Washington, Nov. 10.—Commander Adolphus Andrews, former assistant to the chief of staff of the Atlantic fleet, has been presented to President Harding by Secretary Donby as the new commander of the presidential yacht Mayflower.

child. The mother could not be forced to support it and it would simply be a charge upon society.

What we need, and require, according to Miss Anna Webster of the League of Women Voters, is actual equality and not mere phrasing of equality on paper.

Miss Selma Horchardt of the High School Teachers' union voiced the same idea and quoted Plato in support of her position.

In the opinion of Mrs. Walter S. Uford of the American Association for Organizing Family Social Workers the proposed law very likely "would prevent bringing the delinquent husband to justice who refused to support his family."

In the camp of the National Women's party these arguments are dismissed as fallacious.

The resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce in connection with the hiring of an outside school architect and which was presented to the board of education follows:

"The board of directors of the Duluth Chamber of Commerce believes thoroughly in the principle of supporting home industry and that always where conditions are substantially equal the Duluth business man should be favored. We do, however, appreciate that in the erection of

INJUNCTION TO BE SOUGHT FROM COURT IN ARCHITECT WRANGLE

Duluth organizations opposing the selection of the firm of Perkins, Fellows & Hamilton, Chicago, as architects, will make an effort today to obtain an injunction from District Judge W. A. Cant, restraining the school board from entering into a contract with the firm.

An unsuccessful effort was made Wednesday evening shortly after the board meeting began, to obtain an injunction from Judge C. R. Magney, it was stated this morning by representatives of the opposition.

The board of directors of the Duluth Chamber of Commerce believes thoroughly in the principle of supporting home industry and that always where conditions are substantially equal the Duluth business man should be favored. We do, however, appreciate that in the erection of

PRINCESS AVOIDS GORGEOUSNESS IN HER TROUSSEAU

Tokio, Nov. 10.—The wedding trousseau of Princess Nagako, the future empress of Japan, already has been completed in Kyoto. The selection of colors and patterns was made by the empress herself, who, aiming at the beauty of simplicity and avoiding gorgingness, paid special attention to the matching of colors.

kimono is of celadon color embroidered with paulownia leaves, the crest of the empress. The two others are pale blue with chrysanthemum patterns and cream color with a wave design.

There was a rumor in local papers that the princess would wear a white foreign dress at her wedding. But this would be an unheard-of departure from all traditions and as for the coronation, the dresses to be worn at the ceremony will be the ancient Japanese kimono. The princess, however, may wear foreign evening dress at banquets.

The fiance also wears the old court dress with a small black cap. The regular wedding dress is of white silk, the mourning color in Japan. It is worn at the ceremony of the drinking of sake "three times three" which constitutes the wedding ceremony and is performed in the family circle only.

According to Japanese customs, girls belonging to the nobility may get married in the old ceremonial dress with a stiff divided skirt trailing on the ground, a set of kimono, and a handsome court coat. They wear their hair hanging down and hold a short sword in their hands.

OLD CEREMONIAL MARKS ENGAGEMENT OF PRINCE REGENT

At the formal engagement ceremonies of the prince regent to Princess Nakako Kuni, which were held in front of the shrine of the imperial palace, Shinto rites of old Japan were renewed.

The prince regent, clad in a yellowish-brown court dress and wearing a "drooping sherry crown" on the head, imparted the news of his engagement to the spirits of his ancestors. As for all great events concerning the imperial family or the nation, imperial messengers were dispatched to the Ise shrine, where the mirror of the sun-goddess, ancestress of the imperial family, is kept, to the mausolea of Emperor Jimmu, the first ruler of Japan, and to the late Emperor Meiji at Momoyama, for the sole purpose of announcing the event to them officially.

A representative of the emperor previously called at the palace of Prince Kuni, who had formally tendered his consent and received the customary presents of the emperor and empress to the parents of the future crown prince. These consisted of five rolls of silk, a cask of sake wine and a box containing two tal fish. This fish is an omen of happiness and a congratulatory present in itself.

Princess Nakako also was decorated with the first-class order of the sacred treasure and in the hall of the chrysanthemum of her palace received the prince regent's betrothal gift, a sword about a foot long, very simple but made by the most skillful sword-maker of the country and decorated with the imperial crest.

COUNTY BOARD HOLDS DOWN TAX

Road and Bridge Levy Pruned; 10 Per Cent General Fund Cut.

St. Louis county board of commissioners availed an increase in the 1922 county tax levy yesterday by the judicious use of a pruning hook on the road and bridge fund levy and a cut of 10 per cent in the general fund. As a result of their work the levy will be virtually the same as that of 1921 with a possibility of the rate being less.

The rate last year was 9.67 mills and unless there is a decided decrease in the valuation of the real and personal property in the county the rate will remain approximately the same. The total amount to be levied against the taxable property in the county, exclusive of money or credits was set at $3,411,520. This is $239,725 less than the amount set at the meeting on Oct. 27 when it was agreed that the levy should be $3,651,245. The 1921 tax levy amounted to $3,521,872.50.

Comparison for Two Years.

Table with 2 columns: 1921, 1922. Rows include General fund, Road and bridge, and Total.

Appeal for Low Rate.

Upholding that it would be a grave mistake to increase the already overburdening taxes, Bentley Neff, David Williams of the First National bank, E. A. Silberstein and a number of other prominent business men appeared before the board...

Following the talks by the business men, the board adjourned into executive session where the plan to reduce the road and bridge fund levies and the general fund was evolved.

Plans for the boys' school at the country work farm were provided for in the levy and the seven road projects approved to give the county roads equal to any in the state were included in the appropriation.

Appropriations for special projects included in the road and bridge fund levy are as follows: Engineering department, $110,000; Ely-Tinland road, Peoria district, $25,000; Thomson Hill road in Duluth, $40,000; Ely-Huyck road, $25,000; extension of State Road No. 1 from westerly end of present boulevard to Twenty-fourth avenue west in Duluth, $40,000; State Road No. 1 from district, north of Lake Vermilion, $10,000; Condon boulevard, $15,000; error in mistake of payment of state funds, $19,400; Ely-Gilbert road, $25,000.

"No-lose" Not Forthcoming.

The committee reported to a meeting of $268,200 in the district road and bridge fund split, and in this manner the proposed road and bridge levies will be split between the districts was not forthcoming. The allotment allowed the county compared with last year are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: 1921, 1922. Rows include First district, Second district, Third district, and Total.

Bethel Meeting Popular.

The evangelistic campaign being conducted at the Bethel, Mass. ashua avenue and First street, by Rev. W. L. Brewer of Minot, N. D., and Bro. A. E. Jester of Nampa, Idaho, is progressing nicely and the interest and attendance are on the increase. The meetings are to be continued until Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. The public sessions are held each evening at 7:45.

Slightly Hurt by Auto.

W. W. Dixon, 1813 West Superior street, received a slight scalp wound and a sprained wrist when he was struck by B. O. Rosseter's automobile at Sixth avenue west and Superior street yesterday afternoon. Rosseter picked up Dixon and took him to a doctor's office and then drove to his home. Dixon stepped off the sidewalk as Rosseter was driving west. Rosseter was held responsible for the accident by police.

Disease Shipbuilding Plans.

The proposed reopening of the Modemall-Duluth shipbuilding plant at Riverdale was the subject of discussion at the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The committee met yesterday noon.

Foreign Goods Flood Market.

Foreign goods are flooding Duluth markets, according to A. Lindberg, local special deputy collector of customs. Most of the goods is not stamped with the name of the country in which it is made. This increases the duty on the articles about 10 per cent. A shipment of goods from Austria is being held by the local customs officers because it is not properly marked.

GREAT MAMMALS OF PACIFIC VANISH

Treaty for Preservation of Few Species Left is Proposed.

(By the Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 10.—Fifty years ago a "time-jockey," as the big square-rigged sailing vessel of that time was called, would have to shorten sail and steer a careful course along the South Pacific coast at certain seasons to avoid collisions with the California grayback whale. And if the skipper trained his gaze along the coast line, he probably would see every exposed rock or seaward shoal black with elephant and fur seals. Closer in he would note great tortoises and sea turtles, while above would wheel the Heermann gull.

Such an orgy of destruction has been looked on by scientists, some of them termed by specialists to be "the biggest animals in the world," in the last half century, that there is a campaign on today to have the state department negotiate treaties with all countries bordering on the Pacific to prevent their absolute extermination.

One of the great mammals, Steller's sea cow, already has joined the Great Auk, the Dodo and other storied creatures of a dead age. In 1741, when the exploring ship of Capt. Vitus Bering was wrecked on the island that bears his name, the great, sluggish sea cow was found floundering about by Dr. George William Steller, doctor of the expedition. Large herds later were seen feeding on the kelp and seaweed around the nearby Commander islands, and it soon was found that their meat made an excellent human food.

Extinct in Thirteen Years.
When the news of the discovery of Bering Island was made known to the world several expeditions were fitted out to hunt the sea cow. How well they succeeded is attested in the fact that by 1754, only thirteen years after its discovery, this great animal twenty-four to thirty feet long and weighing three to four tons when fully grown, disappeared from the coast. Moved by the nearness of a similar fate for the walrus, the elephant seal, the sea otter and the Southern whales, the committee on Conservation of Marine Life of the Pacific, a part of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, has started the campaign to have the state department act.

One hundred years ago, the committee points out, a species of fur seal had extensive breeding rookeries on the Farallon islands and other islands on the coast line of California and Mexico. More than 200,000 of these seal were killed in the short period between 1803 and 1831 on the Farallones alone, while thousands of others were added to the slaughter on the channel islands to the southward. This campaign virtually exterminated this species of seal.

Further objections to the wholesale extermination of whales have been raised by the sardine fishermen of Monterey bay, California, who claim that the whales herd the sardines inshore. Recently the examination of the stomach of a bumpback whale brought into the Moss Landing whaling station in Monterey bay yielded from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of sardines. In the stomach of a sperm whale was found a ten-foot shark.

FEEDING METHODS FOR HOGS BEAR UPON LOSS IN SHIPPING

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The method of feeding and fattening hogs has a direct bearing on the loss of these animals in transit to markets, according to W. J. Embury, chief veterinarian here of the Western Weighing and Inspection bureau.

Hogs which are forced to forage for their food develop much stronger hearts and lungs than those placed in a pen and given food to fatten them, he stated.

"This kind of treatment develops the digestive organs at the expense of the organs of respiration and circulation; the lungs and heart," he continued. "Organs develop only sufficiently to meet the requirements of the condition under which the animal lives."

"The function of the lungs is to purify the blood of the body in the hog, perspiration being almost impossible, a large part of the excess moisture and heat passes off through them; a hog with undeveloped lungs will suffer more quickly and severely in hot weather than where that organ is well developed.

"The strain on these vital organs starts the minute the hog is exerted in removing it from the home pen on its trip to the market. The hog pants and becomes short of breath and if it is not immediately placed in a cool place where it can return to normal, the hog will die of acute congestion of the lungs or other lung disease."

"Many shippers have used ice hung in bags from the roof of the car to make hogs more comfortable during transit in hot weather. The ice distributed in six bags, has been found on actual test to last thirty hours in hot weather. The drip from the bags is scattered all over the car by the syringing and movement of the car and the cool air will settle downward, decreasing the temperature to some extent."

Farming was the occupation of more than half the population of France before the war.

PIPES FOR WOMEN SMOKERS ADVISED

London, Nov. 10.—English physicians are urging women who are addicted to smoking to use a pipe and good tobacco instead of the cigarette. The doctors point out that the nicotine found in the cheaper brands of cigarettes is much more injurious to women than to men, and they declare that the perfumes and scents used in brands prepared for the fair sex also are injurious.

Two recent deaths of women have been attributed directly to cigarette smoking. While these cases have been due to excessive smoking, the physicians say that the same amount of pipe smoking probably would not have had fatal results.

Smoking among women in London is now almost universal, and one rarely goes to a theater, dance or restaurant where the majority of the women present are not smoking.

Recently two young women appeared at an athletic meet smoking pipes, and many of the fashionable shops of Bond street have exhibited stocks of pipes designed for the feminine smoker. However, the innovation has made little progress, and cigarettes are still the favorite.

HOLDS SCIENCE, RELIGION NOT INCOMPATIBLE

Merely Unrelated and Different Activities of Human Mind.

DR. STEINMETZ'S VIEW

Science's Negative on Religious Matters Is Inconclusive.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Science and religion, regarded as increasingly antagonistic, are not necessarily incompatible but are indifferent and unrelated activities of the human mind, said Dr. Charles F. Steinmetz, consulting engineer of the General Electric company, in an address prepared for delivery in All Souls' church at the annual Laymen's Sunday of the Schenectady chapter of the Unitarian Laymen's league.

NEW BRITISH PREMIER AT WORK

Premier Bonar Law at his desk.

This is the latest photo to be received of Andrew Bonar Law, new premier of Great Britain. It was taken since his acceptance of the premiership following the downfall of the Lloyd George government.

has become the dominating power in our human society.

"There has grown up an increasing antagonism between science and religion, making the two incompatible with each other.

"Our knowledge of the superior entities, with which historic religion deals, has been derived by experience and by revelation.

"First conception of God. "Undoubtedly experience led to the first conception of superior beings, or gods; the forces of nature personified; the experiences in dreams; the orderly progress of nature, which seemed to imply a manager of the universe. With our increasing knowledge, this became less and less satisfactory. For instance, the terror of the thunder-storm led primitive man to the conception of a Supreme Being, whose attribute was the thunderbolt. But when Franklin brought the lightning from the clouds and showed it to be a mere electric spark; when we learned to make the lightning harmless by the lightning rod, and when finally we harnessed electricity to do our work, naturally our reverence for the thrower of the thunder bolt decreased. So the gods of experience vanished.

"In the realm of science, all attempts to find any evidence of superior beings, of metaphysical conceptions, as God, immortality, infinity, etc., have failed, and with the rise of science the field of such conceptions has steadily narrowed until, if we are honest, we must confess that in belief there exists no God, no immortality, no sound or mind as distinct from the body; but scientifically God and immortality are illogical conceptions. That is, science had inevitably to become atheistic.

