JOHN CARLETON JONES
President of the University

John Carleton Jones

THE appointment of Dr. Jones to the Presidency of Missouri University on January third, 1922, brought welcome approval from students, alumni, and the people of the state. Not only was it a popular choice, but it comes as a fitting reward—an honor rightly conferred—to a man who has for thirty-eight years worked for the best interests of the University.

John Carleton Jones was born on a farm near Sharpsburg, Kentucky, on July thirtieth, 1856. His parents were of Dutch and Welch stock. In 1868 they moved to Franklin county, Kentucky, and he received his high school training in the Frankfort schools. In the fall of 1874 he entered Westminster College at Fulton, Missouri, graduating five years later. During his Junior and Senior years he was assistant in Greek and Latin, and upon graduation he was made Professor of Latin. In 1882 he resigned the chair of Latin at Westminster to accept the position of Assistant Professor of Latin in the University of Missouri. Some few years later he was made Head Professor of Latin, and in 1895-6 spent the year in study and investigation in the University of Leipsic and at Rome. Upon his return he was appointed Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. In 1903 he was again granted a year's leave of absence, and this time he studied at the University of Munich. Two years later, during the absence of Doctor Richard Henry Jesse from the University, he acted as President from 1905 until 1906. In 1918 he was appointed Vice-President, and upon the resignation of Dr. A. Ross Hill three years later he was named acting President.

He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is an elder in the Columbia Church. He also belongs to the Masonic Fraternity, the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, the Phi Beta Kappa Honorary Scholastic Fraternity, the American Philological Association, and the American Archeological Institute.

Few men have come to the Presidency better qualified than Doctor Jones. His ability as an executive, his high standards of scholarship, and his fine personality give assurance of a bigger and better University and the accomplishment of his aims: to bring the University into closer touch with its alumni and former students, and to make the University of greater service to the state.

Advisor of Women

To better the living conditions in the University, and thru the girls who go out of the University who have had the advantage of these better living conditions to better the homes in the State, is Miss Eva Johnson's ambition as advisor of Women at the University of Missouri. To that end she is an ardent advocate of the building of new and adequate dormitories for freshman girls in order that they may be surrounded by the very best of home and living conditions. She also played an important part in the establishing of Welch Hall—a new dormitory home for women.

Miss Johnson was born in Boone county at Ashland, Mo., and received her education in the University of Missouri from which she was granted the degree of Master of Arts in 1895. The years from 1899 until 1901 were spent in study and travel in Berlin and Heidelberg. Upon her return she was made assistant professor of Latin, a position which she held until 1904 when she received a year's leave of absence. This time she again spent in Germany receiving her Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Koenigsberg. She resumed her position as assistant professor of Latin and taught in the University until 1911 when she was granted a second leave of absence. The years 1911 and 1912, she spent in Paris and Goettingen, and in the spring of 1912 she was made Advisor of Women, a position which corresponds to Dean of Women in other Universities. During the ten years which she has held that position she has made numberless friends among the faculty and students by her high standards and aims, her fine and pleasing personality and her sympathy in student affairs and problems.

Women's Student Government

THE Women's Self-Government Association includes in its membership all University women. The chief aim of the organization is to bind the women into closer unity and sympathy of purpose and to encourage higher standards of scholarship and service.

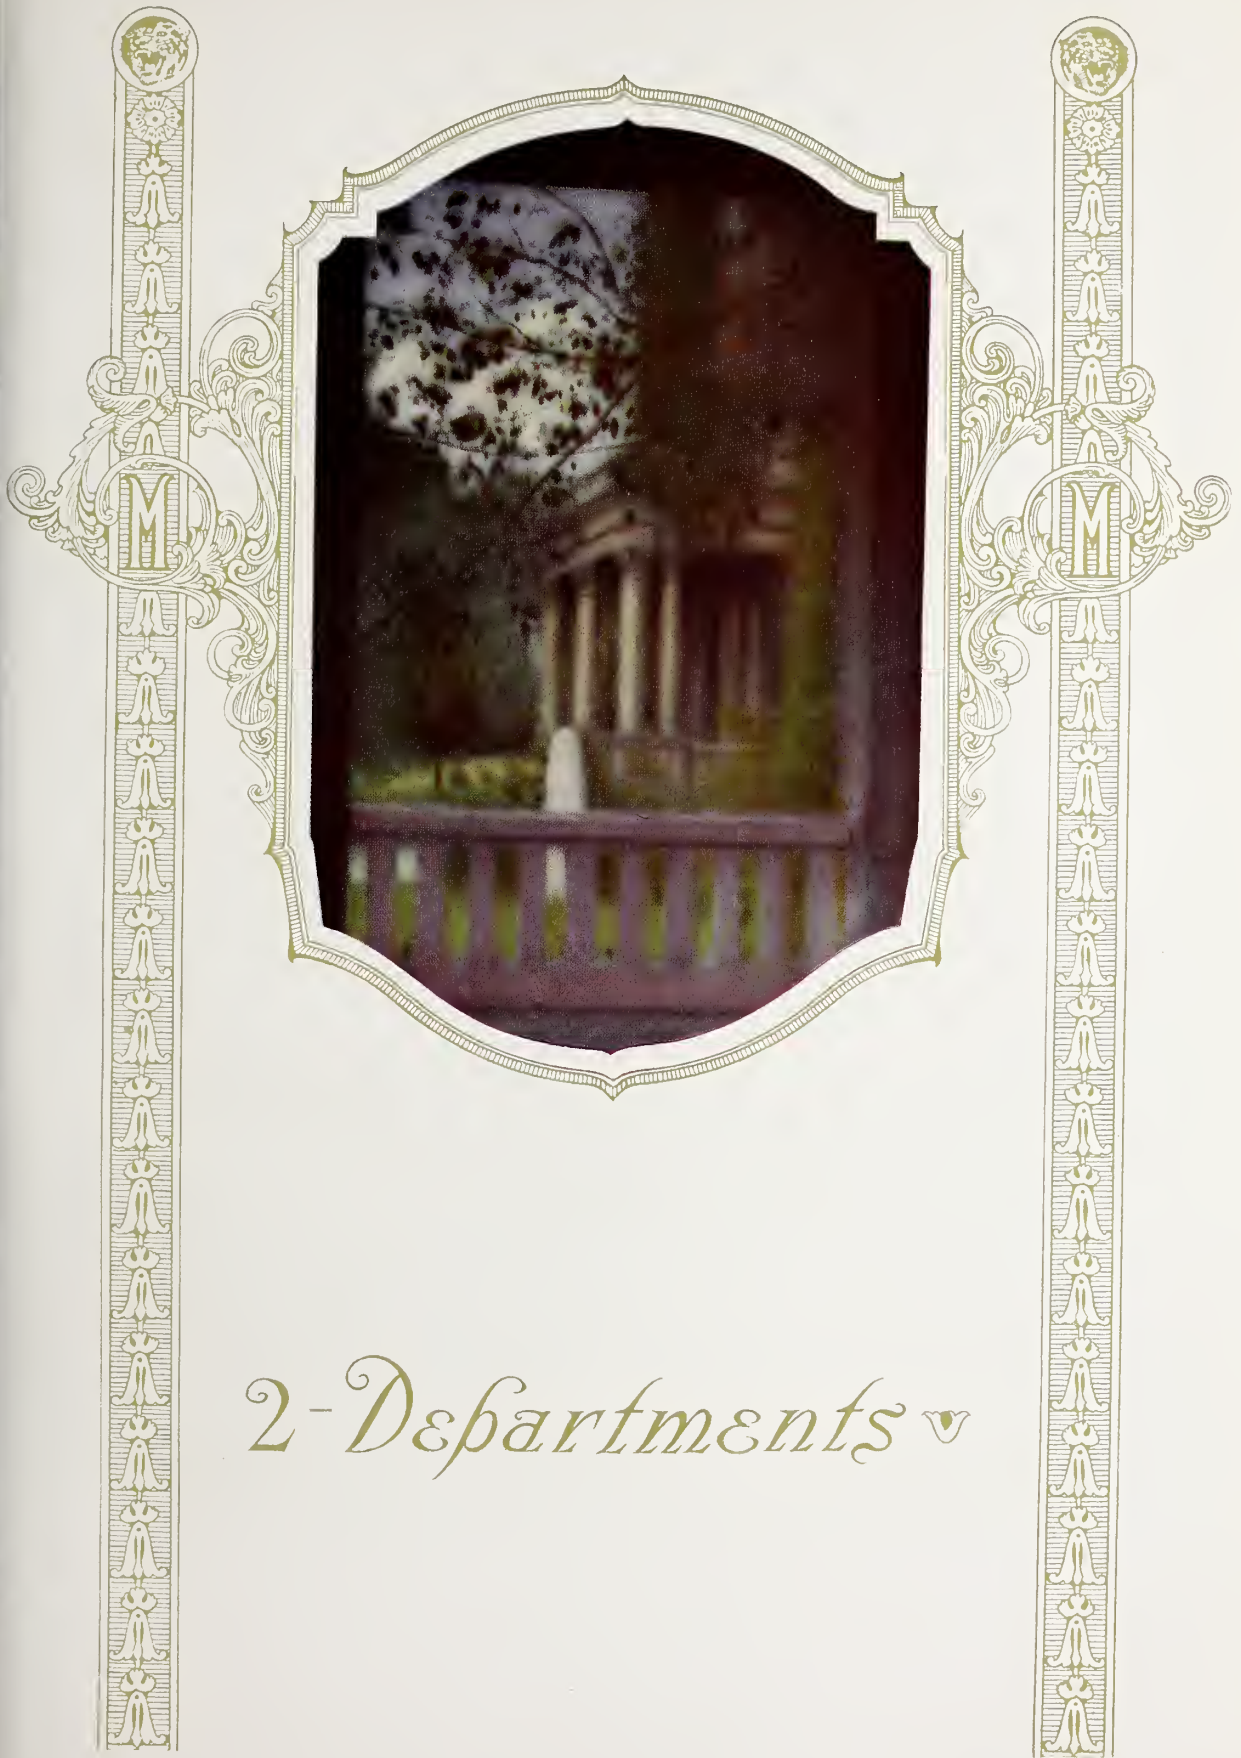

It further presents an opportunity for training in citizenship, for it places the responsibility of student government in the hands of all the women, and it lies within their power to make and execute all rules of conduct.

The organization consists of an executive council board of district captains, and a house presidents' council. W. S. G. A. features a Homecoming Banquet for visiting alumnae in the fall; gives a Woman's Day Banquet and a Spring Festival at the Commencement season; presents a Christmas Party for all University women, at which time a silver loving-cup is presented to the group giving the best performance; publishes a woman's student hand-book; and gives the women an opportunity of hearing prominent speakers at various mass meetings called throughout the year.

This organization, by virtue of its membership in the Middle West Collegiate Association of Women's Self-Government Associations, tends to unify American University women and to promote movements for their common good.

When Dean J. C. Jones became acting president of the University, the position of acting dean of the largest college of the University was entrusted to a man who for eleven years has been connected with the English department, Dr. Frederick Munroe Tisdel. Doctor Tisdel has none of the austerity so frequently associated with the office of dean by students, but, on the contrary, his gracious manner and infectious laugh immediately reassure those having business with him.

Previous to his coming to the University of Missouri in 1910, Doctor Tisdel had been a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin, Oberlin College and the Armour Institute of Technology. Previous to that time he served for one year as dean of the College of Arts and Science of Toledo University and for four years as president of the University of Wyoming.

Doctor Tisdel is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and holds an A. B. degree from Northwestern University, an A. M. degree from the University of Wisconsin and Harvard University and a Ph. D. degree from Harvard University.

The aims of his College according to Doctor Tisdel are first, to develop a disciplined mind trained to clear and protracted thinking; second, an intelligent familiarity with our complicated modern civilization; and third, a richer and fuller personal life.

AGRICULTURE

College of Agriculture

Frederick Blackmar Mumford, dean of the College of Agriculture, which includes the work of directing resident teaching, agricultural investigation and agricultural extension, has been connected with the University of Missouri since 1895.

Born in Michigan, he was graduated from the Michigan Agricultural College, where he later taught before coming to the University of Missouri. In 1909 he was made dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri.

In 1917 Dean Mumford was given the gigantic task of Federal Food Administrator of Missouri along with his other work, and in 1919 he was chairman of the Missouri Council of Defense and a member of the Mission Americaine de Rapprochement.

When Dean Mumford came to Missouri in 1895, the College of Agriculture had five teachers, two senior students and a library consisting of a treatise on economic plants and three other volumes; today, $365,000 is appropriated yearly for agricultural extension service and $100,000 for agricultural research. In 1895 farmers looked on the College of Agriculture with contempt; today they depend on it for guidance.

To conserve the soil resources of Missouri and to help develop a contented rural population are among the ideals which the Dean has formulated for the College of Agriculture.

Short Course in Agriculture

Efficient farming through practical scientific knowledge

THE short course in agriculture is designed to meet the needs of those who desire to secure agricultural training in the shortest possible time and at the least expense. The farmer has need of training as does the lawyer, the doctor, the engineer, or other professional men.

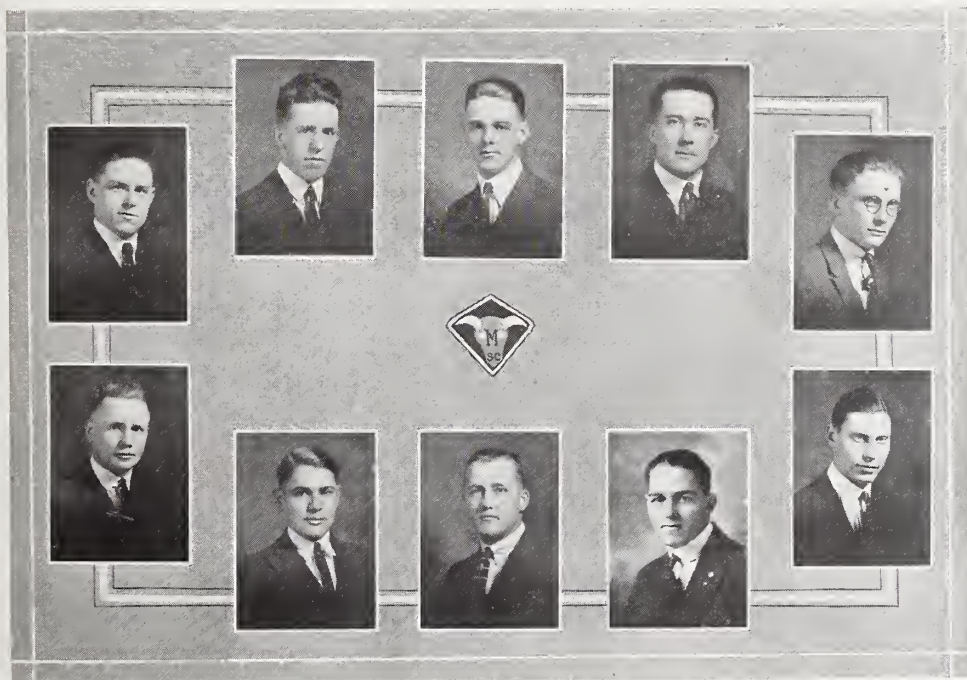

The Short Course gives the largest possible amount of practical instruction in animal husbandry, field crops, soils, insect control, plant disease control, animal disease control, horticulture, dairying, poultry husbandry, farm construction, care and use of the tractor, keeping farm accounts, rural economics and social problems, butchering and meat cutting, creamery work and ice cream and cheese manufacture. This course is offered at the time of year when the farmer can attend without losing valuable time necessary to the operation of his farm. In addition to these courses, there is also placed at the disposal of the students, for use in instruction, the entire equipment of the College of Agriculture and the experiment station. Besides all of these advantages they also have the unique opportunity of acquainting themselves with the process of manufacture of anti-cholera hog serum as it is prepared by experts in the state serum plant.

Aside from school duties, the short-course students are known because of the active part which they take in the Y. M. C. A. and in the various churches of Columbia. Of note also, is the Short Course Club. This is the official organization of the Short Course, and is called together once every week. At these meetings instructive and interesting programs are presented. In the field of athletics, the short Course has teams in boxing, wrestling and basket ball. Each year three judging contests are held: one in live stock, other than dairy cattle; one in dairy cattle judging; and one in grain judging. The winner of these respective contests is presented with a solid gold medal, engraved with his name.

This course of study is complete in its details and by a proper selection of electives the student may specialize in the work which is of especial interest to him. Upon the completion of the full four terms, as prescribed, the student is granted a certificate of graduation from the Missouri Short Course in Agriculture.

EDUCATION

School of Education

Dr. Jesse Harliaman Coursault was born in Bellaire, Ohio, receiving his A. B. degree at the University of Ohio, his A. M. at Harvard University and his Ph. D. at Columbia University. He taught in the public schools of Columbus, Ohio, for several years prior to the fall of 1905 when he came to the University of Missouri as assistant professor in the philosophy of education. He became a full professor in the philosophy of education and history of education in 1909, and in September of 1917 he was made dean of the school. Dean Coursault is the author of two books, "The Learning Process" and "The Principle of Education." He is also the editor of a series of educational bulletins published by the University. It is the aim of the Dean to secure a new building for the School of Education which will be distinct from the College of Arts and Science, to develop a bureau of educational service to co-operate with school officers in helping to solve general educational problems of the state and specific problems of schools in the state, and, lastly, to expand the teaching force especially in the line of advanced courses and for those preparing to be administrative officers of public schools.

