1. Reference is made to paragraph 6, 2nd Ind., AG 319.1 BA, Headquarters I Corps, dated 22 January 1946.

2. Investigation has been made and information requested is submitted as follows:

a. Our current investigation confims statement in application regarding aircraft parts produced in this plant during the war which were as follows:

(1) Frames for planes - 6 per month.
(2) Wing girders - for 6 planes per month.

b. This plant converted 100%, this conversion however was to aircraft parts, not aircraft production. As stated in the application, this company, prior to the war was a producer of cotton and rayon piece goods. During the war this plant was one of those whose weaving activities were stopped by the Japanese Government. About a year prior to the termination of the war this company began the conversion of their plant to aircraft parts production. When the war ended their production of these parts was just getting under way as indicated in sub-paragraph a. above althought the plant was concerned only with aircraft parts as of August 15, 1945, its production was such that it could not be classed as a "principal producer" of aircraft.

c. As for the extent of conversion at present for production of peace time goods, they are now producing one hundred (100) prefabricated houses per month and the fixtures and hardware for same. By the end of 1946 and through 1947 they plan on producing three hundred (300) of these units per month. The present production is being increased as rapidly as the necessary additional material and equipment can be assembled.

d. The prefabricated houses produced by this company are the standard Home Ministry approved house. These houses are in great demand in all bombed cities. At present because of the greater demand, most of the

15. Remarks:-----
Since June 29, last year (1945) when the City of Okayama was bomb-shelled and the majority of our workshop equipments were burned down, we have done our best for their rehabilitation and after the lapse of ten months we have almost completed their repairing and setting-up, but we are greatly handicapped by the lack of electric power for which we have often negotiated with some companies concerned to be supplied and yet no installation done till now (wiring in the workshops already being set-up by us). As it is much to our regret, our business and industry are in the verge of breaking down.

1. Complying with paragraph 10, Operational Instructions No. 2, we enclose four (4) copies of permit and annex no. 1 issued to the above subject company. Permit issued in accordance with paragraph 4, Operational Instructions No. 2. Also enclosed four copies of their application.

2. With reference to the activities of this company in aircraft parts during wartime, they were a subcontractor of the Mitsubishi factory No. 7. The 42,000 pieces per month were miscellaneous small parts of wings and fuselage, fabricated in this plat and shipped to the Mitsubishi factory for assembly. The important punch presses and forming machines used in this work were loaned to the company by Mitsubishi. These machines have been removed from this plant and are now in storage at the Mitsubishi factory. The company has sufficient machinery of its own to carry out the proposed reconversion program. It is recommeded that this company not be included on the reparations listings. As indicated in paragraphs 5-b-2 and 15, this company is at present, as a sub-contractor for Mitsubishi factory No. 7, producing parts for aluminum clothing lockers for the Occupation Forces. The lockers are scheduled for completion 1 June 1946 at which time the Sanyo Company will start on the civilian commodities listed in the permit.

2. With reference to the aircraft engine parts referred to in paragraph 5-b-(1), these parts were produced as a subcontractor of Kawasaki Aircraft Industries Ltd., Osaka City, under the name of Toa Bearing Co. This plant was destroyed by bombing and shortly thereafter the plant was moved to its present location in Kojima cho. In February 1946 the company changed hands, was completely reorganized and renamed Koywa Engine Mfg. Co. Ltd. As indicated in the list of machinery in the application, there are a few of the Kawasaki Machine tools still in the possession of this new company. The company has been advised by Kawasaki that these machines are listed for reparations and arrangements have been made to have the machines guarded and protected against sabotage or deterioration. These arrangements have been verified by this Headquarters. The Kyowa Company has sufficient machine tools of their own to carry out the reconversion program as outlined in their application.
