JUDGMENT OF FUTURE

M. B. HARTMANN THINKS POSITIVITY WILL APPROVE PRESIDENT WILSON

Sunday, July 2, was the fifty-second anniversary of the signing of a bill by President Lincoln, which gave to what is now the Northern Pacific Railroad company a grant to land between Lake Superior and Puget Sound to aid in the construction of railroad and telegraph lines. With the signing of the bill by President Lincoln the first of four great railway systems extending from St. Paul to the Pacific coast came into being. Among the incorporators of the Northern Pacific company were General U. S. Grant, John C. Freeman, first Republican candidate for the presidency; J. Edgar Thompson, Alexander Mitchell, S. S. L'Hommédieu.

Lincoln, who today is acknowledged one of the fixed stars in the constellation of the great characters of history, was, while president, insulted and traduced with a virulence that is almost past belief. Pitt, whose reputation today is unassailable, suffered as few men have suffered from the critics of his day.

Will our descendants marvel at the vulgarity, the levity with which President Wilson is assailed and caricatured by men and newspapers having nothing but superficial knowledge of the perplexities, embarrassments and dangers which have confronted and are confronting the administration? When the historian shall chronicle the events of the past two years we shall view everything from a sane perspective.

We only get fragments obscured by the haze of rumor and vague hints. Our emotions and hopes, fears and prejudices are our guides. The historian will see the entire panorama where we have but a limited view. It is only by the detachment of vision—a looking into the future, that we can justly estimate President Wilson's services during his most trying term.

It is easy for his critics to sneer at the president's "notes" to Germany and Great Britain but as surely as the sun rises tomorrow so surely will those same "notes" furnish precedents for the governments of the world. Pitt once said that patience is the most important quality in a statesman. The president certainly exhibits that quality in his attitude toward the titanic cataclysm that is unfolding before us.

BREAK INTO SCHOOL

It will be remembered that some time ago a boy was charged with having broken into the Intermediate school. The same premises have again been forcibly entered and although nothing, as far as can be ascertained, has been taken from the classrooms, some damage has been done to the wire screening of the windows. The complaint was made to the police by Principal R. D. White, who has given some clues that may lead to the arrest of the culprit.

This is a serious crime and accompanied by malicious mischief as it is from the fact that the criminal punched holes in all the window screens it may subject its perpetrator to grave punishment. Strict watch will be kept on the premises in future and any one who may endeavor to repeat this offense stands a good chance of being caught.

QUIET HOME WEDDING

A quiet home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Frantz, 1442 Ivy street, Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, when Mrs. Frantz' daughter, Edith June Foss, was united in matrimony to Emil Schroeder, captain in the fire department of Glendale. The marriage ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. C. R. Norton. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom left for San Diego, where they will spend a short time and afterward go to Big Bear lake for a week's camping.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Frantz, the bride's mother, the wedding was a very quiet affair. The bride was attired in regulation bridal costume of white marquisette and carried a handsome bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses. The house was tastefully decorated with vines and roses. Bride and bridegroom received a number of valuable presents.

Those present were: Mrs. Frantz, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Foss, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Foss and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louise Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Witt and family, Miss Carolyn Foss, Miss Edith Waterman, Miss Zada Sprinkle and Mr. John Malloy.

CHILD BREAKS LEG

GEORGE HALLIHAN, AGED 4, SUFFERS ACCIDENT BY BEING THROWN FROM HORSE

Quite a serious accident happened Tuesday evening at the residence of F. J. Willett, 1010 Lomita avenue, when little George Hallihan, aged four years, was thrown from a horse and sustained a bad fracture of the leg. The little boy was with his grandfather, who has been in the habit of giving him a ride on his horse every now and then, when the animal suddenly reared and threw him.

Along with little George was Ruth Gray, a neighbor's child. George was thrown first and Ruth, a child of 12, was thrown on top of him. Mrs. Arline Hallihan, George's mother, who was watching the children enjoying their ride, ran at once to their assistance and the boy and girl were conveyed into the Willett residence, where they received first aid.

Meanwhile Dr. Flint was sent for. On his arrival he found that Ruth Gray was suffering only from a few contusions which were of minor importance, whereas little George's leg was broken. The Gray child was promptly attended to and taken home. George Hallihan was also made as comfortable as could be under the circumstances and an X-ray photograph will be made of the injured limb. The child is suffering slightly from the shock but otherwise is getting along as well as can be expected.

Mr. Willett is greatly distressed by the accident. The horse on which the children were riding was an exceptionally quiet animal and had never shown any tendency to fright or to rear in the past. No one can account for the sudden fright which struck the animal and resulted in this unfortunate accident.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER DRILL

An interesting meeting of members of the recently formed volunteer company was held in the hall of the fire house, on Broadway. This took the form of study of drill and tactics for non-commissioned officers. Captain Johnson presided. The latest manual for drill was the textbook and the changes in drill that have taken place of recent years were noted. Captain Johnson gave an interesting exposition of the duties of non-commissioned officers and told of the highly important part they play in the handling of the company. Questions were asked and a great deal of benefit was obtained from the instruction.

The company meets for drill to-night at the Thom packing house at 8 o'clock. It is expected that there will be a full attendance. The company is now fairly advanced in squad drill and those who are desirous of joining should hand in their names to Captain Johnson, at Johnson & Lyons, 572 W. Broadway, or to Mr. John A. St. Clair at the office of the Glendale Evening News, or should come to the drill hall tonight and enlist.

