

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

00006267245

10-20683

HERRINGSHAW'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF
AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY
OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

ACCURATE AND SUCCINCT BIOGRAPHIES OF FAMOUS MEN AND WOMEN IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE WHO ARE OR HAVE BEEN THE ACKNOWLEDGED LEADERS OF LIFE AND THOUGHT OF THE UNITED STATES SINCE ITS FORMATION, ENTIRELY COVERING THE FIELD OF LITERATURE, SCIENCE, HISTORY, POL-ITICS, COMMERCE, AND THE MECHANICAL AND INDUSTRIAL ARTS.

ILLUSTRATED WITH PORTRAITS.

EDITED AND COMPILED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF
THOMAS WILLIAM HERRINGSHAW,
AUTHOR OF HOME OCCUPATIONS, PROMINENT MEN AND WOMEN OF THE DAY, AIDS TO LITERARY SUCCESS MULIEROLOGY, LOCAL AND NATIONAL POETS OF AMERICA, AND OTHER WORKS

ASSISTED BY A CORPS OF WELL KNOWN WRITERS

BUT THERE ARE DEEDS WHICH SHALL NOT PASS AWAY, AND NAMES THAT MUST NOT WITHER, THOUGH THE EARTH
FORGETS HER EMPIRES WITH A JUST DECAY. . . . BYRON.

CHICAGO, ILL.:
AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

1906

E 668
H566

By Transfer

SEP 25 1911

PREFACE.

The Nineteenth Century has been a period of activity and of hitherto unparalleled achievements that have been manifested, especially in America, by the great progress made in every line of human effort. And now that this wonderful era has drawn to a close, the time was ripe, before the passage of years had worn off the sharpness of impressions, to collect and perpetuate the names and deeds of those who merit commemoration.

In the conception of Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography, we have been influenced chiefly by the knowledge that although nearly every nation has its own Encyclopedia of Biography, the United States has not produced one distinctively its own. In all Encyclopedias of American Biography so much space has been given to extended biographies, and so much to noted men of foreign countries, that to make room for them the publishers have entirely ignored the biographies of thousands of noted American Authors, Poets, Journalists, Publishers, Clergymen, Reformers, Educators, Lecturers, Lawyers, Jurists, Soldiers, Statesmen, Musicians, Singers, Painters, Sculptors, Scientists, Philosophers, Inventors, Explorers, Successful Merchants, Manufacturers and Builders, and men and women in all walks of life, who are worthy of representation in a work of this character.

An Encyclopedia of American Biography that contains the names of but one-half of the noted personages of the United States is as inadequate to meet public requirements as a dictionary would be that contained but one-half the words of the English language. Neither is a ponderous work of several volumes suitable for the general use of the public. Hence, taking all these things into consideration, there was an open field for this work; and the close of the Nineteenth Century made the time an especially appropriate and auspicious one for its publication.

What was wanted was an Encyclopedia of American Biography that would be a standard book of biographical reference for the American people, as Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is a standard on Orthography—accurate, concise and complete. Accordingly, the design of this work has been to give in one volume a manual of reference containing in a condensed form appropriate notices of all persons who have risen to any considerable degree of prominence. Although ostensibly the work was to be confined to biographies of noted men and women who are living or have lived in the Nineteenth Century, it has been given a wider scope, in order to make it more complete, by including all the more distinguished personages from the earliest settlement of the United States.

The most attractive form of history is biography, which perpetuates the memory of individuals, and, while aptly illustrating the conduct of life, conveys important lessons. History, it has been well said, does not much regard fertile soil or material wealth; but the admirable men and women that a country produces—they are the glory of the country. In every city, town and village are men and women of character and influence, who have contributed by their enterprise and thrift, by their activity and sagacity in business, their zeal in educational, in religious, and in political matters, to the moral and spiritual advancement as well as to the material prosperity of the community in which they live.

What man has done man may do. Biographies of representative people, intimately connected with the development of the resources of their country, illustrate what energy, with a firm will and fixed purpose, has hitherto accomplished and can yet achieve.

As the failure to consider the lives of men of affairs as of historical importance is a defective feature of the great biographical works heretofore published, a special feature of this work has been to include the lives of the great pioneers, merchants, manufacturers, railroad builders, and other practical men who have developed the mines, forests and farms, built the railroads, steamboat lines and canals, set afloat and managed the shipping, organized the corporations, and introduced the new processes in science and mechanics, which have so greatly reduced the cost and promoted the comfort of living, while contributing to the power and prestige of the nation itself. They have founded the great museums, erected statues, libraries and reading rooms; and it is by them that the colleges, schools and philanthropic institutions are built and maintained; and it surely is befitting that their records should be preserved for all time.

In preparing this Encyclopedia, the compiler has restricted his description to sketches merely biographical, and has not criticised the individual, nor reviewed his attainments. But brief as are these biographical sketches, they are certainly a medium of introduction to the reader, especially when accompanied with a portrait; as from the combination of portrait and biography the utmost degree of utility and pleasure may be derived. The contemplation of a portrait creates a desire to know more of the subject; and reading of the attainments of a person, makes the reader anxious to behold his countenance—hence one supplies the absence of the other.

Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography comprises a varied collection of names that has cost infinite pains and expense to obtain, containing as it does the lives and achievements of more than twenty-five thousand famous men and women in all walks of life who are or have been the acknowledged leaders of life and thought of the United States since its formation, entirely covering the field of literature, science, history, politics, commerce, and the mechanical and industrial arts. In consequence of the almost inaccessibility of facts concerning the lives of many of the subjects contained in this work, the daily press, current magazines, and hundreds of genealogical and biographical works have been largely drawn upon for material, and thus many important facts and interesting reminiscences have been rescued from oblivion that add greatly to the value of the work.

Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography includes succinct biographies of all the Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the United States; every member of all the cabinets; every United States Senator and Speaker of the House; every United States Congressman; every member of the Supreme Court; every signer of the Declaration of Independence; the Governors of the States and Territories; all the Authors, Poets and Composers; all the eminent Clergymen, Judges, Lawyers; all the Admirals and distinguished naval officers; all the Generals and distinguished army officers; while no name eminent in Literature, Art, Music, Science or Invention has been omitted.

The courteous co-operation and words of praise received from prominent people throughout the United States, confirmed the opinion that the public was sufficiently alive to the value and importance of such a work, and the lasting benefit to be derived from placing their names, side by side with those of our most honored ones, in a volume that will be found in public libraries and reading rooms throughout the world, and which is ultimately destined to go down to posterity as an enduring record of the most eminent people of the United States; bearing in mind that without such a record some of the most illustrious names would be lost in oblivion, and their posterity deprived of the gratification and advantage of reference to so honorable an ancestry.

After three years of arduous labor we have succeeded beyond our expectations in compiling the most important and comprehensive work of the century—a monumental record which is a credit to the nation and to the world, and will prove to be more lasting than inscriptions on stone, and more enduring than shafts of marble.

We cannot conclude without reiterating our grateful acknowledgments to our numerous friends in all parts of the United States, not only for valuable information of various kinds, but still more for the generous words of encouragement which we have received from them during our long and arduous labors. We feel confident that this general expression of our gratitude will be more acceptable to most of them than a more particular and open acknowledgment of their disinterested kindness.

For the material aid and courteous co-operation of the press and public, especially contributors and their friends who have so kindly furnished genealogical works and data, clippings from newspapers and magazines, manuscripts and other material, our thanks are freely and sincerely given. Indeed, without such co-operation, Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography could scarcely have assumed its present magnitude.

Chicago, Ill.

THOMAS WILLIAM HERRINGSHAW.

ADDENDA.

AMES, JOHN GRIFFITH, clergyman, public official, author, was born Dec. 11, 1834, in East Dorset, Vt. He was educated at Burr Seminary of Manchester, Vt.; at Williams college of Massachusetts; and at the Theological Seminary of Ohio at Gambier. He is a clergyman and officer of the United States government. He is the author of Comprehensive Index to Publications of the United States Government; and Reports on Public Documents. Since 1874 he has been superintendent of documents in the United States department of the interior.

ATWOOD, JOHN HARRISON, lawyer, political economist, was born Sept. 12, 1860, in Phillipstown, Mass. He was educated in the public schools of Athol and Ayer, Mass.; studied for one year in Europe; attended the academical department of Harvard University; and in 1884 graduated from the Harvard Law School. Since 1885 he has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Leavenworth, Kan. In 1886-92 he was County Attorney for Leavenworth County, Kan.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1892 he has been a delegate to every democratic national convention. He was formerly law partner of Hon. Lucien Baker, United States Senator from Kansas; and formerly also a law partner of Hon. William C. Hook, Judge United States Circuit Court of Appeals. He is a member of the democratic national committee for Kansas for the term of 1904-08.

BACON, JERRY DEMPSTER, business man, state senator was born June 24, 1865, in Waverly, Iowa. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native state. He is a successful business man; part proprietor of the Hotel Dacotah of Grand Forks, N. D.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city, county and state. He is a member of the North Dakota state senate for the term of 1903-07.

BAILEY, LEON ORLANDO, lawyer, state senator, was born June 21, 1857, in Wellsboro, Tioga County, Pa. He was educated at Cornell University; and soon attained success in the practice of law. In 1885-89 he was a member of the Indiana State Senate; for four years he was first assistant Attorney-General for the state of Indiana; and for two years was first assistant United States Attorney for the District of Indiana. For a term of two years he was Corporation Counsel for the City of Indianapolis; and in 1898 was nominee of the democratic party for Congress from the seventh Congressional District of Indiana. In 1902 he removed to New York City; and has since been there engaged in the practice of his profession.

BANK, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 23, 1843, in Hanover, Germany. He came to the United States at the age of six years; and was educated in the public schools of Lee County, Iowa. In 1875-77 was Recorder of Deeds for Lee County; and in 1881-83 was police magistrate of Keokuk, Iowa. In 1883-95 he was

Judge of the Superior Court of Keokuk; and since 1896 has been Judge of the First District Court of Iowa.

BARELA, CASIMIRO, ranchman, legislator, was born March 4, 1847, in Mora, N. M. He received his education in New Mexico. Early in life he moved to Colorado; and is now a successful cattle and sheep grower of Trinidad, Colo. In 1872-74 he was a member of the Territorial Legislature; and in 1875 was a member of the Constitutional Convention. Since 1876 he has been a member of the State Senate of Colorado, his present term expiring in 1908, which will make a total length of service of thirty-two years in the senate, a much longer service than any living man has ever served in the United States.

BAROUSSE, HOMER, merchant, planter, legislator, was born Sept. 25, 1850, in Church Point, La. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native state. He is a successful merchant and planter of Church Point, La.; and has always been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. He is president of the Commercial Bank of Church Point, La.; has been vice-president of the Sunset Cotton Oil Mills of Sunset, La.; President of the Church Point G'n Company; and is also an extensive land owner in Acadia and St. Landry Parishes, La. He is a member of the Louisiana State Senate for the Fourteenth District for the term of 1904-08.

BARTCH, GEORGE WASHINGTON, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born March 15, 1849, in Dushore, Pa. He graduated from the Bloomsburg State Normal School; and for several terms was superintendent of public schools, at Shenandoah, Pa. In 1884 he began the practice of law in Pennsylvania; and in 1886-88 in Colorado. In 1888-93 he practiced law in Salt Lake City, Utah. Since 1893 he has been chief justice of the State Supreme Court of Utah.

BARTINE, JOHN D., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1836, in Princeton, N. J. In 1865 he moved to Somerville, N. J. He has been president of the Board of Education of Somerville, N. J.; and president of the Board of Commissioners. He has been prosecutor of the Pleas of Savannah County; and in 1867 the College of New Jersey conferred upon him the honorary degree of Master of Arts. For fifteen years in 1885-1900 he was law judge of Somerset County; and has now retired from active work.

BATES, GEORGE H., lawyer, legislator, was born July 27, 1853, in Barnwell County, S. C. He was educated at Richmond Academy of South Carolina; and in 1884 began the practice of law. In 1895 he was a member of the South Carolina State Constitutional Convention. He has been County Attorney of Barnwell County; and a member of the Board of Trustees of Columbia College; and is a member of the South Carolina State Senate for the term of 1904-08.

BEAL, JUNIS EMERY, journalist, publisher, legislator, was born Feb. 23, 1860, in Port Huron, Mich. He received a thorough education; and in 1882 graduated from the literary department of the University of Michigan. He is a successful journalist and publisher of Ann Arbor, Mich.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. In 1888 he was presidential elector; in 1889 was President of the Michigan Republican League; in 1893 was President of the Michigan Press Association; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1905 he has been a Representative in the Michigan State Legislature; is a member on the Ways and Means Committee.

BENNETT, CHRISTIAN A., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 7, 1849, in Ozaukee County, Wis. He has been Prosecuting Attorney of Maries County, Mo.; and was a Representative in the Thirty-first General Assembly of Missouri. He has been City Attorney of Greeley, Col.; and Treasurer of Weld County, Col. Since 1900 he has been Judge of the Eighth Judicial District Court of Colorado.

BERRY A. MOORE, lawyer, financier, public official, was born Dec. 5, 1849, in Greenville, S. C. He was educated at Lincolnton Institute of North Carolina. He was law reporter of the court of appeals for twelve years in St. Louis, and during his incumbency of that office he prepared and published twenty-eight volumes of Missouri Appeal Reports. He has attained eminence at the bar and has been general counsel of banks, railroads LET, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 3, 1858, in Accomack, Va. For two years he studied at Roanoke College; and for five years at the University of Virginia. He soon acquired prominence at the Bar of Virginia; and in 1896 was a member of the National Democratic Convention held at Chicago, Ill. He has been a member of the Virginia State Senate; for several years was County Judge of Accomack County; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1904 he has been Judge of the Circuit Court of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit of Virginia.

BOOTH, JOHN OWEN, business man, miner, jurist, was born Jan. 18, 1848, in Lee County, Iowa. He received a thorough academic education at Wilbur, Oregon. In 1870-73 he was Superintendent of Public Instruction for Douglas County, Ore.; and has since been successfully engaged in the hotel and mining business. For many years he has been a member of the Board of trustees for Willamette University; and in 1903 was appointed for a term of six years as a member of the Board of Regents for Southern Oregon State Normal School. For many years he has been a member of the Democratic State Organization; and was Secretary of the Oregon State delegation to the Democratic National Convention at Kansas City in 1900. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Oregon State Association for Good Roads; in 1898 was nominated for State Treasurer on the Democratic ticket. He is now judge of the County Court of Josephine County for the term of 1902-06.

BOULDEN, REZIN BAKER, captain, magistrate, postmaster, was born May 7, 1838, in Millersburg, Ky. During the civil war he was a clerk and captain on a government transport on the Ohio River. In 1874 he became captain of steamer Western Waters. He was magistrate of Bourbon county for seven years. In 1878-85 he was postmaster of Millersburg, Ky., which office he has again occupied since 1898.

BUSCHOW, CHARLES, public official, legislator, was born Sept. 15, 1849, in Prussia, Germany. In 1880 he was United States Census Enumerator for Webster County, Neb. For two terms he was treasurer of Webster County; and also secretary of the Board of State Railroad Commissioners of Nebraska. He has served several terms as Mayor and member of the City Council of Colby, Kansas; and has been a delegate to the different State, Congressional and Senatorial Conventions; and has been Chairman of the Colby County Central Committee. He is President of the Farmer's and Merchants' State Bank of Colby, Kan. Since 1901 he has been a member of the Kansas State Senate from the Thirty-ninth District.

CAMPBELL, ARCHIBALD, captain United States Army, was born July 16, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated at Stevens Institute of Technology, the United States Military Academy and the United States Artillery School. He served in the Spanish-American War in Cuba and Porto Rico; served in China during the Boxer uprising; and served in the Philippines during the Philippine Insurrection. Since 1901 he has been Captain in the Artillery Corps of the United States Army; and is now stationed at Fort Mott, Salem, N. J.

CARPENTER, HENRY OTIS, banker, legislator, was born Jan. 30, 1852, in Walpole, N. H. He was educated in the public and private schools of Rutland, Vt. He has been vice-president of the Rutland Savings Bank; for many years was interested in various business enterprises and corporations of Vermont; and has now retired from active business. He has been President of Rutland City; in 1898 was a Representative for the City of Rutland in the Vermont State Legislature; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a member of the Vermont State Senate for Rutland County for the term of 1905-06.

CARROLL, JAMES, Curator Army Medical Museum, was born June 5, 1854, in England. He was educated at the Albion House Academy of Woolwich, England; in 1891 graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Maryland; and took post-graduate courses in pathology and bacteriology at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. In 1897-1902 he was a member of the United States Army Yellow Fever Commission; voluntarily submitted to the bite of a contaminated mosquito, and within four days suffered a severe attack of yellow fever, being the first case of experimental yellow fever on record. In 1903 he became professor of bacteriology and clinical microscopy at the Army Medical School; Curator of the Army Medical Museum; and in charge of bacteriology and pathological laboratories.

CHESTER, FRANK DYER, American Consul-General, was born Dec. 2, 1869, in Newton, Mass. He was educated in Newton and Boston; and graduated from Harvard University, from which institution he has received the degrees of A. B. A., A. M., and Ph. D. He has attained prominence as a noted linguist. In 1893-95 he was assistant in Semitic Languages at Harvard University; and in 1895-97 was Rogers Fellow of Harvard University. In 1897-1904 he was United States Consul at Budapest. He is also Consular-General for Cuba and Panama. Since 1897 he has been in the American Consular service; and is now Consul-General to Hungary, with headquarters at Budapest, Hungary.

COCHRAN, J. HENRY, lumberman, banker, legislator, was born Jan. 14, 1845, in New Brunswick, Maine. He was educated in the public schools of New England and at Calais, Maine. He has been a successful lumberman, banker and railroad official; and for many years has been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Williamsport, Pa. He has been a director in several business corporations; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. Since 1894 he has been a member of the Pennsylvania State Senate; has served on several important committees; and is now serving his third term of 1902-06.

COLLINS, CHARLES PARKER, public official, banker, was born April 25, 1848, in Detroit, Mich. He was educated in the public schools of Detroit. In 1888-90 he was auditor of Wayne Co., Mich. In 1893-96 was Sheriff of Wayne County, Mich. He is now First Vice-president of the Central Savings Bank of Detroit, Mich.; and is also identified with various other corporations.

COMBE, FREDERICK J., physician, surgeon, public official, was born March 4, 1867, in Matamoros, Mexico. He was educated at the University of Notre Dame of Indiana; and at Tulane University of New Orleans, La. He is a successful physician and surgeon, of Brownsville, Texas; and a member of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States. In 1890-97 he was City and County physician of Brownsville, Cameron County, Texas; and in 1890-98 acting assistant surgeon in the M. H. Service. In 1899-1902 he was Major and Surgeon in the United States Volunteers during the Spanish-American war. He is a director of the Brownsville Board of Trade; a director of the Brownsville Rice Milling Company; and he is now filling the office of Mayor of his city.

CONNIFF, THADDEUS M., educator lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 9, 1854, in Ireland. He was educated in the Public and high and normal schools; and by profession is an educator and lawyer. In 1883 he was commissioned Superintendent of Common Schools; and since 1874 has held the office of Justice of the Peace. He was appointed to the office of Prison Commissioner, six successive terms; and was President of the Board during the whole period. He is a counselor-at-law in the Superior and Supreme courts. He is now City Magistrate of Plains for the term of 1904-09.

COOPER, CHARLES B., physician, surgeon, was born Nov. 19, 1861, in Babylon, L. I. He was educated at Walkill Academy of Middletown, N. Y.; at Williston Seminary of Easthampton, Mass.; and graduated from the University of Missouri. He is a successful physician; has been commissioner of public health for Territory of Hawaii; President Territorial Board of Health and Surgeon-General

National Guard of Hawaii. He has been attending physician at Queen's Hospital; Chief-surgeon of railroads and other corporations; President Hawaii Territorial Medical Society; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is Lieutenant-Colonel in the First Regiment Hawaii National Guard, and is surgeon-general on the general staff.

CORNWALL, WENDELL W., lawyer, legislator, jurist was born Feb. 10, 1857, in Dane County, Wis. He was educated at Albion Academy, Alfred University, and graduated from the Law School of the University of Wisconsin. He has been County Judge of McPherson County, S. D.; has practiced law in Spencer, Iowa; and has been a member of the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth General Assemblies of Iowa. He is now reporter of the Iowa Supreme Court Decisions.

COX, W. H., business man, legislator, was born Oct. 22, 1856, in Maysville, Ky. He received a thorough education in the public and private schools of his native state. For many years he was connected with the dry goods business, and subsequently engaged in the banking business. For eleven years he was a member of the City Council of Maysville, Ky.; for seven years was the President; and for four years served with distinction as Mayor of that city. Since 1900 he has been a member of the Kentucky State Senate.

CRANE, CHARLES JUDSON, lieutenant-colonel United States Army, was born April 30, 1852, in Hernando, Miss. He was educated in the public and private schools of Independence, Texas; and at the United States Military Academy of West Point, N. Y. As an officer in the regular army he has held every position, from Second Lieutenant to Lieutenant-Colonel. In 1898-1902 he was also Lieutenant-Colonel and Colonel of Volunteers in Cuba and in the Philippines. In 1901-03 he was Major and Adjutant-General in the United States Army; and in 1903-05 commanding District of Porto Rico. He is Military Secretary and Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army.

CUMMER, WELLINGTON WILSON, lumberman, public official, donor was born Oct. 21, 1846, in Toronto Canada. He was educated at the high school of Waterdown, Canada; and is a prominent lumberman of Jacksonville, Fla. He has been mayor of Cadillac, Mich.; was a republican presidential elector in 1888; and a member of the school board for ten years. He made extensive investments in pine and cypress lands in Florida; owns over one-half of the stock in the Cummer Lumber company of Jacksonville, Fla.; and is a large owner of stumpage in Michigan; and a member of the firm of Cummer, Diggins and Company of Cadillac, Mich. He is interested in the Y. M. C. A., and library work; and gave thirty thousand dollars to the former, and two thousand dollars to the latter.

CUSHMAN, AUSTIN SPRAGUE, soldier lawyer, author, was born Sept. 9, 1827, in Duxbury, Mass. In 1852 he was private secretary to President Fillmore. In 1853 he was Third Lieutenant in the United States Revenue Marine; and in 1855 he was United States Commissioner. During the civil war he attained the rank of major. In 1867 he was United States registrar in bankruptcy. He was the first post commander in New England of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the first department commander of Massachusetts. He is the author of La Crise Financiere, and editor of Early History of Massachusetts Grand Army of the Republic. In 1890 he was editor of the Republic Magazine of New York City, and resides in East Orange, N. J.

DARLING, CHARLES KIMBALL, law professor, public official, was born June 28, 1864, in Corinth, Vt. He was educated at the Academy of Barre, Vt.; attended Dartmouth College; and graduated from the Boston University Law School. In 1897-1900 he was instructor of the criminal law at the Boston University Law School. In 1898 he was Major in the Sixth Regiment Massachusetts United States Volunteers; in 1887-1905 was Adjutant, Major and Colonel in the Sixth Regiment Massachusetts Volunteer Militia; and is now a retired Brigadier-General of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. In 1897-98 he was Commander-in-Chief of the Sons of Veterans United States Army; and since 1905 he has been a member of the Board of Visitors of the Boston University Law School. Since 1899 he has been United States Marshal for Massachusetts; and resides in Boston, Mass.

DASHIELL, STEPHEN FRANK, merchant, legislator, was born Oct. 29, 1862, in Dames Quarter, Md. He received a thorough education; and graduated from Dames Quarter Academy of Maryland. He is a successful merchant of Dames Quarter, Md.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his county and state. He has been postmaster; in 1893-99 was deputy internal revenue collector; has been a member of the School Board for Somerset County; and since 1900 Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Maryland. He is now a member of the Maryland State Senate for Somerset County for the term of 1904-06.

DAVIES, WILLIAM GILBERT, member Grand Army of the Republic, was born March 21, 1842, in New York City. He was educated at Trinity College of Hartford, Conn.; and at the University of Leipsic, Germany. He has been General Solicitor of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York; and Commissioner for widening and extending Elm Street of New York City. Since 1888 he has been a member of James Monroe Post, number 607, Grand Army of the Republic; and resides in New York City.

DAVIS, GILBERT ASA, manufacturer, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Dec. 18, 1835, in Chester, Vt. He was educated at Chester Academy of Chester, Vt. In 1872 and again in 1874 he was elected a member of the Vermont house of representatives from the town of Reading; and in 1876 was elected to the state senate. He has been states attorney for two years for Windsor county; and for forty-seven years has practiced law with success in the Vermont Courts and in the State and the United States Courts of New England. He has been the owner of the Windsor Drug Store, and is an extensive owner of real estate. He was for ten years president of the Windsor Machine Company, and is president of the Windsor Canning Company. He is the author of A History of the Town of Reading; The Congregational Church in Windsor; and a compilation of the School Laws of Vermont. For 25 years he has been Clerk of the Windsor Congregational Church. He is a Referee in Bankruptcy, having been appointed in July 1898 by the U. S. District Court for Vermont and has since held this position continuously. He is chairman of the Vermont Board of Bridge Commissioners, appointed by Gov. Bell, in 1905.

DAYTON, ALSTON GORDON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 18, 1857, in Philippi, W. Va., in 1878 he graduated from the University of West Virginia. In 1879 he was appointed to fill out an unexpired term as prosecuting attorney of Upshur county, W. Va., and was elected and served as prosecuting attorney of Barbour county for a four-years' term in 1884-88. He was a member of the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth; and was re-elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress, but resigned in March, 1905, to accept the position of United States District Judge. He is now United States Judge for the Northern District of West Virginia for the term of 1905-09.

DENT, ALBERT TATUM, lawyer, legislator, was born March 25, 1863, near Macon, Miss. He was educated at the University of Mississippi; and soon attained success at the Bar. He has been Mayor of Macon; a trustee of Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College; chairman of the Finance Committee of that Board; and a member of the Executive Committee. He is a zealous advocate of better schools for the masses. In 1900 he was elected to fill an unexpired term in the Mississippi State Legislature from Noxubee County, was re-elected, and is now serving the term of 1904-08.

DOUGLAS, EDWARD MOREHOUSE, topographic engineer, was born Sept. 6, 1855, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. He was educated at Cambridge College of New York; and is a civil and topographic engineer by profession. He has been Assistant Engineer to the Erie Railroad Topographer; and in 1882-97 was on the United States Geological Survey. Since 1897 he has been Geographer and chief of the United States Geological Survey.

DOWLING, VICTOR J., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born July 20, 1866, in New York City. Since 1887 he has practiced law in New York City. In 1888-94 he was state secretary of the Catholic Benevolent Legion; in 1894-99 was supreme representative of that society; and its state president in 1899-1900. In 1889 he declined the nomination for city court judge of the United labor party. In 1900-04 he was a member of the New York state senate; and introduced and passed the constitutional amendment for the eight-hour day, prevailing rate of wages, and anti-gambling law. He is a noted lecturer, writer and speaker on historical and general subjects; and a delegate to state and national democratic conventions. Since 1904 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York.

DU BOIS, FRANK G., accountant, inventor, author, was born July 27, 1855, in New York City. In 1873 he graduated from Packard's Business College with the chief honors of his class. He speedily achieved a reputation as an accountant; and was the author of the Public Accountant Law of New Jersey. For fifteen years he was a member of the New York Seventh Regiment. He has been past regent in the Royal Arcanum; and is a thirty-second degree mason. He has been connected with various lines of manufacture; and is the inventor of the vertical system of filing. He is President of the State Board of Public Accountants of New Jersey, for the term of 1904-07; and resides in Newark, N. J.

DUGRO, PHILIP HENRY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1855, in New York City. He was educated at Columbia College; and is a lawyer by profession. In 1878 he was a Representative to the New York State Legislature from the City of New York; and in 1880 was elected a member of Congress from New York as a democrat. In 1886 he became Justice of the Superior Court of the City of New York; and in 1896 a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York. Since 1896 he has been Justice of the State Supreme Court of New York.

EDWARDS, JOHN H., clergyman, public official, legislator, was born Jan. 6, 1846, in West Greenwich, R. I. He was educated at the Greenwich Seminary and at the Connecticut Literary Institution. He is an eminent clergyman of Exeter, R. I.; has been town clerk; school commissioner; superintendent of schools; chairman State Board of Public Roads; and has filled other positions of trust and honor. Since 1901 he has been a member of the Rhode Island State Senate.

ELKEN, GUDBRAND L., business man, real-estate public official, was born June 10, 1863, in Norway. He was educated in the public and private schools of Norway. For many years he was connected with the farm machinery business; is now a successful real estate dealer of Mayville, N. D.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. He is President of the Board of Management of the North Dakota State Normal School; in 1894-1901 was Alderman of his city; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is now filling the office as Mayor of the City of Mayville for the term of 1904-06.

ELKINS, JAMES A., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 25, 1879, in Huntsville, Walker County, Texas. He was educated at the Sam Houston Normal Institute; and at the University of Texas. In 1901-02 he was City Attorney of Huntsville, Texas; in 1902-03 was County Attorney for Walker County, Texas; and has filled several other positions of trust and honor. Since 1903 he has been Judge of the County Court for Walker County.

ENOCH, ELMER ELLSWORTH, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 10, 1864, in Morristown, Ohio. He was educated at Franklin College of New Athens, Ohio; and is a lawyer by profession. He is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Kansas; and for five years was Deputy Judge of Sedgwick County, Kansas. Since 1904 he has been Probate Judge for Sedgwick County.

EVANS, JEPHTHAH HUGHES, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1860, in Farmerville, La. In 1881 he was the first graduate from the Fort Smith District High School of Booneville, Ark. He then taught school for awhile; and in 1883 was admitted to the bar. He soon attained success in the practice of law; and served as alderman of his city. Since 1893 he has been Judge of the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit Court of Arkansas.

FAIRHEAD, JOHN STERLING, soldier, lumber manufacturer, was born Dec. 23, 1841, in New Hartford, N. Y. He served for three years during the civil war in the one hundred and seventeenth New York volunteer infantry. He came to Jacksonville in 1885, and became a partner in a large lumber exporting firm, which became known as Fairhead, Straw and Company, and which business he now owns individually. For three terms he was President of the Board of Trade of Jacksonville, Fla.; has been President of the River and Harbor Trustees; is a stockholder and officer in the Citizen's Bank of Jacksonville; a large property owner; is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city; and is a staunch Republican. He has been Past Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of Florida.

FESSENDEN, FRANKLIN GOODRIDGE, lawyer, banker, jurist, was born in Fitchburg, Worcester County, Mass. He was educated at Howard University; and is an Attorney-at-Law by profession. He has been Captain and Colonel in the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia; Trustee and Vice-president of the Franklin Savings Institution; and Lecturer in the Harvard Law School. Since 1891 he has been Justice of the Superior Court of Massachusetts.

FIELD, SEAMAN, merchant, stock-raiser, jurist, was born Feb. 27, 1829, in Ellisburgh, Jefferson County. He was educated in the public schools; and is now a successful merchant and stock-raiser of Deming, N. M. He has been Deputy-Collector of Customs; filled the office of Justice of the Peace; and was Chief Justice of his County; and for many years served with distinction as Probate Judge of his county. He is senior member in the firm of Field and Son, merchants and stock raisers of Deming, N. M.; and for years prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. He is now filling the office of Mayor of the City of Deming for the term of 1905-06.

FISHER, FRED D., diplomat, was born March 13, 1874, in Albany, Oregon. He was educated at Albany College; and graduated from The Holmes Business College of Portland, Oregon. In 1901-04 he was vice-consul and interpreter at the United States Consulate at Nagasaki, Japan; and is now American consul there.

FITCH, CHARLES ELLIOTT, journalist, public official, was born Dec. 3, 1835, in Syracuse, N. Y. He was educated at Williams College and in the law department of the Union University; and has received the degrees of A. B., LL. B., A. M. and L. H. D. He practiced law for awhile; and then entered journalism. In 1866-73 he was editor of the Syracuse Standard; in 1873-90 was editor-in-chief of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle; and in 1896-98 was Associate-editor of the Rochester Post-Express. In 1877-1904 he was Regent University State of New York; in 1880 was Supervisor of the United States Census; and in 1890-94 was United States Collector of Internal Revenue. In 1894 he was Secretary of the New York State Constitutional Convention; and in 1895-1904 was State Lecturer in the Department of Public Instruction of New York. Since 1904 he has been Chief of the Records Division in the Education Department State of New York; and resides in Albany, N. Y.

FLETCHER, DUNCAN UPSHAW, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 6, 1859, near Americus, Ga. He was educated at Vanderbilt University of Nashville, Tenn.; and soon attained success at the bar of Florida. In 1893 he was a Representative in the Florida State Legislature; and in 1893-95 and 1901-03 was Mayor of Jacksonville, Fla. In 1896-98 he was president of the Jacksonville Bar Association; in 1906 became President of the Citizen's Bank of Jacksonville; and in 1900-06 was Chairman of the Board of Public Instruction for Duval County, Fla. He is Chairman of the Florida Democratic State Committee for the term of 1904-08.

FOGO, WALLACE L., business man, public official, was born March 17, 1869, in Wellsville, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools of his native city. He was first a baggage agent; a switchman for five years; and for three years was a brakeman on a passenger train. For six years he was proprietor of a restaurant and confectionery store; then established a paying spring water route; and finally entered the real estate business. In 1903 he was a delegate to the Republican State Convention; has always taken an active interest in all municipal affairs; and is an aggressive chief executive. Since 1902 he has been Mayor of the City of Wellsville; and his administration has been one of the most progressive in the history of his city. Since 1902 he has been filling the office of Mayor for the City of Wellsville.

FOSTER, ROMULUS ADAMS, physician, surgeon, public official, was born in Washington City, D. C. He was educated in the public schools and at the George Washington University. In 1888-90 he was physician to the Chinese Legation; and for more than fifteen years secretary of the Trinity Protestant Episcopal Sunday School of Washington, D. C. He is a member of the Military Surgeons of the United States; and for a number of years a medical examiner of several life insurance companies. Since 1887 he has held the rank of Surgeon-Lieutenant in the District of Columbia National Guard.

GANNETT, WILLIAM H., journalist, publisher, legislator, was born in 1855 in Augusta, Maine. He was educated in the public schools of his native state. About 1888 he began the publication of a family paper, entitled Comfort, which now has a circulation of over one million copies. Since 1903 he has been a Representative of the Maine State Legislature.

GIBSON, WILMOT H., civil engineer, public official, was born Dec. 25, 1870, in Meadville, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native state; and graduated from Allegheny College of Meadville, Pa. He is a Civil Engineer by profession; and has filled several positions of trust and honor. In 1899-1900 he was Deputy-Secretary of State of Idaho; and in 1903 became Secretary of State. Since 1903 he has been Secretary of State for Idaho.

GILBERTSON, G. S., public official, legislator, was born Oct. 17, 1863, in Spring Grove, Houston County, Minn. He was educated in the public schools of his native state. For seven years he was clerk of the District Court; and for four years was a member of the Iowa State Senate. He is President of the Forest City National Bank of Forest City, Iowa, which was established in 1895. Since 1900 he has been Treasurer of the State of Iowa.

GODARD, GEORGE SEYMOUR, librarian, author, was born June 17, 1865, in Granby, Conn. He was educated at the Wesleyan Academy of Wilbraham, Mass. attended the Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn.; studied at the Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill.; and graduated from Yale University of New Haven, Conn. He took up the profession of Librarian; and in 1890-98 was Librarian at the Cossitt Library of Granby, Conn. In 1898-1900 he was assistant, and since 1900 librarian of the Connecticut State library. In 1904-05 he was president of the National Association of State Libraries; in 1905-07 was president of the Connecticut Library Association; and is a trustee of the Wesleyan Academy of Wilbraham, Mass.

GODFREY, EDWARD SETTLE, army officer, was born Oct. 9, 1843, in Kalida, Putnam County, Ohio. In 1867 he graduated from the United States Military Academy of West Point, N. Y. In 1879-83 he was an instructor of Cavalry Tactics at West Point. In 1899 he commanded the Port and Province of Pinar del Rio Cuba during the Spanish-American War. In 1867-1901 he has been Second and First Lieutenant, Captain and Major in the Seventh Cavalry; Lieutenant-Colonel of the Twelfth Cavalry; and since 1901 Colonel of the Ninth Cavalry. In 1905-06 he was commander of the Kansas Commandery Military Order of Loyal Legion of the United States. In 1902 he was in Command of the Fifth Brigade in the Philippine Islands. Since 1904 he has been Commandant of the School of Application in the Cavalry and Field Artillery; and is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

GORDON, BEIRNE, merchant, banker, was born July 20, 1856, in Huntsville, Ala. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native city. He is a successful cotton merchant of Savannah, Ga.; has been President of the Savannah Cotton Exchange; President Chatham Bank of Savannah, Ga.; and vice-president of the National Bank of that City. He has been Registrar Episcopal Diocese of Georgia; Director Savannah Branch Sons of American Revolution; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He has been Captain of the Georgia Hussars, Troop A, First Regiment Cavalry Georgia State Troops. He is now Lieutenant-Colonel First Cavalry Georgia State Troops.

GORDON, O. B., lawyer, banker, political economist, was born Nov. 7, 1860, in Tatnal County, Ga. He received a thorough education in the public schools. For ten years he was chairman of the Nevada County Democratic Central Committee; and then was elected Chairman of the State Democratic Central Committee. Early in life he attained success in the practice of law in the supreme and inferior courts; and is now cashier of the Nevada County Bank. He is Deputy paymaster-general of the Arkansas State National Guard, with rank of Colonel. For many years he has been Chairman of the Arkansas Democratic State Committee.

GRANT, ISAAC, soldier, public official, jurist, was born Jan. 25, 1846, in St. Johns, Mich. He was educated in the public and private schools of St. Johns, Mich. During the Civil war he served as First Corporal and sergeant in 1863-65; was in fifty-two different battles and skirmishes; was in the Stoneman raid; and always in the saddle. For two terms he was sheriff; and for one term was United States Deputy Marshal. For many years he was engaged in the milling and elevator business. For one term he was Commander of Steadman Post Grand Army of the Republic; and for one term aide-de-camp on Gen. Kidd's Staff, Department of Michigan, Grand Army of the Republic. He was also aide-de-camp on command Anthony, State Department of Michigan; aide-de-camp, to General Black, National Department Grand Army of the Republic; and is now aide-de-camp on Gen. Blackmer, John R. King Commandery, Commander in Chief, Department of Michigan, Grand Army of the Republic. He is now Judge of the Probate Court for Osceola County for the term of 1905-09.

GRETZINGER, WILLIAM CHRISTIAN, registrar, public official, was born Aug. 23, 1866, in Reading, Pa. He was educated at Carroll Institute, Perkiomen Seminary and at Bucknell University. Since 1889 he has been Registrar of Bucknell University of Lewisburg, Pa. He was Commissioner of the Trans-Mississippi Exposition; has been President of the Lewisburg Town Council; is a member of the University Club of Philadelphia; a member of the Pennsylvania German Society; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. He has been Quartermaster and Sergeant of the Twelfth Regiment Pennsylvania National Guard; and also Battalion-Adjutant of the same Regiment. Since 1903 he has held the rank of Captain and quartermaster of the Twelfth Regiment in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

GUENTHER, RICHARD, merchant, diplomat, congressman, was born Nov. 30, 1845, in Potts Dam, Prussia. In 1866-67 he was engaged as a broker of drugs and chemicals in New York City; and in 1867 engaged in business as a pharmacist in Oshkosh, Wis. For several years he was a member of the Oshkosh School Board; and in 1878-82 was State Treasurer of Wisconsin. In 1881-89 he was a member of the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses from Wisconsin as a republican. In 1895-99 he was a member of the State Board of Control of Wisconsin; and president of the Board in 1898-99. In 1890-93 he was consul-general to the City of Mexico. Since 1899 he has been United States Consul-General at Frankfort-on-Main, Germany.

HALE, CLARENCE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1848 in Maine. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; attended Norway Academy; and in 1869 graduated from Bowdoin College. Since 1871 he has practiced law in Portland, Maine. In 1879-82 he was city solicitor; and in 1883-86 was a representative in the state legislature. He was counsel for the New England Telephone Company; and a director and trustee with the management of the largest enterprises in Portland, Maine. For many years he was a member of the Portland Board of Trade; prominent on the School Board of that city; and active in its municipal government. Since 1902 he has been United State District Judge for the State of Maine.

HALLOCK, EDWIN, merchant, legislator, was born Aug. 16, 1840, in Derby, Conn. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city; and graduated from Posts Commercial and Classical Institute of Connecticut. He is a successful merchant of Derby, Conn.; and has always been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. For six years he was a member of the School Board; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. For three terms he has been a Representative in the Connecticut State Legislature.

HAND, J. I., planter, merchant, manufacturer, banker, legislator, was born March 20, 1851, in Houston County, Ga. He was educated at the University of Georgia; and is a planter, manufacturer, merchant and banker. In 1884-87 he was a Mayor of Pelham, Ga.; and since 1884 has been City Councilman. In 1888-89 he was Representative in the Georgia State Legislature; and in 1886-87, 1898-99 and 1905-06 was a member of the State Senate. He is president of the Farmers' Bank of Pelham; President of Pelham Manufacturing Company; President of the Hand Trading Company; President of the Flint River and Northwestern Railroad; and President of the Abingdon Mills of Huntsville, Ala. He is a member of the Georgia State Senate from the Eighth District for the term of 1905-06.

HANNA, L. B., banker, legislator, was born Aug. 9, 1861, near Brighton, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of Pittsfield, Mass.; and in New York City. He is Vice-President of the First National Bank of Fargo, N. D.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. For seven years he was postmaster of Page, N. D. In 1900-02 he was Chairman of the County Committee of Cass County, N. D.; and since 1902 has been Chairman of the North Dakota Republican State Committee. In 1895-97 he was a Representative in the North Dakota State Legislature; is a Thirty-three Degree Mason; and has filled numerous positions of trust and honor. In 1897-1901 he was a member of the North Dakota State Senate; and since 1905 has been a member of the North Dakota State Senate.

HARDMAN, JAMES H., merchant, public official, was born Dec. 26, 1884, in Edina, Knox county, Mo. He was educated in the public and private schools of Kirksville, Mo. He is a successful dry goods merchant, and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. For eight years he was circuit clerk for Knox county, Mo. Since 1901 he has been a member of the Board of Regents of the Missouri State Normal school; and resides in Edina, Mo.

HARRIS, JOHN J., merchant, banker, legislator, was born July 11, 1849, in Erie County, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools of his native county; and graduated from the Western Reserve Normal College of Milan, Ohio. He is a successful merchant and banker of Dolores, Colo.; has been superintendent of Telegraph for the D. and R. G. Railroad Company; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1900 he has been a member of the Colorado State Senate.

HATCH, EDWARD W., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 26, 1852, in Friendship, N. Y. In 1880-86 he was District Attorney of Erie County, N. Y.; and in 1887-95 was Judge of the Superior Court of Buffalo, N. Y. In 1895 he resigned from the Superior Court and was elected a Justice of the Supreme Court of New York from the Eighth Judicial District for a term of fourteen years. In 1896-1900 he was assigned to the Appellate Division, Second Department of Brooklyn; and in 1900-05 was transferred to the First Department City of New York. In 1905 he resigned from the Bench and entered the law firm of Parker, Hatch and Sheehan of New York City.

HEBRON, JOHN L., planter, merchant, lawyer, legislator, was born July 6, 1864, in Vicksburg, Miss. He was educated at the Mississippi College and at the University of Mississippi. He is a successful lawyer, planter and merchant of Greenville, Miss.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. He has been County Attorney for Washington County, Miss.; Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Washington County, Miss.; Trustee of the University of Mississippi; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is now a member of the Mississippi State Senate for Washington County for the term of 1904-08.

HILL, HENRY WAYLAND, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Nov. 13, 1853, at Isle La Motte, Vt. He received a thorough education; and graduated from the University of Vermont. He has attained success in the practice of law at Buffalo, N. Y. In 1894 he was a member of the New York State Constitutional Convention; and in 1896-1900 was a Representative in the New York State Legislature. He has been Vice-president of the Buffalo Historical Society; one of the Board Managers of the New York State Normal School; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is the author of Development of Constitutional Law in New York; and several articles in the Encyclopedia Americana and other works; and was the framer of several constitutional provisions on the Constitution of the State of New York. Since 1901 he has been a member of the New York State Senate.

HILL, JOHN FREMONT, journalist, publisher, railroad president, governor, was born Oct. 29, 1855, in Eliot, Maine. He was educated at Berwick Academy; graduated from the Medical Department of Bowdoin College; and attended long Island College Hospital. He is a journalist and publisher by profession; and for many years prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Maine. In 1888-92 he was a Representative in the Maine State Legislature; in 1892-96 was a member of the State Senate; and in 1898-99 was a member of the Executive Council. In 1901-05 he served with distinction as Governor of the State of Maine. In 1900 he was a delegate to Republican National Convention; and is prominently identified with the Republican Party. He has been President of Somerset Railway Company; and a director in various Electric Railways and other public service corporations.

HINKLE, JAMES F., stockraiser, banker, legislator, was born in 1864 in Missouri. He received a thorough education; and graduated from the State University of Missouri. He is now a successful stock raiser and banker of Roswell, N. M.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. For four years he was a Representative in the New Mexico Legislature; and for two years was a member of the State Senate. Since 1900 he has been a member of the Territorial Board of Equalization; is now Mayor of his city; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor.

HITT, ISAAC R., lawyer, public official, author, was born Sept. 7, 1864, in Chicago, Ill. In 1888 he graduated with the degree of B. S. from the Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill.; and in 1894 graduated from the Kent College of Law. In 1898-1902 he was Law Clerk in the Law Division of the Internal Revenue in the Treasury Department of the United States; and since 1902 he has been Chief of the Miscellaneous Division, United States Internal Revenue. He is a member of the bar; and in 1900 compiled the International Revenue Laws for the United States Treasury Department.

HOEFER, DANIEL H., business man, banker, public official, was born Feb. 18, 1868, at Hopewell Academy, Warren County, Mo. He received a thorough education; and graduated from the Central Wesleyan College of Warrenton, Mo. He is a successful banker and business man of Higginsville, Mo.; is connected with the Bank of Higginsville, Mo.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. For two years he was Alderman of Higginsville, Mo.; for four years was City Treasurer; and for several years has filled the office of Mayor. In 1900 he was a delegate to the Republican National Convention; is now Treasurer of the Mayor's Association of Missouri; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1902 he has been Mayor of the City of Higginsville.

HOLLAND, JAMES EDWIN PARKER, physician, surgeon, public official, was born Nov. 27, 1876, in Detroit, Mich. He was educated in the public schools of Milwaukee and Chicago; and graduated in Medicine from the Purdue University School of Medicine, Indiana State University. He also took a course at the American School of Osteopathy; and is a successful practicing physician of Indiana. Since 1905 he has been a member of the State Board of Medical Registration and Examination of Indiana.

HOPKINS, ARCHIBALD, soldier, lawyer, public official, author, was born Feb. 20, 1842, in Williamstown, Mass. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war as captain and brevet major, lieutenant-colonel and colonel of the Thirty-seventh Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers. Until 1873 he practiced law in New York City. He is the author of The Apostles' Creed. Since 1873 he has been Chief Clerk of the United States Court of Claims.

HORNSBY, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 8, 1870, in Hornsby, Travis County, Texas. He received a thorough education; and graduated from Trinity University. He has attained success at the Bar of Texas; for eight years he was county clerk of Travis County, Texas; has been deputy sheriff and deputy tax assessor; and Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Travis County, Texas. He is County Judge of Travis County for the term of 1904-06.

HOTTENROTH, ADOLPH C., President Taxpayers Alliance of New York, was born May 9, 1869, in New York City. He was educated in the public schools of his native city; at the College of the City of New York; and at the New York University. He soon attained success in the practice of law; in 1894 was a member of the Constitutional Convention; and in 1897-1901 was a member of the Municipal Council of New York City. Since 1890 he has been a member of the Democratic Political Party; and since 1903 has been President of the Taxpayers' Alliance.

HOY, JOHN H., manufacturer, public official, musician, was born Feb. 8, 1862, in Rushville, Ind. He was educated in the public and private schools of Muncie, Ind. He is a manufacturer and business man of Lebanon, Ind.; and a noted musician of that city. In 1896-1900 he was City Clerk of Lebanon, Ind.; in 1900 was County Chairman of the Democratic Party; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1904 he has been Mayor of the City of Lebanon.

HUGHES, JOHN F., ranchman, legislator, was born Dec. 28, 1842, in Franklin, Venango County, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of his native state; and is now a successful farmer and ranchman of Kansas. He served three years in the Civil war, and was thrice wounded. He served three terms as Register of Deeds for McPherson County, Kan.; and also served several terms as a member of the City Council of McPherson. Since 1905 he has been a member of the Kansas State Senate.

HYDE, GEORGE H., business man, public official, was born in 1850 in Ridgway, Pa. He received a thorough education; and graduated from Bucknell University. He is identified with various business enterprises in Pennsylvania; and is director in several corporations. He has been Mayor of the City of Ridgway, Pa.; and has filled several other positions of trust and honor. Since 1900 he has held the rank of Captain in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

JAMES, D. G., soldier, merchant, public official, was born Aug. 3, 1843, in Deerfield, Rockingham County, N. H. He was educated in the public schools of Richland Center, Wis.; and for many years has been a successful merchant of that city. He served with distinction in the Civil war; and has been Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for Wisconsin. He has been Postmaster of his City; President of the Village Council; and a member of the Board and Treasurer of the Wisconsin Veteran's Home. He has been a member of the Shiloh Battlefield Park Monument Commission; President of the Andersonville Monument Commission; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor.

JAMES, EDMUND JAMES, President Board of Trustees, Illinois State Historical Library, was born May 21, 1855, in Jacksonville, Ill. He was educated at the Illinois Normal School, Northwestern and Harvard Universities, and in the Universities of Europe. He has been head of Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania; Professor of Public Administration at the University of Chicago; and in 1902-01 President of the Northwestern University. Since 1904 he has been President of the University of Illinois. He is the author of numerous monographs and articles on various scientific and educational subjects, the principal of which are: Our Legal Tender Decisions; The Education of Business Men; and The Relation of the Modern Municipality to the Gas Supply; with several translations from the German. Since 1904 he has been President of the Board of Trustees of the State Historical Library; and resides in Urland, Ill.

JOHNSTON, LOUIS R., business man, miner, public official, was born Feb. 4, 1858, in Old Mines, Mo. He was educated in the public schools; and has had a varied experience in the mining business. For many years he has been connected with the mining business; and is also prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Boulder, Colo. He is Mayor of his City; and has shown great business and executive ability in the administration of its affairs; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor.

JOSEPH, HARRY SHERIDAN, civil engineer, legislator, was born June 14, 1866, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He received a thorough education and graduated from the McMecklen University of Cincinnati, Ohio. He has attained prominence as a successful civil and mining engineer and mine manager. He has been chief engineer of the Great Salt Lake and Hot Springs Railway; County Surveyor of Davis County, Utah; County Surveyor of Salt Lake County, Utah; and vice-president of the Board of Trustees of the Utah Industrial School. Since 1905 he has been a Representative in the Utah State Legislature.

KENNON, LYMAN W. V., army officer, was born Sept. 2, 1858, in Providence, R. I. He was educated at the United States Military Academy of West Point, N. Y. He was Adjutant-General during the American occupation of Cuba; and Colonel in the Thirty-fourth Infantry, United States Volunteers, and commander of the Third Brigade of the First Division in the Eighth Army Corps, during the Philippine Insurrection. Since 1902 he has held the rank of Major in the United States Army; and is now stationed at Rio Janeiro, Brazil.

KIMBALL, EDWARD FENNO, government official was born Nov. 17, 1859, in North Berwick, Maine. He was educated in the public and private schools and institutes of Washington, D. C.; and is a graduate of the Revenue Cutter Service. He has been Lieutenant in the United States Revenue Cutter Service; and filled various positions of trust and honor. For several years he was Chief Clerk of the Money Order System in the United States Postoffice Department. Since 1904 he has been United States Superintendent of the Money Order System in the United States Postoffice Department.

KING, JOHN E., State Librarian of Minnesota, was born Aug. 27, 1870, in Laketon, Wabash County, Ind. He was educated in the public schools of his native state. In 1894-99 he was postmaster of Adrian, Minn.; and in 1900-01 was a member of the Minnesota State Board of Equalization. In 1904 he was a Democratic candidate for Secretary of State of Minnesota. For many years he was editor of The Red Lake Courier of Red Lake Falls, Minn. He is now State Librarian of Minnesota.

KING, WILLIAM A., Educator, legislator, was born in 1856, in Mercer County, Mo. He was educated in the public schools of Kansas; and until 1883 was engaged in educational work; since 1888 he has been engaged in the wholesale fruit and produce business in Trinidad, Colo.; is Grand Councillor of the Grand Lodge of Colorado United Commercial Travelers; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is now a Representative in the Colorado State Legislature for the term of 1904-06.

KNAPP, CHARLES JUNIUS, banker, state legislator, congressman, was born June 30, 1845, in Pepacton, N. Y. He was educated at Hamilton College. For many years he was President of the Detroit National Bank of Deposit, N. Y. He has been President of the board of education; was elected supervisor in 1883 and 1886; and served as member of the New York State Legislature in 1886 and 1888. He was elected to the Fifty-first Congress as a Republican. In 1890 he organized The Binghamton Trust Company, became its first president and still holds that position.

LAUGHLIN, JEMUEL L., business manager public official, was born Dec. 16, 1859, in Poeklick, Va., now W. Va. He was educated in the public schools; and in 1884 graduated from the Lincoln University of Illinois. He organized and is the general manager of The Toltec Live Stock Company of Toltec, Wyo., which is capitalized at two hundred thousand dollars. He served one term on the Board of School Directors of Albany County, Wyo.; was the first nominee in 1904 of the Prohibition Party for the position of representing the state of Wyoming in the United States Congress; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is now a member of the Prohibition National Committee.

LYON, GEORGE, journalist, publisher, public official, was born July 30, 1859, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. He was educated at Philipps Exeter Academy of New Hampshire; and in 1881 graduated from Harvard College of Cambridge, Mass. He is a successful journalist and publisher; and editor of Nuckolls County Herald of Nelson, Neb. He is also an abstractor of titles; and the owner of the only set of Abstract Books of his county. He personally superintends a farm of four hundred and eighty acres; and makes a specialty of real estate and loans. He is a director in the First National Bank of Nelson, Neb.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. Since 1903 he has held the rank of Major in the Nebraska National Guard; and was Colonel on Governor Holcomb's staff.

MABREY, HENRY Y., educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 3, 1836, in Randolph County, Ind. He was educated in the public schools of Missouri; and attended the Jackson Seminary for one term. For many years he was a teacher in the public schools; was county school commissioner and county Superintendent of public schools. He has served as a Justice of the Peace; and for six years was public administrator of Wayne County, Mo. In 1894-98 and since 1902 he has been Probate Judge for Wayne County, Mo.

MADDOX, ROBERT GWINN, soldier, business man, public official, was born Aug. 5, 1846, in Rapides Parish, La. He served in the civil war as a soldier in confederate army. He was schooled at St. John College of Annapolis, Md. He is a planter, bookkeeper and accountant; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. Since 1892 he has been parish treasurer.

MADILL, LESLIE D., accountant, public official, was born March 24, 1879, in Midland, Mich. He was educated in the public schools of his native city; and is a bookkeeper and accountant by profession. He has been Deputy Register of Deeds, Deputy Sheriff, Deputy County Treasurer; and is now Chairman of the Republican City and County Committees. Since 1905 he has been County Treasurer for Midland County, Mich.

MARSHALL, JAMES M., army officer, was born May 31, 1844, in Coles County, Ill. He was educated at the United States Military Academy of West Point, N. Y. In 1865 he was promoted First Lieutenant in the Thirteenth Infantry; in 1866 was transferred to the Thirty-first Infantry; in 1869 to the Twenty-second Infantry; and in 1880 for the Fourth Artillery. In 1875 he became Captain and Assistant Quartermaster; in 1891 became Major and Quartermaster; and in 1897 Deputy Quartermaster-General. Since 1901 he has been Assistant Quartermaster-General in the United States Army, with the rank of Colonel.

MARTIN, J. WILLIS, lawyer, jurist, was born May 29, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa. He received a thorough education; and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania; He has attained prominence as one of the leading lawyers of the Court of Common Pleas No. 5 of Philadelphia County, Pa.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1889 he has served and held the rank of Second-Lieutenant of Cavalry in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

MATHUES, WILLIAM LINCOLN, lawyer, public official, was born March 24, 1862 in Delaware County, Pa. He received his education in the public schools of Media, Pa.; and soon attained success in the practice of law. In 1885-87 he was deputy sheriff of his County; in 1887-92 he was deputy prothonotary and deputy clerk of courts; and in 1892-1904 was prothonotary and clerk of Courts. In 1904 he was a delegate to the Republican National Convention at Chicago, Ill.; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. He is now Treasurer of the State of Pennsylvania for the term of 1904-1906.

MATTHEWS, MATTHEW CLEMENT, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 1, 1862, in Dubuque, Iowa. He was educated in the public and parochial schools of Iowa; attended the Business College; and studied law and was admitted to the bar. He soon attained success in the practice of law at Dubuque, Iowa; and for six years was county attorney of Dubuque County, Iowa. Since 1898 he has been Judge of the District Court of the Nineteenth Judicial District of Iowa; and his decisions have shown great erudition and learning. He is prominent in fraternal and patriotic societies; and is now High Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters of Iowa.

MATTHEWS, WILLIAM BAYNHAM, lawyer, journalist, author, was born in July, 1850, in Lynchburg, Va. He was educated at the University of Virginia; and at Columbian University of Washington, D. C. In 1892-96 he was attorney for the state of Idaho; and since 1898 has been Washington attorney for the Rio Grande Western Railroad Company. He is the author of Matthews' Forms of Pleading; Guide for Executors and Administrators; Digest of Land Decisions; and Matthews' Guide. In 1883-89 he was Chief of the Preemption Division of the United States General Land Office; and resides in Washington, D. C.

McCANDLESS, J. GUY, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 1, 1839, in Perryville, Pa. He was educated at the Jefferson Medical College; and is a successful practicing physician of Pennsylvania. He has been a member of the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Examiners; for fourteen years surgeon to the Pennsylvania National Guard; and for ten years was Health physician for the City of Pittsburgh. He has been director Department of Public Works of Pittsburgh; and has held various other positions of trust and honor. He is a member of Pennsylvania Post No. 3, Grand Army of the Republic.

McCOOK, JOHN JAMES, soldier, lawyer, statesman, was born May 25, 1845, in Carrollton, Ohio. He is the youngest son of the Ohio family known as the fighting McCooks, consisting of a father and nine sons, who with five cousins, were all officers in the Civil war. He enlisted in the Sixth Ohio Cavalry; and served in the campaigns of Perryville, Stone River, Chattanooga, and Chica-manga, and in General Grant's Campaign with the Army of the Potomac. In 1864 he was severely wounded at Shady Grove, Va.; and was mustered out as Lieutenant-Colonel of Volunteers. He entered Kenyon College, and in 1866 graduated with the degree of A. M.; in 1867 graduated from Harvard Law School; and has received the degree of A. M. from Princeton University and the degree of LL. D. from the University of Kansas. He was invited to a place in President McKinley's first cabinet; and during the Spanish-American War was Chairman of the Army and Navy, Christian Commission of the Y. M. C. A. He is an eminent member of the bar of New York City; a Director of Princeton Theological Seminary; and a member of numerous clubs and societies; and resides in New York City.

McKEE, JAMES ANDERSON, physician, surgeon, legislator, was born June 6, 1854, in Crawford County, Pa. He received a thorough education in the public schools; and graduated from the Rush Medical College of Chicago, and from the California Medical College. He has attained success as a noted physician and surgeon of Sacramento, Cal.; and is a member of the leading medical and scientific associations of America. He is a member of the California State Senate for the Seventh District for the term of 1905-09.

McKEE, WOOD, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 10, 1866, in Paterson, N. J. He was educated in the public schools of his native city; and at Prof. MacMann's Academy. He has attained success at the Bar of New Jersey; in 1898-99 was a Representative to the New Jersey State Legislature; and in 1895-98 was Assistant Chairman of the Passaic County Committee. Since 1900 he has been a member of the New Jersey State Senate from Passaic County.

McKINLEY, WILLIAM BROWN, business man, president, congressman, was born Sept. 5, 1856, in Petersburg, Ill. He was educated in the common schools; and studied two years in the University of Illinois. He has been principally engaged in building electrical railroads; and as President of the Illinois Traction Company. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress from the Nineteenth District of Illinois as a Republican for the term of 1905-07; and resides in Champaign, Ill.

METZGER, M. C., Vice-President State Board of Pharmacy of Illinois, was born June 9, 1855, in Bridgeport, N. Y. He is a successful druggist and business man of Cairo, Ill.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He is Vice-President of the State Board of Pharmacy of Illinois for the term of 1901-06.

MILLER, WILLIAM G., builder, contractor, legislator, was born Feb. 2, 1853, in Village of Brookhaven, Suffolk County, N. Y. He was educated in the district schools of his native state and under private tutors. He is interested in real estate, a successful builder and general contractor of Freeport, N. Y.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. For seven terms he was President of the Village of Freeport; President of Insurance Companies; Director of Freeport Bank; Director of the Brunswick Bank of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and a Director in various other banks and corporations. Since 1904 he has been a Representative in the New York State Legislature.

MITCHELL, ASAHEL W., business manager, legislator, public official, was born Oct. 16, 1865, in Woodbury, Conn. He was educated at the Parker Academy of Woodbury, Conn. He is Superintendent of the Woodbury Water Company; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his native city. Since 1895 he has been town clerk; in 1897-98 was a representative in the Connecticut State Legislature; and in 1899-1900 was a member of the Connecticut State Senate. He is Comptroller of Connecticut for the term of 1905-06.

MITCHELL, JOSEPH DANIEL, naturalist, legislator, was born Oct. 22, 1848, in Point Comfort, Calhoun County, Texas. He is a stockman and farmer. He has served as a Representative in the Texas State Legislature; and is the father of the Fish and Oyster Laws of Texas. He has published notes on Texas Shells; and on Poisonous Snakes of Texas. He is a member of the Texas Academy of Science; and a member of the Texas Historical Association. He had collected and donated to the Public High School of Victoria several thousand specimens of the Natural History of Texas. He is serving his fifth term as School Trustee of the Independent Incorporated School District of Victoria, Texas. He is now acting as Special Field Agent in Texas, for the United States Department of Agriculture, Division of Entomology, in its fight against the cattle fever tick.

MONSELL, ISAAC A., soldier, carpenter, builder, was born July 29, 1839, in Aquavoque, Long Island, N. Y. He was educated at Greenport, N. Y.; and at New Haven, Conn. He served with distinction in the Civil war in the Fourth Regiment of New York Volunteers; and participated in numerous battles and skirmishes. He is a Carpenter and builder of Greenport, N. Y.; is now filling the office of Village Trustee; is a member of the Board of Education; has been District Deputy-Grandmaster Independent Order of Odd Fellows; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor.

MONTGOMERY, JOHN ALEXANDER, consulting engineer, business president, was born Aug. 30, 1851, in Lewisburg, Va. He has been Division engineer of the C. and O. Railroad; Director and constructing engineer to the Georgia Pacific Railroad; President of the M. L. Coal and Railroad Company; receiver of the Birmingham Powderly and Bessemer Railroad; Chief Engineer of the Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad; President of the Leeds Company; Vice-President Leeds Improvement Company; and is now an eminent Consulting Engineer of Birmingham, Ala.

MONTOYA, NESTOR, journalist, linguist, legislator, was born April 14, 1860, in Albuquerque, N. M. He was educated at St. Michaels College of Santa Fe, N. M. He is a distinguished linguist; and editor of La Bandera Americano, a weekly Spanish paper published in Albuquerque, N. M. In 1903-04 he was Speaker of the House of Representatives in the Thirty-fifth Territorial Legislative Assembly; and has filled numerous other positions of trust and honor. He is now a member of the Territorial Council of New Mexico for Bernalillo County for the term of 1905-06.

MOREY, FRANK A., lawyer, legislator, was born March 11, 1863, in Keesville, N.

Y. He was educated at the Bates College of Lewiston, Maine, from which institution he graduated in 1885. For two years he was city solicitor of Lewiston, Maine; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. He was Representative from the City of Lewiston to the Maine State Legislature in 1899, 1903 and 1905; and at each session was assigned on important committees. He introduced and secured the passage of the Usury Act, the act providing for separate ballots on questions submitted to voters, and other acts affecting the Ballot Laws of the State of Maine. He is a Representative in the Maine State Legislature, and is now serving his third term of 1905-06.

NEWITT, JOSEPH, lawyer, miner, jurist, was born Jan. 30, 1848, in Oxfordshire, England. He was educated in the National Schools and Academies of Oxford, England; and for many years has been engaged in law and mining in the State of Colorado. For fourteen years he was clerk of the District Court of Chaffee County, Colo.; and has held various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1897 he has been County and Probate Judge for Chaffee County.

NICHOLS, SAM H., business man, public official, was born in 1838 in Malden, Mass. He was educated in the Malden High School and at Medford Academy. He attained success in the real estate and insurance business in Minnesota and at Olympia, Wash. He has filled various local offices; was clerk of the House of Representatives; clerk Supreme Court; and State Oil Inspector in Minnesota. He has been a member of the City Council of Olympia, Wash. Since 1901 he has been State Secretary of Washington.

NICHOLSON, ERNEST, farmer, real estate, jurist, was born July 26, 1849, in Otisco, Ionia County, Mich. He was educated at Smyrna, Northfield and Ann Arbor. He is a successful farmer and real estate dealer; was Supervisor for six years; a member of the Congressional Committee for eight years; a member of the Senatorial Committee for eight years; and a member of the Representative Committee for fourteen years. In 1905 he was Chairman of the Nineteenth Judicial District; and has filled numerous other positions of trust and honor. Since 1896 he has been Judge of the Probate Court for Lake County.

OSWALD, FRIDOLIN, civil engineer, surveyor, public official, was born March 6, 1839, in Switzerland. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native place; and studied in the college at Munich, Germany. He has attained prominence as a successful architect and civil engineer; has been County Civil Engineer and Surveyor; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He has been a member of the County Board of Supervisors; President of the City Council; a trustee of the Illinois Society of Civil Engineer and Surveyors; and a member of the Illinois State Board of Examiners of Architects.

PAGE, SAMUEL G., business man, public official of North Carolina, was born March 29, 1848, in Henry County, Va. He was educated at Olin College of North Carolina. He is proprietor of a Hotel in Mount Airy, N. C., dealer in blooded horses; and identified with the business and public affairs of his community. He has been Justice of the Peace; Chairman of the City Democratic Committee; and has held various other positions of trust and honor. He is now filling the office of Mayor for the City of Mount Airy, and is serving his third term of 1905-06.

PARKINSON, DANIEL BALDWIN, President Southern Illinois State University, was born Sept. 6, 1845, in Madison County, Ill. He was educated at McKendree College of Lebanon, Ill.; and at the Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill. In 1869-70 he was principal of Carmi Public Schools; and in 1870-73 was teacher of Science and mathematics at Jennings Seminary of Aurora, Ill. In 1874-98 he was professor of Physical Sciences in the Southern Illinois State Normal University; and then became president of that Institution. He is a member of the leading educational associations; and has filled various positions of trust and honor. Since 1898 he has been President of the Southern Illinois State Normal University.

PEALER, RUSSEL R., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 1, 1842, in Greenwood, Pa. He was educated in the Normal Schools of New Columbus and Orangeville, Pa.; and since 1867 has practiced law in Three Rivers, Mich. He has been Circuit Court Commissioner; Prosecuting attorney; a Representative in the Michigan State Legislature; and in 1882-88 was Circuit Judge of the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit of Michigan. He has been president of the Advisory Board of Pardons; served as Commissioner to Examine the General Laws; and in 1900 was Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for the State of Michigan. He is now Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for the State of Michigan. He is now Commander of the Loyal Legion for the State of Michigan.

PECK, HORACE SILL, banker, broker, was born Aug. 3, 1875, at Montgomery Hall, Staunton, Va. He was educated at the Drexel Institute of Philadelphia, Pa. He is a successful banker and broker of Providence, R. I.; and a member of the firm of E. J. Knight and Company. During the Spanish-American war he was assistant commissary First Regiment Rhode Island United States Volunteer Infantry. He has been Paymaster First Infantry Rhode Island Militia; and has filled several other positions of trust and honor. Since 1900 he has held the rank of First-Lieutenant on the staff in the Rhode Island National Guard.

PECK, JOSIAH WASHINGTON, lawyer, banker, legislator, was born Sept. 28, 1856, in Mount Bridges, Ontario, Canada. He was educated at the State Normal School of Peru, Neb.; attended the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Wis.; and graduated from the law department of the Washington University at St. Louis, Mo. He has attained success in the practice of law; for several years has been connected with the Farmers' Bank of Westboro, Mo.; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He is now a member of the Missouri State Senate from the First District for the term of 1905-09.

PEDEDNEIRAS, ACHILLES VELLOSO DE, Lieutenant-Colonel, was born Oct. 12, 1859, in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He has been in several branches of the Brazilian Army; is a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Artillery Corps; and is now the Military Attache of the Brazilian Embassy in the United States of America; and resides in Washington, D. C.

HELPS, ALONZO S., physician, surgeon, public official, was born in 1872 in Delaware, Iowa. He received a thorough education; and graduated in medicine from the Hahnemann Medical College of Chicago, Ill. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Martinsville, Ill.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. He is now filling the office of Mayor of the City of Martinsville for the term of 1905-07.

RAND, STEPHEN, Pay Director United States Navy, was born May 11, 1844, in New Boston, Vt. He was educated at Dartmouth College. Since 1862 he has been an officer of the United States navy; and has served as a soldier, engineer and paymaster. He is now a Pay Director and General Storekeeper in the United States Navy.

RAYNOLDS, JAMES WALLACE, Secretary of the Territory and Lieutenant-Governor of New Mexico, was born March 23, 1873, in Pueblo, Colo. He was educated in the local schools of Las Vegas, N. M. and at Canton, Ohio; and graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a successful mining engineer; and in 1901-06 was Secretary of New Mexico. He is Lieutenant-Governor of New Mexico for the term of 1906-10.

REAMAN, WILLIAM M., Captain South Dakota National Guard, was born in 1870, in Fond du Lac, Wis. He received his education in the public schools; is now a successful harness-maker and business man of Aberdeen, S. D.; and connected with the Aberdeen Harness Company of that City. He has been Lieutenant in the South Dakota National Guard; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1904 he has held the rank of Captain in the South Dakota National Guard; and resides in Aberdeen, S. D.

REED R HARVEY, physician, surgeon, was born in 1851, near Dalton, Wayne County, Ohio. He was educated at Mt. Union College of Ohio; and in 1876 graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania with honors, and served in the hospital. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Rock Springs, Wyo.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his community. He has been surgeon to the Children's Home of Mansfield, Ohio; surgeon to the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroads at Mansfield, Ohio; and also surgeon for several other railroads leading into Columbus, Ohio; and is now division surgeon of the Pacific Railroad, and surgeon to the Union Pacific Coal Company of Rock Springs, Wyo. For several years he was Professor of the Principles and Practice of Surgery at the Ohio Medical University. He is Colonel and Surgeon-General on the Governor's staff in the Wyoming National Guard.

REED, SILAS D., lawyer, legislator, was born June 25, 1872, in Taunton, Mass. He was educated at Bristol Academy of Taunton, Mass.; in 1893 graduated from Amherst College; and subsequently from Boston University Law School. He soon attained success in the practice of law at Taunton, Mass. In 1897-1902 he was a Representative in the Massachusetts State Legislature; and in 1901 was a member of the Special Legislative Committee on Revision of the Statutes. In 1903 and 1904 he was a member of the Republican State Committee. He is a member of the Massachusetts State Senate from the First Bristol District for the term of 1905-06; in 1905 was a member of the Recess Legislative Committee on the Revision of the Railroad and Street Railway Laws.

REESE, DAVID A., business man, public official, was born Sept. 22, 1854, in Cambria County, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of his native state; and graduated from Duff's College of Pittsburg, Pa. For thirteen years he was a lumber foreman; and became a successful carpenter of Iowa City, Iowa. He has filled numerous positions of trust and honor; for four years was a member of the City Council of Iowa City, Iowa; is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city; and now fills the office of County Treasurer.

REEVES, IRA L., soldier, journalist, business president, author, was born March 8, 1872, in Jefferson City, Mo. He was educated in the public schools and graduated from the Eldon Academy and the Miller County Academy of Missouri. He has been second-Lieutenant, first-lieutenant and captain in the United States army; and was retired from active service in 1901. He served in the Spanish-American war in the Cuban campaign; and was wounded during his service in the Philippine Islands. Since 1903 he has been Brigadier-General Commanding the Indian Territory Volunteer Militia. He is president of the Muskogee Electric Traction Company; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Muskogee, Indian Territory. He has been editor and publisher of several newspapers in Missouri and the Indian Territory. He is the author of Bamboo Tales; and Manual for Aspirants for Commissions in the United States Army.

RHORER, JOHN WEBSTER, surveyor, land agent, legislator, was born Jan. 11, 1865, in Fairmount, now Grant Parish, La. He received a thorough education in the public and private schools of his native state. He is now a successful surveyor and land agent of Lake Charles, La.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. He has been United States Deputy Marshal; a member of the Parish School Board; United States Deputy Surveyor; United States Commissioner; and for seven years Parish Surveyor of Calcasieu Parish, La. He is now a Representative in the Louisiana Legislature for the term of 1904-08.

RICE, JAMES HORTON, wool-grower, legislator, public official, was born July 26, 1839, in Clarkson, Monroe County, N. Y. He received a thorough education; and graduated from Genesee College of Lima, N. Y. He is a successful wool-grower of Montana; and for many years has been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Montana. He was a Representative in the Eighth Assembly of the Montana State Legislature; was a member on several important committees; and has filled numerous other positions of trust and honor; and is now Treasurer of the State of Montana for the term of 1904-08.

RICHARDSON, FELIX A., Librarian State Supreme Court of Colorado, was born Dec 11, 1835, in Glasgow, Ky. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native county; and graduated from Urania College. During the Civil war in 1863-65 he was Deputy Provost Marshal for the third district of Kentucky; and in 1865-69 he was Deputy Postmaster of Glasgow, Ky. Since 1885 he has been in the service of the State of Colorado as Bailiff and Librarian; and is still filling the office of Librarian of the State Supreme Court of Colorado.

RICHMOND, EPHRIAM THOMAS CARROLL, army officer, was born May 28, 1843, in Frederick County, Md. He was educated at the United States Military Academy of West Point, N. Y. He has been Second Lieutenant, First Lieutenant, Captain, Major, Lieutenant-Colonel and Colonel in the Artillery Corps of the United States Army. Since 1899 he has held the rank of Colonel in the Forty-first Regiment Infantry United States Volunteers, and Colonel in the Artillery Corps of the United States Army, now retired.

ROBERTSON, ALEXANDER JOHN MORRISON, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 3, 1867, in Honolulu, Hawaii. He received a thorough education in the Hawa'i and California public schools; and graduated from the law school of Yale University. In 1901-03 he was a Representative in the First Territorial Legislature of Hawaii; In 1904-05 he was President of the Bar Association of Hawaii; in 1904-06 was chairman of the Republican Territorial Central Committee; has filled various other positions of trust and honor; and he is a member of the Hawaii Republican National Committee.

ROLLINS, FRANK WEST, legislator, governor was born Feb. 24, 1860, in Concord, N. H., He was educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and at the Harvard Law School. He served with distinction in the New Hampshire State Senate in 1895; and was made president of that body. He is a successful lawyer and banker; and originated the Old Home Week scheme in 1898, which has since spread over a large part of the country. In 1899-1900 he was governor of New Hampshire. He still resides in the place of his nativity; and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol.

ROUNER, DAVID ARGYLE, soldier, farmer, lawyer, legislator, was born April 20, 1842, in Sligo, Ky. He served as a soldier in the confederate army; was a member of the thirty-first and thirty-second Missouri general assemblies; and a member of the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh state senate. He is the author of many of the revenue laws of Missouri. In 1901-05 he was Prosecuting Attorney for Knox County, Mo.; and during his four years' service never lost a case.

ROWE, ALBERT, business man, public official, was born May 4, 1846, in Albany, N. Y. He received his education in the public and private schools of his native state. For many years he has been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Saugerties, N. Y.; and connected with the wholesale meat and provision business. For the past ten years he has been manager of the well-known firm of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company at Saugerties, N. Y., one of the largest wholesale meat and provision corporations in the world. For eight years he has been Mayor of Saugerties, N. Y.; and has filled numerous other positions of trust and honor. Since 1898 he has been Mayor for the City of Saugerties.

RUSSEL, ANDREW, banker, public official, was born June 17, 1856, in Jacksonville, Ill. He was educated in the public schools of his native city; and graduated from the Illinois College. He is a member of the Banking firm of Dunlap, Russell and Company of Jacksonville, Ill.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. He has been President of the Public Library Board of Trustees; President Jacksonville Art Association; member Board of Trustees of Illinois College; Treasurer of Morgan County Historical Society; and a Director in the Illinois Historical Society. He is now serving his Fifth term as City Treasurer of Jacksonville, Ill. He is President of the State Board of Pardons of Illinois.

RYAN, TIMOTHY E., lawyer, political economist, was born Jan. 10, 1859, in Greenwich, Washington County, N. Y. He was educated at the Pewaukee High School; attended the Spencerian Business College of Milwaukee, Wis.; and in 1885 graduated from the Wisconsin University. He has attained eminence at the bar of Wisconsin; for five years was President of the Board of Education of the City of Waukesha; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1900 he has been a member of the Democratic National Committee for Wisconsin.

SACKETT, JOHN WARREN, soldier, civil engineer, was born Dec. 13, 1860 in Rantoul, Ill. He graduated from the University of Illinois; and has attained success as a civil engineer. Since 1888 he has been principal assistant to the United States Engineer of Florida District at Jacksonville. During the Spanish-American war he was Major in the United States Volunteers, commanding provisional engineer of the Battalion in Cuba and Porto Rico. He landed the first troops of the American Army in the Porto Rican Expedition. He has held the principal offices in several secret societies; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is Colonel in the First Infantry Florida State Troops.

SCHREIBER, THILO A., journalist, public official was born March 25, 1855, in Rockstedt, Germany. He was educated at Sondershausen, Germany. He has gained success in the field of journalism; and has been editor of several publications. Since 1898 he has been secretary and Chairman respectively of the Republican County Central Committee; since 1898 has been County Auditor of Mercer County, N. D.; has filled various other positions of trust and honor; and he is now Colonel of the North Dakota National Guard; and is aide-de-camp on the general staff.

SEIBER, WILLIAM, manufacturer, public official, was born Feb. 5, 1869, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was educated in the public and private schools of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a successful business man and manufacturer of Central City, W. Va.; proprietor of the Central Veneer Company; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city. He has filled various positions of trust and honor; and as Mayor of his City has shown great business and executive ability.

SELDEN, EDWIN VAN DEUSEN, business president, was born Dec. 23, 1858, in Lawrenceville, Allegheny County, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of Meadville, Pa.; and at the Episcopal Academy of Philadelphia, Pa. He is a well-known oil refiner and producer; is connected with the Crystal Oil Works of Oil City, Pa.; President of the Oil City Oil Exchange; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He has been Quartermaster of the Sixteenth Regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania; and in 1898 became Colonel of the Twenty-first Regiment Infantry. He is Lieutenant-Colonel and Inspector of Rifle Practice for the Pennsylvania Division of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

SEYMOUR, HENRY WILLIAM, lawyer, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born in July 21, 1834, in Brockport, N. Y. He was educated at the Brockport collegiate institute, Canandaigua academy, and in 1855 graduated from Williams college. In 1856 he began the practice of law; and subsequently became interested in the lumber business at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and other business enterprises. In 1881-82 he was a representative in the Michigan state legislature; and in 1883-87 was a member of the fiftieth congress from Michigan as a republican; and served on several important committees. He died April 7, 1906, in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

SHOUP, JAMES M., United States Marshall for Alaska, was born in 1849, in Armstrong County, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar. He filled several county offices in Idaho; was a member of the first State Senate; and in 1892 was a delegate to the Republican National Convention. Since 1897 he has been United States Marshal for the First District of Alaska, and is now serving his second term of 1904-08.

SIEGFRIED, DANIEL F., soldier, druggist, public official, was born Nov. 4, 1845, in Cotasanqua, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of Bethlehem, Pa. For three years he was trustee of the Normal School at Valley City; has been trustee of the Soldier's Home at Lisbon; for four years served as County Commissioner of Barnes County, N. D.; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a successful druggist of Sanborn, N. D.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He is Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for North Dakota for the term of 1905; and resides in Sanborn, N. D.

SIMPSON, JOSEPH W., merchant, legislator, was born in 1870, in York Harbor, Maine. He was educated in the public and private schools of Kent's Hill and York, Maine. He is a provision merchant and interested in Real Estate at York, Maine; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. In 1897 he was a representative in the Maine State Legislature, and was a member of several important committees. He has been Town Treasurer; member of the County Committee; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a member of the Maine State Senate for the term of 1905-06.

SMITH, MILTON, lawyer, political economist, was born July 31, 1866, in Sussex County, N. J. He was educated at the High School of Ellenville, N. Y.; and in 1887 graduated from Cornell University of Ithaca, N. Y. He is a successful lawyer, principally giving his attention to corporation, mining, irrigation and insurance law. Since 1896 he has been Chairman of the Colorado Democratic State Committee.

SNIVELY, ETHAN A., journalist, public official, was born Feb. 17, 1845, in Cuba, Fulton County, Ill. He received a thorough education in the public schools of his native state. He became a successful printer and journalist; and in 1879-81 was president of the Illinois Press Association. In 1878-96 he was clerk of the Supreme Court, Central Grand Division of Illinois; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1897 he has been a member of the State Board of Pardons of Illinois.

SNYDER, WILLIAM PRESTON, physician, surgeon, legislator, was born Oct. 7, 1851, in Chester County, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; and in 1873 graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania. In 1873-86 he practiced medicine in Spring City, Pa.; and in 1883-85 was postmaster of that city. In 1887-91 he was Prothonotary of Chester County; and in 1878 and in 1882 was a delegate to the State Conventions. In 1891 he was a Representative in the Pennsylvania State Legislature; and in 1892-1904 was a member of the Pennsylvania State Senate. He is now Auditor-General of the State of Pennsylvania for the term of 1904-07.

SPENCER, CARNOT O., public official, jurist, was born May 27, 1832, in Saybrook, now Essex, Conn. He received a common school and academic education. He has been selectman, Town clerk, assessor and a member of the School Board for the Town of Essex, and has been Judge of the Probate District of Essex. In 1861-62 and 1878-79 he was a Representative in the Connecticut State Legislature; and in 1869 was a member of the State Senate. In 1881-98 he was Chief Clerk of the School Fund Department. Since 1898 he has been Commissioner of the School Fund for the State of Connecticut.

STEELE, JAMES E., banker, legislator, was born June 22, 1852, in Manchester, England. He is a successful farmer, stockraiser and merchant of Idaho. He was President of the Idaho Commission at the St. Louis Fair; and is now Chairman of the Lewis and Clark Exposition of Portland. He was President of the Farmers' Progress Canal Company of Bingham County, Idaho; President of Rigby Bank; President of the Iowa Mercantile Company; and a director in various other corporations. He has been Mayor of the Village of Iona; and Deputy Clerk of the Seventh District Court. In 1903-05 he was a representative in the Idaho State Legislature; and is now a member of the State Senate.

STEWART, REUBEN ELMER, business man, educator, was born June 13, 1864, in Westmoreland County, Pa. He was educated in the Grammar and Central High Schools of Pittsburg, Pa.; and graduated from Westminster College of New Wilmington, Pa. For many years he was engaged in mercantile work; and was a carpet and furniture salesman in Omaha, Neb. For seven years he was a teacher in the Nebraska School for the Deaf; and for two years was a teacher in the School for Deaf at Council Bluffs, Iowa. He is now Superintendent of the School for the Deaf and Dumb of Nebraska for the term of 1901-07.

STREETER, FRANK SHERWIN, lawyer, legislator, political economist, was born Aug. 5, 1853, in East Charleston, Vt. He was educated at St. Johnsbury Academy; and graduated from Dartmouth College. He soon attained success in the practice of law in Concord, N. H.; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. In 1885 he was a Representative in the New Hampshire State Legislature; and was a member of several important committees. In 1896 he was a member of the Republican National Convention; since 1893 has been a Trustee of Dartmouth College; has filled various other positions of trust and honor; and is now a member of the Republican National Committee for New Hampshire.

STUEVE, CLEMENT AUGUST, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 27, 1855, in Minster, Auglaize County, Ohio. He was educated in the public and private schools of Minster and Toledo, Ohio. He has attained success in the practice of law at Wapakoneta, Ohio; has been clerk of the Village; served one term as Mayor of Wapakoneta; and has filled several other positions of trust and honor. He is Judge of the Probate Court for Auglaize County for the term of 1903-06.

TOADVIN, EDWARD STANLEY, State Land Commissioner of Maryland, was born Dec. 3, 1848, in Salisbury, Md. He was educated at Princeton College and at the University of Virginia. He has been States Attorney for Wicomico County, Md.; and held various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1900 he has been Land Commissioner of Maryland; and resides in Salisbury, Md.

TOOLEY, CLARENCE PHILLIP, merchant, legislator, was born Aug. 31, 1874, in Evanston, Wyo. He was educated in the public and private schools of Baldwinville, N. Y. He is now a successful merchant of Two Dot, Montana; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city, county and state. He was a Representative in the Eighth General Assembly of the Montana State Legislature; and was a member on several important committees. He is now a member of the Montana State Senate for Meagher County for the term of 1905-09.

TOWNSEND, CHARLES CHAMPLIN, soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Nov. 24, 1841, in Allegheny City, Pa. He served two years in the army during the rebellion as a private in company A, ninth regiment Pennsylvania reserve volunteer corps, and afterwards as adjutant of the first Pennsylvania cavalry. He was elected to the fifty-first congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

TURNER, COLUMBUS L., soldier, merchant, manufacturer, state senator, was born Feb. 25, 1842, at County Line, Davie County, N. C. He was educated in the public schools; and graduated from Olin High School and Trinity College, N. C. During the civil war he was lieutenant in Company A, thirty-third North Carolina regiment. Until 1894 he was engaged as a merchant and cotton manufacturer at Turnersburg and Monbo, N. C.; and since 1887 has been secretary, treasurer and general business manager of the Monbo Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of cotton yarns, cones and skeins. In 1872-74 he was the representative of Iredell County in the North Carolina State Legislature; and is now a member of the North Carolina State Senate for the term of 1905-07.

TURNER, ISAAC W., druggist, legislator, jurist, was born April 29, 1854, in Montville, Conn. He received a thorough education; and graduated from the Norwich Free Academy. He is a successful druggist and business man of Mount Kisco, N. Y.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city. For eight years he was Justice of the Peace for the Town of Bedford; in 1896-1905 was Supervisor of the Town of Bedford; and in 1904 was a candidate for Representative to the Connecticut State Legislature, but failed of election by a very small margin. He is now filling the office of Mayor of the City of Mount Kisco for the term of 1904-06.

VIALI, GEORGE MARCIUS, financier, public official, legislator, was born May 5, 1849, in Dorset, Vt. In 1874 he graduated from the Union University; and has received the degrees of A. B.; M. D., and A. M. For many years his duties have been public and in the settlement of states. He is a bank director and executor and administrator of many estates. In 1882-84 he was a member of the Vermont State Senate; and in 1886-88 and 1904-06 a Representative in the Vermont State Legislature. He has been town clerk, treasurer and assessor; and since 1879 has been continuously trustee of public moneys. He is now a Representative in the Vermont State Legislature for the term of 1905-06.

WALKER, PELEG K., soldier, educator, trustee, was born in Brooklyn, Conn. He was educated at West Ludguy Academy of Connecticut; and at the Illinois State Normal School at Bloomington, Ill. He is a successful educator; and for the past twenty years has been superintendent of Rockford City Schools, Ill. He served three years in the Civil war; became Lieutenant; and was Commander of his Company for one year. He has been President of the Illinois State Teachers Association; and since 1883 a member of the Illinois State Board of Education. Since 1883 he has been a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Normal University of Illinois.

WATRES, LOUIS A., soldier, lawyer, banker, legislator, lieutenant-governor, was born April 21, 1851, in Mt. Vernon, Pa. He received his education in the public and private schools of his native state; and soon attained success in the practice of law at Scranton, Pa. In 1883-91 he served two terms as a member of the Pennsylvania State Senate; in 1891-95 was Lieutenant-Governor of Pennsylvania; and has filled the office of President of the State Senate and of the Board of Pardons. For nine years he was county solicitor of Lackawanna County, Pa.; and 1891 was chairman of the Republican State Committee. He has been President of The Spring Brook Water Supply Company; President of the Title Guaranty and Trust Company of Scranton, Pa.; and President of the County Savings and Trust Company. He was Colonel of the Eleventh Regiment Pennsylvania National Guard during the Spanish-American war. He is now Colonel of the thirteenth Regiment Pennsylvania National Guard; was General-Inspector of Rifle Practice on the staff of Governor Beaver.

WEISSE, CHARLES H., manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1866 in Sheboygan Falls, Wis. He is a member of the fifty-eighth congress from Wisconsin as a democrat. He was re-elected to the fifty-ninth Congress from the sixth District of Wisconsin for the term of 1905-07.

WEST, EMORY S., army officer, was born Sept. 12, 1874, in Troy, W. Va. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native state. During the Spanish-American war and the Philippine Insurrection he served as an officer in the volunteer and regular forces in the Phillipine Islands; and commanded the gunboat Laguna de Bay during that rebellion. He is now professor of Military Science and Tactics at Simpson College of Iowa. Since 1903 he has held the rank of First Lieutenant in the Seventh Cavalry of the United States Army; and is now stationed at Indianola, Iowa.

WHITTEMORE, HENRY C., merchant, legislator, was born Oct. 31, 1841, in Auburn, N. Y. He was educated in the public and private schools of Sycamore, Ill. He is a successful hardware merchant and business man of Sycamore, Ill.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that City. He has been Supervisor of Sycamore Township; was a Representative in the Thirty-fourth General Assembly of the Illinois State Legislature; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is now a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Home for Juvenile Offenders of Illinois.

WILSON, HUNTINGTON, diplomat, was born Dec. 15, 1875, in Chicago, Ill. He was educated in Earore and America; and graduated from Yale University. In 1901 he was charge d' Affaires of the United States at Tokio, Japan, in 1902 and again in 1903 was also United State Charge d' Affaires at the same capital; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1897 he has been in the United States Diplomatic Service; and is now Secretary of Legation at Tokio, Japan.

WILSON, LEONIDAS LUCIUS, soldier, merchant public official was born July 23, 1843, in Chesterville, Ohio. He was educated in Chesterville, Ohio; and in Center Point, Iowa. Since 1855 he has resided in Linn county, Iowa. In 1863 until the close of the civil war he served in company B, twentieth regiment Iowa volunteers; and has several times been commander of Denison post of the Grand Army of the Republic. He has been a successful druggist of Center Point, Iowa; and manufacturer of the Doctor Wilson Company's Hawkeye State Remedies. He has been president, secretary and treasurer of the Center Point high school; and published the first newspaper in Center Point, Iowa; and drew up the documents for the organization and incorporation of that city. He has held numerous offices of trust and honor; and is now serving his second term as supervisor of Linn county, Iowa; and resides in Center Point, Iowa.

WINBORNE, BENJAMIN BRODIE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born April 14, 1854, in Hertford County, N. C. He was educated at Buckhorn Academy of Hertford County, N. C.; attended Wake Forest College of North Carolina; and graduated from Columbian University of Washington, D. C. He has been Solicitor and Judge; and in 1895-1905 a Representative in the North Carolina State Legislature and Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He was delegate to the National Democratic Convention that first nominated William Jennings Bryan for president; and declined to accept nomination for Congress in 1896. Since 1895 he has been a Representative in the North Carolina State Legislature.

WING, CHARLES BENJAMIN, educator, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 18, 1864, in Dutchess County, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been professor of structural engineering at the Leland Stanford Junior University of California. He is the author of Free-Hand Lettering for Working Drawings; and A Manual of Bridge Drafting.

WOLZ, GEORGE F., merchant, public official, was born Dec. 30, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated in the public schools of Fremont, Neb.; and is now a successful merchant of that city. He is Past Colonel of the Nebraska Division Sons of Veterans; Past Captain U. R. Knights of Pythias; and a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and other fraternal and patriotic societies. He is now Mayor of Fremont for the term of 1903-06.

WOOD, CHARLES ERSKINE SCOTT, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 20, 1852, in Erie, Pa. In 1874-84 he served as Second and First-Lieutenant in the United States Army. Since 1884 he has practiced law in Portland, Oregon. He is the author of A Book of Tales, Being Myths of the North American Indians; and A Masque of Love, a poem in three parts.

WOODBIDGE, FREDERICK JAMES EUGENE, educator, author, was born March 26, 1867, in Canada. Since 1902 he has been professor of philosophy at Columbian University of New York City; and editor of the Journal of Philosophy, Psychology and Scientific Methods. He is the author of Philosophy of Hobbes.

WOODLEE, L. V., lawyer, educator, legislator, was born Feb. 8, 1861, in Tarlton, Grundy County, Tenn. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native county; and attended Irving College and also Wesleys' Chapell of Warren County, Tenn. He is a successful farmer and lawyer of Altamont, Tenn. For many years he taught school; and in 1887 began the practice of law. In 1888-96 he was back tax attorney for Grundy County, Tenn.; and in 1893 became county attorney. In 1890-96 he was county superintendent of public instruction for Grundy County, Tenn.; since 1893 has been a member of the County Démocrat-ic Executive Committee; and in 1897-1904 was chairman of the Board of Election Commissioners for his county. In 1896-98 he was a Representative to the Tennessee State Legislature, and is now a member of the Tennessee State Senate for the term of 1905-07.

WOODWARD, SAMUEL WALTER, merchant, philanthropist, was born in Massachusetts. In 1880 he started a dry goods store in Washington with Alvin Lothrop; and this business has grown to be one of the largest department stores in the United States. He is President of the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington; and has given fifty thousand dollars toward advancing its work. He has been President of the Washington Board of Trade; President Realty Appraised and Agency Company; and is president of the Colonial Fire Insurance Company. He has given one hundred thousand dollars toward enlarging the work of Calvary Baptist Church; and is now President of the Board of Charities of the District of Columbia.

WORNALL, THOMAS J., farmer, stockraiser, legislator, was born June 28, 1865, in Kansas City, Mo. He was educated at the William Jewell College of Liberty, Mo. He has attained success as a farmer and breeder of Short-Horn cattle. He has been Director in the American Short-Horn Breeders' Association; President of the Missouri State Breeders' Association; President of the Central Short-Horn Breeders' Association; and Secretary and Treasurer of the American Royal Live Stock Show held at Kansas City, Mo. He has been Mayor of the city of Liberty, Mo.; chairman of the Appropriation Committee; and chairman of the Visiting Committee of all State Institutions. He is now a member of the Missouri State Senate from the Third District for the term of 1905-09.

YOCUM, WILBUR FISK, educator, clergyman, college president, was born July 20, 1840, in Salem, Ohio. In 1877-88 he was president of the Fort Wayne College of Indiana; and '88-92 was superintendent of the Public Schools of Bartow, Fla. In 1892-94 he was President of Florida Agricultural College. Since 1899 he has been Professor of Latin and Philosophy in University of Florida.

YOUNG, JAMES CARLETON, capitalist, bibliophile, was born July 29, 1856, in Marion, Iowa. In 1876 he graduated from Cornell College of Iowa; from which institution he has received the degrees of B. S. and M. A. In 1878 he was a commissioner of the United States to the Paris Exposition. In 1884-86 he was president of the National Association of Real Estate Dealers; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Minneapolis, Minn. He owns the most valuable and interesting library that exists in the world, consisting of selected books characteristically inscribed by their authors; and is a member of the most important book clubs and societies in Europe and America.

YULE, GEORGE, soldier, ranchman, public official, was born June 20, 1835, in Scotland. He was educated in the public schools of Ashland County, Ohio. He is a successful ranchman and stock-raiser of Colorado. He served in the Civil war; and participated in numerous battles and skirmishes. For two terms he was sheriff of Gunnison County, Col.; is now President of the School Board of his county; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1892 he has been a member of General Shield's Post No. 78, Grand Army of the Republic; and for the past four years has been Commander of his Post; and resides near Newcastle, Colo.

ZUEBLIN, CHARLES, educator, author, was born May 4, 1866 in Pendleton, Ind. In 1892 he founded the Northwestern University Settlement. Since 1892 he has taught sociology; and since 1902 has been professor of sociology at the University of Chicago. He is the author of American Municipal Progress; and a Decade of Civic Development.

HERRINGSHAW'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

OF

AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY.

AARON, SAMUEL, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1800 in New Britain, Pa. He was a baptist clergyman and educator of Mount Holly, N. J., and prominent as an anti-slavery advocate. He published a number of popular text-books, and was the author of Faithful Translation. He died April 11, 1865, in Mount Holly, N. J.

ABADIE, EUGENE H., surgeon, was born about 1814 in France. In 1836 he entered the medical corps of the United States army, and in 1853 was promoted surgeon. In 1865 he became chief medical officer of the military division of west Mississippi; in 1866 medical director of the department of Missouri; and lastly acting assistant medical purveyor at St. Louis. At the time of his death he had seen more years of actual service than any, save two, of the army surgeons. He died Dec. 12, 1874, in St. Louis, Mo.

ABBADIE, D', governor of Louisiana, was born about 1710. He was sent to America by Louis XV of France, to take charge of certain royal business interests in New Orleans, and was granted military authority over the affairs of the province. He died Feb. 4, 1765, in New Orleans, La.

ABBATT, AGNES DEAN, artist, was born June 23, 1847, in New York city. She has given special attention to the painting of chrysanthemums, and her most noteworthy pictures are: When Autumn Turns the Leaves; and The Last of the Flowers. In the landscape field she has confined her work mostly to rural scenes in Westchester County, N. Y.

ABBE, CLEVELAND, astronomer, meteorologist, author, was born Dec. 3, 1838, in New York city. He was director of the Cincinnati observatory; and in 1871 became professor of meteorology in the national weather bureau and has since continued in that position. The more important of his many publications include Solar Spots and Terrestrial Temperature; A Plea for Terrestrial Physics; Atmospheric Radiation; Treatise on Meteorological Apparatus; and Preparatory Studies for Deductive Methods in Meteorology.

ABBE, FREDERICK RANDOLPH, clergyman, poet, was born in 1827 in Connecticut. He was a congregational clergyman in Massachusetts; and the author of The Temple Rebuilt, a poem of christian faith. He died in 1889.

ABBETT, LEON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, governor, was born Oct. 8, 1826, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he settled in Hoboken, N. J., in the practice of law; and in 1863 was appointed corporation attorney. In 1864 he was elected a representative in the New Jersey legislature; was re-elected in 1865; was again elected to the same position in 1868, and was chosen speaker of the house. He was re-elected to both positions in 1869; was corporation counsel for Bayonne City and the town of Union; and in 1872 was a delegate to the democratic national convention. In 1874 he was elected a state senator; and in 1876 became corporation counsel of Jersey City, to which place he had removed in 1866. In 1883 he was elected governor of New Jersey for the term of three years; and in 1893 he was appointed a justice of the supreme court.

ABBEY, EDWIN AUSTIN, artist, was born in 1852 in Philadelphia, Pa. He entered the employ of Harper and Brothers of New York city as an illustrator to Harpers' Magazine. He has attracted considerable attention as a water-colorist by such pictures as The Widow; and Reading the Bible.

ABBEY, EVERETT L., educator, author, was born Oct. 10, 1855, in Mayfield, Ohio. He graduated from Wooster University in 1880, and in 1890 traveled in Europe. He is a successful educator of Cambridge, Ohio; and the author of The Passion Play.

ABBEY, HENRY, journalist, poet, was born July 11, 1842, in Rondout, N. Y. He studied at Kingston Academy and at the Hudson River Institute in Columbia county. His first collection of poems, entitled May Dreams, was published in 1862. For many years he was engaged in journalism in New York city, where he is also connected with several financial institutions. He is the author of Ballads of Good Deeds; The City of Success; May Dreams; Ralph and Other Poems; Stories in Verse; and The Poems of Henry Abbey. The poem Ralph is considered one of his best.

ABBEY, HENRY EUGENE, dramatic manager, was born June 27, 1846, in Akron, Ohio. He began life as clerk in his father's jewelry store; rose to partnership; and in 1873 succeeded to the business. In 1869 he leased the Akron theater, which he managed with so much success that in 1876 he also leased the Park theater of New York city, and from that time forward devoted his energies entirely to dramatic affairs. He is now the manager of Abbey's theater and the Metropolitan opera house of New York city; and of the Tremont theater of Boston, Mass.

ABBEY, RICHARD, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Nov. 16, 1805, in Genesee county, N. Y. He was a prominent clergyman of the southern methodist church, among whose many theological and controversial writings are: End of the Apostolical Succession; Creed of All Men; Diuturnity; Ecce Ecclesia, a Reply to Ecce Homo; and The City of God and the Church Makers.

ABBOT, ABIEL, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1765, in Wilton, N. H. He was a congregational clergyman of Connecticut and Massachusetts; and the author of a History of Andover; and a Genealogy of the Abbot Family. He died Jan. 31, 1859, in West Cambridge, Mass.

ABBOT, ABIEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1770, in Andover, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Beverly, Mass.; and the author of Letters From Cuba. He died June 7, 1828, on Staten Island, N. Y.

ABBOT, EZRA, theologian, author, was born April 28, 1819, in Jackson, Maine. He was a unitarian biblical scholar of much prominence, who was for many years a professor in the Divinity school of Harvard university, and widely known for the extent of his bibliographical acquisitions. He was the author of Literature of the Doctrine of a Future Life; Authenticity of the Fourth Gospel; and The Fourth Gospel and Other Critical Essays. He died March 21, 1884, in Cambridge, Mass.

ABBOT, FRANCIS ELLINGWOOD, author, was born Nov. 6, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He is a religious and philosophical thinker of advanced views; for some years editor of The Index, of Cambridge; and the author of Scientific Theism; and The Way Out of Agnosticism.

ABBOT, GORHAM DUMMER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1807, in Hallowell, Maine. He was a congregational clergyman, long an educator of New York city, and a brother of Jacob Abbott, but returned to an older spelling of his surname. He was the author of Prayer-Book for the Young; Pleasure and Profit; and The Family at Home. He died July 31, 1874, in South Natick, Mass.

ABBOT, HENRY LARCORN, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1831, in Beverly, Mass. He is a general in the United States army, and of prominence as an engineer. Besides several series of Professional Papers, his writings include Lectures on the Defence of the Sea Coast of the United States; and Physics and Hydraulics of the Mississippi River.

ABBOT, JOEL, congressman, was born March 17, 1766, in Fairfield, Conn., and emigrated to Georgia. He was elected a representative in congress from Wilkes county from 1817 to 1825. He died Nov. 19, 1826, in Washington, Ga.

ABBOT, JOEL, naval officer, was born Jan. 18, 1793, in Westford, Mass. Congress voted him a handsome sword for gallantry in action off Cumberland Head on Sept. 11, 1814, and he was also promoted lieutenant. In 1852 he commanded the Macedonian in the Japan expedition, and succeeded Commodore Perry as flag-officer of the squadron. He died Dec. 1, 1855, in Hong Kong, China.

ABBOT, JOHN, educator, librarian, financier. In 1784 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and during 1787-92 was a tutor in Harvard college. For fourteen years he filled a professorship in Bowdoin college, and subsequently became a trustee and the college treasurer. For more than a quarter of a century he was an officer of Bowdoin college, as professor, librarian, and treasurer. For over half a century he was actively identified with the progressive welfare of his alma mater, and attained a national reputation in the educational world. He died in 1843 in Andover, Mass.

ABBOT, JOSEPH HALE, educator, was born Sept. 26, 1802, in Wilton, N. H. He graduated from Bowdoin college in 1822; was tutor there in 1825-27; and from 1827 to 1833 professor of mathematics and teacher of modern languages in Phillips Exeter academy. He then taught a school for young ladies in Boston, and subsequently became principal of the high school of Beverly, Mass. He paid much attention to the solving of pneumatic and hydraulic problems, and published ingenious and original speculations on these subjects. He died April 7, 1873, in Cambridge, Mass.

ABBOT, WILLIS JOHN, journalist, author, was born in 1863 in Connecticut. He is a journalist of New York city; and the author of Blue Jackets of 1776; Blue Jackets of 1812; Blue Jackets of 1861, three volumes of history for young people; Battle Fields of 1861; Battle Fields and Camp Fires; Battle Fields and Victory; and Life of Carter Harrison.

ABBOTT, ALEXANDER C., physician, educator, was born Feb. 26, 1860, in Baltimore, Md. He is the chief of division of bacteriology, pathology, and disinfection of the bureau of health of Philadelphia, Pa.; and fills the chair of hygiene in the Pennsylvania university.

ABBOTT, AMOS, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1786, in Andover, Mass. He was educated at a district school, but spent the most of his life as a trader and merchant. During the years 1835, 1836, and 1842, he was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature; from 1840 to 1842 was a member of the state senate; and represented his native state in congress from 1843 to 1849. He died Nov. 2, 1868, in Andover, Mass.

ABBOTT, ARTHUR VAUGHAN, electrician, author, was born in 1854 in New York. He is a civil, electrical, and mechanical engineer of Chicago; and the author of Electrical Transmission of Energy; The Evolution of a Switchboard; History and Use of Testing Machines; and Treatise on Fuel.

ABBOTT, ASA T., soldier, educator, was born in Sidney, Maine. He served as a union soldier in the civil war in the first regiment Minnesota volunteer infantry. In 1867 he was appointed military commandant of Shattuck Military school by the secretary of war; and under his command it has been placed at the very head of the military schools in the United States.

ABBOTT, AUSTIN, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 18, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He was a lawyer of New York city; and was dean of the Law school of New York university at the time of his death. Besides preparing several works with his brother Benjamin, he published Legal Remembrancer, Principles and Forms of Practice in Civil Actions in Courts of Record; The Law of Evidence; Select Cases on Code Pleading; and a Digest of New York Statutes. These legal compilations are of great value to the profession. He died in 1896.

ABBOTT, BENJAMIN, clergyman, was born in 1732 on Long Island, N. Y. The story of his life has for a century been a typical one for the methodists, of which denomination he was an early apostle. He died Aug. 14, 1796, in Salem, N. J.

ABBOTT, BENJAMIN VAUGHAN, lawyer, author, was born June 4, 1830, in Boston, Mass. He was a lawyer of New York city; and the author of Law Dictionary; Traveling Law School and Famous Trials; First Lessons in Government and Law; Patent Laws of All Nations; Year-Book of Jurisprudence for 1880; and Judge and Jury. He died Feb. 17, 1890, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ABBOTT, CHARLES CONRAD, physician, naturalist, author, was born June 4, 1843, in Trenton, N. J. He is a naturalist and physician of Trenton, whose writings show a very close and sympathetic observation of nature. He is the author of The Stone Age in New Jersey; Primitive Industry; A Naturalist's Rambles about Home; Cyclopædia of Natural History; Upland and Meadow; Wasteland Wanderings; The Birds About Us; Days Out of Doors; Outings at Odd Times; Recent Rambles; Travels in a Treetop; Notes of the Night; A Colonial Wooing, a novel; and Bird-Land Echoes.

ABBOTT, CHARLES EDWARD, educator, author, was born in 1811 in Maine. He was an educator in Connecticut; and the author of Down the Hill; and Village Boys. He died in 1880.

ABBOTT, DAVID, pioneer, was born Dec. 5, 1765, in Brookfield, Mass. In 1808 he became the first land-owner in what is now Erie county. He died in 1822.

ABBOTT, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born July 15, 1841, in Farmington, Maine. He is an episcopal clergyman of St. James episcopal church of Cambridge, but prior to 1878 a congregational minister and editor of The Congregationalist. He is the editor of The Literary World; and the author of Dialogues of Christ; The Long Look series of juvenile tales; A Trip Eastward; Revolutionary Times; Paragraph History of the United States; and Paragraph History of the American Revolution.

ABBOTT, ELIZABETH ROBINSON, educator, was born Sept. 11, 1852. She has been eminently successful in kindergarten work; and is secretary of the Connecticut Valley Kindergarten association. She is well known as a writer and speaker, and was the chief founder of the Woman's club of Waterbury, Conn.

ABBOTT, EMMA A., vocalist, was born Dec. 9, 1849, in Chicago, Ill. She was the daughter of a music teacher, and was educated in part by the aid of Clara Louise Kellogg. She sang throughout the United States, and in an incredibly short time amassed a fortune. Although married to Mr. E. J. Wetherill, she always retained her maiden name. She died Jan. 4, 1891, in Ogden, Utah; and was buried in Gloucester, Mass.

ABBOTT, FRANK, physician, author, was born Sept. 5, 1836, in Shapleigh, Maine. He received his education in the district and high schools of his native town, and at the university of the City of New York. He has attained eminence as a great physician, and for more than a quarter of a century has been professor and dean of faculty of the New York College of Dentistry. He is the author of several well-known works.

ABBOTT, JACOB, educator, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1803, in Hallowell, Maine. He was an educator of New England, who was a voluminous and popular writer for young people. Among his numerous writings the best known are The Franconia Stories; Marco Paul's Adventures; The Rollo Books; Histories of Celebrated Sovereigns; and Harper's Story Books. Few writers have given to the public a greater number of volumes. He has addressed himself principally to the young, with whom his works have been exceedingly popular. Nearly all of his books have been republished in England, and many have been translated into the various European and Asiatic languages. The twenty-eight volumes of Rollo Books are perhaps his best known. He died Oct. 31, 1879, in Farmington, Maine.

ABBOTT, JO, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, Hillsboro, Texas, was born Jan. 15, 1840, near Decatur, Ala. He served in the Twelfth Texas cavalry, confederate army, as first lieutenant. He was elected to the state legislature in 1869 and served one term. He was appointed by Governor Roberts judge of the twenty-eighth judicial district in 1879; was elected to the same position in 1880, and served four years. He was elected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third congresses, and re-elected to the Fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

ABBOTT, JOHN STEVENS CABOT, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 18, 1805, in Brunswick, Maine. He was for some years a congregational minister, but after 1844 devoted himself to literature and educational work. Among his works are comprised The Mother at Home; Practical Christianity; Romance of Spanish History; American Pioneers and Patriots; History of Napoleon; Napoleon at St. Helena; History of the French Revolution; History of the Civil War in America; Lives of the Presidents; History of Maine from Its Discovery by Northmen; Christopher Carson; History of Napoleon III; History of Frederick the Great; and History of Christianity. He died June 17, 1877, in Fair Haven, Conn.

ABBOTT, JOSEPH C., soldier, lawyer, journalist, United States senator, was born July 15, 1825, in Concord, N. H. He received an academic education; read law, and was admitted to the bar in 1852. He was editor and proprietor of the Manchester American for five years, and subsequently editor of the Boston Atlas. He was appointed adjutant general of the state of New Hampshire in 1855, and held the office until 1861, when he resigned. He raised a regiment of infantry in 1861; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier general for gallant services in the capture of Fort Fisher. After leaving the service he removed to North Carolina and entered into business; in 1867 was elected to the state constitutional convention; in 1868 was elected to the state legislature, and in 1868 was elected to the United States senate as a republican. He died Oct. 8, 1882, in Wilmington, N. C.

ABBOTT, JOSIAH GARDNER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1815, in Chelmsford, Mass. He received a classical education, graduating from Harvard university in 1832. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1836; a state senator in 1841-42; was judge of the superior court in 1855; and successfully contested the seat of Rufus S. Frost as a representative from Massachusetts to the Forty-fourth congress. He declined the renomination, and was subsequently a candidate for the United States senate, and for the governorship of Massachusetts. He died June 2, 1891, in Wellesley Hills, Mass.

ABBOTT, LYMAN, lawyer, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Dec. 18, 1835, in Roxbury, Mass. He is a congregational minister of broad views, who as editor of The Illustrated Christian Weekly and successor to Henry Ward Beecher as pastor of Plymouth church of Brooklyn, has exercised a wide influence. He is the author of Christianity and Social Problems; Jesus of Nazareth; Old Testament Shadows of New Testament Truths; Illustrated Commentary on the New Testament; A Layman's Story; How to Study the Bible; Life of Christ; In Aid of Faith; The Evolution of Christianity; A Study in Human Nature; and Dictionary of Religious Knowledge.

ABBOTT, NEHEMIAH, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 29, 1806, in Sidney, Maine. He was a member of the house of representatives in the Maine legislature in 1842-43; and was elected a representative from Maine to the Thirty-fifth congress.

ABBOTT, RUSSELL BIGELOW, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Aug. 8, 1823, in Brookville, Ind.

He received his education at the Indiana university, and during 1850-55 was principal of Newcastle seminary, and of the presbyterian for the two succeeding years. In 1857 he was ordained a clergyman in the presbyterian church, and filled pastorates in Brookville in 1857-64; and Knightstown in 1864-66; when he moved to Minnesota. In 1869 he was appointed principal of the St. Paul seminary, when he received a call as pastor of the presbyterian church of Albert Lea, which position he filled till 1884. Since 1884 he has been president of the Albert Lea college, and pastor of the presbyterian church. He is the author of History and Analysis of the Books of the Bible; Biblical History; and other works.

ABEEL, DAVID, missionary, author, was born June 12, 1804, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was a reformed Dutch missionary in China; and the author of Journal of a Residence in China; A Missionary Convention at Jerusalem; and The Claims of the World to the Gospel. He died Sept. 4, 1846, in Albany, N. Y.

ABELL, ARUNAH S., founder of the Baltimore Sun, was born Aug. 8, 1806, in Providence, R. I. The Baltimore Sun was established as a penny paper in 1837 and placed under the special management of Mr. Abell. Upon this journal he won distinguished success. In 1868 he bought the interests of his associates in The Baltimore Sun, and thenceforward was sole owner of a property which made the fortunes of his family. The Baltimore Sun is now owned by the corporation of The A. S. Abell Co. He died April 19, 1888, in Baltimore, Md.

ABERCROMBIE, JAMES, congressman, was born in Georgia. Moving to Alabama, he was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1855.

ABERCROMBIE, JAMES, clergyman, was born in 1758 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was principal of the Philadelphia academy from 1810 to 1819, and retired from the ministry in 1833. He published Lectures on the Catechism; and several sermons. He died June 26, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ABERCROMBIE, JOHN JOSEPH, soldier, was born 1802, in Tennessee. In 1822 he graduated from West Point; served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and was brevetted brigadier-general. He retired in 1865; and died Jan. 3, 1877, in Roslyn, N. Y.

ABERNETHY, ALONZO, soldier, educator, college president, was born April 14, 1836, in Sandusky county, Ohio. He received his early education in the public schools of Bellevue, Ohio. In 1854 he moved with his parents to Illyria, Iowa, in which state he attended the Burlington academy; and subsequently entered the university of Chicago, from which he graduated in 1866. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, enlisting in company F, Ninth Iowa volunteer infantry, serving four years, going out as a private and returning as lieutenant-colonel in command; and was twice wounded. He was in forty battles, including Pea Ridge, Vicksburg, Brandon, and Atlanta. In 1866 he represented his county in the lower house of the Eleventh general assembly. In 1870 he was elected principal of the Des Moines Baptist college, served one year, and has been a member of its board of trustees continuously since. In 1871 he was elected superintendent of public instruction of Iowa; was re-elected in 1873, and again in 1875. In 1876 he served as president of the university of Chicago; and since 1881 he has been connected with the Cedar Valley seminary of Osage, Iowa.

ABERNETHY, GEORGE, governor of Oregon, was born in 1807 in Scotland. He came to the United States with his parents in 1809, and settled in New York state. In 1840 he moved to Oregon, and was governor of Oregon during 1845-49, before the creation of Oregon as a territory. He died in 1877 in Portland, Ore.

ABERT, BYRON D. L., soldier, business man, was born Dec. 2, 1841, in Milwaukee, Wis. He enlisted in the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry regiment of volunteers, in which he became corporal of company E. In 1864 he was promoted to first lieutenant; and in 1865 was elected superintendent of the county poor.

ABERT, GEORGE, pioneer, state legislator, was born May 10, 1817, in France. He helped to build up Milwaukee; and in 1839 erected the first bakery on the west side of the present city of Milwaukee. In 1846 he was chosen alderman; and for six terms during 1861-72 he was a member of the state legislature. In 1865 he established the first iron foundry. He died Oct. 14, 1890, in Milwaukee, Wis.

ABERT, GEORGE A., business man, state senator, was born Oct. 22, 1840, in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1877-78 he was state senator from the seventh Wisconsin district; and in 1879 he served as a city commissioner of public works of Milwaukee, Wis.

ABERT, JAMES WILLIAM, soldier, was born Nov. 18, 1820, in Mount Holly, N. J. He served through the civil war; attained the rank of major of the United States engineers, and resigned from the army in 1864. He was examiner of patents in Washington; and later professor of mathematics and drawing in the university of Missouri at Rolla.

ABERT, JOHN B., soldier, mechanic, was born May 16, 1848, in Milwaukee, Wis. He was noted as an expert mechanic. In 1864 he enlisted in the Forty-fifth Wisconsin regiment of volunteers and served until the close of the war.

ABERT, JOHN JAMES, soldier, was born Sept. 17, 1788, in Shepherdstown, Va. In 1829 he succeeded to the charge of the topographical bureau at Washington, and in 1838 became colonel in command of that branch of the engineers. He was retired in 1861 after long and faithful service. Colonel Abert was associated in the supervision of many of the earlier national works of engineering, and his reports prepared for the government are standards of authority. He was a member of several scientific societies, and was one of the organizers of the national institute of science, which was subsequently merged into the Smithsonian institute. He died Sept. 27, 1863, in Washington, D. C.

ABERT, SILVANUS THAYER, civil engineer, author, was born July 22, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a civil engineer in the United States service; and the author of Notes Historical and Statistical upon the Projected Route for an Inter-oceanic Canal between the Atlantic and Pacific.

ABERT, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Nov. 18, 1820, in Mount Holly, N. J. He graduated from West Point in 1842. After service in the infantry he was transferred to the topographical engineers, and was engaged on the survey of the northern lakes in 1843-44. He then served on the expedition to New Mexico, and published a report. From 1848 to 1850 he was assistant in drawing at West Point, and from 1851 to 1860 he was engaged in the improvement of western rivers. During the civil war he served with distinction.

ABERT, WILLIAM STONE, lawyer, was born July 27, 1845, in Washington, D. C. He is a prominent lawyer of Washington; and among the notable cases in which he has figured may be mentioned The Washington city postoffice case and the Powell will case.

ABERT, WILLIAM STRETCH, soldier, was born Feb. 1, 1836, in Washington, D. C. He served in the civil war; was brevetted major in 1862; and brigadier-general in 1865. He died Aug. 25, 1867, in Galveston, Texas.

ABRAHAM, ABRAHAM, merchant, was born March 9, 1843, in New York city. He became senior partner of the present firm of Abraham and Straus, dry goods merchants. He is an excellent merchant, and his store is now the leading bazaar of Brooklyn, N. Y., employing more than two thousand persons, and covering about thirty city lots.

ABRAHAM, WOODWARD, journalist, business man, was born Oct. 2, 1814, in Maryland. He was for a time one of the publishers of two Baltimore journals, The Eastern Express and The Kaleidoscope; but of later years he has devoted himself to the management of an extensive ice business.

ACHESON, ERNEST F., journalist, congressman, was born Sept. 19, 1855, in Washington, Pa. He was educated at Washington and Jefferson college; read law and was admitted to the bar in 1877; and in 1879 purchased The Washington Observer, of which he has since been editor. He was elected president of the Pennsylvania Editorial association in January, 1893, and in June of the same year was chosen as recording secretary of the National Editorial association. For ten years he was a member of the republican state committee; was a delegate to the republican national conventions at Chicago in 1884 and at St. Louis in 1896; was elected to the Fifty-fourth; and re-elected to the Fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ACHESON, MARCUS W., lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He settled at Pittsburg, in the practice of his profession. In 1880 he was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Pennsylvania, residing in Washington, Pa.

ACHESON, SARAH C., temperance worker, was born Feb. 20, 1844, in Washington, Pa. She has been a power in temperance work in the state of Texas, and has been state president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. She resides with her husband, Dr. Acheson, in Denison, Texas.

ACHESON, THOMAS DAVIS, clergyman, missionary, was born Dec. 8, 1858, in Canada. For eight years he was a missionary, until he accepted the pastorate of the presbyterian church of East Grand Forks, Minn., where his eloquence has made him popular throughout the state.

ACKEN, WILLIAM HENRY, business man, was born Jan. 11, 1833, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was elected treasurer of the New York rubber company, and so remained until 1883, when he was elected president of the company.

ACKER, DAVID D., merchant, was born June 13, 1822, in Bergen county, N. J. In 1868 he entered the mercantile business; was vice-president of the New York National Exchange bank; and an active and influential member of the Produce and Mercantile Exchanges and Chamber of Commerce. He died March 23, 1888, in New York city.

ACKER, EPHRAIM L., educator, journalist, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1827, in Marlborough township, Pa. He was editor and publisher of The Norristown Register. He was superintendent of common schools for Montgomery county from 1854 to 1860; and was appointed postmaster at Norristown in 1860. He was inspector of Montgomery county prison three years; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the Forty-second congress.

ACKERMAN, AMOS T., lawyer, was born in 1819, in New Hampshire. He received a good education; studied law, and came to the bar in 1841. In 1850 he moved to Georgia and settled in Elberton, where he practiced his profession. In 1866 he was appointed United States attorney for the district of Georgia, and remained in office until 1870; in that year he was appointed attorney-general of the United States, and continued in that position until 1872.

ACKERMAN, CHRISTIAN, manufacturer, legislator, was born Sept. 4, 1850, in Hanover, Germany. He was elected to the Wisconsin state assembly from Sheboygan in 1894; and received the re-election in 1896.

ACKERMAN, ERNEST ROBINSON, manufacturer, was born June 17, 1863, in New York city. In 1891 he was elected to the presidency of The Lawrence Cement Co., which produces five thousand barrels per day, nearly an eighth of the whole product in this country. The works of the company extend four miles on the Rondout creek in Ulster county, N. Y. The mills, kilns, store-houses, repair shops, cooper shops, railroads and mines, constitute an extensive plant, requiring the services of about a thousand men. A fleet of twenty-five canal boats, built by the company, transports the product to market by way of The Delaware and Hudson canal and the Hudson river, and a large number of outside vessels find desirable employment in the same business.

ACKERMAN, JESSIE, temperance advocate, was born July 4, 1860. She is a world's temperance missionary under the auspices of the Good Templars and the W. C. T. U.; and has traveled in Australia, China, Japan, Siam, India, Africa, and other lands. Her report in the spring of 1896 shows 200,000 miles traveled; 502 cities visited; 1,417 meetings held; 1,317 lectures and addresses delivered; 9,000 white ribbons distributed; 2,000 men pledged to abstinence; 647 Good Templars initiated; and much other active temperance work performed.

ACKERMAN, JOHN C., merchant, legislator, was born March 21, 1853, in Luzerne county, Pa. He was elected to the Pennsylvania house of representatives in 1896.

ACKLEN, JOSEPH HAYES, lawyer, legislator, was born May 20, 1850, in Nashville, Tenn., the eldest son of Joseph A. S. Acklen and Adelia Hayes. He was educated during early life by private tutor, subsequently at Burlington college, New Jersey. He graduated in two foreign universities, acquiring a thorough knowledge of both German and French; and finally graduated from the law school of Lebanon, Tenn. Since 1871 he has been actively engaged in the practice of law. He was elected as a democrat and served in the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth congresses from the Third district of Louisiana. In 1884 he returned to Nashville, where he has successfully engaged in the practice of his profession. His writings and speeches on political questions have attracted widespread attention.

ACKLEY, HORACE A., physician, was born in 1815, in Genesee county, N. Y. He gave a course of lectures in Willoughby Medical college in 1836. He lived in Toledo for three years, and in 1842 settled in Cleveland, in which city he filled the chair of surgery in the Cleveland Medical college until 1858, when he resigned. Here he died April 24, 1859.

ACTON, THOMAS COXTON, banker, was born Feb. 23, 1823, in New York city. In 1860 he became commissioner of the New York metropolitan police, and two years later was president of that board, where he remained for seven years, in which office he did good service in suppressing the draft riots. In 1870 he was appointed superintendent of the United States assay office, which post he held for twelve years. He became United States assistant treasurer at New York in 1882, and since 1887 has been president of the bank of New Amsterdam.

ADAIR, GEORGE WASHINGTON, capitalist, was born March 1, 1823, in Morgan county, Ga. He has been one of the builders of every Atlanta enterprise; promoter of the Atlanta cotton factory; president of the Georgia Pacific railroad; president of the Tallapoosa Land company; and director of a number of prosperous corporations.

ADAIR, JAMES, Indian trader, author. He was a trader with the Indians of the southern states, and for forty years lived exclusively among them. He is the author of a volume entitled The History of the American Indians.

ADAIR, JOHN, soldier, legislator, United States senator, was born in 1759, in Chester county, S. C. He emigrated to Kentucky in 1787; served as a major in the border warfare of the time; was elected to the Kentucky legislature, serving one year as speaker; in 1799 was a member of the convention which formed the state constitution; subsequently held the office of register of the land office in Kentucky; and was a senator of the United States from Kentucky during the years 1805 and 1806. He commanded the Kentucky troops at the battle of New Orleans under General Jackson, and was appointed a general in the army. He was elected a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1831 to 1833. He died May 19, 1840, in Harrisburg, Ky.

ADAIR, WILLIAM, horticulturist, state senator, was born in 1815, near Glasgow, Scotland. In 1834 he settled in Detroit, Mich.; worked as a carpenter until 1840; when he began business as a gardener and horticulturist. He held several local positions of honor in Detroit, among them president of the Detroit Mechanics' society and president of St. Andrew's society. He was state senator of Michigan for nine years during 1861-77.

ADAMS, ABIGAIL SMITH, author, was born Nov. 23, 1744, in Weymouth, Mass. Her father was the Rev. William Smith, for forty years a congregational clergyman of Weymouth. She was the wife of President John Adams, to whom she was married Oct. 25, 1764. She was endowed with intellectual gifts, tact, and practical knowledge, and eminently qualified to be the companion of her husband; and was also an inspiration to her gifted son. She is known to literature by her entertaining Letters, edited by her grandson. She died Oct. 28, 1818, in Quincy, Mass.

ADAMS, ALBERT BRINSMADE, educator, clergyman, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1856, in Kalamazoo county, Mich. He graduated from the Vicksburg high school, Michigan; and for eight years taught school in Mills county, Iowa. He now fills a pastorate in Little Sioux, Iowa, and has attained success as a clergyman and evangelist. He is the author of several meritorious poems, the most notable of which is The Honored Brave.

ADAMS, ALLEN WILLSON, merchant, was born June 25, 1848, in Hampton, N. Y. He is a merchant of New York city, and for several years past has done a large and successful business.

ADAMS, ALVA, merchant, legislator, governor of Colorado, was born May 14, 1850, in Iowa county, Wis. In 1876 he served with distinction as a member of the first Colorado state legislature; was elected governor of that state and served during 1887-89; and was again elected to that high office for the term of 1897-99. He has also attained success as a hardware merchant of Pueblo.

ADAMS, ALVIN, founder of the Adams Express company, was born June 16, 1804. In 1840 Alvin Adams engaged in the then novel specialty of forwarding parcels, money, and valuable merchandise between Boston and New York by way of Worcester, Norwich and New London, beginning in a little store in Boston. Later he formed the partnership of Adams and Co., with Ephraim Farnsworth, the latter taking charge of the New York office, and being succeeded at his death soon afterwards by William B. Dinsmore. In 1854 Mr. Adams effected a union of four concerns under the name of The Adams Express Co., and became president of the organization. He died Sept. 2, 1877, in Watertown, Mass.

ADAMS, AMOS, clergyman, was born Sept. 1, 1728, in Medfield, Mass. He graduated at Harvard in 1752, and in September of the following year became pastor of a church in Roxbury, which he served until his death. He was secretary of the convention of ministers at Watertown, which in 1775 recommended the people to take up arms. Many of his sermons were published from 1756 to 1769, as well as two discourses on Religious Liberty. The most notable of his writings were two discourses on the general fast, 6 April, 1769, in which he gave A Concise Historical View of the Difficulties, Hardships, and Perils which Attended the Planting and Progressive Improvement in New England, with a Particular Account of Its Long and Destructive Wars. He died Oct. 5, 1775, in Dorchester, Mass.

ADAMS, ANDREW, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in January, 1736, in Stratford, Conn. He graduated from Yale college in 1760; adopted the profession of the law, and settled in the practice in Litchfield in 1764. From 1775 to 1782 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress, and was one of the signers of the articles of confederation. In 1789 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Connecticut, and in 1793 chief justice of said court. He died Nov. 26, 1797, in Litchfield, Conn.

ADAMS, AUSTIN, lawyer, jurist, was born May 24, 1826, in Andover, Vt. His life is interwoven with the educational history of Vermont and Iowa. Eight generations before him his grandfathers without a break have been presidents of educational institutions where they lived. He graduated from Dartmouth college, and from Harvard Law school. He was a prominent educator; president of the public school board of Dubuque, Iowa; regent of the state university of Iowa; a successful lawyer and law lecturer; and judge of the supreme court of Iowa for twelve years. When chief justice he admitted the first woman to practice before the supreme court; and always insisted that the true wife and mother should enter fully into the intellectual life of her life companion. He was a man of rare literary attainments, and left a volume of poems. He died in October, 1890.

ADAMS, BENJAMIN, legislator, congressman, was born in 1765 in Worcester, Mass. He was a member of the legislature; as representative from 1809-14; and as senator in 1814-15, and 1822-25. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1816-21. He died March 28, 1837, in Uxbridge, Mass.

ADAMS, BLANCHE HERMINE, educator, poet, and daughter of Major Enoch George Adams, was born Oct. 22, 1871, in Vancouver, Wash. In 1885 she moved to South Berwick, Maine, and in 1890 graduated from the Berwick academy. She has become a successful teacher, and holds high rank as an elocutionist. She is the author of several prize stories, and her poems have appeared in several standard works.

ADAMS, BROOKS, lawyer, author, was born June 24, 1848, in Quincy, Mass. He graduated from Harvard in 1870, and is a successful lawyer of Boston. He is the author of The Gold Standard; The Emancipation of Massachusetts, a careful study of the evolution of religious freedom; and The Law of Civilization and Decay, an Essay in History.

ADAMS, CHARLES, lawyer, author, was born March 12, 1785, in Arlington, Vt. He became a prominent lawyer, and was a constant contributor to newspapers on political questions. He was the friend and adviser of General Wool during the Canadian difficulties of 1838, and wrote a history of the events connected with that rebellion. He died Feb. 13, 1861, in Burlington, Vt.

ADAMS, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born in 1808, in New Hampshire. He was a methodist clergyman who wrote extensively, and among whose works are Evangelism in the Middle of the Nineteenth Century; Women of the Bible; The Poet Preacher, a Memorial of Charles Wesley; The Earth and Its Wonders; Life of Cromwell; and Life Sketches of Macaulay. He died in 1890.

ADAMS, CHARLES BAKER, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 11, 1814, in Dorchester, Mass. He was a naturalist, and published Contributions to Conchology; and Monographs of Several Species of Shells. He died Jan. 19, 1853, in St. Thomas, W. I.

ADAMS, CHARLES COFFIN, clergyman, author, was born in 1826. He was an episcopal clergyman; and the author of Creation, a Recent Work of God; Life of Christ; Anthroposophy; and The Bible, a Scientific Revelation. He died in 1888.

ADAMS, CHARLES FOLLEN, soldier, poet, was born April 21, 1842, in Dorchester, Mass. He is principally known as the author of Leedle Yawcob Strauss; Leedle Yawcob Strauss, and Other Poems; Dialect Ballads; and other works. He served gallantly as a soldier during the civil war in the thirteenth regiment Massachusetts volunteer infantry. He has delivered many of his original productions before Boston audiences, in which city he is a successful merchant.

ADAMS, CHARLES FRANCIS, lawyer, legislator, congressman, author, was born Aug. 18, 1807, in Boston, Mass. He spent the most of his boyhood in St. Petersburg and London, whilst his father, John Quincy Adams, was minister to Russia and England. He graduated from Harvard university in 1825; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1828. He served three years in the lower house, and two years in the upper house of the Massachusetts legislature. In 1848 he was a delegate to the Buffalo convention, and elected president. was the candidate for vice-president on the ticket with Mr. Van Buren; was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-sixth congress, and received the re-election to the thirty-seventh congress. One of the most noted events of his life was his appointment as minister to England during the civil war in America, and though encountering the most bitter social hostility in England, he maintained the right of his country, and exercised the grandest qualities of true statesmanship just where and when they were of priceless value. He edited The Life and Works of John Adams; Letters of Mrs. Abigail Adams; Life and Works of John Q. Adams; and Familiar Letters of John and Abigail Adams, with Memoir of Mrs. Adams. He died Nov. 21, 1886, in Boston, Mass.

ADAMS, CHARLES FRANCIS, JR., soldier, railroad president, author, was born May 27, 1835, in Boston, Mass. He was an officer in the union army during the civil war, and subsequently an expert in railway science and president of the Union Pacific railway. Since resigning that office he has devoted his attention to historical writing, his estimates of men and motives often differing materially from those of other writers in the same field. He is the author of Notes on Railway Accidents; Chapters of Erie; Railroads; A College Fetich; Massachusetts, Its Historians and Its History; Three Episodes of Massachusetts History; Richard Henry Dana [infra], a Biography; and Life of Charles Francis Adams.

ADAMS, CHARLES H., lawyer, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1824, in Coxsackie, N. Y. He studied law and practiced until 1850, when he engaged in manufacturing at Cohoes, N. Y.; and served as trustee and president of the water board in that place before it was made a city. In 1851 he served as aid to the governor. In 1857 he was elected a member of the assembly; was state senator in 1872 and 1873; and was a member of the republican national convention in 1872. For a long time he was president of the National Bank of Cohoes, and was the first mayor of the city. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress.

ADAMS, CHARLES KENDALL, educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 24, 1835, in Derby, Vt. He received his education in the university of Michigan, college de France, and the universities of Leipzig, Berlin, Bonn, Munich, Rome and Paris. During 1862-67 he was assistant professor of history and latin in the university of Michigan; and during 1867-85 filled the chair of history in the same institution. During 1885-92 he was president of Cornell university; and since the latter year has been president of the university of Wisconsin. By founding an historical seminary in the university of Michigan in 1869, he became the first introducer of the German seminary method of teaching in the United States. He was at one time dean of political science in the university of Michigan; and has been president of the American Historical association. His best known works are Manual of Historical Literature; Democracy and Monarchy in France; and Christopher Columbus. He was also the editor-in-chief of Johnson's Universal Cyclopedia.

ADAMS, DANIEL, physician, state senator, author, was born Sept. 29, 1773, in Townsend, Mass. He taught a select school in Boston in 1806-13; practiced medicine in Lancaster, Boston, and Keene, N. H.; was state senator in New Hampshire in 1838-40; and was president of the New Hampshire Medical and Bible societies. Besides an arithmetic, which was extensively used, and other school books, he published an oration at Leominster on the death of Washington; edited the Telescope of Mt. Vernon, and the Medical and Agricultural Register of Boston. He died June 8, 1864, in Keene, N. H.

ADAMS, EDWARD DEAN, banker, scientist, was born April 9, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He received his education at the Chauncey Hall school of his native city, and at the Norwich university of Vermont. He has been president, director and trustee of many railroads, scientific and art organizations; was managing partner of the New York banking house of Winslow, Lanier and Co.; president of companies developing Niagara Falls power; chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific Railway company, and chairman of the board of directors of the American Cotton Oil company. He was the author and executor of plans for the reorganization of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the West Shore Railroad company, the Northern Pacific Railroad company, the American Cotton Oil Trust, and numerous other companies.

ADAMS, EDWIN, comedian, was born Feb. 3, 1834, in Medford, Mass. He has attained success in all the large cities of the United States as an accomplished light comedian. He died Oct. 28, 1877, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ADAMS, ELMER B., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 27, 1842, in Pomfret, Vt. He was educated at Yale college and Harvard law school; in 1868 removed to Missouri, being engaged in general practice of law except from 1879-85, during which time he was one of the circuit judges of St. Louis. In 1895 he was appointed judge of the United States district court of Missouri, eastern district.

ADAMS, EZRA EASTMAN, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 29, 1813, in Concord, N. H. He was made professor of theology in Lincoln university, Pa.; and in 1870 became editorially connected with the Presbyterian of Philadelphia. He died Nov. 3, 1871, in Oxford, Pa.

ADAMS, F. W., physician, musician, was born in 1787. He was a good performer on the violin, and early turned his attention to violin-making. He died in 1859, in Montpelier, Vt.

ADAMS, FLORENCE ADELAIDE FOWLE, dramatic reader, teacher, author, was born Oct. 15, 1863, in Chelsea, Mass. In 1884 she graduated from the Boston School of Oratory; and in 1888 was married to George Adams, a direct descendant of the statesmen and presidents of that name. She is the author of Gestures and Pantomimic Action; and still pursues her chosen line of work.

ADAMS, FRANCIS, farmer, merchant, state senator, was born in April, 1862. He was elected a member of the Florida state senate from Hamilton in 1894; and in his town and county has filled numerous offices of honor.

ADAMS, FRANCIS ALEXANDRE, journalist, orator, was born May 11, 1874, in New York city. In 1890 he edited and published the Gotham Monthly, which was the pioneer genealogical periodical in America, and which in 1891, under the title of Adams' Magazine, became the official exponent of the Daughters of the American Revolution. He has gained prominence as an orator, and in 1896 was appointed a campaign speaker by the New York democratic party.

ADAMS, FRANCIS COLBURN, author, was born in 1850. He was a writer of Charleston, S. C., and wrote under various pseudonyms. He was the author of Manuel Pereira, or the Sovereign Rule of South Carolina; Uncle Tom at Home; Our World, or the Democrats' Rule; Justice in the Byways; Life and Adventures of Major Potter; An Outcast, a novel; The Story of a Trooper; Siege of Washington, for Little People; and The Von Toodleburgs, or the Memoirs of a Very Distinguished Family.

ADAMS, FRANKLIN GEORGE, author, was born May 13, 1824, in Rodman, N. Y. In 1876, at the beginning of the work of the Kansas State Historical society, he was appointed secretary, a position which he still holds. He has been editor of several newspapers; and is the author of a volume entitled Homestead Guide.

ADAMS, GEORGE, jurist, was a citizen of Mississippi. He was appointed United States judge for the district embracing that state, and resided at Natchez.

ADAMS, GEORGE, soldier, merchant, banker, was born Sept. 13, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the Baltimore schools and at the Newton university. In 1852 he moved to Wheeling, W. Va., where he subsequently engaged in the grocery and commission business. In 1864 he organized the First National bank of Wheeling; and for many years was president of one of the largest banking institutions of that city. During the civil war he served as captain and subsequently as colonel of the fifth regiment of West Virginia militia, an organization that gave good service in defense of the union. He has been president of the Wheeling Library association; president of the Buckeye Glass company; and of various other institutions.

ADAMS, GEORGE BURTON, educator, author, was born in 1851 in Vermont. He is an historical writer; professor of history at Yale university; and the author of Civilization During the Middle Ages; and The Growth of the French Nation.

ADAMS, GEORGE ENOCH, soldier, journalist, poet, was born in Bow, N. H. In 1849 he graduated from Yale college, and then taught school in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maryland and Missouri. In 1861 he enlisted in Company D, second regiment New Hampshire volunteer infantry; he was afterward wounded at the battle of Williamsburg, the bullet still remaining in his body. He was in the peach orchard at the battle of Gettysburg. In 1865 he commanded at Fort Rice, D. T., where he met and vanquished the famous Sitting Bull and ten thousand warriors. He was mustered out of service as captain and brevet major. For a number of years he was editor and owner of the Vancouver Register, W. T., where he was also register of the land office. He next published the Columbian of St. Helena, Ore., where he was also justice of the peace, and filled various other public positions of trust. Major Adams is a brilliant lecturer, and a poet of excellence.

ADAMS, GEORGE EVERETT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 18, 1840, in Keene, N. H. He removed to Chicago in 1853; graduated from Harvard university in 1860; studied law at Dane law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1865, and engaged in practice at Chicago. In 1880 he was elected a state senator for a term of five years; was elected a representative from Illinois to the Forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first congresses.

ADAMS, GEORGE M. soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1837, in Knox county, Ky. He was educated at Centre college; studied law; was clerk of the circuit court of Knox county from 1859 to 1861; subsequently served for a few months as a captain in the union army; and was an additional paymaster of volunteers from 1861 to 1865. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the Fortieth congress, and re-elected to the three succeeding congresses. In 1875 he was elected clerk of the house of representatives of the Forty-fourth congress.

ADAMS, GREEN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 20, 1812, in Barbourville, Ky. He was bred a farmer; read law and adopted that profession. In 1832-33 he was deputy sheriff of Knox county; in 1839 was elected to the state legislature, and was re-elected; was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1847-49; was a presidential elector in 1844 and 1856, and a judge of the circuit court of Kentucky from 1851-56. In 1859 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the Thirty-sixth congress; in 1861 was appointed sixth auditor of the United States treasury; and was disbursing clerk in the house of representatives at Washington from 1875 to 1881. He died Jan. 18, 1884.

ADAMS, HANNAH, the first woman in the United States to make a profession of literature, was born in 1755 in Medfield, Mass. After the civil war she opened a school to prepare young men for college. Her principal work appeared in 1784, entitled A View of Religious Opinions; and a fourth edition of that work was entitled A Dictionary of Religions. She was also the author of A History of New England; Evidences of Christianity; History of the Jews; and Letters on the Gospel. She died Nov. 15, 1832, in Brookline, Mass.

ADAMS, HENRY, author, was born Feb. 16, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He is an historian and political biographer, living in Washington; and the author of Life of John Randolph; Life of Albert Gallatin; and other works.

ADAMS, HENRY CARTER, author, was born in 1852 in Iowa. He is a political economist of note; and the author of Public Debts, an Essay in the Science of Finance; and Taxation in the United States, 1789-1816.

ADAMS, HENRY H., merchant, was born July 9, 1844, in Collamer, Ohio. In 1882 he became associated with the Cole-rain Company of Reading, Pa.; and three years later settled in New York city, engaging there in the iron business. In 1890 he was elected president of the Columbus and Hocking Iron and Coal Company; and in 1891 became president of the Henry H. Adams Company of New York city.

ADAMS, HERBERT BAXTER, educator, author, was born April 16, 1850, in Amherst, Mass. He is a professor of history at Johns Hopkins university, and the secretary of the American Historical association from its beginning. He is the author of The Germanic Origin of New England Towns; Saxon Tithingmen in America; Norman Constables in America; Village Communities of Cape Ann and Salem; Thomas Jefferson and the University of Virginia; Methods of Historical Study; and History of the United States Constitution. He has edited the Life and Writings of Jared Sparks.

ADAMS, ISAAC, physician, legislator, was born April 23, 1767, in Andover, Mass. He was one of the committee on education in the Michigan house of representatives. He assisted in preparing the bill to establish the university of Michigan, and took an active interest in that institution during his life. He died in 1852, in Troy, Mich.

ADAMS, ISAAC, inventor, state senator, was born 1803 in Rochester, N. H. In 1823 he invented the printing-press that bears his name. It was introduced in 1830, and came into almost universal use, being still so popular as to warrant its manufacture in more than thirty different sizes. He improved it in 1834, making it substantially what it now is. He was a member of the Massachusetts state senate in 1840. He died July 19, 1883, in Sandwich, N. H.

ADAMS, JAMES HOPKINS, state senator, governor of South Carolina, was born about 1811 in South Carolina. He graduated from Yale college in 1831; was a member of the legislature and senate of South Carolina, and was governor of that state from 1855 to 1857. After the secession of South Carolina from the union he was one of the commissioners appointed to confer with the president concerning United States property in South Carolina. He died July 27, 1861, near Columbia, S. C.

ADAMS, JAMES W., journalist, state senator, was born Jan. 16, 1865, in Havesville, Ky. He is the editor of the Daily Graphic, and served as state senator in the Kentucky legislature in 1893. One of the principal events of his public life is his world's fair speech in the Kentucky state senate in 1893.

ADAMS, JANE KELLEY, educator, was born Oct. 30, 1852, in Woburn, Mass. In 1875 she graduated from Vassar college, and has since been interested in educational work. In 1881 she became the wife of Charles Day Adams, a noted lawyer of Boston, Mass. During 1886-87 she was president of the Woburn Woman's club, and was one of the founders of the Woburn Home for Aged Women, of which she has been vice-president.

ADAMS, JASPER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 27, 1793, in Medway, Mass. He was an episcopal clergyman, once noted as an educator at West Point, Charleston, and elsewhere, and published The Elements of Moral Philosophy, and other works. He died Oct. 25, 1841, in Charleston, S. C.

ADAMS, JEWETT W., governor. He was elected governor of Nevada for the term of four years from January, 1883.

ADAMS, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Greene county, N. Y., from 1833 to 1835. He died Sept. 28, 1854, in Catskill, N. Y.

ADAMS, JOHN, second president of the United States, was born Oct. 30, 1735, in Braintree, Mass. He graduated from Harvard college in 1755; chose law as a profession; and was admitted to the bar in 1761. In 1764 he married Abigail Smith, an accomplished daughter of the Rev. William Smith. In 1770 he was chosen representative from Boston in the Massachusetts assembly, and in 1774 he was elected to the first continental congress. He was re-elected in 1776, and was one of the committee which drafted the declaration of independence in June of that year. Adams was appointed as commissioner to the court of France in December, 1777, and returned in 1779. After his return he was chosen a member of the Massachusetts convention for framing a constitution, and on the 29th of September, 1779, he was appointed minister plenipotentiary to treat with Great Britain for peace and commerce. He was soon after appointed minister to Holland, and recalled in July, 1781, to Paris. In January, 1785, he was appointed minister to England, and occupied that post until 1788, when he resigned and returned home. He was elected first vice-president of the United States, and took the oath of office April 21, 1789, which office he held, by re-election, until March 4, 1797. He was elected president in 1796, and took the oath of office March 4, 1797, at Philadelphia. He was defeated for a re-election, and, at the close of his official term, he retired to his farm at Quincy. John Adams held office over twenty-five years, and died moderately well off, on July 4, 1826, with the same words on his lips which, fifty years before, on that day, he had uttered on the floor of congress: Independence forever! His principal publications were: Letters on the American Revolution; Defense of the American Constitutions; an Essay on Canon and Feudal Law; a series of letters under the signature of Novanglus; and Discourses on Davila. It was as vice-president that he had a seat in the senate. In 1856 his life and writings were published in ten volumes, edited by his grandson, C. F. Adams.

ADAMS, JOHN, clergyman, educator, son of a revolutionary officer of the same name, was born Sept. 18, 1772, in Canterbury, Conn. He was graduated at Yale in 1795, and taught for three years at the academy in his native town. In 1800 he became rector of Plainfield, N. J., academy, and in 1803 principal of Bacon academy, Colchester, Conn. In June, 1810, he was chosen principal of Phillips Andover academy, where he remained for twenty-three years, and, in addition to his regular duties, took part in the organization of several of the great charitable associations that have attained national importance. He resigned his office in 1833, and went to Illinois, where he established several hundred Sunday-schools. He died April 24, 1863.

ADAMS, JOHN, sailor, was born Nov. 29, 1796, in Boston, Mass. He was the last survivor of all who witnessed the victory gained by Hull in the Constitution over Dacres in the Guerriere, in 1812. He was subsequently captured and confined in Dartmoor prison till the end of the war. For nearly half a century afterward he followed the sea, commanding some of the finest merchantmen that sailed from Boston. He died March 17, 1886, in Allston, Mass.

ADAMS, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1825 in Tennessee. His first service was in the Mexican war, where he was brevetted first lieutenant, for gallantry at Vera Cruz de Rosales, March 16, 1848. At the outbreak of the civil war he became a major-general in the Confederate army. He died Nov. 30, 1864, in Franklin, Tenn.

ADAMS, JOHN COLEMAN, clergyman, author, was born in 1849 in Massachusetts. He was a universalist clergyman and editor of The United States During 1801-17: Historical Essays; and Essays in Anglo-Saxon Law.

ADAMS, JOHN GREENLEAF, clergyman, author, was born July 30, 1810, in Portsmouth, N. H. In addition to his constant work as a universalist clergyman he published fifteen volumes, besides pamphlets and tracts; and edited Sunday school periodicals for twenty-two years. His principal works are: The Universalist Church, Its Faith and Its Works; Universalism of the Lord's Prayer; Talks About the Bible to Young Folks; and Fifty Notable Years, or Views of the Ministry of Universalism. He died in 1887.

ADAM, JOHN JAY, soldier, educator, state senator, was born Oct. 30, 1807, in Scotland. In 1826 he emigrated to the United States, and became well known as a successful educator. In 1832 he served in the Black Hawk war; and subsequently took part in the Toledo war as a lieutenant. In 1835 he was a delegate to the Michigan constitutional convention. In 1839 was a representative from Lenawee county to the Michigan legislature, and subsequently served several terms in the state senate. He was also auditor-general of Michigan for several terms.

ADAMS, JOHN J., lawyer legislator, was born Sept. 16, 1848, in Canada. He attended the ordinary country schools; entered Columbia law college and graduated in the class of 1876; was admitted to the bar in that year and commenced practice in New York city. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress.

ADAMS, JOHN MILTON, journalist, was born Sept. 22, 1819, in Rumford, Maine. In 1866 he became sole owner and editor of the Eastern Argus; and has contributed numerous articles to magazines.

ADAMS, JOHN R., clergyman, was born in 1802, in Plainfield, Conn. He was appointed chaplain of the fifth Maine volunteers and was present at nearly all the battles of the army of the Potomac, from the first battle of Bull Run to the close of the civil war. He died April 26, 1866.

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY, sixth president of the United States, was born July 11, 1767, in Braintree, now Quincy, Mass., and at the age of eleven years he accompanied his father, John Adams, to France. He attended school in Paris, and in 1781 accompanied the American ambassador, Francis Dana, to Russia as his private secretary. He returned home in 1785, and entered Harvard college, where he graduated in 1788. He then began the study of law with Hon. Theophilus Parsons. In 1794 he was appointed resident minister to the Netherlands, and afterwards to Portugal; but, while on his way to Lisbon, he received a new commission from his father, then president, which changed him to Prussia. In 1797 he was married to Miss Louisa Catherine Johnson. He returned to America in 1801, and in 1802 he was elected to the senate of Massachusetts. In 1803 he was elected to the United States senate, and resigned his seat in 1806. In 1809 he was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Russia, and in 1814 he was placed at the head of the American commissioners who negotiated the treaty of peace with Great Britain at Ghent. Mr. Adams was appointed minister to the court of St. James in 1815; was appointed secretary of state in 1817, and held the office eight years. Feb. 9, 1825, he was elected president of the United States by the house of representatives, the electoral college having failed to make a choice, and was inaugurated March 4. He was defeated for a re-election, and on the 4th of March, 1829, he left the executive chair and retired to private life. In 1830 he was elected to the house of representatives, and held the office by re-elections until his death, Feb. 23, 1848, which occurred in the capitol at Washington in the speaker's room, two days after falling from his chair in the house of representatives. His last words were: This is the end of earth; I am content. His writings, though mainly political in their character, include several purely literary works. Lectures on Rhetoric and Oratory; The Bible and Its Teachings; Poems of Religion and Society; Letters on Freemasonry; and Lives of Celebrated Statesmen, and many state papers. An elaborate history of his life was published in 1875, by his son, Charles Francis Adams.

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 22, 1833, in Boston, Mass., and was the eldest son of Charles Francis Adams. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1853, and admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1855. During the civil war he was on Gov. Andrew's staff. He was elected to the legislature by the town of Quincy in 1866. In 1869 and 1870 he was again a member of the legislature. In 1867 and 1871 he was democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts.

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY, a descendant of the famous Adams family of Massachusetts, was born in 1848, in Lancaster,

N. H. He is a charter member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and also secretary-general of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America. This society embraces the early settlers of the colonies from 1607 to 1657, with revolutionary descent thereafter. Mr. Adams was educated in the Lancaster academy, and has been a student of and writer on political subjects all his life. He was a candidate for congress in his district in 1896. He is the brother of Mrs. Flora Adams Darling, the founder-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

ADAMS, JOHN TURRELL, lawyer, author, was born in 1805 in British Guiana. He was a lawyer of Norwich, Conn., and the author of The Knight of the Golden Melice, an historical tale; and The Lost Hunter. He died in 1882.

ADAMS, JOHN WESLEY, clergyman, poet, was born May 23, 1832, and is a lineal descendant of the presidents of that name. In 1858 he joined the New Hampshire conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, and has held pastorates in Rye, Derby, South Newmarket, North Salem, East Canaan, Winchester, Great Falls, Tilton, Newport, Exeter, and Keene. In 1889 he retired from active service, and is now living in Methuen, Mass. He has been president of the trustees of the conference seminary and female college, and has held various positions of honor. He has rare literary attainments, and his poems have been given a place in National Poets of America and other standard works.

ADAMS, JONATHAN, civil engineer, was born July 8, 1798, in Taunton, Mass. Many of the important lines in New York and New England were constructed under his supervision, and for fifty years he ranked as one of the most skillful railroad engineers in the country. He died Sept. 6, 1872.

ADAMS, JONATHAN EDWARDS, educator, clergyman, was born April 29, 1822, in Woolwich, Maine. He graduated from the Phillips academy of Andover, Mass., and from the Hampden academy, Bowdoin college, and the Bangor theological seminary. He is a successful clergyman of the congregational church, and during 1876-95 was secretary of the Maine Missionary society. He is an overseer of Bowdoin college, and a trustee of the Bangor seminary and the Maine Missionary society.

ADAMS, JOSEPH, tobacconist, banker, was born Jan. 5, 1827, in West Cambridge, Mass. In 1854 he commenced the tobacco business, putting up strips and leaf for the English markets. In 1867 he built an additional establishment, at Uniontown, Ky., and is now one of the most successful and extensive tobacco dealers in the country.

ADAMS, J. MCGREGOR, manufacturer, was born March 11, 1834, in Londonderry, N. H. In 1854 he settled in Chicago, representing Morris K. Jesup and Co., the house being subsequently merged into that of Crerar, Adams and Co., which is yet in existence, and of which Mr. Adams is a partner. In this concern and in The Adams and Westlake Co., incorporated in 1874 with a capital of $650,000, of which he is president, The Union Brass Manufacturing Co., and kindred concerns, Mr. Adams manufactures the whole range of goods called railroad supplies, including headlights, lanterns, car trimmings and other specialties in metals, many of them patented articles.

ADAMS, JULIUS WALKER, civil engineer, author, was born Oct. 18, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He is an engineer of distinction, who has been employed in many important engineering works; and the author of Sewers and Drains for Populous Districts.

ADAMS, JULIUS W., soldier, was born in April, 1840, in Westfield, Mass. He was graduated at West Point in 1861, served there as assistant instructor of infantry tactics till June, 1862, was wounded and taken prisoner at Gaines' Mills, promoted captain in August, 1862, and served at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, where he commanded a regiment, and the second battle of Cold Harbor, where he received wounds that caused his death. He died Nov. 15, 1865, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ADAMS, LOUISE CATHERINE, the wife of John Quincy Adams, was born Feb. 11, 1775, in London, England. She was the daughter of Joshua Johnson of Maryland, but passed her early years in England and in France. She was married to Mr. Adams July 26, 1797, in London. She was possessed of high intellectual qualities; well versed in both French and English literature; translated from the French; was the author of a number of meritorious poems; and was an accomplished musician and vocalist. She died May 14, 1852, and was buried by the side of her husband in the family burying ground at Quincy, Mass.

ADAMS, MRS. MARY MATHEWS, educator, poet, was born Oct. 23, 1840, in Ireland; and is the wife of Charles Kendall

Adams, president of the university of Wisconsin. She came to America in her childhood, and was mainly educated at the Packer institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. For ten years she was engaged in educational work, and subsequently acquired success in literary pursuits. Her verse is largely lyrical, and her themes include romance, heroism, and religion. She is the author of a brochure of poems entitled The Choir Visible; and among her other works The Epithalamium is perhaps the best known.

ADAMS, MRS. MARY NEWBURY, the wife of the late Judge Austin Adams, of Dubuque, Iowa, was born Oct. 17, 1837, in Peru, Ind. In 1868 she was urged to speak before a class of girls graduating from the Lombard university of Galesburg, Ill.; and since that time her life has been devoted to the advancement of women. She has been vice-president of the Iowa Suffrage association; trustee of the Humboldt college, Iowa; vice-president of the association for Advancement of Women for nearly a quarter of a century; and has lectured extensively before women graduates.

ADAMS, MILWARD, theatrical manager, was born Jan. 6, 1857, in Lexington, Ky. In 1881 Mr. Adams assumed the sole management of Central music hall, but in 1887 he gave this up for the management of the Chicago Auditorium.

ADAMS, MOSES S., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1826, in Rindge, N. H. In 1854 he graduated in law from the university of Albany, and has attained prominence as an able and successful lawyer. For two terms he was a member of the Kansas house of representatives, during which time he was speaker in that body. President Lincoln appointed him army captain and commissary of subsistence of volunteers during the civil war. He was district attorney of the sixth district of Colorado; and county judge of Fremont county in that state.

ADAMS, MYRON, clergyman, author, was born in 1841 in New York. He was a congregational clergyman of Rochester, N. Y., from 1876 until his death. He was the author of The Creation of the Bible; and The Continuous Creation, an Application of the Evolutionary Philosophy to the Christian Religion. He died in 1895.

ADAMS, NEHEMIAH, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 19, 1806, in Salem, Mass. He was a noted congregational clergyman of Boston, whose most famous work, A South Side View of Slavery, provoked much hostile criticism. Among other works by him are Walks to Emmaus; Scriptural Argument for Endless Punishment; Remarks on Unitarian Belief; Life of John Eliot; Agnes and the Little Key; and Evenings with the Doctrines. He died Oct. 6, 1878.

ADAMS, NELLIE E., poet, was born July 12, 1864, in Exeter, N. H. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Blossoms; and a successful writer of both prose and verse for current magazines.

ADAMS, OSCAR FAY, poet. He is the author of Post-Laureate Idyls, and Other Poems; and is a popular poet and graceful writer.

ADAMS, PARMENIO, congressman, was born in Hartford, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Batavia, N. Y., from 1823 to 1827.

ADAMS, ROBERT, geologist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at the university of Pennsylvania in 1869; studied and practiced law for five years; was a member of the United States geological survey from 1871 to 1875, and engaged in explorations of the Yellowstone park. He was a member of the state senate of Pennsylvania from 1883 to 1887; graduated in 1884 from the Wharton School of Economy and Finance of the university of Pennsylvania; was appointed United States minister to Brazil April 1, 1889, and resigned June 1, 1890. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican, and served on important committees.

ADAMS, ROBERT CHAMBLET, author, was born in 1839 in Massachusetts, and is the son of Nehemiah Adams. He is the author of History of England in Rhyme; History of the United States in Rhyme; On Board the Rocket; Aids to Endeavor; Evolution, a Summary of Evidence; Travels in Faith from Tradition to Reason; and Pioneer Pith.

ADAMS, ROBERT H. United States senator, was born in 1792 in Rockbridge, Va. He was a senator in congress, from Mississippi, by appointment, from January to May, in 1830. He died July 2, 1830, in Natchez, Miss.

ADAMS, SAMUEL, statesman. He was acting governor of Arkansas in 1844.

ADAMS, SAMUEL, military surgeon, was born in Maine. Dr. Adams distinguished himself during the civil war by riding along the advanced line of combatants, and under the fire of the enemy, dressing the wounds of Gen. Potter, who could not be removed from the spot where he fell, and, but for the action of Surgeon Adams, would have lost his life. He died Sept. 9, 1867, in Galveston, Texas.

ADAMS, SAMUEL, governor of Massachusetts, was born Sept. 27, 1722, in Boston, Mass., and was a cousin of President John Adams. He graduated from Harvard university in 1740; studied for the ministry; received the degree of A. M. in 1743; was one of the first who organized measures of resistance to the mother country, and drew up the instructions of the town of Boston against taxation in 1764. He was elected a representative in 1765; was chosen clerk and served in that body for ten years, and, it is said, he suggested the congress that assembled at New York in 1765, and the non-importation agreement of 1769. He addressed a public meeting the day after the Boston massacre, and was chairman of the committee to demand the removal of the troops. In 1772 he organized the committee of correspondence, which was first adopted by Massachusetts, and followed by all the provinces; was a signer of the declaration of independence; was one of those who matured the plan of the continental congress, and was delegate from Massachusetts from 1774 to 1782. He signed the articles of confederation; was a member of the state convention which adopted the federal constitution, and made some amendments to that instrument. On the adoption of the state constitution, he was made president of the senate; was lieutenant governor of Massachusetts from 1789-94, and governor from 1794-97. So ardent was his patriotism, that he was one of the three leaders who were to be exempt from the pardon offered in 1775. As a statesman and orator he fills a large place in the annals of the American revolution. He died Oct. 2, 1803, in Boston, Mass.

ADAMS, SAMUEL M., clergyman, legislator, was born Dec. 10, 1853, in Dallas county, Ala. He was twice elected to the state legislature of Alabama; and was president of the Alabama Farmers' State alliance for six years in succession. For twenty years he has been a missionary baptist clergyman, and is now pastor of the baptist church at Jemison, Ala.

ADAMS, SETH, inventor, manufacturer, was born April 13, 1807, in Rochester, N. H. In 1836 he began the manufacture of the famous power printing presses which had been invented by his brother Isaac. For many years he had charge of the Adams Sugar Refinery, which was then the largest of its kind in the United States. He took an active part in the public affairs of Newton, Mass., where he died Dec. 7, 1873. He left large bequests of money to Bowdoin college, and other institutions; and a massive monument has been erected to his memory.

ADAMS, SILAS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1839, in Pulaski county, Ky. He received an education in the public schools of the county, the Kentucky university of Harrodsburg, and the Transylvania of Lexington. In 1867 he entered the law school at Lexington, and received license to practice; served two terms as county attorney; served three terms in the legislature; in 1892 was nominated and voted for by the republicans of the state legislature for speaker, and also for United States senator. He entered the union army in 1861 as first lieutenant, first Kentucky volunteer cavalry; was promoted to captain, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel of the regiment, and was mustered out Dec. 31, 1864. In 1892 was elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican.

ADAMS, STEPHEN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, United States senator, was a native of Franklin county, Tenn., and was a member of the senate of that state. Removing to Mississippi, he took an active part in public affairs; was a member of the state legislature; a representative in congress from 1845 to 1847; was elected judge of the circuit court, and from 1852 to 1857 was a senator in congress from Mississippi. He removed to Tennessee, with the intention of practicing law at Memphis, where he died of smallpox, May 11, 1857.

ADAMS, THOMAS, congressman. He was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress from 1778 to 1780, and signed the articles of confederation.

ADAMS, WASHINGTON IRVING, manufacturer, was born March 25, 1832, in New York city. In 1875 he became president of S. Peck and Co., manufacturers of photographic apparatus; and was for many years vice-president of the Centennial Photograph company.

ADAMS, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 25, 1807, in Colchester, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of prominence in New York city during 1835-80. He was the author of the Three Gardens: Eden, Gethsemane, Paradise; Conversations of Jesus Christ with Representative Men; In the World, Not of the World; Thanksgiving, and Memories of the Day and Helps to the Habit. He died Oct. 31, 1880, in Orange Mountain, N. J.

ADAMS, WILLIAM, clergyman, theologian, author, was born July 3, 1813, in Ireland. He was an episcopal clergyman who was one of the founders of Nashotah Theological seminary, Wisconsin, and professor of systematic divinity there from 1841. He was the author of Mercy to Babes; Elements of Christian Science; and New Treatise of Baptismal Regeneration. He died in 1897.

ADAMS, WILLIAM FORBES, bishop, was born Jan. 2, 1833, in Ireland. He was admitted to the Mississippi bar. He afterward removed to Tennessee, and became a candidate for holy orders in 1857. Removing to Mississippi while pursuing his theological course, he was ordained deacon in 1859; priest in 1860, and is now a bishop in the protestant episcopal church in the diocese of Easton, Md.

ADAMS, WILLIAM TAYLOR (Oliver Optic), educator, author, was born July 30, 1822, in Medway, Mass. He was a prolific and popular writer of books for boys, and was for many years a teacher in the Boston public schools. Among his writings are: Army and Navy Series; Young America Abroad Series; Lake Shore Series; and Starry Flag Series. In 1867 he founded the journal known as Our Boys and Girls. He died in 1897.

ADAMSON, WILLIAM CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 13, 1854, in Bowdon, Ga. He spent his youth alternately in working on the farm and in hauling goods and cotton between Atlanta and Bowdon; took the collegiate course at Bowdon college, graduating with the degree of A. B. in 1874, the degree of A. M. being conferred a few years later by the same institution. He was admitted to the bar October, 1876, and has lived at Carrollton, Ga., ever since. He was judge of the city court of Carrollton from 1885 to 1889, and was attorney for the city of Carrollton for a number of years; was presidential elector in 1892; and had never held nor sought any other office until elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

ADDAMS, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1776, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was a member of the state legislature from 1822-24. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1825-29; and associate judge of Berks county from 1839-42. He died in the spring of 1858.

ADDICKS, GEORGE B., clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 9, 1854, in Hampton, Ill. For many years he was professor of German language and literature in the Iowa Wesleyan university of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; and subsequently became president of the Central Wesleyan college and clergyman of the German methodist episcopal church of Warrenton, Mo.

ADDICKS, JOHN EDWARD, capitalist, was born Nov. 21, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. Works for the manufacture of gas were built by him in Jersey City and for The Consumers' Gas Co. of Chicago, and the competition which he engendered led to a union of the gas companies in Chicago into the now noted Chicago Gas Trust. In 1884 he organized and became president of The Bay State Gas Co. of Boston, which constructed large works. In 1892 he bought a majority interest in The Brooklyn Gas Co., becoming its president, and is now largely interested in other gas companies in Brooklyn, N. Y. These operations have brought him large wealth. He has also established a gas making plant in Wilmington, Del.

ADDIS, EMMERSON W., journalist, state legislator, was born Oct. 13, 1853, in Litchfield, Conn. He is the editor of The Standard of Brewster, N. Y.; has been postmaster, justice and trustee of Brewster; and in 1895 was elected a member of the New York state assembly. He was re-elected in 1897, and has taken an active part on various committees.

ADE, GEORGE, journalist, author, was born in 1866 in Illinois. He is a successful Chicago journalist; and the author of Artie, a Story of the Streets and Town.

ADEE, ALVEY A., public official, diplomatist, was born Nov. 27, 1842, in Astoria, N. Y. He was educated by private tutors; studied civil engineering; and was secretary of the American legation at Madrid, Spain, from 1870 to 1877. In 1877 he was transferred to the department of state at Washington; in 1878 became chief of the diplomatic division of that department; and in 1882 was appointed third assistant secretary of state.

ADEE, DAVID GRAHAM, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 31, 1837, in Chelsea, Mass. He was United States commissioner to Sandwich islands in 1883; during the war he was military secretary on staff duty, and has practiced law in New York ten years. He is the author of the novel No. 19 State Street, and is still largely engaged in literary work. The poems of this great jurist have appeared in the leading daily newspapers of America, and in current magazines.

ADGATE, ASA, legislator, congressman. He was a representative in the legislature of New York from Clinton county from 1798 to 1799; was a representative in congress from Essex county from 1815 to 1817; and was again a member of the legislature in 1823.

ADKINSON, MARY OSBURN, temperance reformer, was born July 28, 1843, in Rush county, Ind. She is the wife of the Rev. L. G. Adkinson, the president of the New Orleans university. She took a leading part in the organization of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Madison, Ind.; and was four times unanimously elected its president. She has been superintendent of the Woman's Christian Temperance union in the state of Louisiana; and is also matron in the New Orleans university.

ADLER, FELIX, reformer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1851, in Germany. He is an ethical reformer of New York city; and the author of Creed and Deed; and The Moral Instruction of Children.

ADLER, GEORG, philologist, author, was born in 1821, in Germany. He was a philologist of New York city; and was the author of a valuable German and English dictionary and other educational works. He died Aug. 24, 1868, in New York city.

ADRAIN, GARNETT B., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1816, in New York city. He graduated from Rutgers college in 1833; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1837. He was a representative from New Jersey in the thirty-fifth congress; and was also elected a member of the thirty-sixth congress. In 1861 he offered the resolution of thanks to Major Robert Anderson for his defense of Fort Sumter. He died Aug. 17, 1878, in New Brunswick, N. J.

ADRAIN, ROBERT, mathematician, was born Sept. 30, 1775, in Ireland. He taught school in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, contributed to scientific journals, and from 1810 to 1813 was professor of natural philosophy and mathematics in Rutgers college; then until 1825 in Columbia college; and from 1827 to 1834 was professor of mathematics in the university of Pennsylvania. He edited Hutton's Mathematics, published essays on the figure and magnitude of the earth and on gravity, and was editor from 1825 to 1829 of the Mathematical Diary. He died Aug. 10, 1843, in New Brunswick, N. J.

ADRAIN, ROBERT, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 17, 1853, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was elected president of the senate of New Jersey in 1891, and successively re-elected in 1892 and 1893. He was appointed prosecutor of the pleas of Middlesex county in 1890, and continued to hold the position for several years.

ADRIAN, JAMES, physician, was born Jan. 12, 1829, in St. Lawrence county, N. Y. In 1876 he was a member of the electoral college, and his efforts in support of Tilden and Hendricks established his reputation as a political orator. In 1875 he was a delegate from the American Medical association to the International Medical congress at Brussels.

ADSIT, ALLEN C., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 20, 1837, in Rutland, N. Y. He studied law at Watertown, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in 1859. He enlisted in the forty-fourth New York volunteers in 1861, and participated in the principal battles in which the army of the Potomac was engaged. He was a representative in the Michigan state legislature in 1871-72; and now practices his profession in Grand Rapids, Mich.

ADSIT, NANCY H., art lecturer, was born May 21, 1825, in Palermo, N. Y. She graduated from the Ingham university, and for the past half a century has contributed constantly to current literature. Her contribution to the London Art Journal and other leading art publications has made her name well known in art circles; and to her work is due most of the art interest in Wisconsin, as well as in the entire west.

AGAR, JOHN GIRARD, lawyer, was born June 3, 1856, in New Orleans, La. He was appointed assistant United States district attorney for the southern district of New York. He held this office for a year when he resigned and became the senior member of the firm of Agar, Ely and Fulton. The university of Georgetown conferred upon him the degree of M. A.

AGARD, ISAAC MERRITT, educator, was born Dec. 3, 1854, near Stafford, Conn. He has attained success in educational work; and is now principal of the Rockville high school, Conn., and also superintendent of the east district schools. He received a thorough education at the Amherst college and other institutions, and has had conferred upon him the degrees of M. A. and Ph. D.

AGASSIZ, ALEXANDER, zoologist, author, was born Dec. 17, 1835, in Neuchatel, Switzerland, and is a son of L. Agassiz. He is a marine zoologist, and came to America with his father, and has distinguished himself in lines of special scientific research. He is the author of Exploration of Lake Titicaca; List of the Echinoderms; and Three Cruises of the Blake.

AGASSIZ, ELIZABETH CABOT, naturalist, was born in 1822. In 1850 she was married to Professor Louis Agassiz. She accompanied her husband on his journey to Brazil in 1865-66; and on the Hassler expedition in 1871-72; and was associated with him in many of his studies and writings. She is the author of A First Lesson in Natural History; Edited Geological Sketches; and also edited Life and Correspondence, of her husband, in two volumes.

AGASSIZ, JEAN LOUIS RODOLPHE, educator, naturalist, author, was born May 28, 1807, in Switzerland. He was a naturalist of eminence, and the founder of the Museum of Natural History at Cambridge. He was the author of Recherches sur les Poissons Fossiles; Lake Superior, Natural History of Fresh Water Fishes of Central Europe; Etudes sur les Glaciers; Système Glacière; Methods of Study in Natural History; Geological Sketches; Structure of Animal Life; and A Journey in Brazil. He died Dec. 14, 1873, in Cambridge, Mass. His grave in Mt. Auburn is marked by a boulder from the glacier of the Aar, and shaded by pine trees brought from Switzerland.

AGEN, JAMES HERMAN, soldier, financier, legislator, was born April 29, 1847, in Montpelier, Vt. He was president of the West Superior Chamber of Commerce in 1890-91; represented his ward as alderman in 1893-94; was president of the Douglas County Agricultural society and also president of the Northwestern Wisconsin Fair association in 1895-96. He served two years and nine months in the First New York Dragoons; was in forty-two battles, serving under Gen. Phil. Sheridan; and was wounded in the battle of Winchester in 1864. He was elected to the Wisconsin state assembly in 1896.

AGNEW, CORNELIUS REA, physician, philanthropist, was born Aug. 8, 1830, in New York city. He founded in 1868 the Brooklyn eye and ear hospital, and in 1869 the Manhattan eye and ear hospital; contributed numerous papers to the current medical journals, most of which are devoted to diseases of the eye and ear, and he also published brief monographs and a Series of American Clinical Lectures. He died April 18, 1888, in New York city.

AGNEW, DANIEL, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 5, 1809, in Trenton, N. J. He received his education at the Rev. Joseph

Stockton academy, and the Western university of Pennsylvania, both of Pittsburg, Pa. In 1829 he was admitted to the bar, and practiced for many years in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1837-38 he was a delegate in convention to amend the constitution of Pennsylvania. During 1851-63 he was president judge of the seventh judicial district of Pennsylvania; in 1863-79 was justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; and from 1874-79 was chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

AGNEW, DAVID HAYES, physician, author, was born Nov. 24, 1818, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was a successful physician and was for a long time professor of surgery in the university of Pennsylvania. His writings were the outcome of wide experience. His works are: Handbook of Practical Anatomy; Principles and Practice of Surgery; a treatise on Surgical Diseases and Injuries, which has been translated into the Japanese language. He died in 1892.

AGNUS, FELIX, soldier, journalist, was born July 4, 1839, in France. In 1864 he was brevetted lieutenant-colonel in the civil war. He is a leading journalist of the south.

AHEARN, JOHN F., merchant, state senator, was born April 18, 1853, in New York city. His early life was devoted to mercantile pursuits. In 1882 he was elected to the New York state assembly; to the state senate in 1889, again in 1891, 1893, and in 1895.

AHL, JOHN A., manufacturer, congressman, was born in August, 1815, in Strasburg, Pa. He received a good English education; studied medicine with his father and graduated at the Washington Medical college of Baltimore. He abandoned his profession in 1850, and turned his attention to various kinds of manufactures. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fifth congress.

AHRENS, MARY A., lawyer, philanthropist, was born Dec. 29, 1836, in England. She received her education in the seminary of Galesburg, Ill.; and in 1889 graduated from the Chicago Union College of Law. She has been vice-president of the Protective Agency for Women and Children; chairman of the Woman's School Suffrage association of Cook county; and is a member of the Illinois Woman's Press association.

AIKEN, CHARLES AUGUSTUS, educator, college president, was born Oct. 30, 1827, in Manchester, Vt. He was graduated at Dartmouth college in 1846 and at Andover Theological seminary in 1853. From 1859 to 1866 he was professor of Latin at Dartmouth, and from 1866 to 1869 at Princeton college. From 1869 to 1871 he was president of Union college.

AIKEN, D. WYATT, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born March 17, 1828, in Winnsboro, S. C. He graduated at the South Carolina college in 1849; taught school for two years; engaged in farming; and served in the confederate army during the war of the rebellion from 1861 until disabled by wounds. He was elected a representative in the state legislature in 1864, and again in 1866. He was a delegate to the Democratic national convention of 1876; was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses.

AIKEN, JOHN, educator, was born in 1797 in Vermont. He was trustee of the Andover Theological seminary, and for fifteen years one of the board of commissioners for foreign missions. He died Feb. 11, 1867.

AIKENS, AMANDA L., editor, philanthropist, was born May 12, 1833, in North Adams, Mass. Since 1887 she has been editor of The Woman's World, a special department of The Evening Wisconsin, of Milwaukee, Wis.; of which publication her husband is one of the proprietors. She has been president of the Board of Local Charities and Corrections; was two years president of the Woman's club of Milwaukee, and has filled other positions of honor in various institutions. She was one of the organizers of the First Woman's Republican club of Wisconsin; and for nearly twenty years has been identified as officer or director with the Art Science Class, a literary organization for the purpose of developing a taste in architecture, painting, sculpture and science.

AIKENS, ANDREW JACKSON, manufacturer, journalist, was born Oct. 31, 1830, in Barnard, Vt. In 1856 he was city editor of the Evening Wisconsin; and in 1864 the firm of Cramer, Aikens and Cramer, commenced publication of the patent insides with advertisements, being the only pioneer house in the business.

AIKIN, WILLIAM, governor of South Carolina, was born in 1806 in Charleston, S. C. He graduated at the South Carolina college in 1825; was a member of the state legislature in 1838, 1840, and 1842; was governor of South Carolina in 1844; and a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1857. He was considered one of the most successful rice-planters in his native state, and was one of the leading men of his state who did not take part in the rebellion. He was also noted for his liberality, benevolence, and culture as a scholar.

AIKMAN, GRANVILLE P., lawyer, orator, jurist, was born Dec. 27, 1837, in London, Ky. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Kansas, the London seminary, and from private instructors. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of Eldorado, Kan.; and was prosecuting attorney of Butler county in 1882. In 1883 he was elected judge of the probate court; and in 1895 received the nomination for circuit judge. He has taken great interest in republican politics, and is well known as a brilliant orator. For several years he was editor of The Eldorado Eagle, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

AIKMAN, HUGH, was born July 11, 1790, in Nova Scotia. He was for a number of years president of the New York Marine Bible society, and was also a member of the New York peace society. He was notable for his earnestness in advocating the principle of peace in the intercourse of nations with each other. He died in 1867 in Brooklyn, N. Y.

AIKMAN, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1824 in Italy. He was a presbyterian clergyman; and the author of The Moral Power of the Sea; Life at Home, or the Family and Its Members; The Altar in the Home; and A Bachelor's Talks about Married Life.

AINSLIE, GEORGE, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1838, near Boonville, Mo. He attended the St. Louis university two years; studied law; was admitted to practice in 1860, and removed to Colorado. In 1862 he settled in that portion of Washington territory which now constitutes the territory of Idaho; served in the territorial legislature, and was president of the council during one session. He was editor of a newspaper from 1869 to 1873; was elected district attorney in 1874, and re-elected in 1876. He was elected a delegate from Idaho to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

AINSLIE, HEW, poet, was born in 1792 in Scotland. He was a Scottish poet who emigrated to America in 1822 and lived mainly in Kentucky. He was the author of Pilgrimage to the Land of Burns, a prose work with lyrics interspersed; and Scottish Songs, Ballads, and Poems. He died in 1878.

AINSWORTH, FRANK BEVERIDGE, reformer, was born Aug. 11, 1841, in Lisbon, N. Y. In 1870 he was a delegate from the state of Indiana to the international congress on penitentiary and reformatory discipline at Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1867 he was superintendent of the Indiana House of Refuge.

AINSWORTH, JAMES GALVESTON, farmer, merchant, legislator, was born May 26, 1846, in Copiah county, Miss. He is a successful farmer and merchant of Ainsworth, Miss.; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Mississippi state legislature, his term expiring in 1900.

AINSWORTH, LABAN, clergyman, was born July 19, 1757, in Woodstock, Conn. He graduated from Dartmouth college in 1778, and was ordained pastor of the church at Jaffrey in 1782, where he remained until his death, seventy-six years. This is probably the longest pastorate on record. He died March 17, 1858, in Jaffrey, N. H.

AINSWORTH, LUCIEN LESTER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 21, 1831, in New Woodstock, N. Y. He was educated at the common schools and at the Oneida Conference seminary, New York; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1854. In 1855 he removed to West Union, Iowa; was a member of the lower house and senate of the state for several years; and was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-fourth congress. He entered the union army in 1862 as captain in the sixth regiment Iowa cavalry, and served for three years against the Indians in the northwest.

AITKEN, DAVID D., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 5, 1854, in Genesee county, Mich. He started in life as a bookkeeper, then became a teacher, and in 1878 was admitted to the bar. In 1880 he organized the Venus Tent of the Knights of the Maccabees, of which order he was elected supreme commander in 1882, and supreme counselor and great commander in 1892. He is a successful lawyer of Flint, Mich., and served with distinction as a member of the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses.

AITKEN, ROBERT, journalist, author, was born in 1734, in Scotland. He settled in Philadelphia in 1769, and published the Pennsylvania Magazine, or American Monthly Museum, in 1775-76, having Hopkinson and Witherspoon for contributors, and was imprisoned in 1777 for his attachment to the cause of independence. He printed the first American Bible in 1782, and is reputed to have been the author of An Inquiry Concerning the Principles of a Commercial System for the United States. He died July, 1802, in Philadelphia, Pa.

AKELEY, HEALY CADY, lumber merchant, was born March 16, 1836, in Stowe, Vt. He was educated in the local schools, and began life as a farmer and surveyor, and later became a lawyer. In 1863, he enlisted in the second Michigan cavalry as a private, and was mustered out in 1865 as adjutant of the regiment. In 1872, he went into the manufacture of lumber in Grand Haven, Mich., and continued therein until removal to Minneapolis in 1887. He was mayor of Grand Haven two terms, and 1866-81 collector of customs for the district of Michigan. Mr. Akeley is now president of The H. C. Akeley Lumber Co. of Minneapolis, in partnership with Charles H. Hackley and Thomas Hume, of Muskegon, Mich., president of The Itasca Lumber Co., and president of The Flour City National bank and The Metropolitan Trust Co.

AKER, LEONARD, farmer, soldier, legislator, was born in 1842 in Ravenna, Ohio. He enlisted as a private in company F, twelfth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry. After serving thirteen months, was mustered out at expiration of service, May 27, 1862. He re-enlisted Aug. 15, 1862, to serve three years, in company F, one hundredth Indiana volunteers. Commissioned second lieutenant; promoted to first lieutenant; and then captain, July 28, 1864, which rank he held when mustered out at the close of the war. Captain Aker was appointed on the commission to locate the Kansas soldiers' graves, and to erect a monument to the memory of the fallen heroes of the eighth Kansas, on the fields of Chickamauga and Mission Ridge, at the Chattanooga cemetery, in 1895. He served with distinction as a member of the Kansas state legislature in 1897.

AKER, WILLIAM W., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born in Darke county, Ohio. He graduated from the Cincinnati law school and was admitted to the bar in that city in 1872, but shortly after removed to Eaton, Ohio. He served in the union army as lieutenant of company H, ninety-third Ohio volunteer infantry, and in 1897 was post commander of Calep Marker post, G. A. R., at New Paris. He was elected to the seventy-first general assembly of the Ohio state legislature as a republican; and was re-elected to the seventy-second general assembly.

AKERLY, SAMUEL, physician, author, was born in 1785. He was graduated at Columbia college in 1804. He contributed to medical and scientific periodicals, was active in establishing institutions for deaf mutes and the blind, and published an Essay on the Geology of the Hudson River and Observations on Deafness. He died July 6, 1845, on Staten Island, N. Y.

AKERMAN, AMOS TAPPAN, lawyer, was born 1819 in New Hampshire. He graduated from Dartmouth college in 1842, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and settled in Elberton, Ga., in 1850. He followed his state in secession in 1861, and served the confederate government in the quartermaster's department; but after the war he was a republican and reconstructionist. He was appointed district attorney for Georgia in 1866 and attorney-general of the United States in 1870, remaining in that office until 1872.

AKERS, BENJAMIN PAUL, sculptor, was born July 16, 1825, in Westbrook, Maine. His best known works are: Peace; Saint Elizabeth of Hungary; Diana and Endymion; Paul and Francesca; Milton; and The Dead Pearl Diver. He died May 21, 1861, in Philadelphia, Pa.

AKERS, THOMAS PETER, congressman. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-fourth congress for the unexpired term of J. G. Miller, and served one session.

AKINS, FRANCIS ASAH, farmer and secretary State Grange, was born Jan. 2, 1849, in Mayfield, Ohio. He graduated from the Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio. He was president of the state association of Mutual Fire Insurance associations; in 1890 was elected secretary of the Ohio State Grange Patrons of Husbandry, and received the re-election for four successive terms.

ALBAUGH, JOHN W., actor, was born Sept. 30, 1837, in Baltimore, Md. In 1875 he gained popularity in the play Louis XI; and since that time has been manager of the Holiday Street theater, and the lessee of the popular Albaugh Grand Opera House of Washington, D. C. He is also the possessor of the most varied and extensive dramatic library in America.

ALBEE, JOHN, author, poet, was born in 1833, in Bellingham, Mass. He graduated from Phillip academy of Andover, Mass., and the Harvard university. For many years he was a successful clergyman. He has written extensively and published the following books: Literary Art; An Indian Idyl; History of New Castle, N. H.; and Prose Idyls. He has been a constant contributor to the leading magazines and periodicals of America, and his poems have been given prominence in standard publications.

ALBERGER, FRANKLIN AUGUSTUS, business man, was born Jan. 14, 1825, in Baltimore, Md. He was appointed canal commissioner in 1862, serving six years; was elected to the assembly in 1871, and re-elected for the three following terms. With the close of his assembly term he retired from public life and devoted himself to private business. He died Aug. 24, 1877.

ALBERT, JOHN S., engineer, was born in 1835. He entered the navy in 1855 from New York, and was appointed chief engineer in 1861, in which capacity he served during the war with credit. He died July 3, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALBERT, WILLIAM J., merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1816, at Baltimore, Md. He was educated at St. Mary's college; was a merchant; retired from business in 1856, and was a presidential elector in 1864. He was subsequently interested in banking and manufactures, and was elected to the forty-third congress as a republican.

ALBERTSON, NATHANIEL, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was elected a representative in congress from the first congressional district of Indiana from 1849 to 1851.

ALBRIGHT, ANDREW, inventor, was born June 23, 1831, in Dryden, N. Y. He is the inventor of rubber bonnd and set brushes, which his firm, the Rubber and Celluloid Harness Trimmings Company, manufacture; and also of a great part of the machinery used in manufacturing his inventions.

ALBRIGHT, CHARLES, lawyer, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1830, in Berks county, Pa. He was educated at Dickinson college; studied law and came to the bar in 1852. In 1854 he visited Kansas, and in 1856 returned to Pennsylvania; in 1860 was a delegate to the republican national convention; entered the army in 1862; was commissioned colonel, commanding the third brigade at Chancellorsville, and was placed in command at Camp Muhlenburg, Pa., to organize troops. In July he was sent to Philadelphia to assist in the draft; in September, 1864, was assigned to an independent command to protect railroads and the outer defenses of Washington, and in March, 1865, was promoted to brevet brigadier-general of volunteers. After the war he was sent to the command of the Lehigh military district to pacify tumults in the mining regions; in 1865 was mustered out of service, and in 1872 was a delegate to the republican national convention at Philadelphia. He was elected to the forty-third congress.

ALBRIGHT, CHARLES J., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was elected from the state of Ohio as a representative to the thirty-fourth congress.

ALBRIGHT, ELIZA DOWNING, educator, temperance worker, was born March 13, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. After her marriage in 1867 to the Rev. Louis M. Albright, she was engaged in teaching mathematics and natural sciences in the Ohio Wesleyan female college; and has also filled the chair of mathematics in the Depauw female college, of which institution her husband was president. Since 1877 she has been identified with the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, and has filled numerous positions of honor as secretary, chairman and speaker.

ALBRIGHT, JACOB, clergyman, was born May 1, 1759, in Pottstown, Pa. Beginning a religious life in 1790, and being successful as an exhorter, he soon became a methodist minister. He made many converts, almost exclusively Germans, and in 1800 a separate church organization was created for them, Albright being their first presiding elder. He was appointed bishop in 1807. His denomination is now known as the evangelical association, but in many places its adherents are named Albrights. He died in 1808.

ALBROOK, J. B., educator, clergyman, was born July 18, 1844, in Monroe, Pa. In 1870 he graduated from the Cornell college, Iowa. In 1863 he was first lieutenant in Milo guards; in 1874 was chaplain of the Iowa Independent Order Good Templars; in 1892 was department chaplain of the Iowa Grand Army of the Republic. In 1896 he was a delegate to the general conference of the methodist episcopal church; and is now pastor of one of the largest and best churches in Iowa methodism.

ALBUOY, WILLIAM A. H., clergyman, was born July 19, 1861, in Bermuda, West Indies. In 1888 he graduated from the Lincoln university, Virginia, and pursued his theological studies in the same institution. In 1891 he was ordained a presbyterian clergyman. He has organized four churches in Charlotte county, Va.; and in 1897 became moderator of the presbytery of southern Virginia.

ALCORN, JAMES L'USK, lawyer, general, governor of Mississippi, United States senator, was born Nov. 4, 1816, near Golconda, Ill. He settled in Kentucky; was educated at Cumberland college; was appointed deputy sheriff of Livingston county, and held the office for five years. In 1843 he was elected to the legislature; removed in 1844 to Mississippi; entered upon the practice of law, and served sixteen years in the legislature of that state in the house and senate. In 1852 he was chosen elector, and was nominated for governor in 1857, but declined. He was founder of the levee system in his state, and in 1858 was chosen president of the levee board of the Mississippi-Yazoo delta. He was elected to the state convention of 1851, and again to that of 1861, the latter body electing him a brigadier-general. In 1865 he was elected to the senate of the United States, but not allowed to take his seat. In 1869 he was elected governor of Mississippi, and was elected to the senate of the United States in 1871 for six years.

ALCOTT, AMOS BRONSON, educator, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 29, 1799, in Wolcott, Conn. He was a philosopher of a singularly unpractical type, whose personality was of greater interest than his writings. He was the author of Conversations with Children on the Gospels; Table Talk, Emerson: Essays: Tablets, Concord Days, Sonnets, and Canzonets; and New Connecticut, a poem. He died March 4, 1888, in Boston, Mass. He was the father of Louisa May Alcott.

ALCOTT, LOUISA MAY, author, was born Nov. 29, 1832, in Germantown, Pa. She was a writer whose books for young people have been widely popular. She served as a hospital nurse in Washington in 1862-63. She was the author of Little Women; Little Men; An Old-Fashioned Girl; Eight Cousins; Under the Lilacs; Moods; Hospital Sketches, and A Modern Mephistopheles. The thoughtful poem, Thoreau's Flute, is her finest effort. She died March 6, 1888, in Boston, Mass.

ALCOTT, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, reformer, author, was born Aug. 6, 1798, in Wolcott, Conn. He was an energetic, earnest writer upon diet reform, and the author of The House I Live In; Vegetable Diet; and Library of Health. He died March 29, 1859, in Auburndale, Mass.

ALDEN, CYNTHIA M. WESTOVER, educator, journalist, was born May 31, 1862, in Afton, Iowa. She is a graduate of the Colorado state university and the Denver business college. She has been a teacher of geology, bookkeeping and vocal music, and as a soprano soloist she sang for several years in the New York church choirs. In 1887 she became inspector of customs of the United States government in New York City, making some of the most important seizures in the service. For many years she was engaged in the state museum of natural history, in the geological department and the cataloguing of gems, etc., which was to her more a work of pleasure than labor. She resigned her position in the museum to devote herself entirely to journalistic work; for several years was editor of the woman's department of the New York Recorder; and is now the editor of the woman's department of the New York Tribune.

ALDEN, EBENEZER, physician, author, was born March 17, 1788, in Randolph, Mass. He was of the seventh generation from John Alden of Mayflower memory, and was graduated at Harvard in 1808. He studied medicine at Dartmouth and at the university of Pennsylvania, and followed his profession throughout his life in his native town. He published Historical Sketches of the Massachusetts Medical Society; Memoirs of Mrs. M. A. O. Clark, and the Alden Memorial (Boston, 1867). He died Jan. 26, 1881, in Randolph, Mass.

ALDEN, EMILY GILLMORE, educator, poet, was born Jan. 21, 1834, in Boston, Mass. She has taught in Castleton, Vt., and now has charge of the departments of history, rhetoric and English literature in the Monticello seminary of Godfrey, Ill. She is the author of numerous meritorious poems, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

ALDEN, GEORGE ADELBERT, merchant, was born April 7, 1830, in Hope, Maine. He started a brokerage business in drugs and crude rubber, adopting the firm name of George A. Alden and Co. In 1878 his oldest son, Adelbert Henry Alden, then just of age, came into the concern as a partner. The firm now enjoy a large business in importing rubber, and have gradually come to deal in various other foreign products.

ALDEN, HENRY MILLS, journalist, author, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1836, in Mount Tabor, Vt. He received a college education, and in 1869 he became managing editor of Harper's Magazine. He is the author of the poem, The Ancient Lady of Sorrow; and, jointly with A. H. Guernsey, Harper's Pictorial History of the Great Rebellion, Mr. Guernsey writing the eastern campaigns and Mr. Alden the western. He is also the author of God in His World, and A Study of Death.

ALDEN, HIRAM, legislator, philanthropist, was born in October, 1792, in Ashfield, Mass. He was a representative from Branch county in 1835 in the Michigan state legislature, and was of the seventh generation from John Alden, of Mayflower fame. In 1838 he was appointed commissioner of internal improvements of Michigan, and was acting railroad commissioner at the time of the construction of the railroad from Detroit to Pontiac. He died Nov. 26, 1838, in Detroit, Mich., and was followed to his grave by six hundred officials and laborers, who insisted on paying the expenses as their tribute to a friend and an honest man.

ALDEN, ISABELLA MACDONALD, soldier, was born Aug. 11, 1739, in Duxbury, Mass. He was a great-grandson of John Alden of the original Plymouth colony. Before the revolution he was lieutenant-colonel of the Plymouth regiment, and he held the same rank in Baldwin's regiment at the siege of Boston. Subsequently he was promoted to the colonely of the 7th Massachusetts regiment. He was killed by Indians at Cherry Valley, N. Y. He died Nov. 10, 1778.

ALDEN, ISABELLA MACDONALD, author, was born Nov. 3, 1841, in Rochester, N. Y. In 1866 she was married to the Rev. G. R. Alden, and resides in Washington, D. C. Her books are peculiarly adapted to the use of the youth of this country; and most of them have been adopted in Sunday school libraries throughout the United States. She is author of a popular juvenile series called Pansy Books, embracing nearly sixty titles, most of which are adapted to the use of Sunday school libraries. Mrs. Alden has from the beginning been identified with the Chautauqua system of instruction, and also edits Pansy, a juvenile publication.

ALDEN, JAMES, naval officer, was born March 31, 1810, in Portland, Maine. He was appointed midshipman in 1828, and in that capacity accompanied the Wilkes exploring expedition around the world in 1838-42. He was commissioned commodore in 1866, and two years later was placed in charge of the navy yard at Mare Island, Cal. He died Feb. 6, 1877, in San Francisco, Cal.

ALDEN, JOHN, magistrate of the Plymouth colony, was born in 1599 in England. He was hired as a cooper at Southampton, where the Mayflower was undergoing repairs, and signed the compact in her cabin in 1620. He married Priscilla Mullens in 1621, and the incident of his courtship has been made the subject of one of Longfellow's longer poems. He died Sept. 12, 1687, in Duxbury, Mass.

ALDEN, JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Jan. 4, 1807, in Cairo, N. Y. He was an industrious contributor to educational and Sunday-school literature. He was for many years president of the normal school at Albany; and was the author of Example of Washington; Citizen's Manual; Christian Ethics; The Science of Government; Studies in Bryant, and other works. He died Aug. 30, 1885, in New York.

ALDEN, ROGER, soldier, was born Feb. 11, 1754, in Lebanon, Conn. He was graduated at Yale in 1773, and served in the revolutionary war as aide to General Greenc. Subsequently he became agent of the Holland Land company, and resided at Meadville, Pa., from 1795 to 1825. He was appointed ordnance storekeeper at West Point in 1825, and remained as such until his death. He was a great-grandson of John Alden. He died Nov. 5, 1836, in West Point, N. Y.

ALDEN, TIMOTHY, clergyman, college president, author, was born Aug. 28, 1771, in Yarmouth, Mass. He studied at Harvard, distinguishing himself by his knowledge of oriental languages, and was graduated in 1774. From 1799 to 1805 he was pastor to the congregational church in Portsmouth, N. H., where from 1800 to 1808 he taught school. Subsequently he conducted schools for young ladies in Boston, Newark, Cincinnati, and East Liberty, Pa. In 1817 he founded Alleghany college, Meadville, Pa., and became its first president, retiring in 1831. He published a collection of epitaphs and inscriptions in five volumes entitled: An Account of Sundry Missions Among the Senecas, and other works, and prepared a valuable catalogue of the library of the New York historical society. He died July 5, 1839, in Pittsburg, Pa.

ALDEN, TIMOTHY, inventor of a machine for setting and distributing type, was born in 1819 in Barnstable, Mass. He was sixth in descent from John Alden, the Mayflower Pilgrim. When very young and a compositor in his brother's printing office he said: "If I live I will invent a machine to do this tiresome work. He steadily pursued this object, and after twenty years' labor accomplished it. It was improved after his death by Henry W. Alden. He died Dec. 4, 1858, in New York.

ALDEN, WILLIAM LIVINGSTON, author, was born Oct. 9, 1837, in Williamstown, Mass. He was a humorous writer who has for some time resided in London. He was the author of A New Robinson Crusoe; Domestic Explosions; Shooting Stars; Moral Pirates; Cruise of the Canoe Club; and Life of Christopher Columbus.

ALDERSON, JOHN DUFFY, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 29, 1854, at Nicholas Court-House, W. Va. He received a common-school education; studied law and was admitted to the bar when twenty-one years of age. He was appointed prosecuting attorney in each of the counties of Nicholas and Webster, to fill vacancies occasioned by the death of his father, Hon. Joseph A. Alderson; and in 1876 was elected prosecuting attorney for these counties, and was twice re-elected, serving until Jan. 1, 1889. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

ALDRICH, ANNE REEVE, poet, novelist, was born April 25, 1866, in New York City. Her poems have constantly appeared in Lippincott's Magazine, The Century, and various other periodicals. She is the author of the Rose of Flame and Other Poems of Love; Songs About Life, Love and Death; and a novel entitled The Feet of Love. She died in 1892.

ALDRICH, CHARLES, journalist, was born Oct. 2, 1828, in Ellington, N. Y. He spent one year in Jamestown academy. In 1857 he went to Iowa and established the Freeman in Webster City. He served as a member of the Iowa house of representatives in 1882-83. Mr. Aldrich is the author of many of the important laws of Iowa.

