PREFACE

THE MATERIAL used in the writing of this genealogy has been in collecting since the year 1849. The compiler began with making notes of whatever came under his eye, in casual reading, relating to the family, but he soon engaged in making researches. He published, in 1866, the result of his labors, using conjecture in putting the work together where positive information was lacking. The pamphlet thus published called forth additional and corrective material; and a second edition was published in 1878. The compiler purposes to have an interleaved copy of this edition, in which to insert corrections and further information, for use in a supplement or in a fourth edition, by some other hand.

The opinion of John Burke has had weight with the compiler: it was that "He only deserves to be remembered by posterity, who treasures up, and preserves the history of his ancestors."

The conspicuous members of the family, in Revolutionary times, were Judge Henry Wynkoop [157], of Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and Judge Dirck Wynkoop [292], of Kingston, Ulster County, New York. A half-tone copy of the portrait of the former is given herein. No portrait of the latter is in existence. It is probable that he had one, and that it was destroyed by the British, when they burned Kingston, and wrecked his two houses, in 1777.

The likeness of Judge Henry Wynkoop is representative of the third line of the family, which began with Gerret [5].

The likeness is also given of Lieut. Dyer Sharpe Wynkoop [435], descendant of Benjamin [8], as representative of the fourth line of the family. The likeness of Francis Silvester Wynkoop [475] represents the first line of the family, descending from Maj. Johannes [2]. And last appears the face of the compiler, Richard [1428], as senior representative of the second line, beginning with Evert [4], and also as a junior representative of the first line.

The compiler has been gathering photographs of Wynkoops and their spouses and consorts, and has fifty-one of them, at the present time; and he would be pleased to add to the collection, which will be a permanent one if his wishes are heeded. They are all mounted on cards $4\frac{1}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$; because uniformity of size is favorable to permanence.

BROOKLYN, December, 1903.

INTRODUCTION

THE name seems to be a contraction of Wijnkooper, a wine buyer, or vintner. The name of "Evaerdt Wynkooper" appears as a baptismal witness at Kingston, N. Y., November 6, 1687. The name has, properly, double i, in the first syllable, with the second i extending below the line, and curving to the left, as in physicians' prescriptions. All double vowels, in the Netherland tongue, are pronounced long; hence the Low Dutch pronounced this name Winekōpe; but in this country the pronunciation is now Wincoop, rhyming with loop, except in Virginia, where it is sounded Wincoop, after the English fashion. The Compiler inclines to the use of the Netherland pronunciation.

It seems, from private records in Holland, that two brothers Wynkoop left for New Amsterdam early in the 17th century. They may have been Peter and Cornelius; for those names appear at Vest-Oranje (Fort Orange, now Albany), the former in 1639, and the latter in 1655.

The name is borne by a bay on the southerly shore of Java, near the westerly end. The tradition is, in Holland, that the branch of the family which gave that name returned to Holland.

The name is still to be found in Amsterdam; for, at Rochester, N. Y., in 1868, and at Bath, N. Y., from 1871 to 1903, was Henry J. Wynkoop, who was born at Amsterdam, of native Dutch parents. (See No. 1816.) He is representative of the Pulteney estate.

John Wynkoop's name appears in a patent for land, in 1619, of which Bryant gives an account, as follows: "After much trouble and delay, a patent was procured from the Virginia Company, issued in the name of Mr. John Wincob, on June 9, 1619. Of this patent, nothing further is known, and it was never used. It is supposed to have made a grant of land somewhere near the mouth of the Hudson River." "The date is fixed by the Journal of the London Council, in Neill's History of the Virginia Company, where the name of the patentee is spelt Wencop, Wincopp, and Whincop. Bradford says, Wincob."¹ Perhaps this Wynkoop was subsequently one of the Westminster Divines.

A "silver piece from the fleet of Piet Heyn," is mentioned in the will of Cornelius [1]. No doubt, the piece was a memento of the capture of the Spanish treasure vessels, in 1628, in the harbor of Matanzas, Cuba; and the inference is not unwarranted, that some relative of Cornelius shared in that exploit.

The name of Wynkoop appears in England, about 1643. Among the Divines of the Westminster Assembly was John Wincop, D.D., of St. Martins in the Fields, which was subsequently allotted to the Eleventh Classis of the Province of London, in 1646, under the Parliamentary Presbyterian system. He was in constant attendance, and joined with fifty-one other members, in 1646, in subscribing the proposition, that Jesus Christ, as king of the church, hath himself appointed a church government distinct from the civil magistrate.² In the same assembly, was Thomas Wincop, D.D., Elesworth, who took a vow not to maintain any thing, in doctrine, but what he believed to be most agreeable to the word of God, nor, in discipline, but what he conceived to conduce most to the glory of God, and the good and the peace of the church. But it seems that he did not continue in attendance.³ Hetherington, in his History of the Westminster Assembly of Divines, at pages 97 and 98, mentions the same men, in the same locations. An other writer has the following: "John Whincop, D.D., was a member of the Assembly of Divines at Westminster. His name is found in the ordinance of Parliament, for calling an Assembly of Learned and Godly Divines: and he is said to be of St. Martins in the Fields. A John Whincop, D.D., said to be sometime Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, and pastor of the church at Clothall, in Hertfordshire, about the year 1644, or 1645, has two sermons extant, which I have now before me: 1st, God's Call to Weeping and Mourning, from Isa. xxii, 12, preached to the House of

A Wynkoop coat of arms, as of Amsterdam, is described in Armorial Général (J. B. Riestap, Gouda, 1884), as follows: "Wynkoop—Amsterdam. Ec.: aux 1 et 4 d'azur à un rocher d'arg., mouv. d'une mer du même, acc. en chef de deux étoiles (5) d'or; aux 2 et 3 d'azur au lion d'arg., cour. d'or." This may be translated: In the 1st and 4th quarters of blue, a rock of silver, projecting from a sea of silver; two golden five pointed stars [with wavy lines] side by side, at the top of the shield: in the 2d and 3d quarters, also of blue, a silver lion, with a gold crown.

The Compiler has had a drawing made, from the foregoing description, as shown below.

A tradition was preserved in the Pennsylvania branch of the family, descended from the third son, and was reduced to writing, May 12, 1808, by or for Judge Henry Wynkoop [157], that Cornelius C. Wynkoop, a young bachelor, migrated, early in the 17th century, from Utrecht, in the United Dutch Netherlands, to Manhadoes, now New York City, and soon after settled at ⁴ Memoirs of the Lives, etc., of the Eminent Divines, etc., at Westminster. Paisley, 1815.

Vest-Oranje, now Albany, where he erected water-works, which were destroyed by a freshet, and that he then removed to Hurley, near Kingston, Ulster County, New York. The initial, C., is probably a mistaken interpolation, transferred from Cornelius C. [211].

The earlier editions of this genealogy assumed that Peter Wynkoop was the head of the family; but that assumption is now abandoned, as not supported by any thing, except by conjecture, and as improbable. Peter was born about 1615 or 1616, and he appeared at Albany in 1639. Cornelius Wynkoop appears there in 1655, as making a contract; he must therefore have been of age. He died about 1676; the chronology suggests that he may have been a collateral relative, and not a descendant of Peter. Cornelius had five sons, of whom four lived to be married, and there was no Peter among them; and that would be contrary to the unwritten but inexorable law of the Dutch settlers. And there was no Peter among the grandchildren of Cornelius; so that it may be that there was no known relationship between Peter and Cornelius. Peter disappears from sight, and no descendant from him has been identified. He may have died young, or returned to Holland. But he made a stir in the province, and gave the officials occasion to sit up of nights, and ought not to be slighted here. On February 10, 1639, he appears as defendant, on a complaint for smuggling, brought by the Fiscaal. The liquors, that were the subject of seizure, were confiscated, and Peter was fined twelve guilders.⁵ On March 9, 1640, he made a declaration, as to the ownership of hay, which was in the possession of Barent Dircksen. In this declaration, he describes himself as twenty-four years old.⁶ In 1642, he appears as a settler at Rensselaerwyck, and as "Commis." ⁷ It seems that he was Commissary Superintendent of Wares and Merchandise, for the Patroon, Van Rensselaer. In 1644, he was commissioned by the Patroon, to purchase, from the natives, land about Catskill,⁸ and, in connection with the Commissary General, Arendt Van Curler, to recover land and other property, which, it was alleged, had been purchased and misappropriated by a former agent, Adrian Van der Donck.⁹ In the same year, The Arms of Rensselaerwyck, with Peter as supercargo, arrived at Manhattan, now a borough of New York City, having been despatched in the previous autumn, by the Patroon to his colony. Kieft, the Director General, demanded from Peter, shoes for the soldiers, who were then fighting the Indians of the neighborhood of Hempstead, L. I. Peter refused to supply the shoes, and Kieft seized them, and ordered the vessel to be searched; and powder and guns, that were not manifested, were discovered. Kieft declared them contraband, and seized cargo and vessel. Peter contested the matter. The record is as follows: March 18, 1644. Protest. Peter Wynkoop, supercargo of the ship, The Arms of Rensselaerwyck, against Fiscaal van der Huyghens, for unlading the vessel. March 22, 1644. Answer of Fiscaal. March 23, 1644. Receipt. Peter Wynkoop, for eighteen kegs of gunpowder, from the Fiscaal. October 27, 1644. Court proceedings. Fiscaal against Peter Wynkoop, supercargo, etc.: smuggling; on the petition of Arendt Van Curler. The case was referred to the Directors of the West India Company, in Amsterdam, as the vessel was old and leaky. The cargo was released, and the vessel sailed, soon after.¹⁰ There were other controversies over this voyage, as follows: March 10, 1644. Court proceedings. Adriaen Willemsen against Peter Wynkoop, on complaint that the defendant had stated that the plaintiff had given information, that there were prohibited goods on board; defendant said that it was the boatswain who had made the statement; the boatswain was ordered to appear, and Peter was discharged. March 17, 1644. Adriaen Willemsen against Andrew, the boatswain, for having reported that plaintiff had informed against Rensselaer's vessel as having contraband goods on board; defendant said that Lubbert Jansen told him so. Lubbert Jansen declared that what he reported about the ship was untrue; that he knows nothing of plaintiff, but what is honorable and virtuous; was sorry for what he had said, and begged plaintiff's pardon. Lubbert Jansen to pay costs.¹¹ Peter next appears, May 31, 1646, in court proceedings, Hillegond Joris against Peter Wynkoop, on an order to show cause why defendant had arrested plaintiff's husband, in the colony Rensselaerwyck. Defendant said: for debt; and that the case must be determined in Rensselaerwyck, having originated there.¹² And finally, Peter appears, June 8, 1646, in court proceedings against Adrien van der Donck. Action on a note signed by Anthony de Hooges. De Hooges promised payment, and judgment was given against him.¹³

Hendric Wynkoop appears as a witness, March 14, 1686, at Kingston, N. Y., to the baptism of Magdalena, daughter of Moses du Puy and Maritie Wynkoop; but he has not been identified. Perhaps the record of his given name is erroneous.

A Wynkoop book-plate, of several varieties, is in existence, the origin of which is unknown; it seems to have started with Peter [510], born in 1755. A copper printing-plate, containing the device, which is a Hollander, a serving man, and a wine cask, and with the name of Peter Wynkoop upon it, descended to the compiler, who had the eagle, of the crest, re-engraved, the name Richard substituted for Peter, and the motto inserted. A lithograph from this plate, with the motto in place of the name, was given in the edition of 1878, of the Wynkoop Genealogy. A plate with the same device, but of independent drawing, has the name of Corns. C. Wynkoop [211, born in 1772]. And a third one, with female bacchantes supporting the shield, has the name of Augustus Wynkoop [213, born 1777]. The fourth variety, with the motto added, is in the Pennsylvania branch of the family, with Corns C. Wynkoop upon it. The Compiler has had a plate made, based upon the one of Augustus, substituting the motto, in place of the name, and turning the female supporters into male.

Judge Henry Wynkoop [157] is supposed, by the compiler, to have added, as a family motto, "Virtutem hilaritate colere"; for it has been found first in his branch of the family. The compiler copied it from a piece of silverware, which was in the possession of Mrs. Leonard Mortimer Thorn [1189]. The inscription had "colere," which was, no doubt, an error. The meaning of the motto is, "To adorn manliness with cheerfulness."

WYNKOOP GENEALOGY

CORNELIUS WYNKOOP AND HIS DESCENDANTS

1. CORNELIUS WYNKOOP. The date of his birth is unknown; he died about 1676. His wife, Maria Janse Langedyck, died about 1679. They lived at Rensselaerwyck until 1664-1667, and then settled at Esopus. Their children, Johannes, Marytje, Evert, 1665, and possibly Gerret, were born at Rensselaerwyck.

The first record that has been found, of Cornelius, is the following: February 5, 1655, at the house of Marselis Janse, Johan de Hulter desires at this sale to dispose of certain personal property, on certain specified terms. Beneath, under date of February 18, is a memorandum: "one piece of money Kees Wyncoop f. 3.06."¹⁴ On January 29, 1657, Marcellus Jansen (van Bommel), at the village of Beverwyck, offered for sale at public auction, the house in which he then lived, for which there were to be two payments, one on the first of the then next May, and the other on the first of May of the year following. After much bidding, Cornelis Wynkoop remained the highest bidder, for the sum of nine hundred and eleven guilders. He signed the contract, writing his name Cornelis Wynkoop.¹⁵ On September 19, 1657, at Beverwyck, he was surety for William Brouwer, on the purchase by the latter of a brewhouse at Greenbush, in the sum of twelve hundred and seven guilders.¹⁶ On May 1, 1658, he brought an action of debt, at Albany, against Cornelius Teunissen, for his share of the expense of foddering and taking care of the town bull, during the winter. Judgment for the plaintiff, ten guilders, equal to $4.¹⁷ On August 18, 1659, at Fort Orange, Claes Ripse van Dam made an acknowledgment of indebtedness to Henderick Anderissen (van Doesburgh) and Cornelis Wynkoop, in the number of nine and thirty whole beavers, the indebtedness growing out of the purchase by van Dam from Anderissen and Wynkoop, of a house and lot, at public sale.¹⁸ An order was made, on November 25, 1659, upon the request of Wynkoop, for the appointment of curators over the estate at Esopus, of Gysbert Philipsen, who had been murdered by the savages of that region.¹⁹ On December 11, 1659, Marcelis Janse (van Bommel) declared a grant to Cornelis Wynkoop, of a house and lot, in the village of Beverwyck [bounded] to the south [by] the grantor's [land]—to the north by [land of] Peter Bronck—to the west by the hill—to the east by the street: the lot was in breadth thirty wood feet, and in length, according to the patent, except [what] was taken for a street: which lot the grantor had received by conveyance from Goosen Gerritse (van Schaick), and Goosen Gerritse, by patent from the Heer Director General and Council of New Netherland, of the date of October 25, 1653; for which house and lot, the grantor acknowledges to have received satisfaction.²⁰ On May 30, 1662, he made a lease of lots one and sixteen at Esopus, to Lambert Huybertse.²¹ On August 31, 1665, he was the purchaser of a coat, and of other articles, for f. 15.10, at public sale, made by the administrators upon the effects of Jan Ryerson.²² On October 19, 1665, he is recorded in the Deacon's book at Albany, as giving for alms 17 guilders, 10 stivers. On August 25, 1666, he made a declaration of conveyance, to Claes Ripse (van Dam), of the house and lot, conveyed to Wynkoop by Marcelis Janse (van Bommel), according to the conditions of the public vendue, on January 10 and 17, 1658, the land being at Albany.²³

Cornelius is said to have settled at Esopus, in 1664. This opinion was held by Jonathan W. Hasbrouck, the incipient historian of Ulster County, and by Dingman Versteeg, an explorer among the ancient records of that place. It is possible that he was not an actual settler there, until about 1667, although an owner of land in that region, and identified with it, before the latter date. He had a child baptized at Esopus, in 1668. The name Esopus was applied to an indefinite tract of land, probably in allusion to the hijzop plant. This region was, at first, called Wildwyck, meaning Indian quarter, or a refuge from savages. Hurley was embraced within this name.²⁴ The name Wildwyck continued to be borne by a hamlet, between Rondout and Kingston, until the three places were consolidated under the name of Kingston.

On April 25, 1663, Cornelius obtained a grant of twelve morgens of land, at Esopus, equivalent to about twenty-six acres. In the Book of Patents, in the Secretary of State's office, is a confirmatory patent, to Cornelius Wynkoop, dated June 28, 1667, of a parcel of land at Esopus, near the new village, to the west of Nicholas Varlett, on the west side of the run, containing about twenty-four acres; also the lot west of the highway, and west of Lambert Huybertse's; both granted originally by Director Stuyvesant. This "new village" was Hurley.²⁵ On March 30, 1670, the Commissioners for laying out lands at Esopus allowed Cornelius to lay out his two parcels in one tract, on condition that he would set off five morgens of land, for the "assistance" of Marbletown. In the annexed Register of Patents to the inhabitants of the town of Hurley, there is, for Cornelius Wynkoop, twenty-four acres, and forty-eight acres.²⁶

It seems probable that Cornelius settled in that portion of Esopus which is known as Hurley. The place there, now owned by James D. [864], may be the site of the original settlement of this family, in Ulster County. (See Family 147.) A sketch of this house is given as a frontispiece to this work.

