Finished in antique cracked effect, which gives it an unusual charm.

THE ORSENIKO COMPANY, Inc.

Showroom: 112 West 42nd Street
 New York City, N. Y.

Factory: Skillman Ave. and Rawson St.
 Long Island City, N. Y.

SALT LAKE CITY

*Industrial Outlook Brighter—Greater Activity Among Local Dealers
—Radio Much Discussed—Plans Under Way For Music Week*

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, August 4.—The industrial outlook grows brighter than ever. The big steel project talked of so long is an accomplished fact. A $15,000,000 corporation has been formed and a large plant will be built at Springville in the near future. The actual manufacture of steel is expected to be under way in eighteen months or less. The crops look excellent with prospects of fair prices and everyone is looking for a better Fall business than has been enjoyed for some time.

An announcement of considerable interest is to the effect that the big Salt Lake Hardware Co. on Main street, which has been enjoying an annual business of millions, is to drop its retail departments and confine its attention entirely to the wholesale business. The company has been selling talking machines for some time, but it is not known yet whether they will continue to handle them on a wholesale basis. Vice-president and General Manager H. A. Schweikhart tells your correspondent that no immediate changes would be made, but confirmed the report that the building had been sold and that it was the intention of the company to confine its attention to the wholesale end of the business. He said he had thought for a long time that the retail business should not be connected with the wholesale.

The Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co. is supplying the Telegram broadcasting station with records for their talking machine music. Miss Nan Browning is giving a series of piano recitals.

The Daynes-Beebe Music Co. had one of the best windows during the early part of the month that has been seen in any music store here for a long time. It was an advertisement for the portable talking machine and represented a young lady listening to an instrument as she sat beside the campfire. The scene was in the canyon and it was a most realistic one and attracted a lot of attention.

The Christensen Ashton Music Co., 2381 Hudson avenue, Ogden, has been offering records at a special sale.

The Lyric Music Co., Washington avenue, Ogden, has given up all other talking machine lines, but will retain the Sonora agency. Miss Bernice Foster is leaving the company. Miss Foster said she did not know just where she would go, but wanted to get into an exclusive Victor house. She is a capable and charming young lady.

Harry O'Loughlin, president, and "Ukulele" Hughes, manager of the small goods department of O'Loughlin's, Main street, are planning a fishing trip in the Duchesne country, southern Utah.

A prominent local radio concern is advertising "Better than a talking machine and practically no expense for upkeep." This message is, to a large extent, bunk. Some of the dealers, however, say radio is helping them. They report orders where people have asked for a certain record that they have heard on the radio.

Miss Ethel Karney, of O'Loughlin's for several years past, has married a local business man and, as a result, resigned her position with the firm.

George A. Bolduc, popular manager of the Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co.'s talking machine department, has accepted an important position with the Larson Music Co., Sidney, Neb. Friends in this city are sorry to part with Mr.

Bolduc. He was regarded everywhere as a fine, likable fellow and a good business man. Mr. Bolduc's successor has not been appointed yet. Another change in the department is the appointment of Miss A. Hillstead in the place of Miss Bessie Jackson, head of the record department, under Mr. Bolduc. Miss Jackson has gone to Montana.

Col. J. J. Daynes told the correspondent recently that he looked to a combination radio and talking machine to solve the radio problem for talking machine men. Colonel Daynes, who is, of course, the head of the big Daynes-Beebe Music Co., did not think radio would hurt the phonograph business.

George S. Glen has resigned as president of the Utah Association of Music Industries and is succeeded by Charles H. Norberg, treasurer of the Daynes-Beebe Music Co. Mr. Glen said he thought a Salt Lake man should hold the position as practically all the meetings are held here, and Ogden is thirty miles away.

Plans are under way for Music Week, which will be held in the Fall, but so far no definite program can be announced.

Salt Lake City celebrated its diamond jubilee on July 24.

VISITORS AT COLUMBIA OFFICES

Among the recent visitors at the executive offices of the Columbia Graphophone Co. was S. H. Nichols, manager of the company's Pittsburgh branch; Fred E. Mann, manager of the Boston branch, and W. S. Parks, manager of the Baltimore branch. All of these out-of-town managers were optimistic regarding the business outlook, stating that the dealers were preparing for an active Fall trade. Another caller at the Columbia executive offices was Miss M. Gross, assistant bookkeeper of the Cincinnati branch, who is spending her vacation in the East and who dropped in at the Columbia offices in order to become acquainted with the executive organization.

How to Increase Your Sales and Decrease Overhead

The particularly desirable elements of foreign-born population residing in Northern New Jersey and Northeastern Pennsylvania afford Collings dealers a lucrative market for the famous Victor foreign records.

If a dealer is not cultivating the possibilities open in the newly-enlarged Victor foreign repertoire, he is not getting either the volume or the net profit from his operations that he very easily can.

Let us go over this matter with you.

COLLINGS & COMPANY

Victor Distributors throughout Northern New Jersey and Northeastern Pennsylvania

Clinton & Beaver Sts.

(Plum Building)

Newark, N. J.

THE OLDEST, LARGEST EXCLUSIVE RADIO EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURERS ANNOUNCE A NEW TRADE NAME FOR THEIR LINE

Radak

Trademark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

RADIO has come to stay! And RADAK is going to hasten the process of stabilizing the radio equipment business.

The Clapp-Eastham Company has spent sixteen continuous years of exclusive radio specialization, working in the interests of radio professional and amateur alike. Now their experience and manufacturing skill are to be turned to the advantage of the dealer.

In announcing the adoption of the new trade name RADAK, Clapp-Eastham announce also the distribution of RADAK Receiving Sets and other radio equipment through jobbing distributors exclusively. These distributors will quote discounts to the dealer direct. And the new distribution plan enables the dealer to secure the maximum discount without quantity stipulation.

Advertising to a 25,000,000 Audience

The adoption of the new trade name RADAK gives the dealer an easily remembered, quickly identified line of merchandise for his store. To stimulate the process of identification, a new and more widespread advertising program has been entered upon.

A consistent schedule on a yearly basis is under way in the following publications, reaching a receptive audience of well-to-do individuals in varied lines of occupation.

Saturday Evening Post.....	2,100,000 Copies
American Magazine	1,634,000 Copies
Farm Journal	1,012,000 Copies
Country Gentleman	829,000 Copies
Farm & Fireside.....	803,000 Copies
Successful Farming	862,000 Copies
Radio News	125,000 Copies
Wireless Age	45,000 Copies
Radio	60,000 Copies
Q. S. T.....	17,800 Copies

A very conservative estimate of four readers to the copy per magazine gives a total of well over 25 million people reached by this list.

Let's Get Together

RADAK spells opportunity. Opportunity for every wide-awake dealer. Look into it. RADAK will soon become a household word. Make your store the RADAK headquarters. If you do not know the RADAK distributor in your locality, write us for the name and address.

CLAPP-EASTHAM COMPANY

America's Oldest, Largest Makers of Radio Equipment Exclusively, Established 1906

131 Main Street, Cambridge, Mass.

REGENERATIVE RECEIVING SETS AMPLIFIERS VARIOMETERS CONDENSERS
RHEOSTATS AMPLIFYING COILS UNIVERSAL TUBE SOCKETS
ELECTRO AMPLIPHONES

READ WHY CLAPP-EASTHAM EQUIPMENT SELLS THESE ARE UNSOLICITED COMMENTS FROM RETAILERS

SEVER-BEACHAM RADIO COMPANY
 Santa Fe, New Mexico

"Some time ago we purchased one of your Type H. R. Regenerative Receivers and Two-stage Amplifier used in connection with a Magnavox. This outfit has brought in more stations and longer distance than any set we have handled. Everybody else in the surrounding country with more expensive outfits than ours is not getting results this time of the year, and we still hear the broadcasting stations as usual. We have heard Cleveland, Ohio, many times, which is about 2,000 miles, I should think. This was news and music, not wireless. We hear all the stations within a radius of 1,000 miles every night."

KEHLER RADIO LABORATORIES
 Abilene, Kansas

"We have just recently been testing your improved regenerative sets and wish to state that we think they are a little wonder. For signal strength they are unexcelled by any of the highest priced sets on the market and are superior to some in this respect. They are also the least critical in tuning of any set which we have operated, as well as comparing favorably in selectivity. We are surprised at the absence of capacity effects from the body. We have a set in operation in our display department in the heart of Abilene, and with but two stages of audio-frequency amplification and a large magnavox, music and speech may be easily heard within a block of the horn which is placed in the doorway. We have decided to specialize on this set, due to its reasonable price and its remarkable performance."

HOWARD S. BARLETT
 Knox, Pa.

"Am writing to you direct to compliment you on your Type H. R. Receiver and your Two-step Amplifier. They are the most wonderful receivers that there are on the market today. I have had them set up along with other standard makes that cost double and triple the price of yours, and will say that spark C. W. and voice come in over it more clear than with any of the rest. The only trouble that I find with them is to get them. I do my buying in Pittsburgh and the distributors are out of them."

OUTING OF TALKING MACHINE MEN AN IMMENSE SUCCESS

Members of Progressive Retail Organization From New York, New Jersey and Connecticut Have Most Enjoyable Time at Glen Head, L. I.—Manufacturers and Jobbers in Evidence

The largest Summer gathering in the history of the Talking Machine Men, Inc., was held on Wednesday, July 26, at Karatsonyi's, Glen Head, L. I. Members of the organization came from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut and a splendid representation from the Eastern talkball game of dealers was played, following which two teams selected from the ranks of the jobbers played a three-inning game. The dealers' teams were captained by Irwin Kurtz and Sol Lazarus; the latter faction carrying off the honors. The winning team was composed of Forster, of the Brilliantone Steel Needle Co., and M. W. Owens, of Owens & Gibbons. The Forster aggregation, after a bad start, made a whirlwind finish and won the game handily. E. F. Latham, of the Silas E. Pearsall Co.; W. J. Haussler, of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., and Paul Carlson, of Chas. H. Ditson & Co., were the shining stars of the jobbers' performance.

Following the ball game the track and field events were programmed. David Goldman, auditor of the General Phonograph Corp., proved

Some Snapshots at Outing of the Talking Machine Men, Inc.

No. 1. A. H. Murray, Mrs. Bloedon, Jack Bliss, Florence Hulett, E. B. Bloedon and Mrs. Bliss. No. 2. Phil Ravis, I. Halperin, George Seiffert. No. 3. C. L. Price, of Ormes, Inc.; W. H. Bishop, Blackman Talking Machine Co.; George Kelly, New York Talking Machine Co.; Lloyd Spencer, Silas E. Pearsall Co. No. 4. Jack Glogau. No. 5. William H. Ross and Elias Gottfried, winners of the three-legged race. No. 6. E. L. Sampter, William Brand, Miss A. M. Kennard and George Seiffert. No. 7. Miss Sadie Goldman, of the winning relay team for men and women. No. 8. Miss E. Goldman, winner of one of the ladies' events. No. 9. Ann Lazarus, daughter of Sol Lazarus, who won the ladies' 40-yard dash.

ing machine jobbers and manufacturers also attended. Sight-seeing buses and private autos left East Fifty-seventh street shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning, proceeding over Queensboro Bridge and the beautiful Long Island roads to the resort, where, upon arrival, a luncheon was served.

Messrs. Bersin, Zimmer, Goldman, Brodbeck, Jacobs, Gordon, Guthrie, Barg and Radle. It was rumored that the other team had several "ringers," but despite this it went down to defeat. The losing team was composed of Messrs. Bliss, Bloedon, Pressent, Kramer, Kurtz, Janeli, Hoffman, Titefsky and Murray.

himself to be the star all-around athlete by winning the seventy and forty-yard dashes. Oscar Zipf won the fat man's race; M. Brodbeck, H. A. Jacobs, B. Birnbaum and Ed Ugast won the four-man relay race. Miss Sadie Goodman and Mr. Ugast also won the relay race composed of teams for men and women. The forty-yard

In the forepart of the afternoon a four-inning

The jobbers' teams were captained by Byron

(Continued on page 66)

New Model "E"

The General Phonograph Mfg. Co.
Model "E"
TABLE PHONOGRAPH

The Greatest Value on the Market
IMMEDIATE DELIVERIES IN ANY QUANTITY
Plays All Makes of Records
Superior Tone Quality

Write for our Proposition
The General Phonograph Mfg. Co.
ELYRIA, OHIO

STEGER

*the finest reproducing
Phonograph in the World*

THE highest praise of the artistic Steger comes from those who are the most critical judges of music.

Dr. Anthony C. Lund, famed as the conductor of the celebrated Tabernacle Choir, has enthusiastically endorsed the Steger, as have Professor J. J. McClellan, organist; Professor Willard E. Weihe, violinist, and hundreds of other musicians and music-lovers.

Listen to a piano record on the Steger, a band, an orchestra, the human voice—and in all the reproductions you will recognize the distinctive qualities of excellence due to the exclusive Steger features. The patented, adjustable tone-arm, which plays all makes of disc records correctly, without change of parts, the unique tone reproducer and the vibrant tone-chamber of even-grained spruce are eloquent reasons for Steger supremacy.

INSURE YOUR SUCCESS

The strong advertising and sales co-operation plan back of the Steger makes Steger representation valuable to the aggressive dealer. Write to-day for details of the Steger proposition and a copy of our latest style brochure.

Phonograph Division

STEGER & SONS

Piano Manufacturing Company

Established by John V. Steger, 1879

Steger Building, - - CHICAGO, ILL.

Factories: Steger, Illinois, where the "Lincoln" and "Dixie" Highways meet.

"If it's a Steger—it's the most valuable Piano in the world."

Model 506
$250

Model 505
$200

Model 502
$125

Model 504
$150

Model 503
$165

Model 501
$100

Model 509
$225

Model 500
$65

Model 510
$250

OUTING OF TALKING MACHINE MEN

(Continued from page 64)

dash for ladies was won by Miss Ann Lazarus, daughter of the well-known Sol; Mrs. Frank Mandel won the contest for heavyweight ladies and the honors for the three-legged race went to William M. Ross and Elias Gottlieb. Miss E. Goodman was also a winner in one of the women's contests.

The jobbers of the metropolitan district, although only associate members of the Talking Machine Men, Inc., and taking no active part in the functions of that body, have always shown keen interest and given substantial support to the Association; many of the prizes for the afternoon's events being contributed by the wholesalers. Among the representatives of the Victor jobbers who attended were: W. J. Hausler, E. G. Evans, Miss H. Marjorie Brown, A. H. Murray and Joseph C. Schlich, of C. Bruno & Son, Inc.; Paul Carlson and W. H. May, of Chas. H. Ditson & Co.; David Roach and A. J. Wilckens, of Collings & Co.; Mr. and Mrs. Abram Davega, Joseph Schwetz and Max Berlow, of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co.; Charles H. Offerman and M. M. Rountree, of the American Talking Machine Co.; George E. Thau, W. H. Bishop and George A. Baker, of the Blackman Talking Machine Co.; Cass Riddle and Joseph Kerr, of Emanuel Blout; C. R. Wagner, Musical Instrument Sales Co.; Charles B. Mason, George Kelly and Ernest Fontan, of the New York Talking Machine Co.; W. Miller, of G. T. Williams Co., Inc.; Clarence Price and H. T. Hawkins, of Ormes, Inc.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Green, Lloyd L. Spencer and Eugene F. Latham, of the Silas E. Pearsall Co. The manufacturers were also well represented, including: B. W. Jennings, C. H. Baker, D. B. Allen and C. W. Lukas, of the Columbia Graphophone Co.; Paul E. Bearwald, David Goldman and E. L. Sampter, of the General Phonograph Corp.; Frank J. Coupe, vice-president, and F. V. Goodman, assistant sales manager, of the Sonora Phonograph Co.; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Abelowitz, Brunswick-Balke-Colender Co.; Walter Brunner, Manufacturers' Phono. Corp.; George A. Seiffert, Modernola Sales Co.; R. H. Keith and J. J. Schratweiser, of the Long Island Phonograph Co., Sonora jobbers.

In the evening an elaborate shore dinner was served, the diners all disporting multi-colored novelty paper hats. Music for dancing was rendered throughout the course of the dinner and was furnished by Paul Whiteman, Inc., the members of which were all exclusively Victor Talking Machine Co. artists and composed of the following combination: Alex Brasin, violin; George Lehritter, banjo; Keith Pitman, bass; Ric Atkins and William Asmus, cornets; Dave Bretthauer, trombone; Harry Rosenberg, drums; Al Mitchell, piano. The lucky number contest was a feature of the dancing, handsome prizes being awarded the winners.

Without doubt, it was the most successful affair in the history of the Association and the entertainment committee and the officers of the Association received a wealth of congratulations. The entertainment committee was composed of Sol Lazarus, chairman; Max Berlow, Otto Goldsmith, C. B. Riddle, Albert Galuchie, N. Goldfinger, E. G. Evans, Henry Conn, Fred Herrman, C. Abelowitz, E. G. Brown and Valentine Faeth.

NEW POST FOR KANTNER

Appointed Manager of San Francisco Branch of Columbia Graphophone Co.

Geo. W. Hopkins, general sales manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co., announced this week the appointment of P. S. Kantner as manager of the San Francisco branch. For some time past Mr. Kantner has been acting manager and his appointment to the actual management of the branch is a distinct tribute to the results that he has attained as manager of one of the most important Columbia branches in the country.

In announcing Mr. Kantner's appointment,

Mr. Hopkins called attention to a recent campaign conducted by Mr. Kantner with the Eastern Outfitting Co., of San Francisco, Cal., Columbia dealer. This campaign, which lasted for a period of only three months, resulted in the sale of 509 Grafonolas.

The general sales department of the Columbia Graphophone Co. was advised recently by Mr. Pickering, sales representative at the San Francisco branch, that another carload of Grafonolas had been sold to Fred R. Howe, Columbia dealer at Santa Cruz, Cal. The first carload sale inaugurated by Mr. Howe last Spring was a signal success, and he was so well pleased with the results achieved at this sale that he made arrangements for another carload of Grafonolas.

SENDING LITERATURE TO PROSPECTS

Continuous Bombardment of Literature Is Necessary for Best Results

The prospect list is one of the powerful weapons in the hands of the dealer with which he can add to his profits through increased sales, provided, of course, that he makes proper and effective use of the list. Indeed, this list is more potent than ordinary newspaper advertising because each person listed thereon can be approached individually, whereas in an advertisement the appeal must be made general.

Now, there are many dealers who through many months of hard labor have built up fine prospect lists, on which all necessary information, including financial standing, musical preference, etc., is listed. With all these valuable data at hand merely sending out the monthly record supplements is not enough. A continuous stream of high-class direct-by-mail literature should be sent to these customers or prospects and this should be diligently followed up either through a canvasser or salesman.

Yesterday is past, so forget it. To-day is here, make the most of it and at the same time plan for to-morrow.

ST50
H37W40D23

ST53
H37W40D23

A New Model in the Natural Voice Line

To the models already manufactured to meet the needs of the trade we have added this new style.

The NATURAL VOICE is a high-quality product selling at a popular price. It is a complete line including several period models.

Manufactured by expert cabinet makers it has achieved a position of prominence as a sales creator and profit maker.

Also a Full Line of Cabinets Without Equipment.

Write for Prices

It will pay you to investigate our proposition.

ST9
H50W23D24

The New Style No. 9 is a worthy addition to this complete line

Natural Voice Phonograph Co.
ONEIDA, NEW YORK

The Trade in PHILADELPHIA and LOCALITY

PHILADELPHIA, PA., August 2.—Without a doubt, more of a stir has been created in the talking machine trade of the Quaker City by the announcement of the Victor Co. concerning the new Collins physical exercise records than has been caused by any other event in the talking machine business during the last few months.

Every one of the five Victor distributors in this city announces that it has received large orders from the dealers for these records. An instance of the volume of the first demands made for the records may be seen in the statement made by T. W. Barnhill, president of the Penn Phonograph Co., to the effect that they have received orders for nearly one thousand sets before the records have actually been received for distribution to the trade.

The importance which the Victor distributors of this city attach to the issuance of these records may be judged by a letter that has just been sent out by H. A. Weymann & Son to all of their Victor dealers, informing them of the fact that these records will soon be ready for distribution.

Demonstration Before Kiwanis Club

H. Royer Smith, the progressive talking machine dealer, located at Tenth and Walnut streets, has taken a step that will do a great deal toward bringing these records before the public and that will undoubtedly arouse widespread interest in them, through arranging for a demonstration of the Collins records before the members of the Philadelphia Kiwanis Club, at its weekly luncheon, to be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel on August 15. Mr. Smith, who has been a leading member of the Kiwanis Club for a number of years, has arranged to have a physical instructor from the Collins Institute, which is located here in this city, appear at the Kiwanis luncheon and to the accompaniment offered by the Victor records demonstrate the exercises as they were worked out by Professor Collins.

Mr. Smith has also arranged to have a young lady demonstrator from the Collins Institute appear in the show windows of his store during the week of August 7, to give demonstrations of the exercises. These demonstrations will also do a great deal toward arousing the interest of the public, as thousands of people pass the Smith store each day.

Penn Phonograph Co. Plans Display

Another novel window display that is being arranged at the present time is that of the Penn Phonograph Co. Mr. Barnhill has secured a huge reproduction of the familiar tungsten needle that is more than six feet in height and over twelve inches maximum diameter. This metal reproduction will be shown in conjunction with a comprehensive display of talking machine accessories in general and the needles in particular.

Harry Trawitz a Benedict

Harry Trawitz, manager of the record department of the J. H. Troup Music House, Harrisburg, Pa., one of the Penn Phonograph Co.'s dealers, is in line for the congratulations of his many friends in the trade, following his recent marriage. At the present time Mr. and Mrs. Trawitz are on their honeymoon through the New England States. Before going away Mr. Trawitz said that the month of July witnessed a big improvement in the volume of the record business for the Troup Music House and he anticipates a great increase in their business during the coming Fall.

Miss McFadden Now Mrs. Nagle

Congratulations are being tendered to the former Miss Mary McFadden, in charge of the Victrola department of B. E. Block & Bros. store at Norristown, Pa., also dealers for the Penn Phonograph Co. Miss McFadden caused great surprise among her many friends by announcing her secret marriage to Walter Nagle. Fortunately, Mrs. Nagle, upon her return from her honeymoon, intends to keep right on with her Victrola work, in which she is so greatly interested and concerning which she is most enthusiastic.

Exhibit Magnavox and Grafonola

The Frankford Music Store, Columbia dealer, held an exhibition of a Grafonola and a Magnavox at a recent celebration held at the Frankford Driving Club. The Magnavox and Grafonola were placed in the grandstand and could be heard clearly at any point in the grounds. The music was so distinct that people sitting on their verandas five blocks away thought it was a band playing and telephoned for further details regarding the celebration.

Outing of Foster Bros. Employees

Foster Bros., Columbia dealers at Manayunk, gave their army of employees a day's outing at Spring Mount, Pa. R. H. Foster was in charge of the outing and, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and lasting until late at night, a delightful program was prepared for the entertainment of the employees.

News With a Vacation Trend

F. B. Reinecke, secretary of the Louis Buehn Co., 835 Arch street, has just returned from an extended visit to Atlantic City, where he was registered at the Hotel Strand. Mr. Reinecke states that he is preparing to make large shipments of the Collins physical exercise records to the Buehn dealers and hopes to be able to make the first shipments during the latter part of the week. C. W. Miller, vice-president of the Buehn Co., is planning to leave the city on his vacation in a short time.

Morton Stern, the advertising manager of the Talking Machine Co. of Philadelphia, has just returned to the city, after a vacation trip to Schroon Lake, N. Y., in the Adirondack Mountains. He is most enthusiastic over the success that has attended the advertising campaign conducted by the Talking Machine Co. in connection with the No. 240 Art Model Victor machine, which has "gone over with a bang." This company has also been doing a fine business in the Victor portable model machine. According to Mr. Stern the Talking Machine Co. had made only a few sales of this type machine until it arranged a most attractive window display at its Chestnut street store, next door to the Adelphi Hotel. This display included a miniature camping scene with a small, but "real," tree in the background, and with a canoe in the foreground, in which the Victor portable machine was placed. The great interest which this display aroused is most efficiently indicated by the numerous sales which this up-to-date company has made.

F. Marcellus Heppe left Philadelphia yesterday for Poland Springs, Me., where he will join his father, Florence J. Heppe, head of the well-known piano and talking machine company.

A. E. Wilcox, the manager of the Heppe piano department, has left the city on an extended automobile trip along the New Jersey coast and through western Pennsylvania.

R. F. Lehman, manager of the Heppe uptown store, at Sixth and Thompson streets, has just returned from a two months' trip through the West to California, returning by way of Canada.

New Vocalion Records Well Received

The Aeolian Co. has just issued a new group of Vocalion Red Records for August that is meeting with a most hearty reception, according to B. H. Rogers, treasurer of the Lincoln Business Bureau, 1011 Race street, the Philadelphia distributor for the Vocalion records.

"The new August Vocalion records," said Mr. Rogers, "feature a number of the latest Pacific Coast fox-trots. For a long time we have heard of the climate of California, but now we seem to be hearing more and more about her fox-trots, and a good percentage of the most 'whistleable' tunes have crossed the Rockies to the East, in-

(Continued on page 68)

On Guard

Penn-Victor Dogs are the best watchmen of Victor Welfare in the Home.

Sold by most Victor Distributors.
Write them or us for prices.

Penn Phonograph Company

913 Arch Street

Philadelphia, Pa.

Victor Wholesale Only

REGAL
PREDOMINATES
IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

THE TRADE IN PHILADELPHIA AND LOCALITY—(Continued from page 67)

H. A. WEYMANN & SON, Inc.

1108 Chestnut Street

Philadelphia, Pa.

VICTOR WHOLESALERSQ. R. S. PLAYER ROLLS*WEYMANN "KEYSTONE STATE" STRING INSTRUMENTS*YOUR BUSINESS and OUR BUSINESS

are very much the same, "Mr. Victor
Retailer. We have the common purpose of increasing Victor merchandise sales. Getting together will prove mutually advantageous

cluding 'Whispering,' 'Do You Ever Think of Me,' 'Hindustan' and many others. The latest fox-trot from this source is 'The Sneak,' which has been played by the Yerkes S. S. Flotilla Orchestra for the August Vocalion records, and it certainly has a 'sneaky little tune'."

Joseph McKay, of the Heppe Victor department, has just gone to Atlantic City on a two weeks' vacation trip.

No Association Meeting Until Next Month

According to H. G. Hoover, whose store is located at 1031 Chestnut street, and the affable and popular president of the Philadelphia Victor Dealers' Association, there will be no further meetings of this Association until September, when a number of matters of general importance to the talking-machine trade will be brought up before the members of this organization. Mr. Hoover anticipates a very busy Fall season.

Return From Vacation Trips

Frank J. Osman, who is widely known throughout the talking machine trade in this city, as he has been connected with the Penn Phonograph Co. for many years, has just returned from his vacation, which he spent at Atlantic City and visiting relatives at Newark, N. J.

Miss Rose Schmidt, also with the Penn Phonograph Co., has just left the city on a two weeks' vacation, which she will spend at Wildwood, N. J.

J. M. Martin and Horace Blake, both of the Hoover sales force, have just returned from their vacation, while Russell Weldy left last Saturday for Asbury Park and H. M. McGrath has just gone to Atlantic City for two weeks.

ECKHARDT DISCUSSES RADIO DEVELOPMENTS

President of the General Radio Corp. of Philadelphia Optimistic Over Future—High-class Goods and Proper Merchandising Necessary to Success—A Timely and Interesting Analysis

PHILADELPHIA, PA., August 5.—Walter L. Eckhardt, president of the General Radio Corp., has given much attention to analyzing the future of the radio situation. In a recent conversation with The World he called attention to how radio popularity developed and swept the world like wild-fire, claiming the attention alike of amateurs, experts and the common people. He pointed out how myriads of industries sprang up over night, cashing in on the demand for equipment, and how the world seemed to go radio crazy. "Many conservative and sound individuals began to take the radio seriously. Soon telephone, telegraph, public service, talking machine, electric appliance and other allied industries began to show interest. Many important alliances were made. Interest in radio kept right on increasing. Newspapers and department stores fanned the coals into flame. New broadcasting stations appeared everywhere until the ether was so crowded that only very finely adjusted sets were of any real value.

"To-day we are seeing the end of makeshift and poorly constructed equipment," remarked Mr.

Italian Music Rolls

Largest collection of Italian and other foreign music rolls in the United States. Catalogs and discounts on application.

UNITED MUSIC STORES619 Cherry Street
225 W. Mulberry St.Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore, Md.

Eckhardt. "We are entering into the period of standardization and utility. The future will throw out thousands of sets, not because of a revolution in wireless telephony, but because the apparatus is so poorly constructed that it will not meet requirements. It cannot be stated too forcefully that the days of the radio toy are numbered. The best advice for those who are already selling and those others who are hesitating on the brink is to insist upon handling radio material only after they are convinced that it is the best. A difference of a few cents, or even dollars, should not determine a sale. A sound merchandising policy is just as essential in the radio business as it is for the electric appliance or talking machine dealer and manufacturer.

"We have little precedent to follow in predicting the future of radio. We might parallel it with the automobile or the talking machine, but we cannot get very far even when we collect a dozen different ideas and choose a part of each. We do know, however, that there will be further development of the radio. We also hope that there will be certain restrictions placed on the use of the ether or whatever it is that carries the radio messages. For unless we are able to cut out the static and other interruptions more effectually things will soon be a bedlam. Lack of restriction of amateurs will make radio useless to all. We can say with confidence that the solution of the many radio problems is at hand. Proper apparatus will be just as good ten years from now as it is to-day. Changes in set-up will doubtless be advisable; new devices and attachments will be developed, but the basic principles of wireless telephony are as standard to-day as the assembly of an automobile.

"As time goes on the wireless meddler will be limited in his operations. Broadcasting will be better organized and limited in distribution so that it will not interfere with the great commercial stations. Therefore, guard well your reputation. See to it that you serve your trade to its satisfaction. Sell only the apparatus in which you have confidence. Build for to-morrow and to-day will take care of itself. It will not be hard to choose the right lines; they will stand out head and shoulders above competition."

JAMES WATTERS IN RADIO FIELD

James Watters, who was at one time secretary of the Pathé Frères Phonograph Co., has now entered the radio industry. Mr. Watters is an executive of considerable ability and is well fitted to undertake his new and responsible duties with the Eastern Radio Corp., with which he has become identified.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY IN ITALY

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.—A musical instrument dealer in Italy wishes to purchase musical instruments and talking machines, according to information received by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here. Quotations should be f. o. b. New York and c. i. f. Italian port. Further information can be secured by communicating with the Bureau or any of its district offices and referring to Opportunity No. 2937.

Selling is a game and the best sportsman wins.

For Fall Business
The PHONO-TONERTRADE MARK
(Registered in U. S. Patent Office)Clarifies and Modulates the Tone

It appeals to every owner of a talking machine. It sells itself. Display a card on your counter. Keep one on a demonstrating machine.

Send for sample today, no charge.

Profitably retailed at 35c and 50c in nickel finish and gold plate.

The Phono-Toner (actual size)

Forms handle
for needle set-
screw.

The Phono-Tone Co.
310 Lincoln Building
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

DECALCOMANIA

Name Plates for Talking Machines, Pianos, etc.

High Class Workmanship

Write us for further information

National Decalcomania Co.

220-230 N. 60th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Waterson-Berlin & Snyder Co., Chicago, Ill.

Unico Equipped Thruout.

Musical Merchandising Efficiency is developed by

The Unico System

MUSICAL MERCHANDISING embraces a wide field of activity. Talking Machines—Phonographs—Pianos—Player Pianos—Records—Player Rolls—Musical Instruments—Sheet Music—Small Goods.

UNICO EQUIPMENT includes a special fixture of the most efficient type for merchandising musical commodities of every kind and description.

FURTHERMORE—musical stores and departments equipped thru the Unico System possess an atmosphere which constitutes

THE BACKGROUND OF SALES

PATRONAGE is quickly attracted and permanently attached to the progressive establishment which offers its customers the service, comforts and attractive surroundings afforded by Unico Equipment.

UNICO DEPARTMENTS ARE CREATED BY MERCHANDISING EXPERTS

During July

Unico Equipment was installed by progressive dealers in:

- Connecticut and California
- Massachusetts and Missouri
- Oklahoma and Ohio
- New York and New Jersey
- Pennsylvania and Panama
- Illinois and Indiana
- Texas and ten other states

During August and September

Unico Service can convert your establishment into the musical headquarters of your community. Better still—this change can be accomplished at moderate cost.

Consult us at once!

No obligation or expense.

UNICO SERVICE IS NATIONAL SERVICE

SOUNDS EXPENSIVE, you will say—but it isn't! Unico Equipment is no higher in cost than ordinary equipment.

Complete Unico Departments available for immediate shipment, $350 upwards.

YOUR BEST INTERESTS will be conserved by referring your problems to us, whether a single fixture or a complete musical department store.

Consult our nearest branch today.

Unit Construction Company

RAYBURN CLARK SMITH, President

NEW YORK, N. Y.
299 Madison Ave.

58th Street and Grays Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

CHICAGO, ILL.
30 N. Michigan Blvd.

ATLANTA, GA.
49 Auburn Ave.

DALLAS, TEX.
209 Dallas Bank Bldg.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
506 Marine Bank Bldg.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH
150 Main St.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
942 Market St.

DENVER, COLO.
1642 Arapahoe St.

H. A. MOORE & CO., LTD. (Sales Agents)
Premier House, London (W.C.I.), England

Unico Radio Merchandising Equipment now available—send for literature.

ENTERTAINS DEALER'S SALES STAFF

Eastern Outfitting Co.'s Staff Guests of P. S. Kantner, Columbia Branch Manager—Success of Sales Campaign Occasion for Banquet

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., August 4.—The members of the sales staff of the Eastern Outfitting Co., of this city, Columbia dealer, were the guests at a recent banquet given by P. S. Kantner, manager of the San Francisco branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co. During the course of the banquet Mr. Kantner gave an interesting address on the educational value of the Grafonola, being followed by T. J. Walker, advertising manager of the Eastern Outfitting Co., who discussed cooperation from a sales angle.

Sales Staff of Eastern Outfitting Co. Entertained at Dinner

The occasion of the banquet was the conclusion of an extensive advertising campaign featuring Grafonolas that was recently conducted by the Eastern Outfitting Co. in the "Daily News." During this campaign this successful dealer sold more Grafonolas in ten days than had been sold in any four months' period in the past.

I. Shemanski, president of the Eastern Outfitting Co., and Mr. Sieroty, secretary and treasurer, who attended the banquet, are so pleased with the results attained from the recent campaign that they have decided to conduct another campaign in the Daily News, consisting of approximately 730 inches additional advertising to spread over a period of three weeks.

Thos. E. Wilson & Co., talking machine dealers, at 706-708 Green street, Chicago, Ill., suffered considerable damage in a recent fire in that building.

CLOSES MANY IMPORTANT DEALS

Geo. W. Lyle Appoints Several New Strand Representatives—Important Territories Will Receive Efficient Service Through New Arrangements—Optimistic Over the Trade Outlook

Geo. W. Lyle, president of the Manufacturers' Phonograph Co., New York, manufacturer of the Strand phonograph, returned recently from an extended trip to the Pacific Coast, during which he closed several important deals whereby well-known companies and individuals were added to the fast-growing list of Strand representatives. Mr. Lyle's reports regarding general conditions throughout the country are optimistic and Strand representatives and dealers are making plans for an active Fall trade.

In St. Louis, Mo., Mr. Lyle made arrangements whereby the Artophone Corp., of this city, will become a Strand representative in that territory. This company is one of the best-known talking machine concerns in St. Louis and is in an excellent position to give the Strand line efficient representation.

While on the Pacific Coast Mr. Lyle conferred with Walter S. Gray, California representative for the Strand line, and made arrangements whereby Joseph Grimsey, for many years Seattle manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co., will move to Los Angeles and represent the Strand line exclusively. Mr. Grimsey will carry a complete stock of Strand products and his thorough knowledge of conditions on the Pacific Coast will enable him to co-operate with Strand dealers.

L. D. Heater, of Portland, Ore., and for a number of years manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co.'s branch in that city, will become the Strand representative for Washington and Oregon, with headquarters at Portland. Mr. Heater numbers among his personal friends Columbia dealers throughout the Northwest territory and Mr. Lyle was delighted to include him in the list of Strand representatives.

If you're doing good work, don't worry, somebody will find it out.

MICA DIAPHRAGMS

Absolutely Guaranteed Perfect
We get the best India Mica directly.
We supply the largest Phonograph Manufacturers.
Ask for our quotations and samples before placing your order.

American Mica Works
47 West St. New York

INTRODUCES VICTROLA NO. 111

Handsome New Model Will Be Ready for the Trade in October—List Price, $225

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has just announced a new type of instrument known as the Victrola No. 111. This instrument, which is shown in the accompanying illustration, embodies all of the exclusive Victor mechanical features, and one of the most important sales arguments for this new Victrola is the fact that all exposed parts are gold-plated.

The New Victrola No. 111

At the present time the Victrola No. 111 is manufactured in mahogany (red and English brown) and walnut, but it is expected that the various oak finishes will be ready in October, during which month the initial distribution of the new instrument will be made. The list price of the Victrola No. 111 is $225 with a spring motor and $265 with the electric motor.

WALT WHITMAN ON MUSIC

Here is how Walt Whitman, the great American sage and singer, puts it: "All music is what awakes from you, when you are reminded by the instruments. It is not the violins and the cornets; it is not the oboe nor the beating drums, nor the notes of the baritone singer singing his sweet romanza, nor those of the men's chorus, nor those of the women's chorus. It is nearer and farther than they."

Sherburne Automatic Stop

Stops When You Want It to Stop

Manufacturers: Has your automatic stop ever helped your dealers make a sale?

Investigate the Sherburne

Sample sent upon request

SHERBURNE MANUFACTURING COMPANY
948 Penobscot Building Detroit, Mich.

REGAL
PREDOMINATES
IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

IRVING KAUFMAN
Famous Phonograph Star

Recording his First KODISK

A METAL DISK FOR HOME RECORDING

KODISK

TRADE MARK
"SNAPSHOTS OF YOUR VOICE"

You, as a merchant desirous of supplying your trade with up-to-the-minute merchandise, should know all there is to know about KODISK, the marvelous new home recording medium.

KODISK is made of a special silvery metal, and can be used on any phonograph with the ordinary steel needle as a recording and reproducing point.

KODISK

TRADE MARK
"SNAPSHOTS OF YOUR VOICE"

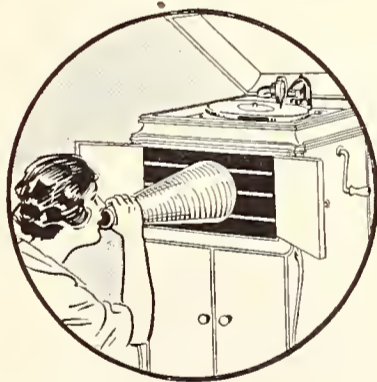

Is Popular in Price

and within reach of all, and, therefore, will be a quick, big seller and will repeat and continue to do so. KODISK records are 8 in.—double sided, which has an approximate recording capacity on each side of the ordinary 10 in. phonograph record. All KODISK records are neatly packed in individual envelopes, on which appear full directions.

Retail Price, 60c.

U. S. Patent No. 1421045

The KODISK record, the successful result of years of careful experimenting, achieves results so startling that it wins the enthusiastic admiration of all who try it.

It is possible to record on a KODISK record by talking or singing into the horn of an ordinary phonograph by using a megaphone as an amplifier. The best KODISK results are obtained by the use of the KODISK recorder. It is an attractive device which will set on any phonograph and may be placed and removed instantly.

The KODISK
Recorder

will multiply in many ways the pleasure-producing qualities of all phonographs.

Retail Price, $6.00

Be first in your locality to show KODISK records. Make your store headquarters for the fastest seller in the phonograph industry. Get the details.

METAL RECORDING DISC CO., Inc.

Manufacturers

FISK BUILDING, 57th Street and Broadway, NEW YORK

PHONOVATIONS CO., Inc., 37 East 18th Street, New York
Distributors for New York State

FOX PHILADELPHIA CO., 723 N. 26th Street, Phila., Pa.
Distributors for Pennsylvania

WARNING!

KODISK Records are manufactured under United States Patent No. 1421045, issued June 27, 1922. Our patent protection extends not only to all kinds of sound records made in metal tablets with any type of groove, but also covers broadly the process of recording in metallic substances, including the grooved blanks intended for home use on ordinary phonograph machines. We accordingly advise the trade that only the blanks sold under the KODISK trade mark and manufactured by the Metal Recording Disc Company are authorized to be made, sold or used.

ASK TO HEAR IT

THREE O'CLOCK in THE MORNING

Tempo di Valse Lente

It's three o' clock in the morn - ing.

The WORLD FAMOUS CHIMES WALTZ THAT IS MOVING A MILLION FEET

"You can't go wrong with any Feist song"

H. A. BRENNAN IN NEW POSITION

Well-known Talking Machine Man Now Sales Manager of Allen D. Cardwell Co.—Company Is Making Complete Line of Radio Apparatus

Herbert A. Brennan, formerly sales manager of the Lloyd Wireless Telephone Corp., and well known in the talking machine trade in the East, has been appointed sales manager of the Allen D. Cardwell Mfg. Corp., Brooklyn, N. Y., which is manufacturing a complete line of radio apparatus under the trade-name of "Cardwell" products. Mr. Brennan has already assumed his new duties and is preparing plans for an intensive sales campaign.

Allen D. Cardwell, president of the Allen D. Cardwell Co., has for many years been a prominent figure in the radio field. He is the inventor of important radio apparatus, and is also the inventor of the automatic transmitting system recently installed in the New York Stock Exchange, and the American Telegraph-Type-writer. B. G. Smith, formerly comptroller of the Guaranty Trust Co., is vice-president and general manager of the company, and the directors include: W. R. K. Taylor, a member of the stock exchange firm of Taylor, Smith & Hard; D. H. Haynes, treasurer and sales manager of the American Machine & Foundry Co., and Ashbel Green, president of the New York Quotation Co.

NEW VICTOR NEEDLE DISPLAY CASE

Collings & Co., Victor distributors, Newark, N. J., are calling the attention of the retailers in their territory to the new Victor needle display case. It is pointed out that a display of needles will greatly increase sales and the additional activity for such goods will more than offset the initial cost of this sales-creator.

THE NEW UDELL BLUE BOOK

Latest Volume Illustrates and Describes Entire Udell Line of Roll and Record Cabinets—Special Catalog of Console Designs

The Udell Works, Indianapolis, Ind., the prominent player roll and talking machine record cabinet manufacturers, have just issued a new edition of the Udell Blue Book of Dependable Cabinets, a most attractive and comprehensive volume in which is illustrated and described the entire Udell line of cabinets, including recent additions. Full details are given regarding each cabinet, such as size, finish, weight and special structural features. Several pages are devoted to attractive crayon sketches, showing the roll and record cabinets in actual use and as they appear in the home setting. A page at the back of the volume is given over to illustrations and descriptions of Udell construction methods.

In the Udell line are to be found cabinets of many sizes, finishes and designs and arranged to suit the taste and pocketbook of practically every owner of rolls and records, and the Blue Book offers a medium for shedding proper light on the extensiveness of the line.

In connection with the Blue Book there has been issued a small catalog devoted entirely to the new console designs in Udell player roll cabinets. There are five handsome models illustrated and described in the special volume, including the Renaissance, the Colonial, the Adam, the Shcraton and the Queen Anne. These latest additions to the Udell line have proved popular with both the trade and the purchasing public.

DALLAS FIRM PLANS MUSIC HALL

Will A. Watkin Making Arrangements for Recital Hall to Be Opened in Fall

DALLAS, TEX., August 4.—The Will A. Watkin Co., of this city, will open a modern and imposing new recital hall early in the Fall. The hall has been arranged on the studio floor and will be one of the finest in the city, both from the standpoint of acoustics and artistic appointment.

The hall will be offered for the use of the music clubs and local professional musicians.

RADDER CO. OPENS MUSIC SHOPPE

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., August 7.—The Music Shoppe, operated by the Radder Vending Machine Co., recently opened a store on Fall street, this city. In addition to Victor talking machines and Brunswick phonographs and records Baldwin, Hamilton and Howard pianos are handled. The new establishment is in charge of Osgood Radder and Mrs. Jessie Mathews.

Will the "can't-be-done" crowd keep in mind that a postage stamp will get them close to their prospects even when bank presidents are kept out?

The Modernolette

A REAL
Talking Machine

in
Portable Form

Retail Price

Wax Finish
Case
$35.00

Leatherette
Covered Case
$40.00

MODERNOLA CO., Johnstown, Pa.

The Modernola Sales Co., Inc.

No. 929 Broadway

New York City

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZABETH WELSH

The local talking machine trade learned with regret recently of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Welsh, who had been in charge of the record department at Bloomingdale Bros., Fifty-ninth street and Third avenue, for the past three years under H. D. Berkeley. Mrs. Welsh, who died at Kings County Hospital, after an illness of several months, is survived by two children. She was well known in the local trade, having been associated with the Victor department of Frederick Loeser & Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., before joining the Bloomingdale staff.

IDEAL MFG. CO. INCORPORATES

The Ideal Talking Machine Mfg. Co. was recently incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware, with a capital of $200,000. T. C. Gettell, Frederick W. Wilkins and Thomas W. Terry are the incorporators.

The man to whom difficulties are an added spur to achievement is bound to win success.

ALBUM SPECIAL

A twelve-pocket, cloth covered album, each one guaranteed, no seconds

10-inch at 45c. each
12-inch at 55c. each

Place your orders now and take advantage of the special price

Write for our 100-page encyclopedia containing illustrations and prices of

Outing, Swanson, Plymouth, Standard, Orpheus and Stewart Portables

- Radio Apparatus
- Jones Motrola
- Recordola
- Attachments for Edison, Victor and Columbia
- Albums and Album Sets
- Bubble Books
- Cabinets, Record and Roll
- Record Carrying Cases
- Corrugated Boards
- Moving Covers
- Dust Covers
- Dancing Toys
- Envelopes, Record Delivery Stock and Supplement
- Geer and Gold Seal Repeaters
- Needles, Steel and Tungsten
- Fibre Needle Cutter
- Display Fixtures
- Record Lights
- Lubricants
- Motors
- Nameplates
- Piano and Duet Benches
- Player-Piano Cleaner
- Polishes
- Record Cleaners
- Tonearms and Sound Boxes
- Springs
- Strings

GENUINE BRILLIANTONE STEEL NEEDLES

The Needle of Quality All Tones

The Cabinet and Accessories Co.

Incorporated
OTTO GOLDSMITH, Pres.

145 East 34th St. New York

"TOM" GREEN PASSES A MILESTONE

President of Silas E. Pearsall Co. Guest at Birthday Party—Friends in Trade Offer Congratulations to Popular Member of the Industry

After the close of the outing of the Talking Machine Men, Inc., held at Glen Head, July 26, several friends of Thos. F. Green, president of the Silas E. Pearsall Co., New York, Victor wholesalers, journeyed to his estate at Kensington Gardens, where they celebrated Mr. Green's birthday. "Tom," as he is known to all of his friends in the trade, was the guest of honor, but, during the course of the evening, heard so many expressions of good will and good fellowship by those present that he decided to become the host and show the "boys" just how he and Mrs. Green entertained their good friends.

Thos. F. Green

Although "Tom" admits being in the early forties, he has shown such a fondness for hard work during the past few years that his intimate friends believe he is only in the thirties and is adding ten years to his age in order to gain additional prestige and dignity. Among those who were present at Mr. Green's informal birthday party were: C. L. Price, of Ormes, Inc.; C. R. Wagner, of the Musical Instrument Sales Co.; Herbert D. Berkeley, Bloomingdale Bros.; Lloyd L. Spencer, sales manager of the Silas E. Pearsall Co., and several others.

OPERATING AT FULL CAPACITY

DeForest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. Active at Both Plants—Distributors in Musical Instrument Field Are Steadily Growing

The DeForest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. is operating both of its plants, in Jersey City, N. J., and Jackson, Mich., at full capacity to care for the increasing demands for DeForest products. In addition to its established retail outlets, the DeForest sales organization has appointed six wholesalers in the musical instrument field and this has necessitated added production. A traveling representative of the company returned late last month from a trade trip to the Pacific Coast, where distribution plans were completed for the talking machine trade in the larger centers in that territory.

Charles Gilbert, president of the DeForest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co., has returned to his Jersey City office, after having spent some time in the Berkshire Hills, Mass., motoring, accompanied by his family.

PORTABLE PHONO. CORP. CHARTERED

The Portable Phonograph Corp., of New York City, has been granted a charter of incorporation under the laws of this State, with a capital of $300,000. Incorporators are: M. H. Freimark, L. J. Samalman and D. Kaye.

NEEDLE MAKERS ASK PROTECTION

Want Special Duty on Imported Talking Machine Needles Provided for in New Tariff Bill

A claim for a protective tariff on talking machine needles has been presented to the proper officials at Washington by a number of the leading talking machine needle manufacturers of this country, including: John M. Dean, Norwich, Conn.; W. H. Bagshaw, Lowell, Mass.; J. A. Crabb, Newark, N. J., and others, who went to the National Capital recently to bring the matter strongly to the attention of the tariff makers.

At the present time talking machine needles are included under the general head of musical instruments and parts and have no separate listing in the tariff bill. It is not fair to American manufacturers that they should face the competition of German needle makers particularly in view of the low value of the mark. Protection is required to enable the domestic manufacturers to meet harmful foreign competition on an equitable basis.

Mr. Edison Man:—

Don't Say

"KAN'T," say "KENT"

Write for catalog of complete line

The KENT No. 1

With "S" Sound Box

Has given complete satisfaction for years

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

F. C. KENT CO.

Irvington, N. J.

DENVER

Expect Big Console Trade This Fall—Radio Station Is Using Edison—Portables Are Favored

DENVER, COL., August 6.—If the console talking machine, the period design type, at lower prices than heretofore offered, does not sell well this Fall then the predictions of Denver music dealers are all wrong. Talking machine dealers here are convinced that the console is to be the big selling factor this Fall. Already a number of the houses are working up attractive sales campaigns to take care of this type of machine.

Business has shown some increase since the middle of July. Some of this is due to unusual methods adopted by local dealers. Colorado has a bumper fruit crop, and if the mine and rail strikes are settled soon dealers believe money will be available to buy musical instruments, but if drawn out too long the situation is problematical.

That there is a tendency to buy the higher-priced talking machines is the contention of Oscar Frazier, manager of the talking machine department of the Darrow Music Co. July sales went beyond expectations, he says. The increased business in records has meant the employment of more help. The company has opened a sub-agency at Golden, Col., putting in charge Dr. Claude C. Crawford.

"Where Music Is Sweetest"

With this as its slogan a new store has been opened in Denver by the Emrick-Nadler Music Co., at 1624 Tremont street. The company handles the New Edison. A. E. Emrick, of this firm, has been a traveling salesman for the Edison department of the Denver Dry Goods Co., distributor in the Colorado division, for some time. Previous to this he was employed by the Victor Co. He resigned his position to go into business with Mr. Nadler, a resident of Basin, Wyo., who will move to Denver early in September. The new store is handsomely decorated and carpeted, the color scheme being ivory, blue and gray. The company bought out the record stock of a store going out of business and the opening was held on July 26.

She Wanted Music

Frank Darrow, of the Darrow Music Co., tells of a recent sale of a phonograph which is out of the ordinary. A woman living forty-five miles from Denver was giving an afternoon party. At the last moment she decided she wanted music at this party. She jumped in her auto and drove the distance to Denver in one hour and forty-five minutes. She stopped at the Darrow House and bought a Brunswick, paying $310 for it, loaded the machine in her car, drove back home and got there in time for her party. And music helped to make the afternoon a pleasant one.

Business Better

Roy E. Thompson, manager of the talking machine department of the Charles E. Wells Music Co., is spending a vacation at Estes Park and other points in Colorado. His office, however, reports that July business in talking machines exceeded that of July a year ago. The company is making a special campaign on the console type.

Edison at Radio Station

Norman D. Tharp, buyer of the Edison department, wholesale and retail, of the Denver Dry Goods Co., reports business picking up. His department has just placed an Edison at the new radio station of the Colorado National Guard, corner University and Grant streets. Captain Winner, of this station, says the Edison is giving eminent satisfaction.

Mr. Tharp finds that it pays to keep his mailing list alive in the matter of sending out the list of Re-creations for the New Edison each month. Those who do not respond to the list are cut off. A postal also was recently sent

THE SENSATIONAL NOVELTY
FOX-TROT
THE FRENCH TROT
SHEET RECORDS ROLLS
JOE MITTENTHAL · INC · NEWYORK

out to inquire if the list was of value to the owner of an Edison. Space was given to write on return card if the list should continue to be sent. The owner was asked also to give the name of anyone who might be interested in buying an Edison and in this way a new list of names was obtained as prospects. As jobbers the company gets out a postal card at intervals, on the back of which are printed the latest Edison hits, flashes from Broadway.

Aim to Increase Membership

In order to increase the membership of the newly organized Edison Dealers' Association of the Colorado division W. Leroy Larson, of Sidney, Neb., president of the Association, and Carl Schultz, of Denver, secretary, are getting out a letter to be sent to all Edison dealers in the State comprising the Colorado division.

Blinn Earns Rest

One of the live wires in the Denver trade is J. H. Blinn, manager of the talking machine department of the Baldwin Piano Co. His sales record shows a 25 per cent increase in business for July over the corresponding month in both is enjoying larger and steadier profits because they have done more towards encouraging the collection of Record Libraries than any other single argument connected with the sale of talking machine records and the Record Collector is a growing asset to every Dealer.

EVERY DEALER PUSHING HALL FIBRE NEEDLES

HALL MANUFACTURING CO.

Successors to B & H FIBRE MFG. CO.
33-35 W. Kinzie St. Chicago, Ill.

Date.....

Jobber's Name

Address

Gentlemen:—Please forward via.....

..... CARTONS COMBINATION HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
25 pkg. No. 1—50 pkg. No. 5.

..... CARTONS NO. 5 PACKAGES HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
100 pkg. in carton.

..... CARTONS NO. 1 PACKAGES HALL FIBRE NEEDLES
50 pkg. in carton.

DEALER'S NAME

ADDRESS

1921 and 1920. For the first six months of this year business has shown an increase of 40 per cent over a similar period in 1921 and 30 per cent over the same period in 1920. Mr. Blinn writes all his own newspaper display ads and is window display manager. His clever windows have attracted no end of attention and have been real business-getters. Recently another plan was devised to bring the people into Mr. Blinn's department. The company is selling a miniature piano, bearing the Baldwin name, for 25 cents, such as would delight any child for its play-house. Several hundred of these toy pianos have been sold and are proving most valuable in an advertising way.

Install Radio Merchandise

According to H. V. Huntoon, manager of the retail Victrola department of the Knight-Campbell Music Co., radio merchandise will be installed and sold in the talking machine department this Fall. He believes radio and music go hand in hand and that the two will co-ordinate satisfactorily. He reports a big increase in the sale of records for the month of July. New and used machines have sold well and a better down-payment was made in every instance than for some time past. The Walter Camp series of health exercises selling at $15 has been quite popular with the general public.

Giving Service Quickly

A little framed sign hanging on the door of the Darrow Music Store has done much to attract people to step inside and to promote the sale of records. Mr. Darrow traces a lot of business to this sign, reading: "Courteous and efficient record service just inside the door." The records are kept close to the door and patrons are served quickly. The Darrow people report a good talking machine business.

Plans Sales Campaign

The McKannon Piano Co. is planning a sales campaign on the Edison console models this Fall. Mr. McKannon does not look for a tremendous business, but an increase over the Summer months. The outlook for the piano business he believes is even better than that for the phonograph.

Portables Continue to Sell Well

Russell Gates, dealer in Grafonolas and Brunswicks, reports a large sale of portables this Summer. After a quiet period he says that business with the console type has shown an increase since the middle of July. He predicts good business this Fall.

PURCHASES THE SUPERTONE STOCK

The Phonograph Jobbers Corp., 206 Fifth avenue, New York City, some time ago purchased from the creditors' committee of the Supertone Talking Machine Co. all the complete cabinets and those in various stages of production and the right to manufacture and market the Supertone machine.

The officers of the above distributing corporation are B. Abrams and Rudolph Kanarek. It is the company's intention to continue the activities of the Supertone Co. and an announcement of the new arrangement has been forwarded to the trade.

MUSIC MASTER HORNS POPULAR

It is reported that the Music Master horn, produced by the General Radio Corp., of Philadelphia, is meeting with considerable success throughout the talking machine trade. Walter L. Eckhardt, president of the company, has devoted considerable attention to the perfecting of this horn, which is of laminated wood construction, designed to fulfill the functions of a loud speaker without metallic amplification. The fact that this radio horn embodies phonographic amplification principles has appealed strongly to the trade and new dealers are being constantly added to the already large number selling this horn

USES TIMELY WINDOW DISPLAY

Galperin Music Shop Features New Ted Lewis Columbia Record—Display Produces Tangible Results in the Way of Increased Business

CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 4.—The Galperin Music Shop, of this city, Columbia dealer, is quick to pick up a big selling record and feature it in an attractive window display. The accompany-

Galperin Shop Features Ted Lewis Records illustration shows a window prepared to feature a new Ted Lewis Columbia record, "Down the Old Church Aisle." The window illustrated the church aisle, the altar, the bride and groom and the minister, and this enterprising dealer also used good-sized space in the local newspapers in behalf of this record. Needless to say, this campaign produced splendid results and the record went over big in Charleston.

Worry takes more human energy than work.

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment Turned Up to Change Needle; Also Position When Not in Use

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Vertical Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Jewel
NEEDLE EQUIPMENT

For The New Edison

NOT

Just Another Equipment

BUT

a distinct improvement in Tone Reproduction as well as in Mechanical Construction and Finish.

Send for descriptive circular which contains "HINTS REGARDING THE CARE OF A PHONOGRAPH."

If your jobber does not handle, write us.

Price the same. Liberal discount to dealers.

GUARANTEED IN EVERY WAY.

MONEY BACK IF NOT SATISFIED.

We handle highest grade Jewel Point Needles.

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Lateral Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Showing Back View of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Lateral Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Plays all types of records. Operates the same as the "EDISON" with the LEVER.

No adjustments necessary when changing from lateral to vertical cut records. Stop prevents swinging to the right.

Needle scratch almost entirely removed.

Turning back of Reproducer permits of easy access to needle socket and saves records from unnecessary scratching.

Is the ONLY equipment that plays vertical cut records in the proper "EDISON" position with the Reproducer turned FACE DOWN to the record, giving it a floating action.

Needle CENTERS on all records.

Straight air-tight construction and absence of movable joints insure perfect reproduction and great volume.

Pivoted ball-joint insures perfect reproduction and freedom of movement both vertically and horizontally.

Weight is the lightest that can produce perfect results, thus saving the record, and permitting a freedom and sweetness of tone considered impossible.

Indestructible NCM-Y-KA diaphragms do not blast, crack, split or warp, and are the greatest development in phonographic sound reproduction in years.

JEWEL PHONOPARTS COMPANY 154 W. Whiting St., Chicago

LONG
QUALITY
HANOVER, PA., U.S.A.

FALL TRADE and LONG CONSOLES

All indications point to a healthy, active season for the talking machine industry in the Fall of 1922. Competition will be exceptionally keen, and the progressive, wide-awake dealer will get the lion's share of the business.

LONG CONSOLES can be used as a sales leader by talking machine dealers everywhere. They embody quality of workmanship with attractiveness of design and represent the acme of perfection in cabinet construction.

LONG CONSOLES are made by one of the country's pioneer cabinet manufacturers, and are backed by responsibility, experience and prestige.

Write today for our catalog.

The Geo. A. Long
Cabinet Company
HANOVER, PA.

Style 600
Sheraton

Style 601
Colonial

Style 602
Louis XV

Style 603
Chippendale

Style 604
Hepplewhite

RADIO INTERESTS ORGANIZE TO SUPPORT BROADCASTING · CAMPANARI RETURNS TO NEW YORK

Radio Apparatus Section of Associated Manufacturers of Electrical Supplies Formed for Purpose of Standardizing Apparatus and Stabilizing Industry Generally—Leading Concerns Interested

A development of much interest and importance in the radio field from several angles has been the organization recently of the Radio Apparatus Section of the Associated Manufacturers of Electrical Supplies, for the purpose of protecting the interests of manufacturers of radio apparatus, of promoting the standardization of such apparatus, collecting and disseminating information, and promoting co-operation among the members.

The two objects of special interest to those who have engaged in the wholesale and retail distribution of radio equipment are, first, the plan for standardizing apparatus which is calculated to protect the dealer against inferior products and against tying up excessive capital in a great variety of equipment, and, second, the plan to promote the consistent support of broadcasting.

It has been realized by the manufacturers that broadcasting up to this time has been carried on without assistance and, although many newspapers, department stores and other agencies throughout the country have erected broadcasting stations, the general public has turned for entertainment and instruction chiefly to about half a dozen stations maintained by manufacturers at their own expense. The question has been raised as to just how long this gratuitous broadcasting work will be carried on and what would happen if it were suddenly discontinued.

The officials of the new Radio Apparatus Section hold that in order to insure the future of broadcasting and with it the continued interest of radio fans some plan must be developed whereby the industry as a whole will contribute to the maintenance of broadcasting stations.

The members of the Radio Apparatus Section have already pledged themselves to give financial support to broadcasting stations, and it is hoped that other interests in the trade will be enlisted along the same lines.

The new section includes in its membership some of the most prominent of the manufacturers of radio apparatus, including: Acme Apparatus Co., American Radio and Research Corporation, L. S. Brach Supply Co., C. Brandes, Inc., Burgess Battery Co., Clapp-Eastham Co., Cutler-Hammer Co., DeForest Radio Telephone and Telegraph Co., Dictograph Products Corp., Edwards & Co., Electrical Products Mfg. Co., General Insulate Co., A. C. Gilbert Co., Holtzer-Cabot Electric Co., Manhattan Electrical Supply Co., W. J. Murdock Co., Pacent Electric Co., Radio Corporation of America, Signal Electric Co., Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Mfg. Co., Telenduron Co., Western Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co.

Of equally high standing are the officers of the Radio Apparatus Section of the Associated Manufacturers of Electrical Supplies. M. C. Rypinski, who is now vice-president and sales manager of C. Brandes, Inc., is chairman of the Radio Apparatus Section. The Eastern vice-chairman is L. G. Pacent, president of the Pacent Electric Co., Inc. The Western vice-chairman is C. E. Hammond, secretary-treasurer of the Signal Electric Co.; Charles Gilbert, president of the DeForest Co., is treasurer of the Association. The secretary is Elmer E. Bucher, who is sales manager of the Radio Corporation of America.

PLANNING AUTOMOBILE TOUR

Otto Goldsmith, Although Just Recovered From Accident, Will Join Party of Local Dealers On Extended Upstate Motor Trip

On July 11, last, Otto Goldsmith, president of the Cabinet & Accessories Co., suffered serious and painful injuries in an accident while driving his car. He was in the hospital several weeks, but Mr. Goldsmith showed his indomitable spirit by getting back to his many duties as chief executive of the company at the earliest possible date. Although suffering from effects of the mishap Mr. Goldsmith is well on the way to recovery and clearly shows that he has not become automobile shy through the announcement of a contemplated trip which he plans to make on or about August 17 to Fort Ticonderoga on Lake Champlain. Mr. Goldsmith will go as the guest of Al Galuchie, treasurer of the Talking Machine Men, Inc. Others who will take the trip in Mr. Galuchie's car are Irwin Kurtz, president, and E. G. Brown, secretary of the Association, and Sol Lazarus, well-known New York Victor retailer. It is expected that the trip will be from a week to ten days' duration.

The Cabinet & Accessories Co. has announced that the Kodisk, a metal record for home recording, has been added to the large list of accessories of which this firm is a distributor.

Arthur Walsh, advertising manager of Thos. A. Edison, Inc., returned last week from a very enjoyable vacation.

Well-known Baritone and Columbia Artist Re-opens Studios—Will Conduct Special Course in Cincinnati—A Most Distinguished Artist

Giuseppe Campanari, the eminent baritone and Columbia artist, returned from abroad some weeks ago and is again teaching at his New York studios. For seventeen years Mr. Campanari was leading baritone at the Metropolitan Opera House, previous to which he appeared in various first baritone roles with the Gustave Hinrichs-Basta Tivary Opera Co. in this country.

Giuseppe Campanari

Prior to his appearance as an operatic baritone Mr. Campanari was first 'cellist with the famous La Scala Orchestra in Milan, Italy, and later with the Boston Symphony Orchestra; previous to that he had sung in Italy with much success.

Mr. Campanari stands at the top of his profession, not only as a musician but as a master of operatic stagecraft. These talents would seem to have been inherited by other members of his family, inasmuch as his daughter, Marina, has just made her debut in opera in Italy, appearing in "Rigoletto" with pronounced success. Mr. Campanari has been chosen to conduct master classes for a five weeks' special course in Cincinnati this Summer, after which he will again resume his teaching in New York.

DEATH OF WM. H. CHESHIRE

William H. Cheshire, for fifteen years connected with Thos. A. Edison, Inc., Orange, N. J., most of that time as an official in the purchasing department of the company, died at his home in South Orange on Monday, July 31.

The Dawn of A New Day

In the talking machine business also means the dawn of thorough effort and careful business methods.

The recent industrial revision has taught as no other thing could the need for sound business methods, intense development and close cultivation of the territory particularly suited to the dealer.

Better a thorough supervision over a limited field than scattered efforts over a wide one.

Credits are safer and what you get you hold. True Victor sales mean true credits.

ECLIPSE MUSICAL CO.

Victor Wholesalers

CLEVELAND OHIO.

BETTER
BUSINESS

ECLIPSE

BROOKLYN DEALERS REPORT IMPROVED TRADE

Summer Resort Business Has Been of Good Volume Throughout Long Island—Jobbers and Dealers Optimistic Regarding Fall Outlook—Many Houses Considering Radio—Some Successful Trade Drives—News of the Month

Talking machine dealers in Brooklyn and Long Island are especially fortunate in regard to Summer business, for these sections abound with Summer resorts of every description, a source of sales which a good many parts of the country are not favored with. Brooklyn proper has many resorts of this nature while on Long Island almost every city or town is considered a Summer resort. Large numbers of visitors come here in the early months and the majority stay during the entire season. Consequently talking machine dealers in every section of Brooklyn and Long Island each year make plans far in advance for intensive drives for this trade, and the result is that sales of machines and records remain brisk throughout the season. No effort is spared by the progressive dealers to capitalize on this business, and in most cases a large outside force is employed which canvass the territory thoroughly for both machines and records.

This situation is a very fortunate one for the progressive dealers in this territory, as July and August are considered slow months for the average merchant.

Dealers Considering Radio

Dealers are discussing now with considerable favor the taking on of radio equipment as part of their regular stock, and in all probability a percentage of them will add radio equipment this Fall and Winter. The possibility of increased revenue from these sales is the incentive which is inclining dealers to carry a stock of radio receiving units.

Doing Brisk Victor Business

The American Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor for this section, reports that although business during June and July showed a slight decrease, dealers at the present time are beginning to show real signs of activity and August promises to be one of the best months the company has experienced for some time past. R. H. Morris, general manager of the company, has been consistently hard at work laying plans for the past three months and has spared no effort to help dealers move their stocks. As a result optimism is prevalent and all are confident

HAVE YOU DONE IT?

PLACED YOUR MACHINE ORDER FOR MONTHLY DELIVERIES BETWEEN NOW
AND DECEMBER 31ST.

DO IT NOW
DON'T HESITATE
BE PREPARED

DON'T EXPECT THE IMPOSSIBLE AT THE LAST MINUTE.

AMERICAN TALKING MACHINE CO.

BROOKLYN, N.Y.
VICTOR WHOLESALERS

that Fall business will be good. Mr. Morris was instrumental in bringing together several of his dealers to the Red Seal School held last month. He remarked that all who took the course were keenly enthusiastic and it is bound to show results in increased sales. The Victrola portable model has met with considerable favor this Summer, Mr. Morris stated, and many of these small machines were sold.

Victor Dealers Commend W. A. Delano

Herman Spitz, the popular Victor dealer of Sag Harbor, L. I., was one of the thirty-five pupils who attended the Red Seal course, and while in Brooklyn made his headquarters at the American Talking Machine Co.'s offices. Mr. Spitz, in conjunction with J. W. Ackerly, prominent dealer of Patchogue, was so enthusiastic over the course that a resolution of commendation and thanks was drafted, which was signed by every member taking the course, which they presented to W. A. Delano, of the Victor Co., who conducted the course. This co-operation offered to Victor dealers reflects the high regard which these same dealers have for the product they handle and the continual effort made to educate salespeople, to make them more efficient in the handling of Victor machine and record customers.

Successful Sonora Drive

The Long Island Phonograph Co., Sonora distributor for this section, has made an enviable record during the past month in the number of machines distributed to its dealers. A worth-while scheme was put into effect whereby one particular model of machine was concentrated on for a period of one week with the result that many of this style were sold. In the case of the drive on the Sonora Elite model, which retails for $265, in one week's time twenty-seven of these machines were sold, which helped materially to boost the totals at the end of the month.

Of course, J. J. Schratweiser, sales manager of the company, accompanied by other officials, was present at the Talking Machine Men's Outing, held on the 26th, and was instrumental in helping out to make the day a complete success for Sonora dealers who attended. Through his effort a representation of more than thirty-five Sonora dealers took in the outing and all had a most enjoyable day.

J. J. Jones and T. J. Lyon Making Good

Gratifying reports are being received from the new Sonora stores recently opened by J. J. Jones, at 2844 Church avenue, and T. J. Lyon, 306 Seventh avenue, both of whom are making rapid strides toward the successful conduct of their business. In spite of the general feeling that July and August are slow months, these two men, through their intensive effort, have shown surprisingly large sales totals, and have proven that Summer business can be good if gone after in a determined way.

Arell Phonograph Co. Features Sonora

Last month it was reported through a typographical error that the Arell Phonograph Co., which was recently opened by A. J. Freeman, at 220 Utica avenue, was a Victor shop. This is not the case, however, as this shop will carry and feature the Sonora line of machines exclusively.

Offering Trade New "Talker" Cover

A. Bruns & Sons, of Brooklyn, manufacturers of the Bruns "Made-rite" cover for talking ma-

WE offer our dealers a Service which is in keeping with the standards of "the Highest Class Talking Machine in the World."

The bond between us and our dealers is "more than a business connection." It is said of us that we are "Suppliers to Satisfied Sonora Dealers."

Any communication from you will have our prompt and careful attention.

Long Island Phonograph Co., Inc.

Sonora Distributors for Brooklyn and Long Island

150 Montague Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Telephone Main 4186

chines, are now offering to the trade an entirely new water-proof cover which has already met with considerable favor from members of the trade who have seen it. This cover is made of rubberized, guaranteed water-proof, specially treated material, in brown, and is a decided addition to the other lines which the company has marketed for some time past. H. N. Karpen, sales manager of the company, is very enthusiastic about this cover and stated that they were not satisfied in giving the talking machine trade merely a line of covers, but it is the purpose of the company to be pioneers in the development of any new ideas which would tend to make the delivery of talking machines more efficient. Consequently, members of the trade who have particular ideas as regards delivery covers are welcomed at the company's offices, where they will be given every attention, and if the idea has a marketable value the company immediately will take steps to produce that cover in every detail. An instance of this is the portable machine cover, of which the company has made many, which was suggested by a prominent dealer, and which has been sold to dealers throughout the country in considerable quantities.

"Business with us," says Victor Bruns, president of the company, "has not been slow in any sense of the word. On the contrary, we have shown an increase every month for the last year and all indications point to a very prosperous Fall and Winter trade."

E. A. Schweiger Enlarges Store

E. A. Schweiger, one of the best-known Victor dealers in metropolitan New York, with headquarters at 1525 Broadway, Brooklyn, has just completed arrangements to acquire the store adjoining his present one, which will give much needed additional floor space. A partition between the two stores is to be torn down, and one complete large wareroom made. New booths and fixtures will be installed as well as every known modern convenience for the selling of talking machines and records. When completed this will be one of the most attractive stores in Brooklyn. This live dealer is one of the pioneers in the Victor retail trade in Brooklyn, having built up a business of large proportions through aggressive merchandising. The new store will be finished in ample time to take care of Fall and Winter business and, when completed, it is planned to properly introduce it to the trade with a formal program which will be announced during the latter part of August.

Big Sale of Victor Physical Records

The sales force of the G. T. Williams Co., Inc., Victor distributor, are quite enthusiastic over the new Victor physical exercise records. They look forward to an active demand for these records over a long period—in fact as a permanent and profitable adjunct to every dealer's stock. Special emphasis is being placed on the display of these new issues and the announcement of the new Victrola model No. 111.

Remodeling Arthora Shop

The Arthora Shop, conducted by Ruckgaber Bros., 60 Court street, has just completed the renovation of the rear of the store. Several small private hearing rooms have been dismantled and the space devoted to one large room where the complete line of Victor machines can be shown at one time and where customers can listen to all models under the same condition and make their choice.

New Sonora Agency

The latest addition to the Sonora list of dealers in Long Island is D. L. Golden, who conducts a general store at East Setauket. He has given over a part of his store to the Sonora line of machines. Mr. Golden has long conducted a retail business there and this is his first venture in the music business. A phonograph department has been opened for the display of these machines

VICTROLAS

The Victor Physical Exercise Records

The new physical exercise records placed on the market by the Victor Talking Machine Co. are prepared under the supervision of Prof. Chas. H. Collins, of the Collins Health Institute, and are a simple, complete physical exercise program with illustrated charts.

These Victor outfits will have a very active sale and every Victor retailer should be prepared to demonstrate and display the sets at once.

This, another source of profit for Victor retailers, is standard and non-seasonable merchandise.

VICTOR RECORDS

G. T. WILLIAMS CO. Inc.

217 DUFFIELD ST. ~ BROOKLYN, N.Y.

and Mr. Golden plans to place a competent man in charge. Lee Coupe, genial representative of the Long Island Phonograph Co. for Long Island, is responsible for closing this deal and is co-operating with Mr. Golden to give him an auspicious send-off in his new venture.

Hardman, Peck & Co. Add Victor Line

Hardman, Peck & Co., prominent talking machine dealers at 47 Flatbush avenue, have secured, in addition to their other lines, the complete Victor line of machines and records. This company recently purchased the entire stock of machines and records from the Pease Piano Co., which is giving up its talking machine department. Mr. Franke, manager of Hardman, Peck & Co., is very enthusiastic over acquiring the Victor line, as he will now be in a position to offer to the large clientele of this store a choice of the leading lines of talking machines and records in the market to-day. The Victor line will be given special prominence in warerooms, and it is planned to feature it for some time to come in order to properly introduce it to the trade. To announce this important event newspaper advertising was resorted to and an appropriate window display of an attractive nature was used in the large show windows of the store with the result that many sales of machines were made during the month of July.

Edward F. Callaghan, popular salesman for the company, has just returned from a three weeks' vacation spent in the mountain resorts of northern New York and is to devote from now on considerable of his time in this new department.

R. H. Keith Sets Golf Record

R. H. Keith, general manager of the Long Island Phonograph Co., finds time in his busy career to spend some time on his favorite golf links at Garden City. Mr. Keith made for himself an enviable reputation on these links the other day by turning in a net score that will stand as a record for some time for other members of the club to shoot at. This low score is probably one of the best turned in by players this season and Mr. Keith is receiving the congratulations of friends on his ability as a golf player.

ALTERATIONS AT A. I. ROSS STORE

Elaborate Plans for Extensive Remodeling and Enlarging of Exclusive Victor Shop

Plans are being filed for extensive alterations to take place in the near future at the A. I. Ross Music Store, at 206 Main street, Astoria, L. I., exclusive Victor dealer.

Mr. Ross intends to have an extension of forty feet added to the rear of the store and a complete remodeling of the front. Ten booths will be added and an enlarged and beautiful Victrola display room. The upper part of the building will be turned into a Victrola concert room. The whole building will be finished in stucco, with a beautiful design of the famous Victor trade-mark worked out on the front of the building.

When alterations are completed this will, no doubt, be one of the most attractive shops on Long Island. The A. I. Ross Music Stores also have a branch at 309 Steinway avenue, Astoria, which is also a model exclusive Victrola shop. The motto of the firm is, "If it's to be had on a Victor record we have it."

ATTEND WOMEN'S CONVENTION

W. A. Willson, manager of the educational department of the Columbia Graphophone Co., attended the recent convention of the American Federation of Women, held at Chautauqua, N. Y. The educational work was an important feature of this convention and prior to Mr. Willson's arrival in Chautauqua Mrs. Sharpe and Miss Davis represented the Columbia Co. The D-2 Grafonola with pushmobile was a prominent factor in the convention activities and won favorable comment everywhere. E. S. Germain, representing the Buffalo branch of the Columbia Co., was also on hand to assist Mr. Willson.

COTTON FLOCKS OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

ARE ESSENTIAL IN THE PRODUCTION OF QUALITY RECORDS
THE WISE RECORD MANUFACTURER

Who places his orders NOW for deliveries over the next few months, will be assured of an ample supply when he needs it, and will save money

CLAREMONT WASTE MFG. CO. - - - CLAREMONT, N. H.

ACME-DIE

- CASTINGS -

ALUMINUM-ZINC-TIN & LEAD ALL TYPES

Acme Die-Casting Corp.

Boston Rochester Brooklyn, N.Y. Detroit Chicago

Bert Williams, shuffling comically along behind the footlights, rocking packed houses with his delicious darky dialect, never told anything funnier than the two stories on A-6216, "You Can't Do Nuthin' 'till Martin Gets Here" and "How? Fried!" Trying to do business without this record is like trying to run the "Henry" without gas.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

BRIGHTSON'S INTERESTING TALK

President of Sonora Phonograph Co., Inc., Makes Principal Address at Recent Meeting of the Talking Machine Men, Inc.

The Talking Machine Men, Inc., the organization composed of talking machine men of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, held its monthly meeting on Wednesday, July 19, at the Café Boulevard, New York City, and, as usual, the meeting proper was preceded by a luncheon.

The main speaker of the afternoon was George E. Brightson, president of the Sonora Phonograph Co., Inc., and one of the pioneers of the industry. He was introduced by President Irwin Kurtz, who reviewed some of Mr. Brightson's activities in the industry, his ideals and the co-operation both he and his company have extended the Talking Machine Men, Inc.

Mr. Brightson said in part: "The main thought I wish to convey to your minds is—stabilization in selling—a point that you control, and, if done, will protect you and your invested capital. Many of you, though you began small, gradually expanded, acquiring expensive rentals and increased overhead. You are entitled to a profit on your sales. But just what profit you choose to take is known by you and you only. The law does not permit the manufacturer to interfere with you, as you are well aware, but I believe that if you, as an organization, will follow up the thought that I am advancing, you will protect yourselves from what I would call gyp trading.

"If you will trust to my judgment, I feel sure that you will protect yourselves by condemning cut prices. Continued price-cutting will undoubtedly convince manufacturers that you do not need such a great discount and that it would be better for all concerned to reduce discounts and lower list prices.

"As to the future, there is nothing but a bright outlook for the phonograph industry. There is a future and a good one, and manufacturers are making plans to create a demand for their products, which must be supplied by retail dealers. This is a world of dependence and no one realizes more fully than I that you, coming into contact with the consumer, are indispensable to the industry.

"When a manufacturer publishes broadcast in nation-wide periodicals that the product he makes is of extraordinary quality and you, the dealer, offer extraordinary discounts as an inducement to bring customers to your store, they cannot have the same faith in the manufacturer's claims, even though they purchase an instrument. Price-cutting pulls down confidence as fast as it is built up. The manufacturer interests the consumer in his product and the price-cutter creates a customer, but such customers seldom interest new buyers. When they do, these new buyers also expect a big reduction. Phonograph 'Boosters' are always recruited from among those who are thoroughly sold on the 'Quality and Service' idea—never on so-called bargains. Price-cutting never has and never will build up a substantial business.

"Another problem that had to be faced by the manufacturers of high quality phonographs was the great number of phonographs of doubtful origin, bankrupt stocks and others made with no consideration whatever of quality. These phonographs were gradually fading out of the picture, but, like Banquo's ghost, are again making their presence felt. Thousands of people now realize that these machines do not produce what was originally intended through the records, and many people possessing a large number of records prefer to dispose of these unsatisfactory phonographs for those bearing a favorable reputation: Sell a good new phonograph to the owners of these machines—do not let them sell you their worthless machines at their price.

"Now, I wish to say to you that this latter influence will be felt in the selection of many phonographs sold from this time on, and a little effort should be made to avoid anything being sold that will be unsatisfactory, and not encouraging to the thought that everyone now wishes a good phonograph. It will be helpful to you, and you should see the results quickly.

"Gentlemen, I appreciate the opportunity at all times to make efforts for your good, as your president so nicely mentioned, and you may rely on me to work with you for our mutual welfare."

Henry Teller, of Fred Fisher, Inc., the well-known popular music publishing house, addressed the gathering and called its attention to the plans of his company for the Fall season. Jack Glogau, with the aid of a number of songwriters, then demonstrated some of the current numbers of the Fred Fisher catalog, as well as those that will be featured during the early months of the Fall season. Included in these were: "My Honey's Lovin' Arms," "I Wish There Was a Wireless to Heaven," "Strawberries," sung by Sam Ehrlich, who wrote the lyrics of the number; "My Idaho," sung and played by the writers, Harry Tobias and George J. Bennett; "Ji-Ji-Boo," a new novelty number, for which Joseph Meyer supplied the music, and Fred Fisher's latest success, "Chicago" (That Toddling Town).

George E. Brightson

There will be no meeting of the Association in August and the next meeting is scheduled for September 13.

The Association is to hold its annual Fall dance at the Hotel Pennsylvania on October 31, detailed plans of which are to be announced later.

The assets of Talking Motion Pictures, Inc., of New York City, consisting of the contents and machinery of the recording laboratory, were disposed of at a bankruptcy sale on July 31.

PERRY B. WHITSIT Co.

WHITSIT co-operation and service to the Victor dealer has been enhanced by the exceptional facilities afforded us in our new home. Visit us on your next trip to Columbus.

COLUMBUS OHIO

VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS

No. 35767/10 Palm Plant, natural prepared, everlasting in green.

My SEASONABLE CATALOGUE No. 35 containing illustrations in colors of Artificial Flowers, Plants, Vines, Garlands, Hanging Baskets, etc., will be MAILED FREE ON REQUEST.

	Inches High	Palm Leaves	With Pot	Without Pot
35767/24	24	10	$1.50	$1.00
35767/5	30	5	1.00	.75
35767/7	42	7	2.00	1.50
35767/10	48	10	2.50	2.00

FRANK NETSCHERT
61 BARCLAY ST. NEW YORK, N. Y.

The "DAILY DOZEN"

Universally Recognized as the Standard and Most Beneficial of Health Building Exercises

WALTER CAMP

Famous Yale football coach and athlete, has for more than thirty years been considered

America's Foremost Authority on Amateur Athletics

Walter Camp's "Daily Dozen" exercises were used by a President's Cabinet and endorsed by many men of National prominence.

When we entered the great World War, Walter Camp devised this marvelous system known as the "Daily Dozen," which has become the American standard of physical culture exercise.

The Health Builders System

is

Walter Camp's
"Daily Dozen"

set to inspiring
music on talking machine records

The set contained in an attractive album contains five ten-inch double-faced records, twelve charts, and Health chart.

Talking Machine dealers everywhere are building up good profits selling these sets.

If you are not already selling them it will pay you to investigate. They appeal to man, woman and child and are all-year-round sellers.

The "Daily Dozen" has become a familiar phrase. There is only one "Daily Dozen." Build your profits on its prestige.

waltercamp

OUR NATIONAL ADVERTISING HAS CREATED THE DEMAND—NOW IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO CASH IN

Write us today for sample and full information

HEALTH BUILDERS

DEPARTMENT W8

334 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK, N. Y.

Getting Prospects a Business Proposition

By JOHN D. VANCE, Mason City, Ia.

"Getting Prospects" is the title of an interesting article which appeared recently in the very successful house organ issued regularly by Mickel Bros., Des Moines, Ia., Victor wholesalers. This article, which was written by John D. Vance, of the Vance Music Co., Mason City, Ia., read in part as follows:

"In my estimation, getting prospects is very much of a business proposition. It is the outgrowth of 'have beens,' others you have sold or their friends. I am confident I am selling the best talking machine in the world. We have stock sufficient to give first-class service and we have a sales force whose main performance is to make a friend out of every customer. We treat our sales persons absolutely square, which impresses them with the fact that they must treat the customer fair. During our twenty-two years of business we have adhered to this policy religiously, with the result that every one of our customers is continually working for us, and through them we get most of our prospects.

"We keep in touch with the Chamber of Commerce and learn when any new families arrive in Mason City and immediately learn whether they have any kind of a talking machine. If they have one then we solicit them for their record business.

"We instruct our sales force to call to the attention of every customer something other than what he asked for. We do not urge him to buy, but endeavor to draw him into a conversation. If a shipment has just arrived we mention it to him and emphasize the finish, or even the method of packing—anything to start him talking. In nine cases out of ten before we are through he has given us the name of at least one prospect. If he has a Victrola or some other make of talking machine occasionally we can induce him to trade it in for a larger size. Whenever this is possible we always try to close the deal on the spot and if we are unsuccessful we always get his name and address, treat him extremely cordial and assure him that the offer is open whenever he cares to take advantage of it.

"We have a Chinese laundry in Mason City, conducted by one Chow Lung. His establishment consists of a little shop about nine feet by fifteen feet, in the rear of which is a little room about nine feet by ten feet. The room in the rear is his living quarters, fitted in regular cave-man style. He came to Mason City about a year ago and the customary crowd of small boys immediately commenced to make his life miserable. One day I discovered 'the gang' standing in front of his window, each trying to make the funniest face through the window at Chow. With a few kind words I shamed the boys at their tricks and then got acquainted with Chow. I was in his store just thirty minutes and came out with $75 in cash for Victrola No. X. Later three other Chinamen in Mason City bought Victrolas, and let me tell you that as a rule Chinamen are exceptionally good pay. Chow is a good record buyer now and tells me that 'jazz-e mak-e fine music.'

"As a friend recently remarked to me, don't be content with working the highways for prospects. Most everyone has worked the highways, but look unto the byways and your reward will depend upon what effort you make."

RADIO BUGS AID RECORD SALES

Young Radio Enthusiasts Sell Records to Obtain Radio Parts

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 7.—Talking machine dealers of this city are manifesting considerable interest in radio and several of them have added radio outfits and parts to their stocks.

Ben L. Loventhal, of the Louisville Music Co., has tied up the radio craze with his talking ma-

ILSLEY'S GRAPHITE PHONO SPRING LUBRICANT

Ilsley's Lubricant makes the Motor make good. Is prepared in the proper consistency, will not run out, dry up, or become sticky or rancid. Remains in its original form indefinitely.

Put up in 1, 5, 10, 25 and 50-pound cans for dealers. This lubricant is also put up in 4-ounce cans to retail at 25 cents each under the trade name of

EUREKA NOISELESS TALKING MACHINE LUBRICANT

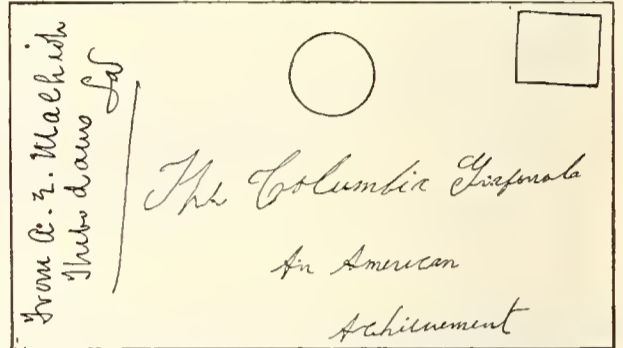

Write for special proposition to jobbers

ILSLEY-DOUBLEDAY & CO., 229-231 Front St., New York

chine business in a clever manner by offering to give to young boys the radio parts they desire for selling records. The plan is proving productive of increased record sales.

HOW UNCLE SAM DELIVERS MAIL

The accompanying illustration is a facsimile of an envelope which was mailed in a rural free delivery box nineteen miles from Thibodaux, La.

The only address on the envelope was "The Columbia Grafonola, an American Achievement," and the letter was promptly delivered to A. E. Malhiot, Columbia dealer at Thibodaux. The delivery of this envelope not only emphasized the countrywide popularity of the Columbia product, but indicates that Mr. Malhiot is well established in his particular territory.

Among the prominent music houses in Washington, D. C., to add radio recently is the Gibson Co., 917 G street, N. W., representative of the Columbia Grafonolas and Brunswick lines.

Some of the Things You Get with a Flexlume Sign

When you buy a Flexlume Electric Sign you are not simply buying glass and metal. You are buying years of experience in electrical advertising. You are buying artistic design. You are buying 24-hour-a-day advertising at lowest cost, for Flexlumes are day signs as well as night signs—raised, snow-white glass letters on a dark background. You are buying greatest reading distance, lowest upkeep cost and a sign which will give your place of business an atmosphere of distinction.

Let us send you a sketch showing a Flexlume for your particular needs.

FLEXLUME CORPORATION, 36 KAIL STREET BUFFALO, N. Y.

The Trade in BOSTON and NEW ENGLAND
 JOHN H. WILSON, Manager
 324 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON, MASS.

BOSTON, MASS., August 7.—Seven months of the current year have now been brought to a close and it is interesting to note the varying aspects that jobbers and dealers take of the situation. On the whole, the Summer trade has been good and of a rather healthy character; that is to say, the demand for goods has not been of a spasmodic nature, business has been coming in at rather an even pace. An effort will be made by jobbers to have the dealers lay in their stocks early this Fall in anticipation of the good business that is looked for during October, November and December, especially, for the careful observers of conditions are enthusiastically confident that the Fall season will not be far advanced before business will begin to take a pronounced jump. Just now, apart from the fact that it is mid-Summer, a period of natural dullness, the strike situation is having a deterrent effect on business, particularly in those sections most immediately affected. But things will adjust themselves shortly and then look for an improved situation—that is about the sentiment one hears expressed when calling on members of the local trade.

Pleasant Welcome at Vocalion Hall

Vocalion Hall holds a pleasant welcome these Summer days for the passers-by in Boylston street, where Manager William E. Birdsall is ever ready to interest lovers of music in the merits of the Vocalion proposition. Mr. Birdsall returned this week from New York, where he and his family have been spending part of their vacation, the rest of it having been consumed in making tours through Greater Boston and eastern Massachusetts in Mr. Birdsall's Packard car. Charles T. Foote, of the retail staff of this house, leaves town to-morrow for his vacation and Frank Lincoln will take his departure the middle of August.

Demonstrates the Cheney Phonograph

Stephen Colahan, New England manager for the Cheney phonograph, spent a week in Springfield toward the latter part of July, where he gave a demonstration of the Cheney machine at the well-known Main street establishment of Forbes & Wallace. As a result of the demonstration the members of the firm were so well satisfied that they speedily took over the exclusive rights to handle the Cheney for Springfield and Greenfield. William F. Larkin, the general manager of the musical department of this store, which is one of the largest in the city, expressed himself as eminently satisfied with the Cheney and a large initial order of goods is now on the way from Chicago. Manager Colahan has made a contract with James A. White, of 181 Tremont street, whereby the latter will be the efficiency man for the Cheney in the New England territory.

New Columbia Agency in Worcester

One need not long be in conversation with Fred E. Mann, the Columbia branch manager here, to sense a condition of rapidly improving business not only with the Columbia Co. generally, but in the particular field over which Mr. Mann has supervision. Among the new accounts which the Columbia Co. has taken on is that of the American Upholstering Co. in Worcester, of which M. Sobel is the owner. This talking machine department, featuring the Columbia line, was opened a fortnight ago and the arrangement, decorations and general accessibility have been highly spoken of. There are four demonstration rooms, which are among the most artistic of any in the city.

Manager J. H. Burke Primed for Campaign

Joseph H. Burke, manager of the Musical Supply & Equipment Co., is home from a two weeks' automobile trip into the White Mountains, on which he was accompanied by Mrs. Burke. Mr. Burke returned in fine condition and in full anticipation of a good Fall season in the Sonora line. Mr. Burke has lately formed several new connections for Sonora representation and he reports that all the latest models of machines are in growing demand among the trade.

Hallet & Davis Phonograph Progress

In the third issue of the Hallet & Davis Salesman there is considerable attention given to the talking machines put out by this house and mention is made of large shipments to the Pacific Coast, and a sample order has been dispatched to Australia. Mention is also made of a five-copy advertising campaign that has just been prepared and arrangements have been completed by the talking machine division of the house to share the cost of advertising with dealers in their local newspapers. Lester G. Jones, for several years the representative for another house, has joined the Hallet & Davis forces and will travel through the State of Pennsylvania in the interests of the talking machines. In the New England field George Kimball, whose transfer to the talking machine division of the company was announced in last month's issue, is traveling in his Cadillac car, which is especially equipped to carry a sample talking machine, and by this means Mr. Kimball is making a most aggressive campaign, working under the supervision of R. O. Ainslie, who has a special interest in this end of the Hallet & Davis business.

J. W. Miller, a Hallet & Davis dealer at Harrisburg, Pa., has sent a letter to headquarters which testifies to the special worth of the talking machines made by this house. It appears that Mr. Miller sold the City Star Laundry in his city a Hallet & Davis phonograph as the result of the choice of the force of the 800 employes, who voted for its selection after hearing three different makes of machines in a test. This Hallet & Davis phonograph will be used for entertainment in the Recreation Hall.

Brunswick Line With Vose & Sons Piano Co.

Harry Spencer, who reports a very good July business in Brunswick machines and records, has signed up the Vose & Sons Piano Co. and hereafter at the Boylston street warerooms of this widely known music house a full line of the Brunswick goods is to be carried. Harry Stevens, manager of the Vose retail warerooms, will have general supervision over this new department. This is an important connection for the Brunswick, as the Vose house is one of the oldest and best-known in New England.

Some More New Accounts

Mr. Spencer went down to Salem a fortnight ago for the opening of the new Brunswick Shop, which is located on Washington street, and in charge of Odell Bros. This store formerly was located on a second floor, but the new quarters, which are equipped with six booths of Unico construction, are handsomely furnished in antique style, making one of the most attractive places of the kind in Salem. Carl Fenton's Orchestra came over from New York for the opening. Another establishment that is now carrying the Brunswick line is the Summerfield Furniture Co., of Boston, and still another is the Terminal Phonograph Co., in Canal street, which has become an exclusive Brunswick headquarters.