WORK ON RAILWAY

That the Glendale-Montrose railway management is determined to have its road in good shape can be seen in the fact that they have started work already on the roadway. By the time that the whole road has been gone over practically a new roadbed will have been laid and the patrons of the road will scarcely recognize their old route of travel. The cars will run so smoothly. Eagle Rock road is to receive immediate attention also. The new manager, Mr. Bohon, is manifesting great activity in setting everything in order.

GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER

There will be no charge for score cards. The committee in charge of this affair consists of Mrs. S. A. Pollock, Miss Della M. Echols, and Mrs. W. S. Noyse.

FRENCH AND GERMANS PREPARE FOR CLASH

NIGHT OF COMPARATIVE QUIET AT VERDUN FORESHADOWS TITANIC STRUGGLE NORTHEAST OF FORTRESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 12.—After the furious fighting northeast of Verdun, where the Germans had penetrated the Fumin and Chenois woods and had been driven out but had finally made a lodgment on the line between Fleury and Dambloup, there was a lull in the struggle. The night was calm and both parties are apparently getting ready for new developments. On the western front, in Picardy, on both banks of the Somme there was also comparative quiet. The Germans are bringing up new bodies of troops in the neighborhood of Peronne while the French and British are in constant activity.

TEUTON SUBMARINE BOMBARDS SEAHAM AND KILLS A SOLITARY WOMAN

LONDON, July 12.—Considerable activity is being displayed by German seaplanes and submarines these days. Seaplanes appeared off Harwich and Dover, Sunday and attempted to drop bombs but were chased away by the British flying coastguard. This morning a German submarine that had evaded the patrol and the dragnets appeared before the little unfortified bathing beach of Seaham and fired several shots killing one woman. The submarine then made off as a couple of guard boats made their appearance.

IRISH TROOPS RAID GERMAN TRENCHES

BOYS OF EMERALD ISLE SURPRISE TEUTON TRENCHES AT NIGHT AND KILL MANY OF THE OCCUPANTS

LONDON, July 12.—A party of Irish Fusiliers left the British position at Loos last night and silently made their way to the German trenches without discovery. The Irishmen sprang into the works and bayoneted the Teuton occupants who were taken by surprise. They killed all the occupants of the trenches and then retired as the Germans began to bring up heavy reinforcements.

DESPERATE FIGHTING ENSUES AS ENGLISH DRAW NEAR BAPAUME—SLAUGHTER IN MAMETZ WOOD

Desperate fighting went on this morning in the Mametz wood, which was strongly fortified by the Germans; but was taken by the British. The Germans are now struggling hard to get the position back. They have managed to get a small hold but the British are fighting to drive them out again. The Trone woods are the scene of similar encounters.

GERMAN ADMIRAL PREDICTS RETURN TO OLD POLICY OF DEFIANCE OF AMERICA

BERLIN, July 12.—Admiral von Tirpitz, former head of the German navy, whose policy of blood and terror was repudiated by the Kaiser and his advisers some months ago, predicts that Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's will be overthrown. Von Bethmann-Hollweg is the champion of a conciliatory policy toward the United States. Von Tirpitz says that unless President Wilson acts at once against the British blockade Germany will return to her old effective measures despite American protests.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SUBSTANTIAL BUILDING

WILL REQUEST REDUCTION OF P. E. FARE—ARRANGE FOR BANQUET

A very interesting Chamber of Commerce meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce building, 1011 West Broadway, Tuesday evening, July 11. J. W. Usilton, president, called the meeting to order and presided. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, R. M. Jackson.

Among the communications was one from a concern now located in Highland Park asking that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and citizens become interested in their factory located in Glendale. This firm manufactures girls' dresses and wearing apparel and claims to be making large shipments to wholesale dealers in Chicago. They have in operation a half a dozen or more power Singer sewing machines, and when located in new quarters would expect to employ about twenty people. It was the sense of members discussing the question that the secretary be instructed to write this company giving them an idea as to the cost of power, rent of building, etc., and then if it is the desire of the company to come to Glendale with their enterprise all good and well. They will be made very welcome but there will be no promises of cash to them by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

There was also a letter read from a moving picture company now located elsewhere in California asking what inducements might be offered for them to become residents of Glendale. It is the desire of this company to select a place for their work nearer to Los Angeles than they are at present.

The question of holding a business men's banquet under the direction of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was taken up for discussion and it was the prevailing opinion that such a banquet should be held and that a speaker should be arranged for who would talk on the subject of the importance of patronizing local merchants. The chair appointed the following committee to arrange for the banquet: E. U. Emery, H. P. Coker, S. C. Packer, T. W. Watson, H. A. Wilson. As a committee for the securing of a speaker the chair appointed A. T. Cowan and W. J. Clendenin. R. M. Jackson, the secretary, was appointed as a committee of one to arrange for the sale of the banquet tickets.

The general discussion engaged in brought out the fact that it is the desire of the members of the Chamber of Commerce to co-operate with the merchants and business men of Glendale, and the time of this banquet is looked forward to as being a get-together event that will be for the mutual interests of all business men of the Glendale community. The date will be announced later.

The reduction of Pacific Electric railroad fares came up again for consideration. H. A. Wilson, who is prominently engaged in the real estate business in Glendale made the statement that in his opinion the progress of Glendale is greatly hindered on account of the high railroad fare, and he stands emphatically in favor of a marked reduction. Other members spoke upon this question, all of them agreeing that a reduction in fare would meet with the approval of the people of Glendale, but several of the members think this is not just the proper time to ask for the reduction. However, on motion the chair appointed H. A. Wilson, W. J. Clendenin and C. W. Spickerman as a committee to wait upon the P. E. officials and ask that a reduction in fares be made. Members present who spoke upon the various questions under consideration were G. B. Woodberry, J. F. Chandler, S. C. Packer, C. W. Spickerman, W. J. Clendenin, A. T. Cowan, T. W. Watson, R. M. Jackson, J. W. Usilton, H. A. Wilson, H. P. Coker, E. U. Emery, T. W. Preston and W. W. McElroy.

