Big Sewer Project Is Furthered

RIGHT OF WAY MEASURES OFFERED

Action by Two Cities Will Provide for Sale of First Bond Unit

The Glendale City Council this morning offered an ordinance granting the city of Los Angeles the right to construct such sewer mains and laterals within the limits of the city of Glendale as may be necessary to construct the $1,600,000 sewer which Glendale is to build and join onto the main Los Angeles outfall sewer.

This resolution was offered following receipt by the Glendale city clerk, A. J. Van Wie, of a certified copy of a resolution adopted by the Los Angeles City Council, asking that the city of Glendale grant to the city of Los Angeles such right.

In return, the city of Los Angeles has under consideration a similar ordinance, granting to the city of Glendale the right to construct such sewer mains and laterals within the limits of the city of Los Angeles as may be necessary to comply with the terms of the amended contract between the two cities.

Bonds to Be Offered
With the adoption of these two ordinances by the respective cities, the last legislative details standing in the way of undertaking the great work will have been removed, and the first block of bonds authorized by vote of the city of Glendale will be offered for sale.

Postpone Phone Rate Hearing Ninety Days

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Such a mass of evidence, both for and against the application of the Southern California Telephone company to increase rates of service in Los Angeles and vicinity, has been submitted to the examiners of the State Railroad commission that an adjournment for ninety days was ordered by that body after a brief hearing today. During that time the commission will examine evidence and arguments submitted.

Every California Delegate to Vote Own Stand on Klan

NEW YORK, June 26.—Every man in the California delegation will vote his personal principles in regard to the Ku Klux Klan. This decision was arrived at today by members of the delegation when the bitter contention engendered by the Klan issue became the main question before the convention. John P. Carter of Los Angeles, chairman of the delegation, attempted to bind the delegation to "whatever is the desire of Mr. McAdoo." The delegation was not inclined to accept this suggestion, called for 10 o'clock this morning, failed to show a quorum.

EXTRA!

Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production for Glendale and placed in control of the local power situation by the City Council, today announced a change in time when power and lights will be shut off tonight.

All power and lights will be shut off from 8:30 to 9 o'clock tonight, instead of from 8 to 8:30 p. m., as was announced yesterday. The change in time was made following conferences with business interests, it is stated.

Remember, lights and power go off tonight from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. Be prepared!
Superintendent Diederich orders that everyone must reduce the size and number of lamps to the minimum. Longer hours of shut-off will follow unless reduction is made to absolute necessity by everyone, he states.

CHANGE TIME OF LIGHT SHUT-OFF

All Power to Suspend From 8:30 to 9 o'clock Tonight, Warns Official

The first official move of Superintendent Peter Diederich of the city light and water department, following adoption by the City Council yesterday of a resolution empowering him to regulate the use of all electricity distributed by the municipal plant, was to order a complete shut-down from 8 to 8:30 o'clock tonight as stated in the Glendale Evening News last night. But this morning, after conferences with business interests, Superintendent Diederich announced a change in the shut-off period for tonight. He stated that:

ALL LIGHTS AND POWER WILL BE SHUT OFF FROM 8:30 TO 9 O'CLOCK TONIGHT. Everyone must reduce the size and number of lamps to the minimum. Longer hours of enforced shut-off will follow unless reduction is made to absolute necessity by everyone.

Not only will theatres and other places of amusement be dark for the half-hour period, he states, but all shops, offices, stores and homes will be plunged in darkness. Even hospitals will have to use their emergency lights during the time the switch is out. Only a few vital street lights will remain lit to protect the city from any sudden flare-up of crime.

Makes Explanation
Seated at his desk, grim and determined, Superintendent Diederich discussed the situation between telephone calls, pointing out first to the reporter and then to the consumer who would ring him up, alternately, just why the cut must be made to avert disaster.

"Glendale used approximately 1,200,000 kilowatt hours of electricity during May of this year," he said. "In June, if we are to keep within our quota, we must cut that by 25 per cent, bringing it down to 900,000 kilowatt hours—otherwise the Southern California Edison company will pull the switch and wait as many days as it may be necessary, while we catch up."

Asks Co-operation
"That, of course, would mean disaster and so I have decided to beat the Edison company to it and pull the switch first to show not only them but the people of Glendale that we mean business and are determined to play ball and keep within our quota."

GIVES RULES FOR POWER CUTTING

City Superintendent Issues Circular Outlining What Consumers Must Do

Acting under authorization of the Glendale City Council, Superintendent Peter Diederich of the city light and power department has caused to be distributed to all consumers a circular setting forth in detail the ways by which electricity for light, power and heat must be reduced 25 per cent, starting at once.

The circular sets forth the following methods of complying with the requirement:

- USERS OF LIGHTING IN RESIDENCES, APARTMENTS, ETC.:
(a) Remove all bulbs from lighting fixtures not absolutely needed.
(b) Use smaller bulbs wherever possible.
(c) Turn off the lights when not needed (you do not need reading "lights" to listen to radio).
(d) Use porch, hall, garage and basement lights only when IMMEDIATELY REQUIRED.
(e) Put away your electric toasters, percolators, waffle irons—use kitchen range.

COMMERCIAL USERS OF LIGHT (Stores, offices, restaurants, theatres, hotels, factories, service stations, etc.) You are required to discontinue entirely until further notice the following uses of electricity:

- (a) All local sign and display lighting.
(b) All flood lighting.
(c) One-half of lights in show-windows.
(d) Reduce the use of interior lighting to absolutely minimum.

STREET LIGHTING: Street lighting will be reduced as much as is consistent with public safety.

POWER CONSUMERS: In addition to the above restrictions on lighting, power requirements must also be curtailed not less than 25 per cent. This is to be done by reducing the number of working hours or the number of machines in operation. Non-compliance will necessitate ARBITRARY discontinuance of service.

Right Now Is Time To Get Busy And Remove Glendale From Control Of Power Co.

Glendale has been put on a diet of darkness because, it is explained, the Southern California Edison company, the corporation furnishing power to the city, sees a shortage of "juice" and, therefore, calls for a program of conservation. The City Council has instructed Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, to announce conservation rules and to enforce them. The Glendale Evening News bows to the power of the authorities. This newspaper will endeavor to observe every rule and it urges the public to do likewise. BUT—

Right now is the time for action that will result in the city's being removed from the yoke of the power company. As we visit other cities and see streets lighted, display windows ablaze, electric signs going full blast, and, apparently, no effort being made to conserve power, it brings home to us the fact that Glendale, to meet any future emergency, should act RIGHT NOW to install the necessary equipment so that we may take our place with other cities in "the great white way."

The Southern California Edison company seems to have the POWER to put Glendale back into the village class; it is up to Glendale's officials—and the people generally—to see to it that even THAT power is no longer in control of the corporation.

Ugly stories come to The Glendale Evening News relative to the alleged power shortage. However, we are not NOW concerned with them. The community has received its instructions to conserve, the municipality's heads say the orders must be followed out, and, because Glendale is not prepared to meet the emergency, the city goes on a diet of darkness while other sections of Southern California turn night into day.

We have none to blame but ourselves if we permit this situation to continue. We have the remedy. We should see to it that the necessary equipment is installed for our protection in the future. This suggestion is being made throughout the city. The time to act is NOW. The future should see us no longer at the mercy of the Southern California Edison company. Other communities have freedom of light—why not Glendale?

ADVANCE SALARY OF CITY MANAGER

Council Adopts Ordinance Providing for $100 Month Increase

The salary of City Manager Virgil B. Stone was raised to $500 a month by a provision contained in the salary ordinance adopted this morning by the City Council, assembled in regular session. Previously the position of city manager had carried with it a salary of $400 a month. Dr. G. Kaemmerling, now serving as full time health officer, is to receive a salary of $400 a month by a provision contained in the ordinance.

OWNERS AGREE TO CLOSE AUTO CAMP

Bungalow Courts, to Comply With Ordinances, to Be Erected on Site

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holland, proprietors of the Community camp ground at San Fernando road and Riverdale drive, appeared before the City Council this morning and stated that they would close the property "as an auto camp" by June 30, as they agreed to do, but that they would maintain the property as a bungalow court, remodeling such buildings as do not at present comply with state laws and city ordinances, so that there will be no legal grounds for objection to their tenants remaining in the frame houses.

R. E. Johnston, appearing as a representative of the San Fernando Road Protective association, requested the council to forfeit the $1500 cash ball placed by Mr. and Mrs. Holland as a pledge that they would cease to operate the auto camp on June 30, in the event that the property was still being operated on that date.

Demand Action
In making this request, Mr. Johnston stated that property owners of the neighborhood felt that their patience was about exhausted and wanted action. When he was told that the council can take no action unless state laws and city ordinances are violated, Mr. Johnston requested that health, police and building departments take every action possible to protect the interests of nearby property owners.

HOT BATTLE ON MAKING PLATFORM

Committee Is Spending Long Hours Wrangling Over Numerous Issues

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON For International News Service.
NEW YORK, June 26.—After an all night session, a skeleton of the 1924 Democratic platform was completed early today by a special sub-committee on resolutions from the national convention.

The conference, however, postponed a final decision on the party's attitude toward the Ku Klux Klan and the League of Nations, the two major planks which aroused bitter animosity. In both instances the sub-committee recommended twin planks, setting forth the views of the opposing factions.

In discussing the economic situation the platform pledged the Democrats to a program of reopening foreign markets for American exports, definite agriculture relief measures, a liberal labor policy, a revision of the tariff, further tax reductions, the extension of government economies and the reduction of public rates on raw materials.

Attack Oil Scandals
The Teapot Dome, naval oil, department of justice and veterans' bureau scandals were bitterly flayed and a pledge given for honest administration of the government's business. The scandals were made a dominant issue through a broad conservation plank in which the Democrats promised to recover the navy's oil reserves and a pledge given for honest administration of the government's business. The scandals were made a dominant issue through a broad conservation plank in which the Democrats promised to recover the navy's oil reserves and a pledge given for honest administration of the government's business.

Hours of Wrangling
The tentative draft was written by Homer T. Cummings of Connecticut, chairman, and Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, secretary. After the sub-committee indicated its recommendations.

The discussions throughout the night were peaceful, even though the opposing factions never conceded a step.

The conferees first spent three hours wrangling over the league issue before a gentlemen's agreement was reached to postpone the verdict and to draft two planks, one setting forth a direct pledge to carry the United States into the league and the other pushing the league issue into the background.

The first league plank was fashioned after the plan of John H. Clarke, former associate justice of the supreme court, and an ardent pro-leaguer. In it Clarke proposed American adherence, with reservations, permitting only the American Congress to declare war, and reserving all domestic questions from the league's jurisdiction.

Prohibition Plank
The second plank, drafted by those opposed to making the league an issue, would pledge the Democratic party to an extensive foreign policy of friendly co-operation for the purpose of opening foreign markets, but would declare the league a non-partisan issue, not to be injected into the coming political campaign.

The conferees then rushed through their program of economic issues.

The next obstacle was reached when the prohibition plank came under discussion. One faction, led by William Jennings Bryan, demanded a specific reference to enforcement of the eighteenth amendment with condemnation for lax Republican administration of the dry law. This met with stubborn opposition.

The rumor spread through the hotels, apparently, for shortly afterwards Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon league, arrived in a hurry for a conference with Bryan. He left soon, smiling with satisfaction. A few minutes later Congressman William D. Upshaw, dry leader of

Mrs. M'Adoo Works To Aid Nomination Plans of Husband

NEW YORK, June 26.—Not only is Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo at her husband's side every time he makes a public appearance, but in her own quiet way the daughter of Woodrow Wilson is doing all in her power to further her husband's ambition to follow her father in the White House. Mrs. McAdoo presides graciously over the McAdoo suite in the Vanderbilt hotel and constantly is receiving and talking with delegates and other convention visitors. Mrs. McAdoo is a woman of charm and personality and both are standing her in good stead at this crisis in her husband's career.

Mrs. John W. Davis is the only other wife of a presidential aspirant who is taking a prominent part in convention affairs. Mrs. Davis was named as resident New Yorker on a number of the women's convention committees and has been active in entertaining the fair Democratic visitors.

FRIENDS OF GOVERNOR IN WILD SCENES

New York Celebrates Amid Brilliant Bedlam When Nomination Is Made

NEW YORK, June 26.—After a riotous colorful session of nearly seven hours which brought the first test of strength between the McAdoo and anti-McAdoo forces of the convention and saw the names of seven more presidential candidates tossed into the garden arena, the Democratic national convention adjourned at 5:35 o'clock this evening until 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The test of strength between the McAdoo and anti-McAdoo forces came dramatically at the close of the session and was on the question of a night session tonight to clear up the rest of the nominating oratory.

Vote Is Close
McAdoo's managers wanted a night session. Smith forces led the opposition, and after Chairman Walsh had twice demanded a repetition of the ayes and noes, he was unable to tell which side was ahead. He ventured the opinion that the "noes" had it, resulting in an immediate demand for a new call by the Smith forces. There were 555-12 votes in favor of adjournment until Friday morning and 516 for a night session.

It was the first defeat of the McAdoo forces in the convention and the anti-McAdoo forces left the garden tired but happy.

Numerous Nominations
It was a day of oratory and wild demonstration, most of the latter being for Governor Al Smith, whose supporters packed the historic garden by thousands and brought with them sirens, bells and whistles to make the rafters ring for the governor.

Seven names in all were put into nomination during the turbulent session—Governor Smith, David H. Houston of Texas, and New York; E-Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware; Senator Ransburg of Indiana; Governor J. M. Davis of Kansas; Governor A. C. Ritchie of Maryland, and Senator Ferris of Michigan.

Senator Underwood of Alabama, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and William McAdoo were put before the convention yesterday, making ten in all when today's session closed. More names will come.

