

HAPPENINGS IN STATE

GOVERNOR AND PRISON BOARD MAKE TOUR OF HIGHWAY SYSTEM OF STATE

SACRAMENTO, August 15.—Governor W. D. Stephens, the members of the state prison board and of the highway commission, and the highway engineer, left Sacramento to-day for a five-day tour of the state highway system of the northwestern coast counties—paying particular attention to those sections of the state road built on the convict labor plan. The party will reach the state highway convict camp in Mendocino county, near the Humboldt line, to-morrow evening and Governor Stephens will eat and sleep that night under the same conditions as the convicts have been housed—he having determined on that plan in order to gain first-hand knowledge of the working conditions in the highway camps. A delegation of Humboldt county citizens will meet the party at the convict camp and the following day will escort the governor and other officials to Eureka, where a public reception will be held in the evening. Saturday Governor Stephens will visit Arcata and the state normal school there and in the evening will be the guest of the Eureka Elks' lodge. Sunday morning the party will leave Eureka for Crescent City, Del Norte county, travelling the route which soon is to be traversed by a new section of state highway and then will return to Eureka and travel over the Trinity-Humboldt state highway via Weaverville to the Sacramento valley and back to the state capital.

BERKELEY, Cal., August 15.—Dr. Bert Cady, veterinarian field agent of the federal department of agriculture, has moved his headquarters from El Centro, Imperial county, to Berkeley.

HAYFORK, Trinity County, Cal., August 15.—Plans for forming a new irrigation district in the Hayfork valley of Trinity county, are under discussion among the ranchers and land owners here and a request has been sent to the state engineering department asking that an engineer be sent to the valley to determine the feasibility of the scheme. The proposed district would embrace about 12,000 acres of exceedingly fertile land.

LIVE OAK, Sutter Co., Cal., August 15.—Mistakes seem to be pursuing Alvin Winstl through life. Three times in a year he has been near death from poisoning, each time the result of error. A year ago Winstl took a dose of croton oil by mistake and came near dying. Two months ago while suffering from neuralgia he took an overdose of a drug and for two days was unconscious. Last week Winstl's third mistake occurred when he ate berries of the deadly night shade thinking them edible fruit. He is in a hospital at Oroville, and although for a time his condition was serious, is expected to recover.

FAREWELL TO YOUNG LADIES

Miss Frances Payne was the hostess Wednesday afternoon at a charming little party given as a farewell to several young ladies of Glendale who are leaving soon for extended stays. The young ladies complimented by Miss Payne were Miss Dorothy Lee, who leaves this week for Berkeley, Miss Leota Snyder, who leaves for Arizona September first, and Eunice Jones, who is leaving soon for the East. The house was prettily decorated with a color scheme of red and green. Light refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. R. G. Payne. Those enjoying the afternoon were Miss Dorothy Lee, Miss Leota Snyder, Miss Eunice Jones, Miss Elsie Church, Miss Alice McCoy, Miss Gladys Justema, Miss Lillian Leppleman, Miss Helen Mosher, Miss Annetta Hughes and Miss Marion Bemis, of Los Angeles.

SOMETHING DECIDEDLY NEW

American people are always looking for something new, and surely they have found it in the new "Coast Model" Studebaker 6 which has just been placed on the motor car market. The Glendale Studebaker agency, Packer & Roman, is displaying one of these beautiful cars at their show rooms at the corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado street. This car may be honestly called classy. A brief description of its attractive features is given on page 4 of this issue.

SAVE EVENING NEWS FILES

Now is an excellent time to form the habit of saving all the copies of the Evening News. Many important war mentions are made in these papers and many names of local men who are going to the war are being published.

THE RIM OF THE WORLD

WHERE IT RAINS IN AUGUST IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—AT BIG BEAR LAKE

Though many Glendale people have made the round trip via San Bernardino, Little Bear Lake, the Coast road, Big Bear Lake, Redlands and back to Glendale, it still may interest some who are contemplating this most interesting motor journey to learn of road conditions as we found them August 11th to 13th. Leaving Glendale at 6 a. m. in company with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McElroy and their niece, we reached the Chobe camp at Little Bear Lake at 3 p. m. The road up the grades and "switchback" was very good and sufficiently wide for passing save along one stretch near the lake. The country is covered with fine pines, cedars and oaks, and carpeted with ferns. Sunday we spent in the vicinity of the lake. Leaving Little Bear and our good friends the McElroys, we started at 6 a. m. Monday for Big Bear via the Coast Route or "Rim of the World." First on the north and then on the south sides of the great mountains of the San Bernardino Range, the road winds in and out, up and down, a narrow ledge of roadway along the steep mountain side with wonderful views of the lesser mountains and the valleys stretching to the ocean. What clouds there were lay like a white blanket far below us. Upon the whole, the road is surprisingly good, with turnouts at sharp turns and narrow stretches. Though composed principally of "grades," we found only two which called for low gear and those were only a few hundred feet in length. You have to "blow your own horn" pretty constantly, however, both for your own safety as well as that of the other fellow. We met 11 machines on the road across but had no difficulty in passing. We frequently blessed our great pacifist, Henry Ford, for making the "Universal Car" so narrow and agile. Crossing the "summit" at 8000 feet, we soon got

GLENDALIANS JOY-RIDING

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce has just received a very attractive picture card from one of Glendale's best-known citizens, Mr. Charles D. Lusby, the affable cashier of the Glendale Savings Bank.

"Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 9, 1917.
"On board the 'Hendrick Hudson' busy viewing the Catskill Mountains and the beautiful Hudson. Will arrive at West Point in a little while; in N. Y. 4:30 p. m. It is a beautiful day and Mrs. Lusby and myself are enjoying every minute of it. Viewed beautiful Niagara Falls yesterday. Respectfully, C. D. Lusby."

On the reverse side of the card is a picture of that river palace, the Hendrick Hudson, on which this scribe also has enjoyed that idyllic boat ride between Albany and New York City.

It is very fine for the "effete East," but such scenery must seem quite tame compared with what can be found "out West." If eastern people generally realized the wonders of Nature to be seen in California, they would overcrowd railroads, the Panama Canal boats and the National auto highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Of course they would come to Glendale, the most beautiful city of the West.

BEACH OUTING

An impromptu beach party was given Tuesday when a number of Glendale friends motored down to Long Beach and enjoyed a day's outing and accompanied Miss Bessie Field home from that place, where she has been attending summer school. Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds and son James, Mrs. F. H. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clendenin and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Baltimore, who are visiting their son, Rev. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. L. McCurdy, were the party who enjoyed luncheon together at one of the cafeterias and later indulged in the various amusements offered at the beach.

If you have a relative or friend residing a distance from here to whom you would wish to send a Glendale paper, you will find that the Tri-City Progress weekly, published from the office of the Glendale Evening News, takes the lead as a very desirable weekly paper. Of course if you reside in Glendale you should be a subscriber for the daily, and undoubtedly you are.

EFFECT OF POPE'S PROPOSAL FEARED

EYES OF ALLIED OFFICIALS TURN ANXIOUSLY TOWARD RUSSIA AND AMERICA TO-DAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, August 15.—The eyes of officialdom of the Allies are turned toward Russia and America to-day, and not toward Rome. The principal concern is regarding how the Pope's peace proposal will be accepted by Russia. Apprehension is felt as to the effect the proposal will have on American Catholics. It is feared the appeal will again arouse the pro-peace element in Russia and may plunge the country into pro-German disorders just as Kerensky is beginning to restore discipline.

AMERICA'S WAR AIMS UNCHANGED

POPE'S PEACE PROPOSAL WILL LIKELY BE UNACCEPTABLE TO AMERICA AND HER ALLIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 15.—Nothing has occurred to change America's war aims, which are substantially those of France and England, it was announced at the State department to-day. Allied opinion, including the United States, is that the Pope's proposal is unacceptable in its present form. The president has not determined as to his full reply to the Pope's letter, although it is said he will refuse to accept the proposal. The belief is expressed that the Pope's peace move is of pro-Austrian origin.

GRAIN CORPORATION CREATED

FOOD ADMINISTRATION ORGANIZED WITH CAPITAL OF FIFTY MILLION TO BUY AND SELL GRAIN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 15.—The creation of a food administration grain corporation with $50,000,000 capital to conduct government wheat purchases and sales was officially announced this morning.

Representatives of the country's grain interests are due in Washington for a conference, at which time the food administration will explain its proposed program for wheat control, which includes licensing of elevators and the fixing of a price to be paid the wheat grower.

ROME DOES NOT FAVOR POPE'S PROPOSAL

ITALIAN OFFICIALS REGARD BENEDICT'S NOTE TO BELGIERENTS AS UNTIMELY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ROME, August 15.—Italian officials regard with disfavor the initiative taken by the Pope in putting forth his peace proposal. It is regarded as especially untimely.

KING GEORGE REVIEWS SAMMIES

LONDON GOES WILD WITH ENTHUSIASM AS UNITED STATES SOLDIERS MARCH THROUGH CITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, August 15.—American troops marching through the streets of London fired the city with wild enthusiasm. Ambassador Page reviewed the troops as they passed the embassy and King George reviewed them as they swung past Buckingham Palace.

U. S. USES PRO-GERMAN METHODS

EMERGENCY COMMITTEE TAKES STEPS TO TRANSFORM LARGE CABBAGE CROP INTO SAUER-KRAUT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 15.—Uncle Sam has been forced to employ pro-German methods to save America's cabbage crop. The emergency bureau of the department of agriculture to-day reported that tremendous rains have given us a whopper cabbage crop and that unless thousands of heads of it are at once turned into sauerkraut it will be lost. Despite the fact that we are at war with Germany, sauer-kraut is so popular in this country that the price has taken a jump.

RED CROSS WORKING TO LOCATE BRITISH MISSING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, August 15.—Of the thousands of British families who have waited in dread anxiety for final news of relatives posted as "Missing," few have known how much effort was being made to relieve their fears. The fact that the army continues a large corps of men who spend all their time searching for missing men is not generally known. These searchers, now an important branch of the Red Cross, are the result of a visit paid to France by Lord Robert Cecil in the early days of the war. He had gone to seek for news of a friend among comrades who had taken part in the engagement that resulted in the friend's name being listed among the missing. It occurred to him then that there were thousands of men and women at home as anxious as he, but unable to make such a personal investigation.

