A.K.
NUCKOLS

It has been my wish to honor those who lost their lives in World War I for many years. I thank GOD that the opportunity arrived recently through this method. It is a tribute and a remembrance 80 years later... state by state.

I want to thank my friend, business partner and talented artist, JOHN HUNTER SENSER of Tazewell for his original, unique drawings and FORWARD to each book.

I also want to thank KAREN ELIZABETH HAMILTON of Kingsport, Tennessee who is a special friend and a teen artist.

Also, a special thank you to CLASSIC PRINTING of Tazewell for their advice and hard work.

A special thank you goes to CLARENCE CAIN of Tazewell for sharing the information which was recorded in 1920 in Washington D.C. by Soldiers Record Company. I chose to record it in another way.

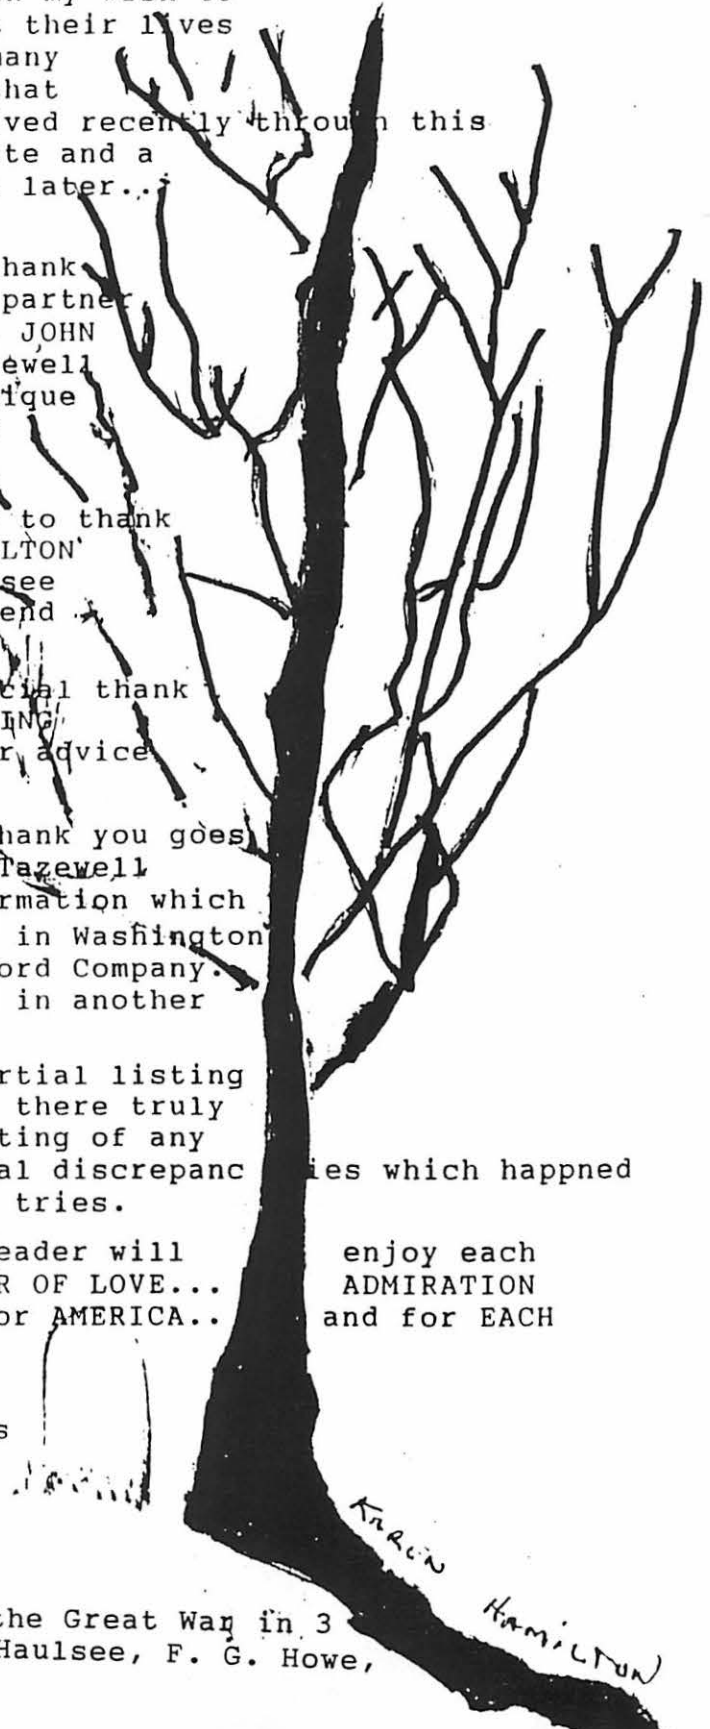

This is a partial listing and as far as I know there truly isn't a complete listing of any war. There are several discrepancies which happened despite how hard one tries.

I hope the reader will enjoy each book as it is a LABOR OF LOVE... ADMIRATION and for EACH OF US.

Ashley Nuckols

FORWARD

The "war to end all wars" began in the summer of 1914 between Austria-Hungary and Serbia, but the United States did not officially enter the hostilities--on the French/British side against the Germans--until April 6, 1917. Our American forces were not adequately trained, but their numbers alone gave heart to their allies. Nearly 1,000,000 American soldiers had reached France by the summer of 1918.

Our soldiers, marines and airmen were collectively called the American Expeditionary Force, or A.E.F. for short, and were led by General John J. Pershing. To the stirring melody of Over There, young Americans crossed the great wide ocean to fight, and die.

On April 9, 1918, the American 1st Division captured Cantigny, and on June 2, other American forces stopped the German crossings of the river at Chateau Thierry. Then on June 6, a brigade of U.S. Marines of the 2nd Division attacked German soldiers in the small forest a few miles northwest of Chateau Thierry called Belleau Wood. Fighting was bitter. After seizing their objective, the Marines were driven back-- but again they seized, and this time, held the woods at a cost of 8000 dead, wounded and missing.