In April, 1669, Cornelius was appointed a Commissary of Kingston, and remained in office until 1671.²⁷ On June 10, 1672, he was appointed one of the two new Commissaries; and he was re-appointed on October 6, 1673, and served until August 14, 1674.²⁸ On July 5, 1674, he was witness to the renewal of the treaty with the Indians.²⁹

Cornelius was a Schepen of Hurley, during the re-occupation of the province by the Dutch. The Netherlanders re-captured the Province of New York, July 30, 1673. The victorious naval and army officers, immediately afterward, organized a council of war, which was held at the Stadt House, New York City. They issued a summons to the magistrates and constables of East Jersey, Long Island, Esopus, and Albany, to appear forthwith at New York, and take the oath of allegiance. The Esopus officers appeared, on September 1, 1673, and acknowledged allegiance. The Council made an order, changing the name of Kingston to Swanenburgh. Cornelius Wynkoop, Dr. Roelof Kiersted, Wessel Ten Broek, and Jan Burhans were appointed Schepens of Swanenburgh, and, respectively, took the oath of allegiance to the Staats General. The qualification required of them was, that they should be of the Reformed religion, and favorable to the Netherland Government.³⁰

An account of this Cornelius is given, in a list of names of Dutch settlers at Esopus, compiled by D. Versteeg, from the original Dutch court records of Wildwyck (Kingston), as follows: "Wynkoop, Cornelius, 1664; nominated for Schepen, 1669; appointed Schepen, 1672, 1673, 1674: member of the Committee of Defense, against the French, 1674: received a grant of a location for a brick yard, 1675; died before July 8, 1679."³¹ On May 15, 1671, it was assigned to him as an inhabitant of Kings-ton, to renew his portion of the stockade.³²

Cornelius was chosen an Elder of the Reformed Dutch Church at Kingston, in 1671.³³ The church had been organized in 1659, and Rev. Harmanus Bloem arrived there September 5, 1660, from the Netherlands, to take charge as pastor, and so continued until March, 1667, when he returned to Holland. After that, the church seems to have been without pastoral care, until 1675.³⁴

Jonathan W. Hasbrouck, in his incipient History of Ulster County, 1868, gives various items in relation to this Cornelius, as follows: 1670. Paid Cornelis Wynkoop for a cow for child of Christopher Davis, in sewan, one hundred and twenty-one florins. 1671. By the account of Hendrick Peters and Jan Cornelisse, the receipts were 435 florins, 1 styver, and disbursements, 321 florins—so that there remained in the chest, 50 florins, as is to be seen by the list. This account was examined in the presence of Elders Jan Willemse (Houghtaling), Cornelis Wynkoop, and Hendrick Aertsen. 1672. A meeting of the consistory was held, at the which were present, Rev. Gideon Schaets, C. B. Slecht, C. Wynkoop, Wallerand Dumont, and Joost Adriaens, when Lysbat Crafford seeks to be reconciled with her husband, Jeroeme Donwerse. He can not consent thereto. (Page 57.) 1670. January 17th, Cornelius Wynkoop wanted twenty-two schepels of rye, from Claes Teunise, which the latter offset by a bill for doctoring his cows, and attending his pigs. (Page 122.) 1671. May 3, Cornelius Wynkoop got permission to build a mill at Hurley, provided he had all the material in one year. (Page 123.) 1671. May 1, Harman Hendrix called Cornelius Wynkoop a rogue and villain. The latter retorted, that he had not been banished. Hendrix replied in a vulgar way. He was obliged to do penance, with uncovered head, in the presence of Wynkoop. (Page 123.) On May 15, 1671, the inhabitants were ordered to renew the stockade of Kingston. Among the allotments were, Hendrick Jochems and Cornelis Wynkoop, No. 33, thirty rods: small house of Wynkoop. (Pages 123, 124.) 1672. January, Reyndert Petersen died, and Cornelis Wynkoop and Wallerand Dumont were made curators of his estate. (Page 127.) In 1675, Cornelis Wynkoop began the manufacture of brick, near the bridge at Kingston.

(Page 175.) In October, 1678, Rev. Laurentius van Gaasbeek arrived at Kingston, as pastor. The church there, and at Hurley and Marbletown, then consisted of one hundred and forty members. A few months afterwards there were one hundred and eighty; among them, Maritje Jans, widow of Cornelis van Wynkoop, deceased, and Maria van Wynkoop. (Page 152.)

The name of the wife of Cornelius appears frequently as Marytje Jans; but her will gives the family name as Langedyck. There was a Maria Jans, orphan daughter, a passenger in March, 1660, by the Gilded Beaver; and in the same month, Marytje Jansen, maiden, came as passenger, on the Love.³⁵

Cornelius made his last will as follows: On August 11, 1676, before William La Montagne, Secretary for the Honorable Justices at Kingston, Cornelius Wynkoop made his will, reciting that he was sick abed; that he had a lawful wife, and seven children; that his whole estate should be the property of himself or his wife, whichever should survive the other; but if the survivor should marry again, one half of the estate should be set aside, to be equally divided between said children. An inventory of the property, sold at auction, was made in 1677. The widow made her last will, on May 16, 1679. She was described therein as "Maria, widow of Cornelis Wynkoop, lying sick abed," and she signed as "Maria Langedyck, widow of Cornelis Wynkoop." She "appointed in a Christian-like manner, for tutors or guardians of her minor children, Wessel Ten Broek and Mr. William De Meyer, to have oversight over her minor children left behind, . . . enjoining the said guardians to lead her children in the fear of the Lord." She gave to her "oldest son, Johannes," "the silver piece from the fleet of Piet Heyn." To her "oldest daughter, Maritje," she made bequests; also to her "youngest daughter, Catharine," and to her "youngest son, Benjamin."³⁶ She was not an old woman, for she had a child baptized in 1675; the hardships of a new settlement may have shortened her days, as well as those of her husband. On February 8, 1681, the guardians, under her will, were ordered to account for the property, by spring. The executors let her property, in 1681.³⁷

The silver piece was, no doubt, a memento of the capture of the Spanish treasure fleet, at Matanzas, in 1628, by Admiral Piet Pietersen Heyn.³⁸

It does not appear, which was the older of the children, Johannes or Maria; but, probably Johannes was; for he was married in 1687, and Maria's oldest child was baptized the year following, and women usually married at an age earlier than men.

A deed was made, on September 1, 1697, by Johannes, Evert, Gerret, and Benjamin Wynkoop, and Moses Dupuis, to Jacob Rutse, of lands whereof Cornelius Wynkoop, deceased, late of Kingston, was in possession. And a partition deed was executed, on April 26, 1715, by Major Johannis, Captain Gerrit, and Benjamin Wynkoop, and Moses Dupuis, to Evert Wynkoop.³⁹ died between 1730 and 1733. He married 1st, July 16, 1687, Judith Fransen Bloodgood, baptized, New York, May 25, 1665, daughter of Capt. Frans Jansen Bloetgoed, of Flushing, N. Y., and of Lysbeth Jans.⁴⁰ Bans were recorded at Kingston, June 7, 1687, Johannes Wincoop, born at Albany, and Judith Fransen, born Flijsengen; and the record of marriage is at Flatbush, L. I. Johannes married 2d, under a license dated June 6, 1696,⁴¹ Cornelia Ten Broeck, who died June 10, 1729, aged 60 years, 3 months, daughter of Major Dirk Wesselsze and Christina Cornelisze (Van Buren) Ten Broeck.⁴² Ten Broeck signifies at the moor. Washington Irving's etymology of this name was disapproved, and was abandoned by him.

Johannes was bound, June 27, 1679, to Benjamin Provoost to learn the blacksmith's art; but the indentures were cancelled, and in November he was bound to Bruyn Hager, of Hurley, to learn the same occupation.⁴³ He took the oath of allegiance, in 1689, in Ulster County.⁴⁴ This must have related to William III., who became King in 1688.

Johannes was a magistrate of the Town Court of Kingston, May 6, 1691, to January, 1692, and in October, 1693, and, with his brother Evert, in 1697, 1710, and 1712. In the year last named, he was president of the court of magistrates. He was a trustee of Kingston, in 1710 and 1712, and assessor, in 1711.⁴⁵

There was anxiety in the church at Kingston, because of a vacancy in the pulpit; and, on November 7, 1692, subscriptions were made to the value of £110, most of them in schepels (bushels) of wheat, and Johannes subscribed 12 schepels. In September, 1708, Teunis Elese, Capt. Egbert Schoonmaker, Johannes Schepmoes, Jacobus Dubooy, Johannes Wynkoop, and others, acting with the old consistory, drew a call for the Rev. Vincentius Antonides of Midwoud; but he declined.⁴⁶

Johannes was recorded, in 1728, as a freeholder of Kingston, and as a Major. In the same year, he is classed with "Old officers and old men," in a "List of commanding officers, as well military as civil."⁴⁷

The last will of Johannes was dated June 9, 1730, and he died shortly thereafter. The death is stated in the deed, mentioned third below. A deed was made, dated September 13, 1733, by Capt. Cornelius Wynkoop, of Hurley, blacksmith, Derick, of the same place and occupation, Johannes, of Kingston, cordwainer, Jacob Ten Broeck, and Elizabeth his wife, Johannes De Lamater, cordwainer, and Christina his wife, to Thomas Beekman, joiner, and Marytje, his wife. The deed mentioned Major Johannes, as deceased.⁴⁸ An other deed—never recorded, and now in the possession of the compiler,—dated September 30, 1737, was executed by Cornelius and Derick, of Hurley, blacksmiths, Johannes, of Kingston, Esquire, Thomas Beekman, of the same place, joiner, and Marytje his wife, Johannes De Lamater, of Kingston, cordwainer, and Christina his wife, to Jacob Ten Broeck, Esquire, of Kingston, and Elizabeth his wife. The deed recited that Cornelius, Derick, Johannes, Thomas Beekman and wife, and Johannes De Lamater and wife, were heirs of Johannes Wynkoop, lately of Kingston, and possessed of land in Kingston, by assignment to Johannes Wynkoop, deceased, dated July (or perhaps Jan.) 16, 1713-14, and endorsed upon the back of deed dated February 13, 1688, from the trustees of Kingston to Humphrey Davenport. Mrs. Ten Broeck, also, was an heir. Still an other deed is found, dated October 1, 1737, executed by Cornelius, eldest son, Derick, an other son, Elizabeth, eldest daughter, and Jacob Ten Broeck, her husband, Marytje, an other daughter, and Thomas Beekman, her husband, Christina, youngest daughter, and Johannes De Lamater, her husband, children of the late Major Johannes, conveying lands to Johannes Wynkoop, High Sheriff of the county, youngest son of said Major Johannes.⁴⁸

- 4. Evert Wynkoop (Cornelius 1), born in Albany, N. Y., March

24, 1665⁴⁹: died July 31, 1746.⁵⁰ He married 1st, August 26, 1688, Gertrude Elmendorf, described as born at Kings Town, and he, at Albany. The marriage is recorded in the Kingston church. She was daughter of Jacobus and Geertje Aertse (Van Wagenen) Elmendorf.⁵¹ Evert married 2d, Antje⁵² Kiersted, daughter of Roelof and Eyke (Roosa) Kiersted; and their first child was baptized in 1707.⁵³

Evert took the oath of allegiance, in 1689, in Ulster County.⁵⁴ He was a magistrate of Kingston, in 1695, 1697, 1698, and 1711, and a trustee in 1710.⁵⁵ He is mentioned, in 1728, as a freeholder of Kingston; and his widow, in 1755, appears as a slaveholder, at Hurley.⁵⁶

His initials, E. W. C., were cut into one of the stones in the front wall of the Kaatsbaan church, which was about three miles above the village of Saugerties. The church was built in 1732, and enlarged in 1816.⁴⁹ It was rebuilt in 1867, and that stone was set into the rear wall. The letter E does not now appear in the stone, which was broken, probably, at that time. He does not seem to have been a member of that church, but his son, Johannes E., was, in 1738, and his grandson, Evert, in 1759.

Evert's last will, dated Beaverkill of Kingston, June 2, 1746, —now in the possession of the compiler,—mentions his wife Antje; his grandchildren Evert and Tjaatje (pronounced Chawchee)—children of Cornelius; his son Tobias; his grandchildren, Evert and Catharine, children of Hezekiah; his sons Jacobus and Johannes; his daughter Antje; and his granddaughter, Geertje Decker.

The compiler traces his ancestry to this Evert, through the eldest son in each generation; and also to Johannes, eldest son of the first Cornelius, through a female descendant.

Baptisms of Evert's children are in the Kingston church record.

Children of Evert and Gertrude Wynkoop:

28. Cornelius: bp. Oct. 13, 1689: m. Barbara Matthysze Van Keuren.
29. Jacobus: bp. May 26, 1691: m. Jannetjen Bogardus.
30. Nicholas: bp. Apl. 23, 1693. He is not mentioned in his father's will, 1746.
31. Grietje (Margaret): bp. June 2, 1695; not mentioned in her father's will.
32. Marytje (Maria): bp. Sept. 11, 1697: not mentioned in her father's will.
33. Catharina: bp. Dec. 17, 1699: m. Johannes Decker.
34. Antje (Anne): bp. Apl. 26, 1702: m. Johannes Swart.
35. Tecla: bp. Feb. 18, 1705, Albany church record: not traced further. The name is probably Scandinavian, Tekla. The compiler has found Tecla (or Teela) Elbendorp, baptized in Kingston, Dec. 7, 1684.

Children of Evert and Antje Wynkoop:

36. Johannes Everts: b. Oct. 12, 1707: m. Catharine Schut.
37. Tobias: bp. May 7, 1710: d. in infancy.
38. Maretje (Maria): bp. Aug. 10, 1712: she is not mentioned in her father's will, 1746.
39. Hezekiah: b. Jan. 16, 1715: m. Maria Davenport.
40. Tobias: bp. Apl. 28, 1717: m. Leah Legg.

5. Gerret Wynkoop (Gerard), (Cornelus 1,) born in Albany, or Kingston, N. Y.: married Hilleetje (Hail?) Fokker,⁵⁷ daughter of Gerrit and Jakomijntje (Slecht or Slaght) Fokker. She was known in Pennsylvania as Helena Eltinge, from the name of her step-father.⁵⁸ Gerret was apprenticed, July 8, 1679, for five years, to Heyman Albert, to learn shoemaking. He took the oath of allegiance, in 1689, in Ulster County. He was an ensign, in 1700, in the counties of Ulster and Dutchess, under Conrad El-mendorf, Captain.⁵⁹ He was a magistrate of Kingston, in 1706, 1707, and 1708; and one of the trustees and overseers, in 1706, 1707, 1708, and 1709.⁶⁰

⁵⁸ Jakomjyntje Slecht m. 1st, Mch. 14, 1666, at Kingston, Jan Barendsen (Kunst); 2d, about Oct. 28, 1668, Gerrit Foocken; 3d, Jan Eltinge.

Gerret, in 1712, was a deacon in the Dutch church, in Kingston, and, as such, joined in the petition for its incorporation.⁵⁹ The patent was granted in 1719.⁶¹

According to the tradition in Pennsylvania, reduced to writing, May 12, 1808,—see Introduction,—this Gerret, called Gerardus, was engaged in planting, in Ulster County, N. Y., until 1717, when he sold his land there, and removed to the township of Moreland, then in the county of Philadelphia, now Montgomery, Pennsylvania. His family, at that time, consisted of his wife, "Helena Eltinge," and children, Cornelius, Gerrit, Nicholas, Henry, Philip, Mary, Jemima, and Anne.⁶² "Jemima" is Jakomijntje (Jacoba) in the baptismal record.

Gerret went into Northampton (a township in Bucks County), in 1727, in which year, Edward Weston and wife conveyed five hundred acres of land, of the Tompkins tract, to Garret Winkoop of Philadelphia, gentleman. In 1738, Gerret conveyed two hundred and sixty acres of the same, to Nicholas Wynkoop (his son), of Northampton.⁶³

Gerret was an elder of the church of Northampton and Southampton, January 1, 1744/45. His grandson, Judge Henry Wynkoop, was an elder of the same church, in 1789; and his granddaughter's husband was its pastor. The descendants of this Gerret now own and occupy land in Northampton, which passed from him to his son Gerrit.

G-e-r-r-e-t was given to the compiler, as the correct spelling of this name, by William H. Dederick, the veteran schoolmaster, of Kingston, N. Y., who indicated Garret as the right pronunciation. The compiler has found also the spelling Geert, which should be pronounced Gärt, like the a as in fate.

Children of Gerret and Hiletje Wynkoop:

41. Maria: bp. Kingston, N. Y., June 3, 1694; the mother's name recorded Hillitje Gerrits. She married Abraham Vandegrift, of Bensalem, Penn. [van der grift = from the canal].
42. Jacoba: bp. Kingston, N. Y., Mch. 22, 1696; her name recorded Jacomijntje, and her mother's Foocken. She married, June 27, 1718, Joseph Buskark, and her name is recorded Jacominea.⁶⁴ Judge Henry Wynkoop has her name as Jemima, and her husband's as George Buskirk, of Moreland [Bosch-kerk = forest church].
43. Anne: bp. Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 21, 1698: m. Isaac Van Meter, of Salem, N. J., who removed to the South Branch of the Potomac, Va.
44. Cornelius: bp. Jan. 1, 1701: m. Helena Vandegrift.
45. Gerrit: bp. Nov. 19, 1702: m. Susannah Van Vliet.
46. Nicholas: bp. Feb. 18, 1705: m. Anne Kuypers.
47. Henry: bp. Oct. 19, 1707. He is said to have died a bachelor, in Salem, N. J.⁶⁵ But there is a record of marriage, Sept. 12, 1737, of Sarah Du Bois, to Henry Wynkoop, who, probably, was this Henry.⁶⁶ [Du Bois = of the forest].
48. Philip: bp. Sept. 11, 1709: m. Margaret Conover.
49. Tobias: bp. Kingston, N. Y., May 3, 1713.

8. Benjamin Wynkoop (Cornelius 1), baptized, Kingston, N. Y., April 18, 1675, witnesses, Wessel Ten Broeck, Cornelis Maersten, Marretie Ten Broeck: married, New York, October 21, 1697, Femmetje Van der Heul [Phemertje = Phœbe]. In the license for marriage, she is called Effonio or ffemmie Van der Hule.⁶⁷ She was baptized August 6, 1671,⁶⁸ daughter of Abraham and Trijntje Hendricks (Kip) Van der Heul.⁶⁹

Benjamin was a goldsmith. He voted in the South Ward, New York, September 29, 1701. His name appears, with those of other residents of that ward, June 15, 1724, in a remonstrance

9. Cornelius Wynkoop, (Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) baptized, Kingston, N. Y., June 4, 1688: died about 1747. He married, December 14, 1711, Hendrika Newkirk of Marbletown, baptized November 11, 1692, died before April, 1747; apparently daughter of Adrian Gerritszoon and Lysbet Lambertsze (Brink) Nieukerk.⁷² In the Wynkoop Family, 1866, she was allotted to the namesake and cousin of this Cornelius, in deference to an opinion other than that of the compiler, who, on further investigation, returns to his original opinion.

