

OPPOSE ANNEXATION

SMALL TOWNS OF COUNTY DO NOT FAVOR CONSOLIDATION SCHEME

If any of the smaller towns in this county are in favor of the Los Angeles consolidation project, they are keeping still about it. Every one who has spoken to date is bitterly opposed to the measure and ready to fight it to the last. The South Pasadena Record has the following to say as to the feeling in that enterprising city:

"The department of registration at the county offices is authority for the statement that the petitions calling for the state constitutional amendment relative to county and city consolidation have all been checked up and the petitions have enough and a surplus. That means that the proposition will be on the ballot on November 3 to be voted upon by the people of the state.

"It further means that it will be up to the people of the suburban and rural districts to not only vote to defeat the measure, but to work against it from now until election day, so that the individuality of the small city may be preserved and that they may not be 'gobbled' up and digested by ambitious and selfish metropolises for political and financial purposes.

"The small outlying cities around Los Angeles which have refused annexation are surely wise to the purpose of this measure and those which have accepted annexation after their short experience as a part of the Angel City cannot help but more than suspicion the motive of those so successfully circulating the petition in Los Angeles."

ONE CITY PASSES BILLBOARD ORDINANCE

Venice has passed an ordinance against billboards and proposes to enforce it to the limit. If Venice can do that, there is no reason why other cities cannot. If there is one thing above another that is a nuisance and which destroys the beauty of the landscape in Southern California, especially in Los Angeles county, it is the myriads of unsightly billboards. If all the people would take a stand against them they would soon go out of existence.

TO HAVE BETTER SERVICE

The residents of the Oak Knoll district and those of North Alhambra are rejoicing over a recent decision of the state railroad commission, which orders the Pacific Electric company to place two-car trains in service on the Oak Knoll line during the rush hours of the day. They had wished a more frequent service, but even to have seats with the present schedule will be a great blessing to those from the east side.

PAPER MILLS BUSY

Paper mills are experiencing a boom in business since the outbreak of the war in Europe. The reason for this is that papers throughout the country expect a huge increase in the sale of their sheets, due to the universal interest and to the magnitude of the conflict.

Well informed newspaper men express the opinion that it is probable the increase in consumption of paper will be about 20 to 25 per cent in excess of normal.

It is believed that there need be no apprehension as to the adequacy of the supply, for in the first place mills are not running up to their maximum capacity, and in the second place a very slight advance in prices would turn a large number of machines onto news print paper which are now occupied in making manila, cheap book and poster paper.

BYRON ON DENTISTS

The profession of dentistry stood higher in Byron's esteem than the profession of arms. In September, 1820, on hearing that his favorite dentist had died, Byron wrote to John Murray: "The death of Waite is a shock to the teeth as well as to the feelings of all who knew him. I left him in the most robust health and little thought of the national loss in so short a time. He was much superior to Wellington in national greatness, as he who preserves the teeth is preferable to the warrior who gains a name by breaking heads and knocking out grinders. Who succeeds him? Where is tooth powder, mild and yet efficacious; where is tincture, where are clearing roots and brushes now to be obtained? I knew that Waite had married, but little thought that the other disease was so soon to overtake him."

Portal In South Wall of Palace of Education, Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, 1915

Copyright, 1914, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition Co.

THE doorway shown is one of the lesser portals of this palace and overlooks the South Gardens and the southern end of the Fine Arts Lagoon. In influence the portal is early Italian renaissance. The twisted fluted Roman columns have been given an eastern flavor by the application of contrasting colors in alternation, applied under the direction of Jules Guerin, director of color of the Exposition. The portal is over thirty feet in height. The outer wall of the palace is sixty-five feet high.

NOTES FROM WAR ZONE

That no important engagement has occurred between the French and Germans is indicated by an official announcement issued by the French war department that up to Wednesday afternoon there had been no encounters between the respective forces except those of outposts.

Later, however, Paris reported that the bombardment by the Germans of the important town of Pont-a-Mousson, in the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle, had commenced. This town is twenty miles from Nancy and sixteen miles south-southwest of Metz. It was the birthplace of Marguerite of Anjou, wife of Henry VI of England.

An important development in the situation is the preparation which the Austrian ambassador is making for his immediate departure from London. War between Great Britain and Austria is to be declared.

