THE HOME CONCERT OF GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GIVEN FRIDAY

Initial Appearance at Rollins of Miss Marion Rous.

The Home Concert of the Girls' Glee Club, which took place yesterday evening at 8:15 in Knowles Hall, proved to be a decided success in spite of the fact that other attractions in the town divided the audience. Judging from the applause following each number of the program, the efforts of the girls and other participants were thoroughly appreciated.

The selections rendered by Miss Rous, who appeared before a Rollins audience for the first time, testified to her thorough musicianship and artistic feeling. The violin accompaniment of several members of the Conservatory faculty added greatly to the charm and artistic interpretation of the last number, "The Snow" (Edward Elgar).

The program was as follows:

1. Three flower songs: (a) The Clover, (b) The Yellow Daisy, (c) The Blue Bell (Mrs. H. H. A. Beach)—Glee Club.
2. (a) In Autumn (b) Spring Song (Oscar Weil)—Freida Siewert.
3. Reading, Mrs. Roland Barze.
4. (a) Chinese Flower Fete, (b) Indian Mountain Song (C. W. Cadman)—Glee Club.
5. (a) Capriccio (Scarloti), (b) Venice-Gondoliera (Liszt)—Miss Rous.
6. Behind the Lattice (Chadwick), (b) In May (Parker)—Glee Club.
7. Daybreak (Mabel Daniels)—Gertrude Hall.
8. Ballade, G minor (Chopin)—By Miss Rous.
9. The Snow (Elgar)—Glee Club.

JUNIORS CELEBRATE ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The college dininghall was the scene of a pretty and appropriate class table this morning when the class of 1918 celebrated the day of the Irish Saint. Eight juniors with their class officer, Dean Enyart, gathered at "The Dean's Table," gayly decked with shamrocks. Special "eats" consisting of French fried Irish potatoes and bacon, as well as "real" cream, were the additions to the regular breakfast menu. After the meal was under way the class president, "Jimie" Noxon, announced that Irish jokes would be in order and no English ones allowed. These, together with the singing of the Irish melody, "Come Back to Erin," and a few others, constituted the breakfast program.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ROLLINS COLLEGE CONVENED LAST TUESDAY

Most Encouraging Reports In History of Institution.

The annual meeting of the Trustees of Rollins College for the year 1917 was held in the President's office, Carnegie Hall, Tuesday, March 13, at 10 o'clock, with the Acting President, Dr. George Morgan Ward, presiding. The entire local membership, consisting of Dr. Ward, Mr. Charles H. Morse, Mr. William C. Comstock, Hon. W. R. O'Neal, Mr. E. H. Brewer, Mr. Harley B. Gibbs, Dr. C. R. Switzer, Judge J. M. Cheney and Mrs. Charles L. Smith, was present. For various reasons it was impossible for a number of the out-of-town trustees to be present, among them being Rev. E. P. Herrick of Cuba, Rev. J. C. Tims of Tampa, Rev. W. B. Y. Wilkie of Dunedin, Mr. A. L. Dommerich of New York, Rev. G. L. Hanscomb of Worcester and Rev. E. A. Waldo, who is now in California. Also there are at the present time three vacancies, two caused by the deaths of Hon. W. C. Temple and Rev. Mason Noble, and the resignation of Judge W. J. Wallace on account of failing health.

The reports of the year showed that it has been the most successful in many ways that Rollins has ever known, and point to a most prosperous future. The most amazing growth seems to be in the 40 per cent increase in the number of students, growing from 154 of last year to 216 at the present time, which will undoubtedly be enlarged before the year is closed. This registration is the heaviest since the organization of the institution.

In addition to the above advancement is to be added the splendid financial condition which the administration of Dr. Ward has given to college affairs. Not only have new and more efficient methods been observed during the current year, but every bill has been paid with regularity and a comfortable balance is now in the treasury. Such business methods will add very greatly to the reputation and credit of the College and place it in a position to take advantage of deals where large credit is involved in the purchasing of supplies.

The result of this progress and advancement caused a spirit of enthusiasm to pervade the meeting, and plans were discussed for greatly enlarging and improving the institution. These plans will necessarily demand a great deal of time in devising different projects, and the meeting was ad-

PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN THE GUEST OF DR. WARD.

William Southworth, Esq., Here for a Short Visit.

On his return trip from Palm Beach last Monday, Dr. Ward was accompanied by William Southworth, Esq., of Lowell, Mass., a life-long friend of the Ward family.

