TRIED TO BLOW UP CAFE IN ROME

BOMB EXPLODED IN FRONT OF BUILDING

One Man Seriously Injured—The Perpetrator of Deed Has Not Been Arrested.

(Associated Press.)
Rome, Nov. 15.—A bomb was exploded in front of the Cafe Aragono, in the centre of the city, yesterday. The fashionable throng at the cafe were thrown into confusion and one man was seriously wounded. The perpetrator of the deed was not apprehended.

At the time of the explosion the cafe was filled with fashionable people and the Corso was crowded with regular afternoon promenaders.

A young man came to the cafe and took a place at a table outside. He carried a handbag, partially concealed by a light overcoat on his arm. He deposited the bag on his coat on a chair at his side and ordered something to drink. Before the waiter served him, the young man suddenly rose and saying "I have forgotten something," hurried away, leaving his handbag and overcoat behind.

This caused suspicion and a young man who had been sitting near the stranger sprang up and cried "Bomb, bomb." This warning, however, came too late to give the crowd time to get away, for the explosion came almost in the same instant. The neighborhood of the cafe was immediately occupied by the police. The wounded man was taken to a hospital and will recover.

The bomb, which was of a chemical composition, contained several pounds of nails and metal balls.

The young man is supposed to be an anarchist, and the theory is advanced that he attempted to blow up the cafe out of revenge for having been prevented from holding a demonstration last Sunday in commemorating the hanging of the Chicago anarchists nineteen years ago.

FISH DEALERS' COMBINE.

Company Formed With Capital of Five Million Dollars.

(Associated Press.)
Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—Plans for the alleged combination of the majority of the principal fish dealers of Boston into one concern, known as the National Fisheries Company, incorporated under the laws of Maine with a capital of five million dollars, was reported to-day. The project would make Boston the greatest fish market in America, and would be a serious blow to the center industry. One of the features of the system will be the fixing of the standard price to be paid for fish, regulated with regard to the supply and demand, thus doing away with the present system of auctioning the cargoes. Of the entire amount of Boston fish products, it has been recently estimated that one-half is consumed in New England, and one-sixth in New York city and state.

CRANBERRIES PLENTIFUL.

Largo Shipments Already Sent to Markets in Canada and States.

(Associated Press.)
New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 15.—An abundance of cranberries for markets of the United States and Canada is definitely assured by the heavy shipments for the Christmas trade. The amount of berries already shipped in carload lots to points west of New York and to Canada alone equals the total crop of last year, and the shipments at the present time exceed the total crop of 1905 by at least 50 per cent.

KILLED GENDARME AND BLEW UP THE SAFE

Cossacks Pursuing the Robbers—Police Seize Rifles Consigned to Russian Revolutionists.

(Associated Press.)

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 40.26 per cent., as compared with 38.51 per cent. last week.

MUNICIPAL CLAUSES ACT.

Mayor Morley Will Move For an Amendment to Provide Compensation For Lost Licenses.

Mayor Morley has given notice that he will, at the next meeting of the city council move that the committee on legislation from all necessary amending sections to the Municipal Clauses Act to enable the council to create a fund to provide compensation for the extinguishment of liquor licenses, out of the liquor tax and for confining the compensation to the special fund. Also to create a tribunal of arbitration to ascertain such compensation and that such amendments be sought in the ensuing sitting of the legislative assembly.

His Worship will also ask leave to introduce a by-law for the regulation of licensed premises and of application for liquor licenses, and their issue.

COLONIST ERROR.

No Appointment Made to Cattle Commission Yet By Provincial Government.

The statement in this morning's Colonist that J. R. Anderson, deputy minister of agriculture, had been appointed to the commission advocated by the premier of Alberta to investigate the cattle industry, is entirely without foundation in fact. It will be remembered that, when first announced in the Times, it was stated there would probably be an appointment from this province, but nothing definite has yet been arranged. Mr. Anderson attended preliminary meeting at Calgary recently, but it was merely to keep the government of this province informed as to the scope of the commission.

Upon the authority of the premier it may be stated that the farthest the matter has gone is that the deputy minister of agriculture has been called upon by Hon. R. G. Tatlow to report as to the necessity of British Columbia being represented on the commission in question. That report has not yet been handed in. After this has been done the government will consider the question of appointing a commissioner. In case it is decided that such an appointment is not necessary, the commission will hold no sessions in this province.

As stated before, the chief duty of the commission will be to trace the values of cattle from the range to the dinner table, paying particular attention also to the sanitation and cleanliness of abattoirs. The chief cause for calling the commission was stated by the premier of Alberta to be the low prices paid stock raisers for beef cattle. This industry is as yet in its infancy in British Columbia, and if there is no serious cause for complaint the expense of a commissioner will probably be avoided. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are the only provinces at present represented.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE WEATHER

COMPARATIVE STATISTICS REGARDING RAINFALL

Figures for First Fourteen Days of November Indicate Precipitation is Not Unprecedented.

Information from the meteorological station this morning shows that the rainfall of this month has not been as great as many old-timers on the street contend. The precipitation so far this month has been nothing like that in 1896, when for the first 14 days of the month the record was 8.75 inches. For the past 14 days only 5.62 inches was recorded so that it will be seen that while the recent rainfall has been unusual it has not been as bad as many think. Statistics given for other years as being very exceptionally wet, and that was in 1888, when the record for the first 14 days of November was 5.91. But the rainfall in 1896 was the heaviest since 1872.

To give another idea of the extent of the rainfall during the past 14 days it might be stated that since the 1st of January of this year up to last night, the amount of rain that has fallen in Victoria is 22.28 inches, while the average fall for the whole month of November for many years has been 5.11, a record that has already been about equalled during the past 14 days.

The above figures will be of interest to many who are in the habit of observing weather conditions. For some time storms have been sweeping the whole western Pacific coast, and while Victoria has so far this month felt a very fair fall of rain, and has had considerably more than the usual amount of rain, yet compared with neighboring cities she has fared well. Probably in no other city north of California have conditions been better. So far as known no damage has been done in or around the city, but in other parts the result has been different. Elsewhere in this issue will be seen an account of the damage done from floods in Washington, where wires are down and travel interrupted.

Of course the heavy rains have swollen all streams and raised the level of all lakes around Victoria. Reports from the Highland district are not available to-day, but in the last twenty-four hours, Elk and Beaver lakes have risen five inches, which means an increased volume of 71,400,000 gallons. Since October 12th the lakes have risen twenty and one-half inches, which is one-and-a-half inches higher than they were during the whole of last winter.

TWO MEN RUN DOWN BY PASSENGER TRAIN

(Special to the Times.)
Grand Forks, Nov. 14.—Section Foreman, of Republic, Wash., and one of his men were run down by the Kettle valley passenger train this evening a few miles this side of Republic.

An oil can on the cow catcher of the train was driven through Jackson's skull for four inches. Dr. Manley, of Republic, was summoned, but Jackson's case is regarded as hopeless.

The other section man, whose name is unknown, escaped unhurt.

One hundred and twenty years is the natural term of the average elephant's life. This is, however, greatly lessened by captivity.

LIQUOR CAUSES TROUBLE ON COAST

NATIVES CRAZED WITH IT COMMIT OUTRAGES

Situation at Clayoquot Is Too Much for One Officer—Chinese Wounded.

Provincial Constable McDougal, of Clayoquot, who arrived from Clayoquot last evening, brought down two Chinese prisoners convicted of selling liquor to Indians, and an American Indian for deportation. The former received a hearing before Magistrate Orice and Dawlet, by whom they were sentenced on Saturday to imprisonment for three months. They had been supplying the Indians working at the Brewster cannery with firewater, and were creating all kinds of mischief among the natives. They had also supplied the Indian brought down for deportation, who crazed with the drink had threatened to shoot the magistrate. The woman was greatly frightened, and had asked the constable to bring him to Victoria to be sent back to the American side.

