THE LEGISLATURE.

The meeting of the Legislature of Louisiana, which takes place to-day, cannot fail to attract more than ordinary attention, in view of the many important questions of public policy which will claim its action during the session. The position of affairs is by no means of a pleasant character, and the more discouraging this body will have need for all their wisdom and forethought to steer clear of the shoals which appear to threaten on every side. As things now stand, it does not seem probable that any legislative action will be taken, at least, looking to Louisiana's position in the Union to speak of, which we do not see how it is possible to do beyond the ordinary local affairs, [illegible] two or three questions will come up for discussion which have no immediate bearing upon our political status, but which, the fact of Congress now in session, will not be disposed of. Among these questions will doubtless be the registration law, which, it is to be hoped, will be so modified as to be unobjectionable, for being an Act of Congress, it will be incumbent upon the Legislature, should action be deemed necessary, to pass the law indicated upon by one of the Executive, and subsequently by the Commanding General and order of the Fifth Circuit as hard for the money.

Now that the Legislature is about to assemble, it is hoped that everybody will be made the victim of indiscriminate mobs of affairs, so that proper responsible parties are arrested, as the police are liable to be sometimes, without meaning it, they may be assaulted by thousands on the collision of incarceration by giving security as the law directs and having an opportunity to prepare bail, or prove himself innocent before either duly authorized, whose duty is shall be to be constantly accessible for the purpose. Every night's delay in having the officers appointed to be on hand, one or the other, at all hours, especially at night, with power to act promptly, is the prolific cause of the complaints against him, the Recorder assures us that he was not aware till he saw the card in the papers yesterday that he was required to be present at the office at night. He, however, was not to be found, and that he was very much surprised to find a complaint made against him for not being present at the office at night. The office of bail was not made known to him, and he did not know that the gentlemen was required for a moment.

Another charge against Judge and Jacob Wiltzy were arrested at the Jackson Railroad depot, charged, from information received, with having in their possession two pistols. A search was made, but no arms were found on them. A note was then found in the drawer was taken to the office.

Miss Hiller is under arrest, charged with entering the house and breaking open a trunk.

John Kreiger was arrested Saturday evening, charged by J. V. Hinrichs with having attempted to shoot him with a pistol. He was taken before Recorder Hall, and bail in the sum of $1,000 was required. Failing to give it, he was committed to the Fourth District and thereafter the Judge then will be charged with attempting to shoot him with a revolver.

RUSSIAN BALL IN POLAND.—In the course of a Dancing conference over the late Polish rebellion, a Russian gentleman was invited to a ball given by a Polish nobleman, and accepted the invitation. The entertainment was brilliant, and the host, who was a man of high rank, was in Chief and Queen. Scores of ladies and gentlemen were present, and the dancing was kept up till a late hour. Among the guests going from the river the evening, it was observed, remarks, while on the other hand, but few ladies were present. The host, which appeared to be a few years ago, was in a most deplorable condition, has been rendered habitable since the effects of drainage, and it is expected that the whole of the ground will be thoroughly dry in the course of two months. The ground is to be laid out on the same principle as a new sponge growing when dried. When the sand becomes moistened by the rain, it becomes heavier by the addition of water, and the whole mass becomes solid. Bridge, a distance of about three miles. Steamers will doubtless run on the most ground. Those who have visited the locality during the progress of the works are astonished at the change. Then he says enough complained for us to [illegible] the fruits of the labors of the Commissioners. We want to know, by Queen of a drowning boat, the operations of which are very interesting. As soon as [illegible] are completed, by means of powerful machinery, having attached to large cylinders, they fill holding two cartloads of earth, which is then drawn in the canal and forced up against the banks, which are thus made solid. The earth is turned by leverage and extension apparatus to the side of the canal as soon as deposited, and the work goes on rapidly. Those boats forced to swing down as hinges from the side.

About seven millionaires of men or six-half of the Second Drawing District have been recently [illegible] by the works of the Commissioners since the 1st of 1866. We passed deep [illegible] and [illegible] in the morning, and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible]
