REVEALSTOKE PAR GAIN NEW TRIAL
By a unanimous judgment the Court of Appeal ordered a new trial in the case of Rex versus Simmons and others. Elsie Simmons, Harry Greenwood and Dong Wing were indicted at the Revelstoke assize charged with dynamiting the home of Christine Smith with intent to murder. Dong Wing pleaded guilty and turned state evidence. At the trial before Mr. Justice Morrison and petit jury Dong Wing was cross-examined by M. A. Macdonald, K.C., for the other accused who had pleaded not guilty. Counsel addressed his remarks to an alleged disparagement between confessions made by Dong Wing at separate times, but was stopped by the court. The appellants were found guilty by the jury. In granting a new trial this morning three of their Lordships held with counsel for the appellant accused that the cross-examination should not have been stopped. The appeal was nominally for leave to state a case. In dealing with the matter, Chief Justice Macdonald pointed out that counsel should make a point of asking the trial judge for something definite upon which the court could rule. Indefinite statements by a trial judge were not a fit subject for an appeal, intimated, His Lordship said.

The hearing of Elliott versus the Glenmore Irrigation District resumed and is expected to terminate this afternoon and with it the last case on the list. The appeal by the defendants against a ruling of Mr. Justice Gregory in favor of S. T. Elliott, a rancher of Kelowna, who asked for damages for loss of crops when his land at Glenmore was flooded by water held by the plaintiff control of the defendant corporation. Harold B. Robertson, K.C., and T. Norris appear for the appellants, and W. C. Brown, K.C., and R. G. Ritchie for the respondents. The morning session of the court was featured by argument of opposing counsel on the rights of the irrigation district as created in 1920 under amendments to the Water Act.

DERAILED FREIGHT CARS CAUSE DELAY
Two freight cars were derailed last night on the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway at the 12-mile point, owing to a bent axle, and caused delay of one hour and forty-five minutes to the regular passenger train which was close behind the freight. Both cars were in such a position that special care had to be secured from Victoria before they could be put back on the rails, and with the apparatus was sent a train of passenger cars, into which the persons on the evening train were transferred. The passengers were mostly campers and holiday folk returning to the city after an outing at different points of the island. The damage done was not serious, and E. & N. officials announced this morning.

The original report stated that it was a caboose of a freight train which became derailed, but this was incorrect. A bent and weakened axle on one of the cars was the reason for the accident.

RURAL SCHOOL MEETINGS HELD IN ALL DISTRICTS
The annual statutory ratepayers' meetings for school purposes were held in the following districts on Saturday night in the respective school houses: Metchoin, Colwood, Langford, Happy Valley, Albert Head, Rocky Point, Goldstream and the Highlands.

The resolution asking for a sum of money to be voted as partial payment of a school master's salary was again moved with the following result: Colwood, carried unanimously; Happy Valley, carried unanimously; Langford, carried by vote of 19 to 14; Albert Head, meeting adjourned on account of lack of attendance; Goldstream, not yet known; Highlands, not yet known; Rocky Point, subject not discussed.

The attendance at Metchoin school having fallen off considerably, less than half the normal number being on the roll, only one teacher will be retained.

VANCOUVER TENNIS PLAYERS CHOSEN FOR DAVIS CUP TEAM
Toronto, July 14.—Leroy Rennie, Toronto; A. S. Milne and W. Richards, of Vancouver; Jack Wright, Willard Crocker, and E. H. Laframboise, of Montreal, have been chosen to play in the Davis Cup competition trials starting to-morrow.

Toronto, July 16.—W. Leroy Rennie, of Toronto, won the open singles tennis championship of Canada, defeating W. R. Richards, of Vancouver, in the final to-day. The game was commenced on Saturday, but rain stopped the play when Rennie had won two sets, 6-2, 6-3, and was leading by 4-3 in the third. Play had to be postponed till this morning. It was Richards' service, but Rennie won the game easily. He also took the second on his own service, winning the next 6-3 and the match 3-0. The other players were Rennie and E. Shipman, of Toronto, Milne and Crocker, and Wright, of Montreal, in the men's open doubles.

BRITISH PAPERS FEAR INTENTED REJECTION OF RUHR PROPOSAL
treaty with the German debt of 132,000,000 marks, as agreed upon by the Allies at the London conference and against any international financial committee to replace the reparations commission.

M. Poincare, his speech, said France had finished the making of concessions to Germany. She was engaged in temporizing with that country. The premier strongly urged, while carefully refraining from mentioning the speech of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, the British Foreign Secretary, in the House of Commons last week, is considered as the French Government's preliminary answer to the British position with regard to the occupation of the Ruhr.

M. Poincare chose for his pronouncement this town which marks the farthest advance of the German Premier based his conclusions on France's legal rights under the treaty "signed by 28 nations and which can not be considered after four years as 'antedejunctio fossil'."

"Has not," he asked, "Germany been so well looked after during these three years that she has been allowed to default on all her obligations so that we had to pay with our own money one hundred billion francs she owed us and has not paid? Has she not been allowed to rebuild her commercial fleet and develop her canals and railroads and enrich her great industries at the expense of her creditors?"

"For three years," he said, "the Allies have followed this mirage, and for three years things have gone from bad to worse. If we were not to slip into the abyss the dug, but we would have been empty handed, while now we hold security and we are powerful enough not to have to let go."

France, the Premier asserted, unceasingly had been making concessions. The reparations treaty had promised reparations and security. For security, France had been given "the right of temporary occupation on the Rhine that was to cease at the precise moment Germany should become stronger."

MINISTERS BACK, ENTHUSIASTIC OVER NORTHERN B. C.
of developing the mining and fishing industries."

"That country is a paradise from an agricultural and stock raising standpoint," Attorney-General Manson added. "The fishing there is wonderful. It beats anything I have ever seen. I have not been over the great enthusiasm for tourist traffic, but when the country gets opened up it will be one of the chief of our attractions. Why, bless my heart, we stood on one hill there not much higher than some of the little hills just north of Victoria, and from it we could see 47 lakes, and as for trout the lakes are just teeming with them."

Dr. Sutherland said that the Government is finishing the Fort-George and Queen and Malvern roads which will give tourists from the south access to this district.

Mr. Manson met Attorney-General Craig at Kelowna, Midway Green, at the week-end when the B. C. Ministerial Party was on its way south, and gave him all the information he could for the operations of the B. C. Liquor Act, which is apparently to be taken as a model by the Prairie Province in working out its new law.

Mr. Craig was pleased with what he saw of the liquor administration here, and said he thought it was a pretty well administered system.

There is much interesting developing in our pulp and timber resources in the north. Mr. Fairclough and I have found several parties cruising for spruce for pulp for paper manufacture on the islands. The Buckley Inlet, near the mouth of the Fraser, and Charlottes a mill to employ 1,500 men and turn out 200,000 feet of lumber a day. There is also a project to develop a sawmill at the mouth of the power for operating the mill at Skidegate Inlet.

With Mr. Pattullo, Dr. Sutherland made a survey of the road situation on the islands. Dr. Sutherland said that the Department is now working out a plan to connect up some of the main parts of the island in the north with the manufacturing part near the centre so that the agriculturalists will have a ready market for their produce.

The Ministers found a number of settlers on the islands and they all appeared to be well satisfied with the present state of affairs.

Dr. MacLean and Dr. King on their trip to the southern interior spoke at the irrigation convention at Penticton, Kelowna, Midway Green, Grand Forks and Roseland. At Trail they were given a luncheon and at Nelson a civic dinner attended by all the notables of the town, including Senator Green. They went over the new road from Grand Forks to Roseland, the link in the interprovincial system of roads, and returned. Dr. King has proceeded to Grandbrook before returning to the coast next week to meet President Harding.

Life memberships were given to seven members of the Vancouver Board of Trade, eight in number, at the last meeting of that body, as a token of respect and appreciation of service done by those members who had worked so hard and so long for British Columbia's interests. Edward White, of Victoria, was amongst those who received the life membership; other members were Campbell Sweeney, C. G. Johnson, J. W. McFarland, H. T. Ceperley, E. J. McKeel, and Douglas MacLennan.

