MASS. AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.
FRIDAY, DEC. 6, 1907.

There are two things which are not safe but the world will never learn it. One is that it is not safe for boys to hunt with loaded cock rifles and the other is that he is apt to be thin at this time of the year.

There are people who are always trying to make their town a "rich residential town" or a resort for "rich summer boarders." There may be some good features in both of these, but Newport is now paying the penalty incident to overdoing the thing and is confronted with a serious financial problem.

The whistle blew at Washington, Tuesday morning and business was resumed at the Capital. The President's message embraced nearly everything which could be thought of as to home or foreign affairs, and Congress is in for overtime work if it expects to solve all the problems raised.

THE ANGELS' SONG.

Nearly two thousand years ago as the Christ Child lay in the manger, at Bethlehem, the angels sang "Glory to God, Peace on Earth, Good-will to Men," and through all the ages poets and musicians have told the "Old, Old Story" in new form and new beauty and we are pleased this week to publish the 1907 production of Weymouth's talented artist, Miss A. F. Lord.

A message sweet, thro' angels' came From yon realms above, Neath brightest star of matchless flame Came wondrous words of love, Glory to God who was their joyous song,
Glory to God who was their joyous song,
Glory to God who was their joyous song,
Glory to God who was their joyous song,
Peace on earth, good-will toward men!

An Abstract of Town Records From the Earliest Settlement.

CHAPTER XIV.

At a meeting of the Selectmen, August 16, 1681 "It was ordered that on account of repeated injury to inhabitants on account of open wells and water holes that all such shall be immediately filled up or timbered."

The schedule of indebtedness of the town for the annual Town meeting, Nov. 1681 was 452 00s. Capt. Holbrook was chosen moderator and Lieut. White, Jacob Nash, Stephen French, John Kingman, John Shaw, sen., William Reed & James Smith were elected Selectmen and John Hunt & John Randall constables.

At the March meeting 1682 Capt. Holbrook, Lieut. White & Capt. Torrey appointed commissioners to the Honorable Court.

At this meeting there were further allotments of land to James Lovell, Micajah Torrey, William Richards, Nicholas Whitmarsh and John Vining a part of which was for land taken to build the road near "Wob's Puddle."

At a meeting of the Selectmen April 1682 it was ordered that those who had neglected the order about wells and water holes be fined 20s each and the same be gathered at once.

The Rate or Tax Levy for this year was 302 00s 00d for all expenses reported and at a meeting held in Jan., 1682, the following highway was reported and accepted:—
"A highway two poles wide from the Smeltworks to Rocky Swamp in the same place the cartway now is, then over and by land of Jacob Torrey, William Richards, Isaac Poole & Jacob Poole to the Town Common, then by the great marsh to Plymouth line (now Abington)."

Town meeting Nov. 27th, 1682—Capt. Holbrook, moderator, Deacon James Hamphrey, Lieut. Whitmarsh, Jacob Nash, Capt. French, Capt. Torrey, Micajah Torrey & Abiah Whitman constables.

This according to the Town Clerk's record was a live town meeting as he says "After serious agitation concerning the Old Meeting house, the following committee was chosen to act in all respects to repair the old or build a new meeting house at the Town's Charge."

Committee: Capt. Torrey, Lieut. Holbrook, Esq. Hunt, Quartermaster Nash, (Post) Serjt. Whitmarsh, Capt. French, Capt. Kingman, Serjt. Vining, John Pratt, Richard Phillips, James Smith, Philip King, Joseph Patten, James Lovell, John Shaw, sen., Joseph Pratt, William Reed, John Richards, William Holbrook, Thomas Reed, Esq. Byer White, John Porter, Joseph Poole, Ebenezer Dyer, John Rogers.

RECORD OF COMMITTEE.

"The committee met the 15th of Dec., 1682, reviewed the old Meeting house, and found that the place where a plurality of rotten in many parts & defective both for strength and likeness for accommodation to little to supply the people for comfortable room and light in the worship of God. Upon debate about it at the Parish meeting, the committee with a plurality of consent passed a vote that there shall be a new Meeting house built."

"The committee passed a vote that the meeting house shall be 45 feet in length, 40 feet in breadth and 29 feet high between joists."

"The committee ordered that there shall be four gable ends of convenient height to make it uniform."

"The committee ordered that the platform on the top shall be covered with lead."

"The committee ordered that the meeting house to be raised upon the place which they lately purchased of Capt. Holbrook near the School house."

"The committee ordered that the walls on the outside to be boarded and clapboarded on the inside and filled with brick up to the plate."

"The committee ordered that the floor be raised a foot above the ground upon stone wall laid in line."

Henry and The "Bum B."