ALDRICH, CYRUS, contractor, public official, congressman, was born in June, 1808, in Smithfield, R. I. He received a common-school education; followed the various occupations of a sailor, a boatman, a farmer, a contractor on public works, and a mail contractor; was a member of the Illinois legislature, and also a register of deeds and register of the land office at Dixon, in that state, for four years. Having removed to Minnesota, he was a member of the constitutional convention of that state and member of the county board of Hennepin county, in that state. He was elected a representative from Minnesota to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. After leaving congress he was appointed commissioner to settle claims against the Sioux Indians. In 1867 he was appointed postmaster at Minneapolis, Minn.

ALDRICH, EMMA B., educator, journalist, author, was born April 4, 1845, in Cape May county, N. J. In 1864 she graduated from the state normal school of Trenton, N. J.; and subsequently attained success in educational work. She was married in 1866 to Mr. Levi L. Aldrich; and in connection with her husband published the Public Record of Cawker City, Kan. She was one of the organizers of the national woman's relief corps, one of the founders of the woman's Hesperian library club, and the founder of the Kansas woman's press association.

ALDRICH, FLORA L., physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 6, 1859, in Westford, N. Y. In 1883 she was married to Dr. A. G. Aldrich, of Adams, Mass. In 1877 she graduated from the medical department of the Minnesota state university, and has since taken post-graduate courses in the best schools in America and Europe. She has attained eminence as a successful physician and surgeon of Anoka, Minn.; is at the head of several literary and scientific organizations; and contributed extensively to current literature.

ALDRICH, FRANCIS FREDERICK, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 26, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was graduated at the law department of the university of Pennsylvania in 1866. He has published A Digest of the Laws and Ordinances of the City of Philadelphia, and A Digest of the Laws of Pennsylvania from 1883 to 1887.

ALDRICH, J. FRANK, civil engineer, business man, congressman, was born April 6, 1853, in Two Rivers, Wis.; removed to Chicago in April, 1861; attended public schools and Chicago university, and graduated at the Rensselaer polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y., in 1877, with degree of civil engineer. He engaged in the manufacture of linseed oil and subsequently in the gas business. He has been a member of the Cook county board of commissioners, and was president of that body during the reform period in 1887; was also a member of the county board of education and chairman of the committee of citizens of Chicago appointed from the various clubs and commercial organizations to inaugurate and further the drainage act; and served as commissioner of public works of Chicago from 1891 to 1893. He was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ALDRICH, JAMES, journalist, poet, was born in 1810 in Suffolk, N. Y. He was a littérateur of New York, and established The Literary Gazette in 1840, in which a number of his verses appeared. His poems were privately printed by his daughter in 1884. He died in October, 1856.

ALDRICH, JAMES, legislator, jurist, was born July 25, 1850, in Barnwell, S. C., and is the son of James Thomas Aldrich. In 1872 he graduated from the Washington and Lee university of Lexington, Va. He was a member of the South Carolina legislature from 1878 to 1889, missing one term only through sickness. In 1889 he was elected circuit judge of the second circuit of South Carolina; he was re-elected in 1893, and is now the presiding judge. He has always taken an interest in educational matters, and has done considerable literary work, and has published numerous addresses, essays and articles on various topics.

ALDRICH, JAMES THOMAS, lawyer, author, was born in 1819, in Charleston, S. C. He refused every political position tendered him except as an officer in the service of the confederacy. In 1842 he was admitted to practice law, and soon became one of the leaders of the South Carolina bar, especially in the courts of equity. Mr. Aldrich, like many of his name, was the author of a number of poems and literary articles that have been a valuable acquisition to current literature. He died in 1875, at his residence in Barnwell C. H., S. C.

ALDRICH, JOSEPHINE CABLES, philanthropist, author, was born in Connecticut. In 1882 she founded The Occult World, a publication devoted to advanced thought and reform work. She is vice-president of the woman's national industrial league; vice-president of the woman's national liberal union; and one of the founders of the woman's national university and school of useful and ornamental arts; and resides in Aldrich, Ala.

ALDRICH, JULIA CARTER, author, poet, was born Jan. 28, 1834, in Liverpool, Ohio. For awhile she was engaged in educational work in her native town; and subsequently contributed to periodical literature under the pen name of Petresia Peters. She has written extensively on reformatory measures in the interest of humanity; and is also the author of a volume of poems.

ALDRICH, LEANDER JEFFERSON, clergyman, educator, college president, was born May 21, 1851, in Conklingville, N. Y. In 1880 he graduated from Oberlin college; and from the theological seminary in 1885. He has filled pastorates in Dover, Ohio, and in Merom, Ind. In 1886 he became president of the Union christian college of Merom, where he also fills the chair of rhetoric and botany, and also that of christian ethics. He has traveled extensively in foreign countries as a special student of ancient history and literature. He is also pastor of the college church.

ALDRICH, LEVI, physician, state senator, was born Jan. 27, 1820, in Erie county, N. Y. He received an academical education, studied medicine at the Albany medical college and Buffalo medical university, and practiced medicine successfully in Erie county and at Edwardsburg. He was representative in the Michigan state legislature from Cass county in 1863-4; senator in 1865, and a member of the constitutional convention in 1867.

ALDRICH, MARY JANE, temperance reformer, lecturer, was born March 19, 1833, in Sidney Plains, N. Y. She has been president of the woman's christian temperance union of Iowa, of which she is now corresponding secretary; has lectured extensively, and was a member of the national convention of 1890, held in Cleveland, Ohio.

ALDRICH, NELSON WILMARTH, merchant, United States senator, was born Nov. 6, 1841, in Foster, R. I. He received an academic education; engaged in mercantile pursuits, and was president of the common council of Providence, R. I., in 1872 and 1873. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1875 and 1876, serving as speaker during the latter year. He was elected a representative from Rhode Island to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses, and resigned in 1881 to take his seat as a senator of the United States from Rhode Island for the term of six years from March 4, 1881, and received the re-election in 1886 and in 1893.

ALDRICH, ORLANDO W., lawyer, was born March 30, 1840, in Clarence, N. Y. He filled the chair of law in the Illinois Wesleyan university; was professor of law in the Ohio state university; president of the Ohio society of war of 1812, and judge advocate department of Ohio, Grand Army of the Republic.

ALDRICH, SAMUEL N., lawyer, financier, was born Feb. 3, 1838, in Upton, Mass. He is a graduate of the Worcester academy and the Brown university, and has attained success as a noted lawyer. He has been president of the central Massachusetts railway company; was assistant treasurer of the United States at Boston under President Cleveland's first administration, and since 1890 has been president of the State National bank of Boston, Mass.

ALDRICH, THOMAS BAILEY, author, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1836, in Portsmouth, N. H. He is a poet and novelist whose work in both verse and prose is distinguished for grace of expression and delicacy of execution. His early youth was spent in Louisiana. At the death of his father he entered the counting-house of his uncle in New York city. He occupied editorial positions for ten years on various papers; and in 1881 succeeded William D. Howells as editor of the Atlantic Monthly, which position he resigned nine years later to devote his entire time to personal literary work and travel. He is the author of the following poetical works: The Bells; Ballad of Baby Bell; Pampinea; Flower and Thorn; Cloth of Gold; Friar Jerome's Beautiful Book; XXXVI Lyrics and XII Sonnets; The Sisters' Tragedy; Wyndham Towers; Unguarded Gates; Mercedes and Later Lyrics; Judith and Holofernes. His prose works are: Prudence Palfrey; The Queen of Sheba; The Stillwater Tragedy; Marjorie Daw and Other Stories; Two Bites at a Cherry, with Other Tales; The Story of a Bad Boy; An Old Town by the Sea; a description of Portsmouth, the author's birthplace; From Ponkapog to Pesh; and Travel Sketches.

ALDRICH, TRUMAN H., civil engineer, railroad president, congressman, was born Oct. 17, 1848, in Palmyra, N. Y. He was educated in the public school at that place, at the military academy in West Chester, Pa., and was graduated from the Rensselaer polytechnic institute of Troy, N. Y., as a mining engineer in class of 1869. After practicing his profession in New York and New Jersey removed to Selma, Ala., in winter of 1871-72; was in the banking business there for two years and then made coal mining a business.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM, merchant, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1820, in Greenfield, N. Y. He was reared on a farm; received a good education; taught school for a time; in 1846 engaged in mercantile pursuits, and in 1851 removed to Wisconsin and engaged in merchandising and manufacturing. He was superintendent of schools for three years; was chairman of the board of supervisors one year, and was a member of the Wisconsin house of representatives in 1859. In 1860 he removed to Chicago, Ill., and engaged in the wholesale grocery business. He was a member of the board of aldermen in 1876, and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses. He died Dec. 3, 1885, in Fond du Lac, Wis.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM DUANE, civil engineer, state senator, was born Dec. 29, 1833, in Smithfield, R. I. He has held various town offices, having been for some seventeen years a member of the town councils of Smithfield and Lincoln. He was a representative in 1869-70, 1892-95, and senator since May, 1895.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM F., civil engineer, congressman, was born March 11, 1853, at Palmyra, N. Y. He was educated at the public school of his native village until 1865, when he removed with his father to New York city, in which city and vicinity he attended several schools, and was graduated from Warren's military academy at Poughkeepsie, taking a course in civil engineering; removed to Alabama in 1874, and engaged in mining and manufacturing, and built up the town that now bears his name. The only political office he ever held was that of postmaster of his town; was elected to the fifty-fourth congress by the combined vote of the republicans and populists of the fourth district, against Gaston A. Robbins, democrat. The latter received the certificate of election from the governor on the face of the returns. Mr. Aldrich instituted a contest, and was seated by the house on Friday, March 13, 1895. In November, 1896, he was again elected to congress, but was again forced to contest for his seat.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM W., stockman, banker, was born Sept. 13, 1826, in Delaware, Ohio. He has been president of the Farmers' and Citizens' bank of Nickerson, Kan., and other institutions. He is now a successful stockman; proprietor of the Border Lawn stock farm of Tipton, Iowa, and the president of the First National bank of that city.

ALDRIDGE, GEORGE WASHINGTON, contractor, was born Dec. 28, 1856, in Michigan City, Ind. He has attained a wide reputation and prominence as a builder and contractor. He remodeled the Academy of Music, Wilder's arcade, and several private residences of prominence and architectural beauty.

ALEXANDER, ABRAHAM, statesman, was born in 1718 in North Carolina. He represented Mecklenburg county in the colonial legislature prior to 1775.

ALEXANDER, ADAM R., congressman, was born in Washington county, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from Madison county, Tenn., from 1823 to 1827.

ALEXANDER, ARCHER, freedman, was born about 1810, near Richmond, Va. He was a slave, and fled to St. Louis, then under martial law, in 1863, and was formally liberated the same year. He served as the model for the freedman in the bronze group by Thomas Ball, standing in the capitol grounds in Washington, and known as Freedom's Memorial. He died Dec. 8, 1879, in St. Louis, Mo.

ALEXANDER, ARCHIBALD, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 17, 1772, in Rockbridge county, Va. He was a presbyterian clergyman who was professor at Princeton theological seminary 1812-51. Evidences of Christianity; The Canon of Scripture; Moral Science; Bible Dictionary are some of his many works. He died Oct. 22, 1851, in Princeton, N. J.

ALEXANDER, ARMSTEAD M., lawyer, congressman, was born May 26, 1834, in Clark county, Ky. He removed to Missouri and settled at Paris; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1860 and engaged in practice. He was prosecuting attorney of Monroe county for six years; was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1875, and was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-eighth congress.

ALEXANDER, BARTON STONE, civil engineer, general, was born in 1819 in Kentucky. He was brevetted brigadier-general March 13, 1865, for meritorious services in the rebellion. He has been much engaged in the construction and repairs of forts and in the erection of Minot's Ledge lighthouse, 1855-61. He was consulting engineer in Sheridan's army, Shenandoah Valley, Va., and present at the battle of Cedar Creek, Oct. 9, 1864.

ALEXANDER, CALEB, educator, clergyman, author, was born July 22, 1775, in Northfield, Mass. He was a clergyman much of whose life was spent in teaching at Onondaga, N. Y. He published Latin and English grammars; Essay on the Deity of Christ; The Columbian Dictionary; Grammar Elements, and a literal prose version of Virgil. He died April 12, 1828, in Onondaga, N. Y.

ALEXANDER, CHARLES, journalist, poet, was born March 7, 1867, in Natchez, Miss. For many years he was connected with the Boston Daily Standard and The American Citizen; and in 1894 he established The Monthly Review of Philadelphia, Pa., of which he is still editor and owner. He has contributed poems, short stories and sketches to several leading publications.

ALEXANDER, CHARLTON HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 12, 1858, in Kosciusko, Miss. He graduated in literature and law from the university of Mississippi, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Jackson, Miss. He has been reporter of the supreme court of Mississippi, and, in conjunction with Mr. L. Brame, his law partner, is the author of a Mississippi Digest.

ALEXANDER, DE ALVA STANWOOD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 17, 1846, in Richmond, Maine. At the age of fifteen he entered the army, serving three years, and until the close of the war, as a private soldier; upon leaving the service prepared for college at Edward Little institute, in Auburn, Maine, and took his bachelor's degree from Bowdoin college in 1870; afterward located at Indianapolis, Ind., where he studied law and practiced in partnership with Hon. Stanton J. Peelle, now judge of the court of claims in Washington. In 1881 was appointed fifth auditor of the treasury department, and during his residence in Washington was elected and served one term as commander of the department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic. On leaving Washington, removed to Buffalo, forming a law partnership with his college classmate, Hon. James A. Roberts, at present comptroller of the state of New York. In 1889 was appointed United States attorney for the northern district of New York, holding the office until December, 1893. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ALEXANDER, EDMUND BROOKE, general, was born Oct. 2, 1802, in Hay Market, Va. He was graduated at the United States military academy in 1823. After twenty years of frontier and garrison duty he had an opportunity for service in Mexico, where he won a major's brevet in 1847 and a lieutenant-colonel's in 1847. During the civil war he was retained at St. Louis on provost-marshal's duty, involving delicate and responsible administration of important matters. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1865, and commanded his regiment at Fort Snelling till retirement, in 1869, by operation of law. He died Jan. 3, 1888, in Washington, D. C.

ALEXANDER, EDWARD PORTER, soldier, educator, author, was born May 26, 1835, in Washington, Ga. He graduated from West Point academy in 1857, and was promoted second lieutenant corps of engineers, and served in the United States army in the Utah expedition in 1858. He was instructor in engineering at West Point in 1859-60; and was professor in mathematics and engineering in the South Carolina university in 1866-69. He served with distinction in the confederate service, and until 1892 held numerous and important railroad positions in the southern states. He is the author of Railroad Practice and various pamphlets and articles on railroad and other topics.

ALEXANDER, EVAN, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He graduated from Princeton college in 1787; was a member of the legislature for two years, and was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1805 to 1809. He died Oct. 28, 1809.

ALEXANDER, FRANCIS, artist, was born in 1800 in Connecticut. When eighteen years of age he began painting in water-color without an instructor. About 1820 he went to New York and prosecuted his art studies, as a pupil of Alexander Robertson. He worked for a few months in Providence, R. I., and subsequently opened a studio in Boston, where he gained great popularity as a portrait painter. He went to Europe in 1831, finally taking up his residence in Florence, Italy.

ALEXANDER, GROSS, educator, clergyman, was born June 1, 1852, in Scottsville, Ky. He received his education at the university at Louisville; the Drew theological seminary; and the southern baptist theological seminary. He is one of the foremost divines of the south; has been professor of Latin and Greek in the Warren college, Ky.; and is now professor of the New Testament, Greek and Exegesis in the Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn.

ALEXANDER, HENRY P., merchant, congressman, was born in New York in 1802. He engaged in commerce; was a representative in congress from Herkimer county, in that state, from 1849 to 1851, and was a member of the committee on expenditures in the state department. He died Feb. 22, 1867, in Little Falls, N. Y.

ALEXANDER, ISAAC J., educator, lecturer, poet, was born June 5, 1863, in Pickaway county, Ohio. He is a successful educator and lecturer of Royalton, Ohio, and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

ALEXANDER, JAMES, JR., congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a resident of St. Clairsville, Ohio; was elected a representative in congress from the eleventh district of that state from 1837 to 1839, and was a member of the committee on public expenditures. He died Aug. 6, 1846.

ALEXANDER, JAMES WADDELL, clergyman, author, was born March 13, 1804, in Louisa county, Va., and was a son of A. Alexander. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city, and the author of Plain Words to a Young Communicant; Sacramental Discourses; Thoughts on Preaching; Life of Archibald Alexander; Consolation; The American Mechanic and Workingman, and other works. He died July 31, 1859, in Red Sweet Springs, Va.

ALEXANDER, JANE GRACE, financier, was born Oct. 26, 1848, in Winchester, N. H. She is cashier of the Winchester national bank; treasurer of the savings bank of her native town, and has attained success as a successful business woman and financier.

ALEXANDER, JOHN, congressman, was elected a representative in congress from Ohio May 4, 1813, serving till 1817.

ALEXANDER, JOHN EDMINSTON, clergyman, genealogist. In 1842 he became a clergyman of the presbyterian church, and for the ten years during 1853-62 was principal of the Miller academy of Washington, Ohio, where he had been pastor for twenty years. He is the author of a Historical Sketch of Greenville Church, Tenn.; a History of the Synod of Tennessee; A Record of the Alexander Family, and other works.

ALEXANDER, JOHN HENRY, scientist, author, was born June 26, 1812, in Annapolis, Md. He was once a noted Maryland scientist and the author of History of the Metallurgy of Iron; Universal Dictionary of Weights and Measures, Ancient and Modern; International Tonnage; Treatise of Mathematical Instruments; Introits; and Catena Dominica, a collection of religious poems. He died March 2, 1867, in Baltimore, Md.

ALEXANDER, JOHN M., soldier, business man, public officer, was born May 17, 1841, in Delaware county, Ohio. He served three years in Sheridan's army, and was wounded at Fisher's Hill in 1864. He is a successful business man of Gallipolis, Ohio, and has been mayor of his city four terms.

ALEXANDER, JOSEPH ADDISON, clergyman, author, was born April 24, 1809, in Philadelphia, Pa., and is a son of A. Alexander. He was a presbyterian clergyman, professor at Princeton college, and theological seminary, 1820-60. He was the author of Commentaries on the Psalms, Isaiah, Acts, Matthew, and Mark, and many theological reviews, often as sarcastic as they were forcible. He died Jan. 28, 1860, in Princeton, N. J.

ALEXANDER, LORENZO P., soldier, merchant, state senator, was born Aug. 10, 1820, in Angelica, N. Y. When twenty-one he settled in Buchanan, Mich. In 1844 he was a militia captain, and in 1845 became colonel of the 28th regiment. He was a representative in the Michigan state legislature of 1841-42; in 1867 was member of the constitutional convention; and in 1871-72 state senator. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Baltimore in 1864, and was a member of the committee that notified President Lincoln of his renomination. He was postmaster of Buchanan from 1862 to 1866, and again from 1877 to 1886.

ALEXANDER, MARK, congressman was born Feb. 7, 1792, in Mecklenburg county, Virginia. He was elected a representative in the Virginia state legislature in 1815; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1833. He died July 6, 1883, at Scotland Neck, N. C.

ALEXANDER, MATILDA G., author, was born June 14, 1842, in Mt. Vernon, Ind. She is the author of Going West; Here and Hereafter; and Worth Wins.

ALEXANDER, NATHANIEL, soldier, physician, congressman, governor, was born in 1756, in Mecklenburg, N. C. He graduated from Princeton college in 1776, and, after studying medicine, entered the army. At the close of the war resided at the High Hills of Santee, pursuing his profession, and afterwards at Mecklenburg. While he held a seat in congress, as a representative from North Carolina, from 1803 to 1805, the legislature elected him governor for 1806. He died March 8, 1808, in Salisbury, N. C.

ALEXANDER, ROBERT, was born about 1740, in Baltimore, Md. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1775 to 1777.

ALEXANDER, ROBERT CARTER, lawyer, journalist, was born July 7, 1857, in West Charlton, N. Y. He was made secretary and treasurer of the Mail and Express corporation, as well as its legal counsel; and in 1895 became editor-in-chief of the paper. In 1890 he was elected a life trustee of Union college.

ALEXANDER, SAMUEL DAVIES, clergyman, author, was born in 1819, in Princeton, N. J., and was a son of A. Alexander. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city from 1855; and the author of Princeton College in the Eighteenth Century; and A History of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. He died in 1894.

ALEXANDER, STEPHEN, educator, astronomer, author, was born Sept. 1, 1806, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was an astronomer who was a professor at Princeton college in 1834-78, and the author of Physical Phenomena of Solar Eclipses; and Certain Harmonies of the Solar System. He died June 25, 1883, in Princeton, N. J.

ALEXANDER, SYDENHAM B., soldier, farmer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1840, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. He entered the university of North Carolina in 1856 and graduated from that institution in 1860. In 1861 enlisted in the army as a private soldier in the first North Carolina volunteer infantry; in June, 1862, was elected captain of company K, forty-second North Carolina infantry; and in 1864 was detached from his company and served as inspector-general on the staff of Major-General R. F. Hoke; after the war returned home and engaged in farming; in 1877 was master of State Grange and a member of state board of agriculture; he was elected to the state senate in 1878, and was re-elected in 1882, 1884, and 1886. He is a member of the board of trustees of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical college; and was elected to the fifty-second and re-elected to the fifty-third congress.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM, soldier, was born in 1726, in New York city. He served gallantly with Washington during the revolutionary war; and it was through him that the Conway Cabal was made known to Washington. He died Jan. 15, 1783, in Albany, N. Y.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM, clergyman, theologian, was born Dec. 18, 1831, in Huntingdon county, Pa. In 1858 he graduated from Jefferson college; and in September of the same year entered Princeton Theological seminary, and graduated therefrom in 1861. He has been pastor in various presbyterian churches, and was president of the Carroll college, Wis.; president of the City college of San Francisco, Cal.; and since 1871 has been theological professor in San Francisco theological seminary, of which institution he was the principal founder. He is the author of numerous published Sermons and Addresses, Commentaries on International Sunday School Lessons, and various other letters and papers. He is one of the editors and a contributor to The Presbyterian and Reformed Review.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM COWPER, lawyer, state senator, was born in 1806 in Virginia. He was admitted to the bar in 1827, and soon gained a reputation for legal knowledge and eloquence and took part in political affairs. For several years he was president of the New Jersey state senate. He was nominated for governor, and lacked but a few votes of election. After being a member of the peace congress of 1861, over which he was frequently called to preside, he withdrew from politics and devoted himself entirely to the business of insurance, having been elected president of the Equitable Life Insurance company when it was organized in 1859, of which he was president at the time of his death. He died Aug. 23, 1874, in New York city.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM IRVIN, clergyman, lecturer, was born May 13, 1867, in Greenwood, Ind., a suburb of Indianapolis. He graduated in 1889 from Hartsville college, and in 1893 from Lane Theological seminary of Cincinnati, Ohio. He taught school for awhile, and in 1893 accepted a call to the First presbyterian church of Decatur, Ind.; and during a pastorate there of two years the membership was doubled. In 1895 he accepted a call to the Willow Creek presbyterian church of Argyle, Ill. The largest country church in the United States, composed of a large and wealthy Scotch congregation in what is known as the Scotch settlement. The services of this rising presbyterian clergyman are in demand as an evangelist and lecturer.

ALFORD, JULIUS C., congressman, was born in Georgia. He was elected a representative in congress from Troup county, Ga., from 1839 to 1842.

ALGER, CYRUS, inventor, iron founder, was born Nov. 11, 1781, in West Bridgewater, Mass. Early in life he became an iron-founder, and established his business in Easton, Mass. In 1809 he removed to South Boston, where he founded the works that since 1817 have been known as the South Boston Iron company. Mr. Alger also devised numerous improvements in the construction of time fuses for bomb-shells and grenades. In 1811 he patented a method of making cast-iron chilled rolls, and in 1822 first designed cylinder stoves. He died Feb. 4, 1856, in Boston, Mass.

ALGER, HORATIO, author, was born Jan. 13, 1854, in Revere, Mass. He graduated from Harvard college, and for fifteen years has prepared boys for college in New York city. He is the author of a series of popular juvenile tales, among which the Ragged Dick stories are best known. His stories of the street life in New York have made him a great favorite with boys everywhere.

ALGER, RUSSELL A., general, governor of Michigan, secretary of war, was born Feb. 27, 1836, in Lafayette, Ohio.

He was admitted to practice law in 1859. During the rebellion he entered the union army as a private, and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general and major-general for gallant conduct. In 1884 he was elected governor of Michigan; in 1888 was a candidate for president in the republican national convention; and in 1889 was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. President McKinley appointed him secretary of war in 1897. He is one of the wealthiest men in Michigan, in which state he owns very large lumber interests.

ALGER, WILLIAM ROUNSEVILLE, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 30, 1822, in Freetown, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman and lecturer of Boston, and the author of Symbolic History of the Cross; The School of Life; History of the Doctrine of a Future Life; The Solitudes of Nature and Man; The Friendships of Women; Poetry of the Orient; and Life of Edwin Forrest.

ALISON, FRANCIS, educator, clergyman, was born in 1705 in Ireland. He was appointed vice-provost and professor of philosophy in the college of Philadelphia; and was the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of that city. He died Nov. 28, 1779, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALKIRE, HENRY T., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 6, 1854, in Platte county, Mo. He received the rudiments of his education in the district school; graduated from the Kirksville State Normal school in 1875, and from the Missouri State university in 1881. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Oregon, Mo., of which city he has been mayor; and for three terms was city attorney. He was a member of the thirty-fifth general assembly of Missouri; was the nominee for secretary of state of Missouri; and in 1894 was elected probate judge of Holt county for four years. For six years he was chairman of the republican central committee; and for two years president of the Oregon school board; besides filling various other positions of honor. He has written extensively on law and judicial subjects, and is one of the brightest men of Missouri.

ALLAIRE, ANTHONY J., soldier, was born Feb. 17, 1829, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He served in the civil war; and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1867 he was appointed police captain of the twenty-first precinct of New York city.

ALLAN, JOHN, soldier, patriot, was born Jan. 13, 1746, in Scotland. He became a justice of the peace, and then clerk of the supreme court, and from 1770 to 1776 was a member of the provincial assembly. When the American colonies engaged in the struggle for independence he gave them active and efficient aid, securing the alliance of the Indian tribes of that region. Congress nominated him superintendent of the eastern Indians, and gave him a colonel's commission in January, 1777, and with his Indians he protected the otherwise exposed line of the northeastern frontier. The Nova Scotian authorities offered a price for his apprehension, while his house was burned and his wife thrown into prison. In 1784 Col. Allan settled in Maine. The government of Massachusetts in 1792 granted him a tract of 22,000 acres, on which the town of Whiting now stands, and in 1801 congress gave him 2,000 acres in Ohio in compensation for the losses he sustained for the patriot cause. He died Feb. 7, 1805, in Lubec, Maine.

ALLAN, JOHN, antiquarian, was born Feb. 26, 1777, in Scotland. He made a valuable and unique collection of pictures, books, autographs, and rare and curious articles. His collection was sold at auction a short time after his death, and the total receipts amounted to nearly fifty thousand dollars. He died Nov. 19, 1863, in New York city.

ALLAN, WILLIAM, soldier, author, was born in 1837 in Virginia. He was a lieutenant-colonel in the confederate army during the civil war; and the author of Battlefields of Virginia; Jackson's Valley Campaign; and Army of Northern Virginia. He died in 1889.

ALLANSON, EDWARD G., poet, was born Nov. 11, 1863, in Elgin, Ill. He attended the Iowa Business college of Des Moines; has attained success as a writer; and is the author of several meritorious poems.

ALLEN, ALEXANDER VIETS GRISWOLD, educator, clergyman, author, was born May 4, 1841, in Otis, Mass. He is an episcopal clergyman, prominent among leaders of modern religious thought, and a professor in the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge. He is the author of The Continuity of Christian Thought; a Study of Modern Theology in the Light of Its History; Life of Jonathan Edwards; The Greek Theology and the Renaissance of the Nineteenth Century; and Religious Progress.

ALLEN, ANDREW, congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress in 1775 to 1776.

ALLEN, BENJAMIN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 29, 1789, in Hudson, N. Y. He published in 1815 the weekly Layman's Magazine, and in 1820 an abridgment of Burnet's History of the Reformation. In 1821 he was chosen rector of St. Paul's church, Philadelphia. In 1827 he established a printing-house for the publication of tracts and printing of prayer-books. He published Christ and Him Crucified; and Living Manners, a tale; and other works. He died at sea Jan. 13, 1829.

ALLEN, CHARLES, state senator, congressman, jurist, was born on Aug. 9, 1797, in Worcester, Mass. He was a member of the state legislature in 1829, 1833, 1834, 1838, and 1840; a state senator in 1835, 1838, and 1839; and judge of the court of common pleas from 1842 to 1844. He was a representative in congress from 1849 to 1853; chief justice of the superior court of Suffolk county from 1858 to 1859; and subsequently chief justice of the superior court of the state. He was a member of the state constitutional conventions of 1853 and 1859; a commissioner to negotiate the Webster treaty in 1842; and was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died Aug. 6, 1869, in Worcester.

ALLEN, CHARLES H., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born April 15, 1848, in Lowell, Mass. He received his early education in the public schools; graduated from Amherst college in 1869; and engaged in mercantile pursuits. He received the degree of A. M. from Amherst college in 1872. He held several local offices in Lowell; was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature in 1881 and 1882; was a state senator in 1883; in 1884 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-ninth congress, and received the re-election to the fiftieth congress.

ALLEN, CHARLES WELLINGTON, physician, surgeon, was born July 17, 1855, in North Hero, Vt. He graduated from the Toledo, Ohio, School of Medicine and from the university of Vermont. He was mayor of Story City, Iowa, for two terms; president of the Central District Medical association of Iowa; and president and secretary of the Story County Medical society.

ALLEN, CHILTON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 6, 1786, in Albermarle county, Va. He settled in Kentucky as a wheelwright; educated himself for the legal profession; from Clark county was elected in 1811 to the legislature of Kentucky, and re-elected for several terms. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1831 to 1837. In 1838 was president of the board of internal improvement; and in 1842 was again returned to the state legislature. He died Sept. 3, 1858, in Winchester, Ky.

ALLEN, CLARENCE EMIR, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1852, in Girard, Pa. He was trained in the common schools of Girard, fitted for college at Grand River institute, Austintown, Ohio, and graduated from Western Reserve college with the class of 1877. He taught one year at Grand River institute, and then was principal of the preparatory of Western Reserve college three years; went to Salt Lake City, Utah, in August, 1881, where he was an instructor in Salt Lake academy until 1886, when he resigned and entered upon the business of mining. He was elected to and served in the territorial legislatures of 1888, 1890, and 1894; was elected county clerk of Salt Lake county, Utah, in August, 1890, and served until Jan. 1, 1893; was admitted to the bar at Salt Lake City, in 1892; was the liberal candidate for delegate to congress in 1892; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ALLEN, DAVID OLIVER, educator, missionary, author, was born in 1800, in Barre, Mass. He was graduated at Amherst college in 1823, taught in Lawrence academy, and then entered Andover Theological seminary, which he left in 1827 to go as a missionary to Bombay. He established schools and preached in that province, and made extensive tours in western India. In 1844 he took charge of the Bombay printing establishment. He wrote tracts in Mahratta, and supervised a new translation of the Bible in that language. Injured in health by the Indian climate, he returned to America in 1853. After his return he published a History of India, Ancient and Modern, Geographical, Historical, Political, Social, and Religious. He died July 17, 1863, in Lowell.

ALLEN, DE WITT CLINTON, lawyer, was born Nov. 11, 1835, in Clay county, Mo. He was educated at Wyman's English and Classical high school of St. Louis, Mo.; and graduated from the William Jewell college of Liberty, Mo. He has held positions as attorney of the fifth judicial circuit of Missouri; and was a member of the Missouri constitutional convention in 1875. He is a trustee of the William Jewell college; and was a presidential elector in 1896.

ALLEN, DON ALONZO, soldier, clergyman, evangelist, was born Oct. 23, 1844, in Ellisburgh, N. Y.

At eleven years of age he became a cabin boy on a propeller; and was a sailor on the lakes in summer, and attended school in winter. At the age of sixteen years he enlisted in the twenty-fourth regiment New York volunteer infantry, and served gallantly throughout the war. He then served as a sailor until 1877; and since 1883 has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church. He has attained prominence as an evangelist of note in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and several other western states. He is also a prominent prohibitionist, and was tendered the nomination for congress, but has steadfastly declined all political honors. He now fills a pastorate in Randolph, Iowa.

ALLEN, EBENEZER, soldier, was born Oct. 17, 1743, in Northampton, Mass. In 1771 he emigrated to Poultney, Vt., and became a lieutenant in Col. Warner's regiment of Green Mountain boys. He removed to Tinmouth in 1775, and was a delegate from that town to the several conventions in the New Hampshire grants in 1776, and to those that declared the state independent and formed the state constitution during the following year. He was appointed a captain in Col. Herriek's battalion of rangers in July, 1777, and distinguished himself at the battle of Bennington. In September of the same year he captured Mt. Defiance by assault, and on the retreat of the enemy from Fort Ticonderoga made fifty of them prisoners. Subsequently he was made major in the rangers, and showed himself a brave and successful partisan leader. He died March 26, 1806, in Burlington, Vt.

ALLEN, EDWARD P., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 28, 1839, in Sharon, Mich. He graduated from the State Normal school in March, 1864; taught the Union school in Vassar, Mich., for the three months following, when he enlisted and helped to raise a company for the twenty-ninth Michigan infantry. He was commissioned first lieutenant, and was mustered out as captain. He entered the law school at Ann Arbor, graduating in March, 1867; practices in Ypsilanti. He was elected alderman of Ypsilanti in 1872 and 1874, and mayor in 1880; and was prosecuting attorney of Washtenaw county in 1872. He was elected to the lower house of the legislature in 1876; was again elected in 1878, at which time he was elected speaker pro tempore. He was appointed assistant assessor of internal revenue in 1869; was United States Indian agent for Michigan in August, 1882, which office he held until December, 1885. He was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

ALLEN, EDWIN R., soldier, state senator, lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island, was born Nov. 26, 1840, in Windham, Conn. He was educated in the schools of his native town and at Eagleswood, N. J. He enlisted in company A, seventh regiment Rhode Island volunteers, in August, 1862; was corporal, sergeant-major, second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and was in command of said company when it was mustered out of service in June, 1865. He served as state senator in 1889-90 and in 1891-92, and became lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island in 1894.

ALLEN, ELISHA H., lawyer, congressman, diplomatist, was born Jan. 28, 1804, in New Salem, Mass. He was a lawyer; served in the legislature of Maine from 1836 to 1841, and in 1846; and in 1838 as speaker. He was elected a representative in congress from Maine from 1841 to 1843. In 1847 he removed to Boston; was elected to the Massachusetts legislature in 1849; after which he was appointed consul to Honolulu. He afterward became connected with the government of the Sandwich islands; and in 1856 visited the United States as envoy. In 1857 he was chief justice and chancellor of the Sandwich islands, serving until 1864; and was the Hawaiian minister at Washington for a number of years. He died suddenly while attending the president's reception, Jan. 1, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

ALLEN, ELIZABETH AKERS, poet, was born Oct. 9, 1832, in Strong, Maine. In 1855 she became assistant editor of the Portland Transcript; and wrote the celebrated poem entitled Rock Me to Sleep, Mother. She is the author of a volume of poetry, entitled Forest Buds from the Woods of Maine; and a second volume of verse entitled Poems by Florence Percy; and is also the author of The Silver Bridge and other works. She is a member of the Sorosis, of New York city, and is still engaged in literary work.

ALLEN, ESTHER LAVILLA, author, poet, was born May 28, 1834, in Ithaca, N. Y. Since 1870 she has contributed stories, sketches and poems to various newspapers and magazines, which have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

ALLEN, ESTHER SAVILLE, educator, author, was born Dec. 11, 1837, in Honeoye, N. Y. For many years she was engaged in educational work in the states of New York and Illinois; and is now a resident of Arkansas. She is the author of numerous productions in prose and verse, which have had extensive publication in the leading periodicals of the west.

ALLEN, ETHAN, an officer of the revolutionary war, was born Jan. 10, 1737, in Litchfield, Conn. He was leader of the famous Green Mountain boys, of Vermont, and hero of the capture of forts Ticonderoga and Crown Point, May 10, 1775. He attacked the English at Montreal, was taken prisoner, and sent to England in irons. He died Feb. 13, 1789, near Burlington, Vt.

ALLEN, FRED HOVEY, clergyman, author, was born in 1845 in New Hampshire. He is a clergyman, author of the text in a number of popular art works, such as Great Cathedrals of the World; Modern German Masters; The Bowdoin Collection; The Doré Album; The Gerome Album; Discovery and Conquest of Peru; and Discovery and Conquest of Mexico.

ALLEN, FREDERICK DE FOREST, educator, author, was born in 1844 in Ohio. He has been a professor of classical philology at Harvard university since 1880; and the author of Remnants of Early Latin; and Greek Versification in Inscriptions.

ALLEN, HARRISON, surgeon, author, was born April 17, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a surgeon of Philadelphia, professor in the university of Pennsylvania from 1865; and the author of Outlines of Comparative Anatomy; and System of Human Anatomy.

ALLEN, HEMAN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1776. He was a resident, if not a native, of Milton, Vt., and adopted the profession of the law, in which he became distinguished. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1833 to 1839. He died Dec. 11, 1844, in Burlington, Vt.

ALLEN, HEMAN, lawyer, congressman, diplomat, was born Feb. 23, 1779, in Poultney, Vt. He was a resident of Colchester, Vt.; graduated at Dartmouth college in 1795, and adopted the profession of the law; and was sheriff of Chittenden county in 1808 and 1809. From 1811 to 1814 he was chief justice of the Chittenden county court; from 1812 to 1817 was an active member of the state legislature; was appointed quartermaster of militia, with the title of brigadier; and was a trustee of the university of Vermont. He was first elected a representative in congress from Vermont in 1817, but resigned in 1818 to accept the appointment of United States marshal for the district of Vermont. In 1823 he received the appointment of minister to Chili, which post he resigned in 1828. In 1830 he was appointed president of the United States branch bank, of Burlington. He died April 9, 1852, in Highgate, Vt.

ALLEN, HEMAN W., soldier, merchant, legislator, was born in 1844, in Westford, Vt. He was a private in company A, thirteenth regiment Vermont volunteers; was promoted to first lieutenant company I, second Vermont militia, in 1864-67; and inspector of rifle practice on staff of Governor Woodbury. He is a successful dry-goods merchant of Vermont; a director of the Merchants National bank, and of the Vermont Electric company.

ALLEN, HENRY, founder of a sect, was born June 14, 1748, in Newport, R. I. In 1774 and succeeding years he made many converts in Nova Scotia to his peculiar mystical religious ideas. He believed that human souls are emanations from a single great spirit, and that the Bible is to be interpreted not literally, but in a spiritual sense. He published a book of hymns and several treatises and sermons. The Allenites became numerous under his eloquent preaching, but declined after his death. He died Feb. 2, 1784, in Northampton, N. H.

ALLEN, HENRY WATKINS, the fifteenth governor of Louisiana, was born April 29, 1820, in Prince Edward county, Va. He taught school, practiced law, and became a gallant soldier. In 1842 with his brother he enlisted in the war of Texas against Mexico; and in 1846 was elected to the state legislature of Mississippi. He ran away from school, had a roving disposition, and finally settled in West Baton Rouge; and in 1853 was elected to the Louisiana house of representatives. In 1861 he joined the confederate army, was elected lieutenant-colonel, and became military governor of Jackson, Miss. He was desperately wounded at Shiloh and at Baton Rouge, and was appointed brigadier-general. In 1864 he was inaugurated governor of Louisiana, and died April 22, 1866, in the city of Mexico.

ALLEN, IRA, soldier, author, was born April 21, 1751, in Cornwall, Conn. He was an officer in the American army during the revolutionary war, and was afterwards instrumental in settling the disputes between Vermont and its neighbors. He was the author of Natural and Political History of Vermont. He died Jan. 7, 1814, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALLEN, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born 1692 in Roxbury, Mass. He was ordained in 1718 and became the first minister of Brookline, remaining in that charge until his death. His remarks concerning the religious revival of 1743 drew upon him severe animadversion. He published a Thanksgiving sermon; a discourse on Providence; a discourse entitled The Doctrine of Merit Exploded, and Humility Recommended; a Fast Sermon on the Earthquake, and other works. He died Feb. 18, 1747, in Brookline, Mass.

ALLEN, JAMES C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 28, 1823, in Shelby county, Ky. In 1846 he was elected prosecuting attorney in the seventh judicial district of Indiana for two years; and in 1850 and 1851 was elected a member of the state legislature. He was chosen a representative in congress from Illinois, from 1853 to 1855, and re-elected to the thirty-fourth congress. In 1862 he was elected to the thirty-eighth congress as a representative.

ALLEN, JAMES LANE, educator, author, was born in 1849, in Kentucky. He was at one time a teacher, now devoted to literature. A writer of short stories, notable for literary excellence. He is the author of Flute and Violin; The Blue Grass Region and Other Sketches of Kentucky; John Gray: a Novel; The Kentucky Cardinal; Aftermath; A Summer in Arcady; and The Choir Invisible.

ALLEN, JEREMIAH MERVIN, underwriter, was born May 18, 1833, in Enfield, Conn. Since 1867 he has been president of the Hartford Steamboat Inspection and Insurance company; and is also trustee and director of a number of business corporations.

ALLEN, JEROME, educator, author, was born in 1830 in Vermont. He was an educator of New York, dean of the school of Pedagogy; and author of Handbook of Experimental Chemistry; Methods for Teachers in Grammar; Mind Studies for Young Teachers; and Temperament in Education. He died in 1894.

ALLEN, JESSE C., educator, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 31, 1832, in Muskingum county, Ohio. For nearly twenty years he was engaged in educational work; was then admitted to the bar, and attained success as an eminent lawyer of Van Wert, Ohio. He now devotes most of his time to literature, and is the author of a work entitled Modern World View.

ALLEN, JOEL ASAPH, naturalist, author, was born July 19, 1838, in Springfield, Mass. He is a naturalist who since 1885 has been curator of ornithology and mammalogy in the American Museum of Natural History in New York city. He is the author of History of North American Pinnipeds; and Monographs of North American Rodentia.

ALLEN, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1763, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was a lawyer by profession; and was a member of the state council of Connecticut for several years. He was a representative from that state during the last congress which was held in Philadelphia, from 1797 to 1799. He died July 31, 1812, in Litchfield, Conn.

ALLEN, JOHN, lawyer, soldier, was born Dec. 30, 1772, in Rockbridge, Va. He was the son of an early settler in Kentucky, and began the practice of law at Shelbyville in 1795. In 1812 he raised a regiment of riflemen which was engaged in the battle of Brownstown and formed the left wing at the river Raisin, and was killed in battle at that place, Jan. 22, 1814.

ALLEN, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, was born Aug. 17, 1796, in Augusta county, Va. In 1824, in company with E. W. Rumsey, he located the site of Ann Arbor, Mich. He engaged in land speculation and at one time owned thousands of acres of land in the western part of the state, much of which was lost in the panic of 1837. In company with Samuel W. Dexter, he published for a time the Western Emigrant, the first paper in Washtenaw county. He studied law with James Kingsley, and was admitted to the bar in 1832, but gave little time to the profession. He was state senator of Michigan in 1845-48. He went to California in 1850 and died there March 11, 1851.

ALLEN, JOHN, dental inventor, was born May 26, 1823, in Meriden, Conn. After numerous experiments he succeeded by artificial means in restoring the sunken portion of the face to its original position. He was largely instrumental in organizing the Ohio Dental college, and was professor for many years in this college. He died March 12, 1892.

ALLEN, JOHN BEARD, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born May 18, 1845, in Crawfordsville, Ind. He was educated in Wabash college, Crawfordsville; was a private soldier in the one hundred and thirty-fifth regiment of Indiana volunteers; removed with his father's family to Rochester, Minn., where he resided until 1870; here he read law, and was admitted to practice. He removed to Washington territory in 1870, and entered upon the practice of his profession. He was appointed United States attorney for Washington territory April, 1875, by President Grant, and continued in that office until July, 1885; and was reporter of the supreme court of Washington territory from 1878 to 1885. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican from the territory of Washington; was elected to the United States senate under the provisions of the act of congress admitting Washington territory into the union; and took his seat Dec. 2, 1889. His term of service expired March 3, 1893.

ALLEN, JOHN J. congressman, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was a resident of Harrison county; and was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, from 1833 to 1835. Subsequently he held the office of chief justice of the supreme court of Virginia.

ALLEN, JOHN M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 8, 1847, in Tishomingo county, Miss. He received a common-school education; and served in the confederate army throughout the civil war. He attended the law school of Cumberland university, Tennessee, and in 1870 graduated in law from the university of Mississippi; in the same year was admitted to the bar, and commenced the practice of law at Tupelo, Miss. In 1875 he was elected district attorney for the first judicial district of Mississippi, in which position he served four years; and in 1884 was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-ninth congress, and received the re-election to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and fifty-fifth congresses.

ALLEN, JOHN W., state senator, congressman, was born in 1802 in Litchfield, Conn. He settled in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1825; was a member of the senate of that state from 1835 to 1837; also mayor of Cleveland; and was elected a representative in congress from 1837 to 1841. He was a son of John Allen, of Great Barrington, Mass.

ALLEN, JOSEPH, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 2, 1749, in Boston, Mass. He was a merchant in Leicester, and benefactor of the academy there; twice elector for president; and was a clerk of the county court and a state councillor. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts, from 1810 to 1811. He died Sept. 2, 1827, in Worcester, Mass.

ALLEN, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 15, 1790, in Medfield, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1811, and was ordained pastor of the congregational church at Northborough in 1816, which relation he sustained until his death. He was a delegate to the peace congress at Paris in 1849; and the author of Historical Account of Northboro; Centennial Discourse; Memoir of Rev. Dr. Lathrop of Springfield; History of the Worcester Association; and Allen Genealogy. He died Feb. 23, 1873, in Northborough, Mass.

ALLEN, JOSEPH HENRY, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 21, 1820, in Northborough, Mass. He attended the district school till the age of thirteen years, and graduated from Harvard college in 1840. During 1843-47 he filled a pastorate in Jamaica Plain, near Boston; in Washington, D. C., 1847-50; in Bangor, Maine, 1850-57. During 1857-69 he was editor of the Christian Examiner; from 1887-91 was editor of the Unitarian Review; and during 1878-82 was lecturer on ecclesiastical history in the Harvard university. He was associate editor of the Allen and Greenough series of classical text-books. He is the author of Hebrew Men and Times; Fragments of Christian History; Christian History, in three volumes; Outline of Christian History; Positive Religion; Historical Sketch of Unitarianism; and other works.

ALLEN, JUDSON, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He removed to New York, and was elected a representative in congress from that state, from 1839 to 1841.

ALLEN, LEWIS FALLY, author, was born in 1799 in New York. He was once a prominent cattle broker, and the author of Rural Architecture; The American Herd Book; and American Cattle.

ALLEN, LYMAN WHITNEY, clergyman, poet, was born in 1854, in St. Louis, Mo. He graduated from Washington university in 1878, and prepared for the ministry at Princeton Theological seminary. This eminent presbyterian clergyman is chiefly known as the author of many gems of religious verse, which have appeared in standard publications.

ALLEN, MALACIAH, soldier, farmer, public official, born April 1, 1841, in Georgia. After graduating from Madison college, Miss., he taught school for awhile; he then became a soldier in the Tennessee division of the army; he served four years and held the position of captain at the close of the war. He was in every battle fought by the army of the Tennessee, and was wounded three times. After the war he engaged in farming; and since 1887 has been clerk of the circuit court of Madison county, Miss.

ALLEN, MARY WOOD, physician, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 19, 1841, in Delta, Ohio. After graduating she taught music, French, and German in a collegiate institute in Battle Ground, Ind., until her marriage to Mr. Chillon B. Allen, now a noted lawyer. In 1875 she graduated in medicine from Ann Arbor, Mich., subsequently practiced medicine in Newark, N. J.; and is now a successful lecturer of Toledo, Ohio. She is the author of Man Wonderful and the House Beautiful, an allegorical physiology; and her poem, entitled Motherhood, won for itself immediate fame.

ALLEN, MOSES, clergyman, patriot, was born Sept. 14, 1748, in Northampton, Mass. In 1777 he took charge of the church at Midway, Ga. The British force under Gen. Prevost burned his church and devastated the district in 1778. He officiated as chaplain to the Georgia brigade, and was captured when Savannah was reduced by the British in December. His eloquent, patriotic appeals and energetic exertions in the field had rendered him obnoxious to the British, and they refused to release him on parole with the officers. He was confined in a loathsome prison-ship, and was drowned in attempting to escape. He died Feb. 8, 1779.

ALLEN, NATHAN, physician, author, was born April 13, 1813, in Princeton, Mass. He was a physician of Lowell; and the author of The Law of Human Increase; The Opium Trade; and Physical Development. He died in 1889.

ALLEN, NATHANIEL, congressman, was born in Dutchess county, N. Y. He served in the assembly of that state in 1812; and was a representative in congress, from 1819 to 1821.

ALLEN, NATHANIEL TOPLIFF, educator, was born Sept. 29, 1823, in Medfield, Mass. In 1848 he was appointed to the charge of the model department in the Normal school of West Newton, Mass., which position he filled with marked ability for six years.

In connection with Cyrus Pierce, father of American normal schools, he then established the West Newton English and Classical school. For nearly half a century he has taught in this school, which he purchased in 1853; and with his three brothers has created for the institution a national reputation in the educational world. Here the first pure kindergarten in the United States was started in 1863. He has always advocated the liberal and thorough co-education of the sexes, and is one of the most prominent educators in the United States.

ALLEN, ORRIN PEER, educator, pharmacist, author, was born Sept. 30, 1833, in Wallingford, Vt. He finished his education at Chester academy, Vt.; he taught school in several Vermont towns; for two years was superintendent of schools in Vernon; and subsequently was principal of the Toanack institute of Hackensack, N. J. Since 1859 he has resided in Palmer, Mass., and successfully conducting a pharmacy. He was one of the founders of the Palmer Public library in 1878, and has since been a member of its board of management, and is a member in various societies. He is the author of the Lee, Doolittle, and Allen Genealogies; and of many historical and miscellaneous papers.

ALLEN, PAUL, journalist, poet, was born Feb. 15, 1775, in Providence, R. I. He was a journalist of Philadelphia; and the author of Poems: Noah, a poem in five cantos; Life of Alexander 1; and Lewis and Clark's Novels. He died Aug. 18, 1826, in Baltimore, Md.

ALLEN, PHILIP, manufacturer, governor of Rhode Island, United States senator, was born Sept. 1, 1785, in Providence, R. I. He graduated at Brown university in 1803; was elected to the state legislature in 1819, 1820, and 1821; and devoted much attention to the business of manufacturing; he was governor of Rhode Island during the years 1851, 1852, and 1853; and was elected a senator in congress from his native state, from March 3, 1853, for six years. He constructed the first Watt and Boulton steam engine in Providence. He died Dec. 16, 1865, in Providence, R. I.

ALLEN, RICHARD, revolutionary soldier, was born Nov. 26, 1741, in Maryland. In 1775 he joined the continental forces as sergeant, and later was promoted captain. After the war he held several civil offices. He died Oct. 10, 1832.

ALLEN, RICHARD, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1760. He became a local methodist preacher about 1782, and in 1793, at Philadelphia, organized the first church for colored people in the United States. He was ordained in the methodist ministry in 1799, and was elected bishop of the newly formed African methodist episcopal church in 1816. He died March 26, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALLEN, RICHARD C., jurist. He was a citizen of Florida, and was one of the earliest United States judges appointed for the district embracing that state.

ALLEN, RICHARD LAMB, journalist, author, was born in October, 1803, in Hampton county, Mass., and was a brother of L. F. Allen, with whom, in 1842, he founded the American Agriculturalist. He was the author of Domestic Animals; Diseases of Domestic Animals; and New American Farm Book. He died Sept. 22, 1869, in Stockholm, in Sweden.

ALLEN, ROBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in 1777 in Augusta county, Va. He was a colonel in the army under General Jackson; and a representative in congress from Tennessee, from 1819 to 1827. He died Aug. 19, 1864, in Carthage, Tenn.

ALLEN, ROBERT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born July 20, 1794, in Woodstock, Va. He was educated at Dickinson and Washington colleges; studied law, and practiced in his native place. For a time he held the office of prosecutor for the commonwealth; served five years in the senate of Virginia; was a representative in congress from that state from 1827 to 1833.

ALLEN, ROBERT, general, was born in 1815 in Ohio. He was graduated at West Point in 1836, and was second lieutenant in the Seminole war. In the Mexican war he received the brevet rank of major. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863, and was brevetted brigadier-general in the regular army in 1864. He received the brevet rank of major-general in 1865. After the war he served again as chief quartermaster of the Pacific, and was retired March 21, 1878. He died Aug. 6, 1886, in Geneva, Switzerland.

ALLEN, SAMUEL, patentee of New Hampshire, was born in 1636 in England. He was a London merchant, and in 1691 purchased from the heirs of John Mason their grant of land from the English crown. The purchase included Portsmouth and Dover, and extended sixty miles from the sea coast. He died May 5, 1705, in Newcastle, N. H.

ALLEN, SAMUEL C., clergyman, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1772, in Franklin county, Mass. He graduated at Dartmouth college in 1794; was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature from 1806 to 1810; a state senator from 1812 to 1815, and in 1831; a member of the executive council in 1829 and 1830; and a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1817 to 1829. He was at one time a congregational preacher, but subsequently turned his attention to law and literature. He died Feb. 8, 1842, in Northfield, Mass.

ALLEN, SAMUEL WARD KING, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 2, 1842, in North Kingstown. He received his education at the East Greenwich academy, the New York Conference seminary, and the Boston university. He served as a soldier in the civil war, and attained prominence as an able lawyer; served six terms in the Rhode Island state legislature; and was speaker of the house of representatives three successive terms.

ALLEN, SOLOMON, soldier, missionary, was born Feb. 23, 1751, in Northampton, Mass. He was a brother of Moses and Thomas Allen, who were chaplains in the revolutionary army, while he fought as a soldier and rose to the rank of major. As lieutenant he commanded the guard that took Major André to West Point. After the war he was engaged in suppressing Shay's rebellion. At the age of forty he became a religious convert, and at fifty began the life of a missionary preacher. A Sketch of the Last Hours of Solomon Allen was written by J. N. Danforth. He died Jan. 28, 1821, in New York.

ALLEN, STEPHEN, business man, public official, was born in July, 1767, in New York city. While commissioner for visiting prisons, he proposed the erection of the state prison at Sing Sing, and was one of the principal originators of the project for supplying New York city with water from the Croton river. He perished in the steamer Henry Clay, which was burned in July, 1852.

ALLEN, STEPHEN, state senator, was born about 1772. He was elected mayor in 1821 and 1822, and for several years was a state senator; and a member of the court of errors, at that time the highest court of appeal in the state.

ALLEN, STEPHEN MERRILL, merchant, banker, author, was born in 1819 in New Hampshire. He was a banker and merchant of Boston; and the author of Fibrilia and Fibrous Manufactures, Ancient and Modern; Theories of Light; and Religion and Science. He died in 1894.

ALLEN, THOMAS, lawyer, journalist, railroad president, congressman, was born at Pittsfield, Mass. He was educated at Union college; studied law, and was admitted to the bar. In 1837 he removed to Washington, D. C., and engaged in the printing and newspaper business. In 1842 he removed to St. Louis, Mo. He was a state senator in 1850 and 1854; became largely interested in railways, and was, for many years, president of railway corporations. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-seventh congress. He died April 7, 1882.

ALLEN, THOMAS, clergyman, patriot, was born Jan. 17, 1743, in Northampton, Mass. He was the first minister of Pittsfield, Mass., where he was ordained in 1764. He died Feb. 11, 1810, in Pittsfield, Mass. His son William is the well-known D. D. and author, who for nineteen years was president of Bowdoin college.

ALLEN, THOMAS, landscape and animal painter, was born Oct. 19, 1849, in St. Louis, Mo. He was president of the Paint and Clay club of Boston; Boston Society of Water Color Painting, and the Boston Art club. In 1894 he was judge of awards, department of fine arts, at the World's Columbian exposition, Chicago.

ALLEN, TIMOTHY FIELD, physician, author, was born April 24, 1837, in Westminster, Vt. He is a physician of New York city, and has been dean of the Homœopathic Medical college since 1882. He is the author of Characæ Americanæ; and General Symptom-Register of Homœopathic Materia Medica. He has edited Encyclopædia of Pure Materia Medica.

ALLEN, WILLIAM, clergyman, college president, author, was born Jan. 2, 1784, in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1802 he graduated at Cambridge; and two years later was licensed to preach. During 1804-10 he was a regent in Harvard college; and devoted much of his time to the preparation of the American Biographical and Historical Dictionary. For two years he was president of Dartmouth university; and in 1820 was inaugurated president of Bowdoin college. He resigned in 1839, and moved to Northampton, Mass., where he devoted himself to literary work. He was the author of An Account of Remarkable Shipwrecks; A Collection of Psalms and Hymns, many of which were original; a second and enlarged edition of the Biographical Dictionary; and a work entitled Junius Unmasked. He died July 16, 1868, in Northampton, Mass.

ALLEN, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, governor of Ohio, was born in 1806 in Edenton, N. C. He received a good education; was connected by family ties with Allen G. Thurman; was an early emigrant to the state of Ohio; and adopted the profession of the law. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1833 to 1835; was elected a senator in congress from 1837 to 1849; and in 1874 became governor of Ohio, serving as such until 1876. He refused to accept any office except such as was conferred upon him by an election of the people. He died July 11, 1879.

ALLEN, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 13, 1827, in Butler county, Ohio. He received a good English education; taught school for a time; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1849. In 1850 he was elected a county prosecuting attorney, and re-elected in 1852. In 1858 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth congress, and re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1864, and also to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866.

ALLEN, WILLIAM FRANCIS, educator, author, was born Sept. 5, 1830, in Northborough, Mass., and was a brother of J. H. Allen. He was a professor in the university of Wisconsin, and published Outline Studies in the History of Ireland; Monographs and Essays; and edited a collection of Slave Songs. He died in 1889.

ALLEN, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, college president, was born in March, 1808, in Readfield, Maine. In 1833 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and then became a teacher of Greek and Latin in the Cazenovia seminary, N. Y. In 1836 he took charge of the high school in Augusta, Maine; then filled a position in Carlisle, Pa., where for ten years he was professor of chemistry and natural philosophy in Dickinson college. In 1850 he became president of the Girard college of Philadelphia, Pa. For thirteen years he filled that position and then resigned; but at the end of four years he was persuaded to again accept the presidency of that institution.

ALLEN, WILLIAM HOWARD, naval officer, was born July 8, 1790, in Hudson, N. Y. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1808, and was promoted lieutenant in 1813. He was second lieutenant of the Argus, and commanded in the fight with the Pelican off the coast of England after Captain Allen and the first officer were disabled. He was killed in attempting to board piratical vessels with boats near Matanzas, in the island of Cuba. His friend Halleck made his early death the subject of a tender and touching poem. He was killed in action Nov. 9, 1822.

ALLEN, WILLIAM J., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1828, in Tennessee. He removed with his father to Illinois in 1829; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1848. In 1854 was elected to the Illinois legislature; in 1855 was appointed United States attorney for the district of Illinois, which office he resigned in 1860, and was then elected judge of the circuit court. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-seventh congress, for the unexpired term of John A. Logan, resigned, and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress.

ALLEN, WILLIAM TEMPLE, clergyman, was born on Dec. 15, 1855, in Virginia. He is a clergyman of St. Peter's, Talladega. He built the church at Boeme, Texas, and also the church at Gadsden, Ala.

ALLEN, WILLIAM VINCENT, lawyer, legislator, jurist, United States senator, was born Jan. 28, 1847, in Medway, Ohio.

He received his education in the Iowa common schools and the Upper Iowa university of Fayette. He served as a union soldier during the civil war in company G, thirty-second Iowa volunteer infantry. In 1869 he was admitted to the bar; removed to Nebraska in 1884; and in 1891 was elected judge of the ninth judicial district of that state. In 1893 he was elected a member of the United States senate for the full term of six years. As a lawyer, judge and senator, he has established an admitted leadership. He is a marvel of senate oratory, having made a notable fifteen hours' speech in the great silver debate; and is the unquestioned populist leader in the entire congress.

ALLEN, WILLIS, congressman, was born in Tennessee; and was representative in congress from Illinois from 1851 to 1855.

ALLEN, WILLIS BOYD, author, was born July 9, 1855, in Kittery Point, Maine. He attended the Boston Latin school, and in 1878 graduated from Harvard college. He has been editor of Cottage Hearth; Our Sunday Afternoon, and Wellspring. He is the author of twenty-eight books for young people, the most notable of which are: Pine Cone Stories, in six volumes; Red Mountain of Alaska; Lion City of Africa; Camp Vagabond; Mammoth Hunters; The Great Island; Boyhood of John Kent; Christmas at Surf Point; Snowed In; A Son of Liberty; Called to the Front; Mountaineer Series, in five volumes; Forest Home Series, in five volumes; John Brownlow's Folks; and In the Morning.

ALLEN, ZACHARIAH, inventor, was born Sept. 15, 1795, in Providence, R. I. He was a noted inventor and manufacturer of Providence; and the author of Practical Tourist; Practical Mechanics; Philosophy of the Mechanics of Nature; and Solar Light and Heat. He died March 17, 1882.

ALLERTON, MRS. ELLEN, poet, was born in 1835, in New York. She is the author of Poems of the Prairies, and contributes to current literature.

ALLERTON, ELLEN PALMER, poet, was born Oct. 17, 1835, in Centerville, N. Y. She has contributed to Milwaukee and Chicago papers; was at one time book reviewer for the Milwaukee Sentinel, and is the author of a volume entitled Poems of the Prairies.

ALLERTON, ISAAC, pilgrim, was born about 1583. He went from England to Leyden in 1608, and came to America in 1620 in the first voyage of the Mayflower. He was a wealthy and enterprising member of the colony, and took a leading part in its affairs. He treated with Massasoit, and made several trips to England as the agent of the colony to purchase the rights of the adventurers, to secure patents for lands, and to bring over the rest of the congregation at Leyden. He died in 1659 in New Haven, Conn.

ALLERTON, SAMUEL WATERS, packer, was born May 26, 1828, near South Amenia, N. Y. In 1873 Mr. Allerton began packing meats, and carried on the business as The Allerton Packing Co., of which he is president. He now has forty thousand acres of farm land in Illinois, Ohio, and in Iowa—upon which live stock is raised and fattened. He is one of the two survivors of the organizers of the First National bank of Chicago; and a large owner in The Chicago City Railway; The Arcade File Works of Anderson, Ind., and president of The Allerton bank of Allerton, Ill.

ALLEY, JOHN B., manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 7, 1817, in Lynn, Mass. He entered largely into the shoe and leather business; served several years in the city councils of Lynn; was a member of the governor's council in 1851; a member of the Massachusetts senate in 1852; of the state constitutional convention held in 1853; and in 1858 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-sixth congress. He was elected to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses, and was a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalist convention of 1866.

ALLIBONE, SAMUEL AUSTIN, author, was born April 17, 1816, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is widely known by his Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors, a work of immense labor and research. He died Sept. 2, 1889, in Lucerne, Switzerland.

ALLIN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1596 in England. He was a puritan scholar, who emigrated from England in 1637; became the first minister of Dedham; and was the author of several works. He died Aug. 26, 1671, in Dedham, Mass.

ALLIS, LIZZIE MAY, educator, was born May 28, 1863, in Prattsburgh, N. Y., which city is still her home. She graduated from the Franklin academy; Elmira college and from Cornell university. She has filled the chair of German and English in the Jacksonville Female academy, Illinois; was preceptress for three years of the State Normal school of Mansfield, Pa.; and now fills the chair of French and German in the Iowa State college.

ALLISON, BURGESS, educator, clergyman, inventor, was born Aug. 17, 1753, in Bordentown, N. J. He studied at Rhode Island college (now Brown university) in 1777, and subsequently had charge of a small congregation at Bordentown, N. J., where he established a classical boarding-school, which attained great reputation. In 1796 he withdrew from his teaching and devoted his time for several years to inventing. Some improvements in the steam engine and its application to navigation are due to his efforts. He was elected chaplain of the house of representatives in 1816, and later became chaplain at the navy-yard, Washington, where he remained until his death. He died Feb. 20, 1827, in Washington, D. C.

ALLISON, JAMES, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1772, in Cecil county, Md. He studied law and acquired a high position at the bar of western Pennsylvania. He was elected a representative from that state to the eighteenth congress; was re-elected to the nineteenth congress, but on account of ill health and his dislike of public life, declined the position. After practicing his profession for fifty years, he died in June, 1854.

ALLISON, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 5, 1812, in Pennsylvania. He studied law, but never practiced the profession; was elected to the assembly of his state in 1846, 1847, and 1849; was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-second and thirty-fourth congresses, and declined a nomination for reelection. In 1869 he was appointed register of the United States treasury. He died March 23, 1878, in Washington, D. C.

ALLISON, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania, from 1831 to 1833.

ALLISON, WILLIAM B., lawyer, United States senator, was born March 2, 1829, in Perry, Ohio. He was educated at the Western Reserve college, Ohio; studied law and practiced in Ohio until he removed to Iowa in 1857. He served on the staff of the governor of Iowa and aided in organizing volunteers in the beginning of the war for the suppression of the rebellion. He was elected a representative in the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first congresses, and was elected to the United States senate as a republican, and took his seat March 4, 1873. He was re-elected in 1878, 1884, 1890, and 1897. His term of service will expire March 3, 1903.

ALLSTON, JOSEPH, governor, was born in 1778 in South Carolina. He was a planter of education and ability; was several years a member of the South Carolina legislature; and was governor of that state from 1812 to 1814. He married a daughter of Aaron Burr, and for that reason was suspected, but unjustly, of being concerned in the questionable enterprises of that famous man. His wife was lost at sea on her passage from New York to Charleston in 1812. He died Sept. 10, 1816.

ALLSTON, ROBERT FRANCIS WITHERS, statesman, author, was born April 21, 1801, in All Saint's parish, S. C. He was a Carolina statesman well known at one time as an agricultural reformer. He was the author of Memoir on Rice; Essay on Seacoast Crops; and Report on Public Schools. He died April 7, 1864, near Georgetown, S. C.

ALLSTON, WASHINGTON, artist, author, was born Nov. 5, 1779, in Waccamaw, S. C. He was the foremost of American painters in his delineations of sacred history. Jacob's Dream; Elijah in the Desert; and Belshazzar's Feast, the latter on which he was at work when he died, are among his sacred historical paintings. He also possessed poetical talent of a high order, and was the author of Sylphs of the Seasons; Romance of Monaldi; and Lectures on Art. He died July 9, 1843, in Cambridge, Mass.

ALLYN, EUNICE ELOISAE GIBBS, artist, poet, was born near Cleveland, Ohio. She has been the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean; was a writer for the St. Louis Globe and the New York World; and still contributes both prose and verse to the leading publications of America. She has also won distinction as an artist and lecturer. For eight years she served as president of the Dubuque Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and is prominently identified with various other organizations.

ALLYN, JOHN, merchant, was born Sept. 4, 1783, in Boston, Mass. In 1805 he originated the ice trade; and developed the marvelous processes of harvesting, handling and storing ice, which are still in use wherever natural ice is obtained on a large scale. He died Feb. 6, 1864, in Boston, Mass.

ALLYN, JOSEPH P., jurist, was a native of Connecticut, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Arizona.

ALMOND, MARCUS BLAKEY, author, was born Aug. 17, 1851, in Stanardsville, Va. For many years he was professor of ancient languages in the male high school of Louisville, Ky., and is now headmaster of the university school of that city. His famous poem, Estelle, is a beautiful story in verse of some fifty pages, and was published in a volume with other poems. His next work was Agricola, an Easter lily; and he is the author of several educational works of acknowledged excellence.

ALMY, JOHN JAY, naval officer, was born April 25, 1815, in Rhode Island. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1829, advanced to the rank of commodore in 1869; and until 1876 was commander of the Pacific squadron.

ALMY, WILLIAM, educator, philanthropist, was born Feb. 17, 1761, in Providence, R. I. He was a teacher and a member of the society of Friends, and became wealthy through marriage with the only daughter of Moses Brown and resulting business arrangements for the manufacture of cotton goods. One of his most important charities was the establishment of the New England yearly meeting boarding-house in Providence, where he educated at his own expense eighty young persons selected by him. He devoted large sums to other charitable objects. He died Feb. 5, 1836.

ALSOP, GEORGE, author, was born in 1638 in England. He published a book with this quaint title: A Character of the Province of Maryland; also a Small Treatise on the Wild and Naked Indians or Susquehanokes of Maryland, their Customs, Manners, Absurdities, and Religion, together with a collection of historical letters.

ALSOP, JOHN, merchant, congressman, was born in Middletown, Conn. He was a merchant, and by his ability, patriotism, and integrity secured his election to the continental congress in 1774, serving two years in that body. He died Nov. 22, 1794, in Newtown, N. Y.

ALSOP, JOHN, lawyer, poet, was born Feb. 5, 1776, in Middletown, Conn. He was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New London. He afterward became a bookseller in Hartford, and still later in New York. His poems were never issued in book form, but appeared in various periodicals and collections. He died Nov. 1, 1841, in Middletown, Conn.

ALSOP, RICHARD, poet, was born Jan. 23, 1761, in Middletown, Conn. He was a witty political satirist who, with Theodore Dwight, wrote The Echo in 1791, a series of metrical parodies upon current publications, orations, state papers, and the like. Other works by Alsop are: The Charms of Fancy; A Monody on the Death of Washington; and The Enchanted Lake of the Fairy Morgana. He died Aug. 20, 1815, in Flatbush, N. Y.

ALSTON, LEMUEL J., congressman. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1807 to 1811.

ALSTON, WILLIAM, revolutionary soldier, state senator, was born in 1757 in Charleston, S. C. He was a captain in the revolutionary war; a capable soldier and a zealous patriot. After the war he served for many years in the state senate. He died June 26, 1839.

ALSTON, WILLIAM J., congressman, was born in Georgia. Removing to Alabama, he was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851.

ALSTON, WILLIS, congressman, was born in Halifax county, N. C. He appeared in public life as early as 1794, serving in the state legislature for several years. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1799 to 1815, and from 1825 to 1831. He died April 10, 1837.

ALSTON, WILLIS, state legislator, congressman, was born in Halifax county, N. C. In 1794 he was a member of the North Carolina state legislature; and for twenty years was a member of congress. He died April 10, 1837.

ALT, GUSTAVE ADOLPH F. W., physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 13, 1851, in Baden. He served two years as house surgeon in the New York ophthalmic and aural institute; and in 1887 was made lecturer on ophthalmology and otology in Trinity college. In 1879 he published in Germany, also in New York, The Normal and Pathological Histology of the Human Eye; and in 1883 he founded and edited the first ophthalmological journal, The American Journal of Ophthalmology.

ALTGELD, JOHN P., lawyer, governor, was born in December, 1847, in Germany. When sixteen years of age he entered the Union army, and carried a musket in the James river campaign. At nineteen he began to teach school, and at twenty-one went farther west. In 1884 he published a small volume entitled Our Penal Machinery and Its Victims, and in 1890 a volume entitled Live Questions, being a discussion of some of the problems of the day. In 1894 he published volume two of the work last named. He was elected judge of the superior court of Chicago in 1886, and was for a time chief justice of that court. After serving on the bench about five years he resigned to devote himself to private affairs. Meanwhile he had become interested in Chicago real estate, and built six of the finest business blocks in Chicago, one of them a sixteen-story fire-proof structure called The Unity, which is regarded as one of the finest office buildings in the country. In 1892 he was elected governor of the state of Illinois.

ALVORD, BENJAMIN, soldier, author, was born Aug. 18, 1813, in Rutland, Vt. He was a United States officer who served in the Mexican and civil wars; and was the author of Tangencies of Circles and Spheres; and Interpretation of Imaginary Roots in Questions of Maxima and Minima. He died Oct. 16, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

ALVORD, JAMES C., lawyer, legislator, was a native of Massachusetts. He adopted the profession of the law; served one term in each branch of the state legislature; and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the twenty-sixth congress, but died in the latter part of 1839, before taking his seat.

ALVORD, THOMAS GOLD, lawyer, statesman, was born Dec. 20, 1810, in Onondaga county, N. Y. He graduated from Yale in 1828; in 1832 was admitted to the New York bar; and in 1844 sent to the legislature, where he remained for ten consecutive terms. He was elected speaker of the house in 1858 and in 1864; was lieutenant-governor in 1865-66, and a member of the New York state constitutional convention in 1867-68. He is the proprietor of extensive salt mines in central New York.

AMBAUEN, ANDREW JOSEPH, Roman catholic priest, author, was born March 7, 1847, in Switzerland. In 1872 he was ordained to the priesthood in Milwaukee, Wis., where for thirteen years he worked in various pioneer mission stations in that diocese. In 1886 he was appointed to St. Joseph's congregation in Dodgeville, Wis., where he has since faithfully ministered. In the intervals of exacting pastoral duties he has contributed extensively to church and popular literature. Among his works are The Friend of Youth; Roses of Heaven; and Guide to Our Celestial Home; all in the German language. In English he is the author of The Devoted Companion; Our Christian Duties; and The Floral Apostles, or What the Flowers Say to Thinking Man. Father Ambauen is widely popular in his adopted state, both within and without the church, as one whose earnestness and thorough devotion to all causes of good and truth are un-failing and sincere.

AMBLER, JACOB A., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1829, in Pittsburg, Pa. He studied law in Ohio, and in 1857 was elected to the state legislature, and served two terms. In 1859 he was appointed judge of the ninth judicial district of the state, and served until 1867, when he resumed the practice of his profession. He was elected to the forty-first and forty-second congresses, serving on the committee on foreign affairs. He still practices law in Salem, Ohio, in partnership with his son, under the firm name of Ambler and Son.

AMBLER, WILLIAM E., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Dec. 18, 1845, in Medina, Ohio. Since 1868 he has practiced law in Pentwater, Mich. He has been president of the village, and a member of Neilsen and Company, bankers. He was elected senator in the state legislature in 1878; was re-elected in 1880; and was president pro tem of the senate during his last term. He subsequently became judge of probate for Oceana county.

AMBROSE, JAMES W., civil engineer, legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1826, in Industry, Maine. He became a member of the Maine state legislature in 1883. For eighteen years he was commissioner, and is a successful farmer and legislator.

AMBROSE, JOHN L., organist, singer, composer, was born in 1844, in Sandwich, N. H. He has composed church music and has prepared a book of Male Quartettes for the work of the Masonic lodge.

AMERMAN, LEMUEL, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 29, 1846, near Danville, Pa. He was professor of ancient languages and English literature in the state normal school at Mansfield, Pa., for three years; was admitted to practice and located in Scranton in 1876; was county solicitor for Lackawanna county in 1879-80; was representative in Pennsylvania legislature, 1881-84; was city comptroller of Scranton, 1885-86; was reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, 1886-87. He was largely interested in the construction and operation of water works; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died Oct. 7, 1897, in Scranton, Pa.

AMES, ADELBERT, soldier, governor, United States congressman, was born Oct. 31, 1835, in Rockland, Maine. He received a classical education; entered the military academy at West Point, and graduated in 1861. He was commissioned second lieutenant of artillery; brevetted major for gallant services at the battle of Bull Run, where he was wounded; brevetted lieutenant-colonel for services at the battle of Malvern Hill; was appointed colonel of volunteers; brevetted colonel for services at the battle of Gettysburg; brevetted major-general of volunteers for services at Fort Fisher; and again brevetted major-general, United States army, at the close of the war, for gallant and meritorious services in the field during the rebellion. He was appointed provisional governor of Mississippi in 1868; appointed to the command of the department of Mississippi in 1869; was elected to the United States senate for six years, taking his seat in 1870. In 1873 he was elected governor of Mississippi.

AMES, CHARLES GORDON, clergyman, author, was born in 1828, in Massachusetts. He is a unitarian clergyman and pastor of the church of the disciples in Boston. He is the author of George Eliot's Two Marriages; As Natural as Life; and Studies of the Inner Kingdom.

AMES, EDWARD RAYMOND, educator, bishop, was born May 20, 1806, in Athens, Ohio. He studied for two years at the Ohio state university, and in 1828 opened a high school at Lebanon, Ill., which in time grew into McKendree college. Here he remained until 1830, when he joined the Indiana methodist episcopal conference and became an itinerant minister, and in 1852 became a bishop. He died April 25, 1879, in Baltimore, Md.

AMES, ELEANOR MARIA, journalist, author, was born in 1830. Under the pen name of Eleanor Kirk she has published a number of books; and she is also the proprietor of a magazine entitled Eleanor Kirk's Idea, which is published in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of Up Broadway and Its Sequel; Information for Authors; and Perpetual Youth.

AMES, FANNY B., industrial reformer, lecturer, was born June 14, 1840, in Canandaigua, N. Y. Her first experience in practical work was gained in military hospitals during the war. In 1863 she was married to the Rev. Charles G. Ames. She has been the president of the children's aid society; was for two years president of the new country club of Philadelphia; and in 1891 was appointed factory inspector in Massachusetts.

AMES, FISHER, orator, statesman, author, was born April 9, 1758, in Dedham, Mass. He graduated from Harvard university in 1774; studied law in Boston, and commenced practice in his native town; distinguished himself as a member of the Massachusetts convention for ratifying the constitution in 1788; and from that body passed into the state legislature. He was soon afterward elected a representative in congress, where he served from 1789 to 1797, and gained great reputation for his eloquence and exalted patriotism. He was devotedly attached to Washington, and was the author of the Address from the house of representatives to the president prior to his retirement from office. He wrote much for the papers on the public affairs of America, England, and France, and both as a writer and orator attained a very prominent position, and exerted an extensive influence. In 1809 a collection of his writings, and his life, were published by Rev. Dr. Kirkham; in 1854 a more complete edition was issued, edited by his son. He died July 4, 1808.

AMES, JOSEPH, painter, was born Sept. 6, 1816, in Roxbury, N. H. His best-known pictures are portraits of Ristori, Prescott, Emerson, Rachel, and President Felton, of Harvard, and Gazzaniga. Among his ideal paintings are: Miranda; Night; Morning; The Death of Webster; and Maud Muller. He died Oct. 30, 1872, in New York.

AMES, LUCIA TRUE, author, was born May 5, 1856, in Boscawen, N. H. She is the author of Great Thoughts for Little Thinkers; and Memoirs of a Millionaire, a work of fiction. For many years she has conducted numerous large adult classes in Boston, giving studies in nineteenth century thought.

AMES, MARY CLEMMER (Mrs. Hudson), author, was born in 1839 in Utica, N. Y. She was intimate with Alice and Phoebe Cary, whose biographies she wrote. She published monographs on Charles Sumner, Margaret Fuller, George Eliot, Emerson, and Longfellow. She wrote three novels, Victoria; Eirene; and His Two Wives; Ten Years in Washington; Outlines of Men, Women and Things; and a volume of poems. In 1838 she married Edmund Hudson, editor and proprietor of the Army and Navy Register. She died Aug. 18, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

AMES, NATHAN P., manufacturer, was born in 1803. He commenced the cutlery business in 1829. In 1834 the Ames manufacturing company was incorporated, with N. P. Ames as agent. This company has supplied the United States government with swords since 1831. In 1840 he visited Europe to inspect foreign armories, and acquire information in regard to tools, cutlery, and improvements in arms. In 1836 the bronze foundry was erected, which has become the most famous in the United States. Since its erection nearly all the brass guns made for the American army have been cast at this establishment. Here the celebrated statues of De Witt Clinton, in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn; Washington, in Union square, N. Y., and that of Franklin, in School street, Boston, were cast. In 1854 the British government ordered of this company a complete set of the machines for perfecting the stock of the musket. They are now in use at the government armory near Woolwich, England. He died April 23, 1847, in Cabotville, Mass.

AMES, NATHANIEL, physician, author, was born in 1708 in Bridgewater, Mass. He was a physician of Dedham, Mass., who published in 1725-64, an Astronomical Diary and Almanac which contained much shrewd humor and original philosophy and was widely popular. He died July 11, 1764, in Dedham, Mass.

AMES, OAKES, manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 10, 1804, in Easton, Mass. He received a public-school education; was engaged in manufacturing and largely engaged in railroads; and was elected a member of the executive council of Massachusetts in 1860 and 1861. He was elected to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, and forty-second congresses as a republican. He died May 8, 1873, in North Easton, Mass.

AMES, OAKES ANGIER, manufacturer, banker, was born April 15, 1829, in Easton, Mass. This successful manufacturer and financier is the president of the Oliver Ames and Sons corporation of North Easton, Mass., an institution which has a national reputation as manufacturers of shovels, spades, and hardware specialties. He is president of the North Easton savings bank; vice-president of the Easton national bank; director of the Lincoln national bank of Boston; director of the Kenily iron and machine company of Canton; director of the Washington Mills emery company; president of the Ames security register company; and trustee of the state lunatic hospital at Taunton. Mr. Ames is an influential man in manufacturing and financial circles in the New England states.

AMES, OLIVER, soldier, manufacturer, governor, was born Feb. 4, 1831, in North Easton, Mass. Entering early the great shovel manufactory, he acquired a mastery of the business, and contributed numerous inventions to the processes of the manufacture. In 1880-81 he was elected a member of the Massachusetts senate; and in 1882 lieutenant-governor of the state. In 1886 he was elected governor, and re-elected in 1887-88.

AMES, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 6, 1806, in Providence, R. I. He was prepared for college at Phillips Andover academy, and was graduated at Brown in 1823. After graduation he attended the law lectures of Judge Gould at Litchfield, Conn., and became a member of the Rhode Island bar in 1826. He served in the Providence city council; was for many years in the state assembly; and was elected speaker of that body in 1844 and 1845. In 1853 he was appointed by the legislature to represent the state in adjusting the boundary between Rhode Island and Massachusetts. In 1855 he was one of the commissioners to revise the statutes of Rhode Island, a work that was completed in 1857 mainly under his supervision. He was elected chief justice of the state supreme court in May, 1856, and resigned the office in November, 1865, because of failing health. He was a delegate to the peace convention in 1861. The law books of which he was author or editor are: Agnell and Ames on Corporations, and Rhode Island Reports, volumes 4 to 7. He died Dec. 20, 1865, in Providence, R. I.

AMES, WILL L., soldier, legislator, was born in Petersboro, N. H. He was educated at Phillips Exeter academy, N. H.; enlisted in the first New Hampshire cavalry in 1863, and served during the war under Generals Custer and Sheridan. He resided twelve years in Seattle, and served three years as city treasurer of that city. In 1897 he became a member of the Washington state legislature.

AMHERST, J. H., actor, dramatist, was born in 1776 in London, England. He came to the United States in 1838 as director of Cook's equestrian company, and first acted as the Castilian in Mazeppa in Philadelphia. He was an accomplished classical scholar, and the author of several plays, of which the following are the best known: Will Watch, or the Black Phantom; Napoleon Bonaparte's Invasion of Russia, or the Conflagration of Moscow; Ireland as It Was; The Battle of Waterloo; and Ireland as It Is. He died Aug. 12, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

AMIES, OLIVE POND, educator, lecturer, was born in Jordan, N. Y. She has attained eminence as a successful teacher; has given model lessons at conventions and institutes; and for many years was in constant demand in the county teachers' institutes in the states of New York and Maine. She founded the training school for teachers in Lewiston, Maine; has held state positions in the Woman's Christian Temperance union and the Woman's Suffrage association; and delivers lectures on different themes connected with these organizations. In 1871 she was married to the Rev. J. H. Amies, an eminent clergyman of the universalist church.

AMMEN, DANIEL, naval officer, author, was born May 15, 1820, in Brown county, Ohio. He was chief of the naval bureau of navigation in 1870-78; and was sent to the so-called Paris canal congress in 1879. At the close of the civil war he designed the Ammen Life Raft, which saved the lives of more than half the crew of the Kearsarge when she was wrecked on a reef. He is the author of The Atlantic During the Civil War; The Old Navy and the New; Recollections of Grant; and various other papers.

AMMEN, JACOB, soldier, was born Jan. 7, 1808, in Virginia. He was graduated at West Point in 1831, and served there as assistant instructor in mathematics, and afterward of infantry tactics. He was promoted to be brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862.

AMMIDOWN, EDWARD HOLMES, merchant, author, was born Oct. 28, 1820, in Southbridge, Mass. He has been director of the Importers' and Traders' bank; the United States life insurance company; and the Dundee water-power company. He is the author of Historical Collections.

AMORY, ESTELLE MENDELL, educator, author, was born June 3, 1845, in Ellisburgh, N. Y. In 1868 she graduated from Falley seminary, and has attained success in educational work. Her literary productions consist mainly of domestic articles, short stories for children, essays on living themes, and occasional poems.

AMORY, ROBERT, physician, author, was born May 2, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He was appointed in 1869 lecturer at Harvard college on the physiological action of drugs, and was afterward professor of physiology in the medical school at Bowdoin college, but resigned this chair in 1874. He is a member of several societies of medical science, and has published Bromides of Potassium and Ammonium, and Action of Nitrous Oxide, and has contributed to periodicals important papers.

AMORY, THOMAS COFFIN, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 16, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of Life of James Sullivan, Governor of Massachusetts; Military Services of Major-General John Sullivan; and Life of Sir Isaac Coffin. He died Aug. 20, 1889, in Boston, Mass.

AMORY, THOMAS J. C., general, was born about 1830 in Massachusetts. He was graduated at West Point in 1851, and served on garrison and frontier duty in the Utah expedition, and on recruiting service until 1861, when he became colonel of the seventeenth Massachusetts volunteers. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 8, 1864, in Newbern, N. C.

AMUNDSON, JOHN A., lawyer, was born April 2, 1856, in Madison, Wis. He is a lawyer of New York city, and is known for his sterling integrity, thorough preparation, and distinguished talents as an advocate, and as learned in the law.

ANAGNOS, MRS. JULIA ROMANA, author, was born in 1844. She was a daughter of Dr. S. G. and Julia Ward Howe, and wife of M. Anagnos, the superintendent of the Perkins institute for the blind in Boston. She is the author of Stray Chords, a volume of verse; and Philosophiaë Questor. She died in 1886.

ANCONA, SYDENHAM E., congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1824, in Warwick, Pa. Removing to Berks county, he was for several years connected with the Reading railroad company; in 1860 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-seventh congress; was re-elected to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He was one of the representatives designated by the house to attend the funeral of General Scott in 1866.

ANDERS, T. J., lawyer, jurist, was born April 4, 1838, near Republic, Ohio. He removed to Montana, and later to Walla Walla, opening a law office at the latter town in 1871. He was elected city attorney, and also five times elected prosecuting attorney for that district. Judge Anders has been connected with much of the important litigation of Washington, and was the unanimous choice of his brother judges for the first chief justice of the supreme court of Washington. In 1892 he was re-elected for six years.

ANDERSON, ABEL, clergyman, educator, was born Dec. 6, 1847, in Albion, Wis. He graduated from the Luther college, university of Wisconsin, and from the Concordia theological seminary of St. Louis, Mo. During 1874-87 he was pastor of the Lutheran church in Muskegon, Mich., then at Appleton, Minn.; and since 1888 at Montevideo, Minn. Since the latter date he has also filled the chair of ancient and modern languages in the Windom institute. He was school inspector for a series of years, and in 1884 was a delegate from Michigan to the republican national convention.

ANDERSON, ALFRED HORACE, railroad president, was born in 1858, in La Crosse, Wis. Since 1895 he has been president of the Peninsular railroad.

ANDERSON, ALBERT R., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 8, 1837. He was appointed state railroad commissioner in 1881; and was elected to the fiftieth congress as an independent republican.

ANDERSON, ALEXANDER, engraver, author, was born April 21, 1775, in New York city. He was the first wood-engraver in the United States. He was the author of an illustrated General History of Quadrupeds. He died Jan. 17, 1870, in Jersey City, N. J.

ANDERSON, ALEXANDER, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1794, in Jefferson county, Tenn. He was a senator in congress from the Knoxville district, Tennessee, during the years 1840 and 1841, part of a term, and served as a member of the committee on the militia. He died May 23, 1869, in Knoxville, Tenn.

ANDERSON, C. L., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1845, in Noxubee county, Miss. He entered the confederate army as a private in the thirty-ninth infantry regiment, Mississippi volunteers, March 5, 1862, and served continuously in that command, receiving promotion through the successive grades of non-commissioned officers until July, 1864, when he was transferred to Bradford's cavalry corps of scouts, with the rank of second lieutenant, in which capacity he served until the close of the war. He entered the university of Mississippi in January, 1866, where he remained until the summer of 1867, having taken a partial course in both the literary and law departments. He commenced the practice of law in the town of Kosciusko, Feb. 14, 1868; and was elected to the Mississippi legislature in November, 1879, and served through the session of 1880; and was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress. In 1896-97 he was United States district attorney of Mississippi.

ANDERSON, CHARLES, lawyer. He was acting governor of Ohio in 1865 and 1866; and was by profession a lawyer. He was a man of high culture, and for many years was an influential citizen of Cincinnati.

ANDERSON, CHARLES M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1845, in Juniata county, Pa. He removed with his parents to Ohio in 1855; served in the Union army throughout the civil war; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1868. He engaged in practice at Greenville, Ohio; and in 1884 was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-ninth congress.

ANDERSON, CLIFFORD, attorney-general, was born March 23, 1833, in Virginia. He was elected judge of Macon city court in 1856, and attorney-general of Georgia, serving in the last office ten years.

ANDERSON, DAVID, soldier, manufacturer, state senator, was born Nov. 26, 1825, in Clarendon, N. Y. He moved to Michigan in 1854, and settled in the town of Madison. In 1865 he removed to the town of Columbia, where he has held various offices of trust in his township. In 1862 he joined the nineteenth Michigan infantry, received the commission of first lieutenant, and in the same year was promoted to the rank of captain. In 1864 he was commissioned as major, and at the close of the war received a colonel's commission. During 1873-74 he served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state senate.

ANDERSON, GALUSHA, LL. D., clergyman, educator, college president, was born March 7, 1832, in Bergen, N. Y. In 1854 he graduated from the university of Rochester; and from the Rochester theological seminary two years later. He was pastor of the first baptist church of Janesville, Wis.; of the second baptist church of St. Louis, Mo.; of the Strong place baptist church of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and of the second baptist church of Chicago. For eight years he was president of the university of Chicago; and for three years was president of the Denison university, Ohio. For seven years he filled the chair of sacred rhetoric, church polity and pastoral duties in the Newton theological seminary, Mass.; and now fills the same chair in the divinity school of the university of Chicago. He was in St. Louis during the civil war, and preached the first loyal sermon in that city in April, 1861; and he was one of a band of loyal men who succeeded in keeping Missouri in the Union. His writings have appeared in the North American Review and various standard works.

ANDERSON, GEORGE A., lawyer, congressman, was born March 11, 1853, in Botetourt county, Va. He removed with his parents to Hancock county, Ill., when two years of age; received a common school and collegiate education, graduating with first honors in 1876. He began the practice of law in Quincy, Ill., in 1880. He was elected city attorney of Quincy in 1884, and re-elected without opposition in 1885, and was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

ANDERSON, GEORGE B., soldier, was born in 1831 in Wilmington, N. C. He entered West Point, was graduated in 1852, and appointed second lieutenant in the second dragoons. On the breaking out of the civil war he resigned his commission to accept a brigadier-generalship in the confederate army. He died Oct. 16, 1862, in Raleigh, N. C.

ANDERSON, GEORGE W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 22, 1832, in Jefferson county, Tenn. He graduated at Franklin college, Tennessee; studied and practiced law; went to Missouri in 1853; was a member of the state legislature of Missouri in 1859 and 1860, and of the state senate in 1862; was a presidential elector in 1860; served as colonel of a regiment of the reserve corps from 1862 to 1864, and commanded the forty-ninth regiment and first battalion E. M. M. in active service. He was elected to the thirty-ninth congress, and was re-elected to the fortieth congress as a radical.

ANDERSON, HENRY JAMES, educator, author, was born Feb. 6, 1799, in New York. He was the author of Geology of Lieutenant Lynch's Expedition to the Dead Sea; and a Geological Reconnaissance of Part of the Holy Land. He died Oct. 19, 1875, in Hindostan.

ANDERSON, HUGH J., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born May 10, 1801, in Wicassell, Maine. He was clerk of the Waldo county courts from 1827 to 1837; a representative in congress from Maine, from 1837 to 1841, and a member of the committee on naval affairs. He was a lawyer by profession; governor of Maine from 1844 to 1847; a presidential elector in 1849; and commissioner of customs in Washington, from 1853 to 1858. In 1866 he was appointed sixth auditor of the treasury. He died May 3, 1881, in Portland, Maine.

ANDERSON, ISAAC, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1803 to 1807.

ANDERSON, ISAAC, clergyman, was born March 26, 1780, in Rock Bridge, Va. He was a successful clergyman of Maryville, Tenn., where the Southwestern Theological seminary was established through his efforts.

ANDERSON, J. P., congressman, was born about 1820 in Tennessee. He was elected a delegate to the thirty-fourth congress from the territory of Washington. He died in 1873, in Memphis, Tenn.

ANDERSON, JAMES HAMILTON, soldier, lawyer, was born May 30, 1842, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1857 he moved with his father to Keokuk, Iowa; and three years later to Missouri. For awhile he was in a regiment of the North East Missouri volunteers in 1861; and in 1864 he enlisted in the forty-fifth regiment volunteer infantry. He subsequently studied law in Keokuk, and since 1866 has practiced his profession in that city. He was vice-president and manager of the Keokuk and Northwestern railroad; and he built the original street railroad in Keokuk, of which for several years he was president. He is president of the Keokuk school board; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

ANDERSON, JAMES O., soldier, farmer, legislator, was born Aug. 1, 1845, in Henderson county, Ill. He left Monmouth college when a student to enlist in the twenty-eighth regiment Illinois infantry, in which he attained the rank of second lieutenant. He was sheriff of Henderson county for ten years, and was elected to the Illinois house of representatives in 1888, 1890, 1892, and in 1896.

ANDERSON, JAMES PATTON, soldier, was born in 1820 in Tennessee. During the civil war he held the rank of brigadier-general, C. S. A., and was promoted major-general in 1864. He died in 1873 in Memphis, Tenn.

ANDERSON, JAMES W. D., clergyman, lecturer, poet, was born March 3, 1859, in Coffey county, Kan. He is a successful methodist clergyman and lecturer of Kansas. He is the author of a work entitled The Kansas Methodist Pulpit; and is also the author of a number of meritorious poems.

ANDERSON, JEROME A., surgeon, lecturer, poet, was born July 25, 1849, in Randolph county, Ind. In 1857 he removed to Kansas, and at the age of sixteen was a member of the Kansas troops in the Price raid of the late civil war. In 1872 he removed to California. After graduating, Mr. Anderson served one year as surgeon on the Pacific mail steamer, and has practiced medicine continually since. He is at present editing a department of Oriental Literature in the Golden Era of San Diego, being also engaged in writing and lecturing upon Theosophy.

ANDERSON, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Windham, Conn. In 1813 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and became a noted lawyer of Portland, Maine. In 1823 he served with distinction as a member of the Maine state senate; and during 1825-33 was an able and useful member of congress. During 1833-36 he was United States district attorney for Maine; and for many years was collector of the port for Portland. He was three times chosen mayor of Portland, and discharged his duties with great ability. He died in 1853.

ANDERSON, JOHN A., congressman, was born June 6, 1834, in Washington county, Pa. He graduated at Miami university, Ohio, in 1853; removed to California; in 1857 was ordained a minister of the presbyterian church; was elected trustee of the State Insane asylum in 1860; was a chaplain of volunteers in 1862; was in the service of the United States sanitary commission from 1863 to 1867, and was president of the Kansas State Agricultural college from 1875 to 1879. He was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses.

ANDERSON, JOHN JACOB, educator, author, was born in 1821, in New York city. He is an educator of New York city who prepared a number of historical text books, among which are A History of France; and Common School History of the United States.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Nov. 5, 1757, near Philadelphia, Pa. He was appointed an ensign in the New Jersey line in 1775; was promoted to an adjutancy; as a captain fought at the battle of Monmouth; also went in 1779 with Sullivan against the Six Nations; in 1780 was at Valley Forge; in 1781 at the siege of York; and after the war retired with the rank of brevet major. He practiced law in Delaware for seven years. In 1791 was appointed judge of the territory south of the Ohio river; remained in that position until the first constitution of Tennessee was formed, which he aided in forming in convention; and was an influential member of the United States senate from Tennessee from 1797 to 1815. He was appointed in 1815 first comptroller of the treasury, where he remained until 1826. He died April 17, 1837, in Washington, D. C.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 16, 1836, in Scotland. He has been pastor of congregational churches in Stamford, Norwalk and Waterbury, Conn.; at the latter since 1865. In 1877 and 1890 he was moderator of the general association of Connecticut, and in 1878 of the congregational churches of the Connecticut general conference. He is the author of The Church of Mat-tatuck; and History of Waterbury.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH H., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from that state, from 1843 to 1847.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH W., railroad president, was born Feb. 5, 1837, in York county, Pa. Since 1895 he has been president of the Stewartstown railroad of Pennsylvania.

ANDERSON, JOSEPHUS, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Oct. 7, 1829, in Hanover county, Va. He is one of the foremost clergymen of the methodist episcopal church south; and has held the highest offices in the gift of that denomination. For the past ten years he has been editor of the Florida Christian Advocate of Leesburg, Fla.

ANDERSON, JOSIAH M., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress from the third district in that state, from 1849 to 1852; and was delegate to the peace congress of 1861.

ANDERSON, LUCIEN, lawyer, congressman, was born June, 1824, in Mayfield, Ky. He received a good English education; adopted the profession of the law; was a presidential elector in 1852; served for two terms as a member of the Kentucky legislature. In 1863 was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth congress. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention of 1864, and a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866.

ANDERSON, MARION T., soldier, was born Nov. 13, 1839, in Clarksburg, Ind. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, and joined company C, seventh Indiana volunteer infantry; and was in the first battle of the war, and captured the first rebel flag. He was promoted to sergeant, acting major of the regiment, and in 1862 was commissioned second lieutenant. In 1863 he received his commission as captain, and as such was severely wounded on Dec. 31 of that year. For seven months he was an inmate of Libby prison; was one of the seventy-five officers who drew lots for their lives to afford two victims to be hanged the following morning in retaliation for some executions of rebel spies made by Gen. Burnside in Kentucky; and on Dec. 11 made his successful escape from that prison.

ANDERSON, MARY, actress, was born July 28, 1859, in Sacramento, Cal. Her remarkable beauty and grace aided materially in making her a social as well as a dramatic success. In 1890 she married Mr. Navarro of New York, and retired from the stage.

ANDERSON, MELVILLE BEST, educator, translator, and critic, was born March 28, 1851, in Kalamazoo, Mich. He is a professor of English literature in Stanford university, California. He is the translator of Victor Hugo's William Shakespeare, and several other works, including Paul and Virginia. He is noted as a literary critic, and for many years has been a contributor to The Dial.

ANDERSON, NORTON BROCK, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 8, 1843, in Todd county, Ky. He received his education at the Paducah college, Kentucky, Bethel college of Russellville, Ky.; and at Harvard university. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Platte City, Mo., and in 1870 was elected prosecuting attorney of his county. During 1889-93 he served as a member of the Missouri state senate. He was one of the revisers of the Missouri general statutes; and has contributed extensively to law literature.

ANDERSON, OPHELIA BROWN, actress, was born July 24, 1813, in Boston. She was the daughter of Mrs. Pelby, an actress, and appeared on the stage in Boston, when two years old, as Cora's child in Pizarro. She became a favorite with the American public, and was the chief attraction in the Tremont and National theaters, of which successively her father was the manager. She died Jan. 27, 1852, in Jamaica Plain, Mass.

ANDERSON, OSCAR DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 27, 1854, in Jamestown, N. Y. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Red Wing, Minn.; has been justice of the peace; judge of probate court; court commissioner; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

ANDERSON, OTTO LEANDER, farmer, lecturer, legislator, was born Feb. 27, 1849, in Sweden. He is a successful farmer of Rockerville, S. D.; was a representative in the fifth session of the South Dakota legislature; and a successful alliance lecturer and organizer of the people's party.

ANDERSON, RASMUS BJORN, author, was born Jan. 12, 1846, in Albion, Wis. In 1866 he became professor of Greek and modern languages in Albion academy, near his home. In 1869 he became instructor in languages in the university of Wisconsin, and in 1875-83 filled the chair of Scandinavian languages and literature in that institution, where he also founded a Scandinavian library. He has been a prolific writer, and has contributed to Johnson's Universal Cyclopaedia; McClintock and Strong's Cyclopedia, The American Supplement of the Encyclopedia Britannica; and to the last edition of Chambers' Encyclopedia. He has lectured extensively on the subject of Norse literature and mythology. During 1885-89 he was United States minister to Denmark. As an author of books he has won an enviable reputation, his principal works being Norse Mythology; America Not Discovered by Columbus; Echoes from Mist-Land; History of the Literature of the Scandinavian North; Viking Tales of the North; The Younger Edda; The Elder Edda; and various other works.

ANDERSON, RICHARD CLOUGH, soldier, was born Jan. 12, 1750, in Hanover, Va. As captain in the fifth Virginia continentals, he led the advance of the Americans at the battle of Trenton (Dec. 24, 1776), crossing the Delaware river in the first boat, and driving in the Hessian outposts several hours before the main attack was delivered. He was at the battles of Brandywine and Germantown, and was a daring leader wherever dash and resolution were needed. He died Oct. 16, 1826, in Louisville, Ky.

ANDERSON, RICHARD CLOUGH, JR., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1788, in Louisville, Ky. He practiced with success at the Kentucky bar, and, after sitting in the legislature, was elected to congress in 1817 and again the following term. In 1822 he was again returned to the legislature, and was chosen speaker. He was appointed minister to Columbia in 1823 and in 1826, when, proceeding to the Panama congress as envoy extraordinary, he died on the journey. He died July 24, 1826.

ANDERSON, RICHARD H., soldier, was born Oct. 7, 1821, in Slatersburg, S. C. He was made a brigadier-general in the confederate army, promoted to lieutenant-general in 1864, and in the Wilderness campaign had several important commands. He died June 26, 1879, in Beaufort, S. C.

ANDERSON, ROBERT, soldier, was born June 14, 1805, in Louisville, Ky. In 1825 he graduated from West Point, and was assigned to the third artillery as second lieutenant. In the Black Hawk war of 1832 he was colonel of a company of Illinois volunteers. He took part in the Seminole and Mexican wars; and in 1857 was appointed major of the first artillery. He was commander of Fort Sumter when it was forced to surrender. He attained the rank of brigadier-general, and subsequently was brevetted major-general. He was one of the founders of the Soldier's Home in Washington. He died Oct. 27, 1871, in Nice, France.

ANDERSON, ROBERT HOUSTON, soldier, was born Oct. 1, 1835, in Savannah, Ga. He entered the confederate army in 1861 and rose by successive advancements to brigadier-general in 1864.

ANDERSON, ROBERT L., railroad president, was born Dec. 11, 1856, in Mayfield, Ky. He is president of the Live Oak and Gulf railroad at Ocala, Fla.

ANDERSON, RUFUS, missionary, author, was born Aug. 17, 1796, in North Yarmouth, Maine. He graduated from Bowdoin in 1818, and subsequently graduated from the Andover seminary. He devised the Christian Almanac, which is still continued under the title of the Family Christian Almanac, which has a circulation of nearly half a million copies annually. In 1826 he was ordained a clergyman; and has been a missionary in various countries. He was the author of Memoir of Catharine Brown, which had a large circulation both in America and in England. He was secretary of the American board of foreign missions in 1824-74. He was also the author of Foreign Missions, Their Relations and Claims; History of the American Board's Missions in the Sandwich Islands, Turkey and India, Peloponnesus and Greek Islands. He died May 30, 1880.

ANDREW, SAMUEL, clergyman, was born in 1656, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1707-19 he was rector of Yale college. He died Jan. 24, 1738.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in 1774, in Pennsylvania. He served repeatedly in the legislature of that state; and was speaker of the house during two sessions. He was elected a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1827 to 1839, and was a member of the committee on the boundary line of Missouri. He died Jan. 17, 1850, in Chester, Pa.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL GRAHAM, clergyman, evangelist, was born Sept. 17, 1842, in Glasgow, Scotland. In 1876 he was ordained a clergyman of the baptist church, and has filled pastorates in Canada, New York and Michigan, in which latter state he fills a pastorate in Ishpeming. He has been instrumental in organizing and building a number of churches; takes a practicable interest in all missionary, education and charitable enterprises; and has been very successful as an evangelist.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL JAMESON, was born in December, 1824, in Portland, Maine. In 1856 he was elected attorney for the county of Cumberland, and in 1856 was surveyor of the port, and held the office four years. In 1869 he was elected president of the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad on its organization, and is now in that position. In 1878 he was nominated by the democratic party for congress, but failed of an election. For some years he was major-general in the state militia.

ANDERSON, SIMEON H., congressman, was born March 2, 1802, in Garrard county, Ky. He studied law, and practiced with success; and served frequently in the Kentucky legislature. He was elected a representative in congress from the fifth congressional district of Kentucky, from 1839 to 1841, and served as a member of the committee on postoffices and post roads. He died Aug. 11, 1840, near Lancaster, Ky.

ANDERSON, T. J. soldier, was born in 1839, in Portage county, Ohio. He moved to Kansas in 1856; and in 1861 enlisted as a private in the fifth Kansas cavalry, and was brevetted colonel at the close of the war. He has been commander of his post at Topeka, and also served as department commander.

ANDERSON, THOMAS, soldier, clergyman, was born Jan. 1, 1791, in Mercer county, Pa. He graduated in 1820 from the Washington college of Washington, Pa. He served as a private during the war of 1812. In 1825 he entered the ministry, and was a home missionary in western Pennsylvania from that time until 1843. He died Dec. 20, 1853.

ANDERSON, THOMAS L., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1808, in Greene county, Ky. He was self-educated; removed to Missouri in 1830, where he commenced the practice of law at twenty-one years of age; and was elected to the legislature of that state in 1840. He was a presidential elector in 1844, 1848, 1852, and 1856; was a member of the convention for remodeling the state constitution in 1845; and was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

ANDERSON, THOMAS MAC ARTHUR, lawyer, army officer, author, was born Jan. 21, 1836, in Chillicothe, Ohio. He was educated at the Mount St. Mary's college, Maryland; and graduated from the Cincinnati law school; and subsequently practiced law. During the civil war he served as a soldier in the sixth regiment of the Ohio volunteer infantry. He has been lieutenant in the fifth U. S. cavalry; captain in the twelfth U. S. infantry; and was acting field officer during the civil war; major of the twenty-first U. S. infantry; major of the tenth U. S. infantry; lieutenant-colonel ninth U. S. infantry; and since 1886 has been colonel of the fourteenth U. S. infantry. He has been vice-president of the Sons of the American Revolution; past commander of the Loyal Legion; besides holding various other positions of honor. He is the author of a number of Monographs of Military, Masonic, and Patriotic subjects. In 1898 he accompanied Gen. Merritt to Manila as a brigadier-general.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM, soldier, jurist, congressman, was born in 1763, in Chester county, Pa. He served throughout the revolutionary war with credit, taking a prominent part in the siege of Yorktown. After the war returned to Delaware county, Pa.; was a representative in congress from that state from 1809 to 1815, and from 1817 to 1819; was afterwards a judge of Delaware county court, and a customhouse officer at Chester, Pa. He died Dec. 14, 1829, in Chester, Pa.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM, clergyman, was born April 29, 1864, in England. He was a local preacher in the Wesleyan methodist church in England; and subsequently attended the Drew Theological seminary of Madison, N. J. He is now one of the foremost clergymen of the south in the methodist episcopal church, and fills a pastorate in Wheeling, W. Va.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM B., farmer, general, congressman, was born April 2, 1830, in Mount Vernon, Ill. He received a common school education; was elected surveyor of Jefferson county in 1851; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1858, but never practiced, engaging in agricultural pursuits, and is by occupation a farmer. He was elected a member of the state house of representatives of Illinois in 1856, and again in 1858; entered the union army in 1861 as private, was successively elected captain, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel, and was brevetted brigadier-general. He was a presidential elector on the Seymour and Blair ticket in 1868; was elected a member of the constitutional convention of Illinois in 1869; was elected to the state senate of Illinois Nov. 5, 1871, to fill a vacancy; and was elected to the forty-fourth congress as an independent reformer.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM C., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1826, in Lancaster, Ky. He was educated at the college of Danville; and adopted the profession of the law. He served in the Kentucky legislature in 1851 and 1853; was a presidential elector in 1856; and in 1859 was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-sixth congress. He died Dec. 23, 1861, in Frankfort, Ky.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM COLMAN, was born July 11, 1853, near Greeneville, Tenn. He was raised on a farm; graduated from Tusculum college in 1876; read law at Newport, Tenn., and was admitted to the bar in 1878. He was elected to the state legislature from Coker and Sevier counties in 1880 as a republican; was chairman of the republican congressional committee for the first district for six years; was appointed a principal examiner of contested land claims in the general land office in 1889, and afterwards promoted for merit, first to chief of the contest division, and then to chief clerk of the general land office. He was assistant secretary of the republican national committee, with headquarters in New York, during the campaign of 1892, and took an active part in that campaign. He returned to Newport in the spring of 1893 to resume his law practice, and was nominated in 1894 and elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM J., lawyer, public official, was born May 20, 1854, in Ontario, Canada. He received his education in the public schools of the United States; has occupied the positions of receiver of public moneys; county auditor, and mayor of Grand Forks, N. D. He takes an active part in public affairs; and was appointed a judge at the World's Columbian exposition.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM PELBY, actor, manager, was born March 16, 1793, in Boston, Mass. He managed the Tremont; built the Warren theater; and appeared in London as Hamlet and Brutus.

ANDREASEN, MATTHIAS N., clergyman, orator, temperance advocate, was born May 2, 1871, in Denmark. In 1890 he entered the Danish Free Church seminary of Chicago; and subsequently graduated from the Chicago Theological seminary. In 1893 he was ordained a clergyman of the presbyterian church, and filled a pastorate in St. Paul, Minn., until May, 1897. He then joined the Danish united evangelical Lutheran church in America, and now fills pastorates in two large Lutheran churches in Sioux City, Iowa. He was the editor of the Free Church Messenger, a religious weekly published by the synod of Minnesota; is an ardent temperance advocate; and has lectured extensively in that cause.

ANDREW, JAMES OSGOOD, bishop, was born May 3, 1794, near Washington, Ga. He entered the South Carolina conference in 1812, was ordained deacon in 1814, received full ordination in 1816, preached on circuits in Georgia and North Carolina, was stationed at Savannah, Charleston, Greensborough, and Athens, was presiding elder for several years, and in 1832 was chosen bishop by the general conference that met at Philadelphia. In 1846 the methodist episcopal church, south, was organized as an independent body, in a general conference held at Petersburg, Va. Bishop Andrew presided as senior bishop over this organization until his death. He published a volume of Miscellanies and a work on Family Government. He died March 1, 1871, in Mobile, Ala.

ANDREW, JOHN ALBION, lawyer, governor, was born on May 31, 1818, in Windham, Maine. In 1837 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and in 1859 was elected a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. In 1860 he was elected governor of the state of Massachusetts, and acquired the title of The Great War Governor. He was a member of the Historical societies of Maine and Massachusetts; declined various honorable and lucrative offices, and resumed the practice of law. He died Oct. 30, 1867. A statue of marble in memoriam has been placed in the state house of Massachusetts in his honor.

ANDREW, JOHN FORRESTER, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 24, 1850, in Hingham, Mass. He practiced law in Boston; served three terms as member of the state house of representatives and two terms in the state senate; and was democratic candidate for governor in 1886 and was defeated. He was elected to the fifty-first congress, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died May 30, 1895, in Boston, Mass.

ANDREWS, A. M., journalist, state senator, was born Nov. 3, 1850, in Coopers-town, N. Y. He has been editor of several publications, and held various political offices in his county and state; and has also served as a member of the South Dakota state senate.

ANDREWS, ALEXANDER BOYD, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 2, 1873, in Henderson, N. C. He has attained success in the profession of law at Raleigh, N. C.; and is one of the compilers of the North Carolina Court Calendar for 1895-97.

ANDREWS, ANNIE M., nurse, was born in 1835 in New York. During the prevalence of yellow fever at Norfolk, Va., in 1855, she became widely known for her earnest and devoted labors among those stricken by the epidemic. The Howard association subsequently presented her with a gold medal in acknowledgment of these services.

ANDREWS, BYRON, journalist, author, was born Oct. 25, 1852, in Argyle, Wis. He received his education at the Evansville seminary and Hobart college, of Geneva, N. Y. He went direct from college to newspaper work; served as a reporter on the Chicago Daily News; then on the Chicago Inter Ocean. In 1880 he accompanied Gen. Grant on a tour through the West Indies and Mexico as his secretary and as correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean and New York Tribune. Then for four years he was the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean and the St. Paul Pioneer Press. In 1884 he became connected with the National Tribune of Washington, D. C., and in 1897 became its owner. He is the author of Notes on the Russo-Turkish War; Biography of John A. Logan; and One of the People, a biography of President McKinley; besides various historical and controversial pamphlets, such as The Story of Cuba; President Monroe and His Doctrine; and others. He has also filled many public positions of trust.

ANDREWS, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1814 in Paris, Maine. He studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1837. He was a member of the state legislature from 1839 to 1843, and a portion of the time speaker of the house. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1851 to the time of his death. He died April 30, 1852, in Paris Hill, Maine.

ANDREWS, CHARLES BARTLETT, lawyer, state senator, jurist, governor, was born Nov. 4, 1831, in Sunderland, Mass. He received a classical education, graduating at Amherst college in 1858; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1860; and settled at Litchfield, Conn. He was a state senator in 1868 and 1869; was a representative in the state legislature in 1878; was governor of Connecticut from 1878 to 1880; and in 1882 was appointed a judge of the superior court of Connecticut.

ANDREWS, CHARLES McLEAN, educator, author, was born in 1863, in Wethersfield, Conn. He graduated from Trinity college in 1884, and from the Johns Hopkins university in 1887; and since that time has been associate professor of history in Bryn Mawr college. He is the author of River Towns of Connecticut; Old English Manors; Historical Development of Modern Europe from the Congress of Vienna to the Present Time; and has also contributed sundry short articles to scientific journals.

ANDREWS, CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, lawyer, general, author, was born Oct. 27, 1829, in Hillsborough, N. H. He was a brevet major-general in the United States army, who was minister to Sweden 1869-77, and consul-general to Brazil 1882-85. He is the author of Minnesota and Dakota; Practical Treatise on the Revenue Laws of the United States; Hints to Company Officers on Their Military Duties; History of the Campaign of Mobile; Digests of the Opinions of the Attorneys-General of the United States; and Brazil, Its Condition and Prospects.

ANDREWS, CONSTANT A., banker, was born Feb. 25, 1844, in New York city. He is president of The United States Savings bank and The Elkhorn Valley Coal Land Co.; a director of the Second Avenue Street railroad, and largely influential in other directions, where his interest and counsel are demanded.

ANDREWS, EDMUND, surgeon, was born April 22, 1824, in Putney, Vt. He has filled the place of demonstrator of anatomy at the Rush Medical college of Chicago, and subsequently the chairs of the principles and practice of surgery and of clinical and military surgery in the Chicago Medical college, of which institution he is one of the founders. In 1859 he became surgeon to the Mercy hospital, and during the civil war he served in a similar capacity with the first Illinois light artillery. He is president of the Illinois state medical society and of the Chicago academy of sciences. Dr. Andrews was one of the founders of the Michigan state medical society, and is a trustee of Northwestern university. He is the author of a great number of articles in different branches of surgery which have been published in medical journals and proceedings of the societies to which he belongs. Numerous improvements in surgical apparatus and operations have been made by him; among them is the practical demonstration of the value of free incision, digital exploration, and disinfection of lumbar abscesses, a treatment previously forbidden.

ANDREWS, EDWARD GAYER, methodist episcopal bishop, was born Aug. 7, 1825, in New Hartford, N. Y. He was graduated in 1847 from the Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., and, entering the methodist ministry the following year, became in 1855 a teacher in Cazenovia, N. Y., seminary, of which he was chosen president in 1855. In 1850 he was ordained an elder, and in 1864 became a preacher in the New York east conference. Dr. Andrews was elected a bishop in 1872. He has published semi-centennial addresses delivered in 1875 and 1881, and other works.

ANDREWS, ELISHA, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 29, 1768, in Middletown, Conn. He preached in various places in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and published, besides sermons and tracts, The Moral Tendencies of Universalism; Review of Winchester's Dialogues on Universal Restoration; and a Vindication of the Distinguishing Sentiments of the Baptists, and other works. He died Feb. 3, 1840.

ANDREWS, ELISHA BENJAMIN, educator, college president, author, was born in 1844 in New Hampshire. He is a prominent educator and president of Brown university; and the author of Institutes of General History; Institutes of Economics; Brief Institutes of Our Economical History; An Honest Dollar; Eternal Words and Other Sermons; History of the United States; Wealth and Moral Law; and History of the Last Quarter Century in the United States.

ANDREWS, ELIZA FRANCIS, educator, botanist, author, was born Aug. 10, 1847, in Washington, Ga. Her father was Judge Garnett Andrews, an eminent jurist, and the author of Reminiscences of an Old Georgia Lawyer. She is the author of A Mere Adventurer; Prince Hal; A Family Secret; How He Was Tempted; and In the Pine Lands of Georgia; besides numerous popular character sketches, and several meritorious poems, the most notable of which is entitled Haunted. She has lectured on various subjects; is a fine linguist, and probably the most accomplished field botanist in the south.

ANDREWS, ETHAN ALLEN, educator, author, was born April 7, 1787, in New Britain, Conn. He was an educator who was at one time professor of ancient languages in the university of North Carolina. Besides a Latin-English Dictionary, he published a valuable series of classical text-books. He died March 4, 1858, in New Britain, Conn.

ANDREWS, FRANCIS FOOTE, legislator, was born March 12, 1828, in East Haven, Conn. He has filled numerous public offices of trust, and in 1897-98 was a member of the Connecticut state legislature.

ANDREWS, FRANK DE WITTE, antiquarian, was born Aug. 1, 1847, in Southington, Conn. He settled in Vineland, N. J., and became interested in antiquarian pursuits. He has an extensive collection of autograph letters and documents, and a library of Americana. He is the secretary and librarian of the Vineland Historical and Antiquarian society, and has written extensively on historical subjects and numismatics.

ANDREWS, GARNETT, lawyer, author, was born May 15, 1837, in Washington, Ga. He removed to Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1882, where he has since remained, practicing his profession; and was elected mayor of Chattanooga in 1891. He is the author of Andrews' Digest of the Laws of Mississippi.

ANDREWS, GEORGE ARTHUR, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 22, 1870, in Springfield, Mass. He attended Colby university and the Andover Theological school, and became instructor in mathematics in the English high school of Worcester, Mass. He has prepared a book on Composite Geometrical Figures.

ANDREWS, GEORGE LEONARD, soldier, educator, was born Aug. 31, 1828, in Bridgewater, Mass. In 1851 he graduated from the United States Military academy; served with distinction through the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general and brevet major-general of the United States volunteers. For several years he was United States marshal for the district of Massachusetts; and was professor of modern languages in the United States Military academy.

ANDREWS, GEORGE R., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from the fourteenth congressional district in that state, from 1849 to 1851.

ANDREWS, HENRY FRANKLIN, soldier, lawyer, state senator, genealogist, was born June 27, 1844, in Lovell, Maine. He served three years in the sixteenth infantry volunteers; was recorder of Audubon county, Iowa, in 1867-68; county judge in 1868; and state senator in 1892-95. He has practiced law since 1869; and is the author of The Andrews Family; The Hamilton Family; and other works.

ANDREWS, HENRY T., artist, state legislator, was born June 28, 1866, in Tarrytown, N. Y. He is a successful artist of New York city. In 1895 he was elected a member of the New York state assembly, and received the re-election in 1896, and again in 1897.

ANDREWS, ISRAEL WARD, college president, author, was born in 1815 in Connecticut. He was president of Marietta college. His only published work of importance is a Manual of the Constitution of the United States. He died in 1888.

ANDREWS, JAMES R., lawyer, editor, was born Oct. 23, 1854, in East Windsor, Conn. In 1877 he received the degree of A. B. from Yale college; and two years later received the degree of LL. B. from the Yale law school. He has attained success in the profession of law at Hartford, Conn.; has been special prosecuting attorney; reporter of judicial decisions; and is the editor of the Connecticut Index Digest.

ANDREWS, JANE, author, was born in 1833 in Massachusetts. She was a writer of Newburyport, Mass., whose books for children have long been deservedly popular. She was the author of Seven Little Sisters Who Live on the Round Ball that Floats in the Air; The Seven Little Sisters Prove Their Sisterhood; The Stories Mother Nature Told; Ten Boys Who Lived on the Road from Long Ago to Now; and Only a Year and What It Brought. She died in 1887.

ANDREWS, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born April 4, 1746, in Cecil county, Md. He taught a school in Yorktown; became principal of the Philadelphia Episcopal academy in 1785, and then professor of moral philosophy in the university of Pennsylvania, of which institution he was vice-provost until December, 1810, and after that provost until his death. He was the author of Elements of Logic. He died March 29, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ANDREWS, JOHN T., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1839.

ANDREWS, JOSEPH, engraver, was born Aug. 17, 1806, in Hingham, Mass. His best known engravings made in America are from Stuart's head of Washington and Rothermel's Plymouth Rock in 1620. He engraved portraits from paintings by Trumbull, G. P. A. Healy, and others, of Oliver Wolcott, John Q. Adams, Zachary Taylor, Jared Sparks, Amos Lawrence, and James Graham, and several ideal scenes after representative American painters. He died March 9, 1873, in Hingham, Mass.

ANDREWS, JUDITH WALKER, philanthropist, was born April 26, 1826, in Fryeburgh, Maine. Since 1863 she has resided in Boston, Mass.; was left a widow in 1869; and since 1876 has been president of the South Friendly society. In 1886 she became president of the Woman's Auxiliary conference; and in 1889 became president of the National Alliance of Unitarian and Other Liberal Christian Women; and has always taken an active part in various charitable organizations.

ANDREWS, LANDAFF W., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1803, in Fleming county, Ky. He graduated at Transylvania university in 1824; and commenced the practice of law in 1826. He was a member of the Kentucky legislature in 1834, and subsequently of the senate. In 1838 was elected a representative in congress, serving from 1839 to 1843.

ANDREWS, LOREN, educator, college president, was born April 1, 1819, in Ashland county, Ohio. He filled various important educational places until 1854, when he was elected president of Kenyon college. On the outbreak of the civil war, in 1861, President Andrews raised a company in Knox county, of which he was made captain. He died Sept. 18, 1861, in Gambier, Ohio.

ANDREWS, LORRIN, was born April 29, 1795, in East Windsor, Conn. He was educated at Jefferson college, Pa., and Princeton Theological seminary; sailed for the Hawaiian islands in November, 1827, and preached at Lahaina. In 1831 he established Lahainaluna seminary, which subsequently became the Hawaiian university, in which he was a professor for ten years. He translated a part of the Bible into Hawaii. In 1845 he was appointed judge under the Hawaiian government, and was also secretary of the privy council. These offices he held for ten years. He prepared a Hawaiian dictionary and several works on the literature and antiquities of the Hawaiians. He died Sept. 29, 1868, in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands.

ANDREWS, MARIE LOUISE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 31, 1849, in Bedford, Ind. She was the originator of the Western Association of Writers, and for many years was its secretary. She has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the leading newspapers and magazines; and is an effective public speaker.

ANDREWS, MARY GARARD, universalist minister, was born March 3, 1852, in Clarksburgh, Va. After five years of service in the free baptist church, she associated herself with the universalist church, and has been eminently successful in her pastorates in that denomination. She is well known as a temperance and Grand Army worker; and for two years was national chaplain of the Women's Relief Corps. In 1888 she was married to Mr. I. R. Andrews, a noted lawyer of Omaha, Neb.

ANDREWS, MAUDE ANNULET, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1865. Mrs. J. K. Ohl is one of the most noted writers of the south, and a successful journalist and poet.

ANDREWS, NEWTON LLOYD, college president, was born Aug. 14, 1841, in Fabius, N. Y. In 1865 he became adjunct professor of Latin in Colgate university, and in 1868 was elected professor of Greek language and literature, which position he still holds. On the death of President Dodge the charge of the college was committed to Prof. Andrews as acting president.

ANDREWS, ROBERT LEE, clergyman, journalist, was born March 1, 1867, in Yellow Hill, N. C. He is one of the most eminent clergymen of the missionary baptist church, and an impressive lecturer. He has been secretary of the Farmers' Alliance, and filled various other public positions of trust; and is also the editor and proprietor of The Times of Jefferson, N. C.

ANDREWS, SAMUEL G., merchant, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1799, in Derby, Conn. He received an academic education; removed, with his father, to Rochester, N. Y., in 1816; was occupied chiefly in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits; and was for several years mayor of Rochester. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1831 and 1832 from Monroe county, N. Y.; was postmaster of Rochester; and was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress. He died in 1863 in Rochester, N. Y.

ANDREWS, SAMUEL JAMES, clergyman, author, was born July 21, 1817, in Danbury, Conn. He is the brother of I. W. Andrews, and an Irvingite clergyman of Hartford, Conn. He is the author of The Life of Our Lord upon Earth; and God's Revelations of Himself to Men.

ANDREWS, SHERLOCK J., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1801 in Wallingford, Conn. He graduated at Union college; settled in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1825, and practiced law. He was judge of the superior court of that state; and was elected a representative in congress from Ohio from 1841 to 1843. He died Feb. 11, 1880, in Cleveland, Ohio.

ANDREWS, SIDNEY, journalist, author, was born in 1837. He was a Boston journalist; and the author of The Art of Flying; and The South Since the War. He died in 1880.

ANDREWS, STEPHEN PEARL, author, was born March 22, 1812, in Templeton, Mass. He was an eccentric writer of New York city, the originator of phonographic reporting and at one period prominent as an abolitionist. Among his many and varied works are Basic Outline of Universality, in which he advocated the adoption of a universal language called Alwato; Discourses in Chinese; Comparison of Common Law with Roman, French, or Spanish Laws on Entails and Other Limited Property; and Love, Marriage and Divorce. He died May 21, 1886, in New York city.

ANDREWS, SUMNER A., soldier, merchant, educator, was born Dec. 29, 1844, in Johnson, Vt. For many years he was a successful merchant of Johnson; was a representative in the Vermont state legislature in 1884; has served as assistant judge of his county; and in 1889 was appointed superintendent of the Vermont Industrial school of Vergennes.

ANDREWS, TIMOTHY PATRICK, soldier, public official, was born in 1794, in Ireland. He fought in the battle of El Molino, and was brevetted a brigadier-general for gallantry at Chapultepec, Mexico. After the close of the war he was reinstated as paymaster, and subsequently became paymaster of the army. He died March 11, 1868, in Washington, D. C.

ANDREWS, W. H., merchant, state senator, was born Jan. 14, 1842, in Youngsville, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives; and was elected to the state senate in 1894.

ANDREWS, WALLACE C., president of the New York Steam company. He was one of the promoters of the original Standard Oil Co.; was a director of the company for a long period of years and up to the formation of the trust, and is yet a large stockholder in the company. One of the most important of his enterprises is The New York Steam company, a concern which supplies steam for heat and power by underground pipes in various sections of New York city, and has initiated a new era in the management of office buildings, by enabling their proprietors to dispense with the annoyances attending the production of steam in their own premises. He is president of the company, and has managed its affairs with signal ability and success. He was lately president of The Standard Gas Light Co. of New York and is its largest stockholder.

ANDREWS, WILLIAM DRAPER, inventor, was born May 23, 1818, in Grafton, Mass. He has received twenty-five United States and nine foreign patents on pumps, oscillating steam engines, boilers, friction and differential power gearing, siphon gang wells and attachments, balanced valves, safety elevators, and other similar inventions.

ANDREWS, WILLIAM E., educator, congressman, was born near Oskaloosa, Iowa. He entered Simpson college, Indianola, Iowa, in 1874; was elected superintendent of the schools of Ringgold county, Iowa, in 1879; graduated from Parsons college, Fairfield, Iowa, in 1885; was a member of the faculty of Hastings (Neb.) college, 1885-93; elected vice-president of the college in 1889, and president of the Nebraska State Teachers' association in 1890. He was a member of the Nebraska republican state central committee, 1891-92; was private secretary to the Hon. Lorenzo Crouse, governor of Nebraska, 1893-94; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ANDREWS, WILLIS W., journalist, was born Jan. 10, 1868, in Portland, Mich. After receiving his education he became a practical printer, and is now the president of the Muskegon Publishing company. He is president of the Typographical union, and has filled various other positions of honor.

ANDRIDGE ANDREW ADELBERT, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born July 20, 1863, in Hillsdale, Mich. He graduated in 1885 from the Chicago Theological seminary, and was ordained the same year. He has filled pastorates in Hawarden, Iowa; Prairie du Chien, Wis.; Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; and Columbia congregational church, Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of Wisconsin Church History, and has contributed extensively to religious periodicals.

ANDROS, EDMUND, colonial governor, was born Dec. 6, 1637, in Island of Guernsey. He was a governor of Connecticut, and in 1688 was made governor of all the English possessions on the mainland of America, and in 1692 royal governor of Virginia. He died Feb. 24, 1714.

ANDROS, R. S. S., public official, author, was born in Berkeley, Mass. He edited several newspapers, was deputy collector in Boston for some years, and subsequently, as special agent of the treasury department, was engaged in reorganizing custom houses in the south. He was the author of the Customs Guide, a codification of the revenue laws; contributed poems to the Democratic Review, and published Chocoruna and Other Sketches. He died in August, 1868, in Berkeley, Mass.

ANDROS, THOMAS, soldier, clergyman, was born May 1, 1759, in Norwich, Conn. He joined the revolutionary army at the age of sixteen, and was in the battles of Long Island and White Plains. In 1781 he enlisted on a privateer in New London, but was captured and confined in the Jersey prison-ship in New York. A few months later he escaped, and on the restoration of his health studied theology with Dr. Benedict in Plainfield, Conn. He was ordained at Berkeley in 1788, and for forty-six years remained in the ministry. He died Dec. 30, 1845, in Berkeley, Mass.

ANDRUS, REUBEN, college president, clergyman, was born Jan. 29, 1829, in Watertown, N. J. He was principal of the Central academy of Springfield, Ill.; and president of a women's college in Jacksonville. After the war he reorganized Quincy (now Chaddock) college, Illinois; in 1867 went to Indiana, and was elected president of Asbury university in 1872. He died Jan. 17, 1887, in Indianapolis, Ind.

ANDRUS, WESLEY P., soldier, educator, state senator, was born Feb. 19, 1834, in Potter, N. Y. In 1861 he entered the forty-second Illinois volunteer infantry, and was soon commissioned first lieutenant; was promoted to a captaincy for meritorious service at Stone River. He has been four years a member of the common council of Cedar Springs, Mich., and has been its mayor. In 1877 he served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state senate.

ANDRUS, WILLIAM W., merchant, state senator, was born July 24, 1821, in Wyoming county, N. Y. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1867; was assessor of internal revenue under Grant; and in 1881-82 served as a member of the Michigan state senate.

ANGEL, WILLIAM G., congressman, was born in New Shoreham, R. I. He was elected a representative in congress from Burlington, N. Y., from 1825 to 1827, and again from 1829 to 1833.

ANGELL, GEORGE T., philanthropist, author, was born June 5, 1823, in Southbridge, Mass. He is the president of the American Humane Education society; the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; and the Pre-Parent American Band of Mercy. He graduated from Dartmouth college in 1846 and from the Harvard university law school in 1851. He founded the Massachusetts society in 1868, and established a magazine entitled Our Dumb Animals. Since that time he has given his time and energy to the protection of dumb animals, establishing twenty thousand branches of The American Band of Mercy, and The American Humane Education society, in behalf of which he has employed missionaries to found humane societies in the south and west, and has caused the circulation of some two million copies of the book Black Beauty, and also of hundreds of thousands of copies of other humane prize stories and publications.

ANGELL, HENRY CLAY, educator, author, was born Jan. 27, 1829, in Providence, R. I. He is a professor of ophthalmology in Boston university; and the author of Diseases of the Eye; How to Take Care of Our Eyes; and Records of W. M. Hunt.

ANGELL, JAMES BURRILL, educator, college president, diplomatist, was born Jan. 7, 1829, in Scituate, R. I. He graduated from the Brown university in 1849; and during 1855-60 filled the chair of modern languages in that institution. In 1866 he became president of the university of Vermont; and since 1871 has been president of the university of Michigan. He has served as United States minister to China; and in 1897 was appointed United States minister to Turkey. He is the author of Manual of French Literature; and Progress in International Law.

ANGELL, JOSEPH KINNICUT, author, was born April 30, 1794, in Providence, R. I. He was a legal writer of Rhode Island, among whose works are Treatise on the Common Law of Watercourses; The Law of Tide Waters; and The Limitation of Actions. He died May 1, 1857, in Boston, Mass.

ANGELL, WILLIAM GORHAM, inventor, was born Nov. 21, 1811, in Providence, R. I. In 1838 he became manager of the Eagle Screw company, which subsequently was merged into the American Screw company. His inventive mind was fertile in expedients for the improvement of machinery; and he was also a successful architect and builder, and a good draughtsman. He was the inventor of the famous screw-making machine, which has revolutionized that business. He was a liberal supporter of public charities. He died May 30, 1870, in Providence, R. I. His son, Edwin Gorham Angell, now conducts the business.

ANGWIN, MATTIE W., poet, was born Aug. 31, 1850, in Darke county, Ohio. She is a writer of Mount Vernon, Mo.; and her poems have appeared in the Toledo Blade and other prominent publications.

ANSBACHER, ADOLPH BENEDICT, manufacturer, was born Oct. 4, 1832, in Germany. In 1852 he emigrated to New York and established a mercantile house, which was one of the foremost in that line of business.

ANSORGE, CHARLES, musician, was born in 1807 in Germany. He taught music in an asylum at South Boston; and in 1863 became conductor of several musical colleges in Chicago, Ill. He wrote musical and political articles for several newspapers and periodicals. He died Oct. 28, 1866, in Chicago, Ill.

ANSPACH, FREDERICK RINEHART, clergyman, author, was born in January, 1815, in Central, Pa. He was a lutheran clergyman of Hagerstown, Md.; and is the author of Sons of the Sires; Sepulchres of Our Departed; and The Two Pilgrims. He died Sept. 16, 1867, in Baltimore, Md.

ANTHON, CHARLES, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1797, in New York city. He was a noted classical scholar, for many years professor of ancient languages at Columbia college. He was the author of some fifty classical text-books, including a Classical Dictionary. He died July 29, 1867, in New York city.

ANTHON, JOHN, jurist, author, was born May 14, 1784, in Detroit, Mich. He was a jurist of New York city, and the author of Essay on the Study of Law; and Analysis of Blackstone. He died March 5, 1863, in New York city.

ANTHONY, ANDREW V A R I C K S T O U T, artist, was born in 1835 in New York city. Among his best-known works are the illustrations for Whittier's Snow Bound; Ballads of New England; and Mabel Martin; Longfellow's Skeleton in Armor; and Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter.

ANTHONY, AUGUSTA, lecturer, author, was born May 25, 1844, in Rockland, Mass. As a lecturer she has gained eminent success in California. Mrs. Anthony is the author of several prose works and numerous poems of merit, and many of her poems have been set to music.

ANTHONY, CHARLES EDWARD, numismatist, was born Dec. 6, 1822, in New York city. He was a son of John Anthon; was graduated at Columbia college in 1839, and from 1853 until 1883 he held the chair of history and belles-lettres in the college of the city of New York. He was an enthusiastic collector of coins, and owned one of the most valuable collections ever gathered in the United States. For some time he was president of the American numismatic society. He died June 7, 1883, in New York city.

ANTHONY, CYRUS A., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 29, 1839, in Hackettstown, N. J. He served four years in the fifty-first Illinois infantry, rising from private to captain. He moved to Missouri in 1870; prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county 1875-76; elected to the thirty-first general assembly; twice appointed on committees to settle with the state treasury; elected to the thirty-third general assembly; elected judge of the twenty-ninth circuit in 1886; and re-elected in 1892.

ANTHONY, DANIEL READ, pioneer journalist, was born Aug. 22, 1824, in South Adams, Mass. He visited the state of Kansas in 1854, and while there helped to found the city of Lawrence. He located in Kansas at Leavenworth, and in 1863 was elected mayor of that city. He is the owner of the Leavenworth Times, now one of the most extensive newspaper establishments in the west.

ANTHONY, GEORGE CHRISTIAN, lawyer, educator, was born March 19, 1820, in Red Hook, N. Y. He was the eldest son of the Rev. Henry Anthon; was graduated at Columbia college in 1839; studied law, and was admitted to practice at the New York bar. He removed to New Orleans and there began teaching, but returned to New York and was appointed professor of Greek in the university of the city of New York. He established the Anthon grammar school in 1854, and was its principal until his death. He died Aug. 11, 1877, in Yonkers, N. Y.

ANTHONY, GEORGE T., statesman. He was governor of Kansas from 1877 to 1879.

ANTHONY, HENRY B., United States senator, was born April 1, 1815, in Coventry, Boston. He graduated at Brown university in 1833; in 1838 he assumed the editorial charge of the Providence Journal, which he retained until called to a seat in the United States senate. He was elected governor of Rhode Island in 1849; re-elected in 1850; and declined a further re-election; and was elected a senator in congress in 1859, and served until his death; was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1871. He was a member of the national committee appointed to accompany the remains of President Lincoln to Illinois; was one of the senators designated by the senate to attend the funeral of General Scott in 1866; was also a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866. He died Sept. 2, 1884, in Providence, R. I.

ANTHONY, JOHN GOULD, naturalist, author, was born May 17, 1804, in Providence, R. I. He accompanied Agassiz on the Thayer expedition to Brazil in 1865. He was recognized as an authority on the American land and fresh water mollusca. He died Oct. 16, 1877, in Cambridge, Mass.

ANTHONY, JOSEPH B., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1838. He died Jan. 17, 1851, in Williamsport, Pa.

ANTHONY, PHILIP FREDERICK, patriot, statesman, was born July 2, 1730. He held several public offices; was a member of the provincial council and of the general and state assemblies; judge of the court of common pleas; and a colonel of state militia. He was so conspicuous and ardent a patriot during the revolution that the British offered a reward for his head. In 1776, in company with a Mr. Potts, at Warwick furnace, he successfully cast an eighteen-pounder, the first cannon ever made in America. He died Sept. 20, 1801, in Lancaster, Pa.

ANTHONY, SUSAN BROWNELL, woman suffragist, was born Feb. 15, 1820, in South Adams, Mass. Her father was a Quaker, and was proprietor of a small cotton mill, in which his daughter worked from an early age. Subsequently she attended school in Philadelphia, and taught school in the state of New York. She has participated in temperance and reformatory movements. She is chiefly known as an ardent supporter of the political enfranchisement of women. At one time she edited a paper in New York called The Revolution.

ANTHONY, WILLIAM ARNOLD, educator, lecturer, electrical engineer, was born Nov. 17, 1835, in Coventry, R. I. For fifteen years during 1872-87 he was professor of physics at Cornell university, where he planned and equipped the physical laboratory building, and organized and had charge of the department of electrical engineering. He is now a consulting electrical engineer of New York city; and part author of a Text-Book of Physics; and numerous papers presented before technical societies and in scientific periodicals.

ANTHONY, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 2, 1827, in New York city. He was admitted to the bar in 1848, and soon became distinguished in its practice. In 1851 he served as member of the state legislature, and during the civil war he was judge-advocate-general on Gov. E. D. Morgan's staff. He died Nov. 7, 1875, in New York city.

ANTONY, EDWIN LE ROY, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1852, near Waynesboro, Ga. He was admitted to practice in the courts of that state Jan. 8, 1874, and at once entered upon the duties of his profession; two years later he was elected county attorney of his county, the first under the constitution of 1876, being also ex-officio district attorney for his county; in 1886, during the illness of the regular district judge, he filled that office as special judge; in 1892, while an alderman of his city, was nominated and elected, June 14, 1892, to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. At the expiration of his term he returned to his home and resumed the practice of his profession, in which he is still engaged. He was, and still is, an ardent supporter and admirer of President Cleveland, and is of the school of politics known as gold standard democrats. In 1876 he was married to Miss Augusta Houghton, a native Texan, and a daughter of Judge Joel A. Houghton, of Georgetown, Tex.

APES, WILLIAM, author, was born about 1800. He was an Indian preacher of the Pequot tribe; and published A Son of the Forest; Experiences of Five Christian Indians of the Pequot Tribe; Indian Nullification; and a Eulogy on King Philip.

APLIN, CHARLES BENJAMIN, physician, was born June 17, 1869, in New Plymouth, Ohio. He attended the Columbus Medical college, Ohio, and graduated therefrom in 1892. He is one of Kansas' foremost physicians at Lamar.

APPEL, DANIEL MITCHELL, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 28, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa. He attended the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He was appointed assistant surgeon to the United States army in 1876, and promoted to surgeon in 1895, with the rank of major.

APPEL, THEODORE, clergyman, author, was born April 30, 1823, in Eastman, Pa. From 1877 to 1886 he was general superintendent of home missions for the eastern part of the reformed church; and traveled on business connected with that office through Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina. From 1881 to 1886 he edited the Reformed Missionary Herald. He has published Recollections of College Life.

APPLE, JOSEPH HENRY, JR., educator, college president, was born Aug. 4, 1865, in Rimersburg, Pa. This successful educator has filled the chair of mathematics in several large institutions; and since 1893 has been president of the Woman's college of Frederick, Md.

APPLE, THOMAS GILMORE, educator, was born Nov. 14, 1829, in Easton, Pa. He graduated from Marshall college in 1850, and, entering the ministry, was a pastor of the German Reformed church from 1853 to 1865. In the latter year he was chosen president of Mercersburg college, which he left in 1871, and became a professor in the Lancaster Theological seminary. In 1878 he was elected president of Franklin and Marshall college. He edited for several years the Mercersburg Review and the Reformed Quarterly Review.

APPLEBURY, ELIZABETH M., educator, poet, was born Oct. 21, 1834, in Palmyra, Mo. She graduated from the Female seminary of her native town, and soon afterward began educational work. She has contributed extensively to periodical literature, and her poems have been given a place in several standard works.

APPLEGARTH, RUFUS W., lawyer, legislator, was born in 1845 in Baltimore, Md. He was called to the bar in 1867, and has been counsel in most of the leading cases that have been tried in the court of appeals; has also appeared in the appellate and United States and local courts of Louisiana, Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey. He was elected to the general assembly of Maryland in the fall of 1895.

APPLEGARTH, WILLIAM F., educator, merchant, legislator, was born Feb. 11, 1842, in Golden Hill, Md. He taught school for fifteen years; has served with distinction as a member of the Maryland state legislature; and is now a successful merchant of his native city.

APPLEGATE, O. C., soldier, business man. He has been closely identified with the growth and prosperity of southern Oregon, and resides in Klamath Falls.

APPLETON, DANIEL, publisher, the founder of the house of D. Appleton and Co., was born Dec. 10, 1785, in Haverhill, Mass. He began life as a dry-goods merchant in his native town; subsequently went to Boston, and in 1825 removed to New York. Here he began the importation of English books in conjunction with the dry-goods business. Mr. Appleton soon abandoned the dry-goods business, thereafter giving his attention solely to the importation and sale of books. He died March 27, 1849, in New York.

APPLETON, DANIEL, publisher, was born Feb. 24, 1852, in New York. In 1879 he was admitted into partnership with D. Appleton and Co. Possessing fine business qualifications, he has been an efficient member of the firm. Colonel Appleton has long taken an active part in New York city's favorite militia regiment, the seventh, of which, July 18, 1889, he was, by unanimous vote, promoted from a captaincy to the colonelcy. He is a director of the American Book company, and a member of the Union, Century, Aldine, Riding, and New York Yacht clubs.

APPLETON, DANIEL S., publisher, was born April 9, 1824, in Boston, Mass. He attained success as one of the most prominent publishers in the United States.

APPLETON, GEORGE S., author, was born Aug. 11, 1821, in Andover, Mass. He is the author of Picturesque America; Picturesque Europe; and Picturesque Palestine. He died July 7, 1878, in Riverdale, N. Y.

APPLETON, JAMES, temperance reformer, was born Feb. 14, 1786, in Ipswich, Mass. When a young man he was elected to the legislature of his native state, and during the war with Great Britain he served as a colonel of Massachusetts militia; and after the close of the war was made a brigadier-general. During his subsequent residence at Portland, Maine, he was elected to the legislature in 1836-37, but he returned finally to his native town, where he died. By his speeches and publications he exercised great influence upon public sentiment in favor of abolition and total abstinence. In his report to the Maine legislature in 1837 he was the first to expound the principle embodied in the Maine law. He died Aug. 25, 1862, in Ipswich, Mass.

APPLETON, JAMES, general, was born Feb. 14, 1815, in Ipswich, Mass. He was an energetic champion of total abstinence, and the first expounder of the principle underlying the Maine law. He died Aug. 25, 1882.

APPLETON, JESSE, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Nov. 17, 1772, in New Ipswich, N. H. In 1792 he graduated from Dartmouth college; and then for two years was an instructor in Dover and in Amherst. In 1795 he was licensed to preach, and for ten years filled a pastorate in Hampton, N. H. In 1803 he filled the chair of theology at Cambridge; and in 1807 became president of Bowdoin college. A volume of his addresses has been published; and a selection from his sermons and poems has also been published in two volumes. He died Nov. 12, 1819, in Brunswick, Maine.

APPLETON, JOHN, jurist, was born in 1804. He was a former chief justice of Maine; eminent as a legal reformer; and was the author of The Rules of Evidence Stated and Discussed. He died in 1891.

APPLETON, JOHN, physician, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 9, 1809, in Salem, Mass. In 1833 he graduated from the Harvard University Medical school, taking the Boylston prize. He attained eminence as a doctor of medicine, lecturer, and author, and was a member and assistant librarian of the Massachusetts Historical society. He died February, 1869, in Cambridge, Mass.

APPLETON, JOHN, journalist, diplomat, was born Feb. 11, 1815, in Beverly, Mass. He was admitted to practice law at Portland, Maine, in 1837. In 1857 he was appointed assistant secretary of state, and in 1860 was appointed United States minister to Russia. He died Aug. 22, 1864, in Portland, Maine.

APPLETON, JOHN HOWARD, educator, author, was born Feb. 3, 1844, in Portland, Maine. He has been a professor of chemistry at Brown university since 1868. He is the author of The Young Chemist; Qualitative Analysis; Quantitative Analysis; and Chemistry of Non Metals.

APPLETON, JOHN JAMES, diplomatist, was born Sept. 22, 1792, in Calais, France. While his father was United States consul at that place he graduated at Harvard university in 1813; was secretary of legation of the United States to Portugal from 1819 to 1822; to Spain from 1822 to 1825; charge d'affaires to the Two Sicilies in 1825, and to Sweden in 1826. He resided in France, where he owned a valuable estate. While at Stockholm he negotiated a treaty of commerce. He died March 4, 1864, in Rennes, France.

APPLETON, JOHN W. M., soldier, farmer, adjutant-general of state, was born April 1, 1832, in Boston, Mass. He received his education in the Boston public schools, in the private schools of Massachusetts, and the medical school of Harvard university. In 1852-56 he was assistant librarian of the Boston public library; and was clerk in the board of charities of that city. During the war, from 1862 to 1865, he served as a private soldier; was promoted to major of infantry, and subsequently as commander of battalion of six batteries of artillery. In 1865 he moved to West Virginia, and there joined the national guards, in which he has served as captain, major, colonel, and brigadier-general; and since 1897 has been adjutant-general of West Virginia.

APPLETON, NATHAN, manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1779, in New Ipswich, N. H. He became interested in the cotton manufacture, and in 1821 was one of the three original founders of Lowell, Mass. He was at different periods a member of the legislature of Massachusetts; from 1831 to 1833 was a representative in congress from Massachusetts; and was again elected to congress in 1842, but soon resigned his seat. He died July 14, 1861, in Boston, Mass.

APPLETON, NATHAN DANE, lawyer, legislator, was born in 1794 in Ipswich, Mass., on the farm which was bought in 1634-35 by his emigrant ancestor, Samuel Appleton. He repeatedly represented the town in the legislature; was once in the senate of Maine; and three times he was the candidate of his party for congress. In the winter of 1857 he was chosen by the legislature attorney-general of the state. He died in 1861.

APPLETON, NATHANIEL, clergyman, was born Dec. 9, 1693, in Ipswich, Mass. He was educated at Harvard, taking his degree in 1712; studied theology, and was ordained Oct. 9, 1717, succeeding Mr. Brattle as congregational minister. From 1717 to 1779 he was one of the corporation of Harvard university. He published sermons and occasional discourses. He died Feb. 9, 1784, in Cambridge, Mass.

APPLETON, SAMUEL, merchant, philanthropist, was born June 22, 1766, in New Ipswich, N. H. He was an importer; established cotton mills at Waltham and Lowell, Mass.; and at his death the sum of two hundred thousand dollars was distributed among charities.

APPLETON, THOMAS GOLD, artist, author, was born March 31, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of A Sheaf of Papers; A Nile Journal; Windfalls; Syrian Sunshine; Chequer-Work; and Faded Leaves, a volume of verse. He died April 17, 1884, in New York.

APPLETON, WILLIAM, merchant, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1786, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was educated for mercantile pursuits, in which he was engaged extensively and successfully for more than fifty years. He took a prominent part in various public and benevolent enterprises; and gave much attention to banking and financial operations. In 1850 was elected a representative in congress from Massachusetts; was re-elected in 1852; and was also elected to the thirty-seventh congress. He died Feb. 20, 1862, in Longwood, near Boston, Mass.

APPLETON, WILLIAM HENRY, publisher, was born Jan. 27, 1814, in New York city, and is a son of Daniel Appleton. In 1835 he was sent to represent the house in London, where he established an agency. In 1838 he was taken into partnership. At his father's death, in 1849, he inherited a moderate estate, which he has since increased by his own energetic prosecution of the business and by active participation in other enterprises. Under his management the house devoted itself entirely to the sale of its own publications, and has come to rank among the half dozen leading publishing houses of the United States.

APPLETON, WILLIAM WORTHEN, publisher, was born Nov. 29, 1845, in Brooklyn, N. Y., a son of William H. Appleton. In recent years he has given more of his time to the editorial department and the London office. He is a director in the American Book company, a corporation founded in 1890, with a capital of $5,000,000; and is actively identified with the New York Free library, of which he was one of the founders, and has held continuously the chairmanship of the library committee.

APSLEY, LEWIS DEWART, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1852, in Northumberland, Pa. At the age of fifteen he removed to Philadelphia, and immediately engaged in active business pursuits, early identifying himself with the rubber goods trade. He removed to Massachusetts in 1877, and established himself in 1885 as a manufacturer of rubber clothing in Hudson. He is president and treasurer of the Apsley Rubber company; president of the Millay Last company; president of the Hudson Board of Trade; a director in the Hudson National bank; and identified with many other enterprises. He was elected to the fifty-third, and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

APTHORP, WILLIAM FOSTER, author, was born in 1848 in Massachusetts. He is a musical newspaper critic of Boston, and the author of Musicians and Music-Lovers, and Other Essays. He has translated Zola's Jacques Damour.

ARBUCKLE, CHARLES, coffee importer, was born in 1833 in Allegheny City, Pa. His early years were passed in Allegheny City, Pa., where he became a prominent wholesale grocer. In 1871 Mr. Arbuckle, with his brother John, established a factory for the preparation of roasted and ground coffee in Brooklyn, N. Y., and in 1875 transferred all his interests to that city. He died March 27, 1891, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ARBUCKLE, JOHN, importer and manufacturer. He spent his early life in Allegheny, Pa. In 1871 he engaged with his brother Charles in the preparation of roasted and ground coffee, their factory being located in Brooklyn; and he is now head of the firm of Arbuckle Brothers. He is also a director in the Importers' and Traders' bank, and is president of the Royal Horse association, a syndicate owning ranches in Wyoming.

ARBUCKLE, JOHN CHALMERS, soldier, educator, clergyman, was born July 27, 1847, in Glasgow, Scotland. In 1864

he enlisted in the fourth regiment, Iowa volunteer infantry, and served as a private soldier till the close of the war. He taught school for several years, and in 1874 graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university of Delaware. For a quarter of a century he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, his principal pastorates being in Columbus and Zanesville, Ohio. For four years he was presiding elder on the Gallipolis district, and is now presiding elder of the Columbus district. He has twice been a member of the general conference of the methodist episcopal church; and for two years served as a member of the general missionary board of that denomination.

ARBURY, FREDERICK WALTER, educator, was born Nov. 8, 1856, in Flint, Mich. He received the rudiments of his education in the Flint public schools, and in 1883 graduated from the university of Michigan. For five years he was superintendent of public schools of Flint, Mich.; three years at Houghton; and four years at Battle Creek. Since 1895 he has been connected with a Boston publishing house.

ARCHBALD, ROBERT WODROW, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 10, 1848, in Carbondale, Pa. He graduated from Yale college in 1871; in 1884 was elected additional law judge of the forty-fifth judicial district of Pennsylvania. He has since been president judge of the said district, receiving the re-election in 1894 for another ten years.

ARCHBOLD, JOHN DUSTIN, oil refiner, was born July 26, 1848, in Leesburg, Ohio. In 1864 he joined the rush to the Pennsylvania oil regions, and spent eleven years there in various branches of the petroleum industry. He rose to prominence, and has long been the chief proprietor and president of the Acme Oil company. Since 1875 he has been identified with the Standard Oil company, and a director since its organization, and is now vice-president of the Standard Oil company, of New York. He is president of the trustees of Syracuse university, and a director of the post-graduate hospital and training school and St. Christopher's home and orphanage.

ARCHER, BRANCH T., Texan revolutionist, was born in 1790 in Virginia. He studied medicine in Philadelphia, and was for many years a physician and politician in his native state, being a member of the legislature several times. In 1831 he removed to Texas and became a prominent actor in the movements preliminary to the revolution. In 1835 he presided over the famous consultation held by the American settlers, and with Col. Stephen Austin and N. H. Wharton formed a board of three commissioners to solicit aid from the United States in the struggle for Texan independence. He was a member of the first Texan congress in 1836, and afterward went to Washington, where he became speaker of the house of representatives and secretary of war from 1839 to 1842, when by reason of ill-health he was obliged to retire to private life. He died Sept. 22, 1856, in Texas.

ARCHER, HENRY HAYES, street railway manager, was born July 1, 1860, in Rokeby, Pa. He is president of the Valley Railway company, of Scranton, and vice-president of the People's Railway company of Scranton, and the system of which he is manager comprises thirty-eight miles of road, owned by seven different companies, though operated by the Scranton Traction company.

ARCHER, JOHN, soldier, physician, congressman, was born June 6, 1741, in Harford county, Md. At the commencement of the revolution he had command of a military company; was a member of the state legislature; and after the war practiced his profession. He was a presidential elector in 1797; and was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1801 to 1807. As a medical man he commanded great influence, and several discoveries were made by him which have been adopted by the profession. He died in 1810 in Harford county, Md.

ARCHER, STEVENSON, jurist, congressman, was born in Harford county, Md. He graduated at Princeton college in 1805; was a judge of the court of appeals; was elected a representative in congress from Maryland from 1811 to 1817, when he was appointed judge in Mississippi territory; and was chosen a representative in congress again from 1819 to 1821. In 1845 he was appointed chief justice of Maryland. He was the son of John Archer. He died June 5, 1848, in Harford county, Md.

ARCHER, STEVENSON, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1827, in Harford county, Md. He graduated at Princeton college in 1846; adopted the profession of the law; was a member of the Maryland legislature in 1854; in 1866 was elected a representative from Maryland to the fortieth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first, forty-second, and forty-third congresses. His father, bearing the same name, and his grandfather, John Archer, were both representatives in congress from the same district which he represented.

ARCHER, WILLIAM S., United States senator, was born March 5, 1789, in Amelia county, Va. He studied law, and in 1812 was elected to the Virginia state legislature, where he served, excepting one year, until 1819. In 1820 he was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, where he remained until 1835. In 1841 he was elected to the United States senate, where he remained until 1847, having from the first been placed at the head of the committee on foreign relations in that body. He died March 28, 1855, in Amelia county, Va.

ARCHIBALD, ANDREW WEBSTER, clergyman, author, was born in 1851 in New York. He is a congregational clergyman of prominence in Iowa; and the author of The Bible Verified.

ARCHIBALD, GEORGE D., college president, was born Feb. 15, 1820, in Washington county, Pa. From 1861-66 was pastor of the First presbyterian church of Madison, Ind.; in 1866-70 president of Hanover college; and from 1873-74 was president of Wilson Female seminary of Chambersburg, Pa.

ARENTS, ALBERT, metallurgist, was born March 14, 1840, in Germany. After coming to the United States he was variously occupied as mining superintendent, and also in charge of metallurgical mills and smelting works in Arizona, California, Colorado, Nevada, and Utah. He has contributed valuable technical papers to the Transactions of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and has invented numerous appliances.

AREY, HARRIETT ELLEN GRANNIS, journalist, author, was born April 14, 1819, in Cavendish, Vt. She has been editor of various publications; was one of the founders and the first president of the Ohio Woman's State Press association, which office she still holds. For many years she has been president of an active literary and social club of Cleveland, Ohio. Her principal writings are Household Songs and Other Poems; and Home and School Training.

ARKELL, JAMES, manufacturer, state senator, was born in England. During the civil war he invented a machine for the manufacture of paper sacks; and has erected a number of manufacturing establishments of Arkell and Smiths in several of the largest cities. In 1883 he was elected to the New York senate, and became immediately one of its leading members.

ARKINS, JOHN, soldier, journalist, was born Feb. 14, 1842, in Fayette county, Pa. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the fifth Minnesota infantry, and served until 1864. In 1880 he purchased a controlling interest in the Denver Rocky Mountain News, of which he has since been the manager and chief editor.

ARMBRUSTER, SARA DARY, journalist, philanthropist, was born Sept. 29, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. She has been a successful business woman; originated in Philadelphia the Woman's Exchange; and is the proprietor of The Woman's Journal, a weekly paper devoted to the cause of women.

ARMFIELD, HYATT JACKSON, farmer, banker, was born in High Point, N. C., which has always been his home. He is a successful farmer; president of the National bank of High Point; director of the Greensboro National bank; and is also prominent in various other business enterprises.

ARMFIELD, ROBERT FRANKLIN, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 9, 1829, in Guilford county, N. C. He received a collegiate education; adopted the profession of the law; was county attorney from 1855 to 1861; state solicitor for the sixth district from 1863 to 1865; served in the confederate army as lieutenant-colonel during the war of the rebellion; was president of the state senate and lieutenant-governor in 1875 and 1876; and was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

ARMIN, CHARLES E., lawyer, poet, was born Dec. 27, 1853, in De Kalb, St. Lawrence county, N. Y. He finished his education at the State Normal school at Pottdam, N. Y. In 1878 he moved out west, and five years later commenced the practice of law; has become prominent in that profession; and is well known as an able lawyer of Waukesha, Wis.; and for two years was district attorney of Waukesha county. His writings have appeared in various publications; and his poems have been given a place in standard works.

ARMINGTON, JAMES HERVEY, soldier, consulting engineer, legislator, was born Aug. 10, 1827, in Providence, R. I. In the civil war he served as first lieutenant and quartermaster in the tenth regiment, R. I. Volunteers. He also served as lieutenant, captain, and colonel of the sixth regiment, R. I. M. Has been a member of the city council of Providence and of the town council of East Providence; and a state representative since May, 1896.

ARMISTEAD, GEORGE, soldier, was born April 10, 1780, in Newmarket, Va. He was brevetted lieutenant-colonel for his successful defense of Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, against the British fleet, under Admiral Cochrane, Sept. 14, 1814. His steadfast bravery on this occasion no doubt saved Baltimore from capture, and the citizens presented him with a handsome service of silver, the centerpiece being in the form of a bombshell. He died April 25, 1818, in Baltimore, Md.

ARMISTEAD, LEWIS ADDISON, soldier, was born Feb. 18, 1817, in Newbern, N. C. He served in the Mexican war, and for gallant services attained the rank of major. He also served in the civil war; and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. He died July 3, 1863.

ARMITAGE, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 2, 1819, in England. He is a prominent baptist clergyman of New York city; and is the author of Jesus, His Self Introspection; Lectures on Preaching; and History of the Baptists.

ARMOR, CHARLES LEE, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was appointed from Maryland an associate judge of the United States court for the territory of Colorado.

ARMOUR, ANDREW W., banker, was born Jan. 27, 1829, in Stockbridge, N. Y. In 1878 he located in Kansas City, and became president of the Armour Brothers Banking company. He subsequently became vice-president of the Midland National bank, when it succeeded to the business of the Armour bank, and was one of the directors of the Armour Packing company.

ARMOUR, HERMAN OSSIAN, merchant, was born March 2, 1837, in Stockbridge, N. Y. The packing business of the Armour brothers is conducted on a stupendous scale. Their abattoirs in Chicago are of immense capacity. Thousands of animals are slaughtered there every day. The firm not only supply millions of the people of the United States annually with fresh meats, through the method of distribution by refrigerator cars, but they are the largest shippers of cured goods across the ocean for the supply of western Europe. They give employment in their several industries to upward of fifteen thousand persons, while the auxiliary branches of the business attain to the number of about three hundred. Herman O. Armour is now one of the most respected merchants of New York city, and has identified himself thoroughly with the business and social life of the metropolis.

ARMOUR, PHILIP DANFORTH, merchant, was born May 16, 1832, at Stockbridge, N. Y. Of all the Armour brothers, Philip has probably attracted to himself more public attention than any of the others by reason of his remarkable personality and his practical philanthropy, in which, however, he has been sustained by the liberality of the other brothers. The Armour mission, one of the most conspicuous institutions in Chicago, has been developed through his activity, originality and generosity from an humble beginning to colossal magnitude. The youngest brother, Joseph, who died Jan. 5, 1881, bequeathed $100,000 in his will for the founding of a mission in Chicago, to be conducted on certain novel lines. As the executor of the estate, Philip D. Armour became peculiarly interested in the carrying out of the trust imposed upon him. The mission represents the sum of $3,000,000.

ARMOUR, SIMEON B., merchant, was born Feb. 1, 1828. He is the oldest of the Armour brothers. In the development of the vast industry created by these energetic men he was an active participant. The Kansas City branch came more directly under his supervision and for many years he has been the leading commercial spirit in that active and thriving emporium. He lacks nothing of that keen business judgment which is so pre-eminently a family trait.

ARMS, MRS. MARY P. S., poet. She is a writer of Beckwith, Cal.; and her poems have constantly appeared in the press and in several standard publications.

ARMSBY, JAMES H., physician, was born Dec. 31, 1809, in Sutton, Mass. He conceived the idea of founding a university in Albany, raised ten thousand dollars for the object, and delivered in that city the first American course of medical lectures illustrated with dissections of the human body. He was one of the originators of the Young Men's Christian association, and was also instrumental in founding the Dudley observatory. He died Dec. 3, 1875, in Albany, N. Y.

ARMSTRONG, ADDISON F., merchant, was born April 1, 1835, in Clinton county, Ohio. He was elected in 1870 to the Indiana state senate, and held that position three terms, or until 1874, serving also in that time through the special session of 1872. He became a merchant in Kokomo, Ind.

ARMSTRONG, DAVID H., educator, public official, was born Oct. 21, 1812, in Nova Scotia. He received an academic education; was a teacher for eighteen years; and in 1837 removed to Missouri, opening, in 1838, and conducting in St. Louis the first public school established under the laws of that state. In 1847 he was appointed comptroller of the city of St. Louis, and reappointed in 1848 and 1849; and in 1854 was appointed postmaster of St. Louis. He was appointed a United States senator to fill a vacancy.

ARMSTRONG, DAVID MAITLAND, artist, was born about 1837 in Newburg, N. Y. He was graduated at Trinity college, Hartford, in 1858; studied law in New York; and practiced that profession for a short time. It soon became evident to him that his choice of the law was a mistake, and he turned his attention to art. He studied in Rome and Paris under the best teachers, and divided his time mainly between Italy and New York. For four years he was United States consul general for Italy, resident at Rome, and was director of the American art department at the Paris exposition of 1878, when he received the decoration of the Legion of Honor.

ARMSTRONG, GEORGE DODD, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 15, 1813, in Mendham, N. J. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Norfolk, Va.; and the author of The Summer of the Pestilence; The Doctrine of Baptisms; The Christian Doctrine of Slavery; Theology of Christian Experience; The Sacraments of the New Testament; and The Books of Nature and Revelation, a criticism of the theory of evolution.

ARMSTRONG, GEORGE WASHINGTON, business man, was born Aug. 11, 1836, in Boston, Mass. In 1865 he purchased a local baggage express, and at once organized Armstrong's Transfer, which he soon raised to be a business of importance and magnitude. He owns the news business on the entire Hoosac Tunnel line; and is a director of a number of business corporations.

ARMSTRONG, HENRY CLAY, legislator, was born June 1, 1840, in Lafayette, Ga. He received his education at the Howard college. During 1876-80 he served as a member of the Alabama state senate; in 1880-84 was state superintendent of education of Alabama; in 1884-85 was a member of the Alabama house of representatives; and filled the chair of speaker in that body; and during 1885-89 he served as consul-general of the United States to Brazil. He has filled various high positions in the Masonic lodge; has been grand secretary of the Masonic grand bodies; and since 1892 has been recorder of the grand commandery of Alabama.

ARMSTRONG, JAMES, soldier, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He served as a colonel in the successful defense of Fort Moultrie, Charleston harbor, in the summer of 1776, and commanded the Pennsylvania militia in the defense of Germantown in October, 1777. He was a member of congress from 1793 till his death. He died March 3, 1795, in Carlisle, Pa.

ARMSTRONG, JAMES, naval officer, was born Jan. 17, 1794, in Shelbyville, Ky. He commanded the East India squadron in 1855, and assisted at the capture of the barrier forts near Canton, China, in 1857. He was in command of the navy yard at Pensacola, Fla., when that state seceded in 1861; and surrendered without resistance when a greatly superior military force demanded possession. In 1866 he was promoted to be commodore. He died Aug. 27, 1868.

ARMSTRONG, JAMES F., naval officer, was born Nov. 20, 1817, in New Jersey. He was passed midshipman in 1838; promoted lieutenant in 1842; and was commissioned captain in 1862. He died April 19, 1873, in New Haven, Conn.

ARMSTRONG, JOHN, general, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He distinguished himself in the Indian wars, and was consulted by the proprietors of Pennsylvania on all matters connected with Indian affairs. In 1776 congress promoted him from the rank of colonel to that of brigadier-general, and he assisted in the defense of Fort Moultrie, and in the battle of Germantown. In 1777 he resigned his commission in consequence of dissatisfaction as to rank; was subsequently elected a representative to congress from Pennsylvania, serving from 1793 to 1795; and also held a number of other honorable offices. He died March 9, 1795, in Carlisle, Pa.

ARMSTRONG, JOHN, general, congressman, author, was born Nov. 25, 1758, in Carlisle, Pa. He served as an officer in the revolutionary war. At the close of the war, in order to obtain redress for the grievances of the officers of the army, he prepared the celebrated Newburgh Letters; was a delegate to the continental congress in 1778 and 1787, from Pennsylvania; was made secretary of state and adjutant-general of the state; to him was intrusted the direction of the last Pennsylvania war against the Connecticut settlers of Wyoming. Returning to New York, he was sent to the senate of the United States, serving from 1800 to 1804, when he resigned. On the return of Chancellor Livingston from the French embassy, he was commissioned minister in his place, in 1804; and was also appointed a commissioner plenipotentiary to Spain. Returning to his own country, he was appointed a brigadier-general in 1812; and in 1813, secretary of war. He was the author of Notes on the War of 1812; Treatise on Gardening; Treatise on Agriculture; and other works. He died April 1, 1843, in Red Hook, N. Y.

ARMSTRONG, MOSES K., surveyor, journalist, statesman, was born Sept. 19, 1832, in Milan, Ohio. He was educated at the Western Reserve college; removed to Minnesota in 1856; was elected surveyor of United States lands; on the admission of Minnesota as a state, removed to Yankton, on the Missouri river; on the organization of Dakota, in 1861, was elected to the first territorial legislature, and re-elected in 1862 and 1863, serving the last year as speaker; was editor of The Dakota Union in 1864; was elected territorial treasurer; appointed clerk of the supreme court in 1865; elected to the territorial senate in 1866; and chosen president in 1867. He published the first history of Dakota in 1867; acted as secretary to the Indian peace commission to the Sioux; and from 1866 to 1869 established the base-lines for United States surveys in southern Dakota, and the northern Red river valley. He was again elected to the territorial senate in 1869; established the first democratic newspaper in the territory; and was chosen president of the First National bank of the territory in 1872. He was elected delegate to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

ARMSTRONG, P. B., financier, was born Feb. 3, 1847, in Franklin county, Ind. He holds the presidency of three different fire insurance companies, and is a member of the leading clubs of the metropolitan districts.

ARMSTRONG, ROBERT, soldier, was born in 1790 in Tennessee. He commanded a company of Tennessee artillery under Jackson in the Creek war of 1813-14 with distinguished bravery. He again distinguished himself at the battle of New Orleans, and in 1836, as brigadier-general, commanded the Tennessee mounted volunteers at the battle of Wahoo swamp. He was postmaster at Nashville from 1829 to 1845, when he was sent as consul to Liverpool, remaining until 1852. He subsequently became the proprietor and editor of the Washington Union, and was the confidential adviser of Mr. Polk during his presidency. Gen. Jackson bequeathed to him his sword. He died Feb. 23, 1854, in Washington, D. C.

ARMSTRONG, ROBERT, lawyer, legislator, was born September, 1846, in Greenwich, N. Y. He received his education at the South Hartford academy, Fort Edward Collegiate institute, and the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y. He was a member of the New York state assembly for two terms, in 1881-82 and in 1882-83; and while a member of that body served on the judicial committee, and on general laws. He has attained prominence in his state as an astute and able lawyer.

ARMSTRONG, SAMUEL C., soldier, educator, was born Jan. 30, 1839, in Hawaii. He served in the civil war, and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general. He laid the foundation of the now celebrated Hampton Normal and Agricultural institute; and has helped build many other institutions.

ARMSTRONG, SAMUEL T., governor of Massachusetts, was born in 1784 in Massachusetts. He was a bookseller in Boston, and among other works published a stereotype edition of Scott's Family Bible, which was widely circulated. He became mayor of Boston and lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts, and in 1836 the election of Governor Davis to the United States senate made him governor for the remainder of the term. He died March 26, 1850.

ARMSTRONG, SARAH B., educator, physician, surgeon, was born July 31, 1857, near Cincinnati, Ohio. She taught school for several years, and in 1886 took her first degree in regular medicine, and has received the degrees of B. A., M. A. and M. D. Since 1891 she has practiced her profession with success in Bay City, Mich.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 23, 1782, in Ireland. He studied law in Winchester, Va.; he was a member of the Virginia house of delegates; in 1822-23, a member of the board of public works; in 1820-24 was a presidential elector. He was a representative in congress from 1825-33.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM DAWSON, musician, composer, was born Feb. 11, 1868, in Alton, Ill. He received his education at the Alton public schools and at Shurtleff college. In 1889 he was elected to a professorship in Forest Park university of St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1891-96 became director of the Shurtleff School of Music of Alton, Ill. As an organist and composer he has attained national repute.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM H., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1824, in Williamsport, Pa. He graduated at Princeton college in 1847; and adopted the profession of the law. He was elected to the state legislature in 1860-61; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first congress. In 1882 he was appointed commissioner of railroads in the department of the interior.

ARNELL, SAMUEL M., educator, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 3, 1833, in Maury county, Tenn. In 1859 he went into the business of manufacturing leather; in 1861 took an active interest in putting down the rebellion, and suffered in person and property from the confederate army. He was elected to the Tennessee legislature, and advocated the passage of the constitutional amendment in 1865. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses.

ARNETT, BENJAMIN W., bishop, author, was born March 6, 1838, in Brownsville, Pa. He was chosen bishop in 1888, and appointed to the episcopal district of South Carolina and Florida. He is the author of The Light Along the Jordan; and Fifty Years in the Field.

ARNOLD, ALBERT NICHOLAS, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 12, 1814, in Cranston, R. I. He was a baptist clergyman who held professorships in several baptist seminaries successively; and was the author of Pre-requisites to Communion; Evils of Infant Baptism; and One Woman's Mission. He died Oct. 11, 1883, in Cranston, R. I.

ARNOLD, ALEXANDER C., educator, lawyer, legislator, railroad president, was born Oct. 20, 1833, at Rhinebeck, N. Y. He received an academic education; graduated from the law school; and practiced law in Wisconsin until 1862. He served with distinction in company C, thirtieth regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry, and was promoted to captain. He has been county superintendent of schools; district attorney; member of the state senate of Wisconsin, and also of the assembly. He has been president of the Wisconsin State Agricultural society; president of the Galesville and Mississippi Railroad company, and filled various other offices of honor.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, soldier, congressman, was a member of the assembly of New York from Amsterdam, Montgomery county, in 1816 and 1817; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1829 to 1831.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, governor of Rhode Island, was born Dec. 21, 1615, in England. He lived for some time in Providence, and in 1637 was one of thirteen who signed a compact agreeing to subject themselves to any agreements made by a majority of the masters of families. In 1645 his knowledge of the native tongues gained him the office of messenger to negotiate with the Indians, and on one occasion they accused him of misrepresentation. In 1653 he moved to Newport, and in 1654 was elected assistant for that town. In 1657 he was one of the purchasers of the island of Conanicut. On May 19, 1657, Roger Williams having retired from the presidency of the colony, Arnold was elected to the office, and he was again assistant in 1660. On May 22, 1662, he was again elected president, and under the royal charter given in 1663 he was the first governor of the colony. To this office he was re-elected in May, 1664, and in 1669, 1677, and 1678. Gov. Arnold was instrumental in bringing about the reconciliation and union of the two colonies of Rhode Island and Providence plantations. He died June 20, 1678.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, soldier, was born in January, 1740, in Norwich, Conn. He fought nobly for freedom until 1778, when his passions got the better of his judgment and conscience, and he became a traitor and joined the British army. He went to England after the war, and died June 14, 1801, in London.

ARNOLD, GEORGE, journalist, poet, was born June 24, 1834, in New York city. He was a journalist and poet of New York city, whose verse is musical without being especially strong. He was the author of Drift and Other Poems; and Poems Grave and Gay. He died Nov. 3, 1865, in Strawberry Farm, N. J.

ARNOLD, HARRIET EUDORA PRITCHARD, poet, was born Dec. 24, 1858, in Killingly, Conn. She is the author of a number of meritorious poems and sketches which have appeared in various magazines and periodicals under the signature of H. E. P. She is the wife of Ernest Warner Arnold of Providence, R. I.

ARNOLD, HENRY F., lawyer, educator, was born Dec. 2, 1855, in Newport, Iowa. He attended the Western college of Iowa and State university of Iowa, from which he graduated in classical course in 1881; and from the law school of the same university in 1884, receiving the degree of A. M. He was superintendent of city schools of Manchester, Iowa, and has served three terms as county attorney.

ARNOLD, HORACE F., farmer, state senator, was born June 19, 1857. He was educated at the Caledonia academy and the North Dakota university, and has served as state senator in four legislatures of North Dakota. He entered journalistic work in 1890, and is president of the Dakota Lake Chautauqua association.

ARNOLD, ISAAC NEWTON, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Nov. 30, 1815, in Hartwick, N. J. He was a prominent Chicago lawyer and politician, and member of congress in 1861-65. He was the author of Life of Abraham Lincoln; Life of Benedict Arnold; and Recollections of the Early Chicago and Illinois Bar. He died April 24, 1884, in Chicago, Ill.

ARNOLD, JOHN, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 15, 1815, in England. In 1877 he moved to Rushville, Ind. He is a member of the Rush Medical society, the Union District Medical society, the Indiana State Medical society, and the American Medical association.

ARNOLD, JOHN H., business man, legislator, was born July 9, 1846, in Warwick, N. J. He received his education in the public schools; has been a member of the common council of Pawtucket; and a representative in the Rhode Island state legislature since 1896.

ARNOLD, JOHN MOTTE, clergyman, author, was born in 1824, in Acra, N. Y. In 1839 he moved to Michigan, residing in Detroit from 1861 until his death on Dec. 8, 1884. He filled several methodist episcopal pulpits in Detroit, Mich.; assisted in founding the Michigan Christian Advocate, which he edited until his death; and founded the Detroit Methodist Book concern. Dr. Arnold was the author of Doctrines of Sanctification; and was a learned and versatile writer.

ARNOLD, JONATHAN, surgeon, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1741, in Providence, R. I. He was a member of the state assembly in 1776; and was the author of the act of May, 1776, repealing the laws providing for the oath of allegiance to the mother country. He was a surgeon in the revolutionary army; after the war removed to St. Johnsbury, Vt., where he was appointed judge of the Orange county court in 1782, holding that office during the remainder of his life. He was a member of the continental congress from 1782 to 1784. He died Feb. 2, 1798, in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

ARNOLD, JOSEPH MITCHELL, educator, was born Dec. 14, 1863, in New Buffalo, Pa. He attended the Bloomfield academy, and in 1887 graduated from the Lafayette college. The succeeding five years he was principal of the Bloomfield academy, and since 1893 has been superintendent of schools of Perry county, Pa., and has attained prominence in the field of education for his progressive improvements of the school system under his charge.

ARNOLD, LAUREN BRIGGS, agriculturist, author, was born in 1841, in New York. He was an agriculturist of western New York who lectured frequently upon dairy husbandry and was the author of American Dairying. He died in 1888.

ARNOLD, LEMUEL H., merchant, congressman, governor, was born Jan. 29, 1792, in St. Johnsbury, Vt. He was removed to Rhode Island at an early age; graduated at Dartmouth college, in 1811; and was educated for the bar, but turned his attention to mercantile pursuits. In 1831 was elected governor of Rhode Island, and re-elected in 1832; was a member of the governor's council during the Dorr rebellion in 1842; and a representative in congress from 1845 to 1847. He died June 27, 1852, in Kingston, R. I.

ARNOLD, LEWIS G., general, was born in December, 1815, in New Jersey. In 1862 he was placed in command of the forces at New Orleans and Algiers, La., which command he retained until he was disabled by a stroke of paralysis, from which he never recovered.

ARNOLD, LYNN J., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 28, 1864, in Burlington Flats, N. Y. In 1884 he graduated from the State Normal college of Albany, N. Y. He then engaged in educational work; and was admitted to the bar in 1889. He has attained success in the profession of law at Cooperstown, N. Y.; and in 1894 was elected surrogate of his county.

ARNOLD, MARSHALL, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 21, 1845, in St. Francois county, Mo. He was educated in the common schools; was professor in Arcadia college in 1870-71; has been deputy clerk of the circuit, county, and probate courts in St. Francois county, Mo.; was prosecuting attorney of Scott county, Mo.; served two terms in the legislature of Missouri; and was presidential elector on the Hancock ticket. He was elected as a democrat to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses.

ARNOLD, PELEG, jurist, congressman, was born in 1752, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a member of the assembly of Rhode Island; was for many years chief justice of the supreme court of that state; was a delegate to the continental congress from 1786 to 1788, when he was appointed judge. He died Feb. 13, 1820, in Smithfield, R. I.

ARNOLD, REUBEN, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 7, 1833, in Greeneville, Tenn. He served in the civil war, and was tendered recommendation for brigadier-general, which he declined. Col. Arnold was elected city attorney of Atlanta in 1867, and has since been a very prominent figure in politics and law.

ARNOLD, RICHARD, general, was born April 12, 1828, in Providence, R. I. He was a son of Gov. L. H. Arnold, was graduated at West Point in 1850. For his services through the war he was, on March 13, 1865, brevetted colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general in the regular army. After the close of the war he commanded various posts, and on Dec. 5, 1877, was made acting assistant inspector-general of the department of the east. At the time of his death he was major in the fifth artillery. He died Nov. 8, 1882, on Governor's Island, New York harbor.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL, business man, congressman, was born June 1, 1806, in Haddam, Conn. He received his education at Plainfield academy, in Connecticut, and Westfield academy, in Massachusetts; devoted the most of his life to agricultural pursuits, and to various interests of commerce. For many years he carried on one of the most extensive stone quarries in the union; was, for a number of years, president of the bank of East Haddam; served his native county in the legislature during the years 1839, 1842, 1844, and 1851; and was elected to the thirty-fifth congress.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL GREENE, was born April 12, 1821, in Providence, R. I. In 1862 he was again elected lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island, and was soon afterwards chosen senator in congress to fill a vacancy. He was the author of a History of Rhode Island; and Life of Patrick Henry. He died Feb. 12, 1880, in Providence, R. I.

ARNOLD, THOMAS D., congressman, was born May 23, 1798, in Spottsylvania county, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from Knox county, Tenn., from 1831 to 1833; and was elected for a second term, from 1841 to 1843, representing Greene county. He died May 26, 1870, in Jonesboro, Tenn.

ARNOLD, THOMAS H., journalist, poet, was born Dec. 26, 1857, in New Orleans, La. For three years he was connected with the Chattanooga Times, and is now editor of the Middleborough News, of which publication he is also president and manager. His poems have appeared in several standard collections.

ARNOLD, TRESSA RICHARDSON, evangelist, editor, was born May 9, 1864, in Lanesboro, Minn. In 1882 she graduated from the Emporia Commercial and Business college, and since that time has taken an active part as a teacher and Sunday school missionary, accepting an evangelist's license in 1885. In 1887 she married T. B. Arnold, the veteran journalist and book publisher of Chicago; and since then has been editor of the Light and Life series of Sunday school periodicals. Since 1888 she has been an assistant superintendent of the Chicago Industrial Home for Children, of which institution her husband is superintendent.

ARNOLD, WARREN O., manufacturer, congressman, was born June 3, 1839, in Coventry, R. I. He received his education in the public schools of his native state; was engaged in mercantile pursuits from 1857 to 1864; and from the latter date to 1866 was engaged in cotton manufacturing. Since that time he has been engaged in the manufacture of woollens. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ARNOLD, WILLIAM CARLILE, lawyer, congressman, was born July 15, 1851, in Luthersburg, Pa. He was educated in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts; was admitted to the bar in 1875 and has practiced law continuously since his admission; had never held any public office before his election to the fifty-fourth congress. He was re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ARNOT, JOHN, financier, congressman, was born March 31, 1831, in Elmira, N. Y. He was three times president of the village of Elmira, and was the first mayor after its incorporation; and was, subsequently, twice elected mayor. He became cashier of The Chemung Canal bank, in 1851, and continued in that position. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

ARNOT, MATTHIAS HOLLENBACK, capitalist, was born Nov. 10, 1832. As president of The Chemung Canal bank, a family institution, which has in every crisis proved itself as solid as The Bank of England, Mr. Arnot has sustained the financial credit of Elmira in every storm. His art gallery, which has cost not less than $300,000, is an evidence that his aspirations are higher and better than the mere love of gain. Among his practical interests are The Chemung Canal bank, The Sheldon Saddlery Co., Thomas Briggs and Co., brewers, The Junction Canal Co., The Seneca Lake Steam Navigation Co., The Chemung Plank Road Co., and The Elmira Industrial association, of most if not all of which he is the head.

ARRINGTON, ALFRED W., lawyer, author, poet, was born in September, 1810, in Iredell county, N. C. He was a prominent lawyer in the southwest, and later in Chicago. He was the author of The Rangers and Regulators of the Tan- aha; Sketches of the Southwest; and Poems, with Memoir. He died Dec. 31, 1867, in Chicago, Ill.

ARRINGTON, H. ARCHIBALD, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He represented that state in congress from 1841 to 1845, after which he retired to private life. His son, Alfred W. Arrington, attained distinction as a methodist preacher, a lawyer, and judge, and a writer for the magazines under the assumed name of Charles Summerfield.

ARROWSMITH, EUSEBIUS WAL-LING, lawyer, was born Oct. 3, 1869, in New York city. He is a successful lawyer of Freehold, N. J., and makes a specialty of criminal law. He is deputy county clerk, and takes an active part in democratic politics.

ARTHUR, CHESTER ALLAN, twenty-first president of the United States, was born Oct. 5, 1830, in Fairfield, Vt. He graduated at Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., 1849; taught school and was principal of the Pownal academy, Vermont. Studied law and was admitted to the bar, and was married to Miss Herndon. He was a delegate to the Saratoga convention when the republican party of New York was formed. Was judge-advocate of the second brigade of state militia before the war. In 1860 Governor Edwin D. Morgan appointed him engineer-in-chief on his staff and afterwards inspector-general and quartermaster-general, holding the latter office until the close of 1863. He practiced law in New York city until Nov. 20, 1871, when he was appointed collector of customs at that port, and reappointed in 1875. In 1877 he was chairman of the republican central committee of New York city, when President Hayes issued his order forbidding officers in the civil service from acting as political managers. Mr. Arthur neglected to comply with this order and was removed by the president in July, 1878. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1880, and a strong supporter of General Grant. He was nominated for vice-president on the first ballot, which stood for Chester A. Arthur, 468; E. B. Washburne, Illinois, 193; Marshall Jewell, Connecticut, 44; Horace Maynard, Tennessee, 30; B. K. Bruce, Mississippi, 8; J. L. Alcorn, Mississippi, 4; E. J. Davis, Texas, 2; Thomas Settle, North Carolina, 1; Stewart L. Woodford, New York, 1. Being elected he took the oath of office and became vice-president March 4, 1881. On being notified by the cabinet of the death of President Garfield, he took the oath of office as president at his own house in New York city, on Sept. 20, 1881, at two o'clock in the morning. On reaching Washington, Sept. 22, he again took the oath of office before Chief Justice Waite. The republican national convention met at Chicago, June 3, 1884. Those receiving the highest number of votes on the first ballot were James G. Blaine, 334½, and Chester A. Arthur, 278. On the fourth ballot Mr. Blaine was nominated. General Arthur retired from the presidency March 4, 1885, and died Nov. 18, 1886, in New York city.

ARTHUR, CHRISTOPHER, soldier, physician, public official, was born Sept. 16, 1833, in Highland county, Ohio. In 1862 he raised a company for the seventy-fifth Indiana volunteers, of which he was chosen captain. A few days later he was appointed surgeon of the regiment, which was assigned to the fourteenth army corps. With this command he served through the entire Atlanta campaign. At the battle of Chickamauga he was taken prisoner, and sent first to Atlanta, and finally to Libby prison. He has identified himself with the public schools of Camden, where he lived for some years, and is now president and a stockholder of the Citizens' bank. He has a very large and interesting collection of archæological specimens.

ARTHUR, JESSE, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 14, 1846, in Kershaw county, S. C. He attended a private school until September, 1863, when he entered the confederate army, and served through the war. He was made prisoner in front of Richmond on Aug. 15, 1864; and was released in March of the following year. In 1889 he moved to Washington territory, attained prominence as an able lawyer; and in 1892 was elected superior court judge of the state of Washington for Spokane county, which position he still holds.

ARTHUR, JOSEPH CHARLES, botanist, was born Jan. 11, 1850, in Lowville, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Iowa; studied four years at the Iowa Agricultural college, taking the degree of B. S.; then attended Cornell, receiving the degree D. Sc.; and also studied at Johns Hopkins, Harvard, and the university of Bonn. He has been instructor in botany at the Iowa Agricultural college, the university of Wisconsin; and during 1884-87 was botanist to the Agricultural Experiment station at Geneva, N. Y. Since 1887 he has been professor of vegetable physiology and pathology in Purdue university.

ARTHUR, TIMOTHY SHAY, journalist, author, was born in 1809 in Newburg, N. Y. He was a prolific writer of moral tales, with much more excellence of intention than literary merit to recommend them, but which have enjoyed a very extensive popularity. He was the author of Ten Nights in a Bar-Room; Six Nights with the Washingtonians; and Tales of Married Life, which are well known works. His life was nearly all spent in Philadelphia. He died March 6, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ARTHUR, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1796 in Antrim, Ireland. He was graduated at Belfast college, came to the United States, studied law for a short time, and was then called to the baptist ministry. After preaching in Vermont and western New York, he was settled as pastor of the Calvary baptist church of Albany, N. Y., where he remained from 1855 to 1863. He afterward removed to Schenectady, where he published a magazine called the Anti-quarian, to whose pages he contributed much curious learning on a variety of topics. He published an Etymological Dictionary of Family and Christian Names. Dr. Arthur was noted for his attainments in the classics and in history, both sacred and profane. His son, Chester Allan Arthur, was twenty-first president of the United States. He died Oct. 27, 1875, in Newtonville, N. Y.

ARTHUR, WILLIAM E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 3, 1825, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He removed with his parents to Covington, Ky., where he was educated; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1850. He was elected attorney for the ninth judicial district, and served from 1856 to 1862; was a presidential elector in 1860; elected judge of the ninth judicial district in 1866; and was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

ASBURY, A. EDGAR, banker, business man, was born Aug. 16, 1836, in Virginia. He received his education at the Rector college, Virginia, and at Allegheny college of Meadville, Pa. He served four years in the war and was captain in the confederate states army. This successful financier and business man has been the president of the American bank of Higginville, Mo., for the past twenty years.

ASBURY, FRANCIS, bishop of the methodist episcopal church, was born Aug. 20, 1745, in Handsworth, England. For thirty-two years, Bishop Asbury traveled yearly through the United States, ordaining not less than three thousand preachers, and preaching about seventeen thousand sermons. He died March 31, 1816, in Spottsylvania, Va.

ASH, MICHAEL W., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1837.

ASHBOTH, ALEXANDER SANDOR, general, was born Dec. 18, 1811, in Hungary. He served in the Austrian army, and afterwards devoted himself to engineering. In 1861 he offered his services to the government, and went as chief of Fremont's staff to Missouri; and was made a brigadier-general. In 1865 he was brevetted major-general for services in Florida; and was appointed minister to the Argentine Republic in 1866. He died Jan. 21, 1868, in Buenos Ayres.

ASHBURN, GEORGE W., soldier, was born in Georgia. During the civil war he was a strong opponent of secession, and raised a company of southern loyalists, subsequently enlarged to a regiment, of which he was colonel. On his return home after the war he boldly advocated the congressional plan of reconstruction. He was chosen a delegate to the Georgia constitutional convention of 1867, and did much toward perfecting the constitution of his state. He died April 1, 1868.

ASHBURN, JESSE ANDERSON, farmer, clergyman, state senator, was born Dec. 21, 1861, near Pilot Mountain, N. C. He is a farmer and a noted clergyman of Ashburn, N. C. As an orator he is well known in the south; where he is also prominent as a political speaker. In 1896 he was elected a member of the North Carolina state senate; has taken a prominent part in the deliberations of that body; at all times advocating with voice and pen all progressive measures in the interests of the commonwealth.

ASHBURNER, CHARLES ALBERT, geologist, was born Feb. 9, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1880 he was appointed geologist in charge of the survey of the anthracite coal fields, where he originated a method for surveying and representing the geology of this great coal-bed which has received the approbation of mining engineers and geologists both in the United States and in Europe. He died Dec. 24, 1889, in Pittsburg, Pa.

ASHBY, TURNER, soldier, was born in 1824, in Rose Hill, Va. He raised a regiment of cavalry, and made so distinguished a record as a cavalry officer, that he was appointed brigadier-general in the confederate provisional army in 1861. He died June 5, 1862.

ASHE, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1720, and was a general in the continental army. He died Oct. 24, 1781, in Sampson county, N. C.

ASHE, JOHN B., congressman, was born in 1748 in Rocky Point, N. C., and was a son of John Baptiste Ashe. He was elected a representative in congress from Tennessee, from 1843 to 1845, representing the tenth district. He died Nov. 27, 1802, in Halifax, N. C.

ASHE, JOHN BAPTISTE, congressman, governor, was born in 1748, in Rocky Point, N. C. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1787 and 1788; was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1790 to 1793; and was one of those who voted for locating the seat of government on the Potomac. He was elected governor of the state of North Carolina in 1801. He died Nov. 27, 1802, in Halifax, N. C.

ASHE, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born in 1725, in North Carolina, and was a brother of General John B. Ashe, of the old congress. He was a lawyer of ability, a citizen of exalted patriotism, and a soldier in emergencies. He was a leading member of the North Carolina congress; chief justice of the state from 1777 to 1796; and governor of North Carolina from 1795 to 1798. He died Feb. 3, 1813, in Rocky Point, N. C.

ASHE, SAMUEL A' COURT, lawyer, journalist, was born Sept. 13, 1840, near Wilmington, N. C. He attended the Georgetown Mathematical academy, Rugby academy, Oxford Military academy, and the United States Naval academy. He served as a captain in the confederate army; has been postmaster of Raleigh, N. C.; and chairman of the state democratic executive committee. He has attained prominence as a successful journalist and an able lawyer.

ASHE, THOMAS SAMUEL, lawyer, congressman, was born in Orange county, N. C. He graduated at the university of North Carolina in 1832; studied law and pursued that profession; and in 1842 was elected a member of the legislature of North Carolina. In 1847 he was elected solicitor of the fifth judicial district of North Carolina, and served in that capacity four years; in 1854 was elected to the state senate; in 1861 was elected to the house of representatives of the confederate states; to the senate of the confederate congress in 1864; and was one of the councilors of state in 1866; He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses.

ASHE, WILLIAM S., lawyer, congressman, was born in Wilmington, N. C., and was the son of John Baptiste Ashe. He was a lawyer by profession; served in the state legislature in 1846, and was re-elected in 1848. He was a representative in congress from 1849 to 1853. He was killed on a railroad in 1864, near Wilmington, N. C.

ASHHURST, JOHN, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 23, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1857, and at the medical department in 1860, and from 1862 till 1865 he served as acting assistant surgeon in the United States army. Since 1877 he has been professor of clinical surgery in the university of Pennsylvania, and he has been connected with several hospitals. He is the author of Injuries of the Spine; and Principles and Practice of Surgery; and the editor of Transactions of the International Medical Congress; and the International Encyclopædia of Surgery, in six volumes.

ASHLEY, CHESTER, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 1, 1790, in Westfield, Mass. He established himself in Little Rock, Ark., then a mere landing, and was chosen a senator in congress from Arkansas in 1844. He died April 27, 1848, in Washington City.

ASHLEY, CLARENCE DEGRAND, lawyer, was born July 21, 1851, in Boston, Mass. He organized the Metropolis Law school of New York city, and accepted a professorship in its faculty. He was appointed to the chair of contracts in University Law school; became vice-dean of its faculty and executive head of the evening department.

ASHLEY, DELOS R., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 19, 1828, in Arkansas. He went to California in 1849, where he held the office of district attorney in 1851-53; was a member of the California assembly in 1854-55; a state senator in 1856-57; and state treasurer in 1862-63. Early in 1864 he moved to Nevada, and was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. He died July 18, 1873, in San Francisco, Cal.

ASHLEY, HENRY, congressman, was born in Cheshire county, N. H. He was elected a representative in congress from Delaware and Greene counties, N. Y., from 1825 to 1827.

ASHLEY, JAMES M., lawyer, merchant, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 14, 1824, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1849 he was admitted to the bar of Ohio; but abandoned that profession for the business of boat building. He was also connected with the press for awhile; and subsequently went into the wholesale drug business in Toledo, Ohio. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. In 1866 he was a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention. He was subsequently appointed governor of the territory of Montana.

ASHLEY, OSSIAN D., soldier, railway president, was born April 9, 1821, in Townshend, Vt. In 1859 he was elected president of the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railroad Co., which position he still holds. For a number of years he was connected with the Boston Journal as its financial editor, and also a frequent contributor to the New York Tribune. He served in the civil war and attained the rank of colonel.

ASHLEY, WILLIAM H., congressman, governor, was born in 1778, in Powhatan county, Va. He was the first lieutenant-governor of Missouri, after it became a state; and was a representative in congress, from 1831 to 1837. He died March 26, 1838, in Boonville, Mo.

ASHMEAD, HENRY GRAHAM, lawyer, author, was born June 30, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was local editor of the Chester Evening News, The Delaware County Republican, and other newspapers. He is the author of History of Delaware County, Pa.; History of Pennsylvania; and Historical Sketches of Chester-on-Delaware.

ASHMEAD, ISSAC, printer, was born Dec. 22, 1790, in Germantown, Pa. He was apprenticed to William Bradford, and in 1821 founded what is now the oldest printing establishment in Philadelphia. He set up the first power-presses ever used in that city, and introduced composition rollers. He was one of the founders of the American Sunday School union, and printed its publications. He also aided in establishing the American Presbyterian and the Presbyterian Quarterly. He died March 1, 1870, in Philadelphia.

ASHMORE, JOHN D., congressman, was born Aug. 7, 1819, in Greenville, S. C. When quite young he filled various offices in the state militia; was a member of the South Carolina legislature in 1848, 1850, and 1852; in 1853 was elected comptroller-general of the state for two years and was re-elected for a second term. He was subsequently elected a representative from South Carolina to the thirty-sixth congress.

ASHMORE, OTIS, educator, astronomer, was born March 6, 1853, in Lincoln county, Ga. He has always been engaged in educational work. For ten years he was science teacher in the Savannah High school, and is now superintendent of schools of that city. He is the author of Grier's Almanac, the best known annual publication of the kind in the south; and has also attained prominence as a noted astronomer.

ASHMUN, ELI PORTER, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 24, 1770, in Blandford, Mass. He was a distinguished lawyer, and for several years a member of the house of representatives and senate of Massachusetts. In 1816 he was elected to succeed C. Gore as senator from that state in congress. He died May 10, 1819, in Northampton, Mass.

ASHMUN, GEORGE, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1804, in Blandford, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1823; studied law, and settled in Springfield in 1828; served in the state legislature during the years 1833, 1835, 1836, 1838, and 1841, officiating as speaker of the house in the latter year. He was a representative in congress from 1845 to 1851. In 1860 he was president of the Chicago convention; and in 1866 was chosen a delegate to the Philadelphia National Union convention. He died July 17, 1870, in Springfield, Mass.

ASHMUN, JEHUDI, missionary, author, was born April, 1794, in Champlain, N. Y. He was placed in charge of an expedition to reinforce the colony of Liberia; remained in the colony for six years, but in 1828 he was obliged to return home on account of ill-health. He was the author of a volume entitled Memoirs of Samuel Bacon. He died Aug. 25, 1828, in Boston, Mass.

ASHMUN, JOHN HOOKER, jurist, was born July 3, 1800, in Blandford, Mass. He was the son of Senator Eli P. Ashmun, was graduated at Harvard in 1818, and, on the establishment of the law department of that university, appointed its first professor, under the endowment of Isaac Royall. Prior to this he was associated with Judge Howe and Elijah J. Mills in establishing a law school in Northampton. He died April 1, 1833, in Cambridge, Mass.