The German army is advancing into the heart of Belgium. The forces which have been investing Liege have moved to the north and a new army corps has taken their place.

Brussels reports that the French and British allied forces are concentrated at various important points in Belgium and are prepared to check the German advance. From Berlin German successes are announced at Muelhausen and Lagarde, with the taking of many French prisoners and the clearing of German territory of the French.

Fighting continues around Tirlemont and other Belgian towns, and the struggle for the possession of the Liege forts has recommenced.

The British war office information bureau says the majority of the twenty-six German army corps has been located and that the mass of the German troops is concentrated between Liege and Luxemburg.

In their endeavor to keep the steamship routes clear on the Atlantic, the British admiralty and the French government have sent out cruisers and armed merchant vessels to search for German craft.

The Russians are mining Vladivostok harbor.

The combined Montenegrin and Serbian invasion of Bosnia has begun under Serbian General Jankovich, who was commander of the Serbian army corps at Prisrend in the Balkan war.

Prince George of Serbia is reported to have been wounded while watching the Austrian bombardment of Belgrade.

THE JABOTICABA

One of the most interesting fruits recently introduced to the United States is that described by Wilson Popenoe, agricultural explorer for the federal bureau of plant industry, in the July number of the Journal of Heredity. This is the jaboticaba (myrciaria cauliflora), a Brazilian fruit of the myrtle family, which is very highly prized there, but not yet much studied by botanists and scarcely known outside its own restricted range.

"Few fruits," says the explorer, "create so strong an impression on the newcomer as the jaboticaba, not only because of its habit of producing its delicious fruit upon the trunk of the tree from the ground up, but also because of the unusual beauty of its symmetrical, dense, umbrageous head of light green foliage, which entitles it to a place among the best ornamental trees of the region."

The fruits, several crops of which are often produced in a year, are described as round or slightly oblate, half an inch to an inch and a half in diameter, deep, glossy, maroon purple in color, crowned with a small disk at the apex. The skin is thicker than that of a grape and considerably tougher; it contains, besides coloring matters, a large amount of tannin. The translucent, juicy pulp, white or tinged with rose, is of a most agreeable vinous flavor, suggestive of the rotundifolia type of grape; this similarity to the grape is not confined to the flavor alone, the external appearance, character of the flesh, the size and number of the seeds as well as the flavor all bearing such a striking resemblance to the grape as to have earned for the jaboticaba the title of "the grape of Brazil."

A good jaboticaba, the writer says,

"is so thoroughly agreeable as to tempt one to keep on picking and eating the fruits indefinitely—a temptation to which, it must be confessed, Brazilians often yield. The boys, especially, will spend hours searching out and eating the fruits, and their only complaint is that it is impossible to satisfy one's appetite with jaboticabas."

The tree withstands little frost, although it is without doubt harder than many of the strictly tropical fruits and adopted to cooler regions. In California some plants introduced about ten years ago by Dr. Francesco di Santa Barbara have made rather slow growth, and although at times slightly injured by frost, give promise of being eventually successful in favorable locations. Young trees in the United States plant introduction garden at Miami, Fla., are doing well, and while it is yet too early to make any definite statement, they seem likely to prove adapted to this region.

In Brazil propagation seems to be exclusively by seed, although the foreman of one of the principal nurseries in Rio de Janeiro stated that he had successfully inarched young trees and considered this a desirable way to perpetuate choice varieties. The hard wood and thin bark will doubtless make budding difficult, but some form of grafting should prove entirely feasible under California conditions.

ONE DREAM REALIZED

"Strange," said the first tramp meditatively, "how few of our youthful dreams ever come true."

"Oh, I dunno," said his companion, "I remember I used to dream about wearing long pants, and now I guess I wear 'em longer than any one else in the country."—Ladies' Home Journal.

ANNIVERSARY NUMBER

ACTIVE INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN SPECIAL EDITION OF THE NEWS

It is indeed encouraging to the publisher to learn that such an active interest is being taken in the anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News. Glendale is surely made up of a large number of public-spirited men, and public-spirited men who are keen and honest in business is what makes a city grow and prosper.

