A Boy's Essay on the Editor

I don't know how newspapers came to be in the world and I don't think God does, for he hasn't got nothing to say about them in the Bible. I think the editor is the missing link we read of stayed in the bushes until after the flood and then came out and wrote things up and has been here ever since. I don't think he ever died. I never saw a dead one and never heard of one getting licked. Our paper is a mighty good one but the editor goes without underclothes all winter and don't wear any socks and pa hasn't paid his subscription since the paper started. I asked pa if that was why the editor had to suck the juice out of snowballs in the winter and go to bed when he had his skirt washed in the summer.

Then pa got mad and took me out in the woodshed and licked me awful hard. If the editor makes a mistake folks say he ought to be hung, but if a doctor makes a mistake he burries them and people dassent say nothing because a doctor can write Latin. When the editor makes mistakes there is a lawsuit and swearing and a big fuss, but if a doctor makes one there is a funeral cut flowers and perfect silence.

A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or any one else knowing what it means, but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges the man for the visit, but if the editor should go he gets a charge of buckshot. Any college can make a doctor to order, but an editor has to be born.—Ex.

He Should Have Used a Little Printer's Ink

John Spatz, who recently came here from Los Gatos and purchased the little vegetable stand of J. H. Neff, suddenly closed up shop and left for greener pastures. While Mr. Spatz had an excellent selection of choice, fresh fruits and vegetables, and kept a horse and wagon for delivery purposes, he failed to let the housekeepers know of this new arrangement. Consequently, he did not get the patronage which the people of Campbell might gladly have given him.

The Philosphia Literary Society gave a musical and literary program last Friday evening which was enjoyed by a large audience. The program as published last week, with some slight changes, was carried out in a very creditable manner. The romantic drama, "The White Dove of Oneida," was a beautiful little play and especially pleasing.

WILD ANIMALS.

Man is Steadily and Surely Working Their Extinction.

Sir Ray Lankester writes of the enormous number of living creatures which man has destroyed since he first appeared on earth: "Even in prehistoric times it is probable that man by hunting the mammoth—the great hairy elephant—assisted in its extinction if he did not actually bring it about. At a remote prehistoric period the horses of various kinds which abounded in North and South America rapidly and suddenly became extinct. It has been suggested, with some show of probability, that a previously unknown epidemic disease, due to a parasitic organism—such as those which we now see ravaging the herds of South Africa—found its way to the American continent. And it is quite possible that this was brought from the other hemisphere by the first men who crossed the Pacific and populated North America.

"To come to matters of certainty and not of speculation, we know that man by clearing the land as well as by actively hunting and killing it made an end of the great wild ox of Europe, the aurochs, or urus, of Caesar, the last of which was killed near Warsaw in 1627. He similarly destroyed the bison, first in Europe and then (in our own days) in North America. A few hundred, carefully guarded, are all that remain in the two continents. He has very nearly made an end of the elk in Europe and will soon do so completely in America. The wolf and the beaver were destroyed in these British islands about 400 years ago. They are rapidly disappearing from France and will soon be exterminated in Scandinavia and Russia and in Canada.

"At a remote prehistoric period the bear was exterminated by man in Britain and the lion driven from the whole of Europe, except Macedonia, where it still flourished in the days of the ancient Greeks. It was common in Asia Minor a few centuries ago. The giraffe and the elephant have departed from South Africa before the encroachments of civilized man. The day is not distant when they will cease to exist in the wild state in any part of Africa. And with them are vanishing many splendid antelope.

"Even our 'nearest and dearest' relatives in the animal world, the gorilla, the chimpanzee and the orang, are doomed. Now that man has learned to defy malaria and other fevers, the tropical forest will be occupied by the greedy civilized horde of humanity, and there will be no room for the most interesting and wonderful of all animals, the man-like apes, unless (as we may hope in their case, at any rate) such living monuments of human history are made sacred and treated with greater care than are our ancient monuments in stone."—Chicago News.

Yreka.—James G. Beard, former superior judge of Siskiyou county, died of neuralgia of the heart. He was 74 years old and had lived in this county since the early fifties. He retired from the bench two years ago.

Bakersfield.—Mrs. W. W. Stephenson, wife of the superintendent of the Black Jack lease in the Kern River oil fields, died after a week's illness of ptomaine poisoning. Mrs. Stephenson contracted the disease from a glass of milk.

Fresno.—S. Izumi, a Japanese, who killed T. Kodama, a countryman, at Fowler last May because the latter owed him $80 and refused to pay him, was sentenced by Judge H. E. Austin to spend the remainder of his life behind the bars of San Quentin prison.

Sacramento.—Mrs. Mary A. Reseigh, a pioneer of Grass Valley, was asphyxiated by gas fumes in her room. On retiring she mistook the gas jet for the electric light button and turned it on. She later switched on the electric light, but neglected to shut off the gas.

Oakland.—A jury in the case of Mrs. Emily Sweetser, charged with arson, disagreed in Judge Brown's court and was discharged. Mrs. Sweetser was accused of burning the house of E. H. Sweetser, her husband, at Elmhurst, a few weeks after their marriage. Sweetser is suing her for a divorce.