So riotous did the Smith demonstrations become at one time—following a forceful second speech by General Charles Cole of Massachusetts—that Senator Walsh, the permanent chairman, declared heatedly that if the convention "is not allowed to conduct its business in New York, a

FIND CORPSE IN SCHOLL CANYON

Four Youths on Hiking Trip Discover Body of Unknown Person

Mystery surrounds the finding of a body in Scholl canyon shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon by four youths hiking in that vicinity. Police at a late hour this afternoon were unable to identify the body or find any trace of a missing person whose description might fit the body.

Identification, according to the police, will be hard, due to the fact that the body was badly decomposed, and probably had been lying in the seclusion of the canyon for a long time.

The four youths who made the gruesome find were Fred Schierhold, Karl Farrad and Holman Edmunds of Glendale and John Musselman of La Crescenta Heights.

So badly decomposed was the body, police reported, that difficulty was experienced in transferring it to the undertaking rooms of the Jewel City Undertaking company, and early reports indicated that it was impossible to tell whether it was the body of a man or a woman.

Police Notified
The youths had started on a hike up the canyon and had penetrated the seldom traveled place a short distance when the body was seen. They immediately notified police headquarters and Chief of Police Fraser sent Captain William Loving and Sergeant H. J. Lauritzen to the spot.

Other available officers at the station were instructed to search the records of missing persons in hopes of finding some clew that

 An alluring display of camp trophies and pictures has been placed in a window of the Roberts & Echols' building at Brand boulevard and Broadway, by Rex Kelley, a local secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The pictures and trophies are from the boys' camp held last year at Catalina Island and serve to exploit the boys' camp to be held at the same place July 3 to 14. The pictures are mostly snapshots of camp scenes taken by the boys showing various phases of their outing, while a large picture, five feet in length, shows the camp site and the rough mountain background.

Club Ends Season
 The Women's Twentieth Century club closed its season this afternoon with a delightful Spanish program featured by Madame Rosa Govitta, a graduate of the Virgin school of New York, a very talented woman who has studied in Madrid and Mexico City.

She played "Caprice," a waltz by Ricardo Castro, and "Castilla," by Ismael Albeniz. Dorothy Brisley, pupil of Madame Govitta, sang a solo, "Sunshine of Your Smile," Ethel Brisley and Dorothy Brisley, talented twins, rendered a duet, "Prejuntales a las estrellas," in English. "Ask to the Stars," Madame Lulu Suarez and Madame Rosa Govitta did a Spanish dance.

There was a violin solo by Mrs. Paul Meyers.

Mrs. Maryette Brayman, and her granddaughter, Miss Maryette Brayman, of Cleveland, O., have arrived, and are visiting her brother, F. B. Wood and family, at 5118 El Rio avenue. They came with the delegation of retail grocers from that city who recently held a convention in Los Angeles. Mrs. Brayman is 79 years old.

Mrs. Hopkins urgently requests every one to make an effort to be present on this last night as final plans are to be made in regard to the picnic of the Los Angeles county community sings to be held at Castle Rock in Santa Monica.

Boost for McAdoo
 Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado was recognized when his name was called. He seconded William G. McAdoo's nomination.

"I deem it a great honor," he said, "to speak for my state in seconding the nomination of William G. McAdoo."

Cheers from the McAdoo delegations mingled with a chorus of "boos" from the galleries.

It had not been on the program for Governor Sweet to make his second speech at this time. It was arranged only a few minutes before by McAdoo's floor managers, who apparently wanted to take off the edge of the Smith show. It was not possible for Governor Sweet to continue for several minutes after his opening sentence, Georgia, California and Idaho, and the yelling for McAdoo and the clashing violently with the yelling and screaming of Smith's "boys" in the galleries.

California in Parade
 Texas and Kentucky, both McAdoo states, led off with another parade of state standards. California dropped in. Then Montana and Oklahoma, followed by South Carolina, Florida, Arizona and Idaho.

The band struck up "Over There," and Governor Sweet, grinning, walked to the back of the platform and surveyed the scene good humoredly.

Every mention of McAdoo's name on the convention floor was the signal for new outbursts of enthusiasm on the part of his followers because this was scheduled to be Governor Smith's day and the McAdoo adherents are working strenuously to keep wavering delegations from being influenced by Smith.

At 2 p. m. the calling of the roll was resumed and when Delaware was called, Senator Bayard came forth and placed the name of Ex-Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware before the convention.

Georgia was called and passed. Idaho also passed. Illinois was next and sent up Louis G. Stevenson of Illinois to the platform to nominate David F. Houston, former secretary of both agriculture and treasury in the Wilson administration.

Stevenson explained he was not speaking officially for the Illinois delegation, whose strength he said was split between Smith, McAdoo and other candidates, but spoke only for himself and "other Democrats."

Stevenson offered Houston as a motion will be entertained to take it elsewhere."

New York told the Democratic convention and the wide, wide world today how much it wants Al Smith to be the nominee of this convention. It was told in one of the most riotous demonstrations any convention ever witnessed, told in the shrieking of Coney island clackers and the throat-splitting yells from thousands of his friends who held the convention at their mercy for an hour and twenty-five minutes of continuous and terrific din.

The convention was thrown into a turmoil of thousands of people struggling on the floor, through the congested aisles, with but one message. It was: "We want Al!"

How long this little demonstration might have continued probably will never be known. It was stopped after an hour and a half and by a woman. She was Anna Case, the beautiful star of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Friends Are Everywhere
 Senator Thomas J. Walsh, the permanent chairman of the convention, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, who placed Smith's name before the convention, had tried unsuccessfully for ten minutes to halt the marchers, milling and cheering, they went round and round the garden to the tune of "The Sidewalks of New York," "Rosie O'Grady" and "When You and I Were Young Maggie." They might as well have tried to stem Niagara.

It was a veritable Niagara of humanity that streamed through the aisles, carrying everything and everybody along with it. Al Smith's friends were there by the thousands from every sidewalk in New York. They crashed the gates earlier in the day and they crashed the floor later when the time came.

Miss Case was finally appealed to. She was easy to look at. She had a ready smile, framed in a black picture hat. Walsh and Roosevelt motioned to her to come forward from the rear of the platform.

Wishes Wins Them
 She came out with arms uplifted and she got in one minute what Walsh and Roosevelt had been unable to get in ten, despite their entreaties and gavel pounding. She got silence.

The siren died down, the whistles stopped, tired throats were given a much-needed rest, the shuffling of feet was stopped and she sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" amid perfect order.

It was a great show while it lasted.

May Kennedy of the Bronx, who was nominated as vice-chairman of the convention yesterday, was introduced from the platform, by Senator Walsh and read a short statement thanking the convention for the honor accorded her. She was given a rousing cheer from the New York delegation.

Miss Kennedy then ordered the secretary to proceed with the roll call.

Woods' Resignation as Tokio Envoy Accepted
 WASHINGTON, June 26.—President Coolidge today formally accepted the resignation of Cyrus K. Woods, as United States ambassador to Japan. Woods was a luncheon guest at the White House.

compromise candidate and declared that "until it has been demonstrated that this convention, because of conflicting views and desires, cannot agree upon any of the active candidates, I urge delegates to refrain from voting for him in the early balloting."

Only mildness greeted the nomination of Mr. Houston. The band, however, followed its custom of tooting for every candidate and no one there was a slight delay before Michael L. Igoe, of Illinois, came to the platform.

Clash Is Averted
 Igoe said he spoke for "two-thirds of the delegation of Illinois," and proceeded to second the nomination of Governor Smith.

He looked for a minute that another clash would take place between the McAdoo and Smith forces, but Igoe was able to go on after some delay. The old familiar siren got to working again and the whistles tooting for Al when he finished.

Another parade appeared imminent. The New York delegations stood and led the cheering, waving flags as they did so. Men with megaphones appeared in the aisles and urged the bystanders to get up. Bells tolled, whistles screamed, but Senator Walsh raised his hand for silence and finally got it.

James A. Meeks of Illinois, was then recognized, to make a seconding speech for McAdoo.

More Nominations
 Indiana was called and Frederick Van Nuys of Indianapolis came up to nominate Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

Indiana led a great demonstration and began cheering for Ralston when Van Nuys finished, and scattered Ralston delegates in other parts of the house got up and yelled. Louisiana was called and passed. Maine sent forward William R. Pattanahill of Augusta, Maine, who seconded the nomination of Senator Underwood of Alabama.

Maryland was called and sent Howard Bruce to the platform to nominate Governor Albert C. Ritchie.

Massachusetts sent General Charles H. Cole of Boston to the platform and he seconded the nomination of Governor Smith.

The New Yorkers broke loose again when General Cole finished, horns, sirens, and lusty throats making up the noise.

Lick Observatory Is Threatened by Santa Clara Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—More than 50,000 acres of field and forest land in Santa Clara county, lies desolate today, with prospects that as much again will be burned over as hundreds of fire fighters, handicapped by the recent drought, vainly seek to stem one of the most disastrous fires in the past fifty years, which is now threatening historic Lick observatory on Mount Hamilton.

The Santa Clara conflagration, a solid wall of fire more than fifteen miles wide, is but one of a dozen sweeping through various parts of the state, but half of which are under control.

HOT FIGHT OVER PARTY PLATFORM
 Prohibition and Klan Planks Causing Long Wrangling In Committee Room

 the House, appeared and Bryan again went into conference.

Differences of opinion over a prohibition enforcement plank within the sub-committee drafting the Democratic national platform this afternoon had assumed such proportions that it, like the League of Nations and Ku Klux Klan planks, were laid temporarily aside, to be fought over later in the day. That announcement was made by Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the resolutions committee.

Cummings said it was hoped the sub-committee would be able to agree on a law enforcement plank before submitting its draft to the full committee, but that on the Klan and League issues it was so sharply divided, present indications pointed to the having of alternative planks on those questions for submission to the committee.

The chairman said work on the text of the platform was proceeding at such a slow pace that it was virtually certain it would be tonight before the committee would have before it the work of the platform carpenters.

"There are thirty-four or thirty-five subjects to be covered. It seems impossible to condense it," Cummings said. "I think, however, it is a fair guess to say the platform will be ready for presentation tomorrow to the convention."

PEARL KELLER'S PUPILS AT CLUB
 Song, Dance and Monologue Numbers at Rotary Luncheon Today

Pupils of Pearl Keller appeared in song, dance and monologue numbers before the Glendale Rotary club this afternoon and they received hearty applause for their splendid work. Eleanor Marek, a dainty little miss, opened the program with a Highland fling; Geraldine Keleher did a mirror dance; John Blades worked well in the Russian steps; Cecilia Mae Fisher starred in a Spanish number and Julia Pelley in an Oriental fantasy scored most applause. Songs and dances by little Elizabeth Hoffman and a reading by Katherine Jane Bruner were also well received.

Mrs. Keller Present
 Paul Carson, who was in charge of the program, introduced Mrs. Keller and George Moyses, who presided over today's meeting, thanked her and her pupils in behalf of the club. Harry Leland, Harry Hielman and Ad Borden of the Los Angeles club were guests and greatly enjoyed the performance.

James M. Rhoades took up the subject of power curtailment by the Edison company and suggested that the club members interest themselves in a municipal generating plant. E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; W. A. Howe, P. J. W. Henry and several others spoke.

Mr. Borden, who is in the electrical business, suggested that induction motors could be run backwards and develop power.

Roy L. Kent announced that the Verdugo Hills Scout council is running an excursion to Catalina next Tuesday and Wednesday and invited Rotarians to go along.

would lead to the identification of the body.

There is a possibility, police declare, that the person might have met death in the disastrous fires that swept the canyon last October, when several lives were lost as persons in the canyon at the time were trapped and could not make a place of safety.

The first intimation the police had of a body being in the canyon was when the four youths in an excited manner, reported their find. The youths did not stop en route to the station, they told Chief Fraser.

REACH SOLUTION ON CHEST DRIVE

Y Will Raise Maintenance Fund for Two Years In Building Campaign

The joint conference of the directors of the Glendale Welfare Chest, the Y. M. C. A. and the Boy Scouts, that was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning to discuss the proposed drives that are to be held this fall by the Welfare Chest and the Y. M. C. A., reached a solution of the attendant problems that will, it is believed, work out amicably and fairly to all parties concerned.

Y to Aid Drive

The officials of the Y. M. C. A. who were present at the conference explained that, as the organization is planning to conduct a drive for a $275,000 building fund during the third week in September, and as the national director of the Y. M. C. A. requires that a two years' maintenance fund be included in the amount to be raised during this drive, the Y. M. C. A. will cooperate with the Welfare Chest in raising its budget but will not participate in the distribution of funds for the ensuing two years.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

IT DOESN'T PAY—
To let grudges embitter your spirit.
To let gossipers ruin your friendship.
To let suspicions warp your judgments.
To let flattery undermine your ambition.
To let an automobile take you away from church.
To let your friends do your thinking for you.

GIVE CHILDREN DUTIES

With the coming of vacation thousands of children are thrown on their own resources. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, and the reverse has consequences equally deplorable. The boy and girl who are physically healthy and mentally alert cannot and will not be at rest for long. They must be doing something. And when there is too much idle time legitimate amusement palls and the youngster gets into mischief.

It is so essential to a child's welfare that he should have work of some kind for which he is held responsible. Public playgrounds are all right, but a child should not and cannot spend all his time there. Competitive games are wonderful character builders, and swimming is a useful and health-giving exercise and amusement, but there is more than one side to life, and the child who learns nothing but play will not grow up to be a very useful citizen.

It is absolutely dangerous to turn a child loose to play all day long, six or seven days in the week. Our children may be well brought up, they may have been taught honesty and integrity and clean living by example and precept, but few children are strong enough to withstand the temptations that come from having too much time in which to amuse themselves, and it is unfair to the child to expose him to such temptations.

Two families were horrified when their little daughters who were chums about twelve years old took a five-dollar bill from a bureau drawer in the home of one of the girls. The discovery was made when the teacher informed the parents that the girls were spending a great deal of money and giving nickels and dimes to their schoolmates. Both these little girls had been trained rigidly in the matter of honesty. The mothers were heart-broken at this evidence of dishonor in their children. The fact is, the little girls are honest. They had too much idle time and no home duties whatever. They will never steal again, for the consequences of theft were impressed upon them, but they may do wrong in other ways if their parents continue to shield them from all duties and responsibilities.

