ATTEMPT TO OVERTHROW MONARCHY

HAVE I EARNED A RENEWAL OF YOUR CONFIDENCE? TODAY IT RESTS WITH YOU TO DECIDE.

MY UNDERTAKING

- To build six hundred miles of railway in British Columbia as outlined in a preliminary contract with D. D. Mann of the Canadian Northern Railway Company. At least one hundred miles of such railway construction to be from Victoria to Barkley Sound.
- To secure a first class freight and passenger ferry service from a point on the Mainland, at or near English Bluff, to connect with the island of Vancouver, thence by rail to Victoria; to continue the same to Barkley Sound. Said ferry service to be equal to any on this continent.
- Construction of the Barkley Sound section to commence simultaneously with construction upon the mainland of the Canadian-Northern system in British Columbia.
- The whole work to be undertaken and completed within four years; to be begun three months after the ratification of the completed contract by the provincial legislature.
- To secure from the Canadian Northern Railway a deposit of $500,000 for the faithful performance of the contract, such sum to be forfeited to the province if they fail to carry out the terms of the agreement.
- To secure from the Canadian Northern Railway Company a first mortgage upon their system in British Columbia.
- To secure from the Canadian Northern Railway Company a covenant protecting the province from any loss whatever by virtue of its guarantee.
- The Province of British Columbia to control freight and passenger rates upon the same plan as adopted by Manitoba in its guarantee of Canadian Northern bonds.
- To secure from the Canadian Northern Railway Company an obligatory contract requiring them to maintain a regular continuous and daily first class passenger and freight schedule between Victoria and its continental system, so that upon completion of their lines in British Columbia, Victoria will be one of the termini of a transcontinental railway system.
- The money realized from the sale of Canadian Northern bonds is to be handed over to the Provincial Government, and will not be paid out until the work of construction has been completed satisfactorily to the Government engineer and his certificate is furnished to the contractor. This is to ensure the public against any possible chance of an expenditure of money for which they do not receive full value.
- Road to be constructed by the white workers of Canada. Asiatics absolutely excluded from all public works in British Columbia. The company must covenant to pay the standard scale of wages on all work.
- All material used in connection with the construction of the Canadian Northern to be purchased in British Columbia in every instance where it is possible to do so. Minimum mileage to be constructed each year, on island and mainland, will be specified in final agreement.
- Failing to carry out these promises, I shall offer my resignation to the Lieutenant-Governor.

RICHARD McBRIDE.

IMMIGRATION SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

During First Quarter of Fiscal Year 130,000 Immigrants Arrived in Canada

(Special to the Times.)
 Ottawa, Oct. 5.—For the first quarter of the fiscal year the total immigration to Canada was 130,331, an increase of 76 per cent. over the corresponding period last year.

Immigration from the United States was 43,500, an increase of 58 per cent.

AWARDED $12,000 DAMAGES.

(Special to the Times.)
 London, Ont., Oct. 5.—George Rogers, who had his back broken last October at Ayr by the falling of a standpipe, was awarded $12,000 damages from the Canadian Pacific Railway by a jury at the fall assizes before Mr. Justice Tetzlaff.

SEARCH FOR DYNAMITERS

RENEWED ACTIVITY ON PART OF POLICE

Gen. Otis, Owner of Los Angeles Times, is Accused of Libel

(Times Leased Wire.)
 Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—Following the findings in Alameda creek of a launch in which 500 pounds of giant gelatin was carried from the powder plant at Grant, on September 23, the search for the three men who manned the little craft was resumed here today with added energy.

The police believe they are closing in on the tracks of the men who may have been responsible for the explosion that wrecked the Times building. They are concentrating today upon clues furnished by Earl Rogers and Detective William J. Burns.

The police do not believe that the man who might have caused the explosion remained in Los Angeles after the charge was placed. They are of the opinion, however, that they were here for at least two days before the catastrophe.

Two men arrested as suspects are being detained.

Investigating Disaster.
 A committee of seven delegates to the convention of the California Federation of Labor, are going carefully over the ruins of the Times building today preparatory to filing a report of the disaster with the state board.

The committee was named yesterday and instructed to probe the affair thoroughly because of the charge made by the Times that unionism was responsible for the catastrophe. The committee is expected to report to the convention today.

G.N.R. ALLEN ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

CASE LIKELY TO BE CONCLUDED TO-DAY

Jury Panel Was Exhausted in the Empanelling of Necessary Twelve Men

With the courtroom crowded, the fall assizes opened promptly at 11 o'clock this forenoon, Chief Justice Hunter on the bench. An hour and a half later Gunter Thomas Allen, of No. 5 Company, Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery, was on trial for his life, charged with the murder of Captain Peter Elliston at Work Point Barracks on Aug. 1. It is expected that the case will be completed late this afternoon. There are but seven witnesses on each side, and the examination is not expected to be long.

His lordship, addressing the grand jurors, said their labors on the present occasion would be comparatively short. There were only two cases to go before them, but both of a serious character, one particularly so. Briefly, their duty was to see that no one was put on who should be placed on trial should escape arraignment. The case of Allen, a member of the artillery corps in the permanent force, was one of murder. It would appear from the depositions in the case that he murdered one of his officers, Captain Elliston, with deliberation and because he harbored a grudge against him. The other case was one of manslaughter, a young man named Wood being charged with careless handling of a rifle. The law required that persons using dangerous weapons should exercise due precaution. If the grand jury considered that

SEEKING SITUATIONS FOR UNEMPLOYED TEACHERS

Proposal to Raise Loan to Promote Emigration From the Old Country

(Special to the Times.)
 London, Oct. 5.—The League of Empire is endeavoring to find situations for London's unemployed teachers. Already many have gone to Canada and it is expected that more will go in the winter and spring. It was suggested that a loan should be raised to promote the emigration of teachers generally.

TO THE ELECTORS OF VICTORIA.

During the Campaign we have repeatedly told you that the construction of the Victoria & Barkley Sound Railway was part and parcel of the proposed contract between the Province of British Columbia and Messrs. MacEwen & Mann. We have also stated that the construction of this line is to commence simultaneously with the construction of the mainland section of the proposed railway. We have further pointed out that the Province will be secured by first mortgage upon all lines in British Columbia, and interest secured by the guarantee of the Canadian Northern Ry. Co. In order that the people of Victoria shall not be misled, we wish to state that if the above promises are not carried out, we will, if elected to represent you in the next parliament of British Columbia, resign our seats.

B. C. CASES BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT

Number of Important Questions Will Be Considered at Fall Sitting

(Special to the Times.)
 Ottawa, Oct. 5.—Eleven British Columbia cases are on the list at the fall sitting of the Supreme Court which opened yesterday. Three cases of federal importance are also on the list, namely, references by the Dominion to settle the question of conflicting provincial and federal jurisdictions respecting control of companies incorporated, jurisdiction over fisheries and the right of the Dominion to pass a general insurance law.

THIRTY-SIX PERSONS KILLED

THIRTY-ONE OTHERS SUSTAIN INJURIES

Electric Cars Wrecked in Collision Motorman Blamed for Accident in Illinois

(Times Leased Wire.)
 Staunton, Ill., Oct. 5.—That John Lierman, motorman of the northbound car No. 14, was responsible for the wreck yesterday which caused the death of 36 persons, and the injury of 31 others, is the statement today of Vice-President Chubbuck, of the Illinois Traction Company.

Lierman fled after the accident, lame to Staunton, drew his savings from the bank here and then disappeared.

The Illinois state railroad commission today began an investigation of the accident and the county authorities and railroad officials joined in the inquiry. The wreck is the worst that ever occurred on a traction line in Illinois.

Car number 37, southbound, running as a special bound for St. Louis, carried a crowd of people who wanted to join in the festivities in connection with the celebration of "The Veiled Prophet." Lierman's car was filled with visitors for the state fair at Springfield.

Lierman was ordered to wait at Staunton, it is said, by the traction officials for two sections of number 37. Number 37 is usually a single limited southbound car. Because of the large number of St. Louis passengers, a second car was added and run as a second section. The northbound car waited for the regular southbound car to pass and then hurried north. The southbound special, running as a second section of number 37, was met

HUNDREDS FALL IN FIGHTING IN PORTUGAL

King Manuel Reported to Have Taken Refuge on Brazilian Warship—British Cruisers Hurrying to Scene of Trouble

ABOARD BRAZILIAN WARSHIP

(Times Leased Wire.)
 Paris, Oct. 5.—That King Manuel of Portugal has fled for protection aboard a Brazilian warship is the news contained in a dispatch from Lisbon today by the central news agency, as follows: "Manuel has taken refuge aboard the Brazilian warship Sao Paulo. The Brazilian legation conveys the information."

Flight From City.

London, Oct. 5.—Civil war, accompanied by terror and anarchy, is sweeping Portugal today. Unchecked by armed forces, bands of rioters designated as revolutionary mobs, have loyalists sacked the homes of government officials and leading loyalists, slaughtering the inmates and firing dwellings, according to dispatches received here this afternoon. Clericals and loyalists are fleeing from the city and abandoning their property. The most severe fighting is reported around the government buildings. The majority of the revolutionists are armed with rifles, indicating that the uprising had long been planned.

Government stores have been raided and their ammunition and stands of arms seized.

Royalists are behind barricades in the principal streets of Lisbon and along the palace plazas. The revolutionists are guarding the waterfront to prevent the escape of King Manuel if he be found in the city.

The royal palace is partly wrecked. Trains are unable to reach nearer to Lisbon than Santarem, and the Portuguese warships have closed the harbor, preventing the entrance and exit of foreign vessels.

It is reported that King Manuel sought refuge at one of the foreign legations before boarding the Brazilian warship. The British cruiser Newcastle is reported to have arrived at Lisbon.

The belief that Great Britain will interfere in the affairs in Portugal is expressed here today. A report that Senhor Soveral, the Portuguese minister in London, has asked the British government to intervene, is generally credited.

It is asserted that there exists a secret compact between Portugal and Great Britain whereby the British government is given a free hand in Portugal for its support in just such a crisis as the present one.

King Manuel, if he has escaped, owes his safety to the valor and loyalty of his body guard, the refugees assert. The body guard barricaded the palace and prevented a peaceful capture. Manuel took refuge in an inner compartment, while his faithful followers withstood a besieging army of many times their number. When the warships in the bay began bombarding the town a part of the body guard, pressing closely around the king, led him out through a secret exit and effected his escape.

The remainder of the body guard remained until the king had a safe start and then fled.

The palace had not been actually captured when the refugees left, though it was evident it would soon fall, they said.

British Cruisers Sail.
 Gibraltar, Oct. 5.—The British cruiser Newcastle started for Lisbon under rush order received last night and the cruiser Minerva followed today. The Newcastle was lying with steam up prepared to start for China when the change of orders came and she was ordered to the Portuguese capital.

Provisional Government Formed.
 Badajoz, Spain, Oct. 5.—(Via Portuguese Frontier.)—A republican provisional government, patterned after the government of Brazil, is in control of Portugal today, according to refugees from Lisbon arriving here.

Everywhere the royal standards have been replaced by the red and blue flags of the new republic.

The fate of King Manuel and the royal family is not known in Eastern Portugal. Conflicting reports are current here that he was imprisoned after the bombardment of the palace by Portuguese warships in the hands of the rebels, and that he escaped his captors.

This report is discredited by many who declare that the King returned to Lisbon from the north of Portugal last week to entertain Dr. Marshall Da Fonseca, the president-elect of Brazil, who by coincidence is in Portugal at a time when a government similar to that of Brazil has been established.