By a vote of the members the by-laws of the chamber have been suspended and the regular meeting night fixed on the second Monday evening of each month instead of on the second Friday evening of each month. The next regular meeting will be held Monday evening, August 14.

JUNIOR A SOCIETY

The Junior A society of the First Congregational church held a very pleasant social at the home of Marjorie Wright, 1447 W. Third street, Tuesday evening. The society, which is fast developing into some importance in church affairs, enjoyed a good time with music, games and refreshments.

PERMITS FIRST WEEK OF JULY EXCEED THOSE SAME PERIOD OF JUNE

Among the permits for building issued thus far this month there is one for a very fine 9-room, 2-story, modern dwelling, in bungalow style, with wide cornices, fine hardwood floors, up-to-date plumbing and electric light system, a modern kitchen with every convenience and fine bathrooms. A garage of the latest construction is an adjunct to the building. This fine building is being erected by M. A. Murphy, the owner, at 121 N. Brand boulevard. Its cost is $4500.

Another handsome residence is to be erected by M. Holeman, at 335 N. Louise street. The contractor is E. D. Yard. The cost of this dwelling will be $2700. It is to be a 6-room, one-story bungalow, with every modern convenience. The floors are to be of hardwood, first-class plumbing, modern electric lighting, fine bathroom and a garage.

What will prove an interesting building is the supply station to be erected by George Peters at the corner of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue. This will be a station for the supply of oil and gasoline to autos. It will be a unique building of its class, being designed in Mission style, with rest rooms for ladies and men. The building will be fitted with modern plumbing and will cost $800.

Mrs. B. S. Farrow of 1310 Doran street is building a garage at a cost of $75.

S. S. Bailey, 1571 W. Fifth street, is having a garage built by G. Burkett at a cost of $50.

Angeleno Fassano, 919 W. Seventh street, is having a modern dwelling erected by A. Moline, at a cost of $1400.

These permits are up to July 10 and they exceed in value those of last month up to the same date.

WANDERED FROM HOME

Eli W. Hammond, an old man from Pasadena, was seen wandering about on Cedar street, late on Monday night. The old fellow was coatless and hatless. His uncertain movements and his general air of irresponsibility, joined to the fact that he seemed to be looking for some place to sleep, aroused the suspicion of some of the residents in that quarter, who telephoned the police and got the old man taken charge of.

Hammond, who is about 70 years of age, was taken to the jail and made comfortable for the night. Inquiry next day at the Los Angeles police headquarters elicited the information that a man of that description was missing from Pasadena. Meantime from a letter found in Hammond's pocket it was surmised that he had friends in La Crescenta. Officer Arrington went to that address and found that the people there knew nothing of the old man and that the letter was one that he must have taken from their mail box in the course of his peregrinations.

The police of Los Angeles and the police of Glendale then got into communication with Hammond's people in Pasadena and some of his relatives came for him and took him home. He had been walking about his yard and had wandered away and lost his bearings and being weak-minded could not do anything but continue his wanderings.

ENCOURAGING FOR GLENDALE

Residents of Glendale who do not belong to the optimistic class are apt to get the opinion that business is slow in Glendale as compared with other cities. Mr. E. U. Emery, whose business calls him to all the cities in Southern California, made the statement at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening that Glendale is one of the most substantial and well-to-do cities on his list. The merchants are more prompt in paying their bills than merchants are elsewhere and he has found as he passes among the people of adjacent cities that Glendale has the name of being a live wire community. Mr. Emery was backed in his assertions by several members of the Chamber of Commerce who very willingly expressed their views on this subject.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1916

MINERAL WEALTH NEAR GLENDALE

According to the Bible the gold of a distant land is good. That means that people often look far away for wealth that all the time was lying at their door. California is one of the most highly mineralized countries in the world. The early forty-niners, while they managed to get after and to secure the greater part of the placer gold in the country, were not able to locate, much less to work the quartz veins that have every year since the Argonauts landed in San Francisco grown more valuable.

Gold is not the only mineral that California produces. Silver is quite an item in the mineral wealth of the country. Of late years tungsten, which is largely employed in the manufacture of steel, has assumed an importance that makes the finding of a vein of this metal a sure road to fortune. There is exhibited in the window of the office of the Glendale Evening News at present a large piece of tungsten ore, which came from Goffs, Cal., close to the Arizona border. The value of this metal can be seen in the fact that the tungsten in this piece of ore, which amounts to about 25 per cent, is valued at $60.

There is no doubt that careful prospecting in the Sierras back of Glendale would reveal valuable deposits. In the immediate vicinity of Glendale silver has been found. In one spot called Dead Horse gulch a shaft was sunk by some local prospectors many years ago, but they were compelled to give up the work after they had taken out ore and sacked it ready for sending to the mill. It appeared that the old Roman Catholic church had the right to the mineral deposits in that particular region.

There are doubtless many deposits in the higher ranges of the Sierras not very far from this city which would amply repay the prospector for his search. For years tungsten float, in the shape of that beautiful ore scheelite, lay on the surface of the desert near Randsburg, in the district now known as Atofia. No one gave it a thought except now and then when some unwary passerby gave it a kick and was astounded to find that he had broken his toes on a mass heavier than any ordinary rock.

