Leaders in Japan And U. S. Work for Disarmament Plan

Kato Speaks In Favor of Change; Japanese Parliamentary Committee Visiting States Says Differences Can Be Settled Amicably.

Osaka, May 26.—Viscount Kato, former Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs, addressing a meeting of the Kensei Kai, or opposition party, here, favored restriction of armaments, after a proper international understanding, and said that in the meantime all efforts should be made to cut down naval and military expenditures.

San Francisco, May 26.—Confidence that all questions of dispute between the United States and Japan will be settled on a basis of friendship is expressed by members of a Japanese parliamentary committee who arrived in San Francisco yesterday from Honolulu for a tour of the United States.

Admiral Baron Sotokichi Uru, of the Japanese navy, is leader of another party which reached here, bound for Washington, where the Admiral will attend the annual reunion of the class of 1881 at the Annapolis Naval Academy, of which he was a member.

To Learn. Rokusaburo Nakanishi, a member of the Japanese Diet, and leader of the party which reached here, declared the committee had no real purpose in coming to the United States other than to get first-hand information on subjects which might affect the two countries.

He made reference to an old Japanese saying that "seeing once is better than hearing one hundred times."

Surprised. Members of the parliamentary party, especially Mr. Nakanishi, said they were surprised to hear talk of a clash between the United States and Japan. He said this was "unthinkable," and expressed his belief that problems which might lead to armed conflict could be settled by conference.

The Japanese Parliamentary Committee arrived in the United States simultaneously with the making of a declaration in Washington in favor of an international naval disarmament conference. The approval given by the Senate to Senator Borah's proposal was unanimous. By a vote of seventy-four to none his amendment was added to the naval appropriation bill authorizing and requesting the President to invite Great Britain and Japan to send representatives to a conference in an effort to reach some agreement on disarmament.

After passage of the bill the amendment will go to conference with the House, but its advocates believe it will be endorsed and then approved by President Harding.

GOOD ROADS PROVE WORTH TO B. C. NOW

Hon. J. H. King Finds Province Reaping Benefits From Policy

British Columbia is now beginning to see some tangible results of the good roads programme launched by the Provincial Government and being carried out by the Department of Public Works, according to the Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, who is back in Victoria to-day after a three weeks' tour of the highway system of the Interior.

"The people are pleased with the progress made and the class of road being constructed by the Department of Public Works," Hon. Dr. King went on. "Even Boards of Trade in the Interior are passing resolutions commending us."

"It is a matter of great satisfaction to travel over the road system of the Interior and find the way we are making headway."

Hon. Dr. King went over the Revelstoke West road which opens up the magnificent Malakwa Valley and gives connection for Sicamous and the Okanagan. Part of this road is built through mountains.

"It is as beautiful a piece of road as there is in the country," said the Minister.

Motor Tourist Travel Start. "There will be considerable tourist travel over our road system in the Interior this year," Hon. Dr. King went on.

The tourists will come into the Province from Alberta and from Washington."

From the Alberta boundary, cars can now travel over the Trans-Provincial Highway to Koskanook on Kootenay Lake. From there cars are taken by C. P. R. boats up to Lake Balfour. Arrangements have been made for a $5 to $7 rate for cars on this boat trip.

Courtenay, B. C., May 26.—Pillouley House, Comox, the residence of Dr. Breadnell and one of the best known places in the district, was destroyed by fire this morning. When the flames were discovered at 5 a. m., they had got such a hold that no part of the contents could be saved, though those in the house at the time escaped. The loss is covered by insurance.

CITIZENS' GUARD IN BAVARIA IS TO BE DISARMED

London, May 26.—Decision that the Bavarian Citizens' Guard must submit to disarmament was reached yesterday by the Bavarian Council of Ministers, says a Berlin dispatch to The London Times. The Council decided to liberate for two days before reaching its decision.

Ottawa Session to End Middle of Next Week

Ottawa, May 26.—Prorogation of Parliament may take place next Wednesday or Thursday. It is now regarded as out of the question that it will take place this week, as less rapid progress has been made with the remaining items of business than was anticipated.

The special committee on Canadian National Railways and Shipping met this afternoon for further examination of D. B. Hanna and A. J. Mitchell, president and vice-president, respectively, of the Canadian National Railways. Part of this afternoon's meeting of the committee will be in executive session.

Members of the Commons are looking forward with interest to the tabling of the report of the special House committee which dealt with pensions, insurance and soldiers' civil re-establishment. It is expected the report will be brought down this afternoon. The committee has finished consideration of the final draft of the report at a meeting last night and it is now being prepared for presentation.

Owing to the fact that a caucus of Government members had been called there were no meetings of House committees this morning.

FEW VOTING ON SCHOOL BY-LAWS

Ratepayers Show Little Interest in Money Measures

Voting on the four school expenditure by-laws sponsored by the City School Board proceeded slowly in the Public Market Building this morning. Judging by the small number of ratepayers who cast their ballots, the public is little interested in the matter.

Opponents of the school by-laws declared to-day that there was no possibility of the measure passing. "So far as I can see they haven't got a chance in the world," Acting Mayor George Sangster, leader in the fight against the by-laws, asserted this morning. "I have canvassed a number of people, but I find the task unnecessary. I have found only two people who intend to vote for the by-laws, and they are former members of the School Board. I would be prepared to do something to defeat the by-laws, but I don't think it is necessary—at least I hope not."

School Trustees, when questioned on the subject, said they were not in a position to judge the by-laws' chances at present. They hoped, however, that the ratepayers, which they said, provided for very necessary expenditures.

NO EARLY TARIFF CHANGES PLANNED

Drayton Makes Statement in the Commons

Ottawa, May 26.—(Canadian Press)—That the Canadian Government did not intend to amend the tariff immediately, as a result of the passage of the Young Bill by the United States Congress, was stated in the House this afternoon by Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance. Hon. Rodolph Lemieux had informed the House that rumors were prevalent that the Government would take action.

London, May 26.—Four battalions of British troops on the Rhine began their advance to Upper Silesia to-day to reinforce the Allied troops already there. The transfer is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

It was semi-officially announced to-day that additional forces of four battalions of British troops, totalling some 5,000 men, will be sent to the disturbed area. The sources from which the additional troops would be drawn were not disclosed.

NONAGENARIAN FLIES TO VICTORIA

Ezra Meeker, Pioneer of Oregon Trail, Arrives Undaunted Veteran Will Return With Hubbard

Effecting a contrast to perhaps the most wonderful feature of his life Ezra M. Meeker, famous pioneer of the Old Oregon Trail, visited Victoria to-day with Eddie Hubbard in the United States aerial mail flying in his ninety-first year. Mr. Meeker is culminating what might be termed a review of transit when he will have traveled in every vehicle of the West from the days of the prairie schooner to the duck drawn, to the up-to-date flying boat.

Came From Seattle. Mr. Meeker embarked with Eddie Hubbard at Seattle, where he is now residing, and was flown to Victoria in a time of slightly under the hour—a contrast to the speed and retarded progress of the ox cart that he once piloted. The machine landed in the outer harbor shortly after eleven o'clock, and was followed by a "cotton" motor launch air board machine from Vancouver.

Undaunted by his remarkable aerial adventure at his advanced age, Mr. Meeker re-embarked with Hubbard to Seattle by way of the boat air lanes that bind the two countries over the waters of the Straits.

Sketch of Career. Born of New England parents at Huntsville, Hamilton County, Ohio, on December 2, 1830, Mr. Meeker is one of the few nonagenarian pioneers alive to-day. He moved west from his country for some years, educating himself mostly by means of his own ability and personal reading. In 1852 he married a girl from the Coast in one of the most remarkable trips of the day, started and consummated in an ox wagon, with his young wife and a small child. Surviving on a trail that killed over ten per cent of all that traveled it, Mr. Meeker and his family arrived on the Coast, where for many years he was successfully engaged in business, and much interested in the State expositions from time to time.

His Great Trip. An example of the hard courage of the grand old man is to be found in the remarkable trip he made at the age of 76 years took in 1905, retracing the old and abandoned Oregon Trail from the wide West to the East, and placing monuments on the trail to preserve its identity forever. At that time Mr. Meeker was universally hailed as one of the greatest of the old world pioneers, and was given all credit for his stirring deed at that advanced age.

To-day Mr. Meeker is a much better man than he was in 1905. He is now 90 years of age, and many of the youngest men of to-day cannot be induced to go into the air at all.

Written On Trail. A narrator of pioneering stories without parallel, Mr. Meeker has written some interesting books on the days of the Old Oregon Trail, which have since become almost classics in that they faithfully record the old hardships and dangers that were so bitterly faced by the forebears of the inhabitants of the Pacific Coast.

CAUCASIANS DANCE AS FAMINE DRAWS NEAR THEIR HOMES

AIRMAN FLYING TO WASHINGTON FROM CALIFORNIA

Redwood City, Calif., May 26.—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace, left here at 8:32 a. m. on a flight which he hopes will take him to Washington, D. C., by to-morrow night. It was his second attempt to get away to-day, the first having been stopped by fog.

FARRIS REFUSING "SUN" CHARGES

Attorney-General to Make Public Statement on Liquor House Purchase

The Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, Attorney-General, prepared this afternoon a full statement in refutation of charges published by The Vancouver Sun to-day, dealing with the purchase for the Liquor Board in Vancouver of the property of Charles E. Campbell, a Vancouver newspaper publisher.

The Sun charges that the warehouse and property are not worth the $150,000 reported to have been paid and as they are assessed for only $58,000 and a Vancouver realty organization known as the Vancouver Real Estate Exchange, Ltd., says the property is worth only $82,500.

The newspaper prints an open letter to Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia, asking him whether he intends to "ratify and adhere" to the purchase or to "demand" repayment.

HALIFAX PEOPLE WERE EXCITED

Halifax, May 26.—Sight of a huge volume of black smoke rising from the harbor in the vicinity of the Halifax dockyard and recollection of the Halifax explosion of 1917 were sufficient to produce a near panic in some sections of this city last night. Discovery that the smoke was caused by the burning of waste oil floating on the surface of the harbor water and prompt measures on the part of the fire department, which prevented much damage to waterfront property, calmed the rising excitement.

First War Sentence Imposed by Leipzig Court Is Ten Months

Sergeant Heyne, Who Abused British Soldier Prisoners, Must Serve Term In Jail; Submarine Commander Next to Be Tried.

Leipzig, May 26.—Sergeant Heyne, accused of having ill-treated British soldiers who were prisoners of war at the prison camp at Harne, Westphalia, was sentenced to ten months' imprisonment by the high court here to-day. He was the first German soldier tried by the court on criminal charges arising out of the conduct of the war.

The evidence in the case was completed yesterday and in his summing up the prosecuting attorney-general demanded that Heyne be sent to prison for two years.

In reviewing the testimony received during the trial, the prosecutor declared that while prisoners of war could not be expected to be handled with kid gloves, the application of violence and the use of offensive epithets were not warranted. He declared that Sergeant Heyne was shown to have exceeded the requirements of his position as guard over British prisoners in twenty-eight instances.

Defence. Attorneys for the defence declared the sergeant was constantly beset with difficulties due to the hostile attitude of British prisoners at the prison camp at Harne. The British were said to have been generally unruly, to have constantly organized mutinies and to have falsely reported themselves ill.

Sergeant Heyne made an address to the court, declaring that he had faith in the judges' sense of justice and asking for acquittal.

The next case to be tried will be that of Captain Mueller, who is accused of ill-treating British prisoners at the camp at Karlsruhe.

Of the other accused booked for early trial, interest of the British is focused on that of Carl Neumann, who commanded submarine U-7, which sank the hospital ship Dover Castle off the coast of Africa, May 26, 1917. He is not yet under detention, but the Government has promised to produce him for trial.

ENGLISH SMELTER TO TEST IRON ORE

Will Send Magnetite Ore to Darlington, England

Twenty tons of ore are being shipped from the Lake Hill Mines of the Puget Sound Company's group, west coast of Texas Island, for a test run in the electric furnaces of Thomas Summerson & Sons, Ltd., Darlington, England, it was announced to-day by the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines.

Hon. Mr. Sloan, under the Iron Ore Supply Act, has ordered that this ore be sent to England. The work of mining, sacking and shipping is being supervised by William M. Brewer, resident mining engineer, Nanaimo.

Application for this ore was made by Percy Scott Leggett, of the Summerson firm through F. C. Wade, K. C., Agent General for British Columbia in London.

Uggs' Electrical Smelting. In his letter Mr. Scott explains that "we are much interested in the possibilities of your Province as an iron and steel producer." After ascertaining that his firm was prepared to offer technical assistance in the development of iron ore resources, Mr. Scott expresses a preference for the electrical smelting process, as against blast furnace practice, on economic exploitation of the magnetite deposits of the Coast.

No Impurities in Ore. "Before proceeding to detailed discussion of ways and means of bringing suitable iron areas into production, we would wish to assure your Government of our ability to smelt the ores," Mr. Scott goes on. "If, therefore, you can arrange for shipments to these works of at least twenty tons of magnetite, we shall be happy to give you and your appointed technical experts a demonstration of smelting-run in our electrical furnaces."