"There remained only Revelation as the foundation of the historical conception of religion. But is there any difference between the 'dream' of prehistoric man, in which he 'sees' wonderful things, and the 'revelation' of Mohammed, or Buddha or Moses or other founders of religions, all contradicting each other?

"Thus there is no evidence outside of science for God, immortality and similar conceptions, and there is evidence against these conceptions in science, and science has justified its methods and conclusions by the work it has accomplished.

"Need of Belief. "But it is very hard for man to get along without a belief in these conceptions. We may get along without a God, but not without immortality. Our self-conceit dislikes to place so little value on ourselves, our knowledge, skill, experience, in short our ego, to concede that all this is merely a function of the biochemical process of life, which utterly ceases and vanishes with the disintegration of the protoplasm of our body by death.

"The conceptions of physical sciences are incompatible with the metaphysical conceptions of God, immortality, infinity, etc. But are the conceptions of science really final and all embracing, or are they limited also, holding within a certain range only, and not beyond this? Science derives its conclusions by the laws of logic from our sense perceptions.

Thus it does not deal with the real world, of which we know nothing, but with the world as it appears to our senses. But are there no limitations to our sense perceptions, which limit the validity of the conclusions we derive from them?

"All our sense perceptions are limited by, and attached to the conceptions of time and space. Kant, the greatest and most critical of all philosophers, denies that time and space are the product of experience, but shows them to be categories; conceptions in which our mind clothes the sense perceptions. Modern physics has come to the same conclusion in the relativity theory, that absolute space and absolute time have no existence, but time and space exist only as far as things or events fill them, that is, are forms of sense perception.

"Conclusions All Finite. "Still greater and more pertinent is another limitation of our sense perceptions; our senses can perceive only finite things, but cannot perceive the infinite. No reasoning from any foundation can put anything into the conclusions which is contained in the foundations, and thus, with our sense perceptions finite, all conclusions from them, that is, the entire structure of science, are limited to the finite. Hence any attempt of science to deal with an infinite conception as the infinite in time and in space, immortality, the conception of God, etc., must fail and lead to contradictions, be illogical.

"Thus the proof of the nonexistence in science of the conception of God, immortality, etc., really means nothing except that we cannot get by reasoning a conclusion which is not contained in the premises on which we started our reasoning.

"Furthermore, science derives its conclusions from the sense perceptions by the laws of logic. But what proof is there of the correctness of the laws of logic, except experience, which, no matter how comprehensive, always remain limited.

"Thus the negative answer of science on the question whether there are conceptive entities of infinite character, as infinity in time and space, immortality of the ego, God, etc., is not conclusive, and the question is still as open as it ever was.

"How can we approach its solution, and can we ever get an answer on the question of the existence of the infinite? The best we can expect to do is to search into the foundations and limitations of our mental processes, to determine how far conceptions are really illogical and contradictory, and how far they appear so merely because they involve conceptions beyond the limits of our mind.

"But there can be no scientific foundation of religion, but belief must always remain a foundation of religion, while that of science is logical reasoning from facts, that is, sense perceptions, and all that we can say is that the two, science and religion, are not necessary incompatible, but are different and unrelated activities of the human mind."

This observance of Laymen's Sunday by Unitarian laymen in Schenectady was a part of the national program of the Unitarian Laymen's league, which has designated the first Sunday in December as Laymen's Sunday. Owing to other engagements of Dr. Steinmetz, the Schenectady chapter carried out its program a month in advance.

On Dec. 3, however, the majority of the league's 275 chapters will take complete charge of the services of worship in their churches, their ministers for that day becoming members of the congregation.

WORLD WAR VETS WILL HELP S. A. IN DRIVE FOR FUNDS

Veterans of the World War, who will never forget the service given the boys in France by the Salvation Army men and women, have joined in the Duluth drive for funds to maintain the local corps during 1923. The members of the American Legion this morning joined the campaign forces and will aid in the drive for $2,700 starting Nov. 20, according to an announcement made by George G. Glick, general chairman.

RADICALISM PUSHES AMERICANISM ASIDE, SAYS LEGION HEAD

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Illinois' big majority for the state soldiers' bonus reflects the attitude of the entire country towards the American Legion's fight for a square deal for the former service men, Col. Alvin M. Owsley, recently elected head of the legion, declared in an address here. "I don't know any of the Democrats who were elected over Republican candidates for congress last Tuesday," he added, "and I can't say whether the Democratic victory will have any influence in the national house. But one thing is certain—we'll have new material to work on in Washington."

"There is too much radical propaganda and too little Americanism in the United States today," Commander Owsley asserted in his address. "I Owsley also expressed opposition to the premature release of those convicted of opposing the conduct of the war."

Adult U. S. Claims, Washington Nov. 10.—In accepting the American claim to equal participation with the Allied powers in German payments on account of losses sustained on the European front, the government has proposed that an American expert be sent to Paris to confer as to ways and means of such participation.

"Y" BOYS BROADCAST NEWS OF MEMBERSHIP DRIVE; GREAT SUCCESS

Leo Daulton last night broadcast a message about the boys' department membership campaign over The Herald broadcasting station and during his talk he announced that the tenth boy to call at the boys' "Y" would receive a year's membership in the club. Promptly after the message was given the boys' department phone commenced to ring, and for over an hour a man stood at the phone taking down the names of the boys who had listened. Woodrow McCauley, Park Point, was the lucky boy, and a membership awaits him at the boys' "Y". The boys reported that the speech was a "sinker" and that they heard it as distinctly as if they had seen the speaker.

The boys' "Y" membership campaign opened today with twenty-five boys joining. Most of these just came in. The committee will not report until tomorrow. Two hundred members is the goal, and the committee urges every member to keep on the hustler so the goal will be reached Saturday night.

The Employed Boys' Brotherhood met last night for dinner. Five new members were initiated and eight more were nominated. The club now has a membership of sixty. Russell McCrae won the attendance prize of a pocket knife. W. J. Walker, honorary president of the club, offers the prize for next week. Geery Jones, who won the prize last week of an airplane trip, reported his experience. The club divided into three groups and elected the following officers: Mr. Preston's club, Clement Hausdon, president; Mr. McCarthy's club, Chester Burkes, president; Roland Everton, secretary; Mr. McCrae's club, Frank Hall, treasurer; Lyon Durocher, secretary; Karl Jackson was elected vice president of the brotherhood.

The senior gymnasium class held an open house and Director Peterson reports the largest attendance of the season. The boys' department orchestra furnished music for the occasion and the athletic committee served refreshments.

LOOKS TO OPERATION TO STOP FORGING

New York, Nov. 10.—George V. Lester, fiction writer, will undergo a brain operation to cure himself of his weakness for forgery, he announced today. As a boy, Lester, who claims to be a member of a well-known Virginia family, fractured his skull in a fall. Later, when he was achieving success as a short story writer in New York, he obeyed an uncontrollable impulse to forge checks. Twice he was imprisoned and last week he was sent to Blackwell's island for the third time. Dr. Ernest M. Vaughn, medical at-

TO RECOUNT VOTE FOR U. S. SENATOR IN MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—A statewide recount of the vote cast last Tuesday for United States senator was assured yesterday. Col. W. A. Gaston, the Democratic candidate, who was apparently defeated by 8,425 votes by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican, carried out his intention of directing recount petitions in every city and town. The Republican state committee took similar action to assure representation in the recount proceedings and last night had filed petitions in more places than the Democrats.

strict alone and nearly every part of the state could use more men.

The sweet tooth of the American people more than ever is a factor in commerce and trade. Confectioners and soft drink manufacturers in scattered centers reported today they expected sales to bring in a revenue of $1,000,000,000, at least, for the year ending Dec. 31.

On the Pacific coast Thanksgiving turkeys are selling at 23 cents a pound wholesale and dressed turkeys nowhere in that section are bringing beyond 28 cents a pound.

Finished silk goods are increasing in demand and manufacturers in New Jersey and Pennsylvania today predicted that prices would advance before Jan. 1.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES

Washington, Nov. 10.—Federal revenue of approximately $445,000,000 this fiscal year from import taxes, or about $100,000,000 more than over before in the nation's history, was forecast by customs officials. This is on the basis of returns under the new tariff act for a month and a half of its operation.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Decision to defer further government financing until the middle of December is understood to have been reached by the treasury and finance departments.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Demands for an increase in wages by the railroad stocker organization involving thirty-five Class I carriers and subsidiaries, will be heard Nov. 23, the United States railroad labor board announced late yesterday.

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 10.—Engagement to Miss Delfora Angell, 20, heiress to the John W. Gates millions, and Lester Norris, 21, of St. Charles, Ill., was announced late yesterday.

On the west coast and the border trade with Mexico has increased with leaps and bounds. The larger business as far has been confined to livestock, shoes and millinery, but other lines are rapidly making a place for themselves.

The shortage of labor in big industrial sections has not been relieved. The state officials of Pennsylvania reported today that from 15,000 to 20,000 unskilled laborers were needed in the Pittsburgh district alone and nearly every part of the state could use more men.

POPPY SALE BANNED ARMISTICE DAY

Legion Passes Resolution and Police Clamp Down Lid.

Public sale of poppies on Armistice day is not sanctioned by local soldier organizations and this morning Police Chief Hugh issued orders forbidding persons from selling them on Duluth streets today and tomorrow.

In addition, members of David Wisted post of the American Legion, at their weekly business meeting this noon at the Chamber of Commerce, adopted resolutions opposing the sale of poppies on Armistice day.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—The prosecution closed its case yesterday in the third trial of Arthur C. Hurch for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, and the defense immediately began calling its witnesses.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 10.—In announcing a meeting of all the state chiefs in his organization at St. Louis on Nov. 20, William H. Slayton of the National Association Against Prohibition declared that unless wet plans are inserted in the national platform of both the Republican and Democratic parties in 1924, the wet of the country, through the organization, will present independent candidates for congress.

The resolution adopted at the legion meeting this noon follows: "Whereas, the poppy has been adopted as the national flower of the American Legion; and

Whereas, its use should properly be restricted for Memorial day purposes and should be worn and displayed on Memorial day; and

Whereas, the celebration of Armistice day should be chiefly one of rejoicing; and

Whereas, the American Legion has gone on record as opposed to the sale of poppies on Armistice day; therefore

Resolved, that the sale of poppies or use by any persons on Armistice day should be discouraged and all legionnaires are urged to use their influence in preventing such sale.

PHONE TO EVERY FOUR PERSONS IN DULUTH; CITY HAS HIGH RECORD

Duluth has 215 telephones to every 100 persons in the city, or almost one for every four Duluthians.

These figures, given out yesterday by F. E. Lister, district manager for the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, place Duluth seventeenth among the cities of the United States having a population of 50,000 or more persons.

"This is a high record for Duluth and we are given special mention in a telegraphic bulletin just issued by our main Western offices at Omaha," said Mr. Lister yesterday. "In proportion to population Duluth ranks among the top cities of the nation."

There are 23,250 telephone stations in Duluth at the present time, Mr. Lister announced.

In addition, applications for telephones are constantly coming in and the list is growing daily.

The next issue of the telephone book will be out early in February.

Mr. Lister said, going to press on Jan. 1 of next year.

New York, Nov. 10.—Business men and manufacturers of the United States have found out this year why the countries of Central and part of South America are called "banana republics."

Central and South American trade, according to reports from the port of New Orleans, received by telegraph within the last twenty-four hours shows but few signs of improvement.

This does not apply, however, to the countries lying outside the strict fruit zone. Southeastern dealers and manufacturers are conducting an intensive campaign for business in Cuba, Brazil and Argentina.

Conditions improving. Porto Rico reports are reported by returning salesmen to be greatly improved while the expectation of a $20,000,000 loan from the United States has stimulated buying in Cuba.

On the west coast and the border trade with Mexico has increased with leaps and bounds. The larger business as far has been confined to livestock, shoes and millinery, but other lines are rapidly making a place for themselves.

The shortage of labor in big industrial sections has not been relieved. The state officials of Pennsylvania reported today that from 15,000 to 20,000 unskilled laborers were needed in the Pittsburgh district alone and nearly every part of the state could use more men.

For immediate and permanent relief from eczema I prescribe Resinol

"If you want to experiment, try some of those things you talk about. But if you really want that itching stopped and your skin healed, I advise you to get a jar of Resinol Ointment, and a cake of Resinol Soap. We doctors have been prescribing that treatment ever since you were a small boy, so we know what it will do. It is cooling, soothing, easy and economical to use, and rarely fails to overcome eczema and similar affections."

Ask your dealer today for Resinol Soap and Ointment.

M'ADOO DECLARES G. O. P. INTERPRETED SENTIMENT WRONG

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—Republican leader "failed to correctly interpret the sentiment and opinion of the country," and their party "sustained one of the most extraordinary political defeats in the history of the nation," W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, said in a statement made late yesterday.

FRANCE IS PREPARED TO ACT ALONE UPON REPARATIONS ISSUE

Paris, Nov. 10.—Premier Poincaré told the senate last evening that the French government had decided to act alone with respect to Germany if the Brussels conference failed to give France satisfaction. He expressed the opinion that no general settlement of the reparations problem was possible unless those of inter-Allied debts were solved at the same time.

"There can be no return of general prosperity until the farm industry has been rehabilitated. This cannot be accomplished until the farmer is again given access to foreign markets, where he can sell his surplus at a profit. To get these foreign markets a reasonable tariff must be adopted and a national policy of international co-operation must be pursued."

fore the Brussels conference, but if we do not obtain satisfaction there is nothing in the world that can prevent us from acting alone in the fullness of our rights."

"There is not one Frenchman who doubts the solidity of France, and no foreigner has the right to doubt it," Premier Poincaré declared. The premier rejected the idea of establishing a customs barrier on the Rhine for the benefit of the Allies on

PLANS BILL TO PAY BONUS BY BEER TAX

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The soldiers' bonus bill, with an additional provision to pay the bonus by a tax on light wines and beer, will be reintroduced in congress by Congressman Fred A. Britton of Illinois, he announced here.

The congressman declared that the addition for a beer and wine tax would be drafted so as to supersede the Volstead enforcement act definition of intoxicating liquor.

