The Real End of the Campaign, as Great Britain is tired of carnage. President Kruger's dramatic retreat has led the commentators to reannounce the close of the war, but, the long lists of casualties and deaths in hospitals, aggregating two hundred a week, which continue to fill up the bulletin boards at the war office, cause anxiety. The claims hitherto made that the British losses in South Africa have been small as compared with those of other campaigns appear to need revision, judging from recent calculations made by a well known actuary, who finds that of tile known actuary, who finds that of the officers in South Africa 72.1 per thous-

All kinds of rumors are current regarding the coming of American enterorise to relieve London's congested traffic. That the metropolis is far behind every provincial centre in many things that go to make up a modera city is beginning to be realized by Englishmen and a demand is arising for new blead American or otherwise capable of solving transit problems. One has only to attempt a journey to the city this week to realize the costly delays and vexations to which business is subject under present conditions. The waits actors Test that the burghers are fighting among ent conditions. The main artery, Tra-falgar Square to the bank, is so torn up that it takes cabs and busses thirty or forty minutes to cover a journey of less than two miles. this District in the approaching Dominion. Election.

In doing so, I wish to express my deep appreciation of your confidence and to record at once my complete concurrence in the public views expressed in the requisition. I am convinced that the just demands of the West can only, be secured by its representatives sinking partisan considerations and taking a firm united stand for our rights. Both parties when in power have failed to recognize or have deliberately ignored the importance of our local interests. Accordingly, while I am a Liberal, I prefer nevertheless to be loyal rather to this Province than to party, and will therefore press for the exclusion of Asiatics, larger representation, an equitable return of the enormous revenue contributed to the Federal Excheque by this Province, and a fair consideration of the pressing needs of our developing conditions irrespective of party exigencies.

If elected, I will heartily co-operate with my fellow members in any effort to secure these objects.

I intend to take an early opportunity of explaining to the Electors my views on the general issues of the campaign. In the meantime I may say in a word that I am in favor of Government Ownership of Railways and Telegraphs, Reduction of Realmays and Telegraphs, Reduction of Royalty on Yukon Mines, Revision of Yukon Administration, Direct Legislation, Application of Eight Hour Law to all Dominion Works, Compulsory Arbitration in Disputes between Capital and Labor, Reduction of Tariff-on all limports entering into the development of our natural resources, all measures calculated to cement the Empire, and every well advised step tending to the advancement and general prosperity of our District, Province and Dominion, Copper was probably the next metal to gold which man learned to extract and reduce. It is often found in a native state it is very widely diffused; it is quite abundant. The present state of archaeological research does not enable us to locate all the principal copper mines of the ancients, nor to compute the quantity of metal which they yielded, but it is believed that both the Hindus and Chinese commanded supplies sufficiently ample to war, rant them in making coins of this metal at a period which may be fixed approximately at about twelve centuries before

Yet I hovered about it, researching and returning quite faschated by the contrast between the smooth, flowerly and returning and returning quite faschated by the contrast between the smooth, flowerly and great upon which I stood and the terrible yawning chasm. When the fog lifted a little and the sun gleamed out, I looked down this groove into the ocean, and Tennyson's line in "The Eagle" came to my mind as accurately descriptive of the scene:

The wrinked sea beneath him crawis.
Another curions effect was the bottom of the sea visible a long way out from shore. The water scened suddenly to become shallow, or else to take on a strange transparency; the color and conformation of the rocky floor were surprisingly distinct.

Instead of being merely a small fraction of the total dralings of the British people, it might assume such a prependerance as to justify the experiment of cultivating and encouraging it and putting into effect an Imperial preference for colonial products. Also it seems to be a fact that the world is yearly becoming more hostife commercially to Great Britain. At any rate the protectionist idea is spreading and it is not improbable that as the years pass by the temptation to retailation may become greater, or at least to follow the example which our neighbers are all setting at the present time of reserving the home markets for home products. But all these thoughts are merely speculative. There is not one British state man at the present day who would dare to advocate the imposition of duties on wheat. Canadians have to conjure up. The thought of writing newspapers for ocean travellers has now practically been solved by several of the great German steamship companies. It has been decided upon publishing special papers, containing all the important events which occurred during the time spent on board. The first start in this direction was made some time are by the well. which occurred during her time spent on board. The first start in this direction was made some time ago by the well known Woermann Steamship Company of Hamburg, with a paper called the Africa Post. As soon as the Woermann steamers touch, homeward bound, the first European port, this paper is sent on board and liberally distributed among the passengers of all classes. A similar paper has now been gotten out by the administration of the great Hamburg-American line. It is called Wilkommen in Europa (Welcome in Europe). It appears in the German and in the English language, and gives a concise account of all the important news which occurred during the long ocean journey between America and England. It is regularly delivered on board every steamer of the line as soon as she touches Plymouth.