Sacramento.—December strawberries are now being shipped to outside points from this section. Twenty cases from Oak Park a suburb of Sacramento City, have already been sent to Seattle, and in view of the favorable weather conditions, the local dealers predict unusually large Christmas shipments.

Merced.—Negotiations are under way between the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation and the business men of the city for the installation of 50 electroliters in the principal business thoroughfares. The company is removing all poles from the streets to alleyways and extending its lines to the various colonies adjacent to the city.

Portland, Ore.—Construction of a new railroad from Redmond, the terminus of the Deschutes line, to Odell on the Klawath-Natron cutoff, has been authorized by the Southern Pacific directors. A line from Grants Pass to a point on the northern coast of California, probably Crescent City, may be built, and a road to Coos Bay is being considered.

San Francisco.—Abraham Ruef, by his attorneys, has petitioned the Appellate Court for a rehearing. The court recently decided that Ruef had properly been convicted of bribing a member of the Schmitz Board of Supervisors. It is a rather remarkable document, inasmuch as the Appellate Court is asked to admit that in refusing Ruef a new trial, careful attention was not paid to the merits of the appeal.

Stockton.—Mrs. Arata, who resides east of Stockton, is recovering from the effects of a spider bite on the neck, which came near causing her death. She was in bed when she was bitten. At first she did not give the matter much attention, but the flesh commenced turning black. Becoming alarmed, she called upon a physician, who found that gangrene had set in. It was necessary to cauterize the wound in order to keep it from spreading. The gangrene had reached the shoulder bone at one place.

DETERMINED CRUSADE FOR ELIMINATION OF ALL PESTS

Farmers of Northern Colorado Have Started Systematic Warfare.

Denver.—The farmers of northern Colorado have determined upon a pest crusade. It will be declared in January, when a new leaf will be turned by the agriculturalists and horticulturalists of the State.

In the history of this country it will remain for Colorado to claim the honor of having started the first systematic and organized warfare against all agricultural and stock pests.

A State convention has been called for Greeley on January 9, 1911, where the advice of experts and practical farmers will be incorporated into a bill for the elimination of pests. The Eighteenth General Assembly will be asked to enact this into a law.

Grasshoppers, codlin moths, which annoy the fruit growers; prairie dogs, coyotes, potato bugs, magpies and other birds, beasts and vermin will be included. The co-operation of the farmers, fruit growers and stockmen of the entire State will be asked, and, it is believed, will be cheerfully given.

C. L. Fitch of Greeley, a potato specialist of northern Colorado, is the originator of this unique plan. He would have pest districts established by legislative enactment, so that when grasshoppers are particular bad they can be placed in a legal pest house, and the energies of that district concentrated upon their extinction. The law is intended to provide for the raising of money through taxation for such purposes, the manner of organization of districts, and, perhaps, a standing appropriation may be secured from the State to aid in the elimination of pests.

Already the idea has been taken up officially and by prominent men. The Department of Agriculture has given its approval of the pest convention January 9th, and will have one or more representatives present. President Lory of the State Agricultural College will preside; State Senator William A. Drake will head a delegation of Larimer county farmers.

Arraigned on Grand Larceny Charge.

San Francisco.—Elmer L. Smith, Margaret Smith, George M. Woodson and John T. Woodson, arrested by Federal and police detectives on suspicion of having stolen 35 bars of gold bullion valued at $560,00, which were shipped last November from the Tanana mining district in Alaska to Seattle and were the property of the Washington Alaska Bank of Fairbanks, Alaska, appeared before Police Judge Shortall and were arraigned on charges of grand larceny.

Quadruple Murderer Suspect Free.

Kansas City.—John Feagle, charged by the officials of Johnson county Kansas, with the murder of Mrs. Emeline Bernhardt, one of the victims of a quadruple murder near here, was released from custody. C. B. Little, the Johnson county prosecutor, gave the order following the receipt of a letter from Chief Zimmer of Kansas City, Kansas, announcing the Chief's belief in Feagle's innocence.

Democrats Get Busy.

Washington.—A call has been issued for a caucus of the Democratic members of the next House, to be held on the floor of the House January 19th, to take up such matters as the caucus may choose. The plan for an immediate selection of the Democratic members of the next Ways and Means Committee will be acted on, with a view to framing a tariff bill to the next Congress.

Expulsion of Jews.

St. Petersburg.—A dispatch from Mery states that the Governor-General of Turkestan ordered the expulsion of the Jews from the Mery oasis and their redomiciliation in Bokhara. The Jews who emigrated to Mery previous to the Russian occupation have developed a cotton export trade.

Humorist, Writer and Lecturer Dead.

New York.—Melville de Lancy Landon, better known as Eli Perkins, the humorous author and lecturer, died at his home in Yonkers. Mr. Landon was 71 years old. He had been in failing health for the past six years, a sufferer from locomotor-ataxia.

Bodies From Leyden Mine.

Denver.—Four dead bodies of entombed miners were found in the Leyden mine, where a fire broke out Wednesday night and cut off the escape of ten men. The searchers were halted by huge caveins.

A Record for Babies.