ASHTON, J. HUBLEY, lawyer. He was a citizen of Pennsylvania, from which state he was, in 1864, appointed assistant attorney-general of the United States, serving three years. He was re-appointed in 1868, serving one year; and was subsequently associated with the court for the settlement of the Alabama claims.

ASPER, JOEL F., soldier, journalist, congressman, was born April 20, 1822, in Adams county, Pa. He studied law and came to the bar in 1844, writing frequently for the newspapers; was elected a justice of the peace in 1846, and in 1847 prosecuting attorney for his county. He was a delegate to the Buffalo convention of 1848; editor of the Western Reserve Chronicle in 1849, and of the Chardon Democrat in 1850. In 1861 he raised a company and was mustered into the volunteer army as captain, and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. In 1866 he started a paper at Chillicothe, Mo., called the Spectator, and, while editing that journal and practicing law, was, in 1868, elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-first congress. He died Oct. 1, 1872, in Chillicothe, Mo.

ASPINALL, NOVITAS B., physician and surgeon, was born Oct. 28, 1857, in Liverpool, England. He studied medicine under his father, Doctor R. H. Aspinall, a practicing physician of Liverpool, England. He graduated in 1879 from the college of Physicians and Surgeons in London; and after doing hospital work for two years, came to the United States and practiced in Chicago, where he was a medical director in Dr. Borton's sanitarium. In 1892 he moved to Plymouth, Ind., where he is city physician, and surgeon in the county infirmary. Dr. Aspinall is a member of the Indiana State Medical society; the American Medical association, and other prominent medical bodies.

ASPINWALL, THOMAS, soldier, was born May 23, 1786, in Brookline, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1804, and studied law with William Sullivan. He was major of the ninth United States infantry in the war of 1812, and for gallant conduct at Sackett's Harbor received the brevet of lieutenant-colonel, and that of colonel for the sortie from Fort Erie, in which he lost an arm. From 1815 to 1853 he was United States consul at London. He died Aug. 11, 1876.

ASTOR, JOHN JACOB, merchant, was born July 17, 1763, in Germany. His occupation was the purchase of furs from the Indian tribes and the shipment of them to Europe. The greatest venture of Mr. Astor was the founding of Astoria at the mouth of the Columbia river in 1809. He planted there a fort and a settlement, in person, won the friendship of the Indian tribes, and, during his four years of control, carried on a large trade. He also founded the Astor library of New York by his bequest of $400,000. At an early period it became necessary for Mr. Astor to employ ships of his own in exporting furs to Europe. The return of these vessels laden with merchandise led him into an extensive foreign trade. He gradually acquired a large fleet, and his ships ploughed every ocean of the globe and carried cargoes both to and from England, Germany, France, Russia, China and America, the cargoes usually being purchased and sold on Mr. Astor's account. He died March 29, 1848, in New York city.

ASTOR, JOHN JACOB, third of the name, soldier, capitalist, was born June 10, 1823, in New York city, and was a son of William B. Astor. At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Astor enlisted as a volunteer, and served with credit on the staff of General McClellan. After the war he remained in business with his father. After his father's death in 1875, Mr. Astor increased his inheritance by continuing the purchase and improvement of real estate. At his death he was the largest owner of real estate in New York city, aside from the Trinity Church corporation. His estate was estimated variously between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000, the bulk of it going to his son, William Waldorf Astor, now the head of the family. He gave legacies of $400,000 to The Astor library, $100,000 each to St. Luke's and the Cancer hospitals, and other sums to kindred public objects. He died Feb. 22, 1890, in New York city.

ASTOR, JOHN JACOB, fourth of the name, capitalist, was born July 13, 1864, at Ferncliff, N. Y., and a son of William Astor. The influence of his name has been sought by financial institutions and he is a director in The National Park bank, The Title Guarantee and Trust Co., The Mercantile Trust Co., The Illinois Central railway, The Second National bank, and The Plaza bank. Already the possessor of many buildings in this city, Mr. Astor's civic pride, energy and business sagacity combined promise to place upon the island of Manhattan several splendid buildings during the long business career which is before him. Various plans are now in contemplation. He is fond of the study of science and philosophy, and he has written a book entitled A Journey in Other Worlds: A Romance of the Future, which was superbly illustrated.

ASTOR, WILLIAM, capitalist, was born July 12, 1829, in New York city, and a son of William B. Astor. In 1875 a visit to Florida awoke his interest in the vast undeveloped resources of that state; and it is believed that his enterprise, during the next ten years, accomplished more for Florida than that of any of his contemporaries. He built a railroad from St. Augustine to Palatka, constructed several modern blocks of buildings in Jacksonville, and led other men of means to join in the work of re-creating a new Florida in place of the old one. His services were so valuable that the state government voted him a grant of eighty thousand acres of land. He died April 25, 1892, in Paris, France.

ASTOR, WILLIAM BACKHOUSE, merchant, was born Sept. 19, 1792, in New York. Upon his father's death Mr. Astor became the sole heir of an immense estate. Thereafter he devoted himself to the preservation and growth of his property. He was a progressive man and one of the most active builders of his generation. It was said in 1867 that he had inherited and built seven hundred and twenty dwellings and stores in this city. He had also promoted important railroad and insurance enterprises. He added $250,000 to the endowment of the Astor library, and made a total of $550,000 in gifts to that institution. His estate was divided mainly and equally between his sons, John Jacob and William Astor. He died Nov. 24, 1875, in New York city.

ASTOR, WILLIAM WALDORF, millionaire, was born March 31, 1848, in New York city, N. Y. He was chiefly educated by private tutors at his home, and in Europe; and graduated from Columbia college law school in 1875. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1878; a state senator in 1880 and 1881; and was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Italy in 1882-85. He is the proprietor of the Pall Mall Gazette, of London, England; and the author of two books.

ATCHESON, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, was born Feb. 24, 1853, in Gene-see county, N. Y. He received a thorough education, and is a graduate of the Chicago Theological seminary. He has attained success as a clergyman, and now fills a pastorate in Bloomer, Wis. He has contributed valuable articles to the religious press.

ATCHISON, DAVID R., lawyer, United States senator, was born Aug. 11, 1807, in Frogtown, Ky. He was educated for the bar; removed to Missouri in 1830; and was elected to the legislature of that state in 1834 and 1838. In 1841 he was appointed judge of the Platte county circuit court; and during the year 1843 was appointed a senator in congress, to which position he was subsequently elected for two successive terms, serving until 1855. He died in 1886.

ATHERTON, CHARLES GORDON, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 4, 1804, in Amherst, N. H. He graduated at Cambridge in 1822; studied law; and was for many years in the legislature of New Hampshire, and for three years speaker of the house. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1843; a United States senator in congress from 1843 to 1849; and in 1852 was elected a United States senator to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 15, 1853, in Manchester, N. H.

ATHERTON, CHARLES HUMPHREY, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1773, in Amherst, N. H. He graduated at Harvard college in 1794; held the office of register of probate from 1798 to 1807; and was a representative in congress from 1815 to 1817. He stood at the head of the bar in Hillsboro county for many years; and was a member of the state legislature in 1823, and again in 1838 and 1839. He died Jan. 8, 1853, in Amherst, N. Y.

ATHERTON, GEORGE W., soldier, college president, was born June 20, 1837, in Boxford, Mass. He graduated from Yale college in 1863, and was appointed first lieutenant of the tenth Connecticut volunteers, and remained in command of his company through the battles of Roanoke and Newbern. In 1882 he became president of the Pennsylvania State college at Harrisburg, Pa.

ATHERTON, GERTRUDE, author, was born Oct. 30, 1857, in San Francisco, Cal. She is a grand-niece of Benjamin Franklin, and the author of What Dreams May Come; Hermia Suydam; The Dooms-woman; Before the Gringo Came; A Whirl Asunder; Patience Sparhawk and Her Times; His Fortunate Grace; and Valiant Runaways.

ATHERTON, GIBSON, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1831, in Licking county, Ohio. He graduated at Miami university, Ohio, in 1853; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1855; and engaged in practice at Newark, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney from 1857 to 1863; was mayor from 1860 to 1864; was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1876; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

ATHERTON, JOSHUA, lawyer, legislator, was born June 20, 1737, in Harvard, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1762; studied law, and began practice in Petersham. Shortly afterward he removed to Litchfield, and in 1773, having been appointed register of probate in Hillsborough county, he settled in Amherst. He became a member of the convention appointed to consider the federal constitution, and opposed its adoption on account of the provisions concerning slaves and slavery. Subsequently he was elected to the New Hampshire legislature, and in 1793 he was made attorney-general of the state. He was also for a time commissioner for the United States direct tax. He died April 3, 1809, in Amherst, Mass.

ATKINS, JOHN D. C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 4, 1825, in Henry county, Tenn. He graduated at the East Tennessee university in 1846; studied law; and was elected a member of the legislature in 1849 and in 1851. He was elected to the state senate in 1855; chosen a presidential elector in 1856; elected a representative in congress in 1857; and was a presidential elector in 1860. He was lieutenant-colonel of the fifth Tennessee regiment in the confederate army in 1861; was elected to the confederate provisional congress in August, 1861, and re-elected in 1863. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, and forty-seventh congresses; and in 1885 was appointed commissioner of Indian affairs.

ATKINSON, ARCHIBALD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1792, in the Isle of Wight county, Va. Upon leaving the army he commenced the practice of law in Smithfield, and was a member of the general assembly from 1815 to 1817, and also of the house of delegates and state senate for several years. In 1843 he was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, and served until 1848; was a member of the committee on naval affairs and commerce; was prosecuting attorney for his county twenty years; mayor of Smithfield; and a magistrate. He died Jan. 10, 1872, in Isle of Wight, Va.

ATKINSON, BYRON A., business man, was born in 1854 in Sackville, N. B. He is the owner of the largest housefurnishing establishment in the United States in the city of New York.

ATKINSON, CLARENCE T., lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 23, 1863, in Columbus, N. J. He graduated from the Columbus seminary and from the Adelphi institute of Bordentown, N. J. He received the nomination as a member of the New Jersey legislature in 1886, and ran ahead of his ticket, but failed to carry enough votes to secure election. He has participated in three presidential campaigns, and earned a reputation as an able and eloquent orator. Since 1886 he has steadily refused to accept any public office. He is an astute and prominent lawyer of Camden, N. J., and a member of the law firm of Gilbert and Atkinson. As a lecturer he is well known throughout the east, and has contributed numerous articles to law literature and the periodical press; and many of his productions have been incorporated into standard publications.

ATKINSON, EDWARD, author, was born Feb. 10, 1827, in Brookline, Mass. He is a Boston reformer, active in matters of diet and political economy; and the author of The Distribution of Products; Labor and Capital; Industrial Progress of the Nation; The Science of Nutrition; Margin of Profits; and Taxation and Work.

ATKINSON, GEORGE H., missionary, was born May 10, 1819, in Newburyport, Mass. In 1872 Dr. Atkinson became general missionary for Oregon, and in 1880 superintendent of home missions for Oregon and Washington. He died Feb. 25, 1889, in Portland, Ore.

ATKINSON, GEORGE W., lawyer, author, governor, was born June 29, 1845, in Virginia. In 1870 he graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university; took a post-graduate course at Mount Vernon college; studied law two years; attended lectures at Columbian university; graduated from the law department of Howard university; and was admitted to the bar in 1875. He has been eminently successful as a lawyer; was four years United States marshal for West Virginia; was elected to the fifty-first congress from Virginia as the representative of the Wheeling district; and in 1896 was elected to the high office of governor of West Virginia. In conjunction with Alvaro F. Gibbons, he is the author of Prominent Men of West Virginia; a Volume of Poems; and a half-dozen other works.

ATKINSON, HENRY, soldier, was born in South Carolina. He entered the army as captain in 1808. He was retained in the army after the war of 1812; was made adjutant-general, and was finally appointed to the command of the western army. He died in June, 1842, in Jefferson barracks.

ATKINSON, HENRY MORRELL, soldier, lawyer, public official, was born Sept. 9, 1838, in Wheeling, W. Va. He removed to Ohio in 1846, with his parents; was educated chiefly at the Denverson university, Ohio, and in Connecticut; removed to Nebraska in 1857, and engaged in the land agency business; studied law and came to the bar in 1861. He served as adjutant of cavalry, and in 1864 became provost-marshal for southern Nebraska. From 1867 to 1871 was register of the land office in Nebraska; subsequently turned his attention to the law and railroad building; in 1873 was appointed a special commissioner to Mexico; and in 1875 was appointed commissioner of pensions in Washington.

ATKINSON, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 6, 1835, in Deerfield, N. J. He is a clergyman of prominence in the methodist church; and the author of The Living Way; Memorials of Methodism in New Jersey; The Garden of Sorrows; The Class Leader; and Centennial History of American Methodism.

ATKINSON, JOHN M. P., educator, college president, was born Jan. 10, 1817, in Mansfield, Va. In 1857-83 he was elected president of the Hampden Sidney college. He died in 1883.

ATKINSON, LOUIS E., physician, lawyer, congressman, was born April 16, 1841, in Juniata county, Pa. He was educated in the common schools and at Airy View and Milwood academies; studied medicine, and graduated at the medical department of the University of the City of New York, March 4, 1861. He entered the medical department. United States army, Sept. 5, 1861; served as assistant surgeon of the first Pennsylvania reserve cavalry, and surgeon of the one hundred and eighty-eighth Pennsylvania infantry, and was mustered out in December, 1865; was disabled while in the army, and, being unable to practice medicine, studied law; was admitted to the bar in September, 1870, and has practiced law since that time. He was elected to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, and fifty-second congresses.

ATKINSON, THEODORE, soldier, jurist, was born Dec. 20, 1697, in New Castle, N. H. He graduated at Harvard university in 1718; was secretary of the colony in 1741; chief justice in 1754, and major-general of militia in 1769, but the revolution deprived him of all these offices. He was a delegate to the congress at Albany in 1754, and was one of the committee that drew up the plan of Union for the defense of the colonies. He was for many years in the legislature and council; also held the office of clerk of the court of common pleas; was colonel of militia, and in active service during the French and Indian wars. He died Sept. 22, 1779.

ATKINSON, THOMAS, bishop, was born Aug. 6, 1807, in Mansfield, Va. He was elected bishop of North Carolina in 1853. He attended the general convention of the episcopal church in 1865, and did much to hasten the reunion of the northern and southern dioceses. He died Jan. 4, 1881, in Wilmington, N. C.

ATKINSON, WILLIAM BIDDLE, physician, author, was born June 21, 1832, in Haverford, Delaware county, Pa. He was educated in Philadelphia, and graduated from the Central high school; and in 1853 graduated from the Jefferson Medical college. He has written many articles for medical journals on subjects in general practice and the diseases of children. He is author of The Physician and Surgeons of the United States; Hints in the Obstetric Procedure; Therapeutics of Gynæcology and Obstetric; and various other works. Dr. Atkinson has been the permanent secretary of the American Medical association since 1864, and of the State Medical society of Pennsylvania since 1862. He was lecturer on Diseases of Children at the Jefferson Medical college during 1877-86; professor of sanitary science and pediatrics in the Medico-Chirurgical college of Philadelphia during 1888-91. During the civil war he was assistant surgeon of United States volunteers. He is also the associate editor of the Medical and Surgical Reporter of Philadelphia; and contributes extensively to medical journals.

ATKINSON, WILLIAM ELRIE, lawyer, was born July 24, 1852, in Shelby county, Ala. He has attained success as a noted lawyer; in 1885 was a delegate to the congressional convention, and was one of the leading spirits in founding the Ouachita Baptist college at Arkadelphia.

ATKINSON, WILLIAM PARSONS, educator, author, was born in 1820 in Massachusetts, and was a brother of E. Atkinson. He was a professor of history at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and the author of The Right Use of Books; History and the Study of History; and Classical and Scientific Studies. He died in 1890.

ATLEE, JOHN LIGHT, was born Nov. 2, 1799, in Pennsylvania. Dr. Atlee's operation for double ovariectomy in 1843 was the first in the history of medicine. He was one of the founders of the Lancaster City and County Medical society in 1843, and twice served as its president. He assisted in organizing the Pennsylvania Medical society in 1848, and became its president in 1857, and was also one of the organizers of the American Medical association in Philadelphia, and was elected vice-president in 1865, and president in 1882. At the union of Franklin and Marshall colleges, in 1853, he became professor of anatomy and physiology, and continued there until 1869. He died Oct. 1, 1885, in Pennsylvania.

AT LEE, SAMUEL JOHN, soldier, statesman, was born in 1738. He commanded a Pennsylvania company in the French war; and in 1776 commanded an advanced battalion on Long Island; was made prisoner and remained some time in the hands of the British. He was afterward a commissioner to treat with the Indians; was a delegate to the continental congress from 1778 to 1782, and one of the committee on the meeting of Pennsylvania troops in 1781. He died November, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ATLEE, WASHINGTON LEMUEL, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 22, 1808, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a noted surgeon of Philadelphia, and the author of Ovarian Tumors and Ovariectomy. He died Sept. 6, 1878.

ATTWOOD, JULIUS, banker, was born Feb. 23, 1824, in East Haddam, Conn. In 1859 he was elected judge of the probate court; from 1873-74 was a member of the general assembly of Connecticut; and in 1883 was elected president of the National bank of New England.

ATWATER, AMZI, pioneer, was born May 23, 1776, in New Haven, Conn. He settled in Mantua, Ohio, in 1800; and on the organization of Portage county was elected one of the county judges. He died June 22, 1851.

ATWATER, CALEB, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Dec. 25, 1778, in North Adams, Mass. He was graduated at Williams college in 1804; studied law, and became a successful practitioner. He moved to Ohio in 1811, where for some years he was a member of the state legislature and postmaster of Circleville. He was also Indian commissioner under Jackson. He published A Tour to Prairie du Chien; Western Antiquities; Writings of Caleb Atwater; History of Ohio; and an Essay on Education. He died March 13, 1867, in Circleville, Ohio.

ATWATER, FRANCIS, author, journalist and publisher, was born in Plymouth, Conn. He learned the printing trade early in life, and in 1886 established and became president of the Journal Publishing company, of Meriden, Conn., proprietor of the Meriden Daily News, and Connecticut School Journal. He is the author of the Histories of Plymouth, Conn., and Kent, Conn.

ATWATER, HORACE COWLES, clergyman, author, was born in 1819 in New York. He was a clergyman of the Methodist church, south, and published Incidents of a Southern Tour. He died in 1879.

ATWATER, JOHN W., farmer, state senator, was born Dec. 27, 1840. He served in the first North Carolina regiment throughout the war, surrendering with Lee at Appomattox. When the Farmers' Alliance was organized in Chat-ham county, N. C., he served as president two terms, and afterward for two terms as president of the sub-alliance. Has represented his people for three terms in the state senate.

ATWATER, LYMAN HOTCHKISS, educator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1813, in New Haven, Conn. He was a professor of philosophy at Princeton college, and long a noted contributor to the Princeton Review; and the author of A Manual of Elementary Logic. He died Feb. 17, 1883, in Princeton, N. J.

ATWATER, WILBUR OLIN, educator, author, was born May 3, 1844, in Johnsbury, N. Y. He has been professor of chemistry at Wesleyan university since 1873. He has written extensively upon agricultural chemistry, and published Co-operative Experimenting as a Means of Studying the Effect of Fertilizers; and Results of Field Experiments with Various Fertilizers.

ATWELL, WILLIAM HAWLEY, lawyer, orator, was born June 9, 1869, in La Crosse, Wis. He attended the Dallas public schools, Texas; the Southwestern university, and the State university. In 1889 he was assistant attorney of Dallas county; in 1894 was nominee for attorney-general of Texas. He has been secretary of the State Republican league; of the National Committeemen league in 1896; and is a prominent member in various societies. He is one of the finest speakers in the south, his oratory being strong, sparkling and convincing.

ATWILL, EDWARD ROBERT, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 18, 1840, in Red Hook, N. Y. He received his education at the Hudson

Classical institute; graduated from Columbia college in 1862; and was ordained in 1864, and consecrated a bishop in 1890. He was rector of St. Paul's church of Burlington, Vt.; and in 1882 became rector of the Trinity church of Toledo, Ohio. Since 1890 he has been bishop of west Missouri, residing in Kansas City. He has contributed valuable articles to church literature and the secular press.

ATWOOD, ANTHONY, clergyman, author, was born in 1801 in New Jersey. He was a Methodist clergyman, whose only published work is The Abiding Comforter. He died in 1888.

ATWOOD, ETHEL, musician, was born Sept. 12, 1870, in Fairfield, Maine. She has attained success in orchestral work in Boston, Mass. She organized the Fadette Ladies' orchestra, which now has thirteen regular members in the orchestra, which is in constant demand.

ATWOOD, HARRISON HENRY, architect, congressman, was born Aug. 20, 1863, in North Londonderry, Vt. He attended the public schools, graduating in 1877; studied architecture and began practice in 1886; has erected many buildings in and about Boston. He was elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1887-89; was elected twice as delegate to republican national conventions, 1888 and 1892; was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ATWOOD, ISAAC MORGAN, clergyman, author, was born March 24, 1838, in Pembroke, N. Y. He was educated at Lockport, N. Y.; entered the universalist ministry in 1859, and was pastor of churches in New York, Maine, and Massachusetts. Since 1879 he has been president of Canton Theological seminary, St. Lawrence university, where he is also professor of theology and ethics. The degree of A. M. was conferred on him by St. Lawrence university in 1872, and that of D. D. by Tufts in 1879. He was editor of the Boston Universalist in 1867-72, and of the Christian Leader in 1873-75; and has been associate editor of the latter journal since 1875. He is the author of Have We Outgrown Christianity; Glance at the Religious Progress of the United States; Latest Word of Universalism; Walks About Zion; and Manual of Revelation.

ATWOOD, WILLIAM A., merchant, state senator, was born April 11, 1835, in Newfane, N. Y. For the past ten years he has been director and vice-president of the Genesee County Savings bank, and in 1881 he was elected mayor of Flint, Mich. He was elected to the Michigan state senate in 1887.

AUBRY, LEANDER J., manufacturer, was born May 1, 1848, in Canada. He is a successful carriage manufacturer of New Haven, Conn.; and manufactures carriages for the best makers in the United States; carries the leading styles of both light and heavy work, and makes special and exclusive designs.

AUDENRIED, JOSEPH C., soldier, was born Nov. 6, 1839, in Pottsville, Pa. He served through the civil war and was brevetted captain in 1866; lieutenant-colonel, aide-de-camp, in 1866; and colonel aide-de-camp, in 1869. He remained on Gen. Sherman's staff until his death. He died June 3, 1880, in Washington, D. C.

AUDSLEY, GEORGE ASHDOWN, architect, author, was born in 1838 in Scotland. He is a Scottish architect and art writer of note of Plainfield, N. J. With his brother, William James Audsley, he has published Colour in Dress; a Manual for Ladies; Floral Decoration of Churches; Cottage, Lodge, and Village Architecture; Outlines of Ornament in the Leading Styles; Popular Dictionary of Architecture and the Allied Arts, in ten volumes; Polychromatic Decoration as Applied to Buildings in the Mediæval Styles; and (with James Lord Bowes) The Ceramic Art of Japan. His separate works include Guide to the Art of Illuminating and Missal Painting; Handbook of Christian Symbolism; The Art of Chromo-Lithography; Notes on Japanese Art; and The Ornamental Arts of Japan.

AUDUBON, JOHN JAMES, naturalist, author, was born May 4, 1780, near New Orleans, La. His admirable work, The Birds of America, now in the Astor library, sold for $1,000 a copy, and was pronounced by Cuvier to be the most magnificent monument that art ever raised to ornithology. His other works are Ornithological Biography; and Quadrupeds of America. He died Jan. 27, 1851, in New York city.

AUGHEY, JOHN H., educator, clergyman, college president, was born May 8, 1828, in New Hartford, N. Y. He graduated from the Franklin college, Ohio, and for nearly half a century has been a minister of the gospel. For many years he was principal of the high school of Winchester, Ky.; has served as president of the Female college, Miss.; and is now pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Mulhall, O. T. He is the author of two works entitled Tupeh, and Spiritual Gems.

AUGUR, CHRISTOPHER COLON, soldier, was born in 1821 in New York. In 1843 he graduated from West Point; and during the next two years served on frontier duty. In 1846 he took part in the Mexican war in the advance to the Rio Grande. In 1852 he was promoted captain; and served with great ability in the Indian troubles in Oregon during 1855-56. He served with distinction through the civil war; and in 1865 received the brevet of brigadier-general; and also the brevet of major-general. He commanded at Washington during 1863-66, and was promoted colonel of the twelfth infantry. In 1869 he was made brigadier-general of the United States army; and was retired in 1885. His son, Jacob Arnold Augur, is also a graduate of West Point, and a captain in the fifth United States cavalry.

AUGUR, HEZEKIAH, sculptor, was born Feb. 12, 1791, in New Haven, Conn. He was unsuccessful in business, and turned his attention to sculpture and mechanical inventions. His best work, Jeptha and His Daughter, is in the Trumbull gallery, Yale college. His most important invention was a machine for carving wood, which came into general use. He died Jan. 10, 1858, in New Haven, Conn.

AUGUSTIN, JOHN, soldier, author, was born Feb. 11, 1838, in New Orleans, La. His volume, War Flowers, is a collection of poems that were written by him during his service in the confederate army. He held at different times the city editorship of nearly every newspaper of New Orleans. He died Feb. 5, 1888.

AUGUSTINE, OGDEN W., musician, composer, was born in 1841 in Franklin county, Ohio. He was educated under private teachers. He is teacher of voice culture and music in the public schools; and the author of a considerable number of Sunday school singing books and works for classes and musical conventions.

AUGUSTUS, JOHN, philanthropist, was born in 1785. He was a shoemaker, doing business in Boston, and devoted his means and his labors to aiding and reclaiming the poor and the vicious. For more than twenty years he was a constant visitor to the police courts, seeking subjects for his charitable efforts. He died June 21, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

AUHL, MRS. ALICE B., florist, poet. Her poems are generally on floral subjects, and have appeared extensively in the press of Iowa. She is also the author of a work on the subject of Flowers.

AULD, ISAAC N., lawyer, journalist, was born March 20, 1858, in Benton county, Iowa. He graduated from the Tillford Collegiate academy of Vinton, Iowa. In 1882 he moved to Plankinton, S. D., where he was city auditor for three terms. In 1892 he moved to Oacoma, and there established the Gazette-Leader, of which he is editor and owner. He was twice elected register of deeds; and then became state's attorney for the district comprising five adjoining counties.

AULICK, JOHN H., naval officer, was born in 1789, in Winchester, Va. In 1851 he was empowered to obtain permission to purchase supplies for the United States steamers in Japan, and to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce with that empire; and commenced the important work which was completed by Commodore M. C. Perry. He died April 27, 1873, in Washington, D. C.

AULL, ELBERT H., lawyer, journalist, author, was born Aug. 18, 1857, in Newberry county, S. C. In 1880 he graduated from the Newberry college. He taught school after graduation, and for two years was professor in the Newberry college. In 1882 he was admitted to the bar, and for three years practiced that profession with success. In 1886 he became the editor and owner of the Newberry Herald News. He was president of the South Carolina Press association for three years; and is the author of several historical works; a School History of South Carolina; and other works.

AULT, JOHN S., soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 3, 1841, in New Philadelphia, Mo. He received his education in the public schools of Illinois; and graduated from the Colonel Wing Law school of Salem, Mo. He has been a lieutenant of cavalry, justice of the peace, mayor of Salem, Mo.; besides filling numerous other offices of trust. He has attained success as an able lawyer of his state.

AULTMAN, CORNELIUS, manufacturer, was born March 10, 1827. In 1851 he entered into partnership with Ephraim Ball, an ingenious inventor, in the firm of Ball, Aultman and Co., and engaged in the manufacture of the plows and stoves patented by Mr. Ball. Being a man of marked executive ability, Mr. Aultman devoted his attention to the general affairs of the firm, while Mr. Ball continued to invent new devices, which the firm took charge of and manufactured. The Ohio mower, the World mower and reaper, the Buckeye mower, and the New American harvester were brought out successively, and were manufactured in enormous quantities. After 1872 the style was changed to C. Aultman and Co. Having accumulated more means than could be employed to advantage in his own business, Mr. Aultman invested his surplus resources in various industrial concerns, including the Wrought Iron Bridge company, the Mansfield Mower and Reaper works, and Aultman, Miller and Co., of Akron, Ohio. He died Dec. 25, 1884, in Canton, Ohio.

AURINGER, OBADIAH CYRUS, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1849, in Glens Falls, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman of New York state, whose writings in verse include Scythe and Sword; The Heart of the Golden Roan; The Episode of Jane McCrea; and The Book of the Hills.

AUSTEN, PETER TOWNSEND, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1852, in Clifton, N. Y. He has been professor of chemistry at Rutgers college since 1877; and has contributed much to scientific journals, and published Chemical Lecture Notes; and Organic Chemistry, from the German of Pinner.

AUSTILL, HURIEOSCO, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 16, 1843, in Mobile, Ala., which has always been his place of residence. He graduated from the university of Alabama, and soon attained success as an eminent lawyer. During the war he served as a captain in the confederate army. He has been a member of the Alabama state senate, and served with distinction in that body.

AUSTIN, ARCHIBALD, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1817 to 1819.

AUSTIN, ARTHUR E., business man, legislator, was born July 23, 1868, in Providence, R. I. He was educated in the public schools of said city; has been for the past two years a member of the town council, and representative since 1896; and in 1897 was elected a member of the Rhode Island state legislature.

AUSTIN, ARTHUR WILLIAMS, lawyer, author, was born in 1807, in Massachusetts. He was a lawyer of Boston; and the author of The Woman and the Queen; and Other Specimens of Verse. He died in 1884.

AUSTIN, BENJAMIN, merchant, author, was born Nov. 18, 1752, in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston merchant, active as a political writer, and an especially violent champion of democracy. Constitutional Republicanism is a collection of some of his contributions to the newspapers of his day. He died May 4, 1820, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, COE FINCH, botanist, author, was born June 20, 1831, in Finchville, N. Y. He was a botanist of Closter, N. Y.; and published Musci Appalachiani, a description of American mosses. He died March 18, 1880, in Closter, N. Y.

AUSTIN, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born in 1760 in New Haven, Conn. He was graduated at Yale college in 1779; and in 1788 was settled as the presbyterian minister in Elizabethtown, N. J. He published The American Preacher, by various ministers; The Downfall of Babylon; a Commentary on the Bible; and several millennial pamphlets and sermons. He died Feb. 5, 1831, in Norwich, Conn.

AUSTIN, FREDERICK ELLSWORTH, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 6, 1865, in Taunton, Mass. He served in the city council of Taunton, Mass., where he has attained prominence as a political leader. In 1894 he was elected as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature.

AUSTIN, GEORGE CURTIS, lawyer, legislator, was born July 19, 1863, in Saluria, Pa. He is engaged in the practice of law in New York city, and was until recently instructor in the law contracts at the New York Law school. He was elected a member of the New York assembly in 1895.

AUSTIN, GEORGE LOWELL, physician, author, was born in 1849 in Massachusetts. He was a Boston physician whose miscellaneous writings include Perils of American Women, a Doctor's Talk with Maiden, Wife, and Mother; Water Analysis, a Handbook for Water-Drinkers; Under the Tide; Life of Franz Schubert; Popular History of Massachusetts; Life and Deeds of General Grant; Longfellow; and Life of Wendell Phillips. He died in 1893.

AUSTIN, HARRIET BUNKER, author, poet; was born Dec. 29, 1844, in Erie, Pa. Her great-grandfather, Benjamin Bunker, was a soldier of the revolution, and was killed in the battle of Bunker Hill. The hill from which the battle was named comprised part of the Bunker estate. She received her education in the Woodstock High school and Dr. Todd's Female seminary. She has been a prolific writer; and many of her poems have been set to music. She is the wife of Mr. W. B. Austin, a prosperous merchant of Woodstock, Ill., in which city she lends her influence to every reform.

AUSTIN, HELEN VICKROY, journalist, horticulturist, was born in 1829, in Miamiburg, Ohio. As a writer of sketches and essays, and as a reporter and correspondent she has exhibited marked capacity; but she is best known by her writings for the agricultural and horticultural press.

AUSTIN, HENRY, lawyer, author, was born in 1856 in Massachusetts. He is a lawyer of Boston, who has written The Law Concerning Farms; American Farm and Game Laws; American Fish and Game Laws; and Liquor Law in New England.

AUSTIN, HENRY WILLARD, journalist, poet, was born in 1858. He is a journalist of Boston, and the author of Vagabond Verses.

AUSTIN, HORACE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor of Minnesota, was born in 1831 in Connecticut. He received an academic education; taught school; removed to Maine, and there studied law. In 1856 he removed to Minnesota, where he practiced his profession. He served as a captain against the Indians in 1863; in 1864 was elected a district judge; in 1869 was elected governor of Minnesota, and re-elected for a second term. On account of his health he retired to private life until 1876, when he was appointed third auditor of the United States treasury in Washington.

AUSTIN, JAMES TRECOTHICK, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 7, 1784, in Boston, Mass. He was a prominent lawyer of Boston, and published a Life of Elbridge Gerry. He died May 8, 1870, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, JANE GOODWIN, novelist, was born Feb. 25, 1831, in Worcester, Mass. She was the author of Standish of Standish; Betty Alden; The Nameless Nobleman; Dr. LeBaron and His Daughters; and various other works. She was also the author of numerous meritorious poems; and her contributions to the literature of early New England possess a rare value. She died March 30, 1894, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, JONATHAN LORING, patriot, was born Jan. 2, 1748, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1766, and became a merchant in Portsmouth, N. H. He was secretary to the Massachusetts board of war until October, 1777, and was sent to France with dispatches to Dr. Franklin announcing the defeat of Burgoyne and asking for clothing and stores for the army. He was a state senator for several terms, and elected state treasurer, and subsequently secretary of state. He died May 10, 1826, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, JONATHAN WILLIAMS, soldier, was born April 18, 1751, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1769; studied law in the office of John Adams, and admitted to the bar in 1772. In the Middlesex convention in 1774 he was chairman of the committee that drew up the resolutions. He served as a major in the revolutionary war, and was commandant at Castle William in 1776. He died in 1778 in the south.

AUSTIN, MOSES, Texan pioneer, was born in Durham, Conn. He removed to the west in 1798, and engaged in lead mining. In 1820 he went to Texas, and from Bexar forwarded to the Mexican commandant at Monterey a petition for permission to colonize three hundred American families in that section. Returning to Missouri in search of emigrants, he was robbed and exposed to hardships that caused his death. The Mexican authorities granted a tract of land for a colony, and his son, Stephen F. Austin, founded the settlement. He died June 10, 1821, in Louisiana.

AUSTIN, SAMUEL, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 7, 1760, in New Haven, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Worcester, Mass., 1790-1815, and afterwards president of the University of Vermont. He was the author of Views of the Church; Theological Essays; and Letters on Baptism. He died Dec. 4, 1830, in Glastonbury, Conn.

AUSTIN, STEPHEN F., founder of the state of Texas, was born about 1790. In 1821 he conducted a party of emigrants from New Orleans to take possession of a tract of land granted to his father by the Mexican government, and they settled where the city of Austin now stands. In 1833 the Texas colonists formed a constitution, and applied for admission to the Mexican confederacy, but Mexico being in a state of anarchy, he failed to find recognition. In 1835 he went as commissioner to the United States to promote the liberation of Texas from Mexico, but did not live to see it admitted into the Union. He died Dec. 27, 1836, in Texas.

AUSTIN, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born March 2, 1778, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a Boston lawyer whose best claim to remembrance is that he was author of the famous sketch Peter Rugg, the Missing Man, which appeared in the New England Galaxy in 1824. It is a very remarkable imaginative study that in some respects anticipates the later work of Hawthorne. Other works of his are Letters from London; and The Human Character of Jesus Christ. He died June 27, 1841, in Charlestown, Mass.

AUSTIN, WILLIAM HARVEY, lawyer, state senator, was born Oct. 22, 1859, in Binghamton, N. Y. He came to Wisconsin in the spring of 1869 and settled at Portage City; moved to Milwaukee in 1871, where he has practiced law since 1879. In 1880 and 1881 he was assistant district attorney for Milwaukee county; was school commissioner in 1889; and was appointed assistant city attorney of the city of Milwaukee in 1890; and was city attorney in 1891. In the fall of 1892 he was elected to the Wisconsin state assembly upon the republican ticket from the fifteenth and sixteenth wards; he was the unanimous choice of his party for speaker during the session of 1893. In the fall of 1894 he was elected state senator.

AUSTRIAN, JOSEPH, merchant, was born Sept. 15, 1833, in Bavaria. About 1882 the interests were consolidated under the name of the Lake Michigan and Lake Superior Transportation company. Mr. Austrian being elected the general manager, which office he yet holds. The company now operates six excellent steamers. The magnificent Manitou, the finest steel passenger steamer on the lakes, was added to the fleet in 1893. Mr. Austrian has an interest in the Mastodon Iron company, near Crystal Falls, Mich., of which he has always been secretary and treasurer.

AVANN, ELLA H. BROCKWAY, educator, was born May 20, 1853, in Newaygo, Mich. In 1871 she graduated from the Albion college of Michigan; and subsequently became preceptress of that institution. She filled the chair of English literature and also lectured on the history of music. For ten years she was president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society; makes frequent contributions to the religious press; and holds official positions in various literary, social and benevolent societies.

AVER, HENRY OGDEN, architect, was born Jan. 31, 1852, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He designed monuments and mortuary chapels, as well as houses of very notable excellence. He died April 30, 1890, in New York city.

AVERELL, WILLIAM WOODS, soldier, was born Nov. 5, 1832, in Cameron, N. Y. He was engaged with the army of the Potomac in its most important campaigns. In March, 1863, he began the series of cavalry raids in western Virginia that made his name famous. He started with a force of 5,000 men and drove the confederates out of Greenbrier county, capturing three guns and about one hundred prisoners. In December he was again in motion, advancing with a strong force into southwestern Virginia. In Dec. 16 he struck the Virginia and Tennessee railroad at Salem, Gen. Longstreet's base of supplies. He destroyed the railroad, severing an important line of communication between the confederate generals Lee and Bragg, and burned a large quantity of provisions, clothing, and military equipments.

AVERETT, THOMAS H., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a resident of Halifax county; and was elected a representative in congress from the third district in that state, from 1849 to 1853.

AVERILL, JOHN T., manufacturer, general, state senator, congressman, was born March 1, 1825, in Alna, Maine. He completed his studies at the Maine Wesleyan university; was a manufacturer; and was elected to the state senate of Minnesota in 1858-59. He entered the union army in 1862 as lieutenant-colonel of the sixth Minnesota infantry, and was mustered out in 1865, as brigadier-general of volunteers. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

AVERILL, JOHN T., manufacturer, general, state senator, congressman, was born March 1, 1825, in Alna, Maine. He completed his studies at the Maine Wesleyan university; was a manufacturer; and was elected to the state senate of Minnesota in 1858-59. He entered the union army in 1862 as lieutenant-colonel of the sixth Minnesota infantry, and was mustered out in 1865, as brigadier-general of volunteers. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

AVERY, ALEXANDER R., lawyer, was born Nov. 14, 1846, in Canada. He began the practice of law at Port Huron, Mich.; and was appointed city attorney in 1876; was prosecuting attorney in 1884-87; and in 1891 he was appointed postmaster; and in 1881 was elected great commander of the order of the Knights of Maccabees.

AVERY, ALIDA CORNELIA, physician, was born June 11, 1833, in Sherburne, N. Y. She taught in sundry schools in New York state; was resident physician and professor of physiology and hygiene in Vassar college from 1865-74; and president of the Colorado State Suffrage association in 1876-77.

AVERY, ALPHONSO CALHOUN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 11, 1837, in Morganton, N. C. He entered the army in 1861, and was commissioned first lieutenant; in 1862 was elected captain; and the same year was appointed major and assistant adjutant-general. At the close of the war he resumed the practice of law, and in 1888 he was nominated associate justice of the supreme court of North Carolina for a term of eight years.

AVERY, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, manufacturer, was born Dec. 3, 1801, in Aurora, N. Y. The principal products of his industry were cotton sweeps, and chilled, wheel gang, shovel, steel, subsoil and sulky plows. The old firm are now incorporated with a capital of $1,500,000, the stock being owned almost wholly by the Avery family. The founder was a man of great force of character and business genius and became one of the most highly regarded citizens of Louisville, Ky.

AVERY, BENJAMIN PARKE, journalist, author, was born in 1829, in New York city. He was a Californian journalist who was appointed minister to China in 1874; and was the author of Californian Pictures in Prose and Verse. He was one of the founders of the San Francisco Art-association. He died on Nov. 8, 1875, in Peking, China.

AVERY, CATHARINE HITCHCOCK TILDEN, educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1844, in Monroe, Mich. In 1867 she graduated from the Framingham Normal school of Massachusetts; and attained success in educational work. In 1870 she was married to Dr. Leroy M. Avery, the author of a series of textbooks on natural philosophy and chemistry. She is president of the East End Conversational club of Cleveland, Ohio; and has held high positions in various organizations of that city.

AVERY, DANIEL, congressman, was elected a representative from Cayuga county in congress from New York from 1811 to 1815; and again from 1816 to 1817.

AVERY, ELROY McKENDREE, Ph. D., LL. D., soldier, journalist, legislator, author, was born July 14, 1844, in Erie, Mich. He served with distinction through the civil war; enlisted in the first company that went from Monroe to the front, and was promoted to sergeant-major. During his military service he also acted as correspondent of the Detroit Daily Tribune.

In 1871 he graduated from the university of Michigan; and during his collegiate course was engaged in journalistic work. Early in life he taught school, and in 1871 became superintendent of public schools of East Cleveland, Ohio; then principal of the East High school, and subsequently of the Normal school. In 1893 he was elected a member of the Ohio state legislature, and received the re-election in 1895. He is the author of Avery's Elements of Physics; Avery's Elements of Natural Philosophy; School Physics; Elementary Physics; and First Lessons in Physical Science. For the past ten years he has given most of his time to the preparation of a Popular History of the United States, soon to be published in eight octavo volumes, with maps and illustrations.

AVERY, ISAAC WHEELER, lawyer, journalist, author, was born May 2, 1837, in St. Augustine, Fla. He held a successful law practice in Dalton, Ga., but in 1869 removed to Atlanta and became the chief editor of the Atlanta Constitution. He is the author of Digest of the Georgia Supreme Court Reports; and a History of Georgia.

AVERY, JOHN, physician, surgeon, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1824, in Watertown, N. Y. He removed to Michigan in 1836; graduated from Cleveland Medical college in 1850, and has been in the active practice of his profession since that time. He was assistant surgeon and surgeon of the twenty-first Michigan infantry; served in the army of the Cumberland in Kentucky and Tennessee, and was with Sherman on his march to the sea. He was member of the state legislature from Montcalm county in 1869-70; was appointed member of the state board of health in 1880 and reappointed in 1886, and for the last six years has been president of the board. He has been a United States pension examiner for the last sixteen years, member of the Stanton board of United States examiners for six years, and president of the board for the last three years; has been member of the school board and common council of the city of Greenville; and has been annually elected for twelve years supervisor of the first ward. He was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

AVERY, OMER H., lawyer, legislator, was born April 3, 1854, in Lincoln county, Mo. He was educated in the public schools and at the state university; elected public administrator of Lincoln county in 1880, and prosecuting attorney in 1888; and was a member of the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth general assembly of the Missouri state legislature.

AVERY, OSCAR F., soldier, legislator, was born Nov. 19, 1841, in Hillsdale county, Mich., and entered Hillsdale college in 1860. In 1861 he left school and enlisted in the eleventh Michigan infantry, company B, and served until November, 1865, when he was mustered out. He participated in the battles of Stone River and Chickamauga. He has served with distinction as a member of the Illinois state legislature.

AVERY, RACHEL FOSTER, woman suffragist, was born Dec. 30, 1858, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1871 she became identified with the Citizens' Suffrage association of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1881 she planned the series of ten conventions to be held in the different New England states; in 1882 she conducted the Nebraska amendment campaign; and in 1883 went to Europe with Susan B. Anthony and traveled through nearly all the European countries in the interests of woman suffrage. She is at the head of almost every movement of the National Woman Suffrage association; and contributes extensively to current literature.

AVERY, ROSA MILLER, reformer, was born May 21, 1830, in Madison, Ohio. During the years of the war her pen was actively engaged in writing for various journals on the subject of union and emancipation. For nearly twenty years she has resided in Chicago, and many of her ably-written articles and responses to the opponents of franchise for women have appeared from time to time in the Chicago Inter Ocean.

AVERY, SAMUEL P., artist, was born March 17, 1822, in New York city. He founded the Avery Architectural library at Columbia college, New York city; and is the author of an article entitled Progress of the Fine Arts in New York During Fifty Years.

AVERY, WAITSTILL, lawyer, patriot, was born May 3, 1745, in Groton, Conn. In 1775, he was a delegate to the congress at Hillsborough which organized the military force of the state. In the summer of 1776, he joined the army of Gen. Rutherford in the Cherokee nation, and was a commissioner at the treaty of Holston, which gave peace to the western frontier. In the fall of 1776, he was again a member of the state congress. In 1781 he moved to Burke county, which he represented many years in the state legislature. He was the first state attorney-general of North Carolina in 1777. He died March 15, 1821, in Burke county, N. C.

AVERY, WILLIAM T., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 11, 1819, in Maury county, Tenn. He was a lawyer by profession; was elected to the legislature of Tennessee in 1843; and held several creditable positions in his native state. He was chosen a representative to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

AVERY, WILLIAM W., lawyer, state senator, was born May 25, 1816, in Swan Ponds, N. C. He was speaker of the North Carolina senate in 1856; and was again elected in 1860. In 1861 he was elected by the convention as one of the members from the state at large of the provisional congress of the confederate states. He died July 3, 1864, in Morgantown, N. C.

AX, CHRISTIAN, manufacturer, was born Nov. 12, 1823, in Prussia. Coming to America in 1851 he was employed as a traveling salesman by George W. Gail, manufacturer of smoking tobacco, to whom he proved so valuable an aid that, in 1855, Mr. Gail admitted him to partnership. The firm of G. W. Gail and Ax developed during the life of Mr. Ax one of the largest manufacturing plants of its class in the country. It is now identified with The American Tobacco Co. He died March 20, 1887.

AXTELL, JOHN T., physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 11, 1856, in Roseville, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of Kansas; in 1879-80 attended the university of Michigan; and in 1883 graduated from the Bellevue Hospital Medical college. For many years he filled the chair of orthopedic surgery in the college of Physicians and Surgeons (university of Kansas City). He is the proprietor of the Axtell hospital of Newton, Kan., and one of the most prominent men in the medical profession of that state.

AXTELL, SAMUEL B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Oct. 14, 1819, in Franklin county, Ohio. He was educated at Oberlin, and Western Reserve colleges; studied and practiced law; emigrated to California in 1851; and was elected a representative from that state to the fortieth and forty-first congresses. In 1874 he was appointed governor of Utah; in 1875 was appointed to the same position in New Mexico; in 1876 was selected as one of the judges at the Centennial exhibition; and in 1882 was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Mexico.

AYCRIGG, JOHN B., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1837 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1843. In 1844 he was a presidential elector; and was a candidate for election to the twenty-sixth congress.

AYER, FRANKLIN DEMING, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 19, 1832, in St. Johnsbury, Vt. He graduated from Dartmouth college and the Andover Theological seminary. He was ordained in 1861, and has filled pastorates in the congregational church at Milford, N. H., during 1861-67; and at the First Congregational church at Concord since 1867. During 1871-80 he was secretary of the New Hampshire General association; is trustee of the New Hampshire Home Missionary society; president of the New Hampshire Prisoners' Aid society since 1881; and moderator of the General association of New Hampshire since 1887. He is the author of History of the First Church of Concord, N. H.; several published sermons; and many articles in current literature. His church is one of the oldest and strongest in the state.

AYER, FREDERICK, manufacturer, was born Dec. 8, 1822, in Ledyard, Conn. In 1855 Mr. Ayer retired to join his brother in the manufacture of Ayer's Proprietary Medicines in the firm of J. C. Ayer and Co., Lowell, Mass., and was made treasurer of the company. In 1885 he bought The Washington Mills of Lawrence; was president for the first year, and has been treasurer ever since. The company employs three thousand two hundred hands.

AYER, FREDERICK FANNING, lawyer, was born Sept. 12, 1851, in Lowell, Mass. Upon his father's death in 1878

Mr. Ayer became the manager of the great properties which his father had created. He has displayed business ability of a high order, and his previous legal training has aided to make him a successful financier. Among many philanthropic acts, it is told of him that in 1890 he gave $5,000 for books for a public library in the town house of Ayer, and later built for the town the Ayer Memorial Library building, at a cost of about $40,000. He is a director of The Lake Superior Ship Canal Railway and Iron Co., The Portage Lake and River Improvement Co., The Lowell and Andover railroad, The J. C. Ayer Co., The Tribune association in New York, and the Tremont and Suffolk mills.

AYER, HARRIET HUBBARD, business woman, journalist, was born in 1852, in Chicago, Ill. She graduated from the convent of the Sacred Heart. She became a business woman of the highest type in New York city; and rapidly made a fortune from her Recamier preparation. The Recamier company, of which she is the president and chief owner, now occupies a five-story building in New York city, and employs nearly a hundred people.

AYER, JAMES COOK, manufacturer, was born May 5, 1818, in Groton, Conn., which city now bears the name of Ledyard. He has become famous as a manufacturer of proprietary medicines, and as an organizer and financier. In his veins ran the blood of old American families, distinguished for personal character and active interest in public affairs. Frederick Ayer, his father, who served as a soldier of the war of 1812 and died in 1825, was a son of Elisha Ayer, a hero of the American revolution. Ayer's Almanac was given away by the millions of copies. The principal remedies prepared by Dr. Ayer were his Cherry Pectoral, Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure, Hair Vigor, and Pills. A large laboratory was built to accommodate the growing manufacture, and was expanded until it gave employment to nearly three hundred persons. In 1874 he received the republican nomination for congress. He left a fortune of twenty million dollars. He died July 3, 1878, in Winchendon, Mass.

AYER, JOHN A., banker, was born Aug. 2, 1847, in Jacksonville, Ill. He attended the Illinois college; and has attained success in business affairs in his native city; where he is a prominent banker.

AYER, RICHARD S., soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1829, in Waldo county, Maine. He engaged in agricultural and mercantile pursuits; at the breaking out of the rebellion enlisted as a private in the fourth Maine volunteers, and was promoted to a captaincy, which position he held for three years, serving at the first battles of Bull Run, Seven Pines, and Malvern Hill. In 1865 he removed to Virginia; in 1867 was elected a delegate to the Virginia constitutional convention; and was elected to the forty-first congress.

AYLSWORTH, WILLIAM PRINCE, clergyman, theologian, was born Dec. 12, 1844, in Cuba, Ill. He attended the Chicago university and Bethany college, receiving the degrees of B. A. and M. A. from the latter institution, and LL. D. from Cotner university. He has held pastorates at Angola and Fort Wayne, Ind., and in Columbus, Ohio. He was president of the Fairfield college, and is now president of Cotner university of Lincoln, Neb.

AYRES, ALFRED, author, was born Feb. 26, 18—, in Montrose, Ohio. He is the author of The Orthoepist; The Verbalist; The Mentor; Acting and Actors; and The Essentials of Elocution. He has also attained success as a dramatist and actor.

AYRES, ANNE, author, was born in 1816, in England. She was the first member of an American sisterhood in the protestant episcopal church, becoming a sister of the Holy Communion in 1845. She was the author of Evangelical Sisterhoods; and Life of W. H. Muhlenberg. She died in 1896.

AYRES, ROMEYN BECK, soldier, was born Dec. 20, 1825, in East Creek, N. Y. He served during the civil war, and in 1864 was made major-general of volunteers, for conspicuous gallantry in the battles of the Virginia campaign. He died Dec. 4, 1888, in Fort Hamilton, N. Y.

BAART, P. A., priest, was born in 1858 in Coldwater, Mich. In 1881 he was ordained to the priesthood; and in 1890 was appointed one of the four irremovable rectors of the Detroit diocese, and also chosen one of the examiners of the clergy.

BABB, WASHINGTON I., lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 2, 1844, in Des Moines, Iowa. He graduated from the Wesleyan university. He was elected a member of the Iowa state legislature; has served as district judge of the second judicial district; and was the democratic candidate for governor of Iowa in 1895.

BABBITT, B. T., manufacturer, was born in 1809, in Westmoreland, N. Y. He discovered a new process for making saleratus at a great saving of cost, and in a few years acquired control of the trade of the whole country. He also manufactured soda and potash. In 1858 he began the manufacture of soap, from which he amassed a fortune. He died Oct. 20, 1889, in New York.

BABBITT, CLINTON, farmer, public official, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1831, in Westmoreland, N. H. He received a common school education and graduated from Keene academy, New Hampshire; removed to Wisconsin in 1853; is by occupation a farmer and breeder of blooded stock, and resides on his farm, giving his personal attention to that business. He was for several years secretary of Wisconsin State Agricultural society; was elected alderman, and was one of the members of the first city council of Beloit. He was appointed postmaster of Beloit in 1886; was democratic candidate for congress in 1880; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BABBITT, EDWIN B., soldier, was born about 1802 in Connecticut. He was brevetted brigadier-general for his services on March 13, 1865. He died Dec. 10, 1881, in Fortress Monroe.

BABBITT, ELIJAH, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1796 in Providence, R. I. He was prosecuting attorney for the state in 1833; served in the state legislature in 1836 and 1837; was a state senator in 1844 and 1845; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses.

BABBITT, ISAAC, inventor, was born July 26, 1799, in Taunton, Mass. In 1839, he discovered the now well-known anti-friction metal that bears his name and is so extensively used in lining boxes for axles and gudgeons. For this invention he received in 1841 a gold medal from the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' association, and afterward congress granted him $20,000. He was also engaged in the manufacture of soap. He died May 26, 1862, in Somerville, Mass.

BABCOCK, ALFRED, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1841 to 1843.

BABCOCK, CHARLES A., naval officer, was born June 12, 1833, in New York city. While co-operating with the army on the James, York and Pamunkey rivers, he defeated the confederates in several actions. He was afterward attached to the Pensacola navy yard, and in 1868-69 commanded the steamer Nyack of the South Pacific squadron. He died June 29, 1876, in New Orleans, La.

BABCOCK, CHARLES ALMANZO, educator, scientist, was born in 1849. He graduated from Hamilton college, and received the degrees of A. M. and LL. B. He has filled the chair of science in the New York State Normal school; and has been superintendent of schools of Oil City, Pa. He has lectured on scientific subjects, and contributed valuable articles on science to current literature. He is the originator and founder of bird day in the schools of America; and is a member of the British Astronomical association.

BABCOCK, ELNORA MONROE, woman suffragist, was born Jan. 11, 1852, in Columbus, Pa. In 1870 she was married to Prof. John W. Babcock of Jamestown, N. Y., and now superintendent of public schools in Dunkirk. She became president of the Dunkirk club; was elected president of the Chautauqua County Political Equality club, of which she still holds the presidency. In 1891 she had the honor of presiding over the first woman suffrage meeting ever held at the great Chautauqua assembly.

BABCOCK, EMMA WHITCOMB, author, was born April 24, 1849, in Adams, N. Y. She is the wife of Prof. C. A. Babcock, superintendent of schools of Oil City, Pa. She has done considerable work as book reviewer; has contributed to various leading magazines; and is the author of Household Hints; A Mother's Note Book; and other works. She is president of a literary club well known in western Pennsylvania, which has founded a public library.

BABCOCK, FRANCIS GRANGER, banker, legislator, was born in 1831, in Pharsalia, N. Y. He purchased large tracts of land with reference to their value as timber land, which turned out to be petroleum producing. In 1875 he established The Bank of Hornellsville, and is the owner of the celebrated Babcock Stock Farms. In 1853 he was elected to the legislature.

BABCOCK, GEORGE HERMAN, inventor, engineer, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born Jan. 17, 1832. The Babcock and Wilcox boilers have been the most extensively built and sold of all devices of this nature. Large works for their production have been built in Elizabeth, N. J. Works have been established in the city of Glasgow, from which the markets of the world are supplied. He died Dec. 20, 1894, near Otsego, N. Y.

BABCOCK, HARMON SEELEY, educator, lawyer, poet, author, was born April 11, 1849, in Lebanon, R. I. In 1874 he graduated from the Brown university with the degree of A. B., and was valedictorian of his class. In 1877 received the degree of A. M., and was admitted to the bar in the same year. For three years he was superintendent of public schools of East Providence, R. I.; was town solicitor for two years; and since 1890 has been coroner. He taught two years in the University Grammar school of East Providence, and for one year in the Brown university as instructor in logic. He has delivered poems at annual conventions of various associations and reunions, and is the author of two volumes of poems, entitled Trifles, and The Friendship of Learning. He has been president of the Rhode Island Poultry association; vice-president of the American Poultry association; editor of the Standard of Perfection; and is the author of several works on poultry.

BABCOCK, HELEN LOUISE B., educator, elocutionist, was born Aug. 13, 1867, in Galva, Ill. She graduated from the Cumnoek School of Oratory of the Northwestern university, and subsequently became an instructor in that institution. She then taught elocution in the Mount Vernon seminary of Washington, D. C.; and has attained prominence as a dramatic reader. In 1891 she was married to Dr. F. C. Babcock, a successful physician of Hastings, Neb.

BABCOCK, JAMES F., journalist, jurist, legislator, was born in 1809 in Connecticut. He began newspaper work at an early age, and in 1830 became editor of the New Haven Palladium, which soon began to issue a daily edition and which he conducted for thirty-one years. He was nominated for congress, and was elected by the democrats to the state legislature in 1873. The legislature of 1874 elected him judge of the police court of New Haven. He died June 18, 1874, in New Haven, Conn.

BABCOCK, JAMES FRANCIS, chemist, was born Feb. 26, 1844, in Boston. For five years he was professor of chemistry in the Boston university; and in 1881 he accepted that chair in the Massachusetts college of pharmacy. He is well known as the inventor of a fire extinguisher.

BABCOCK, JOSEPH WEEKS, manufacturer, congressman, was born March 6, 1850, in Swanton, Vt. He removed with his parents to Iowa in 1855; attended school at Mount Vernon and Cedar Falls; removed from Iowa in 1881 and settled in Necedah, where he has since resided, being engaged in the manufacture of lumber. He was elected to the Wisconsin assembly in 1888 and re-elected in 1890; was elected chairman of the national republican congressional committee in 1894 and re-elected in 1896. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BABCOCK, LEANDER, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

BABCOCK, ORVILLE E., soldier, was born Dec. 25, 1835, in Franklin, Vt. He was graduated at West Point, and entered the engineer corps as second lieutenant May 6, 1861. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. At the surrender of Lee at Appomattox he selected the place where the generals met. He was promoted a colonel in the regular army in 1866. He was drowned June 26, 1884, in Mosquito inlet, Fla.

BABCOCK, PAUL, soldier, merchant, was born Aug. 18, 1841, in New York city. Since 1880 he has been the president of The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and of The Soule and Fleming Manufacturing Co., and of The Liebig Manufacturing Co.

BABCOCK, SAMUEL S., soldier, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 5, 1842, in Genesee county, Mich. In 1861 he enlisted as a union soldier and was promoted to first sergeant. He was a graduate from the Michigan State Normal school, and for fifteen years was engaged in educational work. He held the chair of mathematics in the State Normal school; and the chair of natural sciences in the Ypsilanti seminary. For six years he was a member of the state board of Michigan, four years of which he was its president. For two years he was a member of the state board of geological survey; has been president of the Michigan Republican club, and a director from its organization. He is a successful lawyer of Detroit, Mich.; and has contributed both prose and verse to current literature.

BABCOCK, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1833.

BABER, EDMUND K., railroad president, was born Oct. 7, 1841, in New York city. Since 1889 he has been president of the Keesville, Ausable Chasm and Lake Champlain railroad.

BACH, J. MAURICE, musician, composer, was born May 7, 1856, in Switzerland. He is active as teacher of piano, organ and theory at Henderson, Ky. He is a good performer and has composed much music, including four operas, Laredo; Marguerita; Alhame; and The Politicians.

BACHE, ALEXANDER DALLAS, scientist, author, was born July 19, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at West Point in 1825. In 1843 he was appointed superintendent of the United States coast survey; was one of the founders of the American association for the Promotion of Science; in 1855 was made president of the American Philosophical society; was an active and efficient member of the United States sanitary commission throughout the civil war; and in 1846 was made regent of the Smithsonian institution. In 1833 he edited Brewster's Optics, with notes; in 1840 to 1845 published Observations at the observatory of Girard college; and in 1834, Report of Experiments to Navigate the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal by Steam. He died Feb. 17, 1867, in Newport, R. I.

BACHE, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, surgeon, was born Feb. 7, 1801, in Monticello, Va. He was fleet-surgeon of the Mediterranean squadron in 1841-44, and of the Brazil squadron in 1847-50. From 1850 to 1854 he was at the New York naval hospital, and then organized in New York the laboratory that furnishes all medical supplies to the navy. He was director of this from 1853 to 1871. He died Nov. 2, 1881, in New York city.

BACHE, FRANKLIN, physician, author, was born Oct. 25, 1792, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician, and professor of chemistry in Jefferson Medical college, 1841-64. He was the author of A System of Chemistry for Students in Medicine; and The Dispensatory of the United States. He died March 19, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BACHE, HARTMAN, engineer, was born in 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa. He received the brevet of brigadier-general in 1865, the highest grade in the engineer corps, for long, faithful, and meritorious services. Among his engineering works of conspicuous merit were the construction of the Delaware breakwater and the successful application of iron-screw piles for the foundation of lighthouses upon sandy shoals and coral reefs. He died Oct. 8, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BACHE, RICHARD, postmaster-general, was born Sept. 12, 1837, in England. He established himself in Philadelphia, and Benjamin Franklin appointed him secretary, compiler and register general; and in 1776 he became postmaster-general. He died July 29, 1811, in Seattle, Pa.

BACHE, SARAH, philanthropist, was born Sept. 11, 1744, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was the leader among the ladies of Philadelphia to furnish the destitute American soldiers with money and clothing during the year 1780. She died Oct. 5, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BACHE, THEOPHYLACT, merchant, colonist, was born Jan. 17, 1734, in England. In 1774 he was elected the fifth president of the New York Chamber of Commerce. He died Oct. 30, 1807, in New York city.

BACHELLER, IRVING, journalist, author, was born in 1859 in New York. He is a journalist of New York city; and the author of The Master of Silence, a romance; and The Still House of O'Darrow, a novel.

BACHMAN, JOHN, naturalist, author, was born Feb. 4, 1790, in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a naturalist of Charleston, where he was pastor of a Lutheran church, 1815-74. He assisted Audubon, preparing the greater part of the text of The Quadrupeds of North America, and wrote several religious and scientific works. He was the author of Two Letters on Heredity; and Defence of Luther and the Reformation. He died Feb. 25, 1874, in Charleston, S. C.

BACHMAN, REUBEN K., educator, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 6, 1834, in Williams, Pa. He spent his early boyhood upon his father's farm; received a common school education; and followed the vocation of teaching in his early manhood. Subsequently, he entered into the mercantile and milling business at Durham, Pa.; and was elected to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

BACHMAN, SOLOMON, manufacturer, was born in 1827 in Germany. He engaged in the manufacture of balmoral skirts, and bought a mill at Paterson, N. J., with machinery to make yarns, and power looms to weave skirts and shawls. In 1877 he bought the Merrimack woolen mill in Lowell, Mass., which he still continues to run.

BACHMANN, ALEXANDER, musician, composer, was born Jan. 2, 1836, in Germany. He is a successful and noted instructor of the piano, organ and violin; a director of choruses; and for many years principal of the Northwestern Musical institute of Philadelphia, Pa. He is said to have taught the largest number of individual pupils of any music teacher in America, many of whom now occupy high positions in the musical world. He has been organist of some of the leading protestant episcopal churches of Philadelphia; and for many years was vocal instructor of the Protestant Episcopal Divinity school. He is the author of considerable church music, and his translations have been a valuable acquisition to musical literature.

BACKUS, AZEL, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 13, 1765, in Norwich, Conn. He was licensed to preach in 1789, and in 1791 became the successor of Dr. Bellamy at Bethlehem, Conn., where he also carried on a successful school. Here he remained until, at the foundation of Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., in 1812, he was chosen its first president. He died Dec. 9, 1817.

BACKUS, CHARLES, theologian, was born Nov. 9, 1749, in Franklin, Conn. In 1774, he became pastor of the congregational church in Somers, where he remained until his death. Here he established a sort of divinity school, receiving theological students into his family. He died Dec. 30, 1803, in Somers, Conn.

BACKUS, CLARENCE WALWORTH, soldier, clergyman, was born April 20, 1846, in Schenectady, N. Y. He spent one year in the Pennsylvania Military academy, and from there entered the army as first lieutenant of the ninety-seventh regiment New York volunteers. He subsequently graduated from Union college, and from the Princeton Theological seminary; and has since attained prominence as one of the foremost clergymen of the presbyterian church in Kansas.

BACKUS, FRANKLIN T., lawyer, was born May 6, 1813, in Lee, Mass. He was elected prosecuting attorney of the county in 1841, and was sent to the Ohio house of representatives in 1846, and to the state senate in 1848. He was a delegate to the peace congress at Washington in 1861. He supported McClellan for president in 1864, and was a delegate to the national convention that met at Philadelphia in 1866 to form a new party. He died May 14, 1870, in Cleveland, Ohio.

BACKUS, HENRY CLINTON, lawyer, was born May 31, 1848, in Utica, N. Y. In 1891 he was chairman of the delegation of the thirteenth assembly district to the republican county committee of New York city and county; and held the leadership of the district for one year. In 1893 he consented to stand for the New York constitutional convention.

BACKUS, HENRY T., lawyer, jurist, was born in Norwich, Conn. He received a liberal education; adopted the profession of the law; and removed to Detroit, Mich., where he was for many years devoted to his profession. He was subsequently appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Arizona.

BACKUS, ISAAC, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1724, in Norwich, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman of Rhode Island; and the author of A History of New England, with Particular Reference to the Baptists. He died Nov. 20, 1806.

BACKUS, TRUMAN JAY, educator, college president, was born Feb. 11, 1842, in Locke, N. Y. In 1867 he was elected to fill the chair of rhetoric and English in Vassar college, which office he held for sixteen years. He accepted a call to the presidency of Packer collegiate institute of Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1883.

BACKUS, WILLIAM VERNON, lawyer, was born Aug. 24, 1860, in Cleveland, Ohio. He received his education in the public schools of his native city; in business colleges, and received private instruction in foreign languages. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Cleveland, in which city he was a member of the board of education during 1892-97, and its president in 1895-96.

BACON, AUGUSTUS OCTAVIUS, was born Oct. 20, 1839, in Bryan county, Ga. He was frequently a member of state democratic conventions; was president of the state democratic convention in 1880, and was delegate from the state at large to the national democratic convention in Chicago in 1884; in 1868 he was elected presidential elector on the democratic ticket; in 1871 was elected to the Georgia house of representatives, of which body he has served as a member for fourteen years, and during eight years was speaker. He was several times a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Georgia; and was elected to the United States senate as a democrat in 1894. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

BACON, DAVID FRANCIS, physician, author, was born Nov. 30, 1813, in Prospect, Conn. Soon after the completion of his studies he was sent as principal colonial physician to Liberia by the American colonization society. He was a frequent contributor to periodical literature, and published Lives of the Apostles; and also Wanderings on the Seas and Shores of Africa. He died Jan. 23, 1866, in New York.

BACON, DAVID W., Roman Catholic bishop, was born in 1814, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1855 he was consecrated bishop of the newly created diocese of Portland, Maine, which embraced the states of Maine and New Hampshire. He died Nov. 5, 1874, in New York.

BACON, DELIA SALTER, author, was born Feb. 2, 1811, in Talmadge, Ohio. She was the earliest exponent of the Baconian theory of the authorship of Shakespeare; and was the author of Philosophy of the Plays of Shakespeare Unfolded; Tales of the Puritans; and The Bride of Fort Edward, a Drama. She died Sept. 2, 1859, in Hartford, Conn.

BACON, EDMUND, lawyer, was born in January, 1776, in Virginia. He is the Ned Brace of Judge Longstreet's Georgia Scenes, and as a wit and humorist was conspicuous among his contemporaries. He died Feb. 2, 1826, in Edgefield, S. C.

BACON, EDWARD PAYSON, merchant, financier, was born May 16, 1834, in Reading, N. Y. In 1865 he established the firm of E. P. Bacon and Company, a grain commission business; in 1889-91 was vice-president of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce; and in 1891 was elected its president.

BACON, EDWARD R., railroad president, was born Nov. 22, 1846, in New York city. Since 1890 he has been president of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway.

BACON, EDWIN MUNROE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1844, in Providence, R. I. He is a journalist of Boston; and the author of Dictionary of Boston; and Boston of To-Day.

BACON, EZEKIEL, jurist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 1, 1776, in Stockbridge, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1794; was a member of the state legislature in 1805 and 1806; was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1807 to 1813; chief justice of common pleas in 1813; and first comptroller of the United States treasury from 1813 to 1815. He removed to Utica, N. Y., and was a delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1821. In 1843 he published Recollections of Fifty Years Since. He died Oct. 18, 1870, in Utica, N. Y.

BACON, FLORENCE R., journalist poet, was born March 25, 1867, in Portland, Maine. Her life has been spent principally in Wisconsin, where her parents removed when she was less than a year old. She attended the Milwaukee college, and since an early age has been engaged in literature. She is the society editor of the Daily Times of Minneapolis, Minn.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Midsummer Mist; and another entitled Indian Legends.

BACON, FRANCIS, manufacturer, was born Jan. 22, 1831, in New York city. He is a successful piano manufacturer of New York; and in 1880 organized the firm of Francis Bacon and Company.

BACON, FREDERICK HAMPTON, lawyer, author, was born May 5, 1849, in Niles, Mich. He engaged in the practice of his profession in St. Louis, Mo., and gained a high position at the bar in that state. He is the author of a law treatise entitled Benefit Societies and Life Insurance.

BACON, GEORGE ALLEN, public official, author, was born April 4, 1830, in Wellfleet, Mass. In 1881 he was appointed corresponding clerk of the department of agriculture, which position he still holds. He was the original author of the Game of Portrait Authors, and in 1884 he published A Life Sketch of Edward S. Wheeler.

BACON, HENRY, artist, author, was born in 1840, in Haverhill, Mass. He is an artist who has lived principally in Paris; and is the author of A Parisian Year; and Parisian Art and Artists.

BACON, HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born March 14, 1846, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He received an academic education at the Mount Pleasant academy at Sing Sing and at the Episcopal academy of Cheshire, Conn.; and was at Union college, from which he graduated in 1865. He studied law and commenced to practice in 1866; and was elected to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat, and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BACON, JOEL SMITH, college president, was born Sept. 3, 1802, in New York. In 1841 he became president of the Columbian college; and from 1855 to 1866 was engaged in female education in the south. He died Nov. 9, 1869, in Richmond, Va.

BACON, JOHN, clergyman, statesman, was born in 1737, in Canterbury, Conn. He graduated at the college of New Jersey in 1765; studied theology; and after preaching for a time in Maryland, removed to Massachusetts, and settled in Boston. He subsequently held the positions of magistrate, representative in the state legislature, presiding judge of the court of common pleas, a member and president of the state senate, and that of representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1801 to 1803. He died Oct. 25, 1820, in Berkshire county, Mass.

BACON, JOHN EDMUND, lawyer, congressman, was born March 3, 1832, in Edgefield, S. C. He studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1853 and commenced the practice of law. In 1857 he was appointed secretary of legation at St. Petersburg, Russia; in 1860 entered the confederate service as a private; and served throughout the civil war, rising to the rank of major. In 1868 he was elected district judge; and in 1870 was an unsuccessful candidate for congress. In 1872 he removed to Columbia, S. C.; in 1878 was elected a representative in the state legislature, and devoted himself to securing the re-establishment of the South Carolina college, which end he accomplished after a long and laborious struggle. In 1885 he was appointed United States charge d'affaires to Paraguay and Uruguay.

BACON, JOHN WATSON, civil engineer, banker, was born June 9, 1827, in Hartford, Conn. For several years he has been state commissioner of the official topographical survey of Connecticut. He has been director of the Savings bank of Danbury for over thirty years, and on the death of its first president was elected to fill the vacancy.

BACON, LELAND CAREY, diplomat, was born in 1862, in Centremoreland, Pa. He is treasurer of the Pan-American Sewing Machine company of New York city; has served as United States consul at San Domingo during 1882-83; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

BACON, LEONARD, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 19, 1802, in Detroit, Mich. He was the pastor of a congregational church in New Haven, Conn., 1825-81, and a prominent figure in the denomination to which he belonged. He was the author of Historical Discourses; Slavery Discussed in Occasional Essays; Genesis of the New England Churches; and Christian Self-Culture. He died Dec. 24, 1881, in New Haven, Conn.

BACON, LEONARD WOOLSEY, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 1, 1830, in New Haven, Conn. He is a congregational clergyman; and the author of A Life Worth Living; Church Papers; Sermons; and The Simplicity That Is in Christ.

BACON, NATHANIEL, colonial leader, was born in 1630, in England. About 1650 he settled upon the James river, and soon after his arrival was appointed a member of the governor's council. He died Oct. 1, 1676.

BACON, NATHANIEL, lawyer, jurist, was born July 14, 1802, in Ballston, N. Y. He moved to Niles, Mich., in 1833, and in 1855, was appointed circuit judge and one of the judges of the supreme court. In 1857 he was elected circuit judge for six years; was elected again in 1866 to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected in 1869 for six years. He died Sept. 9, 1869, in Niles, Mich.

BACON, REBECCA TAYLOR. She became distinguished by her philanthropic labors in the founding of the Hampton, Va., institute and the New Haven school of nursing.

BACON, SHERMAN JOSEPH, merchant, was born Feb. 27, 1812, in Burlington, Conn. He established a drug business in St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1848 a commercial business in copper and metal, which he carried on successfully for nearly a quarter of a century.

BACON, THOMAS SCOTT, author, was born in 1825, in New York. He is an episcopal controversialist of Maryland; and the author of Both Sides of the Controversy between the Roman and Reformed Churches; The Reign of God and the Reign of Law; The Beginnings of Religion; Primitive Man in Christian Thought; It Is Written; and The Primitive and Catholic Doctrine as to Holy Scripture.

BACON, WILLIAM JOHNSON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1803, in Williamstown, Mass. He graduated at Hamilton college in 1822; and was appointed counsel to the corporation of the city of Utica in 1837. He was a member of the New York house of assembly in 1850; in 1853 was elected a justice of the supreme court for eight years, and in 1861 was re-elected, without opposition, for another term of eight years. He was elected to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

BACON, WILLIAM THOMPSON, clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 24, 1814, in Woodbury, Conn. For some time he was one of the editors of the New Englander, and during several years editor and proprietor of the Journal and Courier, of New Haven. He then resumed his ministerial labors, and was in charge of parishes in Kent and in Derby, Conn. He was the author of two volumes of poems. He died May 18, 1881, in Derby, Conn.

BACONE, ALMON C., college president, was born April 25, 1830. He has held prominent positions in the schools of New Jersey, New York, Ohio, and Michigan; and in 1878 he was called to take charge of the Cherokee Male seminary in Tahlequah, I. T.

BADEAU, ADAM, general, author, was born Dec. 29, 1831, in New York city. He was a general in the United States army; and the author of The Vagabond; Military History of General Grant; Conspiracy; Cuban Romance; Aristocracy in England; and Grant in Peace: a Personal Memoir. He was secretary to General Grant, and assisted him in writing his life. He died in 1895.

BADGER, GEORGE E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 13, 1795, in Newbern, N. C. He graduated at Yale college in 1813; studied and practiced law; and was elected to the legislature in 1816. In 1820 he was elected a judge of the supreme court, which position he resigned in 1825; was appointed secretary of the navy in 1841; and was elected a senator in congress in 1846, and re-elected in 1849 for a term of six years. He died May 11, 1866, in Raleigh, N. C.

BADGER, JOSEPH, soldier, jurist, was born Jan. 11, 1722, in Haverhill, Mass. He was appointed brigadier-general in 1780, was judge of probate from 1784 to 1797, and in 1788 was a member of the convention that adopted the federal constitution. In 1784 and 1790-91 he was a member of the state council. He was one of the founders of Gilmanton academy. He died April 4, 1803.

BADGER, JOSEPH, missionary, was born Feb. 28, 1757, in Wilbraham, Mass. In 1800 the missionary society sent him to the unsettled part of the country northwest of the Ohio river. Here he endured great hardships for thirty years, going from settlement to settlement, over a country where there were neither roads nor bridges, and often passing the night in the branches of a tree. This mode of life gave him great familiarity with the country, which was of use to the American army during the war of 1812, when he served as chaplain. He died May 5, 1846, in Perrysburg, Ohio.

BADGER, JOSEPH, clergyman, was born Aug. 16, 1792, in Gilmanton. He edited Palladium; and founded various churches. He died May 12, 1852, in Gilmanton.

BADGER, LUTHER, lawyer, congressman, was born April 10, 1785, in Part-ridgefield, Mass. In 1824 he was elected a representative to the nineteenth congress; had been engaged in military services in his state, and in 1819 was appointed judge advocate for the twenty-seventh brigade of infantry of New York state, which office he held for eight years. In 1832 resumed the practice of law, and in 1840 was appointed examiner in chancery and commissioner of United States loans, which office he held for three years. From 1846 to 1849 was United States district attorney for New York.

BADGER, MILTON, clergyman, was born May 6, 1800, in Coventry, Conn. He was ordained in 1828 as pastor of the South Congregational church in Andover, Mass., and remained there until 1835, when he became associate secretary of the American Home Missionary society. He was soon placed in the position of senior secretary, and for thirty-four years performed the duties of his office with great faithfulness and skill. He died March 1, 1873, in Madison, Conn.

BADGER, OSCAR C., naval officer, was born Aug. 12, 1823, in Windham, Conn. He was made lieutenant-commander in 1862, and commanded the ironclads Patapsco and Montauk in the engagements with the forts and batteries in Charleston harbor in 1863. In 1872 he was made captain, and on Nov. 15, 1881, commodore. In 1885 he was placed on the retired list.

BADGER, WILLIAM, governor, was born Jan. 13, 1779, in Gilmanton, N. H. He was a member of the legislature from 1810 to 1812; of the senate from 1814-16; and president of that body in 1816. He was an associate judge of the court of common pleas from 1816 to 1821; high sheriff of Stafford county, N. H., from 1822-32; and governor of the state from 1834-36. He died Sept. 21, 1852, in Gilmanton, N. H.

BADLAM, EZRA, soldier, was born May 25, 1746, in Milton, Mass. He was a brother of Gen. Stephen Badlam, was a captain in Grilley's artillery regiment at the siege of Boston in 1775, was in Baldwin's regiment in 1776, was present at Trenton and Princeton, and from 1777 to 1780 was lieutenant-colonel of Bailey's regiment. He died April 5, 1788, in Dorchester, Mass.

BAENSCH, EMLL, lawyer, jurist, lieutenant-governor, was born June 12, 1857, in Manitowoc, Wis. He was educated in the private and public schools of his native city; and in 1888 graduated from the state university. He then edited a local republican newspaper for two years; was admitted to the bar in 1882, and the same year elected justice of the peace. In 1885 he became county clerk, which position he resigned to accept the position of county judge. He held this office for six years, and during his term but one appeal was taken from his decision. He was a candidate for congress in 1892, and has filled various positions of honor in his county and state. In 1894 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Wisconsin, and received the re-election in 1896. He is a life member of the State Historical society, and an honorary member of the German Press association of Wisconsin.

BAER, GEORGE, congressman, was born in Frederick, Md. He was engaged in various branches of business; and was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1797 to 1801, and again from 1815 to 1817. He died in Frederick at an advanced age.

BAER, JOHN WILLIS, lecturer, was born May 2, 1861, near Rochester, Minn. He is actively engaged in Christian Endeavor work, and is the general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, with headquarters at Boston, Mass.

BAER, LIBBIE C. RILEY, poet, was born Nov. 18, 1849, near Bethel, Ohio. Her poems have appeared in the leading publications, and in several standard works. She has taken an important part in the benevolent work of the Woman's Relief corps of Appleton, Wis. In 1867 she was married to Capt. John M. Baer, an officer with a gallant military record.

BAER, O. P., physician, was born Aug. 25, 1816, in Frederick, Md. In 1867, with ten other homœopathic physicians, he organized The Indiana Institute of Homœopathy, and was elected its president.

BAER, WILLIAM JACOB, artist, was born Jan. 29, 1860, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1892 he was chosen principal of freehand drawing at the newly organized New York school of applied design for women of New York city; and became instructor of drawing from antique at the Cooper Union Art schools.

BAGBY, ALBERT MORRIS, author, was born in 18— . He is a writer of New York city; and the author of A Welmar Idyl, a popular musical novel.

BAGBY, ARTHUR P., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born in 1794, in Virginia. He adopted the profession of law, and settled in Alabama in 1818; was elected a member of the legislature in 1820 and 1822, and was speaker of the house. He was governor of Alabama from 1837 to 1843; and was a senator in congress from that state from 1842 to 1849. He died of yellow fever Sept. 21, 1858, in Mobile, Ala.

BAGBY, GEORGE WILLIAM, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1828, in Buckingham county, Va. He was a Virginia journalist and lecturer and of some note as a humorist. He was the author of John M. Daniel's Latin Key; What I Did with My Fifty Millions; and Meekins's Twinses. He died Nov. 29, 1883, in Richmond, Va.

BAGBY, JOHN C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 24, 1819, in Glasgow, Ky. He was educated at Bacon college; studied law, and went to the bar in 1846. In that year he removed to Rushville, Ill., where he practiced his profession. In 1874, without seeking the nomination, he was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fourth congress.

BAGG, CLARA B., pianist, was born Sept. 26, 1861, in New York city. The last of her instructors was Rafael Joseffy, from whom she acquired technical skill, force, and delicacy. She has appeared with success in concerts in Brooklyn and New York city.

BAGG, LYMAN HOTCHKISS, author, was born in 1846 in Massachusetts. He is the author of Four Years at Yale; and Ten Thousand Miles on a Bicycle.

BAGLEY, BLANCHE PENTECOST, unitarian minister, was born Jan. 19, 1858, in England. In 1882 she moved to Chicago, Ill.; and in 1889 graduated from the Meadville Theological school. In 1887 she first preached in Middlesex, Vt.; and in 1889 Mr. and Mrs. Bagley were ordained and installed together as joint pastors of All Souls church of Sioux Falls, S. D. Since 1890 she has lived in Haverhill, Mass., where she occasionally fills her husband's pulpit, and takes an active part in various organizations.

BAGLEY, GEORGE A., manufacturer, congressman, was born July 22, 1826, in Watertown, N. Y. He received an academic education; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1847; and practiced for six years, when he engaged in the manufacture of iron and machinery. He was elected to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BAGLEY, JOHN H., merchant, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1832, in Hudson, N. Y. He received a common-school education; and in 1851 went to California and engaged in mining and other pursuits. He returned to New York and engaged in steamboating on the Hudson river, and settled at Catskill, N. Y., as a merchant and leather manufacturer. He served four terms as supervisor of the town; was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress; and also elected to the forty-eighth congress.

BAGLEY, JOHN JUDSON, manufacturer, governor, was born July 24, 1832, in Medina, N. Y. In 1872 he was elected governor of the state of Michigan; and re-elected in 1874. He died July 27, 1881 in San Francisco, Cal.

BAILEY, ALEXANDER H., jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1817, in Minisink, N. Y. He was a justice of the peace at Catskill for four years; was a member of the state assembly in 1849; and judge of Greene county for four years from 1851. He was a member of the state senate from 1861 to 1864; was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth congress, in the place of Roscoe Conkling; and was re-elected to the forty-first congress. He died April 20, 1874, in Rome, N. Y.

BAILEY, ANNA WARNER, known as Mother Bailey, patriot, was born Oct. 11, 1758, in Groton, Conn. She was the wife of Capt. Elijah Bailey, of Groton. She witnessed the massacre at Fort Griswold in 1781. In 1813, when the British threatened to attack New London, Mother Bailey rendered great aid to its defenders by tearing up flannel garments for cartridges. She died in 1850 in Groton, Conn.

BAILEY, CHARLES MARTIN, manufacturer, banker, was born Oct. 24, 1820, in Winthrop, Maine. He began the manufacture of oil-cloth carpets in Winthrop, Maine. Depots are now maintained in New York city and Philadelphia, under the style of The C. M. Bailey's Sons Co. He is president of the Bank of Winthrop and the Maine Steamship company.

BAILEY, DAVID J., congressman, was born in Georgia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1855.

BAILEY, EBENEZER, educator, was born June 25, 1795, in West Newbury, Mass. In 1838 he established a boys' school at Roxbury, which in 1839 was moved to Lynn. He was at various times a member of the city council of Boston, director of the Home of Reform, president of the Boston Lyceum, and director of the Boston Mechanics' institute. He died Aug. 25, 1839, in Lynn, Mass.

BAILEY, ELLENE ALICE, inventor, was born in Pond Fort, Mo. One of her principal inventions is the Dart needle, for sewing on shoe and other buttons. Her numerous inventions have proved not only useful and practical, but of commercial importance.

BAILEY, EZRA B., financier, state senator, was born March 29, 1841, in Franklin, Conn. He resumed control of the E. H. Horton and Son Co. in 1880; since that time has been its general manager; and is now president and treasurer. In 1890 he was appointed United States collector of customs to the port of Hartford. He served in the state senate in 1887.

BAILEY, GAMALIEL, journalist, was born Dec. 3, 1807, in Mount Holly, N. H. The first number of the National Era, published under the auspices of the American and Foreign Anti-Slavery society, appeared in 1847, and of which publication he was editor. In 1848 an angry mob laid siege to the office for three days, and finally separated under the influence of an eloquent harangue by the editor. The Era, in which Uncle Tom's Cabin originally appeared, ably presented the opinions of the anti-slavery party. He died at sea June 5, 1859.

BAILEY, GEORGE HOWARD, lawyer, was born Feb. 1, 1867, in Washington county, Ohio. In 1894 he graduated from the Michigan university, and has since attained prominence as an able lawyer of Red Lodge, Mont.

BAILEY, GEORGE MILROY, journalist, capitalist, was born Oct. 8, 1862, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. He is president of the Bailey Investment company; of the Buffalo-Marion Land company; and of the Niagara Falls Tunnel company. He is vice-president of the Hudor Lithia company; of the J. J. George Furniture company; and of the Buffalo Depew Land company; and secretary of the Oatman Produce company, and of the Depew Terminal Land company. He publishes a successful monthly paper entitled The Buffalo Presbyterian News.

BAILEY, GILBERT STEPHEN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 17, 1822, in Dalton, Pa. After graduating from the Oberlin college, Ohio, he started a select school at Waverly, which soon grew into Madison academy, with one hundred students. He subsequently resigned this charge and was ordained to the ministry; and later filled a pastorate in Pomona, Cal. Besides numerous tracts and uncollected poems he has published a History of the Illinois River Baptist Association; Caverns of Kentucky; Manual of Baptism; The Trials and Victories of Religious Liberty in America; Three Discourses on the History, Wonders, and Excellence of the Bible; The Word and Works of God; Prize Discourse on Slander; and Ingersollism Exposed.

BAILEY, GOLDSMITH F., lawyer, congressman, was born July 17, 1823, in Westmoreland, N. H. He was admitted to the bar in 1848; in 1856 was elected to the legislature of Massachusetts; and in 1858-60 to the senate of the state. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-seventh congress. He died May 8, 1862, in Fitchburg, Mass.

BAILEY, GUILFORD DUDLEY, soldier, was born June 4, 1834, in Martinsburg, N. Y. When the civil war began he was stationed at Fort Brown, Texas, but, with his immediate superior, Capt. Stoneman, refused to surrender when Gen. Twiggs attempted to give up his entire command to the confederates, and effected his escape into Mexico. A monument has been raised to his memory in the cemetery at Poughkeepsie. He was killed in action May 31, 1862.

BAILEY, HANNA JOHNSTON, president of the Maine Woman's Suffrage association, was born July 5, 1839, in Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. She received her education at a denominational boarding school, and subsequently followed the profession of teaching for ten years. She has been the world's and national superintendent of the department of peace and arbitration in the Woman's Christian Temperance union. For ten years she was treasurer of a foreign missionary society, and is now treasurer of the National Council of Women. Mrs. Bailey was one of the judges in the department of liberal arts at the World's Columbian Exposition; and she is now the honored president of the Maine Woman's Suffrage association.

BAILEY, HENRY TURNER, educator, author, was born Dec. 9, 1865, in North

Scituate, Mass., where the Bailey family have lived since 1660. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city, and graduated from the Massachusetts State Normal Art school of Boston. He has been a professor in the Boston Evening Drawing schools; supervisor of drawing in the public schools of Lowell, Mass.; was an agent of the state board of education, Mass.; and state supervisor of drawing. He is widely known through Reports on Drawing to the state board of education, and is a popular lecturer on art educational topics. He is the author of First Year in Drawing; and miscellaneous papers on Art and Education.

BAILEY, HORACE W., commissioner of fisheries and game for Vermont, was born Jan. 16, 1852, in Newbury, Vt. He graduated from Newbury seminary, and during 1886-96 was clerk of his native city and superintendent of schools. During 1894-96 he was a member of the Vermont state senate, and served with distinction in that body. In 1894 he was appointed state commissioner of fisheries and game for Vermont.

BAILEY, JACOB, soldier, was born July 2, 1728, in Newbury, Mass. He settled in Hampstead in 1745, and served as a captain during the French war in 1756. He was with Col. Munroe in the siege of Fort William Henry, and was among those who escaped the subsequent massacre in 1757. He was also present at the capture of Ticonderoga and Crown Point in 1759. In 1764 he removed to Vermont, and there obtained a township. Later he was appointed brigadier-general of militia by the state of New York. During the revolutionary war he was commissary-general of the northern department. He died March 1, 1816, in Newbury, Vt.

BAILEY, JACOB WHITMAN, naturalist, was born April 29, 1811, in Ward, Miss. He is the inventor of Bailey's Indicator and of many improvements in the microscope. His investigations with this instrument, illustrating botany and zoölogy, gave him great distinction. His Microscopic Sketches, together with his collection of about 4,500 specimens of algæ, he bequeathed to the Boston Society of Natural History. He died Feb. 26, 1857, in West Point, N. Y.

BAILEY, JAMES ALDERSON, JR., lawyer, legislator, state senator, was born March 25, 1867, in Arlington, Mass. In 1888 he graduated from Harvard college with the degree of A. B.; and subsequently from the Harvard Law school, from which institution he received the degrees of LL. B. and A. M. He is a successful lawyer, and has a large practice in his native city. He has served with distinction as a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature; and also as a state senator.

BAILEY, JAMES ANTHONY, showman, was born in 1847 in Detroit, Mich. The Great London circus was bought and added to that of Cooper and Bailey, leading to the firm of Barnum and Bailey.

BAILEY, JAMES E., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1822, in Montgomery, Tenn. He was educated at the Clarksville academy and the university of Tennessee; studied law; and was admitted to the bar at Clarksville, Tenn., in 1840. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1853; and was elected a senator of the United States from Tennessee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Andrew Johnson, serving during 1877-81. He died Dec. 29, 1885, in Clarksville, Tenn.

BAILEY, JAMES MONTGOMERY, journalist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1841, in Albany, N. Y. Widely known at one time as The Danbury News Man. He was a journalist of Danbury, Conn., who was among the earliest to exploit a kind of native humor, chiefly concerned with local allusion and application. He has had many imitators, whose methods have been much less legitimate than his. He was the author of Life in Danbury; England from a Back Window; The Danbury Boom; Mr. Phillis' Goneness; and They All Do It. He died March 4, 1894.

BAILEY, JAMES STANTON, manufacturer, was born Dec. 9, 1817, in Lebanon, Conn. He established the house of Tuttle and Bailey, manufacturers of registers and ventilators; and on the death of Charles Tuttle became senior partner.

BAILEY, JEREMIAH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born at Little Compton, R. I. He graduated at Brown university, and studied law; was a member of the Maine legislature from 1811-14 and a judge of probate from 1814-35. He was a representative in congress from Lincoln county, Maine, from 1835-37 and was collector of customs at Wiscasset from 1849-53. He died in July, 1853.

BAILEY, JOHN, state senator, congressman, was born in Norfolk county, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature from 1815-18, and a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1823-31. He was a state senator in 1831-34. He died June 16, 1835, in Dorchester, Mass.

BAILEY, JOHN M., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 24, 1838, in Bethlehem, N. Y. He graduated at Union college in 1861; studied law; in 1862 entered the union army as first lieutenant, and in 1864 commenced the practice of law. He was assistant district attorney of Albany county in 1865-67; was collector of internal revenue four years; in 1874 was elected district attorney and served three years, and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses.

BAILEY, JOSEPH, soldier, was born April 28, 1827, in Salem, Ohio. When the civil war broke out he entered the federal army as captain of the fourth Wisconsin infantry. He accompanied the army in the Red river campaign, and it was during this expedition that Bailey achieved the remarkable engineering feat which made him one of the heroes of the war. He received the brevet of brigadier-general on June 7 and was promoted colonel on June 30, 1864. He died March 21, 1867.

BAILEY, JOSEPH MEAD, jurist, was born June 22, 1833, in Middlebury, Vt. He graduated from the university of Rochester, N. Y., in 1854, and in 1856 began the practice of law at Freeport, Ill. He was a member of the Illinois legislature in 1866-70 and presidential elector of the same state in 1876. He was chosen a judge in the thirteenth judicial circuit in 1877; judge of the first division appellate court in 1878; and chief justice of that court in 1879. He became a trustee of the university of Chicago in 1878.

BAILEY, JOSEPH W., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1863, in Copiah county, Miss. He was admitted to the bar in 1883 and served as a district elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket in 1884. He removed to Texas in 1885 and located in Gainesville. He served as elector for the state at large on the democratic ticket in 1888; was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and was re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BAILEY, LEPHA ELIZA, lecturer, prohibitionist, was born Jan. 21, 1844, in Battle Creek, Mich. She received her education in the public schools of her native city and at the Battle Creek college. For many years she has been secretary of the Woman's Christian Temperance union; Reform club; Sovereigns of Industry; and of the Independent Order of Good Templars. She has delivered hundreds of lectures on temperance and reform subjects and is one of the most talented leaders in the field of prohibition. She has contributed extensively to the periodical press; has edited various departments in newspapers, and is the author of several works in prose and verse.

BAILEY, LIBERTY HYDE, educator, lecturer, author, was born March 15, 1858, in South Haven, Mich. He is a prominent horticulturist and for many years was professor of horticulture and landscape gardening in the Michigan Agricultural college. He is the author of American Grape Training; Cross-Breeding and Hybridization; Field Notes on Apple Culture; Annals of Horticulture; The Horticulturist Rule-Book; The Nursery-Book; A Complete Guide to the Multiplication and Pollination of Plants; and Talks Afeld About Plants; Plant Breeding.

BAILEY, LORING WOART, educator, author, was born Sept. 28, 1839, in West Point, N. Y. He is a professor of natural history in the university of New Brunswick, and the author of Mines and Minerals of New Brunswick; Geology of Southern New Brunswick; and Elementary Natural History.

BAILEY, MARTIN B., lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 22, 1858, in Vermillion county, Ill. He was chief of the law department in the pension bureau during Harrison's administration, and was a member of the Illinois state legislature in 1895.

BAILEY, NORMAN, soldier, merchant, state senator, was born Jan. 1, 1822, in New York. He was captain in the service during the war, and in 1861-62 was a member of the Michigan state senate.

BAILEY, RUFUS WILLIAM, educator, author, was born April 13, 1793, in North Yarmouth, Maine. In 1854 he was elected professor of languages in Austin college at Huntsville, Tex., and in 1858 became its president. He was the author of a series of newspaper letters on slavery, subsequently published in a volume under the title of The Issue; also of a volume of sermons entitled The Family Preacher; of letters to daughters entitled The Mother's Request; of a Primary Grammar; and of a Manual of English Grammar used extensively in southern schools. He died April 25, 1863, in Huntsville, Tex.

BAILEY, SARA LORD, elocutionist, was born Sept. 9, 1856, in England. In 1888 she graduated from the Boston School of Oratory and has since attained success as a teacher of elocution and voice culture in numerous large institutions.

BAILEY, SILAS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born in 1812 in Massachusetts. He became principal of Worcester academy about 1840, and after several years was elected president of Granville college, afterward Dennison university, Granville, Ohio, where he remained for ten years. He then became president of the newly established college at Franklin, Ind., where he remained until his health failed. He bequeathed his library to Franklin college. Dr. Bailey published sermons, addresses and reviews. He died June 11, 1874, in Paris, France.

BAILEY, THEODORUS, United States senator, was born Oct. 12, 1758, in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1793-97, and again from 1799-1803. He was a senator in congress from 1803-04, when he resigned and was appointed postmaster of New York city. He died Sept. 6, 1828, in New York city.

BAILEY, THEODORUS, naval officer, was born April 12, 1805, in Chateaugay, N. Y. After serving on the frigate Constellation, in which he again sailed round the world, he was placed in command of the storeship Lexington in 1846, in which, on the breaking out of the Mexican war, he conveyed to California, by way of Cape Horn, an artillery company and several officers who afterward became famous. He died Feb. 10, 1877, in Washington, D. C.

BAILEY, WILLIAM WHITMAN, botanist, author, was born Feb. 22, 1843, in West Point, N. Y., and is a brother of L. W. Bailey. He is a professor of botany at Brown university and the author of New England Wild Flowers and Their Seasons; Among Rhode Island Wild Flowers; and Botanical Collector's Hand-Book.

BAILLY, JOSEPH A., sculptor, was born in 1825 in Paris, France. He began his career as a woodcarver and later he applied himself to marble sculpture and became a professor in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He has produced a statue of Washington, which was placed in front of the Philadelphia statehouse in 1869; a colossal statue of Witherspoon; the companion groups called The First Prayer and Paradise Lost; portrait busts of Gen. Grant and Gen. Meade; an equestrian statue of President Blanco of Venezuela; and Spring.

BAILY, JOSEPH, manufacturer, congressman, was born March 18, 1810, on the Brandywine battleground, Chester county, Pa. From 1839 to 1845 he represented his native county in both branches of the legislature; and from 1850 to 1854 represented Perry county in the state senate; in 1854 he was treasurer of the state of Pennsylvania; and in 1860 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-seventh congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress. He was one of the twelve democrats in congress who voted for the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery.

BAINBRIDGE, HENRY, soldier, was born in 1803, in New York. He served in the Florida war, in the military occupation of Texas, and in the war with Mexico. In 1849-50 he served in the Seminole war. He was promoted to a lieutenant-colonelcy in 1851. He died May 31, 1857, near Galveston.

BAINBRIDGE, WILLIAM, naval officer, was born in 1774 in New Jersey. He was the captain of a merchant vessel at the age of nineteen and entered the naval service in 1798. He was distinguished during the war of 1812, and died in 1833.

BAIRD, ABSALOM, general, was born Aug. 20, 1824, in Washington, Pa. He served at Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Resalo, Jonesborough, and Atlanta. For his services in the Atlanta campaign he received the brevet rank of brigadier-general in the regular army in 1865, with that of major-general for services during the rebellion. He served as inspector-general of the department of the lakes from 1866 to 1868, of the department of Dakota till 1870, of the division of the south till 1872, and subsequently as assistant inspector-general of the division of the Missouri.

BAIRD, ANDREW D., soldier, merchant, was born Oct. 14, 1839, in Scotland. He served entirely through the war, taking part in forty-five battles and being wounded three times, and commanded the regiment after May, 1864. The stone yards of Gill and Baird of New York City are among the foremost in the United States.

BAIRD, CHAMBERS, lawyer, poet, is a popular lawyer of Ripley, Ohio, and the author of several meritorious poems.

BAIRD, CHARLES WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 28, 1828, in Princeton, N. J., and was a son of R. Baird. He was a presbyterian minister of Rye, N. Y., and the author of Eutaxia, or the Presbyterian Liturgies; Book of Public Prayer; History of Rye; and History of the Huguenot Emigration to America. He died Feb. 10, 1887, in Rye, N. Y.

BAIRD, GEORGE W., naval engineer, inventor, author, was born April 22, 1843, in Washington, D. C. He entered the navy as assistant engineer and served during the civil war. He is the inventor of a distiller for making fresh water from sea water, an evaporator, a pneumatic steering machine, and numerous other inventions. He is the author of The Absorption of Gases by Water; The Flight of Flying Fish; Science; and other works.

BAIRD, HENRY CAREY, political economist and author, was born Sept. 10, 1825, in Bridesburg, Pa. He is a publisher of industrial books at Philadelphia, and an active member of the American Philosophical society, before which he has read many learned papers. He is the author of Rights of American Producers and Wrongs of British Free Trade Revenue Reformers; Protection of Home Labour and Home Production Necessary to the Protection of the American Farmer; and Miscellaneous Papers on Economic Questions.

BAIRD, HENRY MARTYN, educator, author, was born Jan. 17, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a professor of Greek at the University of New York from 1859, and an historian who is conscientious but not absolutely impartial. He is the author of Life of Robert Baird; Modern Greece; Narrative of a Residence and Travels; History of the Rise of the Huguenots of France; The Huguenots and Henry of Navarre; and The Huguenots and the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

BAIRD, JAMES HADYN, journalist, was born Aug. 13, 1866, in West Lebanon, Tenn. In 1889 he became business manager of Southern Lumberman. In 1896 he was elected to the office of scrivener in the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo, with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn. He was also secretary of Forestry department in the Tennessee centennial at Nashville in 1897.

BAIRD, JOHN C., lawyer, orator, jurist, was born Jan. 7, 1852, in Pittsburg, Pa. He received his education in the public schools of his native city, and has attained prominence as a lawyer of ability of Cheyenne, Wyo. He has filled the office of district attorney; and has been judge-advocate-general of Wyoming, with rank of colonel. He is prominent in Knights Templars and other orders, and well known as an eloquent western orator.

BAIRD, JOHN FARIS, educator, clergyman, was born Dec. 5, 1851, in Charlestown, Ind. In 1880 he was elected professor of ethics and christian evidence in Hanover College, which he held until 1890, when he accepted a pastorate of the presbyterian church of Seymour, Ind.

BAIRD, MATTHEW, locomotive builder, was born in 1817, in Londonderry, Ireland. He became connected with the Baldwin Locomotive works as a partner in M. W. Baldwin & Co. He made noteworthy experiments in the economical burning of soft coal in railroad engines and adopted the deflector plate or brick arch, now in general use. He died May 19, 1877, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BAIRD, ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 6, 1798, in Fayette county, Pa. He was a presbyterian clergyman, active in the cause of temperance and in promoting the extension of protestantism in Europe. He was the author of History of the Temperance Societies; View of Religion in America; History of the Waldenses, Albigenses, and Vaudois; and Protestantism in Italy. He died March 15, 1863, in Yonkers, N. Y.

BAIRD, SAMUEL JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1817, in Newark, Ohio. He is a presbyterian clergyman whose writings are chiefly concerned with the polity and history of the presbyterian church. He is the author of The Church of Christ: its Constitution and Order; History of the Early Polity of the Presbyterian Church in the Training of Ministers; The Socinian Apostasy of the English Presbyterian Church; and History of the New School.

BAIRD, SAMUEL T., lawyer, congressman, was born May 5, 1861, in Oak Ridge, La. He was educated at home and at Vincennes, Ind.; began the study of law in 1879, and was admitted to the bar in 1882, and was elected district attorney of the sixth judicial district in 1884. He served four years upon the bench, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BAIRD, SPENCER FULLERTON, naturalist, was born Feb. 3, 1823, in Reading, Pa. He was a naturalist of prominence, who was from 1878 the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. He was the translator and editor of the Iconographic Encyclopedia; co-author with J. Cassin of Birds of North America and Mammals of North America; editor Annual Record of Science and Industry from 1872-78. A History of North American Birds, written in collaboration with T. M. Brewer and R. Ridgway, is one of his most valuable works. He died Aug. 19, 1887, in Wood's Holl, Mass.

BAKER, ABIJAH RICHARDSON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 30, 1805, in Franklin, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Lynn, Mass., and the author of School History of the United States; The Catechism Tested by the Bible; and Topics in Christ's Sermon on the Mount. He died in 1876.

BAKER, ALBERT C., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 15, 1825, in Girard, Ala. He received his education in the East Alabama Male college of Auburn, and has attained eminence as an astute lawyer and jurist. He has been city attorney for Phoenix, Ariz.; district attorney of his county; and assistant United States attorney for Arizona. He was a member of the eleventh legislative assembly of Arizona, and was chairman of the judiciary committee in that body. He has been a member of the board of curators, territorial library; a member of the board of directors of the Territorial Normal school; and has filled with distinction the high office of chief justice of Arizona.

BAKER, ALFRED, banker, was born Feb. 8, 1811, in Warren County, Ga. In 1870 he organized and became president of the National Exchange Bank of Augusta; and in 1875 he established the Augusta Savings bank, and became its president. As a wholesale merchant, manufacturer, and banker he has been one of the leading business men of his section.

BAKER, ALPHEUS, soldier, lawyer, was born May 23, 1825, in South Carolina. He joined the confederate army in 1861, and was rapidly promoted for gallant and meritorious services, to the rank of brigadier-general. At the close of the war he engaged in the practice of law in Louisville, Ky. He died Oct. 2, 1891, in Louisville, Ky.

BAKER, ANDREW J., merchant, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 4, 1842, in Mississippi. He attended the University of Mississippi, and served during the civil war in the confederate army, and was twice a member of the Mississippi state legislature. He is a successful merchant and lawyer of San Angelo, Texas; has served with distinction as a member of the Texas state legislature; and for four years was commissioner of the general land office of Texas.

BAKER, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, musician, was born July 10, 1811, in Wenham, Mass. From 1842 to 1848 he was superintendent of musical instruction in the grammar schools of Boston, Mass., and met 8,000 pupils a week. He introduced music into the public schools of Lowell and Lawrence; became editor of the Boston Musical Journal; and, from its foundation in 1857, was principal of the Boston music school.

BAKER, BENJAMIN M., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 20, 1850, in Girard, Ala. After receiving his education he entered into the active practice of law. He was the first state superintendent of public education of Texas; and was a member of the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth state legislatures of Texas. He has served as judge of the thirty-first judicial district of his adopted state, and his decisions have shown him to possess rare judicial abilities.

BAKER, BENJAMIN T., journalist, was born Aug. 3, 1866; is the editor and owner of The Journal of Smith Center, Kan. He is prominent in the affairs of his county and state, and a member of the populist congressional, judicial and county committees.

BAKER, BENJAMIN W., soldier, minister, college president, was born Nov. 25, 1841, in Coles county, Ill. He has attained prominence as an eloquent methodist minister and as president of Chad-dock college, Quincy, Ill. He served as a soldier for three years in the civil war.

BAKER, BERNARD N., businessman, was born May 11, 1854, in Baltimore, Md. He is president of the firm of Baker, Whiteley & Co.; and is also the president of the Baltimore Storage and Light-erage company, which has a capital of $1,500,000 and which owns and controls the Atlantic Transport line.

BAKER, CALEB, congressman, was born in Providence, R. I. He served four years in the New York assembly; was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1821.

BAKER, CHARLES JOSEPH, merchant, manufacturer, was born May 28, 1821, in Baltimore, Md. It was through his efforts that the Union railroad and tunnel were constructed; and, having bought control of The Baltimore Gazette, he was enabled to advance reform movements. He died Sept. 23, 1894, in Baltimore, Md.

BAKER, CHARLES SIMEON, soldier, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1839, in Churchville, N. Y. He received an academic education; was a teacher in 1856-'57; studied law, was admitted to the bar in December, 1860, and has since practiced the profession, except during the first year of the war, when he served as first lieutenant of Company E, Twenty-seventh New York volunteers, being disabled at the first battle of Bull Run. He was a member of the board or supervisors of Monroe county three years; was a member of the Rochester board of education two years, and president thereof the second year. He was a member of the New York state assembly from the Rochester district in 1879, 1880, 1882; was a member of the state senate of New York from the twenty-ninth district in 1884-'85; and was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

BAKER, CONRAD, statesman. He was governor of Indiana from 1867 to 1869.

BAKER, DANIEL, soldier, was born about 1775. He was brevetted major for gallantry in the disastrous affair at Brownstown, Mich., known as Van Horne's defeat. After the war of 1812 he was promoted lieutenant-colonel of the sixth infantry, and commanded that regiment at the battle of the Bad Axe river, in the Black Hawk war, in 1832. He died Oct. 10, 1836, in Detroit, Mich.

BAKER, DANIEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1791, in Midway, Ga. He gained such a reputation as an effective preacher that his services were in demand as a revivalist. After 1830 he continued as an evangelist, traveling in the south, and at last settled in Austin, Texas, where he founded a college and became its first president. Among his published works are A Scriptural View of Baptism; An Affectionate Address to Mothers, and one to Fathers; Baptism in a Nutshell; and Revival Sermons. His memoirs, prepared by his son, were published in Philadelphia in 1859. He died Dec. 10, 1857, in Austin, Texas.

BAKER, DAVID JEWETT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1792, in East Haddam, Conn. He had an extensive practice, and was probate judge of Randolph county, Ill. He was a senator in congress from 1830 to 1831, carrying through congress the important measure of selling the public lands to actual settlers in parcels of forty acres; and was United States attorney for Illinois from 1833 to 1841. He opposed the introduction of slavery into Illinois in 1823 with such energy that his opponents tried to kill him. He died Aug. 6, 1869, in Alton, Ill.

BAKER, DAVID V., lawyer, was born May 30, 1839, in Dayton, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and attended three sessions at Liber college, Indiana. In 1861 he received a commission as an aide-de-camp, with the rank of colonel, to the governor when less than twenty-two years of age. Mr. Baker was postmaster under President Lincoln; was elected city attorney; town councilman; town clerk; four years a mail contractor; five years in charge of clerkship of the Jay circuit court; and in 1880 was a candidate for the legislature, and carried Adams and Jay counties by 4,000 majority.

BAKER, DORSEY SYNGE, physician, banker, was born Oct. 28, 1823, in Centerville, Ill. In 1871 he took steps to organize a railroad company to build a line from Walla Walla to Wallula. This road, the first in the territory, was built entirely from his own means and was finished in 1873. His principal properties were The Baker and Boyer bank in Walla Walla; and The Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad.

BAKER, EDWARD D., lawyer, soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1811, in London, England. He was brought to this country when a child, and was early left an orphan in Philadelphia. He became famous as an advocate in Illinois, to which state he emigrated in his nineteenth year.

After serving in the Illinois legislature for two years, he resigned, and, in 1846, went to Mexico as a colonel of volunteers. He was a representative in congress from Illinois from 1849 to 1851, after which he took an active part in the building of the Panama railroad. In 1852 he settled in San Francisco, devoting himself to his profession; subsequently removed to Oregon, which state he represented as a senator in congress, taking his seat in March, 1861. At the outbreak of the rebellion, in 1861, he raised a body of men in Philadelphia, called the California regiment, and while gallantly leading them in battle at Leesburg, Va., against a superior force, was shot from his horse and killed, Oct. 21, 1861.

BAKER, ENOS POMEROY, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 20, 1856, in West Bloomfield, N. Y. He graduated from Lake Forest university as valedictorian in 1882, and in 1886 from the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of the Northwest, now the McCormick Theological seminary, of Chicago. He had charge of several churches, and is now president of the Presbyterian College of the Southwest, of Del Norte, Colo.

BAKER, EZRA, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1815 to 1817.

BAKER, FRANK R., legislator and lawyer, was born Nov. 11, 1861, in Bentonport, Iowa. In 1891 he was elected a member of the Washington state legislature, and has since attained prominence as an orator and statesman.

BAKER, FREDERICK A., was born June 14, 1846, in Holly, Mich. He commenced the study of the law in 1865, was admitted to the bar in 1867, and has been in active practice ever since. In 1877 he served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state legislature.

BAKER, GEORGE AUGUSTUS, lawyer, author, was born in 1821, in New York City. He was a successful lawyer of New York and the author of Point Lace and Diamonds, a collection of sparkling society verse; The Bad Habits of Good Society; Mrs. Hephaestus and Other Short Stories; and West Point: a Comedy. He died April 2, 1880, in New York City.

BAKER, GEORGE HALL, librarian, was born April 23, 1850, in Ashfield, Mass. In 1883 he joined the staff of Columbia college library as assistant librarian. During 1885-89 he was lecturer in the school of political science in Columbia college on the bibliography of history and political science.

BAKER, GEORGE MELVILLE, author, was born in 1832, in Maine. He was the author and compiler of Amateur Dramas; the Social Stage; and works of like character. He died in 1890.

BAKER, GEORGE PIERCE, educator, author, was born in 1866, in Rhode Island. He is an instructor at Harvard university, and the author of Plot Book of Elizabethan Plays; and Principles of Argumentation.

BAKER, GEORGE TITUS, civil engineer, legislator, was born Sept. 24, 1857, in Homestead, Iowa. He attended the Iowa state university in 1874-75, and he is a member of a large construction company of Davenport, Iowa. During 1896-97 he served with distinction as a representative in the Iowa state legislature.

BAKER, GEORGE W., educator, clergyman, was born Dec. 14, 1857, near Central Academy, Miss. For fourteen years he was engaged in educational work; was licensed to preach in the methodist episcopal church in 1887; was admitted to the annual conference at Grenada in 1896; and was ordained Jan. 17, 1897. He has since served in the Corinth circuit, with great success.

BAKER, GRAFTON, jurist, was born in Virginia and removed to Mississippi, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of New Mexico.

BAKER, MRS. HARRIETTE NEWELL, author, was born in 1815, in Andover, Mass. Besides two novels,—Cora and the Doctor, The Courtesies of Wedded Life,—her writings include nearly two hundred moral and religious tales, among which Tim the Scissors Grinder is the best known. She is best known by the pseudonyms of Madeline Leslie and Aunt Hally. She died in 1893.

BAKER, HENRY BROOKS, physician, was born Dec. 29, 1837, in Brattleborough, Vt. He has devoted much time to studies relative to the causation of diphtheria, typhoid fever, cholera, and pneumonia. The results thus far obtained have appeared in the Transactions of the American Public Health Association; and Transactions of the American Climatological Association, 1886.

BAKER, HENRY G., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 22, 1857, in Cleveland, Ohio. At the age of twenty-one he was elected justice of the peace and ten years later was elected probate judge of Defiance county, Ohio. He was appointed by the governor as commissioner to the Columbian exposition for Ohio.

BAKER, HENRY M., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1841, in Bow, N. H. He graduated from the New Hampshire Conference seminary in 1859, Dartmouth college in 1863, and the Columbian College Law school in 1866, and admitted to the bar the same year. He was a clerk in the war and treasury departments, and later practiced law in Washington, D. C. He was judge-advocate-general of the National guard of New Hampshire in 1886-'87, with the rank of brigadier-general; and was a member of the state senate in 1891-'92. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican from the second district of New Hampshire, and in 1894 was re-elected by a greatly increased majority. He was not again a candidate for re-election. In congress he served on the judiciary and other important committees. Several of his speeches were printed in pamphlet form and extensively circulated.

BAKER, ISAAC GILBERT, merchant, was born Aug. 22, 1819, in Rigfield, Mo. In 1866 he engaged in mercantile business, operating the Baker line of steamboats, transporting freight by wagons to the mining towns, and trading with the Indians. Every year he collected in the western region about twenty thousand dressed buffalo robes and shipped them to a market in the east.

BAKER, JAMES H., soldier, public official, was born May 6, 1829, in Monroe, Ohio. He received his education at the Wesleyan university of that state; became a teacher, and had charge of a female seminary at Richmond, Ind. In 1853 he purchased the Scioto Gazette and became its editor; in 1855 was elected secretary of state for Ohio, and subsequently removed to Minnesota and became the secretary of that state. He served as a colonel in the army in 1862 and 1863; was made provost-marshal for the department of Missouri, and served as such until the close of the rebellion, having been made a brigadier-general. He was then appointed register of public lands at Boonville, Mo., and in 1871 was appointed commissioner of pensions, resigning the position in 1875.

BAKER, JAMES HUTCHINS, educator, college president, author, was born Oct. 13, 1848, in Harmony, Maine. In 1873 he graduated from Bates college and at once entered into educational work as principal of the Yarmouth High school. From the beginning of his residence in Colorado, he has identified himself closely with the educational interests of that state. For seventeen years he was connected with the East Denver High school, and during his administration the magnificent High school building, second to none in the United States, was erected—a lasting and a splendid memorial of his work. In 1892 he assumed his duties as president of the university of Colorado. He has been president of the state teachers' association, and since 1886 has served as a member of the national council of education, being elected its president in 1891. He is the author of Elementary Psychology and other works; and his reputation rests chiefly on his studies and investigation of problems in psychology and ethics.

BAKER, JAMES L., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 2, 1847, in Montgomery, N. Y. He received his education at the Ithaca academy, and graduated from the law department of Union college. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of Ithaca, N. Y.; has been its city attorney, and filled with honor the position of special county judge of Tompkins County, N. Y.

BAKER, JAMES M., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 22, 1821, in Robeson county, N. C. In 1862 he was elected by the legislature of Florida as senator in the confederate congress; and was re-elected in 1864. In 1866 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court; and in 1881 was appointed judge of the fourth judicial circuit. He died June 20, 1892, in Jacksonville, Fla.

BAKER, JEHU, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1822, in Fayette county, Ky. He attended common schools and McKendree college, but did not graduate; and subsequently received from the latter institution the honorary degrees of M. A. and LL. D. He studied medicine for a time; is a lawyer; was master in chancery of St. Clair county 1861-'65; was elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, and fiftieth congresses; and served as United States minister resident to Venezuela in 1878-81 and 1882-85. He was minister resident and consul-general for a time during the closing part of this service, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a fusionist.

BAKER, JOANNA, educator, linguist, was born Feb. 14, 1862, in New Rochelle, Ill. She received a thorough education; is a fine linguist; and now fills the chair of Greek, language, literature and philosophy in the Simpson college of Indianola, Iowa. As a lecturer she has also attained success.

BAKER, JOHN, lawyer, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1811 to 1813. He died Aug. 18, 1823, in Sheperdstown, Va.

BAKER, JOHN H., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1832, in Parma township, N. Y. He removed, studied law, and commenced practice in Goshen, Ind., in 1857. He was state senator in 1862; in 1874 was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fourth congress and was re-elected to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses.

BAKER, JOSHUA, was born March 23, 1799, in Kentucky. He graduated from West Point in 1819, and at his death on April 15, 1893, he was the oldest graduate in existence. He practiced law in Mary's parish, and in 1839 was appointed judge. In 1867 he was appointed governor of the state by General Hancock.

BAKER, JULIA KEIM WETHERILL, journalist, author, was born July 18, 1858, in Woodville, Miss. She received her education in Philadelphia, Pa. Her husband, Marion A. Baker, is the literary editor of the New Orleans Times-Democrat; and for the past six years she has been employed as literary critic and editorial writer on the staff of that journal. She is the author of a novel entitled Wings.

BAKER, LAFAYETTE C., patriot, author, was born Oct. 13, 1826, in Stafford, N. Y. He was chief of the United States secret service during the civil war; and in 1862 the bureau became attached to the war department, and he was commissioned colonel, and subsequently brigadier-general. He was the author of a work entitled History of the United States Secret Service. He died July 2, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BAKER, LEWIS, journalist, legislator, was born in 1832, in Belmont county, Ohio. He was educated in the log school-house and the country printing office; admitted to practice law in the supreme and other courts of Ohio; and declined his party nomination to congress when in his 25th year. He has edited and published at different periods the Cambridge Jeffersonian, Ohio; Daily Ohio Statesman, of Columbus; Daily Aurora, of Zanesville; the Wheeling Register, West Virginia, and the St. Paul Globe, Minnesota. He has been a member and presiding officer of the West Virginia state senate; president of the St. Paul school board; and envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Salvador. He has been connected with many business enterprises, and has always taken an active part in politics, and was a member of the two democratic national conventions of 1884 and 1892.

BAKER, LOUISA S., clergyman, writer, was born Oct. 17, 1846, in Nantucket, Mass. For many years she was engaged in educational work; is now pastor of the First congregational church of Nantucket, Mass.; and is well-known as a successful contributor to current literature.

BAKER, LUCIEN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1846 in Ohio. Shortly after he removed with his parents to Michigan, but in 1869 he removed to Kansas and settled in Leavenworth, where he has since resided, engaged in the practice of law. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican in 1895. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

BAKER, LUTHER ELIJAH, financier, was born Jan. 1, 1865, in Melrose, Va. He accepted the position of bookkeeper, and afterward assistant secretary and secretary of the Iowa Mutual Benefit association, one of the oldest institutions of its kind in the west. He is official correspondent of the American Protective Tariff league and director of the Toledo Savings bank.

BAKER, MARCUS, explorer, was born Sept. 23, 1849, in Ostemo, Mich. He was educated at Kalamazoo college and the university of Michigan, graduating in 1870; in 1870-'71 was made professor of mathematics in Albion college, and in 1871-'73 tutor of mathematics in the university of Michigan. In 1873 he became connected with the U. S. Coast and Geodetic survey, attaining in 1886 the grade of assistant geographer. During this time he spent several years in explorations and surveys in Alaska, and traversed the entire Pacific coast from southern California to the Arctic ocean. In 1882 he was in charge of the Los Angeles magnetic observatory, established by the U. S. signal service.

BAKER, NATHANIEL BRADLEY, governor, was born Sept. 29, 1818, in Henniker, N. H. For three years he was joint proprietor and editor of the New Hampshire Patriot. He was elected to the legislature in 1851, was chosen speaker of the house, and served two terms. He was a presidential elector in 1852, and in 1854 was elected governor of the state on the democratic ticket. He was elected to the Iowa legislature in 1859. In 1861 he was appointed adjutant-general of Iowa. He died Sept. 11, 1876, in Des Moines, Iowa.

BAKER, OSMOND CLEANDER, clergyman, was born July 30, 1812, in Marlow, N. H. He was a professor in the General Biblical institute of Concord, N. H., and in 1847 was president of the same; bishop of the methodist episcopal church in 1852-'71, and wrote A Guide Book in the Administration of Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He died Dec. 20, 1871, in Concord, N. H.

BAKER, OSMYN, lawyer, congressman, was born May 18, 1800, in Amherst, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1822; adopted the profession of the law, and was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1833 and 1834. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1839 to 1845, and was state councillor in 1853 and 1854.

BAKER, PETER CARPENTER, publisher, author, was born March 25, 1822, in North Hempstead, N. Y. In 1865 he established the law-publishing firm of Baker, Voorhis and Co., which is still in existence and has a large catalogue. Mr. Baker was one of the founders of the Metropolitan Literary association, edited the Steam Press, a patriotic periodical, during the civil war (1861-'5), and originated the plan for a statue of Benjamin Franklin in Printing-house square, New York, which was given by Albert De Groot. He has published addresses and monographs.

BAKER, PHILIP PONTIUS, state senator, was born Jan. 14, 1846, in Cowan, Pa. In 1869 he moved to Vineland, N. J., where, under the firm name of Baker Bros., they built up an extensive trade in the business of general merchandising. In 1881 he was elected to the assembly, and 1886 was a member of the New Jersey senate. He was one of the founders and president of the Tradesman bank, and one of the leading spirits in the development of Sea Isle City, N. J.

BAKER, ROBERT HALL, manufacturer, was born June 27, 1839, in Lake Geneva, Wis. Through an acquaintance with the late Jerome I. Case, manufacturer of threshing machines, Mr. Baker was finally induced to become a partner in Mr. Case's firm, and he remained successfully engaged in that business until death. He was state senator of Wisconsin in 1872-'76, and mayor of Racine in 1874.

BAKER, SARAH WOODS, author, was born in 1824, in New Haven, Conn. She is the author of the following works: The Babes in the Basket; The Aunt Friendly Books; Timid Lucy; Pictures of Swedish Life; Our Elder Brother; Salt; and six volumes of stories. Her maiden name was Sarah Tuthill. Mrs. Woods-Baker resides in Sweden.

BAKER, STEPHEN, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1819, in New York city. At an early age he engaged in mercantile pursuits, from which he retired in 1849 to a country seat in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress.

BAKER, WILLIAM, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born April 29, 1831, in Washington county, Pa. He was brought up on a farm and graduated from Waynesburg college in 1856. He followed teaching as a profession a number of years, and while teaching studied law and was admitted to the bar. For the last thirteen years he has been engaged in farming and stock raising in Lincoln county, Kans.; and was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses.

BAKER, WILLIAM B., merchant, congressman, was born July 22, 1840, near Aberdeen, Md. He was educated at public and private schools; worked upon a farm until thirty-two years of age, when he commenced fruit packing, and has been engaged in that business ever since. He has frequently been a delegate to state and congressional conventions, and although his county is strongly democratic, he was elected to the house of delegates as a republican in 1881 and to the state senate in 1893. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BAKER, WILLIAM H., artist, was born in 1825, in Lenox, N. Y. One of his best portraits is that of Bishop Quintard of Tennessee, painted for the episcopal general convention. He died May 29, 1875, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BAKER, WILLIAM H., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 17, 1827, in Lenox, N. Y. He removed with his parents to Oswego county in 1829, and received his education at the common schools. He became a mechanic and then a school teacher; studied law, and came to the bar in 1851. In 1862 was elected district attorney for Oswego county; re-elected in 1866, and in 1874 was chosen a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress.

BAKER, WILLIAM MUMFORD, clergyman, author, was born June 27, 1825, in Washington, D. C. He was a popular novelist who was a presbyterian clergyman in the southwest until 1870, and afterwards the pastor of a church in Boston. He was a vigorous writer of considerable originality, whose earlier works possess historic interest as pictures of a now past stage of civilization in the southern states. He was the author of Inside a Chronicle of Secession; The Virginians in Texas; Oak Mot; The New Timothy; Mose Evans; His Majesty Myself; Blessed St. Certainty; Thirlmore; Carter Quarterman; A Year Worth Living; Colonel Dunwoodie; Millionaire; The Making of a Man; The Ten Theophanies; the Manifestations of Christ before His Birth in Bethlehem; and John Westcott, a juvenile tale. He died Aug. 20, 1883, in South Boston, Mass.

BAKER, WILLIAM SPOHN, antiquarian, author, was born April 17, 1824, in Philadelphia, Pa. He possesses a collection of engraved portraits of George Washington which is the most complete that is known; and his number of medals of Washington is second only to that of William S. Appleton, of Boston; while his collection of biographies of Washington is the most noted in existence. He is the author of Origin and Antiquity of Engraving; American Engravers and their Works; William Sharp, Engraver, and His Works; Engraved Portraits of Washington; Medallic Portraits of Washington; Character Portraits of Washington; Bibliotheca Washingtoniana; and Itinerary of George Washington.

BALBACH, EDWARD, smelter, refiner, inventor, was born March 19, 1804, in Germany. He patented a de-silverizing process, which has completely revolutionized the smelting of gold and silver in this country and in Europe, and which brought to his works a continual stream of consignments of gold and silver ores from all the western states and territories and Mexico, and afterward incorporated the business, with himself as president, as The Balbach Smelting and Refining Co. of Newark, N. J. He died Oct. 14, 1890.

BALBACH, EDWARD, metallurgist, inventor, was born July 4, 1839, in Germany. In 1864 he obtained letters patent for a new de-silverizing process for argentiferous lead, which was afterward known as the Balbach Process. He also invented the water jacket used for smelting and refining furnaces. In 1891 he was appointed president of the Balbach Smelting and Refining Co.

BALBACH, LEOPOLD, metallurgist, was born March 17, 1847, in Germany. He founded and incorporated the Omaha Smelting and Refining company of Omaha, Neb.; also established similar works at Chicago, Ill., and at Denver, Colo. For some past years he has been an extensive mine operator.

BALCH, ALFRED, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Florida, and in 1840 was appointed one of the United States judges for that territory.

BALCH, GEORGE BEALL, naval officer, was born Jan. 3, 1821, in Tennessee. He served in the Mexican war, and in 1850 was commissioned lieutenant. In 1861 he enlisted in the United States navy to serve in the civil war, and attained the rank of rear admiral. From 1879-'81 he was superintendent of the naval academy at Annapolis, Md.

BALCH, WILLIAM STEVENS, clergyman, author. He was born in 1806 in Vermont. He was a universalist clergyman, long resident at Elgin, Ill.; and author of Lectures on Language; Grammar of the English Language; Ireland as I Saw It; and A Peculiar People. He died in 1887.

BALDRIDGE, WILLIAM M., lawyer, legislator, was born March 13, 1863, in Saline County, Ark. He graduated from the Little Rock university, and from the law department of the Vanderbilt university. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of his native state at Benton, and served as a representative in the Arkansas state legislature in 1893 and again in 1897.

BALDWIN, ABEL SEYMOUR, physician, state legislator, was born March 19, 1811, in Fulton, N. Y. He was the first president of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf railroad; in 1852 was elected to the Florida legislature; in 1859 was a state senator, and in 1863 was made medical director of Florida and Georgia.

BALDWIN, ABRAHAM, lawyer, statesman, was born Nov. 6, 1754, in Guilford, Conn. He was a graduate of Yale college in 1772, and from 1775 to 1779 was a tutor in that institution. Having studied law, settled in Savannah, Ga.; soon after his arrival there was chosen a member of the legislature; originated the plan of the university of Georgia, drew up the charter, persuaded the assembly to adopt it, and was for some time its president; was a member of the continental congress from 1785 to 1788, and a member of the convention which framed the constitution of the United States, which he duly signed. From 1789 to 1799 he was a representative in congress from Georgia, and from 1799 to 1807 was a member of the United States senate. He died March 4, 1807, in Washington, D. C.

BALDWIN, ALBERT, merchant, manufacturer, financier, was born in 1834 in Watertown, Mass. He is now president of the hardware corporation of A. Baldwin and Co. of New Orleans, La., and is a prominent factor in the business world.

BALDWIN, ALEXANDER W., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1835 in Alabama. He received a legal education and settled in Virginia City, Nev.; in his thirtieth year was appointed United States judge for Nevada. His father, Joseph G. Baldwin, was the author of a popular book entitled The Flush Times of Alabama and Mississippi, and was judge of the supreme court of California. He was killed by a railroad accident Nov. 15, 1869, at Alameda, Cal.

BALDWIN, ASHBEL, clergyman, was born March 7, 1757, in Litchfield, Conn. He served as a quartermaster in the revolutionary war, and was ordained by Bishop Seabury in 1785—the first episcopal ordination in this country. He had preached about 10,000 times, baptized 3,010, married 600 couples, and assisted at the burial of about 3,000 individuals. He died Feb. 8, 1846, in Rochester, N. Y.

BALDWIN, AUGUSTUS C., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 24, 1817, in Salina, N. Y. In 1837 he emigrated to Michigan and settled in Oakland county; taught school, and at the same time studied law, and came to the bar in 1842. In 1844 and 1846 was elected to the legislature of Michigan; in 1853 and 1854 was prosecuting attorney for his adopted county, and was a delegate to the Charleston and Baltimore conventions of 1860. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Michigan to the thirty-eighth congress.

BALDWIN, CHARLES H., naval officer, was born Sept. 3, 1822, in New York city. He entered the navy in 1839. In the war with Mexico he served on the frigate Congress, and in 1861 commanded the steamer Clifton. January, 1883, he was raised to the rank of rear admiral, and assigned to the command of the Mediterranean squadron, and in 1884 was placed on the retired list. He died Nov. 17, 1888, in New York city.

BALDWIN, DANIEL PRATT, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 22, 1837, in Madison county, N. Y. He graduated from Caginina seminary in 1852, the Columbia university in 1856, and from the Columbia Law school in 1860. He was judge of the circuit court in 1870, and attorney-general of Indiana in 1880. He is a platform speaker and a successful man of affairs.

BALDWIN, DAVID C., merchant, legislator, was born Sept. 18, 1836, in Elyria, Ohio. He entered mercantile business with his father and others in Elyria, Ohio, in 1855, continuing therein until 1893. As first lieutenant in the one hundred days service he was actively engaged in some lively skirmishes in West Virginia, where John Brown located. He has been connected with the historical society at Cleveland, Ohio, as incorporator and trustee, and is the donor of a fine archæological collection from American and foreign sources. He was elected to the seventy-second Ohio general assembly as a republican.

BALDWIN, EDWIN THOMAS, composer, was born July 19, 1832, in New Ipswich, N. H. He is a composer of band music and sacred quartettes, and president of the New Hampshire State association.

BALDWIN, FREDERICK W., lawyer, author, was born Sept. 29, 1848, in Lowell, Vt. He is one of the leading lawyers of Vermont at Barton, and the author of Biography of the Bar of Orleans County, Vt. He has been presidential elector, and is prominent in the public enterprises of Barton, Vt., notably that of the Barton Manufacturing company and the Barton Hotel company.

BALDWIN, GEORGE COLFAX, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 21, 1817, in Pompton, N. J. He graduated from Madison university of Hamilton, N. Y., and has been for many years pastor of the First baptist church in Troy, N. Y. He is author of Representative Women of the Bible; Representative Men of the New Testament; and The Model Prayer; a volume of lectures and other works.

BALDWIN, GEORGE VAN NEST, lawyer, was born Jan. 23, 1838, in New York city. He is one of the ablest lawyers connected with the bar of New York, and the latter years of his life have been occupied more in the line of consultations than in court work.

BALDWIN, HENRY. lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1780, in New Haven, Conn. He graduated at Yale college in 1797; was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1817 to 1822, when he resigned. He was a distinguished lawyer, and was for many years associate judge of the supreme court of the United States. He died April 21, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BALDWIN, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 5, 1867, in Laurel county, Ky. After graduating he taught school for seven years, and in 1895 was elected a member of the Kentucky state legislature from the seventy-first legislative district.

BALDWIN, HENRY PORTER, state senator, governor, United States senator, was born Feb. 22, 1814, in Coventry, R. I. In 1838 he moved to Detroit, Mich.; became president of the Second national bank of Detroit; and was for two years a state senator. In 1868 he was elected governor of Michigan, to which position he brought a full store of general information gathered from foreign travel and the study of men and books; and re-elected in 1870 for a second term. In 1879 he was appointed United States senator to fill a vacancy.

BALDWIN, JAMES MARK, educator, author, was born Jan. 12, 1861, in Columbia, S. C. In 1884 he graduated from the Princeton university, and has attained success as an educator. During 1887-89 he was professor in the Lake Forest university; professor in the university of Toronto during 1890-93; and since 1893 has been professor in the Princeton university. In 1897 he was elected president of the American Psychological association; and the same year was awarded a gold medal by the Royal academy of Denmark. He is the author of Psychology; Elements of Psychology; Mental Development in the Child and Man; and a translation of Ribot's German Psychology of To-Day.

BALDWIN, JEDUTHAN, soldier, was born Jan. 13, 1732, in Woburn, Mass. He commanded a company during the French and Indian war, and served in the expedition against Crown Point during the autumn of 1775. He served under General St. Clair at Ticonderoga in 1777, and with his regiment was at West Point in 1780. He was a member of the Massachusetts provincial congress in 1774-75. He died June 4, 1788, in Brookfield, Mass.

BALDWIN, JOHN, *congressman, was born in Windham, Conn. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1825 to 1829.

BALDWIN, JOHN D., journalist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 28, 1810, in North Stonington, Conn. In 1842 he became associated with the press, first in Hartford, and then in Boston, and was editor of the Daily Commonwealth, a writer for the Advertiser, and subsequently became the proprietor of the Worcester Spy. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1860; and in 1862 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congress, and in 1866 was elected to the fortieth congress. For many years he was particularly devoted to the study of ancient history, and was the author of Pre-Historic Nations; Ancient America; and Raymond Hill and other poems. He died July 8, 1883, in Worcester, Mass.

BALDWIN, JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Oct. 31, 1827, in New Castle, Pa. For half a century he has been engaged in educational work. He was president of the normal-schools in Indiana for ten years; president of the North Missouri state normal school of Kirksville during 1871-81; president of the Texas state normal school of Huntsville during 1881-91; and since that time has been professor of pedagogy in the university of Texas. This eminent educator is the author of Art of School Management; Elementary Psychology; Psychology Applied to the Art of Teaching; and School Management and School Methods.

BALDWIN, JOSEPH ELIAS, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1826, in New York city. In 1846 he graduated from the Wabash college of Crawfordsville, Ind., and taught school several years after graduation. He studied law in Buffalo, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in 1858. In 1864 he was elected a member of the Missouri state senate from Potosi, Mo., and served with distinction for two years.

BALDWIN, JOSEPH G., jurist, author, was born in 1811 in Sumter, Ala. He was a popular humorous writer and a jurist of prominence in Alabama, and afterward of California, of which state he became chief justice. He is the author of Flush Times in Alabama and Mississippi; and Party Leaders, able papers on southern statesmen. He died Sept. 30, 1864, in San Francisco, Cal.

BALDWIN, MRS. LYDIA WOOD, author, was born in 1836 in Massachusetts. She is the author of Rubina; and A Yankee School-Teacher in Virginia.

BALDWIN, MARY H., educator, author, was born May 31, 1841, in Crawfordsville, Ind. For many years she taught with success in Glendale and Rutgers female colleges. She is the author of Voice-Placing for Elocution; Speech and Song; and teaches in New York city the way to restore lost voices by her methods.

BALDWIN, MATTHIAS WILLIAM, locomotive builder, was born Dec. 10, 1795. Under the name of M. W. Baldwin and Co. he started on a small scale the great works which yet bear his name. In 1835 fourteen engines were produced, and the next year forty, and the works now have a capacity of 1,200 engines per year. He died Sept. 7, 1866, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BALDWIN, MELVIN R., was born April 12, 1838, in Windsor county, Vt. He removed to Wisconsin in 1847; entered

Lawrence university of Appleton in 1855; studied law, and then adopted civil engineering as a profession. He was engaged on Chicago and Northwestern railway till April 19, 1861, when he enlisted as a private in company E, second Wisconsin infantry, brigaded with the Iron brigade. He was slightly wounded at the first and severely wounded at the second battle of Bull Run; and promoted to captain of his company. He was captured at Gettysburg and confined in Libby, Charleston, and Columbia. He made two escapes, but was recaptured, and was finally exchanged after seventeen months' imprisonment. He removed to Minnesota in 1875, and has resided in Duluth since 1885; and president of Duluth chamber of commerce since 1886. He twice declined congressional nomination; and was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat. At close of congressional term he was appointed by President Cleveland chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission, holding this position until 1897.

BALDWIN, RODERICK, soldier, journalist, lawyer, was born May 17, 1833, in Stanford, N. Y. In 1862 he enlisted as first lieutenant in the one hundred and twenty-ninth New York infantry, and from 1863-64 was detailed judge advocate of the military commission. In 1870 he became editor and proprietor of the Standard of Warrensburg, Mo.

BALDWIN, ROGER SHERMAN, lawyer, United States senator, was born Jan. 4, 1793, in New Haven, Conn. In 1837 he was elected to the state senate; re-elected in 1838, and chosen president pro tempore of that body; and was a trustee of Yale college in 1838 and 1839. In 1840 and 1841 he was a representative in the general assembly. In 1844 and 1845 he was governor of the state; in 1847 was appointed, and in 1848 elected, to the United States senate by the legislature of Connecticut, serving until 1851. He died Feb. 10, 1863, in New Haven, Conn.

BALDWIN, SIMEON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1761, in Norwich, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1803 to 1805, and declined a re-election. In 1806 he was appointed, by the legislature, associate judge of the superior court and of the supreme court of errors, and held the office until 1817. In 1822 he was chosen by the general assembly one of the commissioners to locate the Farmington canal, and was made president of that board. In 1826 he was elected mayor of New Haven. He died May 26, 1851, in New Haven, Conn.

BALDWIN, SIMEON EBEN, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 5, 1840, in New Haven, Conn. In 1872 he was professor of constitutional law in Yale university. In 1893 he became associate judge of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut. During 1872-87 he was a member of various state commissions for the revision of laws on education, pleading, taxation and general statutes. In 1890 he was president of the American Bar association; president of the American Social Science association in 1897; and during 1884-96 was president of the New Haven Colony Historical society.

BALDWIN, THERON, missionary, was born July 21, 1801, in Goshen, Conn. He went as a missionary to Illinois in 1829, but in 1831 he went east to solicit funds for the Illinois college, opened in Jacksonville. He was first principal of Monticello seminary. He died April 10, 1870, in Orange, N. J.

BALDWIN, THOMAS, clergyman, was born Dec. 23, 1753, in Bozrah, Conn. In 1773 he was elected to the Connecticut state legislature; in 1790 was installed pastor of the Second baptist church of Boston; and in 1803 he published the American Baptist Missionary Magazine. He died Aug. 29, 1825, in Waterville, Maine.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM ASHBRIDGE, railroad president, was born June 28, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1893 he has been president of the Cleveland and Marietta railway.

BALDWIN, W. H., railroad manager. In 1888-90 he was general manager of the Montana Union railway, of which he was also president for a short time. He has been assistant vice-president of the Union Pacific railway at Omaha, Neb.; was general manager of the Flint and Pere Marquette railroad during 1891-94; and since 1895 has been second vice-president of the Southern railway at Washington, D. C.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM S., railroad manager, was born Jan. 18, 1833, in Clarke county, Ga. Since 1852 he has been in the railway service; since 1885 has been supervisor of the Louisville and Nashville railroad; and since 1889 supervisor of the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West railway at Sanford, Fla.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM W., railroad president, was born Sept. 28, 1845, in Keosauqua, Iowa. He is president of the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern railroad; and also of the Chicago, Burlington and Kansas City railway.

BALDWIN, WINFRED, clergyman, was born Feb. 11, 1851, in Blenheim, N. Y. In 1872 he graduated from the New York Conference seminary; and six years later from the Boston University School of Theology. For eleven years he was a member of the East Maine conference of the methodist episcopal church; and since 1889 has been a member of the North Dakota conference.

BALES, ELISHA J., physician, was born in 1850 in Xenia, Ohio. He graduated from the Cincinnati Medical and Surgical college; and has attained eminence as a prominent physician of Pacific Junction, Iowa, where he is United States pension examiner, and examiner for the New York Life and the Mutual Insurance companies.

BALESTIER, CHARLES WOLCOTT, author, was born Dec. 30, 1861, in Rochester, N. Y. He was an American writer who established himself as a publisher in London, and whose sister was married to Rudyard Kipling, the novelist. He was the author of A Fair Deceit; Life of Blaine; A Victorious Defeat; Benefits Forgot; The Naulahka, with Rudyard Kipling, and A Common Story. He died in 1891.

BALKE, JULIUS, manufacturer, was born March 30, 1830, in Germany. In 1879 the New York billiard manufacturer, W. H. Collender, joined his corporation, and business has been conducted since then by The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co.

BALL, BYRON D., lawyer, state senator, was born July 19, 1844, in Rochester, N. Y. In 1871-72 he was state senator of Michigan, and was chairman of the committee of railroads. He was elected attorney-general of Michigan in 1872 and served up to 1874, when he resigned on account of ill health. He built a block of stores in Grand Rapids, and was interested with his father in other enterprises.

BALL, CHARLES P., soldier, railroad manager, was born Aug. 16, 1837, in Montgomery county, Ala. Since 1853 he has been in the railroad service as civil engineer and general manager. During 1857-61 he attended the West Point academy, and served with distinction in the confederate army during the civil war. Since 1888 he has been general manager of the East and West railroad of Alabama at Cartersville, Ga.

BALL, EDWARD, congressman was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1853 to 1855, and was re-elected to the thirty-fourth congress.

BALL, EPHRAIM, inventor, was born Aug. 12, 1812, in Greentown, Ohio. The Ohio Mower was invented by Mr. Ball in 1854, and afterward he devised the World Mower and Reaper, and in 1858 the Buckeye Machine was brought out, all of which have sold extensively. He died Jan. 1, 1872, in Canton, Ohio.

BALL, GEORGE HARVEY, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 7, 1819, in Canada. After graduating from the divinity school of Lewiston, Maine, he taught school in Ohio. For thirty years he was pastor of the baptist church in Buffalo, N. Y.; for seven years was editor of the Baptist Union of New York city; and in 1892 became president of the Keuka college, New York. He has always taken a deep interest in governmental affairs, and was a member of the first republican convention at Philadelphia, which nominated John C. Fremont for the presidency. He is the author of several books, and has contributed extensively to periodical literature.

BALL, GEORGE W. I., lawyer, conveyancer. He has been connected with railroads as military agent and general passenger and ticket agent; and since 1884 has been chief conveyancer of the Pennsylvania railroad of Philadelphia, Pa.

BALL, HERMAN F., civil engineer, railroad manager, was born Dec. 17, 1867, in Altoona, Pa. Since 1884 he has been in the railroad service; has been chief draftsman in the car department of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad at Cleveland, Ohio; and since 1894 has been general car inspector of that company.

BALL, HOWARD J., railroad manager, was born May 23, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1863 he has been in the railroad service; and since 1887 has been general western passenger agent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at Buffalo, N. Y.

BALL, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, philanthropist, was born Nov. 12, 1794, in Hebron, N. Y. In 1820 he graduated from Dartmouth college; taught school for a number of years; and from 1824 practiced law. In 1837 he settled in Grand Rapids, Mich.; in 1838 he was a representative in the Michigan state legislature; and was interested in schools, geology, lyceums and other local enterprises. He died Feb. 5, 1884, in Grand Rapids, Mich., and willed to that city forty acres of land, which is now known as the John Ball Park.

BALL, R. T. MASON, naval officer. In 1880 he entered the navy; in 1881 joined the Mayflower for a practice cruise with naval cadets. In 1884 he joined the monitor fleet and served two years; in 1885 joined the monitor Nantucket at New York for experimental cruise; and subsequently joined the United States naval station at New London, Conn.

BALL, THOMAS, sculptor, was born June 3, 1819, in Charlestown, Mass. In early life he was a singer of basso parts in oratorios, and a portrait painter in Boston. About 1852 he devoted himself to modeling, and made a miniature bust of Jenny Lind, another of Daniel Webster, and a life-size statue of the statesman. His statue of Webster, in the Central park of New York city, is his noblest work.

BALL, THOMAS H., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1859, in Huntsville, Tex. He was educated in private schools and Austin college, in his native town; afterwards obtained practical business training upon a farm and in the mercantile business; and served three terms as mayor of Huntsville. He attended lectures at the university of Virginia and was elected president of the law class. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BALL, WILLIAM CREIGHTON, educator, journalist, was born Dec. 27, 1846, in Terre Haute, Ind. For many years he taught school in his native city; and since 1872 has been proprietor and editor of the Terre Haute Daily, Evening and Weekly Gazette. He has always taken an active part in public affairs, and is a member of the Terre Haute board of park commissioners.

BALL, WILLIAM LEE, congressman, was born in 1779, in Lancaster county, Va. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1824. He died Feb. 28, 1824, in Washington, D. C.

BALLANCE, ROBERT, railroad manager, was born Dec. 22, 1850, in Canada. Since 1866 he has been in the railway service as machinist to the Michigan Central railroad; and since 1870 general manager of the machinist department of the Burlington and Missouri River railroad at Denver, Colo.

BALLANTINE, JOHN G., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 20, 1827, in Pulaski, Tenn. He received a classical education, graduating from the university of Nashville in 1845. He studied law; graduated from Harvard law school in 1848; and was admitted to the bar. He engaged in planting; removed to Mississippi in 1855, and to Memphis, Tenn., in 1860. He served in the confederate army throughout the civil war; and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

BALLANTINE, WILLIAM DUNCAN, soldier, civil engineer, state legislator, was born Feb. 21, 1837, near Whitesboro, N. Y. He graduated from the Georgia military institute of Marietta, and has attained note as a successful mechanical and hydraulic engineer. During the civil war he was in the confederate service and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel. He has been connected with various railroads as master mechanic and hydraulic engineer in Georgia and Florida. For four years he was commander of the first battalion Florida state troops; was aid-de-camp on the governor's staff; and in 1897 he was elected a member of the Florida state legislature from Fernandina.

BALLANTINE, WILLIAM GAY, educator, college president, was born Dec. 7, 1848, in Washington, D. C. In 1875 he was appointed professor of Greek in the university of Indiana; and in 1891 was elected president of Oberlin college.

BALLANTYNE, REV. MARLIN J., educator, clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 30, 1852, near Brookville, Pa. He received his education in the public schools and at Dayton Union academy. For seven years he taught school, and for nearly twenty years has been engaged in the ministry. He is now presiding elder of the Oregon Conference of the United Evangelical Church, president of the La Fayette seminary, and teacher of political economy and ethics in the same institution. He has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the religious press.

BALLARD, ANDREW JACKSON, lawyer, journalist, legislator, was born about 1817. In 1842-43 he represented the city of Louisville in the legislature. In 1871 he became the principal political editor of the Louisville Daily and Weekly Commercial.

BALLARD, ASA N., soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 17, 1842, in Wilmington, Ohio. During the civil war he served with distinction in the forty-eighth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry, and was lieutenant. For many years he was superintendent of public schools in Illinois and Indiana, and principal of the Ward school of Indianapolis. He is now a successful physician of Birmingham, Ala.; has been president of the Alabama Homœopathic association; and president of the board of pensions of examining surgeons of Birmingham, Ala.

BALLARD, BLAND, pioneer, legislator, was born Oct. 16, 1761, in Fredericksburg, Va. As a major of Kentucky volunteers he led an expedition against the British and Indians at the river Raisin, in Michigan, in 1814, where he was wounded and taken prisoner. He was for several terms a member of the Kentucky legislature. Ballard county, Ky., and Blandville, its capital, commemorate his services during the early history of the state. He died Sept. 5, 1853, in Shelby county, Ky.

BALLARD, BLAND W., soldier, pioneer, legislator, was born Oct. 16, 1761, in Fredericksburg, Va. He was a noted pioneer; served in the war of 1812; and repeatedly represented Shelby county in the Kentucky legislature. He died Sept. 5, 1853.

BALLARD, EZRA H., educator, physician, was born Nov. 18, 1843, in Helena, N. Y. He received his education at the public schools; Fort Covington academy; State Normal school of Albany, N. Y.; and in 1868 graduated from the medical department of the university of Michigan. During 1871-73 he served as superintendent of schools in Emmet county, Iowa; and again during 1885-89, serving nearly eight years. During 1874-79 he was county treasurer; and since 1879 has given his whole attention to the practice of medicine at Westerville. In 1888 he was elected a member of the educational council, and has always taken an active part in educational matters.

BALLARD, HARLAN HOGE, educator, author, was born May 26, 1853, in Athens, Ohio. He is the founder and president of The Agassiz association, which was established in 1875 at Pittsfield, Mass. He is the author of Three Kingdoms; One Thousand Blunders of English Corrected; World of Matter; and with the Hon. S. Proctor Thayer was joint author of Barnes' Readers, and the American Plant-book.

BALLARD, HENRY, lawyer, lecturer, orator, politician, was born April 20, 1839, in Tinnmouth, Vt. In 1861 he graduated from the university of Vermont; and from the Albany Law school in 1863. He served one year in the civil war in the fifth Vermont volunteer infantry. He has been city attorney of Burlington, Vt.; and states attorney of his county. In 1888-89 he was a member of the Vermont house of representatives, and a member of the state senate in 1878-79. He was the delegate from Vermont to the republican national convention in 1884; and assistant secretary of the national republican convention in 1888. He has filled many positions of honor; was one of the charter members of the Vermont Commandery of the Loyal Legion, and judge advocate of G. A. R. for Vermont.

BALLARD, HENRY E., naval officer, was born in 1785, in Maryland. He was a lieutenant on board the U. S. frigate Constitution in her famous action with the British cruisers Cyane and Levant in the bay of Biscay in 1815. He died May 23, 1855, in Annapolis.

BALLARD, MINNIE C., journalist, poet, was born in 1852, in Troy, Pa. Since 1873 she has been a constant contributor of poetry and prose to current literature.

BALLARD, TILGHMAN E., journalist, author, was born Nov. 11, 1850, in Boone county, Ind. He received his education at the Smithsonian college, and the DePauw university. He is best known as a law writer, and president of the Ballard Publishing company of Crawfordsville, Ind. He is the author of Ballards' Real Estate Statutes of Indiana; Ballards' Real Estate Statutes of Kentucky; Ballards' Ohio Law of Real Property; and various other works.

BALLINGER, RICHARD ACHILLES, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 9, 1858, in Boonesboro, Iowa. In 1884 he graduated from the Williams college, Mass.; having previously prepared for college at the state university of Kansas, and Washburn college of Topeka.

He has been eminently successful as a lawyer; acted as U. S. commissioner in 1890-92, under appointment of District U. S. Judge Hanford of Washington; and has held the high office of judge of superior court for Jefferson county, Wash. He is the author of Ballinger on Community Property, a law publication covering the property rights of married persons in several of the coast and southern states; and also author of Ballinger's Annotated Code and Statutes of Washington.

BALLOU, AARON BRYON, physician, scientist, was born July 29, 1831, in Eagle Harbor, N. Y. He is a distinguished scientist and owns one of the best individual geological and mineralogical collections in the state of Indiana.

BALLOU, MRS. ADDIE LUCIA, artist, poet, was born April 29, 1837, in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. She is a successful artist, journalist, and speaker of San Francisco, Cal., in which city she is president of the Nationalist club.

BALLOU, ADIN, clergyman, author, was born in 1803 in Rhode Island. He was a universalist clergyman of Milford, Mass., and the author of Christian Non-Resistance Defended; Treatise on Spirit Manifestations; Primitive Christianity and its Corruptions; and History of the Town of Milford. He died in 1890.

BALLOU, AURELIA A., writer, poet, was born in Hannibal, Mo. She is the author of over one thousand letters written to prominent newspapers, the first being written in 1859, and dated Florence, Italy. She has also contributed many meritorious poems to current literature, and her productions appear in Poets of America and other standard works.

BALLOU, DANIEL R., lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 6, 1837, in Smithfield, R. I. He received his education in the schools of Rhode Island and the Brown university. During the civil war he served as a union soldier in the twelfth regiment of the Rhode Island volunteer infantry and was promoted lieutenant; also was colonel in the Rhode Island militia. He has served as a member of the Rhode Island general assembly from Smithfield and Providence. He has been a member of the city council of Providence, and president of the board of aldermen. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer, and is the senior member of the law firm of Ballou and Tower of Providence, R. I.

BALLOU, DANIEL W., soldier, journalist, was born Feb. 26, 1837, in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. He served as a union soldier in company K, tenth regiment Illinois infantry. He participated in fifteen engagements, and his dash and bravery became proverbial in the army. He carried an unextricable rebel bullet in his lungs for twenty-three years, and finally died from its effects March 9, 1885, in Oakland, Cal.

BALLOU, ELI, D. D., clergyman, journalist, was born Dec. 1, 1808, in Leroy, N. Y. From 1840 to 1870 he was the owner and editor of the universalist periodical, entitled The Christian Repository. He died March 12, 1883.

BALLOU, FREDERICK MILTON, manufacturer, legislator, was born June 21, 1818, in Cumberland, R. I. He was a successful woolen manufacturer and represented the city of Baltimore in the state legislature in 1870 and 1883, and for three years was a member of the city council. He died in 1889.

BALLOU, HENRY LATIMER, financier, legislator, was born Oct. 14, 1841, in Cambridge, Mass. He is a successful financier and treasurer of various banks and societies. He was elected to the Rhode Island state senate in 1888.

BALLOU, HOSEA, clergyman, author, was born April 30, 1771, in Richmond, N. H. He is justly regarded as the most distinguished Ballou in America, and two separate volumes have been published to commemorate his celebrity. He was the author of a treatise on Atonement; Notes on the Parables, and other religious works. He was the founder of universalism, and established the first newspaper devoted to this doctrine. After sixty years of public service, he died June 7, 1852, in Boston, Mass.

BALLOU, HOSEA, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 18, 1796, in Halifax, Vt. He was a universalist clergyman and the first president of Tufts college in 1854-61. He was the author of Ancient History of Universalism. He died May 27, 1861, in Somerville, Mass.

BALLOU, HOSEA, farmer, merchant, genealogist, was born July 12, 1827, in Fenner, N. Y. He is a successful business man, and aided greatly in collecting historical data for the genealogy of the Ballou family.

BALLOU, HOSEA, farmer, merchant, genealogist, was born July 12, 1827, in Fenner, N. Y. He is a successful business man, and aided greatly in collecting historical data for the genealogy of the Ballou family.

BALLOU, HOSEA, farmer, merchant, genealogist, was born July 12, 1827, in Fenner, N. Y. He is a successful business man, and aided greatly in collecting historical data for the genealogy of the Ballou family.

BALLOU, HOSEA STARR, banker, was born Feb. 9, 1857, in North Orange, Mass. He graduated from the Harvard university and the university of Berlin, and is a successful financier and banker of Boston, Mass.

BALLOU, LATIMER WHIPPLE, financier, banker, legislator, author, was born March 1, 1812, in Cumberland, R. I. He commenced life as a printer, and was one of the founders of the Cambridge Press, with which he remained for seven years. In 1850 he became treasurer and bank cashier of the Woonsocket Institution for Savings, the deposits of which institution rose to five million dollars under his sagacious and judicious management. He has always taken a deep interest in public affairs; was presidential elector in 1860; delegate from Rhode Island to the national republican convention in 1872; elected a representative in congress in 1874, receiving the re-election the two succeeding terms, and filled that office with distinction. He is the author of the Ballou Genealogy, a work which reflects great honor on himself and his descendants.

BALLOU, MATURIN MURRAY, publisher, author, was born April 14, 1820, in Boston, Mass., and a son of H. Ballou, 2nd. He is the founder and editor of several periodicals in Boston which bore his name, and, in his later years, a traveler to all parts of the world. He is the author of History of Cuba; Life of Hosea Ballou; Due West, or Round the World in Ten Months; Due South, or Cuba Past and Present; Due North: Glimpses of Scandinavia and Russia; Under the Southern Cross: Travels in Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand, etc.; Alaska: The New Eldorado; Aztec Land; The Story of Malta; The Pearl of India, a description of Ceylon; Equatorial America, a description of visits to the Lesser Antilles and to South American capitals; and Footprints of Travel.

BALLOU, MOSES, clergyman, author, was born March 24, 1811, in Monroe, Mass. He was a nephew of H. Ballou, 1st, and, like him, a universalist clergyman. He was the author of The Divine Character Vindicated. He died May 19, 1879, in Ato, N. J.

BALLOU, NAHUM ENON, physician, scientist, author, was born Sept. 16, 1822, in Plymouth, N. Y. He has been a student of meteorology for nearly half a century, and is the author of a number of works on that subject. Since 1863 he has been United States pension surgeon, being now one of the oldest in the service.

BALLOU, OREN ALDRICH, manufacturer, legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1813, in Cumberland, R. I. He was a successful manufacturer and represented the city of Providence in the state legislature in 1867-78. He died Feb. 21, 1877.

BALLOU, PHINEAS DODGE, legislator, was born March 3, 1823, in Starksborough, Vt. For two terms he was mayor of Burlington, Vt., and served as a member in the Vermont state legislature. He died Jan. 16, 1877, in Deadwood, N. D.

BALLOU, SULLIVAN, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born March 28, 1827, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a successful lawyer; became a member of the Rhode Island house of representatives, and was unanimously chosen speaker. He was one of the most prominent men of his native state; and lost his life at the disastrous battle of Bull Run.

BALSLEY, ALFRED H., journalist, was born Dec. 15, 1828, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1853 he purchased the Grand River Record; in 1876 purchased the Jeffersonian; and was also the proprietor of the Attica Journal and the Carey Times of Ohio.

BALTES, PETER JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born April 7, 1827, in Bavaria. He studied at the college of the Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., at St. Ignatius college, Chicago, and at Lavalle university, Montreal, and was ordained priest in 1853, and consecrated bishop of Alton in 1870. He was the author of Pastoral Instruction. He died Feb. 15, 1886, in Alton, Ill.

BALTZER, HERMAN R., merchant, was born Feb. 16, 1826, in Germany. He has been Russian vice-consul in New York city, and was a member of a European banking house. Mr. Baltzer is a director of the Germania Life Insurance company, and vice-president of the Colorado Central Consolidated Mining company of New York city.

BAMPFIELD, SAMUEL JONES, lawyer, journalist, legislator, was born Dec. 5, 1849, in Charleston, S. C. He received his education at the Lincoln university of Chester county, Pa. In 1874 he was admitted to the bar by the supreme court; was a member of the state legislature of South Carolina in 1874-76; and clerk of the circuit court during 1876-96. In 1897 he was appointed postmaster of Beaufort, S. C.; and since 1888 has been the editor and proprietor of The New South.

BANCROFT, AARON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 10, 1755, in Reading, Pa. He was a unitarian clergyman of Worcester, Mass., in 1785-1839, and was prominent in the earlier days of the unitarian movement as a writer in its behalf. He was the author of Sermons on the Doctrines of the Gospel; and A Life of Washington. He died Aug. 19, 1839, in Worcester, Mass.

BANCROFT, EDWARD, physician, author, was born Jan. 9, 1744, in Westfield, Mass. He was a physician who resided chiefly in London, where he was supposed to have been a spy of the English government during the American revolution. He was the author of Natural History of Guiana; Researches Concerning the Philosophy of Permanent Colors; Charles Wentworth: a Novel; and several political works. He died Sept. 8, 1820, in England.

BANCROFT, MRS. FLORENCE MAI, poet. She is a successful writer of Lexington, Neb.; and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BANCROFT, GEORGE, historian, was born Oct. 3, 1800, in Worcester, Mass. He commenced his education at Exeter academy, N. H., and graduated at Cambridge university in 1817. In 1818 he visited Europe, studied at Gottingen and Berlin, and traveled extensively. In 1823 he published a volume of poems; in 1824 a translation of Heeren's Politics of Greece; and became a frequent contributor to the North American and other reviews. On his return from Europe he spent one year as a tutor at Harvard; and was at the head of the Round Hill school at Northampton. From 1838 to 1841 he was collector of the port of Boston, appointed by President Van Buren; in 1814 was an unsuccessful candidate for the governorship of Massachusetts; in 1845 was appointed secretary of the navy; and in 1846 was appointed minister to Great Britain, remaining there until 1849. On his return settled in New York and became an active member of various learned societies. In 1841 he published the first volume of his History of the United States, which now contains twelve volumes; in 1855 published his Literary and Historical Miscellanies; in 1865, by invitation of congress, delivered, in the capitol, an oration on the death of Abraham Lincoln; and in 1867 was appointed minister to Prussia. He died in 1891.

BANCROFT, HUBERT HOWE, publisher, author, was born May 5, 1832, in Granville, Ohio. Early in life he moved to San Francisco, Cal., and there opened the first book store on the Pacific coast. He subsequently added a publishing establishment, which has become the largest publishing house west of New York city. He has impressed himself upon the literature of the nineteenth century, by a colossal work entitled History of the Pacific States of North America, including Central America, Mexico, California, Oregon and British Columbia, in thirty-nine volumes. He is also the author of The Native Races of the Pacific States, in five volumes; The Early American Chroniclers; Popular History of the Mexican People; Literary Industries, an autobiography; The Book of the Fair; and Wealth of Nations.

BANCROFT, LUCIUS W., educator, clergyman, was born Aug. 27, 1827, in Worcester, Mass. In 1862 he was professor of divinity in Kenyon college, Gambier, Ohio; for five years professor in the divinity school of Philadelphia, Pa.; and has filled pastorates in the episcopal churches of South Brooklyn, N. Y.

BANCROFT, WILLIAM L., was born Aug. 12, 1825, in Martinsburg, N. Y. In 1859 he was a representative; in 1865 a senator of the Michigan state legislature, and was secretary of the state senate in 1849. He has been a democratic nominee for congress and for secretary of state. He was the first mayor of Port Huron, Mich., and has been postmaster of that city.

BANDELIER, ADOLPH FRANCIS ALPHONSE, archæologist, author, was born Aug. 6, 1840, in Switzerland. He is the author of The Art of War and Mode of Warfare; Tenure of Land and Inheritances of the Ancient Mexicans; Historical Introduction to Studies among the Sedentary Indians of New Mexico; Archæological Tour in Mexico in 1881; and The Delight Makers, a novel of Pueblo Indian Life.

BANES, CHARLES H., soldier, author, was born Oct. 24, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served through the civil war, and attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1864. He is the author of a volume entitled History of the Philadelphia Brigade.

BANGES, FRANCIS C., actor, was born in October, 1837, in Virginia. His first appearance on the stage was in November, 1852, in the Old National theater, Washington, D. C.

BANGS, FRANCIS NEHEMIAH, lawyer, was born Feb. 23, 1828, in New York city. He was one of the original members of the Bar association of New York, and was its president in 1882 and 1883. He was one of the originators of the Union League club in New York city. He died Nov. 30, 1885, in Ocala, Fla.

BANGS, JOHN KENDRICK, journalist, author, was born in 1862 in New York. He is a humorous writer of Yonkers, N. Y., and one of the founders of Life. He is the author of Three Weeks in Politics; Coffee and Repartee; The Idiot; The Water Ghost; Mr. Bonaparte of Corsica; A House Boat on the Styx; The Bicyclers and Other Farces; Topleton's Client; and A Rebellious Heroine.

BANGS, NATHAN, clergyman, author, was born May 2, 1778, in Stratford, Conn. He was an active methodist theologian and controversialist, very prominent in the literary history of his church and a most prolific writer. Among his works are comprised History of the Methodist Episcopal Church to 1840; Errors of Hopkingsianism; Life of Arminius; Letters to a Young Preacher; Letters on Sanctification; and Methodist Episcopacy. He died May 3, 1862, in New York city.

BANIGAN, JOSEPH, manufacturer, was born June 7, 1839, in Ireland. He organized The Woonsocket Rubber company in 1866, and has ever since been its president and general manager, making his home in Providence, R. I.

BANISTER, JOHN, congressman. He was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress from 1778 to 1779, and signed the articles of confederation.

BANISTER, JOHN, botanist, author, was born in 16— in England. He was a Virginia botanist who assisted the English naturalist, John Ray, and was the author of Observations on the Natural Productions of Jamaica; Insects of Virginia; Curiosities of Virginia; The Unseen Lupus; and The Pistolochia, or Serpentina Virginia. The genus Banisteria was named in his honor. He died in 1692 in Virginia.

BANISTER, JOHN, soldier, legislator, was born in Virginia. He was a member of the state assembly, and of the continental congress from 1778 to 1779. In 1781, as lieutenant-colonel of Virginia cavalry, he took an active part in repelling the British from his state. He died 1787 in Hatcher's Run, Va.

BANKARD, HENRY NICHOLAS, business man, was born Dec. 23, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He published a paper which was strongly commended for its breadth of view and its force of statement. He was one of the founders of the real estate exchange of Baltimore, and is also director of the Taxpayer association.

BANKHEAD, JOHN H., farmer, soldier, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1842, in Lamar, Ala. He is a farmer; served four years in the confederate army, being wounded three times, and represented Marion county in the general assembly, sessions of 1865, 1866, and 1867; he was a member of the state senate in 1876-77, and of the house of representatives in 1880-81. He was warden of the Alabama penitentiary from 1881 till 1885, and was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

BANKHEAD, JOHN PINE, naval officer, was born Aug. 3, 1821, in South Carolina. He entered the navy as a midshipman; was made a lieutenant in 1852; commander in 1862; and captain in 1866. He died April 27, 1867, in Arabia.

BANKS, EUGENE, lawyer, poet. He is a successful lawyer of Chicago, Ill., and the author of a volume of poems entitled Where Brooks Go Softly.

BANKS, GARDNER, soldier, was born in Waltham, Mass. At the beginning of the civil war he raised a company for the sixteenth Massachusetts regiment, in which he rose to the rank of colonel in 1862. Gen. Hooker said, in a letter to Governor Andrew: There is no doubt but at Glendale the sixteenth Massachusetts saved the army. He died July 9, 1871, in Waltham, Mass.

BANKS, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1793 in Juniata county, Pa. He received a classical education; studied law; came to the bar in 1819, and settled in the western part of the state. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1831 to 1836, when he resigned to accept the appointment of president judge of the third judicial district of the state. He died April 3, 1864, in Reading.

BANKS, LINN, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was for twenty successive years speaker of the house of delegates of that state. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1838 to 1842. He was drowned Feb. 24, 1842, in Madison county, Va.

BANKS, LOUIS ALBERT, clergyman, was born in 1855 in Oregon. He is a prominent methodist clergyman and the author of The Saloon Keeper's Ledger, a Series of Temperance Discourses; The Fisherman and his Friends; Common Folks' Religion; Revival Quiver, a Record of Revival Campaigns; The People's Christ; White Slaves, or the Oppression of the Worthy Poor; The Honeycombs of Life; and Christ and His Friends.

BANKS, MARY ROSS, author, was born March 4, 1846, in Macon, Ga. Her literary fame was attained principally through her book entitled Bright Days on the Old Plantation, which was published in 1882.

BANKS, MAUD, actress, after a course of study and training at the New York school of acting, went upon the stage in 1886, making her first appearance at Portsmouth, N. H., in the character of Parthenia in Ingomar.

BANKS, NATHANIEL P., legislator, governor, was born in 1816 in Waltham, Mass. He worked in a cotton factory; lectured in public; edited a country newspaper; held a custom house position; practiced law; in 1849 and 1851 was sent to the state legislature; in 1852 was member of congress; in 1853 presided over the state constitutional convention; was three times elected governor of his state; was president of the I. C. R. R. in 1860; served brilliantly as commander in the Union army, and was several times re-elected to congress. He died in 1894.

BANNEKER, BENJAMIN, astronomer, was born Nov. 9, 1731, at Ellicott's Mills, Md. He was an astronomer and mathematician of African descent, who assisted in the original survey of the District of Columbia and published an astronomical almanac 1792-1806. He died in October, 1806, in Baltimore, Md.

BANNING, EPHRAIM, lawyer, was born July 21, 1849, near Bushnell, Ill. He received his education at the public schools and the academy at Brookfield, Mo. He moved to Chicago in 1871, and the following year opened a law office. He has made a specialty of patent and trademark law, and is one of the best known lawyers in his branch of profession in Chicago. In 1896 he was a presidential elector, and in 1897 was appointed by Governor Tanner a member of the state board of charities.

BANNING, HENRY B., general, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1834, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. He received an academic education; studied and practiced law at Mount Vernon, Ohio, until 1861, when he enlisted as a private soldier; rose to the rank of brevet major-general. He represented Knox county in the Ohio legislature in 1866 and 1867; removed to Cincinnati in the year 1869, where he resumed the practice of law. He was elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BANNISTER, E. M., artist, was born in 1833, in Andrews, New Brunswick. He studied art at the Lowell institute, Boston, and spent the greater part of his professional life there. In 1871 he removed to Providence, R. I. He has contributed regularly to the Boston Art club exhibitions. His picture Under the Oaks was awarded a first-class medal at the centennial exhibition of 1876.

BANTA, MELISSA E., poet, was born March 27, 1834, in Cincinnati, Ohio; has attained prominence in literature, and her poems have been given a place in several standard publications. She is the wife of Judge Banta, of Bloomington, Ind.

BANVARD, JOHN, artist, author, poet, was born about 1820, in New York. He was an artist and poet whose famous panorama of the Mississippi covered three miles of canvas. He wrote much indifferent verse, and published books of a miscellaneous nature. He was the author of Amasis, the Last of the Pharaohs, afterward dramatized by him; Carrinia: a Drama; Description of the Mississippi River; Pilgrimage to the Holy Land; The Private Life of a King; A Tradition of the Temple, and a Poem. He died in 1891.

BANVARD, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born May 9, 1810, in New York city, and a brother of John Banvard. He was a baptist clergyman of Massachusetts, who beside contributing somewhat largely to Sunday-school literature wrote much in other directions. He is the author of Romance of American History; Plymouth and the Pilgrims; Novelties of the New World, or Adventures and Discoveries of the First Explorers; Tragic Scenes in the History of Maryland; The American Statesman, a Memoir of Webster; Southern Explorers; Soldiers and Patriots of the Revolution; and Priscilla.

BARAGA, FRIEDRIC, missionary, author, was born June 29, 1797. He was a Roman Catholic missionary who came to America in 1830 from Austria, and became bishop of Sault Ste. Marie in 1852. He devoted himself to mission work among the Chippewa or Ojibway Indians, and beside writing several books in their tongue prepared a Grammar and Dictionary of the Otchipewe Language. He died Jan. 19, 1868, in Marquette, Mich.

BARBE, WAITMAN, lecturer, journalist, author, poet, was born Nov. 19, 1863, in Morgantown, W. Va. He is the editor of the Daily State Journal of Parkersburg, W. Va., and the author of Ashes and Incense, a volume of poems containing gems of rare genius; and a volume of short stories, entitled The Virginias. He has also attained prominence as a lecturer before schools and colleges on literary and educational subjects.

BARBEE, WILLIAM J., educator, clergyman, physician, author, was born in 1816 in Winchester, Ky. He was educated at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, and studied medicine with Dr. Drake, of Cincinnati, where he practiced from 1836 to 1846. He afterward taught school in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri, and also became a preacher of the Christian or Campbellite denomination. He is the author of Physical and Moral Aspects of Geology (Philadelphia, 1859); The Cotton Question; The Scriptural Doctrine of Confirmation; Life of the Apostle Peter, and other works.

BARBER, AMZI LORENZO, capitalist, was born June 22, 1843, at Saxton's River, Vt. In 1867 he graduated from Oberlin college with the degree of A. B.; and in 1868 took charge of the preparatory department of the Howard university of Washington. In 1887 he resigned from the professorship to engage in the real estate business; and since 1878 has been identified with asphalt pavement.

He is president of the Barber Asphalt Pavement company; president of the celebrated Trinidad Asphalt company; and their asphalt pavements are used in the principal cities of the United States. He is one of the foremost business men of Washington, D. C.

BARBER, FRANCIS, soldier, was born in 1751, in Princeton, N. J. In 1767 he graduated from Princeton college; and during 1769-76 he conducted an academy in Elizabethtown, N. J. He served with distinction through the revolutionary war, and attained the rank of adjutant general. He was accidentally killed by a falling tree Feb. 11, 1783, in Newburg.

BARBER, GEORGE FRANKLIN, architect, was born July 30, 1854, in DeKalb, Ill. He is well known as an architect of Knoxville, Tenn.; and a writer on architectural subjects.

BARBER, GERSHOM M., soldier, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1823, in Cayuga county, N. Y. He was professor in Baldwin institute four years and principal two years. He served in the civil war and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1873 he was elected judge of the superior court of Cleveland; in 1875 served on the bench of the court of common pleas; and served two terms as a member of the city council of Cleveland, Ohio.

BARBER, HIRAM, lawyer, congressman, was born March 24, 1835, in Warren county, N. Y. He removed to Wisconsin in 1846, and was educated at the State university at Madison; studied law and was admitted to the bar. He was district attorney of Jefferson county, Wis., in 1861-62; was assistant attorney general of the state in 1865-66; and in 1866 moved to Chicago, Ill. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-sixth congress.

BARBER, HOMER G., business man, state senator, was born in 1830, in Benson, Vt. He removed to Vermontville, Mich., and became a merchant, and in 1871 engaged in banking. In 1871-72 he was state senator from Eaton and Barry counties. In 1861 he was appointed postmaster of Vermontville, and held that position eleven years.

BARBER, ISAAC, physician, surgeon, state senator, was born Sept. 4, 1854, at Forty Fort, Pa. He is a physician by profession. He studied medicine, and graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1879. He served as medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in New York city for one year, and located at Phillipsburg, N. J., in 1880. In 1897 he was elected a member of the New Jersey state senate, and has since continued in active practice.

BARBER, ISAAC AMBROSE, physician, business man, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 26, 1852, near Salem, N. J. He graduated from the Hahnemann medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1873 he moved to Easton, Md.; practiced medicine for fifteen years; and since that time has been engaged in milling. He has been president of the Farmers' and Merchants National bank of Easton, Md.; was a member of the Maryland state legislature in 1895-96; and in 1896 was elected a member of the fifty-fifth congress.

BARBER, J. ALLEN, lawyer, congressman, was born in Georgia, Vt. He obtained a liberal education at the university of Vermont; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1833. In 1837 he removed to the territory of Wisconsin; and was a member of the first constitutional convention of Wisconsin in 1846. He was elected to the state assembly in 1852, 1853, and 1863, serving the last year as speaker. He was elected to the state senate in 1856 and 1857; was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses; and served with ability on numerous important committees.

BARBER, JOHN JAY, soldier, lawyer, artist, was born Sept. 21, 1840, in Sandusky, Ohio. He studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1862; joined the volunteer army in 1863; returned sick, and upon recovery determined to devote himself to painting. He received no instruction in art, but settled in Columbus, Ohio, in 1871, and opened a studio. He devoted himself at first to landscapes, delineating scenes in the Muskingum valley. Subsequently he executed cattle pieces, and after 1881 exhibited in the National academy in New York.

BARBER, JOHN WARNER, author, was born Feb. 2, 1798, in Windsor, Conn. He was an industrious annalist whose compilations, though of slight literary merit, are valuable as historical material not so readily accessible elsewhere. He is the author of Historical Collections of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Virginia, and Ohio, the four last being prepared with the assistance of Henry Howe; History of New Haven; Elements of General History; and Historical Scenes in the United States. He died in June, 1885, in New Haven, Conn.

BARBER, LEVI, congressman, was born in Litchfield county, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1817 to 1819, and again from 1821 to 1823.

BARBER, MARY AUGUSTINE, educator, was born in 1789, in Newtown, Conn. She entered the visitation convent of Georgetown in 1818 with her four daughters. She was a woman of superior education, and the convent and school progressed rapidly during her residence. In 1836 she founded a convent of the visitation in Kaskaskia, Ill., where she remained until 1844. She died in 1860, in Mobile, Ala.

BARBER, NOYES, merchant, lawyer, congressman, was born April 28, 1781, in Groton, Conn. He was in early life a merchant, but a lawyer by profession; and was a representative in congress from his native state from 1821 to 1835. He died Jan. 3, 1845, in Groton, Conn.

BARBER, OTHO C., president of the Diamond Match company, was born April 20, 1841, in Middlebury, N. Y. In 1880,

The Barber Match company, of which he was at the head, was making over one-fourth of the matches manufactured in the United States. About this time, Mr. Barber saw the advantages of consolidating a number of the leading manufactories, and instead of thirty factories being required for their manufacture, ninety per cent. of the matches in America are now manufactured in five factories. In 1889 The American Straw Board company was organized with $6,000,000 capital, with Mr. Barber as president, in which position he served until 1894. In 1891 Mr. Barber and associates founded the town of Barberton, Ohio. He is president of The Ohio Tube company, of Warren, Ohio, and of The Barberton Belt Line Railroad company.

BARBER, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, lawyer, was born Sept. 10, 1869, in Chester, county, S. C. In 1889 he graduated with distinction from the South Carolina college, and received the degrees of A. B. and LL. B. In 1894 he was elected attorney general of South Carolina, and in 1896 received the re-election without opposition.

BARBOUR, G. L., author, poet. He is the author of The End of Time; and his poems have appeared in numerous collections.

BARBOUR, GEORGE HARRISON, manufacturer, was born June 26, 1843, in Collinsville, Conn. He is the president and general manager of the Michigan Stove company; first president of the Chamber of Commerce; president of the Manufacturing club; director of the Buck Stove and Range company, of St. Louis, Mo.; ex-president of the National Association Stove manufactory; and served as president of the city council of Detroit in 1888. He has taken an active part in the business and public affairs of his city and state; and has been foremost in various public improvements and charitable works.

BARBOUR, JAMES, state senator, governor, was born June 10, 1775, in Orange county, Va. He was speaker of the house of delegates, and governor of that state; and was a senator in congress from 1815 to 1825. He was appointed secretary of war in 1825, and minister to England in 1828. He died June 8, 1842, in Orange county, Va.

BARBOUR, JOHN HUMPHREY, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1854, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is an episcopal clergyman, professor of New Testament interpretation at the Berkeley Divinity school of Middletown, Conn.; and the author of Beginnings of the Historic Episcopate.

BARBOUR, JOHN S., congressman, was born Aug. 8, 1790, in Culpeper county, Va. He was in early life a member of the state legislature; from 1823-33 a member of congress from Virginia; member of the constitutional convention in 1829-30; and again in the state legislature in 1833-34. He died Jan. 12, 1855, in Culpeper county, Va.

BARBOUR, JOHN S., lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 29, 1820, in Culpeper county, Va. He began the practice of law in his native county of Culpeper; was elected to the legislature of Virginia from Culpeper county in 1847, and was re-elected, serving four consecutive sessions. He was elected president of the railroad company then called the Orange and Alexandria Railroad company in 1852, and served in that position until it was merged into what is now known as the Virginia Midland Railroad company, of which he was president till he resigned, in 1883. He was elected to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses, and was elected to the United States senate, serving during 1889-95.

BARBOUR, JOSEPH L., lawyer, legislator. From 1877 to 1884 he was prosecuting attorney of Hartford, Conn. He is a popular member of the Connecticut state legislature and the speaker of the house.

BARBOUR, LUCIEN, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born March 4, 1811, in Canton, Conn. He was appointed, by President Polk, United States district attorney; acted a number of times as arbitrator between the state of Indiana and private corporations; and in 1852 was appointed a commissioner to prepare a code of practice for the state. He was a representative from Indiana in the thirty-fourth congress.

BARBOUR, LUCIUS ALBERT, manufacturer, was born Jan. 26, 1846, in Madison, Ind. In 1882 he became identified with The Willimantic Linen Co., a concern organized in 1854, which was the first to make all sizes of six-cord spool cotton from the raw material, and is now president and treasurer of that great industry.

BARBOUR, OLIVER LORENZO, lawyer, author, was born July 12, 1811, in Cambridge, N. Y. He was an eminent lawyer of New York state; and the author of Equity Digest; Criminal Law; The Law of Set-Off; Practice of the Court of Chancery; and Summary of the Law of Parties to Actions at Law, and many legal reports. He died Dec. 18, 1889, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

BARBOUR, PHILIP P., lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born May 25, 1783, in Orange county, Va. He was a member of congress from Virginia from 1814-25 and 1827-30; speaker of the house of representatives in 1821; and in 1825 was appointed judge of the eastern district of Virginia. In 1836 he was appointed associate judge of the supreme court of the United States. He died Feb. 25, 1841, in Washington city.

BARBOUR, ROBERT, manufacturer. With his brother Thomas he established the industry in Paterson, N. J., under the name of The Barbour Flax Spinning Co., Robert being president of the company.

BARBOUR, THOMAS, manufacturer, was born July 9, 1832, in Ireland. In 1865 The Barbour Flax Spinning Co. was established, with mills in Paterson, Thomas Barbour becoming president until 1875, when Robert was elected president and Thomas vice-president and treasurer. He died Jan. 19, 1885.

BARBOZA, MARY GARNET, missionary, was born Jan. 17, 1845, in Troy, N. Y. In 1881 her father was appointed United States missionary to Liberia, and she accompanied him to Africa. She visited the United States and England and secured many friends for the two hundred native children that composed her native school. She died Dec. 2, 1890, in Liberia, Africa.

BARCLAY, DAVID, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1855-57.

BARCLAY, JAMES TURNER, clergyman, author, was born in 1807, in Virginia. He was a leading clergyman of the Campbellite faith, and for many years a missionary in Jerusalem. He is best known as the author of The City of the Great King, a description of Jerusalem. He died in 1874.

BARCLAY, ROBERT, physician, was born May 8, 1857, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1883 he was elected assistant aural surgeon in the New York Eye and Ear infirmary, serving until 1885, when he resigned, and removed to St. Louis, Mo. By the St. Louis Medical society he was appointed a delegate to the American Medical association in 1888 and in 1893.

BARCLAY, SHEPARD, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1847, in St. Louis, Mo. He received his education in the public and high schools, St. Louis university, university of Virginia and Berlin university. He began the practice of law in 1872; in 1882 was elected circuit judge in St. Louis; and in 1888 was made a judge of the supreme court.

BARCLAY, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, physician, was born Feb. 13, 1842, in Jacksonville, Pa. He discovered and applied gold compounds in 1893, in which he successfully combined gold with bromine, mercury, arsenic, and other metals, in the face of the decree of chemistry that such compounds were impossible.

BAR, DAVID, congressman, was a graduate of Princeton college in 1773. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1795 to 1799, and again from 1803 to 1815. He died in 1815, in Virginia.

BAR, JOHN, founder of St. Stephen's college, was born June 2, 1819, in Hyde Park, N. Y. He was the founder of St. Stephen's college, at Annandale, N. Y., a diocesan training-school for students for the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church, preparatory to entrance in the general theological seminary in New York city.

BAR, WILLIAM, was born in October, 1777, in New York. He was a pioneer in life insurance in the United States, and for twelve years from its foundation in 1830 the president of the New York Life Insurance and Trust company. He died Oct. 17, 1853.

BARGER, SAMUEL F., lawyer, financier, was born Oct. 19, 1832, in New York city. He is a director of the Central Railroad company; Harlem road; Lake Shore and Michigan Southern; the Chicago and Northwestern; Union Telegraph company; and many other business corporations. He was one of the founders of the Manhattan club, and also of the Casino and Reading room at Newport.

BARGHOORN, CHARLES D., lawyer, was born Jan. 1, 1860, in Holland. During 1883-87 he served as a school trustee; during 1884-86 was a justice of the peace; and since 1892 has been prosecuting attorney in Luther, Mich. Since 1885 he has been in the active practice of law, in which he has been eminently successful.

BARHAM, JOHN A., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born July 17, 1844, in Missouri. He removed with his parents to California in 1849, and was educated in the common schools and at the Hesperian college, in Woodland, Cal. He taught in the public schools of California for three years; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1868, and has practiced his profession since. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

BARHYDT, THEODORE WELLS, railroad president, banker, capitalist, was born April 10, 1835, in Newark, N. J.

He received an academic education in the Lyceum academy of Schenectady, N. Y. In 1855 he moved to Burlington, Iowa, where he became one of the principal clerks in the post-office. In 1859 he entered mercantile business; and since 1870 has been president of the Merchants' National bank of Burlington, of which institution he was one of the organizers. He was one of the organizers of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern Railroad company, and is now president of the Burlington and North Western and of the Burlington and Western Railroad companies. He is the owner of the Delano hotel and several other fine business buildings; was instrumental in establishing the Burlington water works; and was one of the principal promoters and builders of the first street railroad in his city. He has been president of the Board of Trade, and a member of the city council, and filled various other public positions of honor.

BARIGHT, MARIE LOUISE, educator, elocutionist, was born Aug. 12, 1864, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. She received her education in Cook's Collegiate institute of her native city; subsequently attending the Boston university, and the School of Expression of Boston, Mass.; and finally studied in the Chicago university. She has been professor of Elocution and English Literature in the State Normal schools of West Chester, Pa.; and filled the same chair in the university of Oregon.

BARKER, ABRAHAM A., merchant, congressman, was born March 30, 1816, in Lovell, Maine. Mr. Barker was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1860; and in 1864 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-ninth congress.

BARKER, DAVID, lawyer, congressman, was a lawyer by profession. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1827 to 1829. He died April 1, 1834, in Rochester, N. H.

BARKER, FORDYCE, physician, author, was born May 2, 1819, in Wilton, Maine. He was a New York physician of prominence and a professor in the Bellevue hospital from 1860; and the author of On Sea-Sickness; and On Puerperal Diseases. He died in 1891.

BARKER, GEORGE FREDERICK, educator, author, was born July 14, 1835, in Charlestown, Mass. He has been professor of physics in the university of Pennsylvania since 1873. He is the author of Correlation of Vital and Physical Forces; and Text Book of Elementary Chemistry.

BARKER, JAMES NELSON, author, poet, was born June 17, 1784, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia poet and playwright, and was comptroller of the United States treasury in 1838-50. His dramas include Marmion; The Indian Princess; Superstition; and Smiles and Tears. He died March 9, 1858, in Washington, D. C.

BARKER, JAMES WILLIAM, merchant, was born Dec. 5, 1815, in White Plains, N. Y. In 1859 he established an extensive house in Pittsburg, and transacted annually a very large business. In 1854 he was the Know-nothing candidate for mayor of New York city, but was defeated in a closely contested election by Fernando Wood. He was very active in the founding of the Order of the Star Spangled Banner, a secret organization, having for its object the prevention of the political ascendancy of the foreign-born inhabitants of the United States, and was its principal officer in 1853. From 1867 till his death he was president of the Eclectic Life Insurance company, New York. He died June 26, 1869, in Rahway, N. J.

BARKER, JOSEPH, clergyman, congressman. He commenced his classical studies at Harvard university, and graduated at Yale college in 1771. He was an ordained preacher of the gospel; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1805 to 1809. He died in 1815.

BARKER, JOSIAH, shipbuilder, was born Nov. 16, 1763, in Marshfield, Mass. He was United States naval constructor about 1810, and built the Virginia in 1818, the Warren in 1826, the Cumberland in 1842, and other men-of-war. He also rebuilt the Constitution in 1834, and furnished the plans for the Portsmouth. He died Sept. 23, 1843, in Charlestown, Mass.

BARKER, LORENZO ABEL, soldier, journalist, was born Aug. 16, 1839, in Naples, N. Y. He is the editor and owner of The Clarion of Reed City, Mich. At an early age he learned the printing business; and in 1861 enlisted in company E, thirteenth regiment Missouri volunteers; which afterward was changed to company D, sixty-sixth company Illinois Western Sharpshooters. He fought gallantly during the war and was promoted sergeant. In 1884 he was a presidential elector in the Blaine and Logan campaign; and in 1896 was again a presidential elector for William McKinley. He served as postmaster of Reed City during President Harrison's administration. He is a prominent member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and various other fraternal orders.

BARKER, REUBEN H. W., farmer, soldier, state senator, was born Aug. 31, 1846, in Iredell county, N. C. He was educated at Rutherford college; and was for many years engaged in merchandising, but later became a successful farmer and stockraiser. He served two years in the confederate army as a member of the twenty-ninth regiment North Carolina troops. He is the son of the Rev. J. N. Barker, who for nearly fifty years was a traveling methodist clergyman. He has taken an active part in public affairs; has been a justice of the peace; and in 1896 was elected a member of the North Carolina state senate.

BARKER, SAMUEL ALPHONSO, lawyer, was born July 26, 1833, in Kennebec, Maine. In his youth he taught school, and in 1857 was admitted to the bar in the supreme court at Augusta, Maine. For ten years he practiced law in his native state, and in 1867 moved to California. He settled in San Jose, where he is known as one of the foremost lawyers of his adopted state.

BARKER, WHARTON, financier, was born May 1, 1846, in Philadelphia. He was one of the four who organized in Pennsylvania the republican revolution, of 1881. He was the founder of the Investment company of Philadelphia, and also of the Finance company of Philadelphia.

BARKER, WILLIAM MORRIS, missionary bishop of Olympia, Wash., was born May 12, 1854, in Towanda, Pa. For two years he was an assistant master in the Bishop Scott grammar school, of Portland, Ore. Until his consecration he was in charge of St. Paul's church, of Duluth; and president of St. Luke's hospital in that city.

BARKLEY, DAVID WRIGHT, journalist, legislator, was born May 21, 1842, in Fairfield, Ill. He has been president of the board of trustees of Hayward Collegiate institute of Fairfield, Ill., and a member of the Illinois legislature. He is the editor and owner of The Enterprise of Rocky Ford, Colo.

BARKLEY, HENRY L., educator, clergyman, legislator, was born March 19, 1858, in Adams county, Ind. He received a thorough education in the public schools of Ohio, and graduated from the high school of Bryan. He has been a successful educator, clergyman, and is now bishop of the Pacific coast district of the United Brethren church at Woodburn, Ore. He served with distinction for two terms as a representative in the Oregon legislature.

BARKLEY, JAMES, soldier, was born in Kentucky. He enlisted as private in the one hundred and fourteenth Illinois infantry in 1862, and made a capital record as a brave soldier. He started in as a private and worked his way to brigadier-commander. He is senior brigadier-general in the service; was for a time captain of battery B; and was elected colonel of the fifth regiment in 1877, holding that position until 1891.

BARKSDALE, ETHELBERG, journalist, congressman, was born in Rutherford county, Tenn. He received a classical education; removed to Mississippi at an early age, and adopted the profession of journalism. He was a representative in the confederate congress for four years; was a presidential elector, and president of the Mississippi college of electors, in 1876. He was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

BARKSDALE, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 21, 1821, in Rutherford county, Tenn. He pursued a partial course of studies at the Nashville university; was a lawyer by profession; held a commission in the staff of the second Mississippi regiment, in the Mexican war, in 1847. He was a member of the Mississippi convention called in 1851 to discuss the compromise measures of 1850; and was elected representative from Mississippi in the thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, and thirty-sixth congresses. He was killed July 2, 1863, at the battle of Gettysburg.

BARLOW, BRADLEY, merchant, banker, congressman, was born May 12, 1814, in Fairfield, Vt. He was engaged in agricultural and mercantile pursuits until 1858; removed to St. Albans, Vt., and engaged in banking and other pursuits. He served six terms as a representative in the state legislature, and two terms as state senator; was twice a member of state constitutional conventions; and was county treasurer for several years. He was elected a representative from Vermont to the forty-sixth congress.

BARLOW, CHARLES AVERILL, merchant, farmer, congressman, was born March 17, 1858, in Cleveland, Ohio. He removed to San Luis Obispo county, Cal., where he acquired land and engaged in wheat farming. He was state lecturer of the Farmers' alliance one term, and was elected to the state assembly from San Luis Obispo county in 1893 on the straight people's party ticket. He introduced a number of important bills in the legislature and conducted them to a successful passage. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress, and took an important part in the deliberations of that body.

BARLOW, FRANCIS CHANNING, soldier, public official, was born Oct. 19, 1834, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In Grant's campaign he captured the whole division of Gen. Johnston, and in the final struggle and pursuit of Lee's routed army he rendered essential service. He was secretary of state of New York.

BARLOW, HENRY C., railroad president, was born Aug. 15, 1850, in Niles, Mich. Since 1894 he has been president of the Evansville and Terre Haute railroad.

BARLOW, JOEL, patriot, poet, was born March 25, 1755, in Reading, Conn. As an author he belonged to the first class of his time in America, and was one of the celebrated Hartford Wits. His Vision of Columbus, a poem in imitation of Milton, obtained great popularity, and Hasty Pudding, a humorous poem dedicated to Martha Washington, was much admired. His most elaborate work, Columbiad, an epic poem, is considered by critics to be a failure. He died Dec. 24, 1812, near Cracow, in Poland, while serving as foreign ambassador.

BARLOW, SAMUEL LATHAM MITCHELL, lawyer, author, was born June 5, 1826, in Granville, Mass. He was educated in New York city, where he practiced law for forty years. He gave much time to the collection of rare and curious books. His library of Americana was among the largest in the country. In connection with Henry Harrisse he edited Notes on Columbus, an invaluable work for the biography and bibliography of the discoverer of the new world. He died July 10, 1890, in Glen Cove, N. Y.

BARLOW, STEPHEN, business man, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1827 to 1829, and was a member of the committee on agriculture.

BARLOW, THOMAS HARRIS, inventor, was born Aug. 5, 1789, in Nicholas county, Ky. He settled in Lexington, Ky., in 1835, and in 1851 finished his first planetarium which is now in Transylvania university in that town. This ingenious and useful piece of mechanism is now in use at West Point, the Washington observatory, and other institutions. He died in 1865, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BARM. FRANK HERMAN, lawyer, was born Jan. 25, 1864, in Chicago, Ill. He is a recognized expert on real estate values; his own holdings in the city of Chicago being very extensive and valuable.

BARNAM, CURTIS FIELD, lawyer, legislator, was born May 24, 1820, in Richmond, Ky. He graduated from the law school in 1842, and became prominent as a representative in the state legislature of Kentucky.

BARNARD, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Feb. 13, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He is a journalist, and the author of The Tone Masters; The Soprano; My Ten Rod Farm; Farming by Inches; A Simple Flower Garden; The Strawberry Garden; Legilda Romanoff; Knights of To-day; Co-operation as a Business; A Dead Town, a Romance of the Old Country; Talks about the Weather; and Talks about the Soil.

BARNARD, DANIEL DEWEY, lawyer, congressman, author, was born July 16, 1797, in Sheffield, Mass. In 1826 he was elected district attorney for Monroe county, N. Y., and in 1827 was elected representative to congress. He was again in congress from 1839 to 1845, when he was chairman of the judiciary committee. From 1850 to 1853 he was United States minister to Prussia. He was the author of numerous reviews and speeches. He died April 24, 1861, in Albany, N. Y.

BARNARD, EDMUND K., educator, was born in 1863, in Sank county, Wis. His life has been devoted to educational work; he has been county superintendent of schools, and has occupied the positions of principal and professor in various schools of Oregon and Washington.

BARNARD, EDMUND M., state senator, was born May 28, 1860, in Hudson, N. Y. In 1891 he was elected a representative in the Michigan state legislature; was a member of the senate in 1893-94, and received the re-election in 1895-96, and again in 1897-98.

BARNARD, EDWARD EMERSON, astronomer, author, was born Dec. 16, 1857, in Nashville, Tenn. Since 1883 he has had charge of the astronomical observatory, and he is also assistant in practical astronomy at Vanderbilt university. His publications consist of astronomical contributions to the Sidereal Messenger, Observatory, Science Observer, Astronomische Nachrichten, and other technical journals.

BARNARD, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS PORTER, college president, author, was born May 5, 1809, in Sheffield, Mass. He was an educational writer, and was president of Columbia college in 1864-89. He was the author of History of the United States Coast Survey; Imaginary Metrological System of the Great Pyramid; The Undulatory Theory of Light; and Letters on College Government. He died April 27, 1889, in New York.

BARNARD, HENRY, educator, author, was born Jan. 24, 1811, in Hartford, Conn. In 1837 he was elected a member of the legislature of Connecticut, and was twice re-elected to that office, during which time he effected a reorganization of the state common school system. He was superintendent of public schools in Rhode Island from 1843-49; state superintendent of school architecture from 1850 to 1854; and began the American Journal of Education in 1855. He became president of the American association for the advancement of education. He is the author of several educational works, including Story of Education in Connecticut, and Educational Biography.

BARNARD, ISAAC D., soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 18, 1791, in Aston, Pa. He was distinguished at Lyons Creek and at the capture of Fort George in 1813; and left the army in 1815. He was admitted to the bar in 1816, and was soon made deputy attorney general. He was chosen state senator in 1820; secretary of state in 1826; and was United States senator from Pennsylvania, from 1827 to 1831. He died Feb. 28, 1834, in Westchester, Pa.

BARNARD, JAMES ELLERY, lawyer, was born Jan. 29, 1863, in Franklin, N. H. He graduated in 1884 from Dartmouth college; and from the Boston university law school in 1890. He has attained prominence as a successful lawyer in his native town, and in 1892 was appointed justice of the police court of his city by Gov. Smith. He is very prominent in various Masonic bodies.

