AMERICA'S NATIONAL GAME

By A. G. SPALDING

PRICE, $2.00 NET

A book of 600 pages, profusely illustrated with over 100 full page engravings, and having sixteen forceful cartoons by Homer C. Davenport, the famous American artist

The above work should have a place in every public library in this country, as also in the libraries of public schools and private houses.

The author of "America's National Game" is conceded, always, everywhere, and by everybody, to have the best equipment of any living writer to treat the subject that forms the text of this remarkable volume, viz., the story of the origin, development and evolution of Base Ball, the National Game of our country.

Almost from the very inception of the game until the present time—as player, manager and magnate—Mr. Spalding has been closely identified with its interests. Not infrequently he has been called upon in times of emergency to prevent threatened disaster. But for him the National Game would have been syndicated and controlled by elements whose interests were purely selfish and personal.

The book is a veritable repository of information concerning players, clubs and personalities connected with the game in its early days, and is written in a most interesting style, interspersed with enlivening anecdotes and accounts of events that have not heretofore been published.

The response on the part of the press and the public to Mr. Spalding's efforts to perpetuate the early history of the National Game has been very encouraging and he is in receipt of hundreds of letters and notices, a few of which are here given.

ROBERT ADAMSON, New York, writing from the office of Mayor Gaynor, says:—"Seeing the Giants play is my principal recreation and I am interested in reading everything I can find about the game. I especially enjoy what you [Mr. Spalding] have written, because you stand as the highest living authority on the game."

BARNEY DREYFUSS, owner of the Pittsburg National League club:—"It does honor to author as well as the game. I have enjoyed reading it very much."

WALTER CAMP, well known foot ball expert and athlete, says:—"It is indeed a remarkable work and one that I have read with a great deal of interest."

JOHN B. DAY, formerly President of the New York Nationals:—"Your wonderful work will outlast all of us."

W. IRVING SNYDER, formerly of the house of Peck & Snyder:—"I have read the book from cover to cover with great interest."

ANDREW PECK, formerly of the celebrated firm of Peck & Snyder:—"All base ball fans should read and see how the game was conducted in early years."

MELVILLE E. STONE, New York, General Manager Associated Press:—"I find it full of valuable information and very interesting. I prize it very highly."

GEORGE BARNARD, Chicago:—"Words fail to express my appreciation of the book. It carries me back to the early days of base ball and makes me feel like a young man again."

CHARLES W. MURPHY, President Chicago National League club:—"The book is a very valuable work and will become a part of every base ball library in the country."

JOHN F. MORRILL, Boston, Mass., old time base ball star:—"I did not think it possible for one to become so interested in a book on base ball. I do not find anything in it which I can criticise."

RALPH D. PAINE, popular magazine writer and a leading authority on college sport:—"I have been reading the book with a great deal of interest. 'It fills a long felt want,' and you are a national benefactor for writing it."

GEN. FRED FUNSTON, hero of the Philippine war:—"I read the book with a great deal of pleasure and was much interested in seeing the account of base ball among the Asiatic whalers, which I had written for Harper's Round Table so many years ago."

DEWOLF HOPPER, celebrated operatic artist and comedian:—"Apart from the splendid history of the evolution of the game, it perpetuates the memories of the many men who so gloriously sustained it. It should be read by every lover of the sport."

HUGH NICOL, Director of Athletics, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.:—"No one that has read this book has appreciated it more than I. Ever since I have been big enough, I have been in professional base ball, and you can imagine how interesting the book is to me."

MRS. BRITTON, owner of the St. Louis Nationals, through her treasurer, H. D. Seekamp, writes:—"Mrs. Britton has been very much interested in the volume and has read with pleasure a number of chapters, gaining valuable information as to the history of the game."

REV. CHARLES H. PARKHURST, D.D., New York:—"Although I am not very much of a 'sport,' I nevertheless believe in sports, and just at the present time in base ball particularly. Perhaps if all the Giants had an opportunity to read the volume before the recent game (with the Athletics) they might not have been so grievously outdone."

BRUCE CARTWRIGHT, son of Alexander J. Cartwright, founder of the Knickerbocker Base Ball Club, the first organization of ball players in existence, writing from his home at Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, says:—"I have read the book with great interest and it is my opinion that no better history of base ball could have been written."

GEORGE W. FROST, San Diego, Calif.:—"You and 'Jim' White, George Wright, Barnes, McVey, O'Rourke, etc., were little gods to us back there in Boston in those days of '74 and '75, and I recall how indignant we were when you 'threw us down' for the Chicago contract. The book is splendid. I treasure it greatly."

A. J. REACH, Philadelphia, old time professional expert:—"It certainly is an interesting revelation of the national game from the time, years before it was so dignified, up to the present. Those who have played the game, or taken an interest in it in the past, those at present engaged in it, together with all who are to engage in it, have a rare treat in store."

DR. LUTHER H. GULICK, Russell Sage Foundation:—"Mr. Spalding has been the largest factor in guiding the development of the game and thus deserves to rank with other great men of the country who have contributed to its success. It would have added to the interest of the book if Mr. Spalding could have given us more of his own personal experiences, hopes and ambitions in connection with the game."

Pittsburg Press:—"Historical incidents abound and the book is an excellent authority on the famous sport."

Philadelphia Telegraph:—"In this book Mr. Spalding has written the most complete and authoritative story of base ball yet published."

New York Herald:—"If there is anyone in the country competent to write a book on base ball it is A. G. Spalding, who has been interested in the game from its early beginnings."

I. E. SANBORN, Chicago Tribune:—" 'America's National Game' has been added to the Tribune's sporting reference library as an invaluable contribution to the literature of the national pastime."

O. C. REICHARD, Chicago Daily News:—"It is cleverly written and presents information and dates of great value to the newspaper man of to-day!"

GEORGE C. RICE, Chicago Journal:—"I have read the book through, and take pleasure in stating that it is a complete history of the game from the beginning until the present time."

SHERMAN R. DUFFY, Sporting Editor Chicago Journal:—"It is a most interesting work and one for which there was need. It is the most valuable addition to base ball literature that has yet been put out."

JOSEPH H. VILA, New York Sun:—"I have read it carefully and with much interest. It is the best piece of base ball literature I have ever seen, and I congratulate you on the work."

TIM MURNANE, Sporting Editor Boston Globe:—"You have given to the world a book of inestimable value, a classic in American history; a book that should be highly prized in every home library in the country."

FRANCIS C. RICHTER, Editor Sporting Life, Philadelphia:—"From a purely literary standpoint, your work is to me amazing. Frankly, I would not change a line, for the reason that the story is told in a way to grip the reader and hold his interest continually."

