FROM CAMP.

Darlings, I am weary, pining;
Shadows fall across my way;
I can hardly see the lining
Of the cloud—the silver lining,
Turning darkness into day.

I am weary of the sighing,
Meaning, waiting through the air;
Breaking hearts, in anguish crying
For the lost ones—for the dying;
Sobbing anguish of despair.

I am weary of the fighting;
Brothers red with brother's gore,
Only that the wrong we're righting—
Truth and Honor's battle fighting—
I would draw my sword no more.

I am pining, dearest, pining,
For your kisses on my cheek;
For your dear arms round me twining;
For your soft eyes on me shining;
For your loved words—darlings, speak!

Tell me, in your earnest prattle,
Of the olive branch and dove;
Call me from the cannon's rattle;
Take my thoughts away from battle;
Fold me in your dearest love.

Darlings, I am weary, pining;
Shadows fall across my way;
I can hardly see the lining
Of the cloud—the silver lining,
Turning darkness into day.

A Charming Aquatic Courtship.

Madame D—, who resides at Chalon, was a lady of the strictest character, and with a heart proof against all allurements. She prided herself upon her insensibility, and her profound indifference, and repulsed all those gallants who had volunteered to offer their address.—The country was for her a veritable retreat; she shunned re-unions, and was only happy in solitude. The charms of a chosen circle, the pleasures of the world, had for her no attraction, and her favorite recreation was that of angling, an amusement worthy of an unfeeling woman.

She was accustomed every pleasant day to station herself at the extremity of the lonely island of Chalon, and there, with her book in one hand and her line in the other, her time was passed in fishing, or dreaming.

A lover who had always been intimidated by her coolness, and who had never ventured on a spoken or written declaration, surprised her at her favorite pursuit one day, when he had come to the island for the purpose of enjoying a swimming bath.

He observed her for a long time without being discovered, and busied himself with thinking how he might turn to his advantage this lonely amusement of angling. His reveries were so deep and fortunate that he at last hit upon the desired plan—a novel expedient, indeed—yet they are always more successful with such women as pretend to be invulnerable.

The next day our hero returned to the island, studied the ground, made his arrangements, and when Madame D— had resumed her accustomed place, he slipped away to a remote and retired shelter, and, after divesting himself of his clothing, he entered the stream. An excellent swimmer and skillful diver, he trusted to his aquatic talents for the success of his enterprise. He swam to the end of the island with the greatest precaution, favored by the chances of the bank and brushes, which hung their dense foliage above the water. In his lips was a note folded and sealed, and on arriving near the spot where Madame D— was sitting, he made a dive, and lightly seizing the hook, he attaches it to his letter.

Madame D—, perceiving the movement of her line, supposed that a fish was biting.

The young man had retired as he came; he had doubled the cape which extended out into the water separating them from each other, and had regained his spot without the least noise in his passage under the willows. The deed was done.

Madame D— pulled in her line, and what was her surprise to observe dangling from the hook, not the expected "shiner," but an unexpected letter.

This was, however, trifling; but her surprise became stupefaction when, detaching the transfixed billet, she read upon it—her name.

So, then, this letter which she had fished up was addressed to her.

This was somewhat miraculous. She was afraid. Her troubled glance scrutinized the surrounding space, but there was nothing to be seen or heard; all was still and lonely both on land and water.

She quit her seat, but took away the letter. As soon as she was alone and closeted with herself, and as soon as the paper was dry—a paper perfectly waterproof, and written upon with indelible ink—she unsealed the letter and commenced its perusal.

"A declaration of love!" cried she at the first words; "what insolence."

Still, the insolence had come to her in such an extraordinary manner that her curiosity would not suffer her to treat this letter as she had so many other—pitilessly burn it without a reading.

No—she read it quite through. The lover, who dated this letter from the bottom of the river, had skillfully adopted the allegory, and introduced himself as a grotesque inhabitant of the waters. The fable was gracefully managed, and with the jingling tone which he had adopted was mingled a true, serious, ardent sentiment, expressed with beauty and eloquence.

The next day Madame D— returned to the island, not without emotion and a trace of fear.

She threw her line with a trembling hand, and shuddered as a moment after she perceived a movement of the hook.

Is it a fish? Is it a letter? It was a letter.

Madame D— was no believer in magic—still there was something strange and supernatural in all this.

She had an idea of throwing the letter back into the stream, but relinquished it. The most stubborn and haughty woman is always disarmed in face of the mystery which captivates her imagination.

The second letter was more tender, more passionate, more charming than the first. Madame D— read it several times, and could not help thinking about the delightful merman, that wrote such bewitching letters.

On the subsequent day she attached her line to the bank, and left it swimming in the water while she withdrew to a landing-place at the extremity of the island. She returned to the place, withdrew the line, and there was the letter.