Plan Salesmanship School

The three Victor distributors here are making arrangements for the Victor Red Seal salesmanship school, which is to be held in Boston for five days beginning August 14. The sessions will be

(Continued on page 84)

DITSON
VICTOR

SERVICE

“The Coming Fall” Is Here
Make It a Victor Fall

There is little time for putting record and machine stocks in perfect form to meet the coming post-summer demand. Fill in the gaps now. Arrange for future requirements.

Ditson Service will lighten the task for you

CHARLES H. DITSON & CO.
NEW YORK

OLIVER DITSON CO.
BOSTON

LONDON'S NEWEST WALTZ HIT!

LOVELY LUCERNE

As Beautiful as "Valse Septembre" and by the same Writer

When falls the calm of e-ven-tide, There comes a vis-ion glow-ing.

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

THE TRADE IN BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND—(Continued from page 83)

held daily at Steinert Hall, in Boylston street, which is admirably adapted to such purposes. The sessions, of which there will be two each day, will be under the supervision of F. A. Delano. The Oliver Ditson Co., M. Steinert & Sons and the Eastern Co. all have sent out announcements to dealers of the proposed salesmanship school and they are urged either to attend themselves or to see that their houses are in some way represented. The classes will be conducted along much the same lines as those conducted at the Victor factory at Camden. The local Victor distributors will give every possible assistance to making the classes a success.

On the last night of the class the three jobbers already mentioned plan to entertain the dealers at Pemberton and the arrangements include a departure for this beach resort by boat early in the afternoon so that there will be time for a game of baseball and a program of sports, to be followed by a banquet at the Pemberton Inn, after which there will be dancing to the music of Bert Low's Orchestra. It is expected that there will be an attendance of about seventy-five persons at the class, but there is not likely to be any dealers present from Connecticut as a similar class is being held at New Haven this week at the Victor establishment of Horton, Gallo & Creamer; and there is one also to be held next week at the Portland, Me., store of Cressy & Allen, which means that there is not likely to be anyone coming to the Boston class from the Pine Tree State.

Our Congratulations Extended

A wedding that is to be celebrated on September 4 is of special interest to the talking machine trade because both parties have been closely identified with the business for several years—Miss Marguerite Taylor and Stephen A. Colahan. Miss Taylor has been with the Hallet & Davis Co. several years and much of that time was secretary to R. O. Ainslie. As a thoroughly informed woman on matters pertaining to the talking machine end of the business she has proved herself a valuable factor to the company. Mr. Colahan is the New England representative of the Cheney instrument and he has made many friends since coming to Boston a couple of years ago.

Herbert Shoemaker's Father Seriously Ill

Herbert Shoemaker, general manager of the Eastern Talking Machine Co., has the sympathy of his many friends in the trade in the serious illness of his father, Joshua Lippincott Shoemaker, of Philadelphia, who at this writing is not expected to recover. Mr. Shoemaker returned only a few days ago from Philadelphia, where his father has been in a hospital for several weeks. Mr. Shoemaker, Sr., is sixty-four years of age and has long been prominent in the business affairs of Philadelphia.

Mr. Shoemaker has been finding his special exercise this Summer in rowing on the Charles River and in this especial field of sport he is winning laurels fast. Lately he had been qualifying so as to enter some of the events of the National Regatta to be pulled off soon at Philadelphia, but he has practically decided not to participate in any of the races in that city.

Herbert L. Royer Visits New York

Herbert L. Royer, of the Bay State Music Corp., the distributor of the Odeon records, was over in New York a while ago visiting the quarters of the General Phonograph Corp. While there he also went over to Philadelphia, where he had a conference with the officials of the King-O-Tone Phonograph Co., whose line Mr. Royer also carries.

M. Steinert Sons Co. Store Remodeled

The Lowell branch of the M. Steinert Sons Co. has been entirely remodeled and is now one of the most complete and handsome music establishments in this section of New England. The store has an advantageous location at 130 Merrimack street and consists of a spacious main floor and basement.

The Victor talking machine and record department is located on the main floor. The record department is well toward the front of the store and adjoining this there are six sound-proof record demonstration booths. The entire room is finished in old ivory. The piano department is in the basement, where the several lines of fine instruments handled by the concern are on display. The store is in charge of W. Blake Irvine, who has had a wide merchandising experience.

Fire in Miller's Damages Stock

On the night of July 27 the Henry F. Miller Co.'s Boylston street warerooms suffered a fire which entailed a loss of $50,000. On the second floor Walter Gillis has his large stock of Victor goods, which suffered somewhat from smoke. In the fire sale subsequently advertised talking machines were included.

A Visitor From St. Louis

A recent visitor to Boston was Sydney Baer, of Stix, Baer & Fuller, one of the largest establishments of St. Louis carrying the Victor line. Mr. Baer made his headquarters while here with the M. Steinert & Sons Co.

New Columbia Store

A new Columbia store has been opened at East Weymouth, which is operated by Edward E.

KRAFT-BATES AND SPENCER INC.
NEW ENGLAND DISTRIBUTORS

Brunswick
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

The Phonograph Found Where Good Taste Predominates

The satisfaction derived from handling Brunswick Phonographs and Records is twofold.

For it not only means offering your trade a line of admitted leadership, but one which also proves most profitable to you.

Fewer Brunswick dealers mean less competition in handling the business created by Brunswick unsurpassed national advertising.

Kraft, Bates & Spencer Inc.
1265 Boylston Street
BOSTON, MASS.

New England Distributors

Steel Needles Albums
Record Brushes
Khaki Covers

Nash, at 260 Broad street. The quarters are equipped with two beautiful demonstration rooms.

Geo. A. Dodge Candidate for Legislature

Boston newspapers recently carried a story that George A. Dodge, of the Eastern Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor of this city, had been mentioned as a candidate for the Massachusetts State Legislature. Mr. Dodge is very well and favorably known throughout Boston and vicinity. At one time he built and since has rebuilt several times Paragon Park, which is described as a million-dollar property, and kept the management of it until several years ago. It is stated that Mr. Dodge owns and conducts the Hotel Pemberton and Pemberton Inn. He has also been responsible for the rapid growth of the city of Hull, Mass., and has several times been urged to represent this city, which he has previously declined. Although declining this as a political honor Mr. Dodge has been approached by his fellow-citizens and urged to accept the nomination as a civic duty, which he finally did.

A Striking Victor Window

In the remodeled Tremont Talking Machine Store, which is now operated by the Iver Johnson Sporting Goods Co., which recently acquired the business, there is one window given over to the Victor products, and its artistic arrangement is attracting any amount of attention. All of the second floor of the store is devoted to handling the Victor line.

C. O. Giles, traveling representative of the General Phonograph Corp., has been in Boston for more than a week and while here was in frequent conference with Herbert L. Royer, of the Bay State Music Corp.

Assistant Manager G. P. Donnelly, of the Columbia headquarters, is back from Portland, Me., where he spent nearly a fortnight familiarizing himself with business conditions and renewing acquaintance with the dealers.

Miss Martha Candage, of the F. C. Henderson Co., in Boylston street, has just returned from a month's trip to Chicago, which she and her mother and sister took by automobile. At one place in Indiana the three women traveled nearly 150 miles by moonlight over the prairie roads.

Open New Broadcasting Station

One of the largest radio broadcasting stations in New England has been opened by Edwin C. Louis, Inc., 121 Federal street. Elaborate ceremonies marked the formal opening of the station, the feature of which was an address by Mayor Curley. The company plans to hold weekly radio concerts.

The Shepard Stores are also planning to open

EASTERN SERVICE

NEW ENGLAND SERVICE FOR NEW ENGLAND DEALERS

Join the Eastern Family

and enjoy the exceptional service which our efficient organization is rendering to New England dealers.

Victor Wholesalers Exclusively

85
ESSEX
ST.

THE EASTERN TALKING MACHINE CO.

BOSTON
MASS.

VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS

a large broadcasting station in the near future from which nightly programs will be sent.

Vacations in the Hub

Ernest A. Cressey, of the C. C. Harvey Co., is spending his vacation at Jackson, N. H., whither he motored with Mrs. Cressey. Winthrop A. Harvey, head of this same house, has been on several cruising trips along the New England coast during the month, the last one being to Block Island and subsequently into Maine waters. A look at Mr. Harvey and one would know he'd been on the briny deep.

Herman N. Baker, of the A. M. Hume Co., Victor and Cheney distributor, spent a part of July at Brookfield, Conn., where he had his family with him.

Joseph T. Sayward, of the M. Steinert & Sons Co., with Mrs. Sayward, has been at Kennebunkport, Me., where they spent an enjoyable several weeks.

In Field for State Senator

Henry L. Kincaide, the music merchant of Quincy, who carries a large line of talking machines, is in the field for State Senator. Mr. Kincaide does business under the firm name of Henry L. C. Kincaide & Co. and his house is one of the best-known in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Conway to Europe

E. E. Conway, president of the Hallet & Davis Co., and Mrs. Conway and their two daughters, Miss Virginia and Miss Janet Conway, sailed for Europe on July 21 by the steamship "Scythia." Mr. Conway's associates in the home office made his departure especially pleasant through the gift of flowers and other remembrances, due appreciation of which was subsequently expressed through the medium of a radio message which he sent back when the ship was out at sea. This is the first real vacation Mr. Conway has taken in several years.

Discuss Business Conditions

Kenneth Reed, manager of the wholesale Victor department at the M. Steinert & Sons establishment, reports that business is moving along

(Continued on page 86)

"Perfection" Edison Attachments and "Perfection" Reproducers

The "Perfection" Flexi-Tone Edison Attachment (No. 4 and No. 7) as illustrated, attached to all types of Edison Disc Machines, makes the most perfect attachment available for playing all makes of lateral cut records requiring steel, tungstone or fibre needles. Only first quality mica diaphragms used in "Perfection" reproducers, giving clear, natural tone. The horizontal ball-joint and direct uplift construction give freedom of movement so that attachment may be used with or without lever, giving excellent results.

Retail price $9.00 Gold. $8.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Pur-I-Tone Edison Attachment (No. 6 Universal) plays All makes of records on New Edison Disc Machine.

Retail price $10.00 Gold. $9.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Edison Attachment (No. 4 and No. 2) plays all makes lateral cut records on New Edison Disc Machine.

Retail price $7.00 Gold or Nickel.

The "Perfection" Pur-I-Tone Reproducers to play all makes hill and dale records on Victor Machines.

Retail Price $6.00 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Flexi-Tone Reproducers to play all makes lateral cut records on Victor and Columbia Machines.

Retail Price $6.00 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

The "Perfection" Pur-I-Tone Reproducers to play all makes hill and dale records on Columbia Machines.

Retail price $6.50 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

NOTE—Special Discounts to Dealers, also Quantity Prices on Request

New England Talking Machine Co. 16-18 Beach St., Boston, Mass.

Your plans for this season, no doubt, include an exhibit at the Fair or Chautauqua. See the Columbia Dealer Service Man. He can help you with ideas and provide the necessary advertising, displays and novelties.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

THE TRADE IN BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND—(Continued from page 85)

about as one would expect in mid-Summer and as for the demand for records he adds that about 80 per cent of the call is confined to a dozen popular numbers. He adds that there are a number of requests for "Shuffle Along," now playing in Boston, and these numbers will shortly be on sale here. Mr. Reed is not planning to take any extended vacation this Summer, contenting himself with spending long weekends at his Summer home on Cape Cod, where he divides his time between golf and fishing, and in the latter field he is getting to be as good a story teller as the rest of these alleged fishermen.

WALSH & HINES IN NEW HOME

Brunswick Dealer Moves to Larger Quarters as a Result of Business Expansion

WALTHAM, MASS., August 5.—A rapid business growth is emphasized by the recent removal of the firm of Walsh & Hines to 265 Moody street. The firm, which is composed of V. S. Walsh and G. A. Hines, opened a studio in an upstairs room at the corner of Moody and Walnut streets May 1 of this year, handling Brunswick phonographs and records. Their volume of business since that time has grown to such proportions that more room was necessary. In addition to Brunswick phonographs a line of Hallet & Davis pianos is carried in stock, as well as sheet music and player rolls.

HALLET & DAVIS PUBLICITY MAN

James A. Mango Appointed Publicity Manager of Hallet & Davis Piano Co.

BOSTON, MASS., August 5.—James A. Mango, who is now the publicity manager of the Hallet

James A. Mango

& Davis Co., bids fair to do his share toward bringing the products of this company to the fore, for he is a man of ideas which in print are well expressed, as witness his excellent work in the Hallet & Davis Salesman, the third issue of which is now out. Mr. Mango comes from the Middle West, is a man of studious mien, always eager to acquire such a fund of knowledge as will prove of value in lines of publicity exploitation, and can talk as fluently and interestingly as he can write.

ADVERTISING PRODUCES SALES

The Winograd Music Store, progressive Columbia dealer at New Bedford, Mass., recently decided to use advertising in a New Bedford Portuguese paper. This advertising produced splendid results, and several sales of Grafonolas were closed as a direct result of the campaign. Among the inquiries received was one from Santa Cruz, Mex., which developed into a sale.

The Letter Tells the Tale

OPEN STORE IN FITCHBURG

On August 1 the Iver Johnson Co. opened a new store in Fitchburg following a purchase of the Victor stock heretofore carried by Nichols & Frost, a large department store of that city. The new store is at 466 Main street, which is a very central location and there is every indication that good business will be maintained right along.

MILLER CO. OPENS BRANCH STORE

WEST CHESTER, PA., August 7.—The Miller Piano Co., of Coatesville, Pa., is planning to open a music store here. In addition to the line of pianos which the company handles, Victor talking machines and records will be stocked, the company having purchased the Victrola agency of George J. Palmer.

PHONOGRAPH AND PIANO ACCESSORIES

Manufacturers

LANSING KHAKI COVERS

The Pioneer Moving Cover

SLIP AND RUBBER COVERS FOR PHONOGRAPHS AND PIANOS

Distributors

Bradley and Plymouth Portable Machines	Piano Benches
All-in-One Reproducers	Piano Stools
Nyacco Record Albums	Piano Chairs
Universal Fixtures	Piano Scarfs
Victrolene Polish	Player Benches
Jones Motrolas	Music Cabinets
Hall Fiber Needles	Lesley's Patching
Steel Needles	Outfits
Sapphires

The Electora for the Player Piano

TRY OUR SERVICE!

Lansing
SALES CO.

170 Harrison Avenue

BOSTON, 11, MASS.

An Antidote for Summer Dullness
IS FOUND IN
"LONG QUALITY" CABINETS
"PEERLESS" ALBUMS

They are both good all-year-'round sellers. If you do not already carry these lines, write today to

L. W. HOUGH

New England Representative
20 SUDBURY STREET BOSTON, MASS.

ANNOUNCEMENT

An open letter to

Talking Machine Dealers

Since the appearance of our first National advertising May 27th, in the "Saturday Evening Post," we have received many letters from talking machine dealers regarding our line, due no doubt to the fact that we have a Nationally priced line, Nationally advertised. They have all asked us this question:

"CAN A SUCCESSFUL TALKING-MACHINE STORE SELL PLAYER-PIANOS AND REPRODUCING PIANOS, AND WHAT IS THE BEST WAY TO GET STARTED THIS FALL?"

We have hesitated urging these men to enter the piano business. We did not know ourselves what to recommend. So we had our salesmen and company officers study this question, with the following results.

Any responsible talking-machine dealer in open territory will be given the same consideration by us as a piano dealer. Any responsible talking-machine dealer who will agree to use the selling plans we have worked out and proven to be right will be offered the Hallet & Davis franchise in his territory.

The only requirement that we insist on is that you have been a success with talking machines. If you have been successful we want to talk to you personally either in your office or at our New York or Boston offices, regarding the Angelus Reproducing Piano with its exclusive Artrio Library and a list of such artists as Bauer, Zeisler, Paderewski, Hofmann, Gabrilowitsch and Lhevinne. And the Virtuolo Player-Piano which is popularly priced.

Both of these lines are being advertised Nationally in the finest women's magazines and in big city newspapers. Both have an organization back of them equipped with experience, money and exceptional advertising and selling ability.

Territories are being closed every week. Our salesmen will be on the road all Summer and Fall. If you want to add one of the best profit-making lines in this country and obtain the Hallet & Davis franchise, we suggest that you write or wire us immediately.

HALLET & DAVIS PIANO CO.

146 Boylston Street

Boston, Mass.

SAINT LOUIS

Dealers Expect Start of Fall Revival This Month—Record Demand Holds Up—Favorable Federal Reserve Report—Month's News

St. Louis, Mo., August 7.—There has not been an overwhelming improvement in the talking machine business in St. Louis since this time last month, but conditions are as favorable as can be expected at the peak of a Summer that has been unusually hot. But August is looked upon as the open door to Autumn and dealers are beginning to bestir themselves in anticipation of the beginning of an improvement that is confidently expected to become steadily more marked as the season advances.

The record business has held up steadily through the Summer. In some quarters there has been a marked improvement in the record demand during the past month. Manager Hosier, of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney talking machine department, who is one of the men reporting this improvement, says the bulk of it has been in high-class records.

Cheery Federal Reserve Report

On general business conditions in the St. Louis trade territory, William McC. Martin, Chairman of the Board of Federal Reserve District No. 8, has this to say in his monthly report:

"In a majority of instances reports to this bank by leading interests in all lines scattered through the district indicate further improvement in business during the past thirty days. The rate of progress was somewhat less marked than during the preceding month, and in certain localities and industries a slight reaction from the recent activity was noted. The usual seasonal slowing down in production and distribution of certain commodities was emphasized by labor difficulties, and in the areas directly affected by strikes the retail branch of trade reflected the money losses involved in stoppage of operations and workers' pay. In those localities there is decided hesitation on the part of merchants in the matter of filling their requirements for goods of all sorts.

"On the other hand defections from the list of employed, due to the strikes, were in a large measure counterbalanced by the augmented pay rolls of industries which have increased their operations, and by the enormous absorption of workers by harvesting and other agricultural activities. For the first time in many months there has developed a scarcity of laborers, both common and skilled, and the trend of wages is upward. This is true particularly of the iron and steel and building industries. Labor agencies report an unusual demand for skilled artisans and are unable to supply all the requests made upon them for common labor. Generally throughout the district farmers have been able to obtain all the help required and are paying about the same wages as at this time last year."

Ill Health Forces Vacation on F. J. Ennis

F. J. Ennis, manager of the talking machine department of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co., has been compelled by a break-down in health to take a vacation and has gone East. In his absence the department is looked after by Miss Helen Hatfield, the assistant manager. Improvements which had been planned are being made, including the installation of additional record racks and washed air ventilation.

Tri-State Victor Dealers Meet

The Tri-State Victrola Dealers' Association held a most enjoyable mid-Summer meeting recently at the Century Boat Club, a delightfully cool spot on the Mississippi River. The meeting was called solely for pleasure and not for business. T. H. Maetten presided. The chief talk of the evening, given at the end of the dinner, was that of T. L. Husselton, of the Victor traveling staff. He discoursed in an interesting manner on tungs-tone needles and the console Victrola. Besides the ability to tell things well, Mr. Husselton possesses a remarkably fine voice and much of the pleasure of the evening was due to his vocal numbers.

Miss A. Clayton in New Post

Miss Anna Clayton, formerly in charge of the Victor record department of the T. E. Clark Music Co., of Cape Girardeau, Mo., is now in charge of the new Victrola store of Grinnell Bros., of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Activities

A. W. Hosier, manager of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Victrola department, is enjoying a visit from his father, whose home is in Kansas City.

Miss Rosebrough, manager of the Victor educational department, has returned from a vacation. Miss Ella Marklin and Miss Miriam Wasserman, of the talking machine department, also have returned from vacations.

Opens Foreign Record Department

A Victor foreign record department was opened this month by Manager J. F. Ditzell, of the Famous & Barr Co.'s talking machine department. The opening order was one of the largest ever placed with the Chicago Talking Machine Co. Language records of Germany and other of the principal European nations are stocked. Letters have been received by Manager Ditzell from the foreign consuls thanking him for the opportunity that is given for obtaining the foreign language records. The response on the opening days was beyond the greatest expectations. The department is in charge of Miss Elizabeth Swimmer.

Interesting News Brieflets

The Kieselhorst Piano Co. has received the first shipment of Zenith radio outfits, for which it has taken the agency.

Miss Marian R. Fox, of the Silverstone Music Co., has been spending a three weeks' vacation in the Ozarks. Miss Vivian Dewes has returned from a vacation trip.

Among the Edison dealers who have lately

Improve Your Service AND Increase Your Sales

By Equipping With The OGDEN "UNIT" or Sectional System

which has been used by thousands of dealers for the past six years and "Sold" to all on our UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION, QUALITY AND PRICE.

Model No. 1 and No. 31 Sectional Cabinet

FILES YOUR RECORDS so you can find them for QUICK SALE and SERVICE. Fits any space and Stock. Visible Tab Indexes locate every Record Instantly. $14.00 per 1,000.

ORDER PORTABLE VICTROLAS NOW

and be ready to "Tie Up" with National Advertising and "Cash In" this opportunity for an extra profit by Selling

OGDEN STAND YOU-NITS

For the Portable Victrola No. 50, Also No. IV and No. VI

Don't wait but be ready and go after the Summer Business with a VICTROLA-STAND OUTFIT for Sea Shore or Camp,—Town and Country, with Music for every Occasion.

Order a Stand for every Portable Victrola (to Match) and we will Guarantee the Sale if only Displayed and Advertised.

Positively Rigid and Strong

Matches the Victrola in Material, Finish and Design. If your Jobber does not have Stock order direct and we will deliver them FREE.

Improved Model No. 50a is a dandy.

Delivered $7.00 each

Write for New Catalogue and Cuts free.

OGDEN SECTIONAL CABINET CO., Inc. LYNCHBURG, VA.

Weight, each, 10 lbs. Packed in a Portable Carrying Case.

Six Pieces Assembled or "Packed Down" as a Record Carrier in Five Minutes

visited the Silverstone Music Co. were Frank Sigman, Flat River, Mo.; C. J. Jacoby and E. L. Jacoby, Alton, Ill., and R. N. Monaghan, Gillespie, Ill.

T. W. Maetten, manager of the talking machine department of the Kieselhorst Piano Co., and secretary of the Tri-State Victor Dealers' Association, has returned from a trip to Chicago.

A. L. Bruner, a Brunswick dealer of Rock Island, Ill., recently visited St. Louis on a motor trip.

Miss Golda Airy, of the Koerber-Brenner Co., Victor distributor, has returned from a three weeks' vacation which she spent at the Lakes.

Announces New Columbia Agency

The local branch of the Columbia Grafonola Co. announces that the Nokomis Music House, of Nokomis, Ill., has recently opened with a complete line of Columbia Grafonolas and records. Fred L. Crumbaugh, who has had broad experience in musical lines, is the manager.

Miss Florence E. Hazlett, of the educational department of the Columbia Graphophone Co., New York City, gave a demonstration of "How to learn to appreciate music," on the campus of the University of Arkansas, at Fayetteville, Ark. Miss Hazlett was well received by the public, and the demonstration was a complete success.

Y. H. Helwig is now the city salesman for the local branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co. Mr. Helwig succeeds E. O. Melcher, resigned, and is a man of broad sales experience.

NEW MUSIC DIRECTOR OF STARR CO.

Thomas Griselle was recently appointed musical director for the Gennett recording laboratories of the Starr Piano Co., Thirty-seventh street, New York City. Mr. Griselle was formerly assistant to Pietro Florida, who resigned to devote his time to teaching and composing.

Should be on Every

Phonograph and Player Piano

Beautifully finished in Nickel or Gold

It applies perfectly to every phonograph and player piano, no instrument is complete without it.

For phonographs this light makes cumbersome operations easy and simple in darkest corners where phonographs are usually placed. It prevents scratching of records and makes setting of automatic stop positive and simple.

For player pianos it is indispensable, gives an abundance of illumination for singing or inserting music rolls.

Easily and quickly attached, comes complete ready for use, no electricity or wiring necessary.

RECORD FLASHERS last indefinitely and are fully guaranteed. Batteries last from 6 to 12 months in service. Renewals can be had at 75 cents.

Prices { Nickel Plated with Battery - - $3.00
Gold " " " - - 3.75

Special Discounts to Dealers and Manufacturers
Write for descriptive circular

Standard Accessory Corporation

Sole Manufacturers and Patentees

1015 Third St. Milwaukee, Wis.

DEATH OF DR. ALEXANDER G. BELL

Famous Inventor of the Telephone, Who Was Also Associated With the Development of the Graphophone, Passes Away in Nova Scotia

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and who, in association with his brother, Dr. Chichester A. Bell, and Sumner Taintor, is credited with making possible the commercial success of the talking machine industry in its early days, died at his Summer home near Baddeck, N. S., on August 2. Dr. Bell celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday on March 3 of this year and although his health has not been of the best for some time his death when it came was unexpected.

Dr. Bell's basic patent on the telephone, granted March 17, 1876, is said to be the most valuable single patent ever issued, and it is held by many to have marked the greatest forward step in modern civilization. Certainly, from a cold business standpoint, it is doubtful if any single device can equal the telephone for usefulness in its present-day development. Fortunately Dr. Bell lived to witness the full development of his invention.

The talking machine industry is particularly interested in Dr. Bell for his work in association with Chichester A. Bell, his brother, and Sumner Taintor in the sound recording field. The patent, which was issued to C. A. Bell and Mr. Taintor in 1886, is credited with having made possible the commercial success of the graphophone and for that matter of the industry in its early days. Dr. Alexander Bell contributed much to the invention through his intimate knowledge of acoustics. The Bell and Taintor patent had to do with the recording of sounds by the process of engraving on a solid material such as wax or waxlike compositions, and made possible for the first time records that could be removed from the recording machine and handled and replayed many times without detriment.

PUTS WORLD STORY TO GOOD USE

J. M. Callahan, Music Merchant, of Seaside, Ore., Finds Talking Machine World Valuable—Many Letters of Similar Tenor Received

The following letter from J. M. Callahan, proprietor of Callahan's Music Shop, Seaside, Ore., is one of many similar communications received by The World, which indicate that the valuable suggestions and sales ideas embodied in its columns each month are widely read and put to profitable use:

"Gentlemen: I arranged a window display for the week of July 22 to 29 which has drawn a large number of people to my window and has been an aid in selling a large number of Victor Red Seal records by John McCormack. I am going to tell you how I arranged this display, as it can be used by other Victor dealers at a very small cost.

"In the July 15 issue of The World was an article relative to John McCormack singing for a host of friends at his birthday party at his country home near London. I cut out this small news item, placed it on a show window card size 14 x 22 inches, with the following writing in fair-sized lettering: "John McCormack sings in London." "Famous Irish Tenor Sings at Birthday Party." "Come in and hear some of his records." I decorated my window with red crepe paper, on which I neatly arranged about two dozen of McCormack's Red Seal records.

"I have heard many comments since the recent illness of Mr. McCormack as to whether he would ever be able to sing again. The above fact put before the public interests them and is sure to bring them into the store to listen to a few of his records.

"I have found many valuable window display aids in The World and possibly this little suggestion will aid others."

RUDD & RIX BUY KEEFE STOCK

HERKIMER, N. Y., August 7.—Rudd & Rix, exclusive Victrola dealers of this city, recently purchased the entire Victor business of John C. Keefe, a pioneer in the talking machine business here, who intends to devote his time exclusively to the sporting goods business. The firm of Rudd & Rix possesses one of the finest establishments devoted to the sale of talking machines in this part of the State and, due to aggressive merchandising policies, a steady growth has been enjoyed.

NO. 578. UNIVERSAL SELF-SERVICE RECORD DISPLAYOR made to hold 5 swinging leaves, each leaf accommodating three 10" pockets and one 12" pocket. Each pocket holds four records. Total number of records shown is 40 records and holding a reserve stock of 160 records. Height 6 ft. Width 30 in. Weight 125 lbs. Constructed of steel throughout, with heavy cast-iron base and finished in two coats of ebony enamel. Complete.....$35.00

Write for complete catalogue

UNIVERSAL FIXTURE CORP.
133 West 23rd St. New York

OSLAND, Inc.

122 Fifth Avenue, New York City
Alpha Reproducer

Pivot stylus with spring tension

- Radio products
- Variocouplers
- Variometers
- Variable condensers

MANUFACTURED TO SPECIFICATIONS

Hot-dog! Here's a Fox-Trot that will keep 'em dancing 'till the candles burn out. It's "Dancing-Fool," out of which Frank Westphal and His Rainbo Orchestra wring every last spasm of syncopated jubilation. "Serenade Blues," on the other side, is a delightful Fox-Trot arrangement of Schubert's Serenade. It's like dancing in the moonlight. A-3654.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

SAN FRANCISCO

Business Improves Steadily—Optimism for Fall—F. B. Corcoran Ends Trip—Columbia Drive Gaining—Trade Changes—Other News

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., August 4.—Notwithstanding the general feeling of industrial unrest throughout the country, business conditions on the Pacific Coast continue to improve steadily and practically all of the leading talking machine dealers show no hesitation in predicting a normal Fall business. During the Summer business has held up fairly well in all the Coast cities and, while there has been no rush in the interior, this is nothing to worry about, as the hot weather drives a considerable portion of the population to the seashore or mountains and business is naturally sidetracked for a time.

Brunswick Manager Returns From Trip

F. B. Corcoran, manager of the local office of the Brunswick Co., and George Morton, manager of the talking machine department of the White House, have returned from a motor trip through southern California. They were entertained by A. G. Farquharson, secretary of the Music Trades Association of Southern California. Mr. Corcoran says the North has much to learn from the methods employed by the talking machine dealers of the South. "The piano and furniture houses of southern California," remarked Mr. Corcoran, "take the talking machine business more seriously than they do in the Northern section. The business is not considered a side issue, but is given the prominence it deserves in the stores and in advertising. The South is naturally a splendid market for talking machine merchandise, but business could hardly help being good when the trade is so much alive to its opportunities."

Columbia Campaign Gaining Impetus

The latest Columbia campaign engineered by P. S. Kantner, local manager of the Columbia Co., is making good headway, both in the larger cities and in the country. Co-operative advertising in the local press is a telling feature of the selling campaign.

Sherman, Clay Employes on Picnic

The launch ride around the Bay and picnic at Paradise Cove of the employes of Sherman, Clay & Co. this month was a big success, with an attendance of several hundred employes and their families and friends. Billy Morton was chef, as usual, and the committee on arrangements consisted of W. Shaughnessy, Mrs. Alea Rosa and Miss Lillian Bain. A barbecue luncheon was the main gastronomical attraction and dancing the most popular diversion.

Hale Bros. Sell to Nathan-Dohrmann

Hale Bros. are closing out their talking machine department, after having conducted it for several years with varying success. The Victor stock has been sold to the Nathan-Dohrmann Co., which recently opened a new talking machine department, featuring the Blue Bird phonograph and Vocalion records.

F. A. Levy, president of the California Phonograph Co., has been motoring with his family through southern California on a vacation trip.

New Victor Arouses Interest

The trade is much interested in the new No. 111 upright Victor machine which has just been announced. Console types continue very strong also in the general demand and the new models of different makes are marvels of beauty.

Adds Hallet & Davis Phonographs

Clark Wise has just taken on the Hallet & Davis console phonograph and has three beautiful models on display. Special values are given in these machines, the prices ranging from $135 to $250. Clark Wise has long had the local agency for Hallet & Davis pianos.

Vacation Season at Sherman, Clay & Co.

B. R. Scott, assistant wholesale manager of the Victor department of Sherman, Clay & Co., spent his vacation this year at Carmel-by-the-Sea. Billy Morton, manager of the retail talking machine department, has returned from a two weeks' sojourn at Rio Nido. Andrew McCarthy, secretary of the company, is spending the week at Bohemian Grove, on the Russian River, this being the time when the annual jinks of the Bohemian Club take place.

Alterations at Eastern Outfitting Co.

The whole front of the Eastern Outfitting Co., Market street, has been remodeled. The show windows now extend almost to the center of the building and, in consequence, the Columbia department is accorded much more prominent space than heretofore. A large stock of late Columbia models is on display, both in the show windows and in the rear.

Installs Large Radio Stock

Charles Mauzy, manager of the talking machine and radio departments of the Emporium department store, has installed one of the finest stocks of radio receiving sets in the city. Sales in this branch of the business have been very brisk, according to Mr. Mauzy.

Month's News Gleanings

The Wiley B. Allen Co. is putting in a stock of Zenith radio equipment in its talking machine department. There is quite a demand for radio sets installed in console or cabinet phonographs.

J. M. Abrams, manager of the wholesale and retail phonograph departments of Kohler & Chase, has been down the San Joaquin Valley twice recently. He finds the trade giving much attention to the development of modern salesmanship, a fact which is of special importance at this time, when good salesmen are needed badly.

Kohler & Chase, Sherman, Clay & Co. and the Sonora Phonograph Shop all featured "outing" windows last month, with a portable phonograph as the center of attraction.

Hunkins & Linton have opened a piano and talking machine store at Sonora, Cal. Mr. Linton was formerly with the Redwell Music Co., at Turlock. His wide experience in music merchandising will prove valuable in his new venture.

The Pacific Music Co., Modesto, has moved to a beautiful new store, which is most conveniently arranged and exquisitely furnished. R. S. Smith is the proprietor.

The special release of "Sneak," a Victor record from a publication of Sherman, Clay & Co., is announced for August. It is played by the Club Royal Orchestra. The demand for jazz dance records is greater than ever on the Coast and continues to grow.

NEW SHERMAN, CLAY & CO. BRANCH

Will Be Located in Watsonville, Cal.—George B. Marriott in Charge

WATSONVILLE, CAL., July 31.—Sherman, Clay & Co., with headquarters in San Francisco, Cal., are planning to open a retail branch of the business here in the Appleton Hotel Building. This will be a sub-branch of the San Jose establishment and will be under the management of George B. Marriott, widely known in the piano trade throughout the country. Mr. Marriott was connected with Steinway & Sons for seventeen years, both in New York and London.

COTTON FLOCKS

.. FOR ..

Record Manufacturing

THE PECKHAM MFG. CO., 238 South Street, NEWARK, N. J.

THE SHELTON Electric Motor

The "Simplicity" electrifies Victor, Edison and Columbia phonographs by simply taking off winding handle and placing motor against turntable. Automatic switch in motor operated when the turntable is started or stopped. Operating on AC or DC current of 110 volts. Specify type of current when ordering.

SHELTON ELECTRIC CO., 16 East 42nd Street, New York

A Real Musical Instrument for Children

Cabinet—Durable Diamond construction throughout. Made from selected veneers and hardwoods. Built with infinite care by experienced cabinet makers. Height, 24 inches; width, 14 inches; length, 28 inches.

Finish—Enameled in Gray, Blue and Ivory. Washable Finish. Blue or old rose silk grille.

Motor—Heineman motor — cut gears—cast frame—fully guaranteed—removable motor board.

Tonearm—Die cast—nickel plated—Artois reproducer.

Turntable—Special 9-inch felt faced—plays all records, 10-inch or smaller. Particularly adapted to all children's records, including Bubble Books.

List Price, $25.00 each.

Six machines or over,
$15.00 each

Less than six machines,
$16.50 each

The Diamond Juvenile Console Does Three Things:

Diamond Juvenile Furniture

Six pieces—4 chairs, table and hat rack. Juvenile proportions. Durably made. Beautifully enameled and decorated. Makes perfect juvenile booth when installed with the Diamond Console. Fine for window display.

Six Pieces — $17.50
F.O.B. Oswego, N. Y.

Sells Itself—Its ideal proportions, finish and tone instantly win the hearts of youngsters. Strong, practical construction appeals to parents. Gives you generous profit. Six machines cost $90; sell for $150. Profit is $60 on a $90 investment. Repeat orders testify to rapid turnover.

Sells More Juvenile Records—Creates a real child's department and brings children into the store which produces the obvious result on juvenile record sales.

Sells More Regular Records—Children bring parents into the store with them. This is 90% of your battle to sell more regular records.

If you haven't already ordered the Diamond Juvenile Console, write us for full particulars.

The Diamond Products Corporation

Executive Offices and Showrooms:

25 West 43rd Street, New York

Factories: Oswego, N. Y.

Your Feet Won't Keep Still When You Hear—

“SILVER STARS”

Percy Wenrich's New Fox Trot Hit—Hear It Once—Remember It Always

You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song

TALKING MACHINE JOBBERS DISSOLVE ASSOCIATION

Special Meeting of Executive Committee of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers
Results in Recommendation That the Organization Be Disbanded Immediately

The following letter was mailed recently by W. F. Davisson, secretary of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers, to the members of the Association, advising them that at a special meeting of the executive committee it was recommended that the Association immediately dissolve:

“It will come as a surprise to the members of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers and to the trade that the executive committee of the Association, at a special meeting held in July, recommended that the Association immediately dissolve. The reason for this action is that at the convention of the Association in Atlantic City in June, 1922, statements were inadvertently, but innocently, made by several officers of the Association that might be distorted into expressions of policies and views which were not intended by these officers, and are not approved by the members, nor are representative of the Association, nor are in accord with the history or purposes of the Association. Neither the policies, nor the views, nor the history, nor the purposes, nor the acts, nor the intentions of the Association or its officers or members have been in any wise violative of any State or Federal law, or in any wise warrant any such inferences. How to repudiate and deny such inferences from such statements in a manner so unequivocal and positive as to eradicate the impression which they may have created was the question which the executive committee of the Association considered long and carefully. The executive committee finally decided that the good faith of the Association and its members in such repudiation and denial could be most conclusively demonstrated by dissolving the Association.

“Accordingly, by direction of the executive committee of the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers, I enclose two copies of the recitals, recommendation, direction and request of the executive committee, adopted at its special meeting above mentioned, and of the resolution and ballot therein mentioned. Please fill out and sign one copy as your ballot for or against this resolution, and mail it immediately to me.”

The recommendation adopted by the executive committee, embodying the resolution to dissolve, reads as follows:

“WHEREAS, at the convention of National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers, held in Atlantic City in June, 1922, statements were inadvertently, but innocently, made by several officers of the Association that might be distorted into expressions of policies and views which were not intended by said officers, and are not approved by the members, nor are representative of the Association, nor are in accord with the history or purposes of the Association or the acts and intentions of the Association or its members; and

“WHEREAS, neither the policies, nor the views, nor the history, nor the purposes, nor the acts, nor the intentions of the Association or its officers or members have been in any wise violative of any State or Federal law, or in any wise warrant any such inferences; and

“WHEREAS, the executive committee of the Association desires to repudiate and deny such inferences in a manner so unequivocal and positive as to eradicate the impression which they may have created; and

“WHEREAS, in the opinion of the executive committee the good faith of the Association and its members in such repudiation and denial can be most conclusively demonstrated by dissolving the Association;

“NOW, THEREFORE, the executive committee of the Association at a special meeting held in July, 1922, hereby recommends that the following resolution be adopted, and that the Association be immediately dissolved, and hereby directs the secretary of the Association to mail to each member of the Association a copy of the above recitals and recommendation and of the following resolution, and hereby requests each member to mail immediately to the secretary a ballot for or against the following resolution, which ballot shall be in substantially the following form and signed by such member:

“The undersigned acknowledge receipt of a copy of the recitals, recommendation, direction and request of the executive committee of National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers, adopted at a special meeting held in July, 1922, and the undersigned hereby vote [for or against] the following resolution:

“RESOLVED, that National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers and its members hereby adopt the recitals and approve the recommendation, direction and request above-mentioned of the committee and hereby dissolve said Association and hereby authorize the executive committee, out of the funds in the Association's treasury, to liquidate all the financial obligations of the Association, and to refund pro rata to each former member of the Association any surplus remaining, or to assess and collect pro rata from each former member of the Association, in lieu of any future dues, such sums as shall be necessary to complete said liquidation (not exceeding, however, $50 from each member), and hereby authorize the executive committee, or any sub-committee or legal counsel acting under its direction, to take all appropriate steps for the purpose of carrying out this resolution.”

The official tabulation of the ballots for or against this resolution has not yet been announced, but the ballots already received indicate that there will be an overwhelming majority in favor of accepting the recommendation of the executive committee and, in fact, ballots received to date are almost unanimously in favor of the dissolution of the Association.

Gilbert H. Montague, 40 Wall street, New York, legal adviser to the National Association of Talking Machine Jobbers, stated to a representative of The World that there was nothing additional to be said at this time regarding the recommendation of the executive committee, and that the recommendation and resolution spoke for itself.

A company is judged by the men it keeps.

REGAL

PREDOMINATES

IN THE

50¢ RECORD FIELD

Main-Springs

For any Phonograph Motor
Best Tempered Steel

	Each
$\frac{3}{16}$ inch x 10 feet for all small motors.....	\$.30
1 " " x 10 " " Pathe, Columbia, Heineman.....	.35
1 " " x 10 " " Columbia.....	.40
1 " " x 11 " " Columbia with hooks.....	.50
1 " " x 13 " " Victor, old style.....	.45
1 " " x 15 " " Victor, new style.....	.50
1 1/4 " " x 18 " " Victor, new or old style.....	.70
1 " " x 12 " " Heineman and Pathe.....	.45
1 " " x 10 " " Saal, Silvertone, Krasberg.....	.45
1 " " x 13 " " Saal, Silvertone, Brunswick.....	.50
1 " " x 16 " " Sonora, Brunswick, Saal.....	.60
1 3/16 " " x 18 " " Heineman and Pathe.....	.75
1 1/2 " " x 25 " " Edison Disc.....	1.50

SAPPHIRES—GENUINE

Pathe, very loud tone, each 15c, 100 lots $11.00.
Edison Loud-tone, each 15c; in 100 lots, $11.50.

TONE-ARMS

The very best, loud and clear, throw-back.....$4.50
With large reproducer, very loud, Universal..... 4.00
With smaller reproducer, but loud and clear..... 2.50

PHONOGRAPH NEEDLES

We can give you best price on Brillantone, Magnedo, Wall-Kane, Tonofone, Nupoint, Gilt Edge, Incas and Velvotone Needles.

ORDER RIGHT FROM THIS AD

Send for price list of other repair parts and motors.
Terms—F. O. E. St. Louis, Mo. Send enough to cover postage or goods will be shipped by express.

The Val's Accessory House
1000-1002 Pine St. St. Louis, Mo.

The Player-Tone

IT'S SIMPLY GREAT

No Better Tone Instrument In the World

—PRICE—

Will Sell Phonographs Today And We Have It

Every Player-Tone phonograph is exceptionally good, with the house back of it for years.

Player-Tone phonographs are masterful in their perfection of high grade cabinet work, exquisitely finished by skilled workmen, and when you sell one of these perfect tone producing instruments, you prepare the way for another Player-Tone sale.

The more closely you analyze our high grade construction, combined with perfect tone quality, the more fully will you realize its unqualified value.

Write us for dealers' proposition.
It will pay you.

Player-Tone Talking Machine Co.

Office and Salesrooms

967 Liberty Avenue Pittsburgh, Pa.

$65.00
Model 551
Mahogany Only

$75.00
Model 601
Mahogany Only

$85.00
Model 701
Mahogany Only

$100.00
Model 801
Mahogany Only

EMERSON
Model 40
All gold equipment,
with 5 record filing
albums. $150.00

$150.00
Model 901
All Gold Equipment

$75.00
Model 310
Oak or Mahogany

$90.00
Model 311
Oak or Mahogany

$110.00
Model 314
Oak, Mahogany or Walnut

$125.00
Model 316
Oak or Mahogany

EMERSON
Model 30
All gold equipment,
with 5 record filing
albums. $135.00

Permanency—In Wareroom Equipment and the Organization Behind It

In years to come when moving or expanding will the builder be in business to make good?

Van Veen & Company have been preaching the economy of honest and efficient construction for fourteen years and it is conceded by the trade that the patented double construction hearing rooms and musical merchandise selling equipment built by Van Veen & Company fulfill every claim made for them by the builders.

In buying your installation, let price and quality be guaranteed by the responsibility of a house of old and established reputation.

You expect to stay in business; Van Veen & Company build equipment that will stay in business with you.

Write for Catalogue. If you want immediate action our representative will call

We have equipment ready for immediate shipment

VAN VEEN & COMPANY, Inc. 413-417 E. 109th St., New York City

Phone 7758 Harlem

Offices and Warerooms

HICKEY'S FINE NEW STORE OPENED

Remodeled Establishment of Hickey's Lyceum Music Store, Ithaca, N. Y., One of the Finest in the State—Artistic Victor Department

ITHACA, N. Y., August 7.—Hickey's Lyceum Music Store, 105-111 S. Cayuga street, this city, following extensive alterations and the installation of the most modern equipment, is one of the finest and best arranged music establishments in the State. A disastrous fire about a year ago made the remodeling necessary and Joseph F. Hickey, proprietor of the business, which has been in existence for approximately thirty years, spared no expense to make the store a model of its kind.

Hickey's Lyceum Music Store

Everything in music is handled, including Victor talking machines and records, pianos, musical merchandise of all kinds and sheet music, and each line has its own specially equipped department. The Victrola department is one of a number of features of the complete establishment. An unusually artistic arrangement of stock and furnishings makes this department an inviting place for the shoppers of the city to visit for records and machines. A number of sound-proof record demonstration booths, together with a large stock of Victrolas and a complete Victor record library, insures patrons of a wide selection to choose from.

The Record Department

In connection with the opening of the remodeled store a rather clever business and goodwill building stunt was put into effect. A number of small booklets were printed in which were illustrated the various departments of the store. Accompanying the illustrations, the many lines featured in these departments were described and in diplomatic language patrons were invited to inspect the departments. These booklets were sent to all customers and prospects.

Artistic Victor Department

THE EVIL OF PRICE CUTTING

M. Wulpi Says Price Cutting Demoralizes Business, Destroys Reputation of High-grade Goods and Good Will and Restricts Sales

M. Wulpi, commissioner of the National Veneer and Panel Manufacturers' Association and well-known in the music trade, in a circular letter, recently sent out, entitled "Price Cutting Is All Right—But," remarks:

"On this subject the American Fair Trade League, in a recent flyer, says:

"The profiteering price cutter ruins the reputation of high-grade goods and destroys the good will of the makers, thus stealing both purse and good name in one operation. He advertises standard goods at a loss and then seeks to persuade the public to accept substitutes on which he makes money. He demoralizes the price and the product. He forces other dealers to follow his lead or refuse to handle the article. He restricts sales and lessens distribution. His unfair practices leave the manufacturer helpless to protect his business, into which he has put his name, his labor and his money.

"The profiteering price cutter drives the small distributor to the wall by the worst form of illegitimate competition. He destroys competition by the very practices the anti-trust laws were intended to prevent. He is the cut-throat competitor who is everywhere and always the forerunner of monopoly. He is a restrainer of trade and a lessener of competition. He robs the neighborhoods of their corner stores, which can give best service under fair competition. He shouts for a free market where, in a jungle war, his unscrupulous tactics may give him a stranglehold on business."

"When all is said and done, is there not a 'whole lot' of truth in this? All have heard Maud Mueller's 'It might have been.' The price cutter generally can soliloquize and say, 'I might have won doing so—if my creditors had not come in on me and the sheriff hung up his crepe.' The average price cutter in business not only confiscates what little cash he got together by hook or crook, but that of his stockholders as well, not to speak of the loss to his co-workers and their families—when his funeral comes off—and it generally does, but is a demoralizer and creates loss to manufacturers who endeavor to play the game square. Can and will his ashes 'rest in peace'?"

Okéh Records

OUTING PORTABLES

GRANBY PHONOGRAPHS

MASTER TONE

TALKING MACHINES

NEEDLES

Okéh — Truetone — Wall-Kane
Tonofone — Gilt Edge

Delivery Bags, Accessories, etc.

Complete Stocks—Prompt Service

IROQUOIS SALES CORPORATION
Wholesale Distributors
210 Franklin St. BUFFALO, N. Y.

BETTER TRADE IN MEMPHIS

Good Crops Stimulate Buying—Bright Outlook for Fall—Activities of the Trade

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 7.—The talking machine business here has been very good during the past month despite the ill effects of the railroad strike which are being felt generally in all lines of business. Good crops throughout the entire South have been mainly responsible for the brisk trade and conditions now point to an excellent Fall business.

Remodeling of the Peabody Hotel Building is about to be started and the Reinhardt's, Inc., music store will be moved one door north of its present location in that building as a result.

The Hessig-Ellis Drug Co., distributor of the Sonora line, recently took over the Sonora wholesale interest of the Bond Hardware Co., at Little Rock, Ark.

The Leo Kahn Furniture Co., which features the Columbia line of Grafonolas, has made extensive improvements in its phonograph department on the main floor of the establishment.

C. L. Wainwright has rejoined the Armstrong Furniture Co., talking machine and furniture dealer of this city.

Reid's Music Shop, at Brownsville, Tenn., has purchased the music department of Felsenthal Sons, Edison dealer.

TRIBUTE TO W. C. DAUMUELLER

On Occasion of Twentieth Anniversary of Existence of Business

LEBANON, ILL., August 7.—The Advertiser, a local paper of this city devoted a column recently to W. C. Daumueller, music dealer, who has a flourishing Victrola department, on the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the business.

Miss E. Heumann, who is now in charge of the Victrola department, assisted in the Junior Chautauqua this year, which consisted entirely of music appreciation and music memory contests with the use of the Victrola. Miss Heumann will continue the work with the children at the store during the Summer months.

NEW VICTOR RECORD BAGS

CAMDEN, N. J., August 7.—Victor wholesalers throughout the country are now prepared to supply dealers with the new record envelopes designed by the Victor Talking Machine Co., according to an announcement made at the headquarters here. The new bags have the advantage over others used for holding records because of their superior strength and finish. A variety of attractive lithographs have been secured by the company for the exterior finish of the envelopes.

HENRY S. DORAN CO. IN NEW HOME

DETROIT, MICH., August 4.—The Henry S. Doran Co., well-known Victor dealer of this city, has moved from the quarters on Michigan avenue to 1416 Washington avenue. Before moving into the new store complete alterations were made and this is now one of the finest talking machine establishments in the city.

W. P. MANNING HONORED

W. P. Manning, prominent Columbia dealer, of Augusta, Ga., was recently elected State Commissioner for Georgia for the National Association of Music Merchants.

To Your Public, Trained in Quality—

The people you sell are people of discrimination; they are customers who appreciate the finer things of life; they are lovers of music; and ever since musical instruments first came on earth they have been things of beauty, adorned with all the craftsmanship and skill their makers could summon.

To this public, trained in quality, you are now offering the added joy of Radio, and the wise music dealer is offering it not through an apparatus which compares unfavorably with the other beautiful musical instruments in his stock, but with the finest, most beautifully finished equipment — the De Forest apparatus, which is not only famous for dependability, but also famous for beauty of line, finish, and the utmost attention to the smallest refinements in manufacture.

The more the talking machine dealer knows about Radio—the more he knows about a beautiful instrument—the more sure he is to prefer De Forest.

Such a wise choice finds its echo in success—for the De Forest dealer is in business to stay, backed by the name whose reputation is your customer's assurance of satisfaction.

DE FOREST RADIO TEL. & TEL. CO.
Jersey City, N. J.

MOTORS

(Swiss)

DOUBLE SPRING

Suitable for Portable Phonographs

Stock On Hand, Ready For Delivery

Sample $3.75—Write for One

MERMOD & CO., 874 Broadway
N. Y.

De Forest

NO DOUBT AS TO THE PERMANENCY OF THE INDUSTRY

Geo. W. Lyle Gives Reasons Why the Members of the Talking Machine Trade Should Be Optimistic Regarding Its Future—Will Last as Long as Music Maintains Its Appeal

Geo. W. Lyle, president of the Manufacturers Phonograph Co., New York, manufacturer of the Strand phonograph, and one of the recognized veterans of the talking machine industry with over twenty years' experience to his credit, in a recent chat with The World made deductions and predictions regarding the general outlook for business that carry with them the weight of knowledge. In the past two decades Mr. Lyle has become familiar with every phase of the talking machine industry and from coast to coast he has won the friendship and esteem of talking machine dealers.

When he introduced the Strand phonograph last Fall, at a time when the talking machine trade was in a state of uncertainty, it was freely predicted that the venture would be unsuccessful. However, Mr. Lyle proved otherwise and the Manufacturers Phonograph Co. is recognized to-day as permanently established in the ranks of successful talking machine manufacturers. The company has appointed representatives in practically every important trade center in the country and Strand dealers everywhere are enthusiastic regarding the sales value of the product, the results they have already attained and the outlook for the future.

After emphasizing the fact that he is not a professional optimist but an optimist by analysis, Mr. Lyle stated as follows: "I am fully convinced that no one need have any doubt as to the soundness and permanency of the talking machine business. Just as long as people have ears, and as long as quality music appeals, phonographs will be in high standing and in active demand. The question is, however, who is going to do the business, for it is going to be done by somebody. A considerable measure of the pessimism and demoralization in our industry may be attributed to liquidation sales as much as anything else, and we have been watching closely all of these liquidation sales by department stores and others. We saw them coming when we put out the first Strand phonograph. Therefore, they have not in any way changed our belief that the dealer who is a merchant, and who is in this business because he likes and understands it, can turn over, even in the slowest part of this unnatural season, merchandise that is really high grade and low-list priced, if it still carries the margin of profit that covers the increased cost of doing business and the inevitable cost of instalment methods.

"We seek our market among those many thousands of dealers who know phonograph and furniture quality, who have a fairly clear idea of the trend of design, and who care a good deal for tone and price. We seek our Strand market among those dealers who didn't fall into the phonograph business, but entered it as we did, after careful consideration, and are building for the future."

George W. Lyle

The Season's Creation

NEW MODEL
(Pat)

S. S. STEWART MANDO-UKULELE

Genuine mahogany, 10 ribs, inlaid edge and sound hole with black and white celluloid extension rosewood veneered finger board, German silver frets, Rosewood pegs. Exceptionally fine tone and workmanship. This unusual shape has made this instrument one of the most popular sellers.

Also a Few Quick Sellers such as

UKULELES
UKULELE-BANJOS
BANJO-MANDOLINS
MANDOLINS
HARMONICAS, Etc.

A LINE OF THESE INSTRUMENTS WILL INCREASE YOUR SUMMER BUSINESS INCLUDING

DURRO

VIOLINS—BOWS—STRINGS

VIOLIN OUTFITS
and
ACCESSORIES

THE BEGINNER OR ARTIST MUST HAVE A GOOD VIOLIN OUTFIT

NOTHING BETTER ON THE MARKET THAN

DURRO

If you have not received our New, Complete, Illustrated Catalog No. 120, Write at Once

BUEGELEISEN & JACOBSON

5-7-9 Union Square
NEW YORK

TO DISTRIBUTE THROUGH JOBBERS

Clapp-Eastham Co. Selects Trade Name of "Radak" for Its Line of Radio Equipment—Tells of Distributing and Advertising Plans

The name of "Radak" has been selected by the Clapp-Eastham Co., Cambridge, Mass., as the trade-mark distinguishing its line of radio equipment. The Clapp-Eastham Co. claims to be the oldest exclusive maker of radio equipment in the field, having been established since 1906. The complete line consists of "Radak" receiving sets, regenerative receiving sets, amplifiers, variometers, condensers, rheostats, amplifying coils, universal tube sockets and electro-ampliphones.

At the same time the company announced the adoption of the new trade name it also announced that in the future "Radak" products would be distributed exclusively through jobbers. It is expected that this new system of distribution will enable the dealer not only to receive supplies with the least possible delay, but also to secure maximum discount without quantity stipulation, these discounts being quoted directly to the dealer by the distributor. Dealers carrying "Radak" products will be interested in the announcement of an extensive national advertising campaign which is now under way, on a yearly basis. The combined circulation of the magazines used will reach an audience of about 25,000,000 people.

A number of dealers in the talking machine trade have already taken on the Clapp-Eastham Co.'s "Radak" products and new names of talking machine dealers are constantly being added to the list.

NEW GRETSCH CATALOG ISSUED

New Volume Describes Entire Extensive Gretsch Line of Musical Merchandise—Confidential Price List Also Mailed to Trade

The Fred. Gretsch Mfg. Co., manufacturer and importer of musical merchandise, Brooklyn, N. Y., is mailing a new catalog and confidential price list to the trade. This new catalog has an attractive cover in many colors and completely describes the extensive Gretsch line. E. E. Strong, general sales and advertising manager, reports that the company is doing a tremendous business. The new Clarophone banjo series, which was announced last month, has been enthusiastically received by the trade and heavy orders are coming in for this new instrument. Good results are also reported in the Couturier line of band instruments, which the Fred. Gretsch Mfg. Co. distributes. Dealers are achieving much success with this popular line and many new agencies are being appointed. Mr. Strong states that Gretsch dealers report that the business in their musical merchandise departments is not only good at the present time, but has held up steadily throughout the entire year.

MUSICALE FOR BRIGHTON BATHERS

Brighton Beach Baths recently had "the first bathing suit morning musicale ever given in the world" with Dorothy Jardon, soprano, once with the Chicago Opera Company, singing; a Steinway grand piano trundled out on the sand and Bennie Krueger and his Brunswick Orchestra jazzing things up.

All but the beach police and the piano porters enjoyed the freedom of bathing suits.

Radio 40% Profits

Dealer's Opportunity of the Hour
Radio Supplies Sell like Hot Cakes

The radio craze is on. Millions of receiving sets are being built by amateurs. Almost every schoolboy is constructing his own radio receiving apparatus. The real profits are being made in supplying the amateur with his needed parts such as detectors, condensers, wire, etc., etc.

Sell Radio Parts and Supplies

Technical knowledge is not necessary. Anybody can sell them. Most buyers point out exactly what they wish. You merely hand it to them. Sells on sight.

Complete Dealer Assortments

Includes window and counter display cards to which the smaller items are tacked, named and priced. Consists of standardized staple parts needed by every amateur and are interchangeable with all leading makes. Every item is a live seller such as tuning coils, binding posts, detectors, condensers, and dozens of other necessary items in an assortment of sizes to suit every buyer.

List Price Complete Assortment $75

Based on uniform standard list prices adopted nationally by all reliable manufacturers.

Dealers' Discount 40% $30

Net Cost to Dealer $45

Note: Other assortments list at $100 and $50 and take the same 40 per cent discount as above. We recommend the above. Repeat orders or fill ins take the same 40 per cent discount. Terms: 15 per cent cash with order. Balance by express C.O.D. Mail your order now. Be one of the first to cash in on radio's popularity. Immediate Delivery.

WHITE RADIO CO.

141 West 33rd St. New York City

PHONOGRAPHS

For beauty, for tone, for price

The dealer who makes money this Fall and Winter will be the dealer who sells STRANDS

The policy that has succeeded:

1. Quality and Design

To build none but first class instruments and to concentrate on correct flat-top consoles, every instrument guaranteed.

2. Low List

So that you may offer better values, make sales easier and oftener and increase your rate of turnover.

3. Long Discounts

To give you a liberal profit on each sale and make it doubly attractive to handle Strand Consoles.

4. Trouble-proof Shipping

Prompt, safe deliveries assured by an ample output and a trouble-proof shipping system.

5. Protection

Exclusive territory; you are protected against dividing your trade with near-by competitors.

"It's the Dealer's Turn Now"

These Direct Strand Representatives Are Ready to Serve You:

- RICHARD H. ARNAULT, 95 Madison Avenue, New York City
- W. O. CARDELL, P. O. Box 1271, Tulsa, Okla.
- A. H. DANKMAN, 327 Adams Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
- CONSOLIDATED TALKING MACHINE CO., 227 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.
- A. C. ERISMAN, 174 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.
- W. S. GRAY, 942 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.
- STERLING ROLL & RECORD CO., 137 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio
- ARTOPHONE CORPORATION, 1103 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.
- H. KALISKI, Hotel Monteleone, New Orleans, La.
- G. C. SILZER, 1019 Walnut Street, Des Moines, Ia.
- WALTER L. ECKHARDT, 624 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa.
- RICKEN, SEEGER & WIRTS, Globe Bldg., Detroit, Mich.
- W. F. STANDKE, 1120 Grand Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.
- MERVIN E. LYLE, 214 Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga.
- R. J. JAMIESON, 25 Taylor Arcade, Cleveland, Ohio
- H. J. IVEY, General Delivery, Dallas, Texas
- L. D. HEATER, 614 East 28th Street, Portland, Ore.
- OTIS C. DORIAN, 11 Bloor Street, E. Toronto, Ont.
- R. L. CHILVERS, 49 Lincoln Avenue, Montreal, Que.

For Example:
 Strand Queen Anne
 Period Console
 Lists at $125

To responsible dealers we offer a profitable franchise in localities not being yet covered. Write or wire.

MANUFACTURERS PHONOGRAPH CO., Inc.
 95 Madison Avenue New York
 GEO. W. LYLE, President

Mid-West Point of View

WESTERN DIVISION OF THE WORLD, CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 10, 1922. As these words are written Chicago has just passed through that social process known as a street-car strike. We decline to admit that

We Ride
Again to Work

Chicago was "in the grip of" the said social phenomenon, which is now, happily for all concerned, past history. As usual, the strike ended in a compromise and the gains expected by the workers did not materialize; instead the force of public opinion made itself felt, and certain developments which will probably take place in the near future as a result will undoubtedly be disadvantageous to both employers and employes of the street railways. Some businesses suffered, of course, but there were some who turned the unfortunate situation to good account and made capital of it. We hear, for instance, of talking machine men who as soon as the street cars were out of commission got out their autos, and chased around from house to house among their prospects, visiting them, condoling with them on the subject of the general inconvenience of life in a great but "struck" city, and then suggesting a nice little run down-town to do some shopping. When coupled with the promise to furnish transportation home again in the same way, the bait was eagerly swallowed in most cases. Result: a nice journey down to the store, some inspection of machines and listening to music, some salesmanship . . . and a return home in a nice car with the knowledge that a talking machine would be delivered next day. If schemes like these can be worked out successfully within twenty-four hours of the beginning of a car strike, what would not our ingenious talking machine men be able to do if the tie-up lasted a month?

It will hardly be doubted that general business is on the up-turn when we scan the news of the doings of talking machine merchants throughout the Middle-West. Everywhere, it would seem, retail men are utilizing the present holiday time to put their establishments in smarter trim than ever, anticipating great activity during this Fall and Winter. That there is excellent reason for the hopes which these preparations disclose cannot be doubted. The rail and coal-mining disputes will shortly be settled without a doubt, for the temper of the country is rising and there is already a belief that if the present Administration does not find some way to compose the industrial situation it will receive a rebuke at the polls in November next. Good judges, therefore, look forward toward an active Fall followed by a still more active Winter. Moreover, there is no doubt that the people as a whole are awfully weary of strife and depression, and less than ever interested in abstract theories about the order of Society. Their ideals may not be very high, but they are very simple. A vast majority of them want, above all things, Peace and Activity. These ideals that majority propose to realize, and in their present temper are not much more likely to weep on the bosom of Labor than to fall in adoration before entrenched Capital. The plain citizen is getting awfully tired of extremists in both camps. With this temper, we may look for a general improvement. When the plain man, neither socialist nor financier, neither Croesus nor communist, makes up his mind, he can rule the roost. There are some signs indicating that he is beginning to make up his mind.

Neither Croesus Nor Communist

THE Pageant of Progress is in full swing as these words are written, despite the jam in transportation owing to the car strike. Visitors

Our Pageant's Progress

during its early days were at once struck with the very large place which music has assumed in this year's show. Last year music was somewhat slighted; this year it seems to dominate everything. Talking machine exhibits are numerous and interesting. Other musical instruments also are shown in a surprising number, and there is a fair display of the latest ideas in radio telephony. Since the object, or one of the objects, of the Pageant of Progress is annually to chronicle in graphic and visual form the commercial, industrial and economic importance of Chicago, the displays are mainly native. The talking machine industry, in all its branches, is finding one of its centers at the capital of the mid-West, and the Pageant of Progress shows the casual visitor how important that industry is coming to be in our town. Despite some enthusiastic boosters, Chicago is not yet the world's music center, but if she continues to progress some day she will be. The talking machine branch of the music industries will be found to have contributed its share to this attainment, when it actually has been reached. Meanwhile we should register the undoubted fact that, whatever reason may once have existed for the somewhat uncomplimentary belief that Chicago's contributions to the talking machine industry were cheapness and mass production only, no such reason exists to-day. We are producing here both machines and accessories of nation-wide celebrity, and of a quality which calls for no apologies. The exhibits at the Pageant have shown this plainly.

DURING a recent conversation with Otto Schulz, president of Magnola Talking Machine Co., M. Schulz Co. and the Werner Piano Co., the relation of the talking machine to radio came up for discussion. It had been urged that the combination of a radio receiving outfit in one cabinet with the reproducer and motor of a talking machine represents the most logical and natural development. To this, in principle, Mr. Schulz quite agreed, but he put forward a very valuable warning, on a point which hitherto seems to have been neglected by the music industries. He observed that there is need for careful educational work by all talking machine dealers who are interested in radio, especially in combination outfits; work needed entirely because of the ignorance of the public. There is a vast difference between the reproduction of music through the talking machine, and its reception via radio telephone. In ideal conditions, of course, sound may be picked up by radio and heard satisfactorily at all times when it is available; but ideal conditions seldom prevail. In consequence, the ignorant purchaser is very likely to acquire a wholly wrong idea of the value and utility of radio receiving, through failing to make due allowances for the many interferences which at present occur and which are likely to continue until invention has progressed much further. When, however, the people are warned as to what to expect they will be satisfied with the wonderful thing that radio telephony already is, and will not ask impossibilities. But in default of educational propaganda on the part of those who sell the outfits, thinks Mr. Schulz, there is likely to be much dissatisfaction. We think Mr. Schulz is quite right and that his warning comes at a most opportune time.

Radio Education Needed

WE are in danger of being set down as boasters as well as boosters in this city of ours, but in some respects we are entitled to an occasional crow. For instance there is the matter of the application of music to therapeutic ends. Our local Health Department has done pioneer work here in the most practical way, by bringing music as often and as richly as possible before the patients in the various hospitals and institutions which the department controls. The work is being carried out with special earnestness at the institutions for persons who suffer with mental troubles and chronic diseases. Talking machines and pianos have been purchased in generous quantity, and the department has wisely realized the stimulatory effect of good music, an effect which is often quite positively therapeutic. Here is a thought for dealers in other cities. Meanwhile it is interesting to note that the example of the Six Brown Brothers, the saxophonists, has fired the spirit of emulation among the employes of the Chicago Health Department, so that a sextet of C. H. D. saxophonists has been organized in that office, which is already visiting the Tuberculosis Hospital and other institutions regularly, to play to the inmates. This is fine work and one hopes that more of it will be done in this city and elsewhere. The talking machine, be it remembered, is the institutional instrument par excellence.

"Music
Hath Charms..."

From our CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS

REPUBLIC BLDG., 209 SOUTH STATE ST TELEPHONE WABACH 5242

EDWARD VAN HARLINGEN

WILLIAM BRAID WHITE

EUGENE F. CAREY

ARTHUR E. NEALY

A. SNYDER

CHICAGO, ILL., August 8.—After all, the month of July turned out better than the trade had figured it would be. This was disclosed in a great many instances, both manufacturing and retail, when concerns took inventory. This business of inventory was a semi-annual affair in some cases, while in others it was an annual one, coupled up with election of officers. The inventories revealed that during the year 1922, up to the end of June and including some weeks in July, business as a whole was not so badly off as had been thought.

One fact brought to light was that many manufacturers and numerous retail men were exceptionally short of stocks. It also brought out that the business, both retail and wholesale, was very stable in comparison to last year. It will be remembered that last year was a very hectic one and for a time it looked as though there were going to be many more bankruptcies than there actually happened. The shortage of stocks, however, is more in evidence among the retail men than among wholesale. There are quite a number of manufacturers, however, who lay down on the job during the months of June and July and they too are somewhat short of made-up materials. They are, therefore, getting ready to fill up their warerooms again, preparatory to the Fall business. Business this coming Fall is going to be good.

As stated above, retailers are very low in their stocks, as they have been curtailing expenses during the Summer months. Many of these expenses, such as advertising, soliciting, etc., were curtailed to too great a degree, and the men who authorized this curtailment are now sorry. For some reason or other, when a certain kind of institution decides to save money, the first thing it does is to go after the advertising appropriation and knock off a big gob. Then the economical ones go down the line, chopping everything else, until before long they have taken from one to six chops at their publicity appropriation. Why they do it no one knows, but they do it. Now this, according to some of the country's biggest business men, is one of the most foolish things that an institution of any kind can do. The really big men in our commercial life believe that when business is slowing down, whether wholesale or retail, the advertising appropriation should never be lessened; in fact, it should be increased. If one cares to note the really successful businesses and the way they are handled, one is sure to find out that this is an absolute fact. One man, who is clearly in a position to know whereof he speaks, says that too severe a curtailment of advertising expenses reminds him of the story of a man who wanted to put an idea during a Chautauqua meeting. The man called on the manager of the Chautauqua and asked how much it would cost to tell his message to the audience. The manager told him that it would cost him ten dollars a shout or a dollar a whisper, and the man, thinking to cover the most for his money, took ten whispers, but no one heard him and consequently he was ten dollars out.

The early part of July certainly had the dealer guessing as to what business would be when the end of the month rolled around. The first week brought on real Summer weather and there was a general letting up in the retail trade. This was true in all lines of business. The retail dealers had very little to do and they naturally thought that the entire month of July as well as August would be absolutely listless. But such was not the case. By about the end of the second week the buying public of Chicago and vicinity had acclimated themselves to the hot weather, and began buying again. Business started up as usual with a gradual demand for dance records, followed in turn by demand for small goods and portable machines. Portable talking machines, by the way, seemingly have come to stay. It took the dealer some time to put the idea over, but at last to all appearances it has gone over and will continue to grow. The small talking machine has in many instances been the means of getting a great number of people interested in larger instruments and many recent sales of larger instruments are traceable directly to previous purchases of a portable. Chicago still loves to dance in spite of hot weather and nearly every portable that was sold also brought an order for half a dozen or more dance records.

In our rounds about the trade we have failed to find one retailer or manufacturer who does not believe that business will be very good in the Fall. These men feel that business has at last settled down and that we are now through with spasmodic buying and selling. It goes without saying that the upheaval our trade and every other one have gone through for the last year or more has been a very trying ordeal. Few really knew where they were at times, for business was so bad that no one really cared. However, now that all indications at present are point-

(Continued on page 100)

Announcement

“The Jewel Phonoparts Co., 154 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill. have added many refinements and improvements to their line of Jewel Tone Arms and Reproducers, and from Sept. 15th will be in production and will be pleased to furnish the Manufacturing Trade, on request, with illustrations, samples and prices on the highest grade Tone Arms and Reproducers that long knowledge of the business, money, skill and carefulness in manufacture, assembling and inspection can produce at the lowest possible cost consistent with the quality.”

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 99)

ing to real stability in the trade, the dealers and manufacturers are very optimistic and are determined at last to get out of business all there is in it. They have come to a point where they know what the people want and what price they want to pay, and are, therefore, making all preparations to supply the necessary goods. They do not believe, however, that the trade will see during this Fall a wave of buying such as overwhelmed the country during the war days, but they do see a good substantial business that is destined to grow according to the intelligent and aggressive efforts put behind it.

Reopens in Republic

The Burns-Pollock Electric Mfg. Co., of Indiana Harbor, Ind., has just opened a new retail salesroom in the Republic Building. This company manufactures the well known Capitol talking machine, which is a combination of an artistic electric lamp and talking machine. The new warerooms are in charge of I. Lowenthal, retail sales manager for Burns-Pollock, assisted by F. J. DeLisle.

The new retail warerooms were opened formally to the public on July 1st. A year or more ago this company operated the combined retail and wholesale establishments in the Republic building, but some months ago found it necessary to rearrange plans and confine local activity to retail business. The warerooms were, therefore, closed and when the process of establishing retail Capitol shops throughout the country was formulated the new place was decided upon.

Brunswick Frivolity Releases

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. once a year devotes its entire list of releases to frivolity. For eleven months out of the year the releases include selections of a wide variety, from the highest grade of classical music by famous singers and instrumental artists to the popular type of present-day music, but for this one month, when most people are pleasure-bent, it devotes its list to the best dance music of the day. These records certainly go over big, which is natural when one takes into consideration the artists they have to put them over. There is Isham Jones, the saxophone wizard; Bennie Krueger, Carl Fenton and Rudy Wiedoeft's Californians, each one among the best representatives of popular music in the East, West and Middle West. The annual frivolity release comes at a particularly opportune time, for the month of August means vacation, dancing and good times.

Brunswick dealers all over the country experienced a very busy week as a result of the tie-up with the double-page spread which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post announcing this special release. The advertisement was a very striking one, and was gotten up so as to catch the eye of the dancing public, as well as all those interested in the music of to-day. On one page appeared one of Brunswick's beautiful period models and a list of the releases, which include the best sellers for the month. On the other, surrounding a clever bit of text, were several dancing figures on Brunswick records which were grouped about the page in a very attractive manner.

Cheery News of Cherries

A market report recently printed in one of the Chicago dailies stated that in Dorr County, Wisconsin, over 5,000 cherry pickers are engaged preparing a most wonderful cherry crop, estimated to be worth $1,500,000. Dorr County is located in the center of America's principal cherry growing territory, and when final reports from all of the cherry growing counties are in we have every reason to believe that some records will be broken. It looks to us at present as though the talking machine men were going to have a pretty good business, especially in Dorr County.

In New Location

The Sterling Devices Co., which since the time of its entrance into the talking machine field had been located in the Lake Shore Building, on Lake Shore Drive, has moved and is now located in its new and larger plant at 1819 Carroll avenue. The new plant is in a modern mill-construction building and is in area about twice the size of the former plant.

This company is now manufacturing and marketing a 3,000 ohm super-sensitive radio head-set, which embodies the very latest electrical and mechanical features. The head-band of this head-set is encased in a patent leather covering and is easily adjustable.

W. O. Miessner, of the Sterling Co., designer of the Sterling head-set, is a pioneer in telephony and for many years has been recognized as an expert in complicated electrical apparatus. In order to get perfect winding on the magnetos of this head-set, Mr. Miessner worked for many months in bringing out a small but accurate winding machine which automatically stops when the requisite number of turns of wire have been wound upon the magneto bar.

New Starr Style Arrives

The Chicago division of the Starr Piano Co., of Richmond, Ind., recently received its first shipment of the new Style 19 Starr phonographs. Upon the arrival of these instruments notices were sent out to Starr dealers in Chicago and from the reception dealers accorded Style 19 it is only fair to believe that this new instrument will in time become one of the most popular models in the well-known Starr line.

This new model is thirty-three inches high, thirty-six and one-eighth inches wide and twenty-one and one-eighth inches deep, and its mechanical equipment includes all of the distinctive Starr features that have contributed so materially to the success of the Starr line.

Right Off His Chest

The following is a clipping from the Columbia Record, published by the Columbia Graphophone Co., and applies to a Chicago man:

"The same ingenuity that enabled Joseph Lazar, of the Lazar Music Center, 1976 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, to become an expert electrician and, during the war, an aero expert, follows him in his present business, that of conducting a Columbia Grafonola and record shop:

"Mr. Lazar participated in a recent Masonic

The Best Motor Money Can Buy

1. The wick lubricating system, an exclusive feature of our motor, keeps every part in the gear box running in a film of oil. Not a mere smear of grease to dry away and get gummy and hard with exposure to the air, causing noise and variable speed within a short space of time, but constant circulating lubrication.

For at least two years after our motors are installed the wick will circulate pure oil and governor and gears will be perfectly lubricated. Some of the high-priced motor cars have recently adopted wick lubrication—because it is right—continuous, automatic, certain.

2. The enclosed construction makes this lubricating system possible and also keeps dirt, bits of excelsior, lint and phonograph needles, etc., from getting into the works. This prevents those trouble cases that cost the dealer money and cause his customers annoyance.

3. The design of our motor lends itself to accurate alignment of bearing and springs. When our box-like casting is clamped into the holding tools to be machined it does not distort with pressure as open castings do. The reason we have almost no spring breakage is that perfect alignment does away with the side strain which causes crystallization and breakage of springs.

REAL PRICES

1. We have a modern, complete, specially designed equipment solely devoted to the production of this motor.

2. Our plant is spacious, light, modern in every feature and our organization is seasoned and imbued with spirit of quality.

We have the necessary volume of output and can produce efficiently. Because of these facts we are furnishing a motor of positively unequalled merit, at unmatched prices.

Let Us Furnish You Samples

United Manufacturing and Distributing Company

536 Lake Shore Drive

CHICAGO

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 100)

masque ball at Chicago. He had previously arranged a Columbia three-spring motor on a wooden board strapped to his body and entirely concealed by his novel costume. Between dances, the latest Columbia records were sent forth from the horn, which he attached to his side.

"He won first prize for costume as well as the novelty of the idea.

"Mr. Lazar, who aroused considerable curiosity, went all through the party without being recognized. His costume was well decorated with Columbia notes and also one large blue Columbia decalcomania pinned on with Peter Rabbit bangle pins."

Walbert Mfg. Co. Activities

The Walbert Mfg. Co. reports the foreign business for Geer repeaters has picked up remarkably well in the past few months. The English representative for this company with headquarters in London is sending in numerous large orders for the well-known Geer repeater and a big shipment of several thousand was sent early in the month.

The London representative stated in his letter to Mr. Huth that the Geer repeater has won favorable recognition in all sections of the British Isles. From the present indications it will not be long before every talking machine shop in that territory will be handling Geer repeaters.

The Western traveler for the Walbert Co., Oscar Hoberg, left on the first of the month for an extended trip through the West. The trip will cover over a four months' period and will terminate in Mexico City. It is the intention of Mr. Hoberg to call on all dealers and jobbers in the territory he will traverse for the purpose of stimulating sales of Geer and Gold-Seal repeaters. Much attention will be given to the jobbers in assisting them in the work of supplying these well-known accessories to dealers in their localities. Mr. Hoberg is taking with him a number of demonstration outfits for the purpose of teaching dealers unacquainted with these well-known repeaters just how they work. The demonstration equipment consists of an electric motor and turn table supported by a small stand.

New Utylyty Unyt

The Unyversal Utylyty Unyts Co., of 6111 Winthrop avenue, is preparing to market a new record-filing device which it will offer to the trade in a short time. This device from a casual glance is seemingly a series of slides, for the purpose of holding records. However, these slides in reality are narrow compartments arranged in a row and so constructed as to move forward and backward by just a slight touch of the finger. When any of the record-containing units is merely touched with the finger it instantly slides out and the record projects into full view, the label on the record being plainly visible. The material used in the construction of this new device may be of wood insert center veneer or thin pressed composition boards.

Flivvs to Chicago

Fred Firestone, manager of the Schumann Piano Co., Victor dealer of Rockford, Ill., flivved to Chicago from there recently to see his old friends in the trade. Fred is one of the best-known retail men in the Central West and in his twenty-five years' activity in the music field has been connected with some of the biggest houses in Chicago. He says that the trade in Rockford promises to be an exceedingly good one for the coming Fall and he is telling his Chicago friends that they will have to go some this season if they sell as many instruments as the boys down in Rockford insist they are going to sell.

Music as a Therapeutic

For a number of years the Six Brown Brothers, headed by the well-known Tom Brown, have been appearing all over the country in a clever saxophone act. The trade knows all about the Brown Brothers, having tied up on many occasions with them for the purpose of selling Six Brown Brothers records. Recently, however, an organization was formed for the purpose of emulating the Brown boys, and the members are aiming so high that they feel that in due time they, too, will be well-known saxophone stars. However, they will not become professional saxophonists. Their mission in the field of harmony is merely to cheer patients at Chicago's Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

The sextet are employes of the Health Commissioner's office in Chicago. Nearly every day they congregate on the roof of the City Hall and "let 'er rip." Chicago's health commissioner, Dr. Bundesen, like his predecessor, Dr. John Dill Robertson, believes that music has a stimulative effect, especially on patients suffering with chronic diseases. For that reason a sum of money from the Health Commissioner's appropriation is devoted each year to the purchase of musical instruments, especially talking machines, which are purchased and placed in the wards of the sanitarium.

Congratulations, Mr. Kapp

J. Kapp, who is very well known to the trade of Chicago, is receiving the congratulations of his friends on his marriage to Miss Frieda Lutz, which took place at the Parkway Hotel, August 6. Mrs. Kapp is a familiar figure to the talking machine trade and has won many warm friends through her charming personality. We all join in wishing the couple all the good luck and happiness which they deserve.

Among Department Stores

A canvass of the retail trade in the Loop discloses a very optimistic outlook for the month of July and especially for the Fall. Rothchild & Co., who have been advertising every week in the daily papers and going after business in an earnest way, report that they have doubled last year's business. One week they did $25,000 worth of business and they have been selling from six to ten machines a day. Although this does not look like an enormous amount of sales, the significance of these statements should not be overlooked. What is meant is that through advertising, hard work and special sales this con-

(Continued on page 102)

"Built by tone specialists"

IN ITS SEVENTH YEAR OF STEADY SUCCESS

4 Cabinet Styles:

Mahogany, Walnut and Oak Finishes.

Patented Tone-Deflecting System:

Unsurpassed Workmanship.

Vertical Record Filing:

Mechanical and Acoustic Equipment Beyond Criticism.

Write for our Revised Wholesale Prices

Magnola Talking Machine Company

OTTO SCHULZ, President

711 Milwaukee Avenue

Chicago

Magnola Style Louis XVI

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 101)

cern is creating a goodly number of prospects for the Fall. However, with all this optimism, we have a little pessimism thrown in—the fact that the record business has fallen off considerably during the hot spell.

W. B. Papineau, who was recently appointed manager of the musical department of the Fair, has made things “hum” since his arrival. He has changed the department and made attractive displays of small goods. He also put on advertising stunts such as demonstrating Wallace records and special sales for ukuleles, having Miss Jennie Durkee, the originator of the American way of playing the ukulele, give demonstrations. Thus by injecting a bit of enthusiasm in the department it has resulted in a good report for the Summer months. Mr. Papineau says that portables are in the lead. However, portables have been the means of stimulating a desire for better music and they have had numerous cases where prospects have come back and bought higher priced machines.

It seems that the higher priced machine is very much in vogue this month. Mandel Brothers, who handle the Vocalion, report that the first two weeks of July witnessed more business than the whole month of July last year, and the higher priced machine is the largest seller. People are looking for price and willing to pay for a higher grade machine provided they get quality. And along with the higher class models there is a larger cash payment. In fact, terms have been the least consideration and large down payments have been a dominating factor this month.

T. W. Hindley, manager of the talking machine department of Mandel Brothers, left the latter part of June for the East, and was away about a month. He visited Philadelphia, Atlantic City and spent a week at the Aeolian Co., at New York. The remainder of his vacation was spent summering at Shattuck Inn, Jaffery, N. H.

Marshall Field & Co., who represent the Cheney Talking Machine Co. in Chicago, are also coming in for their share of the higher grade business, as the Cheney stands the test of the most critical public.

Although conditions are still somewhat spotty the tendency throughout the trade is for better business in spite of the strikes and labor troubles that we are going through.

“Note the Notes”

W. C. Bartelt, of Fort Atkinson, Wis., was a visitor at the Columbia's offices in Chicago recently. He is proprietor of a successful music shop handling Columbia Grafonolas and records.

An exclusive Grafonola shop, complete in every detail and constructed to give the public a comfortable and convenient place to buy their phonographs and records, has been opened by Claude L. Beisel in Lafayette, Ind. Nothing has been left undone to make this shop the most modern of its kind in the Hoosier State.

Earl Clark, Columbia dealer of Monroe, Wis., spent the day recently at the Chicago office of the Columbia Graphophone Co.

Tom Butler, Columbia dealer at Wabash, Ind., dropped into the offices of the Columbia Graphophone Co. the other day. Business in Wabash is picking up and prospects for a large Fall business look good, according to Mr. Butler.

Open New Store

A new music store is being opened in South Bend, Ind., under the supervision of Lang Bros., to handle the Brunswick line. One of the brothers, J. E. Lang, is very prominent in talking machine circles, and for several years was sales manager for Elbell Bros., of that city.

On Vacation

C. W. Hyde, of the Chicago Talking Machine Co.'s sales force, has just returned from a motor trip which took him through Wisconsin and Minnesota, and announces that he is now full of pep and will immediately begin activities for a Fall campaign.

V. K. Tremblett, also of this company's sales forces, spent two weeks at Wausau, Wis., in the company of H. S. Wright, Victor dealer. During the two weeks that these gentlemen were together they succeeded in cleaning out all the lakes around Wausau. The cleaning-out process consisted of capturing the largest string of fish that was ever told about.

We understand that R. E. Kane, who travels Illinois and Iowa for this company, is in Michigan on his vacation, also demonstrating his prowess as a fisherman.

But after all is said and done, the above gentlemen will have to go some to keep up with Fred Putnam, of the Putnam-Page Co., of Peoria, Ill. Fred spent two weeks up around the Wisconsin fishing grounds and was as brown as a berry when he came to Chicago en route for Peoria. Fred did not have much to say about the fish which got away, but we're willing to bet that very few did after giving his waistline the once over!

Takes on Brunswick

A copy of a Milwaukee newspaper recently came into the Chicago office, and this particular issue carried a third-page announcement that Bradford's have taken on the Brunswick line, “As an added feature” of this institution's music service. The advertisement was illustrated by a cut of the “Georgian” Brunswick period model de luxe. The text matter carries the message that this move marks “Another step forward, further emphasizing Bradford's position as Milwaukee's most prominent distributor of talking machines and records, making this most popular music house even more popular. All music-lovers will welcome this announcement. With the addition of the famous Brunswick phonographs and records to our other established lines, here is service supreme that makes for complete satisfaction.”

Illinois Dealers Who Are Doing Things

News reaching the Chicago office of The Talking Machine World from various parts of the

(Continued on page 104)

RADIO — PHONOGRAPH

A COMBINATION CABINET

Made so you can install

Radio Panel or Panels

In One Side and Phonograph
in the Other

This cabinet is Flexible to the wants of your trade— can even be sold by the dealer to the Radio Enthusiast who wishes to install his own Radio Set.

Made in Quantities and Carried in Stock by Us—so can give you Prompt Service on “Hurry-Up” Orders, Large or Small.

WRITE TODAY To THE WOLF MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES

Sales Offices
123 WEST MADISON STREET
Chicago, Ill.

Factory and General Office
110-126 3rd STREET
Quincy, Ill.

HERE IT IS!

The
FLETCHER UNIVERSAL
 TONE ARM and REPRODUCER

Gives Proper Playing Weights for All Records. No Adjustment Screws or Springs
 SAMPLES $8.00 Specify 8½" or 9½" arm

FLETCHER-WICKES CO., 6 East Lake Street, Chicago, Illinois

THE McLAGAN PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION, LIMITED, STRATFORD, ONTARIO, EXCLUSIVE CANADIAN AGENTS

TONE ARMS
Fletcher
 REG. TRADE MARK
REPRODUCERS

Fletcher
 REG. TRADE MARK

Reproducer
 and Connection
 for
NEW EDISON
 Plays all Records

Dealers, Send for Prices and Terms

FLETCHER-WICKES CO.

6 East Lake St., Chicago, Ill.

THE McLAGAN PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION, LIMITED, STRATFORD, ONTARIO, EXCLUSIVE CANADIAN AGENTS

SOMETHING ENTIRELY NEW IN TONE ARMS
THE FLETCHER "STRAIGHT"

STRAIGHT INSIDE—Taper Outside
BALL BEARINGS THROUGHOUT
NEW DESIGN NEW CONSTRUCTION

Yes, it is universal and equipped with the Regular Fletcher Reproducer, giving the same natural tone quality as heretofore
 Made in two lengths, 8½" and 9½" SEND FOR PRICES AND TERMS

FLETCHER-WICKES COMPANY
6 EAST LAKE ST. CHICAGO

THE McLAGAN PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION, LIMITED, STRATFORD, ONTARIO, EXCLUSIVE CANADIAN AGENTS

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 102)

State discloses the following, among other facts:

H. S. Bassett, of Tuscola, Ill., is preparing for increased business this Fall by enlarging and remodeling his retail store. His store is being equipped with the most modern sound-proof hearing and demonstration booths.

Tedens' Music Store at Lamont, Ill., will also be remodeled and redecorated for Fall business. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tedens were recent visitors to Chicago and while here spent a great deal of their time picking out equipment and purchasing goods for the coming season.

The store of Barker & Sullivan, at New Rochelle, Ill., will be redecorated during the month of August and will likewise be fitted out with up-to-date sound-proof demonstrating and hearing rooms.

Changes in Sales Force

Harry B. Bibb, sales manager of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., of Chicago, has announced the following sales changes in the sales department supervised by him: K. McInnis, who formerly looked after the Milwaukee territory, has been transferred to Detroit, Mich., where he will maintain headquarters.

P. H. McCulloch has been transferred from the Brunswick central Illinois territory to Milwaukee, where he will establish headquarters. Both of these changes were effective August 1.

Victrola 111 Arrives

The Victor Co.'s latest Victrola 111 has just arrived in Chicago. The jobbers are jubilant, likewise the dealers, over this new model. It is very simple in design, but carries the same graceful proportion that characterizes all Victor models. This new instrument is furnished in either mahogany, oak or American walnut. It is equipped with a spring motor, and carries a retail price of $225. When equipped with an electric motor it retails at $265. The new instrument has Victor record albums, twelve-inch gold-plated turntable, gold-plated sound box, tone arm, etc. It also carries an automatic stop, speed regulator and speed indicator. It is forty-five and three-quarter inches high, twenty-two and a half inches wide and twenty-four and three-quarter inches deep.

F. S. Spofford's Protege

F. S. Spofford, who conducts a Sonora shop on the seventh floor of the Republic Building, is receiving congratulations upon the remarkable hit made by his seventeen-year-old protege, Aldo del Missier. The young violinist recently played at Madison, Wis., before the Lions Club, at the executive mansion before Governor Blaine, and again at the home of Mrs. Dawson Butler, who is Mr. Spofford's sister-in-law. This young man is making remarkable progress as a violinist, and Mr. Spofford is seeing to it that his protege is getting the best of training.

Barnhart Bros. Add Space

A good many years ago some wise old philosopher broke into print with a little line which said: "Actions speak louder than words." What said philosopher really meant is neither here nor there, but the fact still remains that the old adage contains more truth than poetry. In reality we have come into the state of being that really demands action. In the business world action is, as a general rule, proportionate to ability, and when a concern is really active we may justly estimate highly the ability of the men behind the guns. Also we may usually praise the product of that concern.

These thoughts were brought to mind recently by a visit paid by the writer to the plant of Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, who manufacture the well-known Scottford tone arms and reproducers, and who do a great deal of die-casting for many concerns throughout the country. The activities noticed out at this plant were very significant and were centered about a building program. The plant of this firm is a very large one and covers a great many feet of ground. The die-casting plant is probably one of the biggest, if not the biggest, in Chicago.

but still it is not big enough. Therefore, it has been found necessary to increase the floor space to the extent of an additional story. The plant now housing the die-casting department contains a basement, first and second floors, but within a few weeks the third floor will have been completed and in operation. As soon as this work is finished, the builders will begin adding a third floor to the office building. The additional office space and die-casting department were necessitated by increasing business in the Scottford tone arms and reproducers, as well as in radio parts. The demand for the latter has grown to great proportions during the past few months. This company is supplying everything usable in radio that can be die-cast.

Handling Clapp-Eastham Sets

The Clark Radio Shop, carrying a complete line of Clapp-Eastham sets and supplies, has been opened in the DeKalb factory building by the Clark Orchestra Roll Co. This retail service has been determined upon as a response to the many local demands for reliable apparatus, and is but an extension of the musical activities of the Clark music roll plant. B. H. Clark, secretary of the company, and a one-time amateur operator, is in charge of the sales of this well-equipped shop.

Victor Show Case

The Chicago Talking Machine Co. is getting splendid results from the campaign on Victor needle show cases. The case is sold to the dealers for $3 and offers quick service in the sales of Victor needles. It is of all-metal construction, seventeen and one-half inches wide, seven inches high and eight inches from front to back. The door is all glass and the case is indexed on the rear. The case is finished in full mahogany color with gold edges, and bears the Victor dog trade-mark.

Baldwin Sales Force Meets

The sales force of the Chicago branch of the Baldwin Co. has planned an intensive selling

The PORTOPHONE

Open

The Biggest Value in the Talking Machine Industry Today

A Portable Phonograph built into a leatherette Traveling Case. Plays all makes of disc records with perfect tone.

The PORTOPHONE is the pioneer in the portable phonograph field, and more than 40,000 have been sold. Equipped with the highest grade, powerful, double-spring motor, regulator and turntable brake.

An instrument that is pleasing to the eye and the ear—a favorite in any home. The tone of the PORTOPHONE is equal to any instrument selling at from 5 to 10 times its price, a fact that is made possible through quantity production and organized distribution.

The Big Season for instruments of this class is just starting—tourists, campers, autoists and people with money to buy will soon be looking for a portable phonograph—and the PORTOPHONE is the answer.

A comparison of the PORTOPHONE will quickly prove our contention that it is the biggest value in the talking machine industry today. Made complete from the motor to the cabinet in one factory and sold through the legitimate channels of trade at a good margin of profit to the dealer.

Write us for full particulars at once.

The CONSOLIDATED
Talking Machine
Company
229 West Washington St.
CHICAGO

Branch, 2957 Gratiot Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Closed

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 104)

campaign at a conference with salesmen from Baldwin branches all over the United States. If the enthusiasm demonstrated at this conclave is any forecast for the remainder of the year the Baldwin Co. will undoubtedly go through one of the very busiest periods of its existence.

Business was the order of the day and every representative of the Baldwin Co. had an opportunity to familiarize himself with the newest features of the Baldwin line of pianos and talking machines. After the meeting the conventionists went out to the Marigold Gardens for a little party, at which time they presented to W. S. Price, the new manager of the Indianapolis division, a beautiful watch as a token of appreciation for his excellent work in behalf of Baldwin in his territory.

"Buck" Wheat Visits

"Buck" Wheat, of William H. Reynolds, Victor wholesaler, of Mobile, Ala., recently spent a two weeks' vacation in Chicago. The vacation was really a home-coming, as Mr. Wheat spent nearly all of his time visiting with his folks of this city. This is the first time in nearly two years since he has visited Chicago.

Another Southern Victor man to visit Chicago during the latter part of July was J. D. Moore, of Maison Blanche, of New Orleans, La., who came on a buying trip, and while here called on many of his friends in the trade.