Mr. Brewer, in reporting to Hon. Mr. Sloan the progress made in assembling the shipment, says that the ore obtained will assay about 48 per cent iron with practically no impurities and represent a fair general average of the magnetite deposits of the West Coast of Texas Island.

PATRON SAINT IS NOT DESIRED

Ontario Veterans Laugh at Proposal Made

Brantford, May 26.—Laughter and ridicule greeted a resolution offered at the annual convention of the Ontario command of the Great War Veterans' Association here yesterday which proposed that St. Julien of Tivoli be made the patron saint of Canada. "The 60,000 white crosses pointing skyward in France are all the saints we want," declared one veteran and the resolution was withdrawn.

Government provision for the burial of soldiers' widows and children was asked. One-year and two-year pension amounts respectively were suggested as the amount.

Civil Servants.
Another resolution adopted calls the attention of the Dominion Government to the immediate necessity of making permanent after six months the services of all returned men temporarily appointed, either to their present department or transfer to other than the department to which they were appointed and classified in accordance with the Civil Service Act of 1918-19.

Deposits held outside Canada decreased about $14,000,000 and call loans in Canada by over $3,000,000. Current loans outside Canada also show a decrease, and current loans in Canada a slight increase.

Rt. Hon. J. L. Lowther, former Speaker of the British House of Commons, stated yesterday in an address before the Ottawa Club of this city. TROOPS ON GUARD AT DUBLIN RUINS

Customs House Was Burned By Raiders

Dublin, May 26.—Smoking ruins marked to-day the site of the historic Customs House of Dublin, which was burned yesterday afternoon by a raiding party of civilians. During the night sullen bursts of flame in the twisted chaos of stone and steel lighted up the scene, about which British armed forces kept vigilant guard.

Fifty men, arrested by crown forces after a pitched battle in and about old buildings, spent the night in various prisons in the city and the bodies of upward of a dozen persons killed during the struggle were in morgues. It was believed that some of the raiders perished in the fire they kindled as to exact number of wounded has not been learned.

An Ornament.
The Customs House was one of the chief architectural ornaments of the city, although a railroad bridge built across the Liffey River detracted to some extent from its beauty. The building, which housed the Local Government Board, the Board of Trade and the Board of Public Works and other local bodies, was situated on the left bank of the river. The side facing the water was of Portland stone, while the other three sides were of granite. It was of the best style of architecture and was crowned with a dome, surmounted by a statue of Hope.

Losses.
Archives of an almost priceless character were destroyed. The building after gasoline had been thrown about and ignited by the raiding party. It was said here to-day that the destruction of the building in the city, not even Dublin Castle, would have caused as great a loss to town officials.

Rain.
A heavy rain fell throughout the night, but flames were still raging in parts of the ruined building this morning, little more than the walls of the structure remaining. Troops were quartered in Liberty Hall, near by, during the night and the fire broke out in the Customs House were cut off by barbed wire entanglements.

It was found this morning that the governing Board's offices, which it had been hoped escaped the flames, had been destroyed.

B. C. APPEALS ARE HEARD IN LONDON

TO CONTINUE SALE OF OLEOMARGARINE

Ottawa, May 26.—Since 1917, when oleomargarine was first allowed to be brought into Canada, its importation and manufacture has been permitted from year to year. A bill in the Commons yesterday, as introduced by Dr. Toimie, Minister of Agriculture, proposed to continue importation and manufacture indefinitely, but pressed from both sides of the House, Dr. Toimie, early in the debate, intimated his willingness to make the bill applicable for a year only. An amendment to permit the sale of oleomargarine until March 1, 1922, carried without division. The bill was reported from committee.

CUTTING PUBLIC OUTLAY IN BRITAIN

London, May 26.—All the Government departments have been instructed imperatively to cut the estimates for the new year's supply services twenty per cent.

A circular issued by the treasury to the various departments states that, as far as now can be seen, the ordinary revenue for 1922-23, even if no taxation is remitted, is not likely to exceed £250,000,000. Interest and debt services will absorb £465,000,000, so that only £485,000,000 will be left for all the ordinary supply services. The current year's estimates for the latter aggregated £602,000,000. Therefore the Government has decided that such expenditure must be reduced to £490,000,000, and the cabinet instructs the department chiefs "forthwith to undertake any procedure desirable" and to make a searching examination of their expenditure bill so as to enable them to present for the next fiscal year adequately reduced requirements.

ONTARIO MAKES GREAT EXPERIMENT

Light, Power and Railway Properties Purchased

Toronto, May 26.—(Canadian Press)—All Canada will watch with interest the result of the latest venture of the municipalities of southwestern Ontario into the field of public ownership. The venture takes the form of the purchase of the Mackenzie light, power and radial properties at a total cost of $32,734,000.

The deal has not been formally ratified but the Ontario Legislature, before proroguing, passed legislation enabling the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to validate the purchase. On January 1 last the ratepayers of Toronto by a vote of 29,081 to 1,671, expressed their approval of the city assuming its share of the deal, which will cost $10,166,295.

The various Mackenzie properties already are being operated on behalf of the municipalities. When the final adjustments are made, they will be dated back to December 1, 1920.

Properties.
Here are the properties included in what Toronto people call "The Clean-up."
(a) The generating plant at Niagara Falls of the Electrical Development Company, capable of developing 125,000 to 150,000 horsepower, along with its transmission lines and a private right-of-way 80 feet wide from Niagara Falls to Toronto which was purchased for railway purposes by the late owners. This plant is to be held and operated by the Provincial Hydro Commission as trustee for the municipalities taking part in the deal.
(b) The York radicals, so-called, which include nearly 100 miles of single track mileage, including electric railways from Sutton (Lake Simcoe) to Toronto, Westhill to Toronto and Port Credit to Toronto. These lines are to be taken over by the City of Toronto but the municipalities they traverse are to be given the opportunity of coming into partnership. The Provincial Hydro Commission is to manage these lines on behalf of the street railway companies.
(c) The private electric light system in Toronto, known as the Toronto Electric Light Company, which is to be absorbed by the Toronto Hydro system, thus eliminating competition.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANY

The Toronto street railway, which is not included in the big deal but will be purchased separately, the city already having appointed Sir Adam Beck as its representative on the board of arbitration that will fix the price. The franchise of the street railway terminates next September.

The deal does not involve any cash payment. The purchasers assume existing obligations to the amount of $22,775,177 and hand over their own bonds and those of the Provincial Hydro Commission to the amount of $4,958,823.

Toronto's share of more than $10,000,000 includes that section of the York radial Metropolitan Railway on Yonge Street within the city limits at the price of $555,000; the rest of the York radials at $2,375,000 and the Toronto Electric Light plant at $7,228,295. The city is to get the $1,440,000 bonds, which will be discharged when the deal is finally consummated.

The clean-up is the result of negotiations that had been conducted for two years. The first price mentioned by the vendors was $38,000,000, but Sir Adam Beck, after much persuasion, induced them to take $5,000,000 less. The shortage was covered by the Hydro Commission last Fall and the expectation of the Mackenzie interests that they would be called upon to face keener competition from the Hydro when the Chippewa power canal gets into operation next September, are credited with being two

ONTARIO DISCUSSES BONE DRY DATE

Ottawa, May 26.—The final certificate of the result of the Canada Temperance Act referendum in Ontario on April 18 last shows $40,773 affirmative and 371,338 negative votes, a majority against liquor importation of 166,835, it was officially announced yesterday afternoon.

An important legal point has arisen. According to one interpretation placed on the Canada Temperance Act, although the Chief Electoral Officer has issued his certificate, the Cabinet prohibition shall come into force in Ontario until sixty days after the taking of the vote in other words, till June 15. If this interpretation of the Act is correct, it will be at least thirty days, or the middle of July, before prohibition of importation into Ontario actually comes into effect.

Castles of Wales: Castellau Cymry (By A. Petch)

President Victoria Cymrodorion Society.

Part I.

Tourists travelling through Wales must be notified how, in olden days, every valley and strategic point was guarded by castles, especially so in North Wales, and if the tourist starts from Chester, he will find them all along his tour either along the coast or inland. We will take Chester as our starting point, and therefore Chester Castle guarding the valley of the river Dee is our first. The river Dee meanders through a very pretty valley, and was, and is at present an inlet into the interior country. Wrexham, on a tributary of the Dee, being the first town of importance in the interior. This town was for many years, and is, so I believe, still the head depot of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. The town is partly in Wales and partly in England, the name Wrexham had its origin from the name of a Saxon "flex," therefore Wrexham or Rex-ham. Farther on the valley leads on to the Berwin Hills and down into Leangollen, where, on a hill overlooking the valley, stands the ruins of Castell Dinas Bran or as the English call it Crow's Castle, "Bran" in Welsh means Crow. "Dinas" city as literally "Crow's City Castle" there are three other castles, also guarding this valley from either end, Caerwile Castle, which, some authorities claim means the Castle of the Giant Legion, "Caer, Cawr, Llu." There is also "Chirk" and "Bangorlloch" Castles.

Next in following the coast line we come to Hawarden Castle which overlooks the Dee from the opposite side to Chester, and is about four miles from the ancient city of Chester,

I might here add that Hawarden is pronounced "Harden," the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone. The grand old man resided for many years at this spot, his wife being a Welsh lady of the Wynne family.

The next castle we come to is Flint, which is seen from the railway on your left as you proceed on your journey by the North Western line, the next castle is Rhuddlan, guarding the entrance to the Vale of Clwyd, the name Rhuddlan, so some authorities claim, means "Red shores" or landing place. It is one of the ancient Norman strongholds. Higher up the valley you come to Denbigh Castle and still further on to "Ruabon Castle" of which but a small portion of the ruins are to be seen, although on the same site a beautiful castle of modern date stands, and is occupied by the Cornwallis-West family.

Next you come to Deeganway Castle. A very small portion of the ruins of this ancient edifice are to be seen. Some authorities claim that King Edward I. had most of this edifice removed to use in the building of Conway Castle, a mile or so from this castle. Some claim that the name originally was "Dre Cynwy," "Dre Cwyn," "Cynwy" the Welsh name for Conway, and overlooked the mouth of that river, Aberconway really being the name, "Aber" meaning a disengagement of a river either into another river or the sea, as in Aberystwyth or Abergevenny. Next we come to one of the most noble piles in Wales, "Conway Castle," higher up another river, or to put it clearly the Lledr Valley, stands still another castle, (not forgetting "Gwydyr Castle" near Llanrwst, which was but a small edifice and where the bones of Llewellyn, last Prince of Wales rest) Dolwyddelan Castle or "Elen's Castle" of the plains.

Coming back to the coast line we next come to Beaumaris Castle, the only castle on Mona's Isle or Anglesea. This castle is situated at the northeast entrance to Menai Straits and was a safeguard from the open sea.

Carnarvon Castle

And now we come to Carnarvon Castle guarding the entrance to the "Seint Valley" and is naturally of greater renown than others, because it was the birthplace (7) of the first Prince of Wales of Saxon blood, and also because our present Prince of Wales was invested with his high office within its walls a few years ago. I might also here add that the greatest of all Welshmen, Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George is the constable of this castle. Then again between this castle and Snowdon, which is practically a continuation of the same valley, stands Dolbarthen Castle, which is "Criccieth Castle," guarding the shores of Cardigan Bay.

"Criccieth" is one of the Welsh seaside resorts, a very pretty little town. Next we come to "Criccieth Castle," a castle of this place, and has his home here. Then our next is Hartech Castle, the ruins of which stand on a high rock, and was undoubtedly a great stronghold. Next are the castles of Montgomery and Powys Castle. I have just given the castles of North Wales in this article in their order, starting from Chester and taking in the valleys and following the coast line, in another article, which I hope to write I will deal with castles of South Wales, and also will try to give a few historical facts and legends regarding the castles in Wales, and also a few facts regarding the "lost art" of how they were built.

Is Irish Self Government Fulfillment Of the Prophecy of the Roses?

Inspired by a recent photograph of mid-Winter roses in a Dutch bowl, from the garden of Mr. Pate, 424 Trutch Street, two local artists, J. M. Henderson and W. H. Cochran have super-imposed on the picture, which had a strong resemblance to Paddy's rose sketches of the national emblems of the British Isles, thereby fulfilling the famous rhyme:

Emblem of England, and the Sham- rock green, Blooming in harmony together seen; See as he joins the long contentious hands The happy, weary Welshman joyful Within, a bed of roses, where all frictions cease; And patriot Paddy, smokes the pipe of peace."

COLLISHAW, ILL., SAYS MESOPOTAMIA CRUSADE IS WASTED

Noted Airman Tells of Persia and Tree in Garden of Eden

Lieut.-Colonel Raymond Collishaw, D. S. O. etc., R. A. F., who probably carries more decorations on his breast than any soldier who ever left Canada, is now lying in hospital in Persia with dysentery. Collishaw, whose home is in Nanaimo, B. C., was in both the Canadian and British navies before the war. He was with Cook on his polar expedition and gained signal distinction in the Great War. He has had many offers of personal administrative officers and commercial flying ventures, but he lives only for the breath of adventure and chafes at routine restrictions. As Collishaw himself says: "I would rather like for the thrill of action one year than vegetate a lifetime in a safe office."