Give your children little duties to perform, make them responsible for something, teach them self-reliance and keep them from the allurements of evil. At the same time give them opportunity for fun and recreation.

HOUSE SHORTAGE AND HIGHER RENTS

As usual at this time of year when so many people are away on vacations, there are more houses, apartments and flats for rent than was the case earlier in the year, and there has been a reduction in rents in consequence. People who are in the habit of renting are looking for this condition to continue, in fact they expect houses to be still more plentiful and rents to come still lower.

There is no basis whatever for such expectations. The one who wishes to rent should find the best place available to suit his circumstances, at once, and then sign as long a lease for the property as the owner will give him.

These are the facts: According to the records of the automobile club more than sixteen hundred people are arriving in Los Angeles by automobile every day. This is an increase over last year at this time. The transcontinental railroads are doing an increased business, too, although their figures are not available. These people are spreading out over Southern California, and Glendale, with her advertising campaign in full swing in Los Angeles papers, will get her full quota.

Building operations, considering Southern California as a whole, are not up to last year's record, so it is only reasonable to predict that when people begin coming back from their vacations in the late summer and fall there will be the same running from one real estate office to another trying to find a place to live, at any price, as was the case last year and the year before that.

People who wish to buy could find no better time than the present. There has been some gambling in real estate. Many people have put a few hundred dollars in real estate expecting to turn it over night for a few thousand. Some of these people "bit off more than they can chew" and must sell now. But this condition is not going to last very long.

Those who are postponing renting or buying, waiting for lower prices and more favorable conditions, are likely to have a surprise in store for them in the course of a few months.

DOES NOT SEEM FAIR

The proposed weight tax for the further financing of state highway construction is not a sound proposal unless some fair means is found of classifying motor vehicles according to equipment and use. For instance, 100 pounds of automobile on hard rubber tires is more severe on highways than 700 pounds of automobile on pneumatic tires. Again, the commercial truck, with its heavy load of freight, is far more destructive to highways than the pleasure car.

It would be better to add another cent per gallon to the present gasoline tax. If this is more than the traffic will stand, then a tax on a weight basis might be a good substitute for the present nominal license fee, but only under condition that vehicles be properly classified as to equipment and use.

In the last analysis, the present highways were originally built with state bonds and in all fairness the system should be expanded with funds similarly secured. This puts the tax burden where it belongs.

It seems absolutely necessary for every young business man to dictate long and purposeless letters—just to impress his stenographer with his great and growing importance.

Why is it that the modern novel reads so strangely? Can it be that the author writes with an eye and an ear directed toward the moving picture producer?

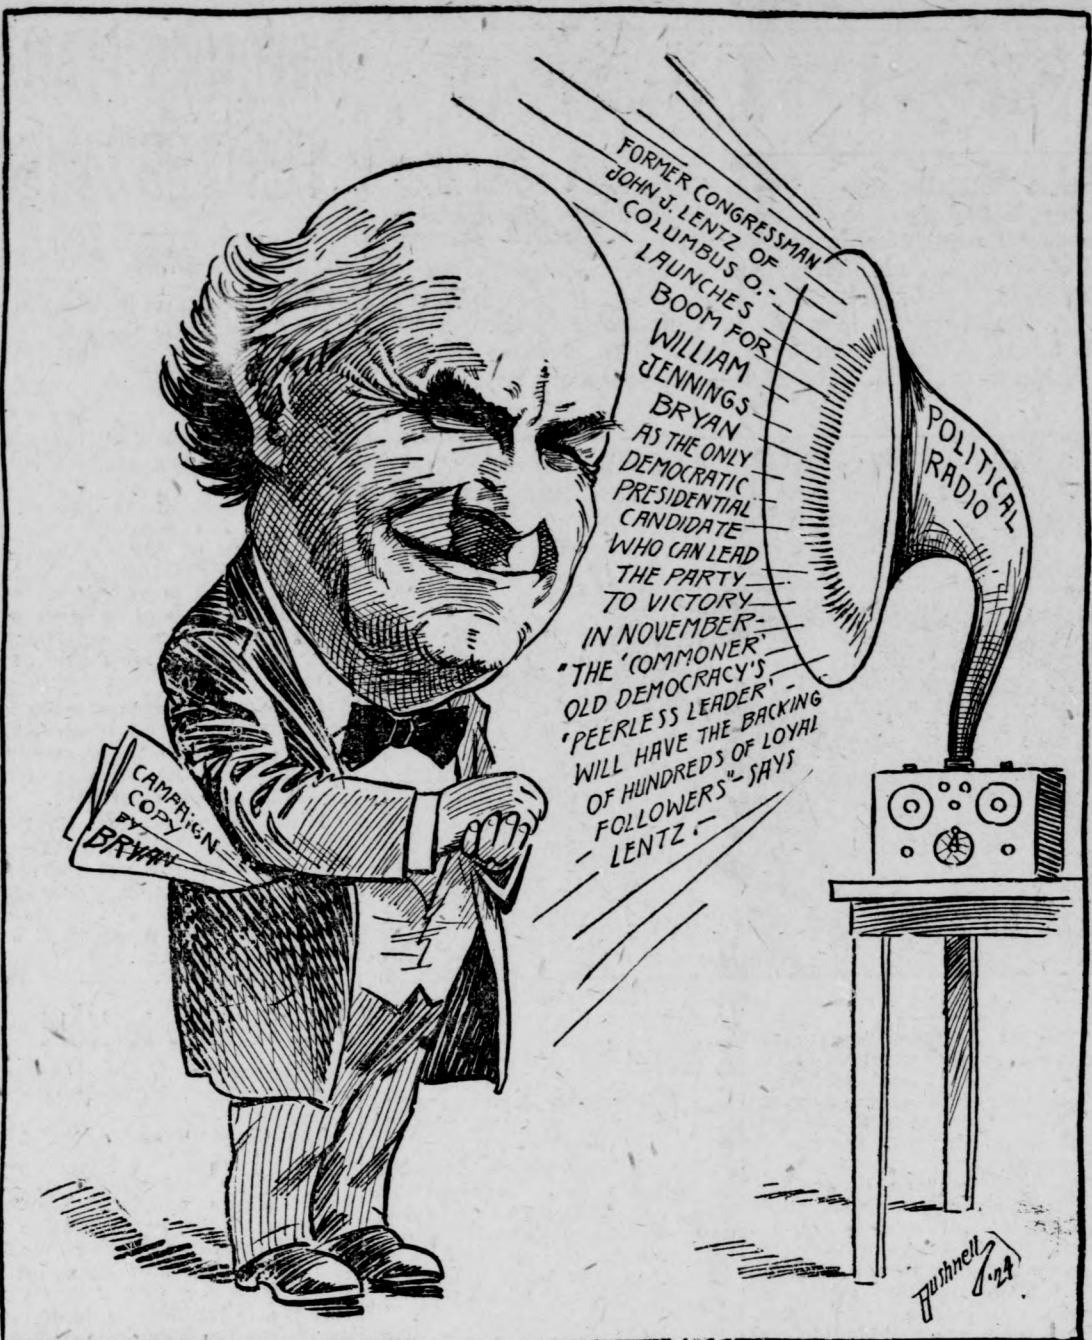

Poor father! He spends his life storing up wealth in order to prevent his children from enjoying the character-building struggle he himself enjoyed.

Glendale needs a Y. M. C. A. building and it is certain the citizens will get behind the movement to secure one.

Take a foot of time, with a thousand years to the inch; man lives but one sixteenth of an inch.

Not all who are admitted to the bar practice law; there's the mosquito for instance.

"WELL—WELL—JUST LIKE OLD TIMES AGAIN"

The Rules of the Game of Love

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Some time ago I published an article on the Rules of the Game, in the latter part of which I referred to love and said it also had its rules as well as everything else.

I have been in receipt of many letters asking me for the rules of the game of love, some of which emphasized the point that there are no rules; that "All is fair in love and war."

A city clerk, Michael J. Cruise, head of the marriage license bureau, which issues about thirty-five thousand marriage licenses a year, has just put out a little pamphlet which answers this question for me.

He has a list of Don'ts for Wives and an equivalent list of Don'ts for Husbands. Here they are. His list of Don'ts for Wives is as follows:

- "Don't nag."
- "Don't let your house or yourself get untidy."
- "Don't gossip about the neighbors' troubles."
- "Don't trump hubby's ace in a bridge game."
- "Don't make catty remarks if he snores. Be sympathetic."
- "Don't get millinery mania or a clothes complex."
- "Don't get peeved if he shows he likes a pretty face in your presence."
- "Don't cabaret unless he is with you."
- "Don't encourage relatives to park at your house."
- "Don't grouch if he is late for dinner."

The Don'ts for Husbands are as follows:

- "Don't be a tightwad."

- "Don't be a killjoy."
- "Don't wait till she's dead to send her flowers."
- "Don't take boarders, male or female."
- "Don't sneer at her dog if she has one."
- "Don't think she's a dumbbell. Treat her human."
- "Don't forget she works as hard as you do—and gets less."
- "Don't make a fuss over other women unless she is present."
- "Don't treat her rough. She may fool you."
- "Don't love her less or yourself more."

These may be superficial, but they are rules none the less and those who observe them may find them beneficial.

Perhaps they are as good as any I might give. The one simple rule that is sufficient not only for love but for anything else is to do as you would be done by.

It is justice and not charity that most people want. It is to be treated justly and honestly that especially every woman wants.

We cannot do this unless we accustom ourselves to take another's point of view and put ourselves in another's place.

The great enemy of love is egotism; thinking too much of ourselves and not enough of others. If we accustom ourselves to think of others there is little difficulty in keeping the rules of love; the difficulties we are in will solve themselves.

Horoscope

This should be a fairly happy day, according to astrology, for Mars and the Sun are in benefic aspect. Saturn and Uranus are adverse.

It is a rule under which to push all one's business affairs and to seek preferment in any line of work.

Persons in search of employment should make the most of this day's opportunity, which offers much in the line of constructive activities.

Engineers, contractors and mechanics should benefit from this position of the stars, which appears to promise enlarged demands for their service.

Some national movement or enterprises will mobilize workers of certain callings, if the stars are rightly interpreted.

All the signs appear to presage vast expenditures of public money for enforced projects of a gigantic size.

Physicians and surgeons will have a summer of ceaseless service, it is foretold, since there will be many epidemics.

Children should be especially well safeguarded during the next few weeks, and water that is pure should be assured for use.

Mining during the summer will be subject to strange conditions making for unusual uncertainties.

The weather will be extremely wet in certain parts of the country and much mildew is probable. Grains should be protected in every possible manner.

Clashes between the representatives of the law and its opposers will be frequent in efforts to enforce the law, and much political influence will be exerted for aid.

The stars indicate bitter contests between advocates of law enforcement and its opposers in many states during the national campaign, and one big tragedy is foretold.

MAJ. GEN. ROBERT C. DAVIS
When Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, adjutant general of the army, was given the task of handling the soldier bonus, he was by no means unprepared for the task.

Two years ago, when another bonus measure was being debated by congress, War Secretary Weeks summoned Davis, then an infantry colonel, to Washington, and ordered him to begin preliminary studies for handling the administrative end of the measure.

Although that bonus measure failed to pass, Davis completed his study and had outlined a complete, comprehensive plan for handling it, even to a proposed application blank form.

Davis' administrative ability had drawn attention before that. He had served under Pershing as adjutant general in the A. E. F. A short time after his first work with the bonus he was promoted to adjutant in the peacetime promotions.

Davis was born in Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 12, 1876. He was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1898. His rise was steady until he became a brigadier general in 1918. He took part in the campaign against Santiago in Cuba and later in engagements with Filipino insurgents.

Davis arrived in France July 28, 1917, as assistant to the adjutant-general. He was appointed adjutant general May 1, 1918, and returned to the United States in 1919.

THE FLIGHT OF YOUTH
There are gains for all our losses,
There are balms for all our pains;
But when youth, the dream, departs,
It takes something from our hearts,
And it never comes again.

We are stronger, and are better,
Under manhood's sterner reign;
Still we feel that something sweet
Followed youth, with flying feet,
And will never come again.

Something beautiful is vanished
And we sigh for it in vain;
We behold it everywhere,
On the earth, and in the air,
But it never comes again.

THE LION TAMER
A Negro employed at one of the movie studios in Los Angeles was drafted by a director to do a novel comedy scene with a lion.

"You get into this bed," ordered the director, "and we will bring the lion in and put him in bed with you. It will be a scream."

"Put a lion in bed with me!" yelled the Negro. "No, sah! Not at all. I quits right here and now."

"But," protested the director, "this lion won't hurt you, he was raised on milk."

"So was I brought up on milk," wailed the Negro, "but I eats meat now."

Good Old Days, Then And Now

Advertising as a business, an art or a science, or all three, has progressed by leaps and bounds during the past forty years. The development of all kinds of business, the close competition in all lines and the complications of our growing civilization have all helped to force advertising to the front.

Forty years ago there was advertising, but it was desultory. Merchants placed advertising in the newspapers, to be public spirited, or because the papers needed the business, and not because they expected any results from the advertising. Advertisements then were often in the card form, sometimes ran for weeks without change and they very seldom gave the reader any information that would lead him to buy.

The billboard, the car card and the program form of advertising had not developed and there was not so much attention given to window and store displays as now. Large business concerns then did not spend in a whole year what advertising what some of them put into a single insertion, printed in colors, in one of the national magazines today. Furthermore, these big business men do not expect to see direct or definite results from one advertisement in any medium; they realize they have got to keep pounding away.

As a result of the necessity and growth of this form of selling, advertising agencies have come into being by the hundreds in the last decade. Some of these are highly developed organizations of experts in every form of advertising who outline campaigns aggregating thousands of dollars. There are organizations of advertising men everywhere and national and international ad clubs have been formed.