LAW

School of Law

J. P. McBaine, dean of the School of Law, was born in Kansas City, July 18, 1882. His family later moved to Columbia where he secured his education, being graduated from the University of Missouri in 1902. Later he received a second degree at Columbia University, N. Y.

After practicing law from 1904 to 1909 in St. Louis, he returned to Columbia to become a partner in the law firm of Clark, McBaine and Rollins. A year later he became assistant instructor in law in the University and in 1912 an instructor.

Dean McBaine takes a personal interest in the careers of all his students, placing many of them directly into positions and always advising them about their undertakings while in school and after leaving the University.

In addition to acting as the personal advisor of all of the students in the School of Law, the dean spends three-fourths of the time of any other professor in teaching various law courses. In this way he learns what his students are interested in and the way in which they study.

MEDICINE

School of Medicine

Dr. Guy Lincoln Noyes, dean of the School of Medicine, was born in Boston, August 6, 1872. He received his M. D. from the University of Vermont in 1894, and he also received an M. D. from the University of Michigan in 1901. Dean Noyes took his graduate work at the Harvard Medical School. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Doctor Noyes was instructor of ophthalmic and aural surgery at the University of Michigan before coming to the University of Missouri in 1902 as professor of the eye and ear. He was made superintendent of the Parker Memorial Hospital in 1908, and was appointed dean of the School of Medicine in 1913. Next August he will celebrate his twentieth year at the University.

In addition to his daily clinical work, Dr. Noyes teaches several classes, and thus the students get the benefit of his knowledge and experience thru personal contact in the class room. He is also responsible for the addition of many new courses in the school. Due to his efforts, primarily, the four-year medical course and new hospital are assured in the near future. His motto is that every man, woman and child has a right to health and he hopes to make the new hospital a medical service center for this part of the state.

Dean Noyes' aims for his school are first a thorough medical education for students and secondly state-wide hospital service.

School of Nursing

MISS TAYLOR, Principal.

SINCE the organization of the School of Nursing in the University of Missouri in 1901 forty-four nurses have been graduated.

In 1920, to meet the demand for higher training, the school was reorganized, providing a wider curriculum and making the entrance requirements the same as those for the College of Arts and Science. The student now must complete a combined five-year course at the end of which time she receives a certificate of Nursing and the regular A. B.

NIGHTINGALE PLEDGE

"I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take nor knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

School of Engineering

Few men have come to the University of Missouri more eminently qualified to add to the prestige and efficiency of the school than E. J. McCaustland, dean of the School of Engineering.

Although a native of Wisconsin he has held responsible positions and offices in various states of the Union, including the presidency of the state board of health for the state of Washington and professorships in several leading universities.

After eight years of general practice in engineering he studied at Cornell College, later becoming professor in Civil Engineering at the same institution. Then, after two years' practice in Illinois and Ohio, he accepted a professorship at the University of Alabama. Later he became professor in Municipal and Highway Engineering at the University of Washington, Seattle.

He holds the degrees B. S. in Civil Engineering and M. C. E. in Civil Engineering from Cornell College, Iowa.

Dean McCaustland has contributed many articles to leading trade and scientific periodicals and his report for the U. S. Geological Survey in 1912 on the Descheutes River is still considered authoritative.

He became dean of the School of Engineering at the University of Missouri in 1914, when the enrollment was 140. The enrollment is now 480 attesting the wisdom of his policy and the efficiency of his management.

JOURNALISM

School of Journalism

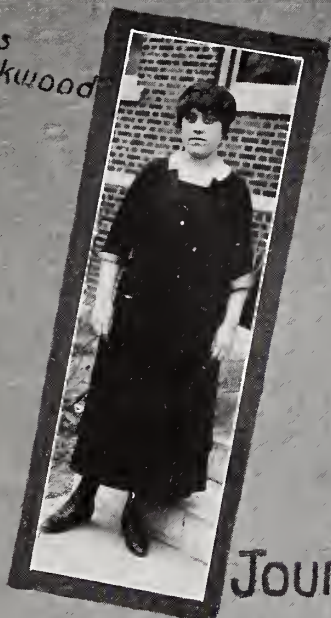

Fostering an ideal to develop journalists and to train them to make of all journalism an opportunity to serve humanity, Dean Walter Williams founded the world's first School of Journalism at the University of Missouri.

Dean Williams was born at Boonville, Mo., May 2, 1864. He is a graduate of the Boonville High School and a possessor of the degree of Doctor of Laws from the Missouri Valley College and Kansas State Agricultural College. As editor and part owner of the Boonville Advertiser, he began a newspaper career in which he has received recognition as one of the world's greatest authorities on Journalism. He is also author of some of the best histories of Missouri and journalism text books.

Dean Williams has led and instigated many of the principal movements of the journalistic world, and was president of the Missouri Press Association in 1887, of the National Editorial Association in 1895, and of the North American International Press Congress at Berne, Switzerland, in 1902. He was organizer and secretary of the World's Press Parliament at St. Louis in 1904, director of the International Press Congress in San Francisco in 1915, and was re-elected president of the Press Congress of the World at Honolulu, P. I., in 1921. He was also the first president of the latter organization.

Isidor Loeb, Dean of the School of Business and Public Administration, and an authority on the new state constitution for Missouri, although only a middle aged man is one of the oldest members of the faculty of the University of Missouri in point of service.

He is a native of Missouri, being born in Roanoke, November 5, 1868. Reared and educated in Columbia, he was graduated from the University of Missouri with the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1887, and received the degrees of Master of Science and Bachelor of Laws in 1893.

On account of the high character of his work in the University of Missouri, he was awarded a University fellowship in jurisprudence in Columbia University, N. Y., and a Ph. D. degree from the same institution in 1901. He became a member of the faculty of the University in 1892 and is now professor of political science and constitutional law as well as dean of the School of Business and Public Administration.

For the past fifteen years he has been an ardent advocate of a new constitution for the State of Missouri, publishing several books and writing numerous articles dealing with the organization and activities of government in Missouri. He was one of the editors of the Journal of the Constitutional Convention of 1875, which was published last year, and has since that time made a number of addresses on the subject before various civic organizations throughout the State.

GRADUATE

Graduate School

Dean Walter Miller was born in 1864 on a farm in Ashland, Ohio. He received his elementary education in the primary schools of Ann Arbor, Michigan. He then attended the University of Michigan where he received the degree of Master of Arts, in 1884. Since that time he has studied abroad at the University of Leipsic and in Italy.

Dean Miller was a teacher of Sanskrit and classical subjects at the University of Michigan, Leland Stanford, and the University of Tulane before he came to the University of Missouri in 1911. He became a Dean in 1914.

During the recent war, Dean Miller served in the American, French, and Italian armies as a Secretary in the Y. M. C. A., and in other capacities.

Dean Miller is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Other organizations in which he is active are: Phi Mu Alpha, the Archeological Institute of America, the American Philological Association, and the Classical Association of the Middle West and South. He is also the author of various books on classical subjects.

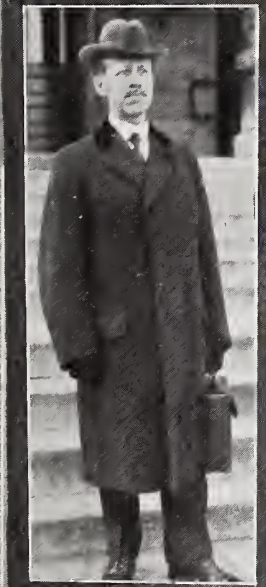

The purpose of the Graduate School, according to Dean Miller, is to inspire in its students the spirit of research, to train teachers for higher positions in schools and colleges. In both of these, he believes, original investigation plays a part both in training and in the production of scholarly work.

Memorial

MISSOURI is to have a Memorial Union! A tall Gothic tower, higher than Jesse Hall, will rise between two large wings on the East Campus, forming a lasting memorial to the sons of Missouri who lost their lives in the World War. It is planned to make the building the center of every University activity, and the designers have provided adequate facilities for this purpose.

A mass meeting was held at 10 o'clock February 20th and the Memorial was explained to the Freshmen and new students, the upperclassmen having already pledged $251,000 during the campaign of 1921. $25,000 was raised at the meeting in a few minutes.

Carl Crocker was chairman of the 1922 Student Committee and Fred Eldean had charge of the campaign of 1921.

In addition to the student subscriptions, $150,000 was pledged by the alumni and friends of the University. The total amount pledged in the two campaigns was $441,000, and work on the building itself should start in the near future.

Dedicating the Site

St. Pat's Day

H. L. HARDAWAY
Chairman

March the seventeenth witnessed the annual return of St. Patrick, the patron saint of the Engineers, and a celebration worthy of the nineteenth similar occasion. An Engineering smoker on the night of March fifteenth opened the festivities. The parade on the evening of March sixteenth was unique. It depicted in pageant form the part played by the Engineers in the history of the world. Several generating units were carried in the parade to supply sufficient electricity for illumination of the floats. After the parade a display of fire works was held on the Quad. The dedication of the Campus Stunt, which thru a desire to leave something tangible as evidence of the occasion, assumed the proportions of an additional memorial to the Engineers who lost their lives in the Great War, was held on the night of March seventeenth. This dedication was followed by the knighting ceremony, conducted by C. M. Saville, representative of St. Patrick. Approximately sixty Seniors were knighted, and received the coveted "degree." A. M. Hyde, Governor of Missouri, J. C. Jones, President of the University; A. L. Wescott, Superintendent of Buildings, and N. C. Murray, Instructor in Industrial Arts were made Honorary Knights. The festivities culminated in the St. Pat's Ball, a delightful climax to a successful celebration.

Farmers' Fair

ELMER KERSHAW
Secretary-Treasurer

The Farmers' Fair originated at the University of Missouri in the College of Agriculture in 1905. Since that time it has been an annual spring event, and has grown in size and elaborate planning until it is at present one of the largest student stunts in the United States. The parade, which starts at ten-thirty on the day of the Fair, has grown from a short procession of farm machinery in 1905 to a line of fanciful floats and humorous illustrations a mile and a half in length at the sixteenth annual Farmers' Fair on April 8, 1921. The growth of the Fair as a whole is comparable to that of the parade.

The barbecue was a new feature of the 1921 Fair. Beef, pork and mutton served in the good old-fashioned style, along with the Follies, Minstrels, Home Ec. Show, Sideshows and numerous outside attractions, all contributed to make the 1921 Fair remembered by all who attended.

The gross receipts of the Fair exceeded those of any previous year. The total, including general admission, the Follies, Minstrels, Home Ec. Show, Sideshows and Eats stands, amounted to $4,223.54. The net proceeds went to the Memorial Union Building.

The attendance was 8,000 in spite of the fact that rain in the early part of the afternoon threatened to make the success of the Fair doubtful. Many visitors from out of Columbia were present. Besides a number of old grads, there were representatives from a number of Agricultural Colleges in the middle west who had been invited to attend.

Homecoming

ALTHOUGH the rousing big mass meeting the night before really started things, it was not until ten A. M. on November twelfth that Mizzou's Homecoming was officially born. At that time a typical Tiger Town parade moved forward, led by the distinguished visitors and the R. O. T. C. cadets and full of stunts, clever ideas and beautiful floats.

After the parade the site for the new Memorial building was dedicated with addresses by our visitors.

Nearly eight thousand saw the game with the Sooners that afternoon in which the Tigers scored a decisive victory, 24—14, and tasted the "sweets of revenge." The inevitable shirrtail parade occurred that night.

Much credit is due the executive committee, composed of Bill Coleman, "Billy" Ware and John Arnett, which worked out every detail, from the electrically lighted T-I-G-E-R sign on the columns to the tiger tracks on the sidewalks.

FEATURE

The first three days are probably the busiest, for most students, of the entire semester. Fees are paid at that time in Jesse Hall and registration takes place in the library.

The Library: Where dates are made and broken—and some people study.

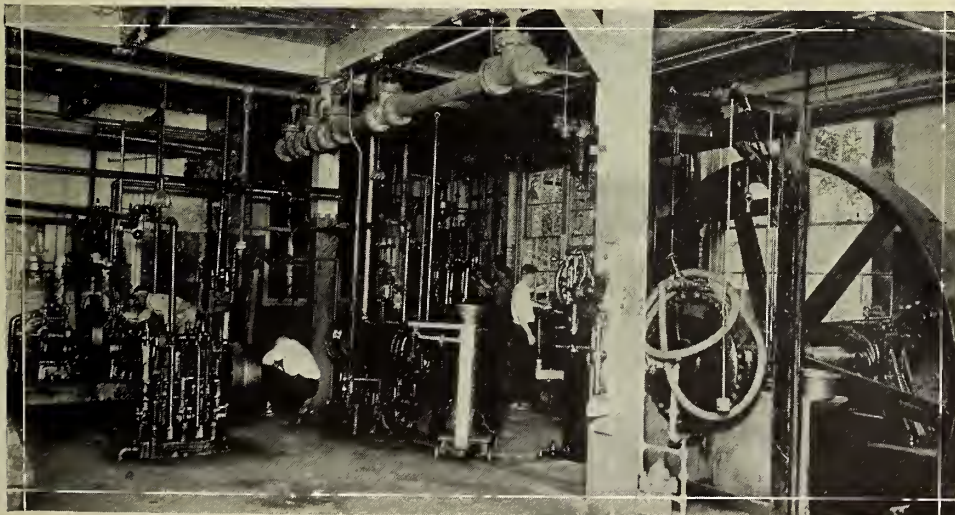

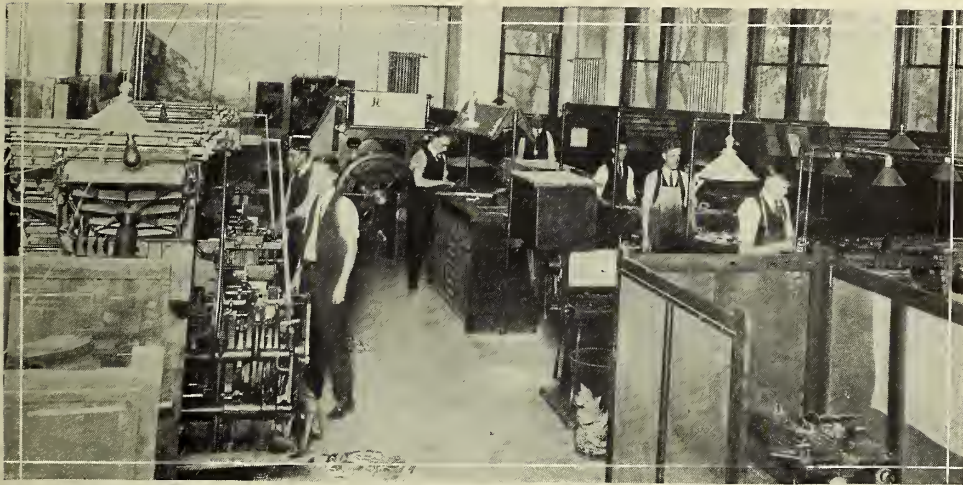

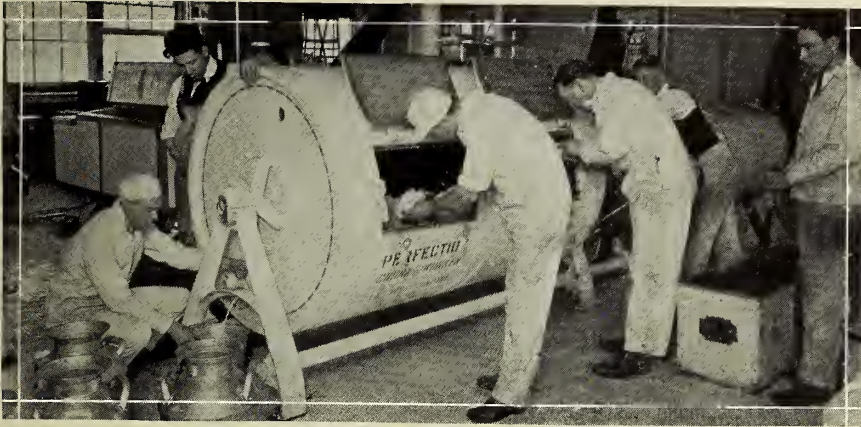

Maybe these students are solving campus problems, or perhaps they just got back their blue books.

We wonder how many are prepared for this next class. But, perhaps, in M. U. the race is not always to the "studentest."

And here we have the students at work—"listening rapidly and writing closely." We hope there is no one absent.

