"New Composer on Music Horizon"

Says the New York Globe:

"Young Lochinvar came out of the West"—but this time it is a gentle youth, a composer of sweet music.

Henry Cowell is a young chap of nineteen years, who is destined to musical career of great heights.

He has written a composition classic in its construction and modern in its appeal. "The Caldron" is a piano poem depicting the rush of the ocean, and doing it so well that the very salt of the air can be tasted.

The new composer is of an extremely modest manner, but yet is so confident of the message he is to convey to all America. Cowell has written piano numbers and some trios and string quartettes. He has studied the piano under Winifred Christie, and was two years at the University of California. He is now at the Damrosch Musical Institute.

A Dancing Party

The Star Theater Club, the membership of which is mostly made up of the children of the Eighty-acre section, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Overstreet at a dancing party on Saturday evening. Music for the occasion was provided by Mrs. Grace Wickham and Miss E. A. McLean. Those present included Elizabeth and Marvin Hopper, Grace Wickham, Hilda and Helen Hilliard, Massee and Tippy Williams, Phyllis Overstreet, Bonnie Hale, and Franklin Murphy.

School of Dramatic Art

Mrs. Sydney Yard read with excellent interpretation and technique Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird," at her studio, on Thursday afternoon. There was a large audience, a number of La Playa and Pine Inn guests being in attendance. Miss Gertrude Munzenberger assisted in serving tea.

The Wednesday class in music history has been organized into a music club, which will meet weekly for an afternoon's study of music history and music events. The evolution of the pianoforte was this week's subject.

Auto speeding, entering unoccupied houses, permitting horses and cows to trespass on private and public property, and other infractions of the law and public safety, will soon be reduced to a minimum in our little city.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of City Trustees, held on Tuesday evening last, August Englund, ex-police chief of Monterey, ex-Exposition guard, ex-soldier in China and the Phillipines, was appointed City Marshal. He will make his home here and will assume his duties upon taking the oath of office and filing a $2000 bond. He will also be Tax Collector. The salary will probably be $90 a month.

President Fraser, who is Commissioner of Finance, appointed his colleagues to the other commissionerships, as follows:

Streets, sidewalks and parks, Mrs. E. K. de Sabla.
Public health and safety, G. F. Beardsley.
Fire and police, D. W. W. Johnson.
Light and water, Peter Taylor.

The Carmel Pine Cone was designated as the official paper of the city, the bid of the Pine Cone Press, submitted at the last meeting, having been accepted.

Manzanita Club Has New Officers

The Manzanita Club held its tenth annual meeting on Monday evening last.

Reports showed the organization in a healthy financial condition, and the club looks forward to having the most prosperous year, socially and financially it has ever enjoyed. The moving-picture venture has been a success, and will no doubt be continued through the year.

The officers elected for 1917 are: W. M. Basham, president; A. E. Donnelly, vice-president; J. E. Beck, secretary-treasurer. I. B. Waterbury and H. P. Larouette, trustees.

The retiring officers, Fred Leidig, W. M. Basham, M. J. Murphy, and George Schweninger, were tender a vote of thanks for their services.

The new chairman of the moving-picture committee is I. B. Waterbury.

The annual masquerade ball will be held on Saturday, February 17, and President Basham appointed the following committee to manage the affair: R. W. Hicks, T. B. Reardon, Fred Leidig, William Graské, Leonard Sinclair.

Senator E. S. Rigdon and Supervisor J. L. D. Roberts were in Carmel and the Coast section last Friday. Senator Rigdon is particularly desirous of getting the views of his constituents on matter to come before the Legislature. He will give special attention to the proposed new coast road and to abalone legislation.

"Barkis is Willin'"

The reading circle of the Arts and Crafts Club is preparing for a novel and interesting costumed presentation of the characters of Dickens' books. The affair will be given at the club hall during the second week of February, and will be in the nature of a celebration of Dickens' birthday.

Definite and complete details of the affair will shortly be ready for announcement.

A Great Achievement

Amongst the good things contained in Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch's recently published lectures entitled "On the Art of Writing," is a remarkable tribute to the work of the forty-seven men who, over three hundred years ago, compiled the Authorized Version of the Bible.

