

Bristol June 20th 1841

My dear Sir,

Mr. Chapman assures me that the transmission of this little packet to Boston will not cost above 9³.

As it is Mr. Parker's wish that the copy to Douglass should go free of expense, I must at least disclose what would be his share of carriage according to Chapman's calculation, tho' I am by no means sure that the Am. Anti-Sl. Socy will not make some addition.

If this mode of sending be not extraneous, it is a very convenient one to me. Pray inform me what you will pay for the parcel?

I hope it may ^{and} be convenient to you to let Douglass have his copy of the Transcendental.
If you will take the trouble to send his package, I think you will ^{be} pleased with the manner in which it has been bound.

Miss Parker, who is in the Isle of Alderney is very desirous that the only remaining copy of this work, undisciplined of Sir Lyell, should be presented to you.

The labors bestowed by Mr. P. in making this version of A. D.
Narrative suitable, has to receive credit for zeal in your cause.

I considered myself fortunate to have a sort of organ blow on the occasion, in collecting funds for the printing of 500 copies, all of which are paid for. The amount was £24. The publication is nearly got up.

Our Unit. Conf. in London was interesting. The reference was made to your country. Anti-superstition ism is getting discussed amongst us. Last Saturday's Session gives an account of the debate in St. Charles Chapel, & Dr. W. Campbell. is preparing for the next No. a fuller statement of his views.

Believe me, my Sir,

Sincerely Yours,

J. A. Lettini