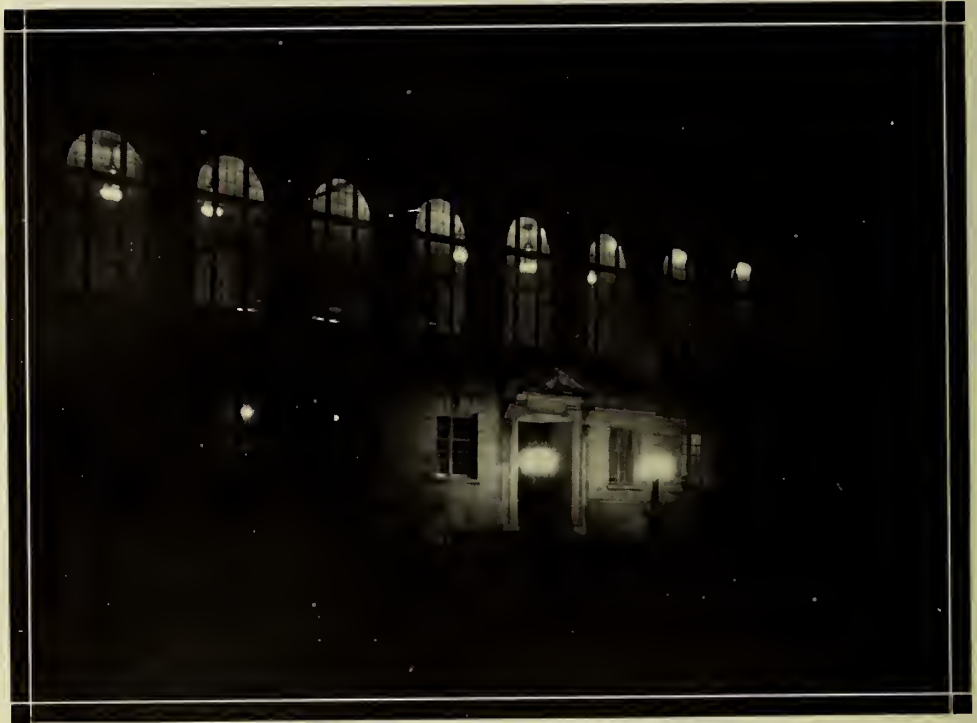

Three views taken at random showing laboratories of the Ag.,
Journalism, and Engineering Departments.

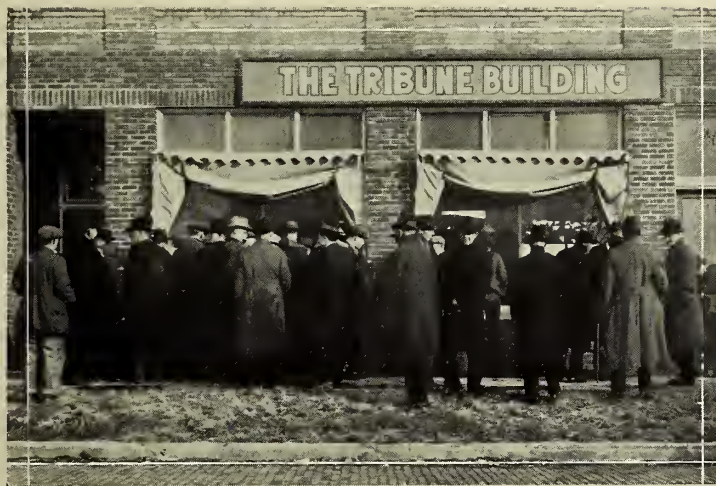

And then, of course, someone is always being initiated into something or other, and having to do some thing or other foolish. We think the "M" men usually stage the cleverest initiation.

Two-thirds of this page shows the Ag. club executive machine in execution. Note: These are not posed pictures. The other picture was made after we won the Oklahoma game.

Phoebus has gone down—and it's Saturday night. What a contrast—the Tavern and the Library!

In the Fall Trimester these are familiar scenes. The giant mass meetings, the crowds at Rollins Field, and bulletin of Valley results posted in the windows.

Scenes that persist in our memories, whether in Columbia on the streets, at the dingy Wabash, or in the colossal new Kansas Stadium where we got "ourn" last Thanksgiving.

The razzers at home and on enemy soil were the essence of Tiger spirit. They were optimistic, original, and present at all times.

The Daubers—art fraternity—staged two of the brightest costume parties of the year. The W. S. G. A. Xmas party was also very unique and most cleverly carried out.

“Formals” are parties which are uncommonly uncomfortable—physically and financially. But, who wants to discontinue them?

THE SAVITAR this year, as has been the case for the last three or four years, was printed and bound by the Hugh Stephens Printing Co. of Jefferson City at a cost of close to $8,500. The engraving and art work amounted to $5,000 and were done in Kansas City by the Burger Engraving Co. The salaries for the elected staff of five amounted to close to $1,000 and additional expenses which included advertising, photography, office rent, telephone, typewriters, postage, circular letters, and commissions paid for advertising and book sales brought the total expenditures to a trifle over $15,000. These expenses were met in three ways: By the sale of twenty-one hundred books, by the sale of organization and panel space, and by the advertising which the book carries. The staff is proud of the fact that they have this year established a highwater mark in the matter of sales.

The plan of the book has been conservatism, mechanical and editorial correctness and a desire to include as much as possible in as new and attractive a manner as we know. The cover was standardized last year by the Student Council and embraces 544 pages. The art idea has been conventional and on the design order with an eye to getting away from the flashy and cartoon effects so widely used in Year Books. We have tried to make the cuts uniform and in all cases to preserve single and double page balance. We have attempted to carry two or three central ideas thruout the book and to try and make the editorial and photograph matter as interesting and remindful as possible.

THE Columbia Evening Missourian, the laboratory product of the School of Journalism, has been the medium of training of hundreds of students for journalism. It is a distinctive feature of the organization of the school and as such has proved of inestimable value, as well as a great advertisement not only for the School of Journalism but for the University of Missouri and for Columbia. The Missourian stands alone in its success of combining a college paper with a city and county paper, thus making one paper serve a college community, a small city, and a large county.

From a paper issued only during the university sessions and serving only Columbia, the Missourian has grown to a paper issued daily the entire year and serving all of Boone county. It has grown from a six-column paper of four and six pages to an eight-column paper of six and eight pages.

The Missourian is financed by a corporation of graduates and former students of the School of Journalism who, wishing to show their appreciation of the value of the publication, contributed a fund that makes the Missourian independent financially from the University and also relieves the University of all liability of a daily publication.

The Showme

THE SHOWME, the youngest member of Missouri's family of student publications, encountered some rough weather upon its first venture out of port, came home with a few kicks and several hundred dollars worth of debts, and started out to brave the storm again this year. The results have been much more gratifying upon the second voyage, and we hope that the magazine is approaching the goal of all student activities; a true place among Tiger Traditions.

The work connected with a humorous publication is not all humorous, as we admit the results sometimes indicate. Everything that gets into print is supposed to be humorous, but the job of getting enough copy to fill thirty-two pages, and often the resulting mixture itself, borders on the ghastly.

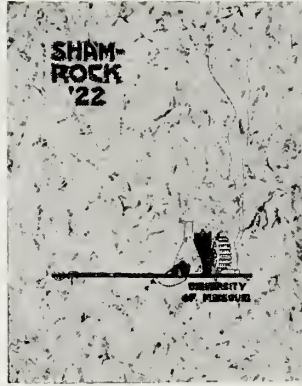

The fate of the Showme lies entirely with the student body. We believe that Missouri students appreciate the place that the Showme should hold and that they have pride enough to keep it there.

The Shamrock

THE SHAMROCK, like many things of note, had a modest beginning. One spring day in 1903 when the profs were deluging them with work, the Engineers decided that they needed a holiday. St. Patrick's Day being near, they decided to celebrate his birthday and declared it a holiday in the School of Engineering. It has since been celebrated with due pomp and ceremony on every seventeenth of March.

In 1906 the first Shamrock appeared as a chronicle of the events of the years 1903, 1904 and 1905. Each year thereafter a book has been issued on St. Pat's Day.

The first Shamrock was rather small, but gradually it has increased in size until today it is the year-book of the Engineers much like any college annual. At present it is an integral part of the School of Engineering and of the celebration of St. Patrick's Day.

THE COLLEGE FARMER is the home-town paper of the Missouri College of Agriculture. What the Crossroads Expositor is to the people of the Crossroads, THE COLLEGE FARMER is to all of the student body of the College of Agriculture.

It tells of the activities and stunts of the students of whom it was said recently by the Dean of a rival school, "They are the most active of any I have ever known." Its pages are full of that Missouri spirit and that Ag. spirit which have come to be synonymous with "doing things, and doing them well." THE COLLEGE FARMER features stories of alumni both in short after-dinner packages and in bulk—both alumni "notes" and full page stories of Ag. men who are making good.

The paper was established in 1904 and for seventeen years has been the official organ of the Ag. Club.

The Quill will be published by the Missouri chapter for five years. A student staff composed of members of Sigma Delta Chi assist Professor Martin in the work incident to issuing this national quarterly.

While the magazine is published here it is the aim of the editor and the chapter to broaden its scope. Articles from prominent men and women in journalism will be given in each issue, and more information from the different chapters is to be printed.

STAGE

Behind A Watteau Picture

THE dramatic season of the University was ushered in by the Dramatic Club's production of Robert Rogers' fantasy, "Behind a Watteau Picture." In many ways it was the most artistic production presented here in recent years. An atmosphere of romantic twilight was created and sustained throughout the play by the use of novel lighting arrangements and incidental music.

Margaret Dodd, as Columbine, played the leading role with ability and charm. Her interpretation of the delightful, yet merciless, little dancer will long be remembered.

The part of Melancholy Pierrot, as played by Jack Moffit, was a big feature of the production. He handled the emotional role in a manner exceptional in an amateur.

The dignity and courtliness of the Watteau period was convincingly portrayed by Elwyn Bridgens as the Marquise, by H. J. Sigman as the Marquis, and by Fred Barbee as the Poet.

"Enter the Hero" was a well received curtain raiser in which Dorothy Diffey and David Morrison shared honors.

"Nothing But the Truth"

FOLLOWING the lead of professional producers, the Dramatic Club presented an all-star cast in the Razzar benefit play, "Nothing But the Truth."

Ben Loeb, with his gruff mannerisms and big black cigars, was the hit of the evening as Mr. Ralston, a blustering broker. His sweet and trusting daughter was played by Harriet Blanton and his not nearly so trusting wife by Elwyn Bridgens.

Margaret Dodd was a deliciously naughty chorus girl who threw an entire house party into nervous prostration.

Jack Moffitt made a great deal out of the part of Van Dusen, but the finish usually found in his work was lacking. Ellis Atteberry, in the part of Donnelly, gave a much better impersonation.

H. X. Clevenger, lately of the K. U. Dramatic Club, made his debut to Columbia audiences as the hero of the piece. Beset with difficulties at every turn in his determined effort to tell the truth, he finally battled his way through the three acts to victory.

W. A. A. Vaudeville

THE W. A. A. Vaudeville is an annual feature in the program of the Women's Athletic Association. It is very important from the financial point of view because it is mainly from this source that the Association gets its money for running expenses and for sending candidates to the sectional and national conventions.

Four people are appointed by the Board to plan the vaudeville. There are two senior managers who take charge of the training of the girls in the choruses, plays and before the curtain acts, and two junior managers who are in charge of properties and costumes.

The outstanding features of the performance this year were the numbers called "Vogue" and "The Doll Shop." The first was on the order of a musical comedy with clever scenery and costumes and music. The second was a very bright little pantomime and dancing sketch full of action and humor.

"Ninth Deacon"

RECORD-BREAKING in personnel, score and attendance the 1922 Journalism production of Quality Plus, "The Ninth Deacon," under the combined efforts of Frank Houston and Mrs. Hollis Edwards established a new standard for student productions.

The plot involving the search for the ninth female descendant of a Dutch nobleman, Count Webbert Deekin, whom he had specified in his will as the recipient of the Isle of Katz proved an excellent vehicle for Miss Frank Robertson as the kittenish and antiquated housekeeper of the Country Club and real successor to the property as well as for Miss Elizabeth Weeks, who made a most winsome and charming Marie. "Ginger" Rodgers and "Ken" Hageman shoved across the lyrics of Houston and Freivogel in a manner that left their hearers begging for more. Harry Scott, the Varsity Zenatello, warbled his way into the hearts of all as well as sharing the honors of male lead with Hageman. Special mention should be made of the hoofing divertisement of "Art" Berger and Dorothy Harris who displayed professional stepping in the "Dance of the Toddle Top." Arch Rodgers displayed slap-stick ability as a comedian that will long remain a goal for future aspirants.

Perhaps two of the strongest drawing cards of the production were a well trained and graceful chorus and a fifteen-piece Ninth Deacon orchestra under the direction of Freivogel.

"All Aboard"

THE annual Elks' musical comedy this year fell below, in some respects, the standards set in previous years. In the uniform excellence of the principals, however, "All Aboard" left nothing to be desired.

First of all there was Harry Scott, who filled all the qualifications of a leading man. His singing was good, and his comedy went over big.

Then there was Charley Lowrance, a collegiate Jolson who scored another success. A Columbia musical show without him would be like Thanksgiving without turkey.

Ellen Jane Froman and Eula Penn Wheat divided feminine honors as the heroines of the double love tangle. Mrs. Hollis Edwards was perfect in a character part.

The singing of L. M. Crouch and the comedy of Harold Gauldin and Mann Millman were conspicuous contributions to the success of the play.

Choruses made up of Christian and Stephens College girls were a remarkable addition to the production.

Forensics

Arnold Perstein, Coach

THE year 1921-22 marks the zenith of forensic activity at the University of Missouri for the past twenty-five years. For the first time in this history of American intercollegiate forensics, morning classes were dismissed for a debate; for the first time in the history of forensics at Missouri, the auditorium was packed for every home contest; and, likewise for the first time, a program than can correctly be termed comprehensive was outlined and successfully concluded.

Too much can not be said in praise of the debating board and Arnold Perstein in particular. To them is due the major credit for the unusual and most excellent program planned and successfully completed. Much credit for this successful year on the platform also goes to the student body which, with true Missouri spirit and an incomparable willingness, turned out en masse to support the teams and gave liberally of its members enough material from which to mould a winning squad. On the platform, particularly, success cannot be measured in terms of contests won. While Missouri came through the season with better than an even break, the success of the past season should be attributed to the fact that the student body has come to appreciate the merit of debating as an extra-curricular activity, and to realize that it is just as essential that we be well represented in debating and oratory as it is that we stand high in athletics.

The Season

MORE debates, more debaters, a greater interest in forensics generally and a determination to establish the reputation of Missouri on the inter-collegiate platform have been outstanding features of the 1921-1922 season.

The first inter-collegiate contest was held with Oklahoma at Norman, December 23rd. On January 6th, Missouri made her debut in a new triangle with Wisconsin and Washington. The Badgers were met at Madison, while the Pikers came to Columbia. The freshmen received their "Baptism of fire" in a contest with the yearlings of William Jewell College at Liberty on February 17th.

As the summary of the season is being written arrangements are being completed to hold this year's K. U.—M. U. contest before a joint meeting of the Alumni Association of both schools in Kansas City. The second and last home debate of the season will take place at Columbia with the University of Southern California on March 30th.

Barnwarming

APPROXIMATELY 1,300 students of the University dressed in overalls and gingham aprons, crawled through a basement window of Rothwell Gymnasium and landed on a straw stack the night of October 28 to attend the annual Barnwarming Dance of the College of Agriculture.

The feature event of the evening was the crowning of the Harvest Queen, Miss Lourena Brown of Kansas City, a member of the Alpha Phi sorority. Dean F. B. Mumford placed the crown on the Queen's head and then led the grand processional march.

The main floor was decorated with cornstalks; a ceiling of autumn leaves and greenery forming a canopy over the room. A large harvest moon was suspended from one of the corners of the gym, while the goals were turned into hens' nests to accommodate chickens and jack o' lanterns.

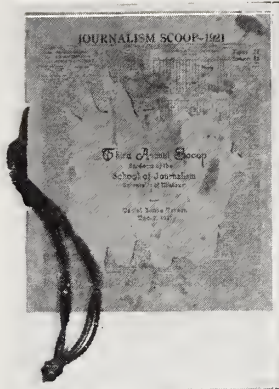

Private booths built of bales of straw and rooms decorated in rustic style were very popular during the entire evening. A number of stunts concluded the program.

MISS KATHRYN BURCH was crowned Scoop Queen at the third annual dance of the School of Journalism which was held in the ball room of the Daniel Boone Tavern, December 2. R. S. Mann, acting for the Dean of the School, placed the crown of gold and tinsel on Miss Burch's head. Nearly ninety couples danced under an arch of green and red crepe paper streamers brightened by rows of tinsel. Suspended from the arch were electric lights of green and red and Christmas bells. Small Christmas trees with many colored lights added to the general Christmas tone.

A miniature of the front page of the Home-coming edition of the Missourian was used for the cover of the dance programs. Arthur Berger was roundly applauded with his soft-shoe interpretation of popular music. Victor Keene was Scoop Manager.