In appearance Collishaw is a tall, thin, grey-haired man, with a prominent nose, a large blue-grey, fearless eyes, the most arresting feature in his face. He is a native of Ontario, and his ancestry, he proclaims, is of the Norse strain. Add to that a fresh, hearty breeziness which smacks of the tang of the sea, and a ringing, bold, and manly voice, and you have before you this Canadian, king of D'Artagnans. Outstanding impression one receives of the man is his tremendous over-flowing energy. He has not yet turned thirty.

"I liked Poland very much," says the Colonel in a message he has sent to Canada. "The Barinas resemble the Russians quite, but soon I left the music master's capital to shake the Polar dust from my eyes, for I had seen the Warsaw, Pole, South Pole and telegraph pole, and had enough. Then I almost went to Japan on a two-year stunt to teach the young idea there and learn the language. I know all the three words already, owing to my early association along the Pacific coast. However, that fell through, and finally I set off for Persia. It was quite an interesting time in Egypt and India. The boys with me were mostly 'tull out' lads, not unlike our Russia crew of '47, and so we entertained ourselves decidedly along the ways.

"I was impressed with the vast docks erected and created by Canadian enterprise and workmanship at Basra since my recollection of the place in earlier days of the war. Mesopotamia is a land of memories and history with pre-historic scenes abounding on all sides of the main artery of commerce and travel, the Tigris River. Approaching from the sea one wonders at the splendor of the country with its thousands of waving date palms on all sides, but a flight into the air completely dispels allusions one and you observe a continent of barren brown deserts. There are in all directions with a muddied ribbon winding its indifferent way across the waste bordered with a fringe of green and the thousands of a country to avoid, and why we maintain ourselves there I am at a loss to understand. The towns and villages are but mud walls, there are no streets or roads—just tracks and ramshackle passages leading anywhere from any place. In Summer it is a land of infernal atmosphere and insects, and in Winter it makes palmy days of Ypres war mud look like a small adventure.

says what we might do with the country at some future century. But why not expend any surplus moneys upon some deserving dominion with resources to expand into production for the Empire.

"I visited the 'Garden of Eden' and was surprised at the height of folly and swampy waste presented to my view. I had been expecting the gnarled tree where Adam was put wise to Eve. The poor old Tree of Knowledge has only one indifferent branch left. The structures look to have been erected by indifferent intelligence and effort and are made of mud and sun-dried mud bricks. Only the occasional things being glitter of a golden dome of a mosque refresh one's conception enough to accept the wearying scene as picturesque. The bazaars, many miles long, are closed in overhead and only a small opening betrays the sky overhead every few hundred feet along the brick flaring ceilings. Everyone spends hours wandering through the bazaars, but they are out of communication, and therefore untamable, and will always give trouble to anyone hoping to assemble and collect taxes from them. The town Basra is rather an inferior sort of individual and despised by the Bedouins.

"The Arabs are a stout-hearted but cruel race, and in the recent operations in Mesopotamia the nomad Bedouin tribes behaved in such a despicable manner as to cause our indignation. But they have all handed in their firearms to our forces now, and have returned to the wilderness of the hills. They are out of communication, and therefore untamable, and will always give trouble to anyone hoping to assemble and collect taxes from them. The town Basra is rather an inferior sort of individual and despised by the Bedouins.

"I was glad when I left Baghdad for Persia by car. Railroads are no known in Persia. So we had to proceed the 600 miles by road, through wonderful mountains and passes, some of them almost 8,000 feet high. During the Winter our army has the greatest difficulty maintaining the passes in a serviceable working condition for the whole of our food and campaign resources must enter Persia along the only available artery, and one sees thousands of camels and donkeys and mules slowly winding their weary way packing a nation's worth of goods from and to the world along this great highway. Before the British came in it was only a pack trail—now it is a splendid road.

Persia Cold Country "Persia is wholly situated at a considerable altitude, and contrary to popular belief is a very cold climate in Winter, with much snow and no fuel of any sort available anywhere. All of the country is at an altitude between 3,000 and 17,000 feet, and one of our aerodromes is 7,000 feet high. In the mountain passes the snow drifts to terrific depths, and one sees tremendous grooves cut through the drifts along the roadbed path, some fifty feet thick, like a wall on both sides. We maintain our aerodrome serviceable by using some 500 camels and 700 horses to trample it down after each snow. Some people would really a high army at enormous expense to command such a waste. Everyone flying in Persia."

THE BY-LAWS.

It is not possible to predict the result of the popular verdict upon the school by-laws which are being considered by the ratepayers to-day. We may be permitted to observe, however that the people of this city who mark a ballot against the expenditure upon which the Board of School Trustees require instructions will not do so because they are in any manner fearful of the "sinister influences" which would invade the home in the event of an extension of technical educational facilities. They will not have marked their ballots because they are of the opinion that Victoria should wait ten years before it takes steps to consider the advisability of giving the younger generation of that day an opportunity to explore the fields of learning to which other youngsters of their own age to-day already have been introduced with profit. Defeat would be mainly due to insufficient appreciation of the responsibility which rests upon the people who pay taxes to-day to lighten posterity's load; because it is not generally known that the rehabilitation of the world's business depends entirely upon new development, upon the creation of new wealth; because it is not understood that the country or the Province without the expert will have to take a place in the rear of the march of progress.

A GLIMPSE AT CANADA'S AGRICULTURAL WEALTH.

A table given in the Report of the Dominion Minister of Agriculture for the year ending March 31, 1920, places the value of all the field crops in that year at $1,812,915,500, and the value of dairy products at $247,531,352. The number of horses in the country is given at 3,667,369, the number of milk cows as 3,548,437, other cattle as 6,536,574, sheep as 3,421,958 and swine as 3,040,070. Except in swine these numbers are slightly in advance of those given in the previous year and swine are quoted as more numerous than in 1915, 1916 and 1917. A noteworthy statement is that in three years of the war the Imperial War Office was supplied under the supervision of the dairy branch of the Department with hay, oats and flour to the value of $98,631,568, representing 481,250 tons of hay, 76,495,221 bushels of oats and 984,782,080 pounds of flour, for which approximately 24,000,000 bushels of wheat were required.

GETTING A START.

It begins to look as if some of those German soldiers who were guilty of infractions of the code of regulations which were wont to govern international warfare would get their desserts from the Court which is now in session at Leipzig. The first culprit arraigned for mistreating prisoners at a Westphalian detention camp will serve two months in prison although the German prosecuting Attorney-General demanded that the sentence be two years. Whether the punishment befits the crime or not the existence of the tribunal in operation constitutes the discharge of one of the Treaty obligations. But the manner in which the rest of the prosecutions are carried out and the extent to which punishment is levied will determine the amount of liability which Germany intends to assume in this respect.

TROUBLE IN EGYPT.

Sporadic outbreaks in Egypt during the last five years have been more the rule than the exception. Nationalist aspirations have been carried to the extreme on more than one occasion and the authorities have been compelled to use the last means to restore order. The recent disturbance which is now reported to have been quelled is of a similar political nature to those which have gone before; but it has taken place at a time when there were brighter hopes that the British "bond of civilization and friendship" would be accepted with better grace than appeared to be possible after the somewhat hostile reception which the Milner Commission was greeted more than twelve months ago. It is easy to understand Viscount Allenby's diffidence in dealing with disturbances arising out of an overindulgence of party political energy; but he warns the people that he will exercise his authority for the preservation of law and order unless the opposing factions can agree to compose their differences without resort to violence. At the same time Egypt will seethe with discontent as long as the educated native element continues to fasten the less imaginative population. Meanwhile Viscount Allenby may be depended upon to discharge the duties of his high office with an appropriate regard for British interests. But his task will be no insecure.

THE MURDER GANG.

It has been said that the rashest act of an outlaw is usually a confession of defeat and a final fling at the authority to which he is about to submit. But it is too much to expect that the ultra-republican element in Ireland has shot its last bolt by ing the historic customs house of Dublin. No more striking comment upon this latest outrage could be cited than that of The Irish Times which regards the whole miserable business as not only a blow to Irish pride and commerce but a "blow to all our prospects of peace." It likewise expresses the view that it will "still further discredit the republican demands," and "increase the difficulties of any form of national settlement."

The Freeman's Journal says "it may be a noble thing to rise to higher things on the stepping stones of our dead selves; but when the stepping stones are the corpses of our dead countrymen the achievement is not noble." Thus it would appear that the anti-British elements are beginning to divide among themselves. For it cannot be argued that the genuine Sinn Feiner—the republican by honest conviction—would consent to the doing of things that would completely defeat the object to which he had devoted the whole of his ambition. He is shrewd Ontario's verdict upon the Canada Temperance Act referendum according to the official certificate just issued is as follows: Affirmative: 540,773; Negative: 373,938. Which result would appear to indicate that the bootlegger and the illicit still artist will continue to require the attention of the authorities unless the odd three hundred thousand are quite ready to spurn the cup.

A FRUIT CANNERY.

If the loganberry growers of Vancouver Island need a pattern for local enterprise they may direct their attention to the course taken by their brother berry producers of Hatzig who propose to raise one hundred thousand dollars for the establishment of a cannery on the Mainland. While the Fraser valley idea very naturally differs from that which would have to be developed at Saanich the example set is a gentle reminder that what can be done on an extensive scale by the fruit-growing organizations in California should be by no means an impossibility either on Vancouver Island or anywhere else in this Province. And there is still a practical belief abroad that loganberry wine might make a future for itself in the foreign as well as in the domestic market. Needless to add the enterprising fruitgrowers in this community are not overlooking any medium that may be profitably utilized.

MISTOOK INDIAN FOR EAST INDIAN

Two Months' Reflection For Bartender Who Mixed Up Races

Old Olsen who told the court that he had inadvertently supplied two glasses of beer to a person who proved on investigation to be an Indian, Antonio Underwood, by name, sentenced to two months' hard labor in the police court to-day.

The accused was a bartender at the Grand Central Hotel, and had noticed Underwood drink up in a car. Underwood asked for a beer, and thinking the man was a Hindu, the accused stated he supplied him with the drink asked. Underwood spoke good English and resembled the normal Indian features, being however dressed in ordinary clothes. As the result of the beer thus obtained Underwood met with an accident later in the day when his car was overturned at the corner of Broad and View Streets, Underwood then being under the influence of liquor.

The accused stated that he did not know Underwood was an Indian, and took him for a Hindu.

Magistrate Jay held that the accused had no reason to think Underwood was anything but an Indian, and that he was not negligent in serving him a drink of beer, charged with driving a car under the influence of liquor, was fined $25.

Chung, who was arrested this morning and violently resisted the police search of his person, which revealed $48 in currency, was charged with supplying liquor to the Indian Tommy George. He was remanded for to-morrow, the hearing being set for to-morrow. Tommy George went with a constable to Fan Tan Alley to identify the accused prior to his arrest.

Tommy George, Edward George and Charlie, a party of three Indians were involved in a number of charges arising out of their pooling funds to buy a bottle from Chung. Charlie was fined $25 for being in possession of the intoxicating Chinese liquor, while Tommy George, charged with supplying Charlie with the bottle was remanded until Friday. Rev. C. M. Tate acted as Indian interpreter to-day, with Dominion Officer Tom O'Connell.

Mah Yue Jeun, charged with keeping liquor for sale, entered a plea of not guilty through counsel, W. C. Brehour, and was remanded on $1,000 bail until Friday. Louise Macdonald,

FACE STUDY AIDS IN CRIMINAL CAPTURE

Lessons in Physiognomy Found on Every Police Station Board

In the detective bureau of every station house is a large board covered with police circulars calling for the arrest of various criminals. At the top of each circular in large, bold type is the word "Wanted," with the particular crime specified below. Then follows the picture of the fugitive—there are usually two, front face and side face. The circular contains a brief account of his crimes and description, with the reward, if any, offered for his apprehension.

These circulars present an interesting study in criminal physiognomy. The faces for the most part, are not attractive; the features are coarse and heavy. Many of the faces are brutal and revolting, although occasionally a face that just misses being handsome looks out from the motley collection.

It is surprising how many of these fugitives are guilty of the serious crime of murder. A man may have committed a murder in distant Texas, or even in Alaska, but his circular has been sent to pretty nearly every city of any size in the United States and Canada, in the hope that he will eventually be picked up. There are circulars from every habitable part of the United States, and they are convincing proof that, as far as criminals are concerned, as a means of apprehending fugitives, the police everywhere have left nothing undone in an effort to catch their quarry.

Grand larceny is another crime that is widely advertised by the circulars; as well as burglary and other common crimes. Occasionally a circular proclaims that such a person is wanted for bigamy or for other crimes against the conventions and moralities.