How I made my teas the most popular in the community

I TRIED many baking powders and finally found Calumet gave me the results I wanted in every way. Now my parties have the reputation for delightful baked things. It is a fact that Calumet determines success in baking, and that millions of housewives rely upon it always for light, tender, tasteful things. If your bakings are not uniformly successful, change to Calumet for just a single trial.

CALUMET
The Economy BAKING POWDER
prevents failure and spoiling of ingredients; moderate in cost, and because it has more than the ordinary leavening strength, less is used.
The sale of Calumet is over 2 1/2 times as much as that of any other brand.
A great institution makes and keeps it pure. It contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Pure Food Authorities.
A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

State Supreme Court Decisions

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state supreme court this morning handed down the following decisions:

BERKINGTON COUNTY. Independent School District No. 102 of Pennington county, Minn., respondent, vs. Farmers & Merchants State bank, defendant-appellant, and L. D. McAdams, intervenor-appellant. A demand for the payment of and suit brought to recover upon a check deposited in connection with a bid submitted for the performance of a public contract held in legal effect a declaration of forfeiture, though no formal declaration for that purpose was made. There was no abandonment of the contract, which arose from the acceptance of such a bid, or of the right of forfeiture and to recover on the check, by mutual consent or otherwise, from the unsuccessful efforts of the parties to discharge the terms of the bid after acceptance. The offer to change the terms of the contract made by plaintiff was conditional, the conditions were not complied with by the bidder, leaving the parties in the position the original acceptance left them. Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY. Margaret Young, appellant, vs. B. F. Teaton, et al., respondents. Where there is no motion for a directed verdict, judgment non obstante cannot be granted. A refusal to strike parts of an answer as sham will not be considered on appeal, when it appears that no evidence was offered to prove the allegations claimed to be sham. In this action, the defendant, a building to recover from her agents, employed to manage the same, damages for their negligence and failure to follow instructions. It was incumbent on plaintiff to prove the misstatement alleged and also that the sustained loss therefrom. There was no evidence adduced of loss because of apartments being without tenants, as to two apartments vacated, liability for rent still subsists against the tenants, and as to the third the evidence fails to show that the apartment remained vacant after the tenant moved. Because of the lack of proof, the error in the charge in submitting this item to the jury could not harm plaintiff. The court correctly ruled out plaintiff's testimony as to coal used during years other than the one in question, and rightly took from the jury the item of loss for the alleged excessive amount of coal used. Damages for disobeying directions to buy coal from a certain firm and windows from another were properly submitted and the award justified by the jury in disallowing the same. No error can be based on refusing an instruction, even though correct, if not applicable to the issues. No errors entitle plaintiff to a new trial. HOLT, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY. The Bank of Richards Mo. respondent, vs. Edward E. Sheasgreen, et al., appellants. A sham answer is one sufficient on its face, but so clearly false that it presents no real issue to be tried. Much fact may be established by affidavit and the sham answer stricken out on motion. On such motion it is for the court to determine whether there is an issue to try, not to try the issue. The affidavits in this case made a clear prima facie case of the falsity of the answer. When such a showing is made the motion to strike will ordinarily be granted, unless the showing is met by counter affidavits or other proof which make it clear that there is an issue to be tried. In this case defendants failed to make such proof. HALLAM, J.

MARTIN COUNTY. W. S. Carver, respondent, vs. W. S. Carver, sheriff of Martin county. The court correctly ruled out plaintiff's testimony as to coal used during years other than the one in question, and rightly took from the jury the item of loss for the alleged excessive amount of coal used. Damages for disobeying directions to buy coal from a certain firm and windows from another were properly submitted and the award justified by the jury in disallowing the same. No error can be based on refusing an instruction, even though correct, if not applicable to the issues. No errors entitle plaintiff to a new trial. HOLT, J.

MINNESOTA. The Armstrong Telephone Exchange company, a corporation, and Ferdinand C. Walter, appellant. In an action for the appointment of a receiver, for the purpose of sequestration, where it appears upon the face of the complaint that the plaintiff had no interest in the property for which a receiver was asked, held, that the plaintiff had no right of action and that the order appointing a receiver was without authority of law. Reversed. QUINN, J.

RENVILLE COUNTY. William L. Cavert, respondent, vs. board of county commissioners of Renville county, appellant. William L. Cavert petitioned the board of county commissioners to detach his farm, from the village of Bird Island. The board denied the petition. The district court reversed the action of the board and granted the petition on the ground that under the established facts the statute gave Cavert the right to have his farm detached from the village. Held that the conclusion of the court is sustained by the record. Affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY. L. L. Beas, respondent, vs. Charles Nyberg, appellant. Where a cause of action has been litigated and determined without objection, the point that it varied from the cause of action set forth in the complaint cannot be raised thereafter. The evidence is sufficient to sustain the verdict. TAYLOR, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY. Frank William Sidney Crispo, respondent, vs. Thomas Howard Conboy et al., appellants. A grantee in a deed may defend against a mortgage given by his grantor unless he has assumed and agreed to pay it or has taken the land subject to it. Declarations and admissions concerning property made by a grantor after he has conveyed it are not admissible in evidence against his grantee. On a motion for judgment on the pleadings every reasonable intendment will be made in favor of the sufficiency of the pleading. The answer put in issue material allegations of the complaint and you know.

plaintiff was not entitled to judgment on the pleadings. TAYLOR, C.

WINDY CITY GIRL IS YOUNGEST LAWYER

HENNEPIN COUNTY. Emma A. Holton, respondent, vs. William C. Holton, appellant. So long as a judgment for alimony payable in installments is absolute in its terms and remains unmodified, or at least until an application for modification has been made, it is final as to installments which have accrued and is entitled to full faith and credit in the courts of a sister state in an action founded upon it. A defendant, required by the judgment of an Oregon court to pay installments of alimony in the future, is not entitled to notice of an application to that court for the computation of the amount due on the judgment in order that it may be put in form for enforcement by execution, it being the law of Oregon that a defendant who has been personally served with process and who has not appeared need not be served with notice of motions or other subsequent proceedings in the action. Affirmed. LEER, C.

MISS RUBY QUIST

Miss Ruby Quist, 20, is all ready to hang her shingle out next February. She'd be practicing law now in Chicago if it wasn't for the fact that she won't be 21 and can't take the bar examination till then.

court below to grant defendant a new trial solely on the issue of the amount of damages recoverable on account of the wrongful termination of the contract. Yates vs. Young, 150 Minn. 274. When the remittitur went down plaintiffs filed a waiver of damages for the breach of contract and moved for entry of judgment for the disbursements, less 272 cents collected after the termination of their contract. Judgment was entered accordingly and defendant again appeals.

It is clear that our former decision left intact all the findings of fact except the one of assessment of damages for the breach of contract. When such damages were waived, there was no issue for further trial and the mere routine work remained of entering judgment upon the findings as originally made barring the $22 of damages for breach of the contract. This was done. It is too clear for argument that the judgment is right. Judgment affirmed. PER CURIAM.

AUSTRALIA TO SHIP FRUIT TO ENGLAND

London, Nov. 10.—As the result of increased commerce between Australia and the mother country, a Western Australian syndicate has been formed which will build eight new freight and fruit ships to operate between London and Australia. The ships will run also to South Australia, and the syndicate expects to keep the markets of the British Isles supplied with Australian fruit in all seasons.

CATALONIA BUILDS SPLENDID PALACE FOR SPAIN'S KING

Barcelona, Nov. 10.—The new palace under construction here for the king is expected to be sufficiently advanced this fall to permit of its official inauguration by his majesty in the presence of the queen and the other members of the royal family and the representatives of all foreign nations accredited to the Spanish court.

With the exception of the palace in Madrid—which is regarded as one of the largest and finest in Europe—the royal residence presented by Catalonia to the reigning family will be the most sumptuous in Spain. It contains four floors—the ground floor for the installation of the kitchens and stores; the first floor for the offices, reception and guard rooms, chapel, ordinary dining room, antechambers and throne room; the principal floor for the royal living and sleeping rooms; and the top floor for the domestics and other attendants.

Enormous interest is being taken in the building of the palace by every class of folk in Catalonia. Notable Catalan artists have undertaken to decorate the various apartments, furnishers to provide the necessary furniture, rugweavers to supply the carpet, crystal workers to install the hanging lamps, librarians to fill the library, musicians to give the music. These voluntary gifts are estimated to be worth over a million pesetas.

The future royal seat is being built entirely of materials produced in Catalonia itself, the idea being to make it a permanent exposition of the manufactures and products of the region. When their majesties come for the formal inauguration, they will already be able to make their temporary residence in the new palace, but the work cannot be completed in all its details until the coming spring. Advantage is to be taken of the presence of the foreign representatives to make official announcements of the Universal Electrical Exposition of 1925.

TELLS CHANGES FOR PROTECTION

Data Prepared to Safeguard Equipment From Fire Hazards.

Specifications have been drawn by a special committee of the National Fire Protection association regarding the installation of radio equipment in buildings. The committee has issued a report which contains the following data regarding the fire hazard.

With the spreading popularity of the radio, it was deemed necessary to issue a report which would set forth the conditions under which radio equipment should be installed in buildings.

Buildings outside of buildings should not be used for the purpose of housing radio equipment. The equipment should be housed in a building which is not used for any other purpose.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED FOR OUR PUZZLED FANS

T. W. A.: I wish to make a loose coupler.
Ans.: Use No. 24 double silk-covered wire on the primary and No. 20 on the secondary. For music reception, eighty turns on the primary and 100 on the secondary, properly tapped, should give good results.

R. Y.: How do you fasten a rotor inside a tube to make a variable coupler?
Ans.: We suggest an eight-thirty-second rod threaded which will pass through the rotor and tube. Place nuts and washers on the rod against the rotor and against the tube, in order to hold them in place. To make the bearings in the tube use a small piece of brass pipe for a bushing.

S. T. M.: Does the variable condenser facilitate tuning for outside stations?
Ans.: Yes.

J. B.: I am enclosing three hook-ups. Which is the best?
Ans.: Hookup No. 1.

A. N. G.: How do you make a good oscillation transformer for one-half K. W. spark set?
Ans.: Take some one-inch sixteen-gauge band brass and make two helices, one for the primary and one for the secondary of the O. T. Space the turns about one-half inch apart. Place three turns on the primary and about fifteen turns on the secondary. You can make the supports for the band brass in the shape of a cross and saw small notches therein to receive the edge of the band brass. The primary is connected in series with the spark gap and condenser. The secondary is connected in the aerial circuit.

For best operation and tuning, the primary and secondary should be about twelve inches apart.

CARLETON READY TO LET WIFE, EDITH DAY, WED ENGLISH ACTOR

New York, Nov. 10.—Carl Carleton, producer of Broadway musical comedies, late yesterday discarded his role in presentation of Pat Somerset, British actor, who is facing deportation on charges of moral turpitude, and asked clemency for the man whom he had charged had alienated the affections of his wife, Edith Day, the original "Irene."

Mr. Carleton, in a letter to Commissioner of Immigration Tod, asked permission to withdraw from the case and requested that the authorities be lenient toward Somerset.

"A phrase from the Bible: 'The pride of thine heart deceived thee,' has aided me in reaching this decision," he wrote. "My wife, Miss Day, and Mr. Somerset, took the course they did because they love each other. My own pride has kept me from seeing it in this light before."

"Regardless of my personal feelings, there is another life at stake, their child's. Inasmuch as the parents intend to marry as soon as divorce proceedings are completed, I think I should do my part in simplifying matters for that child."

Mr. Carleton and Miss Day, whom he had chosen to star in the musical play "Irene," were married when the

Getting Rid of a Stubborn Cough is Child's Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself at Home
It's Cheap—but You Can't Beat It.

If you want to take care of that bad, hang-on cough and do it in a few hours, better get one ounce of Parment (double strength) and mix a half pint at home.

You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half pint bottle.

You'll travel the world over before you get a medicine that will act so surely and quickly on the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It kills the inflammation, the tickling sensation stops with the first spoonful, the heavy breathing goes and chest membrane, free from irritation and mucus, follows.

For catarrhal conditions such as mucus droppings, clogged nostrils and watery eyes, it won't disappear—ask for Parment (double strength). Speak plainly so that the druggist will know exactly what you want.—Advertisement.

UNANIMITY RULE HANDICAPS LEAGUE

Change to Parliamentary Form Proposed by Delegates.

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 10.—Several influential delegates to the third assembly of the League of Nations are going home with the conviction that the rules of the next assembly ought to be changed so as to make the proceedings more parliamentary, more like the debates in the American congress, for instance. They hold that the unanimity rule, which thus far has been applied to deliberations of committee as well as to those of the full assembly, is choking out interest and that, unless this rule is abolished, the proceedings will become duller and duller as the work of the assembly becomes more and more confined to routine questions. The request can be abolished for committee work by the assembly itself, but an amendment to the covenant is necessary to do away with unanimity in decisions of the full assembly.

The committee, under the unanimity rule, said one delegate,

"are made to look like machines for the production of compromises, while the assembly proceedings run into an anti-climax in the closing week of the session, because all important questions have been decided unanimously in committee. There is nothing for the full session to do but approve. It can debate over again the points that were contested in committee, but under the unanimity rule it can change nothing. The assembly rules ought to encourage minority reports on questions that are contested in committee, giving opportunity for final debate in the assembly."

The unanimity rule has thus far resulted in a compromise on nearly every important question before the assembly. Sometimes there are double compromises, first in committee, and then in the assembly. What some delegates criticize most in the rule is that it sometimes gives an air of insincerity to the decisions. For instance, in the debate on the resolution in favor of mutual guarantees of security, several orators spoke against the proposition while others said their countries could not accept it, nevertheless the vote for the resolution was unanimous.

JAPANESE "WETS" TAKE NO CHANCES

Tokio, Nov. 10.—To the casual observer there would not appear to be any chance of Japan following the United States and going "dry," but the distillers of sake and brewers of beer, the latter now almost as much a national drink as the former, are taking no chances. A nation-wide campaign has been inaugurated in which speakers from the colleges and universities debate on the beneficial qualities of sake and beer. Dr. Suzuki, a well-known chemist, is delivering a series of lectures among the titles of which are: "Evils of Hypocritical Propaganda," "Sake After My Impressions of America," and "Prohibition and Japan."