BARNARD, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 6, 1681, in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational minister of Boston who was among the earliest New England dissenters from Calvinism. A robust and logical thinker; and the author of Version of the Psalms; Sermons; and The Strange Adventures of Philip Ashton. He died Jan. 24, 1770.

BARNARD, JOHN GROSS, soldier, author, was born May 19, 1815, in Sheffield, Mass. He was a major-general of the United States army; and the author of Survey of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec; Phenomena of the Gyroscope; Dangers and Defences of New York; Sea Coast Defence; The Peninsular Campaign and its Antecedents; and Problems of Rotary Motion. He died May 14, 1882, in Detroit, Mich.

BARNARD, OLIVER W., farmer, business man, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1828, in Economy, Ind. He is a successful farmer and business man of Mauteno, Ill.; and is the author of a number of poems which have appeared in Poets of America and other standard works.

BARNARD, WILLIAM STEBBINS, naturalist, inventor, author, was born Feb. 28, 1849, in Canton, Ill. His reports as entomologist have been published by the government, and he has contributed to the proceedings and transactions of the scientific societies of which he is a member. He has made inventions of harvesters, both for corn and cotton, and also of means and appliances for the destruction of injurious insects. He also devised the Harvard book-rack, improved paper-file holders, and similar articles.

BARNES, ALANSON H., lawyer, jurist, was born in New York. He removed to Wisconsin and practiced law, and in 1873 was appointed United States associate justice for the territory of Dakota.

BARNES, ALBERT, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 1, 1798, in Rome, N. Y. He was a leader of new school presbyterian thought and an able scriptural commentator. He was a clergyman of Philadelphia, and was at one time tried for heresy. He was the author of Notes on the New Testament; Scriptural Views of Slavery; The Atonement; Life at Three Score; Prayers for Family Worship; and Evidences of Christianity in the Nineteenth Century. He died Dec. 24, 1870, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARNES, ALFRED C., was born Oct. 27, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected colonel of the thirteenth regiment in 1884, and in 1886 retired from military service. He founded the Astor Place bank, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and in 1891 became its president. He planned and supervised Barnes' Brief History of America.

BARNES, ALFRED SMITH, publisher, was born Jan. 28, 1817, in New Haven, Conn. In 1840 he went to Philadelphia for four years, and built up a profitable publishing business, which he then removed to New York city. His brother, five sons and a nephew were associated with him under the title of A. S. Barnes and Co. The firm attained eminence in the publication of school books. His son, Alfred C. Barnes, now represents the house in The American Book company. He died Feb. 17, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BARNES, AMOS, hotel proprietor, was born Aug. 15, 1828, in East Lebanon, N. H. He established the firm of Barnes and Dunkle in 1879, and leased the Hotel Brunswick in the famous Back Bay district of Boston. The Brunswick is now known as one of the finest and most successful hotels in America.

BARNES, ANNIE MARIA, editor, author, was born May 28, 1857, in Columbia, S. C. For many years she edited and published a juvenile paper, and is the author of Some Lowly Lives; The Life of David Livingston; Scenes in Pioneer Methodism; The Children of the Kalahari; The House of Grass; and The Atlanta Ferryman.

BARNES, CATHARINE WEED, artist, was born Jan. 10, 1851, in Albany, N. Y. She is one of the editors of the American Amateur Photographer, besides writing for other magazines on camera work. She built a fine portrait studio at Albany, N. Y., containing a laboratory and printing room.

BARNES, DEMAS, journalist, banker, congressman, was born April 4, 1837, in Canandaigua, N. Y. In 1866 he was elected as a democrat to the fortieth congress, where he served on the committees on banking and currency, and education and labor. He was active in procuring legislation for the construction of the Brooklyn bridge. The Brooklyn Eagle at one time belonged to him, and of the Brooklyn Argus he was the founder, continuing publication until 1877. He died May 1, 1888, in New York city.

BARNES, EDWIN H., poet, was born May 13, 1849, in Marathon, N. Y. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled A Wild Bouquet, which contains many rare gems of verse. He is engaged in business in his native city, where he filled the office of postmaster for eleven years.

BARNES, GEORGE T., lawyer, state representative, was born Aug. 14, 1833, in Richmond county, Ga. He was educated at the Richmond county academy and at Franklin college, University of Georgia, Athens, where he graduated in August, 1853. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, and has since practiced in Georgia. He was a member of the state house of representatives of Georgia in 1860-65; was a member of the national democratic committee from Georgia, 1876-84, and was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses.

BARNES, JACOB B., journalist, was born July 11, 1839, in Freeport, Ill. He is the editor and owner of the Peoria Journal, one of the leading newspapers of the west.

BARNES, JAMES, author, was born in 1865 in Maryland. He is the author of For King or Country, a Story of the Revolution; Admiral Farragut; Naval Actions of the War of 1812; and A Princetonian.

BARNES, JOHN A., lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1859, in Marion county, Ky. He has been master in chancery for Clay county, Ill., and is a successful lawyer of Louisville. In 1897 he became a member of the Illinois state legislature.

BARNES, JOSEPH K., physician, surgeon, was born July 21, 1817, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was present at the death-bed of Lincoln, attended Secretary Seward when he was wounded by the knife of a confederate assassin, and attended Mr. Garfield through his long confinement. He was a trustee of Peabody educational fund, a commissioner for the soldiers' home, and the custodian of other important public trusts. He died April 5, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

BARNES, LEMUEL CALL, clergyman, was born Nov. 6, 1854, in Kirtland, Ohio. He is a prominent clergyman of the baptist church, and is now pastor of the Fourth Avenue church, of Pittsburg, Pa.

BARNES, LYMAN E., lawyer, congressman, was born June 30, 1855, in Weyauwega, Wis. He began the practice of law in Appleton in 1876; was district attorney of Outagamie county, and as a democrat was elected to the fifty-third congress.

BARNES, MARY SHELDON, educator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1850, in Oswego, N. Y. In 1874 she graduated from the University of Michigan; and has filled the chair of Latin and Greek in the Oswego state normal school, and later in the Wellesley college. She is the author of Studies in General History; Studies in American History; and Teachers' Manual.

BARNES, PHINEAS, engineer, was born Jan. 10, 1842, in Portland, Me. He studied at the Lawrence Scientific school, Cambridge, Mass., and at the Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y. Mr. Barnes has made a specialty of the construction of iron and steel works, and for some time has been associated with the American Iron and Steel works in Pittsburg, Pa. He is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, to whose transactions he has frequently contributed papers of technical value.

BARNES, SARAH ISABELLA, poet, was born March 18, 1867, in Dexterville, Ohio; is the author of a volume of poems. She has contributed extensively to the periodical press, and her poems have been incorporated into several standard works.

BARNES, THURLOW WEED, president of corporations, was born June 28, 1853, in Albany, N. Y. In 1876 he graduated from Harvard university. His life has been devoted to literary work and politics. He is the president of corporations in New York city. He was chairman of the Albany general committee in 1886; traveled in Europe in 1882, and made the tour around the world in 1884-85. He is a grandson of Thurlow Weed, and is the author of the second volume of the Life of Thurlow Weed in two volumes, and of Souvenir of Albany Bicentennial.

BARNES, WILLIAM, educator, lawyer, was born May 26, 1824, in Pompey, N. Y. He started life as a schoolteacher, and in 1843, in connection with his father, who was county superintendent, he successfully conducted one of the first normal schools or teachers' institutes in New York state at Baldwinsville. In 1845 he was admitted to the bar, and became noted as one of the foremost lawyers of his state at Albany.

BARNES, WILLIAM, journalist, is the youngest son of William Barnes, the celebrated lawyer of Albany, N. Y. He is the editor of The Albany Evening Journal, and contributes extensively to current literature. The Evening Journal is published every evening except Sunday, and also issues a semi-weekly and weekly edition. It is one of the foremost journals in the state of New York, and always advocates the principles of the republican party. It is published by The Journal Publishing company, of which he is one of the largest individual stockholders.

BARNES, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born in 1843 in Hampton, Conn. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar and commenced the practice of law at Jacksonville, Ill. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1871 and 1872, and was a delegate to the democratic national conventions of 1876, 1880 and 1884. He was a member of every democratic state convention held in Illinois between 1865 and 1885, and in 1885 was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona.

BARNES, WILLIAM HENRY, railroad president, was born July 12, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1892 he has been president of the Allegheny Valley railway, and also various other railroads.

BARNETT, EDWARD H., clergyman, journalist, was born Oct. 8, 1840, in Montgomery county, Va. He has filled various pastorates in Virginia and Georgia; has been for five years editor of the Presbyterian Quarterly of Richmond, Va., and is the author of a work entitled Life's Golden Lamp.

BARNETT, JAMES, soldier, merchant, banker, congressman, was born June 21, 1821, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He received his education in the public schools of Cleveland, Ohio, and is a successful hardware merchant of that city. During the civil war he served with distinction, and attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1882 he was elected a member of congress from Cleveland by the republican party. He has served as president of the First National bank, and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city and state.

BARNETT, ORVILLE MARION, lawyer, state legislator, was born Aug. 14, 1870, in Knox county, Mo. He is a successful lawyer of Sedalia, Mo., and in 1897 was elected a member of the Missouri state legislature.

BARNETT, MRS. RACHEL PRICE, educator, poet, was born March 30, 1837, in Freeport, Ohio. For nearly ten years she taught school in Ohio and Iowa, and is now a writer and poet of Dexter, Iowa.

BARNETT, SAMUEL, journalist, author, was born March 6, 1824, in Washington, Ga. He was president of the Washington bank; in 1871 was commissioner, and in 1872 was secretary of the Georgia State Agricultural society. He was editor of the Chronicle, and author of Interest Table; Buckle's Outline View of Georgia; and many other works.

BARNETT, WILLIAM, congressman. He was elected a representative in congress from Georgia from 1812 to 1815, when he was appointed one of the commissioners to run the Creek boundary line.

BARNETT, WILLIAM ALLEN, merchant, was born Oct. 8, 1822, near Hamilton, Ohio. He has attained success as a merchant miller. For over half a century he was proprietor of the same mills.

BARNEY, EDWARD MITCHELL, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 28, 1811, in Lynn, Mass. He was educated at the Harvard college and Tufts Divinity school and received the degree of B. D. from the latter institution. He has filled a pastorate in the First Universalist church of Marion, Mass., and now fills a pastorate in the First Universalist church of Beverly, one of the largest churches in his denomination.

BARNEY, EVERETT H., inventor, manufacturer, was born Dec. 7, 1835, in Framingham, Mass. He has attained success as a manufacturer and inventor, and the Barney and Berry skates have a world-wide reputation.

BARNEY, JOHN, congressman. He was a member of congress from Maryland from 1825 to 1827. He left behind him an unfinished record of Personal Recollections of Men and Things. He died Jan. 26, 1856, in Washington, D. C.

BARNEY, JOSHUA, naval officer, commodore, was born in 1759 in Baltimore, Md. He entered the naval service of the revolution in 1775, and was active during the whole war. He bore the American flag to the French national convention in 1796, and entered the French service. He returned to America in 1800, and took part in the war of 1812. He died in 1818 in Pittsburg, Pa.

BARNEY, SAMUEL S., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 31, 1846, in Hartford, Wis. He was educated in the public schools and at Lombard university, Galesburg, Ill., and taught the high school in Hartford for four years. He has practiced his profession at West Bend, Wis., since 1873. He filled the office of superintendent of schools of Washington county from 1876 to 1880, and was elected to the forty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

BARNFIELD, THOMAS P., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born March 25, 1844, in Boston, Mass. He was admitted to the Rhode Island bar in 1870, and was city solicitor of Pawtucket for eleven years. He was judge of the probate court for three years, and was a member of the legislature of Rhode Island for three years.

BARNHART, JACOB S., lawyer, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1828, near Bellefonte, Pa. In 1849 he became a daguerrean artist, and subsequently a photographer. For many years he was the editor and owner of the Democratic Watchman of Pennsylvania. In 1871 he was admitted to the bar, and since 1877 has practiced law in Charles City, Iowa. He is a stenographer and a teacher of shorthand, and a natural musician. He has contributed extensively to the periodical press, and his poems have been given a place in several standard works.

BARNITZ, CHARLES A., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1833 to 1835. He died in March, 1850, in York, Pa.

BARNES, WILLIAM, clergyman, was born in 1795, in Ireland. He was very successful in his preaching, and during his various pastorates large accessions were made to the churches under his direction. Among these churches were several of the largest in Philadelphia and Harrisburg. He died Nov. 25, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARNUM, MRS. FRANCES COURTE-NAY, author, was born in 1848 in Arkansas. She is a novelist now living in Savannah, Ga., and the author of On Both Sides, an international novel; Behind the Blue Ridge; Juan and Juanita, a juvenile tale; and Claudia Hyde.

BARNUM, HENRY A., soldier, was born Sept. 24, 1833, in Jamesville, N. Y. He was brevetted major-general in 1865. In 1866 he resigned, having declined a colonelcy in the regular army, and became inspector of prisons in New York. He was deputy tax commissioner from 1869 till 1872, and was for five years harbor-master of New York. In 1885 he was elected as a republican to the New York state assembly.

BARNUM, PHINEAS TAYLOR, showman, author, was born July 5, 1810, in Bethel, Conn. He was the son of a farmer and tavern keeper, and became a successful showman of world-wide fame. He was the author of Humbugs of the World; Struggles and Triumphs, or Forty Years' Recollections; Lion Jack, or How Menageries are Made; and Autobiography. He was the best known and most popular circus showman ever engaged in that business in America. He died April 7, 1891, in Bridgeport, Conn.

BARNUM, WILLIAM H., manufacturer, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 17, 1818, in Columbia county, Conn. His firm of Barnum, Richardson and Co. built large works in Lime Rock and East Canaan, Conn., and finally added a car wheel shop in Chicago. In 1851-52 he sat in the state legislature, and from 1868 attended every national convention of his party as a delegate.

He was a member of congress in 1867-76; and Connecticut then made him United States senator. He died April 30, 1889, in Lime Rock, Conn.

BARNUM, ZENAS, civil engineer, capitalist, was born Dec. 9, 1810, in Wilkes-barre, Pa. He was a civil engineer, but became proprietor of Barnum's hotel in Baltimore, in the management of which he acquired a large fortune. Later he became president of the Baltimore Central railroad. He died April 5, 1865, in Baltimore, Md.

BARNWELL, JOHN, soldier, was born about 1671 in Ireland. Barnwell's force overtook the depredating Tuscaroras and killed 300 in the first engagement. The survivors were driven into their fortified town, besieged, and finally reduced to submission. Nearly 1,000 of them were killed or captured, and the remnant abandoned their hereditary lands and joined the Five Nations of New York. This was the first crushing blow dealt against the Indians by the white settlers in the Carolinas, and Barnwell is to this day known to his descendants as Tuscarora John. He died about June, 1724, in Beaufort, S. C.

BARNWELL, ROBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in 1762 in Beaufort, S. C. He volunteered for the revolutionary war when sixteen years old. He was afterward a member of the convention in South Carolina on the adoption of the federal constitution; and was a representative in congress in 1791-93. He died in 1814.

BARNWELL, ROBERT WOODWARD, college president, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1801, in Beaufort, S. C. He graduated at Harvard university in 1821; studied law; was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1829 to 1833; was president of the South Carolina college from 1835 to 1843, and was a senator in congress in 1850 by appointment to fill a vacancy. After the war he was again president of the South Carolina college. He died Nov. 25, 1882, in Columbia, S. C.

BARR, ALBERT J., journalist, was born Jan. 12, 1851, in Pittsburg, Pa. Upon the death of his father he became president of the Pittsburg Post Printing and Publishing company, and editor-in-chief of the paper. The work he has since done on the Post has made that publication one of the best known newspapers in America. In 1893 he was appointed a commissioner to the World's Fair, and in 1894 was appointed surveyor of customs of the port of Pittsburg.

BARR, MRS. AMELIA EDITH [HUD-DLESTON], author, was born March 29, 1831, in Lancaster, England. She came to America in 1854. Her books exhibit many excellencies of construction and characterization, are wholesome in tone, and have been deservedly popular. Among the best of them may be named Jan Vedder's Wife; Paul and Christina; A Daughter of Fife; A Border Shepherdess; The Bow of Orange Ribbon, a tale of colonial life in New York; Between Two Loves; Friend Olivia; Bernicia, a story in which Whitefield, the famous preacher, is a prominent figure. Other works by Mrs. Barr include: Scottish Sketches; Flower of Gala Water; Romance and Reality; Young People of Shakespeare's Time; Cluny McPherson; The Hallam Succession; The Lost Silver of Briffault; The Last of the McAlisters; Scottish Sketches; The Squire of Sandal Side; Master of His Fate; Christopher; Remember the Alamo, a story of Texas; She Loved a Sailor; A Rose of a Hundred Leaves; Michael and Theodora; A Sister to Esau; Feet of Clay; The Household of McNeil; The Preacher's Daughter; Love for an Hour is Love Forever; A Singer from the Sea; and The Lone House.

BARR, BERZELIUS L., lawyer, college president, author, was born Sept. 29, 1846, in Tremont City, Ohio. He graduated in law from the University of Michigan, and as civil engineer from the National Normal university, Ohio. For twelve years he was president of the Western Normal university, and now practices law in his native city. He served as a union soldier during the civil war in company F, second Illinois light artillery, and was in the sieges of Atlanta and Jonesboro, and Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Outlines of Oral Grammar Teaching; and Complete Inductive Grammar.

BARR, CHARLES, educator, was born April 8, 1860, in Watertown, N. Y. In 1887 he accepted the chair of natural science in Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio, and in 1888 he became professor of astronomy and applied mathematics, and acting professor of biology in Albion college, of Albion, Mich.

BARR, G. WALTER, physician, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 25, 1860, in Medway, Ohio. In 1880 he graduated from the Indiana Asbury university, and in 1884 from the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He is professor of materia medica, therapeutics and hygiene in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Keokuk, Iowa. He has been a public lecturer on popular science; was lecturer on hygiene in the Training School for Nurses in the Blessing hospital of Quincy, Ill.; is post-surgeon Illinois division Sons of Veterans, U. S. A., and a prominent member of many leading medical and pharmaceutical associations. He is the author of Idiosyncrasy and Drug, and other works.

BARR, GEORGE TILLOTSON, banker, state senator, was born Feb. 4, 1851, in Terre Haute, Ind. He is a successful banker of Mankato, Minn., of which city he has been mayor. In 1889 he served as a representative in the Minnesota state legislature; was a state senator during 1891-97, and president pro tem of the senate during the sessions of 1895 and 1897.

BARR, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 17, 1826, in Versailles, Ky. In 1847 he commenced the practice of law at Versailles, Ky., and soon afterward removed to Louisville, where he continued to practice his profession until 1880, when he was appointed United States district judge for the district of Kentucky.

BARR, SAMUEL F., journalist, congressman, was born June 15, 1829, in Ireland. He emigrated with his parents to the United States in 1831; received a common-school education; engaged in railroad and commercial pursuits; was editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph from 1873 to 1878, and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses.

BARR, THOMAS C., capitalist, was born Feb. 2, 1858, in Wellsboro, Pa. He has been president of several railway companies, and has also organized and put in operation the omnibus general of Philadelphia. He was elected president of the New Jersey Traction company in 1893.

BARR, THOMAS J., state senator, congressman, was born in 1812 in New York city. In 1853 he was elected a member of the New York state senate, and was elected a representative in congress from New York to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

BARRAS, CHARLES M., actor, author, was born in 1826. He was the author of a well-known spectacular play called The Black Crook, from which he derived a large income. His eccentric character and unconscious drollery made him popular. He died March 31, 1873, in Cos Cob, Conn.

BARRERE, GRANVILLE, lawyer, congressman, was born in Highland county, Ohio. He commenced practicing law in Illinois in 1856, and was elected to the forty-third congress.

BARRERE, NELSON, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1851 to 1853.

BARRET, ALEXANDER BUCHANAN, tobacco merchant, was born March 18, 1811, in Louis county, Va. He established branch stemmeries in Henderson, Louisville, Owensboro, Cloverport, and other points in Kentucky, at Clarksville, Tenn., and in Missouri, and was, in his time, without doubt, the most extensive tobacco merchant in the world, controlling annually many thousands of hogheads in the markets of England. He died June 15, 1861, in New York.

BARRET, JOHN HENRY, merchant, was born in 1835, in Henderson, Ky. His firm is known under the style of Jno. H. Barret and Co., and they retain, both in America and in Europe, the extensive and influential prestige which was once the high and peculiar distinction of the original house in the Kentucky tobacco market.

BARRETT, BENJAMIN FISK, clergyman, author, was born June 24, 1808, in Dresden, Maine. He is a Swedenborgian clergyman of Philadelphia who wrote extensively in behalf of his faith. Among his many books are A Life of Swedenborg; The New View of Hell; Swedenborg and Channing; Heaven Revealed; and A Popular Presentation of Swedenborg's Disclosures about Heaven. He died in 1892.

BARRETT, EDWARD, naval officer, was born in 1828, in Louisiana. In 1864-65 he commanded the monitor Catskill, and captured the Deer, the only blockade-runner captured by a monitor. He was in the first expedition that ascended the Yangtze-Kiang river as far as Hangkow, and took the first man-of-war through the Eads jetties at the mouth of the Mississippi. He died in March, 1880.

BARRETT, FLAVIUS J., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 22, 1835, in Giles county, Tenn. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and graduated from the Baylor university of Independence, Texas. During the war he was captain of company B, fifteenth regiment, Texas cavalry, in the Confederate states army. He has attained eminence as an able lawyer of Henrietta, Texas, in which city he has been chief of police, superintendent of public schools, and held other offices of trust. He has served with distinction as a member of the Texas state legislature, and is now county judge of Clay county, Texas.

BARRETT, GEORGE HOOKER, actor, was born Jan. 9, 1794, in England. He made his debut as an adult as Belcaur in The West Indian at the Parke theater, New York, in 1822, and at once became one of the favorite actors of the day.

BARRETT, HARRISON D., spiritualist, was born April 26, 1863, in Canaan, Me. He has been a teacher in the public schools of Minnesota, and in 1889 graduated from the Meadville Theological school, Pennsylvania, but has never been ordained. In 1891 he was co-editor of a work entitled Cassadaga, Its History and Teaching; and is the author of Life Work of Cora L. V. Richmond. In 1893 he was elected president of the National Spiritualist association, and in 1897 was appointed editor of The Banner and Light of Boston, Mass., the oldest spiritualist paper in existence.

BARRETT, J. RICHARD, congressman, was born in Kentucky. Removing to Missouri he was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-sixth congress.

BARRETT, JOHN ERIGENA, journalist, state legislator, author, was born May 10, 1849, in Ireland. He entered journalism as a reporter on The Republican, of Scranton, Pa., and became its managing editor. In 1884 he began the publication, in conjunction with J. J. Jordan, of The Scranton Truth, an independent daily newspaper, which they still publish. He is one of the foremost editorial writers in America, and has attained note as a brilliant orator. In 1878 he was elected a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature as a republican, and took an important part in the deliberations of that body. He is the author of a number of stories, the most notable of which are Love and Labor, or All the Perils of the Poor; The Black List; Worse Than Death; A Knight of Labor; The Rising Tide; and The Curse of Innisfail. He is also the author of a volume of poems entitled The Fugitives and Other Poems.

BARRETT, JOSEPH HARTWELL, journalist, author, was born April 15, 1824, in Ludlow, Vt. In 1845 he graduated from Middlebury college. In 1851-

52 he served as a representative in the Vermont state legislature; in 1853-54 he was secretary of the Vermont senate, and in 1861-68 was commissioner of pensions. During 1857-61 he was editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, and editor of the Cincinnati Chronicle and Times during 1868-79. He has contributed to reviews and other periodicals from 1846 to the present time, and his writings have been valuable acquisitions to current literature, and have, in many instances, been incorporated into standard works. He is the author of Biography of Abraham Lincoln.

BARRETT, LAWRENCE, actor, was born April 4, 1838, in Paterson, N. J. His first appearance was in 1853. On the outbreak of the civil war in 1861, Mr. Barrett accepted a captaincy in the twenty-eighth Massachusetts infantry and served with distinction. Afterward he acted at Philadelphia, at Washington, and then at the Winter Garden in New York, where he was engaged by Mr. Booth to play Othello to his Iago. He died March 20, 1891, in New York city.

BARRETT, WILLIAM E., journalist, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 29, 1850, in Melrose, Mass. He was educated at the public schools, and graduated from Dartmouth college in 1880. He began at once as assistant editor of the St. Albans Daily Messenger; joined the staff of the Boston Daily Advertiser in 1882, and was Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser 1882-86; he was recalled to Boston to become editor-in-chief, and in 1888 he became chief proprietor and manager of the Boston Daily Advertiser and the Boston Evening Record. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1887-92, and a candidate for congress in April, 1893; was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

BARRICKLOW, JOSEPH P., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 7, 1867, in Rising Sun, Ind. He is a successful lawyer of Arcola, Ill., and served with distinction as a member of the thirty-ninth and fortieth general assemblies of the Illinois state legislature.

BARRINGER, DANIEL L., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1788, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. He served in the legislature of North Carolina in 1813, and from 1819-22. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1826 to 1835; and was a presidential elector in 1844. He subsequently removed to Tennessee, and was elected speaker of the house of representatives of that state. He died Oct. 16, 1852.

BARRINGER, DANIEL MOREAU, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in 1807 in Cabarras county, N. C. He commenced practicing law in 1829, and in that year was elected a member of the state legislature, in which position he continued for a number of years. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1843 to 1849, when he was appointed Minister to Spain. On his return home he was elected to the state legislature. He was elected a delegate to the peace congress of 1861, and also to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866. He died Sept. 1, 1873, in Green Brier Springs, Va.

BARRINGER, JOHN E., farmer, state senator, was born July 16, 1841, in New York. He was elected to the Michigan state senate of 1887-88, and took an active part in that body.

BARRITT, FRANCES FULLER, poet, was born in 1826 in Rome, N. Y. When only fourteen years old she began writing for publication, and at twenty-two was a favorite contributor to the Home Journal, under the management of N. P. Willis. Azlea, a tragedy, was written about this time, and published in 1851 in a volume entitled Poems of Imagination and Sentiment, by herself and her sister Metta (Mrs. Victor), and edited by Rufus W. Griswold.

BARRON, ELWYN ALFRED, journalist, dramatist, was born in 1855, in Tennessee. He has been a Chicago journalist on the editorial staff of the Inter-Ocean since 1879, and has written The Viking, a blank-verse drama, and A Moral Crime, and other plays.

BARRON, ERNEST R., inventor, was born May 23, 1844, in Meadville, Pa. He has made many important inventions now used on typewriters. He superintended the construction of the first caligraph, and witnessed its success as rival of the Remington.

BARRON, JAMES, naval officer, was born in 1769 in Virginia. He is chiefly known to the present generation from his encounter when in command of the Chesapeake with the British frigate Leopard in time of peace, and the duel in which he killed Com. Decatur. He died April 21, 1851, in Norfolk, Va.

BARRON, JOHN C., surgeon, capitalist, was born Nov. 2, 1837, in Woodbridge, N. J. Returning to civil life at the end of his enlistment, he became a member and surgeon of the famous seventh regiment of New York city from 1863 to 1871, and after his resignation he was appointed surgeon-general of the first division of the national guard of New York, with the rank of colonel. He is president of The Carpenter Steel works of Reading, Pa.; The Kentucky Coal, Iron and Development company; The Lyons and Campbell Ranch and Cattle company, and The Gila Farm company.

BARRON, SAMUEL, naval officer, was born Sept. 25, 1765, in Hampton, Va. He was distinguished for gallantry in the revolutionary navy of Virginia, in which his father, his uncle and his brother also participated. He died Oct. 28, 1810, in Hampton, Va.

BARRON, SAMUEL, naval officer, was born about 1802 in Virginia. He entered the navy as midshipman; attained the rank of lieutenant in 1827; commander in 1847; and captain in 1855.

BARRON, WALTER J., inventor, was born June 27, 1846, in Meadville, Pa. He invented many improvements now in use on leading typewriters, and in 1888 he invented the Universal typewriter. In 1891 he perfected the Densmore and Barron typewriters.

BARROW, ALEXANDER, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born in 1801 in Nashville, Tenn. He served a number of years in the legislature of Louisiana, and was a senator in congress from Louisiana from 1841 to 1846. He died Dec. 29, 1846, in Baltimore, Md.

BARROW, DAVID, clergyman, was born Oct. 30, 1753, in Virginia. He held various pastorates in Kentucky, and in 1803 published an able pamphlet on The Trinity. He died Nov. 14, 1819, in Kentucky.

BARROW, MRS. FRANCES ELIZABETH, author, was born Feb. 22, 1822, in Charleston, S. C. She was a writer of juvenile tales which have been widely circulated. Among them are The Night Cap Series; The Pop Gun Series; and The Six Mitten Books. She died in 1894.

BARROW, POPE, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born Aug. 1, 1830, in Oglethorpe county, Ga. He graduated from the University of Georgia in 1859, and in the law class of that institution of 1860. He served in the confederate army, and at the close of the war of the rebellion resumed the practice of law at Athens, Ga. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1877, and was a representative in the state legislature in 1880-81. He was elected a senator of the United States from Georgia to fill a vacancy, and served from 1882 to 1883.

BARROW, WASHINGTON, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 5, 1817, in Davidson county, Tenn. He was a lawyer by education and profession, and in 1841 was appointed American charge d'affaires to Portugal. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1847 to 1849. He died Oct. 19, 1866, in St. Louis, Mo.

BARROWS, CHARLES C., physician, was born June 5, 1857, in Jackson, Miss. He is assistant obstetric physician and gynecologist of Bellevue hospital of New York city.

BARROWS, ELIJAH PORTER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 5, 1817, in Mansfield, Conn. In 1853 he was appointed professor of Hebrew language and literature in Andover theological seminary, retaining the office until 1866. In 1872 he accepted a like appointment in Oberlin, Ohio, theological seminary. Besides twenty-five articles in the Bibliotheca Sacra, he has published A Memoir of Evertin Judson; Companion to the Bible; and Sacred Geography and Antiquities. He has also been one of the editors of the American Tract society's Bible with Notes.

BARROWS, HENRY FRANCIS, manufacturer, was born in Attleborough, Mass. He is the huilder and president of The Attleborough Branch railroad; manager of The North Attleborough Gas company; and president of The North Attleborough National bank.

BARROWS, JOHN HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1847 in Michigan. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Chicago, and the author of The Gospels are True History; I Believe in God the Father Almighty; Henry Ward Beecher, the Pulpit Jupiter; and Life of Henry Ward Beecher.

BARROWS, JOHN OTIS, clergyman, author, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1833, in Mansfield, Conn. He has filled many important pastorates in the congregational church, and is the author of On Horseback in Cappadocia and many poems of merit have appeared from the pen of this eminent divine.

BARROWS, SAMUEL JUNE, clergyman, congressman, author, was born May 26, 1845, in New York city. He was fifteen years chaplain of the fifth regiment Massachusetts militia, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican. He is the author of The Shay-backs in Camp; The Baptist Meeting House; Science and Immortality; Isles and Shrines of Greece; and various other works.

BARROWS, WILLARD, civil engineer, author, was born in 1806 in Monson, Mass. He accomplished the government survey of the Choctaw purchase, in Mississippi, finishing that work in 1835. Later he explored Cedar river, which at that time was scarcely known, and in 1837 was engaged on the first surveys of Iowa. In 1840 he surveyed the islands in Mississippi river between Rock Island and Quincy. He published several accounts of his experiences, including Barrows's New Map of Iowa, with Notes, and Historical Sketch of Scott County. He died Jan. 3, 1868, in Davenport, Iowa.

BARROWS, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1815 in Massachusetts. He was a congregational clergyman of Massachusetts, and the author of The Church and the Children; The Indian's Side of the Indian Question; Oregon, the Struggle for Possession; The United States of Yesterday and To-morrow; and Twelve Nights in the Hunter's Camp. He died in 1891.

BARRY, BELLE B., poet, has contributed many poems of rare merit to the periodical press, which have been incorporated into several standard works. She is the wife of Isaac E. Barry, a prominent business man of Knoxville, Tenn.

BARRY, F. G., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 15, 1845, in Woodbury, Tenn. He served in the confederate army during the civil war, and engaged in the practice of law at West Point, Mississippi. He was a state senator from 1875 to 1879; was a presidential elector in 1880, and was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses.

BARRY, HENRY W., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born in New York city. He entered the union army as a private early in the war; organized the first regiment of colored troops raised in Kentucky, and commanded a brigade and for a time a division of the army. He was brevetted twice for gallant and meritorious conduct, the last brevet being major-general. He was elected a member of the state constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1867; was elected to the state senate of Mississippi in 1868; and was elected to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. He died June 7, 1875, in Washington, D. C.

BARRY, JOHN, naval officer, was born in 1754 in Ireland. He served through the revolutionary war as a naval officer, and at the close of the war, the United States established a new navy, and Barry was named senior officer. In 1776 he commanded the brig Lexington, the first continental vessel which sailed from the port of Philadelphia, and with which he made the first capture of a British war vessel accomplished by an American cruiser. He subsequently commanded the Effingham, Raleigh, the Alliance and other war vessels. He died Sept. 30, 1803, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARRY, JOHN DANIEL, author, was born in 1866 in Massachusetts. He is the author of A Daughter of Thespis; The Intriguers, a novel; Mademoiselle Blanche; and The Princess Margarethe, a fairy tale.

BARRY, JOHN STETSON, clergyman, author, was born March 26, 1819, in Boston, Mass. He was a universalist clergyman, and the author of The Stetson Genealogy; and History of Massachusetts. He died Dec. 11, 1872, in St. Louis, Mo.

BARRY, JOHN STEWART, state senator, governor, was born Jan. 29, 1802, in Amherst, N. H. Upon the organization of the Michigan state government he was elected a state senator, and in 1841 chosen governor of the state. He was re-elected in 1843, and also in 1849; and was also, on two occasions, a presidential elector. He died Jan. 14, 1870, in Constantine, Mich.

BARRY, NICHOLAS J., physician, was born in 1865, in La Crosse, Fla. Is a prominent physician and drug merchant of Yular, Fla. He received his education in the schools of Lebanon, Ohio, and at colleges in Cincinnati, Ohio, and Atlanta, Ga.

BARRY, PATRICK, horticulturist, author, was born in May, 1816, near Belfast, Ireland. He edited the Genesee Farmer in 1844-52; and was editor of The Horticulturist in 1852-54. He wrote extensively on subjects connected with pomology and flowers, and in 1851 produced a Treatise on the Fruit Garden. His most important book is the complete and valuable Catalogue of the American Pomological Society, which has long been a standard work. He died June 23, 1890, in Rochester, N. Y.

BARRY, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 10, 1805, in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Chicago; and the author of Rights and Duties of Neighboring Churches; Thoughts on Christian Doctrine; History of Framingham; and Antiquities of Wisconsin. He died Jan. 17, 1885, in Chicago, Ill.

BARRY, WILLIAM FARQUHAR, soldier, was born Aug. 8, 1818, in New York city. In 1865 he was made brevet brigadier-general, United States army, for his services in the campaign ending with the surrender of the army under Gen. J. E. Johnston, and on the same day was made brevet major-general for gallant conduct in the field. He was the author in conjunction with Gen. Barnard, of Reports of the Engineer and Artillery Operations of the Army of the Potomac from its Organization to the Close of the Peninsular Campaign. He died July 18, 1879, in Baltimore, Md.

BARRY, WILLIAM T., legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1785, in Lunenburg, Va. He served in the state legislature as speaker; during the years 1810-11 was a representative in congress; was a senator in congress from Kentucky from 1814-16; and was also a member of President Jackson's cabinet, as postmaster-general. He died Aug. 30, 1835, in Liverpool, England.

BARRY, WILLIAM T. S., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1821, in Columbus, Miss. He was a member of the legislature from 1849 to 1851; was a representative in congress from Mississippi from 1853-55; was speaker of the state legislature in 1855; seceded from the Charleston convention in 1860; and was president of the Secession convention of Mississippi, and member of the Provisional congress. He entered the confederate army in 1861, and commanded the thirty-fifth Mississippi regiment from 1862 until captured at Mobile in 1865; he afterward practiced law in Columbus. He died Jan. 29, 1868, in Columbus, Miss.

BARRYMORE, WILLIAM, actor. He came to the United States in 1826, and was stage manager of the Bowery theater. His first appearance here as an actor was Jan. 28, 1832, at the Walnut street theater, Philadelphia, in the pantomime of Mother Goose. He died in 1847, in Boston, Mass.

BARSTOW, GAMALIEL H., business man, state senator, congressman. He was treasurer of the state of New York from 1825-38; served three years in the assembly of New York; four years in the state senate; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1831-33. He died in April, 1865, in Nichols, N. Y.

BARSTOW, GEORGE EAMES, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Nov. 19, 1849, in Providence, R. I. He was educated in the public schools and at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical school of Providence. For four years he was a member of the common council; and for fourteen years was a member of the school board, being president thereof during his last year of service. During 1894-97 he was a representative in the Rhode Island legislature. He is a successful manufacturer; and founder of the town of Barstow, the county seat of Ward county, Texas. He is a member of the Rhode Island Historical society and other institutions; and his descriptive and other writings frequently appear in current literature.

BARSTOW, GIDEON, legislator, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He served in both branches of the legislature of that state; and was a representative in congress from 1821 to 1823. He died March 26, 1852, in St. Augustine, Fla.

BARSTOW, JOHN L., soldier, legislator, state senator, governor, was born Feb. 21, 1832, in Shelburne, Vt. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1864, rising to the rank of major; and was made brigadier-general of state troops at the time of the St. Albans raid. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1864-65; a state senator in 1860-68; and was United States pension agent at Burlington, Vt., from 1870-78. In 1880 he was elected lieutenant-governor for the term of two years; and in 1882 was elected governor of Vermont for the term of two years.

BARSTOW, WILLIAM A., soldier, governor, was born in 1811. He was governor of Wisconsin from 1854 to 1856. When the rebellion commenced he raised a regiment of cavalry for the war, and was appointed its colonel. He rendered important service on courts-martial at St. Louis. He died Dec. 14, 1865, in Leavenworth, Kan.

BARSTOW, WILSON, soldier, was born in 1830. He served from the first year of the war until its close with zeal and ability, entering the service as a lieutenant, and, passing through the successive grades, attained the brevet rank of brigadier-general in 1865. He died March 16, 1869, in New York city.

BARSTOW, ZEDEKIAH SMITH, educator, legislator, author, was born Oct. 4, 1790, in Canterbury, Conn. In 1818 he became pastor of a congregational church in Keene, N. H. He continued to teach the classics after his settlement at Keene, and the late Chief-Justice Chase was one of his pupils. In 1868-69 he was a member of the New Hampshire legislature, and chaplain of that body. He published many sermons, dissertations, and essays, and was a frequent contributor to religious periodicals. He died March 1, 1873, in Keene, N. H.

BARTEAU, CLARK RUSSELL, soldier, lawyer, was born April 7, 1835, near Cleveland, Ohio. He received his education in the Wesleyan university of Delaware, Ohio. Prior to the war he went south, and became principal of the Male academy of Hartsville, Tenn., in 1856; and two years later became the editor and owner of The Hartsville Plaindealer. During the war he was colonel of cavalry, known as Barteau's Second Tennessee, in the confederate service. He was known as a fighter; was cool but impetuous in action, and was wounded in many battles, including Shiloh, Murfreesboro, Franklin, Harrisburg, and Okolona; and on Dec. 6, 1864, was disabled for the rest of the war. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar; and in 1870 removed to Bartlett, Tenn., and practices law in Memphis.

BARTH, WILLIAM, capitalist, was born in 1829, in Germany. Foreseeing the great future of Denver, he at an early day bought a large amount of local real estate. He took an active part in building The South Park railroad and The Denver, Texas and Gulf railroad. For ten years he was president of the City National bank, of Denver, Colo.

BARTHOLDT, RICHARD, journalist, congressman, was born Nov. 2, 1853, in Germany. He came to this country when a boy; received a classical education; learned the printing trade and has remained a newspaper man ever since. He was connected with several eastern papers as reporter, legislative correspondent, and editor, and was at the time of his election to congress editor-in-chief of the St. Louis Tribune. He was elected to the board of public schools of St. Louis, and in 1891 was chosen its president. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican, by over 16,000 majority. In the fifty-fourth congress he was chairman of the committee on immigration, and reported and passed the so-called Bartholdt-McCall bill which provided an educational test for immigrants.

BARTHOLOMEW, EDWARD SHEFFIELD, sculptor, was born in 1822, in Colchester, Conn. Among his best-known works are Blind Homer led by his Daughter; Eve; Campagna Shepherd Boy; Genius of Painting; Youth and Old Age; Evening Star; Eve Repentant; Washington and Flora; A Monument to Charles Carroll; Belisarius at the Porta Pincina; and Ganymede. The Wadsworth gallery, Hartford, Conn., contains a large number of his works. He died May 2, 1858, in Naples, Italy.

BARTHOLOMEW, MILES MARSHALL, inventor, was born Feb. 3, 1844, in Vienna, Ohio. He invented a typewriter and took out his first patent in 1879.

BARTHOLOMEW, PLYN WEBSTER, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 4, 1840, in Cabotville, Mass. He graduated in 1864 from the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y., and has attained success as an able lawyer of Indianapolis, Ind. He has been commissioner for New York and Connecticut, in Indiana; trustee of the American college of Indianapolis; and judge of the superior court during 1892-96.

BARTHOLOW, ROBERTS, physician, author, was born Nov. 18, 1831, in Howard county, Md. He is a physician and medical professor of Philadelphia. He is the author of Materia Medica and Therapeutics; Practice of Medicine; Medical Electricity; and The Antagonism between Medicines and between Remedies and Diseases.

BARTINE, HORACE F., soldier, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born March 21, 1848, in New York city. He enlisted as a private soldier during the civil war in the eighth regiment of the New Jersey volunteers, and was severely wounded in the breast at the battle of the Wilderness. He was subsequently in nearly all of the principal engagements in which the army of the Potomac took part. In 1869 he moved to Nevada, and resided there until 1895. In 1888 he was elected to congress, and received the re-election in 1890. He is now the editor of The Bi-metallist of Washington, D. C.

BARTINE, JOHN D., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1836, in Princeton, N. J. In 1865 he moved to Somerville, N. J., where he was appointed law judge in 1885, receiving the reappointment in 1890 and again in 1895. Although he has been twelve years on the bench, such decisions of his as have been taken to higher courts have not been reversed in a single instance, which proves his wisdom and intimate knowledge of the law.

BARTLETT, A. EUGENE, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 23, 1873, in Boston, Mass. He graduated from Tufts college, and received the degree of bachelor of theology. He has been secretary of the Boston Ministers' association; is an earnest advocate of woman's suffrage; is prominent in many reform movements; and is the author of Thought Pits.

BARTLETT, ALICE ELOISE, author, poet, was born Sept. 24, 1848, in Delavan, Wis. She is widely known by the pen name of Birch Arnold. In 1872 she began to write for the Toledo Blade; and is the author of two novels entitled Until the Daybreak, and A New Aristocracy. She has written numerous meritorious poems, which have appeared in current magazines and in several standard collections.

BARTLETT, ASA, jurist. He was appointed chief justice of the United States court for the territory of Dakota.

BARTLETT, BAILEY, congressman. He was sheriff of Essex county, Mass., for many years, and a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1797 to 1801.

BARTLETT, CHARLES G., soldier. For many years he served his country as a soldier, and is now a colonel in the United States army.

BARTLETT, CHARLES HENRY, naval legislator, was born Oct. 15, 1833, in Sunapee, N. H. He served with distinction in the New Hampshire state senate in 1883; and was made president of that body. He resides in Manchester, and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol.

BARTLETT, CHARLES L., lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 31, 1853, in Monticello, Ga. He removed from Monticello to Macon, Ga., in 1875, and has resided in Macon since then; was educated in the schools at Monticello, the university of Georgia, and the university of Virginia; and graduated at the university of Georgia in August, 1870. He studied law at the university of Virginia and was admitted to the bar in August, 1872. He was appointed solicitor-general (prosecuting attorney) for the Macon judicial court Jan. 31, 1877, and served in that capacity until Jan. 31, 1881; was elected to the house of representatives of Georgia in 1882-83, and again in 1884-85, and to the state senate in 1889. He was elected judge of the superior court of the Macon circuit in 1893; and was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

BARTLETT, CLARENCE, lecturer, was born May 22, 1858, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He attained prominence as a lecturer on neurology in many prominent colleges; and is the author of a work entitled Farrington Clinical Materia Medica.

BARTLETT, DAVID LEWIS, manufacturer, was born Dec. 6, 1816, in Hadley, Mass. His firm are among the most extensive manufacturers of architectural iron and gas works in the United States. They have erected gas plants at Milwaukee, Wis., Brooklyn, N. Y., Newark, Hoboken, and Morristown, N. J., Boston, Brookline and Haverhill, Mass., Washington, D. C., Montreal, Canada, and Havana, Cuba.

BARTLETT, EDWIN JULIUS, educator, was born Feb. 16, 1851, in Hudson, Ohio. He was graduated at Lake Forest academy in 1868, and at Dartmouth in 1872, after which he studied at Rush medical college, receiving his degree in 1879. From 1879 till 1883 he was associate professor of chemistry in Dartmouth college, and in 1883 he became full professor.

BARTLETT, ELISHA, physician, author, was born in 1805, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a Rhode Island physician; and the author of The Fevers of the United States; and Simple Settings in Verse for Portraits and Pictures in Mr. Dicken's Gallery. He died July 18, 1855, in Smithfield, R. I.

BARTLETT, ELIZABETH COLLIS, author, was born Nov. 5, 1838, in New Haven, Conn. Mrs. Bartlett's husband was editor of the Scientific American. After his death she became a writer of short stories, and at present is writing stories on English history.

BARTLETT, FRANKLIN, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1847, in Worcester county, Mass. In 1890 he served as a member of the constitutional commission of the state of New York; in 1892 was a delegate from New York to the democratic national convention at Chicago; and was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congresses.

BARTLETT, HOMER LYMAN, physician, was born in Jericho, Vt. He was consulting physician to Kings county hospital; and in 1881 was a delegate to the Physicians' Mutual Aid association. He has contributed freely to medical journals; and also written a series of Sketches of Long Island.

BARTLETT, ICHABOD, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born July 24, 1786, in Salisbury, N. H. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1823-29; was also frequently in the state legislature, and was a member of the convention to revise the state constitution. He died Oct. 19, 1853, in Portsmouth, N. H.

BARTLETT, JOHN, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1820, in Plymouth, Mass. He was formerly a Boston publisher, well known as the editor of Familiar Quotations, which reached a ninth edition in 1891. He is the author of The Shakespeare Phrase-Book; and A Complete Concordance to Shakespeare.

BARTLETT, JOHN RUSSELL, public official, author, was born Oct. 23, 1805, in Providence, R. I. He was at one time secretary of state in Rhode Island; and was the author of Records of the Colony of Rhode Island; Memoir of Rhode Island Officers in the War of the Rebellion; Primeval Man; Genealogy of the Russell Family; Dictionary of Americanisms; and Progress of Ethnology.

He edited the Letters of Roger Williams. He died May 28, 1886, in Providence, R. I.

BARTLETT, JOSEPH, poet, was born June 10, 1762, in Plymouth, Mass. He was a satirical poet whose New Vicar of Bray once attracted considerable attention. He died Oct. 20, 1827, in Boston, Mass.

BARTLETT, JOSEPH J., diplomat, was born about 1820, in New York. In 1867 he was appointed minister resident to Sweden and Norway, where he remained until 1869.

BARTLETT, JOSIAH, jurist, governor, was born Nov. 21, 1729, in Amesbury, Mass. He was educated for the medical profession; held commissions, both military and civil, under the royal government; accompanied Stark to Bennington as medical agent; was a delegate from New Hampshire to the continental congress from 1775 to 1779, and signed the articles of confederation and declaration of independence. He was appointed, in the latter year, chief justice of the court of common pleas; justice of the superior court in 1784, and chief justice in 1788.

In 1790 he was appointed president of New Hampshire, and elected by the people in 1791 and 1792. In 1793 he was elected governor of New Hampshire under the constitution, serving two years. He was the president of a medical society established by his efforts in 1791. He died May 19, 1795, in New Hampshire.

BARTLETT, JOSIAH, physician, congressman, was born in 1768, in New Hampshire. He was a physician of extensive practice; a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1811 to 1813; and a presidential elector in 1792 and 1825. His father, bearing the same name, was a man of note, and the first governor of New Hampshire, after the adoption of the federal constitution. He died April 14, 1838, in Stratham, N. H.

BARTLETT, MARY RUSSELL, author. She is a graduate of Wellesley college; and her poems constantly appear in current publications.

BARTLETT, NAPIER, soldier, journalist, author, was born in 1836, in Georgia. He was the author of Clarimonde, a novelette; Stories of the Crescent City; and A Soldier's Story of the War. He died in 1877.

BARTLETT, PETER MASON, clergyman, banker, was born Feb. 6, 1820, in Salisbury, Conn. In 1850 he graduated from Williams college; and in 1853 from the Union Theological seminary of New York city. He has been general agent of the American Tract society; and has filled pastorates in Circleville, Ohio; Lansingburgh, N. Y.; and Windsor Locks, Conn. He served as chaplain of the first New York mounted rifles during 1862-63. In 1868 he was elected president of the Maryville college, Tenn.; and for nearly twenty years filled the chair of Mental and Moral Philosophy, and of Didactic Theology in that institution. He has been president of several business firms of Tennessee, and is now president of the bank of Maryville.

BARTLETT, RALPH W., lawyer, educator, was born June 13, 1865, in North Brookfield, Mass. He is a graduate from Amherst college and the Boston university law school; and is a member of the bar. Since 1894 he has been instructor of real property at the Boston university school of law.

BARTLETT, SAMUEL COLCORD, eighth president of Dartmouth college, was born Nov. 25, 1817, in Salisbury, N. H. In 1836 he graduated from Dartmouth college; then began educational work. In 1843 he became pastor of the congregational church in Monson, Mass.; and three years later assumed the duties of the professorship of intellectual philosophy and rhetoric in the Western Reserve college. In 1852 he returned to the ministry; filled pastorates in Manchester, N. H., and Chicago, Ill.; and became one of the editors of the Congregational Herald. In 1858 he was chosen professor of biblical literature in the Chicago Theological seminary; was elected president of Vermont university in 1866; and in 1877 became president of Dartmouth college. After fifteen years of service he resigned in 1892. He is the author of Life and Death Eternal; from Egypt to Palestine; and other works.

BARTLETT, THOMAS, JR., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in Vermont. He adopted the profession of the law; and was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1851 to 1853. He served three years in the state legislature, in both houses.

BARTLETT, THOMAS EDWARD, contractor, genealogist, was born April 17, 1838, in Smithfield, R. I. He received his education at the Maine Wesleyan seminary, and the Quaker school of Providence, R. I. He is a successful contractor of Worcester, Mass., and the author of a genealogy of the Bartletts.

BARTLETT, THOMAS ELLIOTT, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 20, 1853, in Newburyport, Mass. He graduated from Brown university and Newton Theological institute, and since 1880 has been pastor of South Baptist church, of Providence, R. I. He is the author of several books.

BARTLETT, WASHINGTON, governor, was born Feb. 29, 1824, in Savannah, Ga. He published the first book printed in California, entitled California as It Is and as It May Be. In 1886 he was chosen governor of California, and held that office until the time of his death. He died Sept. 2, 1887.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM, philanthropist, was born Jan. 31, 1718, in Newburyport, Mass. Entering on a mercantile career, before the revolution, he succeeded, with economy, in amassing a fortune, which he largely spent in charity, and for the advancement of religion and morals. At the foundation of Andover theological seminary, in 1807, he gave it $30,000, endowed a professorship, and built a house for the use of the incumbent. His gifts to this institution reached $250,000, and he also gave largely toward temperance work, missions, and the education of ministers. He died Feb. 8, 1841, in Newburyport, Mass.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM FRANCIS, soldier, was born Jan. 6, 1840, in Haverhill, Mass. He served in the civil war as captain of the 57th Massachusetts volunteers, and was promoted brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious conduct. He died Dec. 17, 1876, in Pittsfield, Mass.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM HOLMS CHAMBERS, scientist, author, was born in 1809, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a prominent scientist, who was from 1834-71 an instructor at West Point. He was the author of Treatise on Optics; Analytical Mechanics; and Spherical Astronomy. He died in 1893.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM PITT GREENWOOD, mathematician, author, was born Oct. 27, 1837, in Boston, Mass. He became one of the corps of computers for the Nautical Almanac. He published several papers on the elements of quaternions in the Mathematical Monthly, and on interpolation in the Memoirs of the American Academy. He died Jan. 13, 1865, in Cambridge, Mass.

BARTLEY, ELIAS HUDSON, chemist, author, was born Dec. 6, 1849, in Bartleyville, N. J. In 1882 he was appointed chief chemist to the health department, Brooklyn. He is also consulting sanitarian to the hospital for nervous diseases, and visiting physician to the sheltering arms nursery. Dr. Bartley is a member of numerous medical and other scientific societies, and president of the American Society of Public Analysts. He has contributed several articles to Wood's Household Practice of Medicine; and is the author of A Text-Book of Medical Chemistry.

BARTLEY, MORDECAI, soldier, agriculturalist, governor, was born Dec. 16, 1783, in Fayette county, Pa. He was captain and adjutant, under Harrison, in the war of 1812; and was a state senator in 1817 and 1818. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1823 to 1831; and governor of Ohio from 1844 to 1846. He died Oct. 12, 1870, in Mansfield, Ohio.

BARTLEY, THOMAS W., lawyer, jurist, state senator, governor, was born Feb. 11, 1812, in Jefferson county, Pa. He served two years in the house of representatives, and four years in the senate of Ohio. In 1851 he was elected judge of the supreme court of Ohio, and served in that position two terms, three years of the time as chief justice of the court. In 1844, when Governor Shannon resigned to become minister to Mexico, Mr. Bartley, as president of the senate, became the governor.

BARTOL, CYRUS AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 30, 1813, in Freeport, Maine. His first and only settlement in the ministry was as colleague with Rev. Dr. Charles Lowell, at West church, Boston, in 1837. In 1861 he became and still remains sole pastor, having rendered distinguished service of more than half a century over one of the oldest and most influential societies of Boston. This noted unitarian clergyman is prominent as a leader of radical religious thought; and has always been active in philanthropic movements. He is the author of Pictures of Europe; Christian Spirit and Life; Radical Problems; The Rising Faith; Principles and Portraits; Church and Congregation; and Christian Body and Form.

BARTON, MRS. ANNA, pastor, poet, was born Oct. 26, 1842, in Western New York. After engaging in active church service for many years, in 1886 she assumed the position of pastor of the Free Baptist church, of Paw Paw, Mich. In 1882 she published a volume of poems, entitled For Friendship's Sake.

BARTON, BENJAMIN SMITH, physician, author, was born Feb. 10, 1766, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a noted physician of Philadelphia; and the author of Observations on Some Parts of Natural History; New Views on the Origin of the Tribes of North America; and Elements of Botany. He died Dec. 19, 1815, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARTON, CLARA, philanthropist, was born in 1830, in North Oxford, Mass. She was educated at Clinton, N. Y. She founded a free school at Bordentown, N. J.; was clerk in the United States patent office from 1854 to 1861; devoted herself to the care of sick and wounded soldiers during the civil war; went to Europe and did hospital work in the Franco-German war; aided the Red Cross movement; assisted the poor at Paris and Strasburg; returning, she became the head of the Red Cross society, and in 1896 went to Turkey to aid the persecuted Armenians. In 1898 she went to Cuba, and had charge of distributing supplies furnished by the United States government.

BARTON, DAVID, congressman, was born in 1785, in Boonville, Mo. He was one of the first emigrants to the territory of Missouri; president of the convention which met to form a state constitution in 1820; and was a senator in congress from Missouri from 1821 to 1831. He died Sept. 28, 1837, near Boonville, Mo.

BARTON, HUBBARD ALONZO, journalist, poet, was born May 12, 1842, in Croydon, N. H. This well-known New Hampshire editor was educated in the schools of his native town and by private instruction, and for many years was superintendent of schools. Early developing a literary taste he contributed much, both in prose and verse, to the public press. In 1879 he became the editor and senior proprietor of the New Hampshire Argus and Spectator, a well-known democratic newspaper published at Newport, N. H., which was established in 1823, by his great uncle, the Hon. Cyrus Barton; and for the past twenty years he has been continuously connected with that publication.

BARTON, RICHARD W., legislator, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843; also served in the state legislature; and was the first president of the Valley Agricultural society. He died March 15, 1859, in Frederick county, Va.

BARTON, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in New York. He served three years in the assembly of that state; and was a representative in congress from 1835 to 1837.

BARTON, THOMAS, clergyman, was born in 1730, in Monaghan, Ireland. He was for nearly twenty years rector of St. James church, Lancaster, Pa. He died May 25, 1780, in New York.

BARTON, WILLIAM, soldier, was born May 26, 1748, in Warren, R. I. He was a soldier in the revolutionary war; and received the rank of colonel and a sword for his services. He died Oct. 22, 1831, in Providence, R. I.

BARTON, WILLIAM PAUL CRILLON, physician, surgeon, botanist, author, was born Nov. 17, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He organized the United States naval bureau of medicine and surgery, and was known both as botanist and surgeon. He was the author of Vegetable Materia Medica of the United States; Flora of North America; Medical Botany; and Compendium Floræ Philadelphæ. He died Feb. 9, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARTOW, A. A., educator, journalist, poet, was born Sept. 3, 1851, in Huron, Ohio. Until 1889 he was engaged in educational work; and then became editor of the Cincinnati Public School Journal. At the age of twelve he was a drummer boy in the union army.

BARTRAM, JOHN, botanist, author, was born March 23, 1699, in Darby, Pa. He was a shrewd, careful observer whom Linnæus termed the greatest natural botanist in the world, and was called the father of American botany. He was the author of Observations on the Inhabitants, Climate, etc., as made by Mr. John Bartram in his Travels from Pennsylvania to Onondaga, etc. A similar record of travels in eastern Florida appeared in 1766. He died Sept. 22, 1777, in Kingessing, Pa.

BARTRAM, JOSEPH BURR, merchant, was born May 17, 1839, in Black Rock, Conn. He is extensively engaged in the importation of sugar from the West Indies, having plantations on the islands of St. Croix and San Domingo, and controlling the product of several others.

BARTRAM, WILLIAM, botanist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1739, in Kingsessing, Pa. He was a botanist and traveler of Pennsylvania; and the author of Travel Through North and South Carolina, Georgia, etc.; and Observations on the Creek and Cherokee Indians. He died July 22, 1823, in Kingsessing, Pa.

BARWIG, CHARLES, merchant, congressman, was born March 19, 1837, in Germany. He emigrated to America with his parents in 1845, locating at Milwaukee. He graduated from the Spencerian business college in 1857; located at Mayville in 1865; and was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses.

BARZEE, CLARK LOUIS, educator, college president, poet, was born Jan. 5, 1864, in Marion county, Ore. He has been president of the Jefferson institute, Oregon; president of the Mineral Spring college, of Sodaville, Ore., of which institution he was the founder; and is now president of the state normal school, of Drain, Ore. For several years he was the editor of the Oregon School Journal; is the author of a work entitled X-Rays on the Public Schools; and is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BASCOM, HENRY BIDLEMAN, bishop, author, was born May 27, 1796, in Hancock, N. Y. He was a bishop of the methodist church; and the author of Sermons from the Pulpit; Mental and Moral Science; and Methodism and Slavery. He died Sept. 8, 1850, in Louisville, Ky.

BASCOM, JOHN, author, was born May 1, 1827, in Genoa, N. Y. He is a philosophical writer, and from 1874-87 was president of Wisconsin university, and subsequently professor of political science at Williams college. He is the author of Elements of Psychology; Æsthetics; Political Economy for Colleges; Science, Philosophy, and Religion; Natural Theology; The Science of Mind; The Words of Christ; Philosophy of English Literature; Comparative Psychology; Problems in Philosophy; Sociology, Social Theory; Ethics; The New Theology; Historical Interpretation of Philosophy; and A Philosophy of Religion.

BASHFORD, HERBERT, author, poet, was born in 1871, in Sioux City, Iowa. A poem written at the age of fifteen was accepted by the Critic, and his poems have appeared in several standard works.

BASHFORD, JAMES WHITFORD, clergyman, college president, was born in 1849, in Fayette, Wis. He has held various pastorates, had frequent calls to take up educational work, and in 1889 was elected president of the Ohio Wesleyan university.

BASHFORD, ROBERT MCKEE, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 31, 1845, in Fayette, Wis. He graduated from the state university of Wisconsin in ancient classics in 1870; and in law the following year. During 1880-85 he was city attorney of Madison, Wis.; a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1884; and in 1890 was mayor of that city. During 1884-85 and since 1893 he has been professor in a law school of the state university of Wisconsin. During 1892-96 he was a member of the Wisconsin state senate, and served with distinction in that body.

BASKERVILL, WILLIAM MALONE, educator, author, was born April 1, 1850, in Fayette county, Tenn. He has been professor of Latin and French in Wofford college, S. C.; and of English language and literature in the Vanderbilt university. He is the author of Joel Chandler Harris, a biographical and critical study.

BASS, EDWARD, bishop, was born Nov. 23, 1726, in Dorchester, Mass. He was consecrated in Philadelphia in 1797, and his jurisdiction extended over the churches in Rhode Island and New Hampshire. He died Sept. 10, 1803, in Newburyport, Mass.

BASS, JOHN H., soldier, business man, financier, was born Nov. 9, 1835, in Salem, Ky. During the war he served the union cause in the thirtieth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry. He established the Fort Wayne Machine works, and in 1869 extended his operations by founding the St. Louis Car Wheel company, of which he was president. Since 1880 he has owned a plant for the manufacture of pig iron in north-eastern Alabama, whence that commodity is shipped to his establishments in Fort Wayne, Chicago, and St. Louis. He is the president of the old national bank of Fort Wayne; owns the Brookside farm; and nearly twenty thousand acres of valuable mineral land in Alabama. In 1888 he was a delegate at large to the democratic national convention, and was the same year nominated one of the presidential electors.

BASS, JOSIAH LUSTER, merchant, was born Feb. 20, 1853, in DeKalb county, Tenn. He established a large dry goods house in Griffin, Rome and Atlanta; and has been a prominent leader in public industrial affairs.

BASS, LYMAN K., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1836, in Alden, N. Y. He was elected district attorney for Erie county in 1865, for three years; and was re-elected in 1868; and served until 1872. He was renominated and was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses.

BASS, WILLIAM C., clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 13, 1831, in Augusta, Ga. He entered the ministry of the methodist church in 1852, and has given his later life to the work of education in Georgia. He became a professor in the Wesleyan Female college in 1859, and succeeded to the presidency in 1874.

BASSETT, ALLAN LEE, soldier, journalist, insurance president, was born Feb. 28, 1827, near Birmingham, Conn.

For twenty years he was a successful merchant of New York city. He served with distinction through the civil war in the twenty-third New York regiment. In 1866 he established The Northern Monthly and New Jersey Magazine, of Irvington, N. J., which subsequently became Putnam's Magazine. In 1873 he organized the Prudential Insurance company, now one of the most important institutions of its kind in America; and he became its first president. He died Dec. 4, 1892, in Newark, N. J. His son, Carrol Phillips Bassett, still resides in Newark, N. J.

BASSETT, ARTHUR, merchant, was born Jan. 17, 1851, in Fairfield, Mich. In 1882 he was elected great commander of the Order of the Knights of the Macca-bees, at Port Huron, Mich., where he is a wholesale druggist and successful man of affairs.

BASSETT, BURWELL, congressman, was born in New Kent county, Va. He was a representative in congress from that state in 1805-13, from 1815 to 1819, and from 1821 to 1831.

BASSETT, CARROLL PHILLIPS, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 27, 1862, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was president of the New Jersey Sanitary association from 1892-93; is chief engineer of the Commonwealth Water company; and has designed and constructed the waterworks, the sewerage, and sewage purification works of many towns in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware. He is the author of The Conservation of Streams, and Inland Sewage Disposal.

BASSETT, HOMER FRANKLIN, librarian, was born Sept. 2, 1826, in Florida, Mass. In 1872 he was appointed librarian of the Silas Bronson library, of Waterbury, Conn.

BASSETT, J. ANTHONY, educator, was born Dec. 25, 1850, in Denmark, N. Y. He received a thorough education in the Lowville academy and the Rochester university. For twelve years he was in charge of the departments of science and mathematics in the old Gouverneur Wesleyan seminary; and in 1887 assumed the principalship of the Richfield Springs Union schools.

BASSETT, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1834, in Canada. This eminent clergyman has filled various pastorates in Pennsylvania and New York. He is the author of a number of works, and has contributed extensively to church literature.

BASSETT, RICHARD, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born in Delaware. He was a member from Delaware of the convention which formed the constitution, and signed that instrument; and was a senator in congress from 1789 to 1793. He was a presidential elector in 1797, and was the first man who cast his vote for locating the seat of government on the Potomac. He was chief justice of the federal supreme court, and governor of Delaware from 1798 to 1801. He died in September, 1815, in Delaware.

BASSETT, SPENCER JOHN, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1867, in Tarborough, N. C. He is a successful educator and the author of the following works: The Constitutional Beginnings of North Carolina; Slavery and Servitude in the Colony of North Carolina; The Regulators of North Carolina; Suffrage in North Carolina; and Anti-Slavery Leaders in North Carolina.

BASTIN, EDSON SEWELL, educator, author, was born in Wisconsin. In 1893 he was elected to the chair of materia medica and botany in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. He is the author of Lectures on Botany and Materia Medica; Elements of Botany; The College Botany; and Vegetable History.

BATCHELDER, JOHN PUTNAM, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 6, 1784, in Wilton, N. H. He was a successful surgeon, and performed many operations of great importance, and requiring extraordinary skill and daring. He was president of the Academy of Medicine, and of the New York Medical association in 1858. He published Thoughts on the Connection of Life, Mind, and Matter, and other works. He died April 8, 1868, in New York city.

BATCHELDER, SAMUEL, manufacturer, inventor, author, was born June 8, 1784, in Jaffrey, N. H. In 1808 he began the manufacture of cotton at New Ipswich. Among his inventions, that of the dynamometer, for ascertaining the power for driving machinery, first used in the York mills in 1837, is perhaps the greatest. He is the author of History of the Cotton Manufacture in the United States. He died Feb. 5, 1879, in Cambridge, Mass.

BATCHELLER, GEORGE S., soldier, statesman, was born July 25, 1836, in Batchellerville, N. Y. He reorganized the militia of New York and served as inspector-general from 1865 to 1869. He was appointed to represent the United States at the international tribunal of Egypt, and in 1883 was elected president of that body. In 1889 he was appointed consul-general to Egypt by President Harrison.

BATCHELOR, GEORGE, clergyman, author. He was born in 1836 in Connecticut. He is a unitarian clergyman, and the author of Social Equilibrium and Other Problems, Ethical and Religious.

BATE, HENRY C., soldier, was born July 28, 1839, in Bledsoe's Lick, Tenn. He served in the civil war as a confederate, and attained the rank of major.

BATE, WILLIAM B., soldier, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Oct. 17, 1826, in Castalian Springs, Tenn. He received an academic education; served as a private throughout the Mexican war in Louisiana and Tennessee regiments; and a year after returning from the Mexican war was elected to the Tennessee legislature. In 1854 he was elected attorney-general for the Nashville district for six years; was a presidential elector in 1860; was private, captain, colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general in the confederate service, surrendering with the army of Tennessee in 1865; and was three times dangerously wounded. After the close of the war he returned to Tennessee and resumed the practice of law; was a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1868; served on the national democratic executive committee for Tennessee twelve years; was an elector for the state-at-large on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876; in 1882 was elected governor of Tennessee, and re-elected in 1884 without opposition. He was elected to the United States senate in 1887, and in 1893-99.

BATEMAN, EPHRAIM, physician, state senator, congressman, was born in Cedarville, N. J. He was well educated, and adopted the profession of medicine. He was a representative in congress from 1815 to 1823; and a senator in congress from 1826 to 1829. He died Jan. 29, 1829, in Cedarville, N. J.

BATEMAN, ISABEL, actress, was born Dec. 28, 1854, near Cincinnati, Ohio. Her family moved to England in 1863. Two years later she made her debut in a child's character in London. For six years after 1872 she played the leading characters with Henry Irving. Most of her acting has been done in the theaters of London.

BATEMAN, KATE J., actress, was born Oct. 7, 1842, in Baltimore, Md. Her father became the manager of the Lyceum theater in London. She was introduced to the London public by P. T. Barnum in conjunction with her young sister, as the Bateman Children. Her married name was Crowe. Her best character was that of Leah in a play of that name.

BATEMAN, NEWTON, educator, college president, was born July 27, 1822, in Fairfield, N. J. He came to Illinois in 1833, and graduated from Illinois college in 1843. He assisted in organizing the State Teachers' association of Illinois in 1854. In 1858 he founded the Illinois Teacher, and was its first editor. He became state superintendent of public instruction of Illinois in 1859, and to this office he was re-elected four times. In 1860 he issued the first of the series of reports, which are recognized as classic authority concerning Illinois pedagogic law. In 1874 he was chosen president of Knox college. He died Oct. 21, 1897, in Galesburg, Ill.

BATES, ARLO, educator, author, was born Dec. 16, 1850, in East Machias, Maine. He is professor of English literature in Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Talks on Writing English; The Pagans; Patty's Perversities; A Wheel of Fire; In the Bundle of Time; A Lad's Love; The Philistines; A Book o' Nine Tales. His verse includes Berries of the Brier; Sonnets in Shadow; A Poet and his Self; Told in the Gate; and The Torch-Bearers.

BATES, BENJAMIN E., philanthropist. Bates college, of Lewiston, Maine, was controlled by the free baptists; founded in 1863, and named after Benjamin E. Bates, of Boston, who contributed $200,000 to its endowment fund.

BATES, CHARLOTTE FISKE, author, poet, was born Nov. 30, 1838, in New York city. She has published a volume of her collected verses, entitled Risk, and Other Poems. She has edited the Longfellow Birthday Book and The Seven Voices of Sympathy, compilations of Longfellow's prose and poetry, and the Cambridge Book of Poetry and Song, a volume of poetical selections from English and American authors. She has also written some prose, which has not yet been published in a collected form. Miss Bates assisted Longfellow in compiling his Poems of Places, making ten translations expressly for the work.

BATES, MRS. CLARA [DOTY], author, was born in 1838 in Ann Arbor, Mich. She is a writer of juvenile tales and the author of Classics of Babyland Versified; Child Lore; On the Way to Wonderland; and Heart's Content. She died in 1895.

BATES, CYRUS S., an eminent clergyman of the episcopal church, was born Dec. 31, 1840, in Chester, Ohio. He was among the first to volunteer in the northern army in 1861, and was distinguished for his bravery. He was severely wounded at the battle of Chickamauga. In 1865 he graduated from the Cincinnati Law school, and later from the Theological seminary at Gambier, Ohio. During six years he was professor of divinity in this seminary, and professor of philosophy in Kenyon college. For the last twelve years of his life he was rector of St. Paul's, Cleveland. He was a vigorous thinker and a speaker of great power, indefatigable in labor, and prominent in many lines of philanthropic work. He died April 19, 1896, in Cleveland, Ohio.

BATES, DAVID, author, was born about 1810 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of the well-known poem Speak Gently, about which, shortly after its publication, there was a notable controversy and counterclaims as to its authorship. Childhood is another of his best known pieces. A complete edition of his poems was edited by his son. He died Nov. 25, 1870, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BATES, DEWEY, painter, was born in 1851 in Philadelphia. At an early age he went abroad to study art, first entering the schools of the royal academy of Antwerp, and subsequently spending several years as a student in the Ecole des beaux arts in Paris and as a pupil of Gérôme.

BATES, EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 4, 1793, in Belmont, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from Missouri, serving from 1827 to 1829; and in 1830 was elected to the state senate. In 1834 he was again elected to the lower house of the legislature; in 1850 was appointed secretary of war, but declined the office; and in 1853 he was elected judge of the St. Louis land court, which office he resigned in 1856. In 1861 he was appointed attorney-general in President Lincoln's cabinet. He died March 25, 1869, in St. Louis, Mo.

BATES, FREDERICK, jurist, governor, was born June 23, 1777, in Belmont, Va. He was appointed by President Jefferson in 1805 the first United States judge for the territory of Michigan, and having subsequently become a citizen of Missouri was elected governor of Missouri, serving from 1824 until his death, Aug. 21, 1825.

BATES, MRS. HARRIET LEONORA [VOSE], author, was born in 1856. She was the author of A Woodland Wooing; Old Salem; and Prince Vance. She died in 1886.

BATES, ISAAC C., state senator, congressman, was born May 14, 1780, in Granville, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1802, and studied law and attained a high position as an advocate. He was frequently in the state legislature and a member of the executive council; was a representative in congress from 1827 to 1833; and was a senator in congress from 1841 to 1845. He died March 16, 1845, in Washington, D. C.

BATES, J. WOODSON, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the southwest, and while residing at the post of Arkansas was appointed a United States judge for that territory.

BATES, JAMES, physician, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Somerset county, Maine, from 1831 to 1833.

BATES, JAMES W., congressman, was born in Goochland county, Va. He was a delegate to congress from the territory of Arkansas from 1820 to 1823.

BATES, JOHN LEWIS, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 18, 1859, in Easton, Mass. He received his education at the Boston Latin school and the college and law departments of the Boston university. He has attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of New England, and is the senior member of the law firm of Bates and Bradish, of Boston, Mass. In 1891-92 he was a member of the Boston common council; in 1894-97 served with distinction as a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives, and was speaker of the house in 1897.

BATES, JOSEPH CLEMENT, lawyer, author, was born in July, 1836, in Richmond, Maine. He is a successful lawyer of San Francisco, Cal. He has published a work, Forms and Use of Blanks, and a paper entitled Horace Howes's Will Case.

BATES, JOSHUA, educator, college president, was born March 20, 1776, in Cohasset, Mass. In 1818 he accepted the presidency of Middlebury college, Vt., which position he filled for twenty years. He died Jan. 14, 1854, in Dudley, Mass.

BATES, KATHARINE LEE, educator, author, poet, was born Aug. 12, 1859, in Falmouth, Mass. She received her degrees of B.A. and M.A. from the Wellesley college, in which institution she has been instructor of English literature for many years. She is the author of the Student's Series of English Classics, numerous stories, and two volumes of poems.

BATES, LAURENCE WEBSTER, educator, was born Nov. 10, 1819, in Burlington county, N. J. He received his education in the Medford Quaker school of his native county. For several years he was the editor of a prominent church paper, and has contributed extensively to current literature. He was president of the Maryland conference in 1860-61; president of the general conference in 1874; president of the general church convention in 1877; and he has filled numerous high positions in the methodist episcopal church. During 1893-96 he was professor in the Westminster Theological seminary. He was chairman of the committee to compile a new hymn book; and is first president of the Christian Endeavor union of the methodist protestant church.

BATES, MRS. MARGARET HOLMES, author, poet, was born Oct. 6, 1844, in Fremont, Ohio. She is the author of two novels entitled Manitou, and The Chamber Over the Gate, and her poems have appeared in several standard collections.

BATES, MARTIN, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Feb. 24, 1787, in Salisbury, Conn. He was educated for a physician, and taught school for a time, but afterward studied law and removed to Delaware, where he practiced in Dover. He served several terms in the legislature, and was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1850. After the death of John M. Clayton he was chosen to the United States senate as a democrat, and served from 1858-59. He died Jan. 1, 1869, in Dover, Del.

BATES, SAMUEL PENNIMAN, educator, historian, poet, was born Jan. 29, 1827, in Mendon, Mass. In 1851 he graduated from the Brown university, and the following five years he was engaged in teaching the ancient languages in Meadville, Pa., which city has since been his home. In 1857 he was elected superintendent of public schools of Crawford county; received the re-election in 1860, but resigned to accept the office of deputy state superintendent of education, which position he held for six years. In 1866 he was appointed state historian, and the result of his seven years' work was published in five volumes entitled History of Pennsylvania Volunteers. He next wrote the Lives of the Governors of Pennsylvania, which was followed by the following works: Martial Deeds of Pennsylvania; The History of the Battle of Gettysburg; The History of the Battle of Chancellorsville; and a Condensed History of Pennsylvania.

BATES, WILLIAM W., journalist, shipbuilder, was born in 1827, in Calais, Maine. From 1854-59 he helped to conduct The Nautical Magazine and Naval Journal; in 1875 he took part in a council of shipbuilders to improve their rules; in 1881 he built a large dry dock at Portland, Maine; and in 1889 was elected commissioner of navigation. He is now engaged on an elaborate work entitled The Shipping Question Investigation.

BATESON, JOHN C., physician, lecturer, was born July 25, 1854, in Iowa. He graduated from the University of New York, and has attained eminence as a great physician and surgeon. He was the founder of the organization known as the United Christians; and has lectured extensively on Christian union hygiene. He has been health officer of Scranton, Pa., where he has filled many public positions of trust.

BATTELLE, GORDON, clergyman, was born Nov. 14, 1814, in Newport, Ohio. His influence in western Virginia was very great, and at the beginning of the civil war in 1861 he was appointed an official visitor to the military camps. The needs of the time demanding attention to the political situation, he became a member of the convention that met Nov. 24, 1861, and framed the constitution of the new state of West Virginia. To him, more largely probably than to any other man, was due the abolition of slavery in that region. He died Jan. 7, 1862.

BATTELS, S. M. E., philanthropist, was born Nov. 17, 1839, in Hudson, Ohio. She was a prominent worker member of the first Ohio Soldiers' Aid society; and was for three years president of the Woman's Relief corps of Ohio. She has done inspective work through the state, soliciting, purchasing and distributing sanitary and hospital supplies to the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' home.

BATTEN, JOHN M., physician, was born April 19, 1837, in East Brandywine, Pa. He graduated from the medical college department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1864, and prior to graduating was a medical cadet in the army hospital at Philadelphia. In 1864 he was appointed acting assistant surgeon in the United States navy, and served at different times on the United States steamers Princeton and Valley City.

BATTERMAN, HENRY, merchant, banker, was born Nov. 5, 1849, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He employs 500 clerks, and conducts the most important trade in the eastern district of Brooklyn. He is president of The Broadway bank of Brooklyn.

BATTERSHALL, JESSE PARK, chemist, author, was born May 26, 1851, in Troy, N. Y. In 1879 he entered the government service, and since that time he has had charge of the analytical department of the United States laboratory at New York. He has contributed papers to chemical journals, and is the translator of Naquet's Legal Chemistry, and the author of Adulteration of Food and Drink.

BATTERSON, HERMON GRISWOLD, D. D., priest, poet, was born May 28, 1827, in Litchfield county, Conn. He has been rector of the St. Clement's church, and the Church of the Annunciation, of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of the following works: The Missionary Tune Book; The Manual of Plain Song; Sketch of the American Episcopate; Christmas Carols; The Pathway of Faith; Vestal Bells and Other Verses; Daily Rule for Busy People; Remember Your Dead; and other works.

BATTERSON, JAMES GOODWIN, insurance president, was born Feb. 23, 1823, in Bloomfield, Conn. He owns and operates extensive granite quarries at West-erly, R. I., and Concord, N. H. He has been the moving and controlling force in the management of the Travelers Insurance company since its inception in 1863.

BATTEY, ROBERT, physician, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 26, 1828, in Augusta, Ga. He has been successful in the execution of a number of difficult surgical operations on the urinary organs of both sexes. Of the methods used, several were original with himself. From 1873 to 1875 he was professor of obstetrics in the Atlanta Medical college, and from 1873 to 1876 he edited the Atlanta Medical and Surgical Journal. He is a member of the Georgia Medical association, and was its president in 1876. He has written numerous papers and reports of cases, which have been contributed to the medical press both in America and England.

BATTEY, SUMTER BEAUREGARD, physician, surgeon, was born near Louisville, Ga. In 1885 he began the practice of medicine in New York city; made a specialty of surgery; and has done unique work in that field.

BATTLE, ARCHIBALD J., clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 10, 1826, in Powelton, Ga. He was president of Mercer university from 1871 to 1879, and in 1879 was pastor for an interim of the First Baptist church of Macon. He is the author of a volume entitled Human Will.

BATTLE, BURRILL B., jurist, was born July 24, 1838, in Hinds county, Miss. In 1885 he was elected to fill a vacancy upon the supreme bench of the state, and in 1886 was re-elected to the same position for the full term of eight years. He was elected associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas in 1894.

BATTLE, KEMP PLUMMER, lawyer, educator, college president, was born Dec. 19, 1831, in Franklin county, N. C. He is the son of the late Judge William Horn Battle. He graduated from the University of North Carolina, of which institution he has been president, and now fills the chair of history. He has been state treasurer of North Carolina, and has filled various positions of trust in his county and state.

BATTLE, WILLIAM HORN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 17, 1802, in Edgecombe county, N. C. He graduated from the University of North Carolina; and was reporter of the supreme court decisions. In 1839 he was a delegate to the convention that nominated William Henry Harrison for the presidency of the United States. During 1840-52 he was judge of the superior court of North Carolina, and during 1852-68 was judge of the supreme court, North Carolina. He was the author of several valuable works on the common and statute laws of his state. He died March 14, 1879, in Chapei Hill, N. C.

BATTLES, W. S., physician, was born May 12, 1827; attained eminence as a physician in Shreve, Ohio. He contributed extensively to literature, and his poems can be found in various standard works.

BAUDER, EZRA, educator, was born April 7, 1824, in Indian Castle, N. Y. In 1879 he established a boarding and day school known as Brentsville seminary; and has been engaged in the profession of teaching in Virginia for many years.

BAUDER, LEVI F., lawyer, poet, was born Jan. 28, 1840, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is a learned lawyer and has served as a justice of the peace in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1880 he published a volume of poems entitled Passing Fancies.

BAUGH, DANIEL, manufacturer, was born Oct. 22, 1836, in Chester county, Pa. His business has been incorporated as The Baugh and Sons Co., capital $1,000,000, Daniel Baugh becoming its president. He is president of the Girard National bank of Philadelphia, Pa.

BAUGHER, HENRY L., educator, author, was born about 1805 in Abbottstown, Pa. He was licensed to preach by the Maryland Lutheran synod; was chosen pastor at Boonesboro, Md., in 1829, and took charge of a classical school in Gettysburg in 1830. The school expanded into a college in 1832, and Mr. Baugher became professor of the Greek language and belles lettres; was elected to the presidency of the college in 1850, and continued in that office until his death. He died April, 1886, in Gettysburg, Pa.

BAUGHER, HENRY LOUIS, educator, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Aug. 6, 1840, in Gettysburg, Pa. For twenty-four years he was professor of Greek in the Pennsylvania college; and has also filled the same chair in the Howard university of Washington, D. C. He has filled pastorates in Morristown, Pa.; Indianapolis, Ind., and Omaha, Neb. He is now the editor of the Augsburg Sunday-School Teacher, and The Lutheran World; and is the author of Annotations on the Gospel According to St. Luke.

BAUMBACH, MORITZ WILHELM HERMAN VON, diplomat, banker, was born Jan. 13, 1834, in Prussia. He has been the imperial and royal consul of Austro-Hungary; consul of Saxony; and imperial German vice-consul. He is now the president of the German Exchange bank of Milwaukee, Wis.

BAUMGARDT, BERNHARD RICHARD, astronomist, was born May 19, 1862, in Liverpool, England. He was educated in Sweden, and after graduating spent five years in traveling around the world. From a love of mathematics he took up astronomy, and devotes much of his time to that science in his private observatory in Los Angeles, Cal. He gives public lectures on astronomy, mathematics and philosophy, and has attained a national reputation. In 1891-93 he was secretary of the Oregon Academy of Sciences; and since 1894 has been secretary of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, in which institution he is also chairman of the astronomical section. He is also a successful business man, and is interested in many public enterprises.

BAUVAIS, A., governor. He was acting governor of Louisiana in 1830.

BAWDEN, JOHN, manufacturer, banker, was born April 10, 1827, in Cornwall, England. He began business for himself in Freehold, N. J., but in 1858 he formed a co-partnership with Gilbert Combs. He is president of the board of health and director of the Central National bank of Freehold.

BAXLEY, ISAAC RIEMAN, poet, was born in 1850 in Baltimore, Md. He has traveled a great deal, but since 1878 has made his home in California. His published books are The Temple of Alanthur, with Other Poems; The Prophet and Other Poems; Songs of the Spirit; and Beyond the Bank of Mist.

BAXTER, DELOS W., was born July 29, 1857, in Rochelle, Ill. Since 1881 he has practiced law in Rochelle, Ill. In 1884 he was elected state's attorney of Ogle county and held the office for twelve years—until his election as Illinois state senator in 1896. He also has been mayor of Rochelle.

BAXTER, ELISHA, governor, was born Sept. 1, 1827, in Rutherford county, N. C. He was governor of Arkansas during a part of the years 1874-75.

BAXTER, FELIX JOSEPHUS, lawyer, state senator, was born Aug. 10, 1830, in Sutton, W. Va. He has served with distinction as a member of the West Virginia state senate.

BAXTER, GEORGE A., educator, college president, author, was born July 22, 1871, in Rockingham county, Va. In 1829 he became president of Washington college; in 1832 he was inaugurated professor of theology in the Union Theological seminary; and in 1835 was chosen president of the Hampden Sidney college. He is the author of Abolition of Slavery; Parity; and the Scriptural Order of Christian Ministry. He died April 14, 1841.

BAXTER, HENRY, soldier, diplomatist, was born Sept. 8, 1821, in Sidney Plaine, N. Y. During the civil war he was made lieutenant-colonel of the seventh Michigan infantry, and in 1866 was appointed minister resident to Honduras.

BAXTER, HORACE HENRY, railroad builder, was born Jan. 18, 1818, in Saxtons' River, Vt. He built the Cleveland, Norwalk and Toledo railroad. At the outbreak of the civil war he attended the peace congress as a delegate from Vermont, and when that meeting failed of its object he became adjutant-general of Vermont. He died Feb. 17, 1884, in New York city.

BAXTER, JAMES PHINNEY, artist, author and philanthropist, was born in 1831 in Maine. He is well known as the Poet of Maine; and is the author of more than a dozen popular works. He is the honored president of the Maine Historical society. He built and presented to the city of Portland its magnificent public library building, the most beautiful structure in the city. He has served as mayor of Portland, and has been foremost in the development of that city and its institutions. His principal works are George Cleves of Casco Bay, 1630-67; Sir Ferdinando Gorges and His Province of Maine; and Idyls of the Year, a collection of verse.

BAXTER, JOHN, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 5, 1819, in Rutherford county, N. C. In 1842 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; was a presidential elector in 1844 and 1848; was again in the legislature in 1846, and from 1852 to 1857, serving as speaker of the house in 1852. In 1857 he removed to Knoxville, Tenn.; in 1870 was a member of the state constitutional convention; and in 1877 was appointed United States circuit judge for the sixth judicial circuit. He died April 10, 1886, in Hot Springs, Ark.

BAXTER, KATHARINE SCHUYLER, author, was born Feb. 22, 1845, in Oswego, N. Y. She is a great-granddaughter of Major-General Philip Schuyler, of the revolutionary army; a member of the Daughters of America, the Colonial Dames of America, and the American Authors' guild. She is the author of In Bamboo Lands; A God-Child of Washington; and other works.

BAXTER, LYDIA, hymn-writer, poet, was born Sept. 2, 1809, in Petersburg, N. Y. She is the author of Gems by the Wayside, a collection of poems, and the hymn, The Gates Ajar. She died Jan. 23, 1874, in New York city.

BAXTER, PORTUS, merchant, legislator, congressman, was born in Brown-ington, Vt. He was elected a representative from Vermont to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses; was also a delegate to the Philadelphia Loyalists' convention of 1866. He died March 4, 1868, in Washington, D. C.

BAXTER, SYLVESTER, journalist, author, was born in 1850 in Massachusetts. He is a journalist of Boston, prominent in exploiting the Metropolitan park system, and is the author of The Cruise of a Land Yacht, a Boy's Book of Mexican Travel.

BAXTER, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1823, in England. He is a clergyman of Cincinnati, whose War Lyrics as originally published in Harper's Weekly were once widely popular. He is the author of The Loyal West in the Times of the Rebellion; Pea Ridge and Prairie Grove, or Scenes and Incidents of the War in Arkansas.

BAXTER, WILLIAM M., lawyer, was born Aug. 30, 1850, in Alexander, S. C. He is a prominent lawyer of Knoxville, Tenn., and in 1882 became general solicitor of the legal department of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad company.

BAY, WILLIAM V. N., congressman, was born in New York. Having become a citizen of Missouri he was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851.

BAYARD, JAMES ASHETON, United States senator, was born July 28, 1767, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at Princeton college in 1784; after studying law at Philadelphia, commenced the practice in Delaware. In 1796 he was elected a representative in congress from Delaware, serving from 1797 to 1801, when he was appointed minister to France. In 1804 he was elected to the United States senate, of which body he continued a member until appointed, in 1813, a commissioner to negotiate a peace with Great Britain. He died Aug. 6, 1815, in Wilmington, Del.

BAYARD, JAMES A., lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 15, 1799, in Wilmington, Del. He was the son of the United States senator bearing the same name, and a brother of Richard H. Bayard. He was a senator in congress from Delaware during 1851-54; and in 1863 he was elected for the third term, but resigned in January, 1864. In 1867 he was appointed to a seat in the senate to fill a vacancy, and subsequently received the election to that office. He was a delegate to the New York convention of 1868. He died June 13, 1880, in Wilmington, Del.

BAYARD, JOHN, congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress from 1785 to 1787.

BAYARD, RICHARD H., lawyer, United States senator, was born in 1796 in Wilmington, Del. He was a senator in congress from Delaware from 1836 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1845; and was appointed charge d'affaires to Belgium in 1850. He died March 4, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BAYARD, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Jan. 11, 1767, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was one of the founders of the New York Historical society, organized in 1804. In 1806 he purchased an estate at Princeton, N. J. For several years he was a member of the New Jersey legislature, and for a long period presiding judge of the court of common pleas of Somerset county. He was one of the founders of Princeton Theological seminary, and joined with Elias Boudinot in establishing the American Bible society and the New Jersey Bible society. He was the author of several law compilations. He died May 12, 1840, in Princeton, N. J.

BAYARD, SAMUEL, president of the Evansville National bank, was born in Vincennes, Ind. In the early part of the year 1873 he aided in organizing the German National bank of Evansville, of which he is at present a director and one of the largest stockholders.

BAYARD, THOMAS FRANCIS, statesman, was born Oct. 29, 1828, in Wilmington, Del. He was chiefly educated at the Flushing school. His early training was for a mercantile life; studied and adopted the profession of the law; and came to the bar in 1851, and has always practiced in his native city. In 1853 he was appointed United States district attorney for Delaware, but resigned in 1854. He was elected a senator in congress from that state in 1869. On the same day of his election his father, James A. Bayard, was also re-elected to the senate from the same state—the only instance of the kind which ever occurred. He was re-elected in 1875, and again in 1881. In 1885 he was appointed secretary of state in the cabinet of President Cleveland, and resigned his seat in the senate. He died Sept. 28, 1898, in Dedham, Mass.

BAYARD, WILLIAM, public official, was born Jan. 1, 1729, in New York. He was a delegate from New York to the colonial congress, held in New York city in 1765. He died in 1804 in Southampton, England.

BAYARD, WILLIAM, merchant, was born about 1764 in New York. He was a large ship owner; traded with all the world; was for many years director of the Bank of America; and in 1810-27 was president of the Chamber of Commerce. He died Sept. 3, 1850, in New York city.

BAYLES, GEORGE, physician, was born Aug. 7, 1836, in New York city. He graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and from the medical department in the Columbia university in 1859. He has held many important positions, and is president of the board of education of Orange, N. J.

BAYLES, JAMES C., soldier, lecturer, journalist, author, was born July 3, 1845, in New York city. In 1870 he became editor of the Iron Age; and in 1874 established The Metal Worker. He has delivered lectures on sanitary topics in New York, and in all of the prominent cities of the Union, and is the author of the first standard American work on the Mechanics of Hygiene, House Drainage and Water Service. In 1883 he was elected president of the New Jersey State Sanitary association, and was appointed a commissioner to devise a system of sewers and sanitary improvements for the city of Trenton.

BAYLEY, JAMES ROOSEVELT, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 23, 1814, in New York city. He was a clergyman who entered the Roman catholic church from the episcopal and became archbishop of Baltimore. He was the author of History of the Catholic Church of New York; Memoirs of Bruté, First Bishop of Vincennes; and Pastorals for the People. He died Oct. 3, 1877, in Newark, N. J.

BAYLEY, RICHARD, educator, physician, author, was born in 1745 in Fairfield, Conn. The causes of yellow fever were very carefully studied by him, and in 1797 he published a work in which he contended that its origin was due entirely to local causes, and therefore that it was not contagious. He died Aug. 17, 1801, on Staten Island, N. Y.

BAYLEY, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Somerset county, Md. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1817 to 1823.

BAYLEY, THOMAS M., legislator, congressman, was born in 1775 in Virginia. He entered public life in 1798; continued therein until 1830; and served in both branches of the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1813 to 1815. He died in 1834 in Accomac county.

BAYLEY, WILLIAM G., civil engineer, railroad manager, was born Sept. 2, 1865, in Hollidaysburg, Pa. Since 1884 he has been in the railway service; during 1890-94 as engineer maintenance of way; and since 1894 as division superintendent of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway.

BAYLIES, FRANCIS, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Oct. 16, 1783, in Taunton, Mass. He was register of probate in Bristol county, Mass., from 1812 to 1820; was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1821 to 1827; and was a member of the state legislature from 1827 to 1832, and in 1835. In 1832 he was appointed charge d'affaires to Buenos Ayres. He was the author of A History of the Plymouth Colony. He died Oct. 28, 1852, in Taunton, Mass.

BAYLIES, NICHOLAS, jurist, author, was born in 1772 in Uxbridge, Mass. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1794; studied law, and practiced in Woodstock and Montpelier. From 1831 to 1834 he was a judge of the supreme court of Vermont. He published a Digested Index to the Modern Reports of the Courts of Common Law in England and the United States, in three volumes; and an Essay on Free Agency. He died Aug. 17, 1847, in Lyndon, Vt.

BAYLIES, WILLIAM, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1743, in Uxbridge, Mass. He graduated at Harvard college in 1760. He was a member of the provincial congress in 1775; often a member of the Massachusetts state council; served many years in the state legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1801. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1805 to 1809. He died Jan. 17, 1826, in Dighton, Mass.

BAYLIES, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 15, 1776, in Dighton, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1813 to 1817, and again from 1833 to 1835. He served in the state legislature in 1830 and 1831. He died Sept. 27, 1865, in Taunton, Mass.

BAYLOR, FRANCES COURTENAY, author, was born Jan. 20, 1848, in Fayetteville, Ark. Her writings have been principally for periodicals, in which two of her short stories—The Perfect Treasure and On This Side—attracted wide attention, and were published in book form as one narrative, On Both Sides. Her other works are: Juan and Juanita; and Behind the Blue Ridge.

BAYLOR, GEORGE, soldier, was born Jan. 12, 1752, in Newmarket, Va. He served continuously throughout the revolutionary war. He participated in the surprise of the Hessians at Trenton; carried the news of the victory to congress, and was presented by that body with a horse, and advanced to the rank of colonel in the dragoons in 1777. He died in March, 1784, in Bridgetown, W. I.

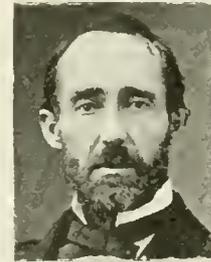

BAYLOR, ROBERT EMMETT BLEDSOE, clergyman, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born May 10, 1793, in Lincoln county, Ky. He served in the war of 1812. He was elected to the Alabama state legislature in 1824, and in 1829 was sent as a representative from Alabama to the twenty-first congress. Subsequent to his career in congress he emigrated to the republic of Texas, where he was immediately elected a judge of the district and of the supreme court, and held the office for twenty-five years. Baylor university was named as an honor warranted by the gifts of land and money made by Judge Baylor. One of the counties of Texas was also named for him. He died Jan. 6, 1874, in Gay Hill, Tex.

BAYLY, THOMAS HENRY, soldier, legislator, jurist, was born in 1810 in Accomac county, Va. While a member of the Virginia legislature he was elected by that body a brigadier-general of the militia of eastern Virginia; and subsequently was elected judge of the circuit superior court of law. In 1844 he was elected to the national house of representatives from the Accomac district, and continued, by successive elections, a member of the house for twelve years. He died June 22, 1856.

BAYNE, THOMAS M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 14, 1836, in Allegheny, Pa. He took part in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. He was district attorney for Allegheny county in 1870; and was elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses. He died in Allegheny, Pa.

BEACH, ABEL, lawyer, poet, was born Feb. 7, 1829, in Groton, N. Y. In 1849 he graduated from the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y.

He then taught school in Ithaca and Westfield academies, N. Y.; and was a professor in the State university of Iowa. He next entered into the practice of law; and has attained prominence as a successful pension attorney of Iowa City, Iowa. He has served as deputy auditor of Iowa, and has held various public positions of trust in his town, county and state. He was one of the principal founders of the Theta-Delta-Chi fraternity, and is a prominent member of various societies. For many years past he has given frequent contributions of poetry to the press, and is the author of Western Airs from the Prairies of Iowa; and several poetic brochures.

BEACH, ALFRED E., inventor, journalist, was born in 1826 in Springfield, Mass. He received an academic education, and in 1846, with Orson D. Munn, founded the firm of Munn and Co., and they became proprietors of The Scientific American. For almost fifty years he has been active in the editorship of this newspaper and in the extensive patent business of the firm. In 1847 he invented a type-writing machine.

BEACH, CHARLES FISK, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Sept. 5, 1827, in Hunter, N. Y. During 1851-54 he attended the Auburn Theological seminary, and was ordained to the ministry on Jan. 8, 1855. He at once entered active work as pastor of the presbyterian church; and for nearly twenty-two years successfully followed that vocation. During 1874-95 he was editor and publisher of The National Presbyterian and Expositor; and also of the International Sunday School Lessons. Since 1897 he has given his attention to law, with an office in Indianapolis, Ind. He is the author of Commentaries on the Law of Trust and Trustees; and other works.

BEACH, CLIFTON BAILEY, lawyer, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1845, in Sharon, Ohio. He removed to Cleveland in 1857, where he has since resided; was educated in the common schools and Western Reserve college, class of 1871; was admitted to the bar in 1872, but retired from active practice in 1884, having become extensively engaged in manufacturing enterprises. He was elected to the fifty-fourth, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BEACH, DAVID NELSON, clergyman, author, was born in 1848 in New Jersey. He is a prominent congregational clergyman of Cambridge, Mass., and since 1895 of Minneapolis, Minn. He is the author of The Newer Religious Thinking; How We Rose; Plain Words on Our Lord's Work; and The Intent of Jesus.

BEACH, HENRY HARRIS AUBREY, physician, was born Dec. 18, 1843, in Middletown, Conn. He was educated at Cambridge, and was graduated at Harvard Medical school in July, 1868, settling in Boston soon afterward. He is a member of many medical associations, and in 1873 was president of the Boylston Medical society. He became assistant demonstrator of anatomy in Harvard Medical school in 1868, and surgeon in the Massachusetts general hospital in 1872. He has contributed many papers to medical periodicals, and was at one time assistant editor of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

BEACH, JOHN N., merchant, was born Aug. 1, 1837, in Lodi, N. Y. He located in New York city; entered the dry-goods business; and has been a member of the present firm of Tefft, Weller and Co. since 1879. He is vice-president of the Mercantile Accident Insurance company, and president of the Dry-Goods Chronicle Publishing association.

BEACH, LEWIS, lawyer, congressman, was born March 30, 1835, in New York city, N. Y. He graduated at the Yale Law school in 1856; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New York city the same year. In 1861 he removed to Orange county, N. Y., and engaged in farming and the practice of law. He was also a contributor to the press; was supervisor of the town of Cornwall in 1869; and was treasurer of the democratic state central committee from 1877 to 1879. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses. He died Aug. 11, 1886, in Cornwall, N. Y.

BEACH, MYRON WALTER, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 27, 1844, in Lagrange, Mich. During the civil war he was a member of company I, first regiment Michigan sharpshooters. In 1870 he was admitted to the bar, and has attained success in his profession at Carroll, Iowa. He has been county superintendent of schools and mayor of his city; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

BEACH, WILLIAM AUSTIN, lawyer, was born Aug. 22, 1842, in Baldwinsville, N. Y. He has attained success as a prominent lawyer; and in 1885 received the appointment of collector of internal revenue for the twenty-first district of New York.

BEADLE, JOHN HANSON, journalist, author, was born March 14, 1840, in Parke county, Ind. He was educated at the university of Michigan, and served as a Union soldier during the civil war. He traveled extensively in America and Europe, and for many years was editorial writer for the American Press association. He was the author of Life in Utah; The Undeveloped West; Western Wilds; and other works. He died Jan. 15, 1897, in Rockville, Ind.

BEADLE, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, soldier, legislator, educator, college president, was born Jan. 1, 1838, in Parke county, Ind. He graduated from the university of Michigan in 1861. He served during the civil war from first lieutenant to brevet brigadier-general United States volunteers. He was a member of the legislature of Dakota territory; and served as superintendent of public instruction during 1873-85. He is the founder of the school system of the territory and state; and his most distinguished and enduring service was in securing the constitutional protection to the school lands and school funds of the state. He is the author of the provisions on education in the state constitution, and the upbuilder of the State Normal school of Madison, S. D., of which he has been president since 1889.

BEAKMAN, DANIEL FREDERICK, soldier, was born about 1760 in New Jersey. He was the last surviving soldier of the revolution on the pension list. In 1778 he was enrolled in the militia, and then served in the war. His married life extended over eighty-five years, and his wife reached the age of one hundred and five. In 1867 congress passed a special act giving him a pension of $500 during the remainder of his life. He died April 5, 1869, in Sandusky, N. Y.

BEAL, ABRAHAM, philanthropist, was born about 1803 in Chatham, England. He became very familiar with the criminal laws of New York and other states, and in 1863 assumed the general agency of the New York Prison association. He was for many years an efficient officer of the New York Port society. He died Feb. 25, 1872, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BEAL, C. W., journalist, state senator, was born April 25, 1860, in Audrain county, Mo. In 1890 he assumed editorial control of the Custer County Beacon, with which paper he is still connected. He was elected to the house of representatives of the legislature in 1893, and was elected to the state senate on the populist ticket in 1896.

BEAL, FOSTER ELLENBOROUGH LASCELLES, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 9, 1840, in Ayer, Mass. He was graduated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1871. During 1874-75 he was assistant professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Md., and from 1876 till 1882 professor of civil engineering in Iowa Agricultural college, where from 1879 till 1882 he was also acting professor of zoölogy and comparative anatomy, and in 1883 professor of geology. His writings, principally on topics of natural history, include the articles, Birds of Iowa; Value of the Seed-Eating Birds; and similar contributions to scientific journals.

BEAL, GEORGE LAFAYETTE, soldier, was born May 21, 1825, in Norway, Maine. He left Portland in 1861 as colonel of the tenth Maine regiment. He was appointed by the president brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864, and was mustered out of the service in 1866.

BEAL, WILLIAM JAMES, educator, botanist, author, was born March 11, 1833, in Adrian, Mich. He has taught natural history, science, botany, and horticulture in the leading agricultural colleges in America; and since 1870 has been professor of botany and forestry in the Agricultural college of Michigan. He has filled numerous positions of honor; is the author of The New Botany; Grasses of North America; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

BEALE, CHARLES L., lawyer, congressman, was born March 5, 1824, in Canaan, N. Y. In 1858 he was elected a representative to the thirty-sixth congress from New York; in 1864 was a presidential elector; and was a delegate to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866.

BEALE, CHARLES WILLING, was born in 1845 in the District of Columbia. He is a successful writer, and the author of The Ghost of Guir House.

BEALE, EDWARD FITZGERALD, soldier, diplomatist, was born Feb. 4, 1822, in Washington, D. C. In 1875 he was appointed United States minister to Austria.

BEALE, JAMES M. H., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1837, and from 1849 to 1853.

BEALE, MRS. MARIA, author, was born in 1849 in Virginia. She is a novelist of Arden, N. C.; and the author of Jack O'Doon.

BEALE, RICHARD LEE TUBERVILLE, general, lawyer, congressman, was born May 22, 1819, in Hickory Hill, Va. He was a representative from Virginia in the congress of the United States in 1847-49; and was a member of the convention to form a constitution for Virginia in 1851. He was a member of the state senate of Virginia in 1858-60. He was in the service of the confederate states, and became a brigadier-general. He was elected to fill the vacancy in the forty-fifth congress caused by the death of B. B. Douglas. He had previously been elected to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

BEALL, JOHN YATES, adventurer, was born about 1833 in Virginia. He entered the confederate army at the outbreak of the civil war, and was commissioned acting paymaster in the navy. He was captured by the federals; tried and found guilty of being a spy; and was executed Feb. 25, 1865.

BEALL, REZIN, soldier, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1770, in Pennsylvania. He was an officer in Wayne's army, with Harrison and Van Rensselaer; occupied various public stations in Ohio; and was a member of congress from that state from 1813 to 1814, when he resigned. He died Feb. 20, 1843, in Wooster, Ohio.

BEAMAN, FERNANDO C., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 28, 1814, in Chester, Vt. He was prosecuting attorney for Lenawee county, Mich., six years; was judge of probate four years; and was presidential elector in 1856. He was elected to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first congresses as a republican.

BEAN, BENNING M., state senator, congressman, was born in 1782 in New Hampshire. He occupied a seat in the state legislature for five years, and was president of the senate in 1832; was a state councilor in 1829; and a representative in congress from 1833 to 1837. He died Feb. 9, 1866, in Moultonborough, N. H.

BEAN, CURTIS C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 4, 1828, in Tamworth, N. H. He was appointed attorney-general for the eleventh judicial circuit of Tennessee; and was a representative in the state legislature in 1866 and 1867. In 1868 he moved to Arizona territory and settled at Prescott. He was a member of the upper house in the territorial assembly in 1879, and in 1884 was elected delegate from Arizona to the forty-ninth congress.

BEAN, IRVING M., soldier, banker, was born April 27, 1838, in Essex county, N. Y. He attained the rank of provost marshal in the civil war. In 1863 he was elected president of the Forest City bank; and in 1867 president of the Northwestern Iron company.

BEAN, MARY P., educator, was born about 1818. She opened a seminary for young ladies, which for twenty-four years was one of the most prominent in New York city. She died in New York city.

BEAN, SAMUEL, physician, clergyman, lecturer, was born March 24, 1842, in Canada West. For many years he was engaged in school teaching; has been a successful public lecturer and a physician and clergyman of Bronson, Fla., where he has also been justice of the peace and a successful merchant.

BEAN, WILLIAM, the first white settler west of the Alleghanies. He was a companion of Daniel Boone in his visit to Kentucky in 1760, and returned in 1768 and settled with his family on Boone's creek, a small tributary of the Watauga.

BEARD, ANDREW, inventor, was born in 1849 in Alabama. He went into millwrighting in Hardwicks; built his first mill there; and three years later succeeded in building four more. In 1889 he discovered the rotary engine.

BEARD, DANIEL CARTER, artist, author, was born June 21, 1850, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1878 he removed to New York as an illustrator, and there studied art. He is the author of American Boy's Handy Book; Moonlight; Six Feet of Romance; and American Boy's Book of Spirits.

BEARD, FRANK, artist, author, the third son of J. H. Beard, was an artist for Harper and Brothers during the civil war. He devotes himself particularly to character sketches, in the production of which he has attained remarkable facility. He lectures on various topics, accompanying himself with crayon sketches on the blackboard. He was for a time professor of the fine arts in Syracuse university. He has published The Blackboard and The Sunday School.

BEARD, GEORGE MILLER, physician, author, was born May 8, 1839, in Montville, Conn. He was a New York physician, and the author of American Nervous Diseases; Causes and Consequences; The Scientific Basis of Delusions; Clinical Researches in Electro-Surgery; Medical Uses of Electricity; Physiology of Mind-Reading; Stimulants and Narcotics; Psychology of the Salem Witchcraft and Its Practical Application in Our Own Time; and some works of lesser note. He died Jan. 23, 1883, in New York.

BEARD, HENRY, soldier, artist, the son of J. H. Beard, was born in 1841 in Ohio. He was a captain in the thirtieth Missouri volunteers at twenty-one years of age. He painted genre subjects in oils and water-colors, and made the designs for many of Prang's publications. He died Nov. 19, 1889, in New York city, N. Y.

BEARD, JAMES CARTER, lawyer, artist. He is a lawyer by profession, and has made spirited drawings of birds and animals, which are to be found in the best illustrated books and periodicals of the day.

BEARD, JAMES HENRY, painter, was born in 1814, in Buffalo, N. Y. His family removed when he was a child to Ohio, and he eventually settled in Cincinnati, where he devoted himself for many years to portrait painting; Henry Clay, John Quincy Adams, and other distinguished persons being among his sitters. Of late years he has devoted himself chiefly to animal painting, in which branch of art he has achieved success. Among his best known works are: Peep at Growing Danger; The Widow; Mutual Friend; There's Many a Slip; Consultation; Don't You Know Me; Heirs at Law; Which Has Preëmption; The Mississippi Flood; Barn Yard.

BEARD, JOHN SHEPARD, lawyer, was born June 14, 1859, in Tallahassee, Fla. He received his education in his native city and the university of the south. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Pensacola, Fla., where he has filled several public positions of honor.

BEARD, RICHARD, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 27, 1799, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was graduated at Cumberland university, Tennessee, in 1832; and became president of the university in 1843. On the founding of the Theological school of the university in 1853, he resigned the presidency of the university and took the chair of systematic theology, being in reality for the next twenty-five years both principal and professor. He was a leader in the Cumberland Presbyterian organization, and published Systematic Theology; also Biographical Sketches; and Why I Am a Cumberland Presbyterian. He died Dec. 2, 1880, in Lebanon, Tenn.

BEARD, WILLIAM HENRY, inventor, was born Oct. 12, 1839, in Richmond, Mass. The Beard hydraulic shield was used in the construction of the great railway tunnel under the St. Clair river at Port Huron and Sarnia, between the United States and Canada, as well as in excavating the underground railway tunnels in London and Glasgow, the Hudson river tunnel, and other similar works. He is the designer of many other inventions.

BEARD, WILLIAM HOLBROOK, artist, was born April 13, 1825, in Painesville, Ohio. He studied art abroad, and he is widely known for his pictures of allegory and humor portrayed by animal and human creatures. He has written a textbook on art entitled Action in Art. Humor in Animals is another book published a few years ago, besides various magazine articles. The Spirit of the Storm is considered his greatest work.

BEARDSLEY, ALONZO, lawyer, manufacturer, was born July 11, 1820, in Venice, N. Y. He was elected secretary of the Oswego Starch factory, and continued in this position until 1858, when he became treasurer. In 1866 he entered the Cayuga Chief Manufacturing Co., and carried on the manufacture of the Cayuga Chief mower and reaper.

BEARDSLEY, ARTHUR, engineer, was born Nov. 1, 1843, in Esopus, N. Y. During 1867-68 he was assistant engineer at the Hoosac tunnel, Mass., and from 1863 till 1872 professor of civil engineering and industrial mechanics at the university of Minnesota. In 1872 he became professor of civil and mechanical engineering in Swarthmore college, where he organized a manual training department, of which he is director.

BEARDSLEY, CHARLES, physician, journalist, state senator, was born Feb. 18, 1830, in Knox county, Ohio. He practiced medicine at Oskaloosa, Iowa, until 1861; was editor of the Herald of that place from 1858 to 1865; and of the Burlington Hawkeye from 1865 to 1874. He was a member of the state senate in 1870, 1872, and 1873; and in 1879 was appointed fourth auditor of the treasury at Washington.

BEARDSLEY, EBEN EDWARDS, clergyman, author, was born in 1808 in Stepney, Conn. He is an episcopal clergyman of New Haven; and the author of History of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut; Lives of Samuel Johnson, the First President of King's College, New York, William Samuel Johnson, president of Columbia College; and Samuel Seabury, Bishop of Connecticut. He died in 1891.

BEARDSLEY, HOSEA L., soldier, clergyman, was born June 11, 1838, in Delaware county, N. Y. He served with distinction during the civil war; first in the eighteenth regiment, Iowa volunteer infantry, and was promoted to first lieutenant of the second regiment, Arkansas infantry. Since 1866 he has been clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal church; and since 1885 has been pastor of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church of Denver, Colo.

BEARDSLEY, ISAAC H., clergyman, author, was born Oct. 1, 1831, in North Harpersfield, N. Y. For nearly fifty years he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church; and has filled pastorates in New York, Ohio, and for the past thirty years in Colorado. During the civil war he was a chaplain in the Union army. He is the author of Echoes from Peak and Plain; and a Genealogical History of the Beardsley family.

BEARDSLEY, LEVI, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 13, 1785, in Hoesic, N. Y. In 1825 he was elected to the state assembly that passed the first railroad charter in the United States. He was elected to the state senate in 1829; re-elected in 1834; and was president of the senate in 1838, and for many years judge of the court of errors of New York. Besides his legal opinions, he published an autobiographical volume entitled Reminiscences. He died March 19, 1857, in New York.

BEARDSLEY, MORRIS BEACH, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Aug. 13, 1849, in Trumbull, Conn. He graduated from Yale university and Columbia college law school, and has been judge of the Bridgeport probate court for sixteen years; and member of the general assembly of Connecticut since 1893.

BEARDSLEY, NELSON, manufacturer, bank president, was born May 30, 1807, in Southbury, Conn. In 1848 he became one of the incorporators of the Oswego Starch factory, and in 1883 its president, and held the office for the rest of his life. He gained a fortune of seven millions. He died Jan. 15, 1894, in Auburn, N. Y.

BEARDSLEY, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1790, in Hoosic, N. Y. He held the post of attorney-general of the state. He was a representative in congress from Oneida county, N. Y., to the twenty-second, twenty-third, and a part of the twenty-fourth and twenty-eighth congresses. He also held the office of state senator in 1823, and was assistant justice and chief justice of the supreme court of the state, and the federal appointment of United States district attorney for New York. He died May 6, 1860, in Utica, N. Y.

BEARDSLEY, SAMUEL RAYMOND, lawyer, soldier, was born Dec. 31, 1814, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He was elected mayor of Oswego in 1852; appointed postmaster in 1853; and was defeated as a candidate for the assembly in 1858. He was commissioned lieutenant-colonel of the twenty-fourth New York volunteers in 1861; was wounded at Chancellorsville, and was promoted to the colonelcy in 1863. He died Dec. 28, 1863, in Stevensburg, Va.

BEASELEY, NATHANIEL, pioneer, state senator, was born in 1751. He was a large and powerful man; a noted Indian fighter, and performed valuable services in the St. Clair and Wayne campaigns. He afterward settled in Chillicothe, Ohio; was a member of the general assembly in 1819-20 from Adams county, and senator from Brown in 1820-22. He was also canal commissioner and major-general of militia. He died March 27, 1835, in Knox county, Ohio.

BEASLEY, FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born in 1777, near Edenton, N. C. He was an episcopal clergyman who was provost of the university of Pennsylvania. He was the author of An Examination of the Oxford Divinity; Search of Truth in the Science of the Human Mind; and Reply to Dr. Channing. He died Nov. 2, 1845, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

BEATTIE, ELISE, author, poet, was born Feb. 27, 1858, in Newbury, Vt. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Echoes, which was published in 1873.

BEATTIE, HAMLIN, manufacturer, banker, was born May 6, 1835, in Greenville, S. C. In 1859 he established the mercantile house of H. Beattie and Co.; and in 1872 organized and became the president of the National bank of Greenville, S. C.

BEATTIE, JAMES HENRY, civil engineer, state senator, was born Jan. 17, 1847, in Maidstone, Vt. He is a successful farmer and land surveyor of Brunswick, Vt. In 1872-74 he was a member of the Vermont house of representatives; and in 1896 was elected to the state senate.

BEATTIE, JOHN, contractor, was born June 18, 1824, in Scotland. In 1855 he purchased the Harrison quarry at Fall River; and a year later opened another quarry at Niantic, Conn. Among the most notable structures he has built are the stone towers for the suspension bridge across the Kentucky river; bridges on the Wabash railroad in Indiana; and the great bridge across the Ohio, between Cincinnati and Covington.

BEATTY, HARRY L., lawyer, state legislator, was born April 4, 1865, in Ravenna, Ohio. He is a successful lawyer of Ravenna; has filled numerous public offices; and served as a member of the seventy-second and seventy-third general assemblies of Ohio.

BEATTY, JOHN, physician, congressman. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1783 to 1785; and a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1793 to 1795. He died April 30, 1826, in Trenton.

BEATTY, JOHN, banker, general, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1828, in Sandusky city, Ohio. He entered the third Ohio infantry and became brigadier-general in the civil war. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the fortieth congress to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the forty-first congress.

BEATTY, MARTIN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1833 to 1835.

BEATTY, ROBERT MUIR, attorney-general, was born March 4, 1850, in Mount Morris, Ill. In 1873 he moved to Eureka county, Nev., where he served as district attorney during 1887-88, and continued to reside there until his election to the office of attorney-general in 1894.

BEATTY, SAMUEL, farmer, soldier, was born Dec. 16, 1820, in Milfin county, Pa. He served nearly two years in the Mexican war as first lieutenant in the third Ohio volunteers. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862, commanded a division in the battle of Stone River, and was brevetted major-general in 1865. He died May 26, 1885, in Jackson, Ohio.

BEATTY, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Ireland. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1837 to 1841.

BEATTY, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 18, 1838, in Lucas county, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of California and Kentucky; and attended the university of Virginia. During 1864-75 he was judge of the district court of Nevada; justice of the supreme court of Nevada during 1875-81; and since 1889 has been chief justice of the supreme court of California.

BEAUCHAMP, JAMES T., lawyer, was born March 13, 1864, in Morgantown, Ky. He graduated from the Ogden college of Bowling Green, Ky., where he has attained eminence as an able lawyer, making a specialty of equity practice in federal and state courts. After graduation he taught school for awhile, and for two years was clerk of the quarterly court of Warrenton, Ky.

BEAUCHAMP, JENNIE B., reformer, author, was born July 9, 1833, in Nelson county, Ky. She is the author of Maplehurst; Digest of Parliamentary Laws; and A Collection of Responsive Bible Readings. The pen of this writer has been especially devoted to reform work, and in 1883 she was elected state president of the Texas Woman's Christian Temperance union.

BEAUCHAMP, LOU J., journalist, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 14, 1851, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has been telegraph, news and literary editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, and has been connected with various leading dailies. Since 1877 he has been principally engaged as a temperance lecturer, and has been called The Western Gough. He is the author of two books: This, That and The Other; and Sunshine.

BEAUMONT, ANDREW, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1837; and was appointed, in 1846, commissioner of public buildings for the District of Columbia. He died Oct. 30, 1853, in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

BEAUMONT, BETTY BENTLEY, merchant, author, was born Aug. 9, 1828, in England. She was the only child of Joseph Bentley, the great educational reformer, and author of thirty-three books to improve the methods of education. She became a successful merchant of Woodville, Miss.; and is the author of Twelve Years of My Life; and A Business Woman's Journal.

BEAUMONT, JOHN G., naval officer, was born Aug. 27, 1821, in Pennsylvania. He was engaged as commander of a monitor in attacks on the fortifications in Charleston harbor during the civil war, and took a prominent part in the capture of Fort Wagner. He died Aug. 2, 1882.

BEAUREGARD, PIERRE GUSTAVE TOUTANT, general, author, was born May 28, 1818, in St. Bernard parish, La.

As a commander of the confederate army he was very popular. He is included among Louisiana's distinguished authors, in virtue of his Commentary on the Campaign and Battle of Manassas, and his Summary of the Art of War. He died Feb. 20, 1893, in New Orleans, La.

BEAUSAY, RICHARD FAUSTINUS, educator, lawyer, clergyman, was born Feb. 15, 1859, near Greenville, Ohio. He was a printer and newspaper correspondent in his youth, attended school at the Ohio Normal university of Ada, Ohio, and followed educational work for fifteen years. In 1895 he was admitted to the bar at Columbus, and practiced law for a brief period at Upper Sandusky, Ohio. In 1896 he became a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, entering the Central Ohio conference at Bellefontaine, and was appointed to the pastorate of Dixon circuit.

BEAUVAIS, ARMAND, sixth governor of Louisiana, was a creole of that state. He became governor by constitutional right, being president of the state and ex-officio lieutenant-governor at the time of Governor Derbigny's death. He was justice of the peace in 1810; was elected to the state legislature in 1814, to which position he was afterward twice re-elected. During 1822-30 he was a continuous member of the state senate.

BEAVER, JAMES ADDAMS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in Millerstown, Pa. In 1856 he graduated from the Jefferson college. During the civil war he served with distinction and was mustered out on account of wounds received in battle Dec. 4, 1864, as brevet brigadier-general United States volunteers. During 1870-87 he was a member of the national guard of Pennsylvania, in which he served as brigadier-general and major-general. In 1880 he was chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation to the republican national convention. In 1882 and 1886 he was the candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, and filled that high office during 1887-91. In 1895 he was appointed judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania; and the same year was elected to that office to serve ten years from January, 1896.

BEBB, WILLIAM, governor, was born in 1802 in Butler county, Ohio. He was governor of Ohio from 1846 to 1848. He died Oct. 24, 1873, in Rockford, Ill.

BECHTEL, GEORGE, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born in 1840 in Germany. After graduating from the Columbia college, he became identified with his father's brewery, which was established in 1853 at Stapleton, Staten Island. In 1870 he became sole proprietor; and was one of the largest taxpayers on Staten Island. He filled numerous public offices of trust; was four times elected delegate from Richmond county to the state convention; and in 1888 was a presidential elector. Shortly before his death he erected Bechtel's hospital on Staten Island, which his widow subsequently donated to the Smith's infirmary. He was extremely charitable, and foremost in all benevolent works on Staten Island. He died July 16, 1889, leaving an estate worth two million dollars.

BECK, CHARLES, educator, legislator, was born Aug. 19, 1798, in Heidelberg, Germany. In 1832 he was elected to the chair of Latin language and literature at Cambridge, and, on his retirement from that professorship in 1850, he devoted himself to literary pursuits and classical studies. In 1863 he published The Manuscripts of the Satyricon of Petronius Arbiter, described and collated. He was for two years a representative of Cambridge in the state legislature. He died March 19, 1866, in Cambridge, Mass.

BECK, ERASMUS W., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 21, 1833, in McDonough, Ga. He was educated at Mercer university, in that state; was admitted to the bar in Georgia in 1856; and practiced his profession there. He was elected to the forty-second congress to fill a vacancy.

BECK, GEORGE, poet, was born in 1749 in England. He wrote short poems, made poetic translations from Anacreon, Homer, Virgil, and Horace, and in 1812 published Observations on the Comet. In 1795 he served as a scout in Wayne's campaign against the Indians. He died Dec. 24, 1812, in Lexington, Ky.

BECK, JAMES B., lawyer, United States senator, was born Feb. 13, 1822, in Scotland. In 1867 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the fortieth congress, and was re-elected to the three succeeding congresses. He was elected a United States senator from Kentucky for the term of six years, from 1877; and was re-elected for a second term of six years. He died May 3, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

BECK, JOHN BRODHEAD, physician, author, was born Sept. 18, 1794, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was the author of Medical Essays; and with his brother, T. Romeyn Beck, produced the great work on Medical Jurisprudence. He was also the author of Infant Therapeutics; and Historical Sketch of the State of Medicine in the Colonies. He died April 9, 1851, in Rhinebeck, N. Y.

BECK, LEONORA, educator, author, was born in Georgia. For five years she was the president of the Capitol Female college of Atlanta, Ga., and now fills the chair of Latin and Greek in the Gardner institute of New York city. She is the author of a work of prose and verse.

BECK, LEWIS C., chemist, author, was born Oct. 4, 1798, in Schenectady, N. Y. In 1830 he was appointed professor of chemistry and natural history in Rutgers college, and, at the time of his death, was professor of chemistry in the Albany Medical college. He published Account of the Salt Springs at Salina; On Adulterations; Botany of the United States, and of the United States North of Virginia; Mineralogy of New York; Illinois and Missouri Gazetteer; and Chemistry. He died April 20, 1853, in Albany, N. Y.

BECK, PAUL, philanthropist, was born in 1760 in Philadelphia, Pa. He acquired a large fortune in the wine trade, and for several years filled the office of port warden of Philadelphia. He was one of the founders of the Philadelphia academy of fine arts, a benefactor of the deaf and dumb institution of that city; president of the American Sunday School union; and a contributor to various other charitable and religious undertakings. He died Dec. 22, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BECK, SAMUEL, educator, clergyman, was born Nov. 3, 1832, near Richmond, Ind. He received his education in the public schools and academies of eastern Indiana; and received the degree of doctor of divinity from the DePauw university. For ten years he was engaged in educational work in the common and special schools. He has attained success as an eminent clergyman; has filled pastorates in the Methodist Episcopal church in Covington, Attica, Crawfordsville, Greencastle, Thorntown, Terre Haute, and Brazil; and for the past twelve years has been presiding elder of the Valparaiso district.

BECK, THEODRIC ROMEYN, author, was born April 11, 1791, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was a medical writer of Albany; and the author of Elements of Medical Jurisprudence, with J. B. Beck, his brother. He died Nov. 19, 1855, in Utica, N. Y.

BECKER, CYNTHIA ANN, poet. She is a successful writer of Lincoln, Neb.; and her poems constantly appear in the western press.

BECKER, GEORGE FERDINAND, geologist, author, was born Jan. 3, 1847, in New York city. He is a geologist in the United States service; and the author of Geology of the Comstock Lode; Atomic Weight Determinations; Geometrical Value of Volcanic Cones; A New Law of Thermo-Chemistry; Geology of the Quicksilver Deposits of the Pacific Slope; and several lesser works.

BECKER, HARRY WILLIAM, was born June 18, 1868, in Girardville, Pa. He was educated in the common schools of his native place and at Ashland, Williamsport, and in a business college of Philadelphia. He built the Palace theater in Girardville, of which he is owner and manager. He has been engaged with and interested in numerous theatrical enterprises; and is the owner and editor of the Footlight, a theatrical paper, and The Weekly Stem. He is an accomplished musician and leads a band numbering over one hundred men. He is a member of the board of trade of his city, and is interested in various business enterprises.

BECKER, PHILIP, merchant, public official, was born in April, 1830, in Germany. He attained success as a merchant in Buffalo, N. Y., and has retired from active business. He served three terms as mayor of the city of Buffalo; and since 1869 has been president of the Buffalo German Insurance company. He was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1876.

BECKER, THOMAS A., Roman Catholic bishop, was born in 1832 in Pittsburg, Pa. He was appointed professor of theology, ecclesiastical history, and sacred scriptures in St. Mary's college, Emmettsburg, and was one of the chief secretaries of the plenary council assembled at Baltimore. He was then stationed at the cathedral of Richmond, where he remained until created bishop of the new diocese of Wilmington, Del. He has contributed largely to reviews and periodicals, and his series of articles in the American Catholic Quarterly on the idea of a true university attracted wide attention.

BECKETT, SYLVESTER BREAKMORE, author, poet, was born in 1812 in Maine. He was a publisher of Portland, Maine; and the author of Hester, the Bride of the Islands, a Poem; and Guide Book of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence. He died in 1882.

BECKHAM, CARL H., lawyer, state legislator, was born July 3, 1860, in Henry county, Ohio. He studied law in Toledo, was admitted to the bar in 1886, and has been ever since engaged in the practice of his profession in that city. He was elected to the seventy-first Ohio general assembly as a republican, and re-elected to the seventy-second general assembly. In 1888 he was a candidate of the democratic party for congress. He has been a member of the board of city school examiners for about eighteen years.

BECKLEY, JOHN NEWTON, educator, lawyer, railroad president, was born Dec. 30, 1848, in Clarendon, N. Y. From 1870-71 he became principal of the public schools of Lanesboro, Minn.; and at Rushford from 1871-72. In 1882 he was elected city attorney of Rochester, N. Y.; and in 1889 was elected president of a railroad; and in 1892 became president of the street railroad association of the state of New York at Rochester.

BECKNER, WILLIAM MORGAN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 19, 1841, in Nicholas county, Ky. He was elected city judge without opposition March, 1865; county attorney without opposition in 1867; was nominated without opposition and elected county judge in 1870; was appointed prison commissioner in 1880, and wrote report of commission with reference to system for managing state prisons. He was appointed railroad commissioner in 1882 and served until February, 1884, when he resigned. He was nominated and elected member of the constitutional convention without opposition in 1890; and was elected to the legislature without opposition in 1893. He was elected to congress as a democrat in 1894, to fill a vacancy.

BECKWITH, AMOS, soldier, was born in 1830 in Vermont. He was graduated at West Point in 1850, and served in the Seminole war. He was brevetted brigadier-general in the United States army in 1865, and promoted lieutenant-colonel on the general staff in 1874.

BECKWITH, CHARLES D., manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1838, in Saratoga, N. Y. He was educated at private schools in Troy, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Worcester, Mass.; and at New Haven, Conn. (military). He is engaged in iron manufacturing; served as alderman and mayor, each four years; and was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

BECKWITH, EDWARD GRIFFIN, soldier, was born June 25, 1818, in Cazenovia, N. Y. He was graduated at West Point in 1842, served in the war with Mexico at Tampico and Vera Cruz. In 1865, he received the brevet rank of brigadier-general, United States army, for faithful and meritorious services during the war. He died June 22, 1881, in Clifton, N. Y.

BECKWITH, EMMA, reformer, was born Dec. 4, 1849, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She received her education in the public schools of Toledo, Ohio, and was the first woman going into business life in lower New York, at 66 Nassau street. She was nominated for mayor of Brooklyn, made a genuine canvass, and obtained a large vote. She is an earnest advocate of woman suffrage, and has entered the regular lecture field, in which she has attained eminent success. She has also been foremost in all charitable works and philanthropic movements.

BECKWITH, JAMES CARROLL, painter, was born Sept. 23, 1852, in Hannibal, Mo. He is a son of N. M. Beckwith, who was United States commissioner-general at the international exhibition of Paris in 1867. He studied art for two years in the national academy, New York, and for five years in the Paris school of arts. His works include Judith, portraits exhibited at the New York academy of design, and The Falconer, sent to the Paris exposition of 1878. He received a medal from the Universal exposition in Paris in 1889.

BECKWITH, JOHN WATRUS, bishop, was born Feb. 9, 1831, in Raleigh, N. C. At the close of the war he became rector of Trinity church, New Orleans, and while there was elected protestant episcopal bishop of Georgia. He died Nov. 24, 1890, in Atlanta, Ga.

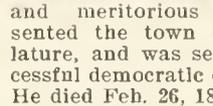

BECKWITH, PHILO DANIEL, was born March 6, 1825, in Pike, N. Y. In 1871 he invented the Round Oak stove for heating purposes, which has since revolutionized the stove trade of the United States. He was elected mayor of Dowagiac, Mich., four times.

BECKWITH, MRS. SUE E., poet, was born in 1843, in DeKalb county, Ill. She is a writer of Audale, Kan.; and the author of the poem entitled A Legend of Arkansas.

BECKWITH, WALTER PARKER, educator, was born Aug. 27, 1851, in Lempster, N. H. In 1871 he graduated from the Kimball Union academy of Meriden, N. H.; and from Tufts college in 1876. For two years he was principal of the Chicopee Falls high school; and during 1878-96 was superintendent of schools at Adams, Mass. Since 1896 he has been connected with the State Normal school of Salem, Mass.

BECKWORTH, JAMES P., pioneer, was born about 1800 in Virginia. He was a mulatto. About 1850 he discovered the pass through the Sierra Nevada mountains that bears his name. During his adventurous life he was at one time chief among the Crow Indians, and he figures in many books of western travel. He died in 1867.

BEDEL, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born July 8, 1822, in Indian Stream territory, N. H. His father was Gen. Moody Bedel. The son enlisted as a private in the Mexican war in 1847, and became a captain in 1849. He was admitted to the bar in 1850, and practiced in Bath. He was made a brigadier-general of United States volunteers, by brevet, dating in 1865, for gallant and meritorious services. He represented the town of Bath in the legislature, and was several times the unsuccessful democratic candidate for governor. He died Feb. 26, 1875, in Bath, N. H.

BEDEL, TIMOTHY, soldier, was born about 1740 in Salem, N. H. He served as a lieutenant in the French war. In 1775 he was appointed captain of rangers, and in 1776, colonel of the first New Hampshire regiment, joining the northern army under Schuyler. He died February, 1787, in Haverhill, N. H.

BEDELL, FREDERICK, physicist, electrician, was born April 12, 1868, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He graduated from Yale, and later received the degree of Ph. D. from Cornell, where he was appointed assistant professor of physics in 1893. He is the editor of the Physical Review, is well known by his scientific writings, and as the author of Alternating Currents; A Laboratory Manual of Physics; and The Principles of the Transformer.

BEDELL, GREGORY THURSTON, bishop, author, was born Aug. 17, 1817, in Hudson, N. Y. He was the third protestant episcopal bishop of Ohio, and a valued writer of the evangelical school. He is the author of The Divinity of Christ; The Profit of Godliness; Pastoral Theology; Principles of Pastorship; The Age of Indifference; Episcopacy; Fact and Law; and a few minor works. He died in 1892.

BEDELL, GREGORY TOWNSEND, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 28, 1793, on Staten Island, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman of Philadelphia, and once famous as a preacher. He is the author of Renunciation; Ezekiel's Vision; and Sermons were his chief works. He died Aug. 30, 1834, in Baltimore, Md.

BEDELL, LOUIS, lawyer, state legislator, was born Oct. 1, 1864, in Coxsackie, N. Y. He is a successful lawyer of New York city; and in 1896-97 served with distinction as a member of the New York state legislature.

BEDFORD, GUNNING, soldier, congressman, governor, was born about 1730 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a lieutenant in the French war in 1755; major in 1775; lieutenant-colonel in Hasler's regiment in 1776; was wounded at White Plains; and subsequently appointed muster-master-general in 1776. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1783 to 1785; and governor of Delaware in 1796 and 1797. He died Sept. 30, 1797, in New Castle, Del.

BEDFORD, GUNNING, JR., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1747, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at New Jersey college in 1771; practiced law at Dover, and at Wilmington, Del.; was a member of the legislature; attorney-general of the state; and a delegate to the continental congress in 1785 and 1786. He was a member of the convention which formed the federal constitution; was a presidential elector in 1789 and 1793; and was United States district judge from 1789. He died March 30, 1812, in Wilmington, Del.

BEDFORD, GUNNING S., physician, author, was born in 1806, in Baltimore, Md. He was the author of Lectures on Diseases of Women and Children; Midwifery; and has translated from the French several medical works. He died Sept. 5, 1870, in New York city.

BEDFORD, MRS. LOU S., poet. Her first work, A Vision and Other Poems, was published in 1881, and by permission was reproduced in London. This volume elicited many fine encomiums from such men as Oliver Wendell Holmes, Longfellow, and Paul Hayne. In 1888 appeared Gathered Leaves, a very fine collection of her later poems.

BEDINGER, GEORGE M., soldier, congressman, was born about 1750 in Virginia. He was one of the earliest emigrants to Kentucky. He served as adjutant in the expedition against Chillicothe in 1779; as major at the battle of Blue Licks in 1782; and did good service throughout the war as an Indian spy. He was major of the United States infantry in 1792-93; was a member of the Kentucky legislature in 1792; and a representative in congress from that state from 1803 to 1807. He died in 1830 in Lower Blue Licks, Ky.

BEDINGER, HENRY, lawyer, diplomatist, congressman, was born in 1810 near Shepherdstown, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1845 to 1849, where he was distinguished for his eloquence as a debater. In 1853 he was appointed charge d'affaires to Denmark, afterward minister resident. During his residence in Denmark he was successful in bringing about the treaty abolishing the sound dues. He died Nov. 26, 1858, in Shepherdstown, Va.

BEDLE, JOSEPH DORSET, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 3, 1831, in Mattawan, N. J. In 1865 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of New Jersey, and was reappointed in 1872. In 1874 he was elected governor of New Jersey, and served three years.

BEDLE, JOSEPH DORSETT, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 5, 1821, in Middletown, N. J. In 1865 he was elected justice of the supreme court of New Jersey; and in 1875-78 was elected the twenty-sixth governor of New Jersey.

BEDLOW, HENRY, capitalist, was born Dec. 21, 1821, in New York city. In 1868 the island to which he gave his name, came to him by purchase, and there he made his home. He also served in 1848 as assistant physician of the American expedition to the Dead sea. While thoroughly a New Yorker, Mr. Bedlow long ago made Newport, R. I., his home, and held the office of mayor of that city in 1875, 1876 and 1877.

BEE, BERNARD E., soldier, was born about 1823 in Charleston, S. C. He served as captain on frontier duty in Minnesota, on the Utah expedition, and in Dakota until March 3, 1861, when he resigned and entered the confederate service. He held the rank of brigadier-general, and commanded a brigade of South Carolina troops at Bull Run. He died July 21, 1861.

BEE, HAMILTON P., soldier. He was a general in the confederate service during the civil war. He is a brother of Bernard C. Bee, who at Bull Run said: There is Jackson standing like a stone wall, thus giving to that officer a name that would live for all time, while he was to die that day himself.

BEE, THOMAS, jurist, congressman, author, was born in 1729 in South Carolina. He was a revolutionary patriot of South Carolina; member of the assembly; speaker of the house of representatives; member of the privy council; judge of the state courts; member of the council of safety; and lieutenant-governor. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1780 to 1782, and finally district judge; and published Reports of the District Courts of South Carolina in 1810.

BEEBE, BEZALEEL, soldier, legislator, was born April 28, 1741, in Litchfield, Conn. As one of Rogers' celebrated rangers, he was engaged in the bloody fight where Putnam was captured, and he was also at the capture of Montreal in 1760. He was appointed to the command of all the Connecticut troops raised for sea-coast defence, with the duties and pay of a brigadier-general. After the war he was frequently a member of the legislature. He died May 29, 1824, in Litchfield, Conn.

BEEBE, GEORGE M., journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1836, in New Vernon, N. Y. In 1859 he went to Kansas; was elected to the territorial council, appointed secretary of the territory, and was acting governor. In 1872-73 he was president of the democratic state convention at Syracuse and Utica, N. Y.; was elected to the legislature of New York in 1873-74; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BEEBE, JOHN W., educator, journalist, poet, was born Aug. 2, 1853, in Georgetown, Del. He is a successful educator and journalist of Kingman, Kan.; and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BEEBE, MILTON EARL, architect, was born Nov. 27, 1840, in Cassadaga, N. Y. He is one of the leading architects in the city of Buffalo, and has built and designed many of the most important buildings of that city. In 1879 he was elected alderman, and in 1881 mayor of Buffalo.

BEEBE, WARREN LORING, physician, surgeon, was born March 16, 1848, in Belpre, Ohio. He is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Minnesota at St. Cloud; has been president of the Minnesota State Medical society; and surgeon to the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroad companies.

BEECH, MRS. MARY TURNER, poet, was born in Homer, N. Y. She is a poet of Beechville, Ill.; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

BEECHER, CATHERINE ESTHER, educator, author, was born Sept. 6, 1800, in East Hampton, N. Y., and is a daughter of L. Beecher, a New England educator of much celebrity at one time, who wrote with the ardor of sincerest conviction. She was the author of Domestic Economy; Physiology and Calisthenics; Letters to the People; Religious Training of Children; and Domestic Service, True Remedy for the Wrongs of Woman. She died May 12, 1878, in Elmira, N. Y.

BEECHER, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 7, 1815, in Litchfield, Conn., and is a son of L. Beecher. He is a congregational clergyman; and the author of Patmos; Pen Pictures of the Bible; The Eden Tableau; and Redeemer and Redeemed. He edited his father's Life and Correspondence.

BEECHER, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 27, 1803, in East Hampton, N. Y., and was a son of L. Beecher. He was a congregational clergyman of Illinois, and later of Brooklyn, whose attainments must be considered as the most solid of those of any of the famous children of Lyman Beecher. In his Conflict of Ages (1853) was struck the earliest note of the liberal theology now dominant in the congregational churches. The more important of his other works include Papal Conspiracy Exposed; Baptism; and History of Opinions on the Scriptural Doctrine of Future Retribution. He died in 1895.

BEECHER, MRS. EUNICE WHITE, author, was born Aug. 26, 1812, in West Sutton, Mass., and was the wife of H. W. Beecher. She was the author of From Dawn to Daylight: a Simple Story; Motherly Talks with Young Housekeepers; All Around the House, or How to Make Homes Happy; Letters from Florida; and Mr. Beecher as I Knew Him. She died in 1897.

BEECHER, FARY BUCHANAN, educator, lawyer, was born June 2, 1856, in Steuben county, N. Y. He received his education in the common schools and at Rogersville Union seminary. For several years he was engaged in educational work, and became principal of the Atlanta Union Free school. For five years he was a justice of the peace; and is now a successful lawyer of Atlanta, N. Y. He is a prominent member of various orders. He has also contributed both prose and verse, as well as law articles, to current literature.

BEECHER, GEORGE, clergyman, was born May 6, 1809, in East Hampton, N. Y. He was a clergyman of Chillicothe, Ohio, and a devoted pastor, and an inspiring preacher. He died July 1, 1843.

BEECHER, HENRY WARD, clergyman, author, was born June 24, 1813, in Litchfield, Conn., and was a son of Lyman Beecher. He was a congregational clergyman widely famous as the pastor of Plymouth church of Brooklyn in 1847-57. He was an earnest, large-hearted man, though not a deep thinker, and his cheerful influence upon middle-class American thought was very extensive.

His literary work can hardly be said to possess enduring excellence, and much of it is already forgotten, graphic and picturesque as it often is. He was the author of Eyes and Ears; Life Thoughts; Star Papers; Yale Lectures on Preaching; Lectures to Young Men; Speeches on the American Rebellion; Doctrinal Beliefs and Unbeliefs; and Life of Jesus the Christ. His only novel, Norwood, is a collection of successful character studies rather than a finished story. He died March 8, 1887.

BEECHER, JAMES CHAPLIN, soldier, clergyman, was born Jan. 8, 1828, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1848, studied theology at Andover, and on May 10, 1856, was ordained a congregational clergyman. He was mustered out of service in 1866 as brevet brigadier-general. He died Aug. 25, 1886, in Elmira, N. Y.

BEECHER, LYMAN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 2, 1775, in New Haven, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of wide fame. While in Boston he was a zealous opponent of unitarianism, and as president of Lane Theological seminary at Cincinnati was noted as an outspoken enemy of slavery. He was a bold thinker, much in advance of his contemporaries. He was the author of Sermons on Temperance; Views in Theology; Scepticism; and Political Atheism. He died Jan. 10, 1863, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BEECHER, PHILEMON, lawyer, congressman, was born in New Haven, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1817 to 1821, and again from 1823 to 1829. He died Nov. 30, 1839, in Lancaster, Ohio.

BEECHER, THOMAS KINNICUT, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 10, 1824, in Litchfield, Conn., and is a son of Lyman Beecher. He is a congregational clergyman of Elmira, N. Y.; and the author of Our Seven Churches.

BEECHER, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, was born Jan. 15, 1802, in East Hampton, L. I. For many years he was a home missionary on the Western Reserve, and since has held charges in Putnam, Toledo, and Chillicothe, Ohio, and in Reading and North Brookfield, Mass.

BEECHER, WILLIS JUDSON, educator, author, was born in 1838 in Ohio. He is a professor of Hebrew in the Auburn Theological seminary; and the author of Farmer Tompkins and His Bible; Drill Lessons in Hebrew; and Testimony of the Historical Books.

BEEDE, JOHN E., lawyer, was born Feb. 2, 1834, in Sandwich, N. H. He received his education from the common schools and the Friends school of Providence, R. I. He was a millwright before he entered the practice of law. He has been justice of the peace in Arizona and Idaho, master of the grange, and delegate chairman and president of numerous movements and conventions in Idaho.

BEEKMAN, HENRY RUTGERS, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 8, 1845, in New York city. Previous to his election as judge of the superior court, he was a member of the law firm of Ogden and Beekman. In 1886 he was elected president of the board of aldermen, for which office he was nominated by the united democracy. In 1888 he was appointed counsel to the corporation of the city of New York.

BEEKMAN, JAMES WILLIAM, state senator, was born Nov. 22, 1815, in New York city, N. Y. He was chosen state senator of New York in 1850, and served two terms. In 1861 he, with Erastus Corning and Thurlow Weed, was appointed by a meeting of conservative men in New York to go to Washington and urge President Buchanan to relieve Fort Sumter. He died June 15, 1877, in New York city, N. Y.

BEEKMAN, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1829 to 1831.

BEEEMAN, JOSEPH H., business man, legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 17, 1835, in Gates county, N. C. He received an academic education; and was elected to the legislature from Scott county, Miss., in 1883, 1885, 1887, and 1889. He has been connected with the Farmers' Alliance since its organization in the state, having served during this time as chairman of the state executive committee. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BEERS, CYRUS, congressman. In 1838 he was elected a representative from New York to the twenty-fifth congress to fill a vacancy.

BEERS, MRS. ETHELINDA, author, poet, was born Jan. 13, 1827, in Goshen, N. J. She was the author of General Frankie, a juvenile tale; and All Quiet Along the Potomac, and other poems. She died Oct. 10, 1879, in Orange, N. J.

BEERS, HENRY AUGUSTIN, educator, author, was born July 2, 1847, in Buffalo, N. Y. He is a professor of English literature at Yale university; and the author of The Ways of Yale; A Suburban Pastoral and Other Stories; From Chancer to Tennyson; Life of N. P. Willis; Outline Sketch of English Literature; Initial Studies in American Letters. Verse: Odds and Ends; and The Thankless Muse.

BEERS, ROBERT WELSTED, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 3, 1860, in Easton, Pa. He graduated from Lafayette college in 1880, and entered Princeton seminary in 1882. He is a successful clergyman and the author of Mormon Puzzle.

BEERS, WAYLAND L., clergyman, was born Dec. 15, 1867, in Montana, N. J. He graduated from the Peddie institute in 1890; from the Brown university in 1895; and subsequently from the Union seminary and Columbia university. He has attained success as a unitarian clergyman, and now fills a pastorate in Union Springs, N. Y.

BEESON, HENRY W., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1841 to 1843.

BEESON, JASPER LUTHER, educator, chemist, was born Aug. 31, 1867, in Keener, Ala. He graduated from the university of Alabama, with the degree of M. A.; was assistant professor of physics in his alma mater, and later chemist to the Alabama Geological Survey. In 1893 he graduated from the Johns Hopkins university in chemistry with the degree of Ph. D., whereupon he was elected professor of agricultural chemistry in the Audubon Sugar school of New Orleans. He is the inventor of standard chemical apparatus for agricultural analysis, which are in use both in America and Europe. He is a prominent member of various scientific bodies and has published several pieces of original investigation work upon sugar and the sugar cane.

BEESON, JOHN WESLEY, educator, college president, was born March 31, 1866, in Keener, Ala. This eminent educator received his education at the university of Alabama. He became president of the Arcadia college of Louisiana, and subsequently was made president of the Marengo Female college of Demopolis, Ala.

BEGOLE, JOSIAH W., educator, business man, congressman, governor, was born Jan. 20, 1815, in Groveland, N. Y. He received a public school education; removed to Genesee county, Mich., in 1836; taught school during the winters; became a farmer in 1839, and followed that occupation until 1856. He was elected county treasurer from 1856 to 1864; and commenced the lumbering business in 1863. He was elected to the state senate in 1871; was an alderman for the city of Flint for three years; a delegate to the national republican convention at Philadelphia in 1872; and was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-third congress. In 1882 he was elected governor of Michigan for the term of two years from January, 1883.

BELCHER, HIRAM, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in Augusta, Maine. For four or five years he was a member of the Maine legislature; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1848. He died May 7, 1857.

BELCHER, JONATHAN, merchant, governor, was born Jan. 8, 1681. He was graduated at Harvard in 1699; and spent six years in Europe. Having returned to Boston and become a merchant there, in 1729 he was sent to England as the agent of the colony, and on Gov. Burnet's death in 1730 he was appointed governor of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, which office he held for eleven years. He died Aug. 31, 1757, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

BELCHER, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born April 15, 1794, in Birmingham, England. He was a baptist clergyman of Philadelphia, who came thither from England in 1844. His complete works number over two hundred volumes. Among them are The Baptist Pulpit of the United States; The Clergy of America; History of Religious Denominations in the United States; and Hymns and Their Authors. He died July 10, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BELCHER, NATHAN, manufacturer, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 23, 1813, in Griswold, Conn. He was a member of the house of representatives of Connecticut in 1846 and 1847, and of the state senate in 1850. He was a presidential elector in 1852; and was a representative in congress from 1853 to 1855.

BELCHER, SAMUEL CLIFFORD, soldier, lawyer, was born March 20, 1839, in Farmington, Maine. He graduated from Bowdoin college in 1857. He was captain and major in the sixteenth regiment of Maine infantry in the civil war; and in 1879 was inspector-general of the Maine militia, with the rank of brigadier-general. He has practiced law for nearly thirty years, and his reputation as an astute lawyer is widespread.

BELDEN, ALBERT CLINTON, surgeon, was born Sept. 14, 1845, in Castile, N. Y. He settled in the practice of his profession in Akron, Ohio; and had one of the largest practices in the city. He was made surgeon of the eighth regiment Ohio national guard. He died Dec. 20, 1890.

BELDEN, ELLSWORTH BURNETT, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1866 in Racine county, Wis. He graduated from the law department of the Wisconsin State university; and in 1889 became county judge, and was thrice re-elected without opposition. He is a director in the Racine Building and Loan association; a trustee of Racine college, and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his native county.

BELDEN, GEORGE O., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1827 to 1829.

BELDEN, JAMES JEROME, business man, banker, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1825, in Fabius, N. Y. He is a charter member of the order of the Founders and Patriots of America, and has been elected councilor-general by the societies of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. He has been extensively engaged in business pursuits for forty years, having been largely interested in and director of several national banks; is president and principal owner of the Robert Gere bank of Syracuse, which he founded, and has been trustee of the Syracuse university since it was founded. He was elected mayor of Syracuse in 1877, and re-elected in 1878 without opposition; was a delegate to the republican national convention at Chicago in 1880; and was elected as a republican to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fifth congresses.

BELDEN, JOSIAH, merchant, statesman, was born May 4, 1815, in Cromwell, Conn. When Captain Jones, of the frigate United States, took possession of California for the government, Mr. Belden was appointed alcalde of Santa Cruz, and with his own hands raised the American flag in California for the first time. He was the first mayor of San Jose in 1850. He died April 23, 1892.

BELDING, MILO MERRICK, manufacturer, was born April 3, 1833, in Ashfield, Mass. In 1866, with his brothers, he started a silk factory in Rockville, Conn. In 1874 they built a second silk mill in Northampton, Mass.; and later one in Belding, Mich.

BELFORD, JAMES B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 28, 1837, in Lewiston, Pa. He was educated at Dickinson college; studied and practiced law; and was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Colorado in 1870, and served five years. He was elected a representative from Colorado to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses.

BELFORD, JOSEPH McCRUM, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 5, 1852, in Mifflintown, Pa. He received a classical education, graduating from Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., in 1871; and engaged in academic work for some years. He removed to Long Island in 1884; was admitted to the bar in 1889, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BELKNAP, CHARLES EUGENE, was born Oct. 17, 1846, in Massena, N. Y. He removed with his parents to Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1855; was educated in the common schools of Grand Rapids, left school Aug. 14, 1862, and enlisted in twenty-first regiment, Michigan infantry; was promoted to different positions, and received a captain's commission Jan. 22, 1864, at the age of seventeen years and three months; and served until June, 1865, with the army of the Cumberland. He served eleven years in the fire department of Grand Rapids as captain of a company, assistant chief, and chief; seven years on board of education; served two years as alderman; served one year as mayor; has been a member of the board of control of state school institution for the deaf for the past four years; and is engaged in the manufacture of wagons and sleighs. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses. In 1892 he was appointed chairman of the Chickamauga, Chattanooga and Missionary Ridge Military Park commission for the state of Michigan. He has contributed war stories and Chippewa Indian myths to current literature.

BELKNAP, GEORGE EUGENE, naval officer, author, was born Jan. 22, 1832, in Newport, N. H. Since 1847 he has been in the United States naval service, and in 1875 was commissioned post-captain; was made commodore in 1885; and is now rear-admiral. He is the author of valuable papers on Deep Sea Soundings; is a member of the American Geographical society; and has received a silver medal as a recognition of merit from the Geographical society of France. His portrait hangs in the new Library building of the New Hampshire state capitol.

BELKNAP, HUGH REID, business man, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1860, in Keokuk, Iowa. He attended the public schools there, and also took a course of instruction at the Adams academy, Quincy, Mass., completing his education at Phillips academy at Andover, Mass.; being unable to take a collegiate course, at the age of eighteen he entered the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company in a minor capacity; remained with that company for twelve years, filling various positions in practical railroading in the operating department, and retired as chief clerk to the general manager, in 1892, to become superintendent of the South Side Rapid Transit railroad of Chicago. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

BELKNAP, JEREMY, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1744, in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Boston, whose History of New Hampshire ranks as the best among local state histories, and is accurate as it is entertaining. His other works include American Biographies; The Foresters; and an American Tale. He died June 20, 1798, in Boston, Mass.

BELKNAP, WILLIAM WORTH, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born in 1831 in Hudson City, N. Y. He was elected to the Iowa legislature in 1849. He was present at the battles of Shiloh and Vicksburg; was with General Sherman in his great campaign; and was so rapidly promoted as to have command of a division of the army as major-general. After the war he was appointed a collector of internal revenue, which position he held until he entered President Grant's cabinet, in 1869, as secretary of war. He died Oct. 12, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

BELL, AGRIPPA NELSON, physician, surgeon, journalist, was born Aug. 3, 1820, in Northampton county, Va. He entered the practice of medicine in Franktown, Va.; and in 1847 entered the naval service as a surgeon. In 1873 he established The Sanitarian, of which he still continues as editor and proprietor. He is the author of Knowledge of Living Things, and other works. In 1872 he was one of the founders of the American Public Health association.

BELL, ALEXANDER GRAHAM, patentee, was born March 3, 1847, in Edinburgh, Scotland. With men of executive ability to aid him, including Gardiner G. Hubbard, his father-in-law, Prof. Bell organized, in 1878, the American Bell Telephone company, to introduce telephone service into general use throughout the United States. Subordinate companies came into existence in various sections of the United States, and after protracted litigation and contention with the Western Union Telegraph company, Prof. Bell established his rights, and the telephone has now become one of the most necessary, as it is one of the most useful, facilities for the transaction of every-day business.

BELL, CHARLES H., naval officer, was born Aug. 15, 1798, in New York. He served in the war of 1812 as midshipman; in 1862 was promoted to commander in the civil war; and in 1866 attained the rank of rear admiral. He died Feb. 19, 1875, in Brunswick, N. J.

BELL, CHARLES H., lawyer, legislator, United States senator, governor, was born Nov. 18, 1823, in Chester, N. H. He received a collegiate education, graduating at Dartmouth college in 1844; and studied and practiced law. He was solicitor for Rockingham county from 1855 to 1865; was a representative in the legislature in 1858, 1859, and 1860; and the last year as speaker. He was a state senator in 1863 and 1864; president of the senate the last year; and was again a member of the state house of representatives in 1872 and 1873. He was appointed a United States senator in 1879 to fill a vacancy. In 1880 he was elected governor of New Hampshire for the term of two years from June, 1881. He is the author of the Bench and Bar of New Hampshire.

BELL, CHARLES K., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born April 18, 1853, in Chattanooga, Tenn. He removed to Texas in 1871, and was admitted to the bar in 1874. He was elected district attorney, state senator, and district judge, serving four years in each position. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1884; and was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

BELL, CLARK, lawyer, journalist, author, was born March 12, 1832, in Rodman, N. Y. He was the originator and president of the Saturday Night club. In 1883 he founded the Medico-Legal Journal, and is still its editor.

BELL, EDWARD A., artist, was born Dec. 18, 1861, in New York city. In 1881 he went to Europe, where he studied at Munich for two years. He painted his first picture, Their First Sorrow, two years later.

BELL, FRANK FREDERICK, banker, was born May 26, 1855, in Philadelphia, Pa. He became the first treasurer of the city of Philadelphia under the new charter. He engaged in large real estate operations; and is the senior member of the banking firm of Bell, Houghes and company.

BELL, GEORGE, soldier, was born about 1832 in Maryland. He was graduated at West Point in 1853. During the civil war he served as assistant in the organization of the subsistence department for the Manassas campaign; as principal assistant commissary to the Army of the Potomac, and in charge of subsistence depots, and as chief of commissariat of the departments of Washington and the Potomac. On April 9, 1865, he was brevetted brigadier-general for services during the war.

BELL, HENRY HAYWOOD, naval officer, was born about 1808 in North Carolina. Early in the civil war he was appointed fleet captain of the Western Gulf squadron. In July, 1866, he was promoted to be rear-admiral; and in 1867 he was retired. He died Jan. 11, 1868, in Japan.

BELL, HIRAM, congressman, was born in Vermont. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1852 to 1853.

BELL, HIRAM P., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1827, in Jackson, Ga. He graduated from the Academy of Cumming, Ga., where he has attained a reputation as one of the leading lawyers of the south. In 1861 he was a delegate to the secession convention; was a state senator the same year, and resigned to enter the confederate army in 1862. He raised a company, of which he was elected captain. He was dangerously wounded at Chickasaw bayou; and attained the rank of colonel. He was a representative from Georgia in the second confederate congress in 1864-65; and was elected a representative from his state to the forty-third and forty-fifth congresses of the United States as a democrat. He has been a trustee of four colleges, and also of the Methodist Orphans' home; and has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

BELL, ISAAC, JR., merchant, banker, public official, was born Nov. 16, 1846, in New York city, N. Y. He was educated at private schools, and at Harvard college, Cambridge, Mass., where he remained two years. After leaving Harvard he went abroad to complete his education and to travel. From 1870 to 1878 he was engaged in mercantile business and in banking in New York city; and in the latter year retired from business and went abroad. He returned to the United States in 1880 and settled at Newport, R. I. In 1885 he received the vote of his party in the state legislature for United States senator, but was not elected. In 1885 he was appointed United States minister at The Hague, Netherlands.

BELL, JAMES, lawyer, United States senator, was born Nov. 13, 1804, in Frankestown, N. H. He began to practice at Gilmanston, N. H.; in 1831 he removed to Exeter, N. H.; and in 1846 represented that town in the legislature. In that same year he removed to Gilford, where he took charge of the enterprise of damming the outlets of Lake Winnipiseogee and other lakes, so that the large mills on the Merrimack might not suffer from a diminished water supply during the dry season. By prudent management he gained over those property-owners whose interests seemed to be threatened, and the scheme was successful. He was a member of the state constitutional convention in 1850, and in 1854 and 1855 the unsuccessful whig candidate for governor. In 1855 he was elected to the United States senate, where he served until his death. He died May 26, 1857, in Laconia, N. H.

BELL, JAMES DANA, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Aug. 30, 1840, in Exeter, N. H. He graduated from the Phillips Exeter academy, and the Harvard Law school, and has attained eminence as a successful lawyer and jurist. He was a member of the constitutional convention of South Carolina; and has served as a judge of the probate court. He has always taken great interest in religious matters, and was commissioner to the general assembly of the presbyterian church of the United States.

BELL, JAMES M., congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1835.

BELL, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1850 to 1851.

BELL, JOHN, merchant, governor, was born in 1766 in Londonderry, N. H. He was for many years a merchant in Chester, N. H.; councillor of the state; and sheriff of Rockingham county from 1823 to 1828; and was governor of New Hampshire from 1829 to 1830. He died March 22, 1836, in Chester, N. H.

BELL, JOHN I., physician, lecturer, author, was born in 1796, in Ireland. He was a physician and medical lecturer, among whose writings are Health and Beauty; and Regimen and Longevity. He died in 1872.

BELL, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 15, 1797, in Nashville, Tenn. In 1817 he was elected to the state senate; declined a re-election, and devoted the next ten years of his life wholly to his profession. In 1827 he was elected a representative in congress, and continued to be re-elected until 1841, officiating during one term as speaker. In 1841 he accepted a seat in President Harrison's cabinet as secretary of war, which post he resigned in five months after the accession of President Tyler. In 1847 he accepted a seat in the house of representatives of Tennessee, but before the close of the year was elected to the United States senate; and was re-elected in 1852, serving from time to time as chairman of important committees until the close of the thirty-fifth congress. In 1860 he received from the Union party the nomination for president of the United States, but was defeated. He died Sept. 10, 1869, in Nashville, Tenn.

BELL, JOHN C., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1851, in Grundy county, Tenn. He attended the public schools of his native county. In 1888 he was elected judge of the seventh judicial district of Colorado for a period of six years. He was elected to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and fifty-fifth congresses.

BELL, JOSHUA F., lawyer, orator, congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847, and declined a re-election. He was a lawyer, and distinguished in the west as an orator; and was a member of the peace convention of 1861. He died Aug. 17, 1870, in Kentucky.

BELL, LILIAN, journalist, author, was born in 1867 in Kentucky. She graduated from the Dearborn seminary of Chicago, Ill.; and has attained success as a journalist. She is the author of The Love Affairs of an Old Maid; A Little Sister to the Wilderness; The Under Tide of Things; From a Girl's Standpoint; Instinct of Stepfatherhood; and other stories.

BELL, LUTHER VOSE, physician, surgeon, legislator, author, was born Dec. 20, 1806, in Chester, N. H. He was the fourth son of Gov. Bell, of New Hampshire, a noted lawyer and congressman. In 1823 he graduated from Bowdoin college; studied medicine, and attained success in that profession. He was elected a member of the New Hampshire state legislature; and was appointed one of the special committee for making some provision for the insane. He was the author of numerous dissertations on medical subjects; and to him belongs the honor of having first brought the notice of the medical profession to a new form of disease, which has since been designated as Bell's disease, peculiar to the insane. He died Feb. 11, 1862, near Budd's Ferry, Md.

BELL, M. E., architect, was born Oct. 20, 1847, in Chester, N. H. He conceived the idea of becoming an architect, and studied for the profession; apprenticed himself to an able French architect of St. Louis, Mo., and was engaged with him in the construction of the capitol buildings at Springfield, Ill., and Des Moines, Iowa, from 1870 to 1876. In the latter year his employer died, and Mr. Bell took charge of the work himself. While engaged upon the Iowa capitol he was tendered, and accepted, the position of supervising architect of the United States treasury.

BELL, PETER H., jurist, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was governor of Texas from 1849 to 1853; was a representative in congress from Texas from 1853 to 1857; and subsequently became judge of the supreme court of that state.

BELL, ROBERT C., soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born July 13, 1844, in Clarksburg, Ind. He received his education at the university of Michigan, and graduated therefrom in 1868. During the civil war he served gallantly as a soldier in the Union army, first in the eighth regiment, Indiana volunteer infantry, and then in the one hundred and twenty-fourth regiment; and he was subsequently assigned to detached duty at Nashville, Tenn., where he remained until the close of the war. After the war he opened a law office in Muncie, Ind.; and in 1871 moved to Fort Wayne, where he has attained a reputation as one of the foremost lawyers of Indiana. He has served in many high positions of public trust and responsibility; and in 1874 was elected to the state senate of the Indiana state legislature; received the re-election in 1888, and was chairman of the judiciary committee.

BELL, SAMUEL, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, governor, was born Feb. 9, 1770, in Londonderry, N. H. He graduated at Dartmouth in 1793; studied law, and was admitted to practice in 1796. He was a member of the legislature from 1804 to 1808, occupying the position of speaker. In 1807 and 1808 he was a member of the senate; and in 1809 a member of the executive council. From 1816 to 1819 he was judge of the superior court of the state; and in 1819 was chosen governor, serving until 1823. From 1823 to 1835 he was United States senator. He died Dec. 23, 1850, in Chester, N. H.

BELL, SAMUEL DANA, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 9, 1798, in Francestown, N. H. He was a justice of the superior court; in 1855 justice of the supreme court; and from 1859-64 served as chief justice. He died July 31, 1868, in Chester, N. H.

BELL, SAMUEL NEWELL, lawyer, congressman, was born March 25, 1829, in Chester, N. H. He graduated at Dartmouth college in 1847; studied law, and practiced at Manchester. He was elected to the forty-second congress; and was subsequently appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire. He was also elected to the forty-fourth congress. He died Feb. 8, 1889, in Manchester, N. H.

BELL, THEODORE S., physician, was born in 1807 in Kentucky. He was appointed professor of medicine and hygiene in the university of Louisville, and editor of the Louisville Medical Journal, positions which placed him in the front rank of his profession. He died Dec. 28, 1884, in Louisville, Ky.

BELL, WILLIAM, lawyer, state legislator, was born in 1828, in Utica, Ohio. In 1871 he was elected a member of the Ohio house of representatives, receiving the re-election in 1873, and again in 1881. He has been mayor of Newark, Ohio, and filled various other positions of honor.

BELL, WILLIAM ALLEN, educator, editor, was born Jan. 30, 1833, in Clinton county, Ind. He attended Antioch college, Ohio, while Horace Mann was president. He became principal of the Indianapolis High school, president of the Indiana State Teachers' association, and for more than twenty-five years editor and publisher of the Indiana School Journal, and is still doing this work. He is one of the oldest educational editors in the United States.

BELL, WILLIAM A., capitalist, was born in 1841 in Ireland. In 1870 he settled in Colorado, and was associated with Gen. William J. Palmer in the building of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, and had a share in the management afterward, being vice-president for several years.

BELLAMY, ALFRED D., physician, manufacturer, was born July 15, 1847, in Watkins, N. Y. For many years he successfully practiced medicine, but was compelled to change his occupation on account of deafness. In 1882 he established the Florence Wagon company, one of the first wholesale manufacturers of farm wagons in the southern states, and of which he is still president.

BELLAMY, CHARLES JOSEPH, journalist, author, was born in 1852 in Massachusetts. He is a journalist of Springfield, Mass., and the author of The Breton Mills, a Novel; Everybody's Lawyer; The Way Out; and Suggestions for Social Reform.

BELLAMY, EDWARD, reformer, author, was born March 26, 1850, in Chicopee Falls, Mass. He is a socialist reformer whose Utopian theories embodied in the tale Looking Backward, 2000-1887, have been very widely read, and have resulted in the formation of several societies and communities that endeavor to put some of them in practice. His other works include Six to One, a Nantucket Idyl; Dr. Heidenhoff's Process, a Novel; and Miss Ludington's Sister, a Romance of Immortality. He died in 1898.

BELLAMY, MRS. ELIZABETH WHITFIELD, author, was born April 17, 1839, in Quincy, Fla. She is a novelist of Mobile, and the author of Four Oaks; Little Joanna; Penny Lancaster Farmer; Old Man Gilbert; and The Luck of the Pennings.

BELLAMY, JOHN D., lawyer, state legislator, author, was born March 24, 1854, in Wilmington, N. C. He graduated from the Davidson college, and from the university of Virginia. He has been state senator and city attorney; is the author of several books; and a contributor to various newspapers and periodicals.

BELLAMY, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born in 1719, in Cheshire, Conn. He founded a divinity school in his parish, and trained many men there who were afterwards famous among New England ministers. He is the author of True Religion Delineated; The Law Our Schoolmaster; The Half-Way Covenant; and The Nature and Glory of the Gospel. He died March 6, 1790, in Bethlehem, Conn.

BELLAMY, ORLANDO ROLLIN, educator, poet, was born Aug. 10, 1856, in Vevay, Ind. He attended the DePauw university of Greencastle, and while there wrote an essay in poetry. As a student he won the honors of his class, and received a gold medal as a prize in mathematics. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Songs by the Wayside.

BELLAMY, WILLIAM, author, was born in 1846 in Massachusetts. He is a Boston writer who has published a volume of poems entitled A Century of Charades; and A Second Century of Charades.

BELLAS, HENRY HOBART, soldier, author, was born June 30, 1846, in Ebensburg, Pa. He graduated from the university of Cambridge. From 1873-80 he was an officer of the United States army, when he was placed on the retired list as captain of cavalry. He is the author of various genealogical and historical publications.

BELLINGER, JOSEPH, congressman. He was a presidential elector in 1809; and a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1817 to 1819.

BELLINGHAM, RICHARD, colonial governor, was born in 1592 in England. He settled in Boston, and in 1641 was elected governor; was re-elected in 1654, and again in 1665. He was chief magistrate of Massachusetts for the remainder of his life, being deputy governor thirteen years and governor ten. He died Dec. 7, 1672.

BELLOWS, ALBERT F., painter, was born Nov. 29, 1829, in Milford, Mass. His early works, mostly genre pictures in oil, include The First Pair of Boots; The Sorrows of Boyhood; and The Lost Child. Among his later water-colors are The Notch at Lancaster; Afternoon in Surrey; The Thames at Windsor; The Reaper's Child; and New England Homestead. He died Nov. 24, 1883, in Auburn-dale, Mass.

BELLOWS, BENJAMIN, soldier, legislator, was born Oct. 6, 1740, in Walpole, N. H. He was a member of the colonial and afterward of the state legislature; and was appointed a delegate to the continental congress in 1781, but his business forced him to decline. He was a member of the state convention that ratified the federal constitution in 1788. He presided over the New Hampshire electoral college that voted for Washington in 1788, and was a member of the one that voted for John Adams in 1796. He was active in the colonial and state militia, rising from the rank of corporal to that of brigadier-general, and served during the revolutionary war as a colonel. He died June, 1802, in Walpole, Mass.

BELLOWS, HENRY ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 25, 1803, in Walpole, Mass. In 1826 he was admitted to the bar, and in 1828 opened an office in Littleton, N. H. He was appointed associate judge of the supreme court in 1859, and after ten years of service in that capacity became chief justice on the death of Judge Perley. He died March 11, 1873, in Concord, N. H.

BELLOWS, HENRY WHITNEY, clergyman, author, was born June 11, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of prominence in New York city, well known at one time as the president of the United States sanitary commission. He was the author of Restatements of Christian Doctrine; Sermons; Relation of Public Amusements to Public Morality; and The Old World in Its New Face. He died Jan. 30, 1882, in New York city.

BELMONT, AUGUST, diplomat, was born in Germany. In 1853 he was appointed by President Pierce charge d'affaires to The Hague, and afterward became minister resident, resigning in 1858. In the latter capacity he negotiated a highly important consular convention, for which and other diplomatic services he received special thanks from Washington. He was a leading delegate to the democratic convention of 1860; and from that year until 1872 was chairman of the national democratic committee, when he resigned.

BELMONT, AUGUST, banker, was born Feb. 18, 1853, in New York city. He is now at the head of August Belmont and Co., the American representatives of the Rothschild bank abroad. The family make their country home at Hempstead, on Long Island.

BELMONT, PERRY, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 27, 1851, in New York city. He graduated at Harvard college in 1872; and was admitted to the bar in 1876. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

BELO, ALFRED H., journalist, was born May 27, 1839, in Salem, N. C. In 1865 he became connected with the Galveston News; and in 1885 published the Dallas News, which has achieved a great and rapid success.

BELROSE, LOUIS, author, was born in 1845 in Pennsylvania. He was a writer whose only published work of note is Thorns and Flowers, a volume of poems. He died in 1896.

BELSER, JAMES E., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from Alabama from 1843 to 1845. He died Jan. 6, 1859, in Montgomery, Ala.

BELTZHOVER, FRANK ECKELS, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 6, 1841, in Cumberland county, Pa. In 1858 he entered Pennsylvania college, at Gettysburg, where he graduated in 1862. He was admitted to the bar in 1864, and has practiced since. In 1868 and 1873 he was chairman of the democratic executive committee of the county; and in 1874 was elected district attorney, and served for three years. In 1878 he was elected to the forty-sixth congress, forty-seventh in 1880, and also to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

BEMAN, NATHANIEL SYDNEY SMITH, clergyman, was born Nov. 26, 1785, in New Lebanon, N. Y. He became pastor of the presbyterian church in Troy, N. Y., in 1822, and continued as such for upward of forty years. He was actively interested in the temperance, moral reform, revival, and anti-slavery movements of his time. Besides sermons, essays, and addresses, which have been separately published, he was the author of a volume entitled Four Sermons on the Atonement. He was also one of the compilers of the hymn-book adopted by the new-school branch of the presbyterian church. He died Aug. 8, 1871, in Carbon-dale, Ill.

BEMENT, GEORGE WILLIAM, merchant, was born March 4, 1824, in Stockbridge, Mass. In 1843 he located in Terre Haute, and by more than fifty years of unremitting application and prudent husbanding of means has accumulated large wealth in the wholesale grocery business.

BEMENT, WILLIAM BARNES, manufacturer, inventor, was born May 10, 1817, in Bradford, N. H. He went to Philadelphia and devoted himself there to the invention and manufacture of machine tools and machinery. The Industrial Works, as they were called, grew in time both in size and prestige to equal the best of their class in America, and they are said to stand second only to the Whitworth shops in England.

BEMIS, ARTHUR L., educator, journalist, legislator, was born March 20, 1858, in Elyria, Ohio. For many years he was professor of chemistry, general history, and penmanship in the Ionia schools, Mich. Since 1890 he has been the editor and owner of the Carson City Gazette; and in 1897-98 was a member of the Michigan state legislature.

BEMIS, EDWARD WEBSTER, educator, author, was born in 1860 in Massachusetts. He is a professor of economics in the University of Chicago; and the author of History of Co-operation in the United States; and Municipal Ownership of Gas in the United States.

BEMIS, GEORGE PICKERING, journalist, business man, was born March 15, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He is a descendant of Timothy Pickering, of revolutionary fame. In 1861 he enlisted in the second battalion of Massachusetts light infantry, serving about seven months, after which he joined George Francis Train in London, where that gentleman was introducing street railways; and for over twenty years he was his private secretary. He also became general manager and editor of the London American, the only American newspaper in Europe during the civil war. In 1892 he became mayor of Omaha, Neb., and received the re-election three successive times. During his entire term he defended the interests of the taxpayers, and saved them millions of dollars.

BEMISS, SAMUEL MERRIFIELD, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 15, 1821, in Nelson county, Ky. From 1862 till 1865 he was a surgeon in the confederate army. After the war he settled in New Orleans, and in 1866 he became professor of the theory and practice of medicine in the university of Louisiana. He is the editor of the New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal.

BENDER, JOHN S., civil engineer, lawyer, was born Jan. 26, 1827, near Carlisle, Pa. He was a miller by trade until 1852; a land surveyor and civil engineer from choice until 1856; and since that time has been engaged in the practice of law. Since 1854 he has taken great interest in politics; was contingent elector for Douglas; supported Lincoln during the war of 1861; and in 1878 joined the independent movement for reform; was elector at large in Indiana for Butler; and he has held many other prominent offices in his county and state for the furtherance of the movement. He is the author of A Hoosier's Experience in Europe; Money: Its Definition; and other works.

BENDER, JOSEPH ELMER, educator, physician, nurseman, was born Sept. 17, 1852, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He received his education at the Oskaloosa college, Iowa; and during 1879-81 attended the Allopathic Medical department at the Iowa State university. He taught school until 1883, and since that time has been secretary of the Independent School district of Oakland, Iowa. He abandoned the practice of medicine in 1892, since which time he has been engaged in fruit growing.

BENDER, PROSPER, physician, author, was born in 1844 in Quebec, Canada. He is a Canadian physician, and since 1883 has practiced his profession in Boston. He is the author of Old and New Canada; Literary Sheaves, or La Littérature au Canada-Français.

BENDIRE, CHARLES E., soldier, educator, author, was born in 1836 in Georgia. He was an ornithologist of note; honorary curator of the department of oölogy in the United States National museum; and a captain and brevet major in the United States army. He was the author of Life Histories of North American Birds. He died in 1897.

BENDIX, JOHN E., soldier, business man, was born Aug. 28, 1818. He participated in the battles of Antietam, Frederickshurg, and the Wilderness, besides the engagements of the intervening campaigns. He was promoted brigadier-general in 1865. He died Oct. 8, 1877, in New York city, N. Y.

BENECKE, LOUIS, lawyer, legislator, was born May 1, 1843, in Brunswick, Germany. He received his education in the common schools in Blankenburg college, Germany, and in the high schools of Brunswick, Mo. He served during the civil war in the forty-ninth regiment of the Missouri volunteers, and was captain of company I. For fourteen years he was mayor of his adopted city of Brunswick, Mo.; for twenty-two years president of the board of education of that city; and a director of the First National bank of Brunswick. For four years he served as a member of the Missouri state senate. He stands high in fraternal societies; is grand dictator of the Knights of Honor; judge-advocate, junior, senior, and department commander of the G. A. R. of Missouri.

BENEDICT, ASA G., educator, was born Aug. 11, 1848, in Lysander, N. Y. He was principal of the Free academy of Rome, N. Y.; and was for three years president of the Y. M. C. A. In 1880 he came to Clinton, N. Y., as principal of the Houghton seminary, which he has since managed with ability and success.

BENEDICT, CHARLES B., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 7, 1828, in Attica, N. Y. He received an academic education; studied law; was admitted to practice in 1856; engaged in the banking business at Attica in 1860, and continued therein. He was a member of the democratic state committee in 1875; a presidential elector in 1876; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth congress.

BENEDICT, CHARLES L., lawyer, jurist. He practiced the profession of the law in Brooklyn; was a representative in the New York legislature in 1863; in 1865 was appointed United States district judge for the eastern district of New York; and in 1881 was tendered the appointment of associate justice of the court of appeals of New York state.

BENEDICT, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 10, 1779, in Norwalk, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman of Pawtucket; and the author of History of the Baptists; History of All Religions; Fifty Years Among the Baptists; Compendium of Ecclesiastical History; and History of the Donatists. He died Dec. 5, 1874, in Pawtucket, R. I.

BENEDICT, ERASTUS CORNELIUS, jurist, author, was born March 19, 1800, in Branford, Conn. He was a jurist of New York city; and the author of The American Admiralty, Its Jurisdiction and Practice. He died Oct. 22, 1880, in New York city.

BENEDICT, FRANK LEE, author, poet, was born in 1834 in New York city. She is the author of Miss Van Kortland; My Daughter Elinor; The Price She Paid; John Worthington's Name; Miss Dorothy's Charge; St. Simon's Niece; 'Twixt Hammer and Anvil; Her Friend Laurence; A Late Remorse; Madame; and The Shadow-Worshipper and Other Poems.

BENEDICT, GEORGE GRENVILLE, journalist, state senator, was born Dec. 10, 1826, in Burlington, Vt. He attended the academy at Burlington; and graduated from the university of Vermont in 1847. During the civil war he was lieutenant in the twelfth regiment, Vermont volunteers; and aid-de-camp on the staff of the second Vermont brigade. He has been president of the Vermont and Boston Telegraph company; a member of the Vermont state senate; secretary of the university of Vermont; president of the State Historical society; president of the Vermont Press association; and president of the Vermont society of Sons of the American Revolution. He has been the state military historian; collector of customs for Vermont; and for forty years editor of the Burlington Free Press.

BENEDICT, GEORGE WYLLYS, educator, journalist, was born Jan. 11, 1796, in North Stamford, Conn. He was professor at the university of Vermont from 1825 till 1847. He became associated with Ezra Cornell in the construction of the Troy and Canada junction telegraph line, becoming the first superintendent of that company. He subsequently engaged independently in telegraph building, and contracted for the erection of several lines. He purchased the Burlington Free Press in 1853, and remained its editor and publisher until 1866. During 1854 and 1855 he was a member of the Vermont senate, serving as chairman of the committee on education. He died Sept. 23, 1871, in Burlington, Vt.

BENEDICT, HENRY HARPER, manufacturer, was born in 1801. In 1882, having been admitted to membership in the firm of Wyckoff, Seamans and Benedict, he removed to New York city to engage in the sale of Remington typewriters. In 1886 the firm purchased the entire typewriter plant of the Remingtons, including all rights and franchises, and have since conducted the manufacture as well as the sale of the machine, attaining a remarkable success.

BENEDICT, KIRBY, jurist, was born in Connecticut. In 1853 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of New Mexico.

BENEDICT, LE GRAND, soldier, was born April 10, 1802, in Troy, N. Y. He enlisted in the second New York volunteers, and in 1826 was made assistant adjutant-general of the United States volunteers, with the rank of captain, by appointment of President Lincoln.

BENEDICT, LEWIS, soldier, lawyer, was born Sept. 2, 1817, in Albany, N. Y. In 1845-46 he was city attorney at Albany; in 1847 judge advocate; and from 1848 until 1852 surrogate of Albany. In 1860 he was elected a member of the state assembly, but entered the military service for the civil war. He died April 9, 1864, in Pleasant Hill, La.

BENEFIELD, ROBERT K. W., journalist, planter, was born Dec. 28, 1835, in Louisville, Ky. He attended the Ayers university, of Albany, Ind.; and was a graduate of the American Health college of Cincinnati, Ohio. He served as a private soldier in the confederate army. He is the editor and owner of the Southland and Gazette, of Maurepas, La. He has been a justice of the peace, a member of the school board, and has held various other public offices in his county and state.

BENEZET, ANTHONY, philanthropist, author, was born Jan. 31, 1713, in France. He was a Quaker philanthropist of Philadelphia, whose tracts on slavery first aroused the attention of Clarkson and W. L. Garrison to the subject. He died May 3, 1784, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BENHAM, ALEXANDER E. K., naval officer, was born in 1832 in New York. He entered the United States navy during the civil war; was raised to the rank of commander in 1867; became captain in 1878; commodore in 1889; and acting rear-admiral in 1890. In 1891 he was made commander of the East Indian squadron. He retired in 1894.

BENHAM, DE WITT MILES, clergyman, was born Sept. 8, 1862, in Marysville, Cal. In 1889 he received a call to the presbyterian church of Pittsburg, Pa., but resigned this charge in 1893 and began new work in the east end of the city. The result was the organization of the Tabernacle Presbyterian church in 1894.

BENHAM, HENRY W., engineer, inventor, was born in 1817, in Connecticut. He invented the picket shovel used by troops in the field, and was an expert in pontoon bridges, in the management of which he devised important improvements. He died June 1, 1884, in New York city.

BENHAM, ROBERT T., soldier, jurist, was born about 1745 in Virginia. He served in the civil war and attained the rank of captain. At the close of the war he settled in Campbell county, Ky., where in 1794 he was one of the first judges of the county court.

BENJAMIN, ALBERT ELLIS, journalist, was born Oct. 7, 1872, near Barry, Ill. He is the editor and owner of the Chehalis County Tribune of Hoquiam, Wash.; and has contributed extensively to periodical literature.

BENJAMIN, DOWLING, physician, author, was born Jan. 23, 1849, in Baltimore, Md. In 1877 he began the practice of medicine in Camden, N. J., where he has built up a general practice. He is the author of Contagion, Typhoid in Water; and Treatment of Fractures.

BENJAMIN, JOHN FORBES, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1817, in Cicero, N. Y. He was a member of the state legislature of Missouri in 1850 and 1852; was presidential elector in 1856; and enlisted in the union cavalry service as a private in 1861, and was subsequently captain, major, lieutenant-colonel, and brigadier-general. He was provost marshal of the eighth district of Missouri in 1863 and 1864; was delegate at large from Missouri to the Baltimore convention in 1864; and was elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first congresses. He died March 8, 1877, in Washington, D. C.

BENJAMIN, JUDAH PHILIP, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 11, 1811, in St. Croix, W. I. He was a prominent New Orleans lawyer who became attorney-general of the confederacy during the civil war. At its close he went to England, and speedily became eminent in his profession there. His Treatise on the Law of Sale of Personal Property is the standard work on the subject. He died May 8, 1884, in Paris, France.

BENJAMIN, MARCUS, editor, author, was born Jan. 17, 1857, in San Francisco, Cal. In 1867 he moved with his parents to New York city, and in 1878 graduated in the chemical course of the school of mines of Columbia college. In 1882 he became editor of the American Pharmacist, and subsequently was on the editorial staff on the Engineering and Mining Journal. He has been on the editorial staff of Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography; Appleton's Annual Cyclopaedia; Johnson's Universal Cyclopaedia; Standard Dictionary; and various other works. He is now connected with the United States national museum of Washington, D. C.

BENJAMIN, NATHAN, missionary, reformer, was born Dec. 14, 1811, in Catskill, N. Y. In 1835 he was appointed as missionary to Greece and Turkey by the American board, and went to Argos in 1836. He translated numerous works into Greek and Armenian, including Pilgrim's Progress and D'Aubigny's Reformation, and also established the first newspaper ever published in the Armenian tongue, The Morning Star, which is still issued. He died Jan. 27, 1855, in Constantinople, Turkey.

BENJAMIN, PARK, journalist, poet, was born Aug. 13, 1809, in British Guinea. He was a journalist and poet of New York city. The Old Sexton is the best remembered example. His poems were chiefly lyrical, and attracted world wide attention; appeared in the leading newspapers and magazines of America; and subsequently were published in book form. His son, Park Benjamin, is a noted lawyer of New York city; and the author of a number of meritorious works. He died Sept. 12, 1864, in New York city.

BENJAMIN, PARK, lawyer, author, was born May 11, 1849, in New York city. He is a New York lawyer whose specialty is patent law; and is the author of Shakings: Etchings for the Naval Academy; Wrinkles and Receipts: Suggestions for the Mechanic, Engineer, etc.; The Age of Electricity; The Intellectual Rise in Electricity; and a History.

BENJAMIN, SAMUEL GREEN WHEELER, diplomatist, author, was born Feb. 13, 1837, in Argos, Greece. He is a contributor to the field of general literature; and at one period minister to Persia. He is the author of Art in America; Contemporary Art in Europe; the Atlantic Islands; Troy: its Legend, Literature, and Topography; A Group of Etchers; Persia and the Persians; The Story of Persia; The Cruise of the Alice May in the Gulf of St. Lawrence; and Sea Spray, or Facts and Fancies of a Yachtsman.

BENJAMIN, SAMUEL NICOLL, soldier, educator, was born Jan. 13, 1839, in New York city. He was brevetted lieutenant-colonel in 1865, and major in 1875. On recovery from his wounds he became assistant professor of mathematics at the United States military academy. Col. Benjamin was one of the very few officers that held the congressional medal for conspicuous bravery in the field. He died May 15, 1886, on Governor's Island, N. Y.

BENJAMIN, WALTER ROMEYN, antiquarian, journalist, was born Sept. 24, 1854, in Guilford, Conn. In 1874 he graduated from the Union college; then studied law three years; and for eleven years was connected with the New York Sun. He originated the special business of dealing in autograph letters and historical documents; and rescued from oblivion many valuable historical papers. In 1887 he established The Collector, which he still edits, and in 1897 he was historian of the Sons of the American Revolution.

BENNER, GEORGE JACOB, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born April 13, 1859, in Gettysburg, Pa. He was educated at Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg, graduating in the class of 1878. After several years devoted to teaching he was admitted a member of the Adams county bar Dec. 31, 1881, since which date he has followed the practice of the law. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BENNER, PHILIP, soldier, iron manufacturer, journalist, was born May 19, 1762, in Chester county, Pa. He served in the revolutionary war. In 1794 he erected a forge, the first in that vicinity, and manufactured iron during the year. The development of the iron industry in the western part of Pennsylvania is largely due to his enterprise. He was twice a presidential elector, notably on the Jackson-Calhoun ticket of 1824. In 1827 he established the Centre Democrat at Bellefonte, in the interest of Gen. Jackson. He was major-general of the Pennsylvania militia, and left a valuable estate. He died July 27, 1832, in Centre county, Pa.

BENNET, BENJAMIN, clergyman, congressman, was born in 1762. He was a baptist minister; and a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1815 to 1819. He died Oct. 8, 1840, in Middletown, N. J.

BENNET, ORLANDO, wrecker, was born Oct. 4, 1818, in Ithaca, N. Y. During the civil war he was employed by the United States government to clear the harbors of Charleston and Savannah from monitors, torpedoes, and other obstructions. By this means a sea-way was opened to supply Gen. William T. Sherman's army after its march to the sea. He died July 10, 1880, in Bellport, N. Y.

BENNET, THOMAS, governor, was born in South Carolina. He was governor of that state from 1820 to 1822.

BENNETT, MRS. ADELINE G., poet, was born Nov. 8, 1848, in Warner, N. H. She is a writer of Pipestone City, Minn.

BENNETT, ALFRED SILAS, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born June 10, 1854, in Dubuque, Iowa. He was school superintendent for Waco county, Oregon; in 1882 was elected a member of the Oregon state legislature; and was circuit judge in 1882-84. In 1892 he was a democratic candidate for supreme judge of Oregon, and a candidate for congress in 1896 from the second district.

BENNETT, CALEB P., soldier, governor. He was a major in the Delaware regiment of the revolutionary army, and was engaged at the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, and Monmouth. He was governor of Delaware from 1833 until his death. He died May 7, 1836, in Wilmington, Del.

BENNETT, CASSIUS C., banker, state senator, was born Feb. 4, 1856, in Washington county, Vt. In 1879 he engaged in business in Portland, Ore.; and in 1883 settled in Pierre, S. D. He was elected president of the Pierre savings bank in 1887; and in 1888 was also made president of the First National bank of that city. During 1894-96 he served with distinction as a member of the South Dakota state senate.

BENNETT, CHARLES GOODWIN, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1863, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a member of the law firm of Daniels & Bennett, of New York city; was the unsuccessful republican candidate for member of the fifty-third congress; and was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

BENNETT, CHARLES WESLEY, clergyman, author, was born July 18, 1828, in East Bethany, N. Y. He was a methodist clergyman prominent in educational matters; and was the author of National Education in Italy, France, Germany, England, and Wales, Popularly Considered; and Christian Art and Archaeology of the First Six Centuries. He died in 1891.

BENNETT, DAVID S., congressman, was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first congress.

BENNETT, DE ROBIQUE MORTIMER, author, was born Dec. 23, 1818, in Springfield, N. Y. He was a noted freethinker who was several times arrested and imprisoned on account of his extreme views. He was the author of the World's Reformers; Champions of the Church; From Behind the Bars; An Infidel Abroad; and A Truth Seeker Around the World. He died Dec. 6, 1882, in New York city.

BENNETT, EDMUND HATCH, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1824 in Vermont. He is a New England jurist, and dean of the Boston university law school. He is the author of English Law and Equity Reports; Fire Insurance Cases; and Leading Cases in Criminal Law. He has also edited many legal works of importance.

BENNETT, EMERSON, author, was born March 16, 1822, in Monson, Mass. He is a Philadelphia writer of sensational romances, which have been very popular. He is the author of Prairie Flower, Leni Leoti, which are perhaps the most noted of his fifty or more novels.

BENNETT, FRED A., state bank examiner, was born March 1, 1869, in Worcester county, Mass. He graduated from the state university of Iowa, and now holds the high office of state bank examiner of Iowa. He is prominent in fraternal orders, and resides in Manning, Iowa.

BENNETT, GRANVILLE G., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1833, in Butler county, Ohio. He entered upon the practice of law in 1859; and served throughout the war of the rebellion as a commissioned officer in the union army. He was elected a representative in the Iowa legislature in 1865 for two years, and to the state senate in 1867 for four years. In 1875 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Dakota; resigned in 1878 and was elected a delegate from the territory of Dakota to the forty-sixth congress as a republican.

BENNETT, H. S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 7, 1807, in Williamson county, Tenn. He began to practice law in 1830, when he removed to Mississippi, where he held the office of circuit judge for eight years. He was a representative from Mississippi to the thirty-fourth congress.

BENNETT, HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1808, in New Lisbon, N. Y. He was elected to congress as a representative from New York state in 1848, and served continuously for ten years.

BENNETT, HENRY W., clergyman, was born April 4, 1835, in Constableville, N. Y. In 1862 he graduated from the Wesleyan university and received the highest prize in the senior class for literary work. He has filled the chair of Latin in several large institutions; has traveled extensively in Europe, Egypt and Palestine; and has filled pastorates in the methodist episcopal church in the northern New York conference, of which conference he was presiding elder for ten years.

BENNETT, HIRAM P., jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 2, 1826, in Carthage, Maine. In 1852 he was elected to a judgeship in western Iowa. He removed to Nebraska territory in 1854, and was at once elected a member of the territorial council; in 1855 was re-elected to the Nebraska legislature, and made speaker of the house. He removed to Colorado territory in 1859, and was chosen a delegate therefrom to the thirty-seventh congress; and in 1862 was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress. In 1867 he was appointed secretary of the territory of Colorado.

BENNETT, JAMES GORDON, journalist, was born Sept. 1, 1795, in Scotland. He emigrated to the United States in 1819, and in 1835 founded the New York Herald, the first newspaper that published a daily money article and stock lists. He was its editor and proprietor for nearly forty years. He died June 1, 1872, in New York city.

BENNETT, JAMES GORDON, journalist, was born May 10, 1841, in New York city. He became the proprietor of The New York Herald upon the death of his father. He added to the fame of his paper by publishing in England storm-warnings transmitted from the United States; by fitting out the Jeanette polar expedition; by sending Henry M. Stanley in search of Livingstone; and by other similar enterprises. In 1883 he associated himself with John W. Mackay in forming the commercial cable company and laying a new cable between America and Europe, to compete with the combined English and French lines.

BENNETT, JOSEPH, lawyer, state senator, was born May, 1839, in Sweden. He studied law, and has pursued the profession in Boston. He has been on the school board in Brighton and Boston; has been a trial justice in Middlesex county, and special justice in Brighton district municipal court. In 1879 he was in the Massachusetts house of representatives, and the next year in the state senate.

BENNETT, MILO LYMAN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1790 in Sharon, Conn. He practiced law in Burlington, Vt., and was judge of the supreme court in 1839-59. He was author of Vermont justice, and other legal text-books.

BENNETT, RICHARD, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 4, 1851, in Ontario, Canada. For three years he was probate judge of Grand Forks county, N. D.; alderman of Grand Forks city for six years; and a member of the constitutional convention of North Dakota. He now practices law in Neihart, Mont., where he is also engaged in several business enterprises.

BENNETT, RISDEN T., was born June 18, 1840, in Anson county, N. C. He entered the confederate army as a private April 30, 1861, and rose through the several grades to the colonelcy of the fourteenth North Carolina troops. He was solicitor of Anson county in 1866-67; was a member of the legislature of North Carolina in 1872, and delegate to the constitutional convention of the state in 1875. He was judge of the superior court in 1880, and resigned to accept the nomination for congress as congressman at large from North Carolina; and was elected to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

BENNETT, SAMUEL FILLMORE, soldier, physician, author. For many years he practiced medicine in Richmond, Wis. He served through the civil war in the fortieth regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry; and during his service compiled several popular pieces, which were sung with great enthusiasm by the boys in blue. He is the author of the popular song entitled In the Sweet By and By.

BENNETT, THOMAS W., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 16, 1831, in Union county, Ind. He graduated at the Asbury university law school in 1854; was elected to the Indiana senate in 1858; entered the union army in 1861 as a captain; served through the war, and became a brigadier-general of volunteers. He was re-elected to the Indiana senate in 1864, serving four years; and was elected mayor of Richmond, Ind., in 1869, serving two years. He was appointed governor of Idaho in 1871, serving until December, 1875, when he resigned to take his seat as a delegate from Idaho to the forty-fourth congress.

BENNETT, WILLIAM ZEBINA, chemist, author, was born Feb. 25, 1856, in Montpelier, Vt. In 1880 he became assistant professor of chemistry, and in 1883 succeeded to the chair of natural sciences in the university of Wooster. Besides numerous contributions to scientific periodicals, he has published A Plant Analysis.

BENNION, EMMA, poet, was born on March 13, 1859, in Sheldon, N. Y. She is a writer of Strykersville, N. Y.; and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BENSCHOTEN, HARVEY LEE VAN, lawyer, was born Jan. 27, 1863, in Sehewa, Mich. He received his education in the schools of Indiana, Michigan agricultural college, and the university of Michigan. He is an able lawyer of Beeding, Mich., where he is city attorney, and prominent in the public affairs of his county and state.

BENSEL, JAMES BERRY, author, poet, was born Aug. 2, 1856, in New York city. He was the author of In the King's Garden, and Other Poems; and King Cophe-tua's Wife, a novel. He died Feb. 3, 1886, in New York city.

BENSON, EGBERT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 21, 1746, in New York city. He was attorney-general of New York from 1780 to 1789; a delegate to the continental congress from 1784 to 1788; and a representative in congress, from New York, from 1789 to 1793. He was a judge of the state supreme court from 1794 to 1801. He was again elected to congress in 1813. He died Aug. 24, 1833, in Jamaica, N. Y.

BENSON, EUGENE, artist, author, was born in 1837 in Hyde Park, N. Y. He established his studio in Florence in 1871, and removed to Rome in 1883. Among the better known of his pictures are Cloud Towers; Strayed Maskers; Bazaar at Cairo; Study of Girl in Blue; Art and Love; Afternoon on the Lagoon; and Ariadne. Mr. Benson has been a frequent contributor to periodicals, and has published two books entitled Gaspara Stampa; the Story of Her Life, and Art and Nature in Italy.

BENSON, HENRY C., clergyman, author, was born in 1815 near Xenia, Ohio. He was editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate at Portland, Ore., from 1864 to 1868, in which year he became editor of the California Advocate. For several years he labored among the Choctaw Indians as a missionary, and he has related his experiences in a book called Life Among the Choctaws.

BENSON, SAMUEL PAGE, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in 1804 in Winthrop, Maine.

In 1825 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and acquired prominence as one of the leading lawyers of New England. He was elected a member of the Maine state legislature; served in the state senate; and for several years was secretary of the state of Maine. He served with distinction in the thirty-third congress, and received the re-election to the thirty-fourth, and served as chairman of the committee on naval affairs.

BENT, SILAS, jurist, was born in Massachusetts. In 1813 he was appointed United States judge for the territory of Missouri. His name was given to a well-known frontier post and military fort.

BENTEEN, FREDERICK WILLIAM, army officer, was born Aug. 24, 1834, in Petersburg, Va. He served with distinction in the civil war during 1861-65; and was colonel of the United States volunteers. He has been brigadier-general of the Missouri militia; and was brevetted brigadier-general of the United States army. He now resides in Atlanta, Ga.; where he takes an active part in the business and public affairs of that city. His services in the army have made him very popular throughout the United States.

BENTLEY, CHARLES EUGENE, clergyman, prohibitionist, was born April 30, 1841, near Syracuse, N. Y. This eminent baptist clergyman of Lincoln, Neb., has been chairman of the prohibition state committee of Nebraska, and had official charge of the great amendment campaign of 1890. He has been his party candidate for governor and United States senator, and was formally endorsed as Nebraska's choice for president in the campaign of 1896.

BENTLEY, EDWIN, physician, was born July 3, 1824, in Connecticut. He served in the civil war as surgeon, and in 1886 was post-surgeon at Fort Brown, Texas. He was professor of anatomy in the Pacific medical college of California and has been professor of surgery in the Industrial university of Arkansas since its organization.

