JUDGE HUBBARD IS DEAD

The Great Lawyer and Honored Citizen
Died This Afternoon From Injuries
Received in Runaway Monday.

This community and the entire state of Iowa will be terribly shocked to learn of the death of Judge N. M. Hubbard this afternoon. His death resulted from injuries received last Monday by a runaway in which he was thrown from a wagon between his two fenders, the wheels of the wagon passing over his body, breaking four ribs and causing internal injuries.

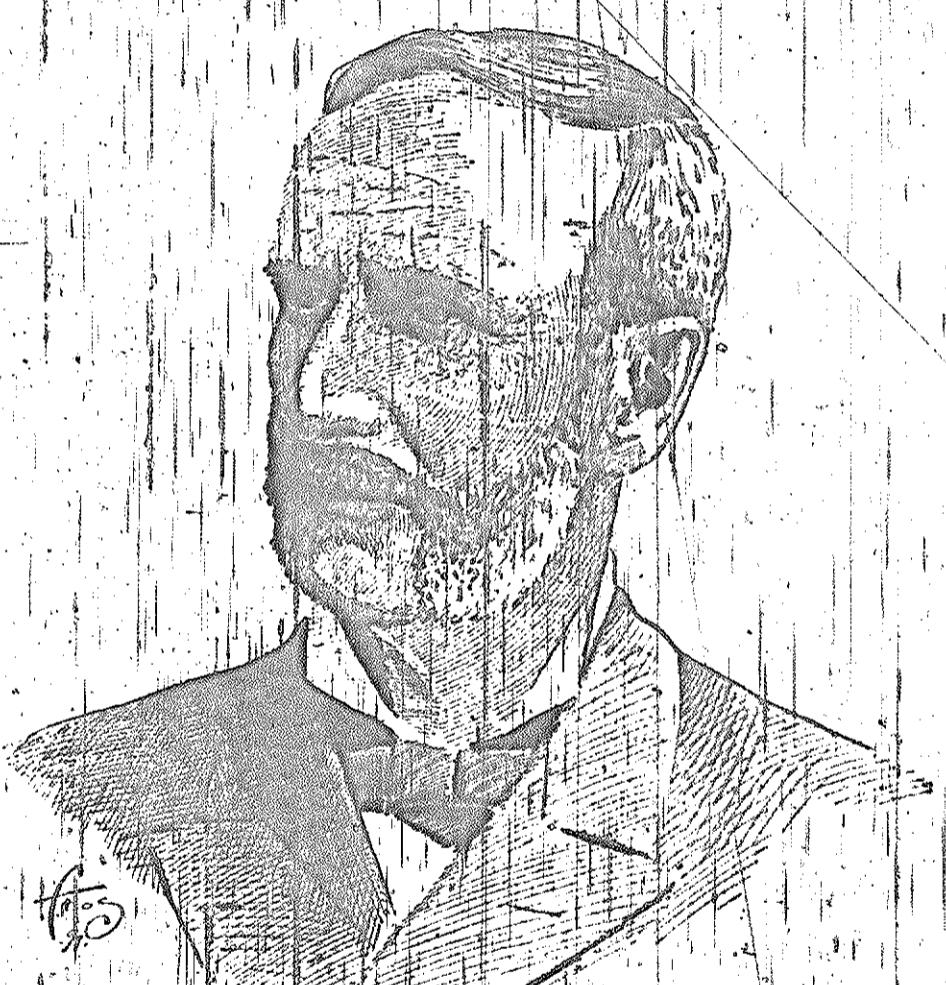

In the few minutes before press time we cannot write of him as we should like, but must express the deepest sorrow because of the death of one we had known and loved for nearly thirty years.

Judge Hubbard was one of the most unique and one of the strongest characters in the state; a man of unlimited resources of brain power, of great kindness of heart heard on every hand, and especially among the members of the bar, who had known him so well and so long. A meeting of the Linn County Bar Association will be called at once to take appropriate action.

Judge Hubbard was born in Steuben county, New York, in September, 1829. His parents were farmers, and the childhood days of the judge were passed among the rough pine hills of New York state, where farmers had to do an immense amount of hard work and hustling and digging to get a living.

In due time, the young man entered Alfred academy in New York state. After leaving there, where he began the study of law, he went to the city of Buffalo, continued his law studies, and was admitted to the bar by the distinguished supreme court judge, Esek Cowen. Going on a prospecting tour through New York to

CITY MARKETS.