GIRLS WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES IN WORLD WAR PUT IN GOLD STAR LIST

Women's Overseas Service League Assembles 161 Names.

Part of Armistice Day Observance Plan for Saturday.

Duluth Girl's Name Is Among Three From Minnesota.

(By the Associated Press.) Chicago, Nov. 10.—The hundred and sixty-one names of "gold star women"—American girls who gave their lives in the world war—are found on the list made public today by the women's overseas service league, compiled as a feature to Armistice day. Most of them were under French and some in Germany, Austria, Armenia, China and Mexico, and others in England.

Plans for a perpetual testimonial to the former overseas women of the American Expeditionary forces were announced in connection with the list, which will be presented at the league's convention here in June, next year. Chicago headquarters of the league said in the announcement.

There is a handsome bronze tablet in the Army and Navy building in Washington, commemorating the girls and women who died in the war, but presented in Washington by these girls and women of the world. It is a memorial to the girls and women who died in the war, but presented in Washington by these girls and women of the world.

Three girls from Minnesota are named in the list: Helen G. Gammage, of Duluth; Helen G. Gammage, of Duluth; Helen G. Gammage, of Duluth.

Other names include: Helen G. Gammage, of Duluth; Helen G. Gammage, of Duluth; Helen G. Gammage, of Duluth.

REGULATION BY GOVERNMENT IS HELD TO BLAME

Responsible for Decline in Rail Development, Says Markham.

REGULATIONS UNWISE Situation Unprecedented in History, Declares Railroad Head.

(By the Associated Press.) New York, Nov. 10.—Government regulation is almost wholly responsible for the decline of railroad development and existing shortage of transportation, Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, said today at the annual dinner here last night.

"In this respect it creates a situation unprecedented in our history—a situation which should cause every farmer and business man, every railway regulator, every public man, every wage worker, to pause and reflect seriously."

"In past periods of business revival the increase in freight business has gone on until it has reached a point 25 to 50 per cent higher than the normal level. It may well ask itself whether, with the railways leading it, it is possible to expect within a few months or years to handle such an increase in business as the normal level of the general revival."

Mr. Markham said the situation is due partly to the coal and ship shortage, but he added that the larger contributing factor was the more rapid development of the country than the development of the facilities of the railroads.

"Clearly it is essential to the welfare of the country that the railroads should be rapidly expanded, but their existing facilities in poor condition, and that they should be expanded rapidly to meet the needs of the country."

"It is plain to every man who looks at the situation that the coal and ship shortage is a chronic shortage of transportation, which would seriously hinder all increase in production and commerce as long as it lasted."

"If Johnny breaks a window by carelessly or intentionally throwing a stone he must be called to account for it," he stated. "If at home, it is done by papa or mamma who are the judges of the juvenile court, and if outside the home, it is the public justice who acts. The duty of each is the same."

"First to determine justice and locally, did Johnny do the charged act? If he did not, then papa or mamma or the public justice, as the case may be, must let Johnny go. If on the other hand, Johnny is found in the wrong, then papa or mamma or the public justice must study over carefully the cause of his offending and devise a wise and judicious remedy to cure the evil in Johnny."

BRAZIL'S CENTENNIAL READY FOR VISITORS; EXHIBITS INSTALLED IN BEAUTIFUL PALACES

By CLAUDE O. PIKE. (Special Correspondent of The Duluth Herald and Chicago Daily News) Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 25.—Brazil's Centennial exposition will have the exhibits in place in virtually all the buildings by Dec. 1, according to semi-official announcements, and the big fair will then be under way.

The generally beautiful effect of the grounds and buildings could be appreciated, however, for the first time, at a marvelous scenic setting in the location on Guanabara bay, along the central border of Rio de Janeiro.

More than 100 acres have been turned into the exposition site and as illustrative of the achievements of the Brazilian people, it is pointed out that less than a year ago a great part of the site was under water, a part of which was a bay.

Americans visiting the exposition show the most interest in the central building and in the Monroe palace. The latter is a replica of the building which graced the St. Louis exposition in 1904 and was proclaimed one of the most beautiful architectural lines and conception of the modern world.

At the close of the St. Louis exposition, Brazil erected its replica in Rio, called it Monroe palace and dedicated it to the friendship that has always existed between Brazil and the United States.

Uncle Sam's Building a Target. The United States building at the exposition is the subject of much criticism from the part of Yankee visitors, who feel that it does not compare favorably with those of other nations at the centennial. They assert that the United States, the richest nation in the world, has not every other nation outstrip her here.

Great Britain, France and Belgium have imposing buildings, and in design and architecture the kind that create a favorable effect on the Latin-American mind. Germany, claiming to be on the verge of economic ruin, has erected an imposing building which is having its effect on the minds of those interested in foreign trade.

Americans who are seeking to explain the type of building erected by their government insist that economy was the rule at home when the design was adopted and that it was desired to erect a building with a dual purpose in view, that of showing to the house the government exhibits during the exposition and could be used as the permanent headquarters of the government after the centennial has passed into history.

The earth and rock used in filling the new area were taken from a huge hill, Morro do Castelo (Castle Rock) which covers fourteen blocks in the heart of the business district of Rio. Castle Rock, now fast disappearing, was over 200 feet high, but succumbed to the attacks of huge steam shovels imported from the United States, and also to the hydraulic system of excavating also used to remove portions that could be washed down under attacks of heavy streams of water.

REMARKABLE EXPERIMENT MADE BY AMERICAN COMPANY IN RUSSIA

President Issues Call to Congress to Meet on Nov. 20 SAYS EXTRA SESSION MADE NECESSARY BY "PUBLIC INTERESTS."

MUCH BUSINESS AHEAD Merchant Marine Bill to Come Up First in House.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Nov. 10.—Congress was called by President Harding last night to meet in extra session Nov. 20, next, in a session of the regular session. The call, sent forth, as is usual, in the form of a proclamation, declared the extra session was made necessary by "public interests."

Announcement that the call would be issued had been made early this week from the White House, and prior to that statements made by congressional leaders after conferences with the president indicated that the executive had practically made up his mind to convene congress in special session, although the call would not be sent out until after the election.

The call of the special session two weeks in advance of the regular meeting has been approved generally by Republican leaders in congress, who have felt that by getting an earlier start on legislation than would be afforded by the regular session, practically all important bills, including the appropriation measures, could be disposed of by next March 4, when the Sixty-seventh congress must adjourn sine die.

Merchant Marine Bill. Although the nature of the president's recommendations to be presented to the extra session has not been disclosed, the opinion of Republican leaders has been that the house will proceed directly to consideration of the merchant marine bill. The president agreed to postponement of action on this measure at the last session of congress, and party leaders think it would be taken up without delay when congress reconvenes.

While the house itself is working on this bill, its appropriation committee, including the committee on the supply measures, which really provide the most important task facing congress at the regular session, the members of the appropriations committee have been called by Chairman Madden to meet today to begin the work of providing the government with appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, and to begin the work of providing for the departments are virtually completed. Leaders hope to have four or five appropriations bills ready for the house by Dec. 4, when the regular session will begin.

The senate has several important measures left over from the last session, including the labor anti-trust bill, which has been passed by the house, and it is probable that President Harding will make some definite recommendation at the outset of the session as to changes in the transportation act. The senate also will receive a number of nominations.

Except in the case of vacancies none of the new members of congress chosen at Tuesday's election will take their seat until after next March 4. Two new faces probably will appear in the senate when it meets Nov. 20. Walter E. George was elected Tuesday in Georgia, and the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Watson, and if a recount in Delaware is conducted, the seat will be filled by Thomas E. Bayard, Democrat, to have been elected over T. Coleman D. Pont, Republican, who is serving out the unexpired term of J. O. Wolcott, resigned. Mr. Bayard will take his seat when the special session is convened.

Two women will sit in the house at the same time for the first time that body meets Nov. 20. Miss Alice Robertson of Oklahoma is a member of the House of Representatives. Winifred M. Huok was elected in Tuesday's election as a representative-at-large from Illinois to fill the seat left vacant by the death of her father, Representative William Mason.

SWEDISH AUTO TAX TO CONSTRUCT ROADS. Stockholm, Nov. 10.—Swedish motorists will begin to pay taxes on their vehicles and tires on Jan. 1, 1923. Tourists from foreign countries, however, may still bring their own cars into the country and roam about at will for as much as twelve months without any charge whatsoever.

The new auto tax, which is to be applied to the repairing and improvements of roads in Sweden, the levies on cars and tires according to their weight. Each car using rubber tires is taxed 8 kronor for every 100 kilograms or fraction thereof, which amounts to about $1 per 100 pounds. The tires are taxed 50 kronor for every kilogram of weight. Tires in use at the beginning of next year will be exempt, and in the case of pneumatic tires two extra will be exempt.

IOWA UNIVERSITY GETS WATER MEET. Iowa City, Iowa, Nov. 10.—The annual championship swimming meet of the Midwest Amateur Athletic union has been awarded the University of Iowa. David Armstrong, tank coach, said the date for the meet, which will bring the best swimmers of the Middle West to Iowa City, will be set soon.

Duluth Boy Arrives in Gulf State After Cross-Country Ride

Homer Townsend Crosses United States on Bike; Tells of His Travels.

Homer Townsend, a former postal employee here and a teacher in Duluth schools, who left Duluth on Sept. 20 on a bicycle trip to Daytona, Fla., arrived in the latter city last week, according to information received by his mother, Mrs. Sidney Carter, here. Townsend covered over 1,700 miles on his trip, stopping at farm houses along the way, sleeping out at night, and working in harvest fields, gathering an experience that he considers invaluable.

Decides Wanderings. Mr. Townsend, who is a graduate of the Kalamazoo college, has made a practice of traveling over the world, spending several years in the Hawaii islands and the West. In a letter to his mother, he described his trip through Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, where he worked on some of the farms for several days at a time, shucking corn and leading a farm life. His letter recounts eating and sleeping with farmers in Kentucky, riding along the Dixie highway, going up and down Louisiana, and many other interesting experiences.

JAPANESE UNIONS FAIL ON PLAN TO FORM FEDERATION

Oosaka, Japan, Nov. 10.—An attempt to form a federation of labor unions in Japan has failed, owing to the inability of the Socialists, who are in control of some of the unions, to agree with the regular unions to form a political party. A conference called here for Oct. 1 ended in a row in which the police took a hand, eventually arresting a number of the Socialists.

The Nippon Rodo Sodomei, the Socialist wing, wanted a federation with central control, while their opponents, the Kumiai Sodomei, wanted local autonomy. On the discussion of the rival resolution an outcry arose which threatened to develop into a free fight when the police intervened and were made the targets of bottles and stones, but soon got the upper hand, cleared the hall and took the rightists to jail, whence they later were released.

However, this fight between the two elements in the labor movement is said to be only one reason for the failure of the laborites to advance their cause. The Socialists in Italy, they are opposed to it, which yields great power, is society, all revolutionary movements, and its habit of taking "direct" action when called upon. It is backed by the great labor contractors, who supply labor in the bulk throughout the country. When a strike is called in a given industry, this organization often is asked to intervene in the interest of the prevailing order of things and usually it can induce the workers by one means or another to return to work. It is strongly opposed to labor unions and uses its influence to prevent them from gaining membership.

At a meeting of the Nippon Rodo Sodomei, after the failure to form a federation, a protest was entered against the labor union movement, including the labor anti-trust bill, which has been passed by the house, and it is probable that President Harding will make some definite recommendation at the outset of the session as to changes in the transportation act.

CHICAGO PARK ELK IS DRIVEN IN HARNESS

Chicago, Nov. 10.—A big American elk hitched to a light buckboard is a regular afternoon spectacle on the Lincoln park bridge paths. Last April the animal was only one of the wild exhibits at the park. Now it goes along the path, tamer and more tractable than many of the saddle horses it passes.

William Parker, superintendent of the park zoo, who trained "Bill" the elk, says the species can be broken to work as easily as the reindeer. The principal difficulty encountered was in accustoming the elk to the horses and automobiles.

COAL IN ENGLAND BECOMING DEARER

London, Nov. 10.—Coal prices in England probably will reach the highest level in history during the coming winter, according to London retail dealers. A general increase of three shillings a ton was made recently, and another will be announced within the next few weeks, it is expected.

The price of the best hard coal is now 57 shillings a ton, $12 a ton, graduating to 45 shillings for kitchen coal. The highest prices last year for the same grades were 41 shillings and 48 shillings. A further increase of six shillings may be looked for. The labor troubles and the forecast of an early and severe winter are given as the reasons for the added cost.

U. S. CANNED MILK POPULAR IN RUSSIA

Petrograd, Nov. 10.—American evaporated milk is finding an enormous market in Russia, and is being sold in the shops of Petrograd and Moscow as can be found displayed in American cities. Many of these brands apparently are put up exclusively for the export trade. The price here for a one-pound tin is from 20 to 30 cents, American cans of milk are sold in the village and at the great markets in the cities. In many instances it is peddled by children.

"MISTER 44"

By E. J. RATH

Copyright, 1921, by The Hill Syndicate, Inc.

THE STORY THUS FAR.

Sadie Hicks, a pecker in the Challenge company of Buffalo tucked a note into the pocket of her shirt for an unusual commission. A rush order dictated the box to Canada, and the note reached John Stoddard, sampling at Desper.

Stoddard mailed a friendly note, which reached Sadie the day the shrimp die. She started for Canada to find a job. Loaded the girl he thought had for hire that she was on the way.

Stoddard, located the girl he thought was "No. 1" onto the southbound express that waited for the train at the Deepwater siding, and threw into her lap his envelope containing $100 and her ticket and money. But the neighborhood conductor had seen Sadie on the train. Stoddard found her there, she told him of a girl she had met on the train. Crossing to Deepwater siding, their names were swapped. Stoddard signed an island, but soon saw they were drifting by.

good," she said sleepily. "I've had some outdoors, anyhow."

After a while Stoddard propped his back against a tree and his head dropped forward on his breast.

It was the sun shining in her eyes that awakened Sadie. She rose cautiously from her balsam couch and tiptoed toward the edge of the lake.

"I'll take a little walk," she said. "No. 44 needs his sleep."