Howard Dighton stopped at the stenographer's desk, and Henry ground his teeth together savagely. He knew very well that he could never hope to marry Phoebe children for she had made this quite clear when, under the first impulse of his boyish love, he had written her a fervid declaration of his intention to marry her when he should be twenty-one. "Dighton" was a hopeless passion that he nursed, but his grief was not assuaged at the spectacle of Dighton bending over the stenographer's desk, and Henry noticed that he did not draw away from the chief clerk as she did when the junior partner came to her desk, as he so often did.

Time had been when Dighton was Henry's boyish hero. It was he who had trained the lad to office ways, and frequently the office boys, Evans was betting on the office and on the races with no success. He had overdrawn his share of the profits of the firm, and in his pressing need of ready money he had sold information to his partners' undoing.

It must have been the right explanation, for when Henry apologized to Miss Childers for his suspicions, and the three men left the office. Phoebe threw her arms about Henry's neck and kissed him a dozen kisses upon the forehead.

"You have saved my reputation and my happiness," she whispered to him, "I shall never forget it."

"I shall never forget it," Henry winked at Dighton. "I guess that's something you can't do," he said to the junior partner. "For never Phoebe slipped an arm about Dighton's neck. 'But he may,' she laughed. 'For we are to be married soon.'"

His Gait Water Pond.

Thomas W. Mulford, the Alameda county pioneer rancher, was immensely proud of his place and the diversity of crops he raised on the grapes from its soil. Mulford maintained that the produce of his acres was sufficient to supply every want of an epicure. Once, years ago, while entertaining a party of barley buyers of the famous Guinness stout malthouse of Dublin, which concern bought the crops of barley from the owner, he spread a Mulford feast. There were oysters on the table and clams in the chowder, trout from the skillet and shad on the broiler, the olive trees of the garden, the oil shad the dining room window; the wheat and the best sugar fields lay within the vista. Little did he know that the grapes from which the claret and sauterne were made, it was easy to believe in the nuts, raisins, oranges and lemons, and the grapes in his little coffee shrub for the Irishmen.

It was a complete course dinner, nothing lacking. The Dublin gentleman were polite, they raised their eyebrows at the juxtaposition of trout, shad and oysters. After the meal was over Mulford continued his demonstration. He showed his fresh water fish pond, and when he said: "Gentlemen, I'll now show you my salt water pond."

He took the party down to the lower portion of his ranch and pointed out San Francisco bay—San Francisco Bay.

At the Matinee.

The orchestra finished with a crash, passed a moment and then, as the lights were darkened, started a sprightly waltz, when he said: "Gentlemen, I'll now show you my salt water pond."

The Family Physician

The best medicines in the world cannot take the place of the family physician. Consult him early when taken ill. If the trouble is with your lungs, ask him about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then take it or not, as he says.

Ayer's

Bilious attacks, sick-headaches, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, these are some of the results of an inactive liver. Ask your doctor if he endorses Ayer's Pills in these cases. The dose is small, one pill at bedtime.

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER MAY 10, 1907.
FRIDAY, DEC. 13, 1907.

Brush up your Whittier; he was a better man for Americans to remember than Kipling.

Get out "Old Glory" for next Monday in honor of the greatest day in the world. Let the flag float on land as well as on the wave.

James Hiram Hyde, the great insurance magnate, who's now living abroad, according to recent accounts, isn't getting homesick as he is reported to have been. He has been offered to buy his white property with the Insurance Company. If he may be allowed to return unmolested.

In opening his branch of Congress, Speaker Cannon remarked that "Congress exercises the peculiar, the delicate and the all-important function of interpreting and putting in definite form the will of the people." This was a reminder to members that unless that will is heeded it will be something of a job to go home and repair fences for the fall election.

None of the new $20 gold pieces just issued from the United States Mint have come out yet, but they are said to lack every detail of beauty which has heretofore characterized the coin of the realm.
We are lovers of art and beauty but in this particular case will waive any prejudices which have arisen in regard to the coin and will take them for subscription, job work or advertising.

Don't worry about the money question, Uncle Samuel will straighten it all out if you give him time.

"The Denver mint is rushing the coinage of $80,000 daily in silver quarters and dimes. All the mints are working to the limit, and the American gold and silver mines have an output of $10,000,000 a year."

In the meantime, however, it is a good idea to keep what we have in motion; it will be doing good.

The voting contest in eighteenth century of the Commonwealth is over. As usual, in some of them the expected happened, and in others it was unexpected. The majority of the great public took but little interest in election other than in Boston, and eyes and hearts have been focused on it, and the majority is pleased with the election of Hubbard. In the best of the contest many things have been said about the present administration and it is now up to Mr. Fitzgerald to begin suits for libel, defamation of character, alienation of affection and a score of other crimes, or plead guilty and take his medicine.