BENTLEY, HENRY W., orator, lawyer, legislator, congressman, and financier, was born Sept. 30, 1833, in DeRuyter,

N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in Morrisville, and subsequently attended Yates Polytechnic Institute at Chittanooga, and Juds' private school at Berkshire. For several years he taught school in New York and Illinois, and in 1861 was admitted to the bar. He then opened an office in Boonville, N. Y., where he has attained eminence as one of the leading lawyers of his native state. In 1890 he was elected to the fifty-second congress of the United States, and took an active part in the deliberations of that body, and was a prominent advocate for a ship canal from the great lakes to the Hudson. He was appointed by Governor Flower as commissioner to investigate the charges pending for the removal of Sheriff Beck; and in 1894 he was appointed as surrogate of Oneida county, and filled that office with distinction. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention at Chicago in 1896, and was most pronounced in opposition to the free silver platform. He has been four times elected president of Boonville; is vice-president of the First national bank of that city, and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

BENTON, CHARLES S., congressman, was born in Maine. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1849.

BENTON, GUY POTTER, educator, was born May 26, 1865, in Kenton, Ohio. He graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university of Delaware. For five years he was superintendent of city schools in Fort Scott, Kan.; and served one term as assistant state superintendent of public instruction of Kansas. This popular educator fills the chair of history and sociology in the Baker university of Baldwin, Kan.

BENTON, HERBERT E., lawyer, journalist, was born July 31, 1849, in Morris, Conn. He became night editor of the New Haven Daily Palladium, in which capacity he served until his appointment as editor-in-chief in 1880. He served two years as a councilman, four years as alderman, and six years as police commissioner.

BENTON, JACOB, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1819, in Waterford, Vt. In 1854-56 he was a member of the state legislature; was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1860; and was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the fortieth and forty-first congresses.

BENTON, JAMES GILCHRIST, soldier, inventor, was born Sept. 15, 1820, in Lebanon, N. H. He was brevetted colonel U. S. army in 1865; designed ordnance appliances; discovered use of electricity to determine velocity; and wrote A Course of Instruction in Ordnance and Gunnery. He commanded the national armory of Springfield, Mass., until his death. He died Aug. 23, 1881, in Springfield, Mass.

BENTON, JOEL, author, was born May 29, 1832, in Amenia, N. Y. He is a versewriter and critic and the author of Under the Apple Boughs, a collection of verse; and Emerson as a Poet.

BENTON, MÆCENAS E., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1849, in Obion county, Tenn. Beginning with 1872 (with three exceptions) he has been a delegate to every democratic state convention held in Missouri, and was president of the conventions held in 1890 and 1893. He was elected prosecuting attorney in 1878 and in 1880, and declined re-election in 1882; was attorney of the United States from March, 1885, to July, 1889; and is the original offensive partisan who was charged with pernicious activity in politics. He has served as a member of the democratic state committee for the state at large; was a delegate to the national democratic convention held in Chicago in 1896, and was a member of the committee on credentials in that body. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BENTON, MORTIMER MURRAY, lawyer, state senator, was born in 1807, in Benton, N. Y. He represented Kenton county in the lower house of the Kentucky legislature from 1863 to 1865; was then elected to the senate at the expiration of his term.

BENTON, SAMUEL, congressman, was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1793 to 1798.

BENTON, THOMAS HART, statesman, author, was born March 14, 1782, in Hillsborough, N. C. He is an eminent statesman who represented Missouri in the United States senate for thirty years; removed to Tennessee; became an attorney; was elected for one term to the Kentucky legislature; served with his regiment in the war of 1812; began law practice at St. Louis, Mo., in 1813; established the Missouri Inquirer; killed an opponent in a duel; was elected U. S. senator from Missouri in 1820, and was continuously re-elected for thirty years; was elected member of congress in 1852. His political writing is notable for its simple, direct style and absence of invective. He is the author of Speeches; Thirty Years' View; History of the Workings of Congress, 1820-50; and Abridgment of the Debates of Congress, 1789-1856. He died April 10, 1858, in Washington, D. C.

BENTON, WILLIAM PLUMMER, soldier, was born Dec. 25, 1828, in Newmarket, Md. He was admitted to the bar in 1851, in 1852 appointed prosecuting attorney, and in 1856 made judge of the common pleas court. When Fort Sumter was fired upon, Judge Benton was the first man in Wayne county to respond to the president's call for 75,000 men. He commanded a brigade at Pea Ridge, and was promoted to brigadier-general for gallantry. He was in the battles of Port Gibson, Jackson, Champion Hills, Black River Bridge, the siege of Vicksburg, and Mobile. He died March 14, 1867, in New Orleans, La.

BERARD, AUGUSTA BLANCHE, author, was born Oct. 29, 1824, in West Point, N. Y. She is an educational writer of West Point, and the author of School History of the United States; School History of England; Manual of Spanish Art and Literature; and Reminiscences of West Point in the Olden Time.

BERARD, CLAUDIUS, educator, author, was born March 21, 1786, in Bordeaux, France. He arrived in New York in the spring of 1807, and soon afterward became professor of ancient languages in Dickinson college at Carlisle, Pa., where he remained until his appointment, in 1815, as professor of French in the U. S. military academy at West Point. He held this chair until his death, a period of over thirty-three years. He died May 6, 1848, at West Point, N. Y.

BERESFORD, RICHARD, congressman. He was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress from 1783 to 1785.

BERG, ALBERT, soldier, journalist, public official, was born June 25, 1861, in Centre City, Minn. He was educated at the Carleton college of Northfield, Minn.; and for three years studied at Gustavus Adolphus college of St. Peter. For three years he was engaged in journalistic work on the Fargo Argus; and in 1886 was elected register of deeds for Chisago county, serving for eight years. In 1892 he was a delegate to the national republican convention; and in 1894 was elected secretary of state of Minnesota, receiving the re-election in 1896.

BERG, JOSEPH FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born in 1812, on the island of Antigua. He was a Dutch reformed clergyman of Philadelphia and a once noted controversialist. He was the author of Lectures on Romanism; and Rome's Policy towards the Bible. He died July 20, 1871, in New Brunswick, N. J.

BERG, LOUIS DE COPPET, architect, engineer, author, was born in 1856. He is an architect and civil engineer of New York city, and has published a valuable work on Safe Building.

BERGEN, CHRISTOPHER AUGUSTUS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1841, in Bridge Point, N. J. He was educated at Harlingen school, at Edge Hill classical school, and at Princeton college, graduating from the academic department in 1863; studied law, and was licensed by the supreme court of New Jersey as an attorney at law November, 1866, and as a counselor at law November, 1869. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican.

BERGEN, FANNY DICKERSON, educator, author, was born Feb. 4, 1846, in Mansfield, Ohio. Mrs. Bergen has dramatized Longfellow's poem of Miles Standish (Boston, 1883). She is a regular contributor to the American Teacher and the Journal of Education, and has written for other periodicals.

BERGEN, JOHN T., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1833.

BERGEN, JOSEPH YOUNG, educator, author, was born Feb. 22, 1851, in Red Beach, Maine. He became professor of natural sciences in Lombard university, becoming, in 1883, principal of the Peabody (Mass.) high school. He is a regular contributor to the Journal of Education, and has written for the Engineering and Mining Journal. He is joint author with his wife of The Development Theory: the Study of Evolution simplified for General Readers.

BERGEN, TEUNIS G., soldier, surveyor, horticulturist, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1806, in Gowanus, N. Y. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1846; was supervisor of the town of New Utrecht for twenty-three years; served in all the grades, from sergeant to colonel, in the state militia; was a member of the Charleston and Baltimore conventions of 1860; and was, in 1864, elected a representative from New York to the thirty-ninth congress.

BERGH, HENRY, philanthropist, author, was born May 8, 1823, in New York city, N. Y. He was a New York philanthropist who founded the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He was the author of The Streets of New York, a volume of sketches; Love's Alternative, a drama; and Married Off, a poem. He died March 12, 1888, in New York city.

BERGHMANN, CHARLES, musical director, was born in 1821 in Germany. For a time he was conductor of German opera, officiated as the musical head of the Arion singing society, and became alternate conductor of the Philharmonic. He died Aug. 10, 1876, in New York city.

BERGHOFF, JOHN T., physician, surgeon, inventor, was born Nov. 17, 1823, in Germany. After studying pharmacy he emigrated to the United States in 1846. In 1850 he opened a drug store in St. Louis, Mo.; studied medicine in the St. Louis medical college; and in 1860 continued the practice of his profession in St. Joseph, Mo. He served as a surgeon in the union army during the civil war. He held the position of professor of the principles and practice of surgery in the Northwestern medical college of St. Joseph, Mo., from 1879 until his death. He invented a universal apparatus or splint for the treatment of fracture of the leg, injuries and diseases of the hip, knee, and ankle joints. He delivered numerous papers before the Missouri state medical association, and other medical societies.

BERHOWITZ, HENRY, rabbi, founder, and chancellor, was born March 18, 1857, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is rabbi and founder of the Jewish Chautauqua society; and the author of Judaism and the Social Question; First and Second Hebrew Readers; Bible Ethics; Pulpit Message; and The Open Bible.

BERNARD, FRANCIS, colonial governor, was born in 1714 in England. He came to America in 1758 as governor of New Jersey, but in 1769 returned to England. He was the author of Select Letters on the Trade and Government of America; and Principles of Law and Policy Applied to the Government of the British Colonies in America. He died June 16, 1799.

BERNAYS, AUGUSTUS CHARLES, physician, author, was born Oct. 13, 1854, in Highland, Ill. In 1883 he became professor of anatomy in the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. Bernays is the author of two embryological monographs—one on the development of the valves of the heart, and one on the development of the knee-joint and joints in general; and also of a series of surgical papers, under the title of Chips from a Surgeon's Workshop.

BERNHARDT, WILHELM, educator, author, was born May 9, 1849, in Halle, Germany. Since 1881 he has been head of the German department in the Central high school of Washington, D. C.; and since 1892 director of German instruction in the high schools of that city. He is the author of a series of German text-books for schools and colleges, and during the summer lectures on German literature in the Amherst Summer School of Languages.

BERNHEIM, GOTTHARDT DELLMAN, clergyman, author, was born in 1827. He is a lutheran clergyman at Phillipsburg, N. J., and the author of The Success of God's Work; Localities of the Reformation; and History of the German Settlements in North and South Carolina.

BERNHISEL, JOHN M., physician, congressman, was born June 23, 1799, in Cumberland county, Pa. He graduated in the medical department of Pennsylvania university; and engaged in the practice of medicine. He was elected a delegate to the thirty-fifth congress from the territory of Utah; and re-elected to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses.

BERNON, GABRIEL. He was a French Huguenot, who resided in Providence, R. I. He founded the three first episcopal churches in America—one in Virginia, one in Newport, R. I., and St. John's church in Providence, R. I. History states that the first English prayer book in America was brought here and owned by Gabriel Bernon.

BERRIAN, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1787, in New York city. He was an episcopal clergyman who was rector of Trinity church, New York city, 1830-62. He was the author of Travels in France and Italy; Devotions for the Sick Room; On Communion; Enter thy Closet; The Sailors' Manual; Recollections of Departed Friends; Family and Private Prayers; and Historical Sketch of Trinity Church. He died Nov. 7, 1862, in New York city.

BERRIEN, JOHN McPHERSON, was born Aug. 23, 1781, in New Jersey. In 1809 he was elected solicitor-general of Georgia, and the next year judge of the eastern circuit. During the war of 1812 he had command of a regiment of volunteer cavalry; and served in the state legislature for several years. In 1824 he was elected to the United States senate, where he remained until 1829, when he took a seat in the cabinet of President Jackson as attorney-general. In 1840 he was again elected to the United States senate for six years. In 1845 he was elected one of the judges of the supreme court of Georgia; and in 1847 was once more elected to the United States senate, resigning his seat in May, 1852. He died Jan. 1, 1856, in Savannah, Ga.

BERRY, A. MOORE, lawyer, financier, was born Dec. 5, 1849, in Greenville, S. C. He was law reporter of the court of appeals for twelve years in St. Louis, and during his incumbency of that office he prepared and published twenty-eight volumes of Missouri Appeal Reports. He is president of the Southern Saving-Fund and Loan company.

BERRY, ABRAHAM J., physician, was born in 1799 in New York city. At the time of the desolation of New York by Asiatic cholera in 1832, he was among the few that remained at the post of duty. For more than a century a considerable part of Williamsburg, now Brooklyn, had belonged to his family. He identified himself with the interests of the place when it was made a city, and became its first mayor. He also assisted very materially in the establishment of the important ferries connecting with New York. In 1861 Dr. Berry, although over sixty years of age, went out as surgeon of the thirty-eighth New York infantry. He died Oct. 22, 1865, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BERRY, ALBERT SEATON, lawyer, congressman, was born in Campbell county, Ky. He was educated at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, and attended Cincinnati law school. He served two terms in the state senate and five terms as mayor of Newport. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BERRY, CAMPBELL P., was born Nov. 7, 1834, in Jackson county, Ala. He removed to Arkansas in 1841, and thence to California in 1857; and graduated at the Methodist college of Vacaville, Cal. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1869, 1871, 1875, and 1877, and the last term was speaker of the house. He was elected a representative from California to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

BERRY, JAMES H., soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, United States senator, was born May 15, 1841, in Jackson county, Ala. He removed to Arkansas in 1848; entered the confederate army in 1861 as second lieutenant sixteenth Arkansas infantry; and lost a leg at the battle of Corinth, Miss., Oct. 4, 1862. He was elected to the legislature of Arkansas in 1866; was re-elected in 1872; was elected speaker of the house at the extraordinary session of 1874; was president of the democratic state convention in 1876; and was elected judge of the circuit court in 1878. He was elected governor in 1882; was elected to the United States senate as a democrat, to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected in 1889 and 1895. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

BERRY, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born April 26, 1833, in Crawford county, Ohio. He was educated at the common schools, and the Ohio Wesleyan university; and graduated at the law school of Cincinnati college. He was admitted to the bar in 1857; practiced his profession at Upper Sandusky; was prosecuting attorney of Wyandot county in 1862, and again in 1864; and was elected to the forty-third congress as a democrat.

BERRY, LUCIEN W., college president, was born in 1815, in Alburg, Vt. At the age of thirty-four he was elected president of Indiana Asbury (DePauw) university for six years; resigned in 1855, and accepted the presidency of the Iowa Wesleyan university. After three years here he resigned and entered into the project of founding a methodist college at Jefferson City, Mo. He died July 23, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BERRY, NATHANIEL S., statesman. He was governor of New Hampshire for two years, from 1861 to 1863, taking an active interest in raising troops for the war of the rebellion.

BERRY, ORVILLE E., lawyer, state senator, was born Feb. 16, 1852, in McDonough county, Ill. In 1883 he was elected mayor of Carthage, and was twice re-elected without opposition. He was secretary of the Hancock county agricultural board for four years. He has served with distinction as a member of the Illinois state senate, and is a noted parliamentarian.

BERRY, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, railroad manager, was born Feb. 2, 1844, in Biddeford, Maine. He is the second vice-president in charge of traffic of the Boston and Maine railroad. For thirty-five years he has been engaged in railroad work, commencing as freight clerk and working his way through all grades to his present position.

BERTRAM, GEORGE WEBB, lawyer, jurist, was born March 21, 1847, in Salem, Mass. He attended the common schools and the agricultural college of Manhattan, Kan. He served as a union soldier during the civil war in company B, eighteenth regiment Kansas cavalry. For two years he was attorney for Mitchell county, Kan.; and during 1890-94 was judge of the seventeenth judicial district court of Kansas. He is a prominent member of the G. A. R., Knights Templars, and other fraternal bodies.

BERWALD, WILLIAM HENRY, musician, was born Dec. 26, 1864, in Germany. He was conductor of orchestra and chorus for two years in Russia, after which, in 1892, he came to America and entered the Syracuse university as instructor upon the piano and professor in the history of theory of music. In 1893 he was made full professor.

BESHOAR, MICHAEL, physician, legislator, journalist, was born Feb. 25, 1833, near Millintown, Pa. He attended the Tuscarora academy, Philadelphia and Jefferson medical colleges, medical departments of the universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan, graduating from the latter institution in 1853. He was a representative in the legislatures of Arkansas, and the territory (and later the state) of Colorado. He was surgeon in the Arkansas state militia, surgeon of the provisional (and later the regular army) of the confederacy; and filled numerous other public offices as a physician. He was county judge for seven years; county superintendent of schools for two terms; founder and editor of the Pueblo Chieftain in 1868; founder and present editor and owner of the Daily Advertiser of Trinidad, Colo. He has been a member of the Pan-American medical congress.

BESSEY, CHARLES EDWIN, botanist, author, was born May 21, 1845, in Milton, Ohio. He is a botanical professor in the university of Nebraska, and the author of Geography of Iowa; Botany for High Schools and Colleges; and The Essentials of Botany.

BESSON, SAMUEL AUSTIN, lawyer, was born April 6, 1853, in Everittstown, N. J. In 1882 he was appointed corporation counsel of the city of Hoboken; and in 1889 was chosen president of the Hudson county bar association.

BESSONIES, MONSIGNOR JOHN FRANCIS AUGUST DE, V. G. R. P., priest, was born June 17, 1815, in France. In 1840 he was ordained a priest at Vincennes, Ind. He has been pastor at Leopold, Ind.; of Fort Wayne, Ind.; and Jefferson, Ind.; and of St. John's, Indianapolis, Ind. He was appointed vicar-general of the diocese of Vincennes in 1872; was nominated Roman prelate in 1884; and elected administrator of the diocese of Vincennes in 1887.

BEST, EVA, author, poet, was born Dec. 19, 1851, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is the author of several dramas entitled An American Princess; Sands of Egypt; A Rhine Crystal; and is the author of numerous short stories and poems.

BEST, PHILIP, brewer, was born Sept. 26, 1814, in Germany. He located in Milwaukee, and, together with his father and three brothers, he established the famous brewery of Philip Best and Co. He was for many years major-general of the Wisconsin state militia. He died in 1869 in Bavaria.

BEST, SUSIE MONTGOMERY, educator, poet, was born in Ireland. She is the author of nearly two thousand poems; and a volume in verse entitled The Fallen Pillar Saint.

BETHUNE, GEORGE WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born in March, 1805, in New York. He was a Dutch reformed clergyman of Brooklyn of considerable note as a preacher. He was the author of Orations and Discourses; Fruits of the Spirit; History of a Penitent; and Lays of Love and Faith, a volume of verse, are some of his works. He was an ardent fisherman, and edited Walton's Complete Angler. He died April 27, 1862, in Florence, Italy.

BETHUNE, LAUGHLIN, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was for several years a senator in the state legislature, and from 1831 to 1833 a representative in congress from Cumberland county, N. C.

BETHUNE, THOMAS GREEN, musician, was born May 25, 1849, near Columbus, Ga. He was blind from birth, and known as Blind Tom. He was born a slave. At the age of five he was familiar with the piano. He made his first public appearance in 1858, and made successful tours of the United States and Europe.

BETTON, SILAS, congressman, was born in 1764. He graduated at Dartmouth college in 1787, was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1803 to 1807; and held the office of sheriff of Rockingham county for several years. He died in 1822 in Salem, N. H.

BETTS, B. FRANK, educator, was born Dec. 1, 1845, in Warminster, Pa. He has held a professorship in the Hahnemann Medical college of Philadelphia since 1873. He is consulting gynecologist to the Homœopathic hospital of Wilmington, Del., and to the out-patient department of the Children's Homœopathic hospital of Philadelphia.

BETTS, BEVERLEY ROBINSON, clergyman, journalist, author, was born August, 1827, in New York city, N. Y. He was successively rector of several churches until 1865, when he was appointed librarian of Columbia. Of the large library of that college he prepared a full catalogue. He has been a frequent contributor to the church journals, and for many years one of the editors of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record.

BETTS, CRAVEN LANGSTROTH, author, poet, was born in 1853 in New Brunswick. He was the author of Songs from Béranger; The Perfume Holder; A Persian Love Poem; and co-author with A. W. H. Eaton of Tales of a Garrison Town.

BETTS, FREDERIC HENRY, lawyer, author, was born March 8, 1843, in Newburg, N. Y. In 1872 he was chosen consul for the New York state insurance department; in 1873 was lecturer on patent law in the law department of the Yale university; and in 1879 published a pamphlet on Policy of Patent Law. He is the author of a work entitled The Life of Joseph Henry.

BETTS, FREDERICK, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 15, 1859, in Hillsdale county, Mich. He received the degree of B. A. from the University of Michigan; and has attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of the west of Pueblo, Colo. During 1888-92 he served with distinction as state senator in the Colorado legislature.

BETTS, SAMUEL ROSSITER, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 8, 1787, in Richmond, Mass. He took part in the war of 1812, and was appointed judge advocate. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1815 to 1817; in 1823 was appointed a circuit judge for the state; and in 1826 was appointed judge of the United States district court for the southern district of New York, which office he continued to hold until May, 1867. He was the author of Admiralty Practice. He died Oct. 3, 1868, in New Haven, Conn.

BETTS, THADDEUS, United States senator, was born in Norwalk, Conn. He was at one time lieutenant-governor of Connecticut, and was an influential member of the United States senate from 1839 to the date of his death. He died April 8, 1840, in Washington, D. C.

BETZ, JOHN FREDERICK, brewer, was born April 8, 1831, in Germany. His properties are the Riverside Mansion, Lyceum theater, Grand opera house, and the huge Betz building on South Broad street; and he is also connected with the Germania Brewing company, of Philadelphia, Pa.

BEVAN, PHILIP, poet. He is a successful writer of Martinsburg, Ind.; and the author of Woman Lost and Gained; and Songs of the War for the Union.

BEVERIDGE, JOHN, educator, poet, was born in Scotland. In 1752 he came to Boston and six years later removed to Philadelphia to accept the chair of languages in the college and academy, which was the real nucleus of the present university of Pennsylvania. In 1765 he published a collection of Latin poems.

BEVERIDGE, JOHN L., lawyer, governor, was born July 6, 1824, in Greenwich, N. Y. From 1846 to 1851 he taught school in Tennessee and read law; he practiced in Chicago; he served four years in the union army as major and colonel of cavalry; and was sheriff of Cook county, Ill., two years; he was elected state senator in 1870; and was elected to fill a vacancy in the forty-second congress; he was elected governor of Illinois in 1873 for the term of four years.

BEVERLEY, ROBERT, author, was born about 1675 in Virginia. He was a writer whose one work a History of the Present State of Virginia, 1705, is full of life and vigor; in it occurs the phrase "the almighty power of gold," which anticipates Irving's "almighty dollar." He died in 1716.

BEVINS, PHILIP DENISON, educator, journalist, was born Feb. 3, 1862, in Pike county, Ky. He received a thorough education and graduated from the State College of Lexington, Ky. He has attained success in educational work; has been county teachers' examiner; and during 1894-97 was superintendent of schools of Pike county, Ky. He was one of the organizers of the first teachers' associations in his county; and has been instrumental in the enactment of better educational laws in the Kentucky state legislature.

BEVIS, MRS. S. HAZLETT, journalist, author, poet, was born July 17, 1846, in Zanesville, Ohio. As a journalist, she has attained fame in Cincinnati, Ohio, where she organized the Woman's Press club; and was its first president. She has published a volume of poems; and is the author of biographical and other works.

BEUTGEN, PETER JOHN, missionary, author, was born Oct. 7, 1861, in Tecumseh, Canada. He graduated from the normal school in Canada; studied law and was admitted to the bar in the United States in 1886. He afterward studied theology at the Louvin university, Belgium; and was ordained priest. He became a missionary in Oregon and Texas; built the most westerly church in the United States at Cape Blanco, and two other churches in Oregon. He built the Ursulian convent in Laredo, and St. Peter's church in the same place. He was the first professor of Mt. Angel college, Oregon; and the founder of the school for boys in Laredo, Texas. He is a great linguist; and speaks seven languages. He is the author of Our Lady of Guadalupe; and has contributed extensively to current periodicals.

BIBB, GEORGE M., lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born in 1772, in Virginia. He was a justice, and twice chief justice of the court of appeals of Kentucky; was in the state senate two years; held the position of chancellor of the court of chancery; was secretary of the treasury under President Tyler; and afterward practiced his profession in the city of Washington; and acted as an assistant in the office of the attorney-general of the United States. He was a United States senator from 1811 to 1814, and again from 1829 to 1835. He died April 14, 1859, in Georgetown, D. C.

BIBB, THOMAS, governor, was a kinsman of W. W. Bibb, whom he succeeded as governor of Alabama in 1820.

BIBB, WILLIAM WYATT, governor, United States senator, was born Oct. 1, 1780, in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1806 to 1814; and a senator in congress from 1813 to 1816. In 1817 he was appointed governor of the territory of Alabama; and was elected first governor under the constitution of that state in 1819. He died July 9, 1820, in Fort Jackson, Ala.

BIBIGHAUS, THOMAS M., congressman, was born in 1816, in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to the time of his death. He died June 18, 1853, in Lebanon, Pa.

BIBLE, GEORGE POTTER, educator, lecturer, was born Feb. 26, 1858, in Bellefonte, Pa. He is known in his state as one of the most gifted institute instructors, having lectured in nearly every institute in the state. In Ohio, Delaware and Indiana, he has also been much in demand. He was professor of literature and elocution in the normal schools of Lock Haven and Indiana, Pa.; and for fifteen years past has been lecturer and instructor in the institutes of Pennsylvania. He is now organizer and principal of the state normal school of East Stroudsburg, Pa. For three years he was editor of the Bellefonte Central Democrat; and has written extensively for the educational papers of the east.

BICKER, WALTER, soldier, was born Feb. 29, 1796, in New York city. He served in the war of 1812; and at the time of his death was its last surviving officer. He died June 3, 1886, in Far Rockaway, L. I.

BICKFORD, LEVI F., clergyman, poet, was born January 9, 1840, in Hartford, Ind. He is a successful congregational clergyman of Brownwood, Texas; and fills the chair of mathematics and metaphysics in the Daniel Baker college of that city.

BICKMORE, ALBERT SMITH, ethnologist, author, was born March 1, 1839, in St. George, Maine. He is an ethnologist; and since 1885 has been the curator of the American Museum of Natural History in New York city. He is the author of Travels in the East Indian Archipelago; The Alnos or Hairy Men of Jesso, Saghalien, etc.; and Sketch of a Journey from Canton to Hankow.

BICKNELL, ALBION HARRIS, artist, was born March 18, 1837, in Turner, Maine. He began the study of art at an early age, and was a pupil of Thomas Couture and L'Ecole des Beaux-Arts, Paris, France. He has painted portraits of a great number of distinguished public men. His historical paintings—Lincoln at Gettysburg; and the Battle of Lexington—have a national reputation, and are among the most important and meritorious paintings yet produced by an American artist.

BICKNELL, BENNET, state senator, congressman, was born in Mansfield, Conn. He served in the assembly of the state in 1812; was a state senator from 1815 to 1818; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1837 to 1839. He died in 1863, in Morrisville, Madison county.

BICKNELL, GEORGE AUGUSTUS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He was judge of the second judicial circuit of the state of Indiana in 1852, holding this position by successive re-elections for twenty-four years. From 1861 to 1870 he was professor of law at the university of Indiana. He was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses.

BICKNELL, THOMAS WILLIAMS, educator, journalist, author, was born Sept. 6, 1834, in Barrington, R. I. He has been very active in educational journalism, and during the years 1874-86 he founded, edited, and owned The Journal of Education; The Primary Teacher; The American Teacher; Education, a bi-monthly magazine; and Good Times. The New England Bureau of Education and the National Council of Education were organized by him. He has published Biography of William Lord Noyes; Historical Sketches of Barrington, R. I.; Reports of the Commissioner of Public Schools; and History of the Bicknell Family.

BIDDLE, ANDREW PORTER, physician, dermatologist, was born Feb. 25, 1862, in Detroit, Mich. He studied in Geneva, Heidelberg and Leipzig; and in 1892 was appointed lecturer on dermatology in the Detroit college of medicine. He has been assistant dermatologist to the St. Mary's hospital clinics; and dermatologist to the Children's Free hospital clinics. During President Cleveland's second administration he was United States pension examining surgeon. He has taken great interest in military organizations; and is captain and assistant surgeon of the fourth regiment infantry Michigan national guard. Dr. Biddle is a prominent member of various medical associations and other societies.

BIDDLE, ANTHONY JOSEPH DREXEL, journalist, author, was born in 1874, in Pennsylvania. He is a journalist and publisher of Philadelphia; and the author of A Dual Role, and Other Stories; An Allegory and Three Essays; The Madeira Islands; and The Froggy Fairy Book.

BIDDLE, CHARLES JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born in 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. In the war with Mexico he was brevetted a major for gallant and meritorious services. In 1861 he was appointed a colonel in the Pennsylvania reserve volunteer corps; and while in the field in Virginia was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-seventh congress, to fill a vacancy. He was a son of Nicholas Biddle. He was a successful journalist; and the author of The Case of Major Andre. He died sept. 28, 1873, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIDDLE, CLEMENT CORNELL, soldier, was born Oct. 24, 1784, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1812 he raised a company of volunteers—the State Fencibles—was elected its captain, and subsequently was colonel of the first Pennsylvania infantry. At the conclusion of hostilities he devoted himself to the study of political economy; and annotated an edition of Say's treatise on that science. He died Aug. 21, 1851.

BIDDLE, EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, statesman, was born in 1739. He was an officer in the French war from 1756 to 1763; became eminent as a lawyer in Reading, Pa.; and was a member of the assembly, and speaker. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1775; and was one of the prominent advocates of independence. He died Sept. 5, 1779, in Baltimore, Md.

BIDDLE, HORACE P., lawyer, jurist, author, poet, was born March 24, 1818, in Hocking county, Ohio. In his boyhood he received an elementary English education, and afterward acquired a knowledge of Latin, German, French, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, and several eastern languages. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, and in 1838 opened an office in Logansport, Ind.; rose to the first rank in his profession, and received the highest judicial honors of the state. He was a member of the constitutional convention, which formed the present constitution of the state. He is the author of several books; in science—The Musical Scale; in philosophy—Elements of Knowledge; in poetry—A Few Poems; Biddle's Poems; American Boyhood; and a Glance at the World; and a volume entitled Prose Miscellany. In childhood Mr. Biddle showed an intense love of music, and thirty years after the publication of his scientific work, entitled The Musical Scale, his theory was proved to be true by demonstrative evidence. He still resides in his Island Home on an island in the Wabash river near Logansport, Ind.

BIDDLE, JACOB ALBERT, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 24, 1845, in Rochester, Ohio. He has held the position of president of the Philomath college, of Oregon; and has filled pastorates in Milford and South Norwalk, Conn. He is the author of Social Regeneration.

BIDDLE, JAMES, soldier, was born Feb. 28, 1783, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1845 he was United States commissioner to ratify a treaty with China; visited Japan in the Columbus; commanded the squadron on the west coast of Mexico during the war; and from 1838 to 1842 had charge of the naval asylum on the Schuylkill. He died Oct. 1, 1848, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIDDLE, JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born March 9, 1789, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an officer in the war of 1812, acquitting himself with bravery; held the position of paymaster in the army; and also that of Indian agent. He was a delegate to congress from the territory of Michigan from 1829 to 1831, when he was appointed register of the land office at Detroit, Mich. He died Aug. 25, 1859, at White Sulphur Springs, Va.

BIDDLE, NICHOLAS, naval officer, was born Sept. 10, 1750, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1775 congress passed a resolution appointing nineteen naval officers, of whom five were captains. Nicholas Biddle, one of these, was assigned to the Andrea Doria, an armed brig. He died March 7, 1778.

BIDDLE, NICHOLAS, state senator, financier, was born Jan. 8, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a financier of Philadelphia famous in political history as the president of the United States bank. He was a member of the Pennsylvania legislature in 1810-11; and of the state senate in 1814. He was the author of A Commercial Digest; and History of the Expedition under Lewis and Clark to the Missouri River. He died Feb. 27, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

the Missouri River. He died Feb. 27, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIDDLE, RICHARD, lawyer, congressman, author, was born March 25, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa., and was a brother of Nicholas Biddle. He served during the war of 1812, in the protection of Philadelphia. He became a leader of the Pittsburgh bar; and was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1837 to 1841. While in England he published an expose of Captain Basil Hall's Travels in America; and his Life of Sebastian Cabot brought to light new and important facts in the discovery of America. He died July 7, 1847, in Pittsburg, Pa.

BIDDLE, THOMAS, soldier, was born Nov. 21, 1790, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1814 he was brevetted major, and in December became aide to General Izard. In 1820 he was paymaster. He met his death at the hands of Spencer Pettis in a duel. In consequence of Major Biddle's defective eyesight, the distance was made five feet, and both men were mortally wounded at the first fire. He died Aug. 29, 1831, in St. Louis, Mo.

BIDLACK, BENJAMIN A., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1841 to 1845. He died Feb. 29, 1849, in New Grenada.

BIDWELL, BARNABAS, lawyer, congressman. From 1801 to 1805 he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature; was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1805 to 1807; and attorney-general for the state from 1807 to 1810. He died in 1833.

BIDWELL, DANIEL D., soldier, was born about 1816 in Buffalo, N. Y. Colonel Bidwell took a prominent part in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, commanded a brigade at Gettysburg, and when General Grant took command of the armies in Virginia was again placed in charge of a brigade, participating in the overland campaign. He was commissioned brigadier-general in July, 1864, and served with honor in the Shenandoah campaigns during the summer preceding the action at Cedar Creek, where he lost his life. He died Oct. 19, 1864, near Cedar Creek, Va.

BIDWELL, JOHN, soldier, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 5, 1819, in Chautauqua county, N. Y. He served in the war with Mexico until its close, rising from second lieutenant to major. He was the first man to find gold on Feather river, in 1848. In 1849 he was a member of the state constitutional convention, and during the same year was elected to the senate of the new state. He was a brigadier-general of militia during the civil war, and in 1864 was elected a representative from California to the thirty-ninth congress; and in 1875 was a candidate for governor of California.

BIDWELL, MARSHAL S., lawyer, banker, was born 1798 in New England. He was at the time of his death president of the oldest savings bank in New York city, a director in the American Bible society, and a prominent member of the historical society, before which he delivered an address a short time before his death. He died Oct. 24, 1872, in New York city.

BIDWELL, WALTER HILLIARD, clergyman, journalist, was born June 21, 1798, in Farmington, Conn. In 1841 he began a long editorial career, conducting the American National Preacher for about nineteen years. He also edited the New York Evangelist from 1843 till 1855, and in 1846 became proprietor of the Eclectic Magazine and the American Biblical Repository. He became publisher and proprietor of the American Theological Review in 1860, and kept it till 1862, when it was incorporated with the Presbyterian Quarterly Review. He died in November, 1881.

BIENVILLE, JEAN BAPTIST, colonial governor, was born Feb. 24, 1680, in Montreal, Canada. He was the founder of New Orleans; and French governor of Louisiana. He died in 1765 in France.

BIERER, ANDREW GREGG CURTIN, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 24, 1862, in Uniontown, Pa. He has attained success in the legal profession; has been city attorney of Garden City, Kan.; city attorney of Guthrie, Oklahoma; and in 1893 was appointed by President Cleveland associate justice of the supreme court of Oklahoma Territory.

BIERER, EVERARD, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 9, 1827, in Uniontown, Pa. Since 1848 he has been principally engaged in the practice of law, and for three years was district attorney of his county. He served as a union soldier during the civil war; was captain of company F, eleventh regiment Pennsylvania volunteer reserve corps, from April 23, 1861, to Nov. 18, 1862; and colonel of the 171st regiment Pennsylvania volunteers from Nov. 18, 1862, to Sept. 28, 1863; and in the reserve corps as captain until March 16, 1864. He was a Lincoln presidential elector in 1864; and in 1867-68 was a representative from Brown county in the Kansas state legislature. Mr. Bierer is a prominent member of the Masonic order Grand Army of the Republic, and other fraternal bodies.

BIERMAN, E. BENJAMIN, educator, college president, was born Dec. 1, 1839, near Reading, Pa. He received his education in the Reading classical academy and the university of Pennsylvania.

During 1867-81 he was professor of mathematics in Lebanon valley college; and since 1890 has been president of that institution of learning. He has contributed valuable articles and essays on educational topics, which have appeared in the periodical press and several standard works.

BIERNE, ANDREW, congressman, was born in Ireland. He served as a representative in congress from Virginia from 1837 to 1841.

BIERSTADT, ALBERT, landscape painter, was born Jan. 7, 1830, in Germany. Among his most celebrated works are Rocky Mountains; Looking Down the Yosemite; Storm in the Rocky Mountains; Valley of the Yosemite; Sunlight and Shadow; Emerald Pool; Great Trees of California; Landing of Columbus; and Last of the Buffalo. He has received numerous honors and medals.

BIERY, JAMES S., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born March 2, 1839, in Venango county, Pa. He received an academic education; taught school several years; studied theology and law; and was admitted to the bar in 1868. In 1869 he was a candidate for the legislature, running ahead of his ticket. He was elected to the forty-third congress, serving on the committee on mileage.

He was an able speaker; and took an active part in all progressive measures. He is a successful lawyer of Allentown, Pa.; and one of the foremost jurists of his state.

BIGBY, JOHN SUMMERFIELD, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 13, 1832, in Coweta county, Ga. He graduated from Emory college, Georgia, in 1853; studied and practiced law; and was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1867-1868. He was solicitor-general of the Tallapoosa circuit in 1868; was judge of its superior court until 1871; and was elected to the forty-second congress.

BIGELOW, ABIJAH, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1775, in Westminster, Mass. He was a member of the general court of Massachusetts; and was a representative in congress from 1810 to 1815. In 1838 he was appointed a master in chancery for Worcester county; and held the office of justice of the peace for about fifty years. He died April 4, 1860.

BIGELOW, ANSON A., lumberman, was born Nov. 7, 1833, in Easton, N. Y. The firm of A. A. Bigelow and Co. now own a large area of pine forest near Washburn in Bayfield county, Wis., and have built capacious mills there.

BIGELOW, ASA, merchant, was born Jan. 18, 1779, in Marlborough, Conn. He was engaged in a general shipping and commission business in Saugerties, N. Y., in which he was very prosperous. Subsequently he removed to Bristol, N. Y., and continued in the same business. He died Feb. 12, 1850.

BIGELOW, EDGAR ALTON, educator, farmer, business man, legislator, was born March 8, 1863, in Zumbrota, Minn. After receiving his education he taught school for several years. He has filled numerous public offices of trust in his native county, and has been president of the Zumbrota Farmers' Mercantile and Elevator company since its inception. In 1896 he was elected republican representative to the Minnesota state legislature; and in 1897 was elected president of the Minnesota Farmers' Elevator association.

BIGELOW, MRS. EDITH EVELYN, author, was born in 1861 in New York. She is the wife of P. Bigelow, and the author of Diplomatic Disenchantments, a novel.

BIGELOW, ERASTUS BRIGHAM, manufacturer, was born April 2, 1814, in West Boylston, Mass. He was a noted New England inventor of carpet looms, and the author of The Tariff Question considered in regard to the Policy of England and the Interest of the United States; and The Tariff Policy of England and the United States Contrasted. He died Dec. 6, 1879, in Boston, Mass.

BIGELOW, FRANK GORDON, banker, was born Sept. 28, 1847, in Hartford, N. Y. This successful business man and financier has been trustee of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company; receiver of the Northern Pacific Railroad company; and is the honored president of the First national bank of Milwaukee, Wis.

BIGELOW, HENRY JACOB, physician, was born March 11, 1818, in Boston, Mass. He became professor of surgery in the medical school of Harvard university in 1849; continuing to hold the chair of surgery until 1884. In 1846 he was appointed surgeon to the Massachusetts general hospital, a position which he resigned in 1886. He died Oct. 30, 1890, in Newton Creek, Mass.

BIGELOW, HOBERT B., statesman. He was governor of Connecticut from 1881 to 1883.

BIGELOW, HORACE RANSOM, lawyer, was born March 13, 1820, in Water-vliet, N. Y. He was attorney for the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway Co.; and for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company. He was one of the commissioners in the construction of the county courthouse of St. Paul, and was for many years a director of the First national bank. He died Nov. 14, 1894, in St. Paul, Minn.

BIGELOW, JACOB, physician, author, was born Feb. 27, 1787, in Sudbury, Mass. He was a famous physician of Boston who established Mount Auburn cemetery. He was the author of History of Mount Auburn; A Brief Exposition of Rational Medicine; Modern Inquiries, classical, professional, and miscellaneous; Remarks on Classical and Utilitarian Studies; American Medical Botany; and Nature in Disease. He died Jan. 10, 1879, in Boston, Mass.

BIGELOW, JOHN, journalist, author, was born in 1817 in New York. He is a prominent New York journalist, at one time United States minister to France, and in 1875 was elected secretary of the state of New York. He is the author of Life of Benjamin Franklin; Life of William Cullen Bryant; Life of Samuel Tilden; Jamaica in 1850; Les Etats Unis d'Amerique en 1863; Some Recollections of Antoine Pierre Berryer; France and Hereditary Monarchy; Wit and Wisdom of the Haytiens; Molinos the Quietist; France and the Confederate Navy; An International Episode; and The Mystery of Sleep. He has edited complete editions of the works of Franklin and Tilden.

BIGELOW, JOHN, soldier, author, was born in 1854 in New York, and is a son of John Bigelow. He is a United States cavalry officer, and the author of The Principles of Strategy, illustrated chiefly from American campaigns.

BIGELOW, JOHN MILTON, physician, was born Aug. 22, 1847, in Albany, N. Y. He has lectured at Albany college since 1869, and has been attending physician to Albany hospital and to St. Peter's hospital for throat and nose diseases; and also to the Old Men's Home.

BIGELOW, JONATHAN GORDON, soldier, lawyer, was born July 16, 1839, in St. Albans, Maine. He received his education in the St. Albans and Bloomfield academies, and in 1863 graduated from Amherst college. During 1861-65 he was a commissioned officer in the federal army in the civil war. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar of the supreme judicial court of Maine, and since that time has practiced his profession in the District of Columbia.

BIGELOW, LETTIE SALINA, reformer, editor, poet, was born in 1849, in Pelham, Mass. She is the state superintendent of franchise for the Massachusetts Woman's Christian Temperance union; a successful lecturer and editor of Holyoke, Mass.; and the author of a volume of poems.

BIGELOW, LEWIS, congressman, author, was born in 1783 in Petersham, Mass. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1821 to 1823; and was the author of the Digest of the First Twelve Volumes of Massachusetts Reports. He died Oct. 3, 1838, in Peoria, Ill.

BIGELOW, MELVILLE MADISON, lawyer, author, poet, was born Aug. 2, 1846, in Eaton Rapids, Mich. He is a lawyer and law lecturer of Boston, and the author of The Law of Bills; English Procedure in the Norman Period; The Law of Fraud; Elements of Equity; Elements of the Law of Torts; Placita Anglo-Normannica: Law Cases from William I. to Richard I.; Law of Wills, Notes and Cheques; The Law of Fraud on its Civil Side; The Law of Estoppel and its Application to Practice; and Leading Cases in the Law of Torts. He has also edited the 8th edition of Story's Conflict of Laws, and published a volume of poems entitled Rhymes of a Barrister.

BIGELOW, POULTNEY, author, was born in 1855, in New York, and is a son of John Bigelow. He is the author of The German Emperor and his Eastern Neighbors; The Borderland of Czar and Kaiser; History of the German Struggle for Liberty; and White Man's Africa.

BIGELOW, ROBERT PAYNE, zoologist, was born July 10, 1863, in Baldwinville, N. Y. He received the degree of S. B. from Harvard, and the degree of Ph.D. from the Johns Hopkins university. Since 1893 he has been instructor of biology in the Massachusetts institute of technology of Boston; and its librarian since 1895. In 1897 he became editor of the American Naturalist.

BIGELOW, TIMOTHY, soldier, was born Aug. 12, 1739, in Worcester, Mass. Hearing of the battle of Lexington, he led a company of minutemen to Cambridge. He was also at Valley Forge, West Point, Monmouth, and Yorktown. After the war Colonel Bigelow had charge of the arsenal at Springfield. He was one of the original grantees of Montpelier and a benefactor of the Leicester, Mass., academy. He died March 31, 1790, in Worcester, Mass.

BIGELOW, TIMOTHY, lawyer, legislator, was born April 30, 1767, in Worcester, Mass. He was an active federalist; was elected to the Connecticut legislature in 1790, and served there twenty years, eleven years of the time as speaker of the house. He was also a member of the Hartford convention in 1814.

BIGGER, SAMUEL, lawyer, legislator, jurist, governor, was born about 1800 in Warren county, Ohio. He was a representative in the Indiana state legislature in 1834 and 1835, and afterwards judge of the circuit court. He was governor of Indiana from 1840 to 1843. The Indiana hospital was established by his influence. He died in 1845 in Fort Wayne, Ind.

BIGGS, ASA, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Feb. 4, 1811, in Williamstown, N. C. In 1835 he was elected a member of the constitutional convention of that state; in 1840, 1842, and 1844 was elected to the state legislature; and was chosen a member of the twenty-ninth congress. In 1854 he went a second time into the state senate; and was elected a senator in congress in 1854 for six years. In 1858 he became judge of the United States district court of North Carolina. He died March 6, 1878, in Norfolk, Va.

BIGGS, BENJAMIN T., farmer, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1821, in Summit Bridge, Del. In 1847 he turned his attention to farming; was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1852; subsequently took an interest in railroad operations, and was elected director in a Maryland company. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Delaware to the forty-first congress.

BIGGS, MARION, farmer, congressman, was born May 2, 1823, in Pike county, Mo. He is a farmer by profession, and was elected sheriff of Monroe county, Mo., in 1852, and re-elected in 1854. He was elected to the California legislature in 1867, and in 1869. He was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a democrat.

BIGGS, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, was born June 23, 1786, in New Milford, Conn. He was pastor of the First church of New Haven from 1812 to 1822; and from 1822 was Dwight professor of didactic theology at Yale. He died March 10, 1853, in New Haven, Conn.

BIGLER, DAVID, Moravian bishop, was born Dec. 26, 1806, in Hagerstown, Mass. He was a missionary in the West Indies in 1831-36, and then pastor in Philadelphia, in New York, and at Bethlehem, Pa., until made a bishop in 1864. He died July 2, 1875, in Lancaster, Pa.

BIGLER, JOHN, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born Jan. 8, 1804, in Cumberland county, Pa. He moved to California in 1849, and was twice speaker of the assembly and governor of California in 1852-56. He died Nov. 30, 1871, in Sacramento, Cal.

BIGLER, WILLIAM, journalist, governor, United States senator, was born December, 1814, in Shermansburg, Pa. In 1841 he was elected to the state convention; was a member of the state senate up to 1847, and part of the time speaker. In 1851 he was elected governor of Pennsylvania; and subsequently became president of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad company. In 1855 he was elected a senator in congress for six years. He died Aug. 9, 1880, in Clearfield, Pa.

BIGLOW, WILLIAM, educator, author, was born Sept. 22, 1773, in Natick, Mass. He was an educator of Boston, and the author of History of Natick; History of Sherburne; The Youth's Library; and Introduction to the Making of Latin. He died Jan. 12, 1844, in Boston, Mass.

BIGNEY, MARK FREDERICK, journalist, author, was born in 1817, in Nova Scotia. In 1865 he became managing editor of the New Orleans Times. In 1867 he was one of the founders of the New Orleans City Item. His only published work is a volume of poems.

BIGNOLD, LEWIS BRUCE, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 4, 1851, in England. In 1873 he emigrated to the United States; for ten years resided in Nebraska, and since 1883 has practiced law in Montesano, Wash. In 1885 he was mayor of his city; during 1885-87 was city attorney; and has since taken an active part in public affairs. In 1879 he was a member of the first state republican convention held at Walla Walla.

BIGNON, FLEMING GRANTLAND DU, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 25, 1853, in Milledgeville, Ga. From 1877-79 he was county judge of Baldwin county, Ga.; in 1880 a member of the state legislature; and in 1882 was a member of the Georgia state senate.

BIGOT, WILLIAM VALENTINE, clergyman, was born Dec. 4, 1838, in Germany. He came to the United States in 1847, and was placed in charge of the large congregation of St. Michael's Lorraine of Berlin, Ohio. He built the St. Michael's church, which is admired for its beauty, solidity and minor equipment.

BIKLE, PHILIP M., educator, editor, was born Dec. 1, 1844, in Smithsburg, Md. Since 1880 he has been editor of the Lutheran Quarterly; since 1874 has been professor in the Pennsylvania college; and dean since 1889.

BILL, BENEZET HOUGH, lawyer, jurist, banker, was born Feb. 26, 1829, in New Milford, Pa. He received his education in the academies of Worcester and Wilbraham, Mass.; and the Suffield literary institution, Connecticut. He graduated from the law school in 1854, and the same year was admitted to the bar, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Rockville, Conn. He was appointed state's attorney for Tolland county in 1869, and held that office for twenty-four years. He is now the present judge of the Rockville city court; corporation counsel for the city; and president of the savings bank of Rockville. Although Mr. Bill has devoted himself very closely to his profession, he has taken time to travel extensively on the American continent and in Europe.

BILL, BENEZET HOUGH, lawyer, jurist, banker, was born Feb. 26, 1829, in New Milford, Pa. He received his education in the academies of Worcester and Wilbraham, Mass.; and the Suffield literary institution, Connecticut. He graduated from the law school in 1854, and the same year was admitted to the bar, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Rockville, Conn. He was appointed state's attorney for Tolland county in 1869, and held that office for twenty-four years. He is now the present judge of the Rockville city court; corporation counsel for the city; and president of the savings bank of Rockville. Although Mr. Bill has devoted himself very closely to his profession, he has taken time to travel extensively on the American continent and in Europe.

BILL, LEDYARD, journalist, author, legislator, was born May 14, 1836, in Ledyard, Conn. After receiving his education he entered the publishing business in Louisville, Ky.; and subsequently continued the same business in New York. He resides in Paxton, Mass., except when serving in the legislature as a member of that body in Boston—having served one term in the house and two in the senate with the most honorable record. In his native city he has been a power. He started the free public library; it was at his sole expense that the soldiers' monument of his native town was erected; and his name is well and favorably known throughout the state. He is the author of A Winter in Florida; A Work on Minnesota; and A Genealogy of His Family, which is virtually a history of Paxton. He is an enthusiastic antiquarian, and discovered that the ancient bell in the village church of Paxton was made by Paul Revere. He is president of the Leicester Historical society, and a prominent member of several genealogical and historical societies.

BILLINGHURST, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born July 27, 1818, in Brighton, N. Y. He moved to Wisconsin in 1847, and was a member of the first legislature of that state in 1848. He was a presidential elector in 1852; was elected a representative to the thirty-fourth congress from Wisconsin, and was re-elected to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He died Aug. 18, 1865, in Juneau, Wis.

BILLINGS, ADONIRAM JUDSON, physician, surgeon, state legislator, was born Dec. 3, 1826, in Newport, Maine. In 1862 he was appointed surgeon of the nineteenth Maine volunteers; and in 1864 was appointed surgeon of enrollment. During 1862-68 he served with distinction as a member of the Maine state legislature. He is one of the foremost physicians of New England at Freedom, Maine.

BILLINGS, CHARLES EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1825 in South Carolina. He fought in the civil war, and rose to the rank of colonel of cavalry in the confederate army. He was attorney-general of Mississippi in 1865, and was re-elected in 1868. He served in congress from 1875 to 1883.

BILLINGS, EDWARD C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Massachusetts. He received a collegiate education; studied law, and engaged in practice, and later removed to Louisiana, settling at New Orleans. In 1876 he was appointed United States district judge for the eastern district of Louisiana.

BILLINGS, FREDERICK, lawyer, philanthropist, was born Sept. 27, 1823, in Royalton, Vt. His gifts to the university of Vermont amounted to $250,000; and he gave $50,000 to D. L. Moody's Mount Hermon school for boys, and $50,000 to Amherst college. He died Sept. 30, 1890, in Woodstock, Vt.

BILLINGS, GEORGE HERRICK, metallurgist, inventor, was born Feb. 8, 1845, in Taunton, Mass. Since 1862 his attention has been occupied with the study and practice of iron metallurgy and its chemistry. Of late he has been the general manager of the Norway Iron and Steel company in Boston. He has invented improved forms of machinery for the manufacture of iron and steel, principally appliances for drawing iron and steel bars for shafting and finishing rods.

BILLINGS, HAMMATT, architect, was born Nov. 14, 1784, in Boston, Mass. He lived in Boston for many years, and designed numerous churches and public buildings throughout the United States. The Pilgrims' monument at Plymouth, and the case of the great organ in Boston music hall were after his designs. He died Nov. 14, 1874, in Boston, Mass.

BILLINGS, JOHN SHAW, surgeon, author, was born in 1838 in Indiana. In 1894 he was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and deputy surgeon-general of the United States army. Upon the consolidation of the New York city libraries, he was made chief librarian. His chief work is a voluminous Index Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office. Others are Hygienics of the United States Army Barracks; Mortality and Vital Statistics of the United States Army.

BILLINGS, SIMEON R., farmer, civil engineer, state senator, was born March 17, 1835, in Orleans county, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and graduated from the Albion academy. In 1867 he moved to Michigan; has filled numerous offices of trust in Richfield; was county surveyor for six years; a member of the state legislature during 1875-78, and state senator during 1879-81. In 1893 he was appointed commissioner of railroads, and received the reappointment to the same office in 1895, serving four years.

BILLINGS, WILLIAM, composer, was born Oct. 7, 1746, in Boston, Mass. He was a zealous patriot, and during the revolution produced a number of patriotic pieces, including Lamentation Over Boston; Retrospect; Independence; and Columbia, as well as verses set to the air of Chester, which were popular in the camps of the revolutionary army. He died Sept. 26, 1800, in Boston, Mass.

BILLINGSLEY, AMOS STEVENS, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1818, near East Palestine, Ohio. In 1847 he graduated from the Jefferson college, Pennsylvania; and in 1850 from the Allegheny Theological seminary. He filled many important pastorates; was home missionary in Nebraska and Colorado; was chaplain in the army, and promoted to United States chaplain. He was president of the board of trustees of Biddle university. He was the author of Christianity in the War; Life of Reverend George Whitfield; Sources of Pulpit Power. He died Oct. 12, 1897, in Statesville, N. C.

BILLOW, GARRETT A., professor of dental pathology, was born Aug. 29, 1864, in Shelby, Ohio. For many years he was engaged in educational work, and is a graduate of the Ohio College of Dental Surgery. Since 1892 he has been professor of dental pathology, materia medica and therapeutics in the Ohio medical university of Columbus; and is prominent in various dental societies and contributes extensively to current literature on pathological subjects.

BINES, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1814 to 1815, and again from 1819 to 1820.

BINGHAM, CHARLES, clergyman, poet, was born June 16, 1828, in Geneseo, N. Y. He has been a clergyman since 1870, and now fills a pastorate in the First congregational church of Daytona, Fla.

BINGHAM, EDWARD FRANKLIN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Aug. 13, 1828, in Concord, Vt. He received his education in the select and public schools and Peacham academy in Vermont, and at Marietta college, Ohio. During 1850-55 he was prosecuting attorney of Vinton, Ohio; and served as a representative in the Ohio legislature in 1855-57. In 1860 he was a delegate to the democratic national convention of Charleston, S. C., and Baltimore by adjournment. For several years he was a member of the board of education of Columbus, Ohio; city solicitor during 1867-71; chairman of the democratic examining committee of Ohio in 1868, and as such conducted the campaign of that year. In 1873 he was elected common pleas and district court judge, was twice re-elected and served until 1887, when he was appointed by the president of the United States as chief justice of the supreme court, District of Columbia, in which office he is now serving. In 1881 he was the nominee of the democratic state convention of Ohio for supreme judge of that state.

BINGHAM, HARRY, lawyer, legislator, author, was born March 30, 1821, in Concord, Vt. He graduated in 1843 from Dartmouth college; and since 1846 has been engaged in the practice of law. During 1862-68, 1871-79, and also in 1881, 1889 and 1891 he was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives for Littleton, and during 1883-87 was a member of the state senate. In 1876 he was a member of the constitutional convention. He was a delegate to the republican national conventions of 1868, 1872, 1880, 1884 and 1892, and in all these conventions he was a member of the committee on resolutions. He is the author of a number of works on legal, biographical and general topics, and various addresses and articles on important subjects.

BINGHAM, HENRY H., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 4, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He entered the union army as a lieutenant in the one hundred and fortieth Pennsylvania volunteers; was wounded at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1863, at Spottsylvania, Va., in 1864, and at Farmville, Va., in 1865; and was mustered out of service July, 1866, as brevet brigadier-general of volunteers. He was appointed postmaster of Philadelphia in 1867; and was delegate at large to the republican national convention at Philadelphia in 1872, also delegate from the first congressional district to the republican national convention at Cincinnati in 1876, at Chicago in 1884 and 1888, at Minneapolis in 1892, and at St. Louis in 1896. He was elected to the forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BINGHAM, JENNIE M., author, was born March 16, 1859, in Fulton, N. Y. She is the author of two books entitled Annals of the Round Table; and All Glorious Within.

BINGHAM, JOEL FOOTE, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 11, 1827, in Andover, Conn. In 1867 he was pastor of the First parish church at Augusta, Maine; in 1871 had charge as rector of St. John's church of Portsmouth, N. H., and St. James church of New London, Conn. He is the author of Medieval Myth, Melody and Mirth; and Historic Cameos of Gaul, Celt and Saracen.

BINGHAM, JOHN A., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1815 in Pennsylvania. In 1854 he was elected a representative from Ohio in the thirty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first and forty-second congresses.

BINGHAM, JUDSON DAVID, soldier, was born May 16, 1831, in Massena Springs, N. Y. He took part in the suppression of John Brown's raid at Harper's Ferry in 1859. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general for faithful and meritorious services during the rebellion. After the war he was successively chief quartermaster of the department of the lakes, assistant quartermaster-general at Washington, being in charge of the bureau a part of the time, as commissioner to audit the Kansas war accounts, and as chief quartermaster with the rank of lieutenant-colonel at the headquarters of the division of the Pacific and the department of the Missouri, and from 1886, at Chicago, Ill., as chief quartermaster of the division of the Missouri.

BINGHAM, KINSLEY S., lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born Dec. 16, 1808, in Camillus, N. Y. He was elected to the Michigan legislature in 1835, and was five years a member of that body—three years as speaker. He was a representative in congress from Michigan from 1847 to 1851; was elected governor of Michigan in 1854 and 1856; and also held in other years the offices of postmaster, supervisor, prosecuting attorney, judge of probate, and brigadier-general of militia. In 1859 he was elected a senator in congress from Michigan, for six years. He died Oct. 5, 1861, in Oak Grove, Mich.

BINGHAM, WILLIAM, educator, author, was born in 1835 in North Carolina. In 1856 he graduated from the university of North Carolina and succeeded to the management of a classical school at Mebanesville, N. C., which had been conducted with success by his father and grandfather. He has published A Grammar of the Latin Language; A Grammar of the English Language; and Cesar's Commentaries, with Notes and a Vocabulary.

BINGHAM, WILLIAM, United States senator, was born in 1751 in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at the college of Philadelphia in 1768; was agent for this country at Martinique during the revolution; and in 1786 was a delegate to the continental congress from Pennsylvania. He was elected a senator in congress in 1795. He died Feb. 7, 1804, in England.

BINKLEY, LILLIE, educator, poet, was born Dec. 9, 1869, in Atchison county, Kan. She is a successful educator of Atchison, Kan.; and has contributed poems to Texas Siftings, and the periodical press generally.

BINMANN, ADOLPH, farmer, soldier, public official, was born Nov. 19, 1842, in Norway. He was collector of internal revenue for the district of Minnesota during 1885-90; and is now state auditor of Minnesota. He served three years as a soldier during the civil war; was democratic nominee for congress in 1882 and in 1884; and for governor of Minnesota in 1883.

BINNEY, AMOS, physician, author, was born Oct. 18, 1803, in Boston, Mass. He was a once prominent physician and naturalist of Boston, and the author of Terrestrial Air-Breathing Mollusks of the United States. He died Feb. 18, 1847, in Rome, Italy.

BINNEY, HORACE, jurist, congressman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1780, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a noted jurist of Philadelphia. He was a member of the Pennsylvania legislature in 1806-07; and a representative in congress in 1833-35. He was the author of Reports of Cases in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, 1799-1814; Leaders of the Old Bar of Philadelphia; and Inquiry Into the Formation of Washington's Farewell Address. He died Aug. 12, 1875, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BINNEY, JOSEPH GETCHELL, college president, was born Nov. 4, 1778, in Milford, Mass. In 1822 he accepted the chair of theology in Waterville college, and remained there until 1828, when he became president of the Columbian college. He died Oct. 1, 1845.

BINNEY, WILLIAM GREENE, conchologist, author, was born in 1833, in Massachusetts. He is a well-known conchologist of Burlington, N. J. Besides completing his father's work on mollusks he has written Bibliography of North American Conchology; Land and Fresh Water Shells of North America; and Catalogues of the Terrestrial Air-Breathing Mollusks of North America.

BINNS, JOHN, journalist, author, was born Dec. 22, 1772, in Ireland. From 1807 to 1829 he conducted, at Philadelphia, the Democratic Press, the leading paper in the state. He was for twenty years an alderman of Philadelphia. In 1854 he published Recollections of the Life of John Binns; Twenty-nine Years in Europe, and Fifty-three in the United States. He was also the author of Binns' Magistrate's Manual. He died June 16, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIRCH, THOMAS, artist, was born in 1779, in London, England. During the war of 1812 he executed a series of historical paintings, representing the naval victories of the United States. He also painted landscapes, particularly snow scenes. The Harrison collection in Philadelphia contains his paintings of the engagement between the United States and the Macedonian, and between the Constitution and the Guerriere. Three of his marine views are in the Claghorn collection. He died Jan. 14, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIRCKHEAD, WILLIAM H., poet. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Changing Moods.

BIRD, FREDERICK MAYER, clergyman, author, was born June 28, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is an episcopal clergyman widely known as an hymnologist. He has edited The Lutheran Ministerium Hymns: Songs of the Spirit; published Charles Wesley Seen in His Finer and Less Familiar Pieces; and contributed extensively to the critical literature of his subject.

BIRD, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born in Litchfield, Conn. He was early distinguished at the bar of New York state and in the legislature; and was a representative in congress from 1799 to 1801.

BIRD, JOHN T., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 16, 1829, in Hunterdon county, N. J. In 1863 he was appointed prosecuting attorney for Hunterdon county for five years; and in 1868 was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-first congress; and re-elected to the forty-second congress.

BIRD, ROBERT MONTGOMERY, author, was born in 1803, in Newcastle, Del. His Nick of the Wood was his most popular work. His two Mexican stories, Calavar: a Knight of the Conquest; and The Infidel, or the Fall of Mexico, were commended by the historian Prescott. His other works include Peter Pilgrim, a collection of tales and sketches, notable as containing almost the earliest description of the Mammoth Cave; Sheppard Lee; The Hawks of Hawk Hollow; Adventures of Robin Day; and three successful dramas, The Broker of Bogota; Oraoosa; and The Gladiator. He died Jan. 22, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIRDSALL, AUSBURN, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress, from that state, from 1847 to 1849; and was subsequently appointed naval storekeeper in New York city.

BIRDSALL, JAMES, congressman. He was a representative in congress, from New York, from 1815 to 1817; and was a member of the assembly of that state in 1837.

BIRDSALL, SAMUEL, congressman. He was a representative in congress, from New York, from 1837 to 1839.

BIRDSALL, WILLIAM RANDALL, physician, author, was born Jan. 1, 1852, in Greene, N. Y. He was graduated in medicine at the university of Michigan in 1876, entered upon practice in New York city, subsequently studied neurology in Europe, and after his return was engaged as a clinical teacher on nervous diseases. Besides articles in medical journals and encyclopedias, he has written Electro-Therapeutics and Electro-Diagnosis.

BIRDSELL, JOHN C., manufacturer, was born March 31, 1815, in Westchester county, N. Y. He was actively engaged in devising new improvements on the machinery for threshing and hulling clover.

BIRDSEYE, GEORGE, author, poet, was born Nov. 21, 1844, in New York city. The first volume of poems from his pen was entitled Woman and the War; and in 1892 appeared Vanities in Verse. He is the author of numerous popular songs, and a regular contributor to current publications.

BIRDSEYE, VICTORY, state senator, congressman. He was a representative in congress, from New York, from 1815 to 1817, and again from 1841 to 1843; a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1821; and a state senator in 1821 and 1829, as well as member of the assembly for three years. He died Sept. 16, 1853.

BIRGE, EDWARD ASAH, educator, zoologist, was born Sept. 7, 1851, in Troy, N. Y. He received the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from Williams college; and the degree of Ph.D. from Howard university. He is a successful educator and writer on crustacea and life of fresh water lakes. He is professor of zoology in the university of Wisconsin, and dean of the college of letters and science of the same institution.

BIRGE, HENRY WARNER, soldier, was born Aug. 25, 1825, in Hartford, Conn. Before the surrender of this stronghold General Birge volunteered to organize and lead a volunteer battalion to carry the confederate works by assault. His services were recognized by the brevet of major-general of volunteers, and by a vote of thanks from the legislature of his native state. He died June 1, 1888, in New York city.

BIRKBECK, MORRIS, traveler, author, purchased 16,000 acres of land in Illinois, founded the town of New Albion, and resided there. When the state was organized in 1818 he opposed the introduction of slavery into it. He was the author of Notes on a Journey Through France; and Notes on a Journey in America, in which he gave sanguine accounts of Illinois; and of Letters from Illinois. He was drowned while returning from a visit to Robert Owen at New Harmony, Ind. He died in 1825.

BIRKMIRE, WILLIAM HARVEY, architect, engineer, author, was born June 25, 1860, at Falls of Schuylkill, Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of Philadelphia, studied architecture four years with Samuel Sloan, architect and author, and at the same time graduated from the Philadelphia Academy of Music. In 1885 he removed to New York to take charge of the construction department of the Jackson architectural iron works; and in 1892 of the J. B. and J. M. Cornell iron works, the largest architectural iron works in America; and during this time he made the practical steel details for large commercial buildings and the Astor hotels. During 1894-98 he was architect and engineer for John T. Williams on the Central bank building, the Silk exchange building, Lord's court building, and many other prominent buildings in New York city. He is the author of The Planning and Construction of High Office Buildings; Skeleton Construction in Buildings; Architectural Iron and Steel; The Planning and Construction of American Theaters; and other works.

BIRNEY, DAVID BILL, soldier, was born May 29, 1825, in Huntsville, Ala. He enlisted in the U. S. army during the civil war; was first made brigadier-general of volunteers and afterward promoted major-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 18, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BIRNEY, JAMES, state senator, governor, was born June 7, 1817, in Danville, Ky. He was a state senator in Michigan in 1859, and was lieutenant-governor of the state and acting governor in 1861-63. He was appointed by President Grant, in 1876, minister at The Hague, and held that office until 1882.

BIRNEY, JAMES GILLESPIE, statesman, author, was born Feb. 4, 1792, in Danville, Ky. He was a statesman famous for his opposition to slavery, and the author of Ten Letters on Slavery and Colonization; Addresses and Speeches; and American Churches the Bulwarks of American Slavery, are among his writings. He died Nov. 25, 1857, in Perth Amboy, N. J.

BIRNEY, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, author, was born May 28, 1819, near Huntsville, Ala. He received his education at the Greene academy, Centre college, Miami university, and Yale college. During the war he served as a private, captain, major, lieutenant colonel and colonel in the New Jersey volunteers; and was brigadier-general and brevet major-general in the United States volunteers. He is a successful lawyer of Columbia, Washington, D. C., and the author of several books.

BISBEE, FREDERICK A., clergyman, author, poet, was born Feb. 28, 1855, in Nunda, N. Y. He is a distinguished clergyman of the universalist church of Philadelphia, Pa.; the editor of The Christian Leader; and the author of a number of excellent short stories and poems.

BISBEE, HORATIO, JR., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 1, 1839, in Canton, Maine. He entered the union army in 1861 as a private and rose to the rank of colonel. He located at Jacksonville, Fla., and commenced the practice of law there in 1865; was United States district attorney from 1869 to 1873; and was for a short time attorney-general of the state. He was elected a representative from Florida to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses.

BISHOP, JAMES, merchant, congressman, was born in New Brunswick, N. J. He was bred a merchant; and served in the legislature of his native state; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857.

BISHOP, JAMES REMSEN, educator, was born Sept. 17, 1860, in New Brunswick, N. J. He undertook the difficult task of building up the preparatory school founded by Henry E. Marquand in Princeton. Success beyond all expectations rewarded his novel methods of school government and instruction. He was chosen principal in 1896 of the Walnut Hills high school in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BISHOP, JOEL PRENTISS, jurist, author, was born in 1814 in Volney, N. Y. He is an eminent jurist of Boston, and the author of Commentaries on Criminal Law; Marriage and Divorce; The Law of Married Women; Thoughts for the Times; First Book of the Law; Directions and Forms; Criminal Procedure; Statutory Crimes; Prosecution and Defense; and The Written Laws.

BISHOP, LEVI, lawyer, author, poet, was born Oct. 15, 1815, in Russell, Mass. He was elected justice of the peace in 1842, and from 1846 till 1858 was president of the Detroit board of education. The largest school building in Detroit now bears his name, and he was a regent of the state university from 1857 till 1863. He was much interested in the early history of the west, organized the Detroit Pioneer society in 1871, and was its president till his death. He lectured occasionally on literary topics, and published The Dignity of Labor, a poem; and Teuchsa Grondie, a poem in twenty-eight cantos, devoted to the Indian lore of Detroit river in 1870. He died Dec. 23, 1881, in Detroit, Mich.

BISHOP, NATHANIEL HOLMES, author, was born in 1837 in Massachusetts. He is a writer of entertaining travels, and the author of A Thousand Miles' Walk Across South America; The Voyage of the Paper Canoe; and Four Months in a Sneak Box.

BISHOP, PHANUEL, state senator, congressman. From 1787 to 1791 he was a member of the Massachusetts state senate; and in 1792, 1793, 1797, and 1798, a representative in the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1799 to 1807.

BISHOP, RICHARD M., merchant, governor, was born Nov. 4, 1812, in Fleming county, Ky. In 1848 he removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, and engaged in the wholesale grocery business; was remarkably successful, and amassed a fortune. In 1857 he was elected a member of the city council of Cincinnati, and in 1858 became president of the council; and in 1859 was elected mayor of the city for a term of two years. In 1873 he was a member of the Ohio state constitutional convention; and in 1877 was elected governor of Ohio.

BISHOP, ROBERT HAMILTON, clergyman, author, was born July 26, 1777, in Scotland. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Ohio, and president of Miami university, in 1824-41. He was the author of Sermons; Elements of Logic; Philosophy of the Bible; Science of Government; Western Peacemaker; and Memoirs of David Rice. He died April 29, 1855, in College Hill, Ohio.

BISHOP, ROSEWELL P., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 6, 1843, in Sidney, N. Y. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in company C. forty-third New York volunteer infantry; and in 1862, he was wounded at Lees Mills, Va., necessitating the amputation of his right arm. He commenced practicing law at Ludington, Mich., and was elected prosecuting attorney of Mason county in 1876, 1878, and 1884. He was elected to the Michigan legislature in 1882 and 1892, and was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BISHOP, SETH SCOTT, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 7, 1852, in Fond du Lac, Wis. He has been professor of Chicago post graduate medical school and hospital; professor in the Illinois medical college; surgeon to the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear infirmary; and consulting surgeon to the Silver Cross hospital of Joliet. He has invented numerous surgical instruments and apparatus, in general use by the medical profession.

BISHOP, WILLIAM D., lawyer, railroad president, congressman, was born Sept. 4, 1827, in Bloomfield, N. J. He graduated at Yale college in 1849; studied law as a profession, but soon engaged almost exclusively in railroad business, being for several years president of the Naugatuck railroad company; and was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth congress from Connecticut. In 1859, was appointed commissioner of patents. In 1866 he was again elected to the state legislature.

BISHOP, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, author, was born Jan. 7, 1847, in Hartford, Conn. He is a professor in Yale university, and the author of Fish and Men in the Maine Islands; A Househunter in Europe; Writing to Rosina; a novelette; A Pound of Cure; A Story of Monte Carlo; Detmold; The House of a Merchant Prince; The Golden Justice; Choy Susan and Other Stories; The Brown Stone Boy and Other Queer People; Old Mexico and her Lost Provinces, a volume of travel; and The Garden of Eden.

BISPHAM, HENRY COLLINS, artist, was born in 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1869 he sent to the national academy on the Campagna; To the Front; and Noon-day Rest. In 1875 he exhibited A Misty Day; and in 1878 Tigris, and Landscape and Cattle. He excels in pastoral cattle-scenes and in wild landscapes with animals. Among his other paintings are Dead in the Desert; Roman Bull; The Wine-Cart; The Raid; Hunted Down; Crouching Lion; and The Stampede.

BISSELL, CLARK, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born in 1782 in Lebanon, Conn. He graduated at Yale college in 1806; studied law and settled at Norwalk. From 1829 to 1839 he was judge of the supreme court of the state; in 1847 and 1848 was governor of the state; and was Kent professor of law in Yale college from 1847 to 1855. He died Sept. 15, 1857, in Norwalk, Conn.

BISSELL, EDWIN CONE, clergyman, author, was born in 1832, in New York. He is a congregational clergyman of Chicago, and the author of Analysis of the Codes; The Historic Origin of the Bible; The Pentateuch: its Origin and Structure; Biblical Antiquities; Practical Introductory Hebrew Grammar; and Genesis Printed in Colours, showing original sources of compilation.

BISSELL, GEORGE HENRY, lawyer, was born Nov. 8, 1821, in Hanover, N. H. He retained his connection with the oil industry for many years, built a railroad in the oil regions and established several banks there. He died Nov. 19, 1884, in New York city.

BISSELL, HERBERT PORTER, lawyer, was born Aug. 30, 1856, in New London, N. Y. In 1886 he joined the partnership of Brundage, Weaver & Bissell; and in 1887 became a member of the firm of Bissell, Sicard, Brundage & Bissell, with which he is still connected. He is a trustee to several colleges; and the president and founder of the Cleveland democracy of Buffalo.

BISSELL, J. B., jurist. He is a judge of the court of appeals of Colorado.

BISSELL, JOSEPH BIDLEMAN, physician, was born Sept. 3, 1859, in Lakeville, Conn. He received the appointment of instructor of surgery at the New York Polyclinic in 1886, and in 1889 at the New York post graduate medical schools and hospitals. In 1895 he received the appointment of chief surgeon to the outdoor department of St. Vincent's hospital, with surgical work in the wards of the hospital.

BISSELL, JOHN WILLIAM, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Aug. 4, 1843, in Canada. He received his education at the Northwestern university and graduated in 1867. He became professor of Latin and Greek in the Northern Indiana college in 1868; was principal of Brookston academy in 1869; and since 1873 has been president of the Upper Iowa university of Fayette.

BISSELL, JOSIAH WOLCOTT, engineer, was born May 12, 1818, in Rochester, N. Y. He was engaged before the civil war in banking, and in architectural and engineering work. During the war he was colonel of an engineer regiment attached to Gen. Pope's army, and superintended the construction of the canal that enabled the national gun-boats to approach the confederate works on Island No. 10 in Mississippi river.

BISSELL, MELVILLE R., inventor, manufacturer, was born Sept. 25, 1843, in Hartwick, N. Y. He was the inventor of the Bissell carpet sweeper. In 1883 he organized a stock company for manufacturing his carpet sweeper, and the business increased until it became the largest of its kind in the world. He died March 15, 1889, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

BISSELL, PELHAM ST. GEORGE, capitalist, was born Dec. 5, 1858, in New York city. The Adirondacks Pulp company was organized by him, afterward being merged in The International Pulp company.

BISSELL, SIMON B., naval officer, was born Oct. 28, 1808, in Vermont. He was attached to the sloop Albany, during the war with Mexico; and was present at the siege of Vera Cruz. He served with distinction through the civil war and was promoted to commodore. He died Feb. 18, 1883, in Paris, France.

BISSELL, WILLIAM H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born April 25, 1811, in Hartwick, N. Y. In 1840 he was elected to the Illinois state legislature. In 1844 was elected a prosecuting attorney. He served with distinction in the Mexican war; was a representative in congress from Illinois from 1849 to 1855; and in 1856 was elected governor of Illinois for four years. He died March 18, 1860, in Springfield, Ill.

BISSELL, WILLIAM HENRY AUGUSTUS, bishop, was born Nov. 14, 1814, in Randolph, Vt. He was elected Protestant Episcopal bishop of Vermont, and consecrated in Christ's church, Montpelier, June 3, 1868.

BISSELL, WILSON SHANNON, postmaster general, was born Dec. 31, 1847, in New London, N. Y. He is a leading lawyer of the state of New York at Buffalo; and a director in several railroad companies.

BITTENBENDER, ADA M. COLE, lawyer, reformer, was born Aug. 3, 1848, in Bradford county, Pa. In 1881-82 she was secretary and president of the Nebraska State Suffrage association; and from 1879-82 was editor of the Record and Polk County Farmers' Alliance. During 1887-92 she was superintendent of the legal department of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union; and since 1894 has been president of Uncle Sam's Anti-Drunkard Factory concern of Lincoln, Neb.

BITTENBENDER, HENRY CLAY, journalist, lawyer, reformer, was born June 19, 1851, in Afton, Pa. He received his education in the Bloomsbury normal college, Gettysburg college, and the Princeton college, N. J. He has attained prominence as a bright journalist and able lawyer of Lincoln, Neb. He has been secretary of the prohibition party of Nebraska; and is the secretary of Uncle Sam's Anti-Drunkard Factory concern, of which his wife is president.

BITTER, KARL THEODORE FRANCIS, sculptor, was born Dec. 6, 1867, in Austria. He has attained success as a sculptor. Among his works that have claimed the attention of the public is the sculpture on the administration building and manufactures and liberal arts building of the World's Columbian exposition of Chicago, Ill.

BITTINGER, JOHN LAWRENCE, journalist, statesman, was born Nov. 28, 1833, near Chambersburg, Pa. He received his education in the common schools of Ohio, and removed to Missouri in 1855. During 1861-65 he was postmaster of St. Joseph; was a member of the twenty-second, twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh, and twenty-eighth, and thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth general assemblies of Missouri; and has always taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state. He was a delegate to the republican national conventions of 1872 and 1896; and in 1897 was appointed consul-general at Montreal, Canada. He is also a successful journalist, and since 1860 has been the editor and owner of The Herald of St. Joseph, Mo.

BIXBY, JAMES THOMPSON, clergyman, author, was born July 30, 1843, in Barre, Mass. He has filled important pastorates in the unitarian church in Massachusetts, Maine, Pennsylvania, and New York; and during 1879-83 was professor of religious philosophy in the Meadville theological school. He is the author of Religion and Science as Allies; and The Crisis in Morals.

BIXBY, JOHN MUNSON, lawyer, author, was born in February, 1800, in Fairfield, Conn. He was a lawyer of New York city, whose two novels were issued under a pseudonym. He was the author of Standish the Puritan; and Overing, or the Heir of Wycherly. He died Nov. 22, 1876, in New York.

BIXBY, MOSES HOMAN, missionary, clergyman, was born Aug. 20, 1827, in Warren, N. H. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city; attended Newbury seminary, Derby academy, and Montreal college; received the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth college, and the degree of D. D. from the Central university of Iowa. He first served four years as a pastor in Vermont; then for twelve years was a missionary in Burmah, India, and for the past thirty-three years has been a pastor in the Baptist church of Providence, R. I.

BIXBY, SAMUEL M., manufacturer, was born May 27, 1833, in Haverhill, N. H. He has made his name famous as manufacturer of shoe blacking; his business grew to gigantic proportions and now occupies the whole of an imposing structure; and extends to every quarter of the habitable globe.

BLACK, ALEXANDER, journalist, author, was born in 1859, in New York. He is a Brooklyn journalist, and literary editor of the Brooklyn Times. He is the author of The Story of Ohio; Photography Indoors and Out; Miss Jerry, and a Picture Play.

BLACK, CHARLES C., lawyer, author, was born July 29, 1858, in Mount Holly, N. J. Since 1881 he has practiced law in Jersey City; and since 1891 has been a member of the state board of taxation. He is the author of Proof and Pleadings in Accident Cases; and New Jersey Law of Taxation.

BLACK, EDWARD J., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1806 in Beaufort, S. C. He commenced his public life by going into the Georgia state legislature, where he served for several years; and was elected a representative in congress from Georgia in 1838, remaining there until 1845. He died in 1846 in Barnwell, S. C.

BLACK, FRANK S., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born March 8, 1853, in Limington, Maine. He was editor of the Johnstown Journal for a short time after graduating from Dartmouth; then removed to Troy, where he studied law and was a newspaper reporter. He was admitted to the bar in 1879 and since that time has followed his profession in Troy. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican; and has filled the high office of governor of the state of New York.

BLACK, GEORGE R., soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born March 24, 1835, in Scriver county, Ga. He divided his attention between the law and agriculture; and served in the confederate army during the war of the rebellion, rising to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1865; and also to the democratic national convention of 1872. He was a state senator from 1874 to 1877; and was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-seventh congress.

BLACK, HENRY, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 25, 1783, in Somerset county, Pa. He was the father of Judge J. S. Black. In 1815 he was elected to the state legislature, and for three successive years afterwards. In 1820 he was appointed an associate judge of his county, and held the office for twenty years. In 1841 he was chosen to fill the seat in congress to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 28, 1841.

BLACK, JAMES, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1847.

BLACK, JAMES, prohibitionist, author, was born Sept. 23, 1823, in Lewisburg, Pa. He was a noted Pennsylvania advocate of temperance who was the presidential nominee of the prohibitionists in 1872. He is the author of Is Prohibition a Necessity; History of the Prohibition Party; and The Prohibition Party.

BLACK, JAMES A., soldier, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He served as a captain in the war of 1812; was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to the time of his death. He died April 5, 1848, in Washington, D. C.

BLACK, JAMES C. C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 9, 1842, in Stamping Ground, Ky. He was a private soldier in company A, ninth Kentucky cavalry, confederate army; and was admitted to the bar in 1866. He was elected to the fifty-third congress over Thomas E. Watson, and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat over Watson, but declined to enter on the term and resigned March 4, 1895; and was re-elected at a special election held October 2, 1895.

BLACK, JAMES FRED, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 20, 1859, in Nova Scotia. He has attained success as a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church; has been secretary of the Algona district conference for five terms; and now fills a pastorate in Anamosa, Iowa. He is the author of The Bible Way, and contributes extensively to religious literature.

BLACK, JAMES RUSH, physician, surgeon, author, was born March 3, 1827, near Glasgow, Scotland. During the war he was surgeon in the one hundred and thirteenth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry, and director of Gen. Gilbert's staff; and later became professor of hygiene in the Ohio Medical college. He is the author of Ten Laws of Health; and has contributed numerous articles on hygiene to current literature.

BLACK, JEREMIAH S., jurist, was born Jan. 10, 1810, in Glades, Pa. In 1842 he was appointed presiding judge of the judicial district in which he lived; in 1851 was elected to the bench of the state supreme court, and made chief justice; and was re-elected in 1854. In 1857 he became attorney-general of the United States; and was secretary of state in 1860-61, when he resumed the practice of law. He died Aug. 9, 1883, in York, Pa.

BLACK, JOHN, congressman. He was at one time a resident of Louisiana, but removing to Mississippi, was elected a senator in congress, from 1832 to 1838. He died Aug. 29, 1854, in Winchester, Va.

BLACK, JOHN, state legislator, was born in France. He has lived in America since 1846, and in Milwaukee since 1857. He has always been a democrat, and has twice received the party nomination for congress. He was a member of the Wisconsin state legislature; and served with distinction as mayor of Milwaukee.

BLACK, JOHN, diplomatist, was born in 1792 in New York. He was for forty years a resident of Mexico, where he was a consul of the United States, and also minister resident there during the Mexican war. He died Nov. 19, 1873, in Albany, N. Y.

BLACK, JOHN CHARLES, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 27, 1839, in Lexington, Miss. He graduated from the Wabash college of Crawfordsville. During the civil war he served as colonel in the thirty-seventh Illinois volunteers; and was brevetted brigadier-general United States volunteers. He was commissioner of pensions, congressman-at-large from Illinois; and United States attorney for the northern district of Illinois. He is best known as an eminent lawyer, practicing in Chicago and before the department in Washington, and in the supreme courts of Illinois and the United States.

BLACK, JOHN FISHER, soldier, broker, was born Dec. 23, 1841, in New Orleans, La. He enlisted as a private in the Louisiana guards in 1861; and attained the rank of lieutenant. In 1869 he was engaged in the cotton brokerage business; was a member of the New York Cotton exchange; and one of the organizers of the Confederate Veteran camp of New York.

BLACK, SAMUEL W., jurist, governor, was born in Pennsylvania. He was appointed from that state an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Nebraska; and was appointed governor of that territory in 1861, remaining in office until 1867.

BLACK, WARREN COLUMBUS, clergyman, journalist, author, was born May 24, 1843, in Copiah county, Miss. He acquired a superior education, chiefly through his own efforts; and was successively placed in charge of the leading churches of his conference. In 1861 he entered the confederate army and served continuously until the close of the war in 1865. He was licensed to preach in May, 1864, being at that time a first lieutenant in the confederate service; and he distinguished himself as a soldier, as he has since in his ministerial career. In 1886, 1890, and 1894 he was a delegate to the general conference. In 1886 he declined the presidency of Whitworth Female college of Brookhaven, Miss.; and the same year declined the presidency of the Centenary college of Jackson, La. Since 1893 he has been editor and owner of the New Orleans Christian Advocate. Dr. Black lectured in nine different states; and three of his lectures—God in Nature; Genesis and Geology; Is Man Immortal—have attracted much attention. He is the author of Philosophy of Methodism; Temperance and Teetotalism; Christian Womanhood; and other works.

BLACK, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 19, 1854, in Centerville, Ind. He was a graduate of the Waynesburg seminary, and has filled important pastorates in the presbyterian church. In 1890 he was elected president of the Missouri Valley college of Marshall, Mo. He is the author of God, Our Father; Womanhood; and Sermons for the Sunday School.

BLACKBURN, GIDEON, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 27, 1772, in Augusta county, Ga. He passed the last forty years of his life in the western states, in preaching, organizing churches, and, from 1803 to 1809, during a part of each year, in his mission to the Cherokees, establishing a school at Hywassee. He established a school in Tennessee in 1806, and from 1827 till 1830 was president of Center college, Ky. He died Aug. 23, 1838, in Carlinville, Ill.

BLACKBURN, JOSEPH C. S., lawyer, soldier, United States senator, was born Oct. 1, 1838, in Woodford county, Ky. He entered the confederate army in 1861 and served throughout the war; and resumed the practice of law in 1865. He was elected to the state legislature of Kentucky in 1871 and 1873; was elected to the house in the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses; and was elected to the United States senate as a democrat, and served during 1885-97.

BLACKBURN, JOSEPH E., druggist, state legislator, was born June 30, 1860, in Belmont county, Ohio. He attended the Ohio Normal university of Adair, which institution conferred upon him the degree of Ph. G.; and in 1887 he embarked in the drug business. He served with distinction as a member of the seventy-second Ohio general assembly as a republican from Belmont county. In 1896 he was elected state dairy and food commissioner, to which office he was re-elected in 1898.

BLACKBURN, LUKE P., statesman. He was governor of Kentucky from 1879 to 1883.

BLACKBURN, WILLIAM, pioneer, was born in 1814 in Virginia. He went to California in 1845, took part as volunteer in the conquest of that country in 1846-47, and was appointed alcalde at Sauta Cruz immediately thereafter. In this office he served two years, and in 1850 was elected county judge of Santa Cruz county. He died in 1867 in California.

BLACKBURN, WILLIAM JASPER, journalist, congressman, was born July 24, 1820, in Arkansas. He was a printer, and became the editor of a newspaper in Louisiana, called the Homer Iliad; and was an occasional writer in prose and verse. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1868; and was elected a representative from Louisiana to the fortieth congress.

BLACKBURN, WILLIAM MAXWELL, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 30, 1828, in Carlisle, Ind. He is a presbyterian clergyman, and since 1886 has been president of Pierre university of South Dakota. Among his many works, chiefly on religion and biography, are History of the Christian Church; Geneva's Shield; Exiles of Madeira; Judas the Maccabee; The Rebel Prince; College Days of Calvin; Young Calvin in Paris; St. Patrick and the Early Irish Church; Admiral Coligny and the Rise of the Huguenots; The Theban Legion; and the Uncle Alick series of juvenile tales.

BLACKFORD, EUGENE GILBERT, merchant, banker, was born Aug. 8, 1839, in Morristown, N. J. Since 1879 he has been officially connected with the restocking of lakes and streams, and the hatching of food fish, being for thirteen years president of the state fish commission. He is president of the Bedford bank in Brooklyn.

BLACKFORD, ISAAC NEWTON, legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 6, 1786, in Bound Brook, N. J. He was judge of the first district court of Indiana in 1814-15; speaker of the first state legislature in 1816; judge of the supreme court of Indiana from 1819 to 1835; and judge of the United States court of claims from 1855 until his death. He died Dec. 31, 1859, in Washington, D. C.

BLACKLEDGE, WILLIAM, legislator, congressman. He was for several years a member of the general assembly of North Carolina; and served that state as a representative in congress, from 1803 to 1809, and from 1811 to 1813. He died Oct. 19, 1828, in Spring Hill, N. C.

BLACKLEDGE, WILLIAM S., congressman, was born in Pitt county, N. C. He was a member of the general assembly of North Carolina; and was elected to congress from that state for the term from 1821 to 1823. He died March 21, 1857, in Newbern, N. C.

BLACKLOCK, THOMAS W., physician, surgeon, was born May 28, 1843, in Scotland. He graduated from the college of Physicians and Surgeons of Keokuk, Iowa. He has been examining surgeon for three of the most prominent life insurance companies; and for several local life insurance companies. He has held the position of health officer for several years, and is an eminent physician and surgeon of New Boston, Ill.

BLACKMAN, GEORGE CURTIS, physician, surgeon, was born April 20, 1819, in Newtown, Conn. He was a bold and skillful operator, and an able writer and lecturer. He translated and edited Vidal's Treatment on Venereal Disease; and edited a new edition of Mott's translation of Velpeau's Surgery, with notes and additions of his own. During the war he served as army surgeon. He died July 19, 1871, in Avondale, Ohio.

BLACKMAN, SAMUEL HALL, civil engineer, lawyer, state senator, was born April 6, 1814, in Aurora, Ohio. He moved to Michigan in 1842, and since 1844 has practiced law in Paw Paw. He has been a county surveyor; and for many years was a field engineer on the Michigan Central and other railroads. During 1863-64 he was a member of the Michigan state senate; a delegate in the constitutional convention of 1867; and a representative in the Michigan house in 1873-74.

BLACKMAR, ESBON, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from New York, from 1848 to 1849, to fill a vacancy; and also served two years in the state assembly from Wayne county.

BLACKMAR, FRANK WILSON, educator, author, was born Nov. 3, 1854, in Springfield, Pa. He graduated from the Johns Hopkins university, and has become very prominent in educational work.

He has been fellow in history and politics, and instructor in history, in the Johns Hopkins university; and professor of history and sociology in the university of Kansas. He is the author of Federal and State Aid to Higher Education in the United States; Spanish Colonization in the Southwest; Spanish Institutions in the Southwest; The Story of Human Progress; Economics for Reading Clubs and Schools; and other works, besides numerous papers and magazine articles.

BLACKSTONE, LORENZO, manufacturer, was born in 1819, in Branford, Conn. In 1877 his company erected the Pequot Cotton mills in Montville, Conn.

BLACKSTONE, TIMOTHY B., railroad president, was born March 28, 1829, in Branford, Conn. Since 1864 he has been president of the Chicago and Alton railroad.

BLACKSTONE, WILLIAM, pioneer. It is said that he planted the first orchard in Massachusetts, and also the first in Rhode Island. Although the first white settler of Rhode Island, he took no part in founding the colony.

BLACKWELL, ANDREW JACKSON, soldier, railroad president, was born Jan. 29, 1842, in Georgia. He entered the confederate army in the third Georgia volunteers. In 1882 he took up a site at what is now Blackwell, on the Cherokee strip in Oklahoma territory, a location not at the time highly prized by others. He has been its mayor and justice of the peace. He also founded the town of Rock Falls, O. T.; and he is president of the North Oklahoma railroad.

BLACKWELL, MRS. ANTOINETTE LOUISA, minister, author, was born May 20, 1825, in Henrietta, N. Y. She is a unitarian minister prominent in the woman suffrage movement; and is the author of Studies in General Science; The Market Woman; The Island Neighbors; a novel of American life; The Sexes Throughout Nature; The Physical Basis of Immortality; and The Many and The One.

BLACKWELL, ELIZABETH, physician, author, was born Feb. 3, 1821, in Bristol, England. She is a physician of New York city, who, with her sister Emily, organized the woman's medical college of the New York infirmary. She is the author of Laws of Life, or the Physical Education of Girls; Counsel to Parents in the Moral Education of Their Children; and Pioneer Work in Opening the Medical Profession to Women.

BLACKWELL, JAMES HEYWARD, educator, was born Feb. 5, 1862, in Marion, Va. He is an expert penman and professor of mathematics. He has taught in many leading educational institutions, and since 1888 has been principal of the public high school of Manchester, Va.

BLACKWELL, JULIUS W., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee, from 1839 to 1841, and again from 1843 to 1845.

BLACKWELL, LUCY STONE, abolitionist, was born Aug. 13, 1818, in West Brookfield, Mass. By hard work between the hours of study she educated herself at Oberlin college; graduated with high honors and became an agent and lecturer for the Massachusetts Anti-Slavery society, in which capacity she often pleaded for the rights of women as well as for those of the slave. In 1855 she was married to Henry B. Blackwell, but still retained her maiden name. She died Oct. 18, 1893, in Dorchester, Mass.

BLACKWELL, SARAH ELLEN, artist, author, was born in 1828 in England. She is a successful writer, and the author of The Life of Anna Ella Carroll. Her especial subjects of interest are land and labor reform, woman suffrage, and anti-vivisection.

BLACKWOOD, ROBERT E. L., educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 3, 1865, in Cabell county, W. Va. He graduated from the state university of West Virginia with the degree of B. L. For many years he has been engaged in educational work; and is now successfully engaged in the practice of his profession in Charleston, W. Va.

BLACKWOOD, WILLIAM G., jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He settled in Missouri, from which state he was appointed a justice of the United States court for the territory of New Mexico.

BLADEN, THOMAS, governor of Maryland, lived in the eighteenth century. During his administration the western boundary of the province was fixed by treaty with the Indians, and the manufacture of flour began to attract the attention of the government.

BLAIKIE, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born May 24, 1843, in York, N. Y. He is a lawyer and athlete of New York city; and the author of How to Get Strong; and Sound Bodies for Our Boys and Girls.

BLAINE, HARRY GORDON, physician, educator, author, was born Nov. 25, 1853, in Wheeling, W. Va. He received his education in the public schools of Attica, Ohio; at the Northwestern Normal university of Fostoria, and the Republic academy. In 1884 he founded the American Medical Compend, of which he was editor and owner for the ten succeeding years. During 1885-92 he was professor of diseases of the mind and nervous system in the Toledo Medical college. He is the author of The Physician: His Relation to the Law; A Manual on Venereal Diseases; Blaine's Medical Footprints; and other works.

BLAINE, JAMES GILLESPIE, statesman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1830, in Washington county, Pa. He graduated at Washington college in 1847; adopted the profession of an editor; removed to Maine; and edited the Kennebec Journal and Portland Advertiser for several years. He served four years in the Maine legislature, two years as speaker of the house. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Maine to the thirty-eighth congress, serving as a member of the committee on post offices and post roads. Re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress, serving on the committee on military affairs, the special committee on the death of President Lincoln, and as chairman of the committee on the war debts of the loyal states. He was re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses, and made speaker of the house, holding the same position during the forty-second and forty-third congresses. He was also re-elected to the forty-fourth congress; and in 1876 was elected United States senator, to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected for the term ending in 1883. He resigned in 1881, to accept the post of secretary of state in the cabinet of President Garfield, serving from March until December of that year. He was an unsuccessful candidate for president of the United States in 1884. He was the author of Twenty Years of Congress. He died Jan. 27, 1893, in Washington, D. C.

BLAINE, WALKER, diplomatist, was a resident of Maine. He received a collegiate education; and in 1881 was appointed third assistant secretary of state. The same year he was sent, in conjunction with W. H. Triscott, as a special envoy to Peru and Chili.

BLAIR, ALBERT G., railroad president, was born in January, 1844, in Syracuse, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been president of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railway at Toledo, Ohio.

BLAIR, ANDREW ALEXANDER, chemist, author, was born Sept. 20, 1846, in Woodford county, Ky. He is a chemist of Philadelphia; and the author of The Chemical Analysis of Iron; and Methods in Analysis of Iron, Steel, Copper, and Alloys of Copper, Zinc, and Tin.

BLAIR, AUSTIN, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 8, 1818, in Caroline, N. Y. After holding the local offices of county clerk and prosecuting attorney for his county, he was elected to the Michigan legislature, and afterwards to the senate of the state. He was governor of Michigan from 1861 to 1865; and was elected a representative from that state to the fortieth, forty-first and forty-second congresses.

BLAIR, BARNARD, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843.

BLAIR, CHAUNCEY B., banker, was born June 18, 1810, in Blandford, Mass. In 1861 he removed to Chicago, and established a private bank, which in 1865 he organized into the Merchants' National bank, becoming its president, which office he held until his death. He died Jan. 30, 1890.

BLAIR, MRS. ELIZA (NELSON), author, was born in New Hampshire. She is a writer of Manchester, N. H. Her novel, Lisbeth Wilson, gives an excellent picture of New Hampshire rural life a half century ago.

BLAIR, FRANCIS FAESTON, soldier, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Feb. 19, 1821, in Lexington, Ky. He adopted the profession of the law; and was a member of the Missouri legislature in 1852-54. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-fifth and thirty-seventh congresses. He was a colonel of volunteers in 1861; in 1862 was appointed a major-general in the army, and was subsequently re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress. In 1868 he was nominated for vice-president of the United States on the ticket with Horatio Seymour, and was defeated. He was a senator in congress to fill a vacancy in 1871-73. In 1848 he published the Life and Public Services of General William A. Butler. He died July 8, 1875, in St. Louis, Mo.

BLAIR, HENRY WILLIAM, was born Dec. 6, 1834, in Campton, N. H. He received an academic education; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1859; and was prosecuting attorney for Grafton county in 1860. He served in the union army as lieutenant-colonel during the war of the rebellion. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1866, and a state senator in 1867 and 1868. He was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses; declined a renomination; and was elected a senator of the United States from New Hampshire, for the term of six years; and in 1885 was re-elected for a second term. He also served in the fifty-third congress.

BLAIR, HUGH M., educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 9, 1853, in Caldwell county, N. C. He graduated from the Rutherford college, and then commenced educational work. He was principal of the Hickory high school during 1876-81; and for awhile was editor of the Western Carolinian, of Hickory, N. C. In 1883 he entered the ministry of the methodist episcopal church south. In 1895 he became editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate; and in 1896 was made presiding elder in the western North Carolina conference.

BLAIR, JACOB B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 11, 1821, in Parkersburg, Va. He was prosecuting attorney for Ritchie county for several years; was elected a representative from Virginia to the thirty-seventh congress, and in 1863 was elected a representative from the new state of West Virginia to the thirty-eighth congress. In 1867 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; and was United States minister to Costa Rica from 1868 to 1872. In 1876 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Wyoming territory, and was reappointed in 1880, and again in 1884.

BLAIR, JAMES, congressman, was born in Lancaster, S. C. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1821 to 1822, and from 1829 to 1834. He died by his own hand April 1, 1834, in Washington, D. C.

BLAIR, JAMES, clergyman, college president, was born in 1656 in Lancaster, S. C. He was an episcopal clergyman of Virginia who founded William and Mary college, and was its president for fifty years. He was the author of The State of His Majesty's Colony in Virginia; and Our Savior's Divine Sermon on the Mount, a series of sermons. He died Aug. 1, 1743, in Williamsburg, Va.

BLAIR, JAMES, banker, was born May 15, 1807, in Beaver Brooks, N. J. Among the properties in which he now has a large interest are The Lackawanna and Iron Steel Co.; The Belvidere National bank; The Scranton Savings bank, of which he is president; and The First National bank of Scranton.

BLAIR, JAMES G., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1828. He received a common English education; is a lawyer by profession, and was elected to the forty-second congress as a liberal republican.

BLAIR, JOHN, statesman, congressman, was born in Washington county, Tenn. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1823 to 1837. Before entering congress he served in both branches of the Tennessee state legislature. He died July, 1863, in Jonesborough, Tenn.

BLAIR, JOHN, statesman, was born in 1689 in Williamsburg, Va. He was a nephew of President James Blair. As early as 1736 he was a member of the house of burgesses, and he was president of the council, and acting governor of Virginia in 1757-58 and 1768. He died Nov. 5, 1771, in Williamsburg, Va.

BLAIR, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1732 in Williamsburg, Va. He was a member of the legislature in 1765, and on the dissolution of the house in 1769, he, with Washington and other patriots, drafted the Non-Importation Agreement. He was elected a judge of the court of appeals, then chief justice, and in 1780 chancery judge. In 1789 he was appointed a judge of the United States supreme court, and resigned this position in 1796. He died Aug. 31, 1800, in Williamsburg, Va.

BLAIR, SAMUEL, clergyman, was born June 14, 1712, in Ireland. He was one of the original members of New Brunswick presbytery, formed in 1738, and in 1739 took charge of the church at New Londonderry, or Fogg's Manor, Pa. Shortly after his settlement there he established a seminary, at which young men were educated, some of whom were afterward prominent in the presbyterian church, among them Rev. Samuel Davies and Rev. John Rodgers. He died July 5, 1751.

BLAIR, SAMUEL, clergyman, legislator, was born in 1741 in Fogg's Manor, Pa. He was the principal founder of the English presbyterian church of Germantown, Pa., and preached gratuitously for a season. He was several times a member of the Pennsylvania assembly, and was for two years chaplain to the continental congress. He died Sept. 24, 1818, in Germantown, Pa.

BLAIR, SAMUEL S., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses.

BLAIR, WILLIAM, merchant. About 1848, after the opening of the Illinois and Michigan canal, he closed the retail branch of his business, thus becoming the first to establish an exclusively wholesale hardware house in Chicago and being at the time the only one in the west outside of St. Louis.

BLAIR, WILLIAM ALLEN, educator, lecturer, author, was born June 4, 1860, in High Point, N. C. After graduating in 1882 from Harvard university, he entered actively into educational work. In 1889 he was commissioned as state representative of the Paris exposition, and has thoroughly examined the school systems of Europe. He has been president of several societies and in 1890 became president of the People's National bank of Winston, N. C. He is the author of The History of North Carolina.

BLAISDELL, DANIEL, lawyer, congressman. He was a state councilor from 1803 to 1808, and a representative in congress from New Hampshire, from 1808 to 1811. He died in 1832.

BLAISDELL, ELIJAH WHITTIER, lawyer, state legislator, author, poet, was born July 18, 1826, in Montpelier, Vt. In 1854 he moved to Rockford, Ill.; participated with Abraham Lincoln in the formation of the republican party in 1856; and was the first editor in the United States who raised his name for the presidency of the United States. He canvassed the state of Illinois for General Grant and Governor Oglesby; and was afterward a Cleveland elector. He was a candidate for congress three times in the sixth district of Illinois; was a member of the Illinois state legislature in 1859 and 1860; and has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state. For twenty years he was an editor; and for fifteen years has been a lawyer. He is the author of a successful story entitled The Hidden Record; a drama entitled Shabbona; The Rajah, a burlesque poem; Eva, the General's Daughter, a drama in blank verse; and a volume of poems.

BLAISDELL, H. G., governor. He was the first governor of Nevada after it became a state, and served as such from 1864 to 1869.

BLAKE, CLARENCE JOHN, physician, inventor, journalist, was born Feb. 23, 1843, in Boston, Mass. He was president of the American Otological society in 1876-77. He has invented several surgical instruments for use in the treatment of diseases of the ear, principally the membrana tympani phonautograph.

BLAKE, EDWARD HARWOOD, lawyer, financier, railroad president. He had a course at Brown college and post-graduate course at Harvard. He then attended the Albany Law school; practiced law in Bangor; and was made president of the Merchants' National bank in 1887.

BLAKE, ELI WHITNEY, inventor, was born Jan. 27, 1795, in Westborough, Mass. The ideas that he originated still characterize the forms of American locks, latches, casters, hinges, and other articles of house-furnishing hardware wherever manufactured. His crusher is now used in all parts of the world for breaking ores, road metal, and similar purposes. Mr. Blake was one of the founders, and for several years president, of the Connecticut Academy of Science. He is the author of Original Solutions of Several Problems in Aërodynamics. He died Aug. 18, 1886, in New Haven, Conn.

BLAKE, ELI WHITNEY, educator, was born April 20, 1836, in New Haven, Conn. He has been professor of chemistry in the university of Vermont, at Cornell, at Columbia, and at Brown. He is a fellow of the American association for the Advancement of Science, and member of other scientific bodies, to whose proceedings he has frequently contributed valuable papers.

BLAKE, ELLYN J., educator, scientist, was born Nov. 7, 1842, in Wilbraham, Mass. She graduated from the Wesleyan academy of her native city; and for many years was engaged in educational work at Wilbraham and Palmer, Mass. In 1886 she began the treatment of hypertrichosis with electricity, and was the first woman to take legitimate instruction and make a specialty of the work.

BLAKE, MRS. EUPHEMIA VALE, journalist, author, poet, was born May 7, 1825, near Hastings, England. Her father, Gilbert Vale, was well known as an author, publisher, inventor, public lecturer and professor of astronomy and mathematics, who died in 1866 in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Blake has written extensively for the North American Review, the Christian Examiner, the Boston Transcript, and other well-known publications. Since 1857 she has lived in Brooklyn, N. Y., engaged in journalism. She is the author of Arctic Experiences; Teeth, Ether and Chloroform; History of Newburyport; and her latest work is A History of Tammany Hall, from its organization in 1789 to the present time.

BLAKE, GEORGE A. H., soldier, was born in September, 1812, in Pennsylvania. He served in the Seminole, Mexican and civil wars, and attained the rank of brigadier-general.

BLAKE, GEORGE SMITH, naval officer, was born in 1803, in Worcester, Mass. In 1857-65 he was superintendent of the United States Naval academy. Soon after the civil war broke out, the academy was removed to Newport. On the reorganization of the navy in 1862 he was promoted to commodore.

BLAKE, HARRISON G., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 17, 1818, in New Fane, Vt. He served four years in the Ohio legislature, and was president of the state senate in 1848 and 1849. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth congress, and re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress.

BLAKE, HENRY N., jurist. In 1875 he was appointed one of the associate justices of the United States for the territory of Montana.

BLAKE, JAMES, soldier, public official, was born March 3, 1791, in York county, Pa. He enlisted as a volunteer in the war of 1812. For thirty-five years he was the president of the Indianapolis Benevolent society.

BLAKE, JAMES VILA, clergyman, author, was born in 1842 in New York. He is a unitarian clergyman of Chicago; and the author of Poems; Essays; A Grateful Spirit; Anchor of the Soul; St. Solifer; and Legends from Story Land.

BLAKE, JOHN, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from New York state from 1805 to 1809; and was a member of the New York assembly in 1819.

BLAKE, JOHN B., financier, was born Aug. 12, 1802, in Colchester, Va. He was commissioner of public buildings during a part of the administration of President Pierce, and during the whole of that of President Buchanan. For many years he was president of the National Metropolitan bank of Washington city; and was connected with the board of public works in Washington.

BLAKE, JOHN B., railroad president, was born May 16, 1838, in Marlboro, Vt. Since 1892 he has been president of the West Virginia, Pineville and Tennessee railroad.

BLAKE, JOHN LAURIS, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 21, 1788, in Northwood, N. H. He was an episcopal clergyman of Boston long prominent as an educator. He was the author of Text Book of Geography and Chronology; Family Encyclopædia of Agriculture and Domestic Economy; Farmer's Every-Day Book; Modern Farmer; Letters on Confirmation; General Biographical Dictionary; Book of Nature Laid Open; Wonders of the Earth; and Wonders of Art. He died July 6, 1857, in Orange, N. J.

BLAKE, JOHN L., lawyer, congressman, was born March 25, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He removed to Orange, N. J., when fifteen years of age, and studied and practiced law. He was a member of the house of assembly in 1857; was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1876, and a candidate for presidential elector in the same year. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-sixth congress.

BLAKE, JOHN WALTER, banker, was born Aug. 6, 1858, in Leon county, Texas. He is prominently identified with the public affairs of his native state; was mayor of Mexico in 1895; president of the Texas Bankers' association in 1891, and has filled various other public offices of honor.

BLAKE, JOSEPH, governor, was born about 1620. He was governor of South Carolina in 1694, and from 1696 to his death in 1700.

BLAKE, MRS. LILLIE DEVEREUX, reformer, author, was born Aug. 12, 1835, in Raleigh, N. C. She is a prominent advocate of woman suffrage, and is the author of Fettered for Life; Southwold; Rockford; Woman's Place To-Day; and The Hypocrite, or Sketches of American Society.

BLAKE, MRS. MARY ELIZABETH, author, poet, was born in 1840 in Iowa. She is the author of Poems; Youth in Twelve Centuries; Verses by the Way. Her prose includes On the Wing, sketches of American Travel; A Summer Holiday; travel experiences in Europe; Mexico; Picturesque, Political and Progressive.

BLAKE, THOMAS HOLDSWORTH, congressman, was born June, 1792, in Calvert county, Md. He served at the battle of Bladensburg, in 1814. For many years he was a member of the Indiana state legislature, and was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1827 to 1829. Under President Tyler's administration he was commissioner of the general land office, and upon his resignation was appointed president of the Wabash and Erie Canal company. He died Nov. 28, 1849, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BLAKE, UPTON CLARENCE, lawyer, was born Sept. 2, 1845, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. In 1865 he graduated from Kenyon college of Gambier, Ohio, and has since attained prominence as an able and learned lawyer of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

BLAKE, WILLIAM PHIPPS, was born June 1, 1826, in New York city. He is a mineralogist of prominence and professor of geology in the University of Arizona. He is the author of Silver Ores and Silver Mines; California Minerals; Production of the Precious Metals; Iron and Steel; Ceramic Art and Glass; History of Hamden, Conn.; and Life of Captain Jonathan Mix.

BLAKE, WILLIAM RUFUS, actor, was born in 1805 in Halifax, Nova Scotia. He was, at different times, stage manager of the Tremont theater, Boston; joint manager of the Walnut street theater, Philadelphia, and stage manager of the Broadway theater, New York. He was the author of the plays Nero; The Turned Head, and The Buggs. He died April 22, 1863, in Boston, Mass.

BLAKELEY, ARCHIBALD, soldier, lawyer, was born July 16, 1827, in Butler county, Pa. In 1852 he was admitted to the bar and served three years as district attorney of his native county. He served as a union soldier during the civil war as colonel of the seventy-eighth regiment of Pennsylvania infantry. He was president of the general court-martial and military commissioner in the capitol at Nashville in 1862. He was in the battles of Stone River, Dug Gap, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, and Missionary Ridge, and commanded the brigade on Lookout Mountain during the winter of 1863-61. Since the close of the war he has practiced law in Pittsburg, Pa. He declined the governorship of Utah, tendered by President Johnson; declined office of adjutant-general of Pennsylvania, tendered by Governor Geary. He is the president of the Pennsylvania commission for the construction of monuments in Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Military Park.

BLAKELEY, JOHNSTON, commander United States navy, was born Oct., 1781, in Ireland. In 1807 he was made a lieutenant; in 1813 he was appointed a master commandant, and placed in command of the Wasp. In 1814 he was a captain, but never enjoyed the promotion, as the Wasp was not heard of after Oct. 9, 1814.

BLAKELOCK, RALPH ALBERT, artist, was born Oct. 15, 1847, in New York city. He has painted landscapes, Indian figures, and moonlight scenes. One of his pictures represents the Ta-vo-kok-i, or circle-dance of the Kavavite Indians. In 1882 he exhibited at the national academy Cloverdale, Cal.; Moonlight; and The Indian Fisherman; in 1884, A Landscape; and On the Face of Quiet Waters; and in 1885, Cumuli.

BLAKEMAN, ALEX. NOEL, journalist, was born July 18, 1840, in New York city. He received the rudiments of his education in the ward schools of New York city, and graduated from the College of the City of New York. During 1861-65 he was acting assistant-paymaster in the United States navy. He is the editor of the New York Shipping and Commercial List; president of the board of education of Mount Vernon, N. Y., since 1890; recorder of the New York Commandery Loyal Legion of the U. S., and was chief of staff under Grand Marshal Horace Porter in the inaugural parade at Washington on March 4, 1897.

BLAKESLEE, JAMES I., railroad president, was born Feb. 10, 1815, in Susquehanna county, Pa. Since 1870 he has been president of the Montrose railroad at Mauch Chunk, Pa.

BLAKESLEY, LOUIS WILLIAM, journalist, was born April 8, 1868, in Lafayette, Ill. In 1885 he moved to Logan, Kan., and subsequently taught school in that state. In 1890 he moved to Wyoming, and during 1892-93 was principal of the Lander high school. In 1893 he founded The Otto Courier, of which he is the editor and owner. In 1896 he was appointed by Governor Richards as one of the commissioners to organize the county of Big Horn, Wyo.

BLANCHARD, ALBERT G., soldier, was born in 1810 in Charlestown, Mass. During the Mexican war he served as captain of Louisiana volunteers, being at the battle of Monterey and the siege of Vera Cruz. At the beginning of the civil war, in 1861, he was made a brigadier-general in the confederate army. Since the war General Blanchard has been a civil engineer and surveyor in New Orleans.

BLANCHARD, AMY ELLA, author, was born in Baltimore, Md. For several years she taught school; then took up the study of art; and in 1881, in conjunction with Ida Waugh, published her first book, entitled Holly Berries. She has since made a specialty of works for young people, more particularly for girls; and her best known works are Twenty Little Maidens; Taking a Stand; and the Blanchard Library For Girls, consisting of Two Girls, Girls Together, and Betsy of Wye.

BLANCHARD, CHARLES A., educator, college president, was born Nov. 8, 1848, in Galesburg, Ill. This eminent educator has been president of the Sabbath association of Illinois; president of the Illinois Christian association, and president of the college section of the State Teachers' association of Illinois. He is now the honored president of Wheaton college, Illinois.

BLANCHARD, HELEN AUGUSTA, inventor, was born in Portland, Maine. Among her numerous inventions are the Blanchard over-seaming machine, and the crocheting and sewing machine; all of which are in use by immense manufacturing, and are ranked among the most remarkable mechanical contrivances of the age.

BLANCHARD, JAMES ARMSTRONG, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 16, 1845, in Henderson, N. Y. In 1864 he served in the civil war as a private in company 1, second Wisconsin cavalry. In 1873 was admitted to the bar, and at once began the active practice of his profession in New York city.

BLANCHARD, JOHN, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1787, in Caledonia county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1845 to 1849. He died March 8, 1849, in Columbia, S. C.

BLANCHARD, JONATHAN, congressman. He was a delegate from New Hampshire to the continental congress in 1783 and 1784.

BLANCHARD, JOSEPH, soldier, jurist, was born Feb. 11, 1704, near Nashua, N. H. He was a mandamus councilor from 1740-58, and judge of the superior court of New Hampshire from 1749-58. He commanded a New Hampshire regiment in 1755, and was engaged at Crown Point. He died April 7, 1758.

BLANCHARD, JUSTUS WARDWELL, soldier, was born in 1811, in Milford, N. H. Before the civil war he was captain of the Burgess corps of Albany, N. Y. He entered the national service as captain in the third New York volunteers in 1861, became lieutenant-colonel in 1863, and brevet brigadier-general of volunteers on March 13, 1865. He died Sept. 14, 1877, in Syracuse, N. Y.

BLANCHARD, NATHANIEL WHITSON, farmer, legislator, was born Aug. 19, 1849, in Hinds county, Miss. He is a successful farmer in Staffords, Miss., and has twice been a representative in the Mississippi state legislature. He has been a member of the county school board, chairman of the democratic executive committee, and filled various other public positions of trust in his city, county and state.

BLANCHARD, NEWTON CRAIN, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Jan. 29, 1849, in Rapids Parish, La.

He received an academic education; graduated as a bachelor of laws at the University of Louisiana in 1870; and commenced practice at Shreveport, La., in 1871. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1879; was appointed a major in the state militia, and was made a trustee of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn. He was elected a representative from Louisiana to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses, when he was appointed United States senator to fill a vacancy, and received the election for term ending in 1897. In 1897 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana.

BLANCHARD, NOAH FARWELL, financier, manufacturer, was born Jan. 22, 1821. The firm of Blanchard, Brother and Lane became one of the largest and best known manufacturers of patent leather in the United States. He died May 11, 1881, in Newark, N. J.

BLANCHARD, SAMUEL GRAY, educator, clergyman, was born Oct. 25, 1840, in Sandusky, Ohio. He received his education in Canada, and subsequently attended Eastman's Business college of New York city. For eight years he was engaged in educational work; since 1868 has been a clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal church, and now fills a pastorate in Los Angeles, Cal. In 1886 he was appointed presiding elder of the Santa Barbara district. He has been editor of several publications and contributes extensively to current literature.

BLANCHARD, THOMAS, inventor, was born June 24, 1788, in Sutton, Mass. While engaged with his brother in the manufacture of tacks by hand, he invented a machine which made 500 per minute, and sold the patent for $5,000. He also invented a lathe to turn the whole of a musket-barrel from end to end, by the combination of one single self-directing operation; the lathe for turning irregular forms, now in use in all armories, for making musket-stocks, also applied to busts, shoe lasts, handles, spokes, and a machine for bending timbers, called the compound bend. He died April 6, 1864, in Boston, Mass.

BLAND, BALLARD, jurist, was born in Kentucky. He was educated for the legal profession, and while residing in Louisville was appointed United States judge for the district of Kentucky.

BLAND, BESSIE, poet, was born Dec. 8, 1863, in Lynn, Mass. She is a successful writer of Lynn, Mass.; and her poems have been given a place in several standard works.

BLAND, CHARLES CLELLAND, soldier, jurist, was born Feb. 9, 1837, in Hartford, Ky. During the civil war he was captain of company D, Missouri infantry volunteers. This eminent lawyer and jurist was elected in 1881 as judge of the circuit court of the nineteenth judicial circuit of Missouri, which position he still holds (1898).

BLAND, RICHARD, statesman, was born May 6, 1710, in Virginia. He was for some years a leading member of the house of burgesses, and in 1768 was one of the committee appointed to remonstrate with parliament on the subject of taxation. In 1773 he was one of the committee of correspondence, and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1776. He died in 1790.

BLAND, RICHARD PARKS, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 19, 1835, near Hartford, Ky. He received an academic education; removed to Missouri in 1855, thence to California, and thence to that portion of Utah now Nevada, locating at Virginia City. He practiced law; was interested in mining operations in California and Nevada, and was county treasurer of Carson county, Utah territory, from 1860 until the organization of the state government of Nevada. He returned to Missouri in 1865; located at Rolla, Mo., and practiced law with his brother, C. C. Bland, until he removed to Lebanon in August, 1869, and continued his practice there. He was elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a silver democrat. In 1896 his name was prominently brought forward for president of the United States.

BLAND, ROBERT LINN, journalist, lawyer, was born June 2, 1868, in Jane Lew, W. Va. He attended the public schools of Weston, W. Va.; learned the printer's trade, and for a number of years was engaged in journalism. He founded the Buckhanon Dispatch, and was connected with different newspapers of his state. He was associated with R. H. Harrison in the publication of the Weston Democrat; has written extensively for city journals, and is now vice-president of the West Virginia Editorial association. He is the author of Mountain Memoirs, a local work of biographies.

BLAND, THEODORIC, soldier, congressman, was born in 1742 in Prince George county, Va. He rose to the rank of colonel, and had the command of a regiment of dragoons; in 1779 had command of the troops at Albemarle barracks, and continued in that station until elected to a seat in congress from Virginia, in 1780; served in that body three years, and was then chosen a member of the Virginia legislature. He was a representative in the first congress under the constitution, having voted for its adoption. He died June 1, 1790, in New York.

BLAND, THEODORIC, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1777. He was a lawyer by profession; was judge of the county court in Baltimore; judge of the United States district court of Maryland; and was twenty-two years chancellor of the state. From 1836 to 1841 he published in Baltimore, Reports of Cases Decided in the High Court of Chancery of Maryland. He died Nov. 16, 1846, in Annapolis, Md.

BLAND, THOMAS A., physician, lecturer, author, was born May 21, 1830, in Bloomfield, Ind. During the civil war he was a surgeon in the army. For twenty years he lived in Washington, D. C., with his wife and coworker, M. Cora Bland, M. D., also a skilful physician and able writer and a popular lecturer. He has been at the head of the Eclectic Medical society of the District of Columbia from the first; was its first president, and was re-elected by unanimous vote seven times since. He is the author of How to Get Well and How to Keep Well, and other works. As a physician and medical author, he has done much for progress in medicine and in a knowledge of the laws of health; and as a public lecturer he ranks high.

BLANDEN, CHARLES G., banker, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1857, in Marengo, Ill. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Tancred's Daughter and Other Poems.

BLANKS, JAMES BRAXTON, expert accountant, was born Jan. 9, 1839, in Petersburg, Va. He has been an accountant the greater part of his life, and for fifteen years teller and assistant cashier of three different banks; and commissioner of the revenue of the city of Petersburg for six years. He has been grand secretary of the Royal Arch Masons of Virginia; grand recorder of Knights Templars of Virginia, and grand secretary of Royal Arcanum of Virginia.

BLASHFIELD, EDWIN HOWLAND, painter, was born Dec. 15, 1848, in New York city. His favorite subjects are figures, with carefully studied landscape or architecture. Historical subjects and portraiture, with particular devotion to accuracy of detail, also claim his attention. Some of his principal paintings are A Poet; Toreador; Monseigneur; The Augur; A Roman Emperor; The Fencing Lesson—Roman Ladies; and The Besieged, a fine picture, has been exhibited in the royal academies of London and Edinburgh. He has been president of the Society of American Artists.

BLATCHFORD, ELIPHALET W., manufacturer, was born May 26, 1826, in Lansingburgh, N. Y. In 1854, he began the manufacture of lead in Chicago, Ill. His firm of E. W. Blatchford & Co., now incorporated, has been extremely successful.

BLATCHFORD, RICHARD MILFORD, legislator, public official, was born April 23, 1798, in Stratford, Conn. In 1826 he was made a financial agent for the Bank of England, and in 1836 appointed to the same position by the Bank of the United States, and assisted in winding up its affairs. In 1855 he was elected to the state legislature; in 1859 commissioner of Central Park, and subsequently of the public parks generally. When the rebellion commenced he was entrusted with funds for the recruiting service, and in 1862 was appointed minister to Italy. He died Sept. 3, 1875, in Newport.

BLATCHFORD, SAMUEL, jurist, was born March 9, 1820, in New York city. He was private secretary to W. H. Seward from 1839 to 1841, and military secretary on governor's staff up to 1843. He was made a counselor of the supreme court of the state in 1845. In 1855 he was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the state for the first district, but declined; in 1867 was appointed district judge of the United States court for the southern district of New York, and in 1882 was appointed an associate justice of the United States supreme court. He died July 7, 1893, in Newport, R. I.

BLATT, WILLIAM MOSES, lawyer, author, was born April 29, 1876, in Orange, N. J. He graduated from the Boston university law school; has been assistant editor of the New England Courier; librarian of the Boston university law school, and is the author of Leading and Important Cases in Massachusetts Common Law.

BLAUVELT, AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born April 7, 1832, in Covert, N. Y. He is a Dutch Reformed clergyman of New Jersey, deposed from the ministry on account of his liberal doctrinal views embodied in papers in the Century Magazine. He is the author of The Kingdom of Satan; and The Present Religious Crisis.

BLAVATSKY, HELENA PETROVNA, theosophist, was born July 31, 1831, in Southern Russia. Her father was Col. Peter Hahn, a descendant of the Von Rottenstern-Hahns of Mecklenburg, Germany. She studied the French and English languages in Paris and London; and wandered in Africa, Europe, America, India and Central Asia. She acquired complete control of her psychic faculties, and entered upon her life work of explaining the nature and source of such phenomena. In 1873 she came to America, and five years later became an American citizen by naturalization. In 1875 she founded the Theosophical society, with headquarters in New York city; and in 1879 began the publication of The Theosophist. In 1888 she published her monumental work, entitled The Secret Doctrine. The society which she founded now numbers over six hundred branches or lodges throughout the civilized world. She died May 8, 1891, in London, England.

BLAYNEY, FRANCIS SCOTT, educator, clergyman, lecturer, was born July 31, 1856, at Iberia, Ohio. He has been president of the University of Omaha, and organized and built the Second Presbyterian church of that city, and the First Presbyterian church of Hebron, Neb. This noted lecturer of psychology and ethics since 1890 has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Abilene, Kan.

BLECKLEY, LOGAN E., lawyer, jurist, was born July 3, 1827, in Rabun county, Ga. In 1864 he was appointed supreme court reporter; in 1875 was associate justice of the supreme court, and in 1887 was made chief justice of the supreme court.

BLED SOE, ALBERT TAYLOR, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 9, 1809, in Frankfort, Ky. He was a southern clergyman who left the episcopal for the methodist church, and wrote extensively on metaphysics and mathematics. He was the author of Liberty and Slavery; Examination of Edwards on the Will; Philosophy of Mathematics; Is Davis a Traitor? or was Secession a Constitutional Right previous to the War of 1861? and Theodicy. He died Dec. 8, 1877, in Alexandria, Va.

BLED SOE, JESSE, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born April 6, 1776, in Culpeper county, Va. He was at one time a distinguished advocate and jurist of Kentucky. He was a senator in congress from that state from 1813 to 1815; was professor of law in the University of Transylvania, and chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky. He died June 30, 1837, in Nacogdoches, Tex.

BLEECKER, ANN ELIZA, poet, was born in October, 1752, in New York city. Some years after her death her stories and poems were collected and published under the title of Posthumous Works of Ann Eliza Bleecker in Prose and Verse, with a memoir by her daughter, Margaretta V. Faugeres. She died Nov. 23, 1783, in Tomhannock, N. Y.

BLEECKER, ANTHONY, author, was born in October, 1770, in New York city. He was graduated at Columbia in 1791 and studied law, but never was a successful practitioner on account of his unconquerable diffidence. His natural tastes led him to the pursuit of letters, and for thirty years he was a prolific contributor of both prose and verse to the periodical literature of New York and Philadelphia. The Narrative of the Brig Commerce is one of his best-known works. He was one of the founders of the New York Historical society. He died March 13, 1827, in New York city.

BLEECKER, HERMANUS, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 19, 1779, in Albany, N. Y. He was a member of congress from New York from 1811 to 1813, and was appointed, in 1839, charge d'affaires at The Hague. He died July 19, 1849, in Albany, N. Y.

BLEISTEIN, GEORGE, journalist, was born Dec. 6, 1861, in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1885 he was elected president and treasurer of the Courier company, which is said to have the largest and best equipped printing and lithographing establishment in the world.

BLEWETT, BENJAMIN TURNER, educator, college president, was born Sept. 17, 1820, in Bowling Green, Ky. He graduated from the Georgetown college, and has been president of the Bethel college, Kentucky; and president of the Augusta college, Kentucky. This eminent educator is now connected with the St. Louis seminary of Jennings, Mo.

BLISH, GEORGE WILLIAM, elocutionist, was born March 1, 1837, in Rome, Ill. He is the founder of the Blish school of elocution, of Boston, Mass., and is one of the original organizers of Royal Arcanum. He is a fine interpreter of dramatic, humorous and dialect sketches.

BLISS, AARON T., soldier, lumber merchant, congressman, was born May 22, 1837, in Peterborough, N. Y. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the tenth New York cavalry, and was in the service three years and five months, six months of which time he was confined in the prisons of Andersonville, Charleston, Macon and Columbia; he made his escape from Columbia, and after eighteen nights of travel through rebel territory reached the union lines; he rose while in the service from private to captain. Since 1866 he has resided in Saginaw, Mich., where he engaged in the manufacture of lumber. He has held many positions of public trust in his own county, having been a supervisor, alderman, president of the school board for eleven consecutive years, and president of the Soldiers' and Sailors' association of northern Michigan. In 1882 he was elected a member of the state senate. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

BLISS, ARCHIBALD M., merchant, railroad president, congressman, was born Jan. 25, 1837, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He received an academic education and was for many years engaged in mercantile pursuits. He was for four years an alderman, from 1864, and president of the board in 1867, and was defeated for mayor in the latter year. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention in 1864, Chicago convention of 1868, and the Cincinnati convention of 1872, and in 1869 and 1870 was commissioner of public works for Brooklyn. He was a director in several banks, vice-president and director in the New York and Long Island Bridge company, and president of the Bushwick Railroad company. In 1874 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican.

BLISS, CORNELIUS NEWTON, merchant, was born Jan. 26, 1833, in Fall River, Mass. He was a member of the Pan-American conference; was president of the Protective Tariff league; was chairman of the republican state committees New York of 1887 and 1888; was treasurer of the national republican committees in 1892 and 1896; declined to be a candidate for the nomination for governor of his state in 1885, and refused to have his name presented to the convention for that position in 1891. He was chairman of the business men's committee which tried to nominate President Arthur for a second term in 1884, and was chairman of the committee of thirty in 1893. He was appointed secretary of the interior March 5, 1897, and was confirmed by the senate March 5, 1897.

BLISS, DANIEL, missionary, author, was born June 17, 1823, in Georgia, Vt. He is a congregational missionary, and president of the Protestant college at Beyrout since 1864. He is the author of Mental Philosophy; and Natural Philosophy (in Arabic).

BLISS, DON ALFONSO, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 14, 1854, in Artesia, Miss. He has attained success in the profession of law at Sherman, Tex.; has been alderman of his city, and is now judge of the fifteenth judicial district of Texas.

BLISS, EDWIN M'UNSELL, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Sept. 12, 1848, in Turkey. He is a graduate of the Amherst college and Yale divinity school. He is the editor of the New York Independent, and the author of Turkey and the Armenian Atrocities; and Concise History of Missions.

BLISS, ELIPHALET WILLIAMS, manufacturer, was born April 12, 1836, in Fly

Creek, N. Y. The corporation of the E. W. Bliss Co. now employs 600 men. The plant comprises extensive buildings and machine shops for the manufacture of tools, presses, dies, and patented articles of various kinds.

BLISS, GEORGE, state senator, was born Nov. 16, 1793, in Springfield, Mass. In 1827 he was elected to the lower branch of the legislature. He served for three successive terms, and also in 1853, when he was elected speaker. In 1835 he was elected president of the state senate. His attention was subsequently occupied with the completion of the Western railroad between Worcester and Albany, and prior to 1846 he was president of the road. He died April 19, 1873, in Springfield, Mass.

BLISS, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1813, in Jericho, Vt. In 1850 he was appointed president judge of the eighth judicial district of Ohio, serving one year, until the state constitution was changed. In 1852 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-third congress, and in 1862 was elected to the thirty-eighth congress.

BLISS, GEORGE, financier, was born April 21, 1816, in Northampton, Mass. In 1869 he associated himself with the firm of Levi P. Morton & Co., in the business of banking, under the name of Morton, Bliss & Co. The firm, with their London branch of Morton, Rose & Co., now stand in the front rank among the financial institutions of this country.

BLISS, PHILEMON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 28, 1814, in Canton, Conn. He was elected president judge of the fourteenth circuit court of Ohio; and in 1854 was elected a representative to the thirty-fourth congress; re-elected to the thirty-fifth congress; and was subsequently appointed a territorial judge in Dakota.

BLISS, PHILIP PAUL, singing evangelist, was born July 9, 1838, in Clearfield county, Pa. He was associated with Moody in his noted evangelical tours, was composer and singer of many of the sweet inspirational hymns which vivified their meetings. He was killed Dec. 30, 1876, in a railroad disaster in Ashtabula, Ohio.

BLISS, PORTER CORNELIUS, journalist, author, was born Dec. 28, 1838, in Erie county, N. Y. He was a journalist and diplomat of some repute as a philologist. He was the author of The Ethnography of Gran Chaco, a district of Argentina; Historia Secreta de la mision, del ciudadano noto Americano, Charles A. Washburn, cerca de gobierno de la republica del Paraguay; and The Conquest of Turkey 1877-78. He died Feb. 2, 1885, in New York city.

BLISS, WILLIAM, railroad president, was born Dec. 11, 1834, in Springfield, Mass. Since 1880 he has been president of the Boston and Albany railroad.

BLISS, WILLIAM DWIGHT PORTER, clergyman, author, was born in 1856. He is an episcopal clergyman of Boston, and prominent as a leader among Christian socialists. He is the author of A Handbook of Socialism; The Social Faith of the Catholic Church; and What Is Christian Socialism? He has edited The Encyclopaedia of Socialism.

BLISS, WILLIAM ROOT, author, was born in 1825 in Connecticut. He is a business man of New York city, and the author of Side Glimpses from the Colonial Meeting-House; The Old Colony Town and Other Sketches; Colonial Times on Buzzard's Bay; Quaint Nantucket; and Paradise in the Pacific.

BLIZZARD, T. H., educator, lawyer, was born Sept. 23, 1871, in Russell county, Va. For several years he was professor in Wood's academy; was admitted to the bar in 1894, and practices his profession in Flat Rock, Va.

BLOCH, JOSEPH C., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 24, 1856, in Hungary. He took a complete course in the State University of Iowa, and was admitted to the practice of law in 1880. He was elected to the Ohio house of representatives in 1891 as a republican. He is now judge of the Cuyahoga county court of insolvency of Cleveland, Ohio.

BLODGETT, LORIN, statistician, author, was born May 25, 1823, near Jamestown, N. Y. He is an eminent statistician of Philadelphia who has published over 150 volumes, mainly reports upon finance, revenue, and industrial progress. He is the author of The Climatology of the United States; and Commercial and Financial Resources of the United States.

BLODGETT, SAMUEL, inventor, was born April 11, 1724, in Woburn, Mass. He commenced the manufacture of duck. In 1793 he removed to New Hampshire, and began the construction of the canal which bears his name around Amoskeag Falls. He died Sept. 1, 1807, in Haverhill, Mass.

BLODGETT, DELOS ABIEL, capitalist, was born March 3, 1825, in New York. He is the owner of large timber lands in Michigan, Washington, Oregon and most of the gulf states, and is largely interested in real estate in Grand Rapids and Chicago.

BLODGETT, HARRISON H., lawyer, business man, was born Sept. 4, 1850, in Copenhagen, N. Y. He graduated from the law department of the State University of Michigan; and has attained success in the profession of law at Lincoln, Neb. He is also engaged in several business enterprises, and is the owner of Blodgett's park addition to Lincoln, Neb.

BLODGETT, HENRY WILLIAMS, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born July 21, 1821, in Amherst, Mass. He removed with his parents to Illinois in 1831; studied law in Chicago, and was admitted to the bar in 1844. In 1845 he located at Waukegan in the practice of his profession; was elected to the legislature of Illinois in 1852; to the state senate in 1858, and was appointed judge of the United States court for the northern district of Illinois in 1870. He was the pioneer in the building of the Chicago and Milwaukee railroad.

BLODGETT, MRS. MABEL (FULLER), author, was born in 1869 in Maine. She is the author of The Aspen Shade, a novel; Fairy Tales; In Poppy Land, a book of fairy tales; and At the Queen's Mercy, a tale of adventure.

BLODGETT, RUFUS, banker, United States senator, was born Oct. 9, 1834, in Dorchester, N. H. He moved to New Jersey in 1866 and engaged in railroad business, and is so engaged at present. He is president of the First National bank of Long Branch; and was a member of the New Jersey legislature. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention at Cincinnati in 1880, and was elected to the United States senate as a democrat and served during 1887-93.

BLOEDE, GERTRUDE, author, poet. She is a poet and novelist of Brooklyn who has usually written under the pseudonym of Stuart Sterne, and is the author of Angelo; Giorgio and Other Poems; Beyond the Shadow; Piëro da Castiglione, a tale in verse of the time of Savonarola; and The Story of Two Lives, a novel.

BLOEDE, MARIE, author, was born in 1821. Her poems and articles, both in English and German, attracted attention. Her husband, as the editor of the New-Yorker Demokrat, a daily republican paper, received assistance from her literary labors. She died March 12, 1870, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BLOOD, ARETAS, manufacturer, was born Oct. 16, 1816, in Weathersfield, Vt. He is connected with the Nashua Iron and Steel Co.; the Manchester mills; the Amoskeag Paper mill; the Manchester Hardware company, and the Second National bank of Manchester, of which he is president.

BLOOD, FRED GREELY, educator, lawyer, legislator, was born May 4, 1856, in West Potsdam, N. Y. For many years he taught school, and is now a prominent lawyer of Mount Vernon, Ill. He was the organizer of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union of Illinois, of which institution he was state secretary for two terms. He served with distinction as a member of the fortieth general assembly of the Illinois state legislature.

BLOOD, HENRY A., poet. He is a successful writer of Washington, D. C., and the author of a volume of poems entitled How Much I Loved Thee.

BLOOD, JARED P., soldier, lawyer, a lineal descendant of Sir Isaac Newton on his maternal side, was born Jan. 18, 1844, in Whitefield, N. H. He received his education at the Lancaster academy, N. H. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, enlisting in the first New Hampshire heavy artillery, company I, in August, 1864, and served until the close of the war.

He entered the classical course at Lombard university in 1866, and graduated in June, 1870, receiving the degree of A. B.; and subsequently received the degree of A. M. from the same institution. He has been vice-president, director and general counsel for the Lincoln Park company and the Sioux City and Morningside Railway company, of which he was one of the promoters. He has become one of the foremost lawyers of the west, and has an extensive practice in Sioux City, Iowa, where he is a prominent member of the Masonic order, G. A. R., and other fraternal bodies. He has also contributed extensively to law literature and various newspapers and magazines.

BLOODGOOD, D., medical director, was born in 1831 in New York. He entered the navy as assistant surgeon in 1857, and in 1884 was promoted medical director, with the relative rank of captain in the navy, and colonel in the army.

BLOODGOOD, FREEMAN A., educator, author, was born July 17, 1867, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He has attained success in educational work, has been superintendent of city schools, and is now county superintendent of schools of Fayette county, Iowa. He is the author of a textbook entitled Civil Government and School Law, and contributes to educational publications.

BLOODGOOD, SIMEON DE WITT, merchant, author, was born in 1799 in Utica, N. Y. He wrote The Sexagenary, or Reminiscences of the American Revolution; and a treatise On Roads, and contributed largely to the periodical press. A few months before his death he was appointed consul-general for the United States of Colombia. He died July 14, 1866, in New York city, N. Y.

BLOODWORTH, TIMOTHY, state senator, congressman, was born, 1736, in North Carolina. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina in 1790 and 1791; a senator of the United States from 1795 to 1801; and was one of those who voted for locating the seat of government on the Potomac. He died Aug. 24, 1814, near Washington, N. C.

BLOOM, JACOB, educator, musician, was born May 6, 1844, in Germany. For several years he has been teacher of the violin at Miss Baur's conservatory, of Cincinnati, Ohio. He has instructed many talented pupils who have become, in their turn, superior artists.

BLOOMER, AMELIA JENKS, suffragist, journalist, author, was born May 27, 1818, in Homer, N. Y. She married in 1840, and resided in Seneca Falls, N. Y., where she wrote frequently on the enfranchisement of women, and on Jan. 1, 1849, issued the first number of The Lily, a semi-monthly publication, devoted to temperance and woman's rights, which attained a circulation of 4,000. In the winter of 1855 Mrs. Bloomer addressed the territorial legislature of Nebraska on the subject of conferring the ballot on women. She took part in organizing the Iowa state suffrage association, and was at one time its president, but in later years withdrew entirely from public life.

BLOOMFIELD-MOORE, MRS. CLARA SOPHIA, author, poet, was born in 1824 in Pennsylvania. She is a Philadelphia writer who has lived much abroad, and chiefly in England, and is the author of Miscellaneous Poems; On Dangerous Ground, a romance of American Society; Sensible Etiquette; Gondaline's Lesson and Other Poems; Slander and Gossip; and The Warden's Tale and Other Poems.

BLOOMFIELD, JOSEPH, soldier, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born in Woodbridge, N. J. He studied law until 1775, when he became an active friend of the revolution. He was afterwards attorney-general for New Jersey; governor of that state from 1801 to 1812; was appointed a brigadier-general by President Madison, and was a representative in Congress from New Jersey from 1817 to 1821. He died Oct. 3, 1823, in Burlington, N. J.

BLOOMINGDALE, JOSEPH B., merchant, was born Dec. 22, 1842, in New York city. For a while he was engaged in the dry goods business in New York city, and in 1860 went to California. After working at various occupations in Nevada, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, he returned east and entered into business in New York city with his father and brother. Beginning in 1872 with three employes, they now employ nearly fifteen hundred workmen; and he is recognized as one of the leading merchants of New York city. He is prominent in the Masonic fraternity and is noted for his many acts of benevolence and charity.

BLOOMINGDALE, LYMAN G., soldier, merchant, was born Feb. 11, 1841, in New York. In 1872 he aided in organizing the firm of Bloomington Brothers of New York city, to transact a dry goods and general trade, and is senior partner of the firm.

BLOSS, JOHN M., soldier, educator, was born Jan. 21, 1839, in Washington county, Ind. He was a private in the twenty-seventh regiment Indiana volunteer infantry, company F. He has been an active member in county institutes, and has been president of the State Teachers' association.

BLOT, PIERRE, instructor, author, was born in 1818 in France. He was a noted cooking instructor of New York city, and the author of What to Eat and How to Cook It; Lectures on Cookery; and Handbook of Practical Cookery. He died Aug. 26, 1874, in Jersey City, N. J.

BLOUNT, AINSWORTH EMERY, agriculturist, horticulturist, author, was born Feb. 6, 1831, near Chattanooga, Tenn. During 1849-59 he was in the schools of New Hampshire and graduated from Dartmouth college in July, 1859. From that date to the breaking out of the civil war, he was president of the Cleveland Female college, Tenn. He then enlisted and was captain of a company in the first East Tennessee cavalry for over three years; and in 1865 again assumed the presidency of the Cleveland Female college until 1878. He then became professor of agriculture and horticulture in the Colorado Agricultural college, remained there until 1890, and has since occupied the same position in the New Mexico Agricultural college. He is the author of an important work on Agriculture and Horticulture for the Farmer. He has given a special scientific investigation to the improvement of the cereals, as well as all agricultural and horticultural products, soils, and irrigation.

BLOUNT, I. T., lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 22, 1846, in Ripley, Miss. He graduated from the Law School University of Mississippi, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Water Valley, Miss., where he has been mayor and also held various other positions of trust. He has served with distinction as a member of the Mississippi state legislature, and was a Cleveland elector in 1893.

BLOUNT, JAMES H., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 12, 1837, in Clinton, Ga. He received a classical education, graduating from the University of Georgia in 1857; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1859, engaged in practice and settled in Macon, Ga. He was a member from Georgia to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat.

BLOUNT, THOMAS, soldier, congressman, was born in 1760 in Edgecombe, N. C. He was a general of militia, and a representative from his native state in the twelfth congress. He died Feb. 7, 1812, in Washington, D. C.

BLOUNT, WILLIAM, United States senator, governor, was born in 1744 in North Carolina. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1782, 1783, 1786 and 1787, from North Carolina, and was governor of the territory south of the Ohio, having been appointed to that office in 1790. In 1796 he was chosen president of the convention of Tennessee, and was elected the same year, by that state, to a seat in the United States senate. While his impeachment trial was in progress in the United States senate he was elected a member of the state senate and made president thereof. He died March 10, 1810, in Knoxville, Tenn.

BLOUNT, WILLIAM G., congressman, was a representative in congress, from Tennessee, from 1815 to 1819. He died May 21, 1827.

BLOUNT, WILLIE, legislator, governor, was born in 1767 in North Carolina. He was secretary to his brother William while territorial governor of Ohio. He was a member of the Tennessee legislature; governor from 1809 to 1815, and a member of the state constitutional convention in 1834. He died Sept. 10, 1835, in Clarksville, Tenn.

BLOW, HENRY T., business man, state senator, congressman, was born July 15, 1817, in Southampton county, Va. He removed to Missouri in 1830; graduated at St. Louis university; devoted himself to the drug and lead business, and served four years in the state senate. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress. He died Sept. 11, 1875, in Saratoga, N. Y.

BLOWERS, SAMPSON SALTER, lawyer, jurist, was born March 22, 1742, in Boston, Mass. In 1785 he was appointed attorney-general and speaker of the house of assembly; and in 1797 chief justice of the supreme court, having had for some years a seat in the council. In 1801, he became presiding judge, which office he resigned in 1833. He died Oct. 25, 1842, in Halifax, N. S.

BLOXAM, HENRY, physician, lawyer, was born March 17, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa. He received his degree of medicine from the Kentucky school of medicine and attained success as a physician. In 1861 he was admitted to the bar, and also attained success in that profession. He was a representative in the county board for several terms; prominent in public affairs, and died Dec. 23, 1889, in Mount Auburn, Ill.

BLOXHAM, WILLIAM D., legislator, governor, was born July 9, 1835, in Leon county, Fla. In 1860 he was elected a member of the Florida state legislature; was presidential elector in 1868, and in 1870 was elected lieutenant-governor. In 1876 he was a member of the state executive committee; was appointed secretary of state in 1880 for a term of four years; and during 1886-90 was United States surveyor-general to Florida. During 1890-96 he was state comptroller. In 1896 he was elected governor of Florida for a second term of four years.

BLUE, RICHARD WHITING, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1841, in Wood county, Va. He enlisted in the third West Virginia volunteer infantry, and served first as a private and later as lieutenant in said regiment. He is a lawyer by profession and was in active practice when elected to congress. He has been probate judge of his county two terms, county attorney two terms, and a state senator of Kansas two terms, and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

BLUNT, EDMOND MARCH, author, was born June 20, 1770, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a bookseller of Newburyport whose chief work, The American Coast Pilot (1796), is still in use. He died Jan. 2, 1862, in Sing Sing, N. Y.

BLUNT, EDMUND, hydrographer, inventor, was born Nov. 23, 1799, in Newburyport, Mass. In 1855-56 he furnished the points to determine the exterior line of New York harbor. While he was on the coast survey his attention was directed to the inferiority of the lights in the American lighthouses, and he was the proposer and advocate of the introduction of Fresnel's system of signal-lights. He also invented the dividing-engine. He died Sept. 2, 1866, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BLUNT, GEORGE WILLIAM, hydrographer, author, was born March 11, 1802, in Newburyport, Mass. He was the author of Atlantic Memoir; Sheet Anchor; Harbor Laws of New York; and Plan to Avoid the Center of Violent Gales. He died April 19, 1878, in New York city.

BLUNT, JAMES G., soldier, physician, was born in 1826 in Hancock county, Maine. In 1861 he entered the army as lieutenant-colonel of the third Kansas volunteers. He commanded the cavalry in Gen. James Lane's brigade, and in 1862, was promoted brigadier-general and assigned to the command of the military department of Kansas. On Oct. 22, 1862, in the battle of Old Fort Wayne his Kansas and Cherokee troops routed the confederate force concentrated at Maysville, on the western border of Arkansas. On Nov. 28 he attacked and defeated Marmaduke's forces at Cane Hill, Ark. On Dec. 7, 1862, he encountered and defeated, with the aid of Gen. Herron, the confederates under Hindman at Prairie Grove. He died in 1881 in Washington, D. C.

BLYDENBURGH, CHARLES EDWARD, engineer of mines, lawyer, legislator, was born March 19, 1854, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in private schools; in 1870 he entered the Princeton college, and there graduated from the academic department in 1874. The same year he entered the Columbia college school of mines, and in 1878 graduated therefrom with the degree of engineer of mines.

During 1881-82 he was county superintendent of schools in Wyoming; and in 1888 was a member of the house of representatives of the tenth legislature of Wyoming territory. In 1889 he was admitted to the bar, and the following year became city attorney of Rawlins, Wyo., and served three terms. During 1892-94 he was president of the city council; and in 1896 was chairman of the democratic state committee of Wyoming. In 1898 he was nominated a justice of the supreme court of Wyoming.

BLYE, BIRDICE, pianist, was born in Iowa. When an infant she removed to Indiana, and her home has been principally in New York city. When ten years of age she played in concerts extensively in London and the chief continental cities; frequently playing before the royal families of England and Germany. She studied with the greatest of masters, and lastly with Rubinstein, who introduced her to the leading musicians of Germany as the coming great American pianist. She is thoroughly educated and speaks several languages fluently. She has an extensive repertoire; and her playing is noted for the grace and poetry of her interpretations, beauty of tone, and perfection of finish.

BLYTHE, JAMES, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 23, 1765, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. He was president of Transylvania college for several years, but resigned about 1818 and established a seminary for young ladies. In 1832 he accepted the presidency of South Hanover college, which he resigned in 1836. He died May 2, 1842, in Hanover, Ind.

BOARDMAN, ARTHUR EDWIN, railroad president, was born March 20, 1850, in Macon, Ga. Since 1894 he has been president of the Hendersonville and Brevard railway, at Brevard, N. C.

BOARDMAN, DAVID SHERMAN, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1768. For several years he was chief justice of the supreme court of Connecticut. He died Dec. 2, 1864, in New Milford, Conn.

BOARDMAN, ELIJAH, merchant, legislator, United States senator, was born March 7, 1760, in New Milford, Mass. He became a successful merchant; was frequently a member of the legislature; was a member of the council; and was a senator in congress from Connecticut from 1821 to 1823. He died Oct. 8, 1823, in Boardman, Ohio.

BOARDMAN, GEORGE DANA, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 18, 1828, in Burmah. He is a prominent baptist clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of Coronation of Love; Studies in the Creative Week; Epiphanies of the Risen Lord; Studies in the Mountain Instruction; University Lectures on the Ten Commandments; and The Divine Man.

BOARDMAN, GEORGE NYE, clergyman, educator, was born Dec. 23, 1825, in Pittsford, Vt. In 1859 he accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church in Bingham, N. Y. In 1871 he resigned this pastorate to accept a professorship in Chicago Theological seminary, which post he still holds.

BOARDMAN, HENRY AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1808, in Troy, N. Y. He was once a noted presbyterian divine of Philadelphia; and the author of The Bible in the Family; The Bible in the Counting-House; The Christian Ministry not a Priesthood; Earthly Suffering and Heavenly Glory; and A Handful of Corn. He died June 15, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BOARDMAN, SAMUEL WARD, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Aug. 31, 1830, in Pittsford, Vt. He graduated from the Castleton seminary in 1847, Middlebury college in 1851, and Andover Theological seminary in 1855; and has filled pastorates in the congregational and presbyterian churches. Since 1889 he has been president of the Maryville college of Maryville, Tenn.

BOARDMAN, WILLIAM W., lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1794, in New Milford, Conn. He was at one time judge of probate; for several years in the state legislature, and speaker of the house; and was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1841 to 1843.

BOARDMAN, ALECK, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1839, in Yazoo City, Miss. He served throughout the war as an officer in the confederate army. He began to practice law in 1866; and settled in Louisiana. He was a representative from that state to the forty-second congress to fill a vacancy; was judge of the state district court for one term; and in 1881 was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Louisiana.

BOARDMAN, CHARLES, naval officer, was born in Maryland. During the civil war he was on special service. He was retired with the rank of commodore on April 4, 1867, and made a rear-admiral on the retired list, Aug. 15, 1876. He died Sept. 13, 1879, in Martinsburg, W. Va.

BOATMAN, J. AUSTIN, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 7, 1848, in Jessamine county, Ky. He is a graduate of the De Pauw university, and has attained distinction as one of the foremost Iowa clergymen of the methodist episcopal church. He has filled pastorates in Iowa at Newton, Albia, Brooklyn, Washington, Bloomfield, and is now at Fairfield. He is the author of The Holy Mother, a poem; and Paido-Theology, a study of the status of childhood under Christianity.

BOATNER, CHARLES J., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1849, in Columbia, La. He was admitted to the bar in January, 1870; and was elected a member of the state senate in 1876. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses, and received the certificate of election to the fifty-fourth congress, but his seat was declared vacant March 20, 1896. At a special election held June 10, 1896, he was elected to the short term of the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

BOCKEE, ABRAHAM, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in North-east, N. Y. He was a member of the state legislature in 1820, a representative in congress from New York from 1829 to 1831, and again from 1833 to 1837. He was a member of the state senate from 1842 to 1845; and also held the position, in 1846, of first judge of the Dutchess county court. He died June 1, 1865, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

BOCOCK, THOMAS S., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1815 in Buckingham county, Va. He sat for several terms in the house of delegates, was elected to congress as a democrat in 1846, and sat for seven successive terms, until the ordinance of secession was enacted. In 1861 he was elected to the confederate congress.

BODEN, ANDREW, congressman, was born in Carlisle, Pa. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1821.

BODINE, ROBERT N., educator, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 17, 1837, in Monroe county, Mo. He has held the office of prosecuting attorney and been elected twice a member of the Missouri legislature, in which capacity he was a member of the committee on the revision of the statutes. He was a member of the board of regents of the Kirksville Normal school at the time of his nomination for congress; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BODINE, WILLIAM BUDD, clergyman, college president, was born March 10, 1841, in Burlington county, N. J. He has been rector of the Memorial church of Baltimore, Md.; president of Kenyon college, Ohio; and is now rector of the Church of the Savior of Philadelphia, Pa.

BODLE, CHARLES, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1833 to 1835. He died in 1836 in New York city.

BODLEY, RACHEL L., physician, chemist, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. She was elected dean of the faculty of the Women's Medical college of Pennsylvania, and lecturer on chemistry in the Franklin institute of Philadelphia. She died in 1888.

BODMAN, EDWARD CUSHMAN, merchant, was born March 22, 1840, in Charle-mont, Mass. He was in the grain trade in Toledo in 1865-85, being president of the Northern National bank there, 1873-82. He went to New York in 1885, and his firm of Milmine, Bodman and Co. have already won a name, ranking as a leading house in the grain trade.

BODWELL, CHARLES, farmer, legislator, was born in Methuen, Mass. He was a successful farmer and millwright of Dracut, Mass.; and in 1821-22 was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives.

BODWELL, JOSEPH R., governor of Maine, was born June 18, 1818, in Methuen, Mass. He opened quarries in 1852 on an island in Penobscot bay, and organized the Bodwell, and, in 1870, the Hallowell granite company. He served twice in the legislature, and in 1886 was elected governor by the republicans. He died Dec. 15, 1887, in Hallowell, Maine.

BOEDECKER, G. A. W., poet, business man. He is a successful business man of Brooklyn, Kan.; and contributes extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press.

BOEN, HALDOR E., educator, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1851, in Norway. In 1888 he was elected register of deeds and re-elected in 1890; was chairman of fifth congressional district alliance committee in 1890; was chairman of the first congressional committee of the people's party in the seventh district in 1892; and was elected to the fifty-third congress as the candidate of the people's party.

BOERUM, SIMON, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1724, in New Lots, N. Y. He was a delegate from New York to the continental congress, from 1774 to 1777. He died July 11, 1775, in Brooklyn Ferry, N. Y.

BOGARDUS, ABRAHAM, photographer, was born Nov. 29, 1822, in Fishkill, N. Y. Numerous improvements in the preparations of solutions, processes, and apparatus have been devised by him.

BOGARDUS, CHARLES, soldier, legislator, was born March 28, 1841, in Cayuga county, N. Y. In 1862 he enlisted as a private in the one hundred and fifty-first New York infantry; and was brevetted to a colonelcy for gallant and meritorious services before Petersburg. He was once severely wounded, and captured by the enemy. He has served with distinction as a member of the Illinois state senate.

BOGARDUS, JAMES, engineer, inventor, was born March 14, 1800, in Catskill, N. Y. He made important improvements in cotton spinning, invented many useful mechanical instruments, and in 1847 he built in New York city the first iron building in the United States. He died April 13, 1874, in New York city, N. Y.

BOGART, ELIZABETH, poet, was born about 1806 in New York city. She contributed to periodicals, chiefly the New York Mirror, under the pen-name of Estelle, her first pieces appearing in 1825. Specimens of her poetry are reprinted in Griswold's Female Poets of America. She wrote two prize stories, entitled The Effect of a Single Folly, and The Forged Note, evincing constructive ability; and He Came Too Late, and other poems.

BOGART, G. HENRI, educator, journalist, poet, was born Oct. 26, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has attained success as an educator and journalist. He is the author of about five hundred poems, including songs and recitation pieces.

BOGART, WILLIAM HENRY, author, was born Nov. 28, 1810, in Albany, N. Y. He was the author of Life of Daniel Boone; and Who Goes There? or Men and Events. He died Aug. 21, 1888, in Aurora, N. Y.

BOGGESS, CALEB, lawyer, was born April 29, 1822, in Lumberport, W. Va. In 1842 he was appointed a cadet in the Virginia Military institute, from which he graduated three years later with the highest honors. He then returned to Clarksburg and studied law, and practiced his profession for more than thirty years. He was elected as a union candidate to represent Lewis county in the convention of Richmond. He was the chief counsel for West Virginia of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He possessed a rare legal and mathematical mind; had a large practice in the supreme court of appeals of the state, and argued a number of important cases in the supreme court of the United States. He died April 14, 1889.

BOGGS, CHARLES STUART, naval officer, was born Jan. 28, 1811, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was promoted to the rank of captain on July 16, 1862, and was made a commodore July 25, 1866. He commanded the steamer De Soto, of the North Atlantic squadron, in 1867-68. In 1869-70 he was assigned to the European fleet, and prepared a report on the condition of steam-engines afloat. On July 1, 1870, he received promotion to rear-admiral, and was appointed lighthouse inspector of the third district. He was placed on the retired list in 1873. He died April 22, 1888, in New Brunswick, N. J.

BOGGS, GEORGE BRENTON, civil engineer, was born Jan. 8, 1844, in Somerville, N. J. He entered the railroad service in 1862; and is now chief engineer and comptroller of the Perkiomen railroad at Norristown, Pa.

BOGGS, JULIUS E., railroad president, was born Feb. 14, 1854, in Pickens county, S. C. Since 1891 he has been president of the Pickens railroad.

BOGGS, L. W., pioneer, governor, was born in 1798 in Kentucky. He was governor of Missouri in 1836, and took a prominent part in the expulsion of the Mormons. In 1846 he migrated to California, and in the years 1847-49 was alcalde of the Sonoma district. He died in 1861 in California.

BOGLE, JAMES, painter, was born in 1817 in Georgetown, S. C. He came to New York in 1836 and entered the studio of Prof. Morse, inventor of the telegraph and the founder of the national academy of design. He executed portraits of John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Chief Justice Jones, Bishop Atkinson, of North Carolina, De Witt Clinton, and Rev. Dr. Budington. Among his later pictures were portraits of Gen. John A. Dix and Henry I. Raymond. He died Oct. 11, 1873, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BOGUE, GEORGE MARQUIS, capitalist, was born Jan. 21, 1842, in Norfolk, N. Y. From 1875-76 he was a member of the Illinois legislature; in 1876 a member of the railroad and warehouse commission for the state of Illinois; in 1889-90 was president of the Chicago real estate board; and is also president of the presbyterian hospital and director of a number of business corporations.

BOGY, LEWIS V., lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born April 9, 1813, in St. Genevieve, Mo. He was several times elected to the state legislature; and was commissioner of Indian affairs in 1867 and 1868. He was one of the projectors and friends of the St. Louis and Iron Mountain railroad, of which he was for two years president. He was elected to the United States senate for the term commencing in 1873 and ending in 1879. He died Sept. 20, 1877, in St. Louis, Mo.

BOHMER, JOHN GEORGE, educator, college president, was born Nov. 9, 1848, in Rich Fountain, Mo. He received his education in the parish and public schools, from private tutors, and at the Jones Commercial college. He is one of the most prominent educators of the west; has filled the chairs of penmanship, bookkeeping, commercial law and English; and is now the president and proprietor of the Jones Commercial college of St. Louis, Mo., which was established in 1841 by Prof. Jonathan Jones. This college is the only institution in St. Louis that teaches bookkeeping by actual business practice; and their system is protected both by patents and copyright. Prof. Bohmer has made his college the leading institution of its kind west of the Mississippi.

BOIES, HENRY M., soldier, manufacturer, philanthropist, author, was born in 1837, in Lee, Mass. In 1882 he was chosen president of the Dickson Manufacturing company. He invented a new and improved steel-tired car wheel, now manufactured by the Boies Steel Wheel company, of which company he is president. He is the author of a work entitled Prisoners and Paupers.

BOIES, HORACE, lawyer, governor, was born Dec. 7, 1827, in Aurora, N. Y. In 1857 he was a member of the state assembly, and later resided in Buffalo. Soon after the close of the war Mr. Boies removed to Waterloo, Iowa, where he quickly obtained a profitable law practice. In 1884 he left the republican party and became a democrat, being elected by them governor of Iowa in 1890, to which office he was re-elected. In June, 1892, he was a prominent western candidate for the nomination to the presidency, and he is the democratic leader in his state.

BOISE, JAMES ROBINSON, educator, author, was born Jan. 27, 1815, in Blanford, Mass. From 1852 to 1868 he was professor of Greek in the university of Michigan, and after 1868 in the university of Chicago. He published in Chicago Xenophon's Anabasis, with English notes; the first six books of Homer's Iliad; Greek Syntax; First Lessons in Greek; and other text-books; and in 1884 Notes Critical and Explanatory on St. Paul's Epistles.

BOK, EDWARD WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born in 1863. He is editor of the Ladies' Home Journal; and the author of The Young Man in Business; Successward; and a Young Man's Book for Young Men.

BOK, WILLIAM JOHN, journalist, was born May 11, 1861, in Netherlands. In 1881, with his brother, he established the Bok Literary Syndicate Press of New York; and in 1887 was associated with his brother in compiling the Beecher Memorial.

BOKEE, DAVID A., naval officer, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1805, in New York. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1849 to 1851. He died March 16, 1860, in Washington, D. C.

BOKER, GEORGE HENRY, diplomatist, author, poet, was born Oct. 6, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a poet and diplomat of Philadelphia, and United States minister to Turkey and Russia. He is the author of four tragedies, Calaynos; Anne Boleyn; Lenor de Guzman; Francesca da Rimini, the first and last are the finest, the last having been revived with success in very recent years. His volumes of verse include The Lesson of Life; Poems of War; The Book of the Dead; Königsmark; Street Lyrics; Our Heroic Themes. Plays of lesser rank are The Widow's Marriage; and The Betrothal. He died Jan. 2, 1890, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BOLEN, DAVID WINTON, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Aug. 17, 1851, in Carroll county, Va. He was three times elected to the state legislature; was four years judge of the county court of Carroll county; and two years judge of the fifteenth judicial circuit of Virginia.

BOLES, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 16, 1837, in Clarksville, Ark. In 1863 and 1864 he served as a captain in the union army, experiencing many trials from ill-health and military arrests. In 1865 he was chosen judge of the fourth judicial district of Arkansas, which position he resigned early in 1868. He was elected a representative from Arkansas to the fortieth and forty-first congresses.

BOLL, JACOB, naturalist, author, was born May 29, 1828, in Switzerland. He was a pupil of Louis Agassiz, and was employed by Edward D. Cope to go to Texas and examine the fossiliferous, and iron deposits of that state, with a view to determining their geological character. He made many important discoveries in the formations that he explored. He died Sept. 29, 1880, in Wilbarger county, Texas.

BOLLAN, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born in England. He was an English lawyer who settled in Boston in 1740, and was subsequently colonial agent in London for Massachusetts. He was active in its behalf and wrote many political tracts for that end, among which The Mutual Interests of Great Britain and the American Colonies Considered, is a favorable example. He died in 1776 in Massachusetts.

BOLLER, ALFRED PANCOAST, engineer, author, was born Feb. 23, 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is an engineer of note whose specialty is bridge construction; and is the author of Practical Treatise on the Construction of Iron Highway Bridges; and Report on Thames River Bridge.

BOLLES, ALBERT SIDNEY, educator, author, was born in 1845 in Connecticut. He is a political economist of prominence, and professor in the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Chapters in Political Economy; The Conflict between Labor and Capital; Industrial History of the United States; Financial History of the United States, 1774-1860; and Elements of Commercial Law.

BOLLES, EDWIN CORTLANDT, microscopist, lecturer, was born Sept. 19, 1836, in Hartford, Conn. From 1870 to 1875 he was professor of microscopy in St. Lawrence university, Canton, N. Y., and since 1870 has lectured on that subject in Tufts college at College Hill, Mass. He has contributed articles on his specialty to periodicals, and published sermons.

BOLLES, FRANK, author, was born in 1856 in Massachusetts. He was a writer of nature studies of the school of Jefferies and Thoreau, though with important differences from either. He was the author of From Blomidon to Smoky; At the North of Bearcamp Water; Land of the Lingering Snow; and Chocoma's Tenants, a volume of verse. He died in 1894.

BOLLES, JOHN A., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 16, 1809, in Eastford, Conn. He was graduated at Brown in 1829, admitted to the bar in Boston in 1833, and in 1843 chosen secretary of state under Gov. Marcus Morton. He was a member of the harbor and back bay commission in 1852. From 1862 till 1865 he served as judge-advocate on the staff of Gen. John A. Dix, who was his brother-in-law. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865, and appointed naval solicitor the same year. He died May 25, 1878, in Washington, D. C.

BOLLES, JOSHUA A., journalist. He is the editor and owner of The Gazette of New Milford, Conn. His paper was established in 1872; and is fearless and independent in all that it advocates. He has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

BOLLINGER, ALBERT C., lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 22, 1870, in Steelville, Ill. In 1892 he declined the nomination for state's attorney of Randolph county, Ill.; and subsequently served as a member of the Illinois state senate.

BOLSTER, WILLIAM WHEELER, lawyer, author, was born in 1823 in Maine. He is a lawyer of Auburn, Maine; and the author of Digest of the Law of Tax Titles; and The Authority and Duty of Town Officers.

BOLTON, CHANNING MOORE, soldier, civil engineer, was born Jan. 24, 1843, in Richmond, Va. He served in the civil war; and from 1863-65 was commissioned officer in the engineers corps, Confederate States of America; from 1874-75 he located several small railroads in Virginia and North Carolina; and in 1876-79 was engineer in charge for the United States government. In 1887-88 he was president and manager of the Richmond City railroad.

BOLTON, CHARLES EDWARD, lecturer, author, was born May 16, 1841, in South Hadley Falls, Mass. He has attained a national reputation as a brilliant lecturer; and is the author of a work entitled Realistic Travels.

BOLTON, CHARLES KNOWLES, author, poet, was born Nov. 14, 1867, in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1887 he published a volume of poems entitled From Heart and Nature; and has also published a genealogy of the Bolton Family. He has traveled extensively in Europe, and has given art entertainments of one thousand brilliant views throughout America. His other works are:

Gossiping Guide to Harvard; Saskia the Wife of Rembrandt; Notes on Special Collections in American Libraries (with W. C. Lane). Verse: Poems: from Heart and Nature; The Wooing of Martha Pitkin; and the Love Story of Ursula Wolcott.

BOLTON, HENRY CARRINGTON, educator, scientist, author, was born Jan. 28, 1843, in New York city. He is a scientist and professor of chemistry at Trinity college; and the author of Application of Organic Acids to the Examination of Minerals; Literature of Uranium; Literature of Manganese; Student's Guide in Quantitative Analysis; and Counting-out Rhymes of Children: their Antiquity, Origin, and Wide Distribution.

BOLTON, JAMES, physician, surgeon, was born June 5, 1812, in Savannah, Ga. In 1855 he opened a private hospital in Richmond, Va.; was president of the Virginia State Medical society; and published many articles on subjects pertaining to surgery and medicine. He died May 15, 1869.

BOLTON, MRS. SARAH KNOWLES, author, was born Sept. 15, 1841, in Farmington, Conn. She is a miscellaneous writer of Cleveland whose successive collections of biographical sketches have been extremely popular. She is the author of Famous Givers and Their Gifts; How Success Is Won; Poor Boys who Became Famous; Girls who Became Famous; Famous American Authors; Famous American Statesmen; Successful Women; Social Studies in England; Famous Types of Womanhood; Famous Voyages and Explorers; Famous Leaders Among Men; and The Inevitable, a collection of pleasing, unpretentious verse.

BOLTON, MRS. SARAH TITTLE, author, poet, was born Dec. 18, 1815, in Newport, Ky. She was a writer whose name is kept in mind by her oft quoted poem, Paddle Your Own Canoe. She was the author of The Songs of a Life Time; and Life and Poems. She died in 1893.

BOLTWOOD, HENRY L., educator, author, was born Jan. 17, 1831, in Amherst, Mass. In 1853 he graduated from the Amherst college; and taught in the academies of Pembroke and Drury, N. H. During the war he was in the sanitary commission; was ordained an army chaplain, but never served. In 1865 he moved to Illinois, and two years later organized the first township high school in Illinois at Princeton. He is the author of several school books, and is still engaged in educational work at Evanston, Ill.

BOMBAUGH, CHARLES CARROLL, physician, author, was born Feb. 10, 1820, in Harrisburg, Pa. At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the army and served as a medical officer in Gen. Stone's division on the Potomac, and afterward in Gen. Sedgwick's division. In 1865 he established and has since successfully conducted the Baltimore Underwriter.

BOMBERGER, JOHN HENRY AUGUSTUS, theologian, college president, author, was born Jan. 13, 1817, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a German Reformed theologian, president of Ursinus college, 1870-90; and the author of Infant Salvation and Baptism; Revised Liturgy; and Reformed not Ritualistic. He died in 1890.

BOMFORD, GEORGE, military officer, was born in 1780 in New York. The cannons invented by him were further developed by Dahlgren, but were superseded by the Rodman type about the beginning of the civil war. In July, 1841, he conducted experiments to ascertain the expansive force of powder in a gun by firing bullets through tubes inserted in the sides. He died March 25, 1848, in Boston, Mass.

BONAPARTE, JOSEPH CHARLES, lawyer, was born June 9, 1851, in Baltimore, Md. He graduated from Harvard in 1871, and at the Harvard Law school in 1874, was admitted to practice, and has attained a respectable rank at the Baltimore bar.

BOND, ELIZABETH POWELL, educator, author, was born Jan. 25, 1841, in Clinton, N. Y. During 1865-70 she was director of physical culture in Vassar college; since 1880 has been a member of the faculty of Swarthmore college, Pennsylvania; and dean of that institution since 1890. She is the author of Words by the Way, and other works.

BOND, FRANK STUART, was born Feb. 1, 1830, in Sturbridge, Mass. In 1886 he was elected vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company, and has since then represented that company in the city of New York.

BOND, GEORGE PHILLIPS, educator, astronomer, author, was born in 1825 in Massachusetts. He was an astronomer of note, and a professor in Harvard university. He was the author of On the Construction of the Rings of Saturn; The Method of Least Squares; and Mathematical Memoirs upon Mechanical Quadrations. He died Feb. 17, 1865, in Cambridge, Mass.

BOND, HENRY, physician, genealogist, author, was born March 21, 1790, in Watertown, Mass. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1813, studied medicine, and practiced in Concord, N. H., and from November, 1819, till his death, in Philadelphia. For several years he was president of the Philadelphia board of health. Besides numerous contributions to medical and other journals, he published a remarkably thorough genealogical work entitled Genealogies of the Families and Descendants of the Early Settlers of Watertown, Mass., including Waltham and Weston. He died May 4, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BOND, HENRY HERRICK, lawyer, journalist, was born June 2, 1847, in Canterbury, Conn. He was treasurer of the Florence Savings bank; and with his brother-in-law he established the Northampton Journal. He died Oct. 22, 1881, in Millboro, Va.

BOND, HUGH LENNOX, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1828, in Baltimore, Md. In 1860 he was appointed judge of the criminal court of Baltimore, and in 1861 was elected to the same position, and served until 1868. In 1870 he was appointed United States circuit judge for the fourth judicial circuit, and soon after assuming the duties of his office he was called upon to preside in the famous Ku Klux trials.

BOND, JOHN R. S., journalist, was born in 1822 in Ohio. In his youth he traveled on horseback through the wilderness to Kankakee river, and then in a skiff down that river and the Mississippi to St. Louis. He owned at different times as many as eight western newspapers, was the founder of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and at the time of his death was editor of the Scioto Gazette. He died December, 1872, in Chillicothe, Ohio.

BOND, LESTER L., lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 27, 1829, in Ravenna, Ohio. During 1862-66 he was a member of the city council of Chicago; was presidential elector in 1868; and for two terms during 1866-70 was a member of the Illinois state legislature. He was one of the founders of the West Chicago park system; a member of the Chicago board of education; and in 1872 was acting mayor of Chicago. He was past commander of the Chicago commandery, Knights Templars; and in 1897 was elected vice-president of the Union League club.

BOND, SHADRACK, legislator, congressman, governor, was born in Maryland. He was a member of the first legislative council of Ohio in 1799; was elected a delegate to congress from the territory of Illinois from 1811 to 1815; and was the first governor under the state constitution. In 1814 he was appointed receiver of public moneys in Kaskaskia, Ill. He died April 13, 1832, in Kaskaskia, Ill.

BOND, THOMAS, physician, lecturer, was born in 1712 in Maryland. He was a distinguished practitioner of Philadelphia, delivered the first clinical lectures in the Pennsylvania hospital, and was associated with Dr. Franklin and Dr. John Bartram, the botanist, in a literary society of that city. He died in 1784 in Philadelphia, Pa.

BOND, THOMAS EMERSON, clergyman, physician, author, was born in 1782 in Baltimore, Md. In 1827 he published an Appeal to Methodists, directed against the proposed changes, in 1828 a Narrative and Defence of the Church Authorities, and in 1831 and 1832 he defended the polity of episcopal methodism in a journal printed in Baltimore called the Itinerant, of which he was editor. He subsequently edited for twelve years the Christian Advocate and Journal, the leading methodist organ, of which he assumed charge in 1840. He died March 14, 1856, in New York.

BOND, THOMAS EMERSON, clergyman, journalist, was born in 1813 in Baltimore, Md. He became a local methodist preacher, and also studied medicine and took his degree in Baltimore. His father was editor of the Baltimore Christian Advocate and Journal, and young Bond became his efficient assistant, distinguished for humor and sarcastic power. After the close of the war he was one of the originators of the Episcopal Methodist, the organ of the southern church, but subsequently severed his connection with that paper and established another journal in the same interest. After publishing that for a short time he consolidated it with the Southern Christian Advocate, published simultaneously in Baltimore and St. Louis, of which he was associate editor. He died Aug. 18, 1872, in Harford county, Md.

BOND, WILLIAM CRANCH, astronomer, was born Sept. 8, 1789, in Portland, Maine. He distinguished himself by his observations on Saturn and celestial photography. He, with his son, discovered a satellite of Neptune and the eighth satellite of Saturn. He died Jan. 29, 1859, in Cambridge, Mass.

BOND, WILLIAM KEY, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in St. Marys county, Md. He emigrated to Ohio in 1812; studied law and settled in the practice of the profession at Chillicothe, and subsequently at Cincinnati. He was at one time a colonel of militia; and was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1835 to 1841. He died Feb. 17, 1864, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BONEBRAKE, GEORGE HENRY, soldier, lawyer, merchant, banker. He won brevet as lieutenant-colonel, and later received from the war department the medal of honor. In 1883 he established the Los Angeles National bank, of which he has since been president to date. He has also established first national banks in Pasadena, Pomona, Riverside, Santa Ana, and Santa Monica, a state bank in Santa Paula, and the Savings bank of Southern California and the State Loan and Trust Co. in Los Angeles.

BONER, JOHN HENRY, poet, was born in 1845 in North Carolina. He is a poet and littérateur of New York city; and the author of Whispering Pines, a volume of poems.

BONES, MARIETTA M., philanthropist, social reformer, was born May 4, 1842, in Clarion county, Pa. Mrs. Bones was elected vice-president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, and annually re-elected for nine years, when Susan B. Anthony with thirty of her friends voted the organization into another. In 1882 she made her first appearance as a public speaker in Webster, S. D., where she now resides. She is an active temperance worker, and was secretary of the first Non-Partisan National Woman's Christian Temperance union in 1889; and she has taken great interest in all reform and charitable institutions. She is the wife of Hon. Thomas A. Bones, the president of the board of commissioners that built the Soldiers' Home at Hot Springs, S. D.

BONHAM, MILLEDGE L., soldier, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born in South Carolina. He was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth congress from his native state, and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He was a major-general of militia, and served in Mexico at the head of a battalion of South Carolina troops; and served as a major-general in the confederate army in 1861. He was governor of South Carolina from 1862 to 1864; and was a delegate to the New York convention of 1863. He died Aug. 28, 1890, in White Sulphur Springs, Va.

BONNELL, JOHN MITCHELL, college president, was born April 16, 1820, in Pennsylvania. He was a minister in Frankfort, Ky.; president of several female colleges; and in 1859 accepted an election to the presidency of Wesleyan Female college, where he remained for the last eleven years of his life. He died at the college in September, 1871.

BONNER, EDWARD L., merchant, banker, was born Aug. 18, 1834, in Orwell, N. Y. He is the principal owner of the present Missoula Mercantile Co., the largest and most influential house of wholesale and retail grocers in the northwest.

BONNER, ROBERT, publisher, was born April 28, 1824, in Ireland. In 1839 he was employed in the office of the Hartford Courant, where he gained the reputation of being the most rapid compositor in Connecticut. In 1844 he removed to New York, and in 1851 purchased the Ledger, at that time an insignificant sheet. By printing the most popular class of interesting stories, he gave the paper a wide circulation, which was further extended by the contributions of Fanny Fern, Edward Everett, Henry Ward Beecher, and other eminent authors and clergymen. He has made large gifts of money to Princeton college, and to various charities.

BONNEVILLE, BENJAMIN L. E., explorer, soldier, was born about 1795 in France. He was made brevet brigadier-general in 1865. He was the author of a Journal of an Expedition to the Rocky Mountains, edited by Washington Irving. He died June 12, 1878, in Fort Smith, Ark.

BONNEY, CHARLES CARROLL, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 4, 1831, in Hamilton, N. Y. He is a lawyer of Chicago, and the author of Rules of Law for Carriage and Delivery of Persons and Property by Railway; summary of the Law of Marine, Fire and Life Insurance; and Our Remedy in the Laws.

BONNYCASTLE, CHARLES, educator, mathematician, author, was born in 1792 in England. He was first professor of natural philosophy in the University of Virginia, and in 1827 was, at his own request, transferred to the chair of mathematics. He was the author of a treatise on Inductive Geometry, and several memoirs on scientific subjects. He died October, 1840, in Virginia.

BONSALL, HENRY LUMMIS, journalist, was born March 24, 1834, in Philadelphia, Pa. He established the New Republic in Camden, N. J., which he published for ten years; then left it to issue the Post as a daily in 1875.

BONWILL, WILLIAM G. A., surgeon, inventor, was born Oct. 4, 1833, in Camden, Del. In 1871 he moved to Philadelphia, where he soon took rank with the most skillful and accomplished of his profession. He gave to the world two inventions of the very highest utility, the surgical engine and the artificial tooth crown.

BOODY, AZARIAH, congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-third congress.

BOODY, DAVID AUGUSTUS, banker, was born Aug. 13, 1837, in Jackson, Maine. Several large corporations have secured his interest, and he has been elected president of the Louisiana and Northwestern railway; and vice-president of the Sprague National bank.

BOODY, HENRY HILL, business man, legislator, was born in November, 1816, in Jackson. In 1842 he graduated from the Bowdoin college; and in 1845 was elected to the chair of rhetoric and oratory, which position he held for nine years. He was then elected to the senate of the Maine state legislature, and subsequently represented his town in the house of representatives. Since 1855 he has been concerned in railroad enterprises, and has held positions of great responsibility requiring administrative skill.

BOOGHER, JOHN HOGAN, lawyer, lecturer, was born July 16, 1867, in St. Louis, Mo. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city; and graduated from the University of Virginia and the Washington University Law school. He is a fluent linguist and public speaker, and a noted law writer and lecturer; but is best known as an orator and skillful trial lawyer of St. Louis, Mo.

BOOK, JOHN W., catholic priest, author, was born Oct. 21, 1850, in Clark county, Ind. In 1873 he was ordained a catholic priest; and in 1886 was made dean of the Cannelton district, Indiana. He is the author of Short Line to the Roman Catholic Church; Side Switches of the Short Line; Thousand and One Objections to Secret Societies; Mollie's Mistake, or Mixed Marriages; The Book of Books; and other works.

BOOKER, GEORGE WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1821, in Patrick county, Va. He was justice of the peace, and then presiding justice of Henry county court, for ten years. He supported the government during the rebellion; and was elected to the house of delegates of Virginia in 1865. He was elected to the forty-first congress, in 1869, as a conservative; and was re-elected to the forty-second congress. He died June 4, 1883, in Martinsville, Va.

BOOMER, GEORGE BOARDMAN, bridge builder, soldier, was born July 26, 1832, in Sutton, Mass. He settled at an early age at St. Louis, as a bridge builder. He laid out and partly built the town of Castle Rock on the Osage river. As colonel of 22d Missouri volunteers he was present at the surrender of Island No. 10, and, at the battle of Iuka, was distinguished, and severely wounded. He was killed in a charge on the fortifications of Vicksburg. He died May 22, 1863, in Vicksburg, Miss.

BOON, RATLIFF, congressman, was born in 1781, in Franklin county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1825 to 1827, and again from 1829 to 1839. He died Nov. 20, 1844, in Louisiana.

BOONE, ANDREW R., lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born April 4, 1831, in Davidson county, Tenn. In 1854 he was elected a county judge for four years; and was re-elected, but resigned. In 1861 he was elected to the legislature, but resigned and returned home, where he remained until the close of the war; in 1868 he was elected judge of the first district of Kentucky, holding the position for six years; and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BOONE, DANIEL, pioneer, hunter, was born Feb. 11, 1735, in Bucks county, Pa. His name is always associated with the settlement of Kentucky, whose wilds he was the first white man to penetrate. He was the son of Squire Boone, who came to America from England in 1717. His ruling passions were love of adventure and fondness for the hunt. In 1812 he received from the Kentucky legislature a grant of nearly one thousand acres. He died Sept. 26, 1820, in Missouri.

BOONE, ENOCH, was born in 1777, in Boonesborough, Ky. He was the first white male child born in Kentucky. Daniel Boone's wife, with her daughters, went to live with her husband in his palisaded fort in 1776; but after Boone's capture his family returned to North Carolina. He died March 8, 1862.

BOONE, RICHARD GANSE, educator, college president, author, was born Sept. 9, 1849, in Spiceland, Ind. He graduated from the Spiceland academy, and has attained success in educational work. He has been superintendent of schools of Frankfort, Ind.; professor of pedagogy in the Indiana university; and is now president of the state normal college of Ypsilanti, Mich. He is the author of Education in the United States; History of Education in Indiana; and other works.

BOONE, WILLIAM F., jurist, was born in Maryland. He resided in Pennsylvania; and was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of New Mexico.

BOONE, WILLIAM JONES, protestant episcopal bishop, was born in 1847, in Shanghai. He studied theology at the divinity school in Philadelphia. Having been appointed missionary bishop, he was consecrated in Shanghai, Oct. 28, 1884, by Bishop Williams, of Yedo, and Bishops Moule and Scott, English missionary bishops in China.

BOORMAN, JAMES, merchant, was born in 1783, in England. He was one of the pioneers in the construction of the Hudson river railroad, and was for many years its president. He was also one of the founders of the Bank of Commerce. The Institution for the Blind, the Protestant Half-Orphan asylum, the Southern Aid society, and the Union Theological seminary were among the recipients of his bounty. He died Jan. 24, 1866, in New York city.

BOOTH, AGNES, actress, was born in South Wales. She has attained a national prominence as a noted actress; and has played in all the most popular cities in the United States.

BOOTH, ALFRED, business man, was born Feb. 14, 1828, in Glastonbury, England. He became a large dealer in oysters, and, as time wore on, opened stores and packing houses in different parts of Chicago. In 1880 Alfred E. and William V. Booth, sons, came into partnership with their father under the title of A. Booth and Sons, and the concern is now incorporated as The A. Booth Packing Co., capital, $1,000,000.

BOOTH, BALLINGTON, soldier, Salvation army commander, was born in 1857, in England. He is the second son of General Booth, general of the Salvation army in England. Ballington took command of the training school for the army at Hackney, London, in 1880; established the work in Australia in 1884; and in America in 1886. Being commanded by the general to leave America and go to another field of labor, Ballington resigned his command and organized the Volunteer army.

BOOTH, BENJAMIN, merchant, author. He made known his system of keeping accounts in a volume entitled A Complete System of Book-keeping by an Improved Method of Double Entry, containing also a New Method of stating Factorage Accounts, adapted particularly to the Trade of the British Colonies. It was written humorously, with fanciful entries, under the names of noted persons to illustrate the new method.

BOOTH, EDWIN, actor, was born Nov. 13, 1833, in Bel Air, Md. He made his first regular appearance upon the stage at the Boston museum in 1849. Edwin Booth continued to act with his father for more than two years after the advent of the Boston museum. His father being ill, he suddenly and promptly took the place of the elder tragedian, and for the first time in his life enacted

Richard III. This effort, remarkably successful for a comparative novice, was hailed as the indication of great talent and as the augury of a brilliant future. He died June 7, 1893, in New York.

BOOTH, EDWIN S., lawyer, legislator, was born March 24, 1865, in Keokuk, Iowa. He graduated from the Keokuk high school, and from the Keokuk college of law. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Butte, Mont., has been an attorney of Silver Bow county; and has served as a member of the fourth legislative assembly of Montana.

BOOTH, EMMA SCARR, author, was born April 25, 1835, in England. She is the author of three volumes, entitled Karan Kringle's Journal; A Willful Heiress; and Poems. She has also composed numerous songs and instrumental pieces.

BOOTH, HENRY MATTHIAS, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 3, 1843, in New York city. He is an eminent presbyterian clergyman and the president of the Auburn Theological seminary of New York. He is the author of The Heavenly Vision and other Sermons; Sunrise, Noonday, and Sunset of the Day of Grace; and First Communion.

BOOTH, JOHN WILKES, actor, was born in 1838, in Bel Air, Md. He first appeared on the stage in St. Charles, Baltimore, and proved himself to be an actor of earnestness and promise. His last appearance was at Ford's theater, in Washington, which was attended by President Lincoln, who was assassinated by Booth the same night. He died April 26, 1865.

BOOTH, JUNIUS BRUTUS, actor, was born May 1, 1796, in London, England. He gained a triumph as a substitute for Edmund Kean in the character of Sir Giles Overreach, captivating an audience that was at first indignant at the young actor's presumption. He continued to play at Worthing, and found influential admirers, who prevailed upon the manager, Harris, to give him a trial as Richard III., at Covent garden, where he appeared in that character in 1817, and delighted the metropolitan audience. He died Nov. 3, 1852.

BOOTH, MARY A., microscopist, author, was born Sept. 9, 1843, in Longmeadow, Mass. She is the editor of Practical Microscopy of Springfield, Mass.; and the author of several works on that subject.

BOOTH, MARY LOUISE, journalist, author, was born April 19, 1831, in Yaphank, N. Y. She was the editor of Harper's Bazar from its establishment in 1867 to 1889. She made over thirty valuable translations from the French. A History of the City of New York was her only piece of original writing. She died March 5, 1889, in New York city.

BOOTH, NEWTON, merchant, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Dec. 25, 1825, in Salem, Ind. He graduated at the Asbury university in 1846; studied law in Terre Haute, and came to the bar in 1850. He was elected to the California state senate in 1863; and was elected governor of the state in 1871; elected a senator in congress from California, and served during 1875-81.

BOOTH, WALTER, soldier, merchant, manufacturer, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1791, in Woodbridge, Conn. For eighteen years he was president of the Meriden bank; was a member of the Connecticut general assembly and state senate; and in 1834 was associate judge of the county court. He was major-general of militia; and was elected a member of the thirty-first congress.

BOOTHMAN, M. M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1846, in Williams county, Ohio. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses.

BOOZE, WILLIAM S., physician, congressman, was born Jan. 9, 1862, in Baltimore, Md. He was educated at the public schools and at the Baltimore City college; graduated from the latter in 1879; and studied medicine and graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1882. He was nominated for congress by the republicans of the third congressional district in 1894 against Harry Welles Rusk, whose election to the house of representatives he contested unsuccessfully; and was renominated and elected in 1896 to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican. He is also president of The League of Republican clubs of Maryland.

BORDEN, JOSEPH, congressman. He was a delegate from New Jersey to the colonial congress held in New York in 1765.

BORDEN, MATTHEW CHALONER DUFREE, merchant, manufacturer, was born July 18, 1842, in Fall River, Mass.

Their mills contain about 200,000 spindles and more than 5,000 looms, producing 35,000 pieces of print cloth weekly, or about one-half the whole amount required by The American Printing Co. The two companies are of enormous value to Fall River. He takes a prominent part in public affairs, and is identified with various philanthropic movements.

He takes a prominent part in public affairs, and is identified with various philanthropic movements.

BORDEN, NATHANIEL B., legislator, state senator, congressman, was born April 15, 1801, in Fall River, Mass. He was a member of the state legislature in 1831, 1834, and 1851; and was a representative in congress from the Fall River district, in that state, from 1835 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1843. He was a state senator from 1845 to 1848. He died April 10, 1865, in Fall River, Mass.

BORDEN, SIMEON, inventor, was born Jan. 29, 1798, in Freetown, Mass. He devised and constructed, in 1830, an apparatus for measuring the base line of the trigonometrical survey of Massachusetts, which was found to be more accurate and convenient than any instrument of the kind then in existence. He was employed as surveyor in the case of Rhode Island vs. Massachusetts, tried before the United States supreme court in 1844. After the case was decided he surveyed and marked the boundary line between the two states. He died Oct. 28, 1856, in Fall River, Mass.

BORDLEY, JOHN BEALE, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 11, 1727, in Annapolis, Md. He was judge of the provincial court in 1766 and of the admiralty court in 1767-76, and a commissioner to fix the boundary-line between Maryland and Delaware in 1768. He was one of the few members of the provincial councils who sympathized with the movement for independence. Removing to Philadelphia in 1793, he established there the first agricultural society in the United States. By his experiments upon his estate in Wye island, Chesapeake bay, and by his writings, he was instrumental in diffusing a knowledge of the art of husbandry. He published Forsyth on Fruit-Trees, with Notes; On Rotation of Crops; Essays and Notes on Husbandry and Rural Affairs, with Plates; and A View of the Courses of Crops in England and Maryland. He died Jan. 26, 1804, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BOREMAN, ARTHUR INGRAM, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born July 24, 1823, in Waynesburg, Pa. In 1855 he was elected to the house of delegates of Virginia, and was re-elected until 1860. He was also a member of the extra session of the legislature in 1861, taking an active part against the secession movement. He was president of the Wheeling convention of 1861, to reorganize the government of Virginia. He was elected a judge of the circuit court, and held the office until 1863, when he was elected governor of West Virginia. He was twice re-elected, and was still in that office when elected a senator in congress from West Virginia, for the term commencing in 1869, and ending in 1875. In 1888 he was elected judge of the fifth circuit of West Virginia; and died April 19, 1896, while serving in that office.

BOREMAN, JACOB E., journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 4, 1831, in Middletown, W. Va. He was elected city attorney of Kansas City, Mo., in 1861; assisted in raising troops for the war; and in 1862 was appointed a judge of common pleas, and elected to the same by the people. He was elected a member of the Kansas state legislature in 1869. He subsequently purchased an interest in the Kansas City Bulletin and became its editor. In 1873 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Utah.

BOREN, SAMUEL HAMPSON, pioneer, soldier, planter, was born Dec. 3, 1811, in Tennessee. In 1838 he removed to the republic of Texas; volunteered in 1846, and served in the Mexican war with distinction as a lieutenant of cavalry under Gen. Zachary Taylor, and was in the battles of Monterey and Buena Vista. As a planter and cotton merchant he amassed a fortune. He died Sept. 28, 1881, and lies buried in Tyler, Texas, where his descendants live.

BORIE, ADOLPH E., merchant, public official, was born in 1809, in Philadelphia, Pa. Though not an active politician, he was one of the originators, and moneyed supporters, of the Union league in Philadelphia, and was elected vice-president of that body. In 1869 he was appointed to a seat in the cabinet as secretary of the navy. He died Feb. 5, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BORLAND, CHARLES, congressman, was born in Orange county, N. Y. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1820; a representative in congress from that state from 1821 to 1823; and was again elected to the assembly in 1836.

BORLAND, SOLON, soldier, United States senator, was born in Virginia. He served in the war with Mexico as a volunteer; was a presidential elector in 1844; and was a senator in congress from Arkansas from 1848 to 1853. He was appointed, by President Pierce, minister to Central America. He took part in the rebellion of 1861 as a brigadier-general, and before the state had seceded raised troops and captured Fort Smith. He died Jan. 31, 1864, in Texas.

BORST, ALBERT, composer, was born July 22, 1841, in Liverpool, England. He graduated in Zurich, Switzerland. He has composed pianoforte and church music, and an operetta. He is prominent in the musical affairs of Philadelphia, Pa.

BORST, PETER L., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Schoharie county, N. Y., from 1829 to 1831. He died Nov. 14, 1848, in Middleburg, N. Y.

BORUM, WILLIAM DRAKE LECHLER, lawyer, philanthropist, was born

Aug. 4, 1862, in Strasburg, Va. He graduated from the Randolph Macon college, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Baltimore, Md. During 1884-88 he was journal clerk of the Virginia house of delegates. He is the assistant counsel to the Denver, Texas and Fort Worth Railroad company, and to the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad company. He devotes much of his time to christian education and the reformation of children.

BOSLER, CHARLES H., lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 8, 1866, in Dayton, Ohio. Since 1873 he has practiced law in Dayton, Ohio. He was elected to the house of representatives of the seventy-first Ohio general assembly as a republican, re-elected to the seventy-second general assembly, and served as speaker pro tempore of the house. In April, 1896, he represented Ohio at the Tennessee centennial exposition of 1897.

BOSLER, JAMES WILLIAMSON, merchant, was born April 4, 1833, in Hogestown, Pa. He was the organizer and president of The Palo Blanco Cattle Co. of New Mexico. The election of President Garfield was due to him as much as to any other man in the United States, the financial part of that campaign being organized by him, when it had begun to droop. The handsome James W. Bosler memorial building, of Dickinson college, perpetuates his name. He died Dec. 17, 1883, in Carlisle, Pa.

BOSS, JOHN L., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Rhode Island from 1815 to 1819.

BOSSIER, PETER E., state senator, congressman. After serving ten years in the state senate, he was elected a member of the twenty-eighth congress from that state. He died April 24, 1844, in Washington, D. C.

BOSTWICK, DAVID, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 8, 1721, in New Milford, Conn. He was pastor of the church at Jamaica, L. I., from 1745 to 1756, and of the presbyterian church in New York from 1756 till his death. He published a sermon, Self Disclaimed, and Christ Exalted; a Life of President Davies, prefixed to his sermon on the Death of George II.; and a Vindication of Infant Baptism. He died Nov. 12, 1763, in New York city.

BOSTWICK, MRS. HELEN LOUISE, poet, was born in 1826, in Charleston, N. H. She is the author of Buds, Blossoms and Berries.

BOSWICK, WILLIAM L., politician, regent, was born March 15, 1837, in Enfield, N. Y. He was elected regent of the university of New York in 1876, and served the state as canal appraiser from 1879 to 1882. He was appointed cashier of the United States custom house in 1889, which position he still holds.

BOTELER, ALEXANDER R., congressman, was born May 16, 1815, in Shepherdstown, Va. In 1859 he was elected a representative from Virginia to the thirty-sixth congress. During a part of the rebellion he served as a representative in the so-called confederate congress; and in 1875 was appointed a commissioner to the centennial exhibition.

BOTKIN, ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, lawyer, statesman, was born Oct. 13, 1842, in Madison, Wis. He was a graduate of the university of Wisconsin, and from the law department of the university of Albany. From 1878 to 1885 he was United States marshal of Montana; from 1893 to 1897 was lieutenant-governor of Montana; and in 1896 was republican candidate for governor of that state.

BOTKIN, JEREMIAH D., clergyman, congressman, was born April 24, 1849, in Logan county, Ill. He has filled leading pulpits in his conference; served six years as presiding elder; was delegate to the general conference held in New York city in 1888, and to the ecumenical conference in Washington, D. C., 1891; was early imbued with abolition sentiments and was a republican until recent years. He made three attempts to enter the army during the last year of the war, but being under age and size was rejected. He was prohibition candidate for governor of Kansas in 1888; and having early espoused the populist cause, that party nominated him for congress in the third district in 1894, but he was defeated; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a populist on the fusion ticket, as congressman at large.

BOTSFORD, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born in April, 1763, in New Haven, Conn. He was admitted to the bar in 1795; was a judge of admiralty in New Brunswick in 1802-7; was elected to the assembly in 1812, and for every succeeding term until 1823, holding the office of speaker from 1817 to 1823; and in the latter year became judge of the supreme court. He died May 8, 1864, in Sackville, N. B.

BOTTA, MRS. ANNE CHARLOTTE [LYNCH], author, was born in 1820, in Bennington, Vt. She was a well-known New York writer whose weekly receptions were for many years the nearest approach in New York city to a salon. She was the author of Handbook of Universal Literature; Leaves from the Diary of a Recluse; and Poems. She died March 23, 1891, in New York city.

BOTTA, VINCENZO, educator, author, was born Nov. 11, 1818, in Italy. He was an Italian educator who came to the United States in 1853, and was for a long period a professor of Italian literature in the university of New York. He was the author of The System of Education in Piedmont; Life of Cavour; Historical Account of Modern Philosophy in Italy; and Dante as Philosopher, Patriot, and Poet. He died in 1894.

BOTTOM, NORPHIE ERNEST, journalist, poet, was born Nov. 14, 1869, in Anna, Ill. He is the editor and owner of The Enterprise, of Ong, Neb.; and his poems have been given a place in several standard works.

BOTTS, JOHN MINOR, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Sept. 16, 1802, in Dumfries, Va. He served in the legislature from 1833 to 1839, when he was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, and occupied that position until 1843. He was also elected to the thirtieth congress. During the rebellion he remained faithful to the government of the United States; and was a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866. He was the author of Letters on the Nebraska Question; and The Great Rebellion. He died Jan. 7, 1869, in Culpeper, Va.

BOTTSFORD, SHELDON E., clergyman, poet, was born Nov. 15, 1868, in Edinburgh, Mo. For many years he was engaged in educational work; then became a lawyer; and subsequently was ordained a clergyman.

BOTTY, HENRY C., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 27, 1854, in New York city. He has been engaged in the general practice of law in all its branches in his native city. In 1895 he was appointed chief justice of the city court of New York.