About twenty boys left the city this morning for the Y. M. C. A. camp at Beaver Lake, there to spend a few weeks swimming, fishing, and enjoying a generally healthful and pleasant life. A few of the boys who have been staying at the camp for the past few weeks, returned to town this morning, and expressed their keen wish for nothing better than to return to the camp they so lately left, for a better place for a vacation could not well be found.

The members of the Majestic Council, No. 1513, Royal Arcanum, of Victoria, will give a dinner at the Elks' Club at 6 o'clock this evening in honor of D. J. McMillan, District Manager of the Royal Arcanum and E. J. Brandt, Grand Secretary of the Grand Jurisdiction of Washington and British Columbia. Dr. Wm. ## FIRST MEMORIAL TO BOTH BY ENGLISH

Central Figure of Anglo-Boer Struggle Honored By Admirers in Durban

Durban, South Africa, July 16.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)—The significance of the first Botha memorial being erected by the English-speaking residents of Durban and within a mile or two of the spot where the first shot was fired in the century-long Anglo-Boer struggle in which Botha was a central figure, was mentioned by Premier Smuts when he unveiled the statue of the late General Botha on Saturday. The unveiling occurred in the presence of the Governor-General, Prince Arthur of Connaught and many other prominent persons. Premier Smuts paid tribute to Botha as the chief architect of the Union and said it was because Botha wanted to remain true to his vision of a united South Africa, that in 1914 he fought against his own people, including many of his former comrades.

AUSTRALIAN PAPERS SUPPORT BALDWIN ON FRENCH POLICY

Melbourne, July 16.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)—Commenting on Premier Baldwin's speech dealing with the French policy in the Ruhr, The Melbourne Argus says the Premier's views are the views of the great body of public opinion throughout the empire. France has failed to prove that her methods are right, declares The Argus, and it is time somebody came to the rescue of Europe.

The Melbourne Age, supporting the British attitude, says Great Britain may offer France a guarantee of support against future German aggression, and that the United States may share in the guarantee.

KING AND QUEEN VISITED SCOTLAND

Holyrood Palace, Edinburgh, Was Their Headquarters Last Week

Duke and Duchess of York Accompanied Them

London, July 16.—King George and Queen Mary paid their annual trip to Scotland last week, taking up their residence in the famous Holyrood Palace in Edinburgh. The leaders of Scotland's famous clans gathered in the city for the occasion, and attended one of the courts, to be received by the King and the Queen with all the ceremony that marked the ancient gatherings of the clans before the time of James the First.

Several times during the week the King donned the kilts and plaid of the Stuart clan, of which he is leader, and he was escorted by the fully-kilted company of Life Guards. Out of respect to the Scottish lineage of the new Duchess of York, she and the Duke accompanied the monarchs, appearing with their Majesties on all occasions.

UNION MARKS END OF CHURCH STRIFE

New York Times Comments On Approaching Bond in Denominations in Canada

New York, July 16.—(Canadian Press)—The approaching organic union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches in Canada, is a striking illustration of the change from competition to co-operation in the religious field, says The New York Times in an editorial yesterday. After reviewing the history of the church union movement in the Dominion, The Times continues: "The tendency which the United Church of Canada exemplifies springs chiefly from two causes—the value of co-operation and the futility of perpetuating slight denominational differences in mission fields. In the past the newer far-flung settlements have often had to go without a supply of clergy while the older communities suffered a superfluity, and the heathen in his blindness has shown a marked inability to differentiate between the 57 varieties of religious experience exported for his benefit. The time when denominations become disorganized for hair-splitting reasons seems past."

CREWS SAVED AS STEAMERS COLLIDE IN NORTH SEA FOG

London, July 16.—Three steamers were in collision in the fog in the North Sea yesterday. Two of them were sunk, but their crews were rescued, and the third proceeded on her voyage in a damaged condition.

Owing to the heavy fog, the Swedish steamer Eldorado hove to and the Spanish steamer Begona crashed into her. While the two vessels were locked, the Eldorado's crew, numbering 18, climbed aboard the Begona and soon afterward the Eldorado went to the bottom.

Later the British steamer Sheridan, coming through the fog, hit the Begona amidship and as the latter began to fill, her boats were lowered and her own crew and that of the Eldorado's totalling 43 men, reached the shore. The captain of the British vessel sent a radio message to Yarmouth from which port tugs were despatched and took off the survivors.

Coupett was the only one of seven starters to fulfill the minimum requirement of 300 kilos.

The competition was limited to aeroplanes not exceeding 500 pounds in weight; they were required to ascend 500 metres within half an hour and cover 300 kilos with a maximum consumption of forty-four pounds of fuel and oil.

RADIATING out from our six great oil refineries are more than 1,300 bulk distributing stations entrusted with the responsibility for serving, adequately and economically, districts largely dependent upon them for petroleum products.

New units, as required, are constantly being added to round out this vast, well-knit distributing organization. Stations now under construction in the west and north answer the challenge of unclaimed tracts; throughout the grain-growing belt our stations rival in frequency the local elevators which dot the prairie; in the more densely settled east station after station is continually going up to meet the ever-growing demands for our products in these territories.

Imperial Oil bulk distributing stations constitute a dependable "service of supply" which alike benefits the dealer and the consumer.

WAIT FOR THE PLAN.

It may be somewhat premature to consider Premier Poincare's speech at Senlis yesterday in the nature of an advance reply and rejection to reparations proposals that Mr. Baldwin and his colleagues are considering for presentation to the Allies. And any French statement seems besides the mark when it charges that Great Britain no longer supports the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles.

IRRIGATION MEANS IMMIGRATION.

This year's convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association at Penticton has afforded the delegates an opportunity to examine at first hand what has been done in the Okanagan Valley since the Legislature voted a conservation appropriation to put the water supply on a satisfactory basis.

can be taken for granted that the greater body of public opinion will be found solidly behind any proposal that is intended to safeguard the welfare of the younger generation.

WE MUST HOLD THE TOURIST.

Victoria will derive the greatest benefit from the tourist when he can be induced to remain here for longer periods than seems to be the case at present. In many instances this year travellers who are leaving the warmer climate of California for more congenial conditions are hurrying through this port and British Columbia in general because they do not seem to have been sufficiently impressed with the opportunities for solid recreation that abound on Vancouver Island.

STILL AT HIS TRICKS.

How long will the Irish Free State put up with the activities of Mr. James Larkin? Only a short while ago he was released from an American prison and he is now the leading light in a strike of dockers which began in Free State ports this morning.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Roumania's Minister of Finance says that his country will pay her debts. This statement is of interest to Canada and is a pattern attitude that might be emulated by more of John Bull's debtors.

Toronto is to stage a "No-More-War" parade. If every town and village throughout the world would put one on about once a month there might be earlier hope for the League of Nations.

No doubt Premier Baldwin is all puffed up with excitement now that William Randolph Hearst declares that his statement in the House of Commons the other day expressed the moral sentiment of the world.

We are now informed that the German Government has admitted to the United States full liability for the sinking of the Lusitania. The world rendered its verdict on the seventh day of May in the year 1915. The perpetrator of the crime is a little more than eight years behind in its confession. It is, however, duly noted.

Britain's striking dockers got very little support from their own union. Its annual conference passed a resolution condemning the action of the rank and file the other day. One would think that the active union man would take care to do nothing calculated still further to decrease Trades Union membership generally.

It is not often that good work and unselfish service are recognized. One pleasing exception was the presentation of a gold watch to Mr. H. Despard Twigg on Saturday night by the members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

TAKING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Victoria has reason to feel gratified at the success which has attended the efforts of Canadian participants in the various international tournaments on the other side of the line. Mr. Phil Taylor succeeded in retaining for this Province the open golf championship for the Pacific Northwest. Mrs. Sweeney took care of the ladies' title and defended it successfully in the absence of Mrs. Hutchings who won it in comparatively easy style at Colwood last year.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

BECK AND DRURY. Kingston Standard—Sir Adam Beck is now in the right place to show Premier Drury that he does not owe his position and his salary to the Drury Government. As we said when the Premier made this wrong and uncalled for statement, Sir Adam would remain after Premier Drury had retired into private life.