The King is still at Lisbon, according to the latest reports here. Heavy firing preceded the taking of Lisbon, whose fall marks the passing of the Braganza dynasty. It is reported that the list of dead and wounded is long, but it is not known definitely here whether the army and navy joined in the revolt. Refugees assert that the rural districts are still loyal to the monarchy, and that the republicans must carry their flags over sanguinary fields before they can claim supremacy.

Reports here this afternoon indicated that at noon the royal palace still was resisting attack. Last night the Brazilian warship Sao Paulo, bearing President-elect Fonseca, arrived in the harbor at Lisbon, and it is thought possible that Manuel is with Dr. Da Fonseca aboard the Brazilian man-of-war.

The revolution in Portugal is being felt in the outlying Spanish provinces, and the inhabitants are showing great unrest. It is feared that the new revolutionary movement may spread throughout the whole Spanish peninsula.

Conflict Rages.
 London, Oct. 5.—Hundreds have fallen and the conflict is still raging at Lisbon, according to a dispatch to the Central News agency this afternoon.

This information is taken as indicating that a large part of the population of the capital and a considerable section of the army are still loyal to the King.

Three British warships are en route to Lisbon today to protect British interests in Portugal, according to the Exchange Telegraph. It is not known whether the commanders of the warships are ordered to protect the Portuguese family.

The foreign office received this information unofficially, and the admiralty is in receipt of a long wireless message from the man-of-war ordered to the scene.

Reuters agency today declares that Italy and the Vatican are alarmed at the situation in Portugal. The Pope fears that the Portuguese revolution will prevent a peaceful settlement of the Holy See's controversy in Spain. King Manuel's mother is an aunt of Queen Helena of Italy.

Bombarded by Warships.
 Santarém, Spain, Oct. 5.—The German steamship Capo Blanco, anchored off Lisbon, sent a wireless message that warships had bombarded the palace, forcing the royalists to lower their standards and capturing the palace last night.

The message did not refer to King Manuel nor the queen mother.

Fighting in Provinces.
 Berlin, Oct. 5.—A wireless message from Lisbon to the Berliner Zeitung today says that all the Lisbon forts and Portuguese warships in the harbor have been in the hands of the revolutionists since Tuesday afternoon, and that republican flags now are flying over fleet and fortifications.

The Lokal Anzeiger declares that the outcome is uncertain as the provinces probably will support the royalists.

Later dispatches indicate that the royalists are fighting desperately in the provinces.

Fears Monarchy is Doomed.
 Paris, Oct. 5.—The Portuguese minister here, Senor Sousa Rosa, holds out no hope for the survival of the monarchy, fearing the worst for his stricken country. No word has been received officially from Lisbon today, and this is regarded as confirming the minister's fears.

FLIGHT OF KING MANUEL

REPORTED TO BE ON WAY TO ENGLAND

Refugees Tell of His Majesty's Escape From Royal Palace at Lisbon

(Times Leased Wire.) London, Oct. 4.—A dispatch from Lisbon says that King Manuel was transferred to a British warship and he now en route to England. The same message says that "Queen Amelia is at Cintra."

Additional dispatches indicate that a regiment of artillery hastened to the palace at the first indication of trouble and aided the palace guards in defence of the castle.

The attacking force consisted of three regiments of soldiers who had joined the revolution and was augmented by 8,000 armed peasants. From the numbers engaged it is believed that the casualties will prove heavy.

Republic Proclaimed. Sir Francis Villiers, the British minister to Portugal, to-day cabled the foreign office that the revolutionists at Lisbon have issued a formal proclamation of a republic.

A portion of the dispatch made public says:

"Severe fighting was in progress last night and to-day troops stationed at the capital and surrounding garisons have gone over to the revolutionists. A republic has been proclaimed. The announcement was received enthusiastically by the populace. I believe a provisional government is in process of formation. King Manuel is reported at Meira. Queen Amelia and the Prince Royal have left the capital and yesterday took refuge at Cascaes."

Sir Francis's telegram is the first official communication received directly from Lisbon. Meira is eight miles north of Lisbon in the province of Estremadura.

Flight From Palace.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The Lokal Anzeiger to-day prints a thrilling story of the escape of King Manuel and Queen Amelia when the warships in the harbor began a bombardment of the royal palace. The revolutionists were trained on the Necessidades by several ships and a hot fire was poured upon the edifice.

The king and queen mother fled to the cellars of the palace and hid in the underground vaults while the shells exploded above them.

At nightfall the commander of the Sao Paulo, the Brazilian warship that has President-elect Da Fonseca at Lisbon, warned the king his life was in danger and offered him refuge. The republican commanders tacitly consented to this plan.

The Brazilian officers found King Manuel endeavoring to comfort his mother. At first the king refused to flee but his mother's tears finally prevailed. Fully uniformed and with head erect, the king proceeded to the quay, where he was taken to the Sao Paulo in a pinnace. As the small boat reached the warship and the king ascended to the deck, Brazilian marines manned the rails and saluted.

A dispatch from Lisbon says that the revolutionists control the palace, telegraph offices and the public buildings, but have no complete control of the situation. Fighting still continues in the streets of Lisbon.

Queen Accompanies King.

Madrid, Oct. 5.—La Correspondencia to-day declares that Queen Amelia accompanied King Manuel to England.

Bonds Drop.

London, Oct. 5.—Reports of the revolution in Portugal to-day caused a break in consols. Subsequently there was a weak recovery, but the market was firm at the close. Portuguese bonds declined 3 points and Spanish bonds a point and a half.

Protection of U. S. Interests.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—The United States cruiser Des Moines is at Gibraltar within easy reach of Lisbon. American interests at the Portuguese capital are not extensive, it is said, and it is likely that their care will be entrusted to the British officials.

Revolt of Troops.

Madrid, Oct. 5.—The minister of war to-day ordered the chiefs of the military divisions to hold the loyal troops in readiness to instantly suppress republican demonstrations, according to information obtained from the most authoritative source.

The Madrid republican clubs are publicly celebrating the fall of Lisbon and are decorating their buildings with Portuguese revolutionary emblems. Reports are current that the republican organizations in other Spanish cities are taking similar means to express their elation.

Premier Canalejas has been advised that King Manuel is en route to England. It is reported that unless Great Britain assures him support he will announce his abdication.

Latest reports here are that the Necessidades palace was being defended only to-day and had not surrendered.

Fighting is reported at Oporto, and the statement is made that practically the entire Portuguese army has revolted.

When told that the army had gone over to the republicans, King Manuel said: "All is over. Nothing can check the revolution."

A Central News agency dispatch says that two regiments of infantry started the revolt by overpowering their officers and declaring in favor of the republic. Other regiments joined in the mutiny.

A. J. BALFOUR ON COLONIAL PREFERENCE

Fear: Question Will Receive Scant Attention From Asquith Government

(Special to the Times.)

Edinburgh, Oct. 5.—Speaking before a great Unionist rally here to-day, Hon. A. J. Balfour, in concluding his speech referred to the subject of Colonial Preference. He looked forward with real misgivings to the meeting of another colonial conference with the present government in office, who would meet it with the same disregard and obstinacy as before. He looked forward, however, with increasing hope to the prospect of great reform in our fiscal system.

IMPRISONED BANKER.

Montreal, Oct. 5.—It is rumored here that Philippe Roy, ex-president of the Bank of St. John's and former speaker of the legislature, will shortly be released from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary on ticket-of-leave. He is serving five years for wrecking the bank.

INCREASED WAGES FOR G. T. TELEGRAPHERS

Montreal, Oct. 5.—The decision of the board of arbitration between the Grand Trunk system and its telegraphers was announced this afternoon. Under the tribunal which was selected by mutual arrangement and not under the Lemieux act, the operators are granted a slight increase and a number of improvements in working conditions. The board consisted of J. E. Duval, chairman; E. J. Reynolds, Regina, for telegraphers, and W. H. Ashley, Toledo, Ohio, for the company. It covers the system in Portland and Chicago.

ILLINOIS DISASTER

Stanton, Ill., Oct. 5.—Standing beside the bed on which lay his wife and new born child, Mortimer John Lierman is reported to have admitted that he alone was responsible for the Illinois interurban wreck that resulted in the death of 26 persons and the injury of 31 last night. Lierman's baby was born Monday night, hardly 20 hours before the fatal wreck. News of the disaster is being withheld from Mrs. Lierman. It is probable that in order to save the woman's life her husband will be permitted to remain at the bedside under surveillance.

ARRESTED AFTER YEAR

Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—Emil Larsen, wanted for over a year in connection with the hold-up on the Old Tait homestead near Deer Lodge, was arrested this morning as he was boarding a train for Canora, Sask. He framed the hold-up but Karl Miller, who is a prize-fighter, saved possible murder by wresting the gun from Tom Collins, who was caught and given five years. Larsen has been working in the city for a year and thinks it hard lines to be tried now by a jury.

OBITUARY RECORD

This afternoon the funeral of the late Edith White, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. White, Alder street, took place from the Victoria Undertaking Parlors, where Rev. A. Henderson conducted an appropriate child's service. There was a large attendance of friends and the little casket was laden with flowers. Interment was made in Ross Bay cemetery.

There passed away on Sunday evening at Nanaimo Bay, John Thompson, one of the old timers of that district. He was also well known in Nanaimo, where for many years he ran the Central hotel. For several years he resided in Wellington. He was 78 years of age and had lived on this island for upwards of 35 years. The funeral took place from the family residence to-day.

The remains of one of the oldest pioneers of this province, William Harry Williams, were interred yesterday afternoon in the Cedar Hill cemetery. The cortege left the family residence, Glenford avenue, Lake district, at 2 o'clock, and proceeded to St. Luke's church. Rev. H. A. Collinson conducted impressive services at the church, making touching reference to the loss which the district has suffered in the death of Mr. Williams. The hymn, "My God, My Father, While I Stray," was sung. The attendance of sympathizing friends was large, many of the remaining pioneers of that section of the island being present, as well as residents of both North and South Spanish. Many floral offerings covered the casket. The following acted as pallbearers: Jos. Nicholson, J. P. P. Welsh, Geo. Hicks, D. Pansel.

the bridge commission who will consider them on their merits. It will of course be a matter of some weeks before the contract can be let. Among the many differences between the alligator and crocodile, there is a striking one—the alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile often goes to sea, and in the West Indies has sometimes been found many miles from land, by heading directly for an island, probably to lay its eggs.

MORE BODIES ARE RECOVERED

FOUND IN RUINS AT LOS ANGELES

American Bankers' Association Adds $5,000 to Rewards Already Offered

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—Five more blackened bodies were removed yesterday afternoon from the ruins of the Times building, increasing the total number recovered, including that of Night Editor Churchill Harvey-Elder, to eleven. Two of the bodies found yesterday by the representatives of the police department were identified as those of John Howard, 45, printer, and Eugene Carress, 33, linotype operator.

The following is a revised list of the identified victims: Churchill Harvey-Elder, J. Wesley Reaves, Howard Conkaway, Elmer Frink, John Howard, Eugene Carress.

Howard's body was identified by his son, who has remained almost constantly on watch since the catastrophe. The American Bankers' Association appropriated $5,000 to be added to the rewards already offered for the apprehension of the persons responsible for the dynamiting of the Times building. The money will be paid from the general funds of the association. It will be available at once.

Will Aid in Inquiry. At yesterday's session of the California State Federation of Labor the following resolution, introduced by G. S. Bower of the Los Angeles Carpenters' union, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, by the California State Federation of Labor, that the president be and is hereby authorized to appoint a committee of seven for the purpose of thoroughly investigating the Times disaster; said committee being hereby authorized to co-operate with the committee already appointed by Mayor Alexander.