BOUCICAULT, DION, playwright, actor, was born Dec. 26, 1822, in Ireland. He was a successful actor; and among his dramatic writings are Rip Van Winkle; Led Astray; Colleen Bawn; and many other noted plays. He died Sept. 18, 1890, in New York city.

BOUCK, GABRIEL, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 16, 1828, in Fulton, N. Y. He was attorney-general of the state of Wisconsin in 1858-59; and was a representative in the state legislature in 1860. He entered the union army in 1861 and rose to the rank of colonel. He was a delegate to the democratic national conventions of 1868 and 1872; was again a member of the assembly in 1874, and was speaker. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses.

BOUCK, JOSEPH, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1831 to 1833.

BOUCK, WILLIAM C., state senator, governor, was born in 1786, in Schoharie county, N. Y. He was a member of the state assembly in 1813, 1815 and 1817; state senator in 1820; canal commissioner from 1821 to 1840; and governor of the state from 1843 to 1845. In 1846 he was a member of the constitutional convention; and from 1846 to 1849 was assistant treasurer of the United States in New York city. He died April 19, 1859, in Schoharie, N. Y.

BOUDE, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1801 to 1803.

BOUDINOT, ELIAS, philanthropist, author, was born May 2, 1740, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a philanthropist of Burlington, N. J., and the first president of the American Bible society. He was the director of the mint of Philadelphia in 1796-1805. He was the author of The Second Advent of the Messiah; The Age of Revelation, a reply to Paine; and The Star in the West, an attempt to identify the American Indians with the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel. He died Oct. 24, 1821, in Burlington.

BOUGHTON, GEORGE HENRY, artist, was born in 1836, in England. His works are popular and meet with a ready sale. They are marked by simplicity, tenderness, and subdued, but not weak, coloring. He excels in delineating Puritan life in New England. Among his pictures on American subjects are The Scarlet Letter; Return of the Mayflower; Puritans Going to Church; and Rose Standish. The Testy Governor is in the Corcoran gallery at Washington, D. C.

BOUGHTON, MARTHA ARNOLD, author, was born Feb. 18, 1857, in Corunna, Mich. In 1880 she graduated from the university of Michigan with the degree of Ph. B. She taught school in Detroit, Mich., until 1884, when she married Willis

Boughton, an eminent educator and author. In 1895 she was one of the Ohio delegates to the international convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, held in London, England. She is the author of Memoir of John Motte Arnold (her father); and a volume of poems, entitled Stars Through Cypress Trees.

BOUGHTON, WILLIS, educator, author, was born April 17, 1854, in Victor, N. Y. In 1873-74 he was a student of the university of Illinois; taught school in western Illinois for three years before going to the university of Michigan, from which institution he graduated in 1881. During 1881-82 he was editor of the Ann Arbor Courier; in 1886-88 was employed as writer for Allen's History of Civilization; and in 1890-92 was joint-editor of the Journal of Pedagogy. In 1889 he was instructor in the technical school of Cincinnati, Ohio; during 1889-91 filled the chair of history and English literature in the Ohio university; in 1891-92 was lecturer on English in the university of Pennsylvania; and since 1892 has filled the chair of rhetoric and English literature in the Ohio university. He is the author of Mythology in Art; History of Ancient Peoples; and other works.

BOUC, WILLIAM VEIRS, lawyer, was born July 20, 1846, near Rockville, Md. He attended the Rockville academy until seventeen years of age; then attended the Columbian university of Washington, graduating therefrom in 1868 as A. B., afterward receiving the degree of A. M. from the same university. He studied law under the instruction of his father, the late Judge William Veirs Bouc, and since his admission to the bar in 1870 has been engaged continuously in that profession, and is now the vice-president of the Maryland Bar association. For seventeen years he was mayor of Rockville, Md.; chairman of the judicial and congressional conventions of the sixth district of Maryland; and presidential elector in 1892.

BOULDIN, JAMES W., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1833 to 1839, having been elected to the twenty-third congress in place of his brother, T. T. Bouldin, deceased.

BOULDIN, POWHATAN, journalist, author, was born May 24, 1830, in Charlotte county, Va. For thirty years he was editor and proprietor of The Weekly Times of Danville, Va. He is the author of Home Reminiscences of John Randolph; and The Old Trunk, or Sketches of Colonial Days, which latter work has gone through two editions.

BOULDIN, THOMAS T., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a member of congress from Virginia from 1829 to 1833. Before entering congress he had been a lawyer of high rank, and an able and upright judge, highly respected for his talents and integrity. He died Feb. 11, 1834, in Washington, D. C.

BOULIGNEY, DOMINIQUE, lawyer, United States senator, was born in Louisiana. He was a lawyer by profession; and was a senator in congress from that state from 1824 to 1829. He died March 5, 1833, in New Orleans, La.

BOULIGNEY, JOHN EDWARD, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1824, in New Orleans, La., of creole descent. He was elected a representative from Louisiana to the thirty-sixth congress; and of the representatives of twelve millions of people, he was the only one who refused to abandon his state to the leaders of the secession movement, and continued in congress until the close of his term. He died Feb. 20, 1864, in Washington, D. C.

BOUND, FRANKLIN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1829, in Milton, Pa. He was elected a state senator in 1860, and served three years, declining a renomination. He was a delegate to the republican gubernatorial convention of the state in 1864; was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1868; and in 1884 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

BOURGEOIS, CHARLES A., planter, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 1, 1853, in New Orleans, La. He graduated from the Staright university of his native city. He is a successful lawyer and planter of Killona, La., and since 1879 has represented the parish of St. Charles in the general assembly of the Louisiana state legislature.

BOURKE, JOHN GREGORY, soldier, author, was born in 1846, in Pennsylvania. He was a United States army officer; and the author of The Snake Dance of the Moquis of Arizona, a valuable contribution to ethnology; An Apache Campaign in the Sierra Madre; and On the Border with Crook. He died in 1896.

BOURNE, AUGUSTUS O., soldier, manufacturer, state senator, governor, was born Oct. 1, 1834, in Providence, R. I. He engaged in the manufacture of india-rubber goods at Providence; and in 1867 founded the National Rubber company, of Bristol, R. I., of which he became the executive head. In 1873 he removed to Bristol; in 1876 was elected state senator, and was annually re-elected, without opposition, until 1883, when he was elected governor of Rhode Island. For many years he was connected with the state militia, serving in every capacity from private to lieutenant-colonel. For four years he was consul-general for Italy.

BOURNE, BENJAMIN, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1755, in Bristol, R. I. He was a representative in congress from Rhode Island from 1790 to 1796, when he resigned, and was appointed judge of the United States district court of Rhode Island. He died Sept. 17, 1808.

BOURNE, EDWARD EMERSON, lawyer, jurist, was born March 19, 1797, in Kennebunk, Maine. He was state's attorney for York county in 1838 and 1841, and judge of the probate court from 1857 till 1872. He was also for several years president of the Maine Historical society. He died Sept. 23, 1873, in Kennebunk, Maine.

BOURNE, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born about 1760, in England. He was an ardent and learned controversialist, and wrote works on Romanism and slavery. He died in 1845, in New York city.

BOURNE, JONATHAN, capitalist, was born March 25, 1811, in Sandwich, Mass. Having made some investments in whaling ships, he sold his mercantile business and devoted his attention to vessel property and whaling industry. At one time he was the largest owner of whaling tonnage in New Bedford, possibly in the United States. He died Aug. 7, 1889.

BOURNE, RICHARD, missionary, was born in England. He acquired a knowledge of the Indian tongue, and in 1670 was ordained pastor of an Indian church at Marshpee. In 1660 he obtained at his own expense a deed securing to those under his charge the possession of Marshpee. His son Shearjashub, his grandson Ezra, and his great-grandson Joseph, had charge after him of the settlement at Marshpee. He died in 1682, in Sandwich, Mass.

BOURNE, SHEARJASUB, jurist, congressman. He was a graduate of Harvard college in 1764; was chief justice of the court of common pleas for Suffolk county, Mass.; and was a representative in congress from 1791 to 1795. He died in 1806.

BOUTELL, HENRY SHERMAN, lawyer, legislator, was born in 1856, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated from the Northwestern university in 1874; and while there he won the oratorical prize every year. Next he went to Harvard and was graduated in 1876, and was given the degree of A. M. in civil and international law. He was admitted to the bar in 1879. He has been a state legislator, with a good record, and has been successful as a lawyer.

BOUTELLE, CHARLES ADDISON, naval officer, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1839, in Lincoln county, Maine. He early adopted the profession of his father, a shipmaster. In 1862 he volunteered and was appointed acting master in the United States navy; and he served in the north and south Atlantic and west gulf squadrons. In 1870 he became managing editor and in 1874 proprietor of the Bangor Whig and Courier. He was elected representative at large to the forty-eighth congress; was elected as representative from the fourth district to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

BOUTELLE, DE WITT CLINTON, artist, was born April 6, 1820, in Troy, N. Y. After painting in New York and Philadelphia he removed his studio to Bethlehem, Pa., where he lived for many years. He died Nov. 5, 1884.

BOUTON, EMILY ST. J., journalist, author, was born in New Canaan, Conn. In 1877 she became a member of the editorial staff of the Toledo Blade, a position she still continues to occupy. She is the author of a volume entitled Health and Beauty.

BOUTON, EUGENE, educator, author, was born Dec. 6, 1850, in Jefferson, N. Y. He is a successful educator, and has received the degrees of A. B., A. M. and Ph. D. He has been deputy superintendent of public instruction of the state of New York; superintendent of schools in various cities; and is the author of several educational works.

BOUTON, JOHN BELL, author, was born March 15, 1830, in Concord, N. H. He is the author of Loved and Lost; essays; Round the Block, a novel; Treasury of Travel and Adventure; Memoir of General Bell; Roundabout to Moscow, an Epicurean Journey; and Uncle Sam's Church.

BOUTON, NATHANIEL, clergyman, author, was born June 29, 1797, in Norwalk, Conn. He was a state historian of New Hampshire. He is best known for his edition of ten volumes of Provincial Records and for a History of Concord, and New Hampshire. He died June 6, 1878, in Concord, N. H.

BOUTWELL, GEORGE SEWALL, governor, congressman, was born Jan. 28, 1818, in Brookline, Mass. He was governor of the state in 1852-53; secretary of the treasury in 1869-73; and was seven years a member of the Massachusetts legislature, in 1842-50. He was a member of the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first congresses; and during 1873-77 was a United States senator. He is the author of Thoughts on Educational Topics; Manual of the Direct and Excise Tax System of the United States; The Tax-Payer's Manual; Speeches and Papers relating to the Rebellion; Why I am a Republican; a History of the Republican Party; The Lawyer, the Statesman, the Soldier; and the Constitution of the United States at the end of the First Century.

BOUVE, EDWARD TRACY, author. He is the author of Centuries Apart; and other works.

BOUVE, THOMAS TRACY, merchant, author, was born Jan. 14, 1815, in Boston, Mass. For many years he filled the offices of curator and councillor to the Boston society of natural history, becoming its president in 1870, and continuing as such until 1880. He has contributed many scientific papers to the proceedings of that society, and is the author of a History of the Boston Society of Natural History for the First Half Century of its Existence, ending in 1880.

BOUVET, MARGUERITE, author, was born Feb. 14, 1865, in New Orleans, La. She is a writer of children's books of notable excellence; and the author of Sweet William; Prince Tip-Top; Little Marjorie's Love Story; My Lady; A Child of Tuscany; and Pierrette.

BOUVIER, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1787, in Italy. He was a jurist of Philadelphia; and the author of Law Dictionary; and Institutes of American Law. He died Nov. 18, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BOVEE, CHRISTIAN NESTELL, author, was born Feb. 22, 1820, in New York city. He is an epigrammatic writer, some of whose sayings have been much quoted; and is the author of Thoughts, Feelings, and Fancies; and Intuitions and Summaries of Thought.

BOVEE, MATTHIAS J., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1837.

BOWDEN, GEORGE EDWIN, congressman, was born July 6, 1852, in Williamsburg, Va. He was admitted to the bar, but never engaged in the practice. He was collector of customs for port of Norfolk in 1879-85; and was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

BOWDEN, JOHN, clergyman, educator, was born Jan. 7, 1751, in Ireland. He took charge of the Episcopal academy at Cheshire, Conn., where he remained six years. In 1802 he was elected professor of moral philosophy and logic in Columbia college. He died July 31, 1817, in Ballston Spa, N. Y.

BOWDEN, LEMUEL JACKSON, lawyer, United States senator, was born Jan. 16, 1815, in Williamsburg, Va. He served three sessions in the Virginia legislature; was a member of the convention for amending the state constitution in 1849; and was a presidential elector in 1861. In 1863 he was elected a senator in congress from Virginia. He died Jan. 2, 1864, in Washington city.

BOWDITCH, CHARLES P., capitalist, was born Sept. 30, 1842, in Boston, Mass. Having inherited means from his father, he invested them in corporations, and is president of The Pepperell Manufacturing Co., and The Laconia Co., which operate large cotton mills in Biddeford, Maine. He is also an owner in The Merrimack Manufacturing Co., The Nashua Manufacturing Co., The Salmon Falls Manufacturing Co., The American Telephone and Telegraph Co., The Jackson Co., and The Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Co.

BOWDITCH, HENRY INGERSOLL, physician, author, was born Aug. 9, 1808, in Salem, Mass. He was an eminent physician of Boston; and the author of Life of Nathaniel Bowditch for the Young; The Young Stethoscopist; and Public Hygiene in America. He died in 1892.

BOWDITCH, HENRY PICKERING, soldier, physician, was born April 4, 1840, in Boston, Mass. Soon after the beginning of the civil war he was commissioned second lieutenant in the first Massachusetts cavalry, and rose gradually until he attained the rank of major in the fifth Massachusetts cavalry, which office he resigned in 1865. In 1871 he became assistant professor of physiology at Harvard Medical college, and in 1876 was elected to the full chair.

BOWDITCH, JONATHAN INGERSOLL, merchant, financier, was born Oct. 15, 1806, in Salem, Mass. By will he gave $10,000 for the maintenance of the Bowditch collection in the Boston library and the purchase of works on mathematics and astronomy.

BOWDITCH, NATHANIEL, mathematician, was born March 26, 1773, in Salem, Mass. He was a trustee of the Boston Athenæum, president of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and a member of the corporation of Harvard university. He was twice elected to the state executive council of Massachusetts and held many offices of trust and honor. He was a famous mathematician of Salem, Mass., whose translation of La Place's Mécanique Céleste, with extensive commentary, was his greatest work. The New American Navigator was his original work of note. He died March 16, 1838, in Boston, Mass.

BOWDITCH, NATHANIEL INGERSOLL, conveyancer, author, was born Jan. 17, 1805, in Salem, Mass. He became noted for accuracy and industry, and it is said that scarcely a transfer of real estate was made in Boston without his examination and approval of the title. He wrote altogether fifty-five folio volumes of land-titles, containing 30,000 pages, besides plans and maps. He published Suffolk Surnames. This work contains curious surnames met with by Mr. Bowditch in his business. Its peculiarity is in the author's system of classification by the derivation of the names. He died April 16, 1861, in Brookline, Mass.

BOWDOIN, JAMES, statesman, philanthropist, was born Aug. 8, 1727, in Boston, Mass. In 1756 he was state senator and councillor; in 1769 was removed by the governor from the position of councillor, for his opposition to the royal government, and was at once elected representative. In 1785-86 was governor of Massachusetts. He was the author of a volume of poems. Bowdoin college, of Brunswick, Maine, was named in his honor, but endowed by his son James. He died Nov. 6, 1790, in Boston, Mass.

BOWDON, FRANKLIN W., lawyer, congressman, was born in Alabama. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1846 to 1851. He died June 6, 1857, in Henderson, Texas.

BOWEN, ANDREW JACKSON, educator, lawyer, legislator, was born April 16, 1845, in Eastford, Conn. For many years he was engaged in educational work. In 1880 he served as a representative in the Connecticut legislature from Eastford; and served in the same position in 1895 from Windham. He is now judge of the police court of the city of Waterbury, where he has an extensive law practice.

BOWEN, ASA B., physician, surgeon, was born April 12, 1842, in Eastford, Conn. After a preparatory course in the Mexico academy, New York, he taught several terms in the district schools of that town. In 1864-65 he served one year on the American man-of-war Neptune, in the medical department, nearly all the time cruising about the West Indies. In 1868 he graduated from the Albany Medical college, then devoted some time to clinical study in New York city; and since 1869 has practiced his profession in Maquoketa, Iowa. He is a member of the Iowa State Medical society; of the American Medical association; of the National Association of Railway Surgeons; and of the Masonic fraternity, lodge, chapter and commandery. During 1878-92 he was United States pension examining surgeon; in 1872-85 commissioner of insanity for Jackson county; for three years a member of the school board; and local surgeon for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. He is the author of Typhoid Fever and Its Treatment; Management of Compound Fractures; Scarlatina; and other valuable medical papers.

BOWEN, CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1832, in Rhode Island. He settled in Charleston, S. C., in 1862; was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1867; and was elected a representative from South Carolina to the fourth and forty-first congresses.

BOWEN, ELI, author, was born in Lancaster, Pa., in 1824. He was the author of Coal Regions of Pennsylvania; Pictorial Sketch Book of Pennsylvania; Rambles in the Path of the Iron Horse; The Creation of the Earth; United States Postoffice System; and Coal and Coal Oil. He died about 1886, in Lancaster, Pa.

BOWEN, FRANCIS, journalist, educator, author, was born Sept. 8, 1811, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a professor of philosophy at Harvard university for many years, and eminent both as philosopher and political economist; and for eleven years he was the editor of the North American Review. He opposed the systems of Kant, Fichte, Cousin, Comte, and Mill, and was answered by the latter in a third edition of his Logic. He was the author of Critical Essays in Speculative Philosophy; Modern Philosophy from Descartes to Schopenhauer and Hartmann; Treatise on Logic; American Political Economy; Principles of Political Economy; A Layman's Study of the English Bible Considered in its Literary and Secular Aspects; and Gleanings From a Literary Life. He died Jan. 22, 1890, in Boston, Mass.

BOWEN, GEORGE THOMAS, chemist, was born March 19, 1803, in Providence, R. I. The results of his investigations were published in 1822 under the titles On the Electromagnetic Effects of Hare's Calorimeter and On a Mode of Preserving in a Permanent Form the Coloring Matter of Purple Cabbage as a Test for Acids and Alkalies. He died Oct. 25, 1828, in Nashville, Tenn.

BOWEN, HELEN M., author, was born Dec. 5, 1865, in northern Illinois. She received her education in the high schools of Chicago and Englewood. She has traveled extensively in America and abroad, and her Sketches of English Places of Note were among her first efforts. Short stories followed this series of descriptive articles, including A Breath From a Cuban Battlefield; A Gypsy Musician; and A Summer Vacation. Her most representative work is A Daughter of Cuba, a story dealing with the great question of Cuban freedom, interwoven with romance.

BOWEN, HENRY, soldier, farmer, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1841, in Maiden Spring, Va. He was educated at Emory and Henry college, Va.; entered the confederate army at the outbreak of the civil war; was promoted to a captaincy; and was taken prisoner in 1864 and confined in Fort Delaware until the close of the war. He was elected a representative in the state legislature in 1869, and re-elected in 1871; and was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-eighth and fiftieth congresses.

BOWEN, HENRY CHANDLER, journalist, was born Sept. 11, 1813, in Woodstock, Conn. In 1848 the New York Independent was founded by five men, of whom Mr. Bowen was one. Unprofitable at first, the property finally came into Mr. Bowen's ownership, and he has been sole proprietor now for thirty years or more.

BOWEN, JAMES, capitalist, soldier, was born in 1808 in New York city. He was the first president of the Erie railway. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1848 and 1849. At the beginning of the civil war he raised six or seven regiments, which were formed into a brigade, and took command of them, receiving his commission as brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862. He died Sept. 29, 1886, in Hastings-on-Hudson.

BOWEN, JOHN ELIOT, journalist, author, was born in 1858 in New York. He was a New York journalist; and the author of The Conflict of East and West in Egypt; and Songs of Toil, a translation from Carmen Sylva. He died in 1890.

BOWEN, JOHN H., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1813 to 1815.

BOWEN, OLIVER, naval officer, was born in the last century. He was a revolutionary patriot of Augusta, Ga., and was successful, in the early days of the war, in seizing a large quantity of powder stored on Tybee island, near Savannah, July 10, 1775. He was a member of the provincial congress in 1775, and of the council of safety. He died August, 1800, in Providence, R. I.

BOWEN, REES T., farmer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 10, 1809, in Tazewell county, Va. He received an academic education; and was a farmer and grazier. He was a representative in the legislature of Virginia in 1863 and 1864; a magistrate for several years prior to the war; and the presiding justice of the county court a portion of the time. He was elected to the forty-third congress.

BOWEN, MRS. SUE, author, was born in 1824 in South Carolina. She was the author of Sylvia's World; Gerald Gray's Wife; Lily; and Busy Moments of an idle Woman, a collection of stories. She died in 1875, in Charleston, S. C.

BOWEN, THOMAS M., was born Oct. 26, 1835, near Burlington, Iowa. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1856. In 1861 he entered the union army as captain; in 1862 was promoted to a colonelcy; served throughout the war, rising to the rank of brevet brigadier-general. And at the close of the war he settled in Arkansas. He was president of the constitutional convention of 1865 and 1868; served four years as a justice of the state supreme court; resigned to accept the appointment of governor of Idaho territory in 1871; resigned the governorship and returned to Arkansas, where he was defeated for United States senator. He removed to Colorado, where he served for four years as judge of the Leadville district; was elected a United States senator from Colorado, and served during 1883-89.

BOWEN, WILLIAM MANUEL PEREZ, lawyer, was born Sept. 8, 1864, in Attleboro, Mass. He received his education in the public schools of Rhode Island, and in 1884 graduated from the Brown university. He has done considerable newspaper and literary work; and his poems have attracted favorable attention. He is best known in athletic circles; is on the editorial staff of

The Triangle, published by the Providence Athletic association, of which he is secretary; he has been a member of the national committee on improvement of highways, and his persistent and arduous labors in advancing the adoption of better public roads are well appreciated. Colonel Bowen is a member of the Masonic fraternity; Rhode Island Society of the Sons of the American Revolution; the Massachusetts commandery of the Loyal Legion; the United Train of Artillery; and various other fraternal orders.

BOWER, GUSTAVUS B., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1843 to 1845.

BOWER, WILLIAM HORTON, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born June 6, 1850, in Wilkes county, N. C. In 1876 he moved to California and remained there teaching till the summer of 1880, when he returned to his native state. In 1882 he was elected representative in the legislature for Caldwell county; and in 1884 was elected to the state senate. In 1885 he was appointed solicitor of tenth judicial district, and in 1886 was elected for four years without opposition. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

BOWERS, EATON JACKSON, lawyer, legislator, was born June 17, 1865, in Canton, Miss. In 1896 he was elected state senator in the Mississippi state legislature.

BOWERS, EZRA, journalist, poet, was born Sept. 20, 1863, in Bowersville, Ga. He is the editor and owner of the American Union, a weekly newspaper which has become very popular in the south. He is the author of a number of poems which have been incorporated in several standard works.

BOWERS, HENRY FRANCIS, lawyer, was born Aug. 12, 1837, in Baltimore, Md. During 1871-75 he was county recorder of Clinton county, Iowa; was a member of the city council of Clinton; and for three years was on the staff of Governor John H. Gear. In 1887 he founded the American Protective association, and was its supreme president for the first six years of its existence. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer, and has an extensive practice in Clinton, Iowa.

BOWERS, JOHN M., congressman, was a representative in congress from New York from 1813 to 1814.

BOWERS, STEPHEN, clergyman, scientist, author, was born March 3, 1832, in Dearborn county, Ind. He recruited a company for the sixty-seventh Indiana volunteer infantry in 1862, and did valiant service for his country. He was ordained in the methodist episcopal church in 1866, and attained distinction as a revivalist. His early love for science led him to accept a position in the United States geological survey, and for many years he was connected with the California mineralogical and geological survey. He has written extensively on scientific subjects, and is now the editor of the California Voice, of Los Angeles.

BOWERS, WILLIAM WALLACE, soldier, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1834, in Whitestown, N. Y. He enlisted as a private in company I, first Wisconsin cavalry in 1862; and was discharged from the service as second sergeant Feb. 22, 1865. He removed to San Diego in 1869 and in 1873 was elected a member of the California legislature. In 1874 he was appointed collector of customs for the San Diego district, and held the office for eight years; in 1886 he was elected state senator for four years, and was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican.

BOWERSOCK, JUSTIN D., manufacturer, banker, legislator, was born Sept. 19, 1842, in Columbiana county, Ohio. He received his education in the common schools of Ohio. He has been twice mayor of Lawrence, Kas.; in 1887 was a member of the Kansas state house of representatives; and in 1896 became a member of the state senate, and served with distinction in that body. He is one of the most prominent business men of the west; and is president of the following institutions: Bowersock Milling company; Kansas Water Power company; Lawrence Paper company; Lawrence National bank; Lawrence Gas and Electric Light company; Commercial club; and the Consolidated Barb Wire company.

BOWIE, JAMES, soldier, was born in 1795 in Elliot Springs, Tenn. He entered the army during the Mexican war, and attained the rank of captain. He, with his brother, invented the celebrated instrument for more than two generations known as the Bowie knife.

BOWIE, ODEN, farmer, soldier, state senator, governor, was born Nov. 10, 1826, in Prince George county, Md. He was educated at St. Mary's college, Baltimore; and his occupation was that of a farmer. He was a captain in the Mexican war; frequently served in the assembly and senate of the state; and was governor of Maryland from 1867 to 1871. He was president of the Baltimore and Potomac railway company during the time of its construction, and was also president of the Baltimore City Passenger Railway company.

BOWIE, RICHARD I., lawyer, congressman, was born June 23, 1807, in Georgetown, D. C. In 1836 and 1837 he was elected to the legislature of Maryland. In 1840 was a delegate to the Harrisburg convention, called to nominate a president; and was a representative in congress from 1849 to 1853.

BOWIE, ROBERT, soldier, governor, was born in 1750, in Prince George county, Md. He was captain in the second battalion of the Maryland Flying artillery in 1776; and was governor of Maryland from 1803 to 1805, and from 1811 to 1812. He died Jan. 8, 1818, in Nottingham, Md.

BOWIE, THOMAS F., lawyer, congressman, was born April 7, 1808, in Queen Anne, Md. He served as deputy attorney-general for Prince George county sixteen years; served three terms in the legislature of Maryland; and was elected a representative from Maryland in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He died Oct. 30, 1869, in Marlborough, Md.

BOWIE, WALTER, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a member of the Maryland convention of 1776; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1802 to 1805.

BOWKER, RICHARD ROGERS, journalist, author, was born in 1848 in Massachusetts. He was the editor for some years of the Publishers' Weekly; and the author of Work and Wealth: a Summary of Economics; A Primer for Political Education; Economics for the People; The Library List; and Electoral Reform.

BOWLER, METCALF, patriot, was born about 1730. He was a delegate from Rhode Island to the colonial congress of 1765, held in New York. He was speaker of the Rhode Island assembly in 1774, when the obnoxious royal decree reached Boston closing the port and transferring the board of customs to Marblehead, and the seat of government to Salem. He was thus the first to announce, in a public and official way, the first united action toward resistance to royal authority.

BOWLES, ADA CHASTINA, minister, was born Aug. 2, 1836, in Gloucester, Mass. At the age of twenty-two she was married to the Rev. B. F. Bowles, a universalist clergyman, under whose guidance she studied theology. In 1872 Mrs. Bowles was licensed to preach in Boston, and after three years' experience upon the platform and pulpit was ordained and became pastor of the universalist church in Easton, Pa. She has ever since been actively engaged in church, reform and philanthropic work; has been pastor in Marlborough, Mass., in Pomona, Cal., and is now acting pastor of the universalist church in Kingston, N. H. Since 1869 she has been actively at work for the advancement of woman's suffrage. In 1872 she was state lecturer for Massachusetts; has been president of several state, county and city associations for its advancement; was a member of the Pacific Coast Woman's Press association, and for ten years was secretary of the Woman's ministerial conference.

BOWLES, SAMUEL, journalist, was born June 8, 1797, in Hartford, Conn. In 1824 he established The Republican, of which he was editor and proprietor. He died Sept. 8, 1851, in Springfield, Mass.

BOWLES, SAMUEL, journalist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1826, in Springfield, Mass. He was a journalist of Springfield, Mass., and editor of the Springfield Republican. He was the author of Across the Continent; and Our New West. He died Jan. 16, 1878, in Springfield, Mass.

BOWLES, SAMUEL, journalist, was born Oct. 15, 1851, in Springfield, Mass. He received his education at Yale college and the Berlin university. He is the editor and proprietor of the Springfield Republican, and director of the City Library association of Springfield, Mass.

BOWLES, THOMAS HENRY, underwriter, was born Oct. 16, 1854, in Fluvanna county, Va. He is president of the Life Underwriters' association of Louisiana; delegate from Louisiana to the Trans-Mississippi congress at Denver, Colo.; and has written on the science and practice of life insurance.

BOWLIN, JAMES BUTLER, lawyer, congressman, diplomatist, was born in 1804 in Spottsylvania county, Va. In 1835 he was elected a member of the legislature; in 1837 was made district attorney for St. Louis; and soon after attorney for the Bank of St. Louis. In 1839 he was elected judge of the criminal court; and was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1843 to 1851. In 1854 he was appointed minister resident to New Granada, and in 1858 was appointed commissioner to Paraguay.

BOWMAN, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, soldier, was born May 15, 1803, in Wilkesbarre, Pa. In 1826 he was appointed assistant engineer in the construction of the defenses and in the improvement of harbors and rivers on the Gulf of Mexico. He was promoted first lieutenant in 1835, and served with distinction through the civil war. He died Nov. 11, 1865, in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

BOWMAN, C. A., educator, college president, was born Aug. 29, 1861, in Dauphin, Pa. This eminent educator and teacher of psychology was president of the Fayette seminary, Oregon, and in 1896 became president of the Albright Collegiate institute of Myerstown, Pa.

BOWMAN, CHARLES WESLEY, journalist, educator, was born Feb. 23, 1840, in Cape Girardeau county, Mo. He received his education in the private and public schools of Iowa and Missouri. He served nearly four years as a Union soldier during the civil war, and won a first lieutenant's and adjutant's commission. Nearly a quarter of a century of his life was spent in journalistic work, as editor and publisher; and in 1873 he moved to Colorado, settled in Bent county, where he has filled the offices of superintendent of public instruction and probate judge. For three years he was secretary of the Pueblo board of trade; and for six years has filled the office of county superintendent of public schools, with rare ability and satisfaction.

BOWMAN, ED. MORRIS, musician, was born July 18, 1848, in Barnard, Vt. He has been president for eight years of the American college of musicians; the editor of Weitzmann's Manual of Music Theory; and from 1887-89 was conductor of the Newark Harmonic society.

BOWMAN, FRANCIS CASWELL, soldier, lawyer, musician, was born Dec. 29, 1831, in New York city. At the beginning of the civil war he joined the seventh New York regiment, and subsequently became engaged in the organization and service of the United States sanitary commission at Washington. He was an accomplished musician, founded the Mendelssohn Glee club, of New York, and was its president for five years. He contributed frequently to periodicals, and for seventeen years was musical editor of the New York Sun. He died Oct. 29, 1884, in New York city.

BOWMAN, JAMES CLAYTON, educator, was born June 11, 1862, near Roan Mountain, N. C. He received his education at the Globe academy, N. C., and at the Grant Memorial university of Athens, Tenn. He built the Bowman academy of Bakersville, N. C., where he is now engaged in educational work. He has been superintendent of public instruction, and has filled various positions of trust in his county and state.

BOWMAN, OBADIAH, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

BOWMAN, SAMUEL, protestant episcopal bishop, was born May 21, 1800, in Wilkesbarre, Pa. In 1847 he was elected bishop of Indiana, but declined. He was chosen assistant bishop of Pennsylvania, and consecrated in Christ church, Philadelphia in 1858. He died Aug. 3, 1861, near Butler, Pa.

BOWMAN, SELWYN ZADOCK, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 11, 1840, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1870, 1871 and 1875; was city solicitor of Somerville, Mass., in 1872 and 1873; and was a state senator in 1876 and 1877. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

BOWMAN, THOMAS, bishop, was born July 15, 1817, in Berwick, Pa. He attended the Wilbraham academy, Massachusetts; Cazenovia seminary; and graduated from the Dickinson college, Pennsylvania. During 1848-58 he was principal of the Dickinson seminary of Williamsport, Pa.; during 1858-72 was president of the De Pauw university of Greencastle, Ind.; and in 1864-65 was chaplain to the United States senate.

Since 1872 the Rt. Rev. Thomas Bowman has been bishop of the methodist episcopal church. In this office he has attended all the conferences in the United States and in Europe, India, Japan, China and Mexico.

BOWMAN, THOMAS, merchant, congressman, was born May 25, 1848, in Wiscasset, Maine. He is a descendant of John Bridge, the puritan. He moved to Council Bluffs in 1868, where he engaged in commercial business; was elected treasurer of Pottawattamie county in 1875, and re-elected in 1877 and 1879. He was elected mayor of Council Bluffs in 1882; and was appointed postmaster in 1885 and served until 1889. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He was again appointed postmaster of Council Bluffs in 1894.

BOWMAN, THOMAS FRANKLIN, lawyer, clergyman, was born May 22, 1857, in Rutherford county, N. C. He received his education at the Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn. During President Garfield's administration he was appointed United States commissioner for middle Tennessee. He is entirely a self-made man, and has attained an enviable reputation in the south as an able lawyer and a successful minister of the gospel.

BOWNE, BORDEN PARKER, educator, author, was born Jan. 14, 1847, in Leonardville, N. J. He is a philosophical writer and professor of philosophy in Boston university; and the author of The Philosophy of Herbert Spencer; Studies in Theism; Metaphysics: a Study of First Principles; Introduction to Psychological Theory; Philosophy of Theism; and Principles of Ethics.

BOWNE, SAMUEL S., jurist, congressman, was born in 1795. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1834; a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843; and in 1857 was judge of Otsego county. He died July 15, 1865, in Otsego county, N. Y.

BOWNE, WALTER, grand sagem. He represented New York in the senate for three successive terms, and was appointed mayor by the common council in 1827, and continued to hold that office for the four succeeding years. He died Aug. 31, 1846, in New York.

BOX, CHARLOTTE ANN, poet. She is a writer of Greeley, Iowa, and her poems have been given a place in several standard collections.

BOX, HENRY W., lawyer, philanthropist, was born April 23, 1839, in England. He stands among the leading criminal lawyers of his state, having for more than twenty years given special attention to that class of practice. He is a leader in philanthropic work; and the president of the Buffalo, Bellevue and Lancaster railroad.

BOYCE, JAMES, capitalist, was born April 7, 1833, in Belfast, Ireland. He is senior member of James Boyce and Co., manufacturers of baskets and D and long handles for shovels and spades, and the owner of large investments in real estate and other prosperous interests, treasurer of the Boyce Rivet company, makers of rivets and machinists, and the Tappan Shoe Manufacturing company, and president of the National Gas Lines Heat, Light and Power company, and the Citizens' Enterprise company. He has filled numerous public positions of honor in his city, county and state.

BOYCE, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 28, 1855, in Sussex county, Del. He is a successful lawyer of Georgetown, Del.; has been president of the board of public education, and of the town commissioners of that place. In 1897 he was appointed secretary of the state of Delaware; and in the same year became an associate judge of the supreme court of Delaware.

BOYCE, WILLIAM W., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1819, in Charleston, S. C. He was a member of the legislature of South Carolina in 1812; and was a representative in congress from 1853 to 1860, when he resigned. He took part in the rebellion as a member of the confederate congress. When re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress he served as a member of the committee on elections, and at the time of his leaving congress was a member of the committee of thirty-three on the rebellious states.

BOYD, ADAM, congressman. He was an active supporter of the revolution, and a man of strong natural ability. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1803 to 1805, and again from 1808 to 1813. He died in Hackensack, N. J.

BOYD, ADAM, printer, preacher, was born Nov. 25, 1738, in Pennsylvania. He served in St. James church, Wilmington, N. C., for several years, and also in Natchez, Miss. He published the second paper ever published in Wilmington, called Cape Fear Mercury. He died in 1803 in Natchez, Miss.

BOYD, ALEXANDER, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1813 to 1815.

BOYD, A. HUNTER, lawyer, jurist, was born July 15, 1849, in Winchester, Va. He graduated from the law school of the Washington and Lee university, and is the associate judge of the court of appeals of Maryland.

BOYD, JAMES E., governor, was born Sept. 9, 1834, in Ireland. In 1870 he organized the Omaha and Northwestern railroad, of which he was elected first president; in 1881-83 he was president of the board of trade; member of the Nebraska state legislature; and in 1890 was elected governor of Nebraska.

BOYD, JAMES ROBERT, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1804 in Hunter, N. Y. He was a presbyterian clergyman, formerly professor of moral philosophy at Hamilton college; and the author of Elements of Rhetoric and Literary Criticism; Moral Philosophy; The Westminster Shorter Catechism, with Analysis; Elements of Logic; Last Days of a Christian Philosopher; and Memoir of Doddridge. He died Feb. 19, 1890, in Geneva, N. Y.

BOYD, JOHN H., congressman, was born in New York. In 1840 he was a member of the state assembly from Washington county; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853. He died July 2, 1868, in Whitehall, N. Y.

BOYD, KATE PARKER, artist, was born Oct. 23, 1836, in New York. She won a number of medals and prizes in the Centennial exposition in Philadelphia; and in various state and county exhibitions. She writes and draws for the American Garden, of New York city, and for other periodicals.

BOYD, LINN, congressman, was born Nov. 22, 1800, in Nashville, Tenn. In 1827 he was elected to the legislature of that state, from Calhoun county, serving three sessions; and in 1831 was re-elected for another session from Trigg county. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1835 to 1837, and from 1839 to 1855. He also served one term as lieutenant-governor of Kentucky. He died Dec. 16, 1859, in Paducah, Ky.

BOYD, SAMUEL STILLMAN, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1803 in Portland, Maine. In 1826 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and immediately moved west. In 1837 he became a resident of Natchez, Miss. He was one of the ablest lawyers of Mississippi, and a great jurist. During 1849-50 he attended by legislative appointment the famous Nashville convention. He took a prominent part in all movements for the welfare of his adopted state, and drafted many of the legislative bills of that state.

BOYD, SEMPRONIUS H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 28, 1828, in Williamson county, Tenn. In 1861 he raised a regiment for the war, and became its commander. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first congress, as a republican.

BOYD, THOMAS A., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 25, 1830, in Adams county, Pa. He removed to Illinois in 1856; and entered the union army in 1861, and was commissioned captain. He was elected a state senator in 1866, and re-elected in 1870. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fifth and the forty-sixth congresses.

BOYDEN, EMILY M. B., artist, composer, was born Dec. 14, 1828, in Morrisville, N. Y. As a needle painting artist she received first premium at the World's fair at New Orleans; and as a composer, many of her pieces are sung in the public schools of Chicago, Ill.

BOYDEN, NATHANIEL, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 16, 1796, in Franklin township, Mass. He was elected a number of times to the North Carolina state legislature; and was in congress as a representative from North Carolina from 1847 to 1849. In 1868 he was elected to the fortieth congress.

BOYDEN, SETH, inventor, was born Nov. 17, 1788, in Foxborough, Mass. He engaged in the leather manufacture in Newark in 1813, invented a machine for splitting leather, and began the manufacture of patent leather in 1819. He made the first malleable iron in 1826, perfected the first locomotive with the driving-rod outside the wheel, and produced the first daguerreotype in America. He died March 31, 1870, in Middleville, N. J.

BOYER, BENJAMIN M., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 22, 1823, in Montgomery county, Pa. He was district attorney for his native county from 1848 to 1850; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-ninth and the fortieth congresses as a democrat.

BOYER, HENRY KLINE, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 19, 1850, in Evansburg, Pa. He was admitted to practice at the Philadelphia bar in 1837, and practiced with success in the civil courts. In 1882 he was elected as a republican to the state legislature, securing a re-election in 1884 and 1886, and was chosen speaker in the session of 1887. He became the choice of republicans and democrats alike for the speakership in the session of 1889.

BOYESEN, HJALMAR HJORTH, was born Sept. 23, 1848, in Norway. He was a writer of Norwegian birth, long resident in New York, and a professor in Columbia college at the time of his death. He was one of the founders of the Authors' club of New York city. His novels and sketches are pleasantly written, but as essays in fiction are not much above average merit.

He was the author of Gunnar; A Norseman's Pilgrimage; Tales from Two Hemispheres; Falconberg; A Daughter of the Phillistines; Queen Titania; Ilka on the Hill Top and Other Stories; Goethe and Schiller, their Lives and Works; Literary and Social Silhouettes; The Story of Norway, an historical work; Social Strugglers; Essays on Scandinavian Literature; Essays on German Literature; Idylls of Norway and Other Poems; the Norseland series of books for boys, including: Norseland Tales; Boyhood in Norway; The Modern Vikings; Against Heavy Odds; and The Golden Calif. He died in 1895.

BOYKIN, JOHN T., physician, surgeon, was born April 17, 1869, in Troup county, Ga. He received the rudiments of his education in the West Point public schools, Ga.; and graduated in medicine from the Atlanta medical college. He has attained success as an eminent physician and surgeon of Carrabelle, Fla., where he owns a drug store and takes a leading part in the public affairs of his county and state.

BOYLAN, WILL MAI, merchant, poet, was born Dec. 4, 1859, in Hardin county, Iowa. He is a poet of rare genius and the author of a brochure entitled Life's Purest Gold. Many of his poems have been given a place in standard publications.

BOYLAND, GEORGE HALSTED, physician, author, was born Jan. 19, 1845, in Cincinnati, Ohio. During the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71 he served in the surgical corps of the French army, and was decorated for his services. He was the first to introduce salicylic acid made from carbolic acid, as an antiseptic, in the United States. Dr. Boyland has been a frequent contributor to the medical and scientific press of this country, and is the author of Six Months under the Red Cross with the French Army.

BOYLE, CHARLES E., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 4, 1836, in Uniontown, Pa. He was editor of the Genius of Liberty newspaper from 1856 to 1861. He was elected district attorney for Fayette county, in 1862, and served three years; and was elected a representative in the state legislature in 1865, and re-elected in 1866. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress, as a democrat.

BOYLE, FRANK E., lawyer, was born Aug. 31, 1871, in Dunmore, Pa. After receiving the rudiments of his education in the common schools, he attended the Mount St. Mary's college of Emmetsburg, Md.; and has since attained success as a prominent lawyer of Scranton, Pa.

BOYLE, JEREMIAH TILFORD, soldier, lawyer, military governor, was born May 22, 1818, in Mercer county, Ky. In 1849, he advocated with great zeal the emancipation of the slaves. For meritorious conduct on the field in 1862 he was promoted brigadier-general. He was soon after placed in command of the department of Kentucky, assuming the direction of military affairs in the state, and during 1862-64 was military governor of Kentucky. He was president of and organized the original company, and under his direction the first street railway was built in Louisville, of which he was president. He died July 28, 1871, in Louisville, Ky.

BOYLE, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Oct. 28, 1774, in Botetourt county, Va. He was a judge of the supreme court of Kentucky, also chief justice of the state; and was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1803 to 1809, when he was appointed governor of Illinois territory. He was a distinguished and successful lawyer and able judge. During the eight years immediately preceding his death he was judge of the United States district court for Kentucky. He died Jan. 28, 1834, in Kentucky.

BOYLE, JOHN J., sculptor, was born in 1853, in New York city. He studied in the art schools of Philadelphia and Paris, and is the professor at the academy of fine arts at Philadelphia, Pa.

BOYLE, JOHN W., jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He moved to Dakota, where he was appointed an assistant justice of the United States court for that territory.

BOYLE, JOSEPH, clergyman, was born May 10, 1812, in Baltimore, Md. He served the principal churches of St. Louis as pastor, and as presiding elder and official relation to them all. He died May 3, 1872, in Lexington, Mo.

BOYLE, JUNIUS J., naval officer, was born about 1802 in Maryland. After nine years of sea duty on board the frigates Delaware and Congress, most of the time in the Mediterranean, he served from 1843 till 1855 on different store-ships and in the schooner Bonito of the home squadron. He was commissioned commodore in 1862. He died Aug. 11, 1870, in Norfolk, Va.

BOYLE, THOMAS N., soldier, clergyman, lecturer, was born April 26, 1839, in Blairsville, Ind. In his youth he learned the printing business, and became editor of the democratic whig of Columbus, Ohio. He subsequently attended a theological seminary, and in 1859 became a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church. During the fall of 1862 he recruited three hundred men, and enlisted in the one hundred and fortieth regiment Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and was elected captain of company H. He has received the degrees of D. D. and LL. D.; was presiding elder for nine years; twice a member of the general conference; a member of the Centennial conference in 1884; and a member of the book committee of his church for four years. As a lecturer he has few equals, being a forceful and eloquent speaker. He is a member of the Grand Army of the Republic; and also a high degree mason, being grand prelate of the state of Ohio. He is now pastor of the West End methodist episcopal church of Pittsburg, Pa.; and is a constant contributor to current literature.

BOYLE, ST. JOHN, railroad president, financier, was born Sept. 6, 1847, in Danville, Ky. In 1883 he became president of the Louisville, New Albany and Corydon railway; and is now vice-president and treasurer of that company at Louisville, Ky.

BOYLSTON, JABDIEL, physician, was born in 1684 in Brookline, Mass. He was the first one to introduce the practice of inoculation for the smallpox, in 1720. He published several pamphlets on the subject of inoculation. He died March 1, 1766, in Brookline, Mass.

BOYLSTON, NICHOLAS, merchant, was born in 1716 in Boston, Mass. At his decease he bequeathed £1,500 to found a professorship of rhetoric and oratory at Harvard. John Quincy Adams being installed as the first professor in 1806. He died Aug. 18, 1771, in Boston, Mass.

BOYNTON, ADELBERT W., railroad manager, was born Feb. 9, 1852, in Jay, N. Y. He was educated at the University of Vermont. He entered railway service in 1890 as secretary and passenger agent of the Keesville, Au Sable Chasm and Lake Champlain railroad, at Keesville, N. Y., and takes a prominent part in public affairs.

BOYNTON, CHARLES BRANDON, clergyman, was born June 12, 1806, in Stockbridge, Mass. He took up the study of law, and, after filling one or two local offices, was elected to the Massachusetts legislature. During 1846-77 he was a presbyterian pastor in Cleveland, Ohio, with the exception of his terms of service as chaplain of the house of representatives in the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. He died April 27, 1883, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BOYNTON, EDWARD CARLISLE, soldier, author, was born about 1825 in Vermont. He is a United States army officer and the author of the History of West Point.

BOYNTON, ELIAS, merchant, poet, was born Nov. 30, 1832, in Peterboro, N. H. He received his education in the Peterboro academy, and for many years was engaged in educational work. He has been a justice of the peace; secretary of the American Boynton association; director of the city school board of New Lisbon, Wis., where he has also filled numerous public offices. He has written extensively for the periodical press, and his poems have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

BOYNTON, HENRY VAN NESS, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. He served in the civil war, and attained the rank of brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious conduct. He is president of the Chickamauga park commission.

BOYNTON, JAMES S., soldier, governor, was born May 7, 1833, in Henry county, Georgia. He attained the rank of colonel in the civil war; in 1866 was elected judge of county court, and in 1883 was elected governor of Georgia.

BOYNTON, JOHN FARNHAM, scientist, inventor, was born Sept. 20, 1811, in Groveland, Mass. He has traveled through every state in the union lecturing on Geology and Natural History of Creation. He has invented a malleable iron and steel and was the original inventor of the oil-well torpedoes. He died Oct. 20, 1890, in Syracuse, N. Y.

BOYNTON, JULIA B., poet. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Lines and Interlines.

BOYNTON, NATHAN SMITH, founder of the Order of the Knights of the Maccabees, was born June 23, 1837, in Port Huron, Mich. He received his education in the primitive district schools and in 1852 passed through the high schools at Waukegan, Ill. In 1856 he engaged in mercantile business in Port Huron, Mich.; the following year he went to Ohio; thence to Cincinnati, New Orleans and St. Louis, Mo. In 1862 he enlisted as a private in company C, eighth regiment, Michigan cavalry, and was promoted to first lieutenant of company L; in 1863 was promoted to captain, and in the winter of 1864-65 was commissioned major of his regiment, making an honorable record as a soldier. Lieutenant Boynton, at the head of a detachment of one hundred men, cut off the retreat of General John Morgan, whom he finally captured. In 1868 he was elected to the lower house of the Michigan state legislature; in 1874 he was elected mayor of Port Huron, receiving the re-election. For several years he was editor and owner of the Port Huron Press, and since 1883 has given his time, energy and ability to building up the Order of the Knights of the Maccabees, of which he is past supreme commander and supreme record keeper and great commander.

BOYTON, PAUL, nautical adventurer, was born June 29, 1848, in Ireland. He has achieved a world-wide reputation for his exploits, among which are his crossing the English channel in twenty-four hours, on May 28, 1875.

BOZMAN, JOHN LEEDS, lawyer, author, was born in 1757 in Oxford, Md. He was a noted Maryland lawyer and was the author of a Historical Sketch of the Prime Causes of the Revolutionary War; and History of Maryland. He died in 1823.

BRABB, MARVIL I., merchant, banker, was born Oct. 8, 1847, in Romeo, Mich. He is president of the First National bank of Romeo, Mich., president of the Burt and Brabb Lumber company, and prominently identified with various other business enterprises.

BRABSON, REESE B., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-sixth congress. He died September, 1863, in Tennessee.

BRACE, CHARLES LORING, clergyman, philanthropist, author, was born June 19, 1826, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a noted clergyman and philanthropist of New York city and founded the Children's Aid society, and gave much of his time to philanthropic work. He was the author of Norsefolk; Home Life in Germany; The Races of the Old World; Gesta Christi; and The Dangerous Classes of New York. He died Aug. 11, 1890, in Switzerland.

BRACE, JOHN PEIRCE, educator, author, was born Feb. 10, 1793, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a prominent educator of Litchfield, Conn., and was the author of Lectures to Young Converts; Tales of the Devil; The Fawu of the Pale Faces, a novel. He died Oct. 18, 1872, in Litchfield, Conn.

BRACE, JONATHAN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 12, 1754, in Harrington, Conn. He was elected a judge of probate, chief judge of the Hartford county court, and was a representative in congress from 1798 to 1800. He was also frequently in the state legislature, at one time state attorney for Hartford county, and for nine years mayor of Hartford. He died Aug. 26, 1837, in Hartford, Conn.

BRACKEN, JOHN, college president, bishop. He was a professor of humanity in William and Mary college. In 1811 he became president, and in 1814 was elected bishop of the Episcopal church. He died July 15, 1818.

BRACKENRIDGE, HENRY MARIE, jurist, author, was born May 11, 1786, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was a noted Florida jurist and the author of History of the Late War Between the United States and Great Britain (1816); Voyage to South America; Views of Louisiana; Recollections of Persons and Places in the West; Essay on Trusts and Trustees; and History of the Western Insurrection. He died Jan. 18, 1871, in Pittsburg, Pa.

BRACKENRIDGE, HUGH HENRY, lawyer, author, was born in 1748 in Scotland. He was a Pennsylvania lawyer and humorist whose writing enjoyed great popularity in the early years of the nineteenth century. His principal work was Modern Chivalry, or the Adventures of Captain Farrago and Teague O'Regan, and His Servant, a rough, sharp piece of humorous fiction, partaking to some extent of the nature of an autobiography. He died Jan. 25, 1816, in Carlisle, Pa.

BRACKETT, ALBERT GALLATIN, soldier, author, was born Feb. 14, 1829, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He is a United States cavalry officer, and the author of General Lane's Brigade in Central Mexico; and History of the United States Cavalry, 1854.

BRACKETT, ANNA CALLENDER, author, was born in 1836 in Massachusetts. She is an educational writer, and the author of The Education of American Girls; Woman and the Higher Education; and The Technique of Rest.

BRACKETT, EDWARD AUGUSTUS, sculptor, poet, was born Oct. 1, 1819, in Vassalborough, Maine. He began his career in 1838, and has produced portrait busts of Washington Allston, Richard Henry Dana, Bryant, Longfellow, Rufus Choate, Charles Sumner, John Brown, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, General Butler, and others. His marble group of the Shipwrecked Mother and Child is now the property of the Boston athenæum. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Twilight Hours.

BRACKETT, J. Q. A., lawyer, governor, was born Sept. 6, 1857, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1881 he became a member of the common council, and two years later he became a member of the upper branch of the city government. In 1890 and 1891 he was elected governor of Massachusetts.

BRACKETT, J. RAYMOND, educator, was born April 1, 1854, in Raymond, Maine. He attended Bates college, and Yale college, and has received the degrees of B. A., M. A., and Ph. D. For many years he was engaged in educational work in New England, and since 1884 has filled the chair of comparative and English literature in the university of Colorado, of which institution he is dean of the college of liberal arts.

BRACKETT, JOSHUA, physician, was born May 5, 1773, in Greenland, N. H. He was a zealous patriot, a member of the state committee of safety, and during the revolution was judge of the New Hampshire maritime court. He was a founder of the state medical society, and its president from 1793 till 1799. He gave it 143 volumes of medical works at its establishment. He bequeathed a legacy to Harvard toward founding a professorship of natural history. He died July 17, 1802, in Portsmouth, N. H.

BRACKETT, WALTER M., artist, was born June 14, 1823, in Unity, Maine. He gave his attention to portraits and ideal heads, and executed likenesses of Charles Sumner, Edward Everett, and Oliver Wendell Holmes. He also painted portraits of the first four secretaries of war, for the war department at Washington.

BRACKLIN, JAMES, business man, public official, was born April 28, 1839, in Patten, Maine. Since 1858 he has been connected with the business and public affairs of Menomonee, Wis., excepting eight years with the Northwestern Lumber company of Eau Claire. In 1886 he ran for congress on the Democratic ticket. He has filled numerous public offices of trust, and has twice been mayor of Rice Lake, Wis.

BRADBURY, ALBERT WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, was born in 1840 in Calais, Maine. He served in the civil war in Sheridan's army, and was appointed chief of the artillery of the army of the Shenandoah. He came to the bar in 1867; has been city solicitor of Portland; and was appointed U. S. district attorney for Maine in 1894.

BRADBURY, GEORGE, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1770 in Portland, Maine. From 1806 to 1810 he was a member of the state legislature, and also in 1811 and 1812. In 1812 he was chosen to represent the Cumberland district, Massachusetts, in congress. Mr. Bradbury received the approbation of a second election in 1814. After this service he returned to his profession, which he pursued to the time of his death. He was a state senator in 1822. He died Nov. 7, 1823, in Portland, Maine.

BRADBURY, GEORGE LEWIS, soldier, railroad manager, was born March 10, 1843, in Nova Scotia. He served in the army from Massachusetts from 1861 to 1865, serving from private up to captain. Since then he has been in the railroad service as conductor, agent, general agent, general freight agent, general manager, and vice-president.

BRADBURY, HENRY KNIGHT, lawyer, legislator, was born October, 1827, in Hollis, Maine. He has held county and town offices, and has represented his town in the legislature of Maine for three terms.

BRADBURY, JAMES WARE, lawyer, United States senator, was born in 1805 in York county, Maine. In 1825 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and became a noted lawyer; and was county attorney during 1834-38. In 1844 he was presidential elector; and during 1847-53 was United States senator from Maine, serving as chairman of the committee on printing. He was county attorney during 1834-38, and filled many public positions of honor in his city, county and state. He has been president of the Maine Historical society.

BRADBURY, OSGOOD N., physician, state senator, was born Oct. 28, 1828, in Norway, Maine. Since 1864 he has practiced medicine and surgery. During the civil war he was surgeon of the United States army for two years; and for thirteen years United States examining surgeon for pensions. He served in the Maine state legislature for one year, and for two years was a member of the senate.

BRADBURY, THEOPHILUS, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1739, in Newburyport, Mass. He was chosen to represent the Essex district in congress from 1795 to 1797, when he resigned. He was a presidential elector in 1801, and in 1797 was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He died Sept. 6, 1803.

BRADBURY, WILLIAM BATCHELDER, musician, was born Oct. 6, 1816, in York, Maine. In 1840 he began teaching in New York and Brooklyn, where he gained popularity by his free singing-schools, and by his concerts, at which the performers, all children, sometimes numbered 1,000. He died Jan. 7, 1868, in Montclair, N. J.

BRADBURY, WILLIAM FROTHINGHAM, educator, author, was born May 17, 1829, in Westminister, Mass. He attended the Westminister academy, and in 1856 graduated from Amherst college. He is one of the most prominent educators in America, and is now the head master in the Cambridge Latin school. He is the author of Sight Arithmetic; and several mathematical text books. He is the inventor and patentee of a device for illustrating the metric system of weights and measures. He was a member of the Cambridge city government two years; and for thirty-three years has been a member of the Handel and Haydn society, and one of its directors for more than fifteen years past.

BRADDOCK, JOHN S., business man, state senator, was born Dec. 13, 1844, near Mount Vernon, Ohio. He received his education in the public schools of his native town and county, and graduated from the high school of Fredericktown. He served with distinction as a representative in the general assembly of the Ohio state legislature; and was subsequently a state senator, and served on several important committees. In 1888 he was a candidate for congress from the ninth Ohio district. He is a successful real estate dealer, and president of the Brad-dock Land and Granite company of Little Rock, Ark. His home is still in the place of his nativity.

BRADEN, MRS. EMILY, poet, was born in England. She is a writer of Chariton, Iowa; and a constant contributor of poems to the periodical press of the west.

BRADEN, JOHN, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 18, 1826, in New York city. He has attained prominence as a successful clergyman of the methodist episcopal church; and is the president of the Central Tennessee college of Nashville.

BRADFORD, ALDEN, author, was born Nov. 19, 1765, in Duxbury, Mass. He was secretary of state for Massachusetts in 1812-24. He was the author of Eulogy on Washington; History of Massachusetts, 1764-1820; Life of Jonathan Mayhew; History of the Federal Government; Biographical Notices of Distinguished Men of Massachusetts; and New England Chronology, 1497-1843. He died Oct. 26, 1843, in Boston, Mass.

BRADFORD, ALEXANDER WARFIELD, jurist, author, was born in 1815, in Albany, N. Y. He was a New York jurist of prominence. He edited American Antiquities, and prepared many volumes of legal reports, among which the six commonly called Bradford's Reports have become standard authority. He died Nov. 5, 1867, in New York city.

BRADFORD, ALLEN A., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 23, 1815, in Friendship, Maine. In 1852 he was appointed judge of the sixth judicial district of Iowa, which office he resigned in 1855. He was a member of the legislative council of the territory of Nebraska in 1856, 1857, and 1858. In 1860 he settled in Colorado, and in 1862 he was appointed judge of the supreme court of that territory, which position he held until elected a delegate from Colorado to the thirty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first congress as a republican.

BRADFORD, AMORY HOWE, clergyman, author, was born in 1846, in Massachusetts. He is a congregational clergyman of Montclair, N. J., and the author of The Pilgrim in Old England; Old Wine; New Bottles; Spirit and Life, Thought for To-Day; and Heredity and Christian Problems.

BRADFORD, ANDREW SOWLES, printer, journalist, was born in 1686, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the only printer in Pennsylvania from 1712 to 1723. On Dec. 22, 1719, he began the publication of the first newspaper printed in the middle colonies, the American Weekly Mercury. Benjamin Franklin, upon arriving in Philadelphia in 1723, found employment as a compositor in his printing office. Andrew Bradford was postmaster of Philadelphia in 1732. He kept a bookstore at the sign of the Bible in Second street in 1735, and in 1738 removed to South Front street. In 1741 he started a periodical called the American Magazine. He died Nov. 23, 1742.

BRADFORD, AUGUSTUS W., governor, was born about 1805, in Maryland. In 1862 he was elected governor of that state, serving as such until 1866. He died March 1, 1881.

BRADFORD, EDWARD G., lawyer, jurist, was born in Maryland. He adopted the profession of the law; settled at Wilmington, Del.; and in 1871 was appointed United States judge for the district of Delaware.

BRADFORD, ELLEN KNIGHT, author, poet, was born in Ypsilanti, Mich. Among the best known of her poems are the hymn Over the Line; Wearing of the Blue; Elberon; Centennial; and Songs of Real Children.

BRADFORD, GAMALIEL, soldier, jurist, was born Sept. 2, 1731, in Duxbury, Mass. He was a descendant of Governor William Bradford and son of Judge Gamaliel Bradford. He served in the French war as captain and rose to the rank of major. During the revolutionary war he commanded the fourteenth Massachusetts regiment of continentals. After the war he was a member of the legislature and a judge. He died Jan. 9, 1807, in Duxbury, Mass.

BRADFORD, GAMALIEL, political writer, was born Jan. 15, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He graduated from Harvard in 1849. He is the principal advocate for the admission of cabinet officers to a seat and voice in congress, without the right of voting.

BRADFORD, IRA B., lawyer, banker, legislator, was born June 24, 1851, in Fulton, Wis. He graduated from the New Hampshire conference seminary, and attained eminence as an able lawyer of Augusta, Wis., of which city he has been mayor. In 1880 he was a member of the Wisconsin assembly; and the following year was made speaker of that body. He can trace his lineage back to the celebrated Gov. Bradford of the Massachusetts colony; and the republicans of Chippewa Valley have abiding faith in the future of Mr. Bradford, and insist that he will yet be made governor of Wisconsin.

BRADFORD, JAMES HENRY, clergyman, was born Aug. 24, 1836, in Grafton, Vt. He has been chaplain of Garfield post, G. A. R., of Washington, D. C., from its inception; and has served in the same capacity for one year in the department of the Potomac. He is director and treasurer of the temporary home for soldiers and sailors; secretary of the Boys' and Girls' Home and Employment association; and of the Manassas School for Colored Youth.

BRADFORD, JOHN, journalist, state legislator, author, was born in 1749, in Fauquier county, Va. In 1789 he established the Kentucky Gazette; was elected several times to the Kentucky state legislature; and was the author of a work entitled Notes on Kentucky. He died in 1830 in Lexington, Ky.

BRADFORD, JOHN J., lawyer, legislator, was born March 12, 1838, in Conecuh county, Ala. He received his education in Green county, Miss.; and graduated from the Salem high school. He was educated a merchant; was clerk of court in Hancock county for eight years; and in 1871 was elected to the Mississippi state legislature. During the war he served as a confederate captain in Johnson's army. In 1868 he was admitted to the bar, and practiced his profession for a quarter of a century. For ten years he was statistical agent of his county for the department of agriculture of Washington, D. C. He is now principally engaged in farming, stock-raising, and fruit-growing at Augusta, Miss.

BRADFORD, JOSEPH M., naval officer, was born Nov. 4, 1824, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was fleet captain of the South Atlantic blockading squadron from November, 1863, till June, 1865, during which period he saw severe service and performed his difficult duties to the satisfaction of his superior officers. He died April 14, 1872, in Norfolk, Va.

BRADFORD, ROBERT, soldier, was born in 1750 in Plymouth, Mass. He served through the revolutionary war, from Bunker Hill to Yorktown, and was present at many important engagements. He held the rank of major and was presented by Lafayette with a sword for gallantry. He died in 1823 in Belpre, Ohio.

BRADFORD, TAUL, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1835, in Mardisville, Ala. He practiced law from the age of twenty, excepting during the civil war, when he served in the confederate army. In 1871 he was elected to the Alabama legislature, and served two sessions; and in 1874 was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-fourth congress.

BRADFORD, THOMAS, soldier, printer, journalist, was born May 4, 1745, in Philadelphia, Pa. After leaving the college of Philadelphia he entered his father's printing office, and became his partner and associate editor of the Pennsylvania Journal, which he transformed into the True American in 1801. In 1775 he became captain of a military company in Philadelphia, and later was commissary-general of the Pennsylvania division of the continental army. After the establishment of the federal government he became printer to congress. He was one of the founders of the Philosophical Society. He died May 7, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BRADFORD, THOMAS LINDSLEY, physician, author, was born June 6, 1847, in Frankestown, N. H. He is a physician of Philadelphia, and the author of A Homeopathic Biography of the United States from the years 1825 to 1891; and is at present engaged on a Life of Hahnemann.

BRADFORD, WILLIAM, governor, author, was born in March, 1588, in England. He was governor of the Plymouth colony, 1621-57. He left in manuscript a History of Plymouth Plantation, the leisurely composition of twenty years, which was drawn from by Morton, Prince, and Hutchinson as a basis for their respective histories, and after being lost for nearly a century was found in the library of the bishop of London in 1855, and published soon after. He was the earliest American historian, and his work exhibits judicial impartiality, broad conceptions, and a direct, vigorous style. He died May 9, 1657, in Plymouth, Mass.

BRADFORD, WILLIAM, soldier, printer, journalist, author, was born in 1719, in New York. In 1741 he went to England, and the next year he returned to Philadelphia with printing material and a library, and on Dec. 2, 1742, issued the first number of the Pennsylvania Journal. When the revolutionary war began he joined the Pennsylvania militia. As a major, and afterward a colonel, he fought in the battles of Trenton and Princeton. He died Sept. 25, 1791, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BRADFORD, WILLIAM, physician, United States senator, was born Nov. 4, 1729, in Plympton, Mass. He was a member of the Rhode Island committee of correspondence in 1773, was chosen deputy governor of Rhode Island the same year, and was elected a delegate from Rhode Island to the continental congress, but never took his seat. In 1793 he was elected United States senator from Rhode Island. In 1797 he was chosen president of the senate pro tempore, and later in that year he resigned his seat. He died July 6, 1808, in Bristol, R. I.

BRADFORD, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 14, 1755, in Philadelphia, Pa. At the outbreak of the revolution he entered the army as major of brigade and became lieutenant-colonel. In 1790 he was appointed attorney-general of the state; and in 1791 was commissioned as judge of the supreme court, which office he held until 1794, when he was appointed attorney-general of the United States. In 1793 he published an Inquiry how Far the Punishment of Death is Necessary in Pennsylvania, with notes and illustrations; and in the earlier periods of his life some of his poetical productions were published in the Philadelphia Magazine. He died Aug. 23, 1795.

BRADFORD, WILLIAM, painter, was born in 1827, in New Bedford, Mass. He began by painting ships at Lynn and in sketches of coasts not before visited by artists. He died April 25, 1892, in New Bedford, Mass.

BRADISH, LUTHER, statesman, was born Sept. 15, 1783, in Cummington, Mass. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1827-30, and in 1835-8. He was lieutenant-governor in 1829-43; and assistant United States treasurer at New York during Fillmore's administration. He died Aug. 30, 1863, in Newport, R. I.

BRADLEE, CALEB DAVIS, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 24, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard, in 1852, and in 1854 became pastor of the Allen street church of Cambridge, where he remained for three years. In 1864 he took charge of the church of the Redeemer, Boston, where he has since remained. He has published sermons, notably one on the death of Abraham Lincoln, and has also contributed prose and verse to newspapers and periodicals, especially the New England Historical and Genealogical Register. He is the author of Sermons for the Church; Sermons for All Sects; and Life of Starr King.

BRADLEY, ALEXANDER, manufacturer, was born Oct. 31, 1812, in Baltimore, Md. In 1845, with his brother Charles, he formed the firm of A. Bradley and Co., and entered upon the manufacture of stoves; and toward the end of his active management produced 21,000 stoves a year. He finally retired from that industry, leaving the business to his thirtieth congress. He died Aug. 5, 1847, in New York city.

BRADLEY, JAMES, jurist. He was a resident of Indiana; and was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Nebraska.

BRADLEY, JAMES, soldier, clergyman, legislator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1835, in Missouri. He served through the war as a private in Cockrell's brigade. He is a clergyman and the author of a work entitled Confederate Mail Carriers, or History of the War in Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee. He has also served with distinction as a member of the Missouri state legislature.

BRADLEY, JOHN E., educator, lecturer, college president, was born Aug. 8, 1839, in Lee, Mass. He graduated from Williams college in 1865, and at once entered the profession of teaching in the high schools of Pittsfield, Mass., Albany, N. Y., and Minneapolis, Minn. In 1852 he became president of the Illinois college of Jacksonville, Ill.; and has become widely known as a speaker and writer on educational topics.

BRADLEY, JOSEPH P., educator, lawyer, jurist, was born March 14, 1813, in Berne, N. Y. He became associate justice of the supreme court of the United States in 1870; and was a presidential elector in 1868. He died Jan. 22, 1892, in Washington, D. C.

BRADLEY, ALOYSIUS, clergyman, educator, lecturer, was born in 1866, in Macon, Ill. He attended St. Benedict's college of Atchison, Kan.; and graduated from the college of Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1891 he founded the Abbey Student, a magazine of which he is editor and owner. He fills the chair of professor of literary criticism, belles-lettres and mental philosophy, in St. Benedict's college, of which institution he has also served as librarian.

BRADLEY, CHARLES TRUEWORTH, manufacturer, banker, was born Jan. 5, 1818, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1843 he went to Milwaukee and established a jobbing and manufacturing business, which they have continued on the same ground for nearly fifty years; and he has been for more than twenty years president of the Milwaukee national bank.

BRADLEY, DENIS, R. C. bishop, was born in 1846, in Ireland. He was ordained in 1871, and stationed at the cathedral in Portland, Maine, where he remained nine years, filling the offices of chancellor of the diocese and rector of the cathedral. He was then appointed pastor of St. Joseph's church, Manchester, N. H., and in 1884 was consecrated bishop of Manchester.

BRADLEY, EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born April, 1808, in East Bloomfield, N. Y. When twenty-eight years of age he was appointed associate judge of the common pleas of his native county; and in 1839 he removed to Michigan and engaged in the practice of law. In 1842 he was elected to the senate of Michigan; and was a representative from that state to the son.

BRADLEY, LEONIDAS HAMALINE, lawyer, was born July 23, 1841, in Patriot, Ohio. In 1861 he graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university, and received the degree of B. A.; and subsequently received the degree of A. M. He served as a union soldier during the civil war for three years; and was assistant acting adjutant-general at Fort Pickering, Memphis, Tenn. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of Illinois. He lived in Springfield, Ill., during 1865-86, and there took an active part in local affairs; was a member of the city council, and assistant United States attorney for the southern district of Illinois, and was instrumental in breaking up the whisky ring during 1868-73. He then removed to Omaha, Neb., where he holds a place in the front ranks as an able lawyer.

BRADLEY, LEWIS R., legislator, governor, was born Feb. 18, 1805, in Osage county, Va. In 1860 he was elected to the California state legislature. In 1866 he removed to Nevada; and in 1870 was elected governor of that state, and re-elected in 1874.

BRADLEY, LUTHER PRENTICE, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1822, in New Haven, Conn. He entered the volunteer army Oct. 15, 1861, as lieutenant-colonel fifty-first Illinois infantry.

BRADLEY, MARY EMILY NEELY, author, poet, was born Nov. 29, 1834, in Easton, Md. For forty years she resided in New York city with her husband, and since his death, in 1893, has lived in Washington. She has been a frequent contributor to the best periodicals of the day, and has published many books well known in Sunday-school libraries for young people; and also a volume of poems entitled The Hidden Sweetness. Her most notable prose works are: Douglass Farm; Story of a Summer; Brave Girls; and Grace's Visit.

BRADLEY, MARY EMILY NEELY, author, poet, was born Nov. 29, 1834, in Easton, Md. For forty years she resided in New York city with her husband, and since his death, in 1893, has lived in Washington. She has been a frequent contributor to the best periodicals of the day, and has published many books well known in Sunday-school libraries for young people; and also a volume of poems entitled The Hidden Sweetness. Her most notable prose works are: Douglass Farm; Story of a Summer; Brave Girls; and Grace's Visit.

BRADLEY, NATHAN B., jurist, legislator, state senator, congressman, was born May 28, 1831, in Lee, Mass. He was elected a justice of the peace three terms; a supervisor one term; an alderman three terms; and was the first mayor of Bay City, Mich., declining a renomination. He was elected to the state senate in 1866, but declined a renomination; and was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican.

BRADLEY, NATHANIEL LYMAN, manufacturer, was born Dec. 27, 1829, in Cheshire, Conn. He has served the city as alderman and acting mayor; is president of the Meriden Park company, and president of the Meriden hospital. The Bradley and Hubbard Manufacturing company, from a small concern, employing only six workmen, has grown to own and occupy an immense plant of brick buildings, with a floor area of nearly seven acres, employing about 1,500 operatives, with offices and sales rooms in New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia.

BRADLEY, SAMUEL, lawyer, was born in Fryeburg, Maine. In 1820 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of New England. During 1824-45 he practiced his profession at Hollis, and died in 1849 in Saco, Maine.

BRADLEY, SAMUEL, lawyer, was born in Fryeburg, Maine. In 1820 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of New England. During 1824-45 he practiced his profession at Hollis, and died in 1849 in Saco, Maine.

BRADLEY, STEPHEN ROE, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, congressman, was born Feb. 20, 1754, in Wallingford, Conn. He was the first senator from Vermont in the congress of the United States, serving from 1791 to 1795, and from 1801 to 1813. He died Dec. 9, 1830, in Walpole, N. H.

BRADLEY, THOMAS J., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1870, in New York city. He taught in the public schools of New York city from 1887 until 1891, at the same time attending the university law school, from which institution he was graduated as a bachelor of laws in 1889. In 1891 he was appointed a deputy assistant district attorney of the county of New York, which position he held till July, 1895, when he resigned to attend to his private law practice. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as the regular democratic candidate.

BRADLEY, WARREN IVES, author, was born March 20, 1847, in Forestville, Conn. He published, under the pen-name of Glance Gaylord, books for children. These include Boys at Dr. Murray's; Gilbert Starr and his Lessons; Uncle Donnie's Home; Culm Rock, the Story of a Year, for which he received a prize of $350 over seventy-two competitors; Gay Cottage; Gilbert's Last Summer at Rainsford, and What it Taught; Will Rood's Friendship; After Years; Donald Deane and his Cross; Jack Arcombe, the Story of a Waif; Miss Patience Hathaway; and Mr. Pendleton's Cup. He died June 15, 1868, in Forestville, Conn.

BRADLEY, WILLIAM CZAR, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 23, 1782, in Westminster, Vt. In 1806 and 1807 he was a representative in the state legislature; in 1812, a member of the state council; a representative in congress from 1813 to 1815; again in congress from 1823 to 1827; in 1850 again in the state legislature; in 1856 a presidential elector; and in 1857 a member of the state constitutional convention. In 1858 he took formal leave of the bar, at which he had practiced for fifty-four years. He died March 3, 1867, in Westminster, Vt.

BRADLEY, WILLIAM L., manufacturer, was born in 1826, in Cheshire, Conn. He built a factory in the back bay district of Boston, and transacted a business in the manufacture of fertilizers the first year, which now employs over fifteen hundred men and a capital of over $4,000,000. In 1872 Mr. Bradley organized the Bradley Fertilizer company.

BRADLEY, WILLIAM O'CONNELL, lawyer, legislator, was born March 18, 1847, near Lancaster, Ky. In 1875 he was nominated for United States senator, and received the vote of his party in that body; and in 1876 made the race as the republican candidate for congress, but was defeated. In 1896 he was elected governor of Kentucky as a republican.

BRADLEY, WILLIAM O'CONNELL, lawyer, legislator, was born March 18, 1847, near Lancaster, Ky. In 1875 he was nominated for United States senator, and received the vote of his party in that body; and in 1876 made the race as the republican candidate for congress, but was defeated. In 1896 he was elected governor of Kentucky as a republican.

BRADSHAW, GEORGE S., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born April 5, 1856, in Alamance county, N. C. He received a thorough education, and soon attained prominence as an eminent lawyer in his native state at Greensboro. During 1881-83 he served with distinction as a member of the North Carolina state legislature; was clerk of the superior court; and during 1883-94 was probate judge. He has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state; is trustee of the Trinity college of North Carolina, and also of the university of North Carolina. He is also a successful editor, and has contributed extensively to periodical literature.

BRADSHAW, SAMUEL C., physician, congressman, was born June 10, 1809, in Plumstead, Pa. He was a representative from his native state to the thirty-fourth congress.

BRADSTREET, ALBION GILBERT, civil engineer, lawyer, was born Jan. 30, 1852, in North Bridgton. In 1879 he was elected by Bridgton a representative in the Maine legislature, and re-elected in 1880. In 1881 he was appointed acting general manager and chief engineer of the Tehuantepec Inter-Ocean Railroad company, a large and important organization which is engaged in building a railroad in Mexico across the isthmus of Tehuantepec.

BRADSTREET, MRS. ANNE DUDLEY, author, was born about 1612 in England. She was the first American woman of letters, and called by her contemporaries The Tenth Muse. Her prose work includes a brief autobiographic sketch, Religious Experiences; Meditations Divine and Moral, a series of shrewd, strong aphorisms. In her lifetime she was known only as a poet, and her verse, the bulk of which is considerable, comprises elegies, epitaphs. She was the author of The Four Monarchies, a rhymed chronicle of ancient history; The Four Elements; The Four Humors of Man; The Four Ages of Man; The Four Seasons of the Year; Dialogue between Old England and New; and Contemplations. She followed artificial models, and her lines reflect the grotesque conceits of the time, but here and there are gleams of real poetic vigor, while in the poem Contemplations, the least labored of them all, she exhibits true poetic inspiration. She died Sept. 16, 1672.

BRADSTREET, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1711, in England. He participated in the attack on Ticonderoga in 1758, after which he was made full quartermaster-general with the rank of colonel. He captured Fort Frontenac, which he razed to the ground, and destroyed such stores as could not be removed. He served under Amherst in his expedition against Ticonderoga and Crown Point in 1759, received his colonelcy in February, 1762, and was advanced to the rank of major-general in 1772. During Pontiac's war he commanded an expedition against the western Indians, with whom he negotiated a treaty of peace in Detroit in 1764. He died Sept. 25, 1774, in New York city.

BRADSTREET, SIMON, colonial governor, was born in 1603 in England. He emigrated to Massachusetts in 1630, and in 1673 was chosen deputy governor, and held this position until 1679, when he was appointed governor. He resigned this office in 1686, but was chosen governor again three years later, and served in that capacity until 1692. He died March 27, 1697, in Salem, Mass.

BRADWELL, MYRA, lawyer, editor, was born Feb. 12, 1831, in Manchester, Vt. In 1852 she studied law under the instruction of her husband, Judge James B. Bradwell, whose father was one of the leading pioneers of Illinois. She was the first woman in America to ask for admission to the bar. About 1870 she founded the Legal News, the first weekly legal paper published in the western states. She died in 1895, in Chicago, Ill.

BRADY, HUGH, soldier, was born in July, 1768, in Northumberland county, Pa. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1822, and major-general in 1848. He distinguished himself at Lundy's Lane, at Chippewa, and at Niagara, and was wounded in the two latter engagements. Stationed at Detroit during the patriot disturbances in Canada, he contributed greatly to the preservation of peace on the frontier. He died April 15, 1851, in Detroit, Mich.

BRADY, JAMES D., soldier, jurist, congressman, was born April 3, 1843, in Portsmouth, Va. He served throughout the civil war, rising through all the intermediate grades, to the rank of colonel. In 1880 and 1884 he was a delegate to the republican national conventions; and has been a prominent member of all state republican conventions in Virginia since the close of the war. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-ninth congress.

BRADY, JAMES T., lawyer, was born April 9, 1815, in New York city. He was appointed district attorney in 1843 for New York, and in 1845 corporation attorney. He died Feb. 9, 1869, in New York city.

BRADY, JASPER E., lawyer, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1847 to 1849. He died Jan. 23, 1870, in Washington, D. C.

BRADY, JOHN R., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1821, in New York city. He engaged in the practice of law in New York city, and in 1855 was elected judge of the court of common pleas. In 1869 he was elected to the supreme bench, and in 1877 assigned to be a general term judge, which office he held till the time of his death. He died March 16, 1891, in New York city.

BRADY, THOMAS J., soldier, lawyer, journalist, public official, was born Feb. 12, 1839, in Muncie, Ind. He received a common school education; taught school for several years in Muncie and vicinity; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1860. He entered the union army in 1861 as captain; was promoted major in 1862, and to a colonelcy in 1863; served throughout the civil war, and was mustered out of service with the last regiment, in 1865, as brevet brigadier-general, for long and meritorious service. He resumed the practice of law at Muncie, Ind., and became the publisher of the Muncie Weekly Times. In 1870 he was appointed United States consul at St. Thomas, West Indies. In 1874 he was made chairman of the republican state central committee of Indiana; in 1875 was appointed supervisor of internal revenue; and in 1876 was appointed second assistant postmaster-general of the United States, and served until 1881, when he resigned.

BRAGDON, CHARLES CUSHMAN, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 6, 1847, in Auburn, N. Y. He has been a successful educator, and is now principal of the Lasell Seminary for Young Women of Auburndale, Mass. This eminent clergyman has traveled extensively in Europe; has made ten trips to Europe, Asia and Africa; and during 1890-91 traveled around the world.

BRAGG, BRAXTON, soldier, was born March 22, 1817, in Warren county, N. C. He was present at the battle of Monterey, Sept. 21-23, and was brevetted major for gallant conduct there. In 1847 he was brevetted lieutenant-colonel for gallantry at the battle of Buena Vista. From 1848 till 1855 he was engaged in frontier service at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., Fort Gibson, and Washita. When the civil war began he was appointed brigadier-general in the confederate army in 1861, and placed in command at Pensacola, Fla. In February, 1862, he was promoted major-general and ordered to join the army of the Mississippi. He took part in the battle of Shiloh, April 6-7, and was promoted general in place of A. S. Johnston, killed. After the evacuation of Corinth he succeeded General Beauregard in command of the department. In August he led a formidable force, 45,000 strong, into Kentucky. He died Sept. 27, 1876, in Galveston, Tex.

BRAGG, EDWARD S., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Unadilla, N. Y. He received a collegiate education; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1848. He moved to Fond du Lac, Wis., commenced the practice of law in 1850, and was elected district attorney in 1854. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1865, rising to the rank of brigadier-general. He was appointed postmaster of Fond du Lac in 1866; was a state senator in 1868 and 1869; and was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1872. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-ninth congresses.

BRAGG, JOHN, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was a representative in congress from Alabama from 1851 to 1853.

BRAGG, THOMAS, lawyer, United States senator, governor, was born Nov. 9, 1810, in Warrenton, N. C. He was chiefly educated at the military academy at Middletown, Conn. In 1842 he was elected to the assembly of his state; and in 1853 was a presidential elector. He was governor of North Carolina for two terms, from 1855 to 1859; and was elected a senator in congress for the term commencing in 1859. He died Jan. 21, 1872, in Raleigh.

BRAIN, EDWIN BELL, builder, poet, was born March 27, 1853, in London, England. He has served as county commissioner, and is now county treasurer of Rock county, Neb. Besides filling various offices of trust in his county and state, he is a successful builder and farmer; and has contributed both prose and verse for the past twenty years to the periodical press.

BRAINARD, DANIEL, surgeon, lecturer, author, was born May 15, 1812, in Whitesborough, N. Y. He was the founder of Rush Medical college of Chicago, and occupied its chair of surgery from 1843 till his death. Under Presidents Pierce and Buchanan he was surgeon of the marine hospital, Chicago. He was a corresponding member of the societies of surgery of Paris and Geneva, and published a work on rattlesnake bites; Ununited Fractures and Deformities, the American medical association prize essay for 1854; and many articles in the Chicago Medical Journal. He died Oct. 10, 1866, in Chicago, Ill.

BRAINARD, DAVID LEGG, soldier, explorer, was born Dec. 21, 1856, in Norway, N. Y. He participated in the Indian campaigns under General Miles, and was wounded in the face in action with the Sioux at Muddy Creek, Montana, May 7, 1877. In the following August he was one of the four men selected to act as escort to General Sherman and party in their tour through the national park. In July, 1879, he was promoted sergeant, and in May, 1880, recommended for detail on the Howgate polar expedition.

BRAINARD, JOHN, clergyman, was born June 4, 1830, in Hartford, Conn. He has filled various pastorates in Connecticut and Maryland; and in 1863 accepted the rectorship at St. Peter's of Auburn, N. Y.

BRAINARD, JOHN GARDINER CALKINS, journalist, poet, was born Oct. 21, 1796, in New London, Conn. He was for a time editor of the Connecticut Mirror, and produced a volume of poems. His Falls of Niagara, written while the printer's boy was waiting for his regular contribution to the paper, is generally considered the best short poem written on that subject, and is one of the gems of American literature. He died Sept. 26, 1828, in New London, Conn.

BRAINE, DANIEL LAWRENCE, naval officer, was born May 18, 1829, in New York city. In 1861 he attacked the confederate gunboats above Cape Hatteras and dispersed two regiments of infantry, sinking two barges filled with soldiers, and rescuing the twentieth Indiana regiment, who were cut off from Hatteras inlet by the enemy. On July 15, 1862, he received his commission as lieutenant-commander, and from that time till 1864 was in numerous engagements. He became captain in December, 1874, and commodore in 1885.

BRAINERD, DAVID, missionary, author, was born March 20, 1718, in Haddam, Conn. He was a famous missionary among the Indians of New England. Selections from his journals have been printed, entitled Miriabilia Dei apud Indicos; and Divine Grace Displayed. He died Oct. 9, 1747, in Northampton, Conn.

BRAINERD, LAWRENCE, business man, United States senator, was born in 1794. He was a senator in congress from Vermont during the session of 1854 and 1855; and was for many years a leading business man in the town of St. Albans, Vt. He died May 9, 1870, in St. Albans, Vt.

BRAINERD, SAMUEL M., congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1842, in Erie county, Pa. He received an academical education; was admitted to the bar in 1869; and has since practiced his profession in Erie, Pa. In 1872 he was elected district attorney of his county; and was elected to the forty-eighth congress as a republican.

BRAINERD, THOMAS, clergyman, journalist, was born June 17, 1804, in Leyden, N. Y. He took charge of the Fourth presbyterian church in 1831. From 1833 till 1836 he edited the Cincinnati Journal and the Youth's Magazine, and also assisted in editing the Presbyterian Quarterly Review. He died Aug. 21, 1866, in Scranton, Pa.

BRAKE, HEZEKIAH, farmer, author, was born Dec. 4, 1814, in England; is the author of a work entitled On Two Continents. He has had a varied career; has filled various offices of trust in Council Grove, Kan., where he has attained success in various enterprises, and has always been interested in educational work.

BRAMAN, BENJAMIN, microscopist, journalist, was born Nov. 23, 1831, in Norton, Mass. During 1863-64 he was teaching at Astoria, and after that date taught drawing in the Cooper union and elsewhere in New York. He is a skillful microscopist, and from its first issue has edited the Journal of the New York Microscopical Society, of which organization he has some time been president.

BRAMLETTE, THOMAS E., soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 3, 1817, in Cumberland county, Ky. He was appointed attorney for the commonwealth in 1848; resigned this position in two years, and resumed the practice of law. In 1856 he was elected judge of the sixth judicial district; and in 1861 resigned this office to enter the federal army as colonel of the third Kentucky infantry. He was appointed United States district attorney, and resigned to accept the nomination for governor; and was elected, in 1863, for four years. He died Jan. 12, 1875, in Louisville, Ky.

BRANCH, JOHN, lawyer, United States senator, governor, was born Nov. 4, 1782, in Halifax county, N. C. In 1811 he was elected a state senator; re-elected every year until 1817, and was then elected governor of the state. He again entered the state senate in 1822; served in the United States senate from 1823 to 1829; and was in the latter year appointed secretary of the navy. In 1831 he was elected to a seat in congress as representative from North Carolina; and in 1834 was again elected to the state senate. In 1835 he was elected a member of the convention to revise the state constitution; and in 1843 was appointed governor of the territory of Florida. He died Jan. 4, 1863, in Enfield, N. C.

BRANCH, LAWRENCE O'BRIEN, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 7, 1820, in Halifax county, N. C. He was elected a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He took part in the great rebellion as a general, and was killed at the battle of Sharpsburg, Sept. 17, 1862.

BRANCH, MRS. MARY LYDIA BOLLES, author, poet, was born June 13, 1840, in New London, Conn. She is best known by her poem, The Petrified Fern, and is the author of The Kanter Girls, which is a story for young people.

BRANCH, WILLIAM A. B., soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1847, in Tallahassee, Fla. He entered the Virginia Military institute, remaining there a few months, when he joined the confederate army; served as a courier on staff of general R. F. Hoke; and surrendered with General Johnston's army in 1865. He studied law under governor Thomas Bragg, of North Carolina, but never practiced. At the age of twenty he took charge of his landed estate in Beaufort county, N. C., upon which he has lived ever since, engaged in agriculture. He was elected to the fifty-second and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

BRANCH, WILLIAM ALPHEUS, educator, was born Aug. 9, 1861, in Jeffersonville, Ill. In 1888 he was elected principal of schools in Menno, S. D.; at the end of three years was appointed county superintendent of schools, and in 1893 was elected to the same position. He has been most successful in his teachers' institutes, and is one of the foremost educators in South Dakota.

BRAND, JAMES, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 26, 1834, in Three Rivers, Canada. He served as a color-bearer of the twenty-seventh regiment Connecticut volunteer infantry; and fought at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. For four years he filled a pastorate in the Congregational church at Danvers, Mass.; and since 1873 has been pastor of the First Congregational church of Oberlin, Ohio. He is the author of two books entitled Sermons from a College Pulpit, and Beasts of Ephesus.

BRANDEBURY, L. G., jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He was appointed from that state chief justice of the United States court for the territory of Utah.

BRANDEGEE, AUGUSTUS, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born July 15, 1828, in New London, Conn. He was elected in 1854, 1858, 1859 and 1861, a member of the Connecticut legislature; and was chosen speaker in the latter year. In 1861 he was a presidential elector; and was elected a representative from Connecticut to the thirty-eighth congress. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention of 1864; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress.

BRANDEIS, FREDERICK, pianist, composer, was born July 5, 1835, in Vienna, Austria. In 1880 he became organist of a synagogue in New York, and in 1886 organist of St. Peter's and St. Paul's Roman Catholic church. His compositions include an introduction and capriccio; grand march and numerous others.

BRANDON, GEORGE C., statesman. He was governor of Mississippi from 1827 to 1831.

BRANDRETH, BENJAMIN, manufacturer, state senator, was born June 22, 1808, in England. After coming to America he graduated from the Eclectic Medical college of New York city. In 1857, he built the Brandreth house of New York city. The secret of the enormous sale of the Brandreth medicines lay in the fact that during the first fifteen years or more, he expended almost his entire profits of $150,000 a year in advertising. He was elected to the state senate in 1849, and served four years. He was frequently a delegate to the conventions of his party. He died Feb. 19, 1880, in Sing Sing, N. Y.

BRANDRETH, WILLIAM, capitalist, was born Oct. 22, 1812, in Sing Sing, N. Y. In 1868 he became interested in real estate, and established the firm of Howland and Brandreth of Sing Sing, N. Y. He was interested in the manufacturing of iron and steel directly from the ore by the action of flame, at a cost less than that of the ordinary methods of production, which led him to establish the Carbon Iron company.

BRANDT, CARL LUDWIG, soldier, artist, was born Sept. 22, 1831, in Hamburg, Germany. He served in the war of 1848-'50, between Germany and Denmark, and came to the United States in 1852. Among his works are A Dish of Alpine Strawberries; The Fortune Teller; Return from the Alps; Monte Rosa at Sunrise; Bay of Naples During Eruption of Vesuvius in 1867; Etna from Taurinino, Sicily; Resignation; and The Golden Treasures of Mexico.

BRANDT, JOHN BAUGHMAN, soldier, clergyman, was born Aug. 29, 1838, near Lancaster, Ohio. For four years he served in the union army, and was promoted to captain. In 1886 he was ordained a clergyman in the presbyterian church, and has filled pastorates principally in Indianapolis and St. Louis. He has organized and built a number of churches, and is the founder of the general secretaries' conference.

BRANNAN, SAMUEL, pioneer, journalist, was born in 1819, in Saco, Me. He was an elder in that church, and arrived in San Francisco in July, 1846, as leader of the Mormon colony sent out in the ship Brooklyn from New York. He began the publication of a newspaper, the Star, the second in California and the first published in the San Francisco district.

BRANNAN, WILLIAM PENN., painter, was born in 1825 in Ohio. He was a portrait painter of Cincinnati, and the author of Vagaries of Vandyke Brown; and The Harp of a Thousand Strings, or Laughter for a Life Time. He died Aug. 9, 1866, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BRANNON, JOHN MILTON, soldier, was born in 1819 in Washington, D. C. He received the brevet of major-general of volunteers in 1865, and on March 13, 1865, was brevetted brigadier-general in the regular army, and major-general for gallant and meritorious services during the war.

BRANSFORD, CLIFTON WOOD, journalist, orator, banker, was born Jan. 24, 1858, in Owensboro, Ky. He attended Bransford institute (which was founded by his father) and graduated in 1887 from the Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn. In 1877-78 he attended the Louisville Law school; but subsequently abandoned law to enter journalism; and for ten years he was editor of The Messenger of Owensboro, Ky. Since 1887 he has been successfully engaged in the milling business, and is the proprietor of the Bransford Mills and Elevator. He was instrumental in organizing the Owensboro Banking company, of which he has always been president. He is also prominently identified with various business enterprises of his city; and was unanimously chosen elector on the Bryan and Sewall ticket, but resigned before election. He has also attained prominence as an eloquent orator.

BRANT, DAVID, journalist, legislator, was born July 6, 1850, in Shelbyville, Ind. He received his education in the state university of Iowa; and for twenty years has been a successful editorial writer and press correspondent. He served in the Iowa legislature in the regular and special sessions of the twenty-sixth general assembly, and took an active part in the deliberations of that body.

BRANTLEY, WILLIAM G., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 18, 1860, in Blackshear, Ga. He represented Pierce county in the Georgia house of representatives in 1884-85; represented third senatorial district in Georgia senate in 1886-87; was elected solicitor-general of Brunswick circuit in 1888 for a term of four years, and re-elected in 1892 for another term of four years. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BRASHER, ABRAHAM, soldier, poet, was born Dec. 2, 1734, in New York city. He was one of the most active associates of the liberty boys of his native city, and wrote many of the popular ballads of the revolutionary period. Among his poetical productions were Another New Year's Address, and the General's Trip to Morrilstown, which were favorites in the American camp. He died in 1782.

BRASWELL, THOMAS JEFFERSON, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 28, 1852, in DeKalb county, Tenn. In 1881 he became a member of the Missouri state legislature, and received the re-election the following year. During 1888-94 he was prosecuting attorney of Oregon county, Mo., and has attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers of Missouri.

BRATTLE, THOMAS, merchant, author, was born in 1657, in Massachusetts. He was a once famous Boston merchant, and the author of Eclipse of the Sun and Moon Observed in New England; and Lunar Eclipse in New England, 1707. He died May 18, 1713, in Boston, Mass.

BRATTLE, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1763. He was pastor of the church in Cambridge, having been previously a tutor in Harvard college. He published a treatise on logic entitled Compendium Logicæ Secundum Principia D. Renati Cartesii, which was long used as a recitation book in the college. He died Feb. 15, 1717.

BRATTON, JOHN, soldier, physician, congressman, was born March 7, 1831, in Winstonsboro, S. C. He enlisted in the confederate army in 1861 and served throughout the war, attaining the rank of brigadier-general. He was a member of the state constitutional convention in 1865; was a member of the state senate in 1866; was chairman of the South Carolina delegation to the democratic national convention in 1876, and a member of the democratic state committee the same year. He was a delegate from South Carolina to the democratic national convention of 1880. In 1881 he was elected, by the legislature, comptroller-general of the state of South Carolina, to fill a vacancy, and in 1884 he was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-eighth congress.

BRAUN, CHRISTIAN, business man, was born Sept. 5, 1858, in Paterson, N. J. He was made a candidate for mayor of the city of Paterson in 1893, and elected by an immense majority.

BRAUNHART, SAMUEL, business man, state senator, was born Jan. 1, 1848, in Germany. In 1880 he was elected a member of the assembly of the California state legislature, and in 1897 became a member of the state senate. He has filled numerous public offices in San Francisco.

BRAWLEY, WILLIAM H., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1841 in South Carolina. He served in the confederate army, and was solicitor of the sixth judicial circuit. He served in the legislature of South Carolina, and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat; was elected to the fifty-third congress and served until February, 1894, when he was appointed United States judge for North Carolina by President Cleveland.

BRAXTON, CARTER, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1736, on the Mattaponi river, Va. In 1760 he was elected to the house of burgesses, in which he was conspicuous. He was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress in 1776, and signed the Declaration of Independence. After that service he frequently served in the Virginia legislature. He died Oct. 10, 1797, in Richmond, Va.

BRAXTON, ELLIOTT M., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 8, 1823, in Matthews county, Va. He was elected to the state senate in 1851, and re-elected in 1853. He was elected to the common council of Fredericksburg in 1866, and was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-second congress.

BRAY, ANDREW WATSON, insurance manager, was born July 24, 1855, in Rockaway, N. J. He was one of the valued agents of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad; and subsequently assumed the management in New Jersey for the Mutual Life Insurance company.

BRAYMAN, MASON, soldier, lawyer, journalist, governor, was born May 23, 1813, in Buffalo, N. Y. He was brought up as a farmer, but became a printer, edited the Buffalo Bulletin in 1834-35, studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1836. In 1842 he opened a law office in Springfield, Ill. In 1844-45 he revised and published the statutes of Illinois under the appointment of the governor and the authority of the legislature. He afterwards became interested in railroad enterprises. He served through the civil war; and in 1876-80 was governor of the territory of Idaho.

BRAYTON, GEORGE BAILEY, inventor, was born Oct. 23, 1829, in Crompton, R. I. He was the inventor of a safety steam boiler, and of the high pressure gas engine.

BRAYTON, SAMUEL NELSON, educator, physician, journalist, was born Jan. 11, 1839, in Queensbury, N. Y. He engaged in practice in Honeoye Falls, N. Y., removed to Buffalo in 1877, and became professor of the theory and practice of medicine in the Buffalo college of physicians and surgeons upon its establishment, and dean of the faculty in 1881. He is also editor of the Eclectic Physicians' and Surgeons' Investigator, a monthly homeopathic journal, published in Buffalo.

BRAYTON, WILLIAM D., state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 6, 1815, in Warwick, R. I. In 1841 he was elected to the state assembly, serving two terms. In 1848 he was elected to the state senate; again elected to the state assembly in 1851; and in 1855 was a second time elected state senator. He was presidential elector in 1856; and was elected a member from Rhode Island to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

BRAZZA, CORA, author, was born in 1862 in Louisiana. She is the author of An American Idyl; a Literary Farce; and Guide to the Old and New Race in Italy.

BREARE, GEORGE W., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 28, 1858, in Newton, Ala. In 1880 he moved to Florida, and the following year was appointed justice of the peace, which he filled for eight years, in Suwannee county. In 1896 he was elected county judge of Lafayette county, Fla., and received the re-election the following year.

BREARLY, DAVID, soldier, jurist, was born in 1745. He was lieutenant-colonel in the revolutionary army and a brave officer. He was a member of the state and federal constitutional conventions of New Jersey; chief justice in that state for nine years; and in 1789 was appointed United States judge for the district of New Jersey. He died Aug. 16, 1790, in Trenton, N. J.

BREATHITT, JOHN, educator, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born Sept. 9, 1786, in New London, Va. He was a surveyor and school teacher; and was admitted to the bar in 1810. He was several years in the legislature; was lieutenant-governor from 1828 to 1832; and was governor of Kentucky from 1832 to 1834. He died Feb. 21, 1834, in Frankfort, Ky.

BREATHITT, JOHN W., jurist, was born Jan. 9, 1825, in Hopkinsville, Ky. He has been postmaster of his native city; judge of Christian county; and has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

BRECK, CHARLES HAMDEN, lawyer, jurist, was born June 26, 1837. He is a successful lawyer of Richmond, Va., where for a number of years he has been judge of the county court.

BRECK, DANIEL, soldier, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born in 1788 in Boston, Mass. His first public position in Kentucky was that of judge of a county court. In 1824 he was elected to the state legislature; and was re-elected for five years. From 1835 until 1840 he was president of the Branch bank of Kentucky at Richmond; in 1840 was a presidential elector; in 1843 was appointed judge of the supreme court of Kentucky; and was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1849 to 1851. He died in 1871.

BRECK, JOSEPH, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 17, 1810, in Boston, Mass. In 1834 he was admitted to the bar and for many years was a magistrate in the city of Baltimore. In 1849 he moved to New York city, where he has taken a prominent part in the public affairs of that city.

BRECK, ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born July 25, 1713. He was graduated at Harvard in 1730, and was clergyman of Springfield from July 26, 1736, till his death. He published funeral sermons and a century sermon on the burning of Springfield by the Indians. He died April 23, 1784, in Springfield, Mass.

BRECK, SAMUEL, congressman, was born July 17, 1771, in Boston, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1823 to 1825. He died Sept. 1, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BRECK, SAMUEL, soldier, was born Feb. 25, 1834, in Middleborough, Mass. In 1851 he entered the United States military academy at West Point, N. Y.; he graduated four years later, and was promoted in the army to brevet second lieutenant of artillery. He went through all the grades and was made brigadier general in the United States army in 1865, for diligent, faithful and meritorious services during the rebellion. Since 1870 he has served in California, New York, Washington, D. C., Minnesota, Omaha, and is now serving on Governor's Island, N. Y. In 1887 he was appointed lieutenant-colonel, assistant adjutant general; and in 1893 was made colonel and assistant adjutant general.

BRECK, WILLIAM, merchant, legislator, was born Dec. 17, 1825, in Croydon, N. H. In 1853 he established himself in business in California, and eventually returned to Claremont, N. H., where he died in 1889. He was a member of the state legislature.

BRECKENRIDGE, CLIFTON R., soldier, business man, congressman, was born Nov. 22, 1846, in Lexington, Ky. He entered the confederate service. He engaged in cotton planting in Arkansas; also in the commission business at Pine Bluff, Ark.; and was elected a representative from Arkansas to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

BRECKENRIDGE, JAMES, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 7, 1763, in Fincastle, Va. In 1781 he was a soldier in Colonel Preston's rifle regiment under General Greene. He was a prominent leader of the old federal party in the general assembly of the state; and was a member of the United States congress from 1809 to 1817. He was one of the originators of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal; and with Mr. Jefferson, a founder of the university of Virginia. He died Aug. 9, 1846, in Fincastle, Va.

BRECKENRIDGE, JAMES D., congressman, was born in Jefferson county, Ky. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1821 to 1823. He died May, 1849, in Louisville, Ky.

BRECKENRIDGE, JOHN, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, author, was born Dec. 2, 1760, in Augusta county, Va. He was the author and advocate of the celebrated Resolutions of 1798-99, in the legislature of Virginia. He emigrated to Kentucky; and was elected United States senator in 1801. He was appointed attorney general of the United States and served during 1805-06. He died Dec. 14, 1806, in Lexington, Ky.

BRECKENRIDGE, JOHN CABELL, soldier, general, vice-president of the United States, was born Jan. 16, 1821, near Lexington, Ky.

He served as a major of infantry during the war with Mexico, and while in that country distinguished himself as the counsel of Major-General Pillow during the famous court martial. On his return from Mexico he was elected to the state legislature.

He was a representative in congress from the Ashland district from 1851 to 1855. He was elected vice-president of the United States in 1856, on the ticket with James Buchanan, and entered upon the duties of his office in March, 1857, as president of the United States senate. In 1860 he was nominated by the southern democratic party as their candidate for president. In 1861 he went into the senate as the successor of Mr. Crittenden. He took part in the great rebellion as a general; and in 1865 was appointed secretary of war of the confederacy. He died May 17, 1875, in Lexington, Ky.

BRECKENRIDGE, ROBERT JEFFERSON, clergyman, author, was born March 8, 1800, in Cabell's Dale, Ky. He was a noted presbyterian clergyman of Lexington, Ky.; and the author of Popery; Internal Evidence of Christianity; Memoranda of Foreign Travel; and Travels in France, Germany, etc. His chief work was a system of theology, The Knowledge of God, Objectively and Subjectively Considered. He was a writer of very positive views, and one of the leaders in the division of the presbyterian church into old and new school in 1837. He died Dec. 27, 1871, in Danville, Ky.

BRECKENRIDGE, WILLIAM CAMPBELL PRESTON, soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 28, 1837, in Baltimore, Md. In 1862 he entered the confederate army as captain of cavalry; rose to the rank of colonel, and, at the time of the surrender, was in command of a brigade of Kentucky cavalry. He was editor of the Lexington Observer and Reporter from 1866 to 1868; county attorney from 1866 to 1870; member of the city council of Lexington from 1870 to 1879; and professor of equity, jurisprudence and pleadings in the law department of the Kentucky university in 1872. He was presidential elector in 1872; delegate to the democratic national conventions of 1876 and 1880, and was elected a representative from Kentucky to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

BREED, DAVID RIDDLE, clergyman, author, was born in 1848 in Pennsylvania.

He is a presbyterian minister of Chicago; and the author of More Light; Abraham, the Typical Life of Faith; History of the Preparation of the World for Christ; and Heresy and Heresy.

BREED, WILLIAM PRATT, clergyman, author, was born in 1816 in New York. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Philadelphia. His works are mainly religious juveniles, and among them are Jenny Geddes; Home Songs for Home Birds; Grapes from the Great Vine; and A Board and Abroad.

BREEDEN, MARSHALL A., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 22, 1848, in Maysville, Ky. He graduated from the Mount Zion academy, Ill., and became a union soldier at the age of fifteen years. During 1862-73 he was clerk of the supreme court of New Mexico; during 1873-84 was postmaster of Santa Fe, N. M.; and in 1884-88 was public prosecutor for the northern district of New Mexico. In 1894 he was president of the Utah state senate, and now practices law in Ogden.

BREESE, KIDDER RANDOLPH, naval officer, was born April 14, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa. As passed midshipman he served in Commodore Perry's Japan expedition and was on the Macedonian, which visited the northern end of Formosa to search for coal and inquire into the captivity of Americans on that island. He next served on the San Jacinto, which captured 1,500 slaves on the coast of Africa and took Mason and Slidell from on board the Trent in November, 1861. He died Sept. 13, 1881.

BREESE, SAMUEL LIVINGSTON, naval officer, was born in 1794 in Utica, N. Y. He was present at the battle of Lake Champlain in 1814; was present at the capture of Vera Cruz in 1847; and was promoted to rear admiral in 1862. He died Dec. 17, 1870, in Mt. Airey, Pa.

BREESE, SIDNEY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, legislator, author, was born July 15, 1800, in Whitesborough, N. Y. In 1822 he was appointed state attorney, which office he held until 1827, when he was appointed United States district attorney for Illinois. In 1829 he published a volume of Decisions of the Supreme Court, which now bears his name, and was the first octavo volume published in the state. He served in the Black Hawk war as a lieutenant of volunteers; and in 1835 was elected a circuit judge. He was a senator in congress from Illinois from 1843 to 1849. In 1850 he became a member of the Illinois legislature, and was elected speaker. He was one of the originators of the Illinois Central railroad and in 1855 was again placed on the circuit court bench, and made chief judge. He published a work on Illinois in 1869. He died June 27, 1878, in Pinckneyville, Ill.

BREHM, MIRIAM J., poet, was born Sept. 6, 1845, in Hinesburgh, N. Y. For many years she was engaged in educational work, and is the author of many poems of merit, and several of her songs have become very popular.

BREIDENBAUGH, EDWARD SWOYER, educator, author, was born Jan. 13, 1849, in Newville, Pa. He is a professor of chemistry in Pennsylvania college; and the author of Notes on Inorganic Chemistry; and Mineralogy of the Farm.

BREIDENTHAL, JOHN W., public official, was born June 22, 1857, in Sibley county, Minn. He has been prominent in political affairs; assisted in the formation of the union labor party at Cincinnati, in 1887; received a large vote for United States senator in January, 1893, and since February of that year has been state bank commissioner of Kansas.

BREIL, JOSEPH, lawyer, was born June, 1819, in Germany. He has attained success as a noted lawyer of Pittsburg, Pa.; is considered the best linguist at the Pittsburg bar; and can write and speak and transact business in six languages.

BREITUNG, EDWARD, capitalist, legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1831, in Germany. He engaged in business at Negaunee, Mich., as a capitalist and land speculator, and in iron mining. In 1872 he was elected a representative in the state legislature for the term of two years; was state senator in 1877-78; and was elected mayor of Negaunee in 1878-80, and 1882. He was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-eighth congress as a republican. He died March 3, 1887.

BREMAN, DOMINIC M., priest, poet, was born about 1865 in Albany, N. Y. After completing a preparatory course he studied philosophy and theology among the Passionist fathers, and was admitted to orders in 1892. For three years he has been associate editor of The Union and Times of Buffalo, N. Y. He is the author of Heart-Tones, a collected edition of his poems.

BREMICKER, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 16, 1862, in Germany. He graduated from the Presbyterian seminary of Dubuque, Iowa; and from the McCormick Theological seminary of Chicago. He has filled pastorates in the Presbyterian church in Texas and Illinois; and is the author of the Life and Works of Vonder Lippe, a noted clergyman of the Presbyterian church.

BRENEMAN, ABRAM ADAM, chemist, lecturer, author, was born April 28, 1847, in Lancaster, Pa. In 1875 he was appointed assistant professor and lecturer on chemistry at Cornell, where from 1879 till 1882 he was professor of industrial chemistry. Since then he has resided in New York, where he has been actively engaged in professional work as a writer, an analyst, and a chemical expert. He has written on the chemistry of ceramic manufactures and delivered a course of lectures on that subject in New York. With Prof. G. C. Caldwell he has published A Manual of Introductory Laboratory Practice.

BRENGLE, FRANCIS, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845. He died Dec. 10, 1846.

BRENNAN, EDGAR H., railroad president, was born June 15, 1851, in Louisville, Ky. He is president of the Port Clinton Short Line, and he has also been president of various other railroads in Ohio.

BRENNAN, JOHN R., man of affairs, was born May 22, 1848, in Ireland. He received his education in the common schools of Iowa county, Wis. For thirty-two years he was engaged in the hotel business in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Denver. For nearly ten years he was postmaster of Rapid City, S. D.; has been its mayor; and is also president of the Dakota State School of Mines. During 1892-96 he was railroad commissioner for the state of South Dakota.

BRENNAN, THOMAS, lumberman, was born in November, 1838, in Ireland. He was superintendent of the Dnluth road, but resigned the position in order to accept the superintendency of the Manitoba railroad. In 1881 he gave up railroading to engage in the lumber business, and so successful was this venture that he became known as one of the largest operators in the northwest. He died March 1, 1890, in Hot Springs.

BRENNEN, WILLIAM JAMES, lawyer, was born Sept. 5, 1850, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was democratic candidate for auditor-general in 1886, and as a representative in the fifty-second congress from the twenty-second Pennsylvania district. He is the attorney for the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers of Pittsburg, Pa.

BRENNER, JOHN L., business man, congressman, was born in 1832 in Ohio. He attended the Springfield, Ohio, academy; and was engaged in farming until 1862, when he engaged in the nursery business, which pursuit he followed quite successfully until 1874, when he then engaged in the leaf tobacco business. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BRENT, HENRY JOHNSON, author, was born in 1811 in Washington, D. C. He contributed to Porter's Spirit of the Times, over the well-known signature of Stirrup, and was the associate of Lewis Gaylord Clark in founding and editing the Knickerbocker, a magazine that enjoyed great popularity from 1833 until 1864. He was also a painter. His best literary work was Life Almost Alone, published as a serial in the Knickerbocker, and Was it a Ghost? a theory and discussion of the celebrated murder of the Joyce children. He died Aug. 3, 1880, in New York city.

BRENT, RICHARD, United States senator, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1795 to 1799, and again from 1801 to 1803; and was a senator in congress from 1809 to 1814. He died Dec. 30, 1814, in Washington, D. C.

BRENT, WILLIAM L., congressman, was born in Charles county, Md. He was a representative in congress from Louisiana from 1823 to 1829. He died in July, 1848.

BRENTANO, LORENZO, journalist, legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 14, 1813, in Germany. He became editor of the Illinois Staats-Zeitung, and in 1862 was a member of the state legislature. For five years he was president of the Chicago board of education. In 1868 he was presidential elector on the Grant and Colfax ticket. He was appointed United States consul at Dresden in 1872, and served until 1876, when he was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

BRENTON, ANDREW T., physician, was born Sept. 15, 1847, in Indianapolis, Ind. He received his education at the Iowa state university; and graduated in medicine from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Keokuk, Iowa. He has attained prominence as one of the leading physicians of Iowa; and has held various public positions of honor in Sac City of that state.

BRENTON, SAMUEL, clergyman, college president, congressman, was born Nov. 22, 1810, in Gallatin, Ky. He was a minister of the gospel from the age of twenty until 1848. He was elected to congress from Indiana in 1851, and again in 1855. He was also president of the Fort Wayne college. He died March 29, 1857, in Fort Wayne, Ind.

BRENTON, WILLIAM, governor of Rhode Island, was born in England. He was lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island prior to 1660, president of the colony between 1660 and 1661, and governor under the charter obtained from Charles II. from 1666 till 1669. His original grant gave him a certain number of acres for every mile of land surveyed, and on the strength of this he secured much valuable property. He was one of the nine original proprietaries of Rhode Island. His name is preserved in Brenton's Point and Brenton's Reef, Narragansett Bay. He died in 1671, in Newport, R. I.

BRENTS, THOMAS HURLEY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 24, 1840, near Florence, Ill. He received his education at the common schools; the Baptist college of Oregon City; and the McMinnville college, Oregon. He was appointed justice of the peace, was the first postmaster of Canyon City; and the first county clerk of Grant county. In 1866 he was elected a member of the Oregon state legislature. In 1870 he moved to Walla Walla, Wash., and was made prosecuting attorney of that city. He was a member of the forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses as a representative from Washington; and has served as judge of the superior court for Walla Walla county.

BRETZ, JOHN L., educator, lawyer, jurist, banker, congressman, was born Sept. 21, 1852, near Huntingburg, Ind. He was educated in common country schools and Huntingburg high school; taught school three years; read law under Hon. W. A. Traylor, and graduated from the Cincinnati Law school in 1880. He located in Jasper the same year; was elected prosecuting attorney of the eleventh judicial circuit in 1884; and was re-elected in 1886 and 1888. He was elected to the fifty-second and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat; after retiring from congress in 1895, returned to the practice of law; is president of Farmers' and Merchants' bank of Jasper, Ind.; and vice-president of Springfield, Ohio River and South Atlantic Railway company.

BREVARD, EPHRAIM, patriot, physician, surgeon, was born about 1750. He was the author of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence. In May, 1775, he was clerk of the convention held in Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, and, as one of the committee to prepare resolutions, produced the famous document by which they anticipated by more than a year the declaration by congress. When the British invaded the southern states, Dr. Brevard entered the continental army as a surgeon, and was taken prisoner at Charleston in 1780. He died about 1783, in Charlotte, N. C.

BREVARD, JAMES, congressman, was born in Iredell county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1819 to 1821.

BREVOORT, HENRY, was born in 1791. He inherited a large landed estate on Manhattan island, which became extremely valuable as the city increased in population. He was of literary taste and the life-long friend of Washington Irving, with whom he traveled in Europe and corresponded for half a century. He removed, in early life, to Yonkers, but returned to New York and was a member of the common council for many years. He died April 11, 1874, in Rye, N. Y.

BREVOORT, JAMES RENWICK, painter, was born July 20, 1832, in Westchester, N. Y. He is very successful in the treatment of American landscape in a low tone of color, this being his favorite line of work. Among his pictures are Scene in Holland; Lake of Como; Storm on English Moor; May Morning, Lake Como; New England Scene; Morning in Early Winter; The Wild November Comes at Last; Windy Evening on the Moors; and Windy Day on a Moor.

BREWER, CHARLES MARTIN, lawyer, was born Nov. 4, 1860, in Rock Dell, Minn. In 1890 he was admitted to the bar; has been justice of the peace for four years; and is postmaster of Stacy, Minn., where he holds a high position as an able lawyer and public officer.

BREWER, DAVID JOSIAH, associate justice of the United States supreme court, was born June 20, 1837, in Smyrna,

Asia Minor. He is the son of Rev. Josiah Brewer and Emilia A. Field, sister of David Dudley, Cyrus W., and Justice Stephen J. Field; and his father was an early missionary to Turkey. He was graduated from Yale college in 1856 and from the Albany Law school in 1858; and established himself in his profession at Leavenworth, Kan., in 1859, where he resided until he removed to Washington to enter upon his present duties. In 1861 he was appointed United States commissioner; from 1862 to 1865 was judge of the probate and criminal courts of Leavenworth county; from 1865 to 1869 was judge of the district court; and from 1869 to 1870 was county attorney of Leavenworth. In 1870 he was elected a justice of the supreme court of his state, and re-elected in 1876 and 1882; in 1884 was appointed judge of the circuit court of the United States for the eighth district; and was appointed to his present position, to succeed Justice Stanley Matthews, deceased, in December, 1889, and was commissioned December 18, 1889.

BREWER, FRANCIS B., pioneer, physician, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 8, 1820, in Keene, N. Y. In connection with others he organized the Pennsylvania Rock Oil company, the pioneer petroleum enterprise. He then settled at Westfield, N. Y.; was a representative in the state legislature in 1873 and 1874; government director of the Union Pacific railroad from 1874 to 1878; and manager of the State Insane asylum at Buffalo in 1881 and 1882. He was for ten years president of the First National bank of Westfield; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress as a republican.

BREWER, J. HART, manufacturer, legislator, congressman, was born March 29, 1844, in Hunterdon county, N. J. He engaged in the manufacture of pottery; was a member of the state house of representatives in 1876; and was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

BREWER, JOSIAH, missionary, was born in 1796, in Berkshire, Mass. He was one of the first to volunteer as a missionary to Turkey for the American board, and in 1830 sailed for the east. He died Nov. 19, 1872, in Boston, Mass.

BREWER, LEIGH RICHMOND, bishop of Montana, was born Jan. 20, 1839, in Berkshire, Vt. He was rector of Grace church of Carthage, N. Y., for six years, when he became rector of Trinity church of Watertown, N. Y. He was then elected missionary bishop of Montana, and was consecrated in 1880.

BREWER, MARK S., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 22, 1837, in Addison, Mich. He received an academic education; read law with Governor

Moses Wisner and the Hon. M. E. Crofoot, and since 1864 has practiced law in Pontiac, Mich. He has been city attorney; was state senator in 1873-74; and has served with distinction as a member of the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican; declining a renomination. During 1881-85 he was United States consul general to Berlin. He is an able lawyer and brilliant orator; and is recognized as one of the most prominent republicans of Michigan. In 1896 he was a delegate at large to the republican national convention.

BREWER, THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 20, 1845, in Gibson county, Tenn. He received his education at the Yorkville academy and the Andrew college. He is a noted clergyman in the methodist episcopal church, and president of the Harrell International institute of Muskogee, I. T.

BREWER, THOMAS MAYO, ornithologist, author, was born Nov. 21, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He was a Massachusetts ornithologist who was the principal author of the History of North American Birds prepared with Ridgway and S. F. Baird; and Oölogy of North America is also by him. He died Jan. 24, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

BREWER, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, author, was born Sept. 14, 1828, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He has been a professor of agriculture in the Sheffield Scientific school at New Haven since 1864; and is the author of Botany of California.

BREWER, WILLIS, soldier, journalist, state senator, congressman, author, was born in Alabama. He entered the military service of the confederate states at the age of eighteen years; has been a journalist, has practiced law, has written books, and is now a planter. In 1871 he was county treasurer of Lowndes; was state auditor from 1876 to 1880; was state legislator from 1880 to 1882; state senator from 1882 to 1890; state legislator from 1890 to 1894; and state senator from 1894 till he resigned in 1897. He was elected for the state at large on the democratic ticket in 1892, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BREWERTON, GEORGE DOUGLAS, soldier, author, was born in 1820, in Cuba. He is a United States army officer; and the author of The War in Kansas, a Rough Trip to the Border; Fitzpoodle at Newport; Ida Lewis, the Heroine of Lime Rock; The Automaton Company; and The Automaton Battery.

BREWSTER, BENJAMIN HARRIS, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 13, 1816, in Salem county, N. J. He was appointed, by President Polk, to adjudicate the claims of the Cherokee Indians against the United States; and in 1867 was appointed attorney-general of Pennsylvania. In 1881 he was appointed, by President Garfield, attorney-general of the United States. He died April 4, 1888, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BREWSTER, CHARLES WARREN, journalist, author, legislator, state senator, was born Sept. 13, 1812, in Portsmouth, N. H. He began to work for his living as an apprentice in the office of the Portsmouth Journal. In fifteen years he had become its proprietor, and when he died had been connected with his journal for more than fifty years. He served several terms in the legislature, and was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1850-51. He is the author of Fifty Years in a Printing Office; and Rambles about Portsmouth. He died Aug. 3, 1868, in Portsmouth, N. H.

BREWSTER, DAVID P., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1839 to 1843. He died Feb. 21, 1876, in Oswego, N. Y.

BREWSTER, FLORA ALZORA, journalist, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 26, 1852, in Alfred, N. Y. In 1879 she edited The Newsboys' Appeal of Chicago; in 1889-90 was editor of the Baltimore Family Health Journal; and in 1891 was assistant editor of the Homœopathic Advocate. She was the former physician in charge of the Home for Fallen Women, and the Female House of Refuge of Baltimore; and is now the proprietor and surgeon in charge of The Sanitarium. She was also lecturer on physiology and hygiene at the Maryland Woman's college of Lutherville, Md.

BREWSTER, FREDERICK CARROLL, lawyer, author, was born May 15, 1825, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was judge of the court of common pleas for three years; and in 1869 was appointed attorney-general of the commonwealth. He is the author of Molière in Outline; Life of Disraeli; Condensation of Blackstone; Rule in Shelly's Case; and Digest of Pennsylvania Reports.

BREWSTER, HENRY, manufacturer, was born May 19, 1824, in New Haven, Conn. He started in business for himself in 1856, with partners, as Brewster and Co., and devoted himself to the construction of fine carriages. The firm soon became the largest of their class in the world. He was one of the organizers of the Union League club, and he stoutly espoused the cause of the union during the civil war. He died Sept. 20, 1887, in New York city.

BREWSTER, HENRY C., banker, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1845, in Rochester, N. Y. He became a bank clerk in 1863, and bank officer in 1868, which position he still occupies. He also holds other important positions in the business affairs of his native city. Has been president of the chamber of commerce and also of the Clearing House association. He has always taken an active interest in the republican party, and has contributed largely of his time and means toward its success. He has been vice-president of the New York State League of Republican clubs and president of the Monroe County league, and vice-president of the National League of Republican clubs. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BREWSTER, LYMAN DENNISON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born July 31, 1832, in Salisbury, Conn. He was judge of probate in 1858; judge of court of common pleas from 1870 to 1874; member of the state legislature in 1870, 1878 and 1879; and a prominent member of the state senate in 1880 and 1881.

BREWSTER, SIMON LATHAM, merchant, banker, was born July 27, 1811, in Griswold, Conn. In 1863 he became president of what is now The Traders' National bank of Rochester; and is the oldest president of a national bank in the state. He was one of the first promoters of the Hoosac Tunnel road; and is president of The Nashua, Acton and Boston railroad.

BREWSTER, WILLIAM, pilgrim, was born in 1560, in England. He negotiated a grant of land for his people somewhere near the mouth of the Hudson river; and early in 1620, with a number of persons, he embarked in the ship Mayflower at Plymouth, England, setting sail Sept. 16, and arriving in Cape Cod bay on Nov. 21, 1620. He died April 16, 1644.

BREWSTER, WILLIAM, ornithologist, author, was born July 5, 1851, in Wakefield, Mass. He has devoted his attention exclusively to the study of ornithology, becoming in 1880 assistant in charge of the collection of birds and mammals in the Boston society of natural history; and in 1885 curator of ornithology at the museum of comparative zoology, Cambridge. Mr. Brewster is a fellow of the American association for the advancement of science, and in 1876 became president of the Nuttall ornithological club of Cambridge. He has published articles in the Bulletin of the Nuttall Ornithological Club; in the Annals of the New York Lyceum of Natural History; Proceedings of the Boston Society of Natural History; The Auk; and other periodicals.

BREWSTER, WILLIAM R., soldier. He was a colonel in the Excelsior brigade, organized by Daniel E. Sickles in 1861, and after the promotion of that officer was made a brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 13, 1869, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BREYFOGEL, SYLVANUS C., clergyman, bishop, author, was born July 20, 1851, near Pleasantville, Pa. He served as a pastor for fourteen years; as a presiding elder for five years; and since 1891 has been a bishop in the Evangelical association. Since 1895 he has also been president of the Evangelical School of Theology. For several years he was editor of a homiletical monthly magazine; and is the author of a work entitled Evangelical Landmarks. He has visited Europe and Japan in the performance of his episcopal duties; and traveled extensively in the United States and Canada preaching, lecturing, and presiding over ecclesiastical conferences.

BRICE, BENJAMIN W., soldier, was born in 1809, in Virginia. He became a lawyer, and was a judge of common pleas in 1845, and adjutant-general of the state in 1846. He was promoted brigadier-general on July 28, 1866, and on Jan. 1, 1872, was retired from active service.

BRICE, CALVIN STEWART, soldier, educator, lawyer, United States senator, was born Sept. 17, 1845, in Denmark, Ohio.

He served through the civil war. He was delegate at large from Ohio to the St. Louis democratic national convention in 1888; was selected to represent Ohio on the national democratic committee, and was chairman of the campaign committee for the ensuing national campaign. On the death of William H. Barnum he was unanimously elected chairman of the national committee in 1889, and in January, 1890, was elected United States senator, to succeed Henry B. Payne, for the term of 1891-97.

BRICE, JOHN JONES, naval officer, was born Jan. 23, 1842, in Ohio. He entered the navy as a volunteer officer in 1861; and in 1882 was promoted lieutenant-commander.

BRICHER, ALFRED THOMPSON, painter, was born April 10, 1837, in Portsmouth, N. H. Among his more notable drawings are Sunset in October (1869); The Maiden's Rock, Lake Pepin; Mt. Adams; On the Esopus (1874); Off Halifax Harbor; A Lift in the Fog (1876); St. Michael's Mount; and What the Tide Left.

BRICK, PETER, lawyer, jurist, was born in December, 1847, in Ontario, Canada. He has attained success as an able lawyer of St. Cloud, Minn.; has been county attorney; and served with distinction as judge of probate of Stearns county.

BRICKELL, JOHN, physician, historian. He lived at Edenton, N. C., and practiced his profession there. Later he returned to England and in 1737 published in Dublin, The Natural History of North Carolina, with an Account of the Trade, Manners and Customs of the Christian and Indian Inhabitants.

BRICKELL, WILLIAM D., journalist, was born Nov. 19, 1852, in Steubenville, Ohio. In 1876 he established The Evening Dispatch of Columbia, Ohio.

BRICKETT, JAMES, soldier, surgeon, was born in 1837. He was made lieutenant-colonel May 20, 1775, was wounded at Bunker Hill, June 17, and in the following year was made brigadier in the expedition preparing for Canada. After Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga (Oct. 17, 1777), Gen. Brickett was placed in command of the escort, and marched the prisoners, about 6,000 in number, from the battlefield on Hudson river to Cambridge, Mass. He died Dec. 9, 1818, in Haverhill, Mass.

BRICKNER, GEORGE H., manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 21, 1834, in Germany. He moved to Ohio in 1840; was educated in the common schools; and became a successful woolen manufacturer of Sheboygan Falls, Wis. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

BRIDWELL, LEMUEL OWENS, soldier, lawyer, journalist, was born Nov. 2, 1829, in Port Gibson, Miss. He graduated from the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y., with the degree of A. M. In 1851 he was admitted to the bar; and the same year founded the Reveille of Port Gibson, Miss., of which he was editor until 1854. In 1854-55 he was clerk in the interior department; and judge of the probate and orphans' court of his county in 1855-58. In 1861 he became a captain in the confederate army, and subsequently was promoted to major. He is the author of several works, and still practices law in Beaufort, Miss.

BRIDGE, HORATIO, naval officer, lawyer, journalist, was born April 8, 1806, in Augusta, Maine. He published The Journal of an African Cruiser, the authorship of which is usually accredited to his classmate, Nathaniel Hawthorne. The hook was, in fact, edited by Hawthorne from Bridge's notes. He was assigned to duty as chief of the bureau of provisions and clothing, the duties of which he faithfully performed for nearly fifteen years, covering the whole period of the civil war, and involving transactions and disbursements to the amount of many millions of dollars. He was retired with the rank of commodore. He died March 20, 1893, in Athens, Pa.

BRIDGE, JAMES HOWARD, author, was born in 1858, in England. He is the author of A Fortnight in Heaven, an Unconventional Romance; and Uncle Sam at Home.

BRIDGES, ALBERT F., clergyman, journalist, author, was born Aug. 22, 1853, in Poland, Ind. During 1874-81 he filled pastorates in the Indiana conference of the methodist episcopal church. For nine years he was editor and owner of The Register of Brazil, Ind.; and is the author of A History of Brazil and other works.

BRIDGES, FIDELIA, artist, was born May 19, 1835, in Salem, Mass. She sent to the National academy, in oil, Winter Sunshine and Wild Flowers in Wheat; Black-berry Bushes; Thistles, Yellow Birds, Cornfield, and Salt Marshes. She began painting in water-colors in 1871, in which she has been eminently successful.

BRIDGES, GEORGE WASHINGTON, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1821, in Athens, Tenn. He was attorney-general of the state in 1849 and in 1854, holding the office for eleven years. He held the positions of bank attorney and railroad director; was a presidential elector in 1860; and was elected a representative in congress from Tennessee in 1861, to serve in the thirty-seventh congress. He died March 16, 1873.

BRIDGES, ROBERT, editor, author, was born July 13, 1858, in Shippensburg, Pa. He graduated from the Princeton college in 1879. In 1881 he was connected with the New York Evening Post; in 1887 became one of the editors of Scribner's Magazine; and since 1873 has been literary critic of New York Life. He is the author of Overheard in Arcady, and Suppressed Chapters; and Other Bookishness.

BRIDGES, SAMUEL AUGUSTUS, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 27, 1802, in Colchester, Conn. For seven years he was deputy attorney-general of the state for Lehigh county. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1848 to 1849, and from 1853 to 1855; and was again a representative in the forty-fifth congress. He died Jan. 14, 1884, in Allentown, Pa.

BRIDGMAN, FREDERICK ARTHUR, painter, was born Nov. 10, 1847, in Tuskegee, Ala. In 1890 he opened a studio in Paris for the instruction of women students. His best known works are Funeral of a Mummy; The American Circus in Brittany; Bringing in the Maize; Pastimes of an Assyrian King; and Procession of the Bull Apis.

BRIDGMAN, JOHN LADD, farmer, public official, was born Nov. 26, 1817, in Hanover, N. H. He has been sheriff, county commissioner, vice-president and director of the National bank, and trustee of the Saving bank of his native city; and for twenty-seven years was chairman of the Board of Selectmen. He is a successful farmer, and has been a prominent factor in the public affairs in his city, county and state for more than half a century.

BRIDGMAN, LAURA, blind deaf mute, was born Dec. 2, 1829, in Hanover, N. H. She was born with the enjoyment of all her faculties, but at two years old lost her sight, hearing, smell, and partially her taste by a severe fit of sickness. At eight years she was placed under the care of Dr. S. G. Howe, in the Perkins Institute for the Blind in Boston, with what results every one knows. She can read from raised letters, write, and skillfully play the piano, make fine crochet-work, and select colors all by the sense of touch; being the first person so afflicted who was educated. She died May 24, 1889, in Boston, Mass.

BRIGGS, ANSEL, governor. He was elected governor of Iowa in 1846, and remained in the office until 1850.

BRIGGS, CALEB, physician, geologist, was born May 24, 1812, in North Rochester, Mass. He was educated as a physician, but devoted himself to the study of geology and its allied sciences, and was engaged in the first survey of the coal and iron regions of Ohio. He entered upon the work in June, 1837, explored Scioto, Lawrence, Gallia, Athens, Jackson, Hocking, and afterward Wood, Crawford, and Tuscarawas counties, and, after the survey terminated in 1839, was employed in surveying the western counties of Virginia. He then settled at Ironton, Ohio, where he engaged in mining and gave $25,000 to found a public library. He died Sept. 28, 1884, in North Rochester, Mass.

BRIGGS, CHARLES AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 15, 1841, in New York city. He is a Presbyterian clergyman prominent among the leaders of newer religious thought and a professor at Union Theological seminary, New York, since 1875. In 1892 he was tried for heresy and acquitted. He is the author of Biblical Study; American Presbyterianism; Messianic Prophecy, notable for its display of the true historical spirit; The Authority of Holy Scripture; The Messiah of the Apostles; The Messiah of the Gospels; The Higher Criticism of the Hexateuch; The Bible, the Church, and the Reason; Whither? and a Theological Question for the Times.

BRIGGS, CHARLES E., artist, poet, was born Sept. 19, 1828, in Fairhaven, Mass. He is an artist in landscape and fruit painting, in Brewster, Mass.; and his poems occasionally appear in the periodical press.

BRIGGS, CHARLES FREDERICK, journalist, author, was born in 1804, in Nantucket, Mass. He was a journalist and editor of New York city, and the valued friend of many of the prominent literary Americans of his time. He was the author of Adventures of Harry Franco, a Tale of the Great Panic; The Haunted Merchant; The Trippings of Tom Pepper; and Working a Passage.

or Life on a Liner. He died June 20, 1877, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BRIGGS, D. LUTHER, business man, public official, legislator, was born Jan. 12, 1849, in Sackville, N. B. He has been successfully engaged in the wholesale meat business in Middletown, Conn., for many years; has served as alderman for two years, and for four years was mayor of the city. He has also been chairman of the town committee, justice of the peace, and filled various other public offices of honor in his city, county and state. He has been president of the republican state league, and is a prominent member of various secret orders. In 1897 he served with distinction as a member of the Connecticut state legislature, and was a member of several important committees.

BRIGGS, GEORGE, business man, legislator, congressman, was born in 1805, in Fulton county, N. Y. He represented the city of New York in congress from 1849 to 1853, and in 1858 was elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He died June 1, 1869, in Saratoga, N. Y.

BRIGGS, GEORGE, lawyer, legislator, was born April 26, 1844, in Brandon, Vt. In 1866 he graduated from the Hobart college of Geneva, N. Y. He has served as a member of the Vermont house of representatives; and also as a member of the state senate. He has been vice-president of the Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance company; vice-president of the Rutland Savings bank; director of the National Life Insurance company; has been prominently identified with various other business enterprises; and is one of the foremost attorneys of his state.

BRIGGS, GEORGE NIXON, lawyer, jurist, governor, congressman, was born April 12, 1796, in Adams, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1831 to 1843; and from 1844 to 1851 was governor of Massachusetts. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1853; from 1853 to 1859 held the position of judge of the court of common pleas; was a trustee of Williams college for sixteen years; and a noted advocate of the temperance cause. He died Sept. 12, 1861, in Pittsfield, Mass.

BRIGGS, HENRY C., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born June 29, 1831, in West Haven, Vt. He is a noted lawyer of Kalamazoo, Mich.; was a member of the Michigan state senate in 1861-62; was prosecuting attorney of Kalamazoo for four years; and in 1868 was elected judge of probate of his county, and held that position for eight years.

BRIGGS, HENRY SHAW, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 1, 1824. He graduated at Williams in 1844, and became a lawyer. At the beginning of the civil war he joined the army as colonel of the tenth Massachusetts volunteers, and distinguished himself at the battle of Fair Oaks, where he was wounded. In 1862 he was made a brigadier-general.

BRIGGS, JAMES F., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1827, in England. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1856, 1857, 1858, and 1874. In 1871 he removed to Manchester, N. H.; was a state senator in 1876; and was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

BRIGGS, LE BARON R., educator, was born December, 1855, in Salem, Mass. In 1883 he was appointed instructor in English at Harvard; professor in 1890; and in 1891 dean of the college.

BRIGGS, WILLIAM T., clergyman, author, poet, was born Dec. 1, 1815, in Scituate, Mass. He was ordained in 1846 as a congregationalist minister, and has filled important pastorates in Massachusetts. During the war he served for a while as chaplain in the Finley hospital of Washington, D. C. He has published several sermons, many articles and addresses, and a few poems.

BRIGHAM, AMARIAH, physician, author, was born Dec. 26, 1798, in New Marlborough, Mass. He was a physician of Hartford, and subsequently superintendent of the lunatic asylum of Utica, N. Y. He was the author of The Anatomy, Physiology, and Pathology of the Brain. He died Sept. 8, 1849, in Utica, N. Y.

BRIGHAM, CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, author, was born July 27, 1820, in Boston, Mass. He became pastor of a unitarian church in Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1866, and in the same year was chosen professor of biblical archæology and ecclesiastical history at Meadville, Pa., Theological school, where he lectured twice a year for ten years. He has published Letters of Foreign Travel in two volumes, and Life of Rev. Simeon Daggett. He died Feb. 19, 1879, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BRIGHAM, ELIJAH, merchant, congressman, was born in 1750 in Northborough, Mass. He was a merchant and held many positions of trust and responsibility. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1811 to 1816, when he resigned. He died April 22, 1816, in Washington city.

BRIGHAM, JOSEPH H., soldier, state senator, was born Dec. 12, 1838, in Lodi, Ohio. He served in the war as a lieutenant-colonel, and subsequently was elected to the Ohio state senate. For ten years he was master of the State Grange, and has been prominent in the improvements of his state.

BRIGHAM, LEWIS A., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1831, in York Mills, N. Y. He was elected superintendent of the public schools of the city of Bergen, N. J., from 1866 to 1870; was a member of the board of police commissioners of Jersey City from 1874 to 1876, and was a representative of the state legislature in 1877. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-sixth congress as a republican. He died Feb. 20, 1886.

BRIGHAM, PAUL, soldier, jurist, was born in 1745. He was four years a captain in the revolutionary army, was high sheriff of Windsor county, Vt., for five years, major-general of militia, and chief judge of the county court for five years. He was lieutenant-governor of the state from 1796 till 1813, and again from 1815 till 1820. From Aug. 25 till Oct. 16, 1797, he was acting governor. He died June 16, 1824, in Norwich, Vt.

BRIGHAM, WILLARD I. TYLER, lawyer, genealogist, was born May 31, 1859, in Montpelier, Vt. For five years he was on the Shakespearian stage, with such stars as Booth and Barrett. He is the historian of the Brigham and Tyler Families' associations of the United States; a member of the New England Historical Genealogical society; Sons of the Revolution; Society Colonial Wars and various other societies. He is the author of a volume of verse and has followed his profession of law with success in Grand Rapids, Minneapolis and Chicago.

BRIGHAM, WILLIAM TUFTS, naturalist, lawyer, author, was born in 1841 in Massachusetts. He is a lawyer and naturalist now at Honolulu in charge of the government museum, and is the author of Volcanic Manifestations in New England; Guatemala; and the Land of the Quetzal, a volume of travels.

BRIGHT, JESSE D., jurist, state senator, lieutenant, governor, United States senator, was born Dec. 18, 1812, in Norwich, N. Y. He was circuit judge of Indiana; state senator; marshal of the United States for the district of Indiana; and lieutenant-governor of that state. He was a United States senator from Indiana from 1845 to 1857, and president of the senate during several sessions. He was elected for an additional term in 1857, for six years. He subsequently settled in Kentucky, and was elected to the senate of that state. He died May 20, 1875, in Baltimore, Md.

BRIGHT, JOHN MORGAN, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1817, in Fayetteville, Tenn. He was a member of the legislature of Tennessee in 1847 and 1848. He was elected to the forty-second congress; was re-elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

BRIGHT, JONATHAN BROWN, author, was born April 23, 1800, in Waltham, Mass. He became interested in genealogy, and made many researches into his family history both here and in England, the results of which were published in a volume intended for private distribution, which has been pronounced a model for works of its kind. It is entitled The Brights of Suffolk, England, represented in America by the Descendants of Henry Bright, Jr., who settled at Watertown, Mass., about 1630. He left to Harvard college $50,000, the income to be divided between the purchase of books and the support of scholarships, to which Brights lineally descended from Henry Bright, Jr., should have priority of claim. He died Dec. 17, 1879, in Waltham, Mass.

BRIGHT, MARSHAL H., soldier, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 18, 1834, in Hudson, N. Y. In 1854 he became assistant editor of the Albany Argus, and was a reporter in the New York state senate. He was brevetted major for his services during the war, and, after resigning his commission at its close, engaged in silver mining in Nevada. In 1873 he became managing editor of the Christian at Work, of New York city, and in 1880 its editor-in-chief. He has contributed to periodicals on theological, scientific and philosophical subjects, and has delivered public addresses.

BRIGHTLY, FRANCIS FREDERICK, author, was born Feb. 25, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Digest of the Laws of Philadelphia, 1701-1887.

BRIGHTLY, FREDERICK CHARLES, jurist, author, was born Aug. 26, 1812, in England. He is an eminent Philadelphia jurist, and the author of Treatise on Law of Costs; Nisi Prius Reports; Equitable Jurisdiction of the Laws of Pennsylvania; Digest of the Laws of the United States, 1789-1869; Digest of the Decisions of the Federal Courts; Bankrupt Law of the United States; and Leading Cases in the Law of Elections, include the larger number of his legal writings. He died in 1888.

BRIGNOLI, PASQUALE, vocalist, was born in 1824, in Naples. He has attained a national reputation as a vocalist, and is the author of Martha; and Good-Bye, Sweetheart, Good-bye. He died Oct. 30, 1884, in New York city.

BRILL, HASCAL R., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 10, 1846, in Canada. He received his education at Hamlin university, and at the university of Michigan. In 1872 he was elected judge of the probate court of Ramsey county, Minn., to which state he had moved in 1859. In 1875 he was appointed judge of the court of common pleas, and received the re-election for seven years. He was elected judge of the second judicial district in 1882, in 1888, and again in 1894, with headquarters in St. Paul. He is a brilliant lecturer, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

BRIMMER, MARTIN, author, was born in 1829 in Massachusetts. He was a prominent citizen of Boston, and the author of Egypt: Three Essays on the History, Religion and Art of Ancient Egypt. He died in 1896, in Boston, Mass.

BRIMSON, WILLIAM GEORGE, railroad president. Since 1891 he has been president of the Eastern Chicago and Kenosha; the Joliet and Blue Island; and the Milwaukee and Bay View and Chicago railways.

BRINKER, WILLIAM HUGH, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 23, 1851, in Crawford county, Mo. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Johnson county, Mo., and was twice re-elected, serving three successive terms. In 1885 he was appointed by President Cleveland an associate justice of the supreme court of the Territory of New Mexico.

BRINKERHOFF, HENRY R., soldier, legislator, congressman, was born in 1788 in Adams county, Pa. In the last war with England he served in command of a volunteer company, and distinguished himself at the battle of Queenstown. He was twice elected to the New York legislature, and for many years held the office of major-general of the New York militia. In 1837 he removed to Ohio, and was elected to congress as representative from that state in 1843. He died April 30, 1844, in Huron county, Ohio.

BRINKERHOFF, JACOB, congressman, jurist, was born in 1810 in New York. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1843 to 1847. He died July 19, 1880, in Mansfield, Ohio.

BRINKERHOFF, ROELIFF, soldier, was born June 28, 1828, in Owasco, N. Y. He served in the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1891 he was vice-president of the Mauseff Savings bank of Ohio; and is also vice-president of the National Prison congress.

BRINKERHOFF, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born July 19, 1843, in Jersey City, N. J. He served in the civil war as private. In 1865 he was elected mayor of New Jersey, and in 1867 was elected counsel for Hudson county. In 1883 he was elected to the New Jersey senate; and in 1884 was appointed corporation counsel of New Jersey.

BRINLEY, CHARLES, surveyor, business man, was born Aug. 23, 1847, in Hartford, Conn. In 1864-65 he was attached to the field party of the California state geological survey, and was with the engineers employed by the United States government to survey a wagon-road to Colorado river. Since 1872 he has been superintendent of large steel works near Philadelphia, and of a sugar refinery in that city.

BRINLEY, FRANCIS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Nov. 10, 1800, in Boston, Mass. He was a member of the Boston common council for several years, and its president in 1850 and 1851. He was a member of the lower house of the legislature in 1832, 1850 and 1854, and in 1852, 1853 and 1863 of the state senate. In 1853 he was a delegate to the state constitutional convention. He has published an Address before the Franklin Debating Society of Boston, and a life of his brother-in-law, William T. Porter, founder of the Spirit of the Times.

BRINTON, DANIEL GARRISON, educator, journalist, author, was born May 13, 1837, in Chester county, Pa. He is an archaeological writer and publisher, as well as physician, of Philadelphia, whose researches in aboriginal history and literature have been very extensive. A professor of archaeology in the university of Pennsylvania since 1880. He is the author of The Myths of the New World; The Religious Sentiment; American Hero-Myths; Aboriginal American Authors; The Floridian Peninsula; Races and Peoples; Essays of an Americanist; The Lenape and their Legends. He has edited the Maya Chronicles; The Comedy-Ballet of Guéguence; and Aboriginal American Anthology.

BRISBANE, ABBOTT HALL, soldier, military engineer, author, was born in South Carolina. He served in the Florida war against the Seminole Indians in 1835-36 as colonel of South Carolina volunteers. He was the author of a political romance, Ralphton, or the Young Carolinian of 1776. He died Sept. 28, 1861, in Summerville, S. C.

BRISBANE, MRS. MARGARET HUNT, poet, was born Feb. 11, 1858, in Vicksburg, Miss. She is a popular poet of the south at Vicksburg, Miss.

BRISBANE, WILLIAM HENRY, financier, was born Nov. 23, 1851, in Allentown, Pa. He received his education in the public and Quaker schools of Philadelphia, Pa., and has been principally engaged in mining, real estate and cattle in Leadville, Colo. He has been the state treasurer of Colorado, and has filled numerous positions of honor in the republican party of that state.

BRISBIN, JAMES A., soldier, was born May 23, 1837, in Boalsburg, Pa. He served in the civil war, and for his gallantry was made brigadier-general.

BRISBIN, JAMES SANKS, soldier, author, was born in 1837, in Boalsburg, Pa. He was a United States cavalry officer; and the author of Campaign Lives of Grant and Colfax; The Beef Bonanza; and Trees and Tree Planting. He died in 1892.

BRISTED, CHARLES ASTOR, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1820, in New York city. He was a magazinist of New York city; and the author of Five Years in an English University; The Upper Ten Thousand; The Interference Theory of Government; Pieces of a Broken-down Critic; and Anacreontics. He was a son of John Bristed, the noted clergyman and author. He died Jan.

15, 1874, in Washington, D. C.

BRISTED, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1778 in England. He was an episcopal clergyman of Rhode Island. His principal works are Critical and Philosophical Essays; Resources of the United States, 1818; Anglo-American Churches; Edward and Anna: a Novel; and A Pedestrian Tour through the Highlands of Scotland. He died Feb. 23, 1855, in Bristol, R. I.

BRISTER, EDWIN M. P., lawyer, jurist, poet, was born June 26, 1850, in Cadiz, Ohio. He first worked as a printer; subsequently attending the Denison university, from which he graduated in 1887, and was admitted to the bar three years later. He has practiced his profession with success in Newark, Ohio, where he has also filled the office of probate judge. His poems have appeared in the leading newspapers and magazines, and in several standard collections.

BRISTOL, MRS. AUGUSTA COOPER, educator, lecturer, poet, was born April 17, 1835, in Croydon, N. H. She attended the Canaan Union academy and the Kimball Union academy, and then began educational work. In 1869 she published a volume of poems and has since contributed extensively, both prose and verse, to current literature. For several years she was president of the Ladies' Social Science class in Vineland, N. J.; in 1880 she gave a course of lectures before the New York Positivist society on The Evolution of Character, and has since become well known throughout America as a lecturer of great ability. Her works are: Poems; The Relation of the Maternal Function to the Woman's Intellect; The Philosophy of Art; Science and its Relations to Character; The Present Phase of Woman's Advancement; and The Web of Life, a collection of verse.

BRISTOL, JOHN BUNYAN, landscape painter, was born March 14, 1826, in Hillsdale, N. Y. At the beginning of his career he painted figures and portraits, but afterward turned his attention exclusively to landscapes. His studies were from nature. Among his works are Autumn Afternoon, Bolton, Lake George; Sunrise, Mount Mansfield; Adirondacks, from Lake Champlain; and On the St. John's River, Florida.

BRISTOL, WARREN, lawyer, jurist, legislator, state senator, was born March 19, 1823, in Stafford, N. Y. He held successively the offices of district attorney and judge of probate, in Red Wing county, Minn.; and was president of the first republican state convention of Minnesota, in 1855, which was held at St. Paul, and at which the republican party was first organized in that state. He was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1864; was a representative in the state legislature in 1865; and was a state senator from 1866 to 1870. In 1872 he was appointed, by President Grant, associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico, and was re-appointed by President Grant in 1876 and by President Hayes in 1880.

BRISTOL, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1779 in Hamden, Conn. He was judge of the United States district court for the state of Connecticut; and was a member of the superior court of that state from 1819 to 1826. He died March 7, 1836, in New Haven.

BRISTOL, WILLIAM HOAG, lawyer, poet, was born March 18, 1828, in Ransomville, N. Y. He has edited and published various papers in Kankakee, Janesville, and Galena, Ill. In 1863-64 he wrote and published a valuable and interesting history of Kankakee county, and later compiled other historical works.

BRISTOW, BENJAMIN H., soldier, lawyer, public official, was born June 20, 1832, in Elkton, Ky. In 1861 he entered the army as lieutenant-colonel of the twenty-fifth Kentucky infantry; and subsequently commanded the eighth Kentucky cavalry. While serving in the field he was elected to the state senate for four years; 1866 he was appointed United States district attorney for the district of Kentucky, and in 1870 was appointed solicitor-general of the United States. He was appointed secretary of the treasury in 1871.

BRISTOW, FRANCIS M., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 11, 1804, in Nicholasville, Ky. In 1831 and 1833 he was elected to the Kentucky legislature; in 1846 to the state senate; and in 1849 was a member of the state constitutional convention. In 1854 he was elected a representative in congress to fill a vacancy; and in 1859 was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-sixth congress. He died June 10, 1864, in Elkton, Ky.

BRISTOW, FRANK L., musician, composer, was born April 25, 1844, in Jacksonville, Ill. He has been secretary of the State Teachers' association and president of the same; has taught instrumental and vocal music in most of the southern states, and has resided in Covington for twenty years. He is the author of several collections of singing books for classes, and two cantatas for ladies' voices, Rainbow and Pleiades, as well as other compositions for chorus.

BRISTOW, GEORGE F., musician, composer, was born Dec. 19, 1825, in New York. He is an organist and violinist, and the composer of the opera Rip Van Winkle.

BRISTOW, JAMES TAZEWELL, soldier, business man, was born June 1, 1837, in Bennettsville, S. C. During the war he served as a soldier, and rose to the grade of colonel. After the war he went into business in Timmons ville, S. C.; and in 1876 he was appointed auditor of Darlington county, which position he filled for several terms. In 1885 he was elected secretary of the Darlington Manufacturing company, one of the largest cotton mills in the south, which position he held until his death, on April 21, 1892.

BRISTOW, LOUIS JOHNSON, journalist, was born Jan. 19, 1876, in Florence, S. C. For several years he edited the Georgia Reporter, and is now the editor and owner of the County Record of Kingstree, S. C.

BRITTAN, NATHAN, educator, lawyer, inventor, was born Sept. 2, 1808, in Spencer, Mass. In 1851 his attention was directed to the inadequacy of the lightning-rods in use in that part of the country, and he immediately devoted himself to the study of the laws of atmospheric electricity, and invented a new conductor, known as the continuous copper-strip, which was patented and received with general favor. He died Jan. 3, 1872, in Adrian, Mich.

BRITTON, ALEXANDER T., soldier, capitalist, lawyer, was born Dec. 29, 1835, in New York city. In 1861 he enlisted in the old national rifles of Washington, D. C. In 1865 he organized the law firm of Britton and Gray, and in 1877 was appointed by President Hayes one of the commission to codify the public land laws. He is director in several large charitable institutions, street railroads and banks.

BRITTS, MRS. MATTIE DYER, author, poet, was born in 1842 in New York city. She is the author of sixteen books for young people, two novels, and a number of poems and hymns. The most notable of her prose works are Edward Lee, and Nobody's Boy.

BROADDUS, ANDREW, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 4, 1770, in Carolina county, Va. He was a baptist clergyman once noted as a pulpit orator. He was the author of History of the Bible; Form of Church Discipline; and Letters and Sermons. He died Dec. 1, 1848, in Virginia.

BROADHEAD, GARLAND CARR, geologist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1827, in Charlottesville, Va. In 1875 he was employed by the Smithsonian institution to make collections in Missouri for the centennial exhibition, and in 1884 collected objects for the New Orleans exhibition. The results of his geological investigations in Missouri are published in Missouri Geological Reports, and Missouri Geological Survey.

BROADHEAD, JAMES O., lawyer, legislator, state senator, congressman, was born May 29, 1819, in Charlottesville, Va. He was a member of the state house of representatives of Missouri in 1847; a state senator from 1850 to 1854; a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1861; and United States district attorney for the eastern district of Missouri in that year. He was provost-marshal-general of the department of the Missouri in 1863; member of the state constitutional convention in 1875; and was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

BROADHEAD, JOHN C., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1833, and again from 1837 to 1839.

BROADUS, JOHN ALBERT, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 24, 1827, in Virginia. He was a baptist clergyman, and president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary. He was the author of Preparation and Delivery of Sermons; Lectures on Preaching; Sermons and Addresses; and Jesus of Nazareth. He died in 1895.

BROADWATER, CHARLES ARTHUR, banker, railroad president, was born Sept. 25, 1840, in St. Charles, Mo. In 1882 he founded the Montana National bank, of which he was president. The Montana Central railroad, of which he was the president, was built by him, and he was president of banks in Great Falls, Livingston and Neihart, and otherwise active in affairs. He died May 24, 1892.

BROADWAY, AUGUSTINE W., educator, clergyman, was born Nov. 16, 1854, in England. He is a graduate of Syracuse university, and has received the degrees of A. B., A. M. and Ph. D. He taught school for three years, and in 1886 became pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Palmyra, N. Y. For six years he filled a pastorate in Syracuse, N. Y., and now fills a pastorate in Geneva.

BROCHUS, PERRY E., jurist, was born in Virginia. He was an early emigrant to Utah, and in 1850 was appointed a United States judge for that territory.

BROCK, EUGENE, legislator, was born May 6, 1853, in Newbury, Vt. He went to California in 1874, and the following year to Washington. He has been active in the development of that state, and for four years was a member of the Washington legislature.

BROCK, SIDNEY G., lawyer, was born April 10, 1837, in Cleveland, Ohio. He was mayor of Macon three times, prosecuting attorney of his county; chief of bureau of statistics, Washington, D. C.; and well known as a writer for various journals.

BROCKENBOROUGH, WILLIAM, jurist, legislator, was born July 10, 1778. He represented Essex county in the legislature, and was subsequently a councilor. He became judge of the general court in 1809, and retained that office until 1834, when he was appointed one of the judges of the court of appeals, an office that he retained until his death. He died Dec. 10, 1838, in Richmond, Va.

BROCKENBROUGH, JOHN, bishop coadjutor of Virginia, was born Feb. 7, 1839, in Westmoreland county, Va. During the civil war he was first an assistant and then a full surgeon in the Confederate states army, and served throughout the war. When peace was restored, he practiced medicine for a time in Westmoreland county. He was elected bishop-coadjutor in 1894, and consecrated the same year.

BROCKENBROUGH, LAWRENCE RUSH, railroad manager, was born Nov. 18, 1853, in Louisville, Ky. He has been connected with the management of several railroads; and since 1895 has been general passenger agent of the Ohio Southern railroad at Springfield, Ohio.

BROCKENBROUGH, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1813. He went to Florida, and under the territorial government he was a senator from the western district and at one time president of the senate. He was United States district attorney, and also judge; and was a representative in congress from Florida from 1845 to 1847. He was also a presidential elector on several occasions. He died June, 1850, in Tallahassee, Fla.

BROCKETT, HATTIE FOSTER NOURSE, philanthropist, was born Feb. 22, 1866, in Charleston, W. Va. She is prominently connected with various societies; and is the vice-president of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

BROCKETT, LINUS PIERPONT, physician, author, was born Oct. 16, 1820, in Canton, Conn. He was a prolific writer of Hartford, among whose many productions are History of Education; Our Great Captains; The Year of Battles; a History of the Franco-German War of 1870; Epidemics and Contagious Diseases; The Silk Industry in America; Our Western Empire, an account of the resources of the United States west of the Mississippi; and The Great Metropolis. He died in 1893.

BROCKLESBY, JOHN, educator, author, was born Oct. 8, 1811, in England. He was professor of mathematics and natural philosophy in Trinity college, Hartford, from 1842 to 1873, and professor of natural philosophy and astronomy from 1873 till 1882. He was acting president of the college in 1860, 1864, 1866, 1867 and 1874. His works include Elements of Meteorology; Views of the Microscopic World; Elements of Astronomy; and Elements of Physical Geography.

BROCKWAY, JOHN HALL, educator, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in 1801 in Ellington, Conn. He frequently served in the state legislature; and was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1839 to 1843. He died July 29, 1870, in Ellington.

BRODERICK, CASE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 23, 1839, in Grant county, Ind. He enlisted at Fort Scott, Kas., as a private soldier in the second Kansas battery, in 1862, and was mustered out at Leavenworth in August, 1865. He was elected probate judge of Jackson county in 1868, and was twice re-elected; studied law and was admitted to the bar at Holton in 1870; and was elected county attorney of Jackson county in 1876 and re-elected in 1878. He was elected state senator in 1880 to represent Jackson and Pottawatomie counties and in 1884 was appointed by President Arthur associate justice of the supreme court of Idaho for the term of four years. He removed at once to Boise City, Idaho, assumed the duties of the position, and served until the fall of 1888, when he returned to Holton and resumed the practice of law. He is largely interested in farming and stock raising and was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BRODERICK, DAVID COLBRETH, United States senator, was born Dec. 4, 1820, in Washington, D. C. He removed to California in 1849, and engaged in the business of smelting and assaying gold. He was a member of the convention which drafted the constitution of that state; served two years in the California senate, and was president of that body in 1851. He was elected a senator in congress from California in 1856, for the long term, taking his seat during the second session of the thirty-fourth congress. He died Sept. 16, 1859, near Lake Merced, Cal.

BRODHEAD, DANIEL, soldier, was born in 1736 in Virginia. He raised in 1775 a company of riflemen who served in the battle of Long Island. He was appointed colonel of the eighth Pennsylvania regiment, and in April, 1778, led a successful expedition against the Muskingum Indians. He made two important treaties with the Indians, one of them July 22, 1779, with the Cherokees, and received the thanks of congress for his success. He was for many years surveyor-general of Pennsylvania. He died Nov. 15, 1809, in Milford, Pa.

BRODHEAD, MRS. EVA WILDER, author. She is a popular novelist; and the author of One of the Visconti; Diana's Livery; An Earthly Paragon; Ministers of Grace; and Bound in Shallows.

BRODHEAD, JOHN, clergyman, congressman, was born in 1770. He was a minister of the methodist episcopal church for forty-four years; and was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1829 to 1833. He died April 7, 1838, in New Market, N. H.

BRODHEAD, JOHN ROMEYN, author, was born Jan. 2, 1814, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a painstaking, accurate writer, whose work, if somewhat lacking in picturesqueness, is of lasting value. He was the author of History of the State of New York; and The Government of Sir Edmund Andros over New England. His work consists of eighty volumes of information of the colonial history of New York. He died May 6, 1873, in New York city.

BRODHEAD, RICHARD, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1811 in Pike county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from 1843 to 1849; and a senator of the United States senate from Pennsylvania from 1851 to 1857. He died Sept. 16, 1863, in Easton, Pa.

BRODHEAD, THORNTON F., soldier, lawyer, public official, was born in 1822 in New Hampshire. He served through the Mexican war as an officer in the fifteenth infantry, and was twice brevetted for bravery. Resuming the practice of his profession after the war, he was elected to the state senate, and in 1852 appointed postmaster of Detroit. At the beginning of the civil war he raised the first Michigan cavalry regiment, at the head of which he served under Gens. Banks, Fremont and Pope. He died Aug. 31, 1862, in Alexandria, Va., of wounds received at the second battle of Bull Run.

BROGDEN, CURTIS H., legislator, congressman, governor. He early took an interest in military affairs and became a general of militia. He was elected to the state legislature in 1838, and in one or the other of the two houses served therein for nearly twenty years. He was for ten years, from 1857, comptroller of the state. He was a presidential elector from 1868; and in 1869 was appointed a collector of internal revenue. After the additional service of four years in the state senate in 1872, he was elected lieutenant-governor; and on the death of Governor Caldwell, in 1874, became the governor of the state. He was also a justice of Wayne county; and was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-fifth congress.

BROKAW, ISAAC VAIL, merchant, was born Nov. 27, 1835, in New Brunswick, N. J. He formed a partnership and began a clothing business under the firm name of Dunham and Brokaw. This business was most successfully carried on from 1856 to 1861, when Mr. Dunham retired, and Mr. Brokaw continued the business under his own name. In 1866 he admitted to partnership his brother, William Vail Brokaw, thereafter adopting the name of Brokaw Brothers, of New York city.

BROMBERG, FREDERICK GEORGE, educator, congressman, was born June 19, 1837, in New York city. He was appointed treasurer of the city of Mobile in 1867, and served until 1869. He was a member of the state senate of Alabama from 1868 to 1872; and was appointed postmaster of Mobile in 1869, and removed in 1871. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses.

BROMFIELD, JOHN, merchant, philanthropist, was born April 11, 1779, in Newburyport, Mass. In 1845 he gave to the Boston Athenæum $25,000, and at his death he left munificent bequests to several charitable institutions. He died Dec. 8, 1849, in Boston, Mass.

BROMLEY, ISAAC HILL, journalist, legislator, author, was born March 6, 1833, in Norwich, Conn. In 1858 he began the publication of the Norwich Morning Bulletin. He served as captain in 1862, and afterward was provost-marshal. In 1866 he was a member of the legislature. In 1868-72 he was editor and part proprietor of the Hartford Evening Post; in 1872 a writer on the editorial staff of the New York Sun; and editorial writer on the New York Tribune from 1873 till 1883. He died Aug. 11, 1898.

BROMWELL, HENRY P. H., journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1823, in Baltimore, Md. From 1852 to 1854 he was the publisher and editor of the Age of Steam and Fire, at Vandalia. In 1853 he was elected judge of Fayette county for four years; and was a presidential elector in 1860. In 1864 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fortieth congress as a republican.

BROMWELL, JACOB H., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born May 11, 1847, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He taught in the Cincinnati high schools for seventeen years. He was assistant county solicitor of Hamilton county for four years; was elected to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

BRONDEL, JOHN B., Roman catholic bishop, was born in 1842, in Belgium. He was consecrated bishop of Vancouver island in 1879, appointed administrator of the vicariate apostolic of Montana in 1883, and in 1884 consecrated bishop of Helena in the same territory.

BRONSON, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman. He was a member of the legislature as representative in 1832 and 1834, and as senator in 1846. He was a representative in congress from Norridgewock, Maine, from 1841 to 1843. From 1854 to 1857 he was judge of probate for Sagadahock county. He died in November, 1863, in Talbot county, Md.

BRONSON, GREENE CARRIER, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1789, in Oneida, N. Y. In 1819 he was chosen surrogate of Oneida county; in 1822 was a member of the assembly, and in 1829 elected attorney-general, which office he held up to 1836, at which time he became one of the puisne judges of the supreme court of judicature. He was next appointed chief justice of the supreme court in 1845, and two years subsequently one of the judges of the court of appeals, then just organized. He died Sept. 3, 1863, in Saratoga, N. Y.

BRONSON, ISAAC H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1802, in Rutland, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1837 to 1839. In 1839 he was appointed one of the territorial judges of Florida, and from that time until his death served continually on the bench, at the time of his death being district judge of the United States for northern Florida. He died Aug. 13, 1855, in Palatka, Fla.

BRONSON, SHERLOCK A., college president, was born April 21, 1807, in Waterbury, Conn. He was appointed president of Kenyon college in 1845, and held that office until 1850. In 1870 he began to supply the pulpit of Grace church of Mansfield, of which he became rector in 1872; continuing in active pastoral work until 1889. He died May 17, 1890, in Mansfield, Ohio.

BRONSON, SILAS, philanthropist, was born in Middleborough, Conn. He acquired a fortune, and among other bequests, left $200,000 to found a public library in Waterbury, Conn. He died Nov. 25, 1867, in New York.

BROOKE, A. L., farmer, horticulturist, state legislator, was born Nov. 29, 1847, near Lancaster, Ohio. For fifteen years he taught school in his native state; and in 1886 became a farmer and nurseryman in North Topeka, Kan. He has served as president of the American Association of Nurserymen; and in 1897 was elected a member of the Kansas state legislature.

BROOKE, FRANCIS J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 27, 1763, in Smithfield, Va. In 1780 he joined Harrison's regiment of artillery as lieutenant, and afterward joined Greene's army, and served until the end of the war. He was elected to the state house of delegates in 1794, removed to Fredericksburg in 1796, and in 1800 was chosen to the state senate, becoming its speaker. In 1804 he was elected a judge of the general court, and in 1811 a judge of the court of appeals, of which he was president for eight years. In 1831 he was re-elected judge of the same court, and retained the office until his death. He died March 3, 1851.

BROOKE, FRANCIS KEY, bishop of Oklahoma, I. T., was born Nov. 2, 1852, in Gambier, Ohio. He served successively at College Hill, Portsmouth, Piqua, and Sandusky, Ohio. He was rector of St. Peter's church of St. Louis from 1886 to 1888; and at Atchison, Kan., from 1888 to 1892.

BROOKE, FRANCIS MARK, soldier, merchant, lawyer, was born July 4, 1836, in Radnor, Pa. He served in the civil war as a private; in 1863 was elected district attorney of Delaware county, Pa.; and in 1864 he formed the co-partnership of F. M. and H. Brooke, grain merchants of Valley Forge, Pa.

BROOKE, GEORGE MERCER, soldier, was born in Virginia. His first brevet, that of lieutenant-colonel, 1814, was for gallant conduct in the defense of Fort Erie; his second, that of colonel, 1814, was for distinguished services in the sortie from Fort Erie. He was made a brevet brigadier-general in 1824, and was brevetted major-general in 1848. He died March 9, 1851, in San Antonio, Texas.

BROOKE, JOHN R., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864, and also brevetted major-general of volunteers. In the regular army he received brevets as colonel and brigadier-general for gallantry in several battles. During the war with Spain he was commissioned major-general.

BROOKE, ROBERT, statesman. He was governor of Virginia from 1794 to 1796.

BROOKE, WALKER, United States senator, was born Dec. 13, 1813, in Virginia. He was a senator in congress from Mississippi from 1852 to 1853, in place of H. S. Foote, resigned. He took part in the rebellion. He died Feb. 19, 1869, in Vicksburg, Miss.

BROOKES, JAMES HALL, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 27, 1830, in Pulaski, Tenn. He has filled pastorates in the presbyterian churches of Dayton, Ohio; and St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of How to be Saved; May Christians Dance; Is the Bible True; The Way Made Plain; and many other works.

BROOKES, WALTER W., railroad president, was born March 28, 1858, in Barnwell county, S. C. Since 1891 he has been president of the Rome railroad at Rome, Ga.

BROOKFIELD, WILLIAM, manufacturer, was born May 24, 1844, in Greenback, N. J. In 1864 he, with his father, established the Bushwick Glass works, which is one of the largest in America.

BROOKINGS, ROBERT SOMERS, merchant, was born Jan. 22, 1850, in Cecil, Md. He originated and developed the system of stores and warehouses known as Cupples Station, which stands unique as the only thing of the kind in the world. He is vice-president of both the Union Trust Co. and the St. Louis Savings Bank and Safe Deposit Co.; and president of Washington university.

BROOKINGS, W. W., jurist, was an early emigrant to Utah. He was appointed an associate judge of the United States court for that territory.

BROOKS, ARTHUR, clergyman, author, was born in 1845, in Massachusetts. He was an episcopal clergyman of New York city; and the author of —. A volume of his sermons was reprinted in London with the title, Christ for To-Day. He died in 1895.

BROOKS, BYRON ALDEN, inventor, author, was born Dec. 12, 1845, in Theresa, N. Y. He has invented four different kinds of typewriters and has also made many important inventions in printing mechanics. He is the author of King Saul; Those Children and Their Teachers; Phil Vernon and his Schoolmaster; and Earth Revisited.

BROOKS, CHARLES, educator, author, was born Oct. 30, 1795, in Medford, Mass.

He was a prominent Massachusetts educator; and the author of History of Medford; The Christian in his Closet; Daily Monitor; Family Prayer-Book; Elements of Ornithology; Introduction to Ornithology; and ten volumes of biography. He died July 7, 1872.

BROOKS, CAROLINE SHAWK, sculptor, was born April 28, 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1877 she secured a patent for improvements in the methods of producing lubricated moulds in plaster. In 1878 she executed in butter at Washington a life-size statue of the Dreaming Tolanthe, which was successfully transported to Paris and exhibited at the world's fair of 1878. She subsequently opened a studio in New York, and executed portrait marbles of Emanuel Swedenborg, James A. Garfield, Thurlow Weed, George Eliot, and Thomas Carlyle.

BROOKS, CHARLES TIMOTHY, clergyman, author, was born June 20, 1813, in Salem, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of Newport, R. I., in 1837-73. His other work includes Songs of Field and Flood; The Simplicity of Christ; William Ellery Channing: a Centennial Memory; and Poems Original and Translated. He died June 14, 1883, in Newport, R. I.

BROOKS, CHAUNCEY, merchant, was born Jan. 12, 1794, in Burlington, Conn. In 1856 he was made president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Salt works in the Kanawha region and other forms of enterprise were promoted by him. He died May 18, 1880.

BROOKS, DAVID, soldier, jurist, congressman, was born in 1756. He entered the army in 1776 as a lieutenant in the Pennsylvania line; was captured at Fort Washington, and remained a prisoner for two years. He was a representative in congress from New York in 1797. He was subsequently first judge of Dutchess county for sixteen years. He died Aug. 30, 1838, in Dutchess county, N. Y.

BROOKS, EDWARD, educator, author, was born Jan. 16, 1831, in Stony Point, N. Y. He was the principal of the Millersville Normal school in Pennsylvania from 1866 to 1886, and since then superintendent of the Philadelphia public schools. His writings are mainly, though not entirely, mathematical, and among them are The Normal Written Arithmetic; Philosophy of Arithmetic; Mental Science and Methods of Culture; The Story of the Iliad; and The Story of the Odyssey.

BROOKS, ELBRIDGE GERRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1816, in New Hampshire. He was a universalist clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of Universalism a Practical Power; Our New Departure; and Universalism in Life and Doctrine. He died in 1878.

BROOKS, ELBRIDGE STREETER, author, was born April 14, 1846, in Lowell, Mass. He has been editor of the Brooklyn Daily Times, St. Nicholas Magazine, and Wide Awake. He is the author of Life Work of Elbridge Gerry Brooks; In No Man's Land; Historic Boys; In Leisler's Times; Chivalric Days; Storied Holidays; Historic Girls; Story of the American Indian; The Story of New York; Story of the American Sailor; Story of the United States; The True Story of Columbus; Heroic Happenings; A Son of Issachar; The True Story of George Washington; The Century Book for Young Americans; A Boy of the First Empire; Great Men's Sons; The Story of Miriam of Magdala; The True Story of Abraham Lincoln; The Story of the American Soldier; The Century Book of Famous Americans; Under the Tamaracks; and The Long Walls.

BROOKS, ERASTUS, journalist, statesman, was born Jan. 31, 1815, in Portland, Maine. In 1835 he began in Washington, D. C., his career as correspondent, contributing news of the capital to the New York Express and other papers. In 1840 he joined with his brother in the editorial management of the Express, subsequently assuming the entire control. He was a member of the state senate.

BROOKS, GEORGE M., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born July 26, 1824, in Concord, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1858; of the state senate in 1859; of the committee chosen in 1859 to revise the statutes of Massachusetts; and was elected to the forty-first congress in 1869, to fill a vacancy.

BROOKS, GEORGE W., jurist, was born in North Carolina. He resided at Elizabeth City whence he was, in 1866, appointed United States judge for the eastern district of North Carolina.

BROOKS, HARRY SAYER, journalist, was born Aug. 2, 1852, in Waverly, N. Y. He was one of the three young men to found the Elmira Telegram. From the inception of the paper Mr. Brooks was its business and editorial manager, soon becoming the sole owner.

BROOKS, HORACE, soldier, was born Aug. 14, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He served in the Seminole war of 1835-36, receiving the brevet of first lieutenant for gallantry and good conduct. For his services during the war he received two brevets—that of major and that of lieutenant-colonel. He was brevetted brigadier-general at the close of the war. From 1872 till 1877 he commanded the presidio at San Francisco, and on the latter date was retired from active service, being over sixty-two years of age. He died March 26, 1890, in Detroit, Mich.

BROOKS, HORATIO G., locomotive builder, was born Oct. 30, 1828, in Portsmouth, N. H. He began business in Dunkirk, N. Y., in 1869, under the name of The Brooks Locomotive works. From one locomotive a month, under the impulse of his strong mind and unceasing activity, the works grew until they were producing about two hundred locomotives a year. In 1883 the company bought the works back again at a fair price. Mr. Brooks was three times mayor of Dunkirk and a highly respected man. The works are yet in operation, employing 1,200 men in busy times. He died April 20, 1887, in Dunkirk, N. Y.

BROOKS, JAMES, journalist, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1810, in Portland, Maine. In 1835 he was elected to the legislature of Maine; and in 1836 established the New York Daily Express, of which he was the chief editor and proprietor. In 1847 he was elected a member of the New York legislature; from 1849 to 1853 was a representative in congress from the city of New York; and re-elected to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. He died April 30, 1873, in Washington, D. C.

BROOKS, JAMES GORDON, journalist, author, was born Sept. 3, 1801, in Claverack, N. Y. In 1825 he established the Literary Gazette, which, after a few months, was united with the Athenæum. He was connected with this paper about two years, and then with the Morning Courier for about the same period. In all these journals he published poems, which were much admired. He died Feb. 20, 1841, in Albany, N. Y.

BROOKS, JAMES WILTON, lawyer, state legislator, was born April 19, 1854, in New York city. He met with success in his practice at the start, and attained a just popularity, professionally and socially. In 1882-83 he was elected to the state legislature.

BROOKS, JOHN WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 27, 1854, in Rochester, N. Y. On July 15, 1863, he enlisted as a union soldier in company C, fifth regiment veteran reserve corps Indiana infantry, as a drummer, and was the youngest soldier of the war—less than nine years of age. In 1882 he graduated from the Iowa state university and two years later began the practice of law in Ellsworth, Kan. He was in the military band in the procession at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln.

BROOKS, JOSEPH, clergyman, state senator, governor, was born Nov. 1, 1821, in Butler county, Ohio. When the civil war began, he became chaplain of the first Missouri artillery. He afterwards aided in raising the eleventh and thirty-third Missouri regiments, and was transferred to the latter as chaplain. He removed to Little Rock in the autumn of 1868, and was elected state senator in 1870. In 1872 he became governor. He was appointed postmaster at Little Rock in March, 1875, and held the office till his death. He died April 30, 1877, in Little Rock, Ark.

BROOKS, KENDALL, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 3, 1821, in Roxbury, Mass. In 1841 he graduated from the Brown university, and in 1845 from the Newton Theological institution. During 1845-52 he was pastor of the Baptist church at Eastport, Maine; and for ten years was pastor in Fitchburg, Mass. In 1852-55 he was professor of mathematics in the Colby university; president of Kalamazoo college during 1868-87; and since 1888 has been professor of mathematics in the Alma college, Mich. For three years he was editor of the National Baptist of Philadelphia; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

BROOKS, LEWIS, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born in 1793, in New Milford, Conn. He was a manufacturer of woolen cloth, and later in the mercantile business. In 1837 he retired, and devoted his time chiefly to investing his money and looking after his real estate. He made various charitable bequests, among which was $10,000 to the Rochester City hospital, a like sum to St. Mary's hospital, and $5,000 each to the industrial school and the Female Charitable society. He also bequeathed $120,000 to the university of Virginia, $31,000 alone being expended on the work of collecting a cabinet. He died Aug. 9, 1877, in Rochester, N. Y.

BROOKS, MRS. MARIA GOWEN, author, was born in 1795, in Massachusetts. She is a poet whose fate it has been to be utterly neglected after being once extravagantly praised. Zophiel, or The Bride of Seven, her chief work, is a poem whose incidents are taken from the story of Sara in the apocryphal book of Tobit. It is a work of considerable power but extravagant sentiment. Idomen, or the Vale of Yumuri, is to some extent autobiographic. She died Nov. 11, 1845, in Cuba.

BROOKS, MICAH, educator, jurist, congressman, was born in 1775, in Cheshire, Conn. He was a justice of the peace in 1806, and for twenty years thereafter was a county judge. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1808 and 1809; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1815 to 1817. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1821; and a presidential elector in 1824. He died July 7, 1857, in Livingston county, N. Y.

BROOKS, NATHAN COVINGTON, educator, author, was born Aug. 12, 1819, in Maryland. He is a prominent educator of Baltimore, who, besides publishing an excellent series of classical text-books, chief among which are editions of Ovid's Metamorphoses and Virgil's Æneid, is the author of A Complete History of the Mexican War.

BROOKS, NOAH, author, was born Oct. 30, 1830, in Castine, Maine. He is a New York writer of popular books for boys; and the author of The Boy Emigrants; The Fairport Nine; Our Baseball Club; Abraham Lincoln; The Boy Settlers; American Statesmen; Tales of the Maine Coast; Abraham Lincoln and the Downfall of American Slavery; How the Republic is Governed; Short Studies in American Party Politics; Washington in Lincoln's Time, a volume of gossip recollections; The Mediterranean Trip; and The Story of Marco.

BROOKS, PETER CHARDON, merchant, state senator, was born Jan. 6, 1767, in Yarmouth, Maine. Engaging in the business of marine insurance, he acquired great wealth and was some years president of the New England Insurance company. He was a member of both branches of the state legislature; and a delegate to the constitutional convention in 1820. He died Jan. 1, 1849, in Boston, Mass.

BROOKS, PHILLIPS, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Dec. 13, 1835, in Boston, Mass. He was the sixth protestant episcopal bishop of Massachusetts. He was rector of Holy Trinity church at Philadelphia in 1862-69; and of Trinity church, Boston, from 1869 until his consecration as bishop in 1891. He was a leader of broad church opinion, but had no hostility towards forms of thought opposed to his.

For many years before his death he had been accounted the foremost preacher in America. He was the author of The Influence of Jesus; Lectures on Preaching; The Candle of the Lord and Other Sermons; The Light of the World and Other Sermons; Sermons in English Churches; Twenty Sermons; Sermons for the Principal Festivals and Fasts; Tolerance; A Century of Church Growth in Boston; Essays and Addresses; Letters of Travel; and The Oldest School in America. O Little Town of Bethlehem is a popular poem by him. He died Jan. 23, 1893, in Boston, Mass.

BROOKS, PRESTON S., soldier, congressman, was born in August, 1819, in Edgefield district, S. C. He was a state representative in 1844; in 1846 raised a company of volunteers, was made captain, was elected to congress in 1853, and again in 1855. In 1856 he made a personal assault upon Charles Sumner in the United States senate chamber, which event caused much excitement throughout the country. He died Jan. 27, 1857, in Washington, D. C.

BROOKS, THOMAS BENTON, engineer, author, was born June 15, 1836, in Monroe, N. Y. During the civil war he was captain in the first New York volunteer engineers, afterward becoming major and aide on the general staff of the army. At the time of his resignation he held the brevet rank of colonel. From 1869 to 1879 he was assistant geologist in charge of the surveys of the Lake Superior iron regions. In this connection he was associated with Raphael Pumpelly, and prepared Geological Survey of Michigan; and Geology of Wisconsin.

BROOKS, WILLIAM GRANT, educator, composer, poet, was born Feb. 26, 1869, in Saco, Maine. He is the author of a number of songs that have become popular throughout the United States; and many of his poems have been incorporated into several standard works. He is a good musician, and for many years was organist in the Universalist church of Biddeford, Maine.

He is one of the most prominent members of the Maine grand lodge of Good Templars; Knights of Pythias, and other fraternal bodies.

BROOKS, WILLIAM KEITH, naturalist, author, was born March 25, 1848, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is a professor of morphology at Johns Hopkins university; and the author of Hand-Book of Invertebrate Zoölogy; Development of the American Oyster; Conifer, a Study in Morphology; Development of Lingula; and The Law of Heredity.

BROOKS, WILLIAM MYRON, college president, legislator, was born March 5, 1835, in La Porte, Ohio. He is a graduate from Oberlin college, and became president of Tabor college in 1866. He was the presidential elector in 1876, and the same year was elected a member of the Iowa legislature. In 1868 he was made president of the State Teachers' association of Iowa. Since 1891 he has been president of the Tabor and Northern railway.

BROOKS, WILLIAM ROBERT, astronomer, lecturer, was born June 11, 1844, in England. He invented various improvements in astronomical, photographic, and other scientific instruments. In 1870 he settled in Phelps, N. Y., where in 1874 he founded and became the director of the Red House observatory. In 1888 he removed to Geneva, N. Y., to take charge of Smith observatory. His work has consisted largely in the discovery of comets, and thirteen of these bodies have been credited to him since 1881. Six medals have been conferred upon him.

BROOKSHIRE, ELIJAH VOORHEES, farmer, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1856, in Ladoga, Ind. He was engaged in the practice of the law and farming when elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses; and was re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

BROOM, JACOB, congressman, was born July 25, 1808, in Baltimore, Md. In 1840 he was deputy auditor of Pennsylvania; and was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-fourth congress. He died in November, 1864, in Washington, D. C.

BROOM, JAMES M., congressman, was born in 1778, in Delaware. He was graduated at Princeton in 1794; and was a member of congress from Delaware from 1805 to 1807.

BROOMALL, JOHN M., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1816, in Upper Chichester, Pa. He served in the legislature of the state; was a presidential elector in 1861; and in 1862 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress; was re-elected to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses.

BROOME, JAMES E., governor, was born March 3, in Florida. He was governor of Florida from 1853 to 1857.

BROOME, JAMES M., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Delaware from 1805 to 1807.

BROOME, JOHN, merchant, was born in 1738. He was a member of the New York state constitutional convention of 1777 and lieutenant-governor of the state in 1804. During the whole of his public career he was prominent in New York, and was for many years at the head of some of the most important charitable and commercial institutions of the city. An important thoroughfare bears his name. He died Aug. 8, 1810.

BROOME, JOHN L., soldier, was born March 8, 1824, in New York city. During the war with Mexico he served with his corps. In 1862 he commanded the marine guard of the Hartford, Farragut's flagship, and was present at the passage of Forts Jackson and St. Philip (April 24); and in the various engagements at Vicksburg and Port Hudson, which resulted in wresting the Mississippi river from the confederate forces. He was twice wounded during the war, and at its close received the brevets of major and lieutenant-colonel for gallant and meritorious services.

BROOME, LEWIS HENRY, architect, was born June 28, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served in the civil war; and attained the rank of major. He has designed and erected many of the finest buildings in New Jersey and New York.

BROREIN, WILLIAM G., educator, manufacturer, state senator, was born Oct. 31, 1861, in Marion, Ohio. After graduating from the Ohio Normal university he entered educational work, and for three years was superintendent of public schools at Cridersville. Since 1866 he has been a merchant and manufacturer of Buckland, Ohio, and in 1891 was elected its first mayor. He has served as a member of the seventy-first and seventy-second general assemblies of Ohio; and in 1897 was elected to the state senate.

BRORUP, RASMUS PETERSON, author, poet, was born in 1851. He is the author of Christianity and Our Times; Truth and Poetry; and other works. For many years he has been engaged in the publishing business, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

BROSIOUS, MARRIOTT, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 7, 1843, in Lancaster county, Pa. He enlisted as a private in company K, ninety-seventh regiment Pennsylvania volunteers for three years; and was commissioned a second lieutenant for bravery on the field of battle. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. In 1893 he received the honorary degree of LL. D. from Ursinus college.

BROSS, WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born Nov. 4, 1813, in Montague, N. J.

He was a Chicago journalist; and the author of History of Chicago (1866); Tom Quick, a romance of Indian warfare; and Chicago and Her Future Growth. He died in 1890.

BROTHERTON, MRS. ALICE WILLIAMS, poet, was born in Cambridge, Ind. She is a magazine writer of Cincinnati, whose work is mainly in poetry; and she is the author of Beyond the Veil; The Sailing of King Olaf; and What the Wind Told the Tree-Tops, prose and verse for children. In 1876 she married William Ernest Brotherton of Cincinnati, Ohio, which city has since been her home. Many of her poems have been set to music in America and in England.

BROUGH, CHARLES HENRY, soldier, legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 17, 1813, in Marietta, Ohio. He was a member of the Ohio legislature in 1840-41; commanded the fourth Ohio regiment during the war with Mexico; and was presiding judge of the Hamilton county court of common pleas at the time of his death. He died May 10, 1849, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BROUGH, JOHN, journalist, governor, was born Sept. 17, 1811, in Marietta, Ohio. In 1831 he published at Marietta the Washington County Republican, and in 1833 the Lancaster Eagle. He was a member of the legislature; from 1839 to 1845 auditor; and in 1846 opened a law office in Cincinnati and published the Inquirer. In 1848 he was president of the Madison and Indianapolis railway; and in 1853, of the Bellefontaine and Indianapolis road. In 1863 he was elected governor of Ohio. He died Aug. 29, 1865, in Cleveland, Ohio.

BROUGHAM, JOHN, author, was born May 9, 1810, in Ireland. He was a noted dramatist, and the author of over a hundred comedies and farces, many of which, like Vanity Fair and The Irish Emigrant, have been very successful. He died June 7, 1880, in New York.

BROUGHTON, E. P., railroad manager, was born in England. For a number of years he was a railroad telegraph operator; and since 1879 has been connected with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, of which he is now general superintendent.

BROUGHTON, THOMAS, lawyer, statesman. He was counselor and collector of customs in South Carolina in 1808; afterward lieutenant-governor; and in 1855 was made governor, serving in that position until his death. He died in 1858.

BROUN, THOMAS L., soldier, lawyer, was born in Loudoun county, Va. In 1848 he graduated from the university of Virginia; taught school two years; and was admitted to the bar in 1852. He entered the confederate service as a private in the Kanawha riflemen; was promoted to major in the third Virginia regiment of Wise Legion; and severely wounded at the battle of Cloyd's Mountain. After the war Major Broun was reinstated in his old position as president of the Navigation company of Charleston. During 1866-70 he practiced law in New York city, when he returned again to Charleston. He has made a specialty of West Virginia law and land titles; and has devoted his energies to the development of the Coal river region, in which he has a large personal interest.

BROUSSARD, ROBERT F., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 17, 1864, in Iberia, La. He became the nominee of the anti-lottery wing of the democratic party for the district attorneyship of the nineteenth judicial district of Louisiana, to which position he was elected at the state election of 1892, he being the only one of that wing of the democratic party elected in the district at that election. In 1894 he was unanimously renominated to the same position by the democratic party and re-elected at the election of that year; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BROWER, JOHN HAMIL, merchant, was born Aug. 12, 1801, in Brooklyn, N. Y. The New York and Texas Packet line was his venture and, at one time, fifteen vessels belonged to him and traded to all parts of the world. His ship Harvey Birch, named after the noted spy of the American revolution, was the first vessel captured and destroyed by the confederates during the civil war. He died June 15, 1881, in New York city.

BROWER, JOHN M., state senator, congressman, was born July 19, 1845, in Greensborough, N. C. In 1878 he was elected to the state senate from the thirty-third district; and was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

BROWN, AARON VAIL, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 15, 1795, in Brunswick county, Va. He served for a number of years in the legislature of Tennessee; in 1839 was elected a member of congress from Tennessee, and re-elected in 1841 and 1843. On his retirement from congress in 1845, he was elected governor of Tennessee. His last position was that of postmaster-general in the cabinet of President Buchanan. He died March 8, 1859, in Washington, D. C.

BROWN, ABRAM ENGLISH, author, was born in 1849 in Massachusetts. He is the author of Beneath Old Roof Trees, a volume of local history; Beside Old Hearthstones; History of Bedford; Bedford Old Families; Glimpses of New England Life; and Flag of the Minute Men.

BROWN, ADDISON, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 21, 1830, in West Newbury, Mass. He attended Amherst college during 1848-49; graduated from Howard college in 1852; and from the Harvard Law school in 1854.

He then moved to New York city where he was actively engaged in the practice of law until his appointment in 1881 as United States district judge for the southern district of New York. He was appointed by President Garfield during recess of the senate on June 2, 1881; and was again appointed by President Arthur on Oct. 14, 1881. He has ever since filled the office of United States district judge with great judicial ability and learning.

BROWN, AGNES, artist, was born in Newburyport, Mass. She paints landscapes, flower-pieces, and animals in oil-colors; her especial forte being cats.

BROWN, ALBERT GALLATIN, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born May 31, 1813, in Chester District, S. C.

He was a representative in congress from Mississippi in 1840 and 1841; governor of Mississippi from 1844 to 1848; and was again elected a representative in congress from 1848 to 1854. He was a judge of the circuit superior court in 1852 and 1853; was elected a United States senator from 1854 to 1858; and was re-elected for six years, commencing March 4, 1859, but was expelled in March, 1861, and joined the great rebellion. He died June 12, 1880, near Jacksonville, Miss.

BROWN, ALEXANDER, banker, was born Nov. 17, 1764, in Ireland. He was the founder and president of the banking house of Alexander Brown and Sons, of Baltimore, Md.; Shipley and Company of Liverpool and London, England; and also of the Brown Brothers and Company of Philadelphia and New York. He died Dec. 17, 1834.

BROWN, ALEXANDER, historian, was born Sept. 5, 1843, in Nelson county, Va. During 1861-65 he was a soldier in the confederate service; a merchant during 1865-80; and for over a quarter of a century has been interested in farming in his native county. Since his youth he has been interested in literary work, and has received the degree of D. C. L., conferred by the university of the South. He is the author of The Genesis of the United States; The Cabells and Their Kin; and The History of the First Republic in America.

BROWN, ALEXANDER, banker, was born Oct. 25, 1858, in Baltimore, Md. On the death of his father became head of the banking house of Alexander and Sons; is vice-president of the Canton company; president of the Macon and Northern railroad; and director of the Mechanics' National bank; Savings bank of Baltimore, and numerous other business organizations.

BROWN, ALICE, author, was born in New Hampshire. She is a Boston writer on the staff of the Youth's Companion; and the author of Foofs of Nature, a novel; Meadow Grass, a collection of New England stories; By Oak and Thorn, a volume of English travel; Robert Louis Stevenson, a study; and Life of Mercy Otis Warren.

BROWN, ANDREW, soldier, journalist, was born in 1744 in Ireland. He fought on the patriot side at Lexington and Bunker Hill, was made general mustering officer in 1777, and served under Gates and Greene, with the rank of major. In 1788 he established the Federal Gazette, the title of which was changed, in 1793, to the Philadelphia Gazette. This was the main channel through which the friends of the federal constitution addressed the public, and it was the first journal to publish regular reports of the debates in congress. He died Feb. 4, 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BROWN, ANNA ROBESON, author, was born in 1873 in Pennsylvania. She is the author of Sir Mark; and The Black Lamb.

BROWN, ANSON, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state during the years 1839 and 1840. He died June 21, 1840, in Ballston, N. Y.

BROWN, ARTHUR, lawyer, United States senator, was born March 8, 1843, in Kalamazoo county, Mich. He commenced the practice of law in 1865 in Kalamazoo, Mich., and in 1879 removed to Salt Lake City, Utah, where he has since resided and engaged in the practice of law. Upon the admission of the state of Utah, he was elected as a republican to the United States senate Jan. 22, 1896, himself and colleague being elected at one and the same time and on the same vote. In drawing lots in the presence of the senate, he drew the short term.

BROWN, ARTHUR R., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 26, 1850, in New York. He received his education in the Military school, Clinton, N. Y., and in Boston, Mass. For ten years he has served as county attorney; and has been deputy district attorney and city attorney, and for many years filled the office of county judge. He is a prominent lawyer of Red Cliff, Colo., where he is also engaged in mining and loans.

BROWN, AUSTIN HAYMOND, journalist, was born March 19, 1828, in Milroy, Ind. Returning to Indianapolis, he became the proprietor of the State Sentinel newspaper, which he conducted ably for five years, first as a semi-weekly and then as a daily, assisted in the editorial management by his father, William J. Brown. Since 1861 he has served thirteen consecutive years in the city council, and nine years as one of the board of school commissioners.

BROWN, B. GRATZ, soldier, journalist, United States senator, was born May 28, 1826, in Lexington, Ky. He was a member of the Missouri legislature from 1852 to 1858; assisted in establishing the Missouri Democrat, and edited that journal from 1854 to 1859.

A speech that he delivered in the legislature in 1857 was the initial movement in behalf of freedom in that state. In 1861 he volunteered and raised a regiment, which assisted in the capture of Camp Jackson, and which he commanded during its term of service. He was elected a senator in congress from Missouri for the term of 1863-67. In 1872 he received a complimentary vote for president of the United States. He died Dec. 13, 1885.

BROWN, BEDFORD, United States senator, was born in 1795, in Caswell county, N. C. He was elected to the house of commons of that state in 1815, in which capacity he served many years; and was a senator in congress from that state from 1829 to 1841. He was subsequently elected to the general assembly, and was first elected to the senate and served two terms. He died Dec. 6, 1870, in Caswell county, N. C.

BROWN, BEDFORD, physician, was born Jan. 1, 1825, in Caswell county, N. C. When the civil war broke out he entered the army as a surgeon, and during the latter part of the war was an inspector of hospitals and camps. He was one of the founders of the Southern Surgical and Gynecological association, and has served as president, vice-president and member of its judicial council.

BROWN, BENJAMIN, congressman, He served in the state legislature in 1809, 1811 and 1812; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1815 to 1817.

BROWN, BUCKMINSTER, surgeon, author, was born July 13, 1819, in Boston. Devoting himself to orthopaedic surgery, he has attained experience and skill that places him among the foremost living specialists in that line. He is the author of many technical treatises, including a full account of the instance of the double-hip displacement.

BROWN, CALVIN SCOTT, educator, clergyman, missionary, was born March 23, 1859, in Winton, N. C. In 1886 he graduated from the Shaw university. He has been secretary and president of the baptist state convention; president of the Baptist State Ministers' association, and has been pastor and is now president of Waters Normal institutic and general missionary secretary of the baptist state convention. He is connected with various societies as secretary, superintendent and grand chaplain; and is also the editor of the Baptist Pilot.

BROWN, CHARLES, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843, and again from 1847 to 1849. He subsequently held the office of collector of the port of Philadelphia; and was a delegate to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866.

BROWN, CHARLES BROCKDEN, author, was born Jan. 17, 1771, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a novelist of Philadelphia, and the first of native authors who adopted literature as a profession. In his novels probability plays a very small part, the local color is faint, though the scenes are American, and all are overshadowed by an overpowering element of mystery. In spite of extravagances and faults, his work possesses undeniable power of a very high order, and does not deserve the neglect into which it has fallen. Wieland; Ormond, or the Secret Witness; and Arthur Mervyn, are in some respects the most powerful of his works. He is the author of Edgar Huntley, or the Memories of a Sleep Walker; Clara Howard, reprinted in England as Philip Stanley; and Jane Talbot. He died Feb. 22, 1810.

BROWN, CHARLES ELWOOD, lawyer, soldier, congressman, was born July 4, 1834, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1861 he enlisted in the union army; served throughout the civil war, attained the rank of colonel and brevet brigadier-general. In the Atlanta campaign, in 1864, he commanded his regiment and lost a leg. In 1872 he was appointed United States pension agent at Cincinnati, serving four years; and in 1884, was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

BROWN, CHARLES LINCOLN, lawyer, state senator, was born July 6, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a successful lawyer of Philadelphia; was a member of the common council in 1891 and 1893; a member of the select council in 1894; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Pennsylvania state senate.

BROWN, CHARLES RUFUS, theologian, author, was born in 1849, in New Hampshire. He has been a professor of Old Testament interpretation at Union Theological seminary since 1883. He is the author of An Aramaic Method, a Text and Grammar.

BROWN, D. RUSSELL, manufacturer, governor, was born March 28, 1848, in Connecticut. In 1880 he was elected to the common council of Providence, and served four years. In 1886 he was tendered the nomination of mayor, but declined; and two years later was elected presidential elector. In 1892 he was elected governor of Rhode Island, and for many years filled that high office to the entire satisfaction of the people. In 1870 Mr. Brown moved to Providence and took charge of the Mill supply store of Cyrus White, which business he subsequently purchased. He is now the president of the Brown Brothers' company, general mill furnishers. He is connected with numerous charitable and educational institutions in his city and state; and a prominent member of various fraternal orders.

BROWN, DAVID, was noted as the hermit of Newfane. He was a noted book collector, and left one of the largest and most costly libraries in the state. He died Jan 31, 1873, in Newfane, Vt.

BROWN, DAVID PAUL, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 28, 1795, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia lawyer and the author of two tragedies, Sestorius; and The Trial; a melodrama and a comedy; and The Forum, or Forty Years' Practice at the Philadelphia Bar. His Forensic Speeches were edited by his son in 1873. He died July 11, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BROWN, DUNCAN, soldier, clergyman, college president, was born June 6, 1844, in Hannibal, Mo. He served as a union soldier from 1861 to 1865, and in 1868 graduated from Pardee college, Mo.; and from the Princeton Theological seminary in 1871. He has held pastorates in Mound City, St. Joseph, Macon and Tarkio, Mo. He has been president of the Highland university of Kansas, and is now president of the Brookfield college of Tarkio, Mo.

BROWN, E. SCOTT, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 3, 1846, in Allen county, Ky. During 1869-75 he was a merchant and postmaster in Scottsville, Ky.; and in 1876 was one of the founders of the city of De Land, Fla. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar, and has since successfully practiced that profession. For six years he was clerk of the Allen circuit court; and during 1886-91 was president of the Bank of Allen County. In 1887-88 he was a member of the lower house of the Kentucky legislature and served with distinction in that body. In 1888 he was chosen a delegate to represent the national farmers' congress in the Paris exposition; the same year was a delegate to the republican national convention, and during 1894-97 was police judge of the city of Scottsville, Ky.

BROWN, EDWARD JOSIAH, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 14, 1851, in Burke, Vt. In 1874 he graduated from Dartmouth college, and graduated from the medical department of the university of New York in 1878. He also studied medicine in the university of Berlin. He has held chairs of chemistry, hygiene, ophthalmology and otology in the Minneapolis college of physicians and surgeons. In 1888 he was president of the Hennepin County Medical society, and has held various other positions of honor.