He is described, in conveyances of 1733 and 1737, as of Hurley, blacksmith. His last will, as of Hurley, dated September 19, 1739, appoints his wife an executrix, and mentions ten children: Judith, Elizabeth, Cornelia, Johannes, Catharina, Lea, Adriaan, Cornelius, Petrus, and Maria. Letters testamentary were granted by the surrogate of Ulster County, April 3, 1747, to the surviving executors, and the wife was not among them.⁷³ His children's baptisms are recorded in Kingston.

at New Amsterdam, where Jansen received, in 1636, a patent for thirty-one morgens of land, lying along the North River. Jansen died, and his widow, in 1637 or 1638, married Rev. Everardus Bogardus, who was the first settled minister at New Amsterdam. He died in 1647, and his widow returned to Albany, where she died, in 1663. (Annals of Albany, vol. i., p. 15; Collections on the History of Albany, vol. ii., p. 422.) Mrs. Jansen was born Anne Webber. She has long been known as Anneke Janse, in relation to the land granted to her first husband, which her descendants claim that Trinity Church unjustly withholds. One of her descendants was wife of Evert Wynkoop [4]. Bogardus, after a pastorate from 1633 to 1647, was lost with the ship Princess, on a voyage to Holland. He and Anne Webber had a son William, b. 1638, who m., Aug. 29, 1659, Wijntje Sybrant, and their son "Everdus," b. Nov. 2, 1660, married June 9, 1697, Tjaatje Hoffman. 28. Cornelius Evertse Wynkoop, (Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized, in Kingston, October 13, 1689: died before 1717: married Barbara Matthysze Van Keuren, baptized October 11, 1685, daughter of Matthys Matthyszoon and Tjaatje⁸⁵ (De Witt) Van Keuren. Cornelius died between the years 1712 and 1717; for his name, as Cornelius Evertse, appears, in the assessment roll of Ulster County, January 21, 1712, and is absent from the rolls, January 23, 1717, February 13, 1719, and January 25, 1721, and the name of his wife, Barbara, is found there. His two children, Evert and Tjaatje, are mentioned, in 1746, in the will of their grandfather Evert [4].

Barbara married 2d, November 5, 1727, Pieter Tappen, "youngman"—i. e., not a widower. Perhaps he was son of Teunis and Sarah (Schepmoes) Tappen.

Children of Cornelius E. and Barbara Wynkoop:

112. Evert, Captain: b. Jan. 29, 1709: m. Arriaantje Schepmoes.
 113. Tjaatje: bp. Oct. 8, 1710: m. Petrus Tappen.

29. Jacobus Wynkoop, (Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized in Kingston, N. Y., May 26, 1691, and recorded "Jacob"; but he was known as Jacobus. He married Jannetjen Bogardus. He was a resident of Rochester, Ulster County, N. Y., and he is so described in a deed from himself to Matthys Du Bois and Evert Wynkoop, dated August 29, 1726.⁸⁶ He is mentioned in the will of his father, in 1746, as if living.

⁸⁵ Tjaatje was second child of Tjerck Claessen De Witt, from Grootholdt en Zanderland, and of Barbara Andriessen, from Amsterdam, married April 24, 1656. (Record of Collegiate Dutch Church, New York City.)

Child of Jacobus and Jannetjen Wynkoop:

114. Cornelius: bp. Kingston, Mch. 25, 1711: m. Anne Schoonmaker.

33. Catharine Wynkoop, (Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized in Kingston, December 17, 1699: married, December 29, 1720, Johannes Decker, each of them described as born in Kingston, and she recorded as Catharina Evertse. He was baptized August 16, 1696, died January 23, 1742, son of Cornelius Jansen and Elsie (Ten Broek) Decker.

Mr. Decker married 2d, May 17, 1726, Maria Jansen, baptized September 3, 1704, daughter of Matthys and Rachel (Popinga) Jansen.

Child of Johannes and Catharine Decker:

115. Gertrude Decker: bp. Oct. 15, 1721, "Gertjen." She is mentioned in the will of Evert [4], in 1746, as his grandchild, Geertje Decker.

34. Anne Wynkoop, (Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized April 26, 1702: married, October 30, 1724, at Kingston, Johannes Swart, each described as born in "Kingstown." She is mentioned in the will of Evert [4], in 1746, as his daughter Antje. [Zwart = black.]

Children of Johannes and Anne (Wynkoop) Swart:

116. Gertrude Swart: bp. Sept. 26, 1725, "Geertjen."

117. Cornelius Swart: bp. May 19, 1728: m. Molly Beekman.

¹⁰⁰ A manuscript, made by a David Fulton, and dated November 29, 1855, narrates that David Fulton, the ancestor of the Fulton family, in this country, was an Ulsterman, who came to this country to escape persecution, and settled about one hundred miles northeastward from Boston. But the need of constant watchfulness against the savages worried him, and he sold his place, and purchased land about fifteen miles northeast of Philadelphia. He left three sons, David, Robert, and James, who removed to Virginia, and settled in Frederick and Loudoun counties. He had also a daughter, Hester, who married a Mr. Middleton.

Robert Fulton married, in Pennsylvania, a woman named Wynkoop, a descendant of an ancient family in Germany or Holland, wine-merchants—hence the name, from wine and cup. A cane, in possession of one of the family, in 1824, is inscribed with their coat of arms, a merchant holding a cup of wine in his hand. [No—the derivation is from the Netherland wyn, wine, and koop, a buyer.—COMPILER.]

See also Margaret Fulton, who married, in 1787, Cornelius Wynkoop [365]. Robert Fulton, the inventor, b. 1765, d. 1815, m. 1806, Harriet Livingston, was son of an immigrant from Kilkenny, Ireland.

Gerrit went with his father, in 1727, from Montgomery County, Penn., into Northampton, Bucks County; and land owned by him is now owned and occupied by his descendents.

46. Nicholas Wynkoop, (Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born February 9, 1705, baptized February 18, Albany church record: died August 3, 1759: married, September 29, 1732, Anne Kuypers, born March 20, 1712, died March 21, 1773, daughter of Henry Kuypers, of Harsimus, Bergen County, N. J.¹⁰¹ [Kuiper = cooper.]

Nicholas, described as of Northampton, received, in 1738, a conveyance from his father, of two hundred and sixty acres of land, part of a tract in Northampton, acquired by his father, in 1727.¹⁰² He was dismissed, May 22, 1750, from the Presbyterian Church, of Abington, Penn., to the "Low Dutch Presbyterian Church," of North and South Hampton, Penn. Of the church named last, Gerret, father of Nicholas, was an elder, and Henry [157], son of Nicholas, became an elder, and the son-in-law of Nicholas, Rev. Jonathan Du Bois [156], became pastor. This was the Neshaminy church, a Reformed Dutch organization, but in connection with the German Cœtus, 1748-71.

Children of Nicholas and Anne Wynkoop:

156. Helena: b. Feb. 8, 1734: m. Rev. Jonathan Du Bois.

52. Abraham Wynkoop, (Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born July 1, 1703, bp. N. Y., July 4: died before July, 1768. He married 1st, Esther Fisher; 2d, Mary Dyer, who died in June, 1778. Esther was daughter of Thomas and Margery (Maud) Fisher. Thomas was son of John Fisher, who accompanied William Penn, on his first voyage, to America, in October, 1682. Margery was daughter of Joshua and Elizabeth (Parr) Maud, and Elizabeth was of the family of Catharine Parr.¹¹¹ Mary Dyer was daughter of William Dyer, and granddaughter of William and Mary (Dyer) Dyer, of Rhode Island. The second Mary Dyer had married 1st, in 1732, Nicholas Hammond, who came from the island of Jersey, in 1730.¹¹² Their son, Nicholas Hammond, Jun., went to the island of Jersey, and there married Margaret Lempriere. His son, also named Nicholas, was sent, in 1772, aged 14, to Philadelphia, to the house of his grandmother, then the widow Wynkoop, to be educated. In 1778, while the British were occupying Philadelphia, the widow Wynkoop, and her family, were at Appoquinimink Hundred, Newcastle, Del. Benjamin Wynkoop, probably the one who was her step-son, and his family, also were refugees at that place, and were very gently entertained. In 1780, this Nicholas Hammond married his cousin, Sarah George, and settled at Cambridge, Md. She died, in 1781; and, in 1789, he removed to Easton, Md.; and, some years later, he built the place "St. Aubin." In 1792, he married Rebecca Hollyday. His letters breathe a gentle, brotherly spirit, for his connections, as well as for his blood relations. He maintained and educated Lieut. Dyer Sharpe Wynkoop [435], and Hester Catalina Wynkoop [441], from her fourth to her sixteenth year. Her father, James [177], in his last sickness, took her to Hammond's house; and there James died. ✓

Mary Dyer, while she was the widow Hammond, received a conveyance of land at Appoquinimink. Abraham Wynkoop, in 1745, obtained land in the neighborhood of that of his second wife, by deed, which described him as of Sussex County, Del. ✓ This land was in Cedar Creek Hundred, near Milford, Sussex ✓ County. (See Cornelius P., 479). Abraham was originally of New York; afterwards of Philadelphia and Delaware.

The executors of the will of Abraham Wynkoop made a contract, July 21, 1768, for the sale of one hundred and forty-four and a half acres of land, part of a tract, belonging to him, in Cedar Creek Hundred; which they afterwards conveyed, by ✓ deed, dated June 25, 1789.¹¹³ of Hurley, to choose deputies to the New York provincial convention; and again, November 7, 1775, for the same purpose, in pursuance of which they chose Dirck Wynkoop [292], among others. He was chairman of the Associators of Hurley, July 6, 1775. As chairman of the Hurley Committee, he notified the provincial convention of the election of militia officers. There was a dispute as to the field officers of the Northern Regiment of Ulster County, and, in response to the provincial convention, he was nominated for Major. He is found as Major, of the First Regiment, Ulster County, May 25, 1775, and May 1, 1776. He was placed in command, October, 1776, of two hundred men, at the instance of the field officers of Ulster County, to guard the passes of the Hudson. Major Adriaan's bill, for £16,15.4½*d.*, was allowed January 18, 1777, for pay and subsistence of two hundred men, raised in Ulster County, and employed in guarding the passes, for twenty-seven days.¹¹⁹ The appointment was for two months' service.¹²⁰

The last will of Adriaan, as of Hurley, dated April 22, 1795, proved August 21, gave his whole estate to his wife, Catharine, and his nephew, John C. Wynkoop. It mentioned Dirk his brother, and Cornelius Dumond, son of his sister Elizabeth.¹²¹ Perhaps Dirk was a brother-in-law, or maternal half-brother. Adriaan's widow, in her last will, dated November 13, 1796, proved January 2, 1797, mentioned her brother, Cornelius Low.¹²¹ Her sister, Margaret, married, September 2, 1746, Cornelius Ten Broek [71]. Adriaan had no child.

65. Cornelius C. Wynkoop, Captain, (Cornelius 9, Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) was baptized in Kingston, N. Cornelius was admitted a freeman of the city of New York, in 1770, and was described as a shop-keeper.¹²⁴ He left New York when the British took possession of that place. He appears as Cornelius C. Wynkoop, Captain of the First Company, S. E. District of Marbletown Township, in the Third Regiment of Ulster County, with Col. Levi Pawling, Lieut.-Col. Jacob Hoornbeck, and Majors Johannis Cantine and Joseph Hasbrouck.¹²⁵ He was commissioned, March 20, 1779, as Assistant Commissary of Issues, in the Northern Department, under the signature of James Gray, Deputy Commissary General, Albany. The commission was addressed to him as Cornelius Wynkoop, Esq., and recited that it was granted by virtue of power and authority invested [in him, Gray] by the Congress of the Thirteen United States of North America, subject to directions from time to time, from this or a future Congress, or Committee of Congress, from the Commander-in-Chief, for the time being, from the Commissary General of Issues, or from the Deputy Commissary of Issues for the Northern Department, according to the rules and discipline of war.

His wife's mother, "Marytje Roel," married 2d, March 18, 1743, Dutch church, N. Y., George Petterson. The will of George Petterson, of the city of New York, sugar baker, dated September 12, 1764, mentions his wife Mary, and her two daughters, Maria Catharine, wife of Cornelius C. Wynkoop, and Sabrina, wife of Nicholas De Ronda.

The children of Cornelius C. were baptized in New York City.

¹²⁷ Johannes Hardenbergh migrated to this country, sometime after the middle of the seventeenth century. He was by birth a Prussian, but is said to have been connected with the British service, as an officer. He left two sons, one of whom settled on Long Island, and the other at Rosendale, about eight miles southwest of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y. He, in connection with Robert Livingston, purchased a patent of land, comprehending the whole of the county of Sullivan, and all that part of the county of Delaware which lies east of the Mohawk, or West Branch of the Delaware River. The tract is yet known in the history of New York, as the Hardenbergh Patent. (Annals of Amer. Pulpit. Sprague, vol. ix., Ref. Dutch portion, p. 21.) Hardenbergh is the name of a town, in the province of Overyssel, Netherlands.

afterwards. He was associated with Abram Hasbrouck and others, in the care of the public records of the province. (See Jonathan Hasbrouck [207].) On April 23, 1789, Jeremiah Van Rensselaer, chairman of the Republican Committee, wrote to Joseph Gasherie, Dirck Wynkoop [292], and Christopher Tappen [107] Kingston Republican Committee, urging efforts for the re-election of George Clinton as Governor. (The letter is in the possession of the compiler.)

107. Anne Wynkoop, (Sheriff Johannes 15, Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) born May 11, 1741, baptized May 18, Kingston: died May 26, 1815: married, May 9, 1761, Christopher Tappen [299], baptized June 13, 1742, Kingston, son of Petrus [113]. Both were described as living in Kingston. Marriage bond is dated April 16, 1761.

On October 10, 1777, he was associated by the Committee of Safety, in an order to Abram Hasbrouck and others, to remove the public records from Kingston to Rochester, Ulster County. (See Jonathan Hasbrouck [207].) He was a member of the Kingston Republican Committee, in 1789. (See Joseph Gasherie [106].)

109. Petrus Wynkoop, (Sheriff Johannes 15, Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) a twin, born April 18, 1744, baptized April 22: died February 3, 1818, as shown by inscription on tombstone, in the yard of the First Dutch Church, Kingston: married, September 20, 1778, Kinderhoek, Mary Van Aalstein, of Kinderhoek, born July 18, 1753, died April 21, 1837. The record in the Bible of the father of Petrus, has the death of Petrus as of January 23, 1819, and has his wife's name Mary Van Alstynne. They lived at Clermont; afterwards in Kinderhoek; and removed to Kingston, in 1796. The will of the widow, dated September 3, 1831, was proved April 30, 1838.

Children of Petrus and Mary Wynkoop:

- 285. John: b. Aug. 11, 1779, bp. Aug. 15, Kinderhoek: d. Sept. 2, 1799, in Philadelphia, of yellow fever, unmarried.

captain. He was a brewer. He married, May 3, 1730, Arriaantje Schepmoes, born November 12, 1706, died March 26, 1779, daughter of Derrick and Grietje (Tappen) Schepmoes. She was baptized, in Kingston, November 17, 1706. She was descended from Jansz I. Schepmoes, who took a lot in New Amsterdam, May 18, 1643, and an other, July 6. Her sister, Anna, baptized September 3, 1704, married Johannes Jansen, and was mother of Margaret, who married Johannes Wynkoop [95]. Derrick Schepmoes died February 21, 1725, and his wife, March 3, 1743.

"Miss Peggy Wynkoop" [516], great-aunt of the compiler, left to him, in 1862, an old Dutch Bible, Dordrecht and Amsteldam (sic), 1714, in German text, folio, with brass clasps, containing quaint illustrations. On a fly-leaf, at the back of the book, is the inscription, "Ariaentie Schepmoes Haer Bijbel annoye 1725." Then follows an entry of her birth, in 1706, and other entries, made by her son Dirck, down to 1779, the date of her own death. The record closes with an entry of Dirck's death, in 1796. On a flyleaf in the front of the book is the record of Evert's birth and marriage, and of the births and deaths of his children, down to 1746. Accompanying this book was a loose sheet giving Dirck's own family, 1754-61.

Capt. Evert's last will, dated December 19, 1750, unrecorded and unproved, is in the possession of the compiler. It described him as of Kingston, and a brewer, and mentioned his wife "Ariantje," his sons Derick and Cornelius, and his brother-in-law, Johannes Jansen. It made provision for his son Cornelius, in the terms following: "I do hereby direct that he shall be educated and brought up, out of my estate, and not inferior to what my son Derick hath had, both as to education and assistance." He gave the executors power to sell the estate, with this limitation: "Except the orchard and ground lying along the Green Kill Road, which I bought of the heirs or devisees of Tunis Tappen, deceased, and my low land over the Esopus Creek, which I have lately bought of Maj. Hardenbergh and his children, which two parcels of land are not to be sold, and I do hereby devise and bequeath the same unto my said two sons, share and share alike." He appointed his brother-in-law, Johannes Jansen, David De Lametter, and his son Derick, executors.

His tombstone stands in the yard of the First Reformed Dutch Church, Kingston, with the inscription: "Here lies the body of Capt. Evert Wynkoop who departed this life the 16th day of Sept., Anno Dom. 1757, in the 49th year of his age."

Children of Capt. Evert and Ariantje Wynkoop:

113. Tjaatje [Cheautchee] Wynkoop, (Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized October 8, 1710, New York record: married July 2, 1736, Petrus Tappen, "young man," both described as born and living in Kingston. He was, probably, the Petrus baptized January 29, 1716, son of Christoffel and Cornelia (Vas) Tappen, who were married April 21, 1715, in Kingston, the record describing Christopher as born in Albany. Petrus Tappen and "Chaetje" Wynkoop were witnesses at the baptism of Mattheus, son of Mattheus Ernest and Anna Maria Bömper.

The last will of Petrus Tappen, of Kingston, mariner, dated December 7, 1747, mentioned his wife Tjatje, his children, Christopher and Cornelia, his brother-in-law, Evert Wynkoop, and his cousin, Johannis Wynkoop. A child was born after the date of the will. A copy of this will has come into the hands of the compiler, certified as follows: "A true copy of the last Will et Testament of Petrus Tappen. Evert Wynkoop, Johannis Wynkoop."

Baptisms of the children are found in the church record, Kingston. Her name appears in the will of her grandfather, Evert, in 1746, as "Teate."

114. Cornelius Wynkoop, (Jacobus 29, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized March 25, 1711, Kingston, N. Y.: married, in 1729, Anne Schoonmaker, both described as born and living in Rochester, Ulster County: ban registered October 12. She was baptized, August 11, 1706, Kingston. She was daughter of Joachim and Antjen (Hussey) (sic) Schoonmaker¹⁴¹—child of his second marriage. The last will of Aantje Hursey (sic), widow of Joachim Schoonmaker, dated December 9, 1727, proved November 7, 1730, mentions 15 children, among them, Antje, wife of Cornelius Wynkoop.¹⁴²

Cornelius is described, in a deed to Cornelius Hornbeek, January 3, 1733, as of Rochester, cordwainer.