The circulars are starting proofs that their subjects dress to fit their burglarly shows that he had dressed for the part. He wears a coarse, collarless shirt and a pair of slouchy trousers and a cap pulled down over a shaggy head of hair. A picture of "Handsome Harry," a professional bigamist, shows a man with a well-groomed mustache and a pair of sideburns. His hair is parted in the middle and his mustache is carefully trimmed and waxed. He has been the delight and the terror of cooks and chambermaids in many sections of the country. His specialty, according to the circular, is to win the hearts of his victims and then dupe them out of their various savings by pretending to invest the money in a home. In order to ensure a victim properly he sometimes marries her. Though Harry has been arrested, and has done time for his offences, he has broken so fascinating that he has not been able to give up the ruse.

A circular of "Cowboy Oscar" shows a big, strapping youth in a Buffalo Bill make-up, toying coyly with a lariat. He has a good-natured, laughing face, and it comes with something of a shock to read that he is wanted for murder in an Eastern city. Oscar, however, is not as gentle as he looks, and is not a cowboy at all; by his own further West than Pittsburgh. He found it convenient to pose as a ranchman and dress the part in order to rob his victims.

Pictures of a Real Bandit.

The likeness of a heavy-faced man with a great mop of unbrushed hair, and with a big drooping mustache, is that of a modern bandit. He wears a military cap and a pair of big, round eyes, and a pair of bushy eyebrows. He was the leader of a desperate gang of Sicilians in a western city; many of these are taken at his door. The subject of a nearby circular is that of a studious looking individual. He masquerades at times as a university professor, or a teacher of languages; in reality he is an old time forger, who has spent a good part of his life behind prison bars.

There are circulars of weak-chinned youths, consorts or associates of shoplifters and female offenders. It is seldom that the subjects of these printed posters are women. When such posters do appear they depict women of strong masculine type; or if the subjects possess physical charms, they are usually women without criminal tendencies who have committed crimes of violence when mentally overwrought.

The value of police circulars as an aid to catching criminals has been long a topic of discussion among policemen. It would be folly to deny that police circulars serve a useful purpose. There are records which show that many criminals have been apprehended by means of them. It is not, nevertheless, an easy matter to pick up a man by a circular. This is true unless the fugitive has such a pronounced physiognomy that he could be easily recognized or some physical defect or mark or characteristic that would lead an observant policeman to recognize him. Fugitives have been apprehended through birthmarks, scars left by wounds and tattoo marks, but few have been caught simply because they were recognized on their circular likenesses.

THOSE NASTY LITTLE PIMPLES

That Come On The Face Are Caused By Bad Blood.

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by the unsightly pimples and various other skin troubles, caused wholly by bad blood.

Many a cheek and brow cast in the mould of beauty have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost, and the possessor of the "pimpley face" rendered unhappy for years.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted as well as pain and regret to their friends. There is an effective remedy for these facial defects and that is Burdock Blood Bitters, the old reliable medicine that has been on the market over 40 years.

It drives out all the impurities from the blood, and leaves the complexion clear and healthy.

Mrs. James Williams, Waterford, Ont., writes:—"My face was covered with pimples for nearly a year. I used different kinds of remedies to get rid of them and finally thought there was no relief. A friend dropped in one day and told me I should try Burdock Blood Bitters. I did so and in three bottles I found the pimples were all disappearing from my face, and now I have a clear complexion again."

Two Months' Reflection For Bartender Who Mixed Up Races

Old Olsen who told the court that he had inadvertently supplied two glasses of beer to a person who proved on investigation to be an Indian, Antonio Underwood, by name, sentenced to two months' hard labor in the police court to-day.

The accused was a bartender at the Grand Central Hotel, and had noticed Underwood drink up in a car. Underwood asked for a beer, and thinking the man was a Hindu, the accused stated he supplied him with the drink asked. Underwood spoke good English and resembled the normal Indian features, being however dressed in ordinary clothes. As the result of the beer thus obtained Underwood met with an accident later in the day when his car was overturned at the corner of Broad and View Streets, Underwood then being under the influence of liquor.

The accused stated that he did not know Underwood was an Indian, and took him for a Hindu.

Magistrate Jay held that the accused had no reason to think Underwood was anything but an Indian, and that he was not negligent in serving him a drink of beer, charged with driving a car under the influence of liquor, was fined $25.

Chung, who was arrested this morning and violently resisted the police search of his person, which revealed $48 in currency, was charged with supplying liquor to the Indian Tommy George. He was remanded for to-morrow, the hearing being set for to-morrow. Tommy George went with a constable to Fan Tan Alley to identify the accused prior to his arrest.

Tommy George, Edward George and Charlie, a party of three Indians were involved in a number of charges arising out of their pooling funds to buy a bottle from Chung. Charlie was fined $25 for being in possession of the intoxicating Chinese liquor, while Tommy George, charged with supplying Charlie with the bottle was remanded until Friday. Rev. C. M. Tate acted as Indian interpreter to-day, with Dominion Officer Tom O'Connell.

"Once Over—Twice Cleaned" The Result When You Use an "Electric Sweeper Vac"

Everyone who visits our demonstration of the Electric Sweeper Vac will be astonished as well as delighted with its efficiency. The motor driven brush, as perfected in the Electric Sweeper Vac is, we believe, the greatest vacuum cleaner achievement in years. You don't have to push the cleaner to make the brush go, for it is motor driven, and the swiftly revolving brush picks up all lint, threads, hair and embedded dirt, and with powerful suction whisks it away into the dust bag, leaving rugs and carpets uninjured and thoroughly clean.

The Electric Sweeper Vac is constructed simply. Its mechanism is encased in strong steel, insuring constant, dependable operation. You may take it from the closet at any time sure that it will do its work faithfully and well. See our window display, and visit our demonstration on the second floor.

Training Colony Ideal Treatment for Tubercular

Overwhelming Success of English Settlement For Ex-Service Patients; Scheme Suitable For Vancouver Island.

Of the many problems arising as aftermath of the war few are fraught with graver issues than the care of ex-service men who are suffering from tuberculosis in its various forms, contracted during war service.

While the sanatoria principle has many advantages, it has been found by practical experience that the most effective treatment of tubercular cases is to be obtained under a village colony system, where hospital treatment is given in conjunction with vocational training, and where patients on the road to recovery, but in need of medical supervision, may live with their families under the healthiest conditions.

In 1914 Dr. P. C. Varrier Jones, the tuberculosis officer for the county of Cambridgeshire, England started at Bourne in that county, the nucleus of what has since become the most important experiment in the thorough and rational treatment of this ever spreading and terrible disease.

Writing in November 17, Dr. Varrier Jones says: "The Colony consisted of an old country home standing in its own ground of two acres, and built by consumptive labor, and it was long been empty, the garden was unproductive and other parts of the ground resembled a wilderness. On this site a few shanties were erected and the patients installed in the house, resided a matron, a nurse, together with a cook."

The number of shelters were gradually increased and the work of planning out the colony was begun.

The beginning of the colony well illustrates the principle on which it is run. Patients are encouraged to follow an occupation as far as possible to that on which they were formerly engaged, with the result that the colony has developed on a business basis.

Practically all the patients now at Bourne are discharged soldiers, on admission they all had Tubercle Bacilli, but with the work as planned out, they are steadily improving and many are taking an active interest in their surroundings.

The school managers continue as far as in their power to carry out their parts with regard to education of the village children.

"Sunday evening services are held in the parish church and the hall alternately."

"We will not refer in any detail in the report except to one item on the credit side. By sales of work done since the start of the year we have saved £12,196, giving a net profit of £5,000."

"The work accomplished, the support received and the very marked increase in the cases handled are evidence that the experiment, if extended any longer is a success."

"Further we see in this report that the Government of the Tuberculosis in England 1920 Dr. Nathan Raw, M. P. announced that the Government was building five such colonies at an estimated expenditure of £3,000,000."

FOR CHILDREN THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

IVAN'S TREASURE

Ivan worked for a woodchopper; and to cut wood in a forest in winter in Russia is hard, cold work.

"This would make nice timber, Uncle Olaf," said Ivan. "Let us cut it, for we could sell it at a fine price at the castle."

"No," said the chopper quickly. "That is great timber, but I know the gnomes often have their dances on Summer nights under their branches, so we will not disturb it. I like the little folk of the forest."

Olaf and Ivan had gone quite a way home that evening when Olaf suddenly remembered that he had left his lunch basket back in the woods.

"I will get it for you, uncle," said Ivan. "You keep on home and I will run fast."

So Ivan sped back down the snowy road into the deepening dusk of the huge forest. When he reached the big fir tree he saw no signs of the basket. In vain he searched about in the snow. Then he heard a merry laugh and out from behind the tree jumped a short but stout little man with a big basket in his hands.

"Ho, son, are you looking for a lost basket?" he asked. "Maybe this is it." And he placed the one he held on the ground at Ivan's feet. Ivan examined it closely. This one was of fine red wire and in it were glittering leaves of gold and tiny diamonds forming a line down the stem.

"Is that the one you lost, lad?" asked the gnome.

"Oh, no!" laughed Ivan as he kept on his search in the bushes. "Our basket was of rushes, and there was nothing in it but a bit of dry bread and some paper."

"Well, if that is true, it ought to be easy to find," said the gnome. "I will help you."

So the gnome set the beautiful basket of golden leaves on a snowy stump and helped Ivan peer under all the bushes.

It grew very cold and dark. The wind whistled and the snow fell thick and fast.

"Better take this basket," said the gnome. "Maybe you are mistaken and this is the one he left the basket. Much less than those beautiful golden leaves," he replied, "so it is not ours."

"Ha, here it is at last!" said Ivan, pulling out the chopper basket from under a pile of snow.

"Now take it and run home," said the chopper quickly. "Ivan seized the basket eagerly after thanking his friend of the woods warmly, was about to go in a run home.

"Look behind that tree and what you see," said the Gnome. Ivan looked, and there on a hung a big, warm fur coat. He peeped into it quickly.

"And here is the basket as a gift to your uncle," continued Gnome, placing the beautiful golden leaves in Ivan's hand. "It is to the chopper with the rest of the King of the Gnomes, by you all afternoon and hear refuse to harm our tree."

When Ivan reached home he saw a warm fire, but little to eat. "Ivan looked, and there on a hung a big, warm fur coat. He peeped into it quickly.

A GAMBLE IN BEAUTY

By NANCIBELLE HALE.
ONE LOVE STORY YOU NEVER CAN FORGET.

The Romance of Two Sisters, Both Beautiful, One Demure, the Other Vampish—With Thrills in Every Chapter and an Unexpected Denouement.

The lunch dishes were still unwashed. Nina was bent over a morning newspaper, reading intently, when the buzzer sounded.

She had done her hair hurriedly, it straggled about her face; her skin looked sallow; she had covered herself with an apron.

When the open door showed her John Amory's face she started back with a little cry.

"Oh, John, if I had known!" Then pushing him before her, she brought him to her crowded sitting room, and pulling the green portieres of her disordered dining room together she said: "Just amuse yourself a moment!"

To say that John Amory was shocked was to put it mildly. Nina had always been surrounded for him with the odor of luxury, this Nina—why, she was another woman.

In her own bedroom Nina pulled off her apron in frantic haste. She swept the hair out of her eyes and brushed it with long strokes until gleaming with life, it snapped back on her brush.

Pulling on a pair of gauzy silk stockings, she reached for her slippers, and then slipped over her head a negligee of rose tulle that was like a fairy cloud.

The transformation was now almost complete—not quite—for she put some color on her cheeks, a drop of perfume on her hair. She covered the light above her dressing table with a pink shade.

A moment she stood doubtful. Then her dimple showed in her cheek and she turned and caught the filmy tail of her negligee and very carefully she secured it in the closet door. She swung the door of the closet to, with a slam.

"Oh!" she waited breathlessly for a movement from the next room, then John's reassuring voice came to her: "Anything the matter?"

"Oh, John?"

"Yes—"

"I don't like to—but I'm caught here—I can't move—"

"Come!"

She saw his head and shoulders as he pushed aside the hangings.

"It's ridiculous of me—I'm so sorry—"

"Nina breathe!"

John hesitated before he came forward.

"What a picture she made standing against the door!" Her long dark hair swung to her waist, and she turned partly from him, showing the lovely line of her figure outlined there.

"If you could unloose me—I'm caught in the door!" she said in that liquid, appealing voice.

John jerked open the door, and stooping beneath the tail of her gown, he brushed his cheek, the perfume that was to be forever associated with her in his mind, floated to him.

His face was flushed when he rose; he was trembling a little. He thrust his clenched hands in his pockets. He got out of the room as quickly as he could.

But Nina had cast her old spell over him again. When she came out a few minutes later, with her hair and her neck and the black dress that she had worn for two days in expectation of him, she was glowing with the knowledge that she had him in the hollow of her hands.

"Are you glad to see me, John?" Nina asked, giving him both her hands, "I don't think you seem to be."

He looked across at her. Something about his eyes so dark, so full of pain, told her that she had made him men when why hadn't he kissed her? Why—

"I brought you the money, Nina—the thousand dollars," he said frowning slightly. "I'm sorry that I'll have to ask you, but if Mr. Rogers can get it back to me by the middle of next month—otherwise I'll be in rather a hole."