Officer McDougal had an interesting chase for one of the Chinamen, who apprehending that he was going to be arrested put into the woods and for a stable was too wily to waste much time in searching for the Constable. The Chinaman remained 24 hours in hiding and as soon as the constable left for Clayoquot made his appearance, only to be nabbed by a big Norwegian whom Mr. McDougal had engaged to watch and capture him. The Norwegian on securing the Chinaman rowed ten miles down the coast in a small boat to Clayoquot, where the officer had the companion Celestial in safe keeping.

Flush with money from the earnings they had made from the sealing, fishing, whaling and other industries on the coast, the Indians in the Clayoquot district are now providing a charge beyond the power of one officer. Liquor being introduced in considerable quantity, and the native as a rule cannot resist temptation when it is offered to him. The result is very far-reaching and serious, and Constable McDougal finds that single-handed he cannot cope with the situation. Illustrating the need of further police protection in the district, it might be stated that on Saturday night, just as the officer was about to leave for Victoria with the prisoners mentioned, two Indians arrived at Clayoquot, from Ahousaht and reported that the natives at Ahousaht were drinking heavily and were freely using knives. They used their knives to assault and to threaten the messenger reported that the women were being cut and abused with complete abandon.

Constable McDougal could do nothing under the circumstances. He could not leave his prisoners, and he could not hasten to the place of disturbance, as should have been done.

The situation was simply beyond his control. He stated that there is not a jail, and prisoners have to be kept by the officer under his own roof until he is able to bring them to Victoria. The provincial government, however, have seen the necessity for this, and have sent up lumber which is being used in the construction of a building which will be used for the combined purposes of a court house and jail.

WAS STORM BOUND IN SEVERAL PORTS

THE TEES MET BAD WEATHER ON COAST

Passengers Praise Captain Townsend and Officers of Steamer—Accident to Deck Hand.

Storm bound at Ucluelet on the way up and at Bamfield and Clayoquot on the way down, the voyage of the steamer Tees, completed last evening, was anything but enjoyable for those who travelled on her. But the passengers were well pleased, not with the temperature, but with the care and attention bestowed upon them by the officers and with the careful navigation exhibited. In Capt. Townsend they consider the C. P. R. has an officer of whom the company has every reason to feel proud.

On the trip an accident occurred. During the loading of dog salmon at Toquart, where the Johnston Fisheries Company has a station, one of the deck hands, Harry Earle, had his leg broken. Capt. Townsend immediately put back to Ucluelet, where Dr. McLean set the limb and the unfortunate fellow was afterwards brought to Victoria to be placed in the hospital here. For the humane conduct which Captain Townsend manifested in this instance the passengers say too much praise cannot be given, for the weather was very rough and had the limb not been set the injury would have proved very painful on the run to this port.

The Tees reports that the Brewster cannery had a good season. Eight thousand cases were packed, of which the Tees brought a shipment of 2,000 cases. Two thousand cases were received on the last trip of the steamer, and a similar shipment will be brought on the next trip. In addition to this salmon the Tees had 200 tons of salted dog salmon from Toquart, which, considering the number of men employed at this fishing station, is very good. Although the price of this fish is only quoted as the low figure of 50, the season so far is considered very successful.

Owing to the rough weather the Tees was unable to make a landing at Clouose to leave the casket sent up from Victoria for the body of Capt. Jose, who lost his life in the wreck of the barkentine Skagit. The remains of the skipper are therefore still at Clouose.

At Clayoquot the sealing schooner Umbrius was seen at anchor. The schooner had repaired her damaged rigging and will probably start for Victoria with the first favorable weather, for it is important that the schooner's seal catch of 889 skins should be landed as soon as possible in order that it may be forwarded to London in time for the annual fur sales.

The news which the Tees brings from the whaling station this trip is not very favorable. The November storms have had a serious effect on the catch. It is stated that two days previous to the arrival of the Tees the Orion brought in the first whale caught since October 24th.

REPORT ON PUBLIC SCHOOL FINANCES

BALANCE AT END OF YEAR WILL BE LARGE

Chairman of Finance Committee Made Gratifying Statement at Board Meeting Yesterday Evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of school trustees took place last evening in the secretary's office. Chairman Huggitt was not present, and Trustee Jay presided in his place. The others present were: Trustees (Mrs.) Jenkins, Lewis, McKeown, Riddell and Superintendent Eaton.

Trustee Jay, chairman of the finance committee, reported that it was very probable that the board would have a balance of $400 over the grant allowed by the corporation for $2,000 over the estimates asked for by the board.

J. J. Dugan, secretary of the provincial board of school trustees, wrote asking that any suggestion for topics to be discussed at the annual convention in Nelson, be sent in forthwith.

The matter was referred to the chairman and Trustees Jenkins and McKeown.

Trustee McKeown was appointed a member of the buildings and grounds committee.

The finance committee presented accounts totalling $267, which were ordered paid.

The report of the buildings and grounds committee was presented by Chairman Lewis. It stated that if it was decided to close the Hillside and Victoria West schools the sum of $1,500 would be left to the credit of the committee, and recommended that this sum be devoted to the cleaning and painting of the Girls' and Boys' Central, Old High and Spring Ridge schools.

The report was adopted.

Superintendent Eaton reported that the grounds at Hillside school were flooded with water from the street, and recommended that the matter be attended to; also that the regrading of the classes made it possible for the board to do without the Baptist church mission room in Victoria West.

The landlord of the latter place will be notified that the building is not required for school purposes after December 21st.

The subject of singing in the schools was brought up by Trustee Riddell, who moved that a committee of three be appointed to inquire into the matter and report to the board. A committee consisting of Chairman Huggitt and Trustees Jay and Riddell was appointed.

Dr. A. E. McMicking offered to make a weekly medical inspection of all the pupils in the city schools for a salary of $50 per month. This offer was contained in the report of the special committee appointed to deal with the matter.

Superintendent Eaton drew attention to the fact that the appointment would conflict with the duties of the city medical health officer.

Trustee McKeown was in favor of the board making an endeavor to secure an increase for the civic health officer so that no conflict of authority would take place.

It was decided to take the matter up with the civic authorities, after which the meeting adjourned.

TOWNS INUNDATED—SEVERAL LIVES LOST

Three Hundred Square Miles Flooded in Northwestern Washington—Many People Unable to Escape From Their Homes.

(Associated Press.)
Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 15.—A flood area of 300 square miles in Northwestern Washington is the result to-day of heavy rains and melting snow, which for 48 hours have rushed from the slopes of the Cascade mountains, causing nearly all the streams in the Northwest to spread over the lowlands.

Several persons are reported drowned. Railroads Tied Up.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 15.—Scores of towns have been for the last 36 hours cut off from outside communication, bridges have been swept away, railroad tracks washed out and telegraph and telephone wires torn down.

As far as can be learned, a half dozen lives have been lost.

When darkness fell last night, watchers from the highlands saw nothing except the expanse of water with here and there the tops of submerged houses on some of which waterbound persons could be seen shouting for help. Some attempted rescues were made, but the mad rush of swollen waters, carrying trees, snags, lumber and even houses, forced the rescuers back.

The Northern Pacific bridge across Stuck river was washed out yesterday, and soon after came a suspension of the traffic between Tacoma and Seattle, the track being under water in many places.

The Northern Pacific is able to maintain its services to Portland.

Advices received at the offices of the Northern Pacific say the water in Green river canyon is two feet higher than during the floods of 1903, when the railroad was tied up for two weeks.

What has occurred east of Auburn as west of Astoria in the Cascades can only be conjectured. That great damage has been done to property and

HINDUS DETAINED IN C.P.R. SHEDS

DR. MILNE HOLDING COMPANY RESPONSIBLE

Those Without Adequate Means Must Be Provided for Until They Get Employment.

