To the Children of Glendale:

DEAR CHILDREN:

For several years we have invited you to our store at Eastertime and given you a bag of Easter candy free.

We want you all to come again this year and bring your little friends with you. Saturday, March 27 is the day and the hours are from 9 until 4.

We have decorated our store in your honor and have some new and very special features that we know will please you.

Of course you know the story of Jack and the Beanstalk. Well, if you haven't seen our window you will surely be surprised when you get here Saturday. The scene of this fascinating fairy story of Jack and the Beanstalk is right here in our window.

You will see the cutest little cabin where Jack lived, you know, and around in the door yard is the wood he was chopping, everything just as he left it when he climbed up the beanstalk. And back of the house is the beanstalk itself, climbing way, way up into the clouds and the beans on this stalk are candy beans -regular jelly beans. And up in the clouds is the beautiful castle where the wicked giant lived.

The hen that laid the golden eggs is here, and any number of the golden eggs, too.

And you remember the harp that Jack stole from the giant, don't you; the harp that was once a princess and was transformed into a harp by a wicked witch? Well, that harp is here, too. It is a beautiful golden harp and what do you think! This magic harp plays and talks to you. It tells you its own story.

And then you will like our Easter decorations, too. We have a lot of Easter bunnies, Easter eggs of many sizes, pretty, fluffy little chicks both white and yellow, bright-colored baskets for the Easter eggs, and pretty Easter cards.

Now, be sure to come and get a bag of candy. We want you all, but of course you must come yourself to get the candy. We can give you only one sack each or some boy or girl might have to do without. Of course you won't ask for more than one.

Hoping to see you all tomorrow, we remain,

Glendale 195

AMERICAN NEGRO

REV. HAMPTON HAWES TELLS OF NEEDS AND CONDITIONS OF HIS RACE

The Sunday School room of the Presbyterian Church was filled to its atmost Wednesday when Rev. Hampton Hawes of the Westminster Colored Church of Los Angeles spoke at the last meeting of the School of Missions. Rev. W. E. Edmonds conducted the regular prayer meeting at 7:30 and at 8:30 Rev. Hawes took charge speaking on 'My People," and in a very interesting and instructive manner placed before his hearers the needs and conditions of his race. He said there were over 12,000,000 negroes with no schools to attend and startled his hearers with the remark that during the war when colored troops were examined it was found that 90 per cent were illiterate and could not write their names. Before receiving their checks, however, they were ferced to learn to sign their names and at the close of the war nearly every one expressed a desire to secure an education, proving by several illustrations that the negro is anxious for an education, in many cases more so than people of other races. He made the remark that if the negro was good enough to fight for us he should be good enough to vote with us. Rev. Hawes is American born and gives the Presbyterian Church credit for his education and as he expresses it is "a product of the Presbyterian Church." He impressed his hearers with the imperative need for more schools, churches and better paid ministers, as well as better traveling facilities for his race and closed with an urgent appeal on behalf of the colored people in our land. Following his address the girls of the Westminster Sunday school served punch and wafers and a happy social hour was enjoyed. This meeting closes the School of Missions which has been in session for the past five weeks following the regular prayer meeting. During the evening Mr. Quall rendered a cornet solo.

More Buildings

- ¶ Are going up in Glendale today than at any time in the history of the city.
- People are seeing the wisdom of building now even though prices are high.
- ¶ Buildings of all kinds are needed for the proper carrying on of our daily business and social life and conditions will not return to normal until this situation is met.
- Although a veritable rush of business is engaging us at this time we are giving the same attention to detail and are carrying out every term of our contracts with the same scrupulous care as we did when work was not so plentiful, when we were doing one job at a time.
- We have the various departments of our business so organized and we have such large forces of experienced men on our buildings that we are able to cope with the present situation without sacrificing anything necessary to superior construction.
- The buildings we are constructing now will show the same careful work and the same attention to detail as the hundreds of buildings that we have erected in Glendale in former years and which are our best advertisements today.