After a ten days' tour of inspection or he lower Mainland, R. M. Palmer, the provincial fruit inspector, returned last evening by the Islander. Together with evening by the Islander. Together with T. Cunningham, of the department of agricuture, he thoroughly investigated the causes of the brown plum rot, which has been playing such havee in the orchards of the lower Mainland, and the report which will be issued by the board of horticulture as a result of the tour will undoubtedly contain much valuable information on the subject.

Mr. Palmer in conversation with the Times this morning said that the rot ex-

Times this morning said that the rot ex-tended well over the lower Mainland. The Bradshaw plum suffered most. He attributed the prevalence of the rot this year to certain palpable causes. Notable among these was the fact that owing to the rather unprecedented fall of rain dur-ing the whole season very little spraying had been done. Consequently the con-ditions were favorable to the develop-ment of fungus diseases. Where the spraying had been done with the Boreau mixture there was less rot and thi bore out his statement that lack of spraying was indubitably responsible for the unfortunate havee worked among

The result has been a heavy loss in the plum crop. In many instances the rot developed after the fruit had been ship-ped. This was probably the worst vis-itation of this nature that had ever oc-curred, although some trouble had been ountered in this particular for the past three or four years. The matter will be thoroughly discussed at all the farmers' institutes during the coming winter, and the experience during the present season will enable those vitally interested to make suggestions which will lead to successful endeavors to prevent the incipiency of the evil next year. Mr. Falmer also pointed out that a great deal of trouble was due to the growing of certain varieties which makes

THE MADANGS.

The Madangs of Central Borneo are a very light-skinned people, with bright, dark eyes, and perfectly straight, long black hair. They are fairly tall for Borneo natives, and very muscular, clean and free of the skin diseases so common among Dayaks, Kayans, and Muruts. They are energetic and quick common among Dayake, Kayans, and Muruts. They are energetic and quick in their movements, splendid boatmen, and able to travel long distances in the jungle on foot without apparently becoming much fatigued. When meeting one on a jungle track, each man greets you as he passes by with the word "Sayeh!" which means that he hopes no harm will befall you—which may be taken as characteristic of their generally courteous bearing. Their only garments consist of coats and waisteloths made from the bark of a tree known ments consist of coats and wasteroons made from the bark of a tree known as "kumut," which is beaten out to a thin cloth with a wooden mallet. The women also use this bark cloth for their petticoats, and for the shawls in which petticoats, and for the shawls in which they wrap their babies. They wear carred ear ornaments made from the beak of the helmeted hornbill, (Rhinoplax vigil.) and also of resin obtained from the forest trees. They live in much the same manner as the other Kenyah tribes—in long houses holding their to fitty families in each house—but own no slaves, and the chiefs and sons of the headmen all appear to do as much work as any one in the village, their occupations including the cultivation of their extensive padi farms and tobacco, of which they plant sufficient for their wants.

They are pleasant people to meet, being good speakers—both as to the matter and manner of their orations—frank and open in their bearing, genial, high-spirited, and possessed of an abundant sense of humor. As a rule they are not polygamous, treat their women almost as equals, and are very fond of their children. They are kind and gentile nurses to the sick, temperate, and, in a word, a good people when nothing occurs to awaken their fiercer passions. On the other hand, they are easily roused, and, when their blood is up, are ready to dare and do anything, and to fight with amazing fierceness and tenacity. But, as a general rule, their are ready to dare and do anything, and to fight with amazing fierceness and tenacity. But, as a general rule, their gusts of rage are but short-lived, and they are very ready to give quarter in battle. Many of these people suffer from goitre, for which they use a salt obtained from the Kalabits, as a curative; but owing to the impenetrable swamp between the two districts they have to procure this commodity through the Leppu Modongs and others, with whom they also are on friendly terms. It is worth noting that the Kalabits, who habitually partake of this salt, do not suffer from goitre.—The Geographical Journal.

AN OVERCROWDED PARISH.

Sie Walter Beasant's Century paper for September is devoted to that part of East London which lies along "The Thames from Wapping to Blackwal."