At last it occurred to an old German prospector to have the ore assayed. He did so and found that he was right in his belief that he had found a fortune, but he died and never got any good out of his discovery. Others, however, heard of the mineral and located claims and started the great tungsten industry of Atofia, which has netted many fortunes to those who exploited it.

Wolframite, the ore in which tungsten is also found, is just as common in California as scheelite and it is quite likely that it will yet be found by careful prospecting in the Sierras back of Glendale. There seems to have been a time in the geological history of the State when tungsten was thrown up by igneous action and as this was a highly volcanic district there is no doubt that the tungsten veins are widely distributed. They are found all over the State. They are found in Arizona. They stretch into Colorado and every day sees this metal coming into greater importance.

Without needing to go very far from home Glendale prospectors might be able to find mineralized spots in the mountains close at hand. One of the drawbacks in mining has always been the difficulty of getting ore out once it had been located.

THE ART OF AGREEABLE SPEECH

Many of the old proverbs savor of a time when the best of all jokes was knocking a man down. To this day a crowd in a theater will burst out into a universal burst of laughter when some horse-play on the stage causes a man to fall. The original joke of the cave man must have been stretching a strip of rawhide across the threshold of a cave and watching the owner trip on it. The manners of the old days too often survive in speech where they no longer can be put into active cruelty. Yet it is questionable if the old brutality of the days when a man wooed his future wife by beating her over the head with a club and dragging her away by her hair was any worse than the coarse and vulgar brutality of modern coward bullies who madden those whom they dare to attack with coarse words and brutal insults.

For one thing the rough joke of the cave man might always be met with a rougher one and some day when passing under a tree a large stone could be dropped on his head in retaliation by the insulted one. There seems to be much need for the cultivation of decency in speech and address in these days as there was for the laying aside of the big stone and the formidable club in the days of the cave man.

To cultivate gentle speech is one of the best of arts. It may be that people live among those whose every word is coarse and whose thought behind the word is even worse; but that need not interfere with the cultivation of a sweet and gentle spirit. The world is full of misery. The very man or woman with whom we exchange greetings day after day may have so much trouble in his or her life that it would appal us if it were revealed to us. How easy to injure such an one by rude, coarse or flippant speech.

Look at that miserable and pitiable story of the Italian musician in Los Angeles who committed suicide the other day because he was in poverty, misery and alone. He was a genius, but no one had use for his genius. His gift of music and song were not so marketable as the pilfered melodies of the common stage or the banal absurdities of the popular song. Mediocrity understands and loves mediocrity and detests and finally kills genius.

How much misery was revealed in the last words of the poor suicide musician! Had there been some one to have stood by him in his loneliness and to have uttered some word of cheer or tactfully aided the poor old man he might have lived to die a natural death after some measure of success. Suicide is a terrible end for a genius. When one thinks of the miserable end of poor Chatterton, that marvelous boy poet who drank poison because he had none to help; when we think of all the wretched tragedies that are enacted daily in our midsts, all talk of the men who are perishing on the fields of Europe appears futile and trivial. What is the

FEATHERED FOSTER FATHERS

Mrs. W. H. Stoddard of Gardena avenue, Tropic, has a couple of roosters who have suddenly developed a motherly instinct. A brood of young chickens was left without a mother and were in a very bad condition for want of care when suddenly one of the roosters in the yard took it into his head to mother or father them, as you may choose to call it. Immediately that the kindly disposed father took up the care of the brood leading them about and clucking to them just like a mother hen another rooster in the yard became jealous of the new role in which his opponent was appearing and he too began to care for the chicks, who are now in danger of halting between two opinions as when the one calls them the other immediately sets up a counter call.

WILL ENFORCE LAWS

Editor Glendale Evening News: Dear Sir:—It has just come to my knowledge that there are some people in Glendale and vicinity who do not know my attitude on the liquor problem, and for their benefit I desire to quote from my platform:

It is not within the province or jurisdiction of the board of supervisors to pass legislation making any district dry, but I stand unequivocally, both as a citizen and as supervisor, if elected, in favor of a strict enforcement of any law affecting the welfare and morals of the people of Los Angeles County.

This means that without reservation I am unalterably pledged if elected supervisor to use every means within my power to enforce every law on the statutes bearing on the liquor traffic or any law which may hereafter become effective through the will of the people. I cannot say more, neither can any of the other aspirants for the office.

RECIPROCITY IN VALLEY

A statement was made recently in an article in the Glendale News that a federation of the Woman's clubs of the San Fernando valley had been consummated at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones. Representatives of nine clubs of the valley met at the home of Mrs. Jones to consider the matter of forming an organization but it was decided instead to hold a reciprocity day in each one of the clubs.

BEPRIENDING THE INDIANS

Sixty women known as "matrons" are employed by the United States Government in the Indian service, to befriend and advise the women of the Indian tribes living on the Government reservations. They travel over large areas of desert and mountains visiting the lonely villages of the Navajos, and Apaches and the adobe dwellings of the Pueblos. They are called on to endure hardships and win the confidence of the Indian women who are not always easy to manage.

There are sixty-nine nurses in the service and a number of doctors. It often requires the utmost tact on the part of the matron to gain admission for the nurses and doctors, for the Indian women are diffident and suspicious. Many a papoose is blind whose sight might have been saved by the proper medical attention at birth, and there is a great deal of unnecessary suffering among the tribes. To alleviate this is the first duty of the matrons.

They also teach the Indian women how to cook, sew, and keep their houses clean. They encourage the native arts of the various tribes—pottery and blanket and basket making—and help the squaws to find markets for their wares, many of which are highly prized in the East.