The publisher of The News is investing $1400 in an anniversary number. The paper stock, costing about $400, is now on the floor ready for the pressman. Compiling reading matter, cost of composition, press-work, etc., will cost $1000. That is not much money to spend to advertise Glendale, a city of 9000 population, but it would be a hardship for one man to spend that much.

The anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News will represent the united efforts of almost 9000 people.

Requests for space in the anniversary number are coming from all parts of the city. When 9000 people pull together they represent a great force. That is the way with the people of Glendale—they are pulling together. The pulling together is giving them good streets, excellent lighting system, good water system, good schools and good everything—yes, even good citizens.

HON. JOHN S. CHAMBERS

I hereby certify that the following is a true copy of a resolution unanimously adopted at the fourth convention of the Association of County Auditors of California, held February 18th, 1914, to-wit:

Whereas, in August, 1913, Hon. John S. Chambers was appointed state controller vice Hon. A. B. Nye, deceased, and

Whereas, since his induction into office Mr. Chambers has displayed marked ability in handling the state's affairs falling to his department and has taken a strong and determined stand in the enforcement of the laws relating to taxation of inheritances and other laws guarding the collection of the state revenues, and has always been courteous and painstaking in his correspondence and in his efforts to satisfactorily adjust any differences which have arisen between the authorities of the county and of the state, and the advice we as auditors have received through his department has been of material assistance to us; therefore

Resolved, that the auditors of the state in convention assembled congratulate Governor Hiram W. Johnson and the people of California generally in the selection of Mr. Chambers to fill the important office of controller, and we faithfully commend him as a splendid, wide-awake official.

Dated July 28th, 1914.

Temporary Secy.

MEANING OF MORATORIUM

The word "moratorium" appearing repeatedly now in discussions of international credit, has a simpler meaning than its length and verbal structure might imply. It carries no meaning to the average layman, he need not feel chagrined. There are bankers and brokers, we venture to affirm, who have had their first lesson in its meaning of late. And this for a very simple reason. Only on extraordinary occasions do states resort to a "moratorium," that is, to an emergency legislative act or executive decree suspending ordinary provisions of law relative to payment of indebtedness. When a government, acting for the welfare of all its subjects and in obedience to the soundest advice it can get, decides to delay or rather to postpone the date when commercial obligations must be met according to customary rules of honor and of law, it does it in conformity with a higher law of conservatism arising from the need of the hour, if the structure of credit is to be upheld. Once the exigency passes and courts, national and international, come to review proceedings taken under moratory laws, they usually are deemed valid. Arbitrary they may be, but having a constructive purpose and a general application to all debtors and creditors caring to take advantage of them, they serve their end in the realm of "high finance," using that expression in the best sense of that term.

A panic among millions of armed men, crazed by long drawn out horrors of battle, suggests possibilities before which imagination reels. It is disaster, immeasurable, overwhelming!—Riverside Press.

ITEMS FROM TROPICO

OLD RESIDENTS TO MOVE AWAY—OTHER NEWSLETS OF PERSONAL NATURE

William B. Pratt, who has resided on Glendale avenue the past twenty years or more, has traded his valuable residence property to Thomas Marshall of Los Angeles for an alfalfa ranch three miles from Burbank. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt came from Iowa twenty years or more ago and have always been progressive and active citizens in every movement, civic or religious, that was for the betterment of the community or for mankind. They will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Henry G. Pettit has packed and stored her household goods and with her young son have gone to Los Angeles, where they will remain for several weeks. Later Mrs. Pettit and son will go to England to reside.

Much to the delight of their many friends, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice have returned to their home on Central avenue after a four months' absence at their ranch home near Lindsay.

Miss Mary Mayne of Salt Lake City is the charming house guest of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Mabry, of East Acacia street.

Mrs. Harry Tisdale of La Paloma is enjoying a visit at San Pedro as the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Mathewson.

Mrs. Charles G. Phillips is enjoying a restful and delightful sojourn at the beach.

WHAT GLENDALE WOMEN ARE DOING IN POLITICS

Great interest in the various candidates who are now before the public for the primary election to be held Tuesday, August 25th, has been displayed by the women of Glendale, and the meetings recently held in private homes have been well attended by them.

The sample ballots are fully explained and the past records of each candidate have been given. These meetings have been strictly non-partisan and the women concerned have shown a keen desire to fully inform themselves regarding the various candidates.

