AN IMPORTANT TREATY.

During the past ten years many recommendations have been made for an effective closed period for halibut fishing. When the International Fisheries Commission visited this Coast in 1918 lengthy and conclusive arguments were advanced in favor of a measure of protection that was seen to be necessary at that stage.

It is not necessary to point out that the halibut industry is of tremendous value to this country and to this Province. Its returns represent top figures in our deep sea fisheries and constitute an economic bulwark that must be preserved at all costs.

HOW THE COWS COME HOME.

Were it not for the fact that Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen became an important political figure in the eyes of Canadians, because of his opposition to the removal of the cattle embargo, his defeat in the by-election fight in the Mitcham division would occasion little or no comment.

Sir Arthur's troubles actually commenced when he was appointed to the portfolio of Agriculture in the Lloyd George Ministry and sought endorsement at the hands of the electors of the industrial constituency of Dudley.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Every day and at least one way France is going deeper and deeper—into Germany. Mr. Lloyd George seems to be like a fish out of water. But if he continues to splash about in the political overflows he may yet get into the deeper and safer waters of united Liberalism.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

CANADIAN GRAIN ROUTES. Winnipeg Tribune.—There can be no permanent satisfaction in an outlet for Canadian grain that is liable to be blocked whenever the flow of grain attains large proportions.

WHEN WE FACE FACTS.

Modern progress and mechanical science are being held responsible for the changed mental outlook of a naturally excited mankind. We are being informed that people were more healthy and considerably easier pleased and contented one hundred years ago than they are to-day.

peoples of the world could vote themselves back to the early Victorian period or forward into the next century their knowledge of ermines would be gleaned from ancient fashion plates.

What is true of popular aspiration in the more material considerations will sooner or later find reflection in a natural desire to improve the human race by progressive methods that are quite as radical as those that have given us the aeroplane and radio conversation.

The State of Wisconsin has a state law for eugenic sterilization and its biennial report declares that many of the inmates of the Home for Feeble Minded that were sterilized, especially the females, "have been paroled and sent home, and generally speaking they are doing well."

One hundred years from now the human race will have accustomed itself to the revolutions which a better knowledge of the human frame will bring about. Departures from old-fashioned theories will no longer contain the alarm with which so many modern medical pronouncements are unwittingly endowed.

IMPROVING THE PRISONER'S MIND.

While only the super-sentimental would "coddle" the criminal there is a substantial argument in favor of improving the mind of the jail-inhabitant who has fallen foul of society in a fashion less serious than the man who has murdered or attempted to murder.

Other People's Views

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and clearly written. The longer an article the more of the writer's personality will come out unless the writer has a special gift in the direction of the Editor. SCHOOLS AGAIN.

To the Editor.—It was with great pleasure I read a letter in your issue of the 2nd inst. from one of Victoria's most esteemed citizens, Mr. F. R. Robertson. The facts as stated in his communication are simply astounding. I think we are deeply indebted to him for exposing the frantic financing of our Schools.

The present curriculum is simply a farce. The taxpayer is asked to contribute for painting, singing, dancing, drill instructor, domestic science, manual training, home economics, and other things which are of no value to the child.

OUR PROBLEMS.

To the Editor.—If you will grant me the space I would like to express a few thoughts on the city and suburbs in two of our present problems. The first is the city and suburbs in two of our present problems.

ANGLICANS DIFFERING OVER RITUAL, FACE BIG CHURCH SPLIT

Reservation of Sacrament, Shortening of Commandments; Prayers for Dead

London, Mar. 5.—A break between the Anglo-Catholics and the Evangelicals of the Church of England over the revision of the prayer book has been averted until July at the best, by the decision of the National Assembly of the Church to postpone the final decision until its two weeks session next Summer.

To understand the dissension some description of the factions may be helpful. The Evangelical faction is nearest to the dissenting Protestantism and ritualism in the service. The members of this group are to restore the authority and the ceremonies of the medieval church and they blame its materialism for the troubles of the modern age.

There also is a third group, which in America would be called the high-critics. It is composed of intellectualists who, while not great in numbers, nevertheless are influential. Then there are the Latitudinarians, once powerful, now insignificant, who believe that the State should have complete control over the church.