CITY BOY FARMERS

That the "back-to-the-farm movement" is led by city boys is shown by statistics recorded at the agricultural school of the Pennsylvania State College. It appears that the three large cities of Pennsylvania have more than 200 young men in the school. Some of them have never lived on a farm, but they have taken up farming as a regular science, and most of them intend to put the knowledge they have acquired into practical application, either as farmers or farm managers, in time to come.

Milk and Milk products are ideal human food, and never before in the history of this world has the standard of cleanliness and purity been so high on the farm and in the dairy, locally and generally.

death of the soldier sustained and cheered by enthusiasm and knowing that his memory will be preserved as that of a hero compared to the slow torture of the thousands of fine souls, who die annually in our big cities and big countries without kindly recognition or even without a single kind word?

On the chance that there are some of these around us we might at least cultivate the habit of saying agreeable and pleasant things. Thereby we may some day save a soul alive and cover a multitude of sins. The faculty of saying pleasant things is Christlike and the habit of seeking to aid suffering souls partakes of the nature of Him who went about continually doing good.

HIGH SCHOOL SURVEY

As a part of the regular curriculum, members of the senior class in the high school at Knoxville, Tenn., have made a systematic survey of the occupations and industries of that city.

The survey covered conditions of workers, maximum and minimum wages, chances for promotion, and much other information that will serve to throw light on the character of specific vocations. A study of the social, civic, and economic conditions of the city was made with careful attention to details.

The real topsy-turvy land is the dictionary, for there age comes before youth, divorce before marriage, autumn before summer, digestion before eating, the finish before the start, and death before life.—Boston Transcript.

In joy or misery it is possible to live out years in a single hour—a hateful answer sometimes explodes a hole in a heart in less than half a second that not even Time M. D. can cure!

IN A FOREST

Silver birch and dusky pine, Reaching up to find the light From the forest's gloomy night, From the thicket where entwined Stunted shrub and creeping vine, From the damp where witch-fire glows

And the poison fungus grows, High you lift your heads, O trees, To the kisses of the breeze, To the far-off sapphire sky, To the clouds that pass you by, To the sun that shines on high, From the dusk of earthly night Strive, O Soul, to reach the light. —Frank Oliver Call in The Westminster for March.

"Run upstairs, Tommy, and bring baby's nightgown," said Tommy's mother.

WISH TO BUILD UP CHAMBER

It is the desire of the present members of the Chamber of Commerce that the membership be made up of more active workers. As it is at present there are a dozen men who are regular in attendance and take an active part in the work of the organization. But a community of the population of the Glendale community should have fifty or more active workers who are ready with suggestions and active work to aid in making conditions better in the community. If there is an idea in the minds of any of the citizens that the Chamber of Commerce exists for the good of only a few that idea should be gotten ridded of as speedily as possible. The presence of any particular member at these meetings should not be the means of keeping away other members. The object of the existence of a Chamber of Commerce is for the upbuilding of the community in which it exists and personal feelings should not in any way interfere with the attendance. The editor of the Evening News has been present at every meeting of this organization held for the past three years and it makes no difference how much opposition propositions presented by him may have and what bitter remarks may be made concerning him he will eternally be ready to bob up at the next meeting and present his views, which he has a right to do, as long as a citizen of this community.

It would seem that too many well-meaning people have feelings that are extremely delicate, and any remark that is antagonistic to them results in keeping them away from succeeding meetings. We must remember that public discussion brings out an opposition of plans which provokes intelligent thought in the minds of those present and great good is accomplished by an exchange of ideas, even if these ideas are different than those of certain members.

CHILD CULTURE STUDY CIRCLE

The Child Culture Study Circle, organized under the auspices of the United States Department of Education, held its usual meeting Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, 1447 W. Third street. There was a small attendance, as several of the members of the circle were at the beach. Mrs. Reed gave a review of Luther Burbank's interesting book, "The Training of the Human Plant." The reading of "A Study in Child Nature," by Elizabeth Harrison, was begun and will be continued during the summer vacation. The society will continue to hold its meetings throughout the vacation period.

DOLLAR VALUE OF SCHOOLING

Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College, said recently: "The modern tendency of education is to undervalue all that does not have visible dollar-and-cents value. The economic side is ever up-pest, and the greater part of our educational facilities is trained round the problem of becoming successful in the business world. The danger in our present attitude is that in our eagerness to become practical, we forget to be theoretical."

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Mr. A. Yorba of San Francisco arrived at Casa Verdugo Wednesday to pay a visit of some length to his sister, Mrs. Sowl, and to Mr. Sowl.

Mr. Maier of the Maier Brewing company of Los Angeles entertained a large party at the Casa Verdugo restaurant Tuesday night.

Dr. and Mrs. Bridge of Los Angeles are entertaining a party of nine at the Casa Verdugo restaurant, Wednesday.

MISS BORTHICK BURNED

Miss Fredonia Borthick, of 1308 West Seventh street, was the victim of a serious and painful accident, Sunday morning. When preparing breakfast, Miss Borthick lit the gas under the oven and also on top of the stove. She was preparing her toast under the oven and also on top of the oven burner was extinguished while the gas was still turned on. When Miss Borthick opened the oven door the gas which had accumulated there became ignited from the burners on top of the stove and a terrific explosion resulted. She was thrown back against the sink several feet away and her face and neck were badly burned. Miss Borthick's friends will be glad to know that the burns were not deep and that she is recovering nicely from the painful experience.

