...a beginners guide!

- Wikipedians in Residence - Embedded Wikimedian build staff skills & facilitate projects
- Editathon - Volunteers edit at an event
- Partner Content Release/Donation - Open license media to Commons

Think Data

Metadata is at the center of most cultural institutions' records.

- [\[\[wikidata:WikiProject Sum of All Paintings\]\]](#)
- Europeana
- Biblioteca Europea di Informazione e Cultura (BEIC) -- Wikimedia Italia
- [\[\[meta:Connected Open Heritage\]\]](#) - Wikimedia Sverige

Network Effect -- Scaling Through Networks

Catalan Library Network

- Build interest amongst librarians
- Encourages
- Distributes simple engagement strategies, that grow to deeper involvement
- Over 100 libraries
- Other communities replicating

Using Other forms of Media

- Aerial video/photos -- Drones!
Wiki From Above WM-ZA

- Video -- incremental amount of closed licensed material, opened. [\[\[en:WP:GLAM/TED\]\]](#)
- Mapping -- Extracted maps -- British Library books, crowd geo-coordinated
- Audio -- Netherlands Institute for Sound and Vision & Vocal Eyes

We started with...

Expanding Access Beyond the Publisher Partnership

Wikipedia Visiting Scholars

- Wikipedia Visiting Scholar -- Affiliated Researcher at Institutions [[en:WP:VS]]
- Entitled access to National Libraries
- Reader Access?

Connecting experienced Wikipedians with academic institutions to improve Wikipedia.

Through the Wikipedia Visiting Scholars program, experienced Wikipedia editors gain remote access to library resources like databases, ebooks, and special collections. Scholars use the research materials to improve Wikipedia articles in one or more of the university's topic areas of specialization. In doing so, libraries expand the impact of their collections while contributing to public knowledge. Scholars and sponsoring universities agree upon a fixed term, usually 1 year, and specific or general goals for the Scholar, such as number of articles to work on or to improve to a particular level of quality.

- University of San Francisco, Rhetoric & Language

Wikipedia Visiting Scholars is a program developed by The Wikipedia Library and administered in the United States and Canada by the Wiki Education Foundation. If you have questions, leave a message on the talk page or reach out to User:Ryan \(Wiki Ed\).

For more information about specific Scholarships, see the participant profiles for past and current Scholars and sponsoring institutions.

Beyond Access: Structured data & Archiving Citations

- Supporting ISBN integrating into Citoid
- Supporting Internet Archive collaboration
- Support conversations leading up to WikiCite 2016 -- Strong Potential for structured citation Data

And involving the networks

WIKIPEDIA15

#1Lib1Ref

On the Horizon

Programs and Events Dashboard

On the Horizon -- Tracking Link Change Over Time

- Replace LinkyPedia
- Creating a new schema for Tracking URL changes:
 - Distinguishes between users contributing changes
 - Gives us a “When”, current url schema just track
 - Removes need for manual or semi-automated collection of data.

Data collected in Google Docs using
Special:LinkSearch