Newcastle, Ind.—The twenty-eighth child has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Bonner. Twenty-one of the children are living. Bonner is 49 years old and his wife is four years his junior.

Subjects of National Interest Now Under Discussion

Washington.—Preparations are being made to have an apportionment bill, based on the recent census, brought before the House for action, according to predictions made by Speaker Cannon, founded on what seems to be the consensus of opinion of the majority of the House. There will be no increase in the number of Representatives, which, it is held, is already unwieldy. The ratio of representations, therefore, would have to be increased. The present ratio is 194,182 to one Representative. The plan under consideration is to increase the ratio to 235,223 to each Representative. To maintain the present number of Representatives in the House this ratio would have to be adopted. The new figure has been decided upon by some of the leaders after spending considerable time dividing the total population shown by the blanket announcement of the Census Bureau. Under such an apportionment the following States each would gain two Representatives: New York, California, Washington and Oklahoma. The following would gain one each: Oregon, Utah, Idaho, Montana, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Texas. The following would lose two each: Indiana, Iowa and Missouri. The following would lose one each: Illinois, Wisconsin, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Nebraska, North Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee and Virginia. Naturally the States that will lose under the new apportionment, based on increased ratio of Representatives, will fight it with all the strength at their command. Whether these 13 States can effect a union that will defeat the plan is doubtful.

Referring to the disastrous forest fires of last summer, Secretary Wilson has asked the House for a deficiency appropriation of $915,000 to supplement the regular fund for fighting forest fires.

Commander George R. Salisbury has been appointed by Secretary Meyer Governor of Guam and commandant of the naval station there. He has been detached from the command of the Wilmington.

President Taft signed a proclamation eliminating from the Monterey national forest, California, 21,527 acres of land and adding to the forest 7690 acres. Embraced in the land eliminated are 2080 acres known as the Pinnacles National monument. The elimination changes the jurisdiction over this national monument from the forest service to the Department of the Interior.

Wealthy Japanese Farmer the Real "King of Spuds"

Stockton.—The Japanese "potato king," George Shima, has cleaned up another fortune off his tracts of reclaimed land in the famous San Joaquin delta region just west of this city. His net profits being estimated at $200,000.

Shima farmed 4000 acres this year, practically all of which he planted in potatoes. The potato market has been exceptionally good and the growers have realized large profits. Off the 4000 acres he harvested 500,000 sacks of tubers which have sold as high as $1.25 a sack. The estimated cost of producing the potatoes is 70 cents a sack. The "potato king" has disposed of all his crop, save between 80,000 and 90,000 sacks, and if the market continues to rise his profits may exceed $200,000.

This is Shima's seventh successful year as a potato grower. He has been in the business for many years, the first two seasons having come out even. He lost money several years, but his profits in the long run have wiped out his losses and made him rich.

Shima has potato raising down to a science and employs an army of laborers. His launches and potato barges ply between Stockton and his island tracts daily. Some time ago he had an elegant home built in Berkeley and engaged a tutor to educate his children.

During the recent produce carnival in this city Shima contributed a display showing his launch Shima Maru and potato barge laden with spuds. It won the grand prize and was pronounced one of the finest exhibits of the kind ever seen at a county or State fair.

Orders issued from the War Department assigned Brigadier General Frederick Funston, in command of the army service schools, Fort Leavenworth, to command of the Department of the Luzon, in the Philippines, relieving Brigadier General Ramsey B. Potts, who will take command of the service schools at Fort Leavenworth.

"I could not save anything out of a salary of $6000 a year, and I have a family," said Librarian of Congress Herbert Putnam, in arguing before the House Committee on Appropriations for an increase in his salary from $6000 to $7500. Mr. Putnam failed in his efforts.

As many new trees will be planted under the direction of the forest service on the national forests during the present fiscal year as were set out in the last five years combined, according to Associate Forester Potter. This is the beginning of a plan to increase as much as possible each year the number set out. The seeds which provide nursery stock are planted in the fall of the year, while the nursery stock is set out both in the fall and in the spring.

California postmasters appointed: Shasta Springs, Siskiyou county, Archibald C. McKinnon, vice J. S. Matheson, removed; Stanwood, Butte county, Glenfield Thompson, vice S. E. Rowe, resigned.

The 18 pension agencies throughout the country will be centralized into one if the Senate agrees to the pension appropriation bill as passed by the House of Representatives. The bill as passed by the House carries $153,614,000, which is $74,000 less than was recommended in the bill as presented.

FIRST POINT GAINED BY CALIFORNIA DELEGATION

An Early Decision Promised to Fix the Location for Panama Exposition.

Washington.—In the fight for the Panama Exposition, the San Francisco delegation proved their generalship by getting an early date for the decision. A vote will be taken on the exposition question by the House of Representatives on or before January 17th.

New Orleans made an underground fight for delay. Its representatives did not dare to come out into the open, but the word went around among New Orleans' friends that Kahn's resolution pending before the committee on rules should be pigeon-holed. Anticipating such action, the Californians and their friends worked with redoubled energy and won over a majority of the committee.

The committee decided that the exposition question should be settled at this session, and after some discussion, fixed on January 17th as the limit for further consideration. On that day, if not before, the House will be asked to choose between San Francisco and New Orleans.