It is quite possible that some of the lesser difficulties will be overcome, but it is hard to see how any compromise can be reached on the three crucial points of difference: reservation of the sacrament, prayers for the dead, and the shortening of the commandments.

The Anglo-Catholics, who have been working for these changes ever since the Oxford tractarian movement began in the '40s, are not likely to take less, while the Evangelicals regard such changes as popish. They are shocked at the idea of changing a book which not one dot has been altered in 250 years.

Again, the idea of reserving the bread and wine after sacrament, which means placing the remainder inside the tabernacles for further use, is certain to cause great contention. One of the leading members of the house of the laity says: "On this rock, alone, the ship will split. I doubt if the measure will ever reach the revision stage."

The English hate coalition, yet for more than 200 years the great coalition and compromise of the Church of England has avoided foundering on the rocks. This church was founded into a coalition of Catholics and Protestants in England fighting as Catholics and Protestants and killing one another, as in the rest of Europe, to-day the church, in respect to creed and ceremonies compromises between Roman Catholicism and Calvinism.

"In the last century," he continued, "the rubrics and order of public worship of the church were subject to continual litigation in the ecclesiastical courts. Nearly every judge rejected the decisions of the former judges. The newspapers were filled with comments on these interminable litigations, the poor engaged in riots over them and great statesmen, like Gladstone, rushed eagerly into the religious arena to change the Book of Common Prayer, because before even a comma could be omitted a bill had to be introduced into Parliament and pass through a committee and three readings in both houses."

"But during the war Parliament legislated into existence a body called the National Assembly of the Church. This body consists of three houses—clergy and laymen. They can alter the constitution of the church, its services and its doctrines simply by laying the proposed modifications before Parliament. For they are before Parliament for every day the change becomes law.

"Hitherto the only advantage taken of the new law has been to create new bishops, but now they are tinkering with the revered book of prayer, which the Anglicans have used throughout the centuries. The National Assembly at its recent meeting did not dare discuss the revision in the prayer book. Instead it did propose to authorize the alternative prayer book, but this proposal only served to exasperate and arouse all parties in the church to separate. The clergy and the bishops already have given what is called 'general approval,' which is equivalent to the diplomatic phrase 'accepting in principle,' and, just as accepting in principle and accepting in treaty form are by general approval is a far cry from general approval to acceptance.

The house of laity will meet in April to consider the new prayer book. Then in July comes the full assembly sitting together. Next the matter will go before the convocations of York and Canterbury, the old legislative bodies of the church, representing the north and south, which are predecessors of the National Assembly. Finally it will come back to the National Assembly for final acceptance or rejection, but without the power of amendment. As a matter of fact, changing the creed or prayer book of the Church of England is nearly as difficult as amending the Constitution of the United States.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR RAILWAY DECISIONS

Thornton Does Not Want C. N. R. Atlantic Region Boundaries Changed

Halifax, March 5.—Commenting on Sir Henry Thornton's telegram Friday appealing to the people of the Maritime Provinces to "let matters stand" in connection with the boundaries of the Atlantic region of the Canadian National Railways and at the same time pledging his "friendship and goodwill." The Herald says, in part:

"The appeal of Sir Henry Thornton is, we think, the most manly and straightforward message that has come out of official sources to the people of these Maritime Provinces for many a long day. In the opinion of this newspaper it would be unwise and to a considerable extent unfair to unduly force the hand of the new chief of the Canadian National Railways."

GIRL HURDLER SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Newark, N. J., March 5.—Miss Camelia Sabie, star in the women's Olympics in Paris in 1922, set a new world's record for the sixty-yard low hurdles in the grammar school class yesterday by prancing over the course in nine seconds flat, in the Newark Grammar School games. The former record, which she set February 26, was 9 1-2 seconds.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 5.—William Tilden II, American tennis champion, won the middle states indoor singles championship here Saturday night, winning three of four sets played with R. L. Murray, of Philadelphia, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

FOURTEEN TEAMS ARE BUNCHED IN SIX-DAY BIKE RACE IN EAST

New York, March 5.—Fourteen teams were bunched at the end of the first eight-hours of riding in the thirty-four international six-day bike race at 3 a. m. to-day. They had pedaled 17 miles and 6 laps. Fitzsimmons-Spencer team lost a lap during a sprint.