Children of Cornelius and Anne Wynkoop:

Child of Benjamin and Catharine Post:

314. Maria Post: bp. Oct. 29, 1765, "Marytje," Kaatsbaan church. Perhaps she was the one who married Mr. Seveson.

132. Evert Wynkoop, (Hezekiah 39, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born September 8, 1743, baptized December 20, Kingston: d. April 6, 1830: married, May 30, 1765, Aeltje (Alida or Alice) Meyer, born March 11, 1741, died December 16, 1796, daughter of John Wilhelm and Sarah (Newkirk) Meyer.

Evert was commissioned a Lieutenant of militia, December 7, 1772. He was an Associator of Kingston, in May and June, 1775, and First Lieutenant of the "Third Beat," or District of Kingston, October 25, 1775.¹⁴⁸

In 1791, he bought land in the Inbogt, from — Spaan; and his son, William, lived thereon, for a large part of his life.¹⁴⁹

In his last will, of Saugerties, dated June 6, 1829, proved June 29, 1830, he mentioned his children, William, Hezekiah, Jun., Catharine, Sarah, and Henry, deceased; and the children of Henry, namely, Evert, Tjerck, Hezekiah, Allie, Annetje, and Henry H.; and his grandson, Evert, living with him.¹⁵⁰

"He was one of those who, willingly, obeyed the command, 'Be still, and know that I am God.' For three years he was married Maria Meyer, baptized September 10, 1744, daughter of Johannes, named above.

A petition for partition recited that Hezekiah, Tobias, and Peter Wynkoop, owned about one eighth of a mill-dam, etc. An agreement had been made, April 21, 1789, reciting that disputes had existed as to the boundary line between two patents of land, at Catskill, Greene County, N. Y., one of them owned by Christian Meyers, and Hezekiah, Tobias and Peter Wynkoop, and agreeing that the whole of the fall of water at the saw-mill, with the mill, mill-dam, gangways, and roads, to and from the waterfall, should belong to the patentees, respectively, as tenants in common.¹⁵³

138. William Wynkoop, Major, (Tobias 40, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized March 4, 1753, Kingston: died about 80 years of age, according to one account, and 89, according to another. He married Charity Schermerhorn.

Major William was in the battle of Stillwater, in the autumn of 1777. Nile Frost Wynkoop [780] wrote of him as follows: "I have heard him tell of the doings there. He said that General [Benedict] Arnold was under arrest, when the British and Indians were driving our army back. Arnold mounted his horse and rode to the front, and meeting his men, gave the command 'About face'—and they obeyed him, with cheers. They drove everything before them, until they met the British cavalry, under General [Simon] Frazer. Then Arnold ordered up twelve of the best riflemen, and said, pointing at Frazer, 'He is a host in himself; let me see him no longer.' The fall of Frazer disheartened the British cavalry, and our army was victorious."

Major William, in 1797, was ordered by John Jay, Governor of New York, to take command of Col. Baldwin's regiment, and fit them for active service. The commission was preserved, and fell into the possession of Nile Frost Wynkoop.

William removed to Chemung, in 1783, when his daughter Hannah was only five years old. The experiences of his family are related by Alonzo Ilus Wynkoop [777], as follows: "I recollect hearing my mother relate the incidents of the journey from Esopus to Wilkes-Barré, by wagon, through a wilderness, and from Wilkes-Barré to Tioga Point, now Athens, Penn., by a flat-boat, up the North Branch of the Susquehanna, more than one hundred miles, and by canoes up the Chemung, to a neighborhood of Indians, who brought vension to them in abundance, and treated them kindly. A hunter, who lived with them, thought it a small matter to kill and bring in a deer, before breakfast. But there were no mills, and the first wheat that her father raised was taken by him down the river, in a canoe, to Wilkes-Barré; and the canoe, containing the flour, was pushed home again, up-stream, more than one hundred miles. In the second year, Major William built a mill on Wynkoop's Run, where Alonzo lived afterward. The mill-stones were worked from rocks near Towanda, Bradford County, Penn. The early settlers came many miles to this mill." Nile Frost Wynkoop [780] adds, that when William had reached Tioga Point, more than two thousand savages were there, making a treaty with the white men.

Certificates of survey of land in Chemung County, N. Y., were granted as follows: Nov. 4, 1788, of survey for William Wynkoop, of lot No. 1, in the town of Chemung, on the north side of the Tioga River, 515 acres of land: Nov. 5, 1788, of survey for Nathan Dennistown, William Wynkoop, and eight other persons, of lot No. 138, in the town of Chemung, 6400 acres of land. Certificate was made by James Clinton, Baldwin, Chemung County, February 22, 1792, that lot No. 138 was laid out for the persons mentioned above.¹⁵⁴

Charity Schermerhorn was called Alida by Bradley Wynkoop [635], and her name appears as "Gerretche," in the record of baptism of her daughter Annatche. She died in October, 1812, in Newtown, now Elmira, Chemung County. [Schermer = sword-fencer.]

Charity had married 1st, — Van Steinberg, and had a daughter Eleanor, who was known in the Wynkoop family as "Aunt Nelly," and who married, July 22, 1790, Guy Maxwell. The marriage was in Pennsylvania, for the officer, who came to perform the ceremony, lived in that State, and the couple walked across the border, to get within his jurisdiction.¹⁵⁵ It seems that she was known by her step-father's name; for French's Gazette, page 220, states that the first marriage in the town of Chemung was of Guy Maxwell and Nellie Wynkoop. After all, that marriage was not in Chemung, and the bride was not a Wynkoop.

December 15, 1766, died March 26, 1842. Her name is Helena, in the baptismal records of seven of her children; but she seems to have been known as Magdalene. Her family name is written also Behr, Bähr, and Bear. [Beer = bear.]

Peter removed, in August, 1810, to what was called the Genesee country, to a place at or near what is now Seneca, Seneca County, N. Y.

This Peter is mentioned under Hezekiah [136].

Children of Peter and Helena Wynkoop:

 377. Elizabeth: m. Stephen Rose, b. Jan. 6, 1769, d. Mch. 1833, son of Ebenezer and Eunice (Burrowes) Rose. Stephen was of the neighborhood of Trenton, N. J. They had no child.

✓ 154. Adrian Wynkoop, (Gerrit 45, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) married, in Bucks County, Penn., Sarah Randall.

He purchased land, three miles south of the Potomac River, in Virginia, in that part of Berkeley County, which is now Frederick County. He and his wife went on horseback, from Pennsylvania to Virginia, during the Revolutionary War.¹⁶⁶ (The tradition does not state how many horses were so used.)

Children of Adrian and Sarah Wynkoop:

378. Elizabeth: m. — Lucas.
 379. Sarah: m. — Jones.
 380. Hannah: m. William Lemon.
 ✓ 381. Garrett: m. Sarah Martin.
- 156. Helena Wynkoop, (Nicholas 46, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born February 8, 1734, baptized April 6, Abington, Montgomery County, Penn: called also Eleanor. She married Rev. Jonathan Du Bois, born December 3, 1727, Pittsgrove, N. J., died December 15, 1772.

Jonathan, from his eighteenth year, studied theology, with his Presbyterian pastor, Rev. David Evans, and in the Presbyterian synod's school, at New London, Penn. He made a personal appeal for help to his relations in Ulster County, N. Y., and it is presumed that it was successful. He officiated, in some capacity, at the Reformed church of North- and Southampton, Bucks County, Penn. (Neshaminy), as early as the middle of 1749; and was licensed in the autumn of 1750, and was pastor of that church, 1751-72. His father was a member of that church, and his brother-in-law, Henry [157], became an elder of the same church. He was a charter Trustee of Queens College, in 1770.

Children of Rev. Jonathan and Helena Du Bois:

382. Abraham Du Bois: d. in 1797.
 383. Sarah Du Bois.

¹⁶⁶ Adrian Garret Wynkoop [1167].

384. Henry Du Bois: d. in 1806.
385. Anne Du Bois: b. Sept. 19, 1752: m. Feb. 8, 1778, Leffert Lefferts, b. Aug. 21, 1745, son of Leffert and Antje (Vanderbilt) Lefferts, of Penn. Mr. Lefferts was chosen, June 9, 1783, "church master," of the Reformed Dutch church, of North- and Southampton.¹⁶⁷
386. Helena Du Bois: m. David Taggart.
387. Susannah Du Bois.
388. Isaac Du Bois.
389. Nicholas Du Bois: d. Nov. 4, 1815, aged 44.

157. Henry Wynkoop, Judge, (Nicholas 46, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born in Northampton township, Bucks County, Penn., March 2, O. S., 1737, baptized April 21, 1737, Bensalem church: died March 25, 1816. The date of death here stated is the one given by his descendants, Mary Helen Radford [1217], and Mrs. Isabella M. W. Bailey [734]. The latter says that the record stands so, in the handwriting of her father, Jonathan [396], and that such is the inscription upon his tomb, at Richboro, formerly Addisville, Bucks County, about two miles west from his old home. Appleton's Cyclopædia of American Biography says, that he was Associate Judge until his death, Oct. 12, 1812. Probably he was retired at that date, because of his age, seventy-five years.

Henry married 1st, September 10, 1761, Susannah Wanshaer, born October 29, 1742, died August 26, 1776, only daughter of John and Christina (Egberts) Wanshaer, of Essex County, N. J. A party of Hessians, not knowing that the Judge was absent, broke into the house, to arrest him, and were so violent that Mrs. Wynkoop was frenzied, and rushing from the house, jumped into the well, and so died. (John S. Wurts, of Philadelphia.) [Wanshaer = of the shear.] He married 2d, in 1777, Maria Cummings, also of New Jersey, who died in 1781. He married 3d, April 21, 1782, Sarah Newkirk, who died June 28, 1813, daughter of Cornelius and Rachel (Ten Eyck) Newkirk, of Pilesgrove township, Salem County, N. J. (Pittsgrove was carved from Pilesgrove, in honor of William Pitt, and the two are sometimes confounded.)

Henry received a classical education. He was an early adherent of the patriot cause. In 1774, he was a member of the ¹⁶⁷ Gen. of the Lefferts Family, Bergen, 1878, p. 79.

Northampton Committee of Observation. About the same time he became Major of one of the associated battalions. He was a deputy to the First Provincial Conference that convened in the Carpenters' Hall, Philadelphia, June 18, 1776. He was a Lieutenant in the Revolutionary army. It was at his house that Col. James Monroe, afterwards President, was entertained, while recovering from a wound received in the battle of Trenton. A letter from Washington, to his friend Wynkoop, secured the hospitable quarters; and a letter from Monroe, as late as March 26, 1834, expressed the most lively gratitude for kindness received, during an interesting period of our Revolutionary War.¹⁶⁸

The Pennsylvania Convention, on July 23, 1776, chose by ballot, a Council of Safety, for the State, and among them Henry Wynkoop for Bucks County. He appeared in the Council, August 7, 1776, and took and subscribed the qualifications prescribed by the Convention. In the same Council, two orders were drawn, for £250 each, in favor of Henry Wynkoop, for the families of poor Associators of Bucks County, and for equipping the militia of that county.¹⁶⁹

He was chosen by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, December 4, 1778, one of the commissioners to settle the accounts of the county lieutenants. On March 3, 1779, he was chosen a member of Congress, in place of Edward Biddle, resigned; and he was re-elected November 24, 1780, and November 22 1781. He was commissioned, November 18, 1780, a Justice of the Court of Common Pleas and Orphans' Court, and held the office until 1789. He was a Representative in the first Federal Congress of the United States, in New York, in March, 1789, which organized a little later, and he so continued until 1791. This absence from home involved his resignation of an eldership in the Neshaminy church, in which his grandfather Geret [5] had been an elder, and his father, Nicholas [46], a member, and his brother-in-law, Jonathan Du Bois [156], a pastor. The journals show that Henry had a marked influence in the Congress; and he was an important factor in determining the location of a permanent seat of government, although the location he favored was not adopted.

On the expiration of his Congressional term, he was appointed an Associate Judge of Bucks County, and held that office until October 12, 1812.¹⁷⁰

Judge Wynkoop was the author, probably, of a paper entitled, "A genealogical description of the family of Henry Wynkoop, from its origin in America, to this day, A.D., May 12, 1808, and compiled partly from oral tradition, and partly from the family register." It begins with "Cornelius C. Wynkoop"; but the C is evidently an erroneous interpolation. The compiler was much assisted by this manuscript, of which a transcript was furnished to him by Col. Francis M. Wynkoop [1193]. A Wynkoop device was found, by the compiler, on a piece of silverware, in this branch of the family. The motto, that accompanied it, was new to the compiler; and it may have originated with the Judge.

An anecdote is told of him, which shows that he was of imposing figure and presence. General Washington was in favor of having the President styled, officially, High Mightiness, and asked General Peter Muhlenburgh's opinion. The latter answered that, "If all the incumbents should have the commanding size and presence of General Washington, or of my friend Wynkoop, the title might be appropriate; but if it should fall upon some smaller men, it would provoke ridicule."¹⁷¹ Tradition says that he was 6 ft. 4 in. in height.

An other story is to this effect: General Alexander Hamilton and the Judge were walking on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, and the General was urging very strongly the merits of a bill, then before the house, for which he wished to secure the support of his friend. But the Judge was averse to the measure, and wished to avoid discussing it, and he changed the subject, by directing attention to two beautiful women, who were passing them. The subject was not resumed; but forty-eight hours afterward Mrs. Wynkoop arrived from her home in Bucks County, quite unexpected, having travelled all night, in consequence of a letter received from the General, requesting her immediate presence, as her husband was in a dangerous condition. The joke was well taken; and it was succeeded by an other. The Judge prepared a similar letter, in relation to the General, ¹⁷⁰ Cyclopædia of Amer. Biog., Appleton.

¹⁷¹ Republican Court, p. 153.

and sent it to Mrs. Hamilton, at New York. This caused the hurried arrival of Mrs. Hamilton, who showed the Judge's letter. The affair caused great merriment, and the ladies had a gay and pleasant visit; the only drawback was the anxiety of the ladies, respectively, while on the way to Philadelphia.¹⁷²

A good portrait of the Judge was in the Centennial Loan Exhibition in New York City, in 1889. It was then in the possession of Mrs. Isabella M. (Wynkoop) Bailey [734], who was living in Trenton, N. J., with her daughter, Mrs. Williams Robbins Wright.

A copy of this portrait is here given.

JUDGE HENRY WYNKOOP (PA) 1737-1816

Many letters of the Judge are in existence; one of them is as follows:

“NEW YORK Monday morning 18 March, 1789.

“DEAR SIR:

“On Wednesday next will be two weeks, since I came here, and nothing is done yet, but receiving and paying visits, a situation tho' disagreeable in not getting forward as might be wished, yet affording an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the gentlemen here, both foreigners and those belonging to the two Houses of the new Government. The permanent residence, among other matters, I have frequently heard brought forward, and with the gentlemen now here, who are chiefly from the eastward, I believe the Falls of the Delaware would be the favorite spot. Mr. Gerry, who was one of the gentlemen appointed formerly to view the situation proposed, declares that he saw none that struck him with so much propriety as the heights above Burrows's, the only difficulty in the way will be its being too far eastward. I wish to know whether Mr. Ogden and Mr. Wilson have set petitions in motion for the inhabitants to manifest their willingness to become citizens within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress. If you have not heard of it, I wish you to speak to Mr. Ogden on the subject—and Mr. Yardley.

“The French Ambassador, I find a most sensible, easy, good humored, intelligent man. On dining with him the other day, with company, at his house, he was clad in the manufactures of Hartford, with buttons of clam shells. An example this, which ought to disconcert every American macaroni, who struts in the fripperies of Europe.

“Messrs. Madison, Page, and Lee from Virginia are all the addition to our numbers during the last week.

“The don Diego de Guardoqui is one of the best tempered, lively, little beings you ever saw. He speaks in raptures of the new government, having been a uniform advocate in favor of America at the Court of Spain, during the whole of the late Revolution. He declares himself ready to establish such a national union, and intercourse, as will prove satisfactory and beneficial to both countries. That once accomplished, he says, I take my leave for my native land.

“Was much pleased on Saturday morning, on seeing Mr. Ames of Massachusetts, and Mr. Madison of Virginia introduced to each other—two young but shining political characters, who can not fail distinguishing themselves in the Federal legislature.

“Having calculated upon making a house by Thursday last, and being disappointed, I dare not say any thing about it.

“Kiss little Anney for Gran-pa—my compliments to Cassey and Nicholas, which likewise accept from

“Yours affectionately

“HENRY WYNKOOP.

“DOCT^r READING BEATTIE.”

Doctor Beattie was son-in-law of the Judge. The word “macaroni,” which appears in the letter above, was then used as equivalent to dandy. Smallwood's Maryland regiment were dressed in scarlet and buff, which drew upon them the name of "macaronies," from their fellow soldiers, who were clad in homespun. But they were spirited fellows, as they proved, when they secured the retreat of our beaten army, after the battle of Long Island, by repeatedly charging the British forces, at the expense of the sacrifice of a large part of their regiment. The novel Richard Carvel, which relates to Revolutionary times, in Maryland, frequently uses the word "macaroni."

Children of Judge Henry and Susannah Wynkoop:

390. Christina: b. Aug. 18, 1763; m. Dr. Reading Beattie.
391. Anne: b. Oct. 10, 1765; m. James Michael Raguet, son of Michael and Anna (Vilminot) Raguet.
392. Margaretta: b. Jan. 22, 1768, at Vredens Hof; d. after 1831, at Abington; m. Nov. 24, 1789, Herman Joseph Lombaert, b. in Brabant, in 1756; d. Aug. 29, 1793, aged 37, of yellow fever, and was buried at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Philadelphia. He was a merchant of Philadelphia, and is said to have been educated and accomplished. After his death, Margaretta remained in Philadelphia, for some years, and then removed to Easton, Pa., where she died. She was buried in Abington, Pa. She is described as talented, and as courtly in her manners.¹⁷³
393. Nicholas, M.D.: b. Mch. 25, 1770, at Vredens Hof; m. 1st, Francenia Murray; m. 2d, Sarah Campbell.

¹⁷³ Mrs. Isabella (W.) Bailey [734].