This time an answer was requested.—It was rather premature, yet the audacious request obtained a full success.—The reply was written after some hesitation, and the hook dropped into the stream, charged with a letter that was intended to say nothing, and affect a sort of badinage—which was, nevertheless, a bulletin of a victory gained over the hard severity of a woman till then unapproachable.

Madame D— had too much shrewdness not to guess that her mysterious correspondent employed, instead of magic, the art of a skillful diver. Scruples easily understood restrained her from that portion of the bank where she was sure that the diver would emerge from the water.

But this game of letters amused her. First, it pleased her intellect, and her curiosity became so lively that she wrote: "Let us give up this jesting, which has pleased me for the moment, but should continue no longer, and come with your apologies to Chalon."

The lover answered: "Yes, if you will add, 'Hope'"

"If only a word is necessary to decide you, be it so."

And the word was written.

The young man appeared, and was not a loser. The gift of pleasing belonged to his person as much as his style, and he had made such rapid progress under water that it was easy to complete his conquest on land. They were married.

GREENBACKS.—Few people, perhaps, are aware why the national currency is printed with green backs, therefore I will explain the reason. Ever since the adoption of paper currency, it has been the constant study of banknote engravers to get up some plan of printing bills that could not be counterfeited. In this they only partly succeeded till as late as 1857, when a man named Stacy J. Edson invented a kind of green ink, which he patented June 30th of that year. It is called anti-photographic ink, because it cannot be photographed on account of its color, and cannot be dislodged with alkalis by counterfeiters, to get a complete fac-simile of the bills. And as it is a secret only known by the American Bank Note Company and the inventor, it is impossible to counterfeit the green-back money. It was used by many banks before the war, but it was never a leading feature in the bill. Even if the composition of the ink was known, it would be of no use, as the work could not be copied from the genuine bills as with any other kind of ink. The date of the patent can be seen in all the bills, in small print.

INSTINCT OF THE WASP.—As Dr. Darwin was walking one day in his garden, he perceived a wasp upon the gravel walk with a large fly, nearly as big as itself, which he had caught. Kneeling down he distinctly saw it cut off the head and abdomen; and then taking up with his feet the trunk or middle portion of the body, to which the wings remained attached, fly away; but a breeze of wind acting on the wings of the fly turned round the wasp with its burden and impeded its progress. Upon this it alighted again on the gravel walk, deliberately first sawed off one wing and then another; and having thus removed the cause of its embarrassment, flew off with its booty. Here we have contrivance and re-contrivance—a resolution accommodated to the case, judiciously formed and executed, and on the discovery of a new impediment, a new plan adopted, by which final success was obtained.

Awful Calamity at Santiago, Chili.

The following account of the awful catastrophe which occurred on the night of the 8th of December, at Santiago, Chili, were taken from the Valparaiso Mercurio:

On the evening of the 8th December, 3,000 women and several hundred men were crammed within the walls of the Jesuit Church, at Santiago, celebrating the rites of the Immaculate Conception of Mary. Still the outside crowd fought to get in that they might hear their favorite priest, Ugarte, a passionate and vigorous declaimer. Elizaguirre, the Apostolic Nuncio and favorite of Pius IX., also founder of the American College at Rome, was likewise announced to preach. Elizaguirre having wounded the pride of Ugarte, by declaring that the illuminations in the Santiago church were nothing to compare with the illuminations at Rome, Ugarte determined to make, on this occasion, the grandest display ever witnessed upon the continent. The lighting of the lamps and candles had hardly finished, when the liquid gas, in a transparency on the high altar, set on fire its wood-work, and wrapped in flames a kind of tabernacle wholly composed of canvass, pasteboard, and wood. In less than two minutes the altar, about twenty-three yards high and ten broad, was an inextinguishable bon fire.

The advance of the fire was perhaps even more rapid than the panic of the audience. When the fire had flowed from the altar to the roof, the whole flock of devotees rushed to the principal door.—Those near the lateral doors were able to escape at the first alarm; others, and particularly the men, gained the little door of the sacristy, and lastly, those near the chief outlet forced their way through the throng, even still struggling to get in, and, indeed, did get in, even in face of the fire, stimulated by the desire of getting a good place, which on this occasion meant a good place to die in.—Then, the flames having crept along the whole roof, and consequently released the lamps of oil and liquid gas from the cornices to which they were strung, a rain of liquid blue fire poured down upon the entangled throngs below. A new and more horrible conflagration broke out in that dense living mass, appalling the affrighted gaze with pictures tenfold more awful than those wherein the Catholic imagination has labored to give an idea of the tortures of the damned. In less than a quarter of an hour about two thousand human beings had perished, including many children, but very few men.

Although many heroic men performed prodigies of daring and strength, in tearing some from the death-grasp of the phalanx of death that choked the door, in some cases literally tearing off their arms without being able to extricate them, the number of the saved by this means fell short of fifty. More than 500 persons of our highest society have perished, the greater part young girls of fifteen to twenty years. One mother has perished with her five daughters. Two-thirds of the victims were servants, and there are many houses in which not one has escaped. Several houses have been noted by the police as empty, because all their inhabitants have perished.