The name of Raacliffe, or Redeliff, marks a spot where the low cliff which formerly rose up from the marsh curved southward for a space and then receded, It is a hander which at first offers little to interest or to attract. It consists of mean and dingy. None of the houses is not, a single street which is not mean and dingy. None of the houses is old, none is picturesque in the least; all are ries, etc. which is not mean and dingy. There is a church, but it is not stately like St. George's in the ription is: nesses and grains, no completely is not stately like St. George's in the least, nor venezable like. Steamen, lk. is unlovely. There are stairs to the river, and they are rickety; there are ware houses which contain nothing and are tumbling down; there are public houses which do not pretend to be bright and attractive—low-browed, dirty dens, which reck of bad beer and bad gin. Yet the place, when you singer in it and talk about it to the clergy and the ladies who work for it, is full of interest, for it is a quarter entirely occupied by the hand-to-mouth laborer. The people live in tenements; it is thought luxury to have two rooms. There are eight theusand of them, three-quarters being Irish. In the whole parish there is not a single person of what we call respectability except two or three clergy men and half-a-dozen ladies who work for the church. There are no good shops; there are no doctors or lawyers; there is not even a newsvender, for nobody in Ratcliffe reads a newsynaper. But the place swarms with humanity. The children play by mewsvender, for nobody in Rateliffe seads at newspaper. But the place swarms with humanity. Within a hundred years the methods of church administration and work have changed materially. It has not been a change involving catastrophe, but one of growth. Consider the single-item of church music. Well nigh the distance of a diameter lies between the church music of the beginning and the end of the century. Recall the dismal hymns, lined out of more dismal tunes, and the dreary fugues, as dull and involved as an Indian medicine dance. Our fathers did not rise up on a certain day and say. "Henceforth we are done with them!" But as the musical cultivation of the people advanced, church music perforce shared in the general movement. It is sadly true that bigotry has succeeded in holding the church pretty steadily to the rear of the advancing column, but no institution can live wholly outside its own generation.

stitution can live wholly outside its own generation.

The bigotry which has piously shut the best music out of the church is a survival of that asceticism which nipped, like a killing frost, everything vernal in the religious life. But as the rigors of bigotry have softened in the growing warmth of general enlightenment, and the love and culture of music have steadily advanced, the church has quietly dropped its old methods, and has unconsciously taken on the new, until today it may be truthfully said that the best music of the world is laid under tribute for church services. Even the wicked music of the heels is sometimes so judiciously "slowed up," and subdued in color, and punctuated with solemn pauses, that staid deacons decorously, innocently pace to their pews to strains

A LONG CROOKED ROAD.

A woman whose nerves are constantly racked and dragged by debilitating drains and inflammation, cannot be a gental companion or happy wife; and she is totally unfitted to be a mother.

These troubles prevail almost universally among women largely because of carelessness and neglect. There is no need of them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive specific for the weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organism. It cures them radically and completely. It heals, strengthens and purifies. It is the only scientific remedy devised for this special purpose by an educated, skilled physician. It is the only medicine that makes motherhood easy and absolutely safe.

Its sale, through dealers in medicines exceeds the combined sale of all other medicines for women. It acts directly and only on the child-bearing organism, it allays inflammation, soothes pain, heals ulceration and gives the tortured nerves a rest. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's coming easy and comparatively painless. Thousands of women have testified to its wonderful virtues, all good druggists sell it and honest dealers will not offer inferior substitutes for the sake of a little extra profit. Dr. Pierce has been for thirty years chief consulting physician of the famous Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at skilled specialist in woman's ailments is world-wide.

GREENWOOD.

Dr. Jakes, district coroner, proceeded to Camp McKinney on Monday and held an inquiry into the circumstances, attending the death of Robert Graham, who was killed in the Cariboo mine on Sunday. The evidence given before a jury showed that deceased was seen to pass the station at the 200-foot level, having with him an ore car containing steel, and that immediately afterwards car and man were heard to fall down the shaft. It appears as if deceased neglected to fasten the cart to the cage, and that it ran off the platform. The shaft not being timbered all the way, there was room for the car to leave the cage. The injuries sustained by the unfortunate man were such that death must have been instantaneous. The shaft not being timbered all the way, there was room for the car to leave the cage. The injuries sustained by the unfortunate man were such that death must have been instantaneous. The shaft was broken, one arm and one leg fractured, and other injuries were received as well. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

VANCOUVER.