"Of course, you old dear!" Nina said, catching his hand.

His grasp tightened on hers. She saw that he was going to draw her to him. The flat door was very cold. On the landing she fancied she heard the clumsy elevator stopping with a clatter.

"If Mel should ever find"—she thought in a flash.

"I'd like to ask you to dine with us," Nina said slowly, "but Mel is usually so tired unless I can tell him before."

"Thanks. But I must be going," John Amory said, rising.

He did not remember how he said good-bye to Nina—how, in fact, he reached the street. He only knew that when the cool air met his face he felt as though he was under a vivifying shower.

He cursed himself softly under his breath as he went along. He had meant to leave the money and go—but somehow circumstances had got the better of him.

The damned door catching on her dress, her hair down, his hand on him, he stumbled on, forgetting his direction and only anxious to walk off the fever that Nina could always rouse in him.

Varia might wonder why he had not come. Morningside Park loomed above him, dark and fantastic, with its lights showing here and there like lonely sentinels.

He found himself running up the steps, as though something were after him; he scarcely stopped for breath until he reached the top and could overlook the city, swimming below in lights.

"Varia mustn't know what he had done—she would only make her unhappy. Yet Nina was not to blame. All an accident, catching her gown in the door like that, it was he who was a hot-headed fool!"

He hailed a taxi logging by with its red flag out, and heavily sunk down on the seat, he wished wearily that Nina had never crossed his horizon.

TEA TAX

The new budget having imposed a Sales Tax of 1 1/2% on tea, the onus of the tax falls on the tea company of charging this on their invoices to the grocers, and after collection to pay it to the inland revenue department. This is the only tax the consumer of Salada need pay to the grocer.

There is a further tax of 2 1/2% on importations of tea which the Salada Tea Company are paying themselves, and this is not being passed along to the grocers or the consumers.

WINDOW DISPLAY ATTRACTS CROWDS

Crowds of people have been attracted by the novel and interesting window display of the Franco-Canadian Company, corner Broad and View Streets, featuring the new subdivision at Sooke, known as Saseenos, which will be placed on the market next Monday, May 30.—Saseenos is the old Sooke Indian name for that portion of the property in the vicinity of the station on the Canadian National Railway, which will be located in the centre of the 1,000 acre subdivision.

The location is one of the most beautiful in the vicinity of Victoria, and the acreage plot will be a big attraction for those seeking Summer camping sites and Summer homes.

The huge panorama in the company's window shows the background in beautiful natural colors, the work of J. Semyen, a local artist, while the foreground is in relief and shows the islands heavily timbered and the surrounding waters dotted with small craft. Bathing and boating parties are to be seen along the shores and the whole is very cleverly worked out.

The Inner Harbor of Sooke, the settlements, Goodridge Peninsula, Cooper's Cove and Billing's spit are shown in the model, the wooded sections being produced through the use of Japanese sea grass. The representation is really excellent, and is an education to those who are unfamiliar with Sooke district.

Even the C. N. R. Railway, with locomotive and train on the tracks at Cooper's Cove is shown.

The panorama was prepared under the direction of Alfred Carmichael, the local manager of the Franco-Canadian Company, which is putting the subdivision on the market here.

EX-KAISER ADDS TO UNPOPULARITY

Scheme to Sell Land Displeases Doornites

Doorn, Holland, May 25.—Wilhelm Hohenzollern, former Kaiser of the Germans, in exile here, has made himself extremely unpopular in the eyes of the people of Doorn by an attempt to sell as building ground a strip of woods belonging to his estate, but outside his fences and useless to him.

The Dutch Government, on learning of his intention to sell the woodland in small allotments to add to his income, prohibited the felling of the trees in that place, and the Doorn municipality this afternoon bought at auction the woodland in question, preserving it for the public in its natural state.

WOULD SETTLE YAP DIFFICULTY

Oaaka, May 25.—Viscount Takaki Kato, former Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs, blamed the Japanese Government for developments arising over the mandate to the island of Yap during a speech before a meeting of members of the Kensei Kai, or Opposition party, here yesterday.

He said, however, that Japan should not insist upon her acquired rights.

The Minister was assailed for abandoning Japan's special claims in Manchuria and Mongolia in connection with the Chinese consortium. He called it "the most deplorable diplomatic blunder ever committed," and asserted it would "only sow the seeds of future trouble."

CRUSADERS PICNIC
Cadbora Bay, on the afternoon and evening of May 24, was the scene of the Crusaders' eighth annual picnic. About seventy of the club's members and friends were present and every one in true picnic spirit, entered into the races, games and so forth, making an affair one of unequalled success. Mrs. Richards loaned the use of the Cadbora Bay Tea Gardens, where wings, tents, shady trees and dancing floor added much to the comfort and enjoyment of all. In the evening the entire party gathered around a granite bonfire on the beach and sang to ukulele accompaniment. As the "end of a perfect day" drew near the jolly crowd proceeded to the tea gardens, where dancing in the open-air pavilion was carried on till a late hour. The Crusaders' social committee is to be congratulated on the way they kept things moving, for they saw that no one spent an idle moment all day.

HAT OF MISSING MAN SERVES AS CLUE TO IDENTITY

Unknown Man Now Identified As Alfred Prudum

The identity of the man who was seen to disappear in the water at Horseshoe Bay, Beacon Hill Park, on Sunday last, was suggested yesterday by the identification of the green fedora hat which floated ashore following the fatality. William Robinson, 1709 Quadra Street, and W. D. Taylor, 3165 Balfour Avenue, both testifying to the hat as one worn by Alfred Prudum, residing until Sunday last at the first named residence.

On Sunday last Mr. Prudum left the house, saying that he was going to seek work on a farm at Saanich. Prior to that he had been working on the new Hudson's Bay Company store on Douglas Street, where, however, his employment terminated about a month ago. The description of the two men who knew Mr. Prudum tallies as correctly as possible at this date with the description of the man seen to be struggling in the water off the park.

The home of Mr. Prudum is at Belmont, Ontario, where a brother resides, it was learned. The provincial police dragged the waters near the scene of the suspected fatality on Monday and Tuesday, but without effect.

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

Metchoin, May 25.—The directors of the Metchoin Farmers' Institute have arranged for a special visit of the members to the Dominion Government Experimental Farm at Sidney in conjunction with the Sooke Farmers' Institute, to take place on Saturday, June 4.

Those members who have cars will co-operate by taking those who are without means of transportation. The two institutes will meet for lunch at 12.30 on the grounds and during the lunch period, Professor Stevenson will address the gathering. After lunch the members will proceed to visit the various interesting parts of the farm.

During the Summer the directors propose holding field days on farms in the district, and would like to hear from farmers specialising in stock, field crops, fruit and poultry that they are agreeable for their farms to be used during afternoons, when experts will give lectures and demonstrations. Attention has been drawn to the unoccupied land in the district and it is proposed to hold a special meeting to discuss the prospect of creating a land settlement area under the Land Settlement Act, which correspondence with the Department shows can be made applicable to this district.

H. B. Brown, of Metchoin, has been appointed director in the vacancy created through the resignation of G. Ball, who will, however, still continue to represent the Institute at Rocky Point, but is unable to attend directors' meeting.

O.S.K. ABANDONS SERVICE BETWEEN JAVA AND EUROPE

Ships Have Been Transferred to Japan-India Route; Ships Laid Up

Word was brought by the liner Arizona Maru of the suspension of the Java-Europe service of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha. Owing to the shipping depression and the resumption of other services which suspended operations during the war, it became unremunerative for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha to continue the service established a year ago. The three vessels employed on the Java-Europe run have been transferred to the Japan-India trade.

According to information brought by the O. S. K. liner the number of Japanese ships tied up last month at Osaka, Kobe, Yokohama, Nagoya, Handa, Shimizu, Moji, Wakamatsu, Nagasaki, Uno and Tokyo numbered 128, totalling 248,448 tons. Compared with previous statistics, the latest figures show a decrease of 30 in number, but the tonnage shows an increase of 21,017 tons. This testifies to the fact that larger ships are now tied up. Further, the 128 tied-up ships consisted of 48 steel steamers, totalling 174,918 tons, and 80 wooden vessels, totalling 74,530 tons, the former showing an increase of two ships with 43,073 tons, and the latter a decrease of 32 with 22,956 tons.

ARIZONA MARU HAD SPLENDID PASSAGE ACROSS PACIFIC

O.S.K. Liner Made Port Early This Morning From the Orient

Making quarantine at 3 o'clock this morning after a good run across the Pacific, the Japanese liner Arizona Maru of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, docked at 7 o'clock from Hongkong and Yokohama.

Captain D. Fuchigami reported fine weather on the trip from Japan, the latter stages of the passage being completed under excellent conditions. After leaving Japan head winds were encountered, but when the 180th meridian had been left behind the wind switched completely around and during the remainder of the trip the liner had a following wind and sea.

The passage from Yokohama was negotiated in fourteen days, twelve hours. The Arizona Maru cleared 214 passengers, including 44 for Victoria. The ship was about half full of cargo. The Seattle cargo, amounting to about 1,500 tons, included 1,488 bales of raw wool and 244 cases of silk goods. In No. 4 deep tank the liner carried 228 tons of bean oil in bulk.

The British Columbia freight amounted to about 500 tons, and included 138 tons for Victoria.

On completing the discharge of her cargo here the Arizona Maru cleared for Seattle, getting away about noon.

FREIGHT FOR EAST LOADED BY DURBAN MARU AT THIS PORT

N. Y. K. Freighter Clears For New York Via the Panama Canal

Two hundred tons of Oriental freight landed here by the N. Y. K. liner Kashima Maru for transshipment to the Atlantic seaboard, were loaded to-day aboard the N. Y. K. freighter Durban Maru, which sailed at noon for New York via San Francisco and Balboa.

The Durban Maru arrived here last night from Seattle, where she had discharged 1,000 tons of general cargo from the Orient. A start was made in working cargo early this morning and by noon the freight had been stowed and the vessel dispatched to sea. The Durban Maru is practically a new ship, this being her third voyage.

The call of the Durban Maru marks the first time that Oriental freight has been transhipped here for delivery at New York by the all-water route. The Kashima Maru terminated her voyage at Seattle and consequently it was necessary to transfer the shipment to one of the company's through freighters.

High rail rates, operating against freights delivered at American ports in foreign bottoms, are responsible for the diversion of large freights through the Panama Canal.

EMPERESS OF RUSSIA SAILING FOR ORIENT

Early Departure Will Be Made To-morrow by C. P. O. S. Liner

At 8 o'clock to-morrow morning the C. P. O. S. liner Empress of Russia, Captain S. Robertson, R. N. R., is scheduled to clear from the Outer Docks for Yokohama, Manila and Hongkong.

The big three stacker is posted to leave Vancouver at 10 o'clock to-night, and when she passes out of Burrard Inlet she will be loaded down to her Plimsoll with Canadian products for the markets of the Orient.

The Empress will take out over 1,000 passengers, including 700 Chinese steerage. There will be 250 passengers in the saloon, 60 second class and 50 in the third class quarters.

As she will arrive from Vancouver in the early hours of the morning the Empress of Russia will probably go to an anchorage in the Royal Roads and come alongside the wharf shortly after daybreak. The ship will remain here for a sufficient length of time to embark local passengers and take aboard mails and will then put out to sea.

AMERICANS PREFER TO TRAVEL ABOARD FOREIGN STEAMSHIPS

Shipping Board Seeks to Force Officials to Sail on American Boats

Washington, May 26.—The Shipping Board is considering asking President Harding to direct government officials to travel on American ships.

The Board is spending thousands of dollars in national advertising bearing the slogan ship and sail the Stars and Stripes. But shipping news reports indicate this injunction is not being observed by those who could do most to further the Board's ambition for building up the American merchant marine.

A tabulation of recent sailings, privately referred to by Shipping Board officials as the "black list," bears many names of officials high in diplomatic ranks who have chosen to use British and other foreign ships in traveling to their posts.

One of the names on the list is the name of Col. George Harvey, newly appointed ambassador to the Court of St. James. He left for England on the Aquitania, one of the British Cunard Line. The Old North State, one of America's newest and finest passenger-carrying liners sailed on the same day.

Also included in the names of James Barton Payne, former Secretary of the Interior, who, while chairman of the Shipping Board before entering the Cabinet, was particularly emphatic in his assertions that Americans should support their own merchant marine. Another name which has caused Shipping Board officials to express surprise and regret is that of Kermit Roosevelt, who, with his brother Archie, sailed on the Aquitania with Col. Harvey.

Your Roosevelt not only is head of a shipping company, but also the operator of several Shipping Board vessels which have been allocated to his company. Although Admiral Benham would make no comment for publication on the defection of prominent Americans from his request, it is no secret that he is both surprised and indignant.

In discussing privately the latest of the Board's worries, officials pointed out that in only one respect could the express surmise be conceded to possess advantages over American ships.

The latter are equally as speedy, fully as well appointed and in many instances derive the benefit of more recent construction.

Prohibition alone is the distinguishing feature, it was stated, but of course no one presumes to intimate this distinction has any influence upon prominent Americans in selecting a foreign ship.