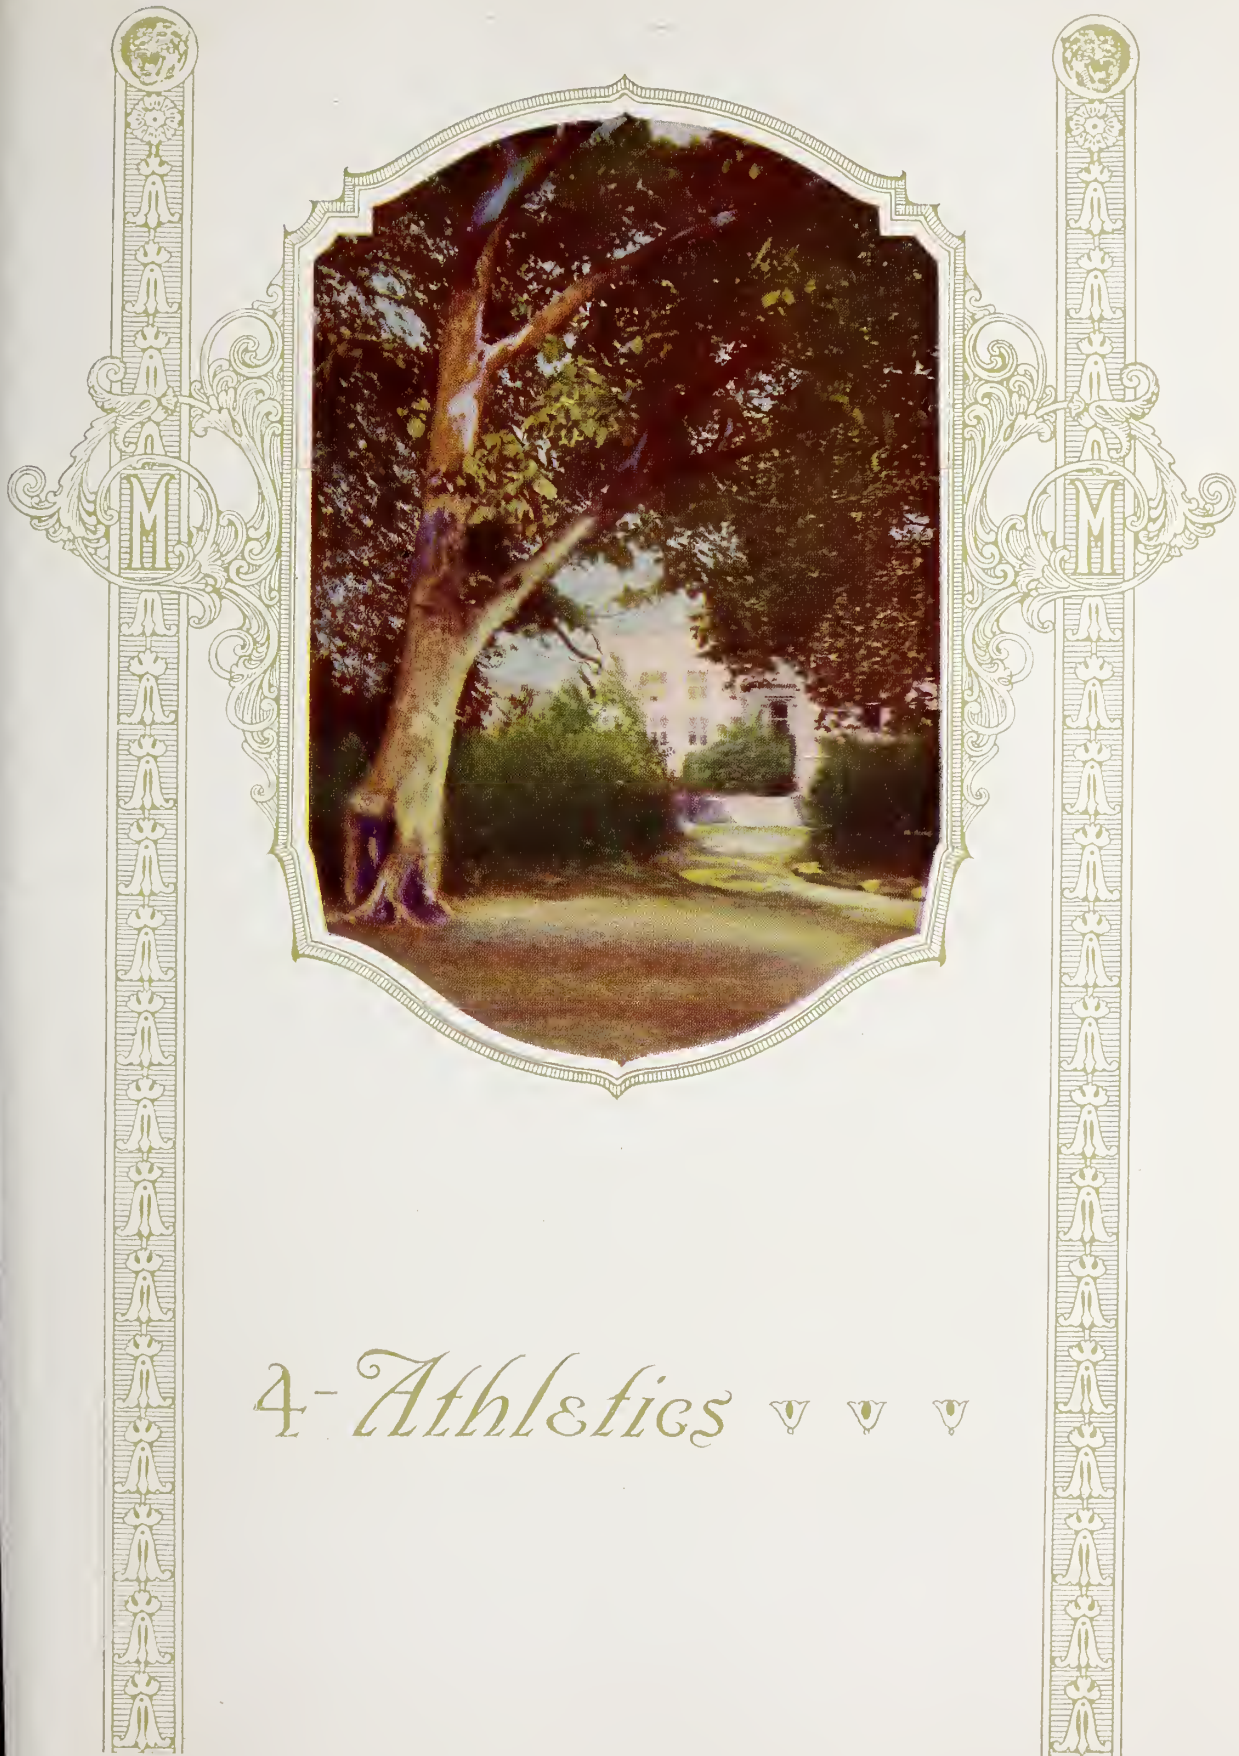

St. Pat's Ball

THE ST. PAT'S BALL was on a par with everything else put on by the Engineers this year. It was a stupendous success, the joyful culmination of a week of great accomplishments.

The dance was held at Columbia Hall, which was decorated throughout with green and white streamers, hung radially from the center of the hall to all sides and gathered together at the center with all the ends around the stem of a shamrock which, itself, hung from the top. At one end was placed a big electrically lighted pin of the guard of St. Pats, the slide rule on the shamrock. At the other end, during several dances a wonderful moon smiled benignly on the followers of St. Pat. Shamrocks and Irish flags were used for supplementary decoration.

The crowning of the Queen was done by Governor Hyde, the ceremony and then the grand march starting the program. The dance programs were novel, each dance being given some engineering term. The Hysteresis Loop and the Slip-stick Slide might be mentioned. With a twelve-piece Quadrangle orchestra and two dances with music by wireless, the Engineers danced from nine until one. The dance committee was composed of Sam English, Leon Leeds, Tom Everly, W. W. Moore and Berney Harris, Jr.

Director of Athletics

to Missouri, in 1920, Mr. Clevenger has proved himself to be a true "Dean of Sports" and has won the admiration of every student, player and coach.

In his program for the future Mr. Clevenger recommends physical education for Freshmen and Sophomores at least two or three times a week. Also, to make physical training more effective and the development of the student's physique more thorough, he believes it to be imperative that Missouri have a new and up-to-date gym with modern equipment. "Give the Tiger men a real home" is his slogan.

Zora G. Clevenger, director of athletics at the University, was born near Farmland, Indiana, in 1881. Receiving his early education at a small country school he entered the University of Indiana in 1900. During his four years in the University he won letters in both baseball and football and had the honor of being Captain of both sports during his senior year. Two years he was placed on the all-western baseball team and one year on the mythical all-western football team. In 1917 Indiana voted him their greatest athlete of all time.

Upon graduation he was made assistant coach at his alma mater and in 1907 he became coach of football, basket ball and baseball at Nebraska Wesleyan. In 1911 he was appointed Director of Athletics at the University of Tennessee and from 1916 until 1920 he held the same position at the Kansas State Agricultural College. Since coming

Review of the Season

By EDWARD W. COCHRANE
(Sport Editor of the Kansas City Journal)

E. W. COCHRANE

WHEN the football season of 1921 in the Missouri Valley Conference passed into history, three outstanding features were indelibly impressed upon the minds of those who had been fortunate enough to follow the teams closely. These three were the splendid class of football, the true sportsmanship displayed by the representatives of the nine institutions in the organization, and the tremendous interest manifested in America's premier college pastime, as shown by record attendance at games.

In the final analysis there is one of these three that really counts—sportsmanship. This—a true trait of character—will be shown in the battle of life that will follow the closing chapter of the college career of each athlete, for, as someone so aptly penned:

*"When the great scorer comes to write against your name,
He writes, not whether you won or lost, but how you played the game."*

The splendid sportsmanship in valley football is due to two things—the general uplift of the game through better coaching and a desire on the part of present-day coaches to have clean football and the better spirit shown to opposing teams and rooters by the players and the entire student bodies of each institution. There was a time when this was not the case, but as time goes on college students realize more fully that true sportsmanship means more to them than the mere winning or losing of an athletic contest.

COCHRANE'S ALL-VALLEY TEAMS

Hill, Okla.	L. H.	Matthes, Wash.
McAdams, Kas.	R. H.	Wright, Nebr.
Hartley, Nebr.	F. B.	Lincoln, Mo.

There have been numerous instances of real sportsmanship displayed in the valley during the past football campaign. I was fortunate enough to be an official in three of Missouri's games. On each occasion after the coin was flipped for goal, Captain Herbert Blumer shook hands with opposing captain and with a broad smile wished him luck in the game. That's true sportsmanship.

This is but one of the instances, but a good one to point out to show what the feeling is in football competition. Every man plays his best to win, but to win on his merits and without taking an unfair advantage of a foe.

The class of coaching in the valley is of such a character that this has been brought about. Such men as Z. G. Clevenger and James Phelan, of Missouri; M. J. Ahearn and Charles Bachman of the Kansas Aggies; Ben G. Owen of Oklahoma; George Rider of Washington; "Bud" Saunders of Grinnell; K. L. Wilson and "Ossie" Solem of Drake; Charles Mayser of Ames, and Dr. F. C. Allen of Kansas are of the type that will not tolerate anything but the very highest type of sportsmanship. As long as the valley institutions employ such men, there should be no fear on the part of followers of the teams regarding the type of football that is to be played.

"RUNT" SPURLING

Nebraska won the championship with three straight wins and not a defeat. The Cornhuskers played but three games. Missouri had a chance to win the championship and looked good enough to repeat when the season opened, but injuries so handicapped the Tigers that they did not play up to their standard in all of the games. The team was well coached and played splendid football. Two games were lost, to K. S. A. C. and Kansas. The others were victories, the win over Oklahoma being the most brilliant effort in the campaign of the Old Gold and Black warriors.

The Cheer Leaders

The Kansas Aggies tied Missouri for second place, losing to Kansas and Ames. This was another splendidly coached team, with Charles Bachman in charge. The Aggies beat Missouri 7 to 5 and registered a triumph over Oklahoma. It was the Aggies' most successful year, so they say at Manhattan.

"Doc" LAWLER

From point of attendance the season was a huge success. Every team drew big crowds, most of them breaking all previous records. People outside of the colleges took more interest than ever before, despite the general business depression that has made other amusements losing ventures financially. This fact alone proves the popularity of a sport that is destined to be the leading college pastime as long as sportive competition is one of the chief factors of American life.

There are a few players in the Valley who deserve special mention because they were the outstanding stars of a motley throng of splendid gridiron warriors. Three of these played with Missouri. They are Chuck Lewis, Herbert Blumer and Herbert Bunker. Two made the All-Valley team without a question as to their ability. Bunker is as good a player as there is in the Valley and only missed the team because of Wallace at Ames playing his last year. Bunker may be picked now for the All-Valley center of 1922 if he can play the same brand of football he displayed during the campaign of 1921.

Hartley, Swanson and Lyman of Nebraska are three others of remarkable ability. Hahn of the Kansas Aggies was picked by one Eastern critic on the third All-American team. Football in the Missouri Valley classes well with that of any other organization in the United States. The teams haven't such material as the "big four" of the East, the Big Ten, or some of the elevens on the Pacific Coast, but given the same material most of them would play as good football because of the splendid variety of coaching in this organization.

THE TIGERS opened the 1921 gridiron season October 1 with an easy victory over the Oklahoma Aggies at Rollins Field, the Bengals whitewashing their opponents. 36 to 0.

The Stillwater Redskins were rated very high last year, and the decisive defeat at the hands of the home team blew Missouri's balloon sky-high. Coaches Phelan and Jones presented a new eleven, composed of very few veterans. There was a general shift on the line because of the lack of good line material.

Al Lincoln's line plunges in the first half of the contest meant much to the Tiger team, for it was a true indication that the large, battling fullback was back in form and minus the bad knee of last year.

"Chuck" Lewis, who has graced every All-Valley team for three years, showed an increased knowledge of the gridiron sport.

Although the score was large, the game pointed out many weak spots to the Tiger coaches—the weakest of all, the Missouri defense.

PROBABLY any team should hold its banner high the day after a 32 to 0 victory, but Coach Jimmy Phelan was very disappointed after the St. Louis game which was played at St. Louis October 8. The Tiger mentor had good reason to be, for the Bengals played fourth-rate ball. The backs were slow and failed to hit the line at top speed. The Missouri line proved a bit better on the defense, but lacked everything from football knowledge to speed and charge on the offense.

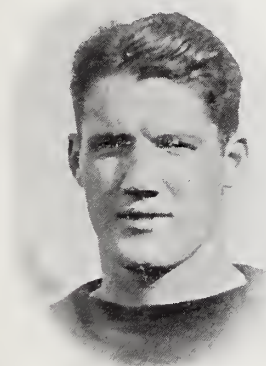

The Tigers put the ball across the final chalk-mark via touchdowns, a field goal and a safety—any way to make a point. Phelan's eleven was slow in getting started, a touchdown and a field goal netting the only points in the first half.

Missouri made six fumbles, while the Billikens were even more clumsy in handling the ball.

Tony Bundschu was badly hurt after playing a fast game. The stellar work of the contest was the hard-hitting runs of Humes, who was the only Tiger back able to make steady gains. Blumer and Hill showed signs of being in the game every second.

MISSOURI fight and "never-say-die" spirit won the first conference game of the season on Rollins Field October 15, when the Tigers snatched victory from the hands of the Cyclones and won, 17 to 14.

"Polly" Wallace, All-Valley center, was the main cog of the Cyclone machine, the powerful center playing an open defensive game which was not only spectacular but effective. Bunker also played his best game of the season that day.

Ames started the scoring, the first period ending 7 to 0. The Bengals were outplayed and outclassed during the first half, but came back with determination in the second half and immediately started to score. Hill scooped up the ball for a touchdown and Lewis used his toe for three more points.

With the score 10 to 7, Ames fought back furiously and succeeded in crossing all of the white lines, but only after the Tigers attached another touchdown, making the scoreboard read 17 to 14. Wallace was out of the game because of injuries, but the Ames squad fought all the more. The ball was on the five-yard line when the whistle blew much to the joy and comfort of the home folks.

OCTOBER 22 was the date of a battle on the gridiron of Manhattan when two teams marched back and forth across the field. Up to the fourth quarter of that battle—yes, up to the last few minutes of that battle, the Tigers were leading 5 to 0. A field goal by Lewis counted three points, while Hamilton jumped Bryan for a safety.

Then, in the last few minutes of the final period, a Wildcat tagged a 55-yard pass which meant victory to his team and the first defeat of the season for the Tigers.

throughout the first half of the game, the Missouri followers were all there when the strains of "Old Missouri" announced the end.

Drake threatened to score more than once, but the Missouri line stiffened and brought back to life that war-time proverb, "They Shall Not Pass." The Drake victory meant much to the squad, the coaches and the school, for it came immediately after the defeat at the hands of the Kansas Aggie Wildcats.

A TRICK play, one second after the Drake kick-off was responsible for the victory over the Bulldogs on Rollins Field October 29.