The committee on rules may hold a hearing or two between January 5th and January 17th to consider the Kahn resolution.

Longer Hours for Clerks.

Washington.—President Taft and his cabinet has decided that all Government clerks employed in Washington shall work half an hour longer each day. The decision is in line with the policy of the Administration for greater efficiency and economy in Government departments. The time for reporting each morning was fixed at 8:30 o'clock instead of 9. Up to a few years ago the Government clerks in Washington worked from 9 o'clock until 4, with half an hour for lunch, making an actual working day of only six and a half hours. Then the hours were extended to 4:30, so as to give a seven-hour day. Now the clerks will have to work seven and a half hours each day.

Christmas Present to Ireland.

Boston.—The United Irish League of America cabled as a Christmas present to the national trustees of the Irish Parliamentary fund an additional remittance of $10,000 to sustain the hands of the Irish national leader, John E. Redmond, and his colleagues to the end of the present electoral struggle. This makes the eighth installment of a like amount sent in eight weeks, since Mr. Redmond and his colleagues made their appeal in this country.

Falls 4,000 Feet Unhurt.

Fresno.—Dropping from a height of more than 4000 feet after his engine had "gone dead" and his machine had been left to the mercy of the elements, J. C. Mars, a member of the Curtiss camp of aviators, last Sunday came safely to earth following one of the most sensational exhibitions of aerial navigation ever witnessed. The downward swoop of the plucky birdman took place before 10,000 persons at the fair grounds in this city.

Homesick and Lovesick.

Ann Harbor, Mich.—Walter C. Adams, a Michigan University freshman from Lodi, Cal., got so homesick that he telegraphed Miss Grace Pool, also of Lodi: "Come at once." Miss Pool took the first train and Adams met her with a marriage license. He is now introducing his wife to his friends. He will finish the four-years' course at the university.

Commuted Sentence of Murderer.

Sacramento.—Acting Governor Porter commuted the sentence of William D. Wright, sentenced to San Quentin for life from Santa Cruz in October, 1906, for the murder of his wife, to 20 years. The action was taken on recommendation from Judge Welsh, presiding judge at the trial, who suggested that Wright is not a hardened criminal.

Great Floods in England.

London.—It is 30 years since England has known such floods as are now devastating immense stretches of country. The deluge practically has been incessant since December 1st, only two days out of the 16 being without rains.

Phonograph Music for Funeral.

Lexington, Ky.—Phonographic music supplanted the usual singers at the funeral of Mrs. Byron McClelland, widow of a widely known turfman and one of the wealthiest women in the South.

Little Farm Given to City.

San Jose.—The old Ryland homestead of two acres, on North First street has been formerly presented to the city by the Ryland heirs at the meeting of the mayor and common council.

Gallipolis, O.—Navigation on the Ohio river has been suspended from here to Pittsburg on account of heavy ice floes. Ten towboats, bound for Pittsburg mines with 200 empty barges, were compelled to go into harbor here and at Middleport.

Victoria.—Miss Florence Phyllis Williams, 22 years old, is dead from burns received when her hair caught fire while lighting a grate. The blazing hair set fire to a woolen bathrobe she was wearing and she was fatally burned on the head and body.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Jake Baer, member of the St. Joseph baseball team of the Western League, was blown through a window by a gasoline explosion which occurred in a clothes cleaning establishment here and badly injured. He was taken to a hospital, and probably will recover.

Washington.—One of the six guns on the armored cruiser Pennsylvania burst at the muzzle while the ship was at target practice off the Pacific coast. There were no casualties. Admiral Barry, commanding the Pacific fleet, reported the accident to the navy department from Mare Island.

Winnipeg.—Neil Keith, one of the best known railroad contractors in America, was found frozen to death in the hills south of Moose Jaw, Sask. While suffering from a fever he wandered away about six weeks ago. Mr. Keith had built railway lines for all the principal companies in the west.

Washington.—There has been another show of ill feeling towards Americans in Columbia, according to a cablegram received from American Minister Frazier at Bogota. He says that riots occurred at Cartagena December 11th in which several persons were killed or wounded and many shops were sacked.

Gainesville, Ga.—The entire student body of the North Georgia Agricultural College at Dahlon, Ga., has been arrested following the bursting of the big Government cannon in the barracks, resulting in the wrecking of the barracks. The cannon was loaded with 50 pounds of giant powder with a 50-foot fuse attached.

New Haven.—Definite assurance that Harry Whitney of this city intends starting next year, if possible, in search of the South Pole is contained in a telegram sent by him from New Orleans to the Journal-Courier. Captain Bartlett, who commanded the Roosevelt on its North Pole expedition under Commander Peary will accompany Whitney.

Concord, N. H.—The last will and testament of Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, was filed in the probate office of Merrimack county. After providing various sums for members of her household and friends and giving $10,000 each to her son, who has already received gifts, and his five children, the testator leaves her estate to the mother church.