Alvan Alden's Emplon.
Mr. Alvan Alden, a few years ago sub-master of Weymouth high school, died of pneumonia on Friday, Dec. 6, 1907, at Saxton's River, Vermont, aged 35 years and 3 months. Mr. Alden was born at Newport, N. H., was a direct descendant of John Alden, of Plymouth, and was graduated from Brown University in 1892. After leaving Weymouth he was for two years principal of the Kingston high school, and later principal of the Baptist academy at Bakersfield, Vt.
Last September he became assistant principal of the Baptist academy at Saxton's River, one of the prominent schools of the denomination. Mr. Alden's health had been increasingly poor for some time.
His last semi-conscious utterance was a chanting of the Lord's prayer. His wife and nine-year-old daughter survive him.

FROST FESTIVAL.
The Ladies' Social Union of the Congregational Church, East Weymouth, at the Front.
All roads lead to Oada Fellowship's open house, East Weymouth, this week as that is the place where the annual fair, or Frost Festival of the Ladies' Social Union of the Congregational church is being held.
It is a three days' affair and opened Wednesday under most pleasing conditions. The several committees under the direction of the president, Mrs. B. S.
Lovell, have been untiring in their efforts to make the occasion a successful one and the result thus far is satisfactory.
The hall is suitably decorated in white and green and the several tables and booths are decidedly attractive and are as follows:
Candy, Mrs. Abbott L. Spinnery; dish, Mrs. Frank Sylvester; doll, Miss Blanche Lovell; domestic, Mrs. Lucia Tomlin; fancy, Mrs. S. B. Tomlin; handkerchiefs, Mrs. George Drew; children's, Mrs. James Ford; cake, Mrs. Samuel Burdell; preserves and jellies, Mrs. George White; salads, Mrs. M. P. Garvey; and Henry Hunt, Miss Josie Cummings; ice cream, Mrs. T. H. Emerson; supper, Mrs.
George Farrar.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.
The Wednesday evening entertainment was by the Lucille McConville Recital Company and according to the evidence of a good and critical audience they are a charming company of entertainers. The program consisted of a number of songs and selections of classic music which were rendered with great skill. Miss Bertha White Colburn, the reciter of the company, has a fine stage appearance, and her interpretations of the poet and dramatist are of a high order. Her deliverance of a number of selections was well demonstrated in her rendering of the play and the personation of the child and the adult. The "boy soprano," Guy Myrick, was no mean feat of the hour, and his clear, sweet voice and melodious heart of those who listened to his selections.

THURSDAY EVENING.
Weather conditions and the advertised program for Thursday night were both attractive and a good audience came out to see the production of the three-act drama, "When a Man's Single," by the East Weymouth orchestra. The cast of characters was as follows: Jim Horton, widower, a farmer, Edward C. Clark; Pete Adams, bachelor, a countryman, Gilead Murray, Jr.; Paul Briscoe, bachelor, a lawyer, John W. Tinsley; Mr.
McDonald, a farmer, Albert Briscoe, a widower, Mrs. Fannie B. Orr; Evelyn Briscoe, a New York belle, Mrs. Briscoe's daughter, Miss Mildred F. Gardner; Nora O'Neil, spinster, an Irish maid, Miss Pam-ele E. Merchant; Eleanor Horton, an American beauty, Mrs. Florence E. Connell; Mrs. C. Will Bailey was in charge of this entertainment.

The festival will close this (Friday) evening with a concert by the Dorothea Dix children and the program arranged in one which is sure to please.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.
The column under this title will give to the people a free discussion of any and all subjects of public interest. The writer assuming full responsibility for the opinions here expressed.

Fools and Trees.
"Any fool can destroy trees," and any fool can plant a tree where, in the course of a few years, its "unfortunate" backbone "constructs" the pathway, or its "branching horns" extend through the windows of some other fool's domicile, hence they are removed.
What fool would undertake to cut down the Sierra trees that have been growing for more than 3,000 years—that are still standing in perfect strength and beauty and waving and singing? Just as they did 2,000 years ago? "God has cared for these trees and saved them from drought, disease, avalanche, tempest and ice, but he cannot save them from fools, only Uncle Sam can do that." Why can he not save them from fools quite as easily as our Uncle Sam can? P. H. L.

Among the grants of land in 1655 was one to John Hollis.
The Town passed a vote that John Hollis shall have as his heirs and assigns forever all that orchard and land which he hath fenced in along the highway on the west side of the way. Although provided he make such fence at all times hereafter to keep the inhabitants indemnified.

The Town passed a vote that the present Schoolmaster, Wm. Child, shall be paid 20¢ in Town pay and hold the office of the Town clerk, and that said schoolmaster is to keep a free school and teach all children & servants belonging to the Town that are sent to him to read, write & casting of accounts from Nov. 1685 to Nov. 1686.