Mr. Southworth is a retired cotton manufacturer and he is well known throughout the business world as the man who built up the biggest manufacturing corporation in New England and the pioneer in introducing and establishing in the South cotton manufacturing plants. This corporation, of which Mr. Southworth was at the head for many years, has large mills in Lowell, Mass., and Rome, Ga.

Mr. Southworth has been staying for some time in Palm Beach, and expressed himself as being greatly surprised at the interior beauty of Florida and the excellent location of the College campus. He returned with Dr. Ward to Palm Beach yesterday.

He will be in town for two weeks for the further consideration of this topic.

Despite many circumstances which have seemed very discouraging throughout the year, the college has steadily advanced to a greater efficiency and influence, which emphasizes the fact that Florida's oldest institution of higher learning has a very great and commanding place in education, not only in Florida, but in this section of the country. Its success along non-sectarian lines of conduct is gradually giving it its proper place among the South's pioneers in Christian education.

DR. CLARK VISITS CAMPUS.

Dr. Francis E. Clark, the father of the Christian Endeavor movement which has spread all over the world, and president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, was on the campus for a short time last Saturday.

At one time President Ward was closely associated with Dr. Clark in the Christian Endeavor work, being the first secretary of the organization.

What will probably prove to be one of the most enjoyable musical events of the year will take place on the evening of March 28th, when Dr. Allen and Miss Rous will give a joint recital.

STUDENTS GIVE DR. WARD HEARTY WELCOME AT STATION

Cheers and Yells Greet Return of President.

President George Morgan Ward was welcomed on his long-looked-forward-to return of Monday evening by an enthusiastic gathering of representative students of Rollins College. The "five-fifty" was a "six-thirty" by the time of its arrival; but the happy students were little daunted by the extra wait and were all the more ready with their cheers and yells when the train finally did pull in. At the suggestion of the Junior Class the welcome meeting had been arranged and supper necessarily served some forty-five minutes earlier than its usual time, characteristic of Miss Hill's usual kindness in such matters. This welcome, coming, as it did, so spontaneously from the students, is evidence enough of that deep regard and esteem in which Rollins students hold their beloved Dr. Ward.

DELPHIC SOCIETY.

The Delphic Society held its semi-monthly meeting Wednesday evening at 6:45 in Knowles Hall.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Alfred J. Hanna. The secretary's report was read and approved. Wenonah Butterworth then presented the revised constitution, which, after a short discussion, was adopted. A brief discussion followed, after which the president gave the meeting over to the chairman of the program committee, Wenonah Butterworth.

The first number on the program was a solo by Robert Hutchinson, who in his usual pleasing way sang "Gray Days."

Miss Wilkins, in her attractive manner, congratulated the college upon the reorganization of the Delphic Society and spoke of the various ways in which it will be beneficial. Then, to the delight of all present, Miss Wilkins paid a tribute to Mr. Loring Augustus Chase, who was among the first residents of Winter Park and who was one of the first to select the present campus as a site for a college. She then told how Mr. Chase gave to Rollins our boys' dormitory, Chase Hall.

Prof. E. S. Palmer acted as critic in the absence of Miss Gladwin. His criticisms were very clever and pointed and his manner was such that even those who were adversely criticized could not feel resentful. The critic's report brought to a close the interesting program.

"Chapel Without Noise."

The conduct of Rollins students in the daily chapel exercises is certainly not open to adverse criticism. The morning's devotions have a sense of reverence and sincerity about them which is often lacking in religious services.

However, the impressiveness of the service would be greatly enhanced if each and every student took care not to disturb the last moments of the exercises. During the "Amen" of the closing hymn, the books are noisily closed and returned to their places and a general confusion results from the activity of the students who are gathering up textbooks, preparatory to leaving the auditorium.

The "Amen" is often the most beautiful part of a hymn. Let us sing it then with the same reverence with which we sing the rest of the hymn.

"Erin Go Bragh."

A popular legend relates that the Irish saint and his followers found themselves, one cold morning, on a mountain, without a fire to cook their breakfast or warm their frozen limbs. Unheeding their complaints, Patrick desired them to collect a pile of ice and snowballs; which having been done, he breathed upon it, and it instantaneously became a pleasant fire—a fire that long after served to point a poet's conceit in these lines: "Saint Patrick, as in legend told, The morning being very cold, In order to assuage the weather, Collected bits of ice together; Then gently breathed upon the pyre, When every fragment blazed on fire— Oh! If the saint had been so kind, As to have left the gift behind To such a lovelorn wretch as me, Who daily struggles to be free; I'd be content—content with part, I'd only ask to thaw the heart,

The frozen heart of Polly Roe."—The Book of Days.