Cautiously picking her way along the rocks, Sadie followed the winding shore. At last, looking out across the lake, she became aware of something familiar in the landscape. She glanced toward the woods. Fifty yards beyond she glimpsed the figure of Stoddard, still prone on the earth. He stirred, then sat up, rubbing his eyes.

"Hello!" he called as he saw Sadie. "How long have you been up?"

"Half an hour, maybe."

"You should have called me. What have you been doing?"

"I took a walk. It's a island."

He walked to the point, examined their horizon, and returned. "It's Pickered Bay," he said.

"I've been in here often," he added, "but never camped on this island."

"I suppose you're hungry?" he said. "We might nibble a little of that chocolate." He divided half of it between them and put the remainder aside. "We'll need that for lunch if we don't find something else," he explained.

"I wonder what Larry's thinking," he mused aloud.

"Larry?"

Stoddard was annoyed at his slip. He had not intended to tell her about Larry.

"The man I'm camped with," he explained, "it's a greenhorn in the woods."

"Aren't you working up here?" she asked presently.

"No," he admitted reluctantly. "I'm taking a vacation."

"Sadie began to look troubled. "Where are you from?" she asked.

"New York."

"Then you have no interests here?" Stoddard gazed desperately at a straw.

"Oh, I've got interests here, of course. Yes, indeed. My camp was an interest. Livingstone was an interest. Sadie was an interest."

"I thought you might have interests," she said, relieved. "It'd be an awful joke on me if you were just a hot-in-up here like I am."

Stoddard felt his face flush as he met her clear eyes. Almost he yielded to the impulse to tell her the exact situation, yet he held back. "Want to do a little exploring? I'd like to make a trip around this island myself."

"I'll show you the way," she said proudly.

"Near the farther end of the island, Stoddard diverged from their course along the shore.

"Here's where there's a camp," he explained.

"I went right by it and never noticed it," she said.

The blackened stones of a fireplace occupied the center of a small clearing. There were a couple of benches, made from saplings barked across convenient trees, and a table of like workmanship. Its top composed of bark strips.

A cupboard was represented by a wooden box fastened to a tree. There was a litter of rusted tin cans near by and a few sticks of split wood.

"The camera," said Stoddard contemptuously. "I've to lay to throw the cans overhead."

"Black housekeepers," she said with a nod.

"That's it. A man ought to keep the woods as clean as he would his own house."

"Cleaner," declared Sadie emphatically.

"Hunt around a bit and see what you can find," he advised. "Perhaps this time we'll be glad they didn't clean up."

Sadie instinctively made for the cupboard, and in a covered tin box she found crackers. The box was a third full.

"Can I have one?" she asked.

"Why, you poor kid!" he exclaimed. "Eat as many as you want."

"I'll count 'em first," she said. There were twenty-seven crackers.

"Half of 'em yours and half mine," she went on. "We'll divide the odd one. I'm going to eat three now. How many are you going to eat? Can you do with four?"

"All right," he laughed.

Stoddard continued his hunt about the camp, occasionally picking up bits of wine. Sadie discovered a rusty file.

"Now, look for fishhooks," Stoddard directed. "In the trees. Some campers have a habit of sticking fishhooks in the bark around camp."

A moment later, Sadie ran to him with a pair of hooks attached to a gut leader.

"I thought so, from the look of the place," he remarked. "A lot of these people throw away more outfit than they use. They ought to have nurses instead of guides."

"It ain't for use to knock 'em, No. 44. We ought to be passin' resolutions and votin' thanks. They've even fed us."

"Well, let's go on," he said after a final look around. "We'll come back if we need anything else." He put his treasures in an empty yard pail.

"It's a regular notion-counter," she affirmed. "Say this is some island, ain't it? Tell me something else to find."

"Bugs. For bait."

"I ain't strong for bugs," she sighed. "But tell me where to look for them."

"If we only had the scrip here, we could use 'em, too," she observed. Stoddard laughed.

"Your antipathy to lichen seems rather relentless, Sadie. I'm afraid you won't like my friend Larry."

"How big is he?"

"He indicated the approximate attitude of Livingston."

"That's a little more than a shrimp," she said judicially. "I'd say he was a peewee. But if he's a friend of yours I might stretch him into a sparrow. That's a little bigger yet. But it's a cinch he ain't a man, No. 44."

Another fine installment of this story tomorrow.

RISK COMPANIES SHOW BIG GAINS

Tokio, Nov. 10.—According to statistics compiled by the Life Insurance association, the total assets of the Japanese life insurance companies as they existed at the end of 1921 amounted to 522,332,000 yen, showing an increase of $1,288,000,000 compared with the end of the preceding year. Life insurance business in Japan has made remarkable development during the last few years.

The total, however, includes a considerable amount of tonnage (419,000 tons) on which work has been suspended for some time. Deducing this amount for purposes of comparison with figures for normal times, the merchant tonnage actually under construction in the United Kingdom amounted to 1,198,000 tons.

The average tonnage under construction during the twelve months immediately preceding the war was 1,890,000, or 922,000 tons more than the present figures.

The total merchant tonnage now building abroad amounts to 1,085,511 tons, but includes about 258,000 tons upon which work has been suspended, leaving about 827,500 tons actually under construction.

The tonnage building abroad is about 230,000 tons lower than the total building at the end of June last.

The figures for the leading countries are: Italy, 210,114 tons; France, 197,065 tons; Holland, 177,024 tons; United States, 147,056 tons, and Japan, 96,897 tons. These figures do not take into account the tonnage building in Germany and at Danzig, for which no returns are available, but it is estimated that the tonnage under construction in Germany at the present time is about 350,000 tons and at Danzig, 40,000 tons.

FIFTH INSTALLMENT.

"It's that point or nothing," he muttered to himself. "There's land there!" he cried, pointing. "But we've got to swim."

"You swim," said Sadie in a tired voice.

"Both of us!" he said sharply. He fairly dragged her toward him across the canoe, which sank momentarily under her weight.

"I'm a bum swimmer!" she gasped. "You go ahead. You'll make it all right."

"You'll come with me!" he shouted. "Understand?"

"I'll try," she whispered. "But it ain't no square deal for you, No. 44."

He hooked one hand firmly under her arm and struck out toward the nearest point. There were minutes when Stoddard was convinced that they would never make it. The sloppiness of their progress was agonizing. His numb arm bothered him and the waves that constantly washed over them made it difficult to breathe. His heart was pounding furiously and his lungs felt as if about to burst. But his fingers clutched for a grip as a wave threatened them heavily against the shore. For several minutes he clung there, gasping.

Then painfully he began to lift his burden out upon the rocks. She was limp in his grasp, yet he succeeded, and climbed slowly up beside her, lifting her, he staggered forward, mounding the short rise until his feet touched soil. He fell heavily, slipping in like a log. When he struggled to his knees he noticed her hands and began chafing and rubbing them.

"Sadie!" he called, bending over her. "Were all right, Sadie! We're ashore!"

"Thanks, No. 44," she whispered. Several minutes later Sadie sat up. "Feeling better?" asked Stoddard. "Sure, I sure do, saved in, didn't I?"

"You stood more of it than I believed any woman could," he answered, smiling. "And a lot of men for that matter. Let's get out of this wind if you can walk a little."

Stoddard reached a hand to her as she struggled to her feet. He led her into the low end of the woods, he said.

A few minutes of tedious travel brought them to a spot near the shore where there was an opening among the trees.

"This and her we can walk to the hotel, I guess," she remarked.

"No walking tonight. You're going to dry out and get some sleep. Think heaven. You get some 'tween," he said as he led from a cupboard a waterproof cylinder with a screw top.

He searched for a dead stump that might have been spared the deluge from the storm. Eventually he found one, and digging into it with his knife, began to extract dry powder. "Livingstone was his handkerchief," he made a mouth of it and filled it with the powdery stuff. Back to shore, Sadie saw he carried the "makings" and carefully constructed the foundation of his fire.

"It's an awful little fire," Sadie commented.

"We'll have the real thing in fifteen minutes."

After his first fire was well under way Stoddard built another some eight or ten feet distant. He found a log and dragged it to a point between the fires. This furnished a seat for them.

"Shoes off!" he commanded, unfastening his own boots. Two pairs of stout leather shoes were soon steaming at the edge of the fire toward which they faced.

Sadie fell into a reverie as she watched the crackling blaze, and Stoddard spent the minutes in carefully watching her. The damp coils of hair that fell about her shoulders almost matched the fire itself.

"I'm sorry I had to throw your stuff overhead," he said. "We'll never have managed to get it ashore, anyhow. You'll have to let me lead you some money now."

"Of course, my pocketbook is gone," Sadie said. "But I've still got 32¢."

"Better dry it before it turns to pulp," he suggested.

When he returned from his next trip to the woods dragging a fresh log for the fire, he noted two 10¢ bills and four ones agreed out near the rim of the embers and weighted with little stones.

"I can carry 'em," she said.

"No, sit still. How's the fire?"

"Great! I just like to sit and look into it—and think."

"About what?"

"Everything. Do you know what I was thinking of just as we was gettin' upst out there? I was thinkin' what a grand movie it would make."

"You're one of the film fanatics, I take it," he said, laughing.

"Who ain't? I mean folks who live in cities and can't get what they want except in the movies. Why, I put aside so much for it every week."

"How much did you get a week?" he asked curiously.

"Fifteen dollars."

"Not very easy sledding," he said.

"Why, I don't know," she returned. "A girl can manage. Why, I had a bank book. The other girls thought I was a nut. But if they'd've got that letter from you they would've been able to call on you, like you said to do. They wouldn't've even had car fare." He remembered the phrase, how: "Any time I can do anything for you, don't fail to call on me." So she had called—literally.

"Speaking of money," he observed, "let's see what else we've got. I have a knife and eleven matches. And here's my watch full of water, and about half a dozen smokes," he said carefully.

Sadie had been hunting, too, and from a pocket in her skirt she drew forth a damp, sticky cake of chocolate.

"Great!" he exclaimed. "We've got fire, grub, a knife, tobacco. Why, we're millionaires!"

Stoddard returned into his damp tent and made a series of journeys into the bush, restoring each time with his arms full of balsam-boughs. "I'm going to make you a bed," he explained.

Draway she stretched herself upon the balsam couch.

"It's dry and springy and it smells

good," she said sleepily. "I've had some outdoors, anyhow."

After a while Stoddard propped his back against a tree and his head dropped forward on his breast.

It was the sun shining in her eyes that awakened Sadie. She rose cautiously from her balsam couch and tiptoed toward the edge of the lake.

"I'll take a little walk," she said. "No. 44 needs his sleep."

Cautiously picking her way along the rocks, Sadie followed the winding shore. At last, looking out across the lake, she became aware of something familiar in the landscape. She glanced toward the woods. Fifty yards beyond she glimpsed the figure of Stoddard, still prone on the earth. He stirred, then sat up, rubbing his eyes.

"Hello!" he called as he saw Sadie. "How long have you been up?"

"Half an hour, maybe."

"You should have called me. What have you been doing?"

"I took a walk. It's a island."

He walked to the point, examined their horizon, and returned. "It's Pickered Bay," he said.

"I've been in here often," he added, "but never camped on this island."

"I suppose you're hungry?" he said. "We might nibble a little of that chocolate." He divided half of it between them and put the remainder aside. "We'll need that for lunch if we don't find something else," he explained.

"I wonder what Larry's thinking," he mused aloud.

"Larry?"

Stoddard was annoyed at his slip. He had not intended to tell her about Larry.

"The man I'm camped with," he explained, "it's a greenhorn in the woods."

"Aren't you working up here?" she asked presently.

"No," he admitted reluctantly. "I'm taking a vacation."

"Sadie began to look troubled. "Where are you from?" she asked.

"New York."

"Then you have no interests here?" Stoddard gazed desperately at a straw.

"Oh, I've got interests here, of course. Yes, indeed. My camp was an interest. Livingstone was an interest. Sadie was an interest."

"I thought you might have interests," she said, relieved. "It'd be an awful joke on me if you were just a hot-in-up here like I am."

Stoddard felt his face flush as he met her clear eyes. Almost he yielded to the impulse to tell her the exact situation, yet he held back. "Want to do a little exploring? I'd like to make a trip around this island myself."

"I'll show you the way," she said proudly.

"Near the farther end of the island, Stoddard diverged from their course along the shore.

"Here's where there's a camp," he explained.

"I went right by it and never noticed it," she said.

The blackened stones of a fireplace occupied the center of a small clearing. There were a couple of benches, made from saplings barked across convenient trees, and a table of like workmanship. Its top composed of bark strips.

A cupboard was represented by a wooden box fastened to a tree. There was a litter of rusted tin cans near by and a few sticks of split wood.

"The camera," said Stoddard contemptuously. "I've to lay to throw the cans overhead."

"Black housekeepers," she said with a nod.

"That's it. A man ought to keep the woods as clean as he would his own house."

"Cleaner," declared Sadie emphatically.

"Hunt around a bit and see what you can find," he advised. "Perhaps this time we'll be glad they didn't clean up."

Sadie instinctively made for the cupboard, and in a covered tin box she found crackers. The box was a third full.

"Can I have one?" she asked.

"Why, you poor kid!" he exclaimed. "Eat as many as you want."

"I'll count 'em first," she said. There were twenty-seven crackers.

"Half of 'em yours and half mine," she went on. "We'll divide the odd one. I'm going to eat three now. How many are you going to eat? Can you do with four?"

"All right," he laughed.

Stoddard continued his hunt about the camp, occasionally picking up bits of wine. Sadie discovered a rusty file.

"Now, look for fishhooks," Stoddard directed. "In the trees. Some campers have a habit of sticking fishhooks in the bark around camp."

A moment later, Sadie ran to him with a pair of hooks attached to a gut leader.

"I thought so, from the look of the place," he remarked. "A lot of these people throw away more outfit than

Good Health for Good Results

Keep Efficient by Keeping Well

This Letter Will Tell You How

Cumberland, Md.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was between thirteen and fourteen years old and was going to school, because I suffered with pains and could not rest. I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound again. I am strong, do all my washing and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. I am willing to answer any woman if she wishes to write asking what it did for me."—Mrs. JOHN HEIER, 33 Dilleys St., Cumberland, Md.