There are over three hundred Hindus finding temporary quarters in the old C. P. R. sheds at the foot of Bastion street. There they are being provided for by the C. P. R. Company in compliance with the instructions of Dr. Milne, the Dominion immigration officer.

Of the three hundred and sixty here from the steamer Tattar yesterday twenty-five were rejected by Dr. Milne as physically unfit to comply with the immigration laws of the Dominion. These were sent over to Vancouver last evening to be deported at the expense of the C. P. R., by which line they were brought to this country.

Among the remainder landed there was a considerable portion who had not sufficient funds to afford the means of subsistence until work was obtained. In consequence of this they have been detained, the C. P. R. being held responsible for them. Upon the company will be put the duty of finding employment for these men or of providing for them, the immigration department taking every precaution to see that the immigrants do not become a charge upon the public.

Two of the Hindus are bound for California.

During the time of their detention in the sheds the Hindus are apparently enjoying themselves. They are being visited from time to time by employees of labor-seeking men. A few of them speak English quite fluently, and act as interpreters for the others. The arrivals have nearly all served in the army, and show their military training at every turn. Some of them wear medals for service, one noticed being the Chitral Relief Expedition, 1885.

New York, Nov. 15.—A two-masted schooner is in trouble three miles off Long Branch, and is in danger of going ashore. Her name cannot be made out.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Moscow, Nov. 15.—The man who, on November 27th, threw a bomb at General Rheinolt, the local prefect of police, and who was in return shot, but not killed, by the general, was tried by court-martial yesterday, and sentenced to death by hanging.

livestock is evident, but all wires between Hot Springs and Auburn are down.

Every railroad in the Northwest is tied up, and although a few trains are being run, no attempt is made at a schedule. The tracks have been washed away in many places on the different roads.

At midnight rain was still falling heavily in this city.

Towns Flooded.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 15.—Never since the white man came has the state of Washington suffered from such a storm as raged last night. The storm, wind and rain, which for the past week has wrought havoc with coast shipping, yesterday swept inland and is venting an ungodly fury upon the whole state, especially the Puget Sound country, and extends even to the northern part of Oregon and the Pan Handle of Idaho.

Railroads out of Tacoma and Seattle are demoralized, train service to Portland only from the latter city being maintained.

The creeks, rivers and brooks in the Cascades are roaring torrents.

On Puget Sound the towns of Snohomish, Sumner and Auburn are under water.

In central Washington, floods are raging in the Naches and Yakima valleys.

The Clearwater is out of its banks, and has done immense damage. Although nothing has been heard from Walla Walla, it is only fair to presume that with floods east and west of there, the rivers in that part of the state are still on a rampage.

At Portland a heavy wind is blowing accompanied by a fearful rain. No damage has been done further than to put the electric lights and street cars out of commission.

The wires across the state are prostrated, and no news has been received from eastern Oregon.

At a late hour last night reports were very discouraging.

GOLD PRODUCTION IN ATLIN CAMP

IT EXCEEDED OUTPUT OF PREVIOUS SEASON

The Companies Have All Had Good Year—Guggenheims' Operations Have Been Satisfactory.

James Lipscombe, who has represented the White Pass & Yukon Railway Company in Atlin during the past season, has arrived home for the winter and is staying at the King Edward.

Mr. Lipscombe says that during the past year Atlin has produced about $200,000 in gold, which is a little in excess of the season previous.

When it is taken into account that many of the individual miners have left the camp owing to the fact that the best of the ground for their methods has been covered the results are very gratifying. These miners have gone to more tempting fields, leaving Atlin to be worked by large companies.

The falling off in the production from the old methods of washing by the individual has been more than made up for by the increased output from the big companies' operations. All of these corporations, Mr. Lipscombe says, appear to have had good returns.

The advent of the Guggenheims in the camp has been considered very promising for the future. The steam shovel installed on Tar Flats on Spruce creek by this great corporation has been generally supposed to be very satisfactory. The returns from it during the short season after its installation were not made known, but are supposed to have been about $32,000. The run extended over only a little more than two months.

It is reported in Atlin that this corporation has been securing the claims on Spruce creek formerly worked by the individual miner and that there will be a very wide extension in the field of operations by the Guggenheims next year.

The steam shovel has proved the proper method for handling the gravel of the Atlin camp. The dredges installed previously have not been well adapted for the work and there is a probability that they will be replaced by shovels.

There are too many very heavy boulders encountered and the ground is too hard in Atlin to lend itself to being exploited by dredges.

The steam shovels, on the other hand, prove much more advantageous to the camp as more men are employed on them. The Guggenheims during the season they operated had about 35 men working on their claim.

London county has an area of 118 square miles.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Brandon, Man., Nov. 14.—An inmate of the asylum here escaped yesterday morning and in the evening was found lying beside a trail, near the city, with a revolver bullet in his abdomen. No revolver was found in the vicinity, but it is believed he shot himself, though how he secured possession of the weapon is a mystery. His recovery is doubtful.

Bronchitis

The next time you meet your doctor, ask him in opinion of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in cases of bronchitis. Then when you have a hard cold in the chest you will be ready to follow his advice. Doctors very generally endorse this old, standard, family cough medicine. They know all about it. They prescribe it in just these cases.

THE REIGN OF TERROR CONTINUES

MANY PEOPLE AFRAID TO LEAVE HOUSES

No Improvement at Pittsburg, Where Citizens Are Arming Themselves—Murderous Assaults.

Pittsburg, Nov. 14.—The reign of lawlessness in this vicinity continues and hundreds of policemen and detectives apparently are still unable to stop the depredations which are hourly reported.

A negro entered the home of Mrs. Mary Kelly, in the Herron Hill district, early to-night while the woman was alone. He locked the door and leisurely ransacked the house, filling a basket with bric-a-brac and taking a considerable sum of money. He threatened Mrs. Kelly with death if she made an outcry or attempted to follow him, and then disappeared. The terrified woman later notified the police.

Mrs. Nigus was relieved of her purse, containing $20, at Fifth avenue and Smithfield streets, the most prominent corner in the city.

The store of Mrs. J. J. Freund, on the South Side, was burglarized during the night and hundreds of dollars' worth of goods taken.

James Thompson was assaulted and robbed at Millville, a suburb, and found on the street in an unconscious condition.

The residence of William A. C. Lingsmith, in the East End district, was ransacked and considerable clothing stolen.

At the home of Harry Harvey at Aetna, a suburb, two attempts were made to open windows and Mr. Harvey fired several shots at the thieves, while he sat at a window the rest of the night armed with a shotgun.

The chief of police of North Bradock, a suburb, is in a serious condition from a stab wound inflicted by a negro last night. The assailant was captured.

Hardware and gun stores all over the city report a heavy sale of revolvers. A majority of the men who are compelled to be on the streets late are armed, while many persons are remaining indoors unless their business is urgent.

AGAIN SUPPRESSED.

The Russ, of St. Petersburg, Offends Authorities.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 14.—The Russ, which appeared to-day under its own name, after nearly a year of shifting titles, has again been suppressed because of the publication of an article by M. Karavansoff, in which the writer instigated the execution of women and children and lays particular stress upon the case of Anna Benedictova, the girl student who was executed at Cronstadt on October 19th for complicity in the plot to blow up the building where the court-martial trying the mutiny cases was sitting. At the last moment Anna Benedictova announced that she was soon about to become a mother. M. Karavansoff quoted from a Russian statute which postpones the infliction of a death sentence upon a woman until forty days after the birth of her child, and recalls the clemency which was shown toward the woman who killed Alexander II, in 1881 because of the fact that she was about to become a mother. The writer pleads that everywhere human life is safeguarded as sacred, even before birth, and deprecates the fact that Russia, degraded and habituated to bloodshed, does not spare the innocent.

STANDARD OIL.