Saturday morning twenty-four juniors of Cambridge Y. M. C. A. were entertained by our boys. Gymnastic work, games and races showed that the Quincy Juniors were superior except in relay races where Cambridge showed more speed. A beautiful lunch was served and then the visitors were conducted over the plant of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.
They returned home tired, but satisfied.

In the evening the Second Team in basket ball defeated the W. H. S. team 23 to 20.

ceived a ribbon badge. All were cheered and clapped by the interested spectators.

At the men's meeting held Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, Rev. N. S. Sprunt will give the sixth Parable talk on "A Persevering Saviour." All men who can attend should come.

On a stormy and disagreeable evening such as we had last Tuesday, the Association building makes a pleasant place to meet your friends. The cheerful log fire in the fireplace adds greatly to the warmth and comfort of an evening's talk or social game.

Weymouth History.
An Abstract of Town Records
From the Earliest Settlement.
CHAPTER XV.
Up to date the date for the year 1683 was the largest in the history of the town, there being a special levy on account of the new meeting house and following is the assessment:
Meeting House Rate 257 02 00
County Rate 37 10 00
Town Rate 37 10 00
There was for this year many additional grants of land some of which was for other land taken for Highways, and among those receiving was William, John and Stephen Leach, Abiah Whitman, John Richard, William Ricknell, John Rick-nell and Widow Mary Rane.
At the Town Meeting in Nov., 1683
Capt. Torrey was chosen moderator and
Lent White, Sergt. Whitman, Esigun
Hunt, Abiah Whitman, Sergt. Phillippe
James Lovell and John Rogers elected Selectmen.
"It was voted for the future time to choose Selectmen by paper and each inhabitant that is in a capacity by law to vote, in their several votes to make their choice as the law provides for in that respect."
"Agreed with Henry Code to sweep the Meeting House and rig the bell for thirty shillings per annum and to dig graves for eighteen pence for all under 12 years of age and two shillings per grave for those over 12 years."
"Voted that the tithing men shall be Samuel Humphrey & Nathaniel Ford for the lower plantation; Wm. Reed & Wm.
French for the middle of the town; and Thomas Richards & Benjamin Ludden for the Neck."
"Voted that Richard Gordon shall have six acres of the Town's Common land to build a house and fence to dwell thereon with his family in an absolute state of Inheritance. The Town Common on the west side of the Pond."
A new road was laid out from the spring house to the landing in the middle of 1684 and also a new road in South Weymouth, and we find on April 30th the following interesting order by the Selectmen:
"To the Constables of Weymouth: You are hereby requested in Her Majesty's name forthwith to restrain upon the estate of Joseph Poole to the value of five pounds which is for breaking of Town order for entertaining of Sarah Dowling in one week contrary to the Town Order.
So from week to week as long as the said
Joseph Poole shall entertain the said
Sarah Dowling contrary to Town Order."
There was a wide margin in 1684 between current tax and money as the record reads "A Taxe take of one hundred and six pence being according in money
to 662 05 3/4."
Capt. Holbrook, Sergt. Whitman, Sir
Jacob Nash, Corp. French, James Lovell, Abiah Whitman & Joseph Dyer elected Selectmen.
"The town passed a vote that any inhabitant or inhabitants within the Town have liberty to fence in, break up & plant to the value of twenty or thirty acres of land upon Huckleberry plain and to have four years benefit of it for as much land as he shall break up and plant."
At the March meeting in 1684 a committee of fourteen was appointed "To take a legal title on behalf of the town of Saxton's River of all his right title and interest in the Dwelling House, orchard, orchard, pasture Land and salt marsh lying in Weymouth on the westerly side of the Highway which leadeth from the Old Meeting House hill to Stepping Stone bridge, at the same time to transfer to Mr. Torrey the property on the east side of the Highway from a point on the hill to land of James Humphrey."
An interesting document from the minister finds place in the records at this time:
"Know all men that I, Samuel Torrey, do hereby give, acquit, and discharge the church & Town of Weymouth & all the Deacons of that church which are or have been successively & for all after deceased of arrears upon the account of the minister's ministrations from my first settlement with them to the work of the ministry until this first day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand, sixteen hundred and eighty-four, and I do declare that the Deacons have discharged their work as faithful servants of God."
S. TORREY.