DR. HARROWER'S BOOK

"THE INTERNAL SECRETIONS IN PRACTICAL MEDICINE" JUST FROM PRESS

Among the books that will soon find a place on the library shelves of physicians who are keeping abreast of the times in medical research is "The Internal Secretions in Practical Medicine," by Henry R. Harrower, M.D., of Glendale, Cal.; Fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine, London; Sometime Professor of Clinical Diagnosis, Loyola University, Chicago; Member of the American Medical Editors' Association, etc.

Dr. Harrower, who is well known for his magnificent voice and his active participation in the work of the local Red Cross, is deeply interested in the study of the internal secretions, and his latest work reveals a thorough understanding of the purposes and functions of these glands and their importance in many common disorders.

The book consists of a number of papers and addresses on the subject which have been published in leading medical journals in the United States and Great Britain or read before medical conventions. These essays were collected and published in book form in response to a demand from physicians who had heard or read one or more of the papers, to have them available in permanent form.

From the nature of the book it may not be so complete as Dr. Harrower's earlier work, "Practical Hormone Therapy," for this other book was written with the thought of its being published as a harmonious whole.

Dr. Harrower's interest in the subject of which he has written so extensively led to his active participation in the organization of a society made up of more than five hundred prominent physicians in this country and abroad, known as "The Association for the Study of the Internal Secretions." As secretary of this association Dr. Harrower has been editor of the quarterly organ of the society, "Endocrinology," a journal of pretentious proportions, also of a smaller monthly organization publication, both of which are published from the office of the Glendale Evening News and have the doctor's personal supervision.

Dr. Harrower was led to publish his latest book through the encouragement of physicians of note at widely separated points and this fact alone is proof of the worth of the text. As to the mechanical work, this was done in the plant of the Glendale Evening News and we feel justified in being proud that although we are not accustomed to publishing medical books, Dr. Harrower considered us equal to the emergency after having been made thoroughly familiar with our facilities in the two years that we have been doing his printing.

Wait, LeNoir Church, whose literary abilities have become well known here, has been asked to review this book and he may do so later.

"PATRIOTIC MUSIC"

Last week the News contained an article from the secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce asking if some one would give a "music box" for the entertainment of our 21st company of boys in khaki, who would be quartered on the coast in camp for about six weeks, the request being made through Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, representing a number of ladies interested in making our soldiers as comfortable as may be. The following card just received shows what quick returns may follow an attractive ad in the Glendale News.

"Avalon, Catalina Island, Monday, Aug. 13, 1917.

Dear Mr. Church:
I tried to get you on the 'phone before leaving to say that through the article written by you in the Glendale News we have been given a Victor machine for our 21st Co. by Mrs. Jesse Joseph. Fine one, in excellent condition. Will you kindly make public announcement of the fact? With many thanks. Mrs. Packer."

DEATH OF MRS. HARRY ROBINSON

The many friends of Mrs. Harry Robinson will be grieved to learn that she passed from this life this Wednesday, morning at her home in Kansas. Until about last February, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and three-year-old son resided on Cedar street, and upon moving from Glendale they went to Kansas, the former home of Mrs. Robinson. The deceased was about thirty years of age.

APPEAL FOR BOOKS

GLENDALE LIBRARY CO-OPERATES WITH AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

The American Library Association has been asked by the War Department to assume responsibility for providing adequate library facilities in all cantonments and training camps, and the Glendale Library is co-operating with the National association along this line.

In addition to the 32 regular cantonments and National Guard training camps, there are many isolated groups of guards, and several large camps, such as Jefferson Barracks and Fort Snelling. Thousands of books are needed at once to meet the requirements of officers and men at all of these points.

It is as important to our men that they be given intellectual and moral stimulus as to be given physical care. The experience of the men in the trenches, and the service which both our allies and the Germans have rendered through the collection of books, should urge us to most earnest efforts in this direction.

Poorly printed, uninteresting, obviously out-of-date books are not worth shipping to the men. Type should be good and clear and the books in fair condition.

Mrs. Danford is ready to advise any one who cares to make a contribution, as to the kind of literature required. The donor may write his name and address in the book, which will add a personal element to the gift that will make it more appreciated.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIAL

While the occasion was largely social, yet a deep spirit of earnestness pervaded the entire assemblage of the young folks who gathered at the First Methodist church on Tuesday evening. The occasion was a joint social of all the young people's societies connected with the various churches of the San Fernando Valley District. There were young people from Glendale, Casa Verugo, Tropic and Eagle Rock. The serious thought uppermost in their minds on Tuesday evening was the preparation on the part of the young people especially for the coming Sunday campaign. The speaker of the evening, Mr. Stanley of the Bible Institute, emphasized that fact.

A very enjoyable program was given. An orchestra under the direction of Miss Frances Payne rendered the several selections in a very creditable manner, as the musicians were young people from the various organizations and were not accustomed to playing together. Those composing this "called orchestra" were Miss Frances Payne, Director; violins: Faith Tarling, Forrest Jordan, Lois Murphy and Isaiah Sinclair; cornet, L. E. Wilber; clarinet, Mr. Weaver; cello, Morris Caruthers; double bass, Miss Bullard; piano, Mrs. L. E. Wilber. The following numbers were given: Sweet Summer Rose, Hungarian Dance, Nearer my God to Thee, Salut D'Amour, National Emblem March.