Never had such profecacy been seen before—20,000 lights, mostly camphene, in long festoons of colored globes, blazed the church into a Hell of fire. But the performance had not yet begun, when the crescent of fire at the gigantic image of the Virgin, over the high altar, overflowed, and climbing up the muslin draperies and pasteboard devices to the wooden roof, rolled forth a torrent of flame.—The suddenness of the fire was awful.—The dense mass of women, frightened out of their senses—numbers fainting and all entangled by their long swelling dresses—rushed, as those who knew that death is at their heels, to the one door, which soon became choked up. Fire was everywhere. Streaming along the wooden ceiling, it flung the paraffine lamps, hung in rows there, among the struggling women. In a moment the gorgeous church was a sea of flame. Michael Angelo's fearful picture of Hell was there, but far exceeded.

Acts of sublime heroism were performed, and among the noblest were the efforts of Mr. Nelson, U. S. Minister to Chili, and his countryman, Mr. Meiggs.

A lady named Orella, having in vain implored some bystanders, on her knees, to save her mother, rushed in and shortly afterwards miraculously issued forth, bearing her glorious load! A young lady of the name of Solar, just before the smoke suffocated her, had the presence of mind to knot her handkerchief around her leg, so that her corpse might be recognized.

After the close of the awful scene, and while the smouldering heaps were yet sending up smoke and effluvia to Heaven, the people became frantic with rage, and demanded the demolition of the remaining walls of that huge temple of human sacrifice, so that a monument could be erected on the spot to the martyrs. The municipal body seconded the people, and on the 19th of December a petition to that effect was presented to the President of the Republic, then at the capital. A decree in accordance with the petition was ordered. The priests are bitterly opposed to what they call the sacrilegious work, and, at last accounts, threatened resistance to the decree. The Government is weak and vacillating, but the people are strong, and doubtless their will has triumphed.

GEN. McCLELLAN ON THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—On 23d December Gen. McClellan's Report was transmitted to Congress. It covers the period from the 26th of July, 1861, to 7th November, 1862. It consists of 765 foolscap pages, and is divided into four parts. The General concludes as follows:

I shall not, nor can I, living, forget that when I was ordered to the command of the troops for the defence of the capital, the soldiers with whom I had shared so much of the anxiety and pain and suffering of the war, had not lost their confidence in me as their commander. They sprang to my call with all their ancient vigor, discipline and courage. I led them into Maryland fifteen days after they had fallen back defeated before Washington. They vanquished the enemy on the rugged heights of South Mountain, pursued him to the hard fought field of Antietam, and drove him broken and disappointed across the Potomac into Virginia. The army had need of rest after the terrible experience of battles and marches, with scarcely an interval of repose which they had gone through from the time of leaving for the peninsula—the return to Washington, the defeat in Virginia, the victory at South Mountain, and again at Antietam. It was not surprising that they were in a large degree destitute of the absolute necessities to effective duty. Their shoes were worn out, blankets were lost, their clothing was in rags—in short the army was unfit for active service, and an interval for rest and equipment was necessary. When the slowly forwarded supplies came to us I led the army across the river, renovated, refreshed, and in good order and discipline, and followed the retreating foe to a position where I was confident of a decisive victory, when, in the midst of the movement, and while my advance guard was actually in contact with the enemy, I was removed from the command. I am devoutly grateful to God that my last campaign with this brave army was crowned with a victory which saved the nation from the greatest peril it then had undergone. I have not accomplished my purpose if by this report the Army is not placed high on the roll of the historic armies of the world. Its deeds ennoble the nation to which it belongs. Always ready for battle, always firm and trustworthy, I never called on it in vain, nor will the nation ever have cause to attribute its want of success under myself, or under other commander, to any failure of patriotism or bravery in that noble body of American soldiers.—No man can justly charge upon any portion of that army, from the Commanding General to the private, any lack of devotion to the service of the United States Government, and to the cause of the Constitution and the Union. They have proved their fealty in much sorrow, suffering, danger, and through the very shadow of death. Their comrades, dead on all the fields where we fought, have scarcely more claim to the honor of a nation's reverence than the survivors to the justice of a nation's gratitude.

A STRONG-MINDED WOMAN.—The Albany Argus gives the following account of one of them: Mrs. Lydia Sayer Hasbrouck, who lives in Wallkill, won't pay taxes because she can't vote. Last month she was notified by the highway overseer of the town to appear on a certain day with shovel in hand to work out her highway tax. She appeared on the appointed day with her fire shovel, and went to work, but only for five days, when her tax was for ten and a half. She was thereupon arrested upon the complaint of the overseer. He complains that he "gave Lydia Sayer Hasbrouck, who resides in said district, and is assessed to work ten and a half days on the highways therein, notice to appear on the 9th day of September, with a good shovel, on the road near the house of A. G. Towley, to do such work, and that the said L. Sayer Hasbrouck did so appear with a small fire shovel, whereupon the said defendant furnished the said Hasbrouck with a good shovel, and directed her to assist in filling the wagon that was on the ground, but that the said Hasbrouck did not work faithfully, remaining idle a considerable portion of the time each load was filling, standing leaning on her shovel, talking and calling the attention of other workmen from their work; at other times sitting during the whole time of filling the wagon, sometimes with one hand touching the shovel into the wagon, and at other times reading a paper."