A demand by an afternoon paper that the present brewery workers and iron workers strike in Los Angeles be called off immediately in view of the Times disaster, resulted in much indignation being expressed. Andrew Gallagher, Walter Goff and several others commented freely on what they believed was an unfair attitude on the part of the Los Angeles press. Unanimous approval was given Gallagher's motion that the convention favor a continuation of the present strikes.

Oakland, Oct. 5.—That Oakland was the base of operations of the dynamiters who last Saturday blew up the Los Angeles Times building, has been established by information gleaned by Captain of Detectives W. J. Peterson and his staff, who have been scouring the city for proofs of their theory which was confirmed by discoveries made late yesterday.

That the launch Peerless, which was used to carry away the dynamite is at present at the foot of Webster street and that there can be no doubt of the fact that the Peerless was the Pastime, the officers assert.

After following every possible clue, the Pastime was located. It was learned that the launch which belongs to Douglas A. Burroughs of 1314 Linden street, Oakland, was hired by three men on the Friday preceding the dynamiting; that the craft was kept by the men, who answered in every detail the description of the trio who received the explosive from the Giant Powder Company and returned on Monday afternoon, September 25. The following statement was given to Captain Peterson by Burroughs:

"Three men came to me on Friday, 23rd, and wanted to hire my launch, the Pastime. They gave me a deposit of $500, but refused to say for what purpose they would use the launch, merely stating that they wanted to take a little trip and would be back in three or four days.

"The man with whom I dealt gave his name as J. B. Bryce. He was accompanied by another man of Spanish appearance, who called himself F. A. Perry. I do not remember the name of the third man.

"They left the foot of Webster street at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and returned about noon the following Monday. They did not say where they had been, but returned the boat in good condition.

"They were then given their deposit of $500 and paid me about $50 for the use of the craft and the gasoline used and to cover slight damage to the paint on the front of the launch. The three men went on their way and that is all I have heard of them. My suspicions were not aroused in any way by their actions.

The man giving the name of J. B. Bryce is thought to be the same who called at the office of the Giant Powder Company in San Francisco and ordered the dynamite and who later received the explosive from Shipping Clerk Phillips at the plant at Giant on September 23, when he gave the name of Leonard.

That the Pastime had been disguised for the trip was evident to the detectives after a close inspection of the launch. From the appearance of the bow of the boat it was plain that name Pastime, which was painted on the bow, had been covered over with a heavy piece of cardboard which was just a little longer than the space required for the painting of Pastime. The latter name had seven letters, while Peerless has eight and would take up a little more space on the bow of the boat.

Burrows stated to the detectives that whereas the bow of the boat had been in good condition before the launch was hired to Bryce, screw holes and scratches were found on both sides of the boat when the launch was returned to him, although it was apparent that every effort had been made to clear away all signs that the launch had been in any way disguised.

Attorney's Views. San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 5.—Attorney Earl Rogers, who is investigating clues which may lead to the arrest of persons responsible for the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times, declares that the offers of enormous rewards may increase the difficulties of catching the guilty persons.

"I regard it as exceedingly unfortunate that such huge rewards have been offered for the apprehension and conviction of the dynamiters," said Rogers. "While it is well enough that it be generally known that Los Angeles is prepared to spend any amount of money in good faith, I don't much care for this putting of prices on heads. Every county constable, every deputy sheriff, every private detective, so-called, in the United States, will be 'solving' this mystery. We will be chasing all over the country investigating these alleged discoveries.

It is all very well to offer rewards for the capture of known criminals. But I hope that this giving of rewards can be stopped. Suppose four men say to each other: 'Here is an immense sum which we can get—a fortune for each of us,' and for which they begin to frame up evidence against unfortunate but innocent men. This thing has been done often. Every man who deals with criminals knows that many innocent men have been convicted on perjured testimony bought by a great reward.

"For my part I want only the guilty men, whom we can not only arrest, but convict."

WOULD PLACE NATIONAL GUARDS ON SALARY LIST

United States War Department Will Support Bill in Congress

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—The plan to ask congress to place the national guards on the army salary list at rates of five to twenty-five per cent of the regular wages, was adopted at a conference of national guard officers here yesterday. General Leonard Wood, who attended the conference, said the war department would support the bill to appropriate $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 for pay of officers and enlisted men of the guards.

Every boy in the United States more than 13 years old should be trained as a soldier, according to General Wood. "I would out German the Germans," said the general, "by instituting compulsory military education in all the schools. Every boy 13 years old or more should be compelled to learn to use a rifle as part of his school course. Then we should have a generation of crack marksmen. I would have the boys instructed in the rudiments of military science. They should be taught to throw up earthworks and plan scientific lines of defence. These studies would teach them the initiative in combat, which modern warfare requires. Military drill would be part of the compulsory education. Uniformed companies in the public schools would be advisable, though not indispensable. Wars come without notice nowadays, so that we should be always prepared. Our standing army of 80,000 men is far too small, and congress should provide for its increase to at least 140,000 men. We have not only the Philippines and Alaska to guard, but the fortifications at the isthmus will soon have to be manned."

As a rule, a man's hair turns grey five years sooner than a woman's.

NEGRO BURNED TO DEATH AT STAKE

Jailers Surrender Their Prisoner When Mob Prepares to Storm Jail

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 5.—Rich Withers, a negro, was dragged from the jail at Andalusia, near here, yesterday by a mob of 400 persons and burned to death at the stake. The negro was suspected of having assaulted Mrs. Hiram Stucky, of Andalusia.

Withers pleaded with his captors when taken from jail, begging them to spare his life. The negro was kicked and beaten as he was being dragged to the public square, where he was chained to a post. Papers, excelsior, kindling and logs were then heaped around him and the pile lighted. While the negro writhed his last the crowd jeered, hooted and cheered.

The mob gathered when it learned that Mrs. Stucky had been seriously injured. They demanded the negro from his jailers, who refused to give up their prisoner. Later, however, the jailers surrendered the negro when they learned that relatives of the woman were preparing to head a mob and storm the jail.

PROPOSED COMPULSORY INSURANCE OF WORKERS

Australian Government Favors the Scheme Now in Operation in Germany

Melbourne, Oct. 5.—A far-reaching proposal for the insurance under-compulsion of workers of all classes is advocated by George Handley Knibbs, the commonwealth statistician. Mr. Knibbs, who is the first federal statistician and who is a great authority on all matters of insurance, suggests that his scheme should be first applied to government employes on the railways. Then gradually miners, artisans and generally workers of every kind should be compelled to subscribe. The commonwealth cabinet is favorable to the proposal, which is based on schemes already in operation in Germany. Whether any definite action will be taken is doubtful, however. The matter cannot be considered in any practical light this year, and as regards next year prophecy is useless.

Going to Capetown. The federal prime minister, Mr. Fisher, will leave for Capetown to-day to attend the celebration in South Africa connected with the opening of the first union parliament. The British admiralty has arranged to keep Mr. Fisher, by means of wireless telegraphy, in touch while at sea, with all that happens in Australia.

War on Bookmakers. The New Zealand cabinet is introducing a bill directed against bookmaking. Severe penalties are attached. The business of a bookmaker is declared unlawful and punishable by a fine of $500, or in default three months' imprisonment. Any person making a bet with a bookmaker leaves himself open to receive punishment in the shape of a fine of $500.

CHARGE AGAINST MEXICANS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—Declaring that Mexicans are mistreating Americans because of the laxity of American diplomats, Dr. J. Edward Buckley has asked the Supreme court of the district of Columbia for a writ of mandamus to compel Secretary of State Knox to produce Mexican records of the department. Dr. Buckley said that he intended using the documents as a basis for sending a complaint to the senate committee on foreign relations against "the cruel inhumanity accorded to Americans in Mexico."

UNREDEEMED PLEDGES.

If a person on the street were to call any of the city members of the local legislature the name which in vulgar parlance is applied to these people who do not tell the truth there is a possibility that a policeman might be necessary to aid in keeping the peace.

When Richard McBride (we find it impossible to write the prefix honorable at the present time) came forward with a railway scheme which was to develop Vancouver Island and be of great benefit to Victoria, a large majority of the people felt that, while they did not trust him personally, there were certain factors which would impel him to keep his word.

Before the election Mr. McBride promised over his own signature that work on the Vancouver Island section of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway would commence within three months of the time the contract was ratified by the legislature, and that work would commence on the Barkley Sound section simultaneously with that on the mainland.

The contract was ratified early in the spring, and active work was expected to commence early in July. People have waited and hoped that McBride would "make good."

The electorate are now coming to the conclusion that the four city representatives are dishonest. They gave their word, and they have failed to "make good." They were given a good many days' grace, but without any result. Now it is for them, if they value their reputations as public men and as citizens, to resign at once in conformity with their solemn and oft-expressed pledges.

WILL THEY RESIGN?

For the purpose of refreshing the memories of the four members for Victoria and their constituents the Times reproduces the pledges solemnly given by Premier McBride and Messrs. Thompson, Behnen and Davy on the eve of the last provincial general elections. The pledges have not been redeemed, nor is there any indication that they will be redeemed.

B. C. ELECTRIC RAILWAY CO. AND DEVELOPMENT.

The opening of the B. C. Electric Railway Company's suburban line between New Westminster and Chilliwack on Monday of this week marked a new forward movement on the part of the company, which is doing much for the development of the coast.

The time is at hand, however, when there must be a lightening of the burdens of taxation in certain lines—a readjustment which, on the whole, will be a lowering of duties and will redound to the consumer's benefit.

The B. C. Electric Company issued a souvenir illustrated book at the time of the visit of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to British Columbia which gives some idea of the immense business done in traction, lighting and the selling of power.

WELCOME, TACOMA MARU.

The visit of the steamer Tacoma Maru to this port is an event of great importance, in that it shows that the big shipping companies of the world are recognizing the strategic position and commercial advantages which this port possesses.

other Japanese line, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. This will give a regular weekly service with the Japanese liners.

The Japanese are shrewd business people. They recognize that while the business to this port on their vessels has not been very large, yet it is bound to increase. When the Osaka steamers commenced running they went direct to Puget Sound, but very soon the management of the line recognized that here was a point that could not be neglected.

We welcome the Tacoma Maru to our port, and wish the company every success. While we look with particular pride upon anything which is British, we recognize that there must be no insularity in business.

DEMAND FOR LOWER DUTIES GENERAL.

The Conservative newspapers have been trying to create an impression that the feeling in favor of reciprocity with the United States is simply local and has no widespread significance.

They would try to make their readers believe that there is no real demand for lower tariffs. This is wholly wrong. Wherever there is a farmer who uses machinery and implements, there is almost always a man who wants a lower tariff.

The time is at hand, however, when there must be a lightening of the burdens of taxation in certain lines—a readjustment which, on the whole, will be a lowering of duties and will redound to the consumer's benefit.

Emphatically the farmers of Ontario, and I believe of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, stand with the farmers of the west in their demand for real and substantial tariff reduction. That they have not voiced it so strongly has been due to the fact that they have not had the same opportunity.

SEARCH FOR DYNAMITERS

Chargé of Libel. General Harrison Gray Otis must appear in court to answer to complaints sworn to by J. Gallagher, a San Francisco labor leader, charging libel.

A New York paper announces that a British warship equipped with Curtis turbines has beaten all records for speed. The name of the vessel is the Bristol. This craft is not a Dreadnought. She is merely of 4,800 tons displacement, being of the improved class which is to constitute the model of the Canadian "tin-pot" navy.

of her new navy were to be reckoned among the fastest steamships afloat. And, with regard to the Curtis turbines, while they are of American design, it may be well to remember that they are an adaptation of the original Parsons engines and that those of the Bristol were built and installed by British engineers.

The monarchy in Portugal is evidently doomed. But its downfall will not be accomplished without a terrible sacrifice of human life. The uprising appears to be a popular one. On the other hand the monarchists will have the moral support of extraneous influences interested in the maintenance of the Imperial regime.