One of the greatest changes has been in the attitude of business men and of the public toward advertising. Thirty or forty years ago there was a doubt as to its efficacy. "Does advertising pay?" was a question very often on the lips of business men at that time, for they were just beginning to get a glimmer of the light. Now everyone knows that advertising pays and the concern that fails to advertise regularly and consistently realizes it more than anyone else. Turn over the pages of the big magazines and it is easily seen that big manufacturers have long since ceased to ask that question. They are concerned now with methods, budgets, mediums, art work, colors and copy. And the public buys the articles that are advertised because it is the safe thing to do.

Advertising has become a profession and is offering a great opportunity to the young man or woman who wants to get ahead in the world by his or her own efforts. It invites the artist, the writer, the salesman, the executive, the accountant.

In view of the proficiency of modern advertising it may almost be said that there was no such thing as advertising forty years ago.

GRAND ARMY MEN TO HOLD RALLY

Woman's Relief Corps Join In All-Day Meeting at Hall on Friday

Rally Day will be observed Friday, June 27, by the members of the W. R. C. and G. A. R. at the regular all-day meeting in the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue.

The members have an unusual treat in store for them in the afternoon, when the members of the Past Presidents club, auxiliary of the W. R. C., will be in charge of the program. They have planned a humorous program, which will include readings, vocal selections and other features.

During the morning hours the G. A. R. members will hold their business meeting, which will be followed by the noon luncheon.

Business Session
Immediately after luncheon the program will be presented, followed by the business session of the W. R. C. At this time several matters of importance are to be discussed.

If there are any members of the G. A. R. or W. R. C. who would like to attend the meeting and are unable to get to the hall because of lack of transportation, if they will get in touch with either Mrs. Hayes at Glendale 497-J or Mrs. Houdyssel, Glendale 2117-J, a way will be provided to get them to and from the hall.

Plan Sub-Station in Downtown Drug Store

Although the postoffice will be moved to the new location about the middle of next month, the central part of the business section will not be without a sub-station, Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson said in announcing that official sanction had been received from the postoffice department for opening a sub-station in the Roberts & Echols building. This sub-station, which will be No. 4, will be opened as soon as the present postoffice is moved to the North Broadway location, Postmaster Jackson said.

BUICK CAR IS FIRST OVER TIOGA PASS

Fight With Elements In Driving On Lofty Road

Graphic outline of the trip made by "Outdoor" Franklin and Capt. F. J. Davis in a Buick over Tioga Pass as the first car to enter Yosemite Valley by the eastern Gateway since the winter snowfall. Inserts are pictures made by Franklin on the trip showing a few of the difficulties encountered on the journey. The car bucked big snow drifts, ploughed through mud hub deep, battled deep slush and filled ruts, and detoured several times. Big trees which had fallen were another source of trouble, as many had to be sawed so the car could continue.

BUICKS SNOW AND SLUSH 18 DAYS

"Outdoor" Franklin and Capt. F. J. Davis Pilot Car Over High Sierra

That the famous Tioga Pass, the world's most spectacular mountain highway is open for travel into Yosemite National Park at least one month earlier than usual is indicated by the success achieved by "Outdoor" Franklin in piloting a 1924 Buick over the lofty Sierra road and winding up at Camp Curry after a thrilling eighteen-day battle with snow-drifts, deep slush, filled ruts and fallen trees.

Complete details of this trip have been received by Tanner & Hall, 622 South Brand boulevard, distributors in Glendale for the Buick automobile.

Franklin's road blazing with the Buick is the third of a series of similar stunts. In 1921 and 1922 he piloted the first car over the Tioga summit which reaches an elevation of 9941, earlier than ever before in history.

Ordinarily the Tioga road is officially opened for travel about July 15, but this year a light winter permitted the trip to be made forty-five days ahead of traffic. All other roads into the valley are open and in excellent shape, even the Big Flat Road and Glacier Point Road have been travelled rather extensively this season, which is decidedly unusual.

Late For Supper Franklin left Los Angeles the last day of April and on May 18 checked in at Camp Curry, timing his arrival so nicely he reached the camp at the base of Glacier Point the night after the wind-up of the eighth annual economy run.

He and his companion, Capt. F. J. Davis, got in after supper bars had gone up, but Bob Williams, manager of the camp, came to the rescue and the day was saved for Franklin and Capt. Davis.

After a stop at Bishop on the night of April 30, Franklin pointed his Buick toward Mono Lake and checked in at Levinger Creek. They encountered the first snow at Ellery Lake, 9600 feet in the air, and from that spot to the summit, it was a continuous drift to monuments marking the top of the grade and the park gates, four and a half miles away, required fifteen days of constant toil for men and motor.

It was a case of bucking, backing up and bucking some more, pushing work for the car and the men.

Camp was made wherever the day's work was done, sleeping in the car, sometimes with their heads either pointed up or down, for there is not a level spot on the road to the summit.

PEDESTRIAN HAS RIGHT TO ROAD

Common Law Doctrine Holds Every Person May Use All Highways

Does a pedestrian have any rights on the public highways? This is one of the most frequent questions asked and the answer is, in effect, "yes, but be reasonable."

With the rapid increase in numbers of automobiles and a corresponding swelling in volume of persons walking, there is a constant clashing of opinion on the right of way. Motorists contend they are regularly warned and threatened to the limit of endurance, while pedestrians are not regulated at all. On the other hand, pedestrians complain they are subjected to all forms of inconvenience and annoyance because motor vehicle drivers are not sufficiently regulated.

Club Looks Up Law So frequent have become queries on the subject that the legal department of the Automobile Club of Southern California calls attention to the fact that the old common law doctrine that every person may use freely the highway is the law in California.

The law declares that the rights and duties of pedestrians and drivers of vehicles are reciprocal and equal—regulates warred to exercise reasonable care to avoid collision or injury, and ordinarily neither has any right of way superior to the other.

It is not a crime for a pedestrian to dash across a street between corners when the street is filled with vehicles, but it is extremely silly and inconsiderate to do this, as it is an invitation to the grim reaper to swing his scythe.

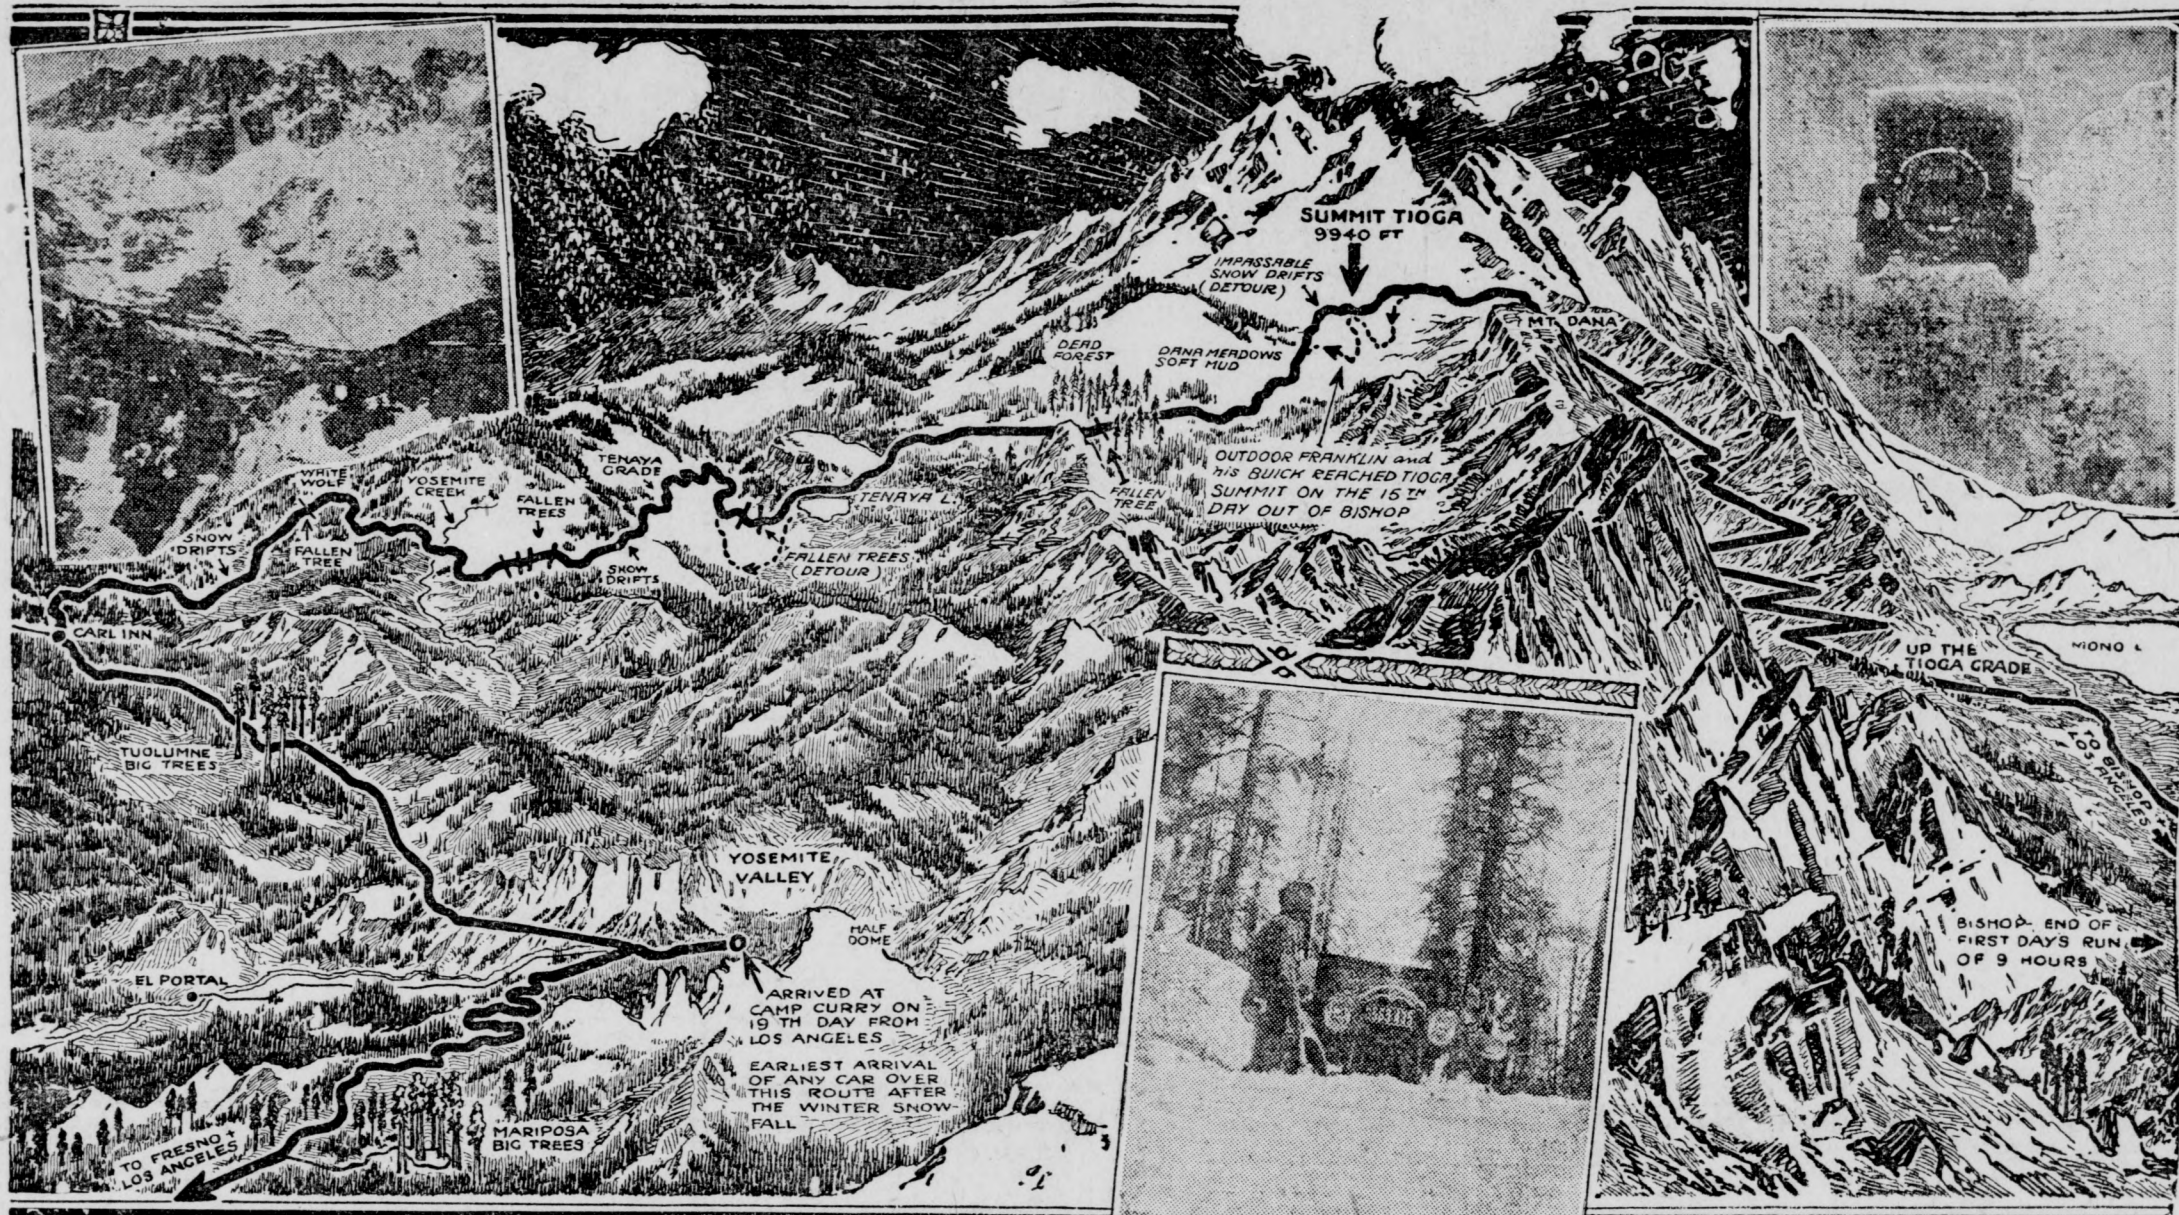

Jay Walking Dangerous

This is called "jay walking" and has caused more fatalities than other causes. A pedestrian may have the legal right to walk down the middle of a vehicle-filled road, but he is not expected to do this any more than a motorcyclist is expected to drive his machine along a crowded sidewalk.