A Progressive North Side Dealer

One of the most progressive dealers on the North Side of Chicago is Carter B. Cordner, owner of the Symphony Music Co., 1020 Wilson avenue. Although limited for space he has his shop arranged in a most attractive and tasty manner. The service he renders the public is another item not overlooked. A complete stock of Columbia records is always kept and his display of period model Grafonolas is probably the most extensive in the city. His window displays, which are always of a high grade, embody ideas and suggestions that call for the unusual, practically always in colors and carry a sales message to the pedestrian in a most unique manner.

Mr. Cordner has returned from his vacation at Eau Claire, Wis.

Fine Business With Hall Mfg. Co.

When F. D. Hall, of the Hall Mfg. Co., returned to Chicago early in the month from his Western trip he immediately paid a visit to headquarters, where he received a very pleasant surprise at the hands of H. J. Fiddelke. The surprise was none other than a complete report of the inventory disclosures for the fiscal year which ended in June. The reports show that business consummated by the Hall Mfg. Co., from June, 1921, to June, 1922, was far in excess of what had been anticipated. In fact, almost double that of the preceding year.

The outlook for the coming year is very promising. Mr. Fiddelke hopes to see greater production than ever before in the history of the country.

Mr. Fiddelke is one of the few men in Chicago who will not make a visit to the seashore or countryside for a two weeks' vacation rest. It is true that he will have a vacation, but his rest will consist of more work. He is building a home out in the Beverly Hills district in the southern part of Chicago and he intends to spend his vacation with a hammer and saw, helping the good work along.

L. C. Wiswell Vacating

L. C. Wiswell, manager of the wholesale Victor department of Lyon & Healy, left Chicago on the 24th for his vacation. Accompanied by his family he motored to his Summer home at Belvidere Beach, near South Haven, Mich.

Otto Heineman Visits Chicago

Otto Heineman, president and general manager of the General Phonograph Corp., spent a week in Chicago during the month of July. Accompanied by S. A. Ribolla, manager, Mr.

Sharpen the Fibre Needle

Without removing it from the
Tone Arm of the Phonograph

It's 5 years ahead of the times

CONVENIENT

FAST SELLER

GOOD PROFITS

MECHANICALLY RIGHT

Very Simple

LIDSEEN
FIBRE NEEDLE
CUTTER

LIDSEEN PRODUCTS

832-840 So. Central Ave. CHICAGO

Heineman spent quite a bit of time calling on the local trade in Chicago and Milwaukee. Mr. Heineman then left for St. Louis and other points in the Central West. After his visit to this territory he returned to New York, stopping

(Continued on page 106)

Announcing the Uradiola Line of De Luxe Radio Receivers

The General Radio Laboratories handle only tried and tested radio apparatus. Following this policy, we have adopted the URADIOLA line of DE LUXE radio receivers and are now offering to the dealer a line of apparatus which will move fast, bring in returns, and sell itself on its own merits (two models illustrated). In appearance, any URADIOLA model, from the URADIOGRAND to the series AI Tuner and Audion Detector, rank among the finest in harmonizing with home appointments. The cabinet work is unexcelled.

A genuine hand-rubbed piano finish gives the instruments that touch which appeals to the particular buyer—the man who knows how to judge good furniture. For the man who knows radio, all that is necessary is to show him the inside. The buss-bar wiring, bakelite sockets, breakdown tested transformers and change-over inductance (for waves up to 10,000 meters) have been built into the apparatus by radio engineers of long standing.

Waves up to 10,000 meters are received with this instrument, giving a broad range should the broadcasting wave lengths be increased. This is of untold value to the buyer. The manufacturers of the set state that the daylight range of the receivers is about 500 miles, while at night this range is more than doubled.

Models not shown are AI Tuner and Audion Detector, Series C3; Tuner Audion Detector with Two-Step Amplifier, and Two-Step Amplifier alone.

We are also distributors for the super-sensitive Red Star radiophone head sets and Non-Leak variable condensers. Head sets come in 2000, 2400 and 3200 ohms resistances. Condensers are made in 14 plate, 22 plate, 44 plate and 64 plate sizes. Manufactured with or without vernier adjustment. These two pieces of "Quality Radio" apparatus are symbolical of our entire line and are fast sellers. Cool weather is coming, with long evenings indoors, when the demand for radio sets will again be beyond the capacity of the output.

Are you ready for this demand?

Series B2

Dealers and jobbers, write for catalog, discounts and information. We positively do not retail.

1730 Tribune Building

General Radio Laboratories

INCORPORATED

7 So. Dearborn St. CHICAGO

I don't know why I should cry o-ver you, sigh o-ver you, e-ven be blue,

The Big Waltz Ballad Hit

Why Should I Cry Over You

It's Another "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry"

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST' song"

HEAR IT NOW!

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 105)

off en route at the factory at Elyria. Mr. Heine-man was quite optimistic concerning the coming Fall business and has already made provisions for the purpose of increasing to capacity production at the Okeh plants.

Swanson Portable Well Received

R. W. Moon, general manager of the Swanson Sales Co., of Los Angeles, Cal., stopped off in Chicago for a few days' visit, calling on the jobbing trade while en route to his headquarters at Los Angeles. He also visited quite a number of dealers for the purpose of establishing accounts for the Swanson portable talking machine.

This is one of the smallest portable machines ever introduced to the trade and is manufactured by the Swanson Phonograph Co., of Chicago. It weighs 15¼ pounds and is equipped with a wooden tone arm, to which the sound box is permanently attached. The tone arm, in turn, is connected at one end with a swivel joint. The tone waves travel through the arm and are directed into one corner of the lid. This amplification is much greater than one would suppose. The little instrument, when furnished to the dealer, comes completely equipped in every detail, with needle cups and an album capable of holding twelve records. That the Swanson was favorably accepted by the Eastern trade is evidenced by the number of orders Mr. Moon exhibited. The Chicago trade also showed great interest and placed substantial orders for this product.

Prof. Cheney at Chicago Piano Club

J. L. Mitchell and E. J. Exter, of Lyon & Healy, arranged a musical program of rare talent for the music men at the August 2nd meeting of the Chicago Piano Club. Signor Liberati, premier cornetist, played several selections and accompanied his music with many humorous remarks. William Lum played several solos as well as a number of popular pieces on the Hawaiian guitar. Well-known radio artists consisting of Harold Saxler, violin; Henry Geiss, saxophone, and Miss Turner, piano, entertained with the latest hits and popular songs. In all it was a very lively meeting. Prof. Forrest D. Cheney, president of the Cheney Talking Machine Co., who was a guest of the club, became so enthusiastic over the prospects of the coming picnic that he offered a cash prize of $5.00 to the person making the best two-minute salesmanship talk on any subject of the music industry on that day.

When he entered the club rooms he was merely a guest. When he donated his prize for the best two-minute talk on salesmanship he was a good fellow, and after his little talk which was requested of him by Chairman Schoenwald he was unanimously elected a member of the Piano Club of Chicago.

Professor Cheney responded to Chairman Schoenwald's request for a few words by quoting Elbert Hubbard. "Do your work as well as you can and be kind." He went on:

"Each of you men is putting out something of value to the music-loving public and by doing this you members of the club are promoting harmony. Rhythm is the expression of impulse. Melody is the form and harmony is the color. Music sounds are periods of impulses. The period impulses are the mechanical expression of life. For example, when the heart beats in perfect rhythm we have a demonstration of perfect health, but when it records non-periodic impulses or vibration we have an unhealthy condition. Therefore, music is the vibratory expression of life and if it is non-periodic in vibration it is the expression of dissolution and death.

"You men," he continued, "by belonging to this club, are spreading a gospel of good fellowship. It makes your competition wholesome, and wholesome competition is the life of good business, and there is still plenty of room in this world for all wholesome producers and propagators of good music. Your success is like all success, the result of action under proper direction. Envy and jealousy are the beginning of a demoralized state of business and tend to ultimate failure. By your harmonious meetings here each week you accomplish a great purpose and that is the banishment of envy and jealousy.

"Business is the backbone of civilization and is the method whereby all commodities of value are brought in touch with the ultimate consumer. Direct methods and sincere, honest representation as practiced by you boys will bring about a normal condition, establish confidence between the producer and consumer more quickly than any other theoretical methods, either political or otherwise.

"The good will developed by your close association tends to establish a co-operative and kindly feeling which will be of mutual benefit to all concerned. It gives me great pleasure to be a guest of your club and to know the fine spirit among you. You are boys, all of you, old or young. You are boys in spirit and these meetings will have a tendency to keep you boys. The success of each member of this club makes for success of the entire trade. A success built up on the failure of another is not a true success, nor is it constructive in its results, and I know that each and every one of you here to-day is standing on his own foundation. Therefore, I wish you all the success and prosperity you deserve and hope I may again enjoy the pleasure of your company."

Needless to say, the few remarks quoted above are what turned the trick and caused a bond of friendship to spring up immediately between the club and Professor Cheney. He told them just what he had in his heart in a way that won him everlasting friendship and it is to be hoped that his election as a member of the Piano Club means that he will be present at many future meetings.

Canadian Visits

D. M. Wright, president of the McLagan Phonograph Corp., Ltd., Stratford, Ont., spent the first week of August in Chicago. Mr. Wright is the Canadian distributor for the Fletcher-

VIS-MATIC

The Most Wonderful Trade Stimulator and Profit Puller in the Talking Machine Field. Exasperated users groping to touch the record wished for, when wanted, has discouraged the use of machines.

"SELL" every tenth record buyer one VIS-MATIC and the records become at once accessible, accurately, assuredly and with but the finger tips of one hand. Resuscitates the playing of records and using of machines. Old records are discarded. New records and even machines purchased. THE PULMOTOR OF THE TALKING MACHINE TRADE. "SELL" the first VIS-MATIC and repeat orders are insured. Albums, unused, are discarded. A new lease of life is begun with this easy, convenient, accurate, accessible, instantly automatic, all-open, all-receptive, all-numbered, all-labeled, all-in-one "at-last" accomplishment. The "impossible" overcome. MUCH MORE ACCURATELY AND EASILY ACCESSIBLE UPON A STOOL OR CHAIR OR OPENED UPON THE FLOOR, NEAR THE MACHINE, THAN ANY ALBUM SPREAD OPEN OVER THE REQUIRED LARGE AREA UPON A LARGE SPACE UPON A LARGE TABLE.

VIS-MATIC IS THE AVAILABLE MEANS FOR MAKING SALES. A WONDER WORKER. 10" RECORDS ARE AS INSTANTLY FINDABLE IN THE 12" ALBUMS AS IN THE 10". A MARVELOUS FILING GAIN.

UNYVERSAL UTLYTY UNYTS CO.

6111 Winthrop Ave.

Chicago, U. S. A.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 106)

MELODY CONSOLE

Height 36½, Width 36, Depth 20½. Helman No. 77 Motor, Improved Blood Tone Arm and Reproducer. Genuine Mahogany. List Price $125.00. Dealers' Price, $60.00.

MELODY NATIONAL SALES CO.

190 N. State Street, Chicago, Ill.

Manufacturer

MELODY PORTABLE PHONOGRAPH

Wickes Co., manufacturer of the famous Fletcher tone arms and reproducers. He spent the entire week in company with Messrs. Fletcher and Wickes, in calling on the various wholesale and retail concerns in Chicago. The purpose of the visit was to compare the business methods of manufacturers and retailers in Chicago with those of Canada. Mr. Wright was well pleased with his visit to Chicago.

Speaking of Canadian business, Mr. Wright remarked that the Canadian trade was going along very nicely and was doing a business that was very commendable for this season of the year. "There is one thing I notice about the American business," he said, "and that is that the men are a little slower to take hold after a period of depression, but after they do take hold they go ahead in a remarkable way. In Canada we take hold a little quicker, and when we do take hold we go along in a remarkable way and methodical manner. We are accustomed to take our time, but we get there nevertheless. We are just starting on what we believe will be one of the best seasons we have ever experienced and it would not surprise me in the least if the business of Canada went way over our anticipations."

Oro-Tone Radio Activities

The Oro-Tone Co. has added so greatly to its force of employes within the last few weeks that it is now able to give immediate delivery on Oro-Tone sea-horn loud speakers, precision condensers, vacuum-tube sockets and other accessories incidental to radio. The sea horn marketed by this company is heralded as nature's perfect amplifier. This horn is a genuine sea horn or trumpet shell of the conch family and is a product of the southern seas, recognized for ages as nature's most wonderful and perfect sound amplifier.

This product is a very artistic and ornamental one and comes mounted on a mahogany finished base, complete with phone clamp. They are original conch shells, ranging from twelve to sixteen inches in height and come in three sizes, namely, the twelve, fourteen and sixteen. The horns when shipped from the seaports arrive with the original crusts, and these mosses cling to them, but when completed they are very beautiful and carry a high polish, which brings out each and every color placed there by nature. These colors range from a coral red to a pearl and opal.

The Oro-Tone Co. is also manufacturing, besides its extensive line of high-grade talking machine tone arms, reproducers and Victor-Edison attachments, a very cleverly constructed talking machine spring clamp, which enables the radio fan to use the amplifier of his talking machine as a loud speaker. The phone clamp is attached to the earpiece of the receiver and this in turn is slipped on to the tone arm in place of the reproducer. These clamps are made especially for the utilization of Edison, Victor, Columbia and Oro-Tone tone arms.

Lakeside Activities

The Lakeside Supply Co. has in the past few weeks turned a great deal of its attention to the rural trade, for the purpose of stimulating radio. The Lakeside people have come to learn, through correspondence with rural dealers, that the farmer who a few months ago was just beginning to notice radio has at present taken hold of it, as he now sees its advantages, not only as regards daily market reports, but he now sees the advantages offered him by the musical programs being broadcast each evening.

There is no getting away from the fact that the rural trade took hold of radio very quickly last Spring, when broadcasting was just beginning to be popularized, but the people who took hold of it then were, in a sense, merely the pioneers, who made their purchases and erected their equipment more out of curiosity than anything else. These pioneers have since relegated their curiosity to the background, as they have come to see the practicability of radio, and their neighbors who come from miles around to listen in have also found that radio is not a fad, and they, too, are now coming into the market.

United Motor Success

Much activity is to be seen in and about the plant and offices of the United Mfg. & Distributing Co. This concern, which manufactures the well-known United motor, has within the last week or two increased its output to a percentage which is without doubt five to six times larger than its output of last year. The United motor is gaining more favor each day throughout the trade by virtue of its many exclusive features, particularly its wick lubricating system, which keeps every part in the gear box running in a film of oil. The lubricating system is made possible by the enclosed construction of the motor proper, and this in turn keeps out all foreign material, which has a tendency of getting into and clogging up the gears and other delicate parts of the motor.

Wurlitzer News

Ed H. Uhl, formerly manager of the Chicago division of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., has left for a six months' business and pleasure trip to the Orient, accompanied by Mrs. Uhl.

L. E. Eichholz, formerly credit manager of Wurlitzer's Chicago division, has severed his connections with that company. His plans for the future have not as yet been announced.

Percy Kimberly, formerly retail manager of the Cable Piano Co.'s Chicago branch, is now manager of the Chicago division of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. Mr. Kimberly is one of the old-timers in the music game and is a very popular man in the Chicago trade.

Hans Schloessinger, formerly manager of the Wurlitzer Co.'s wholesale Victrola division at Chicago, has resigned his position to open an exclusive retail Victor shop in Albany Park. The new retail shop was opened on August 1, and nearly every man connected with the Victor jobbers of Chicago attended the grand opening.

(Continued on page 108)

THE NEW ORO-TONE CONCERT EDISON EQUIPMENT

No. 2-E. C.

MAY WE SEND SAMPLE ON APPROVAL?

You and Your Customers will be Delighted with the Deep, Powerful Tone Quality
 Operated with the raising and lowering lever the same as the regular Edison reproducer.
 Retail price—Highest grade nickel plate..... $7.25
 Retail price—Highest grade gold plate..... 9.25
 Usual Discount to Dealers

The above prices include this very essential and attractive needle cup case. Substantial and durable mahogany color leatherette. Fitted with gun metal finish needle cups as shown. Just what every Edison phonograph requires for needles and to hold either reproducer when the same is not in use. These cases will be supplied separately at 25c. each, less the usual discount.

Order Your Sample To-day—It Will Be Sent on Approval
 Send for Folder Showing Wireless Equipment

THE ORO-TONE CO.

Manufacturers of Highest Grade Phonograph and Wireless Equipment
 1000 to 1010 George Street, Chicago, Ills.

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 107)

L. E. Noble, who formerly looked after the management of Wurlitzer's Chicago division, retail Victor department, is now also in charge of the company's wholesale Victor department, assuming the duties of Mr. Schloessinger. Mr. Noble left Chicago on August 5 for an auto trip to northern Wisconsin. He intends to hit the wildest parts of Wisconsin and spend his two weeks fishing.

A. J. Tucker, formerly connected with the traveling forces of the Columbia Co.'s Chicago branch, has now affiliated himself with the Wurlitzer Co., as wholesale Victor traveler, and will cover Illinois.

H. Elthorn has again taken up activities with the traveling force of the Wurlitzer Co. Mr. Elthorn was for a number of years wholesale Victor traveler for this concern, but severed his connections some time ago. His new duties with the Wurlitzer Co. are in the wholesale Victor traveling forces and he will cover the Indiana and Michigan territory for this concern.

Brunswick Picnic a Great Success

Rainbo Spring, St. Charles, Ill., was the scene of much gayety on July 16, when the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. held its annual picnic. There was nearly a 100 per cent attendance among officers and employes of this company and everyone proclaimed after the picnic that it was the best one ever held.

Unico Mid-West Activities

W. D. Montgomery, district manager of Unico's Chicago division, is being kept very busy calling on the Central West trade. He recently made a trip through the St. Louis-Omaha section and the day after his return he left for Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and other North Central points. He reports that dealers in all sections are anticipating good Fall business and are making preparations accordingly. There are more dealers remodeling and equipping their stores with the latest fixtures than there have been for a couple of years.

While in East St. Louis Mr. Montgomery closed a deal with the Lehman Music House, of that city, for extensive remodeling. The Unico Co. has already begun working on this store and expects to have it finished for a grand opening on or about September 15. The equipment will consist of specially designed fixtures in ivory finish, and the lighting system will be of the indirect type. In all there will be fourteen of the Unico's most modern designed hearing rooms and demonstration booths. In a sense the store will be set up on the order of Ted Snyder's Music Shop

STERLING

The Sterling Reproducer with Edison Attachment plays any and all records. It is different from other Edison Attachments. It is the only attachment that can be successfully operated by the lever the same as the Edison Reproducer. Distinguished for its clear, flexible, non-metallic tone. Supplied also with Victor and Columbia attachments.

STERLING DEVICES CO.

Manufacturers of
No. 11 Sterling non-infringing tone arm, the Sterling No. 31 tone arm with non-set automatic stop, the Sterling No. 41 non-tapering tone arm and No. 82 Sterling Throw-Back tone arm. Also the Sterling Radio Head-set.

1819-21 CARROLL AVE. CHICAGO

in Chicago, and when completed will be one of the most attractive retail music stores in East St. Louis. The company carries a complete Victor line of talking machines and records, as well as a line of high-grade upright grands, player-pianos, small goods and sheet music.

New Jewel Products

The Jewel Phonoparts Co., through Vice-president and Sales Manager A. B. Cornell, announces that on September 15 it will offer to the trade its new line of tone arms, reproducers and attachments. This new line is very comprehensive and designed so as to meet all requirements. All the new goods contain original patented improvements, the like of which has never before been offered to the trade. One of the reproducers is designed for the purpose of playing either hill-and-dale or lateral-cut records, as desired. The patented features of this new Jewel attachment are brought into action when playing hill-and-dale records. Instead of the diaphragm being turned to face toward the front of the machine, it is so arranged that it will swing down and under so as to face flatly against the upper surface of the record. This enables Edison records to be played on other machines when the reproducer is in proper position. The stylus bar is also arranged with a double needle holder, one going directly from the end of the stylus bar, for playing lateral-cut records and the other one going out at an angle of forty-five degrees from the anterior surface of the stylus bar, so that the needle may be held in proper position when playing Edison records.

Another Jewel feature is a spring tension tone arm which properly distributes the weight over the surface of the record. This spring tension is longitudinally situated on the inferior external surface of the tone arm.

Still another new Jewel feature is the bell-base tone arm. This is so arranged that the roller bearing and collar joint are completely hidden from view by a bell-shape extension or continuance of the body of the tone arm. When mounted on the talking machine this tone arm is very attractive and the design not only lends beauty, but prevents the encroachment of dust particles upon the roller-bearing system.

The stylus bars of all these new Jewel products carry a special feature which is thoroughly patented and which Mr. Cornell claims has never been offered to the trade before. This comprises a new construction which permits the playing of Edison records with a fiber needle. Manufacturers have already written for samples of these new Jewel products, but Mr. Cornell says that they will in no case be offered to the trade prior to the aforementioned date, September 15.

Selling in Spite of the Strike

During the street car strike the music men throughout the Loop called for and delivered their prospects via automobile, and in this way they kept their business on a fairly normal basis. Orders for the latest releases of records, music rolls and sheet music were taken over the phone, as was the case with the department stores.

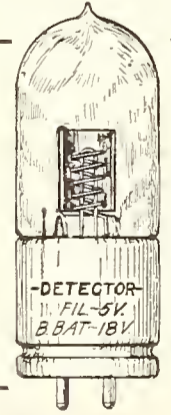

The Victor jobbers of Chicago met a few days prior to the first of the month for the purpose of working out a plan whereby the August releases of Victor records would be on the market in good time. Proposal was made that the August releases go on sale two days before schedule and this proposal was carried out. Consequently, for the first time in history, monthly releases of Victor records were put on the market ahead of the

LAKESIDE — EVERYTHING IN RADIO

A HIGH GRADE
DETECTOR TUBE

TRY ONE AND YOU'LL WANT MORE

List $5.00

NEW TYPE
Balanced Condenser

TRY THESE FOR CLOSE ADJUSTMENT

14 Plate.....	List $3.00
22 Plate.....	List 4.00
42 Plate.....	List 5.00

LAKESIDE SUPPLY COMPANY, 339 So. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois
PHONE HARRISON 3840

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 108)

regular schedule, beating said schedule by at least two days. The August Victor library, however, was not offered to the trade in any other section of the country ahead of the regular date. This idea of advancing the schedule two days prior to the car strike enabled Victor dealers in all parts of the city to get the August records to the public in good time before the strike.

New Chicago Retail Openings

That a concerted effort is being made by music dealers of Chicago for new and bigger business this Fall is shown by the many new retail stores being opened and by the vast program of alterations and remodeling now being carried out by progressive houses.

Among the foremost of these is the J. M. Dvorak Music Co., which opened its new store at 3844 West Twenty-sixth street on August 1. The new shop is located in a modern two-story building which affords the company a great deal more space than heretofore and thus enables it to handle a larger line of talking machines and pianos. The original location of this company was at Crawford avenue and Twenty-sixth street, but it was decided that these quarters would be inadequate for the contemplated activities beginning August 1. Besides a full line of Victor goods, the Dvorak Music Co. is handling upright, grand and player-pianos.

Another new retail shop which was opened in Chicago on August 1 was that of F. H. Clark, formerly of the Reichardt Piano Co., at 2135 North California avenue. This gentleman has had a great deal of experience in retail sales.

Visits Chicago

T. G. Devine, Kansas City representative of the Columbia Graphophone Co., was a recent visitor to Chicago. He stopped here while en route to Kansas City from a vacation trip spent in the northern part of Canada.

Radio Show in October

Chicago is to have an official radio exposition from October 14 to 21, which has been endorsed by the Chicago Executive Radio Council. The Coliseum has been selected as the place, and the time is one considered highly advantageous from the standpoint of those who manufacture and market radio instruments. To those interested in radio throughout the United States, among which, of course, are included large numbers of music merchants, a communication has been directed by the Chicago Executive Council, setting forth that it was the voice of the meeting of the Executive Radio Council that there should be but one annual radio show for manufacturers held in Chicago. "Before giving this endorsement," it says, "we took into consideration the caliber, ability and financial responsibility of the Chicago Radio Show management, the location and adaptability of the Coliseum, which is Chicago's big exposition building and the only suitable place for holding a show of the importance such as the magnitude of radio merits. The October dates we consider particularly opportune for stimulating the best interests of radio."

A radio show of this nature and magnitude will provide an excellent opportunity for those music merchants who are interested in radio and who want to settle upon a definite line of radio merchandise, to inspect the latest improvements in all their varied forms under one roof and at one time. A large sum of money will be expended before the doors are open, according to James F. Kerr, manager; forty per cent of the amount being appropriated for advertising in newspapers and on billboards. The Coliseum, being an internationally known center of trade expositions, will not only provide excellent facilities for display of the many different radio companies planning to exhibit, but will also lend color to the proposition and give it an aspect of importance calculated to impress people of Chicago. The show is under the direction of men of unlimited experience and the ability to make an unqualified success of the event.

New Blood Equipment

The Blood Tone Arm Co. has just added a new tone arm and reproducer to its list, which embodies a new principle. Hitherto it has always been the custom to confine the weight of the reproducer to five and one half or six ounces, as the record will not stand a greater pressure. Although this reproducer weighs twelve ounces, the weight on the record is only five and three-quarters to six ounces, due to a novel arrangement of parts. Another thing, there is but one joint to contend with, which is so accurately made that it can't rattle. "We are using only the best two nine-sixteenths mica in this equipment, as we have found that there is nothing that can equal it for detail of tone. This equipment for lateral records is by far the best we have ever built," says Mr. Blood.

MANY TALKING MACHINES SHOWN AT PROGRESS PAGEANT

Chicago's Annual Civic Show, Held on the Big Municipal Pier, Attracts Great Crowds—Something of the Displays and Those Who Made Them—Radio Not Strongly in Evidence

CHICAGO, ILL., August 7.—Chicago's Pageant of Progress opened its doors to the public on the morning of July 29. The Pageant is an annual affair, under the auspices of the city fathers; and is, in fact, an annual world's fair. It is held on Chicago's big Municipal Pier, and commercial exhibits from all over the world are shown. Particular attention is always paid to the activities of the industries of the City of Chicago and the State of Illinois. The show closes on August 14.

This year elaborate preparations were made for music. Last year music was neglected, but this year it is well out in the limelight. In fact, music bosses the show and is to be heard in every style, from grand opera to the latest popular songs, with exhibits of every conceivable kind of musical instruments well in evidence.

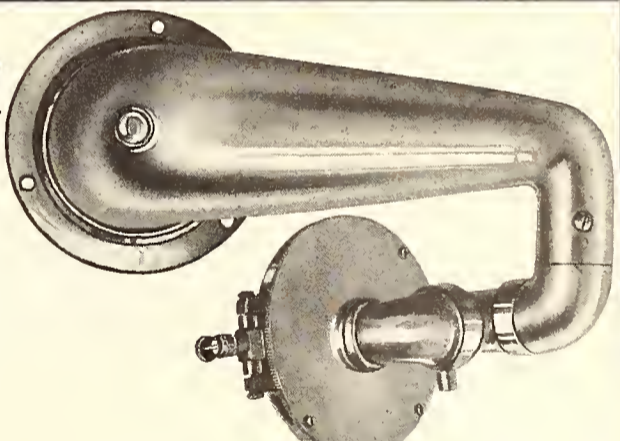

(Continued on page 110)

The BLOOD Arm

326 RIVER STREET CHICAGO

Because of manufacturers claiming to sell Blood Arms, we wish to inform the trade that we are the only manufacturers of Blood products.

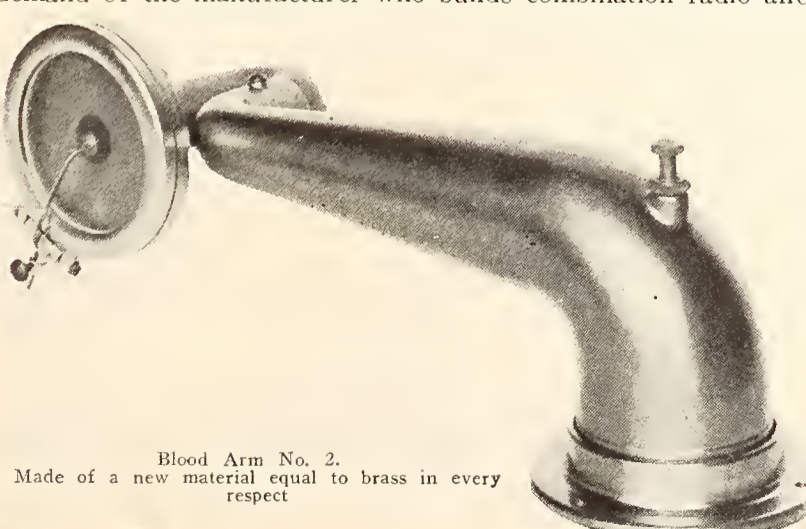

Notice perfect alignment of Arm and Reproducer

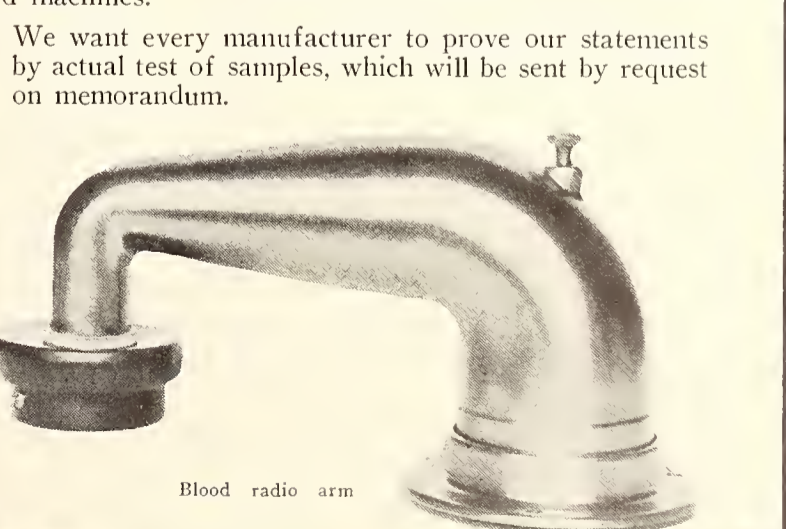

This arm is the consummation of all that is sought after in such a device. Beauty, durability and efficiency are its merits. The high mark of distinction attained by "Blood" products is admirably upheld by this equipment. The price is very low, compared to its high quality.

Blood Arm No. 2 is the best arm that was ever put on a phonograph. For clearness and scope its reproduction is unequalled. Will play equally well with the loudest or softest needle, losing none of its quality in either extreme. In this arm is developed a new principle which has proved of wonderful value in sound reproduction, in that it reproduces in greater detail and much more volume. IF YOU WANT THE BEST GET THIS ARM.

We are also ready to supply a radio arm, which is interchangeable, on the base of our regular arm, designed to meet the demand of the manufacturer who builds combination radio and record machines.

We want every manufacturer to prove our statements by actual test of samples, which will be sent by request on memorandum.

Blood Arm No. 2.
Made of a new material equal to brass in every respect

Blood radio arm

FROM OUR CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 109)

Nearly all exhibitors, especially the talking machine and piano men, took advantage of the opportunity offered them in getting up comprehensive mailing lists. This was done by means of either cards or visitors' registers. In order to induce the people to sign up some of the companies got them in by offering souvenirs or votes on prize instruments. The Jewel Phonoparts Co., Lyon & Healy, Gulbransen-Dickinson, Kranich & Bach and other well-known concerns made use of the vote scheme for the purpose of building up mailing lists. Each visitor was given a small card, whereon he placed his name and address and deposited it in the ballot box. The last evening of the Pageant the drawings will be is constructed so that, in playing hill-and-dale records, the sound box swings under, so that the diaphragm faces over against the record, instead of being merely swung sidewise, as is generally the case. The stylus bar is designed so that a needle may be inserted at an angle of forty-five degrees downward from the foot of the diaphragm. These new stylus bars carry special patented improvements that permit the use of fibre needles when playing either the hill-and-dale or the lateral records. The exhibit was in charge of A. B. Cornell, who had his booths arranged to show seven different types of tone arms that his company manufactures. These were on display in a handsome showcase and they were also seen

REGAL

PREDOMINATES
IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

Wallace Institute

The Wallace Institute of Chicago exhibited its well-known line of Wallace reducing records. The display was in charge of Walter C. Eckhardt and much interest was developed in the demonstration of "How to Get Thin to Music." A beautiful young lady demonstrated the use of the records to onlookers and the walls of the booth exhibited life-size "before and after" photographs of women who sent testimonials.

Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co.

The Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., was on deck with a complete line of Steger instruments, both pianos and talking machines. The piano exhibit comprised all models of uprights, grands and player-pianos, as well as a complete showing of upright and console talking machines.

Starr Piano Co.

The Starr Piano Co. exhibited its lines of talking machines, records and pianos. This exhibit was in charge of F. D. Wiggins, of the Starr Co.'s Chicago branch. The background of this booth was taken up by a heroic facsimile of a Gennett record.

Magnola Talking Machine Co.

The Magnola Talking Machine Co., together with its parent concern, the M. Schulz Co., attracted considerable attention with its lines of Magnola talking machines and M. Schulz pianos, such as uprights, grands and players. The company's new small grand was featured strongly. This company was one of the few which took advantage of seasonal trade stimulators in the form made at each company's booth and the winners will receive a tone arm, banjo, piano or something else, as the case may be.

Partial View of Jewel Phonoparts Exhibit

Jewel Phonoparts Co.

The Jewel Phonoparts Co. displayed a full line of its product and special attention was called to its new "throw under" tone arm. This Co., of Iowa City, Iowa, exhibited, under the direction of L. J. Ingram, sales manager, and F. W. Kracher, advertising manager, its full line, with special emphasis on its Claxtonola Portable. The portable was shown by itself, backed by a very artistic setting suggesting a camping spot in the woods.

Brenard Mfg. Co.

The Brenard Mfg.

Burns-Pollock Electric Mfg. Co.

The Burns-Pollock Electric Mfg. Co., of Indiana Harbor, Ind., exhibited its well-known Capitol talking machine in copper, silver and gold. This is in the form of a handsome electric table lamp, the base of which is utilized as an amplifier. The exhibit was in charge of I. Rosenthal.

VITANOLA

The Phonograph of Marvelous Tone

News of Importance

No. 43—List $125.00

Write us for DEALER'S price

We are now opening new agencies, and if YOU are a live dealer who appreciates merchandise of the highest quality, carrying a dealer profit, too, that makes it a line far "above par," please write.

We need some dealers to join the hundreds of OLD Vitanola dealers who continue to handle and make a success of what one of them characterizes as "the one line we never had a kick on."

When you get our proposition we think you will be glad you wrote, so at least investigate—and "do it now."

We now have in process an entirely new line of uprights and consoles, at prices that will make them predominate in the customer's eye and attention. You may have descriptions and prices NOW, if you drop us a line.

"IT IS EASIER TO SELL THE VITANOLA THAN TO COMPETE WITH IT"

Good Salesmen Wanted to Represent Us in Territory Not Already Closed

Vitanola Talking Machine Co.

1920 So. 52nd Avenue

Cicero, Ill.

of fans, which were passed out to the visitors. All during the Pageant the fans were much in demand and continually in use.

Lyon & Healy

The Lyon & Healy exhibit consisted of "everything known in music" and radio. This exhibit was in charge of Charles Hindringer, who was ably assisted by a corps of workers from Lyon & Healy's sales force. This exhibit was really remarkable, as there was nothing in the way of a musical instrument which could not be seen. Their radio exhibit consisted of all the well-known radio products, such as Aeriola, junior and senior sets; De Forest equipment, De Veau loud-speakers, Clapp-Eastham receiving sets, Bowman radio receivers, Remler supplies, etc. Quite a bit of attention was centered about the Lyon & Healy Victor exhibit, which comprised a full line of Victor talking machines, and special attention was given to the new Victrola model No. 111.

O. W. Richardson & Co.

O. W. Richardson & Co., one of the largest furniture stores in the Loop, exhibited a full line of their wares and paid particular attention to the talking machines it carries. The talking machines on exhibit at this company's booth were Widcomb, Aeolian and Sonora, as well as a library of Aeolian records. The exhibit was in charge of A. J. Gosswiller, sales manager of the talking machine department, who was assisted by J. W. Lane.

Detmer Piano Co.

The Detmer Piano Co. exhibited its line of upright and console talking machines and attracted the kiddies with little paper cut-outs of the product it handles.

Radio Displays Few

It had been anticipated right along that radio would be a more prominent feature at this year's exhibit than music. However, as an actual fact, there were very few radios, whereas there were very many musical instruments. The companies exhibiting their wares were as follows:

The booth of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. was in charge of A. D. Turner, publicity representative. The exhibit consisted of an extensive line of electrical equipment, together with the detector units they manufacture. The Radio Corp. of America distributes the product of Westinghouse and much activity was centered about its Aeriola receiving sets.

The Commonwealth Edison Co. exhibited a full line of electrical equipment for the home, as well as its line of Federal electrically driven talking machines. This company also retails Grebe receiving sets, which were exhibited in both the table model and talking machine cabinets.

The Magnavox Co., of Oakland, Cal., was last year, and again this year, the official announcer and broadcaster of the Pageant. Every place that a visitor went he was sure to see a Magnavox and hear it making announcements. The official press car of the Pageant was also equipped with a broadcasting station which made use of the Magnavox loud-speaking unit, and this in itself attracted attention not only at the pier, but also over the Loop as well.

Loud speaking units manufactured by the Western Electric Co., as well as a modern broadcasting station manufactured by this company, were on exhibit at the Western Electric booth. The particular type of broadcasting station manufactured by this company is identical with the one made use of by the Chicago Daily News in broadcasting its evening concerts.

Paul G. Niehoff & Co., of Chicago, exhibited their line of Resodon detector and audio-frequency-radio-frequency receiving units. This exhibit was in charge of C. E. Niehoff and was the only display of this type of radio on the pier.

The General Electric Co. attracted attention to its booth with its loud-speaker unit and demonstration of detector, amplifying and broadcasting tubes.

Other Musical Exhibits

Other corporations and firms exhibiting musical instruments of sundry kinds were: Gulbransen-Dickinson Co., player-pianos; Kranich & Bach, "Grandette" pianos; Samuel C. Osborne Mfg. Co., pianos; Conn Chicago Co., band instruments; Martin Band Instrument Co., band instruments; Ludwig & Ludwig, drums and traps; Geo. C. Diver, Holton band instruments; E. A. Couturier Band Instrument Co., band instruments; Wilson Bros. Mfg. Co., drums; Six Brown Brothers, Buescher saxophones; Illinois Vocational Training, piano tuning, School for the Blind.

RECORDS FOR SENATOR'S CAMPAIGN

Senator France, of Maryland, Plans to Use 50,000 Talking Machine Records to Aid Him in Forthcoming Fight for Re-election

BALTIMORE, Md., August 9.—The phonograph is going to make its debut as a factor in politics in Maryland next week when United States Senator Joseph Irvin France, who is being opposed in the Republican primary by John W. Garrett, is going to send out some 50,000 records to the voters of the State on one side of which will be the "Star Spangled Banner," by the Marine Band, of Washington, and "Maryland, My Maryland," by the Fifth Regiment Band, of Maryland, while on the other side will be the Senator's history in public life.

The records are to be distributed free throughout the State by phonograph dealers. Each recipient will be asked to pass his record along after he has played it for the family several times. So the musical campaign will be more or less on the order of a chain letter, plus the charms that music has to offer.

In the country districts the records are expected to prove an efficient method of campaigning, for people don't like to travel long distances to attend political meetings, and farmers especially are busy these days.

As this is the first time in the history of Maryland that phonograph records have been put to use to get votes, the experiment is being watched with considerable interest.

R. N. Parker, of Enfield, Ill., recently added the Columbia line to its stock.

THE EMPIRE UNIVERSAL TONE ARMS

Will Give Your Product Individuality That Will Greatly Strengthen Its Selling Force

Send for sample of our new
Tone Arm for Portable
Machines.

We invite a personal test. There is nothing more convincing. Order a sample arm and test it out. It will win you on merit only. Our prices are low and the quality second to none.

Write or wire us for samples and quotations and give us an outline of your requirements.

THE EMPIRE PHONO PARTS COMPANY, 1362 East Third Street, Cleveland, O.

Established in 1914

Manufacturers of High-Grade Tone Arms and Reproducers

W. J. McNAMARA, President

BAGSHAW

First in Use—First in Sales—First in Satisfaction

NEEDLES

THE W. H. BAGSHAW Company are the Oldest and Largest Manufacturers of Talking Machine Needles in the World. Of course, they make the needles that stand first in the esteem of the public, the dealer and the jobber: Brilliantone and Petmecky Steel Phonograph Needles.

W.H.BAGSHAW CO.

FACTORIES: LOWELL, MASS.

SELLING AGENTS

BRILLIANTONE STEEL NEEDLE CO. OF AMERICA
INCORPORATED

347 FIFTH AVENUE

AT 34th STREET

NEW YORK

SUITE 610

Everybody's Doing it~

Phonograph Departments and Stores everywhere are selling Brilliantone Needles in tin boxes, on which their names are imprinted. These stores know the value of having their names go into customers' homes. They know that every time a phonograph is played their name is seen and their store remembered.

Brilliantone Needles

*Packed Expressly for You
With Your Name Imprinted on Orders for 1750 Tin Boxes*

Three Tones: Extra Loud, Loud, Medium

Link your name with the largest manufacturer of talking machine needles in America. Prices and samples upon request. Tell us to whom you desire shipment billed.

BRILLIANTONE STEEL NEEDLE CO.
OF AMERICA, INC.

Selling Agent for W. H. Bagshaw & Co.
Factory: Lowell, Mass.

347 FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK

Canadian Agents: The Musical Merchandise Sales Co.
79 Wellington Street West Toronto, Canada

Let us put
Your name
here

For dance music it's hard to equal Eddie Elkin's Orchestra. "Just Because You're You" and "Rose of Bombay" are two prime peaches that Eddie has picked in the garden of Fox-Trots. A-3648.

Columbia Graphophone Co
NEW YORK

THE TWIN CITIES

Bumper Crops Boom Trade and Optimism Prevails Despite Strikes —Dealers Ordering Fall Stock—All Lines Enjoy Good Demand

MINNEAPOLIS and ST. PAUL, MINN., August 7.—While the Northwest is awaiting the marketing of the predicted bumper crops of grain the talking machine dealers are scratching gravel to get business. Distributing agencies are getting orders for the Fall trade in goodly quantities and the retail merchants are doing a nice Summer business. Labor difficulties are hampering trade considerably, but no serious effects are in evidence as yet, and if the promises of an early settlement between the workers and the employers is effected all will be well.

The entire Northwest is full of enthusiasm and hope and as soon as the leash on industry has been slipped trade will develop. Indications are that grain prices will be remunerative. There is a fear that the prices on potatoes will not satisfy the farmers, and should this be realized it will be a hardship, as many farmers have great crops of potatoes and not much of anything else.

Goodly Demand for Edison Line

It can be said for the Edison distributors and dealers that they seem to live in an atmosphere of prosperity. Laurence H. Lucker, Northwestern distributor, reports that the orders are coming from the rural dealers at a highly satisfactory rate. Some dealers still are very cautious and want to see the grain in the elevators before taking any chances with orders. On the whole, however, the situation is very good. Retail stores in the Twin Cities under the control of the Minnesota Phonograph Co. are doing excellently well. There has been a most gratifying demand for the William and Mary console models at $325 and the baby consoles at $175. Edison records are in good demand, according to Milton Lowy, of the Minneapolis store. It is to be a big year for Edisons if the prospects mean anything.

Starr Reputation Growing

Starr phonographs are winning their way not only in Minneapolis, but in the hinterland, says a report from M. L. McGinnis & Co., distributors. The persistent campaign, backed by the proven merits of the machine, is building up a nice reputation and increasing the volume of business.

RECORDING FOR THE TRADE

We have a modern well-equipped laboratory with facilities for producing the highest grade recordings. We Solicit Your Business

Manhattan Recording Laboratories
48 West 39th St. New York

ness. The Gennett records also are sharing in the growth.

Victor Dealers Enjoy Steady Business

Victrolas are so staple here that the sales run very evenly right along. Retail establishments such as the Golden Rule Store, St. Paul, report substantial increases in trade, with a big call for records all the time, particularly when the new lists appear. Distributing houses such as W. J. Dyer & Bro., St. Paul, and Beckwith-O'Neill Co., Minneapolis, have not yet reached their Fall stride, owing to the handicap imposed by labor troubles.

Open Many New Brunswick Accounts

Brunswick dealers are more than satisfied with their contracts and promise to produce better results than ever before. E. L. Kern, director of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., states that the phonograph department is making a splendid showing and is constantly growing. New contracts are closed continuously.

Reports Substantial Pathé Orders

Manager Sharar, of the phonograph department of G. Sommers & Co., informs The World that Pathé machines and records are holding their own in the Northwestern territory. The new orders are fully as substantial as in former years and he looks for a little avalanche in a few weeks, when some of the present uncertainties have been removed. The record stock is being depleted very rapidly and reorders will soon be necessary.

Fine Vocalion Business

Manager Monson, in behalf of the Stone Piano Co., distributor of Vocalion phonographs and Red records, authorizes the statement that business is fine, not only with the retail store in Minneapolis, but throughout the company's jobbing territory.

PLAN ACTIVE FALL CAMPAIGN

PHILADELPHIA, PA., August 5.—The Phono-tone Co., of this city, manufacturer of the Phono-toner, an attachment for the talking machine devised for the clarifying and softening of the tone, is making energetic plans for the Fall and Winter seasons. Attractive counter cards containing the attachments have been prepared and it is expected that these cards, together with a sample on a demonstrating machine, will act as a valuable sales stimulant.

MANOPHONE CORP. CHANGES NAME

The Manophone Corp., of Adrian, Mich., has increased its capital stock from $250,000 to $400,000, with 25,000 shares of stock of no par value, and has also changed the firm name to the Clough & Warren Co.

JOINS ORMES SALES FORCE

E. B. Losee Will Travel in New York State—
Well Known in Eastern Victor Trade

Clarence L. Price, vice-president and general manager of Ormes, Inc., New York, Victor wholesaler, announced this week the appointment of Ernest B. Losee as a member of the company's traveling staff. Mr. Losee, who is well known in the Victor trade throughout New York State, will represent Ormes, Inc., in this important territory and his intimate familiarity with the requirements of the Victor dealers should enable him to give valuable service to the Ormes clientele in this territory.

During the past three months Mr. Price has been strengthening his sales staff in preparation for the Fall season and to-day his sales force is one of the strongest in the metropolitan territory. The members of the staff include H. C. Hawkins, who covers New York City; J. A. Johnson, who travels through New Jersey territory, and Chester Luhman, who visits the dealers in certain parts of New York State.

A. B. REINCKE VISITS NEW YORK

Arno B. Reincke, president of the Reincke-Ellis Co., Chicago, printers of Victor sales literature, was a recent visitor to New York, calling on his many friends in the trade and bringing with him optimistic reports regarding general business conditions through the country.

Mason & Weidensaul, Victor dealers at Denver, Col., have opened a branch store at Evergreen, Col.

We Have It!

A HIGH-CLASS TABLE MACHINE AT A PRICE THAT SELLS

Mahogany, 16x16x10, Double Spring, Universal
T. A. Back Casting and Metal Horn
Sample Price to Dealers Now—$12.50
Send for Sample To-day
Phonographs and Accessories, Repair Parts for All Makes.
Best Steel Needles of American
Manufacture at 30c. per M.

FULTON TALKING MACHINE CO.
253-255 Third Ave., New York City
Between 20th and 21st Streets

Record Rack

Gothic Design

Display Counter

Zimmerman-Bitter Construction Co.

Specialists in
Sound-Proof Hearing Rooms — Record Racks — Service Counters
 and General Store Equipment for the Talking Machine Trade
WHY EXPERIMENT?

Let us figure on your needs—we can save you money

OFFICES, FACTORY AND WAREHOUSES:

325-327 East 94th Street

New York City

C I N C I N N A T I

Dealers Slow in Placing Orders for Stock—Industrial Differences Hurt Trade—Extra Efforts to Get Orders Well Rewarded

CINCINNATI, O., August 7.—Little change, either of advance or slump, is noted in the talking machine market in this city. Throughout the month sales of records at most houses were very fair—as good as could be expected, according to dealers—but sales of machines were quiet. Jobbers note unwillingness on the part of retailers to “stock up” until considerably later in the season, not caring to burden themselves with large orders until assured that business conditions justify large orders. The tendency is to let the jobbers carry the goods and the risk.

This attitude is due in part, according to C. H. North, secretary of the Ohio Talking Machine Co., jobbers in Victor goods, to a remote fear that prices may drop in all lines. This, Mr. North says, is not likely. The tendency in the general manufacturing policy, he says, is not to decrease prices, but to augment the value of the goods sold, either in appearance, durability or tone quality. For instance, he points out the plan of the Victor interests to gold-plate all metal parts of machines which hitherto have been plated in silver or nickel and to enlarge and amplify sound boxes in order to deepen tone volume. As evidence of this latter tendency he cites the new No. 111 Model Victrola, to sell at $225, which embraces both improvements mentioned above.

J. R. Jones, Indianapolis representative of the Ohio Talking Machine Co., reports a very fair business in and about that city. There is just now a good business in console types. Mr. North doubts that the popularity of the console type will continue to be greater than that of the upright style. The upright, he points out, is much more convenient in most homes, inasmuch as it gracefully occupies any corner, whereas the console type is effective as a furnishing only when placed against a side wall, where it requires greater space.

A. H. Bates, manager of the Ohio Talking Machine Co., visited Lexington, Ky., over the last week-end. The trip was for the purpose of discussing business with Mr. Rowbotham, formerly manager of the Baldwin Victrola Shop in Cincinnati, who has established a store at Lexington. Mr. Bates and Mr. Rowbotham formerly were associated in the talking machine department of Wanamaker's at Philadelphia, where Mr. Bates was manager and Mr. Rowbotham assistant.

Industrial Differences Hurt Trade

The Edison jobbing house here, the New Edison Co., reports a fair business done over the Cincinnati territory, which includes parts of four States, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia. A. E. Oelman, manager of the New Edison Co. here, said that business was progressing as well as disorganized labor conditions and the dull season would permit, and that at such a time when the differences were composed in the industrial world, both general and local, and the usual Fall business opened up, he thought trade would show a general increase.

J. F. VanCourt, of the Otto Grau Piano Co., said: “Business in talking machines and records has been fair. There is nothing in the trade to brag about and until general agreement is made among labor and employers and the hot weather leaves little will be doing.”

Going After Country Business

The Baldwin Piano Co. has been doing a fair business during the last month. Especially was an increase noted in record business, since the inauguration of a new forty-eight-hour approval plan, whereby customers may take their chosen records home, play them and decide in the leisure of two days which most appeal to them. Heretofore the plan has been to refuse the return of rejected records, and the new arrangement already has made a hit with Baldwin customers. Also, the Baldwin Victrola Shop is scouring the territory round about Cincinnati for sales. Two experienced men are touring the nearby territory with a truck, carrying with them three or four Victrolas and an adequate supply of records. These machines and records they sell even as the itinerant bookman in Morley's “Parnassus on Wheels” hawked his books. The plan has resulted in a surprising amount of cash business, and other business as well.

At the Aeolian Co. store, West Fourth street, business has been very fair during July, and the belief is expressed there that as soon as conditions are somewhat revised, probably in the Fall of this year, trade will pick up at once.

Steinway Departments Under Way

H. E. Browning, formerly manager of the Victrola department of the H. & S. Pogue Co., now manager of the talking machine department of Steinway & Sons, dealing in Brunswick products, reported a quiet business during July. “The time,” said Mr. Browning, “is not right for good business and I hardly care to predict when business will be good. Conditions here and everywhere are in too much of a turmoil for even the most experienced observer to predict with any degree of certainty what will come next. We only hope—and work.”

Miss Yates, who succeeded Mr. Browning as head of the Victrola department of the H. & S. Pogue Co., plans to install the flag system of classification of standard records, devised by A. H. Bates, of the Ohio Talking Machine Co.

Some Good Window Displays

The ingenuity of Howard L. Chubb, of the Chubb-Steinberg Music Shop, East Sixth street, in the matter of clever window displays seems to be inexhaustible. His windows are quite the most attractive of any like displays in the city, and one never passes the store without noting a crowd of interested persons viewing the window. The latest innovation is a very lifelike camping scene, with tent, campfire, utensils and all equipment of the vacationist camper. This display is employed to exploit smaller types of Victrolas for camp use and also a clever device which, when the record is played through, silently and instantaneously throws the needle back again to the beginning. Mr. Chubb also is specializing in radio equipment, of which he sells considerable and exploits with like good window displays.

J. E. Henderson Promoted

J. E. Henderson, of the Brunswick selling division in Atlanta, Ga., has been called to take the position of sales manager of the local branch, succeeding Stanley Reis, who has been promoted to director of sales of all the products manufactured by the Brunswick Co. Mr. Henderson was formerly connected with the local branch and was sent from here to Atlanta. Before associating with the company he was connected with the local Columbia headquarters.

L. L. SPENCER VACATIONING

Lloyd L. Spencer, sales manager of the Silas E. Pearsall Co., New York, Victor wholesaler, is at present away on his Summer vacation. Mr. Spencer has left no forwarding address, but it is understood that he is somewhere in the heart of Virginia, making some record scores in golf and taking a well-deserved rest.

The Milton L. Love Music Co., of Denver, Col., has moved from 1519 Larimer street to larger quarters at 1608 Larimer street.

MOTORS

Double spring, plays three 10-inch records without rewinding. Nickel plated, worm drive. Complete with all accessories. Sample $3.25. Special prices in quantity lots. Motor suitable for portable machine.

Pleasing Sound Phonograph Co.

Manufacturers—Jobbers
 204 East 113th St., New York City
 Jobbing Territory Open

REGAL
PREDOMINATES
 IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

WONDERFUL SONG HITS OF 1922

BY JACK SNYDER
America's Youngest Composer

IN MAYTIME
(I LEARNED TO LOVE)
WALTZ

MEET ME NEXT SUNDAY
(I'LL WAIT FOR YOU)
FOX-TROT

SING A SONG
AS YOU WALK ALONG
FOX-TROT

PLAY ME THAT SWEET MELODY
FOX-TROT

ON BAMBOOZLE ISLE
NOVELTY
FOX-TROT

NOVEMBER ROSE
GOOD-BYE WALTZ

I HATE TO BID YOU
GOOD-BYE
YET
(I WILL COME BACK TO YOU)
FOX-TROT

*These Numbers
Are Also Published
For*
ORCHESTRA " BAND "
And
MALE QUARTETTE

" JACK SNYDER'S MELODIES
WILL LIVE FOREVER "

THESE SONGS WILL TAKE YOU OFF YOUR FEET !

John Steel's Feature Song
"IN MAYTIME" (I Learned to Love)

ALSO ON COLUMBIA, GENNETT AND CAMEO RECORDS
John Steel is also singing "NOVEMBER ROSE" (Good-bye)

JACK SNYDER PUBLISHING CO. INC.

The House of Master Compositions" 1658-BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

SING A JACK SNYDER SONG AS YOU WALK ALONG

GLEANINGS from the WORLD of MUSIC

UTILIZING WINDOW PUBLICITY FOR VISITING ARTISTS

"Hooking Up" the Store Window With Visiting Concert Artists, Vaudeville Headliners and Photo Plays Whose Records Are Handled—A Most Profitable Means of Augmenting Sales

The average talking machine record dealer invariably overlooks an excellent opportunity to create record sales by failing to announce in his window the appearance of concert artists and others in his city who program numbers which are found in his record catalog.

A plan of "hooking up" by window publicity with the current appearance of a concert artist, vaudeville headliner and photo plays in which a musical theme is one of the outstanding features has been tried out successfully by only a few dealers in the record field, although in the sheet music trade this idea has been carried out advantageously for a number of years. Particularly is this true with the syndicate stores which invariably announce the appearance of vaudeville performers or others singing particular songs in theatres adjacent to their establishments.

There is no reason why this plan should not receive more attention, as it is a very successful means of adding to sales totals. The dealers in the smaller centers can even use this idea to greater advantage, although in the past they have given it very little attention. In their territory it is often possible, in co-operation with the theatre, concert hall or motion picture house, to receive in return for such window publicity an announcement on the screen of the motion picture or vaudeville theatre and in the program of the concert hall to the effect that given numbers in the program can be obtained at So-and-So's music house.

Owing to the competition in the larger centers it is hardly possibly for an individual dealer to get the support of the theatrical managers in this respect, but this obstacle does not hold true in smaller communities.

There is another value in arranging the window with such current announcements, for, after all, they have a news value—it makes the window a source of information and, if carried out over a period, would result in many people using it as a semi-information bureau. There is little expense attached to the carrying out of the idea, particularly when it is considered that in the majority of cases the results are most substantial.

Too much cannot be said for the well-arranged and artistic window. Practically every one concedes nowadays that it is an important part of any up-to-date store. As one dealer recently remarked: "The show window is the introduction to the store," and no one would suggest the abandonment of arranging therein unusually at-

PLANNING STRONG FALL CAMPAIGN

Irving Berlin, Inc., Makes Big Appropriation for Publicity on Live Numbers

Max Winslow, vice-president and professional manager of Irving Berlin, Inc., returned late last month after a tour of Bermuda and Europe. Shortly after he returned he outlined plans for the Fall professional campaign of his company. The Berlin organization has appropriated a particularly large fund for Fall publicity and the campaign, which in its initial stages is already under way, will feature six songs from the catalog. Probably the feature number will be "While the Years Roll By," which, in a number of tryouts, has exceeded expectations. "Truly," a number from the Pacific Coast, will no doubt follow closely in popularity. "Night," a fox-trot, is quite popular with the orchestras and before the Fall season is well under way it should be quite prominent. The novelty number from the Middle West, "Don't Bring Me Posies" (It's Shoesies I Need), seems assured of no tractive displays. We would like to emphasize, however, that placing in the window material of a news value is an inexpensive adjunct which will attract attention and at the same time give the onlooker a feeling of satisfaction that his time has been well spent.

Where the dealer is able to persuade his local theatre to reciprocate by giving his store a screen announcement the results obtained can hardly be overestimated. Certainly under such a plan the returns are considerable. Take the screen announcement, for instance. If the dealer had to go out and purchase it he might find the expenditure prohibitive and by using the co-operative angle he gets the result without the expense. But even if the theatre fails to co-operate the plan has such merits as a sales-creating medium that it should command the utmost consideration of all dealers who are alive to opportunity.

little success, and "Bring Back My Honey Man" should be a big favorite in vaudeville circles. "Way Down South" and "Don't Wonder I'm Lonesome" are two other Berlin numbers that will be heard from during the weeks to come.

"STORIES" RELEASED

The J. W. Jenkins' Sons Music Co., Kansas City, Mo., just released a new ballad entitled "Stories." The number is from the pens of Richard Powers, Herb Marple and Dick Parkington. It is a combination mother and love song which, as its title indicates, tells a story.

HAS SECOND STORE IN CHARLESTON

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 7.—The United Phonograph Co., of this city, has opened its second store here. The new establishment is located on lower King street, where attractive quarters house the business. A large and complete stock of talking machines, records and musical instruments of all kinds is handled by M. and D. Vane, proprietors.

OH! WHAT A HIT!

The Brilliant Novelty Fox Trot ~

LONESOME MAMA BLUES

The fascinating melody that is keeping the feet of the entire country moving

THE TERRIFIC SALE OF THIS RECORD IS UNPRECEDENTED ABSOLUTELY THE BIGGEST SELLING RECORD of the SEASON!

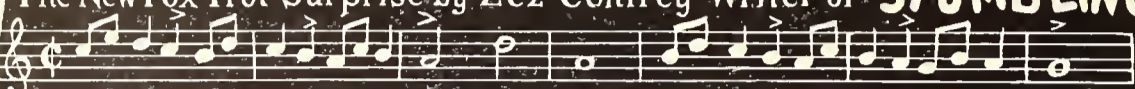

PUBLISHED BY J.W. JENKINS SONS MUSIC CO. KANSAS CITY, MO.

The Tune That Sticks

TRICKS

The New Fox Trot Surprise by "Zez" Confrey Writer of STUMBLING

Very cute tricks, very cute tricks, very cute tricks they played, Wonderful tricks, quite a lot of wonderful tricks,

"You can't go wrong With any FEIST song"

BIDE DUDLEY'S NEW SHOW

Well-known Columnist Produces Musical Comedy Which Promises to Be a Success—Leo Feist, Inc., Publishing the Score

Bide Dudley, the well-known humorist who runs a daily column in the New York Evening World, has at various times tried to "crash the gates" and enter the realm of those who are known as writers and co-writers of musical comedies. This particular chap, who has been more than successful in parading the weaknesses of his fellowman, has, despite his wealth of experience, failed in his endeavors in that direction, with the exception of his latest effort, "Sue, Dear," which recently opened at the Times Square Theatre, New York City. It is true that in this instance the well-known Mr. Dudley was assisted by C. S. Montanye in preparing the book. However, he is exclusively guilty of the lyrics for the songs. The music is by Frank H. Grey, in whom the composing profession acknowledges an energetic worker and a persistent caller at the "doorsteps of publishers."

In extenuation we might say, however, that Mr. Grey, despite his voluminous offerings, has succeeded in writing a number of successes which are nationally acknowledged and to continue further on this line we might add that "Sue, Dear," which is described as a musical comedy of youth, love and beauty, is, as a musical offering, a decided treat.

Among the songs that are incorporated in the show are "Smile and Forget," a very optimistic offering; "Lady Lingerie," "Love's Corporation," "The Loveship," "Hiram Skinner's Comb," full of life; "My Little Full Blown Rose," "Lovers' Lane With You," and to be up-to-date, there is a song "By Radiophone," and the other offerings include "Up on Riverside," "Piggie Wiggle," "Key to My Heart," and "Lorayne." Leo Feist, Inc., publish the music.

SOUSA'S BAND ON TOUR

Famous Conductor and His Company Now Being Heard in Eastern Section of Country—To Write American Opera This Fall

The early Summer tour of Sousa and his band started on July 19 in Albany, N. Y., following which it is booked for engagements in several other cities in upper New York, Canada and Vermont, arriving at Willow Grove, Pa., on August 6, where Sousa will appear for five weeks.

John Philip Sousa and His Band

No announcement has been made of engagements to follow, but it is known that he will accept no bookings after November 1, when he is to return to his home and devote himself to the writing of an opera on a strictly American subject. It is said he has in view for the principal role the world-famous Mary Garden, who some time ago expressed to him a desire to appear in a real American opera with love and romance as the underlying theme.

During the present tour many musical novelties will feature the concert programs by Sousa's

Band. Included in these are: "A Bouquet of Beloved Inspirations," from the well-liked operas; the bandmaster's new march, "The Gallant Seven"; a new suite called "Leaves From My Note-book," "Romany Love," "Nola," "Eleanor."

A real genius of the cornet with the organization is John Dolan, whose thorough musicianship is apparent in the brilliancy and proficiency of his solo work. Among his offerings will be "Love in a Little Cottage" and "Only a Smile," the former work by the well-known Geoffrey O'Hara. Seventy-five musicians are in the organization and the personnel includes Miss Marjorie Moody, soprano; Miss Winifred Bambrick, harpist; George Carey, xylophonist, and R. Meredith Wilson, flautist.

It is understood that Miss Moody will make a feature of the song, "Out of the Dusk to You." This number is by Dorothy Lee, of "One Fleeting Hour" fame.

John P. Schueler, trombonist, is again with the organization. He is credited with giving to the slide trombone the allurements of more generally recognized solo instruments. Then there is the unique instrument, the Sousaphone, invented by the bandmaster and demanding a player of fine ability. William Bell offers novel solos for that inflated member of the "brass" family. The Sousa Band is on the recording staff of the Victor Talking Machine Co.

MARKS CO. SONG A HIT

"Little Red Schoolhouse" Proving a Good Seller, Say Music Dealers

The Edward B. Marks Music Co., publisher of "Little Red Schoolhouse," has received numerous letters from sheet music, record and player roll dealers complimenting it upon the success of the above number.

A letter from the Windsor Poling Co., Akron, O., recently received, reads: "No doubt you will be interested to know that we have had a phenomenal success with the Victor record of 'Little Red Schoolhouse' on the opening day. In fact, it boosted our sales something like $200 in records over any previous Saturday in the last two months."

HEARD THE MOST FROM COAST TO COAST!

The Greatest Series of "INTERNATIONAL" MUSICAL SUCCESSES ever published!!!

1. PARADE OF THE WOODEN SOLDIERS (CHARACTERISTIC INSTRUMENTAL)
2. NO USE CRYING (famous weinen song)
3. JOLLY PETER (BUMMEL PETRUS)
4. SAL-O-MAY (SALOME)
5. LOVE'S LAMENT (plainte d'amour)
6. FORGET-ME-NOT (vergaiss-mein-nicht)

LOOK FOR THE TRADE-MARK IF YOU WISH TO SECURE "REAL MUSIC"

ON SALE EVERYWHERE OR DIRECT FROM THE PUBLISHERS 35¢ EACH 4 FOR $1.00

RECORDS-ROLLS-SHEET-MUSIC

Edward B. Marks Music Co. 222 25th St. New York

MILLIONS OF TOURISTS ACCLAIMED THESE SUCCESSES ABROAD

Each a FOX TROT OR WALTZ GEM! Each a LYRIC OR SONG GEM!

FIVE RECORD-BREAKING SONG HITS

While the Years Roll By

We stake our reputation on this one

Don't Bring Me Posies

It's Shoesies That I Need

This is the Overnight Song Hit everyone is talking about

BRING BACK MY HONEY MAN

A Real Hit Song

TRULY

*Whispering came from the West—
So did this one—Watch it*

NIGHT

The Orchestras' Favorite

IRVING BERLIN, Inc., 1607 Broadway, New York

FINE BRUNSWICK RECORD PUBLICITY

Co-operation of Leading Orchestras in Announcing Melodies Played Supplies Excellent Brunswick Record Publicity in Dallas Theatres

DALLAS, TEX., August 7.—An unusually effective plan for obtaining publicity for Brunswick records, and one in which the leading orchestras of the records are secured by the company for the use of local orchestras. An enlarged photographic reproduction of the Brunswick label is placed on a stand beside the leader of the orchestra playing. The name of the tune and that of the publisher is interchangeable and when the orchestra changes tunes the title and the name of the publisher are changed on the large label on the stand.

Three of the leading orchestras of the city, which have been playing selections appearing on Brunswick records, are using these stands through the efforts of Mr. Smith and widespread publicity for the Brunswick records, the Brunswick Shop and the publishers of the music has resulted. The names of the selections are easily seen by those listening to the music.

This is in line with a growing realization of the value to be derived by dealers in the sale of records, music rolls and sheet music throughout the country by having orchestras announce in some manner the melodies as they are played.

NEW SONGS FOR MARKS CO.

Several New Numbers Announced for Release by E. B. Marks Music Co.

Since its removal to its new quarters in the Navex Building on Forty-sixth street, next to the home of the National Vaudeville Artists, the Edward B. Marks Music Co. has shown unusual activity. Its new location is ideal for the reception of vaudeville artists and orchestra leaders, and the result is that the professional, bank and orchestra and executive departments are quite busy.

Edward B. Marks, head of the music publishing concern bearing his name, recently announced the acquisition of a number of new songs by prominent writers. Included in these are "Way Down Home," by Walter Donaldson, writer of "Georgia," "Mammy," "Gin, Gin, Ginny Shore," and other successes; "At the Darktown Flappers' Ball," by Bernie Grossman and Irving Maslof, writers of "Tell Her at Twilight," and a new promising number by Bennie Davis, writer of "Margie," "Angel Child," etc. Other numbers have been selected from the pens of Pete Wendling and Max Kortlander, who in the past have contributed many popular hits to the world of music.

This new announcement includes the news that the Edward B. Marks Music Co. has arranged a contract with Gus Edwards whereby the Marks firm will publish his two latest numbers, "Wonderful You," and "Let's Mend the Crack in the Liberty Bell."

"Wonderful You" is a melody fox-trot song, with a lyric that should assist it greatly in achieving popularity. "Let's Mend the Crack in the Liberty Bell" is a very catchy tune with clever and timely lyrics by Will D. Cobb.

Both of the latter numbers are features in Gus Edwards' Fifteenth Annual Song Revue now playing the Orpheum Circuit and are also featured in Murray's new revue by Miss Nester and Mario Villani.

How Orchestras Tie Up With the Record this city play a large part, has been formulated by H. B. Smith, of the record department of the Brunswick Phonograph Shop, 1211 Elm street, this city.

Orchestrations of the selections appearing on

THE 19TH HOLE

Get HIM a copy today
It's funny-of course

IF HE GOLFS — HE will enjoy this NEW "Sportsong"

*"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"*

SHEET MUSIC WITH UKULELE ARRANGEMENT PLANNED

Jerome Harris, of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., Interesting Music Publishers in Plan Whereby Popular Music Will Contain a Ukulele Score Printed on Flyleaf of Each Song

Next to the talking machine the ukulele is one of the popular musical instruments of the day. In this connection we may mention that Jerome Harris, secretary of C. Bruno & Son, Inc., New York, musical merchandise wholesaler, has evolved a very feasible and practical plan for tying up the sale of sheet music with the ukulele. He recognizes that most sheet music dealers sell ukuleles and vice versa.

Jerome Harris

Mr. Harris recommends that the music publishers print on the flyleaf of each new song release a ukulele accompaniment arrangement of the number. This plan is being carefully considered by the music publishers who realize that its adoption will afford them a greater scope for the sale of their numbers.

Mr. Harris' co-operative idea should stimulate business in ukuleles and in sheet music. Persons who see the ukulele arrangement on songs will decide to purchase instruments and learn to play, while on the other hand ukulele players will purchase copies of songs which have ukulele arrangements. Many ukulele owners now content themselves with a hit-or-miss method of finding chords and this plan will enable them to take a keener interest in playing the ukulele. It will thus result in a wider demand for the better grade instruments.

Mr. Harris points out that his own experience shows him that every gathering-place for young people of Summer evenings finds from one to a dozen ukulele players. Nearly all of them make random attempts to produce the best music possible since they are unable to find a correct arrangement of the latest hits.

Mr. Harris further points out that publishers have long followed the custom of adding quartet or march arrangements on many of the new numbers. He reasons that since there is no real demand at present for either quartet or march arrangements this space can be profitably devoted to an arrangement of the number for the ukulele.

TWO NEW FEIST NUMBERS

"Coal Black Mammy" and "The Nineteenth Hole" Already Very Popular

Among the new songs added to the catalog of Leo Feist, Inc., is the English success, "Coal Black Mammy," originally published by Francis, Day & Hunter, and written by Laddie Cliff, who is well known through a series of vaudeville tours made in this country. It is said that "Coal Black Mammy" has been the biggest popular song hit ever published in England, not only

Mr. Harris has already held conferences with several of the more prominent publishers. He has placed his plan before them and urged that they put it into immediate operation. In nearly all cases he reports that the idea has secured the hearty approval of the publishers, who recognize the opportunity of increasing the demand and widening the market for the sale of popular song hits. It is Mr. Harris' conviction that the adoption of the plan will benefit all concerned and, through a personal letter just sent out he is inviting the co-operation of the trade.

from a vocal standpoint but also as an instrumental fox-trot. It has already been heard in this country, having been introduced by Ethel Levy, for whom the song was restricted during her recent vaudeville tour. It is also the feature song in the Canadian soldier show, "The Dumbbells," which has played steadily in Canada for over two years.

"The Nineteenth Hole," also recently released by Feist, is said to be the first golf song ever published. It is a comedy number which has achieved some success, this despite the fact that it is only a few weeks old. As a follow-up song to "Three o'Clock in the Morning," Feist has also released the English waltz "Lovely Lucerne."

SINGS "IN MAYTIME" AT WEDDING

John Steele Features That Song at Pickford-Miller Nuptials in California

John Steele, well-known American tenor, attended the Pickford-Miller wedding in California early this month and took part in the musical program connected with the festivities. Among the songs he sang was "In Maytime" (I Learned to Love You), a number which he has featured on his tour of the country. Mr. Steele is now appearing in the Middle West and Jack Snyder, Inc., the publisher of the song, recently received a letter from him in which he stated that "In Maytime" (I Learned to Love You) is being received favorably everywhere.

ARTISTS FEATURING "IN MAYTIME"

Among the vaudeville headliners featuring songs published by Jack Snyder, Inc., is Charles Adams, now appearing in the act of Jack Wilson, the well-known vaudevillian. He is singing with success "In Maytime" (I Learned to Love You) and "Meet Me Next Sunday." Dolly St. John, who recently appeared at the Loew Lincoln Square Theatre, New York, is using the former number as the musical theme for her act. Many other prominent vaudeville singers are also using "Meet Me Next Sunday."

The George M. Cohan Comedians opened at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, July 31, in Mr. Cohan's new musical play, "Little Nelly Kelly," in which Elizabeth Hines is featured. Julian Mitchell arranged the dances. Mr. Cohan is responsible for book, lyrics and music of "Little Nelly Kelly." The consensus of opinion among those who have been privileged to witness rehearsals is solidly one of enthusiasm for the new piece and many predict big things for the score, which is published by M. Witmark & Sons.

ROMANY LOVE

The New Gypsy Fox Trot Hit

The New High Class Ballad Success

"Only a Smile"

Three Active Sellers
STOCK THEM IN RECORDS
PLAYER ROLLS and SHEET MUSIC

"Romany Love," "Nola" and
"Only a Smile"

SAM FOX  PUB. CO.
New York Cleveland, O.

NOLA

The Dance Sensation

Widdicomb console phonographs have many distinctive features of design. The Adam model illustrated is finished in Red or Antique Mahogany, or Walnut, and is equipped with divided top, partitions for albums, automatic stop and patented tone control. The Widdicomb plays all records. New prices range from $90.00 to $260.00.

Merchants with the Widdicomb franchise find that they are building a steadily increasing prestige and patronage among discriminating buyers. If you are really interested in increasing your business with the best class of trade write for catalog and complete information regarding the Widdicomb franchise.

THE WIDDICOMB FURNITURE COMPANY
Grand Rapids, Michigan
Fine Furniture Designers Since 1865

Widdicomb
PHONOGRAPH
The Aristocrat of Phonographs

In an effort to discover the cause of a marked decline in sales of phonographs, the National Retail Dry Goods Association recently sent out a questionnaire. The results of this survey have just been formulated.

The high prices of phonograph records was another complaint made by the stores, which have been able to increase business during this period, have done so through the sale of low-priced records selling for about 49 cents. They contend that these records have the same quality and class of music as is furnished on the more expensive records, and, although the lasting qualities of the cheaper record may not be as good, the service to the public is just as satisfactory because the average life of the popular dance record is only about two months, so these records will fully suffice for that time.

READ
*what the National Retail
 Dry Goods Ass.
 says about the 50¢ RECORD*

Banner 50c. Records

have been a great factor in helping the dealer increase his record sales.

People see that BANNER gives full 75c. value—in tone—in recording quality—in durability—in every way!

Therefore they buy BANNER. They tell their friends and they, too, buy. They all buy—continually—because they get the quality they want at the price they are willing to pay.

That's the story in a nutshell! That explains why BANNER turnover is so rapid and so certain. And it explains why BANNER dealers are continually stepping into new and bigger business.

You, too, need BANNER now. With its up-to-the-minute hit list, plus the 50c. price, plus the BANNER quality, it is an unusual sales producer.

Write for the proposition today.

PLAZA MUSIC CO.
 18 West 20th St. New York

BUFFALO

*Despite Handicaps From Strikes
 Trade Is of Fair Volume—Some Live Trade Happenings of Month*

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 7.—There is a wide difference in reports of talking machine and record business as gathered from the wholesale and retail dealers of the city. While some retailers say the depression in business was more than seasonal others say the volume of sales was much better than they had anticipated. One or two large retailers say July was their best month of this year, as compared with the corresponding period of 1921.

Certainly dealers have seldom had so many obstacles to overcome in attempting to produce a good month's business. For some time before the month began there had been strikes of railroad shopmen and dock employes. These strikes, in addition to throwing thousands of men out of employment, had the greater effect in causing uncertainty of employment among other transportation men.

Then, on July 1, came the strike of trolley operators. Service was at a standstill for several weeks and, when it was resumed with the use of strikebreakers, the cars carried few passengers. A makeshift jitney service which was offered was unreliable at best and thousands of persons who visit the shopping district one or more times each week have been staying at home.

Facing all these handicaps plus that of the season, it is nothing short of remarkable that business was as good as it was during the past month. There is a feeling among dealers that the early Fall is going to witness a revival of buying on a scale such as has not been known for the past eighteen or twenty months.

C. N. Andrews, Victor jobber, has returned, after accompanying a delegation of Buffalo Rotarians, who visited the Rotary clubs of Cleveland and Detroit. Mr. Andrews reports retailers eagerly awaiting distribution of the new Victrola 111. He predicts that it will be especially popular in this district, with the motor equipment which is to be offered at a smaller additional cost than has been the rule heretofore.

Meetings of the Victor Talking Machine Dealers' Association of Western New York are to be resumed early in September. It is planned to hold meetings throughout the Fall and Winter at least once a month. The Music Group of the Chamber of Commerce will also resume its meetings in September, Chairman Andrews has announced. He is now preparing a program of activities which he will outline to the group at its first meeting.

An especially attractive Sonora department will have place in the enlarged store of the John G. Schuler Piano Co., in Main street, near West Utica street. The company has leased the store-room adjoining its present quarters and is having the two thrown into one large store. New show windows and fixtures are being installed and many improvements made.

Goold Bros. announce the opening of their third music store, in Main street, Medina, N. Y. G. V. Lynch, who was formerly with the J. N. Adam music store here, is manager of the Medina store, in which a line of talking machines will be carried.

A brand new feature has just been added to the attractive talking machine department of the William Hengerer Co. It is an "exercise room," set apart and specially furnished for demonstration of the new reducing records. Charts adorn the walls and not only show how the record exercises are to be executed, but others also show the value of exercise. The company is handling the Walter Camp, Wallace and Victor exercise records.

Circular letters calling attention to the new department have just been mailed to 1,500 teachers in Buffalo schools. The room has two large windows opening into the street, thus assuring plenty of fresh air for those who desire to test

Specialists in
MICA DIAPHRAGMS
 FOR Phonograph and Radio
Finest Ruby Mica
Diaphragms in All Sizes
 for
IMMEDIATE DELIVERY
WILLIAM BRAND & CO.
 27 East 22nd Street New York City

the exercise records before making purchases.

A certificate has been filed in the Niagara County clerk's office by the Estey-Welte Corp., which proposes to manufacture musical instruments, including phonographs. The company will begin business with a capital of $5,000. The directors for the first year are: M. Campbell Lorina, Yonkers; Valentine J. Factiti, Forest Hills, L. I.; S. Carl Kapff and Albert F. Hollert, Brooklyn; H. Warren Ashmore, Asbury Park; Wilner A. Vossler, Freeport, and Noie E. Burnham, New York City.

Neal, Clark & Neal recently obtained exceptional advertising by placing a handsome Victor machine before the Greater Buffalo Advertising Club. It was announced that a new type machine had been perfected and would be demonstrated. A boy soprano concealed behind the instrument sang, thus giving the 300 club members present a double surprise when the "plot" was unfolded.

The Andrus Music Shop at North Tonawanda has been featuring nightly radio concerts through its complete receiving set.

BRILLIANTONE NEEDLE LINE SHOWN

At Merchandise Fair in Grand Central Palace—
 Domestic and Export Business Better

Good needle business is reported by the Brilliantone Steel Needle Co., New York City. H. W. Acton, secretary of the company, stated that business was not only good at the present time, but that orders were on the increase, presaging good business through the Fall and Winter seasons. The export business of the company is also in a healthy state, several substantial orders having been recently shipped to Australia and Japan.

The Brilliantone Steel Needle Co. is an exhibitor at the Merchandise Fair, held at the Grand Central Palace from August 7 to 25. This fair is held strictly in the interest of buyers and the general public has been excluded. The Brilliantone Co. is attractively situated at Booth 573 and is welcoming the many talking machine retailers who are attending.

DEVOTED TO ARTISTIC DECORATION

Mohawk Works of Art Opens Studios for the Decoration and Finishing of Talking Machines

The Mohawk Works of Art has been recently established for the artistic decorating and special finishing of talking machines. The new company, under the direction of M. Robichek and M. E. Estrin, who has had considerable experience in the talking machine field, has opened studios in the Mohawk Building, 160 Fifth avenue, New York. At this studio machines will be received from dealers in all sections of the country and decorated strictly in accordance with the special requirements of the individual customers of the dealer. Important connections have already been established with a number of department stores and talking machine retailers in the metropolitan district and it is reported by the officials of the company that its clientele is constantly growing.

Profits are not money stolen from others; they are the reward of service and efficiency—and the greater the service and efficiency, the greater the profits.

SIMPLEX

Electric Phonograph Motors

The SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor Represents a New Phase in the Development of Sound Reproducing Instruments.

NOISELESS

ELIMINATES WINDING

TROUBLEPROOF

Make This Your LEADING
Line for the Coming Season

Sample
Price $19.50

GUARANTEE
The SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor is guaranteed Trouble-proof throughout and any parts or part thereof that should prove defective at any time, we will repair or replace same by a new motor, free of charge.

Particulars,
Quantity Prices, etc.,
on Application.

TRADE

MARK

The Mission of the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor is to reproduce music just as it was originally rendered. For its perfect and faithful reproductions of all disc records the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor will play any record you wish to hear and play it as it should be played.

It has an absolute constant speed under variations of voltages and frequency and records may be set at any speed desired—and it is built absolutely without a governor.

BETTER BUILT

BETTER DESIGNED

The SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor has no competition because it is the only electric phonograph motor of its kind in the world. There are many features by which one can determine the efficiency of the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor. The essential features are:

- | | | | |
|----------------|----------------|------------|--------------|
| No Gears | No Commutator | No Springs | No Oiling |
| No Governor | No Brushes | No Winding | Noiseless |
| No Adjustments | No Transformer | No Belts | Troubleproof |

Record Stops Automatically on Last Note

It represents the very best of inventions and improvements and we therefore confidently say that the SIMPLEX Electric Phonograph Motor is combined with the highest precision of workmanship and select material.

TEST A SIMPLEX ELECTRIC MOTOR ON OUR 30-DAY TRIAL OFFER

When a Simplex Electric Motor is sent out, it is not sold until the motor has demonstrated in your own shop, in your own cabinet, during a 30-day test, that it will do all we claim. An extremely fair proposition in which the Simplex Motor is judged by its performance in your cabinet under your inspection. No strings to this offer. Your decision is final.

Manufactured in United States and Canada by the

Simplex Electric Phonograph Motor Co.

104 NEW WILDER BUILDING, 321 BLEURY ST., MONTREAL, CAN.

INDIANAPOLIS

W. E. Kipp Shows 'Em How—Pearson Piano Co. Back in Remodeled Quarters—Window Displays Create Sales—Trade Gains Continue

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., August 7.—Working under the incentive of added duties growing out of the absence on vacation trips of H. G. Anderson, general sales manager of the Kipp Phonograph Co., Edison distributor, and of W. O. Hopkins, manager of the Edison Shop, Walter E. Kipp, president of the Kipp Co., did the first retail salesmanship the latter part of July that he had done in many years. He found it necessary to step out and work hard with two prospects who were being carefully solicited by competitors. The result of his labor was that he landed both prospects and discovered that his talents as a "go-getter" had been in no wise impaired through years of executive activities.

"It did make me feel kind of good to find that I could go out and get the business in just the same way as I expect my salesmen and dealers to do," Mr. Kipp said. "Those prospects I landed were not easy ones, by any means. I had to gather together all the tricks I had learned as a salesman and I had to think fast all the time to prove to those folks that the Edison was their best buy. It is a sure thing that business is to be had by the man who goes out after it."

Mr. Kipp reports increasing optimism throughout his territory. This, he says, is due to rapidly improving conditions on the farms and to the fact that the dealers have responded to the consistent and progressive sales policy developed by the Edison Co. in behalf of the individual dealers. Mr. Kipp says that the dealers are convinced that the general sales policy of the Edison Co. is sound and is certain to develop an extraordinary business during the coming Fall and Winter.

Pearson Co. Back in Old Quarters

After spending more than three months in temporary quarters as a result of the fire which damaged the store of the Pearson Piano Co. on April 23 that company has moved back into its store and is bidding for business with a talking machine stock that is practically all new. The store has been completely redecorated and has the appearance of a new place. The company is continuing to handle the Victor, Edison, Cheney and Vocalion lines and is planning to feature more than in the past the fine art models.

H. A. Brown, manager of the talking machine department, says he is starting business after the clean-up sale of the last three months with a library of Victor records second to none in the State. He is preparing for the Fall campaign, in which he proposes to rely in large measure on circulars. He has completely revised his mailing list and will depend on the circulars, he says, to accomplish virtually as much in bringing in business as would be accomplished by individual salesmen.

Baldwin Business Excellent

The talking machine business of the Baldwin Piano Co. during the month was somewhat better, than during the corresponding period of last year, according to C. P. Herdman, manager of the talking machine department of that company. He says the only reason the month did show up better was because he and his sales force worked harder than they did in July, 1921. Part of the increase he credits to two penny record sales of two days each, in which Cameo records were sold at the rate of one for 75 cents or two for 76 cents. Mr. Herdman started the penny sales last Fall with Medallion records. He says the drawing power of such sales materially affects the regular record business, so that for a week or two after each sale the business is noticeably increased.

Console Models Continue Popular

F. R. Follis, manager of the talking machine department of L. S. Ayres & Co., reports that the best seller of the month was the new console model of the Victor Co. It is the opinion of Mr. Follis that the business of the month was somewhat less than it should have been, because his appropriation for advertising was less than for the corresponding period last year. He argues on the question of advertising expenditure that steady, consistent advertising throughout the year is the best policy and that such sales effort put forth in July assists in developing Winter business as well as Summer business.

Window Displays Pull Business

H. E. Whitman, manager of the Circle Talking Machine Shop, notes a tone of improvement in both machine and record business, with the latter playing the most important part during the hottest weather. He has relied chiefly for the last two months on window displays to pull in the business, he says. During the first part of August he featured an attractive window by fitting up a woodland scene in which by use of a phonograph he displayed a revolving sign which read, "Away to the woods with a Victrola—only $1 a week." This was designed especially to promote the sale of portables.

Walter Baker, of the Brunswick Shop, is more than usually optimistic over the business prospects. He is preparing to sell more machines and records this Fall than have ever been sold from his store. The chief difficulty he is meeting now, he says, is that of keeping his supply of records up to the requirements of the trade.

Talking machines sold better last month than did pianos, according to T. H. Bracken, of the Starr Piano Co. The Starr store now presents a dressed-up appearance as the result of alterations which have increased the window display space 100 per cent and has improved the general arrangement of the front noticeably. The entire front exterior has been painted.

"An exceptionally good month" is the way W. G. Wilson, of Widener's Grafonola Shop, re-

SEPTEMBER vs. DECEMBER

HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR SEPTEMBER SALES RESEMBLE A CHRISTMAS MONTH

You can buy now this Model No. 5 Supertone at about one-third of the original dealer price. We bought the entire stock from the Creditors Committee of the Supertone Talking Machine Co. and are ready to pass the benefit of the price to you

In order to avail yourself of this opportunity, you must act at once.

PHONOGRAPH JOBBERS CORP. 206 FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK CITY

ports his business in Granby and Columbia machines. The trend of trade during that month, he says, has given him more encouragement than anything else that has occurred in many months.

Farmers are not buying anything they do not need, according to C. S. Dearborn, who has charge of the distribution of Pathé machines and records for the Mooney-Mueller-Ward Co. He says that little effort is being made to develop the business just now and that virtually all the sales of machines and records are on mail orders from the established dealers. No plans are being made by Mr. Dearborn as yet for the annual meeting of dealers which has been held in the past.

Period Sonoras in Demand

Sonora business throughout the State has been noteworthy during recent weeks by an increase in the demand for new period models, says Edward Mayer, manager of the Sonora department of the Kiefer-Stewart Drug Co. All the Sonora dealers, he says, are speeding up their sales, while the company is preparing to add to its force in the early Fall some twenty-five merchants in various parts of the State who have signified their desire to handle Sonora machines.

Seventy Per Cent Increase in Business

A. C. Hawkins, manager of the Indianapolis Talking Machine Co., says last month's business was very gratifying for the reason that it represented a 70 per cent increase over the business of July, 1921. The gain was chiefly in machines, he says, although the sale of his Victor records remained normal. "Such a gain appears to be wonderful," Mr. Hawkins said. "I am at a loss to account for it except by the fact that we worked hard and general business conditions during the month were greatly improved over conditions a year ago. When business keeps up in such a fashion, despite strikes and vacations, it is time for dealers to rejoice."

Ira Williams, manager of the talking machine department of the Pettis Dry Goods Co., conducted a sale of Emerson machines during the first twelve days of July which resulted in the sale of thirty machines on which price reductions were made. He says the sale was instrumental also in moving twelve Victor machines, which were sold at the regular prices.

Big Volume of Repair Work

The talking machine repair business is keeping up this Summer very much above such work in previous Summers; according to A. D. Smith, of the Acme Talking Machine Co., which specializes in repair work. Mr. Smith says he cannot account for the unusual situation in this respect unless it be that machines are being adversely affected by hot weather.

In reference to damaged machines, Mr. Smith says there is an increasing amount of damage resulting from permitting machines to run down, a thing he advises strongly against. He says, also, damage results frequently from winding too tight. He advises against the repair of old spring, a thing which injures gears, he says, and advises also that motors be oiled every two months, as well as cleaned and graphited at least every year.

Mrs. Mollie Springer, mother of Miss Minnie Springer, of the Taylor Carpet Co., died the latter part of June, after an illness of only three days. She lived with her daughter in this city.

PLAZA MUSIC CO. EXHIBITING

Showing Full Line of Banner Records, Pal Portable Machines and Accessories at National Merchandise Fair at Grand Central Palace

The Plaza Music Co., 18 West Twentieth street, New York, manufacturer of Banner records, the "Pal" portable phonograph and talking machine accessories, is showing a full exhibit of its line at the National Merchandise Fair being held at the Grand Central Palace, New York, for three weeks, commencing August 7. This fair is under the auspices of the National Retail Dry Goods Association and thousands of buyers of retail establishments are attending.

The business of Burns & Kibler, Columbia dealers, Persia, Ia., has been taken over by J. A. Burns.

LEO SCHWARTZ JOINS BENEDICTS

Popular Member of Ormes Staff Forsakes Ranks of the Single Men—Identified With Industry for Fifteen Years and Highly Esteemed

Leo Schwartz, who has been associated with Ormes, Inc., Victor wholesaler, for the past eight years as a member of its shipping and delivery department, was married on Friday, August 4, to Miss Sarah Rothstein, the ceremony taking place at Miss Rothstein's home, 730 Oakland place, New York. Mr. Schwartz is well known in the local Victor trade, having been identified with the industry for the past fifteen years. At one time he was associated with Sol Bloom, Victor jobber, New York, and eight years ago joined the Ormes organization, where he has rendered splendid service and co-operation to the dealers.

There is only one proper way to do a thing, and that is the right way.

G. T. WILLIAMS' NEW QUARTERS

Well-known Victor Distributor of Brooklyn Acquires Temporary Quarters at 272 Flatbush Avenue Extension, Corner of Willoughby Street—A Central Location and Well Arranged

The G. T. Williams Co., Inc., Victor distributor, formerly located at 217 Duffield street, Brooklyn, N. Y., announces its removal to temporary quarters on the ground floor at the corner of Willoughby street and Flatbush avenue extension. The location is well arranged, easily accessible, and the Williams Co. is prepared to give the Victor retailer efficient service.

The G. T. Williams Co. some months back acquired a large plot of ground for the purpose of building a modern, well-equipped distributing plant. Building conditions did not, however, justify the immediate carrying out of the plans and these have been postponed until a more favorable situation arises in the building trades.

Get This

"GERACO" means a lot to Radio! The word identifies Radio accessories made to justify our policy that "only the best is good enough!"

Geraco products are the final result of months of careful experiments. They are the best that competent experts can do. They meet every test that anyone can devise—and make good.

Thus "Geraco" is our guarantee to YOU—and your guarantee to the Radio devotee.

"Geraco" identifies the Music Master-Radio Amplifier, the Geraco Variometer and dial (illustrated), along with the Variocoupler. Each item is absolutely good in every sense of that word. Depend on that!

All Geraco products are made from only the best dielectric materials, either hard rubber or special Geraco compound.

THE Music Master Radio Amplifier greatly magnifies volume and reproduces sound entirely free from that harsh, metallic screeching. It is unequalled in resonance, the beautifully grained mahogany horn insures that.

- 21-inch for concert and out-of-doors....$45.00
- 14-inch for general use in home.....$35.00

Geraco Variometer and Variocoupler assemblies are a long step ahead in the development of accurate tuning instruments.

- Variometers$6.00
- Variocouplers$5.00

Write for complete information on Geraco:

- | | |
|-------------------------------|------------------------|
| Variometers complete | Variocoupler complete |
| Variometer rotors | Variocoupler tubes |
| Variometer Post Assemblies | Variocoupler balls |
| Variometer stators | Vacuum tube sockets |
| Dials | Crystal detector bases |
| Knobs | Aerial insulators |
| Music Master Radio Amplifiers | |

Manufacturers, Jobbers and Dealers:—
Write at once for complete schedule of discounts

Announcing

The exclusive distributorship for STRAND Phonographs and Okeh RECORDS for Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia.

General Radio Corporation

Walter L. Eckhardt, President

Manufacturers and Distributors of

High Grade Radio Apparatus
624-628 Market St.
PHILADELPHIA

GERACO Moulded Dials, smooth black surface accurately calibrated. Equipped with Special Geraco Chuck.
Size 3/4 inches, $75

GERACO
PROVEN RADIO PRODUCTS

A NEW DANCE CRAZE

STUMBLING

By ZEZ CONFREY

A FOX TROT ODDITY

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

HEAR IT NOW

Stum-bling all a-round, Stum-bling all a-round, Stum-bling all a-round so fun-ny, Stum-bling here and there, Stum-bling ev-ry-where And I must de-clare-

CENSUS SHOWS GROWTH OF TALKING MACHINE INDUSTRY

Figures Published by Government Indicate Great Development of Talking Machine Manufacturing Business Between 1914 and 1919—Interesting for Reference Purposes

Although general figures regarding the 1919 census of manufactures were published some time ago, it has only been recently that there have been made available authentic figures relative to the music industry in detail. The statistics regarding the talking machine trade in 1919, as compared with the previous census year 1914, are of particular interest despite the fact that the increased from eighteen to 166, or an increase of 822 per cent, while the number of employes increased from 11,366 in 1914 to 33,826 in 1919. The development of the trade during a decade is well illustrated in the increase in capital. From $14,363,361 in 1909 to $33,770,511 in 1914, and to $105,241,359 in 1919.