Chicago, June 12—The wheat market has been firm, but quiet. Prices at one time were up 3c and holding a share of 1c. Cables were up moderately with the weather in England unfavorable. Price Current said all crops were making favorable progress. There was no special feature to the cash situation. All advices indicate early movements with a good weather, and large receipts here in July, unless rains should interfere. One concern bought 100,000 bushels of fed winter wheat on the basis of 1c under the Chicago July here. Cash sales are put at 80,000 bushels No. 1 northern. New York reports 9 loads taken for export. Clearances 277,000. Primary receipts 220,000, against 402,000. In northwest 184 cars, against 350. The trading feature was buying of September and selling of July by Armour. Estimates 20 cars.

The corn market has been dull and rather featureless. Prices were firm; however, on account of poor grading and very small country offerings, but the range of fluctuations was very narrow. There was no evidence of the market. Local receipts 312 cars, with 21 contract. Estimates for tomorrow 33. Cash corn was weak at increased discounts. No. 3 corn 1 to 1½c under the July and the No. 4 corn at least 1c under the July. There was a small lot of 40,000 bushels sold from here for export. Primary receipts 346,000, against 419,000. Clearances 4,000 bushels. Heavy rains in Iowa and Nebraska were a help to corn prices.

The oats market has been very strong, with most of the interest centered in the July, which future early advanced about a cent. Cash prices were the best of the season; No. 3 white 46 to 48½c, and No. 2 oats 42½ to 44c. There were sales of 80,000 bushels mixed oats made by Patten. There was a good demand for No. 3 white, but supply was small and business for that reason light. Price Current said: "Oat yield large in the important states." Probably the mood was influenced some by reported severe storms in central Illinois, with much of the grain down. Local receipts 88 cars; estimates 105. Clearances 98,000 bushels.

The provision market has been steady, packers selling some lard and ribs. Loose lard is 32½c off. Packers are now increasing lard, which means an increase of stocks. There were 34,000 hogs here; market 50 lower. Estimates for tomorrow 28,000. Hogs west 71,000, against 82,700 last year. Private stocks in store: New pork, 51,000 barrels; old pork, 2,000 barrels; lard, 47,000 barrels, and ribs 16,450,000 lbs. Packing west for the week, 495,000, or 30,000 under last year.

General Proposition of the United States Government Accepted—Treaty of Amherst Claim.

Washington, June 12.—A cable received by Secretary Hay from United States Minister Conger at Peking confirms the reported acceptance by the resident foreign minister of the general proposition of the United States government for a scaling of the claims of the various nations for indemnity on account of the Boxer uprising.

It is understood, however, that England and Japan do not share in reduction, for their accounts claim establish the fact that their estimate and actual expenses were more than their indemnity paid while the other nations party to agreement had made themselves rather liberal allowances in fixing the total of their claims.

The United States government undertook voluntarily to reduce claim of $15,000,000 by $1,000,000, which was one-tenth of the total to be reduced. This left the other nations to divide up the $9,000,000 reduced among themselves, so that in case of the largest claimants the loss would be sensibly less than voluntarily assumed by the United States.

It is stated that while the agreement reported by Mr. Conger made a sensible advance toward a conclusion of the Chinese indemnity negotiations, it does not affect more serious issue presented by demands of a majority of the powers for a settlement of the indemnity on the present exchange value.

MILLER FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Chicago, June 12—On five charges the coroner's office has developed evidence fixing responsibility for St. Luke society sanitarium fire, the society and its president, O. Miller. This evidence will be given to the jury when the inquest is on June 18.

The five charges against President Miller are as follows: That he conducted a hospital in defiance of health laws of the city; that structures were placed in the way the fire escaped; that the hospital did not furnish trained and experienced nurses; that the hospital did not keep a sufficient number of nurses; that the fire was not reported to department when it was discovered.

and most lovable disposition, and a man of the keenest wit, brightest intellect and most charming personal quality.

The last time the writer saw the judge was on the morning of the day of the accident. We walked down First avenue together and the work of tearing down the old union depot had begun. We talked together about the new building, and the judge expressed great pleasure over the fact that his efforts to secure a new building had been successful. Mention was made of the fact that in various conversations he had referred to a brown stone front building, and that the plans did not call for the same. The judge stroked his face, as was his custom when talking to his friends, and after a moment's hesitation, said: "Well, Mr. Houghitt told me it was to be a brown stone front building, and Mr. Houghitt never says anything he does not mean." After a few more words the judge went on his way to his office, and that is the last time we saw him.

