Greetings

I, John Bigham will my sense of responsibility to Stanley Cundiff. Can you use it?

I, Lee Hill will my seriousness to Elmer Beebe. What about it, Beebe?

I, Doris Yoakam will my artistic ability to Wanda Peterson. Also "Fritz" to anyone who wants it.

I, Mason Ferguson will my temper to Donnie McCoy. . . Do not break, FRAGILE! ! ! Use carefully!

I, Joanne Hickman will my calmness to Bette Gay. Think it will work?

I, Clark Gilbert will my freshmen girl friends to Butch Cooper. Be prepared to run, Butch.

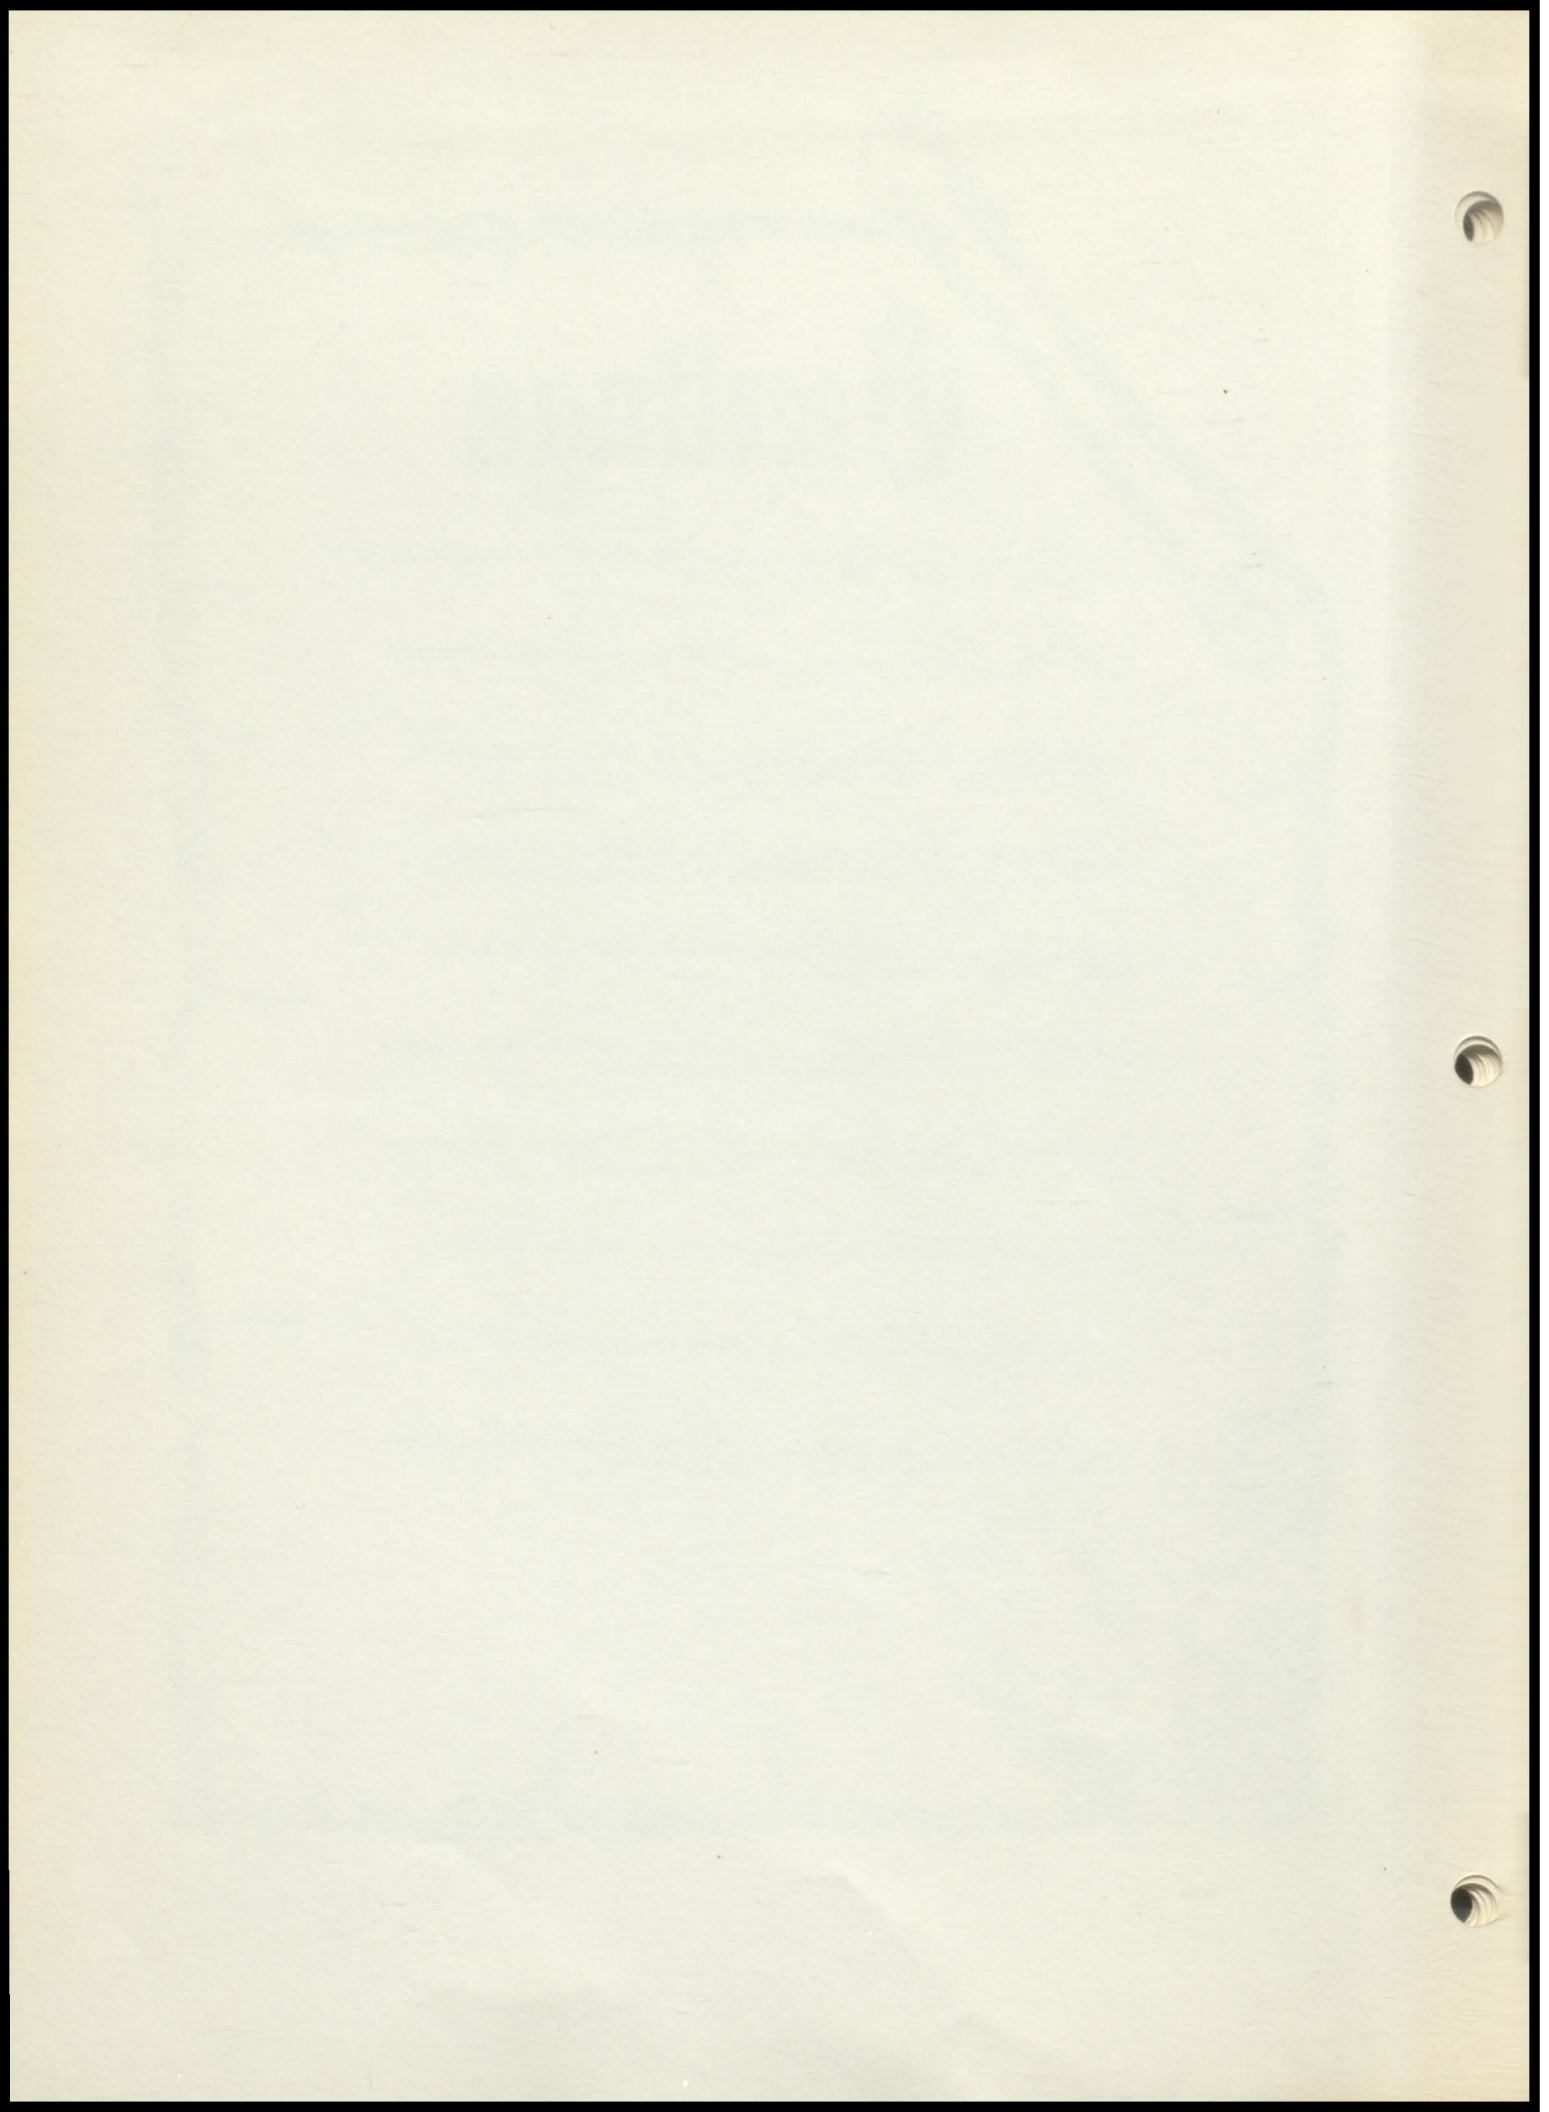

I, Cecil McCoy will my ability to get along with girls to Teddy McKinnis. Watch out girls.

