NEW ORLEANS, PRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 14, 1870. Grand-Etampes now, but the occupation comusts of dead and wounded. The battalion would not give ground, and it may be said to have been annihilated as it stood, the men being with their backs to the weal land faces to the foes. Other battalions of the same regiment suffered horribly. So far Bazaine had anceceded. The Prussian artitlery throwing their projectiles from three sides of parallaram interfered with the comfortable realization of Bazaine's conception.

As regarded the former it seemed clear that Bazaine would not have done what he had if he did not contemplate some thing more—that something dombites was a sortic to establish communications with Thionville from Steany and the two tabs. Dhio.