YOUNG CARMACK'S CONDITION

Robert Carmack, the fourteen-year-old boy who resides with his parents, near the corner of Central avenue and Ninth street, is recovering nicely from the accident which befell him Tuesday morning when he was injured by a Pacific Electric train at Ninth street. Surgeons have found it necessary to amputate the great toe of the right foot. Some of the bones in the left foot are broken but by proper attention will reunite and in course of a few weeks the boy will be able to use both feet, probably as well as he did before the accident. It is indeed fortunate for this young man that the accident was not more serious.

TROPICO TRUSTEES' MEETING

The Tropico Board of Trustees met in regular session Tuesday evening at the city hall at 7:30 p. m., with President Frank E. Peters, Fred A. Alspach, Chas. H. Henry and Walter C. Seal and A. C. Boyce present. The following city officers were also present: Margaret R. Coleman, clerk; Hartley Shaw, city attorney; I. C. Wesson, street superintendent; J. W. Gould, city marshal, and Dr. W. C. Mabry, health officer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The city engineer reported that he had received a letter from the attorney for Burks & McCoons in regard to certain claims which the city of Tropico previously owed Burks & McCoons for laying out certain streets in Tropico. The city clerk reported that she had received a similar communication and had informed them that the records show that the claims had been properly filed and paid to McCoons.

The city engineer reported that it was advisable to have the curb and gutter on Acacia street where it crosses Adams street made of concrete instead of macadam. The street superintendent was instructed to work in conjunction with contractor Schelling and make the change as advised. He also reported that he had examined the drains at Park and Brand and had started work at that point to remedy the condition and thought the plan adopted would

PLANTS TO AVOID

MRS. DANFORD TELLS OF POISONOUS LOCAL FLOWERS AND SHRUBS OF THE FIELDS

"The other day," said Mrs. Danford, librarian of Glendale Public Library, "I saw a Mexican diligently cutting and piling in neat bundles the large trumpet flowered shrub that grows so profusely in the vacant and other lots about Glendale. On inquiry I found that he was gathering it for medicinal purposes. That is stramonium, the thorn apple, or Jimson weed, which is just at present putting forth its fruit, the thorn-apples, large as walnuts and covered over with sharp spines. The seeds of the apples are responsible for most of the poisoning cases of which we hear from time to time. Children suffer from this poisoning on account of ignorance of the nature of the plant. The Mexicans made a medicine for asthma from its leaves and unopened blossoms.

"Black henbane, which looks something like parsley when young or like parsnip when older, grows in waste places also and is particularly dangerous. The yellow flowers and poisonous berries often tempt children and should be avoided.

"Another local poisonous plant is digitalis purpurea, the purple foxglove or dead lady's fingers as it is sometimes called. This is a beautiful and attractive plant. The leaves and flowers if eaten produce dizziness, slow down the heart's action and very frequently cause death.

"Monkshead, another beautiful flower, is quite common in California. It is sometimes mistaken for horseradish and eaten with fatal results. It grows to a height of two to six feet, with dark green leaves and flowers violet and blue.

"Trailing wolfsbane looks something like horseradish. It has a trailing stem and white flowers. When tasted it numbs the tongue.

"Hellebore or Indian poke is found all over North America. It grows in wet ground, six feet high, with bright green leaves and greenish-yellow flowers. All of the plant is poisonous. It is a powerful insecticide.

"Fools parsley is frequently eaten in mistake for parsley. It does somewhat resemble parsley in the early season. It has a bad odor, and produces dizziness and spasmodic pains followed by numbness. Convulsions follow in children.

"Poison hemlock, the juice of which was used to kill Socrates, resembles parsley in its early stages. The seeds are poisonous and so are the other parts of the plant. The water hemlock conium maculatum, with its triangular spotted stem and umbelliferous flowers is exceedingly poisonous.

"In these vacation days when the children are wandering through the woods parents should caution them against such plants as these. Then, too, there is the Indian turnip, dragon root, wake robin, Jack-in-the-pulpit, otherwise the arum lily, all of which contain irritant poison. When dried they are not so bad and may even be prepared so as to be substitutes for arrowroot, which is also derived from a poisonous plant. Mountain laurel contains prussic acid.

"No berries or seeds of strange plants should be put in the mouth or chewed. The same may be said of mushrooms, many of which are deadly poison while others are edible. To distinguish them requires exact knowledge. Leave them alone.

"In Glendale children need not be told to avoid poison oak. It grows everywhere around this city and covers whole sections of the hills. It is a powerful irritant to some people; others are affected by it in a less degree; while some are not affected by it at all. Some people are affected by poison oak even when they pass a good distance away from it. Poison ivy and poison sumach are well known in this state. They are as powerfully irritant as poison oak and affect persons even at a distance.

"There is much discomfort to be avoided by children who will practice caution in handling plants and shrubs that they do not know. It should be unnecessary to caution any one against eating wild plants, the nature of which is unknown. Children cannot be cautioned too much regarding the danger of such plants and they should all learn to know them by sight."

The Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association will hold a family picnic for its members and friends. Mothers with families at the school are specially invited for an outing, Thursday, July 13, at Verdugo park. Cars leave the Pacific Electric station at 10:20 and at 10:55 a. m. Come and bring your lunch. Program at 2 p. m.

F. F. KURTZ, President.

LA CANADA

The La Canada Improvement association held their regular meeting Saturday evening, July 8, at the club hall. Rev. E. H. Brooks, the president of the association, read his resignation. This will take effect next meeting, July 22, at which time a new president will be elected.