KING INVITED GERMAN WITH OTHER AMBASSADORS

Special to The Times. London, March 5.—A good deal of comment has been aroused since the German Ambassador, Dr. F. Sthamer, and his wife lunched with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace, and there has been much speculation as to whether this forecasts a change in British policy. Assurances have been given, that no political significance is to be attached to this event, as it is the custom of the King to invite the lunched persons, heads of diplomatic missions in this country, and he has recently entertained a number of these in this way, including the French Ambassador. It was, it is true, the first time since the war that such an invitation had been sent to the German Ambassador, but he had been present on a number of formal state occasions, like the opening of Parliament.

HARDING SAYS WORLD COURT IS A GREAT ADVANCE

Washington, March 5.—President Harding looks upon the Court of International Justice as "one of the greatest advances which world society has made toward conditions in which the rule of law may be substituted for the rule of force," he wrote Lieut. Governor Earl B. Bloom of Ohio to-day in response to a resolution of the Ohio State Senate commending him "for his courageous stand" urging United States participation.

TESTIMONIAL CONCERT PLANNED

To Aid G. J. Dyke in Meeting Losses on Season's Concerts

In recognition of the efforts for music and art of the city, and to assist in making up some losses sustained by George J. Dyke, concert manager, in bringing to Victoria many of the world's greatest musicians and lecturers, a testimonial concert has been arranged for his benefit to be given on Thursday evening, March 15, at the Pantages Theatre. Since the announcement of this concert it is pleasant to say that Mr. Dyke has had many offers of assistance from singers and players throughout the community, who have appreciated his efforts on behalf of music for years past.

The following ladies and gentlemen have readily and kindly consented to contribute to the programme: The members of the Arion Club, Mr. Gideon Hicks, Mrs. Robert Baird, Mr. Drury Pryce, violin solo; Margaret Campbell, pianoforte solo; Miss Eva Hart, Mrs. Harry Briggs, Mrs. Hollinrake-Brick, Miss Iona Robertson, recitation; Kenneth Angus, Miss Doris Ashdown, Mrs. A. J. Gibson and Mr. Howard Russell, the latter two officiating as accompanists throughout the evening. Mr. Russell will also conduct the Arion Club, Messrs. Fischer and Steinwally loan a concert grand Steinwally piano, and at their booking office on Tuesday morning will issue all tickets for the event, which must be changed at the box office on Tuesday, March 13, at the Pantages Theatre.

VOCAL AND DRAMATIC RECITAL ATTRACTS

H. Treby Heale Heard by Leading Citizens

An extremely interesting and instructive affair was the vocal and dramatic recital given by H. Treby Heale, of Vancouver, on Saturday evening, and arranged by Mrs. Wood, at the Glenisiel Inn. Trained originally at the Royal Academy of Music, London, England, trained subsequently under one of London's famous teachers, Reginald Somerville, and coached by Mrs. H. Treby Heale, a pupil of the same institution, and of Signor Randegger and Madame Marchesi, of Paris, Mr. Heale throughout the evening evinced sterling methods, in both vocal and elocutionary spheres. His vocal efforts were all of a high order, and his fine tenor voice, combined with a convincing style, beautiful phrasing, and perfect enunciation, carried delight in each individual number.

Mr. Heale was assisted by Miss Jean Mollison, also of Vancouver, and she, too, added much pleasure to the proceedings. Miss Mollison's clear soprano voice, excellent in method and style, stood forth in "You in a Gondola" (Conningsby-Clarke), "The Wren" (Benedict), "Bird of Love Divine," and "Charmante-Oiseau," to the latter responding to the prolonged request of those present with "Danny Boy."

In the absence of Mrs. Treby Heale Mrs. A. J. Gibson accompanied the songs in her usual finished manner.

FAMOUS TENOR COMING SHORTLY

Edward Johnson Will Sing in Victoria

Chicago opera patrons completely lost their hearts to the new tenor Edward Johnson last winter. Not that he is a new singer in the strict sense of the word, for he is warmly remembered by many music enthusiasts as a prominent soloist in the leading festivals of eight or ten years ago, but he has been in Italy since that time singing with really sensational success in opera, and his return to America as leading tenor with the Chicago Association was very much in the nature of a debut. His name rapidly flashed around the country after the first performance of "Fedora" and the critics' hats have been off to him ever since in every other performance.