Of particular interest is the heavy increase in

	Number or Amount			Per Cent of Increase
	1919	1914	1909	1914-1919	1909-1914
Number of establishments.....	166	18	18	822.2
Persons engaged	33,826	11,366	5,928	197.6	91.7
Proprietors and firm members.....	43	11	2	290.9
Salaried employes	5,062	1,974	727	156.4	171.5
Wage earners (average number).....	28,721	9,381	5,199	206.2	80.4
Primary horsepower	40,168	11,688	6,371	243.7	83.4
Capital	$105,241,359	$33,770,511	$14,363,361	211.6	135.1
Salaries and wages.....	42,650,716	8,770,664	3,785,766	386.3	131.7
Salaries	8,687,568	2,429,169	945,263	257.6	157.0
Wages	33,963,148	6,341,495	2,840,503	435.6	123.2
Paid for contract work.....	1,751,018		259
Rent and taxes.....	9,082,122	153,941	50,587	5,799.7	204.3
Cost of materials.....	59,740,205	7,048,040	3,099,391	747.6	127.4
Value of products.....	158,547,870	27,115,916	11,725,996	484.7	131.2
Value added by manufacture.....	98,807,665	20,067,876	8,626,605	392.4	132.6

Table 1—COMPARATIVE SUMMARY, TALKING MACHINE INDUSTRY, 1909-1919

industry has undergone many changes during the past few years and there would be little or no basis for some of the figures to-day.

The Government report, however, serves to the value of the products of the trade, which jumped from $11,725,996 in 1909 to a grand total of $158,547,870 in 1919. This latter figure is compared with that showing the total value of the

Class	Census Year	Total	Per Cent of Total
			Male	Female
All classes	1919	33,826	26,540	78.5	21.5
	1914	11,366	9,854	86.7	13.3
Proprietors and officials.....	1919	43	881	97.7	2.3
	1914	194	188	96.9	3.1
Proprietors and firm members.....	1919	43	43	100.0
	1914	11	6	54.5	45.5
Salaries, officers of corporations.....	1919	234	229	97.9	2.1
	1914	43	43	100.0
Superintendents and managers.....	1919	625	609	97.4	2.6
	1914	140	139	99.3	0.7
Clerks and other subordinate salaried employes.....	1919	4,203	2,269	54.0	46.0
	1914	1,791	1,236	69.0	31.0
Wage earners (average number).....	1919	28,721	23,390	81.4	18.6
	1914	9,381	8,430	89.9	10.1

Table 2—PERSONS ENGAGED IN THE TALKING MACHINE INDUSTRY, 1919

give some indication of the tremendous growth of the talking machine industry during the five-year period 1914-1919, during which the trade saw the greatest expansion.

During the five-year period, for instance, the number of manufacturing establishments was products of the piano trade during the same year as $149,850,945.

The accompanying tables, 1—2, give the complete figures for the industry and offer interesting comparisons.

During 1919 the State of New Jersey is credited with producing 35 per cent of the total output of talking machines and records, with other States following in the order named: New York, 10.4 per cent; Illinois, 8.1 per cent; Indiana, 5; Ohio, 3.9; Michigan, 2.7, and Wisconsin, 2.4. It would seem that the Government workers elected to figure the output of at least one State that has held a prominent place in talking machine production.

There is no question but that the present-day census would necessitate a material revision, mostly downward, in most of the figures offered in the 1919 report, but nevertheless the last census has been the means of making public the substantial character of the talking machine industry.

VAUGHN DE LEATH'S NEW RADIO IDEA

Popular Okeh Artist Sings Duet With Herself From WJZ Station—Entertainment Pleases Fans

Miss Vaughn De Leath, well-known contralto and exclusive Okeh artist, who is a prime favorite among radio fans, recently conceived a unique idea for her radio program. This plan involved singing a duet with herself from the WJZ station, with the assistance of one of her Okeh records.

Miss De Leath first broadcast "Some Sunny Day" with her Okeh record and for the second chorus, recorded by the orchestra alone, she sang in person. For the third chorus she sang a duet with herself in conjunction with her Okeh record. This unique idea proved to be the hit of the evening's entertainment, and telephone requests by the score were received at the WJZ station asking that Miss De Leath repeat her program at an early date.

WHITNEY CO. ADDS ANOTHER LINE

ALBANY, N. Y., August 7.—The talking machine department of William M. Whitney & Co. has recently undergone extensive alterations and has been considerably enlarged. The company has been handling the Victor line of machines and records exclusively for a number of years, but the Pooley line of phonographs and Federal records have now been added to the stock.

OPENS COLUMBIA DEPARTMENT

TRINIDAD, COL., August 7.—The Andrews Music & Stationery Store, of this city, has succeeded to the Columbia Graphophone department of the Burkhard Saddlery Supply Co. A formal opening of the department was held in the attractive quarters of the former concern.

RECEIVER FOR AIR-O-PHONE CORP.

Walter L. Bryant has been appointed receiver for the Air-O-Phone Corp., 122 Fifth avenue, New York City, manufacturer of radio equipment. The liabilities of the concern are estimated at $15,000 and assets at $7,500.

Concentration breeds power and success.

TALKING MACHINES COMPLETE TALKING MACHINE CABINETS RADIO CABINETS

Golden Oak, Fumed Oak, Red and Brown Mahogany

Cabinets that will satisfy your customers—
Cabinets at prices that will make big profits

Send us your inquiries at once—Order Now.

THE H. LAUTER COMPANY
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

You Need It!

The Talking Machine World Trade Directory has filled a long standing want of the industry. It is kept as a handy reference volume on the desks of a large number of the members of the talking machine industry where, in an instant, it provides detailed knowledge about this or that company and the products made by each company.

It gives the kind of information it would otherwise consume much time to secure. For instance, it will give you a complete up-to-date list of the manufacturers and jobbers who comprise the talking machine industry, including the invaluable data about each concern, such as location of factories, names of officers, location of branch offices, trade names controlled, policy of marketing product, etc., etc.

TWO TYPICAL TESTIMONIALS

"Your 1922 Model Talking Machine World Trade Directory reached us all right, and the writer went over it carefully yesterday at his home, and we wish to compliment you. There has never been a Trade Directory got up that has been so accurate as regards firms listed and that has covered the field so thoroughly.

"There is no question but that this Directory will prove of real, tangible benefit, not only to its advertisers and those who are listed in same, but to the general dealer trade at large, who have needed a directory of just this nature."

"We congratulate you on the appearance of The Talking Machine World Trade Directory and trust that you will make it a yearly feature of your business.

"We could use two more copies of this publication in our organization to great advantage, therefore request that you send them to us, proper billing.

"Just before closing wish to state that we consider the move on your part of issuing a directory of the talking machine industry as being one of the most forward movements occurring in the industry for several years."

Only 50 Cents

Only 50 Cents

USE THIS COUPON NOW

Send Stamps or Check

EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc.,
373 Fourth Ave., New York City.

Gentlemen:

Please send me postage prepaid a copy of the 1922 edition of The Talking Machine World Trade Directory, in payment for which I enclose 50 cents.

Name

Firm

Street

City and State.....

MILWAUKEE

Talking Machine Sales Climb as Unemployment Decreases—Food Exposition Claims Dealers' Attention—Month's Trade Activities

MILWAUKEE, Wis., August 8.—Increased employment in nearly every industry in the city and in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan territory is reflected in an improvement in sales of talking machines. During the past month 12,340 placements were made by the employment offices in Wisconsin, according to the report of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission. Little unemployment is seen among the skilled workers, and as for common labor, every factory in the city, with few exceptions, has "Help Wanted" signs posted. This alleviation of the employment situation has created a steadying and firmer undertone in the talking machine market.

The same condition prevails in the country trade districts. The average small-town dealer had little to do in the Spring of the year, and naturally he expected a customary Summer slackening period to arrest what feeble motion his stocks had. To his surprise, trade improved and continued through June and July to hold its high average. Fall orders are placed confidently by the small-city dealer, who expects a good Fall trade as a result of the excellent crop conditions in his district. Wisconsin especially has had very favorable returns from its rural districts regarding harvests. The average farmer will be in sound financial condition in the Fall as a result of bumper hay, grain and fruit crops and will have the necessary surplus on hand to satisfy his taste for music.

Preparing for Exposition

All local talking machine wholesalers are preparing their displays for the Fourth Annual Food and Household Exposition, to be held here in the municipal auditorium, October 23 to 29, inclusive. The musical instrument department will be the biggest ever held in the city. The talking machine exhibitor will get his product demonstrated to nearly 100,000 people in a week's time. The exposition will be a wonderful means of getting good publicity and of securing direct sales as well. Spaces are going fast, indicating that the distributors in this territory are alert to realize this opportunity of popularizing their machines. Unusual efforts are being made to arrange striking displays.

Excellent Columbia Record Display

The Winter Piano Co. has an attractive and attention-compelling display of records that it would pay other talking machine dealers to pattern. One hundred Columbia records of the new dance hit, "Stumbling," are displayed in the company's Grand avenue window. The records with a royal blue center are shown on separate mounds of rich blue velvet drape that slopes up gradually from the horizon of the passing street traffic to the center of the large window. Three horizontal cards bearing the name, "Stumbling," in blue letters are attached to the window. The display is neat, well-balanced and artistic and has not the usual fault of record exhibits—that of an overcrowded appearance.

Moves "Talker" Department

The Flanner-Hafsoos Music House has moved its talking machine department from the basement to the first floor. The department has been enlarged, redecorated and rearranged. New display and demonstration rooms have been installed and larger, and modern record racks have been constructed. F. F. Flanner, president of the company, announced.

C. Niss & Sons to Enlarge

A three-story addition, 70 by 150 feet, to C. Niss & Sons is planned. The addition will be of reinforced concrete and will be constructed at 697-700 Third street. Architects M. Tullgren & Sons are in charge of the plans. The C. Niss & Sons Co. is one of the largest distributors of phonographs in this city, specializing in the Edison.

A. G. Kunde Home From Europe

A. G. Kunde, formerly one of the prominent Columbia dealers of the city and who now markets the Gennett records and handles the Starr phonograph, has returned to his headquarters at 344 West Water street from a three months' European tour. Mr. Kunde plans to start an intensive Fall advertising campaign, featuring Starr phonographs and Gennett records. He has secured prominence in the city as an authority on industrial conditions in Europe. The Wisconsin News, one of the city's leading newspapers, has run feature stories signed by Mr. Kunde, bearing his picture. Mr. Kunde in the stories tells of the industrial conditions of Europe—Germany especially. He declares that the average worker in Germany fares among the best of European laborers, this being due to his industry and thrift.

Milwaukee Association Plans for Fall

At the July meeting of the Milwaukee Association of Music Industries a large and enthusiastic attendance greeted President Frederic W. Carberry, Brunswick dealer, who as chairman of the ways and means committee presented a comprehensive plan of work. The plans of the organization for Fall have been withheld for later publication. The efforts of Chairman Leslie C. Parker, head of the Badger Victrola Shop, were rewarded by the admission of three new members at the meeting. They include I. H. Klein, of the Badger Shop; C. A. Schowalter and W. E. Pugh, assistant sales manager of the Yahr & Lange Co., Wisconsin and Upper Michigan distributor of the Sonora phonograph and Okeh records.

Brunswick Artists Boost Record Sales

When the famous Isham Jones Orchestra played here in July talking machine men in the city got busy and proceeded to capitalize the presence of these famous musicians. A Brunswick

Puritan Records

FALL and WINTER PROVIDE BIG SELLING SEASONS
for 50c. RECORDS

It is not too early to make your plans for the coming season NOW. A big market has been created for 50 cent records and it will pay you to be able to fill this demand.

Puritan Records offer you the best value in the 50c field—new hits, good material, recording and artists—quick turnover and satisfactory profits.

If you are located in territory East of the Ohio and North of the Potomac it will pay you to write today for full details.

The BRIDGEPORT DIE & MACHINE Co.
170 ELM ST. BRIDGEPORT, CONN.

Invite your customers to chase the Willies over the hills by listening to Marion Harris sing "Haunting Blues." This is dyed-in-the-wool indigo song stuff. For an encore there is Marion on the reverse side in "Nobody Lied" (when they said I cried over you). A-3646.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

phonograph playing Brunswick records made by the Isham Jones Orchestra was placed in a conspicuous position in the lobby of the Palace Theatre, in which the musicians performed. The orchestra was so popular that hundreds of persons lined the lobby of the showhouse waiting in line for tickets. The Brunswick phonograph played the records of the orchestra to the impatient crowd. Result—the next morning Brunswick dealers were overwhelmed with the call for the dance records and popular songs played the evening before. One dealer declared that within two hours he sold sixty records of the popular dance piece, "Stumbling." Similar stories were told all along Music Row. The Frederic Carberry Co. took advantage of the occasion by conducting a special advertising campaign featuring the Brunswick record department and the Chickering piano, also used by the orchestra. Gimbel Bros., one of the largest department stores in the city, held a large sale of Brunswick records during the week Isham Jones appeared. The phonograph section of the store was crowded with persons demanding the popular records. All in all, the appearance of the orchestra came at an opportune time for Brunswick dealers, who secured a great deal of advertising for their music houses, their phonographs and their records.

J. B. Bradford Co. Adds Brunswick

The J. B. Bradford Piano Co., owner of two stores here, has been made representative of the Brunswick phonographs and records. New art display rooms will be opened for the exclusive display of the period types of these machines. Hugh W. Randall, president of the company, announced.

Improvements at Kittelmann Co.

The Kittelmann Furniture Co. has redecorated and rearranged its music department, featuring Columbia and Sonora phonographs. A complete section for records has been constructed, new demonstration rooms and special record racks having been installed. Reading lamps, upholstered chairs, imported rugs and paintings make the demonstration rooms the best furnished in the city, officials claim.

Wilson Co. Secures Victor Stocks

The Wilson Music Co., of Stevens Point, Wis., has purchased the Victor department of the Boston Furniture Co., including all Victrolas and Victor records in stock and the exclusive local agency for this line. George M. Farrin, recently of Oshkosh, is the new manager of the department. The stock of Victor records will be enlarged and the department will be rearranged.

Mrs. L. J. Daly Operates Successful Business

Mrs. Louise Jefferey Daly, owner and manager of the Daly Music Store, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., well known among the talking machine dealers of the State, was honored recently by the Wisconsin Rapids Tribune. A brief sketch of Mrs. Daly's life was given in the "Who's Who in Wisconsin Rapids" column of the paper. Mrs. Daly is the widow of F. P. Daly, well-known jeweler and music house owner of the city. At her husband's death Mrs. Daly, undaunted, took up the business, disposed of the jewelry store and concentrated on building up what is now equal in equipment to any store of its kind. Her daughter manages one of the musical instrument departments of the store, her eldest son, Francis, is manager of the talking machine department, and her youngest son, Glen, is manager of the piano department.

Gennett Records in Good Demand

A. G. Kunde, Wisconsin distributor of the Gennett records, declared the records to Summer vacationists were moving in endless quantities. Music lovers moving to their Summer homes purchased large numbers of the latest releases. These are the popular records, he said: "Swanee Bluebird," "Romany Love," "Hopeless Blues," "Lonesome Mamma Blues," "Stumbling" and "Three O'Clock in the Morning." There are now eight Gennett dealers located in various sections of this city.

To Build New Store Front

Joseph Goldman, a dealer of prominence here, is taking bids through his architects on a new twenty-four-foot copper and plate-glass front for his store at 510 Mitchell street. A modern and attractive store front is planned by Mr. Goldman. He will feature phonographs and records for a special opening display, when the new front has been constructed. He plans to make his show window one of the best of the many talking machine houses on the South Side of the city.

Yahr & Lange Pass Half-century Mark

The Yahr & Lange Drug Co., a leading wholesale house and jobber for the Sonora in Wisconsin and northern Michigan, recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary in business in the city. Fred E. Yahr, president of the company, declared that the Sonora department has increased its sales steadily since the first of the year; that business this Summer is far in excess of the same period last season, and that an excellent Fall trade in records and phonographs is expected, especially in the rural districts of Wisconsin.

Cheery Message From H. A. Goldsmith

Henry A. Goldsmith, secretary of the Badger Talking Machine Co., reviewing the current market conditions for the sale of talking machines, said: "We find in our Wisconsin and upper Michigan territory that talking machines are showing a record-breaking improvement. More machines have been sold this season than ever before in our history. We think that the 'evil days' are safely behind us and we now look forward to a slow and steady movement of stocks in the hands of all our dealers scattered throughout the State. Since the slack Spring months have passed we have watched our machines move in fair quantities, improving as the Summer advanced.

"Through the Summer months trade continued to improve and has not the slightest indication of decreasing as Fall approaches. Trade secured a nice impetus in the early weeks of July. For a time this was checked by the strike of the railroad craftsmen and the coal miners. The succeeding days, however, have shown a decided improvement and trade has resumed its former brisk pace. Although many dealers in the larger cities of the State, in the industrial centers especially, claimed that the cessation of buying due to the acute strike situation checked what would otherwise have been a bumper Summer sales season, dealers in the rural communities claim that the momentum of sales has never had a setback and that the season advanced in its healthy condition right through the Summer.

"We are now taking orders for Fall machines and they are found to be of a large number and higher price. Trade in general for Fall looks very encouraging. The rural trade, especially, is in the market for large purchases. We can differentiate the bumper crop sections from the crop failure districts by the size of Fall orders for talking machines. For the greater part of the State it must be said that crop conditions are encouraging and that bumper harvests will put the country in a sound financial condition. On the other hand, in a few more or less scattered spots, where harvest yields were not faring as well as the more fortunate districts, Fall orders have fallen down on their last year's average.

"The country cannot help but receive some of the prosperous trade that talking machine dealers in the city are enjoying. The good feeling percolates out into the rural districts slowly, but it inevitably is felt there. The city dealer is the first to feel any setbacks of trade and the first to enjoy the prosperity.

"Records, of course, are keeping pace with the movement of talking machines and will hold up to the high average set by them. Popular hits are going better than ever this season. Dance pieces have been bought in large quantities by vacationists.

"As for types of machines that are the most in demand, we find that people are buying more of the horizontal models this year than they have ever before purchased. The machines are listed at all prices and the trade is choosing the medium-priced instruments. The middle class is our strongest buyer now, which accounts for the better feeling in the trade. In the Spring the wealthy class was the only one in the market. We sold a large number of high-class machines, but our total volume of business was not as great as at this period when the middle class comes into the market.

"Portable machines proved to be so popular this Summer that our stocks at the end of the season are depleted. Every camper and tourist seemed to ask for this little machine.

"Collections are improving. The strikes seemed to have affected them somewhat, but our collections are in better condition now than they ever have been this year."

Columbia Line in Better Demand

R. H. Walley, representative of the Columbia line in eastern Wisconsin, says Columbia phonographs and records are moving in better quantities at this period than they were a year ago. Business for the Summer has been far ahead of last year and, judging from Fall indications, Mr. Walley believes a record business will be registered.

The Swann-Schulle Furniture Co., of Austin, Tex., recently added Victor talking machines to its stock.

Featuring the MUSICAL POSSIBILITIES of the TALKING MACHINE

[Editor's Note.—This is the twenty-second of a series of articles by William Braid White, devoted to the various interesting opportunities which prevail in the domain of education for the retailer of talking machines. The subject is one of great interest and we commend these articles to the consideration of all who are devoting attention to the featuring and developing of the musical possibilities of the talking machine.]

4—HOW TO KNOW BY LISTENING

When once the instrumental voices have been individualized in the way suggested in the previous articles it is time to listen more analytically to music, in order to penetrate the secrets of its form. Just as a matter of salesmanship it is important to know forms of music. The arguments in support of this statement have been made too often to need repetition at this time.

Composers do not work by frenzy or chance or mysterious inspiration. Ignorant people harbor many queer ideas on these subjects. But the truth is that, while the power of invention, in music as in poetry or painting, is the prime requisite for good composition, still the medium in which the tone-master works is just as rigid, and subject to just as many rules, as the poet or the painter must master. True, there is what is called "free verse" in poetry, which pretends that it does away with all the old rules of metre and scansion; true, also, there is painting, so-called, which boasts that rules mean nothing to it. And there is music, too, which seems to have been written by children who have learned to put down black marks on paper, but who neither know nor care what these may signify.

Yet these modern absurdities do not represent anything worth while nor anything that will live. We may safely forget them until we know so much about real music that we can afford to waste our time on the screechings of men who care nothing for purity or beauty, but everything for notoriety.

Music, then, depends upon form. There is no better way of expressing what is meant by this term "Form" than to say that Architecture was once aptly called "Frozen Music." In other words, the material of music is sounds. These sounds are built up into relations with each other very similar to the relations which the bricks of a building bear one to the other. The bricks must be arranged according to a plan. Without a plan there would be a mere heap; with it there arises a building, scientifically planned and beautiful to look at. So with the sounds which form the raw material of music. When put together according to a correct architectural plan these sounds may form tonal structures which have just as much definite shape, ornament and beautiful detail as a Gothic cathedral.

The Kinds of Form

Just as there are schools of architecture, variously known as Greek, Romanesque, Byzantine, Gothic, etc., so there are definite styles of musical form. All these styles are easily distinguishable, when once the keystone in each has been recognized. Architecture began with the simplest structures, the merest lean-to shacks, mere shelters placed against the opening of a cave scooped out from the side of a hill. So, too, music has evolved into unfinished art from the simplest beginnings, from the rough tunes of primitive peoples. From the earliest days these song and dance tunes have been taken by musicians as the material for their experiments in more artistic combinations. In due course they have come to form one part of the foundation on which has been built up the great structure of art music. The other part of the foundation was laid centuries ago in the Christian Church, which from the first recognized the value of singing and bit by bit evolved a set of rules for conducting voices in several parts, a system which in time developed into counterpoint, itself the basis of all the more important evolutionary work in musical composition.

Slow and Painful Conquests

If we go back three hundred years we shall find the art of music gradually but steadily emerging from the limits of ecclesiastical music, and simultaneously working out the rough simplicities of the popular songs and dances into ordered and artistic forms, using the learning of ecclesiastical music to furnish a sort of mortar wherewith to bind together the folk-song fragments into an ordered structure. The process was long and tedious. It is only necessary to hear seventeenth century music to realize that composers had to learn slowly and even painfully how to work their material and to master its peculiarities. These things are not done in a day.

But by the time when the earliest of music now often heard had come into being—that is to say, by the end of the seventeenth century—the stage was set for the emergence of the art of Fugue in all its glory, to be followed almost immediately by the art of the Symphony and the Sonata. Upon the double rock of these forms stands all modern music. They may most simply and pleasantly be studied through the medium of talking machine records.

Study Through Hearing

Let no one, however, fall into the gross error of supposing that he will find anything dull or repulsive in the study of musical form through the unique medium of talking machine records. On the contrary, the study will be found delight-

Study the SILENT Motor

Its Advantages for Your Line of Talking Machines Are Self-Evident

The Silent Motor With Spring Barrels Demounted. Note the Sturdy and Simple Construction.

An Exclusive SILENT MOTOR Feature.

Self-aligning governor shaft, mounted on universal ball-and-socket bearing. Eliminates governor trouble forever.

Send for Sample and Prices

THE SILENT MOTOR CORPORATION

CHARLES A. O'MALLEY, President

321-323-325 Dean Street,

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

ful from start to finish. Let the student understand that he is going to learn by actual listening, instead of indirectly by printed examples which he must play or get someone to play for him on the piano.

What Is Counterpoint?

In the glossary of musical terms to be found at the end of the Victor catalog will be seen these words: "Counterpoint: The art of combining melodies." This is almost a model of a short, compact definition, but it needs to be extended somewhat if it is to be complete as well as accurate. Counterpoint, in fact, is the art of combining melodies in such a way that when played simultaneously they form a good harmony. The word itself is just the English of "punctum contra punctum," or point against point, that is to say, voice set against voice so that each shows off by itself and yet all together sound musically satisfactory.

Now counterpoint is the oldest of devices for building up a musical structure. Long before anyone knew anything about putting sounds together so as to form chords, indeed, long before there existed any musical instruments on which simultaneous sounds could be expressed, the musicians of the Christian Church had experimented with the device of setting two voices to sing the same melody at a distance of a fifth in pitch. From the crude and often distressing results of these early experiments the art was gradually developed until the fifteenth century the art of contrapuntal writing for four sets of voices, soprano, contralto, tenor and bass, was far advanced; so that to-day it still offers technical problems by no means insignificant.

Out of the early counterpoint developed finally the marvelous art of Fugue, which was brought to its highest point of beauty and grandeur by Johann Sebastian Bach, of Leipzig, who died in 1750 at the age of sixty-five. Every musician who, from the end of the eighteenth century till to-day, has made any mark as a composer, has had to acknowledge indebtedness to his genius, for he is the founder of all modern music.

The Art of Fugue

Fugue, as Bach perfected it, is a system in which one special musical idea, tune or theme (the terms all mean the same in this case, noting only that for fugue purposes it must always be a short, snappy sort of tune), called the "Subject," is sounded in one voice, or instrument, or in region of instrument (according to whether the fugue is written for choir, orchestra, organ or piano). This subject is immediately "answered" by a similar tune, completing the idea begun by the first, and called the "Answer." The subject and answer are now sent off on their musical travels, appearing first in one voice and then in another, according to various rules which have been worked out by gradual experience through three centuries of development. The voices skip from place to place, from soprano to tenor, to contralto, to bass, while never losing touch with each other, and running so that whichever one is at any moment most prominent the others will furnish a true harmony and support for it. It is a way of making music run "horizontally," that is to say, by simultaneous melodies, instead of by one melody with chords underneath it. It makes more demands upon the ear for delicacy and judgment than an ordinary tune and accompaniment do, but the result is worth the trouble. All modern music is built upon this idea of counterpoint, that is, of keeping many melodic voices running together, and all orchestral music of to-day is simply filled with it. Wagner, for instance, is contrapuntal from his first page to his last. His melodies cross and recross each other like the woof and warp of a great woven arras, in a constant succession of simple, double and triple counterpoint. And all his successors have yielded their homage, too, in conscious imitation, to the great art which old Bach perfected over two hundred years ago.

Some Practical Examples

And now, after all this, for some examples. Careful search through the wealth of musical literature in the talking machine catalogs will reveal some excellent examples of pure Fugue, both classic and modern, although in this respect, as in others which might be mentioned, the distribution is uneven. There is too much space given to inconsequent stuff, for not everything sung or played by a great artist is worth hearing. However, to our muttons:

I suggest that the listener choose, first of all, the vastly entertaining and interesting record from the Victor catalog of the "Overture," so-called, to Bach's D-Major Suite for orchestra. Now a Suite is a set of pieces, all written in the same key, and Bach wrote several such Suites for orchestra when he was directing the private band of the Prince of Anhalt-Coethen. Each consists of an Overture, so-called, or opening piece, followed by a set of dances, Gavotte, Bourree, Sarabande and Gigue, which latter is simply a good old "jig," and is put last to make a merry finish.

Now, I simply ask you to take the Overture to this Suite, as you will find it on a 12-inch record, played by orchestra, and listen to it. You will note that Bach scored his music for first violins, second violins, violas, 'cellos and contrabasses; that is to say, chiefly for the strings; and he added flutes, trumpets and drums to fill in from time to time. But the subject, the answer and the contrapuntal interweaving are almost entirely given to the main choirs of strings, simply because in Bach's time the wind instruments were too imperfect to be entrusted with important work, and many musicians even thought them altogether out of place in a string band.

The overture begins with a slow and graceful movement, in which all the strings, with trumpets and flutes, are joined together. The melody is stately, the harmony graceful. But note: each part is individual, so that you could take, for instance, the 'cellos and make them play their part separately and you would find it to be in itself almost a complete melody. But this is not yet a Fugue, though it is contrapuntal.

Subject and Answer

The stately melody draws to a close and there begins a sharp, incisive, snappy tune in the first violins. Listen to it carefully. It is the subject of the Fugue. After a few seconds this is answered in the second violins, a fifth lower. This is the answer. Note how, when the first violins finish the subject, they go on playing a sort of secondary melody or counter-subject, thus maintaining the harmony till the second violins have made their answer. Then immediately the 'cellos take up the subject, while first and second violins continue their secondary melodies. The violas come in with the main subject, then the first violins again; and so on, till the whole orchestra has been drawn into the loom and is weaving the marvelous web of flashing melodies, crossing, recrossing, running parallel, leaping from point to point, till the master has worked out his material, and has brought all to an end, with one sweeping modulation into the key of D.

This is Fugue at its finest. You will want to listen to it many times, but do not allow yourself to be satisfied till you can trace the shining strands of subject and answer through the whole glittering garment of tone. Then you will begin to hear some things in music which you have never heard before.

I could go on forever in this strain, but space forbids. The road I have opened up stretches far and wide. The listener will wish to hear more music like this, and so, in closing, let me suggest two very fine additional examples. One is the overture to Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute," which is fugued from the beginning of the allegro, after the trombone introduction, to its end, and is a beautifully clear example of the form. The other is Wagner's Overture to "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," in which he uses a five-part fugue in the middle section, very modern and wonderful, albeit as clear as crystal.

We may next go on to think of the forms, like that of the symphony, which were built on this great art of fugue.

NOTE—The English catalog of the Columbia Graphophone Co. has some fine organ records, including one of the magnificent Toccata and Fugue in D minor by Bach. But please do not think that Fugues are only to be found (for orchestra anyway) in Overtures. The three examples I have quoted just happen so.

Make This Two-Minute Demonstration to Your Customers

*It will bring many profitable sales
per day*

All you need is an ordinary steel needle, a Sonora Semi-Permanent needle, and the illustration above. Show them how the ordinary needle's tapered point wears down, broadens, and abrades the record grooves. Show them how the uniform shaft of the Sonora S. P. Needle remains the same width, and plays as long as it lasts—fifty or more records.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

Semi-Permanent NEEDLES

should be displayed and sold by every phonograph dealer.

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.

GEORGE E. BRIGHTSON
President

279 Broadway New York

Canadian Distributors:
I. Montagnes & Co., Toronto

Geor - gia! Geor - gia! My home sweet home

GEORGIA

Irresistible Fox Trot - Full of Rhythm and Snap - It's a Hit

"You can't go wrong with any 'Geist' song"

Proved Instantly Popular in Vaudeville
—A Great Favorite with Dancers.

HEAR IT NOW!

KANSAS CITY

Optimism Features Trade—Rail Strike Curtails Business—Reluctance on Part of Dealers to Place Orders Noted—The News

KANSAS CITY, Mo., August 8.—Business in the talking machine trade in this city has not been over active for some time past, and satisfactory sales records have been in the minority, but a distinct improvement is now being noticed and the majority of jobbers and dealers have confidence that trade is coming back very strongly during the Fall months. They do not look for a volume of business that will measure up to the peak of 1919 and 1920, but expect sufficient sales to insure substantial turnover and profits.

The majority of the trade is of the opinion that the wave of price-cutting and of liquidating stocks has run its course, and that the public will soon come to a realization of the fact that the prices on machines of standing have been stabilized and are equitable.

Effect of Railroad Strike

There is no doubt but that the railroad strike is having a bad effect on the business. It is interfering a little with the movement of the machines and is having a tendency to slow up things. There are many dealers who are reluctant to order, when they are not sure but that the goods will be tied up on the way. Then there is a large number in territory dependent upon the selling and delivery of the wheat crop for their prosperity, who are waiting to see if the wheat will be gotten to market. Then there are a number who live in towns which are dependent to a large extent for their prosperity on the operation of the railroad shops. When there are a thousand or two thousand men whose income is suddenly cut off there is not much hope for a lively trade in musical instruments in that town. And there are a number of such towns in the Kansas City territory.

Miss Florence E. Hazlett, educational representative of the Columbia Co., working out of the Kansas City branch, has had some very interesting and profitable engagements during the past couple of months. Miss Hazlett recently attended the Normal School at Hays, Kans., where she talked to almost 1,000 school teachers from western Kansas. Her work was received most enthusiastically and many of the teachers promised to get busy early in the Fall and see that Grafonola outfits were put in their schools. Included in the places where Miss Hazlett had most successful engagements were Warrenburg, Mo.; Jasper, Ark.; the State University at Fayetteville, Ark., and the Kansas State Normal School at Emporia, Kans., and Pittsburg, Kans.

New Edison Baby Console Popular

The Baby Console, the new Edison machine, which is offered at the low price of $175, has been received in Kansas City, and is being distributed to the dealers. It is creating quite a sensation on account of its attractive lines and its price. Dealers are ordering freely. H. M. Lee, Enid, Okla., has been in Kansas City during the past month and freely predicts a fine Fall business.

M. M. Blackman, manager of the Edison branch here, has recently returned from a trip to the factory. He reports that there is much optimism there over the general outlook, and the plans which are being worked out to meet the expected big Fall business.

Credit Situation Improves

Fred Jenkins, of the wholesale Victor department of the J. W. Jenkins' Sons Music Co., reports that there has been a very decided improvement in the credit situation. He says that there are many dealers who have been slow in the past who are now paying promptly, and a number are sending cash with the orders. He says that in the towns where the railroad shops are located the business has been slowed up very perceptibly. There has been a nice business in records, however, throughout the territory.

The Victor department of the Gunn Drug Store, of West Plains, has been sold to the Powell Drug Store of that place.

The recent advertising campaign of Cowman's Pharmacy, Inc., Sapulpa, Okla., was certainly a success and is perhaps best described by a press notice which appeared on the front page of the Sapulpa Herald, reading as follows:

"In less than thirty minutes after the Herald was off the press with a page advertisement telling of the sale of Columbia Grafonolas at Cowman's Pharmacy, the first deal had been consummated. An even dozen Grafonolas was sold the first day on the strength of that one advertisement.

"A half carload of Grafonolas was brought here for the sale. This caused considerable comment as it was probably the largest shipment of phonographs ever made at one time in this part of the State. The first day's sale was followed by good sales on following days and Mr. Oliver, in charge, has been well satisfied with the results."

The Dodge City Music Co., Dodge City, Kan., exclusive Columbia dealer, recently sold a Grafonola, taking in trade an old type A Columbia cylinder graphophone made by the Columbia Co. twenty-five years ago. The customer stated that he was rather reluctant to part with this old instrument because he had had it about twenty-five years and during that entire time he had only spent $1 for repairs, and he further stated that the graphophone worked as good now as it ever did. The Dodge City Music Co., after making the trade, put the graphophone, including the large horn and the assortment of some forty or fifty records, in its window and made up a large window card telling the complete story. It created considerable comment.

Working With the Educators

Educational representatives of the Victor Co. are spending the month in Kansas, attending the teachers' institutes and giving lectures on music appreciation, memory contests and other features of school work. There will be twenty-two counties served by these representatives up to September 2. The representatives are S. Dana Townsend, Miss Alice Keith and Miss Marie Finney.

A. O. Drake, of the Dodge City Music Co., Dodge City, Kan., believes in getting business from those to whom he is giving business. He places considerable advertising with the Dodge City Globe, and recently sold the editor of the Globe a Columbia Queen Anne period design Grafonola and also an upright Grafonola to the advertising manager of the same paper.

Good News From Oklahoma

Manager Briggs, of the local Brunswick branch, had in hand a bunch of letters from Oklahoma and western Kansas when The World representative called and said they all read mighty good to him. There was only one note in them that was not most encouraging—the threatened bad effects of the strikes. The wheat crop, the splendid prospects for a big corn crop, and in Oklahoma the renewed activity in the oil fields were all factors in the problem of the Fall trade, and all indicated a big volume. But better than all this is the attitude of the dealers who write or call. He said, "There is but one note and that is encouraging." Mr. Briggs is expecting a gradually improving market.

Artistic Decorating On Phonographs

Dealers and manufacturers, send your phonographs to us for decorations and special finishes. We maintain a high-class studio devoted entirely to this work. We will decorate your phonographs from our large selection of designs or from designs you may particularly specify.

Let us show you our work and submit estimate

MOHAWK WORKS OF ART
Mohawk Building
160 Fifth Avenue New York

BALTIMORE

Business Continues to Improve With Both Wholesalers and Dealers—Store Improvements and Trade Changes of the Month

BALTIMORE, Md., August 10.—July business in talking machines was considerably better than the trade generally had looked for. The sales of portable machines exceeded all expectations and practically every wholesaler in the city was cleaned out by the end of the month. This demand was unusual and the dealers had a hard time supplying the trade, many of them borrowing machines from other branch houses.

The record business also has been good, dealers generally finding it impossible to supply the demand for the latest issues. This is especially true of the new Victor Health records. The three Victor jobbers, Cohen & Hughes, Eisenbrandt's and E. F. Droop & Sons, have been cleaned out of these records for some time, with additional orders accumulating daily.

A new talking machine, the Voluta, will shortly be put on the market. This machine will be manufactured in Baltimore by the Voluta Corporation. It is claimed by the inventor, James T. Cook, to give unusual results. It has several unique and interesting features. It is made in this city. The Voluta Corporation recently opened a demonstration store on North Howard street.

Victor dealers here report an unusually heavy advance sale of the Victrola Model 111, which they expect to have for delivery next month. Wholesalers generally report heavy buying for the Fall trade, most dealers placing orders for considerably more and better quality of goods than last year.

The local Columbia branch reports a good business from the southern section of its territory, especially North Carolina, where business has taken an unexpected boom.

C. F. Shaw, manager of the local branch of the Brunswick Co., has just returned from a trip to North Carolina and reports opening the following accounts as exclusive Brunswick dealers: R. C. Thompson, Graham, N. C.; Stadiem-Cohn, Thomasville, N. C.; Levy, Page Co., in Norfolk, and L. R. Brown, of Richmond, Va. Mr. Shaw also gives a glowing account of business revival in North Carolina as well as several other States in the South. The Brunswick people have started an extensive campaign of billboard advertising in this vicinity, which is reported to be bringing good results. Edward Strauss, of New York, divisional manager of the Brunswick Co., spent a week at the local branch this month.

Quite a number of men in the trade are now taking their vacations, including W. F. Roberts, manager of the E. F. Droop & Sons Co. branch.

The Rosenstein Piano Co., under the direction of Manager George P. West, has inaugurated a semi-monthly salesmanship meeting of its outside sales force, which is bringing good results. The meetings this month were addressed by William H. Swartz, sales promotion manager of the Columbia Co., and C. F. Shaw, manager of the local Brunswick agency.

Miss Irma Groell, manager of the record order department of Cohen & Hughes, is in New York on a two weeks' vacation, and while there she will visit a number of the larger jobbing houses for the purpose of getting new ideas of the business.

F. S. Harris, manager of the Washington branch of the same house, is spending two weeks' vacation in Atlantic City, and H. T. Bosee, sales manager, and wife will leave for a ten-day trip on the nineteenth.

I. Son Cohen, head of Cohen & Hughes, was in New York last week to meet his wife and daughter and son-in-law, who just returned from a trip to Europe on the "Mauretania." The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Son Cohen to William Biel, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Biel, of New York, one of the founders of the United States Cigar Stores Co., took place in New York last month at the Ambassador Hotel, and immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Europe, where they met Mrs. Cohen, who had preceded them by several weeks.

A. Burdwise is featuring and making a special window demonstration of the new phonoreel and reproducing attachment for talking machines. This is the only working demonstration that is being given in the city.

Leonard Trout, of Trout's Music Shop, Highlandtown, is feeling rather "chesty" these days over the fact of having won out with a Grafonola in a recent voting contest at Camp Holabird in competition with four other well-known makes of talking machines. Trout's entry was a K-2 Grafonola on which he featured Ted Lewis selections with the result that when the vote was taken, which included both officers and enlisted men, he was declared the winner by a comfortable margin.

L. & K. Snyder, 2132 East Monument street, are remodeling their place and when improvements are completed will have a store about four times the former capacity in addition to one of the handsomest display rooms in that section of the city. The firm handles the Columbia line exclusively.

Cohen & Hughes are making an extensive display of period Victor machines at their salesrooms on Saratoga street, which is meeting with great success from the trade, many of the dealers bringing prospective customers there, where they can see all the latest styles of machines, something which hardly a dealer in the city has the space to carry or exhibit.

S. C. Cooke, assistant manager of the Baltimore branch of the Columbia, is making an automobile tour of the Eastern section of the country during his two weeks' vacation.

EMERSON FOREIGN RECORDS

Are Good Sellers

Because they please the greater number of 30,000,000 foreigners

Emerson Records in Italian, Hebrew, Jewish, Polish, German, Russian, Ukrainian

Are Leaders in Their Field

DEALERS, CATER TO YOUR FOREIGN TRADE WITH EMERSON RECORDS

Send for Catalogs and Information Today

EMERSON PHONOGRAPH CO.

206 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK, N. Y.

LOS ANGELES

Business Continues to Move Apace Despite Strikes and Vacations—Console Models Continue in Favor—Other News

LOS ANGELES, CAL., August 7.—The past month has proved to be an exceedingly good one for talking machine departments in spite of the fact that vacations are in full swing and many families are out of town enjoying the beaches and mountains. However, this city has grown to such a size and there is such a large influx of settlers arriving all the time that seasons and different months of the year can be practically disregarded. The number of new homes which are being built is very great and, of course, this is having a stimulating effect on business.

Console Models Popular

Console and period types of talking machines continue to grow in popularity, and dealers are experiencing difficulties in keeping up with the demand for some of the models. This is particularly true with the Victor line of consoles, which, in the case of several models, are unobtainable throughout this territory; however, relief is promised in the near future and large shipments are expected soon.

Cheney Headquarters Well Established

The Munson-Rayner Corp., Cheney distributor for the State of California, has fitted up a suite of very attractive offices in the Homer Laughlin Building, and a complete line of de luxe period models is on display. Quite a number of dealers in southern California outside of Los Angeles are now representing the Cheney, and announcement of the names, accompanied by display advertisements in the newspapers, of the city dealers will be made within the next thirty days. Headquarters for the northern California territory will be established in San Francisco in the near future, according to Sales Manager Darvill.

H. Jackson With Sherman, Clay & Co.

Harold Jackson has been appointed assistant to C. H. Ruggles, manager of the local wholesale Victor branch of Sherman, Clay & Co. Mr. Jackson was until recently manager of the phonograph department of the Wiley B. Allen Co.

Columbia Stores to Open in Pasadena

The Columbia Stores will open in Pasadena about September 1, under the management of R. L. Tamplin, who has been operating similar stores in San Diego and San Bernardino. Mr. Tamplin started his first Columbia exclusive store in San Diego last October and made a great success of it from the beginning. He followed this up by a second store in San Bernardino and will operate in Pasadena with his third after September. Originally from England, Mr. Tamplin operated a phonograph store, carrying the Columbia line exclusively, in Windsor, Canada, and built up a very fine business, which he eventually sold out and then came down to southern California.

R. W. Moon Back From Gotham

R. W. Moon, general manager of the Swanson Portable Phonograph Co., returned to this city last week after an extended trip to Chicago and New York. Mr. Moon has established the Munson-Rayner Corp. as distributor for California of the new Swanson portable phonograph, but will retain his offices here, as well as those in Chicago and New York. He will remain in Los Angeles for about ten days and will then leave for the East and Middle West.

New Manager of Phonographs at Wiley B. Allen

E. P. Tucker, general manager of the local branch of the Wiley B. Allen Co., has appointed W. Bell sales manager of the talking machine department.

J. J. Grimsey Returns After Long Absence

After an absence of seventeen to eighteen years, J. J. Grimsey—or Joe, as he is known by his friends—has returned to Los Angeles. Joe Grimsey established the first Columbia headquarters here in 1904 and left soon afterwards for Seattle, where he managed the Columbia branch in that city for a number of years. He afterwards obtained the Dictaphone agency for Seattle and conducted it for some time. He has now returned to manage the southern California branch of the Walter S. Gray Co., talking machine accessory distributor and Pacific Coast jobber of the Strand phonograph and Strand Console, and is very welcome.

Music Trades Association Meets

The July meeting of the Music Trades Association was attended by over fifty members, the occasion being the return of those members who had attended the National Jubilee Convention in New York. Speeches were made by all the delegates and satisfaction expressed by them at the benefits derived by all who were there. President Boothe announced that a banner had been awarded to the Southern California Association for the best organized effort and that it had been anticipated that the formal presentation would be made at the present meeting, but that the banner, with its suitable inscription, had not yet arrived.

Members of Paul Whiteman's Orchestra Here

Several members of the celebrated Paul Whiteman's orchestra visited this city during July, including Donald E. Clark, M. Pingatore, Harold McDonald and Paul Whiteman himself. Practically all of the members of this orchestra claim this city as their home town and long before they went to New York and recorded for the Victor Talking Machine Co. they were famous in this part of the country as the Hotel Alexandria Dance Orchestra.

Platt Music Co. Enjoys Outing

On July 19 the entire Platt Music Co. organization were guests of their president, Ben Platt, at a unique outing. One hundred and twenty employes of the store journeyed down to San Pedro, twenty-five miles away, where they were received on board the Marco Hellmann houseboat. A sumptuous banquet was enjoyed. A cabaret show, composed of members of the Platt organization, was given. Speeches were afterwards made by Marco Hellmann, president of Hellmann's Bank; E. Cohen, vice-president, and by the celebrated actor, George Beban. A trip was also taken by the ladies around the harbor in Mr. Hellmann's steam yacht.

E. D. Sloat at Wurlitzer's

The new branch of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., which was recently opened in this city and occupies the quarters formerly leased by the Bartlett Music Co., has E. D. Sloat as manager of the Victrola department.

Barker Bros. Close San Diego Store

The Barker Bros. branch in San Diego has been closed after having been established in that city for over two years. Earl S. Dible, former manager, after disposing of the lease, has joined the sales department of the Los Angeles music department of Barker Bros.

Some Columbia News

A rousing welcome was extended to Duci De Kerekjarto, famous Hungarian violinist and exclusive Columbia artist, on the occasion of his appearance at the Orpheum Theatre in this city recently. Columbia dealers all tied up very strongly with this appearance through the use of appropriate window displays and they all report an active demand for Kerekjarto records. A unique feature of the publicity was a large replica of a Columbia record twelve feet in diameter mounted on a truck with appropriate banners which paraded the downtown streets every day during the artist's appearance and which attracted considerable interest everywhere.

A new addition to the long list of Columbia dealers in this territory is that of Smith Brothers at Van Nuys, Cal. This concern was formerly a Columbia dealer at Maricopa, Cal., but two years ago moved to San Pedro, where it engaged in another line of business. Owing to the ill health of one of the partners the San Pedro business was closed out some time ago and the concern moved to Van Nuys, where it made application immediately for the Columbia franchise.

Among other Columbia dealers recently established by the Los Angeles branch are Rosenblatt Bros., 2501 Central avenue, and M. Chernoff, 2101½ East First street. Both of these dealers cater to extensive Hebrew-Jewish clientele, and carry complete stocks of these records of all kinds.

The Los Angeles branch recently appointed a new exclusive Japanese dealer in Los Angeles, K. Okasawa, at 124 South San Pedro street, where it placed an order for a complete stock of Grafonolas and a representative record library.

G. C. Vasquez, 11 South Meyer street, Tucson, Ariz., has recently been appointed a Columbia dealer, and with this appointment the Columbia Co. has three exclusive dealers in Tucson. The other two Columbia representatives in this city are R. R. Floras and the Morrison Music Co.

THE PORTABLOOP

Size 24 x 27 inches over all

The next big seller in radio.

Opening an entirely new field for the radio dealer.

Don't hesitate, order a sample now.

List Price

$10.00

210 Central Avenue

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE LOWERS DUTY ON RECORDS

Recommends Duty of 30 Per Cent on Talking Machine Records and Needles, Based on Foreign Valuation—Senate Adopts Foreign Valuation Plan as Basis for Levying Taxes

(Special to The Talking Machine World)

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 8.—During the consideration yesterday of the paper schedule of the McCumber-Fordney tariff bill the Senate Finance Committee made a number of recommendations of direct interest to the talking machine industry. Rates on albums, phonograph records, wholly or partly manufactured, were reduced from 35 per cent to 30 per cent ad valorem, on the foreign valuation plan. The House rate was 23 per cent ad valorem on the American valuation plan. A rate of 15 per cent ad valorem has been provided to cover music in books or sheets, when of bona fide foreign authorship, and 25 per cent for all other music in books or sheets.

The Senate will soon reach the provisions dealing with musical instruments. The Washington Bureau of The Talking Machine World is in receipt of a number of inquiries from importers and dealers as to the rates on phonograph needles. These needles will take the same rate as phonographs and talking machines, which are dutiable at 30 per cent ad valorem.

The ad valorem rates adopted by the Senate are to be based on the foreign valuation plan that is now the practice. The Senate is decidedly opposed to the American valuation plan as adopted by the House and indications are that their opposition will be successful and that the House plan will be completely rejected. It is charged that the American valuation plan would not be workable.

JEWETT PHONOGRAPH CO. EXPANSION

Will Have Three Radio Combinations to Be Marketed in Our Trade—Capital Increased to $1,250,000—New Distributors Appointed

DETROIT, MICH., August 8.—In addition to the regular line of Jewett phonographs, the Jewett Phonograph Co. announced recently its entrance into the radio field. It will have three radio combinations, which will be marketed through the phonograph dealer, as the company feels that the radio and phonograph industries are more or less closely associated. There will be featured a cabinet in which will be combined the phonograph and radio set; a cabinet which has been especially designed for radio only, or, in other words, a cabineted radio and, lastly, radio sets which are not housed in cabinets of the phonograph type. Thus the Jewett Co. will have really four products, including its phonographs, with which to attract sales.

The cabinets were especially designed in the Jewett laboratories and the radio sets are the first to be scientifically designed to meet the need of phonograph reproduction. These sets are very powerful, highly selective affairs—all that experienced radio technicians would be expected to turn out. The company is at present selecting its representatives very carefully, and is offering them a franchise proposition that is said to be very attractive. It is planned to spend 10 per cent of the net sales from each district in advertising in that district. This is only one of the many ways in which the company will cooperate with its representatives, in addition to its liberal discounts to dealers. The Jewett Co. also announced an increase in capitalization from $750,000 to $1,250,000.

The Jewett Phonograph Co., Ltd., of Canada, has been recently incorporated and will start business in December, with a capital of $400,000. The general offices and factory will be located at Walkerville, Ont. E. H. Wilkinson, who came to Detroit in May, 1921, from the Vocalion Co., of New York, to act as production manager of the Jewett, and who is now general manager of the company, has been elected assistant secretary of the company. He is also secretary of the Jewett Phonograph Co., Ltd., of Canada.

The Stewart Sales Co., of Indianapolis, has been appointed distributor for the Jewett phonographs and radio for Indiana and Kentucky. The new jobbers are particularly enthusiastic over their new line.

The Radio Shop, 1501 Washington Boulevard, recently opened under the management of M. Otto, will feature the Jewett radio equipment, and is planning on pushing these sets and combinations very strongly.

The Pettis Drygoods Co., of Indianapolis, has been appointed Jewett dealer under the Stewart Sales Co.

The Vitullo & Ulisse Co., of Utica, N. Y., will handle the complete Jewett line in that city.

OKEH EXHIBIT AT FAIR

General Phono. Corp. Has Attractive Exhibit at National Merchandise Fair—Records, Needles and Wireless Apparatus on Display

The General Phonograph Corp., New York, is maintaining a very attractive exhibit at the National Merchandise Fair, which opened Monday, August 7, and which will probably continue until near the end of August. The company occupies Booth 571 at the Grand Central Palace, where this fair is being held, and among those in attendance at the exhibit are E. L. Sampter, W. C. Giles and Homer Stephens.

The products exhibited by the General Phonograph Corp. at this fair for buyers include the following: Okeh, Odeon and Fonotopia records; toy phonographs, made at the Elyria factory; Truetone and Okeh steel needles; Meisselbach fishing reels and wireless apparatus.

J. W. JENKINS INSTALLS RADIO

TOPEKA, KAN., August 7.—A complete line of radio receiving sets and accessories to be handled at retail in connection with the talking machine end of the business is being installed by the J. W. Jenkins' Sons Music Co., of this city. Manager Clyde Farris made the announcement.

An Addition to the MUTUAL LINE

The New No. 1 A Tone Arm

Designed for both PORTABLE and UPRIGHT machines. Superiority in tone and appearance combined with low price make this one of the best values obtainable. It will make your business grow.

If you manufacture portable or small upright machines you will be interested in this combination. A trial order will convince you.

Mutual Phono Parts Manufacturing Corp.,

149-151 Lafayette Street
New York City

The Russell Gear & Machine Co., Ltd., 1209 King St., West, TORONTO, CAN., Exclusive Distributors for Canada and All Other British Possessions

The Last Word in Electric Phonograph Motors

Make this your leading line for the coming
s e a s o n

The Electromophone

Absolutely Silent

Adjustable to any voltage. Tone arm equipped with electrical stopping device, which operates in conjunction with the Electromophone—Record stops automatically on last note—Never fails!!

The Sole Selling Rights of This Unique Mechanism Are in the Hands of

THE STERNO MANUFACTURING CO.

19 CITY ROAD LONDON, E. C., ENGLAND

HAPPENINGS IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA

INTERESTING WINDOW DISPLAYS AID TORONTO SALES

R. S. Williams & Sons Co. Features Edison Machines and Radio in Attractive Window Display —Offer Study Course in Exporting—Getting Business by Phone—Trade Changes

TORONTO, ONT., August 6.—The large show window of the Ottawa branch of the R. S. Williams & Sons Co., Ltd., recently had an interesting exhibit in the form of a radio-receiving outfit with a female figure seated at the table with the receivers on her ears as if listening to a concert. Another section of the display included several Edison models, and signs referred to the two wonderful inventions, one by Marconi and the other by Edison. Incidentally, Manager Arthur Mandy has been going right after Summer business and has made a special play for sales of portable phonographs for Summer cottages, camps, canoe outings, etc.

A short course for those interested in exporting is to be instituted by the University of Toronto at the request of, and in co-operation with, the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce. The course will last two weeks, commencing January 15, 1923. It is being held on condition that Canadian manufacturers will lend their support by making it possible for their export managers to attend in sufficient numbers to make the course worth while. The course will be both theoretical and practical.

The proprietors of the West Toronto Music Co., formerly at 2823 Dundas street West, have erected a large new store on the same side of the street, a little farther west, at 2989 Dundas street West, the ground floor of which they are now occupying. The new store, which has been tastefully designed, is under the management of E. D. Lott and carries Columbia, Brunswick, Apex and other lines.

Robertson, Pingle & Tilley, Ltd., of Ottawa, known as The Brunswick Shop, are putting the ordinary telephone to a new and unique use. The company has invited the general public to ask to hear selected records over the telephone. When a request is received over the wire for a certain selection the record desired is played on a phonograph immediately in front of the telephone. If the selection is acceptable to the auditor at the other end the record is forthwith delivered to the home. This plan of selling practically goes the radio one better, as the telephone is continuously available for the purpose.

The Edison Phonograph Shop, formerly located at 382 Yonge street, Toronto, has moved to new quarters at 12 Queen street East. The new location has been artistically fixed up to meet the needs of Edison phonographs and records. The store is finished in mahogany. Seven sound-proof rooms have been installed for demonstration purposes and record racks that will accommodate 10,000 records form part of the store's equipment. A show window at the front that is convex in shape further enhances the high degree of artistry within.

Elliott's Music Store, Vocalion dealers, at 3085 Dundas street St. W., Toronto, had an attractive float in the recent parade conducted by the West Toronto Business Men's Association. A big red Vocalion record eight feet in diameter was the particular drawing card of the float.

New Ontario incorporations include Gold Medal Radio Corp., Uxbridge, Ont., capitalized at $300,000.

John A. Croden, president of the Starr Co., of Canada, Ltd., who underwent an operation in Victoria Hospital early in July, is recovering very satisfactorily, to the delight of his friends.

A big window display that proved to be a selling proposition was presented in the large window of Orme, Ltd., Ottawa, as a demonstration of the use of the new portable Victrola for camping purposes. The whole window was provided with a background of evergreen trees and a tent, canoe, logs and other appropriate "props" were added to the life-size setting. In the foreground was a dummy camper in khaki trousers and sweater seated in front of a Victrola model. The firm reported that a number of these phonographs were sold as a direct result of the display.

Leach, Clegg & Leach, of the same city, provided an interesting window display for several days recently in the form of a Marconi wireless demonstration set, which attracted much attention, as the radio movement is yet in its very infancy in Ottawa.

B. A. Trestrail, of Musical Merchandise Sales Co., Toronto, has survived the first year of married life. To impress the fact upon the minds of his friends, he and Mrs. Trestrail entertained some forty friends on the occasion of their first wedding anniversary at a dance and supper at the Lakeview Golf and Country Club.

The stock and shipping department of the General Phonograph Corp., of Canada, Ltd., which has been at the same address at the Toronto office at 172 John street, has been transferred to the firm's Canadian factory at Kitchener. C. J. Pott, the Canadian manager, informed your correspondent that this move would mean even prompter shipments of motors and equipment than in the past. The office mailing address remains 172 John street, Toronto.

Manager Arthur Mandy, of R. S. Williams & Co., Ltd., Sparks street, Ottawa, gave a striking demonstration of the use of the special Walter Camp physical instruction phonograph records which carry the title of "Daily Dozen," and offers direction for various setting-up exercises. To explain the use of the record Mr. Mandy secured the services of a local athlete, who gave an exhibition of calisthenics in keeping with the "Daily Dozen" directions. The exhibition was given in the show window of the Ottawa store at noon and just before closing time, so that it would be seen by the maximum number of people. The stunt was such a success, even in the hot weather, that Mr. Mandy intends to repeat the whole thing early in the Fall.

E. D. Coots, assistant to the sales manager of the Sonora Phonograph Co., Inc., of New York City, is spending some time in Canada with the Canadian distributors of the Sonora, Messrs. L. Montagnes & Co., Toronto. This is Mr. Coots' first visit to Canada and he expects to remain here some weeks visiting Sonora dealers.

MONTREAL MERCHANTS WILL ACT ON "GYP" DEALERS

Retail Merchants' Association Calls Meeting to Consider Curtailment of "Gyp" Phonograph Dealers —Movements of the Trade—Dealers Profit by Sousa's Appearance—Other News

MONTREAL, August 7.—We understand the Retail Merchants' Association of Montreal, which have in the past accomplished good work in eliminating several evils and remedying others, will shortly convene for the purpose of endeavoring to see what action can be taken with reference to "gyp" dealers handling and selling phonographs from private addresses, thus avoiding the payment of taxes, which legitimate dealers are forced to pay. One of their first actions will be to try to interest the newspapers in having them refrain from inserting advertisements of this nature.

Leopold Authier, of Montreal, has secured a Canadian patent on a system of cabinet lighting, for which many claims are made. The cabinet has a plurality of panels of transparent matter, a disc rack in said cabinet, arranged to provide a free space within three sides of said cabinet, and electric lamps suitably secured within said space for the purpose of illuminating the transparent sides of said cabinet.

J. A. Bienjonetti, who has had charge of the piano and phonograph departments of N. G. Valiquette, Ltd., has resigned to join the advertising department of La Patrie, Montreal.

Miss Faucher, of the phonograph department, and Miss Casselman, in charge of the record department, C. W. Lindsay, Ltd., are on vacation, the former in Edmonton, Alta., and the latter in Ottawa and vicinity.

A. W. Landay, of Landay Bros., New York

City, was a recent visitor to Montreal. He called upon Layton Bros. and was shown through their warerooms by Armitage Layton.

At the recent annual meeting held in Toronto of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, C. W. Lindsay, president of C. W. Lindsay, Ltd., Sonora and Columbia dealers, was elected one of the vice-presidents for the ensuing year.

Ernest C. Bray, sales and advertising manager of Layton Bros., Ltd., is spending his vacation at Old Orchard Beach, Me.

The Champion Music Co. has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors.

At the St. Denis Theatre, Montreal, next season, will be heard such great artists as Gallucurci, the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Kreisler, Rachmaninoff, Geraldine Farrar, Muratore and Heifetz. These bookings have been made.

"Going like hot cakes" was the expression of Layton Bros., Ltd., regarding an inquiry as to how Marconi radio outfits were selling.

Sousa's Band has just terminated its engagement of a week at Dominion Park. The public never seems to weary of his programs or his music. Naturally, His Master's Voice local dealers cashed in on his appearance in person.

"Never to my knowledge have our show windows proved such magnetic drawing power as during the past week," said Leopold A. Poulin, of C. W. Lindsay, Ltd., "when we had on display the attractive nickel-plated demonstration

(Continued on page 138)

Talking Machine Springs and Repair Parts

NONE BETTER IN QUALITY NONE LOWER IN PRICE

THE RENÉ MANUFACTURING CO.
MONTVALE, NEW JERSEY

WARNING! This Melody is Contagious!
Once you "get it" you can't forget it!

COAL BLACK MAMMY

Europe's Latest and Biggest Fox Trot Tune

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

Cause I'm goin', yes, I'm goin' with a love that's ever growin' to that Coal Black Mammy o' mine—

NEWS FROM DOMINION OF CANADA

(Continued from page 137)

stand of the Simplex electric motor, manufactured and advertised every month in The Talking Machine World, by the Simplex Electric Phonograph Motor Co., Wilder Building, Montreal. This motor was seen in full operation running continuously without a stop, and was the identical motor that caused such favorable comment at the New York Music Convention. "It certainly should stimulate the sale and interest in phonographs," said Mr. Poulin, "and we intend having it on exhibition again very shortly. Several thousand persons were attracted to our window within three hours' time," concluded Mr. Poulin.

The Canadian Graphophone & Piano Co., St. Catherine street, East, likewise had a model on display, which also created considerable interest, the street being blocked at times that made it impossible for pedestrians to pass along.

Mr. Bermister, one of the best informed men in the accessory field, intimated that on the occasion of the recent trip to Montreal of Philip E. Grabuski, of Everybody's Talking Machine Co., Philadelphia, arrangements were made whereby he has added to his agencies that of "Honest Quaker" mainsprings, made by that firm. Mr. Bermister has the Canadian agency for a number of American phonograph accessories, and the "Honest Quaker" mainsprings will be an important acquisition.

Reginald L. Chilvers, who until January last was sales manager of the Berliner Gramophone Co., Ltd., and whose long connection with that institution has previously been referred to in The World, has linked up with the Manufacturers' Phonograph Co., Inc., of New York City, maker of "Strand" phonographs. The Manufacturers' Phonograph Co., Inc., which Mr. Chilvers will represent in the Canadian territory east of Kingston, is presided over by George W. Lyle. It makes a line of moderately priced, artistically arranged flat-top console phonographs selling in Canada at $165, $210, $250, $275 and $350. Mr. Chilvers will make Montreal his headquarters, his address being 49 Lincoln avenue. With the growing popularity of console designs and the fact that a greatly increased production of console cabinets has brought the price to a figure that almost any reasonably good prospect can afford, Mr. Chilvers is quite optimistic over the field for the Strand consoles in Canada.

Emile Berliner, of Washington, inventor of the gramophone, and president of the Berliner Gramophone Co., Ltd., recently spent a few days in the latter city. While in Montreal Mr. Berliner, who is undoubtedly reputed to be one of the greatest technicians in the talking machine and record art, spent considerable of his time in the record factory examining the changes and improvements which have been made in record manufacturing during the past year.

Eugene Widmann, president of the Pathé Co., of New York, visited Montreal and Quebec recently on the occasion of a holiday in Canada.

NEW ORLEANS

Business Shows Increase—Good Results From Active Sales Campaigns—New Columbia Home—Some Artistic Windows—The News

NEW ORLEANS, LA., August 5.—Nearly all the talking machine stores and departments in this city and vicinity report business on the increase, the good work of June being repeated in July. With this improved business as an incentive the various stores are preparing for an active Fall season by ordering liberal quantities of stock, particularly machines, horizontal and console models receiving the most attention.

That people have money now and will buy, provided the proper selling effort is used, was demonstrated recently by J. D. Moore, manager of the talking machine department of the Maison Blanche, who closed out a full carload of machines representing a special purchase. There were not enough of the special-sale machines to meet the demand and a surprising volume of business was switched over to the regular lines handled by the company.

Philip Werlein, Ltd., have attracted much attention locally with an elaborate window display, featuring "Stumbling" and "Memphis Blues," some idea of which may be obtained from the accompanying illustration. A real negro jazz band is shown in the background playing for the couple dancing. A big Victor record, with a knockout hole in one side shows just how "Memphis Blues" is taking here. The record is six feet in diameter and were it real would take two hours and forty-five minutes to play. This window was designed entirely by Mr. Powell, manager of the Victrola department.

A Fetching Werlein Window

The Columbia Graphophone Co. branch here has not only signed a lease for a big new three-story home on North Peters street, into which it will move at an early date, but has launched a drive on the sale of records which, though only in progress a few days, has been a grand success.

A. A. Sparrow, district manager of the Columbia Co., has just returned from visiting two of the local country dealers. These dealers, at Oakdale, and Biloxi, were selected as the ones to begin the house-to-house canvass on records.

Prizes, in addition to the usual 10-cent commission on every record, are being offered by the company as a further incentive to the record solicitors. Three prizes will be awarded in every district where a dealer agrees to inaugurate a record contest. The prizes are to be awarded to those selling the highest number of records over a period of four weeks. The three prizes are: a Roamer racing bicycle, a radio receiving set and a leather suitcase lined with silk, with a complete toilet set. The winner of the first prize gets his choice and the second winner his choice of what is left.

A unique plan was thought out in Oakdale by one of the dealers. Two or three of the local Boy Scout troops had just returned from a vacation and their treasure was sadly depleted. At a meeting of the Scouts with the local dealer it was decided that they would start selling records, turning into the treasury all the commissions collected and have the boys compete for the prizes. The plan is working excellently.

"Business is improving every day," said Mr. Sparrow. "We have just opened up new agencies in El Dorado, Ark., in the center of the oil field, and also in Haynesville, another big oil center in Louisiana. In El Dorado it is the McShilling Furniture Co. and in Haynesville it is the McConnel Furniture Co."

Word received from Morgan City, La., from J. J. Goldman tells of how an attractive window netted him seventeen Grafonola sales in two days. He has also ordered, since then, twenty-two Grafonolas by wire. He decorated his window with brand new dollar bills and advertised a dollar sale. A machine could be bought by putting a dollar down. The only other requirement was that they had to buy $10 worth of records. After the sale was over he found that there was not one down payment of less than $10 and also that the demand was bigger than the supply.

At Dwyer Piano Co. W. T. Berry, sales manager of the Victrola department, states that business has increased steadily all through the month. Portable and horizontal types have been popular.

His record sales have been even better than his Victrola sales. This he attributed to the club plan which he has inaugurated among his old customers. J. T. Dwyer, president of the company, is away on a four to six weeks' vacation in Santa Fe, N. M.

Ralph Young, at Grunewald's, is very enthusiastic over the showing which his department has made in the past month. "It is phenomenal," said Mr. Young. "The horizontal Victrola is going like wildfire."

C. E. Sadler, of the Victrola department, is leaving the Werlein house to take charge of a Victor branch house in Hammond, La.

Meet Me Next Sunday

(See Page 116)

Jack Snyder

TRADE GLEANINGS FROM PITTSBURGH

Outlook Bright for Fall Trade, Says Evans—Columbia Dealers Report Improved Sales—Standard Co. Making an Aggressive Campaign

PITTSBURGH, PA., August 7.—In a chat with the representative of The World, regarding general conditions, T. T. Evans, manager of the wholesale Victor department of C. C. Mellor Co., said:

"The outlook is very bright for Fall business, provided the coal situation is straightened out and we are able to keep our mills going and open up additional mills that have been closed down due to the shortage of coal. The unfilled tonnage in practically every steel concern around Pittsburgh is very great at this time and if they can get sufficient coal we will have unlimited production indefinitely.

"The stocks of Victrola instruments that are now in the hands of Victor wholesalers are dwindling rapidly and I firmly believe we are going to have an acute shortage of Victrolas at the holiday season. This is due, in a measure, to the fact that dealers are working on skeleton stocks and a moderate amount of buying on the part of the public will create a shortage."

The Columbia Graphophone Co.'s branch in Pittsburgh has received many interesting reports from its dealers regarding conditions and unusual sales. For example, the graduating class of the Eastover High School voted a Columbia Grafonola as a gift to the school at the close of its school term, this instrument being purchased from the McNutt Furniture Co.

The various department stores in Pittsburgh handling Columbia products, including Kaufman & Baer, the Rosenbaum Co. and the Joseph Horne Co., report an improvement in record sales with excellent prospects for Fall business.

Among the recent visitors to the Pittsburgh branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co. were Hays Bros., of Bellaire, Ohio; William Polangin, of Farrell, Pa.; O. F. Benz, record sales manager, of the Columbia Co., and J. Moore, of the Omaha branch.

E. J. Dingley, assistant sales manager of the Victor Talking Machine Co., accompanied by Mrs. Dingley and her sister, stopped over at Pittsburgh a fortnight ago on their return from an automobile trip to Mr. Dingley's former home in Richmond, Ind. While in Pittsburgh the Dingleys were the house guests of J. C. Roush, of the Standard Talking Machine Co. Mr. Dingley was also a guest at a luncheon attended by representatives of the three local Victor jobbers; the C. C. Mellor Co., the W. F. Frederick Piano Co. and the Standard Talking Machine Co.

The Standard Talking Machine Co. is making an aggressive campaign on the new Victor Health Exercise records. One of the items in this campaign is a corps of men and women demonstrators which the Standard Talking Machine Co. furnishes to its dealers for window and store demonstrations. First shipments of these record sets were oversold before their arrival and orders have been received for large quantities.

E. J. Marx, traveling representative for the Victor Co. in this territory, has just returned after a week spent at the factory and a two weeks' vacation spent in the East.

NEUMEISTER BACK FROM EUROPE

Charles W. Neumeister, one of the most popular members of the wholesale record trade in Chicago and New York, arrived Sunday on the "Nieuw Amsterdam," after spending six weeks in Europe. Mr. Neumeister states that his trip was in the nature of a vacation and, judging from all indications, he enjoyed it thoroughly.

W. H. S. ROOKE HONORED

W. H. S. Rooke, of Cassidy's, Limited, Columbia dealers, Winnipeg, was recently elevated to the board of governors, Manitoba division of the Canadian Credit Men's Association, at the recent meeting held in Winnipeg, Man.

NEEDLE BUSINESS IMPROVING

ANSONIA, CONN., August 8.—The Mellowtone Needle Co., of this city, manufacturer of the Superb semi-permanent stylus, finds that business is steadily improving and is optimistic regarding conditions for the Fall and Winter seasons, due to a consistent increase in its business.

E. E. MITCHELL HOME FROM COAST

MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 7.—E. E. Mitchell, manager of the Victrola department of Montgomery Fair, this city, has just returned from an extensive trip to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Mitchell was so charmed with the beauties of the West that he is now one of its greatest boosters. While in California he visited the San Joaquin Valley, San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, and on the return trip stops were made at Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak and other points of interest.

AN EFFECTIVE PUBLICITY STUNT

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., August 7.—Thomas Goggan & Bro., wide-awake Victor dealers of this city, are enjoying a good business due to their aggressive methods. One of the plans recently put in effect by this concern is the enclosure of a small, artistically prepared pamphlet, calling attention to the lines handled by the company, with the record supplements for mailing to customers.

Patent Pending
Size: 8 in. x 14 in.
x 15 in.
Weight: Complete,
including album,
22 lbs.

"One handle handles it"

Outing

TALKING MACHINE

Perfection in a Portable Phonograph

Made in Mahogany and Fumed Oak Finishes

THE OUTING is the most complete and up-to-date portable phonograph ever made.

It is unique and attractive in design. Superior tone quality. Built to give years of satisfactory service.

JOBBERS:

- | | | | |
|--|---|--|---|
| GENERAL PHONOGRAPH CORP.
New York Distributing Division
15 West 18th Street
New York, N. Y. CABINET & ACCESSORIES CO.,
145 East 34th St.,
New York, N. Y. BRISTOL & BARBER
3 East 14th St.
New York, N. Y. THE GRAFONOLA CO. OF NEW ENGLAND
174 Tremont St.,
Boston, Mass. | GEO. C. ULRICH & CO.
718 Lincoln Bldg.,
Philadelphia, Pa. ART EMBROIDERY CO.
Louisville, Ky. IROQUOIS SALES CO.
210 Franklin St.,
Buffalo, N. Y. UTICA'S GIFT & JEWELRY SHOP
Utica, N. Y. DAVENPORT PHONO. & ACCESS. CO.,
217 Brady St.,
Davenport, Ia. | VOCALION CO. OF OHIO
Cincinnati, O. VOCALION CO. OF OHIO
Cleveland, O. BURNHAM, STOEPEL & CO.
101 East Larned St.,
Detroit, Mich. WALTER S. GRAY CO.
942 Market St.,
San Francisco, Cal. | J. K. POLK FURN. CO.
294 Deatur St.,
Atlanta, Ga. CANDIOTO PIANO CO.
120 S. Limestone St.,
Lexington, Ky. WM. ANDERSON PIANO CO.
79 Eighth St., S.,
Minneapolis, Minn. RICHMOND SPORT & SPECIALTY SHOP
(Newton Corp.)
616 E. Broad St.,
Richmond, Va. |
|--|---|--|---|

There are still several good States and large Cities open. Full details or samples will be furnished responsible jobbers on application.

Outing

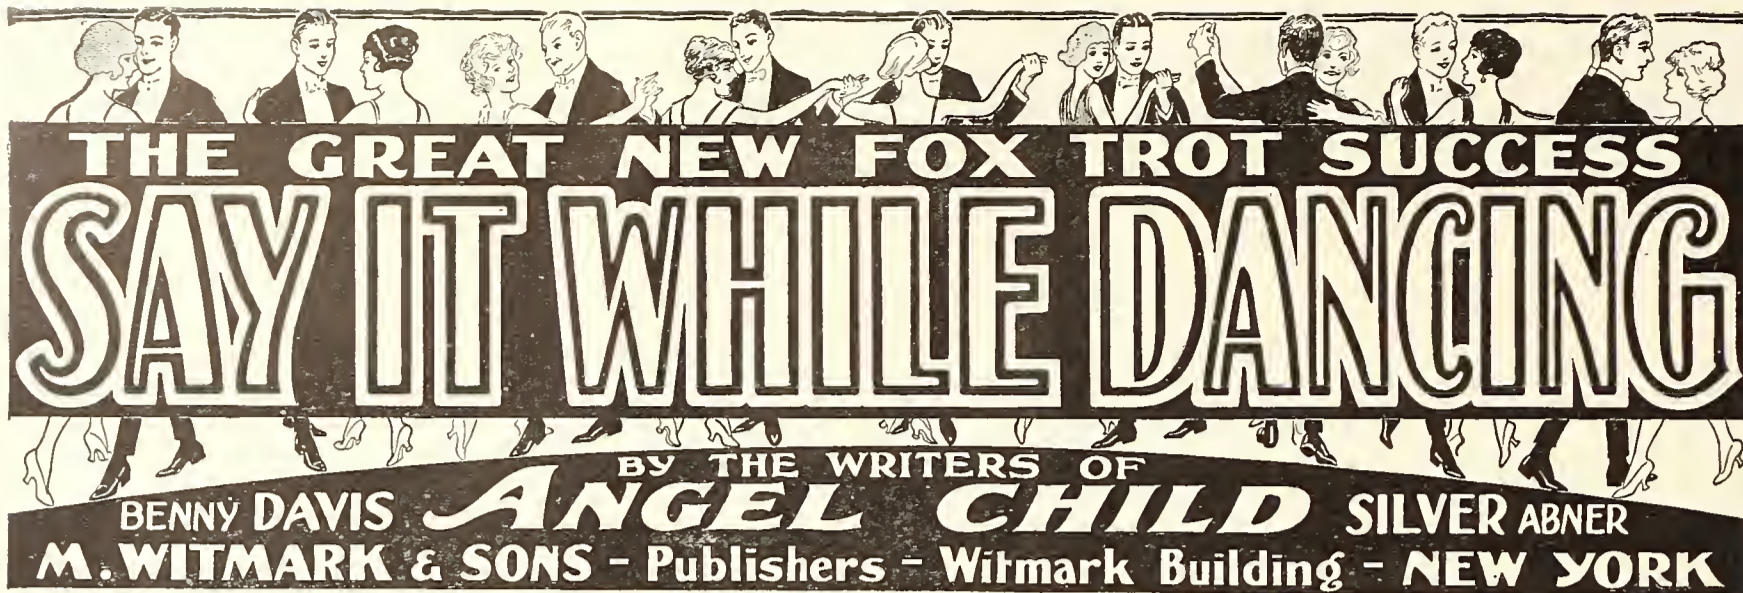

TALKING MACHINE CO., Inc.

A. J. COTE, President
MT. KISCO, N. Y.

Dealers in Mexico and Cuba should send orders and inquiries to
R. C. ACKERMAN
291 East 162nd Street New York, N. Y.

Foreign Export—CHIPMAN LIMITED
8-10 Bridge Street New York City
Cable Address, CHIPMUNK, New York

THE GREAT NEW FOX TROT SUCCESS
SAY IT WHILE DANCING
 BY THE WRITERS OF
BENNY DAVIS ANGEL CHILD SILVER ABNER
M. WITMARK & SONS - Publishers - Witmark Building - NEW YORK

AN OLD PERIL IN A NEW GUISE

By Julius Klein, Director, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce

Well-authenticated confidential advices received by the Department of Commerce from various sources indicate the recurrence in a virulent form of an old evil, which has from time to time imperiled individual interests in the export trade, but now seems to be directed against certain exporting industries as a whole.

The means employed are to tie up the American exporter in an agency agreement and to push competing goods of foreign make under the protection of the existing agency arrangement.

Agency Agreements Should Be Examined

This practice is not new, but apparently it has never been tried so extensively as at present, according to indications, for which reason it is deemed expedient to issue a word of caution to American exporters. It is absolutely essential, for the present prosperity and the future welfare of the American export trade, to exercise the most rigid scrutiny over the details of agency agreements which tie up the exporter in a certain territory.

Is your agent bound by open or secret affiliations to interests other than American? Does the agency agreement permit him to paralyze the active promotion of your interests and to devote himself actively to the sale of competing goods? The danger outlined is not a mere bugaboo, but actually exists, and flagrant cases have been submitted to the Department of Commerce as evidence.

The problem which the situation presents is exceedingly delicate and difficult. The solution—to entrust the agency of an American firm to a strictly American agency organization—is simple enough, but cannot be everywhere applied in practice because such organizations are comparatively few. But it is imperative to examine most closely the existing and the proposed agency arrangements with firms whose affiliations are not entirely American.

It has been suggested that where an American firm cannot be found a native firm, free from any suspicion of foreign affiliations, should be entrusted with the agency, but even this expedient may not always answer. In many markets the distribution of imported goods has never been in native hands.

Need for American Agencies

The sad fact remains that in the task of distributing American goods abroad American traders had largely depended before the war upon European agencies and other foreign channels. Even until very recent days they had depended upon foreign-owned bottoms to carry them. It is the obvious and immediate task of American business to create throughout the world a network of American agencies, or at least agencies whose loyalty is not pre-empted by racial or commercial ties antagonistic to American interests.

This is not a task to be accomplished in a day. But until it has been accomplished American export business will be greatly handicapped, dependent for its progress upon alien and frequently unwilling effort. The thing to be done at once is to examine the basis of all agreements with foreign agents and to analyze the affiliations of the agents.

The Department of Commerce urges exporters to take advantage of the full resources of American banks, credit institutions and Government agencies, particularly the Commercial Intelligence Service and the Commercial Laws Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, in connection with inquiries as to the general scope of agency contracts.

PROOF THAT ADVERTISING PAYS

Mississippi Columbia Dealer Tells of Successful Publicity Campaign

BILOXI, Miss., August 8.—J. A. Abrams, Columbia dealer in this city, recently forwarded an interesting letter to the Daily Herald, advising this publication that remarkable results have been obtained from a newspaper campaign inaugurated by him several weeks ago. In this letter Mr. Abrams stated that during a period of three weeks he had used two full pages and six half-page advertisements in the Daily Herald, and as a result of this advertising had sold thirty-four Grafonolas ranging in price from $60 to $175. In addition to these sales over 200 inquiries had been received, many of which will undoubtedly be turned into sales in the near future. Another proof that advertising pays.

MISS MARION I. BEACH ENGAGED

The engagement of Miss Marion I. Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Beach, of Merchantville, N. J., to Clarence C. Larkin, of Ithaca, N. Y., has been announced. Mr. Beach is widely known in the trade as vice-president and general manager of the Unit Construction Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

He who hitches his wagon to a star,
 And works to attain his goal
 Is bound to travel fast and far,
 And works to attain his goal.

GOLDMAN SUMMER BAND CONCERTS

Programs for Closing Half of Season Will Be of Exceeding Interest

Judging from the increased attendance, the delightful concerts being given by the Goldman Band on The Green at Columbia University have been keenly appreciated this season. Mr. Goldman has been providing programs of exceeding interest which are rendered by a splendid organization of artists. After a week's vacation the Goldman Band will resume its concerts on August 21, but instead of three concerts a week, there will be nightly programs from Monday to Friday evenings each week up to September 8. In this period there will be festival concerts and a series of operatic and popular nights. The World extends its felicitations to Mr. Goldman on the great work he is doing for the advancement of music in New York City. His efforts merit the substantial backing of every lover of music.

AMERICANS BARRED FROM FAIR

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 3.—American musical instrument manufacturers will be barred from exhibiting at the coming Basle, Switzerland, trade fair, according to a recent announcement made by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here. In a previous statement the bureau announced that American manufacturers would be given an opportunity of exhibiting at this fair, but information recently received indicates that only Swiss manufacturers will be allowed to participate.

E. P. LITTLE A VISITOR TO NEW YORK

Edward P. Little, who was recently elected president of the National Association of Sheet Music Dealers, and head of the music publisher's department of Sherman, Clay & Co., San Francisco, Cal., arrived in New York on Thursday of last week and made a ten days' stay in this city, following which he visited other large Eastern trade centers.

A big exploitation campaign has been inaugurated by Sherman, Clay & Co. on the new novelty fox-trot, "The Sneak," and several other numbers from the catalog. Mr. Little seemed much pleased with the situation in the East.

The Consolidated Music Stores, of Newark, N. J., have changed their name to the Cardinal Sales Co.

REGAL
PREDOMINATES
 IN THE
50¢ RECORD FIELD

Meet Me Next Sunday
 See Page 116
Jack Snyder

AURADION

THE SUPER RADIO RECEIVING SET

A RADIO CABINET SET DESIGNED TO MEET THE EXACTING DEMAND OF THE TALKING MACHINE TRADE

List Price, $150.⁰⁰

Customary Talking Machine Discounts

Represents the latest and best in radio design equipment. The result of extensive experimenting to produce a perfect receiving instrument that would function with the greatest efficiency even in the hands of persons utterly unfamiliar with radio.

SIMPLICITY IN ITSELF

Fine tuning and elimination of interference is made possible by a simple adjusting lever.

Will receive messages and broadcasting programs from distant stations.

The A.R.2 Loud speaking model combines beauty with reproducing powers and enables several persons to listen in at one time.

Outstanding features of the Auradion A.R.2 Loud speaker type that make it

THE SUPER MACHINE of SUPER VALUE

1. Genuine solid mahogany cabinet of beautiful piano finish.
2. Three stages of amplification insuring maximum volume.
3. Loud speaker of scientific design concealed in cabinet.
4. Loud speaker phone W. E. type papier mache horn for perfect amplification without distortion.
5. Cabinet designed with compartments to house all batteries.
6. No wiring whatsoever exposed.

AURADION—STYLE A. R. 2

EXCLUSIVE TERRITORIES NOW BEING ALLOTTED

Write for Particulars and Our Dealer Cooperation Service Plan

Inter-Ocean Radio Corporation

ELECTRICAL EXCHANGE BUILDING

136 Liberty Street

New York City

OUTING SALES SHOW INCREASE

Sales for First Week of August Exceed Month's Quota—New Louisville Jobber Appointed

The Outing Talking Machine Co., Mount Kisco, N. Y., manufacturer of the Outing portable, announced recently the appointment of the Art Embroidery Co., Louisville, as an Outing portable distributor. This company is planning to feature the Outing aggressively and has placed a good-sized order for immediate delivery.

A. J. Coté, president and general manager of the Outing Talking Machine Co., recently sent an interesting letter to Okeh jobbers commenting upon the fact that business to date exceeded all expectations. Mr. Coté in his letter pointed out that the orders received during the first week were equal to the month's quota of business, and he suggested to Outing jobbers that they anticipate their requirements in order to receive maximum co-operation and service for the Fall and holiday trade. Mr. Coté also commented upon the fact that the Outing export department has been very active the past fortnight, several substantial shipments to Mexico being a feature of the business.

COURTESY AS A BUSINESS BUILDER

One of the principal policies on which the business of the King Furniture Co., of San Antonio, Tex., has been built up is that of courtesy. Many sales of Columbia Grafonolas have resulted because of the reputation of the concern, which is generally known as the "friendly house."

A novel stunt in operation in the Grafonola department of the King Co. consists of a bulletin board in the reception room of the store on which the names of the latest recording stars appear each week.

Louis & Co., Victor dealers, of Washington, D. C., have remodeled the upper floors of their establishment to accommodate a toy department.

NEW BRUNSWICK CONSOLE

Chippendale Period Model Added to Line—Equipment Includes All Distinctive Brunswick Features—Is Finished in Burl Walnut

CHICAGO, ILL., August 5.—The new Chippendale concert model, which was recently announced by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., is meeting with considerable success, and Brunswick dealers everywhere are planning to feature this instrument extensively during the coming Fall season. The illustration herewith will give some idea of the handsome appearance of this new Brunswick period model.

This new Chippendale Brunswick, which retails at $450, is beautifully finished in burl walnut, and has dimensions which will make it suitable for installation in almost any home or apartment. The cabinet is 41½ inches wide, 41 inches high and 21 inches deep. The equipment of the Brunswick Chippendale includes the new double Ultona reproducer, automatically balanced lid, equipment for electric operation, eight albums for filing records, a compartment for accessories and gold-plated trimmings.

Miss Lucy A. Goldsmith, export manager for the Aeolian Co., is spending her vacation in Nantucket, Mass.

DEMONSTRATE HEALTH RECORDS

Fairway Co. Introduces Sales Plan for Victor Health Records—Staff of Demonstrators Will Co-operate With Dealers in Developing Trade

Victor distributors and dealers in Greater New York have evinced keen interest in a new service offered by the Fairway Co., New York, in connection with the new Victor health exercises. This company has inaugurated a service which consists of a demonstrator who goes through the first eight exercises as outlined in the record. The demonstration is given either in the showroom of the dealer's store or in any other suitable place.

New Brunswick Chippendale Concert Model

The exercises take about fifteen minutes; the demonstrator going through them and then resting for about fifteen minutes in order to attract different crowds. This continues for three hours, any time during the day or evening as the dealer may desire, and continues for a full week.

Paul Rescousie, well known in the local talking machine trade, who is general manager of the Fairway Co., has already completed plans whereby an efficient corps of demonstrators is ready to co-operate with the dealers in the interest of Victor health exercise records.

NOW THE HOMOPHONE CO.

Company Making New Home Recording Device Announces Change of Name

The Home Sonarograph Co., 293 Plane street, Newark, N. J., manufacturer of a home recorder, announces the change of the name of the company to the Homophone Co. and the name of the recording device to the Homophone. The device has been introduced in a number of stores in the metropolitan district. The company is under the management of H. A. Miller.

Recently Arthur Kopp, who is attached to the sales department, demonstrated the Homophone to a gathering of the Talking Machine Men, Inc. Without any prearranged program Jack Glogau, the well-known songwriter, who attended the luncheon, was requested to make a recording. He sang one of Fred Fisher's new publications and the result was a clear recording without any flaws.

At the present time the device can be attached to only a few of the leading makes of machines unless the manufacturer is informed in advance of the make. It is understood, however, that in a very short space of time the instrument will be so arranged that it can be attached to any make of machine. The wax records accompanying the device can be used nearly fifty times by shaving off the recording after each use of the record, the company announces.

"—the most perfect,—the most beautiful reproduction of my playing that I have ever heard."

That's how a famous artist described the reproduction of his art by a Violin Spruce Reproducer.

DEALERS QUICKLY DISCOVER that demonstrations with the Violin Spruce Reproducer help the sale of phonographs and records as well as the Reproducer itself.

The Violin Spruce Reproducer

Eliminates all metallic sounds. Classifies reproduction of the voice. Individualizes every instrument. Improves with use—like a violin. Is unaffected by climatic conditions.

Violin Spruce Diaphragm Reproducer as illustrated retails for $7.50

THE DIAPHRAGM COMPANY
Room 311, 5005 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, O.

Of Special Interest to Manufacturers

We are prepared to furnish in any quantity the following items adapted to any make of phonograph: Tone Arm, equipped complete with Violin Spruce Diaphragm Reproducer; Violin Spruce Diaphragm Reproducer; or Violin Spruce Diaphragm alone to assemblers in 2-9/16" diameter only.

Violin Spruce Diaphragm

PORTLAND

Dealers Look Forward to Buyers' Week—Expect Large Attendance—Trade Activities of the Month

PORTLAND, ORE., August 4.—Music dealers of this city are looking forward to the tenth annual Buyers' Week, which will be staged in Portland from August 7 to 12, at which time it is expected that there will be over 2,000 retail dealers from the Northwest who will be in the city to purchase their stocks for the coming year.

Elmer Hunt, manager of the Sherman, Clay & Co. wholesale department, reports two new Victor dealers, one at Seaside, Ore., J. M. Callahan, manager, and one at White's Pharmacy, Vancouver, Wash.

Howard Rose, of Rose Bros., Victor dealers, of Ashland, Ore., was a recent visitor to Portland and while here he called on Mr. Hunt.

P. T. Clay, president of Sherman, Clay & Co., visited this city for several days on his return from the East, where he attended the music convention. G. P. Guppy, wholesale manager of the Seattle branch, and A. S. Cobb, from Spokane, accompanied Mr. Clay to Portland.

Wm. Smith, for the last ten months territory salesman for the Columbia Graphophone Co., resigned his position August 1. He left for Lake Tahoe, Cal., where he will take a vacation for several months, when he expects to go to Los Angeles and open a store of his own. Mr. Smith established a new Columbia agency in July at Stayton, Ore., in the Sloper Drug Co., V. Dare Sloper, proprietor and manager. Landstrom & Smith, exclusive Columbia dealers, of Lebanon, Ore., have increased their sales force on account of rapidly growing business.

L. D. Heater, Portland's most active and progressive jobber in phonograph accessories and exclusive agent in Oregon and Washington for the Portophone, returned from a trip to Seattle and other Northwest points, with good reports of business done up North. Mr. Heater's business has gone ahead so fast that it has been necessary for him to put on extra men. He has placed C. H. Williams in charge of eastern Oregon and Washington, with headquarters in Spokane; H. L. Williams has been placed in charge of Seattle and vicinity and Henry Norton is looking after Mr. Heater's interests in California. Mr. Heater expects to spend several weeks in San Francisco and Los Angeles and expects to put on another man in that territory. He has recently been appointed distributor for Oregon and Washington of the Strand console phonograph.

Clyde Freeman, the popular manager of the Remick Song and Gift Shop, has been replaced by I. E. Sklare, who was assistant manager of the Los Angeles store before they closed out last month.

Allen E. McLean has been appointed sales manager of the Virola and Edison phonograph department of the Reed, French Piano Co. Mr. McLean came here from Great Falls, Mont., where for nine years he was manager of the Great Falls Phonograph Co.

Frank Anrys, general manager of the Wiley B. Allen Co., was a recent visitor here and, with Frank M. Case, manager of the local branch, journeyed to Rainier National Park, where they took in the sights.

Miss Anna Baggs, private secretary in the San Francisco executive offices and manager of the Allen publicity department, was also a visitor. Miss Baggs is on a month's vacation tour.

Vern L. Wenger, the Talking Machine Man, located for the past five years at Second and Alder streets, has moved and is now occupying a store at 244 Alder street.

J. F. Shidell, formerly associated with the San Antonio Music Co., San Antonio, Tex., is now manager of the William A. Parker Co. phonograph department in that city.

There is no such thing as a short cut.

WIDENER BRANCH MANAGERS MEET

Twelve Branch Managers Assemble at Boston—Business and Social Program Enjoyed

Managers of twelve Widener branch stores held a meeting in Boston recently and returned to their respective stores filled with enthusiasm and many new ideas for the promotion of sales. During the convention, which lasted two days, there were talks on current subjects by J. G. Widener, president of the company, who presided, and later open forum was held and the exchange of ideas and the discussion of problems proved beneficial to all present.

Pleasure was not forgotten. A boat trip to Nantasket was staged, swimming was enjoyed and, following an excellent shore dinner, the party returned to this city.

Those present included: J. G. Widener, R. E. Demarest, treasurer of the company; D. F. Follin, sales manager, and R. C. Mulligan, secretary and attorney. The various stores were represented by Messrs. Arbuckle, St. Louis; Wilson, Indianapolis; Fantle, Cincinnati; Perrett, Philadelphia; Black, West Philadelphia; Dexter, Newark; Speare, New York; Clifford and Caldwell, Hartford; Warner, New Britain; McNeill, New Haven; Kennedy, Worcester, and Demarest, Boston.

HAYWARD CLEVELAND'S NEW POST

Hayward Cleveland, well known in the Eastern talking machine trade and one of the veterans of the industry, has been elected vice-president of the Commerce Advertising Agency, which recently moved to 1819 Broadway, New York. This agency concentrates its activities in behalf of the journals issued by the various Chambers of Commerce throughout the country, and Mr. Cleveland is in charge of national space sales—a post he is well capable of filling.

Someone has said that there is nothing so broadening as kindness and in business there is nothing so effective as courtesy and consideration for your customers.

Licensed under the Geer patents issued Nov. 10, 1914, and Feb. 29, 1916. Infringers will be vigorously prosecuted and dealers are warned against handling infringing products.

ADJUSTABLE

PHONOGRAPH records differ in length. A record repeater, therefore, needs some adjustable feature to give perfect results. The small, movable slide of the Geer Repeater, which can instantly be set to the end of the music and which cannot get out of order, perfectly supplies this need.

This adjustable feature of the Geer Repeater gives it exceptional value for playing vocal as well as instrumental records, and the steadily increasing popularity of the Geer means that it will prove an unusually profitable line for fall and winter sales.