Hon. Dr. Young is reported to have returned from a shooting expedition on Salt Spring Island. The Minister's gun accounted for a bag of considerable dimensions, which has been marked for the convenience of his friends "Exhibit A." But, the question may be asked, is this merely an "interim" or is it a "final" report?

PRESS OPINIONS

National Independence. John E. Redmond told the United Irish League convention at Buffalo last evening that he asked for money not to assist him and his party to secure the concession for Ireland—that nothing would satisfy them short of national independence.

Editor Willison, of the Toronto News, who stands very close to Mr. E. L. Borden, has initiated a brilliantly strategic movement. The idea is that the Conservative party shall shed the name Conservative in the West, and dub itself the Progressive party.

The scaremongers are predicting a German invasion of Britain in 1915, the centenary of Waterloo. A short time ago the critical year was said to be 1912. The alarmists should have stuck to the original date. People are not impressed by a crisis that has to be postponed.—London Advertiser.

Corrupt Press. If the World is right in taking money from the beneficiaries of protection for trying to prevent the farmers of Canada from securing a market for their surplus products in the United States there is no reason why it should not take the money of any corporation or individual whose interests might be affected by the progress of invention or the improvement of business methods, and proceed to tear and rend the rivals of its patron.

The newspapers in the north with few exceptions have hampered our work," continued the detective. "They have told the public what the detectives have been doing, with the result that criminals have had ample opportunity to get away. In the future we shall give out news with more than usual discretion. I can only say that our work is proceeding satisfactorily and we hope to get quick results."

There was any element of negligence it would be their duty to return a true bill, leaving it to a petit jury to decide whether the facts amounted to manslaughter. After these matters were disposed of the jurors might, if they saw fit, visit the public institutions or consider any matters affecting the public peace. His lordship added: "I think it is an extremely useful thing that a body of prominent citizens should occasionally visit public institutions. It is an excellent thing, in the interests of the inmates and proper administration."

The jury were out an hour before they returned with a true bill against Allen. Before a petit jury had been obtained the whole panel had been called and twenty-one of those summoned were challenged. The following were sworn to try the prisoner: James Kennedy (foreman), Charles J. Deacon, Henry L. Dolg, Joseph B. Barker, Arthur B. King, Samuel Donahy, David Lewis,

There are evidences that the dynamiting of the Times building was a carefully planned outrage and that the criminals have left such wide and deep traces of their work that their capture is more than possible," declared Detective William J. Burns, who arrived to-day from San Francisco to continue his investigation of the explosion that destroyed the Times building and caused the death of a score of men.

Pooley, Senator W. J. Macdonald, Messrs. Edward Mahoun, J. Anderson, Joseph Boscowitz, R. B. McMicking, C. E. Redfern, L. Goodacre, J. Clapper-ton, J. B. Greaves, H. First Presbyterian church Sunday school is introducing a new departure which is sure to become popular, viz., the boys and the girls alternately being "at home" to the congregation once or twice a year in the lecture room. In the early summer the girls gave a very enjoyable evening's entertainment, and next Friday evening the boys will be "at home" to the congregation. They are determined to leave nothing undone to excel the entertainment given by the girls. They will after the general programme serve refreshments.

At the Ladies' Musical Society Concert on Thursday, October 6th, Institute Hall. You cannot afford to miss this opportunity of hearing this eminent pianist.

FLETCHER BROS.

1251 Government St. Phone 885 HEADQUARTERS FOR THE GERHARD HEINTZMAN

Sailing nights of Grand Trunk Pacific Steamships for Vancouver and North are now Sundays and Tuesdays at midnight.

J. D. A. Tripp, the piano virtuoso and teacher, has taken a studio at 1265 Fort street and may be found at that address on Wednesdays.

Final preparations have been completed for the James Bay Athletic Association's dance to be held in the A. O. U. W. hall to-morrow evening. The committee in charge has worked industriously to make their first dance a huge success, and have engaged the Rutley-Heater orchestra to furnish the music. A buffet supper will be served at midnight. Those receiving invitations should take advantage of the opportunity of spending an enjoyable evening with the members and friends of the club.

It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the meeting to be held next Saturday afternoon in the Metropolitan Methodist church, in the interest of moral and social reform. The meeting will take the form of a conference and will be addressed by members of the American Purify Federation who are paying a visit to this province in the course of their 7,000-mile tour. The only hour that could be arranged for the party to visit this city was between 2 and 5 p.m., and the meeting is called for 2:45 sharp, so that the party may be ready to catch the 5 o'clock boat to Seattle. The subject to be discussed will be "The White Slave Traffic" and matters of a kindred nature that call for needed reforms. The meeting will be open to the public, and the committee in charge are hopeful that the building will be filled.

The Friendly Help held their monthly meeting yesterday morning in their rooms, Market building. A good attendance of ladies were present. Miss McDowell was welcomed back after her trip to the Old Country, and Mrs. E. Fletcher was appointed as visitor for district 7. The usual number of needy cases were reported, and other routine business transacted. The following are the month's donations, which are gratefully acknowledged: Cash from the provincial government, the city, Mrs. Mackintosh, Miss Murray (Sook), Mrs. MacRae, R. F. Taylor, A. Friend, Mrs. Vincent, Anonymous, Edwin Johnson, Mrs. C. F. Todd, Christ Church poor fund, E. Crow Baker, Mrs. J. G. Brown and Mrs. H. G. Barnard. Mrs. Heaven collected (by card) $1 and Miss Lawson $1.25. Clothing was received at the rooms from Mrs. John Irving, Mrs. Gilbert Cook and Miss Spain. Mr. Camussa, Fisguard street, kindly sent pairs to several families.

George Bartlett, who yesterday was released on $20 cash bail, on the application of Mr. Brandon, failed to appear in the police court when his name was called to answer a charge of assaulting W. W. Nelson. The bail was estreated and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Bartlett, who is believed by the police to have left the city, rather than face the charge to which he had yesterday pleaded not guilty.

Dr. C. J. Fagan left for Ottawa today to attend a conference of provincial representatives called by Hon. Clifford Sifton. The purpose of the conference is to reach some conclusion as to the policy to offset the disposition of American manufacturers to make Canada a dumping ground for inferior food products at present denied sale in the United States through the operation of the Pure Foods law of the neighbor republic.

The first of a series of social evenings, which has been arranged by Court Victoria, A. O. F., for the winter season, will take place to-night at the conclusion of the regular business which will be accelerated in order to permit of an early start being made with the programme. A good concert programme has been arranged, and refreshments will be handed round during the evening. A short dance will be included in the entertainment. Jack Melville, the well known comedian, has returned to the city from Vancouver, and will contribute to the programme. Members of the other courts in the city and visiting Foresters are cordially invited to be present.

The directors of the B. C. Agricultural Association have sustained the decision handed down by the judges for the best display of commercial fruit. The prize was awarded to Errington & Cantwell, but a protest was made by Thos. Ryden. Two other judges were engaged to score the exhibit and they arrived at the same conclusion, stating that the prize had been properly awarded.

Through the courtesy of A. T. Goward, the local manager, the Times has received a copy of the souvenir pamphlet which the company has just issued, showing the extent of the plant and operations on the Island and Mainland. The pamphlet consists in the main of a series of well executed photographs which give a comprehensive idea of the magnitude of the B. C. Electric Company's enterprises in this province.

Police returns for September show that for the month a total of 230 cases were handled classified as follows: Assault 2, aggravated assault 1, infractions of the auto regulations 3, begging 2, breaking and entering 2, cruelty to animals 2, carrying concealed weapons 1, offences against city by-laws 8, drunks 99, fraud 1, inmate of disorderly house 5, insulting language 2, liquor license regulations 1, in possession of intoxicants 3, supplying intoxicants to Indians 4, stealing 8, safe keeping 72, threatening language 1, unsound mind 2.

E. Bullock-Webster, provincial exhibition commissioner, who has just returned from the eastern fairs, is preparing for the dispatch of British Columbia's exhibits to the Old Country shows. These will probably be from fifteen to twenty in number, and the representation of this province will, as last year, be restricted to winter apples of which one carload (or 500 boxes) will go forward from Sicomous on the 13th of the present month. The principal English exhibition will be that of the Royal Horticultural Society in mid-December, and for this an additional carload of apples will be forwarded in due season. The other British Columbia shipment will be made from Sicomous ten days hence.

READY TO START ON SEA WALL

PACIFIC COAST COMPANY HAS ITS PLANT READY

Likely Contract Will Be Formally Awarded Within the Next Few Days

The Pacific Coast Construction Company whose bid for the erection of the sea wall along the Dallas Road foreshore is lower by over four thousand dollars than the next lowest tender, is ready to commence work on the big undertaking just as soon as the contract shall have been signed, which will probably be in the course of the next few days.

The bid of the Pacific Coast Company was $74,389, and the next lowest tender was $78,777, the latter being put in by W. E. Wilson, so the awarding of the contract represents a saving to the ratepayers of over four thousand dollars. The manager of the Pacific Coast Company had gone into the matter of quantities and labor very carefully and was confident that the wall could be erected in accordance with the specifications for the amount stated in its tender. A cheque for $5,000 has been deposited with the city as a guarantee that the work shall be carried out to the satisfaction of the city engineer and the necessary bond for the proper execution of the work. The city engineer gave it as his opinion this morning that the Pacific Coast Company, its tender being the lowest by a considerable amount, would undoubtedly get the contract, the awarding of which was now purely a formal matter.

It is likely that the engineer, city solicitor and the purchasing agent, to whom the various tenders after being opened were referred, will so recommend to to-morrow evening's meeting of the streets committee of the city council.

The work of erecting a retaining wall at Dallas Road is not being undertaken a moment too soon. Owing to the wash of the waves, the banks in many places are being washed away in a very rapid fashion and in some sections the roadway itself is threatened. The provincial government is contributing the sum of $25,000 towards the cost of the work which is to be done in accordance with plans and specifications which have been approved by the engineer of the public works department.

The total bank clearings for the week ending October 4, as reported by the Victoria clearing house, were $1,756,298.

Kenneth Gillespie, a well known trapper of Cowichan lake, bagged a fair sized black bear last Sunday with a twenty-two rifle.

The ladies of Metchoshin will give their annual harvest concert and dance on Wednesday, October 19. Some of Victoria's most talented vocalists have promised their services.

FIFTEEN WONT TRAVEL SOUTH

TERMINAL RUGBY MEN ACT AS SPOIL SPORTS

Fail to Get Half a Dozen Men to Make Their End of B. C. Representative Team

Those Victoria Rugby players who were looking forward to joining in a British Columbia Rugby team to go south this month to play the California universities, need not arrange for their holidays on this account, nor need they put off other engagements, for they will not go south. The trip as far as it was controlled in Vancouver is off, because the Vancouver clubs, after getting the assistance of enough men from Victoria to make more than half the team, cannot get the balance from their own clubs.

The Victoria players have been informed that the trip is abandoned as far as the Vancouver initiative is concerned. The decision was arrived at in the Terminal City on Monday night, when at the call for men by the Vancouver Rugby union to go south this month the replies were few, and those who replied were so uninterested about leaving the money-making land boom, and so keen on Point Grey university, that they expressed a desire not to be pressed to form a team to visit the university of California and Stanford university.

As October is the only month in which the university players can arrange to have the British Columbians down there, the trip will be abandoned unless Victoria takes the initiative and sends down a team made up of Victoria players and with no assistance from Vancouver.