A piano selection from Gounod's "Faust" was given by a tiny little pianist, Miss Helen Balkena, of Los Angeles. A reading, "The Story of Patsy," was given by Miss Winnie Sinclair. Miss May Wright gave two readings, "My Mandy" and "A Long Engagement." A tenor solo, "It was for me," Gounod, by Mr. Williamson of the Bible Institute, and an address by Frank Stanley, also of the Bible Institute, closed the program, which was given in the large Sunday School auditorium.

Later the audience adjourned to the social hall, where games were enjoyed and light refreshments were served.

This meeting proved such a success in every way that it is probably the forerunner of many more of the same kind.

NEBRASKA STORM

Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman writes from York, Nebraska, where she is visiting her sister, Mrs. Shidler, of the terrible storm of last week. It was a terrible wind and hail storm and they all took refuge in the cyclone cellar. Hailstones as large as tennis balls fell and nearly every window in town was broken, including the large windows in the churches. Dr. Shidler, Mrs. Bosserman's brother-in-law, was operating on a patient at the local hospital when the skylight was broken in. The nurses held a sheet up to protect the patient until a removal to another room was accomplished. Mrs. Bosserman says California is good enough for her.

FINANCING THE WAR

The United States is financing itself in this war by loans and taxes. It obtains funds from the people, some by taxation and some by the sale of bonds, and then it goes into the markets and buys from the people what it needs. The people supply the government with money and the government with this money buys from the people what it needs for the war.

There are three sources from which the United States can draw the sinews of war. First is the fixed property of the nation. This represents our farms, factories, mines, railways and all other property including accumulated savings. From the corpus or body of none of these, except the accumulated savings, will the government obtain war funds, and even from the accumulated savings it will draw a relatively small portion. These accumulated savings are invested in industries and business which are necessary to the country's welfare and prosperity and it is only that portion of these savings which are seeking investment that the government will receive in exchange for bonds.

The second and the great source from which the government is to derive its war fund is the wealth produced during the war. Part of this it will obtain by taxation and part in exchange, for bonds. The annual production of the United States, from its farms, mines, factories, and other sources, amounts to fifty billion dollars a year and out of this fifty billion dollars will come the funds, part from taxes and part from the sale of bonds, with which the United States will finance itself during this war.

By taxation this generation will pay its portion of the cost of the war. By the sale of bonds the next generation is called upon to pay its portion, and this last portion will be paid from the wealth production after the war.

By this method the capital of the country, its sources of income and wealth, are unimpaired. It is only the yearly increment of this property that is called upon to bear a portion of the cost of the war. Thus despite the waste of war and the destruction of property involved the country may emerge from the conflict stronger financially, more efficient and even wealthier than before. What the government receives it receives from the people without impairing the sources of wealth of the country, and passes it back to the people in exchange for the productions of the country. It is in a way only a shifting of credits.

The government collects the current taxes and by means of bonds anticipates taxes of the years to come, and all the money thus acquired passes back into the hands of the tax-payers.

The above is a presentation of the money side of the war question, but what about the thousands of men who suffer and die on the battlefield? The item of suffering and sorrow caused by death is the most important one.

ASSERT YOURSELF

If you don't know what is in yourself, nobody else will ever know it. But as soon as you recognize that you have considerable ability, that moment your ability sticks out.

Assert yourself.

Napoleon was scare more than a boy when he took command of the army of Italy. His soldiers almost mistrusted him, but the moment that he began to give his orders, concisely and straightforwardly, every man enthusiastically followed his lead. And battle after battle was won. For a master mind was at the helm.

Assert yourself.

The inactive mind is the mind asleep, but the active mind is the mind asserting itself. Just the minute you begin to systematically organize the forces within you and put a definite purpose in front of them, that minute you assert yourself, and the world recognizes in you a man or woman of initiative, of action, and of doing.

Assert yourself.

You have yourself largely to blame if you stand complainingly to-day over your lot. Assert yourself, demand recognition. And the happiness that is sure to come over you from the secret knowledge that you are going forward is sure to make you masterful and dominating.

Assert yourself.—George Matthew Adams.

WOMEN HELP WAR WORK

American women are rallying superbly to the support of the nation in prosecuting the war. Club women, in their organized capacity, have pledged their co-operation. Teachers, in national convention, have passed a vote of confidence in the government and have promised support. The national convention of business women, in session at Chicago, is bending its energies toward helpfulness in pushing the war to victory.

Women, in truth, are doing greater things than ever before to assist in winning a war for this country. Besides all the organized activities; besides the works of mercy; besides the pledges of material aid, there is the magnificent courage and supreme sacrifice by wives and mothers in sending into the army and the navy their loved ones to fight the nation's battles.—Whittier News.

The Glendale Evening News should be delivered at your home by the carrier not later than 4:30 p. m. every day except Sunday, and usually much earlier than that time. Subscribers who have not received their paper at 4:30 o'clock, should notify the office by phone: Glendale 132, Home 2401.