The following announcement will be of interest to the faculty and students of Rollins College as well as to many alumni and former students. Miss Weston was a student here for several years and won a high place in the esteem of those who knew her:

"Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jehu Weston announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara, to Mr. James Stuart Evans, on Tuesday, March the 6th, 1917, Brooksville, Fla."

TODAY

Today is your day and mine; the only day we have; the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole we may not understand; but we are here to play it, and now is our time. This we know: It is a part of love, not cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness. This we know, for we have learned from sad experience that any other course of life leads toward decay and waste.—David Star Jordan in an exchange.

THIS MEANS YOU, TOO.

In the Neolithic Age.

Now, in a certain district there came together a group of persons, the youth of that region, to gain wisdom. And because these young men and maidens had each their varying tasks so that each knew of but happenings which befell the others, they agreed that those who had a fondness for news-gathering should band themselves together and should carve upon a tablet of stone all the happenings of that region and place this tablet where all might read, every seven days.

And because these news gatherers were few in number, they placed in a central spot a box, strongly bolted, but having a narrow opening wherein might be placed small tablets bearing the bits of news which might have gone unnoticed. Greatly did the young seekers of knowledge delight in reading of the records of the accomplishments of their friends; but after many days there began to be murmurings among them. One made complaint:

"There is no mention of that great distinction which my brother has won in the games."

Another answered: "And they have failed to notice the feast which I had for my friends upon a certain day."

At last one, wiser than the rest, asked them: "Did you place accounts of these things within the box provided for them?"

One of those who had complained looked amazed and said: "And is the box to be used for such as this? I thought it was designed to hold ancient jests, such as my grandfather learned from his grandfather before him."

But the other looked shamefaced and held his peace. And in the days thereafter when aught occurred which they desired their friends to know they placed the news within the box, together with such jests as made men laugh, because they were true happenings among their friends. And so all murmurings ceased.—The Tech Collegian.

EXCHANGES

The departure of snow does not mark a cessation of activities in college outing clubs, and in the case of Middlebury it should be but the beginning of the real work of the club. Permission has readily been granted to build cabins on the vast tract of Green Mountain lands owned by the college; and it is planned that the various hikes of the club this spring shall be in the nature of scouting trips to discover suitable sites for the cabins that are to come, and lay out definite trails to these spots.—The Middlebury Campus.

The Colby Voice, from New London, N. H., is a new exchange and a very interesting little paper. A dissertation on the "Gentle Art of Skiing" in this paper will be appreciated by those who have tried the art.

Photographs of the University battalion as a whole and of the companies, the band and the commissioned officers separately were taken Friday afternoon for The Seminole by E. H. Marable, who is in charge of the photographic work of the publication.—The Florida Alligator.

There will be given on the campus of the Florida State College for Women, in Tallahassee, Fla., a pageant on May 7. The college has secured Thomas Wood Stevens, president of the American Pageant Association, to write the book for this presentation. Mr. Stevens is well known as the author of the books of the great St. Louis and Newark Pageants. The production of the Florida Pageant will be according to his design and specifications as set forth in the book of the pageant as he composes it.—The Florida Flambeau.

Seniors at the University of Chicago have entered into a mustache-growing contest. Any Senior discouraged by the feeble progress of his hirsute plumage who applies a razor will be thrown into Lake Michigan by his bearded classmates. Senior co-eds will choose the victor in the contest at the end of the month. A loving cup, mustache style, will be the trophy.

As the result of a questionnaire sent to about seventy-five colleges in the United States, it has been found that the honor system is considered by nearly all of them to be a great improvement over the proctor system.—The Lawrentian.

We have as a new exchange this week the Argosy, from Provo, Utah.

It is to be regretted that the Rollins students did not have the opportunity of hearing Dr. Clark speak.

DR. WARD HONORED BY AMERICAN MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY.

President and Trustees Elect Him Member.

Dr. George Morgan Ward is in receipt of a special invitation from the president and trustees of the American Museum of Natural History to become a member of the organization. This society, which is, without doubt, the foremost of its kind in America, has its headquarters in New York at the beautiful and imposing Museum facing Central Park. Its purpose is "to advance public education; to promote exploration and research, and contribute to the extension and beauty of the collections in the exhibition halls."

It will be remembered that one of the prominent members of the organization is ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, whose specimens from Africa and South America add so materially to the Museum collections.