That the Argos players will be here to play J. B. A. A. on Thanksgiving Day, October 31, is certain, the club having obtained permission from the Vancouver Rugby union to play the match here that day, but the return date for the boys to go to the university town was left over. The J. B. A. A. team asked for November 5th. The failure of Vancouver with its four clubs to get eight men together to make a trip to California with the Victoria players is not showing enthusiasm on the part of the Terminal City Rugby people, and the Vancouver clubs have practically killed Victoria's chance of getting together a team to go south, and then abandoning it just at the last moment.

To Play Nationals and Vancouver Combined at the Fair

The following players have been selected to form the all-star team which Con Jones, the Vancouver lacrosse promoter, will play against the Minor League holders in the exhibition match at the Westminster fair grounds next Saturday. The team is composed of the best of the Vancouver and the National teams, neither of which could make an impression on the Westminster twelve this season. The names of the men are:

Goal—Clarke, Vancouver.

Point—Griffith, Vancouver.

Coverpoint—Howard, Vancouver.

First defence—Clement, National.

Second defence—Pickering, Vancouver.

Third defence—Godfrey, Vancouver.

Centre—West, Vancouver.

Third home—Hennessy, Vancouver.

Second home—Gauthier, National.

First home—Lalonde, National.

Outside home—Laviolette, National.

Inside home—Allen, Vancouver.

At Vancouver yesterday afternoon the Nationals of Montreal, who came west in an endeavor to lift the Minto cup from its pedestal, and found the pedestal too high, were treated to another western defeat, this time at the hands of Vancouver, the Con Jones tribe beating the visitors by 7 to 4. The game was played on a muddy field and the players were unable to get down to their best form.

WORLD SERIES DATES DECIDED

PENNSYLVANIA GETS FIRST GAME OCT. 17TH

Forty-Six Players Eligible to Take Part in Matches for Championship

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—Games between the Chicago National League team and the Philadelphia Athletics of the American league for the world's baseball championship will begin in the Pennsylvania city on Monday, October 17. This decision was reached by the national commission yesterday. The other games are scheduled as follows: Second game, Thursday, October 18, at Philadelphia; Wednesday, October 19, teams on railroad going to Chicago. Third game, Thursday, October 20, at Chicago. Fourth game, Friday, October 21, at Chicago. Fifth game, Saturday, October 22 (after fast run from Chicago to Philadelphia) at Philadelphia. Sixth game, Sunday, October 23 (after fast trip on train to Chicago) at Chicago. Place of seventh game, if necessary, to be decided by toss of coin.

The National league umpires will be O'Day and Rigler. The American league umpires will be Sheridan and Connelly.

The commission also announced that if any of the scheduled games were postponed by weather conditions the succeeding games should also be moved back, except that in any event the game scheduled for Sunday, October 23, should be played in Chicago.

The commission called attention to the rules which forbid the teams to give part of the world's series proceeds to former team-mates who have been released to clubs in the same league this season. Forty-six players, twenty-three on each club, were certified as eligible for the series. The following players were announced as eligible:

- Chicago—National League Club: Archer, Beaumont, Brown, Cole, Chance, Evers, Foxen, Hoffman, Kling, Kane, McIntyre, Nichie, Ruelbach, Steckard, Steinfeldt, Schulte, Tinker, Weaver, Zimmerman.
- Philadelphia—American League Club: Atkins, Bender, Barry, Coombs, Collins, Donohue, Dygert, Davis, Derrick, Houser, Hartzel, Krause, Lapp, Livingston, Lord, Morgan, Murphy, McInnis, Oldring, Plank, Thomas, Struck.

CHICAGO STUDENTS DEFEAT JAPANESE

Nine to Two Indicates Merits of Teams Representing Universities

(Times Leased Wire.)

Tokio, Oct. 4.—The University of Waseda went down before the University of Chicago in the first baseball game of the series played between the two university teams, here today. Although the Japanese students played a good game all the time, they were no match for the Americans, and the score, 9 to 2, is a fair indication of the teams' respective abilities.

The game was played on the varsity diamond at Waseda and people from all parts of Japan saw the contest.

Waseda suffered most from nervousness. The long sea voyage of the Chicago players apparently did not affect them.

Waseda fielded brilliantly, showing improvement over their form of last season, but fell below the form they displayed last season on their trip to Hawaii.

Waseda played its regular line-up, with Omura in the box. Matsuda, who pitched last year, was on the receiving end and caught a heady game. Fukahori, Waseda's heavy hitter, led in his team for batting. For Chicago Page and Joe Pegus shone brilliantly and the entire team played excellent ball.

AN INCREASED SURPLUS.

A surplus of $159,882.75 was shown in the report placed before the directors of the Prudential Investment Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C. at their meeting on August 25 last. This report, however, did not show the present value of the company's assets. The president, Mr. Thos. T. Langlois, on September 21, mailed to the directors as copy of the following report, showing the book value of the company's assets and also a conservative valuation of these assets at August 25, 1910.

Assets August 25, 1910.	Present Value.
Real Estate	$ 634,569.24
Stocks	260,901.28
Agreements of sale	76,893.94
Mortgage Loans	6,400.00
Bills Receivable	110,909.25
Syndicate Shares	35,925.99
Office Furniture and Fixtures	402.51
Deferred Premiums	5,825.00
	1,113,826.23
	1,113,826.23

It is thus seen that an additional surplus of $278,256.95 is held over and above the surplus of $159,882.75 shown by the statement of the assets presented at the directors' meeting on August 25, or a total surplus of $438,139.70.

SCIENTISTS tell us man originally lived in the water. Be that as it may, health still demands a plentiful supply of moisture in the air we breathe as well as in the food we eat. The commonest cause of colds, sore throats, pneumonia and similar troubles in winter is the over-dry, over-heated atmosphere of so many furnace-heated houses.

GOOD PROGRESS ON GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Steel Will Shortly Be Laid Within Two Miles of Kitselas Canyon

G. G. S. Lindsey, of Toronto, formerly president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, who was in the city yesterday, recently visited the Skeena river district. He predicts a great future for that section of the province.

Talking of the progress on the G. T. P., Mr. Lindsey says work is progressing fast. Steel will be laid to within two miles of Kitselas canyon before the end of the present month. The construction camps are well filled and the men are working on towards Hazelton and over towards Aldermere.

Speaking of the coal situation the visitor made an interesting prediction as follows: "The coal area on the eastern slope of the Rockies southward from the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway to the line of the Crow's Nest Pass railroad, is in years to come destined to be the coal feeder for a very considerable portion of North America. All down that area are great fields of bituminous coal. The geology of the district, as well as actual discoveries, indicate that the coal to be found there is equal in quality to the finest produced on this continent."

PASSING SHOW

New Grand Theatre.
The New Grand offers this week the Carl Pantzer contortionists, but these are not creepy, or at all unpleasant, for Pantzer has evolved something out of the beaten track and gives the most humorous side to them. The woman appearing with him is grace and beauty personified, doing her full share to make the act perfect.

Campbell and Yates put on a novelty in singing and patter better than the regular thing in this line, for they fill it out making it a complete little vaudeville sketch.

Bush and Pysyer, as athletic gents, are clever and funny.

John Gleason and his sister Bertha dress their dances superbly, and Harry Bloom sings several coon songs and a Jewish offering for which he gets plenty of applause.

Thomas J. Price sings with limelight shows, and new moving pictures are shown.

Majestic Theatre.
A very solid and entertaining bill is provided for to-day and Thursday. "The Prodigal Son" is a comedy application of the old story of the prodigal son, representing a young man of these times going to the city, there to fall a victim to its alluring snares. Escaping in prison garb he seeks his home, and like the prodigal of old, eats ravenously the husks which are thrown to the swine. He saves a young child from drowning, but the sheriff does his duty and arrests him. However, the sheriff's wife, yielding to her maternal instincts, allows him to escape and return to his own mother.

"The Valet's Indication," when his master leaves the valet, who has squandered all his money, conceives the idea of renting out the apartments of his master in order to raise some money. Introducing himself as the owner to three people, consisting of mother, father and young daughter. The master of the house returns unexpectedly; the valet is discharged; love between daughter and the young man culminating in their marriage, and forgiveness of the valet. Two other features and one of the latest songs by Miss McEwen completes a great programme.

Crystal.
The popularity of this well-equipped picture house is still increasing; the high standard maintained in the programmes here, giving lasting satisfaction to the large and increasing patronage. This mid-week presentation, Wednesday and Thursday, is thoroughly in keeping with the usual good quality programme seen here. "A Ghetto Seamstress" is a powerful story of romance in the midst of poverty and struggles to be met in many of the largest cities. "Grandpa's Will" is humorous and grotesque; "Linda of Chamorin," a most beautiful rustic subject, beautifully pictured. There are several other subjects equally as entertaining, comical and well worth attention. A beautifully illustrated song is also included in this splendid programme.

ADVANCE MAN

"The Battle," in which Wilton Backe will be seen at the Victoria theatre on Saturday next, is first of all a strong, virile drama of life and love under certain modern conditions. That the novel trend of its discussion of the problems of labor and capital invited the Socialists of New York to hold a mammoth mass meeting to consider and discuss the teachings of the play, and that John D. Rockefeller was so stirred by Mr. Lackaye's work in the role of John J. Hagleton that he suggested speeches to be used in presenting this character, were mere incidents showing the widespread influence of a serious dramatic effort. But first and foremost, "The Battle" is one of the most entertaining plays of recent production.

SHOWS HIMSELF TO PIECES

Casper, Wyo., Oct. 5.—Daniel McMillan, an expert in the use of powder and dynamite, employed at the North American asbestos mines, committed suicide by exploding 100 pounds of dynamite under his body. His body was blown to atoms, and the four hundred foot level of the mine, where he ended his life, was badly wrecked. The dynamite was taken from the blacksmith shop during the absence of the blacksmith yesterday, and McMillan also helped himself to caps and fuses. Several days ago McMillan told a friend that he was tired of life, that within a week something would be blown up.

ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN

Fernie, Oct. 5.—Chief Constable Samson left here yesterday on the west-bound flyer in company with United States Marshal Warran, of Seattle, and having in charge William Urquhart, alias Kenn Dyman, wanted by the American authorities on charges of highway robbery and other offences. It is stated that he was connected with a robbery in which a large sum of money was taken some time ago in Alaska. The United States officers located the man at Frank, Alberta, and wired Constable Samson to have him arrested. Samson went to Frank and thence to Macleod, where the man was apprehended by R. N. W. M. P. and turned over to the Fernie policeman, Marshal Warran came here and the officers left on the flyer with Urquhart in custody. Urquhart has been running a barber shop at Frank until a few days ago.

BRIBERY INVESTIGATION

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The senatorial investigating committee probing the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate, is undecided whether to order Senator Broderick to testify before them. Broderick is awaiting trial at Springfield, charged with having offered $1,900 to Senator Holtzlaw for his vote for Senator Lorimer. Broderick was instructed by his attorney not to go before the committee on the ground that it might jeopardize his chances in the criminal trial. The committee has also not decided to compel Browne and Wilson, members of the legislature, to testify for similar reasons.

State Representative Groves testified to-day that Henry Terrill told him "there was a thousand in it if he voted for Lorimer."

TAKING OVER HOTEL

Local Optimists to Take Charge of King's, at Regina.

Regina, Sask., Oct. 5.—Arrangements have practically been completed whereby the King's hotel, considered the largest and best hotel between Winnipeg and the coast, will be taken over and conducted by local option supporters. It is the intention of the local optionists to prove that a modern hotel can be conducted on an entirely non-alcoholic basis without a bar. The King's is owned by J. H. Haslam, formerly of Winnipeg. It was built a couple of years ago at an estimated cost of about half a million. The local option campaign is being quietly but keenly fought on both sides in Regina and throughout Saskatchewan.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY AND FRAUD

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 5.—It was announced by District Attorney Todd yesterday that the federal grand jury has returned six indictments against Clarence D. Hillman for conspiracy and fraud. Hillman is out on $20,000 bond. He is a millionaire real estate operator with headquarters in Seattle, and has made a specialty of selling house lots and acre tracts to working people on the installment plan of payment. The indictments cover land schemes extending over a period of several years. Four of Hillman's agents are enjoying their liberty on $4,000 bail each, the money being put up by Hillman.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5.—Clarence D. Hillman was arrested by federal agents yesterday following his indictment Monday for conspiracy and fraud. Hillman was released on $30,000 cash bail this afternoon.