BELIEVES SENATE PARTIZAN. Calgary Daily Herald—The action of the Senate in rejecting the bill of the House of Commons providing for extensions to the Canadian National Railways has aroused deep indignation throughout the country.

INTRINSIC CURRENCY VALUE. Halifax Chronicle—Money is only valuable in so far as the materials of which it is composed are valuable. With reference to it, all else depends on its currency; and its currency depends on the actual value which it represents in the security that lies behind it.

ORANGE LEADERS OF WORLD WILL MEET AT WINNIPEG

Big Men Coming From Ireland, England, Eastern Canada and U. S.

W. H. Hoey, 1002 Wharf Street, chosen as the Victoria representative of the Imperial Council of the Grand Orange Lodge of the World, Winnipeg, July 20, is now on his way East to attend the gathering.

Nearly every part of the British Empire will be represented at the gathering which will number many internationally known figures on its rolls. This is to be the first meeting of the Grand Orange Council in Canada West of the Great Lakes.

Owing to the political developments and the situation in Ireland, neither Lord Carson nor Sir James Craig, Premier of the Ulster Parliament, will be able to attend the council, though they previously had signified their intention of visiting Canada on this occasion.

Following are the representatives of the various countries and provinces of Canada who will head their respective delegations:

LAST "NON COM." OF NOBLE SIX HUNDRED

London, July 16.—Only one non-commissioned officer of the Noble Six Hundred of the famous Charge of the Light Brigade, is now living, and he has reached the advanced age of ninety-two.

He is Edwin Hughes, troop sergeant-major of the 13th Hussars, and is the only person now receiving aid from the Balaklava Fund, which was organized shortly after the Crimean War to support the widows and children of the non-commissioned officers, and to provide old age pensions for the officers.

Arise, Canada!

O Canada! Thy sons have died for thee. That thou for ever Freedom's home shouldst be. Where's thy "neath sea or sky, Thy mighty dead proclaim Thy loyalty to liberty. Thy glory and thy name, O Canada! O Canada! For these thy victors' path of death they tread. O Canada! Be true to them and God! O Canada! Arise now in thy might! Prove thyself true, and dare to do the right! Thy pledge was sealed that thou wouldst shield With generous care and kind, From want and fear, the loved ones dear. Thy saviours left behind, O Canada! O Canada! The world thy solemn pledge and promise made, O Canada! Prove faithful to thy word!

AWAIT DECISION OF UNITED STATES

Ten Thousand Cases, Yukon's Winter Supply, Awaiting Shipment

If the United States Government decides that liquor cannot go in bond through the American Yukon territory to the Canadian Yukon some ten thousand cases of liquor now lying at the Vancouver warehouses will have to be taken up the Alaskan river, necessitating a trip causing some several thousand more miles than would be really traversed if taken through the American route.

Shippers are at present awaiting the decision of the Government, but they feel that some leniency will be shown, owing to the extra cost it would mean to ship it the other way. It is the winter supply for the Canadian Yukon, consigned to Government stores there. The United States Government can not forbid the permission for its transfer in bond through Skagway. Under an existing international treaty the United States Government can not forbid the liquor going up the Alaskan river if carried on vessels other than United States registry.

CHARMING FUNCTION BENEFITS FUNDS OF THE NAVY LEAGUE

Fine Programme and Ideal Weather Make Lovely Spot Rendezvous Saturday

The Navy League Garden Party held on Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., drew a large and representative gathering in support of its popular objective.

Government House grounds, where, through the generosity of His Honor the Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nichol, the event was staged, seldom looked more beautiful than they do at present, and the clear July day with its refreshing breezes, offered ideal conditions under which the various diversions presented might be enjoyed.

Mrs. Nichol, who was accompanied by the Lieut.-Governor, Mr. H. J. S. Muskett, and Major Langley, president of the Navy League, was greeted on her appearance with the strains of the National Anthem, played by the Boys' Naval Brigade.

Mrs. Gordon Smith, bearing the standard of the Municipal Chapter, the very first of the afternoon, then presented to Mrs. Nichol by Major Langley, after which, in a charming little speech, she declared the function open.

In addition to the natural beauties to be enjoyed the conveners had arranged a diverse programme. In the ballroom a most excellent entertainment was presented under the direction of Paymaster Lieutenant J. O. Cossette, R.C.N. A pianoforte solo by F. O. Ford, R.C.N., opened the programme, followed by a song by Elec-Art 4 Greene, R. N., and a spirited selection on the banjo by the S. V. Hebbewithe, R.N., all thoroughly appreciated. Cadet Arthur White, of New Westminster, in costume, gave an amusing character song, and as encore executed a nigger brecken with impromptu accompaniment by a small dog of Mrs. Nichol's, who was forcibly repressed, much to the indignation of the audience's amusement.

Mrs. W. B. McDonagh and Miss Nora Jones, contributed two very charming solos, and clever recitations by Mrs. Nichol, Cossette and Sgt. Connelly, R.M.L.I. The famous local quartette from H.M.S. Curlew, gave a much appreciated item, "The Goodbye Chorus," by George and Elec-Art Greene, followed by "God Save the King," which brought the very fine programme to a successful conclusion.

In the grounds a variety of tuncful selections by the Boys' Naval Brigade Band added a note of gaiety to the scene, and those who wished to investigate the future were ably catered for by Mrs. Gilman, in the Summer house, who used the curds as a means of dining, while Mrs. Leonard interpreted the tea cups, and Mrs. Ted Castle the palms of many anxious enquirers for happiness.

Under the shady trees the five principal chapters of the local I.O.D.E., the Camosun, Florence Nightingale, Navy League, Lady Douglas and the Victoria Chapter, shared the responsibility for the delicious tea and refreshments, while ice cream, in charge of Mrs. McTavish and Mrs. Sieman, of the Esquimalt Chapter, and a candy stall, under the direction of Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Morley, of the Lady Alderson Chapter, catered for the needs of the younger visitors.

The undertaking, which was a brilliant social success as well as financially satisfactory, to the extent of about $250.

RECOGNIZE SERVICE.

In recognition of his sterling services on behalf of the returned men in the disability and pension struggle, H. Despard Twigg, commander of the Victoria Post, Canadian Legion, was presented with a gold watch by that unit on Saturday evening, the presentation, preceded by an enthusiastic reception, was made at the smoker held by the Legion to members of the crews of H.M.S. Sieman, of the Esquimalt Chapter, Mayor Hayward opened the meeting, Messrs. W. Galt, G. Potter, W. Handley, S. G. Hunt, A. Hughes, W. G. Cobbett, R. B. Gill, W. Young, presided an excellent programme in which the sailor guests took a generous part. Mrs. E. J. Harris played the accompaniments.

"Mary refused to marry you, then? Fancy that! Why didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?"

"I did."

"Didn't that make any difference?"

"Oh, yes! Mary's my aunt now."

Dr. Tillman Briggs, of Comox, was visiting in Victoria for a few days as the guest of his mother, Mrs. Minna Briggs, South Turner Street.

Captain Wray Johnston, M. C., left Victoria at the week-end for the Mainland and is spending a few days in Vancouver before returning to his home in Manitoba.

Mrs. Emily Richards, with her young daughter, Muriel Richards, left yesterday for Seattle to spend the week-end, Mr. F. W. Richards, of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Egan Hanbury (nee Ince Gonnason) have returned from a honeymoon spent motoring in California, and are resident in their apartment on Quadra Street.

Sir Frank and Lady Barnard and Mrs. Justice and Mrs. Eberts were the guests of Captain and Mrs. J. W. Langham, yesterday on a trip to Belingham.

Mrs. Frank Allwood, who is holiday making this week, Mrs. Fred Bellby, who has been staying at Deep Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Allardyce, whose marriage took place in Vancouver on Thursday, were in Victoria during the week-end, and on Saturday morning, when they will spend their honeymoon.

Senator R. F. and Mrs. Green, of Trenton, who have been visiting in their old home town, Kaslo, on their return from Ottawa, are guests at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Hartin, 896 Vernon Street, Nanaimo.