Briefly, the law gives the pedestrian and vehicle driver equal rights, but at the same time it insists that both of them be prudent and reasonable in using the highways.

DERIVATION OF 'AUTO'

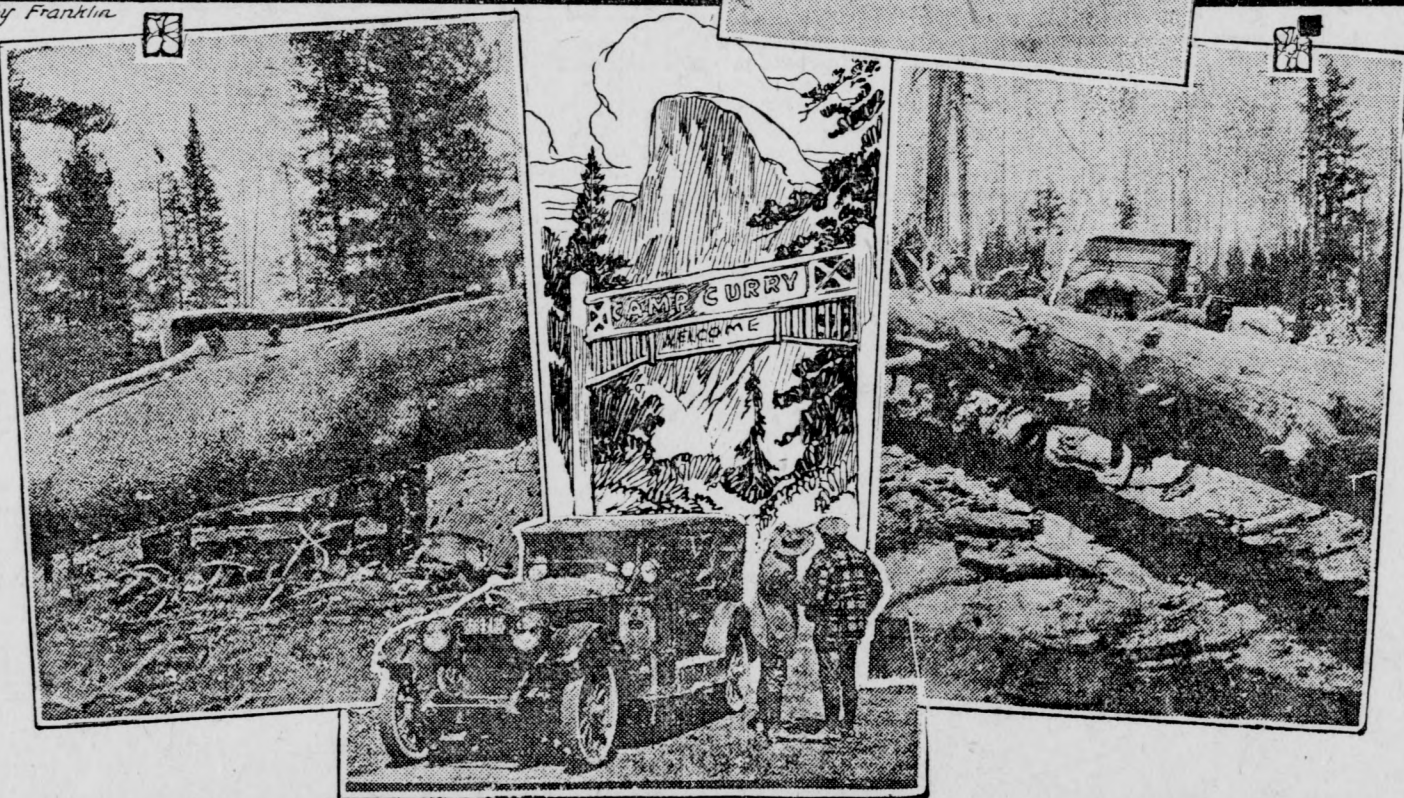

The automobile takes its name from the Greek "autos," self, and the Latin "mobilis," movable.

Lawley Toll Road Is Replaced by Highway

The last toll road in the state of California recently passed out of existence. The state highway commission completed a new strip of highway which parallels the old roadbed, and which offers as fine a strip of motoring as is to be found anywhere in the state. The old route was the famous Lawley road over Mount St. Helena and served as a toll road for fifty-nine years.

Law Would Require Ash Trays on Cars

Ash trays will become a legally required bit of equipment for automobiles while passing through national forests if the next legislature adopts a recommendation made by the forestry service. It is declared that the cigarette habit among women has increased the fire hazard, because lighted stubs are thrown out of motor cars.

DEATHS IN AUTO ACCIDENTS DROP

Majority of May Fatalities Occur Outside of City Limits, Is Shown

Although it is a popular belief that congested districts cause the most motor vehicle fatalities, the record for last month in Los Angeles county shows that there were 20 persons killed outside of the city limits to ten inside, or a ratio of two to one. However, these thirty deaths attributable to the operation of automobiles showed a marked decrease from the total for the corresponding month last year, which was thirty-eight.

As usual, "jay-walking" claimed the heaviest toll with nine deaths, or almost one-third of the total. Incompetent handling on the part of drivers was second, with a list of six dead. Falls from vehicles claimed five victims, and other causes resulting in more than one death during the month included two from speeding and two from cutting in ahead.

Deaths at Crossings Other causes of death are given as passing standing street cars, defective equipment, tire blow-out, skidding and driver asleep, all of which resulted in one death each.

A noticeable feature of the report for the month is the small

Missouri Considers Increasing Gas Tax

It has been proposed in Missouri to provide a state gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon and increase motor license fees 50 per cent. Missouri ranks ninth in population, ninth in wealth, eleventh in the number of motor cars owned, but forty-first in the average per car of motor vehicle fees collected by the state for road purposes.

Plan Central Repair Station In New York

New York City is to have a large central motor repair shop costing $3,500,000. The building will be erected by the city, and will be ten stories high. The station will be used to do the work now being done in twenty-three shops scattered throughout the city, which care for 3184 vehicles.

number of deaths from negligence of motorists at railway crossings. In May, 1923, there were ten fatalities from this cause, and last month but two were reported.

COUPON PLAN IS HIT WITH BUYERS

Service Station Proprietor Finds Novel Stunt Is "Drawing Trade"

Many new customers have been added since the starting of the ninety-day sales campaign, states H. J. Seely, proprietor of the Ever Ready Service station, 101 South Central avenue. The drive for new customers, which is augmented by the opportunity for the holder of the lucky coupon to get a new Ford coupe, started several days ago.

Under the plan, a coupon is given free with each purchase of $1 or more of gasoline, oil, tires or auto supplies. There will be a special drawing at 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of September 14, Mr. Seely states.

Mr. Seely pointed out that this unique advertising stunt does not lose sight of the fact that the customer gets the utmost for his dollar, as the prices of the articles sold at the service station are the same, with or without the coupon. Each coupon, he states, is actually worth 10 cents to each purchaser.

An early product of the MAXWELL factories that was regarded as a dashing vehicle when it was first placed on the market some twenty years ago, or thereabouts.

Imagine stepping into a "snap-py" model like the one pictured above and sailing down Brand boulevard. Immediately all records for traffic congestion would be broken. And yet there was a time and not so many years ago either when this car represented the best in motor car construction and design.

"Back in November, 1895," says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chrysler dealer, "the New York Times offered prizes totalling $5,000 to the winning automobiles in a 100-mile road race. Thirty cars entered, but only six actually started. One car failed to make provision for six changes of batteries and had to drop out. Another "wound a chain around its stanchion" and had to quit. Still another disabled its port engine and withdrew.

"Finally but one car was left. And that car began to melt away. The engine was packed with ice and after much difficulty the 100 miles were covered. But so much time was consumed that the judges decided there was no contest and went home. So when the winning car finished there was no one present to witness it."

GASOLINE WARFARE

OKAHA, Neb., June 26.—Eighty-seven stations out of 125 in Omaha are selling gasoline for 15 cents a gallon—or less. The Standard and National companies are maintaining their 17 cent rate, but it is predicted they will cut their prices. In outlying Nebraska towns the motorist still pays 20 1/2 cents.

Bedsprings made in Italy and shipped to this country last year totaled $6,257, with a value of $163,500.

Five different signals for motorists will aid in the "safety first" campaign of England, according to one British authority.

Some reasons why BUICK maintains its leadership in the automobile industry

SINCE the introduction of its 1924 models, Buick has broken all production records, including its own, for the manufacture of fine motor cars.

IN 1923 Buick sold 218,286 motor cars for which the public paid $302,752,950, not including tax or freight.

THE Buick Motor Company is now well on its way to the manufacture of its two-millionth motor car—a record unapproached by any other manufacturer of fine motor cars.

EVIDENCE of Buick's nation-wide leadership is indicated by the fact that Buick has held first choice of space at the National Automobile shows for six consecutive years—an honor awarded to the manufacturer member of the N. A. C. C. with the largest volume of business.

IN the Metropolitan district of New York, Buick led in the fine car field for 1923. Buick still maintains its leadership in that district. In the first three months of this year Buick established the remarkable sales record in New York of 2085 motor cars.

ON the Pacific Coast Buick, in number of sales, advanced from fifth place in 1922 to third place in 1923, leading all other manufacturers of fine motor cars with 14,164 sales.

BUICK provides the greatest safety factor for the owner and his family by using four-wheel brakes on all models as standard equipment. After using four-wheel brakes you will never go back to a car without them.

BUICK still maintains its leadership on the Pacific Coast, having sold 7130 new Buicks with four-wheel brakes from August 1, 1923, to February 29, 1924.

FIX LOW RATE IN PHOTO FINISHING

Studio Inaugurates Novel System to Introduce Work to Public

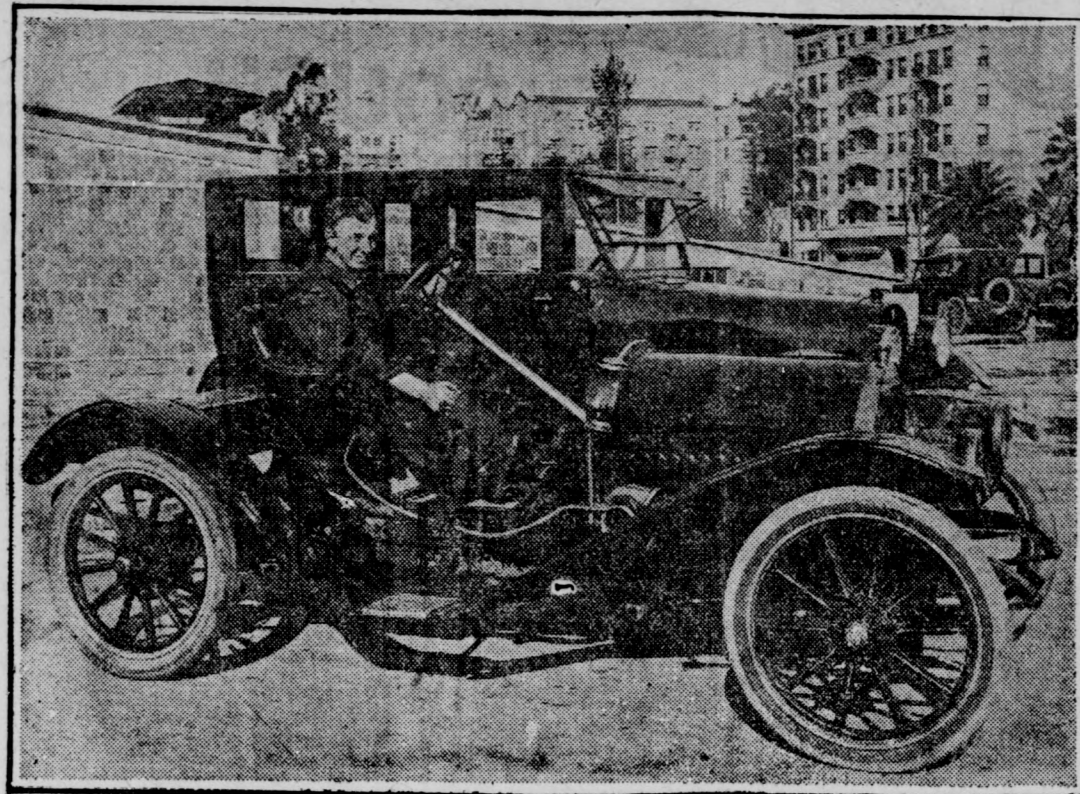

The Grosart Photo studio at 404 South Brand boulevard, reports a very favorable increase in business in the past few days. They have inaugurated a new policy by which the public reaps greater benefit in high grade kodak finishing.

A flat rate of twenty-five cents has been made on the price of developing, finishing and turning out of prints from a six-roll film. According to J. Grosart the middleman's profit or the agency's profit has been entirely eliminated.

H. E. Achenbach, a photographer of many years experience, is also connected with Mr. Grosart at the studio. One of the Grosart specialties is baby pictures which are made in the home amid the home atmosphere. There will be a baby contest soon and at that time nearly every baby in Glendale will have its picture taken. Special prices will be an added incentive.