SHIPYARD RECEIVER

George M. Walker, of Seattle, is Appointed to Act.

Seattle, May 25.—Federal Judge Jeremiah Netzer yesterday named George H. Walker of Seattle receiver for the Sloan Shipyard Corporation, the Capital City Iron Works and the Anacortes Shipbuilding Company. The firms involved in the suit for $1,100,000 against the United States Government to recover for losses said to have been sustained through cancellation of war-time shipbuilding contracts. The receiver's bond was fixed at $50,000. Petition for the appointment of a receiver was given by United States District Attorney Robert C. Saunders, representing the shipping board.

SMOKE NUISANCE POPS UP AGAIN

The perennial smoke nuisance agitation probably will be stirred up again by the decision of Acting Mayor George Sangster to revive the matter once more. Alderman Sangster this morning instructed City Clerk E. W. Bradley to write to the Vancouver civic authorities and ask them how they are getting along in their efforts to curb the smoke nuisance in Vancouver.

It will be recalled that, after months of fruitless wrangling, the City Council decided to postpone action on the smoke nuisance question until a special committee of experts had reported on the subject to the Vancouver City Council. It was hoped that this committee would recommend to the Vancouver Council some method which would enable saw mills to operate without bothering residents with smoke and refuse. So far as the Victoria Council has been able to ascertain the Vancouver Council has got no further in its attempt to cope with the situation.

"I want to see what the special committee has reported to the Vancouver Council, as the report may contain valuable suggestions as to the best methods for the checking of the smoke nuisance," Alderman Sangster stated today. "We have not forgotten the matter by any means."

ADVERTISEMENT DECLARED ILLEGAL

Colonist Printing & Publishing Company Fined $100

A conviction was recorded against The Colonist Printing and Publishing Company this morning in connection with the second charge laid in connection with the advertisement of the B. C. Olympian Magazine, in which a baseball contest is quoted. The defendant company were fined $100 in a judgment delivered by Magistrate Jay to-day. E. L. Tait, counsel for the defendants, at once gave notice of appeal, stating that it was a matter that affected all similar types of advertising.

"I have compared the two advertisements in question," stated Magistrate Jay, "and I find there is little difference between the former one which I held was unlawful, and the advertisement now in question. It is true in the latest advertisement more prominence is given to circulation and subscription to the B. C. Olympian, but notwithstanding that I cannot see that the nature of the transaction has been changed. There still stands out prominently the twenty-five cents which although it entitles the sender to the paper for one month, still it carries with it the right to participate in this drawing. I cannot hold this anything other than an unlawful transaction. On the first occasion I fined the defendants twenty dollars as I thought they were sincere in their intention to keep within the law, but I cannot overlook the second offence. I will impose a fine of $100 on the defendants."

E. L. Tait, for defendants, at once asked for leave to appeal and fixing costs for such an appeal. Magistrate Jay stated that no barriers would be placed in the way of an appeal by the defendant company.

Classified Advertisements

Classified advertisements in the newspapers offer to the business man or woman many opportunities that cannot be duplicated through any other medium.

It is the mission of the classified ad to act as a sort of Master of Ceremonies between the man who has and the man who wants.

In the past few years classified advertising has attained that degree of efficiency that is successful salesmanship.

The "tired business man" who uses the classified advertisements is the chap who isn't "tired" any more, and who has time to do the many things he used to be "too busy" for.

Victoria Fielders Hand Last Tussle to Yakima

Erratic Fielding Let Hanson Down and Allowed Crabapples to Score Almost at Will; Jensen Clouts Two Homers While Hansen Notched One; Tacoma Will Play Here This Evening.

Yakima, 9; Victoria, 5.

It's the same sad story in the same sad way. When the Capitals get into a hitting stride they go on a fielding spree and when they have their good days in the field they can't smite a balloon. Last night the Victoria clan hit the ball hard, but when it came to nabbing flies and smothering grounders they seemed all cross-eyed. As a result of this display the Crabapples snagged the last game of the series. They took six out of the seven games played.

Hansen pitched his first game before the local fans last night and the score against him would not have been so bad had his teammates held up behind him. Valencia, the dark southpaw of the Yakima team, opposed the pair as far as flinging went and as a hitter the Victoria twirler had the advantage, picking a home run which accounted for two runs, while Valencia slapped out two singles which netted but one tally.

Looking 'em Over

Victoria is in a losing streak. Weak hitting and poor fielding has been responsible for the slide into the cellar. Jake Messner's playing at second base is a big improvement on Church's work. Messner also makes a good lead-off man.

The outfield is where the Caps need to strengthen. Blankenship has been putting pitchers and catchers in the outfield, but such a procedure should not be necessary. Two new hard-hitting outfielders are wanted.

Blankenship is reported to be dictating with the Edmonton Club for the services of Cy Forsythe. Last season Cy was playing with Vancouver, but Bob Brown let him go to the Edmonton Club.

In Rego and Anfinson Victoria has two of the best catchers in the league. Willits, Hansen and Wallace are worth places on the pitching staff. Easter and Washington have shown little. Thompson has not been given a fair trial as yet. Bill Reid has been released already.

Victoria's infield has a lot of good and bad points. Dempsey is showing lots of class at first, but there is not much to show around second base. An infielder like Elliott would help things a lot. Handley at third is a bit erratic. He has a good throwing arm, but yesterday he made two awful plays. Handley has hitting ability, and is the most dangerous batter the Caps have.

Yakima has a pretty smooth club. The infield is a very slick outfit. Lafayette, Delaguerre, Elliott and Harrison covered all kinds of ground, and they are fair men with the stick. Hansen has not the catchers Victoria has, but their outfielders are hard hitters. The pitchers are nothing out of the ordinary, but they give splendid support by their team-mates.

Gate Receipts For Big Fight Set New Records

New York, May 26.—The Dempsey-Carpenter fight for the world's heavyweight championship already has broken all box office records distant with the date of the bout five weeks ago.

Promoter Rickard to-day announced that the receipts had reached $525,000. Receipts of the Dempsey-Willard battle promoted by Rickard at Toledo, Ohio, in 1913, constituted the previous record of $482,522.

Paris, May 26.—The enthusiasm of French fight fans for the champion and challenger between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier in Jersey City on July 3, has been frantically equal to the price of 4,500 francs for the round trip on the steamer Leopoldine, which it was proposed to send to the United States and the plan has been abandoned.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 26.—Forced into a day of idleness because of the rain and cold weather of yesterday, Jack Dempsey to-day resumed training activities eagerly with a full day's work ahead of him. Dempsey planned to go on the road for six-mile runs if the rain-soaked roads proved sufficiently dry.

Some Sparring Partner. Manhasset, N. Y., May 26.—Paul Journe, French heavyweight and sparring partner of Georges Carpentier, aspirant to the world's heavyweight boxing title, looks, besides Georges, like the sides of the Grand Canyon to the burro. His choice picnic ham, hang almost to his knees.

Paul has to stoop to pass through the ordinary doorway, and his shoulders are so broad the rest of his body seems to hang like fringes on a lady's dress. He never smiles, this giant—then just growls. Every now and then he growls, whereupon the camp shakes.

Last American Beaten in British Golf Tournament

Hoylake, Eng., May 26.—Alan Graham, Royal Liverpool, and W. J. Hunter, of Walsmer and Kingsdown, will compete in the final to-morrow for the British amateur golf championship at 36 holes.

Bernard Darwin, of Woking, who eliminated Frederick J. Wright, of Boston, went down to defeat at the hands of Hunter by a final score of 15 to 11. Graham also advanced to the final by beating H. S. E. Tubbs of Sunningdale, by one hole in the other semi-final match.

Hoylake, Eng., May 26.—The United States was forced out of the British amateur golf championship at the end of the sixth round this afternoon, when Frederick J. Wright, of Boston, sole survivor of the American entrants, was defeated by Bernard Darwin, of Woking, in a sensational finish on the 13th green.

The match was played under unfavorable weather conditions, a light rain falling and a northeast wind blowing over the course. Wright's play was brilliant in the first half of the match and toward its close, when he won the eighteenth hole after Darwin had become dormant on the seventeenth. At the 19th hole the American badly topped his tee shot and failed at a later chance to redeem himself by under-putting a short putt.

Postpone Game to Give Locals Chance to Train

Victoria Lacrosse Team Will Not Play in Vancouver on Saturday; Next Game Will Be Staged Here on Wednesday of Next Week; Fitzgerald Predicts Different Story at Next Meeting.

In order to give the Victoria team more time to get into condition the lacrosse game which was scheduled for Saturday in Vancouver has been indefinitely postponed, according to an announcement made yesterday by Billy Fitzgerald, manager of the local squad. The next game in the Con Jones circuit will be played here on Wednesday evening, June 1.

The Vics have had very little time in which to condition themselves. The eight eastern players did not arrive here until Friday of last week and they only got in one good practice before leaving for Vancouver to meet the Mainlanders in the opening game of the season last Tuesday.

After the game Manager Fitzgerald and Captain Powers interviewed Con Jones and persuaded him to cancel the game scheduled for Saturday in order that Victoria might be able to get into better shape.

"We certainly got away to a bad start, but I think there will be a different tale to tell after our meeting next Wednesday," said Billy Fitzgerald this morning. "Vancouver had the drop on us every way. They were in far better condition and were able to keep going at top speed all the way. We were lagging behind after the first period. We only had one spare man and he was shoved into the game when Tom Fitzgerald and I had from then on we had no one for relief duty. Vancouver had plenty of men and kept shooting them into the game and had us beaten."

Manager Fitzgerald plans to get-in four more practices before the game here on Wednesday. He intends to inaugurate a system of play which will produce better results than the one which was used in the game with the Mainlanders.

When Victoria took the field on Tuesday afternoon, the players had only practiced together once, knew absolutely nothing of each other's play and their great handicap was a second period. Fitzgerald had Vancouver down in the first period, but expended their last effort in doing it.

Amateurs Looked Good. Manager Fitzgerald is satisfied with the showing made by the local amateurs, who played their first professional game. He thinks that they will fit in well with the Eastern boys in the team-play which will be developed.

The Victoria team is still scouting for more players. Substitutes are required and as the teams are playing fifteen men will be carried.

The Vics hope to land at least one more local amateur and it is possible that a twelve-man lacrosse player will be secured from other quarters.

Several of the local players suffered minor injuries during the opening game. Tom Fitzgerald sustained a knee injury, but it is coming all right and will be in next Wednesday's game. Most of the players are stiff and sore, due to the heavy exercise which they underwent during preliminary training.

The team, however, will give a far better account of itself on Wednesday next.

AMATEUR BASEBALL OFFICIALS TO MEET

A meeting of officials of the Victoria Amateur Baseball League will be held on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the office of Dave MacFarlane, Belmont Building. All officials are asked to attend.

Words and Smacks Limit Of Spanish Prizefighters

Spaniards may make good bull-fighters but as prize-fighters they can't lick the proverbial postage stamp. The reason that Spaniards never win a prize is that they are brawlers who do not believe in fighting with closed hands. Whenever the Spaniards get into a mix-up they talk a lot before they reach the stage where they counter each other with rights and lefts and then they always strike with the hands wide open.

"RABBIT" IS GIVEN CREDIT FOR SHOWING

Pirates' Getaway Said to Be Caused by Maranville, But He Says "No"

New York, May 26.—Baseball fans throughout the country are inclined to give Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, the Pittsburgh shortstop, most of the credit for the remarkable get-away spurt of the Pirates. The Pittsburgh team, travelling at an abnormally fast pace, is leading the National League, by more than 100 points.

Maranville differs, however. The midwest shortstop, who went to the eastern coast to join the Boston Braves in 1914 a world's champion, declares that the fighting spirit which made "of the tail-end Boston Braves in 1914 a world's champion" is responsible for the fast start of the Pirates and in his academic but emphatic words, "there ain't going to be any let down."

Pirates Only Lost Three. The Pirates lost only three games of the eastern trip which closed yesterday when the scheduled contest with the Giants was prevented by rain.

The club is a unit behind Manager "Doc" Fletcher the star infielder. "Training rules are rigorously and willingly observed, and no member of the club sees any reason why the players should not be maintained." The pace, if maintained, would clinch the National League pennant for the Pirates not long after July 4.

St. Louis, May 26.—St. Louis rallied in the ninth yesterday, scoring two runs after two were out, and defeated New York 7 to 6. Sisler's single, Williams' triple and a run and a hit by the pitcher, secured the tying and winning runs.

Ruth made his thirteenth home run in the seventh with two men on bases. It was one of the longest hits ever made at the local park.

Chicago, May 26.—Washington broke the series with Chicago yesterday by winning 10 to 5. Wilkinson was hit hard, while Pence, who replaced him, forced in a run and walked two more men who scored after he was replaced by Hodge. McGriffe was hit hard, but his teammates came to his assistance.