Public Installation.
Orphans' Hope Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Closes the Old and Begins the New.
Masonic building, East Weymouth, was the center of attraction last Friday night as good lives were spoken to one administered and a cordial welcome extended to another, which is the twenty-second since the restoration of the charter in 1856.
Weather conditions were favorable and there was a good attendance from all quarters. The ceremony was presided over by Wm. Bates, W. P. Barker, G. R. P.
Barker and George F. Farrar, and a more complete and well-executed plan could hardly be conceived.
The reception committee were Master
Riet Leavitt, Wm. Bates, Wor. Bro. W. P.
Denbroeder, M. E. Hawes, P. A. Dick-
nell, H. E. Gardner, H. A. Newton, J. M.
Whitcomb, Joseph Chase, Jr., T. J. Evans,
F. L. Bayley and F. H. Torrey.
At the conclusion of the reception W.
B. Denbroeder opened the exercises of the evening in the main hall and welcomed to the hospitable of the lodge. A line was formed and the banquet room which was in charge of the lodge caterers, Bates & Humphrey, and the well-arranged tables and smoking vases were once again the scene of a social gathering. The menu was prepared by Rev. G. G. Scrivener, and discussion of the menu was in order.
The next feature was the installation.
The committee were especially fortunate in securing highly successful Fielding Hunt, Lecturer, and Lecturer of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts as installing officer.
In Scotch "where McGregor is there is the head of the table" and where Tutman is there is the head installing officer.
Mr. Tutman had also assisted in the work of the Town of Weymouth, and Mr. Charles N. Shute as Grand Marshal.
As Wor. Bro. Denbroeder resigned the chair that his successor might be installed, he was presented by Wor. Bro. M. E.
Hawes, in behalf of the lodge, with an elegant Past Master's Jewel.
The officers installed were: W. M.,
Bro. Leavitt W. Bates; S. W., Bro. G.
Gardner; R. Barker; J. W. Bro. G.
F. Farrar; Treas., Wor. Bro. Frank H.

TUFTS LIBRARY.
Art Exhibition—"The Hundred Most Eminent Men of All Time." In the Popular Science Monthly, vol.
62, Feb. 1903, page 350, is an article by Prof. J. McKen Cattell, of Columbia University, entitled "Statistical study of eminent men containing a list of 100 eminent persons in groups of 100. This list of portraits illustrates the first group, except that Mr. Queen of Scots, is omitted, and Talleyrand and the second group."
The writer says: "The method I followed to discover the 1000 men who are presented was this: I took six biographical dictionaries or encyclopedias . . . and found the 2,000 men in each who were allowed the longest articles . . . and then selected the 1000 men who appeared in the lists of at least three of the dictionaries and from these selected the thousand who were allowed the greatest average space . . . Thus was obtained not only the thousand entitled to the most eminent but also the order in which they stand. Napoleon heads the list.
The pictures will remain throughout Dec. 28."
"The Man of Moderate Means."
"Yes," said the man of moderate means "for those without large riches He especially does have a compensation for being poor, but I am not sure that I do, you don't have to come down as people must do when they lose their money, which I should imagine must be one of the hardest things to bear."
"Why, I have lately read of one man who had thought himself very rich, who had had to come down from a high turkey. Think of that! And here's a family that has always kept seventeen servants but that has now suffered so financially that it has had to come down to a most reticent of five."
"The first thing you know of those folks who have to be opening doors for themselves or bringing up the wood for open fire. And here's a man who has just cancelled an order for an $11,000 automobile and is going to try to look cheerful with a small second-hand touring car, and so on through a long series of curtained all due to riches taking wings."
"And, seriously, I am sorry for all these people. I am sorry for anybody, big or little, that has to come down, for coming down is a hard pill to swallow, but if I can say it without appearing to be too fishy, I escape all such troubles. Stocks can go up or stocks can go down, it's all the same to me."
"If things are looking to lose, I don't have to come down; I may not lose, but I don't have to fall; I read an equal and so a happy existence. I don't know if you know of any family that has had a series of such misfortunes that have more means miserable."
"So, but for me great wealth, with the ups and downs that may attend it, with the struggles that may come at times to keep up appearances, I guess I get more fun out of life with moderate means and uniform happiness."