A. Goldstein, for whom the Vancouver police have been looking for some time, has been arrested in Denver, Golorado, A dispatch to this effect appeared in a Scattle paper some days sin.e., and apparently the news only reached this city with the mails. Detective Wylie visited Goldstein, without success. He has now gone to Denver upon the information that the absconding second-hand dealer is in custody there. When arrested in Denver, Goldstein was registering under the name of D. Diamond. Charles Mussler, the unfortunate teamster who was sectiously injured in the run-away accident on the control of the case, and the accessed, it will be remembered, sustained a bad fracture of the right thigh, the leg also being severely crushed; in addition his shoulder was dislocated and he austained a slight scalp wound and internal injuries. The deceased was about 30 years of age, and was well known in Victoris.

were shown the stope between the 300 and 200-foot levels, the method of timbering and of extracting the ore. They also examined the compressor, in which they seemed much interested. Several photographs of the party were taken. Lady Minto was presented with the costume provided for her as a souvenit of her visit.

A serious accident at the Le Roi mine just before midnight on Thursday, resulted in the injury of four men, viz., Larry McElroy, Chas. Hensley, Owen Bigland and Mike Scik, who were working in the sinking of the big shaft about 40 feet below the 800-foot level, and its weight, of several tons, gathered terrific away all obstructions till it reached the machine bar at the bottom of the shaft. The four men were imprisoned beneath it, but were promptly released. Scik's wounds were slight. Bigland got an urily scalp wound. Mensley had its collar bone broken and some of his fingers were so leadly crushed that they had to be amputated. McElroy had a leg broken and may have suffered in terminal injuries. His condition is critically and of the strength of the strength of the canada Presbyterian.

New WESTMINSTER.

What was one of the prettiest weddings ever seen in the city, was that which took place in St. Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral on Wednesday evening, when Henry Doyle, Jr., led to the altar, Miss Frances M. English, youngest daughter of the late M. M. English, one of the province, It was probably also the first occasion on which an evening wedding had been solemnized in that sanctuary and this, with the fact that evening toilettes were to be worn, and the contracting parties were prominent. sanctury and the worn, and the contracting parties were prominent in society, accounted for the seating capacity of the cathedral being taxed to its fullest extent. The bridal party and their respective relatives having attended a private service and Holy Communion in the morning, the actual ceremony of the evening did not occupy very much time, but this did not interfere with the decorations. The welding party having arrived, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Buenoz. The bride, who was given away by her eldest brother, Marshall English, was dressed in white duchess satin trimmed with point lace and chiffon. The tulk veil was fastened with orange blossoms and the same blooms mingled their perfume with that of white rose buds in the bride's shower bouquet. The perfume with that of white rose buds in the bride's shower bouquet. The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Doyle and Miss Alma Corbould, were attired in pink organdie over pink silk, trimmed with white lace and chiffon, and carried shower bouquets of pink rosebuds. The groom was attended by F. J. Coulthard, and Messrs, George Seymour, A. E. Anderson, R. Bryce Brown, and J. A. Angus.

There is a stringent rule against the disinterment of bodies during the months of June, July, August and September. Only by special permission of the board of health can it be done, and these permits are issued only in unusual cases. Notwithstanding the spirit of the law, John A. Fitzpatrick, undertaker, secured permits and hus just completed the removal of footbodies from the old burial ground behind the Third Baptist church, in Second street, above Catharine, to Arlington cemetery. The Baptist cemetery was opened in 1800, and burials flave been made there as late as 1805.

The Hapitis flave been made there as late as 1805.

A remarkable feature of this churchyard "flitting" is that the tombstones and headstones were sold to the Alcatraz Paving Company, and by that firm used in paving League street, between Front and Second streets. Mr. Gibb, chief of the bureau of public health, admitted that the contracting undertaker had received permission to do what he pleased with the stones, but he was apparently somewhat abashed when he learned of the use they had been put to.

Whole headstones bearing the cross or "Sacred to the memory of —," or "In memory of my beloved wife, —," or "In fond remembrance of —," were dumped

Mammoth's Remains

Huge Skeleton to Be Set Up in the Provincial Museum Shortly.

Cast of Haida Indian, in Native Dress, Will Also Be Added to Collection.

British Columbia's museum, which is already one of the most perfectly equip-ped institutions of its kind in the Domped lostitutions of its kind in the Dominion, called forth many expressions of admiration from Dr. Bowes, of New York, who visited the city the other day on his return East. The Doctor is at the head of one of New York's largest museums, and has just spent some time on this coast gathering scientific data and curios. Incidentally, he obtained casts of nearly all the tribes of Indians found in this province, made a Indians found in this province, made a study of their style of dress, and of their everyday life. He took considerable trouble in acquiring this data, and travelled in many of the less frequented parts of the country. Among other rts of the country. Among other nees he visited Queen Charlotte is-nds, and while there obtained a complete history of the great Haida tribe of Indians, well known to most pioneers of this province. Casts of these Indians were also secured, and when Dr. Bowes were also secured, and when Dr. Bowes reaches New York, the native, life sized, and dressed as he is found to-day on the islands, will be reproduced in the museum, of which that gentleman is justly proud, together with many other casts of different tribesmen.