Los Angeles Times (editorial):—"Spalding's book has been out six months and ninety thousand copies have been sold. We understand there will be other editions. America has taken base ball seriously for at last two generations, and it is time enough that the fad was given an adequate text book."

CASPAR WHITNEY, Editor Outdoor America, and one of the leading authorities in the world on sport:—"You have made an invaluable contribution to the literature of the game, and one none else could have made. Moreover, you've done some very interesting writing, which is a distinct novelty in such books—too often dull and uninteresting."

New York World:—"Albert G. Spalding, who really grew up with the sport, has written 'America's National Game,' which he describes as not a history, but the simple story of the game as he has come to know it. His book, therefore, is full of living interest. It is a volume generously illustrated and abounds in personal memories of base ball in the making."

New York Sun:—"There is a mass of interesting information regarding base ball, as might be expected, in Mr. Spalding's 'America's National Game.' It is safe to say that before Spalding there was no base ball. The book is no record of games and players, but it is historical in a broader sense, and the author is able to give his personal decisive testimony about many disputed points."

Evening Telegram, New York:—"In clear, concise, entertaining, narrative style, Albert G. Spalding has contributed in many respects the most interesting work pertaining to base ball, the national game, which has been written."

"There is so much in it of interest that the temptation not to put it down until it is completed is strong within the mind of every person who begins to read it. As a historical record it is one of those volumes which will go further to straighten some disputed points than all of the arguments which could be advanced in good natured disputes which might last for months."

Providence (R. I.) Tribune:—"The pictures of old time teams, players and magnates of a bygone era will interest every lover of the game, and no doubt start many discussions and recollections among the old timers."

New York Evening Mail:—"Were it possible to assemble the grand army of base ball fans in convention, their first act probably would be to pass a vote of thanks to Mr. A. G. Spalding for his work 'America's National Game.'"

Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch:—"Never before has been put in print so much of authentic record of this distinctly national game, and it will be long, if ever, until so thoroughly interesting and useful a volume is published to cover the same field."

New Orleans Picayune:—"The pictures of old time teams, players and magnates of a bygone era will interest every lover of the game. Homer Davenport, America's great cartoonist, has contributed drawings in his inimitable style of various phases of the game."

Indianapolis Star:—"From cover to cover, the 542 pages are filled with material for 'fanning bees,' which the average 'fan' never before encountered. It is an interesting volume for anyone who follows the national pastime and a valuable addition to any library."

Buffalo News:—"No book on base ball has ever been written that is superior to this one by A. G. Spalding. The book is admirably written, yet without any frills. Many of the more notable incidents recounted in this book are having wide publication by themselves."

Brooklyn Times:—"The book is practically a compendium of the salient incidents in the evolution of professional base ball. Mr. Spalding is pre-eminently fitted to perform this service, his connection with the game having been contemporaneous with its development, as player, club owner and league director."

Washington (D. C.) Star:—"This work appeals with peculiar force to the public. Mr. Spalding's name is almost synonymous with base ball. He has worked to the end of producing a volume which tells the story of the game vividly and accurately. Taken altogether, this is a most valuable and entertaining work."

New York American:—"One of the best selling books of the season has been 'America's National Game,' by A. G. Spalding. The first edition of five thousand copies has been sold out (in two months) and a second edition of five thousand is now on the press. As a Christmas gift from father to son, it is most appropriate."

Cincinnati Enquirer:—"As a veteran of the diamond, well qualified to do so, Mr. Spalding has committed to print a professional's version of the distinctly American game. This well known base ball celebrity has a store of familiar anecdotes embracing the entire period of the game as now played and the reader will find it most interesting."

Teacher and Home, New York:—"Every live father of a live boy will want to buy this book. It is said of some of the 'best sellers' that they hold one to the end. This book holds the reader with its anecdote, its history, its pictures; but it will have no end; for no home—no American home—will be complete hereafter without it."

Buffalo Times:—"A. G. Spalding, with whose name every American boy is familiar, has been prevailed upon to commit to print events which were instrumental in guiding the destinies of the National League during the trying period of its early days. To write upon base ball in a historical manner, and yet not fall into the habit of quoting interminable statistics, is a feat that few could accomplish."

Cincinnati Times-Star:—"America's National Game,' A. G. Spalding's great book upon the diamond sport, is now upon the market and receiving well merited attention. It tells the story as Mr. Spalding saw it, and no man has been in position to see more. When 'Al' Spalding, the sinewy pitcher of nearly forty years ago, came into the arena, the game was young, and through all the changing seasons that have seen it mature into full bloom, its closest watcher and strongest friend has been the same 'Al' Spalding."

Cincinnati Times-Star:—"The book is at once a history, a cyclopædia and a most entertaining volume."

New York American:—" 'America's National Game' tells for the first time the history of the national game of base ball."

Portland Oregonian:—"The book is of rare interest and has such personal value in the story line that one hardly knows where to begin in making quotations from it—all the stories told are so admirable."

JOHN T. NICHOLSON, Principal Public School 186, New York:—"It's a great book."

REV. W. A. SUNDAY, Evangelist:—"No one in America is better qualified to talk of base ball, from its inception to its present greatness, than A. G. Spalding."

WM. L. VEECK and ED. W. SMITH, of the Chicago American:—"We have found much enjoyment in reading the book, and it is very valuable in our work."

W. H. CONANT, Gossamer Rubber Co., Boston, Mass.:—"I have read the book with great pleasure and it produced a vivid reminiscence of the striking events in base ball, so full of interest to all lovers of the game."

JOSEPH B. MACCABE, Editor East Boston (Mass.) Argus-Advocate, and ex-President Amateur Athletic Union:—"I want to express my gratitude, as a humble follower of manly sport, for the compilation of this historic work."

JOHN A. LOWELL, President John A. Lowell Bank Note Company, Boston, Mass.:—"I have read the book with great interest and it certainly is a valuable compilation of facts relating to the history of base ball, the great national game of America. I prize it very highly."

WM. F. GARCELON, Harvard Athletic Association, Cambridge, Mass.:—"I think 'America's National Game' is not only intensely interesting but most valuable, as giving the history of the game. Better still, my nine year old boy is looking forward to the time when he can get it away from me."

GUSTAVUS T. KIRBY, President of the Amateur Athletic Union:—"Not only as a historical sketch of this great national game, but also as a technical dissertation on base ball as it was and is, this book will not only be of interest but of benefit to all of us Americans who are interested in sport—and what American is not interested in sport?—and being interested in sport, chiefly in base ball."

EVERETT C. BROWN, Chicago, ex-president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States:—"It is very seldom that any history of any sport or anything pertaining to athletics approaches the interest with which one reads a popular work of fiction, but I can truthfully say that I have read the story of the great national game with as much interest as I have read any recent work of fiction."

