3. HIGHLIGHTS

a. Japan Celebrates Second National Fire Prevention Week

Utilizing to advantage the Japanese admiration for the spectacular, Public Safety Division, in cooperation with CI&E, Home Ministry and MPB, successfully promoted the Second Annual National Fire Prevention Week, which promises to become a permanent institution in the national calendar of festivities. Plays, radio skits, poster exhibits and contests, musical shows, lectures, and widespread publicity through various information media were a few features of the celebration, the outstanding event being a demonstration near the Nippon Theatre on 7 October by 27 fire companies which was attended by approximately 15,000 people. A similar demonstration was held on 9 October, attended by 10,000 people, in which 17 companies participated. PSD representatives addressed both meetings.

Other PSD activities during Fire Prevention Week included the following:

6 October: Addressed a meeting of 60 principals and teachers in Kanda

8 October: Addressed Fire Prevention Associations in Yotsuya (1200 people attending): Koishikawa (60); Toshima (50); Ebara (1200).

Prison Branch held ten conferences on the subject of private reformatories, meeting five times with Government Section representatives to discuss Article 15 of the Attorney-General Bill which provides for the abolition of private reformatories by 31 March 1949. In other discussions, tentative decisions were reached concerning the division of juvenile care between M/J and M/H&W. In conferences with Japanese Government representatives, PSD assisted in drawing up a time-table for government absorbtion of private reformatories, with consideration being given to the financial as well as administrative aspects. Three conferences were held on the subject of minimum standards for private reformatories which could later be adapted for use in national reformatories.

Fire Branch held nine conferences with Government Section and Japanese Government officials on the subject of legislation reorganizing the Japanese Fire Department, drawing up a draft satisfactory to all parties concerned. Translation difficulties were adjusted in a series of conferences from 17 to 22 November. Japanese Government representatives indicated that the legislation would be submitted to a special meeting of the Cabinet and subsequently to the current session of the Diet.

In other conferences held by the various branches of PSD during November, the following matters were discussed:

3. NEW OR UNUSUAL ACTIVITIES

a. Prison Administrator Acts as Moderator at Guards' Training School Seminar.

Fourteen students of the present class of the Guards' Training School, selected on the basis of previous education and experience, where organized into a seminar to discuss prison administration on an advanced level. The group will meet once a week to discuss subjects taken from actual situations and current problems in Japanese Prisons. Sessions will be informal, with no texts or lectures, to insure wide participation and free exchange of ideas. PSD representative will serve as moderator during the entire seminar.

The first session was held on 24 November. Mr. Ogawa, Chief of Section One, B/PA asked for opinions and ideas on "The Purpose and Method of Self-Government in Adult Prisons", to which the class responded enthusiastically, offering many practical and original suggestions. They voted later to continue the seminar beyond its originally scheduled period.

b. War Material Uncovered at Chiba Prison

During an inspection of Chiba Prison on 21 November, PSD Investigators learned of a cache of metal parts that had been buried on prison grounds at the end of the war. The parts, which were to be used for turbines and aeroplane engines, had been manufactured at the prison during the war. Prison officials were advised to unearth all the concealed material and prepare an itemized list. PSD reported the matter to Lt. Colonel Carleton, S-4, 2nd Cal Brigade, who accompanied Prison Investigators to Chiba Prison on 28 November to take charge of the investigation and arrange for the disposal of the material.

c. Police Investigator Addresses Youth Welfare Group in Wakayama Prefecture

During a regularly scheduled survey of police facilities in Wakayama Prefecture, a PSD Police Investigator suggested to the Director of Police that he convoke an assembly of juvenile officers and other interested persons at Wakayama City for a general discussion of youth guidance. It had been noted previously that Wakayama Prefecture lagged behind most prefectures in the matter of juvenile delinquency control. The Parent-Teacher Associations performed no function other than that of providing funds for the operation of schools, while the various "youth protection societies" for the most part confined their activities to observing and reporting the actions of juveniles who for some reason had come under the surveillance of law enforcement bodies.

An assembly of more than 350 persons, comprising all officers assigned to juvenile work within the prefecture, teachers from every school district, representatives of Parent-Teacher Associations and youth help societies, and more than a hundred other interested persons, convened on 30 October in the Prefectural Normal School. PSD representative addressed the meeting, emphasizing the importance of juvenile guidance in a nation striving to achieve a democratic society. Specific constructive programs, such as the establishment of Boy and Girl Scout troops; athletic, art and craft contests, and extra-curricular school activities were suggested and methods of accomplishing them were outlined. Community spirit and a sense of co-operation should be inculcated without thwarting or repressing the personality of the individual youth.

The talk was received with enthusiasm, and it is believed will result in positive action. PSD will maintain contact with police and civic leaders to assist and advise in the implementation of specific projects.