TO ADDRESS POLITICAL MEETING

Dr. Jessie A. Russell of 343 North Maryland avenue will address a large mass meeting at Long Beach tomorrow afternoon, speaking as she has at several similar meetings during the past three weeks on "Woman's Responsibility at the Primaries." Tomorrow's gathering will be a union meeting of the federation of the Parent-Teacher Association, the federation of the W. C. T. U., the various women's church organizations and representatives from different clubs.

PINK LUNCHEON

The Misses Katherine and Mary Ellen O'Leary were hostesses recently at a luncheon given in their Cedar street home complimentary to Miss Dorothy Hunt of West Fifth street and her cousin, Miss Mary Milliken, who has been visiting here from Oakland. Pink was used exclusively throughout and the afternoon was spent in a general good time, such as all young girls know just exactly how to have.

FIRST AMERICANS ARRIVE

Ten hundred and twelve Americans arrived at New York Wednesday night by American liner Philadelphia. These were the first Americans who had been touring Europe at the time war was declared to land. They were a happy company, 703 being cabin and 309 steerage passengers. The steerage passengers were given the freedom of the ship. Baggage belonging to these passengers had been left behind, and few of the passengers had money. They were glad to return to their native land.

GLENDALE THEATER CHANGES OWNERSHIP

Saturday a deal was consummated whereby H. W. Clark of Los Angeles purchased the interest of Dr. Dove in the Glendale Theater. Work will start immediately on the extension of the building and the theater will be remodeled so as to have a seating capacity of nearly 500. The front of the building will be altered and the foyer enlarged, making a first-class playhouse in every respect. Mr. Clark has already changed the film service, showing five reels of Mutual pictures nightly and four changes a week.

IS A GOOD INVESTMENT

NO GUESS WORK ABOUT "PLUNGING" IN REAL ESTATE OF GLENDALE

A judicious investment of money in Glendale property is a good business proposition. Occasionally a man who owns property in this city gets a little discouraged and becomes anxious to sell. Real estate property in Glendale is a good investment. Real estate values are increasing and will continue to do so.

In the Middle West twenty-five years ago land was changing hands at from twenty to twenty-five dollars per acre, and now the same land is easily worth from $125 to $150 per acre.

In five years from now Glendale will have a population of almost 20,000 and property will have increased in value threefold.

There is no guess work about this. The last five years' increase in population and gain in valuations of property is sufficient proof of what change will be brought about in the next five years.

Four years ago the population of Glendale was 2700, less than one third what it is now. Fourteen years ago the population was 400. If you have money to invest, do not fear to make judicious purchases of Glendale real estate.

ONE O'CLOCK CLUB LUNCHEON

Mrs. Gus H. Pulliam of 121 Cedar street was at home Wednesday to members of the Wednesday Thimble club, having first served a delicious course luncheon and then entertained her guests, who spent the afternoon in needlework with music.

The home was fresh with the growth of potted plants and ferns, the table at which the dainty meal was served having been similarly adorned.

Those seated about the board that was covered with handsome lace doilies and attractively set with rare pieces of glass and painted china, were Mrs. William S. Althouse, Mrs. C. B. Wilde, Mrs. Augustus Eddy, Mrs. Jordan S. Neel, Mrs. J. A. Neel, Mrs. Harry L. Neel and the gracious hostess.

LUCKY THIRTEEN GUESTS OF MISS HOBBS

As usual, the Lucky Thirteen Girls had another jolly time last evening when as guests of Miss Katherine Hobbs of Central avenue they enjoyed a cafeteria supper together. A short business session followed and the merry evening concluded in games and music.

Those present besides the hostess, her mother, Mrs. John Hobbs, and sister, Miss Dorothy Hobbs, who assisted during the evening, were Miss Dorinda Haviland, Miss Bessie Brewster, Miss Vera McPherson, Miss Dorothy Morgan, Miss Gladys Hamilton, Miss Gladys Anderson, Miss Evelyn Kent, Miss Lois Candee, Miss Mae Church, Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Alice Grey Beach and Miss Beach's cousin and house guest, Miss Eula Christian, who is visiting here from Imperial valley.