BRITTON HAS TOUGH BATTLE WITH DAVIS

Everett Boy Gave Welter-weight Champ Good Scrap at Seattle Last Night

Seattle, May 26.—The Diamond-studded bit of hardware emblematic of the world's welterweight crown is still resting firmly and securely on Jack Britton's brow to-day. Travis Davis, the youthful challenger from Everett, tried with might and main for four rounds to win the title for his very own last night before a couple of thousand followers of the manly art, and while he failed, the blonde battler gained the honor of winning a draw decision with the best 145-pounder in the universe, which is honor enough for a young man of Travis' years and fighting experience.

Travis Earns Draw. And it was not through a philanthropic motive that Davis was given the draw verdict. Travis earned the draw, earned it by virtue of his good left hand, by his aggressiveness, and by his ability to evade punches that have lowered the colors of many an aspiring challenger.

It was a highly interesting tussle, principally because of the excellent showing of Davis and because of that chance for a title to change hands. Britton won the goodwill of the patrons by his willingness to stand up and swap blows; not in any round did he break ground nor use the runaway so popular with the present-day champions.

The indoor rifle shoot of the 16th Canadian Scottish has ended. Sergt. H. Burton wins the men's division with a drop of only five points out of possible one thousand; Corporal Harding, six; Major Richardson, seven; and Sergt.-Major W. H. Woods, twelve.

Miss D. Richardson heads the ladies' division with 980 out of possible 1,000; Miss Morris, 952, and Miss Dover, 951.

The scores are as follows: Sergt. H. Burton, averages 99.5 per shot. Corporal Harding, average 99.4 per shot. Major Richardson, averages 99.3 per shot. Sergt.-Major Woods, averages 98.1 per shot. Corporal Ashe, averages 98.2 per shot.

Ladies' Division. Miss D. Richardson, averages 99.6 per shot. Miss E. Morris, averages 95.2 per shot. Miss A. Dover, averages 95.1 per shot. Miss L. Woods, averages 93.9 per shot. Mrs. Faulkner, average 93.0 per shot. Mrs. Monckton Case, averages 92.7 per shot.

Detroit, Mich., May 26.—Johnny Wilson had the better of Joe Chip in a ten-round bout last night, in the opinion of newspapermen. Wilson was the aggressor all the way.

Laughter, drama and thrills are admirably combined in "Colorado," the story told on the screen of the Columbia Theatre to-day, with Frank Mayo as the star. This photodrama is based on the famous stage success by Augustus Thomas and shows the popular star in one of the most likable characters in which he has appeared for some time. It gives him opportunity for fine acting and also for the display of his physical strength.

Night life in New York among the several strata of society in that cosmopolitan city is pictured with wonderful fidelity in the three acts or episodes which compose the picture. The play abounds with spectacular incidents and yet the thing that remains in the memory after seeing "While New York Sleeps" is the almost intolerable suspense with which Director Charles J. ber from Florenz Ziegfeld's popular Midnight Frolic girl-and-music show, together with gorgeous cabaret scenes from the Cafe Palais Royal.
Then the action plunges over to the East Side, where takes place a tragedy in the lives of a tempestuous shop girl, her puny, gentle-hearted husband whom she despises, the saintly, parasite father of the man, and the gangster leader of a band of thieves. In this episode occurs a thrilling revolver-battle between the famous New York police boat and a launch full of desperadoes.
"While New York Sleeps" is a picture that no devotee of better art than the silver sheet can afford to miss. It will remain at the Variety Theatre until Saturday.

PRINCESS

"Broadway and Buttermilk" the rural comedy drama now appearing at the Princess Theatre, is a decidedly clever play and one well suited to the talents of the company.
Miss Page as Madam Nadine, a New York business woman on her vacation in the country is all that her many admirers are always pleased to find her, the difficult role being handled in her own particular style, and with such ease and poise that one can scarcely believe there was less than a week's time spent in study and preparation of it.
The entire play is full of life and "pop" and the first act climax when Miss Page teaches the old village Opera House manager to "shimmy" is screamingly funny.
"Going Up" is now being prepared for next week's attraction and the cat tunes and general swing of the play have simply taken possession of all the players for they are humming, whistling and stepping about in time to "Tinkle Toes" and other lively numbers from the "Going Up" score, that always promises well for a really ripping good show, for when the players themselves are enjoying their work they put joy into the hearts of all those who witness their efforts.

"Broadway and Buttermilk" will continue as usual to the end of the week with a Saturday matinee and Captain Kidds prize is $30 this week. The Captain contest is for children only, and the Wednesday night guessing contest is for grown-ups.

ROYAL VICTORIA

"Jim the Penman," starring Lionel Barrymore, produced by Whitman Bennett and distributed by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., will be the offering at the Royal Victoria Theatre again to-day.
In this production Mr. Barrymore portrays a role so entirely different from any in which he has hitherto been seen that it is a revelation as to the remarkable versatility and ability of this noted actor. "Jim the Penman" as produced by Mr. Bennett is an Americanized version brought up to date of a melodrama which has been popular on the English stage for a generation.
Mr. Barrymore is cast as James Ralston, the cashier in a small country bank. Ralston has an exceptional talent for forgery, but the first time he exercises it for money gain is to save the president of the bank Enoch Bronson, from a band of swindlers. Nina, the beautiful daughter of Bronson, is the impelling motive. The forgery is discovered by the swindlers. They admire Ralston's skill and offer him a membership in the band with an alternative of going to jail.
He joins.
He forges two letters which separate Nina and the man to whom she is engaged. His prosperity engendered through his share of the loot gained by the gang, makes him a wealthy man. Nina finally yields to his protestations and they are married.
Then Ralston balks at a forgery which will ruin a close friend of his family. Detectives are also getting close to the identity of "Jim the Pen-

DOMINION

Dorothy GISH's latest Paramount comedy, "The Ghost in the Garret" which is the feature at the Dominion Theatre this week, is a real comedy, according to report. The story deals with a girl who foils the efforts of a band of desperate crooks to escape with a pearl necklace which they have stolen, and at the risk of her life she follows the thieves to a haunted house. With the aid of a trained bulldog, she recovers the necklace and frees her sweetheart who has been accused of the crime. The supporting company, headed by William E. Park, is excellent. F. Richard Jones was the director.

ROMANO

A whirlwind of complications overtakes Wallace Reid in his new picture, "Sick Abed," at the Romano Theatre, when he attempts to protect a friend by pretending to be so ill that he can't testify at a divorce suit. Since he is the star witness, Wallie delays the proceedings, but he has a tough time getting away with the deception, strong support. The chorus is brilliant, composed of ten pretty girls, who know how to display the elaborate and expensive costumes in which they appear.

current Pantages bill. Leonard and Willard contribute to the merriment in a medley of fun, song and personality. The girl is vivacious and possesses considerable ability as a comedienne, and is given a generous hand.
"The Baggage Man" is an amusing comedy turn presented by Will H. Armstrong, assisted by Maudie Smith. Armstrong is the creator of the character, and he makes a big hit. Grace Hayes sings herself into popularity with classical and popular numbers, and appreciative applause greets her vocal efforts. Cyril Stock rides skillfully accompanies the singer on the piano.
Anna Vivian, assisted by Evelyn Du Fresnoe, sings and dances, and then proceeds to surprise everybody by a clever exhibition of shooting. A spectacular slack-wire act is put on by Charles and Mayme Batters. Their clever and daring work is well received. The Pantagescope rounds out an excellent and most entertaining bill of popular vaudeville.

"Not Yet, Marie," An Elaborate Feature, Backed by Other Catchy Numbers

"Not Yet, Marie," a musical comedy of the first-water, is the big feature of a varied and high class vaudeville programme offered this week to Pantages patrons. The offering is most elaborately staged, the musical numbers are catchy and excellently rendered, and the principals, William Edmunds, William Pruette, Jr., and Fanchon Haywood, are prominent in the vaudeville firmament. "Not Yet, Marie," is presented by a cast of musical comedy artists who possess the ability to make any production a success. The offering has been heralded all over the circuit as one of the best ever.
As Bambino, William Edmunds, is sufficient to keep the house in an uncontrollable state of hilarity, and in his efforts to amuse he is backed by strong support. The chorus is brilliant, composed of ten pretty girls, who know how to display the elaborate and expensive costumes in which they appear.

Compared to a few years ago Tire Users are getting easily double—and even more than double—the mileage in the tires of today than they got from the best tires at that time. Ten, twelve and fifteen thousand miles are just average mileages today. And the records on the road show that Dunlop Cord Tires and Dunlop Fabric Tires are even exceeding these mileages.
Now with Dunlop big mileage you have rock-bottom prices and paramount tire quality—a tire quality that is accepted as standard today, and which other makers are vainly striving to duplicate.
When you can get a tire with a prestige back of it like DUNLOP, and with practically an unlimited guarantee, why chance your life on a second-rate tire at any price?

Dunlop Double-Life, High-Mileage Cord and Fabric Tires Will Save You More Money Than Ever.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Almost Always Due to Weak and Impoverished Blood.

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two causes. The mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root, namely poor blood. Either bloodlessness or non-poor appetite and weak digestion, the cause is almost always poor blood. If you have nervous headaches, neuritis, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is exhausted nerves. But run down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same. If your health is poor; if you are pale, nervous or dyspeptic, you should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These pills act directly on the blood, and by enriching it give new strength to worn out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit through the use of this medicine. If you desire a good attendance give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and you will be pleased with the beneficial results that will speedily follow. If your dealer does not keep them, you can order by mail at $2.50 a box or six boxes for $15.00 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

There are also a few miles to be linked up between Roseland and Grand Forks. Cars can make this trip without any trouble now by a short detour through American territory. The road between the two towns is through a very large sum—some say half a million—for his holdings in the old St. Lawrence, Chicago Navigation Company which subsequently became merged into the American Navigation Co. But the late jurist's principal investment was the prudent one of mortgages—many of them second mortgages.

PICK OLD LADY'S POCKET

Hard and Dangerous Job to Steal From Bank of England; Many Hanged For Doing It.

For more than two centuries the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" has jealously guarded her moneybags; but, in spite of all her vigilance, they have been plundered again and again until her losses have soared into seven figures, says Answers.

Lost in End

Among many other rogues who have grown rich at the Old Lady's expense, Edward Beaumont Smith, one of her own most trusted servants, who robbed her to the extent of $300,000 before the hand of the law could grasp him; Burnett, an ex-convict, who reaped a fine harvest by forging notes printed on paper stolen from the Bank's factory at Levenshoe; and those arch-scoundrels the Bidwell brothers, who are said to have relieved her exchequer of a round million pounds by means of forged acceptances.

But, as we have seen, it is a dangerous game to play, with heavy penalties to counter-balance ill-gotten gains. Within four years from 1791 no fewer than eighty-five forgers and counterfeiters of forged one-pound Bank of England notes were sent out of the world by the hangman. And hundreds of others, less and after, learned the same lesson—that the man who dares to touch the Old Lady's gold did so at the peril of his own life.

Ernest Newman, the English brilliant critic, writing on folk tunes says:

Folk tunes grew up amongst the people, were made by the people, and were subjected during centuries to the process of natural selection and when one reached its finest form it represented the collective taste of the people at its highest. The whole thing was an instance of the action of collective instinctive, artistic tastes. And as for the jazz artists of today, they do not arise from the people but are foisted on them. It is true that the folk accept them—in the towns, but not in the darkest Africa the savages accept and develop a taste for the "fire water" which the traders so generously introduce with so diligently pushed. Every musician understands this, of course.

Home, Sweet Home

Perhaps no song ever written has gained such unlimited popularity as "Home, Sweet Home" and it is safe to say that no song will ever take its place in the hearts of mankind so responsive and applicable to all people bringing to the mind which it conveys. Many fanciful and romantic stories have been interwoven round and about the circumstances in which the author wrote the immortal story. But the most authentic story is that Payne, born in New York 1791, was married in Paris, for a singer by the name of Clair, the heroine of one of Payne's many plays, entitled "The Maid in 1823 at Covent Garden Theatre, London. Clair had run away from her humble cell with a note from her new position did not bring to her the happiness she had anticipated, or even enjoyed when in her cottage the age of thirteen founded and edited a magazine of his own, and very fond of dramatic works of sixteen he took part in many stage productions, and two years later made his debut as the hero of the Old Park Theatre, New York. A few years later he went to that mecca, destined of all actors and musicians, London, and was there welcomed by English audiences and became very popular. The melody to the poem was suggested to the distinguished composer, Sir Henry Rowley Bishop (1786-1855), who adapted the music to the words. Payne said he first heard the air in Italy, at a home in Rome, where he happened to engage his attention one morning whilst singing on her way, carrying a basket of flowers and vegetables to the market. The plaintive melody struck his fancy, and was the air that suggested the words of "Home, Sweet Home," both of which he sent to Sir Henry, who already happened to have the air in his mind. Payne received about $250 for the copyright of the song from his publishers, who in less than a year after its publication made him a profit of over $10,000. The author of this beautiful poem

U. S. AMMUNITION FOUND IN IRELAND

Dublin, May 25.—"It is not merely a blow to Irish pride and commerce," said The Irish Times this morning in commenting on the burning of the Dublin Customs House by a band of Sinn Feiners, "but it is a blow to all our prospects of peace. Its political effect in Great Britain will be still further to discredit the republican demands, but the effect in Ireland will be to increase the difficulties of any form of national settlement."