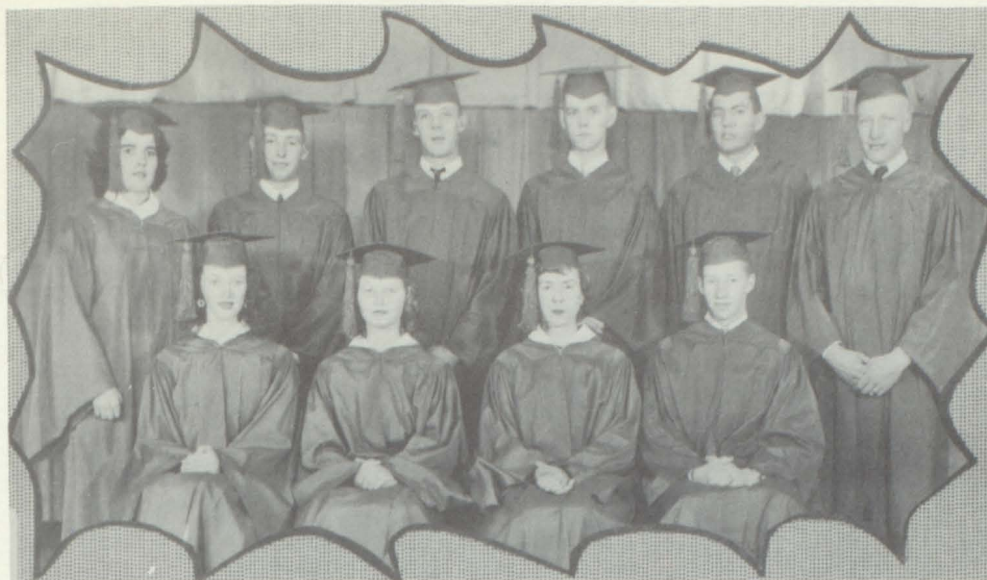

I, Martha Peterson will my love for Chemistry to Gayle.

I, Gordon Steele will my quick wit to Terry Neal, as if you needed it!

I, Dorelyn Cooper will my piano-playing ability to Margaret Newman, and ear plugs to Mr. "Mac."

Our P R O P H E C Y

On a fine spring day in 1964 John Bigham, a straight "A" major in Agriculture at Fort Collins, stands out in his bean field wondering why the crop failed. He is startled by the smooth purring noise, put-put-clash-bang, of the amazing new invention, the Dypsy Doodle, Gordon Steele's latest horseless carriage. He gets 20 gallons to the mile, which is really an improvement over recent inventions. Although he can't understand why the gas gauge always points at empty.

Gordon stops to chat for a while with John, when all at once a terrific explosion occurs and the roof off of Lee Hill's ATOMIC BUM PLANT comes whizzing by. Shortly afterward a big thud!! Lee lands from a big, nearby pine which he met up with in the way over.