ENJOY DAY AT VERDUGO PARK

A most delightful day was enjoyed in the form of a picnic at Verdugo park yesterday by Mrs. E. D. Yard and son Waldo, Mrs. S. B. Jones, Miss Irene Jones and Master William Jones, Mrs. Walter Patterson and daughters, the Misses Alice and Irma Patterson of Glendale, and Mrs. David English, Mrs. Ethel Oliver and little daughter Ethel, who have recently come to Glendale to make their home.

At noon a delicious picnic luncheon was procured from somewhere by the ladies and cooked to a perfection on the artistic new stove that Verdugo park now boasts of.

About 12 o'clock Miss Clara Jenkins joined the party as a guest of Miss Alice Patterson. Several short talks were enjoyed during the day and before it was realized by anyone the time had arrived to return home.

INFORMAL DINNER

A delightfully informal dinner was enjoyed in the home of Mrs. T. A. Wright, 305 South Louise street, last evening, when that gracious lady entertained complimentary to Miss Marion Menell, who is spending the week in Glendale from Los Angeles. Guests from Glendale were Miss Caroline Wattling of Maple avenue and Miss Helen Wright of 235 South Louise street.

DOMITIAN SWATTED FLIES
The original "swat the fly" man was Domitian, Roman emperor from 81 to 96 A. D. History records little good of Domitian, but it does say that he anticipated the anti-fly movement by more than 1800 years.

WHY JOHN C. CLINE SHOULD BE SHERIFF

He has lived in Los Angeles 45 years and everybody is familiar with his clean public record.

In 1894 as sheriff he handled the great American Railway Union strike without the aid of the militia, by appointing special deputies from the ranks of labor, to prevent disorder and the destruction of property. Thus in his wisdom demonstrating that men in any walk of life, put upon their honor, will observe their trust. Adv. 304-tf

THE SALE OF TITLES

Dom Pedro II, who lost the throne of Brazil in 1889, was the last monarch to offer titles for sale. In order to obtain funds for the erection of a hospital in Rio de Janeiro, the emperor announced that he would confer the title of "baron" on every subscriber of 100,000 milreis and the title of "count" on every subscriber of 250,000 milreis. Many proved willing to become ennobled on these terms, and sufficient money was forthcoming to endow the hospital as well as build it. Over the main entrance may still be seen the inscription, suggested by Dom Pedro, "Human Vanity to Human Misery."

Although French titles of nobility were abolished at the time of the revolution by a decree that was revived in 1871, yet the ministry of justice issues certificates of nobility. Members of the French diplomatic service who use titles have to obtain one of these certificates and pay stiffly for the transaction. The fees in the case of a duke amount to $2400, a marquis pays $2000, a viscount $1400, a baron $300 and a chevalier $260.

The certificate is to the effect that the pedigree of the holder having been investigated, his claim to the title he bears has been fully established, and the seal of the republic is affixed to this patent of nobility.—Chicago News.

WHY NOT FOOL THEM?

There are two measures to be voted on at the coming election, each of which admits of consolidation of cities and counties as one city. One of these is the Los Angeles-San Francisco plan, which provides for a larger population, while the Oakland plan stipulates that territory embracing 50,000 population may go in on a consolidation scheme of its own.

Either one of these plans is going to catch smaller areas in and around Los Angeles. For instance, in our section of the county there is Sierra Park, Ramona Acres and Garvalia, any one of which or all may be gobbled up under either one of these schemes, and it is about time these sections got busy in some movement to head it off.

The Advocate has believed all along that these three sections could well afford to unite with Alhambra in one city government and thus be able to stave off consolidation with Los Angeles for a greater number of years to come than if they stay out in the open where they will be rounded up and made a part of Los Angeles before they are aware of it.

These are matters worthy of careful, thoughtful consideration, especially by our neighbors to the south of us. Of course, if they prefer to go into Los Angeles, that is their privilege, but we believe Alhambra is more in touch with these sections than the metropolis and certainly the cost to Ramona Acres and Garvalia in the long run would be much less for lights, water, gas and sewer and more certain of securing same if they became a part of Alhambra.

Let not these two sections get the mistaken idea that Alhambra has any ulterior or mercenary motive in asking this territory to join us other than that of not only protecting ourselves by reason of increased size, but helping these sections also to protect themselves from being swallowed up by Los Angeles.