BROWN, EDWIN LEE, architect, business man, humanitarian, was born in March, 1827. In 1860 he moved to Chicago, where he was engaged in the manufacture of sidewalk and vault lights. He has held other positions, as president of the Western Sand Blast and Western Seed companies, and the gas company of Evanston; he has been president of the Young Men's Library association. He was active in establishing the Western Lecture bureau; and has been president of the Interstate Industrial exposition, the Illinois Humane society, and the American Humane association.

BROWN, EDWIN N., educator, author, was born in 1860, in Lansing, Mich. He graduated from the university of Michigan, and has since been superintendent of the schools of Jonesville and Allegan, Mich., and Hastings, Neb. He is the author of Treasury of Latin Gems, and other works.

BROWN, EGBERT BENSON, soldier, was born Oct. 24, 1816, in Brownsville, N. Y. He served through the civil war, mainly in Missouri, Arkansas and Texas, and left the army with one shoulder almost wholly disabled and a bullet in his hip. The legislature of Missouri officially complimented the troops of his command for their conduct at the battle of Springfield. From 1866 till 1868 he was United States pension agent at St. Louis.

BROWN, ELIAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1829 to 1831; and a presidential elector in 1820, 1828 and 1836.

BROWN, ELLSWORTH LINCOLN, lawyer, state senator, was born Jan. 31, 1862, in Milan, Ill. He was elected to the Washington state senate from the seventeenth district; was also court commissioner, and has attained an enviable reputation as a brilliant lawyer.

BROWN, EMMA ELIZABETH, author, poet, was born Oct. 18, 1847, in Concord, N. H. Her works include lives of Washington; Grant; Garfield; Wendell Holmes; Russell Lowell; From Night to Light, a story of Bible times; The Child Toilers of Boston Streets; and An Hundred Years Ago, a volume of poems.

BROWN, ETHAN ALLEN, jurist, governor, United States senator, was born July 4, 1776, in Darien, Conn. He was judge of the supreme court of Ohio from 1810-18; governor of the state from 1818-22; and United States senator from 1822-25. He was United States minister to Brazil from 1830-34, and commissioner of the general land office in 1835-36. He removed to Indiana in 1836, and was a member of the Indiana legislature in 1842. He died Feb. 24, 1852, in Indianapolis, Ind.

BROWN, FLETCHER, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 2, 1850, in Guernsey county, Ohio. He was educated at the Central university, Drew Theological seminary, and Simpson college. He served as a member of the Des Moines conference for eight years; was vice-president of Simpson college for five years, and was also its president for five years.

BROWN, FOSTER VINCENT, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 24, 1854, in White county, Tenn. He was elected attorney-general of the fourth Chattanooga judicial district in 1886, and held the office for eight years, his term ending in 1894. He removed to Chattanooga in 1890, and continued the practice of law with Judge Charles D. Clark. He was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1884 and voted for James G. Blaine for president; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

BROWN, FRANCIS, third president of Dartmouth college, was born Jan. 11, 1781, in Chester, N. H. He graduated from Dartmouth college, became a tutor, and in 1810 was ordained a pastor of the congregational church in North Yarmouth, Maine. In 1815 he was inaugurated president of Dartmouth college; and died July 27, 1820.

BROWN, FRANCIS, educator, author, was born in 1849 in New Hampshire. He has been professor of Hebrew and cognate languages at Union Theological seminary since 1890; and is the author of Assyriology: its Use and Abuse; and The Teachings of the Apostles.

BROWN, FREDERIC ALDEN, banker, was born Sept. 16, 1851, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1877 he became a member of the firm known as Walston H. Brown and Brothers. He was for eight years treasurer of the Rochester and Pittsburg railroad company, and was for the same length of time connected with the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company.

BROWN, GEORGE, banker, was born April 17, 1787, in Ireland. The city of Baltimore is largely indebted to him, as well as his father for the condition of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He donated his money liberally to the important institutions, and for many of them was an active worker. He died Aug. 26, 1859, in Baltimore, Md.

BROWN, GEORGE, naval officer, was born June 19, 1835. He participated in the hazardous ascent of the Mississippi river under Farragut, and in the first attack on Vicksburg in June, 1862. He was promoted lieutenant-commander in 1862, and shortly afterward placed in charge of the Indianola iron-clad, of the Mississippi squadron.

BROWN, GEORGE EUGENE, educator, college president, was born May 18, 1867, in Mason City, Iowa. He graduated with the degree of B. S. from the Iowa Agricultural college in 1892. He has occupied positions as teacher, county superintendent, editor and president of the Midland Normal school, and is well known as a writer on educational topics.

BROWN, GEORGE H., lawyer, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a member of the convention which formed the state constitution of 1844; and was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1851 to 1853.

BROWN, GEORGE LORING, painter, was born Feb. 2, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He spent twenty years in Antwerp, Rome, Florence, Paris and London, and returned to the United States in 1860, with a high reputation as a landscape painter at home and abroad. Among his more important pictures are The Bay of New York; The Crown of New England; Venice; Sunset, Genoa; Niagara by Moonlight; Capri; Doge's Palace at Sunset; Sunrise, Venice; and Doge's Palace at Sunrise. He died June 25, 1889, in Boston, Mass.

BROWN, GEORGE THADDEUS, specialist, was born July 16, 1863, in Belton, S. C. He attended the North Georgia Agricultural college, Southern Medical college, New York Post Graduate, and the New York Polyclinic. He has attained a national reputation as a specialist in diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat.

BROWN, GEORGE WARREN, merchant, manufacturer, was born March 21, 1853, in Granville, N. Y. He organized the first successful shoe manufacturing plant in St. Louis, commencing operations Dec. 1, 1878. He has been president of the Brown Shoe company since its first incorporation in 1882.

BROWN, GLENN, architect, author, was born Sept. 13, 1854, in Fauquier county, Va. He was educated at the Washington and Lee university, and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, of Boston, Mass. Since 1879 he has been engaged in the architectural work in the District of Columbia, Virginia, Maryland and South Carolina. He is the author of many books on sanitary, mechanical and historical topics. He is the author of a work entitled A History of the United States Capitol.

BROWN, GOOLD, educator, author, was born March 7, 1791, in Providence, R. I. He was an educator of New York city and a famous grammarian. He was the author of Grammar of English Grammars; Institutes of English Grammar; and First Lines of English Grammar. His works on grammar have probably had the most extensive circulation of any of the kind. He died March 31, 1857, in Lynn, Mass.

BROWN, HELEN DAWES, lecturer, author, was born in Massachusetts. She was a lecturer on English literature in New York city, and the author of The Petrie Estate, a novel; Two College Girls; and Little Miss Phœbe Gay.

BROWN, HENRY ARMITT, lawyer, orator, author, was born Dec. 1, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a lawyer and orator of Philadelphia, and the author of Four Historical Orations, which have been much admired. He died Aug. 21, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BROWN, HENRY B., painter, was born in 1831, in Portland, Maine. He painted coast scenery; and in his wonderful rendering of the sea he stands among American artists unrivalled. East Highlands; On the Androsoggin; and On the Coast of Maine are among the best of his works. He died in 1860, in Portland, Maine.

BROWN, HENRY BILLINGS, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, was born March 2, 1836, in South Lee, Mass. In 1861 he was appointed deputy marshal of the United States, and subsequently assistant United States attorney for the eastern district of Michigan, a position he held until 1868, when he was appointed judge of the state circuit court of Wayne county, to fill a vacancy. In 1875 he was appointed by President Grant district judge for the eastern district of Michigan, and in 1890 was appointed associate justice of the supreme court; and has served since 1891. He is the author of Admiralty Reports for Western Lake and River Districts.

BROWN, HENRY CORBES, contractor, financier, was born Nov. 18, 1820, in St. Clairsville, Ohio. In Denver he grew rich by building contracts and operations in lands and mines. In the spring of 1864, he took up a homestead claim of one hundred and sixty acres, at $2.50 per acre. The property is now worth millions. He was one of the builders of the Denver street railroad, and built and owned Brown's Palace Hotel, which cost $1,600,000. In 1875, he gave ten acres for a site for the capitol of Colorado.

BROWN, HENRY FRANCIS, financier, was born Oct. 10, 1838, in Baldwin, Maine. As a manufacturer of lumber in Minneapolis he has amassed a fortune. He is now president of the Union National bank; vice-president of the Minneapolis Trust company, and president of the Minneapolis Land and Investment company.

BROWN, HENRY KIRKE, sculptor, was born Feb. 24, 1814, in Leyden, Mass. He attained distinction as one of the foremost sculptors in America. He died July 10, 1886, in Newburg, N. Y.

BROWN, HENRY KIRKE BUSH, sculptor, was born April 21, 1857, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. He studied sculpture with Henry K. Brown of Newburg, N. Y., and with Mercie and Chapu in Paris. He was given high honors at the World's Fair for his equestrian group of Indian Buffalo Hunt, and his equestrian statue of General Meade, erected by the state of Pennsylvania on the battlefield of Gettysburg, and dedicated June 5, 1896.

BROWN, HENRY WILLIAM, educator, was born March 30, 1861, in Camden, Maine. For the past ten years he has filled the chair of psychology and ethics in the New Hampton literary institution, and is a constant contributor to current literature.

BROWN, ISAAC VAN ARSDALE, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 4, 1784, in Somerset county, N. J. Among his publications are Life of Robert Finley, D. D.; The Unity of the Human Race; and also a Historical Vindication of the Abrogation of the Plan of Union by the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. He was one of the founders of the American Colonization society, and worked for its advancement, and was one of the original members of the American Bible society. He died April 19, 1861, in Trenton, N. J.

BROWN, J. APPLETON, artist, was born July 24, 1844, in Newburyport, Mass. Among his works are A View, Dives Calvados, France; Old Road Near Paris; On the Merrimac at Newburyport; Autumn; Storm at the Isle of Shoals; and Spring-time.

BROWN, JACOB, soldier, was born May 9, 1775, in Bucks county, Pa. When the war of 1812 broke out, he entered the army, and in 1813 was made brigadier-general in the regular army, and on Jan. 24, 1814, assigned to the army of the Niagara, with the rank of major-general. In 1821 he was appointed general-in-chief of the United States army, which position he held until his death. He died Feb. 24, 1828, in Washington, D. C.

BROWN, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Sept. 11, 1766, near Staunton, Va. He was secretary of the Territory of Louisiana after its acquisition. This led him to New Orleans, which became his home. He was appointed United States attorney for the district of Louisiana, and rose to a high rank at the bar. He was appointed a territorial judge in 1804, and was chosen to the United States senate from Louisiana, and served from 1812 to 1817, and again from 1819 to 1824. He died April 7, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BROWN, JAMES, banker, was born in February, 1791, in Ireland. He became one of the representative bankers of New York. In the panic of 1837, the English branch of the firm was able to secure a loan of $10,000,000 from the Bank of England, which enabled the local firm to weather the financial storm without suspension, and placed them in the front rank of the bankers of the world. The house has branches in Baltimore and Philadelphia in this country, under different names, and in England under the name of Brown, Shipley and Co. He died Nov. 1, 1877, in New York city.

BROWN, JAMES ALLEN, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1821, in Pennsylvania. He was a Lutheran clergyman and educator; professor in Gettysburg seminary in 1864-77, and the author of The New Theology. He died in 1883.

BROWN, JAMES S., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1824, in Hampton, Maine. In 1846 he was chosen prosecuting attorney for Milwaukee county, Wis.; in 1848 was elected attorney-general of the state; and in 1861 was mayor of Milwaukee. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-eighth congress. He died in 1878, in Milwaukee, Wis.

BROWN, JASON BREVOORT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1833, in Dillsboro, Ind. He has taken part as a public speaker in all of the political campaigns in his state since 1862; was elected to the Indiana house of representatives from Jackson county in 1862, and was re-elected in 1864. He was elected to the state senate in 1870 from the counties of Jackson and Brown, and was re-elected in 1880 from the counties of Jackson and Jennings. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

BROWN, JEREMIAH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1776, in Pennsylvania. He served in the legislature of that state, and as a member of one or two state conventions. He was the first associate judge elected by the people, and was a representative in congress, from Pennsylvania, from 1841 to 1845. He died March 2, 1848, in Lancaster, Pa.

BROWN, JESSE HUNTER, journalist, author, was born Aug. 31, 1861, in Hiram, Ohio. He received his education at Hiram college. He has been the editor of several publications, and is the author of Norman McDonald; A Woman's Doing; Roderick Wayne; The Ironclad Pledge; and Runaway.

BROWN, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1809 to 1810.

BROWN, JOHN, congressman, was born in Mifflin county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1821 to 1825.

BROWN, JOHN, congressman, was born Jan. 27, 1736, in Providence, R. I. He was one of the men who captured the Gaspee in Providence river, in 1772. He took an active part in the revolution, and was an ardent friend of the constitution. He was a representative in congress from Rhode Island from 1799 to 1801. He died Sept. 20, 1803.

BROWN, JOHN, soldier, was born Oct. 19, 1744, in Sandisfield, Mass. He was a lieutenant-colonel in the revolutionary war. He was killed in battle Oct. 19, 1780, near the Mohawk river.

BROWN, JOHN, lawyer, United States senator, was born Sept. 12, 1757, in Staunton, Va. He was elected a member of the Virginia legislature from the district of Kentucky, and was appointed a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress, from 1787 to 1788. He was a representative from Kentucky to the federal congress from 1789 to 1791; a United States senator from 1793 to 1805, and was the last survivor of the old congress, and the first member from the Valley of the Mississippi. He died Aug. 28, 1837, in Frankfort, Ky.

BROWN, JOHN, clergyman, college president, was born June 15, 1763, in Ireland. In 1779 he joined the revolutionary army as a volunteer and fought under General Sumter. In 1809 he was elected professor of logic and moral philosophy in the university of South Carolina. In 1811 he became president of the university of Georgia. He died Dec. 11, 1842, in Fort Gaines, Ga.

BROWN, JOHN, abolitionist, was born May 9, 1800, in Torrington, Conn. In 1855 he emigrated to Kansas, where he took an active part in the contest of that state, caused by the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, advocating squatter-sovereignty. In 1859 he formed the bold plan of freeing the slaves in Virginia, and on the night of Oct. 16 he surprised Harper's Ferry, seized the arsenal and armory and took forty prisoners. But his small band was soon overpowered and captured. He was tried in November, and hanged Dec. 2, 1859.

BROWN, JOHN ALEXANDER, banker, was born May 21, 1788. He was elected a director of the old United States bank under the presidency of Nicholas Biddle. He acquired a large fortune, and gave more than $500,000 to benevolent objects. The Presbyterian hospital of Philadelphia received a donation of $300,000. He died Dec. 31, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BROWN, JOHN BREWER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 13, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected to the state house of delegates in 1870; was elected to the state senate in 1887 and served three terms. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat to fill a vacancy.

BROWN, JOHN BUNDY, banker, state senator, was born May 31, 1805, in Maine. He was president of the Portland Savings bank. The board of trade made Mr. Brown its first president; and he was president of Maine General hospital. He was prominent in the organization of the republican party in Maine, and was elected to the Maine senate in 1856 and a presidential elector in 1860. He died Jan. 10, 1881, in Portland, Maine.

BROWN, JOHN CALVIN, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Jan. 6, 1827, in Giles county, Tenn. In 1861 he entered the confederate army, and was made captain; and served with distinction throughout the civil war, rising to the rank of major-general. He was a delegate to, and was elected president of the state constitutional convention of 1870; and in that year was elected governor of Tennessee, and was re-elected in 1872, serving until 1875. In 1876 he was elected vice-president of the Texas and Pacific Railway company. He died Aug. 17, 1889, in Red Boiling Springs, Tenn.

BROWN, JOHN GEORGE, artist, was born Nov. 11, 1831, in England. He is noted as a painter of strictly American subjects, and particularly of the street boys and bootblacks of New York city. He was president of the American Water Color society for ten years, and chairman of art commission to judge of fine arts at the world's fair. Among his best known works are His First Cigar; Curling in Central Park; The Passing Show; The Dress Parade; A Merry Air and a Sad Heart; The Thrilling Moment; and The Old Folks at Home.

BROWN, JOHN HAMILTON, inventor, was born July 28, 1837, in Liberty, Maine. In 1875 he conceived the idea of the segmental tube wire-wound gun, and since 1886 he has given his entire time to the perfecting of the wire gun, which has been generally introduced in America and Europe.

BROWN, JOHN HENRY, author, was born Oct. 29, 1820, in Pike county, Miss. He is the author of Two Years in Mexico; Early Life in the Southwest, Indian Wars and Pioneer of Texas; The Life and Times of Henry Smith; and is now completing a history of Texas from its discovery, 1685, to 1885.

BROWN, JOHN HENRY HOBART, protestant episcopal bishop, was born Jan. 1, 1831, in New York city. He was chosen to be the first bishop of the diocese of Fond du Lac, Wis., and was consecrated in Cohoes, Dec. 15, 1875. He published a number of sermons and addresses. He died May 2, 1888, in Fond du Lac, Wis.

BROWN, JOHN JACKSON, educator, journalist, was born Feb. 7, 1820, in America, N. Y. In 1865 he accepted the chair of natural science in the Falley seminary at Fulton, N. Y.; in 1870 was elected to the chair of chemistry and industrial mechanics in Cornell university; for five years was editor of the Humphrey Journal of Photography; and for eleven years editor of the scientific department of the Northwestern Christian Advocate. He died Aug. 15, 1891, in Syracuse, N. Y.

BROWN, JOHN NEWTON, clergyman, was born June 29, 1803, in New London, Conn. In 1833 he moved to Boston, where he edited the Encyclopædia of Religious Knowledge, which was republished in England. He died May 15, 1868, in Germantown, Pa.

BROWN, JOHN PORTER, oriental scholar, was born Aug. 17, 1814, in Chillicothe, Ohio. He was a frequent contributor to American newspapers and magazines, and wrote Dervishes, or Oriental Spiritualism; and also translated Ahmed Ben Hemden's Turkish Evening Entertainments; and Constantine's Ancient and Modern Constantinople. He died April 28, 1872, in Constantinople, Turkey.

BROWN, JOHN R., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1842, in Franklin county, Va. He entered the confederate army as a private in company D, twenty-fourth Virginia volunteers. In 1870 he formed a copartnership with his father as manufacturers of tobacco at Shady Grove, and in 1882 removed to Martinsville, where the firm and business has since been continued. He was elected mayor of Martinsville in 1884, and was elected to the fiftieth congress as an independent republican.

BROWN, JOHN SIDNEY, merchant, was born June 10, 1833, in Ohio. He and his brother built the first grain elevator and roller flour mill in Colorado, and they are now engaged in the grocery business under the firm name of J. S. Brown and Brother. He was president of the City National bank of Denver, and vice-president of the Union Pacific and Gulf railroad for several years.

BROWN, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1797 in Dundee, Scotland. He was elected a justice of the peace in 1820; elected a representative in congress from New York in 1832, and re-elected in 1834. In 1849 he was elected a justice of the supreme court of that state, and re-elected in 1857, retiring from the bench in 1865. He died Sept. 6, 1875, in Newburg, N. Y.

BROWN, JOHN WALKER, clergyman, poet, was born in 1814 in New York. He was an episcopal clergyman, and the author of Christmas Bells, a Tale of Holy Tide, and Other Poems. He died in 1849.

BROWN, JOHN WESLEY, journalist, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 15, 1852, in Lee Valley, Tenn. He received his education at the Hiwassee college, Tennessee, and for many years was engaged in the government service as pension clerk and file clerk. He was private secretary to Congressman A. H. Pettibone; delegate to the national republican convention in 1884; an alternate in 1880; and during 1884-87 served with distinction as state senator in the Tennessee legislature.

BROWN, JOHN YOUNG, lawyer, congressman, was born June 28, 1835, in Claysville, Ky. In 1859 he was elected to congress, but not having attained the constitutional age, declined to take his seat. In 1867 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the fortieth congress, but in March, 1868, his claim to a seat was rejected by the house. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses, serving on various committees.

BROWN, JOSEPH, manufacturer, scientist, was born Dec. 3, 1733, in Providence, R. I. He was greatly interested in the science of electricity, and his knowledge of that subject was remarkable for the time. At his death he left an electric machine of his own construction, then unsurpassed by any other in the country. He devoted considerable study to mechanics and was proficient in astronomy. He died Dec. 3, 1785, in Providence, R. I.

BROWN, JOSEPH, soldier, was born in 1773 in North Carolina. He fought in the war of 1812, as colonel of the twenty-seventh Tennessee regiment. When eighty-six years of age he wrote an account of his captivity and the destruction of Chickamauga. He died in 1862 in Tennessee.

BROWN, JOSEPH EMERSON, lawyer, jurist, governor, United States senator, was born April 15, 1821, in South Carolina. In 1849 he was elected to the Georgia state senate; in 1852 he was a Pierce elector; in 1855 he was elected judge of the superior courts of the Blue Ridge circuit; and in 1857 he was elected governor. He was re-elected in 1859 over Hon. Warren Aiken. He was a secessionist in 1860, and was active and energetic as a war governor after the state had seceded. In 1861 he was again elected governor over the Hon. Eugenius A. Nisbet, and in 1863 he was again elected. During 1868-70 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Georgia, which position he resigned to accept the presidency of the Western Atlantic Railroad company. During 1880-91 he was United States senator. He died Nov. 30, 1894, in Atlanta, Ga.

BROWN, JULIUS L., lawyer, businessman, was born May 31, 1848, in Canton, Ga. He was general counsel for the Western and Atlantic railroads; and is now master in chancery of the United States circuit court; and president of The Georgia Mining, Manufacturing and Investment company.

BROWN, JUNIUS FLAG, merchant, was born Sept. 3, 1828, in Conneaut, Ohio. He went to Denver in 1870, and established a wholesale grocery business, under the firm name of J. S. Brown and Bro., which has greatly prospered. He was vice-president of the City National bank for fifteen years, and is a large shareholder in the Denver Tramway street car railroad.

BROWN, LEWIS HENRY, legislator, public official, was born March 24, 1857, in Hayward, Cal. He has served as city treasurer of San Francisco, Cal.; has been a member of the state legislature; and filled the high office of secretary of state.

BROWN, MARY L., poet, was born in Griswold, Conn. Has written extensively for the periodical press, and many of her poems have appeared in standard works.

BROWN, MASON, jurist, was born Nov. 10, 1799, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was judge of the circuit court of his district for many years, and from 1855 till 1859, during the administration of Gov. Morehead, he was secretary of state. To his public spirit Frankfort was largely indebted for works of public utility and ornament. He died Jan. 27, 1867, in Frankfort, Ky.

BROWN, MATTHEW, educator, college president, was born in 1776 in Northumberland county, Pa. In 1801 he was ordained pastor of the united congregations of Mifflin and Lost Creek, and in 1805 became pastor of the presbyterian church at Washington, Pa., and principal of the academy there. When the academy was chartered as Washington college, in 1806, Mr. Brown was made its first president. He resigned in 1816, still retaining his pastorate. After refusing the presidency of Centre college, Danville, Ky., he accepted, in 1822, that of Jefferson college, Cannonsburg, Pa. He died July 20, 1853, in Pittsburg, Pa.

BROWN, MILTON, congressman, was born in Ohio. He removed to Tennessee; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1847.

BROWN, MILTON, lawyer, legislator, was born May 12, 1854, in Raysville, Ind. He received his education in the common schools of Indiana and at Knightstown academy. During 1876-80 he was deputy recorder and recorder; and the four succeeding years was clerk of the circuit court in Indiana. During 1892-96 he served in the Kansas legislature as state senator with distinction. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Kansas; was vice-president of the Medico-Legal congress; and a member of the committee of the American Bar association for the uniformity of law and code revision.

BROWN, MORGAN W., jurist, was born in Tennessee. In 1834 he was appointed United States judge for the district comprising that state.

BROWN, NATHAN W., soldier, was born Jan. 15, 1819, in Brownsville, N. Y. He entered the service as paymaster in 1849; was made assistant paymaster-general with the rank of colonel in 1866; and in 1880 was appointed paymaster-general with the rank of brigadier-general.

BROWN, NEILL S., soldier, legislator, governor, was born July, 1810, in Giles county, Tenn. He was a volunteer in the Florida war of 1836-37. In 1842 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee legislature, serving two years; in 1844 was a presidential elector; in 1847 was the candidate of the whig party for governor of Tennessee, and was elected. In 1850 he was appointed minister to Russia, serving four years. In 1855 he was elected to the Tennessee legislature, and became speaker of the house. He died January, 1886, in Nashville, Tenn.

BROWN, NICHOLAS, philanthropist, was born April 4, 1769, in Providence, R. I. In honor of Nicholas Brown and in recognition of his gifts, amounting nearly to $100,000, Rhode Island college changed its name to Brown university. He afterward gave two buildings to the university. He died Sept. 27, 1841.

BROWN, OBADIAH, merchant, philanthropist, was born July 15, 1771, in Providence, R. I. His benefactions were extended to worthy enterprises in all Christian bodies, although his principal donations were to the Friends' boarding-school, founded by his father, to which he left $100,000 by his will, to form a permanent charitable fund. He died Oct. 15, 1822, in Providence, R. I.

BROWN, OLIVER HUFF, merchant, was born Dec. 12, 1852, in Farmingdale, N. J. He established a house furnishing business in Spring Lake Beach, which is one of the largest of its kind on the New Jersey coast. He is a director of the Spring Lake and Sea Girt Land and Improvement company, and the Deal Beach Land company.

BROWN, OLYMPIA, minister, lecturer, was born Jan. 5, 1835, in Prairie Ronde, Mich. Entering the Universalist Theological school at Canton, N. Y., she was graduated and ordained in 1863, and in 1864 was installed as pastor of a church in Weymouth, Mass. In 1869 she became pastor of a church in Bridgeport, Conn., and afterward married Henry Willis. She has since been pastor of churches in the west, lectures frequently, and became president of the Wisconsin Woman Suffrage association.

BROWN, OREN BRITT, lawyer, jurist, was born June 22, 1853, in New Orleans county, N. Y. He received his education at the Denison university of Granville, Ohio; and the Princeton college, New Jersey. Since 1878 he has been engaged in the practice of law, and is one of the foremost lawyers of Ohio at Dayton, where he is a judge of the city police court; and has filled various public offices of honor.

BROWN, ORVON GRAFF, educator, college president, was born July 1, 1863, in Greensburg, Pa. In 1882 he was elected professor of science in the Cincinnati Wesleyan college; and in 1885 was elected president of Twin Valley college, which he named from its location in the Twin Valley.

BROWN, PHILIP SHELLEY, lawyer, was born Oct. 14, 1833, in Bedford county, Pa. He engaged in the practice of law in Kansas City, Mo., and retained for years a prominent position at the bar.

BROWN, MRS. PHOEBE (HINSDALE), hymn writer, was born in 1783, in Canaan, N. Y. She was a hymn writer remembered for her popular religious lyric, I Love to Steal Awhile Away. She died Oct. 10, 1861, in Henry, Ill.

BROWN, ROBERT, soldier, state senator, congressman, was born in 1745 in Northampton county, Pa. He was appointed at the beginning of the revolution an officer in the Pennsylvania flying camp, and was made prisoner on Long island. He was made brigadier-general of the state militia, filled several civil stations, and was a member of the state senate for some time. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania in 1798-1815. He died Feb. 26, 1823, in Northampton, Pa.

BROWN, ROBERT C., merchant, was born in Cohocton, N. Y. He is a member of the Owl Cigar company of New York and Florida, and has been trustee of the Mercantile Benefit association, and of the Excelsior Savings bank.

BROWN, SAMUEL, physician, was born Jan. 30, 1769, in Rockbridge county, Va. From 1819 till 1825 he was professor of the theory and practice of medicine at Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky. In medical practice Dr. Brown was instrumental in introducing in the United States the process of lithotripsy shortly after its first successful application by French surgeons. He established a medical society in Lexington, and framed for it a code of medical ethics. This body, at first a secret society, was the original of the medical associations of Philadelphia, New York and Baltimore. He died Jan. 12, 1830, in Alabama.

BROWN, SAMUEL GILMAN, clergyman, college president, author, was born Jan. 4, 1813, in North Yarmouth, Maine. He was a congregational clergyman and president of Hamilton college in 1867-81. He was the author of Biography of Self-Taught Men; and Life of Rufus Choate. He died in 1885.

BROWN, SAMUEL R., soldier, author, was born in 1775. He was a volunteer during the war of 1812. He was the author of A View of the Campaigns of the Northwestern Army; and History of the War of 1812, in two volumes. He died Sept. 15, 1817, in Cherry Valley.

BROWN, SAMUEL SMITH, soldier, merchant, was born Dec. 15, 1842, in Pitt, Pa. He studied at different normal schools and at Jefferson college in Canonsburg, Pa.; and then enlisted in the union army as a member of the tenth Pennsylvania reserves, serving through the early part of the war in the army of the Potomac. He is the owner of valuable coal lands.

BROWN, SETH W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 4, 1843, in Waynesville, Ohio. He was a member of company H, seventy-ninth Ohio volunteer infantry. He was elected prosecuting attorney for Warren county in 1880 and re-elected in 1882. He was elected a representative in the general assembly in 1883 and re-elected in 1885, being a member of the finance committee of the house for four years and chairman of that committee during his second term. He was chosen presidential elector on the Harrison ticket in 1888 and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BROWN, SOLYMAN, author, was born Nov. 17, 1790, in Litchfield, Conn. He published an essay on American poetry, together with some miscellanies; and Dental Hygeia, a poem on the general laws of health. He was co-editor of the Journal of Dental Science. He died about 1865 in New York.

BROWN, TARLETON, soldier of the revolution, was born in 1754 in Barnwell district, S. C. He served through the war of independence, attaining the rank of captain. His Memoirs, with notes by Charles J. Bushnell, contain interesting and original information in relation to the events of his time in the Carolinas. He died in 1846.

BROWN, THERON, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 29, 1832, in Willimantic, Conn. For ten years he was a clergyman of the baptist church in Boston, Mass. For over a quarter of a century he has been one of the editors of the Youth's Companion. He has written a number of books for young people, the most notable of which are The Blount Family; and Walter Neil's Example. He is also the author of a collection of poems entitled Life Songs.

BROWN, THOMAS, statesman. He was governor of Florida from 1849 to 1853.

BROWN, THOMAS, naval officer, was born in Delaware. He entered the service as midshipman in 1801, was promoted a lieutenant in 1807, master in 1815, and captain in 1825. He commanded the schooner Gov. Tompkins in several engagements with the enemy on Lake Ontario in 1814. In 1819-21 he commanded the ship Peacock in the Mediterranean. He died Nov. 28, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BROWN, THOMAS, colonial author, was born about 1740. He was a resident of Charlestown, Mass. In 1757 he was captured by the Indians, after being wounded in an engagement between the French and English. He was held in captivity for nearly four years, and then returned to his father's house. The narrative of his adventures, written by himself, is perhaps the rarest of American books of its class.

BROWN, THOMAS, lawyer, journalist, was born about 1819 in Ohio. He took a prominent part in the free-soil movement of 1848, and in 1850 abandoned the profession of law, and, in connection with Col. John C. Vaughn, established the True Democrat, the free-soil organ of northern Ohio. In 1853 he withdrew from that paper, which, in the course of the next year, became the Cleveland Leader, and established the Ohio Farmer. He died June 13, 1867, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BROWN, THOMAS EDWIN, clergyman, author, was born in 1841 in District of Columbia. He is a baptist clergyman of Rochester, N. Y.; and the author of Studies in Modern Socialism and Labor Problems.

BROWN, THOMAS H., manufacturer, public official, was born April 3, 1839, in Milwaukee, Wis. He was mayor of Milwaukee, Wis., from 1880 to 1884. His business is that of carriage manufacturer. He made an unsuccessful run on the republican ticket for congress.

BROWN, THOMAS S., lawyer, author, was born June 5, 1852, in Zanesfield, Ohio. In 1873 he graduated from the Earlham college of Richmond, Ind.; and was admitted to the bar in 1881. He practiced law in Bellefontaine, Ohio, until 1889, when he moved to Topeka, Kan. In 1893 he continued his law practice in Kansas City, Mo., giving special attention to patent law and law of municipal bonds. He is the author of a number of articles and papers on Tariff and other economic and legal questions; and many poems of rare merit have emanated from his pen.

BROWN, THOMPSON S., civil engineer, was born in 1807 in Brownsville, N. Y. He was chief engineer of the New York and Erie railroad in 1838-42, and subsequently employed as consulting engineer of the St. Petersburg and Moscow railroad in Russia. He died Jan. 30, 1855, in Naples, Italy.

BROWN, THURLOW WEED, journalist, author. He was a Wisconsin journalist prominent as a temperance advocate; and the author of Why I Am a Temperance Man; Minnie Hermon, the Landlord's Daughter; and Temperance Tales. He died May 4, 1866, in Fort Atkinson, Wis.

BROWN, TITUS, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1786 in Cheshire county, N. H. He was a member of the legislature of New Hampshire from 1820 to 1825; and was elected a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1825 to 1829. In 1842 he was elected to the state senate and made president. He died Jan. 31, 1849, in Frankestown, N. H.

BROWN, WALTER L., merchant, state senator, was born Sept. 5, 1845, in Carlisle, N. Y. For twenty years he conducted a hardware store in Oneonta, N. Y., covering a whole block, and was the largest of its kind in his county. For a number of years he has been first lieutenant in the New York state guards; was president of the town board; and during 1888-91 served with distinction in the New York state assembly; and subsequently was elected to the state senate.

BROWN, WILL GAY, lawyer, state senator, was born April 8, 1867, in Warrick, Ga. He has attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of Alabama at Cullman; and in 1896 was elected a member of the state senate of the Alabama legislature for a term of four years.

BROWN, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Frederick county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1819 to 1823.

BROWN, WILLIAM G., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 25, 1801, in Preston county, Va. In 1832 he was elected to the legislature of Virginia; served again in that capacity from 1840 to 1843; and was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1845 to 1849. In 1850 he was a member of the Virginia state convention; in 1860 a delegate to the Charleston convention, and also to that held in Baltimore; and was also a delegate to the Virginia convention of 1861, and opposed the action of the secessionists. On his return home he was elected a representative to the thirty-seventh congress; and in 1863 was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress as a representative from West Virginia.

BROWN, WILLIAM HILL, poet, was born in 1766. He wrote a tragedy, founded on the death of Major John André, and a comedy. His Ira and Isabella was published in 1807. He died Sept. 10, 1793, in Murfreesborough, N. C.

BROWN, WILLIAM J., journalist, public official, congressman, was born in 1805 in Kentucky. He was at one time secretary of state for Indiana, and a member of the state legislature; and was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1843 to 1845, and again from 1849 to 1851. He was assistant postmaster-general under President Polk. He was editor of the Indiana Sentinel; state librarian of Indiana; and, at the time of his death special agent of the post office department for Indiana and Illinois. He died March 18, 1857, in Indianapolis, Ind.

BROWN, WILLIAM KING, educator, lawyer, was born June 28, 1865, near Red Springs, N. C. He received his education at the university of North Carolina and the university of Nashville. For many years he was engaged in educational work as principal of the high school of Burlington, Ala.; and as instructor in the Centennial graded school of Raleigh, N. C. He has attained prominence as one of Alabama's ablest lawyers; and has an extensive practice in Birmingham.

BROWN, WILLIAM MASON, landscape painter, was born Sept. 14, 1826, in Troy, N. Y. He received his education in the Lancasterian school of Troy, N. Y. At the age of twenty-five he began the study of art, and has attained eminence as a painter of landscapes and still life. His paintings have been exhibited in the various expositions for the past quarter of a century; and he has received numerous awards. His studio is in Brooklyn, N. Y., in which city he is an honored member of the various art institutes.

BROWN, WILLIAM R., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 16, 1849, in Buffalo, N. Y. He became a lawyer, and settled in Kansas in 1862. He was elected judge of the ninth judicial district of Kansas in 1867; re-elected in 1872; and in 1874 was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-fourth congress as a republican. In 1892 he located in El Reno, Okla.; and in 1894 was elected judge of the probate court.

BROWN, WILLIAM WALLACE, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born April 22, 1836, in Summerhill, N. Y. He enlisted in the union army for a three-years' term; and served with gallantry until the close of the war. He was elected district attorney in 1866. He was a representative in the state legislature from 1872 to 1876; was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a republican.

BROWN, WOLSTON RICHMOND, banker, lawyer, was born Oct. 6, 1860, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1886 he was elected to the city council of Passaic, N. J., and served two terms; in 1889 was appointed supreme court commissioner; in 1891 was elected mayor, and re-elected in 1893.

BROWN, YARDLEY T., journalist, poet, was born July 13, 1852, near Winchester, Va. For nearly a quarter of a century he has been the editor and owner of The Telephone of Loudon, Va.

BROWNE, CAUSTEN, lawyer, author, was born in 1828 in the District of Columbia. He is a lawyer of Boston; and the author of Treatise on the Construction of the Statute of Frauds.

BROWNE, CHARLES FARRAR, author, was born April 26, 1834, in Waterford, Maine. He was a very genuine though grotesque humorist, whose satire is invariably good-natured and whose humor is based on shrewd sense. While a printer in the office of The Plaindealer, in Cleveland, he began publishing his series of letters from Artemus Ward, Showman. Later he became known as a popular humorous lecturer, and was lecturing in England with success at the time of his death. He was the author of Artemus Ward: His Book; Artemus Ward Among the Mormons; Artemus Ward in London; Artemus Ward: His Travels; and Artemus Ward's Lecture at Egyptian Hall. He died March 6, 1867, in Southampton, England.

BROWNE, FRANCIS FISHER, journalist, author, poet, was born Dec. 1, 1843, in Windham county, Vt. He is a son of William Goldsmith Browne, the author of the popular poem, A Hundred Years to Come, and the proprietor of The Journal of Chicopee, Mass. He served through the civil war in the forty-sixth regiment Massachusetts volunteers. He studied law; edited The Lakeside Monthly of Chicago during 1869-74; was afterward literary editor of The Alliance; and in 1880 founded The Dial, of which he is still editor and chief owner. His principal works are Golden Poems by British and American Authors; Bugle Echoes; Laurel Crown; and a volume of his own poems entitled Volunteer Grain. The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln, from his pen, is a valuable acquisition to historical literature.

BROWNE, FRANK J., lawyer, educator, was born in 1860, in Eaton, Ohio. He is a noted educator, and in 1896 became superintendent of public instruction for the state of Washington at Olympia.

BROWNE, GEORGE H., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1818 in Gloucester, R. I. He was elected to both the charter and suffrage legislatures of his state in 1842; and was again elected to the Rhode Island legislature, and re-elected until 1852. In 1852 he was appointed United States attorney for Rhode Island, which office he held until elected a representative from Rhode Island to the thirty-seventh congress.

BROWNE, GEORGE WALDO, lecturer, author, poet, was born Oct. 8, 1851, in Deerfield, N. H. He is the author of A Daughter of Maryland; Civil and Political History of Manchester; Sent to Siberia; Lights and Shades of Russian Life; Captain of Honor; and Legends and Folklore of the Land of the Granite Hills. He is also the author of a volume of poems entitled Plain Poems of Heart and Home; has contributed poems to various standard collections; and is a popular writer of Manchester, N. H.

BROWNE, HAMILTON, railroad president, was born Aug. 14, 1844, in New York Mills, N. Y. He is the president of the Boone Valley Coal and Railway company at Boone, Iowa.

BROWNE, IRVING, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 14, 1835, in Marshall, N. Y. He is the author of Humorous Phases of the Law; Short Studies of Great Lawyers; Judicial Interpretation of Common Words and Phrases; Law and Lawyers in Literature; Iconoclasm and Whitewash; The Character of the Nurse's Deceased Husband in Romeo and Juliet; Our Best Society, a comedy; and The Elements of Criminal Law.

BROWNE, JEFFERSON B., lawyer, lieutenant-governor, was born in Key West, Fla. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the south at Key West, Fla.; was lieutenant-governor of Florida in 1891; and during 1893-97 was collector of the port of Key West.

BROWNE, JOHN MILLS, surgeon, was born May 10, 1831, in Hinsdale, N. H. He entered the United States navy as an assistant surgeon in 1853. In 1855-56 he participated in the Indian war on Puget sound, and subsequently he took part in the survey of the northwest boundary.

BROWNE, JOHN ROSS, traveler, author, was born in 1817 in Ireland. He was a writer of amusing travels, illustrated by original drawings. He is the author of An American Family in Germany; Yusuf, a Crusade in the East; Land of Thor, a volume of Icelandic experiences; Etchings of a Whaling Voyage; Crusee's Island; and Adventures in the Apache Country. He died Dec. 9, 1875, in Oakland, Cal.

BROWNE, JUNIUS HENRI, journalist, author, was born in 1833 in New York. He is a journalist of New York city; and the author of Four Years in Secessia; The Great Metropolis, a Memoir of New York; and Light and Sensations in Europe.

BROWNE, MARIA J. B., educator, translator, author, was born in Northampton, Mass. She has published Margaret; Laura Huntley; and Story of a Western Sunday School; and translated into Spanish The Borrowed Bible, written by her sister; and two other small volumes. She translated from the Spanish

A History of Granada, by José Francisco de Luque.

BROWNE, MARY FRANK, author, was born Sept. 9, 1835, in Warsaw, N. Y. Mrs. Browne is the president of the San Francisco Presbyterian orphanage and farm; and the author of several works.

BROWNE, SAMUEL BARNETT, journalist, lawyer, was born Sept. 18, 1844, in Mt. Vernon, Ala. He served in the confederate army; lost his right foot at Frazier's Farm; again entered the army as a cavalryman; and was recommended as major by Gen. Robert E. Lee for distinguished valor on the battlefield. In 1868 he was admitted to the bar; subsequently he resided in Calvert, Texas, and became editor of the Central Texan. He again returned to Mobile, Ala., where he has become distinguished especially in criminal law, and is known as one of the most eminent lawyers of the Alabama bar.

BROWNE, SAMUEL J., clergyman, philanthropist, was born March 19, 1788, in England. He became a minister of the United Brethren, but parted with them on the question of secret societies, and joined the presbytery of Cincinnati about 1868. He accumulated a large fortune by the rise of real estate in that city, and bequeathed $150,000 for the establishment of a university to bear his name, also land whereon to erect the building, and an endowment for professorships. He left other sums for the building of a church and for the establishment of a free school in Cincinnati. He died Sept. 10, 1872, in Harrison Junction, Ohio.

BROWNE, SARA H., author, was born in Sunderland, Mass. She has published The Book for the Eldest Daughter; The Borrowed Bible; Philip Alderton; Maggie Menealy; and other volumes for the young; also A Manual of Commerce; and magazine articles in prose and poetry.

BROWNE, THOMAS H. BAYLY, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1844 at Accomack, Va. He volunteered as a private in company F, thirty-ninth regiment Virginia infantry; afterward served as a private in Chew's battery of the Stuart horse artillery; and was surrendered with the army of northern Virginia in April, 1865. In 1873 he was elected attorney for the commonwealth of Accomack county; was presidential elector on the Blaine ticket in 1884; was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

BROWNE, THOMAS M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born April 19, 1829, in New Paris, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney for the thirteenth judicial circuit of the state of Indiana from 1855 to 1861; was secretary of the state senate in 1861, and a state senator in 1863. He entered the union army as lieutenant-colonel, during the war of the rebellion, and was promoted to the rank of colonel and brevet brigadier-general. He was United States attorney for the district of Indiana from 1869 to 1872; and was an unsuccessful candidate for governor of the state in 1872. He was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

BROWNE, WILLIAM HAND, author, was born Dec. 31, 1828, in Baltimore, Md. He is an historical writer of Baltimore who, besides assisting Scharf and other writers, has also written Maryland, the History of a Palatinate; and George Calvert and Cecilius Calvert, Barons Baltimore.

BROWNE, WILLIAM HARDCASTLE, lawyer, author, was born in 1840 in Pennsylvania. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia; and the author of Digest of the Law of Divorce and Alimony in the United States; Famous Women of History; and Bible Heroes.

BROWNELL, CHAUNCEY W., lawyer, statesman, was born Oct. 7, 1847, in Williston, Vt. He is a successful lawyer of Burlington, Vt.; and since 1890 has been secretary of state.

BROWNELL, HENRY HOWARD, soldier, author, poet, was born Feb. 6, 1820, in Providence, R. I. He served in the civil war as ensign under Farragut, and was present in the two engagements described in his famous battle poems, The Bay Fight, and The River Fight, which rank among the finest verses of their kind. He was the author of Poems; People's Book of Ancient and Modern History; Discoverers of North and South America; Lyrics of a Day; and War Lyrics. He died Oct. 31, 1872, in East Hartford, Conn.

BROWNELL, SEYMOUR, soldier, business man, state senator, was born Feb. 27, 1837, in Farmington, Mich. During 1858-61 he was postmaster of Utica, Mich.; raised company H, second Michigan cavalry; served on the staffs of several generals; and was brevetted colonel for meritorious services. He was the promoter and one of the directors of the Detroit and Bay City railroad, and in 1872 built the first thirty miles of that road. In 1872 he was a member of the Michigan state senate; and was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1868. In 1884 he engaged in iron mining, with headquarters in Detroit. He was the promoter of the Grand River Electric railway, of which he is managing director and one of the principal owners.

BROWNELL, THOMAS CHURCH, bishop, author, was born Oct. 19, 1779, in Westport, Mass. He was the third protestant episcopal bishop of Connecticut; and the author of Family Prayer Book; Commentary on the Prayer Book; Youthful Christian's Guide; Consolation for the Afflicted; Christian's Walk and Consolation; and Religion of Heart and Life. Many other religious works also appeared from his pen. He died Jan. 13, 1865, in Hartford, Conn.

BROWNELL, WALTER A., educator, was born March 23, 1838, in Evans Mills, N. Y. In 1881 he was professor of mineralogy in the vacation summer school for teachers at Martha's Vineyard, Mass. He has held professorships in the Syracuse high school; Red Creek seminary; Fulton seminary, and many other prominent colleges.

BROWNELL, WILLIAM CRARY, journalist, author, was born in 1851 in New York. He is a New York journalist and critic; and the author of Newport; French Art; Classic and Contemporary Painting and Sculpture; and French Traits: an essay in Comparative Criticism.

BROWNING, J. HULL, railroad president, was born Dec. 25, 1841, in Orange, N. J. Since 1887 he has been president of the Northern railroad of New Jersey.

BROWNING, ORVILLE HICKMAN, lawyer, statesman, was born in 1810 in Harrison county, Ky. He served through the Black Hawk war in 1832; in 1836 was elected a senator in the Illinois legislature; and in 1861 was appointed a senator in congress to fill the vacancy. He died Aug. 10, 1881, in Quincy, Ill.

BROWNLEE, WILLIAM CRAIG, clergyman, author, was born in 1784 in Scotland. In 1826 he was installed as one of the ministers of the Collegiate Reformed Dutch church in New York. He edited the Dutch Church Magazine through four consecutive volumes, and published Inquiry into the Principles of the Quakers; The Roman Catholic Controversy; Treatise on Popery; Lights and Shadows of Christian Life; The Christian Youths' Book; Christian Father at Home; Deity of Christ; History of the Western Apostolic Church; The Converted Murderer; and The Whigs of Scotland, a romance, besides several pamphlets. He died Feb. 10, 1860, in New York city.

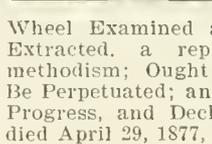

BROWNLEE, WILLIAM R., journalist, state senator, was born Oct. 14, 1846, in Coitsville, Ohio. In 1880 he was nominated and elected state senator to the Indiana legislature.

BROWNLOW, WALTER PRESTON, journalist, congressman, was born March 27, 1851, in Abingdon, Va. In 1876 he purchased the Herald and Tribune, a republican newspaper, published at Jonesboro, of which he has been the editor and proprietor since. In 1882 he was elected a member of the republican state committee and served as a member of said committee for eight years, two of which he was its chairman. He was appointed postmaster at Jonesboro in 1881. He was a delegate from the state at large to the republican national convention of 1884, and favored the nomination of James G. Blaine; and was unanimously selected at that time by the delegation from his state as Tennessee's member of the national committee. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a protectionist republican.

BROWNLOW, WILLIAM GANNAWAY, clergyman, journalist, governor, author, was born Aug. 29, 1805, in Wythe county, Va. He was a methodist preacher and journalist of Knoxville, Tenn.; conspicuous for his fidelity to the union during the civil war; and known as Parson Brownlow. At the close of the war he served two terms as governor of his state. He was the author of The Iron Wheel Examined and Its False Spokes Extracted. a reply to attacks upon methodism; Ought American Slavery to Be Perpetuated; and Sketches of the Rise, Progress, and Decline of Secession. He died April 29, 1877, in Knoxville, Tenn.

BROWNSCOMBE, JENNIE, artist, was born Dec. 10, 1850, near Honesdale, Pa. She has devoted her studies mainly to genre figure painting, and has made a large number of portraits. Her most widely known pictures are Grandmother's Treasures; Blossom Time; The Gleaners; and Sunday Morning in Sleepy Hollow. She has exhibited pictures in the Academy of Design in New York city; and her pictures have been reproduced in etchings and engravings.

BROWNSON, HENRY F., soldier, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 7, 1835, in Canton, Mass. He was educated at the college of the Holy Cross, and the university of Munich. He served as lieutenant, captain and major in the United States army for ten years. He is a successful lawyer of Detroit, Mich.; and the author of several works.

BROWNSON, JAMES I., clergyman, author, was born March 14, 1817, in Mercersburg, Pa. He has been pastor of the presbyterian church at Washington, Pa., since 1849; and since 1852 has been connected with the Washington college as trustee and president of board of trustees. He has published Memorials of the Rev. Dr. David Elliott and the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Beatty, and various historical addresses and sketches.

BROWNSON, NATHAN, physician, statesman. He was a member of the provincial congress in 1775; was for some time a surgeon in the army; and speaker of the legislature of 1781, by which body he was chosen governor of Georgia. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1776 to 1778; speaker of the Georgia house of representatives in 1788; president of the senate from 1789 to 1791; and in 1789 was a member of the convention that framed the state constitution. He died Nov. 6, 1796, in Liberty county, Ga.

BROWNSON, ORESTES AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 16, 1803, in Stockbridge, Vt. He was a prominent philosophical thinker who in early life was successively a presbyterian, a universalist clergyman, a socialist leader associated with Robert Owen, and a unitarian clergyman, as well as an able political speaker at all times. In 1844 he became a Roman Catholic, and in Brownson's Review, from that date until 1864, he ably defended the Roman Catholic faith from the standpoint of a liberal. His philosophy is more or less influenced by the thought of Cousin. He is the author of New Views of Christianity, Society, and the Church; Charles Elwood, or the Infidel Converted (1840), a more or less autobiographic novel; Leaves from My Experience; Essays and Reviews; The Spirit-Rapper, an autobiography; The American Republic, a work on political ethics; and Conversations on Liberalism. He died April 17, 1876, in Detroit, Mich.

BRUBACK, THEODORE, railroad president, was born March 7, 1851, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was elected president and manager of the San Pete Valley railroad in 1888, which position he still holds. He is organizer and president of the Marion Gold Mining Co., and vice-president and general manager of the Gold Belt Water company of Salt Lake City, Utah.

BRUCE, ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, architect, was born March 16, 1835, in Fredericksburg, Va. He has designed a number of court houses and public buildings in Knoxville, Tenn., prominent among them the Chattanooga courthouse. The finest buildings in Atlanta were designed by him, among them the Technological institute, Kiser law construction, high school and county courthouse.

BRUCE, ARCHIBALD, physician, educator, was born in February, 1777, in New York. In 1807 he was appointed professor of materia medica and mineralogy in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, being the first to fill such a chair in the United States. After 1812 he filled the same chair in Queen's, now Rutgers, college, New Jersey. He projected the American Mineralogical Journal in 1810, and edited it until 1814. His chemical analysis of native magnesia from New Jersey made known to science the mineral now called after him, Brucite. He died Feb. 22, 1818, in New York.

BRUCE, BLANCHE K., statesman, was born of slave parents March 1, 1841, in Prince Edward county, Va. He received a limited education; and became a planter in Mississippi in 1869. He was a member of the Mississippi levee board, and sheriff and tax collector of Bolivar county from 1872 until his election to the United States senate in 1875, as a republican. For many years he was register of the treasury at Washington, D. C., and was filling that position when he died in 1898.

BRUCE, DWIGHT HALL, journalist, author, was born June 21, 1834, in Lenox, N. Y. He became the managing editor of the Oswego Times; and in 1869 he became part owner and editor of the Syracuse Journal. He is the author of The Memorial History of the City of Syracuse.

BRUCE, GEORGE, typefounder, was born July 5, 1781, in Scotland. In 1812 David went to England and brought back the secret of stereotyping. The brothers introduced this process in New York, being compelled to cast their own type, so as to give it a deeper shoulder. They invented various appliances to aid in stereotyping, and in 1816 gave up publishing to start a type foundry. George gave his attention to type founding, David his to stereotyping. In this trade he made reputation and a fortune. With his nephew, David Bruce, Jr., he invented the only type-casting machine that has stood the test of time, and brought out many new and beautiful styles of letters. He died July 6, 1866, in New York city.

BRUCE, GEORGE WASHINGTON LEROY, farmer, lecturer, was born July 6, 1852, in Resel county, Ala. He is prominent in the political affairs of Louisiana; since 1892 has been state lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance; and received the nomination for governor on the populist ticket in 1892. He has also attained success as a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church south.

BRUCE, HENRY, naval officer, was born Feb. 12, 1798, in Machias, Maine. He was appointed to the navy as midshipman from Massachusetts in 1813, commissioned commodore in 1862, and retired in 1867.

BRUCE, JAMES, farmer, legislator, was born Nov. 3, 1827, in Harrison county, Ind. He was major commanding southern battalion of the Oregon mounted volunteers in 1855-56, and during the centennial in 1876 was one of the judges of agricultural implements. He has twice been a member of the house of representatives in the Oregon legislature.

BRUCE, JOHN, soldier, planter, jurist, was born Feb. 16, 1832, in Scotland. He entered the union army and served throughout the war, rising to the rank of colonel and brevet brigadier-general. He settled in Alabama as a cotton planter, and was a representative in the state legislature in 1872 and 1874. In 1875 he was appointed, by President Grant, United States district judge for the district of Alabama.

BRUCE, PHINEAS, congressman, was born June 17, 1762. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1792, 1793, 1796, and 1800, and was elected a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1803 to 1805. He died Oct. 4, 1809.

BRUCE, SANDERS DEWEES, soldier, journalist, author, was born Aug. 16, 1825, in Lexington, Ky. He served in the civil war, and attained the rank of colonel. He founded the widely known sporting journal, Turf, Field and Farm, and is the author of American Stud Book, and The Thoroughbred Horse.

BRUCE, WALLACE, lecturer, author, poet, was born Nov. 10, 1844, in Hillsdale, N. Y. He is a poet and lecturer, and the author of From the Hudson to the Yosemite; The Land of Burns; The Connecticut Daylight; in verse, The Hudson; Yosemite; Old Homestead Poems; Wayside Poems; In Clover and Heather; and Here's a Hand.

BRUCKER, FERDINAND, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 8, 1858, in Bridgeport, Mich. He graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan in the class of 1881; is a lawyer by profession, and served as alderman of the city of East Saginaw in 1882-84. He held the office of judge of probate for Saginaw county two terms, from 1888 to 1896; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

BRUIN, PETER BRYAN, jurist. He was appointed, in 1798, one of the first United States judges for the territory of Mississippi.

BRUMBAUGH, HENRY BOYER, bishop, college president, was born April 1, 1836, in Huntingdon, Pa. He is president of Brethren's Publishing company, and was for many years president of Juniata college; vice-president of Orphans' home, and vice-president of Union National bank. He is the bishop of his church and dean of the biblical department of Juniata college.

BRUMM, CHARLES N., soldier, congressman, was born June 9, 1838, in Pottsville, Pa. He enlisted in the union army in 1861, and served throughout the war, being commissioned an assistant-quartermaster and detailed on staff duty. He was an unsuccessful candidate for a seat in the forty-sixth congress, and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican. He was a prominent candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

BRUNDIDGE, STEPHEN, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1857, in White county, Ark. In 1886 he was elected prosecuting attorney for the first judicial district of Arkansas, and re-elected in 1888 without opposition. Since 1890 he has served a term as member of the democratic state central committee of Arkansas, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BRUNER, JOHN SIMEON, poet, was born Feb. 11, 1863, in Hope, Ind.; has written extensively for the periodical press, and his poems have appeared in several standard works.

BRUNNER, DAVID B., educator, congressman, author, was born March 7, 1835, in Amity, Pa. In 1869 he was elected county superintendent of the public schools of the county, which office he filled until 1875; taught private school until 1880, when he opened the Reading Business college, and has since been the principal of that institution. He is the author of an elementary work on English Grammar and Analysis, and a work entitled The Indians of Berks County, Pennsylvania. He has devoted much time to mineralogy and microscopy, and has large collections of specimens in those departments of science. He was elected to the fifty-first congress, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BRUNNER, JOHN HAMILTON, clergyman, college president, was born March 2, 1825, in Greene county, Tenn. After receiving his education at Greenville and Tusculum college, he entered the ministry, and subsequently became president of Hiwassee college, Tennessee. He is a fellow of the society of science, letters and art of London, England, and prominent in educational affairs.

He has contributed valuable articles to current literature on various educational and religious topics that have been incorporated into standard collections.

BRUNOT, FELIX R., business man, philanthropist, was born Feb. 7, 1820. Middle life found him a man of wealth, and he projected, founded and for many years served as president of the Mercantile library of Pittsburg, and is yet one of the managers of the Library hall of Pittsburg, which originated with him.

BRUNS, JOHN DICKSON, surgeon, poet, was born Feb. 24, 1836, in Charleston, S. C. During the civil war he was surgeon of a general hospital of the confederacy. In 1866 he was chosen professor of physiology and pathology in the New Orleans school of medicine. His poetical writings evince graceful versification and marked power of description. He died May 20, 1883, in New Orleans, La.

BRUNSON, JOHN C., farmer, public official, state legislator, was born July 20, 1822, in East Bloomfield, N. Y. He received an academic education; and since 1845 has lived in Victor, Mich. He has attained success as a farmer and merchant; was justice of the peace for thirty-five years; postmaster for twenty-five years, and for two years was a representative in the Michigan state legislature.

BRUSE, JAMES E., lawyer, banker, was born April 14, 1860, in Brooklyn, Iowa. He has attained success as an able lawyer in his native state; has been county attorney, president of the Citizens' bank of Anita, and takes a prominent part in public affairs.

BRUSH, ALEXANDER, manufacturer, was born Feb. 8, 1824, in New York. In 1848, with his brother, he started in the brick business, in which they prospered and became the most extensive brick manufacturers in the western part of New York. He died June 1, 1892.

BRUSH, ALFRED ERSKINE, lawyer, was born Feb. 14, 1850, in Detroit, Mich. The management and improvement of his father's large estate give him ample employment. The Hotel Ste. Claire, the Lyceum theater and Detroit Driving club are properties in which he is largely interested, as well as the Michigan Peninsular Car company.

BRUSH, CHARLES FRANCIS, electrician, inventor, was born March 17, 1849, in Euclid, Ohio. The Brush system was a success from the start. Mr. Brush is a large owner in the General Electric and in several other large corporations. Among his inventions are the series arc lamp, having a shunt circuit of high resistance, which made lighting from central stations practicable; copper-plated carbons, the automatic cut-out for arc lights, the compound series shunt winding for dynamos, the multiple carbon arc lamp, and the fundamental storage battery. Fierce litigation has taken place over some of these inventions, but Dr. Brush's patents have been, as a rule, fully sustained. He is president of the Euclid Avenue National bank of Cleveland, Ohio.

BRUSH, MRS. CONSTANCE (CHAPLIN), artist, author, was born in 1842 in Maine. She was an artist in water-colors whose home was in Brooklyn. Her most important book, The Colonel's Opera Cloak, a novel, was first published anonymously. Her only other works are two stories, Inside Our Gate; and One Summer's Lessons in Perspective. She died in 1892.

BRUSH, GEORGE JARVIS, mineralogist, author, was born Dec. 15, 1831, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1857 he has been identified with the Sheffield Scientific school. He has published a Manual of Determinative Mineralogy and has been a constant contributor to the American Journal of Science.

BRUSH, GEORGE WASHINGTON, soldier, physician, surgeon, state senator, was born Oct. 4, 1842, in Huntington, N. Y.

In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the forty-eighth regiment, New York volunteers; served throughout the war, and attained the rank of captain. He received the congressional medal of honor for conspicuous gallantry in an engagement on the Ashepee river in May, 1864. In 1876 he graduated from the Long Island Medical college, and has since practiced his profession in Brooklyn. In 1894 he was elected a member of the New York assembly, and in 1897 was elected to the state senate.

BRUSH, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1778 in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1819 to 1821, and was a judge of the supreme court of the state. He died Jan. 19, 1855.

BRUYN, ANDREW D. W., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1838. He died July, 1838, in Ithaca, N. Y.

BRYAN, ANTHONY H., physician, educator, was born Aug. 22, 1832, in Monticello, Ky. He accepted a professorship of general pathology in the Evansville Medical college in 1876. He has been a frequent contributor to the various medical journals in the country, and his articles are noted for singular clearness.

BRYAN, EDWARD KNIGHT, educator, clergyman, was born in 1844, in Jamaica, West Indies. He was principal of one of the Houston city schools, principal of the Texarkana city school; and in 1887-88 was chaplain of Mary Allan seminary. In 1887 he was ordained a clergyman of the presbyterian church, and has since filled several important pastorates in Texas and Arkansas.

BRYAN, GEORGE, jurist, state legislator, was born in 1731 in Dublin, Ireland. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state assembly, and in 1765 was a delegate to the stamp-act congress, in which, and in the subsequent struggle, he took an active part. He was vice-president of the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania from the period of the declaration of independence, and in May, 1778, was advanced to the presidency. In 1779 he was elected to the legislature. He was appointed a judge of the state supreme court in 1780, and remained in that office until his death. He died Jan. 27, 1791, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BRYAN, GEORGE S., jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He settled in Charleston, S. C., and in 1866 was appointed United States judge for the district comprising that state.

BRYAN, GUY M., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born June 12, 1821, in Missouri. He bore a part in the military campaign of Texas in 1836; in 1847 was elected to the Texas legislature, and served in the house and senate seven years. He was elected a representative from Texas to the thirty-fifth congress.

BRYAN, HENRY H., congressman, was born in Martin county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1819 to 1823. He died May, 1835, in Montgomery county, Tenn.

BRYAN, JOHN A., public official, was born in Massachusetts. After holding a clerkship in the general postoffice, he was, in 1842, appointed second assistant postmaster general, holding the position about one year. A son of his was subsequently connected with the postal service of the empire of Japan.

BRYAN, JOHN H., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1798 in Newbern county, N. C. He served a number of years in the state legislature; and was a member of congress from North Carolina from 1825 to 1827.

BRYAN, JOSEPH, congressman, was elected a representative in congress from Georgia from 1803 to 1806.

BRYAN, JOSEPH H., congressman. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1815 to 1819.

BRYAN, MRS. MARY EDWARDS, journalist, author, was born in 1846, in Jefferson county, Fla. She is a journalist and has written the novels Manch; Wild Work, a story of the reconstruction period in Louisiana; The Bayou Bride; and Kildee.

BRYAN, NATHAN, congressman, was born in 1791, in Jones county, N. C. In 1791 he represented Jones county in the house of commons; and was a member of congress from North Carolina from 1795 to 1798. He died June 4, 1798, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BRYAN, THOMAS BARBOUR, commissioner, lawyer, was born Dec. 22, 1828, in Alexandria, Va. He entered the practice of law in Chicago, Ill., and in 1893 was first vice-president of the World's Columbian exposition.

BRYAN, THOMAS JEFFERSON, art collector, was born about 1800 in Philadelphia, Pa. He formed a valuable collection of paintings, which he bequeathed to the New York historical society. His favorite work was a beautiful face and figure by Greuze. He died at sea May 15, 1870.

BRYAN, WILLIAM JENNINGS, lawyer, congressman, candidate for the presidency of the United States, was born March 10, 1860, in Salem, Ill. His boyhood was passed on a farm near that place, and he attended the public schools for five years; he then took a course at Whipple academy and completed his education by a four years' course at Illinois college. As a student in the law office of Lyman Trumbull, Chicago, he attended the Union College of Law in Chicago till June, 1883, when he removed to Jacksonville, Ill., and practiced law there for four years. In Oct., 1887, he located in Lincoln, Neb., and opened a law office. He was elected to congress in 1890, and his first speech gave him a national reputation; he was re-elected in 1892, and his speech on the repeal of the Sherman act is considered a masterpiece on bimetallism. He was placed in nomination for the presidency by the democratic, free silver and populist parties, in 1896, and led a brilliant campaign. He is the author of The First Battle; and A Story of the Campaign of 1896.

BRYANT, EDWIN, pioneer, author, was born in 1805 in Massachusetts. Before 1846 he was for some time a journalist in Kentucky. In the summer of that year, chiefly with a view to traveling, he acted as leader of a party of emigrants from Missouri to California. While various parties had gone overland to California since 1841, the large numbers and the critical circumstances of this emigration gave it much historical importance. He was the author of What I Saw in California. He died in 1869 in Louisville, Ky.

BRYANT, EDWIN EUSTACE, soldier, state legislator, college dean, was born Jan. 10, 1835, in Milton, Vt. In 1857 he moved to Wisconsin, and entered upon the practice of law. In 1861 he entered the union army as a volunteer; served throughout the civil war, being successively promoted an officer in line, staff and field. From 1868 to 1872 he was private and executive secretary to the governor of Wisconsin; from 1876 to 1882 was adjutant general of Wisconsin; in 1878 was elected a representative in the Wisconsin legislature; and declined a re-nomination. In 1885 he was appointed assistant attorney general of the United States for the postoffice department. Since 1889 he has been dean of the college of law of the university of Wisconsin.

BRYANT, GEORGE E., farmer, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 11, 1832, in Templeton, Mass. He received his education in the Norwich university, Vt. For eight years he was postmaster of Madison, Wis.; and six years quartermaster general of Wisconsin. In 1880 he was a delegate to the republican national convention, and was one of the 306 who voted for U. S. Grant. He has filled the high offices of judge, state senator, and secretary of the board of agriculture.

BRYANT, GRIDLEY, engineer, was born in 1789 in Scituate, Mass. In 1823 he invented the portable derrick. He obtained the contract for building the United States bank in Boston, and other public buildings, and was master builder and contractor to supply stone for Bunker Hill monument. He died Jan. 13, 1867, in Scituate, Mass.

BRYANT, JOEL, physician, author, was born Nov. 10, 1813, in Suffolk county, N. Y. He moved to Brooklyn in 1850, and became quite prominent as a practitioner. He was the author of several treatises on homeopathy, the best of which was The Pocket Manual, or Repertory of Homeopathic Practice. He died Nov. 20, 1868, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BRYANT, JOHN HOWARD, farmer, poet, was born July 22, 1807, in Cummington, Mass. He is the author of Poems; and Poems Written from Youth to Old Age.

BRYANT, NATHANIEL C., naval officer, was born March 27, 1823, in Nobleborough, Maine. He was appointed midshipman in the United States navy in 1837; and attained the rank of commander in 1862.

BRYANT, WILBUR FRANKLIN, lawyer, author, politician, was born March 21, 1851, in Dalton, N. H. In 1873 he graduated from Kimball Union academy of Meriden; and subsequently attended Dartmouth college. He then entered educational work in Mississippi. In 1876 he moved to Nebraska, and a year later was admitted to the bar. He has practiced his profession in Nebraska at St.

Helena, where he was postmaster for three years; and at West Point and Hartington. In 1882 he was elected district attorney for sixteen counties; for several years he was judge of Cuming county; and is now a member of Governor Holcomb's staff, with rank of colonel. He was one of the founders of the people's party in Nebraska, and has been a member of every state convention since its foundation. He was a member of the bimetallic congress of 1893; and is the state president of the Catholic Knights of America.

BRYANT, WILLIAM, clergyman, poet, was born in 1850 in England. After receiving his education he entered the ministry, and since 1887 has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Marshalltown, Iowa. He has written numerous poems, many of which have appeared in various hymn books and the secular and religious press generally.

BRYANT, WILLIAM CULLEN, poet, was born Nov. 3, 1794, in Cummington, Mass. He was a journalist of New York. He early began the practice of law, but soon abandoned it for journalism and, removing to New York in 1825, became in 1828 the editor of the Evening Post, with which he remained associated until his death. His earliest poem, The Embargo, a political satire, was published when its author was but thirteen, but the first collection of his poems was not made until 1821, the famous Thanatopsis being one of the eight which the volume comprised. The quantity of Bryant's verse is small, the quality high, but not uniformly so. Its tone is usually calmly philosophic, and it rarely makes any very effective appeal to the sympathies, its coldness arising partly from lack of humor, partly from natural reserve. He is the author of The Embargo; The Spanish Revolution; The Ages; The Fountain of Youth, and Other Poems; The White-Footed Deer; The Flood of Years; Thirty Poems; translations of the Iliad and Odyssey, both in unrhymed heroic pentameter; Letters of a Traveler, a prose work; and Orations and Addresses. He died June 12, 1878, in New York.

BRYANT, WILLIAM McKENDREE, educator, author, was born in 1843, in Indiana. He is a prominent educator of St. Louis, and the author of Philosophy of Landscape Painting; The World Energy and its Self-Conservation; Syllabus of Psychology; Ethics and the New Education; and Text Books of Psychology.

BRYANT, WILLIAM PERKINS, jurist, was born Aug. 3, 1806, in Mercer county, Ky. He was an early emigrant to Oregon when it was a territory; and in 1849 was appointed chief justice of the United States court for that district. He died Oct. 10, 1860.

BRYANT, WILLIAM W., educator, author, poet, was born July 11, 1860, in Breathitt county, Ky. For several years he was engaged in educational work, and in 1884 moved to Minnesota. In 1892 he was elected commissioner of Cass county; subsequently became treasurer and president of the board of education.

BRYCE, JAMES PATERSON, soldier, designer, librarian, was born Dec. 19, 1832, in Lanark, Scotland. He commenced life as a designer of patterns for muslin, which he followed for ten years. He entered the union army in 1861 and was wounded the following year near Rolla, Mo. In 1887 he became librarian of the public library of Springfield, Ill., and has attained prominence as a cataloguer.

BRYCE, LLOYD S., journalist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 4, 1851, in Flushing, N. Y. He was appointed paymaster-general of the state of New York in 1886, and was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat. During 1889-96 he was editor of the North American Review, and is the author of Paradise: A Dream of Conquest; The Romance of an Alter Ego; and Friends in Exile.

BRYDE, ARCHIBALD M., state senator, congressman, was born in Moore county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1809 to 1813; and subsequently a member of the state senate for two years.

BRYSON, ANDREW, naval officer, was born July 22, 1822, in New York city. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1837; was promoted lieutenant in 1851; commander in 1862; captain in 1866; commodore in 1873; and rear admiral in 1880, with which rank he was retired in 1881. Previous to his retirement, after forty-three years of service, he was in command of the South Atlantic station.

BRYSON, JOHN PAUL, educator, physician, was born April 16, 1846, in Macon, Miss. He is consulting physician of the St. Louis hospital; surgeon of the St. Louis Murphy hospital; and for fifteen years professor of genito-urinary surgery in the St. Louis Medical college.

BUCHANAN, ANDREW, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1839.

BUCHANAN, FRANKLIN, naval officer, was born Sept. 17, 1800, in Baltimore, Md. In 1861 he entered the confederate army as captain and for his services was tendered a vote of thanks by the confederate congress, and appointed admiral and senior officer of the confederate navy. He died May 11, 1874, in Maryland.

BUCHANAN, HUGH, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 15, 1823, in Scotland. He was elected to the state senate of Georgia in 1855, and re-elected in 1857. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1856; was a presidential elector in 1860; delegate to the democratic national convention of 1868; was a judge of the superior court from 1872 until 1880. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1877; and was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses.

BUCHANAN, JAMES, fifteenth president of the United States, was born April 22, 1791, in Franklin county, Pa. He graduated at Dickinson college in 1809, and was admitted to the bar in 1812. He was elected to the state legislature in 1814. In 1820 he was elected representative to congress, and held the office by re-elections for ten years. In 1831 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Russia, and elected United States senator in 1834. He was re-elected in 1840, and continued a member of that body until 1845, when he was appointed secretary of state, which office he held four years. Mr. Buchanan was appointed minister to England in 1853, and returned in April, 1856. June 2, 1856, the national democratic convention met at Cincinnati to nominate a candidate for the presidency. On the first ballot James Buchanan received 135 votes; Franklin Pierce, 122; Stephen Arnold Douglas, 33; Lewis Cass, 5. On the ninth ballot the vote stood: Buchanan, 141; Pierce, 87; Douglas, 56; Cass, 7. On the sixteenth ballot Buchanan had 168; Douglas, 121. On the seventeenth Buchanan was unanimously nominated. John Cabell Breckenridge was nominated for vice-president, and they were elected the following autumn. They were inaugurated March 4, 1857. At the close of his presidential term he retired to his home at Lancaster, Pa., and died June 1, 1868. Buchanan held office nearly thirty-eight years. He died worth about $200,000.

BUCHANAN, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 17, 1839, in Ringoes, N. J. He was a member of the board of education of Trenton, N. J., in 1868-69; was presiding judge of Mercer county during 1874-79; and was a member of the common council of Trenton in 1883-85. He was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican.

BUCHANAN, JOHN ALEXANDER, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1843, in Smyth county, Va. He served as a private in the Stonewall brigade, confederate army; was taken prisoner at Gettysburg, July 3, 1863, and remained in prison until February, 1865. He was a member of the house of delegates of Virginia from 1885 until 1887; and was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat.

BUCHANAN, JOHN P., farmer, governor, was born in 1847, in Tennessee. He has always been a farmer, but has taken an active interest in politics since he attained his majority, and since 1875 has been a delegate to all the democratic state conventions. He was governor of Tennessee from 1891 to 1893.

BUCHANAN, JOSEPH, inventor, author, was born Aug. 24, 1785, in Washington county, Va. He was a once noted mechanical inventor of Kentucky who published The Philosophy of Human Nature. He died Sept. 29, 1829, in Louisville, Ky.

BUCHANAN, JOSEPH RHODES, physician, journalist, inventor, author, was born Dec. 11, 1814, in Frankfort, Ky. He is noted as a physician and claims to have invented the sciences of sarcognomy and psychometry. He published Buchanan's Journal of Medicine, 1849-56. He is the author of Outlines of Lectures on the Neurological System of Anthropology; Eclectic Practice of Medicine and Surgery; The New Education; Therapeutic Sarcognomy; and Manual of Psychometry.

BUCHANAN, McKEAN, actor, was born Feb. 28, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated for the navy, and served three years as midshipman on the sloop-of-war St. Louis. His first appearance as an actor was made at the St. Charles theatre, New Orleans, in the character of Hamlet, in which role he made his appearance in New York in 1850. He visited England twice, and also made tours in Australia and California. He died April 16, 1872, in Denver, Colo.

BUCHANAN, ROBERT CHRISTIE, soldier, was born about 1810, in Maryland. He served as lieutenant in the Black Hawk and Seminole wars. He was made captain in 1838, and in the war with Mexico took part in numerous battles. In 1865 he was made brevet brigadier-general of the United States army for gallant conduct at Malvern Hill, and brevet major-general for services at Fredericksburg. He commanded the district of Louisiana from January, 1868, till January, 1869, and on Dec. 31, 1870, was retired, on his own application, after thirty years of consecutive service. He died Nov. 29, 1878, in Washington, D. C.

BUCHANAN, SARAH, pioneer. During the war with the Creeks and Cherokees in 1792 the fort was attacked by the Indians. When the bullets gave out Mrs. Buchanan was at hand with an apronful molded from pewter plates and spoons during the progress of the fight. She died Nov. 23, 1831, at Buchanan's Station, Tenn.

BUCHANAN, WILLIAM I., author, diplomat. He has filled many positions of honor and was envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Buenos Ayres. He is the author of an improved system of bookkeeping which has become very popular throughout the United States.

BUCHER, FARY BUCHANAN, educator, lawyer, was born June 2, 1856, in Fremont, N. Y. After teaching for a while he was admitted to the bar, and has since practiced his profession in Atlanta, Ga. He takes an active part in public affairs; is a member of the town assembly, and a staunch democrat.

BUCHER, JOHN C., jurist, congressman. He was for many years a judge of the circuit court of Pennsylvania; and a representative in congress from that state from 1831 to 1833. He died Oct. 26, 1851, in Harrisburg, Pa.

BUCHTEL, JOHN R., philanthropist, was born Jan. 18, 1820, in Summit county, Ohio. In 1883 he helped to organize the Akron Iron company; was for many years president of the C. Aultman and Co.; and through his interest and means the Buchtel college was founded.

BUCK, ALFRED E., soldier, educator, congressman, was born Feb. 7, 1832, in Foxcroft, Maine. He entered the army in 1861 as captain in thirteenth Maine infantry; was lieutenant-colonel of ninety-first colored troops in 1863, and of the fifty-first colored troops in 1864. He was brevetted colonel of volunteers for gallant conduct at the siege of Fort Blakely in 1865. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Alabama in 1867. He was presidential elector in 1868; and was elected to the forty-first congress.

BUCK, CHARLES FRANCIS, lawyer, legislator, orator, was born Nov. 5, 1841, in Germany. He received his education at the public schools and the Louisiana state university of Alexandria. For two terms he served as city attorney of New Orleans; has been a member of the school board; and held various other public positions of honor in that city. He served with distinction as a member of the fifty-fourth congress from the second Louisiana district. He is an able lawyer and a brilliant orator. His oration on the Life and Death of James A. Garfield received publication in all the leading newspapers of America, and was highly eulogized.

BUCK, CHARLES W., lawyer, jurist, diplomatist, was born March 17, 1849, in Vicksburg, Miss. In 1879 he was elected county judge of Woodford county, Ky., and served four years. In 1885 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Peru.

BUCK, DANIEL, lawyer, congressman. He was one of the earliest settlers in Vermont, and was a representative in congress from that state from 1795 to 1797. He died in 1817.

BUCK, DANIEL, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born May 15, 1857, in Boonville, N. Y. He was a member of the Minnesota house of representatives in 1866, and of the senate in 1879 and 1881; for five years member of state normal board, and four years prosecuting attorney of Blue Earth county. He was elected associate justice of the supreme court, term commencing in January, 1894.

BUCK, DANIEL AZRO A., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1789, in Vermont. He established himself as a lawyer at Chelsea, Vt., and was for fourteen years a member of the state legislature. He filled the office of state attorney for Orange county for six years; in 1821 was a presidential elector; and was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1823 to 1825, and again from 1827 to 1829. He died Dec. 24, 1841, in Washington, D. C.

BUCK, DUDLEY, organist, author, was born March 10, 1839, in Hartford, Conn. He is a composer and organist of Brooklyn. He is the author of Dictionary of Musical Terms; and The Influence of the Organ in History.

BUCK, GURDON, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 4, 1807, in New York city. He was an eminent surgeon of New York city, and wrote much for medical journals and a treatise on Contributions to Reparative Surgery. He died March 6, 1877, in New York city.

BUCK, JIRAH D., physician, author, was born Nov. 20, 1838, in Fredonia, N. Y. He has been the president of the state medical society of Ohio; was president of the American Institute of Homeopathy in 1891; and vice-president of Theosophical Society of America. He is the author of History of Man and the Way to Health.

BUCK, JOHN R., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1836, in Glastonbury, Conn. He was treasurer of the county of Hartford from 1863 to 1881; was clerk of the state house of representatives in 1865; clerk of the state senate in 1866; president of the common council of Hartford in 1868; city attorney in 1871 and 1873; state senator in 1880 and 1881; and was elected a representative from Connecticut to the forty-seventh and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

BUCK, NORMAN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 13, 1833, in Lancaster, N. Y. He served in the union army from 1862 to 1865, rising to the rank of captain. He was judge of probate for Winona county, Minn., from 1865 to 1871. In 1873 he was elected prosecuting attorney for the same county; in 1878 was appointed United States attorney for the territory of Idaho; and in 1879 was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of that territory, and was reappointed in 1884. Since 1892 he has been superior judge of Spokane county, Wash.; and in 1895 was elected commander of the Washington and Alaska Grand Army of the Republic.

BUCKALEW, CHARLES R., lawyer, diplomat, United States senator, was born Dec. 28, 1821, in Columbia county, Pa. He was prosecuting attorney for Columbia county from 1845 till 1847, and was elected to the state senate in 1850, and re-elected in 1853. He was commissioner to exchange ratifications of a treaty with Paraguay in 1854, serving as such between sessions of the legislature. He was a presidential elector in 1856; and was again elected to the state senate in 1857. He was appointed minister resident of the United States at the republic of Ecuador, which office he filled for three years. He was elected by the legislature in 1863 to the United States senate; was elected to the state senate in 1869, for the fourth time; and was the democratic candidate for governor in 1872. In 1886 he was elected president of the Bloomsburg and Sullivan railroad; and in 1872 published a volume upon Proportional Representation, and in 1883 a work upon the Constitution of Pennsylvania. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

BUCKELEY, MORGAN GARDNER, governor, was born Dec. 21, 1837, in East Haddam, Conn. During 1880-88 he was mayor of Hartford, Conn.; and in 1889-93 was governor of the state of Connecticut. Since 1879 he has been president of the Aetna Life Insurance company of Hartford, Conn.

BUCKHAM, MATTHEW H., educator, college president, was born in 1832, in England. In 1871 he was elected president of the university of Vermont. His published works have principally appeared in the form of addresses, sermons and articles in the reviews and educational journals.

BUCKHOUT, ISAAC CRAIG, civil engineer, was born in 1831, in Morrisania, N. Y. He designed the Grand Central station, as well as the improvement on Fourth avenue. He died Sept. 27, 1874, in White Plains, N. Y.

BUCKINGHAM, CATHARINUS PUTNAM, soldier, merchant, manufacturer, was born March 14, 1808, in Springfield, Ohio. He became brigadier-general of volunteers July 16, 1862, and served on special duty in the war department at Washington till 1863, when he resigned and became a merchant in New York city. From 1868 till 1873 he was occupied in building the Illinois Central grain elevators at Chicago, and rebuilding them after their destruction by the great fire. In 1873 he became president of the Chicago steel works.

BUCKINGHAM, CHARLES LUMAN, lawyer, was born Oct. 14, 1852, in Berlin Heights, Ohio. He is a leading counselor in the most recent patent contest of the Western Union Telegraph and the Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone companies. He has contributed a series of electrical articles to various magazines.

BUCKINGHAM, JOSEPH TINKER, journalist, author, was born Dec. 21, 1779, in Windham, Conn. He is a journalist of note who published in 1831-34 The New England Magazine, in which Dr. Holmes began his famous Autocrat, and the Boston Courier in 1828-48. He is the author of Specimens of Newspaper Literature; and Personal Memoirs and Recollections of Editorial Life. He died April 11, 1861, in Cambridge, Mass.

BUCKINGHAM, WILLIAM A., merchant, United States senator, governor, was born May 28, 1804, in Lebanon, Conn. He was elected mayor of Norwich in 1849, 1850, 1856, and 1857; was a presidential elector in 1856, and in 1858 was elected governor of Connecticut; re-elected for seven years, in which capacity he rendered important services in raising and forwarding troops during the progress of the rebellion. He was elected a senator in congress from Connecticut for six years, for the term commencing in 1869 and ending in 1875. He died Feb. 3, 1875, in Norwich, Conn.

BUCKLAND, CYRUS, inventor, was born Aug. 10, 1799, in Manchester, Conn. He produced his machine for making gunstocks about 1842; and is also the inventor of the machines for rifling musket barrels, for cutting the thread of the screw on the inside of the barrel, and for milling the breech-screw.

BUCKLAND, RALPH POMEROY, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1812, in Leyden, Mass. He was elected to the senate of Ohio in 1855 and 1857, serving four years. In 1861 he was appointed colonel of the seventy-second Ohio infantry, and fought in the battle of Shiloh as the commander of a brigade; and was made a brigadier-general in the winter of 1862-63, and in that capacity fought at Vicksburg. During his absence on the field in 1864 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth congress as a republican.

BUCKLES, ABRAHAM JAY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 2, 1846, in Muncie, Ind. During 1861-65 he served as a union soldier in the civil war; was color bearer in the nineteenth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry; was promoted to second lieutenant of the twentieth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry; and received a medal of honor from congress for meritorious conduct in the Wilderness battle of May 5, 1864. He was wounded in the right thigh at the battle of Bull Run; in the right shoulder at the battle of Gettysburg; in the right side at the battle of the Wilderness; and by reason of gunshot wound in battle before Petersburg, his right leg was amputated above the knee on March 25, 1865. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Fairfield, Cal.; was district attorney for five years; and superior judge of Solano county for twelve years. He is now department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and grand chancellor, Knights of Pythias.

BUCKLES, JOSEPH S., state senator, was born July 29, 1819, in Springfield, Ohio. He was one of the originators of the Lafayette, Muncie and Bloomington railroad, its attorney, and a member of its board of managers. He was also instrumental in the construction of the Fort Wayne and Southern railway. He was chosen state senator from the district composed of the counties of Grant and Delaware. In 1858 he was elected judge of the seventh judicial circuit, and served twelve years.

BUCKLEY, CHARLES W., soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1835, in Otsego, N. Y. He served as a chaplain in the union army during a part of the rebellion; and was subsequently an assistant superintendent of the Freedmen's bureau. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1867; and was elected a representative from Alabama to the fortieth, forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican.

BUCKLEY, EDWARD, soldier, lumberman, railroad president, was born Aug. 8, 1842, in England. Enlisting in the twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry, he served gallantly until the end of the war. About 1875 he became identified with lumbering interests, and in 1892 incorporated the Buckley and Douglas Lumber Co., with the senior partner as president and treasurer. Since 1886 he has been president of the Manistee and Northeastern railway.

BUCKLEY, JAMES MONROE, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Dec. 16, 1836, in Rahway, N. J. He is a methodist clergyman, and since 1881 editor of the New York Christian Advocate. He is the author of Two Weeks in the Yosemite Valley; Supposed Miracles; Christians and the Theatre; Oats or Wild Oats; The Land of the Czar and the Nihilist; Faith-Healing, Christian Science, and Kindred Phenomena; and Travels in Three Continents, Europe, Africa and Asia.

BUCKLEY, MORGAN G., soldier, banker, governor, was born Dec. 26, 1838, in East Haddam, Conn. He enlisted in the civil war; and served as a private in the thirteenth New York regiment. He was the prime factor in the formation of the United States Bank of Hartford, of which he was the first president; and in 1887 was elected governor of Connecticut.

BUCKLEY, SAMUEL BOTSFORD, naturalist, journalist, author, was born May 9, 1809, in Torrey, N. Y. He was graduated at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn. He was state geologist of Texas from 1866 till 1867, and again from 1874 till 1877, and prepared two geological maps of the state. He also published several valuable reports as state geologist. A list of his scientific papers may be found in Alumni Record of Wesleyan University. He died Feb. 18, 1884, in Austin, Texas.

BUCKLEY, THOMAS, merchant, philanthropist, was born Jan. 29, 1771, in Bristol, Pa. He was president of the Bank of America, and secretary of the first free school society in New York city. He died April 28, 1846.

BUCKLIN, JAMES W., lawyer, state legislator, was born Nov. 13, 1856, in Big Rock, Ill. He was the first to take an active part in securing the Australian ballot and woman's suffrage in Colorado. For many years he has advocated the municipal ownership of water works; and he was largely instrumental in the erection of a quarter million dollar plant at Grand Junction, Colo., to bring water from the mountains to that city; which plant will be owned and operated by the city government. He has been county and city attorney of Grand Junction; and served with distinction as a member of the Colorado state legislature.

BUCKLIN, WILLIAM SAVERY, artist, was born in 1851 in Red Bank, N. J. He has attained prominence as a water color painter.

BUCKLYN, JOHN KNIGHT, soldier, educator, lecturer, poet, was born in March, 1834, in Providence, R. I. He received his education at the Greenwich and Smithfield academies, and the Brown university. He served for nearly four years in the civil war, and was captain of the Rhode Island light battery. For twenty-eight years he has been principal of the M. V. institute of Mystic, Conn.; and was pastor of the North Stonington baptist church. He has lectured extensively, and contributed both prose and verse to periodical literature.

BUCKMINSTER, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 14, 1751, in Rutland, Vt. He was ordained in 1779, as pastor of the North church in Portsmouth, N. H. He published about twenty-five sermons and a short sketch of Dr. McClintock, and was part author of the Piscataqua River Prayer Book. He died June 10, 1812, in Readsboro, Vt.

BUCKMINSTER, JOSEPH STEVENS, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born May 26, 1784, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a talented unitarian clergyman of Boston, and the first appointed lecturer on biblical criticism at Harvard university. He is the author of Sermons, with Memoir by S. C. Thacher. He died June 9, 1812, in Portsmouth, N. H.

BUCKMINSTER, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Dec. 15, 1736, in Framingham, Mass. He commanded the minute men in 1774; was lieutenant colonel of Brewer's regiment at Bunker Hill; and received there a wound that crippled him for life. He died June 22, 1786.

BUCKMINSTER, WILLIAM J., journalist, was born in 1813, in Maine. He was a son of the founder of the Massachusetts Ploughman, and was for twenty-one years one of its editors and publishers. He died March 2, 1878, in Malden, Mass.

BUCKNER, ALEXANDER, United States senator, was born in Indiana. He was a member of the Missouri convention which formed the constitution of that state; served several years in the state legislature; and was a senator in congress from Missouri from 1831 to 1833. He died June 15, 1832, in St. Louis, Mo.

BUCKNER, AYLETT HAWES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1817, in Fredericksburg, Va. He was chosen attorney for the bank of the state of Missouri in 1852; in 1854 was appointed commissioner of public works; and in 1857 was elected judge of the third judicial circuit. He was elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

BUCKNER, AYLITT, congressman, was born in Greensburg, Ky. He was a member of the house of representatives of the state in 1842 and 1843; and was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1847 to 1849.

BUCKNER, RICHARD A., congressman, was born in 1763, in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1823 to 1829; and a presidential elector in 1841. He died Dec. 8, 1847, in Greensburg, Ky.

BUCKNER, RICHARD AYLETT, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 21, 1849, in Owenton, Ky. At the age of fourteen he was elected captain of the governor's guards, a gallant young company of Kentuckians of some historical renown, and took part in the defense of Frankfort in the latter part of 1863. In 1876 he was admitted to the bar; and since 1884 has practiced his profession at Dermott, Ark., after having lived several years in the states of Missouri and Kentucky. In 1880 and 1884 he was a delegate to the national republican conventions; and in 1895 was nominated state senator from the fifteenth senatorial district of Arkansas.

BUCKNER, SIMON BOLIVAR, lawyer, general, governor, was born in 1823, in Kentucky. He was graduated at the United States military academy in 1844. He was superintendent of construction of the Chicago custom house in 1855. In 1864, he issued from Russellville an address to the people of Kentucky, calling on them to take up arms against the usurpation of Abraham Lincoln, after which he occupied Bowling Green. He was made a major-general, and was in the battles of Murfreesboro and Chickamauga, and surrendered with Kirby Smith's army. He was elected governor of Kentucky in 1887.

BUCKSTAFF, GEORGE A., lawyer, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Dec. 22, 1861, in Oshkosh, Wis. He was elected to the Wisconsin assembly in 1894, and was re-elected to the assembly in 1896. He was elected speaker of the assembly, session of 1897.

BUCKWALTER, MARY E., educator, poet, was born Oct. 31, 1845, in Lancaster county, Pa. She has been engaged in educational work since her youth, and has attained eminent success. She is the author of a number of very fine poems, many of which have been incorporated into standard works.

BUDD, HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 12, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Leading Cases on the American Law of Real Property, and of various law reports and articles in current law publications.

BUDD, JAMES HERBERT, lawyer, congressman, was born May 18, 1851, in Janesville, Wis. He was a member of the governor's staff from 1875 to 1879; served as United States commissioner for several years, and was also deputy district attorney of his county. In 1882 he was nominated for congressman and was elected a representative from California to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

BUEHRLE, ROBERT KOCH, educator, author, was born Sept. 24, 1840, in Germany. He displayed great ability in the organization and management of a graded system of education; was superintendent of the schools of Allentown, Pa.; and is the author of a work entitled Grammatical Praxis.

BUEL, ALEXANDER H., merchant, congressman, was born in Fairfield, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1850 to 1853. He died Jan. 30, 1853, in Washington, D. C.

BUEL, ALEXANDER W., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1813, in Rutland county, Vt. In 1836 he was attorney for the city of Detroit; in 1837 was elected to the state legislature; in 1843 and 1844 was prosecuting attorney for Wayne county; and in 1847 was again elected to the legislature. From 1849 to 1851 he was a representative in congress from Michigan. He died April 17, 1868, in Detroit, Mich.

BUEL, CLARENCE CLOUGH, journalist, author. He was assistant editor of the Century magazine; associate editor of the Century's War History, and a writer of thoughtful, polished prose and verse.

BUEL, DON CARLOS, soldier, manufacturer, was born March 23, 1818, near Marietta, Ohio. He was an officer of note in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars. He graduated from West Point military academy in 1841. In 1861 he received the appointment of brigadier-general of volunteers, and in 1862 became major-general of volunteers. In 1865 he became president of the Green River Iron works; and subsequently held, until 1890, the office of pension agent at Louisville, Ky.

BUEL, JAMES WILLIAM, author, was born Oct. 22, 1849, in Galesburg, Ill. He was employed as a reporter and editorial writer on various Kansas City and St. Louis newspapers. He is the author of The World's Wonders; Sea and Land; The Beautiful Story, and various other books.

BUEL, JESSE, agriculturist, journalist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1778, in Coventry, Conn. He was a noted agriculturist of Albany, who effected many reforms in farming. He established the Albany Argus, The Cultivator, and published The Farmer's Instructor, in ten volumes; and also The Farmer's Companion, or Essays in Husbandry. He died Oct. 6, 1839, in Danbury, Conn.

BUEL, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born in 1815, in New York. He was an episcopal clergyman of high church proclivities, and professor of divinity at the General Theological seminary of New York from 1871. He was the author of The Apostolic System Defended; Eucharistic Presence, Sacrifice and Adoration; and A Treatise on Dogmatic Theology. He died in 1892.

BUELL, ABEL, manufacturer, mechanic, inventor, was born about 1750, in Killingworth, Conn. After the war he was employed by the state in coining coppers; for which he made all the apparatus. He then visited England, where he gained some knowledge of the machinery used in the manufacture of cloth, and, on his return, erected a cotton factory in New Haven, one of the first in the country. He died about 1825, in New Haven, Conn.

BUELL, RICHARD HOOKER, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 9, 1842, in Cumberland, Md. He is the author of The Cadet Engineer; Safety Valves; and The Compound Steam Engine and its Steam Generating Plant.

BUFFINGTON, ADELBERT R., soldier, inventor, was born Nov. 22, 1837, in Wheeling, Va. He has perfected the following inventions: A magazine fire-arm; carriages for light and heavy guns; parts of models of 1884 Springfield rifles, and several mechanical devices. He also introduced the gas-forging furnaces and improved methods, simplifying and reducing the cost of manufacture, at the national armory, of Springfield rifles, and was the originator of the nitre and manganese method of bluing iron.

BUFFINGTON, JOSEPH, jurist, was appointed chief justice of the United States court in Utah, in 1850, and was the first who held that position.

BUFFINGTON, JOSEPH, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1847.

BUFFINTON, JAMES, merchant, congressman, was born March 16, 1817, in Fall River, Mass. He was mayor of the city of Fall River during the years 1854 and 1855. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses; was also re-elected to the thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, and forty-fourth congresses, as a republican. He died July 7, 1875, at Fall River, Mass.

BUFFUM, ARNOLD, philanthropist, was born in 1782, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a noted lecturer on the anti-slavery cause, and his lectures were a good beginning, and he exerted a wholesome influence. He died March 13, 1859.

BUFFUM, BURT C., agriculturist, scientist, was born April 7, 1868, in South Bend, Ind. He attended the Colorado Agricultural college; and is now professor of agriculture and horticulture in the University of Wyoming; and vice-director of the experiment station. He has made some important discoveries in science; and is quoted as an authority on irrigation.

BUFFUM, EDWARD GOULD, journalist, author, was born about 1820 in Rhode Island. He served on the Pacific side of Mexico, and at the close of the war returned to California and took an active part in the explorations for gold. He published Six Months in the Gold Mines. He died Oct. 24, 1867, in Paris, France.

BUFFUM, JOSEPH, JR., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 23, 1784, in Fitchburg, Mass. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1819 to 1821.

BUFFORD, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1825 in Kentucky. He served in the civil war; was subsequently assigned to the command of the army of the Cumberland, when he was taken sick and died, on the date of the receipt of his commission as major-general. He died Dec. 16, 1863, in Washington, D. C.

BUFORD, NAPOLEON B., soldier, was born Jan. 13, 1807, in Kentucky. He served in the civil war, received the brevet title of major-general of volunteers March 13, and was mustered out of the service on Aug. 24, 1865. He died March 28, 1883.

BUGBEE, LUCIUS HALEN, educator, college president, was born Nov. 25, 1830, in Gowanda, N. Y. He graduated from Amherst in 1854, became a teacher, and was ordained a minister in the methodist episcopal church. He was principal of Fayette seminary, Iowa, in 1857-60; pastor of a church in Chicago, Ill., in 1861-63; president of the Northwestern Female college at Evanston, Ill., in 1865-68; of Cincinnati Wesleyan college in 1868-75; and afterward of Alleghany college, Meadville, Pa.

BUGG, ROBERT M., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1853 to 1855.

BUHL, THEODORE D., capitalist, banker, was born Aug. 20, 1844, in Detroit, Mich. He is president of the Michigan Malleable Iron Co.; and the Buhl Stamping Co. Mr. Buhl was one of the organizers of the Peninsular Car Co., and its president the first four years.

BUIST, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born in 1770, in Scotland. He was educated at Edinburgh university, attained great proficiency in philology, was called to a church in Charleston in 1793, and in 1805 became principal of the college in that city. He published an abridgment of Hume's History for schools, and a version of the Psalms; and contributed to the British Encyclopædia. A volume of his sermons, with a memoir, was published in 1809.

BUIST, HENRY, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 25, 1829, in Charleston, S. C. He served several times in the house of representatives of South Carolina; was state senator; and during the civil war entered the confederate army as captain of infantry. He died June 9, 1887, in Charleston, S. C.

BUIST, JOHN ROBINSON, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 13, 1834, in Charleston, S. C. In 1860 he settled in Nashville, Tenn.; and for four years was a surgeon in the confederate service. He has since practiced his profession with success in Nashville; was at one time professor of oval surgery in the Vanderbilt university; was also professor of surgery in the university of the South; and is at present professor of neurology in the medical department of the Vanderbilt university; and a prolific contributor to various medical journals.

BULFINCH, CHARLES, architect, was born Aug. 8, 1763. In 1793 he built the first theater in Boston. He drew the plans for the state house and city hall in Boston, for the capitol at Washington, for Faneuil hall, and designed as many as forty churches and other buildings in New England cities. He was the architect of the national capitol from 1817 until it was completed in 1830. He died April 15, 1884, in Boston, Mass.

BULFINCH, ELLEN SUSAN, artist, author, was born Oct. 11, 1844, in Framingham, Mass., and is the daughter of the Rev. Stephen Greenleaf Bulfinch. She is the author of The Life and Letters of her grandfather, Charles Bulfinch, the pioneer of American architects; the designer of the state house of Boston, and under whose charge the capitol at Washington was completed in 1830.

BULFINCH, STEPHEN GREENLEAF, clergyman, author, poet, was born June 8, 1809, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Poems, Lays of the Gospel, Communion Thoughts; Contemplations of the Saviour; The Holy Land and Its Inhabitants; The Harp and the Cross; Honour, or the Slave Dealer's Daughter; Manual of the Evidences of Christianity; and Studies in the Evidences of Christianity. He died Oct. 12, 1870, in Cambridge, Mass.

BULFINCH, THOMAS, banker, author, was born July 15, 1796, in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston banker, whose leisure was devoted to literary pursuits. He was the author of Hebrew Lyrical History; The Age of Fable; The Age of Chivalry; Boy Inventors; Legends of Charlemagne; Poetry of the Age of Fable; Oregon and Eldorado, or Romance of the Rivers. He died May 27, 1867, in Boston, Mass.

BULKELEY, ELIPHALET ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, was born June 29, 1803, in Colchester, Conn. In 1857 he was a second time elected to the state legislature, becoming speaker of the house. During the latter portion of his life he was interested in the business of life insurance, and associated in the organizing of both the Connecticut Mutual company, becoming its first president, and the Etna Life Insurance company. He died Feb. 13, 1872, in Hartford, Conn.

BULKELEY, MORGAN GARDINER, financier, was born Dec. 26, 1838, in Hartford, Conn. On the death of his father he became president of the United States bank of Hartford, Conn., and later was elected to the presidency of the Etna Life Insurance company. He is prominent in Connecticut politics as a republican, and has four times been elected mayor of Hartford.

BULKLEY, FRANK, mining engineer, legislator, was born July 10, 1857, in Washington, Iowa. He received his education in Michigan, and has attained success as a noted mining engineer in Colorado. He is the general manager of the New Pittsburgh Mining company of Leadville; the Grand River Coal and Coke company of Garfield; the Aspen Mining and Smelting company; the Regent Mine; and the Bushwhacker Mining company; and various other mining companies. He has served with distinction as a representative in the Colorado state legislature, and has taken an active part in the public affairs of that state.

BULKLEY, HENRY DAGGETT, physician, author, was born April 20, 1803, in New Haven, Conn. He was a member of medical societies and some time president of the New York County Medical society and of the New York Academy of Medicine. Dr. Bulkley edited the American editions of Cazenave and Schedel's Manual of Diseases of the Skin; and Gregory's Eruptive Fevers.

BULKLEY, PETER, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1583, in England. He is a congregational clergyman of Concord, Mass. His one work, The Gospel Covenant, or The Covenant of Grace Opened, is a ponderous series of sermons notable for its intellectual vigor. He died March 9, 1659, in Concord, Mass.

BULL, CHARLES HENRY, railroad president, was born Dec. 16, 1822, in Hartford, Conn. Since 1888 he has been president of the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City railway.

BULL, HENRY, governor of Rhode Island, was born in 1609, in South Wales. He early emigrated to America, and after a short residence in Massachusetts, with a party of seventeen, purchased land and settled in Newport about 1638. In 1685 and in 1689 he was governor. He died in 1693, in Rhode Island.

BULL, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1833 to 1835.

BULL, JOHN, congressman. He was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress from 1784 to 1787.

BULL, JOHN, physician, was born in 1813, in Shelby county, Ky. He was doubtless the most successful compounder of what are known as patent medicines in America. Although connected with the proprietary medicine business for many years, his final fortune was gathered during the last ten years of his life, his income at that time being greater than that of any other man in Kentucky. He died April 26, 1875, in Louisville, Ky.

BULL, LORENZO, prominent business man, was born March 21, 1819, in Hartford, Conn. With the best interests of Quincy, Ill., he has always been identified; and, jointly with his son, is now proprietor of the Quincy water works. He is also president of the State Savings, Loan and Trust Co.

BULL, MELVILLE, congressman, was born in 1854, in Newport, R. I. He was a member of the state legislature in 1883-85; senator in 1885-92; lieutenant-governor in 1892-94; member of republican state central committee in 1885 to 1895; and was delegate to the republican national convention in 1888. He took an active part in establishing the naval reserve militia of the state; and has been one of the board of managers of the Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts and Experiment station since its establishment in 1888. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

BULL, ORVILLE AUGUSTUS, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 29, 1849, in LaGrange, Ga. He was a member of the Georgia state legislature; and has been prominent in the educational and political affairs of his state.

BULL, WILLIAM LANMAN, stock broker, was born Aug. 23, 1844, in New York city. He has been twice president of the New York Stock Exchange; and is a director of the Northern Pacific railroad.

BULLARD, ASA, clergyman, author, was born March 26, 1804, in Northbridge, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Massachusetts, long prominent in Sunday-school work. His principal writings are Sunnybank Stories; Shady Dell Stories; Fifty Years with the Sabbath School; and Incidents in a Busy Life, an autobiography. He died in 1888.

BULLARD, E. F., educator, college president, was born May 1, 1840, in Jay, N. Y. He graduated from the University of Vermont in 1864; and subsequently became president of the Jacksonville Female academy, of Illinois.

BULLARD, HENRY ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1781, in Groton, Mass. In 1831 he was chosen a representative in congress from Louisiana, and served until 1834; and was then elevated to the supreme bench of Louisiana, and filled the office until 1846. In 1847 he was appointed professor of the civil law in the Law School of Louisiana, and delivered two courses of lectures. In 1850 he was elected to the legislature; and was subsequently chosen a member of congress to fill a vacancy. He died April 17, 1851, in New Orleans, La.

BULLIONS, PETER, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 1, 1791, in Scotland. He was a united presbyterian clergyman of Troy, N. Y., well known as a classical scholar. Among his text books for schools are Principles of English Grammar; Principles of Greek Grammar; and Latin and English Dictionary. He died Feb. 13, 1864, in Troy, N. Y.

BULLIS, SPENCER S., railroad president, was born July 7, 1849, in East Aurora, N. Y. Since 1894 he has been president of the Buffalo, Attica and Arcade railroad.

BULLITT, ALEXANDER SCOTT, legislator, lieutenant-governor, was born in 1761, in Prince William county, Va. He was president of the Kentucky senate for several years; and in 1799 was president of the convention to amend the state constitution. He was lieutenant-governor from 1800 to 1804; and was again in the legislature until 1808. He died April 13, 1816, in Jefferson county, Ky.

BULLOCH, ARCHIBALD, lawyer, public official, was born about 1730, in Charleston, S. C. In 1775 he was elected a member of the provincial congress, and became its president, and during the following year he was again called upon to preside over the second provincial congress, and sent as a delegate to the continental congress meeting at Philadelphia. He was chosen first republican president of Georgia, holding that office from 1776 till 1777, when the state constitution came into existence. Governor Bulloch was one of the most eminent men of his time, and had great influence in shaping the course of his state. He died Feb. 22, 1777, in Savannah, Ga.

BULLOCH, JAMES R., jurist, was born in Rhode Island. He was appointed a judge of the United States court for that district.

BULLOCH, WILLIAM BELLINGER, lawyer, banker, United States senator, was born in 1776, in Savannah, Ga. In 1809 he was elected mayor of Savannah. Subsequently he became collector of the port, and during the war of 1812 served in the Savannah heavy artillery. He was appointed to fill a vacancy in the United States senate. From 1816 to 1843 he was president of the state bank of Georgia, having been one of the founders of that institution. He died March 6, 1852, in Savannah, Ga.

BULLOCK, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, lawyer, state senator, governor, author, was born March 2, 1816, in Royalston, Mass. He was a member of the legislature in 1845, 1847, 1848, 1861, and 1862; state senator in 1849; and commissioner of insolvency in 1853. He was judge of insolvency from 1856 to 1858; mayor of Worcester in 1859; and governor of Massachusetts from 1866 to 1869. He was the author of Intellectual Leaderships, and several addresses and speeches. He died Jan. 17, 1882, in Worcester, Mass.

BULLOCK, ARCHIBALD, congressman. He was a delegate from Georgia to the continental congress from 1775 to 1776.

BULLOCK, ARCHIBALD, congressman, governor, was born about 1730, in Charleston, S. C. In 1772 was elected a member of the provincial general assembly of Georgia; in 1775 and 1776 was elected member and president of the Georgia provincial congresses; and from 1776-77 was chosen governor of Georgia. He died Feb. 22, 1777, in Savannah, Ga.

BULLOCK, CAROLINE, educator, author, was born Oct. 27, 1845, in Baltimore, Md. She is the widow of Captain Walter R. Bullock, and the founder of the Wilford Home School for girls, which was established twenty years ago, and of which she is still principal. She is the author of several educational works.

BULLOCK, CHARLES, educator, college president, author, was born in 1826, in Wilmington, Del. Since 1885 he has been president of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. He is the author of a work entitled Alkaloids of Veratrum Viridie.

BULLOCK, JONATHAN RUSSELL, lawyer, state senator, lieutenant-governor, was born Sept. 6, 1815, in Bristol, R. I. In 1844 and the two succeeding years he was chosen first representative to the general assembly from the town of Bristol. In 1859 he was elected to the state senate, and in 1860 was chosen lieutenant-governor.

BULLOCK, ROBERT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1828, in Oxford, N. C. In 1862 he went into the war as lieutenant colonel of the seventh regiment Florida volunteers, and remained until the close of the war; and was promoted to brigadier-general in 1864. He was elected judge of probate during Johnson's reconstruction, and was appointed judge of county criminal courts by the governor. He was a Tilden elector in 1876; was elected to the legislature in 1879; and was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat. In 1897 he was appointed judge of the county court.

BULLOCK, RUFUS BROWN, business man, governor, was born March 28, 1834, in Bethlehem, N. Y. He formed the Southern Express company, and became one of its active managers. During the civil war he continued this occupation under the direction of the confederate government, establishing railroads and telegraph lines on interior routes. After the cessation of hostilities, Mr. Bullock resumed the management of express affairs, and was elected one of the trustees and secretary of the Southern Express company. Its present magnitude is largely due to his management at that time. He was also associated in the organization of the first national bank of Georgia, and was elected its president. Governor Bullock continued his residence in Georgia, and became president of one of the largest cotton mills in Atlanta. He has taken no public part in politics since his resignation of the office of governor.

BULLOCK, STEPHEN, jurist, congressman, was born in 1735, in Massachusetts. He was a member of the convention which formed the constitution of that state; frequently served in the state legislature; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1797 to 1799. He subsequently became judge of the common pleas for Bristol county; served in the state senate, and was a member of the executive council of Massachusetts. He died in 1816, in Massachusetts.

BULLOCK, THOMAS SEAMAN, railroad builder, was born Jan. 1, 1853, in Shelbyville, Ind. He built the Prescott and Arizona Central railroad, which connected the capital of the territory with the Atlantic and Pacific railroad. He also undertook the construction of the Monterey and Mexican Gulf railroad, which was completed in 1891.

BULLOCK, WILLIAM A., inventor, was born in 1813, in Greenville, N. Y. He gave his energies to the problem of constructing a printing press that should embody in one machine accurate self-adjustment and feeding, perfecting, or printing on both sides, with the highest rate of speed. He was successful in accomplishing all these objects, and the Bullock web perfecting press revolutionized the art of press building. Subsequent modifications and improvements have brought the delivery up to thirty thousand an hour. He died April 14, 1867, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BULLOCK, WINGFIELD, state senator, congressman. He was elected a member of the Kentucky senate from Shelby county from 1812 to 1814; resigned in 1813; and was elected a representative in congress from Kentucky for the years 1820 and 1821. He died Oct. 13, 1821.

BUMP, ORLANDO FRANKLIN, lawyer, author, was born in 1841, in New York. He is a Baltimore lawyer, and the author of The Law and Practice of Bankruptcy.

BUMSTEAD, FREEMAN JOSIAH, physician, author, was born April 21, 1826, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of Pathology and Treatment of Venereal Diseases; and translations from the French of Ricord and Cullerier. He died Nov. 28, 1879, in Boston, Mass.

BUMSTEAD, HORACE, soldier, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Sept. 29, 1841, in Boston, Mass. During 1864-65 he was a major of the forty-third regiment United States colored troops, and served in Virginia and Texas. He has attained eminence as a clergyman and educator, and is now president of the Atlanta University of Georgia.

BUMSTEAD, SAMUEL JOSIAH, surgeon, oculist, author, was born June 13, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was assistant surgeon of the twenty-ninth Illinois volunteer infantry; served three years during the civil war; and became second sergeant in company B, one hundred and eighth Illinois volunteer infantry. He is the author of two books: Riversom; and The Peacemaker of Bourbon.

BUNCE, OLIVER BELL, journalist, author, was born Feb. 8, 1828, in New York city. He was the editor of Appleton's Journal for the period of its existence, and well known as the author of Don't, a small volume of social negations which was widely circulated. He wrote also Bachelor Bluff, his Opinions, a volume of essays; My House; Marco Bozzaris, a drama; Love in '76, a comedy; Romance of the Revolution; four stories, including Life Before Him; Bently; A Bachelor's Story; The Adventures of Timias Terrystone; and Happinolande and Other Legends, a collection of sketches. He died May 15, 1890, in New York city.

BUNCE, WILLIAM GEDNEY, landscape painter, was born Sept. 19, 1842, in Hartford, Conn. His principal paintings are Approach to Venice; Twilight in Holland; Watch Hill, Rhode Island; Sackett Hillside, New England; Among the Sail, Venice; Bit of Harbor, Venice; Venetian Day; and Venetian Night.

BUNCH, SAMUEL, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 4, 1786, in Granger county, Tenn. He commanded a regiment in the Indian war, under General Andrew Jackson, and, in the charge of the battle of the Horseshoe, was the first or second man over the breastworks of the enemy. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1833 to 1837. He died Sept. 5, 1849, in Rutledge, Tenn.

BUNDY, HEZEKIAH SANFORD, merchant, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 17, 1817, in Marietta, Ohio. He was in the mercantile business as clerk and proprietor from 1835 to 1846; after that turned his attention to farming, and in 1854 became connected with the furnace business; during all these avocations he studied law, and came to the bar in 1850. He was elected to the state legislature in 1848; re-elected in 1850; in 1855 was chosen a state senator; and was a presidential elector in 1860. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-ninth congress, and to the fifty-third to fill a vacancy.

BUNDY, JONAS MILLS, journalist, author, was born in 1835 in New Hampshire. He was a New York journalist, and prominent as editor of the Mail and Express from 1868. He was also the author of State Rights; Are we a Nation?; and Life of Garfield. He died in 1891.

BUNDY, SOLOMON, lawyer, congressman, was born May 22, 1823, in Oxford, N. Y. He was district attorney of Chenango county from 1862 to 1865; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth congress.

BUNGAY, GEORGE WASHINGTON, journalist, author, poet, was born Nov. 28, 1826, in England. He was a New York journalist well known as a temperance lecturer. He wrote many poems, among which The Creeds of the Bells has long been popular. His other writings include The Abraham Lincoln Songster; The Poets of Queen Elizabeth's Time; Off-hand Takings; Crayon Sketches; and Pen Portraits of Illustrious Abstainers. He died July 10, 1892, in Bloomfield, N. J.

BUNKER, RUFUS A. W., educator, clergyman, lecturer, was born Oct. 23, 1844, in Roxbury, Maine. During the war he served as a soldier in the fifth regiment Maine battery. In 1871 he graduated from the New Hampshire conference seminary and female college; and in 1874 from the School of Theology of the Boston university. He has attained success as a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church; has lectured extensively; and is the author of several hymns and numerous religious articles.

BUNN, BENJAMIN H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 19, 1844, near Rocky Mount, N. C. At the age of sixteen he enlisted in the confederate army; commanded fourth company sharpshooters, MacRae's brigade, army of Northern Virginia; and was twice wounded. He was a member of the state constitutional convention in 1875; was a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1880; and was a member of the state legislature in 1883. He was presidential elector in 1884; and was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second, and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

BUNN, HENRY GASTON, soldier, state senator, jurist, was born June 12, 1838, in Nash county, N. C. He served in the confederate army throughout the war; was third lieutenant, adjutant, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel of the fourth Arkansas infantry in the army of the Tennessee. In 1873-74 he served as state senator; and was a member of the constitutional convention of 1874. He was special judge of the circuit and supreme court, and since 1893 has been chief justice of the supreme court of Arkansas, his term expiring in October, 1904.

BUNN, JACOB FREDERICK, lawyer, jurist, was born June 6, 1847, in Bellevue, Ohio. This eminent lawyer has filled various high offices; and during 1879-85 was probate judge of Seneca county, Ohio.

BUNN, ROMANZO, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Sept. 24, 1829, in South Hartwick, N. Y. In 1859 he was elected a representative in the Wisconsin state legislature; was elected circuit judge of the sixth judicial circuit for the term of six years, and was re-elected. In 1877 he was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Wisconsin.

BUNNELL, FRANK C., soldier, banker, lawyer, congressman, was born March 19, 1842, in Luzerne county, Pa. He enlisted in the union army as a private of the fifty-second regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers; and was made quartermaster's sergeant in 1862. In 1872 he was elected a representative in congress to fill a vacancy; in 1875 was elected president of Wyoming county agricultural society and continued to be re-elected each year. He was a member of the board of education from 1881 to 1884; in 1881 was appointed a member of the Pennsylvania Bi-Centennial association; in 1883 was elected treasurer of Tunkhannock for one year; and was burgess in 1883 and 1884. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

BUNNELL, LAFAYETTE HOUGHTON, soldier, author. He served in the Mexican war; was a pioneer in California in 1849; and was one of the discoverers of the Yosemite valley, and was in the Indian war of 1851. He is a resident of Minnesota, and the author of Winona and Its Environs.

BUNNER, HENRY CUYLER, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1855, in New York. He is a New York journalist, the editor of Puck, and well known as a writer of graceful, delicate verse and very readable fiction. He is the author of Jersey Street and Jersey Lane; Love in Old Clothes; Zadoc Pine and Other Stories; The Story of a New York House; The Midge; In Partnership (with J. B. Matthews); Short Sixes, a collection of humorous tales; and The Woman of Honour. His verse includes Airs from Arcady and Elsewhere; Rowen, second crop songs.

BUNNER, RUDOLPH, congressman, was born in 1779. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1827 to 1829. He died July 23, 1837, in Otsego, N. Y.

BUNTING, THOMAS L., merchant, banker, congressman, was born in 1844, in Eden, N. Y. He is president of the New York Packers' association, and state president of the National Packers' association; is president of the Hamburg Water and Electric Light company, and Investment and Improvement company; is one of the city and county hall commissioners; is a member of the Erie County Farmers' institute; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BUNTON, FREDERICK HENRY, educator, clergyman, was born Aug. 13, 1860, in Pass Christian, Miss. He received his education in the New Orleans university, and has received the degrees of A. M., Ph. D. For several years he was principal of the high school in Summit, Mass.; and professor of mathematics in the New Orleans university. This eminent clergyman of the methodist episcopal church is secretary of the upper Mississippi conference, and fills a pastorate in Starkville.

BURBANKS, FRANK E., man of affairs, was born April 10, 1852, in Louisville, Ky. He received his education at the Olivet college of Michigan, in which state he has attained success in the insurance business at Minden City. He has taken great interest in the public affairs of his county and state, and filled several important positions of honor.

BURBAULT, J. E., soldier, legislator, was born Aug. 20, 1822, in Hanover, Pa. He participated in the Kansas troubles in 1857 with Lane, John Brown and others; and was one of the original founders of Falls City, Neb. He was instrumental in passing the bill to abolish slavery in the territory of Nebraska in 1859; and served as paymaster in 1863. He was appointed in the regular army and served on the frontier during the rebellion, retiring through disability in 1875. He has also served with distinction as member of the Nebraska legislature.

BURBECK, HENRY, soldier, was born June 8, 1754, in Boston, Mass. He served as major in the revolutionary war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general in the war of 1812. He died Oct. 2, 1848, in New London, Conn.

BURBRIDGE, STEPHEN GANO, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 19, 1831, in Scott county, Ky. General Burbridge was conspicuous at the capture of Port Gibson, and was among the first to enter the place. Later he was placed in command of the military district of Kentucky, and defeated General John H. Morgan on his raid, driving him into Tennessee. For this service he received the thanks of President Lincoln, and in 1864 the brevet of major-general.

BURCH, WILLIAM THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 6, 1844, in Meade county, Ky. He served through the civil war as a private under General N. D. Forrest of the confederate service. For four years he was justice of the peace in his native county; and now successfully practices law in Louisville, Ky.

BURCHARD, HORATIO C., merchant, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 22, 1825, in Marshall, N. Y. He was engaged in mercantile business; and was school commissioner in Stephenson county, Ill., from 1857 to 1860. He was a member of the legislature in 1866; and was elected to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third and forty-fifth congresses. In 1879, he was appointed director of the United States mint; and in 1885-86 was revenue commissioner for the state of Illinois.

BURCHARD, SAMUEL D., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 17, 1836, in Leyden, N. Y. He was engaged in the manufacturing of woolen goods; was a lieutenant in the Missouri militia during the rebellion; was appointed a captain in the volunteer service, and as quartermaster was assigned to duty in New York, where he had charge of the purchase of forage for the seaboard armies; and was mustered out of service as a major. He returned to Wisconsin; and was elected to the state senate in 1872; and in 1874 was elected a representative to the forty-fourth congress.

BURCHARD, SAMUEL DICKINSON, clergyman, was born Sept. 6, 1812, in Steuben, N. Y. He was very successful as a pastor and lecturer, and was at different times chancellor of Ingham university and president of Rutgers female college. He stigmatized the democrats as the party of Rum, Romanism, and Rebellion. He died Sept. 25, 1891, in Saratoga, N. Y.

BURD, GEORGE, congressman, was born in 1794. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania, from 1831 to 1835. He died Jan. 13, 1844, in Bedford, Pa.

BURDEN, JAMES ABERCROMBIE, manufacturer, inventor, was born Jan. 6, 1833, in Troy, N. Y. He became president of the Burden Iron company of Troy and New York. He has obtained eighteen patents for inventions of his own for machines used in the manufacture of iron, one of the most important being that for making horse and mule shoes, this machine producing seventy finished shoes per minute, punched with holes and prepared in every other way, ready for the horse's foot. In 1883 he became president of the Hudson River Ore and Iron company. His iron foundries and machine shops give employment to three thousand men. He has declined nominations as mayor of Troy, member of congress, and other offices, but has been twice a presidential elector.

BURDETT, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born in 1815, in New York. He was the author of Life of Kit Carson; The Second Marriage; The Beautiful Spy; Margaret Moncrieffe; Emma; or The Lost Found; Marion Desmond; The Gambler; The Adopted Child; Trials and Triumphs; Never too Late; and Chances and Changes.

BURDETT, SAMUEL S., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 21, 1836, in England. In 1861 he entered the volunteer army as a private, and in 1864 was promoted to captain. He was a presidential elector in 1864 from Iowa; in 1865 emigrated to St. Clair county, Mo.; in 1866 was made circuit attorney for the seventh judicial district; and was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1868. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-first congress; and in 1874 he was appointed commissioner of the general land office in Washington.

BURDETTE, ROBERT JONES, journalist, author, lecturer, was born July 30, 1844, in Greensborough, Pa. After serving as a private through the war he returned to Peoria, where he was employed as clerk in the postoffice. Subsequently he became a proof-reader on the Peoria Transcript, and later filled the position of night editor on the same newspaper. In 1874 he was engaged on the Burlington Hawkeye, where he soon gained for himself and the journal a world-wide reputation. Ten years later he left the editorial staff of the Hawkeye and engaged himself with the Brooklyn Eagle. The greatest success of Mr. Burdette has been as a lecturer; several of his humorous books, however, have attained fair circulations. His principal works are Hawkeyes; Rise and Fall of the Mustache; Innach Garden and Other Comic Sketches; and Life of William Penn.

BURDICK, CHARLES WILLIAMS, lawyer, public official, legislator, was born Aug. 15, 1860, in Toledo, Ohio. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the west at Cheyenne, Wyo. He was a member of the Wyoming constitutional convention; a member of the upper house in the eleventh territorial legislature; has been state auditor; and filled with distinction the office of secretary of state.

BURDICK, THEODORE WELD, soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1836, in Evansburg, Pa. He was deputy treasurer and recorder of Winneshiek county from 1854 until 1857, and treasurer and recorder from 1857 until 1862, when he resigned to recruit a company for the union army. He was commissioned a captain, and served throughout the war. After being mustered out he returned to Decorah and became cashier of the First national bank of that place; and was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

BURFORD, JOHN H., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 29, 1852, in Parke county, Ind. He is associate justice of the supreme court at El Reno, O. T.; and for a number of years was registrar of land office at Oklahoma City.

BURGDORF, AUGUST C., educator, college president, was born July 12, 1838, in Germany. He has taught school in Illinois and Missouri, and for a number of years was principal of the Lutheran academy of St. Louis, Mo., which position he resigned to become president of Walther college of the same city.

BURGDORFF, WILLIAM F., merchant, was born March 19, 1846, in Germany. He attended the public schools and the Blackburn university. He is a successful merchant of Carlinville, Ill., of which city he has been mayor; and is president of the Carlinville national bank. In 1896 he was the republican candidate for state senator for the thirty-sixth district.

BURGER, LOUIS, soldier, architect, was born Feb. 6, 1821, in Bavaria. In 1854 he organized the engineer corps of the fifth regiment of the New York state national guards, and was elected captain. During the civil war he commanded his regiment in the short campaign of 1861. He died May 25, 1871, in New York city.

BURGES, GIDEON ALBERT, clergyman, college president, author, was born May 29, 1854, in Providence, R. I. He is the president of Parker college of Winnebago City, Minn., and the author of The Free Baptist Cyclopaedia.

BURGES, TRISTAM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1770, in Rochester, Mass. In 1818 he was elected chief justice of Rhode Island; occupied the chair of oratory in Brown university; and was a representative in congress from Rhode Island from 1825 to 1835. He died Oct. 13, 1853, in Providence, R. I.

BURGESS, ALEXANDER, bishop of the diocese of Quincy, Ill., was born Oct. 31, 1819, in Providence, R. I. When the new diocese of Quincy, Ill., was formed he was chosen to be its first bishop, and was consecrated in 1878. He published a memoir of his brother, the first bishop of Maine, in 1869, and is also the author of various sermons, addresses, and Sunday-school literature, with some carols and hymns.

BURGESS, DEMPSEY, soldier, congressman. He was a member of the provincial congress of North Carolina; a lieutenant-colonel of the militia; and a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1795 to 1798.

BURGESS, EBENEZER, clergyman, author, was born April 1, 1790, in Wareham, Mass. He was the agent of the American colonization society in Africa from 1817-18, assisted in founding the colony of Liberia, and in 1818-19 was the society's agent in the United States. He published The Dedham Pulpit; and The Burgess Genealogy. He died Dec. 5, 1870, in Dedham, Mass.

BURGESS, EDWARD, architect, author, was born June 30, 1848, in West Sandwich, Mass. He was a noted naval architect of Boston, and the author of English and American Yachts.

BURGESS, GEORGE, bishop, author, poet, was born Oct. 31, 1809, in Providence, R. I. He was the first protestant episcopal bishop of Maine, and the author of Pages from the Ecclesiastical History of New England; The Christian Life; The Book of Psalms in English Verse; The Last Enemy Conquering and Conquered; and Strife of Brothers, a poem. He died April 23, 1866, in the West Indies.

BURGESS, JOHN WILLIAM, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1844, in Cornersville, Tenn. He is the dean of the school of physical science in Columbia college, and the author of the American University: When Shall it Be, Where Shall it Be, and What Shall it Be? Political Science and Comparative Constitutional Law; and The Middle Period.

BURGESS, NEIL, actor, was born June 18, 1851, in Boston, Mass. He made a marked success as Widow Bedott in the play Widow Bedott's Papers, and for the subsequent seven years it was one of the most valuable pieces in his repertoire.

BURK, JOHN DALY, lawyer, author, was born in 17—, in Ireland. He was an Irish author who came to America in 1796, and for the last years of his life was a lawyer in Virginia. He was the author of History of the Late War in Ireland; History of Virginia; Bunker Hill, a once popular tragedy; and Bethlem Gaber, an historical drama. He died April 11, 1808, near Campbell's Bridge, Va.

BURK, JOHN JUNIUS, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1800, in Virginia. He went to Louisiana, where he studied law, and was for many years a prominent lawyer there, and judge of the state court. He died July 17, 1866, in Baton Rouge, La.

BURK, JOSEPH CORNELIUS, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 18, 1857, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1895 this eminent lawyer was elected judge of the superior court of Keokuk, Iowa.

BURKE, ANDREW H., governor, was born May 15, 1850, in New York city. In 1884 he was elected treasurer of Cass county, N. D., and in 1890 was elected governor of that state.

BURKE, BARTEMAS, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 29, 1845, in Richmond, Ind. He received his education in the Hartsville university. He served three years as a union soldier during the civil war; was an eye-witness of the surrender of Vicksburg by Pemberton to Grant; was taken prisoner in the Red river campaign; and made one of the most notable escapes of the war from Camp Ford prison, Tex., to the union lines at Natchez. He was prosecuting attorney for seven years in Indiana; and in California has been school trustee; assistant district attorney; postmaster of Santa Cruz; commissioner of Torrens Land Transfer Reform; and during 1892-96 was state senator in the California legislature from the twenty-ninth district.

BURKE, CHARLES H., business man, was born Dec. 14, 1850, in Milford, N. H. He is president and stockholder in the Nashua Iron and Brass Foundry company; president of the Nashua Boot and Shoe Manufacturing company, and director of the Second national bank. In 1876 he was elected to the New Hampshire state legislature; and in 1888 was elected mayor of Nashua, N. H.

BURKE, EDARUS AEDANUS, jurist, congressman, was born June 16, 1743, in Ireland. In 1778 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of South Carolina; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1789 to 1791. He died March 30, 1802, in Charleston, S. C.

BURKE, EDMUND, journalist, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1809, in Westminster, Vt. He was a member of congress in 1839-45; and commissioner of patents in 1845. He was the owner and editor of The Spectator of Newport, N. H., where he died Jan. 25, 1882.

BURKE, JAMES FRANCIS, lawyer, was born Oct. 21, 1867, at Petroleum Center, Pa. He founded the American Republican College league, and became its first president, establishing a branch organization in every leading university of the United States. He began the practice of law in Pittsburg in 1893.

BURKE, JAMES L., lawyer, legislator, was born March 24, 1850, in Gordon county, Ga. In 1872 he was a member of the educational examining board of Gadsden, Ala.; deputy clerk of circuit court in 1874 and the same year established the Etowah Shield. In 1876 he was admitted to the bar at Guntersville, Ala., of which city he has been twice mayor. In 1884-85 he represented Marshall county in the general assembly of Alabama; and in 1896 received the democratic nomination for state senator. He was a soldier in the confederate army; the youngest member of the nineteenth regiment Alabama infantry; and was wounded at Chickamauga before he was fourteen years old.

BURKE, JOHN EDMUND, clergyman, was born Jan. 22, 1852, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Becoming deeply interested in the spiritual condition of the colored Roman Catholics of that city, and realizing their great need of church accommodation, he, in 1878, voluntarily resigned his pastoral charge to devote himself to supplying this want of the colored Roman Catholics.

BURKE, JOHN WILLIAM, clergyman, journalist, was born Oct. 1, 1826, in Watkinsville, Ga. For twenty-five years he published the Christian Advocate; and was public printer of the state of Georgia for a number of years.

BURKE, MAURICE FRANCIS, R. C. bishop, was born May 15, 1845, in Ireland. He was assistant at St. Mary's church, Chicago, for the three subsequent years, and afterward pastor of St. Mary's church, Joliet, Ill., till 1887, when he became bishop of Cheyenne, Wyoming territory.

BURKE, ROBERT EMMET, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 1, 1847, in Tallapoosa county, Ala. He volunteered as a private in company D, tenth Georgia cavalry, at the age of sixteen, and served until the close of the war. He removed to Texas in 1866 and located at Jefferson; and was admitted to the bar in November, 1870. He was elected county judge in 1878, serving three consecutive terms; and was elected district judge in 1888, and was re-elected in 1892 without opposition. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BURKE, STEVENSON, lawyer, jurist, railroad president, was born Nov. 26, 1826, in St. Lawrence county, N. Y. Since 1887 he has been president of the Toledo and Ohio Central railroad; and of the Kanawha and Michigan railway, at Cleveland, Ohio. For seven years during 1862-69 he was judge of common pleas.

BURKE, THOMAS, physician, lawyer, governor, author, was born in 1747, in Ireland. In 1776 he was a member of the provincial congress at Halifax, and a volunteer at the battle of Brandywine. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1777 to 1781; in the latter year was chosen governor of North Carolina; while in that position was seized by the Tories as a prisoner of state, and, being transferred to Charleston, was sent, by General Leslie, to James' island on parole, where he was detained as a hostage. Becoming exasperated, after four months' imprisonment, he determined to escape, in which purpose he was successful. He addressed a letter to General Leslie, informing him of his reasons for withdrawing, but considered himself subject to the disposal of the British authority; an exchange was effected by General Greene, and he returned to his position as governor; retired from public life the next year. He died Dec. 2, 1783, in Hillsborough.

BURKHART, JOSEPH ELIJAH, soldier, farmer, clergyman, was born Jan. 3, 1838, in Butler, Pa. During the civil war he enlisted as a private soldier in company A, sixth regiment Pennsylvania heavy artillery, and served till the close of the war. In 1872 he was ordained a clergyman in the united brethren church, and followed that calling for twelve years. He has been a delegate several times to the Kansas congressional conventions; and in 1892 was a republican candidate for the legislature. He has filled the editor's chair on several Kansas newspapers; and contributed extensively to the periodical press and several of his poems have been incorporated in standard works.

BURKS, EDWARD C., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born May 20, 1821. In 1842 he graduated from the law department of the university of Virginia. During 1861-63 he served as a member of the Virginia state legislature. In 1876 he was elected judge of the supreme court of appeals. He was president of the Virginia State Bar association; and in 1895 became editor-in-chief of the Virginia Law Register. He died July 4, 1897, in Bedford City, Va., which is in the county of his birth.

BURLEIGH, CHARLES, physician, genealogist, was born Feb. 26, 1855, in Lewiston, Maine. This eminent physician is the author of the Burleigh and Guild Genealogies, and a prolific contributor to historical and genealogical publications.

BURLEIGH, CHARLES C., abolitionist, lawyer, journalist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1810, in Plainfield, Conn. He, with his brother, edited an abolitionist newspaper called The Unionist. He was one of the earliest advocates of women's rights and of liberalism in religion, as he was also of temperance principles, in behalf of which he spoke frequently. He was the author of Thoughts on the Death Penalty (1845), and a tract on the Sabbath, which advanced anti-Sabbatarian views. He died June 14, 1878, in Florence, Mass.

BURLEIGH, EDWIN C., state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 27, 1843, in Linneus, Maine. In 1885 he was elected treasurer of the state of Maine; re-elected in 1887; and in 1888 was elected its governor.

BURLEIGH, GEORGE SHEPARD, author, was born March 26, 1821, in Plainfield, Conn. He is the author of Anti-Slavery Hymns; The Maniac and Other Poems; and Signal Fires, or The Trail of The Pathfinder.

BURLEIGH, HENRY G., state legislator, congressman, was born June 2, 1832, in Canaan, N. Y. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1875; was elected a representative, from New York, to the forty-eighth congress without opposition; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress.

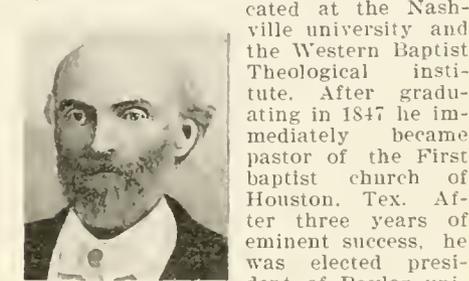

BURLEIGH, JOHN H., manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1832, in South Berwick, Maine. He commanded a ship on foreign voyages seven years; left the sea in 1853 and engaged in manufacturing. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1862, 1864, 1866, and 1872; delegate-at-large to the national republican convention at Baltimore in 1864; and was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican.

BURLEIGH, WALTER A., congressman, was a delegate from the territory of Dakota to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth congress.

BURLEIGH, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born in Rockingham, N. H. He was a representative in congress from South Berwick, Maine, for two terms, from 1823 to 1827. He died in July, 1827.

BURLEIGH, WILLIAM HENRY, journalist, poet, was born Feb. 2, 1812, in Woodstock, Conn. He is an anti-slavery journalist of Hartford and elsewhere who won some notice as a poet. He died March 18, 1871, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BURLESON, RUFUS COLUMBUS, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 7, 1823, near Decatur, Ala. He was educated at the Nashville university and the Western Baptist Theological institute. After graduating in 1847 he immediately became pastor of the First Baptist church of Houston, Tex. After three years of eminent success, he was elected president of Baylor university, which position he has filled for nearly half a century. Only two men in the United States have held the responsible position as long as Dr. Burleson. He has instructed over eight thousand students, male and female, many of whom now occupy the most eminent positions in Texas and the adjoining states. He has preached and lectured on education in every town and city in Texas; and although seventy-five years of age he toils every day, and enjoys vigorous health.

BURLESON, SOLOMON S., lawyer, missionary, was born Jan. 31, 1833, in Cortland, N. Y. He studied medicine under his father; taught school; and was admitted to the bar in 1855. In 1858 he moved to Wabasha, Minn., where he published the Minnesota Patriot, and the North Pepin Independent; and also successfully practiced law, and became district attorney. In 1862 he entered holy orders and became missionary to the Oneida Indians, in northern Wisconsin. He died in 1896.

BURLING, GILBERT, painter, was born in 1843. He excelled in studies of game birds. He died in 1875.

BURLINGAME, ANSON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 14, 1820, in New Berlin, N. Y. In 1852 he was elected to the state senate; in 1853 was a member of the convention for revising the constitution of Massachusetts; and was elected a representative in the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, and thirty-sixth congresses. In 1861 he was appointed minister to Austria, and subsequently to China, and in 1867 accepted a diplomatic appointment from China to the European powers, as well as to the United States. He died Feb. 23, 1870, in St. Petersburg, Russia.

BURLINGAME, EDWARD LIVERMORE, journalist, author, was born May 30, 1848, in Boston, Mass. He traveled extensively in Japan and China in 1866, and afterward in Europe. He was on the editorial staff of the New York Tribune in 1871, and on that for the revision of the American Cyclopædia in 1872-76. In 1879 he became connected editorially with the publishing house of Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, and in 1886 was appointed editor of its new magazine. He has translated and edited Art Life and Theories of Richard Wagner.

BURLINGAME, JAMES MONTGOMERY, lawyer, legislator, author, was born March 24, 1836, in Sterling, Conn. He was educated in the Plainfield academy, Connecticut, and the university of Michigan. During 1862-64 he taught in the Albany female seminary; in 1864-66 served in the federal army; and in 1866 he became editor of the Illinois Tribune of Decatur. During 1872-82 he was prosecuting attorney in Minnesota; city attorney of Owatonna during 1872-80. In 1885 he became a member of the Minnesota state legislature.

BURNAP, GEORGE WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 30, 1802, in Merrimack, N. H. He was a unitarian clergyman of Baltimore; prominent as a controversialist; and was the author of Popular Objections to Unitarian Christianity Considered; What is a Unitarian; Lectures to Young Men; Lectures on the History of Christianity; and Christianity, its Essence and Evidence. He died Sept. 8, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BURNELL, BARKER, state legislator, congressman, was born in Nantucket, Mass. When only twenty-two years of age he was chosen a member of the house of representatives in his native commonwealth; and a few years later passed into the senatorial body, where, in spite of his youth, he became a leading member. He sat also in the convention which framed the present constitution of Massachusetts; took an active part in the Harrisburg convention of 1840; and served as a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1841 to 1843. He died June 4, 1843, in Washington, D. C.

BURNELL, GEORGE W., lawyer, jurist, was born in December, 1838, in St. Albans, Vt. In 1862 he enlisted in the union army, taking part in the numerous engagements of the armies of the Potomac and James, as sergeant, lieutenant and captain. In 1865 he moved to Oshkosh, Wis., where he engaged in the practice of the law, and was for several terms district attorney of Winnebago county. He was appointed to the circuit judgeship by Governor Rusk in 1884.

BURNES, DANIEL DEE, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 4, 1851, in Ringgold, Mo. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

BURNES, JAMES NELSON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 22, 1833, in Morgan county, Ind. He was a presidential elector in 1856; circuit attorney in 1857; and in 1868 was unanimously elected judge of the court of common pleas, and served four years. He then engaged in railroad construction and other business; and was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

BURNET, DAVID G., Texan politician, was born April 4, 1789, in Newark, N. J. In 1836 he gave over the government of Texas into the hands of Houston, the constitutionally elected president. He was afterward elected vice-president, and, after the admission of Texas into the union, lived in retirement near the battlefield of San Jacinto. He remained in the south during the civil war, and at its close was elected, in 1866, to the United States senate from Texas, but congress refused to admit him. After that he resided in retirement on his plantation near Houston. He died Dec. 5, 1870, in Galveston, Texas.

BURNET, JACOB, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, author, was born Feb. 22, 1770, in Newark, N. J. He was a member of the first legislative council of Ohio in 1799. In 1821 he was appointed one of the judges of the supreme court of Ohio, which commission he resigned in December, 1828, and was immediately afterward elected to the senate of the United States, to fill a vacancy, serving until 1831. He was the first president of the Astronomical Society of Cincinnati, and was for many years the president of the Colonization Society of Hamilton county. In 1847 he published a volume entitled Notes on the Early Settlement of the Northwestern Territory, which contained much interesting information, especially as to Ohio, the progress of which he witnessed from a territory. He died May 10, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BURNET, ROBERT, agriculturist, soldier, was born Sept. 22, 1762, in Little Briton, N. Y. He served in the revolutionary war and was promoted to the rank of major. He died Dec. 1, 1854.

BURNET, WILLIAM, colonial governor, was born March, 1688, in Holland. He was governor of Massachusetts from 1725 to 1729. He died Sept. 7, 1729.

BURNET, WILLIAM, physician, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1730, in Elizabeth, N. J. He held at different times various offices in the state government, was elected to congress under the confederation in 1776; was a member of congress in 1780-81; and surgeon-general of the eastern district of the United States from 1776 till the close of the revolutionary war. He died Oct. 7, 1791, in Newark, N. J.

BURNETT, CYNTHIA S., educator, temperance reformer, was born May 1, 1840, in Hartford, Ohio. She studied four years in the Western Reserve seminary, graduating therefrom in 1868. She then taught Latin in the Orwell Norman institute, and three years later filled the chair of languages in Beaver college. She has since become a popular lecturer and organizer in the cause of temperance. She is now preceptress in the Farmington college, of Ohio.

BURNETT, E., congressman, was born March 16, 1849, in Boston, Mass. He was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

BURNETT, EDWIN CLARK, physician, was born Jan. 19, 1854, in Mansfield, Ohio. In 1884 he moved to St. Louis, Mo., where he soon established a large and lucrative practice.

BURNETT, MRS. FRANCES ELIZA (HODGSON), author, was born Nov. 24, 1849, in England. She is a popular writer of fiction, whose first successful book was That Lass o' Lowrie's, a powerful tale of Lancashire life. Her other works, of varying degrees of excellence, include Earlier Stories, first and second series; Haworth; A Fair Barbarian; Through One Administration; Louisiana; Esmeralda; Vagabondia; Surly Tim, and Other Stories; The Pretty Sister of Jose; A Lady of Quality. As a writer for young people her success has been very marked; and besides Little Lord Fauntleroy, the most popular of all her books, her juvenile writings comprise Sara Crewe; Piccino and Other Child Stories; Little Saint Elizabeth; Two Little Pilgrims' Progress; Giovanni and the Other; and The One I Knew the Best of All, an autobiographic tale.

BURNETT, FRANK C., soldier, merchant, congressman, was born March 19, 1842, in Wyoming, Pa. He enlisted in the fifty-second Pennsylvania volunteers; was promoted, and, after serving through the peninsular campaign, was discharged in 1863, on a surgeon's certificate of disability. He was in mercantile pursuits from 1864 to 1869; then engaged in banking; and was elected a representative in the forty-second congress to fill a vacancy.

BURNETT, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 5, 1825, in Essex county, Va. He was a representative in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. He was expelled for treasonable conduct in 1861, and took part in the rebellion. He died Oct. 1, 1866, in Hopkinton, Ky.

BURNETT, JAMES G., poet, was born in 1868, in New York. He was the author of Love and Laughter, a collection of poems. He died in 1893.

BURNETT, JAMES KENNEDY, orchardist, legislator, was born Jan. 24, 1862, in San Louis, Cal. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and attended the university of the Pacific and the university of Southern California. He is a successful orchardist of Paso Robles, Cal.; was a delegate of the people's party to the national convention of 1896; and in 1897 served with distinction in the thirty-second session of the state assembly of the California legislature.

BURNETT, JOHN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born July 4, 1831, in Pike county, Mo. He has had a varied and successful career as a lawyer; has defended at different times thirty different men charged with the crime of murder, none of whom were hung, and only five convicted of any offense. He has been county judge, circuit judge, supreme court judge, and served with distinction as a state senator of the Oregon legislature, taking an active part on some of the most important committees.

BURNETT, PETER HARDEMAN, lawyer, governor, author, was born Nov. 15, 1807, in Nashville, Tenn. He was a California lawyer, who was the first governor of that state. He was also a judge of the United States court for the territory of Oregon. He was the author of The Path Which Led a Protestant Lawyer to the Catholic Church; The American Theory of Government; Recollections and Opinions of an Old Pioneer; and Reasons Why We Should Believe in God. He died in 1895.

BURNETT, SAWN MOSES, physician, lecturer, author, was born March 16, 1847, in New Market, Tenn. In 1878 he founded the eye and ear clinic at the Central Dispensary, and became ophthalmic and aural surgeon to the Garfield hospital. He was president of the Medical society of the District of Columbia. He is a noted lecturer, and the author of a work entitled Treatise on Astigmatism.

BURNETT, WALDO IRVING, naturalist, author, was born July 12, 1828, in Southborough, Mass. He was a naturalist of Boston, and the author of The Cell, its Physiology, Pathology, and Philosophy. He died July 1, 1854, in Boston, Mass.

BURNETT, WILLIAM, congressman. He graduated at Princeton college in 1749, and was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress in 1780 and 1781. He died in 1791.

BURNEY, STANFORD GUTHRIE, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1814, in Tennessee. He is a Cumberland presbyterian divine, and professor of systematic theology at Cumberland university. He is the author of Treatise on Elocution; Baptismal Regeneration; Atonement and Law Reviewed; Chart of Duty; Soteriology; Studies in Moral Science; Studies in Psychology; and Studies in Theology.

BURNHAM, ALFRED A., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 8, 1819, in Windham, Conn. He was elected to the Connecticut legislature in 1844 and 1845; was subsequently appointed judge of probate for the district of Danbury; and in 1850 was again elected to the state legislature. In 1857 he was lieutenant-governor of Connecticut; and in 1858 was again elected to the legislature, and made speaker. In 1859 he was elected a representative from Connecticut to the thirty-sixth congress, and re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress.

BURNHAM, BENJAMIN F., educator, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 2, 1831, in Sharon, Vt. He graduated from Dartmouth college; was judge advocate, New Orleans, La.; and judge of the municipal court of Boston, Mass. He is a successful lawyer, educator, and law and theological author.

BURNHAM, MRS. CLARA LOUISE, author, was born May 25, 1854, in Newton, Mass. She is the author of No Gentleman; A Sane Lunatic; Dearly Bought; Next Door; Young Maids and Old; The Mistress of Beech Knoll; Miss Bagg's Secretary, a West Point Romance; Dr. Latimer, a story of Casco Bay; Sweet Clover; and The Wise Woman.

BURNHAM, CURTIS F., lawyer, state legislator, financier, was born May 24, 1820, in Richmond, Ky. He was elected to the state legislature; and in 1852 was a presidential elector. In 1875 he was appointed assistant secretary of the treasury.

BURNHAM, FREDERICK A., lawyer, was born Jan. 7, 1851, in Burrillville, R. I. He has attained success as a noted lawyer of New York city.

BURNHAM, GORDON WEBSTER, manufacturer, was born March 20, 1803, in Hampton, Conn. He became president of the Waterbury Clock Co., the Waterbury Watch Co., the Waterbury Brass Co., and the American Pin Co. In 1876 he presented to New York city a heroic bronze statue of Webster by Thomas Ball, which was erected in Central park. His own monument in Greenwood, built some years prior to his death, is one of the finest in the cemetery. He died March 18, 1885, in New York city.

BURNHAM, HIRAM, soldier, was born in Maine. At the second battle of Fredricksburg he distinguished himself for bravery and courage, and again at Gettysburg. In April, 1864, he was made brigadier-general, and during the campaign from the Wilderness to Petersburg he bore a conspicuous part. He was killed in battle Sept. 29, 1864.

BURNHAM, JAMES C., soldier, was born about 1820, in New York. After the fall of Colonel Baxter he commanded the regiment at the storming of Chapultepec, was promoted to lieutenant-colonel Sept. 27, 1847, and led the regiment through the several battles around the city of Mexico, distinguishing himself in the attack on the Belen gate. After the war Colonel Burnham was city marshal of New York under Mayor Wood, and was a prominent politician for several years. He died Sept. 2, 1866, in New York.

BURNHAM, JOHN HOWARD, soldier, journalist, bridge builder, was born Oct. 31, 1834, in Essex, Mass. He was captain in company A, thirty-third Illinois volunteer infantry, during the civil war. In 1864 he was superintendent of public schools at Bloomington, Ill., where for several years he was the editor of the Pentagraph. As a bridge contractor he has been instrumental in the building of some of the largest bridges in Illinois and the West.

BURNHAM, MICHAEL, clergyman, author, was born June 28, 1839, in Essex, Mass. This eminent congregational clergyman is now pastor of the Pilgrim church of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of numerous pamphlets and orations.

BURNHAM, SAMUEL, author, was born in 1833, in Rindge, N. H. He wrote the history of East Boston, several small volumes for the American tract society on natural history, was one of the editors of the Congregationalist, literary editor of the Watchman and Reflector, a correspondent for periodicals, edited Charles Sumner's works, and at the time of his death had nearly completed a history of the Old South church of Boston. He died June 22, 1873, in Boston, Mass.

BURNHAM, SARAH MARIA, author, was born in 1818, in Chester, Vt. She is the author of Limestones and Marbles, their History and Uses; Struggles of the Nations; and Pleasant Memories of Foreign Travel; and other works.

BURNHAM, SHERBURNE W., astronomer, author, was born in 1838, in Vermont. He was astronomer at Lick Observatory from its foundation to 1892; and is now connected with Yerkes' Observatory and the university of Chicago. He is the author of a number of scientific works, and has contributed valuable papers to current magazines.

BURNHAM, THOMAS BROWNELL, manufacturer, was born Jan. 30, 1866, in New York city. He is a director in the Benedict and Burnham Manufacturing Co., Holmes, Booth and Haydens, brass manufacturers, and The Waterbury Watch Co., all of Waterbury, Conn. He is also a large stockholder and director in The Sixth Avenue railroad of New York city.

BURNHAM, VICTOR C., farmer, lawyer, public official, was born April 23, 1851, in Wayne county, Mich. He graduated from the university of Michigan. He has served as mayor of Rogers City; has been city attorney; circuit court commissioner; and prosecuting attorney of Alpena county. He has served as city attorney and city judge of Alpena; and also as United States commissioner.

BURNS, JAMES AUSTIN, soldier, educator, author, was born Jan. 25, 1840, in Oxford, Maine. In August, 1861, he entered the United States volunteer service as lieutenant in the seventh Connecticut infantry, and was promoted to be captain in 1862. Subsequent to the war he settled in Atlanta, Ga., where he has followed the profession of civil engineering and also filled the chair of chemistry in the Southern Medical college in Atlanta. He has published a series of Juxtalinear Translations of the Classics.

BURNS, JOHN, soldier, was born Sept. 5, 1793, in Burlington, N. J. He was among the first to volunteer for the war of 1812; was present in the actions at Plattsburg, Queenstown and Lundy's Lane, in which last-named engagement he was one of Colonel Miller's regiment that captured the British battery in the center and turned the tide in favor of the Americans. He volunteered promptly for the war with Mexico, and again for the civil war. He died Feb. 7, 1872, in Gettysburg, Pa.

BURNS, JOHN M., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born March 11, 1825, in Lawrence county, Ky. He has been a member of the Kentucky state legislature, state senator, and circuit court judge, embracing seven counties. A good portion of his time was spent in the revenue service of the government, and in public speaking on national and political issues.

BURNS, JOSEPH, congressman, was born March 11, 1800, in Waynesborough, Va. He was elected from the state of Ohio a representative in the thirty-fifth congress.

BURNS, ROBERT, state senator, congressman, was born in New Hampshire. He served three years in the state legislature as senator and representative; and was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1833 to 1837. He died June 20, 1866, in Plymouth, N. H.

BURNS, WILLIAM HENRY, railroad president, was born in July, 1848, in Boston, Mass. Since 1890 he has been president of the Montana Union railway at Butte, Mont.

BURNS, WILLIAM WALLACE, soldier, was born Sept. 3, 1825, in Coshocton, Ohio. From 1843 till 1847 he was a cadet at the United States military academy. Joining the third infantry after graduation, he served through the war with Mexico, and, after ten years of frontier, garrison and recruiting service, received a staff appointment as captain and commissary of subsistence.

BURNSIDE, AMBROSE EVERETT, general, manufacturer, governor, United States senator, was born May 23, 1824, in Liberty, Ind. He served with credit on the frontier as an officer of artillery; and in 1853 resigned his commission and turned his attention to the manufacture of guns, and invented the rifle which bears his name. During the whole progress of the civil war his services as a general will always be treasured in the military history of his country. In 1866 he was elected governor of Rhode Island; and in 1875 took his seat in the senate of the United States for the term ending in 1881. He died Sept. 3, 1881, in Bristol, R. I.

BURNSIDE, JOHN, planter, was born about 1800, in Ireland. At the time of his death he was the largest sugar-planter in the United States. About 1852 he began to invest money in sugar lands, and eventually owned ten of the finest plantations in the sugar district of Louisiana, and the finest residence in New Orleans. In spite of the loss of more than two thousand slaves, he was among the first to try sugar-planting with free labor on a large scale, and his success had much influence in re-establishing the broken industries and credit of the south. He died June 29, 1881, in White Sulphur Springs, Va.

BURNSIDE, THOMAS, jurist, congressman. He was an associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1815 to 1816, when he resigned. He died March 25, 1827, in Germantown, Va.

BURNZ, ELIZA B., educator, was born Oct. 31, 1823, in England. For three years she conducted classes in New York at the Mercantile library; and from 1872 to 1889 instructed the free evening classes at Cooper union, which were established solely at her instigation. She was the organizer of the League for Short Spelling, and is now its president.

BURR, AARON, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 4, 1716, in Fairfield, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman, and was president of Princeton college. He married a daughter of Jonathan Edwards, and his son was the noted Vice-president Aaron Burr. His Latin Grammar was long in use at Princeton as the Newark Grammar. His only other work was The Supreme Divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ. He died Sept. 24, 1757.

BURR, AARON, soldier, statesman, vice-president of the United States, was born Feb. 6, 1756, in Newark, N. J. In 1777 he was appointed lieutenant-colonel, and distinguished himself as an able and brave officer. He was appointed attorney-general of New York in 1789; and from 1791 to 1797 was a member of the United States senate. At the election of president of the United States for the fourth presidential term Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr had each seventy-three votes, and the choice was decided by congress, on the thirty-sixth ballot, in favor of Jefferson for president and Burr for vice-president. On the 12th of July, 1804, Colonel Burr gave Alexander Hamilton, long his professional rival and political opponent, a mortal wound in a duel. He died Sept. 14, 1836, on Staten Island, N. Y.

BURR, ALBERT G., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1829, in Illinois. He was elected to the Illinois legislature in 1861; was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1862; and author of the address to the people accompanying the constitution. He was re-elected in 1863; and was elected a representative from Illinois to the fortieth and forty-first congresses. In 1877 he was elected judge of the seventh circuit of the state, and was re-elected in 1879 for the full term of six years. He died June 10, 1882, in Carrollton, Ill.

BURR, ALFRED E., journalist, was born March 27, 1815, in Hartford, Conn. In 1841 he became the sole owner and proprietor of The Times of Hartford, Conn.

BURR, CLEMENT FRANKLIN, farmer, legislator, was born Feb. 22, 1849, in Worthington, Mass. He is a successful farmer; has held numerous public offices of trust in his native city; and has served with distinction as a representative in the general court of the Massachusetts state legislature.

BURR, ENOCH FITCH, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 21, 1818, in Green's Farms, Conn. He has been a congregational clergyman of Lyme, Conn., since 1850; and is the author of Pater Mundi; Ad Fidem; Doctrine of Evolution; Ecce Cælum; Sunday Afternoons for Little People; About Spiritualism; Toward the Strait Gate; Ecce Terra; Work in the Vineyard; From Dark to Day; Facts in Aid of Faith; Celestial Empires; Universal Beliefs; Long Ago as Interpreted by the 19th Century; Tempted to Unbelief; Dio the Athenian; The Voyage, and Other Poems; and Aleph, the Chaldean.

BURR, GEORGE LINCOLN, educator, clergyman, was born in 1857, in New York. He has been a professor of history at Cornell university since 1892; and is the author of The Literature of Witchcraft; The Fate of Dietrick Flade; and Charlemagne.

BURR, HENRY AARON, manufacturer, inventor, was born in 1810, in Canaan, N. Y. In 1845 he began to experiment with hat-making machines, finally obtaining a patent and beginning the manufacture of hats. His invention was eminently successful, giving him a virtual monopoly of the industry until his patents expired in 1872. He died Dec. 25, 1884, in New York.

BURR, PORTER WILEY, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 1, 1852, in Mercer, Maine. He received his education in the Griswold college and the Iowa state university. He has attained prominence as a successful lawyer of Charles City, Iowa; has served with distinction as city attorney and mayor of that city. He has also been judge of the twelfth judicial district of Iowa; and takes a prominent part in public affairs.

BURR, THEODOSIA, was born in 1783, in New York city. After her mother's death in 1794 Theodosia became mistress of her father's house and the companion of his leisure hours. On Feb. 2, 1801, she married Joseph Alston, a wealthy and talented young planter of South Carolina, who in after years became governor of his native state. The devotion of Theodosia to her father approached idolatry; through all the disasters of his career she clung to him with unshaken fidelity. She and her husband were cognizant of her father's scheme to become emperor of Mexico; her son was to be the heir to the throne, and when Burr was brought to trial at Richmond his daughter was there, and, by the power of her beauty and intellectual graces, did much to stay the torrent of popular indignation and secure a favorable verdict. She died at sea, in January, 1813.

BURR, WILLARD, musician, composer, was born Jan. 7, 1852, in Ravenna, Ohio. He is a noted physician of Boston, Mass.; and the composer of much chamber music, numerous piano pieces, and songs.

BURR, WILLIAM HUBERT, civil engineer, author, was born in 1851, in Connecticut. He is a civil engineer of prominence; and has been professor of engineering at Columbia college since 1893. He is the author of Stresses in Bridge and Roof Trusses; The Theory of the Masonry Arch; and Elasticity and Resistance of the Materials of Engineering.

BURRAGE, HENRY SWEETSER, soldier, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Jan. 7, 1837, in Fitchburg, Mass. He is the editor of Zion's Herald, Portland, Maine; and the author of Brown University in the Civil War; The Act of Baptism in the History of the Christian Church; History of the Anabaptists in Switzerland; History of Baptists in New England; History of the 37th Massachusetts Regiment; and Baptist Hymn Writers and their Hymns.

BURRALL, WILLIAM PORTER, lawyer, state senator, railroad president, was born in 1806, in Canaan, Conn. He practiced law in his native town until October, 1839, when he was chosen president of the Housatonic Railroad company, and removed to Bridgeport, Conn. He moved to Salisbury, Conn., in 1859; subsequently represented that town several times in the general assembly; and was also a member of the state senate. He died March 3, 1874, in Hartford, Conn.

BURRELL, JONATHAN, soldier, was born in 1753. In 1776 he joined the northern army under Schuyler. His talents soon procured him the appointment of assistant paymaster. He was afterward assistant postmaster-general; and cashier of the United States branch bank of New York. He died Nov. 18, 1834, in Goshen, N. Y.

BURRELL, J. M., jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He was appointed a judge of the United States court for the territory of Kansas.

BURRELL, ORLANDO, soldier, jurist, congressman, was born in Bradford county, Pa. He raised a company of cavalry in 1861; was elected captain of it, and joined the first regiment Illinois cavalry. He was elected county judge in 1873, and re-elected in 1877; and was elected sheriff in 1886. His occupation has been farming and stock raising. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

BURRILL, ALEXANDER MANSFIELD, jurist, author, was born in 1807, in New York. He was a noted New York jurist; and the author of Practice of the Supreme Court of New York; Law Dictionary and Glossary; Law and Practice of Voluntary Assignments; and Circumstantial Evidence. He died Feb. 7, 1869, in Kearney, N. J.

BURRILL, JAMES, statesman, was born April 25, 1772, in Providence, R. I. He was attorney-general of Rhode Island from 1797 till 1813. He was a member of the legislature in 1813, speaker in 1814, and chief justice of the state supreme court in 1816. He was chosen United States senator in 1817; but died before the expiration of his term. He died Dec. 25, 1820, in Washington, D. C.

BURRILL, THOMAS JONATHAN, naturalist, was born April 25, 1839, in Pittsfield, Mass. From 1877 till 1884 he was dean of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; and in 1885-86 president of the American Society of Microscopists. He edited the biennial reports of the university of Illinois during the years 1874 to 1886, and has written many papers and pamphlets, among which are The Bacteria; and the Uredinæ, or Parasitic Fungi of Illinois.

BURRITT, ELIHU, reformer, linguist, author, was born Dec. 8, 1811, in New Britain, Conn. He was a famous linguist who was called The Learned Blacksmith, from the fact that much of his education was obtained while working at the forge in Worcester, Mass. He was a noted peace reformer, and was for some years consul at Birmingham. Few of his writings have the literary quality to any extent, and they form rather dry reading. He was the author of Sparks from the Anvil; A Voice from the Forge; Peace Papers for the People; Olive Leaves; Thoughts of Things at Home and Abroad; Hand-book of the Nations; A Walk from John O'Groat's to Land's End; The Mission of Great Sufferings; Walks in the Black Country; Lectures and Speeches; Ten-Minute Talks; Chips from Many Blocks; and Prayers and Devotional Meditations. He died March 9, 1879, in New Britain, Conn.

BURRITT, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born April 25, 1772, in Providence, R. I. He was attorney-general of the state of Rhode Island from 1797 to 1813; was a member and speaker of the assembly in 1814; was chief justice of the state in 1816 and was elected to the United States senate in 1816. He died Dec. 25, 1820, in Washington, D. C.

BURROUGHS, CHARLES, clergyman, author, poet, was born Dec. 27, 1787, in Boston, Mass. He was for thirty years president of the New Hampshire insane asylum and was for nearly forty years annually elected president of the Portsmouth athenæum. He was elected in 1842 corresponding member of the Massachusetts historical society, and was president of the general theological library of Boston from its establishment until his death. He published Memoirs of Horace B. Morse (1829), and The Poetry of Religion, and Other Poems. He died March 5, 1868, in Portsmouth, N. H.

BURROUGHS, GEORGE STOCKTON, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Jan. 6, 1855, in Waterloo, N. Y. This eminent minister and educator was professor of biblical literature in Amherst college from 1886-92, when he was elected president of Wabash college of Crawfordsville, Ind. He is a director of the American Institute of Hebrew, and of the American Institute of Sacred Literature.

BURROUGHS, JOHN, author, poet, was born April 3, 1837, in Roxbury, N. Y. He is a noted essayist of New York, whose keen, sympathetic studies of nature have been very popular both in America and England. He is the author of Wake-Robin; Winter Sunshine; Birds and Poets; Locusts and Wild Honey; Pepacton; Fresh Fields; Signs and Seasons; Indoor Studies; Riverby; Whitman: A Study.

BURROUGHS, JOHN CURTIS, educator, was born Dec. 7, 1818, in Stamford, N. Y. In 1855 he began a movement in the interests of higher education, which resulted in the establishment, in 1857, of the university of Chicago. In 1856 he accepted the presidency of the university of Chicago, which he resigned in 1874. Soon afterward he was appointed a member of the Chicago board of education, and in 1884 he was elected assistant superintendent of public schools in that city.

BURROUGHS, SILAS M., state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served four years in the legislature of that state, and was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He died June 3, 1860, in Medina, N. Y.

BURROWES, GEORGE, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 3, 1811, in Trenton, N. J. He is a presbyterian clergyman of San Francisco, and professor of Hebrew in the Presbyterian seminary there. He is the author of Commentary on the Song of Solomon; Octorara, a Poem, and Occasional Pieces; and Advanced Growth in Grace.

BURROWS, DANIEL, congressman, was born in Groton, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1821 to 1823.

BURROWS, JOSEPH H., state legislator, congressman, was born May 15, 1810, in England. He was a representative in the state legislature from 1870 to 1874, and from 1878 to 1880. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-seventh congress.

BURROWS, JULIUS C., lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Jan. 9, 1837, in North East, Pa. He was an officer in the union army in 1862-64; and prosecuting attorney of Kalamazoo county in 1865-67. He was elected a representative to the forty-third, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses; and elected a delegate at large from Michigan to the national republican convention at Chicago in 1884. He was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses, twice elected speaker pro tempore of the house of representatives during the fifty-first congress, and was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican. He resigned his seat in the house in 1895 to assume the office of United States senator from Michigan for term expiring in 1899.

BURROWS, LANSING, clergyman, journalist, was born April 10, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is editor of the American Baptist Year Book; is one of the leading pulpit orators of the country; and has won repute as a powerful minister in the best churches of the north and south.

BURROWS, LORENZO, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1849 to 1853; and in 1855 was elected comptroller of New York.

BURRUS, JOHN HOUSTON, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 22, 1849, near Murfreesboro, Tenn. He received his education in private schools and at the Fisk university. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Nashville, Tenn. During 1877-79 he was an instructor in the Fisk university and during 1883-93 was president of the Ahorn A. and M. college of Rodney, Miss.

BURT, ARMISTEAD, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1802, in Edgefield, S. C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1843 to 1853; and during a part of the thirtieth congress officiated as speaker of the house of representatives. He was a delegate to the New York convention of 1868. He died Oct. 30, 1883, in Abbeville, S. C.

BURT, FRANCIS, governor, was born in 1809 in Pendleton, S. C. He was appointed third auditor of the treasury by President Pierce, but resigned that office in 1854 to accept the governorship of Nebraska. He died Oct. 18, 1854, in Bellevue, Neb.

BURT, GRINNELL, railroad president, was born Nov. 7, 1822, in Bellvale, N. Y. He has been president of the Lehigh and Hudson railroad and the Cincinnati, Van Wert and Michigan railroad. He has been identified with many projects for bridging the Hudson, and has held many responsible public positions.

BURT, MARY ELIZABETH, educator, author, was born in Lake Geneva, Wis. She was a member of the board of education in Chicago for three years. She is the author of Literary Landmarks; Stories from Plato and other Classic Writers.

BURT, NATHANIEL CLARK, clergyman, author, was born April 23, 1825, in Fairton, N. J. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Ohio; and was the author of Hours Among the Gospels; The Far East; and The Land and Its Story, the Sacred Geography of Palestine. He died March 4, 1874, in Rome, Italy.

BURT, WILLIAM A., surveyor, was born June 13, 1792, in Worcester, Mass. He became United States deputy surveyor and in 1840-47 surveyed northern Michigan. He originated the idea of the solar compass; and also introduced important improvements in geological surveying. He was a judge of the Michigan circuit court and member of the legislature for several terms, and was chief mover in the construction of the Sault Ste. Marie canal. He died Aug. 18, 1858.

BURTON, ASA, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 25, 1752, in Stonington, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman, pastor at Thetford, Vt., for more than fifty years; and was the author of Essays on Some of the First Principles of Metaphysics, Ethics, and Theology. He died May 1, 1836, in Thetford, Vt.

BURTON, CHARLES GERMAN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 4, 1846, in Cleveland, Ohio. He enlisted as a private in company C, nineteenth Ohio infantry, and was a corporal in company A, one hundred and seventy-first Ohio National guards, during the one hundred days' campaign of 1864. He moved to Nevada, Mo., in 1871; has been circuit attorney and judge of the twenty-fifth circuit; was a delegate to the national republican convention at Chicago in 1884; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican. In 1893 he was department commander of Missouri G. A. R.

BURTON, ERNEST DE WITT, educator, author, was born in 1856 in Ohio. He is a professor of sacred literature in the university of Chicago; and the author of Records and Letters of the Apostolic Age; Syntax of Moods and Tenses in New Testament Greek; and A Harmony of the Four Gospels.

BURTON, FREDERICK RUSSELL, composer, was born Feb. 23, 1861, in Jonesville, Mich. He held editorial positions on leading newspapers in Boston, Troy and Fall River, and for five years was a reporter for the New York Sun. In 1889 he went to England and became assistant editor of the London edition of the New York Herald. He returned to New York in 1892 and has since devoted himself to writing fiction and composing music.

BURTON, GEORGE DEXTER, inventor, was born Oct. 26, 1855, in Temple, N. H. He is the inventor of the Burton stock car; inventor and president of the American Electric Forge company, operating the Burton Electric Liquid system of heating and working metals and ores. He has lectured upon the subject of Heating and Working Metals by Electricity before the Harvard Lecture club of the Jefferson physical laboratory of the Harvard college; before the Franklin institute of Philadelphia, Pa.; before the Society of Arts of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and various other learned scientific bodies. His liquid process of heating and welding by an electric current has been successfully adopted.

BURTON, GEORGE W., physician, surgeon, was born July 22, 1836, in Lawrence county, Ind. He was one of the originators of the South Central and Normal school of Mitchell, Ind. He served with distinction during the civil war; and served on the medical staff.

BURTON, HENRY S., soldier, was born in 1818 in New York. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1865 for services at the capture of Petersburg. He died April 4, 1869, in Fort Adams, R. I.

BURTON, HUTCHINS G., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born in Granville county, N. C. In 1810 he represented Mecklenburg in the state legislature, and in 1816 the county of Halifax. For several years he was attorney-general of the state; and served as a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1819 to 1824. He was elected governor of North Carolina from 1824 to 1827. He died April 21, 1836, in Iredell county, N. C.

BURTON, JOHN E., miner, was born Oct. 19, 1847, in New Hartford, N. Y. He originated the American Fiber company, which aims to produce merchantable fiber from every form of vegetable which contains fiber, and became the chief promoter of the Aguan Navigation and Improvement company, whose object is to connect the Aguan River with the Caribbean sea.

BURTON, LEWIS WILLIAM, bishop of Lexington, Ky., was born Nov. 9, 1852, in Cleveland, Ohio. From April 13, 1884, until July 15, 1893, he was rector of St. John's church, Richmond, Va.

BURTON, RICHARD EUGENE, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1859 in Hartford, Conn. He is a journalist of Hartford, Conn.; and the author of Dogs and Dog Literature; Dumb in June, and Other Poems; Memorial Day and Other Poems; and Men of Progress.

BURTON, ROBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in 1747, in Mecklenburg county, Va. He was a planter, removed to Granville about 1775, and served in the revolutionary army, attaining the rank of colonel. From 1787 till 1788 he was a member of congress under the confederation. In 1801 he was a member of a commission to fix the boundary between the Carolinas and Georgia. He died April 10, 1825, in Granville county, N. C.

BURTON, THEODORE E., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1851, in Jefferson, Ohio. He began the practice of law at Cleveland in 1875. He was a member of the fifty-first congress, but was defeated for re-election in 1890; and was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BURTON, WARREN, author, was born Nov. 13, 1800, in Wilton, N. H. He was an educational writer of Boston; and the author of Cheering Views of Man and Providence; My Religious Experience at my Native Home; The Divine Agency in the Material Universe; Uncle Sam's Recommendations of Phrenology; The District School as it Was; Helps to Education: Culture of the Observing Faculties in the Family and School; and Scenery Showing. He died June 6, 1866, in Salem, Mass.

BURTON, WILLIAM, governor, was born in Delaware. He was elected governor of that state in 1859, holding the office until 1863.

BURTON, WILLIAM, clergyman, was born Sept. 5, 1874, in England. Since 1895 he has filled pastorates in Wilmot, S. D.; and in the First Presbyterian church of Langford, in that state.

BURTON, WILLIAM EVANS, actor, author, was born Sept. 24, 1804, in London, England. He was a popular comedian of New York city; and the author of The Actor's Alloquy; Waggeries and Vagaries; and Cyclopædia of Wit and Humor. He died Feb. 10, 1860, in New York.

BURUM, PETER GROVE, merchant, financier, was born June 13, 1839, in Blount county, Tenn. He is president of the Commercial bank; president of the Augusta Steamboat company; vice-president of the Augusta Exchange; and treasurer of the Augusta opera house.

BURWELL, WILLIAM A., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1806 to 1821. He died Feb. 16, 1821, in Washington City.

BUSCH, CARL, musician, was born March 29, 1862, in Denmark. He is a leading musician of Kansas City, Mo.; and for five seasons he has conducted the Kansas City Orchestral and Choral society. His orchestral suite Reverie Pastorale, which was played at the Music Teachers' National association concerts in Detroit, at once put him in the front rank of American composers.

BUSCHE, CHARLES F., manufacturer, state senator, was born Jan. 17, 1857, in Germany. He came to America in 1860, and since 1864 has resided in St. Louis, Mo., where he is a wholesale baker and president of the Confectioner and Baker Publishing company. In 1888 he was elected to the Missouri state senate; was re-elected in 1892, and again in 1896.

BUSBY, GEORGE H., congressman, was born July 10, 1794, in Darstown, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1851 to 1853.

BUSENBARK, W. R., railroad president, was born in March, 1855, in Ann Arbor, Mich. Since 1894 he has been president of the Suwanee River railway.

BUSEY, SAMUEL THOMPSON, soldier, banker, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1835, in Greencastle, Ind. He was first sergeant and first lieutenant of the Urbana Zouaves in 1861-62; was town collector in 1862; was commissioned second lieutenant in the recruiting service by Gov. Yates in June, 1862, and helped to organize the seventy-sixth Illinois volunteer infantry, and became colonel and was brevetted brigadier-general. He was mayor and president of the board of education of Urbana in 1880-89; organized Busey's bank in 1867, and conducted its business twenty-one years. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BUSH, ASAHIEL, merchant, banker, was born June 4, 1824, in Westfield, Mass. He is now one of the most extensive land proprietors in America. He is connected with banks in Portland, Seattle and Tacoma; is controlling owner of the First National bank of Salem, and has a large interest in mills in Oregon City and Portland. In 1851 he began the publication of The Oregon Statesman in Salem, an influential paper of the early days.

BUSH, CHARLES PLATTE, state senator, lieutenant-governor, was born March 18, 1809, in Danby, N. Y. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Michigan; four years a member of the legislature; four years a member of the state senate; and lieutenant-governor of the state of Michigan. He was a presidential elector; delegate to several democratic national conventions; the leader of the movement that located the capital of Michigan at Lansing; and one of the original platters of that city. He died July 4, 1857, in Lansing, Mich.

BUSH, EDWARD A., clergyman, was born June 5, 1839, in Canada. In 1864 he was rector of St. Francis college, Lo-retto, Pa., where he remained until 1868, when he was called to St. Michael's seminary. He became rector of St. Peter's church of Allegheny, Pa., in 1894; and soon after promoted to the vicar generalship of the diocese.

BUSH, GEORGE, theologian, author, was born June 12, 1796, in Norwich, Vt. He was a Swedenborgian clergyman and a professor of Hebrew in the university of New York. Beside Commentaries on Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Joshua, Judges, and the Psalms, his writings include Life of Mohammed; New Church Miscellanies; Priesthood and Clergy Unknown to Christianity; Mesmer and Swedenborg; Treatise on the Millennium; and The Resurrection of Christ. He died Sept. 19, 1859, in Rochester, N. Y.

BUSH, ISAAC W., educator, merchant, business man, was born April 20, 1835, in Danby, N. Y. He received his education at the Michigan State Normal school. He has traveled extensively throughout America and British Columbia; and is now a successful merchant of Howell, Mich., where he has been supervisor, justice of the peace, postmaster and commissioner of schools for his county. He was one of the organizers of the Detroit and Lansing Railroad company, of which he was director and secretary of the board of directors. He received the democratic nomination for state senator.

BUSH, J. O. A., journalist, legislator, was born Dec. 1, 1854, in Pike county, Ark. He is a successful journalist of Prescott, Ark., served with distinction in the thirty-first general assembly of Arkansas, and was the author of the law passed by that body to build state railroads.

BUSH, JAMES S., physician, legislator, was born Feb. 8, 1816, in New York. He practiced medicine in Scottsville, La.; represented his district a number of years in the state legislature; and helped to pass the ordinance of secession. He served in the confederate army as a surgeon, and died, in 1867 at Trenton, La.

BUSH, JOSEPH, artist, was born in 1793 in Franklin, Ky. His most noted paintings are those of Zachary Taylor, Gov. John Adair, Dr. Benj. W. Dudley and Judge Thomas B. Moore. He died Nov. 11, 1865, in Lexington, Ky.

BUSH, NORTON, artist, was born Feb. 22, 1834, in Rochester, N. Y. Most of his life has been spent in San Francisco. He was elected, in 1877, director of the San Francisco Art association, of which he had been a member since 1874, and was president of the Sacramento Bric-à-Brac club from 1879 till 1882. Among his works are Mount Diablo, and City of Panama. His Summit of the Sierras is in the Crocker gallery, Sacramento, and his Lake Nicaragua in the Stanford gallery of San Francisco.

BUSH, RUFUS T., merchant, philanthropist, was born in Tompkins county, N. Y. He attained success as a noted merchant of Chicago; donated the Hall Memorial library, supplied with more than one thousand volumes, to Ridgeway, Mich.; and wrote a short, pithy volume of European travels. He died Sept. 15, 1890, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BUSH, STEPHEN, clergyman, was born May 30, 1818, in Nassau, N. H. In 1853 he became pastor of the Presbyterian church of Cohoes, N. Y.; and in 1863-74 was pastor of the presbyterian church of Green Island, N. Y.

BUSHMAN, M. V., lawyer, was born April 28, 1867, in Gettysburg, Pa. He attended the Gettysburg college, and graduated from the Law University of Maryland. For two years he practiced law in Hagerstown, Md., and then moved to Nevada, Iowa, where he has attained success in his profession.

BUSHNELL, ALLEN RALPH, lawyer, legislator, jurist, congressman, was born July 18, 1833, in Hartford, Ohio. He received his education in the Hartford High school, and at the Oberlin and Hiram colleges. In 1861 he entered the union army and served as captain of company C, seventh regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry, Iron brigade. He has been district attorney of Grant county, Wis., and United States attorney for western district of Wisconsin. He has served as a member of the Wisconsin state legislature, and was a member of the fifty-second congress. In congress his speeches on silver and tariff questions were used as campaign documents in the presidential elections of 1892 and 1896. He especially endeavored to have the United States constitution amended to elect senators by a direct vote of the people.

BUSHNELL, ASA SMITH, soldier, manufacturer, governor, was born Sept. 16, 1834, in Rome, N. Y. He served through the civil war. He has been president since 1886 of the Warder, Bushnell and Glessner Co. Champion mowers and binders are manufactured by the company, and the factory is one of the largest industries in Springfield, Ohio, covering over sixty acres of ground and employing more than one thousand workmen. In 1886 Mr. Bushnell was appointed quartermaster-general of Ohio for four years, on the staff of Gov. Foraker. He is president of the First National bank and the Springfield Gas Light and Coke company. He is the fortieth governor of Ohio, being elected to that high office in November, 1895.

BUSHNELL, CHARLES IRA, author, was born July 28, 1826, in New York city. He was an antiquarian writer of New York city, among whose works are Crumbs for Antiquarians; and Adventures of Sir Christopher Hawkins (edited). He died in 1883 in New York city.

BUSHNELL, CORNELIUS S., inventor and railroad constructor, was born in 1829. He won fame through his connection with John Ericsson in the construction of the Monitor. During the war he built more ships for the government than any other man, in his ship-yard at Fair Haven, where he and Ericsson built the Puritan and the Dictator. Later, when he turned his attention to railroads, he helped construct the Union Pacific. He died April 6, 1897, in New York city.

BUSHNELL, DAVID, soldier, inventor, was born in 1742 in Saybrook, Conn. During his college course he matured plans that led to the production of what may be called the earliest of torpedoes. He invented several other machines for the annoyance of the British shipping. He served continuously during the war, attaining the rank of captain in the corps of sappers and miners, and was on duty at New York, Hudson Highlands, Philadelphia, Yorktown, and elsewhere. He died in 1824 in Warrenton, Ga.

BUSHNELL, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1824, in Granville, Ohio. This eminent educator and clergyman is the author of History of Granville, Ohio; and Following the Star.

BUSHNELL, HORACE, clergyman, author, was born April 14, 1802, in Litchfield county, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Hartford, who was one of the foremost thinkers in his denomination. He was a fearless reasoner, and his literary style exhibits both clearness and beauty. He was the author of Christian Nurture: God in Christ; Christ in Theology; The Vicarious Sacrifice; Politics the Law of God; Nature and the Supernatural; Moral Uses of Dark Things, his ablest work; Sermons for the New Life; Sermons on Living Subjects; Forgiveness and Law; The Age of Homespun; Woman Suffrage; Moral Tendencies and Results of Human History; Building Eras in Religion; The Character of Jesus; Work and Play; and Christ and His Salvation. He died Feb. 17, 1876, in Hartford, Conn.

BUSHNELL, WILLIAM, physician, state legislator, was born Sept. 10, 1800, in Hartford, Conn. He became interested in the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad, and, when the enterprise was threatened with failure, devoted eight years to superintending the building of the road, securing the right of way, and raising the capital. He was a member of the Ohio legislature in 1849 and succeeding years, and assisted in passing the Ohio school law. In 1878 he was a delegate to the international congress for prison reform at Stockholm.

BUSHNELL, WILLIAM H., journalist, author, poet, was born June 4, 1823, in Hudson, N. Y. He is the author of Biographical Sketches of the Early Settlers of Chicago; The Hermit of the Colorado Hills, a Story of the Texan Pampas; and Ah Meek the Beaver, or The Copper Hunters of Lake Superior.

BUSIEL, CHARLES ALBERT, governor, was born Nov. 24, 1842, in Meredith, N. H. He served with distinction as governor of New Hampshire during 1895-97. He resided in Laconia; and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol.

BUSKIN, JAMES H., journalist, was born Feb. 17, 1845, in Atlanta, Ga. He served as a soldier in the confederate army. He is the editor and owner of the Journal of Scotland, S. D., in which city he has served as mayor for two terms. He has been sheriff of his county, and filled various other public positions of honor.

BUSKIRK, CLARENCE A., lawyer, poet, was born Nov. 8, 1842, in Friendship, N. Y. For two terms he served as attorney-general of Indiana, and has a lucrative practice in Princeton. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Indiana, and many valuable articles and papers have been contributed to law literature by this able lawyer. He is the author of a work entitled A Cavern for a Hermitage, a poem of some length. The story is ingenious, the meditations are deeply philosophical, which, together with the richness of its rhythm, proves very interesting, and is a valuable acquisition to American literature.

BUSKIRK, GEORGE A., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 10, 1829, in Monroe county, Ind. He practiced law until he was elected, in 1856, judge of the common pleas.

BUSSEY, CYRUS, soldier, merchant, was born Oct. 5, 1833, in Hubbard, Ohio. In 1858 he was elected as a democrat to the Iowa state senate. In 1861 he entered the military service in the civil war, and rose to the rank of major-general.

BUSTEED, RICHARD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 16, 1822, in Cavan, Ireland. In 1862 he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers by President Lincoln. In 1863 he was appointed by President Lincoln to be United States district judge for Alabama.

BUSTEED, WILLIAM W., journalist, legislator, was born in Denton, Md. He was elected a member of the legislature in 1886 and 1890; was mayor of Centerville, Md., for ten years; and editor of The Observer of that city.

BUTE, GEORGE HERING, physician, was born May 27, 1792, in Germany. He located in Philadelphia, and in two years he built up a large practice as the second homœopathist in the city. He made many important contributions to homœopathy. He died Feb. 13, 1876, in Nazareth.

BUTLER, ANDREW PICKENS, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Nov. 19, 1796, in South Carolina. He became a member of the legislature when quite a young man; and in 1835 was appointed one of the judges of the general sessions of common pleas, which office he held until 1847, when he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the United States senate. He was subsequently elected and re-elected to the same position, and was in this office at the time of his death. He died May 25, 1857, near Edgefield, S. C.

BUTLER, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 14, 1795, in Kinderhook, N. Y. In 1821 he was appointed district attorney for the city of Albany; in 1827 was elected to the state legislature; was attorney-general; and in 1836-37 officiated as secretary of war. In 1845 he was a presidential elector; and was subsequently twice appointed United States attorney for the southern district of New York. He died Nov. 8, 1858, in Paris, France.

BUTLER, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, general, governor, United States senator, was born Nov. 5, 1818, in Deerfield, N. H.

In 1853 he was elected to the state legislature; in 1859 was elected to the state senate; and in 1860 was a delegate to the Charleston convention. In 1861 he was appointed a brigadier-general, and entered actively into the war movements. Before the close of that year he was made a major-general, serving as such in New Orleans and various other portions of the rebellious states. At the conclusion of the rebellion he resumed the practice of law in Lowell; in 1866 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the fortieth congress; was one of the managers of the impeachment trial of Andrew Johnson; and was re-elected to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third and forty-fifth congresses. In 1882 he was elected governor of Massachusetts; and also served his country as United States senator. He died Jan. 11, 1893, in Washington, D. C.

BUTLER, CALEB, educator, author, was born Sept. 13, 1776, in Pelham, N. H. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1800, studied law in Groton, and was the principal instructor of the Groton academy for eleven years. He published a Masonic oration; Facts as to Affairs in Groton; Review Reviewed; and History of Groton. He died Oct. 7, 1854, in Groton, Mass.

BUTLER, CHARLES, philanthropist, college president, was born Feb. 15, 1802, in Kinderhook, N. Y. In 1835 he was one of the founders and incorporators of the Union Theological seminary in New York city, and was made its president. In 1889 he endowed a chair of biblical theology in that seminary in the sum of $100,000, in the memory of Prof. Edward Robinson, the eminent biblical scholar.

BUTLER, CHESTER, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March, 1798, in Wilkesbarre, Pa. He served three terms in the legislature of Pennsylvania; and was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1845 to 1850. He died Oct. 5, 1850, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BUTLER, CLEMENT MOORE, theologian, author, was born Oct. 16, 1810, in Troy, N. Y. He was an episcopalian clergyman of the evangelical type, and professor of ecclesiastical history in the Episcopal Divinity school of Philadelphia in 1864-84. He was the author of Book of Common Prayer Interpreted by its History; Old Truths and New Errors; The Flock Fed; St. Paul in Rome; Inner Rome; Manual of Ecclesiastical History from the First to the Eighteenth Century; and The Reformation in Sweden. He died March 5, 1890, in Germantown, Pa.

BUTLER, CYRUS, philanthropist, was born in 1767. He gave $40,000 to endow the Butler hospital for the insane at Providence. He died Aug. 22, 1849, in Providence, R. I.

BUTLER, DAVID, governor. He was elected the first governor of the state of Nebraska in 1867, and served one year.

BUTLER, EZRA, was born in September, 1763, in Vermont. He was a member of the Vermont assembly eleven years; first judge of the Chittendon county court from 1803 to 1806, and chief justice from 1806 to 1811. He was chief justice of Jefferson county from 1814 to 1826; was a representative in congress from 1813 to 1815; member of the Vermont constitutional convention in 1822 and governor of that state from 1826 to 1828, making fifty-three years of public service. He died July 12, 1838, in Waterbury, Vt.

BUTLER, FREDERICK, author, was born in 1766. He was a writer of Hartford, Conn.; and the author of History of the United States to 1820; The Farmer's Manual; and Memorial of Lafayette and his Tour in the United States. He died in 1843.

BUTLER, GEORGE BERNAND, artist, was born Feb. 8, 1838, in New York city. Since 1883 he has been engaged principally in portraiture. In 1873 he was elected a National academician. His paintings include The Shepherd and Dogs on the Campaign; The Capri Rose, purchased by Alexander T. Stewart; The Lace-Maker; An Italian Peasant; and several striking groups of animals.

BUTLER, HENRY, educator, lawyer, was born Oct. 17, 1843, in Pontiac, Mich. He received his education at the district, Union and State Normal schools of Ypsilanti, Mich. For nearly ten years he taught school; has been superintendent of schools and justice of the peace. He practices law in Waverly, Va.; and has attained prominence as an able lawyer in that state.

BUTLER, JAMES DAVIE, educator, lecturer, was born March 15, 1815, in Rutland, Vt. He held the chair of ancient languages in Wabash college, Ind., in 1854-58, and in the university of Wisconsin in 1858-67. Since then he has devoted himself to lecturing and occasional preaching. His best known lectures are The Architecture of St. Peter's; Prehistoric Wisconsin; The Hapax Legomena in Shakespeare; and Commonplace Books.

BUTLER, JAMES GLENTWORTH, clergyman, author, was born in 1821 in New York. He is a presbyterian clergyman of New York; and the author of The Bible Work, an extended scriptural commentary; and The Fourfold Gospel.

BUTLER, JOHN GEORGE, clergyman, orator, was born in 1826, in Cumberland, Md. In 1849 he accepted a call to the pastorate of the St. Paul English Lutheran church in Washington, D. C., in which city his ministry of over forty years has been spent. In 1867 he was elected chaplain of the house of representatives; and in 1886 he was chosen chaplain of the senate. He is widely known as a pulpit orator, a successful pastor and influential member of the general synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

BUTLER, JOHN JAY, theologian, author, was born April 9, 1814, in Berwick, Maine. He is a free baptist clergyman of Michigan; and has been professor of sacred literature in Hillsdale college since 1873. He is the author of Natural and Revealed Theology; and Commentary on the Gospels.

BUTLER, JOSIAH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1780 in Rockingham county, N. H. He was repeatedly elected to the state legislature and was elected a representative in congress from New Hampshire in 1817-23; and was then appointed judge of the superior court of New Hampshire, which position he held until the office was abolished. He died Oct. 9, 1854, in Deerfield.

BUTLER, LOU GREER, artist, poet, was born Feb. 4, 1855, in Santa Rosa, Cal. She has attained success in crayon, pastel and landscape drawing and painting, and for many years was proprietor of a photographic establishment. She has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press, and several of her poems have been given a place in standard works.

BUTLER, MANN, author. He emigrated to Kentucky in 1806, and published a History of Kentucky. He died in November, 1835, in Missouri, in consequence of a railroad accident.

BUTLER, MARION, journalist, United States senator, was born May 20, 1863, in Sampson county, N. C. He was elected to the state senate in 1890; was the leader of the Alliance forces in that body and succeeded in bringing about a number of needed reforms. He was elected president of the state farmers' alliance in 1891, and re-elected in 1892; was elected vice-president of the national Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union in 1893, and elected president of that organization in 1894. His paper, The Caucasian, has been removed to Raleigh, N. C., and has probably the largest circulation and is one of the most influential papers in the state. He was elected to the United States senate as a populist for term expiring March 3, 1901.

BUTLER, MATTHEW CALBRAITHE, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born March 8, 1836, near Greenville, S. C. He was elected to the legislature of South Carolina in 1860; entered the confederate service as captain of cavalry in the Hampton legion in June, 1861, and became a major-general through the regular grades, and lost his right leg at the battle of Brandy Station on the ninth of June, 1863. He was elected to the legislature of South Carolina in 1866; was a candidate for lieutenant-governor of South Carolina in 1870; received the democratic vote of the South Carolina legislature for United States senator in 1870; and was elected to the United States senate as a democrat; was admitted to his seat in 1877, and was re-elected in 1882 and again in 1889.

BUTLER, MICHAEL J., contractor, legislator, was born June 24, 1851, in Carbondale, Pa. During 1859-81 he worked in the mines of Pennsylvania; then was employed in a Chicago packing house for four years; and during 1885-87 was clerk of the health department. During 1887-90 he was United States gauger; for three years corporation inspector; and for two years superintendent of sidewalks. Since 1895 he has been a successful contractor, and in the fall of 1896 was elected to the general assembly of the Illinois house of representatives.

BUTLER, NICHOLAS MURRAY, educator, author, was born in 1862 in New Jersey. He is an educator of New York city, and professor of philosophy in Columbia college. He is the author of Horace Mann and American Systems of Education.

BUTLER, NOBLE, educator, author, was born in 1819 in Washington county, Pa. He was a classical professor in the university of Louisville, and published A Practical and Critical English Grammar and other valuable text-books. He died Feb. 12, 1882, in Louisville, Ky.

BUTLER, PERCIVAL, soldier, was born in 1760, in Pennsylvania. He rose to the rank of captain in the revolutionary war; and served as adjutant-general in the war of 1812. He died Sept. 11, 1821, in Port William, Ky.

BUTLER, PIERCE, soldier, United States senator, was born July 11, 1744, in Ireland. In 1778 he was a delegate from South Carolina to the old congress; and in 1788, a member of the convention which framed the constitution of the United States, and signed the same. In 1802 he became again a senator in congress, but resigned in 1804. He died Feb. 15, 1822, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BUTLER, PIERCE MASON, soldier, was born April 11, 1798, in Edgefield, S. C. He was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant in 1823, and attained the grade of captain in 1825. After four years of service he resigned his commission, and in 1829 became a resident of Columbia, S. C., and was elected president of a bank established at that place. He was killed in battle Aug. 20, 1847, in Churubusco, Mexico.

BUTLER, RICHARD, soldier, was born in Ireland. He attained the rank of colonel in the revolutionary war, and in 1791 was made a major-general. He was tomahawked and scalped Nov. 4, 1791, in an expedition against the Indians.

BUTLER, RICHARD, soldier, merchant, manufacturer, was born Aug. 9, 1831, in Birmingham, Ohio. In 1879 he accepted the presidency of an extensive hard rubber company, which was organized in 1883 as the Butler Hard Rubber company.

BUTLER, RODERICK R., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 8, 1827, in Wytheville, Va. He was a justice of the peace; a major of the militia; a postmaster under President Fillmore; served two years in the state assembly and one in the state senate. He was a county judge; was a lieutenant-colonel during the rebellion; and was subsequently judge of the first judicial district of the state, holding the office from 1865 to 1867. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the fortieth, forty-first, forty-second, forty-third and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

BUTLER, SAMSON H., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1840 to 1843.

BUTLER, SIMEON, publisher, manufacturer, author, was born in 1770. In 1792 he established the first publishing house in western Massachusetts at Northampton. He printed the earliest American edition of Vattel's Law of Nations, and the first volume of Massachusetts supreme court reports, and brought out Dwight's School Geography. He also engaged in paper-making, and manufactured the first domestic letter paper used by the United States senate. He died in 1847 in Northampton, Mass.

BUTLER, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Carlisle, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Louisiana from 1818 to 1821. He died Aug. 14, 1847.

BUTLER, THOMAS BELDEN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Aug. 22, 1806, in Wethersfield, Conn. He was a Connecticut jurist whose Philosophy of the Weather, 1856, appeared later in enlarged form as a Concise Analytical and Logical Development of the Atmospheric System. He served in the Connecticut state legislature; and was a representative in congress in 1849-51. He died June 8, 1873, in Norwalk, Conn.

BUTLER, THOMAS S., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1855, in Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Chester county bar, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BUTLER, WALT H., congressman, was born Feb. 13, 1852, in Springboro, Pa. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BUTLER, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Columbia, S. C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1841 to 1843.

BUTLER, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1879 he was appointed United States district judge for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

BUTLER, WILLIAM, soldier, physician, state legislator, was born in 1759 in Prince William county, Pa. Soon after the war he was made a brigadier-general, and in 1796 major-general of militia. He was a member of the United States congress from 1801 to 1811. He was a member of the convention which framed the constitution of South Carolina, and for some years a member of the legislature; and in 1794 he was sheriff, and at one time magistrate. In the war of 1812 he commanded the South Carolina troops for state defense. He died Nov. 15, 1821, in Columbus, S. C.

BUTLER, WILLIAM, missionary, author, was born in 1819 in Ireland. He is a methodist missionary, and the author of The Land of the Veda; From Boston to Bareilly and Back; and Mexico in Transition from the Power of Political Romanism to Civil and Religious Liberty.

BUTLER, WILLIAM ALLEN, author, poet, was born Feb. 20, 1825, in Albany, N. Y. He is a lawyer of New York city, and has been president of the American bar association. He is well known as a writer of poetical satires, among which Nothing to Wear has long been famous. Others are, Two Millions; General Average, a satire upon mercantile life; Barnum's Parnassus. His prose writings include Martin Van Buren, a Biography; Mrs. Limber's Raffle, an able attack on the morality of church fairs; Domesticus, a Story; Oberammergau; and The History of the Revision of the Statutes of New York.

BUTLER, WILLIAM JOSEPH, lawyer, legislator, was born May 13, 1868, in Springfield, Ill. He has attained distinction as a lawyer, and in 1895-96 was a member of the thirty-ninth general assembly of Illinois.

BUTLER, WILLIAM O., soldier, public official, poet, was born in 1793 in Jessamine county, Ky. He enlisted as a soldier in the war of 1812. He was elected a representative in congress from Kentucky in 1839, and re-elected in 1841. During the war with Mexico he obtained such distinction that he was promoted to the position of major-general in the regular army; and a sword was voted to him by congress. In 1848 he was the democratic candidate for vice-president, on the ticket with Lewis Cass for president. He was appointed governor of Nebraska territory, but declined the appointment. He was the author of many fugitive pieces of poetry, several of which possess uncommon merit, and one, entitled The Boat Horn, attained great popularity.

BUTLER, ZEBULON, soldier, was born in 1731 in Lyme, Conn. In 1769 he settled at Wyoming, Pa. In the early part of the revolutionary war he was a lieutenant-colonel in the Connecticut line, serving in New Jersey in 1777-78, and became colonel on March 13, 1778. On July 3, 1778, he commanded the weak garrison at Wyoming at the time of the massacre, which he was unable to prevent. He accompanied Sullivan in his Indian expedition in 1779, and served with distinction throughout the war. He died July 28, 1795, in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

BUTMAN, SAMUEL, congressman, United States senator. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1822, 1826 and 1827, and was a representative in congress from Penobscot county, Maine, from 1827 to 1831. In 1853 he was again elected to the legislature, and made president of the senate. He died in 1864.

BUTT, CYRUS M., soldier, farmer, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Sept. 30, 1833, in Morgan county, Ohio. He served with distinction during the civil war; and was promoted to lieutenant-colonel. He is a prominent lawyer of Viroqua, Wis.; has been district attorney for six years; was state senator for two years; county judge for twelve years; and for the past fifteen years has been a member of the board of education. In 1892 he was the people's party candidate for governor of Wisconsin, and for congress in 1894. He has served as president of the farmers' alliance of Wisconsin since its organization, excepting the first term.

BUTTERFIELD, CHARLES HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born May, 1833, in Farmington, Maine. During the war of the rebellion he served under the commission of major and then lieutenant-colonel in an Indiana regiment. He has since held the office of judge of the Vanderburg county circuit court of that state, and of mayor of the city of Evansville.