THOMAS F. GRAHAM, Judge Superior Court, San Francisco:—" 'America's National Game' contains matter on the origin and development of base ball—the greatest game ever devised by man—that will be of the utmost interest to the base ball loving people, not only of this, but of every English speaking country; and I am sure it will perpetuate the name of A. G. Spalding to the end of time."

History of Inter-Collegiate Lacrosse

The history of the organization which at present directs and controls intercollegiate lacrosse in the United States should properly form but a short paragraph to a record of the game extending through more than the last quarter of a century. As an incentive to the collection of any historical data which might be of interest to the followers of the game, particularly among the colleges, the following brief summary is given:

In 1877, due probably to the influence of the Boston Lacrosse Club, lacrosse was started at Harvard by the formation of a team among members of the class of 1880. Interest in the game developed gradually, until, in 1880, Harvard was represented by a regular 'varsity team.

New York University, Columbia, and Princeton organized teams shortly after Harvard, and in 1881 these teams met in a championship series, which was won by Harvard. This series led to the formation of a league in 1882, known as the Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, the charter members being the four colleges above mentioned.

In 1883, the Association was increased by the admission of Yale, whose team won the year's championship. In the following year Princeton finished at the head of the list.

Yale withdrew in 1885, and has never since placed a team upon the field.

After a few years, interest in the game seemed to slacken, leaving but one team in the Association, Princeton. In 1888 Johns Hopkins and Stevens were admitted to membership; in 1889 the application of Lehigh University was accepted. In 1891 Princeton withdrew, leaving Stevens, Johns Hopkins, and Lehigh as members of the Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association. This combination continued until 1902, when Swarthmore College made its appearance as a member for the first time. There were no further changes made in the membership of the Association up to the time of the consolidation with the Inter-university League.

About 1894, interest in lacrosse was revived, resulting in the formation of another league, called the United States Inter-university Lacrosse League.

Cornell had taken up the sport in 1892, interest developing slowly through games with such colleges and universities as Toronto, Stevens, Lehigh, Columbia, and the Crescent A.C.

In 1898 the United States Inter-university Lacrosse League was formed, particularly active in its formation being Messrs. H. A. L. Sand of Harvard and R. H. E. Starr, who had just come from Harvard and was attending the Columbia Law School. The league was made up of Harvard, Columbia and Cornell as the charter members, Pennsylvania being admitted in 1899.

Mr. C. C. Miller was president of the United States Inter-university Lacrosse League for four consecutive years, and his activity in connection with the game was a potent factor in maintaining the high standard of the game among the universities.

To further strengthen the game, Mr. Miller was the originator of the movement to effect a combination of the two leagues then in existence, namely, the United States Inter-university Lacrosse League and the Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association. The object of the combination was to standardize the rules, and through a single board of control do everything possible toward the strengthening of the game among the colleges.

In the spring of 1905, sufficient interest in the movement had been aroused to warrant the calling of a convention for the purpose of completing this organization. The convention met, elected officers and drew up a constitution.

On December 22, 1905, representatives from all the colleges in the two leagues met in convention in New York, and after declaring the action of the convention of the previous spring irregular, by reason of the fact that a number were not represented at that time, formally organized the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse League. The colleges entering into this combination were Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Lehigh, Pennsylvania, Stevens, and Swarthmore.

The first officers of the organization were as follows: President, H. A. L. Sands, Harvard, '95; vice-president, W. S. Finlay, Jr., Cornell, '04; secretary and treasurer, H. A. Pratt, Stevens, '04.

Mr. C. C. Miller and Dr. W. H. Maddren were the first members-at-large of the executive committee.

Hobart was admitted to the league in January, 1907; Pennsylvania withdrawing in December of the same year.

Following is a list of the officers since 1906:

- 1907—Dr. W. H. Maddren (Hopkins), president; E. W. Miller (Lehigh), vice-president; D. H. Weeks (Hobart), secretary-treasurer.
- 1908—W. S. Finlay, Jr. (Columbia), president; Edson Harris (Swarthmore), vice-president; C. E. Marsters (Harvard), secretary-treasurer.
- 1909—J. B. Carlock (Lehigh), president; D. H. Weeks (Hobart), vice-president; C. A. Sturken (Stevens), secretary-treasurer.
- 1910—C. E. Marsters (Harvard), president; J. P. Broomell (Swarthmore), vice-president; T. K. Scott (Columbia), secretary-treasurer.

- 1913—J. P. Broomell (Swarthmore), president; H. R. Walters (Lehigh), vice-president; R. O. Walbridge (Cornell), secretary-treasurer.

Northern Division Inter-Collegiate Lacrosse League

BY SPENCER S. KINGMAN.

Every year shows an increasing interest in Lacrosse in the territory of the Northern Division of the Intercollegiate Lacrosse League, but probably the season of 1912 was marked by more active interest and enthusiasm in the sport than any previous year since the organization of the league. The game made its most notable strides in New England. Dartmouth, Trinity, and Amherst had men playing, though no teams were organized to represent these colleges. Andover Academy turned out a team of husky young fellows who gave the Harvard Freshmen several hard games during the season and also played one or two of the New York preparatory school teams. The notable event of the season, however, was the game for the championship of the league played off in the Harvard Stadium between Swarthmore, the southern champions, and Harvard, the victor of the Northern Division. This game did more toward spreading a wide knowledge of the sport than any previous single event held in New England in the past ten years. Crowds from Boston and the northern colleges witnessed the game and carried away a fine impression of good lacrosse played by two teams as expert in team play and stick work as are often seen among our college players.

Victory by a team in the Northern Division had not looked very probable at the start of the season. Cornell had several veteran players to start with, and she came out better on her southern trip than did either Hobart or Harvard. The men from Geneva had no very experienced men at the first of their season, and injury hindered their prospects of success still further. Harvard started with nearly an entire team of veterans, though much new material was taken on during the season. On her southern trip Cornell tied the strong Johns Hopkins team in a very interesting game by a score of 2—2. The Ithacans were victorious over the Carlisle Indians, the Navy, and Stevens, but went down to defeat before the veteran team of the Mount Washington Club. Harvard was less fortunate. She started the season with an easy victory over the Springfield Lacrosse Club. The team started south full of confidence but met defeat at the hands of Johns Hopkins on a muddy field by the score of 4—5. The game with the less experienced Maryland Agricultural College team was easily won by Harvard, but Mount Washington won, again on a slippery field, by the score of 4—3. The northern teams now settled down to the serious practice for the league games which wind up the season. Hobart was defeated by Cornell in a practice game at the start of the season and again in the league game. As both Cornell and Harvard had the advantage of Canadian professional coaching they naturally stood a better chance of taking first place than did Hobart. Harvard had an added advantage in that all her league games were played on her own grounds. Then again the Crimson had played several games with her graduates and also a game with the Bronx Lacrosse Club, all of which the college men won. As Hobart was defeated both by Cornell and Harvard, the championship of the league was decided by a game between the two latter teams. Cornell was somewhat tired by a hard overnight journey on the train, but put up a splendid game against the eastern college, nevertheless. In spite of the Ithacans' clever stick work the superior training and condition of the Harvard team won the victory for the latter by a score of 14—0.