The announcement that Johnson had been engaged by Mrs. Ricardo on March 13 to sing here at the Royal Victoria Theatre aroused much interest among those who knew of his remarkable career, and they have not hesitated so it seems to enlighten their acquaintances concerning him. Most extravagant praise has been heaped upon the singer's head in a score of cities this season and there is every reason to feel that it was justified.

Of Johnson's Chicago debut, The Tribune said in part: "The audience hushed, suddenly gripped by a moment of beauty; and when it passed the applause which thundered through the house silenced the orchestra and stopped the performance, then and there. Not until Johnson repeated the romanza did the hearers permit the opera to proceed. It was a triumph such as few singers have scored in this land."

A capacity "house" followed the catholic programme with appreciative interest. During the evening, L. Dallock-Welsh, principal of the school, presented prizes to four successful students, Miss Yvonne Stewart, Miss Girsha Orpen, Miss Rosemary Naismith, and Miss Grace Rigby.

of the executive decided that this year's gathering should be in a central part of Canada, so as to make it equally accessible to delegates from east and west in view of the important character of the programme to be discussed. The city of Hamilton is not only centrally situated, but it is regarded as the hub of the splendid system of highways which have in the last few years been constructed in Ontario and as the work of building new roads is still in progress delegates will be given the opportunity of practical demonstrations of the best methods of highway construction. Furthermore, Hamilton is admirably situated from a scenic point of view, and as the convention is being held in June delegates, in the recesses from the business sessions, will have the opportunity of visiting the wonderful fruit growing district and Niagara Falls, and in traveling over the modern roads that abound appreciate to the fullest extent the benefits accruing from improved means of communication. This pleasure will be combined with business in an effective manner, for the delegates will first hear from engineers and contractors how the roads were built and what they cost, and then be able to see the results obtained. They will find that due attention has been paid to the width of highways, the elimination of grades and curves, and particularly to surface treatment, the result being a comprehensive system of roads catering to the industrial and commercial requirements of a thickly populated area. Two afternoon and evening sessions are being set aside for the convention officials for inspection trips in the district, and being in June the prospect is certainly an inviting one.

HAMILTON PICKED FOR TENTH GOOD ROADS CONGRESS

The tenth annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association will be held at the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton, on June 11, 12, 13 and 14 next, and steps have already been taken that promise to make this gathering of all interested in highway matters one that will stand out above the successes of the past by reason of its practical utility. The conventions of the association have covered the Dominion from Coast to Coast, and have undoubtedly done much to encourage the proper construction and maintenance of improved roads. For the tenth convention invitations were received from a number of provinces and cities, but of the convention will be the latest information on the many test road experiments that are being carried on in the United States with a view to ascertaining the types of road best suited to modern traffic conditions. The interests of the highway builders and highway users have to be brought together in order to secure the best results for the future, and so the programme for this convention will provide for discussions as to the proper use of the highways and the prevention of abuses. The best methods of regulating traffic, both as regards passenger cars, automobiles and trucks, the making uniform of danger signals, direction signs, safety laws, head-lights, speed, the question of lights on all vehicles, and other matters of a similar nature will all be discussed, for they have an intimate bearing on highway use and abuse. Federal aid and tourist traffic will also provide subjects for discussion, and generally speaking the programme outlined by the executive indicates a big advance in the scope of the papers and discussions to be initiated at the decennial convention of the association. The Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Roads for the Province of Quebec, is the president of the Canadian Good Roads Association, while the secretarial duties are again being discharged by George A. McNamee, New Birks Building, Montreal.

"THIS ONE WON'T COUNT"
At a golf club one Sunday morning a member turned up late. Asked why, he said it was really a toss-up whether he should come there that morning or go to church. "And I had to toss up fifteen times," he added.