The Victoria Women's Institute will hold a sewing meeting every Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. All members are asked to endeavor to be present. Members also will have a home cooking sale in Spence's next Saturday morning. Kindly leave donations at rooms or Hawkins and Hayward's, on Friday afternoon, or before 10 a.m. on Saturday.

The Step-Out Pillow

One of the prettiest of modern touches to a woman's bedroom, or a guest-room where a woman is to sleep, is the "step-out" pillow—a long, narrow cushion of softest silk or satin, upon which the soles of the feet may rest before being thrust into the bath-tubs which wait at the foot of the bed.

No matter how deep and fleecy the rug on the bedroom floor, or the bedside mat which often takes the place of the one large rug, it gives a dusty woman a particularly luxurious feeling to be able to swing her feet out upon a smooth pillow. Such a step-out pillow is a decorative addition to the room as well.

To be most effective, this bedside cushion should be of plain material, and not figured, although I recently saw a striped pillow in French blue and sage green silk, with a line of gold tassels to match the hangings of the room. The plain silk or satin (the latter is a little pleasanter to the touch) is somewhat more appropriate for the bare feet just as one would not want to lay one's head for the night upon a much-buffered pillow.

This pillow should match the coloring, not only of the room itself, but of the bed drapery. In the sketch shown, the coverlet is one of simple corn-colored silk, shirred in soft blue and with scallops of the blue around the bottom. The over-curtains at the windows are of corn-colored silk, buttoned in blue, and the chair cushions and the upholstery of a great wing chair, which is out of sight, are in flowered silk showing blue, corn-color, and green, with touches of heliotrope. The rug is a deep, plain blue.

In this room the pillow is of a deeper yellow than the corn-color, (as selling less quickly), and it is shirred, and button-holed, in blue, with blue tassels at the ends. It makes a charming adjunct to a very attractive sleeping room.

MRS. PANKHURST OF NEW CRUSADE

Will Speak Through Northern Ontario in Thirty Towns

Toronto, July 16.—Accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, president of the Ottawa Women's Club, and Miss Estelle Hewson, provincial secretary of the Ontario Social Hygiene Council, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leaves Toronto to-day by motor for a month's speaking tour in remote parts of Northern Ontario. Over fifteen hundred miles of territory between Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie will be covered. Manitoulin Island will be visited. The three motor missionaries will hold meetings in thirty towns, besides distributing much literature on social hygiene along the route.

Backed by the Social Hygiene Council, the Provincial Department of Public Health, and the Women's Institutes, the Pankhurst party expects a live trip. Where meetings have not been arranged open-air meetings will be addressed by the famous English suffragette and her companions.

Always a leader, Emmeline Pankhurst is again on a crusade. Since the war she has become a Canadian citizen. She now resides in Toronto, where, with her daughter Christabel and the four orphaned girls they have adopted, she has established a permanent home. She has a great vision for Canada.

Known to many merely in her capacity as a warrior for votes for women, her history shows a progressive, logical development. Always an unusually far sighted, acute minded, eloquent and courageous woman she fought for the vote only after all constitutional means had failed. She was already a great figure in the social and political life of her native city of Manchester, where she was a special advocate for the masses, an inspired democrat, a preacher of social and political purity.

Once a member of the British Labor Party, then an uncompromising crusader for votes for women, she became on the outbreak of war, a full-blooded, active patriot. Votes were forgotten, while Emmeline Pankhurst tackled the problem of mobilization of armies of women workers to meet Britain's industrial needs. Her services were offered to the Government. She it was who first suggested and later aided in the establishment of training schools for munition workers. She helped to talk the "land army" of women into existence. She found labor strikes and German propaganda. After the war she was sent to Russia to report on the Bolsheviks. She has never shirked hard jobs and now she has a new one.

A strong companion in arms is the second member of the party, Mrs. R. A. Kennedy, wife of Dr. Kennedy of Ottawa. Mrs. Kennedy as well as the doctor served in British hospitals during the war. At the wheel of the motor and in charge of the arrangements will be Miss Estelle Hewson. Miss Hewson is a notable organizer. She has had a lot to do with the establishment of many of the fourteen Social Hygiene Councils in Ontario.

The executive of the Victoria Welsh Society decided at a meeting to hold a fancy work and rummage sale in the near future. The date will be announced later. Mrs. McRae was asked to take charge of the collecting of clothing, books, shoes and fancy work. Donors are asked to leave their gifts with Mrs. McRae, 1214 Quadra Street, as soon as possible. The proceeds are to go to swell the Society's funds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. J. Allardyce, whose marriage took place in Vancouver on Thursday, were in Victoria during the week-end, and on Saturday morning, when they will spend their honeymoon.

Senator R. F. and Mrs. Green, of Trenton, who have been visiting in their old home town, Kaslo, on their return from Ottawa, are guests at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Hartin, 896 Vernon Street, Nanaimo.

The Sandman Story For To-night

THE WINTER MR. BEAR FORGOT HIS BEDDING

Mr. Bear was not very old if he had been he would not have made the mistake he did once upon a time.

Mr. Bear was a young bachelor. His mother had warned him he should take a wife that Spring but Mr. Bear had said he wanted some fun and did not wish to be burdened with a wife tagging after him.

"You will be sorry when it comes Winter," his mother told him, "it is lonesome living alone and then you will need someone to look after making your Winter bed. Take my advice and find a mate."

But no, Mr. Bear would not do this. Instead he trotted off to another part of the forest to live where his mother could not nag him about getting married.

He did have a jolly time all the Spring and Summer. Nobody to ask him where he was going, or when he was coming back, or eating all the honey he found and not having to share it with anyone! Then berries and juicy ears of corn and later wild grapes and acorns. Oh, how foolish he would have been, he thought, if he had listened to his mother and taken a mate. Now he could sleep as well as he liked, and in the morning get up or stay in bed just as he liked. Yes, indeed, the life of a jolly bachelor for him, was what Mr. Bear had wanted.

The Fall had been nice and sunny, so warm that it was late when Mr. Bear crept inside his house for his Winter sleep.

He did not stop up the cracks or openings to his house for the snow when it came would do that, he remembered his father had said. But what he did not know was that his mother always provided plenty of dry leaves and grass.

Mr. Bear had not chosen his home wisely, either, for it was in a location where the cold north wind would whistle through all the openings if the snow did not come and close them.

But these things did not bother Mr. Bear, then, for he was very fat when he went to bed, and it was warm enough in his house. So he gave a few grunts and snuggled himself up for a good long sleep.

He slept for a long time. It was past the time for the first snow, but it had not come. And poor Mr. Bear awoke and shivered, then he sneezed. He rolled himself up tighter, but it was no use; he was cold.

Without opening his eyes he began to feel for more bed coverings—there were none. He had not thought of bed coverings when he went to sleep.

The wind whistled and shrieked about his house and through it as well. Mr. Bear could feel it blowing his fur and he was not as fat as he was when he crept into bed. He would have to get up and get more bedding, that was certain.

Poor Mr. Bear crept out of his house and began to hunt. It was a desolate looking place outside, no green leaves or grass, only dry twigs and bits of grass tufts and dead leaves.

He worked a long time before he had enough to make his bed comfortable and when at last he crept back he had decided that his mother knew more about what he needed than he did. "The very first thing I do in the Spring," said Mr. Bear as he pulled his bedding around him, "is to find some nice Miss Bruin and ask her to be my mate. This bachelor life is all right in the Spring and Summer time, but when it comes Winter and the house needs looking after a fellow needs a wife—mother was right."

Cableship Restorer Will Complete Work At Midway Island

Discovered Channel Through Coral Reefs on Last Visit to Station—Vessel Will Leave for San Francisco on August 20 to Transfer Cable Line and Will Then Proceed to Midway

Leaving here about August 20, the cableship Restorer, Captain V. Sparks, will sail for San Francisco, where she will transfer submarine cable from an English vessel which is bringing the cable out from the Old Country, prior to her departure to Midway Island, where she will complete work which she started in a temporary manner in connection with the laying of a new section of the cable to the station.

While at Midway during the Spring of this year the Restorer discovered a new channel through the coral reefs which surround the island. On discovery of this new channel, which was found to be a preventive against the friction of the cable on the coral reefs, temporary cable was laid through the channel.