One of the most important battles of the war was waged at Chateau Thierry itself on July 18, 1918, where a strong German advance (their last) was halted by American and French soldiers.

Our American airmen? They did themselves proud in their flimsy flying machines. Eddie Rickenbacker shot down 26 enemy planes to lead the way. Other pilots chipped in-- Field E. Kindley with 12 kills, Frank Hunter with 9, etc. Many Americans flew hazardous bombing and observation missions. Some airmen, of course, were shot down and captured.

Our American nurses and Red Cross workers bravely persevered, as did our sailors crossing and re-crossing the Atlantic while dodging German submarines.

In September the Americans and French defeated the Germans in the Argonne (northeast France), where our 1st Army suffered 117,000 killed and wounded.

At St. Mihiel Americans fought independently, and on the 12th of the same month, with the French, captured the salient there and took 16,000 prisoners, a great morale booster for the Allies.

Finally on November 6, the Americans and French reached Sedan in eastern France, and on November 11, 1918, Germany surrendered. A "long, long trail" was winding home.

The Allies and Germany had been engaged in almost three-and-a-half years of bloody trench warfare before the United States entered the war. We can be justly proud of our part in bringing that conflict to a victorious conclusion, and the important part our servicemen played-- at a cost of 116,506 dead, and 234,428 wounded.

November 11th at 11a.m.--the date and time of the armistice--was set aside to honor our men and women who lost their lives "over there" on the Western Front. Red poppies were worn on dresses and lapels, flowers reminiscent of those in faraway Flanders fields, and of the American blood shed there. Taps was sounded in every U.S. city and town, and rifle salutes fired. In 1954 the U.S. Congress re-named Armistice Day (Memorial Day), Veterans Day, thus honoring our dead and living veterans of the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam War and (since) the Gulf War. It is also appropriate on Veterans Day to honor those servicemen and women who played their parts in the long war against Communism (the Cold War) exclusive of Korea and Vietnam.

Peace and honor to all who served.