Economic Factor
The outstanding feature of the convention will be the attention paid to the economic factor in highway construction. In past years stress has been laid on the different methods of construction and the types of roads that might be built. These facts are pretty well appreciated now, and the thing that municipal bodies are chiefly interested in is expenditure. It is well known that the cost of construction of highways varies to an exceptional degree between the different provinces, and even between municipalities in the same province. A big effort is to be made at the Hamilton convention to get to the root of the question by securing from every Province data regarding the cost of materials, of workmanship, and other factors, and to have accumulated information that will be valuable to construction engineers, and undoubtedly enable many to reduce the cost to the ratapayers of all branches of construction. Below lay the valley.

without warning the whole world seemed to flare. Tongues of flame

Seared trees crashed. Beasts of the

The earth scorched, roared and cracked; ever the flames spread, and on the edge a thousand humans knelt in prayer. The ring of the fire grew closer. A railroad train enters

BEAUTIFUL HILLS WILL DRAW CITIZENS FROM VANCOUVER ISLAND

New Road and Ferry Service Will Make Two Mountains Across From Island Popular Resort For Victorians Next Summer; Beauties of America's Newest Outdoor Resort Will Lure Thousands.

Opening of the Bellingham Ferry service this Spring will bring Mount Baker, snowy sentinel of the Gulf of Georgia, almost to Victoria's door. And as Canada thus prepares to visit the wonderland about Mount Baker, the United States will open this superb country to the world with a new road which also will lead to Mount Shuksan, said to be one of the finest peaks on the Pacific Coast. These two developments make certain that Mount Baker will rival Mount Rainier in popularity before the coming Summer is over and that hundreds of Vancouver Island people will visit the new resort.

The possibilities of Mount Baker as a pleasure resort are set out in detail in a statement prepared by Congressman Frederick C. Hicks, of New York, who recently visited the mountain with a committee of the United States House of Representatives. In this statement Mr. Hicks says:

Through the courtesy of my friend, Mr. Hadley, the distinguished Representative of the district, and of a number of public-spirited citizens of Bellingham, last Summer I was afforded the opportunity of visiting that wonderful section of northwestern Washington known as the Mount Baker-Shuksan District.

Having visited most of our great public reservations, I realize that the magnificence of forest growth and the majesty of mountain scenery gives to this part of the great State of Washington a just claim for consideration as one of the wonder spots of the nation. It is a pleasure for me to attest to its grandeur, to commend the Agricultural Department for their foresight in opening the domain to the public, and to congratulate the generous spirit of the citizens of Washington for giving their financial and moral support to a project which is destined to be one of our greatest national parks.

Permit me briefly to describe this district of the far Northwest, bounded by British Columbia on one side and by Puget Sound on the other, with snow-capped Mount Baker dominating sea and land and sky. This area, embracing about 1,000 square miles, is one of the most interesting territories in all of North America. Besides the more notable Mount Baker, whose ancient name is "The Kulshan," meaning "The Great White Watcher," there are in this district visible at almost every point of one's visit at least ten other mountains, most prominent among which is Shuksan. This rugged mountain is one of the most aged in the world. It was never a volcano, as was Baker. It was projected through the outer crust of the earth from one of the lowest strata millions of years, perhaps, before the volcanic mountains were fashioned. Its substance is such that its glaciers do not have a perceptible effect upon its form, whereas the mountains that were formed from lava and ash are being rasped to pieces by the glaciers, and their substance sluiced to the lowlands through the numerous rivers that spring from their many sides. One can not contemplate the history of these mountains without thinking of Shuksan as immutable and without realizing that the more noted neighbors, like Baker, Rainier, Hood, St. Helena, Adams, and Olympus, will pass away.

The Mount Baker-Shuksan District is being opened through the joint effort of the United States Forestry Department and Whatcom County of the State of Washington. A highway, commencing 37 miles from Bellingham, will be completed to the heart of the scenic district, a distance of about 26 miles, to Austin Pass, during the Summer of 1924. It will not be ready for traffic, however, until a year later, when ample accommodations for the comfort of visitors will be provided, such as is found in the already developed recreational districts of this country.

This highway will penetrate a section of one of the most wonderful forests in North America, passing along turbulent streams and through canyons into meadows of bewildering beauty. Dozens of lakes add to the attractiveness of the section, several of which are almost as deep as some of the mountains round about are high. Wild flowers are in abundance, and in season there are thousands of acres of blueberries and other wild fruits upon which the bear, grouse, ptarmigan, marmot, deer and other wild life thrive.