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, JAN. 30TH, 1864.

INSTALLATION.—The following are the officers of Grafton Lodge No. 141 F. & A. M., who were installed on Monday evening last, by N. Wyckoff, Esq., P. M. of Yolo Lodge No. 81: J. W. Baldwin, W. M.; H. C. Moray, S. W.; P. L. Dustin, J. W.; J. W. Snowball, Sec'y; Alex. Mills, Treas; ———, S. D.; Wm. Murdock, J. D.; John Plummer, Tyler. This Lodge was opened under dispensation in October, 1859, and received a charter, in May following, and the same presiding officer has been re-elected at every election under its charter, and we are informed that he has never been absent at a stated communication since its organization, 1859; nor has there been but one special communication without his presence to open the Lodge, and he was then prevented by sickness from attending.

THE weather for some time past has proved to be not only dry, but decidedly fickle, every few days giving promise of rain, but raining not. We learn that the ground has become so dry and hard, the effects of these continuous north winds, that the farmers have been compelled to quit plowing.

Since writing the above the wind has veered to the south, and we have spells of rain. Appearances indicate a plentiful supply.

HOMICIDE.—On Tuesday last, between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, Patsy Callahan was stabbed and from the effects died, by Thomas Sherman, at the Bank Exchange, corner of 2nd and K streets, Sacramento. The coronor's jury returned a verdict that the act was justifiable.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.—The Alameda Gazette says:

We have taken considerable pains to ascertain the public opinion of our county upon the currency question, and we have arrived at the conclusion that it is decidedly in favor of leaving the law in regard to the matter stand as it now is.

THE ten-mile trot for $2,000, between Barney Rice's "George," and J. L. Eoff's "Oregon John," over the Pioneer Race Course, San Francisco, on Saturday, resulted in favor of the first named: Time, 31 minutes, 30 seconds.

THE San Francisco Hussars have recently expended some $2,000 in the purchase of new uniforms, saddles, etc., and the members are bound to place it foremost among the crack corps of the State before another year.

THE bill for re-submitting the Constitution to the people in April next, was killed in the Nevada Territorial Legislature on Saturday last, by an indefinite postponement.

RAISING.—Carolan's brick building, corner of Grand Front streets, Sacramento, is being raised 8½ feet. The building is a two-story brick, front 60 feet on J street, and 45 feet on Front street.

THE number of California soldiers now in the employ of the Government is 5,400—two cavalry regiments, six infantry, one native California regiment, and one battalion of mountaineers.

ON Friday, Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped thirty-two bags of bullion, which weighed 2,345 pounds, and was estimated to be worth $61,977, says the Virginia Bulletin.

A PORTION of the contractors for building the levee of Swamp Land District No. 1, north of the American river, near Sacramento, suspended work on Saturday.

HITTELL'S bills to make greenbacks receivable and payable for public dues were discussed at some length, and laid over till February 8d.

THE Sanitary Committee sent $50,000 east by the steamer which sailed on Saturday.

VALENTINES! Valentines!—Fancy and Comic—Just received and for sale at Raveley's.

GOOD.—The bill raising the salary per diem of the Board of Supervisors for this county has passed.

THE Board of Supervisors will meet on Monday next, at Woodland.

THE value of bullion shipped last week from Virginia was $174,056 35.

Fence Law.

A writer in the Contra Costa Gazette, whose article we copy from Saturday evening Bulletin, offers some thoughts which it might be well for our stock and grain growers and legislators to consider when they commence to gather facts and arguments pro and con on the question of fence or no fence. We regard a fence law much as we regard a fence—the less you tinker with it the stronger and better it will remain. Like the writer in the Gazette, we do not know whether the bill before the Legislature would suit us or not, nor will we pretend to give an opinion as to whether it is or is not good policy to change the present law in regard to fences; but we think we hazzard nothing in saying, that any law that will most effectually teach men the nature of the obligations they are under to their neighbors, and the importance of strictly and impartially observing those obligations, will be a good law, and he who can frame and secure the passage of such a bill will justly be regarded as a public benefactor. But to the Gazette article:

"FIRST PRINCIPLES" OF A FENCE LAW.