Ohio Grand Jury Returns Indictments Against J. D. Rockefeller and Others.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 14.—The grand jury to-day found indictments against John D. Rockefeller and three other persons in connection with the Standard Oil inquiry which was reopened upon the convening of that body in adjourned session yesterday. What the indictments alleged, or who the other defendants, in addition to Mr. Rockefeller, are, was not given out, but Prosecutor Davids admitted that indictments had been returned. The report of the grand jury will be made public either to-morrow or Friday, and the indictments returned against the court of this county. It is understood the indictments charge the defendants with having continued to control the oil production and to fix prices on and after July 7th, 1906, in violation of the Valentine Anti-Trust Act, a state law under which the recent prosecution of the Standard Oil Company was conducted, and under which a fine of $5,000 was imposed.

DOMINION LINER FLOATED.

The Passengers Were Taken to Quebec By Steamer Rouville.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Jas. Thom, manager of the Dominion line, received a message this afternoon that the Kensington had got off safely and was proceeding to Quebec under her own steam. She will be examined at Quebec.

MONTREAL NOMINATIONS.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Nominations took place to-day for St. Mary's and St. Anne's divisions of the city for election to the House of Commons. In St. Mary's, Joseph Ainey (Labor) and Medock Martin (Liberal) were nominated. In St. Anne's, J. C. Walsh (Liberal) and E. J. Curran (Conservative) were nominated.

VERY SUSPICIOUS.

Russian General Alleged to Be Author of Plot Against His Own Life.
Moscow, Nov. 13.—General Rheinbot has received hundreds of messages, including a personal communication from the Emperor Nicholas, through Premier Stolypin, and a dispatch from Count Witte, congratulating him on his escape from death. In spite of these congratulations there are ugly rumors in Moscow that General Rheinbot was himself the author of the plot against his life. He is thought to have schemed to retrieve his sinking fortunes and to stave off retirement, it having been decided upon in official circles to relieve him from duty. The suspicious rumors are supported by certain circumstantial evidence.

General Rheinbot at the time an attempt on his life was made, was following an unusual path on foot through narrow alleys. The bomb exploded in a manner described as highly suspicious. Pieces picked up on the spot show it to have been nothing more than an imitation bomb, quite without effective covering and perfectly harmless. It failed to explode until it had rolled to the opposite side of the street, and to a safe distance from the prefect. The original theory was that the bomb did not go off because the dynamite in it was frozen. Now the police explain it was a fuse-bomb, and the Social Revolutionists discarded such weapons long ago.

On account of the indignation raised at the statement that General Rheinbot shot down his assassin while he was being protected by two policemen, a statement is shown to-night that the bomb thrower who was killed by the general was struggling to escape, and that he also fired at the prefect, but the revolver which he is alleged to have used has not been found. It is declared that the man carried a heavy revolver.

CITY IN DARKNESS.

Walla Walla Electric Light Plant Damaged by Flood.

Walla Walla, Nov. 13.—The city of Walla Walla is in darkness to-night. A Mill creek is running bank-high, threatening a repetition of the disastrous floods during last May. The heavy rains of the last few days, coupled with a big cloudburst in the mountains early this morning, caused the trouble. The power plant furnishing the electrical supply for light and power for the industries of this city is reported badly damaged by the flood, and the big plant on the Walla Walla river, fifteen miles away, is also said to have suffered. Both are out of commission to-night.

In addition to the failure of the electric lights and power there is a gas-line famine in the city. One family near the edge of the city was driven out by the water.

Just how serious the damage is up the Mill creek is not known, as the phone system is injured to a large extent, and the damage to the power plant cannot be ascertained. The cloudburst occurred about 1 o'clock this morning and washed away the dam at the head of the new city water system. The engineer in charge reported that the water in Mill creek rose eight feet and this swept down, taking the dam with it. This, together with the rains, has filled the creek.

Are you a Chilly Subject?

BILEANS WILL BENEFIT YOU.
Do you shiver when the slightest breeze blows? Are your feet always cold? Do you find your hands clammy? Do you catch cold if you sit for even a few minutes in a draught? If so, you have liver, and need Bileans to put your liver and blood through your blood your whole system, into condition again. Liver-chill often brings on very serious symptoms. Mrs. Kelly, of Garbutt, says: "I had liver-chill and became very sick. I had violent headaches, indigestion, nausea, and was subject to reaching and frequent vomiting. The doctor attended me for three months, and often fainted away. At times I have fainted nearly a dozen times a day."

"One night my daughter Mary read about Bileans, and of a woman who had been cured of ailments similar to mine, so I decided to take a course of this remedy. The result is I am now healthy and strong, and able to do all the housework as well as ever. I never have fainting fits, my appetite has returned, and I eat my food with keen enjoyment. In fact I am quite cured of all my ailments."

Bileans are also a sure cure for indigestion, debility, liver and kidney ailments, constipation, piles, female blood impurities, etc. All druggists sell at 50c a box, or post paid from the Bilean Co., Toronto. Six boxes for $2.50.

BOUNDARY MINES.

Nearly Ninety-Five Thousand Tons of Ore Shipped During October.

Boundary's ore output for the month of October, the figures having now been made up, shows that in spite of coke troubles at smelters, caused by the strike of coal miners at Fernie, the total for last month is about 2,500 tons larger than for the month of September. While the Granby Company did not send out as much as during September by some 6,000 tons, and the Snowshoe sent very little, the B. C. Copper Company is on the list again to stay, having sent out over 12,000 tons of ore, and the Dominion Copper Company's mines exceeding their previous month's record by 1,300 tons. October shipments were 94,500 tons, against 92,311 tons for the month of September. The output of the Boundary mines for the first ten months of 1906, by months: January, 194,378 tons; February, 105,329 tons; March, 112,638 tons; April, 107,798 tons; May, 100,694 tons; June, 102,689 tons; July, 93,343 tons; August, 92,442 tons; September, 92,311 tons; October, 94,860 tons; ten months' total, 996,482 tons.

THE UNITED STATES CENSUS BUREAU ESTIMATES THAT THE TOTAL WEALTH OF THE UNITED STATES IN 1904 WAS $106,892,415,000. THIS SHOWS AN INCREASE IN WEALTH OVER THE ESTIMATE FOR 1900 OF 180 PER CENT. CONVERTED INTO ONE-DOLLAR BILLS AND PLACED ON END THE STRING WOULD BE LONG ENOUGH TO REACH FROM THE EARTH TO THE MOON AND BACK THIRTY TIMES.

GIRL CAVE-DWELLER.

Ran Away From Home to Lead Simple Life.

A little girl, aged 9 years, was found by sportsmen wandering in the forests near Brest recently.

They discovered she had been living in the woods for several weeks, and had made herself a bed of leaves in a small cave. She obtained her food from the hedgerows, where she picked berries and nuts.

She told the men she had lived at Frenville, in the Commune de Saint Etic, and ran away from home because she was mistreated. Her right arm had been broken, and having received no medical treatment, hung down very crooked.

The sportsmen tried to persuade her to go with them, but she became frightened, and running away into the woods, disappeared.

REPORTED LAWSUIT.

W. Sloan, M. P., Is Said to Have Brought an Action Against Senator McDonald.

It is reported in real estate circles that W. Sloan, M. P. of Nanaimo, has brought a lawsuit against Senator W. J. Macdonald in connection with an alleged breach of contract on the part of the latter over the sale of his residence in James Bay. The story goes that Mr. Sloan offered the senator $25,000 for the property, and that this offer was accepted but, owing to it is claimed, to the intervention of others, the deal was not completed. Senator Macdonald raising the price of his residence to a much higher figure.

The matter has been placed in legal hands, and J. S. Murray, real estate dealer, through whom the negotiations were carried on, will appear as the chief witness at the hearing.

Senator Macdonald is expected to make any statement to the Times to-day regarding the lawsuit, but denied that Mr. Sloan ever made an offer for the property, saying that while there was some talk about it, no deal was contemplated.