LAWYERS MUST BE OBEYED

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 5.—Steps to make San Francisco a "spotless town" were taken yesterday with the succession of Capt. John F. Seymour to the office of chief of police. Seymour arrived at police headquarters early and at once set about his house cleaning. He issued orders that all violators of any law, no matter how obsolete, be brought in, and a sweeping order that all the laws must be obeyed. Seymour says the police department will be taken out of politics. It is expected that several changes in the detective and police forces will be made.

The Home Science

A SCIENTIFIC HOME LAUNDRY

The scientific methods used in the home laundry nowadays have simplified the work to a great extent. And to furnish the home laundry is a simple matter. One of the first things required is a small cupboard or even a shelf in a cupboard will answer the purpose. Some of the materials must have a "poison" label on them and it is wise to keep them under lock and key, especially if there are any children about the household. Many of the chemicals used for removing stains from fabrics are poisonous; therefore they should be marked as such and kept in a safe place.

The main thing to consider in the home laundry is soap, an indispensable article. This should be kept on a shelf in a warm, dry place. Be careful and purchase a good quality and as large quantities are sold at considerable reduction it is best to follow this plan. Cling to a good quality of plain laundry soap.

For bleaching purposes use pure borax. Dissolve in boiling water before adding to the steeping water for the bleaching clothes as it is only slightly soluble in cold water. Borax is very laudable to use for bleaching purposes as it contains no harmful properties. It is used to bleach collars, cuffs, ties, handkerchiefs, white colors, making them look almost as good as new. Gum water is finer in quality than starch, and does not produce a harsh appearance on the fibres of silk and fine lace. An average proportion to use is one tablespoonful of gum water to one cupful of water.

To prepare gum water for laundry purposes, put one ounce of the best gum arabic, broken very small, into a pitcher. Pour over one cupful of boiling water. Put in a warm place and stir frequently until a considerable time, and should be with a wooden spoon until the gum melts. When quite dissolved, strain through fine muslin and bottle for use. If gum water is made in large quantities, it should be made with cold water. The gum is an organic substance and does not keep so well when made with warm water.

Ammonia is another indispensable. It is one of the most useful of cleansing agents. Owing to its volatile nature it cannot remain in a fabric, as soap or soda would to the detriment of the material. Ammonia, if used judiciously, renders woollens soft and elastic. It should be used in the washing of all undyed woollens, especially if they are in the slightest degree greasy, such as woollens that are worn next to the skin. In the wash, if ammonia is used in the soaking water, there should be a tablespoonful to each pailful of water.

The Justweds Take a Morning Stroll

On Sunday morning, after a leisurely breakfast, the boarders at Mrs. Suburban's wandered, one by one, from the table to the broad veranda—as boarders will——at peace with themselves and the world. In comfortable armchairs they viewed the green lawn and the waving trees with serene, revelling in the delicious consciousness that it was to be a day of rest.

Then, of a sudden, someone broke in upon their reveries, and, of course, it had to be Mr. Homer Justwed.

"It strikes me this is a dandy morning for a long walk," he suggested, hopefully.

"Let's get up a party and take a tramp through the woods," he suggested, hopefully.

Old Cracked, the crabbed old bachelor, knickered over the top of his morning paper and sniffed contemptuously.

Pettie Mrs. Tompkins—she of the kitchen ways—gurgled approval and jumped up immediately to procure a sunbonnet.

"Whew!" sighed the Lay Man—there's always at least one Lay Man in every country boarding house, you know—looking up with no little apprehension. "It's a chance to rest a bit, you know!"

But the children screamed with delight and danced gaily about Mr. J.

"We're going for a walk! We're going for a walk!" they thrilled.

"Well!" exclaimed Mr. J., "You're the laziest lot of people I ever saw! What do you come out in the country for, anyway?"

Just then Mrs. J. emerged from the dining-room, and Homer-dear explained his proposed jaunt through the fields and woods.

Mrs. J. demurred, and Mr. J. lectured her, facetiously, but insistently, upon the evils of idling around and spending the "glorious morning" in a chair instead of "wandering 'abroad on the bosom of Mother Nature."

But Mrs. J. was still unconvinced and suggested that, perhaps, some of the people he was so persistently urging to go might consider him an out-and-out nuisance. Whereupon Homer-dear became wrathful—real wrathful.

In the end, of course, though it was nearly an hour after he had first proposed the jaunt, Mr. J. had assembled a tramping party of a half-dozen or so, including the reluctant Mrs. Justwed. And they started merrily out, with Homer-dear in the lead.

"Homer, you've just got to help me along a bit!" complained Mrs. J., emphatically, an hour or so later. "I'm just worn out!"

"Why, certainly, dearie, certainly," Mr. J. hastened to apologize. "Why didn't you tell me you were tired? It never occurred to me that—"

"Of course, it didn't!" snapped Mrs. J. "I dare say you weren't aware of the fact that anyone else was along—except that Mrs. Tompkins! You've been taking mighty good care of her, I venture—helping her over fallen logs and through briars while your wife had to struggle along as best she could!"

"Now, Blossom," began Mr. J., "Don't you 'Now Blossom,' me, Mr. Homer Justwed! I guess I've got eyes to see, haven't I? Indeed, I can't see why you wanted me along on this crazy walk, you just—"

"I did it just to please you—I seem to be, however, the proverbial fifth wheel-ouch!"

Mrs. J. had stumbled disastrously over a fallen branch. Mr. J. just saved her from falling. Which, of course, naturally increased Mrs. J.'s wrath, for she happened to be the sort of woman who becomes angry when she stumbles her toe. There are many of that sort in the world, you know, and it's a marked characteristic of them, too.

"Goodness!" exclaimed Mr. J. irritably. "I should say you did need someone to help you along! Why did you step on that log so awkwardly—you could help but slip!"

"Awkward!" interrupted Mrs. J., vehemently. "Awkward! I dare say if it had been that Tompkins woman you'd have been mighty solicitous as to whether or not she'd hurt herself!"

"Oh, now, see here, Blossom!" Mr. J. retorted. "We're not going to argue on such an absurd question."

"Hello, you two back there!" interrupted a musical feminine voice from ahead. "We're waiting for you!"

And the owner of the voice came suddenly into view, a dozen or so yards ahead on the path. It was Mrs. Tompkins, peering around the bushes in what was intended to be just the most coy manner imaginable.

Mrs. J. gave vent to an expression so vehement that it was almost inaudible, and then, as women can, smiled sweetly and replied:

"You'd better not wait for us, Mrs. Tompkins. I'm dreadfully tired and we're going to go along slowly. Besides, I've two blisters where my shoes have rubbed my heels and I can scarcely walk. You go right ahead, and maybe, we'll catch up with you later."

Mrs. Tompkins hesitated a moment and gazed. But she evidently considered discretion the better part of valor, for she turned and fled up the path, waving her hand gaily in farewell.

"The cat!" exclaimed Mrs. J. "Mr. J. made no reply. In silence he helped Mrs. J. over the next fallen tree in the path with elaborate and ostentatious concern.

They walked slowly along in silence until Mrs. J. stopped suddenly and declared that she simply had to rest.

"Alright!" agreed Mr. J., sharply in that peculiarly exasperating tone known to husbands and wives when one yields ungraciously to what he believes to be a mere whim of the other.

They sat down under a huge oak tree. "Oh, Homer," complained Mrs. J., "I believe my feet are going to drop off! These blisters are just killing me!"

Mr. J. picked up a stone, reflectively, and hurled it at the nearest tree.

"Blossom," he said, quite soberly, and in that tone peculiar to a man when he begins to lecture his wife, "If you are really tired and worn, you know there is nothing I can do for you. But I can't see how you can be so fatigued. It's a cool morning. You haven't walked far—and I can't imagine how you could get blisters on both heels in so short a—"

"Homer!" interrupted Mrs. J., with a pout. "Do you mean to say that you don't believe me?"

"Now, now, Blossom," pacified Mr. J., "You know I mean nothing of the sort. What I do mean is this: I don't understand how they could hurt you so much, and what is more, I can't help thinking that you are exaggerating their—well—er—their unpleasantness."

Whereupon Mrs. J. resorted to tears and insisted that Mr. J. come right out and say that he believed she was only shamming the blisters as a means of separating Mr. J. and—and—and that Tompkins woman on the walk! She didn't wish him any pain, but she certainly did wish he had those blisters for a while just to realize just how painful they were! It was just like applying red-hot irons to her heels every step she took, etc., etc.

The remainder of the walk was equally pleasant with Mrs. J. still dubious as to the power of blisters to produce pain.

That afternoon Mr. J. and the other men were playing tennis—a hard, hot, fast set. Mr. J. and his partner lost, and as they walked off the court to the little canvas-covered bench arranged for the spectators Mrs. Tompkins gurgled gaily.

"Oh, I did so hope you'd win, Mr. Justwed. Something must have been the matter with you."

"Um—m—," replied Mr. J., promptly. "I've a blister on my right heel and every step I take is just like walking on a hot iron."

And Mrs. J., who was seated at the other end of the bench, giggled right out loud—yes, sir, right out loud!

BUSINESS METHODS IN THE HOME

With the undoubted increase in the cost of living, there is no question more discussed in the average household than the expenses. Every housewife in almost every city in the entire country is seeking some way by which the household expenses may be lightened, and trying to devise schemes by which a dollar may be taken over a longer route in the purchase of necessities.

To a certain extent, housewives are a little to blame for the exorbitant prices that are now charged. Many mothers are wasteful. A French housewife can live for a week, and live well, too, on the food that an American cook will throw away in two days. This is not a theory, but an actual fact, and it has been proven. Furthermore, the housewives of this country do their buying absolutely by rote.

This can be dated back to several years ago when there was a high wave of prosperity in the country.

Even clerks and mechanics ate their meat three times each day, and only the most expensive cuts at that. From that time up to the present the extravagance has become a habit. The result has been inevitable, and it has been mathematically calculated that 80 per cent. of the demand in meat is for 20 per cent. of the animal being wasted—thrown away.

Now this would be all right if the parts of the meat thrown away carried less nourishment than the ones wanted. But such is not a fact. There is just as much of the head of the household many a deep-drawn sigh when the monthly account is rendered.

One of the most valuable adjuncts to the household is the soup stockpot, and many housewives have soup during the entire summer, as well as in the cooler months. Every bone and meat of fowl should be saved, excepting those on individual plates. To secure the marrow they will have to be cracked, which can easily be accomplished with a mallet or hammer. The juices from the carving platter and all the tough ends of meat and fowl may go into the soup pot to make a foundation, not only for vegetable, but for the delicious cream soups that most families like. In the best-regulated households the tips of wings from game and fowl, the legs and feet and necks are used for soups, the legs and feet containing so much gelatinous substance when cooked that much more nutriment is added to the soup foundation.

The above gives a line on the way business can be advanced in the household in cooking, as well as in other ways. Many women—watch the bargain sales, where they obtain real bargains, but at these bargain sales things are often purchased because they are really bargains, and not because they are needed. The bargains are all right, but nothing should be purchased that is not really needed.

A study of furniture will reveal to the housewife the best in that line at the low-shirt waists and all other white clothes.