Herman J. and Margaretta (W.) Lombaert had children as follows: Susan Lombaert, who d. Nov. 16, 1838; m., Dec. 23, 1813, James Vanuxem, Jun., b. Nov. 14, 1790; Charles Lombaert, who married Anna Arndt, of Easton, Pa., and had eight children; and Mary Anne Lombaert, who married Peter Gwinner, and had two children.

James, Jun., and Susan (L.) Vanuxem had children as follows: James Vanuxem 3d, b. Nov. 21, 1814, m. twice, and had two children: Margaret Vanuxem, b. May 10, 1816, d. Nov. 18, 1838, unmarried; Edward Vanuxem, b. July 29, 1818, in Morrisville, Pa.; m. 1st, Apl. 8, 1843, Elizabeth Krusen, b. in 1822, d. Nov. 27, 1884, daughter of Charles and Anne (Craven) Krusen, of Newtown, Pa., and had six children; he m., 2d, a widow, by whom he had no child: Louisa Vanuxem, b. Dec. 9, 1822; m. Robert Tweed, of Miss.; and Alfred Vanuxem, b. Feb. 18, 1826.

Edward and Elizabeth (K.) Vanuxem had children as follows: Anna Vanuxem, b. Jan., 1846; m., Apl. 8, 1868, Theodore Frelinghuysen Wurts, b. May 31, 1844, one of ten children of William and Lucretia Jeannette 394. Maria Helena: b. Apl. 30, 1772: d. Sept. 12, 1845: m. July 9, 1793, Christian Wirtz, Jun., d. Feb. 18, 1804, youngest son of Christian¹⁷⁴ and Margaretha (Houser) Wirtz. He was a merchant in Philadelphia; and a member of the First Troop City Cavalry.

Maria was a very pretty girl; and she was one of the maidens who strewed flowers before Gen'l Washington, as he passed over the Assanpink Bridge, at Trenton, on his way to New York, to assume the first presidency.¹⁷³

Maria seems to have had but one child, Wynkoop Wirtz (or Würtz), M.D., who m. Hannah Zane Morris, and died without a child. (Zane is a family name.)

395. John Wanshaer: b. July 11, 1774: d. Sept. 6, 1793, of yellow fever, at the house of his brother-in-law, Lombaert, while prosecuting law studies. His father wrote of him, as "a youth of good natural abilities, diligent and industrious, and of great integrity."¹⁷³

396. Jonathan: b. June 21, 1776: m. April 27, 1809, Anne Dick. Child of Judge Henry and Sarah Wynkoop:

397. Susannah: b. Apl. 11, 1784: m. Jan Lefferts.

161. Eleanor Wynkoop (Philip 48, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1).

(Lathrop) Wurts;—(the Wurts family came from Zurich, in 1735): Charles Vanuxem, b. Nov. 28, 1848, d. Dec. 24, 1865; Susan Lombaert Vanuxem, b. Apl. 27, 1852, d. Apl. 9, 1855; Alfred Vanuxem, b. May 29, 1854, d. May 30, 1854; Mary Vanuxem, b. Sept. 5, 1856, d. Oct. 14, 1857; and Edward Vanuxem, b. Oct. 3, 1859, d. Aug. 14, 1860.

Theodore F. and Anna (V.) Wurts had two children, as follows: Edward Vanuxem Wurts, who married and had two children: and John Sparhawk Wurts, b. June, 1876, unmarried, a real estate broker, in Philadelphia.

Mr. John S. Wurts brought about the reunion of the descendants of Judge Henry Wynkoop, July 4, 1903, at Vredens Hof [restful garden], four miles from Newtown, Pa., at which sixty-one persons were present. This was the spacious and comfortable place of the Judge, and it was his custom to gather his descendants there, yearly. It has passed out of the hands of the family. His descendants are said to number nearly 400 persons.

¹⁷⁴Christian Wirtz, Sen., was born in Germany, in 1728, died Apl., 1813, in Philadelphia. He was a Major, at Lancaster, Penn., during the Revolution. His first wife was Margareta Houser (sic), daughter of Martin Hauser (sic), from whom Houserville, Penn., derives its name. His second wife was a Mary Wynkoop. (John S. Wurts, of Phil., a descendant of Margareta [392].)

Philip "Winekoop" had a daughter—her name not recorded—baptized June 18, 1741, Abington church—perhaps she was this Eleanor. Eleanor married, June 10, 1757, Fernandus Van Sicler, Christ Church, Phil. Philip, in his last will, 1771, left twenty pounds apiece, "to the children of my daughter Lenah, Philip and Margaret Van Sakel."

Ferdinandus Van Siclen was baptized January 9, 1738, Readington, N. J., son of Reynier and Steijntje Van Siclen. He married 1st, Eleanor Wynkoop; 2d, in Loudoun County, Va., Mrs. Phœbe Fisher, by whom he had a son "Wynekoop Van Siclen," born August 13, 1793. This Wynkoop Van Siclen married in Tennessee, about 1813, Martha Tweedy, by whom he had twelve children, of whom the 10th, born August 7, 1834, was named Richard Wynkoop Van Siclen.¹⁷⁵

Children of Ferdinand and Eleanor Van Sickler:

398. Philip Van Sickler. He lived, at one time, in Loudoun Co., Va. He is mentioned in 1771, in the will of his grandfather, Philip Wynkoop.
399. Margaret Van Sickler. She also is mentioned in Philip's will, 1771.

163. Gerrit Wynkoop (Philip 48, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1). Philip "Winekoop" had a child baptized February 9, 1744, Abington, Pa., but no name recorded: it was this Gerrit.

Gerrit died in 1822, aged 78 years.¹⁷⁶ He married, March 28, 1793, Nancy Van Horn, Abington church. She died, in 1837, aged 86 years.¹⁷⁶ He was an executor of the will of his father, in 1771.

Child of Gerrit and Nancy Wynkoop:

400. Margaret: bp. Jan. 16, 1800, Abington church: m. George M. Woodward, of Burlington County, N. J., who died there, in 1850, aged 65. She was living in the same place, in 1868, and had six living children.

164. Cornelius Wynkoop (Philip 48, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1). He is mentioned in 1771, in the will of his father. He is said to have removed to Loudoun County, Va. He is supposed to have married, and had a family, but the name of his wife has not been discovered: but it may have been Cornelius [148] who was so married.

¹⁷⁵ Rev. Dr. John B. Thompson.

¹⁷⁶ Henry Wynkoop [410], of Huntingdon Valley, Pa.

This may have been the "Cornel Wynkoop," who joined in certifying the experiment of James Rumsey's steamboat, dated Berkeley County, December 13, 1787.¹⁷⁷ Benjamin [175] also was interested in Rumsey's experiments: but there were several Fulton-Wynkoop intermarriages.

Children of Cornelius Wynkoop, baptized at Abington:

- 401. Elizabeth Cowenhoven, bp. Oct. 21, 1781. (See Margaret Koenhoven, wife of Philip [48].)
- 402. Philip: bp. May 22, 1785.
- 403. Jane: bp. Apl. 13, 1788.
- 404. Gerrit: bp. Oct. 18, 1789, "Garret."
- 405. Joseph: bp. Oct. 2, 1791.
- 406. Richard: bp. May 19, 1793.

166. Philip Wynkoop, (Philip 48, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born about 1756, died about 1814, aged 58.¹⁷⁶ Philip Wynkoop [48] had a child baptized, in 1755, but no name recorded, Abington church, and it may have been this Philip. Philip married, January 20, 1791, Catharine Van Horne, Abington church. Baptisms of their children are recorded in Abington.

Children of Philip and Catharine Wynkoop:

- 407. Maria: bp. May 19, 1793.
- 408. Henrietta: bp. May 24, 1795: d. in 1842.
- 409. Margaret: bp. May 22, 1796: m. March 9, 1820, Enos Butcher, Abington church.
- 410. Henry: bp. July 15, 1798: m. 1st, Maria Hogeland, daughter of Dirk K. and Johanna (Severns) Hogeland.¹⁷⁸ He m. 2d, Henrietta Fetter, widow of — Shelmire. She died in 1869, in her 73d year. Henry was living in 1870, in Penn.
- 411. John: bp. June 29, 1800: d. in 1837. This John is supposed to have been the one who married Sarah Yerkes.
- 412. Gerrit: bp. May 29, 1802: d. in 1862.
- 413. William: bp. Jan. 31, 1808: d. in 1852.
- 414. Anne: bp. Jan. 31, 1808.
- 415. Catharine.

¹⁷⁸ Dirk K. Hogeland resided upon, and cultivated a plantation, near the Buck Tavern, in Southampton, and, for many years, was a justice of the peace. He was commonly known as Squire Hogeland. His wife was daughter of John and Sarah Stoothoff Severns. Sarah's father owned Bergen's Island, in Flatlands, L. I., N. Y. (Leffert's Genealogy, 1878, pp. 127, 128.)

167. Jacobus Wynkoop, Captain, (Cornelius 51, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) baptized March 3, 1725, Dutch church, N. Y. City: d. May 4, 1795¹⁷⁹: married Alida Koens Myers, born October 11, 1736, in Curaçao, died October 16, 1794. She is recorded, at the baptism of her children, as Alida Koens—i. e., Koensze, daughter of Koën, the diminutive of Koenrad—but her descendants call her Alida Myers. Her name is written Cathlina, in the record of the birth of her son Cornelius, in her husband's Bible.

The tomb inscription suggests that Jacobus was born in 1721: but his parents were married in May, 1724, and he was baptized in March, 1725, and he described himself, in 1775, as fifty-one years old. He was known uniformly as Jacobus, and not as Jacob or James.

He was commissioned, June 28, 1775, as eighth captain of the 4th N. Y. Continental regiment, commanded by Col. Holmes.¹⁸⁰ He wrote to the Provincial Congress, August 15, 1775, complaining of his position: setting forth that he was fifty-one years old, and had served in the last two wars, by sea and land, and had been in many engagements: that Gen'l [Thomas] Gage had specially honored and trusted him, giving him command of a company, to which his baggage was entrusted: and that he had been offered a commission in the Royal Americans.¹⁸¹

Gen'l Philip Schuyler, in a letter to Nathaniel Woodhull, March 8, 1776, expressed a high opinion of Jacobus's fitness to command certain vessels. It was ordered, in the Committee of Safety, New York, April 13, 1776, that Jacobus Wynkoop should enlist the number of mariners desired by Maj. Gen'l Schuyler, for service on the lakes, and should proceed with them to Albany, and there take Schuyler's orders, as to vessels on the lakes, until the Continental Congress should appoint him, or some other gentleman should arrive at the lakes, authorized to command.¹⁸² The Committee of Safety, April 19, 1776, communicated with the delegate, at Philadelphia, urging the appointment of Captain Wynkoop to command on the lake, and mentioned him as bred a mariner; frequently master of mercantile vessels; as having served with reputation, in the last war, both in the land and sea service; and as an officer of merit. Gen'l Schuyler addressed Capt. Wynkoop, at Fort George, May 7, 1776, ordering him to repair to Ticonderoga, and take command of all the vessels on the lakes. Jacobus, in a letter to the Council of Safety, August 6, 1776, informed them that he had taken command, on April 18, as commodore of the vessels on Lake Champlain. Under advice of the commander of the Northern Department, he requested aid of the Council. The letter was referred to the Governor.¹⁸³

Gen'l Benedict Arnold, on August 17, 1776, ordered two schooners of the fleet, to proceed down the lake: Jacobus brought them to: Arnold went on board, and satisfied Jacobus of the necessity, and the latter ordered them under sail. Gen'l Arnold, on the same day, made report of the facts, from Crown Point, to Gen'l Horatio Gates, at Ticonderoga. Jacobus also reported the facts to Gen'l Gates, on the same day, and claimed that Arnold should not have issued orders to the captains direct: that he himself was to be independent of all, except the commander in chief [of the Department]. Gen'l Gates, on August 18, ordered Arnold to put Jacobus under arrest, and send him a prisoner to headquarters, at Ticonderoga. On the same day, he wrote to Gen'l Schuyler, urging the dismissal of Jacobus from the service, and, on the day following, he wrote again to Arnold, urging him to delay no longer, in the arrest of Jacobus. Meanwhile, on the 19th, Arnold had written to Gates, that he had ordered Jacobus to headquarters, and he wished that it might be considered proper, to permit him to return home, without being cashiered. Gates wrote to Schuyler, on the day following, that he had given Jacobus a pass to Albany; and that he must, on no account, be sent to Ticonderoga. Schuyler replied, from Albany, that Jacobus was to remain there.

Jacobus memorialized Congress, on the 27th, and Schuyler transmitted the memorial, two days later, stating that Jacobus was brave and industrious, and equal to the command of the vessels, which were on the lake, when he recommended him; but that he did not know him sufficiently to judge whether he was equal to the command of the vessels now there, and he, therefore, had heard of the appointment of Arnold with the greatest satisfaction. Schuyler wrote to Gates, on the same day, in the same sense.¹⁸⁴ Jacobus was re-instated in the command, in March, 1777, and retained it until the evacuation of Ticonderoga.¹⁸⁵

Jacobus communicated with the Council of Safety, August 6, 1777, in relation to the arrangement of accounts, of himself, and of the men serving under him as commodore.¹⁸⁶

Jacobus was ordered, October 12, 1777, to take command of the cannon at Kingston: and in the autumn of that year, and the spring following, he was occupied with the raising of the Lady Washington galley, which had been sunk at Kingston.

He removed his family from Kingston to Albany, two weeks before the British burned Kingston, October 16, 1777.

In May, 1778, Gen'l Conway ordered Jacobus to Coeymans, to rig out, and put in readiness, the sloops and batteaux that were destined for the defense of the Hudson River.¹⁸⁵

In May, 1779, his pay was declared to be that of a captain of a Continental frigate. His pay was stopped July 25, 1780. The Continental Congress, by resolution of April 19, 1782, referred the subject of payment, to the State of New York. He claimed, January 24, 1783, that there was due to him £956, 6s, 8d. In 1790, he obtained from the State of New York, 500 acres of land in lot 51, township of Manlius; 500 acres in lot 53, township of Locke; and 500 acres in lot 59, township of Ovid. The petition was dated, Kingston, January 24, 1783.¹⁸⁵

It seems that this was the Jacobus who was master of the brig Esopus, owned by Dirck Wynkoop [292] and plying between Kingston and the West Indies.

170. Cornelius Wynkoop, (Cornelius 51, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) baptized December 21, 1729, New York City: married, March 12, 1758, Abigail Osburne, at Fairfield, Conn. Her name appears as Aesbeen, in the record of baptism of her daughter Elizabeth. [Aes or aas been = bait-bone.]

Children of Cornelius and Abigail Wynkoop:

422. Elizabeth: b. Aug. 21, 1759; bp. Aug. 24, New York City. She was, probably, the "Miss Betsey Wynkoop," member of the First Congregational Society, at Fairfield, Fairfield County, Conn., whose death is recorded June 16, 1836.
423. Jacobus Van der Spiegel: b. Oct. 1, 1767; bp. Oct. 2: m. Apl. 20, 1788, Sarah Price, of Greenfield. He was then living in Fairfield.

174. Phœbe Wynkoop, (Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born October 28, 1729: married John Vining, of Delaware, a man of distinction under the Proprietary government.¹⁹²

Children of John and Phœbe Vining:

424. Mary Vining: d. in 1821, unmarried. She is mentioned as a celebrated belle, of the 18th century, and as possessing more than ordinary wit and beauty.¹⁹³

425. John Vining: m. Mary Seaton, daughter of William, of New York, and left four sons, all of whom died young. He was, for many years, a representative in Congress.¹⁹³

175. Benjamin Wynkoop, (Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born November 23, 1734: died September 2, 1803: married May 18, 1767¹⁹⁴ Sarah Wooddrop Sims, daughter of Joseph and Anne Sims. His body, and the bodies of several of his children, were buried at the corner of Pine and Third streets, Philadelphia. His widow died December 31, 1814, aged 63.

His descendents know of no second marriage, and yet he seems to have married, about 1781, and, probably a sister of Sarah. For James Lempriere Hammond wrote, from the Island of Jersey, in May, 1783, to his brother Nicholas, as follows: "Your last letter tells me of the marriage, about a year and a half ago, of Mr. B. Wynkoop to his second wife." The "B. Wynkoop" seems to be this Benjamin, and he named children, after that period, Wooddrop Sims, and Sarah, which suggests that the second wife was sister to the first.

Benjamin was, in 1788, a member of the Rumseian Society, Philadelphia, and of its committee of correspondence.¹⁹⁵ This society had for its subject James Rumsey's experiments with steamboats.

Benjamin Wynkoop and his family, in 1778, were at the residence of his step-mother, the Widow Mary (Dyer) Wynkoop, Appoquinimink, Newcastle County, Delaware, while Philadelphia was occupied by the British. Nicholas Hammond, then aged about twenty, grandson of the Widow Wynkoop, wrote as follows: "Mr. Benjamin Wynkoop and family are with us, and by their generally pretty and familiar behavior increase the cordiality which before subsisted among us. They have been here some months, and await, with impatience, the messengers of peace, that they may return to Philadelphia."

Children of Benjamin and Sarah Wynkoop:

176. Abram Wynkoop, (Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1), died about 1783: married, July 29, 1773, Rachel Sharpe, daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth Sharpe.¹⁹⁶ He was a planter.

Nicholas Hammond wrote, in 1783, from Cambridge, Md., as follows: "Last spring, uncle Abram died, and left a distressed family, a widow, and four small children." And he wrote, in 1818, as follows: "Our half-uncle, Abram, left two sons and two daughters. One of the daughters married a Mr. [Richard] Davis. These children are all dead. The gentlemen, whom these daughters married, are remote from me, and I have never seen their children, of whom several are living."

Children of Abram and Rachel Wynkoop:

434. Mary: d. in 1809: m. Richard Davis.
 435. Dyer Sharpe: b. about 1775: lost in 1800: 1st Lieut. of Marines.
 436. Abraham. He was living in the year 1800; for he wrote of his anxiety about the probable loss of his brother. He probably died unmarried; for Nicholas Hammond wrote, in 1818, of the extinction of the Wynkoop name, in the Dyer-Hammond connection.
 437. Elizabeth. A letter is in existence, which seems to have been written by her daughter.

177. James Wynkoop, M.D., (Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) died about 1788: married, April 3, 1777, Hester Peterson, of Middletown, Del., and settled there. It is said that he was settled, afterwards, in Baltimore, Md.

This is the James [111] of the Wynkoop Genealogy, of 1878, who was wrongly placed in that edition, on the basis of conjecture.