On the first of June the first game ever played for a championship of the entire Intercollegiate Lacrosse League was fought out by Harvard and Swarthmore in the Harvard Stadium. Both teams were primed for the contest. The Harvard coaching staff had worked overtime keeping the team in shape during the two weeks intervening between the final game in the Northern Division and the play-off for the championship of both leagues. Swarthmore on the other hand, had had games up to within a week of the final contest. The game was played under almost ideal conditions and was hard fought from start to finish. Most of the play centered around Gustafson, the Harvard captain, and in him the Crimson had a tower of strength despite the numerous and severe contusions he suffered early in the game. Both teams had very active attacks, and it was principally due to the close defense of her goal defenders and the phenomenal playing of Gustafson that Harvard won this, the best and most hard-fought game of lacrosse ever seen on Soldiers' Field.

According to present indications Cornell should be the 1913 defender of the league championship, if another game is played next year between the Northern and Southern Division winners. Cornell has nearly a whole team of veterans back in college this season; Hobart has a good nucleus for a team, and Harvard has only five veterans.

Lacrosse enthusiasts around Massachusetts are greatly cheered by the announcement that the Boston Lacrosse Club is no longer a thing of dreams but an active organization with games scheduled with several of the eastern clubs. The Boston club should do much toward awakening interest in the sport among the colleges of New England. Trinity College has also formed an organization that promises to be active and to represent the Connecticut college in games with Harvard and the New York clubs.

Southern Division Inter-Collegiate Lacrosse League

BY THOMAS H. HALL, JR.

The lacrosse season of 1912 at Swarthmore was marked by the winning of the championship of the Southern Division of the Lacrosse League, and marred by defeat at the hands of Harvard, champions of the Northern Division. Swarthmore opened the season with but few of her old men on the team and the vacancies were filled with men from the preceding year's scrub team. No freshmen making the team. Mr. Whitehead of Toronto again coached the team and proved his fitness by developing a combination with few stars, but one that played consistently and with good team work. The season opened with a victory over Cornell, who showed lack of early practice, Swarthmore winning handily by the score of 5—2. The next game was with the New York Lacrosse Club, who lost to Swarthmore through lack of condition. The game with the Navy was one of the hardest of the season and ended in a tie score 6—6, after playing two extra periods of time. This hard game was compensated the following Saturday by a very easy 15—4 victory over Lehigh. This was the first league game. The Johns Hopkins game was a beautifully played game throughout, and exciting to the finish, although Swarthmore outplayed Hopkins and deserved to win as the score of 4—2 indicated. The best league game was with Stevens, who sprung a surprise on Swarthmore, and was in the lead up until the last minute of play, when Capt. Roberts, who had been out of the game with a bad knee, threw away his crutches, entered the game and shot the winning goal after a hard uphill fight. The score was 3—2. This victory gave Swarthmore the championship of the Southern Division. The following Saturday Swarthmore defeated the Carlisle Indians in a game which was a repetition of the Stevens game, Swarthmore winning out in the last few minutes of play by the score of 5—3. The Mt. Washington

Club of Baltimore was too much for Swarthmore and won 8—2. Toronto University also defeated Swarthmore 6—1, but this game was played during Commencement week, after Swarthmore had practically disbanded. These were the only defeats of the season excepting the one by Harvard. On June first Swarthmore journeyed to Cambridge and played Harvard, the champions of the Northern Division. Harvard won by the score of 7—3. Their victory was due absolutely to the brilliant individual playing of their captain, who scored six of Harvard's seven points.

Of Swarthmore's players Captain Roberts and Waters were the star attack men, while Messner and McGovern starred in the defense. Charles Collins, however, was the most brilliant and aggressive player on the team and was certainly more than an equal of any man he met during the season. He was fast, powerful and heady, and developed into one of the best lacrosse players Swarthmore has had for a long time.

Twenty Years of Lacrosse in America

BY JOHN R. FLANNERY.

Lacrosse was played in this country as early as 1869 by some ex-Canadians, who had settled in New York and Brooklyn. Two teams were organized, the Manhattan and Knickerbocker, and games were played, but these were few and infrequent because of the difficulty of finding grounds for that purpose. The game languished in consequence of this circumstance and very little headway was made.

In 1870 the Shamrocks of Montreal and the Caughnawaga Indians made a short tour through New York State, playing two games at Saratoga, one at Troy, and the final game on the Capitoline grounds at Brooklyn. All these games were closely contested, as the teams were fairly matched in playing strength, and at Saratoga especially drew large and enthusiastic crowds, but the impression then made did not last because the few teams in existence in New York were unable to keep up the good work, and finally died out.

In 1877, lacrosse was again started in New York City by another lot of ex-Canadian players, who organized a team under the name of Ravenswood, taken from the locality where some of the men resided. The leaders in this movement worked hard and eventually got quite a few American boys interested in the game. Among them many of the students at New York University, to which institution must be given the credit of organizing the first college lacrosse team in the United States. During the winter of 1877-78 a series of athletic games was held at Gilmore's Garden (a place only remembered now by old New Yorkers), among which a lacrosse tournament was included. The entries for this tournament comprised the Ravenswoods, Elmiras, New York University and two Indian teams, Onondagas and Caughnawagas, the latter being returned the winners.

Early in 1878 the writer and Samuel Macdonald, former captain of the Montreal club, got the Union Athletic Club of Boston interested in the game and from its members organized a team which made its debut on July 4 of that year on the Boston Common in a game with the Ravenswoods of New York. The latter team as a whole had much more experience than the Union A.C. players, but the latter had been well trained, and what they lacked in skill they more than made up in physical condition, the result being a victory of three goals to none over the visitors. This game was played in the presence of an attendance of more than 10,000 persons. The enthusiasm over the new sport and the success of their representatives was such that lacrosse at once gained a high position in public favor, and led to its introduction into Harvard during that year.

Later, in 1878, the Westchester Polo Club of Newport, prominent among whose members were the late Herman Oelrichs, James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, and the present August Belmont, got up a lacrosse tournament at Newport. The entries for these games were the Ravenswoods, the Union A.C. of Boston, and the New York Lacrosse Club, a team organized that year from members of the New York A.C. The Ravenswoods this time turned the tables on the Unions, and also defeated the New Yorks, thus winning the beautiful cup presented by the Polo club.