It is for the purpose of permanently joining the cable ends with the station that the Restorer is going to Midway after taking on the cable line at San Francisco.

Valuable Discovery. This discovery of the new channel is a valuable one to the Pacific Cable Board, which has encountered much difficulty at this section of the line. The friction of the cable on the coral reefs has necessitated much repair work there, but it is thought that with the laying of a permanent line through the channel less repair work will have to be done.

Out of Drydock. The Restorer is at present laying alongside Tarrons wharf at Esquimalt. She has just completed repairs and was in drydock for the past nine days, where she had her underworks inspected, propellers taken off and impellers given general repairs and a new coat of paint. The vessel was floated again on Friday, and it was intimated that Capt. V. Sparks would be master on this trip to Midway Island, while Capt. Basil Combe, who has only just recovered from a severe illness, is recuperating. The vessel will move to Vancouver before going south to take on the cable line.

It has not yet been ascertained which boat has the cable line for the Restorer, but it was intimated that it was a vessel which was not proceeding further north than San Francisco. This leads to the belief that it might be the Harrison-Direct steamer Centurion which left for this coast from

NAVAL COMMANDER ADDRESSES GYROS

H. M. S. Curlew Representative Gave Interesting Talk On "Naval Diving"

The guests of honor at the Gyro luncheon at the Hudson's Bay Company cafe to-day, were from H.M.S. Curlew and the Naval Barracks at Esquimalt.

"Naval diving" was the very interesting topic of Commander H. M. S. Curlew's address. Captain Holbrook was unable to attend, owing to the many engagements he has in the city.

"Diving," said the speaker, "has been carried out in the Navy in fairly deep water for a good many years, but it is only very recently that it has been done with any amount of safety."

"The trials of the diver are many," according to the speaker's statements, particularly the dressing of the man. Under water, too, the diver has a good many dangers, which he must encounter.

"Dangers to a diver are often very much exaggerated. Sharks, as a rule, are not in the least to be worried about by a diver. They are frightened of the bubbles and the strange creature in the rubber suit.

Marie McLaughlin, well-known singer of this city, gave the club members two solos, which were much enjoyed. The Gyro Club Orchestra also favored the company with several selections.

SOLID FOUNDATION OF EDUCATION IS NEED OF TO-DAY

Dr. A. O. MacRae Arrives to Take Over University School

"Scholarship, leadership and the cultured refinement of fine character are recognized as the end and aim of true education, and these have been guide posts for my work during my career as an educational head, and these I shall follow here," said Dr. A. O. MacRae, the new principal of the University School, who has just arrived in Victoria.

In an interview with the Times to-day, Dr. MacRae expressed his delight with all he had seen on the way to the Coast. "Never has the western country looked better because of the great precipitation this year," he observed.

"The stamped held at Calgary this year in connection with the exhibition was finished on Saturday last," said Dr. MacRae, "and it is the most comprehensive representation of the life of the pioneer on the far-flung frontiers in the early days, and the cowboy career in the wide spread ranches has ever been seen in the Canadian West."

"What about the coming vote on prohibition?" queried The Times representative. "From what I can learn, after talking with those who know the conditions well among the farmers, heretofore the greatest supporters of the drys, I should not be at all surprised to find a strong Government Control. The people in the cities and towns are divided. In the country, it is said, the farmer men will vote for Government control, but the wives and daughters will stick by prohibition."

When questioned regarding his new position, Dr. MacRae declared himself enthusiastic about Victoria for residential schools, but he firmly holds that it is only possible to build up such an institution by a reputation for thoroughness and high scholastic standing. In this connection he referred to the college from which he came. When it was started in 1882, it was the only school in the province that was a boarding school. There was nothing else to make the institution attractive in the beginning.

"The same policy will govern the University School," added the Doctor. "Scholarship, leadership and the cultured refinement of fine character are recognized as the end and aim of true education, and these have been guide posts for my work during my career as an educational head, and these I shall follow here," said Dr. MacRae, "and it is the most comprehensive representation of the life of the pioneer on the far-flung frontiers in the early days, and the cowboy career in the wide spread ranches has ever been seen in the Canadian West."

"If this line is torn up it will be the biggest black eye the Peninsula has ever received," said Edward Board of Trade.

Mr. Goward intimated that it was hopeless to expect that the company would agree to extend the interurban line to Sidney so as to secure Sidney business and passengers from the American ferry.

Mr. Cross replied that the Chamber of Commerce, in urging the Canadian National to extend its island lines, had been thinking more of freight than of passengers.

Mr. Goward intimated that it was hopeless to expect that the company would agree to extend the interurban line to Sidney so as to secure Sidney business and passengers from the American ferry.

Mr. Cross remarked that Saanich Municipality seemed to be bearing a large part of the interurban line through the cost of keeping roads up for motor buses.

Those present at to-day's conference were: C. T. Cross, J. C. Pennington, J. W. Spencer, of the Chamber of Commerce, Aldermen George Sangster and Tom of the City Council, Edward Blackburn, president, and W. H. Davies secretary of the Sidney Board of Trade.

ATTACKS REPEAL OF MULLEN-GAGE ACT

Rev. Dr. Davies Preaches on Prohibition Enforcement in the United States

The repeal of the Mullen Gage Act in New York State, which removes from state officers responsibility for enforcement of the Prohibition Amendment of the United States Constitution, was vigorously attacked by Rev. Dr. Davies, D.D., in an address delivered at Centennial Church last evening.

Dr. Davies was criticizing the opponents of prohibition in the United States, in the course of an interesting statement on prohibition as he found it during his long pastoral residence there.

He declared: "The verdict rendered recently by New York against prohibition is not the verdict of the nation. It is the verdict of a party, the absence of genuine democracy, the prevalence of factional rule, and of racial and religious antipathies against the moral liability to the republic in New York ignorance is too often a passport to political power and insouciance a presumption right of seekers to preferment."

Dr. Davies won applause when he depicted the opinions of superficial observers on American enforcement of prohibition by British writers like G. K. Chesterton and Mrs. Margot Asquith.

"Social cohesion and goodwill in the United States," he said, "are at present none too prosperous, and they may congratulate themselves that on the top of that they are no longer pursued by the difficulties of a legalized drink traffic which neither fears God nor regards man."

operating losses eliminated the company could save some $36,000 a year, he said.

Loss of $36,000 a Year. "I don't think we can expect the company to shoulder this burden of $36,000 a year, however much local opinion might want to keep the line open," Mr. Goward warned.

Mr. Goward explained that various bus services and sightseeing cars were taking passengers who otherwise would travel on the interurban cars. At many points, he said, it was impossible for two transportation systems to operate successfully.

Motor Bus Competition. Reeve Watson, of Saanich, explained that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to stop motor-buses running in Saanich. If they could run in unorganized districts on the Peninsula, they could run through Saanich, he said. He would regret keenly any interruption in the interurban services.

Mr. Goward warned the conference that it was useless for public bodies to ask railway companies to extend their lines on the island if these lines were to be run on the interurban line. Railway companies helped to develop a district, and then when roads were built, automobiles took all the business.

Mr. Cross replied that the Chamber of Commerce, in urging the Canadian National to extend its island lines, had been thinking more of freight than of passengers.

"What a Wife Learned" Title of Vehicle for J. Bowers, M. Sills, and Fine Cast

Women have been "panned" so consistently in recent literature and on the screen that it looks as if active warfare had been declared on "the modern woman" and all her ways.

Long skirts have switched popular discussion from the jazz flapper to her slightly more mature sister who has entered the bonds of matrimony.

The younger set are being allowed to go their way in peace, while everyone is concentrating conversation on the married women, their shortcomings, and especially the yearning which they have sprouted in the twentieth century to pursue a career outside their home interests.

Dozens of the latest "best-sellers" on the book dealers' shelves are concerned with the difficulties and intricacies of twentieth century marriage, especially the complexities that arise when a woman is ambitious enough to want to carry on some work in addition to home-making.

Thomas H. Ince has contributed the latest, a feature picture dealing with the "new woman," which is the attraction at the Royal all this week. It is "What a Wife Learned," a powerful love story that has been told from an angle as original as it is startling. It is not a preachment or a sex story. It is big entertainment.