The Bulldogs kicked to Lewis who returned the ball via the toe route. Kershaw hoofed down the field in regular track style and scooped the ball, crossing the line and taking the Drake team by surprise. It was an on-side kick, making Kershaw eligible to get the ball.

The game was played in a field of mud caused by 24 hours of continuous rain. Although it rained

TWELVE thousand Pikers were gathered on Francis field November 5 to witness the Tiger-Piker battle, and 12,000 Pikers went home that night with lowered head and clamped jaws, for Washington had been defeated in the last period of the game, and Missouri had won, 7 to 0.

Coach Phelan started the game with several substitutes, but sent in his regulars in the second quarter. Neither side threatened to score until the final quarter when Bundschu intercepted a pass on the 42-yard line. Lincoln and Lewis gained through the line. A pass to Kershaw brought the ball to the 1-yard line. Lewis gave the ball to Kershaw on the next play, and Missouri scored the victorious tally. Lewis kicked goal.

It was Kershaw who defeated the Washington squad at Columbia two years ago, and fate allowed the red-top gridiron artist to do the job again.

ALTHOUGH Tiger followers spoke of trouncing the Sooners, Missouri money did not indicate it. The local students showed the old Missouri spirit before the battle by giving the team enough encouragement to defeat Centre or Harvard, but deep down in the hearts of many who slept in the town of Columbia on November 11, the night before the Homecoming game, there was a feeling—a fear that perhaps the much touted Oklahoma team might repeat its victory of 1920.

But then, when Lewis shot a long pass to Hamilton and "Ham" swept across the lines in the first quarter, and when Missouri continued to play rings around the Sooners, the ever-loud growl of the Tiger became louder and louder. Lewis played the best game of his three years, according to the large number of old grads who visit their Alma Mater every year. His plunging, running, twisting, dodging, punting—everything, in fact, was excellent.

Humes, Bundschu, Packwood, Blumer, Bunker, Hardin—all did nobly that day and made themselves worthy of the Gold and Black.

A 70-yard run from the kick-off by Hill of Oklahoma was the sensational play of the game and drew hearty applause from the stands.

WHEN the last whistle of the gridiron season blew and 5,000 loyal Tigers uncovered and sang "Old Missouri," the newly dedicated K. U. stadium witnessed a grand sight—one that displayed that famous Missouri spirit, one that brought to life that popular line:

"You can defeat the Tigers, but you can't beat 'em."

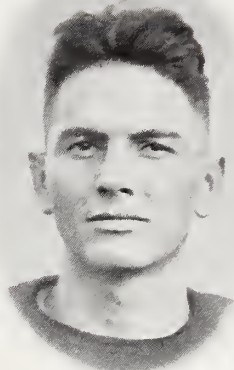

But the game—

Missouri traveled to Lawrence that twenty-fourth of November all ready to feast on Jayhawk meat. Although Missouri was first to score when Lewis' toe netted three points, K. U.

soon took the lead and held it throughout the game. The score at the end of the first half was 13 to 3.

The third quarter belonged to the Bengals, and the game could have been won in this period, but fate decided in favor of the Kansans. A touchdown by Lewis was the only other score the Tigers could make.

Although every regular played a whirlwind game that day, the subs who filled the empty spots played a great game, namely, Simpson, Schwimmer and Bailey.

The Freshman football team of 1921, unlike most teams, had no individual stars. From Dunn, the giant 220-pound cub tackle who could be seen daily charging up and down the field shedding perspiration like a lawn sprinkler to Sommer, the miniature quarterback who ran with a puzzling change of pace that few stars possess, it can be easily seen that these men worked not as individuals but as a hard-hitting, fighting gridiron squad.

The wonderful speed and all-around playing of Bond at halfback and Sanders at tackle marked them as worthy successors of Lewis and Blumer while Fowler, quarterback; Adams, halfback; Walsh and Walt, ends; Warren, guard; Clyde Smith, center; J. W. Smith, tackle and Graham, captain and full-back, are men whose names should appear in the Missouri line-ups next fall. Although seven regulars are likely to reappear in their moleskins next year, the freshman of 1921 are going to make them play real ball to hold down their places.

Only two games may be played by the Freshman—one at the opening of the season and one at the end of the season. The Varsity won the first game, 18 to 7, the game being played in a sea of mud. The Frosh won the second game, 7 to 6, the Varsity seconds being unable to do anything with the Yearlings.

Review of the Basket Ball Season

BY LESLIE E. EDMONDS,
(Missouri Valley Official and Writer.)

LESLIE E. EDMONDS

Missouri and Kansas ably demonstrated their basket ball superiority to the entire Missouri Valley in 1922 but neither could show it to the other. Battling through the double round robin schedule for nine straight weeks, the Tiger and the Jayhawk convinced every observer that there was no basket ball the countryside around that compared to theirs. But when the twain met in their annual series there was a victory for each and by the same margin. So the great universities of the sister states have added another story to the traditions of athletic enmity that is between them.

For the rest of the season Drake proved its strength in as decisive a fashion as did Kansas and Missouri. The Des Moines team lost its four games only with those two and maintains undisputed claim to third place. Then come three in a row, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Iowa State, each tied at the half-way mark and each with a victory and each with a loss to the others.

Kansas State, Grinnell and Washington, finishing in the order named, found the going rough the entire way, none of them registering victory over a team higher than that in seventh place.

The 1922 season was profitable in every way. The foreign and home games series provided that every one meet twice, and it was thought a championship decision could be made for and by the public that supports all sports.

GEORGE BOND
Guard, Captain

Now this story is principally for Missouri consumption and generalization will be of less value in the years when Missourians of fifty turn back to the Savitar of today. So a word of Missouri's team will not be amiss. The Tiger won from all the Valley except its one game from Kansas. The team that made such a wonder record is worthy of every word that is written of it.

Four of the team—Browning, Bunker, Bond and Knight—were placed on the all-Missouri Valley teams. Hays was included in a select list for honorable mention.

Browning—alert, versatile, clean, efficient; Bunker—massive, quick, tireless, gentlemanly; Bond—snappy, aggressive, powerful, enduring; Knight—clear-visioned, accurate, agile, persistent; Hays—fighting, obedient, dashing, consistent, and Faurot and Van Nice, two utility players who should some day serve with even greater profit in fame to Missouri and themselves; that is the team.

Who has watched Missouri in play, functioning precisely, cleanly and inspiringly under the direction of Craig Ruby, master coach, and has not marveled? There goes little Browning, working, edging, fighting toward the basket shooting with effect, setting himself perceptively as he aims. Watch Knight taking the ball from his basket, playing the rebound skillfully as only one who has mastered the backstop's angles can play. See the ponderous Bunker covering the back court with easy grace and guiding his huge strength ever toward the ball and never toward the man. There, too, is Bond, a captain who leads, bounding over the floor, changing from offensive to defensive and back again and showing equal ability at either. Hays has been told to stick his man and a right good job he's doing of it too. "Time out" and Faurot replaces a Missouri player to show the fighting qualities that make him acceptable to this team. Or perhaps it is Van Nice sent in to aid because someone has faltered temporarily.

The 1922 basket ball team of Missouri was a credit to the University, to its coach, and to its personnel; yes, a credit to the ideals of sportsmanship that govern the play of gentlemen the world around and a tribute to the excellence of sport's development in the Missouri Valley.

Post-Season Talk

By Edwin N. Jacquin

THE REFUSAL of Kansas to play a post-season game or series with the Tigers was the rather disheartening conclusion of a remarkable basket ball season for the University of Missouri. The Tigers and the Jayhawkers tied in games won and lost, each having earned a victory over the other. The story in chapter synopsis denotes the fact that Coach Craig Ruby's athletes for the second successive year turned in seventeen victories and one defeat.

Craig Ruby's first two years as a Tiger mentor have been attended by startling successes. Last year seventeen wins and a lone whipping were enough to win the Missouri Valley bunting but in 1922, the same average, was only good for an even break.

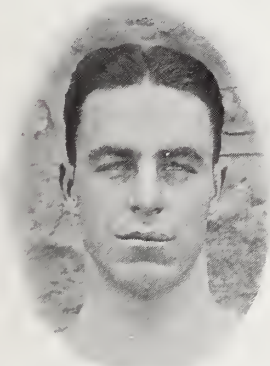

There are those in comparing the teams of 1921 and 1922, who are inclined to favor the five of '21. However, more credit is due Coach Ruby for the showing of this year's quintet because part of it was new material and the whole had to be moulded anew.

There came offers to attend a collegiate conclave of basketeers at Indianapolis and an invitation to take part in the A. A. U. classic at Kansas City, but both were spurned. An interesting sidelight is to note that the Lowe and Campbell team of Kansas City, composed of five Missourians, won the national championship by defeating the Kansas City Athletic Club squad in the final round of the tournament. The Lowe and Campbell team turned the trick chiefly by the playing of "Shorty" Williams and "Pidge" Browning, names that were in the Tiger lineup but one year ago.

The great strength of the team which wore the Old Gold and Black during the past season was in its offense. Only once during the course of an 18-game

Ruby will also have Van Horn, Lester, and Thompson, substitutes on the '22 team. Frank Moore, who has fought for a position for three years, only to have men of the "Shorty" Williams and Bunker type beat him out of the center position, Captain Bond and Johnny Knight will probably be graduated this Spring. Knight may return next year, and will be eligible for basket ball. Coach Ruby will also have a large number of men from the Frosh squad fighting for places on the Varsity next year. Players like Captain Elsner of the Yearling team cannot help but be used in the Varsity line-up. The hardest part of schedule was the offense successfully checked. The team missed the superlative Williams, who starred on offense and to some extent on defense, but this was made up by the great trio of scorers, Bond, Knight and Browning, who surpassed by a wide margin, any triad on any other squad in the Valley from the scoring angle.

The team in 1923 should bring Missouri more honor and prestige than the teams of the past two years, excellent as they were. For the team of 1923 will have Bunker, Browning, Hays, Faurot and Van Nice to start with—five men that today will form a team equal to that of any in the Valley. Coach

DON FAUROT
Guard

Coach Ruby's work next year will be to pick the five right men.

Referring again to the talk about a post-season game with Kansas, Kansas City writers referred to Missouri's challenge and Kansas' alibi and then asked the reader to draw his own conclusions. The Kansas refusal to play was well worded and probably written in the best of faith, but to the ignorant sporting world, it meant nothing more than a poor alibi, or shall we say a good alibi.

CAPT. ELSNER

Much of the success of the Tiger cage squad last season was due to the hard work of the Freshman basket ball squad. It was up to the Frosh to scrimmage against the varsity and put the varsity into first-class condition. The Frosh did their work well.

Enough Freshmen of first-class calibre that are on the team this year will be back next year to make the regulars step a bit before they are sure of their varsity positions.

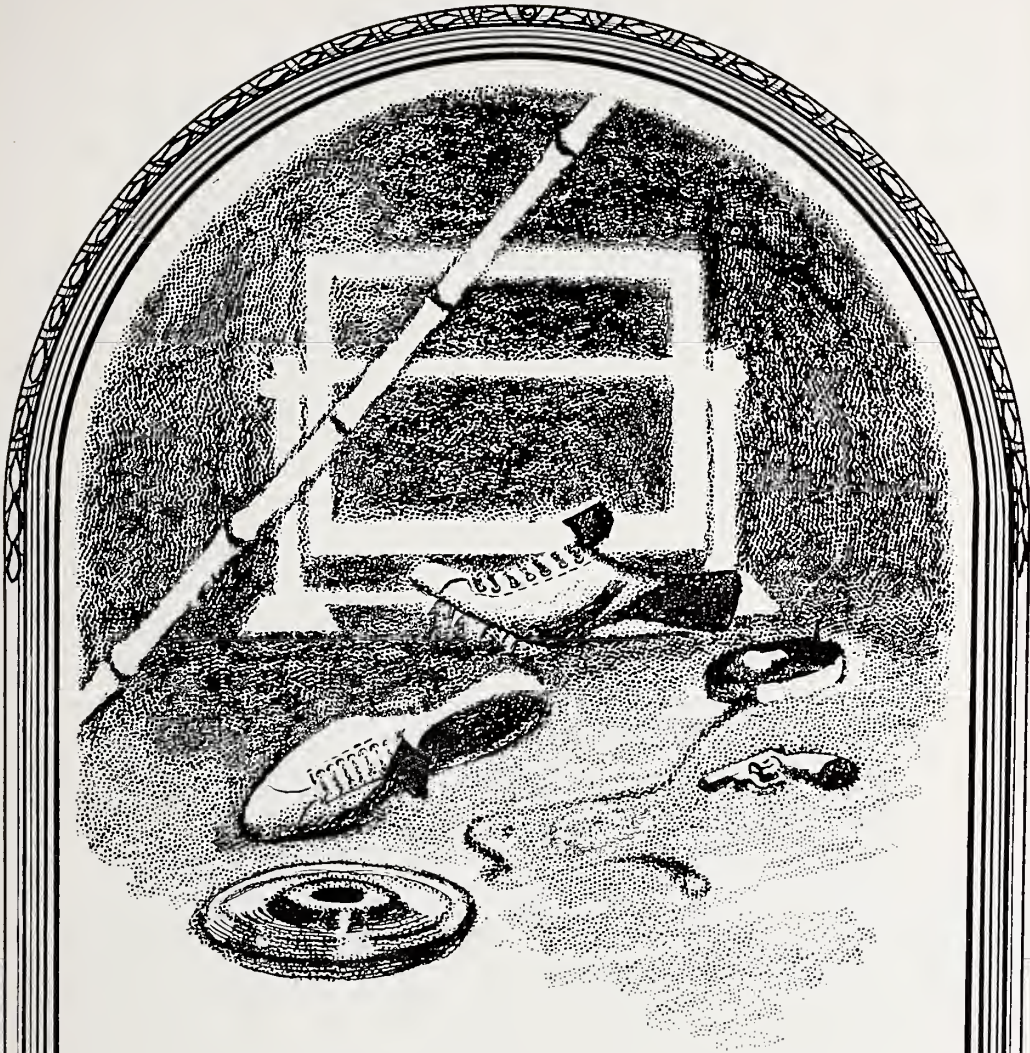

Coach Craig Ruby spends nearly as much time with the yearlings as he does with his varsity squad, for Craig realizes the advantage of having an excellent Freshman team. Fourteen men stayed with Ruby all season, every man fighting to make his numeral and to get in line for a permanent berth the coming year.

Elsner was elected captain of the Freshman squad at the close of the season. The Frosh captain played excellent ball during the past season and is Ruby's coming star.

Review of the Track Season

By H. FRANCIS MISSELWITZ

"Missi."

Reviewing the 1921 track season at once brings to mind the now old question of a three-term plan and its effect upon track and field athletics. Entering onto the turbulent seas of the difficult schedule assigned Coach Robert I. Simpson's Bengal tracksters, in spite of the trimester handicap, Missouri had a successful season.

But the system cost Missouri a championship. The spike-shoe performers relinquished the valley supremacy to Coach Henry F. Schulte's Huskers at the meet in St. Louis on May 27. But a glance at the earlier season games shows the result attained in a meeting with the Nebraska aggregation when the Tigers were all there. At the K. C. A. C. indoor meet in February, the Missouri team ran away from the Cornhuskers. Hamilton placed first in the pole vault. "Fuzzy" Williams took first in the low hurdles and the other Tigers gathered enough points to place the team ahead in the final count.

Thus, the season had a most auspicious beginning. But the Huskers, trimmed once, were out for gore at the outdoor Valley congregation. And they turned on their conquerors, weakened as were the Tigers by lack of men, vanquishing them and grinding it in with the regretful fact that the meet meant the Valley bunting.

"Ham" Hamilton, the Tigers' most versatile athletic participant, received additional fame in the Illinois Indoor Relay carnival during early March. He galloped away from the field in the all-around event, Osborn of Illinois coming in second, more than 200 points behind. "Ham" broke the record up there that day, his total of over 5,000 out of a possible 7,000 points marking him the peer of America's all-around track stars.

At the Missouri-Kansas Indoor Meet in Kansas City, March 18, the Tigers again romped on the boys from Mount Oread. The final score was 45 to 40. "Fuzzy" Williams and Bradley, of Kansas, tied for high point honors. Each garnered 15 points during the melee. It is interesting to note here that since the beginning of this feud in 1900, the Jayhawk has perched above the Tiger but four times in forty. Of this quartet of wins, three were outdoor meets and one an indoor contest. That was conceded to Kansas in 1913, the Crimson athletes nosing into a victory by a single point.

The outdoor track season last spring found Missouri minus several stellar men. Roscoe Hill and "Cap" Ruark both dropped out. They were reliable men in the middle distances, and both had promise as relay sprinters.

Hamilton started the festivities with a second place in the pentathlon at the Penn Relays, Legendre of Georgetown taking first. Then, on May 7, High School Day, the Kansas Aggies invaded the Tiger town in an effort to knot the Bengal's tale. On that drizzly, cold, soggy spring day the Tiger team opened up and when the smoke of battle had cleared away long after noon-time, Missouri had piled up a total of $79\frac{1}{2}$ points while the visitors mustered $34\frac{1}{2}$. Stars of that struggle were "Fuzzy" Williams and "Ham". "Fuzzy" knocked off individual honors, scoring around twenty points. Other Tigers who disported about the field favorably that morning were Johnny Knight, "Red" Kershaw, Al Lincoln, Earl Maxwell, George Williams, Harrah and Roney, all point winners.