Weymouth History.
An Abstract of Town Records
From the Earliest Settlement.
CHAPTER XV.
Up to date the date for the year 1683
was the largest in the history of the
town, there being a special levy on account of the new meeting house and following is the assessment:
Meeting House Rate 257 02 00
County Rate 37 10 00
Town Rate 37 10 00
There was for this year many additional
other land taken for Highways, and
among those receiving was William, John
and Stephen Leach, Abiah Whitman, John Richard, William Ricknell, John Rick-
nell and Widow Mary Rane.
At the Town Meeting in Nov., 1683
Capt. Torrey was chosen moderator and
Lent White, Sergt. Whitman, Esigun
Hunt, Abiah Whitman, Sergt. Phillippe
James Lovell and John Rogers elected Selectmen.
"It was voted for the future time to choose Selectmen by paper and each in-
vote, in their several votes to make their choice as the law provides for in that respect."
"Agreed with Henry Code to sweep the
shillings per annum and to dig graves for
over 12 years."
"Voted that the tithing men shall be Samuel Humphrey & Nathaniel Ford for
the lower plantation; Wm. Reed & Wm.
French for the middle of the town; and Thomas Richards & Benjamin Ludden for
the Neck."
"Voted that Richard Gordon shall have six acres of the Town's Common land to
build a house and fence to dwell thereon
with his family in an absolute state of Inheritance. The Town Common on the west side of the Pond."
A new road was laid out from the spring
house to the landing in the middle of 1684 and also a new road in South Weymouth, and we find on April 30th the following interesting order by the Select-
men:
"To the Constables of Weymouth: You are hereby requested in Her Majesty's
name forthwith to restrain upon the estate of Joseph Poole to the value of five pounds which is for breaking of Town
order for entertaining of Sarah Dowling
in one week contrary to the Town Order.
So from week to week as long as the said
Joseph Poole shall entertain the said
Sarah Dowling contrary to Town Order."
There was a wide margin in 1684 between current tax and money as the
record reads "A Taxe take of one hundred
to 662 05 3/4."
Capt. Holbrook, Sergt. Whitman, Sir
Jacob Nash, Corp. French, James Lovell, Abiah Whitman & Joseph Dyer elected
Selectmen.
"The town passed a vote that any inhabitant or inhabitants within the Town
plant to the value of twenty or thirty
much land as he shall break up and plant."
At the March meeting in 1684 a committee of fourteen was appointed "To take a legal title on behalf of the town of Saxton's River of all his right title and
interest in the Dwelling House, orchard,
orchard, pasture Land and salt marsh
lying in Weymouth on the westerly side
of the Highway which leadeth from the
Old Meeting House hill to Stepping Stone
bridge, at the same time to transfer to
Mr. Torrey the property on the east side of the Highway from a point on the hill to land of James Humphrey."
minister finds place in the records at this
time:
"Know all men that I, Samuel Torrey,
do hereby give, acquit, and discharge
the church & Town of Weymouth & all
the Deacons of that church which are or
have been successively & for all after
ministry until this first day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand, sixteen
hundred and eighty-four, and I do declare
S. TORREY.

Public Installation.
Orphans' Hope Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Closes the Old and Begins the New.
Masonic building, East Weymouth, was
the center of attraction last Friday night
as good lives were spoken to one administered and a cordial welcome extended
to another, which is the twenty-second since the restoration of the charter in 1856.
Weather conditions were favorable and
over by Wm. Bates, W. P. Barker, G. R. P.
Barker and George F. Farrar, and a more
hardly be conceived.
The reception committee were Master
Riet Leavitt, Wm. Bates, Wor. Bro. W. P.
Denbroeder, M. E. Hawes, P. A. Dick-
nell, H. E. Gardner, H. A. Newton, J. M.
Whitcomb, Joseph Chase, Jr., T. J. Evans,
F. L. Bayley and F. H. Torrey.
At the conclusion of the reception W.
B. Denbroeder opened the exercises of
to the hospitable of the lodge. A line was formed and the banquet room which was
in charge of the lodge caterers, Bates & Humphrey, and the well-arranged tables
prepared by Rev. G. G. Scrivener, and discussion of the menu was in order.
The next feature was the installation.
The committee were especially fortunate
in securing highly successful Fielding Hunt, Lecturer, and Lecturer of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts as installing
officer.
In Scotch "where McGregor is there is the head of the table" and where Tut-
man is there is the head installing officer.
Mr. Tutman had also assisted in the work of the Town of Weymouth, and
Mr. Charles N. Shute as Grand Marshal.
As Wor. Bro. Denbroeder resigned the
chair that his successor might be installed,
he was presented by Wor. Bro. M. E.
Hawes, in behalf of the lodge, with an elegant Past Master's Jewel.
The officers installed were: W. M.,
Bro. Leavitt W. Bates; S. W., Bro. G.
Gardner; R. Barker; J. W. Bro. G.
F. Farrar; Treas., Wor. Bro. Frank H.
Torrey; Sec., Wor. Bro. T. J. Evans; Chap., Wor. Bro. M. E. Hawes; Marshal, Bro. Bates; W. P. Barker; G. R. P. Barker;
Chas. W. Danbar; J. D. Bro. J. Burton; Reed; S. S. Bro. Stanley T. Torrey; J. W.
Bro. Chas. H. Chubbuck, Jr.; Sentinel, Bro. William B. Goody; Organist, Bro.
Arthur M. Raymond; Tyler, Bro. Joseph Ford.
The newly installed Master was presented with a fine Master's sash by Wor.
Bro. Denbroeder, and the exercises closed with a brief address for the good of the order by the installing officer. In passing, however, too much cannot be said in praise of the weather made out of Boston which assisted in all the installing exercises and added materially to the harmony and beauty of the work.
The final event was a dance to the music of White's orchestra. The dancing continued until late in the evening. Wor.