Nicholas Hammond wrote of this James, in 1783, as follows: "The Doctor has acted an affectionate part towards his brother's widow and children, in which, however, he has followed his natural disposition, which is extremely humane." And he wrote, in 1818, "Our half-uncle, James, the Doctor, left three daughters, who also are dead."

178. Benjamin Wynkoop, (Benjamin 53, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1), baptized April 9, 1732: died in 1782 from drowning, during the Revolutionary War: married, March 6, 1754, New York City, Grissel Frost, born October 24, 1732, at Fairfield, Conn., daughter of Jabez and Adria (Couch) Frost. [Grissel is a diminutive of Griselda.]

Alonzo I. Wynkoop [777] wrote as follows: "My grandfather was married at Fairfield, where grandfather's friends lived. His wife was daughter of Jabez Frost. Grandfather evidently settled at Fairfield, as my father's record is, that all his brothers and sisters were living there, at the time of the Revolution."

Children of Benjamin and Grissel Wynkoop:

 447. Peter: a seafaring man, who commanded a vessel out of New York. After leaving the sea, he married, and settled upon the homestead, where he died without children. Perhaps this Peter is a myth; and what is said about him may be appropriate to Peter [178A].

New York City: died July 25, 1796¹⁹⁸: married September 6, 1784, at Kingston, N. Y., Lydia Silvester, daughter of Peter and Jane (Van Schaack) Silvester.¹⁹⁹

John C. was an attorney at law, and was postmaster at Kingston, as appears from his signature to a list of unclaimed letters, published in a newspaper, June 30, 1796.

His last will, dated June 30, 1796, proved May 13, 1797, mentioned his children, Peter, Adrian, Henry, Catharine, Jane, and Ann Maria; his father-in-law, Peter Silvester; and his brothers-in-law, Francis and Cornelius Silvester.²⁰⁰

His widow married, August 16, 1804, at Kinderhoek, Jacobus Van Alen.

Children of John C. and Lydia Wynkoop:

Jonathan was a Judge, in Ulster County.

Abram, the father of Jonathan, was a Colonel in the Revolutionary army. The Committee of Safety, on October 16, 1777, directed Abram Hasbrouck, Joseph Gasherie [106], Dirck Wynkoop, Jun. [292], Christopher Tappen [107], and Samuel Bayard, Jun., who had charge of the public records of the State, which had been deposited in Kingston, in June, 1776, to remove such records in their custody to Rochester [Ulster County]. In case of necessity Judge Wynkoop [292] and Oke Suydam were to impress teams.²⁰²

One of the varieties of the Wynkoop book-plate is in existence, with the name Augustus Wynkoop, in which the supporters of the shield are female bacchantes. It evidently came from the same source as the one which has "Cor^s C. Wynkoop" upon it, and was varied by mistake or design. The compiler has had it reproduced in electrotype, with men in place of the women, and with the motto inserted.

292. Dirck Wynkoop, Judge, (Capt. Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born October 1, 1732, in Kingston: died there, December 9, 1796: married 1st, November 1, 1754, Tjaatje (Cheauchee) Wynkoop [102], born November 19, 1731, died November 17, 1757, second child and first daughter of Sheriff Johannes and Maria (Bogardus) Wynkoop. Dirck married 2d, December 13, 1760, Sarah Smedes, born December 8, 1737, daughter of Petrus and Catrina (Du Bois) Smedes.

The compiler is the eldest son of the eldest son—i. e., who left a descendant—back to this Dirck, and back of him to Evert [4], the second son of Cornelius [1]. He is also descended, through the marriage first above mentioned, from Maj. Johannes [2], eldest son of Cornelius [1].

Dirck's name appears uniformly with the spelling Dirck; but the more correct modern form is Dirk. The usual spelling of the name, as belonging to other Wynkoops, was Derrick or Derick: sometimes it was Dirrick. The original form of the name seems to have been Diederick, derived from Theodoric, meaning powerful among the people. It was common to use this name as equivalent to Theodore, God-given, or Richard, stout-hearted. But Rijkaard and Rijk are the Dutch for Richard. The compiler has hitherto accepted the traditional opinion, that Dirck and Dick are equivalents; but they are not, as he is convinced by Dingman Versteeg, author of The Sea Beggars, N. Y., 1901, whom the compiler considers a competent Dutch scholar. Dierryk was an other form, in use. Tjerck, pronounced Cheurk, as one syllable, is probably the Frisian equivalent of Dirck.

This Dirck was a lawyer, and became a judge. Many old wills and old deeds were left in his hands, and some of them came into the hands of the compiler: others, no doubt, perished, when "Miss Peggy Wynkoop" burned a mass of papers, to rid herself of the persecution of relic-hunters.

Benjamin Blagge, Jun. issued a license, under the Excise act, February 23, 1760, to Dirck Wynkoop, Jun^r, to retail tea, throughout the province of New York, except within the city and county of Albany. This license, which is in the possession of the compiler, is an evidence of reputation for trustworthiness: but Dirck developed into a determined supporter of the patriotic cause. He was an Associator of Kingston, N. Y., May 29, 1775; and he is mentioned as a member of the Third Regiment of Ulster County Militia.²⁰⁴ On November 5, of the same year, he was chosen a deputy to the New York Provincial Congress, and he met with them in New York, November 14.²⁰⁵ The Committee of Safety, of which he was a member, appointed him, October 11, 1776, Inspector of Flour, at Kingston.²⁰⁶ The New York Provincial Congress, October 15, 1776, adopted a preamble and resolution, reciting that the records of the city and county of New York, and of the county and borough of Westchester, were in private hands, in the county of Westchester, and unsafe, because of the landing of the enemy in that county, and appointed William Miller, Theodore Barton, and John Cosine, commissioners to remove the records, with all possible expedition, to Kingston, Ulster County, and there place them in care of Dirck Wynkoop, Abram Hasbrouck [207], and Christopher Tappen [107]: and empowered the commissioners to call for a guard to protect the removal.²⁰⁶ The Committee of Safety, through an order, signed John McKesson, Fishkill, October 17, 1776, sent the papers of the late Receiver General's office, to the same persons, at Kingston, with instructions to take care of them, equal to, or even greater than, that used with the other public records.²⁰⁷

Kingston, in April, 1777, and adopted a State Constitution. They appointed Dirck a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Ulster County, as associate of Levi Pawling, First Judge. The British, in revenge for the harboring of the State Convention, determined to burn Kingston. The public records, mentioned above, in anticipation of the attack, were removed early in October, to Rochester, Ulster County, as already stated under Jonathan Hasbrouck [207]. The British burned Kingston, October 16, 1777. Some of the public records were removed from Judge Wynkoop's house, corner of Pearl and Fair streets, in Mr. Bancker's charge, a few minutes only before a party of red-coats began to plunder the buildings.²⁰⁸ Mr. Schoonmaker states that the British destroyed two houses, two barns, one barrack, and a brew house, belonging to Dirck Wynkoop.²⁰⁹ Gen'l Sharpe [827] said that Washington, while on his way from the Delaware to West Point, dined at the Judge's house, on Greene Street. The table used consisted of boards laid on carpenter's horses.

Gov. George Clinton wrote to Judge Wynkoop, from Poughkeepsie, May 4, 1778, of a contribution from Charleston, S. C., of £927, 17s, 16d., for the Kingston sufferers; and of his own purpose to grant exemption from ordinary militia service, to mechanics, where they would work at reasonable wages, in rebuilding.²⁰⁷ The ancestry of this Clinton is given under Christina [390].

Dirck was Assistant State Agent, in 1781; and in the same year, he was Assistant Commissary of Purchases, and, as such, was required, by order of Gen'l Washington, April 28, to procure a supply of shad for the army.²⁰⁷

Under the head of Ulster County Militia (Land Bounty Rights) appears, among enlisted men, Dirck Wynkoop, Jr., in Capt. Depue's Company, Third Regiment.²¹⁰

He was commissioned by Gov. Clinton, March 12, 1783, First Judge of the Common Pleas, for Ulster County, during good behavior, or until he should attain the age of sixty years. The expiration of this time limit was in October, 1792.

Judge Wynkoop was an estimable gentleman, and one of the most active and noted men in Ulster County, during the Revolution. He was a member of the New York Assembly, 1780-81. In 1788, he was a member of the State Convention, to which was submitted the Federal Constitution.²⁰⁸ His associates from Ulster County were George Clinton, who presided, John Cantine, Cornelius C. Schoonmaker, Ebenezer Clark, and James Clinton, brother to George: and all of them were opposed to the unconditional acceptance of the Constitution. Dirck was a Republican in politics. This is disclosed under Joseph Gasherie [106].

Dirck was owner of the brig Esopus, trading between Kingston and the West Indies, 1787-89, and perhaps owner for a longer period. Of this vessel, Jacobus Wynkoop [167], probably was at one time master.

William H. Dederick, of Kingston, wrote of the Judge, as follows: "He was a member of the consistory of the First Reformed Dutch Church of Kingston, a number of times. This seems to have been a characteristic of the family. I can not forbear saying that in the many records I have examined, I have found no parallel."

His last will was dated August 28, 1794, proved February 18, 1797.²¹¹ His tombstone stands beside that of his father, Capt. Evert, in the yard of the First Reformed Church, Kingston. His silver snuff-box, embossed with the representation of a Holland feast, descended, to the compiler, through his grandfather and father; who received from his great-aunt, "Miss Peggy Wynkoop" [516], on her decease, the Bible of Arriaantje Schepmoes, with the family records of Capt. Evert, and Judge Dirck; also a long and heavy silver ladle—perhaps for hot mush; also gold knee- and shoe-buckles, and a pair of silver candlesticks.

If there was ever a portrait of Dirck, it was destroyed, no doubt, with one of his houses; and he was so impoverished by the war, and his liberal contributions to it, directly and indirectly, that he did not sit for his portrait, in his later days. One, at least, of his houses was of stone, and the walls remained standing, and the house was rebuilt, and was occupied by his daughter, "Miss Peggy."

A letter to the Judge, of which a copy is here given, seems to indicate the author and the time of the introduction of furniture made of native woods:

" D^R SIR.

" I spoke to Capt. Desang when I saw him at your house for some Boards of Cureled Maple such as you had a sample of if he had any of them remaining to spare which in that case he promised me. I will therefore be much obliged to you if you will inquire respecting them and take the trouble of forwarding them to me. If he has none left I should be glad if you would endeavor to get some for me elsewhere of equal Quality as I wish to get some Pieces of Furneture made of that wood by some of our best workmen and try if People cant be induced to prefer it to the Mahogany—which carries much money from our country.

" With best respects to Mrs. Wynkoop and Family in which Mrs. Clinton & the children join me I am yours

" Sincerely

" GEO. CLINTON.

512. Arriaantje (Arietta): b. Dec. 3, 1761. Her last will, dated Apl. 4, 1820, proved Apl. 7, 1826, mentioned her sister Margaret.²¹²

513. Catharine: b. Jan. 24, 1764: d. unmarried.

514. Sarah: b. July 25, 1773, bp. Aug. 24, Kingston new church: d. about 1817, in New York City, at the house of her step-daughter, Amelia Smith, wife of Robert M. Russell. Sarah married, Nov. 7, 1795, Timothy Tredwell Smith, b. Jan. 17, 1768, at Smithfield, L. I., d. Oct. 24, 1803. When he married, he was principal of the Kingston Academy, and when he died, he was professor of moral philosophy in Union College, Schenectady. His tombstone is in the yard of the First Reformed Church, Kingston.

The correspondence of the step-daughter, Mrs. Amelia Russell, came under the eye of the compiler; and he has tried, in vain, to find any descendant of hers, to ascertain whether her own interesting character has been transmitted.

She is mentioned as the "venerable lady, whose elegant manners and refined tone, lend such a charm to her society, residing in the house on Greene Street, Kingston, where her father entertained Gen'l Washington, on his visit to Kingston."²¹³ It may be that the entertainment of Washington was at Dirck's other house also on Greene Street.

295. Cornelius E. Wynkoop, Major, (Capt. Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born March 4, 1746: d. September 19, 1795, and was buried at the new church at Marbletown: married August 22, 1766, Cornelia Mancius, baptized November 1, 1741, daughter of Rev. George Wilhelmus and Cornelia (Kiersted) Mancius.

He was a member of the committee from Marbletown, April 7, 1775, to choose deputies to the Provincial Congress of New York. In June, of the same year, he was an Associator of Marbletown; and September 19, following, he was Captain of the Southeast District, First Company, of the town of Marbletown; and commission was issued to him, under date of October 25, 1775, as second Major of the Minutemen of Ulster County.²¹⁴ He appears as a member of the Third Regiment of Ulster County militia.

The legislature of New York, in 1778, passed an act for the detection and defeat of conspiracies. Under this act, Cornelius E. Wynkoop, with Messrs. Platt, Harper, and Cantine, were appointed commissioners. In a communication to Lieut.-Col. Aaron Burr, August 3, in that year, the commissioners mentioned Cornelius E. Wynkoop as one of the board, and referred to him for such particulars as it might be necessary to adjust, to enable them, in the future, to convey more effectually unfriendly persons to the enemy's lines.²¹⁵ built in 1772, and for this Cornelius, apparently, is at the present time, a substantial, commodious, and handsome stone building, and it was superior to nearly all the houses of its period. It is now known as the "Lounsberry House." Gen'l Sharpe [827] stated, that Gen'l Washington, on his way from the Delaware to West Point, spent a night in this house: and that, on the morning following, he received from the porch of a house at Hurley, an address of welcome from Gen'l Wynkoop. This may have been Cornelius D. [94], or Adriaan [63].

710. Garret: m. Julia Adelaide Mountz.

390. Christina Wynkoop, (Judge Henry 157, Nicholas 46, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born August 18, 1763: died April or May 18, 1841, in Abington, Penn.: married, April 20, 1786, Reading Beattie, M.D., born December 23, 1757, died, Newtown, Penn., October 29, 1831. A letter to Dr. Beattie is given under Judge Henry [157]. She survived her husband. For nearly fifty years, she was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church, at Newtown, Penn.; and she was a warm and liberal supporter of the activities of the church; and she was especially interested in foreign missions.

Rev. Charles Beattie was born in County Antrim, Ireland, about 1715 probably, son of John and Christiana (Clinton) Beattie; and he was brought by his widowed mother to that part of Ulster County, N. Y., which is now Orange County. She came with her brother, Charles Clinton, whose son, Gen'l George

Clinton, is mentioned under Dirck [292], and Jacobus [167]. An other son was Col. James Clinton, also mentioned herein. This Charles Beattie became a Presbyterian minister, and was settled as pastor, at the Forks of the Neshaminy, Penn. His wife was Anne, daughter of John Reading, who was afterwards Governor of New Jersey. Their seventh child was Reading Beattie, M.D. He enlisted in the Revolutionary army, as a private soldier, but was immediately appointed sergeant. He was commissioned, August 10, 1775, ensign of the 5th Penn. Battalion, Col. Robert Magaw. He became lieutenant, February 2, 1776, and, in the course of the campaign, he commanded the company, because of the captain's sickness. He was taken prisoner, November 16, 1776, at the capture of Fort Washington; and, at first, was treated with great harshness. He was exchanged, May 8, 1778, and he then studied medicine. He attended the sick, at Morristown, 1778-79: and he was commissioned surgeon, November 8, 1779, of the 11th Penn. Regiment. He was commissioned surgeon, February 10, 1781, of a regiment of artillery, Col. Proctor; and he so remained until the close of the war. He settled at Red Hill, Nockamixon township, Bucks County, Penn., where he remained for two or three years, living at Erwinna, a picturesque situation on the bank of the Delaware. In 1788, he removed to a settlement of Friends, in the vicinity of Falsington, where he lived for forty years. He was a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church, at Newtown, five miles distant. In 1828, he retired from practice, and settled in Newtown.²²⁹

434. Mary Wynkoop, (Abram 176, Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1:) married, in 1805, Richard Davis, of Cecil, Md., who died in 1809.

Mr. Davis was married three times: 1st, when about 19 years old, Elizabeth Stockton, widow of John Davis; 2d, Mary Wynkoop; 3d, Matilda Tod, cousin to Mary.

Children of Richard and Mary (W.) Davis:

770. Caroline Davis: d. in 1847: m. Thomas Tennant.

771. Mary Matilda Davis: b. about 1809: d. Feb. 28, 1888, unmarried. "She cared nobly for her sister's children, after the death of her sister."

435. Dyer Sharpe Wynkoop, (Abram 176, Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) 1st Lieut. of Marines: born about 1775: died in 1800. His signature appears as Dyre S. Wynkoop.

His first name was the family name of his paternal grandmother, and his second the family name of his mother. He was maintained and educated by Nicholas Hammond, at Cambridge and Easton, Md., after the death of his father. Hammond was related through his grandmother, Mary Dyer, who married 1st, a Hammond, 2d, Abraham Wynkoop.²³³

Dyer Sharpe Wynkoop was appointed First Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps, November 16, 1798, on its re-organization. Two official letters from him are in existence; the first written at Dover, Del., August 19, 1798; and the other on board the U. S. brig General Pinckney—at sea, December 28, 1799, and at Charleston, January 10, 1800; each addressed to Maj. W. W. Burrows, Commandant U. S. M. C., at that time. They were "very well written," and show him to have been a man of good education and intelligence.²³⁴ He was lost at sea, with the U. S. frigate Insurgente, in July or August, 1800. A portrait of him, in his uniform, is in existence, and a copy of it given on p. 108:

The French frigate L'Insurgente, 40, Capt. Barreault, was captured February 9, 1799, by the Constellation, 38, Capt. Thomas Truxton, and was taken into St. Kitts. She was one of the fastest vessels in the world. In the year following, she was taken into our service, as a 36, Capt. Alexander Murray commanding. [At the close of the eighteenth century, strife existed in the West Indies, between France and these United States, without a formal declaration of war, growing out of European embroilments.] Capt. Murray was transferred to the Constellation, and the frigate Insurgente was given to Capt. Patrick

Fletcher, and in July, 1800, she sailed on a cruise, with instructions to keep between longitude 66° and 68°, and to run as far south as 36° N. L. After this vessel left the Capes of Virginia, no authentic accounts of her were received, with the exception of a few private letters, sent in through vessels spoken at sea. She had been ordered to cruise for a short time, in the longitude and latitude mentioned, after which her commander was left at liberty to pursue his own discretion, provided he returned to Annapolis within eight weeks.²³⁵

438. Mary Wynkoop, (Dr. James 177, Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born March 10, 1778: died in 1807: married, in 1807, Isaac Cannell, of Charlestown, Kent County, Md.