SAYS IS "FIRED"

DR. FAY C. DAUGHERTY, MUCH-TALKED-OF MINISTER, WELL KNOWN IN GLENDALE

The recent action of Dr. Edgar Fay Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian Church of Los Angeles, in considering himself "fired" because the official board went over his head and granted a church letter to a retiring member after he had refused to do so on what he regarded as scriptural grounds, is attracting wide attention and comment, especially wherever the preacher is known. One of such places happens to be Glendale, where live two ministers who have been closely associated with Dr. Daugherty ever since he came to California from Vincennes, Ind .- Rev. Clifford "A. Cole, 132 South Kenwood, pastor of Glandale Central Christian, and Rev. Arthur W. Higby, 715 North Louise, pastor of Broadway Christian church, Los Angeles. And Dr. Daugherty has been heard by many others of our city, as he delivered a very forceful address in the High School auditorium during the war, in advocacy of one of the great drives for funds. He says he has not the slightest animosity toward any member of the official board or the church, but that his action was a thoroughly conscientious one and in accordance with his practice ever since he has been in the ministry, as a protest against the laxness of churches in granting letters to members who are not worthy of the commendations which form a part of the made-to-order church letter.

EDUCATION TO BE FORCED

Figures obtained in the draft show that one in twenty of the young men called upon to serve in the war could not read or write. They showed that this state was in a less enviable position than those eight states where there are compulsory educational laws.

After July 1 of this year California will come under the provisions of the new part-time compulsory educational law, a measure designed to force at least the rudiments of an education upon the youth of the state.

Under the provisions of the measure every high school at which there was an attendance of fifty or more students during the school year 1919-1920 is required to establish and maintain part-time classes for all persons between the ages of 16 and 19, in 1920, and between 16 and 18, in 1921, who live within three miles of the school. The classes are to be held between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. and must provide suitable instruction for the various individuals who apply. All persons of the ages mentioned are required to attend these classes for at least four sixty-minute hours each week for a period of thirty-six weeks. Persons who are employed must obtain from the principal of the high school a permit to work. The parent or guardian who fails to send such pupils to these classes becomes a violator of the law and is punishable by a fine or imprisonment or both. Any firm or person employing such pupil who has not a permit to work is subject to a fine or imprisonment or both.

The administration of the new plan is to confront the school authorities with a new problem. The state board of education has already called a conference of representatives from all parts of the state, and classes are to be opened to instruct the teachers who are most fitted for the work. It is estimated that 95,000 pupils will be reached in 1920. .

SNOWDRIFT

PURE VEGETABLE SHORTENING

SNOWDRIFT

All shortening is fat and is better when it is fresh. Snowdrift is always sweet and fresh. It is fresh as fresh eggs are fresh. It is sweet as sweet cream is sweet. It is sold in air-tight tins - the only pack that insures absolute freshness.

SNOWDRIFT

Shortening should have as little taste as possible so that it will not flavor things cooked with it. This absence of flavor in Snowdrift is secured by using only the finest of vegetable oils in its making. Snowdrift is always Snow-white.

SNOWDRIFT

Does not get too hard or too soft, no matter what the weather. It is always just the rich creamy consistency that the good cooks prefer. Snowdrift is soft enough to be easilv creamed. Use it when ever your recipe calls for butter.

Snowdrift Pie Crust

Use two cups sifted flour; five rounding tablespoons Snowdrift; 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-2 teaspoon of sugar. Sift flour with salt and sugar in it. Cut it into Snowdrift with steel knife. When blended well add just enough cold water to make stiff dough. Handle as little as possible. Roll quickly. Bake in a moderately hot

SECOND STREET TUNNEL TO MEAN MUCH TO MOTORISTS AND BUSINESS INTERESTS

A recent State Supreme Court decision that has considerable significance to Glendale people, particularly motorists, is the one that cleared away all technicalities in the way of signing the contract for boring of the Second Street tunnel in Los Angeles. It is expected that a new contract for this work will be made soon.

To be a member of the athletic association a pupil must be in good standing with his dues paid. Participation in the election was nearly one hundred per cent of the school attendance, practically every member voting. No effort was made to influence the vote in any way, and it was a very democratic affair. There are three general requirements formembership in the association: To be received a pupil must be at least an average student, he must have what is termed "good moral character," i. e., he must not use tobacco, and third he must have taken an interest in the association either by helping to raise money for it or by participating in its events.