Spokane, Wash.—Found guilty of murder in the first degree for the slaying of James F. Sutton on August 10 last, Mrs. Della B. Totten was sentenced at Wenatchee to life imprisonment. Her aged mother, Mrs. Hannah Bedeth, 73 years old, was given a sentence of not less than one year nor more than two years, having been found guilty of manslaughter for assisting in the killing of Sutton.

Carload of Christmas Babies to Addresses in Texas

Chicago.—A carload of babies passed through Chicago last Thursday. They were from a founding home in New York City and are billed to Houston and San Antonio, Texas, where each will be adopted by a southern family.

There were 52 babies in the car and not one was more than three years old. Their foster parents will meet the babies at Houston and San Antonio.

An agent of the New York Foundling Hospital, an institution conducted by the Sisters of Charity of New York City, has traversed the district finding homes for these abandoned youngsters.

5,000 Cats to Fight Gophers.

Sharon, Pa.—S. S. Gilbert has received a request for 5000 cats in a letter from Albert J. Randall, formerly of Sharon, now a resident of Okanogan county, Washington. He writes that he will visit Pennsylvania within a month to buy up all the stray cats. Randall is associated with several property owners determined to war on gophers.

Men and women who agree to adopt the babies each have received a card calling for one baby. These read: "This entitles you to 'Marguerite' or 'Henry' or 'Thomas,' as the case may be.

Six nurses in charge of Sister Rachael are looking after the party on its long trip.

"This institution makes a practice of sending about three carloads of babies each year," said Dr. S. J. Carmichael, district passenger agent of the Illinois Central railroad, who has charge of the party.

Hooked in Jaw With Bale Hook.

Los Angeles.—When a streetcar struck his wagon on Broadway, J. H. Craig, an express driver, was thrown out and impaled upon a bale hook which hung beside his seat. The pronged tool caught him in the back of the neck and piercing the under side of his jaw protruded from his mouth like a fishhook. He died at the Receiving Hospital.

NAMING OF PENNSYLVANIA

William Blathway, Commissioner of Plantations, Suggested It Be Called After the Quaker.

When William Penn was asked by Charles II. to name the new colony over the sea he proposed the name of the queen. William Blathway, the commissioner of plantations, bluntly negated the proposal in the presence of the court, and suggested the Quaker's own name as the proper one for the vast territory that owed its colonization and development to him. The king was not offended, but sided with Blathway, and Penn himself was greatly flattered by the compliment. Several letters on the subject were written by him to Blathway. These letters were carefully preserved by Blathway's descendants, and being recently put up at auction with the original draft by Charles II. of Pennsylvania to Penn, brought nearly $18,000.

The family name of Blathway became extinct through the marriage of the sole son of the line to a wealthy Miss Winter, who restored the fallen fortunes of the Blathways on condition that her husband adopted the name of Winter. One of the Winters accompanied Sir Francis Drake around the world as his vice-admiral, and another of the family was a vice-admiral under Drake when he destroyed the Armada.

WILD ANIMALS AND CATNIP

Lions and Leopards in the Zoo Were as Delighted With it as is the Domestic Cat.

A curious investigator and a few sprigs of catnip led to an amusing scene at the zoo in Cincinnati.

The tigers and puma scornfully refused to notice the herb when it was presented to them by the keeper, but the lion, the lioness and the big leopard were bolstorous in their manifestations of pleasure. The lion planted a foot upon it, smelled it, licked it, sprawled upon it and tossed it about in ways unbecoming his kingly dignity. The leopard picked it up in her huge paw, took long and ecstatic sniffs and rolled over and over upon it in the exuberance of her delight. In her efforts to apply it to the upper part of her head she performed acrobatic feats of an astonishing kind. From his experiment the investigator was satisfied that love of catnip is not confined to the domestic branch of the cat family.

Approaching a Walled City.

After the drab outskirts of Pisa, the Maremma and the dyked road, I gained Cascina, a walled, arcaded town at the limit of the Vico Pisano, gray within a red husk of walls, inexhaustibly picturesque; then came Pontedera, walled again—and with each a thrill. That is a thing you may count upon—that flutter of expectancy and its full reward whenever you approach a walled town by road. By road, observe, but not otherwise. Seen thus, the wall must be negotiated; you must pass through the gates with other wayfarers. A walled city is like a veiled bride. What is one about to embrace? There are no gradations, no straggling line of suburbs to water down the type before you reach the heart. The truth is flashed upon you, plump and plain. You leave the fields, you clear the gates—here is Cascina, here Pontedera for good or ill.—From Hewlett's "The Road in Tuscany."

Contemplation as a Part of Life.

We are in such haste to be doing, to be writing, to be gathering gear, to make our voice audible a moment in the derisive silence of eternity, that we forget the one thing, of which these are but the parts—namely, to live. We fall in love, we drink hard, we run to and fro upon the earth like frightened sheep. And now you are to ask yourself if, when all is done, you would not have been better to sit by the fire at home, and be happy, thinking. To sit still and contemplate—to remember "the faces of women without desire, to be pleased with the great needs of men without envy, to be everything and everywhere in sympathy—is not this to know both wisdom and virtue and to dwell with happiness?—From Robert Louis Stevenson's "Walking Tours."

Primitive Life Saving.