The result of these games was the formation of teams in other locations, so that when the writer, who had come to New York early in 1879, took up the matter of organizing the old United States National Lacrosse Association, there were several clubs ready to help the project along. The Baltimore A.C. took up lacrosse this year and turned out a fine team, and the Ravenswoods disbanded, most of the latter's players joining the Brooklyn A.C.

During 1879 international matches were started, the Unions of Boston playing the Montreal team and the Brooklyns tackling the Shamrocks of the same city. Both games were played at Montreal and were won by the Canadians, although the American players put up a good fight in each contest.

In 1880 the Torontos were brought to New York by the late Erastus Wiman and played several games at Staten Island with our local teams, winning all of them. During the same year the Brooklyn A.C. gave up lacrosse and its best players joined the New York team, which strengthened the latter so much that they had no difficulty in defeating their old opponents, the Union A.C., at the annual Newport tournament.

In 1881 the Shamrocks of Montreal, champions of Canada, visited New York and on the old Polo Grounds played the New York team for the championship of America. The visitors won by a score of three goals to one after a beautiful contest. There was a very large attendance, and the spectators generously applauded every fine play made.

In the spring of the same year the following teams were organized: Princeton University, Columbia University, Staten Island Athletic Club, Louisville Lacrosse Club, and several others of minor note.

In 1882 the first Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association was formed, the members of which were Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Columbia and New York University. There was a dispute over the championship this year, and I do not recall how it was settled. In 1883 Yale won the championship, besides defeating the strong New York team in a match game.

In 1884 the Philadelphia L.C. and St. Louis L.C. were formed and Stevens Institute organized a team, but the event of the season was the sending of an American team to Great Britain. The trip was a very successful one, Uncle Sam's representatives winning fourteen out of fifteen games played. The following men comprised the team:

Goal.....	F. S. Wheeler, New York L.C.
Point.....	David Brown, New York L.C.
Cover point.....	H. C. Penniman, Druid L.C., Baltimore.
First defence.....	E. P. Cottle, Yale University L.A.
Second defence.....	W. A. Davis, Union A.C., Boston.
Third defence.....	J. C. Gerndt, New York University L.C.
Center.....	J. K. Simson, Union A.C.
Third attack.....	C. C. Nichols, Harvard University L.A.
Second attack.....	J. A. Stuart, Calumet L.C., Chicago.
First attack.....	S. Johnson Poe, Princeton University L.A.
Outside home.....	A. D. Ritchie, New York L.C.
Inside home.....	S. M. Johnson, Union A.C.

In 1884 the New England Lacrosse Association was also formed, and in 1885 the Metropolitan Lacrosse Association followed suit. The latter comprised teams from the New York L.C., Williamsburgh A.C., Stevens Institute and New York University.

In 1881 the late Herman Oelrichs presented a beautiful cup to the National Lacrosse Association to be competed for in an annual tournament. These tournaments were held for several years and were generally successful from a playing standpoint.

In 1886 Cornell University took up lacrosse, and in 1887 Rutgers and College of City of New York organized teams. I think Lehigh also first played the game this year. Several clubs were organized in and around Boston.

In 1888 Williams College, New Jersey A.C. and the Y. M. C. A. of Philadelphia organized teams the latter having for a few seasons a league of its own, composed of teams from its various branches in that city. In the same year the players who had represented the Williamsburgh A.C. reorganized as a separate team under the name of the Brooklyn L.C., and with the Staten Island A.C. (which had succeeded the New York L.C.) played many games for local honors.

During this year the writer made an attempt to organize a league among the athletic clubs in and around New York. A series of meetings were held by delegates from New York A.C., Manhattan A.C., American A.C., Olympic A.C., New Jersey A.C., Crescent A.C. and Flushing A.C. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected, but the association died a natural death when it was found that the players needed to make up the teams were not to be had. In 1889 and 1890 nothing of any importance occurred that I can recollect, excepting that the National Lacrosse Association was divided in two sections, the Eastern branch taking in the Druids of Baltimore, Staten Island A.C., Brooklyn L.C., and the Philadelphia L.C.

In 1891 the Brooklyns joined the New York A.C., the Philadelphias merged with the Athletic Club of the Schuylkill Navy, and the Manhattan A.C. organized a team. In the same year the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States took charge of lacrosse and instituted a series of games for the championship. The foregoing three teams with one from Staten Island A.C. competed in this series. New York A.C. won after a hard struggle. The same club also won the championship in 1892.

In 1893 the Staten Island A.C. players joined the Crescent A.C. and subsequently played a series of games with the New Yorks, but were easily defeated by the latter in every contest. At the close of that season the writer, who had been in charge of lacrosse at New York A.C., was obliged, for business reasons, to give up further active connection with the game. The New York A.C. then withdrew from lacrosse, which was a serious blow to the game.

During the period covering the years 1883 to 1888 a good many of the principal teams in the United States disbanded, prominent among which were the Union A.C., Baltimore A.C., Louisville L.C., Columbia University A.A., Yale University A.A., Chicagos and Calumets of Chicago and St. Paul L.C. The latter three, however, resumed playing some three years ago.

Since my active participation in the game ceased I have not followed up the changes that have taken place as I used to do, and cannot therefore write authoritatively about them. Even as it is, I may be a little wrong in some of my dates, as my memory now is not as good about lacrosse matters as it was when I was a player.

In reading over this article I find that I have not referred in it to the Pennsylvania University team, organized in 1899, Johns Hopkins University in 1895 and Swarthmore in 1898. The first named only existed a few years, but the latter two are to-day and have been for years among the brightest stars in the inter-collegiate firmament. The Mount Washington team of Baltimore has also been playing very good lacrosse for several years past.

I cannot here omit a reference to the splendid work that has been done by the players of the Crescent A.C. of Brooklyn, who have for many years borne the burden of keeping lacrosse alive and making it known to lovers of athletic sports in the greater city. Their many games with Canadian teams every season has been of great benefit to lacrosse, and they have also extended great help to the college teams by playing matches with them every year before the regular intercollegiate games begin.

At the writer's suggestion a few years ago the Johns Hopkins and Mount Washington teams of Baltimore introduced lacrosse to the Cadets at Annapolis, where it has since been very successful. The writer also was partly instrumental in having the game taken up at West Point, but there it has not done so well on account of the restrictions at that institution.

At one time it looked as if the West Point team would be a strong rival of the Navy players, but eventually the players, after preparing a quite elaborate schedule of games, found themselves without time to practice and had to cancel all their dates. I am hopeful, however, that this state of affairs will before long be changed and the Army players have again an opportunity to put a team in the field. I have always believed that if lacrosse could be made a success at Annapolis and West Point and an annual contest be held between teams from both, same as in base ball and foot ball, it would have a decidedly beneficial result on the game.