The Oklahoma Sooners came in for their drubbing here the following week. On May 14 Missouri annexed the second dual meet of the outdoor season by the lop-sided score of 82 to 35. The Tigers had 'em going. And Coach Simpson gave all his men a chance in that gathering to try out for the Kansas outdoor meet at Lawrence the following week.

Joy reigned in the Tiger camp on May 21, 1921. Invading the Kansas territory, Missouri fought with a valor that carried her to a $62\frac{1}{2}$ to $54\frac{1}{2}$ victory. The Tigers were pushed all the way. It was an exciting meet. The ancient rivals strove with might and main, each fighting for the advantage. It was more than a mere track meet. Then the Tiger victory. And a satisfied throng of Tiger rooters dispersed from McCook Field. The Bengal proved his supremacy, in spite of his crippled condition. With half a team, Missouri won, though by a narrow margin. "Ham" was pitted against the much-touted Bradley. And the men comported themselves in creditable style. Each made 16 points, tying for individual honors.

May 27 was the Tiger Waterloo. Coach Simpson and his hard-fighting Tiger tracksters journeyed to the Mound City to participate in the annual Valley carnival. And there, to the lowly Huskers from Lincoln, the Conference championship was dropped, 37 to 29. Missouri and Kansas tied for second place with 29 points each. It was a great meet. But Missouri labored under an unfair handicap. Half of her team had left school at the close of the usual winter term in April. A tie for second was a commendable piece of work against the other Valley schools with their complete retinue of athletes.

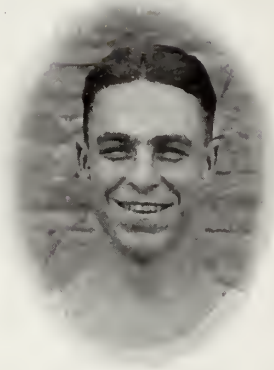

The season closed with "Ham" crowning himself and Missouri with honor at the Western Conference jubilee in Chicago, June 4. The premier Tiger was high point man of the day at Stagg Field with eleven counters. The mighty Missourian made a unique record, qualifying in five events. This stunt has not been done lately. Some fifteen years ago a man whose name has been lost in the quicksands of time, established the record.

Missouri is entering into another schedule with prospects of great competition and with a crippled team. The three-term plan is slowly smothering this interesting major sport. Missouri is scheduled to meet Centre College here High School Day, May 14. That is of peculiar interest throughout the nation. And the meet with California, April 15, at Berkeley is another inter-sectional dual which is causing praise and acclaim for the Tiger ability.

Missouri has ever been a leader in the Middle West in track and field. During the last three years this record has remained stationary. It should not be allowed to slip back.

Freshman Track

CAPT. VAN SICKLE

The Freshman track squad distinguished itself early last season by trouncing the Nebraska Yearlings in a telegraphic meet. The Frosh allowed the Cornhusker Babies but one first place and a few other points, announcing to the Valley that Missouri is due to have the team of the Valley in 1923.

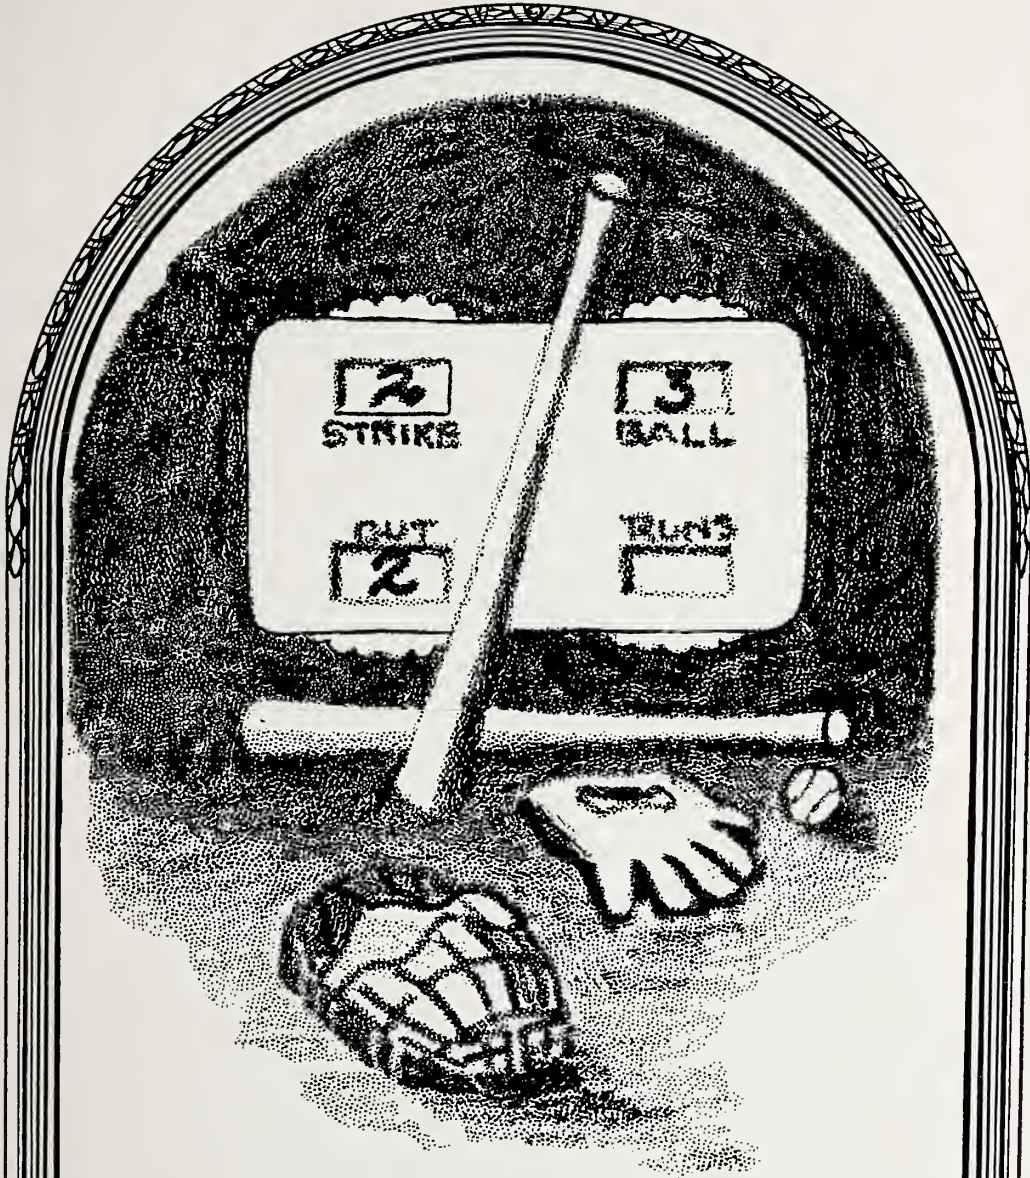

Van Sickle, captain of the squad, is the fastest sprinter on Rollins field, the diminutive leader placed ahead of the varsity men in the K. C. A. C. meet.

Coach Bob Simpson gives much time daily to the men who will in the next three years be representing Missouri from coast to coast and probably take Hamilton's place at the next Olympic meet. The Freshman squad is as large as the Varsity turnout and offers much competition to the Varsity at the weekly meets held by Coach Simpson.

The Freshman squad will be one of the competitors in the second annual Missouri Valley Telegraphic meet to be held late this Spring. The 1921 Freshman Telegraphic meet was won by the Nebraska Frosh team.

Missouri may well be proud of the men who will be awarded Freshman track numerals this year, for they are destined to be the shining lights of the valley soon.

CAPTAIN DICK O'REILLY

Baseball

BASEBALL at Missouri is becoming more and more a minor sport and will continue to be rated as the least interesting of the four sports at Missouri unless the school soon adopts the old system of two semesters instead of the present tri-semester plan. It is unfair to the Missouri coach and his Tiger warriors, for it does not give them an even break with the other Universities in the Missouri Valley Conference. An illustration of the argument is last year's season. Notice—

The 1921 team started out in championship style, having no fear of any team, and rightly so. The Tiger squad was the class of the Valley. It was the only good team at the opening of the season. The first seven games were won by the Tiger Club, four of them being shutouts. About that time, in the middle of April, the final exams were over, and the cream of the club decided to quit school with the majority of the students. Spring is no time for school.

"Lefty" Pruett, the Tigers' pitching ace, decided that the Valley circuit was not the best in the world, especially from an economic standpoint, and so he decided to let the St. Louis Browns affix his John Henry to a contract for two years—thereby depriving Missouri and the Valley of the best college pitcher seen in years. Murphy, who had caught Pruett during the first part of the season, decided that it was too hot to go to school and so did not register for the Spring semester. The loss of the two best players on the team injured the team in not only material but also in spirit, and the Tigers were fortunate to win three of the remaining eight games.

The team has a new coach this year in the person of Jerry Jones, a former Notre Dame player. Jerry has the task of putting a new team into the field, for very few letter men have returned and not all are sure of staying the Spring semester. It is practically a certainty that Leo Murphy will once more leave at the end of the regular second semester.

Coach Jones will have a fairly good offensive team to start out with, for the '22 Tigers are masters with the clubs. The catching department and the outfield crew are well taken care of, but there is a scarcity of material in the infield and on the mound.

Murphy will have no opposition behind the plate, and will be well supported by Evans, Schwimmer and Greathouse. Captain Dick O'Reilly, Lowrance, Berry and Roberts will be placed in the outfield. Berry is the only one of the four that has not won the coveted "M" to date. Ficklin is the sole survivor of last year's regular hurling staff. Packwood will attempt to toss a few this year. Harrison, Howery and James are also out for jobs in the box.

The infield is presenting a problem to Coach Jones, because it is the greenest section of the club. "Bus" Williams is the only letter man in the infield, and "Bus" did not stay out last year because of the tri-semester plan. Bunker of football and basket ball fame, will probably hold down the first sack. Quick, Whitehead, Bell and Taylor will fight for the remaining three places.

If Coach Jones meets with any amount of success, he should be given due credit, for it will be Jones' first and last year with the baseball squad at Mizzou. Gharrity, the Pittsburgh marvel, has been engaged for '23. Jones' job is not only to attempt to put out a winning ball club, but also to put the men in condition for Missouri's banner year in athletics in 1923.

MINOR SPORTS

Tennis

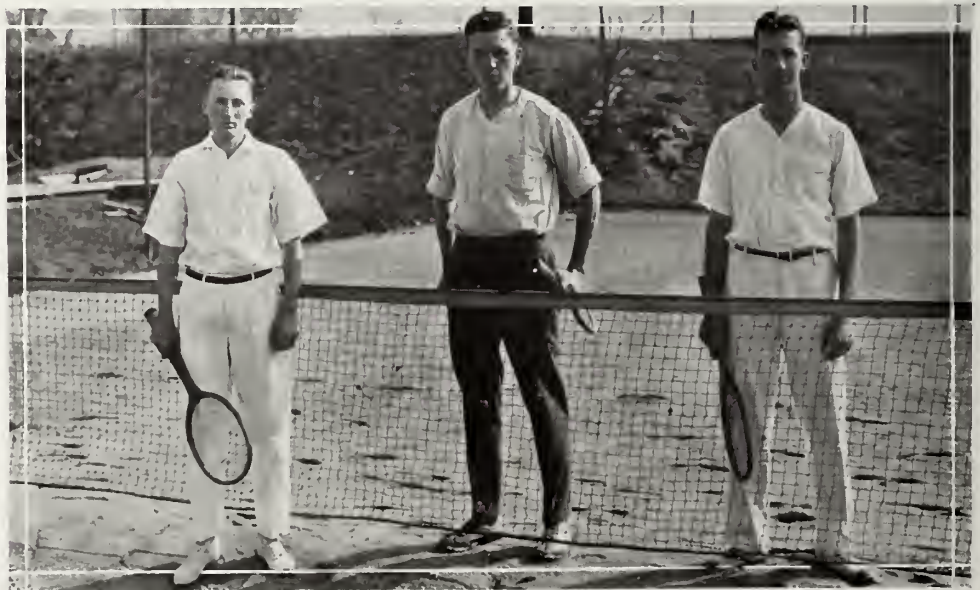

THE TENNIS season of the University of Missouri opens the latter part of April with two rock-dust courts in good condition for Varsity play. There are fifteen courts maintained for the men and six for the women. The two new courts are for Varsity men only.

The schedule for this Varsity year promises to be a good one. Preliminary contests will probably be held with Westminster College and Central College. Dual meets with Kansas, Nebraska, and the Kansas Aggies are possible. A Northern trip is being planned in which Ames, Grinnell, and Drake will be played. The Missouri Valley Tennis tournament will be held on the courts of Kansas University late in May.

Richard Jones, George Paulette, Richard Sinz, John Cheney, Howard J. Green, C. A. Pool, and P. B. Turner form this year's squad. A three-man team will be picked from the squad.

In the University tournament held last spring, George Paulette won the singles and Richard Jones was runner-up. The doubles championship was won by Richard Jones and Richard Sinz. Ralph Fowler, last year's Freshman star, and a likely candidate for this year's Varsity, is not in school this semester but may return later.

With Jones, Sinz, and Paulette from last year's team and several promising candidates on the squad, Missouri should have a strong aggregation of racket swingers this season.

Cross-Country

COACH R. I. SIMPSON is fast at work developing a cross-country team for the fall of 1922 that will take all honors in the Missouri Valley conference. Only two runs were held last year, but Coach Simpson is planning a cross-country run before every football game this coming fall.

The Missouri cross-country team placed second in the triangle run between Washington, Grinnell and Missouri at St. Louis the afternoon before the Washington-Missouri football game. Grinnell took first while the Pikers were content with the cellar position.

The second cross-country run was won by Kansas, the Missouri athletes losing to the Jayhawk the afternoon of the annual gridiron clash at Lawrence.

Poage, Brooks, Murray, Stark, Hess and Bailey comprised Missouri's cross-country squad. Four of the six are scheduled to be in Missouri uniform again and should give Missouri a cross-country squad that will set a new record in the Valley conference.

MISS HELEN D. GATH

The faculty now consists of two other members besides Miss Gath, Miss Dorothy Mumford and Miss Ruth Dulaney. The Women's Athletic Association has been reorganized until today it is one of the honor organizations of the school.

Miss Gath is on the executive committee of the New Women's building, which when completed, will greatly help to increase the number of girls specializing in physical education. Miss Gath has not only reorganized the entire physical education department for women here, but she has also won the love and admiration of every girl in the school.

Miss Helen D. Gath, director of physical education for women at the University of Missouri, received her early training in physical education at the University. She received her A. B. degree in 1917. She was made an instructor in physical education at Wisconsin the following semester and later went to Chrystal Falls, Mich., where she became supervisor of physical education.

Miss Gath returned to Missouri in the fall of 1918 and found the department very loosely organized, being composed of only one faculty member. The physical education graduates were inadequately prepared and the small number of girls interested in the department made it impossible to offer theoretical courses.

Since Miss Gath's return she has reorganized the physical education department, offering many theoretical courses and enabling the graduates to teach immediately after receiving their degrees.

In Memoriam

CAPTAIN J. P. KELLY, U. S. A.

Died September 9, 1921

Military

Colonel W. E. Persons, U. S. A., was born in Dadeville, Ala., June 17, 1878. The Colonel started his military career when but a youngster, attending Gordon Military Academy in 1898. When the first call for volunteers in the Spanish-American war was shouted throughout the land, Colonel Persons, like many of the college youths of 1917, left school to enlist in the army as a private.

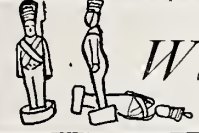

It was not long before he became a non-commissioned officer—to be exact, he was appointed a sergeant the second day he was in the army. He was then appointed “top kick” and after six months received a commission as second lieutenant. Since then he has gone through all the intervening grades to that of colonel.

Following the Spanish-American war he volunteered for active service in the Philippines against Aguinaldo, and took an active part in the campaign against the Moros, a Mohammedan tribe that occupied the third largest island in the Philippines. Colonel Persons returned to the United States after four years in the Islands and served three more on the Mexican border.

He was in Tientsin, China, on a two-year mission when the United States entered the World War. The Colonel returned home and was detailed to the Eighth Division in 1918. He served in the Eighth until 1919, when he was appointed Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Missouri. Colonel Persons was senior instructor of the R. O. T. C. Camp at Fort Snelling last summer.

What the R.O.T.C. Means

By Colonel W. E. Persons

ON JUNE 13, 1921, President Harding published the following: "Our present national defense law establishes an economical and democratic military [policy thoroughly consistent with our national traditions. It provides for a small regular army to be augmented by great citizen forces in the event of national emergency. This is our traditional military policy. But whereas in the past these larger war forces have been extemporized after the occurrence of an emergency, the new law wisely provides that the framework of their organization shall be established and developed in time of peace, in so far as this is practicable, through the voluntary service of our patriotic young men. The Army of the United States as defined in the new law comprises the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserves."