Gold Seal Repeaters

The Walbert Manufacturing Company is the exclusive sales representative for the Gold Seal Repeater in the territory west of the Alleghenies, including Canada west of Toronto. Send orders direct to address below.

Our Special Window Demonstrating Record Will Increase Your Sales

For the benefit of our dealers, we have developed a special window demonstrating record, without music, that plays through in 18 seconds. This quick-playing record is given free with orders for 12 Geer Repeaters or with 25 Gold Seal Repeaters and is surprisingly effective in making sales.

A repeater window demonstration will prove one of your best drawing cards—as has been proved by hundreds of stores—and can be set up in a few minutes.

Write your jobber or clip and mail the coupon—Today.

WALBERT MANUFACTURING COMPANY, 925-941 Wrightwood Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Please send by return mail Geer Repeaters and Gold Seal Repeaters—price to be 40%* off list—retail prices to be $2.50 and $1.00 respectively.

Check here if you want window demonstrating record and sales helps.

Name
Address
Jobber

* IMPORTANT—On orders for less than 100 Gold Seal Repeaters discount is 35%. Window demonstrating record is free with orders for 12 Geer Repeaters or 25 Gold Seal Repeaters. Terms C. O. D. to firms not rated.

THE SATISFIED
CUSTOMER IS THE DEALER'S GREATEST ASSET

Federal

RADIO INSTRUMENTS

ARE MOST SATISFACTORY
In Design, Finish, Simplicity of Operation and GENERAL RESULTS

We Manufacture a Complete Line of RADIO
Instruments and Parts, all of which typify
FEDERAL QUALITY and TRADITION.

FEDERAL CRYSTAL RECEIVER

FEDERAL JUNIOR AMPLIFIER

TO THE DEALER

You may be assured of SATISFIED
CUSTOMERS if you sell FEDERAL apparatus.
Write for DEALER'S discounts.

Federal Telephone and Telegraph Company
BUFFALO, NEW YORK

TRUCKS BRING GOOD BUSINESS

Grinnell Bros. Find Selling From Trucks So Satisfactory That They Have Increased Their Fleet—To Cover More of Outlying Districts

DETROIT, MICH., August 10.—A review of business for July has brought out the fact that sales for that month were very good, all things being considered. Most of the dealers who are acknowledged live-wires report a very gratifying increase over July, 1921. Grinnell Bros., who have literally carried the phonograph into the homes of hundreds of Detroiters, by means of a truck and three or four capable salesmen, find that method so productive of results that they are putting on a third truck to take care of the outlying districts. Manager Porter, of the Victrola department, explained that Grinnell Bros. proceeded on the belief that the public had money and that, since they evinced no very great desire to come into the store and spend it, they would take their machines out to them and close the deal in their own homes. Two trucks were put on this work, each manned by experienced salesmen, and as a result of this campaign business has been greatly stimulated. Every dealer in Detroit is convinced that Fall will usher in a season of brisk buying and the wide-awake dealers are stocking up heavily so as to insure being in shape to meet this demand.

INTRODUCE THE AURADION

Inter-Ocean Radio Co. Announces Radio Cabinet Receiving Set for Talking Machine Trade

The Inter-Ocean Radio Co., of New York City, is introducing to the trade this month a radio cabinet receiving set, known as the Auradion, designed primarily to appeal to the talking machine dealer and his trade. It is enclosed in an artistic cabinet which resembles closely the lines of the ordinary talking machine, and it is the opinion of officials of the company that "it is the radio unit which the talking machine dealer has been looking for."

The radio apparatus is a three-stage amplification unit connected with a loud speaker horn constructed on strictly scientific lines, which is the result of extensive experiments conducted in the company's laboratories by engineers who are well known in the radio field.

According to present plans the machine is to be distributed throughout the country to dealers on an exclusive territory basis following closely in this respect the policies of the leading talking machine concerns.

These plans also call for a merchandising policy that will enable them to sell the dealer at the regular talking machine trade discount, which will allow the dealer to carry a representative stock and sell at a fair profit. This merchandising policy, it is the opinion of General Manager A. E. Pollock, should appeal strongly to the talking machine dealer. Mr. Pollock stated that his company is sparing no effort to give the dealer every form of co-operation to enable him to carry on a radio business in conjunction with his talking machine business successfully. An extensive publicity campaign, such as form letter, circular and general advertising material, is being planned by the company and it is expected that this product will be distributed in all sections of the country in time for Fall trade.

MILWAUKEE DEALERS AT PICNIC

MILWAUKEE, WIS., August 10.—The Milwaukee Association of Music Industries and the Victor Dealers' Club of Milwaukee were the guests of the Chicago Piano Club on August 9 at their first intercity picnic in Ravinia Park, Chicago. The local delegation numbered more than 100, who made the trip in a special car. The music stores of the city were closed during the afternoon to give all employes an opportunity to attend. Athletic contests were included in the program arranged by the Chicago Piano Club.

REPORTS INCREASING DEMAND

The Encore Sales Corp., New York City, sole factory distributor of the Encore record replayer, reports steadily increasing demand for this talking machine accessory. M. S. Davis, president of the company, stated that this replayer was originally placed on the market last May and has enjoyed steadily growing distribution among both dealers and jobbers. A new factory was recently obtained in Newark, N. J., equipped with modern machinery and allowing larger production.

RECEIVER FOR STEWART CORP.

Harry E. Harkness has been appointed receiver of the Stewart Phonograph Corp., manufacturer of phonographs, of Binghamton, N. Y. The concern was recently forced into bankruptcy with liabilities of over $50,000.

A NEW
ETHEL WATERS RECORD

No. 14117

"Jazzin' Babies Blues"

and

"Kind Loving Blues"

To Be Had Only On

BLACK SWAN RECORDS

Buy From Your Nearest Jobber, or Direct From

PACE PHONOGRAPH CORP.

2289 Seventh Avenue

New York, N. Y.

INVALUABLE

Here is the handbook of the talking machine industry for which you have long been waiting. It is a directory you can keep on your desk to give you, in an instant, detailed knowledge about this and that company, which would otherwise consume much of your time to secure.

ONLY 50 CENTS

For instance, it will give you a complete up-to-date list of the manufacturers and jobbers who comprise the talking machine industry, including invaluable data about each concern, such as location of factories, names of officers, location of branch offices, trade names controlled, policy of marketing product, etc., etc.

ONLY 50 CENTS

Also it will give you a full, up-to-date list of the manufacturers who make any given class of product, such as talking machines, records, parts, accessories, store equipment, etc.

ONLY 50 CENTS

This book contains the kind of data about each concern which cannot be put into the company's current advertising for lack of space and which is nevertheless a kind of data that is valuable from your standpoint.

ONLY 50 CENTS

This volume also contains a number of pertinent articles on highly important topics and much other material too extensive to enumerate here in detail.

ONLY 50 CENTS

It is the only book of its kind ever published and is a volume which no enterprising member of the industry can fairly afford to do without. It has been produced by the publishers of The Talking Machine World.

USE THIS COUPON NOW

Send Cash, Stamps or Check

EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc.,
373 Fourth Ave., New York City.

Gentlemen:
Please send me postage prepaid a copy of the 1922 edition of The Talking Machine World Trade Directory, in payment for which I enclose 50 cents.

Name

Firm

Street

City and State.....

APPOINTED RADIOLA JOBBER

General Radio Corp., Philadelphia, Will Distribute Products of Radio Corp. of America—Walter L. Eckhardt, President, Is Planning Extensive Sales Campaign on New Line

The General Radio Corp., Philadelphia, Pa., the president of which is Walter L. Eckhardt, has recently been appointed a distributor of RCA radio products, manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America, New York. This important announcement was made recently by the sales division of the latter company, and Mr. Eckhardt is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon the acquisition of this valuable jobbing franchise. A complete stock of Radiola receiving sets, together with the other products manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America, has already been ordered by Mr. Eckhardt, and plans are being made for an extensive sales campaign.

The General Radio Corp. is exceptionally well qualified to handle the products of the Radio Corporation of America as, under Mr. Eckhardt's able direction, his company is rapidly becoming one of the most successful jobbers of radio products in the country. Owing to the fact that he has been identified with the talking machine industry for more than twenty years, Mr. Eckhardt thoroughly understands the requirements of the talking machine dealers, and in the introduction of Radiolas he will be able to give the trade the benefit of this valuable and lengthy experience.

DEATH OF ROSS L. DOUGLASS

President of National Co. Passes Away Unexpectedly From an Attack of Indigestion

BOSTON, MASS., August 8.—Ross L. Douglass, for many years president of the National Co. of this city, recently died suddenly as the result of an attack of acute indigestion shortly after his return from a visit to Europe. The products of the National Co., Ragtime Rastus, the Boxing Darkies, Shimandy and other mechanical toys for the turntable, are well known throughout the talking machine industry. Mr. Douglass had been abroad in the interest of his company and his recent report of foreign conditions was read with interest by readers of The World. The success of the National Co. is a monument to the business ability of Mr. Douglass and his untimely death will be received with distinct sorrow by his many friends in the talking machine industry.

OWNS IMPORTANT RADIO PATENT

Radio Corporation of America Owns Armstrong Super-Regenerative Patents—Invention Not Yet in Commercial Form

The Radio Corporation of America, New York, now owns the important Armstrong super-regenerative patents, having purchased recently the rights to this invention. It is understood that the invention is not yet in commercial form, and that it will require additional development over a period of a number of months before it can be brought on the market. This will be interesting information to the radio industry, as there has been considerable discussion regarding the Armstrong super-regenerative patents.

MOVES SUIT TO U. S. COURT

Trade-mark Suit Brought by Lyon & Healy Against Wurlitzer Co. Transferred From Superior Court to United States District Court

CHICAGO, ILL., August 9.—The Superior Court of Cook County, Ill., has granted the petition filed by Percy Kimberly, head of the Chicago division of the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co., to move the trade-mark law suit filed against the Wurlitzer organization by Lyon & Healy, of this city, from the Superior Court to the United States District Court in accordance with the formality in such proceedings. The Chicago division of the Wurlitzer Co. filed its bond of $500 to secure the costs.

GIVES VICTROLA OPERA CONCERTS

Crowds Attracted to John Wanamaker Auditorium by Well-arranged Operatic Concerts, in Which the Victrola Was the Star

Opera concerts on the Victrola are drawing the crowds of shoppers in the John Wanamaker store, New York City, to the piano and Victrola departments. These concerts are novel in that at each performance the various recordings of the operas as sung by a number of artists are played. The magnificent auditorium adjoining the piano department is used for the purpose and on the stage, given prominence by a clever lighting arrangement, stands an upright model Victrola.

An example of the program may be gleaned from the fact that a recent concert was devoted entirely to "Aida," as sung by Louise Homer, Johanna Gadske, Lucy Marsh, Emmy Destinn, Enrico Caruso and Paul Althouse. Other programs of a similar nature were arranged daily for an entire week. The attendance at these concerts was exceedingly large and much valuable publicity resulted.

Radio and phonograph combined in the LYRADION—your customers will prefer this line

Lyradion Italian Renaissance

Combination radio and phonograph. A beautiful hand-carved cabinet in polychrome finish for large homes and clubs. Wired for Westinghouse "set" or complete with Lyradion 5 stage non-regenerative set. All instruments and batteries completely housed.

Radio enthusiasts are expressing their preference for the Lyradion line of attractively housed radio sets in no uncertain terms. While the lady of the house has tolerated the old method of placing batteries and sets on the library table and floors as a matter of necessity in the past, she is now demanding the attractive Lyradion combination radio and phonograph completely housing instruments and batteries and offering dual and perpetual entertainment features. Besides these attractive cabinets harmonize with the furnishings of the modest as well as the most luxurious home surroundings.

The wonderful Seabrook amplifying horn used on all models is responsible for the remarkable reproducing qualities of Lyradion instruments. This horn employs entirely new principles of sound reproduction which are fully protected by basic U. S. patents.

Lyradion cabinets can be furnished wired complete for Westinghouse two-stage R. C. sets or with Lyradion five-stage non-regenerative receiving sets.

Territory is being rapidly allotted—dealers or jobbers should write or wire immediately for proposition.

Lyradion Sales & Engineering Company

Mishawaka, Indiana KENTON W. MIX, Director

AKRON, O.

Battle of Rail Workers Affects Trade—Plan Industrial Exhibition—Starr Store Changes Hands

AKRON, O., August 8.—The rail and coal strikes the past two weeks are being reflected in retail business locally and several dealers interviewed declared that people are showing a tendency to hold off buying because of the future uncertainty of employment and conditions generally over the country.

Plans are being made by the exposition committee of the South Akron Board of Trade for a South Akron Industrial Exposition. Piano and talking machine houses in the South Akron district will be represented at the exhibition.

M. M. Mell, president of the M. M. Mell Co., is the new president of the East Akron Board of Trade, and practically all retail music stores in this section of the city are affiliated.

The Superior Music Parlors has acquired the Starr Piano Co.'s store at 87 South Howard street. It will be operated under the same firm name, continuing to feature the Starr phonograph and the Starr piano lines as heretofore.

"Since moving our record section from the second floor to the main street level, record sales have been doubled," said George S. Dales, head of the well-known music house of this name.

Talking machine sales in the music section of the M. O. Neil Co. department store were better last month than during July of a year ago. The Victor and Cheney machines both moved well during the month.

The Windsor Poling Co. kept after records last month and succeeded in closing one of the biggest volumes of trade in a long time. Mr. Poling is now busy arranging details for the opening of the music season when the company will promote the local appearances of a number of noted artists.

EXPLOITING THE TALKING MACHINE IN COMMUNITY WORK

Clever Stunt Staged by the Community Service of Texarkana Brings the Talking Machine to the Fore—Local Artists Appear on Same Program With Artists on Records

Local artists in Texarkana were given the unique opportunity of appearing on the same program as the world-renowned musicians when Community Service arranged a concert there recently. And not only did they appear on the same program, but they rendered the same selections as did such luminaries of the opera and concert stage as Galli-Curci, Rachmaninoff, Heifetz and others. The Texarkanans had the best of it, however, being there in person to receive the applause of an enthusiastic audience, while the others were represented by talking machine records.

The affair was managed in this way: First, a record was run on the phonograph, and then a local singer, violinist or pianist gave the same composition. Those who attended found it interesting to note the similarities and differences between the resident talent and the more famous singers and instrumentalists. Through a bulletin which national headquarters of Community Service has issued telling of the concert, other communities have become interested and are planning similar affairs.

This same bulletin contains another suggestion for a new music feature which has appealed particularly to music clubs and teachers. It tells in detail how the work of local musicians, vocal or instrumental, may be reproduced with a recording machine. For instance, the directions call for the use of a dictating machine, a blank record and an improvised horn. Two artists may sing the same song, one after the other, on one record, so that comparisons of tone, technique and expression may be made, or the experiment may show the progress of one person from week to week or from month to month. Music teachers find this method of recording improvement very satisfactory. Miss Marie Daschbach, of Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York, keeps track of the development of her pupils in this way.

The talking machine section of the A. B. Smith Piano Co. will be remodeled and placed in readiness for a big Fall business, according to an announcement this week by A. B. Smith, Jr., manager of the local store. More sales space will be available and the store in general will be redecorated and renovated.

Miss Elsie Baer, manager of the talking machine section of the M. O. Neil Co., is spending a several weeks' vacation in Michigan and nearby States.

ANENT LOWER EXPRESS RATES

Interstate Commerce Commission Expected to Let Matters Rest Pending Settlement of Strikes

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 9.—It is not likely that the Interstate Commerce Commission will make an extended investigation into express rates until the coal and railroad strikes are settled. Some days ago the investigation was about to be undertaken at the request of numerous shippers in various industries who had pointed out to the Commission that while freight rates were reduced 10 per cent last month express charges were still as high as they had been at any time during and after the war. It was intended to make a very full investigation of the matter similar to the investigation of freight rates made last Winter. The rates for coal and the wages which must be paid the railroad men now on strike will have considerable to do with the question of the rates at which the railroads will be able to handle freight in the future, and the Interstate Commerce Commission is desirous of awaiting a settlement of those questions before taking up the question of express rates.

Greatest Talking Machine Value in the World!

Patented December 11, 1917

Talking Machine Cabinets

These new, rock bottom prices enable you to sell the greatest talking machine value in the world—a Victrola IV or VI and a genuine Converto Cabinet at a combined price far below anything ever offered either in a cabinet machine or a combination.

The Converto is the only cabinet that permits use of the Victrola tone regulating doors.

Converto Cabinets are now sold direct to dealers. The prices are so extremely low as to enable live dealers to use the combination as an effective stimulant for immediate business.

ORDER NOW for your Fall and Holiday business as these prices are subject to withdrawal.

ONLY $15

STANDARD MODEL OAK OR MAHOGANY

ONLY $25

DELUXE MODEL MAHOGANY ONLY

THE C. J. LUNDSTROM MFG. CO.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y.

Lundstrom "Converto" Cabinets are broadly covered by patents. Infringements will be promptly prosecuted.

APPOINTS NEW OKEH JOBBER

General Radio Corp., of Philadelphia, Takes Over Stock and Accounts of A. J. Heath Co.—W. C. Fuhri Closes This Very Important Deal

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., August 7.—Walter L. Eckhardt, president of the General Radio Corp. of this city, announced recently that arrangements had been completed whereby his company would take over the Okeh record stock of the A. J. Heath Co., Philadelphia, Okeh jobber, together with the accounts handled by that company. W. C. Fuhri, general sales manager of the General Phonograph Corp., New York, closed this important deal on a recent visit to Philadelphia, and by the terms of this new arrangement the General Radio Corp. becomes distributor for Okeh products in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, a portion of Ohio and the southern part of New Jersey.

A. H. Pope, who has been associated with Mr. Eckhardt for the past fourteen years, will assume charge of the Okeh record division, and a thoroughly trained sales staff is now ready to co-operate with Okeh dealers in this important territory. The General Radio Corp. will continue to act as distributors for Strand phonographs, with which line it has been remarkably successful, and, in addition, this concern is also jobber for important groups of the radio products.

ORGANIZE PATHE SOUND WAVE CORP.

The Pathé Sound Wave Corp. was recently formed in Brooklyn, N. Y., for the purpose of manufacturing combination radio and phonograph console machines, loud speakers and other radio parts. Its formation is in direct accordance with the plan of the creditors' committee of the Pathé Frères Phonograph Co. which was submitted to the creditors for approval. The plan, which was described in a recent issue of The World, was almost unanimously approved and the creditors' committee is now acting as a reorganization committee. The directors of the Pathé Sound Wave Corp. are Eugene A. Widmann, H. T. Leeming and Frank T. Lewis. A product which will be particularly featured is the loud speaker, which possesses remarkable volume and tone. It is planned to market the products principally through the talking machine trade.

H. C. NAILL VISITS NEW YORK

H. C. Naill, of the Geo. A. Long Cabinet Co., Hanover, Pa., manufacturer of the Long console and record cabinets, was a recent visitor to New York, calling on some of the company's Eastern representatives. Mr. Naill was optimistic regarding the general outlook for Fall business, stating that his company had several important plans in process of completion which would prove of keen interest to the trade.

H. C. BROWN ENDS LONG AUTO TRIP

A recent visitor to New York City was Henry C. Brown, of the Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, N. J., on his way home after a 1,600-mile automobile trip through Pennsylvania, New York and Canada. While in Canada Mr. Brown visited his son, Henry, Jr., who operates a large and successful moving picture house in a city "over the border."

Order Your Supply of the New Encore Record Replayer Now

THE MOST EFFICIENT DEVICE OF ITS KIND EVER PRODUCED

The Record Replayer Without a Fault

Made of Steel. Nickel-Plated. Celluloid Adjuster

Retails at $1.00

Discount to Dealers 40%

ORDER NOW AND WATCH YOUR SALES INCREASE

Some Territory Still Open for Jobbers

ENCORE SALES CORPORATION

Sole Manufacturers' Representative

6 CHURCH STREET

NEW YORK, N. Y.

COMPLETING DISTRIBUTION PLANS

Radio Corp. of America Appoints New Jobbers in Musical Industry—Company Studying Distribution Possibilities—Over 150 Jobbers Now Handling This Nationally Known Product

During the past month the Radio Corporation of America, 233 Broadway, New York, manufacturer of RCA radio products, has appointed several new jobbers, and at the present time the company has established the following distributors in the musical industry: Landay Bros., New York; Lyon & Healy, Chicago; W. F. Frederick Piano Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Albany Radio Corp., Albany, N. Y. The recent appointment of the General Radio Corp., Philadelphia, Pa., as a Radiola distributor may also be considered an appointment in the musical industry, as Walter L. Eckhardt, president of this company, has been identified with the talking machine industry for over twenty years.

It is understood that the Radio Corporation of America will increase its distribution through musical channels in a limited degree, and applications for jobbing franchises have been received by the company's sales division from prominent talking machine concerns in all parts of the country. These applications are now being given careful consideration and important announcements will probably be ready for the trade in the very near future.

At the present time RCA radio products are being distributed by 159 jobbers, controlling 206 establishments all over the country. The majority of these jobbers are members of the electrical trade with quite a number of radio specialty jobbers and also distributors in other fields of standard merchandise. The sales department of the Radio Corporation of America is making a careful study of the sales possibilities for RCA products through various distribution channels, and nothing is being left undone to give the jobbers maximum service and co-operation in the introduction of Radiolas and other products manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America.

NO INSPECTION OF MAIL PACKAGES

Postoffice Department Expected to Take Action Against Those Who Advertise Examination Privilege on Goods Sent by Mail C. O. D.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 7.—Music dealers and others who advertise that their merchandise may be purchased by mail, C. O. D., with the privilege by prospective patrons of inspection before acceptance and the payment of charges will shortly find themselves unable to advertise through the mails unless they discontinue this practice.

Ever since the establishment of C. O. D. service there has been a rule in effect prohibiting postal employes from permitting addressees to open packages for inspection before acceptance. Instructions have been sent to all postmasters to refuse hereafter to accept for mailing any packages containing labels stating that the recipients may open them before paying charges, and to report to the Postoffice Department at once any firms or individuals whose advertisements hold out this privilege. Under the control which the Postoffice Department exercises over advertising matter, the transmission by mail of advertisements that merchandise may be examined before accepted may be easily stopped.

A number of complaints are received regularly from patrons of the postal service that they are not permitted to open packages before acceptance, although the senders assured them of the privilege, and great difficulty has been experienced by carriers in convincing patrons that they are not entitled to inspect C. O. D. parcels.

WILL MAKE EMERSON MACHINES

The Emerson Phonograph Co., 206 Fifth avenue, New York City, announces that it has closed arrangements with the Wasmuth-Goodrich Co., of Peru, Ind., whereby that company is to have the right to use the name "Emerson" on talking machines, manufactured by it, for a period of one year. The Emerson Phonograph Co. will, for the present, confine its activities to the manufacture of records exploiting its foreign and standard record catalog.

"SUPERB" SEMI-PERMANENT NEEDLE

THE PERFECT NEEDLE

Plays 100 to 200 Records :: Retail 4 for 30 cents

Send for Samples and Discounts

MELLOWTONE NEEDLE CO.

ANSONIA, CONN.

Meet Me Next Sunday
Jack Snyder

See Page 116

CANTON AN EDISON CONSOLE WINDOW DISPLAY FOR SEPTEMBER

Business Holds Its Own—Dealers Are Optimistic—Rural Demand Grows—Situation Reviewed

CANTON, O., August 6.—Although the rail and coal strikes are still on there appears to be but little depression in the industrial world locally, and from reports gleaned from the Canton district business with the leading talking machine dealers the past month has been, in most instances, better than the preceding months and the morale of the industry appears far brighter than at any time in the past three months. Talking machines moved better in July than they did in either June or May and records showed a decided improvement the latter part of the month. Collections are better and talking machine sections of the department stores report sales of portable machines on the increase.

W. E. Pyle, manager of the talking machine department of William R. Zollinger & Co., this week reported the sale of a $900 Chippendale Electric Victor machine, for cash, which is an achievement to be proud of. The Zollinger store displays these models regularly.

Mr. Pyle reports that business in the talking machine department in July, despite the fact that the store was closed two and a half days, owing to the death of William R. Zollinger, founder of the store, was almost three times that of the corresponding month a year ago.

Rhines Edison Shop, featuring the Edison machine exclusively, has just completed a most active month, so far as talking machine and record business is concerned. The Massillon store, of the same company, also reports a good July business.

The talking machine section of the Klein-Heffelman-Zollars Co., largest department store in the Canton district, enjoyed a good month during July, said P. Q. Schrake, manager of the music division of the store. Since moving the talking machine section from the fourth to the main floor, rear mezzanine, sales of records as well as machines have been on the increase. The store held its annual picnic on July 26 at Springfield Lake Park and Mr. Schrake was in charge of the sports program.

The talking machine department of the Springholzwarth Co., Alliance, O., which for years occupied a prominent place on the fourth floor of the original department store, has been moved to the second floor rear of the newly completed annex. The section is spacious and pretty in its appointments. The store has added several

The window display which Thomas A. Edison, Inc., has prepared for use of Edison dealers during the month of September is concentrated upon console models. An artistic layout is provided of attractive posters which portray each of the console models included in the standard line, together with a pertinent description of each. In the center is a horizontal poster devoted to the general idea of console models. The drapery is of heavy velour.

lines of pianos since the reopening and is making a strong bid for the talking machine trade of the district. The department has installed a section for records.

Miss Ethel Walthower, head of the talking machine section of J. H. Johnson Sons, Alliance, O., says the bulk of talking machine sales this month will come from the rural districts. A crew of three men, carrying with them two different models of machines, is scouring the countryside for 20 miles about Alliance placing machines in farmers' homes on trial. She says good results are reported and business has been very satisfactory despite conditions.

Buys Drake & Moninger Booths

Booths and other talking machine equipment of the Drake & Moninger Co., bankrupt, of Alliance, O., music dealer, have been purchased by the J. H. Johnson Sons Co. of that city. The booths have been installed at the Johnson store and have greatly improved the appearance of the main floor. This company conducts the largest furniture and music house in Alliance with a talking machine and record department.

Talking machine dealers of Canton are affiliating with the newly organized Canton Retail Merchants' Association, an organization which will take over the activities of the Canton Retail Merchants' Association. D. W. Lerch, well-known Canton music dealer, has been appointed chairman of the music dealers' committee in the drive this week for new members and it is indicated that when the canvass is completed the Association will have 100 per cent of the music dealers of the city.

Holding Off for Fall

Starr and Cheney sales during the month of July were rather slow, stated C. M. Alford, head of the Alford & Fryar Piano Co. He says the firm has many prospects but that they appear to be holding off until Fall to buy. This concern is making a strong bid for the rural trade and has a crew of men working the farm districts.

Music dealers of the Canton district announce that they will again feature their piano and talking machine exhibits at the Stark County Fair, which opens Labor Day.

MOTORS OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

SILENT WINDING

M No. 3

SPECIFICATIONS FOR M 3—Double Spring, Motor Playing Three 10-inch Records without Rewinding. Cast Iron Frame. Worm Drive. Beveled Gear Winding. Furnished complete, with graduated regulator, winding key of desired size, turntable stop working under turntable, fibre-back escutcheon, washers, screws, felts; also stamped 10-inch turntable covered with all-wool felt. Built especially for high-grade portable machines.

Sample Price for M No. 3 Complete $5.25

Sample Price for M No. 4 Complete $6.25

Write for Quantity Prices

SILENT RUNNING

M No. 4

SPECIFICATIONS FOR M 4—Double Spring, Motor Playing Four 10-inch Records. Cast Iron Frame. Worm Drive. Beveled Gear Winding. Ratchet device that prevents clicking furnished complete, with graduated regulator, winding key of desired size, turntable stop working under turntable, fibre-back escutcheon, washers, screws, felts; also 12-inch turntable, covered with all-wool felt. Built especially for high-grade machines.

MAGIC PHONO MOTOR CO.

261-273 Lorimer Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Last call for advertising fans for summer. This is good, inexpensive and practical publicity which repeats an attractive suggestion to your neighbors every time the weather heats up. Ask the Columbia Dealer Service Man.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

H. L. TUERS' NEW POSITION

Resigns From Columbia Co. to Enter New Field —Retirement From Industry Will Be Keenly Regretted by Many Friends in the Trade

H. L. Tuers, manager of the Dealer Service department of the Columbia Graphophone Co. for the past five years and associated with the Columbia Co. for the past ten years, resigned from the Columbia organization August 1. Mr. Tuers has joined the staff of W. F. Powers Co., New York, one of the leading lithographers in the city and a company which has built up a quality clientele that is equaled by few lithographers in this country.

H. L. Tuers

During his ten years' association with the Columbia Graphophone Co. Mr. Tuers has won the esteem and friendship of Columbia dealers from coast to coast. He worked indefatigably in their interests and his thorough knowledge of their requirements enabled him to give the Columbia dealer representation unusual service and cooperation. Mr. Tuers enters upon his new work with the hearty good wishes of the Columbia dealer organization and the Columbia staff throughout the country.

DEATH OF MISS MAXINE HART

Popular Columbia Artist Dies Suddenly After Short Illness—Well Known in Theatrical World

Miss Maxine Irene Hart, of the well-known musical comedy and vaudeville team of the Hart Sisters, died on Sunday at the French Hospital, after a brief illness. Miss Hart and her sister, Bernice, constituted one of the most popular teams in the theatrical world, and some months ago arrangements were completed whereby the Hart Sisters became exclusive Columbia artists. Their first recordings were announced recently and it was predicted that their Columbia records would meet with a ready sale. Miss Hart's last appearance in New York was in Al Jolson's show, "Bombo," where she was one of the stars.

SOME EXHIBITORS AT THE NATIONAL MERCHANDISE FAIR

Members of the Talking Machine Trade Take Advantage of Opportunity to Present Their Products to the Consideration of Visiting Buyers Who Attended This Great Buying Mart

The National Merchandise Fair, of which much has been promised for several months past and which has the backing of some of the big business interests of city and country, opened at the Grand Central Palace and the Seventy-first Regiment Armory on Monday, August 7, with close to 1,000 manufacturers and wholesalers exhibiting their products for the benefit and convenience of visiting buyers. The fair was launched with the idea of enabling buyers from out of town to inspect a great number of lines under one roof and at a great saving of time and expense, and it is estimated that at least 50,000 buyers will have attended the fair before it closes, on August 26. That the buyers are interested was quite evident during the opening days, when representatives of retail concerns from all sections of the country registered at the fair.

Members of the talking machine trade particularly were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to present their products to the visiting buyers and a number of them had spaces. They included the Brilliantone Steel Needle Co., 347 Fifth avenue, New York, which displayed a full line of needles of various sorts; Diamond Wood Products Co., 25 West Forty-third street, New York, miniature cabinet talking machines and furniture; General Phonograph Corp., 25 West Forty-fifth street, New York, which displayed

Okeh records and phonograph parts and supplies; the Gold Seal Co., 105 West Fortieth street, New York, which displayed and demonstrated the Geer and Gold Seal record repeater; Harper & Bros., Franklin square, New York, who included a number of Bubble Books in their exhibit of publications; La Valle Mfg. Co., New Haven, Conn., Bobolink record books; Mermod & Co., 874 Broadway, New York, who showed small phonographs and parts, together with music boxes; the Perfection Talking Machine Co., 228 Seventh avenue, New York, who displayed several models of combination talking machines and radio receivers, together with a radio receiving set, to be installed in the ordinary talking machine cabinet after the motor board has been removed; the Plaza Music Co., 18 West Twentieth street, New York, which had a display of Banner records, Pal portable talking machines, together with Jewel music rolls; Peerless Album Co., 638 Broadway, New York, which exhibited talking machine record albums, photograph albums and autograph albums; Cameo Record Co., 102 West Thirty-eighth street, New York, which demonstrated Cameo records, and the Averill Mfg. Co., New York, which displayed talking dolls equipped with small cylinder talking machine records. These exhibits were the center of much interest on the part of visiting buyers.

Some Musical Merchandise Specials For the Phonograph Dealer

BANJOS

Banjo-Mandolins and Banjo-Ukes are selling briskly. Take our new "Claro-Phone" line, for instance—

$10.00 and $15.00

at retail, and you nearly double your money!

Musical Merchandise Buying Is Easy With These Two FREE Books!

Our complete Illustrated Catalog is being mailed this week. With it goes our new Confidential Trade Price List No. 5 for Fall 1922.

These books are the key to successful buying. Practically every instrument and accessory you'll ever have a call for is offered here, and priced to help you make the sale. These books are free!

WRITE FOR YOURS

UKULELES

Selling as never before! Everybody wants one. Our line includes a wide choice of popular styles.

$2.00 to $15.00

at retail. You double your money on every sale!

The FRED. GRETSCH MFG. CO.

Musical Instrument Makers Since 1883

60 BROADWAY

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

REPAIRS

TALKING MACHINE TROUBLES AND HOW TO REMEDY THEM

Conducted by Andrew H. Dodin

Repair Adjustments That Help Trade!

The coming of September means to many thousands of homes the ending of the vacation season, with the occupants straightening out their homes in preparation for the coming Winter. It also means, officially, that the talking machine again comes into active use after a rest of two or three months. How many dealers take advantage of the opportunity thus offered at this season of the year to have a salesman or repairman make an inspection trip among their customers to look over the various talking machines and adjust the many little things which may require it after the machine has been idle for some time?

Perhaps nothing may be found wrong with the machine, and, in fact, in most cases the machine will be in first-class condition, but the mere fact that the dealer has shown enough interest in his customer to see that the machine is in perfect running condition should strike a responsive chord in the customer and sooner or later bring him, or her, to the store in quest of new records, or, perhaps, a larger or more elaborate type of machine.

Seeing to it that the customer's machine is in proper playing condition is not to be regarded as profitless service to that particular machine owner. One of the ideas behind the move is that the customer is very likely to have friends calling at intervals and for them to hear a perfect playing machine and to learn of the dealer's interest is the best kind of an advertisement for that particular dealer's store. Such interest on the part of friends means further sales for the dealer.

What better advertisement can a dealer have than a perfect playing machine in the customer's home? Surely it does not suffice to say, "I sell the ——— machine: there is none better." Even the best constructed motor and sound box are liable, sooner or later, to go wrong, either through natural causes or through unskilled handling by the owner. Under such conditions the dealer cannot afford to have representing his store a machine that will not play or plays indifferently.

When he sells the outfit it is good business to sell with it upkeep service to a reasonable degree. It is one of the liveliest business-building opportunities at the dealer's command.

The dealer may say "I do not maintain a repair department" or "I have all my repair work done at the shop of my jobber and he could not possibly do this for me." The conclusion is wrong, for this particular service should be the duty of one of your salesmen—the man who is in a position to take immediate advantage of buying interest. The salesman should be sufficiently versed in the minor adjustments of the motor or sound box to be able to make them in the home without difficulty. The motor that needs a new mainspring or the sound box that needs a new diaphragm should be sent to the repair shop.

When the machine has been adjusted and put in good condition the salesman should bring into play his selling ability. If he has been observant he has found out by looking at the records what class of music the machine owner favors, and he can suggest new records of the same type. If he has with him samples of the latest records he can demonstrate them and sell them on the spot. This is being done every day in the week by certain dealers I know and with surprising results.

The adjustments that a salesman is competent to make depend largely upon the salesman himself and the interest he has taken in studying the mechanical features of the machine. I suggest that he obtain from the manufacturer of the particular machine he is selling all the printed matter possible in reference to the construction and repair of that particular product. Let him study the matter carefully, take one of the motors in the store apart and then reassemble it and study the replacing of minor parts, such as a broken governor spring. He should learn particularly the proper places to inject oil, where gear grease is required, etc. He should wind the motor up full and allow it to run down, listening to the sound it makes in running so that he is enabled to determine whether it is noisy or if the springs jump, a sign that the motor needs to be sent to the shop to have more graphite put in the springs.

The sound box should be studied carefully, particularly the manner in which the needle arm is tensioned. The salesman should be able to judge when the sound box blasts whether the trouble is in the tensioning of the arm or in the fact that the gaskets have become dead and do not hold the diaphragm tight enough.

Experience is always the best teacher and practice makes perfect. A few days of work and study should make the salesman competent to discover and adjust the minor talking machine troubles and, in fact, to tell what is the matter with a machine that doesn't work.

Grease Gun for Springs

Gloversville, August 3, 1922.

Editor The Talking Machine World:

I understand that there is a grease gun made for the purpose of lubricating Edison spring barrels. As I would like to get one I wish to know where I can obtain it. So far I have been unable to find one. Can you help me in this matter? (Signed) Walter C. Lair.

Answer—You can obtain a grease gun for use in placing graphite in the Edison spring cage from almost any automobile supply store. It will probably be necessary for you to make some gauge or method of marking the handle of the gun so that you can easily tell the amount of graphite that you are placing in the cage.

Andrew H. Dodin.

VICTOR SHOP CHANGES HANDS

The Victor talking machine establishment of A. H. Taylor, Inc., at Jamaica, Long Island, has been purchased by Mathushek & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., who operate a chain of retail piano and talking machine stores in the metropolitan district.

PIANO BOOKS

THE Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., technical library represents the only books written in English for the men who constitute the piano and player-piano industry of the United States. Each book covers its respective subject clearly and completely. Each volume is the standard work of its particular field. Every one of these books should be in the hands of every progressive man who wants to help keep the American piano industry the world's leader, both from an artistic and commercial standpoint.

Modern Piano Tuning

A very comprehensive book covering principles and practices of tuning, regulation of piano action, elementary principles of pneumatics, general construction of player mechanisms, repair of old pianos or player mechanisms. 331 pages, $2.00.

Theory and Practice of Pianoforte Building

An essential book for every manufacturer, scale draftsman, superintendent, dealer or piano salesman. The only work of its kind in the English language. 160 pages, fully illustrated, tables, diagrams, etc., $2.00.

Player-Piano Up to Date

The best available source in English for player-piano knowledge. Principles of construction, regulation and use of pneumatic mechanisms. Descriptions of leading mechanisms. For salesmen, tuners, repairmen, etc. 195 pages, illustrated, $1.50.

Regulation and Repair of Pianos and Player Mechanisms

Indispensable for salesmen and executives in piano factories, two books in one, illustrated, tables, diagrams. 158 pages, $1.50.

Mail This Inspection Coupon

Edward Lyman Bill, Inc.
373 Fourth Ave., New York City.

You may send me on five days' free inspection the book or books I have marked. I will return them to you within five days or remit $..... in full within ten days.

Name

Address..... City.....

Mark which books you want to see

<input type="checkbox"/>	Modern Piano Tuning
<input type="checkbox"/>	Theory and Practice of Pianoforte Building
<input type="checkbox"/>	Regulation and Repair
<input type="checkbox"/>	The Player Pianist
<input type="checkbox"/>	Player-piano Up to Date

Edmund Vance Cooke is a great entertainer of children. His child dialect poem, "Moo-Cow-Moo," has been read and recited to children all over this land. He has made a Columbia record of this and three other favorites, "The High Giraffe," "Monkey Man" and "The Shave Store." A-3151.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

MARION HARRIS WITH BRUNSWICK

Well-known Vaudeville Star and Comedienne to Record Exclusively for Brunswick

William A. Brophy, managing director of the Brunswick Recording Laboratories, New York, has just announced that Marion Harris, the well-known vaudeville star, will now make recordings exclusively for Brunswick records. Miss Harris is perhaps one of the best-known character song artists and vaudeville comediennes in the country. Her first recording, a double-disc, with "I'm Just Wild About Harry" on one side and "My Cradle Melody" on the reverse, will be sent to the trade on September 1, so that Brunswick dealers can have them to start their Fall business. This record introduces an innovation in Brunswick recording in that Miss Harris is supported in her song by the Isham Jones Orchestra, a combination which is bound to meet with decided favor.

Marion Harris

VICTOR ARTISTS AID SALES

Alma Gluck and Efrem Zimbalist Autograph Many Records for Society Folk at Southampton Fair—Jedlicka Bros. Dispose of Stock

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., August 8.—Jedlicka Bros., well-known talking machine dealers of this section, profited by the recent appearance of Alma Gluck and Efrem Zimbalist at a street fair held here for society folks. The artists visited the establishment, secured all of the records made by them, and returned to the fair, where they autographed them. The records were quickly disposed of. Chas. Jedlicka, manager of the Bay Shore store, and Mr. Baker, representing the Blackman Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor, greeted the Victor artists on their arrival.

BUSINESS NOW ON THE UPGRADE

Otto Heineman Brings Back Optimistic Reports From Central West—Found Okeh Dealers Loyal and Enthusiastic—Record Sales Show Decided Improvement Throughout Country

"The talking machine business is gradually getting back to a normal basis, and record trade in particular has shown a decided turn for the better during the past few weeks," said Otto Heineman, president of the General Phonograph Corp., manufacturer of Okeh and Odeon records, who returned recently from a visit to the trade in Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio and New York. "On my recent trip I visited hundreds of Okeh dealers and I was delighted to find practically every dealer optimistic and confident regarding Fall business. This optimism, moreover, was substantiated by improved sales figures since the first of July, and as a whole there seems to be a better feeling all around.

"Perhaps the most impressive feature of my trip was the loyalty towards Okeh and Odeon records manifested by our dealers. Throughout my entire trip I did not receive a single complaint regarding the recording or the quality of our records, but on the contrary found the dealers exceptionally well pleased with the quality of our product. No business can hope to succeed without the good will of the dealer, and with the present loyalty and friendship of the Okeh dealers the permanent success of our records is assured.

"There is no question but that the talking machine industry, and particularly the record branch of the business, was badly hit during the business depression, but we have undoubtedly reached the turning point and are now on the upgrade. The liquidation sales of inferior machines are gradually dwindling out and the public now recognizes the fact that a standard trademarked talking machine is the only profitable investment."

DOING A LARGE RECORD BUSINESS

The Pathé Frères Phonograph Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., is experiencing excellent record business. Daily production records have not only reached large figures but are steadily growing. The recent reduction of the price of Actuelle records to 55 cents has proved very popular with the buying public and has created an exceptional demand. The Actuelle catalog offers not only popular but many classical selections sung by well-known artists.

R. L. FREEMAN TO VISIT CANADA

Ralph L. Freeman, director of distribution of the Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, N. J., is planning to leave about September 1 on a vacation, which he will spend in Canada on a visit to his parents. Mrs. Freeman and their children will probably accompany him to his parents' home.

FELT

We are prepared as never before to give prompt delivery.

Turntable Felt

The name of a special product made by the American Felt Company for the Talking Machine Trade.

It possesses features which distinguish it from Felts made by this company for other purposes.

Only our special Turntable Felt is good enough for leading Talking Machine Manufacturers, who use it exclusively.

American Felt Company

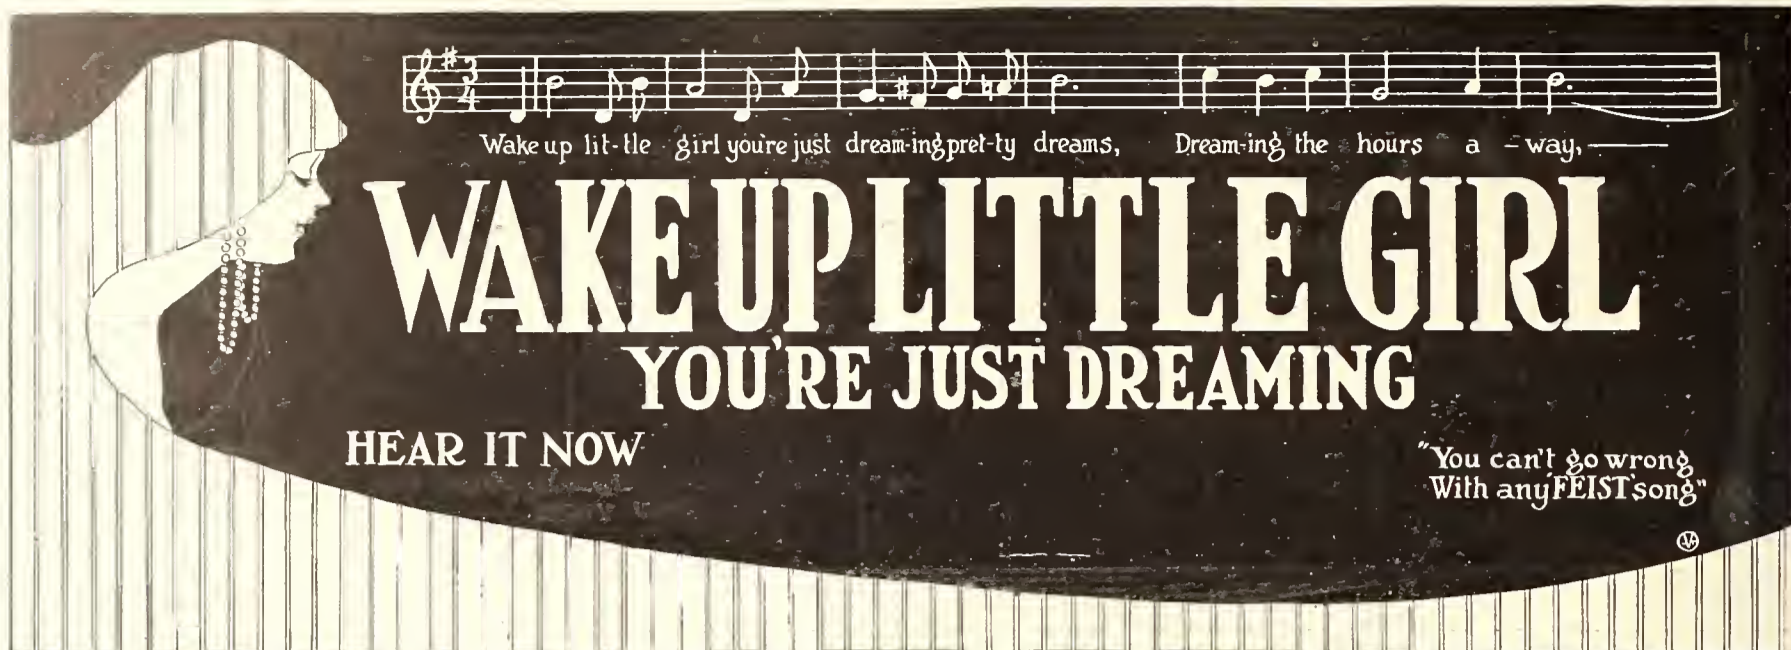

TRADE MARK

BOSTON
100 Summer St.

NEW YORK
114 East 13th St.

CHICAGO
325 So. Market St.

Wake up lit-tle girl you're just dream-ing pret-ty dreams, Dream-ing the hours a-way,

WAKE UP LITTLE GIRL YOU'RE JUST DREAMING

HEAR IT NOW

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

ATLANTA

Growth of Home Buildings Bright Augury of Machine and Record Sales Throughout South

ATLANTA, Ga., August 7.—Southern construction for the first six months of this year reached a very high level. Increases in most instances are impressive and indicative of the acceleration of this work. The value of Atlanta's permits for the first half of the year was more than $8,500,000, and a gain of more than $3,000,000 over the same period of last year was registered. This is providing a great year for Atlanta. Memphis also has done exceedingly well. Its record for the first six months is in excess of $7,000,000, and marks a gain of more than $3,500,000 over the same period in 1921. New Orleans is above $4,000,000, while Birmingham lacked about a quarter of a million of reaching that mark. Knoxville, Tenn., nearly doubled last year's figures. Permits this year amounted to $2,494,022, while for last year they aggregated $1,337,102.

The above indicates the circulation of a large quantity of money, from which the talking machine trade should feel the benefit.

The world-wide demand for Okeh records, and the international reputation of the Polk Furniture Co., Atlanta, are strikingly evidenced by a recent inquiry received in Atlanta from a firm in Budapest, Hungary, relative to the Okeh.

John Mohl, assistant manager of the local branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co., who has made an extended trip through Florida, returned to Atlanta to assume charge while Westervelt Terhune spends his vacation in the mountains of North Carolina.

Manley Robison, of the Phillips & Crew Co., has recently returned from Savannah, where he had been looking after the interests of the company's branch store there.

Dealers report July business as well ahead of June, one gratifying feature being the number of machines sold for cash.

THE HOMOPHONE

Do you sing or play a musical instrument? Preserve your talent by recording it on a Phonograph by means of the HOMOPHONE. Instructive and entertaining. Hear yourself as others hear you. May be attached to Victor, Edison or Brunswick. When ordering state kind and model. Price $42.50. Write for particulars.

HOMOPHONE CO.
293 Plane St., Newark, N. J.

The Victor Health Building records were placed on sale August 1. All the dealers report a fine initial demand.

The Roby Music Store is now settled in its new location on Decatur street near Pryor.

Special mid-Summer terms have been announced by the Cable Piano Co.

A sample of the new Strand model, No. 16, which lists at $250, has just been received by M. E. Lyle. This machine has won the favorable interest of everyone who has seen it.

The Cochran Furniture Co. will move from its present store on Broad street to a larger place on East Alabama street. Sonoras are especially featured.

Record sales have been stimulated during the past month by many of the Peachtree shops which have placed a talking machine at the store entrance and demonstrated the latest records to the passers-by.

Ludden & Bates have recently added the entire Brunswick line of machines and records.

The Stone-Moore-West Co., of Gainesville, Ga., has taken larger quarters on the square. August 12 has been set as the opening day. This new store will be run in addition to the one occupied by them at present.

"Lonesome Mama Blues" is featured on both Victor and Okeh records, and is reported as the most popular one of the month.

The first of the new Pal portables has reached Atlanta. One of the prominent talking machine shops in the Peachtree Arcade has especially featured this model in its windows.

W. C. Fuhri, sales manager of the Okeh record, New York, was met in Savannah, Ga., by P. C. Brockman, who has charge of the Polk Furniture Co. wholesale phonograph division. After visiting Macon they returned to Atlanta, where Mr. Fuhri spent several days, leaving later for New Orleans.

Joseph Crews, who was for years a Victor dealer in Atlanta, and is now a resident of Tampa, Fla., has recently spent several weeks here meeting his old acquaintances.

Among recent out-of-town visitors who called to discuss prospects for Strand Fall business were W. A. Evans, of Sterchi Bros. & Fowler, Chattanooga, and T. W. West, of Stone-Moore-West Co., Gainesville, Ga.

A. C. Gourlie, of the Gourlie Music Co., Tampa, Fla., recently spent several days in Atlanta.

E. A. Ackley, from the Sterling Roll & Record Co., Cincinnati, was a recent visitor.

"Bill" Parks, for years with the Atlanta branch of the Columbia Co., now manager of the Baltimore store, was here for several days.

If sales of the record "Lonesome Mama Blues" were in proportion to the interest displayed in the Phillips & Crew show window the week of July 20 they should indeed be gratifying. Mr. Stokes, the well-known Atlanta artist, modeled a typical black mammy and surrounded her with a "piney woods" log cabin atmosphere. The "ole banjo," red bandana and rusty wash boiler were all part of the picture. Even the Victor dog, who sat in the cabin doorway, wore a wistful look. This display was so successful that it will be forwarded to Birmingham, Ala., for use in the windows of the Clark-Jones Piano Co.

GRAFONOLA IN LAND OF ESKIMO

Noted Explorer Gives Grafonola to Eskimos—
Instrument Popular With Northern Residents

Robert J. Flaherty, noted explorer, who returned recently from a ten years' stay around the North Pole, brought with him an interesting photograph showing the use of an A2 Grafonola in the land of the Eskimos. This photograph was taken on the most northerly point of Labrador, where Mr. Flaherty lived in intimate association with a small tribe of Eskimos, studying their habits and daily life. Mr. Flaherty reports that the Grafonola proved so popular among the Eskimos that he had his choice of valuable furs on an exchange basis.

A Picture From the Far North

JOINS RANKS OF VOCALION ARTISTS

Virgilio Lazzaro, basso of the Chicago Opera Co., has joined the ranks of the Vocalion record artists and made his first record from the "Barber of Seville" for the August list.

Meet Me Next Sunday
Jack Snyder

(See page 116)

WORLD'S CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Any member of the trade may forward to this office a "Situation" advertisement intended for this Department to occupy a space of four lines, agate measure, and it will be inserted free. Replies will also be forwarded without cost. Additional space will be at the rate of 25c. per line. If bold faced type is desired the cost of same will be 25c. per line. Rates for all other classes of advertising on application.

WANTED—As a representative by a well-known Chicago talking machine manufacturer a man thoroughly acquainted with Greater New York territory. Also a man who is acquainted with the talking machine trade in the East, to handle our line of talking machines, either exclusively or as a side line. Address with full details to "Box 1177," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

SALESMEN WANTED—IF YOU CALL ON TALKING MACHINE DEALERS you can easily increase your income selling the Phon-O-Game. Combined adaptation of roulette wheel and put and take game. Plays on any phonograph. Tremendous human interest. Includes 12-inch record in red, green and black. Advance sales tests demonstrate this as a big-profit proposition for you. Salesmen secure absolute protection on all their prospects. Big commissions paid instantly. Write at once, in confidence, to The Phon-O-Game Co., 128 C Fulton St., Elizabeth, N. J.

POSITION WANTED—Chemist with years experience here and abroad with a composition for manufacturing a 10-inch record for 6 cents; also recording expert with twenty-five years' experience, and his own outfit. Both are open for engagement. Address "Box 1186," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Avenue, New York.

POSITION WANTED—Retail store manager, having had six years' experience in managing stores, merchandising talking machines, records and sheet music, desires similar position. Highest references. Address "Box 1179," care of The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

POSITION WANTED—Many years as technical phonograph laboratory expert, can work and capable of superintending work from start to finish. Recordings, plating and matrix making. Use finest methods, wishes interview. Address "Box 1180," care of The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

WANTED—We now have openings for live salesmen to represent us in all parts of the U. S. A., either as a side line or on full time. Write at once, giving territory you cover, to Vitanola Talking Machine Co., 1920 South 52nd Ave., Cicero, Ill.

POSITION WANTED—Phonograph salesman, 10 years' experience, wholesale and retail musical instruments, sheet music, desires connection outside of New York City. Capable manager. Character, ability and integrity will stand most exhaustive inquiry. Address "Box 1178," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

POSITION WANTED—Practical phonograph and record man, ten years' manufacturing experience, familiar with all technical details of record making, desires position in factory or sales department. Would consider position with jobber or dealer anywhere in United States. Technical knowledge should prove valuable asset in jobbing or retail selling fields. Address "Experience," Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

WANTED—Good phonograph salesman experienced in selling to retailers in New York, Brooklyn and suburbs. Address "Box 1184," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

WANTED—An experienced phonograph salesman to cover the New England territory. One who has had experience and knows the trade in the New England district. A good live proposition for a live man. No others need apply. Playertone Talking Machine Co., 967 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

POSITION WANTED—Experienced man in varnishing, rubbing and polishing on phonographs. Good references. Twelve years' experience. Address "Box 1185," care Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

ALL-AROUND MECHANIC, inside and outside, on a makes of talking machines with 8 years of experience. Can also sell. Wishes position anywhere. Address "Box 1183," care Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

SPRINGS

VICTOR
1 1/4" x .022x18' 6" marine ends.....	No. 3014	$.58
1 1/4" x .022x17' marine ends.....	No. 3014	.55
1 1/4" x .022x17' bent arbor.....	No. 5362	.57
1 1/4" x .022x13' bent arbor.....	No. 5423	.50
1 1/4" x .022x9' bent arbor.....	No. 5427	.42
1 1/4" x .022x9', bent each end.....	No. 6546	.42
1" x .020x13' 6" marine ends.....	No. 2141	.32
1" x .020x15' marine ends.....	No. 3335	.35
1" x .020x15' bent arbor.....	No. 5394	.38
1" x .020x15', bent each end.....	No. 6546	.43
7/8" x .020x9' marine ends.....	No. 988	.29
COLUMBIA
1" x .028x10' Universal.....	No. 2951	.33
1" x .028x11' Universal.....	No. 2951	.35
1" x .030x11' hook ends.....		.45
1" x 11' for motor No. 1.....		.35
HEINEMAN
1" x .025x12' motors.....	No. 33 & 77	.33
1 3/16" x .026x19', also Pathé.....		.75
1 3/16" x .026x17'.....	No. 4	.59
MEISSELBACH
7/8" x 10' motors.....	No. 9 & 10	.29
1" x 9' motors.....	No. 11 & 12	.29
1" x 16' motors.....	No. 16, 17 & 19	.49
SAAL-SILVERTONE
1" x .027x10', rectangular hole.....	No. 144	.42
1" x .027x13', rectangular hole.....	No. 145	.48
1" x .027x16', rectangular hole.....	No. 146	.58
BRUNSWICK
1" x .025x12', rect'glar hole, regular...	No. 201	.45
1" x .025x18', rect'glar hole, regular...	No. 401	.65
1" x .025x16', rect'glar hole.....		.58
KRASBERG
1" x 12' motor 2A, pear-shape and rect. holes.		.49
1" x 16' motor 3 and 4 on outer end.....		.60
EDISON DISC
1 1/2" x .028x25', regular size disc motors.....		1.47
1" x .032x11', Standard.....		.55
1 5/16", Home.....		.70
1 5/16" x 18' type A 150, old style disc.....		1.28
1" Amberola 30-50-75.....		.56
SMALL MOTORS
7/8" x .023x10', marine ends, Hein. Col., etc....		.29
3/4" x .025x10', marine ends, Hein. Col., etc....		.27
5/8" x .020x9', marine ends.....		.21
1/2" x .020x9', marine ends.....		.18
Victor Gov. springs, No. 1729.....	per 100	.95
Victor Gov. spring screws, No. 3304.....	per 100	.92
Victor Gov. balls, n/style, No. 3302.....	each	.07
Victor Gov. spring screw washer.....	per 100	.72
Columbia Gov. springs, No. 3510.....	per 100	.95
Columbia Gov. spring screws, No. 439.....	per 100	.92
Columbia Gov. spring screw washers.....	per 100	.72
Columbia Gov. ball, lead, flat and spring...		.08
Columbia Gov. ball, new style & spring...		.08
Turntable felts, all wool, green, 10", round.		.15
Turntable felts, all wool, green, 12", round.		.18
Terms, 2% cash with order.

TALKING MACHINE SUPPLY CO., PARK RIDGE, N. J.

FOR SALE OR RENT

PHONOGRAPH

Recording Laboratory

Completely equipped for all classes special and regular commercial work. Established trade. Address inquiries, "Recording Laboratory," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

FOR SALE

Music house, well established for 14 years in a large middle West city. Pianos and Victor and Brunswick Depts. High-class clientele. Good reason for selling. All cash preferred, but terms to reliable party, or parties. Address "Box 1161," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y.

CARVED LEGS

Eight designs in gum, oak and mahogany. Prices reduced. Send for circular. Klise Mfg. Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

FOR SALE

Several thousand standard make records, late numbers, also sacred, instrumental standard numbers, etc., at thirty-five cents each. Send for catalog. Central Phonograph Co., 127 N. 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For Sale—Krasberg Motors

are known throughout the entire talking machine industry and were conceded to be the best enclosed type motor on the market. Any institution desirous of getting all the Krasberg motor business in its entirety is now offered the opportunity of a lifetime. All tools, dies, machinery, patents, etc., necessary for the manufacture of the famous Krasco enclosed motor can be had outright at a sacrifice. James X. Galbaugh, Room 1204, Consumers' Building, Chicago, Ill.

Consoles at Special Prices

A prominent manufacturer has a number of Adam and Queen Anne consoles for sale at a price. These instruments are of 3/4-inch five-ply panels throughout, equipped with three-spring motor, balanced lid supports, etc., but were unable to pass a rigid factory inspection, being only slightly defective. All manufacturers' identification marks removed. Address "Box 1176," care of The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth avenue, New York, N. Y.

FOR SALE

Completely Equipped Record Factory

All machinery of latest type, built in many cases from exclusive designs. Entire plant laid out by competent engineers to operate at highest possible efficiency. Address "Box 1181," care The Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

FOR SALE

An established, well-paying and exclusive Victor business in suburb of Los Angeles. Store attractive and novel. Open seven months. Stock new and complete. Inventory and fixtures, $8,500. Reason for selling, owner has two such stores and unable to take care of both. Only Victor franchise in town. Address Chas. P. Mack, 1050 South Magnolis street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Phonograph Executive Wanted

Capable executive with some capital to manage Kurtzmann Electric Phonograph Co. Exclusive basic patents. No factory investment required. An unusual opportunity for one capable of organizing and managing selling force to dealers. Satisfactory information furnished. Kurtzmann Electric Phonograph Co., 121 Franklin St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hydraulic Press and Pump

Watson-Stillman hydraulic press (70 ton chilling) with hydraulic hand pump (double plunger) and pressure gauge in excellent condition, ready to use, is for sale. Ideal for experimental work or limited production phonograph records or radio parts. Address Richard Berger Laboratory, 1928 North Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

New Recording Method

I have new method of recording for talking machine records (lateral cut) which will revolutionize the record business. If you know a real man acquainted with the record business do him a favor, call his attention to this. I will "show my hand" to a proper party. Address "Box 1182," care Talking Machine World, 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

EUROPEAN HEADQUARTERS

2 GRESHAM BLDG., BASINGHALL ST., E.C. LONDON.

W. LIONEL STURDY, MANAGER

Improvement in Industry Continues With a Reduction in the Number of Unemployed—The Radio Situation in the Gramophone Trade—Dealers' Surplus and Unsalable Record Stocks Discussed by the Gramophone Dealers' Association—Reduction in Freight Rates Welcomed—Unit Construction Co. Has London Representation—Exhibits at London Fair—Trade Happenings of General Trade Interest

LONDON, E. C., August 3.—From various quarters optimistic reports reach me of an improvement in industry generally and continued reduction of the number of unemployed. To be perfectly frank, the improvement spoken of is not very solid; it would be difficult to weigh it up, but what is of importance is that signs, however slight, do point to a recovery from the low depth of business depression experienced for so long. That certainly justifies an optimistic outlook upon the gramophone trade prospects for the coming season. Time of year and conditions, sales here are really not bad; there is, of course, always room for improvement, but on the whole I think most firms are satisfied that the trade is doing 99 per cent of the business possible. In other words, British manufacturers and jobbers are not missing anything for want of effort and so long as that spirit prevails we can all carry on with a good heart.

Radiophony and the Trade

Sound attention is given by the gramophone trade this side to radiophony. Perhaps because we are not so susceptible to "booms" as folk in U. S. A. and Canada the wireless stunt will move slowly but steadily, rather than on sensational lines. This, to some extent, may be ascribed to official restrictions on the use of transmission apparatus, licenses for which are not issued broadcast, as I believe is the case on your side. For receiving sets applications have been made for licenses to the tune of about 12,000. The Marconi Co. advises me that it has approached all the principal music retailers with full details of its service. Marconiphones of the cabinet type are being issued. Prices will range "as compatible as possible with the different types of gramophones"; price cutting is to be avoided and in every possible way the dealers' interest will be protected. The company's service includes the installation of aerials, etc., and local offices and demonstration centers are being opened in a number of the chief provincial towns.

Musical instrument dealers are regarded as a very appropriate channel through which to market wireless receiving apparatus. The view held in some quarters that broadcasting will interfere with the sale of gramophones and records is not a general one. Gramophone men of prominence in the trade believe, on the contrary, that listening-in will serve to stimulate the call for a "free" home music service and that can only be met by the acquisition of a gramophone. And despite its scientific wonder the new wireless broadcasting programs, once the novelty has departed, cannot be regarded, at least in its present stage of development, as quite so satisfying as the quality and musical range of the gramophone. This I stress for the benefit of any retailer who may hesitate to handle radiophones in the belief that to do so would damage his gramophone trade.

With every confidence I believe the musical trader is well advised to handle this new branch of business and develop a sound connection by making himself proficient, not necessarily in a technical sense, with what I term radiophony.

Important Subjects Discussed by G. D. A.

At the last committee meeting of the Gramophone Dealers' Association several matters of pertinent interest were discussed. The vital question of dealers' surplus and unsalable record stocks received special attention and the committee is now in a position to state that an interesting record exchange scheme will be disclosed to the trade in a week or so. In this connection I am in a position to intimate that the line upon which this scheme is based is that a definite percentage of past purchases—which have proved more or less unsalable—should be exchanged or credited twice yearly by the manufacturers. That is, full credit should be given the dealer without obligation, I believe, to purchase a like quantity, or three for one, as under the old arrangements. It is in the interests of all parties that records should be sold rapidly and not be allowed to rusticate on dealers' shelves perhaps for years.

After persistent representation the G. D. A., through the Federation of British Music Industries, has obtained an important concession from the railway companies. Hitherto gramophone records were only carried at owner's risk, but can now be dispatched conditionally at companies' risk. When carried at the risk of the railway company full parcel scale rates will be charged and the records must be packed properly

"His Master's Voice"

Copyright

This intensely human picture stands for all that is best in music

—it is the "His Master's Voice" trade-mark, and it brings to you, no matter where you are, the very best music of every kind, sung and played by the world's greatest artists—the greatest singers, pianists, violinists, orchestras and bands—all enshrined in the unequalled "His Master's Voice" records

'His Master's Voice'

—the trade-mark that is recognized throughout the world as the

HALL-MARK OF QUALITY

DENMARK: Skandinavisk Grammophon-Aktieselskab, Frihavnen, Copenhagen.

FRANCE: Cie. Française du Gramophone, 115
Boulevard Richard Lenoir, Place de la Répub-lique, Paris.

SPAIN: Compañía del Gramófono, 56-58 Balmes, Barcelona.

SWEDEN: Skandinaviska Grammophon-Aktiebolaget, Drottning Gatan No. 47, Stockholm.

RUSSIA: The Gramophone Co., Ltd., 45, Nevsky
Prospect, Petrograd (Petersburg); No. 1
Solyanka, Solyanoi Dvor, Moscow; 9, Golovinsky
Prospect, Tiflis; Nowy-Swiat 30, Warsaw; 11
Michalovskaya Ulitsa, Baku.

INDIA: The Gramophone Co., Ltd., 139, Bal-liaghatta Road, Calcutta; 7, Bell Lane, Fort, Bombay.

AUSTRALIA: S. Hoffnung & Co., Ltd., Sole
Concessionaries of The Gramophone Company,
Limited, 163, Pitt Street, Sydney.

NEW ZEALAND: Gramophonim, Ltd., 118-120
Victoria Street, Wellington.

SOUTH AFRICA: Darter & Sons, Post Box 174, Capetown; Mackay Bros., Post Box 251, Johannesburg; Mackay Bros. & McMahon, Post Box 419,
Durban; Ivan H. Haarbinger, Post Box 105,
Bloemfontein; Franz Moeller, Post Box 108, East
London; B. J. Ewins & Co., Post Box 86, Queenstown; Handel Honsse, Kimberley; Laurence & Cope, Post Box 132, Bulawayo; The Argus Co.,
Salisbury.

EAST AFRICA: Bayley & Co., Lourenço
Marques.

HOLLAND: American Import Co., 22a, Amsterd
veerkade, The Hague.

ITALY: A. Bossi & Co., Via Orefici 2, Milan.

EGYPT (Also for the Soudan, Greece and the Ottoman Empire): K. Fr. Vogel, Post Box 414, Alexandria.

Great Britain:

The Gramophone Company, Ltd.

HAYES

MIDDLESEX

ENGLAND

FROM OUR LONDON HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 150)

to the satisfaction of the railway people. When not so packed they go at the owner's risk.

By the foregoing example alone the value of the G. D. A. is exemplified to the advantage of its dealer-members. Such a live association merits the support and encouragement of the whole trade.

Rail Freight Reduction Announced

Amid a chorus of acclamation the commercial world has received the good news of a substantial reduction of freightage charges on English and Welsh railways, to operate as from August 1. It takes the form of a general percentage reduction to 75 per cent above the rates in operation immediately before the first of the war increases was made. On flat rate increases the reductions (which vary) amount in some instances to 50 per cent. Merchandise carried by passenger train is expressly excluded from these reductions. These freight reductions are the first since the war terminated and will prove particularly welcome to retail traders who dispatch daily quantities of small parcels by rail. One big store figures on a saving of at least £5,000 per annum. The Scotland Railways are not parties to the agreement, but it is expected they will come into line.

Unico Audition Rooms in London

The value of audition rooms is not generally recognized by our gramophone dealers. For this the chief reason, no doubt, must be ascribed to the fact that audition room equipment service has been entirely lacking. As far as I know we haven't a firm which specializes this equipment. Most audition rooms (and few dealers are so equipped) have been built to order. Though an outside firm, the advent here of the Unit Construction Co. should therefore prove "a boon and a blessing to men." H. A. Moore & Co., Ltd., this city, will handle the Unico line in the United Kingdom, and it is certain when they get going that a big trade can be done. While, of course, some spade work is necessary, the idea of audition rooms being practically a new thing to British gramophone dealers, its sales value is sufficiently apparent to justify the belief that the Unico equipment will be wanted by all enterprising traders. In due time, no doubt, Messrs. Moore will make known their service to the trade at large. An editorial boosting the Unico system appears in this month's Voice. Beyond this I have seen no publicity, even in the trade journals. The Unico is just the thing required here because the average dealer entertains his customers in open shop instead of comfortably in a Unico sound-proof audition room. But the dealer must know about this good thing; he will then move.

New Zonophone Record Program

Among the newly released Zonophone records which will interest oversea readers of these notes special mention is made of two exceptionally pleasing twelve-inch doubles. A-263 carries a couple of well-known songs—"For All Eternity" and "The Last Watch," most brilliantly recorded and sung by that prince of tenors—Ernest Pike. The Peerless Dance Orchestra is at its best on A-262 with a fox-trot, "Buddha" (My Own), and a waltz, "The Moon Lute." Of the ten-inchers we have the popular pianist, McIlville Gideon, in two of his own compositions, "Burnt Sugar" (a triple rag) and "If Winter Comes" (from the Co-optimists), both on No. 2231. An instrumental quintet comprising violin, 'cello, harp, organ and celeste offers two beautiful renditions, "Dance of the Blue Butterfly" and "Air of King Louis XIII." These pretty morceaux figure on record No. 2234. A couple of sentimentals of a not unattractive character are provided by Herbert Payne on 2227, "Sleepy Little Curly Headed Baby" and "Masks and Faces." The expected hit of the coming season is "Sally, the Sunshine of Our Alley." Its refrain is catchy and, for this type of song, there is for once a little sense in the wording. Sally is already a favorite at some of the holiday resorts. She figures on record 2229 in company with "Tell Me That Story of Old Missouri." Both are very well rendered by Stuart Vaughan.

Some other good records are listed on the same program, which generally is of a high musical standard, consistent with a varied selection of titles.

Exhibits at the London Fair and Market

Styled the London Fair and Market a trade exhibition of all kinds of goods was held at the Agricultural Hall, July 3 to 14, inclusive. Owing, it was felt, to insufficient publicity, the attendance proved decidedly unsatisfactory, with, of course, corresponding results on the sales side.

Some of the exhibits were excellent. Musical instrument firms put up a fair show, though German productions outnumbered the British, sad to say. As to comparative prices, quite a good German overstrung piano at £45 (about $250) and well-made gramophones at—hornless, twenty-one shillings; table grand, £5; cabinet, £10, were obtainable. These rates (quality of instrument and construction considered) represent about 10 or 15 per cent under value of similar British productions.

One of the best stands was that of A. Balcombe & Co., Ltd., agents here for the "Motor of Quality" and other Heineman productions. This famous motor-mechanism was fitted to a fine series of "Alba" gramophones of the table-grand, pedestal, cabinet and period types. Of the latter class this firm has just introduced a really magnificent range. The cabinet work is exquisite—in construction, in appearance and in fidelity to the period represented. Messrs. Balcombe's enterprise in producing such high-class models bespeaks a real attempt to cater to the better-class trade, which is much on the increase here. At one time £15 or £20 was considered an outside price for a gramophone. But the public is getting accustomed to paying more for a good instrument, just as it can pay almost any price for a piano, and to-day one can pay as much as £750 for a super gramophone model.

The aluminum-frame gramophone—the "Bestoni" portable—attracted much attention at the exhibition. It is a fine-toned machine, very attractive in appearance, well-made and is backed with a three years' guarantee.

Signs of Trade Activity

It is to be observed that quite a number of new firms which manufacture, deal in, or otherwise have some interest in the sale of gramophones or accessories, are registered each month. The easier financial conditions now prevalent have certainly helped to release long pent-up schemes and commercial ventures, and encouraged the development of established businesses. All of which may reasonably be taken as a sign of the awakening of a too long dormant trade.

Records Packed in Pianos to Avoid Tax

An unsympathetic inspector of the German Export Bureau has disclosed a method adopted to avoid the export tax. A firm bought pianos from a manufacturer at a price on condition that when packing he would conceal in the piano and case a large number of gramophone records. This would obviate the trouble and expense of obtaining an export permit. But it was found out and the piano firm has been struck off the register of the Bureau. The instigator—evidently a resident in a foreign country—should also be punished. In recording the case the German trade journals properly express regret that a German piano maker should lend himself to such a trick.

Winners and Edison-Bells at Hastings

The staff of J. E. Hough, Ltd., made its annual outing on Saturday, July 15, to Hastings. The belated party who saw the back of the 7.30 a. m. "special" at Charing Cross joined-up an hour or so later, but was just too late to participate in a wedding on the seashore, which several of us enjoyed as welcomed guests, though uninvited! Little incidents like this—sure, there were many others—served to the pleasant passing of time until one o'clock when all met at the Metropole for lunch. An excellent affair, at which about 200 participated, including Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hough and daughter, other directors and executives of the firm. Mr. Hough, in the course of a few after-lunch remarks, referred to the happy nature of the occasion and it was very evident that he felt a pride and gladness in being among them all—quite as happy, I thought, as they were to have him there. Charles Lawren, the treasurer and organizer of the whole affair, carried out his task to the satisfaction of all, and well deserved the happy recognition made by Mr. Hough, who concluded his speech to the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow, etc." After an afternoon blessed with brilliant sunshine, which gave occasion for trips on the somewhat stormy briny, the whole party entertained for town at 7.30 and reached home in

(Continued on page 152)

EDISON BELL

WINNER

TRADE MARK

GRAMOPHONE RECORDS

CABLE
"PHONOKINO,
LONDON"

ARE THE GREATEST VALUE FOR MONEY PRODUCED IN GREAT BRITAIN

TEN INCH

DOUBLE SIDED

NEEDLE CUT

PLAY ON ALL GRAMOPHONES

Catalogue contains 4000 Titles by the Premier Artistes, Instrumentalists, Orchestras and Bands of the British Empire

DEALERS PREPARED TO DO BUSINESS ARE INVITED TO COMMUNICATE WITH

Proprietors and Manufacturers, J. E. HOUGH, Ltd., 62 Glengall Road, London, S. E. 15, England

FROM OUR LONDON HEADQUARTERS—(Continued from page 151)

Horn, Hornless and Table-Grand GRAMOPHONES

FOR EXPORT

Please State Your Requirements
REX GRAMOPHONE CO. 2 Elizabeth Place
Rivington Street, LONDON, E.C. 2, England
Cable Address "Lyrecodisc, London"

good time. I was glad to be present on this occasion if only to witness the splendid feeling which exists between masters and men. It makes for smooth working throughout all departments of Winner and Edison-Bell record production, and that is the kind of spirit, perhaps, which inspired the christening of their latest record as "Velvet Face." May the velvet faces continue to smile and prosper!

Miscellaneous Items of Trade Interest

A report here states that the Russian Soviet Government has canceled the Patent and Trade-Marks Act and as a result there is no protection for either a patent or trade-mark in that country.

At the annual general meeting of the Association of Gramophone Manufacturers and Wholesale Dealers Louis Sterling (Columbia) was elected president for the ensuing year in place of M. F. Cooksey. D. J. Blaikley (small goods section) was appointed vice-president. C. E. Timmins, secretary, presented the annual report and statement of accounts, which were duly passed.

The Woman's Exhibition arranged by the Daily Express newspaper made an excellent show at Olympia, attracting crowds of folk daily. The Bestone portable gramophone proved a center of interest on a stand of remarkably effective design.

The "His Master's Voice" people have issued a set of melody lecture records recorded by that eminent professor of music, H. Walford Davies. The records are primarily for school teachers and school use. Juvenile students and even grown-ups will find these lesson-records of exceeding interest, and calculated to inspire a love and knowledge of different phases of music.

The report that Brunswick records may be handled here by A. Graham & Co. has aroused interest. How far the probable arrangement may be carried into effect between the two firms is still a matter of speculation.

On July 14 a further reduction in the bank rate was announced. It is now 3 per cent. While this reduction is in part due to bad trade, the feeling prevails that cheaper money will help a trade revival and cause borrowings for business developments. We hope it will!

STATISTICS SHOW TRADE GAINS

Increases in a Number of Basic Industries During Past Six Months Are Indicative of General Business Improvement Throughout the U. S.

One of the very best and most widely used indicators of fluctuation in general business is the weekly record of freight car loadings. In spite of serious curtailments of the coal industry, which is the largest user of freight facilities, the freight car loadings have increased nearly 50 per cent since January, which is not at all a seasonal increase, as in 1919 the increase was less than 3 per cent, according to statistics presented by the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce.

The increase in production of basic raw materials for the industries such as pig iron, copper and lumber tell the story clearly. The following are index numbers of production of these commodities recently compiled by the Department of Commerce, one hundred being the average for 1913, except for lumber, for which 1919 is the base:

	Pig iron	Copper	Lumber
1921—
July	34	17	85
1922—
January	64	25	90
February	64	37	95
March	79	61	103
April	81	75	107
May	90	87	127

A general increase in activity is likewise reflected by bank clearings, which a year ago were: For New York City, 195 per cent of the 1913 average, and increased to 219 per cent in January and 244 per cent in May; similar percentages for bank clearings outside of New York City are 188, 189 and 204. Interesting, likewise, are the figures for building construction, which last year at this time were only 68 per cent of the monthly average in 1919 and which further declined to 65 per cent in January of this year, but since then have constantly advanced to 129 per cent in May, and are still increasing rapidly at present.

General public buying demand is shown by sales of mail-order houses, which last July were only 133 per cent higher than the monthly average for 1913, and which this year have been:

	Per cent
January	175
February	161
March	211
April	196
May	194

Other indications pointing to a still more favorable immediate future in business are the monthly increases of the unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corp., the upward trend of stock prices, fine crop yields in various parts of the country and the increased prices obtained by the farmer for his produce.

TONE ARM AND AMPLIFIER PATENTS

A New Improvement in This Special Field Patented by V. Minnelli, of Pittston, Pa.

V. Minnelli, of Pittston, Pa., was recently granted patent letters No. 1,395,053 covering a combined tone arm and amplifier. According to the patent papers this invention relates to certain new and useful improvements in a combined tone arm and amplifier, constructed and arranged for a special tone arm connected with one end of the amplifier mounted on a support, taking the place of the usual form of tone arm support, while the combined tone arm and amplifier take the place of the usual tone arm and amplifier or horn.

The invention has for another object the provision of a combined tone arm and amplifier with a special form of tone arm to which is connected the sound reproducer adapted to be turned so as to position the same for playing different types of records such as the records having vertical undulations and those having horizontal undulations for the needle to travel in.

Initiative and success go hand in hand.

You Ought to Know

In case you are contemplating expanding the sphere of your business to include departments devoted to Pianos, Player-Pianos, Musical Merchandise or Sheet Music, that you'll find news and comments about them all in

ESTABLISHED 1876

The oldest and leading music trade weekly, which covers every branch of the industry

It Contains

Instructive and educational articles. Hints on salesmanship and advertising. Editorials that are timely and authoritative. Facts about the new things in the trade. Trade happenings in all parts of the United States

"Review the Music Trade With Us"

Send your $2 now for a full year's subscription to

THE MUSIC TRADE REVIEW
373 FOURTH AVENUE NEW YORK

LATEST PATENTS RELATING TO TALKING MACHINES AND RECORDS

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 8.—Phonograph. George B. Burch, New York, assignor to Leslie Stevens, Glen Ridge, N. J. Patent No. 1,414,802.

This invention has been made especially with the idea of providing an improved phonograph reproducer of the class having a large direct-acting diaphragm by which sound waves are set up directly in the surrounding atmosphere without requiring any horn or other amplifying device; and the invention aims to provide an improved device of this class which shall be highly sensitive and responsive to sound vibrations, and which when used as a phonograph reproducer shall operate to reproduce sound recorded on a phonograph record very perfectly as to quality and in the desired volume. The invention is not limited to instruments or devices for use in reproducing sound through the mediation of a record such as the usual phonograph record, but may obviously be applied to other uses in sound reproduction and recording.

Figure 1 is a sectional view of a phonograph provided with a reproducer embodying the invention; and Fig. 2 is a partial sectional view taken at right angles to Fig. 1 and showing the stylus holder and transmission rod and portions of the diaphragms. Fig. 3 is a face view of the lower diaphragm.

Drop-cover Check. George E. Rudnick, Boston, Mass., assignor to the Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, N. J. Patent No. 15,350 (re-issued).

The invention relates to cover supporting and checking means for retaining in open position, and checking or controlling the closing action of a top or cover for talking machines, music boxes and similar cabinets.

Figure 1 is a vertical sectional view of a conventional form of talking machine cabinet with novel cover check in position thereon; Fig. 2, a detail plan and partial section on the line 2—2 Fig. 1; Fig. 3, a partial sectional view on the line 3—3 Fig. 1; Fig. 4, a similar view of a modified form of construction; Fig. 5, a detail of a modified form of construction of the hinge for the supporting rod; Fig. 6, a detail of a modified form of the cylinder construction; Fig. 7, a vertical section on the line 7—7 Fig. 6, and Fig. 8, a modified form of cylinder and supporting rod construction.

Phonograph Attachment. Peter Simon, Elizabeth, N. J. Patent No. 1,418,101.

This invention has for its object to provide means whereby the sound box and tone arm of a phonograph may be raised and returned to their initial position upon the termination of a record.

A further object is to provide means whereby the sound box may be thus moved irrespective of the inner diameter of record grooves, thus permitting records of different sizes and capacity to be operated in a like manner.

A still further object is to provide a brake applied to the record table at the termination of the record, the same operating to stop its rotation.

Figure 1 is a fragmentary side elevational view showing a conventional type of phonograph and indicating the application of the device, the parts being shown in an operative position; Fig. 2 is a similar view of the same, showing the sound box in a raised position; Fig. 3 is a fragmentary plan view showing the device and sound box in operative engagement with the record plate, and Fig. 4 is a perspective view of the braking device.

Sound Box for Talking Machines. Albert Hardy Gay, London, England. Patent No. 1,418,249.

This invention relates to sound boxes for talking machines and has for its object to increase the volume of the reproduction, and to obtain a reproduction more closely approaching the original, as regards tone and articulation.

The invention has also for its object to reduce to the minimum the hissing and other undesirable surface noises incidental to talking machines and the like sound reproducing instruments.

Figure 1 is a sectional side elevation of the complete sound box; Fig. 2 a front elevation corresponding to Fig. 1, but with the cap 22 removed; Fig. 3 is a sectional side elevation corresponding to Fig. 1, but turned through an angle of ninety degrees; Fig. 4 is a front elevation looking in the direction of the arrow in Fig. 3; Fig. 5 is a sectional side elevation showing modified connecting means for the tone arm, and Fig. 6 is an enlarged detail view showing more clearly the means for insulating the stylus bar and bracket for the fulcrum pin, from said fulcrum pin.

Sound Box. Forest Cheney, Chicago, Ill., assignor to the Cheney Talking Machine Co., same place. Patent No. 1,417,499.

This invention relates to sound reproducing machines and particularly to a novel sound box for use in connection therewith. Inasmuch as it is desirable to maintain a balance of tone power between the higher and lower tone registers of a musical composition when it is being reproduced from a record, one of the principal objects of the present invention is to so design the reproducing diaphragm with relation to the adjacent chamber that the reproduced low tones are full and resonant and the high tones clear and brilliant. The desired result is secured by forming a cavity of increasing depth from the center to the periphery of the diaphragm, the cavity being defined by a wall of the sound box at one side and the diaphragm at the other side. Preferably the desired result is secured by concaving the diaphragm and convexing the wall, although a similar result might be secured by so shaping only one of the parts. A still further object is to provide a loading chute by means of which the removable needles may be accurately placed in the needle holder from the rear end thereof.

Figure 1 is a front view of a sound box constructed in accordance with the invention; Fig. 2 is an enlarged sectional view through such a sound box; Fig. 3 is a fragmentary transverse

vertical view on the line 3—3 of Fig. 2, the loading chute being omitted; Fig. 4 is a bottom plan view, and Fig. 5 is a horizontal sectional view showing a slightly modified form of this interestingly designed diaphragm.

Mounting for Sound Reproducing Machines. Eugene F. O'Neill, Minneapolis, Minn., assignor to Beckwith-O'Neill Co., same place. Patent No. 1,418,016 and Patent No. 1,418,017.

The first-named relates to a mounting or cabinet for sound reproducing machines particularly designed to be used in salesrooms.

As is well known, the records for these machines are now sold in very large numbers. The customers purchasing the records usually wish to hear them played in the salesroom. It has been the common practice heretofore to provide booths in which a machine will be located and in which the customer may listen to a record played thereon. These booths are required in considerable numbers and occupy much floor space. As the salesrooms are located largely in downtown stores where floor space is very expensive, the erection of a large number of these booths has become a serious item of expense. Even with a large number of booths it is often impossible to accommodate all of the customers desiring to hear a record played. It is an object, therefore, of this invention to provide a mounting for a sound reproducing machine which is of small dimensions, as compared with a booth, and by means of which a customer can satisfactorily listen to the record being played without disturbing or being disturbed by another customer who is also listening to a record.

Figure 1 is a view in front elevation of the device with some parts broken away; Fig. 2 is a side elevation of the device, as viewed from the right of Fig. 1, also having some parts broken away and shown in section; Fig. 3 is a top plan view thereof; Fig. 4 is a view mostly in section of a portion of the sound transmitting tube; Fig. 5 is a section on the line 5—5 of Fig. 4, and Figs. 6 and 7 show modifications in section of the elbow shown in Fig. 4.

Patent No. 1,418,017 relates to a mounting or cabinet for sound reproducing machines particularly designed to be used in salesrooms where the records for such machines are sold.

The customers purchasing such records usually wish to hear the same played in the salesroom and it has been a common practice heretofore to provide booths in which the machines will be located and in which the customer may listen to a record played thereon. These booths are required in considerable numbers and occupy much floor space. Such floor space is very expensive and the erection of a large number of these booths becomes a serious item of expense. Even with a large number of booths, it is often impossible to accommodate all of the customers desiring to hear a record played.
(Continued on page 154)

PATENTS RELATING TO TALKING MACHINES AND RECORDS—(Continued from page 153)

It is an object of this invention, therefore, to provide a mounting for a sound reproducing machine which is of small dimensions as compared with a booth and which mounting is so constructed that a customer can satisfactorily listen to the record being played without being disturbed by or disturbing another customer who is also listening to a record.

It is a further object to so construct such a device that a plurality of the same may be placed adjacent to each other to form a sales counter, which counter may define the customer's portion of the salesroom and the salesman's portion.

Figure 1 is a vertical section through the device; Fig. 2 is also a vertical section taken substantially at right angles to the section of Fig. 1; Fig. 3 is a sectional plan view of the device taken substantially on the line 3-3 of Fig. 1. Fig. 4 is a front elevation of the listening device for the mounting; Figs. 5 to 7 are sectional views showing the construction of the valve in the base of the listening device; Fig. 8 is a plan view showing the arrangement of a plurality of the devices to form a counter, and Fig. 9 is a similar view showing a plurality of the devices forming a semi-circular counter.

Sound Transmitting Means. Harry J. Durborow and Bayard L. Winders, Philadelphia, Pa. Patent No. 1,418,909.

One object of this invention is to provide sound transmitting means for talking machines which will include a resonator and amplifier having vibratory portions of such character as to allow all complex sound to find sympathetic or suitably formed vibratory parts which will accurately and discriminately resound and amplify sound waves impinging upon them and thereby reproduce an audible analysis of complex sound. Thus by the use of the present invention on talking machines the sounds of voices, instruments or the like, which were originally recorded in the record, will be reproduced in such manner as to be readily distinguished one from another without any blurring or false intermingling of sounds which were not originally present or recorded in the record.

Figure 1 is a top plan view showing sound transmitting means made in accordance with this invention and illustrated in connection with a portion of a cabinet of a talking machine; Fig. 2 is a sectional elevation taken on the line 2-2 of Fig. 1; Fig. 3 is an end view illustrating the invention; Fig. 4 is a side view of one of a number of sections of an amplifying resonator, which forms a part of the invention; Fig. 5 is a top plan view of Fig. 4; Fig. 6 is an end view of Fig. 4; Figs. 7 and 8 are perspective views of certain of the elements of the invention, and Fig. 9 is a fragmentary section taken on the line 9-9 of Fig. 2.

Repeating Phonograph. Jacob H. Ling, Detroit, Mich. Patent No. 1,418,584.

This invention relates to a repeating phonograph.

Figure 1 is a plan view of the improved phonograph; Fig. 2 is a vertical sectional view taken on line 2-2 of Fig. 1; and showing the mechanism of the phonograph in front elevation; Fig. 3 is a horizontal sectional view taken on line 3-3 of Fig. 2; Fig. 4 is a vertical sectional view taken on line 4-4 of Fig. 3 and showing the parts of the phonograph in side elevation; Fig. 5 is a vertical section on line 5-5 of Fig. 3, illustrating certain air passages; Fig. 6 is a vertical section taken on line 6-6 of Fig. 3 showing certain valve mechanism carried by a swinging arm; Fig. 7 is a vertical section on line 7-7 of Fig. 3 showing a pneumatic action.

Phonograph Brake. Robert G. Brown, George School, Pa., assignor to John E. Streitmeier, Cincinnati, O. Patent No. 1,419,214.

This is a division of a co-pending application No. 2,834, filed January 18, 1915, and this case covers more particularly the mechanism including especially the brake element and the means for automatically controlling and operating the same.

One object of this invention is to provide a mechanism adapted first to be set in operation and then after a predetermined time interval to in turn cause a brake element to function in stopping the turntable of a phonograph.

The primary object is to provide a mechanism that will very effectively enable a given record to be automatically replayed as many times as desired and then to automatically stop the machine.

Another object is to provide a unitary self-contained mechanism which can easily be applied to a conventional type of phonograph and which will render the same automatic to the extent of enabling it to replay a record any predetermined number of times and then to automatically stop the operation of the machine.

An object of the herein illustrated specific embodiment of this invention is to provide a mechanism that will normally be entirely free from the turntable, but which by an appropriate electrical or mechanical latch will be thrown into engagement with said turntable so as to derive motion therefrom and to utilize this motion for resetting the tone arm and finally for automatically stopping the turntable.

Figure 1 is a plan view diagrammatically illustrating a conventional sound arm, record and turntable with the invention as an attachment applied thereto. Fig. 2 is an enlarged plan of a mechanism embodying the improvement; Fig. 3 is a front elevation thereof; Fig. 4 is a left-end elevation with the casing in section; Fig. 5 is a plan, similar to Fig. 2, showing the transmission unit in its tripped motion-receiving position, and showing some of the parts broken away to more clearly show the details of the escapement device; Fig. 6 is a right-end elevation, with the casing in section; Fig. 7 is a front elevation, with the casing in section to more fully show the brake mechanism; Fig. 8 is a detailed elevation of the counting wheel showing its beveled ratchet-releasing nose; Fig. 9 is a plan of the sound conveying arm and of a modified construction of stop mechanism therefor.

Sound Box. Frank Stevens, Philadelphia, Pa., assignor to Charles R. Keegan, same place. Patent No. 1,419,774.

This invention relates to sound boxes for the reproduction of phonographic sounds and its objects are to improve the distinctness and clearness of enunciation as well as to amplify the volume of such sounds, and to provide a simple means of varying the angular relation between the talking machine needle and a record upon which it is operating.

These objects are attained by the combination of twin diaphragms with other specially devised members as is fully set forth and explained in the following description and the accompanying drawings, in which—

Figure 1 is a side elevation, partly in vertical central section, and with parts broken away to disclose underlying construction; Fig. 2, a horizontal central section through the line 2-2 of

Fig. 1; Fig. 3, a perspective of the adjustable base for the stylus arm, and Figs. 4 and 5 perspective views of the two component parts of the stylus arm.

LATEST PURITAN RECORDS

(Play on All Phonographs)

(Ten-inch Double Disc)

DANCE RECORDS

- 11142 'Neath the South Sea Moon—Fox-trot, Majestic Dance Orch.
- Don't Pan Me—Fox-trot....Original Memphis Five
- 11141 Parade of the Wooden Soldiers—Fox-trot, Majestic Dance Orch.
- I'm Going Away to Wear You Off My Mind—Fox-trot....Original Memphis Five
- 11140 Do-It-Again—Fox-trot....Frisko Syncopators
- Coo-Coo—Fox-trot....Earl Randolph's Orch.
- 11139 Cavalleria Rusticana—Opera Fox-trot, Moulin Rouge Orch.
- Indiana Home—Fox-trot....Earl Randolph's Orch.
- 11138 Deedle-Deedle-Dum—Fox-trot, Original Memphis Five
- Keep on Building Castles—Fox-trot, Frisko Syncopators
- 11137 Gee, but I Hate to Go Home Alone—Fox-trot—Vocal Chorus, Arthur Hall, Majestic Saxophone Sextet
- Buzz, Mirandy—Fox-trot....Original Memphis Five
- 11136 Thru the Night—Waltz....Frisko Syncopators
- Nobody Lied—Fox-trot—Vocal Chorus, Arthur Hall....Majestic Dance Orch.

STANDARD RECORDS

- 15059 One-Two-Three-Four—Hawaiian Trio—Waltz Ballad....Ferera-Franchini-Lufsky
 - Missouri Waltz—Hawaiian Duet...Ferera-Franchini
 - 15060 Cohen at the Movies—Monologue....Monroe Silver
 - Cohen at the Radio—Monologue....Monroe Silver
- VOCAL RECORDS
- 9117 Only a Smile From You—Tenor Solo, Hugh Donovan
 - Why Should I Cry Over You?—Tenor Solo, Arthur Hall
 - 9118 My Cradle Melody—Baritone Solo....Bob Thomas
 - I Wish There Was a Wireless to Heaven—Tenor Solo....Sam Ash
 - 9119 In the Little Red School House—Duet, Thomas-West
 - Whenever You're Lonesome—Duet....Thomas-West

REPAIRS

All Makes of Talking Machines Repaired Promptly and Efficiently

REPAIR PARTS FOR ALL MACHINES

ANDREW H. DODIN

25 Sixth Avenue New York TELEPHONE, SPRING 1194

Advance RECORD BULLETINS for September, 1922

VICTOR TALKING MACHINE CO.