W. Danbar, Sidney F. Marr, W. E. Tir-rell, Henry P. Tilden, Frank W. Bates, G. R. P. Barker, Lester E. Bates, E. E.
Merchant and J. Burton, Reed, and the other dances were enjoyed by both participants and spectators.
Special car service was arranged and the guests departed pleased with the installation of 1907.

The Weymouth Heights Literary circle met on Tuesday evening with Miss Terry. The subject for the evening, "Magazines and Periodicals" was introduced by Mr. Yager with a suggestive account of their rise and development in France and America. A very pleasing and spirited discussion by the members followed, together with a brief paper on "Women's Magazines" by Mrs. J. L. Wildes. Not the least interesting part of the evening was a conversational discussion of the newspaper as an educational factor in the life of the home. Incidentally it can't be understood that a movement was set on foot toward the formation of a Magazine club.

A service appropriate to the occasion will be held in the church Sunday morning next. Special music, including two songs, will be sung.

GATHERED UP.
Three things to cherish—the true, the beautiful and the good.
Three things for which to fight—honor, home and country.
How miserable a man must be when he can find no cause for thanksgiving—and how selfish!

The effort to be always kind, considerate and gentle, no matter what may be ranking in the heart, has a great influence in transforming life.
A man should not enter a home before a lady. A husband wouldn't do it—not if he saw her. In leaving, the gentleman should go first. If he does not he will lose an hour or more while the lady is saying goodbye to her dear friend!

Eight Hours.
"It's eight-hour day for about everybody now, isn't it?"
"Not for the employers."
"And why not for them?"
"Because, if they had content with an eight-hour day, they wouldn't have succeeded in becoming employers."

The Boy Spoke.
When the minister, who was a bachelor, had been helped to Mrs. Porter's biscuits for the third time, he looked across the table at Rhoda, staring at him with round wondering eyes.
"I don't often have such a good supper as this, my dear," he said in his most propi-etary tone, and Rhoda's face disappeared.
"We don't, always," she said, in her clear little voice. "I'm awful glad you came."

Good Rebuke.
My father gave me a rebuke once which I have never forgotten. He noticed me standing talking to a lady with my hat on and hands in my pockets. He said nothing at the time, but at the dinner casually told mother that he had seen a boy doing just these things. Mother said she was very much surprised, and that was enough.

Mistake Scripture for Science.
They were passing one of the Fifth avenue churches when the bulletin board caught her eye. "The Rev. Dr. — will speak this evening on Deterioration." She stopped short and carefully read it a second time. "Well," she snapped, "if with these preachers would stick to the Bible and let science alone. I don't believe Dr. — knows any more about Deuteronomy or astronomy or any other thing than I do."

Maintaining Discipline.
It is evident, by an anecdote taken from the London Mirror, that there are some persons who regard discipline as an end in itself. "Not even the seed of insolence can look back and say, 'I know I have stumbled; but as the strength was given me I strove to use it, I strove to leave the world better and not worse because I had lived in it.'"

A Neat Rebuke.
"The late Julia Magruder, as her brilliant books shows, detested the married life," said a Washington woman. "I once heard her, at the seashore, rebuke a married flirt rather neatly."
"The woman, young and pretty, was always surrounded by a throng of adora-ers from the leading colleges—very young, but very handsome, very charming lads."
"Late at night, on Mrs. Magruder's return from a dinner, she found the young woman and a young man seated in the hall of the hotel alone."
"It was very late. Every one else had gone to bed. The young woman was embarrassed. But she looked up and laughed nervously, and then for something to say she extended her handkerchief and murmured:
"See, I have a knot in my handkerchief, and I can't remember what it was put there for."
"Perhaps," said Mrs. Magruder, smiling gravely, "perhaps it was put there to remind you that you are married!"

ON THE FARM.
It is often the little things that are overlooked that cause untold suffering to the patient horse.
Keep a record of the breeding of each cow, so you will know when she is due to calve, and then allow her to go dry six weeks before calving.
Before introducing any new cows into the stable, have them tuberculin tested to avoid bringing any cows affected with this disease into your healthy herd.
It is not hard work, but poor care, which ruins the average farm horse.
Always remove the harness at the noon hour, and use as little harness as possible when doing farm work.

In selecting fruit trees see that the bark is smooth and healthy, that they have entirely shed their leaves and have plenty of small, fibrous roots. A tree with leaves remaining on it after frost sets in is unhealthy.
The hens should have wheat, corn, oats and barley in their litter. The essentials are comfortable quarters and a variety of foods. If these are supplied and the roosting places kept clean, there is not much danger of disease.