Expedients for saving life and limb among the poor are many and original. "Why do you stretch your clothes line so close to the wall?" said a new customer who had poked her head through the washerwoman's back window to see what kind of a place she had to dry the clothes in. "The things will flop against the side of the house and get dirty."
"Oh, miss, that rope ain't for the clothes," said the woman. "It is for the baby to fall on in case he tumbles out of the window."

One Way, Anyway.

My little son, who was just over two years old, one day while at dinner used his fingers instead of a spoon, and the following dialogue ensued:
Father—Don't do that again, sonny.
Son—Me will.
Father—Well, don't let me see you.
Son—Shut 'ou eyes den.

Reminders of Trouble.

"I thought you told me a sea voyage would take my mind off my troubles," said the unlucky motorist.
"Didn't it?"
"No. The life preservers strung along the rail of the ship looked exactly like automobile tires."

Stops Hair Falling

Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly stop falling of the hair. Indeed, we believe it will always do this unless there is some disturbance of the general health. Then, a constitutional medicine may be necessary. Consult your physician about this.

Does not change the color of the hair.
Formula with each bottle Show it to your doctor Ask him about it, then do as he says

The reason why Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair is because it first destroys the germs which cause this trouble. After this is done, nature soon brings about a full recovery, restoring the hair and scalp to a perfectly healthy condition.

The Superfluities.

Let me tell you that Diogenes walked on a day with a friend to see a country fair, where he saw ribbons and looking glasses, and nut-crackers, and fiddles, and hobby horses, and many other gimcracks, and having observed them and all the other finibrimbs that make a complete country fair, he said to his friend, "Lord, how many things there are in this world!"—From Isaac Walton's Com-worid of which Diogenes hath no plete Angler.

The Value of Pineapple Juice.

The man who thinks out and brings out a new food preparation usually has to create the "long-felt want" which he fills. In tackling the pineapple juice problem, no such difficulty confronted James D. Dole of Honolulu. The problem to be solved was how to get the pure juice of pineapple on the market in such a form that it would please the healthy lover of the fruit, and be useful to the doctor and the nurse. A syrup would not do, because of the impossibility of suiting individual tastes. Even the juice of the finest Hawaiian canned pineapple would not answer with its small quantity of preservative pure cane sugar, because the physician needs to regulate the amount of sugar prescribed. To make a long story short, Mr. Dole spent years in experiments which finally resulted in the Hawaiian Pineapple Juice which bears his name.

Misunderstood.

Actyn Barnes, tragedian, solemnly strutted into the bar of the night stand hotel. "Put a pint of wine on the ice, my friend," he said to the man behind the counter. "Not if I'm in my right mind I won't!" chuckled the other, who happened to be the proprietor; "cash down is the rule in the here tavern, 'gosh!"

QUICK EYES OF THE WOMEN

They Have Extraordinary Faculty for Seeing Many Things and Taking In Every Detail.

Women have the most extraordinary faculty for seeing a great many things at once. For instance, they will remember every detail of a person's dress, manner, and personal appearance, even to the color of the hair and eyes, after a mere glimpse. This power is rare with men in general, though some have cultivated it. The gift belongs pre-eminently to women, however, who will often, without effort, take away the most vivid impressions of people they have traveled with for a short time only and have never spoken to, or of people they have met by chance in the street.

Women's eyes need to be as keen as they are kindly. In her household all depends on them. Woman is the first to notice any little rift within the lute of home life, and failure in the health of those she loves and has the care of, any lapse from the accustomed, any trouble unexpressed that is making any one unhappy. More delicately balanced, more sensitive than man, her nature receives impressions which to those of a different, perhaps coarser, fiber would simply have no existence. Her intuition is at times divine.

The eyes of a good woman! How gently, how clearly, how truthfully they look out on life! How pleasantly on those they guard! Happy the homes that dwell in peace and security beneath the loving care of a true woman's eyes.

Timeliness.

All measures of reformation are effective in exact proportion to their timeliness; partial decay may be cut away and cleansed; incipient error corrected; but there is a point at which corruption can no more be stayed, nor wandering recalled. It has been the manner of modern philanthropy to remain passive until that precise period, and to leave the sick to perish, and the foolish to stray, while it spent itself in frantic exertions to raise the dead, and reform the dust.—Ruskin.

Indeed, the first point we have all to determine is not how free we are but what kind of creatures we are. It is of small importance to any of us whether we get liberty; but of the greatest that we deserve it. Whether we can win it, fate must determine; but that we will be worthy of it we may ourselves determine; and the sorrowfullest fate of all that we can suffer is to have it without deserving it.—Ruskin.

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW PILLS

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are thirty-two feet of human bowels which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation of any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion, or enjoy good health. If I had my way, I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold, for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weakening; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulant. They school the bowels to act without physick.

Where Women Propose.

In New Guinea it is considered against the dignity of the man to even look at a woman, and consequently the women must make all the proposals. If a girl thinks she would like to marry a young man she sends a piece of string to the sister or mother of the man, and they approach him. If the girl breaks the engagement the man may meet and beat her, and if he breaks it, her relations may treat him the same. No time is wasted in courting and they must make up their minds at once.