This section heretofore has been inaccessible except to those of the more venturesome type. It has been reached by numerous trails that lead into the district from almost every point of the compass. It is so vast and so rugged that it will never become accessible to automobiles, but the highway of easy grade and broad curves will carry one to the heart of the district and open most of the major points of interest to motor traffic, while trails are being constructed for the use of those who would explore farther.

Glaciers and immense snow fields will be but a few moments' journey from the hotel and highway; so will numerous lakes, waterfalls, natural flower gardens, and elevations that will give one a view that is indescribable. From a point near the terminal of the highway one may see not only the mountains of the Mount Baker Range, but also numerous peaks of the Cascades and a procession of them in British Columbia. The terminus of the highway is but five or six miles from the international border, and overlooks a stretch of forest in three directions so vast as to be almost impenetrable. Indeed, when here one is at the last frontier in America and but a short journey from some of the least frequently visited regions of British Columbia.

There is no country, say some of the forestry engineers, that contains such a variety of scenery as does this. Nor is there a section that will prove more attractive to the seeker for nature in the full majesty of her unbroken grandeur. The development is not being made under the direction of the National Parks Bureau, but it is an enterprise of the Forestry Bureau, and I desire to commend most heartily the efficiency of the work being done by the Department of Agriculture, under whose jurisdiction the project is being forwarded. The chief objective of the Forestry Department is the development of the area for recreational purposes and the preservation of its scenic beauties, but the highway will also serve as a public utility for extension of the road system. It will make more accessible the rich mining districts and will enable the department to dispose of such tracts of timber as has matured and should be put to use. This does not mean denudation nor a sacrifice of any of the wonderful tract through which the highway passes. But as a tree like man ceases to develop and in season will fall, so it is a matter of sound policy to have the matured giants removed in order to make way for the development of the younger growth and thus promote the policy of conservation while providing for public use trees that would soon die and thus become a menace to the forest and a loss to commerce.

Profiting from the experience of those who have caused highways to be built into the mountain fastnesses of the Pacific Northwest, the forestry and county officials decided upon a penetration of the higher elevations of the Mount Baker-Shuksan meadows from the north. It has been found that the snowfall on the north side is much less than on the south and west sides.

This will assure a season that will extend from about May 1 to November 1. Indeed, it is now believed that the Austin Pass meadows will be accessible throughout the year, save for the exceptional seasons, and thus afford opportunity for development of the country for winter sports. It is feasible to add another feature in the development of a golf course at an elevation of about 4,200 feet. If this project matures, the golfer will play amidst surroundings that are unmatched in their grandeur.

The new highway will contain no grade exceeding 7 per cent, and this but for a short distance. The last section, now under contract, and leading from the canyon of the Nooksack River to Austin Pass, will not exceed 6 per cent. There will be no part of the highway closed to traffic one way, as on some mountain roads, nor will any part of it be classed as more hazardous than the average country highway.

Ultimately it is proposed to circle the district in order to make it possible to drive to the districts to the vast, south and west of Mount Baker, but funds are not yet available for the more ambitious plan. On the completion of the present project it will be possible to drive to the heart of the wonderland in less than three hours from Bellingham, and within six hours from Seattle, thus opening up to these rapidly growing centres of population, with their excellent hotels, scenic beauties that will attract an ever-increasing number of nature lovers from all parts of the world.

QUEER ANSWERS TO BIBLE QUESTIONS

Nebraska State Camp Receives Erring Answers to 39 Bible Questions

Some amazing information regarding the Bible was recently brought to light in a test made at the Nebraska State Boys' Camp. It doubt lingers in the mind of anyone as to the place which the Bible occupies in the life of the average young person of today, he needs only to study the results of this inquiry, which consisted of a series of thirty-eight Bible questions propounded to this group of High School boys, representing forty-six Nebraska communities, to be convinced. Here are three simple questions that any High School youth might reasonably be expected to answer:

- 1. Why do we celebrate Easter?
2. Who betrayed Jesus?
3. Name the parents of Jesus.

Only seventy-seven per cent of the boys were able to answer the first question; fifty-one per cent replied correctly to the second, and fifty-five per cent to the third. Peter, Moses and even David were accused by these youthful theologians of the betrayal of Jesus. The parents of Jesus, according to several, were Mary and John, others said Jacob and Mary, Ruth and James, and Mary Magdalene and Moses.