It is a mutuality of interest and a union for our protection that the Advocate takes the liberty to re-open, at this time, the question which has, heretofore, been more or less discussed by the territory under consideration.

In our opinion there is need of a strong triple alliance between the Pasadenas, Alhambra and San Gabriel against any possible absorption of this territory by Los Angeles. We might find it advisable, under the 50,000 proposition, to unite these four cities under one head, temporarily, and long enough to defeat the Los Angeles plan, and then, after the fight is over, restore each city to its normal boundary until such time as Los Angeles tried the same scheme again, when we could fly to cover under the same regime and keep it up until the metropolis quit trying to absorb us.

We believe there can be evolved a plan something like we have named above provided consolidation carries in the coming election and defeat any scheme that Los Angeles may seek to perpetrate by which to compel us to become a part of the consolidated

THE VOTER'S CREED

I believe in the fair name of state and community. I will consider whether saloons are likely to add to the reputation of either.

I believe in clean manhood. I will consider the effects of the saloon upon the physical, intellectual and moral man; whether it makes for purity, innocence or virtue; chaste habits of thought, word or deed.

I believe in the home. I will consider the effect of the saloon upon home happiness, fidelity to home relations, constancy in its affections.

I believe in a safe and moral environment. I will consider the saloon's contributions to poverty, disease and crime.

I believe in good citizenship. I will consider whether the saloon makes good or bad men; whether it helps toward a manhood of high ideals, sober integrity and honest efficiency in domestic, public and business life.

I believe in clean politics. I will consider saloon activities in securing the best men in office and perfect official integrity; ideal laws and their enforcement; purity of the ballot; freedom from intimidation and fraud.

I believe in the minimum of taxation. I will consider if revenue from a few saloons offsets the burden of support of the asylums they fill; the police and court expenses they increasingly involve; the poverty, disease and crime they produce.

I believe in my responsibility of franchise. When I vote I will mark my ballot as one exercising the right of franchise in trust—as guardian of my children and their future welfare; as representing the rights, interests and wishes of my wife, mother or sister; as a true citizen and patriot interested in the purity, integrity and efficiency of domestic, business and political institutions; as an agent in bringing in the kingdom of God. As in the presence of God and my own conscience.—Adapted.

LIVING ABOARD SHIPS

Americans at Havre waiting for the French line steamers France and Chicago to sail for the United States are deserting the vessels and returning to Paris or going to England. Upward of 2000 Americans have been living aboard the steamers at the company's expense, expecting daily that they would sail. The company now offers to repay the fares of the Americans less $1.20 a day. Several hundred of the passengers have accepted these terms.

WHEN WRECKED

If a motor car is wrecked when going forty miles an hour, its occupant is thrown out against a wall, a post or a fence with the same force that he would strike if he fell to the ground from a height of 53.75 feet. To get an idea of what the force of this impact might be, stand on a wall or a house 53.72 feet high, look down and contemplate the jump.

If the car is going sixty miles an hour, the impact is equivalent to a fall of 121 feet. The following table gives the force of various speeds an hour:

10 miles equals a fall of.....	3.36 ft.
15 miles equals a fall of.....	7.56 ft.
20 miles equals a fall of.....	13.44 ft.
25 miles equals a fall of.....	21.01 ft.
30 miles equals a fall of.....	30.25 ft.
35 miles equals a fall of.....	41.47 ft.
40 miles equals a fall of.....	53.78 ft.
45 miles equals a fall of.....	68.05 ft.
50 miles equals a fall of.....	86.53 ft.
55 miles equals a fall of.....	101.67 ft.
60 miles equals a fall of.....	121.00 ft.
70 miles equals a fall of.....	164.69 ft.
80 miles equals a fall of.....	215.10 ft.
90 miles equals a fall of.....	272.24 ft.

REDUCE TIRE SIZE

The Society of Automobile Engineers is working to reduce the commonly used sizes of pneumatic tires to 12, or in any event not more than 16, a step that undoubtedly will be popular. Car owners under a new system will have a better chance in the first instance of finding the car fitted with a tire adapted to the weight and other requirements of the machine. The manufacturers will hail this action with delight because it will free them from the expense and bother of building a great many different sizes of casings. Dealers in tires will be pleased because it will mean a smaller variety of sizes to be carried in stock, but a greater quantity of casing of the sort that are sure sellers. In fact, judged from every angle, the new plan is one that is satisfactory to everyone.