A PLEA FOR SAVING FOODSTUFFS

When armies clash in maddened crash and cruel combat rages; when liquid fire makes hellish pyre undreamed in previous ages; 'tis then we learn how passions burn with fury past all measure; how bitter strife makes human life a thing no man may treasure. When submarines work grievous scenes along the peaceful water, 'tis time for all to meet the call to help to end the slaughter. The summons, then, to all the men and women of the nation bids them to heed the urgent need to obviate starvation. For surely we can plainly see our fighting force must languish if we neglect to well protect our boys from famine's anguish. No troops can fight with ready might on food supply deficient, for hunger's pang has poisoned fang that makes men inefficient. An army corps can do no more than offer true reflection of how it's led and how it's fed—and hunger brings dejection. Our greatest need is that we feed our soldiers and our sailors and if we do we'll find it true that they will fight like nailers. It's up to us, with little fuss, to feed all France and Russia and help them win the fight they're in with Austria and Prussia. All forms of waste must be effaced, our foodstuffs we must cherish, if we intend to be the friend of those who else would perish. From day to day throw none away—save everything worth saving; take every care to do your share to banish hunger's craving. A plan to try is can or dry the products of your garden that you may reap of foodstuffs cheap ere winter prices harden. So try to plan to dry or can whatever you are able and you will find your store room lined with treasures for your table. It's very plain we cannot gain the fight for world-wide freedom unless we sound, the country 'round, the Battle Cry of Feed'em.

EVERYBODY LIKES APPLE BUTTER

All who like apple butter stand up! It is a favorite dish for young and old alike and the right constituency is the point in making it, says to-day's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington, D. C.

The right proportion of apples and sweet or sterilized cider may be kept in mind. Take five gallons of cider and boil it down one half, skimming occasionally during boiling. Wash, pare, quarter and core apples and use in proportion of two parts apples to one part boiled cider. Boil slowly for four to six hours, stirring often to prevent burning. When the butter is two-thirds done, add about a pound of brown sugar to the gallon and spice to taste. If the apples are a little over-ripe, add lemon or vinegar to give acid taste. Apple butter should be stored in sterilized receptacles and the tops sealed or covered with paraffin paper or cloth.

Another method of making apple butter is to make a smooth sauce of the apples before adding to the boiled cider and use in the same proportion as above. This method requires about three hours of cooking after the addition of the apples.

A third method requires no cider. Firm, tart apples are allowed to simmer slowly for along time until of the right consistency. When nearly done a pound of brown sugar is added for each gallon and the butter is spiced to taste.

The Commission for the final drive to save the food of the nation will award $5,000 in prizes to those who win awards at the war garden exhibitions that will be held throughout the country, Charles Lathrop Pack, the president, and P. Ridsdale, secretary of the commission, are now working out details and ask that all war garden committees and those in charge of the exhibitions write to the commission at 210 Maryland building, Washington, D. C., giving a brief outline of their plan of awards.

CURBING NEUTRALS

Our government is said to have learned that Sweden shipped 9,000,000 tons of iron ore to Germany during the last two years. We may assume that a good share of the food that supported the Swedish mining industry came from this country. If we shut off that food, the miners will have to become farmers. Agriculture may not be as profitable as mining, but we are engaged in a great military undertaking, and we cannot afford to allow the question of Sweden's profits to stand in the way of our military aims. We have used Sweden as an example, but the same thing has been going on in the other neutral nations—Norway, Denmark, Switzerland and Holland. We believe these countries can make themselves largely self-supporting. We do not believe they are entitled to special consideration as long as they continue to trade with Germany. Our production of food and munitions is hardly adequate to supply ourselves and our allies. Under these circumstances we cannot afford to pass our rations around to the neutral countries except in return for definite military benefits.—Pomona (Cal.) Progress.

There will not be much food conservation in the United States unless there is less idle conversation in Congress.

Sweden sells iron to Germany and Germany gives it back in the form of torpedoes that sink Swedish ships.

Someone with a gift for picturesque description has aptly named the sub-chasers "the cavalry of the seas."

The baseball player on the firing line will not be expected to make any home runs.

After the war the baseball umpire will be the world's only exponent of dictatorial rule.

Even Dr. Sun does not seem to be throwing much light on the latest Chinese problem.

The Hessian fly also comes under the head of "undesirable alien."

THE BACHELOR

It isn't quite certain whether bachelors are on the increase or not. Apparently people are still getting married, judging from the number of divorces; but it has been stated that owing to the cost of living, large numbers of young men are withholding themselves from the pleasure of repelling milliners and dressmakers all the rest of their lives.

The only habitat of the bachelor is in cities, where he congregates in large numbers. As a matter of fact, he is the only logical candidate for happiness. It is necessary for him to exercise a certain measure of self-control, otherwise he becomes too selfish and defeats his very purpose. On the other hand, he can consort with married people and enjoy practically all of the advantages of married life without any of its responsibilities.

The opinion of a bachelor about married life and about the raising of children is much more accurate and valuable than the opinion of married people themselves, who are usually prejudiced and incapable of a correct judgment where their own interests are too much involved. The bachelor looks at the whole affair from a perfectly safe standpoint and his conclusions are usually correct. His opinion, for example, about the spoiled child, and about what ought to be done with that spoiled child, is much more convincing than the statement of the parent that if he were in their place he would do just what they are doing.

It is a mistake, however, to suppose that bachelors are necessarily in easier circumstances than their married friends. Generally speaking, the larger the income of a bachelor, the more in debt he is, or the more he is pressed by his creditors. Furthermore, it is much more difficult for a bachelor in this condition to extricate himself from it, because he cannot drag away from his surroundings or his friends as easily as married people can when they find themselves living too highly. Married people are sufficient unto themselves, and having resources within themselves, can get along very easily in reduced circumstances; but the bachelor's roots extend mostly outside of his own domicile, in consequence of which his faults, or his extravagances, are much more likely to be incurable.