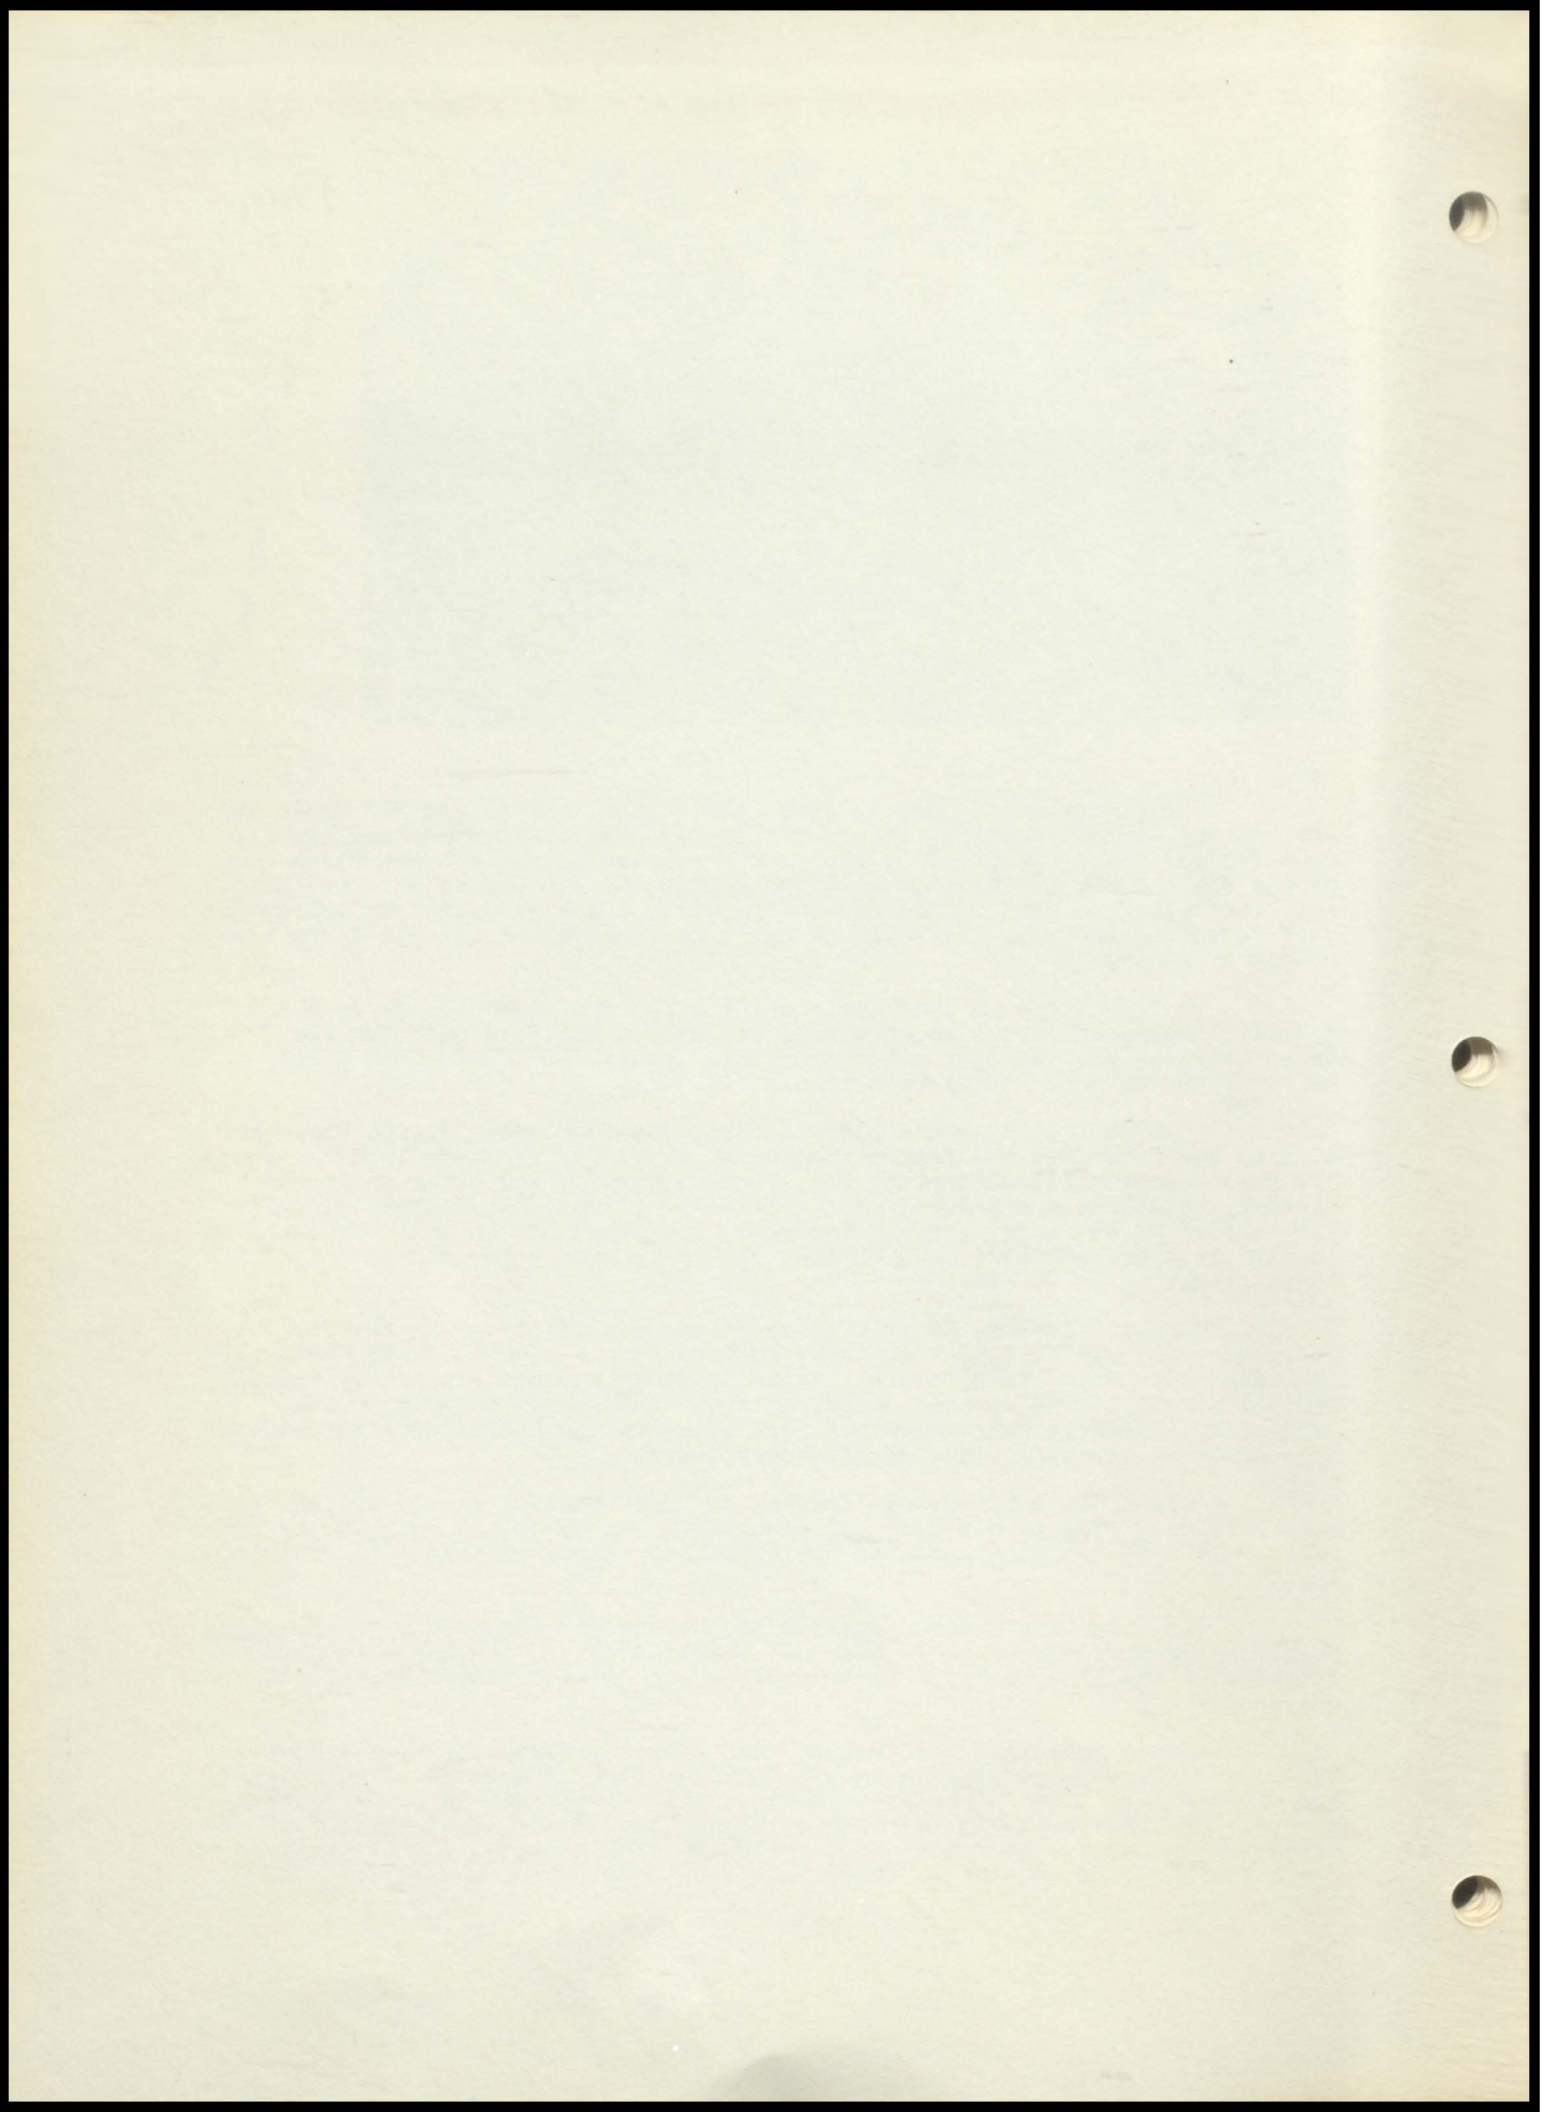

Lee rushes to John's ultra-modern, one-room adobe hut to phone to town to see which way the rest of the plant went. He stammers into the phone, his face becoming in turn, pink, red, violet, purple, and black as Joanne Hickman, telephone operator of the A. F. of L. (always for listening) tells him to take in the cord, she had too much; she asked him to quit breathing so loudly, it disturbed her; and, PLEASE, pull back some cord, she can't get the connection.

Marka Peterson, RN (rat nurse) comes dashing from the new five-story general hospital, KILL OR CURE, located in the suburb, Smoky Mesa. She is loaded down with Vicks Vaporub, Aspirin, Sloan's Horse Liniment, Hadacol, and all of the latest miracle drugs, in case anybody was injured in the explosion. Marka is considered the best nurse in the Basin. She already has six, or is it seven, notches on her thermometer.

Clark Gilbert, ex-mule driver, ex-truck driver, ex-bus driver, comes to a screaming stop in his twin bed ambulance. He opens the door, trips and falls on his face. Straightening his fractured elbow, he asks if anyone is hurt.