- POPULAR SONGS
18918 Kicky-Koo... Billy Murray-Ed. Smalle
18922 Sweet Indiana Home... Aileen Stanley
18917 Oogie Oogie Wa Wa... The Benson Orch. of Chicago
18919 Who'll Take My Place... Club Royal Orch.
18920 Hot Lips... Paul Whiteman and His Orch.
18921 The Sneak... Club Royal Orch.
18923 My Rambler Rose... Paul Whiteman and His Orch.
18924 Swanee Bluebird... The Benson Orch. of Chicago
BLUE LABEL VOCAL RECORDS
45320 The Lost Pocket-book... Edgar A. Guest
45321 Solvejg's Cradle Song... Lucy Isabelle Marsh
45322 No Night There... Elsie Baker
RED SEAL RECORDS
FRANCES ALDA, Soprano-GIOVANNI MARTINELLI, Tenor
89163 Madame Butterfly... Puccini
66071 My Mother... Wagstaff-White
74764 Concerto in A Minor... Goldmark
87345 My Ain Countrie... Demarest-Hanna
66079 Chanson Arabe... Rimsky-Korsakow
HUGO KREISLER, Violoncellist
66082 Viennese Folk Song... Hugo Kreisler
66080 Wonderful World of Romance... Wood
74766 Oberon-Overture-Part 1... Weber
74767 Oberon-Overture-Part 2... Weber
74765 Nocturne in B Flat... Paderewski
74768 Tannhauser Overture-Part 3... Wagner
74753 Ay-Ay-Ay (Creole Song)... Perez-Freire
87340 Lead, Kindly Light... Newman-Dykes

COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE CO.

- SYMPHONY RECORDS
98003 Parted-Tenor Solo... Charles Hackett
A3643 Two Little Stars-Mezzo-Soprano Solo... Barbara Maurel
A3639 Son o' Mine-Soprano Solo... Lucy Gates
49690 Hungarian Dance, No. 1-Violin Solo... Toscha Seidel
A6217 Norwegian Bridal Procession-Piano Solo... Percy Grainger
A6216 You Can't Do Nothing 'Til Martin Gets Here... Bert Williams, Comedian
A3637 A Camp Meeting at Pumpkin Center... Cal Stewart, Comedian
A3151 Moo-Cow-Moo-The High Giraffe... Edmund Vance Cooke
A3649 'Neath the South Sea Moon... Ray Miller and His Orch.
A3648 Just Because You're You... Eddie Elkins' Orch.
A3654 Dancing Fool-Fox-trot... Frank Westphal and His Rainbo Orch.
A3652 You've Had Your Day... Nora Bayes, Comedienne
A3651 Pinkie "The Flapper Song"-Tenor Solo... Frank Crumit
A3646 Nobody Lied... Marion Harris, Comedienne
A3638 Song of Persia-Tenor Solo... Edwin Dale
A3650-Sleepy Little Village... Hart Sisters, Harmonizers
A3655 I Wish There Was a Wireless... Billy Jones
A3653 He May Be Your Man... Edith Wilson and Johnny Dunn's Original Jazz Hounds

- Nest Some Sweet Day-Fox-trot, Ted Lewis and His Orch.
A3640 Deedle Deedle Dum-Fox-trot, Ray Miller and His Orch.
A3645 Nobody Lied... The Happy Six
A3644 Buzz, Mirandy... Dolly Kay, Comedienne
A3641 Rock Me in My Swanec Cradle... Shannon Four
Gee! But I Hate to Go Home Alone-Tenor Solo... Billy Jones

EDISON DISC RE-CREATIONS

- 50937 Slidus Trombonus-A Trombone Comedy, Sodero's Band
50938 I Found the End of the Rainbow... Irving Kaufman 50939 The World Is Hungry for a Little Bit of Love... Vernon Dalhart 50940 The Argentines, the Portuguese and the Greeks, Edward Meeker
50986 I Want a Jazzy Kiss... Collins-Harian
50942 The Larsen Kids Go Bathing... The Harmony Four 50927 For You a Rose... George Wilton Ballard
50944 Huckleberry Finn... Premier Quartet
80720 Good-bye, My Baby... "We Girls" Quartet
80721 Inca Rhapsodie... Carlos Valderrama
80722 Chimes of Normandy... New York Light Opera Co.
82264 La Danza-Tarantella Napolitana... Mario Laurenti
FLASHES
51008 'Neath the South Sea Moon... Atlantic Dance Orchestra
51013 Georgette-Fox-trot... Atlantic Dance Orchestra
51018 If Winter Comes... Atlantic Dance Orchestra
Released on Order
51014 The Sunset Trail of Gold, Betsy Lane Shepherd-George Wilton Ballard
51015 Why Should I Cry Over You?... Walter Scanlan
51017 Ain't Love Grand?... Green Brothers' Novelty Band
82272 The Evening Star... Thomas Chalmers

EDISON AMBEROLA RECORDS

- 4577 Moon River-Medley Waltz... Green Brothers' Novelty Band
4578 I'll Wed the Girl I Left Behind, George Wilton Ballard
4579 Yiddisher Jazz-Vaudeville Specialty... Julian Rose
4580 Memorics of You-Fox-trot, Atlantic Dance Orchestra
4581 I Want You Back Again, Betsy Lane Shepherd-George Wilton Ballard
4582 When the Mists Have Rolled Away, Metropolitan Quartet
4583 Serenade-Spanish Waltz... Edison Concert Band
4584 Flanagan and His Motor Car-Vaudeville Specialty... Steve Porter
4585 There's Silver in Your Hair... Lewis James 4586 La Marseillaise-French National Anthem, Orpheo Langevin
4587 Sweet Mama... Grace Woods-Arthur Fields
4588 (a) Mighty Lak' a Rose (b) The Prayer Perfect, Marie Tiffany
4589 Erin, You're Wearin' a Wonderful Smile, Walter Scanlan and Chorus
4590 In Our Bungalow... Helen Clark-Joseph Phillips
4591 Some Sunny Day-Fox-trot... Atlantic Dance Orchestra
Amberola Hits for September
4610 Stumbling-Fox-trot... Broadway Dance Orchestra
4611 Soothing-Fox-trot... Ernest L. Stevens' Trio
4612 I'm Gonna Buy a One-Way Ticket to a Little One-Horse Town... Al Bernard and Chorus
4613 Hawaiian Nightingale... Palakiko's Hawaiian Orchestra
4614 Parade of the Wooden Soldiers... Vincent Lopez Orchestra

BRUNSWICK RECORDS

- TWENTY-NINTH RELEASE
50014 La Paloma... Giuseppe Danise
5145 Down in the Forest... Irene Williams
25012 Dance of the Hours-Part I... Vincent Lopez Orchestra

- Vessella's Italian Band
Dance of the Hours-Part II... Vessella's Italian Band
2287 Swing Along... Vessella's Italian Band
Mammy's Lullaby... Criterion Quartet
2298 Missouri Waltz... Criterion Quartet
2288 Dreamy Moments... Gondolier Trio
2289 General Boulanger March... Bell Solo
2296 Rock Me in My Swanec Cradle... Bell Solo
2297 Nobody Lied... Margaret Young
2291 'Neath the South Sea Moon... Margaret Young
2292 State Street Blues... The Cotton Pickers
2293 Barcarolle... Bennie Krueger's Orch.
2294 Georgette... Bennie Krueger's Orch.
2295 Send Back My Honeyman... Carl Fenton's Orch.
2286 Birdie... Carl Fenton's Orch.
2290 Bamboo Bay... Gene Rodemich's Orch.
2291 Broken-hearted Blues... Gene Rodemich's Orch.
2290 I Love a Little Cottage... Colin O'More
14373 Oh, Promise Me... Helen Clark
14374 At Parting... Chas. Hart-Elliott Shaw
14375 Nancy Lee... Charles Harrison
14376 Honey, I Wants Yer Now... Criterion Male Quartet
14377 Aeolian Symphony Dance... Yerkes' S.S. Flotilla Orch.
14378 They Gotta Quit Kickin' My Dawg Aroun'... Criterion Male Quartet
14382 I'll Sing Three Songs of Araby... Charles Hart
14383 Washington Post March... Charles Hart-Esther Nelson
20006 Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes... Nellie and Sara Kouns
14391 In a Gondola... Marie Dawson Morrell

AEOLIAN CO.

- OPERATIC SELECTIONS
52040 Mignon-Polonoise... Aeolian Orch.
30158 Zaza-Canzone di Milio... Aeolian Orch.
STANDARD SELECTIONS
52039 I Due Granatiere... Aeolian Orch.
24029 When I Awake!... Colin O'More
I Love a Little Cottage... Colin O'More
14373 Oh, Promise Me... Helen Clark
14374 At Parting... Chas. Hart-Elliott Shaw
14375 Nancy Lee... Charles Harrison
14376 Honey, I Wants Yer Now... Criterion Male Quartet
14377 Aeolian Symphony Dance... Yerkes' S.S. Flotilla Orch.
14378 They Gotta Quit Kickin' My Dawg Aroun'... Criterion Male Quartet
14382 I'll Sing Three Songs of Araby... Charles Hart
14383 Washington Post March... Charles Hart-Esther Nelson
20006 Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes... Nellie and Sara Kouns
14391 In a Gondola... Marie Dawson Morrell
ORIENTALE (Caesar Cui)... Marie Dawson Morrell
SOME FOREIGN AND OTHER SELECTIONS
14379 Der Griner Cosin... S. Paskel
Mit Tausend Yhor Zurik... S. Paskel
14380 Chepe Nisht... S. Paskel

Some Leading Jobbers of Talking Machines in America

TEST IT.

OUR VICTOR

Record Service

has a reputation for efficiency.
Suppose you try it.

E. F. DROOP & SONS CO.
1300 G. STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C.
231 N. HOWARD STREET, BALTIMORE, MD

W. J. DYER & BRO.
DYER B'LD'G, ST. PAUL, MINN.
NORTHWESTERN DISTRIBUTORS
OF THE

VICTOR
Machines, Records and Supplies

 Shipped Promptly to all
Points in the Northwest

Mickel Bros. Co.

Omaha, Nebraska
Des Moines, Iowa

Victor Distributors

Where Dealers May Secure

COLUMBIA

Product

Ready, Full Stocks, and Prompt Deliveries
from Convenient Shipping Centers
all over the United States.

Distributors

Atlanta, Ga., Columbia Graphophone Co., 561-563 Whitehall St.
Baltimore, Md., Columbia Graphophone Co., 16 South Howard St.
Boston, Columbia Graphophone Co., 1000 Washington St.
Buffalo, N. Y., Columbia Graphophone Co., 737 Main St.
Chicago, Ill., Columbia Graphophone Co., 325 W. Jackson Blvd.
Cincinnati, O., Columbia Graphophone Co., 317-321 East 8th Street.
Cleveland, O., Columbia Graphophone Co., 1812 East 30th St.
Dallas, Tex., Columbia Graphophone Co., 316 North Preston St.
Denver, Colo., Columbia Stores Co., 1608 Glenarm Ave.
Detroit, Mich., Columbia Graphophone Co., 115 State St.
Kansas City, Mo., Columbia Graphophone Co., 2006 Wyandotte St.
Los Angeles, Cal., Columbia Graphophone Co., 809 S. Los Angeles St.
Minneapolis, Minn., Columbia Graphophone Co., 18 N. 3rd St.
New Orleans, La., Columbia Graphophone Co., 517-525 Canal St.
New York City, Columbia Graphophone Co., 121 West 20th St.
Omaha, Neb., Columbia Graphophone Co., Eighth and Jackson Sts.
Philadelphia, Pa., Columbia Graphophone Co., 40 N. 6th St.
Pittsburgh, Columbia Graphophone Co., 632-640 Duquesne Way.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Columbia Stores Co., 221 South West Temple.
San Francisco, Cal., Columbia Graphophone Co., 345 Bryant St.
Seattle, Wash., Columbia Graphophone Co., 911 Western Ave.
Spokane, Wash., Columbia Stores Co., 161 South Post St.
St. Louis, Mo., Columbia Graphophone Co., 1127 Pine St.
Tampa, Fla., Tampa Hardware Co.

Headquarters for Canada:
Toronto, Ont., Columbia Graphophone Co., 347 West Adelaide St.
Montreal, Que., Columbia Graphophone Co., 824 St. Denis St.

Executive Office
COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE CO.
Gotham National Bank Building New York

Sherman, Clay & Co.

San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Spokane
PACIFIC COAST DISTRIBUTORS OF VICTOR PRODUCTS

SOUTHERN
VICTOR WHOLESALERS

The Corley Company

RICHMOND VIRGINIA

The
Toledo Talking Machine Co.
Toledo, Ohio

*Wholesale Victor
Exclusively*

CONSTRUCTIVE ARTICLES IN THIS ISSUE OF THE WORLD

Ready Reference for Salesmen, Dealers and Department Heads

Why Not a National Record Week This Fall?	3	How the Stand-patter Hinders Business Progress	43
Catering to the Women as Buyers... Neglected Complaints Result in Loss of Trade and Considerable Harmful Publicity	3	A Survey of Summer Business in the Retail Music Fields	48-49
How Continuous Intelligent Advertising Has a Tremendous Trade-making Influence	4	The Importance of Obtaining the Customers' Confidence	50
Plans for the Development of Fall Trade	6	The Broadcasting of Voices and Musical Instruments	51
Wedding the Film and the Talking Machine Record	8	Two Successful Salesmanship Classes Held in New York	57-58
Keeping the Business House in Order Justification for Optimism in the Talking Machine Trade	8	Appealing to the Individual Record Buyer	59
Retailers Must Be Aggressive to Win Trade the Coming Fall	9	Why Continuous Bombardment With Literature Is Necessary	66
Significant That the Radio Appeal Is on the Basis of Music	9	Trade Happenings in the Quaker City and Pennsylvania	67-68
Getting Out of the Beaten Path in Making the Effective Selling Appeal	10	Radio Interests Organized to Support Broadcasting	77
Keeping the Mailing List Up to Date. Improved Methods Are Necessary to Secure a Large Volume of Sales..	12	Geo. E. Brightson Discusses the Trade Situation	80
Successful Salesmanship in the Domain of Talking Machines and Records	14	Getting Prospects a Real Business Proposition	82
Some Practical Ideas That Helped Not Only to Promote but Close Sales	15	Review of Trade Conditions in New England Territory	83-86
Some Practical and Valuable Tips on How to Conduct Your Retail Business	21-22	The Evil of Price-cutting	94
Four-minute Conferences on Business Topics	24	Mid-West Point of View and General Western Trade News	98-111
Catering to the Automobilst	29	Records Being Used for Senator's Campaign	111
A Means for Measuring Musical Talent	33	Utilizing Window Publicity for Visiting Artists	117
National Sales Code for Use in Hardwood Field	35	Census of Manufactures Shows Growth of Talking Machine Industry	126
A New Talking Machine Market Suggested	38	Featuring the Musical Possibilities of the Talking Machine	130-131
Letter of a Veteran Salesman to a Friend	39	Senate Finance Committee Lowers Duty on Records	135
	40	Interesting Budget of News From the Dominion of Canada	137-138
		The Talking Machine Situation in Europe	150-152
		Late Patents of Interest to the Talking Machine Trade	153-154
		Advance List of September Bulletins of Talking Machine Records	155-156

A C B Z A C O F H I K L N P Q S U V X Y B D F G J L N P Q S U V X Z Y C E F H J K W O P R T A C E M O N
 G F Y
 H J K W
 M O N
 P Q N
 S R P O M K V W F E C A B C E F H J K W O P R T U N Y L B D E G I V M J O Q S T V M N V B D
INDEX TO ADVERTISERS
 K P R T Y
 S V Y
 W A
 M B C

A

Acme Die Casting Corp. 79
 Aeolian Co. 30, 31
 American Felt Co. 147
 American Mica Works. 70
 American Talking Machine Co. 78
 Atlantic Instrument Co. 50

B

Bagshaw Co., W. H. 112
 Barnhart Bros. & Spindler. Inside back cover
 Bell Hood Needle Co. 55
 Bell Recording Co. 58
 Berlin, Inc., Irving. 119
 Blackman Talking Machine Co. 27
 Blood Tone Arm Co. 109
 Boston Book Co. 18
 Brand, William 123
 Bridgeport Die & Machine Co. 128
 Brilliantone Steel Needle Co. 113
 Bruns & Sons, A. 24
 Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. Insert following page 34
 Buegeleisen & Jacobson. 96

C

Cabinet & Accessories Co. 73
 Cheney Talking Machine Co. 28
 Clapp-Eastham Co. 63
 Claremont Waste Mfg. Co. 79
 Classified Want Ads. 149
 Collings & Co. 62
 Columbia Graphophone Co. 16, 17, 32, 35, 45, 50, 51, 80, 86, 90, 114, 129, 145, 147
 Consolidated Talking Machine Co. 52, 104
 Corley Co. 157

D

Dayton Photo Products Co. 23
 De Forest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Co. 95
 Diamond Products Co. 91
 Diaphragm Co. 142
 Ditson & Co., Chas. H. 83
 Ditson Co., Oliver. 83
 Dodin, Andrew H. 154
 Droop & Sons Co., E. F. 157
 Duo-Tone Co. 39
 Dyer & Co., W. J. 157

E

Eagle Radio Co. 134
 Eastern Talking Machine Co. 85
 Eclipse Musical Co. 77
 Edison, Inc., Thos. A. 36, 37, Back cover
 Eight Famous Victor Artists. 38
 Emerson Phono. Co. 133
 Empire Phono. Parts Co. 111
 Encore Sales Co. 143
 Eshborn, Samuel 57

F

Federal Tel. & Tel. Co. 142b
 Feist, Leo. 38, 55, 72, 84, 92, 106, 108, 119, 126, 132, 138, 148
 Fletcher-Wickes Co. 103
 Flexlume Sign Co. 82
 Fox Pub. Co., Sam. 120
 Fox-Vliet Drug Co. 47
 Fulton T. M. Co. 114

G

General Phonograph Corp. Insert following page 50
 General Phonograph Mfg. Co. 64
 General Radio Corp. 125
 General Radio Laboratories. 105
 Gibson-Snow Co. 47
 Gramophone Co., Ltd. 150
 Granby Phono. Corp. 22
 Greater City Phono. Co. 12
 Gretsch Mfg. Co., Fred. 145
 Griffith Piano Co. 47

H

Hall Mfg. Co. 74
 Hallet & Davis Piano Co. 87
 Harper & Bros. 14

Harponola Co. 19
 Health Builders 81
 Hessig-Ellis Drug Co. 47
 Homophone Co. 148
 Hough, J. E., Ltd. 151
 Hough, L. W. 86

I

Isley, Doubleday & Co. 82
 Inter-Ocean Radio Co. 141
 Iroquois Sales Co. 94
 Italian Book Co. 33

J

Jenkins' Sons Co., J. W. 117
 Jewel Phonoparts Co. 75, 99
 Jewett Phono. Co. 41

K

Kent Co., F. C. 73
 Kiefer-Stewart Co. 47
 Kimball Co., W. W. 60
 Knickerbocker T. M. Co. 10
 Kraft, Bates & Spencer, Inc. 84

L

Lakeside Supply Co. 108
 Lansing Sales Co. 86
 Lauter Co., H. 126
 Lee-Coit-Andreesen Hdw. Co. 47
 Ldseen Products 105
 Long Cabinet Co., Geo. A. 76
 Long Island Phono. Co. 78
 Lundstrom Mfg. Co., C. J. 142d
 Lyradion Sales & Engg. Co. 142c

M

Magic Phono. Supply Co. 143
 Magnavox Co. 44
 Magnola T. M. Co. 101
 Manhattan Elec. Supply Co. 34
 Manhattan Recording Laboratories. 114
 Manufacturers' Phono. Co. 97
 Marks Music Co., Edw. B. 118
 Marshall Co., Inc., C. L. 47
 McMenimen, H. N. 59
 Mellor Co., C. C. 50
 Mellowtone Needle Co. 143
 Melody National Sales Co. 107
 Mermod & Co. 95
 Metal Recording Disc Co. 71
 Mickel Bros. Co. 40
 Minneapolis Drug Co. 47
 Mittenthal, Inc., Jos. 26, 74, 120
 Modernola Co. 72
 Mohawk Works of Art. 132
 Montagnes, L., & Co. 47
 Moore-Bird & Co. 47
 M. S. & E. 47
 Mutual Phono. Parts Co. 135

N

National Decalcomania Co. 68
 National Metals Depositing Corp. 58
 National Publishing Co. 18
 Natural Voice T. M. Co. 66
 Netschert, Frank 80
 New England Talking Machine Co. 85
 New York Album & Card Co. 4

O

Ogden Sectional Cabinet Co., Inc. 88
 Ormes, Inc. 15
 Oro-Tone Co. 107
 Orsenigo Co. 61
 Osland, Inc. 89
 Outing T. M. Co. 139

P

Pace Phono. Co. 142c
 Pathé Frères Phono. Co. 20
 Peabody & Co., Henry W. 56
 Pearsall Co., Silas E. 9
 Peckham Mfg. Co. 90
 Peerless Album Co. 11

Penn Phonograph Co. 67
 Phillips Phono. Parts Co., Wm. 26
 Phonograph Jobbers Corp. 124
 Phonomotor Co. 45
 Phonotone Co. 68
 Playertone T. M. Co. 93
 Plaza Music Co. 59, 122
 Pleasing Sound Phono. Co. 115
 Plywood Corp. 33
 Presto Phono. Parts Corp. 48

R

Radio Corporation of America. 13
 Raymond Engg. Co. 21
 Regal Record Co. 42
 Rene Manufacturing Co. 137
 Rex Gramophone Co. 152

S

Seaburg Mfg. Co. 29
 Self-Lifting Piano Truck Co. 51
 Shelton Elec. Co. 90
 Sherburne Mfg. Co. 70
 Sherman, Clay & Co. 6
 Silent Motor Corp. 130
 Simplex Elec. Phono. Motor Co. 123
 Smith Drug Co., C. D. 47
 Snyder, Inc., Jack. 116
 Sonora Co. of Philadelphia. 47
 Sonora Distr. Co. of Texas. 47
 Sonora Phonograph Co., Inc. Inside front cover, 46, 47, 131
 Sonora Phonograph Co. of Pittsburgh. 47
 Southern Drug Co. 47
 Southern Sonora Co. 47
 Sphinx Gramophone Motors. 43
 Standard Accessory Corp. 89
 Starr Piano Co. 54
 Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co. 65
 Sterling Devices Co. 108
 Sterno Manufacturing Co. 136
 Strevell-Paterson Hardware Co. 47
 Swanson Sales Co. 25

T

Talking Machine Supply Co. 149
 Talking Machine World Trade Directory. 127
 Toledo Talking Machine Co. 157

U

Udell Works 53
 Unit Construction Co. 69
 United Mfg. & Distr. Co. 100
 United Music Stores. 68
 Universal Fixtures Co. 89
 Unyversal Utylyty Unyts Co. 106

V

Val's Accessory House. 92
 Van Houten, C. J., & Zoon. 47
 Van Veen & Co. 94
 Vicsonia Mfg. Co. 35
 Victor Talking Machine Co. Front cover, 5, 7
 Vitanola T. M. Co. 110

W

Walbert Mfg. Co. 142a
 Wall Kane Mfg. Co. 49
 Walthall Music Co. 47
 Weymann & Son, H. A. 68
 White Radio Co. 96
 Whitsit Co., Perry B. 80
 Widdicomb Furniture Co. 121
 Williams Co., G. T. 79
 Wimpfheimer & Bro., A. 32
 Witmark & Sons, M. 140
 Wolf Mfg. Industries. 102

Y

Yahr & Lange Drug Co. 47

Z

Zimmerman-Bitter Constr. Co. 115

The NEW Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer

A new external shape of grace and beauty—without changing the internal design:

That same angle turn with the solid inclined plane deflecting the sound waves straight downward into amplifying chamber. That same famous Scotford tone—the tone of refinement—genuinely musical. Now in a tonearm of accepted, conventional, popular design. WRITE FOR SAMPLES.

NEW CONSTRUCTION

The long straight tube is of drawn Yellow Brass. Tonearm Base, Main Elbow and Connection Elbow and the Reproducer Frame, Face Ring and Back Plate are cast of TENSO White Brass Alloy—an alloy more than double the tensile strength of cast iron—much stronger, harder and lighter in weight than ordinary white metal alloys. New dies have been produced for casting all parts. The new parts are solidly cast, and are very substantial and durable.

STYLE No. 1 FINISH

A combination of Nickel or Gold Plate and Black Rubber Japan

STYLE No. 2 FINISH

A different combination of Nickel or Gold Plate and Black Rubber Japan

STYLE No. 3 FINISH

All parts Plated in Nickel or Gold

In ordering specify whether Reproducer should have Plain Gilt Plate or "Superior" Name Plate. To obtain Individual Name Plate, customer must furnish Decalcomania Transfer

Samples Will be Submitted on Approval

Style 1 Tonearm long tube and main elbow, Reproducer face ring and back Black Japanned; other parts Plated.	Style 2 Tonearm long tube and main elbow Plated, base Black Japanned; Reproducer back Black Japanned, the face ring and frame Plated.	Style 3 All parts of Tonearm and Reproducer are Plated.
No. 1 New Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer . Nickel $7.00 Gold $ 9.00	No. 2 New Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer . Nickel 7.75 Gold 10.00	No. 3 New Scotford Tonearm and Superior Reproducer . Nickel 8.50 Gold 11.00

Samples Prepaid at the Above Prices

*Write for Our
Specification Sheet and Quantity Price List*

BARNHART BROTHERS & SPINDLER

Monroe and Throop Streets

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

The newest addition to the Edison line of consoles

The Baby Console

See Pages 36, 37 inside

JOBBER OF THE NEW EDISON, EDISON RE-CREATIONS, THE NEW EDISON DIAMOND AMBEROLA AND BLUE AMBEROL RECORDS

CALIFORNIA
Los Angeles—Edison Phonographs,
Ltd.
San Francisco—Edison Phonographs,
Ltd.

COLORADO
Denver—Denver Dry Goods Co.

GEORGIA
Atlanta—Phonographs Inc.

ILLINOIS
Chicago—The Phonograph Co.
Wm. H. Lyons (Amberola only).

INDIANA
Indianapolis—Kipp Phonograph Co.

IOWA
Des Moines—Harger & Blish.

LOUISIANA
New Orleans—Diamond Music Co.,
Inc.

MASSACHUSETTS
Boston—Pardee-Ellenberger Co.
Iver Johnson Sporting Goods
Co. (Amberola only).

MICHIGAN
Detroit—Phonograph Co. of Detroit

MINNESOTA
Minneapolis—Laurence H. Lucker

MISSOURI
Kansas City—The Phonograph Co.
of Kansas City.
St. Louis—Silverstone Music Co.

MONTANA
Helena—Montana Phonograph Co.

NEBRASKA
Omaha—Shultz Bros.

NEW JERSEY
Orange—The Phonograph Corp. of Manhattan.

NEW YORK
Albany—American Phonograph Co.
Syracuse—Frank E. Bolway & Son,
Inc., W. D. Andrews Co.
(Amberola only).

OHIO
Cincinnati—The Phonograph Co.
Cleveland—The Phonograph Co.

OREGON
Portland—Edison Phonographs, Ltd.

PENNSYLVANIA
Philadelphia—Girard Phonograph
Co.

Pittsburgh—Buehn Phonograph Co.
Williamsport—W. A. Myers.

RHODE ISLAND
Providence—J. A. Foster Co.
(Amberola only).

TEXAS
Dallas—Texas-Oklahoma Phonograph Co.

UTAH
Ogden—Proudfit Sporting Goods Co.

VIRGINIA
Richmond—The C. B. Haynes Co.,
Inc.

WISCONSIN
Milwaukee—The Phonograph Co. of Milwaukee.

CANADA
Montreal—R. S. Williams & Sons
Co., Ltd.

St. John—W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd.
Toronto—R. S. Williams & Sons
Co., Ltd.

Vancouver—Kent Piano Co., Ltd.
Winnipeg—R. S. Williams & Sons
Co., Ltd.

Babson Bros. (Amberola only).

The TALKING
MACHINE
WORLD

For the makers & sellers of talking machines

Published Each Month by Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., at 373 Fourth Ave., New York, September 15, 1922

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The word "Victrola" as well as the picture "His Master's Voice" is an exclusive trademark of the Victor Talking Machine Company. Being registered trademarks they cannot lawfully be applied to other than Victor products.

REG. U. S.
PAT. OFF.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victor Talking Machine Company, Camden, N. J.

"The Best Record is Better on a Sonora"

Marquette
$125

Lafayette
$165

Canterbury
$200

Queen Anne
$250

Here They Are! Sonora's New Popular-Priced Periods

They represent an opportunity to you, Mr. Dealer, such as you have never had put up to you before.

Why?

Because the sheer quality of these instruments is astonishing even to phonograph experts.

Because more popular-priced periods are going to be bought this season than ever—the hunger for periods is everywhere.

Because these instruments produce the most exquisite refinement of tone possible to a phonograph today.

Because, in spite of their sterling value, they are low priced. Yes, low—we mean it and the public realizes it. Finally Because Sonora is being advertised this year to one-half the population of the country.

These are decisive reasons. Act while you can get an adequate stock. Write us today for information

A Few Facts that will sell the New SONORA Models for you

Substantial Construction — a thorough examination by customers of all Sonora's visible parts is a powerful sales argument in itself.

Motors — Sonora motors are marvelously perfected for long-running and durability.

Tone—the present-day Sonora tone quality is an almost unbelievable improvement along the logical lines of Sonora tone mastery.

Beauty of Cabinets—Sonora's fame for exquisite, artistic cabinet work, in the best taste of the times, has taken even greater strides in the new models.

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.

George E. Brightson, President

New York, 279 Broadway

Canadian Distributors: Sonora Phonograph, Ltd., Toronto

The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World

The Talking Machine World

Vol. 18. No. 9

New York, September 15, 1922

Price Twenty-five Cents

HOW MUSICAL CENSUS OF THE COMMUNITY HELPS SALES

Experiment Made by Donahoe & Donahoe, Victor Dealers of Fort Dodge, Ia., to Increase Prospect List and Augment Sales Points Way for Others to Utilize This Plan of Operation

"We took a musical census of our community a short time ago and found it very profitable and successful in every way," says J. M. Donahoe, of Donahoe & Donahoe, Victor dealers, Fort Dodge, Ia., describing the sales producing plan recently used by that concern in the house organ of Mickel Bros. Co., Victor distributors, of Omaha, Neb. "The results obtained therefrom were far beyond our expectations. It was profitable from many angles, but to explain it all thoroughly would take too much time and space. I will outline it briefly.

"We first advertised for sales people. Then, after a careful selection of the required number and quality, we gave each of them plenty of instructions along all lines of the game; also their marked territory, one late player roll and six records. They were instructed to use as the opening talk that they were making a complete musical census of our city for us and our object was to find out exactly the different makes of pianos, players and talking machines which were in use at the present time, so we could properly equip our service department more completely for their requirements, as we have always given our service department special attention in the way of giving expert repair service when needed.

"The explanation went over big in most places. Where they had an instrument the solicitor had an opportunity to get us a monthly roll or record customer by playing these over in their parlor and, seven times out of ten, got a nice order, also a new name for the mailing list, or, best of all, if they had no instrument here is where the salesman got a new name to call on the following day. In the few places that would not grant an audience from this framed-up excuse the salesman invariably got the desired information next door.

"The sales people were paid $1 per day, 10 cents per item on each sale and three cents per card for all fully and correctly filled out. We made it plain to them that the telephone would be used to verify their work and any plugged cards would cause an immediate 'canning.' We also paid from $1 to $5, according to size, for each machine sold to prospects turned in by them within five days; $5 on new pianos and from $7.50 to $10 on player-pianos.

"This, all in all, gave the workers a great incentive to hustle and get the prospects promptly, as there was a five-day limit attached to it, so the live prospects were promptly reported and the territory thoroughly combed. The solicitors made money and we made a number of immediate sales and got plenty of cards to work on for a long time, besides the great saving of time calling on people who were equipped in the musical way.

"I would suggest to any and all who have not taken the census of their town or city to do so at the very earliest convenience. Be sure and lay the foundation right and frame it well, as so many of those good schemes can be spoiled by not being properly organized, or by going at it "wild." The old saying, "A poor start is a good finish," doesn't apply in this case. Be sure to get a good start and in the finish the results will be gratifying."

APPOINTED GRANBY SALES MANAGER

Thomas McCreedy, Well-Known Talking Machine Man, Takes Important Post With That Concern—Has Had Valuable Experience

Thomas McCreedy, well known throughout the talking machine trade, has been appointed sales manager of the Granby Phonograph Corp., of Newport News, Va. Mr. McCreedy's former connection as Eastern sales manager of the Unit Construction Co. and previous to that metropolitan district representative of the Victor Talking Machine Co., of Camden, N.

Thomas McCreedy

J., has built up for him a wide circle of acquaintances throughout the talking machine trade in the Eastern territory.

His wide knowledge of the talking machine business, combined with his affiliation in the past with publishing houses and advertising agencies, well fits him for the sales and advertising work which will be included in his new duties with the Granby Co.

Mr. McCreedy will make his headquarters at the main office of the company at Newport News and operate from that point. He has well-defined plans for progressive development of Granby sales which he expects shortly to put into operation.

KIMBERLEY CO. REORGANIZED

Change Name to Kimberley Phonograph Co. of New Jersey—To Increase Production

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., September 8.—The Kimberley Phonograph Co., Inc., which has been operating successfully for some time past, under the direction of Leo Jacobson, has been reorganized and will increase production in the near future. The reorganized concern will be known as the Kimberley Phonograph Co. of New Jersey and Mr. Jacobson will remain as the head of the new organization. The officers are: Leo Jacobson, president; David Isenberg, secretary, and Adolph Greenbaum, treasurer. The company has about completed the purchase of the property in Fayette street, where the plant is located, from Joseph Polkowitz, Inc., and it was said to-day that the title to the land will be taken within a few days.

NEW CONNECTION FOR GEO. T. BEAN

George T. Bean, for a number of years connected with the legal staff of the Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, has become a member of the law firm of Prindle, Wright & Small, New York, which firm in the future will be known as Prindle, Wright, Neal & Bean.

TO HANDLE PARAMOUNT IN SOUTH

Dewey D. Prater, well-known songwriter, of Millport, Ala., has been appointed Southern representative for the New York Recording Laboratories, Inc., of New York City and Port Washington, Wis., manufacturers of Paramount records.

A Grafonola shop has been opened at 132 North Fifth street, Lafayette, Ind., by C. L. Beisel. It is attractively arranged.

TAKES ON BRUNSWICK LINE

Mather Bros. Co., New Castle, Pa., Installs Complete Line of Machines and Records

The Mather Bros. Co., jewelry and talking machine dealer at New Castle, Pa., has taken on the Brunswick line of phonographs and records, in addition to the Victor line, which the company has handled for some time past. The talking machine department of the store, at 213 East Washington street, has been remodeled, and there is now available a battery of ten demonstration booths.

Featuring the Odd, Unusual Records With Which Buyers Are Unacquainted

How best to insure a great development of record sales is one of the questions of the hour. Dealers are not doing their duty to themselves if they fail to consider every possible way and means of concentrating public attention on the very remarkable records which are being placed on the market to-day—remarkable because of their perfection and the fact that they are veritable photographs of the voices of the great singers and the skill of all the great instrumentalists of the world.

We doubt very much, however, whether dealers have brought to the attention of the customers the many unusual and unique recordings which are to be found in the catalogs of the leading companies. Music lovers never fail to have in their collections a well-assorted selection of operatic, orchestral, and even the better-class jazz numbers, but there are still to be found in the record lists some very remarkable records of string orchestras, the harp, the cembalom, the organ, the harmonica, that odd potato-like instrument, called the ocarina, and other musical instruments which invite and merit consideration.

The unusualness of these recordings and the very remarkable effects secured in the laboratory are well worth particular attention. It would be an excellent idea were these records grouped for a window display and special cards used emphasizing the uniqueness of this display and the merits of each individual record. This would not only demonstrate enterprise on the part of the dealer, but it would unquestionably help sales, for there are plenty of talking machine owners who are not acquainted with the many novel records which are procurable. And, mark you, these records are not freaks or novelties, but artistic recordings that deserve special consideration from owners of talking machines on this account.

Where dealers send out bulletins of new records to their customers they ought to include a special folder bearing upon whatever unusual records they have in stock and which help so much to add a pleasing touch or change to the musical programs given in the home.

Victor supremacy is the supremacy of performance

Wherever music is known, the Victrola is known—and its superiority recognized. That is a consideration of vital importance to every dealer in Victor products.

Victor Wholesalers

Atlanta, Ga.....Elyea Talking Machine Co.
Phillips & Crew Piano Co.
Baltimore, Md.....Cohen & Hughes
E. F. Droop & Sons Co.
H. R. Eisenbrandt Sons, Inc.
Birmingham, Ala...Talking Machine Co.
Boston, Mass.....Oliver Ditson Co.
The Eastern Talking Machine Co.
The M. Steinert & Sons Co.
Brooklyn, N. Y.....American Talking Mach. Co.
G. T. Williams Co., Inc.
Buffalo, N. Y.....Curtis N. Andrews
Buffalo Talking Machine Co., Inc.
Burlington, Vt.....American Phonograph Co.
Chicago, Ill.....Lyon & Healy
The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co.
Chicago Talking Machine Co.
Cincinnati, O.....Ohio Talking Machine Co.
The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co.
Cleveland, O.....Cleveland Talking Machine Co.
The Eclipse Musical Co.
Columbus, O.....The Perry B. Whitsit Co.
Dallas, Tex.....Sanger Bros.
Denver, Colo.....The Knight-Campbell Music Co.
Des Moines, Ia.....Mickel Bros. Co.
Detroit, Mich.....Grinnell Bros.
Elmira, N. Y.....Elmira Arms Co.
El Paso, Tex.....W. G. Walz Co.
Honolulu, T. H.....Bergstrom Music Co., Ltd.
Houston, Tex.....The Talking Machine Co. of Texas
Jacksonville, Fla..The French Nestor Co.
Kansas City, Mo....J. W. Jenkins Sons Music Co.
The Schmelzer Co.
Los Angeles, Cal...Sherman, Clay & Co.
Memphis, Tenn.....O. K. Houck Piano Co.

Milwaukee, Wis....Badger Talking Machine Co.
Minneapolis, Minn..Beckwith, O'Neill Co.
Mobile, Ala.....Wm. H. Reynolds
Newark, N. J.....Collings & Co.
New Haven, Conn...The Horton-Gallo-Creamer Co.
New Orleans, La....Philip Werlein, Ltd.
New York, N. Y....Blackman Talking Mach. Co.
Emanuel Blout.
C. Bruno & Son, Inc.
Charles H. Ditson & Co.
Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Inc.
Musical Instrument Sales Co.
New York Talking Mach. Co.
Ormes, Inc.
Silas E. Pearsall Co.
Oklahoma City, Okla.....Oklahoma Talking Machine Co.
Omaha, Nebr.....Ross P. Curtice Co.
Mickel Bros. Co.
Peoria, Ill.....Putnam-Page Co., Inc.
Philadelphia, Pa....Louis Buehn Co., Inc.
C. J. Heppe & Son.
Penn Phonograph Co., Inc.
The Talking Machine Co.
H. A. Weymann & Son, Inc.
Pittsburgh, Pa....W. F. Frederick Piano Co.
C. C. Mellor Co., Ltd.
Standard Talking Mach. Co.
Portland, Me.....Cressey & Allen, Inc.
Portland, Ore.....Sherman, Clay & Co.
Richmond, Va.....The Corley Co., Inc.
Rochester, N. Y....E. J. Chapman Co.
Salt Lake City, U...The John Elliott Clark Co.
San Francisco, Cal..Sherman, Clay & Co.
Seattle, Wash.....Sherman, Clay & Co.
Spokane, Wash....Sherman, Clay & Co.
St. Louis, Mo.....Koerber-Brenner Music Co.
St. Paul, Minn....W. J. Dyer & Bro.
Syracuse, N. Y....W. D. Andrews Co.
Toledo, O.....The Toledo Talking Machine Co.
Washington, D. C...Cohen & Hughes
E. F. Droop & Sons Co.
Rogers & Fischer

Victrola IV, $25
Oak

Victrola VIII, $50
Oak

Victrola No. 90
$125
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 120
$275
Victrola No. 120, electric, $315.00
Mahogany or oak

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF

Important: Look for these trade-marks. Under the lid. On the label.

Victor Talking Machine Company
Camden, New Jersey

How Pessimism Kills Business as Well as the Morale of the Sales Force :: :: By Alonzo K. Foster

Upon the outlook of the members of the retail staff of a business depends in a great measure the success of the merchant. No salesman or staff of men can accomplish the best results of which they are capable unless their outlook on life and business in general is clear, courageous and optimistic. A pessimistic attitude, no matter how hard the salesman tries to keep it under cover, is bound to be noticed by customers, and an unfavorable impression is created, which may mean the loss of a sale, or perhaps of a customer, with a consequent loss of profits to the dealer. Furthermore, it has been found through observation that if one member of the staff loses his optimism the poison gradually permeates the entire force unless measures are taken to stop its growth and eliminate it entirely.

A case in point was brought to the attention of the writer in a recent conversation with the Eastern manager of a large music concern, who has charge of a number of retail stores in the metropolitan district. This manager said in part:

"One of my stores recently suffered a serious slump in business in comparison to the amount of business transacted by our other stores in less lucrative territories. I finally sent for the branch manager to discuss the situation and to see if there was any way of overcoming this difficulty.

"He came, and from the time he started to talk until he stopped his story was one of pessimism. I asked him how he accounted for his poor showing in the way of sales and he lost no time in pointing out to me that it was almost impossible to make sales due to the fact that there were so many out of work; conditions were unsettled; many people were without adequate homes; there existed a buyers' strike, etc. I let him finish and then I asked him if he had made any attempt to figure out how many people in his territory had good jobs, comfortable homes and money to spend. He replied that he had not thought of that.

"During the week following our interview I personally investigated conditions in that territory. I also dropped in to chat with the manager and some of the sales staff and I discovered that the attitude of the manager had poisoned the whole organization.

Poisonous Influence of Pessimism of One Member of Staff Often Affects the Entire Sales Organization

"To make a long story short, this manager is now producing excellent results in the territory immediately adjoining his old stand and the store which had been made non-productive through his pessimism is now, under new management, reporting normal sales.

"The first-named manager has learned his lesson. When I transferred him I impressed on his mind that he was getting one of the most profitable territories in our organization and pointed out the possibilities for sales. He went to work with enthusiasm and is getting results. The fact that sales in his old territory immediately picked up following the change of managers is ample proof that the men composing that branch were affected by his 'blue' viewpoint and that this accounted for the poor showing made.

"To be optimistic does not mean that a man must try to convince himself that business is good when it is not, but if he desires to remain in business he must face the facts squarely and try to discover just what is retarding his development and then set all his energies to work in overcoming the obstacles."

COLUMBIA RECORD MUSIC FOR DANCE

E. R. Berry in Columbia, Miss., Gets Some Good Publicity Through Free Dances

COLUMBIA, MISS., September 7.—E. R. Berry, proprietor of Berry's Pharmacy, gave a surprise to the music-loving public in this city recently by hiring the American Legion Hall and sending out general invitations for a free dance. The music for the occasion was furnished by exclusive Columbia artists, represented through the medium of Columbia records. E. L. Estes, field representative of the New Orleans branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co., operated an electric Magnavox in connection with the Columbia Grafonola, by which means the records were amplified sufficiently to fill the entire hall with perfect dance music.

Sherman, Clay & Co.

Victor Distributors on the Pacific Coast

Victrolas Victor Records
Victor Accessories

Main Wholesale Depot:
741 Mission Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Branch Wholesale Depots:
10th and Santee Streets, Los Angeles, Cal.
N. W. Corner 13th and Glison Streets,
Portland, Oregon
Oceanic Bldg., Cor. University and Post Streets,
Seattle, Washington
330 West Sprague Ave., Spokane, Washington

5 DISTRIBUTING DEPOTS for YOUR CONVENIENCE

Victor supremacy is the supremacy of performance

Victrola VI, $35
Mahogany or oak

Victrola IX, $75
Mahogany or oak

Victrola No. 110
$225
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 130
$350
Victrola No. 130, electric, $390
Mahogany or oak

It proves an unparalleled understanding of the sound-reproducing art—of music and mechanics and all the kindred sciences that make for success in the talking-machine industry.

Victrola No. 300
$250
Victrola No. 300 electric, $290
Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 330
$350
Victrola No. 330, electric, $390
Mahogany

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

Victrola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Important: Look for these trade-marks. Under the lid. On the label.

Victor Talking Machine Company
Camden, New Jersey

(Registered in the U. S. Patent Office)

PUBLISHED BY EDWARD LYMAN BILL, Inc.

President and Treasurer, C. L. Bill, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Vice-President, J. B. Spillane, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Second Vice-President, Raymond Bill, 373 Fourth Ave., New York; Secretary, E. L. Bill; Assistant Treasurer, Wm. A. Low.

J. B. SPILLANE, Editor

RAY BILL, B. B. WILSON, BRAID WHITE, Associate Editors

L. M. ROBINSON, Advertising Manager

L. E. BOWERS, Circulation Manager

Trade Representatives: A. F. CARTER, WILSON D. BUSH, C. CHACE, EDWARD LYMAN BILL, V. D. WALSH, E. B. MUNCH, C. R. TIGHE, SCOTT KINGWILL, A. J. NICKLIN

Western Division: Republic Building, 209 So. State Street, Chicago, Ill. Telephone, Wabash 5242

Boston: JOHN H. WILSON, 324 Washington Street

London, Eng., Office: 2 Gresham Building, Basinghall St. W. LIONEL STURDY, Mgr.

The Talking Machine World has regular correspondents located in all of the principal cities throughout America.

Published the 15th of every month at 373 Fourth Ave., New York.

SUBSCRIPTION (including postage): United States, Mexico, $2.00 per year; Canada, $3.00; all other countries, $4.00. Single copies, 25 cents.

ADVERTISEMENTS: $5.50 per inch, single column, per insertion. On quarterly or yearly contracts a special discount is allowed. Advertising pages, $150.00.

REMITTANCES should be made payable to Edward Lyman Bill, Inc., by check or Post Office Money Order.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS—Advertising copy should reach this office before the first of each month. By following this rule clients will greatly facilitate work at the publication headquarters.

Long Distance Telephones—Numbers 5982-5983 Madison Sq.
Cable Address: "Elbill," New York

NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 15, 1922

THE BUSINESS SITUATION REVIEWED

TALKING machine manufacturers who regulate the production of their plants according to a strict schedule that is calculated to take care of the needs of the trade on a more or less definite basis declare that the manufacturing schedules from now until the first of the year call for a volume of output that comes close to touching some records along that line.

The schedules for the most part are based upon actual advance orders in hand or definitely in prospect and are to be accepted as an indication of the better feeling that pervades the talking machine trade generally, a feeling that business is going to be better after the passing of Summer and that a full measure of sales cannot be realized unless retailers are assured of sufficient stock on hand to meet all demands.

In the face of the existing situation, as it has developed out of the rail and coal strikes, it would seem that those members of the trade who have had sufficient confidence to order liberally and for early delivery have accomplished more for their own protection than they perhaps realize. The transportation problem of itself is going to be a serious one for months to come, while readjustments are being made, and the problem is further complicated by the fact that even should the coal strike be completely settled before this is published the demands for coal movement will serve to interfere seriously with the transportation of merchandise of less vital importance.

Despite all this there is evidence of increased industrial activity and agricultural prosperity, based on bumper crops in most sections, that promises a volume of demand that will tax retailing facilities. The period of liquidation in the retail talking machine trade is practically at an end, and there should be nothing to interfere with a very substantial Fall business that will measure up to the most optimistic expectations. In fact, the question promises to be not that of getting business but rather that of getting sufficient stock to handle it promptly and to the best advantage.

There have been some mighty good years in the talking machine business, as some thousands of wholesalers and dealers can testify, and the lean years have been few. It is safe to assume, therefore, that the chance for a substantial comeback in the near future is excellent.

AN EFFECTIVE MEANS OF REACHING BUYERS

THE season of fairs of the State and County variety is again approaching and members of the talking machine trade in various sections of the country have already made known their intention of having more or less elaborate displays at these different shows, particularly at the State fairs such as those held in Michigan, New York and other States and recognized as annual institutions. Even under ordinary circumstances, with business running along smoothly, the average retailer is acting wisely when he arranges for some form of exhibit at a recognized fair in his vicinity where his line may be seen and inspected by thousands who under ordinary circumstances might never go near his place of business.

With business conditions as they are now and promise to develop during the Fall months, it is imperative that the retailer take advantage of every opportunity for displaying his wares and demonstrating them to the public outside his store as well as inside.

The talking machine with its accompanying records represents an ideal exhibit feature, for it can be kept going almost constantly and its music proves an irresistible attraction to the thousands of fair visitors. It has been proven on numerous occasions that a good talking machine exhibit holds the crowds as few other displays can, and, whether actual sales result during the fair or not, the fact remains that the name of the exhibitor and the name of the products he is showing have been strongly stamped on the minds of those who have taken occasion to stop, look and listen.

Not only has the talking machine dealer attention-compelling music makers as a foundation for his exhibit, but he has also at hand very generous supplies of display material, particularly that featuring records, which is calculated to add to the attractiveness of the booth, while at the same time representing advertising of the best sort.

With the need for more business generally recognized, as is likewise recognized the need for more aggressive sales tactics, the retailer will find in the Fall fair a welcome opportunity for placing his wares before a maximum number of people with a minimum amount of effort.

WHY THE FARMER IS A GOOD PROSPECT

THERE came to New York recently a salesman who had won the trip to the metropolis as first prize in a salesmanship contest conducted by a Middle West music house. It was the second time the same man had won the big prize for selling more goods than his fellows and he ascribes his success to the fact that while the majority of the salesmen kept pretty close to city trade he did his business with the farmers.

One point made by this salesman which should be of particular interest to talking machine men was that the farmer makes the best kind of a prospect for musical instruments providing he is treated "like a human being" and not differently from the ordinary city prospect. He declared that some salesmen had a certain attitude for the city prospect and quite another of a patronizing sort for the rural man and this attitude was resented by the latter.

The points made by the salesman on farmer trade were that their credit was good and that the check in full was generally ready when the instrument was delivered; that they had more appreciation of the home because they spent more time in it, and that the average farmer is pretty well fixed and does not suffer from industrial fluctuations as does his city brother.

"There are ten farmers in a financial position to buy pianos and talking machines for cash for every one or two city men who are able to buy those instruments on instalments," he said.

It is an argument that should appeal to those who confine their sales efforts to the crowded districts instead of going out into the highways and byways and getting close to nature.

A NATIONAL LIBRARY OF RECORDS

REPORTS from Berlin to the effect that arrangements have been made for building up a library of records of all known languages and dialects as a permanent branch of the National Library of Berlin are of general interest not only to those who recognize the desirability of preserving such historical records, but to those in the talking machine trade who have had a part in making possible the recording of the actual voices.

For a number of years there have been offered suggestions for the development of a record library in Washington in which could be filed records of the voices of the great men of this day and days to come. It has been realized that such a library would be of tremendous historical value in the future.

In France there has been more or less organized effort to collect records of the voices of noted artists and statesmen, in fact, government officials in Paris were among the first to suggest the value of having records of noted artists filed for the benefit of posterity.

In England, particularly in the early days of the phonograph, records were made by Gladstone and noted personalities of that era, which were filed for historical use. There is no question as to the tremendous value of a national library of records of leading statesmen and prominent men in all lines of art and commerce.

Prof. Wilhelm Doegen, who has charge of the work for the Berlin Library, has mapped out a systematic campaign and is having special records made of languages and dialects not already recorded, as well as of the voices of noted personages. The master records themselves, of metal, are to be preserved in the library, and it is maintained that in that form the records will last for thousands of years.

A particular feature of interest is that the work of building up a record library has at last been started in the right way and the Berlin move should stimulate similar activities in other countries. We have heard much of the value of recording and preserving the actual voices of the great artists and statesmen, but that fact means very little unless there is some organized attempt made to preserve copies of such records in a way that will make them available to future generations for the purpose of study.

It might be well for the trade itself to organize and support some propaganda to that end in this country.

placed, it is probable that the music industry will be more largely represented at the next National Merchandise Fair, which, it is now decided, will be not only an annual, but, very probably, a semi-annual event.

The music trade has, on several occasions, tried the experiment of holding expositions or shows with the object of bringing the buyer and seller together under conditions calculated to enable each to cover more ground at less expense, but as far as this industry is concerned the results were, for the most part, unsatisfactory.

The enlarged scope of the National Merchandise Fair, taking in all the leading industries of America, has made a wide appeal and attracted thousands of buyers of recognized standing who have placed orders in sufficient volume to make the venture pay for the individual exhibitors. It is true that most of the products shown were those for which orders are placed at definite seasons of the year; whereas talking machines and other musical instruments do not rank as seasonal products. But there is no question as to the advantage of having musical instruments shown with other goods handled by the average mercantile establishment, if only for the purpose of emphasizing the fact that talking machines and musical instruments generally are really an important part of home equipment and not things apart.

The managers of the National Merchandise Fair are entitled to congratulations on the success achieved and it is gratifying that the support vouchsafed warrants the holding of future fairs on a much larger scale.

UNIFORM CONDITIONAL SALES ACT IN FORCE

THE movement for the adoption of a Uniform Conditional Sales Act in all the various States, which has been under way for some time past, and has already been put over successfully in several States, including New York, where such a law became effective on September 1, deserves the support of talking machine dealers as well as all others selling on instalments, for the law is calculated to simplify that procedure for both buyer and seller while, at the same time, affording adequate protection for both.

The main features of the law as passed in New York have been analyzed for The World by a well-known attorney who has pointed out the changes from the present statute. The uniform measure is of particular importance in that, should it be adopted by a majority of the States, retailers engaging in inter-State commerce, that is, doing business in several States, will avoid the trouble incident to drawing up sales contracts conforming to the several State laws.

The practice of selling on instalments has done much to develop modern business, and anything calculated to simplify the procedure and encourage that type of business means a greater volume of sales. Cash, of course, is most desirable, but there would be many idle factories in the music industry if talking machines and pianos were sold only for cash.

NATIONAL MERCHANDISE FAIR SCORES

THE National Merchandise Fair, which recently held forth in New York, excited considerable interest in the music industry, as, indeed, in all other lines of trade. The aim of the fair was to simplify buying and selling problems with the subsequent economy in time and money, and it was designed along the general lines of the great fairs or messes held in Leipzig and other centers in Germany which are attended by business men from all parts of the world.

The fair scored a greater success than anticipated and thousands of buyers from all sections of the country were in attendance. The displays at the Grand Central Palace and the Seventy-first Regiment Armory were of a character to arouse keen interest.

The first show included exhibits by several manufacturers of talking machines, records and talking machine supplies and accessories and, judging from the interest manifested and the orders

Follow the Black Line

Who's your Victor Jobber?

ORMES, Inc.

'PHONE FITZROY 3271-2-3

15 West 37th Street

New York

Vital Importance of Service Demonstrated in Retail Trade Development :: By A. L. Parsons

In the talking machine business, as in other lines of merchandising, the impression which the customer has of the store and the human elements who run it determine in a great measure whether or not sales are made. In this connection it is safe to say that first impressions are the strongest. Whether they are good or bad depends entirely on the reception the customer or prospective buyer receives when the store is visited. A bad first impression is one way of curtailing sales and minimizing the best efforts of the salesman afterward. In either case an impression is hard to eradicate. If it is good it will stick and only laxity on the part of members of the sales staff who come in contact with the customer will cause a reversal of favor. The bad impression will stick with equal tenacity and is even harder to overcome because suspicion of the integrity of the establishment has been raised in the mind of the prospect.

The writer recently was in conversation with a friend on this subject. It seems that he had entered a certain store with the object of purchasing certain records which he had seen advertised the night before. From the tone and quality of the advertising he was led to believe that he would receive service of the highest order. When he entered the store he walked over to the service counter behind which two salesmen were holding an animated conversation. He waited a few moments and as neither of the so-called salesmen appeared to pay any attention to him he walked over to the end of the counter where they were talking and asked if there was any one in the place who would wait on him. One of the clerks ungraciously asked him what he wanted and my friend, incensed, sarcastically apologized for interrupting his conversation and walked out of the place.

Right here it is only fair to say that in the talking machine field, generally speaking, salesmen are of a high order and a case of this character is rare. This incident is related merely to emphasize the point brought out in the first paragraph of this article. Of course, this is an extreme case, but it takes far less than this to create an unfavorable impression and antagonize a customer or prospect and thus make an enemy.

Upon the Good or Bad First Impression of the Customer Depends Future Patronage and Business Development

Another incident which bears on the subject of creating an impression was related to the writer by a salesman who swung the balance of favor in his direction by a trifle, slight in itself, but important, inasmuch as it not only made a sale, but made a firm friend of two people, a recently married couple. The story follows:

"A young couple came into the store one afternoon and asked to see a certain model machine of the line we carry. Unfortunately, we did not have that particular machine in stock at the time. I was attending these prospects and told them that I would make a special effort to obtain the type of machine they asked for and let them know as soon as it arrived. I also tried to get them to look at our other models; however, they were in a hurry and departed, but not before I had the name and address.

"I immediately got in touch with our jobber and put in a rush order for a machine. It arrived the next day and I made quick contact with my prospect on the phone. I told him that I had secured the machine he had wanted to see and, to make a long story short, he and his wife came to the store and not only purchased that machine but a number of records. They have been purchasing records ever since.

"When I had finished with the young man he told me that he had decided in favor of my line because he was convinced that a house which took the trouble to render such a quality of service must handle an equally high-class quality of merchandise. He stated that in no other store which he and his wife had visited previously had any of the salesmen taken enough interest in him as a prospective buyer to even secure his name and address. In short, they did not seem to care whether he became a customer or not."

This is only another of those little things which spell success or failure for a business. It is quite evident, even to a layman in the matter of the art of salesmanship, that the average person who is considering the expenditure of a considerable amount of money expects to receive adequate service. And it is also evident that if this service is not rendered, even though the prospect makes one purchase, he will not go out of his way to make another.

When a prospective customer enters a store and a cheerful salesman immediately comes forward with a sincere desire to be of service the visitor feels it instinctively and a foundation of confidence in that salesman and store is started which will in all probability mean a sale at that time and many future sales if the proper methods of follow-up are employed.

NEW COMBINATION IN KNOXVILLE

Clark-Jones-Sheely Co. Organized With Capital Stock of $100,000 to Take Over Several Groups of Music Stores in That Territory

KNOXVILLE, TENN., August 31.—The Clark-Jones-Sheely Co., a new concern, capitalized at $100,000, has filed its application for a charter at the County Clerk's office. The new corporation merges the three stores of the Lynn-Sheely Co. in Johnson City, Morristown and Bristol; the two stores of Clark & Jones, in Knoxville and Chattanooga, together with the Knoxville Music Co. and the Victrola Shop. An organization meeting was held on August 14 and the corporation started operation formally on August 15.

The local branch of the firm is located in the old Board of Commerce Building, 422 South Gay street. The building was occupied about September 1. Earl Worsham and Frank Clark, who hold a lease on the building from the Nellie C. Ross estate, have subleased to the Clark-Jones-Sheely Co.

The store at 422 South Gay street will deal in pianos, players, talking machines and records. The Clark & Jones store, at 514 South Gay street, will continue in operation under Leslie E. Miller, its manager.

Paul J. Albright, enterprising Victor dealer, of David City, Neb., is using billboard advertising to good effect.

SEND FOR YOUR SAMPLE TO-DAY

This is the New Design

Mr. Victor Retailer—

Would you spend 15c to bring a customer into your store and keep your name constantly before a Victrola owner?

We'll say you will! That is why we will send you a free sample on request of our Advertising Sales-Building Record Brush.

YOUR ad inserted without extra charge.

KNICKERBOCKER TALKING MACHINE CO.

Victor Wholesalers

138 West 124th St.

New York City

TIMELY ANTICIPATION IS REALIZATION OF PROFITS

The Fall Season

Statements from twelve dealers in different sections of the country show that sales for the first six months of 1922 were almost identical with figures for the corresponding months in 1916.

On this basis, the last half of 1922, and particularly the Holiday Season, will develop a similarly sensational increase in record and machine business everywhere.

In the raw products market, shortages have already begun to appear and there is every likelihood that the last months of this year will find dealers hard put for various stocks.

Peerless is anticipating an unusually heavy demand for albums by timely purchases of essential materials and will, therefore, be in a position to meet extraordinary dealer requirements.

But, as a definite protection to yourselves, we invite you to place tentative orders at once for delivery in November and December, thereby obviating the element of uncertainty and possible loss when the season opens—as it did in 1916.

Phil Ravis

Showing how 10-inch records fit into Peerless Big Ten

Preparation, in the matter of a more than adequate record album stock, is sales insurance that no talking machine dealer should neglect.

The comparatively small investment in a gross of albums will prove a source of endless satisfaction and actual profit when the busy season begins.

Particularly, when you carry and advertise

PEERLESS —the Album

there is an added gratification and additional income by reason of meeting a popular demand for quality at a price.

In placing your Winter machine order, give a thought to this important accessory, albums, assure your supply now and—specify Peerless.

Display This Sign—It Will Sell Peerless Albums for You—Send for Yours at Once.

ALBUMS SUPPLIED IN LETTERED SETS
FOR ALL MODEL MACHINES

It Does Make A Difference What Albums You Sell

PEERLESS ALBUM COMPANY

PHIL. RAVIS, President

WALTER S. GRAY
San Francisco
942 Market St.

636-638 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

L. W. HOUGH
Boston
20 Sudbury St.

Standardization of Sales Presentation as an Aid to Greater Efficiency :: :: By W. Braid White

The talking machine business has reached a position which fairly entitles it to any public esteem it may commonly receive. As the talking machine and its music become more and more firmly established in public affection it becomes more and more necessary to consider all problems of salesmanship in the broadest possible position. In the history of every industry there comes always one moment when novelty ceases to be its prime characteristic and when the necessity arises of building up for its exploitation some standard method of merchandising. That moment has already come in our business.

It is time, that is to say, for us to think about standardizing our sales presentations in respect of the talking machine and its records.

By the term "sales presentation" I mean the statements made and the things done by the salesman in urging the merits of that which he has to sell. By the term "standard sales presentation" I mean to signify a method so scientifically correct and so adaptable that it can be applied, in principle, to every case which may arise. Before going on to discuss such a standard presentation, to be used by talking machine salesmen, it may be well, however, to say a few words in defense of the scheme.

Need of Standards

Some will always believe, no doubt, that the salesman's impromptu inspiration is the best of guides and that there is little, if any, advantage gained in evolving a standard sales talk. With this belief, although it is held by some eminent business men, I venture to disagree. For it should be obvious that any sale of a specialized article like the talking machine, which depends almost entirely upon demonstration, can always be done in one best way only, no matter how many possible ways of doing it may be found to exist. In other words, it must be possible to find one best way, based upon the best knowledge as to the ideas which are to be impressed upon the purchaser and upon that purchaser's reactions to them. For the solution of most of the many selling problems which are based on the factor of demonstration a standard way of presenting the sales argument has been worked out and is in more or less universal use. There is no reason for believing that it cannot be equally well worked out successfully for the talking machine industry.

The Prospect's Previous Ideas

The prospective purchaser of a talking machine comes to the store with certain predilections and previously formed notions. Most of these are usually rather hazy and would scarcely bear much analysis. Nevertheless, it is no longer possible to imagine any ordinary person coming into a store without some notion of what a talking machine is. The automobile itself is not better known. How then are such preconceived ideas as the visitor or prospective purchaser of a talking machine certainly possesses imprinted upon his consciousness?

In the first place, he receives some ideas from seeing talking machines in the homes of his friends. In the second place, he reads the advertising of the great national advertisers. In the third place, the first two considerations operate to produce a general idea of the desirability of music in the home. Very likely no one of the three converging causes will be consciously felt, although the prospect may be sufficiently interested to mention the third one. Generally speaking, however, we may be quite sure that the prospect is nearly always motivated by the three considerations adverted to.

Outline of a Presentation

Plainly, then, any presentation must be based upon the fact that the prospect does not need to be persuaded as to the advisability of music in the home. Of that much we may be sure. He is already convinced. The need then is (1) to show him that the machine offered actually gives him what he wants; (2) that it is worth the price asked for it; (3) that the records are genuinely worth-while reproductions of music, and (4) that they in turn are worth what is asked for them.

These four points can best be proved and pressed home, surely, by a sales presentation which involves the smallest amount of talking and the largest amount of showing. In other words, if this foregoing statement be based on fact the sales talk should be divided into the following phases:

1. A very short introduction, leading almost instantly to the appearance of actual music.

Salesman makes prospect comfortable in demonstration booth and talks briefly about variety of music available for his or her hearing at this very moment. He tries to find out what the prospect likes and, above all, does not venture to make up the prospect's mind for him in advance. Blunders here are inexcusable. The true music lover must not be insulted with jazz and the dance fiend must not be bored with grand opera.

2. Demonstration of the machine's musical quality by means of records, chosen as above.

This phase shall be brief in duration and be cut off as soon as prospect shows that he is convinced that the machine really gives good music. The next step is to show

3. Special reasons for the machine's ability to reproduce music well.

This involves explanation and demonstration of machine's special mechanical and acoustical features. Remember, however, that statements made in a positive tone about highly dubious acoustical points should be avoided, as they are likely at any time to provoke argument and spoil the sale. In this category of controversial topics should be included everything relating to the actual method of reproduction, for in these respects little of positive knowledge actually exists. Leave alone all details about diaphragms and tone chambers, for most of what you are likely to say will be nonsense. Let the musical values be demonstrated by test; that is to say, let the records do the talking. It is then a simple matter to

4. Demonstrate that good music is worth a fair price.

The only need here is to point out, when the question of price comes up, as it will now, that the reproduction of fine music comprises an art based on experience, great skill, fine workmanship and fine material. These cost money. The fact that a customer may not at first sight "see where the money comes in" is really not to the point. The price of a Rolls-Royce is taken for granted as being fair, because its performance can instantly be appreciated by every one who has a chance to experience this. The reliability of the house which sells, the celebrity of the name of the machine, and the maker's and seller's consequent ability to guarantee performance unreservedly afford the only security needed. Moreover, it is not a matter of figures, but a matter of service. "Not what it costs, but what it will do."

Normally, the deal should now be ready to close, which in this case means that it should actually now be closed, save for the formalities of signing and delivery.

Nevertheless the important question of music remains and this must always be handled carefully. It may be laid down as a principle that the aim of all sales talk at this point should be, not so much to sell the customer a lot of music at the start when already a purchase of a machine has been made involving from one to five hundred dollars, as to get the customer into the habit of coming each month to make additional purchases of records. A dozen well-selected records should make a good beginning for most purchasers. After that it is a question of follow-up and sales service. These matters do not strictly come within the province of this article.

These outlines for a standard presentation are submitted to sales managers in the hope that they may stimulate some thought and discussion.

The North Shore Talking Machine Co., Evanston, Ill., has opened the Victrola Service Store at 554 Center street, Winnetka, Ill., where the Victor line of machines and records will be handled exclusively.

Sonora DISTRIBUTORS EXCLUSIVELY
for New York, Staten Island and the lower Hudson Valley

Greater City Phonograph Co., INC
311 SIXTH AVE. TEL. CHELSEA 9237 NEW YORK

The superiority of the Sonora is as marked
as the ease with which it sells.

To Protect the Dealer and the Public

A new trademark, a symbol of quality, has been adopted by the Radio Corporation of America. It appears at the top of this page, and soon it will be affixed to all Radiolas, Radiotrons and other products.

The new symbol is more than a trademark. It is the dealer's and the purchaser's guarantee that the apparatus to which it is applied is the result of research conducted by the foremost scientists and engineers; is the product of the most reliable and well equipped manufacturing organization in the country; and is marketed in accordance with methods approved by experienced business men.

Like the R C A apparatus still on sale, bearing the old symbol—the letters R C in a circle—the newly marked R C A apparatus will embody the highest standard of quality and will be backed by the same protection which R C apparatus has enjoyed during the past.

The new monogram has been adopted to render apparent, instantly and unmistakably, the products of the Radio Corporation of America. Henceforth, this symbol R C A will appear on all apparatus and Radiolas—from the simplest crystal receiver to the Cabinet type. It testifies to the constant striving of the R C A organization—research engineers, factories and sales force—to produce and sell only the best, and to develop types of Radiolas which will keep pace with the advancement of broadcast reception and which will apply the new discoveries made in the R C A research laboratories.

Teaching the Public What R C A Means Through Advertising

The new symbol R C A will be widely advertised throughout the country. In an art which is so rapidly developing and which offers so many opportunities for the marketing of unreliable apparatus, it becomes more and more necessary to drive home the importance of the highest engineering and manufacturing standards. The symbol R C A is a guarantee that these standards have been insisted upon in the manufacture of Radiolas.

Write for Display Cards

R C A dealers will be supplied with R C A symbols for store display. By writing to us and stating whether a decalcomania window sign or a wall card is desired, we shall be glad to meet their wishes.

Sales Department, Suite 2076
233 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

District Office
10 South La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Among R C A distributors are the following famous music houses:

ALBANY RADIO CORPORATION, Albany, N. Y.
LANDAY BROS., Inc., New York City

W. F. FREDERICK PIANO COMPANY, Uniontown, Pa.
LYON & HEALY, Chicago, Ill.

Methods of Modern Business Management-- Value of Quick Stock Turnover :: By G. W. Hafner

Manager of G. W. Hafner, Inc., Chicago.

The interest of every business man is, naturally, to make his capital do as much work for him as possible. That means letting a given dollar rest in a given lot of material for as short a time as possible. And doing this means moving stock as rapidly as possible. And the one word that covers all this is "turnover."

Definition of Turnover

It is never possible to make money on dollars that are tied up in commodities that will not move. And when prices are falling it is easy to lose a great deal of money by holding onto merchandise or materials that move slowly, while the price for which they can be sold becomes constantly less and less. Because of this every manufacturer and merchant ought to have information on the movement of goods in and out. It is this movement in and out, not only of the merchandise itself, but also of that which the merchandise represents, money, to which the term "turnover" has been applied.

In any business there are two things that are disposed of, replaced and disposed of again; or, in other words, "turned over." These are:

1. The stock of merchandise.
2. The money invested in such merchandise.

And the turnover of these items has a very definite effect upon the profits which the business makes during a given period. Hence, an analysis of this effect is necessary in order to plan properly and conduct the business so as to:

1. Secure the maximum profit with a given capital, or
2. Secure a given profit with a minimum capital.

Quick Versus Slow Turnover

Perhaps the easiest way to state the case for a rapid rate of turnover in business is as follows:

A certain business, we will say, has annual sales of $50,000 and makes a gross profit of $17,500 (or 35 per cent of the sales). If we take off $12,500 for expenses (25 per cent of the sales) the net profit would be $5,000 (or 10 per cent of the sales). But if the annual sales of that business are increased to $100,000 and a gross profit of 35 per cent is still realized, the amount of gross profit would be $35,000. Suppose expenses of the business are doubled because of this increased business—a very liberal margin—there would then be $25,000 in expenses to deduct from the gross profit of $35,000, leaving a net profit of $10,000.

Now, it is at once evident that, having increased the sales to such an extent, the same percentage of profit is not required. The tendency in any business should be to increase the turnover and thereby decrease the percentage of profit. Under these circumstances the nation as a whole would benefit, and the individual engaged in the business would certainly not suffer.

Another illustration: Two men are engaged in building construction. John Smith, the first contractor, finishes twelve jobs a year, making $1,000 net profit on each job. He earns a total of $12,000. Jim Jones, the second contractor, finishes eighteen jobs a year, making $750 on each job. He earns a total of $13,500. Moreover, he gets business away from Smith because his price is more attractive. When there are none too many jobs to go around at best this last consideration is of great importance.

Making Your Dollar Active

If a dollar earns ten profits for its owner in a year the owner can afford to take a smaller profit each time than on another dollar which earns him, say, only five profits during the same length of time. And yet the dollar which returns the smaller rate of profit will bring in the larger volume of profit, simply because it is so much more active.

Now, this is precisely the point that most business men seem not to understand. They do not seem to be able to grasp the fundamental principle that even though the percentage of profit on merchandise or service be but, say, 5 per cent, if it is earned often enough, say, ten times in a year, the annual turnover on money or rate of profit on investment will be 50 per cent.

Too many merchants overlook the fact that their cost of doing business of, say, 25 per cent, cannot correctly be used to demand a 15 per cent margin of profit on each and every kind of merchandise sold, because it is the percentage of profit on one sale and not on the year's investment. A larger margin of profit needs to be added to the slow-moving materials and a smaller margin to the quick-moving.

The vital point of comparison is how much profit can you make a dollar earn selling a given article. Any business man can get rich earning a 5 per cent margin of profit on one certain commodity if he sells it often enough; on the other hand, he may go bankrupt on merchandise offering 100 per cent profit if he rarely makes a sale. Quantity selling is the greatest modern profit policy. The profit on any one article or commodity is not much, but when this profit is multiplied by 1,000 or 5,000 or 10,000 the profit on the volume becomes considerable.

Lazy dollars, unnecessarily high profits and sluggish business all tend to go together. The

(Copyright, 1922, by G. W. Hafner)

Is There a MYSTERY in Your Mind?

GRANBY EDITORIAL LETTER

Number Eight

From Granby Phonograph Corporation, Newport News, Va.

CERTAIN pleasant rumors are floating around about the Granby Phonograph proposition. Have you caught any of them? By "any," two rumors, in particular, are meant.

RUMOR NO. 1. Granby Profits are higher by generous greenback fistful than on other standard machines. Exactly how much higher they are can not be told here in this space, but CAN be told promptly, the minute you write or telegraph the factory for information.

RUMOR NO. 2 Constitutes the MYSTERY. We can't describe the mystery in this space. It is not good business practice to do so except to interested dealers. But we'll tell you, the minute you ask and thereby show your interest. (You are not obligated in any way.) This mystery is about to affect EVERY GRANBY OWNER IN THE UNITED STATES, and it will AFFECT EVERY GRANBY PROSPECT WHO IS TO BUY IN THE PRODUCTIVE MONTHS JUST AHEAD.

There is no rumor, of course, in the fact that the Granby Machines are now sold on LIBERAL TERMS. Every dealer who knows what those terms are concedes that fact. Granby terms are LIBERAL, because the Granby Phonograph Corporation is capitalized for $2,500,000, which in turn is secured and backed by the entire $4,500,000 of the American Home Furnishers Corporation of Norfolk, Virginia. Granby can afford to be LIBERAL.

Are the following statements right? You expect profits as a reward for your industry in making many sales. You expect profits as a reward for your ability to keep expenses down. You expect profits as a reward for your wisdom in picking merchandise that SELLS and STAYS SOLD. You expect profits for every penny you invest; good-sized, generous profits. If that is your point of view, Granby thinks you are right. And because we think that you are in business for PROFIT, we offer big PROFITS to you now.

That MYSTERY, which we called "Rumor No. 2," above, has a great deal to do with your profits, whether you become a Granby Dealer or not. . . .

You can listen for yourself to the "Mellow as Southern Moonlight" Granby tone, you can examine the authentic Period Cabinets done in genuine piano-finish 5-ply; we welcome you to give your expert attention to these points. They constitute the final PROFIT element. The Granby Phonograph as a PRODUCT delivers the goods. Let the machine prove it.

Your business sense will tell you what PROFITS you can make out of the Granby line, as soon as you examine the machine from an expert point-of-view, as soon as you get the full facts of the Granby proposition. Will you write us a letter today, and say, "I accept your offer to inform me without obligation on the opportunities for PROFIT in the Granby line. And by the way, what is that MYSTERY?" Use different words, if you like. But shoot along your letter.

ADAM CONSOLE
Lifetime Construction
GRANBY No. 60

OR TELEGRAPH!

GRANBY Phonograph CORPORATION

Capital $2,500,000.00

Offices and Factory

Newport News,

Virginia

business man who makes money in spite of conditions—and there are many such—are those who go out aggressively to make their dollars active.

How to Find the Rate of Turnover

The rate of turnover for a given time depends on just two things:

1. The average amount of money invested in the merchandise.

2. The sales of the merchandise in the period.

Both amounts must be stated in the same terms in order to get a correct result. That is, the average amount invested must be figured both at the cost price and at the selling price. It does not matter much which way they are figured, so far as the accuracy of the result goes, but it does make a decided difference if one of the elements is figured at one price and the other at the other price. The result in that case is a figure that means precisely nothing.

It is obvious, then, that, since these two elements only are involved, the problem of increasing the rate of turnover depends on these two and no others. Hence, one or both of two things must be done:

1. The average amount of money invested in merchandise must be decreased, relative to the volume of sales; or

2. The sales must be increased in a greater ratio than the increase in the merchandise investment.

The rate of turnover may be found by dividing the yearly net sales by the equivalent merchandise investment.

By "equivalent merchandise investment" is meant a constant yearly investment in merchandise which is equivalent to the actual merchandise investment over a period of one year.

This means that the "equivalent merchandise investment" must be expressed in terms of time as well as of money. The fundamental unit in which equivalent investment is expressed is the dollar-year. It may also be expressed in some related unit which is reducible to dollar-years, such as dollar-months or dollar-weeks.

In explanation of this, one dollar invested for one year is a dollar-year. Two dollars invested for six months, or three dollars invested for four months, or fifty cents for two years are all exact equivalents of a dollar-year.

Thus, if you invest $500 in a certain article or commodity twice a year you have an equivalent investment in that particular article of $250. Suppose your sales of this article for the year to be $1,000. By dividing the equivalent investment of $250 into your sales of $1,000 you find that your rate of turnover is four. If you invest $500 in a given article every three months you have an equivalent investment of $125. If your sales of that article for the year amount to $2,000 your rate of turnover is sixteen.

Relation Between Turnover and Profit

A business man pays a certain amount for the goods he sells and he sells them for a certain other amount usually greater than the first. It is the difference between these that determines the success or failure of a business. The merchandise itself is only a means to an end.

For certain reasons a merchant may want to invest as little money as possible in stock. The turnover of this investment, then, becomes of great importance, for he must get his original investment back before he can invest it again. This turnover is dependent largely upon the movement of the goods, but the unit profit and the extension of credit also play an important part. An analysis of the turnover will largely determine the advisability of extending more or less credit and the amount of unit profit necessary with the given investment and the probable sales.

A knowledge of stock turnover by lines enables the business man to segregate the fast-moving lines from those that move slowly. It indicates the commodities for which there is a ready demand, and those for which a demand must be created. This shows him where to concentrate his advertising and sales effort. It enables him to apply different sales methods particularly adapted to the conditions. He can, perhaps, increase the percentage of profit on the slow-moving lines to compensate for the slowness of movement, or possibly by decreasing his margin of profit the movement can be speeded up. His buying can be scheduled so that his stock is always kept at the minimum.

In the final analysis it must be remembered that turnover is not an end in and of itself, but merely a means to an end, namely, yearly net profits. The banker can pay his overhead expenses and declare dividends only by daily turnover of cash on hand. The same problem confronts any business man. His stock must turn a given number of times a year in order to yield a profit.

To exemplify further the close relations between turnover and profit it is necessary only to refer to the ordinary vegetable and fruit market. The proprietor of such a market must turn his stocks daily or they become unsalable. His stocks must sell and sell quickly, for therein lie his profits. Adopt the fruit vendor's methods, make them applicable to your business and then watch the result.

V. T. STEVENS WITH STONE CO.

Well-Known Talking Machine Man Joins Staff of Vocalion Distributor in Northwest

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., September 5.—The Stone Piano Co., of this city, Northwestern distributor for Vocalion phonographs and Vocalion Red records, announces the addition of Vernon T. Stevens to the selling organization in the capacity of Northwestern manager.

Mr. Stevens is well known in the talking machine trade, particularly through his successful methods in popularizing records by means of "plugging" along the same lines as are followed in the sheet music business. He worked on the idea of hooking up records with prominent professional people in the theatrical field, and the result was a substantial increase in business.

The Brunswick Shop, Alhambra, Cal., has moved from 210 West Main street to larger quarters at 409 West Main street, that city.

Vacation Daze

Snap out of it and investigate our claims for Dealers' Service.

Ask any Pearsall dealer—he will tell you.

"Desire to Serve—Plus Ability"

10 EAST 39th ST.

NEW YORK CITY

SILAS E. PEARSALL COMPANY
DISTRIBUTORS

It is easy to sell what you believe in!

THE great success of the phonograph business rests on the fact that in practically every human being is a lively hunger for good music. In the exact degree to which you can satisfy that hunger your sales will increase—no more, no less.

As a phonograph and record merchant are you fully aware of the musical beauty of Columbia Records?

In selling Columbia Records do you know you can truthfully say, "In all the realm of music there is nothing finer than the selections which bear the Columbia mark."

If you can say this with solid conviction and prove it, can't you see how Columbia Records will sell themselves? You can easily prove this fact to yourself so completely that nothing can unsell you. You can prove it to your customers in the same way.

For instance—"A Dream," by Bartlett, Columbia Record A-79287, is one of the most beautiful lyric ballads ever written. As sung by Charles Hackett, it is one of the most beautiful records ever made. Other artists have sung this song for other record makers, giving their interpretations. They are excellent. But Hackett has given it a touch of tender sweetness and sympathy beyond compare. His voice, his way of singing it are exquisitely perfect. When the song is ended and the listener rouses from his reverie he wants that little chunk of rapture for his own.

Do you know this Columbia Record? Have you ever compared it closely with the same selection in any other make? Do it and you'll be absolutely convinced that "A Dream" as Columbia has made it has never been equaled. Make the same comparison for any customer and he will prefer the Columbia rendition to any other. Don't take our word for this. Test it out on yourself or your customers.

Another example—Columbia Record 49666 is a tenor and baritone selection by Hackett and Stracciari of the "Solenne in quest ora" duet from Verdi's opera, "La Forza del Destino." If one is familiar with this song, as made by other record manufacturers, one knows the song to expect. But when one listens to these two magnificent voices as they blend and burst into the enchanting harmonies of this operatic gem he listens fascinated. It is a thrill of complete musical satisfaction that is as rare as it is wonderful.

If you haven't heard this Columbia Record you have a treat ahead. Get it! Let its beauty sink into you. Then get records of the same selection as made by others. They are great, too, but any one with or without a trained ear will say the Columbia recording and the beautiful balance of the voices in the Columbia Record are infinitely better. Play these competing records, one after the other, to any customer, don't tell him which is which, and he will tell you to wrap up the Columbia.

Columbia

Are you aware of the veritable gold mine of fine music which Columbia Records offer you as customer winners and profit makers?

Are you able right now to play for your customers a programme that will give them a fair idea of the excellence of Columbia music?

If you want to stamp Columbia quality into the minds of your customers so they will never forget it, we suggest you order the following Columbia Records, then get their competitors and make a demonstration. Play them incognito and you'll be more than surprised at the result.

"A Dream." Tenor Solo. Charles Hackett. 79287. "Souvenir." Violin Solo. Kerekjarto. 79708.

"La Forza del Destino" "Fiddle and I." Soprano (Solenne in quest ora). Solo. Hulda Lashanska. Hackett and Stracciari. 78391. 49666.

"Pirate Dreams." Soprano Solo. Rosa Ponselle. 49571. "One Fine Day." Soprano Solo. Hulda Lashanska. 77878.

After all, you and Columbia are not selling records. We are in the wonderful business of selling happiness, pleasure, amusement. The name Columbia on the record, the name of the selection, the name of the artist are so many handles by which the buyer grasps identification.

Records

Columbia Graphophone Co.
New York

The ALBUM method EXCELS all other RECORD FILING systems EVER TRIED

SELECTING THEIR FAVORITES

To the Trade:

Our Record Album factory—all or any part of it—is at your command. Hundreds of customers can and will gladly testify as to the good quality of our production.

Our large and growing business is due to satisfied customers and repeat orders.

Imprint (firm name or trade mark) stamped on covers if desired when orders are sufficiently large to justify it.

OUR ALBUMS ARE MADE TO CONTAIN VICTOR, COLUMBIA, EDISON, PATHE, VOCALION AND ALL OTHER DISC RECORDS

THE PERFECT PLAN

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., 239 S. American St., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

New York Office, 54 Franklin Street, Telephone, Franklin 1227, James E. Maguire, Representative

A. H. CURRY MAKES 2,000-MILE BUSINESS TRIP BY AIR

Vice-president of Thos. A. Edison, Inc., Journeys From San Antonio, Tex., to St. Louis by Airplane—Returns Home Pleased With General Conditions and Prospects

A. H. Curry, vice-president of Thos. A. Edison, Inc., is credited with introducing an innovation in the matter of transportation while making a tour of the country recently for the purpose of visiting various Edison jobbers when he traveled 2,000 miles through the West by airplane.

A. H. and N. C. Curry Ready to Start

Mr. Curry started his air journey from Stinson Field, San Antonio, accompanied by his brother, Capt. N. C. Curry, of Dallas, and with Gene Willard as pilot. The first stop was Dallas, which was reached in three hours from San Antonio, the plane traveling at an average speed of 100 miles per hour. Then, in order, Mr. Curry traveled by air from Dallas to Denver, Des Moines, Iowa; Kansas City, and finally to St. Louis, from which point he returned to New York by rail. In all the airplane covered approximately 2,000 miles of territory.

"My trip was just an exemplification of the age's swiftness," declared Mr. Curry. "I was on an inspection trip that required hurry, therefore the airplane. Our company may use this mode of travel more extensively in the future, for it certainly has every advantage over the train for distance travel."

Mr. Curry is a Texan, and while in Dallas visited a number of his relatives and acquaintances.

One of the accompanying photographs shows Mr. Curry and his brother ready to

The End of the Journey

"take off" from San Antonio. The other shows Mr. Curry and his brother being welcomed by J. K. Patterson, of the Texas-Oklahoma Phonograph Co., and A. F. Beyer, of San Antonio.

Upon his return to the headquarters of Thos.

A. Edison, Inc., in Orange, Mr. Curry expressed his enthusiasm regarding the results of his trip. He reported the conditions improving steadily throughout the West, particularly in the agricultural sections, where bumper crops are the rule, and stated that both jobbers and dealers in Edison phonographs and Re-Creations were of one mind regarding the prospects for a most substantial Fall trade.

He found stocks to be in fair shape, with the dealers inclined to order very liberally in anticipation of future requirements, and offered the opinion that the problem for the next few months would likely be one of getting sufficient goods, rather than one of selling.

FIRE DAMAGES FREEMAN CO.

Talking Machine Cabinets and Metal Accessories Damaged and Destroyed

NASHVILLE, TENN., August 30.—The Freeman Talking Machine Co., of this city, and another concern in the same building were considerably damaged by fire recently.

The fire was confined to the cabinet and furnishing room, where the fire started, and where many of the cabinets and metal parts of talking machines were either destroyed by fire or ruined by water.

On the second floor was stored a lot of cypress wood used in the manufacture of cabinets, which was partially destroyed. The fire was the second one in the same building in the last few years. Damage to the two concerns was estimated at $25,000. Partial insurance was carried on the premises.

F. F. Christine, proprietor of the Stroudsburg Music Co., Stroudsburg, Pa., recently tendered a picnic to his employes at North Water Gap. An elaborate dinner was one of the features.

Quality and Price = Satisfaction

The Reputation of Boston albums has been built upon Quality and Price. The quality is of the highest possible kind and the price is the fairest.

When two factors such as these stated above are combined there is only one result—Absolute Satisfaction.

Absolute Satisfaction to one's self and his customers means a steady influx of good business.

Boston albums are conducive to good business. Do you handle them?

BOSTON BOOK COMPANY
501-509 PLYMOUTH COURT CHICAGO, ILL.

Splendid Recordings of Leading European Orchestras Exclusively on

OKeh
 and
ODEON

For real beauty and irresistible appeal try our imported European Recordings. Your customers are shopping nowadays for specialties of the kind we are offering below.

DAJOS BELA and His Orchestra

12 inch—$1.25

3008 { Bummel Petrus (Jolly Peter), Intermezzo
 The Wedding of Sleeping Beauty

The one unsurpassed masterpiece of delightful melodies.

MAREK WEBER from the Esplanade Hotel, Berlin plays famous Strauss Waltzes and up-to-date drawing room music

 12 inch—$1.25

3017 { Blue Danube Waltz (Johann Strauss)
 Southern Roses Waltz (Johann Strauss)

85019 { Greetings of Love Under the Lindentree

85022 { London Fox Erato, Boston Waltz

85023 { Dreaming, Waltz Please, Waltz

85028 { Boston Waltz The Red Mill, Fox Trot

MELODIOUS POPULAR CLASSICS

3016 { La Boheme, Part 1, European Symphony Orchestra
 La Boheme, Part 2, European Symphony Orchestra

3015 { Fifth Symphony (Beethoven), First Movement: Allegro con Brio, Part 1
 Fifth Symphony (Beethoven), First Movement: Allegro con Brio, Part 2

3004 { Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2, Part 1, European Symphony Orchestra
 Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2, Part 2, European Symphony Orchestra

3005 { Raymond Overture, Part 1, European Symphony Orchestra
 Raymond Overture, Part 11, European Symphony Orchestra

3006 { Peer Gynt Suite—Solvejg's Song, M. Michailow, Violin solo
 Poeme, M. Michailow, Violin solo

3009 { Rigoletto—Fantasia, Part 1, European Concert Band
 Rigoletto—Fantasia, Part 2, European Concert Band

FOREIGN LANGUAGE ODEON RECORDS

Our foreign language records have a quality of tone and genuine reproduction which makes them the favorite in their class among foreign record buyers.

Ask for our new catalogues in the following languages:

Bohemian
 French

German
 Greek

Hebrew—Jewish
 Hungarian

Italian
 Mexican

Polish
 Scandinavian

Serbian
 Turkish

General Phonograph Corporation

OTTO HEINEMAN, PRESIDENT

25 West 45th Street, New York City

RADIO ATTRACTS PUBLIC TO STORE

Brunswick Phonograph Shop, San Antonio, Tex., Installs Receiving Apparatus for Benefit of Patrons—Other Effective Ideas Used by This Concern Help to Build Prestige.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., September 6.—A radio set installed in a talking machine record demonstration room is attracting many customers to the Brunswick Phonograph Shop, according to Charles A. Meyer, proprietor. Following the recent installation of a radio department at this establishment a radio receiving set was installed and every provision for the comfort of patrons who drop in to hear the concerts is made.

The members of the sales force of this live-wire organization are all musicians of considerable ability and they have formed a stringed instrument orchestra of their own. If the plans of Mr. Meyer for the installation of a broadcasting station in his establishment materialize this orchestra will be conspicuous on the musical programs which will be sent out by radio.

The Brunswick Phonograph Shop is also the headquarters of the Lone Star Radio Club, composed of the radio amateurs of the city. A workroom is being fitted up in the store for the use of the fans. All of these things have been instrumental in building the good will and prestige which the Brunswick Shop enjoys in this city.

GRUBBS' MUSIC SHOPPE BANKRUPT

Toledo Music Concern Files Petition—Liabilities Set at $6,000, Assets $2,000

TOLEDO, O., August 30.—Grubbs' Music Shoppe, 411 St. Clair street, W. A. Grubbs, proprietor, filed a petition in bankruptcy with Fordyce Belford, referee in bankruptcy in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio.

Liabilities are given as approximately $6,000, with assets of perhaps $2,000. The heaviest creditors are the E. H. Close Realty Co., Columbia Graphophone Co. and several sheet music publishers.

Grubbs' Music Shoppe dealt in music rolls, sheet music and talking machines.

DEATH OF MRS. EISENBRANDT

Wife of W. D. Eisenbrandt, Victor Wholesaler, of Baltimore, Passed Away Recently

BALTIMORE, MD., September 4.—Mrs. Elise S. A. Eisenbrandt, wife of W. D. Eisenbrandt, local Victor wholesaler, died August 20 at her home at Mt. Washington after a brief illness. Mrs. Eisenbrandt, who was a daughter of the late A. H. and Anna Marie Schulz, was well known in musical circles in Baltimore and vicinity, and her charming personality had won for her a host of warm friends. Besides her husband, she is survived by her two daughters.

GOOD GRAFONOLA SALES

Connecticut Columbia Dealers Doing Exceedingly Well With This Line

NEW BRITAIN, CONN., September 7.—Last December John A. Andrews & Co., Columbia dealers, installed a complete Grafonola department and through the use of energetic sales methods and aggressive publicity have sold hundreds of Grafonolas in this section. In connection with a recent newspaper advertising campaign Manager Rheinhold, of the Grafonola department, states that thirty-one Grafonolas were sold. Mr. Rheinhold is not only enthusiastic regarding this showing, but believes that the outlook for Fall and Winter trade is unusually promising.

Gus Haenschen and J. O'Keefe, of the Brunswick Recording Laboratory, New York City, have been enjoying a cruise of the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes in their new yacht, Brunswick.

PREPARING FOR CONVENTION OF OHIO ASSOCIATION

Committees Appointed to Look After Various Details of Forthcoming Annual Gathering of the Music Merchants' Association of Ohio—Prominent Trade Members on Program

TOLEDO, OHIO, August 31.—At a special meeting of the Toledo Music Merchants' Association, held here recently, for the purpose of shaping matters for the forthcoming convention at the Hotel Secor, September 26 and 27, of the Music Merchants' Association of Ohio, President Fred N. Goosman named the following committees: Entertainment, Henry C. Wildermuth, Henry F. Stucke, Paul Hayes and Frank Frazelle; Reception, W. W. Smith, Preston P. Brown, David Blaine and Carl Rule. These groups will co-operate with State officials in every way in order to make the convention of direct benefit to every delegate.

Assurance has been given that many visitors from outside the State of Ohio will attend the gathering of business men. A goodly number of hotel reservations have already been made. Chicago is planning to send a special car of delegates under the leadership of Matt Kennedy, of the Chicago Piano Club.

That all visitors will be amply repaid for their time and efforts is assured beyond a doubt. There will be plenty of entertainment for those seeking diversion and a large quantity of substantial business-building material for the merchant in search of helps and plans which he can apply to his own problems. The roster of speakers is a noteworthy one and gives assurance of the high caliber of the convention topics.

The principal address of the convention will be delivered by George W. Pound, general counsel of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce, New York. Other widely known leaders who have accepted invitations to address the convention are: Richard W. Lawrence, president of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce; Edwin R. Butler, president of National Association of Music Merchants; C. C. Adams, president of the Illinois Music

Merchants' Association; C. M. Tremaine, director of the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music; Bradford Mills, Toledo, president of the Federated Music Teachers' Association; A. C. Grinnell, vice-president of the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce and past president of the National Association of Music Merchants.