A bachelor is known by the company he keeps out of. He is not likely to be so lonesome as a married man. And then again when he falls ill he can select the kind of a trained nurse that he wants to wait upon him, whereas the married man has to put up with the kind of a nurse his wife selects for him.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mr. C. L. Buck was the recipient of a most delightful surprise planned by loving daughters in honor of his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary on Thursday at his home, 1421 Valley View Road. About twenty-eight guests, largely relatives and old army comrades, enjoyed a bountiful luncheon, laid on a table spread under the pergola, surrounded by the fragrance of lemon trees and flowering shrubs and vines. Beautiful pink carnations centered the table and a huge cake with the inscription giving the number of years of the honored member of the party was a prominent feature.

At the close of the luncheon Mr. Buck expressed his appreciation in a few remarks appropriate to the occasion, which were responded to by Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Enyeart and Mrs. R. D. Goss.

One of the interesting features to the younger generation was the reminiscences of fifty years ago, which several of the party were able to recall. A number of useful as well as humorous gifts were presented to Mr. Buck by the guests, who were Mrs. H. J. Coger, Edwin, Hazel and Doris Coger, Miss Bertha Buck, Mrs. Eva Hartley, Mrs. Wilson Bennett, Sumner Bennett, Mrs. Ralph Hartley, Mrs. Sophia Burns and Mrs. V. E. Draper of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Enyeart, Huntington Park, Mrs. Sala Chamberlain and Mrs. May Davidson, Watts, J. E. Barr and W. H. Hardenberg, Casa Verdugo, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Burket, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Goss and Phillip, William and Edith Goss.

VIOLATION OF LAW

The Government postoffice rules deny a publisher the right of the advantages of second-class mailing rates on papers sent to subscribers who do not pay a subscription price for the paper. The government also denies a publisher the right to second-class mail advantages when the subscriber is a year or more in arrears in the payment of his subscription.

The law on the above points is not enforced as rigidly as it should be, but that is no excuse for intelligent people violating the law.

BRITISH AMBULANCE SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the British Ambulance Society was held Monday afternoon at headquarters. There was a splendid attendance. The greater part of the afternoon was spent in rearranging the room and putting in place the flags and other decorations. During the preceding week the room had been redecorated, the Bank of Glendale furnishing the material and W. H. Spink donating his work in redecorating the walls, for all of which the society is deeply grateful. New tables have been put in place and the ladies are ready for earnest work. The purchasing committee, Mrs. England and Mrs. Bannock, have recently bought a large quantity of material and nothing stands in the way of the society accomplishing a great amount of work in the coming weeks. It has been decided not to resume the teas until more of the members return from their summer vacation.

our first view of Big Bear and, much to our surprise, found the roads muddy from a heavy rain Saturday p. m. last. Frequent rains have fallen in this region during the past two weeks. The elevation of this lake is 6800 feet, 1800 feet higher than Little Bear. As the heavy timber comes down to the lake shore, the scenery seemed to us much finer than at the smaller lake.

The price of gasoline is 35 cents. Provisions are reasonable. A cabin costs $2 per day; or if you must have the best, go to Knights or Pine Knot at $3.50 per day for housing and meals. Knight's camp is a fine lot of big, medium and small "cabins," all designed with the best of good taste. We regretted a certain matter prevented our going there. Fishing just now is a dream, a reality only to one or two of the native experts.

Leaving at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, we entered the 9:30 a. m. "control" established over a 13-mile stretch of the Mill Creek Canyon road to Redlands. At intervals of 3 hours, beginning at 6:30 a. m. all out-going traffic must start, while no "in" traffic is allowed to begin the journey until one and a half hours later. This is a great help in "safety first," as it prevents vehicles meeting at the large number of very sharp turns of the road or at other points where the road is too narrow for passing. If this "controlled road" were extended the entire distance from Big Bear to the present control limits, it would make the trip much more enjoyable, as a high divide, 7800 feet, is encountered soon after leaving the lake, with heavy grades and many blind alleys. We were fortunate in meeting comparatively few cars in this section, though twice obliged to back up to enable cars to pass. The controlled section is certainly a marvelous piece of road-building and when viewed from the lower end has the appearance of a long series of diagonal gashes cut in the precipitous face of the huge mountain. We thought the stretch of road from Big Bear to the lower control by far the most difficult portion of the entire trip, which is so widely advertised as "The Rim of the World 101 mile drive." From the lower control to Redlands and back to Glendale over the Foothill Boulevard is very plain sailing. Though it will be seen that a drive such as this requires good pulling power in the motor, good brakes on the rear axle and a steady hand at the steering wheel, the game is well worth the candle and will leave many pleasant thoughts of rushing streams, forests of pine trees and magnificent views of the mountains, valleys and plains of Southern California.

WOMEN HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING

The executive board of the Women's Committee County Counsel of Defense held an important meeting at the headquarters, 359 Court House, yesterday afternoon, the chairman, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, presiding.

