A bicone, spindle, and cylinder are shown in the figure. The early stage of growth is characterized by small, rounded structures, while the later stage shows elongated, ribbed structures with a diameter of 45-250 nm. Gas (H₂O) is shown entering the system.