Borax is also often used in a laundry for giving gloss to linen. The proportion employed is one tablespoonful to every eight tablespoonfuls of starch. It is also used for the removal of coffee and tea stains, but if the stain becomes dry before the borax is applied its action is seldom effective, and something stronger has to be used. Always keep it in a covered jar.

Clothes, from various causes, give a bad color. If they cannot be grass-bleached, the surest method of whitening and bleaching is by a use of chlorine substance. A strong bleaching line must be carefully prepared, and as carefully used, or it will harm the materials.

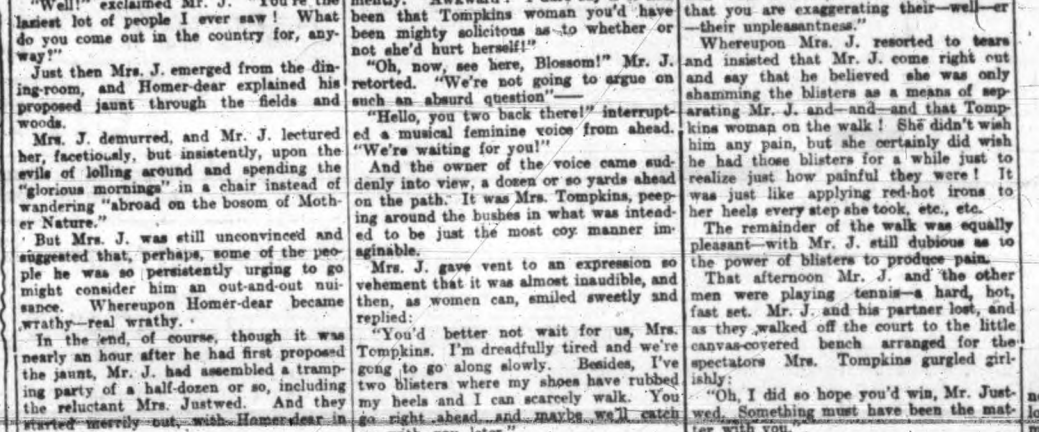

Put half a pound of chloride of lime in a basin and make it into a smooth paste, with a little cold water, rubbing down with a wooden spoon. Pour one quart of boiling water and put into a jar or pitcher with a cover. Stir well; then let it stand and settle for a day or two, giving it a stir occasionally. Filter thoroughly through muslin, leaving behind the insoluble lime. Add just enough of the solution to make the bleaching water smell slightly. It will take out almost any stain, used undiluted. Dip a rag in the solution and rub on the stain, but rinse thoroughly afterward. Keep it tightly corked and in a dark place. If it is exposed to the sunlight the dissolved powder decomposes. Many rinsings are necessary after using the bleaching fluid.

The housewife should not forget gum water for stiffening, silk laces, flannel waists, muslin or art work sewn in silk

Blues are used in the laundry to counteract the yellow tint given to clothes by wearing or by the action of soap during the washing process. Blues may be bought in either solid or liquid form, but the solid-blues are more generally used for ordinary household washing. The blue, reduced to fine particles by mixing in with water, enters the linen in the form of minute grains, and gives linen and calico a uniform tint, which intensifies the whiteness of the fabric. The blue water for white clothes should be of a very pale shade, the object being to make the clothes whiter; if the blue water is made too deep in color, they become, instead of a pale blue shade which entirely defeats the object of using blue.

Blue water may also successfully be used in black and dark shades of blue should be of a deep blue. This preserves color in both cases—the black from turning brown, and the blue from fading. Clothes must not be left in the blue water, as the blue would settle on them and make them appear streaky. The blue bag must be tightly squeezed before putting away. If left saturated it wastes the blue.

One of the queerest of all forms of gambling was adopted years ago by the Chinese. Beetles are placed in a porcelain bowl, where they fight for their lives, and money is wagered by the Chinese on the outcome of the contest. The owner of a Chinese laundry may seem the meekest person in the world, but on Sunday morning he is almost certain to be dressed in his best, and one of the interested spectators around the beetle bowl.

What Other People Think

ISOLATION FARMS.

To the Editor: Enclosed please find communication from a medical friend, Dr. Gosnell of Seattle, to the Post-Intelligencer. This article deals with a matter of the greatest importance to the community, and as completely sums up the conclusions of the highest scientific authorities upon the care and treatment of our degenerate classes, that I consider that you would confer a favor upon our people by publishing it. We require educating along the lines therein indicated.

ERNEST A. HALL.

To the Editor of the Post-Intelligencer: With your permission I should like to submit for the consideration of the public a few observations upon a subject concerning which I have for some time been very much interested.

As a professional man, and in common with my fellow practitioners, I am brought into contact with a large number of dipomanacs, "dope" fiends and others who have lost moral control of themselves. There is also a certain number of indigents, harmless in a moral sense, but who for one cause or another are without means of support—persons who have lost heart through reverses and disappointments in life, or who are apparently incapable of earning a living in competition with the world. In addition to these, we cannot but be alarmed at the increasing number of suicides, murders and other serious forms of crime and vicious forms of immorality, indicating a mournful tendency to depravity. All of these unfortunate classes—in time, and in one way or the other, become charges upon the state, and apart from the moral aspect of the case, is a serious financial question, at present involving over one-fourth of the entire revenue of the state.

In my humble opinion there is only one sane way of dealing with all these classes—irresponsible, hopeless, and dangerous elements of the community—and that is by establishing what might be, for lack of a better name, called refuge farms, and isolating them there. The first and last class, and to a certain degree the second, also, are made up of degenerates, either by heredity or by acquired depravity. They are not amenable to ordinary methods of moral reform and are a menace to society.

In regard to the first class—the dipomaniac (the confirmed drunkard), the drug fiend, the sexual pervert, the kleptomaniac, and the like—they are all to all intents and purposes lost to their friends and to the world, except as a burden and a cause of grief. I propose that when they have reached the irresponsible stage they should be legally declared to be irresponsible, and sent to an isolation farm, and their property, if any, placed under trusteeship. If incurable, isolation would be permanent. If not the conditions of farm life, open air, manual labor and freedom from narcotics—would be the most favorable to effect a cure. In many instances, under such conditions, complete recovery would be possible.

As to criminals, I believe with Lombroso, the great Criminologist, that crime is a disease, and should be treated as such. If we except the comparatively few instances in which murder is committed in self-defence, or in a fit of anger, it is always the result of a diseased brain. The criminal of whatever class is a degenerate, and the question of moral responsibility is at least doubtful. Punishment by imprisonment, not to speak of hanging, is inadequate and illogical, because it neither deters, reforms nor relieves the community. Incarceration in prison entails large expense on the public.

An isolation farm, where healthful out-of-door work is imposed (under surveillance, of course, but not under degrading prison discipline), would go a long way towards effecting reform, where reform was possible. The "decurables" I would place by themselves. The indigent class referred to would form another establishment, where they would find a home, employment and an opportunity of starting life again. If they so desired and were capable of doing, I may say that my scheme throughout is self-sustaining, and is based on the ability of every man and woman (capable of working) earning money, money so earned to be placed to his or her credit or to go for the benefit of dependent relatives. Place nervously-diseased persons among sanitary, wholesome surroundings, employ them at manual labor in the open air, feed them well, house them comfortably and give them an inducement to hope for the future by paying them in proportion to their capacity to earn, and you supply them with all the best ingredients of healing and reform.

My scheme involves three separate farms, for the three classes: With logged-off lands to clear and cultivate, houses and fences to build, and various other duties to perform, there would be labor for every unemployed degenerate and indigent in the state, and with the demand for farm produce and the high price of living, these farms should be self-sustaining as a business proposition, (including the salaries of expert instructors and the necessary machinery, etc.) not to speak of the enhanced value of lands so improved.

My scheme involves management by a commission independent of political party control, the members of which, except for expenses, would serve in an honorary capacity. Although I have thought out pretty carefully the numerous details I cannot very well discuss them here, but I intend to have a bill prepared to submit to the legislature at its next meeting, which will embody them in full, and which I trust will find favor in the eyes of our lawmakers.

The proposed measure is based on several important principles: 1. Degenerates and criminals should be isolated and prevented from perpetuating a species tainted by depravity through heredity.

2. Crime should be punished, but punishment would consist in isolation, with conditions, however, favorable to physical, intellectual and moral reform (ascent in our present system of penology).

3. Refuge, or isolation homes, with pure air, muscular activity, wholesome food and lodging, and a system of compensation for work honestly performed will furnish these conditions.

4. These farms, with proper management, may be made self-sustaining, and thus relieve the state of a great burden of expense.

5. They will eliminate from the community the most undesirable elements and purify society to that extent.

"BRITISH" AND "ENGLISH."

To the Editor:—One of the strangest experiences to be taken back by me to the place of the antagonistic English-Scottish national feeling, not influencing common life, but active and conspicuous on any occasion, is the "British" and "English" terms, every one, including the correctest, historically, being defaced by ill-temper and abuse, not without hostility, but the survival of the sad effect of unhappy relations in time past. The discussion concerns the general use of the word "English" when, in the opinion of some, the word "British" would be more applicable. The question has two aspects, namely, the "official" and the "popular." The former is correctible, but there is no human power to regulate, effectively, popular usage in language. As to the former, it is a fact that the legislative union of England and Scotland in 1707 ended, appellatively and actually, the two ancient, independent kingdoms—the names thereof meaning respectively sections of a new dominion styled "Great Britain," with one and the same sovereign government and parliament. The supreme authority, in general, and in every function, political, naval, military and diplomatic, then became unquestionably "British," an exclusive statutory designation which no contrary usage could affect. So far as I know there has not been any disregard of this official nomenclature on the part of government, consequently the gray-haired publicists who use freely an old name which the great majority of their readers approve, or indeed, love? The word "British" moreover is an ugly word, not easily pronounced by all—particularly after a social function or on returning from market. The term, perhaps, is not more popular in Scotland than in England. The people there do not seal achievement by substituting "British" for "Scottish," from market. The term, perhaps, is not more popular in Scotland than in England. The people there do not seal achievement by substituting "British" for "Scottish," from market. The term, perhaps, is not more popular in Scotland than in England. The people there do not seal achievement by substituting "British" for "Scottish," from market.

GILBERT MALCOLM SPROAT.

A DEGRADING SPECTACLE.

To the Editor:—With respect to the degrading spectacle of the four city members still shamelessly holding on to the seats forfeit under their pledges—the British parliament has 60 to 70 members, and it is many centuries old, but I think you will search the whole of its annals in vain for a single parallel instance, of which the city has furnished us with, four cases nourishment in the basket as in the dinner, and just as palatable dishes can be made from it by the woman who will take business into the household and make a study of cooking. It stands to reason that butchers will have to raise the prices of certain parts of the animal when only these parts are desired and the remainder is a total loss.

This is the first thing that the housewife must do in order to make her stationary allowance meet the increased cost of living. She must arrange to feed her family on the cheaper cuts of meat.

The second thing she must do is to study food values and inquire into the mode of living in other countries. Meat once a day will furnish ample nourishment, no matter how hard a man has to work. The housewife should eliminate at least one meat meal a day. It does not require an elaborate course in chemistry to study food values.

The third thing for a woman of a small income to do is to take a leaf out of the book of the packers themselves. The housewife's by-products are the things she throws away. Most of these can be converted into palatable dishes. It is true that many housewives will not go to the trouble of converting "left-overs" into other dishes, and the size of the grocery bills attests to this fact.