A report from the special committee appointed to investigate conditions surrounding women who are filling the positions left vacant by enlisted men covered much interesting data on the employment bureaus, both private and municipal. The latter charges no fee and has a constant demand for all kinds of help, including clerical, housemaids and other lines. It accepts applications and fills positions for out of town applicants as well as those from Los Angeles. The members of this committee are Mrs. Martha W. Law, Mrs. Frederick W. Houser and Mrs. M. E. Jenkins. The committees appointed at yesterday's meeting included one on a speakers' bureau with Mrs. Force Parker as chairman, and one on collecting and compiling data for the bureau with the following members: Mrs. Lloyd W. Harmon, Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, Los Angeles, and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Glendale. The executive board is composed of the following well-known women: Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman, Mrs. L. W. Harmon, Mrs. M. E. Jenkins, Mrs. Frederick W. Houser, Mrs. Clarence Van Graham and Mrs. Martha W. Law. The chairman, Dr. Russell, is a member of the County Council of Defense appointed by the Governor some months ago.

The incorporated cities of the county have been organized with an executive committee representing the women's organizations of each locality. The local committee has, as its chairman, Mrs. A. A. Barton, who has long been identified as a member of the food production and conservation committee.

MRS. HALL TALKS

The West Glendale W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. O. E. Jones, 115 West Tenth street, Tuesday afternoon. On account of the absence of Mrs. Cook, the devotional services were led by Mrs. Maude Smith. After the business was concluded, Mrs. Hall, a missionary recently returned from China, gave a very interesting talk on the customs of that country. She showed a number of trinkets made by the Chinese and one of the costumes worn by the Chinese women. After the close of the meeting refreshments were served and a short social time enjoyed.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mabel, Hohokus, N. J.—No, Mabel, succotash cannot be raised simply by planting the bean and the corn in the same row and allowing nature to take its course. Nor is the method of planting the can, alone, to be recommended. The best results are attained by grafting. Plant the bean as early as possible; when the vine has come well up cut a slit in the stalk and insert corn seed. Two weeks later plant the top of a (sterilized) can in the same hill. In due time the upper branches of the bean tree will fruit into rich succotash, the lower limbs bearing open cans. The first frost drops the fruit into the can, which then seals itself and is ripe for harvest.

W. J. B., East 187th street.—The object in cutting out the eyes of the potato is to blind it; to keep it from seeing what you are doing. Otherwise its struggles are difficult to control. Perhaps the ordinary method of stunning it first, by a sharp blow, is rather brutal. Chloroform is doubtless better, but somewhat expensive. Jane, Joralemon Street, Brooklyn.—I do not know any kind of beet that will do well in a soil of gravel six inches deep over a concrete subsoil. Try parsnips instead; if they fail the loss is trifling, as they aren't worth anything anyhow.

D. M., Port Washington.—Radishes are the easiest and safest crop for a small child to raise. A 5c packet will grow enough for a township.—Exchange.

A PROPER QUESTION

"Dearie, we ought to plant some pieplant."

"To be sure. And what sort of pies shall we raise?"

"While we are canning," suggests a paragon, "I wish the boss would can the office boy. It would be reasonable and it seems too good an opportunity to be missed."

WAR WORRIES WORN WELL BY WILSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—If you have pictured President Wilson careworn, haggard and breaking under the strain of his tremendous war problems, change the portrait. It's way wrong.

On one of his unannounced strolls from the White House to Secretary Baker's office in the State, War and Navy building, he gave press men an opportunity for a good close-up of Woodrow Wilson in war mood.

Swinging out from Baker's room and down the tiled corridor, the President had more the manner of a man who had just concluded a pleasant chat with an old crony about nothing in particular, than of a nation's leader who had just discussed a vital world problem whose solution he must find.

Clad in snowy linen coat and trousers, a flat-topped, broad-brimmed straw hat set squarely on his head, the President moved at a brisk pace toward the stairway. There was spring in his step. His smile was genial, his cheeks ruddy with the glow of health.

Realizing the vital importance of keeping himself fit, the President is exceedingly careful to play with his work. Early every morning, long before most Washingtonians are so much as turning over for their pre-getting-up nap, the President is out in his knickerbockers and off around the golf course. Mrs. Wilson usually accompanies him. A couple of hours later they may be seen rolling into the White House grounds in one of the big cars with the golden spread eagles in a circle on the door panels.

Golf, walking and other mild forms of exercise take care of the President's physical health. For mental diversion and rest he turns from the problems of war to intricate, complex and quite thrilling detective stories.

Most of his newspaper reading is done for him by Secretary Tumulty. Thousands of papers from all over the country are carefully gone over for news of interest to the White House; and whatever is deemed sufficiently important to bring to the President's personal attention he gets in the form of pasted up clippings at the proper time. He has cares and worries and burdens galore, has the President, but he isn't breaking down under them.

SECRETARIES FOR SAMMIES

WASHINGTON, August 15.—Every Sammy in France will have a secretary to write letters to his folks if he is too badly wounded or too busy swatting the Boches to do it himself.

Adjutant General McCain has arranged the same secretariat system for the first 687,000 draft Sammies in cantonment camps in this country this fall. And for the militiamen, likewise.

"Our plan to enable friends and relatives of American soldiers to get prompt information as to their welfare," said General McCain today, "will require, for every million men, about 1200 officers, enlisted men and field clerks." World headquarters for this organization, which is already at work, will be in the State, War and Navy building in Washington. It is known officially as "The Statistical Division."