It seems Clark took this job because he got fired from all previous ones. He never could keep his eyes off pretty girls in convertibles, consequently ruining his one-horse power mule in a collision with the Bayfield Metropolitan City Police.

Mason Frazzini, the famous South American gaucho, comes limping--whoops! loping--no limping in on his flaming, firey steed (eats red peppers and hot tamales). He is the Roy Rogers of the Amazon, and he seems to be quite a card. His pals call him the King of Kings, Ace of Jacks, or is it Jack of Aces? Mason has a famous hacienda, the MUCHO FERDINAND, (a lot of bull) in South America. He came up to check on his La Boca ranch, the ARID ACRES.

Cecil McCoy, the greatest bullshipper in the Basin, just arrived to compare notes with Lee on Lee's synthetic cow. It eats green plants, chlorophyll, you know, with no after affects, (saves cleaning the barn). Cecil is quite interested in not having to clean the barn. Cecil has just bought out the Gunnison Valley of Colorado from Governor Thornton. He seems to have his eye on the Capitol Building. He even took up golfing.

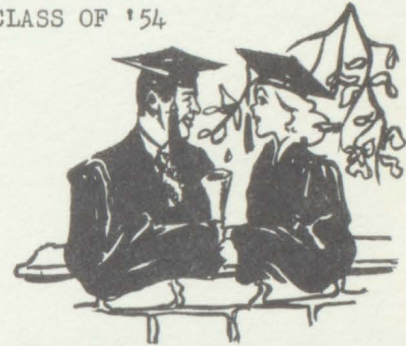

Doris Yoakam, the world famous comedian, humorist, and actress comes by with dark glasses, white cane, and a tin cup. It seems her last performances haven't rolled in the dough. Maybe it's understandable as she is director, script writer, stage hand, and curtain puller for her own show. Tonight she is appearing at the Bayfield City Opera House in the suburb, Falfa.

A long streamlined cherry red Cadillac convertible comes to a smooth, even stop. Derylin Cooper must be in a hurry; she came through the windshield instead of the door. She always was (pardon the expression) a good driver. She has just returned from a concert tour with Spike Jones' band. Derylin used to play with the Ink Spots until they were eradicated.

Mr. Mac is seen pulling his head out of the glove compartment. His face is merely white this time, as he is used to it. Mac seems in marvelous health, in fact he's Glowing! But that was before he coughed up the flashlight. He removes the whisk broom from one ear and a pair of scissors from the other. Mr. Mac gets out smiling as usual. He is acting as Derylin's tutor.

We all decide to go to the STAINLESS STEELE SPUR, (former Silver Spur) owned and operated by who else but Gordon, for a chicken dinner. He is supposed to be the best chicken lifter in the country. And we don't mean out of the pot!

There it is, the future of the CLASS OF '54