If the cook is of an economical turn of mind the scraps can be worked into such repented dishes that they cannot be recognized as "left-overs." In spite of the purchasing of the most thrifty housewife, there are many times when "left-overs" are inevitable, and then her ingenuity comes into play. It is a splendid thing to be thrifty at all times, and thriftiness does not mean miserliness, but during these days of soaring prices in everything edible it is doubly wise and will save est price. Often the cheapest kind of furniture will last the longest time when a receiver good care: just the same way with the carpets and other household furnishings. Care has a great deal to do with the lifetime of household articles. In fact, anything can be given a longer lease of life when pains are taken toward keeping it in a good condition.

Children can be taught early to respect the household and to care for the things they come in contact with, and this is a great aid to the thrifty housewife who must count every penny. A business method should be selected by the way the marking is done, and this should be adhered to regardless of the fluctuating prices. In many cases it is the little things that count in the expense total.

CURIOUS SPOONS

At the present time we are familiar with all manner and shapes of spoons intended for divers purposes, but some of the old-fashioned ones are certainly curious. For instance, there is a long, marrow spoon, used a couple decades ago for the extraction of marrow from bones. This spoon was made double, one end being employed for large bone and the other for those of smaller bore.

Another odd spoon was used for mulberries. This had a perforated bowl, and with this little sugar was sprinkled on the berry, which was then conveyed to the mouth on the spiked end of the handle.

Very few caddy spoons are seen these days. Teaspoons of the old type have long since gone their way, and with them disappeared the caddy spoon. The snuff, candle and pop-spoons have long since gone out of use.

NEW CONTINENT IN THE MAKING

Thus Science Explains the Pacific Earthquakes—Recent Seismic Activity

Among the most interesting features of the annual meeting of the British Association at Sheffield was the report of the committee on earthquake investigations. The committee has compiled down to 1900 a catalogue of all the destructive earthquakes recorded in history. They date from A. D. 1 and they number more than 4,000. The record refers only to earthquakes which have been accompanied by destruction or by changes of the earth's surface or which have extended over large areas. In many instances these disturbances have resulted in adjustments in the earth's crust of geological importance. The sources from which materials have been drawn include Japanese and Chinese catalogues.

The report says that although the periods of seismic activity in Italy and Japan were separated by irregular intervals of time, the years in which there had been marked activity in one of these countries closely corresponded with the years when there had been marked activity in the other. Should further analysis confirm this conclusion, the suggestion is that the relief of seismic strain in one part of the world brings about relief in some other part, or that relief is governed by some general internal or external agency.

The most startling feature of the report is the suggestion that at the present time, it is pointed out that the most pronounced seat of earthquake activity to-day is along a band running from the southern extremity of the Philippine islands and Java in an east-southeast direction toward the middle of the Pacific. In the islands which stud this area with their intervening troughs are seen the outlines of mountain ranges of Himalayan proportions. A further upheaval of no great relative importance would mark the birth of a continent.

One of the accomplishments of the committee on behalf of the association during the last year has been the installation of improved instruments for earthquake recording upon islands and in other widely distributed locations in all parts of the world. Complete world records of the earth's spasms and tremors will be available to science henceforth.

A Spaniard and two of his countrywomen were caught in the act of pocket-picking at the Villa des Fleurs at Aix-les-Bains. When arrested one of the women boasted that she had made an income of $10,000 a year for the last five years at her trade.

Among the best needle-workers in the world are the men of Japan. Their chief rivals being the women of Persia.

How Can a Cloth Be Rain-Proof, Yet Porous?

If you examine a single fibre of wool through a microscope, you will find a small passage or canal through the interior. When the cloth is rained upon this canal, in its normal state, immediately fills with water, and the woollen material is said to be in a soaked condition. Now, by the secret English process by which our cloths are made rain-proof, each canal in each fibre of wool is filled up with an insoluble substance, thus destroying the hygroscopic quality, or, in other words, the power of the fibre to absorb water.

Add to this the apparent opacity of the material obtained by the texture being tightly woven, and you have the perfection of a rainproof yet porous cloth, which will resist hours of continuous rain.

YOU ARE INVITED TO CALL AND EXAMINE OUR RAINCOATS.

a composition by a noted German master of music, was carried out excellently with the aid of the guests who all took part. This was very competently directed by Herr Peters, who did a great deal as chairman of the committee to make the first ladies' night the success it was. Herr Kostebader presided.
The marriage of Miss Ripah Annie Hine, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hine, Warwick, England, to Mr. Thomas Simmonds, formerly of Buckinghamshire, England, and now of Victoria, took place at St. Barnabas church on Monday evening, Rev. G. E. Miller officiating. The bride, who was given away by Mr. A. E. Simmonds, was charmingly gowned in pale pink liberty silk, trimmed with net and old lace, over which she wore a beautiful embroidered veil surmounted by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses and lilies of the valley, and wore a handsome gold watch the gift of the groom. Miss Dorothy Simmonds, who attended the bride, wore a dainty dress of white embroidered mull and a becoming hat of shirred silk with a geranium of flowers and carried a basket of pink roses. Mr. E. Jack Osborn supported the groom. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Cafe Mona, Broad street, at which the wedding quadrille was danced by those present. The happy couple were the recipients of many handsome presents. They left on the midnight boat for Vancouver and will spend their honeymoon on the Sound, taking up their residence on Broughton street upon their return.
A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at 10 a. m. yesterday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Green, Gordon Head, when their only daughter, Miss Eleanor Florence, was united in marriage with Mr. James Haynes, Rev. W. Collins officiating.
The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely lace robe over white tulle, with handsomely embroidered veil held in place with brides' roses. She carried a bouquet of brides' roses, and was attended by Miss Isabel McRae in a pretty bridesmaid's dress of pale blue silk, carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Sidney Wilson, Tacoma, supported the groom.
Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at which a large number of friends were present. The house had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by the bride's girl friends with quantities of evergreens and red carnations, and the effect was most novel and artistic.
The bride's mother was handsomely and her aunt, Mrs. Bachelor, of Los Angeles, who had come up for the wedding, wore a lovely gown in iridescent shades of blue and grey.
The happy couple left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver and the Sound cities, the bride travelling in a smartly tailored black and grey costume with black picture hat. On their return they will take up their residence on Fernwood road. Many very beautiful and costly presents were received. The groom's gift to his bride was a lovely pearl pendant. To the bridesmaid he gave an Egyptian bar brooch, and to the best man a pearl stick-pin.

There were upwards of 150 guests present at a reception last night by the Deutscher Verein, of Victoria. The musical programme was excellent. Herr Lowenberg, German consul, gave a humorous reading in English and German, which was much enjoyed. Miss Palmer sang "Queen of the Earth" and "Dear Heart" in excellent style.

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

"I am over thirty. All my girl chums are married. I do not think that I shall ever marry. I might as well make up my mind to that. But even if I am not going to marry, I am not going to be an 'old maid,' not the kind, I have decided that, and I have also decided that the way to do it is to keep in touch with young life. Since I am to have no children of my own, I am going to try to be as interested in and as much with my girl friends' children as is possible."
That is the decision that a young woman whom I know made a year ago. And in that year it has actually so changed and sweetened and self-sufficient young person which she was then, that her acquaintances are continually saying to each other:
"What has come over Louise? She has improved so."
And that decision is the secret. Isn't it a splendid one?
Think of the people that have been affected by it.
There are Louise's friends who to-day enjoy her bright, jolly presence. Whereas a year ago they almost avoided her rather caustic, self-sufficient ways.
There are Louise's father and mother, who are delighted beyond words at having their daughter so much happier and more contented.
There are the half dozen of her friends who have learned to call her "Aunt Louise," and to rush to the door to greet her whenever she comes to see them.
And best of all, there is Louise herself, who is replacing discontent and dreariness and unrest and contentment and peace and serenity.
I remember years ago hearing a very fine unmarried woman of forty-five or fifty say, as she looked at another woman's baby:
"That is the hardest thing in my life to me. I don't mind so much being called an old maid. I don't mind so much not being a wife, but the terrible thing is to think that I shall never be a mother—that no little boy or girl will ever say that dear word 'mother' to me."
It seems to me as if deep down in her heart every unmarried woman must have the same feeling, and I cannot think of anything finer than my

ROYAL COMMISSION ON TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Officials of Macdonald College Lay Express Views—More Technical Work Suggested

The royal commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education recently appointed by the Dominion Government, is busy at work. A few days ago they visited Macdonald College, Montreal, where acting Principal Harrison outlined the work done by them.

A comparison was made of the English and German methods of technical education. The English method is to reach the rank and file, the German to educate a few leaders. In agriculture we want a continuation of both—expert leaders who in turn will reach the rank and file.

Dean Sinclair declared that he was in favor of the introduction of a larger amount of technical education than is at present found in Canadian schools. In his opinion a safe general working hypothesis for any child would be one-third of the school-time to be devoted to the so-called humanities, one-third to the sciences including mathematics and the natural sciences, and one-third to what may be called sensori-motor activities, e. g., writing, drawing, wood work, cooking and sewing. This work in the early stages should be almost entirely non-conventional, informal, non-technical. Manual training will find its best expression in work which naturally grows out of the child's own experience and study, e. g., the school garden, nature study, and spontaneous play. Cooking is a form of manual training which adapts itself to the needs of this period. The important thing is that the child shall see some purpose in the work and really take an interest in it and be guided to more skillful manipulation. The work which a boy does on a farm, especially in the pioneer stage of civilization, is of great assistance in sensori-motor development. From the very beginning the technical side should not be entirely omitted, and greater attention should be paid to it each succeeding year. During the high school course it should become thoroughly scientific. If the simpler work of the elementary school is properly done the effect upon the subsequent technical courses will be very beneficial.

The chief difficulties are properly trained elementary teachers, and lack of apparatus in the rural schools. This can be overcome by the inauguration of the consolidated school. The consolidated school would be still more efficient if the teachers lived in the more remote sections and drove with the scholars in the van to school. This would take little more time and would have the students under the teacher's supervision from the time they left home till they returned.

Miss Fisher, dean of the School of Household Science, also spoke. She favored a course in household science in the public schools. Such things as sewing and cooking could be easily taught, but would require well trained teachers.

POLYBOT POLICE OF PARIS.

Paris was proud of her polybot policemen, who, with a special band on their sleeves to indicate what language they spoke, patrolled the boulevards and the central streets of Paris, and helped the stranger on his way. But good though the idea was in theory, it has now outlasted its novelty, says a Paris correspondent.

There are only two polybot policemen left in Paris. Both are English-speaking men, and are on duty in the Palais Royal neighborhood and in the Rue du Rivoli. But both are tired of their work and, like their comrades, will before long return to their ordinary duties. I had a chat with one of them the other day. He began in English but I found that when I got beyond the ordinary questions as to the way and the other little troubles of the foreigner in Paris, French was a far more comfortable conversational medium.

So it was in French that I was told why the polybot policemen were to disappear. "You have no idea how tiresome giving information is," the man told me. "I do not mind the English so much as the Americans, for they ask terrible questions, and they never stop asking them. Besides, our work is much harder than that of our comrades who only do patrol duty, have very few questions to answer, and draw the same pay we do."

"It is really a question of pay. If we were allowed anything extra for the trouble we give ourselves in looking after foreign visitors we should all be ready and willing to learn foreign

HOME BUILDERS—TAKE NOTICE!

The most of us are content to get a home together a little at a time, and it's well it should be so, for half the pleasure is in anticipation, hence the necessity of spending carefully the carefully-saved dollars for the new home. What a pity if one single dollar should be lost!

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL is within the reach of almost all, the inventions of these latter days making it possible to get a most artistic effect for a very small expenditure. The new machinery for weaving and printing produce very cheaply goods equal and better to those made in time past by more laborious and expensive methods. This fact applies with equal force to the manufacture of furniture, and never in history of House Furnishings has it been possible to obtain such a variety of every kind of article for the comfort of the individual and the making more beautiful his home and surroundings.