Then, the R. O. T. C. means:

1. A recognition by every American citizen of the obligation to serve his country in the position for which he is best fitted by virtue of educational advantages.
2. The development of leadership and a sense of responsibility.
3. An assured supply of intelligent reserve officers from every environment, locality and profession.
4. An intelligent public opinion regarding military economics and international affairs.

The Band

GEORGE VENABLE

KEEPING before itself the ideal of "only the best in music," the University Band has gone through a very successful year under the direction of George Venable. Besides making a trip to St. Louis and Kansas City in November, where concerts were given, three concerts were given on the campus. In St. Louis the band played in the Odeon for the teachers of the state who were assembled there in convention. In Kansas City the band played in each of the high schools, and the music and rendition were such that much favorable comment was created.

The programs presented in Columbia and away from the University included such well-known composers as Tschaikowsky, Schubert, Beethoven, Mozart, Saint Saens, Meyerbeer, Grainger, Wagner, Schumann and Gounod. Most of the success of these programs is due to Mr.

Venable, who has made possible the production of the works of these masters by arranging and rewriting scores. He has also arranged compositions originally intended only for one instrument.

An innovation in University music came when the band played for the R. O. T. C. wireless, sending its concerts throughout the state. Few, if any, universities in the country have adopted this means of disseminating good music as a part of their extension work.

Besides its concert work the band has done its part as a University organization. It has given its efforts at mass meetings, football games, parades, St. Pat's Day, Farmers' Week, Farmers' Fair, and many other activities in which it was asked to take part.

Rifle and Pistol Club

The Rifle and Pistol Club was organized at the University during the past year, the members of the rifle and pistol teams combining to affiliate with N. R. A. The 1921 pistol team won the intercollegiate Field Artillery R. O. T. C. pistol championship at Camp Knox last summer, while E. H. Callison of the Rifle Team won the third place medal in the Seventh Corps area match at Fort Snelling.

The Rifle and Pistol teams for '22 have not been chosen yet, for their real work will not come until the time of the summer encampments.

CHARLES DANA GIBSON

QUEENS

IN AN attempt to take the Savitar Queen contest out of petty school politics and to place the selection on a serious and purely meritorious basis, we have this year adopted a new plan. Each of some fifteen women's organizations about school selected one to three of its members. Their portraits were made in Columbia by Mr. Orville Hixon of Kansas City, and two poses of each girl were then mailed to Charles Dana Gibson of New York City. He selected the six which in his estimation were the most beautiful, and they appear here in the order in which he ranked them. His letter on page 336 testifies to the difficulty of his task.

We are proud of the fact that these are truly representative Missouri University women.

My dear Mr. Wheeler
When the standard of beauty is so high its impossible to mark
the portraits of 2 and 3.
However I have made an attempt to do so. I should have preferred marking them all 1 and I would have come nearer to the truth. Sincerely yours
C. V. Winter

Rushing Rules

Section 1. No fraternity shall pledge or attempt to pledge, a man who is known to be pledged to another fraternity until such latter fraternity has given notice that it has released such pledge, or until such fraternity has refused to release such pledge after it has been requested to do so by him. In the event of a release or refusal to release, that at least six months must elapse before another fraternity, or any of its members, shall directly or indirectly approach such a pledge with a view of securing him as a member of another or rival fraternity. The officers of this Pan-Hellenic Council, whenever an authenticated instance of lifting or attempted lifting shall be brought to their attention and proven to the satisfaction of a majority of the Pan-Hellenic Council delegates, shall call the case to the attention of the national officers of the offending fraternity and request that the local chapter be disciplined to the full extent permitted by their fraternity law, and the chapter may be fined or dealt with as the Council sees fit.

Section 2a. No member of the Pan-Hellenic League shall pledge or attempt to pledge a man before the day preceding the first day of registration in the University of Missouri.

b. Should a violation of section 2a of article XI of the by-laws of the Pan-Hellenic Council occur and be proven to the satisfaction of a majority of the regularly elected delegates, it shall become the duty of the Secretary to notify, within five days, each member of the league in writing of such violation and the name of the chapter so violating. The notification shall also contain a statement that the Pan-Hellenic Council condemns such practices and a recommendation that the other members of the League disregard the pledge of the offending chapter. Nothing in the foregoing shall be construed so as to prevent an additional penalty being imposed by the Council if it so desires.

c. A failure of the Secretary of the Pan-Hellenic Council to perform the duties as set forth in Section 2b of Article XI shall subject him to removal from office under the procedure as outlined in Article VII of these by-laws.

Section 3. Nothing in the foregoing sections shall be construed as applying to a man pledged prior to May 1, 1917.

Section 4a. Any student who fails to obtain entrance into the University within ten days after pledging, such pledge shall be considered invalid.

b. A pledge made by a man who quits school before passing enough work to be initiated shall be held invalid. The above rule is not to be construed in any way as to abrogate the six months' pledging rule.

The Bible College of Missouri

A thorough grounding in the principles of government enhances one's patriotism and equips him to induce patriotism in others. A thorough grounding in things religious enriches one's idealism and multiplies his capacity for religious leadership many-fold.

The Bible College of Missouri seeks to ground its students in the principles of the Christian religion. The University of Missouri witnesses to the value of such an undertaking, and to the quality of the work being done in the Bible College by crediting towards university degrees the following courses taught in the Bible College:

- Fundamental Moral and Religious Values (2)
- Historic, Epic, and Wisdom Literature of the Bible (2)
- Lyric and Prophetic Literature of the Bible (2)
- Life and Literature of the New Testament (2)
- History of the Hebrews (3)
- Psychology of Religion (2)
- Social Teachings of Jesus (2)
- Hebrew Language (6)
- Comparative Religion (2)
- Christian Ethics (2)
- Modern Religious Thought (2)

READ HALL

Welch Hall Dormitory

The need of dormitories for university women has always been felt. It was not until 1920-21 when Miss Margaret Hawkins became president of the Women's Student Government Association that any steps were taken to meet this need. She conceived the idea of a girl's co-operative house where University women might find a real home of their own. Through her efforts and the help of the council of the W. S. G. A. her idea became a reality.

A suitable location was found in the Welch Academy and the building was leased, remodeled and furnished. By the holidays the house was ready to be occupied by forty girls. Thus came into existence one of the most unique dormitories found in any university for it is directly under the control of the girls themselves, supervised by the council of W. S. G. A.

THE WHY OF IT.

When men lived in caves and women did the work, there came to pass a time when feminism infested the females of the caves. The men were made to do various and unbecoming tasks and the women wanted to vote. It was not long till the women refused to bring their man's pipe to him, and it is said she even took to smoking his favorite brand. The men, fearless, rough and vigorous, were muchly tried, and finally as a last resort, organized. They procured clubs and lanterns, the lanterns to aid in finding an honest woman and the clubs to show others the error of their ways. This organization is the outgrowth of the idea of centuries past—to he men, not supine creatures of habit and in tolerance.

DOINGS OF THE AG. CLUB.

DURING the year the Ag. Club has added three new activities to its regular list of events. These are the publication of the College Farmer, the Junior Farmers week, and the Ag Club dance given in honor of the stock judging teams.

Under the leadership of President Bill Coleman, the Ag. Club elected a staff to put the college paper into circulation again. C. W. Davis, editor, and N. W. Strother, business manager, have shown themselves equal to the occasion and with the support of the Ag. Club have the circulation up to one thousand at the present time.

When Cecil "Mule" Campbell, manager of the Barnwarming, took charge the Ag. Club put forth its best efforts to make the event the finest they have ever had. They were not quite satisfied with this one; so they put on another in honor of the stock judging teams.

The last and most important feature of the Ag. Club activities is the Farmer's Fair. Charles Gaines and the heads of the different committees are rounding things into shape. The Fair this year will be held on the seventh of April.

The Burreal Bible Class, affiliated with the First Baptist Church of Columbia, has for its teacher Miss Jessie Burreal. Miss Burreal was formerly on the editorial staff of the National Geographic Magazine; but now is head of the department of religious education at Stephens College. While in Washington, D. C., Miss Burreal was the teacher of The Burreal class there, which had a membership of sixteen hundred young women.

The Story of the Bural Class

From two hundred to eight hundred in one year—that is the attendance record of the Bural Bible Class. Starting in February, 1921, with a membership of 240 girls, the class has increased its membership to more than thirteen hundred; with a regular attendance of eight hundred young men and women from the university, the colleges and the town.

Many unique and highly inspirational services are held in the Stephens College auditorium, where the Bural Class meets. Serenade parties of Stephens College girls have gone the rounds of the campus, waking the university men and women up for Sunday School. The class has observed Twin Sunday, Homecoming and Poppy Day. They netted a total of two hundred and sixty-five dollars for Armenian Relief, Thanksgiving Day, when the admission to the class was one potato, a sack of flour, a cake, an apple or a can of fruit; and Christmas was celebrated with a living Christmas Tree.

"Methodist University Women's Bible Class" assembles Methodist women of the University who are working towards a better understanding of Christian truths and who want to give and to receive interest and good fellowship.

One hundred seventy girls are enrolled in the organization and are supporting it financially by pledges of more than $1,000. In addition, $30.00 is paid annually to maintain a bed in Woohoo Hospital, China. Recently $25.00 was given to send a Columbia child to Barnes Hospital for an operation.

Many picnics and parties are given throughout the year. Co-ordination of class activities is obtained through seven active standing committees.

As the smoke of battle has cleared away from the recent conflict, there has gone forth a demand for an organization wherein the comradeship formed amid scenes of war might be perpetuated. Such societies among former service men who are now in college, have come and gone, but ours is destined to live as long as any ex-service men remain at the University of Missouri. Our aims are to foster comradeship, loyalty to the government, to perpetuate the memory of those who died in the World War and to stand by those who hold sacred the flag that has never known defeat.

Ad Club

Founded at the University of Missouri in 1909
 Reorganized in 1920

OFFICERS

CLARENCE D. LOCKWOOD	President
JAMES B. COPPEDGE	Vice-President
RALPH M. REED	Secretary-Treasurer

The purpose of the Ad Club is to place the University of Missouri in the national "showcase," and to promote, among the people of the State, a better understanding of their greatest institution of higher learning. The ultimate object held in view is to raise the intellectual level of the State by influencing more high school students to continue their education in the University.

To accomplish these ends, the Ad Club has organized a number of county and state clubs, a representative from each one of these forming the membership of the Ad Club. Any individual in school who is interested in the work of the club may be a member.

The most outstanding accomplishment of the Ad Club this year has been its contribution of a number of floats to the Home-coming Day parade, and the production and distribution of four reels entitled "The Tale of the Tiger." It is now co-operating with the University authorities in a plan to send a Savitar to every high school in the State.

History—Was an outgrowth of the desire that has long been unsatisfied of an organization to promote the welfare of the University by drawing together the biggest men on the campus. It was organized Sept. 13, 1921, and has since grown by leaps and bounds and is rapidly attaining National Prominence and much expansion is expected in the near future.

CULLED FROM CITIZENSHIP CLASSES

Note the strength of these lines.
LOVE is all powerful, as the author points out.

AFGHANISTAN LOVE SONG

Don't like onions,
Olives are rank;
Don't like nothin'
'S generally drank.
Can't do nothin',—
There's nothin' to do.
Don't like nothin'
—Exceptin' you.

Lots o' good points
There is 'bout me.
Ain't mean cause I'm Too lazy to be.
I'm too good fer most
To give myself to.
Wouldn't marry anyone
—Exceptin' you.

Idealism and finer feelings have not entirely ceased to exist as shown by this anonymous sonnet.

Her beauty lay
Upon her like a Dishrag upon a
Lunch counter.

His blood leapt
In his veins like
Water in a steam Radiator.

His lips were Sugar with Sweetness.

Hers were cream
In their softness.

Sugar and Cream.

Note the similarity of the imagery here to the opening lines of Milton's
"Lycidas." The effect of George Jean Nathan and Carl Sandburg is apparent here also.

TO A PRETTY GIRL

I like roses,
They are so beautiful
And odiferous.
Ah! What a pity,
Twas raised in the city.
Like jewels aglow
In the snow,
Oho!
Like jewels in the snow—

Our present economic condition and the love for the free and unconventional were responsible for the significant lines below:

INDIAN RHAPSODY

Google, sploric wampum,
Splashed on the air,
Splashed
And was silent—.

Paint, oily, greasy,
Rose to the surface,
Rose,
And faded—.

She looked, saw his Horses, his wigwam.
"How many oil wells have you?"
She asked.

Gosh, what's the use!

Motion pictures play a large and indeterminate part in influencing our lives. The verse here given shows the effect on a movie addict:

PASSION

Turn yer phiz around here,
Gal!
Say ya love me,
Gal!
Let me brawny arms
Crush ya little ribs
For ya.
Um-m-m-m!
One more juicy one.
Attaboy!

The Gumshoe Gang

Oh, hearken to the merry slosh of the co-ed and her fair galosh. Abide with me, but for a while, and we'll discuss this startling style.

The winds of winter bring no fears to those who hide their feet and ears, for Jack Frost can't penetrate these overshoes, size thirty-eight. The oven and the hearth aglow have nothing on these kicks, you know. The snow plow hides its face in shame when the galosh girls get in the game; the farmers with their heavy boots at breaking drifts are raw recruits. Oh, education, in thy name, do we achieve such glorious fame!

The buckle system is the dope for those who are and those who hope to be ensnared in Cupid's trap and, too, ensnare someone else, mayhap. One buckle fastened means to us that there has been a family fuss and that the girl, the galoshee, is, matrimonially speaking, free. This signal has been known to bag at least eight men and a roving stag. Two buckles open breaks the news that the wearer has the "Hungry Blues." Three buckles fastened, toes turned in, means another good man has lost his pin.

Yes, time is fleeting, cash blows fast, if you have a girl with a double "C" last, for East is West and wrong is right and pushing galoshes whets the appetite. So let us sing that stirring song, "Merrily we slosh along."

(Times-Democrat Special)
Jay, Okla., Dec. 27.—At the close of a preliminary hearing in the county court, Jim Coppedge, of near Leach, was bound over on a charge of attempt to kill.

Coppedge is alleged to have shot twice at Frank Lovette, who also lives at Leach. The former is said to have been in his motor truck, when he met Lovette, who was called to the truck, whereupon a difficulty followed in which Lovette threw a rock at his aggressor, who fired twice with a pistol, neither shot doing any harm.

His appearance bond was fixed at $500 which was approved. His trial is set for the first Monday in April in the district court.

A 500 Word Theme on Corporal Punishment.

Corporal punishment was invented in the time of Napoleon, who was called the Little Corporal on acct. of it. It is not confined to military life, but is very prevalent.

One of the most famous cases of history is the Earl of the Brown Berby, who lived in the time of Henry III, and died the same date. He was accused of veleighing his wife; the jury was confronted with the bald facts and he was convicted of herpicide on three counts, and was totally decapitated by the executioner. It was said also that one of the Poet Lariate of Egglannd was also strung up, being caught on one of his own lines;

"A line is but a means to catch men on."
There is no support for the statement.

One of the Siltan's favorite means was strangling by means of a bowstring. He used to say that it would frequently upset a person already unstrung, and he would laugh voraciously.

Other methods are walking the plank, and laughing to death. Certain of our own westerners used to string their vistime along then up. Gregg the Devil, when told his penalty in court, cursed and said, " (What he said cannot be repeated here, but it amounted to 182 words). "

Much more could be told, but lack of space prevents.

Interviews with the Great and Near Great.
Is the American College Growing Better?

Herb Blumer

Why, of course, if you ask me, I must say that it is, although seeing that the state of American education is what it is because we are so far away from the things which perhaps it should have been judged those to which we should have adhered—a fact never fully appreciated by those to whom college is that which taketh away children and money, if you know what I mean—nevertheless, it should be viewed with candor and consideration.

WARE

Is the American College growing better? Oh, yes! As soon as I seen your question I says to myself, to use the binocular, "here's my chance." And so it is. I can say what I please. Ain't education simply glorious? I think it is; although some of these people should be learned to talk correct. But taking everything by and large things ain't no worse than they was, and I think they are a lot better.

"Billy" Ware

Is the American College growing better? Oh, yes! As soon as I seen your question I says to myself, to use the binocular, "here's my chance." And so it is. I can say what I please. Ain't education simply glorious? I think it is; although some of these people should be learned to talk correct. But taking everything by and large things ain't no worse than they was, and I think they are a lot better.

Shorty McCann

The question, like a star in the glorious east of American education, raises its Gorgon's head, while amid the tumult and the roar of a thousand cities mighty Titans as of yore throw pebbles at the situation. Let me ask you, ladies and gentlemen, to gaze silently about you. Our magnificent campuses and buildings, our admirable faculty, our large and loyal student body, whose indomitable spirit is untameable—look at them, I say! What can be greater than these? What can surpass them? Ain't it the truth now? Huh! I ask you those.