When a woman of the East to whom "life spells career in large letters" falls in love with a primitive westerner and marries him, when he promises never in any way to interfere with her wish to write, things begin to happen at once. Against a shifting background which gives glimpses of life on the two coasts, a story, tensely emotional, tremendously gripping, has been told.

The conflict which inevitably comes when the wife writes a best-seller and goes to the city to collaborate with a playwright in its dramatization works out to a mighty conflict. In the end, when she sees her husband struggling for his life in flood waters that have swept down from a broken dam, the woman fore-swears everything but the love which she recognizes is the greatest thing in the world.

"BILLETED" AT

Compton Players Stage London War Success; Comedy Rife With Laughter

"Billeted" was produced in London at the Royalty Theatre during the war and the action takes place during that time of stress, but it cannot in any way be considered a war play. It is a thoroughly amusing comedy and depicts the complications arising through the billeting of a husband at his wife's home, the couple having previously been separated. What possibilities lie behind the idea may easily be imagined, especially when the husband arrives just after his wife, in order that she may be looked upon as a real widow, has announced that he is dead. Miss Peggy Dundas will be the flighty young wife, a role in which she will be seen to every advantage. Mr. Compton will play the role of the husband, Miss Agnes Burton, Herbert Leslie and George Durham and Miss Belle Eilers will be seen in parts well suited for them.

"Billeted" should prove a very popular choice of vehicle for the Compton Players.

One way to make Summer weather enjoyable is to fill the Winter coal bin early.

"THE GO-GETTER"
CAPITOL ATTRACTION

Movie Dog Ran Off With Blue Vase and Expenses Piled Up

As a rule it takes more than a little thing to halt the making of a motion picture. Nevertheless the production of "The Go-Getter," a Paramount-Cosmopolitan picturization of the popular Peter B. Kyne story of the same name, which will be on view at the Capitol Theatre all this week, was held up for almost an hour recently while Director E. H. Griffith, T. Roy Barnes and several Cosmopolitan employees searched high and low for a cheap little blue vase.

The halt in the filming of the picture followed immediately after the appearance of Barnes on the "set." When Director Griffith called him, Barnes said that he couldn't find the vase, which he had left under a table during the lunch hour. A hurried search was instituted which lasted almost an hour without results. Then one of the property men saw "Jawn," a dog, which plays a big part in the picture, jump out from behind a partition in a far corner of the studio. Further investigation revealed the fact that "Jawn" had dragged the vase away while the members of the company were at luncheon.

The blue vase is the most important "prop" in "The Go-Getter" and while the members of the company, its importance is evidenced by the fact that Barnes carries it with him during the most dramatic scenes, including a thrilling aeroplane flight and the flugging at night of a speeding express train. The vase accompanied the company on every location from New York to Long Island and Baltimore, and members of the company came to regard it as a charm as potent as a rabbit foot. T. Roy Barnes, Seena Owen, William Morris, Tom Lewis and Louis Wolheim are featured in "The Go-Getter." The cast also includes such prominent players as Frederick Santley, John Carr, Frank Currier and several other well known artists.

"THE FAST MAIL"
BROUGHT GOLD

Lincoln Carter's First Play Brought Him Luck; Show-at Columbia

"It never rains, but it pours," and Lincoln J. Carter, who wrote among other successes "The Fast Mail," is glad that it is so. Rain laid the foundation for the Carter fortune and made it possible for the playwright to retire to a place he has chosen on the Elkhart River, near Goshen, Ind., dabbles in horticulture.

Recently Mr. Carter left his flow-ers and the Elkhart River and came on to New York to see how his old play, "The Fast Mail," which William Fox has made into a photomelodrama, looked on the screen. The thriller was playing at the Strand Theatre on Broadway.

"I just wanted to see how the melodrama of today," he said, "compared with those of twenty and twenty-five years ago." While in a reminiscent mood, Mr. Carter told how he came to write "The Fast Mail," his first play. This picture will be shown at the Columbia Theatre commencing to-day.

"I wrote it in a hall bedroom on a washstand under a coal oil lamp," he said, "and I was just nineteen years old. I wrote it because for three weeks I had not received any salary from the theatrical company I was travelling with as property boy, and I decided I would write and produce a play of my own."

Mr. Carter called his mother in to read it to her. She was the Martha in Lewis Morrison's "Faust." When he heard her snoring along about the second act, he left the room in disgust. Then he read it to Lewis Morrison, and offered him a half share for $700. Morrison thought it might do, but didn't think so enough to invest $700.

Finally Carter decided he would try and put it on himself. He painted all the scenery at his home, and printed all the paper in the cellar of his house. Then he induced the manager of Havlin's Theatre, Chicago, to give him a week. The manager gave him the week of June 3, about the worst in the year, with all the ball games going, the parks all open, and every out-door amusement in full blast. But the Sunday the play opened it rained, and drove every one seeking amusements into the theatres. "The Fast Mail" did $1,000 on that day, which would have been big for the week under ordinary conditions. It was a hit.

The next two days it rained and they did $1,000 more. That settled it. This rain put Carter on his feet, and that season he cleared up $25,000 on the play that Lewis Morrison had refused to invest $700 in. "I made about a quarter of a million dollars altogether with 'The Fast Mail,'" said the playwright mildly, "and I think Mr. Morrison regretted very much that he had failed to come across with $700."

since that rainy week nearly thirty years ago. "And if it hadn't rained," he said, "I probably would have become a first-class motorman or something like it."

HE COULDN'T HEAR. While his mother was entertaining visitors, Johnny Brown found his way into the bathroom and, to amuse himself, turned on the water.

Mrs. Brown, upon hearing the noise, went upstairs, and when she appeared at the room in question found the bath overflowing with water. She reprimanded him for his action, saying, "Johnny, didn't a little voice inside of you tell you that you were doing wrong?" "Yes, mother," replied Johnny, "but the water made so much noise I couldn't hear it."

PANTAGES TO RUN THE ENTIRE WEEK

Commencing Tuesday, Local
Theatre Has Attractive
Offerings

On Friday and Saturday of this week at the Pantages Theatre, Hamilton Douglas, an old Victoria boy, will present his famous jazz band and dancing troupe to local audiences. This act is billed as a show of infinite variety and merit, and undoubtedly the Pantages has an offering which will awaken interest and amusement here, as it has done elsewhere, particularly as the leader of this excellent aggregation is himself a Victorian. There are over twenty artists connected with this act, and all are capable in every way.

The ordinary Pantages road show will be at the theatre from Tuesday to Thursday inclusive, and has for the feature attraction the Jack Powell Sextette. Their latest success, "Watch the Drums," will be offered by this gathering of instrumentalists, and promises to be a most pleasing musical hit. All manner of instruments are brought to the fore in this act, played with remarkable talent and with novel effect.

Roy and Arthur, two favorites on the comic stage, are prominent in a novelty act, "In China." Their performance is pure comedy, filled from start to finish with the greatest number of laughs that has ever been brought here for the purpose of making an audience happy. "Nutological Musigirl" is an act comprised of dancing and features, with Ed Foley and Lea Leture doing the work.

A playlet, entitled "The Pup," is to be presented by Alfred Latel and Elsie Vokes. This is an animal act and should prove very pleasing. George and Harry Sylvester present an interesting act, naming it "The Hucklester and the Actor." Two strange old workmen, the Winton Brothers, promise something new and attractive in their athletic presentation, "On Time."

"THE CHANGELINGS" FEATURED AT ROYAL

Unusual Cast in Unique
Comedy Under Henry
Miller Banner

Unusual interest attaches to the announcement that Henry Miller will present "The Changelings" at the Royal Victoria Theatre for two performances Monday and Tuesday evening of next week. "The Changelings" is described briefly as a new American comedy, with a universal theme. Lee Wilson Dodd, its author, attributes his inspiration to Talleyrand, statesman, philosopher, cynic, who summed up his studies of the world and its affairs in the cryptic epigram, "Plus ça change, plus c'est la meme chose." Henry Miller, in staging the play, assembled a rare cast of established favorites, truly worthy of the over-worked phrase "all star." The cast which will be seen here intact, in addition to Henry Miller himself, includes Blanche Bates, Ruth Chatterton, Laura Hope Crews, John Miltern, Felix Krembs, Geoffrey Kerr, Elmer Brown and Walter Baldwin.