USES CHEVROLET AS HIS BEDROOM

Cross-Country Tourist Fixes Interior of Car for Solid Comfort

The possibilities of the Chevrolet touring car as the chief feature of a trans-continental trip are strikingly emphasized in a letter received by C. L. Smith, the local dealer, Orange and Colorado streets.

The writer recently disposed of his interests here and started east to spend the summer with relatives in New Jersey. Before starting he had the front seat of his car arranged so that the interior of the car could be arranged as a bed, and he and his wife slept in the car every night between the Pacific coast and New Jersey. They cooked their meals on the roadside, carrying their supplies in a box on the side of the car, the box serving as a table when it was opened.

"We had absolutely no trouble," says the letter, "and we enjoyed the freedom that was ours every mile of the way. No hotels, no railroad schedules, and we could stop where we wanted to, take side trips, and just do as we pleased."
"The Chevrolet acted beautifully all the way, cost us very little for gasoline and oil, and performed every task we imposed on it."

Announce Reduction In Santa Fe's Fares

Reduction in all Santa Fe one-way rates, between La Junta, Colo., and New York City, effective July 1, is announced by Manager J. M. Powers of the Glendale agency, 119 East Broadway. The reductions will effect a saving of from 30 cents to $12.50, Mr. Powers states.

Fifteen years ago a small one-seated four-cylinder motor car was being sold under what was then a new name, but which subsequently became one of the world's largest selling automobiles. This was the 1909 model Hudson "20," first of its kind.

Recently a display of that model car at the establishment of Harold L. Arnold, Southern California and Arizona distributor, revealed the fact that many of the old-timers are still running, after having seen service totalling, in some instances, close to 200,000 miles.

There was one fact which P. A. Kelley, of Kelley Motor Co., local dealer for the Hudson 816 South Brand boulevard, noted in the display. That is the total absence of any "radical" design either in body style or in motors.

Any one of the old models of Hudsons could be sold today with but slight modification, at its original sale price, if it were new, and no later style available. The new Hudson sedan, pictured beside the 1909 "Speedster" is the latest model of the closed car type.

Postmasters Inspect Local Office Methods

Known throughout Southern California as an efficient office where mail is handled with the utmost speed, postmasters from other cities are coming to Glendale to study the methods followed in the Glendale postoffice, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. Postmaster G. M. Russell of the Beverly Hills office, spent several hours yesterday conferring with Postmaster Jackson and Assistant Postmaster George Hallett.

Postmaster Russell was accompanied to Glendale by George M. Alan, formerly a clerk in the local postoffice and now assistant postmaster at the Beverly Hills station.

Leave for Europe on Six Months' Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rae of 128 North Louise street are leaving for New York on June 30. From there they will embark on August 1 for Europe on the Anchor line steamer Athenia. Their plan is to visit Scotland, remaining abroad about six months.

Mrs. Rae has for some time been associated with J. E. Barney, realtor, 131 North Brand boulevard. Mr. Rae is an interior decorator.

Choral Society Back From Yosemite Trip

Following a two-weeks' vacation trip, ten days of which were spent in Yosemite valley, members of the Choral society of the Seventh-Day Adventist church, have returned to Glendale. There were fifty persons in the party, mostly from Glendale, according to T. F. Culhane, who made the trip. The journey to Yosemite was made in automobiles by way of the inland route and the return trip was by Stockton, Sacramento and the coast route.

K. T. Taylor, a contractor of Glendale, and two other members of the party, set a new record for hiking when they walked from the camp to Half Dome, on to Cloudrest and back by way of Glacier Point, a thirty-mile trip, in one day.

Mr. Culhane reported travel to Yosemite light when they made the trip, but the camp was crowded when they left, he said, due to the lifting of quarantine bans in that vicinity.

Walter F. Lineberger Announces Candidacy

Walter F. Lineberger, representative in Congress from the Ninth Congressional district of California, of which Glendale is a part, has announced his intention of becoming a candidate in the August primaries for nomination and re-election on the Republican ticket. Mr. Lineberger will be absent from the United States for several months this summer, going to Europe on United States Shipping Board matters.

"If nominated and elected," Mr. Lineberger says, "I shall continue to support the fundamental and time honored principles of the Republican party, will stand upon the platform adopted at the Republican convention in Cleveland, and give loyal support to all Republican candidates."

A Message from Walter P. Chrysler—

When I say the good Maxwell is the best four-cylinder car at anything like its price in America today, I am thinking of specific accomplishments of the last year.

For instance, vibration subdued to the vanishing point; revolutionary riding and driving results; main bearings rarely if ever replaced; 18,000 miles from a set of tires, and so on.

Maxwell of today is more than the good Maxwell—it has been developed to a plane of superiority far above and beyond the dead level of previous four-cylinder possibilities.

a tough job and the snow battlers mighty near disposed of the available supply at Camp Curry when they reached that haven of rest.

Trees Across Road
Arriving at the summit, it became possible to do a little detouring, according to Franklin and the car was routed around some of the larger drifts. Soft hub-deep going was met through Dana Meadows. No dead and fallen trees barred the way until near Tenaya Lake, but from there on seventeen were encountered, a few of which it was possible to circumnavigate, the majority being saved to provide a gateway. Snow drifts across Snow Flat slowed up the intrepid motorists but from White Wolfe Grade and Meadow, where there were smaller drifts, to Camp Curry, Franklin reported the road in good condition.

While the trip at this time is remarkable and demonstrates the stamina and dependability of the Buick, it has no bearing on the condition of the road after nature and the road gang have had time in which to make the necessary repairs.

The road is the most beautiful and traverses the highest mountains in the United States. When thrown open for traffic, it offers no terrors to the most timid motorist.

Test Cars of 1924 Line Still In Fine Condition After 21,000 Miles

"It was scarce eight months ago that the first six 1924 Oakland cars of the line were dispatched from the factories at Pontiac, Michigan, to the distant corners of the country to prove the soundness of the many new Oakland features," says John Neuschaefer, 420 East Colorado street, local Oakland dealer.

"In other words, Oakland desired to show the public how the cars would perform after a year's service—and to give that year's service in terms of miles—in a space of time less than six weeks.

"Reports from these six cars which are doing duty at various branches and dealers of the company state that every one has covered more than 21,000 miles or a total of approximately 125,000 miles. Basing estimates on the 5000 yearly mileage of the ordinary car in the hands of a user, each of these six cars has had approximately four years of service—and of the hardest kind due to the abuse given them in demonstrating the four wheel brakes, acceleration and speed over all kinds of roads.

"Only minor repairs have had to be made on the cars."

Trail Leads to Historic Landmarks of State, Through National Parks and Mountain Ranges Where Romance Abounds

By C. PURCELL SCOTT
Written for The Evening News

California might be searched far and wide for a two weeks' vacation tour that will compare with the circle trip from Glendale through the Sequoia National Park, Yosemite, Lake Tahoe Region, and return by Sacramento, San Francisco and the coast.

Possibly there is no other trip that combines so great a variety of scenery, for such a trail leads through the largest trees in the world, the incomparable Yosemite, the Mark Twain and Bret Harte country, the romantic emigrant trails of our forefathers—each lending in its own particular way, a different atmosphere. So pack your camping equipment in your car and come along with us on a two weeks' vacation tour through this enchanted land over roads of countless scenic delight.

The first leg of our jaunt leads us over the ridge route to Bakersfield, thence to Delano, Porterville and the Sequoia National park. We arrive in time to be admitted during the last control and start our ascent to the park. Darkness had overtaken us by the time we had reached the last checking station, where we were assigned to our camp site at the base of a giant tree at the edge of the meadows.

The Giant Forest, one of the best known of the group and containing the largest trees, was visited first thing the next morning. Here we found the General Sherman tree—a tree of almost unbelievable size and height. The Room, Auto Log Roosevelt, and many other interesting trees are to be seen near Giant Forest, Roro Rock and Hanging Rock

For the auto vacationist who loves the gypsy life, with wonderful nights around the wayside campfire, the great circle tour provides two weeks of unalloyed joys. It links into a chain of progressive interests many of the state's most famous mountain and lake wonderlands, including Sequoia National Park, Yosemite, Tioga Pass, Tahoe, Mono and Donner Lakes and the historic "Gold Rush" country, returning along the incomparable coast route. The motorlog car, a Studebaker Big Six, which is handled here by Packer Auto Co., 245 South Brand Boulevard, made the trip outfitted with camping equipment from the Western Auto Supply Company.

Point. From there we looked down upon the beautiful Merced below, where it ribboned its way through the canyon. Across the valley, Yosemite Falls drop from the crest of a rock wall, brightening the whole surrounding and relieving the somberness of the mountain cliffs. A wonderful view of the Half Dome, Nevada and Vernal Falls may be obtained from the veranda of the Glacier Point hotel.

A day may be well spent in making a thorough tour of the floor of the valley on both sides of the Merced river, from Happy Isles at the east end of the valley to Pohona bridge at the west. Trips to El Portal, Mariposa Grove and the all-day trip to Hetch-Hetchy Valley will prove well worth the time spent.

When at last we left the valley, our visit ended, many a lingering, half regretful look was cast back upon this vale of enchantment. At Carl Inn we left the Big Oak Flat road for the one to the right, the Tioga road, the scenic wonder of the Sierras. Lake Tenaya soon commanded our attention, a beautiful mountain lake, named for the last chief of the Yosemite Indians. We skirted the edge of Tenaya's blue waters and reached the Tuolumne Meadows, six miles beyond.

Over Tioga Pass
A few miles further on we entered the Tioga Pass, a road hewn from the solid granite, a masterpiece of road engineering. The Tioga Pass was originally built by a mining company to gain access to mines in the vicinity. The mines failed, however, and the road fell into disuse for many years. It was later bought from the mining company and given to the government, which has converted it into its present condition. The Leaning Falls, with snow-capped mountains in the background, presented a bold contrast to the barren rocks surrounding them. All through the pass traces were visible of the great Tuolumne glacier and we never lost sight of them until we reached the foot of the canyon where we followed the winding road to Mono Lake.

Although Mono Lake is not an inviting looking body of water, it will bear closer inspection. The two islands, Pahoa and Gull, are more than two "masses of granite" upheaved by some volcanic eruption, as commonly supposed. Pahoa, the larger island of the two, contains more than 1400 acres of land. More than 200 goats thrive on the natural vegetation of this island. Cabbages and corn that would claim a blue ribbon are grown here and are irrigated by the natural springs of the island. Hot springs are to be found as well, and on a cold day, vapor may be seen rising from the lake's edge. The auto camp on the lake's edge is welcomed by the motorist who has traveled all day. Here is the logical place to spend the night, at McPherson's Camp, a day's drive from Yosemite.

The road between Mono Lake and Bridgeport, is no longer dreaded. A wide gravelled highway has taken the place of the narrow winding road of deep sand. The highway from Bridgeport is a road of surprises, for, while travelling through the desert, we suddenly find ourselves in a meadow abundant with trout, where after a short drive we left this unexpected pleasure as quickly as we came upon it. A few miles beyond we followed the canyon of the Walker river, the district made famous by the Walker party, the second party to cross the Sierras westward. The road leads on past Interstate Lake into Nevada and back again into California, where we soon reached the Tahoe region.

Visit Lake Tahoe
Lake Tahoe and its fascinating environs present a territory that will satisfy the ardent outdoor enthusiast or fascinate those who seek it as a place of rest. We passed Emerald Bay and followed the road that winds through to the lake's edge.

Mark Twain said of Lake Tahoe: "As it lies there with the shadows of the mountains brilliantly photographed upon its still surface, I thought it must surely be the fairest picture that the world affords."

The hotels and resorts on the lake are many, yet there are few that really cater to the camper. Two camps, the one of Meek's Bay, and the one maintained by the government, are especially designed for the man with the tent and camping equipment. Meek's Bay is indeed a pleasant spot. Its three-mile shallow, sandy beach and shady camp grounds, make any camper stop and linger awhile. The Tahoe free camp

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

"Dear Doctor:—About a year and one-half ago, I began to reduce and since then, I have lost seventy pounds. I won't say I lost it easily, for you know it is not so, but I didn't mind the details after the first few weeks. I loaned the pamphlet to a friend and she has lost it. I find there is considerable moral effect in having it right on hand. Recently, I was amazed to find that I had begun to climb up and that I had gained eleven pounds. Everybody in my circle has been very complimentary since I lost the seventy pounds, so I intend to lose what I have just gained. I have tried several systems of reducing before I tried yours, but none of them can compare with yours."

Did you get down to normal weight, Mrs. W.? If one continues to reduce until normal weight is reached, usually a fairly liberal diet will maintain the weight, but if there is a pound in excess, it seems to act as a leaven to make more accumulate. The best way to do, of course, is to be weighed weekly; then no more than two or three pounds will accumulate before they are discovered. Yes, it is a wonderful system. Do you realize that it is simply a knowledge of dietetics? Nothing mystifying or difficult about it. (Those of you who have the instructions, may obtain them, by enclosing a s. a. s. e. and four cents in stamps, with your request.)

Mrs. R.—Yes, oleomargarines are wholesome articles of food. They have the same energy value that butter has—one tablespoon to the 100 C. The butter, however, has a growth vitamin, which the margarines—especially those made of the vegetable oils—do not contain, so butter is a better food for children. However, if they get plenty of whole milk and green vegetables, they will probably get sufficient of this vitamin. It is safer, however, to give them butter.

Fruit acids are oxidized in the body, leaving an alkaline residue, but are not considered acid-forming foods. It sometimes happens that those with delicate digestions do experience difficulty with acid fruits, especially if they are taken with other foods. They might be taken in small amounts and gradually increased.

The numbness in the arm and leg is caused by defective circulation. Often those who are overweight experience this. Those who are not, will sometimes have the numbness when they awake in the morning, because of some position, assumed in sleep, that has cut off the circulation.