Let us go back to the first principles as applied to the ownership of land. The owner of a tract of land is not only the owner of the soil, but of everything it produces, whether fenced or not, and were it not for some legislative enactments your stock would be as much transgressors upon another's lands unfenced, as if they were fenced. It was the owner's privilege to fence his land, but he was not bound to do it in order to have full control over it by common law of rights of property. Suppose all the laws enacted by our Legislature upon the subject of fences were repealed; we should have to go back to the common law on the rights of property. How would it be then? Suppose I own a tract of land, and my neighbors own all the lands that join me round about, and suppose my neighbors are all stock raisers, and I a farmer, would I have to fence my land in, in order to be the owner of the products? I think not. Have my neighbors a right to allow their stock to eat and destroy all my grain that I cannot bar or fight them away from? I think not.

What should be done in this case?—Recollect there is no law defining what a fence should be, and consequently if I make a fence my neighbor's stock may break it, and leave me as bad off as before, and then what shall be done? I think the right of property should govern, and if my neighbors' stock should destroy anything that belonged to me, he should pay for it, not because it was fenced, but because it was mine. Reverse the case. My neighbors are all farmers, and myself a stock-raiser. Then I certainly have a right to pasture my lands, but not that of my neighbors. How shall I do it? How shall I keep my stock from going upon my neighbor's pasture, and get the use of my own? Now this is a question of my own. My neighbor has nothing to do with it. I can fence my land; I have a right to do it, but it is only a privilege; I am not bound to do it. I have the same right to guard or herd my stock on my own lands, and if I can do it cheaper than to fence, it would be economy to do it. I know my stock has no right upon my neighbors' lands, and it is my business to keep them off.

Now as to interest. I have been in this county not quite seven years. All that time I have owned some cattle and horses and hogs. They have run on the commons the most of the time. More than enough have strayed or been stolen to have paid for fencing, and enough to pasture them all. As to persons who make it their only business to raise stock, they have to hire men to herd and hunt their stock at the time—an expense which would go far towards making fence for their pastures. Perhaps you will say many of the latter class do not own the land on which they pasture their stock. I think this is true, but they have no right to the use of any lands except public lands, and that by the consent of the public. But should men be encouraged not to buy up the public lands? I think they should be encouraged to buy it, and to become fixed and permanent in their business. I have not seen the bill that has been introduced into the Legislature, and do not know that it would suit me. But I am opposed to all these local laws of a general nature. If every county wants a different set of laws let us make every county a State, and have a Legislature in each to make their laws. I am not anxious to have our present custom of fencing interfered with. In fact, I never expect to farm without a fence. I should like also to raise some stock.—But if I do, I shall have to fence my pasture, whether this bill should become a law or not. For under our present system of rodoes, my stock is driven all over the country, and I have not enough to pay me to follow around and reclaim them. In consequence, I may lose more or less every spring, or fence up.

If we have any change in the law, let us return to first principles. Let every man attend to his own business. If a man will not take care of his own stock and they trespass upon others' property, let the owners of the stock pay the damages.

THE widow of Senator Douglas is employed in the Treasury Office at Washington.

SINGING SCHOOL.—A musical revival has sprung up in our midst, which, we hope will somewhat relieve the monotony that has prevailed amongst us since the holidays. We were present on last Wednesday evening, and were pleased to see the interest manifested and the progress made in singing by the class, and the good order that prevailed, which, we think, reflect credit upon the teacher, and show appreciativeness in the pupils. Besides music, these meetings have a social tendency, and should be encouraged by all. A new feature has been introduced that increases the interest and efficacy of the school; that is, the formation of quartets from among the class to practice set pieces and sing them upon the stage. It will inspire a spirit of emulation among the members, and enable them to overcome that natural timidity or dread which nearly all possess of appearing before an audience on a public occasion. This was perceptible in the singing on Wednesday night; however they did very well. Solos will be introduced next, and I would whisper in the ear of the committeeman who nominates, that there is a person generally seated in the back part of the house—the man of whom the poet sung not long since—who, I think should not be permitted to hide his talent in the dark corner of a room. I heard him sing a few of the pathetic strains of "John Brown" the same night, and tears well up into my eyes whenever I think of it. By the way, some other amusement should be had for the boys besides throwing little things at the teachers head, seeing how near they could go without hitting it. Bad boys!

AGRICULTURAL.—The State Agricultural Society met at Agricultural Hall, Sacramento, on Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Isaac Davis, of Yolo, President of the Society called the meeting to order. Reports of the Board of Directors, the Treasurer, and the Financial Secretary, were read and referred to committee appointed by the President for the special duty of considering the same.—Adjourned till 7 o'clock P. M. At the evening session the meeting adopted the report of the Committee on the General Report of the State Board of Agriculture to the Annual Convention. Report of Committee on the reports of the Society's officers was adopted. These officers were elected: Charles F. Reed, of Yolo, President; T. L. Chamberlain, of Placer, J. J. Owen, of Santa Clara, and J. H. Culver, of Sacramento, Directors. The cost of membership was reduced from ten to five dollars. By the adoption of a resolution, the thanks of the Society were returned to Isaac Davis, the retiring President, for the active, faithful, and earnest manner in which he had performed the onerous duties of his office during the past year. Thanks were returned for papers furnished the Society, free of cost, and then there was ordered an adjournment sine die.