Rex Hyre, Cleveland, secretary of the Music Merchants' Association of Ohio, was among those who attended the Toledo meeting.

Exhibitors will be afforded every opportunity for displaying their products. No doubt a large number of manufacturers will avail themselves of this chance to get in touch with a goodly number of customers and prospects. Already several have reserved space, among them Hallet & Davis Piano Co., Bush & Lane Piano Co., Auto Pneumatic Action Co., Steger & Sons and Cable-Nelson.

The golf tournament will be played at the widely known links of the Inverness Club. Carl Landgraf, secretary of the J. W. Greene Co., has this contest in charge. All contestants must register before the day of the convention.

On Tuesday noon, September 26, convention delegates will be the guests of the local Exchange Club. Fred N. Goosman was recently installed as president of the club.

The Toledo Music Merchants' Association, through its president, Henry F. Stucke, of Grinnell Bros., is co-operating in a large way to make the convention a success. They have chartered the "City of Toledo," one of the large lake steamers, for a moonlight ride on Lake Eric. They also have other plans under development which they will announce shortly.

E. R. Laughead, Hallet & Davis Piano Co., was in conference recently with President Fred N. Goosman relative to convention matters.

THE SATISFIED CUSTOMER IS THE DEALER'S GREATEST ASSET

Federal RADIO INSTRUMENTS

ARE MOST SATISFACTORY In Design, Finish, Simplicity of Operation and GENERAL RESULTS

We Manufacture a Complete Line of RADIO Instruments and Parts, all of which typify FEDERAL QUALITY and TRADITION.

FEDERAL CRYSTAL RECEIVER

FEDERAL JUNIOR AMPLIFIER

TO THE DEALER

You may be assured of SATISFIED CUSTOMERS if you sell FEDERAL apparatus. Write for DEALER'S discounts.

Federal Telephone and Telegraph Company
BUFFALO, NEW YORK

Just compare any record of any make with the needle cut Pathe Actuelle and then you will know why the Pathe Actuelle is—

The Best Record in the World

Play on any phonograph with steel needles

For Example, try

Dancing Fool.....	No. 020802
Three o'Clock In The Morning.....	No. 020791
Parade of the Wooden Soldiers.....	No. 020780
Romany Love.....	No. 020777
"Stumbling".....	No. 020746
Say It While Dancing.....	No. 020799

Pathé
Actuelle
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

2 for $1.00 - 55c each

(59c in Rocky Mountain States)

Partial List of Famous Artists—

Tito Schipa
Yvonne Gall
Adamo Didur
Margarethe Matzenauer
Rudolph Ganz
Anna Fitziu
Eleonora de Cisneros
Claudia Muzio
Luigi Montesanto
Kathleen Howard
David Bispham
Grace Hoffman
Alexander Debruille
Helen Yorke
Roberto Rotondo

DEALERS—

If you don't act quick your neighbor will be selling Actuelle Records. Write to us at once for information regarding the Blue Ribbon Order.

PATHÉ FRÈRES PHONOGRAPH CO.

20 Grand Avenue

Brooklyn, New York

Why Not Stage a "Keep-the-Children-Home-Nights" Exposition in Your Store? :: By F. H. Williams

With the approach of Fall and the resumption of school activities the same old problem presents itself to the parents of young people who are in school, namely, how to keep the children home at nights.

In the Summertime, when there are band concerts in the parks, picnics to claim attention and week-ends at nearby lake and river resorts, it is not to be expected that the young people will stay home. But when Fall comes and school begins it is up to the young people to get busy and study at night and not waste all their time at poolrooms and dance halls.

Because this is a very real problem, which troubles a big percentage of all the parents, and because the remedy is to be found at the store of the talking machine dealer it does seem as though he should cash in on this situation this year to the utmost extent possible.

The remedy, of course, is for parents to buy talking machines and records and by their use not only keep the young people at home, but get them to bring their friends to the house where the parents can see just who and what sort of friends they are. Young people will stay home when there is music in the house—this fact has been proved time and again—and parents who realize that talking machines will do this are not slow in purchasing machines. So it is evident that the dealer who brings all this home to the parents most forcefully through advertising or by personal letters is certain to get some good business.

Why don't YOU plan to do this, Mr. Talking Machine Dealer?

Here are some of the ways in which you can bring this proposition to the attention of the parents and some of the ways in which you can make it a profitable business proposition.

A very effective and quite unusual method of getting this subject before the parents of the city, so that it would create a lot of comment and thereby enjoy a tremendous lot of highly valuable word-of-mouth advertising, would be that of devoting a week to a "Keep-Children-at-Home-Nights" Exposition in your store.

The object of the exposition would be, of Various Means of Emphasizing the Value of the Talking Machines as a Power for Good in the Community course, to show how a talking machine keeps children at home some, if not all, the nights during the Fall and Winter, and how much benefit the children derive from staying home.

In starting the exposition it would be a good plan to secure a lot of short interviews from parents who have purchased "talkers" from your store, using their actual experiences with machines in making home so pleasant for the youngsters that they didn't want to go out in the evenings. These interviews need not carry the names of the people giving them—they should be brief and placed on placards which could be placed at prominent positions about the store.

The next thing to do would be to arrange an attractive display of the same styles of talking machines used by the people giving the interviews. This would give pith and point to the display. It would be also a good plan to have a display of the records which have been found most successful by parents in arousing the interest of the young people. Such records would, very probably, be dance records, popular vocal selections and popular music of all sorts.

The third thing to do in perfecting plans for an exposition would be to get data from school authorities as to the effect on school work of children staying home nights, in contrast with those in the habit of going nightly to poolrooms and dance halls. School authorities could quickly show how much more efficient the home-keeping students are than the other kind and these facts could be presented in short, snappy paragraphs on placards placed close together near the display of talking machines for the home. A great many parents would find this information most interesting. It would be an entirely new slant on the results to be secured by keeping the young people at home nights.

Another good idea would be to prepare some sample programs for the evenings to be spent at home, on which there could be apportioned time for the young people to spend in study, time for dancing, time for hearing vocal selec-

(Continued on page 22)

The Recent Chicago Radio Show

Resulted in quantity orders from concerns ranging from Florida to California on—

THE RADIO BUILDER SET

Shipped to customer in "knock-down" form and requiring only a screwdriver and a few moments to complete its assembly.

When finished it provides a vacuum tube set which is very selective, giving extremely loud and undistorted signals.

Price - $25.00

SOME DEALER PROPOSITIONS STILL OPEN

The above type set is available in one, two and three tube form.

RAYMOND RADIO CORPORATION

Manufacturers to the Radio Industry

Offices: 309 Lafayette Street, N. Y.

Works: Farmingdale, L. I.

STAGE A "HOME NIGHTS" EXPOSITION

(Continued from page 21)

tions and the better class of music, time for games and time for a final dance. Different programs for each night could be outlined and they should be played up strongly on signs which could be used on the walls and windows of the store. While it is altogether likely that few, if any, people would follow out the programs exactly outlined, still every one who came into the store would be interested in looking them over and they might get ideas out of the programs which they could use to good advantage in their own homes—this means stimulating record sales.

To let people know about your "Keep-Children-at-Home-Nights" Exposition use newspaper advertising for the event and also play up the affair by means of interesting and attractive cards in your window displays. Such advertising should tell frankly just what the exposition is designed to do—help parents in their efforts to keep their children at home on schools nights. Each person in the city who is interested in this problem should be invited to attend regardless of whether or not he or she is interested in the purchase of a talking machine.

If you have a mailing list of prospects send a letter to the names on this list telling about the exposition. Also it would be a good idea to obtain from the principal of your local high school a list of the parents of the children in the school and to phone to these parents an invitation to attend the exposition. If you frankly explain to the high school principal just why you want the list of names of parents of high school pupils he would be very glad to cooperate with you as, of course, it would help the school officials greatly to have the children devote their evenings to studying at home. Then why not get in touch with the presidents of the local women's clubs and extend to these clubs an invitation to attend the exposition. It might even be possible to get some of the women's club presidents, the principal of the local high school, the superintendent of public schools and some of the other civic leaders to give endorsements of the exposition which you could incorporate in your advertising for the affair.

Get the local newspapers to run some news stories about the proposition. The object is constructive and interests a big percentage of all the population in the city and would be considered as real news by readers.

To start off the Fall season with an exposition of this kind would give the dealer a talking point with parents of young people and so would be a constant, all-year business booster. Hence, arrange to stage a "Keep-the-Children-Home-Nights Exposition" in your store. And do it NOW!

ALTERATIONS AT LONG MUSIC HOUSE

Prominent Pasadena Music Concern Making Extensive Changes to Establishment

PASADENA, CAL., September 2.—Extensive alterations are now being made at the Long Music House, 15 West Colorado street, this city. When completed the Long Music Store will be one of the most modern institutions of its kind to be found in any city on the Pacific Coast. The work will consume about a month's time and when completed it is probable that a formal opening, to which the public will be invited, will be held.

The whole interior of the store is to be changed and modern built-in glass display cases will be a feature. The front also will be remodeled and will be one of the most attractive on Colorado street. A large balcony is to be constructed, upon which will be located booths for reproducing pianos and talking machines. On the main floor will be located ten or more booths for record demonstrations. One of the features will be the inviting lobby and another will be a large auditorium in the rear. An expensive ventilating system is to be installed and cool air will be circulated throughout the store and the booths.

UNIQUE PUBLICITY STUNT

Clown Rolling Giant Columbia Record Attracts Much Attention

SAVANNAH, GA., August 31.—J. E. Baxley, manager of the Grafonola department of Haverty's Furniture Co., recently conceived a unique ad-

Columbia Clown and His Giant Record advertising stunt which is shown in the accompanying illustration. Mr. Baxley sent this clown all over town rolling a giant Columbia record, featuring one of the latest hits. The stunt produced excellent results.

OPEN NEW VICTOR STORE

T. S. Crosby & Son, furniture dealers, of Coshocton, N. Y., have opened a new talking machine department, in which the Victor line is featured.

This Fall they will buy Regal 50c Records

These people are record buyers. They are looking for value.

Each day thousands of them discover Regal's exceptional quality.

They buy. They pass the word to their friends and their friends buy. Eventually they will all buy.

They shift their preference to Regal because Regal serves their purpose and saves their money. Regal gives them the quality they want at the price they are willing to pay—75c worth of record value for 50c—in every way.

That value is the secret of Regal's splendid success and Regal dealers everywhere are satisfied with the results—profitable results.

The way is open for you too. Write for an exclusive territorial arrangement.

REGAL RECORD CO., Inc.

20 West 20th Street

New York

See record index for current Regal list

HONEST QUAKER

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Office)

MAIN SPRINGS

Write for a copy of our HONEST QUAKER Main Springs and QUAKER Mica Diaphragms chart!

- a size for every motor.
- packed in individual dust-proof, rust-proof containers, neatly labeled, with complete information for your convenience.
- unconditionally guaranteed to be perfect in every respect.

“And they cost no more than ordinary springs”

Everybody's Makers of—Honest Quaker Main Springs
 Umantone Needles
 A Complete Line of Talking Machine
 Repair Materials
 810 Arch Street, PHILADELPHIA

Canadian Distributors:

H. A. BEMISTER, Montreal

GEO. L. LAING & CO., Toronto

The Opportunities for the Sale of Talking Machines Throughout Cuba :: By Russell R. Voorhees

What are the chances of increasing the sale of American-made phonographs in Cuba? That question has most likely been asked often by American phonograph manufacturers because of the closeness of the island and also because of the ease with which merchandise can be shipped there. It can be quickly answered by saying that the chances for increasing the sale of American-made phonographs in Cuba are at this writing both good and bad. That seems strange, to say the least, but it is nevertheless true, as a little thought will prove.

In the first place the sale of merchandise in any country is dependent to a great degree on the amount of wealth which that country produces. To this can be added the amount of wealth that the tourist leaves in the country as he passes through. From this viewpoint Cuba is not a very good market for phonographs at this time because her chief source of wealth, sugar, is more or less upset both as to price and as to demand. Her other big crop, tobacco, is showing an improvement, but at the same time it is not what it should be. An insight into the situation can be obtained from the fact that men who cut the sugar cane in the field now get 40 cents a day, in comparison to $2 a day a year or two back. From this it can be seen that the wealth now being produced in Cuba is not very great. Economic conditions in Cuba are very much upset, although they are to-day better than they were a year ago or even six months ago. But at that Cuba is not producing wealth enough to put it in the class of merchandise purchasers to any extent.

The tourist is visiting Cuba and leaving money, to be sure, but no country the size of Cuba can develop itself on the tourist business alone. The money the tourist is spending is helping the situation, but that is about all that can be said.

And so it is not hard to see why Cuba is not much of a market for American-made talking machines at this writing. But, while the present situation is not very pleasant as far as increased business is concerned, it is not hard to see a bright future for increased business.

The population of the island of Cuba is about 3,000,000. Outside of Havana and Santiago there are few, if any, cities that amount to a great deal. True, there are so-called cities of 25,000 population, but a Cuban city of that size is far from being like a city in the United States of the same size. It can truly be said that the mass of the Cuban population lives outside of the cities and is of the peon type, which means that they are poor. Their hovels or huts do not contain the rudiments of comfort such as we in the States know them to be. They represent the great purchasing power of Cuba that has never been developed, and it is to this that I am looking more than to the people concentrated in Havana and the other cities.

Cuba is bound to progress, and as she progresses, which means as she produces more wealth, she will be a better customer for American-made talking machines. The peon or peasant will not be satisfied with his hovel and improvised home furnishings when he begins to earn more and have more. Then he will want better things and more of them. And not only that, but he will begin to look for some recreation, which has been so long denied to him because of poverty. Talking machines fall naturally in this class, and someone will get the business of the island when it reaches the point where it can buy them. The American talking machine manufacturer might as well get in and get this business. That class of Cuban represents half of the population of the island, so the value of cultivating it can easily be seen.

The balance of the population, very largely concentrated in Havana and the other cities, and which knows something of the comforts of modern living, are also possible customers. While they already know what phonographs are and have them in many instances, still there are many who have not, but who are possible customers. As business improves in the island and as greater and greater wealth is produced their demands will increase accordingly.

The one thing that is a happy feature is that the Cuban is a spender. Money goes about as fast as it comes, regardless of how slow or fast it comes, and not only does he spend, but he likes to spend. So it is just a question of catching him when he has money and selling him then.

From this it can be seen that Cuba offers opportunities that, while they do not exist today, are well worth watching for, so as to be ready when they do break. It is just a question of waiting until conditions in general improve and until Cuba produces a greater wealth, when it will be possible to sell more "talkers" there.

But there is still another field for the sale of machines in Cuba. It would be a difficult matter to find a country with more eating places than are in Cuba. Havana appears to be overstocked with cafes and eating places, but they all appear to be doing a fair business, to say the least. Some of them have talking machines, but many have not, and here is a market for cheap machines. I noticed that many of the cafes had small phonographs that sold for around $10 to $15. For the most part they use Spanish records, although a good lively American number is occasionally heard. Without a doubt, many of the cafes that do not have a talking machine could be induced to buy one, especially if some sort of a time payment proposition could be arranged, such as is the practice in the United States. It seems that a "talker" in the cafes is a great attraction, especially during its early life, and so there appears to be some worth-while reason why the proprietors should buy one.

It is well to remember that the Cuban is a lover of music, and some of the finest bands in the world are to be found in Havana. They rank, unquestionably, with the best. The interest that is taken in the Sunday afternoon concerts in the public parks in Havana and other cities is enough to prove that the Cuban likes music. And the phonograph will give him just what he wants in his home.

But in the selling of phonographs there is a trick. Cuba is a country that appears to be run for the benefit of Cubans. It is next to impossible to do business with them direct, so American manufacturers of talking machines seeking to enter that field or to extend their sales there should seek some connection that is Cuban. There seems to be little if any dislike for American goods; it is just a question of doing business with Americans, that's all. And so it would be well while conditions are somewhat unsettled and upset to look into the possibilities that the island offers and thus be ready when they are ready.

Shipments to Cuba are a very easy matter.

(Continued on page 26)

Cuba Offers Opportunities, Now Latent, Well Worth Watching so as to Be in Readiness When They Break

BRUNS
MADERITE

MADERITE
WATERPROOF
PHONOGRAPH MOVING COVERS

Cover, Straps Attached

A cover that will fully protect against damage in delivery and against the ravages of inclement weather.

Why be troubled with packing and unpacking? Why not just slip a MADERITE Padded Delivery Cover over the machine? No fuss, no dirt and positive insurance against damage incident to delivery.

The use of the BRUNS MADERITE Covers, made of highest grade waterproof fabric, heavily padded, is not only serviceable but profitable. This cover is highly recommended.

Consult your regular jobber or write us for sample of cloth and prices.

A. BRUNS & SONS
50 Ralph Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Manufacturers of Everything Made of Canvas

A. BRUNS & SONS
50 RALPH AVE.
BROOKLYN
N. Y.

"Genius is but the infinite capacity for taking pains"

In assembling The Cheney motor the holes drilled and reamed in The Cheney motor frame become the bearing points for spindles and gears. The assembly of The Cheney motor is a very delicate and exacting operation.

This is the drill jig which makes it possible for the operator of the multiple spindle drill to work so quickly and accurately. It is made from seasoned grey iron and bushed with hardened tool steel and ground bushings, which play the important part of keeping the holes accurately spaced during the multiple drilling and reaming operations.

Through these little holes the drills pass and bore their way into the motor frame housing, combining speed and utmost accuracy.

How 15 Holes of Different Sizes are Drilled in less than a minute in a Cheney Motor Frame

It is a cardinal principle in The Cheney motor factory that accuracy must never be sacrificed for speed. That does not preclude the use of the most modern inventions for cutting down production costs.

Illustrated above is a multiple spindle drill which makes it possible for an operator to drill fifteen holes of different sizes in a Cheney motor frame in less time than it takes to tell it. Every hole is absolutely accurate to the thousandth of an inch, not only in diameter but in spacing as well.

It is through the use of such efficient methods as this that The Cheney Talking Machine Company has been able to produce instruments with a reputation for highest quality, and yet to keep prices at a level no higher than that of the ordinary phonograph.

THE CHENEY TALKING MACHINE COMPANY • CHICAGO

The CHENEY

THE MASTER INSTRUMENT

"The Longer You Play It, the Sweeter It Grows"

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES IN CUBA

(Continued from page 24)

Talking machines can be loaded into freight cars at the factory in America and run to Key West, where they are run onto special boats that take them direct to Havana, a matter of only seven hours. From Havana they can be run to any part of the island, arriving at their destination just as they were packed at the factory in America. Of course, they can be shipped by water as well, but that means extra handling.

As far as the railroads in Cuba are concerned it is safe to say that they are as efficient as many roads in the States and will give excellent service. Many words of commendation are heard in Cuba and elsewhere about the Cuban railroads.

In conclusion it is safe to say that Cuba offers a market for American talking machines, if not to-day, then to-morrow. They like music and are willing to spend money to have it in their homes. Just now money is none too plentiful, but when conditions improve, and that is the case right now, money will be more plentiful. And when money becomes more plentiful the buying season will start. Talking machines of all prices can then be sold in Cuba. Someone will get this business. Will it be American manufacturers? That remains to be seen. As for Cuba, it is not a manufacturing country, and so must buy from someone.

NEW VOCALION RECORD DISTRIBUTORS

Strevell-Paterson Hardware Co. to Handle Line in Salt Lake City

The Strevell-Paterson Hardware Co., the prominent concern in Salt Lake City, Utah, has been appointed distributor in that territory for the Vocalion Red Records manufactured by the Aeolian Co. This and other additions to the list of distributors serve to complete a chain of wholesale representatives that covers the country very thoroughly.

BECOMES COLUMBIA DEALER

NEW ORLEANS, LA., September 6.—D. A. Barre, at one time connected with the bookkeeping department of the local branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co. and more recently field representative, resigned his position recently to become an exclusive Columbia dealer. Mr. Barre is opening up an attractive store at 1509 Dryades, under the name of the Barre Music Shop, and his thorough knowledge of Columbia product should enable him to attain unusual success in his new venture.

MAIL AS AN AID TO RURAL TRADE

Dealers Can Obtain Much Business From Farmers Now Going to Mail Order Houses by Utilizing Mails to Establish Contact

An almost entirely undeveloped opportunity for the talking machine dealer lies in the rural districts surrounding his community which he finds impossible to make personal contact with. The great mail-order houses of the country are capturing much business from the farmers which should go to the dealer in the nearest city with the expenditure of a little effort. If the mail-order houses can get the talking machine and record business of the farmers it is logical to assume that the talking machine dealer is in a better position to do so.

In going after this trade the merchant has the distinct advantage of being much closer to the farmer. He can advertise in the papers which reach the farmers in his community and when he has worked up his prospect list he can make a much closer contact with the rural dweller because of the fact that, while the mail-order houses handle a large variety of goods, the talking machine dealer is, in a manner of speaking, a specialist.

He can keep the farmer supplied with the latest record supplements and can make more direct appeals by letter, whereas the mail-order house depends for sales mainly upon catalogs issued at stated intervals. This plan is at least worth trying and if put into effect intelligently new customers and increased sales should result.

WHITEMAN NAILS FALSE RUMORS

Orchestra Leader Denies Emphatically Making Records for Any Company Other Than the Victor Talking Machine Co.

In a recent statement Paul Whiteman, famous orchestra leader, denied most emphatically rumors to the effect that he and members of his orchestra had made records for concerns other than the Victor Co. In his statement Mr. Whiteman said:

"Within the past several weeks there have been many rumors to the effect that members of my orchestra and myself are making records for companies other than the Victor Talking Machine Co.

"It is insinuated that either individually or collectively we are recording under assumed names. It would be greatly appreciated by me, as well as members of my orchestra, if you would publish an absolute denial of the rumor.

"Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra is an ex-

IN THE HANDY CAN

W. F. NYE
NEW BEDFORD, MASS. U.S.A.

NYOIL

FOR YOUR
PHONOGRAPH

Made in Our Watch Oil DEPARTMENT which for half a century has made 80% of all the watch, clock and chronometer oil used in America.

The Best Oil For Any Talking Machine

In refining, Nyoil is given the same care as our famous watch oil receives. All gums and impurities are removed, leaving it

Colorless, Odorless and Stainless.

Housekeepers say they would not be without Nyoil because it is best for phonographs and sewing machines—for polishing furniture and woodwork and is odorless and will not stain. It is free from acid and will not gum, or become rancid. Sportsmen find it best for guns because it prevents rust.

NYOIL is put up in 1-oz., 3-oz. and 8-oz. Bottles and in Quart and Gallon Cans.

For Sale by all Talking Machine Supplies Dealers
WILLIAM F. NYE, New Bedford, Mass., U.S.A.

clusive Victor organization and will remain exclusively Victor. I have been approached with other propositions, but in every instance I have made my position very clear and have stated definitely that I am not interested."

LARGER QUARTERS IN EL PASO

EL PASO, TEX., September 2.—The Del Norte Talking Machine Co. has moved from San Francisco street to new and larger quarters at 331 South El Paso street. The new quarters have been remodeled at considerable expense and provide practically double the facilities of the old store.

The stockholders of the Del Norte Talking Machine Co. are: Alberto Solis, L. G. Fernandez and W. J. Geck. Mr. Solis was for over ten years with W. G. Walz & Co., Victor, wholesalers in this city.

BROOKS CO. CREDITORS MEET

SAGINAW, MICH., September 2.—The first meeting of the creditors of the Brooks Mfg. Co., talking machine manufacturer, which was adjudicated bankrupt on August 18, was held in the offices of Cook & Cook, 205 Eddy Building, this city, on Tuesday, August 29, at 9 o'clock, when creditors proved their claims, appointed a trustee and examined the bankrupt.

THE NEW PHILLIPS OCTAGON THROW BACK ARM No. 5

Deep Full Tone

Also equipped with our regular
No. 3 Reproducer if desired

Tone Arm measures 8½ in., and
9 in. from centre to centre

Tone Arms and Sound Boxes
complete from $2.00 up

For Portables 6½ to 8 inches

CAN BE EQUIPPED WITH AUTOMATIC STOP

Quantity Prices on Request

The William Phillips Phono Parts Corp.

Manufacturers of Tone Arms for Portable, Medium and High Grade Machines

145 West Forty-fifth Street

New York City

THE DANGER AHEAD

and

HOW TO MEET IT

The Danger Ahead is in the supply of Victor goods not meeting the demand. Dealers' stocks of Victrolas are more depleted than ever at this time of year. Over-confidence on the part of Victor Dealers in the ability of Victor Distributors to supply them with goods as wanted, with the uncertainty as to new type Victrolas, has contributed to a "hand-to-mouth" buying attitude.

The recent announcement of the new flat-top Victrolas and the assurance of no further change in price or styles between now and January 1st has resulted in a sudden demand, and a shortage of Victrolas for the holidays seems inevitable. Never before was the Victor line so well prepared to meet competition. The necessity of Victor Dealers being prepared is most apparent. The Danger Ahead is an extreme shortage. How to meet it is the problem.

Supplementing the largest and most complete stock of Victrolas that we have ever had at this time of year, we have placed additional orders with the factory for the largest quantity of goods ever ordered by us for the Fall and holiday season. Blackman Dealers are going to be in an enviable position if they will co-operate with us.

Place an order NOW for estimated requirements of all Victrolas for delivery during September, October, November and December.

It has always been the Blackman policy to respect the wishes of our dealers in permitting them to rearrange advance orders according to current needs.

Continued business relations under the Blackman policy have always been on a basis of mutual satisfaction, so, while we do not guarantee delivery and therefore permit cancellations, the moral obligation on our part is always highly respected, and dealers who co-operate with us by placing advance orders are entitled to first consideration.

Concentrate with us as your Victor Distributor and make us feel obligated to take care of you, not only in the supply of goods, but with an ample extension of credit.

If you are a Blackman Dealer, stick closer than ever. If you are not, now is the time for us to get together. Concentrate on the Victor line this year through Blackman, and you will successfully meet the Danger Ahead. We are going to be prepared, and Blackman Dealers will benefit accordingly.

Blackman
 TALKING MACHINE Co.
 28-30 W. 23RD ST. NEW YORK N.Y.
 VICTOR WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS

Music Lovers Are Not All Millionaires

The wise music dealer knows how much of his business comes from the purchaser of inexpensive instruments, and he is carrying out this same knowledge in his marketing of the new big line of radio equipment.

De Forest offers particularly good co-operation in this respect to the music dealer, because although there are De Forest sets which are very elaborate and most beautifully finished there are also inexpensive De Forest sets such as the Radiohome and the Everyman illustrated on this page—very efficient for short distance receiving from 30 to 100 miles, beautifully finished in their smallest detail, but at the same time moderate in price.

When you represent De Forest you give your patrons a real service—not only the service of the famous De Forest quality, but also the satisfaction which comes of offering the complete line from the simplest to the most elaborate sets.

DE FOREST RADIO TEL. & TEL. CO.
JERSEY CITY, N. J.

GOOD WORK FOR MUSIC IN MOBILE

Reynolds Music House Sponsors Most Successful Music Memory Contest in That City, Donating All the Prizes—Plans Now Under Way for Citywide Contest During Fall

MOBILE, ALA., September 2.—In local musical trade circles there is still being felt the effect of Mobile's first music memory contest, which was brought to a close recently at Lyons Park, where over 3,000 men, women and children attended to witness the hotly contested finish. The contest was started in June, being sponsored by W. H. Reynolds, of the Reynolds Music House, local Victor wholesalers, and under the personal direction of Mrs. Carl Klinge, prominent in local musical circles, and Miss Hazel Council, in charge of the Victrola department of the Reynolds Music House.

A feature of the contest was the giving over of four play centers for an hour daily to the contest work. For that period the children gathered around the Victrola for the purpose of studying the various compositions included in the contest. One good composition was featured daily, and the instructor impressed the members of the audience with its title, the composer and other features connected with it. Twenty-five selections were included in the contest, fifteen of them being used in the final test.

In addition to the music memory work Victrola concerts were held daily in the parks, the Reynolds Music House furnishing the records. Children were taught folk dances by means of Victor records, a children's chorus was organized among the smaller children, who were taught songs from records, and the older girls formed glee clubs, singing with the Victrola. There were also many other musical activities.

There were 150 entries in the final event and the local newspapers devoted over 300 inches of reading matter to the contest. The prizes were donated by the Reynolds Music House, the first prize being a Victrola, the second $10 worth of Victor records and the third $5 worth of records.

The finale of the contest was made the occasion of an elaborate concert, at which a number of prominent artists appeared and which was attended by Mayor Geo. Crawford, who made the address of welcome. At the conclusion of the concert awards were announced, Miss Cora Cook winning first prize with a perfect score; Miss Eileen Sutton, second prize, with one error, and Miss Alvira Thierry third prize, with two errors. The winner of the second prize is totally blind and wrote her answers on the typewriter by the touch system.

As a result of the success of the first contest plans are now under way for the holding of a city-wide music memory contest in public schools of the city during the Fall, the contest to be brought to a climax with a big Community Music Week in the Spring.

VALUE OF A COMPLETE STOCK

Failing to Meet the Requirements of Customers Results in Loss of Customers

The installation of a complete record stock cannot be too strongly urged on the talking machine dealer. Many concerns have lost and are continuing to lose profitable customers because of the fact that they are unable to supply the demands of these people. Whenever a dealer is forced to say, "I am sorry, but we haven't that record in stock," a prospective customer registers disappointment, and when this happens to the same customer several times she loses faith in the establishment and is very likely to visit some other store in the future where she can obtain the exact record which she requires.

Ray Higgins has been made manager of the talking machine department of the Home Furniture Co., Bennington, Vt.

COURTESY IN BUSINESS

By EDWARD FRASER CARSON

When I went to school there was a story in one of the readers that I have never forgotten. It was about General George Washington.

Edward Fraser Carson

It seems that George and a friend were walking down the street one day when they met an old negro woman carrying a basket of wash. When she saw the Father of His Country she put down her basket and curtsied.

"Mawnin', Gin'ral," she exclaimed.

Washington, according to the story, lifted his hat and responded to the greeting, when his friend expressed surprise that he should do so to a negro slave.

"And why not," replied the general. "Do you think I am going to let that negro be more polite than I am?"

Whether the story is true or not is neither here nor there. It points a moral and teaches a lesson that surely is needed these days.

Courtesy costs nothing and in business you will find that it pays real big dividends. Courtesy will fill your store with customers, empty your shelves of stock and roll up your bank account.

If you are an employe courtesy will raise your salary, win you promotion.

"He who rides with Courtesy will never lack cheerful company," wrote a philosopher of other days, while another said, "Who rides the nag called Courtesy will sleep nights in comfort, and his journey will be pleasant and joyous."

There are a lot of young chaps—and old chaps, too, I am sorry to say—who have the foolish idea that to be courteous is to be effeminate. How or where they get that idea Heaven only knows. A lot of them are working as clerks. And they are of the breed who are ever grumbling that "a feller doesn't get a chance."

They never seek to wake up to the fact that they themselves are to blame, that they are standing in their own light.

When a customer asks for some special attention these chaps seem to take it as a personal affront. They are indifferent—uninterested. They seem to think that to be courteous to a customer implies inferiority on their part.

Know then, young man, that when I enter a store to buy phonographs or furs, sugar or tea, those things are for the moment the things that interest me most. If you will show that YOU, too, are interested, if you make an effort to satisfy me, I simply cannot help taking an interest in you. And the sum total of the interest of all customers in a clerk is the measure by which he is valued by the boss.

Of course, there are employers who themselves are unappreciative. If you find yours to be afflicted that way the best thing to do is to seek a new one. You are in the wrong job.

But speaking generally, it is true that the chap who is cheerful in his efforts, who takes an interest in his customers, who bears with their peculiarities—he is the chap who will win out.

Suppose your customer IS cranky and impatient and finicky. Suppose you DO have to show him half a dozen records or two dozen neckties, or whatever it is you are selling. Suppose he—or she—DOESN'T find what they seek and go out without making a purchase—you certainly will not induce them to come back the next time they are in the market by being discourteous.

Remember that is what you are being paid for—to PLEASE the customer. To make the customer WANT to come back.

Far from implying that you are INFERIOR, to be courteous PROVES that you are just the opposite just as the customer's impatience or discourtesy shows HIS lack of those qualities which go to make up the true gentleman.

I think that if I had to make a choice between dishonesty and discourtesy in a clerk I should prefer dishonesty. A dishonest clerk may steal the profits of a few sales, but a discourteous clerk will drive customers away until there are no profits at all.

JOIN STEWART BROS. CO. STAFF

COLUMBUS, O., September 2.—Burt Tullar, for the past twenty-one years a well-known talking machine salesman in Columbus, having been identified with the W. E. Heskett Co., Bope-Hayes Co. and the Pathé Shop, and Roy D. Layman, formerly with the Stewart Bros. Co. and the Alward Co., of Newark, O., have become associated with the talking machine section of the Stewart Bros. Co., of Columbus. The department, a comparatively new one, is one of the most complete in the downtown section, and will, no doubt, prove most successful under the charge of these enterprising men.

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment Turned Up to Change Needle; Also Position When Not in Use

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Vertical Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Showing Reproducer of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Lateral Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Showing Back View of Jewel Needle Equipment in Position for Playing Lateral Cut Records on Edison Phonograph

Jewel

NEEDLE EQUIPMENT

For The New Edison

NOT
Just Another Equipment
BUT

a distinct improvement in Tone Reproduction as well as in Mechanical Construction and Finish.

Send for descriptive circular which contains "HINTS REGARDING THE CARE OF A PHONOGRAPH."

If your jobber does not handle, write us.

Price the same. Liberal discount to dealers.

GUARANTEED IN EVERY WAY.

MONEY BACK IF NOT SATISFIED.

We handle highest grade Jewel Point Needles.

Needle CENTERS on all records.

Straight air-tight construction and absence of movable joints insure perfect reproduction and great volume.

Pivoted ball-joint insures perfect reproduction and freedom of movement both vertically and horizontally.

Weight is the lightest that can produce perfect results, thus saving the record, and permitting a freedom and sweetness of tone considered impossible.

Indestructible NCM-Y-KA diaphragms do not blast, crack, split or warp, and are the greatest development in phonographic sound reproduction in years.

Plays all types of records. Operates the same as the "EDISON" with the LEVER.

No adjustments necessary when changing from lateral to vertical cut records. Stop prevents swinging to the right.

Needle scratch almost entirely removed.

Turning back of Reproducer permits of easy access to needle socket and saves records from unnecessary scratching.

Is the ONLY equipment that plays vertical cut records in the proper "EDISON" position with the Reproducer turned FACE DOWN to the record, giving it a floating action.

JEWEL PHONOPARTS COMPANY 154 W. Whiting St., Chicago

Vocalion

Style 720—Conventional Model

VOCALION

PHONOGRAPHS—RED RECORDS

A SURE-FIRE PROPOSITION for Fall—the Vocalion Line of Phonographs and Red Records. Aeolian-made products are a guarantee of substantial quality. The Vocalion, individualized by the Graduola Tone-Control, is the highest development of the phonograph. Vocalion Red Records are leaders for brilliancy and timeliness.

We Invite Your Correspondence on The Vocalion Line in Connection With Your Fall Business Campaign.

THE DISTRIBUTORS OF THE VOCALION AND VOCALION RED RECORD

MUSICAL PRODUCTS DIS. CO.,
37 E. 18th St., New York City

A. C. ERISMAN CO., 174 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.
Vocalion Record Distributors

WOODSIDE VOCALION CO., 154 High St., Portland, Me.

LINCOLN BUSINESS BUREAU,
1011 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.

GIBSON SNOW CO., 306 West Willow St., Syracuse, N. Y.
Vocalion Record Distributors

CLARK MUSICAL SALES CO.,
324 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Md.

SONORA DISTR. CO., 505 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Vocalion Record Distributors

PENN-VOCALION CO., 16 W. King St., Lancaster, Pa.

O. J. DE MOLL & CO., 12th and G Sts., Washington, D. C.

VOCALION CO. of OHIO,
328 W. Superior St., Cleveland, Ohio

VOCALION CO. of OHIO, 420 W. 4th St., Cincinnati, Ohio

LIND & MARKS CO., 530 Bates St., Detroit, Mich.

THE AEOLIAN COMPANY,
529 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

LOUISVILLE MUSIC CO., 529 S. 4th St., Louisville, Ky.

HESSIG ELLIS DRUG CO.,
Vocalion Record Distributors Memphis, Tenn.

THE AEOLIAN CO., 1004 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

GUEST PIANO CO., Burlington, Iowa

D. H. HOLMES CO., New Orleans, La.

STONE PIANO CO., Fargo, N. D.

STONE PIANO CO., 826 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

STREVELL-PATERSON HARDWARE CO.,
Salt Lake City, Utah

MUNSON-RAYNER CORP.,
315 Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

THE MAGNAVOX CO., 616 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.
Vocalion Record Distributors

THE AEOLIAN COMPANY

NEW YORK

CHICAGO

ST. LOUIS

The Criterion Quartet has filled over 250 engagements during the past twelve months. That's popularity with a big P. Through Columbia Records they will now fill unlimited engagements. Their first Columbia recording is "My Cradle Melody," A-3667. Paired with this is a Hart and Shaw duet, "Down Old Virginia Way." This record will take like a case of measles in a Kindergarten.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

COLUMBUS

Trade Outlook Bright—Expert Salesmen Needed, Says Leslie I. King—Month's News Budget

COLUMBUS, O., September 4.—Talking machine dealers generally in this section declare that business is showing a distinctly upward trend and that, barring unexpected complications, there is every reason to expect a most substantial Fall business. Both machine and record sales are keeping up and the cash receipts are very satisfactory.

What the talking machine industry needs most at the present time, in the opinion of Leslie I. King, manager of the talking machine department of the Morchouse-Martens Co., High near Town street, is master salesmanship. "Never in all the time since I have been in the business, and that is sixteen years, was this particular qualification so necessary as at the present time," said Mr. King.

"In our firm we have emphasized this point to the extent that we can now see the results. Practically 90 per cent of our machines were sold by our salesmen away from the store. Many of these sales required a number of approaches, some of which from the first were discouraging. But, by proper procedure and concentrated effort, our sales for the month of July were 8 per cent in excess of what they were during the same month a year ago. This to me proved the fact that what we need at the present time to carry on our business on the scale that we have been doing is master salesmanship."

An attractive way of advertising records and music rolls has been devised by Mrs. C. C. Baker, of the C. C. Baker Co. Mrs. Baker finds it advantageous to feature in window displays the music that is played in the moving picture shows. Frequently passers-by who happen to come from the motion picture shows stop to view the windows and, in finding the music displayed which they have just heard, are pleasantly surprised. Featuring the numbers that are offered in the motion picture shows enables this firm to sell records, although the day when those particular numbers were popular has passed. When it comes to trimming windows Mrs. Baker is an artist. She arranged and designed windows that have been commented upon by a number of local artists.

Harry Patton, manager of the Elite Music Store, is advertising in Jewish publications some of the well-known Hebrew songs. Mr. Patton has a large Jewish trade and believes it will stimulate his record sales if he informs the Jewish people through the Jewish press of the number of Hebrew records he has to offer them.

More than usual interest has been shown in the record entitled "Nobody Lied," which is one of the records in the August Victor release. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that this number was written by a young man who attended Ohio State University and was sung in this city for the first time early last Winter, when the musical comedy "Scarlet Mask" was presented by students from the university at the Elks Club. Hyatt Berry is the composer of both score and words.

E. M. Levy, of Heaton's Music Store, stated that the machine business in the past month was unusually good. Although various models were selling well, still models No. 80, 100 and 90 were the best sellers. The cash receipts from the sale of records was practically as good as during holiday seasons. The types of records that are in demand, according to Mr. Levy, are the dance and popular song records.

F. J. Connor, manager of the Z. L. White Co., Victor dealer, reported a like condition with reference to the volume of business, although a good deal of his record business was in the Red Seal line. "The orchestral numbers of 'Tannhauser' by the Philadelphia Orchestra have been a big seller for us," said Mr. Connor. A few weeks ago Mr. Connor planned to take a short vacation during the early part of September, but, owing to the increase of business, Mr. Connor feels that it would be hazardous for him to go away for even a short length of time.

Foreign records and sets of the health-building records which were recently issued by the Victor Co. have been good sellers in the Elite Music Store, according to Harry Patton, manager.

Three more Victor artists have been added to the list of artists that are scheduled to appear in Columbus during the Fall and Winter months, they being: Geraldine Farrar, who sings on December 1; Rachmaninoff, who plays on March 19, and Fritz Kreisler on February 22. Paderewski is another possibility for the coming season.

F. L. Fritchey, special representative of the Perry B. Whitsit Co., Victor wholesaler, reports that business is picking up in the rural sections in the State of Ohio. He anticipates a busy Fall season in the talking machine industry.

W. H. Eichenlaub, manager of the People's Furniture Co., Victrola dealer, is spending his vacation at a number of points on the Great Lakes.

REMODELING IN LOS ANGELES

Parmelee Dohrmann Co. Installing Full Unico Equipment in Talking Machine Department

LOS ANGELES, CAL., September 2.—The Unico system for demonstration booths and fixtures is being installed by the Parmelee Dohrmann Co. for its new music department on the main floor. The Unit Construction Co. is represented on the Coast by the Walter S. Gray Co. and J. J. Grimsey, manager of the Los Angeles branch office of the latter company, is overseeing the work.

VELVET COVERED TURNTABLES

ADD TO THE QUALITY OF MACHINES

A.W.B.

Boulevard
VELVETS

THE BEST TALKING MACHINES ARE EQUIPPED WITH

A. W. B. BOULEVARD VELVETS

GRAND PRIZE—GOLD MEDAL, ST. LOUIS EXHIBITION

WRITE FOR SAMPLES AND PRICES

A. WIMPFHEIMER & BRO., Inc.
450-460 Fourth Avenue, New York

ESTABLISHED 1845

Four-Minute Conference on Business Topics

No. 5—Your Desire to Do Business

[This is the fifth of a series of four-minute conferences on topics of direct interest to business men in the talking machine trade which have been prepared for this publication by Lester G. Herbert.—EDITOR.]

It is a perfectly normal desire of those who are anxious to succeed to increase the volume of business done. Increased volume means lower overhead and larger profits, and this is a desirable end to achieve.

But there is such a thing as an eagerness to do business running away with one's judgment. Unless business can be done right it is better left undone.

The farmer who was so anxious to keep his men busy that he drew in load after load of fine hay before it was properly cured learned his lesson in the Wintertime, when he found that the whole mass had mildewed and spoiled.

The man who killed his fat hogs and put the choice, carefully fed meat into the refrigerator before the animal heat had left the carcass learned his lesson when he found that the whole had to be discarded.

The automobile salesman who parted with a fine car and took notes from an unknown stranger was a sadder and wiser man in a short time.

Bankers and keen business men generally are glad to do business—when they can do it right—but they go slowly enough to be sure of their ground and, as is perfectly right, they protect themselves in all legitimate ways from possible loss.

For business to be profitable it must be satisfactory to both parties. Any business which invites a flareback or renders a complication liable is to be avoided. To buy a piece of property at a bargain makes a man feel good, but he wants to be sure that his title is clear or his good feelings will not last very long. To sell a nice bill of goods is very pleasing, but if the money is not forthcoming, or one has to resort to a great deal of trouble to get the payment, the goods are better kept in stock.

Business which really counts is that which is done right from start to finish and which is not hurried or misrepresented or concluded on terms which are ill-advised. It is just as easy—and in the end much easier—to do business right than to do it wrong, for any practice which is open to question undermines confidence and prevents all possibility of real progress.

TALKING MACHINES RUINED BY FIRE

350 Machines Practically Destroyed by Fire in Warehouse in Oneida, N. Y.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., September 1.—Fire practically ruined 350 talking machines recently in a storehouse in Oneida, causing a loss estimated at $15,000. Three hundred of the machines were owned by Mrs. Fred Wyker, of Liverpool, N. Y., and the other fifty were the property of Benjamin Ferrara, a talking machine cabinet manufacturer. Most of the loss was covered by insurance.

BIG RESULTS IN A SMALL TOWN

MORGAN CITY, LA., September 5.—J. J. Goldman, Columbia dealer in this city, recently ran the selected dealers' advertising campaign, which produced results far beyond any expectations. Although this city has a population of only 5,000, Mr. Goldman felt that he had not closed all the possible sales in his territory through this campaign, and four weeks later put over another sale that netted him twenty-one Grafonolas, besides a large quantity of Columbia records.

E. E. HOHMANN ON SOUTHERN TRIP

JOHNSTOWN, PA., September 1.—E. E. Hohmann, manager of sales of the Modernola Co., of this city, manufacturer of the Modernola talking machine and the Modernolette portable, left on August 17 for a trip of about one month's duration. Mr. Hohmann plans to cover West Virginia, Ohio and Michigan in the interest of Modernola products.

S. M. Watson, who handles Sonora phonographs and Vocalion Red records in Vallejo, Cal., has moved to new quarters at 618 Marin street, that city.

THE VOCALION IN WASHINGTON

Vocalion Phonographs and Red Records Get Strong Foothold in National Capital and Environs Under Auspices of O. J. DeMoll & Co.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 7.—O. J. DeMoll & Co., distributors in this territory for Vocalion phonographs and Red records, have been exceptionally successful in placing that line with over a score of live representatives, both in Washington proper and in neighboring towns and cities. The company has been rendering the sort of service that appeals to retailers and the Vocalion line is being strongly featured. Among the concerns handling the Vocalion line through the medium of DeMoll & Co. are:

William C. Bean, Rockville, Md.; Blustein, 2010 Fourteenth street N. W.; T. P. Culley & Son, 1327 G street N. W.; C. L. Datnov, 1233 Seventh street N. W.; A. Durso, 1225 H street N. E.; H. A. Garren, 907 H street N. E.; Globe Furniture Co., 1023 Seventh street N. W.; The Gibson Co., Inc., 917 G street N. W.; Harry C. Grove, Inc., 1210 G street N. W.; I. K. Hunter, 718 Ninth street N. W.; Keller & Schwinger, 3653 Georgia avenue N. W.; Knickerbocker Music Shop, 1788 Columbia road N. W.; Lansburgh & Bro., 420 Seventh street N. W.; Philip Levy & Co., Div., 735 Seventh street N. W.; McHugh & Lawson, 1222 G street N. W.; The Music Shop, 419 Ninth street N. W.; The Quality Shop, Fourteenth and F streets N. W.; George H. Railing, 818 King street, Alexandria, Va.; R. H. Reamy, 623 Pennsylvania avenue S. E.; Robinson's Music Store, 1306 G street N. W.; Charles Schwartz & Son, 3123 M street N. W.; Charles Schwartz & Son, 708 Seventh street N. W.; J. M. Sokolove, 1804 Seventh street N. W.; Southwest Music Store, 409 Seventh street S. W.; Studio Shop, 1725 L street N. W., and Swan's Variety Store, 3201 Fourteenth street N. W.

Recorded in Italy
by the best known Italian Singers

POPULAR ITALIAN RECORDS LATEST RELEASES

10 Inch Records $.75 Each

- 1007 Pulcinella Ad Una Festa Da Ballo. Scena Comica. Un Balbuziente in Tribunale. Scena Comica.
- 0991x L'Altaiena. Song.....Cav. G. Godono
E L'Ammore. Song.....Cav. G. Godono
- 1000 'O Guarracino. Part 1. Song, P. Mazzone
'O Guarracino. Part 2. Song, P. Mazzone
- 0957x Luntano 'A Te, Mari'. Song, Cav. G. Godono
L'Acquaiola. Song....Cav. D. Giannini
- 0997x Serenatona. Song.....R. Ciaramella
Vipera. Song.....Jole Baroni
- 0955x Tic-Ti-Tic-Ta. Song.....R. Ciaramella
Piererotta. Song.....R. Ciaramella
- 0993x Venerdi'. Song.....F. Rondinella
'E Ssignurine D' 'O Palazzo. Song, R. Ciaramella
- 0989x Mia Dolce Amica...Cav. Uff. G. Godono
Voce D'Amor.....Cav. Uff. G. Godono
- 0995x Totonno 'E Quagliarella....Ciaramella
Niru TeLangella
- 1001x Signora Mia (Duetto),
Donnarumma-Ciaramella
'A Cura 'E Mamma' (Duetto),
Donnarumma-Ciaramella
- 1003x Canzone AmericanaDonnarumma
Donna Fifi'Ciaramella
- 1005x Mo Esee Achille. Scena Comica.
Il Cavamacchie. Scena Comica.
- 1019x Momenti Gioiosi. Orchestra.
Al Bosforo. Polka.
- 1021x Carmen (Selection). Bells.
Nozze D'Oro. March.
- 1033x Abat—Jour (Salome),
Ciaramella-Rondinella
Ninnolo....Cav. Uff. G. Godono, Tenore

We Are Also Manufacturers & Distributors of

New Hits Released the 15th of Each Month

JUST OUT

- 225—Napule E Maria. Versi di L. Bovio. Musica di G. Lama. (Word Roll) .81.25
- 047—Si Me Scurdass' 'E Te! Versi di F. Pennino. Musica di D. Ietti. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 194—La Chiamavano Cosetta. Versi e Musica di A. Bixio. (Word Roll) 1.25
- 234—Non T'Amo Piu (Romanza). By F. P. Tosti. (Word Roll)..... 1.00
- 211—Tu Me Vulive Bene. Versi di L. Criscuolo. Musica di M. Cosentino. (Word Roll)..... 1.25
- 231—Ideale (Romanza). By F. P. Tosti. (Word Roll) 1.00
- 217—Giovinezza Giovinezza. Versi di M. Manni. Musica di G. Castoldo. (Word Roll) 1.00
- 206—Giro Di Nozze. Polka. C. E. Bevilacqua. Instrumental90
- 207—Foglia Di Rosa. Mazurka. A. A. Egidi. Instrumental90

ITALIAN BOOK CO.

Music Dep't

145-47 Mulberry St.
New York City

DISCOUNT TO DEALERS—ASK FOR CATALOGUES

PHONOGRAPH CASES RADIO CASES

Reinforced 3-ply Veneer

The Standard Case for Talking
Machines and Radio Sets

Let us figure on your requirements

MADE BY
PLYWOOD CORPORATION, Goldsboro, N. C.

Mills in Va., N. C. and S. C.

BRINGING DEAD ACCOUNTS TO LIFE

H. J. Buckley Writes on the Need of Co-ordination and Co-operation in Business—Points Out That There Is a Gold Mine of Sales Possibilities in Inactive Accounts on the Books

In every business house—manufacturer as well as dealer—there is a gold mine of sales possibilities in the inactive accounts on the ledgers, says Homer J. Buckley, president of Buckley, Dement & Co., Chicago, in a recent article in Printers' Ink on "Bringing Dead Accounts Back to Life." Have you, Mr. Proprietor, ever had your credit man or bookkeeper come to you and say: "Mr. Jones, we are transferring our ledger sheets to-day to our transfer ledger and opening up new ledgers for this six-month or this year period and find more than 200 names of customers among our ledger sheets that we have not had any business from in a year or more. Don't you think the sales department ought to get after them?"

No, Mr. Proprietor, unfortunately, credit men and bookkeepers are not as a rule constituted that way—and the process of transferring inactive accounts is going on in every business house in the country without any notice on the part of the heads of the business.

Seventy-five per cent of the people who discontinue buying never complain—they just quit cold. Only 25 per cent who have a grievance or a complaint or adjustment tell you about it. These 25 per cent are really your friends—they are giving you a chance to square yourself. But you don't always treat them that way.

The 75 per cent that quit cold without complaining may do so for any one of a hundred reasons—usually service—very seldom price. Here are a few of the reasons: 1, a cold-blooded letter from your collection department; 2, discourtesy on the part of sales people; 3, errors; 4, delayed shipments; 5, promises that are not kept; 6, refusal to correct mistakes; 7, making an adjustment with a grudge or a sting in it. Treatment like this causes many a customer to say: "I'm through with that outfit!"

If a name goes into the inactive list a letter or a series of letters should go right out to that customer. If the matter is handled right he can be brought back into the fold, usually stronger than before, because your efforts will have shown the customer the spirit of the house and its appreciation of the value of his good will and your desire for his patronage.

How often does something like this happen in your business? Investigate! You may get some surprises, and I repeat—the bigger the business the greater the evil.

All the above is related to show the need of co-ordination and co-operation in a business, and especially in a big business. The reason the average dealer is not making more than a living is because of his own inefficiency and not because of competition or ungrateful people. If it costs $10 to get a new customer it's worth $10 to hold an old customer.

FEATURES BRUNSWICK THRIFT BANK

Brunswick Dealer Using Publicity That Is Producing Results—Thrift Bank Proves Valuable Sales Stimulant

COLUMBUS, O., September 5.—The Morehouse-Martens Co., of this city, Brunswick dealer, recently used effective publicity featuring the Brunswick "Thrift Bank," which is meeting with considerable success throughout the country. This enterprising dealer carried newspaper advertising that illustrated a popular Brunswick model, and the heading of the advertisement read as follows: "If You Intend to Own a Talking Machine You Are Entitled to a Brunswick Thrift Bank."

The text of the advertisement was timely and straight to the point, pointing out that less than twenty cents a day deposited in the bank would provide enough to purchase the model illustrated. This "Thrift Bank," which is shaped like a Brunswick phonograph, will be featured extensively by Brunswick dealers this Fall and, judging from the results already secured, the bank will prove a valuable sales stimulant.

RECEIVER FOR A. B. TAGGART CO.

Jas. Harbauer Takes Charge of Affairs of Retail Music House in Toledo

TOLEDO, O., August 31.—James Harbauer has been appointed receiver to take charge of the affairs of the A. B. Taggart Co., 618 Madison avenue, dealer in string and band instruments, Brunswick phonographs and sheet music.

Something over a year ago this concern succeeded the Ignaz Fischer Music House, which was then conducted by Carl and Alpha Fischer, son and daughter of Ignaz Fischer, deceased. The original enterprise did a large business in church and sacred music for over thirty-five years and reached every quarter of the country with its wares.

Liabilities are placed at $30,000 and assets not exceeding $10,000. Funds of the business being used to develop certain improvements, it is stated, made the assignment for the benefit of creditors necessary.

SELL SONORA TO TEACHERS

The sales department of the Sonora Phonograph Co., New York, was advised this week by Streger Bros., Portchester, N. Y., Sonora dealers, that they had sold a Sonora to the teachers of a Portchester school as a gift to their principal. Streger Bros. are following up this sale among the parents of the children in the school and expect shortly to report additional sales as a direct result of it.

The Hassler Drug Co., of Osceola, Neb., recently remodeled its store, and the Victor department now occupies a prominent portion of the establishment.

If all the Manhattan Radio Headsets that have been manufactured and sold since the first one was produced on March 20th, 1922, were placed side by side, they would stretch in an unbroken line eleven miles long.

This means quantity production—and quantity production assures you of four things:

1: Uniform quality of product. Quantity production demands absolute uniform quality of raw materials. Only the very best materials are uniform in quality.

2: Rigidly tested product. Quantity production necessitates rigid tests at every stage of manufacture. Rejection of a finished headset is costly.

3: A Correctly Designed Product. The proper design of the Manhattan headset and the use of special tools—only possible in quantity production, enable us to add refinements and extra features at no increased manufacturing cost.

4: A Quality Product at a Quantity Price. Quantity production cuts labor costs. This enables us to offer Quality Headsets at Quantity Price.

No. 2500—2000 Ohms
$6.00

No. 2501—3000 Ohms
$7.00

Radio is coming back stronger than ever. Get ready—place your order with your jobber NOW for Manhattan Radio Headsets.

MANHATTAN
ELECTRICAL SUPPLY CO., INC.
Makers of the famous Red Seal Dry Batteries

NEW YORK
17 Park Place

CHICAGO, ILL.
114 So. Wells St.

ST. LOUIS, MO.
1106 Pine St.

SAN FRANCISCO
604 Mission St.

VINCENT LOPEZ

AND HIS HOTEL PENNSYLVANIA ORCHESTRA

NOW STARRING ON BROADWAY

VINCENT LOPEZ has assumed his rightful place as the foremost director of dance music. At Keith's Palace Theatre, America's greatest vaudeville house, Lopez and His Hotel Pennsylvania Orchestra were originally engaged for one week. The very first night he received an ovation—the second night the storm of applause was so great that Lopez had to make a curtain speech and beg the audience to allow the rest of the performance to continue.

Lopez has arrived! Keith's have engaged him as a headliner for four weeks more at the Palace, making a total of eight weeks—the season's greatest run.

Lopez records are selling like hot cakes! Broadway has gone wild over his enticingly new and novel dance music. Those who have been privileged to hear Lopez at the Palace pronounce him a genius, not only as a conductor of dance music, but as a showman as well. Lopez plans an extensive tour of the important cities. Every Okeh dealer will have an opportunity to cash in on the nation-wide popularity resulting from this tour.

We point with pride to the fact that Vincent Lopez and His Hotel Pennsylvania Orchestra now record only for

Okeh Records

The Records of Quality

Here are the Fast Selling Lopez Hits—Price 75c each

- | | |
|---|--|
| 4647 { I'm Just Wild About Harry
Deedle Deedle Dum | 4625 { Lovable Eyes
Happy Days |
| 4660 { 'Neath the South Sea Moon
Just Because You're You (That's Why I Love You) | 4612 { Some Sunny Day
Stumbling |
| 4591 { Kiss Me by Wireless
Teasin' | 4605 { California
Mo-Na-Lu |
| 4654 { Sweet Indiana Home
The Yankee Doodle Blues | 4579 { Rosy Posy
Nola |
| 4662 { Dancing Fool
Dixie Highway | 4664 { Aida
Anitra's Dance |
| 4638 { Parade of the Wooden Soldiers
O Gee! O Gosh! | (Special Dance Arrangements by
J. Bodewalt Lampe) |

General Phonograph Corporation

OTTO HEINEMAN, President

25 West 45th Street, New York City

Just Joy-yous—that's what Van and Schenck are. Fun Fomenters. Gloom Lifters. Their two latest songs, "I'm the Black Sheep of Dear Old Dixieland" and "Yankee Doodle Blues," reduce Mr. Grouch to an ectoplasm. The two in one. A-3668.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

ANALYSIS OF NEW UNIFORM CONDITIONAL SALES LAW

Henry H. Harkavy, Prominent New York Attorney, at Request of The World, Makes a Special Analysis of the New Conditional Sales Law, Effective in New York State on September 1

[There was recently passed by the Legislature of the State of New York a Uniform Conditional Sales Law, which went into effect on September 1 of this year, and which embodies a number of features of particular interest to talking machine merchants and others who make a practice of selling on instalments.

At the request of The World Henry H. Harkavy, the well-known New York attorney, has prepared the following analysis of the new law for the benefit of the trade.—EDITOR'S NOTE.]

Observing and intelligent persons must surely have noticed from reports in the public prints the wise policy of the law toward uniformity throughout the various States in such laws as vitally affect the conduct of business and business affairs. In keeping with this policy of progress in the law the Legislature of the State of New York at its last session enacted what is to be known as the "Uniform Conditional Sales Law." This goes into effect September, 1922, at which time the old law (Article IV, Personal Property Law) governing conditional sales of goods becomes inoperative, except, of course, in so far as it is necessary to preserve rights accrued under it. This new "Uniform Conditional Sales Law" will, in due course, undoubtedly be enacted by the various States, with a view that the law of conditional sales of goods and chattels throughout the United States shall be uniform.

The outstanding points of difference between the new and the old are six in number.

First—The duration of the lien created by filing the instrument of conditional sale is lengthened from one year to three years (Section 71, U. C. S. L.).

Second—The sale of the property retaken by the vendor at present required by Section 65 of the Personal Property Law, which was a source of great inconvenience and often hardship to the vendor, will now be dispensed with in the majority of cases.

The new law provides:

"If the buyer has not paid at least Fifty (50 p.c.) per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking, the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods, as prescribed in Section 79, unless the buyer serves upon the seller within ten days after the retaking a written notice demanding a resale, delivered personally or by registered mail (Section 80, U. C. S. L.)."

Third—Where there is no resale pursuant to the notice served upon the vendor by the vendee, or at the voluntary election of the vendor, the seller may retain the goods as his own property, and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligations incurred by the contract (Section 80-c, U. C. S. L.).

Fourth—Upon default of the buyer the seller may retake the goods without legal process, if this can be done without a breach of the peace (Section 76, U. C. S. L.). Or, at his election, he may give notice to the buyer of not less than twenty, nor more than forty, days of intention to retake the goods, because of the buyer's default. If notice is so served and the buyer does not perform before the day set for retaking the seller may retake the goods and hold them subject to the provisions above stated (Section 77, U. C. S. L.).

Fifth—If the seller does not give notice of intention to retake the goods above mentioned he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking, during which period the buyer, upon payment or tender of the amount due, with interest, at the time of retaking, or upon performance or tender of performance of the conditions in which default has been made up to the time of the retaking, may redeem the goods and take possession of them, and continue in the per-

ALL YEAR USE FOR PORTABLES

Many Opportunities for Using Small Machines, Both Indoors and Outdoors, Through All the Months of the Year

Some of the manufacturers of portable talking machines refuse to take kindly to the belief that such machines have only a seasonal sale. They point out that there are many uses for a portable machine other than for outing purposes, such as in camps, on boats, etc., as well as, for instance, their use in connection with health and physical exercise records. A portable machine also comes in handy for the playing of "kiddie records" at night, and thus it is made use of in several parts of the house and in no wise infringes upon the use of the distinctly musical instrument in the drawing or living room.

Such manufacturers also point out that while it is true that the strictly portable machine has a seasonal use, the fact that most manufacturers operate on a national scale gives them distribution in parts of the country where there is much camping and automobiling in other than summer months.

Among those who hold the above belief is the Plaza Music Co., 18 West Twentieth street, formance of the contract, as if no default had occurred (Section 78 U. C. S. L.).

"If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession, and the buyer has paid at least Fifty (50 p.c) per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking, the seller shall sell them at public auction in the State where they were at the time of the retaking, such sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking. The seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale, either personally or by registered mail (Section 79, U. C. S. L.)."

Sixth—If the seller fails to comply with the provisions above stated after retaking the goods the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages, if any, and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the contract, with interest. (Section 80-e, U. C. S. L.).

New York, manufacturer of the "Pal" portable phonograph. Early in September this company still reported an excellent demand for the portable for both immediate and future delivery and points out that the quality portable machine has proved of value to the flat-dweller on the space-economizing idea. It also found an excellent field among college men and women, who, it seems, require just such a machine. The company plans a very active Fall and Winter sales and advertising campaign as a means of co-operating with dealers throughout the country.

PLAN EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS

Flory-Williamson Co. Holds Sale to Make Room for Alterations

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., September 2.—Extensive rebuilding and remodeling activities which are contemplated by the Flory-Williamson Co., 132-134 State street, are being preceded by a rebuilding sale of pianos, players, talking machines and all kinds of musical instruments which are handled by this company.

A. C. Fay, the manager, states that the stock of musical instruments must be greatly reduced before carpenters and builders take possession of the upper floors of the store.

Okéh Records

OUTING PORTABLES GRANBY
PHONOGRAPHS
MASTER TONE
TALKING MACHINES
NEEDLES

Okéh — Truetone — Wall-Kane
Tonofone — Gilt Edge

Delivery Bags, Accessories, etc.

Complete Stocks—Prompt Service

IROQUOIS SALES CORPORATION

Wholesale Distributors

210 Franklin St.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

The New EDISON Baby Console

Dimensions

Length	40	inches
Height	35 $\frac{1}{4}$	inches
Depth	20 $\frac{1}{2}$	inches

(See page facing this)

The New EDISON Baby Console $175.00

THE new Baby Console joins the famous Edison group in response to a wide demand.

Music-lovers everywhere will welcome the conservative, artistic design and the attractive price of the Baby Console. Its mechanical fitness is assured by Mr. Edison's recent laboratory tests, resulting in the perfection of this model.

THOMAS A. EDISON, Inc.
Orange, New Jersey

Overwhelming Value of a Consistent, Continuous Advertising Program Demonstrated

Advertising is regarded, and rightly so, as the open sesame to success in business when rightly used. Given an honest product, meeting a well-defined need, plus the proper kind of advertising, and success is certain to follow. So much has been written concerning the value of advertising that there is nothing new to be said on the subject, although one point that is, perhaps, not as well understood as it should be is the fact that advertising must be continuous to produce maximum results.

The talking machine industry, in common with all other industries in the country, during the past decade has depended upon advertising to a large degree for its success. A comparison of present-day advertising in this field with the publicity which was used ten or twelve years ago will show a distinct improvement in design, subject matter, effectiveness and logical sales-producing appeal. The trade has learned these lessons, but there is one lesson which many factors in the trade have yet to comprehend—and that is the power and value of continuous advertising.

While it is true that some of the more successful companies have proven firm believers in the policy of continuous advertising, and have been inclined to expand their publicity campaigns when other factors, in the face of existing conditions, were contemplating retrenchment, there are still many in the industry who seem to be inclined to advertise without any fixed system or at least to confine their advertising to those seasons of the year when it is believed the best results are possible.

When business was in excellent shape, and the supply of machines and records was not equal to the demand, some manufacturers and dealers appeared to feel that they should spend some of their money for advertising, working possibly on the theory that because business was good and they were making money they could afford to spend a little of it for printer's ink. Those who have pursued this policy have curtailed their advertising when times became hard—when money was not so plentiful and when accounts collectible commenced to freeze up—arguing in defense of their policy that they could not afford to spend any money for publicity. Just when they should advertise!

One of the most convincing proofs of the value of continuous advertising is to be found in the chart which accompanies this article. This chart was prepared by the economic research department of the Curtis Pub. Co., and shows graphically the varying volumes of business done by three classes of merchants—those who do no advertising, those who do seasonal advertising and those who advertise throughout the entire year. An analysis of the chart shows that the merchant or manufacturer who does not advertise starts the year with very little business. His business then gradually increases, reaching an apex in the month of May and then dropping sharply to a very low level until the end of August, when the volume gradually rises again, reaches its peak early in December and then

December, when the Fall campaign is on, the volume of business is somewhat greater than is that of the non-advertiser, but during the months when no advertising is carried the seasonal advertiser finds his business about on a par with the man who does no advertising at all.

The last diagram shows effectively the value of continuous, all-the-year-round advertising. The continuous advertiser begins his year with a volume of business that is practically equivalent to the May peak enjoyed by the non-advertiser. The volume rises in February to a point above the May peak of the non-advertiser and continues to keep above that peak until the end of June. During July and August there is a natural decrease in business, but even the low level is only slightly below the same May peak of the non-advertiser. By the end of September the volume of sales again shows a steady increase, reaching its apex in December and continuing at its highest level until almost the end of the month, when there is a natural decrease shown, the decrease being caused by the Christmas and New Year holidays.

A further analysis will show that the total volume of sales for the year produced by continuous advertising is nearly 40 per cent greater than the volume enjoyed by the seasonal advertiser, the seasonal advertiser in turn doing perhaps 25 per cent more business than the non-advertiser. This analysis shows conclusively that the continuous advertiser is the man who really gets the greatest value for the money he spends in drops abruptly to the low level experienced during August. The merchant who endeavors to increase his business through seasonal advertising is in somewhat better position than the merchant who does no advertising, for the chart shows that during the months of March, April and May, when the Spring advertising campaign is in effect, and during October, November and

Chart Showing Effect of Continuous Advertising

Profit by the Demand for Okeh Records

Write or Phone

BRISTOL AND BARBER CO., Inc.

For Particulars

Distributors for Manhattan and Vicinity

3 EAST 14th STREET

Stuyvesant 1724

NEW YORK

publicity and shows further that the advertiser who is committed to the seasonal policy does not get full value for what money he does spend, because he allows the cumulative effect of his publicity to be lost almost entirely during the periods when he does not advertise.

The old adage concerning the stone worn away by the continuous dropping of water applies forcefully to the theory of advertising. Hogsheads of water can be splashed on a rock and do no more than wash away the grit, but the same volume of water, if allowed to fall, drop by drop, on a given point, will start an erosion that eventually will wear away the entire stone. So it is with advertising. Spasmodic splashes of publicity will produce only a temporary effect, but continuous, consistent, all-the-year-round advertising, because of its cumulative effect, will produce a volume of profitable business that will practically insure the wise advertiser against hard times, lack of demand, seasonal slumps and all the other evils which come to the man or the industry which does not rightly use the greatest of all modern business-producing forces—consistent advertising.

"VISION" IN ADVERTISING

My good friend Herbert H. Longfellow was telling me the other day, says Thos. Dreier, that he believes there is a vision in advertising that illumines common things; that dignifies common needs; that is a herald of light. There is an aim in advertising that is beyond the plea of a business for profit or the desire of a man for gain. There is an ideal in advertising that is not selfish; that is a revealer of beauty; that is the servant of life and its joys. The word is for the mind at its best and its voice is for the hearts of its peers.

If you want knowledge, you must toil for it. Toil is the law. Pleasure comes through toil and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work his life is a happy one.—Ruskin.

FIFTEENTH TRADE ANNIVERSARY

Abram Davega Completes Another Year in Victor Distributing Service—Has Had an Active Trade Career Since August, 1907

Although still a young man, Abram Davega, president of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co., Victor wholesaler, New York City, has completed fifteen years in the Victor business.

Abram Davega

In August, 1907, upon graduating from a Summer course at the School of Commerce at New York University, Abram Davega joined his father, the late Isaac Davega, in the old firm of I. Davega, Jr., Inc. He rapidly took hold of the management of the business and in a very short time afterward became vice-president of the corporation. Mr. Davega was then probably the youngest officer of a Victor distributing firm in the country.

Upon the death of his father last year, Mr. Davega was elected chief executive of the company and in that important position has admirably directed the destinies of the company in its successful career.

Coincident with Mr. Davega's fifteenth anniversary of his entering in the talking machine business is the occurrence of the Knickerbocker Talking Machine Co.'s twentieth anniversary.

OPENS STORE IN BURLINGTON

C. W. Ross, formerly connected with the College Music Rooms, Burlington, Vt., has opened an attractive music studio in the Y. M. C. A. Building, that city. Talking machines, radio outfits and pianos are handled.

TARIFF CHANGES IN NORWAY

Ad Valorem Tax Levied on Importations of Talking Machines, Etc., in New Bill—Advance Over Old Rates Is Registered

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 1.—The Norwegian Storting, at a special meeting, recently passed a bill for increased import duties on all articles considered luxuries, to be calculated on an ad valorem basis, according to information received by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here from Consul General A. G. Snyder, stationed at Christiania, Norway. These duties were previously levied at specific rates, according to the weight of the goods. The new duties, which represent a considerable advance, affect the importation of talking machines of various kinds. An article in the bill provides that "talking machines, such as gramophones, phonographs, and the like, with flat or cylindrical records and other accessories, including record-making apparatus; also parts thereof," must pay an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent. The former duty, by weight, was 1.50 crowns per kilo.

APPOINT PACIFIC COAST AGENT

Max Willinger, president of the New York Album & Card Co., New York City, reports that both the Chicago and New York factories are busy on Fall orders. The demand for Nyacco albums is reported to be steadily increasing and good Fall business is expected.

Max Willinger, the energetic president of the company, continues to divide his time between the Chicago and New York headquarters of the business and was in Chicago the early part of the month.

The Pacific Coast talking machine trade will be interested in the announcement of the appointment of a Western Coast factory representative. This important post will be held by E. R. Darvil, of the Munson-Raynor Corp., 315 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

DO YOU KNOW

That Wide-awake Dealers are increasing their profits thru the sales of De Luxe Needles

Before you place your next order don't fail to write us for samples and full particulars about

DE LUXE NEEDLES

DUO-TONE COMPANY, INCORPORATED

Sole Manufacturers of De Luxe Needles
ANSONIA, CONN.

Full Tone

DON'T FORGET THESE FACTS
Perfect Reproduction of Tone No Scratchy Surface Noise
PLAYS 100-200 RECORDS

Medium Tone

Three for 30 cents (40 cents in Canada)

Radio Developments During the Past Year

By E. E. BUCHER, Sales Manager, Radio Corporation of America

[The talking machine industry as a whole will undoubtedly be keenly interested in this message to the trade from E. E. Bucher, sales manager of the Radio Corporation of America. Mr. Bucher is recognized as one of the foremost authorities of the radio field, and his thorough knowledge of merchandising is certain to be an important factor in the progress and activities of this company. In the very near future Mr. Bucher will have another message of interest to our trade, relating particularly to the merchandising of R C A products in the talking machine industry.—Editor's note.]

A real and rapidly growing utility which throbs vigorously with nation-wide public interest usually imposes abnormal demands upon the industry concerned. Over a year ago, the Radio Corporation of America was face to face with a stupendous undertaking—that of supplying the highest grade radio apparatus to thousands of people situated everywhere in the United States, at a moment's notice. This situation, which "developed overnight," commanded the immediate action of every department of the company. Many problems were slated for almost immediate solution—a physical engagement against time began.

E. E. Bucher at His Desk

To meet the demand of this new branch of the radio industry it was necessary first to develop and design apparatus suitably simple, complete and efficient to fulfill the demands of the public. Second, to expand the manufacturing, warehouse and delivery facilities of the organization so as to satisfactorily cope with business which had already been characterized as overwhelming. Third, to create and firmly establish an administrative staff to educate the public on this new subject and to sell apparatus and promote sales through advertising and publicity peculiar only to this new branch of the communication field.

Fully aware of what the future had in store, once the bonds of full public acceptance were released, the Radio Corporation of America spared no efforts in mobilizing its forces and plunged into the field with the ultimate view to creating a nation-wide radio sales-service. Supported by the manufacturing and engineering facilities of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., the General Electric Co. and the Wireless Specialty Apparatus Co. all labored strenuously.

Pioneering immediately followed, for who was in a position to venture future predictions and advance methods of procedure? The problem which required first thought was: What will be the nature of the apparatus required to meet this particular demand? Having unlimited development resources, the Radio Corporation and its associates studied the various existing radio circuits and appliances, and shortly afterwards placed on the market a series of compact receiving sets, devised simplified instructions for their installation, and released the instruments through a selected group of responsible electrical distributors throughout the country.

Considerable time is always required to pilot a large organization into the trend of a new and rapidly flowing activity; human inertia is an important factor, and flexibility varies in proportion to the magnitude of the interests involved.

In spite of the difficulties represented by the then existing situation, the products of the Radio Corporation were warmly welcomed by the mass of the enthusiasts. These products are now being used by thousands of satisfied owners whose aerial installations can be seen almost anywhere in the United States.

A year has now passed and it is gratifying to review the activities during that period which provide very valuable foundations for drawing inferences and developing future policies. A basis for calculations is now available. A year's experience is an intangible, valuable asset.

The supply of Radio Corporation apparatus at the present is abreast of the demand. The organization is prepared for emergencies and it is very certain that the situation is now well within control.

To furnish apparatus to meet a standard, not an emergency, is the very essence of R C A service. The reputation which the Radio Corporation of America and its associates have won during the past year is their guarantee for the future.

ATTRACTIVE COLUMBIA FLOAT

King Furniture Co. Arranges Artistic Float Featuring the Grafonola

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., September 5.—The King Furniture Co., of this city, Columbia dealer, created considerable comment recently through the use

Columbia Float Designed by King Furniture Co. of a handsome float, which was entered in a local parade. This float, besides carrying large Columbia banners artistically painted, represented a grape arbor scene furnished comfortably with a divan table and an L-2 Grafonola. In front of the grape arbor was an amplifier which was used to excellent advantage during the parade.

RECEIVES FOREIGN INQUIRIES

Sherburne Mfg. Co. Reports Increased Sales Activity Abroad—Working on New Radio Product—Important Announcement Soon

DETROIT, MICH., September 5.—The Sherburne Mfg. Co., of this city, manufacturer of automatic stops and balance lid supports, states that it has been receiving numerous inquiries from foreign countries, indicating that the manufacturers abroad are resuming general activities. Within a period of a week half a dozen inquiries were received from well-known concerns in foreign countries asking for quotations on various accessories in large quantities. Incidentally, these inquiries refer to the company's advertising in The Talking Machine World.

The executives of the company also state that the radio field is showing exceptional activity, and in all probability the Sherburne Mfg. Co. will have an interesting announcement to make to the trade regarding its activity in this field. It is likely that a small radio set will be manufactured by the company, and a comprehensive sales campaign is now being prepared.

FRENCH NESTOR VISITS GOTHAM

French Nestor, president of the French Nestor Co., Victor wholesaler at Jacksonville, Fla., was a recent visitor to New York City. He spent August 31 with his mother in West Virginia, that day being her birthday. While in the North he made a brief visit to the Victor plant in Camden, N. J.

A new talking machine establishment, to be known as the Music Shoppe, has been opened in Provo, Utah.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

For Victor retailers the future is unusually bright, as the recent additions to the Victor line, including the new Victor horizontal types and the Victor Health Exercise records, provide unlimited opportunities for profitable sales activities.

For future service to Victor dealers, Mickel Bros. Co. have strengthened every department of their organization and are splendidly equipped to render invaluable service to the Victor dealers in this territory.

MICKEL BROS. &
411 COURT AVENUE
DES MOINES, IOWA

BRUNO

New Life In Your Business!

Whatever business we may be engaged in the uppermost question in our minds is "What can be done to stimulate new and greater buying power?" At times a single but simple thought properly "put over" has resulted in almost unbelievable profits. Anything, therefore, that arouses curiosity, that creates interest, and which at the same time may serve a practical purpose—that "something" will invariably prove to be a most substantial profit-maker.

And now, Victor Dealers, here is just such an item—a set of Victor Records for Health Exercises. These records, three of them to a set, begin a new era of profits for you. They will be the means of bringing to your store entirely new clientele—people you have never seen—people who heretofore have never displayed any interest in the Talking Machine.

Here certainly is a new avenue of approach, and with a bit of vim and vigor behind your efforts the "development" of your bank-roll is a certainty.

Think of it, Mr. Victor Dealer, every man, woman and child is now your logical prospect. What are you going to do to "build up" the nation and incidentally the scope of your business?

A rare opportunity awaits you, Mr. Victor Dealer!

C. BRUNO & SON, Inc.
351-353 Fourth Ave., New York
Victor Wholesalers to the Dealer Only

INVENTS BREATHING GRAMOPHONE

London Inventor Produces Something New as Basis of Synchronization of Motion Pictures and the Talking Machine

A gramophone invention by E. H. Verity, who has been carrying on extended experiments in the synchronization of motion pictures with the talking machine, is being exhibited in London, Eng. The invention consists of a gramophone that "breathes" like a human being and is shown as a basis for synchronization of motion pictures with the talking machine.

Mr. Verity, in discussing his invention, says: "After experiments lasting over fifteen months I realized that the gramophone must breathe in order to get the proper effect. I employ an ordinary sound box which is attached to a tone arm at the end of which is fitted an amplifying chamber or throat. In this throat is fitted an electric element and a suitable arrangement of holes induces a draft which is so placed that the entire apparatus works under conditions similar to the human throat while speech is in progress."

THE PORTABLOOP

Size 24 x 27 inches over, all

You Will Carry It
This Fall

Why Not Stock It
Now?

We Can Make Prompt
Deliveries

List Price $10.00

210 Central Avenue

No. IX

Dear Bill:

To-day more than ever before scientific merchandising is receiving the attention of keen business men everywhere, who realize that if they are to make a go of merchandising they must operate with a complete knowledge of the people with whom they desire to do business, their goods, costs of operation and, in short, the hundred and one things which a merchant should be thoroughly versed in if he is to get out of the "storekeeper" class and rise above his more unprogressive competitors. In every community there are leading merchants engaged in various lines of business. These men and the enterprises they operate stand head and shoulders above everyone else, and they get the bulk of the worth-while business. The reason is simple. They have discarded the methods of twenty years ago, and you may be sure that they do not operate on a haphazard basis. You can employ your time to no better advantage than to investigate and make a study of the methods of the leading merchants of your community. In this manner you no doubt will learn much which will prove of benefit to you in the conduct of your business.

This study of business methods does not necessarily apply exclusively to music houses, but to every leading merchandising business in your town. After all, when the thing is brought right down to the last analysis, merchandising, to be successful, is conducted on practically the same principles, whether it be the selling of hardware or musical instruments. The merchant buys a certain product and seeks to sell it at a profit. This sounds simple, but it involves many considerations, such as overhead, stock turnover, collections, etc. Of course, in the musical instrument business, as well as in any other enterprise, there are certain particular problems which will not be found in any other line of endeavor.

Take for example the leading furniture houses in your community. Their selling methods are peculiarly similar to yours, with the exception that they do not take into consideration the music factor unless they handle this line. Now, undoubtedly these concerns sell on the time payment plan, and, therefore, I would suggest that you make an effort to find out the methods used by them to stimulate collections, the letters they use which have brought about the best results and the views of their credit men on risks, etc. A sidelight on their selling principles might also suggest some changes in your own policies which may prove of benefit from the standpoint of increased efficiency. The automobile agencies and other enterprises which make use of large prospect lists may prove a valuable source of information as to the best manner of securing prospective customers and the means used to approach or make contact with these people. These concerns may be using effective plans which could easily apply to your line, and, anyway, such a study is bound to return dividends in the broadened knowledge of merchandising which will inevitably result. No merchant who has made a success of his business will refuse the desired information in view of the fact that your business will not conflict with his and on your promise to reciprocate.

Hoping you make use of these suggestions and profit by them, I am As ever,

Jim.

FABRICS FOR WINDOW DISPLAYS

Chas. H. Ditson & Co. Offering Elaborate Assortment of Plushes and Velours Particularly Suitable for Use in Window Displays

Chas. H. Ditson & Co., New York Victor wholesalers, have arranged to supply their dealers with an attractive assortment of plushes and velours of high quality and rich coloring and design for use in window trimming. The company has been able to get hold of a large quantity of such material, especially suitable for setting off talking machine displays to advantage, and is offering it to dealers practically at cost and at a price below wholesale cost.

That retailers appreciate the opportunity of getting material is evident by the quantity already purchased, some retailers taking several yards each of different designs and coloring in order to provide for a variety of window trims. The idea of supplying the plushes and velours is credited to Paul Carlton, manager of the wholesale Victor department.

Mr. Edison Man:—

Don't Say

"KAN'T," say "KENT"

Write for catalog of complete line

The KENT No. 1

With "S" Sound Box

Has given complete satisfaction for years

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

F. C. KENT CO.

Irvington, N. J.

TO EXHIBIT DR. DE FOREST'S "PHONOFILM" NEXT MONTH

New York Representative of Dr. De Forest Tells of the Great Possibilities of This Invention for Synchronizing Speaking Movies—New Talking Film Photographs Voice

Strips of the Dr. Lee de Forest talking film or "phonofilm" have been received by his representatives in New York City and will be exhibited here by Dr. de Forest next month, when he returns from Germany.

It appears like an ordinary strip of film with almost invisible razor lines running vertically on the extreme right. The razor lines are the effects of minute points of light which play upon the edge of the strip under the control of the vibrations of the human voice. From this record the voice is reconstructed with the help of selenium photoelectric cells and the audion amplifier invented by Dr. de Forest for use in radio.

This invention, it is suggested, may be capable of use as an automatic interviewer or mechanical stenographer and may become a competitor of the talking machine for general use, in addition to its primary purpose of introducing the spoken word into the motion picture drama.

It is asserted, also, that the apparatus for registered sounds with pictures costs but little and may be made an annex to any motion picture camera, so that when a public man or a personage in the news is being filmed his words may be recorded at the same time. The possibility of developing the film photograph record as a substitute for the present type of record also is put forward by representatives of Mr. de Forest in this city.

The path of light on the film which registers the sound waves is so narrow that an ordinary inch-wide film has room for a hundred voice photographs side by side. The compactness of the film makes it possible, it was said, to carry about a sound-recording machine charged with enough film to register a day's proceedings in Congress.

The New York Telephone Co. has been experimenting for several years on a radio printing machine. This prints by radio, just as tickers and other telegraph machines typewrite by wire at the present time in up-to-date newspaper offices. The radio printing machine makes it possible, for instance, for a man in an airplane to batter away at a typewriter while his radio connections automatically beat a "mill" on the ground and turn out copies of what is being written in the air.

The Lee de Forest talking film, as it exists to-day, can be hitched, after the film is developed, on to broadcasting instruments, it is claimed, so that the voice pictures can be wireless great distances and then turned back again into sound waves. So far the problem of running a typewriter or a linotype by sound waves has not been mastered, but close approaches to it have been made.

By the use of light similar to the photography of sound waves by Mr. de Forest the printed word has been turned into sound, so that the blind can read by ear. The arrangement of black and white in the ordinary letter causes such varying effects when the letters are intensely lighted and passed over selenium photoelectric cells that the electric current can be controlled by them so as to produce sounds which the blind can interpret into letters.

In both the de Forest invention and the machine which renders the printed word into sound for the blind the key is the peculiar property of selenium. In darkness this substance is resistant to electricity. In light it conducts electricity. In varying light it modifies the current of electricity passing through it.

In the de Forest invention the aperture for the admission of light for the sound-wave photography is said to be in some way controlled by the vibration of the sound. This produces the variations in the sound pictures on the film. When reproduced these variations modify the light which passes through. The modifications of light keep the electrical resistance of the selenium cells in constant variation. The electrical current is thus controlled by the pictures of the sound waves. The current is magnified by the audion tubes and in turn it controls a diaphragm or microphone like that of the ordinary telephone receiver, finishing up the process of reconstructing the sound.

The process is outlined in general terms as follows in a letter by Mr. de Forest to his representative here:

"Taking the picture: 1. Sound waves (voice of the actor) translated into electrical waves. 2. Electrical waves translated into light waves. 3. Light waves recorded on the edge of the film.

"Reproducing the picture: 1. Light waves translated back into electrical waves. 2. Electrical waves translated back into sound waves. 3. Sound waves amplified with loud-speakers placed near the screen for the audience."

The stumbling block which has impeded other efforts to perfect the talking film has been the difficulty in exactly synchronizing the voice and the picture. This is important, since sound travels at 1,090 feet a second and light at 186,000 miles a second. Unless the word and action correspond exactly in time, as rendered by the talking-picture machine, the effect is spoiled. With the picture and the sound-wave on the same film, the time unity is preserved to the thousandth part of a second.

BECKER MUSIC CO. OPEN IN CAIRO

CAIRO, NEB., September 2.—The Gaston Music Co., one of the oldest concerns engaged in the musical instrument business in this part of the State, has been succeeded by the Becker Music Co. Victor talking machines, Edison phonographs, pianos and player-pianos are handled.

A little egotism is a good thing. It gives a man a feeling of confidence in his ability. But egotism, like other things, is often overworked.

Built by Engineers with the highest Engineering Skill.

DESIGNED to stand the shocks of hard usage.

BUILT to run smoothly and noiselessly under varying conditions.

OPERATED with uniformity, and constant in speed.

Write for prices

Sphinx Gramophone Motors Inc.

21 East 40th St.
NEW YORK CITY

Band or Orchestra FULL STRENGTH!

And into the moonlit night poured the full resounding dance music of a military band — as if the band were there, in reality

Without a Magnavox Tele-phonograph in constant service for demonstrating records, the music store of today is operating on less than 50% of its real efficiency.

There are many competitive phonographs—but only one Magnavox Tele-phonograph. By increasing the tone volume of any phonograph three or four times, the Magnavox also increases correspondingly the use and thus the sale of phonographs and records.

Write today for full information about the marvelous Magnavox Tele-phonograph and its importance in the sale of phonographs and records.

THE MAGNAVOX COMPANY, Oakland, California
New York Office, 370 Seventh Avenue

MAGNAVOX

Tele-phonograph

The Magnavox Tele-phonograph is an attachment to the phonograph as important as the phonograph itself.

Demonstrated in your store, the Magnavox Tele-phonograph makes an ordinary record clearly audible along the street. Nothing helps to sell records and phonographs like a Magnavox—and people who already own a phonograph want the Magnavox Tele-phonograph to make their instrument really complete.

IDICO—A disinfecting deodorant to keep hearing rooms sweet in summer. Can be provided by your Dealer Service man.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

EMERSON POPULAR RECORDS AGAIN

Emerson Phonograph Co. Announces Revival of Popular Record Catalog, With Records Listed at Seventy-five Cents—To Market a New Phonograph Under Name of "Emerson"

The Emerson Phonograph Co., New York, which since its reorganization has confined its activities to the manufacture of standard records of which it has a most comprehensive catalog, has announced the arrival of a popular catalog.

B. Abrams

B. Abrams, president of the company, in commenting upon its new popular catalog, said: "There have been no releases of Emerson popular records since last May and Emerson dealers in all parts of the country have felt the need of continuing their activities in that direction, which resulted in our receiving hundreds of requests for Emerson popular records.

"We have made such progress in our plans and policies as to now justify us in issuing a monthly list of current selections in song and instrumental form. These, however, will be only the active hits, those for which there is a demand, and which when placed upon the dealers' shelves will assure a quick turnover.

"In our standard record catalog, which is most complete, we have been revising and cutting the list, eliminating all dead titles and leaving only the active issues, which include standard, sacred, classical, secular and foreign records of all kinds.

"The Emerson popular record will be retailed at seventy-five cents, the price at which it became so popular, assuring the dealer a substantial profit and allowing the manufacturer, if possible, to give better quality and the highest class product throughout. At this retail price also it is possible to plan the high standard merchandising policies, methods for protection of the dealer, and co-operation to both dealer and jobber."

The Emerson Phonograph Co. has a list of over 10,000 retailers in the various parts of the country who have at one time or other handled Emerson products. In appointing jobbers the company announces that the names of the dealers, orders, etc., in the given jobbers' territory will be turned over at once.

The Emerson Co.'s shipping department has been moved from its downtown location to 105 West Twentieth street, New York City, a centrally located point with ideal shipping facilities. The whole shipping department has been reorganized and both the standard records and the new popular numbers will, under the new arrangement, get prompt attention and allow for high-class service.

In commenting upon the position which the Emerson record has attained the officers of the company point out that the Emerson Phonograph Co. was for several years the third largest record manufacturer in the United States and that over 100,000,000 records have been produced by the company, some millions of which are now in American homes.

The Emerson Phonograph Co. will shortly announce the details for marketing a new popular-priced phonograph under the trade name "Emerson." These products will consist of a complete line of machines including upright and period models. The workmanship and woods, etc., as well as the various metal parts and other equipment, will be of a type that will merit the appreciation of the large number of dealers acquainted with the Emerson product.

The officers of the Emerson Phonograph Co. are B. Abrams, president, and Rudolph Kanarek, treasurer. Mr. Abrams is also president of the Grand Talking Machine Co., of Brooklyn, N. Y., which, in addition to operating a retail establishment, carries on a jobbing business of talking machines, needles, records and music rolls.

OPERATING SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS

Keers Music Shop, of New Rochelle, N. Y., Owned by Juliet Keers—Handles Victor Talking Machines and Okeh Records

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., September 3.—One of the most recently established music stores in this city is the Keers Music Shop, at 767 Main street, which is owned and managed by Juliet Keers. Miss Keers, who in private life is known as Mrs. A. E. Berry, handles the Victor line of talking machines, Okeh records, pianos, musical instruments, etc., and is making extensive plans for increasing the size of the business in the Fall.

Miss Keers is well known to the trade in the metropolitan district, having at various times been connected with the Baumer Piano Co., the Rice Music Co., of New Rochelle, and the S. B. Davega Co., New York City.

W. G. Waltz, president of the W. G. Waltz Co., Victor distributor, of El Paso, Tex., is planning a visit to the Victor Talking Machine Co.'s plant in Camden, N. J., early in October.

Newest Model

Latest Improvements

The Modernola

Most Modern of Phonographs

Something Different.
A Special Feature Machine.
Solid Woods—No Veneers.
As Good as the Best.
Better Than Many.

WANTED. A few more live dealers.
 Exclusive territory given.

Write Department H.
MODERNOLA CO., JOHNSTOWN, PA.
 The Modernola Sales Co., Inc.
 929 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

"A Good House to Represent"

The biggest drive for Sales in SONORA'S History

NOW is the time to sell only the best! Buying power is coming back. Hundreds of thousands of out-of-date and inferior phonographs will be discarded. More people will want quality—the quality always associated with the famous Sonora.

The new Sonora instruments, built to meet this enormous and exacting demand—although wonderfully improved and refined—are lower priced than ever.

156,000,000 readers, as circulation is computed, will have these facts driven home to them through our unprecedented newspaper campaign, which will blanket the country this fall.

Thousands of dollars will be made in the coming season by those who have sold Sonoras and those who decide to sell them now. The tireless sales assistance of the great Sonora organization will stand behind these dealers.

With this gigantic harvest ahead it is poor foresight and a losing policy not to have an adequate stock of Sonoras. Sonora discounts are liberal.

Why wait until the demand forces you to act?
Sell the Sonora now.

Sonora Phonograph Company, Inc.

GEORGE E. BRIGHTSON, President

NEW YORK : 279 BROADWAY

Canadian Distributors: Sonora Phonograph, Ltd., Toronto

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY
Sonora
CLEAR AS A BELL

The Highest Class Talking Machine in the World

The distributor named below who covers the territory in which you are located will be glad to answer all inquiries regarding a Sonora agency on receipt of a letter from you.

Gibson-Snow Co.,

Syracuse, N. Y.
State of New York with the exception of towns on Hudson River below Poughkeepsie and excepting Greater New York.

Sonora Company of N. J.,

605 Broad St., Newark, N. J.
State of New Jersey.

Hessig-Ellis Drug Co.,

Memphis, Tenn.
Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi.

Kiefer-Stewart Co.,

Indianapolis, Ind.
State of Indiana.

Lee-Coit-Andreesen Hardware Co.,

Omaha, Nebr.
State of Nebraska.

M. S. & E.,

221 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.
Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

C. L. Marshall Co., Inc.,

514 Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.
Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky.

The Magnavox Co.,

616 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.
Washington, California, Oregon, Arizona, Nevada, Hawaiian Islands, northern Idaho.

Southern Drug Company,

Houston, Texas.
Southeastern part of Texas.

Southern Sonora Company,

310-314 Marietta St., Atlanta, Ga.
Alabama, Georgia, Florida and North and South Carolina.

Southwestern Drug Co.,

Wichita, Kans.
Southern part of Kansas, Oklahoma (except 5 N.E. counties) and Texas Panhandle.

Doerr-Andrews-Doerr,

Minneapolis, Minn.
States of Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota.

C. D. Smith Drug Co.,

613 Arcade Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.
St. Joseph, Mo.
Missouri, northern and eastern part of Kansas and 5 counties of N.E. Oklahoma.