Mr. Cannell had, by an other wife, a son, Wilmer, an importing merchant in Philadelphia.

Child of Isaac and Mary Cannell:

772. Hester Anne Cannell: b. in 1807. She was living in Philadelphia, unmarried, in 1869. The compiler obtained information through correspondence with her.

441. Hester Catalina Wynkoop, (Dr. James 177, Abraham 52, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born March 5, 1784: died in 1812: married Richard Barroll, of Chestertown, Md.

Her middle name was written Cathelena, usually; and that of her daughter Catholena. The latter suggested that the name was Catharina, properly.

Children of Richard and Hester C. Barroll:

773. Anna Matilda Barroll: m. Rev. John Payne, b. Jan. 9, 1815, d. Oct. 23, 1874, Westmoreland Co., Va., Episcopal bishop at Cape Palmas, in Africa, 1851-1871, and then returned to the United States.

After her death, Bishop Payne married a Miss Winifred —.

774. Mary Catholena Barroll: m. Edward Johnson, of Baltimore. She was living in Jackson, Miss., in 1867. The compiler had correspondence with her.

444. Benjamin Wynkoop, (Benjamin 178, Benjamin 53, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born April 10, 1769: married, September 1, 1796, Hannah Wynkoop [337].

He was apprenticed, to learn the art of the silversmith, to a Mr. Whiting, who removed to Savannah, Ga., and took Benjamin with him, and there he completed his apprenticeship.

On the return of Benjamin northward, he was induced, by Maj. William Wynkoop, to go to Chemung, to make trinkets for the Indians. He was a good watch and clock maker, silversmith, and engraver: and the necessities of a new country made him a general mechanic. He taught school, and was a good English scholar, acquainted with chemistry, mineralogy, geology, and natural philosophy; and he was a land surveyor. He became a large operator in land, and was "land poor."²³⁶

His wife was a daughter of Maj. William Wynkoop [138]. Her

- 449. Anne Wynkoop, (Benjamin 178, Benjamin 53, Benjamin 8, Cornelius 1,) born at Fairfield, Conn., December 15, 1756: married ———. She had two daughters, one of whom married a Mr. Barker, and lived for many years in New York City.

Children of ——— and Anne (W.) ———.

801. Harriet ———.

802. Mary Anne ———.

- 451. Peter Silvester Wynkoop, Rev., (John C. 205, Capt. Cornelius C. 65, Cornelius 9, Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) baptized March 22, 1787, Kinderhoek: died November 1, 1848, in Hudson, N. Y.: married, December 12, 1814, Margaret W. Gosman, daughter of Robert Gosman, and sister of Rev. Dr. John Gosman.

Peter was graduated from Union College, in 1807, and studied law in the office of his uncle, Judge Silvester, in Kinderhoek, and began the practice of his profession, in 1810. But he abandoned that profession, and entered the theological seminary at New Brunswick, and was licensed by the classis of New Brunswick, in 1813: was assistant of Vredenburg, at Raritan, 1813-14: pastor at Catskill, 1814-17: Hyde Park (Staatsburgh), 1817-20: Hyde Park and Pleasant Plain, 1820-22: Ghent, Jan. 9, 1823-June 21, 1843, also Hillsdale, 1825-40, and Claverack 2d, now Mellenville, in 1842: Blooming Grove, 1844-48.

The Rev. Edwin Holmes said of him, in a funeral sermon, that "he preached the Gospel as to dying men, presenting its essential truths, with clearness, skillfulness, and persistency, and avoided doubtful questions. His personal piety was conspicuous in his habits, and in his conscientious deportment. His labors were largely blessed." ²³⁷

The Rev. John Rugan wrote of him to the compiler, from Fultonham, O., in 1863, as follows: "I was pastor of the Lutheran congregation at Ghent, for several years, from 1850, and heard a great deal of Dominie Wynkoop, whose memory, together with that of Rev. Jacob Berger, was cherished with love and respect by the entire community. To that people, these two men appeared to be the standard of ministerial faithfulness, character, and piety; and if, in conversation or argument, any saying or opinion, of Dominie Wynkoop, or Dominie Berger, could be adduced, it was considered as the end of controversy. I learned to respect the character of those men, whose influence for good, both during life, and after death, was so great, and whose reputation, in all that truly ennobles man, was so high."

473. Mary Jane Wynkoop, (Augustus 213, Capt. Cornelius C. 65, Cornelius 9, Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) born January 20, 1810: died March 4, 1887, in Kingston, N. Y.: married, October 1, 1834, Henry Hinsdale Reynolds, born July 21, 1811, died November 23, 1868, son of Abraham and Sarah (Folger) Reynolds.

Mr. Reynolds was chosen, a few months before his death. President of the State of New York National Bank, with which he had been connected from its beginning. The Press, of Kingston, under date of November 26, 1868, attributed to Mr. Reynolds a practical turn of mind; familiarity with business; wisdom in council; deeds of private beneficence; a Christian spirit; giftedness in prayer; and a liberal use of ample pecuniary means in works of beneficence.

This genealogy enlisted the hearty sympathy of Mr. Reynolds, and he contributed material liberally, directly and indirectly.

Children of Henry H. and Mary J. (W.) Reynolds.

831. Augustus Wynkoop Reynolds: b. Aug. 8, 1835: d. Oct. 31, 1895, in Kingston, N. Y., of pneumonia, unmarried. He served in the Union army.

491. George Wynkoop, (Derick C. 258, Col. Cornelius D. 94, Dirrick 13, Maj. Johannes 2, Cornelius 1,) born July 23, 1814: married, 1st, April 14, 1839, at Marbletown, N. Y., Eleanor Sala Davis, born February 12, 1814, died January 18, 1846, daughter of James V. W. and Gertrude (Perrine) Davis. He married, 2d, February 6, 1847, in Hurley, N. Y., Sarah Catharine Dumond, who died November 12, 1890, daughter of Cornelius and Blandina (Crispell) Dumond.

He lived at Hurley, in a house of which a part, at least, was built early in the eighteenth century. It may be that this is the site of the original settlement of this family, in Ulster County. The place has been in continuous possession of the family for many years. Pictures of the house have been made by William H. Snyder, of Brooklyn, N. Y., under the name of “The Wynkoop House”; by P. P. Ryder; and by other artists. (See frontispiece.)

Children of George and Eleanor S. Wynkoop:

- 871. Mary Buckbee: b. Mch. 4, 1840: m. Joseph Middagh.

510. Peter Wynkoop, (Judge Dirck 292, Capt. Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born December 27, 1755, in Kingston, N. Y.: died January 26, 1835, in New York City: married December 10, 1785, Margaret Quackenbos, born March 20, 1765, died May 5, 1851, N. Y., daughter of John and Catharine (De Witt) Quackenbos, whose acquaintance he had made in Marlboro, N. Y., whither her father's family had retired, because of the occupation of New York City by the British during the Revolutionary War. Her family name appears elsewhere as Kwakelbosch, meaning quail-forest. [Kwakkelbos = quail bush: Kwakkelbosch = quail forest: de wit = the white.] There was a tradition that Peter was aid-de-camp to one of the generals; but the compiler has been unable to verify it.

He removed from Kingston to the city of New York, after his marriage, and there engaged in the manufacture of sea-biscuit, with his father-in-law, and brother-in-law, each of them named John. Subsequently, he dealt in tobacco and cigars, and had a snuff factory, on the bank of a stream in Ulster County. He became a measurer in the custom house in New York City, about the year 1821, and so remained until a few years before his death. He was six feet two inches in height.

He had a book-plate, with a family device, and the name of Peter Wynkoop. This descended to the compiler, in the form of a copper plate, the reverse of which shows part of an engraved invitation to some public function of the Revolutionary period. Prints from this plate were used by Peter as a trade-mark, as well as for his library books. This plate is mentioned more fully in the introduction.

Children of Peter and Margaret Wynkoop:

885. Catharine: b. Sept. 7, 1786: d. Nov. 4, 1796. This child was spoken of in the family as very bright and winsome, and as the idol of her father.
886. Sarah: b. June 24, 1788: m. Joseph Packard.
887. Harriet: b. Apl. 24, 1790: d. June 28, 1791.

- 517. Evert C. Wynkoop, (Maj. Cornelius E. 295, Capt. Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1:) died June 20, 1807:

married, May 8, 1786, Rachel Hardenbergh, born November 29, 1765, died April 26, 1845.

It is probable that Rachel was daughter of Rev. Dr. Jacobus Rutsen Hardenbergh, by Dinah Van Bergh, of Amsterdam, Holland, widow of Rev. John Frelinghuysen. The Doctor and his wife were residents of Rosendale, 1781-86, and he ministered to the church in Rochester, Ulster County.²⁴¹

Rachel married, 2d, January 15, 1809, Elias Dupuy, born July 17, 1763, died May 1, 1829. She married, 3d, April 28, 1830, Simon Dupuy. No relationship has been traced between Elias and Simon.

Children of Evert C. and Rachel Wynkoop:

- 896. Cornelius E.: b. Aug. 2, 1787; m. Anne Hardenbergh.
- 897. Dinah Maria: b. Apl. 10, 1789; d. June 21, 1841, unmarried.

29, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) baptized January 12, 1766, Rochester, Ulster County, N. Y.: married Syntje or Tryntje Schoonmaker—or both. The record of birth or of baptism of their children is confusing. All are recorded in the Rochester church, except of the 2d, which is in Kingston, and the 3d, in Marbletown. (Syntje is Cynthia, and Tryntje is Catharine, or perhaps Christina.)

Children of Jacobus and (S.) Wynkoop:

- 910. Jacobus: b. May 19, 1792.
- 911. John: bp. Sept. 20, 1795, mother "Seintje."

677. Stephen Rose Wynkoop, Rev., (David 374, Gerardus 153, Gerrit 45, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born November 24, 1806, in Northampton, Bucks County, Penn.; died, June 8, 1876, in Princeton, N. J., of pneumonia: married, August 24, 1836, Aurelia Mills, born November 26, 1800, died December 26, 1891, daughter of Judge Isaac and Abigail (Phelps) Mills, the former of New Haven, Conn., and the latter of Stafford Springs, Tolland County, in the same State. The family name, Mills, was originally Van der Meulen, or Molen, that is, of the mills.

Stephen was graduated at Union College, in 1829. His first occupation was that of teacher, in Albany, N. Y., and in Ohio. He accompanied Rev. John Leighton Wilson, to Africa, in 1833-34, upon a tour of investigation, on behalf of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, exploring the western coast, to select a favorable location for a mission. He entered the seminary, in Princeton, N. J., in 1834, and spent two years in study; but his health had been impaired by a fever resulting from his African trip, and his studies were delayed. However, he was licensed by the presbytery of New Brunswick, February 8, 1837, and was ordained by them, August 7, 1838; and he then took charge of the First Presbyterian Church, in Wilmington, Del. It was in a very low condition, spiritually and secularly; but, under his labors, it soon showed signs of growth and prosperity. He was installed as pastor, January 22, 1839, by the presbytery of Newcastle. The relation thus constituted proved to be a very happy one, and continued in unbroken harmony, and great usefulness, for nearly twenty years, in which period, continuous and numerous additions were made to the church, to which he ministered with fervor and success as a preacher, and with remarkable fidelity as a pastor. In the autumn of 1857, his health had become feeble, and he felt constrained to go southward, for the winter. He offered his resignation; but the church declined to receive it, with strong expressions of attachment to their pastor; but they granted to him leave of absence for a year. He then went to Florida; but, in the spring following, his health was not restored, and his voice was incapable of preaching service, and he again presented his resignation, and the pastoral relation was dissolved, April 13, 1858. The three years following were spent by him at New Haven, where his two sons were in college. The years from 1862 to 1868 were spent chiefly in travel, with sojourns in many places of interest, in this country and in Europe. In 1869, he settled down in Princeton, N. J., which was his residence thenceforth, until the end of his life. His son, Theodore, had become a missionary to northern India, and the parents left home, in August, 1870, and made a visit to their son, of more than a year, reaching home again in August, 1872.

He was a modest, true, kindhearted man, instructive as a preacher, faithful and beloved as a pastor, honored by his brethren, and successful in the whole work of the ministry. His widow made her home with her son, then pastor of the Western Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C.²⁴⁴

He was tall and spare in figure, and had a calm and intellectual face. The compiler met with him, in the city of New York; and, with his widow, in Washington, in 1880.

Children of Rev. Stephen and Aurelia Wynkoop:

I., N.Y.: the pastoral relation was dissolved in October, 1868: and he sailed for India, as missionary, in November, 1868, and was stationed at Allahabad, in northern India.

He returned to the United States, in September, 1876, and was installed as pastor of the Western Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C., October 23, 1878. His resignation of that pastorate was approved August 21, 1893, by the presbytery of Washington City, and he closed his ministry there, Sunday, August 27. He and his wife sailed from New York, October 14, 1893; and, on January 4, 1894, he took charge of his new office, as Secretary of the North India Bible Society. In the May following, he was made honorary secretary of the North India Tract Society.

891. Richard Wynkoop, Rev. (Peter 510, Judge Dirck 292, Capt. Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born December 16, 1798, in New York City: died April 5, 1842, in Hagerstown, Md., of congestion of the liver, after 5 days' sickness. He was born at 22 Roosevelt Street, which was then a respectable street.

He married, August 10, 1825, in Claverack, N. Y., Catharine Schureman, born February 10, 1795, New Brunswick, N. J., and died there, May 18, 1847, of pulmonary consumption. The marriage was at the house of her sister, Lydia Mary Williamson, wife of Rev. Richard Sluyter. They were daughters of James and Eleanor (Williamson) Schureman. Their father was grandson of Jacobus and Antje (Terheun) Schuurman, the brother-in-law, and co-laborer with Rev. Theodorus Jacobus Frielinghuysen, on the Raritan, N. J. James Schuurman was a prominent patriot, during the Revolutionary War, and he was a First Lieutenant in the battle of Long Island. After the war, he was an active and influential citizen, and mayor of New Brunswick. He was a representative in the Confederate Congress; a delegate to the convention at Annapolis; a representative in the Federal Congress; a senator from New Jersey; and, at intervals, a member of the Council of the Governor of New Jersey. His wife was daughter of David and Eleanor (Schuyler) Williamson of Rhode Hall, near Cranberry, N. J.

Richard was graduated at Columbia College, in 1819, and his commencement speech was on the "Kunokephaloi of Herodotus, and the probability of their being the ancestors of our modern dandies." He studied theology in the seminary at New Brunswick, and with Rev. Dr. Robert MacCartee [McEachen], in New York City; and he was licensed April 5, 1826, by the Second Presbytery of New York. He was missionary of the synod of the Dutch Church, at Cato, Cayuga County, N. Y., October 29, 1826, to January 31, 1827, and April 1, 1827, to April 25, when a substitute was accepted: he was ordained, March 7, 1827, in the Pearl Street Church, N. Y.; and was installed pastor of the General Assembly Presbyterian church, at Yorktown (Krompond hamlet), Westchester County, N. Y., June 14, 1827. The pastoral relation was dissolved April 20, 1834. He was installed pastor of the General Assembly Presbyterian church, in Hagerstown, Md., May 4, 1834, and remained such pastor until his death, in 1842.

The church at Yorktown had been in chronic difficulties with a Congregational church, which was composed of persons who had obtained control of the organization of the Presbyterian church, and had clinched their hold, by expelling, in 1806, some ten members, who insisted upon maintaining the Presbyterian polity. The excommunicated persons incorporated themselves as a Presbyterian congregation, March 4, 1806; and the Congregationalists incorporated themselves, on the day following, as a "Presbyterian church after the order of the church of Scotland"; and the latter held the church property, for a time; but the former won, in an action of ejection, May 18, 1807, and regained the property; whereupon the others avowed themselves to be Congregationalists. The strife had divided families, and was still bitter, especially among the old people. A minister of the presbytery of Bedford administered sealing ordinances to the Congregational church, and thus gave Mr. Wynkoop occasion to expose, before that presbytery, and the synod of New York, the schismatic character of the Congregational church. Long after Mr. Wynkoop's time, and in 1866, when the old people had died off, the Congregational church issued certificates of good standing to its members, and disbanded; and, upon such certificates, the individuals were received into the Presbyterian church, and the strife, of sixty years, was ended. It began with a preference, on the part of some of the members, for congregationalism, instilled by the pastor of that period, and it ended with the abandonment of that preference.²⁵⁰

The church in Hagerstown had been instituted by the Associate Reformed Presbyterians; and when many churches, of that body, went into the General Assembly, it went with the tide. It returned to the Associate Reformed body, during Mr. Wynkoop's ministry. Some persons, whose connection with the church had been severed, with other persons, instituted a suit in chancery, to gain control of the church property. Mr. Wynkoop prepared his own answer, although he had had no training in law or equity; and he obtained, from the Vice Chancellor, permission to argue the case for his co-defendants also: but the complainants were never ready for the argument. The church, in 1845, went back into the Presbytery of Carlisle, of the General Assembly Presbyterians, because of a proposed union of the Associate Reformed church with the New School General Assembly, on the basis of an exclusion of slaveholders.

Mr. Wynkoop was six feet high, well proportioned, and athletic. He had a full face, and a bright, dark eye, and was a handsome man. No good likeness of him is in existence. A friend, an amateur artist, Mr. Murrey, made miniature likenesses of Mr. and Mrs. Wynkoop, and was successful with the latter, although he did not flatter her; but he failed to reproduce the strength of character shown in Mr. Wynkoop's face.

Mr. Wynkoop's disposition was cheerful and playful. It is said that he used ridicule overfreely; it is certain that he used it effectively. In his early life, he was much given to argumentation. His logic was acute, and convincing. He preached upon texts, thinking it his duty to explain and apply God's Word. He began with unfolding the context, so that the text might be seen in its surroundings. He was competent to have written well on theology; but he left nothing beyond the syllabi of his sermons, which show acute analytical power. What he knew, he knew thoroughly; and he was never at a loss for words, or illustrations.

²⁵⁰ Hist. Sermon, Yorktown, 1876, Rev. Wm. J. Cumming, and Supplement, 1879.