FALSE ALARM.—At San Francisco on Tuesday night last, an alarm of fire sounded when Maguire's theatre was filled. Some one below called out fire, as the hall bell sounded, and ran out of the house, when the idea seized the minds of a large portion of the audience that the theatre was in danger, or absolutely on fire, and in an instant three-fourths of those present rose to join in the general rush for the door. Officer Everard and Capt. Baker, of the police force, luckily stood near the doorway of the dress-circle and quickly quieted the alarm by calling out, so as to be heard above the uproar in every part of the house, "Sit down! there is no fire within a mile." Only for their presence of mind, many would no doubt have been crushed to death.

RECRUITING.—The Alta says: "A general recruiting office for the California volunteer regiments, U. S. A., will be immediately opened in this city, and sub-offices for each regiment in charge of two officers and a private, will be established in different parts of the State, for the purpose of filling all the regiments to the full standard. Lieut. Gardner has already opened an office in this city, and is ready to accept good men who have the bump of combativeness largely developed."

BROKE HIS LEG.—Captain Horner, of the steamer Constitution, was late in coming on board the Yosemite at San Francisco on Tuesday last, and jumping on board broke his leg, by which accident he will be laid up some months.

THE Humboldt Register of January 16th, says ore from the Sheba ledge, taken out last Saturday, assays $8,600 the ton.

BRIG. GEN. WRIGHT, U. S. A.—We are gratified, says the Alta Californian, of Tuesday last, at being in a position to announce that no change will be made in the office of commander-in-chief of the Pacific Department, and that General Wright will remain at his post. The Government having so resolved, it is not an unfitting time for us as journalists to state that, to the considerate administrative abilities of General Wright, the people of California are, in a greater measure than they are aware of, or perhaps will know until the extinguishment of the rebellion, indebted for the peaceful relations which exist within the State. To his activity we certainly owe the various regiments of volunteers which have so signally reflected credit on our State; through his hands the whole of the Carleton expedition passed, and a great portion of the glory which other officers claim for themselves, properly belongs to him. General Wright has been actuated by a too nice sense of consideration to suit the views of ultraists. And it is that careful scrutiny, slow but certain action, which have led to reflect as great credit on him as a soldier as that earned at the "cannon's month." In command of an important part of the Union, with but a few troops at his disposal, and they scattered hundreds of miles apart, at the outbreak of the rebellion, a hasty action would have precipitated the whole Pacific coast into an intestine war. His cool, calm and considerate judgment never failed him—and we now can weigh the man. True to his profession, unwavering in his devotion to the Federal Government, he never failed in the exercise of his duties. At the same time, he never lost sight of the interests of the people of the Pacific, with whom he has so long been identified—and in him they have ever had a willing and urgent advocate.

SUNDAY LAW.—Senator Haswell has introduced a new Sunday law—amendment to the old one—and it reads thus:

Any person or persons who shall hereafter keep open, on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, any store, workshop, bar, saloon, banking house, or other place of business, for the purpose of transacting business therein, except as hereafter specifically provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and a conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty or more than three hundred dollars.

The provisions of this Act shall not apply to the keeping open hotels, boarding-houses, restaurants, taverns, barber-shops, bakeries, livery-stables, retail drug stores, (for the legitimate business of each,) or such establishments as are necessarily kept in continued operation to accomplish the business thereof; nor to the sale of milk, fresh meats, fresh fish, and vegetables; provided, that the sale of liquors, the playing of cards and billiards, shall not be considered a legitimate business of a hotel, boarding-house, tavern or restaurant, under the provisions of this Act.

SOOTHING AND BRACING.—There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as

Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

CALIFORNIA-GROWN TOBACCO.—We were shown recently specimens of cured leaf-tobacco grown in this State, the condition of which shows clearly that the art of curing is now being understood by some of our tobacco growers, and that the hitherto great stumbling block of want of knowledge in that particular will soon be removed. One of the specimens was grown on the Encinal, Alameda county, by J. T. Clement, who raised from one-eighth of an acre 250 pounds of well-cured leaf tobacco. This tobacco was raised from James River, Va., and "pear trees" seed, received from the Patent Office. The quality of the tobacco is very good, it being of a fine bright color, and excellent flavor. Owing, however, to the plant being permitted to carry all its leaves until harvest, the leaves are small, and better suited for fillers than wrappers for cigars. It would also make very fair quality of plug tobacco for chewing purposes. Another sample, which appears to be of fair quality, was grown from the same seed by Gurney & Wilson, on Grand Island, on the Sacramento river, 35 miles below Sacramento. The same remarks as to quality apply to this sample, with the exception that its color is not as fine as that grown in Alameda county.