Absurd on the Face of It.

The Cincinnati Enquirer contains a dispatch from Xenia telling about a millionaire poet being slapped in the face. It is such unutterable publications as this that destroys confidence in the press. If the man was a poet he couldn't have been a millionaire. If he was a millionaire, he could not have been a poet higher than the John G. Whittier grade.—Houston Post.

When Mahomet Went to the Mountain.

Mahomet made the people believe that he would call a hill to him, and from the top of it offer prayers to the observers of the law. The people assembled; Mahomet called the hill to come to him, again and again; and when it stood still, he was never a whit abashed, but said: "If the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill."—Bacon.

Candlesticks.

If you must use a candle in a hurry and cannot find a candlestick, try putting the candle into the neck of an empty bottle. If you can get one to fit approximately, it will serve quite as well. A little shaving with a pen-knife or melting with a match will fit the candle into a bottle a bit too small for it.

He—"If you love me, why did you at first refuse me?" She—"I wanted to see what you would do." "But I might have rushed off without waiting for an explanation." "I had the door locked."—St. Louis Times.

There is nothing lower than L. procrity. To profess friendship and act enmity is a sure proof of total depravity.

Overdoing It.

Some people keep so busy preparing to die that they never find out how to really live.

Truth in a Few Words.

It is better for a man to be thrown on his own resources than upon the resources of his friends.—Exchange.

Practical Methods of Approach Suggested for Teaching Agriculture in Schools

By EDWARD HYATT, Superintendent of Public Instruction

II. SCHOOL GARDENS

The raising of a school garden is a most delightful and practical method of approach. Not all teachers have the knowledge and sympathy that make for the highest success, but nearly all come of ancestry that lived by the soil; and if their minds are open, their hearts willing, the old interests will come back. Not all rural schools are adapted to gardening; but many successful school gardens are raised at the homes of the children.

There is no higher or more inspiring opportunity for a genuine teacher than to lead some children in the preparation and the planting of a piece of ground, be it large or small; and in the finding out about the plants and the insects that come of the venture, day by day.

Our State University has been fostering school garden work for some time, under the direction of Professor E. B. Babcock. He has prepared the following epitome for this bulletin:

"The College of Agriculture and State Experiment Station have shown an intelligent interest in the cause of more widespread and effective instruction in agriculture for several years. In 1905 the arguments in favor of introducing agriculture in the public schools were clearly set forth by Dr. A. C. True, Director of the Office of Experiment Stations, United States Department of Agriculture, at the combined State Teachers' and Farmers' Institute which convened in Berkeley. This might have furnished a logical starting point for an aggressive campaign of propagandism in favor of legislation designed to force the introduction of agriculture in the public school curriculum, as has been done in certain States. But California has been spared such legislation, and it is only in certain counties that agriculture has been added to the list of subjects for supplementary reading.

"Believing this was not the right way to secure adequate instruction in agriculture, or any industrial subject, the Agricultural Experiment Station published a pamphlet on School Gardens and distributed over 10,000 copies to the school people of the State. Up to this time very few of our county manuals had even mentioned school gardens as being worthy of serious consideration on the part of teachers, although several had listed agriculture as a seventh or eighth grade subject, and even prescribed a text! Surely, this is beginning at the wrong end. What we want to do is to get our boys and girls interested in the problems of the community in which they live by having them take some active part in it.

"Educational ideas are changing. Everett Shepardson says: 'We are insisting less persistently on unimportant details of information and are properly magnifying the importance of exercising practical judgment in likely situations. Not what the child knows, but what he can do is becoming the chief criterion of promotion. Not what does he remember of memorized stuff, but how effectively can he respond in situations such as those in which he is to find himself later? Something is wrong when our plans of work do not appeal to the boy or girl with exuberance of life.'

"Agriculture is not a talisman or a patent process by the addition of which to our list of common school studies we shall attain to this ideal. To really teach boys and girls something about agriculture, we must first have real nature-study in the primary grades, including gardening and experimental work with soils, seeds, plants, and animals, all designed to form the background of experience needed for comprehending a text when it shall be taken up in the grammar grades. This can and should be done before pupils enter the seventh grade. The College of Agriculture is now sending an instructor to several schools in Alameda County to assist in beginning this experimental work and gardening. At the completion of each week's lesson a leaflet will be prepared giving the gist of the work and telling how it was done. Teachers desiring these leaflets should write to C. A. Stebbins, College of Agriculture, Berkeley, California.

"In the grammar grades much can be done to arouse interest and create a natural demand for text-book knowledge by organizing boys' and girls' agricultural clubs. These clubs should be simply organized and designed to encourage activity on the part of the members. The topics chosen may be anything in the range of agriculture, horticulture, or domestic science. Every elementary school in the city of San Diego has organized a club this year and the topic for study is poultry raising.