Let the barnyard manure for the garden be rotted if it is desired to cultivate it into the soil early in the spring; but if course, green manure has to be used, scatter broadcast during the winter, and rake or mulch part of it before plants are set in spring. Of course, this applies to ground that has been plowed the past fall.
During winter many farmers lose stock from various causes. One of the greatest losses is from blind staggers. This is called a disease of the brain, but it is well settled that the trouble begins with the digestive tract and is caused by impure foods, musty grains or too long diet of dried foods solely. So far as possible this should be avoided by furnishing stock with green pasturage during winter.

A curious result of the campaign against the most pests north and east of Boston is seen in the effect of the apple trees which were repeatedly sprayed with various insect poisons. Not only were the moths killed, but orchards in Waketfield, Saugus, Lynnfield and vicinity were so helped by the thorough treatment that the crop this year is remarkably large and fine. Some of the best apples in New England are found in that section this year, and Boston buyers have been greedily taking the orchards at top prices, some of the choice No. 1s having been sold at $4 per barrel.—American Cultivator.

The Youthful Year

LIKE a bowing young page on an old castle stair, The youthful year stands weeping But he tells not the joys that he holds Nor the gloom of the room where may be seen the dear departed Though we follow his beckon begunning.
Will he labor to bless us, the gallant youth,
And conduct us through gardens of pleasure?
Will he lead to the shrines of the good and the sage?
Will he help us to honor our glorious age,
And to give forth our hearts' richest treasure?
Need we fear that he smiles at our credulous haste
To discover the fate he's concealing?
Will he jar us before him our hopes should lie waste?
Will he prove, like fair fortune, a friend double faced?
Will he open old wounds that are healing?

LIKE A BOWING YOUNG PAGE ON AN OLD CASTLE STAIR.

But why question him? Let us still follow on.
For the Lord of the page rules above And the Lord of the page rules below.
Who will lead to a rest, when the journey is done,
All the spirits of just men that love his home.
If comes gladness or grief 'tis an interval brief
That this page shall our spirits be leading.
Should he give not success for our labor's relief
We must wish and die with his own summers' leaf.
And we'll look to the pages succeeding.
And when a low bowing young usher of earth
Shall herald the year of our dying, If but failures we've made since his year of our birth,
We will hope the dear Lord may discover some worth
In the courage we've had to keep trying.—Buffalo News.

A Custom Worth Copying.
A New Year's ceremony much more exacting than our custom of "wearing off" is indulged in in China. On the last day of the old year the law compels every one to settle accounts with his creditors so as to begin the new year with a clean account. If any one cannot pay the debt is cancelled, but there is a great deal of feeling shown. It is considered a disgrace to leave a debt unpaid that the un lucky debtor who cannot discharge his pecuniary obligations at that time is liable to be treated with insult and injury. Among the coarser classes they often break out and smash the furniture of a debtor and annoy his family. In every possible way, and then he cannot get any protection from the magistrate, no matter how seriously he is injured, as the fact of his not paying his debts is not from any sympathy.

Persia's New Year's is in March.
In Persia New Year's is celebrated in March. Among other ancient customs still observed, worshipping at the tombs is universal. On New Year's eve everybody takes a bath, dyes the hair and wears white and on the first day of the new year goes to the tombs to mourn and pray. Sometimes the people leave so crowded at the tombs they are obliged to sit on the ground. In turn, all the while filling the air with a pathetic wail. The cemetery of Yazd-Khast, containing the remains of famous Persians, is particularly noted for this annual demonstration. The devout supplement their mourning by kissing the walls of the tomb.

SUNKEN CITIES.
Ancient Legend of the Lost Dutch Town of Silver.
Along the shores of the German ocean, as in other parts of the world, there are legends of great and populous cities swallowed up by the sea. Sometimes these legends are true, and in every possible way, and then he cannot get any protection from the magistrate, no matter how seriously he is injured, as the fact of his not paying his debts is not from any sympathy.

Yule Dough.
The first authentic record of Christmas pie or pudding is that of the Yule dough. This was a paste made of the flour of a baby and presented by the bakers to their customers as a Christmas gift. In ancient Rome on the vigil of the Nativity sweetmeats in the form of images were presented to the holy fathers, and it is probable that Yule dough had its origin in this custom. A belief was prevalent at one time that mince pie, which is composed of fruits and apples grown in the same year as a survival in memory of the offerings brought by the wise men to Bethlehem when they came to worship the infant Saviour. This pie in later years came to be known as the Christmas pie that the thief, though ne'er so bad, With his flesh hooks don't come near to catch it.
Plum pudding, now the universal plea of resistance in England, was originally "plum porridge" and was served from a tureen at all the Christmas festivals.—St. James' Gazette.