It certainly is very gratifying to see such evidences of progress in raising in this State a staple which has heretofore been considered as being exclusively the product of the slave States on the Atlantic. The total crop grown this year is not known, but it is roughly estimated that over 1,000 acres were planted with tobacco last spring. This was distributed pretty well throughout the different counties of the State, scarcely one of which, except the entire mountainous counties, but had more or less patches planted, and so far as heard from the result of the crops is considered a complete success. From present indications it seems likely that at least from 4,000 to 5,000 acres will be planted this season, which, if successfully grown, will supply our domestic wants. The price of tobacco throughout the civilized world has, since the commencement of the rebellion, attained so high a price, and the accumulated surplus of preceding years been entirely exhausted, that the prospect of a continuation of good paying prices may be looked for for several years to come. From the favor in which the raising of tobacco is held by our farmers, it is to be expected that within the next two years California will have added the shipping of tobacco to the already long list of exports.—Bulletin.

MORE INDIAN TROUBLES.—W. Wilson writes us from Cecilville, South Fork of Salmon river, in Klamath county, Jan. 15th, that the miners on Poney creek, a branch of New river, in this county, had just arrived there, having been driven from their claims two days before by a band of thirty Indians. They laid out two nights, and arrived at the crossing of Plummer creek this morning, when they discovered that the Indians were on their track. He learned, while writing, that several Chinamen had been killed at Brown's Bar, six miles below Cecilville, and the inhabitants of the latter place were in constant fear of attack. It was hardly possible for them to receive assistance unless it came from Sawyer's Bar, as the other camps on Salmon and Klamath rivers have no more inhabitants than are required for self-protection. In view of this state of affairs we recommend to the proper authorities the absolute necessity of sending a few hundred more men to Gaston, and the camps in Humboldt county, without delay.—Trinity Journal.

FOREHAND.—The Prince of Wales has a very fair start in the world for a young man. His Cornwall estate has yielded $3,500,000; his landed property give him an income of $126,000; Parliament votes him $550,000 a year while his mother lives, besides $250,000 for Mrs. Wales to spend. Add to this a very pretty wife and a good prospect of being King of England some day, and the Prince can be considered "forehanded."

THE PARDON OF RUBEY.—Alfred Rubery was brought up in the United States Circuit Court this morning, to receive the pardon extended him by the President. He looks pale and somewhat dispirited by the imprisonment he has undergone. On being asked if he would accept the condition of the pardon by leaving the country in thirty days, he promised to leave in three.—Bulletin.

The daughter of a well-known commission merchant in Chicago has instituted a suit against a prominent physician of that city for a breach of promise of marriage—damages $25,000. Another young lady in Chardon, Wisconsin, has just received a healing plaster for her broken heart in the shape of a verdict of $10,000 damages against the gay deceiver.

The farmers in Southern Illinois have been busily engaged for some weeks past in cotton picking on high grounds, where the crops have been little injured by the frost. On the bottom and low lands the crops are totally ruined. Cotton presses are going up in Huron and Jackson counties, and gins are running in every neighborhood.

A BOUNTY of $1,000 is paid in Newark, New Jersey, to every recruit under the last call for troops. A regiment thus will cost the mere trifle of $1,000,000.

APPEAL TO PATRIOTS.—We learn through an Eastern exchange that the estate of the late Senator Douglas, at Cottage Grove, a suburb of Chicago, was sold last month, under a foreclosure of mortgage. The total indebtedness was $83,963, and the property was sold in single lots, at far below its value. The Chicago Times calls upon the State and nation to purchase and restore to his family the home of the departed Senator.—Here is an opportunity for the numerous friends of the lamented Douglas to show their appreciation of their dead favorite, and contribute towards purchasing the estate for the widow of Judge Douglas and the orphans. According to the Presidential vote of 1860, in this State, there are 39,516 Douglas Democrats, and were these to contribute an average of one dollar a head, or even fifty cents, a respectable sum of money could be collected toward purchasing the Douglas property for the family of this good and great man. No man's memory demands more gratitude from California than that of Stephen A. Douglas. The bill admitting us a member of the great Confederacy of States was drafted by Judge Douglas, and in the United States Senate we always had a reliable and an able friend in him. California has never been appealed to in vain for charitable ends; her thousands of dollars have been forwarded to the poverty-stricken of Europe, and her hundreds of thousands have gone to the relief of the maimed soldiers of our army and their otherwise destitute families. Let California gratefully respond to a call upon her for the family of one who deserved well from us.—Grass Valley National.

A CALIFORNIAN AFTER THE ALABAMA.—It is reported on what is regarded as pretty good authority, that one of our well known citizens, Captain O. B. Cray, has been tendered the command of one of the new, fast, and heavily armed steamers, built expressly for overhauling and capturing the Alabama, and will leave on the steamer of the 3d of February for New York, to enter at once on the duty assigned him. It is understood that there will be no restriction on the management of the pursuit, but that the Captain will have full authority to follow the pirates to any part of the world and continue the chase until the object is accomplished.—Atta.