SIR F. LUGARD RESIGNS.

His Nine Years' Work in Northern Nigeria Soldier-Empire Maker.

Sir Frederick D. Lugard, high commissioner for Northern Nigeria, has resigned his post.

Sir Frederick has not resigned, however, by reason of any disagreement with the present government. On the contrary, his relations with the colonial office were of the most friendly and friendly nature. Lord Elgin asked Sir Frederick to see him with reference to a railway project in Northern Nigeria, and regrets that Sir Frederick Lugard finds it impossible to return to the protectorate owing to purely personal and private reasons.

It is now nine years since Sir Frederick first went to Northern Nigeria, and he has been administrator since 1900. The country was in a state of chaos. Civil war, slave raids, and religious feuds had reduced the population within a half century from 50,000,000 souls to rather less than 10,000,000. The rights of the Niger Chartered Company were transferred to the government, and now a territory as large as France and Italy combined is included in the Northern Nigeria protectorate.

Under Sir Frederick Lugard's system the various chiefs have been induced to accept their thrones for most of them are Sultans—at the hands of the British government and have delegated powers.

Beyond stopping the slave trade in all its forms and putting down wars between chiefs, there has been little to do from the old policy. Civil cases are still tried by the native courts, only those which the natives wish to be tried by him coming before the British resident. The land and mineral rights are held by the crown, the object being to protect the natives from the concession mongers.

Sir Frederick took up the post of high commissioner in 1900 after serving in the Afghan war, in the Sudan, Burma, Uganda, and East and West Africa. He is only in his forty-eighth year.

SEARCH FOR LOST QUEEN.

Romantic Hunt For Relic in Ely Cathedral.

A romantic search for the body of a sainted Queen and the marvelously rich shrine in which it was encoiled is about to be instituted in the hoary cathedral of Ely.

Nearly five hundred years ago, when Henry VIII suppressed the monasteries and issued an edict for the removal of all relics, images and shrines, Ely cathedral possessed a venerated relic of great value in the jewel-bedded shrine of St. Etheldreda, the Virgin Queen. The shrine mysteriously disappeared, notwithstanding all their exertions the King's men were unable to recover it. From that day to this no one has seen the relic.

Tradition has it that the shrine had been placed in some cunningly devised hiding place within the cathedral, and from time to time search has been made for it.

Now a further attempt is to be made, and the dean, Dr. Stubbs, hopes that it will be successful. At the southwest corner, in the two angles of the facade, are two octagonal towers, with a circular staircase in each. But while in the west tower the staircase goes from top to bottom, in the east the staircase extends only from the top to the first floor. Below this is apparently solid masonry, and it is conjectured that the shrine may be hidden here.

The shrine was covered with rich gems, and the silver reliquary blazed with pearls, onyx, beryl, amethyst, and other stones. The corpse of the sainted queen was placed in a sarcophagus of white marble.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO., OF CANADA RESULTS OF THE INVESTIGATION

The Severe Probing but Revealed Greater Strength—$3,000,000 Better Off Than it Claimed to Be—Investments Absolutely Secure and Highly Profitable—Mr. Kent's Remarks.

Now that the chaff of trifling details has blown away, the management of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada desire to draw attention to the really important facts which the investigation brought out.

LARGE PROFITS ON INVESTMENTS. The most striking feature of the evidence was unquestionably the immensely profitable character of the investments. During the past few years the Company has realized a net profit, after deducting all losses, not only of principal, but of interest and after liberally writing down any securities at all doubtful, of over $1,000,000 in hard cash.

ILLINOIS TRACTION COMPANY. The first investment of the Company in Illinois Traction securities was the purchase of two-thirds of the bonds of the Danville, Urbana & Champaign Railway. These were secured by first mortgage on a new interurban line connecting Danville with the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign, and by a further lien on the public utilities of the three cities, comprising the street railways, electric light and gas plants of each.

DECATUR RAILWAY & LIGHT COMPANY. The second purchase of Illinois Traction securities consisted of the bonds of the Decatur Railway & Light Company, which carried a mortgage upon the street railway, electric light and gas properties of the city of Decatur. The added available net earnings of these properties, without any addition for normal increase or earnings on new property, were over $62,000, to cover an interest charge of $30,000 on the new bonds, or more than $2 for each $1 required. In addition there was the guarantee of the Illinois Traction Co., whose surplus earnings from other properties already amounted to $130,000, or a further guarantee equal to the entire interest charge, six times the Decatur earnings, six times the entire interest charge on the new bonds. Where can safer or better bonds be obtained? Was there anything speculative about them? These, however, have since been sold at an advance in price, the Sun Company retaining the stock bonds.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TRACTION COMPANY. This was the third purchase. These bonds were secured by first mortgage upon a new interurban line between Decatur and Springfield, the capital of the state, connecting two such cities, from the start. The bonds were, however, also guaranteed by the Illinois Traction Co., which then had a surplus of $182,000, available from its other properties for the payment of this interest. As the entire interest charge upon the new road when finished would be only $65,000, the interest was already assured two and a half times over, even if the new line earned nothing. It did, however, earn its own entire interest charges in the first eight months of its first year of complete operation, so that instead of having to call upon the guarantee of the parent company, it earned a surplus of fifty per cent. These bonds, too, were all purchased shortly afterwards by a syndicate of bankers at an advance in price, without any stock bonus.

terms as they were purchasing them for the Company, but they did not injure the policyholders, and it is even desirable that directors should show their faith in the investments into which they put the Company's money by taking some of the same for themselves. When this has been done, however, they have paid for such investments absolutely with their own money, and the company has not assisted them in financing in any way.

ESTIMATES AND RESULTS. Over 700 preferred profit policies have matured and in thirty-four per cent. of the cases the amount originally estimated as likely to be received at the end of the term, has been realized or exceeded. On all the cases combined the average amount paid has been about ninety-seven per cent. of the estimate. The management may be pardoned for being proud of this record. The estimates now in use are lower than the former ones, and present estimates should certainly be realized. Statements were filed showing that $108 is on hand for every $100 required to pay the amounts called for by the present estimates for every deferred profit policy on the books.

STOCKHOLDERS. The directors have reduced the proportion of profits accruing to stockholders, from 20 per cent., which was the original ratio, and is still usual with British Companies, to only 5 per cent. When the capital was increased in 1897, the new stock was issued at 200 per cent. of the paid-up value, and the dividends of 15 per cent., which have since been paid, therefore yield the stockholders only 5 per cent. upon the amount paid into the Company. As the money earned more than 5 per cent., this new capital has cost the policyholders nothing.

COMMISSIONER KENT'S APPRECIATION. The management gratefully acknowledges Mr. Kent's appreciative remarks at the closing session, in which he pointed out in connection with his suggestion to policyholders that "it seems to me that in the conduct of the Sun Life business there is nothing to be desired as far as the present generation is concerned. If you were immortal I would not say anything further about it. If, by sound judgment, hard work and just discrimination, you have put the Sun Life on the pinnacle of a successful company, another management with other attributes might just as easily squander it." The directors have done their duty nobly; there is no complaint to be made against them, or any one of them. Who can say "whether the future management will continue the present high standard of your company?" While the directors and management deeply regret that they do not see the question of voting by policyholders in the same light as Mr. Kent, nevertheless such remarks coming from one of the Commissioners, are intensely appreciated.

Count Witte, former premier, who short-ly received by Emperor Nicholas at Tsarkoe Seio.

Do You Like Honest, Square Dealing?

Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines are put out under the belief that publicity is the best possible guaranty of merit, and that the most intelligent people generally want to know what they take into their stomachs, whether it be as food, drink or medicine. Although it was a bold step to take, and quite out of the usual practice of makers of proprietary medicines, yet Dr. Pierce, some time ago, decided to publish broadcast and on all his bottle-wrappers all the ingredients entering into the composition, or make-up, of his celebrated family medicines. A square deal is therefore assured every one using his medicines, for one knows exactly what he or she is paying for when purchasing them, for one knows ingredient is published in plain English on the bottle-wrappers and the correctness of the same attested under solemn oath. These several ingredients are selected from among the very best known to medical science for the cure of the various diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

The most eminent and leading medical teachers and writers of all the several schools of practice have endorsed each of the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines in the strongest terms. The makers of Dr. Pierce's medicines believe that intelligent people do not wish to open their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulp down whatever is presented to them, either in the way of food or medicine, without knowing the character of the agents employed. They believe that health is too sacred a heritage to be experimented with, and that people should not take medicines of the composition of which they are kept in ignorance. Dr. Pierce's medicines are made wholly from the roots of plants found growing in the depths of our American forests. They are so compounded that they cannot do harm in any case, even to the most delicate woman or child. By open publicity Dr. Pierce has taken his medicines out of the list of secret nostrums, of doubtful merit, and made them REMEDIES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. They are therefore, in a class all by themselves, being absolutely and in every sense non-secret.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny. There is a badge of honesty on every bottle of Dr. Pierce's medicine in the full list of its ingredients duly attested as correct under solemn oath. No other medicines put up for general use through druggists can make claim to any such distinction, and none other than Dr. Pierce's medicines have any such professional endorsement of their ingredients. Such professional endorsement should have far more weight with the afflicted than any amount of lay, non-professional, endorsement, or testimonials. Of course, the exact proportion of each ingredient used in Dr. Pierce's medicines as well as the working formula or manner of preparing the same, and the specially devised apparatus and appliances employed in their manufacture, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may be fully protected from such unprincipled imitations as might be piratically inclined. The preparation of these medicines without the use of a drop of alcohol, so

THE HOUSE WITH THE GREEN SHUTTERS

BY GEORGE DOUGLAS.

He started in fear when a voice addressed him. He looked up—and there it was only the baker—the baker smiling at him with his fine grey eyes, the baker with his reddish fringe of beard and his honest grin, which wrinkled up his face to his eyes in merry and kindly wrinkles. He had a wonderful hearty manner with a boy.

"Aye man, John; it's you," said the baker. "Dod, I'm just in time. The storm's at the burstin'!" "Storm?" said Gourlay. He had a horror of lightning since the day of his birth.

"Aye, we're in for a peltin. What have you been doing that you didna see?" "They went to the window. The fronting heavens were a black purple. The thunder, which had been growling in the distance, swept forward and roared above the town. The crash no longer rolled afar, but cracked close to the ear, hard, crepitant. Quick lightning stabbed the world in vicious and repeated lances. A blue-black mistiness lay heavy on the covering earth. The rain came a few drops at first, sullen, as if loth to come, that splashed on the pavement wide as a crown-piece—then a white rush of slanting spears—then a blizzard shot in through the window, open at the top, and lashed at Gourlay's cheek. It was lukewarm. He started violently—that warmth on his cheek brought the terror so near.

The heaveps were rent with a crash and the earth seemed on fire. Gourlay screamed in terror.

The baker put his arm round him in kindly protection. "Tut, man, dinna be feared," he said. "You're John Gourlay's son, ye know. You ought to be a hardy man. The truth coming out in his fear. 'I just let to be.'"

But the worst was soon over. Lightning, both sheeted and forked, was vivid as ever, but the thunder slunk growing away.

"The heavens are opening and shutting like a man's eyes," said Gourlay. "Oh, it's a terrible thing the world—and he covered his face with his hands, and a flash shot into a mounded wood far away. 'It stabbed it like a dagger,' stared Gourlay.

"Look, look, did ye see yon? It came down in a broad flash—then jerked to the side—then ran down to a sharp point again. It was like the coultter of a plough."

Suddenly a blaze of lightning flamed wide, and a fork shot down its centre. "That," said Gourlay, "was like a red crack in a white-hot furnace door."

"Man, you're a noticing boy," said the baker. "Aye," said John, smiling in curious self-interest. "I notice things too much. They're pictures in my mind. I'm afraid of them, but I like to think them over when they're by."

"Boys are slow of confidence to their elders, but Gourlay's terror—and the baker's kindness moved him to speak. In a vague way he wanted to explain. "I'm no' afraid of them," he said, "but I'm afraid of them, but I like to think them over when they're by."

an outhouse. John was black in the face; time and again in his wrath Gourlay swung him off the ground. Grocers coming to their doors, to scatter fresh yellow sawdust on the old, now trampled black and wet on the sills, stared sideways, chins up, and mouths open, after the strange spectacles. But Gourlay, never looking to the right or left.

Opposite the Fiddler's Inn whom should they meet but Wilson! A shagger shot to his features at the sight. Gourlay swung the boy up—for a moment a wild impulse surged within him to club his rival with his own son.

He marched into the vestibule of the High school, the boy dangling from his great hand.

"Where's your gaffer?" he roared at the janitor.

"Gaffer?" blinked the janitor. "Gaffer, domine, whatever the damn you ca' him, the fellow that runs the business."

"The headmaster?" said the janitor. "Heid-maister, aye!" said Gourlay in scorn, and went tramping after the janitor down a long wooden corridor. A door was fung open showing a classroom where the headmaster was seated, teaching Greek.

The sudden appearance of the great chested figure in the door, with his fierce gleaming eyes, and the coat, beads shining on his forehead, brought into the close academic air the sharp strong gust of an outer world.

"I believe I pay you to look after that boy," thundered Gourlay. "Is this the way you do your work? And with the words he sent his son spinning along the floor like a curling stone, till he rattled a wet-headed lump against a row of chairs. John slunk bleeding behind the waster. "Quickly!" said MacCandlish, rising in protest.

"Don't really me, sir! I pay you to teach that boy, and you allow him to run idle in the streets! What have you to say?"

"But what can I do?" pleaded MacCandlish, with a white spread of deprecating hands. The stronger man took the child from his limbs.

"Do? Do? Damn it, sir, am I to be your domine? Am I to teach you your duty? Do! Flog him, flog him, flog him—if you don't send him home with the welts on him as thick as that forefinger, I'll have a word to say to you—Mr. MacCandlish!"

He was gone—they heard him so clumping along the corridor. "That's his books. And, as we know, the forced union of opposite breeds the greater disgust between them. However, his school days would soon be over, and meanwhile it was fine to see on his journey to the Green Shutters. Young Hopeful of the Green Shutters."

He was smoking at Skeighan station, as an afternoon, as the Barbic train was on the point of starting. He was staying on the platform till the last moment, in order to show the people how nicely he could bring the smoke down his nostrils—his "Prince of Wales" feathers," he called it, a little curling puff. As he stepped back from an open window, he heard a voice which he knew mentioned the Gourlays. It was Templemandir who was speaking.

"I see that Gourlay has lost his final appeal in that law suit of his," said the Templar.

"Ye tell me that?" said a strange voice. "Then—Gosh, he must have lost infernal!"

"Aywell has he that," said Templemandir. "The costs must have been enormous, and then there's the damages. He would have been better to settle and be done with, but his pride made him fight it to the hindmost. It has made touch the bottom of his purse. I'll wager ye, Wedd, ye'll help to subdue his pride a bit, and mickle shall be the need of that."

Young Gourlay was seized with a sudden fear. The prosperity of the House with the Green Shutters had been a fact of his existence; it had never entered his boyish mind to question its continuance. But a weakening doubt stole through his limbs. What would become of him, if the Gourlays were threatened with disaster? He had a terrifying vision of himself as a lonely atom, adrift on a tossing world, cut off from his anchorage.

"Mother, are we ever likely to be ill off?" he asked his mother that evening. "She ran her fingers through his hair, pushing it back from his brow fondly. He was as tall as a horse now. "No, no, don't do that, makes ye think that? Your father has always had a grand business, and I brought a hantle money to the house."

