The Clark scholarship prize was awarded to Ellen Torrey.

Not absent during the year, Myron M. Clapp, Mabel L. Flint, Gilbert J. Flint, Dana E. Pelton.

Two of the pupils from this school, Lillian M. Parsons and Ida M. Pollard, entered the High School in Northampton at the commencement of the school year, and several other pupils are hoping to enter some High school at the fall term. Where there has been any failure to pass a satisfactory examination for the High school, the defect has been in spelling, language and arithmetic, and your committee would suggest that in these branches especial care should be taken not alone in this school, but in every school where there are pupils intending to take a High school course, in order that these branches may be thoroughly understood.

There is in this school house a necessity for new blackboards and your committee hope to be able to put in slate in the near future.

We have been fortunate in securing the services of Miss Leonard during the past year, and find that the pupils have a better opportunity of making progress where one teacher can teach them for several consecutive terms than where two or three teachers have them. Several of the pupils in this school are preparing for the High school and are expecting to enter at the commencement of the school year, and we hope that the preparation they make will be so thorough that their standing in these schools shall be fully up to those who have graduated and of whose standing we have as a rule reason to be proud.

There seems to be a desire to destroy or to injure the property of the town at this school house; last year the building was considerably damaged and a new flag rope was carried away. This year the rope has again been taken, causing considerable expense, not only for a rope but for taking down the pole to put in a new rope.

Let every tax payer feel that it is for his benefit to detect the thief and report him to the proper authorities.

NORTH-WEST SCHOOL.

We find by the register there were none in this school who were not absent or tardy. The average attendance was fairly good and we find very few tardy marks for the two terms.

New blackboards are needed in this school house, and we hope to put in some the coming year.

HILL SCHOOL.

Miss Harriet Judd, Miss Zelinda E. Hager.

No. of pupils enrolled	24

The difference between the enrollment in this school and the membership is accounted for in the removal of several pupils from town during the year. Several children of school age we find have not attended school as the law requires. This should be remedied another year.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

Miss Mary A. Lyman.

No. of pupils enrolled	25
Average membership	18.2
" attendance	17.5

For the first time in several years we find by the register there is no pupil we can call not absent nor tardy.

We find, however, with a record of twenty-five pupils enrolled, only eleven marks of tardiness for the whole year, and the record of attendance has been remarkably good, for which the parents as well as the teachers are to be commended.

Orders drawn for payment of the teachers' salaries for the last term will be paid from the balance remaining at settlement Feb. 1st.

The town has received from the state this year $800 43

The $256 received from the state to be applied for increase of teachers' wages will be given only on condition that the towns shall pay for wages an amount not less than the average wages for the three preceding years, and in order to do this we shall need an amount not less than the town has raised the past year.

REPORT of the School Superintendent.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

GENTLEMEN:—

I respectfully submit the regular annual report of the Superintendent of Schools for the school year 1898—'99.

MONTHLY OUTLINES.

It has seemed advisable to introduce a system of monthly outlines for the guidance of the teachers. Owing to the distance between the schools it is not practicable to hold monthly teachers' meetings, and these outlines are designed to take the place of such meetings. At the first of each month, an outline of the work to be done by the pupils for that month is sent to each teacher. These outlines are posted in the school rooms so that all the pupils can see exactly what they are to do. The plan has been thoroughly tested in another town in this district and has been found to work very satisfactorily.

The advantages are: that both teachers and pupils know exactly what they are to do, the work is laid out according to a definite plan, and the pupils feel, at the end of the year, that they have accomplished something definite. Also, if a teacher comes in at any time, she knows exactly what to do and there is no loss from a break in the work.

At the end of each month, I shall give written or oral tests on the work of the month. It is not our purpose to hurry, but to go so slowly and thoroughly that the pupils shall thoroughly understand and know the work that is gone over.

For my convenience the classes are called grades, but no attempt is made to grade the pupils strictly, and it is not necessary that a pupil shall be in the same grade in all his studies. He may be in any grade where he can work to the best advantage. For example: he may be in the fourth grade in geography, in the fifth grade in arithmetic, and in the sixth grade in reading. In this way a pupil can advance just as rapidly as he is able to do the work. It is really the ideal plan of promoting pupils and one that can not be carried out in larger towns where the pupils are strictly graded. For this year I am not able to assign definite work in all the studies, because the classes in the different schools are not together now and it would be a loss to some of the pupils if the classes were brought together at once. A sufficient number of these monthly outlines will be sent to each teacher so that, if the parents desire, each pupil can take one home.

COURSE OF STUDY.

As many of the pupils go to high schools in other towns to complete their studies, it is necessary that the work done here shall be nearly the same as that done in the larger towns.

It has seemed to me that a brief outline of the work that it is desirable to accomplish in the schools will be an advantage to all concerned.

FIRST YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Combinations of numbers to ten.

SECOND YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Write and read numbers to 100. Combinations, addition, subtraction and the even divisions to 20. Multiplication table, twos.

THIRD YEAR.

Arithmetic:—All the multiplication table. Addition and subtraction of numbers of three figures. Short division.

FOURTH YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Multiplication by two figures. Long division. Use of fractions having 2, 4, 8, 3 and 6 for denominators. Dry and liquid measures.

Geography:—Forms of land and water as given in the first twenty pages of Frye's small book.

Language:—Part First of Hyde's First Book.

FIFTH YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Fractions. All tables in denominate numbers. United States money.

Geography:—Frye's small book completed.

Language:—Part Second of Hyde's First Book.

SIXTH YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Decimals. Percentage. Measurements and surfaces.

Geography:—The Americas with special attention to the United States.

Language:—Review previous work, or with seventh year.

History:—Eggleston's First Book.

SEVENTH YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Percentage: profit and loss, commission, interest. Denominate numbers. Mensuration, solids, circles, cylinders, etc.

Geography:—Eurasia, Africa and Australia. Review continents.

Language:—Hyde's Second Book.

History:—American History through the Revolutionary War, in larger book.

EIGHTH YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Percentage: partial payments, etc. Proportion, Square root and applications. Mensuration.

Geography:—The American, English, German, French and Russian nations.

Language:—Hyde's Advanced or similar text book. Simple sentences, nouns, verbs, adjectives and other parts of speech, except pronouns in complex sentences.

History:—Finish American History.

NINTH YEAR.

Arithmetic:—Percentage: stocks, bonds, banking, etc. General review of all work. Algebra one term for those who intend to take a high school course.

Geography:—Review.

Language:—Pronouns. Compound and complex sentences. Thorough review.

History:—Rapid review of American history. English history for those who intend to take a high school course.

Civil Government:—For those who do not take algebra or English history.

Physiology:—Hutchinson's.

Reading and spelling every day. Below the ninth year, teachers give instruction in temperance physiology, using text books in the upper grades.

The above table indicates the general order in which the subjects are taken up. It is impossible for all pupils to follow it exactly in years because some pupils may be able to complete the course in less than the given time, while others, who are absent a good deal, will require more than the time assigned.

Very respectfully,

W. D. MILLER.