"That a large committee of forty-seven," Sir Arthur says, should have gone steadily through the great mass of Holy Writ, seldom interfering with genius, yet, when interfering, seldom missing to improve; that a committee of forty-seven should have captured, or even, let us say, should have retained and improved, a rhythm so personal, so constant, that our Bible has the voice of one author speaking through its many mouths; that, gentlemen, is a wonder before which I can only stand humble and agast."

Sir Arthur recognizes to the full the genius of Wyclif, Tyndale, and Coverdale, but he regards the great era which they presaged as finding its fullest expression in the King James Version.

"When a nation," he says, "has achieved this manner of diction, those rhythms for its dearest beliefs, a literature is surely established."

Just there I find the effective miracle, making the blind to see, the lame to leap. Wyclif, Tyndale, Coverdale, and others before the forty-seven had wrought. The Authorized Version, setting a seal on all, set a seal on our national style, thinking and speaking."—Christian Science Monitor.

Horse Again in Evidence.

That the American horse, notwithstanding the sharp competition of the gasoline and electric automobile, has by no means gone into the discard, is abundantly shown by the increased enthusiasm manifested at the various horse shows, which are now more popular than ever before. More than that: Displays of truck and draft horses now vie on equal terms with exhibits of coach horses, hunters and high jumpers, foreshadowing their greater utilization in the industries. Incidentally, it is noticed in all large cities that the private family coach, drawn by high-stepping and also high-priced horses, is seen more frequently than in recent years, in which the automobile has become so popular. Of course this does not mean that automobiles are going out of fashion, but it does indicate, quite plainly, that mankind has not lost affection for the horse. The plain truth is that there is, and doubtless always will be, room for both the automobile and the horse. The gasoline truck has to a marked degree lightened the burden of the draft horse, and perhaps to a less extent made the condition of the farm horse more endurable. It is also noticeable that prices for horse-flesh are higher today than they have been before in many years.—Exchange

News-Getting Some Job

Newspaper readers generally assume that "getting the news" is a simple matter, and scarcely give a thought to the difficulties involved in gathering the news in a small town.

The proportion of people regarded as "news prospects" by newspaper men is about one in ten. Six in ten can help with one or two three- or four-line items, while three out of ten usually "don't know a thing," although a brief conversation with them discloses the fact that they know several things of interest to the public. A newspaperman's time is limited, however, so that he is obliged to seek out the one in ten for his news matter.

Then, too, it happens quite frequently that someone desires some bit of news—perhaps a good "story"—omitted from the Pine Cone. Failing to print a news item does not add to an editor's self-respect or to his income, so that any person wishing a bit of information "pigeon-holed" must give a good and sufficient reason therefor.

Publisher's Advised

to Advance Prices

Sacramento, Jan. 3.—Members of the California Press Association are in favor of meeting the high cost of news print paper by raising subscription and advertising rates. A committee report to Friend W. Richardson, president of the body, is as follows:

"We recommend that as a proper and immediate relief from present conditions, over which publishers have no control, their advertising and subscription rates be advanced to cover the increased cost, believing that in most cases the existing rates are not commensurate with existing prices of production and that the public willingly will grant a just increase of price for both subscription and advertising."

Ink also has gone up in price. Its normal price is 5c. a pound—now it is 8c. Press rollers are 100 per cent higher. Linotype metal has jumped from 6c. to 12c., and other materials have advanced proportionately.

A Related Report

This is rather a late announcement of the delightful entertainment given the Young Men's Club and the Boys' Club by Miss Johnson and Miss Culbertson, when they joined their forces for one of the merriest Christmas trees of this merry season.

A handsomely decorated tree was sent by friends. Many of the good people of Carmel, who are deeply interested in the two clubs and in the earnest work of Miss Culbertson and Miss Johnson, remembered the boys and both ladies with generous donations of ice cream, candy, cake, and ten boys.

All the guests departed with much the same feeling of little Teddy, after his Christmas dinner, when he sleepily said: "Take I upstairs, undress I, put I to bed, but don't bend I."—David Prince, President of the Carmel Boy's Club.