In addition to writing letters and postcards, the duties of members of the division will include: Gathering information concerning individuals at general, divisional, regimental and company headquarters, field and base hospitals, ports of embarkation and camps in this country where troops are mobilized and trained.

Handling inquiries concerning prisoners of war; both German prisoners in America and American prisoners in Germany. A big training school for these Sammies' secretaries has been established at the War department and is in operation now. Officers of the division are being selected from the officers training camps and will be sent to France and to places in this country as soon as trained.

"Every company of American soldiers, everywhere," said General McCain, "will be accompanied by one or more of these men regularly stationed with it and part of whose job will be to know every man in the company.

"This man will report to the regimental Statistical Division which will be especially charged with the preparation and forwarding of casualty lists and data as to wounded and seriously ill. Information will likewise be reported as to all civilians accredited with the army.

"The organization will finally be completed by having a regimental section with each regiment. This will be in charge of the regular adjutant, assisted by the chaplain."

General McCain wishes all Sammies, their relatives and friends to make full use of this secretariat division. Word can be gotten home, he feels, more expeditiously by the Sammie, through one of the division's form postcards than by any other means except expensive cable.

These postcards are official and do not have to be delayed for censoring. If unable to write himself, his statistical field secretary will gladly do it for the Sammie.

HERE'S WHERE WE GIVE WALT MASON A JAR

From our constant daily reading we can see the thing we're needing is the stuff for fully feeding folks at home and folks afar. For the daily papers tell us facts and figures that compel us to be wide-awake and jealous of the waste we should debar. Bread and butter, beans and berries, kraut and cabbage, cheese and cherries and the eggs of Tom and Jerries should be saved throughout the land, so that ours, the fruitful nation, may prevent the quick starvation of the balance of creation in the troublous times at hand. Though it seems inconsequential each small slice of bread's essential to keep famine pestilential from ourselves and our Allies; waste of food is unpropitious, un-American, pernicious, and has consequence as vicious as a swarm of German spies. All our logic and our reason prove it's nothing short of treason if we let the growing season find us idly looking on, not considering nor caring for the famine which is staring in our faces, nor preparing for the days when summer's gone. Let us then do what we ought to, by devoting all our thought to saving foodstuffs as we're taught to by the manuals complete which the National Commission has prepared in large edition for improving the condition of our stock of things to eat. This is something worth your trying, for by canning and by drying all the things that you've been buying you'll not merely feed yourselves, but you'll find, from the beginning, that you've helped our troops in winning by the drying and the tinning which have stocked your pantry shelves.

COMMONPLACE TERMS

A humorist saw an announcement in a hardware store, "iron sinks," and he went in and told the man that he knew iron sink. "Yes," said the man, "and time flies, but wine vaults, grass slopes and music stands; Niagara falls, moonlight walks, sheep run and holiday trips; scandal spreads, standard weights, india rubber tires, the organ stops and the whole world goes round; trade returns." "Yes," said the humorist, "and marble busts!"

CLEVER BOY

The fond mother of a smart boy on a Maine farm was making preserves one day and as she sealed them up she labeled them thus: "Gooseberry jam, put up by Mrs. Mason."

Johnnie discovered the shelf on which they were deposited, and fell to work. Having emptied one of the jars, he took his school pencil and wrote underneath the label: "Put down by Johnnie Mason."

PRECIOUS INSTRUCTION

Neither let mistakes nor wrong directions of which every man, in his studies and elsewhere, falls into many, discourage you. There is precious instruction to be got by finding we were wrong. Let a man try faithfully, manfully, to be right; he will grow daily more and more right.—Carlyle.

POLITENESS

"Politeness costs nothing," observed the sage. "That's right," agreed the fool. "Politeness is merely the art of not letting people know what you think of them."

NO FOREIGN ELEMENT

"Why don't you have your son examined by an alienist?" "I'd rather have a good American doctor than any of them foreigners."—Baltimore American.

AMERICA'S CAUSE FOR WAR

"The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our communities with vicious spies and conspirators. They sought to corrupt our citizens. * * * They sought by violence to destroy our industries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into hostile alliance with her. They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe. * * *

"This flag under which we serve would have been dishonored had we withheld our hand."—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

All of these things were ample cause to proceed at once to protect our rights in the United States and on the seas. Who is there that is a good citizen that would not fight in the United States until the end for the protection of his own native land?

STRANGE

Hicks—When I came out of church Sunday I found my horse tight asleep in the shed.

Wicks—Why, he couldn't hear the sermon out there, could he?

NO LONGER A CHILD

"Is mamma's sweet little boy ready to have his bath now?"

"Oh maw, put the soft pedal on that stuff, will you? When a fellow's six years' old it's time to take him out of the kindergarten class. I'll take my splash when I've had my smoke."—Pittsburgh Times.

STAR FIXING

"Do the stars have to be repaired pa?"

"I never heard that they did. Where did you get that idea?"

"I have been reading about fixed stars, and I supposed that somebody had to fix them."

"You can't get around the fact that counterfeiting money is a crime."

"Certainly not."

"But the average counterfeiter might give some valuable lessons in thrift."

"How is that?"

"He never spends more than he makes."—Whitside Sentinel.

A Nebraska paper contributes this one: If fruits and vegetables are spread on the grass and dried in the sun they may be considered lawn-dried.

He who would link arms with happiness must first woo usefulness.