Mrs. H. and a Million Others!—You want to know how to reduce and avoid having a turkey neck, for you shudder in anticipation. If the neck exercises—bending the head back and to the sides as far as possible, stretching the muscles, at the same time massaging with an up and down stroke—combined with other general exercises that will call in the neck muscles, are faithfully practiced for five to ten minutes a day, the turkey neck should not develop.

The application of ice or ice water to the neck two or three times a day, with softening cream at night also, is advisable. Of course, after a certain age, wrinkles seem to come anyway, reducing or not reducing, but you can avoid excess wrinkling. If you reduce before the skin becomes inelastic—before 40 or so—there is no danger whatever of wrinkles.

Mrs. M.—There is no cure that I know of for a carcinoma—that tiny, red, painful tumor mass at the mouth of the urethra, (the tube that leads to the bladder)—except operative removal. It may be possible that that gives you the symptoms of cystitis. For cystitis (inflammation of the bladder) a diet containing the non-acid forming foods—fruits, vegetables, and milk—with very little of the acid-forming foods—meat, sugar, cereals and eggs—is necessary. Drink a large amount of water and keep the urine non-acid and diluted.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, but do not exceed 200 words, and write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith. Remember it is impossible for me to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible. If the nature of your interest, don't forget the s. a. s. e. you must put on each of your letters. I have offered.

Musical Tea

The silver tea and musical given yesterday afternoon at the beautiful foothill home of E. E. Dana, 1318 North Louise street, by the members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church, proved a most enjoyable affair. A large number of members and their friends were in attendance.

The afternoon's program included the following numbers: Violin solos by Miss Genevieve Mulligan, "A Dream" and "A Chinese Lullaby," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Lois Swindell. Miss Mulligan is a talented violinist and her selections were particularly enjoyed.

Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy, member of the Professional Department of the Emerson School of Self-Expression, delighted those present with two humorous readings, "A Matrimonial Storm" and "Pete, the Peddler."

The Claycomb sisters, Miss Juanita and Miss Grace, sang a duet number, "The Garden of Roses" and Miss Juanita, contralto, sang in her usual pleasing manner a solo, "A Lullaby." Miss Grace, who possesses a rich soprano voice, sang "The Pale Moon."

Miss Vera Schlotzhauer, versatile entertainer, favored the guests with three selections. She first sang "One-Two-Three" playing her own accompaniment on the Hawaiian guitar. The second selection "Mar-Poina-Oe-Iau" (forget-me-not) she played as a guitar solo. As a concluding number she gave a humorous reading, "She Was Scotch and So Was He."

Refreshments were served during the afternoon, out on the lawn in front of the Dana home, under a large pine tree and also in the dining room of the Dana home. The proceeds of this affair, which amounted to a substantial sum, will be applied toward the missionary pledge made by the class.

The committees in charge of the affair included Miss Nyda Dana, general chairman assisted by Misses Alice Rose, Ethel Thomas, Juanita Claycomb, Charlotte Cavell, Frieda Goertz, Elizabeth White, refreshments, and Mrs. Helen Butterfield and Miss Ruth Spafford, program committee.

Fifth Birthday

Charlene Chenoweth, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. C. E. Chenoweth, 328 West Lexington drive, celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary Monday afternoon, when her mother entertained with a patriotic party in her honor.

The patriotic colors, red, white and blue, were attractively combined in decorating for the occasion. Graceful festoons of red, white and blue ribbons were fastened to the chandeliers above the refreshment table, which was centered with a sikeen American flag. Hidden in the folds of the flag were clever favors fastened to red ribbon streamers, which the guests pulled at a given signal. These caused considerable amusement and merriment. The tables, baskets, merry-makers and other table appointments were also carried out in the same colors.

A beautiful birthday cake decorated in red, white and blue and bearing the inscription, "Happy Birthday, Charlene," was served with the other refreshments. Each guest was presented with an unusual crepe paper cap.

The afternoon was devoted to playing games and a general good time. Little Charlene was the recipient of many lovely gifts from her little friends.

Those present included Mary Goodloe, Virginia Fisher, Helen Goodloe, Montgomery Fisher, Jr., Betty Boothby, Clay Goodloe, Margaret Allowell, Billy Goodloe, Bernice Allowell, Alice West, Melvin Leroy West, Patricia Monroe, Barbara Plum, Harrison Monroe, Henry Breckenridge Chenoweth, and the honoree, Charlene Chenoweth.

Bridge Hostess

Mrs. Roy Hinchcliff of 440 West Milford street was hostess last Monday afternoon to a group of friends at an enjoyable bridge party. The rooms were attractively decorated with arrangements of spring flowers and roses.

The afternoon was devoted to playing bridge, for which Mrs. S. E. McKenney of Venice was awarded high score prize and Mrs. J. M. Woolsey consolation prize. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The guests included Mesdames George Meedham of Arcadia, S. B. McKenney of Venice, M. E. Benard of Ocean Park and Roy Kimball, William Kimball, J. M. Woolsey and Miss Emma Stevens, all of Glendale.

Hostess At Tea

Mrs. Walter Parsonage opened her home at 327 Cameron place last Sunday to the members of the Florence Nightingale chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire in America for their annual silver tea and musical.

A profusion of spring flowers was used effectively in decorating the rooms for the occasion. There were over thirty-five members in attendance. This affair marked the close of the season for a vacation recess. The regular meetings will convene again during September.

The afternoon's program included vocal selections by Mrs. Bessie Morgan, Donald Fraser and violin selections by George Bergen and piano solos by Mrs. William Holt.

Church Wedding

Another early summer wedding took place Tuesday night, June 24, 1924, in the Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial park, where Miss Hilda Evelyn Brockway, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Brockway of 221 Richland avenue, and Earl T. Johnston, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Johnston of 2509 Wood road, were married by Rev. C. S. Prout, pastor of the Central S. D. A. church of Los Angeles.

P. Shaul Hallett, organist of All Saints Episcopal church of Pasadena, presided at the organ, and George Brown, tenor, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Brockway entered the Little Church with her father. She wore a bridal gown of white chiffon, trimmed with Spanish lace. Lilies of the valley and orange blossoms were combined in the wreath that held her veil in place. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and fern.

The maid of honor was her sister, Miss Ethel Mildred Brockway, who wore pale pink georgette with hat to match, and carried pink rose buds.

Miss Brockway and Anna May Hummel, the little flower girls, wore dainty frocks of pink and pale green organza.

Everett Stone of Eagle Rock, a boyhood friend of Mr. Johnston, was best man. LeRoy Martin and Ralph Meyers were ushers.

Following the church service a reception was held at the bride's home on Richland avenue. Over 150 attended the reception.

The Brockway family is well-known in Glendale, where Mr. Brockway is connected with the Harrower Laboratory. He was formerly Spanish teacher at the Glendale Evening High school, and returned just last week from three months' traveling in Europe. Mrs. Johnston has spent the last year as French teacher at the Glendora Foothills school.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston are now at Catalina and upon their return will reside in Glendale.

Garden Wedding

Just at the sunset hour Tuesday, June 24, 1924, Miss Euliel, daughter of Mrs. A. F. Ballenger, became the bride of Ernest White, at a ceremony taking place in the garden of the bride's home.

The bride's uncle, Rev. E. S. Ballenger of Riverside, performed the ceremony before a company of thirty-five relatives. Added sentiment to the occasion was the fact that the day was the thirty-third anniversary of Mrs. Ballenger's marriage.

Bridal songs were sung by James Moore and the wedding march was played by Daisy Kern. Mr. Moore sang "Because" just at the hour for the reading of the bridal service. Accompanying him was Mrs. William Johnson.

Miss Ballenger wore a gown of white satin and pearls. She was attended by Maleta Osborn as bridesmaid. Little Jean Campbell was flower girl for her cousin.

Attending as best man was the bride's brother, Oswald Ballenger. The marriage marks the culmination of a romance begun when the young couple were schoolmates in the eighth grade. Their friendship was continued through high school and college. Both are graduates of the University of California.

After a two weeks' honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. White will be at home to their friends at 3212 La Ciede avenue, Los Angeles.

Compliment Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Perkins, whose marriage took place recently, were honored Monday night at a reception at the home of Mr. Perkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Perkins at 312 East Harvard street.

The young couple were on their way to their future home in Camarillo, near Ventura, and stopped in Glendale for a visit with relatives and friends. They left for the north Tuesday morning. Mrs. Perkins was formerly Miss Dora Wainwright.

There were thirty in the company that greeted them Monday night and showered them with many gifts. During the evening a mock wedding provided much amusement. Curtis Galbraith was the bride; Miss Eleanor Perkins the groom, and Edward Solomon the officiating minister. In addition, there was a riotous bridal party.

Other entertainment were horn solos by Cecil Percy; piano numbers by Mrs. Dean Swindell, and vocal solos by Miss Hansen and Miss Mildred Hughey.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

There are moments when every woman feels plain, no matter how beautiful she is ordinarily. Either her hair hangs limply and unbecomingly, or her complexion has gone sallow and ugly, or full-fledged wrinkles appear where no wrinkles were ever seen before, or—but why go on with the long list? We all know those plain moments!

Personally, I believe in doing something frivolous and a little extravagant at once. Having straight hair, I go forth and have it shampooed and waved. Always feel that life is not to be taken so seriously with a quite perfect marcel wave as with wisps and strings of hair that fly about in the wrong directions. Try it. It's not a bad way of getting over a "plain" moment. Ordinarily, I waved hair may not be as good as it all, but the chances are nine to ten that it will when you are out of sorts.

Or have a face massage. There's something delightfully soothing about packs made of hot towels and slathers of deliciously pink cream. And it's so nice to be massaged even though one pays $2 for the fussing and the sympathetic (!) conversation of the attendant. One young girl I know says having a manicure gets her over a plain moment; she feels well-dressed and well-looked as soon as her nails are made pretty. But a professional manicure makes me nervous. If these methods don't appeal to you, try a home-made cold cream massage, a warm bath, a cold shower or rinse, and a nap or an hour's reading lying comfortably on a couch. Physical rest and stimulation may get you over your plain moment. For tiredness usually causes it.

Watchful—Olive oil applied to the lashes will make them appear to be darker than they are naturally. You can use henna on them if you care for the shade, and for a person with light hair as you have, henna would make a good choice, in addition to being a tonic.

Nellie B.—At 37 years of age, height five feet, four inches, your weight of 188 pounds is 28 pounds too much to be normal. Establish—Learn to hold your head high and you will not have this tendency to show a fullness under the chin. Dash very cold water over the chin every day and use light friction from a coarse towel.

Robbie—For a skin as dry as yours, most of the cleansing of the face and throat should be done with cleansing cream. Tomorrow—How About Your Shoulders?

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, so if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

July Fourth seems an especially appropriate time to give a party. The following entertainment suggestions are suitable for young people from ten years old to the twenties. (For refreshments serve ordinary punch, cake and ice cream.)

Invite guests informally by telephone, asking them to come on July Fourth at three o'clock in the afternoon, each bringing a suitcase which contains an old garment for use in one of the games to be played.

When the guests arrive the suitcase game, which is called "Going Home for the Fourth," is started at once to "break the ice" (there is no more hilarious game known!). It may be played out-of-doors or in the house, as follows: The guests pile their suitcases in the center of the room, or lawn. At a signal all rush forward to grab a suitcase and, if it is more fun, if nobody gets his own. Each player must open the suitcase, put in the garment to a given goal (out of doors this might be a tree) and there take off the garment, put it back in the suitcase and rush back to the starting place. He who does this in the shortest space of time, wins the game. The game may then be repeated or discarded for the one following:

Presidents' Pictures: Buy a cheap volume of "Lives of the Presidents" in the Juvenile Department of a book store and cut the pictures of all the presidents from this book. Paste each picture on a large card, number them, and label them incorrectly. For instance, label George Washington "Grant" and Grant "McKinley," and so on. In five minutes the guests must write down the numbers of each picture, naming the presidents correctly. No person may look on another's paper. A small framed picture of Lincoln might be the prize for the winner of this contest.

Flag Game: Stand the guests in a circle and give all but one person a penny flag. At a signal everybody begins passing his flag to the player on his left and continues doing so till the signal once more sounds. The winner is the one who has no flag. Repeat as often as desired.

Patriotic Observation Contest: Put on a table a number of articles suggested by the Fourth—for instance, a firecracker, toy cannon, army coat button, and the like. Let everybody look at these things for two minutes, then cover the table with a cloth and give everybody a pencil and paper to write down from memory what he saw.

The Case of Jennie Brice Serial Story

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART. Copyright, 1924.

CHAPTER XXVIII

He came right over and put his arms around me.

"Who are you, anyhow?" he said. "You who turn to the world the frozen mask of a Union Street boarding-house landlady, who are a gentlewoman by every instinct and training, and a girl at heart? Who are you?"

"I'll tell you who I am," I said. "I'm a romantic old fool, and you'd better let me do this quickly, before I change my mind."

He freed me at that, but he followed to the telephone, and stood by while I got Lida. He was in a perfect frenzy of anxiety, turning red and white by turns, and in the middle of the conversation taking the receiver bodily from me and holding it to his own ear.

She said she thought she could get away; she spoke guardedly, as if Alma were near, but I gathered that she would come as soon as she could, and from the way her voice broke, I knew she was as excited as the boy beside me.

She came, heavily coated and veiled, at a quarter after ten that night, and I took her back to the dining-room, where he was waiting. He did not make a move toward her, but stood there with his very lips white, looking at her. And, at first, she did not make a move either, but stood and gazed at him, thin and white, and wrecked of himself. Then:

"Eil," she cried, and ran around the table to him, as he held out his arms.

The school-teacher was out. I went into the parlor bedroom and sat in the cozy corner in the dark. I had done a wrong thing, and I was glad of it. And sitting there in the darkness, I went over my own life again. After all, it had been my own life; I had lived it; no one else had shaped it for me. And if it was cheerless and colorless now, it had had its big moments. Life is measured by big moments.

If I let the two children in the dining-room have fifteen big moments, instead of five, who can blame me?