High hats have returned to popularity in France and the worst is feared.

MUSIC LOVERS' NIGHT AT ROYAL

Music Lovers' night which will be again presented at the Royal to-night is becoming more popular after each programme. Some of the attractions to be rendered this evening in connection with the feature attraction, "What a Wife Learned," are as follows:

Selection—"Gondoliers" Arthur Sullivan
Selection—"Wildflower" Youmans
Song—"Just for To-night" McDonald

Confidence is seldom lost, but often sadly misplaced.

EXPLAINED.

They were discussing the annual dinner of the local antiquarian society.
"Gentlemen," said the chairman, "this year I am pleased to announce that we shall have a change of menu. A member has promised us a magnificent swan, and, as you are aware, swan makes an excellent dish."
The announcement was received with applause, and in due course the swan arrived and was prepared and sent to table. But, despite the herculean efforts of the society's carver, the bird defied the sharpest steel.

A few days afterwards the chairman met the donor of the swan.
"That was a nice trick you played on us," he said, bitterly. "We couldn't carve your swan, let alone eat it!"
"Good Heavens!" said the donor, "you don't mean to say you tried to eat it?—I sent that bird to be stuffed and preserved by the club as a curiosity. It has been in our family for fifty years."

A Scotsman and his wife attended a church sale of work. They felt hungry, and speculated as to the cost of a meal.
The husband noticed a card hanging from a door bearing the words, "Lunches from 1 to 3, 1s. 6d."
"Look, Maggie," he said, "we'll have awa' in here. Twa 'coors o' eatin' for eightpence is nae bad."

HOLLYWOOD RANCH WAS TARTAR VILLAGE

Dominion Showing Transition of Rumanian Life to California Desert

It needed twelve hundred acres to produce "The Law of the Lawless!" Just across the hills from Hollywood lies the Lasky ranch, scene of many motion pictures. It was chosen because within its confines are to be found almost every type of scenery in the vicinity of Los Angeles—hills, small forests, broad pastures, a small river and swamps. The Lasky ranch measures twelve hundred acres and Director Victor Fleming filmed every acre of the twelve hundred in the making of "The Law of the Lawless," Dorothy Dalton's new Paramount star picture now on view at the Dominion Theatre.

The story marks the American debut of Charles de Roche, a French screen actor. It is a tale of life of the nomad tribes of the Dobruja, a district in Rumania.

Almost every stage setting in the picture requires ample room and practically all of them are exterior. So the company—Director Fleming, Dorothy Dalton, Theodore Kosloff, Charles de Roche, Tully Marshall, Margaret Loomis, Fred Hunter and the staff—practically transferred its headquarters to the ranch. Here's a picture that reaches out to a hitherto unscreened corner of the world for its oddly fascinating background of Tartar village and Gypsy camp.

The Romance of Mother Earth

The Catastrophe of 1914
United States Expansion.

When we turn from these European great powers, with their inheritance of foreign offices and national policies, to the United States of America, which broke away completely from the great power system in 1776, we find a most interesting contrast in the operation of the forces which produced the expansive imperialism of Europe. For America as for Europe the mechanical revolution had brought all the world within the range of a few days' journey.

The United States, like the great powers, had world-wide financial and mercantile interest; a great industrialism had grown up and was in need of overseas markets; the same crisis of belief that had shaken the moral solidarity of Europe had occurred in the American world. Her people were as patriotic and spirited as any.

Why, then, did not the United States develop armaments and an aggressive policy? Why was not the Stars and Stripes waving over Mexico? And why was there not a new Indian system growing up in China under that flag? It was the American who had opened up Japan. After doing so he had let that power Europeanize itself and become formidable, without a protest. That alone was enough to make Machiavelli, the father of modern foreign policy, turn in his grave.

A Europeanized great power had been in the place of the United States. Great Britain would have had to fortify the Canadian frontier from end to end—it is now absolutely unarmed—and to maintain a great arsenal on the St. Lawrence. All the divided states of Central and South America would long since have been subjugated and placed under the disciplinary control of the United States officials of the "civilized class." There would have been a perpetual campaign to Americanize Australia and New Zealand and yet another claimant for a share in tropical Africa.

And by an odd accident America had produced in President Roosevelt (President 1897-1901) a man of energy as restless as the German Kaiser's, as eager for large achievements, as florid and eloquent, an adventurous man with a turn for world politics and an instinct for armaments, the very man, we might imagine, to have involved his country in the scramble for overseas possession.

Fundamental Differences.
There does not appear to be any other explanation of this general restraint and abstinence on the part of the United States except in their fundamentally different institutions and traditions.

In the first place the United States government has no foreign office and no diplomatic corps of the European type, no body of "experts" to maintain the tradition of an aggressive policy. The President has great powers, but they are subject to the control of the Senate, which again is responsible to the State legislatures and the people. The foreign relations of the country are thus under open and public control. Secret treaties are impossible under such a system. The American powers complain of the difficulty and uncertainty of "understandings" with the United States, a very excellent state of affairs. The United States is constitutionally incapacitated, therefore, from the kind of foreign policy that has kept Europe for so long constantly on the verge of war.

And, secondly, there has hitherto existed in the States no organization for and no tradition of what one may call non-assimilable possessions. Where there is no crown there cannot be crown colonies. In spreading across the American continent, the United States had developed a quite distinctive method of dealing with new territories admirably adapted for unsettled lands, but very inconvenient for a freely to areas already containing an alien population. This method was based on the idea that there should be a permanent subject people. The first stage of the ordinary process of assimilation had been the creation of a "territory" under the federal government, having a considerable measure of self-government, sending a delegate, who could not vote, to Congress, and destined in the natural course of things, as the country became settled and population increased, to flower at last into full statehood.

This had been the process of development of all the latter States of the Union; the latest territories to become States being Arizona and New Mexico in 1910. The frozen wilderness of Alaska, bought from Russia, remained politically undeveloped simply because it had an insufficient population for State organization.

As the annexations of Germany and Great Britain in the Pacific threatened to deprive the United States navy of coaling stations in that ocean, a part of the Samoan Islands (1899) and the Sandwich Islands (Hawaii) were annexed (1898). Here for the first time the United States had real subject populations to deal with.

But in the absence of any class comparable to the Anglo-Indian officials who sway British opinion, the American procedure followed the territorial method. Every effort was made to bring the educational standards of Hawaii up to the American level, and a domestic legislature on the territorial pattern was organized so that these dusky islanders seem destined ultimately to obtain full United States citizenship. (The small Samoan Islands are under care of by a United States naval administrator.)

The Venezuela Controversy.
In 1895 occurred a quarrel between the United States and Britain upon the subject of Venezuela, and that controversy was approached stoutly by President Cleveland. Then Mr. Olney made this remarkable declaration: "To-day the United States is practically sovereign on land over that continent and the future seems to point to gradual development of interstate organization, a Pax Americana of the English-speaking and the Spanish-speaking peoples, the former in the role of elder brother. Here is something we cannot even call an empire, something going far beyond the great alliance of the British Empire in the open equality of its constituent parts."

Consistently with the idea of a common American welfare, the United States in 1898 intervened in the affairs of Cuba, which had been in a state of chronic insurrection against Spain for many years. A brief war ended in the acquisition of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands. Cuba is now an independent self-governing republic. Porto Rico and the Philippines have, however, a special sort of government, with a popularly elected lower house and an upper body containing members appointed by the United States Senate.

It is improbable that either Porto Rico or the Philippines will become States in the Union. They are much more likely to become free states in some comprehensive alliance with the English-speaking and Latin American.

Both Cuba and Porto Rico welcomed the American intervention in their affairs, but in the Philippine Islands there was a demand for complete and immediate freedom after the Spanish War, and a considerable resistance to the American military administration. There was sympathy with the insurgents in the States. Here is the point of view of ex-President Roosevelt as he wrote it in his autobiography (1913):

As regards the Philippines, my belief was that we should train them for self-government as rapidly as possible, and then leave them free to decide their own fate. I did not believe in setting the time limit within which we would give independence, because I did not believe it wise to try to force how soon they would be fit for self-government; and once having made the promise, I would have felt that it was imperative to keep it.