After the business was transacted the program followed. Mayor Dodge of South Pasadena gave a very interesting talk on trees, and how they can beautify the streets of cities or of our valley. Little Miss Ada Fisher then gave a vocal selection, playing her own accompaniment. This little miss is not very old in years but her singing was that of an older person.

The meeting then adjourned to the social time, with refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Mr. Charles Olsen is putting the fencing along the corners of School street. These corners are dangerous and this was a much needed improvement.

The grading camp has been moving their camping outfit on to Roy avenue. This means that the improving of Roy and Texas avenues will begin very soon. The residents of these streets are looking forward to their new streets, with beautiful ornamental trees adorning them.

Dr. G. F. Burton and family of Glendale spent Sunday in the valley with friends.

Mr. Lansing and family of South Pasadena spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight, and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Johnson have returned from their trip to San Diego. The journey was enjoyed, also the fair and other points of interest.

Mr. Jackson is having a tea garden built at the intersection of Homeward and Michigan boulevards. This will be a great improvement to the valley and will also be a great boost, because a large number of autoists pass through our valley every day, and they will be glad to have a place like this in which to have refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Lea and family motored to San Dimas Sunday and visited friends.

Miss Barbara Kirst has been in the Pasadena hospital for a few days. She has had her tonsils removed and is doing very nicely now.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olsen and son motored to Santa Monica one day last week and spent the day enjoying the various amusements of the beach.

The P.-T. A. held a special meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Guidinger, Tuesday afternoon. This meeting was held for the purpose of raising funds for the Belgians.

Mr. H. E. Keeney and family, who were former residents of our valley and well known, are now in Clarkson, Arizona. Mr. Keeney gave up his ranch in Willows, Calif., and has gone to Arizona, where he has a fine position, and one that he is worthy of having.

Miss Rowena Green was the gracious hostess at dinner Friday evening. Those who enjoyed Miss Green's hospitality were Mrs. Max Green, Mrs. Dwight Cooper, and the Misses Helen Cooper and Henrietta Horne.

Mr. Cornwell, who had the misfortune of breaking a bone near his shoulder, is up now and able to be around.

Miss Ada Fisher of Los Angeles has been the house guest of Miss Gladys Granger for the past week.

Miss Bessie Jeter of Glendale is the house guest of Miss Juanita Weaver.

The C. E. society will take for their topic Sunday evening, "Purity, Temperance and Strength." Dan. 1: 8-20. These meetings are very helpful so let all come and take part.

Fruit in La Canada is rather scarce this year but it is plentiful everywhere else. It is very cheap and plentiful on the L. A. market, so everyone should have all the fruit they can use.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason and children of Compton spent one day last week with Miss Ada Bisbee.

Messrs. Russell and Howard Stickney are now in Imperial valley. It is slightly hotter there than up here, only 120 in the shade. The boys are getting used to the heat and are beginning to like it fine.

Mr. Samuel Durand is spending the summer in Antelope valley, with Mr. and Mrs. Hilyard.

Mr. A. S. Van Degriit and family are spending the summer at their home on Burr avenue. Every one welcomes this family back, as they always take a great interest in the affairs of our valley.

Miss May Lansing of South Pasadena has been spending the past few days with Mr. Cecil and family.

Mrs. Durand, Harlan Durand, Arthur Cawkins and Alma Armstrong spent several days of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Hilyard, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guidenan of Antelope valley. One day they motored to Mojave and witnessed the horse racers. Mr. Walter Guidenan, well-known to all in the valley, won second place in the racers. The week before he won first place at Lancaster. Mr. Guidenan is quite a racer and a great admirer of horses.

Mrs. J. J. Penfield received a letter from her husband in New York last week and from all reports he will be very anxious to return to sunny California. It has been raining and is so cold in New York that Mr. Penfield is not especially pleased with this kind of weather.

Mr. Harold Gould and family have moved to Pasadena and are now living on the ranch "Puenta Del Sol," better known as the "Old Stone Place." They will be greatly missed from the valley.

Mr. Daniel Green of Los Angeles, who is connected with the Examiner and its publication, is now spending his vacation with his parents at their ranch.

Mr. D. J. Green received word from his two daughters, the Misses Margaret and Lulu, and they were "slightly" seasick on their voyage to Frisco, but have recovered now and are enjoying the wonders of the north.

Miss Helen Cooper spent last Wednesday in Los Angeles. In the afternoon she saw the musical comedy, "Canary Cottage."

Miss Dorothy Lester has obtained the position of teacher for the kindergarten department of the Los Angeles summer school. Miss Lester is quite fortunate in getting this position and this is a good way in which to spend six weeks of your summer vacation.

The P.-T. A. had a very interesting meeting at Mrs. Fenton Knight's last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Rodman spoke on the subject of playgrounds and also on the Belgian relief. The meeting was held in the afternoon under the beautiful pepper trees and later in the afternoon light refreshments were served. Mrs. Nyby has invited the P.-T. A. to meet with her next month in Mr. Wallace's canyon.

Mr. H. L. Cooper has been fixing the roof garden on the house of Mr. Baldrige of Montrose. Mr. Baldrige's daughter, Miss Mae Anderson, was married Wednesday evening on the roof of the house. The decorations were of wild flowers and the beautiful mountains and glorious sunset against the skies, together with the wedding party, made a scene no artist could paint. There were about 200 guests present.

The C. E. social has been postponed until next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Knight leave this week for an automobile trip through the Yosemite valley and to Lake Tahoe.

The Missionary picnic will be the 20th of July at Brookside Park, in Pasadena. Everyone is cordially urged to come. It is believed that there will be plenty of machines to take everyone over who wishes to go.