Dr. Bowes has promised to send Provincial Curator John Fannin one of these casts of the Haida Indians, which the latter gentleman will add to the local museum.

Still another specimen which Mr.
Fannin expects to receive is that of the remains of a huge mammoth, which Mr.
Crompton, a brother of Dr. Crompton, of this city, has promised to forward to him from the North. These have been found in hig number along the creeks of the Upper Yukon, and even on the Lower Yukon tusks have been discovered. So numerous indeed have these become that interest in their discovery has waned to such an extent that finds are regarded of 'everyday occurrence.
Only a week ago a tusk was brought has waned to such an extent that finds are regarded of everyday occurrence. Only a week ago a tusk was brought down from the North, which, although sawn off at both ends, weighed fully 50 pounds, and measured in length four feet. Mr. Fannin's exhibit, however, is not to consist of any one part of the prehistoric monster, but will comprise all the bones of the animal, or at least, as many as it is possible to procure. These he will set together, supplying the missing parts, and combining all into a whole, just as they would be in the animal if alive. When the work has been completed, the animal will be given a prominent place in the misseum, and as such will stand as the first of his species anywhere seen in the Dominion. Mammoth remains up to the present are only seen on this continent in the largest cities of the United States. Therefore, that for the provincial museum, will be an almost invaluable acquisition. only seen on this continent in the largest cities of the United States. Therefore, that for the provincial museum, will be an almost invaluable acquisition to the really fine collection of curios now there. Mr. Fannin says he has not heard from Mr. Crompton of late out not heard from Mr. Crompton of late ou the matter. That gentleman had vol-unteered the gift to the museum, and in consideration of his generous offer, it has been arranged that the provincial government pay all expenses in connec-tion with the shipping of the skeleton. The remains will, it is understood, is dug out of the earth on Bonanza creek, where they have been seen in great num-ber.

The five years' rule of Catherine's fantastic successor, Paul, was too brief and troubled to witness any very appreciable: advancement in art. After Paul came Alexander I. During this monarch's supremacy the central figure in Russia's musical life was Catterino Cavos, an Italian, who settled at St. Petersburg in 1798. For over forty years Cavos was immensely popular at the Russian court, his pilable Italian nature helping him to thoroughly identify himself with his adopted country, so much so that many writers accepted him as a Russian, spelling his name with a K and a Slavonic termination—Kayoss. He was a most industrious manufacturer of opera, employing both Russian text and Russian subject. His best known effort, "Ivan Sussania," dealt with Michael, the first Czar of the house of Romanov, and his wars with the Poles.—Gentleman's Magazine.

THE AMERICAN RACEHORSE.

The American thoroughbred has been nearly four hundred years in development, for he was brought to the new world by the early settlers in Virginia, whose love for he was brought to the new world by the early settlers in Virginia, whose love of outdoor sport was as strong in America as it was in England. James I was then on the throne, the first of English monarchs to give patronage to racing, and so it became known as the "sport of kings."

In the United States, the South has always been the real home of the racehorse. He has been bred and trained and freproved there, out of pure love for him, and for racing as an institution. It was in jips North that racing first ispeame a business. If a complete story of horseracing in American were told, it would be found to include much of the history of the nation.

The American and English thoroughbreds show differences in type. The English horse is taller, or "Jeggler," than the other. He usually has more length and more quality; whereas the transatlantic thoroughbred has more substance, is more closely coupled—that is, shorter—and American and English colored has more substance, is more closely coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more substance, is more closely coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more substance, is more closely coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more substance, is more length and more closely coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more substance, is more length and more coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more length and more coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more substance, is more length and more coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more length and more coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more length and more coupled—that is, shorter—and American as the transatlantic thoroughbred has more length and more coupled—that is the coupled that the coupled has the coupled that the coupled that the cou

Virgil, whose description of the Calabrian coast is singularly accurate, makes the Trojans see Actna after leaving the Gulf of Tarentum, which indicates that its height then was much the same as now. Asschylus and Pindar were both at the court of Hiero of Syracuse a few years, after an eruption, and were powerfully impressed by it; the "rivers of fire devouring with flerce jaws the smooth fields of fertile Sicily," as sung by the former, is still a true description of its laws streams.
