For SPRING PLANTING

The Van Wert Iris Gardens

Lee R. Bonnewitz, Proprietor

VAN WERT, OHIO

Foreword

The first printing of our 36-page illustrated Iris catalog, having become exhausted, we are waiting until the information compiled by the officers of the American Iris Society becomes available, to revise and publish a new edition which we hope will be of interest to all Iris enthusiasts. We are also anxious that our new catalog shall have the benefit of personal observation of Dominion, Madame Gaudichau, Ambassadeur, Magnifica and twenty other newly imported varieties which are expected to bloom in our gardens during May and June, this year. And so instead of a catalog we are sending out at this time a price list, which we hope will be followed by a new catalog during the summer months.

THE CLASSES AND THE NAMES

There is still considerable uncertainty in the classification of Irises and in their nomenclature. Until the American Iris Society has completed along this line, the work that has been begun we can only assure our patrons that the utmost possible carefulness is exercised to send out plants true to name and description. Should mistakes, however, occur, the amount originally paid will be refunded.

THE TERMS OF SALE

Roots sent out in the spring are very much larger than those sent in the summer and autumn, because each plant has still attached to it, two, three or more young plants and so we ask that shipments may be made by express.

If you wish your shipment sent by Parcel Post, include 5 cents extra for each plant.

If you wish several plants of a variety, you may multiply the price of a single root by 10 to find the dozen price. As few as three plants may be ordered at the dozen rate.

Please send cash with order, as it saves bookkeeping expense.

No substitutions will be made, and money will be refunded for every plant which can not be furnished.

Dwarf Bearded Irises

In addition to forming fine edging for beds and borders most of these, particularly the Pumilas, are splendid plants for the rock garden. They usher in the season by beginning to bloom, with extraordinary profusion, and prettily, as a rule, early in April. Like all the Intermediates and the Tall Bearded they thrive in dry places, endure partial shade and like lime.