Mr. Fenton Knight returned from the hospital last Thursday and took up his work in Pasadena Monday.

A LA BILLY SUNDAY

Observing the success of the Billy Sunday methods in the matter of conversion, Puck rises to suggest that the attempt be made to apply the same methods to other church ceremonies and activities, proposing the following formulas:

Pastor (christening infant): "What do you want to call this hunk of excess baggage, Bo?"

Presiding Parson—"What miserable mutt giveth this skirt to be married to this gink?" The Bride's Father—"I'm the guy."

Industrious Usher—"Slide, you ice-carts! Slide!"

Passing the Plate—"Come across with the iron-men, you low-lived tight-wads!"

Sunday-School Superintendents—"All of you flivvers that want to swat Satan, stand on one leg."

AN UNNECESSARY QUESTION

Shopkeeper—"Want a situation as errand boy, do you? Well, can you tell me how far the moon is from the earth?"

Boy—"Well, gov'nor, I don't know; but it ain't near enough to interfere with me running errands."

TENNIS FOR GIRLS

Many girls imagine that tennis is a very easy game, and that it consists in "popping a ball" over a net which divides a carefully marked stretch of grass, dirt or clay. Get rid of this notion at once; the net and stretch of land are all right, but the "popping of the ball" is all wrong. Every ball in tennis should be hit, and hit as hard as your strength will let you; and in addition to being hit, the ball should be hit to a definite place in the opposing court. There is no hit-or-miss about tennis.

Hitting the ball sounds simple; but there is a right way and a wrong way to hit it. In the wrong way you use unnecessary strength and trouble, and probably do not achieve the result that you are after; in the right way you use comparatively little strength, while you gain speed and also control the flight of the ball. Style in tennis is hitting the ball in the right way. Sometimes one imagines that style means the fancy way of executing a stroke; on the contrary, style is that method of execution, which, as experience has taught us, uses up the least physical strength and gains the most accurate results.

You would not disregard the instructions about finger movements when you learn to play the piano; and you can no more learn to play tennis while disregarding the proper movements than you can play the piano without the preliminary finger exercises. You will enjoy tennis far more if you play it well than if you play it poorly. Therefore, it taking up tennis, start right—learn the right way to do things.

JUNIOR POLICE

What is known as the "East Side," in New York City, has a "junior police force." There are some 350 police boys and girls in the service, all officially uniformed in blue coats with bright brass buttons. They wear peaked hats and carry little black batons. For two years three hundred boys have been in the service. The other fifty are girls and differ in their uniforms in having skirts with long pleats.

The youngest police girl, thirteen years old, was recently admitted to the Washington Irving High School. Although she has been in active service only eight months, she has restored some fifty children to sorrowing parents; prevented the sale of cigarets to many would-be smokers under age, and cleared many city pavements of banana peelings and other fruit skins that might have been dangerous to pedestrians. Her police work is in addition to her school duties, in which she has a record for diligent attention.

"Lunatics frequently return amusing answers," says the superintendent of a great insane asylum. "One day a keeper was out walking with a number of harmless inmates, and the party met a pedestrian not far from the railway tracks. With a nod toward the tracks, the traveler asked one of the lunatics, 'Where does this railway go to?' The lunatic surveyed him scornfully for a moment and then replied, 'Nowhere. We keep it here to run trains on.'" Youths Companion.

CARE OF COWS IN HOLLAND

No creature receives more careful or more loving care than the Holstein and other blooded cows of Holland. They are washed, combed, groomed and luxuriously stabled. No thoroughbred racer is more painstakingly looked after. These Netherland cows are put to graze in such flowery, well-watered green fields as might well arouse the envy of the rest of the animal kingdom.

It has been said that a cow-stable in Holland is as clean as any parlor. Into these, after remaining in the fields from the first of May until the first of November, the cows are taken for the winter.

Many of the Hollanders' cow-stables show down the center a wide aisle with a strip of immaculate oil-cloth from one end to the other.

Beneath each curtained window is up on both sides, are curtains with spotless thin white net, tied back with ribbons. Pots of blooming flowers are set on the window sills.

Beneath each curtained window is a cowstall, twenty in all, it may be. On the floors, which are of porcelain, a thick layer of clean white sawdust is placed.

Before and behind each row of stalls runs a trough of clear water, the first for the cows to drink from, the second to wash away all impurities. In the ceiling behind every stall is placed an iron hook, the office of which is to hold high in the air the cow's tail, so she may not soil that carefully combed member.

Every day during the winter these cows are put through a process of washing with warm soap-suds, drying, rubbing, combing and general coddling as if they were children. No pains are spared to the end that their stable may have the purest air; and everything is done for the comfort and health of the animals. The consequence is that they become plump, glossy and gentle animals, repaying their owners with enormous quantities of rich milk.—Selected.

A GREAT RAILWAY

A student of railway matters has figured out that if the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad system were to be laid in a single line, there would be enough to build a standard gauge railroad around the world, with double tracks from New York to Kansas City. The exact length of railroad lines in this system, whether single, double, triple or quadruple track, is 11,823 miles.

Of these lines 823 miles have three tracks and 635 miles have four tracks. In addition there are nearly 10,000 miles in the sidings.

EVER MEET THIS GIRL?

She (at the ball game)—"Why does the man make those motions with his arms before he flings the ball?"

He—"Those are signals to the catcher. The two men work in concert."

She—"Dear me! Is that the 'concert pitch' I've heard about so often?"

"Mamma, is papa goin' to die an' go to heaven?"

"Why, Willie, what put such an absurd idea into your head?"