"Within a few months of my assuming office we had stamped out the last armed resistance in the Philippines that was not of merely sporadic character; and as soon as peace was secured, we turned our energies to developing the islands in the interests of the natives. We established schools everywhere, we built roads; we administered an even-handed justice; we did everything possible to encourage agriculture and industry; and in constantly increasing measure we employed natives to do their own governing, and finally provided a legislative chamber. We are governing the islands in the interests of the Filipinos themselves.

"If after due time the Filipinos themselves decide that they do not wish to be thus governed, then I trust that we will leave; but when we do leave, it must be distinctly understood that we retain no protectorate—and above all that we take part in no joint protectorate—over the islands and give them no guarantee, of neutrality or otherwise; that, in short, we are absolutely quit of responsibility for them, of every kind and description."

This is an entirely different outlook from that of a British or French foreign office or colonial office official. But it is not very widely different from the spirit that created the Dominions of Canada, South Africa, and Australia, and brought forward three home rule bills for Ireland. It is in the older and more characteristic English tradition from which the Declaration of Independence derives. It sets aside, without discussion, the detestable idea of "subject peoples."

Here we will not enter into political complications attendant upon the making of the Panama Canal, for they introduce no fresh light upon this interesting question of the American method in world politics. The history of Panama is American history purely. But manifestly just as the internal political structure of the Union was a new thing in the world, so, too, were its relations with the world beyond its borders.

SANGSTER WILL NOT LET BEER CLUB LAW DIE

Calls Council's Fears Bunk; Wants Revenue From Clubs Here

When Alderman George Sangster returned to the City Hall from the prairies this morning and found that in his absence the City Council had quietly dropped its plan to license beer clubs here he promptly announced that he would see that the scheme was not quashed so easily.

Alderman Sangster used his well known and picturesque word "bunk" to describe the Council's reasons for dropping the beer club scheme.

Vancouver Gets Revenue. "This seems absurd to me," Alderman Sangster said. "What has the Council to do with enforcing the liquor law? Numerous clubs are operating here and we should get some revenue from them."

When told of Alderman Sangster's plan, Mayor Reginald Haswell made it clear that his attitude had not changed and that he considered the beer club plan impracticable at the present time.

VISITING SAILORS ARE GUESTS OF VETERANS

Members of the Victoria Unit of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada held a successful smoking concert Saturday night at which officers and men of H. M. S. Curlew and H. M. C. S. Patricia were guests, the occasion marking the anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille, the French National Day.

President Rowlinson proposed the toast to the King, and the National Anthem was sung. The toast to the "French Republic" was proposed by Comrade Thomas Jones; that to "The Officers and Ships' Companies of H. M. S. Curlew and H. M. C. S. Patricia" by Canon Hinchliffe, M. P.; while the toast to the "United States" in honor of a number of American naval men present, was proposed by Comrade Everson.

A fine musical programme was rendered during the evening, the first part including songs by Comrades W. Draper and Tom Obee, and the latter by H. M. S. Curlew's concert party, under the direction of Lieut. F. R. Swinley, R. N. The naval men taking part in the entertainment were as follows: Lieut. Pay, Cossette, R. N., and W. Hebblethwaite, C. George, W. Connolly, L. Turner, P. Gladly, A. Green, C. P. O. Clark, J. Hibbert, G. Lemon and Leading Seaman Bailey.

SAYS TOLMIE DOES NOT WANT TO ENTER B. C. POLITICS NOW

Recent Stories Baseless, Says Sangster After Week With Federal Member

Finds Farmer Movement Shaky in Alberta; Crops Seem Best On Record

Talk of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M. P., entering provincial politics immediately and taking over the leadership of the Conservative Party in British Columbia is quite without foundation, according to Alderman George Sangster, close personal friend of Dr. Tolmie, who spent a week with the former Minister of Agriculture in Calgary recently.

"There is nothing at all in the story that Dr. Tolmie wants to become leader of the Conservative Party here now," Alderman Sangster declared when he returned to the City Hall this morning after a two weeks' trip to the prairies.

"Dr. Tolmie is the best man in Canada for the position of Conservative organizer," Alderman Sangster asserted. "He is tremendously popular on the prairies. The Progressive Party is exceedingly shaky in Alberta and the present farmer Government is proving a disappointment. Everywhere I heard the Government condemned and my impression is that it will be snuffed under at the next election. The farmers themselves are fed up with it."

Crops in Alberta should be the heaviest in history this year, Alderman Sangster stated. "I never saw such crops," he said. "There have been heavy rains in southern Alberta and the hay crop is simply wonderful. This makes the recent serious hailstorm damage all the more regrettable."

Alderman Sangster says the Calgary Round-up was a great success. The staff moved into this new building in 1891, and operated there up till the year 1897 under rather difficult circumstances, with much artificial light necessary. Then came the Klondike rush. Victoria's population rapidly increased, and the demand at the post office for more room became more and more urgent.

Application was made to the Federal Government for a new and better building, and the site on which the present post office stands was bought. Some $20,000 on excavation work had been spent by the Canadian Western Railway interests, who proposed to operate a railway system. The intention was to construct a modern hotel on this site but the scheme fell through, and the site was bought for the construction of the new post office.

The building completed in 1898 was much smaller than it is now, but was nevertheless a great improvement over the old building. There was no need for artificial light by which to work, while the building was well ventilated. An extension was added in 1905, and the site on which the old P. O. boxes were located had been in use for twenty-five years before they were discarded some time ago for better and more modern equipment. The Victoria Post Office now possesses a good equipment.

Those veterans still in the service and who are commemorating the Silver Jubilee are C. W. Finlayson, J. E. Roberts, J. S. Smith, R. F. Sheppard, A. C. Charlton and Christian Sivertz. As a comparison of the growth in size of staff it might be interesting to note the difference in figures. There were twenty-five men employed in 1898, whereas there are now 114.

The late Noah Shakespeare had been Postmaster ten years, when the present building was occupied in 1898, and in 1914 it was succeeded by Postmaster H. F. Bishop.

Two chance acquaintances from Ireland were talking together. "An' so yer name is Riley?" said one. "Are yez any relation to Tim Riley?" "Very distantly," said the other. "O! was me mother's first child, an' Tim was the twelfth."

POST OFFICE IN FINE BUILDINGS

Silver Jubilee of Occupation of Present Premises

Out of the twenty-five members of the staff of the old Victoria post office only six are still in office to commemorate the silver jubilee of the establishment in the new Post Office building. It is twenty-five years ago to-day since the new Post Office building was completed, the staff being installed on July 22, 1898.

Since that time great strides have been made both in the development of this city, and in the advancement of mail deliveries. Up to the time of the completion of the new Post Office, mail had been sorted and delivered from the Post Office block on Government Street between Bastion Street and Yates Streets.

The mail was distributed from a wooden post office on Government Street in the pioneer days located on the same site as the old brick post office which is still in existence. From the wooden structure the department moved to another building on Wharf Street near the Hudson's Bay Company Block. The next move took them into a wooden building at Government and Broughton Streets. From here they returned to the first site, where a new brick building had been completed for the purpose of a post office.

The staff moved into this new building in 1891, and operated there up till the year 1897 under rather difficult circumstances, with much artificial light necessary. Then came the Klondike rush. Victoria's population rapidly increased, and the demand at the post office for more room became more and more urgent.

ANGLO-CATHOLIC MOVEMENT GROWS Aims at Reinstatement of Roman Ceremonies in the Church of England

London, July 15.—The triennial convocation of the Anglo-Catholic Congress in London during the last week brought into public notice an enormous increase in the use of incense and eucharistic vestments in the celebration of high mass in London churches.

It was stated that about one-third of all incumbents in England are now attached to this advanced school, while there are no less than twenty protestant churches in the diocese of London where confessions are heard. The Anglo-Catholic movement, which has now assumed great importance is an attempt to reinstate the Roman Catholic ceremonies in the Church of England without, however, losing the nationalisms of the church or coming under the sway of the Pope.