"Hokey!" said the youth, "when Ah'm in the business, Ah'll have the times!"

CHAPTER XV. Gourlay was hard up for money. Every day of his life taught him that he was no money. In the grand days—only a few years back, but seeming half a century away, so much had happened in between—the grand days when he was the only big man in the locality, and carried everything with a high hand, had disappeared for ever. Now all was bustle, hurry and confusion, the getting and sending of telegrams, quick dispatches by railway, the watching of markets at a distance, rapid combinations that bewildered Gourlay's duller mind. At first he was too obstinate to try the newer methods; when he did, he was too stupid to use them cleverly. When he plunged in, he was always at the wrong time, for he plunged at random, not knowing what to do. He had lost heavily of late both in grain and cheese, and the law suit with Gibson had crippled him. It was well for him that property in Barbic had increased in value; the House with the Green Shutters was to prove the buttress of his fortune. Already he had borrowed considerably upon that security. He was more desirous to go to Skeighan and get more "broddle, Gurney and Yarrowby," of Glasgow were the lawyers who financed him, and he had to sign some papers at Goudie's office ere he touched the cash. He was meaning to drive of course; Gourlay was proud of his gig, and always kept a spanking roadster. "What a fine figure of a man!" you thought, as you saw him coming swiftly towards you, seated high on his driving cushion. That driving cushion was Gourlay's pedestal from which he looked down on Barbic for many a day. A quick step, yet shambling, came along the lobby. There was a pause, as of one gathering heart for a venture, when a clumsy knock on the door.

"Come in," snapped Gourlay. Peter Riney's queer little old face edged limorously into the room. He only opened the door the width of his face, and looked ready to bolt at a word.

"Tain's deid!" he blurted. Gourlay gashed himself frightfully with his razor, and a big red blob stood out on his cheek.

"Deid!" he stared. "Yes," stammered Peter. "He was right enough when Klondike gas him his feed this morning, but when I went in to put his harness on, he was lying deid in the loose box. The batts it's like."

For a moment Gourlay stared with the open mouth of an angry surprise, forgetting to take down his razor. "Aweel, Peter," he said at last, and Peter went away.

"The loss of his pony touched Gourlay to the quick. He had been deid and down in his other misfortunes, had taken them as they came, calmly, he was not the man to whine and cry out against the angry heavens. He had neither the weakness, nor the width of nature, to indulge in the luxury of self-pity. But the sudden death of his gallant roadster, his proud pacer through the streets of Barbic, touched him with a sense of quite personal loss and bereavement. Coming on the heels of his other calamities it seemed to make him more poignant, more sinister, prompting the question if misfortune would never have an end.

"Damn it, I have enough to thole," Gourlay muttered. "surely there was no need for this to happen. And when he looked in the mirror to fasten his shaven face, he stared at it for a moment, with a curious compassion, for the man before him, as for one who was being hardly used. The hard lips could never have framed the words, but the vague feeling in his heart, as he looked at the dark vision, was: "It's a pity of you, sir."

He put on his coat rapidly, and went out to the stable. An object prompted him to look back the door. "That was with the accompaniment," she said in relating the circumstance. "I realized how completely I am in the power of any one who obliges and murders a song in his or her efforts. Since then I have always played my own accompaniments and found that the added security was more of a compensation than all the flippant accompaniments that are offered by amateurs."

"Strongheart" For-Morrow. What will probably prove a real dramatic treat is the engagement here to-morrow of Robert Edson in his new famous comedy drama, "Strongheart."

The play is by William C. DeMille, son of the late H. C. DeMille, who collaborated with David Belasco in such well-known successes as "The Wife," "The Charley Ball," "Men and Women," etc. According to reports, "Strongheart" is one of the very best plays of several seasons, the press of the cities in which the play has been seen being invariably unanimous in favor of the play. Mr. Edson's popularity alone is great enough to secure a big house, but coming as he does with a conceded success, the engagement should prove a very interesting one.

The football scene in the second act has most realistic physical effects on Mr. Edson. He could hardly get more of an exercise out of participation in an actual game; he strains every muscle in the tense action and as a consequence, his arms, chest and back suggest those of an athlete. Every performance of "Strongheart" parts hard work on Mr. Edson's part, putting on his make-up as a full-blooded Indian requires an hour and a quarter of time.

"Americans Abroad," the play which is being presented by the Empress Stock Company at the Fort Street Theatre, is going stronger than ever. So far it has drawn very large houses, and the advance sale tickets have been bigger than usual. The play is a long one but there is not a dull moment throughout its six acts. All the plays have been adapted to their abilities, and the production is one of unusual merit. The piece will run until Saturday evening with a matinee on that day, and will be followed next week by the famous comedy, "What Happened to Jones." In connection with

The bill at the Grand theatre this week is unusually entertaining, and big audiences are patronizing the cosy Government street house. Madrox and Melvix head the programme with their amusing comedy sketch, "The Messenger Boy and the Actress," an absurdity that is irresistibly funny. A. H. Kerns is a clever comedian, and his German patter is very amusing. In addition to good songs and gags he does some very funny eccentric dances. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kelly present a delightful little comedy entitled "The Thoroughbred." The Renos serve up an acrobatic entertainment of a daring and illustrated song bring up an excellent list of entertaining items.

What Does It Mean? DR. HAMILTON GIVES A FULL AND SATISFACTORY EXPLANATION. Look at your bowels. Some are heavily coated some times it is clear and red. Study this out and you'll find some interference with the functional activity of the body. This means the bowels are not regular, the liver is sluggish and the blood is contaminated. Strong cathartic pills act so destructively on the intestines as to provoke deadly sickness; this often frightens people from taking medicine when they badly need it. To the multitude of dangerous purgatives now on the market, Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a notable exception; they neither gripe, cause sickly feeling or headache, yet they cleanse and purify the entire system in one night. No other laxative acts with such mildness and certainly, giving proper stimulus to the liver and kidneys, strengthening the stomach and lending valuable aid to digestion, its small wonder that such marvelous results accompany Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Mr. Geo. O'Hogarty, of Amherst, N. S., writes: "Last winter I worked in a lumber camp and neglected my health. I was dreadfully constipated and had a headache that fairly made me reel at times. I was sick and miserable, and hadn't the slightest ambition to work or stir around. I felt heavy and dull and had a bad taste in my mouth. I sent into the city for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I knew were good for my condition. They fixed me up very quickly and have kept me in good condition ever since. There are other men in the camp that use Dr. Hamilton's Pills also. They say they wouldn't be without the pills for ten times their price."

MOTOR VEHICLES WERE DISCUSSED

ALD. YATES CONFERRED WITH AUTOMOBILISTS

Meeting Last Night to Consider the By-Law Now Before the City Council.

Yesterday evening Ald. Yates had a conference with members of the Victoria Automobile Club regarding the Motor Vehicle By-law now before the city council. The meeting was held in the office of Dr. A. J. Garche, and among those present were Capt. Troup, Dr. Verrinder, J. A. Sayward, John Barnsley, Luke Pitner and Frederick Moore.
 The by-law was gone over clause by clause and many of the original objections made were waived by the members of the club present. It seemed in the opinion of many that the proposed speed regulations should be altered and the method in vogue in England and France be adopted. This would leave the limit of speed undefined, but enable convictions to be secured for driver "to the common danger." The by-law limits the speed on Government street, between the post office and Cormorant, to six miles an hour. No objection was made to the provision concerning the rule of the road and turning corners.
 The provincial act, passed in 1904, permits a speed not exceeding ten miles an hour within the limits of a city. Some members of the club thought this a sufficient limitation. They considered the by-law was ultra vires in further reducing the speed limit. The city solicitor, however, believes that under the Municipal Clauses Act power is given to the city to make the proposed regulation.
 Further provisions in the by-law provide for slowing the pace of motor vehicles to three miles an hour when hearing sharp corners and blowing whistles at the horn, whistle or bell twenty yards before reaching the crossing. All drivers will, if the law passes, have to be registered and pay a fee of $2 for a numbered badge, which must be prominently displayed, either on the front of the headgear or upon the wearing apparel.
 The conference passed off without any serious dispute arising, and Ald. Yates will present a report on its suit at the next meeting of the city council.