This letter is but one of a great number received every year from women, young and old, and from almost every walk of life. These letters testify to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Heier has a large family, and works very hard for them. But any woman is willing to work hard and to work long hours if her health is good and she is able to get the results she is working for. As she says, what the Vegetable Compound did for her it will do for other women, and every one should appreciate her offer to answer letters asking about the Vegetable Compound.

The Vegetable Compound contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and can be taken in safety by any woman. Your livelihood may depend on your health. So try "America," sung by the audience, will open the program. "Boys of the Old Brigade" is the song to be sung by male quartet. Inga Hill will sing "Have You Seen Him" in French. Evelyn Sandberg will give a solo dance "Christ in Plunder" to a song by Helen Palmer. Inga Hill will sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and Inga Hill. A trio will give a musical selection to be played by Ruth Rider, Sam Abnatan and "Abnatan."

On the committee are Dr. H. W. Anderson, F. A. Grudnosky, Halmer Peterson, Steve Johnson, A. F. Rydman, William Quale, Louise Sever, Ruth Newman, P. Stone and Charles Sandberg.

MANY FOREIGN-BORN SEEK CITIZEN PAPERS

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Increased applications for citizenship first papers has been evidenced at the district court this week. Nine applicants for papers appeared before the clerk of court in district court yesterday. It is expected that at the end of the year the citizenship records will show an increase of 100 to 200 more citizens have been made this year than ever before.

Hibbing was given a part of entry through the efforts of Earl Sawyer, former commercial club secretary of Hibbing. It was the intention of Hibbing that Hibbing was made a center where the foreign-born can apply for citizenship papers.

HIBBING PLANS TENTH CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tenth annual chrysanthemum show will be held at the Hibbing high school on Nov. 12 to 13. The show will be open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. in every day. The board of girls committee is making out the invitation lists.

More than 40 plants of 125 varieties in full bloom, approximately 1250 flowers, will be on display. The show will be open to the public and the proceeds will be used for the chrysanthemum show for Thanksgiving day.

FECK HELD TO GRAND JURY ON MURDER CHARGE

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Feck was arrested yesterday before Judge Will. Feck is charged with the murder of a woman named Feck. The charge is based on a photograph of Feck taken at a farm at Hibbing. Feck was arrested at Hibbing and taken to the Hibbing jail.

PHONE CASE BRIEF OUT IN BOOK FORM

The brief of the city of Duluth in the application of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company for authority to increase its local and rural rates in Duluth has been compiled and printed in book form by John B. Richards, city attorney. The brief elaborates on eleven points made by the city in the oral arguments before the state railroad and warehouse commission.

In the brief Mr. Richards states: "The proposed increase of rates to Duluth subscribers would be plain discrimination against them, as compared with the rest of the state. By comparison with other cities, the proposed increase of rates in Duluth is excessive and unreasonable. The present Duluth system, a direct result of recent consolidation, is overbuilt and therefore its actual value is not proper legal base for making local rates. Ratepayers' claim of annual operating expenses is too high and revenues stated are too low, even treating the Duluth property as sole base for rate making (which cannot lawfully be done)."

SUES FOR $5,500, GETS $1; MANY AUTO CASES

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three automobile cases within three days show the trend of modern days on the range say court scribes. More automobile damage cases are booked this calendar than ever before.

A jury in the case of Victor Frank against Charles Ahonen returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $1. The action arose from the result of an auto collision. The plaintiff sued for $5,500. The $1 verdict was the smallest damage awarded in a case in Hibbing for several years.

A jury in the case of Elizabeth Leary against Matt Riererson returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $1. The action arose from the results of an automobile accident. The third automobile damage case went to the jury yesterday was the case of Skor Jance against M. L. Sever.

GOGLYEYE GUILTY; FIVE YEARS IS SENTENCE

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Gogleye, Nett Lake Indian, charged with the murder of Jim Smith, another Indian, in a drunken brawl in his latter's home, was found guilty by a jury last evening in district court here. The jury deliberated two hours. Gogleye was sentenced immediately after the verdict by Judge Martin Hughes to serve a term no longer than five years in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. Gogleye, when asked if he had anything to say, said: "I am sorry. I am sorry." The plea of the defendant's attorney was self-defense.

PASTORS AND HEADS OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS CONFER TUESDAY

For the first time in the history of Duluth and the Northwest a conference of pastors and Sunday school superintendents will be held here next Tuesday evening.

The gathering is being arranged under the auspices of the religious education department of the Duluth council of churches and will be held at the First Norwegian-Danish Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, following a dinner at 6:30 o'clock to be served by the women of the church.

The conference will discuss Sunday school life and work from local angles and practically every Protestant minister and Sunday school head in the city will attend, according to Arthur H. Sanford, chairman of the committee in charge.

Among the subjects to be discussed at the conference are the following: Training workers, family religion, young people's division, boys' and girls' conferences, children's division, topics for county convention, adult division work and vacation schools. In addition, each minister has been requested to send in a list of topics that should be discussed at the conference. The dinner next Tuesday evening will be served at 6:30 o'clock, after which the conference will be held under the direction of the religious education department, of which Mr. Sanford is chairman, and W. L. Smith, executive secretary.

ELECTION WILL BE LECTURE SUBJECT

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clark will address the members of the Virginia Women's Study club on the "Significance of the Congressional Election" at the club next Monday afternoon. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Russell Barker and Mrs. G. B. Wood.

STANDARD IN SIGNAL LIGHTS IS PROPOSED

New York, Nov. 10.—A subconscious impulse to stop at the sign of red, the color of most lights marking exits in theaters, is a great factor in many theater panics, Walter S. Payne of Hartford, Conn., said at the organization meeting of the American Engineering Standards committee.

The sectional committee on colors for traffic signals began today in an attempt to establish standard signals of various sorts—traffic, railroad, emergency and others—throughout the country.

"We have always trained the child to think in terms of danger when he sees red," Mr. Payne said, "and the foreman and many others to stop when they see red. Yet all we go to the theater and find the fire exits designated by red lights. Stopping unconsciously at the color, red has doubtless been a great factor in panics."

"It is even more certain that automobile accidents have been due to the fact that at some earlier time the driver had been differently directed by signs of the same color."

Committees from the organization will investigate all types of signals, including those for air travel, in an attempt to discover the safest for national use, it was announced last night.

POWER TUBES BLOW, NO ONE IS INJURED

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest electrical turbines at Hibbing, Minn., blew out yesterday, creating 1,500 kilowatts of electricity and running at a speed of 2,000 revolutions a minute, blew up at the Hibbing municipal power plant at 5 o'clock. A number of men were standing near the turbine when the explosion occurred. Large pieces of steel and iron rained down on the ceiling and the steam rushed out into the building, but no one was injured. The loss is estimated at $60,000.

MAZURKA BLAST KILLS

Spangher, Pa., Nov. 10.—Methane commonly called marsh gas—was responsible for the explosion in the Reilly mine Monday, which claimed a toll of more than three score of lives. This conclusion was reached tonight by Seward Button, chief of the state bureau of mines, who completed the first phase of an investigation to fix responsibility for the disaster.

"Y" MEMBERS REPORT QUOTA TAKEN EARLY IN UNIQUE CAMPAIGN

The every-member-get-a-member campaign of the Young Men's Christian association, central department, is progressing satisfactorily, according to Bruce H. Bell, membership secretary.

Several members among the many who pledged themselves at a recent banquet to back the unique drive, have already obtained their quota. Recent authorization by the board of directors of the plan to offer a fourteen-months membership card for the cost of a year's fees, is proving highly attractive to the young men of the city, campaign workers declared today.

The membership committee of the Central and West Duluth men's department had a joint meeting last night at the West Duluth "Y" and it was decided that the two departments will be conducted in conjunction with each other in so far as possible.

It was stressed by the campaigners that the special inducement of two extra months for the regular membership fee will only extend through November.

Acad Pastor Dead

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Rev. William E. Hicks, 87 years old, 857 Lowry avenue northeast, died at his home yesterday afternoon after a short illness with pneumonia. Rev. Mr. Hicks was a native of England and came to the United States in 1885, settling at Tomah, Wis., and later moving to Union, Iowa. Twenty years ago, on his retirement as a Congregational minister, he moved to Minneapolis and was well known on the East side as a social service worker. His widow, two daughters, Mrs. A. Tymeson of Minneapolis and Mrs. G. F. McGraw of Garrison, N. D., and one son, Dr. F. B. Hicks of Grand Marais, Minn., seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild survive. Funeral services have not been arranged, but burial will be at Union, Iowa.

Why Women are Delighted With The R & G Elasticside. 1. Because the R & G Elasticside is a common-sense support, made with elastic webbing at the sides, and with scientifically placed light, flexible boning. 2. Because it is so comfortable that the wearer is almost unconscious of its presence. 3. Because it gives your figure the support it needs and safeguards against the penalties of insufficient support. 4. Because it is the biggest improvement ever made in the art of corsetry and thoroughly conforms with the style mandate of the day. 5. Because it is made by one of the largest and most successful organizations in the country—the R & G Company—famous for more than 50 years for its style leadership, the superior quality of its productions and its fair prices.

FRENCH "TIGER" TO TRY TO AWAKEN U. S.

Thinks Present World's Disorders Due to American Isolation.

By PAUL SCOTT HOWNER. (Special Cable to The Duluth Herald and Chicago Daily News, Copyright, 1922.) Paris, Nov. 10.—Georges Clemenceau, France's 81-year-old "tiger" statesman, sails Saturday for the United States with the avowed purpose of trying to reawaken the spirit of international co-operation and active helpfulness. Discredited in his own country because of what are regarded as his unjustifiable sacrifices vital to French interests to President Woodrow Wilson and Prime Minister Lloyd George in the Paris peace negotiations, his mission is entirely unselfish.

POWER RATES FOR JAPAN ARE REDUCED

Osaka, Nov. 10.—Charges for electricity in Japan have been reduced by the power companies, gradually as a result of the pre-war rates under pressure upon the government, which has power to regulate rates and also because of the decline in the price of coal, the necessity of various electric companies and the alteration from steam to water power for producing current. In Osaka, the chief industrial city, the rate for lighting has been reduced from 62 sen to 53 sen, and that for power from 8.5 sen to 7.5 sen.

What Is a Budget?

First of a New Series of Articles on "You and Your Pocketbook."

By Mrs. Christine Frederick

Household Efficiency Expert, Author of "Household Engineering." Copyright, 1922.

A "budget" is a plan of spending in advance. The term is taken from the "budget" of "bag" holding the money for next year's expenses which was brought before parliament in the old-fashioned plan of "household accounts" we kept track of what had been spent; in using a budget we plan what will be spent. To follow a budget is to think of every expense you must meet and separate them under the following six heads:

SHELTER—Rent, taxes, insurance, repair of house, care for work.

FOOD—All meats, groceries, dairy products, husband's or child's lunch, any meals eaten away from home.

CLOTHING—Ready-made garments and clothing materials, pressing, mending, cleaning.

OPERATING—Electric light, gas, coal, phone, ice, wages of maid or worker, laundry and its supplies, utensils, furnishings, china.

ADVANCEMENT—Education, music, theater, vacations, periodicals, organization dues, health, sanitary articles, physical, dental.

SAVINGS—Insurance, property payment, savings account, beneficiary organizations, bonds, etc.

Spending your income first—on paper! Instead of buying and spending just as the need arises—say $40 for food one month and $20 the other, squeezing down this week, then "splurging" the next—apportion in advance an annual, not a daily or weekly, view of your entire income. Its object is not skimping or going without, as much as wise, balanced spending.

Wife, father and children must all share and understand the plan of spending which the family proposes to follow. There's no such thing as "my money" or "your money" but only "our money" under the budget plan.

Now, how much shall the spending be? That depends on the amount of income, the work and profession.

standing of the father, the location of the family and particularly an what that family wants to get out of life. For greater convenience we speak of an "average" family as having two adults and three children under 14 years of age.

No family can accept the "budget" as a rough guide. All that any typical budget can do is to give you a guide to follow. It's just as if you were going to cut a dress from a pattern as nearly fitting as possible and yet you had to allow for an extra pleat here, or take in a seam there—to fit your particular family!

What is your income, and the size of your family? Have you a $1,200 income, a $2,000 one, or is it much larger? In another talk we'll take up how you should divide ideal incomes into the six groups we have just discussed today.

MANY WOMEN HUNTERS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Women take kindly to deer hunting this season. There will be many of them in the Upper Peninsula woods. Mrs. Richard C. Flanagan of Norway and Miss Alma Trepanier of this city have bought licenses. Reports from other towns in Cloverland say there will be more women hunters than ever. Heretofore only a few of the fair sex have ventured into the forests in quest of the fleet-footed denizens. About 300 licenses have been issued in Dickinson county this far.

CHANGES REGISTRY TO AVOID LOSSES THROUGH DRY LAW

Washington, Nov. 10.—The shipping board granted permission to the United American line (the Harriman line) to transfer the registry of the steamships Reliance and the Resolute from the American flag to the Panama flag.

While the basis of the request was not made public, it was said officially at the shipping board that the reason assigned was the recent Daugherty ruling against sale of liquor on vessels flying the Stars and Stripes.

Losses Much Business.

New York, Nov. 10.—R. H. M. Robinson, president of the United American line and of the American Ship and Commerce corporation, declared that the application for transfer of the steamers Resolute and Reliance from American to Panama registry was due to loss of trade resultant from the Daugherty ruling on the sale of liquor on American ships on the high seas. Early last summer, he said, the Resolute was chartered for a world tour and the Reliance for a South American tour. After

Danish Pride

MADE IN U.S.A.
EVAPORATED MILK

Keep this cow in your pantry

No waiting for the milkman—no trouble with sour milk—no bother of running short in the midst of baking, if you have a supply of

Danish Pride Evaporated Milk

From selected cows in the heart of the greatest dairy regions. Rigidly inspected, thoroughly sterilized and treated by the famous Enz process. Nothing added—nothing but water taken away. It's the modern, ideal milk supply for the home. MILK THAT'S ALL MILK! Always fresh, rich and creamy. Ideal for cooking purposes as well as for table use. Economical—satisfactory.