Fred Eldean

We come now to the parting of the ways. Is the American College growing better? With all the facundity accruing to a senescent experience, with all the nuncupative prolation which is the part of the plerophoric faculty, I would sink into the abysmal chasm of obmutescence any asseveration that this is a verity. For what is a college? To quote Mr. Webster, a college is ———.

Mary Houk

—Is the American College growing better? I have heard that the American College is growing better hogs than the farmers can themselves, which is one way at least where they are growing better. And speaking of hogs, I know some one who thinks that Atlas Oats are made by Rand-McNally's. And speaking of oats, when is a Ford not a Ford? When it turns turtle, of course. A good one, eh?

Style, comfort and long wear are combined in this stunning Spring model displayed by one of our notorious local actresses. This garment may be worn for morning, noon or night or all three. Note the stripes—their direction is optional. It is made in the latest shades of mauve, cerulean and peacock blue in tricotine, serge, velvet and gauze. The freedom of arm motion is well illustrated here as well as the new length. For motoring this suit either with or without the coat is very handy as it makes mud guards superfluous. Truly a bargain for $52.00. The hat and cape shown here are described elsewhere and are extra.

This delightful sponge cake was forged by an under (sized) graduate in this department from Jackson county. Weight, 12 pounds (cake, not girl); age, 17 years (girl, not cake). It is so simple that any one can make one, merely follow directions. The ingredients are: 2 eggs, 1 butter, 1 pound steel wool and 4 small young sponges. Knead thoroughly and add two cups of sifted bituminous ashes. Bring to a white heat and then temper in an alkaline solution of vinegar. Serve with gusto.

Si chic, si charmante—

These indispensable “wacha callits” have been created by another inventive member of this department. The material is of beaver board, netting or plush in a variety of shades from 39c to $1.45. They are tailored to fight the form and many new and startling effects may, have and will be produced by following the patterns which may be had by writing to this Department in care of the Memorial Bldg. The blue prints will be sent by express as the postal regulations prohibit the sending of a certain class of matter thru the mails. They will be widely worn this Spring; well, Dammit, they will.

Who has not wished to produce biscuits such as these, delicately browned, tasty—biscuits with a soul. Take 3 cups of flour, 1 cup of Frisco, 1 pint of sweet vanishing cream, 1 dozen semi-heavy corks for lightness and beat until one of your are whipped. Season with mistletoe and sprinkle with Tarvia to insure rigidity. Heat until the mixture makes a soft ball in cold water. Garnish and serve piping hot by means of a dumb waiter. This recipe furnished thru the courtesy of one of our girls.

ROSS CAMPBELL

"Brethren, it gives me pleasure to rise today (great applause)—to testify to the joy it has given me to have been brought from the darkness of oblivion into the bigger and nobler life of a theatrical press-agent feature. (Laughter and shouts of 'Hear! Hear!')

"On Thursday evening, announcement of my rebirth appeared in the local papers, with the warning that with the coming of the Ninth Deacon there were great things in store for those who should discover my identity.

"Friday, January 13, I was excused for 15 minutes from my two-hour clash with test-tubes and retorts and went to Jesse Hall with many misgivings. Talked with Ruth Bertrand, Ferol Stark, Numa Heitman, George Bond, and Ruth Hayman. Kiddled Ted Packwood and several others and got back to class at 9:08 without being missed. At 4:30 'Zach' Walters came to my room at 1111 Locust and we went to S&B's. Arriving there at 4:35, Johnny Quarles waited on me and I purchased a cap, shirt and handkerchief. Stayed there until 5:00.

"Friday's paper announced my course as follows: Will be at assembly Saturday between 9:00 and 9:43. Will eat Sunday dinner at the Palms between 6:45 and 7:45. Will be in Tiger Barber Shop Monday between 3:15 and 4:15. Will play pool in Rex between 7:30 and 8:30. Within three minutes of 9:15 will pass S&B corner.

"The chase was indeed tightening down now. I had to suspect everyone. Saturday noon I lunched at the Greasy Spoon and sat next to Chauncey Saville. Went down to the Tavern and spoke to Tom Allen and some of his brothers, Dick Sinz and Doctor Dover. That night I went to the Recreation and saw Dale Rohrig get beaten. And that night, on my way to Assembly, picked up Glasscock and when we got on S&B's corner asked him the time. He responded '9:15.' My confidence was picking up.

"At assembly—Danced with Ruth Hayman, Mary Bess Meservey, Bernice Childs, Gladys McKinley, Elizabeth Handley, Grace Duysing, Kathryn Campbell, Ferol Stark, 'Beans' Koritnik, and Eula Penn Wheat. Later in the evening, Bill Hudson popped the question to Francis Misselwitz in my presence and was abruptly answered much to the amusement of the bystanders. Sunday evening I had a date with Jean Windsor. Tried to get her to the Palms but she insisted on going to church and singing in the choir.

"Monday afternoon—Went to the Tiger Shop and got a tonic. Charlie Lowrance was too busy looking for 'Kelly' Pool to pay attention to me. That evening a foil of mine called and in sombre tones got a date for me with Kathryn Campbell for the first performance of 'the Ninth Deacon.' The same evening I evaded the Zeta Beta Tau freshman whom 'Pi' Green had coached to bring about my downfall by paying strict attention to my game with Gerald Petty. George Paulette on the table next to me evidently was enjoying his game.

"Thursday evening, from 6 to 6:20, I had a 'half fried' in the Sampson. Many were waiting for me. Helen Burch, Benny Loeb, 'Pep' Larkin, Rae Klausner, Edward Freivogel, Maud Dizatzko, Ann Taylor, Maurine Frank and Bernice Thomure were part of the attacking delegation. They had the right idea as to the individual but were too afraid to jump me.

"That night I went to the Library as per schedule, and—Oh Boy—some crowd. I enjoyed myself in the periodical room from 8:19 to 8:27. Thursday night I went to Harris' and followed Ted Packwood out. Later in the evening upon hearing that Margaret Cardwell and 'Lilly' Tipton were betting each other as to my identity, I went to them and told them that I was the mysterious number nine. They laughed heartily and wanted to hear more funny ones.

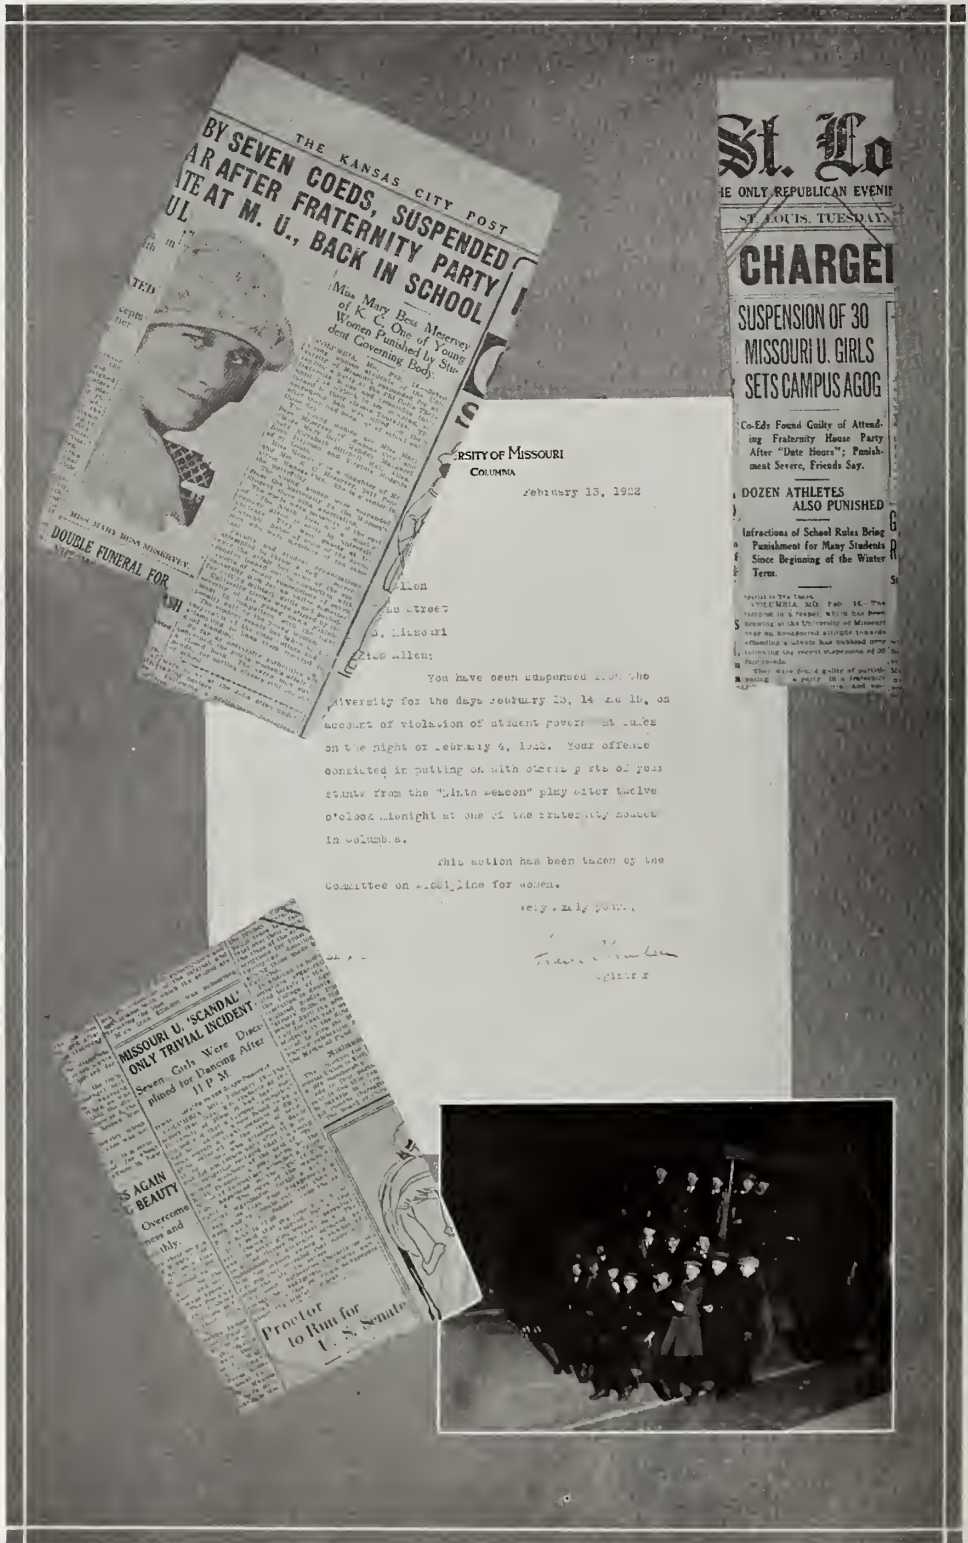

"Tuesday morning I opened up again with assistance. Spencer Shore, Ken Hageman, Art Berger, and Henry La Cossitt donned the mysterious robes of black with me. From that time on I wore the sign 'One of.' We went to the 'Men Only' meeting that morning and finished up by a trip to the Palms. That afternoon we went to the Savitar office and had our pictures taken. When we returned to Jesse Hall to unrobe we noticed several men loitering in the hall to discover who was going to come out of the Council Room. Up the fire escape we went to the fourth floor where we parted, part of us coming down the east steps and the rest down the west steps. Two of the fellows who were waiting for us held their posts for two hours.

"Wednesday night, we went to 'Katcha Koo.' We paraded across the stage between acts and after the show went to Harris' where I saw the beginning of the end. As we sat in a booth absorbing 'malts' through straws, Jack Crawford 'hit' Ken and apologized, saying he was looking for me.

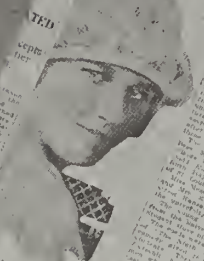

"Friday evening, we went to the Delta Gam dance and had many thrills. Saturday we started out early—went to Stephens College and The W. A. A. Later from 9:00 to 9:10 we sat in S&B's window where it took police to clear the mob for us to come out. From there we went to Assembly where we monopolized the girls and then left for the Athenaeum dance at the Phi Gam house. Leaving here we went to the Jinx and then to our fourth dance of the evening, the Rizzer dance at Columbia Hall.

"Things were exciting there. We cut in on all dances and were braced on every side. Finally while dancing with Margaret Fithian, Jack Crawford came up and told her that I was 'Number Nine' and that she ought to claim the reward. She couldn't muster the courage so Jack finally cornered me, and spit it all out. Jack's discovery was announced and the Mysterious Number Nine who had dominated University attention for ten days passed into history.'

MORE ABOUT THE NINTH DEACON

Soldier's Primer

Part I.

A gun is an in-stru-ment of tor-ture, de-signed to wear a hole in your collar-bone.

A first ser-geant calls the roll and the step.

A lieu-ten-ant watch-es the first ser-geant.

A captain watch-es the lieu-ten-ants.

A maj-or watch-es the captains.

A col-on-el (pronounce ker-nal), doesn't do a thing but draw his pay.

A pri-vate is the sil-ly ass that does the work.

A buck pri-vate is a pri-vate, only more so.

A re-cruit is also a pri-vate, only less so.

ATTENTION

Part II—School of the Re-cruit.

1. Pos-i-tion of re-cruit at at-ten-tion. Feet at ang-le of ninety de-grees with hor-i-zon-tal; knees dir-ectly a-bove feet; hips placed carefully on top of knees; stom-ach above hips, chest and neck re-spec-tive-ly fol-low; then head.

2. Main-tain ser-ious ex-pres-sion; war is a hel-lu-va trade.

3. Sal-ute per-pet-u-ally every-thing in lea-ther put-tees.

Part III—School of the Company.

Com-mands are in two parts, prep-ar-ation and ex-e-cu-tion. Do not be afraid of the com-mand of ex-e-cu-tion; it is only a name. The of-fi-cer will not hurt you with his sword; he prob-ab-ly could not hit you with it, any-way.

If you do not like your cap-tain's com-pany, tell him so. Re-mem-ber that a man is known by the com-pany he keeps.

1. At the com-mand FOR-WARD, half of the com-pany will move forward; at the com-mand MARCH, the rest of the com-pany will fol-low.

2. At the com-mand TAKE INTERVAL TO THE RIGHT (OR LEFT), the left guide will run to the nearest water plug. The rest of the com-pany will de-ploy, a la Cox, and tell fun-ny stories (see Encyclopaedia Brittanica under Funny Stories), for five min-utes.

3. At the com-mand PITCH TENTS the com-pany will stand fast.

4. At the com-mand of ex-e-cu-tion, MARCH, the horses will be driven off from the lim-bers. You will a-wait the e-nem-y with calm-ness.

PUN

Question: Why is a crow?

Answer: 'Cause, (caws).

This answer refers to the ability of a crow to call or caw in its flight the plural being caws, which sounds much like the corruption of the word because meaning, as Webster says, "the cause for which."

PLAY ON WORDS

First Idiot: Can we throw beer bottles at the student councilman who tries to collect for the Student Council debt or not?

Second Idiot: No; only soft drink bottles.

The term soft is applied to carbonated beverages but in this case refers also to the glass of the bottle as well as to the drink itself.

A HOT ONE

Question: What is the difference between an oven and a stove?

Answer: Not much.

This was merely an exercise to find whether the student in humor would laugh or not. Nothing funny here.

BON MOT

Rudolph: How do you make a Maltese Cross?

Adolph: Step on its tail.

Rudolph is speaking of a geometrical figure known as the Maltese Cross because it was taken as a symbol by certain medieval knights who came from the island of Malta. Adolph, however, thinks he means a feline breed which can be made angry or cross by the process of stepping on its tail.

GRAND FINALE

Electrician's Wife (to husband stumbling upstairs): Wire you insulate?

Electrician: Ohm, sweet ohm! Watt d'you care?

This is left as an exercise for the student to work out.

THE VERY LATEST FROM THE PI PHI HOUSE

"I think you mean something."

"I'm so unhappy" (spoken with a rising inflection toward the end).

"She looks angel."

"Pardon me scholars."

"Oh you dog!"

"Do you have a message?" (Meaning what do you know.)

"I'm just hanging out of the window to go."

"I've had the juiciest time." (Meaning good time—not dry.)

"Oh, I just can't wait to go!"

THEY ALL GOT THEIR START ON THE MISSOURIAN

The students of the School of Journalism all receive the preliminary training that is to fit them for important journalistic positions by work on the Columbia Evening Missourian. That is the fundamental purpose of the paper, to enable the students to receive practical work on a real newspaper. The sun never sets on M. U. Graduates.

Several graduates of the School of Journalism who are establishing a reputation for themselves and incidentally demonstrating the value of their training:

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

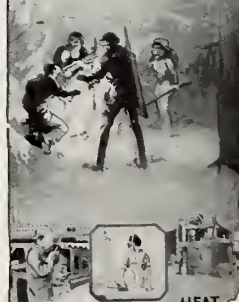

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battleships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the lamps that glow in homes and streets, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.