The next day was the sensational one of the trial. We went through every phase of conviction: Jennie Brice was living, Jennie Brice was dead. The body found at Sewickley could not be Jennie Brice's. The body found at Sewickley was Jennie Brice's. And so it went on.

The defense did an unexpected thing in putting Mr. Ladley on the stand. That day, for the first time, he showed the wear and tear of the ordeal. He had no flower in his button-hole, and the rims of his eyes were red. But "It's a Boy" continues to bring large crowds nightly to the tent of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, between Brand boulevard and Central avenue.

In the cast, "It's a Boy" proved an outstanding hit and played to crowded houses. It is expected to prove the most popular play that Murphy's Comedians have yet put on. The curtain rises promptly at 8 o'clock each night, although those who wish front seats will find the doors open at 7:15 o'clock.

The Morosco theatre in Los Angeles will present this play in August, states J. A. Menard, manager of Murphy's Comedians. It is at present being offered for the first time on the Pacific Coast.

"Code of the Sea" is the picture at the Gateway Theatre for the balance of the week.

At daylight I rowed her to Federal Street.

"What had she with her?"

"A small brown valise."

"How was she dressed?"

"In a black and white dress and hat, with a long black coat."

"What was the last you saw of her?"

"She was going across the Sixth Street bridge."

"Alone?"

"No. She went with a young man we knew."

There was a stir in the court room at this. "Who was the young man?"

"A Mr. Howell, a reporter on a newspaper here."

"Have you seen Mr. Howell since your arrest?"

"No, sir. He has been out of the city."

I was so excited by this time that I could hardly hear. I missed some of the cross-examination. The district attorney pulled Mr. Ladley's testimony to pieces.

"You cut the boat's painter with your pocket-knife?"

"I did."

"Then how do you account for Mrs. Pitman's broken knife, with the blade in your room?"

"I only have about six glasses left," the goat boy answered.

"When you drink that, Uncle Wiggily, I shall have to make more."

"All right," chuckled the bunny. "I'll help you. Run to the store and get more lemons. I'll help you sell lemonade. It will be an adventure for me."

So while the rabbit gentleman was drinking his six penny glasses of lemonade, and feeling much cooler, Billie scampered away and got more lemons, water and sugar. Then Uncle Wiggily helped him squeeze out the sour juice, mix it with water, and sugar and put in some ice to cool it. Just as the second pailful of lemonade was made, Billie's mother called him.

"Oh, dear!" bleated the goat boy. "I've got to go beat the dust out of a rug. I promised mother I would, but if I go how

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY LEMONADE

The day was very hot in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow. Even though it wasn't yet the Fourth of July, when the sun begins to sizzle, still it was very warm.

"Surely you aren't going out adventuring today, when it is so hot!" whispered Nurse Jane, as she saw Uncle Wiggily's pink nose begin to twinkle. Almost always it twinkled just before he started off to seek adventures.

"Yes, I think I shall go out," said Mr. Longears. "It will not be much warmer in the woods and fields than it is here in the bungalow. Suppose you come with me, Nurse Jane. It would do you good to have an adventure once in a while."

"Thank you," squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she stretched out on the floor and put a cool, damp rag over her head. "I don't care for adventures. You may have them all. And I think it is cooler here than out-doors—especially lying on the floor."

"All right—you stay here and I'll hop along," said Uncle Wiggily, and he went outside. It was hotter than he thought it was, but still, now that he had started, he wasn't going back. "Besides, I need an adventure," he said to himself, and he twinkled his pink nose rather slowly, for it was too warm to twinkle it fast.

The rabbit gentleman was hopping along in the shade when, all of a sudden, he heard a voice calling:

"Here you are! Here you are! Nice and cool! Sweet and cool!"

"What's cool, and where is it?" asked the rabbit gentleman, for he knew the voice to be that of one of the animal children.

"In the shade, nice and cool!" went on the voice, and looking around the corner of a sassafras tree, the bunny saw where Billie Wagtail, the little goat boy, had put a board across two boxes and had made a little lemonade stand near his house.

"Have you cool, sweet lemonade there, Billie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, I have, a penny a glass," bleated the goat boy. "Do you want some?"

"If you please," answered Uncle Wiggily, taking out half a dozen pennies. "I'll have six glasses. My I didn't know it was so hot!"

Billie looked at his lemonade pail, sort of anxious like.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, laying the six pennies on the board counter. "Is your lemonade all gone?"

"I only have about six glasses left," the goat boy answered.

"When you drink that, Uncle Wiggily, I shall have to make more."

"All right," chuckled the bunny. "I'll help you. Run to the store and get more lemons. I'll help you sell lemonade. It will be an adventure for me."

So while the rabbit gentleman was drinking his six penny glasses of lemonade, and feeling much cooler, Billie scampered away and got more lemons, water and sugar. CIVIC NEEDS ARE TOLD COMMITTEE
List of Ten Improvements Calling for Bonds In Officials' Report

An outline of ten public improvements that, in the opinion of the Glendale City Council and City Manager Virgil B. Stone, should properly be provided for with municipal bond issues, is the foundation on which the Citizens' Bond committee has risen on the civic scene.

- The council has agreed to submit to vote of the people any of these bond propositions that are recommended by the committee. Inasmuch as this committee comprises representatives from practically every organization in the city, it is felt that any proposition approved by them should carry by a substantial majority.
- List of Projects
Following is a synopsis of the ten public improvements outlined to the Citizens' Bond committee:
1. Additional fire stations and equipment, the proposition being, in brief, that Station No. 2, on West Los Feliz road, be disposed of because of its dangerous location and another station be established in the south part of the city.
 2. A modern fire alarm system, such as that recently installed in Santa Ana.
 3. A police alarm system, considered equally as imperative to the efficiency of the police department as is the above to the fire department.
 4. Additions to the housing facilities of the city government, the statement being set forth in detail as to the present overcrowded conditions, suggestions being offered that the Harvard high school site be acquired for a civic center or additions to the present City Hall be made.
 5. Erection of bridges across the Verdugo wash and elsewhere within the city limits.
 6. Establishment of a water supply sufficient to care for all future needs of the city.
 7. Construction of an auxiliary power plant sufficient for handling the entire street lighting and pumping load of the city, in an emergency such as at present confronts Glendale.
 8. Acquisition of a city park, while land values are not yet prohibitive.
 9. Disposal of garbage in a hygienic manner, probably by the incinerator method recently adopted by Pasadena.
 10. Founding of a municipal hospital, as suggested in a communication from Dr. Henry R. Harrower to city officials.

Unlicensed Peddlers Convicted In Court
Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Chaplin were yesterday found guilty by a jury of violating Section 29, Ordinance 573, which has to do with the issuance of licenses. The trial was held in the police court of Judge Frank H. Love. The evidence presented by Leslie R. Tarr, deputy city attorney, showed that the defendants had been peddling jewelry on the streets of Glendale without a license.

Report Missing Girls To Glendale Police
Notice of the disappearance of two Burbank girls has been received by the Glendale police department. The girls are Miss Mary Ferrare and Miss Ollie Hanon, both 18 years old. Miss Ferrare is 5 feet 2 inches tall and has black, curly bobbed hair. Miss Hanon is 5 feet 4 inches tall and has light hair.

PRAISES CITY IN POETIC TRIBUTE
'Glendale on the Lea,' Topic Of Verses From Pen Of S. W. Shaull

"Glendale on the Lea" is the title of a booster poem written and copyrighted by S. W. Shaull, of 3449 Atwater avenue, Los Angeles. The Glendale Evening News is always happy to receive poems or stories boosting Glendale and it is with pleasure that Mr. Shaull's poem is herewith printed.

Where clouds, like golden galleons,
And sun, and moon, and stars oft show
As if infused with brighter glow
Than mortal eye may see;
Whose airs are soft, and croon and sigh
O'er flowing fields, 'neath very sky
You'll know that somewhere very high
Lies Glendale on the lea.

In Glendale, when the sun is low,
The orange trees show, row on row,
As frozen crests of living snow
Upon a burnished sea.
And blue, pink and poppy flow'r
Add spice and color to the hour,
While over all, majestic, tower
The mountains, wild and free.

From shaded nook the mockingbird
Down moonlit ways, is often heard
To pour his lay, in tone and word
That all his tale of love;
While buds and blossoms scent the air
With fragrance, rich beyond compare—
'Twould seem a perfume lingered
Distilled in heav'n above.

The oriole's nest, by silken strings,
From swaying bough so gayly swings
While young are snug 'neath mother's wings,
Her happy thoughts to share.
On Glendale air (as all men know)
Through mansion, cot, and bungalow
Health's choicest blessings ever flow
In radiance rich and rare.

If God e'er made more lovely spot
Poor erring man will know it not
Until it is his happy lot
To heav'nly realms to flee.
And that's the reason every year,
Ten thousand strong, we settle here
And sing her praise, that all may hear
Of Glendale on the lea.

COMMENT That's All
City Goes Dark Tonight Good Time To Reflect 'Pussyfoot' Leads Raid Huge Sum For Schools
By Gil A. Cowan

Glendale tonight is due to get a taste of what the power shortage means if this city does not conserve electrical energy.

For a half hour, it is proposed, to throw this city in darkness. It will be a good time for reflection.

Also, it demonstrates the necessity for the Boulder Canyon dam conserving the waters of the Colorado river.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson made his presence known in Southern California yesterday by leading a squad of dry raiders in the seizure of a still.

However, we question the crusader's authority. It is the first time we had heard he was an officer of the law.

And by what right has a person to enter another's palace and seize his goods without the proper credentials, we ask to know?

More than $600,000 is the estimated income of the Glendale city schools. It is probable that the High school income added to that figure would push the total over a million dollars.

Think of it! A million dollars a year for the schooling of Glendale young people. Not a paltry sum, at all.

Nor is it too much if properly accounted for in educational results.

And that's that.

Ideal Vacation Trip Covering Two Weeks

ground is located two miles south of the tavern. When the camper drives in, he is personally conducted to the site. He is then shown where wood and water may be obtained. This park boasts of free shower baths and dressing tents at the lake's edge; in fact, everything to make the visitor's stay a most pleasant one.

Leaving Tahoe, we drove through Truckee and started our ride to Sacramento. We followed the trail replete with romance; the dim trail of the early pioneers, of the "forty-niners" and of the pony express. Donner Lake, with the monument erected to the memory of the Donner party, was soon sighted. Passing by the lake, we rapidly approached the summit, where a wonderful view of the lake was obtained.

Fishing Is Good
We followed along the South Yuba, and encountered many streams where those who are lovers of this sport so lauded by Isaac Walton, find an abundance of trout.

At Emigrant Gap we stopped a moment to view the old emigrant trail, that drops down into Bear valley, where the pioneers lowered their wagons into the valley by means of huge chains snubbed about a giant tree.

As we swiftly glided along in our Studebaker big six, we compared today's mode of travel with that of yesterday; they with their covered wagons, their ox teams and slow rate of travel, with all the hardships and suffering they had to bear; we, today, traveling the same trails, covering hundreds of miles a day, grumbling perhaps, because the road may be a bit rough. What a contrast!

Our camping equipment is likewise as different; we with all of the modern conveniences of home, even to a gas stove, refrigerator and spring bed; they, with their cumbersome wood stoves and bulky beds, with none of the comforts that we now enjoy.

Even in passing Dutch Flat, Grass Valley and other "diggings" where the gold rush now remains only in tradition and name we could almost visualize the grizzled old miner on his wagon seat, pounding an accompaniment on his pan, while putting into actual practice, the words of his song: "Oh, California, that's the land for me."

I'm bound for the Sacramento with the washbowl on my knee.

Nor was the magic spell broken until we reached Sacramento. Like the sudden awakening from a dream, it vanished as we approached a city of today. In Sacramento, we paid a visit to historic old Fort Sutter, where many relics of those past romantic days are preserved.

From Sacramento it was but a few hours' drive to San Francisco where we turned south on the trail set by the padres, the El Camino Real. By leaving this highway near San Jose, an interesting trip may be taken through the Big Basin country, Santa Cruz and Watsonville, again joining the main highway at Salinas, where the pavement leads back to Los Angeles and Glendale.

St. Mark's Picnic Is Staged at Pasadena
Brookside park, Pasadena, was the destination this morning of St. Mark's Episcopal church children and adults for the annual picnic outing. They left the church at 9:30 o'clock, planning to spend the day in the park. A picnic lunch was enjoyed at noon and this afternoon a program of games and other recreational features is in progress.

PUBLISH SECOND EDITION OF BOOK
'First of the Ranchos' Ready For Distribution by Security Bank

A lot more of the popular booklet, "First of the Ranchos, the Story of Glendale," have just come from the press, and are being distributed by the publisher, the Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank.

To be exact, 10,000 copies constitute the second edition of the highly illustrated brochure, and R. F. Kitterman, vice-president and manager of the bank, declares that if the second edition does not fill the demand, a third edition will be got out. "In fact," said Mr. Kitterman this morning, "we have about decided to make 'First of the Ranchos' a permanent publication of this bank. Everyone is anxious to give our beautiful community more advertising, particularly national advertising, and we do not know of any way in which we can help more than by furnishing such a medium as the little booklet we got out as a souvenir of our formal opening on June 14. Therefore we are anxious that no one hesitates in coming in and asking for as many copies as he or she wants to mail to friends or relatives elsewhere who make good 'prospects' for future Glendale citizenship. The great thing at the Security opens exhausted all of our first edition, but now we are ready to supply those who have been wanting additional booklets."

A specially printed envelope in two colors is supplied by the bank with each book. It may be mailed unsealed for 2 cents and for 6 cents sealed.

The whole mezzanine floor of the Glendale Security building is now given over to a display of Miller, chairman of the park committee of the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce, has called a conference of the Chambers of Commerce and improvement bodies at Encino Country club on July 1 at 7 p. m.

The Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce has extended an invitation to representatives of all civic bodies in the San Fernando valley and to any others who have an interest in the development of the valley.