Send for free booklet giving ways to use Danish Pride Evaporated Milk. Ask your dealer for it. Two sizes. Order by the dozen so you won't run out.

RECIPIES.
Cream of Tomato Soup—One can of tomatoes seasoned with one medium sized onion sliced, three cloves, one small bay leaf and a little nutmeg. Cook one-half hour, then strain. Add one tablespoon flour, one pint of milk, cook, add strained tomatoes and a pinch of soda and let come to a boil. To make extra nice put tablespoon whipped cream on top when you serve.

French Fried Potatoes—One cup of potatoes sliced, three cloves, one small bay leaf and a little nutmeg. Cook one-half hour, then strain. Add one tablespoon flour, one pint of milk, cook, add strained tomatoes and a pinch of soda and let come to a boil. To make extra nice put tablespoon whipped cream on top when you serve.

French Fried Potatoes—One cup of potatoes sliced, three cloves, one small bay leaf and a little nutmeg. Cook one-half hour, then strain. Add one tablespoon flour, one pint of milk, cook, add strained tomatoes and a pinch of soda and let come to a boil. To make extra nice put tablespoon whipped cream on top when you serve.

ter, add the milk and the rest of the flour dissolved in a little milk. Season with salt and pepper and add the oysters, which have been heating in another dish, to almost the boiling point. At the last add the beaten yolks of two eggs.

Ever-ready biscuits—Soak 1 yeast cake in 1/2 cup warm water. Beat 1 quart of milk and allow to cool. Add 1 cup mashed potatoes, 3/4 cup lard, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, about 6 cups flour to make a soft sponge. When bubbles appear, knead as for bread. Keep in cold place. It is ready to use in twenty-four hours. Will keep for a week and can be used as needed for biscuits, cinnamon rolls, etc. Pinch off sufficient dough for your purpose, make into rolls or other shapes, put in warm place and when doubled in bulk bake in fairly quick oven.

Cabbage salad—One medium cabbage (cut fine), 1 sweet green pepper, 2 onions minced. Mix with 3/4 cup vinegar, salt and pepper to taste and 1 tablespoon sugar. Lastly, stir in 1/2 cup or more of thick cream or condensed milk. The ritz wheat cakes are made like buckwheat cakes, using white flour.

Baking New Potatoes—New potatoes can be baked as well as old potatoes but they should be pierced thoroughly with a fork so that the moisture has a chance to escape.

Mr. Green Discharged.
 St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Harry R. Green, charged with grave robbery and arson, was discharged in justice court for lack of evidence. Her husband, Harry R. Green, is being sought and faces the same charges in connection with the finding of a burned body in the ruins of his garage at Oakville, St. Louis county, which was destroyed by fire in September. The body at first was believed to be that of Green but later determined as that of a young girl which had been stolen from its grave.

The Herald's Market Basket

PRODUCE PRICES CHEAP FOR SEASON

Supplies of Butter, Eggs Liberal; Apples Move Freely; Receipts Large.

Consignment on the market are afforded the opportunity to buy butter and eggs at what are regarded by dealers as reasonable prices for the season. That is attributed to supplies being liberal as a result of mild weather conditions. The market is expected to tighten up materially as soon as temperatures take a drop.

Quotations in butter have been peaking during the last two weeks at from 44 cents to 47 cents a pound for whole milk. Operators are receiving substantial supplies from creameries over this territory, and a ready market is being found in the East for the Minnesota product. In spite of the general congestion in transportation facilities, good dispatch is being given dairy products and other perishables shipped from this point on steamers with refrigerator facilities.

The market in eggs is firm after its show of weakness a week ago, and it is unchanged at from 35 to 38 cents a dozen wholesale and 30 cents for storage. Current receipts of eggs from poultry flocks over this district are being found nearby sufficient to take care of the market needs.

Apples Moving Well.

Apples are still a feature in the fruit market. A large consignment of New York state Baldwins and Kings was received by Duluth dealers this week and with their quotation standing at from 15 to 16 1/2 a barrel they are moving out freely. Western box apples are also being received in large quantities. Arrangements have been made for a shipment of fancy Delicious apples for the Thanksgiving trade. Grapefruit is another fruit that is in favor. Shipments from Florida are coming along regularly and a ready sale is being attracted through the quality score.

California greenstuffs are holding the boards at present, with celery and head lettuce being featured by dealers. The variety of California and Florida-grown vegetables will broaden from now on in the ordinary course of the trade.

Quotations in heavy vegetables are averaging up the lowest in several years. Every effort is being made to move potatoes to aid farmers over this district who have dug record yields, while the large consuming markets in the South are congested and prices are on an unfavorable basis for Northern growers, after making freight charge allowances. Farmers are reported to be pitting their potatoes to a great extent, and after the cleaning up of stocks now being carried in warehouses it is hoped that a sufficient supply in their market will come about.

How to Preserve Green Tomatoes

Copyright, 1922.

GREEN TOMATO PRESERVES.

To one peck tomatoes, sliced thinly, add one cup water, half a dozen lemons thinly sliced (remove the pulp, but do not peel), and a generous half-cupful of dry ginger roots, sliced; let the ginger soak in cold water over night. Boil half an hour, then add eight pounds sugar and simmer until syrup is very thick, stirring frequently.

TOMATO AND RAISIN PICKLE.

Spiculate a cup of salt over one peck sliced green tomatoes and pickle them.

to stand over night, drain, then add two quarts cider vinegar, two pounds seeded raisins, two tablespoons each of whole allspice and whole cloves and one blade of mace. Boil until thick—an hour or longer.

COUNTRY RELISH.

Chop together one peck peeled green tomatoes, eight good sized onions, four peppers and drain; stir in one small cup of salt, one tablespoonful ground mustard, one tablespoonful each of ground cinnamon, fennel of sugar. Pour over sufficient cloves, mace and ginger and four cups vinegar to cover, which may be about two quarts. Mix thoroughly and simmer nearly two hours.

SWEET PICKLE.

One peck tomatoes, sliced, half a dozen onions, sliced, and six peppers; sprinkle with half a cupful of salt and let stand twenty-four hours, then drain. Put two quarts vinegar in kettle, add two and a half pounds of sugar and two tablespoons each of whole cloves and stick cinnamon. When this reaches the boiling point remove the spices and put in the tomatoes, etc. Boil five minutes, then put into jars.

Heaven Candidate Dies.

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 10.—S. M. Trolinger, clerk of the circuit court of Barry county, died at the family home at Cassville shortly after he had been told of his defeat for reelection.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ELEVEN LEAVES TO PLAY FOR STATE

COACH COUGHLIN TAKES EIGHTEEN MEN TO ST. CLOUD

High School Champions of Northern Minnesota Crave Action.

A MIGHTY ELEVEN Defeated All of Best Teams in North Country by Decisive Scores.

By SANDY MACDONALD.

Eighteen members of the Cathedral high school football team, Duluth city and head of the Lakes conference champions, leave this morning for St. Cloud, where they will meet tomorrow afternoon the champions of the Minnesota state high school championship. In the party which will begin its journey toward the state capital will be Mickey Macdonald, Meagher and Montroy, halfbacks; John Banks, fullback; and Carson, quarterbacks; Bradley, Hudson, centers; Di Marco, McNeill, guards; and Spaulding, tackles; Metzger, O'Leary and Dillon, ends.

Eddie Buech, star halfback, who was injured in the game against Ashland, will go with the team, but will not get into the game. He will not get off his crutches.

Over 100 fans will travel to St. Cloud in autos to see the game. Most of them will leave this evening, but some will start from here tomorrow morning. The Cathedral team stands today at the head of the Central high school divisions, having defeated all comers, including the St. Paul Mechanic Arts which had already defeated the best team to Alexandria high, last year's state champions, and among the leading contenders in the state. St. Paul, the competition being one of the hardest fought high school football ever staged in Minnesota, is absolutely no question, but what St. Cloud is the greatest team in the state with the most complete and consistently settle the state championship.

Cathedral high, by virtue of the fact that it defeated every high school eleven in the North of any standing and in decisive scores, is most probably entitled to represent the North country, this in light of the fact that some range professors have decided to enter a special district championship team which will be named this season. They do not have a name, but the Cathedral team, by its unbroken record of victories over the greatest high school teams in the state, took that play out of their hands.

Everyone in Northern Minnesota with sufficient sense to follow the high school games knows which team holds the championship and to effect a change in the lot of strength to the public label, not detract from it.

Four teams of the North country, Duluth Central, Denfeld high of West Duluth, Bemidji high of Bemidji, and Superior Central in the Iron ore fields and teams like Superior Central and Cathedral high could make this team daily, playing them all in turn.

Cathedral defeated Superior Central 16 to 0, turned back Bemidji by a 14-0 score, beat Morgan Park 24 to 0, vanquished Denfeld high 12 to 0, and defeated Superior Central 35 to 0. In the five games they piled up 146 points to their opponents' 4.

Representatives of the range high schools who met in Eveleth on Wednesday night and reached a decision which "brushed all the squabbling" that had arisen regarding the district championship," said in their published report:

"Several ranges and Duluth high schools were claiming the district title, and a number of post-season games are being scheduled so that the controversies of the various schools could be brought to a decision. A number of high schools, however, protested that their claims for the title were being overlooked and the decision not to award an official championship will be the cause of the dispute.

"St. Cloud high school, which is scheduled to play Cathedral high school at Duluth next Saturday for the mythical state title, will be notified that Cathedral is not the representative of this district, and the downstate school will be advised against meeting the Zenith City team."

"If it grasps! After showing they are incompetent to iron out their own little troubles, they have the temerity to attempt to tell St. Cloud Technical high what to do about its own sweet schedule. But they are not fooling St. Cloud any more than they are kidding the remainder of the state, for Minnesota knows just the same as the head of the Lakes knows that Cathedral high is the championship team of not only the Duluth and range districts but of the entire North.

"Public opinion takes high rank above the decision of any board, and to this instance fairly justify a decision which can say that the Cathedral team is not the best in the North. If there are any teams in the North that are banking for a contest with the Duluth school eleven all they have to do is ask for a date, according to the statement given out last evening by Coach D. M. Coughlin of the Cathedral team.

The College Shooting Match.

New York, Nov. 10.—A shooting match will be held between the March and the fourteen universities affiliated with the Intercollegiate Athletic Association of the U. S. A. The match was announced yesterday. Trophies will be awarded to the winning team and the best individual score and on the basis of the results a ranking list will be published.

HIBBING TO USE MINNESOTA SHIFT AGAINST DULUTH

Formations Made Famous by Dr. Williams May Prove Disastrous to Kelleys.

THE FINEST THAT'S EVER SEEN IN THE GAME

Determined to defeat the Kelley-Duluth pro football eleven by a decisive score, the Williams team meet them next Sunday at Athletic park, this city, the Hibbing All-Stars, one of the most formidable eleven every organized in the state, has been tuning up all this week on the celebrated Minnesota shift. Every player on the team has long been familiar with Dr. Williams famous formations and this has made it easy for the Ore Diggers to perfect their play.

The regular season as a result of this week's drill, come here prepared to make a strong drive, and the Kelleys-Duluth will have to be perfect to withstand the concerted attack. The Hibbing line, with Rundquist at tackle, will be a mighty force, and they will be in control of the game. The Kelleys, who are captain and guard and Buland and Turquist at tackle, will be a mighty force, and they will be in control of the game. The Kelleys, who are captain and guard and Buland and Turquist at tackle, will be a mighty force, and they will be in control of the game.

The Hibbing ends, Ruels and Underwood, are two of the best ever seen in action here, while Buland, quarterback of the Hibbing team, is one of the cleverest players in professional football.

The sudden and unexpected death of Arthur E. Junilia (Jack Sharkey), guard, who bested the Hibbing team, and a most popular player, caused a cloud to hang over the local eleven most of the week, but last evening the Kelleys settled down to hard scrimmage work and the result shows the Hibbing team in excellent shape for a hard battle.

Playing in the line for Duluth next Sunday will be Williams at center, DeWitt and Strand at guards, Killeen and Stiel at tackle, and Ryan and O'Donnell at ends. McCormick and Gilbert will be drawn back to the line, while Meador, Coughlin, Macdonald and Cole will be in the halfback position.

The Hibbing team has been suffering from strained tendons in his kicking hand, but he will probably be seen at his best in Sunday's contest.

The Hibbing team will arrive here Sunday morning with plenty of money to wager on the result of the game, and undoubtedly, it will all be covered. Hibbing won plenty on the occasion of their last visit, even in the face of their 6-to-0 defeat, for the Kelleys netted $10,000.

Several thousand Meadors range from Duluth to Hibbing, and the Hibbing team, which is expected to witness the contest, according to reports, will be in excellent shape for a hard battle.

Manager Dewey Scanlon of the Kelleys is preparing to take care of one of the largest crowds of the season.

SOME OF PRINCETON'S HOPES

YOUTHFUL GIANTS ST. PAUL FIGHTER MAY BE PEDDLED READY TO BATTLE

International League Remains Silent as to Draft.

By JOHN B. FOSTER.

(By Special Leased Wire to The Duluth Herald, Copyright, 1922.)

New York, Nov. 10.—The New York National league club has some young players who will be available for trade when the magnates gather at Louisville for the minor league meet. The players who are most likely to be traded are those who are being held out with a string attached to them. Of course, said string will be pulled and they will be drawn back to the Giants' outfit if they show anything in their new environment.

The International league is keeping very quiet as to its attitude on the draft. As Dunn has sold Bentley out of the Baltimore club and may let others go if he can get enough for them the International are beginning to wonder if it will not be best for them to stand with the Pacific coast league in opposition to the draft. They have no young players who are worth much now or any who perhaps might be drafted at the finish of 1923. If they should be drafted they would be out of the coming season. It would pay them to negotiate with draft measure but to deal in cash outright as the Pacific coast has done.

The draft of the Pacific coast to enter the draft has earned for clubs of that organization at least $500,000 more than the clubs could possibly have received if they had accepted the suggestions made to them by the higher powers of baseball. They feel that their course has not been justified by results. In other words, they do not see why they should not have the same right as the Eastern young players and retain them as is exercised by the major leagues.