A FACT.—It will be recollected that two or three years ago a shooting scrape came off at the foot of K street, in which Ned Lloyd was killed. The principal actors in that fight were the two Lloyds, Tom Coleman, Patsy Callaghan, Joe McGee, and P. N. Smith. Of these six, five have passed from earth, and every one by the hand of violence. Coleman, we believe is still living. There would seem to be a moral in this review—and one so apparent that all must see it.—Bee.

The annual revenue of Russia is $221,871,240, of which $90,000,000 is obtained from the tax on brandy. How nice it must seem to the Russians in New York to be where the article is free as water.

The canal for supplying Aurora with water will be thirty-five miles long and will cost $100,000.

DR. HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.
THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE
remedy upon the stomach, liver and secretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.
Invigorate the System.
Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters
Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.
Strengthen the System.
The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wanted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthful invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.
A Word to the Aged.
In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters
As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.
For Females.
Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances & derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the oppressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

Dr. Guyott's Improved
EXTRACT OF
Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla
Will Cure without Fail
Scrofula or King's Evil, Cancers, Tumors, Eruptions of the skin, Erysipelas, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ringworm or Tetter, Scald Head, Rheumatism, Pains in the Bones and Joints, Old Sores and Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Diseases of the Kidneys, Loss of Appetite, Diseases arising from the use of Mercury, Pain in the Side and Shoulder, General Debility, Dropsy, Jaundice, Lumbago, &c.

Dr. Guyott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla put up in the largest sized bottles, contains more of the Honduras Sarsaparilla than any other preparation extant, which is combined with the extract of Yellow Dock, the extract of Wild Cherry and the Balsam of Fir, thus making the remedy more thoroughly efficient than any other Sarsaparilla before the public. At the same time it is perfectly free from ALL mineral poisons, which can not be said of any other of the Sarsaparilla compounds. The invalid should beware of poisons. Mercury, Iron, Quinine, Potash, Iodine, Sulphur, Arsenic, and many other mineral and metallic poisons enter into and form the active basis of most of the sarsaparilla and panacea of the day. Guyott's Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla does not contain a particle of the substances; as any one can ascertain by applying the necessary tests.

These poisons may occasionally remove disease, but they so vitiate the blood and impregnate the whole system with their baneful effects, that the first cold or the first attack of disease, prostrates the patient's strength and subjects him or her to the most excruciating torture, and renders another cure almost impossible and hopeless. Let all poisonous sarsaparilla preparations alone, and use Guyott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, which is thoroughly efficacious, perfectly harmless and purely vegetable. All kinds of diseases yield to its genial influence.

Caution.—Beware of counterfeits. All genuine Dr. Guyott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has the name of JOHN D. PARK, Present Proprietor, Cincinnati, O., on the label.
Remember this fact when buying, all without the name of "JOHN D. PARK, Cincinnati, Ohio," on the label are counterfeits.
Sold by all Druggists.

THE Knight's Landing News.

MICE AND REPTILES.—In an English work, called, "The life of a Soldier," we find the following account of battles between mice, scorpions, and centipedes, in Barbadoes. The brief narrative is full of interest. In clearing the ground for the camp, we disturbed a variety of noxious reptiles, such as whipnakes of an extraordinary length; but not thicker than a goose quill; centipedes of a large size, whose backs were plated like a lobster's tail, and scorpions. Having heard that mice were natural enemies to the two latter, I procured a few that I might be a witness to their combat. The arena was the space circumscribed by a glass bell; and upon letting a mouse and scorpion loose in it, a grand display of maneuvering ensued—the mouse trying to bite off his opponent's tail, which terminates in a sting, and the scorpion watching for an opportunity to strike him with it. Should the former succeed in his first object the latter falls a prey; but if stung the mouse swells up and dies in convulsions. However, the mouse is generally victorious. Equal generalship is required in the engagement with the centipede, which defends itself with two small nippers, placed at either side of its mouth, near the poison bags. One of our men found a large tarantula on his shoulder one morning when he awoke, and it suffered itself to be removed without doing him any injury. He brought it to me, as an amateur; and accordingly I placed it under the bell with one of the hardest bitten mice. It immediately reared itself on its hinder legs, remained motionless in this posture, while the mouse ran round the bell, evidently unwilling to face its new antagonist. This continued a short time; and then, as if under the influence of an irresistible fascination, the mouse jumped suddenly into the arms of the tarantula, which quickly seized him with two nippers, resembling the claws of a cat, and situated on either side of the head, and with such deadly effect that the little quadruped instantly swelled up and burst. I next let loose two or three mice at a time on the tarantula, but they all shared the same fate.

"SISTER," said one of the brethren of a love-feast, "are you happy?"
"Yes, Deacon, I feel as though I was in Beelzebub's bosom."
"Not in Beelzebub's, sister."
"Well, in some of the patriarch's, I don't care which."