INDIANS PROFIT BY EDUCATION

Something in the nature of a review of the workings of the Indian schools of the United States, especially with regard to the results achieved in the matter of making the men and women of the race more helpful to themselves and more useful to society in general, has recently been accomplished. On the whole, it would seem to justify fully the pains taken and the expenditures made in the furtherance of Indian education. Up to the present time the government schools have graduated about 3000 students. Many of these have joined the army and navy and it is said that they have, as a rule, rendered creditable service.

That so many of them have entered the army and navy is probably due to the fact that until recently other occupations have not been so hospitable. The Indian has been compelled to work out his own problem in this respect, by proving faithful and efficient in humble callings and in small ways. The whites have regarded him more or less as an industrial experiment. He has, in response, done what the best friends of the negroes have persistently advised them to do; that is, he has gone largely into business and into trades for himself and among his own people, content to gradually work outward as his responsibility and his proficiency came to be more widely recognized.

It is unnecessary to say that many Indians of the old Indian territory and of the present state of Oklahoma occupy positions of honor and trust in public and private affairs; graduates of the Indian schools are now represented in western industrial and mercantile concerns, in banks and in practically all the professions and useful vocations. They are physicians, dentists, lawyers, carpenters, tailors, shoemakers, civil and mechanical engineers; many of them hold first-class positions with railroad and other corporations; a large percentage of them are farmers.

The women graduates, we are told, take up teaching, stenography, salesmanship and other vocations of like nature, but the great majority, sooner or later, become "excellent housewives." And we are reminded in conclusion that there are numerous instances to support the theory that the Indians, so long regarded as mere charges upon the care of the government, "know how to turn educational advantages to good account." It seems to be accepted now by those familiar with the facts that the only reason why the Indians have not long since become self-dependent and self-supporting is that they were not given the opportunity to be either. Even now the tribal and reservation and general ration and blanket system is holding thousands of them back.

POPULATION FIGURES

Some people concede California is a tolerably large state. Some people do. But other people don't stop to think just how large it is, and some of these people are even worrying about whether we can accommodate the oncoming hordes who will pour into this favored land with the opening of the Panama canal, or whether we will have to build extensions in the Pacific to take care of 'em after a while.

For the benefit of the doubtful ones, a little comparison is both useful and interesting.

California, with 158,297 square miles, has an area greater than that of the combined states of New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

If California were as densely populated as Germany, we would be accommodating 50,000,000 within the borders of the state, and with France's rate of population per square mile we would have 30,000,000.

So why should we worry?

IVORY CARVING IN CHINA

There are in Canton about forty shops which make and sell ivory articles. Each store is small, consisting usually of a showroom open to the street and a back room, where the cutting is done. Members of the store also usually work in the showroom. The industry may be divided into two stages, cutting and carving. Tusks imported from Siam constitute the raw material. These are first cut with a saw to the shape capable of being worked up by carving. The cutting apparatus consists of a wooden block or vise, a saw and a tub of water. The ivory is secured firmly by the vise, moistened with water and cut to the required shape.

Perfectly flat pieces of ivory nearly as thin as paper were shown in evidence of the skill of the cutter. The cutting finished, the blocks are then carved into shape with knives of many different shapes. These have a short blade and a long handle made of bamboo, like a penholder. Other instruments noted to be in use by the carvers were wire saws and a gimlet worked by a leather twirling apparatus.

The number of expert workers in Canton is far less than the number of stores, being only about six in number. An expert carver seldom works in the shop which employs him. He generally works in his own house and can earn about $30 Canton currency a month.—Conular Reports.

As for the peace dove, it may roost, for the time being, on the South Pole.

The Southern Pacific's chief suggestion to those crossing railroad tracks is to stop, look and listen before crossing. Were everyone to heed this, company officials say, practically every crossing accident would be prevented.—Redlands Facts.

Mars is certainly a wonderfully good stage manager. Realizing that the public was growing tired of the Mexican comedy, he put on the Ulster farce for a few days, but only as a curtain-raiser for the big European tragedy.—San Francisco Chronicle.