FEW WIDOWS IN PARIS.

According to statistics, Parisian widows are about ten times more easily consoled than Parisian widowers. Out of 1,907 ladies, on whom statisticians keep an eye after their husbands' demise, only three were left still alone and mourning after eighteen months had passed by. Out of 3,270 widowers, 27 remained unconsoled, or had had enough of the grief to wait until the 148 had not the grace to wait until the year was out to remarry; 423 did wait a year, but took second wives immediately afterward. All those who married again had done it before three years had gone by. Apparently, if a widower can wait three years, he is safe and falls into the minority, which, in this case, was 27 of those for whom once was enough.
 After divorce, on the contrary, the women are much more shy than the men about entering the bonds again. Out of 717 women whose marriage had been dissolved 79 still chank from trying the experiment again after nine years had elapsed. Out of 659 men 109 married again as soon as they possibly could immediately after the decree became absolute. All those who did not make a fresh start in wedlock had done so within two years from their divorce.

THE RAREST AUTOGRAPH.

Shakespeare's autograph is the rarest. There are only seven in existence, and three of these are doubtful. The best is in the British museum, in a translation of "Montaigne." It cost $15,000, and would sell readily to-day for $25,000. The next two best are in conveyances of property. Three are in Shakespeare's will, but two of these are doubtful, and there is a doubtful one in the folio edition of his plays.
 Rats, mice and squirrels incessantly gnaw at clothing. Animals of this class have teeth which continue to grow as long as the owner lives. Hence the owner is obliged to continue his gnawing so as to keep his teeth ground to a proper length.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

This seems to be the universal and most appropriate title given to the beautiful new cut glass room which Messrs. Weiler Bros. throw open to the public on Saturday. At least everybody who has had a peep at the room during its construction seems to have christened it thus. With its numbers of beautiful pieces of cut glass sparkling with light reflected by a most clever arrangement of mirrors from rows of electric lights, it is most certainly typical of crystal beauty. But a word as to its construction.
 It is situated on the first floor and has been very cleverly carried out of a corner of the first floor show room which has roomed for large as Messrs. Weiler's store is, every inch of space is needed for their immense business. The only outside window is the glass in the centre panel of the door; all the light is obtained from the reflection of a number of electric lights which are cleverly hidden in the mirror work of the room.
 The walls are built entirely of the finest British plate glass; over five hundred dollars worth of this glass has been used in their construction. The shelves and counters are also of glass. The roof is built of cedar beautifully panelled with mirrors and is a very fine sample of the workmanship of Messrs. Weiler Bros.' factory. The cornice frieze gives the impression of being in carved woodwork but it is really a beautiful example of decorative art from Messrs. Weiler Bros.' decorating department, as it is constructed entirely of pressed paper with a floral pattern decorated in silver; the wood-work in front of the cupboards at the base is built of ebonized wood; relief from the predominance of crystal effect and dark woodwork is given by the floor being carpeted with one of Messrs. Weiler's very rich Wilton carpets in a blending of rich crimson tints.
 We have referred entirely to the construction of this beautiful crystal palace feeling sure that every one of our readers will accept Messrs. Weiler's invitation and pay a personal visit to examine hundreds upon hundreds of the most beautiful articles in the world-famed Libbey and other cut-glasses.

Have you Insured your Skin?

A North-west farmer died recently from blood poisoning, following the prick of a rusty nail. A tick on his back had penetrated a Chicago boy's toe, and he died later from lockjaw. Both these deaths could have been averted if a box of Zam-Buk had been handy. The air is full of poisonous germs and microbes which settle on wounds and—and what? If left to go their own way they set up festering, suppurating and frequently blood poisoning. If Zam-Buk is applied these harmful germs are killed and the wound is healed.
 One of the greatest living chemists has proved that Zam-Buk has more power to kill harmful microbes in wounds than tincture of carbolic acid, and it does it painlessly. A little Zam-Buk applied to a cut, a sore, a burn, or a bruise, which breaks the skin, prevents the wound from taking the wrong turn, and speedily heals it.
 Mrs. Bright, of Johnston, N. B., says: "I got my finger poisoned by a prick from a needle, and as it got very bad I applied some old-fashioned remedies. It continued to get worse, and I then tried Zam-Buk. This both cleaned the wound and healed it. Soon all trace of the injury was gone. In cases of cuts, burns, bruises and other injuries, Zam-Buk is the best 'insurance.' It is equally good for eczema, chronic ulceration, ringworm, scaling sores, abscesses, inflamed patches, running sores, bad leg, old wounds, etc. Also for chapped hands. Of all druggists at 50 cents a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Six boxes for $2.50."

TAEMENESS OF WILD ANIMALS.

Wonderful Instances of It From an Island Where Life is Protected.
 That wild animals become extremely tame is well known. The wild quail of Southern California will enter gardens and nest there, and in the protected season I have seen a flock stand in a country road, a jaunty male between them, and my horse not 20 feet away, moving only when I moved, and then with reluctance.
 Several years ago some residents on one of the Channel Islands of Southern California introduced a number of black-tailed deer, which were protected to such an extent that in time they discovered that they were privileged characters, and assumed nearly the absolute contempt for human beings held by the sacred bulls of India, that crowd men and women from the road. They persisted in entering gardens, and finally to locate them the dwellers on the island had bells fastened to them. One buck made his home near the town of Cabrillo, and walked about the place and over the hills with the freedom of a dog. When a boat landed off the pier the buck ran down to greet the newcomers and share their lunches, and became a welcome guest at barbecues and lobster and clam suppers. He was so tame that he would come to the water within easy gunshot, and they build their nests on pinnacles that are not difficult of approach. The sea birds are equally tame. Gulls gather in flocks a few feet from those who feed them, and the winter flocks of cormorants swim into the bays and are so tame that they merely divide when a boat passes, and fishermen often find that cormorants take off bait almost as fast as they can put it on. Gulls dash at bait, and I have seen a long-winged bird resembling the petrel follow my line under water at a cast, using its wings to fly along and take the bait, and at times scores of sea birds are seen inhore feeding upon small scraps, paying no attention to observers photographing them.
 The most remarkable illustration of tameness to be seen here is that of the sea lions. For ages the animals have held possession of a mass of rock on the shore of the islands. A few years ago many were killed by vandals, but laws were passed, and from that time years the sea lions have been protected, and the rookery has increased in size until a split has recently occurred and another settlement has been established halfway up the island.
 It has been the custom for years for fishermen in cleaning their fish to toss the refuse into the bay, and the sea lions formed the habit of coming down to the bay at this time to dine there. At first only one or two came, now a band of two large bulls and several females make their headquarters at the bay, or spend most of their time there, constituting a valuable sanitary corps, as they eat every fragment of fish, the gulls joining in the feast. When not feeding, the sea lions pass the time lying within a few feet of the beach, sleeping or playing, the females and young leaping from the water and going through various tricks of interest to the looker-on.
 But a few feet away from the sea lions are the boat stands of the fishermen and boatmen, and boats are moving out and over the sea lions constantly; yet they are apparently oblivious to the men, who never molest them. This has had a peculiar result. The enormous animals have become so tame that they almost allow the men to touch them, and readily come out upon the shore to feed from their hands. It so happened that I was upon the sands when no sea lions were in sight, and, upon asking a boatman where they were, he began to whistle, as though calling for a dog, and to call "Here, Ben!" repeating the call several times, whereupon out from among the anchored boats appeared not only Ben, but two large bull sea lions, which must have weighed half a ton, followed by two or three smaller females. Scientific American.