Moore-Bird & Co.,

1751 California St., Denver, Colo.
States of Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming east of Rock Springs.

Strevell-Patterson Hardware Co.,

Salt Lake City, Utah.
Utah, western Wyoming and southern Idaho.

C. J. Van Houten & Zoon,

Marquette Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
Illinois and Iowa.

Yahr & Lange Drug Co.,

Milwaukee, Wis.
Wisconsin, Upper Michigan.

Sonora Dist. Co. of Pittsburgh,

1214 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Virginia.

Sonora Co. of Phila., Inc.,

2002 Jenkins Arcade Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Long Island Phonograph Co.,

150 Montague St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
All of Brooklyn and Long Island.

Greater City Phonograph Co., Inc.

311 Sixth Avenue, New York.
Counties of Westchester, Putnam and Dutchess; all Hudson River towns and cities on the west bank of the river, south of Highland; all territory south of Poughkeepsie, including Greater New York, with the exception of Brooklyn and Long Island.

MAKING EXTENDED SALES TRIP

R. W. Moon, of Swanson Sales Co., Visiting Twenty-five Trade Centers—Many Inquiries Received From Jobbers and Dealers

LOS ANGELES, CAL., September 5.—R. W. Moon, general manager of the Swanson Sales Co., of this city, distributor of the Swanson portable phonograph, is at present away on an extended sales trip, and according to his present plans will visit twenty-five of the leading trade centers throughout the country. Mr. Moon will spend a few days at the Chicago office of the company, and will then proceed to New York, where the company has also established offices.

During the past few months the Swanson Sales Co. has received inquiries from many of the leading cities and territories asking for jobber and dealer franchises for the Swanson phonograph. Mr. Moon is planning to call upon the majority of these inquirers, and judging from the success already achieved by the Swanson phonograph, he will have a number of important announcements to make upon his return to Los Angeles.

PHONOGRAPHS TO SOOTHE INSANE

Six Machines Purchased by County Supervisor for Jersey City Insane Asylum

JERSEY CITY, N. J., September 4.—Six phonographs have been ordered by County Supervisor John F. O'Neill, one for each ward in the County Insane Asylum at Laurel Hill. This was prompted by observation that the mental patients at Laurel Hill have appeared to be greatly soothed by the weekly concerts given there every Wednesday night under the same auspices. Under the seating arrangements at these concerts the insane have the "front rows" on the lawn, with the tubercular patients seated above on the first terrace and the almshouse inmates on the second terrace, and after every concert this year the insane have been much more quiet, those who are naturally noisy, than before the concert began; hence the idea of supplying music right in the wards by means of phonographs. Freeholder Frank Boland is chairman of the County Insane Asylum Committee.

Alwin Wild, of Hobart, Ind., has added a very fine line of talking machines and records to his regular business.

NEW SERIES OF SONORA POSTERS

Plan to Issue Two Posters a Month With the Series Probably Going Through Entire Year

L. C. Lincoln, advertising manager of the Sonora Phonograph Co., New York, announced recently that the company had just prepared a striking new series of posters which he believed would be received enthusiastically by Sonora dealers everywhere. It is planned to issue two posters a month, the series probably going through an entire year. Each poster will illustrationally striking, following the most successful and popular foreign poster styles. The accompanying illustration, showing the first two posters, hardly does justice to their distinctiveness and originality, as the color scheme of each poster is one of its most important features.

HELP MAKE THE NATION MUSICAL

Under the caption, "Helping to Make Nation Musical," the editor of the Vancouver, B. C., Sunday Sun says:

"Just as scholarships have been given by men

Two New and Very Attractive Posters Issued by Sonora Phonograph Co., New York

trate a scene from a popular opera and the whole series will form a de luxe catalog of Sonora product, as each poster will display a different Sonora model in the natural colors of the wood.

Mr. Lincoln, who is a firm believer in the publicity value of posters that are attractively designed, devoted considerable time and attention to the preparation of the new series, and he has already made plans for practically the entire year's campaign. The first poster in the series is called "The Spirit of Music," and the second one is a scene from the opera "The Love of Three Kings." The color designs are ex-to stimulate interest in trade and in technical education, just as schools and libraries have been erected for the poor to enable them to be better fitted to gain material wealth, so also there should be funds for the poor to secure a musical education.

"The talking machine can do much to stimulate and prepare the way for such an education. What better outlet could be found for the surplus funds of philanthropists than the placing of musical machines in the homes of the needy? By such philanthropy the poor in Canada could have the opportunity of hearing the best in music produced by the finest musicians in the world. Phonographs could be purchased or rented on the time payment plan, such as most retail music houses now use, and by means of a controlled free library of worthwhile records of all companies all the musical literature of the world could be placed at their disposal.

"Music would thus become a part of the daily life of the people. This would help Canada to become a truly great musical nation, and she would, moreover, develop spiritually as she has attained material progress."

CLEVER STUNT AIDS NEEDLE SALES

ROCKFORD, ILL., September 2.—The Sandeen Music House, Columbia dealer of this city, has evolved a clever plan to stimulate the sale of needles and impress on the minds of the customers the necessity of frequent changes of needles for the best results from talking machines. In each record demonstration booth a cardboard disk which bears the following message has been placed in a conspicuous place: "Observe—Change needles for each record played. Use steel needles only once and save records."

When you think you have reached the limit try to beat that record. Even if you do not succeed in doing so you will at least have the satisfaction of having tried and undoubtedly you will have accomplished more than would have been the case otherwise.

Ward's Khaki Moving Covers

Grade "D" Cover with No. 3 Straps

Distributors

BRISTOL & BARBER, INC.,
3 E. 14th St., New York City

C. L. MARSHALL CO., INC.,
Butler Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

W. D. & C. N. ANDREWS,
Buffalo, N. Y.

SHERMAN, CLAY & CO.,
741 Mission St., San Francisco, Cal.

Prices of Covers

For table or small machines, without straps	Net $3.65
For cabinet or large machines, without straps:
Grade D, medium size	5.35
Grade D, large size	5.65
Grade K, medium size	6.65
Grade K, large size	7.35

Grade K has double-weight padding and each upright corner is reinforced with a 9-inch strip of quilting of same materials as body.

The medium cover for any make of machine corresponds in size to the Victrola Nos. 10 and 11, Edison Nos. 100 and 150, Columbia Nos. 75 and 100, Sonora, Baby Grand, Imperial and Troubadour. The large cover is for all larger cabinet machines of any make.

Ward's Detroit Cover With Straps Attached
The only cover on the market with this special feature. It eliminates all possibility of straps becoming misplaced or lost.

Medium size	$6.65
Large size	7.00

Slip-on Dust Covers, for wareroom and home, medium size $1.70, Large size $2.00.

Also complete line of Covers for Console Model Machine. Prices on application.

THE C. E. WARD CO.
(Well-Known Lodge Regalia House)
101 William Street New London, Ohio
Also Manufacturers of Rubberized Covers and Dust Covers for the Wareroom

GOLDMAN BAND RECORDS FOR VICTOR

Famous New York Organization, Under Baton of Edwin Franko Goldman, Makes Records of Two of His Popular Marches—Organization Has Been Acclaimed by More Than a Million New Yorkers During the Summer

The admirers of Edwin Franko Goldman, director of the Goldman Band, which delighted hundreds of thousands during the Summer months with its concerts on Columbia Green, New York, will be greatly pleased to learn that he has closed a contract with the Victor Talking Machine Co. whereby this organization will make records for the Victor Co. The Goldman Band made its first recordings early this month in the Victor laboratories when two of Mr. Goldman's very popular and stirring marches, the "Chimes of Liberty" and "The Sagamore," were recorded. These two compositions will appear on a double disc and will be ready for the tradè probably in November. Other recordings of Mr. Goldman's compositions, as well as interpretations by this band of the works of other composers, will appear in the Victor catalog in due course.

The Goldman Band has won a most unique place in the hearts of New Yorkers. It is a splendid body of artists, and has brought the best in the domain of classical music as well as the choicest of popular music to the people of the city practically without cost, for, thanks to a number of public-spirited citizens, Mr. Goldman has been able to finance this organization for several seasons. It seems to us the Goldman Band should now win a larger measure of support from the public at large who can appreciate the tremendous cultural value of good music in the community. A small yearly appropriation from each attendant at the concert would be the most substantial mark of appreciation of the great work which Mr. Goldman and his band have accomplished for the development of musical taste and appreciation in our great city.

During the season of twelve weeks which ended September 8 more than sixty concerts were given by Goldman's Band in New York City, and it is estimated that nearly a million people heard its music during the Summer. The success of Goldman's Band and its popular conductor has been so marked that arrangements for 1923 will include a longer season and possibly a tour of the country.

Through the Victor records of the Goldman Band, the merits of this organization will now be brought to the attention of a wider clientele of music-lovers throughout the nation.

P. S. KANTNER A VISITOR

San Francisco Columbia Co. Manager Optimistic Over Fall Outlook

P. S. Kantner, manager of the San Francisco branch of the Columbia Graphophone Co., arrived in New York recently for a visit to the executive offices. Mr. Kantner, who was only recently appointed to the important post he now occupies, attained phenomenal success as acting manager of the San Francisco branch, and, under his capable direction, Columbia product has advanced steadily in popularity throughout northern California.

Mr. Kantner states that northern California is carrying on an extensive advertising campaign at the present time, and that through the activities of the various Chambers of Commerce in that section of the country a fund of $1,000,000 has been subscribed for advertising its resources. Mr. Kantner reports that merchants and manufacturers are looking forward to the biggest Fall business in years and that outside of the months of April and May California has felt the business depression only slightly.

The brilliant and speedy worker who occasionally sleeps by the wayside as exemplified in the fable of the Hare and the Tortoise is very often passed by the persistent plodder even as the tortoise passed the hare.

PATHE REORGANIZATION NEAR

Only Matter of Weeks Before Receivers-in-Equity Will Be Discharged and Pathé Sound Wave Corp. Take Over the Business

The last barrier in the process of reorganization of the Pathé Frères Phonograph Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., has been passed and it is now only a matter of weeks before it is expected that the receivers-in-equity will be discharged and the newly organized Pathé Sound Wave Corp. will take over the business of the Pathé Frères Phonograph Co. The consent of the creditors was practically unanimous to the plans submitted by the reorganization committee and it only awaited the approval of the banks holding the mortgage on the large Pathé plant in Brooklyn. This was recently secured and immediately plans for the completion of the reorganization were put into execution.

The record end of the business has been phenomenal. Although daily production during the Summer months has reached a large figure, the demands now being received are increasing daily and it is expected that Fall business will exceed former records. The popular price at which Pathé Actuelle needle-cut records have been placed continues to stimulate the sales of these records and the market for Pathé sapphire-cut records is keeping up in a satisfactory manner.

HANDY RECORD CO. INCORPORATED

Papers were filed with the Secretary of State at Albany, on August 30, for the incorporation of the Handy Record Co., New York City, with a capital of $25,000. The incorporators are: W. C. and L. M. Handy.

TO ENLARGE DEPARTMENT

Plans for enlarging its talking machine department are under consideration by The Browning Bros. Co., Ogden, Utah. The concern has enjoyed a steady increase in its talking machine sales.

HARPONOLA

The Phonograph with the Golden Voice

The new models are ready,—ready to help you make big profits on the Fall and Holiday trade.

Ready to build a greater good will for the sweet, rich and full Harponola tone.

Ready to prove that the mechanical excellence, always a feature of Harponola Machines, has a fitting resting place in the superb and graceful new Harponola cabinets.

Write for the Harponola Proposition

It's among the most liberal in the trade. It's been a huge profit maker for hundreds of dealers and jobbers,—AND CAN BE FOR YOU. Write, right now.

THE HARPONOLA COMPANY

101 MERCELINA PARK
CELINA, OHIO

Edmund Brandts, President

GRAFONOLA OIL and GRAFONOLA POLISH
—To “limber up” the Grafonola after returning from summer vacation. See your Dealer Service man. He can provide both.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

SALT LAKE CITY

Marked Improvement in Trade Despite Labor Troubles—Music Week in October—The Radio Situation—News Happenings of the Month

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, September 6.—The talking machine business is rather good, dealers report, with a very fair demand for instruments as well as records. The portable models are in demand for school purposes, though many of these instruments have been sold for outing purposes. The strikes are hurting business somewhat.

It is expected that Music Week—the first ever held here—will be staged during the Mormon Conference and the State Fair, which are held the first week in October. Just what form the festival will take is not known at this writing. President Norberg, of the Utah Association of Music Industries, told your correspondent that the music trade interests were very anxious to keep in the background as far as possible, as they did not wish to convey the impression that they were the only persons back of the movement and were in it for selfish reasons. It is likely that the school children will take a prominent part in the festivities and President Norberg said that was one reason why the week was postponed till October, as it would give the children time to get their bearings after the Summer holidays.

Oscar W. Ray, manager of the wholesale Vocalion record department of the Aeolian Co., was a recent local visitor.

The Ogden store of the Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co. has a novel way of distributing its free literature. The big Victor dog belonging to the store is placed on the sidewalk near the curb and in his mouth is placed a little basket, which holds the literature. A written invitation to “Take One” is attached to the dog.

Frank Madsen, of the talking machine department, Lyric Music Co., Ogden, is home after a month’s trip to the East, which was spent on business.

The talking machine department of the Browning Bros. Co., Ogden, is to be enlarged in the near future, according to R. G. Thomas, in charge. Mr. Thomas said new booths, among other things, would be added.

George S. Glen, president of the Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co., and in charge of the company’s business at Ogden, reports a brisk demand for the new console models, especially Edisons and Victors. Mr. Glen said he anticipated a good Fall business, provided the strikes have not done too much damage.

Henry Gardner, manager of the phonograph department of the Daynes-Beebe Music Co., says business is improving. Mr. Gardner was in charge of the musical program at the Mormon Temple Excursion at Saltair during the earlier part of the month. He leads the Temple Choir.

The Thatcher Music Co., of Logan City, gave a silver loving cup for the winner of the music memory contest in Cache Valley recently. This contest helped the sales of machines and records considerably, a member of the firm said.

John Elliot Clark, local Victor agent, his mother, Mrs. Frances Elliot Clark, and son have gone to Yellowstone National Park on a vacation, making the trip by auto. Mrs. Clark is a brilliant woman and is head of the educational department of the Victor Talking Machine Co.

Spencer Eccles, president of the Thatcher Music Co., of Logan, was a visitor to the factory of the Victor company some time ago and says he was much impressed with what he saw.

Radio is not proving quite so successful in the mountain country as was at first thought. The head of a local radio company says the mountains are a hindrance to the transmission of sound waves. It is hoped, however, that this may be overcome. Recently a crowd of 2,000 persons, about half the population of a certain country town, assembled to hear a concert that was being given in Salt Lake City, but not one word or note was conveyed to them and the affair was a dismal failure.

William Berry, of New Orleans, has been made manager of the talking machine department of the Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co., succeeding George A. Bolduc, who resigned some weeks ago to accept a position in the Middle West. It is not expected, however, that Mr. Berry will be able to assume his new duties till October 1 or later.

The Utah Phonograph Co. has moved from Main street to a location on East Third South street or Broadway near the Municipal Market.

STRONG AUGUST RECORD DEMAND

Dance Numbers Have a Particularly Strong Appeal, Reports Regal Record Co.

The Regal Record Co., 18 West Twentieth street, New York, states that the August demand for records was most brisk. This was particularly true of dance numbers, and the sales department reports that “Three O’Clock in the Morning,” the popular waltz, had one of the largest sales ever known.

The Regal Co. makes it a special point of issuing monthly lists which feature the better sellers and include all the active current numbers, as well as some carefully selected titles that are just coming into popularity.

HENRY BURR

ALBERT CAMPBELL

JOHN MEYERS

EIGHT FAMOUS VICTOR ARTISTS

In Concert and Entertainment
 Personal Appearance of

Eight Popular Victor Favorites on One Program

A live attraction for live dealers and jobbers

Bookings now for season 1922-1923
 Sample program and particulars upon request

P. W. SIMON, Manager
 1658 Broadway New York City

FRANK CROXTON

MONROE SILVER

BILLY MURRAY

FRED VAN EPS

FRANK BANTA

Famous Ensembles including
 Campbell & Burr - Sterling Trio - Peerless Quartet

WARNING! This Melody is Contagious!
Once you "get it" you can't forget it!

COAL BLACK MAMMY

Europe's Latest and Biggest Fox Trot Tune

"You can't go wrong With any FEIST song"

'Cause I'm goin', yes, I'm goin' with a love that's ever growin' to that Coal Black Mammy o' mine—

ARTISTIC BRUNSWICK DISPLAY ROOMS

New York Offices Handsomely Rearranged—
New Equipment Throughout—Model Brunswick Retail Shop for Use of Dealers Is Shown —Various Brunswick Models on Display

The offices of the phonograph division of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., New York, now present a very striking and attractive appearance after a complete renovation and the installation of new equipment and fixtures. The entire offices have been rearranged and a large display room has been equipped with every modern convenience known for the retail selling of Brunswick phonographs and records.

As one enters the main door of the office a splendid display of all models of Brunswick phonographs, artistically grouped in the center of the showroom, is on view. The grouping of these models is impressive, creating an effect of beauty, and showing to advantage Brunswick designs and Brunswick craftsmanship. On ivory panels throughout the room framed pictures of Brunswick artists are shown, adding a pleasing touch of color.

The Model Brunswick Retail Shop

In the rear of the display room is shown a model Brunswick retail shop, equipped with a complete equipment for the retail dealer, such as artistically trimmed windows, private hearing rooms, modern record racks and record counters, and also a showcase containing phonograph accessories. This model shop is finished in glazed ivory and equipped with florentine lights, all of which typify the ideal Brunswick retail store.

This entire exhibit will remain a permanent feature of the Brunswick offices and it is expected that Brunswick dealers all over the East can come here and get pointers in arranging their own stores. It is a service which the Brunswick offices in New York have to offer dealers that will be appreciated and demonstrates the co-operation which the Brunswick Co. is continually striving to give to its dealers. This progressive move is one of many which the New York offices are planning for the Fall and Winter business, and it is expected that with this new move Brunswick sales totals this Fall and Winter will show a decided increase.

A Means of Time-Saving and Customer-Saving

By ROBERT N. STANNARD

"We're out of that record," replied the saleslady, fingering her memorandum pad and pencil, "but if you'll give me your name and address we'll get it and send it to you."

It is difficult for a customer to refuse such a request, for it serves to impress on him that his trade is wished for and that the store's being out of that number was an exceptional occurrence rather than a general condition.

Any shop that lets a customer get out without offering such service is overlooking what ought to be an obvious principle: that a satisfied customer comes again.

In nine cases out of ten, unless the customer is in a great hurry for the record, such a request is complied with.

The salesgirl, in addition to having a memorandum of an "out-of-stock" record, has a prospect's name and address, which is valuable in itself. When the record is finally delivered to the customer a monthly catalog of current records or other advertising literature of the store may be mailed. It would serve not only the usual purpose of such literature, but might further impress the customer with the fact that your store wishes his trade in particular, inasmuch as he was compelled once to wait or go without.

Consider the opposite course of action and it will show the value of the above. If the customer sees no memorandum of the record that is not stocked he will think the store is not up to date or fully equipped, and he may feel that his custom is not especially desired. Having no memorandum, the clerk is likely to forget to order the number. Perhaps the customer calls again for the record and finds it is not in stock yet. His original impression is intensified.

So there are three ways in which such memoranda are of value to the phonograph shop. First—It reminds you to order it. Second—It gives you a prospect's name and address. Third—It favorably impresses the customer if made before his eyes.

Out-of-stock memoranda may be made to serve in other ways just as sales records are for the purpose of classifying customers' wants and re-orders. If it is not thought wise to stock on one call for some particular number, when a sufficient number of calls come for it it would be wise to stock it. The "out" memo gives you an exact record without guesswork.

WHERE PHONOGRAPH IS BARRED

Court in Massachusetts Issues Injunction Against Use of Phonograph in Public Where It Annoys Neighboring Merchants

The use of a phonograph at the entrance to a store for advertising purposes may be the subject for an injunction and damages if the noise produced by it constitutes a public nuisance, according to the decision of Judge De Courcy in sustaining a previous equity decision in Suffolk County, Mass., recently.

Owners of nearby stores brought the suit, and were awarded damages for the "gradual wear on their nervous systems, in some instances producing headaches," and an injunction to prevent overloud tones being played to attract attention to the store's wares was obtained and upheld in spite of the defendant's demurrer.

Remember, no band leader can produce faultless music if even the humblest player doesn't play in the right key. Are you playing in the right key?

TRUCKS

The Lea Phonograph and Talking Machine Truck must be used to be appreciated.

With it one man can handle the Edison Chippendale, Victor No. XVII, Cheney No. 6 Queen Anne and other large models. This truck also fits the smaller sizes.

It is only a one-man job to deliver your instrument from the showroom to any apartment floor.

Piano trucks, hoists, covers, straps, movers' supplies. May we send you a circular and prices?

Made only by

Self Lifting Piano Truck Co.
FINDLAY, OHIO

Okeh Records

AND

CONSOLIDATED SERVICE

Signify

Profits
Rapid Turnover
Promptness
Co-operation

Okeh Records give the dealer greatest satisfaction and profit. We carry a large stock at all times. Consolidated service insures quick delivery of the latest releases, prompt attention to all orders and the closest co-operation.

Are you receiving your share of profits from the increasing demand for Okeh Records?

Write us for full information about an Okeh Agency.

Consolidated Talking Machine Co.

227 W. Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.

Detroit Branch: 2957 Gratiot Avenue

MARION HARRIS

Announcing
MARION HARRIS
Exclusive Brunswick Artist

A brand new star in the Brunswick constellation! Another celebrity already well known to the millions! A famous singer with a personal following on two continents. Whose very name would sell almost any record.

Reigning Queen of Popular Songdom and World-Wide Vaudeville favorite signs exclusive contract with Brunswick.

Her first two Brunswick Records are brilliant examples of her charming voice and personality as well as the fidelity of Brunswick recording.

No. 2309—I'm Just Wild About Harry
(Song Hit from "Shuffle Along")

My Cradle Melody (Darky Croon Lullaby)

Accompaniment by Isham Jones' Orchestra

No. 2310—Sweet Indiana Home

Blue

Accompaniment by Isham Jones' Orchestra

More Marion Harris Records soon

Brunswick Records can be played on any phonograph

THE BRUNSWICK-BALKE-COLLENDER CO.

Established 1845

CHICAGO NEW YORK CINCINNATI TORONTO

BRUNSWICK
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

EVERYBODY'S T. M. CO. IN NEW HOME

Makers of Well-known Honest Quaker Main Springs in Attractive Quarters at 810 Arch Street, Philadelphia—Increased Distribution of Product at Home and Abroad—Fall Campaign Will Be Vigorously Conducted

PHILADELPHIA, PA., September 8.—Arch street, which seems to have become the headquarters for talking machine wholesale houses in this city, has added a new neighbor in Everybody's Talking Machine Co., which has recently moved to attractive quarters at No. 810. The entire street floor and basement have been secured, thereby affording the maximum facilities for the conduct of the business. Efficient stock filing equipment has been installed and the new quarters greatly exceed the old in floor space. It was stated by an official of the company that this move was made imperative by the remarkable growth of its business. This company hitherto conducted its business in a successful manner at 38 North Eighth street, and has built up an enviable reputation as the maker of Honest Quaker main springs. It is also the manufacturer of motors, tone arms, sound boxes and other talking machine accessories. The executives of the company are strong believers in quality product and have closely adhered to this policy in the lines which the company makes.

The distribution of the products of this company has been greatly increased and Honest Quaker main springs and other products of Everybody's Talking Machine Co. can now be purchased from coast to coast in the United States and in Canada, Mexico and Porto Rico as well. Agents have also been appointed for foreign distribution. Much care has been exercised in the selection of proper distribution and many well-known wholesalers who have established a reputation for first quality merchandise have been appointed. S. Fingrudt, secretary of the company, states that with the co-operation of these distributors the sales of Honest Quaker main springs during the past six months have eclipsed any like period in the history of the organization.

With the distribution well taken care of, an extensive Fall campaign has been inaugurated. Mr. Fingrudt stated: "We have selected The Talking Machine World to bring our message to the general trade in the United States and we plan to publish monthly interesting educational information regarding the importance of the phonograph mainspring and mica diaphragm."

The various sales representatives of the company, Philip E. Grabuski, William Braiterman and Paul Susselman, are energetically calling upon the trade and have already secured excellent Fall business.

The reason happiness never hatches for some people is because they keep chasing the hen off the nest.—Toledo Blade.

W. C. FUHRI'S IMPORTANT POST

Well-known Talking Machine Executive Now General Manager of Okeh Record Division—Ideally Qualified for Important New Duties

Otto Heineman, president of the General Phonograph Corp., New York, announced this week the appointment of W. C. Fuhri as general manager of the company's Okeh record division. Mr. Fuhri, who is one of the best-known talking machine men in the country, has been associated with the General Phonograph Corp. for the past three years as general sales manager of the Okeh record department, and in this capacity has attained exceptional success.

W. C. Fuhri

W. C. Fuhri numbers among his personal friends dealers from one end of the country to the other, as for over twenty years he has been identified with talking machine activities. For many years Mr. Fuhri was associated with the Columbia Graphophone Co., occupying important executive and administrative positions that brought him in close touch with the dealers throughout the country. His lengthy experience has given him a thorough knowledge of every phase of record merchandising, and, moreover, has enabled him to thoroughly appreciate the dealers' requirements and co-operate with the retailers accordingly.

During the past year Okeh records have advanced steadily in prestige and popularity throughout the country, and this success may be attributed to the quality of the record plus the intensive co-operation afforded Okeh jobbers and dealers. Mr. Fuhri spends very little time in New York, preferring to visit the jobbers and dealers in their respective territories, and this policy has been an important factor in the development of the Okeh sales organization.

DOUBLING GENNETT RECORD OUTPUT

Half of New Presses to Be in Operation on September 15 and Balance Ready in December

RICHMOND, IND., September 7.—The Starr Piano Co. makes the important announcement that work has started on the proposed doubling of the output of Gennett records in an effort to meet the steadily increasing demand for those records. The first additional battery of presses for that purpose is now in transit to the factory and it is hoped to have them set up and in operation by September 15. Sufficient equipment to double the present record output is scheduled to be ready for operation by December 1. When all the new presses are in operation at capacity the output will be 30,000 Gennett records per day.

Despite the increased facilities the company expects to have some difficulty in meeting the record demand in full during the Fall and Winter months inasmuch as the record business of the company has increased almost 300 per cent over that of last year, with an even larger percentage on phonographs.

E. L. BROWN SUCCEEDS E. L. GARLAND

Edw. Strauss Announces Mr. Brown's Appointment As Brunswick Representative for New Jersey—Well Equipped for This Position

Edward Strauss, manager of the New York offices of the phonograph division of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., recently announced that E. L. Brown, well known in talking machine circles in New York City, has been appointed Brunswick representative for the State of New Jersey, taking over the territory left vacant by E. L. Garland, who has resigned. Mr. Brown is well versed in talking machine selling and comes to the Brunswick Co. well equipped to take over this active territory, and already he has shown that he can offer the Brunswick dealers a service that is bound to win for him many fast friends.

ANOTHER POST FOR IRWIN KURTZ

Irwin Kurtz, well known in the metropolitan district as a live talking machine dealer, and president of the Talking Machine Men, Inc., has been appointed by Judge Mack to act as receiver for a men's furnishing concern at 237 Sixth avenue, New York, which has filed a bankruptcy petition. Mr. Kurtz is also a lawyer.

Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy.—Emerson.

ZENDA FOX TROT

THE COAST TO COAST SENSATION

from Rex Ingram's

"PRISONER OF ZENDA"

Published by BELWIN, Inc., 701 Seventh Avenue, New York, N. Y.

ANNOUNCE NEW LONG CONSOLES

Two New Cabinets With Wood-paneled Doors Now Ready for Trade—New Prices Announced on Other Long Consoles

H. C. Naill, of the Geo. A. Long Cabinet Co., Hanover, Pa., manufacturer of Long consoles and record cabinets, was a recent visitor to New York. While here he introduced to the trade two new Long consoles which will be known as Nos. 608 and 610. These new cabinets are equipped with wood-paneled doors and provide a splendid housing for the Victrola VI, with shelves for albums.

These recent additions to the Long console line have been received enthusiastically by all of the dealers who have had an opportunity of seeing them, and Mr. Naill is making arrangements whereby the factory capacity of the Long plant will be enlarged in order to give the trade maximum service and co-operation during the Fall and holiday season.

The widely known Long consoles Nos. 601 (Colonial), 602 (Louis XV) and 603 (Chipendale) are still retained in the Long line at prices lower than heretofore. Mr. Naill expects that there will be a tremendous demand for these cabinets during the next few months, and factory facilities have been provided accordingly.

The Geo. A. Long Cabinet Co. was the pioneer in the introduction of console cabinets to accommodate the Victrola VI and Victrola IV, placing these cabinets on the market some two years ago. The cabinets met with immediate success and are now being merchandised by dealers throughout the country.

There is no truer test of a man's qualities for permanent success than the way he takes criticism. The little-minded man can't stand it. It pricks his egotism. He "crawfishes." He makes excuses. Then, when he finds that excuses won't take the place of results, he sulks and pouts. It never occurs to him that he might profit from the experience.—Thomas A. Edison.

H. N. McMenimen
Consulting Engineer

Consultation by appointment on every phase of the phonograph industry, including:

Recording, Plating and Pressing

Motor, Tone-Arm and Reproducer Design

Patent and Model Development

Sales Promotion and Advertising Plans

Laboratory:

Scotch Plains, N. J.
Tel. Fanwood 1438

Offices:

2 Rector Street, New York
Tel. Rector 1484

HAWAIIAN MUSIC AGAIN POPULAR

L. L. Leverich, Columbia Advertising Manager, Gives Interesting Views on Timely Subject—Popularity of Hawaiian Music Is Increasing

The Columbia Graphophone Co. will include in its October list an interesting record by Ferera's Hawaiian Instrumental Quartet, representing something new and different in the way of Hawaiian music. Two Hawaiian guitars, a violin and a flute make up the quartet, and the combination is ideally suited to satisfy the requirements of admirers of Hawaiian music.

Commenting upon the recent demand for music of the Hawaiian type, Lester L. Leverich, advertising manager of the Columbia Graphophone Co., stated as follows in a recent chat with The World:

"The keen observer will note that such things as advertising, art, modes and music travel in cycles. There are styles in music just as there are styles in gowns. These styles come into vogue, flourish for a time, then pass on—but only temporarily. Sooner or later they make their complete swing around the circle and come back to the attention of Mr. and Mrs. Public Demand. They may be cut a trifle differently here and shaped somewhat differently there, but fundamentally they are the same styles that flourished months or years before.

"Looking back a few years we come to the period in which Hawaiian music set the style. What started it is difficult to say. The consensus of opinion seems to be that it was borne in on the tidal wave of desire for things Hawaiian created by Laurette Taylor when she presented 'The Bird of Paradise.'

"Columbia was among the first of the record manufacturers to list Hawaiian numbers in anticipation for the demand for the mysterious, weirdly wistful South Sea melodies brought to our shores on the singing wires of the Hawaiian guitar and the ukulele. Then, for a time, the minds of the people passed on to other musical styles—styles too numerous to mention, for the public taste is a fickle one.

"Slowly, but surely, however, the long pendulum is swinging back. The strong breezes are starting to blow in again off the Pacific carrying with them this message from the land of perpetual sunshine—'Hawaiian music is coming back.' Many signs point out the truth of this message. The outstanding hit of 'Good Morning, Dearie,' which just closed after a phenomenal run on Broadway, was a Hawaiian air. You all know it—'Ka-Lu-A.' One of the most-talked-of numbers of this year's 'Follies' is a Hawaiian number, 'Neath a South Sea Moon.' Everyone hums it or whistles it coming out of the theatre and for days afterwards.

"At the beaches, every group of bathers has its little bobbed-haired flapper with her ukulele. Sitting in the middle of her circle of admirers, she strums away while everyone joins in the chorus. No matter what they sing, they always end up with 'Aloha Oe.' Again the Hawaiian atmosphere. Does the flapper keep up-to-date? We'll say she does."

L. A. JACOBI RESIGNS

L. A. Jacobi, for the past two years manager of the Newark, N. J., store of Landay Bros., resigned early this month and announced his intention of taking a much-needed rest and vacation. Mr. Jacobi, who is well known in the retail and wholesale field, has not definitely decided on his plans for the future, but is giving deep consideration to going into the retail business for himself.

ENLARGE VICTOR DEPARTMENT

The B. S. Porter Son Co., Lima, O., has rearranged its entire store and enlarged the Victrola department to take care of the growing business. Wm. M. Snyder, in charge of the section, states a fine increase is recorded in both city and country sales.

$350,000 DEAL IN LIMA, O.

Rowlands Bros. Buy Business of Harmon Furniture Co., Including Large Talking Machine Department—Will Be Made Part of Chain

LIMA, O., September 2.—A Lima transaction of more than ordinary importance was the sale of the F. E. Harmon Furniture Co. to Rowlands Bros. The deal embraced the store building and the entire stock, including the Victrola and Edison talking machine and record stocks.

The new owners, Chas. H. Rowlands, of Columbus, O., and Alfred R. Rowlands, Mansfield, O., are two of the foremost and largest owners of chain stores in the country. They now control thirty stores. The approximate cost of the building and business is said to be $350,000. The structure, which is five stories, will be improved and a complete new stock installed.

The Paulin Music Co., Santa Barbara, Cal., has filed articles of incorporation. The concern is capitalized at $100,000.

KODISK

A Metal Disk for Home Recording

Kodisk Recorder fits all phonographs. Kodisk Recorder uses a steel needle to record and reproduce. Kodisk Recorder is simply constructed. Kodisk Records play on any phonograph the same as regular records. Send for a sample set. List price of Kodisk Recorder and twelve 8 inch double Kodisk Records, $13.20. Regular trade discount.

Write for our 100-page encyclopedia containing illustrations and prices of

Outing, Swanson, Plymouth, Standard, Orpheus and Stewart Portables

- Radio Apparatus
- Jones Motrola
- Recordola
- Attachments for Edison, Victor and Columbia
- Albums and Album Sets
- Bubble Bocks
- Cabinets, Record and Roll
- Record Carrying Cases
- Corrugated Boards
- Moving Covers
- Dust Covers
- Dancing Toys
- Envelopes, Record Delivery
- Stock and Supplement
- Geer and Gold Seal Repeaters
- Needles, Steel and Tungsten
- Fibre Needle Cutter
- Display Fixtures
- Record Lights
- Lubricants
- Motors
- Nameplates
- Piano and Duet Benches
- Player-Piano Cleaner
- Polishes
- Record Cleaners
- Tonearms and Sound Boxes
- Springs
- Strings

The Cabinet and Accessories Co.

Incorporated
OTTO GOLDSMITH, Pres.

145 East 34th St. New York

Our new headquarters after October 1st will be
3 WEST 16th ST., near Fifth Ave., New York

Announcing EMERSON OCTOBER RECORDS

Shipments Begin September 15th

POPULAR DANCE RECORDS

- 10538 { DANCING FOOL (Fox-trot).....Emerson Dance Orchestra
SOOTHING (Fox-trot).....Sydney Kleefeld Orchestra
- 10539 { NOBODY LIED (Fox-trot).....Strand Dance Orchestra
COO COO (Fox-trot).....Empire State Dance Orchestra
- 10540 { THE SNEAK (Fox-trot).....Globe Music Masters
SAY IT WHILE DANCING (Fox-trot).....Globe Music Masters
- 10541 { JUST BECAUSE YOU'RE YOU (Fox-trot)...Globe Music Masters FASCINATION (Fox-trot).....Emerson Dance Orchestra
- 10542 { GEORGETTE (Fox-trot).....Sydney Kleefeld Orchestra
PARADE OF THE WOODEN SOLDIERS
(Fox-trot).....Strand Dance Orchestra
- 10543 { CALL ME BACK, PAL O' MINE (Waltz).....Lauer's Orchestra
SWANEE RIVER MOON (Waltz)...Empire State Dance Orchestra
- #### POPULAR VOCAL RECORDS
- 10544 { OLD KENTUCKY MOONLIGHT.
Sung by.....Lewis James & Elliott Shaw
MY CRADLE MELODY. Sung by.....Crescent Trio

POPULAR VOCAL RECORDS

- 10545 { MARY, DEAR. Sung by.....Charles Harrison
SWEET INDIANA HOME. Sung by Lewis James & Elliott Shaw

STANDARD RECORDS

- 10514 { AMERICA. Male Quartet.....Criterion Male Quartet
STAR SPANGLED BANNER. Male Quartet..Criterion Male Quartet

NOVELTY AND COMEDY RECORDS

- 10291 { THE MOCKING BIRD. Monolog.....Billy Golden UNCLE JOSH'S BIRTHDAY. Monolog.....Billy Golden

IRISH RECORDS

- 10394 { MEDLEY OF IRISH JIGS. Irish Hornpipe.....Tom Ennis
MEDLEY OF IRISH REELS. Irish Hornpipe.....Tom Ennis
- 10344 { COUNTY KERRY MARY. Tenor Solo.....Hugh Donovan
WRAP THE GREEN FLAG 'ROUND ME,
BOYS. Tenor Solo.....Hugh Donovan

OTHERS FOR RAPID FUTURE RELEASES

EMERSON

For years the third largest record manufacturer in the World.

Serving thousands of prosperous dealers, large and small, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast.

Over 100,000,000 Emerson Records are in hundreds of thousands of American homes.

Over $2,000,000 has been spent in Emerson public and trade advertising, making this line one of the most prominent on the market.

Today Emerson Records Constitute a Bigger and Better Proposition Than Ever.

JOBBER'S' CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

Dealers: Write for New Releases and Terms

EMERSON PHONOGRAPH CO.

206 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK, N. Y.

A song by Nora Bayes is always like a beam of good, old, healthy sunshine. Her two latest, "Just Like a Violin" and "Good Mornin'" (It's mighty good to be home), will push the clouds away.

Stock this record and demonstrate it and your digits will put a fresh polish on the cash register keys. A-3669.

Columbia Graphophone Co.
NEW YORK

THE NEW FLAT TOP VICTROLAS

Two New Horizontal Models With Flat Tops, Numbers 210 and 230, Are Announced

The Victor Talking Machine Co. has just announced to the trade two new horizontal model Victrolas both with flat top and designed to meet an apparent demand for instruments of that type. Much interest attaches to the new styles from the fact that they are the first flat-top models to be put on the market by the Victor Co., although the previous styles in horizontal models marketed by the company some time ago have met with unusual success.

Victrola No. 210

The new models are known as Victrola No. 210, furnished in mahogany or walnut and listed

Victrola No. 230, Louis XV Design

at $100, and Victrola No. 230, Louis XV, furnished in mahogany and listed at $375, with electric motor at $415.

No. 230, most attractive in design, follows something along the lines of preceding horizontal Victrola models, to the extent of having the amplifying chamber and its doors in the center, with record filing space at the side. No. 210, however, follows along entirely new lines, the amplifying chamber occupying one-half of the cabinet, while the other half is given over to records. Both sides are fitted with doors.

No. 210 is fitted with a record rack which may be removed if it is desired to install record albums, while No. 230 comes equipped with record albums.

Deliveries of the two new models to wholesalers and through them to dealers will begin very shortly, and it is the opinion of the trade that the two new models will prove important factors in Fall and Winter business to an extent that will create a shortage in the new styles.

GRETSCH LINES IN DEMAND

E. E. Strong, general sales and advertising manager of the Fred. Gretsch Mfg. Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., reports a good demand well apportioned throughout the entire Gretsch line. Ukuleles are still selling very big and banjos are a close second. The market for good quality violins is also reported large. The Fred. Gretsch Mfg. Co. reports a number of new dealers have taken on the line and predicts good business for the Fall season.

INSPIRATION FROM HIGHER UP

Civically, socially and commercially we get our inspiration from the man higher up. An executive, no matter how small the business, should remember that. The optimism, the energy, the cheerfulness displayed by a head sets an example to every man and woman in the department.

NEW VOCALION RECORD DISTRIBUTOR

Munson, Rayner Corp., Los Angeles, to Handle Vocalion Red Records at Wholesale

LOS ANGELES, CAL., September 2.—The Munson, Rayner Corp., of this city, has been appointed distributor for the Vocalion Red Records, and arrangements have been made for installing a large department with a full stock of such records to facilitate prompt deliveries to dealers.

The arrangements with the new distributor were completed recently by Oscar W. Ray, manager of the wholesale Vocalion Record Division of the Aeolian Co., while on a business visit recently to this city.

REMODELING IN FT. WAYNE

Duessler Phonograph Shop Providing Enlarged Facilities for Handling Business

FORT WAYNE, IND., August 28.—The Duessler Phonograph Shop, 208 West Berry street, this city, is remodeling the interior of its store to provide additional facilities for the display and sale of Columbia and Brunswick phonographs and records.

The plans call for a special demonstration room for the Gulbransen reproducing piano, as well as several artistic booths for phonograph demonstrations. The interior will be finished entirely in white enamel with furnishings and equipment to match.

Superior Tone Quality

Bell Hood Needle

does it

Most natural tone reproductions

Try your favorite record with a Bell Hood Needle

Plays Many Times Without Changing

Now selling at 15 cents per package

BELL HOOD NEEDLE COMPANY

183 Church Street, New Haven, Conn., U. S. A.

C. R. JOHNSTONE
VICE-PRES., GEN. MGR.

THE BELL RECORDING CORP.,

Associated With National Metals Depositing Corporation

9 East 47th Street, New York City

BEST RECORDING

EXPERIENCED SPECIALISTS

LOUD AND CLEAR

LAST WORD IN QUALITY

We Specialize in Private Recording

and

General Recording for the Phonograph Trade

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR VOCALION DEALERS

Substantial Downward Revision of Prices Made on Fourteen Conventional and Period Models of Vocalions—Ten New Console Period Styles Now Ready for Trade

The Vocalion dealers, under date of August 30, received a most important double announcement from the Aeolian Co., one section calling attention to an interesting downward revision of prices on two conventional styles and on practically all current upright period styles of $315, now $275; Style 1633 was $375, now $300; Style 1617, was $365, now $325; Style 1623 was $400, now $350; Style 1627 was $425, now $375; Style 1629 was $495, now $395; Style 1615 was $425, now $395; Style 1625 was $475, now $425; Style 1631 was $525, now $465, and Style 1614, formerly $495, now $475.

In announcing the price reductions the company states that dealers will be rebated in full on all stock of the above-mentioned Vocalions which they have on hand as of September 1,

New Period Vocalion No. 1624

Vocalion machines, and the other to a new series of styles furnished in console period Vocalions.

It is expected that the reduction in prices of the various styles will prove of distinct advantage to retailers during the Fall in stimulating demand. The price changes are as follows:

Style 450, formerly listed at $150, now listed at $125; Style 650, formerly $185, now $160; Style 1635, period, formerly $325, now $250; Style 1619, formerly $285, now $265; Style 1621 was

New Period Vocalion No. 1632

New Period Vocalion No. 1626

New Period Vocalion No. 1618

1922, and purchased at the present prevailing wholesale prices.

The new console period models just announced, which are companion pieces to the upright period models that have proven very successful, are: Style 1620, listed at $285; style 1636, $300; Style 1634, $325; Style 1622, $350; Style 1618, $365; Style 1624, $385; Style 1628, $415; Style 1630, $450; Style 1626, $465, and Style 1632, $495. The various styles, four of which are reproduced herewith, are most attractive in every particular.

NATIONAL METALS DEPOSITING CORPORATION

FACTORY
34 East Sidney Ave., Mt. Vernon, N.Y.
Telephone: Oakwood 8845

MOUNT VERNON — NEW YORK
MANUFACTURERS OF

LABORATORY
415 Fourth Ave., New York, N.Y.
Tel. Madison Square 6635

WE DEPOSIT THE FINEST COPPER
IN THE WORLD

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
DELIVER RECORDED WAX
TO OUR LABORATORY

OUR
IMPROVEMENT
ALL STAMPERS
HAVE HIGHLY POLISHED
MACHINED BACKS

EACH SALE OF WALTER CAMP'S
"DAILY DOZEN"
 NETS YOU A WORTH-WHILE PROFIT

List Price

Now

$10.00

Usual Dealers' Discount

List Price

Now

$10.00

*Usual Dealers'
Discount*

An imitation "twelve" can never equal the "DAILY DOZEN," because any system of health exercise records cannot possibly be any greater than the man who conceives or directs them.

Walter Camp is recognized internationally as America's foremost athletic authority. His system, known as the "DAILY DOZEN," has been universally accepted as the acme of perfection in health exercise.

Dealers handling Walter Camp's "DAILY DOZEN" on HEALTH BUILDERS records have the satisfaction of knowing that they represent the original and best system of health records on the market.

HEALTH BUILDERS' national advertising has educated the public to look for Walter Camp's signature before buying physical exercise records.

None genuine without this signature: walcamp

WE INVITE YOU TO BE JUDGE AND JURY

Send to-day for a set of the "Daily Dozen" at the regular dealer discount. If after demonstration and comparison you wish to return it—do so—at our expense.

HEALTH BUILDERS

DEPARTMENT W9

334 FIFTH AVENUE

NEW YORK, N. Y.

DIAMOND JUVENILE CONSOLE

—a 3-way profit proposition

The reason we have been over-sold on this practical little machine almost from the start is not just because of its individual profit and quick sales possibilities. While six machines cost $90 and sell for $150, giving you a profit of $60, this is only the first feature.

The big point is that the Diamond Juvenile Console gives you a greatly increased buying audience for juvenile records and through children brings parents into the store more frequently. This always results in the sale of more regular records!

Your problem is to get more people into your store more frequently. This is what the Diamond Console has been accomplishing for the hundreds of dealers who have installed it as a basis for a real children's department.

A Real Musical Instrument for Children

Cabinet—Durable Diamond construction throughout. Made from selected veneers and hardwoods. Built with infinite care by experienced cabinet makers. Height, 24 inches; width, 14 inches; length, 28 inches.

Finish—Enameled in Gray, Blue and Ivory. Washable Finish. Blue or old rose silk grille.

Motor—Heineman motor — cut gears — cast frame — fully guaranteed — removable motor board.

Tonearm — Die Cast — nickel-plated—Artois reproducer.

Turntable — Special 9-inch felt faced—plays all records, 10 inch or smaller. Particularly adapted to all children's records — including Bubble Books.

List Price, $25.00 each
Six Machines or over $15.00 each
Less than six machines $16.50 each

Diamond Juvenile Furniture

Six pieces—4 chairs, table and costumer. Juvenile proportions. Durably made. Beautifully enameled and decorated. Makes perfect juvenile booth when installed with the Diamond Console.

Fine for window display.

Six Pieces—$17.50
F. O. B. Oswego, N. Y.

DISTRIBUTORS:

A. C. Erisman & Co.
174 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.
Consolidated Talking Machine Co.
227-229 N. Washington St., Chicago, Ill.
The Rudolph Wurlitzer Co.
121 East 4th Street, Cincinnati, Ohio
Cabinet & Accessories Co.
145 East 34th Street, New York City
Walter S. Gray Co.
942 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.
Munson, Rayner Corporation
315 So. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

Diamond No. 1 Rack 27½ inches high by 9½ inches deep by 16 inches wide. Finished in Ivory or Gray—$5.00 each. Finished in Mahogany—$6.00 each.

The Diamond Record Service Rack

TESTED and proved one of the greatest little sales boosters ever developed for the talking machine dealer. Made with two sections—one for selected records and one for rejected records. Automatically speeds up customers' decisions—sells more records in less time. Actually demonstrated that it creates more decisions for selected records than any method ever used. Eliminates breakage by customers. Has special background arrangement for display of whichever record you want to feature. Takes the place of the usual cluttered up table. Takes little room on the booth wall. Substantially made and nicely finished in enamel, the Diamond Record Service Rack will prove the biggest little investment you ever made.

Diamond No. 2 Rack 27½ inches high by 9½ inches deep by 28 inches wide. Finished in Ivory or Gray—$7.50 each; Finished in Mahogany—$9.00 each.

The Diamond Products Corporation

Executive Offices and Showrooms:

25 West 43rd Street, New York Factories: Oswego, N. Y.

TOLEDO

Sales Continue Climbing—Fall Outlook Good Despite Industrial Troubles—Month's News Budget

TOLEDO, O., September 6.—Talking machine merchants have experienced a substantial climb in sales the past month. While the increase was not as large as the previous month it was nevertheless of a favorable character—and this in spite of adverse conditions.

The railroad strike is being felt by music merchants rather acutely. Shipments are delayed and goods which customers are waiting for are lost in the railroad yard jams.

Music merchants in the Michigan resort territory and in the Lake resort regions have experienced a good Summer run of trade and feel that with the bumper crops harvested Fall trade will resume the normal seasonal trend. Moreover, the small-town merchant is back in the race and is adding to his store force and outside workers. He is going after business now because he is convinced there is a real opportunity to land a good percentage of his farmer customers, as well as others.

On the whole reports indicate that the undercurrent is moving strongly in the direction of complete industrial recovery. The settlement of the coal strike will drive the rumor hound to cover. He has brought about much unrest and his reports that large factories would soon close were indeed far-reaching and caused patrons to defer buying musical instruments.

Dealers Seeking Salesmen

According to Chas. H. Womeldorff, manager of the Toledo Talking Machine Co., one of the encouraging signs of the return to normal conditions is that dealers are seeking additional help for their talking machine departments. A number of requests have come from local and outside retailers asking for assistance in locating desirable workers.

A direct campaign exploiting the three Victor special releases to go on sale Friday, September 15, is under way. These are: "Struttin' at the Strutters' Ball," Zee Confrey and his orchestra; "The French Trot," All-Star Trio and Orchestra; "Why Should I Cry Over You?" Blues, The Virginians; "Say It While Dancing," Benson Orchestra, and "I'm Just Wild About Harry," Whiteman's Orchestra. These records will be featured; they will also appear in the October supplement. A great deal of interest is also being manifested in the two new flat-top Victrolas which will be offered shortly to the trade.

Meeting of Brunswick Dealers

A meeting of importance to Brunswick retailers was that held at the Hotel Secor recently. The group consisting of dealers and their workers was addressed by A. L. Fram, director of sales promotion for the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co. Sales and advertising plans as well as helps for the dealer were discussed. Much enthusiasm was manifested by those in attendance and the plans outlined were adopted. Luncheon was served and the meeting voted a highly helpful one.

100 Per Cent Business Growth

At the LaSalle & Koch Co. Victrola Shop the biggest increase for a single month experienced in a long period was recorded recently when a 100 per cent growth was marked up, according to R. O. Danforth, manager of the department. The store, with its dozens of departments, frequently holds contests destined to keep department heads on edge. A motor speedway was constructed with autos labeled 10 per cent, 25 per cent, 50 per cent, 100 per cent occupying places on the track. The Victrola Shop races with its 100 per cent label was up in the front practically from the start of the month. This unusual showing was so pleasing to the store interests that a coveted front window on Adams street was awarded for displaying the wares of the shop for one week.

The fine showing was accomplished through co-operating with store sales events, advertising and by getting a fair percentage of the talking machine owners who visit the large store daily to buy records and supplies there instead of merely purchasing the usual items and going elsewhere for talking machine merchandise.

On the day of the semi-annual remnant sale over 500 records were sold, also a number of talking machines. The theory that such a section cannot couple its efforts with sales going on in the store is all wrong. Timely combinations which were featured did much to add to the sales volume. Talking machine business for five days was equal to more than half the total recorded during an entire month in 1921.

Two New Salesmen for Greene Co.

At the J. W. Greene Co. sales are above those of last year at this time, E. A. Kopf states. A brisk Fall sales campaign is about to be launched. Two salesmen have been added to the force, Kenneth Frederick, formerly with the Cable Company, and Ralph J. Fisher. A feature which is adding to volume is a Victrola and Console mirror combination known as No. 260. This outfit, in conjunction with a dozen selections, moved rapidly. It is found that many folks prefer to buy an assortment such as this instead of being compelled to purchase each piece separately.

Miss Pulliver Speaks on Music Appreciation

At the Lucas County Teacher Institute, which convened in Toledo the last week in August, Miss Grazelle Pulliver, of Cleveland, addressed the group under the auspices of the J. W. Greene Co. Her topic was "Music Appreciation in the Schools," a subject uppermost in the minds of instructors at this season.

Selling Victrolas From Trucks

At Grinnell Bros. the Ford truck Victrola service, which was inaugurated recently and which goes direct to the consumer with machines, is proving a real asset to the department, R. C. Elwell states. As many Victrolas are sold in this manner on occasion as are sold in the store. However, the coupling of store efforts with outside work is responsible for the showing, it is said.

Manager A. J. Pete, of the Lion Store Victrola rooms, made a trip to the Merchandise Fair in New York, and to the Victor factory the latter part of August. This concern is making an investigation of radio possibilities and the part it will play in merchandising. Should events warrant, the radiophone will receive special attention in future store plans.

A Campaign on Advertising

The Da-Lite Electric Display Co. will renew its Fall advertising and sales campaign in September. A drive will be made to secure new users of its monthly Victor panel service. The sales force has been enlarged by the addition of two men, who will solicit the trade in the interest of Victor jobbers. One of these men will cover the Pacific Coast by way of the Southern route and it is expected Western headquarters will eventually be established in Los Angeles.

Buys W. B. Duck Co. Stock

Whitney, Blaine & Wildermuth Co., who acquired the Victrola stock of the W. B. Duck Co. recently, report a very favorable volume of sales. Fall plans include a drive to acquaint customers with the many features of the new upstairs store. One of these is that demonstration booths are supplied with washed air drawn into the building by means of fans. Among the late hits "Hot Lips," "Send Back My Honeyman" and "My Rambler Rose" are favored, Henry C. Wildermuth states.

Increased Call for Machines

Rae & Maxwell report a marked improvement in the demand for machines. A number of important contracts have been closed lately. Aeolian, Columbia and Jewett are dealt in.

Call for Foreign Records

Frank Fleightner, Columbia, Jewett and Vocalion dealer, is receiving a large number of calls for foreign selections, particularly Italian and Spanish. The demand for this type of music improves when the workers have plenty of cash. Their buying power is greater at this time than for months.

MANY INQUIRIES FROM DEALERS

M. S. Davis, president of the Encore Sales Co., New York City, general factory distributor for the Encore record re-player, reports that the initial announcement of the company last month resulted in inquiries from interested dealers in all sections of the country. Additional dealer helps in the way of literature, counter and window cards are being planned.

Main-Springs

For any Phonograph Motor
Best Tempered Steel

Inch	x 10 feet for all small motors	Each
3/8	" x 10 " " Pathe, Columbia, Heineman	$.35
1/2	" x 10 " " Columbia	.40
1	" x 11 " " Columbia with hooks	.50
1	" x 13 " " Victor, old style	.45
1	" x 15 " " Victor, new style	.50
1 1/4	" x 13 " " Victor, new or old style	.70
1	" x 12 " " Heineman and Pathe	.45
1	" x 10 " " Saal, Silvertone, Krasberg	.45
1	" x 13 " " Saal, Silvertone, Brunswick	.50
1	" x 16 " " Sonora, Brunswick, Saal	.60
1 3/16	" x 18 " " Heineman and Pathe	.75
1 1/2	" x 25 " " Edison Disc	1.50

SAPPHIRES—GENUINE

Pathe, very loud tone, each 150, 100 lots $11.00.
Edison Loud-tone, each 150; in 100 lots, $11.50.

TONE-ARMS

The very best, loud and clear, throw-back.....$4.50
With large reproducer, very loud, Universal..... 4.00
With smaller reproducer, but loud and clear..... 2.50

PHONOGRAPH NEEDLES

We can give you best price on Brilliantone, Magnedo, Wall-Kane, Tonofone, Nupoint, Gilt Edge, Inces and Velvotone Needles.

ORDER RIGHT FROM THIS AD

Send for price list of other repair parts and motors.
Terms—E. O. B. St. Louis, Mo. Send enough to cover postage or goods will be shipped by express.

The Val's Accessory House
1000-1002 Pine St. St. Louis, Mo.

Victor Wholesalers

The House
of Mellor
in Pittsburgh
since 1831

The Player-Tone
 IT'S SIMPLY GREAT.

No Better Tone Instrument
 In the World

—PRICE—

Will Sell Phonographs Today
 And We Have It

Every Player-Tone phonograph is exceptionally good, with the house back of it for years.

Player-Tone phonographs are masterful in their perfection of high grade cabinet work, exquisitely finished by skilled workmen, and when you sell one of these perfect tone producing instruments, you prepare the way for another Player-Tone sale.

The more closely you analyze our high grade construction, combined with perfect tone quality, the more fully will you realize its unqualified value.

We have liberal discounts for dealers with catalogue. Write for it today.

Player-Tone Talking Machine Co.

Office and Salesrooms

967 Liberty Avenue Pittsburgh, Pa.

$65.00
 Model 551
 Mahogany Only

$75.00
 Model 601
 Mahogany Only

$85.00
 Model 701
 Mahogany Only

$100.00
 Model 801
 Mahogany Only

EMERSON
 Model 40
 All gold equipment,
 with 5 record filing
 albums. $150.00

$150.00
 Model 901
 All Gold Equipment

$75.00
 Model 310
 Oak or Mahogany

$90.00
 Model 311
 Oak or Mahogany

$110.00
 Model 314
 Oak, Mahogany or Walnut

$125.00
 Model 316
 Oak or Mahogany

EMERSON
 Model 30
 All gold equipment,
 with 5 record filing
 albums. $135.00

MILWAUKEE

Trade Conditions Reviewed—Sonora Dealers Meet—Goldsmith Optimistic—Victor Dealers Discuss Situation—The Month's News

MILWAUKEE, Wis., September 10.—Industrial trade conditions, employment problems, crop reports and general economic market reviews of Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan are reflected in the wholesale talking machine market of this city. Agricultural districts are in a sound financial condition as bumper harvests are drawing to a close. Consequently the small-town dealer in phonographs and records is confidently laying in a large stock of machines and making general preparations for a good Fall business. All of this is directly attributed to the certain prospect of large food crops.

A corn and wheat crop equal to last year's excellent average and a hay crop that sets a record for preceding years are the reports of the crop survey for Wisconsin. With rural trade in an optimistic frame of mind, attention turns to that of the big city dealer.

During the Summer months sales of talking machines have been mounting steadily. There was no falling off in sales from the comparatively low June sales records to those of August. Most of the leading wholesalers and jobbers in Milwaukee, which is the center of trade for Wisconsin, Michigan peninsula and the northern Mississippi valley, found that trade was improving monthly. This has set a precedent over preceding years, for during the warm months a seasonal slump is generally experienced. With this excellent record behind them dealers and wholesalers are not as confident of future markets as they might be. The effect of the coal and railroad strikes on business is now their chief concern. Shipments of talking machines on Fall orders have been seriously hampered, wholesalers state. The railroads will be severely taxed even after the strike is settled. They will have to move an amount of coal in a few weeks which is usually spread over many months and the season of crop-moving has arrived. Fall orders are being filled as rapidly as possible, as dealers throughout the State send in requests for immediate shipments that they may have the stock on hand for display during the inception of their early advertising campaigns. Many of the State and county fairs scattered throughout the State find a sizable exhibit of local talking machine dealers on display.

Talking Machines at Household Exhibition

Milwaukee wholesalers are making extensive plans for their entrance in the Household Exhibition at the Auditorium in October. The Yahr & Lange Co., distributor of the Sonora; the Badger Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor; the J. B. Bradford Co., Brunswick representative, and other leading Milwaukee houses will be represented. The machines will be demonstrated before approximately 100,000 persons during Exposition Week.

Outing of Milwaukee Dealers

Music dealers of Milwaukee and Chicago met at Ravinia Park, Chicago, last month for the first annual intercity outing of merchants. Approximately five hundred merchants with their wives and families attended the outing. One hundred of the Milwaukee dealers chartered a special train for the trip to Chicago. Henry M. Steussy, sales manager in charge of Edison lines and Victrolas at the Kesselman-O'Driscoll Music House, was in charge of the Milwaukee delegation. At the intercity baseball game Sam Goldsmith, Badger Talking Machine Co., was the star of the invading nine. Hugh Holmes, of the J. B. Bradford Co., newly appointed Brunswick representative; Harry A. Goldsmith, secretary of the Badger Talking Machine Co.; S. R. Christopherson, sales manager of Yahr & Lange Co., wholesaler of the Sonora and Okeh lines; Florian Flanner, of the Flanner-Hafsoos Music House, Edison representative, were the leaders of the Milwaukee visitors. Next year the Milwaukee Music Industries will be the hosts to the Chicago dealers and wholesalers in a joint picnic at a popular Wisconsin resort, said Mr. Christopherson, secretary of the Milwaukee organization.

At the regular meeting of the Milwaukee Association of Music Industries, which was held in the Colonial room of the Wisconsin Hotel, routine business and plans for an active social and business campaign for Fall were discussed. Another meeting will be held later in September.

Yahr & Lange Co. Entertains Dealers

Prominent Sonora dealers of Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan held a sales conference and educational meeting in Milwaukee the closing days of August under the patronage of S. R. Christopherson, sales manager of the music merchandise division of the Yahr & Lange Co., distributor of the Sonora phonograph in Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa. Fred E. Yahr, president of the Yahr & Lange Co., delivered the address of welcome to the visitors assembled in the display rooms of the company, said to be the most elaborate and best furnished display rooms of any wholesaler in the Northwest. President Yahr conducted a personal tour through the large six-storied plant of the company prior to the opening meeting.

"Beautifying Your Store and Making Sales" was the title of the address made by President Howers, of the Adjustable Fixture Co., at the afternoon conference of the dealers. He spoke of the importance of atmosphere in the store, the returns that invariably came from the proper investments in furnishings and the proper fixtures for the console display of talking machines. Attractive stores furnished throughout the country were displayed on a screen for the benefit of the talking machine dealers. New ideas in window decoration and reception room furnishing were given.

Jack Carr, advertising prodigy, addressed the dealers on the "Use of Direct-by-Mail Advertising in Building Your Business." This subject was gone into in detail and the live discussion that followed showed the paramount position it occupied in the dealers' minds.

H. J. O'Connor, field representative of the Sonora Phonograph Co., New York, spoke on "The Sonora, the Highest Class Talking Machine in the World."

The possibilities of film advertising for producing business were pointed out by George F. May, of the Milwaukee Film Advertising Service, who used illustrated slides and moving pictures in his lecture. General discussion of music business and industry by the dealers and wholesalers followed the education conference. Sales problems and announcement of an intensive Fall advertising campaign to be launched in the middle of September occupied the remainder of the day.

A banquet, dance and entertainment was held in the Republican House in the evening. Marion Yahr, daughter of Fred E. Yahr, danced. A vaudeville sketch and other features were given. The evening was principally a social gathering to which the wives of the visiting delegates were invited. No formal speeches were given at the dinner.

S. R. Christopherson announced that active plans are under way for the completion of a Wisconsin Sonora Dealers' Association and another conference will be held in Milwaukee to perfect the plans, exchange new ideas, etc.

George F. Ruez Honored

George F. Ruez, president and treasurer of the Badger Talking Machine Co., has been elected trustee of the village of Shorewood, a suburb of Milwaukee. Shorewood property has an assessed valuation of $12,000,000, he stated. Mr. Ruez was good-naturedly distributing cigars at the Badger offices, celebrating the recent arrival of a baby daughter, when he was informed of his trustee appointment.

Goldsmith Looks for Big Demand

Harry A. Goldsmith, secretary of the Badger Talking Machine Co., Victor distributor in this territory, reviewing current trade conditions, stated: "We are preparing to enter one of the best Fall seasons in our history. A large number of advance orders has been received and our territory is in a specially good condition. Advertising campaigns recently launched are beginning to bear fruit. Trade gained materially each month during the Summer and is now making rapid strides as the Fall season gets under way.

"The biggest demand is for high-grade instru-

(Continued on page 66)

New Model "E"

The General Phonograph Mfg. Co.

Model "E"
TABLE PHONOGRAPH

The Greatest Value on the Market

IMMEDIATE DELIVERIES IN ANY QUANTITY

Plays All Makes of Records

Superior Tone Quality

Write for our Proposition

The General Phonograph Mfg. Co.

ELYRIA, OHIO

BAGSHAW

The Oldest and Largest Manufacturers of Steel
Talking Machine
Needles in the World

NEEDLES

Best By Comparison

By actual comparison, BAGSHAW NEEDLES are the finest steel talking machine needles manufactured today. Each BAGSHAW needle is backed by the reputation of the pioneers in the talking machine needle industry. They are guaranteed by the manufacturer, the jobber and the dealer alike.

Whether you desire needles packed in cans, envelopes or in bulk—or under your own trade-mark—W. H. BAGSHAW CO. can best satisfy your requirements.

*Samples and Prices
Upon Request*

The famous BRILLIANTONE and genuine PETMECKY brands are manufactured by BAGSHAW. The world over, BAGSHAW steel talking machine needles are renowned for their uniform length, uniform points and uniform hardness.

W.H.BAGSHAW CO.

FACTORIES: LOWELL, MASS.

SELLING AGENTS

BRILLIANTONE STEEL NEEDLE CO. OF AMERICA
INCORPORATED

347 FIFTH AVENUE

AT 34th STREET

NEW YORK

SUITE 610

Regarding Our Limited Introductory Offer

Phonograph dealers everywhere have rallied to the Brilliantone idea of selling needles in individually imprinted containers. They appreciate the effective advertising value of the Brilliantone container. They are availing themselves of our special introductory offer to imprint the firm name on orders for as little as 1,750 cans. Are your customers seeing your name every time they play a phonograph?

BRILLIANTONE NEEDLES

In Tin Boxes
Imprinted With Your Name
On Orders for 1750 Boxes

Three Tones: Extra Loud, Loud, Medium

Tie up with the largest makers of phonograph needles in America. Send for prices and samples. And tell us to whom you desire shipment billed.

BRILLIANTONE STEEL NEEDLE CO. OF AMERICA, INC.

Selling Agent for W. H. Bagshaw & Co.
Factory: Lowell, Mass.

347 FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK

Canadian Agents: The Musical Merchandise Sales Co.
79 Wellington Street West Toronto, Canada

Let
us put
Your name
here

I don't know why I should cry o-ver you, sigh o-ver you, e-ven be blue,

The Big Waltz Ballad Hit

Why Should I Cry Over You

It's Another "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry"

"You can't go wrong With any FEIST song"

HEAR IT NOW!

TRADE HAPPENINGS IN MILWAUKEE

(Continued from page 63)

ments. The only styles of the lower classes selling during the Summer months were the portable machines and as demand for these has fallen off most of the trade now is confined to console and period models of the high-class type. Even the farmers in the rural districts are asking for these models, our country dealers tell us. We look forward to a good Fall and Winter season."

Increased operations and enlargement of the field of the company have resulted in an increase in the stock to 60,000 preferred, with 1,000 shares of common stock of no par value, a recent amendment stated. The Badger Talking Machine Co. is Victor representative for Wisconsin and upper Michigan territory.

Broadcasts Victor and Edison Records

The Kesselman-O'Driscoll Music House, representing the Edison and Victor lines, recently gave a special Masonic lecture from their music house which was heard at the annual Masonic picnic at Delafield, Wis. The Victor and Edison records were broadcasted in the entertainment program furnished after the lecture. L. J. Monroe, head of the radio department of the music house, said the company station, the first in any American music house, has a range of one thousand miles. It is officially licensed and has the call, WCAY.

Victor Dealers of Fox River Valley Meet

Twenty Victor dealers from as many different cities attended the monthly meeting of the Victor dealers of the Fox River Valley at the Hotel Calumet, Fond du Lac, Wis. At 6 o'clock a dinner was served, followed by a business session. L. S. Morgan, representative of the Victor Talking Machine Co. for the State of Wisconsin, addressed the dealers on the outlook for Fall and Winter business. The factories, he said, were working to capacity to take care of new business and were ready to give the dealers better service than ever. The meeting was brought to Fond du Lac through the efforts of J. A. Santee, of the Badger Music Shop. Dealers from New Holstein, Ripon, Berlin, Manitowoc, Plymouth, Waupun and Two Rivers, as well as Valley cities, attended. It is planned to include dealers from northeastern Wisconsin, as well as upper Michigan, in a proposed State association. The next meeting of the dealers will be held in Green Bay. D. N. Groulx, of that city, will preside, W. J. Augustine declared.

New Concern in Eau Claire

C. F. Funk, A. Y. Anderson, A. M. Anderson and P. L. Peterson, of Eau Claire, have organized a new company in that city that manufactures a machine without incorporating a metallic horn in its make. It plays all kinds of records.

Famous Victor Artists to Appear

The Eight Victor Artists, whose fame is nation-wide, will appear in Appleton, Wis., the first week in October at the Lawrence Memorial Chapel, dealers in that city have been informed, and they are preparing to conduct simultaneously an advertising campaign.

Talking Machine Men Help Out

Hugh W. Randall, president of the J. B. Bradford Co., representative and distributor of the Brunswick in Wisconsin territory, together with a number of other prominent talking machine men of Milwaukee, members of the Wisconsin Club, was in charge of the entertainment program at "A Night in Madrid" party on August 30. Talking machine men take a prominent part in the club's musical activities.

Dealers Tie Up With Isham Jones Orchestra

Brunswick dealers in this city linked up their advertisements with the appearance of the famous Isham Jones Orchestra in Milwaukee last week. The orchestra appeared at the Mari-gold Gardens. It has been very popular with Milwaukee music lovers and at its recent appearance a large number of Brunswick records were sold featuring the orchestra. Dealers advertised extensively the presence of the musicians and profited by the large sales of records on their departure. The J. B. Bradford Co. had charge of the advance sale of tickets and was instrumental in booking the orchestra.

Means of Augmenting Sales

Albert E. Smith, well-known Victor house in Madison, Wis., is offering a special cut-out puzzle free to all boys and girls in its sale of August and September Victor records. The novel plan was used to introduce the children's records of the store and also augment the sale of the larger new releases. It proved to be successful in that more records were sold under the puzzle plan than in the preceding month, officials reported.

The most stupendous epigram since La Rochefoucauld wrote his maxims: "Pain is the rent that the soul pays for living in the house of flesh." Benjamin De Casseres is the author.

AUTOMATIC STOPS

The simplest and most efficient Automatic Stop on the market. They give excellent service, are easily installed and are absolutely guaranteed.

Send 50c. for Sample Stop

SWEETEN THE TONE

with K-E and Simplex Circular Record Cleaners
Reduced Prices Big Profits
Write for Particulars NOW

KIRKMAN ENGINEERING CORPORATION
484-90 Broome Street New York

Truetone

TRADE MARK

The WORLD'S BEST
PHONOGRAPH NEEDLES

NONE
BETTER MADE

DEAN

UNIFORM POINTS

UNIFORM LENGTHS

PERFECT REPRODUCTION

*Territory
Open for Live Distributors*

Write for Our Current Prices

Manufactured by GENERAL PHONOGRAPH CORPORATION
 OTTO HEINEMAN, President
 25 West 45th Street, New York

The Trade in BOSTON and NEW ENGLAND
 JOHN H. WILSON, Manager
 324 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON, MASS.

BOSTON, MASS., September 8.—When this correspondence is read the coal strike will have been entirely settled if one can get the right angle as this is penned; for it is now a matter of twenty-four hours, so it is stated, though one recalls that we have been on the eve of settlement of this and the railroad strike several times in the past few weeks. New England has felt the strain of both strikes rather severely, but it is unquestionably the railroad strike that has most affected the talking machine industry locally, for it has badly held up the delivery of goods. Not a few dealers will tell you that machines and supplies long since ordered are not yet received. One wholesaler told your correspondent the other day that he had had to go to the railroad sheds almost daily to look for his goods and that it had been no uncommon thing to find consignments that had been several weeks in transit. Should it happen by any chance that the railroad strike is much longer continued it will work great harm to the talking machine industry, for the business is on the eve of big things; large orders for the Fall trade are being placed and dealers, on the other hand, are getting in close touch with customers to the point of receiving orders, not for cheap outfits, but for the more expensive ones. Should the goods for which the orders are piling up be much delayed it will be most unfortunate for everyone concerned. The past few weeks have seen a decided change in sentiment hereabouts. Those who have been traveling through the New England field report that dealers in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, these States being the farthest removed from large trade centers, are feeling especially optimistic over the Fall prospects. In fact, the indications are for big and healthy business.

Vacations are now a thing of the past and this means that everyone is buckling down to business determined to do his share in helping to create better conditions. Saturday closing, too, is at an end, which means a longer business week for the stores.

Many Unfilled Orders for Edisons

Frederic C. Silliman, New England head of the Pardee-Ellenberger Co., reports that there are more unfilled orders on the books than he has seen in a long time and this is pretty good indication of a big September business. Lately the company has been holding an exhibit in its handsome showrooms of the New Edison models, these ranging from $60 to $135. The many dealers who looked them over were so pleased with them that large advance orders were the result. The baby console, in particular, proved highly attractive to the trade and it is likely that this type will be carried by many Edison dealers throughout New England within the next two months.

Frank S. Horning Sells Out

On August 31 Frank S. Horning terminated his connection with the Frank S. Horning Co., Inc., at 22 Boylston street, having sold his interest to the F. C. Henderson Co. By the time this is read he will be more or less settled in St. Louis, whither he has gone to take charge of the talking machine and piano department of the Stix-Baer Fuller Co., one of the largest department stores of that city. There is general regret among the talking machine trade at his departure, for while here Mr. Horning became exceedingly popular, not only with dealers, but with the public. Regret at his leaving also comes from another source, the music trade in general, that is, the membership of the New England Music Trade Association, of which he was unanimously elected president at the last annual meeting. Mr. Horning opened his store about three years ago and in that interim he was able to build up quite a good trade in Victor goods, which this store carried exclusively.

Widener Gets Houghton & Dutton Department

Beginning September 1 the talking machine department at the Houghton & Dutton store, corner of Tremont and Beacon streets, which heretofore was leased by the F. C. Henderson Co., came into the possession of J. G. Widener, who will hereafter operate it. Mr. Widener is well known in this city and has conducted several talking machine departments here during the past several years.

Second Victor Salesmanship Class

The second class in Victor salesmanship for the especial benefit of those who were unable to attend the other one held so successfully a fortnight ago started to-day, September 5, to continue through the following three days. The sessions as before are being held in Steinert Hall, which the M. Steinert Co. has generously donated to the class for the purpose. Since the last one F. C. Delano, who conducts these classes, has been enjoying a vacation at Portland, Me., and came down from there for the new session. Mr. Delano has engagements for classes for a whole year ahead.

John Cotter Visiting Pacific Coast

By the time this issue of The World is out John Cotter, vice-president and treasurer of the Hallet & Davis Co., will be well on his way to the Pacific Coast. He left "The Hub" on September 6 and was accompanied by Mrs. Cotter. They will make a stay of a single day in Chicago and then continue West, taking in the Grand Canyon en route. Their ultimate destination will be San Francisco, where a visit will be paid Mrs. Cotter's family, who resides on the Coast, and to Riverside, where they will be the guests of J. A. Stitt, Pacific Coast road man for the Hallet & Davis Co. From Riverside it is planned to take a motor trip to San Diego. Before returning East Mr. Cotter will pay a visit to Seattle and the return trip East will be by way of Butte, Mont., and Salt Lake City, Utah, in which city a week will be spent. Mr. Cotter plans to be away about six weeks and in that time he will probably come in touch with a good many Hallet & Davis dealers.

The Hallet & Davis Salesman

The fourth number of the Hallet & Davis Salesman has been issued. It has a wealth of good reading, which the dealers of this company ought to thoroughly digest. The talking machine proposition of this house is given due attention and considerable mention is made of the value of publicity when properly handled by dealers. One special article under the title of "National Publicity Increases Turnover" should get a wide reading, for there is much meat in it for dealers to ponder over.

Vocalion Hall News

Manager Birdsall, of Vocalion Hall, in Boylston street, spent the Labor Day holiday on a trip into the country and this several days' week-end holiday helped prepare him for the brisk business which is looked for with the beginning of the September season, a business which Mr. Birdsall believes should continue right along to the holidays. All of Manager Birdsall's retail staff will have returned from their vacations following Labor Day and decks will then be cleared for promising prospects, which already are on the way. The large show

(Continued on page 68)

DITSON
VICTOR

SERVICE

"The Coming Fall" Is Here
Make It a Victor Fall

There is little time for putting record and machine stocks in perfect form to meet the coming post-summer demand. Fill in the gaps now. Arrange for future requirements.

Ditson Service will lighten the task for you

CHARLES H. DITSON & CO.
NEW YORK

OLIVER DITSON CO.
BOSTON

A NEW DANCE CRAZE

STUMBLING

A FOX TROT ODDITY

"You can't go wrong
With any FEIST song"

HEAR IT NOW

Stum-bling all a-round, Stum-bling all a-round, Stumbling all a-round so fun-ny, Stum-bling here and there, Stum-bling ev-ry-where And I must de-clare-

THE TRADE IN BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND—(Continued from page 67)

window of Vocalion Hall has lately had some very attractive displays, such as have caused many a passer-by to halt and take further notice.

Bright Outlook for the Sonora

J. O. Morris, president of the Musical Supply & Equipment Co., was in town last week conferring with Joseph Burke, New England manager of the company, relative to the Fall business and arranging about the supply of Sonora machines, for which Manager Burke is having a wide demand from dealers carrying this line. He says that he has a lot of business booked up for September. A new house of importance to take on the Sonora is N. F. Joslin & Co., of Malden, which is one of the largest, if not the largest store in that city. The company's initial order was a very large one. Mr. Burke was only able to get a ten days' vacation toward the middle of August, when he motored up with Mrs. Burke to North Woodstock, N. H.

Victor Co. Officials Stop Off

J. S. Macdonald, sales manager of the Victor Co., paid a flying visit to Boston the latter part of August while en route to Wells Beach, Me. He had his golfing outfit with him, but could not be induced to stay here long enough to play with some of the local experts. Ralph L. Freeman, director of distribution at the Victor factory, was also here, as he was on his way to Nova Scotia. Harry McClaskey, better known as Henry Burr to the friends of the Victor, came to Boston during August to visit his brother, who makes his home in the neighboring town of Brookline.

Reports Better Conditions in South

R. O. Ainslie, of the Hallet & Davis Co., is expected back in a few days from his extended but hurried trip South in the interests of the talking machine product of this house, as well as the other lines that are carried. His trip began at Atlanta, and thence he visited Birmingham, New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, Little Rock and St. Louis. From letters he sent back to the office he found a decided improvement in business conditions at every point visited. Meanwhile, the traveling staff, which is devoting its attention to pushing the Hallet & Davis phonograph, is finding business considerably better than it was and everyone is most sanguine for a good Fall trade.

W. A. Batchelder to Re-enter Trade

Warren A. Batchelder, widely known in talking machine circles throughout the New England States, and for the past several years manager of the former Tremont Talking Machine Co., now the Iver Johnson Co., Tremont street, will re-enter the trade following a brief, but well-merited, vacation.

Mrs. E. H. Lansing in Spain

Mrs. Lizzie Lansing, widow of the late E. H. Lansing, local manufacturer of talking machine and piano moving covers, who was widely known to the trade, is touring Spain, accompanied by her daughter, a teacher of economics in Smith College. Mr. Lansing, who died several years ago during the National Music Show in New York, was the originator of the Lansing khaki cover, now made and sold by the Lansing Sales Co., 170 Harrison avenue, this city, of which Henry Smith is president and general manager.

Sees Distinct Change for Better

That radiant smile which usually wreathes the face of Fred E. Mann, the New England manager of the Columbia Co., is more radiant than ever these days and there's a reason: he sees a distinct change for the better in the trend of business. He says the rush began to be plainly manifest the end of July; that all of August there was a distinct improvement in trade, and his fear now is that dealers who neglect to lay in adequate stocks are going to get left when the rush sets in, for the holiday impetus usually gets pretty well under way late in October. Mr. Mann says that the call for machines has been much larger than in some time, but it is in the record business that the greatest improvement has been seen, and this particular line he describes as actually booming.

Fine New Store in Norwich, Conn.

Manager Mann a few days ago entertained at his office Abner Schwartz, head of Schwartz Bros., of Norwich, Conn., who told Mr. Mann about the new building which his house, one of the largest furniture concerns in New England, is having erected, and which is to contain an exclusive Columbia department, to be in charge of L. H. Webber. The formal opening of the new store is scheduled for September 15, and it is not unlikely that Mr. Mann will go down to Norwich for the event, for he will be in New London about that time for a conference of Rotary Clubs, of which he is an officer here in town. Mr. Mann has been enjoying several week-ends this Summer in motor trips to Lake Winnepesaukee, New Hampshire, where friends of his have a beautiful Summer home.

Some Interesting Personals

O. F. Benz, Columbia record sales manager, and E. O. Rockwood, general record manager for the same company, were Boston visitors the latter part of August.

R. F. Bolton, of the recording department of the Columbia Co., spent a part of August at Falmouth Heights and made a few visits while there with Manager Mann at the Boston offices.

KRAFT-BATES AND SPENCER INC.
NEW ENGLAND DISTRIBUTORS

Brunswick
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

The Brunswick Finance Plan, about which you have doubtless heard a great deal during the past year, has now been in operation long enough to prove its great money-making value for dealers under any and all conditions.

We will be glad to mail you the full details in the form of a booklet, or to discuss them personally.

KRAFT, BATES & SPENCER, Inc.
1265 Boylston St. Boston, Mass
New England Distributors

Steel Needles Motrolas Record Brushes Khaki Covers

"LONG QUALITY" CABINETS "PEERLESS" ALBUMS

Both of these well-known accessories help to make

GOOD FALL BUSINESS

for the Talking Machine retailer.

Let Hough tell how.

L. W. HOUGH

New England Representative

20 SUDBURY STREET BOSTON, MASS.

Mr. Bolton up to four years ago was Columbia district manager for New England and New York State.

Billy Fitzgerald, whose Victor shop in Cornhill continues to be discovered by his out-of-town friends as they journey Bostonward, says he has had a very good Summer. He has not as yet been able to get away, but is planning a few days' respite at Mason, N. H.

George Krumscheid, who is well known in the trade, is now allied with the Independent Talking Machine Co., which is operated by Halperin Bros. at 128 Summer street.

Two new additions to the staff of F. C. Henderson's Brunswick shop at 152 Boylston street are Miss G. C. Swift and Miss Eva O'Brien, both experienced women in the talking machine business. A new man at this same place is Thomas H. Wallace, who comes here from Quincy, and who will solicit on the outside for the talking machine business of this house.

A. J. Jackson, head of the Boylston street Victor warerooms bearing his name, spent part of his vacation the latter part of August on a motor trip to the Provinces.

Winthrop M. Harvey, head of the C. C. Harvey Co., spent a part of August on a motor trip with Mrs. Harvey and a party of friends to the Province of Quebec. Ernest A. Cressey, of the company, is back from a three weeks' vacation with Mrs. Cressey at Jackson, N. H., and Wallace W. Flagg, the dean of the sales force of the Harvey house, also has returned from his vacation, also spent in the White Mountains, to which place he goes every year.

Columbia Men to Visit North

George P. Donnelly, assistant manager of the Columbia Co.'s New England department, is starting away on September 18 for a couple of

EASTERN SERVICE

NEW ENGLAND SERVICE FOR NEW ENGLAND DEALERS

Join the Eastern Family

and enjoy the exceptional service which our efficient organization is rendering to New England dealers.

Victor Wholesalers Exclusively

85
ESSEX
ST.

THE EASTERN TALKING MACHINE CO.

BOSTON
MASS.

VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS

weeks' trip, which will take him through Maine and Canada. He will be accompanied by W. R. Ingalls, the Columbia's traveling representative for Maine and New Hampshire.

some of the problems which face them from time to time.

The grand wind-up of the session was in the nature of a testimonial to those attending the class and members of their families. This outing, dinner and dance took place at Pemberton, which was reached by a delightful sail down Boston Harbor. Attending this outing were 361 men and women, and the three jobbers already mentioned were the hosts, with such men as George A. Dodge, Herbert Shoemaker, Kenneth E. Reed and Henry Winkelman especially in the forefront to see that everybody had a good time. On leaving the boat at Pemberton the first thing in order was a group picture taken in front of Hotel Pemberton, then everybody repaired to the splendid salt water swimming tank, where there was a most enjoyable program of swimming and diving and other forms of aquatic sports, and where some of the Victor people showed themselves as much at home in the water as on land. In

(Continued on page 70)

FIRST VICTOR SALESMANSHIP CLASS SCORES IN BOSTON

Under the Auspices of the Three Local Jobbers One Hundred and Seven People Attend Opening Class Held by F. A. Delano—Event Closed With Outing, Dinner and Dance at Pemberton

BOSTON, MASS., August 30.—The first Victor salesmanship class in this city is a thing of the past and the three jobbers, the Eastern Talking Machine Co., the Oliver Ditson Co. and the M. Steinert & Sons Co., may well take pride in the success which attended the class from start to finish. Despite the fact that there were many Victor people on vacations the attendance at the class numbered 107, which is the largest single class ever held since F. A. Delano has been conducting them, which work he has been engaged in now for some months in the interests of better Victor business. It is of special interest that the success of this class has been such as to warrant the three local jobbers in seriously considering another class for the benefit of those unable to attend and who have evinced a keen interest in the idea. For this possible second class there already are forty-eight enrolled. There is little that is new to say regarding the class, for the trade press has had a good deal of late touching Mr. Delano's success and the methods which he pursues in attaining his altogether praiseworthy results. There are lectures, sales debates, arguments presented by imaginary buyers as well as by sellers, a recital of the experiences of those in the class, including

“Perfection” Edison Attachments
and
“Perfection” Reproducers

The “Perfection” Flexi-Tone Edison Attachment (No. 4 and No. 7) as illustrated, attached to all types of Edison Disc Machines, makes the most perfect attachment available for playing all makes of lateral cut records requiring steel, tungstone or fibre needles. Only first quality mica diaphragms used in “Perfection” reproducers, giving clear, natural tone. The horizontal ball-joint and direct uplift construction give freedom of movement so that attachment may be used with or without lever, giving excellent results.

Retail price $9.00 Gold. $8.00 Nickel.

The “Perfection” Pur-I-Tone Edison Attachment (No. 6 Universal) plays All makes of records on New Edison Disc Machine.

Retail price $10.00 Gold. $9.00 Nickel.

The “Perfection” Edison Attachment (No. 4 and No. 2) plays all makes lateral cut records on New Edison Disc Machine.

Retail price $7.00 Gold or Nickel.

The “Perfection” Pur-I-Tone Reproducers to play all makes hill and dale records on Victor Machines.

Retail Price $6.00 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

The “Perfection” Flexi-Tone Reproducers to play all makes lateral cut records on Victor and Columbia Machines.

Retail Price $6.00 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

The “Perfection” Pur-I-Tone Reproducers to play all makes hill and dale records on Columbia Machines.

Retail price $6.50 Gold. $5.00 Nickel.

NOTE—Special Discounts to Dealers, also Quantity Prices on Request

New England Talking Machine Co. 16-18 Beach St., Boston, Mass.

THE TRADE IN BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND—(Continued from page 69)

the swimming contest Miss Frances E. Bahr, of Bahr's Music Store, at Quincy, was the winner over seven male contestants, and in the greased pillow contest John Mahoney, of Steinert's, and Roddy A. McInnes, of Houghton & Dutton's; Chris Gormley, of Henderson's, and John Baldelli, of Steinert's, provided great amusement. In the tub race the contestants were Mahoney, Gormley, Miss Bahr, Baldelli and Harris G. Monroe, of Monroe's Music Store, at Orange. Monroe was the only one to paddle the course. Some of the finest diving of the afternoon was that by Miss Bahr, who is an especially graceful figure in all sorts of water sports, and Charlie Von Euw, of Steinert's. In the tug-of-war, captained on the one side by Baldelli, with Mahoney as anchor, and by McInnis as captain, with Jack Elliott, of Shepard's, as anchor on the other team, the former won. The ball game was between the boys at Steinert's, captained by Von Euw, and the Eastern, captained by Waldron, and might have been a longer one if Dodge and Reed hadn't got tired of umpiring. As it was, the Eastern team was the winner. Never mind the score.

Then came the dinner, served in Pemberton Inn. It was one of the best that could be provided and was a shore one in every sense. There was one large table, at which the heads of the three jobbing houses entertained Mr. Delano, who, upon his appearance, was greeted with a round of applause. For the dancing Bert Lowe's Orchestra furnished the music and it is of more than ordinary interest that many of the dealers who heard this orchestra for the first time declared it to be of such quality as to warrant it being included in a Victor catalog, that its members should be counted among Victor artists.

Toward the end of the dinner Mr. Delano was called upon for a few words. He thanked the class for their constant interest during the sessions and expressed his gratification at being able to conduct so intelligent a body of men and women. Subsequently Walter Gillis, a Victor dealer, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Delano for what he had done for the dealers here in New England and to the several local Victor jobbers for providing so enjoyable an entertainment. At the final session of the class Mr. Delano was presented with a handsome gold pocket knife and a platinum chain. Those attending the class who came from a distance and who could not go back and forth daily were housed at the Hotel Bellevue, where everything was done to make their stay in town a pleasant one. There was a special word of appreciation to the Steinert house for its courtesy in opening Steinert Hall for the sessions of the class. Mr. Reed, as chairman of the general committee, had a very busy week, but there was seemingly nothing overlooked to make the whole affair a splendid success.

Members of the Salesmanship Class

Mrs. Grace E. Stiles, Apollo Music Co., Boston; Ralph M. Avery, Avery Furniture Co., Framingham, Mass.; Mildred Emerson, W. H. Avery, Concord, N. H.; Beatrice B. Bahr, Frances E. Bahr, Helen S. Bahr, Bahr Music Co., Quincy, Mass.; Cora Barite, Barite Talking Machine Co., Boston; Helen Egan, Barney's Music Store, Newport, R. I.; Anna Quinn, Barton Co., Manchester, N. H.; Philip Lewis, H. W. Berry Co., Cambridge, Mass.; Marguerite Kimball, Leola Handley, Bon Marche Co., Lowell, Mass.; Maude Marion Jackson, J. E. Bostock Co., Taunton, Mass.; Chester E. Clarkson, Clarkson Furniture Co., Waltham, Mass.; Gertrude Hazen, Stephen S. Bruin, Oliver Ditson Co., Boston; E. Gertrude Briggs, Flint Adaskin Co., Providence, R. I.; Catherine Walsh, Walter J. Gillis Co., Boston; F. T. White, C. C. Harvey Co., Boston; Claire Leduke, J. Heidner & Son, Springfield, Mass.; Edna Neumann, J. Heidner & Son, Holyoke, Mass.; Christopher A. Gormley, Henderson's, Boston; Roy L. Hunt, Roy L. Hunt, Medfield, Mass.; Gertrude Swift, Henderson's, Boston; Philip Cohen, A. Hirshberg & Sons, E. Boston; Paul E. Humez, M. L. Howard, Cambridge, Mass.; Emma G. Purinton, Frank B. Howard, Rutland, Vt.; Alice Gray, Mrs. B. H. MacIntosh, A. M. Hume Co., Boston; Frederick D. McGinn, Iver-Johnson Co., Boston; G. W. S. Ide, G. W. S. Ide, Reading, Mass.; Harriette A. Knowles, Jordan Marsh Co., Boston; Charles Dolinsky, Kaplan Brothers, Fall River, Mass.; Adelaide I. Chesley, John Z. Kelley, Lynn, Mass.; Doris G. Steady, George L. Kerr, Elmiro DeGabbis, George L. Kerr, Franklin, Mass.; Amelia Silvia, Kahn's Music Co., Middleboro, Mass.; Ellen Hortense Hubbard, Le-favour's Music House, Salem, Mass.; D. Levenson, Jr., D. Levenson, E. Boston; Mildred Gertrude Galligan, Lilly Co., Stoughton, Mass.; Daisy M. Pirie, Littlefield Piano Co., Barre, Vt.; Mr. Manganaro, G. DeBizzozera, Paul Bouchard, Manganaro Music Co., Quincy,

Attendants at the First Victor Salesmanship Class Held Recently in Boston, Under Auspices of Local Victor Jobbers

PHONOGRAPH AND PIANO ACCESSORIES

Manufacturers

LANSING KHAKI COVERS

The Pioneer Moving Cover

SLIP AND RUBBER COVERS FOR PHONOGRAPHS AND PIANOS

Distributors

- | | |
|--|-------------------|
| Bradley and Plymouth Portable Machines | Piano Benches |
| All-in-One Reproducers | Piano Stools |
| Nyacco Record Albums | Piano Chairs |
| Universal Fixtures | Piano Scarfs |
| Victrolene Polish | Player Benches |
| Jones Motrolas | Music Cabinets |
| Hall Fiber Needles | Lesley's Patching |
| Steel Needles | Outfits |
| Sapphires | |

The Electora for the Player Piano

TRY OUR SERVICE!

170 Harrison Avenue

BOSTON, 11, MASS.

Ragtime Rastus
Price $1.35

MAGNETIC THE DANCERS

PATENTED AUG-1922

Shimandy
Price $1.65

A Great Attraction
for
Your Window

Retail
Price $1.00

Simple to Adjust on Any Phonograph
No
Attachments

Retail
Price $1.00

INTRODUCING OUR LATEST ITEM

This fascinating little couple will waltz, one-step or fox-trot to the music of the record in a most realistic manner. Captivating in appearance and dainty in movement, they appeal at once to the most discriminating purchaser.

NATIONAL COMPANY, Cambridge 39, BOSTON, MASS.

We also announce reduced prices on our original line.

Boxing Darkies
Price $1.50

Fighting Roosters
Price $1.65

Mass.; Elizabeth Murphy, A. McArthur Co., Boston; Harris G. Monroe, Monroe Music Store, Orange, Mass.; Marion W. Balcom, H. F. Morse, Wareham, Mass.; Oscar Carlson, Nichols & Atkins, Harwich, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Russell, Outlet Co., Providence, R. I.; Phyllis A. Barry, F. W. Peabody, Amesbury, Mass.; Wm. L. Persons, Wm. L. Persons, Hudson, Mass.; William J. Brown, J. J. Piotti, J. J. Piotti, Dorchester, Mass.; Frederic A. Flint, Madeline Storer, Grace Galt, E. A. Robart & Son, Brookline, Mass.; Stephen H. Reynolds, M. J. Reynolds, Milford, Mass.; Mr. Rheinherz, Byron Auer, Rheinherz Music Store, Roxbury, Mass.; Olga E. Mitchell, Marguerite K. Woods, Herbert W. Roper, Marcellus Roper Co., Worcester, Mass.; Mr. Grogan,