Before closing I would like to say that it has always been a matter of deep regret to me that the colleges do not make greater efforts toward introducing the game at the preparatory schools. At these places the boys could begin while young to learn the game and when they went to college they would save the coaches a whole lot of time and labor, which is now spent in developing for their respective teams men who had no previous experience in the game.

RULE V.

FIELD CAPTAINS.

SECTION 1. Field Captains, to superintend the play, shall be appointed by each club previous to the commencement of a match. They shall be members of the club for whom they act and of no other. They may or may not be players in a match, but neither team shall have as Field Captain a non-player without consent of the other team.

SEC. 2. Field Captains who are non-players shall not carry a crosse, nor shall they be dressed in lacrosse uniform, nor shall they in any manner obstruct the play or interfere with an opponent during the match.

SEC. 3. They alone shall be the representatives of their respective teams in all disputes.

SEC. 4. They shall "toss" for choice of goals, and none other than either of the said Field Captains, or the Referee, shall be allowed to claim "foul" during a match. The Field Captain shall report infringements of the laws during a match to the Referee. They shall also define the bounds of the playing field, and report same to the Referee.

SEC. 5. If, after the commencement of a match, it becomes apparent that either Umpire is guilty of giving unjust decisions, the Field Captain of the side offended may enter a protest with the Referee against his conduct, and ask for his removal and the reversal of the Umpire's decision.

SEC. 6. The Field Captain, as well as the members of his team, shall be answerable to the authority of the Referee, and shall be liable to expulsion from the field by the Referee.

RULE VI

REFEREE.

SECTION 1. The Referee shall be a disinterested party, and shall not be a member of either of the contending clubs, unless agreed upon by both clubs. The authority of the Referee shall commence from the time of the appointment, and shall continue until the end of the match.

SEC. 2. The referees and umpires who are to act in the games on the official schedule shall be agreed upon at the annual convention. Alternates shall also be chosen, the expenses connected therewith to be shared equally by the two contesting teams.

SEC. 3. In case principals and alternates fail to appear, the captains of the two contesting teams shall settle upon the referee and umpires.

SEC. 4. Before the match the Referee shall see that properly qualified Umpires are selected, as provided for in Rule VII, and Time Keepers as provided for in Rule VIII.

SEC. 5. When "foul" has been called by either Captain, the Referee shall immediately call "time" or blow his whistle (except as provided in the following Section), after which the ball must not be touched by either party, nor shall the players move from the position in which they happen to be at the moment, until the Referee has again started the game.

SEC. 6. He shall not have the power to suspend play when the player who has been fouled is still in possession of the ball, or the ball remains in the possession of such player's side.

SEC. 7. The jurisdiction of the Referee shall not extend beyond the match for which he is appointed. At the commencement of each game, and after "fouls" and "ball out of bounds," he shall see that the ball is properly faced. He shall have the power to call a foul on any player or Field Captain of either side.

SEC. 8. Any side rejecting his decision, by refusing to continue the match, shall be declared losers. All disputed points, or matters of appeal, that may arise during his continuance in office shall be left to his decision, which shall be final, provided his decisions have been in accord with the Rules and Constitution.

SEC. 9. If "foul" has been claimed by either Field Captain and the game scored before the Referee has had an opportunity to call "time," the Referee shall decide whether or not a foul has been committed; and if he decides that a foul has been committed, he shall give a free throw, face the ball, or allow the goal if Section 6 is applicable.

SEC. 10. In the event of a complaint being made and proven against the decisions of either Umpire, the Referee shall dismiss the Umpire and appoint another, setting aside and reversing the decision objected to.

SEC. 11. The Referee shall, in addition to his control of the players, have control and jurisdiction over the two Field Captains, and in the event of either Field Captain interfering with the players in the opposing team, or being guilty of threatening, profane or obscene language, or in any way violating any rule that would bring a player under censure, the Referee shall be empowered to order the Field Captain to leave the field, and the refusal on the part of any Field Captain to obey such a ruling, shall forfeit the match to the opposing team.

SEC. 12. In the event of Umpires not being appointed by consent of the clubs, it shall be the duty of the Referee to appoint one or more Umpires as may be required, neither of whom shall be one of the parties objected to by either club.

SEC. 13. The home club in all matches shall be responsible for keeping the grounds clear of spectators, and in cases where the spectators persist in crowding on the grounds, or in any way interfering with the players or the officials so as to delay the progress of, or affect the result of, the match, the Referee shall declare the match off, and on his reporting the circumstances to the Advisory Committee, they shall order the match to be played over on neutral grounds on a date to be fixed by them, or the match awarded to the club not at fault.

SEC. 14. Any goal scored after the Referee has blown his whistle or called time, shall not count.

SEC. 15. The Referee shall strictly enforce the whole of Rule X.

RULE VII.

UMPIRES.

SECTION 1. There shall be two Umpires, one at each goal. They shall be disinterested parties, and shall not be removed during the progress of the match, except by order of the Referee.

SEC. 2. They shall not change goals during the match, and shall stand behind the goals. In the event of the game being claimed, the Umpire at the goal shall at once decide whether or not the ball has passed through the goal, his decision simply being "goal" or "no goal," without comment of any kind. His decision shall be final, except as provided in Rule VI, Section 10.

RULE VIII.

TIME KEEPERS.

SECTION 1. Two Time Keepers shall be appointed, one by each Field Captain, before the commencement of the match, whose duty it shall be to keep an accurate account of the time of each game, deducting time for stoppages in the actual play resulting from injuries to players, ball out of bounds, or disputes. They shall also keep a record of all time lost between games. They shall immediately report to the Referee any variance in their time, and the matter shall be at once decided by him. The Referee shall compare the record of both Time Keepers immediately after each game. He shall be guided by them as to the duration of the match.

RULE IX.

THE GAME.

SECTION 1. Before the match begins the Referee shall draw the players up in lines and see that the regulations respecting the ball, crosses and shoes are complied with. Disputed points, whereon the captains disagree, shall be left to his decision.

SEC. 2. The game shall be started in the center of the field by the Referee placing the ball between and touching the reverse surfaces of the crosses of the players facing, and when both sides are ready the Referee shall call "play." This is known as "facing." The players shall have their left side toward the goal they are attacking, and in every case the crosses must be drawn. The ball shall be faced in any part of the field in this manner whenever it is necessary. In all cases where the ball is faced no player shall be allowed within 10 feet of those facing the ball until it is in play.

SEC. 3. Games in all cases must be won by putting the ball through the goal from the front side.

SEC. 4. After the end of the first half the opposing teams shall change goals.

SEC. 5. Should the ball be accidentally put through a goal by one of the players defending it, it shall be a goal for the team attacking the goal. Should it be put through a goal by any one not actually playing it shall not count.