We shall have more to say of our departed friend in the days to come.

HIS LAST ILLNESS.

Judge Hubbard died from injuries received in a runaway at his farm Monday evening. He was driving his carriage team, hitched to a lumber wagon with dump-boards instead of a box. Coming from the river place to Goldstream farm the team became frightened at the rattling of the boards and started to run. The Judge was unable to hold them, and was thrown to the ground, the rear wheels of the wagon passing over him. John W. Nye, his son-in-law and farm manager, was driving behind and witnessed the accident. When he had come up with Judge Hubbard the latter had risen from the roadway, but was in great pain. He was removed at once to the farmhouse and a physician summoned. It was found that four ribs had been fractured and that the Judge was badly and painfully bruised, but no serious results were anticipated at that time.

Tuesday morning the Judge was removed in the city ambulance to his home in this city. His condition did not seem at all dangerous until late yesterday afternoon, and at 5 o'clock he rallied, regained consciousness and conversed briefly with those about him. Within a short time, however, he lapsed into unconsciousness, and his physicians realized that the end was near at hand. His failure was gradual all night and this morning, and at 1:29 death ensued, life going out quietly and painlessly.

The injuries to his chest were sufficient to produce a severe contusion of the lungs, which superinduced heart failure.

His wife and son, N. M. Hubbard, Jr., and his law partners, Messrs. F. P. Dawley and C. E. Wheeler and their families were at his bedside when the dissolution occurred.

Judge Hubbard leaves to survive him the wife and son and a grandson, Hubbard Nye. Two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Nye and Miss G. M. Barton preceded him in death by some years.

The funeral arrangements will not be completed until tomorrow, but it is already known that many of the most eminent attorneys and jurists of the state will attend. His life-long friend, Judge Trimble, one of the best known jurists of Iowa, will arrive this evening.

The sad news of Judge Hubbard's death spread with remarkable rapidity over the city this afternoon. Expressions of sincerest grief were Kentucky, thence to Wisconsin, through various states and back to his home in New York, he concluded he would locate in none of the places he had seen. In a short time after returning home he was married and came to Marion, Linn county, Iowa, in the year 1854. He secured some work in the offices of the clerk and county recorder, when not engaged in the practice of law.

In 1862 he raised a company for the Twentieth Iowa, and proceeded to the front. While in the service he spent a portion of the time between Texas and Mexico and was called upon for consultation in some important matters upon international law. His reports upon these matters were especially mentioned and commended by the secretary of state as showing a splendid knowledge of international law and for his efficiency in the work.

After returning from the war he was appointed by Gov. Stone to fill a vacancy on the district bench in this district, which then comprised a number of counties. The remainder of the term was eighteen months, and that was the only office the judge ever held. He has never been a candidate for any official position or office. He was chosen a delegate-at-large to the national convention in 1884, when Blaine was nominated, and was a member of the committee appointed to notify Mr. Blaine of his nomination. The judge removed to Cedar Rapids in 1870, and has resided here continuously since that time.

AN EVENT IN KNEE BREECHES

London, June 12—United States Ambassador Choate last night gave a dinner to King Edward and Queen Alexandra. All the men guests wore knee breeches, white waistcoats and coats similar to those worn as court dress.

A big crowd collected outside Ambassador Choate's residence to witness the arrival of the king and queen. The event was unique, in that it was the first time their majesties have attended, as guests, an ambassadorial function.

ANTI-IMPERIALISTS ASK A HEARING

Washington, June 12—Representative McCall of Massachusetts today presented a petition to the house, signed by Charles Francis Adams, Andrew Carnegie, Carl Schurz, Edwin Burritt Smith and Herbert Welch, asking that a congressional committee of investigation be appointed to go to the Philippines and inquire into and report upon the conditions existing there.

A YOUTHFUL DESPERADO

Alton, Iowa, June 12—The Toloma, aged 16, stabbed Fred Arens, aged 18, because the latter called him bad names. Arens nearly died. Toloma fled to his father's store, dove with a revolver and held at bay the whole town for eighteen hours.