On one occasion the minister who had been appointed to preach before an ecclesiastical body did not appear, and Mr. Wynkoop was urged to take his place. He could not escape, and he said, "Give out a long psalm":—and, taking paper and pencil, he selected a text, analyzed it, and made a syllabus, from which he preached, as if he had deliberately prepared it. Of course, he took a text, which had been the subject of his study, at some time. He was rated as an excellent Greek scholar, and was talked of for a professorship, which he would have declined, probably; for the compiler thinks that he would not have demitted the ministry. He was conspicuous for courage, and never experienced fear. He said once: "I would maintain that before the presbytery—before the synod—before the general assembly: I do not fear the face of clay." Dr. Samuel H. Cox called him, "the pugnacious, good-natured man." He preached against secret societies, in two discourses, for which he was threatened, and he was vilified, in a local newspaper; and the orator of one society withdrew, with his family, from the congregation; but they returned, after experiencing kindly ministrations, in some affliction which befell them. The newspaper passed into new hands. It was conceded that his utterances were prompted by a sense of duty. He declared what he thought to be the counsel of God, as contained in the Bible. He was a millenarian, and understood the prophecies to be, that the Christ, in person, with His saints, should reign upon the earth for one thousand years; and he preached several discourses upon that topic, in 1840, the syllabi of which show keen analysis of Scripture texts, and skillful combination of them.²⁵¹

He sometimes indulged in the writing of verses. A specimen of them is here given:

"'T is said that 'Brevity's the soul of wit,'
 Tho' sooth to say, I see no soul in it.
 Yet if there be, let wit be then so brief,
 That not the vanity but soul is chief.
 Short wits have great souls, if the text's not ill,
 Those short of wit, have souls yet greater still.

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 4, 1842."

1427. Julia Anna: b. July 11, 1826: m. William C. Brewster.
1428. Richard: b. June 29, 1829: m., 1st, Anna E. Maginnis; m., 2d, Lydia B. Strang.
1429. John Quackenbos: b. Feb. 23, 1831, Yorktown, N. Y.: d. Aug. 6, 1834, Hagerstown, Md., of Asiatic cholera, which was deadly in that region, particularly in the years 1832-33. The compiler looks back, with amusement, to the fact that John was exploited in the family, at the expense of the compiler. (Omnes mortui pro magnifico.)
1430. Catharine Schureman: b. May 18, 1834, Hagerstown, Md.: d. there Mch. 23, 1841, of croup.
1431. Virginia: b. Apl. 22, 1836: m. Oct. 30, 1872, New York City, Theodore Frelinghuysen Hay, b. Dec. 26, 1826, son of Rev. Dr. Philip Cortland and Elizabeth (Condit) Hay. They lived in Franklin, now Nutley, Essex County, N. J.; afterwards in Brooklyn, and in Yorktown, N. Y.; and again in Brooklyn, where he died, January 18, 1903, of apoplexy. Theodore was graduated at Hobart College, about the year 1847: was engaged in banking business, in Dubuque, Iowa, and in telegraphic business, in New York City; and, afterwards, as an officer of the Globe Stationery Co., N. Y. His first wife was Mary Bemis; she and their child died: his second wife was Josephine Strang, sister to Lydia B. [1428]. Of the children by his second wife, Arthur Le-strange, Josephine Matilda, and Theodora Elizabeth survive; all unmarried.
1432. Emma: b. Oct. 4, 1838: m. James Josiah Clark.

892. Jefferson Wynkoop, Rev., (Peter 510, Judge Dirck 292, Capt. Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born September 11, 1801, New York City: died August 21, 1885, at Cuba, Alleghany County, N. Y.: married, September 15, 1824, Jane Scott Shaw, who was born about June, 1801, and died in August, 1884, daughter of James Shaw, at one time Sheriff of New York, and of Margaret Boylyn.

Jefferson began a collegiate course at Columbia College, but went afterwards to Union College, where he was graduated in 1819: he pursued law studies with John Anthon, but abandoned them for theology, and was graduated at the seminary in New Brunswick, in 1824, and was licensed by the classis of New Brunswick: pastor at West New Hempstead, N. Y., and Ramapo, N. J., 1825-36: at Athens, 1836-40: pastor of the Presbyterian church in Gilbertsville, in March, 1841: afterwards at Delhi, and Cuba, until 1851. His zeal in temperance and revival work impaired his health, and caused him to retire from the active duties of the ministry. After giving up his pastorate in Cuba, he remained there until his death. He had been Secretary of the Society for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Jews, and was well known as an advocate of that cause. In correspondence with the compiler, he gave ingenious interpretations to some obscure prophecies. He was tall, and of large and imposing frame.

The church at West New Hempstead was sometimes known as the Kakiat church, from a land patent of that name; it is now called the Hempstead church, sometimes, also, the Brick Church; it is in Ramapo township, Rockland County, N. Y. The Ramapo church was called so from a river of that name, which runs from New York into New Jersey. The building is standing, at the present time, and is usually called the Mahwah church, from an other river, near by. The old manse was at West New Hempstead, which was then the larger hamlet, and it remains, but the present manse is on an other site.

Harvey, M.D., of Jenkintown, who died September 30, 1886. The widow was living in Hoboken, N. J., in 1887.

Dr. Harvey had two sons by a former wife.

Children of Dr. Samuel B. and Mary B. Harvey:

1595. Mary Steel Harvey: b. Mch. 9, 1864.

1596. Daniel Carroll Harvey: b. Sept. 25, 1867. He was educated at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J.

1218. Francis Murray Wynkoop, Colonel, (John W. 722, Dr. Nicholas 393, Judge Henry 157, Nicholas 46, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born in 1820: died December 13, 1857, at Valencia, Schuylkill County, Penn.: married, in 1850, Anna McKnight Decatur Twiggs, daughter of Major Levi Twiggs, who fell at Chapultepec, Mexico, and niece of Captain Stephen Decatur, Jun., who was commonly known as "Commodore." They had no child.

Francis commanded a regiment of militia, in Schuylkill County, Penn. One of the companies volunteered for the war against Mexico, under the call of Governor Francis Rawn Shunk, and Wynkoop went with it as a private. At Pittsburg, he was elected colonel. He was at the capture of Vera Cruz, and in the battles of Cerro Gordo and Huamantla, and in numerous skirmishes, and he exhibited bravery and skill, and received honorable mention for gallant service.

General Scott wrote also of him, as follows: "Some days since, [Jan., 1848], Colonel Wynkoop, of the 1st Pennsylvania Volunteers, tendered his services to go, with a few men, to seize the guerilla priest, Jarauta, at the head of a small band that had long been the terror of all peaceable Mexicans within his reach, and who has frequently had skirmishes with our detachments. The Colonel, having missed that object, heard that General Valencia and staff were at a distant hacienda, and by hard riding in the night, succeeded in capturing that general and a colonel of his staff. I consider this handsome service, worthy of being recorded." (Memoirs of Lieut. Gen. Winfield Scott, 1864, vol. ii, pp. 449, 567, 568.)

He was editor of the Miner's Journal, at one time; and he established the Anthracite Gazette, at Pottsville, Penn.

He left the Whigs and joined the Democrats, because the former had opposed the war. Under President Franklin Pierce, he was Marshal of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. On retiring from office, he made his home at Valencia, on the line of the Catawissa Railroad, in the northeasterly corner of Schuylkill County. He bled to death, from a wound in the leg, received accidentally from a gun in the hands of an attendant, while he was hunting birds, to tempt the delicate appetite of his wife. His death called forth concurrent testimony to the manliness of his form, the eloquence of his voice, the warmth of his heart, and his hold on the affections of the public.

The compiler received from him a transcript from the record of Judge Henry Wynkoop [157], which is mentioned elsewhere herein.

1219. Anna Maria Wynkoop, (John W. 722, Dr. Nicholas 393, Judge Henry 157, Nicholas 46, Gerret 5, Cornelius 1,) born January 26, 1821: died July 18, 1881, in New York City: married, December 26, 1842, Thomas Ives Atwood, born September 14, 1816, died September 28, 1874, in Elizabeth, N. J., son of Origen and Roxana (Ives) Atwood, of New Haven. He was in business in New York. The compiler frequently met with Mrs. Atwood, and found her entertaining and a woman of culture. She took much interest in this genealogy, and was helpful with information.

He was Major of a Colorado regiment, and performed perilous and efficient services against the rebels in New Mexico, and against the Indians. He was displaced, in some way, in 1864, as unsuitable for the work, when it was intended to massacre the Cheyennes, at Sand Creek, at a conference to which the Indians had been invited: so he was not involved in what is known as the "Chivington Massacre."

He became an Indian Agent, and won the confidence of the Indians, because he was one of the few persons who kept faith with them.

He was living, in 1878, at Tremont, Schuylkill County, Penn.; and, ten years later, at Santa Fe, where he was warden of the New Mexico Penitentiary. He died after a long illness. It is said that he was a member of the original Pike's Peak expedition.

Evert 112, Cornelius 28, Evert 4, Cornelius 1,) born June 29, 1829, at the manse, Yorktown (Krompond hamlet), Westchester County, N. Y.: living in Brooklyn, N. Y.: married, 1st, September 9, 1854, in New York City, Anna Elizabeth Maginnis, born July 20, 1821, in New York City, died there, October 12, 1858, daughter of Edward and Eliza (Larkin) Maginnis; the former a native of Ireland, and the latter of New England. He married, 2d, in N. Y., March 26, 1863, Lydia Belcher Strang, born June 1, 1831, at Peekskill, N. Y., died September 1, 1900, daughter of Joseph White and Elizabeth Morgan (Belcher) Strang: the former was a descendant of Daniel and Charlotte (Le Mestre) Streing, Huguenot settlers at New Rochelle, N. Y., as stated herein above.

Richard lived at Yorktown, 1829-34; Hagerstown, Md., 1834-43; New Brunswick, N. J., 1843-49; New York, 1849-63; Yonkers, N. Y., 1863-75; Brooklyn, N. Y., 1875-. He was graduated at Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J., A.B., in 1849, and A.M., in 1852: was vice-president of the alumni, in 1880, and again in 1888, and, in the year last named, he presided at the annual meeting. He is a lawyer by profession; but, since he left the customs service, he has been a genealogist, first as an amateur, and, afterwards, as a professional.

He studied law in the offices of Field & Sluyter, and of Stoughton & Harrington, and was managing clerk for them respectively, and, afterwards, for Ellis, Burrill & Davison, returning to Stoughton & Harrington, in the same position, in 1853, and thence to the office of Charles A. Peabody: was admitted to the Bar, May 7, 1852, on certificate of David Dudley Field, while E. W. Stoughton was one of the examiners: was in partnership with Peabody, January 1, 1855 to June 30, 1860, except for two intervals, when Peabody was on the bench of the Supreme Court, and, in the latter of these intervals, Milton Crane Tracy was associated with him under the firm name of Wynkoop & Tracy. He was admitted to practice in the United States Courts, July 9, 1862, on motion of Edwin W. Stoughton.

He was appointed Canada export clerk, September 5, 1864, by Hiram Barney, Collector of Customs of the District of the City of New York, but filled the place of withdrawal entry clerk: was promoted, December 1, 1864, to the chief-clerkship of the Navigation Division, the 4th, by Collector Simeon Draper, and was in charge also of the foreign clearance and entrance desk. From this time he was constantly charged with the duties of Deputy Collector, ad interim. His salary, as chief clerk, was increased by Collector Moses H. Grinnell. Through the summer of 1873, he was in charge of the division, because of the sickness of the Deputy, George W. Embree; and, after the death of the latter, and on December 17, 1873, he was made full Deputy, by Collector Chester A. Arthur: and he was removed, on political grounds, September 5, 1885, while Edward L. Hedden was Collector.

He wrote Documenting of Vessels, John Bliss & Co., 1880; Clearance and Entrance of Vessels, D. Appleton & Co., 1882; and Vessels and Voyages, a manual, D. Van Nostrand, 1886; also, the Wynkoop Family, a pamphlet, 1866; and the Wynkoop Genealogy, 1878; and he is the compiler of this work. He wrote also the Schureman Genealogy, a pamphlet, 1889, published by Melancthon F. Schureman; and the Schuremans of New Jersey, 1902, published by himself. Also, the Schuremans of New York, 1903, published by himself. Also, outline genealogies of several families, which were published in the N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record—Strang, Quackenbos, Zabriskie, Thomson, and Thompson.

He was a correspondent of a newspaper in Hagerstown, Md., in 1854-55, and the editor, Williams, was in danger of lynching, for publishing the letters. He was active in Republican politics, in the 18th, 15th, 9th, and 16th Wards, N. Y., 1855-63, and in Yonkers, 1863-71, and in the 7th Ward, Brooklyn, 1887-96; and he served as canvasser, registrar, and inspector of elections, in Brooklyn, for a series of years.

He was superintendent of the University Place Church Mission Sabbath School, 140 Sixth Avenue, N. Y., through the summer of 1858: deacon of the First Presbyterian Church, Yonkers, 1866-

67: elder, 1867-70, and 1871-73: trustee of that congregation, and clerk of the board, 1867-75: secretary of the Yonkers Branch Bible Association, 1866-75: a manager of the Westchester County Bible Society, 1868-75: trustee of the Classon Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, 1879-85, and clerk of the board, 1883-85.

His name, in Dutch, would be Rijkaard, with Rijk as a diminutive. He has thought, until recently, that Dirck or Dirk and Dick were equivalents; but he now holds Dirk to be equivalent to Dederick, derived from Theodorick. See Judge Dirck [292].

A likeness of him is here given.

APPENDIX.

A branch of the family has been found, but its connection with the main body has not been discovered. It began with:

1759. John Wynkoop, whose wife was Anne McLure. There is obscurity as to their children. One correspondent, Schuyler Colfax Wynkoop, grandson through David, wrote of six sons and two or three daughters, named David, Matthew, William, Jacob, Isaac, Katharine, and Mary; but did not indicate David as eldest. He subsequently named them as David; William, m. Jane Armagust; Matthew, m. Mellinger Keady or Heady; Margaret, m. John Davis; Elizabeth, m.——Owens; Martha, m.——Smith; and Isaac.

An other correspondent, Cora May Hagaman, niece to Schuyler, mentions Matthew, Helen, William David, Isaac, Hettie Ann, Margaret, Elizabeth, and Martha Jane.

David [1760] mentioned his father and mother, himself and brothers Matthew and William, and his uncle Isaac, and wrote that he had five sons and two daughters, living (March, 1891).

John was a shoemaker, and lived near Boiling Springs, Pa., where he died in 1840, because of a fracture of his leg.

Children of John and Anne Wynkoop:

1760. David, b. Apl. 1821, in Kingston, Cumberland Co., Penn.: m. Jan. 5, 1847, Sarah Anne Hoover, b. May 8, 1826. He removed, about 1850, to La Porte, Ind., where he was engaged in the brick business, and in planting. He removed to Brenner, Doniphan County, Kansas, about 1869, and continued as a planter, and now lives at Atchison.

Children of David and Sarah A. Wynkoop:

1761. Mary Anna: b. Nov. 15, 1848, Kingston, Penn.: m., Feb. 16, 1868, George Van Hagaman, and was living in La Porte, Ind., in 1891. Child:

1762. Cora May Hagaman: living in Kansas City, Mo., in 1895.

1763. Susanna R.

1764. John Hoover.
1765. David McLure, Rev.: engaged in mission work, at Phoenix, Arizona, under the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions: b. Oct. 24, 1859: m. Mary Anna Dolly, b. Jan. 13, 1862: they have no child. He was born at La Porte, Ind.: lived at Brenner, Kansas: was in Park College: kept store in Arizona, 1889-93; then entered the ministry: was married Dec. 25, 1882, at Parkville, Mo.
1766. Albert L.
1767. Schuyler Colfax.
1768. Samuel M.
1769. Matthew: m. Mellinger Keady or Heady.
1770. William: m. Jane Armagust.
1771. Isaac: lives at Loraine, Whitney Co., Ind., and has sons, William and Robert or Albert, and a daughter.
1772. Jacob (possibly.)
1773. Katharine “
1774. Mary “ 1775. Helen “
1776. Margaret: m. John Davis.
1777. Elizabeth: m. — Owens.
1778. Martha Jane: m. — Smith.
1779. Hettie Anne (possibly.)
1780. (This number canceled.)

1781. John Wynkoop: upon his estate administration was granted, in 1813, to his widow. He married, January 31, 1805, in Newtown, Bucks County, Penn., Catharine Suber, born in 1773, died in 1820, daughter of John and Catharine (Van Hoorn) Suber. They lived in the neighborhood of Newtown, and had no child. “Probably, John Wynkoop had been married before.” Catharine Suber had married, first, Isaiah Van Hoorn, by whom she had an only child, who was grandmother of R. Winder Johnson, of Philadelphia, from whom this account was received.

There was an other branch of the family, living, about the period 1830 to 1840, near the southwesterly corner of Elk County, Penn., on a tributary of Toby Run, which is a branch of the Clarion River, about five miles from the Run.

1782. — Wynkoop, the head of this branch, is described as a German, [Netherlander], from Philadelphia, and, before that, of some other place on the bank of the Delaware River. An account of that region, and, incidentally, of the Wynkoops there, was given by E. L. Stratton, of Piney Plains, Rhea County, Penn., in the Forest and Stream, June 19, 1879, in an article entitled, Primitive Pennsylvania. Mr. Stratton wrote, subsequently, to the compiler, as follows:

"The steep mountain sides rushed down to the water's edge, leaving no river bottom, except in small patches, which were used for cabins and gardens, by the settlers, who had reached the region in dugouts. The men were noted for gigantic size, and muscular strength, as well as for honesty and integrity. They were ever ready to help a friend, and equally ready to fight an enemy. Twice a year, they cut white pine logs, upon the mountain side, and sliding them to the stream, they made them into rafts, which were floated to Pittsburg, where they found ready sale. . . . Wynecoop was a man of large intellect, with considerable historic knowledge, and rare conversational powers. His cabin door was open to every stray hunter. He was not himself a hunter; and it was often a subject of much wonder and speculation to the writer, what motive could have induced him to isolate himself and family, in the heart of such solitary wilds. His sons were special favorites among the hunters, who found their way to the cabin." His wife was living; and there were two sons:

1783. Samuel: then about 13 years old.

1784. Joseph: then about 11 years old.

Still an other group of Wynkoops has been found, which the compiler has been unable to connect with the main body. They begin with:

1785. Cornelius Wynkoop: born in Bucks County, Penn., his mother a Vandike: died about 1850, in Northampton township, in the same county. He was of Warminster. He married, December 24, 1801, Elizabeth Murray, daughter of Stephen Murray, of Horsham, Montgomery County, Penn. He and his wife lived at Horsham, for a few years, and then removed to Northampton, where he died some 20 years later. Their first five children were baptized on one day, November 7, 1813, and a