STEAK ROAST.

Last Saturday afternoon a jolly party of students, chaperoned by Miss Gonzales, enjoyed a steak roast on the picnic grounds just beyond The New Seminole.

After a most tempting supper, the canoes were reloaded, and the party enjoyed the moonlight as they paddled leisurely homeward.

Favorite songs, with mandolin accompaniment, vied with the victrola in furnishing musical entertainment for the picnickers.

Those composing the party were: Misses Gonzales, Geraldine and Antoinette Barbour, Katherine Gates, Marjorie Tallman, Messrs. Stanley Mansfield, William Giddings, Leonard Fletcher, Norman Fletcher and Robert Hutchinson.

Dean Ferguson, who has been in poor health for the past several weeks, entered Dr. McEwan's Sanitarium last Thursday, where she will receive treatment for a short time.

Dr. George M. Ward left for Palm Beach Thursday morning. He will return to Winter Park next Friday.

EDWIN McQUATERS.
10. Melodie Elegante (violin)---Dancla
LAURA BEGGS.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. met in the parlors of Cloverleaf on Tuesday evening at 6:45. The meeting was opened by Miss Vanetta Hall, who, after the Scripture reading and prayer, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Graham, of Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Graham in a very charming manner spoke to the young women of a woman's opportunities and took for an example the story of Ruth the Moite, reciting most expressively a portion of the first chapter of Ruth.

The most important lesson brought forth in the talk was "being true to one's training and being loyal to the Christ."

CANOE PICNIC.

Hope Townsley entertained with a picnic in honor of her parents on Thursday, March 8. Part of the guests left the boathouse at 3:30, and went out to the picnic grounds to get ready for the others, who were coming after the reception at the studio. Little Fletch successfully engineered a very interesting pirlieu and coffee that Mr. Townsley characterized as the best in Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Townsley both went on record to the effect that Rollins picnics are the only real picnics. The other guests were Miss Enyart, Miss Gonzales, Sadie Pellerin, Marjorie Tallman, Pat Richards, Wenonah Butterworth, Peg Hall, Kitty Gates, Coach Royal, Norman Fletcher, Smith Fletcher, Bob Stone, Leonard Fletcher, Bob Hutchinson and George Cutler. The party left the camp-fire just in time to reach the boathouse in time for study hall.

The members of the Spanish Club of the Polytechnic night school have shown their interest in the Castillian language by publishing an eight-page Spanish paper, El Mensaje. The purpose of this publication, as stated in its editorial column, is "to unite the lovers and students of the Spanish language and to awaken more interest in Pan-Americanism."—The Tech Collegian.

COLLEGE PARTY ENJOYS
THE "DEAD RIVER TRIP."

Last Monday a party of eighteen young people from the college and town, enjoyed a perfect day on what is known as the "Dead River Trip." Leaving at seven o'clock in the morning, they motored in four machines over splendid roads to Mt. Dora, where Captain Wilson of that town, awaited them in his new motor launch.

Captain Wilson, a northern man who has spent the last five years in Florida, is designer, builder, owner and operator of the "Ete," a very attractive little boat, with a cabin to accommodate a party of thirty people comfortably, a small deck and a broad, spreading top. Assisted by his mate, Mr. Bryce, Captain Wilson conducted his guests on one of his fourteen "possible" water trips. First they crossed Lake Dora and entered the "Little Oklawaha" river—a cypress canal with indescribable beauties. One of the party was heard to exclaim: "O! I feel as though I were living in a book! This is all so wonderful!" As the little boat rounded some of the "double S" bends, and cut the almost perfect cypress reflections in the lily-padded waters, white Japanese herons started up, and flocks of wild duck skipped over the river without welcome for the happy intruders. From the "Little Oklawaha," the "Ete" entered Lake Eustis, —a very large lake—and then the "Dead River," almost covered with lily pads, and alive with herons, duck and other wild life. The "Dead River" ran into Lake Harris and from here, Captain Wilson led the way into another awe-inspiring cypress canal, where the water was crystal and betrayed every fish in its depth. Here, "where a rude bridge arched the flood" anchor was dropped and preparations were made for the noon-day meal.

A long table was spread in the cabin, and the eighteen sat down to a bounty of "delicious eats." There were chicken, ham and cheese sandwiches—"hundreds of 'em"—devilled eggs in dozens; potato salad, delicious cakes, fudge, peanuts, crackers and cheese, and steaming hot coffee which Captain Wilson made in the "Ete's" little kitchen. Genuine "pep" manifested itself when the Rollins cheered the "Ete," and Captain Wilson's names rose in cheers of appreciation.