Fireman Has High Fire—A fire which was thought to have started in a mattress in the basement of premises at 601 McPherson Street, Victoria, West, at 1.27 a.m. this morning, gave the Fire Department an hour's hard work before the flames could be brought under control and extinguished. The Victoria West engines and some from headquarters met the run in record time, and it was due to the promptness of the brigade that the building was saved. The fire had got a considerable hold in the basement, and was with difficulty brought under control.

The Caravans Are Here

The Romance of Modern Shopping

In olden times when people wanted to buy wearing apparel or household goods and certain foodstuffs (like coffee and spices) they had to wait until the caravans came along.

Contrast this with the Romance of Modern Shopping.

To appreciate this Romance to the full, take a walk through the shops of this city. In them you will find rugs from Persia, from Turkestan, from India and from China. Carpets from Canadian looms and from Great Britain and United States.

Furniture made from Canadian lumber in Canadian factories, as well as articles from Great Britain, France and United States.

You will find linens made from Canadian-grown flax in Canadian mills, as well as linens from Ireland. There are calicoes, blankets, sheetings and dress goods made in Canada, Lancashire, Yorkshire, the West of England, Scotland, Ireland and United States.

You will find silks from France, from Italy and from Japan.

You will find ladies' wearing apparel designed and made by the artistic craftsmen and workers in Canada, Great Britain, France and United States.

The same thing is true of the men's wearing apparel and the fine wools made up in our own factories and in those of Leicester and Nottingham and Halifax, Huddersfield and Wakefield.

You can buy perfumes, soaps, emollients and dentifrices from France and from Arabia, and the same sweet essences blended and made up by Skilful Canadian chemists.

You will see fine shoes from twenty or thirty good Canadian makers.

There are hats from Canada, Great Britain, France, United States and Italy. Gloves from Canada, France, United States and Switzerland.

We all owe a great tribute to the retail merchants of the city (particularly to those who advertise) because they not only venture into the world's markets to buy goods to add to our comfort and enjoyment, they also encourage inter-community prosperity by their vigorous advertising of these goods.

The next time you go shopping think of the Romance of it—

IMPROVE CANADIAN DOLLAR IN STATES

British Agent Speaks of New Customs Regulations

Montreal, May 26.—The new budget has made it more advantageous than ever for Canadians to buy British goods rather than those of the United States. E. J. Edwards, senior British Trade Commissioner in Canada, when interviewed today, said: "A section of the budget which will assist very much indeed is the clause requiring customs duty to be levied on the invoice value of goods after taking the rate of exchange into account. At the desire of business interests throughout Canada, customs regulations drawn up several months ago made it compulsory for this to be done with European goods, but for certain reasons no similar requirements were made on imports from the United States. The result was a considerable advantage to importers of American goods—so much so in fact that in many cases with a high rate of exchange it amounted to quite a substantial reduction of the protective tariff and sometimes did away with the preferential tariff given to the products of the Empire.

Improves Dollar. "Now American manufacturers will rank the same as those of any other country, and I believe the effect will be not only to encourage British trade but to assist and bring back to its face value the Canadian dollar, which is improving slowly but steadily to worth only ninety cents in the United States."

RAILWAY WAGES TO BE DISCUSSED

Employees Ask C. N. R. to Make Statement

Ottawa, May 26.—Representatives of the employees of the Canadian National Railways have asked for a statement of the changes in the wages and working conditions and schedules which the management recently gave notice it would move to secure this year, according to an announcement made yesterday by officials of the employees' organization. The employees claim that in previous years when requests for schedule adjustments went from the workers to the management, the latter asked for a complete statement before entering into negotiations.

Montreal, May 26.—The meeting of the Brotherhood of Railroad Stationmen and Employees' Alliance closed here yesterday after two days' session and resulted in a thorough discussion of the situation as it exists in regard to the attitude to be taken by their organization in their conference with the Grand Trunk Railway consequent upon the lapse of the working agreement as to rates of pay now obtaining. This conference will take place in June.

R. E. Neill, president of the organization, advised the men to be honest in their deliberations and to meet the issue squarely from an economic standpoint and with fairness to all concerned.

Omaha, Neb., May 26.—Discussion of wages of stationary steam engine and boiler room employees of the Union Pacific system lines was on today's program of the company's schedule of conferences between representatives of the men and officials of the Union Pacific on a proposal by the latter to cut rates of pay, effective July 1. H. W. Wendell, Marysville, Kas., a general chairman of the Brotherhood of Stationary Steammen and Oilers, is representing employees of the Union Pacific.

STOCKS STEADY AT CLOSE TO-DAY

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)
New York, May 26.—The stock market opened steady but some parts of the list were subject to slight pressure. However, near the close selling was less active and the total averaged better than opening quotations.

Cherniavsky Recital Will Be Notable Musical Feature

Mischel Cherniavsky will appear Tuesday, May 31 at the Empress Hotel Ballroom, with Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green at the piano.

At the close of the programme in Vancouver of Mr. Cherniavsky the applause was tremendous; every one seemed determined to bring the musician back. At last yielding to insistent demand, Mr. Cherniavsky gave "The Swan," a tender haunting piece, which he played with poetic charm.

It was not a long programme, but every number was exceptionally interesting. The first, "Sonata in A Minor," by Boccherini, gave the cellist scope for delicate shading and great beauty of tone, the impressive adagio movement with its sonorous notes being in telling contrast to the dainty arabesque of melody in the allegro part. Beethoven's "Romance" followed, revealing the player's fineness of touch and his technique in some exquisite passages. When Mr. Cherniavsky played a minute by Haydn, its sprightly tone and complete abandon seemed to conjure up powdered belles and beaux of olden days as they trod a joyous measure. This number was vigorously applauded. In the encore accorded "Souvenir," the cellist showed great beauty of tone and warm sympathy. In "Kol Nidrei" by Max Bruch, he also won his audience, the melody in the bass being brought out wonderfully in the even, sonorous tones of his Guadagnini cello. Immensely popular was Poppo's "Mazurka," in which fairy-like runs, with dramatic contrasts were finely executed. For encore Mr. Cherniavsky gave "The Bee's Wedding," in which one could hear the flutter of tiny wings, so delicately and charmingly was it played.

The last number, Beethoven's "Symphonic Variations," which makes large demands upon the performer, was most effectively rendered. Mr. Cherniavsky's fine technique and richness and warmth of tone being amply demonstrated.

LEADING BRITISH ACTORS COMING
The Trans-Canada Theatres Promises Exceptional Bookings

An important announcement is made by Trans-Canada to-day, that they have completed arrangements with Messrs. Mr. Wynne Arnold, one of the best known actors in New York City, in all probability will be engaged to play one of the important roles. An all-star cast is being put together for the Canadian tour.

The producers also announce the completion of a contract with Miss Marie Lohr, and her entire English company for a tour of Canada.

Trans-Canada Theatres announce the completion of arrangements with Lady Forbes-Robertson (Miss Gertrude Elliott) for a tour of Canada, reviving in all probability her greatest success "The Dawn of Tomorrow."

Mr. George Robey is a possible booking for an all-Canadian tour next season. Mr. Robey will be surrounded by his own company, and will in all probability present one or two of his most successful London revues.

Miss Viva Daron will again visit Canada next season, either associated with another prominent English star, or at the head of her own musical comedy.

Mr. Matheson Lang, the well known London actor, and his all-English company, will probably be seen through Canada next season, presenting "Mr. W." and possibly "The Wandering Jew."

WILL SEEK GRANT FOR UNIVERSITY

Kiwans Want $1,250,000 Spent on Buildings at Rate of $100,000 Per Month

A large delegation will wait on the Government at an early date to ascertain whether or not support will be given a scheme outlined by the Kiwanis Club, of Vancouver, to spend between now and next fall about $1,250,000 for the University of British Columbia, at the rate of $100,000 per month, according to a letter from the Vancouver organization addressed to the City Council, which was last night laid on the table for one week.

The letter states that the Kiwanis Club investigated the University, and finds it hopelessly overcrowded with an attendance of 382, and that some 1,280 students are expected to seek admission by Autumn.

"It would seem useless to spend money elsewhere than on the permanent site. Our scheme is that the Government should expend $1,250,000 in completing the permanent building already started, constructing a permanent building just large enough for the present, to contain a library of some 38,000 volumes; constructing wooden buildings that would last about thirty years, in which the other work of the University could be carried on, and then constructing a permanent building to be used as a Women's Dormitory," the letter states.

The Club is of the opinion that this is the most important matter confronting the Province to-day, and it seeks the support of all prominent public men to exercise their influence in getting something done at once.

COUNCIL WILL SIT ALTERNATE MONDAYS

Will Relax During Summer Months; No Meeting Monday Next

The City Council will not sit again until June 6 and thereafter, during the months of June, July and August, meetings will be held once every two weeks. This action was decided upon last night upon the suggestion of Alderman Andros, who referred to the fact that the plan worked out very satisfactorily last year.

When City Engineer Preston's report was brought down regarding work on Johnson Street bridge to date, the report is laid on the table for inspection by any of the aldermen interested. Alderman Dinsdale seconded this and the Council approved.

The inter-municipal cemetery agreement was laid over pending a legal opinion from City Solicitor Pringle on the draft.

IT MADE HIM FEEL LIKE A NEW MAN

Beaudry Says He Can Do As Much Work As Ever Before in His Life Since Taking Tanlac

"A friend of mine who had taken Tanlac with splendid results gave me a half bottle he had left over. This helped me so much that I got me five bottles more, and today I'm a well man and can do as much work as I ever could in my life."

The above statement was made by Edward Beaudry, well known carpenter, residing at 2091 Notre Dame Ave., Winnipeg, while at the Liggett Drug Store, recently.

"Just two years ago," said Mr. Beaudry, "I had a nervous breakdown, was flat on my back in bed for three weeks, and since then up until I got Tanlac I had an awful time. My stomach got out of order and I had indigestion so bad I just dreaded to eat because of the suffering I knew it would cause. Gas would blow me until it made my heart palpitate and a steam hammer. I was so nervous I could hardly hold a nail still long enough to drive it, and many nights I could not sleep a wink. "But all this suffering is in the past now, and I actually feel like a new man. I'm eating like a horse, never feel a touch of indigestion, and go to sleep just as soon as I get to bed, and sleep like a log until morning. My nerves are so steady I can hold a glass brimful of water in my hand without spilling a drop. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell and all druggists.

APPROVES ACTION REGARDING DRUGS

City Council Deals With Medical Health Officer's Report

Recommendations of City Health Officer A. G. Price regarding amendments to existing legislation affecting the handling of opium and drugs were approved at the meeting of the City Council last night.

Dr. Price objected to the proposal that officers of the law should have without a warrant any premises which would be unconstitutional, and would lay the foundation for a lot of trouble.

"I disagree with Dr. Price. I think we cannot make the law too strict in regard to this drug business, commented Acting Mayor-Sangster.

Dr. Price's report on the matter in part is as follows:—

"Though the matter is one to be viewed from a legal aspect as much as from that of public health, I venture to express an opinion on both points. Viewing the matter from a health and social standpoint and realizing the gravity of the conditions prevailing in the secret traffic in drugs and the increasing number of addicts, I am convinced that no reasonable measure should be withheld which would effectually check and prevent the further spread of so great a social evil," reported Dr. Price.

"Viewing the matter, however, from a juristic aspect, I am of opinion that it is only right that such measures enacted and penalties prescribed for the suppression of this or any other social evil should be reasonable.

"Recommendation No. 1 calls for an increased penalty for selling or keeping drugs for sale by unauthorized persons. The present penalty prescribed by law is only $1,000 fine or two years' imprisonment. The recommendation is that the penalty be increased to $1,000 fine and two years' imprisonment or three years' imprisonment and in case of a second offence, five years in jail with lashes, and in case of the offender being an alien, deportation.

"Favors Deportation that convicted alien be deported is good, and I would recommend the endorsement of this as being an efficacious measure, the majority of drug traffickers are aliens, but personally I consider the present penalty for non-alien sufficient to be effective, and that the proposed increased penalty would be unnecessarily severe.

"Recommendation No. 5 advocates that the right of search for drugs without warrant be given to the police. If this means that right to search a private dwelling without a warrant be given to the police then such would be unconstitutional and would lead to abuse of authority in the searching of anyone's private home at the will of any policeman on the pretext that search was being made for drugs.

"I would, therefore, not recommend endorsement of the possession of scales, wrappers, vials, labels for drugs, needles, etc., be considered as evidence of possession of drugs. I consider this recommendation good in part with the exception of the possession of life balances for other purposes than weighing drugs.

"With the above exception, I would recommend the endorsement of all the recommendations of the Vancouver committee, which, if made law, would, no doubt, strengthen the present enactments for the suppression of the drug evil, and I suggest that the Mayor of Vancouver, to bring such approved recommendations to the notice of the Federal authorities, in view of amendments to the present Opium and Drug Act."
