 “We must not forget the services rendered to her country by Lady Charlotte Guest, whose Mabinogion is an inestimable treasure. There are the favourite topics of the most celebrated troubadours of mediæval Europe to be found in all their primitive beauty and simplicity; and without any disparagement to Sir Thomas Mallory or Mr. Tennyson, few can have any notion of the primitive beauty of these old tales till they read them in ‘The Mabinogion.’—Athenæum, No. 1814, Aug. 2, 1862.

 "Of all the labourers in the field of Celtic antiquities, none deserves more honourable remembrance than Owen Jones, the poor peasant of Myvyr, who, unassisted by patronage, devoted his life to the preservation of the literature of his country. He came up to London, a poor boy, engaged as a clerk in some city establishment, and after forty years of self-denial, with the accumulation of his scanty earnings, published the Myvyrrian Archaiology, at his own cost, in 1801 and 1807. It was a work which might have been done by a king, an institution, or a society of the noble and the learned; but it was accomplished, and scrupulously accomplished by a poor Welsh peasant."

“The Deutsche Grammatik of Grimm is the work not of an age, nor of a century, but like the great History of the Athenian, κρημα εις dei. It is the Magazine whence all draw their facts and illustrations ; a monument of learning, industry, comprehensiveness, and arrangement.”—Latham.
“In this astonishing work a whole family of languages has for the first time found an expositor, and as it were an historiographer, placed on the summit of the comparative linguistic analysis of our age. Grimm's Teutonic Grammar comprehends the Scandinavian as well as the German languages in all their ramifications, reduces each of them to its most ancient forms, and follows it down from that point through the whole course of its development : this colossal work forms an epoch in the history of ethnological history.”—The Chevalier Bunsen.

- "The interest of the poem of Beowulf is not confined to the Philologist: it also interests the antiquary and the historian in a very high degree. In it we have the most lively sketches of a state of society, which our imagination could never have pictured to us without it, and we have contemporary illustrations of manners and customs, which will solve a host of doubtful questions. We never in our life met with a poem so full of beautiful and striking passages as the Romance of Beowulf.

Hunter's Comparative Dictionary of the Languages of India and High Asia, with a Dissertation, sm. folio, pp. x and 224.
(pub. £2. 2s) cloth, new, 35s 1838

The importance of this work, the first of its kind may be estimated by the fact that there are 80,000,000 of non-Aryan people, in India or on its borders, and that England has to govern and to utilize not the Indo-Germanic race of Hindoos alone. The excellence with which Mr. Hunter has achieved his task is amply warranted by the names of the scholars who assisted him. The vocabulary consists of 186 words, given at the head of the pages in French, German, English, Russian, and Latin; to which interpretations are subjoined in the 120 languages alluded to on the title, as well as 13 others (Sanskrit, Arabic, Basque, Finnish, Magyar, Chinese, Japanese, etc.).

Japanese Dictionary: HEPBURN, Japanese and English Dictionary, with an English and Japanese Index, impl. 8vo. pp. xii, 558, and 132, double cols. cloth, new, £5.
(Shanghai,) 1857

An excellent Dictionary, and the first publication of the kind which can be useful to an Englishman.
The early Portuguese Dictionary of Rodriguez is no longer to be met with. Its recent French translation is still and likely to remain, fragmentary, the Russian one of Golovnin is practically useless, and the old Latin of Colladius has no value. This work was eruditely printed in China, or perhaps in Yeddo, although it bears the imprint of London.

Shahrastani (Abû 'l-Fath Muhammad) Kitâb-u 'l-Milâl wa 'l-Nihal, Book of Religious and Philosophical Sects, in Arabic, edited by Cureton, 2 vols. royal 8vo. sl. 25s
Or. Text Soc. 1842-6

This great work, an exposition of the doctrines of many creeds, was composed A. H. 521, and is one of the most valuable productions of Arabic literature.
Its high importance at the present time, when the study of old creeds and mythologies is so universal, may be estimated from an abridgment of the contents. It comprises an account of the Musulmans and all their numerous sects; the Jews: Christians and their sects; Magi, Zoroastrians, Manicheans, and other claimants of revealed religion; Sabæans; the Hermetic philosophy; the Greek Philosophers and their schools, from Thales to Porphyrius; the systems of Muhammadan doctors, especially Avicenna; the pre-Islamite religion of Arabia; Brahminism, Buddhism, and the other religions of India, concluding with an account of Hindu philosophers.

Shakespeare Folklore: Dr. W. BELL, Shakespeare's Puck, and his Folklore, Illustrated from the superstitions of all ages, with a final chapter of proofs of Shakespeare having lived in Germany, three vols. 12mo. illustrated with plates and woodcuts, (pub.
31s 6d) cloth, 12s 1852-67

"Royal Crescent, Cheltenham, Aug. 23, 1852.

"Accept my best thanks for the first volume of your 'Puck.' It is a most interesting work, and I am astonished at the vast quantity of matter you have brought together on the subject. I say this on just hastily running it over: I must read it carefully.
Heartily wishing you success in this volume, and the early appearance of the second,—I am, &c.,

"J. BOSWORTH, LL.D., F.S.A."

"That portion of this volume (Vol. 2) in which Dr. Bell seeks to prove that Shakespeare resided in Germany will be found of considerable interest." — Notes and Queries. Dec. 2. 1860.