SEC. 6. In the event of the goal post being knocked down and the ball put through what would be the goal in the opinion of the Umpire at that end, if the goal posts were standing, it shall count a goal for the attacking side.

SEC. 7. In no case must the ball be faced closer to the goals than ten (10) yards in any direction.

SEC. 8. The goal keeper, while defending his goal within the goal crease, although not allowed to catch and throw with his hand, may bat away with his hand or block in any manner with his crosse or body.

SEC. 9. Should the ball lodge in any place inaccessible to the crosse, or become ensnared in the goal netting, it may be taken out with the hand, and the player picking it up must face for it ten feet within playing limits with his nearest opponent. In case either uses a left-handed crosse, the Referee shall call "play" when both are ready and toss the ball up between them.

SEC. 10. Should the ball catch in the crosse netting, the crosse shall be immediattly struck on the ground to dislodge it.

SEC. 11. Ball thrown out of bounds must be "faced" at the nearest spot where it left the bounds and all the players shall remain in their places until the ball is faced.

SEC. 12. Players may exchange their crosses during a match.

SEC. 13. If the player should be in possession of the ball when "time" is called he must drop it on the ground. If the ball enters the goal after "time" has been called it shall not count.

SEC. 14. Should a player lose his crosse during the game he shall consider himself "out of play," and shall not be allowed to kick the ball or touch it in any way until he recovers his crosse.

SEC. 15. Any player considering himself purposely injured during the play must report to the captain, who shall report to the Referee.

SEC. 16. Captains may change the players on their teams at any time during the game, but no new player may go on the field until the player whose place he is taking has left it and both have so notified the Referee. No player having once left the game may return to it.

There shall be no change of players for or in the extra periods of a tie game, except in case of injury to a player, when the captain whose player is not injured may choose to drop a man or allow a substitute for the injured player.

SEC. 17. Should one team be deficient in the number of players, at the time fixed for starting a match, their opponents may, if they see fit, limit their own number, to equalize the sides, but no game shall be played with less than ten players on a side.

SEC. 18. No change of players shall be made after the match has commenced, except as herein provided, or by the consent of both captains.

SEC. 19. Should a foul be claimed and disallowed, the side against whom the foul has been claimed shall be allowed a free throw or the ball shall be faced, at the option of the Referee; should the foul be allowed the player fouled shall have a free throw, but in no case shall it be made within ten (10) yards of the goal. By a free throw it is understood that the player fouling and the one fouled shall be placed in the same positions as they occupied immediately previous to the foul, the player fouled having the ball on his crosse. At the word "play" from the Referee, each shall be allowed to play in any manner allowed by the rules of the game.

SEC. 20. A match shall consist of two thirty-five minute halves, with an intermission of ten minutes between halves, and the side scoring the greater number of goals shall be declared the winner. Time is to be taken out whenever time is called. In the event of a tie, play shall be continued after an intermission of ten minutes, for one-quarter hour, and the side having scored the greater number of goals at the end of this time shall be declared the winner. In the event of a tie at the end of this time, the Captains shall decide whether the game be postponed or playing continued until a goal be scored, or that it remain a tie.

SEC. 21. On the day selected, if one club only, with at least ten of its regular players and substitutes, put in an appearance, it shall be entitled to claim a victory by default. If its opponents refuse to fulfill their engagement, or do not appear upon the ground at the specified time, the club complying with the terms agreed shall be declared the winner of the match, unless the defaulting club is delayed by circumstances beyond its control.

RULE X.

SETTLEMENT AND PENALTY FOR "FOULS."

For all fouls except Nos. 13 and 19, the Referee shall have power to suspend the offending player for the remainder of the game, or at his option to warn the offending player for the first offence and to suspend him for the remainder of the game for the second offence. If the player offends after being suspended once he shall be removed for the remainder of the match.

For violations of Nos. 13 and 19, the player shall at once be removed for the remainder of the match.

A player shall not:

1. Hold an opponent's crosse with his hands, arms or between his legs; nor hold, strike or trip him with his crosse; run in front of him or interfere in any way to keep him from the ball until another player reaches it.
2. Hold, strike or trip an opponent, or push him with the hand.
3. Wrestle with legs entwined, so as to throw an opponent.

5. Throw his crosse at a player or at the ball under any circumstances.
6. Move from his position when "time" is called until the ball is again faced.
7. No player except the goal-keeper shall stand within the goal crease, nor shall he check the goal-keeper while the latter is within the bounds of the goal crease. Any goal made while an attacking player is within the goal crease or interfering with the goal-keeper while the latter is within the crease, shall be deemed a foul, and shall not be counted. The offending player and side shall be subject to the usual penalty for fouls. The goal-keeper, while within the crease, may not hold the ball on his crosse longer than is necessary to step out of the crease.
8. Use the check commonly known as the "square" or "crosse" check, which consists of one player charging into another with both hands on the crosse so as to make the stick meet the body of his opponent.
9. Jump at, or shoulder an opponent from behind while running for or after reaching the ball.
10. Interfere in any way with another player who is in pursuit of an opponent.

11. Deliberately kneel, lie down, or drop in front of an opponent when both are in pursuit of the ball.
12. Attempt to influence the decision of the Umpire.
13. Use threatening, profane or obscene language to any player, or to the Referee, Umpires or Field Captains at any time during the match.
14. Forcibly body check an opponent into a fence.
15. Charge into an opponent after he (opponent) has thrown the ball.
16. Wear any shoes except canvas shoes with flexible rubber soles, with or without rubber or leather cleats.
17. Persistently throw the ball out of bounds, lie on same, or in any way try to prolong the time of a game.
18. Check an opponent's crosse, or attempt to knock the same out of his hands in any way, unless both players are contending for the ball.
19. Deliberately strike another with his crosse or otherwise.

Lacrosse as Played by the Indians

Contrary to popular belief, lacrosse has by no means been abandoned by its originators, the American Indians. It is still played with great vigor by the various tribes on their reservations. Among the more civilized tribes located in the East, the game differs but little from that played in the American colleges. The Seneca Indians of New York State, for example, are frequently seen in competition with the Crescent Athletic Club and other Metropolitan teams.

On the reservations of the Western States, however, the game has not been subject to the refinements which have taken place in the more effete East. Among the Menominee Indians of Wisconsin, for instance, the game played to-day is practically the same as the game played by the early aborigines. The Menominees use a field about 250 yards long and there are no boundaries. At each end of the field is a pole ten feet high set in the ground. This is the goal, and the object of the game is to hit this pole with the ball. Frequently the game lasts all day without a single goal being secured. Any number can play on a side, so long as the sides remain even, and it is not unusual to have one hundred men taking part in the game.

The ball is made of cord, wound round and round until it is about the size and weight of a base ball. To the one making a goal a colored sash or belt is given. This is much honored and kept in the family for a long time. These prizes are made of brilliantly colored muslin and are put on exhibition before the game.