The next thing that the Western clubs expect to hear is a proposal from the Pacific coast league that it be classified as a third major league. It has been discussed but not very publicly. The Pacific Coast clubs feel that they can operate a circuit on a major league basis because they are so far separated from the East. The nearest major league club to them is St. Louis and there isn't a chance of conflict of interest with St. Louis. Of course, if the Pacific coast were a major league, it would not prevent them from sending their players East.

Duluth School Elevens Tuned High for Battle

Great Armistice Day Crowd to See Denfeld-Central Game.

By FIELD JUDGE.

With the line showing good defense and offensive playing during the week, the backfield men have been able to get away to good starts, and Kelly's punting is up to its usual high standard, and Parkins is depending on this line to save the Central goal.

Coach Boyd this morning has been spending a good deal of time with young Bernard, halfback, who has displayed good kicking ability during the season. Monday expects to match Bernard's toe against Kelly's toe in the contest tomorrow. Method tackle and offensive fullback, has been going great during the week. Capt. Boyd this morning has been practicing a stone wall defense to spring on the Centralites.

One of the best of the leading high schools, with both elevens about evenly matched, the contest is the most strenuous practice week of the season will have been completed tonight by both elevens with the men in tip-top condition.

ARMY ELEVEN IS SET TO VANQUISH NOTRE DAME TEAM

West Point Players Have an Unusually Strong Machine.

CORNELL LOOKING UP Ithacans Are Favored to Defeat Dartmouth at Polo Grounds.

New York, Nov. 10.—The Army and Navy elevens are more evenly balanced today between West Point and Notre Dame than they have been in years. The Army result in a bitter struggle in the most important intercollegiate football match scheduled for this Saturday.

Notre Dame is weaker than last year and the Army is stronger. These facts should bring the Army elevens more nearly on an equality. Knute Rockne, coach at Notre Dame, has had to build up a team without a strong nucleus of stars, such as he had last year, but he can be counted on to have a number of shifts and passes ready for use against the cadets which will be executed with startling precision and accuracy. The Army has taken a leaf out of the Notre Dame book and is playing a different brand of football than was shown last year.

The Cornell-Dartmouth game at the Polo Grounds here should result in a victory for Cornell. The Army University and College of the City of New York also play in New York State. Cornell has a team which is favored among the pupils of Thos. and Neville, the rival coaches. On the season showing New York university should win.

Two good games will attract the enthusiasts of Pennsylvania—Pennsylvania against Pittsburgh at Philadelphia and Penn State against Carnegie Tech at State college. Penn and Penn state each have suffered humiliating defeats this year and each will be out for revenge Saturday. In view of recent losses in the Pittsburgh team, Penn will have difficulty in pulling out of this game, and no time to build up Penn State with Carnegie, although Bedek's men should win.

The really important games in the Middle West scheduled for Saturday are those between Iowa and Minnesota and between Ohio State and Chicago. Howard Jones' team should be successful over the team from Minnesota. The Ohio State-Chicago game will be a hard-fought one, but Chicago should win, especially if John Thomas plays.

Wisconsin and Indiana are expected to produce a good battle. The Yale-Maryland game at New Haven ought to be easy for the Blue and give them a chance to put in substitutes. The Williams-Wesleyan game at Williamstown, however, should be a great contest.

Two visits of Intercollegiate importance are the journey of Baylor from Austin in Texas to Boston college and the pilgrimage of McGill from Canada to play Syracuse. In the South Alabama and Georgia are expected to witness the contest. Tickets are on sale in large numbers for the convenience of the fans.

ARE ON DECREASE

Big Game Hunters

Several hundred Duluth hunters went forth to the forests this rain-soaked morning to stalk deer and moose. This is the first day of the open season on big game. Interest in the pastime is not as keen as in years past for the reason that the deer and moose are too far removed from this city. Where thousands of hunters went forth in the years that are gone, only hundreds are leaving this season.

Most of the animals will do their hunting near the Canadian border, where, it is said, deer and moose are still to be found in large numbers.

There are two Sundays during this season, which will give the short-horned hunters double the opportunity to get into the big timber.

NORTHLAND COUNTRY CLUB IN ANNUAL SESSION

Members of Northland Country club will hold their annual meeting next Wednesday evening at the clubhouse when the election of a president and several directors will be the chief matter of interest to come up. The club has some great plans mapped out for next season and these will probably be discussed at the annual gathering next week.

COUGHNERS LEAVE FOR IOWA

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10.—A busload and injured University of Minnesota football team wound up training and left last night for Iowa City to play Iowa's Big Ten champions on Saturday. Injuries sustained in last week's game with Wisconsin probably will keep four coughners on the sidelines. Iowa has defeated Minnesota in their last four annual games.

SCORE SHOULD STAND, SAYS COLLEGE PAPER

New York, Nov. 10.—The Columbia Alumni News insists in an editorial today that the score of the New York university-Columbia football game, played Oct. 21, when it was 7 to 6 in favor of N. Y. U., should be allowed to stand despite the recent admission of Referee William N. Moore that he erred in judging the deciding play.

"Who is a crew maxim to the effect that once a crew starts, it must abide by the vagaries of the course," Boston American, and in 1912 whatever Mr. Morrice will finally decide and no matter whether the technical result shows in the city, I will be better prepared for a hard campaign next spring than I was when I got back into the game on May 27 after serving out the suspension Judge Landis gave me.

"I was with Col. Huston that my value to the team lies in my ability to hit home runs and I am going to show it in the city. I will be better if I get a full season in which to do it."

New York, Nov. 10.—Looks today as if Tommy Gibbons will be the champion of the world in the Pacific coast to enter the draft has earned for clubs of that organization at least $500,000 more than the clubs could possibly have received if they had accepted the suggestions made to them by the higher powers of baseball. They feel that their course has not been justified by results. DATES FOR ROWING REGATTAS FIXED

New York, Nov. 10.—Dates for two of America's rowing classics were announced last night when the American Rowing association, holding its annual meeting, fixed April 28 for the Child's cup race and May 26 for the American Henley regatta. Both will be held on the Schuylkill river at Philadelphia.

An earlier date than usual was set for the Child's cup race in which Columbia, Princeton and Pennsylvania crews will be contestants, as part of a move by the association to avoid conflicts in regattas such as have existed in past seasons.

BANCROFT IS COMING

NORTH TO HUNT DEER

New York, Nov. 10.—Dave Bancroft, the Giant captain, is ready to go to the woods to hunt deer. He will be accompanied by a number of his friends. Bancroft has been an auto trip to the Bancroft home in Superior, Wis. After that, he will have a week's vacation. He will be back in the city on Monday. American Girl Has Composite Beauty, Says Famous Actress

Product of All the Old World Types of Beauty and Many More, Plus the Influence of the Broad, Rich Continent on Which She Lives.

The American woman is the product of all the old-world types of beauty and many more, and her chief charm is her frankness, says Doris Keane, herself one of the loveliest women on the American stage, who won an immense popularity when she starred in "Romance" and "The Carolina."

"Furthermore," says Miss Keane, "writing in the December number of McCall's magazine on 'Why I Believe in Beauty,' 'whatever a woman's aim in life may be, personal loveliness and charm are an almost certain passport to success. Success in the world of society, on the stage, in business— even in any of the several professions— depends in varying extent on a woman's personal appearance. Her happiness in her home and her success as a mother, too, hinges on this same quality. 'Can a woman who is discontented by a radiant, happy mother?'

"Beauty comes to us in many forms. A summer sunset, the glow of health in a young girl's cheeks, a bit of shimmering silk, the battle of wave and wind, all these we call beautiful. 'For each of these—and for many more—there is a type of feminine beauty. The summer sunset flits its counterpart in her whose beauty depends on her gorgeous coloring—the gold of her hair, the pink of her cheeks, the blue of her eyes, the carmine of her lips. The girl's fresh, unspoiled beauty is its own justification, reflecting her radiant good health. The dainty bit of silk is like one who is exquisitely fragile and rare, whose beauty is as delicate as a bit of old lace or a piece of Dresden china. The stormy struggle of wind and wave at sea, calls to mind her in whose countenance we can read the bitter conflict between will and emotion.

"Different as women are and diverse as their kinds of beauty, there is still sufficient in common among the women of a single country to permit us to speak of various national types. 'When I think of an English woman, I think of a woman who, if she is not tall, still gives the appearance of height. She is graceful, albeit frank, almost masculine in her gestures and movements. She has level eyebrows and looks at one calmly and steadily. She is at her best in evening dress amid picturesque surroundings. I think of her, lighted candle in hand, about to attend a broad, majestic flight of stairs. Or else she is a hostess, saying good night to her guests with just the proper mixture of formality and good fellowship.

"Needless to say, she is enthusiastic about sports and has gained her poise and self-command on the tennis court and the golf links. She is an able housewife and a good shot, and she enjoys fishing. But at night she is wholly feminine again. She seems a totally different creature from the woman who rode 'cross-country that morning.

"The woman of France is pert, pretty, petite—in a word, chic. She is graceful, quick, indeed, there is something almost birdlike about her. Her voice itself is a chirrup. Her features are animated, and she is delighted to watch the play of emotions upon her face. She has been reared in a society which gives frank acceptance to the belief that it is the duty of women to do their utmost to make themselves pleasing to men. Every word, every gesture, every intonation is adapted to this purpose.

"It has been said that the women of other countries are like silk, but the Italian woman is like velvet. It springs from a cultural background, many centuries old and from a people whose innate artistic sense is unsurpassed.

"Heroic in size, glorious in her coloring, the Scandinavian beauty seems to belong to a time when gods walked the earth and contended with men. Rays of the cold Northern sun seem hidden in her hair, her eyes are blue and fearless. There is something majestic in her attitude; she is stately even in her kitchen. No matter how large her frame, she is seldom clumsy. She has the vigor, the courage, the hardihood, the beauty of Northern lands.

"What shall I say of our own American woman? How shall I describe her beauty? She is the product of all these types and many more, plus the influence of the broad, rich continent on which she lives. She is like her English cousin but she has something of the grace and quickness of the French woman, the luxuriant beauty of the Italian, the heroic majesty of the Scandinavian. She meets men as equals. She considers it beneath her dignity to play a part. Her frankness is sometimes alarming, but its honesty is wholesome.

"In view of all these varying types, it is difficult to try to decide what constitutes beauty. Good features, becoming hair, a graceful figure—all these are important, but there are other qualities just as necessary. Intelligence, sympathy, understanding, a sense of humor, kindness, generosity—these and kindred traits contribute to an attractive personality, and without an attractive personality there can be no true beauty."

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma was imbrodering and I was doing my home work and the 2 gold fishes was swimming around as if they was looking for some place to go and ma sed, Willyum, you know I've got a good mind to take Walter and Donald to the gold fish show next Saturday.

Wah? O those gold fish, pop sed. Well, they'll come back angry at you and ashamed of themselves. Wat shames would they have against a lot of double jointed, goggle eyed Japanese fish? Those 2 fish are properly nothing but the children of common ordinary working fish, he sed.

Well, don't you know some of the greatest people in history and the things have sprung from humble parents? ma sed.

Whose talking about people? pop sed.

Nature is nature and we must judge others by ourselves, ma sed. Just look how graceful they are. Which do you think is the most graceful, Walter or Donald? she sed.

You gods at a question, I think Walter is more graceful but I think Donald has a manlier expression, pop sed.

Now Willyum yours jest making that up, ma sed.

Well, then, seriously speaking, I think Donald may be a bit lighter on his fins but Walter probably has more endurance, pop sed.

Well, I think yours rite there, ma sed.

Help, aid, sucker, pop sed. And he got behind the sporting, pape, and ma kept on imbrodering and I kept on doing my lesson and Walter and Donald kept on swimming around each other as if they knew each other but not to talk to.

The Housewife's Scrapbook

An old comb is an excellent implement to clean the carpet-sweeper. Comb the brushes once a week until all adhering particles are removed and your sweeper will always be ready for use.

To clean the marble slab cut a slice of lemon, dip it in salt and rub over the marble; let it remain an hour, then wash the slab in the usual way. A mixture of saleratus and whitening will remove stains from marble.

Ellabelle Mae Doolittle

By Bide Dudley

Ellabelle Mae Doolittle, the talented Delhi poetess, heard a little negro boy singing "Frankie" the other day and was charmed. The adventures of Frankie and her gentleman friend, Albert, interested Miss Doolittle greatly, because of the utter naïveté of the song. Hurrying home, she wrote a poem on American music. The poem:

American music isn't grand opera. It is the negro tune. And yet it is at the top era. As sweet as the hydrangea in June. The song about Frankie is delicate. And her calling Albert's bluff. Yet I presume some would bellyache about it and call it cheap stuff.

My sister's child, Tenney Ricketts, Cut off her grandfather's beard. Never do such a thing again, my child. He looks so awfully absurd. But, getting back to American music, "Frankie" is charming to me. I must stop now, for P. Silas Pettibone is coming in this evening for tea.

THE SEWING BASKET

Do you know how to tack lace? It has to be done in a special way so that the stitch will not show, and so that there will not be too much bulk of stitching in any one spot.

Well, thread your needle and do not knot the thread. Now take a stitch in the lace, and one in the hat, and draw the thread through until about three inches of it are left. Now, tie the three inches to the remaining thread in a regular everyday sort of knot. Tie it over about four or five times. Cut off the thread and your tacking is completed.

By this method you can tack a thing lightly, as they say. That is, the lace can be left so that it does not tightly hit the fabric to which it is being attached, but will assume a looseness and a fragility which is consistent with its filmy texture.

AFTER DINNER TRICKS

FIG. 1 FIG. 2

SECRETLY MOISTEN BOTTOM OF MATCH

The Balancing Match. The performer takes an ordinary match from a box and stands it upright upon the wooden surface of the table. The match stands there, balanced (see Figure 1). The spectators all try the trick with other matches, but with no success. The performer, however, can make any match balance whenever he wishes.

The trick is done by secretly moistening the tip of the right forefinger and pressing it against the end of the match. The match stands there, balanced (see Figure 2). The end of the match should be quite damp. When it is pressed against the wooden table it will stand there for half a minute or so. The trick may be repeated with other matches, but it is best not to do it too often.