ATLANTA THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY TO HAVE ROLLINS PRESIDENT FOR COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER.

Dr. Ward to Speak in Atlanta, May 10th Next.

Dr. George Morgan Ward has consented to give the Commencement address before the graduating class of the Atlanta Theological Seminary on the afternoon of May 10th. It is understood that this year's graduating class is one of the largest in the history of the Seminary, and the Commencement exercises are to be exceptionally interesting.

The Atlanta Theological Seminary is the only Congregational School of Religion in the South, and has for many years been under the successful administration of Dr. E. Lyman Hood, who is a life-long friend of Dr. Ward's.

Clay Inman, a former Rollins student, who sang the title role in the "Elijah," which was rendered during the recent musical festival in Orlando, was greeting old friends on the campus last Saturday.

The home journey proved equally delightful to all.

All gathered "on top," to enjoy the glories of a red sunset on Lake Dora, which seemed to harmonize and impress deeper, the rosy memories of the day.

Due to enthusiastic accounts of the trip, enjoyed by one of the party during the Christmas holidays, Randolph Lake "got up" Monday's trip (and surely all went with success. Those invited were:

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Webster, who acted as the party's chaperones; Edith and Isabel Foley, Miss Margaret Sloane, Frieda and Elsa Siewert, Miss Mabel Allen, Elinor Emery and Geraldine, Vivian and Antoinette Barbour; also Mr. Halsted Caldwell, Ray Greene, Randolph Lake, George Roberts, Malcolm McGowan, Harold Hill, Melvin Wagner, Freddie Hanna and Joe Musselwhite.

After traveling seventy miles by land, and eighty on the water, the party, all but three, enjoyed Lioniel Barrymore in "The End of the Tour," at the Grand Theatre in Orlando, returning to Winter Park at nine o'clock at the end of an undeniably "perfect day."

DR. WARD TO PREACH BACCALAUREATE SERMON AT ZEPHYRHILLS.

Will Speak Before High School.

The invitation extended by Prof. M. J. Okerlund, B. S., principal of the Zephyrhills High School, to preach the baccalaureate sermon of the high school on April 29, has been accepted by Dr. George Morgan Ward.

Before going to Zephyrhills, Prof. Okerlund was a member of the Tampa High School Faculty, and it is interesting to note, in this connection, that one of the Rollins seniors, A. J. Hanna, took his first year English course under Prof. Okerlund during that time.

Smut: "I nearly broke my neck trying to sleep."

Hope: "Where were you roosting?"

Teacher: "What is the use of atmosphere?"

Pupil: "They use it to exercise aeroplanes in."

Marjorie: "I'm going to sweep my room, kid. You'd better advocate."

Harriet: "See my new rug?"

Eloise (looking around the ceiling): "Where?"

M.: "Did you see Conrad's mustache?"

Fletch: "Did I see it? I saw it when he was just starting it and it didn't have more than a dozen hairs—nine on each side!"

Dr. Hyde (to Smith Fletcher, in Latin): "Smith, I want you to come up to my house after supper, so we can get this Latin."

Smith: "I have something on to-night."

Dr. Hyde: "What's that?"

Smith: "I got to go to prayer meeting."

Miss Elder: "I'll bet you a hundred dollars that I'll never marry."

Mr. Easy: "I'll take you."

Miss Elder (rapturously): "Will you, really? Then I won't bet after all."—Boston Transcript.

"I am afraid it won't fit," she said, as she tried on the ring.

"That's funny," he mused. "I never had any trouble with it before."—Gargoyle.

"My daughter has obtained a position in a lawyer's office. She starts on the first."

"And in the meantime is she doing anything to fit herself for the work?"

"Yes, she is reading 'Bertha, the Beautiful Blonde Stenographer.'"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

We still insist that the letter "T," and not strong drink made Poe a poet.—Ex.

The student thought long and carefully before setting down the answer, and when he handed in his paper this is what the examiner read:

"If twenty men reap a field in eight hours," ran the question, "how long will it take fifteen men to reap the same field?"

"The field having already been reaped by the twenty men, could not be reaped a second time by the fifteen."—Sacred Heart Review.

Peg: "I'd like to give that man a little coaching."

Virga: "I think you have enough coach on your hands now."

Marie: "We catch all kinds of fish at home."

Leonard: "Well, we have all kinds of fish right here on this campus."

Marie: "Yes, but most of them are not worth catching."