The sticks are made of white oak about three or four feet in length, bent on the end in a circular shape, strung with thongs in the fashion of a small butterfly net. On account of the line-up continually changing, team play is not much in evidence, and a fast player will sometimes run a long distance and rush in and try to score all alone while his team mates interfered for him on all sides.

President New York Athletic Club,
Donor of Lacrosse Championship Trophy to Public Schools Athletic League,
New York.

Lacrosse for the School Boys

Through the generosity of Colonel Robert M. Thompson, beautiful prizes have been provided for competition among the scholars in the high schools of Greater New York. The championship prize was designed by Messrs. Dieges & Clust, 20 John Street, New York, and is thirty inches in height. It is a combination of silver and bronze, and represents an American Indian, seated on a rock, shielding his eyes with his left hand and holding a lacrosse stick across his lap. The same is supported by a silver base, entwined with laurel leaf border and Indian decorations in the form of raised bludgeons, scalp braids, binding, etc., artistically arranged. Between each of these bludgeons is a shield, set in the form of an arrow-head, upon which the winning school and team is inscribed each year. This, in turn, is supported by a graceful curved base with appropriate decorations, also of silver, with etching of figures, showing different playing positions of the game.

Raised on front of this is a carved shield with the following inscription:

LACROSSE CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY

PRESENTED BY

ROBERT M. THOMPSON

TO THE

PUBLIC SCHOOLS ATHLETIC LEAGUE

1910.

The entire trophy rests upon an ebony base. The design of this handsome prize is entirely new and unique, representing the idea of the Indian origin of the game.

COL. R. M. THOMPSON PUBLIC SCHOOLS ATHLETIC LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY.

The individual prizes for the members of the winning team are beautiful gold medals with figure of an Indian in relief, holding a lacrosse stick, the lacrosse ball being represented by a pearl.

The winning school received a handsome bronze plaque, suitably inscribed and mounted upon a solid piece of oak.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Such information should reach New York not later than November 1st of each year.

Durand-Steel Lockers

Wooden lockers are objectionable, because they attract vermin, absorb odors, can be easily broken into, and are dangerous on account of fire.

Lockers made from wire mesh or expanded metal afford little security, as they can be easily entered with wire cutters. Clothes placed in them become covered with dust, and the lockers themselves present a poor appearance, resembling animal cages.

Durand-Steel Lockers are made of finest grade furniture steel and are finished with gloss black, furnace-baked japan (400°), comparable to that used on hospital ware, which will never flake off nor require refinishing, as do paints and enamels.

Some of the 6,000 Durand-Steel Lockers installed in the Public Gymnasiums of Chicago. 12'x 15'x 42', Double Tier.

Durand-Steel Lockers are usually built with doors perforated full length in panel design with sides and backs solid. This prevents clothes in one locker from coming in contact with wet garments in adjoining lockers, while plenty of ventilation is secured by having the door perforated its entire length, but, if the purchaser prefers, we perforate the backs also.

The cost of Durand-Steel Lockers is no more than that of first-class wooden lockers, and they last as long as the building, are sanitary, secure, and, in addition, are fire-proof.

THE FOLLOWING STANDARD SIZES ARE THOSE MOST COMMONLY USED:

DOUBLE TIER	SINGLE TIER
12 x 12 x 36 inch	12 x 12 x 60 inch
15 x 15 x 36 inch	15 x 15 x 60 inch
12 x 12 x 42 inch	12 x 12 x 72 inch
15 x 15 x 42 inch	15 x 15 x 72 inch

SPECIAL SIZES MADE TO ORDER.

We are handling lockers as a special contract business, and shipment will in every case be made direct from the factory in Chicago. If you will let us know the number of lockers, size and arrangement, we shall be glad to take up, through correspondence, the matter of prices.

Standard Policy

A Standard Quality must be inseparably linked to a Standard Policy. Without a definite and Standard Mercantile Policy, it is impossible for a Manufacturer to long maintain a Standard Quality.

To market his goods through the jobber, a manufacturer must provide a profit for the jobber as well as for the retail dealer. To meet these conditions of Dual Profits, the manufacturer is obliged to set a proportionately high list price on his goods to the consumer.

To enable the glib salesman, when booking his orders, to figure out attractive profits to both the jobber and retailer, these high list prices are absolutely essential; but their real purpose will have been served when the manufacturer has secured his order from the jobber, and the jobber has secured his order from the retailer.

However, these deceptive high list prices are not fair to the consumer, who does not, and, in reality, is not ever expected to pay these fancy list prices.

When the season opens for the sale of such goods, with their misleading but alluring high list prices, the retailer begins to realize his responsibilities, and grapples with the situation as best he can, by offering "special discounts," which vary with local trade conditions.

Under this system of merchandising, the profits to both the manufacturer and the jobber are assured; but as there is no stability maintained in the prices to the consumer, the keen competition amongst the local dealers invariably leads to a demoralized cutting of prices by which the profits of the retailer are practically eliminated.

This demoralization always reacts on the manufacturer. The jobber insists on lower, and still lower, prices. The manufacturer, in his turn, meets this demand for the lowering of prices by the only way open to him, viz.: the cheapening and degrading of the quality of his product.

The foregoing conditions became so intolerable that 14 years ago, in 1899, A. G. Spalding & Bros. determined to rectify this demoralization in the Athletic Goods Trade, and inaugurated what has since become known as "The Spalding Policy."

The "Spalding Policy" eliminates the jobber entirely, so far as Spalding Goods are concerned, and the retail dealer secures the supply of Spalding Athletic Goods direct from the manufacturer by which the retail dealer is assured a fair, legitimate and certain profit on all Spalding Athletic Goods, and the consumer is assured a Standard Quality and is protected from imposition.

The "Spalding Policy" is decidedly for the interest and protection of the users of Athletic Goods, and acts in two ways:

First.—The user is assured of genuine Official Standard Athletic Goods and the same prices to everybody.

Second.—As manufacturers, we can proceed with confidence in purchasing at the proper time, the very best raw materials required in the manufacture of our various goods, well ahead of their respective seasons, and this enables us to provide the necessary quantity and absolutely maintain the Spalding Standard of Quality.

All retail dealers handling Spalding Athletic Goods are requested to supply consumers at our regular printed catalogue prices—neither more nor less—the same prices that similar goods are sold for in our New York, Chicago and other stores.

All Spalding dealers, as well as users of Spalding Athletic Goods, are treated exactly alike, and no special rebates or discriminations are allowed to anyone.

This briefly, is the "Spalding Policy," which has already been in successful operation for the past 14 years, and will be indefinitely continued.

In other words, "The Spalding Policy" is a "square deal" for everybody.