The number of books in the Bible, according to these boys, ranged from thirty-nine to 142, only twenty per cent answered correctly. Moses was given credit for building the ark, others said Jonah was the architect. Many remembered the author but spelled his name "Non." Only one in ten could tell the number of people entering the Ark, the answers varying from two to 300.

One boy asserted that Nazareth was noted for destroying the Temple. The Lord's Prayer, according to one of the boys, is found in the Book of Paul another said in the Twenty-third Psalm. One lad, evidently thinking of the Pentateuch, said the Beatitudes are the first five books in the Bible. Beseheba was defined as the "king who saw writing on the wall," "a race of people in Asia"; "a queen who came from Spain"; "a king and wicked man"; "a queen of Sheba"; "the mother of Solomon." The question, "Where did we get the Ten Commandments?" brought the replies, "Christ gave them to His Disciples"; "from the Sermon on the Mount"; "in the Psalms," and "we got them from an arc."

Many Ideas

The ideas of the boys regarding who wrote the Bible were hazy indeed, among the replies being: "The profits and Joseph," "Christ," "Moses," "man," "in Judea in A. D. 1611." In regard to the flood, most of the boys under-rated its extent and duration, the answers varying from three to nine days. One boy named correctly all of the twelve apostles. Most could name but four or five. Although on many things the boys were amazingly ignorant, on a few things there was a pretty clear understanding. For example, in answer to the request, forty-five per cent of the boys could substantially quote John 3:14.

Two questions were answered by every boy: "What is sin?" and "How may we know that we are saved?" No matter how hazy he might be on other questions every boy had a fairly clear idea of sin and was able to give an adequate answer to the question of salvation. When it came to the query, "How may we know that we are saved?" the boys were not so clear, many of them replying that we cannot know.

From Leading Families

These boys were from the best homes of the average community. Eighty-eight per cent of them are regular attendants at Sunday School and eighty-two per cent church members; eighty-four per cent expect to go to college and seventy per cent have decided upon their life work. If these lads from the best of homes, leaders in their schools and communities, have so little real knowledge of the Bible, what may be said of the great mass of young people? And it is well to remember in this connection that investigations made during the war in both the American and British armies showed that about eighty per cent of the men in the service were not members of any church—Protestant or Catholic.

Here were a select group of boys from the best of homes—fifteen to nineteen years of age—High School lads, students, church members, at the threshold of manhood—yet with a meagre, indeed, a very hazy knowledge of the Book of Books. At that age Abraham Lincoln was a student of three books, the Bible, Pilgrim's Progress, which is a Bible story, and Shakespeare, whose works, it is said, contain some 300 quotations from the Bible. It is evident that the youth of to-day are not emulating Abraham Lincoln.

People of the Bible

Green, the great English historian, tells that 300 years ago the English people were a people of one book, the Bible, and it was because they found there the teachings of religious and political liberty that many of them migrated to the New World to find there this freedom which the Bible taught. Gladstone, great English statesman, once said, "I have known 100 great men of the world in my time and eighty-seven of them have been intimate students of the Bible." General Pershing in a statement to the soldiers during the World War said, "Fidelity will be your lot, but trust in God will give you comfort; temptation will befall you, but the teachings of our Savior will give you strength. Let your valor as a soldier and your conduct as a man be an inspiration to your comrades and an honor to your country." President Roosevelt paid the following tribute to the Bible, "To every man who faces life with real desire to do his part in everything I appeal for a study of the Bible. No book of any kind ever written has so affected the whole life of a people."

COMPETITION FOR OAK BAY PARK PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD TO MEET

Must Submit Designs Not Later Than April 4

Competition is now open for the design of plans for the proposed recreation and sports park on the site recently acquired by the Oak Bay Municipality from the B. C. Electric Railway Company.

Two prizes have been offered by the corporation for the two best. The first prize is a sum of $200, while the second prize is $50. The plan is expected to be of a compromise type suitable not so much as a park, but more as a recreation and sports grounds where the young people and children of the municipality may hold their games and play.

It has been suggested that in addition to the football, hockey and cricket grounds, there be a bowling green, tennis courts, water pool and an open air swimming tank. The last two suggestions could not be considered until a later date than this year, as it is only proposed to make an expenditure of some $1,000 to $2,000 a year on the park.