"Tree-growing clubs have been found highly satisfactory in the schools of Monterey and some other California towns. Those interested in learning more about this should write to Mr. H. A. Greene, President Federation of Tree Growing Clubs of America, Monterey, California. The State Experiment Station has undertaken to interest boys' clubs of rural schools in testing varieties of cereals. This year a limited number of educational collections of cereal seeds have been prepared. Each collection contains eight types of wheat, four types of barley, and three types of oats, with sufficient seed in each packet to plant one hundred square feet of ground. No reports will be required on these seeds; they may be used as any school or club sees fit, and they will be sent free of charge while they last. Contests of any sort, so long as they are fairly conducted and for sensible prizes, will help greatly to arouse interest and enthusiasm. In all these things we must remember that our chief aim is to prepare boys and girls for citizenship, rather than to teach any particular subject or set of subjects.

"Finally, there are valuable opportunities for closer co-operation between the Agricultural College and Experiment Station and teachers of both elementary and high schools which are not yet appreciated. These are found in the farmers' institutes and the demonstration trains which are run each year. School officials will find it worth while to give more attention to these agencies for the dissemination of agricultural knowledge. Whenever possible teachers' institutes should be so arranged as to unite in at least one session with a farmers' institute."

Campbell business houses will close next Monday. You should arrange to do all necessary trading on Saturday. A merchant who opens his store on a public holiday when he knows his competitors are going to lock up and give the clerks a little rest, is not worthy of your patronage. Such action would indicate that he is either too stingy to take a little recreation himself, or is hard up for business. If the former be true then it would be well for you to pay cash, count your change, and watch the weighing scales. If the latter be true, then the merchant evidently is not conducting his business along right lines. Perhaps he doesn't advertise. Out of sight in the local newspaper usually means out of mind of the consumer. The Press regularly carries the ads of several local merchants who are reliable men. You should read the ads and give them your patronage.

TENDER FEET.

Treatment That May Relieve This Painful Affliction.

Evening is a sad time with many persons because of the wretchedly tender condition of the soles of their feet, which burn and tingle and even ache as the day passes and night falls. They get up in the morning perfectly well as regards the feet, but after walking about for a time the soles get hot, itch sometimes and feel raw and tender with every step. The discomfort increases hour by hour until by night it has become almost unbearable.

Inspection of the feet may show absolutely nothing, or they may be red and more or less swollen and perhaps hot to the touch.

This affection is often associated with excessive perspiration of the feet, sometimes so extreme that the stockings are constantly damp or actually wet. Yet it may occur without this unpleasant accompaniment.

It is not necessarily associated with being on the feet, standing or walking for very long periods, although in those predisposed to the affection every minute of standing aggravates it.

It is of nervous origin, the nerves regulating the circulation—the so-called vasomotor nerves—being especially concerned in its production.

The cause may be found to be a sinking down of the arch of the foot, the so-called flat foot. It may be in unhygienic foot covering, or it may be undiscoverable, residing in some peculiar susceptibility of the individual.

If there is any visible defect, such as flat foot, it should of course be remedied by a support in the sole of the boot or, better, by building up the sole on one side, so as to throw the weight of the body on the outer side of the foot. Even without a device of this kind the sufferer may obtain much relief by trying to walk on the outer side of the foot, in which attempt he will be helped by walking "pigeon toed," which throws the weight of the body on the outer edge of the sole.

The shoes should be of soft and yielding stuff, kid or canvas, and never patent or enameled leather. Rubbers or "arctics" should be worn only when absolutely necessary and should be removed the instant the wearer goes indoors or into a street car, even if the stay is to be only five minutes.

On returning home from a walk or from business a change should be made to slippers or, what may be equally restful, to another pair of shoes.

A powder of salicylic acid one part, boracic acid eight parts and French chalk thirty-two parts, dusted inside the stockings often affords great relief in this condition.

The foot bath should be frequent and should be followed by a few minutes' massage of the feet, with a view to improving the circulation locally.—Youth's Companion.

All Her Fault.

She hurried down the stairs to join her husband, who was waiting to go out with her to the party.

"Oh, Jack!" she cried. "Wait a moment. You—"

"I never saw anything like it!" exclaimed Jack impatiently. "You always forget something. You girls are enough to drive any patient man frantic."

"But, Jack, dear—"

"Oh, go upstairs and get what you want, and don't, for goodness' sake, keep me waiting any longer."

"But I haven't forgotten anything, dear. It's you!"

"Good gracious! What next, I wonder? I've been dressed and ready waiting for you this last half hour."

"Indeed!" she said frigidly.

"Then why is it you've got no necktie on?"

"Goodness!" he ejaculated. "Why couldn't you tell me that before, instead of staring at me and saying nothing?"—Exchange.

Thackeray as a Hero.

No man ever enjoyed his fame more than Thackeray. But no man's head was ever less turned than his. The story is told that Charlotte Bronte, sitting opposite to him at dinner, regarded him for a long time as a hero. "And," said Thackeray, "I had the miserable humiliation of seeing her ideal of me disappear as everything went into my mouth and nothing came out of it, until at last, as I took my fifth potato, she leaned across, with clasped hands and beautiful eyes, and breathed imploringly: 'Oh, Mr. Thackeray! Don't!'" This is one of those stories which may not be true, but ought to be. It shows Thackeray in his typical attitude to life and to himself. He enjoyed the situation and criticised it implicitly as he enjoyed it. A hero perhaps—but there were the five potatoes. —London Saturday Review.