BUTTERFIELD, CONSUL WILL-SHIRE, educator, author, was born July 28, 1824, in Mexico, N. Y. He is the author of History of Seneca County, Ohio; An Historical Account of the Expedition against Sandusky in 1782; The History and Biographical Annals of the University of Wisconsin; and History of the Discovery of the Northwest by John Nicolet. He has edited the Washington-Crawford Letters; the Washington-Irvine Correspondence; and A Short Biography of John Leith.

BUTTERFIELD, MARTIN, congressman. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-sixth congress.

BUTTERS, MARY E., poet, was born in Exeter, Maine. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Harp of Hesper.

BUTTERWORTH, BENJAMIN, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 22, 1837, in Warren county, Ohio. He was a state senator in 1873 and 1874; was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses; and in 1884 was appointed commissioner of patents in the department of the interior. He was again elected a representative in the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses.

BUTTERWORTH, DANIEL, soldier, merchant, was born Oct. 31, 1831, in Utica, N. Y. He became a merchant in New York city. He was colonel of the twelfth New York militia when the civil war began. Accompanying his regiment to Washington in July, 1861, he led the advance into Virginia over the Long Bridge, joined Gen. Patterson on the upper Potomac, and commanded a brigade. On the enlargement of the regular army, he was commissioned a lieutenant-colonel, and assigned to the twelfth infantry, May 14, 1861; appointed brigadier-general of volunteers in 1861.

BUTTERWORTH, HEZEKIAH, author, poet, was born Dec. 22, 1839, in Warren, R. I. In 1870 he became connected with the Youth's Companion as assistant editor, a position which he filled for a quarter of a century. He is best known as the author of Zigzag Journeys, of which nearly half a million copies have been sold. Besides publishing several volumes of Zigzag Journeys, Great Composers, The Knight of Liberty, In the Boyhood of Lincoln, The Patriot Schoolmaster, and other popular juvenile books, he is the author of two collections of musical verse, Songs of History; Poems for Christmas, Easter, and New Year's.

BUTTERWORTH, THEODORE, publisher, was born July 7, 1844, in Shelby county, Mo. He is the editor and proprietor of The Western Agriculturalist, of Chicago, Ill.; and has always been identified with the improvement of live stock. He was chairman of good roads congress during the World's Fair.

BUTTLER, CHARLES VOORHEES, physician, was born Jan. 18, 1869, in New Brunswick, N. J. He located in Norwich, Conn., and successfully practiced his profession.

BUTTRE, JOHN CHESTER, engraver, was born June 10, 1821, in Auburn, N. Y. In his youth he developed a talent for drawing; and in 1841 moved to New York city, and thereafter gave his attention to steel-plate engraving. He arose to the very head of his profession; and he brought out steel engravings of Lincoln, Grant, Lee, Jackson, McClellan, Burnside, and other celebrities, of which the aggregate sale amounted to several million copies. He also made a specialty of mezzo-tints, and won considerable reputation through this style of work. He died Dec. 2, 1893, in Ridgewood, N. J.

BUTTS, MRS. MARY FRANCES BARBER, author, poet, was born in 1836, in Rhode Island. She is a writer of popular juvenile works; and the author of Three Girls; Lottie; Nellie's New Home; Lizzie and Her Friends; and The Frolic Series. She is also the author of a volume of poems, entitled Cockle Shells and Silver Bells.

BUTTZ, CHARLES WILSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1837, in Stroudsburg, Pa. He entered the union army in 1861 as second lieutenant, and rose to the rank of brevet major; and in 1863 resigned because of ill-health. He engaged in the practice of law at Norfolk, Va.; and was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1864. In 1872 he was elected solicitor of the first judicial circuit of South Carolina for the term of four years; and was elected to fill the vacancy in the forty-fourth congress.

BYERLY, WILLIAM ELLWOOD, educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a professor of mathematics at Harvard university; and the author of Elements of Differential Calculus; and Elements of Integral Calculus.

BYERS, ISAAC WINGERD, educator, lawyer, was born Dec. 16, 1868, in Chambersburg, Pa. He graduated with honors from the Princeton university, N. J.; and during 1893-94 was professor of mathematics in the Princeton college, Ky. He has served as city attorney of Iron River, Mich.; and as circuit court commissioner of Iron county.

BYERS, SAMUEL HAWKINS MARSHALL, diplomat, author, poet, was born July 23, 1838, in Pulaski, Pa. He was a United States consul at Zurich, subsequently a consul-general to Italy, and now a resident of Des Moines. He was the author of Switzerland and the Swiss: Historical and Descriptive; Florence: History of Switzerland; What I Saw in Dixie; Military History of Iowa; and The Happy Isles, and Other Poems. He is the author of the popular poem entitled Sherman's March to the Sea.

BYERS, WILLIAM NEWTON, civil engineer, journalist, state legislator, was born Feb. 22, 1831, in Madison county, Ohio. He has been United States deputy surveyor in Iowa, Oregon, Washington, Nebraska and Colorado. He was a member of the first Nebraska state legislature; of the first Colorado constitutional convention; and postmaster of Denver in 1864-66 and 1879-83. He founded The Rocky Mountain News in 1859, of which he was editor and publisher for twenty years.

BYFIELD, NATHANIEL, jurist, author, was born in 1653, in England. He was a jurist of note in Massachusetts in the colonial period; and the author of Account of the Late War in England, 1689. He died June 6, 1733, in Boston, Mass.

BYFORD, HENRY T., educator, physician, was born Nov. 12, 1853, in Evansville, Ind. He is a professor of gynecology in the Chicago Post-Graduate Medical school and professor of clinical gynecology in the Woman's Medical college. He is gynecologist to St. Luke's hospital; and surgeon to the Woman's hospital of Chicago, Ill.

BYFORD, WILLIAM HEATH, physician, author, was born March 20, 1817, in Eaton, Ohio. He was a physician of prominence in Chicago; and the author of Practice of Medicine and Surgery Applied to Diseases and Accidents Peculiar to Women; Theory and Practice of Obstetrics; and Philosophy of Domestic Life. He died in 1890.

BYINGTON, EZRA HOYT, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1828, in Hinesburgh, Vt. He graduated from the university of Vermont in 1852, and from Andover Theological seminary in 1857. He was librarian at the New England Historical and Genealogical society, and has filled pastorates in various cities. He is the author of The Puritan in England and New England, and a large number of local histories.

BYINGTON, HORACE W., capitalist, was born in December, 1828, in Plymouth, Conn. Since 1849 he has been a resident of California; has been a successful business man of Santa Rosa; and is now a retired capitalist. He has been mayor of Santa Rosa; collector of internal revenue under President Harrison's administration; and was a delegate to the republican national convention held in Chicago in 1888.

BYLES, CHARLES N., banker, public official, was born March 20, 1844, in Louisville, Ky. He is the president of the bank of Montesana, Washington; and has been auditor and treasurer of his county.

BYLES, MATHER, clergyman, author, was born March 15, 1707, in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Boston, famous both as preacher and wit. After forty-three years' ministry in the Hollis Street church, his tory sympathies obliged him to give up his charge in 1776. He died July 5, 1788, in Boston, Mass.

BYNNER, EDWIN LASSETTER, author, was born in 1842, in New York. His best work is included in the three historical tales, Agnes Surriage; The Begum's Daughter; and Zachary Phips. Of lesser importance are Nimporit; Tritons; Damen's Ghost; Penelope's Suitors; and The Chase of the Meteor, a book for boys. He died in 1893.

BYNUM, J. H. T., lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 1, 1856, in North county, Ga. He is a successful lawyer of Live Oak, Fla.; and in 1897 was elected a member of the Florida state senate.

BYNUM, JESSE A., state legislator, congressman, was born in Halifax county, N. C. He served a number of years in the state legislature; and was a member of congress from North Carolina from 1833 to 1841. While in congress he fought a duel with Daniel Jenifer, which terminated harmlessly.

BYNUM, WILLIAM DALLAS, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born June 26, 1846, in Newberry, Ind. In 1871-75 he was city attorney of Washington, Ind.; its mayor during 1875-79; and in 1876 he was a democratic elector. He subsequently moved to Indianapolis; was a member of the state legislature in 1882; and elected speaker of the house at the beginning of the session of 1883. He was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, and fifty-third congresses as a democrat; and took an active part in important measures. He was instrumental in the organization of the democratic sound money movement.

BYRD, CHARLES W., jurist, was born in Virginia. In 1803 he was appointed United States judge for the district of Ohio.

BYRD, WILLIAM, author, was born March 16, 1674, in Westover, Va. He was a colonial Virginian and man of letters, whose journals, first published in 1841, are known as The Westover Manuscripts, from Westover, the family mansion of Byrd. A fuller collection, styled The Byrd Manuscripts, was printed in 1866, edited by T. Wynne. They are well worth reading for their wit, keen observations, and vigorous style. They comprise The Story of the Dividing Line, an account of the expedition to fix the boundary between Virginia and North Carolina; A Progress to the Mines; and A Journey to the Land of Eden. He died Aug. 26, 1744, in Westover, Va.

BYRDE, EDWARD C., journalist, was born July 10, 1874, in Litchfield, Minn. He is the editor and owner of the Spink County Chronicle of Redfield, S. D.

BYRN, MARCUS LAFAYETTE, physician, author. He is the author of Complete Practical Brewer; Rattlehead's Travels, or the Recollections of a Backwoodsman; Complete Practical Distiller; Repository of Wit and Humor; Book of Nature, an expositor of the Science of Life and Sexual Physiology; and Family Physician.

BYRNE, JOHN, railroad president, was born in Maryland. He is the president of the Central New York and Western railroad.

BYRNE, WILLIAM, soldier, merchant, was born Oct. 10, 1838, in Ireland. He served in the civil war as a confederate; in 1880 he moved to Jacksonville, Fla., where he was engaged in the mercantile business; and also invested largely in phosphate lands, city lots and business blocks. He improves his city property, and has been one of the foremost citizens of Jacksonville in building and beautifying the city.

BYRNS, SAM, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 4, 1848, in Jefferson county, Mo. He was elected in 1876 a member of the twenty-ninth general assembly to represent Jefferson county; was elected state senator for the twenty-sixth senatorial district in 1878; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BYRUM, ALMON COE, lawyer, jurist, was born March 31, 1861, in Jo Daviess county, Ill. He has attained success as a lawyer of Onida, S. D.; and served with distinction as judge of the county court.

BYRUM, ENOCH EDWIN, clergyman, journalist, author, poet, was born Oct. 13, 1861, in Randolph county, Ind. He is editor of the Gospel Trumpet and Shining Light; and is the author of The Secret of Salvation; Divine Healing; Boy's Companion; and other works.

CABANISS, ELBRIDGE GERRY, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1802, in Greene county, Ga. He moved to Forsyth, Monroe county, Ga., and was elected judge of the court of ordinary; in 1858 he became judge of the supreme court, and in 1861 was elected to the state legislature. He died in April, 1872, in Atlanta, Ga.

CABANISS, HENRY HARRISON, journalist, was born June 21, 1848, in Forsyth, Ga. He graduated from the university of Georgia; was assistant secretary of the Georgia senate for eighteen years, and is now the proprietor of The Journal, a daily newspaper of Atlanta, Ga.

CABANISS, THOMAS B., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Forsyth, Ga. He entered the confederate army in 1861, and surrendered with General Lee at Appomattox. He was elected to the house of representatives of Georgia in 1865, and four times subsequently to the senate of that state. He was solicitor-general of the Flint circuit for a term of four years, and was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

CABELL, EDWARD CARRINGTON, planter, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1816, in Richmond, Va. In 1837 he removed to the territory of Florida, where he settled as a cotton planter, and represented the state of Florida in congress from 1847 to 1853.

CABELL, GEORGE C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 25, 1837, in Danville, Va. He entered the confederate service in 1861, and at the end of the war held the rank of colonel. He was nominated for congress by the conservatives in 1874, and elected as a representative to the forty-fourth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

CABELL, JAMES LAWRENCE, physician, author, was born Aug. 26, 1813, in Nelson county, Va. He was an eminent Virginia physician, and the author of The Testimony of Modern Science to the Unity of Mankind. He died in 1889.

CABELL, JOSEPH, soldier, legislator, was born Sept. 19, 1732. For many years he held important civil offices in his native state, occupying a seat in the house of burgesses and serving as a member of the different conventions. During the war for independence he commanded the Buckingham county regiment. He died March 1, 1798, in Sion Hill.

CABELL, MRS. JULIA MAYO, author, poet, was born in 18—, in Virginia. She was the author of An Odd Volume of Facts and Fiction in Prose and Verse; and Sketches and Recollections of Lynchburg. She died about 1855.

CABELL, SAMUEL J., soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 15, 1756, in Amherst county, Va. He attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the continental army. For many years he was a member of the Virginia assembly and was a representative in congress, from Virginia, from 1795 to 1803. He died Aug. 4, 1818, in Nelson county, Va.

CABELL, WILLIAM, state senator, was born March 13, 1730, in Licking Hole, Va. About 1773 he aided in establishing iron-works on Hardware river. He was a member of the house of burgesses when the colonies revolted against Great Britain, and a delegate to all the conventions looking toward national independence. He was chosen first state senator from the eighth district, and was a member of the committee that prepared the famous declaration of rights. He died March 23, 1798, in Union Hill.

CABELL, WILLIAM H., governor, was born Dec. 16, 1772, in Boston Hill, Va. He was governor of Virginia from 1805 to 1808; afterward president of the court of appeals, and spent fifty years in public life. He died Jan. 17, 1853, in Richmond, Va.

CABLE, BENJAMIN T., manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 11, 1853, in Georgetown, Ky. He has been engaged in ranching and manufacturing; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

CABLE, GEORGE WASHINGTON, soldier, author, was born Oct. 12, 1844, in New Orleans, La. He is a writer of fiction who has reproduced with much success the life and dialect among the creoles of Louisiana. He served in the confederate army during the civil war, and is now a resident of Northampton, Mass. He is the author of Old Creole Days; The Grandissimes; Madame Delphine; Dr. Sevier; John March, Southerner; Bonaventure; Strange True Stories of Louisiana; The Creoles of Louisiana; The Silent South; The Busy Man's Bible; and The Negro Question.

CABLE, JOSEPH, congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1853.

CABLE, RANSOM R., railroad president, was born in 1834, in Athens county, Ohio. About 1859 he entered the coal and railroad business at Rock Island, and rose to be superintendent and finally president of the Peoria and Rock Island railroad. In 1883 he was made president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, which caused him to select Chicago for his home.

CABOT, GEORGE, United States senator, was born Dec. 3, 1751, in Salem, Mass. Before he was twenty-six years old he was elected a member of the provincial congress from Massachusetts, where he advocated those principles of political economy for which he was afterward distinguished. He was a member of the convention which formed the constitution of that state, and also of that which ratified the constitution of the United States. In 1791 to 1796 he served in the United States senate, and was one of the most distinguished members of that body. He died April 8, 1823, in Boston, Mass.

CABOT, JAMES ELLIOT, journalist, author, was born in 1821 in Massachusetts. He is a Boston writer whose principal work is A Memoir of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

CADILLAC, ANTOINE DE LA M., founder of Detroit, was born about 1660, in France. He was the founder of Detroit in 1704; laid out lots and streets, and built the first chapel. He died about 1720 in France.

CADMUS, CORNELIUS A., congressman, was born Oct. 1844, in Bergen county, N. J. He was elected a member of the house of general assembly from Passaic county in 1883; was elected sheriff of Passaic county in 1887 for three years, and was elected to the fifty-second and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

CADWALADER, GEORGE, soldier, author. In 1862 he was appointed major-general of volunteers. He was one of the commission to revise the military laws and regulations. In 1862 His Services in the Mexican Campaign of 1847 was published in Philadelphia.

CADWALADER, JOHN, general, was born in 1742 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania convention in 1775, and an active member of the committee of safety. In the autumn of 1777, at the request of Washington, he assisted in organizing the militia of the eastern shore of Maryland. He died Feb. 10, 1786, in Shrewsbury, Pa.

CADWALADER, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 1, 1805, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1854 he was elected a representative in the thirty-fourth congress; declined a renomination and returned to the practice of his profession. In 1858 he was appointed judge of the district court of the United States for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

CADWALADER, LAMBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in Trenton, N. J. He commanded a regiment early in the revolution, and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1784 to 1787. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1789 to 1791, and again from 1793 to 1795. He died Sept. 12, 1823, in Trenton, N. J.

CADWALLADER, EMMA N., educator, poet. She is a writer of Oskaloosa, Iowa, and has contributed a number of meritorious poems to the periodical press.

CADY, ALBEMARLE, soldier, was born Feb. 15, 1807, in Keene, N. H. He was graduated at the United States military academy in 1829; served against the Indians in Florida until 1842, and was at the siege of Vera Cruz and in the battles of Cerro Gordo, Churubusco, and Molino del Rey. At the beginning of the civil war he was on duty on the Pacific coast, and remained there until 1864. He was retired for disability resulting from long and faithful service, and received the brevet of brigadier-general U. S. A. in 1865. He died March 14, 1888, in New Haven, Conn.

CADY, DANIEL, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 29, 1773, in Chatham, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1815 to 1817; previously served five years in the state legislature, and in 1846 was elected a judge of the supreme court of New York, which position he resigned in 1856. He died Oct. 31, 1859, in Johnstown, N. Y.

CADY, ERNEST, merchant, governor, was born Sept. 6, 1842, in Stafford, Conn. In 1870 he established the grocery firm of Cummings and Cady, of Hartford, Conn.; and in 1892 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Connecticut.

CADY, JOHN W., congressman. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1822, and was a representative in congress from that state from 1823 to 1825.

CAFFERTY, JAMES H., artist, was born in 1819. His most notable paintings are My Girl; My Father; and Brook-Trout. He died Sept. 9, 1869.

CAFFERY, DONELSON, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born Sept. 10, 1835, in St. Mary, La. He served in the confederate army, first in the thirteenth Louisiana regiment, and subsequently on the staff of Gen. W. W. Walker. He practiced law and engaged in sugar planting after the war; was a member of the constitutional convention of 1879; and was elected to the state senate in 1892. He was appointed United States senator to fill a vacancy.

CAGE, HARRY, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Mississippi from 1833 to 1835.

CAHAN, ABRAHAM, journalist, author, was born in 1860 in Russia. He is a New York city journalist, and editor of Zukunft. He is the author of Yekl, a Tale of the New York Ghetto; and Raphael Narizokh (Yiddish).

CAHILL, JUAN F., diplomat, journalist, poet. His writings are better known throughout Spanish-America than at home; particularly through his editorials which have appeared in El Comercio del Valle, published in St. Louis, Mo., and of which he has been editor and proprietor for the past fifteen years.

CAHILL, LE ROY, manufacturer, inventor, was born Aug. 22, 1841, in Portage, Mich. He converted a common plow into a riding plow. He is the owner of a large manufacturing house in Kalamazoo, president of the electric light company, and director of a number of prosperous corporations.

CAHOON, WILLIAM, jurist, statesman. He was a presidential elector in 1809; from 1815 to 1820 he was a state councillor; county judge for nine years, and lieutenant-governor of Vermont in 1820 and 1821. For seven years he was a member of the state legislature, and a representative in congress from Vermont from 1829 to 1833.

CAIN, RICHARD H., clergyman, congressman, was born April 12, 1825, in Greenbrier county, Va. He entered the ministry at an early age and was sent as a missionary to the freedmen in South Carolina. He was chosen a member of the constitutional convention of South Carolina; was elected a member of the state senate and served two years; edited a newspaper from 1868; and was elected to the forty-third and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

CAIN, WILLIAM, civil engineer, author, was born in 1847 in North Carolina. He is a professor of civil engineering in the university of North Carolina, and the author of Theory of Voussoir; Solid and Braced Arches; Maximum Stress in Framed Bridges; Solid and Braced Elastic Bridges; Symbolic Algebra; and Practical Designing of Retaining Walls.

CAINE, JOHN T., statesman, was born Jan. 8, 1829, in Isle of Man. He settled in Utah in 1852; engaged in various pursuits; was secretary of the legislative council in 1856-60; was a delegate to the constitutional conventions of 1872 and 1882; and served in the territorial council in 1874, 1876, 1880 and 1882. He was elected a regent of the Deseret university in 1876, 1878, 1880 and 1882; was elected recorder of Salt Lake City in 1876, and re-elected in 1878, 1880 and 1882. He was elected a delegate from Utah to the forty-seventh congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses.

CAINES, GEORGE, author, was born in 1771. He was a reporter of the New York supreme court, and the author of Lex Mercatoria Americana; Cases in the Court of Errors; Forms of New York Supreme Court; Summary of Practice in New York Supreme Court; Cases in the Court for Trial of Impeachments; and New York Supreme Court Reports. He died July 10, 1825, in Catskill, N. Y.

CAIRNS, CHARLES S., lawyer, state legislator, was born July 4, 1856, in Muskingum county, Ohio. He attended Muskingum college and law department of the Michigan university. He was a member of the Minnesota legislature, and for years has taken an active part in the public affairs of the state of Minnesota, and with a view to improving the state and city governments.

CAKE, HENRY L., soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1827, in Northumberland, Pa. He was elected brigadier-general of militia in 1854; on April 18, 1861, arrived in Washington in command of the first five hundred soldiers enlisted to put down the rebellion, and was quartered in the capitol twenty-four hours before any other volunteers had arrived. Mr. Cake was twice a candidate for the state senate, and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the fortieth and forty-first congresses.

CALDERHEAD, WILLIAM A., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 26, 1844, in Perry county, Ohio. He enlisted in 1862 as a private in company H, one hundred and twenty-sixth Ohio infantry; was transferred to company D, ninth veteran reserves, for disability incurred in the service, and discharged June 27, 1865. In 1872 he settled on a homestead near Newton, Kan., and taught school one year in Newton. He was elected county attorney in the fall of 1888 and served two years; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

CALDWELL, ALEXANDER, jurist. He was for several years United States district judge for the western district of Virginia. He died April 8, 1839, in Wheeling, W. Va.

CALDWELL, ALEXANDER, soldier, congressman, was born March 1, 1830, in Huntington county, Pa. He enlisted in 1847 as a soldier in the Mexican war, entering his father's company, who was killed at one of the gates of the city of Mexico. He went in 1861 to Kansas, where he engaged in the transportation of military supplies to the various posts on the plains, and was afterward largely interested in the building of railroads and bridges. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican, and served during 1871-77.

CALDWELL, ANDREW J., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born at Montevallo, Ala. He served in the confederate army throughout the civil war. In 1870 he was elected attorney-general for the criminal district of Nashville and Murfreesboro, Tenn., and served eight years. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

CALDWELL, CHARLES, physician, author, was born May 14, 1772, in Caswell county, N. C. He was a Kentucky physician, who beside publishing some 200 technical monographs and pamphlets, wrote The Life and Campaigns of General Greene, and translated Blumenbach's Elements of Physiology. He died July 9, 1853, in Louisville, Ky.

CALDWELL, D. W., railroad president, was born in 1830 in Massachusetts. Since 1895 he has been president of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad; and he is also president of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad at Cleveland, Ohio.

CALDWELL, GEORGE A., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845, and again from 1849 to 1851. He died Sept. 17, 1866, in Louisville, Ky.

CALDWELL, GEORGE CHAPMAN, educator, author, was born Aug. 14, 1834, in Framingham, Mass. He is a professor of agricultural chemistry at Cornell university, and the author of Agricultural Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis; Manual of Introductory Chemical Practice (with A. Breneman); and Manual of Qualitative Chemical Analysis.

CALDWELL, GREENE W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born April 13, 1811, in Gaston county, N. C. He served a number of years in the state legislature, and was a member of congress from North Carolina from 1841 to 1843. He was subsequently appointed superintendent of the United States mint at Charlotte, which position he resigned. He participated in the war with Mexico as volunteer captain of a company of dragoons.

CALDWELL, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 4, 1832, in Marshall county, Va. He received his education at the common schools of Iowa; became prosecuting attorney of Van Buren county, and a member of the legislature of Iowa from 1859 till 1861. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, and became major, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel of the third regiment, Iowa volunteer cavalry. For a quarter of a century he faithfully served his country as United States district judge in Arkansas; and since 1890 has been judge of the United States circuit court of appeals for the eighth judicial circuit of Arkansas.

CALDWELL, HENRY MARTYN, capitalist, was born in 1836, in Greenville, Ala. He founded the Elyton Land company, formed with a capital of $200,000, which purchased a tract of several thousand acres in Jones valley at a railroad crossing, and laid it out in streets. Furnaces were built for smelting the iron from the neighboring hills, workmen were brought to the town, and houses, banks, and all the equipment of a center of industry were created near Birmingham, Ala.

CALDWELL, JAMES, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1813 to 1817.

CALDWELL, JOHN, soldier, was born in Prince Edward county, Va. He removed to Kentucky in 1781, served in the conflicts with the Indians, and became a major-general of militia. He was a member of the Kentucky state conventions of 1787 and 1788, and of the state senate in 1792 and 1793. He died Nov. 9, 1804, in Frankfort, Ky.

CALDWELL, JOHN ALEXANDER, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 21, 1852, in Fair Haven, Ohio. In 1881-85 he served as prosecuting attorney of Cincinnati, Ohio, and was elected judge of the police court in 1887. He has been president of the Ohio republican league, and chairman of the national republican congressional committee. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a republican, and in 1894 resigned to become mayor of Cincinnati.

CALDWELL, JOHN CURTIS, soldier, diplomat, was born April 17, 1833, in Lowell, Vt. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862, and brevetted major-general in 1865. He was a member of the Maine senate; adjutant-general of the state in 1867; and in 1869 was United States consul at Valparaiso, Chili. From 1873 till 1882 he was minister to Uruguay and Paraguay; and in 1885, having removed to Kansas, was president of the board of pardons of that state.

CALDWELL, JOHN H., lawyer, congressman, was born in Huntsville, Ala. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses.

CALDWELL, JOHN MERRILL, soldier, clergyman, was born Aug. 29, 1839, in Rockland, Maine. He entered the union army in 1861, but was disabled after a few months of service. He joined the Rock River conference and served as principal of the Rock River seminary. In 1869 he went to the Princeton church, and since then he has been in charge of several prominent churches, among them the Ada Street and Western Avenue churches of Chicago. He is the presiding elder of the Chicago western district of the methodist episcopal church.

CALDWELL, JOHN WILLIAM, soldier, congressman, was born Jan. 15, 1838, in Russellville, Ky. He entered the confederate army in 1861, as captain, and served throughout the war, rising to the rank of colonel. In 1866 he was elected county judge of Logan county, Ky., and was re-elected in 1870. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses, and declined a renomination.

CALDWELL, JOSEPH, educator, college president, author, was born April 21, 1773, in Lamington, N. J. He was a noted educator, who was president of the university of North Carolina, and the author of A Compendious System of Elementary Geometry; and Letters of Carleton. He died Jan. 24, 1835, in Chapel Hill, N. C.

CALDWELL, JOSEPH, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1808 in Iredell county, N. C. He entered public life in 1838, as a member of the state legislature, where he served a number of years, and was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1849 to 1853.

CALDWELL, LINUS BOUES, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 10, 1834, in Wilna, N. Y. He is a methodist clergyman and educator of Tennessee, and the author of Wines of Palestine, or The Bible Defended; and Beyond the Grave.

CALDWELL, MERRITT, educator, author, was born Nov. 29, 1806, in Hebron, Maine. He was a professor of metaphysics at Dickinson college, and the author of The Doctrine of the English Verb; Manual of Elocution; Philosophy of Christian Perfection; and Christianity Tested by Eminent Men. He died June 6, 1848, in Portland, Maine.

CALDWELL, PATRICK C., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1841 to 1843.

CALDWELL, ROBERT P., lawyer, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 16, 1821, in Adair county, Ky. He was elected to the legislature of Tennessee in 1847, and to the senate in 1855. He was elected attorney-general in the sixteenth judicial circuit in 1858; was major of infantry in the confederate service; had his disabilities removed by act of congress, and was elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat, serving on the committee on revolutionary pensions.

CALDWELL, SAMUEL LUNT, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 13, 1820, in Newburyport, Mass. He graduated from the Newton Theological Institute in 1845, and for five years was a professor of church history in that institution. From 1878-85 he was president of Vassar college. He was the author of Cities of Our Faith and Other Discourses and Addresses. He died in 1889 in Providence, R. I.

CALDWELL, TOD R., lawyer, state senator, governor, was born in 1818 in Morganton, N. C. He served in the state legislature from 1842 to 1844; was a state senator in 1850; lieutenant-governor in 1868, and in 1872 was elected governor of the state. He died July 11, 1874, in Hillsborough, N. C.

CALDWELL, WILLIAM PARKER, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 8, 1832, in Christmasville, Tenn. He attended the Bethel and Cumberland colleges, and graduated from the Cumberland university. He was twice a member of the Tennessee house of representatives; once a member of the Tennessee senate, and was a member of the forty-fourth and forty-fifth United States congresses. He served as a presidential elector twice, and has been a delegate to several national nominating conventions. He has had considerable experience as a judge—holding positions where the regular judges were under disabilities.

CALDWELL, WILLIAM WARREN, business man, poet, was born Oct. 28, 1823, in Newburyport, Mass. He is a druggist and a graduate of Bowdoin college. He has published poems, original and translated, and has translated many lyrics from the German.

CALEF, ROBERT, merchant, author, was born in 1648 in Massachusetts. He was a Boston merchant who published in 1700 More Wonders of the Invisible World, a satirical reply to Cotton Mather's Wonders of the Invisible World. Its line of argument was in direct opposition to the witchcraft persecutions, and the book was publicly burnt by Increase Mather in the grounds of Harvard college. He died in 1719.

CALHOUN, EDMUND ROSE, naval officer, was born May 6, 1821, in Chambersburg, Pa. He was appointed midshipman in 1869; was promoted commodore in 1876; and rear-admiral in 1882. His final services were performed as commandant of the Mare Island navy yard, and as inspector of vessels on the California coast.

CALHOUN, JAMES EDWARD, capitalist, soldier, was born in 1798, in Abbeville, S. C. He became occupied with planting and interests in land, and accumulated a very large estate, amounting to something like 25,000 acres in Abbeville county, S. C., and Washington county, Ga., extending on both sides of the Savannah river.

CALHOUN, JAMES S., governor, was born in Georgia. In 1851 he was appointed the first governor of the territory of New Mexico.

CALHOUN, JOHN, jurist, congressman, was born in Kentucky. For many years he was a circuit judge; in 1820 and 1821 was a member of the legislature from Ohio county, and in 1829, 1830, and 1840, a member of the same from Breckenridge county. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1835 to 1839. The county-seat of McLean county was named for him in 1852.

CALHOUN, JOHN CALDWELL, vice-president of the United States, author, was born March 18, 1782, in Abbeville

District, S. C. He was a South Carolina statesman who was secretary of state under Monroe, and again under Tyler; vice-president under John Quincy Adams, and United States senator from 1845 till his death. He was one of the ablest of political leaders, a great orator, and a political thinker of the first rank. His literary style is both vigorous and concise, and displays at times a remarkable intensity of expression. He was the author of A Disquisition on Government; and The Constitution and Government of the United States. He died March 31, 1850, in Washington, D. C.

CALHOUN, JOHN ERWIN, lawyer, United States senator, was born in 1749. He was for many years in the state legislature of South Carolina, and was a senator in congress from South Carolina from 1801 to 1802. He was a member of the committee which was instructed to report a modification of the judiciary system of the United States. He died Nov. 3, 1802, in Pendleton District, S. C.

CALHOUN, JOSEPH, congressman, was a representative in Congress, from South Carolina, from 1807 to 1811.

CALHOUN, PATRICK, financier, was born March 21, 1856, in Fort Hill, S. C. In 1889 he was appointed general counsel for the Terminal company, and the Railroad company of Atlanta, Ga.; and soon after became its president.

CALHOUN, WILLIAM BARRON, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 29, 1796, in Boston, Mass. He was a member of the state legislature from 1825 to 1835, and speaker for two years. He was a representative in congress, from his native state, from 1835 to 1843; president of the state senate in 1846 and 1847; secretary of state from 1848 to 1851; bank commissioner from 1853 to 1855; presidential elector in 1844; and mayor of Springfield in 1859. He died Nov. 8, 1865, in Springfield, Mass.

CALKIN, H. C., merchant, congressman, was born March 23, 1828, in Malden, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first congress.

CALKINS, FRANKLIN WELLES, author, was born June 5, 1855, in Iowa county, Wis. He attended the Iowa Agricultural college in 1876; taught school and read law for the succeeding three years. In 1880 he began contributing stories of adventure and sketches of western life and character in the Youth's Companion and other prominent publications. He is the author of a work entitled Tales of the West, in three volumes; and more than three hundred of his serials and short stories have been published. His power of vivid narration is conceded by the critics to be of the highest order of talent, and his stories are valuable for their lifelikeness and their truthfulness to character and environment.

CALKINS, NORMAN ALLISON, educator, author, was born Sept. 9, 1822, in New York. He was the first assistant superintendent of primary schools in New York city for thirty-three years, and was the author of Primary Object Lessons; How to Teach; Manual of Object Teaching; Aids for Object Teaching; Trades and Occupations; and Natural History Series for Children.

CALKINS, WILLIAM H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1842, in Pike county, Ohio. He entered the union army in 1861, and served almost continuously until 1865. He was state's attorney for the ninth judicial circuit from 1866 to 1870; was a representative in the state legislature in 1871; and was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

CALL, DANIEL, lawyer, was born about 1765. He was a brother-in-law of Chief Justice John Marshall, and published Reports of the Virginia Court of Appeals, in six volumes. He died May 20, 1840, in Richmond, Va.

CALL, JACOB, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1824 to 1825.

CALL, RICHARD KEITH, soldier, governor, was born in 1791 in Kentucky. He was appointed brigadier-general of the Florida militia; was a member of the legislative council of Florida in 1822; a delegate to congress from that territory, from 1823 to 1825; and receiver of public money for the land office. He was governor of Florida from 1836 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1844. He died Sept. 14, 1862, in Tallahassee, Fla.

CALL, RICHARD KEITH, soldier, inventor, author, was born in 1757. He was a major in the revolutionary army. He gave attention to scientific studies, and invented and modeled a railroad train and engine designed to minimize the atmospheric resistance. He has published a lecture on Physical Education and an Essay on Religion and Science. He died in 1792.

CALL, WILKINSON, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born in Russellville, Ky., but removed to Florida when a child. He served as adjutant-general in the confederate army in the war between the states; was presidential elector for the state at large in 1872 and 1876; was member of the national democratic executive committee in 1876, and delegate to the national democratic convention at St. Louis in 1876. He was chosen senator by the legislature of Florida under the provisional government established by President Johnson, but was denied admission. He was elected senator in 1879 and took his seat March 18, 1879, and was re-elected in 1885 and 1891. He has been in the United States senate for eighteen years, and is one of the strongest anti-corporationists in the state of Florida.

CALLAHAN, ETHELBERT, farmer, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 17, 1829, in Licking county, Ohio. He has been a justice of the peace at Robinson, Ill.; a member of the state board of equalization, and a delegate to the general conference of the methodist episcopal church. He has twice been a presidential elector, and for four terms served with distinction as a member of the general assembly of the state of Illinois. He has been president of the Illinois State Bar association, and a member of the commission to revise the laws of Illinois.

CALLAHAN, JAMES, capitalist, was born Oct. 12, 1818, in New Scotland, N. Y. He was one of the founders of the Hawkeye Insurance company of Des Moines, Iowa, and has been its vice-president for over twenty years.

CALLAHAN, JAMES YANCY, clergyman, farmer, congressman, was born Dec. 19, 1852, in Dent county, Mo. He was licensed as a local minister in the methodist episcopal church in 1880, which relation he holds at the present time. He has been engaged principally in farming, sawmilling, and mining. He removed to Oklahoma in 1892 and settled on a farm, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress by the populists and democrats on a free silver ticket.

CALLAWAY, S. R., railroad president. He is the president of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad.

CALLENDER, FRANKLIN D., soldier, was born about 1817 in New York. During the civil war he was on foundry and general ordnance duty, and was brevetted major in 1862, receiving his promotion to the full grade in 1863. He died Dec. 13, 1882, in Daysville, Ill.

CALLENDER, JAMES THOMAS, author, was born in England. He was a writer who was exiled from England on account of his pamphlet, The Political Progress of Great Britain. He was at first the friend and soon the violent political opponent of Thomas Jefferson. He was the author of Sketches of the History of America; and The Prospect Before Us. He was drowned in 1813 in the James river, near Richmond, Va.

CALLENDER, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1706 in Boston, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman of Newport, R. I., whose Historical Discourse, 1739, is a careful monograph of Rhode Island history for the first century of the colony's existence. He died Jan. 26, 1748, in Newport, R. I.

CALLENDER, WALTER, soldier, merchant, was born Nov. 24, 1847, in Columbus, Ga. He fought in the revolutionary war and rose to the rank of captain. At the close of the war he retired to organize the firm of Callender, McAuslan and Troup of Providence, R. I.

CALLIS, JOHN BENTON, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1828, in Fayetteville, N. C. He studied medicine, but never went into active practice. He served in the civil war as captain of company F, seventh regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry; was promoted to major, lieutenant-colonel, brevet-colonel, and brigadier-general for bravery during the war. He received a ball in the right lung at the battle of Gettysburg, July 1, 1863; and mustered out of volunteer service on Dec. 30 of the same year for disability. Six months later he was appointed major in the V. R. C.; and was assigned to duty as military superintendent of the war department in Washington, D. C. He was subsequently made captain in the forty-fifth United States infantry regular army; was promoted to brigadier-general of volunteers, and served until 1868. He was elected to the fortieth congress from Alabama, and served with distinction. During 1873-74 he served in the legislature of Wisconsin.

CALTHROP, SAMUEL ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 9, 1829, in England. He is a unitarian clergyman of Syracuse, and the author of Essay on Religion and Science; and The Rights of the Body.

CALVERLEY, CHARLES, sculptor, was born Nov. 1, 1833, in Albany, N. Y. Among his works are The Little Companions; Little Ida, a medallion; and bronze busts, heroic size, of John Brown; Horace Greeley, on his monument at Greenwood.

CALVERT, BENEDICT L., proprietary governor of Maryland, was born about 1700 in England. He was appointed governor of Maryland in 1726, presiding at the first session of the assembly of Maryland on Oct. 10, 1727. He died on his voyage to England.

CALVERT, CECIL, second baron of Baltimore, was born in 1606 in Ireland. His father, the first lord of Baltimore, died in 1632, before his patent to the province of Maryland had passed the royal seal; and consequently all the rights and privileges given thereunder were secured to Cecil, with the title of Absolute lord of Maryland and Aralon, in addition to the baronial estates of Baltimore. He died Nov. 30, 1675, in London, England.

CALVERT, CHARLES, third baron of Baltimore, was born in 1629 in London, England. He was sent to Maryland as governor in 1661, and on his father's death in 1675, succeeded him as lord-proprietor, holding his title until it was wrested from him by the protestant revolution in 1688. He died Feb. 20, 1715, in England.

CALVERT, CHARLES, fifth baron of Baltimore, was born Sept. 29, 1699. He was fourth palatine of Maryland, and proprietary governor. In 1732, finding his presence necessary to settle the boundary dispute with Pennsylvania, he arrived in the province and assumed the government in his own person, but returned to England in 1734. He died April 24, 1751, in England.

CALVERT, CHARLES B., state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 24, 1808, in Prince George county, Md. He was elected to the legislature of Maryland in 1839, 1843, and 1844, and was elected a representative from Maryland to the thirty-seventh congress. He died May 14, 1864, in Riverside, Md.

CALVERT, FREDERICK, sixth baron of Baltimore, was born in 1731 in England. In 1751 he succeeded to the title of baron of Baltimore and to the proprietaryship of Maryland. He was the author of A Tour to the East in the Years 1763 and 1764, with Remarks on the City of Constantinople; also Select Pieces of Oriental Wit, Poetry and Wisdom. He died Sept. 9, 1771, in Italy.

CALVERT, GEORGE, first baron of Baltimore, was born in 1581 in England. He explored the region of Chesapeake Bay, and on his return to England requested a grant for a district south of the James river. Meeting with opposition from the Virginia company, he applied for a grant north and east of the Potomac, but died before the grant was issued, and his son succeeded to his rights. He died April 15, 1632, in London, England.

CALVERT, GEORGE HENRY, author, poet, was born Jan. 2, 1803, in Prince George county, Md. He was the author of Goethe: His Life and Works; Dante and His Latest Translations; St. Beuve, the Critic; Count Julian, a tragedy; Three Score, and Other Poems, and a translation of Schiller's Don Carlos. He died May 24, 1889, in Newport, R. I.

CALVERT, LEONARD, proprietary governor of Maryland, was born in 1606. In 1633 he was sent to found the colony in Maryland. He landed at Blackstone Island in 1634, and made the first settlement, which was named St. Mary's. He died June 9, 1647.

CALVERT, PHILIP, proprietary governor of Maryland. In 1666 he was commissioned governor of Maryland.

CALVIN, DELANO C., lawyer, author, was born Nov. 3, 1824, in Jefferson county, N. Y. He has attained success as a noted lawyer of New York city, and is the author of a number of works.

CALVIN, SAMUEL, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born July 30, 1811, in Washingtonville, Pa. In 1848 he was elected a member from Pennsylvania to the thirty-first congress, and in 1850 declined a re-election.

CALVIN, SAMUEL, soldier, geologist, was born Feb. 2, 1840, in Scotland. He served as a private during the latter part of the civil war, and subsequently became professor of geology and structural zoology at the state university of Iowa.

CALVO, HENRY CLAY WARMOTH CASA, lawyer, legislator, lecturer, was born June 29, 1869, in Baton Rouge, La. He is a great-grandson of Governor Casa Calvo, who was governor of the territory of Louisiana during 1799-1801. For several years he was engaged in educational work, and in 1896 was elected to the state legislature of Louisiana. He has attained prominence as a successful lawyer in his native city, and as a lecturer is well known throughout the state.

CAMBELL, ALEXANDER, physician, state senator, congressman, was born in 1779, in Virginia. He was a member of the Kentucky legislature in 1800. He moved to Ohio in 1803; was a member of the Ohio legislature in 1806; was a senator in congress from that state from 1809 to 1813; and served as a state senator from 1813 to 1823. He died Nov. 5, 1857, in Ripley, Ohio.

CAMBELL, BROOKINS, state senator, congressman, was born in 1808 in Washington county, Tenn. He was, for many years, a member of the state legislature, and in 1845 was unanimously elected speaker. He was an officer in the quartermaster's department in the war with Mexico, and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-third congress. He died Dec. 25, 1853, in Washington, D. C.

CAMBRELENG, CHURCHILL C., merchant, diplomat, congressman, was born in 1786 in Washington, N. C. At an early day he engaged in mercantile pursuits with John Jacob Astor, and traveled extensively over the world. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1821 to 1839, and in 1840 was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Russia; his reports and political pamphlets were at one time very numerous, one of the former, on commerce and navigation, having gone through several editions and been republished in London. He died April 30, 1862, at West Neck, L. I.

CAMDEN, JOHNSON N., lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born March 6, 1828, in Lewis county, W. Va. He was appointed a cadet to West Point in 1846; and resigned in 1848. He was admitted to the bar in 1851; appointed prosecuting attorney for Braxton county the same year, and was elected prosecuting attorney for Nicholas county in 1852. He was engaged in the banking business from 1854 to 1858, when he entered into the development of petroleum and manufacturing interests at Parkersburg; and was made president of the First National bank of that city in 1862. He was the nominee of the democratic party for governor in 1868 and again in 1872; and was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1868, 1872 and 1876. He was elected to the United States senate, and took his seat March 4, 1881, and served till March 3, 1887; and was in the United States senate in 1893-95, to fill a vacancy. He was instrumental in organizing the Ohio River Railroad company and building a road on the east bank of the Ohio river from Wheeling, by way of Parkersburg, to Huntington, and later he organized and built the railroad from Fairmont to Clarksburg, opening up a coal field which is now marketing over a million tons of coal and coke annually. He is president of the Monongahela River road, and the West Virginia and Pittsburg road; and is also the president of other railroads and business enterprises.

CAMERON, ALEXANDER, manufacturer, was born Nov. 1, 1834, in Scotland. He extended the tobacco industry by organizing the firm of Alexander Cameron and Company, of Richmond, in 1865; and established an Australian branch, and built large factories at Melbourne, Adelaide, Sydney and Brisbane.

CAMERON, ALEXANDER, lawyer, was born March 9, 1849, in Charleston, S. C. He was one of the incorporators of the New York and Jersey Telephone company, a director therein, its general counsel, and president of the Automatic Fire Alarm company of Long Island.

CAMERON, ANGUS, was born July 4, 1826, in Caledonia, N. Y. He was a member of the New York state senate in 1863, 1864, 1871 and 1872; was a member of the assembly in 1866 and 1867, and was speaker of that body in 1867. In 1875 he was elected to the United States senate from Wisconsin for the term ending in 1881, and was re-elected in 1881 for the remainder of the term ending in 1885, to fill a vacancy.

CAMERON, HENRY CLAY, educator, author, was born Sept. 1, 1827, in Shepherdstown, Va. Meanwhile he was principal of the Edgehill school in Princeton in 1851, and in 1852-55 tutor at the college. He was made adjunct professor of Greek in 1855, associate in 1860, and since 1877 he has held the chair of the Greek language and literature in Princeton college. In addition he was instructor in French in 1859-70, and librarian in 1865-72. For more than twenty years he edited the General Catalogue of the College of New Jersey, and, in addition to cyclopædia articles and essays, including one on Jonathan Dickinson and the Rise of Colleges in America, he has published Princeton Roll of Honor, a list of the graduates of that college that fought in the war for the union; and The History of the American Whig Society.

CAMERON, I. W., poet. He has contributed many meritorious poems to the press of Iowa.

CAMERON, JAMES, soldier, was born March 1, 1801, in Maytown, Pa. He took the colonelcy of the seventy-ninth New York highland regiment of volunteers, and at the first battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861, fell, at the head of his men, mortally wounded.

CAMERON, JAMES DONALD, statesman, was born May 14, 1833, in Harrisburg, Pa. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Chicago in 1880; and was elected a United States senator from Pennsylvania as a republican, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his father, Simon Cameron, in 1877, and was re-elected in 1879, in 1885 and in 1890.

CAMERON, PAUL CARRINGTON, lawyer, financier, state senator, was born Sept. 25, 1808, in Stagville, N. C. He promoted the building of the North Carolina railroad, and served for one year as president. In 1856 Orange county sent him to the state senate. He died Jan. 6, 1891, in Hillsboro, N. C.

CAMERON, ROBERT ALEXANDER, physician, soldier, was born Feb. 22, 1828, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was a member of the Indiana legislature in 1860-61. He entered the national service as a captain in 1861, and was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863. He was superintendent of the colony that founded the town of Greeley, Col., in 1870, and of the Colorado springs and Manitou colonies in 1871. In 1885 he was made warden of the state penitentiary at Canon City, Col.

CAMERON, SIMON, journalist, statesman, was born March 8, 1799, in Lancaster county, Pa. Before entering congress he was the cashier of a bank, president of two railroad companies, and adjutant-general of the state. He was first elected a senator in congress in 1845. In 1860 he was prominently mentioned as a candidate for the presidency; in 1861 became secretary of war under President Lincoln; and in 1862 resigned that position and was appointed minister to Russia. In 1867 he was again chosen a senator in congress for the term ending in 1873, and was re-elected to the senate for a fourth term, and resigned in 1877. He died June 26, 1889, in Lancaster county, Pa.

CAMERON, WILLIAM E., governor. He was elected governor of Virginia for the term of four years, from 1882.

CAMINETTI, ANTHONY, lawyer, congressman, was born July 30, 1854, in Jackson, Cal. He was elected district attorney of Amador county in 1877 for two years, re-elected in 1879 for three years; and was elected to the state assembly in 1883. He declined renomination, and was elected to the state senate in 1886. He has been engaged in practical fruit culture. He is the first native of California after it became a state elected to congress; was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

CAMP, DAVID NELSON, educator, banker, was born Oct. 3, 1820, in Durham, Ky. He received his education in the Durham, Meriden and Hartford Grammar schools. He has served as state superintendent of schools; was professor in St. John's college, and attained prominence as one of the foremost educators of the New England states. He has filled numerous positions of honor in his city, county and state; was auditor of the National Council, and is a prominent member of various fraternal orders. For many years he has retired from active work, but holds the position of vice-president of the National bank of New Britain, Conn.

CAMP, E. C., soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 1, 1839, in Knox county, Ohio. He served in the civil war until 1864; in 1869 was appointed United States district attorney, and since 1868 has been president and manager of the Coal Creek Coal company of Knoxville, Tenn.

CAMP, JOHN H., lawyer, congressman, was born April 14, 1840, in Ithaca, N. Y. He was district attorney of Wayne county from 1867 to 1870; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

CAMP, WALTER, author, was born in 1859 in Cincinnati. He is a writer of prominence on athletic matters, and the author of Book of College Sports; American Football; Football Facts and Figures; and Football.

CAMPAU, DANIEL J., lawyer, was born Aug. 20, 1852, in Detroit, Mich. Several times a delegate to local, state and national conventions, he aided in nominating and electing President Cleveland in 1884, and has been treasurer of the Democratic state committee since 1886. He was collector of customs at Detroit in 1886-90. He is the principal owner of the Detroit Driving club, president of the American Trotting association, and controlling owner of the newspaper called the Chicago Horseman.

CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER, theologian, author, was born Sept. 12, 1788, in Ireland. He was a baptist clergyman of West Virginia, who was the founder of the sect of Campbellites, or Disciples of Christ. He established Bethany college of Virginia in 1841, and was its first president. His writings, mainly controversial, are nearly sixty in number, among them being Christian Baptism; Infidelity Refuted by Infidels; Essay on Life and Death; Popular Lectures and Addresses; Christianity as it Was; Familiar Lectures on the Pentateuch; and Six Letters to a Sceptic. He died March 4, 1866, in Bethany, W. Va.

CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER, manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1814, in Concord, Pa. He was twice mayor of La Salle, Ill.; and served two terms in the Illinois legislature. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1862; and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fourth congress.

CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER AUGUSTUS, physician, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 30, 1789, in Amherst county, Va. He was a presbyterian clergyman and physician, once prominent in Tennessee, whose only book was a work on Scripture Baptism. He died May 27, 1846, in Jackson, Tenn.

CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER JAMES, author. He is the author of The Power of Christ to Save to the Uttermost; American Practical Cyclopædia; and A True Friend, reflections on Life, Character, and Conduct.

CAMPBELL, ANDREW, inventor, was born Jan. 14, 1821, near Trenton, N. J. He was foreman of a printing press factory; invented numerous devices; and in 1858 began business on his own account. In 1866 he invented his two-revolution book press, and in 1868 his art-press for fine art illustrations. He constructed the first press ever built that printed, inserted, pasted, folded, and cut, in one continuous operation. His patents number about fifty, and are applied to every branch of press building.

CAMPBELL, BARTLEY, journalist, author, was born Aug. 12, 1843, in Allegheny City. He was a journalist of Pittsburg, who turned his attention to the stage and became a popular playwright.

He was the author of My Partner; The Galley Slave; Matrimony; Siberia; The Big Bonanza; The White Slave; and Peril. He died July 30, 1888, in Middletown, N. Y.

CAMPBELL, CHARLES, educator, author, was born May 1, 1807, in Petersburg, Va. He was an educator of Petersburg, Va., whose father, John Wilson Campbell, a bookseller there for many years, wrote a History of Virginia to 1781. The writings of Charles Campbell include History of the Colony of Virginia; Genealogy of the Spotswood Family; The Bland Papers; and Memoir of John Daly Burk. He died July 11, 1876, in Staunton, Va.

CAMPBELL, CHARLES THOMAS, soldier, state legislator, was born Aug. 10, 1823, in Franklin county, Pa. He became second lieutenant in the eighth United States infantry, and served through the Mexican war. He was wounded three times at Fair Oaks, and twice at Fredericksburg, and a horse was killed under him in each of these battles. He was promoted to brigadier-general on March 13, 1863, and after the close of the war removed to Dakota. In 1852 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature.

CAMPBELL, DAVID, jurist. He was one of the first territorial judges appointed after the adoption of the constitution. In 1811 he received the appointment of judge for the territory of Mississippi.

CAMPBELL, DAVID, soldier, governor. He was appointed major of the twelfth infantry in 1812; lieutenant-colonel of the twentieth infantry in 1813, and resigned in 1814. He was governor of Virginia from 1836 to 1839. He died March 19, 1859, in Abingdon, Va.

CAMPBELL, DOUGLAS, lawyer, author, was born in 1840 in New York. He was a lawyer of New York city, whose notable historical work, The Puritan in Holland, England, and America, has attracted much attention. He died in 1893.

CAMPBELL, DOUGLAS HOUGHTON, botanist, author, was born in 1859 in Michigan. He is a professor of botany in Stanford university, and the author of Elements of Structural and Systematic Botany, and Structure and Development of the Mosses and Ferns.

CAMPBELL, DUNCAN R., clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 14, 1814, in Scotland. He became a baptist, and accepted a pastorate. He afterward removed to Kentucky, and was elected professor of Hebrew and biblical literature in the theological seminary at Covington. In 1852 he became president of Georgetown college, and ably discharged the duties of that office until his death. He died Aug. 16, 1865, in Covington, Ky.

CAMPBELL, EDNA JANE, educator, poet, was born March 17, 1855, in Alamo, Ind. Since her youth she has been engaged in educational work; has contributed extensively to the periodical press; and is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

CAMPBELL, ELIZABETH CATHARINE, educator, poet, was born Nov. 7, 1860, in Ontario, Canada. After receiving her education she began educational work, and has taught in various schools in Canada and North Dakota, to which state she removed in 1886. For many years she has been county superintendent of schools of Foster county, N. D. Mrs. Campbell has written extensively for educational papers and her poems have appeared in some of the leading magazines and newspapers of America.

CAMPBELL, FELIX, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1829, in Brooklyn, N. Y. For thirteen years he was president of the board of trustees of the widows' and orphans' fund of the fire department; for twelve years president of the board of trustees of the Brooklyn fire department; became a director in several corporations, and for twelve years was a member of the Brooklyn board of education. He was elected a representative, from New York, to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

CAMPBELL, GEORGE TRUMAN, physician, was born Oct. 13, 1826, in Camillus, N. Y. He was president of the Onondaga county medical society; for several terms supervisor of the town of Skaneateles, and for many years a member and president of the board of education. He died Feb. 11, 1889, in Skaneateles, N. Y.

CAMPBELL, GEORGE WASHINGTON, jurist, diplomat, United States senator, was born in 1768 in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress, from Tennessee, from 1803 to 1809; was judge of the United States district court; was elected senator of the United States in 1811, and resigned on being appointed secretary of the treasury in 1814. He resumed his seat in the senate the following year, and served until 1818, when he was appointed minister to Russia, where he remained until 1821. In 1831 he was appointed one of the commissioners to settle the claims against France. He died Feb. 17, 1848, in Nashville, Tenn.

CAMPBELL, MRS. HELEN STUART, author, was born July 4, 1839, in Lockport, N. Y. She is a writer who is deeply concerned in philanthropic and social reforms, and whose work covers a wide range of topics. She is the author of In Foreign Kitchens; The Easiest Way in Housekeeping, books for the housekeeper. Prisoners of Poverty; Prisoners of Poverty Abroad; Some Passages in the Life of Dr. Martha Scarborough; Women Wage-Earners; Problem of the Poor; Darkness and Daylight in New York, relate to the social problems of the time. Six Sinners; His Grandmothers; Roger Berkeley's Probation; Miss Melinda's Opportunity; Mrs. Herndon's Income; The What-to-Do-Club; Under Green Apple-Boughs; Unto the Third and Fourth Generation; Patty Pearson's Boy, are fiction. Other works are Girls' Handbook of Work and Play; A Sylvan City, a description of Philadelphia; The Ainslee Stories, for juvenile readers, and Anne Bradstreet and her Time.

CAMPBELL, HUGH GEORGE, naval officer, was born in 1760 in South Carolina. In 1775 he volunteered on board the first man-of-war commissioned by the council of South Carolina; in 1812 commanded some gun-boats in St. Mary's river during an insurrection against the Spanish rule in Florida. He died Nov. 11, 1820, in Washington, D. C.

CAMPBELL, JACOB MILLER, soldier, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1821, in Somerset county, Pa. He was a delegate to the first republican convention, held at Philadelphia, in 1856. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1865, rising to the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He was elected surveyor-general of Pennsylvania in 1865, and re-elected, serving six years. He was a trustee of the Pennsylvania state college, and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fifth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

CAMPBELL, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1813 in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1842 he was a judge of common pleas, and held the position until 1850. In 1852 he was made attorney-general for the state, and in 1853 went into the cabinet of President Pierce, as postmaster-general.

CAMPBELL, JAMES A., physician, author, was born Jan. 12, 1847, in Platteville, Wis. He was appointed oculist of the Good Samaritan hospital in 1873. He was also chosen professor of ophthalmology and otology in the Home Medical college of Missouri. When the Children's free hospital of St. Louis was founded, in 1879, he was appointed a member of its staff of physicians.

CAMPBELL, JAMES E., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born July 17, 1843, in Middletown, Ohio. He served in the United States Navy during the civil war, and was prosecuting attorney of Butler county, Ohio, from 1876 to 1880. In 1882 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat. In 1889 he was elected governor of Ohio.

CAMPBELL, JAMES GARLAND, clergyman, was born Jan. 30, 1863, in Gallipolis, Ohio. He graduated from the De Pauw university, and from the Allegheny college; and has received the degrees of A. B. and Ph. D. He is a successful clergyman in the northwest Indiana conference of the methodist episcopal church, and has filled pastorates in many important churches in Indiana. He is the superintendent of the literary department of Epworth League for Indiana; was a delegate to the International Epworth League convention held in Cleveland in 1893, and also in Toronto, Canada, in 1897.

CAMPBELL, JAMES H., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1820, in Williamsport, Pa. He was a member of the Whig convention at Baltimore; was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1855 to 1857, and again from 1858 to 1861. He was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress; in 1864 was appointed minister resident to Sweden; and in 1866 was made minister to Bogota.

CAMPBELL, JAMES R., journalist, congressman, was born May 4, 1853, in Hamilton county, Ill. In 1878 he purchased The Times of McLeansboro, Ill., and has since edited it. He was elected to the Illinois house of representatives in 1884 and 1886; advanced to the senate in 1888, and re-elected in 1892. During these twelve years' continuous service in the general assembly of Illinois he participated in the memorable Morrison-Logan contest for the United States senate, in the session of 1885; and was one of the 101 democrats that elected Gen. John M. Palmer United States senator in 1891. He has served for the past twelve years as a member of the judiciary, appropriation, revenue, and agricultural committees, and during this time introduced and secured the passage of many important bills of interest to the citizens of Illinois. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

CAMPBELL, JAMES VALENTINE, jurist, author, was born Feb. 25, 1823, in Buffalo, N. Y. He was a Michigan jurist, and the author of Outlines of the Political History of Michigan. He died March 26, 1890, in Detroit, Mich.

CAMPBELL, JEREMIAH ROCKWELL, business man, was born Nov. 26, 1827, in Boston, Mass. He has attained success in the hotel business; and was active in organizing the Jacksonville loan and improvement company.

CAMPBELL, JESSE H., clergyman, author, was born Feb. 10, 1807, in McIntosh county, Ga. He is one of the most laborious and useful preachers in his native state. His chief literary work is Georgia Baptists—Historical and Biographical.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, financier, was born in Virginia. In 1829 he was appointed treasurer of the United States, and remained in office until 1839.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, jurist, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1801 to 1811; and was judge of the orphans' court in Charles county. He died June 23, 1828, in Charles county, Md.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1829 to 1831, and again from 1837 to 1845. He died May 19, 1845, in Marlborough, S. C.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1837 to 1843.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, journalist, was born in 1653 in Scotland. He was a Boston bookseller, and on April 24, 1704, issued the Boston News-Letter, the first permanent newspaper published in North America. He was postmaster of Boston for many years, ending with 1718, and was for several years justice of the peace for Suffolk county. He died March, 1728, in Boston, Mass.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, surgeon, was born about 1822 in New York. He was promoted surgeon in 1861, acting through the civil war in that grade, and at its close received brevets of lieutenant-colonel and colonel, U. S. A., for faithful and meritorious services. He was advanced to the full rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1877; colonel in 1885, and placed on the retired list in 1885.

CAMPBELL, JOHN ALLEN, soldier, governor, was born Oct. 8, 1835, in Salem, Ohio. He entered the volunteer army as second lieutenant, and was promoted to the rank of brigadier-general for courage in the field and marked ability and fidelity at Rich Mountain, Shiloh, Perryville, Murfreesborough, and through the Atlanta campaign. In 1866 he became assistant editor of the Cleveland Daily Leader; was soon appointed in the regular army, and made a lieutenant-colonel, serving as adjutant on the staff of General Schofield. In 1869 he was appointed the first governor of the territory of Wyoming; and reappointed in 1873. He died July 14, 1880, in Washington, D. C.

CAMPBELL, JOHN ARCHIBALD, lawyer, jurist, was born June 24, 1811, in Washington, Ga. He was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, which office he resigned in 1861, after the commencement of the rebellion. He was opposed to the secession of Alabama, and in 1864 did all in his power to bring the war to a close. He died March 12, 1889, in Baltimore, Md.

CAMPBELL, JOHN G., statesman, was born June 25, 1827, at Glasgow, Scotland. In 1863 he settled in the territory of Arizona; filled various county offices; was a member of the territorial council in 1868 and 1874; and was elected a delegate from the territory of Arizona to the forty-sixth congress.

CAMPBELL, JOHN II., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from 1845 to 1847, declining the renomination. He died Jan. 19, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CAMPBELL, JOHN LYLE, educator, author, was born Dec. 7, 1818, in Rock-bridge county, Va. He was a professor of chemistry at Washington and Lee college, 1851-86, and was the author of Manual of Scientific and Practical Agriculture; Idaho, Six Months in the New Gold Diggings; Guide to the Agricultural and Mineral West; and Geology and Mineral Resources of the James River Valley, Virginia. He died Feb. 2, 1886, in Lexington, Va.

CAMPBELL, JOHN P., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a member of the state house of representatives from Christian county, in 1826; and a representative in congress from Kentucky to the thirty-fourth congress.

CAMPBELL, JOHN POAGE, clergyman, author, was born in 1767 in Virginia. He was a popular clergyman on the Ohio border, and the author of The Passenger; Strictures on Stone's Letters on the Atonement; Vindex; Letters to the Rev. Mr. Craighead; The Pelagian Defeated; and An Answer to Jones. He died Nov. 4, 1814, in Chillicothe, Ohio.

CAMPBELL, JOHN PRESTON, lawyer, author, poet, was born April 8, 1847, in Boston, Mass. He attended the South Medfield and Walpole high schools, Massachusetts; and the Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa. He served as a union soldier during the civil war in battery H, first Rhode Island light artillery; was corporal, and subsequently brevetted sergeant, for bravery in battle. He was in the battles of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Petersburg, Chantilla, and Sailors' Creek. He was in the army of the Potomac, and was wounded three times. He is the author of the following novels: Merl of Medavon; My Mate Immortal; The Woman of Chalk; and others. He is also author of the following poetical works: Queen Sylvia; The Summerless Sea; Republica; and The Land of Sun and Song. For many years he conducted a successful law business in Abilene, Kan.; and now devotes his time to literature in Washington, D. C.

CAMPBELL, JOHN TYLER, soldier, lawyer, orator, author, was born Sept. 9, 1843, in Bowling Green, Mo. He was educated in the common schools, and at the McGee college; and taught school. In 1861 he entered the union army and attained the rank of captain in the thirty-second regiment Missouri volunteer infantry. After the war he was elected prosecuting attorney; and in 1870 was corporation attorney of Kansas City, Mo. Since 1874 he has practiced law in Santa Rosa, Cal.; and has served two sessions in the California state legislature, once as speaker of the house. He was appointed consul of the United States to New Zealand, and again appointed consul to China. He was president of the board of freeholders appointed to frame a charter for Santa Rosa. He stands high in Masonic circles. He has traveled extensively in China, Japan, and the south seas; has written and published numerous short stories; and delivered orations and public lectures.

CAMPBELL, JOHN WILSON, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 23, 1782, in Augusta county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1817 to 1827; and was United States judge for the district of Ohio. He died Sept. 24, 1833, in Delaware, Ohio.

CAMPBELL, JOSIAH A. P., lawyer, state legislator, jurist, author, was born March 2, 1830, in South Carolina. He has been a member of the Mississippi legislature and speaker of the house; circuit judge, supreme judge for eighteen years, and chief justice. He has been in the confederate service as a captain, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel. He is the author of the Mississippi Revised Code of 1880, which emancipated married women from the disabilities of coverture.

CAMPBELL, LEWIS D., was born Aug. 9, 1811, in Franklin, Ohio. He was elected a member of congress from Ohio in 1848, and was re-elected to each successive congress, down to the thirty-fifth, when his seat was contested, and the house of representatives decided against his claim. In 1865 he was appointed minister to Mexico. He was subsequently elected to the forty-second congress. He died Nov. 26, 1882.

CAMPBELL, REMER CAIN, lawyer, was born Nov. 8, 1860, in Marlinsville, N. J. He attended the grammar school of Somerville, N. J.; and received an academic course of education. He was admitted to the bar in 1885, and began the practice of law in Hamburg, Iowa; where he has served as city attorney, and attorney of his county. He is a member of the board of education; and takes a prominent part in the public affairs of his county and state.

CAMPBELL, RICHARD, soldier, was born in Virginia. He was commissioned captain in 1776, and subsequently major, was promoted lieutenant-colonel, and commanded a Virginia regiment at Guilford, Hobkirk's Hill, Ninety-Six, and Eutaw Springs, where he was mortally wounded while leading the charge that drove the British from the field. He died Sept. 8, 1781, in Eutaw Springs, S. C.

CAMPBELL, ROBERT, soldier, jurist, was born in 1755 in Virginia. He displayed great bravery in many conflicts with the Cherokees, and commanded a regiment at the battle of King's Mountain, in 1780. He was nearly forty years a magistrate of Washington county, Va., and in 1825 emigrated to Tennessee. He died February, 1832, near Knoxville, Tenn.

CAMPBELL, ROBERT B., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1823 to 1825, and again from 1835 to 1837.

CAMPBELL, SAMUEL, state legislator, congressman, was born in Mansfield, Conn. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1821 to 1823; and previously had served five years in the assembly of that state.

CAMPBELL, SAMUEL L., educator, college president. He was second president of Washington and Lee university.

CAMPBELL, THOMAS BLAKE, architect, manufacturer, inventor, was born June 8, 1854, in Fayetteville, N. Y. He was the builder of the Memorial chapel, Franklin hall, Morse hall, Armory hall, and other buildings of the Cornell university. In 1889 he discovered a valuable deposit of clay in Tompkins county, N. Y., suitable for the manufacture of white and buff pressed brick and terra cotta; built extensive works for its manufacture; and has invented numerous devices to expedite the work of manufacture.

CAMPBELL, THOMAS F., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1834 to 1835.

CAMPBELL, THOMAS J., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was a member of congress from that state from 1841 to 1843; and was a presidential elector in 1837 and 1841. He died April 13, 1850, in Washington, D. C.

CAMPBELL, THOMAS J., educator, college president, was born April 29, 1848, in New York city. In 1885 he was appointed rector of St. John's college; and in 1886 was chosen the thirteenth president of St. John's college of Fordham, N. Y.

CAMPBELL, THOMPSON, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Illinois, from 1851 to 1853. He died Dec. 7, 1868, in California.

CAMPBELL, TIMOTHY J., congressman, was born in 1840 in Ireland. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1860-75; and was afterwards elected justice of the fifth district civil court in New York city; and served six years in that capacity. In 1883 he was returned to the state assembly; and was nominated for state senator and elected. In 1885 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-ninth congress, to fill a vacancy; and was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM, soldier, legislator, was born in 1745 in Augusta county, Va. In 1781 he was appointed brigadier-general in the revolutionary war; and in 1780 was elected a member of the Virginia state legislature. He died Aug. 22, 1781, in Rocky Mills, Va.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM BOWEN, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 1, 1807, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was chosen attorney-general for the fourth district; was elected to the Tennessee legislature in 1835; and raised a company and served as captain in the Creek and Florida wars of 1836. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1837 to 1843; in 1844 was elected major-general of militia, and was colonel of the first regiment of Tennessee volunteers in the Mexican war. From 1850 to 1853 he was governor of Tennessee, and in 1857 was chosen, by a unanimous vote of the legislature, judge of the circuit court of Tennessee. In 1862 he was appointed a brigadier-general in the union army. He was again elected a representative to the thirty-ninth congress. He died Aug. 19, 1867, in Lebanon, Tenn.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 14, 1808, in Baltimore, Md. He was a Dutch Reformed clergyman, president of Rutgers college, 1863-82. He was the author of Subjects and Modes of Baptism; Influence of Christianity in Civil and Religious Liberty; and System of Catechetical Instruction. He died Dec. 7, 1890, in New Brunswick, N. J.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM M., farmer, soldier, state legislator, was born Sept. 17, 1845, in Shelby county, Ind. He served three years as a soldier during the civil war in the seventh Indiana infantry and was severely wounded several times. He participated in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and the Wilderness, and was twice made a prisoner of war. In 1888 he was elected a member of the Kansas legislature on the labor ticket; in 1890 on the Alliance ticket, and in 1892 and in 1894 on the populist ticket.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM W., jurist, congressman, author, was born June 10, 1806, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1845 to 1847; was later appointed a justice of the superior court of New York city, and served seven years; and was subsequently elected a judge of the supreme court of the state. He was the author of Annals of Tryon County, reissued as Border Warfare; Memoirs of Mrs. Grant, Missionary to Persia; Life and Writings of De Witt Clinton; and Sketches of Robin Hood and Captain Kidd. He died Sept. 7, 1881, in Cherry Valley, N. Y.

CAMPLIN, MEREDETH B., lawyer, was born March 3, 1859, in Davies county, Mo. For three years he was city attorney of Douglas, Wyo., and for six years of New Castle; and for two years was prosecuting attorney of Weston county, Wyo. For two terms he has served his city as mayor; and in 1894 was the republican candidate for district judge. He is a noted criminal lawyer, and holds a high position in the public affairs of Wyoming.

CANADA, LUCIUS TULLIUS MARCELLUS, lawyer, legislator, was born July 12, 1859, in Fayette county, Tenn. He attended the southwestern Baptist university of Jackson, Tenn., from which institution he received the degree of A. M. In 1887 he graduated in law from the Cumberland Presbyterian university of Lebanon, Tenn. He has been professor of mathematics and Greek in several large institutions; and since 1887 has successfully practiced law in Memphis, Tenn. In 1894 he was elected a state senator in the Tennessee legislature; and received the re-election in 1896.

CANBY, EDWARD RICHARD SPRIGGS, soldier, was born in 1819 in Kentucky. He served in the Mexican war; and during the civil war was promoted to brigadier-general. He was killed April 11, 1873, in Siskiyou county, Cal.

CANBY, RICHARD S., congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1849.

CANDERS, ALBERT C., merchant, legislator, was born June 19, 1845, in Newport, R. I. He is a successful merchant of Newport, R. I.; and since 1873 has served as chairman of the republican city committee; and as a member of the state central committee since 1882. During 1881-82 he served with distinction in the Rhode Island state legislature; and in 1883-84 was appointed on Governor Bourne's personal staff. In 1892 he was elected state auditor and insurance commissioner for the state of Rhode Island.

CANDLER, ALLEN D., soldier, educator, college president, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1834, in Lumpkin county, Ga. He entered the confederate army as a private, and rose, through the intermediate grades, to the colonelcy of his regiment. He was president of Baily institute of Griffin, Ga., from 1866 to 1870. He was a member of the state house of representatives from 1872 to 1878; state senator from 1878 to 1880; and was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat.

CANDLER, ASA GRIGGS, druggist, was born Dec. 30, 1851, in Villa Rica, Ga. In 1888 he entered upon a course of medical manufacturing in Atlanta, Ga. He conceived the idea of having experts make a summer beverage that was healthful and stimulating, and the result was the universally popular Coca Cola.

CANDLER, JOHN W., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 10, 1828, in Boston, Mass. He was engaged in merchandising and maritime transportation, and was a representative in the state legislature in 1866. He was president of the board of trade and of the Commercial club of Boston, and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-seventh congress, and subsequently to the fifty-first congress.

CANDLER, MILTON A., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1837, in Campbell county, Ga. He was a member of the state legislature from 1861 to 1863, and of the state constitutional convention in 1865. He was elected to the state senate in 1868 for four years; and was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

CANDLER, WARREN A., educator, college president, was born Aug. 23, 1857, in Carroll county, Ga. In 1886 he was elected assistant editor of the Nashville Christian Advocate, and in 1888 was elected president of Emory college, being the youngest president ever elected to an American college.

CANFIELD, JAMES H., college president, was born March 18, 1847, in Delaware, Ohio. In 1877 he was called to the state university of Kansas and remained there as professor of English literature and history; then of history and political science, and lastly of American history and civics; until 1891, when he became chancellor of the university of Nebraska. He resigned in 1895 to become president of Ohio state university.

CANFIELD, JOHN, railroad president, was born May 17, 1830, in Berkshire county, Mass. Since 1892 he has been president of the Manistée and Grand Rapids railway.

CANN, JAMES FERRIS, lawyer, was born Dec. 11, 1868, in Savannah, Ga. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Savannah, attended the Georgia Military academy, and graduated in law from the university of Virginia. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of his native city, where he is president of the Citizens' club, secretary of the Savannah volunteer guards, and first lieutenant of company C of that command. He is a prominent member of the Knights of Pythias and other fraternal bodies.

CANNON, CHARLES JAMES, author, poet, was born Nov. 4, 1800, in New York city. Besides compiling a series of readers he published, among other works, Poems, Dramatic and Miscellaneous; Pencillings from the Web of Life, and a number of dramas now forgotten. He died Nov. 9, 1860, in New York city.

CANNON, CHARLES WESLEY, pioneer, capitalist, was born July 1, 1836, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is the largest tax payer in Helena, Mont.; and is a leading spirit in gas, electric light and street railroad companies, and president of several of them. He is also vice-president of The Montana Central railway; and proprietor of a ranch of 3,000 acres, stocked with cattle, horses and sheep.

CANNON, FRANK J., journalist, United States senator, was born Jan. 25, 1859, at Salt Lake City, Utah. He is a printer and newspaper writer. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Minneapolis in 1892; was defeated for delegate to congress in 1892; and was elected delegate to congress in 1894; was elected to the United States senate Jan. 22, 1896.

CANNON, GEORGE Q., journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1827, in England. He was elected a member of the legislative council of Utah in 1865, 1866, 1869, and the three succeeding years. In 1865 he was elected a regent of the Deseret university. At a constitutional convention held at Salt Lake City in 1872 he was elected a delegate to present the constitution and memorial to congress for the admission of the territory into the union as a state; and was elected delegate from Utah to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, and forty-seventh congresses.

CANNON, HENRY W., banker, was born in 1850, in Delhi, N. Y. He organized the Lumberman's National bank, of which he was made cashier. He was also secretary of the chamber of commerce of Stillwater; and secretary, treasurer and general manager of the water and gas companies of the city. In 1884 he was appointed comptroller of the currency in the United States treasury at Washington; and resigned in 1886 to accept the position of vice-president of the National Bank of the Republic of New York city.

CANNON, JAMES SPENCER, educator, clergyman, lecturer, was born in 1776, in West Indies. He was a Dutch reformed clergyman of New Jersey; and was professor of metaphysics at Rutgers college, 1826-56. He is the author of Lectures on Chronology; and Lectures on Pastoral Theology. He died in 1852.

CANNON, JOSEPH G., lawyer, congressman, was born May 7, 1836, in Guilford, N. C. He was state's attorney in Illinois from 1861 to 1868; and was elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

CANNON, MARION, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1834, in Morgantown, W. Va. He was elected county recorder of Nevada county in 1869, and served two years.

When the Farmers' Alliance was introduced into California joined that order; and was unanimously elected its first state president in 1890. He organized the people's party of California in 1891; was chosen a representative to the supreme council at Indianapolis in 1891; was selected by that body to represent California in the industrial conference at St. Louis in 1892, and was chosen temporary chairman over that body; and was selected chairman of the California delegation to the national convention of the people's party at Omaha in 1892. He was elected to the fifty-third congress.

CANNON, NEWTON, congressman, governor, was born about 1781, in Guilford county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1814 to 1817, and again from 1819 to 1823. He was governor of Tennessee from 1835 to 1839. He died Sept. 29, 1842, in Harpeth, Tenn.

CANNON, WILLIAM, state legislator, governor, was born in 1809, in Bridgeville, Del. He was for some years in the state legislature of Delaware; and was state treasurer and member of the peace congress of 1861. He was governor of Delaware from 1861 to 1865. He died March 1, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CANON, JOHN W., educator, was born Feb. 11, 1844, in Mercer county, Pa. He graduated from the state normal school of Edinboro, Pa., and there taught for several years. He has been principal of the high schools of Franklin, Pa., and is now superintendent of public schools in Sharon, Pa.

CANT, WILLIAM A., lawyer, state legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 23, 1863, in Westfield, Wis. In 1885 he graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan; and since 1886 has practiced his profession in Duluth, Minn. In 1894 he was elected a member of the Minnesota house of representatives; was city attorney of Duluth in 1895; and was elected for a term of six years from 1896 a judge of the district court of Minnesota.

CANTINE, JOHN, congressman. He was elected a representative from New York to the eighth congress, but resigned soon after taking his seat.

CAPEHART, JAMES, congressman, was born March 7, 1847, in Mason county, Va. He was president of the county court of Mason county, which position he held in 1871-72, and from 1880 to 1885. He was a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1888; and was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

CAPEN, ELMER HEWITT, clergyman, college president, was born April 5, 1838, in Stoughton, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature when only twenty-one years of age. He was ordained to the ministry in 1865; and has filled important pastorates in St. Paul, Minn., and Providence, R. I. Since 1875 he has been president of Tufts college.

CAPEN, FRANCIS L., meteorologist, was born March 17, 1817, in Sterling, Mass. He made many astronomical discoveries and remarkable weather predictions, the latter gaining for him prominence on both sides of the Atlantic. He died July 31, 1889.

CAPEN, JAMES A., poet, was born Jan. 3, 1840, in Boston, Mass. In 1861 he moved from his eastern home to the Rocky mountains in Colorado, and subsequently secured a position in the United States mail service, running between Denver and Leavenworth, Kan. He served through the war, enlisting in the seventh Kansas volunteer cavalry, and serving as a volunteer soldier four years and four days. He then settled in Missouri, where he still resides, in Sedalia. He has taught school for twenty years; and is now serving as quartermaster of Gen. George R. Smith Post No. 53, Department of Missouri, G. A. R.; and is assessor of his county. He is the author of some very fine poems; and as an elocutionist he has become well known in his adopted state.

CAPEN, NAHUM, journalist, author, was born April 1, 1804, in Canton, Mass. He was a Boston publisher who was postmaster in 1857-61, and introduced the custom of street letter-box collections. He was the author of The Republic of the United States; Reminiscences of Spurzheim and Combe; and History of Democracy, or Political Progress Historically Illustrated. He died in 1886, in Dorchester, Mass.

CAPERS, ELLISON, bishop of South Carolina, was born Oct. 14, 1837, in Charleston, S. C. He served throughout the war in the confederate service; and was three times severely wounded; and was promoted colonel and brigadier-general. He was elected secretary of state in 1866.

CAPERS, WILLIAM, bishop, author, was born Jan. 26, 1790, in St. Thomas parish, S. C. He was a methodist bishop once prominent in the south; and is the author of Catechisms for Negro Missions; and Short Sermons and True Tales for Children. He died Jan. 29, 1855, in Anderson, S. C.

CAPERTON, ALLEN TAYLOR, state legislator, congressman, state senator, was born Nov. 21, 1810, in Union, Va. He served in the legislature of Virginia a number of years; in 1861 was a member of the state convention to consider the impending troubles, and took the side of the union, but when the state went out of the union he sided with the south. In 1863 he was elected to the confederate senate; was pardoned by President Johnson after the war; and in 1875 was elected a senator in congress from West Virginia. He died July 25, 1876, in Washington, D. C.

CAPERTON, HUGH, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1780, in Virginia. He was for many years a member of the state legislature; and was a representative in congress from the Greenbrier region of Virginia from 1813 to 1815. He died Feb. 9, 1847, in Monroe county, Va.

CAPPELLER, WILLIAM S., public official, journalist, was born Feb. 23, 1839, in Somerset, Pa. During 1877-83 he was county auditor of Cincinnati, Ohio; and commissioner of railroads and telegraphs of Ohio in 1887-89. He was grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Ohio in 1879-80; and in 1885 he established The Daily News of Mansfield, which is now one of the leading newspapers of Ohio. In 1895 he became president of the National Editorial association. He is the president and general manager of the News Printing company of Mansfield, Ohio, and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

CAPRON, ADIN BALLOU, soldier, congressman, was born Jan. 9, 1841, in Mendon, Mass. He enlisted as sergeant in second Rhode Island infantry in 1861; promoted to sergeant-major and lieutenant, and ordered on detached service in the signal corps in December, 1861. He served in the signal corps until the close of the war, having been commissioned first lieutenant in the signal corps, United States army, in 1863, and receiving promotion to the rank of captain and major by brevet. He was elected a representative to the general assembly of Rhode Island in 1887; served during 1888-92; and was speaker in 1891-92. He subsequently was elected a member of the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

CAPRON, ALLYN K., soldier, was born in New York. In 1890 he enlisted as a private soldier in the fourth cavalry; was appointed second lieutenant of infantry in 1893; joined Theodore Roosevelt's rough riders as captain in 1898; and was killed in battle, near Santiago, Cuba.

CAPRON, HORACE, soldier, agriculturist, was born in New York. He was appointed to the charge of a factory in Maryland. He served in the army during the rebellion, and became a brigadier-general. In 1868 he was appointed commissioner of agriculture; and in 1871 was invited by the Japanese government to take charge of certain agricultural experiments and improvements in Japan, where he remained four years; returning to the United States in 1875. He died Feb. 23, 1885.

CARDOZO, ISAAC N., journalist, author, was born June 17, 1786, in Savannah, Ga. He became editor of the Southern Patriot in Charleston in 1816, and its sole proprietor in 1823. He took an active part in 1823 in the establishment of the Charleston chamber of commerce. He sold his paper in 1845, and in the same year established the Evening News, of which he became the commercial editor. He was a contributor to the Southern Quarterly Review and other periodicals; and published Notes on Political Economy. He was drowned Aug. 26, 1850, in James River, Va.

CAREY, ASA B., soldier, was born July 12, 1835, in Windham county, Conn. He was a cadet in the United States military academy in 1854; and in 1858 was brevetted lieutenant of the sixth infantry, United States army. He was constantly promoted and became lieutenant-colonel in 1865 for gallant and meritorious services in the war against the Navajo Indians; and became paymaster in 1867. He was promoted lieutenant-colonel and deputy paymaster-general in 1895.

CAREY, DANIEL GRAHAM, physician, journalist, was born Nov. 22, 1842, near Middletown, N. Y. He has attained success as a physician and surgeon, and as the manufacturer of the Carey proprietary medicines. In 1883 he established the Waverly Farmer; and is the author of Doctor Carey's Guide to Health.

CAREY, GEORGE, congressman, was born in Charles county, Md. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1823 to 1827. He died in 1844, in Upson county, Ga.

CAREY, HENRY CHARLES, economist, author, was born Dec. 15, 1793, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was one of the foremost of American political economists who advocated protection as a preliminary step toward ultimate free trade. He opposed such theorists as Malthus and Ricardo, holding that human progress depends upon success in subjugating nature; that land values depend upon labor; and that the social well-being is directly dependent upon existing conditions. He was the author of Principles of Political Economy; The Credit System; The Principles of Social Science; Lectures on the Currency; Letters on Political Economy; Letters on International Copyright; Financial Crises; and The Unity of Law. He died Oct. 13, 1879, in Philadelphia.

CAREY, HENRY DE WITT, business man, jurist, was born March 24, 1844, near Middletown, N. Y. He was a successful merchant of Middletown, N. Y.; for the past quarter of a century has been the manager of the export department of the New Home Sewing Machine company with headquarters at 28 Union square, New York city. He has always taken an active interest in democratic politics, and is a member of the Tammany society and the Sagamore and Pequod clubs, and of the American Historical society. For four years he was a justice of the peace at City Island, N. Y.; and in 1889-90 was judge of the court of general sessions of Westchester county, N. Y. He is a thirty-third degree member of the Masonic fraternity; and a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Mr. Carey is president of the Pelham Park Street Railroad company; president of the Metropolitan dispensary; president of the board of trustees of the New York College of Midwifery, and other institutions.

CAREY, JEREMIAH E., lawyer, congressman, was born April 30, 1803, in Coventry, R. I. He was elected to congress from Cherry Valley county in 1842.

CAREY, JOHN, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born April 5, 1792, in Monongahela county, Va. In 1814 he assisted in building the first stone house in Columbus. In 1825 he was elected an associate judge, which office he held for seven years. He was elected to the Ohio legislature in 1828, 1836, and 1843; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth congress.

CAREY, JOSEPH MAULL, lawyer, legislator, and business man, was born July 19, 1845, in Milton, Del. He attended the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y.; and in 1867 graduated from the law department of the university of Pennsylvania. In 1869 he was appointed by President Grant as United States district attorney for the territory of Wyoming; and in 1872 he became associate justice of the supreme court of Wyoming, which position he filled with distinction for four years. In 1876 he was appointed a member of the United States centennial commission. Judge Carey was among the first to become interested in the great industry of cattle-raising on the plains; and for many years was president of the Wyoming Stockgrowers association. He was mayor of Cheyenne during 1880-82; and was instrumental in having Wyoming admitted to the union as a state. He was a member of the forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses; and in 1891 was elected to the United States senate, serving with distinction in that body.

CAREY, JOSHUA MULLOCK, soldier, physician, legislator, was born June 11, 1834, in Orange county, N. Y. In 1862 he graduated from the Eclectic Medical institute of Cleveland, Ohio. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, and was promoted to captain. He was justice of the peace for ten years; and in 1883-84 was a member of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania. During 1887-93 he practiced medicine in New York city, when he removed to Elmira.

CAREY, MATTHEW, author, was born Jan. 28, 1760, in Ireland. He entered into politics, and established himself in Philadelphia as a bookseller. His writings include The Olive Branch, or Faults on Both Sides, Federal and Democratic, which soon entered a tenth edition; Vindiciæ Hibernicæ; Thoughts on Penitentiaries and Prison Discipline; Essays on Political Economy; and The Yellow Fever of 1793. He died Sept. 16, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CARHART, HENRY SMITH, educator, author, was born March 27, 1844, in Coeymans, N. Y. In 1869 he graduated from the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn. He is the author of Primary Batteries; Elements of Physics; Electrical Measurements; and University Physics.

CARLETON, EZRA C., merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 6, 1838, in St. Clair, Mich. He was engaged in the mercantile business at Port Huron, Mich., in 1862; and was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

CARLETON, HENRY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1785, in Virginia. He served as a lieutenant of infantry under Gen. Jackson in the campaign that terminated Jan. 8, 1815, and then actively engaged in the profession of law. Soon afterward, in connection with Mr. L. Moreau, he began the translation of those portions of Las Siete Partidas, a celebrated Spanish code of laws, that were observed in Louisiana. He became United States district attorney for the eastern district of Louisiana in 1832, and was subsequently appointed a judge of the supreme court of the same state, but resigned in 1839 on account of ill health. He published Liberty and Necessity; and read an Essay on the Will before the American Philosophical society a few days before his death. He died March 28, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CARLETON, HENRY GUY, journalist, author, was born in 1856, in New Mexico. He is a journalist of New York city who is best known as a writer of plays, among which are Memnon; The Pembertons; and Victor Durand.

CARLETON, OSGOOD, mathematician, author, was born in 1742. He was a Massachusetts mathematician; and the author of American Navigator; South American Pilot; and Practice of Arithmetic. He died in June, 1816, in Litchfield, N. H.

CARLETON, WILL, author, lecturer and editor, was born Oct. 21, 1845, in Hudson, Mich. He received his education at the Hudson elementary and high schools, and Hillsdale college, Michigan. After graduation he did newspaper work in Hillsdale, Detroit and Chicago—writing locals, sketches, stories, editorials, and poems. His books are: Farm Ballads, Farm Legends, Farm Festivals; City Ballads, City Legends, City Festivals; Rhymes of Our Planet; and The Old Infant and similar stories. He is also editor of an illustrated magazine, entitled Everywhere, published in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he resides.

CARLILE, JOHN SNYDER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 16, 1817, in Winchester, Va. He was elected to the state senate in 1847; and served until 1851; and in 1850 was a member of the constitutional convention of Virginia. In 1855 he was elected a representative in congress; in 1861 was elected a representative from Virginia to the thirty-seventh congress, and was soon afterward transferred to the senate. He died Oct. 24, 1878, in Clarksburg, W. Va.

CARLIN, JOHN, artist, was born June 15, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was deaf and dumb from infancy. Among his recent contributions to the exhibitions of the Artists' Fund society are The Village Gossips; The Admirer of Nature; The Twin Grandchildren; Old and Young; Going after Marshmallows; Solid Comfort; and The Grandfather's Story. Mr. Carlin has also written some poetry.

CARLIN, THOMAS, governor of Illinois, was born in 1791, in Kentucky. He was a pioneer to Illinois in 1813; served under Gen. Howard in that and the following year during the war of 1812-14; and several times volunteered to perform most perilous undertakings against the Indians. He was governor of the state in 1838-42. He died Feb. 4, 1852.

CARLIN, WILLIAM PASSMORE, soldier, was born Nov. 24, 1829, in Rich Woods, Ill. He participated in the march to the sea and through the Carolinas; and on March 13, 1865, was brevetted brigadier-general for services at Bentonville, N. C., and major-general for services during the war. From 1867 till 1868 he was assistant commissioner of the freedmen's bureau in Tennessee.

CARLISLE, JOHN GRIFFIN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 5, 1835, in Kenton, Ky. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1859-1861; was nominated for presidential elector on the democratic ticket in 1864, but declined; and was elected to the state senate in 1866, and re-elected in 1869. He was a delegate at large from Kentucky to the national democratic convention at New York in 1868; was nominated for lieutenant-governor of Kentucky in 1871; resigned his seat in the senate in 1871; and was elected lieutenant-governor in 1871, serving until 1875. He was alternate presidential elector for the state at large in 1876; was elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses; was elected speaker in the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, and fiftieth congresses; and was elected to the United States senate May 17, 1890, to fill a vacancy. He resigned to accept the portfolio of secretary of the treasury in President Cleveland's cabinet in 1893, and entered upon the duties of the office March 7, 1893, and served until 1897.

CARLL, JOHN FRANKLIN, civil engineer, inventor, was born May 7, 1828, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He devised the static pressure sand-pump, removable pump-chamber, and adjustable sleeve for piston-rod, now used in operating oil-wells. In 1874 he became attached to the geological survey of Pennsylvania, and afterward was assistant in the oil and gas region.

CARLTON, ELAM B., lawyer, jurist, was born April 2, 1864, in South Florida. For three years he was editor of the Pine Level Times, and for two years of the DeSoto County Times. During 1890-92 he was county attorney; and in 1892-94 was judge of the county court at Arcadia, Fla.

CARLTON, FRANK H., lawyer, author, was born Oct. 8, 1849, in Newport, N. H. He has been editor of the St. Paul Press, and other publications. In 1881 he was secretary to Governor John L. Pillsbury; and now practices law in Minneapolis, Minn. His poems have appeared in standard works.

CARLTON, HENRY HULL, soldier, journalist, lawyer, United States senator, congressman, was born May 14, 1835, in Athens, Ga. He was elected a representative to the general assembly of Georgia in 1872, and was successively re-elected till 1877, inclusive, when he declined re-election. He was state senator in 1884-85, and president of the senate during that term. He was editor and proprietor of the Athens Banner until 1880, when he commenced the practice of law; and was elected city attorney of Athens. He was four years in the confederate army, under General R. E. Lee, holding the rank of lieutenant, captain, and major of artillery. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

CARLTON, PETER, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1807 to 1809.

CARMACK, E. W., lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1858, in Castalian Springs, Tenn. He was elected to the legislature as a democrat in 1884; in 1886 joined the editorial staff of the Nashville American; in 1888 founded the Nashville Democrat; and afterward became editor-in-chief of the Nashville American newspaper. In 1892 he became editor of the Memphis Commercial. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

CARMACK, SAMUEL W., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 9, 1802, in Davidson county, Tenn. In 1842 he was appointed a territorial judge. He died Dec. 18, 1849.

CARMAN, WILLIAM BLISS, author, poet, was born in 1861, in Canada. He is a poet whose literary work has been done mainly in New York and Boston. He is the author of Low Tide on Grand Pré; A Seamark; Behind the Arras; Songs from Vagabondia; More Songs from Vagabondia; and Ballads of Lost Haven, a Book of the Sea.

CARMICHAEL, DANIEL L., soldier, educator, lawyer, stock raiser, was born Nov. 9, 1843, in Wayne county, N. Y. He received his education in the high schools and academy of Charlotte and Lansing, Mich. He served gallantly as a soldier during the civil war; and subsequently was engaged in educational work. He then took up the practice of law, and has served as prosecuting attorney. He is prominent in the Order of Foresters; grand dictator of the Knights of Honor of Illinois; and commander of the Whittier post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

CARMICHAEL, HARTLEY, clergyman, author, was born April 25, 1854, in Dublin, Ireland. He has been rector of the Church of the Ascension in Hamilton, Canada; and is now rector of the St. Paul's church of Richmond, Va. He is the author of several successful novels—Rooted in Dishonor; and The Centuries of Castle-Craig. He is also a musical composer; and is high in the ranks of Freemasonry.

CARMICHAEL, RICHARD B., lawyer, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative from Maryland in the twenty-third congress, and was president of the courts of Queen Anne county in 1861.

CARMICHAEL, WILLIAM, diplomat, was born in Maryland. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1778 to 1780; was secretary of legation during Mr. Jay's mission to Spain; and remained as charge d'affaires after Mr. Jay left in 1782, receiving a commission in 1780, and retained the office for about fifteen years. He died in February, 1795.

CARMIENCKE, JOHN HERMANN, artist, was born in 1810 in Germany. He was industrious in the pursuit of his art, and his paintings are faithful delineations of the forms of nature. He was a very successful teacher, a member of the Art association, and one of the earliest and most active members of the Brooklyn Academy of Design, and of the Artists' Fund society of New York. He died June 15, 1867, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CARNAHAN, JAMES, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 15, 1775, in Carlisle, Pa. He was ordained pastor of the united churches of Whitesborough and Utica, where he remained until 1814. He opened a classical academy in Georgetown, D. C., and taught for nine years, when he was elected to the presidency of Princeton college of New Jersey. He died March 2, 1859, in Newark, N. J.

CARNEGIE, ANDREW, manufacturer, author, was born Nov. 2, 1835, in Scotland. He is a noted steel manufacturer of Pittsburg who came to America in 1845. He has made many important gifts to his native Scotland and to Pittsburg, and as a writer is distinguished for the rather exuberant Americanism of his work. He is the author of An American Four-in-Hand in Europe; Round the World; and Triumphant Democracy, or Fifty Years' March of the Republic.

CARNES, THOMAS P., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was solicitor-general, attorney-general, and judge of the supreme court, and was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1793 to 1795. He died May 8, 1822, in Milledgeville, Ga.

CARNEY, JULIA A., educator, author, was born April 6, 1823, in Lancaster, Mass. Her maiden name was Fletcher, under which name appeared the popular poem Little Drops of Water. Many of her poems have been set to music and published in school text-books, and used in the hymn-books of churches for more than half a century.

CARNEY, THOMAS, governor. He was a governor of Kansas from 1861 to 1864.

CARNOCHAN, JOHN MURRAY, surgeon, author, was born July 4, 1817, in Savannah, Ga. He was noted as a surgeon of distinction; and was the author of Treatise on Congenital Dislocations, and Contributions to Operative Surgery. He died Oct. 28, 1887, in New York city.

CAROW, ISAAC, merchant, was born March 29, 1778, in the West Indies. He was a member of the firm of Kennit and Carow, shipping merchants of New York city; and from 1839 until 1842 was president of the chamber of commerce. He died Sept. 3, 1850, in New York city.

CARPENDER, EDWARD WILLIAM, naval officer, was born Jan. 28, 1797, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was placed on the reserved list in 1855, and became commodore in 1862. During 1864-66 he was prize commissioner at Key West, Fla. He died May 16, 1877, in Shrewsbury, N. J.

CARPENTER, AMELIA WALSTEIN, author, poet, was born Feb. 23, 1840, in Stephentown, N. Y. She has contributed to Frank Leslie's periodicals, is a correspondent of the Springfield Republican; editor of the New York Citizen; and as a poetess and novelist has gained a favorable reputation.

CARPENTER, BENJAMIN, patriot, was born in 1726 in Rehoboth, Mass. He was one of the founders of the town of Guilford in 1770, and served during the revolutionary war as a field officer. Later he was a member of the first constitutional convention of Vermont and also a member of the council. In 1778 he was elected lieutenant-governor of the state, and afterward became one of the council of censors. He died March 29, 1823, in Guilford, Vt.

CARPENTER, CHARLES KETCHUM, farmer, state legislator, governor, author, was born Jan. 23, 1826, in Hornellsville, N. Y. He settled in Michigan in 1837. In 1858 he was elected to the lower branch of the legislature. In 1874 he was nominated as governor by the prohibition party in Michigan; and in 1876 was again nominated for the same office on the first greenback ticket. He was the author of several works. He died Aug. 19, 1884, in Orion, Mich.

CARPENTER, CYRUS CLAY, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 24, 1820, in Hartford, Pa. In 1857 he was elected to the state legislature; in 1861 entered the army, and as brevet colonel rendered important service during the war. In 1866 he was elected register of the state land office at Des Moines, and was re-elected. In 1871 he was elected governor of Iowa. He was a state commissioner of railroads in 1878, and was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

CARPENTER, DAVIS, soldier, physician, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1799, in Walpole, N. H. He attained the position of colonel of a rifle corps; was a representative in congress from New York from 1853 to 1855.

CARPENTER, EDMUND JAMES, journalist, author, was born in 1845 in Massachusetts. He is a noted journalist of Boston, and the author of A Woman of Shawmut, a Romance of Colonial Times; and History of Roger Williams.

CARPENTER, ELISHA, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 14, 1824, in Ashford, Conn. In 1845 he was elected judge of probate court and state's attorney in Windham county, Conn.; from 1857-58 was a member of the state senate; 1861 was judge of the superior court; and in 1866 was judge of the supreme bench of the state.

CARPENTER, ELLEN M., educator, artist, was born Nov. 28, 1830, in Killingly, Conn. Much of her time is devoted to teaching art in Boston. Among her works are The Yosemite Valley; Temples of Pæstum; Venice, Grand Canal; and numerous portraits.

CARPENTER, ESTHER BERNON, author, was born in 1848 in Rhode Island. She was a writer of southern Rhode Island, whose South Country Neighbors is a series of sympathetic studies in fiction of Rhode Island types of character. She died in 1893.

CARPENTER, FRANCIS BICKNELL, painter, author, was born in 1830 in New York. He is a portrait painter of New York city, who painted The Emancipation Proclamation in the Capitol at Washington. He was the author of Six Months in the White House with Abraham Lincoln.

CARPENTER, FRANCIS WOOD, merchant, manufacturer, was born June 24, 1831, in Seekonk, Mass. He is president of the Congo and Carpenter company, and also the Rhode Island Perkins Horseshoe company. He is also president of the American National bank.

CARPENTER, GEORGE MOULTON, lawyer, jurist, was born April 22, 1844, in Portsmouth, R. I. He was appointed one of a board of commissioners to revise the laws of Rhode Island in 1882; was elected a justice of the supreme court of the state in 1885; and was appointed United States district judge for the district of Rhode Island.

CARPENTER, GEORGE W., scientist, was born July 31, 1802, in Germantown, Pa. He was a successful merchant in Philadelphia, and devoted his leisure to the study of sciences. His opinion on subjects in geology was of recognized value. He accumulated a choice collection of minerals, and showed considerable interest in the medical sciences. He died June 7, 1860, in Germantown, Pa.

CARPENTER, HENRY BERNARD, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1840 in Ireland. He was a unitarian clergyman of Boston, and brother of W. Boyd Carpenter, the Anglican bishop of Ripon. He wrote principally in verse, his only published books including The Oatmeal Crusaders; Liber Amoris, a Metrical Romance of the Middle Ages; and A Poet's Last Songs. He died in 1890.

CARPENTER, LEVI D., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York, from 1843 to 1845, to fill a vacancy.

CARPENTER, LEWIS CASS, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 20, 1836, in Putnam, Conn. He was appointed to a position in the treasury department; was correspondent for several newspapers; assisted in establishing the first daily paper in South Carolina, The Charleston Republican, in 1868, and removed there in 1870 to become one of its editors. He established The Daily Union in 1870; and was elected to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy.

CARPENTER, MATTHEW H., lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Dec. 22, 1824, in Moretown, Vt. He was for several years a district attorney for the state of Wisconsin, and practiced his profession before the supreme court of the United States. He was elected a senator in congress from Wisconsin for the term commencing in 1869 and ending in 1875, serving on the committees on the judiciary, patents, and revision of laws; and also served as president pro tem of the senate. He was again elected United States senator in 1878 for the term ending in 1885. He died Feb. 24, 1881, in Washington, D. C.

CARPENTER, MIRON J., railroad president, was born April 12, 1850, in Caledonia, Ill. He is the president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad.

CARPENTER, NEWTON FRANCIS, lawyer, legislator, was born April 27, 1831, in Rehoboth, Mass. In 1866 he was a member of the Wisconsin legislature. He has been a justice of the peace for twenty years, and court commissioner fourteen years.

CARPENTER, ROLLA CLINTON, educator, mechanical engineer, author, was born June 26, 1852, in Orion, Mich. He received his education at the Michigan Agricultural college, Michigan university, and Cornell university. After serving as a civil engineer on railroad construction he became professor of civil engineering and mathematics in the Michigan Agricultural college; and afterward professor of experimental engineering in the Cornell university. He has been consulting engineer for various important electrical railroads; and has made several important investigations relating to applied mechanics. He is the author of a work on Experimental Engineering; one on Heating and Ventilating Buildings; and on Testing of Materials.

CARPENTER, STEPHEN CUTTER, journalist, author, was born in England. He was an English journalist who came to America in 1803 and settled in Charleston. He is the author of Memoir of Thomas Jefferson, containing a Concise History of the United States; and An Overland Journey to India. He died about 1820.

CARPENTER, STEPHEN HASKINS, educator, author, was born Aug. 7, 1831, in Little Falls, N. Y. He was a Wisconsin educator; and professor of literature at the university of Wisconsin. He was the author of Evidences of Christianity; English of the Fourteenth Century; Introduction to the Study of Anglo-Saxon; and Elements of English Analysis. He died Dec. 7, 1831, in Little Falls, N. Y.

CARPENTER, WILLIAM, author, was born in 1830 in England. He was an eccentric English printer and stenographer who removed from England to Baltimore in 1879. He strenuously advocated the theory that the earth is flat, revolving on a central axis with the sun stationary over the center. Among his various writings are: The Earth Not a Globe, by Common Sense; Sir Isaac Newton's Theoretical Astronomy Examined and Refuted by Common Sense; Water not Convex; Proctor's Planet Earth; and Something About Spiritualism. He died in 1896.

CARPENTER, WILLIAM H., soldier, business man, was born July 4, 1844, in Luray, Va. He received his education in the schools of his native city, and at St. Joseph, Mo. During 1861-65 he served in the confederate service from private to captain. He then traveled extensively as business representative of several large firms. Since 1889 he has been president of the Phoenix Loan association of St. Joseph, Mo.; is prominently connected with various other business enterprises, and has taken an active part in the public affairs of his county and state.

CARR, ELIAS, farmer, governor, was born Feb. 25, 1839, in Edgecombe county, N. C. He completed his education in the university of Virginia and North Carolina. With the exception of the time spent in the confederate army, his life has been pre-eminently that of the agriculturist, managing his large private interests in Edgecombe, his native county. He was the first county president of the Farmers' Alliance; and for two terms was president of the State Alliance. In 1886 he was a delegate from North Carolina to the farmers' national convention at St. Paul; and in 1892 was appointed commissioner to the World's Fair. In 1892 he was elected governor of North Carolina by a majority of thirty thousand, which position he filled with distinction.

CARR, FRANCIS, congressman, was born in 1752. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature from 1806 to 1811; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1811 to 1813. He died in October, 1821.

CARR, JAMES, congressman. He served three years in the Massachusetts legislature from Bangor, and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1815 to 1817.

CARR, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1831 to 1837, and again from 1839 to 1841. He died Jan. 20, 1845, in Clark county, Ind.

CARR, JOSEPH B., soldier, was born Aug. 16, 1826, in Albany, N. Y. When the civil war broke out he was made lieutenant-colonel, and then colonel of the second New York volunteers. In 1865 he was brevetted major-general, and in 1893 appointed major-general.

CARR, JOSEPH M., clergyman, was born March 9, 1836, in Damascus, Ohio. In 1854 he entered Mount Union college, and graduated therefrom in 1859. The same year he entered the Pittsburg conference, and since 1880 has been a member of the East Ohio conference of the methodist episcopal church. He secured one hundred thousand dollars for the Mount Union college, together with very valuable grounds and the president's residence. He was chairman of the East Ohio delegation, and of the general missionary committee of the fourth general conference district; is a trustee of Mount Union college; president of the board of trustees of the East Ohio conference; secretary of the Ministerial Relief association of Pittsburg and East Ohio conferences; and has filled numerous other positions in his church. He is now pastor of the Miles Park Avenue church, of Cleveland, Ohio. He is a descendant of Gov. Caleb Carr, whose ancestors came to America in 1635.

CARR, JULIAN SHAKESPEARE, manufacturer, banker, philanthropist, was born Oct. 12, 1845, in Chapel Hill, N. C.

He graduated from the university of North Carolina, of which institution he is a member of the executive committee of the board of trustees. He is also a member of the board of trustees of Trinity college; and a member of the board of directors of the Oxford asylum. In 1883-91 he was a delegate from the state at large to the democratic national conventions. He was a delegate to the Ecumenical conference of the Methodism of the World, held in London; and a delegate to the Robert Ralke centennial. Mr. Carr is the president of the following companies: Blackwell's Durham Tobacco company; First National bank of Durham; Golden Belt Manufacturing company; and the Greensboro Female College association. He served in the confederate army in Barringer's brigade, Hampton's corps, in the army of Northern Virginia.

CARR, LUCIEN, archaeologist, author, was born in 1829, in Missouri. He is an archaeologist of Cambridge, and was curator of the Peabody museum from 1876 to 1894. He is the author of The Mounds of the Mississippi Valley Historically Considered; Missouri, a brief History of the State; and Prehistoric Remains of Kentucky.

CARR, NATHAN T., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1833, in Steuben county, N. Y. In 1858 he was elected a representative in the Michigan state legislature. He entered the union army in 1861 as first lieutenant. In 1863 he moved to Indiana; and was subsequently elected a representative from that state to the forty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy.

CARR, ROBERT V., journalist, poet, was born July 15, 1877, in Chenoa, Ill. He received his education at the South Dakota School of Mines. He learned the printing business, and is a successful journalist of Rapid City, S. D. He is the author of numerous poems of merit, and is familiarly known as the Black Hills Poet.

CARR, WILLIAM BROWN, educator, college president, author, was born Feb. 4, 1820, in Leesburg, Va. For over half a century, 1841-92, Prof. Carr has been engaged in educational work as professor and president in various schools and colleges, including Warren Green academy, Va.; New Lishon institute, Va.; Madison Female college, Ga.; Wesleyan Female college, N. C.; Randolph Macon college, Va.; and president of Petersburg Female college. He is the author of Carr's Plan with English Syntax; The Genealogy of the Carrs; and other works.

CARRELL, GEORGE ALOYSIUS, Roman catholic bishop, was born in 1803 in Philadelphia, Pa. He performed missionary duty in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, and founded an academy for young ladies. Between 1851 and 1853 he was president of the Purcell Mansion college, Cincinnati. On the erection of the eastern portion of Kentucky into the see of Covington in 1853, Dr. Carrell was made bishop. He died in 1868 in Covington, Ky.

CARRIER, AUGUSTUS STILES, educator, author, was born in 1857 in New York. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Chicago; and professor of Hebrew in McCormick Theological seminary from 1892. He is the author of The Hebrew Verb, a Series of Tabular Studies.

CARRIGAIN, PHILIP, lawyer, was born Feb. 20, 1772, in Concord, N. H. He was secretary of state of New Hampshire four years, and also clerk of the senate. He surveyed a great part of the state, of which he published an excellent map, in 1816, and was the first to apply to New Hampshire the name of the granite state. He died March 16, 1842, in Concord, N. H.

CARRINGTON, EDWARD, soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1749, in Charlotte county, Va. He was an efficient officer during the revolution; was for some time quartermaster-general of the army under Gen. Greene, in the south, and greatly contributed to the advantage gained over the enemy. He was afterward attached to the army of the north, but previous to the evacuation of Charleston resumed his former station. He was a delegate to the continental congress from Virginia from 1785 to 1786; and was foreman of the jury which tried Aaron Burr for treason. He died Oct. 28, 1810, in Richmond, Va.

CARRINGTON, HENRY BEEBE, general, author, was born March 2, 1824, in Wallingford, Conn. He is a general in the United States army living in Boston. His principal writings include Crisis Thoughts; Battles of the American Revolution; Apsaraka, or Indian Operations on the Plains; Hints to Soldiers Taking the Field; and The Washington Obelisk and its Voices.

CARRINGTON, PAUL, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1764. He became a lawyer, and served in both houses of the legislature and afterward on the bench of the superior court. He died Jan. 8, 1816.

CARROL, JOHN, bishop, author, was born in 1735 in Maryland. He was the first Roman catholic archbishop of Baltimore. His writings are mainly of a controversial cast. He is the author of Concise View of the Principal Points of Controversy between the Protestant and Catholic Churches; and Discourse on General Washington. He died in 1817 in Georgetown, D. C.

CARROLL, ALFRED L., physician, author, was born Aug. 4, 1833, in New York city. He has been for many years prominently identified with the state health organization. He organized the first state board of health in the state at Staten Island in 1872, and at New Brighton in 1880. He is the author of Relation of Hygiene to Therapeutics and Question of Quarantine.

CARROLL, ANNA ELLA, military genius, author, was born Aug. 29, 1815, in Somerset county, Md. She was sent by President Lincoln to St. Louis to endeavor to form an opinion of the probable success or failure of a most important expedition preparing to descend the Mississippi by means of gunboats. She reported the Mississippi as frowning with fortifications and tides as unfavorable. She recommended the use of the Tennessee river as the true strategic line. In furtherance of this secret plan the western armies, to the amazement of the confederacy, were suddenly transferred from the Mississippi up to the Tennessee river. The most brilliant result followed. Fort Henry fell, Fort Donaldson was taken, the confederacy was divided, and the rebel armies cut off from their source of supplies. She was the author of The Great American Battle, or The Contest between Christianity and Political Romanism; The Star of the West, or National Men and National Measures; The Union of the States; The War Powers of the General Government; and The Relation of the National Government to the Revolted Citizens Defined. She died in 1894.

CARROLL, CHARLES, of Carrollton, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Sept. 20, 1737, in Annapolis, Md.

He became known as an advocate for liberty, and was one of the ablest political writers of Maryland; and in 1776 was elected a delegate to the old congress, and subscribed his name to the declaration of independence. At the time of his death he was the last surviving signer of that document. In 1778 he left congress and devoted himself to the councils of his native state. In 1789 he was elected a senator to the new congress. He died Feb. 14, 1832, in Baltimore, Md.

CARROLL, CHARLES H., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1794 in Maryland. He was a member of the assembly of the state in 1836; a state senator in 1837; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1847. He died in 1865 in Groveland, N. Y.

CARROLL, DANIEL, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1789 to 1784; signed the articles of confederation and also the constitution, and was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1789 to 1791. He died in 1829.

CARROLL, DAVID L., clergyman, college president, author, was born May 10, 1787, in Fayette county, Pa. In 1829 he was installed pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, L. I.; and in 1835 he was elected the ninth president of Hampden Sidney college. He is the author of The Ministerial Officer, and other works. He died Nov. 23, 1851.

CARROLL, DAVID WILLIAMSON, lawyer, jurist, was born March 11, 1816, in Baltimore, Md. In 1850 he was elected to the Arkansas legislature; in 1860 was elected prosecuting attorney; in 1861-62 he served in the civil war, and attained the rank of colonel. In 1864 he was elected to the lower house of the confederate congress; in 1866 was elected judge of Jefferson county; and in 1878 was elected chancellor of Pulaski chancery court at Little Rock, Ark.

CARROLL, HENRY KING, clergyman, author, was born in 1847 in New Jersey. He is a methodist clergyman and religious statistician; and the author of The World of Missions; The Catholic Dogma of Church Authority; and The Religious Forces of the United States.

CARROLL, HOWARD, journalist, author, was born in 1854 in Albany, N. Y. He was a subordinate reporter on the New York Times, but rapidly developed so marked a talent for journalism that he was promoted to the position of traveling correspondent of that journal. He is the author of A Mississippi Incident and Twelve Americans.

CARROLL, JAMES, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1839 to 1841.

CARROLL, JAMES, lawyer, was born Feb. 26, 1856, in Washington county, Pa. In 1880 he graduated from Penn college of Oskaloosa, Iowa, and three years later was admitted to the bar. He has attained success in the profession of law at Oskaloosa, Iowa; was elected county attorney in 1892 for two years; and received the re-election to the same office in 1897.

CARROLL, JOHN JOSEPH, clergyman, scholar, was born June 24, 1856, in Ireland. He was made an assistant at the Cathedral of the Holy Name, and by his zeal and proficiency was soon made pastor of St. Thomas parish, which has grown to be one of the most wealthy and populous of Chicago. He is one of the most renowned Gaelic scholars in the world.

CARROLL, JOHN LEE, state senator, governor, was born in 1830 in Baltimore, Md. He was elected to the state senate in 1867, and again in 1871. In 1875 he was elected governor of Maryland; the year that he entered upon his duties as such was the one hundredth after the date that his grandfather signed the declaration of independence.

CARROLL, JOHN M., lawyer, congressman, was born April 27, 1825, in Springfield, N. Y. He received an academic education; graduated at Union college, Schenectady, in 1846; studied law, and came to the bar in 1848. He was elected district attorney of Fulton county in 1859, and held that office three years; and was elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat. He has also attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers in the state of New York at Johnstown.

CARROLL, SAMUEL SPRIGG, soldier, was born Sept. 21, 1832, in Washington, D. C. In the Pennsylvania campaign he was present at the battle of Gettysburg, where he earned the brevet of lieutenant-colonel. In the battle of the Wilderness he won the brevet of colonel, and in the engagements near Spottsylvania was twice wounded and disabled for service in the field during the rest of the war. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864, and in 1865 received the brevet of brigadier-general, United States army, for gallantry at Spottsylvania, and that of major-general for services during the rebellion. In 1867 he became a lieutenant-colonel in the regular army. In 1868 he was acting inspector-general of the division of the Atlantic, and in 1869 retired as major-general for disability from wounds received in battle. He died Jan. 29, 1893, in Washington, D. C.

CARROLL, T. K., statesman. He was elected governor of Maryland in 1830 and 1831.

CARROLL, U. S. G., clergyman, author, was born May 1, 1864, in Waterloo, Ohio. He received a thorough education; was for a time engaged in the mercantile business; and is now the pastor of a methodist episcopal church in Hundred, W. Va. He is the author of The Christian Responsibility of Parents to Their Children, and contributes extensively to religious literature.

CARROLL, WILLIAM, soldier, governor, was born in 1788 in Pittsburg, Pa. His fitness for military service attracted the attention of Gen. Jackson, and he made him captain and brigadier-inspector in his division of the army in 1813; and was colonel and inspector-general from 1813 to 1814. He was governor of Tennessee from 1821 to 1827, and from 1829 to 1835. He died March 22, 1844, in Nashville, Tenn.

CARROLL, WILLIAM A., state legislator, was born Jan. 1, 1836, in Albany, N. Y. He has held various positions of honor in his state, and has served with distinction as a member of the New York legislature.

CARROLL, WILLIAM H., soldier, was born about 1820. He commanded a brigade in Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston's confederate army. The Unionists rose in scattered bands, but dispersed at the approach of the southern troops. On Nov. 14, 1862, Gen. Carroll, commanding at Knoxville, proclaimed martial law, but on the twenty-fourth rescinded the order.

CARROW, HOWARD, lawyer, jurist, was born May 30, 1861, in Camden, Del. He was appointed judge of the district court of Camden in 1891 for a term of five years. He is president of the West Jersey democrat league, and solicitor for the board of trade of Camden.

CARRUTH, JAMES HARRISON, botanist, author, was born Feb. 10, 1807, in Phillipston, Mass. In 1824 he edited the United States Review at Boston. From 1835 till 1840 he was a member either of the house or senate of Massachusetts, was chairman of the legislative committee on education, and in 1837 drafted the bill establishing the board of education. He was the author of Geography of Massachusetts, and the Geography of New Hampshire.

CARRUTH, WILLIAM HERBERT, educator, author, poet, was born in 1859 in Ossawatimie, Kan. He is a joint author of the History of Municipal Suffrage in Kansas, and co-editor of Sunflowers.

CARRUTHERS, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, physician, author, was born in 1800 in Virginia. He was a physician of Savannah who wrote a number of romances now quite forgotten. He was the author of The Kentuckian in New York; The Cavaliers of Virginia; Knights of the Horse Shoe; and Life of Charles Caldwell. He died about 1850 in Savannah, Ga.

CARRYL, CHARLES EDWARD, broker, author, was born in 1841 in New York. He is a broker of New York city, and the author of the popular juvenile tales, Davy and the Goblin; and The Admiral's Caravan.

CARSE, MRS. MATILDA B., temperance worker. She was the founder and president of the Woman's Dormitory association of the World's Columbian exposition. She founded the Woman's Temperance Publishing association, and was one of the leaders in planning and carrying out the building of the Woman's Temperance Temple of Chicago, Ill.

CARSON, CHRISTOPHER [KIT CARSON], explorer, traveler, guide and trapper, was born Dec. 24, 1809, in Madison county, Ky. He rendered important services as guide to Fremont in his noted western explorations. Serving in the civil war, he received the title of brigadier-general. He died May 23, 1868, in Fort Lynn, Colo.

CARSON, GEORGE, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Feb. 5, 1841, in Jennings county, Ind. He served in the civil war as a soldier; in 1878-80 was a member of the Iowa legislature; served in the senate in 1884-86; was on the district bench 1887-91, and in 1896 was elected mayor of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

CARSON, HAMPTON LAWRENCE, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 21, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a prominent lawyer of Philadelphia and the author of The History of the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Promulgation of the Constitution of the United States, and The History of the Supreme Court of the United States.

CARSON, JOSEPH, physician, author, was born in 1808. He was a medical professor at the university of Pennsylvania; and the author of Illustrations of Medical Botany; and Lectures on Materia Medica and Pharmacy. He died in 1876.

CARSON, LUELLA CLAY, educator, was born March 12, 1856, in Portland, Ore. Her father was a pioneer of the state, and for many years a member of the state senate. Since 1880 she has been closely identified with the educational work of Oregon; has been instructor in the Couch school of Portland; preceptress of the Pacific university, and since 1888 has filled the chair of English literature and rhetoric in the State university of Oregon.

CARSON, SALLIE, poet, was born March 12, 1847, in Beaver county, Pa. She is the author of a volume of her select poems entitled Wayside Flowers.

CARSON, SAMUEL P., congressman, was born at Pleasant Garden, N. C. For several years he was a member of the state legislature; and was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1825 to 1833. He killed Doctor Robert B. Vance in a duel in 1827. He died in November, 1840, in Arkansas.

CARSWELL, FRANKLIN WASHINGTON, merchant, was born Aug. 6, 1860, in Burke county, Ga. He graduated from the high schools of Hephzibah, Ga., and from the university of Georgia. He is a successful merchant, and prominent in public affairs of Hephzibah, Ga.

CARTER, CHARLES DAVIS, composer, was born April 25, 1857, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He has composed some songs for chorus and solo; and is the director of Pittsburg Female college.

CARTER, CHARLES IGNATIUS HARDMAN, clergyman, was born in 1803 in Lebanon, Ky. He was stationed at St. Mary's, Philadelphia, where he built the Church of the Assumption in 1849, and also erected a convent and free schools. He afterward founded a convent and academy of the Sisters of the Holy Child Jesus at Sharon Hill. He died in 1879 in Philadelphia, Pa.

CARTER, CHARLES M., lawyer, author. He is a successful lawyer of Washington, D. C.; and the author of Political Romance, and other works.

CARTER, EDWARD J., railroad president, was born Aug. 16, 1859, near Portsmouth, Ohio. Since 1894 he has been president of the Suwannee River railway.

CARTER, D. M., artist, was born in 1827 in Ireland. He was one of the original members of the Artists' Fund society, established in 1859. About 1850 he painted a series of pictures illustrating Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Among his most successful works are Decatur's Attack on Tripoli; and Moll Pitcher at the Battle of Monmouth; and portraits of Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk, and other distinguished persons.

CARTER, DAVID, agriculturist, legislator, was born Nov. 18, 1837, in McIntosh county, Ga. In 1897 he served with distinction as a member of the Florida state legislature from Cartersville.

CARTER, FRANCIS M., educator, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 28, 1839, in Carter county, Mo. He received his education at the Arcadia college, university of Missouri, and the university of North Carolina. He has been superintendent of public schools; prosecuting attorney; and a representative in the Missouri state legislature. He has been a candidate for judge of the circuit court; and was twice presented as a democratic nominee for congress. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Missouri, and has an extensive practice at Farmington.

CARTER, FRANKLIN, educator, college president, was born Sept. 30, 1837, in Waterbury, Conn. From 1865 till 1868 he was professor of Latin and of French at Williams, then of Latin alone, till 1872, and then of German, at Yale, till 1881, when he became president of Williams. He has published a translation of Goethe's Iphigenie auf Tauris, and Life of Mark Hopkins.

CARTER, HARLEY H., jurist, was born in New York. He removed to Michigan, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Arizona.

CARTER, JAMES COOLIDGE, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 14, 1827, in Lancaster, Mass. He was a member of the commission appointed by Gov. Tilden, of New York, in 1875, to devise a form of municipal government for the cities of the state. He ranks among the leading lawyers of New York. He has published a monograph entitled The Codification of our Common Law, in which he opposes the scheme of codification.

CARTER, JAMES GORDON, educator, author, was born Sept. 7, 1795, in Leominster, Mass. He was a prominent educator of Massachusetts; and the author of Essays on Popular Education; Geography of New Hampshire; Geography of Massachusetts; and Letters to William Prescott on the Free Schools of New England. He died July 22, 1849, in Chicago, Ill.

CARTER, JOHN, pioneer of Tennessee. When the district of Washington, now the state of Tennessee, was annexed to North Carolina during the revolution, he was elected, with John Sevier and Charles Robertson, to the convention that assembled at Halifax, N. C., in 1785, and framed a constitution for the state of Frankland, which was reunited with North Carolina in 1788.

CARTER, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1792, on Black River, S. C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1822 to 1829, when he declined a re-election. He died June 20, 1850, in Georgetown, D. C.

CARTER, JOHN C., naval officer, was born in 1805, in Virginia. In 1862 he commanded the steamer Michigan on the lakes. After the war he was placed in command of the receiving-ship Vermont and of the naval rendezvous at San Francisco. He was commissioned as commodore on the retired list on April 4, 1867. He died Nov. 24, 1870, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CARTER, JOSEPH MCKENDREE, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 1, 1852, near Huntingdon, Tenn. He attended the East Tennessee Wesleyan university, which institution is now known as the U. S. Grant university. He attained success in educational work, and became a college president; and has received the degree of D. D. For twenty-five years he has been a traveling clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal church, fourteen years of which he was presiding elder. He has twice been a member of the general conference, and has filled numerous positions of honor in the gift of his church.

CARTER, JOSIAH MASON, lawyer, state legislator, was born June 19, 1813, in New Canaan, Conn. He practiced in New York city from 1840 till 1847, and afterward in Norwalk; and served three terms in the Connecticut legislature, during the last of which he was speaker of the house. From 1862 till his death he filled the office of state's attorney for Fairfield county. He died March 22, 1868, in Norwalk, Conn.

CARTER, LORENZO, pioneer, was born in 1767, in Rutland, Vt. He emigrated in 1796 to the western reserve, and settled in Cleveland in the spring of 1797. He kept a hotel and a store for the sale of hunting-supplies in the early days of Cleveland, and built the first frame house, the first warehouse, and the first vessel constructed in that town. In 1804 he was elected a major in the militia. He died Feb. 7, 1814, in Cleveland, Ohio.

CARTER, LUTHER C., merchant, congressman, was born Feb. 25, 1805, in Bethel, Maine. He settled in New York city, and devoted himself to mercantile pursuits with success. He was a member of the board of education in that city; and was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-sixth congress.

CARTER, MARY HELEN, educator, poet, was born Jan. 1, 1871, in Fillmore county, Minn. For several terms she taught school in Iowa; and her poems have received extensive publication in the periodical press.

CARTER, NATHAN FRANKLIN, clergyman, author, poet, was born Jan. 6, 1830, in Henniker, N. H. He is the author of The Native Ministry of New Hampshire; and The Ride for Life and Other Poems. For several years he was one of the editors of the New Hampshire Journal of Education. His poems have constantly appeared in periodical literature, and in Poets of America, and other standard collections. He is also an authority on religious matters in his denomination.

CARTER, NATHANIEL HAZELTINE, journalist, author, was born Sept. 17, 1787, in Concord, Mass. He was a New York journalist who published Letters from Europe, and wrote many poems of reflection. He died Jan. 2, 1830, in Marseilles, France.

CARTER, OLIVER STANLEY, merchant, banker, was born July 25, 1825, in New Hartford, Conn. He was elected a director of The North American Fire Insurance Co. in 1856, and The Home Insurance Co. about 1860, which positions he has since held. Since 1892 he has been president of The National Bank of the Republic. He owns the Carter building at Broadway and Eighth street; and the Carter and Macy building at 140-142 Pearl street.

CARTER, PETER, publisher, author, was born July 19, 1825, in Scotland. He is a prominent New York publisher; and author of Crumbs from the Land of Cakes, a volume of travels in Scotland; Scotia's Bards; and three juvenile tales including Bertie Lee; Donald Fraser; and Effie's Home.

CARTER, ROBERT, author, was born Feb. 5, 1819, in Albany, N. Y. He was a New York writer who was one of the editors of Appleton's American Cyclopædia, to which he contributed many articles. He is the author of A Summer Cruise on the Coast of New England. He died Feb. 15, 1879, in Cambridge, Mass.

CARTER, RUSSEL KELSO, mathematician, author, was born Nov. 19, 1849, in Baltimore, Md. He is a mathematician of Chester, Pa., prominent in the Holiness movement in the methodist church and as a faith healer. He is the author of The Atonement for Sin and Sickness; and Miracles of Healing.

CARTER, SAMUEL, naval officer, was born in Carter county, Tenn. He served in the civil war; and in 1865 attained the rank of lieutenant commander in the navy. During the following three years he was commandant of the Naval academy of Annapolis, receiving his promotion as captain in 1870. He died May 26, 1891, in Washington, D. C.

CARTER, THOMAS HENRY, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 30, 1854, in Scioto county, Ohio.

He was engaged in farming, railroading, and school teaching for a number of years; studied law and was admitted to the bar. In 1882 he removed from Burlington, Iowa, to Helena, Mont.; and was elected delegate from the territory of Montana to the fifty-first congress as a republican, and upon the admission of the state was elected its first representative in congress. He was commissioner of the general land office from March, 1891, to July, 1892; and in January, 1895, was elected to the United States senate by the legislature of Montana for the term beginning in 1895 and ending in 1901. In July, 1892, he was elected chairman of the republican national committee.

CARTER, TIMOTHY J., lawyer, congressman. He was secretary of the Maine senate in 1833; county attorney from 1833 to 1837; and was a representative in congress from Maine in 1837-38. He died March 14, 1838, in Washington, D. C.

CARTER, W. H., clergyman, missionary, was born Oct. 27, 1829, in Utica, N. Y. He was chaplain of the sixteenth regiment of Indiana volunteers in 1862-63. He has filled various pastorates; and in 1877 began missionary work in Florida, with headquarters at Tallahassee.

CARTER, WILLIAM B., state senator, congressman, was born in 1812, in Tennessee. He was a member of the house and senate in the state legislature; and president of the constitutional convention. From 1835 to 1841 he was a representative in congress from his native state. He died April 17, 1848, in Carter county, Tenn.

CARTER, WILLIAM FRANCIS, educator, author, was born Sept. 5, 1830, in Northborough, Mass. In 1867 he was appointed professor of ancient languages, and afterward of the Latin language and history in the university of Wisconsin. He was the author of Annals of Tacitus; and A Short History of the Roman People. He died Dec. 9, 1889.

CARTER, WILLIAM T., coal miner, was born Aug. 23, 1827, in England. About 1867 he founded the town of Redington on the Lehigh Valley railroad, below Bethlehem, built there two large blast furnaces for the manufacture of pig iron, and erected machine shops and other works and a large number of dwellings. He died Feb. 9, 1893, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CARTER, WILLIS McGLASCOE, educator, journalist, was born Sept. 3, 1852, in Albemarle county, Va. For sixteen years he taught school; was president of the Augusta Teachers' association; and is now the editor and owner of the Staunton Tribune, Virginia.

CARTER, DAVID KELLOGG, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 22, 1812, in Rochester, N. Y. He was elected to congress as a democrat, and served two terms, from 1849 till 1853. In 1861 he was appointed minister to Bolivia. In 1863 he became chief justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. He died April 16, 1887, in Washington, D. C.

CARTWRIGHT, MARY J., poet, was born Feb. 5, 1856, in Portland, Ind. Her poems have appeared in the periodical press; in Sunday school and singing books, and in sheet music form. She still resides in the city of her nativity.

CARTWRIGHT, PETER, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 1, 1785, in Amherst county, Va. He was a famous methodist preacher of Illinois; and the author of Controversy with the Devil; Autobiography of a Backwoods Preacher; and Fifty Years a Presiding Elder. He filled many high positions in his church, and attended all the important conventions. He died Sept. 25, 1872, near Pleasant Plains, Ill.

CARTWRIGHT, SAMUEL ADOLPHUS, physician, was born Nov. 30, 1793, in Fairfax county, Va. He removed to Natchez, Miss., where he labored for more than a quarter of a century, and served at one time under Gen. Jackson as surgeon. He removed to New Orleans in 1848, and in 1862 was appointed to improve the sanitary condition of the confederate soldiers near Port Hudson and Vicksburg. He died May 2, 1863, in Jackson, Miss.

CARUTH, ASHER GRAHAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 7, 1844, in Scottsville, Ky. He was attorney of the board of trustees of the public schools of Louisville, by annual elections, from 1873 until 1880; in 1880 was elected commonwealth's attorney for the ninth judicial district of Kentucky for the constitutional term of six years, and was re-elected without opposition in 1886. He was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses.

CARUTHERS, ELI WASHINGTON, clergyman, historian, was born Oct. 23, 1793, in Rowan county, N. C. He became pastor of Buffalo and Alleman churches in 1820. He is the author of Life of David Caldwell; and two volumes of Revolutionary Incidents and Sketches of Characters, Chiefly in the Old North State. He died Nov. 14, 1865, in North Carolina.

CARUTHERS, ROBERT L., soldier, jurist, congressman, was born July 31, 1800, in Smith county, Tenn. In 1834 he was elected a brigadier-general of militia; was a member of the Tennessee legislature in 1835; and was a presidential elector in 1845, declining to run for governor. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1841 to 1843, declining a re-election; and in 1852 was called to a seat on the supreme bench of Tennessee, holding the position many years. He was a delegate to the peace convention of 1861. He died Oct. 4, 1882.

CARUTHERS, SAMUEL, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 13, 1820, in Madison county, Mo. He was elected a member of the house of representatives in congress from Missouri from 1853 to 1859. He died July 20, 1860, in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

CARVER, JOHN, governor, was born about 1590 in England. He was the first governor of Plymouth from 1620 to 1621. He died April 5, 1621.

CARVER, JONATHAN, traveler, author, was born in 1732, in Stillwater, N. Y. He was of an adventurous disposition, and traveled through the interior parts of North America. He was the author of a work entitled Travels through the Interior Parts of North America. He died Jan. 31, 1780, in London, England.

CARVER, NATHANIEL E., educator, was born Aug. 6, 1841, in Cape Vincent, N. Y. After graduating from the Massachusetts State Normal school he took up educational work in which he has been eminently successful. He has taught in Wisconsin schools in Richmond City, Lone Rock, Muscoda, Sextonville, Prairie du Chien, and Chetek; and for six years has been county superintendent of Barron county.

CARY, ALBIGENCE WALDO, inventor, was born May 23, 1801, in Coventry, R. I. He was the inventor of Cary's rotary force-pump, which was used on the first steam fire-engine in the United States, in reconstructing the southern railway after the civil war and in the mines of California. He died Aug. 30, 1862, in Brockport, N. Y.

CARY, ALICE, author, poet, was born April 26, 1820, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She was an Ohio writer who came with her sister Phœbe to New York city in 1852, and as poet and novelist became prominent in literary circles there. The weekly receptions of the sisters were attended by artists and writers for many years. Her books of verse include Lyra, and Other Poems; A Lover's Diary; Bal- lads, Lyrics, and Hymns; Early and Late Poems (with Phœbe Cary, infra). Her other works are Cloverbrook, a book of the type of Miss Mitford's Our Village; Pictures of Country Life; the novels, Hagar; The Bishop's Son; Married, not Mated. Snowberries, a juvenile; From Year to Year; and A Token of Remembrance. She died Feb. 12, 1871, in New York.

CARY, ANNIE LOUISE, singer, was born Oct. 22, 1842, in Wayne, Maine. During the most active part of her professional career, she sang at all the festivals given in New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, and Worcester. She was always a favorite with the American public; and was equally popular as an opera singer in foreign countries. In 1882 she was married to Charles Monson Raymond of New York city; and has since sung only in private and for charity.

CARY, ARCHIBALD, patriot, was born in 1730, in Virginia. He served mainly in the Virginia convention and was chosen president of the senate when its state government was organized. He died in September, 1786.

CARY, EDWARD, journalist, author, was born in 1840, in New York. He is a journalist of New York city on the editorial staff of The Times; and the author of Life of George William Curtis.

CARY, GEORGE B., congressman. He was a member of congress from the Petersburg district, Virginia, in 1842 and 1843. He died March 5, 1850, in Southampton county, Va.

CARY, GEORGE LOVELL, theologian, author, was born in 1830, in Massachusetts. He has been professor of New Testament literature at Meadville Theological seminary since 1862; and is the author of Introduction to the Greek of the New Testament.

CARY, JOSEPH CLINTON, inventor, was born Oct. 12, 1828, in Alexander, N. Y. He built two steam fire-engines about 1860, to which his father's pump was applied, for use in New York city. He was the originator of the cross-town railroad running from Christopher street ferry to the East river at Twenty-third street. He died Aug. 7, 1884, in Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

CARY, OLIVER HAZARD P., soldier, state legislator, was born Feb. 26, 1819, in Connersville, Ind. He was in all the battles of the army of the Cumberland, and was wounded five times. In 1876 he was elected to represent Grant county in the legislature, and was re-elected in 1878 from Marion, Ind.

CARY, PHEBE, author, poet, was born Sept. 4, 1824, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is the author of Poems and Parodies; Poems of Faith, Hope, and Love. She will be longest remembered by the well-known hymn, Nearer Home. Her father moved from Vermont shortly before her birth. She and her sister Alice wrote a number of exquisite poems. Her name is sometimes spelled Carey. She died July 31, 1871.

CARY, SAMUEL FENTON, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1814, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the fortieth congress; and was the only member of his party who voted against the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson.

CARY, SHEPARD, merchant, farmer, congressman. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1832, 1833, from 1839 to 1842, in 1843, and from 1848 to 1854. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1844 to 1845. He died in August, 1866, in Maine.

CARY, TRUMBULL, soldier, legislator, banker, was born Aug. 11, 1787, in Mansfield, Conn. In 1805 he moved to Batavia, N. Y., and for thirty years was engaged in mercantile work. He was adjutant in the war of 1812; was elected to the assembly; served as state senator; and was the founder of the Bank of Genesee. He died June 20, 1869.

CASE, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 21, 1817, in Austintown, Ohio. He was a representative from Indiana in the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

CASE, JEROME I., manufacturer, was born Dec. 11, 1819, in Williamstown, N. Y. The success of the Case machines was phenomenal. Repeated enlargements of the plant were needed, and these great and prosperous works now occupy forty acres of ground and have an output of $2,000,000 worth of machines a year. In 1880 the business was incorporated as The J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., capital $1,000,000. He died Dec. 22, 1891, in Racine, Wis.

CASE, MARIETTA STANLEY, poet, was born Aug. 22, 1845, in Thompson, Conn. She is the daughter of a clergyman of Puritan and revolutionary ancestry; and she is regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She has held various offices in home and foreign missionary work. Her best poems are entitled The Waning Century; and Amorpatioe, the latter being written for the authors given creditable mention at the Atlanta exposition. She is the wife of Mr. A. Willard Case, a prominent paper manufacturer of South Manchester, Conn.

Daughters of the American Revolution. She was one of the Connecticut women

CASE, THEODORE SPENCER, soldier, physician, journalist, was born Jan. 26, 1832, in Jackson, Butts county, Ga. From 1860 till 1861 he edited the Medical Review of Kansas City, Mo. He became second lieutenant of the twenty-fifth Missouri infantry in 1861, and later captain and assistant quartermaster. In 1865 he was made colonel and quartermaster-general of Missouri, and from 1866 till 1868 was curator of the university of Missouri. From 1873 till 1885 he was postmaster of Kansas City; and in 1885 became professor of chemistry in Kansas City Medical college. He edited the Kansas City Review of Science and Industry from 1877 till 1885; and in 1886 became president of the Kansas City real estate and stock exchange.

CASE, WALTER, congressman, was born in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1821.

CASEBEER, JACOB, physician, was born April 11, 1839, in Auburn, Ind. He was commissioned a surgeon in the union army, and was mustered out of the service June 27, 1865. He is a member and president of the North-eastern Medical society of Indiana, and also belongs to the American Medical association.

CASEY, JOSEPH, jurist, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1849 to 1851; and in 1863 was appointed a judge of the court of claims.

CASEY, LEVI, congressman, was born in 1749, in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1803 to 1807. He died Feb. 1, 1807, in Washington, D. C.

CASEY, LYMAN R., congressman, was born in 1837, in York, N. Y. In 1882 he removed to North Dakota, and has since been engaged in the management of the affairs of the Carrington and Casey Land company, whose business includes the cultivation of several thousand acres of land. He acted as commissioner on the organization of Foster county, Dakota territory; and was elected to the United States senate as a republican in 1889, and served till 1893.

CASEY, SAMUEL, financier, was born in Kentucky. While residing in Washington City he was appointed treasurer of the United States in 1853, and held the office until 1860.

CASEY, SAMUEL L., congressman. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-seventh congress.

CASEY, SILAS, general, author, was born July 12, 1807, in East Greenwich, R. I. He was a general in the United States army who published Infantry Tactics; and Infantry Tactics for Colored Troops. In 1826 he graduated from the United States Military academy; served in the Seminole war of 1837-42; distinguished himself in the war with Mexico; and was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1861. He subsequently attained the rank of major-general of the United States army; retired in 1868; and twice received the thanks of the Rhode Island legislature for distinguished services in the civil war. He died Jan. 22, 1882, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CASEY, SILAS, naval officer, was born Sept. 11, 1841, in Rhode Island. He became master in 1861, lieutenant in 1862, lieutenant-commander in 1866, and commander in 1874. He was attached to the steamer Wissahickon in 1861, and was in the first attack on Fort Sumter and various engagements with the batteries in Charleston harbor. He was equipment officer at the Washington navy-yard in 1882-84, light-house inspector in 1885, and in 1886 commanded the receiving-ship Dale. He was made a captain in 1889, and promoted to commodore in 1898.

CASEY, THOMAS LINCOLN, soldier, educator, was born May 10, 1831, in Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. In 1854-59 he was assistant professor of engineering in the United States Military academy. From 1859 till 1861 he had command of the engineer corps on the Pacific coast. During the civil war he served at first as staff engineer at Fort Monroe, Va., became captain in the engineer corps on Aug. 6, 1861, and was superintending engineer of the permanent defences and field fortifications upon the coast of Maine.

CASEY, ZADOC, congressman, was born in Georgia. He was a representative in congress from Illinois from 1833 to 1843; and also held the office of lieutenant-governor of the state, and was a member of one of the state constitutional conventions. He died in 1862, in Caseyville, Ill.

CASH, JOHN H., journalist, jurist, was born in January, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the editor and owner of The Leader of Westfield, N. J.; has been judge of the district court; and has filled various other public positions of honor.

CASHEN, THOMAS V., manufacturer, was born Feb. 14, 1835, in Picton, N. S. After the close of the war he came to Jacksonville, Fla., and for nine years was engaged in the business of contracting and building. In 1874 he became a partner of Alexander Wallace in the Alligator steam saw and planing mills; and in 1884 became sole proprietor.

CASILEAR, JOHN W., painter, was born June 25, 1811, in New York. His principal works are Swiss Lake; Genesee Meadows; September Afternoon; Trout Brook; Autumn; Scene in New Hampshire; View on Chemung River; View of the Rocky Mountains; Scene on Long Island; Early Autumn; Genesee Valley; and Early Summer, Long Island Sound.

CASKIE, JOHN S., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was elected a representative in congress from his native state from 1851 to 1855. He died Dec. 15, 1869, in Richmond, Va.

CASON, THOMAS J., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1828, in Union county, Ind. From 1861-64 was a member of the Indiana legislature; from 1864-67 was a member of the state senate; and in 1867 was appointed judge of common pleas, and re-elected to the same office for a term of four years. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses, serving on the committee on revision of laws. He still continues the practice of law at Lebanon, Ind., where he has attained a large practice.

CASS, GEORGE N., artist. He studied with Innes, and has painted landscapes in oil and water-colors, exhibiting at the Boston Art club and elsewhere. Among his works which are especially popular in New England are Evening on the Kennebec River; and View in Medway, Mass. His wife is also an artist, and has painted fruit, flowers, and still-life, in oil.

CASS, JOSEPH FORREST, banker, was born July 31, 1863, in Vernon county, Wis. He is president of the Tripoli Savings bank, Iowa; and vice-president of the bank of Sumner, Iowa. He is also president of the Western Electric Telephone system, consisting of two thousand miles of lines in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota. He is also a director in the Waterloo and Cedar Falls railway; and is interested in various other business enterprises.

CASS, LEWIS, statesman, was born Oct. 9, 1782, in Exeter, N. H. He was a statesman of Michigan who was secretary of war in Jackson's administration; ambassador to France; and a democratic candidate for president in 1845. He was the author of Inquiries Concerning the History, Traditions and Languages of the Indians in the United States; and France, its King, Court, and Government, 1840. He died June 17, 1866, in Detroit, Mich.

CASSADY, J. E., lawyer, legislator, was born July 8, 1859, in Roane county, Tenn. He received his education in the public schools, and at the Grant university of Athens. For eight years he was clerk of the circuit court; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Tennessee state legislature in the fiftieth general assembly.

CASSATT, ALEXANDER JOHNSTON, railroad president, was born Dec. 8, 1839, in Pittsburg, Pa. Since 1885 he has been president of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad.

CASSEDY, GEORGE, congressman, was born in Bergen county, N. J. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1821 to 1827. He died Dec. 31, 1842, in Hackensack, N. J.

CASSEL, ABRAHAM HARLEY, educator, antiquarian, author, was born Sept. 21, 1820, in Kulpsville, Pa. He was the founder of the Cassel library, which consists of fifty thousand valuable books and documents. He presented about twenty-eight thousand books and documents to the Brethren's Collegiate institute of Mount Morris, Ill.; and contributed to the historical society of Pennsylvania about three thousand books and papers relating to the early history of that state.

CASSEL, FLORA H., temperance worker. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled White Ribbon Vibrations.

CASSELL, CHARLES E., journalist, was born Aug. 31, 1849, in Wakefield, Md. He is the editor and owner of The Clarion of Thurmont, Md., where he is a prominent business man and interested in the public affairs of his county and state.

CASSERLY, EUGENE, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born in 1822, in Ireland. He removed to California in 1850, and identified himself with the press of San Francisco. He was elected a senator in congress from California for the term commencing in 1869 and ending in 1875. He died June 14, 1883, in San Francisco, Cal.

CASSIDY, GEORGE WILLIAMS, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born April 25, 1836, in Bourbon county, Ky. He became a journalist, and settled in Nevada. He was a state senator from 1872 to 1880; president of the senate during the session of 1879; and was elected a representative from Nevada to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

CASSIDY, PATRICK S., journalist, poet, was born Oct. 31, 1850, in Ireland. In 1868 he became connected with the Associated Press, remaining with that association for ten years. He successively edited the New York Sunday Democrat, Illustrated Times and the Celtic Magazine, of which latter periodical he was part owner. Since 1881 he has been regularly connected with the Sunday Mercury. He has written song verse; and is the author of a work entitled Glenough, or the Victims of Vengeance.

CASSIN, JOHN, naturalist, author, was born Sept. 6, 1813, in Chester, Pa. He was a naturalist of Philadelphia whose American Ornithology is a continuation of Audubon's work on that subject. Other works of his are Ornithology of the Japan Expedition; Mammalogy and Ornithology of the Wilkes Exploring Expedition; Illustrations of the Birds of California, Texas, etc.; and A General Synopsis of North American Ornithology. He died Jan. 10, 1869, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CASSIN, STEPHEN, naval officer, was born Feb. 16, 1783, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served with distinction in the war with Tripoli, commanded the Ticonderoga in Mardonough's victory on Lake Champlain, and was rewarded by congress with a gold medal for bravery in that action. He was a terror to the pirates that infested the West Indies, and captured four of their vessels in 1822. He died Aug. 29, 1857, in Georgetown, D. C.

CASSODAY, JOHN B., lawyer, legislator, jurist, author, was born July 7, 1830, in Herkimer county, N. Y. He pursued his early studies in the common schools, and at the academies in Wellsboro and Knoxville, graduating from the Alfred academy. He subsequently studied one year at the Michigan university, and attended the law school of Albany, N. Y. In 1857 he settled in Janesville, Wis., where he soon attained prominence as a great lawyer. He was a member of the Wisconsin state legislature in 1865 and again in 1877, when he was made speaker of that body. In 1864 he was a delegate to the Baltimore convention that nominated Lincoln for president; and in 1880 to the Chicago convention that nominated Garfield, and was chairman of the Wisconsin delegation. In 1880 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court; received the re-election to that office in 1881 and again in 1889. He became chief justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin in 1895, and still fills that high position. He is also professor of constitutional law in the college of law at the university of Wisconsin. Chief Justice Cassoday is the author of Cassoday on Wills; and has contributed extensively to law journals.

CASSON, HENRY, journalist, secretary of state, was born Dec. 13, 1843, in Brownsville, Pa. Since 1873 he has been a resident of Viroqua, Wis., where he was editor and proprietor of the Vernon County Censor during 1875-85. During 1885-89 he was private secretary to Governor Rusk; to Governor Hoard in 1889-91; and to the secretary of agriculture in 1891-92. In 1894 he was elected secretary of state of Wisconsin; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his adopted state.

CASTEEL, JOHN WILLIAM, journalist, was born Dec. 27, 1872, in Laurel county, Ky. He is the editor and owner of The Newton Herald of Jasper, Ark., of which city he has been mayor.

CASTLE, CURTIS HARVEY, educator, physician, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1848, in Knox county, Ill. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as the fusion candidate of the populist and democratic parties.

CASTLE, HENRY ANSON, lawyer, journalist, was born Aug. 22, 1841, in Columbus, Ill. In 1862 he graduated from the McKendee college, Ill. He then enlisted as a private in the seventy-third regiment of Illinois volunteer infantry. He was made sergeant-major of his regiment; was severely wounded in the battle of Stone River, and finally discharged. He afterwards raised a company for the one hundred and seventh regiment Illinois infantry, which he commanded as captain during his term of service. For ten years he practiced law in St. Paul, and in 1876 was chosen editor-in-chief of the St. Paul Dispatch, of which he became owner. In 1885 he disposed of the Dispatch; and since 1895 has been president of the Provident Trust company. In 1873 he was a member of the Minnesota legislature; in 1892-96 was postmaster of St. Paul; and during 1872-75 was commander of the department of Minnesota, G. A. R.

CASTLE, JAMES N., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 23, 1836, in Shefford, P. Q. He was elected district attorney and located in Stillwater, where he has been engaged in the practice of law since. He was elected to the state senate in 1868, and re-elected in 1875 and 1882, serving in all ten years. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

CASWALL, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1810, in England. He was an episcopal clergyman of English birth, but ordained in the United States, where the most of his life was spent. He lived for a time in England, however, and was a prebend of Salisbury. He was the author of An Epitome of the History of the American Episcopal Church (1836); Didascalus, or The Teacher; Mormonism and its Author; The Jerusalem Chamber, or Convocation and its Possibilities; The Californian Crusoe, a Tale of Mormonism; Scotland and the Scottish Church; The Western World Revisited; The Martyr of the Pongas; and The American Church and the American Union. He died Dec. 17, 1870, in Franklin, Pa.

CASWELL, ALEXIS, clergyman, college president, author, was born in 1799, in Taunton, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman and educator; and for thirty-five years a professor at Brown university, and its president in 1868-72. He has lectured on Astronomy; and Meteorological Observations. He died Jan. 8, 1877, in Providence, R. I.

CASWELL, LUCIEN B., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, born Nov. 27, 1827, in Swanton, Vt. In 1855 he was district attorney; a delegate to the republican convention of 1868; and a member of the state legislature in 1863, 1872, and 1874. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican. He was on several important committees.

CASWELL, RICHARD, soldier, state senator, governor, was born Aug. 3, 1729, in Maryland. From 1754 to 1771 he was a member of the colonial assembly, and for the last two years was speaker of the house of delegates. He commanded the right wing of Tryon's forces at the battle of Allamance, in 1771; was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1776; in 1775 was president of the provincial congress which framed the constitution of the state, and was elected first governor of North Carolina under it, holding that office until 1779. In 1780 he led the North Carolina troops in the battle of Camden; in 1782 was speaker of the senate, and comptroller-general, performing the duties of both offices until 1784, when he was again elected governor, and held that position until he became ineligible by the laws of the state. In 1787 he was a delegate to the convention for framing the federal constitution; in 1789 was elected state senator, and was a member of the convention which ratified the constitution; and was also speaker of the senate. He died Nov. 20, 1789, in Fayetteville, N. C.

CATCHINGS, THOMAS CLENDENIN, soldier, lawyer, congressman, born Jan. 11, 1847, in Hinds county, Miss. In 1875 he was elected state senator for a term of four years; resigned in 1877, and was elected attorney-general of Mississippi for four years; and in 1881 was re-elected. He was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

CATE, GEORGE W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in September, 1824, in Montpelier, Vt. He was district attorney; a member of the legislature for two terms; judge of the circuit court of the seventh judicial circuit in 1854; was re-elected three terms, holding the position twenty-one years; and in 1874 resigned, and was elected a representative from Vermont to the forty-fourth congress.

CATE, GEORGE WASHINGTON, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born March 10, 1834, in Worthwood, N. H. In 1877-78 he served as a member of the New Hampshire senate, and since 1888 has been judge of the second district court of Essex county. He was a personal friend of the poet John Greenleaf Whittier, and from 1876 until Mr. Whittier's death sat at Judge Cate's table.

CATER, WILLIAM H., soldier, farmer, stockman, was born May 6, 1842, in Belmont county, Ohio. In 1861 he enlisted as a union soldier; and still carries a ball in his right shoulder, which he received at the charge on Fort Wagoner, S. C., July 18, 1863. He has filled all the positions of honor in the gift of his town and county; and has served as the department commander of the Oklahoma G. A. R.

CATE, WILLIAM HENDERSON, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 11, 1839, in Rutherford county, Tenn. He was elected to the legislature of 1871 and 1873, including the extra session of 1874; was elected prosecuting attorney of the second circuit in 1878; was appointed judge of the second circuit in March, 1884, and was elected to the same position without opposition in September, 1884. He organized the bank of Jonesborough in 1887; and received certificate of election to the fifty-first congress as a democrat; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

CATHCART, CHARLES W., surveyor, congressman, was born in 1809 in the Island of Madeira. He was for several years a United States surveyor; served in the state legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1845. He was elected a representative in congress from Indiana from 1845 to 1849; and was a senator in congress from 1852 to 1853, by appointment.

CATHCART, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 8, 1826, in Ireland. He is a baptist clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of The Baptists and the American Revolution; The Papal System; The Baptism of the Ages and the Nations; and The Baptist Encyclopædia.

CATHERWOOD, MRS. MARY [HARTWELL], author, was born Dec. 16, 1847, in Luray, Ohio. She is a writer of Hoopeston, Ill., whose historical romances dealing with the early days of Canada and the northwest are as notable for their careful attention to historical details as for their graphic and picturesque style. She is the author of A Woman in Armour; The Lady of Fort St. John; and The Romance of Dollard.

CATHRAL, ISAAC, physician, author, was born in 1764 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a surgeon of the city almshouse from 1810 to 1816. He published Remarks on the Yellow Fever; Buchan's Domestic Medicine, with Notes; Memoir on the Analysis of the Black Vomit. He died Feb. 22, 1819.

CATLIN, AMOS P., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 25, 1823, in Dutchess county, N. Y. He received his education in the Kingston academy, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Sacramento, Cal. He has been a member of the California state legislature; a member of the California state board of equalization; and judge of the superior court of Sacramento county.

CATLIN, GEORGE, artist, author, was born in 1796 in Wilkesbarre, Pa. He was an artist who spent many years among the Indians; and the author of Notes of Eight Years in Europe; Illustrations of the Manners, Customs, and Condition of the North American Indians; Notes for the Emigrant to America; Life Among the Indians, a Book for Youth; The Breath of Life, or Mal-Respiration and its Effects; O-Kee-Pa, a Religious Ceremony, and other Customs of the Mandans; Last Rambles Among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains; and The Lifted and Subsidied Rocks of America. He died Dec. 23, 1872, in Jersey City, N. J.

CATLIN, GEORGE LYNDE, journalist, diplomat, author, was born in 1840 on Staten Island. He was a journalist and diplomat, consul at Limoges, Stuttgart, and Zurich; and the author of Bilbigheim, a story; The Presidential Campaign of 1896, written in 1898; Tibbits for Travelers; and The Postilion of Nagold, and Other Poems.

CATLIN, GEORGE S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1808 in Harwington, Conn. He was a representative in congress from 1843 to 1845; was a number of years in the state legislature; and state's attorney, and judge of the Windham county court. He died in December, 1851.

CATO, STERLING G., jurist, was born in Georgia. He removed to Alabama, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Kansas.

CATON, JOHN DEAN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 19, 1812, in Mornroe, N. Y. He gained a large and lucrative practice in Chicago, and in 1842 was elected judge of the Illinois supreme court, becoming chief justice in 1855. He resigned that honorable position in 1864, in order to devote himself to private business. He is the author of A Summer in Norway, and Antelope and Deer of America.

CATON, RICHARD, merchant, was born in England in 1763. He became a merchant in Baltimore, and in 1790 entered into an association for the manufacture of cotton. He was particularly interested in geological researches, and was one of the founders in 1795 of the library company, whose collection was merged in the library of the Maryland Historical society. He died May 19, 1845, in Baltimore, Md.

CATRON, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1778 in Wythe county, Va. In 1824 he was appointed one of the judges of the supreme court of the state; and in 1837 was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the United States, which position he held until his death. He died May 30, 1865, in Nashville, Tenn.

CATRON, THOMAS BENTON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1840, in Lafayette county, Mo. He has served as district attorney, and United States attorney for New Mexico. He was four times a member of the New Mexico legislature, and served as a delegate to the fifty-fourth congress from that state.

CATTELL, ALEXANDER GILMORE, merchant, United States senator, was born Feb. 12, 1816, in Salem, N. J. In 1840 he was elected to the state legislature. In 1846 he settled in Philadelphia as a merchant; became a director in the Mechanics' bank; and was elected to the city councils from 1850 to 1854. In 1855 he returned to New Jersey, but continued his business in Philadelphia. He was one of the early presidents of the Corn Exchange association of that city; in 1858 organized the Corn Exchange bank, and was president of the same. In 1866 he was elected a senator in congress from New Jersey for the term ending 1871 to fill a vacancy.

CATTELL, WILLIAM CASSIDY, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 30, 1827, in Salem, N. J. From 1855 till 1860 he was professor of Latin and Greek in Lafayette college, and in 1863 became its president. Through his exertions more than $1,000,000 was obtained for the institution, extensive grounds were added and commodious buildings were erected.

CAULDWELL, LESLIE GIFFEN, artist, was born Oct. 18, 1864, in New York city. He is an artist of New York city, and has exhibited his paintings in Berlin, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis. Several of his pictures were exhibited at the World's Columbian exposition.

CAULDWELL, WILLIAM, journalist, state senator, was born Oct. 12, 1824, in New York city. In 1867 he was elected state senator from New York, and re-elected in 1869. In 1876 he became the sole owner and proprietor of the Sunday Mercury of New York city.

CAULFIELD, BERNARD G., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 15, 1828, in Alexandria, Va. He removed to Chicago in 1853, and was elected a representative to the forty-fourth congress from Illinois, having previously served in the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy.

CAULKINS, FRANCES MAINWARING, author, was born in 1796, in New London, Conn. She was a local historian of Connecticut; and the author of A History of Norwich; and A History of New London. She died Feb. 3, 1869, in New London, Conn.

CAUSEY, JOHN WILLIAMS, fruit grower, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 19, 1841, in Milford, Del. He is engaged in farming and fruit growing; and was elected to the state senate for 1875-77. He was delegate to the national democratic convention in 1884; was appointed internal revenue collector for the district of Delaware by President Cleveland, and was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. He took an active part in all movements which tended to the agricultural interests of the United States.

CAUSEY, P. F., governor, was born in 1801. He was a merchant by occupation, and was elected governor of Delaware in 1854, and remained in office four years. He died Feb. 17, 1871, in Milford, Del.

CAUSIN, JOHN M. S., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Maryland. He served several terms in the legislature; was a representative in congress from his native state from 1843 to 1845, and in 1849 was a presidential elector. He died Jan. 30, 1861, in Cairo, Ill.

CAUTHORN, HENRY S., lawyer, was born Feb. 23, 1828, in Vincennes, Ind. In 1854 he was elected prosecuting attorney; and in 1855 was elected city attorney of Vincennes, Ind. In 1870 he was the representative from Knox county, and was re-elected in the fall of 1872 and again in 1878.

CAVANAUGH, JAMES M., lawyer, miner, congressman, was born July 4, 1823, in Springfield, Mass. He removed to Minnesota in 1854, and was elected to the thirty-fifth congress. He moved to Colorado in 1861, and was a member of its constitutional convention. He removed to Montana in 1866, and was elected a delegate to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a democrat.

CAVANESS, JAMES M., journalist, lecturer, poet, was born March 29, 1842, in Monrovia, Ind. He received his education at the Baker university; at the graduation he received the degree of A. B., and three years later the degree of A. M. In 1866-67 he was principal of the city schools at Butler, Mo., and later at Paola, Kas. He is now the editor and proprietor of The Advance of Chetopa, Kan.; and has published a volume of poems.

CAVERLY, ROBERT BOODEY, lawyer, historian, poet, was born July 19, 1806, in Strafford, N. H. He attended the schools of his native town, Pembroke academy, and in 1837 graduated from Harvard university.

When quite young he held the office of colonel in the major-general staff, and inspector in the New Hampshire militia. In his younger days he taught school, and subsequently practiced law in the courts of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and in the District of Columbia; and in 1857 served as city solicitor of Lowell, Mass. He was the author of The Merrimack, in two volumes; Caverly's Poems, two volumes; Poems, Epics, Lyrics and Ballads; The Voice; Hannah Duston and Indian Wars of New England; Indian Wars of New England and John Eliot; History of Barnstead; The Caverly Annals; The Boody Annals; and several other interesting books. He was instrumental in erecting a monument to the memory of Hannah Duston on Contoocook Island, in the Merrimac river, near Fisherville, N. H.; and also urged the erection of stones to the unmarked soldiers' graves in the cemetery in Lowell. He died Oct. 20, 1887.

CAWEIN, MADISON JULIUS, accountant, author, poet, was born in 1865 in Kentucky. He is a poet of Louisville, Ky., whose verse is very musical, and shows much individuality. He is the author of Days and Dreams; Moods and Memories; Intimations of the Beautiful; Blooms of the Berry; The Triumph of Music; Accolon of Gaul; Lyrics and Idyls; Poems of Nature and Love; Red Leaves and Roses; The Garden of Dreams; and Undertones.

CAYVAN, GEORGIA EVA, actress, was born in 1860, in Bath, Maine. She has attained a national reputation as a noted actress.

CECIL, ELIZABETH FRANCES, author, was born in Virginia. She is an author of Virginia, who wrote Industrial Heroes; Literary Salons; Popular Suffrage in Literature; and some fugitive verses.

CESNOLA, LOUIS P. DI, soldier, diplomat, was born June 29, 1832, in Turin, Italy. In 1848 he took part in the Italian war against Austria, and was promoted to second lieutenant on the field at Novara in 1849. He was graduated from the military academy at Cherasco, fought in the Crimean war, and emigrated to America in 1860. He served with distinction in the civil war, and was sent as United States consul to Cyprus, where he remained for eleven years. On his return to America the consulate-general of Havana was offered him, but he abandoned the consul service and accepted the appointment as director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, a place which he has occupied ever since with distinction. He is the author of Cyprus, its Ancient Cities, Tombs and Temples; The Metropolitan Museum of Art; and other works.

CESSNA, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Bedford county, Pa. In 1849 he was elected to the state legislature, and on being re-elected was made speaker. In 1861 he was again elected to the legislature, and again made speaker. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first and forty-third congresses.

CHACE, JONATHAN, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 22, 1829, in Fall River, Mass. He was a member of the state senate of Rhode Island in 1876 and 1877; and was elected a representative from Rhode Island to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was elected a United States senator to fill a vacancy, and served during 1887-89.

CHADBOURNE, PAUL ANSEL, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 21, 1823, in North Berwick, Maine. He was a congregational clergyman, who was president of Williams college in 1872-81, and was the author of Relations of Natural History to Intellect, Taste, Wealth, and Religion; Natural Theology; Instinct in Animals and Men; Strength of Men and Stability of Nations; The Hope of the Righteous; and The Public Services of the State of New York. He died Feb. 23, 1883, in New York city.

CHADWICK, GEORGE W., musician, was born Nov. 13, 1854, in Lowell, Mass. His overture, Rip Van Winkle, was performed at the Handel and Haydn festival in Boston in 1880, and his symphony in C in 1882, at a concert of the Harvard musical association.

CHADWICK, HENRY, the father of baseball, was born in 1824, in New Hampshire. He is an authority on games and sports; and known as the father of baseball. He is the author of Base Ball Players' Book of Reference; Base Ball, How to Learn, Play and Teach It; Base Ball Manual; and Sports and Pastimes of American Boys.

CHADWICK, JOHN WHITE, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 19, 1840, in Marblehead, Mass. He is a unitarian clergyman of Brooklyn, prominent among the more radical thinkers of his denomination. He is the author of The Man Jesus; The Faith of Reason; The Bible of To-day; Old and New Unitarian Belief; The Power of an Endless Life; The Revelation of God, and Other Sermons; Thomas Paine; the Method and Value of his Religious Teachings; George William Curtis; an Address; A Book of Poems; and In Nazareth Town, and Other Poems.

CHADWICK, LAWRENCE C., clergyman, was born July 20, 1858, in Chautauqua county, N. Y. He graduated from the Cornell university; and has attained success as a baptist clergyman. He has traveled extensively in Mexico, West Indies, Central and South America, Europe and Africa. For twelve years he has been a member of the public school board of White Pigeon, Mich., and is its director.

CHADWICK, STEPHEN F., lawyer, jurist, governor, United States senator, was born Dec. 25, 1828, in Middletown, Conn. He was a member of the state constitutional convention; at different periods was a probate and county judge; and was a presidential elector in 1864 and 1868. He was secretary of state from 1870 to 1878, two terms; became governor in 1877, and, to fill a vacancy, became United States senator. He died in January, 1895, in Salem, Ore.

CHADWICK, WINFIELD SCOTT, railroad president, was born March 18, 1848, in Beaufort, N. C. Since 1889 he has been president of the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad.

CHAFFEE, ARTHUR BILLINGS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born June 19, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He attended Princeton university, 1874-76, and Rochester Theological seminary 1877-79. He filled the chair of Latin in Franklin college, Ind., in 1879-89. In 1889 he entered the ministry; and in 1896 became president of Central university of Iowa.

CHAFFEE, CALVIN C., congressman, was born Aug. 28, 1811, in Saratoga, N. Y. He was elected a representative in congress from Massachusetts to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses; in 1859 was appointed librarian of the house of representatives.

CHAFFEE, ELMER ASAHEL, farmer, lawyer, was born April 5, 1849, in Stockholm, N. Y. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Anthony, N. M. He has filled the office of county attorney in Nolan county, Texas; and various other public offices of honor. He has written extensively for law journals and the periodical press generally.

CHAFFEE, JAMES FRANKLIN, clergyman, was born Nov. 5, 1827, in Middlebury, N. Y. He has been presiding elder of the Winona district since 1887, until one year ago, when he was appointed to the Minneapolis district to commence his third term. For the last five years he has been president of the board of trustees of Hamlin university, and is also president of Asbury hospital of Minneapolis, Minn.

CHAFFEE, JEROME BUNTY, miner, congressman, United States senator, was born April 17, 1825, in Niagara county, N. Y. He served in the legislature of Colorado in 1861-63; and served as speaker of the house. In 1865 he was elected as United States senator; was elected to the forty-second and two succeeding congresses as delegate from the territory of Colorado; and in 1876 was elected United States senator from that state for the short term, ending in 1879. He died March 9, 1886, in Salem Centre, N. Y.

CHAFFIN, WILLIAM ELMER, educator, was born Nov. 18, 1862, in Claremont, N. H. He graduated from the Stevens high school in 1882, and from Dartmouth college in 1886. He has been principal of grammar schools in several large cities, and since 1890 has been superintendent of schools of towns of Dennis and Yarmouth, Mass.

CHAFIN, EUGENE W., lawyer, author, was born Nov. 1, 1852, in East Troy, Wis. He attended the common schools of his native county, and in 1875 graduated from the Wisconsin State university. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Waukesha, Wis., where he has taken an active part in the public affairs of his county and state. He is the author of a work entitled Lives of the Presidents, the subject matter of which, by his permission, has been incorporated into the pages of this work. For four years he was grand chief templar of the Wisconsin Independent Order of Good Templars; and is a prominent member of various other fraternal orders.

CHAILLE-LONG, CHARLES, explorer, author, was born in 1843, in Maryland. He is an African explorer of French parentage, and the author of Central Africa; the Three Prophets, Gordon, the Mahdi, and Arabi.

CHAILLE, STANFORD EMERSON, A. M., M. D., medical educator, was born July 9, 1830, in Natchez, Miss. He was educated under private tutors until his mother's death in 1844. He then entered Phillip's academy, graduating therefrom three years later; and in 1851 graduated from Harvard college. In 1853 he graduated from the medical department of the university of Louisiana, now known as the Tulane university of Louisiana; in which institution he is now dean and professor of the medical department, and since 1851 has held many other official medical positions. During the war he was a private in the New Orleans light horse, was acting surgeon-general of Louisiana, and was promoted to surgeon and medical inspector of the army of the Tennessee. His contributions to medical literature were begun in 1853, and have been numerous since that time. His principal works are Yellow Fever in Havana and Cuba; Laws of Population and Voters; Living, Dying, Registering, and Voting Population of Louisiana; Intimidation of Voters in Louisiana; and Origin and Progress of Medical Jurisprudence, 1776-1876.

CHALMERS, JAMES RONALD, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born June 11, 1831, in Halifax county, Va., is the son of Joseph W. Chalmers, a noted United States senator from Mississippi. He removed to Mississippi; attended school at Holly Springs, and graduated at the South Carolina college in 1851; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1853; was elected district attorney of the seventh judicial district of Mississippi in 1858; was a member of the secession convention of Mississippi in 1861; was promoted brigadier-general in 1862; and was transferred to the cavalry service in 1863. He surrendered in May, 1865, in command of the first division of Forrest's cavalry army corps, composed of Armstrong's, Adams' and Stark's brigades. General Chalmers was a member of the state senate of Mississippi in 1876 and 1877; was elected to the forty-fifth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat, and re-elected to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat. He died in 1898.

CHALMERS, JOSEPH W., lawyer, United States senator, was born in 1807, in Halifax county, Va. In 1846 he was appointed from Mississippi to a seat in the United States senate to fill a vacancy; served the remainder of the term, but, declining a re-election, and was succeeded by Jefferson Davis. He died in June, 1853, in Holly Springs, Miss.

CHALMERS, LIONEL, physician, author, was born in 1715 in Scotland. He was a noted physician of Charleston, and the author of Treatise on the Weather and Diseases of South Carolina; and Essay on Fevers. He died in 1777, in Charleston, S. C.

CHALMERS, THOMAS, manufacturer, inventor, was born in 1815, in Scotland. In 1871 the firm of Fraser and Chalmers started. He invented and patented improved machines for milling, smelting and refining ores, which soon came into general demand, bringing to their works in Chicago an immense business.

CHALMERS, WILLIAM J., manufacturer, was born July 10, 1852, in Chicago, and is a son of Thomas Chalmers. In 1871, when Fraser and Chalmers succeeded to the Eagle works, William J. Chalmers took charge of the finances and has since steadily risen through intermediate grades to the presidency of the concern. He is a director in the Commercial National bank and the Field Columbian museum of Chicago, Ill.

CHAMBERLAIN, D. H., soldier, lawyer, governor, was born June 23, 1835, in West Brookfield, Mass. He served in the fifth Massachusetts cavalry from 1863 to 1865; and settled in Charleston, S. C., in 1866. He was elected attorney-general of the state in 1868; and in 1874 was elected governor of South Carolina.

CHAMBERLAIN, EBENEZER M., congressman, was born in Maine. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1853 to 1855.

CHAMBERLAIN, HIRAM S., railroad president, was born Aug. 6, 1835, in Franklin, Ohio. He is the president of the Belt railroad of Chattanooga.

CHAMBERLAIN, JACOB, missionary, author, was born in 1835, in Connecticut. He is a Reformed Dutch missionary to India; and The Bible Tested is his most important work.

CHAMBERLAIN, JACOB P., congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He was a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress.

CHAMBERLAIN, JOHN C., congressman, was born in 1772. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1809 to 1811. He died Dec. 8, 1834, in Utica, N. Y.

CHAMBERLAIN, JOSHUA LAWRENCE, soldier, educator, college president, governor, was born Sept. 8, 1828, in Brewer, Maine. In 1856-62 he was professor of rhetoric in Bowdoin college; and in 1857 professor of modern languages. In 1861 enlisted in the civil war, and in 1864 attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1866 he became governor of Maine, and in 1871 he became president of Bowdoin college.

CHAMBERLAIN, NATHAN HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1830, in Massachusetts. He is an episcopal clergyman of Massachusetts, whose principal writings include The Autobiography of a New England Farm House; Samuel Sewell and the World He Lived In; and The Sphinx in Aubrey Parish.

CHAMBERLAIN, SELAH, railroad builder, was born May 14, 1812, in Brattleborough, Vt. The construction of the lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul system gave him a large amount of work. In 1871 he began building the Lake Shore and Tuscarawas Valley, now the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling railroad, and was its president at his death. He died Dec. 27, 1890, in Cleveland, Ohio.

CHAMBERLAIN, WILLIAM, jurist, congressman. He was a presidential elector in 1801; was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1803 to 1805, and again from 1809 to 1811; and was a state councillor from 1796 to 1803. He served five years in the state legislature; was lieutenant-governor of Vermont from 1813 to 1815; and was chief justice of a state court from 1801 to 1803, and in 1814.

CHAMBERLAYNE, ISRAEL, clergyman, author, was born in 1795, in New York. He was the author of Past and the Future; The Australian Captive; Saving Faith: its Rationale; and The Great Specific Against Despair of Pardon.

CHAMBERLIN, EDWARD PAYSON, merchant, was born Sept. 16, 1832, in Parishville, N. Y. In 1866 he moved to Atlanta, Ga., and organized the dry goods firm of Chamberlin, Cole and Boynton. He was a member of the city council in 1876-77; and director of a number of prosperous corporations of Atlanta, Ga.

CHAMBERLIN, FRANKLIN, lawyer, author, was born April 14, 1821, in Dalton, Mass. He is a successful lawyer of Hartford, Conn.; and in 1870 published a work on American commercial law.

CHAMBERLIN, HUMPHREY BARKER, capitalist, philanthropist, was born Feb. 7, 1847, in England. In 1881 he was president of the shoe manufacturing company of Denver, Colo.; in 1889 president of the Beaver Brook water company; and is also the president of the Denver, Colorado Canon and Pacific Railroad company. He has donated large sums of money to university extensions, and the erection of a number of churches.

CHAMBERLIN, JEKJEL WESTON, physician, was born Oct. 28, 1857, at Rock Falls, Wis. He is oculist and aurist on the staff of St. Luke's hospital; the city and county hospital; and the Babies' Home in St. Paul, Minn.

CHAMBERLIN, JOSEPH EDGAR, journalist, author, was born in 1851, in Vermont. He is a Boston journalist on the staffs of the Transcript and the Youth's Companion; and the author of The Listener in the Town; and The Listener in the Country.

CHAMBERLIN, JOSHUA LAWRENCE, soldier, educator, college president, governor, was born Sept. 8, 1828, in Bangor, Maine. He was professor of Bowdoin college from 1855 to 1862, when he was appointed lieutenant-colonel of the twentieth Maine infantry, and was brevetted major-general. His command received the formal surrender of the arms and colors of Lee's army. He resumed his professorship of modern languages in 1865; and in 1871 was elected president of Bowdoin college. He was governor of Maine from 1866 to 1870.

CHAMBERLIN, THOMAS CHROWDER, geologist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1843, in Mattoon, Ill. He is a prominent geologist of Wisconsin; and the author of Outline of a Course of Oral Instruction; and Geology of Wisconsin.

CHAMBERS, CHARLES JULIUS, journalist, author, was born Nov. 21, 1850, in Bellefontaine, Ohio. He is a journalist long connected with the New York Herald. He is the author of A Mad World and its Inhabitants, a description of lunatic asylums founded on the author's personal experience in one in disguise; On a Margin, a Story of These Times; and Lovers Four and Maidens Five, a Story.

CHAMBERS, DAVID, journalist, author, was born in 1780, in Allentown, Pa. He was elected state printer; and when the seat of government was removed to Columbus, he was appointed secretary of the senate. During the years 1812 and 1813 he was aid-de-camp to General Cass; and was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1821 to 1823. He subsequently served a number of years in the state legislature of Ohio; was speaker in 1844; was a member of the constitutional convention of 1851; and was also elected mayor of Zanesville. He died Aug. 8, 1864, in Zanesville, Ohio.

CHAMBERS, EZEKIEL F., soldier, jurist, United States senator, was born Feb. 28, 1788, in Kent county, Md. He was elected to the state senate against his will. He was a senator in congress from Maryland from 1826 to 1834. In 1834 he was appointed chief judge of the second judicial district, and a judge of the court of appeals, which offices he held until 1851. In 1864 he was the democratic candidate for governor of Maryland. He died Jan. 30, 1867, in Chestertown, Md.

CHAMBERS, GEORGE, jurist, congressman, was born in 1786, in Chambersburg, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1833 to 1837; was then elected a delegate to the Pennsylvania constitutional convention; and in 1851 was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the state. He died March 25, 1866, in Chambersburg, Pa.

CHAMBERS, HENRY, United States senator, was born in 1785. He was a senator in congress from Alabama from 1825 to 1826. He died Jan. 25, 1826, in Mecklenburg county, Va.

CHAMBERS, JOHN, jurist, was born about 1710. He was a member of the executive council in 1754, and attended as one of the commissioners the congress at Albany in that year. He was soon afterward appointed judge, and still later became the chief justice of New York. He died April 10, 1765, in New York.

CHAMBERS, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Dec. 4, 1779, in New Jersey. He was appointed governor of the territory of Iowa by President Harrison, manifesting great ability and prudence in his intercourse with the Indians, and was appointed by President Taylor a commissioner to make a treaty with the Sioux Indians. He was a member of congress from Kentucky from 1827 to 1829, and again from 1835 to 1839. He died Sept. 21, 1852, near Paris, Ky.

CHAMBERS, JOHN WESLEY, clergyman, college president, was born May 17, 1857, at Toms River, N. J. He has attained eminence as a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church south, was financial agent of Millsaps college of Jackson, Miss.; and is now president of Whitworth Female college of Brookhaven, Miss.

CHAMBERS, JULIUS, journalist, author, was born Nov. 21, 1850, in Bellefontaine, Ohio. He is the author of A Mad World; On a Margin; Lovers Four and Maidens Three; The Human Comedy of Balzac; and Missing.

CHAMBERS, ROBERT CRAIG, miner, financier, state senator, was born Jan. 16, 1832, in Lexington, Ohio. He is president of the Daly Mining Co., now engaged in working the Daly mine, near Park City, Utah; and is also largely interested in the Excelsior and Diamond mines of Eureka, Nev. He is a principal owner of the Salt Lake City Street Railway company. He was elected a state senator in 1896.

CHAMBERS, ROBERT WILLIAM, artist, author, was born in 1865, in Long Island. He is a novelist and artist of New York city, and the author of In the Quarter; The King in Yellow; The Red Republic; The Maker of Moons; The Mystery of Choice; A King and a Few Dukes; and With the Band, a book of ballads.

CHAMBERS, TALBOT WILSON, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 25, 1819, in Carlisle, Pa. He was a noted reformed Dutch clergyman of New York city, and the author of The Noon Prayer Meeting in the Fulton Street; Memoir of Theodore Frelinghuysen; The Psalter a Witness to the Divine Origin of the Bible; and Companion to the Revised Version of the Old Testament. He died in 1896.

CHAMBLISS, JOHN RANDOLPH, soldier, was born Jan. 23, 1833, in Hicksford, Va. He joined the confederate army at the beginning of the civil war as colonel of an infantry regiment, and afterward became colonel of the thirteenth Virginia cavalry. He was subsequently made a brigadier-general, and was killed in action while leading a brigade of cavalry. He died Aug. 16, 1864, in Deep Bottom, Va.

CHAMPE, JOHN, revolutionary soldier, was born in 1752, in Virginia. He entered the army in 1776, and served through the revolutionary war as sergeant-major. He died in Kentucky.

CHAMPION, EPAPHRODITUS, congressman, was born in 1757. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1807 to 1817. He died Nov. 22, 1835, in East Haddam, Conn.

CHAMPLIN, CHRISTOPHER E., lawyer, state senator, was born Sept. 24, 1860, in New Shoreham, R. I. He was admitted to the Suffolk county bar in 1884, and subsequently to the Rhode Island bar, where he has since practiced law. He has been senator since 1890.

CHAMPLIN, CHRISTOPHER GRANT, banker, congressman, United States senator, was born April 12, 1768, in Newport, R. I. He was a member of congress from Rhode Island from 1797 to 1801; and a senator of the United States from 1809 to 1811. He died March 28, 1840, in Newport, R. I.

CHAMPLIN, GEORGE, merchant, was born in 1738. He was a merchant of Newport, R. I.; an officer of the revolution; member of the continental congress from 1785 to 1786, and of the convention that adopted the federal constitution. He died in 1809.

CHAMPLIN, JAMES TIFFT, clergyman, college president, author, was born June 9, 1811, in Colechester, Conn. He is a baptist clergyman of Portland, Maine, and president of Colby university in 1857-73. He was the author of First Principles of Ethics; Lessons on Political Economy; Text-Book of Intellectual Philosophy; Scripture Reading Lessons; The Constitution of the United States, with Brief Comments; and a series of classical text-books. He died March 15, 1882, in Portland, Maine.

CHAMPLIN, JOHN DENISON, author, was born Jan. 29, 1834, in Stonington, Conn. He is the author of Young Folks' Cyclopædia of Common Things; Young Folks' Cyclopædia of Persons and Places; Young Folks' History of the War for the Union; Young Folks' Catechism of Common Things; Young Folks' Cyclopædia of Games and Sports; Young Folks' Astronomy; Chronicle of the Coach; Charing Cross to Ilfracombe. With W. F. Apthorp, he has edited Cyclopædia of Music and Musicians, and with C. C. Perkins, a Cyclopædia of Painters and Paintings.

CHAMPLIN, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 17, 1831, in Kingston, N. Y. He received an academical education; practiced civil engineering for awhile; and in 1855 began the practice of law in Grand Rapids, Mich. In 1857 he drew up the revised city charter of Grand Rapids, and has been recorder, attorney, and mayor of that city. In 1884 he was elected for eight years as justice of the supreme court of Michigan; and was chief justice in 1890-91. During 1891-97 he was professor of law in the university of Michigan, lecturing on corporations and torts.

CHAMPLIN, STEPHEN, naval officer, was born Nov. 17, 1789, in South Kingston, R. I. He was a commodore in the United States navy. He died Feb. 20, 1870, in Buffalo, N. Y.

CHAMPLIN, STEPHEN GARDNER, soldier, lawyer, was born July 1, 1827, in Kingston, N. Y. He was a noted lawyer; recorder of the city of Grand Rapids, Mich., and served as prosecuting attorney of Kent county. In April, 1861, he became major in the third regiment Michigan volunteers; was commissioned colonel in October of the same year; and in 1862 became a brigadier-general. He died Jan. 24, 1864, from wounds received at Fair Oaks, Va.

CHAMPNEY, MRS. ELIZABETH, author, was born in 1850, in Ohio. She is a popular New York writer for young people, and wife of the artist, J. Wells Champney, who has illustrated many of her books. She is the author of The Three Vassar Girls Series; The Witch Winnie Books; The Bubbling Teapot; Howling Wolf and his Trick-Pony; All Around a Palette; Children's Art Sketches; In the Sky Garden; Fables in Astronomy, and other juveniles; and the novels, Bourbon Lilies; Sebä's Tangled Web; and Rosemary and Rue.

CHAMPNEY, JAMES WELLS, soldier, painter, was born July 16, 1843, in Boston, Mass. In 1863 he served a short time in the forty-fifth Massachusetts volunteers, and later taught drawing in Lexington, Mass. In 1876 he built a studio in Deerfield, Mass., where he has since spent most of his summers, his winter studio being in New York city. His works include Which is Umpire; Sear Leaf (1874); and Not so Ugly as He Looks.

CHAMPNEYS, BENJAMIN, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born in January, 1800, in Bridgeton, N. J. He was attorney-general of his state, and a member of both houses of the state legislature. He died Aug. 9, 1871, in Lancaster, Pa.

CHANCELLOR, CHARLES WILLIAMS, physician, author, was born Feb. 19, 1833, in Spottsylvania county, Va. He is an eminent physician of Baltimore, and the author of Prisons, Reformatories, and Charitable Institutions of Maryland; Mineral Waters and Seaside Resorts; Contagious and Infectious Diseases; Drainage of the Marsh Lands of Maryland; Heredity; and The Sewerage of Cities.

CHANCELLOR, EUSTATHIUS, physician, author. In 1878 he was appointed assistant resident physician in the university hospital of Maryland; in 1885 was founder of the Beaumont Hospital Medical college; and is the author of Researches Upon the Treatment of Delirium Tremens and numerous other works.

CHANDLER, CHARLES HENRY, soldier, journalist, author, was born Aug. 25, 1840, in Prescott, Mass. He served in the thirty-first Massachusetts infantry. He was connected with the Springfield Republican, and later with the Boston Herald as an editorial writer. He published Attractions of Northampton. He died Jan. 4, 1885, in Boston, Mass.

CHANDLER, CHARLES HENRY, educator, was born Oct. 25, 1840, in New Ipswich, N. H. From 1871 till 1877 he was professor of physics and chemistry, and from 1877 till 1881 professor of mathematics and physics at Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio. In 1881 he was appointed to the chair of chemistry and physics at Ripon, Wis., college, and in 1883 was transferred to the professorship of mathematics and physics.

CHANDLER, ELIZABETH MARGARET, was born Dec. 24, 1807, in Wilmington, Del. She was a poetess whose themes were mainly those relating to the subject of anti-slavery, in which she was greatly interested. She received a prize for her poem entitled The Slave-Ship. She died Nov. 22, 1834, in Michigan.

CHANDLER, JOHN, soldier, statesman, was born in 1760, in Maine, when a part of Massachusetts, representing it in the state senate from 1803 to 1805, and in congress from 1805 to 1808. In 1812 he was appointed brigadier-general, and took an active part in the Canadian campaign. He was elected to the United States senate in 1820, being one of the first two senators from Maine after its separation from Massachusetts, serving until 1829. In 1829 he was appointed collector of the port of Portland, serving until 1837. He died Sept. 25, 1841, in Augusta, Maine.

CHANDLER, JOSEPH RIPLEY, journalist, diplomat, congressman, author, was born Aug. 25, 1792, in Kingston, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1849 to 1855; and in 1858 was appointed, by President Buchanan, minister to Naples. After his return he became editor of the Philadelphia North American. In 1821 he published a Grammar of the English Language, and subsequently a large number of Essays and Addresses on subjects connected with Social Life and Literature. He died July 10, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CHANDLER, OLIVER PHELPS, lawyer, banker, legislator, was born May 29, 1807, in Peacham, Vt. He was a member of the Vermont state house of representatives for five years, and state senator for three years. From 1847 to 1868 he was the president of the Woodstock bank, and has held various important positions of honor in his state.

CHANDLER, PELEG WHITMAN, lawyer, journalist, legislator, author, was born April 13, 1816, in New Gloucester, Maine. In 1834 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and in 1837 was admitted to the bar in Boston, Mass. In 1838 he established The Law Reporter, which he conducted for ten years. In 1841 he published the first volume of a work called American Criminal Trials, and a second volume appeared in 1844. He served as a member of the common council of Boston, and in 1844-45 was its president. In 1845-47 he served with distinction as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. During 1846-53 he was city solicitor of Boston; and in 1854 was a member of the executive council of Massachusetts. He died in 1889, in Boston, Mass.

and a second volume appeared in 1844. He served as a member of the common council of Boston, and in 1844-45 was its president. In 1845-47 he served with distinction as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. During 1846-53 he was city solicitor of Boston; and in 1854 was a member of the executive council of Massachusetts. He died in 1889, in Boston, Mass.

CHANDLER, SAMUEL, soldier, state legislator, was born in 1794, in Massachusetts. After being a member of both branches of the legislature, he was, in 1840, elected sheriff of Middlesex, and held that office until 1855. He was also major-general of the state militia for many years. He died July 20, 1867, in Lexington, Mass.

CHANDLER, THOMAS, soldier, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1772, in Bedford, N. H. He was a justice of the quorum in 1808; and a captain of militia in 1815. He was a member of the New Hampshire legislature in 1827; and a representative in congress from his native state from 1829 to 1833. His brother, John Chandler, was also in congress, and he was the uncle of the senator, Zachariah Chandler. He died Jan. 28, 1866, in Bedford, N. H.

CHANDLER, W. T., physician, poet, was born Dec. 12, 1852, in Campbellsville, Ky. This prominent physician is the author of a volume of poems entitled Rustic Rhymes.

CHANDLER, WILLIAM EATON, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Dec. 28, 1835, in Concord, N. H. During 1862-64 he was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives, and served as its speaker during the last two years. In 1865 he became solicitor and judge advocate general of the navy department; and was subsequently appointed first assistant secretary of the treasury. In 1881 he was again a member of the state legislature; and in 1882-85 was secretary of the navy. In 1887 he was elected to the United States senate to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the same office for term expiring in 1901. He resides in Concord, N. H., and his portrait hangs in the Library building of the state capitol.

CHANDLER, WILLIAM HENRY, chemist, was born Dec. 13, 1841, in New Bedford, Mass. In 1871 he became professor of chemistry at Lehigh university, and in 1878 was made director of the library. In 1876 he was a juror at the Philadelphia centennial exhibition, and in 1878 at the Paris exhibition. His contributions to chemical literature have appeared principally in the American Chemist, of which from 1870 till 1877 he and his brother, Charles F. Chandler, were editors.

CHANDLER, ZACHARIAH, statesman, was born Dec. 10, 1813, in Bedford, N. H. He was mayor of Detroit, Mich., in 1851; was elected a senator in congress, from Michigan, to succeed Senator Cass, taking his seat in the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the senate in 1863, for the term ending in 1869. He was also a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866; and re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1875. In 1875 he was appointed secretary of the interior; served in that capacity until March, 1877; and in 1879 was elected United States senator, to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 1, 1879, in Chicago, Ill.

CHANDLER, ZACHARIAH, statesman, was born Dec. 10, 1813, in Bedford, N. H. He was mayor of Detroit, Mich., in 1851; was elected a senator in congress, from Michigan, to succeed Senator Cass, taking his seat in the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the senate in 1863, for the term ending in 1869. He was also a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866; and re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1875. In 1875 he was appointed secretary of the interior; served in that capacity until March, 1877; and in 1879 was elected United States senator, to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 1, 1879, in Chicago, Ill.

CHANEY, GEORGE LEONARD, clergyman, author, was born in 1826, in Massachusetts. He is a unitarian clergyman, and pastor in Atlanta, Ga., where he edited the Southern Unitarian in 1893-96. He was the founder of the Church of Our Father in Atlanta. He is the author of F. Grant and Co., a story for boys; Tom, a Home Story; Aloha, travels in the Sandwich Islands; Every Day Life and Every Day Morals; and Belief.

CHANEY, JOHN, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1833 to 1839.

CHANEY, LUCIEN WEST, educator, biologist, author, was born June 26, 1857, in Hamilton, N. Y. He is a naturalist, professor of biology in Carleton college, Minnesota, since 1882, and is the author of Guides for the Laboratory.

CHANFRAU, FRANK, actor, was born Feb. 22, 1824, in New York city. As Kit, in The Arkansas Traveller, first given in Buffalo, in 1869, he achieved the most enduring success of his professional career, and in this character he appeared continuously for thirteen years. He died Oct. 2, 1884.

CHANLER, AMELIE RIVES, author, was born Aug. 23, 1863, in Richmond, Va. In 1888 she published her first novel, entitled The Quick or the Dead; and in 1891 published According to St. John. She is the author of several poems, the most notable of which is Asmodeus, Son of Bel.

CHANLER, JOHN WINTHROP, congressman, was born in 1826, in New York city. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1859 and 1860, and declined a renomination. In 1862 he was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses as a democrat.

CHANNING, EDWARD, educator, author, was born June 15, 1856, in Boston, Mass. He has been a professor of history at Harvard university since 1883; and is the author of Guide to the Study of American History; Town and County Government of the English Colonies of North America; Narragansett Planters; and The United States of America.

CHANNING, EDWARD TYRREL, educator, author, was born Dec. 12, 1790, in Newport, R. I. He was a professor of rhetoric and oratory at Harvard university; and was the author of Life of William Ellery; and Lectures on Rhetoric and Oratory. He died Feb. 8, 1856, in Cambridge, Mass.

CHANNING, WALLER, educator, physician, author, was born April 15, 1786, in Newport, R. I. He was a physician of prominence in Boston for many years, and medical professor in Harvard university. He was the author of The Prevention of Pauperism; Etherization in Childbirth; Professional Reminiscences of Foreign Travel; New and Old; Miscellaneous Poems; A Physician's Vacation, or A Summer in Europe; and Reformation of Medical Science. He died July 27, 1876, in Boston, Mass.

CHANNING, WILLIAM ELLERY, clergyman, author, was born April 7, 1780, in Newport, R. I. He was a unitarian theologian of eminence, who became pastor of the Federal street church in Boston in 1803. He was the foremost theologian in America in his time, and his influence is still great. He wrote upon philanthropic and social as well as religious and ethical questions, and was a noted opponent of slavery. His writings have been translated into French, Italian, German, Icelandic, Russian, and Hungarian. Evidences of Revealed Religion; Self-Culture. He is the author of Essay on Milton; and The Duty of the Free States, are among his most notable works. He died Oct. 2, 1842, in Bennington, Vt.

CHANNING, WILLIAM ELLERY, author, poet, was born June 10, 1818, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Wanderer; Near Home; Eliot; and John Brown. Thoreau, the Poet Naturalist; and Conversations in Rome between an Artist, a Catholic, and a Critic, are prose volumes.

CHANNING, WILLIAM FRANCIS, physician, scientist, inventor, author, was born Feb. 22, 1820, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Davis' Manual of Magnetism; Medical Application of Electricity; and The American Fire Alarm Telegraph.

CHAPELLE, PLACIDUS L., archbishop, was born Aug. 28, 1842, in France. In 1859 he emigrated to America, and finished his theological studies at the St. Mary's seminary of Baltimore, Md. In 1865 he was ordained priest; was rector of a church at Rockville, Mo., for five years; and then rector of St. Joseph's church of Baltimore until 1882. From that time he was rector of St. Matthew's church of Washington, D. C., until 1891. He was then appointed assistant bishop of New Mexico, and in 1894 became the third archbishop of Santa Fe.

CHAPIN, AARON LUCIUS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Feb. 6, 1817, in Hartford, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Wisconsin, who was president of Beloit college in 1849-86. He was the author of First Principles of Political Economy. He died in 1892.

CHAPIN, ALFRED CLARK, congressman, was born March 8, 1848, in Hadley, Mass. In 1887 he was elected mayor of Brooklyn; and in 1891 was chosen to represent his district in the fifty-second congress.

CHAPIN, ALONZO BOWEN, clergyman, author, was born March 10, 1808, in Somers, Conn. He was an episcopal clergyman of Hartford; and the author of Classical Spelling-Book; Organization and Order of the Primitive Church; Views of Gospel Truth; Glastonbury for 200 Years; and Puritanism not Protestantism. He died July 9, 1858, in Hartford, Conn.

CHAPIN, BELA, journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 19, 1829, in Newport, N. H. He was a printer, and in 1866 became proprietor of the Dartmouth printing and book-binding establishment in Hanover, N. H. In 1882 he edited and published Poets of New Hampshire, a very valuable collection. He has contributed numerous poems to current publications; and has made a translation in verse of Virgil's Eclogues. He is the proprietor of the Granby Brook fruit and dairy farm of Claremont, N. H.; and has a library of two thousand volumes of standard works.

CHAPIN, EDWIN HUBBELL, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1814, in Union Village, N. Y. He was a universalist clergyman of New York city, long the foremost preacher in his denomination. He is the author of The Crown of Thorns; Humanity in the City; Christianity the Perfection of True Manliness; Moral Aspects of City Life; Discourses on the Lord's Prayer; Hours of Communion; Token for the Sorrowing; and Characters in the Gospels. He died Dec. 27, 1880, in New York city.

CHAPIN, GRAHAM H., congressman, was born in Connecticut. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1835 to 1837. He died in 1843.

CHAPIN, HENRY, lawyer, state legislator, was born May 13, 1811, in Upton, Mass. In 1858 he was appointed judge of the court of probate and insolvency. For many years he was a member of the state board of education; also one of the trustees of the state lunatic asylum in Worcester, and a director of the city national bank. He was president of the American Unitarian association during several terms, and a member of the council of the national conference. He died Oct. 13, 1891, in Worcester, Mass.

CHAPIN, HENRY AUSTIN, capitalist, was born Oct. 15, 1813, in Leyden, Mass. To Mr. Chapin belongs the fee of the land on the upper peninsula of Michigan, upon which the Chapin iron mine is now being operated. A royalty is paid for every ton of ore taken out, and, it is said, Mr. Chapin's revenue from that source has sometimes amounted to between $100,000 and $300,000 a year.

CHAPIN, JAMES HENRY, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1832, in Indiana. He was a universalist clergyman and educator, and professor of geology in St. Lawrence university in 1871-92. He was the author of Sketches of the Huguenots; The Creation and Early Development of Mankind; and From Japan to Granada, a Tour Around the World. He died in 1892.

CHAPIN, STEPHEN, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Nov. 4, 1778, in Milford, Mass. In 1828 he was called to the presidency of Columbian college, Washington, D. C., an office which he held until 1841, when he retired on account of declining health. A few published sermons, tracts, and essays are all that remain to show his ability and culture. Among these are Letters on the Mode and Subjects of Baptism; and The Duty of Living for the Good of Posterity.

CHAPLIN, MRS. ADA C., author, was born Jan. 25, 1842, in Falmouth, Mass. She was a Massachusetts writer of religious juveniles, some of which are Christ's Cadets; Charity Hurlburt; and Our Gold Mine, the Story of American Baptist Missions in India. She died Dec. 9, 1883, in Mansfield, Conn.

CHAPLIN, CHRISTINE, artist, poet, was born in 1842, in Bangor, Maine. Her specialty is painting wild flowers in water colors. Her pictures have been exhibited at the water-color society of New York, in Brooklyn, and at the Boston art club. She has written several little books of poetry, illustrated by herself.

CHAPLIN, HEMAN WHITE, lawyer, author, was born in 1847, in Rhode Island. He was a noted lawyer of Boston, whose Five Hundred Dollars, and Other Stories of New England Life, are exceptionally faithful and delicate studies of character, and rank among the foremost of American short stories.

CHAPLIN, MRS. JANE, author, was born Feb. 11, 1819, in Scotland. Among her various writings, mainly religious juveniles, are The Transplanted Shamrock; Black and White; and The Couvent and the Manse. She died April 17, 1884, in Boston, Mass.

CHAPLIN, JEREMIAH, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 2, 1776, in Georgetown, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman and educator, the first president of Colby university, in 1822-33. He was the author of The Evening of Life. He died May 7, 1841, in Hamilton, N. Y.

CHAPLIN, JEREMIAH, clergyman, author, was born in 1813, in Danvers, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman of Newton, Mass., who after leaving the ministry devoted himself to literary pursuits in Boston. He is the author of The Memorial Hour; The Hand of Jesus; Riches of Bunyan; Life of Henry Dunster, First President of Harvard College; Chips from the White House; Life of Benjamin Franklin; Life of Galen; Life of Duncan Dunbar; and Life of Charles Sumner. He died March 5, 1886, in New Utrecht, N. Y.

CHAPMAN, ALVAN WENTWORTH, botanist, author, was born Sept. 28, 1809, in Southampton, Mass. He was known as a botanist for whom the genus Chapmannia was named, and the author of Flora of the Southern United States.

CHAPMAN, ANDREW GRANT, lawyer, congressman, was born in La Platte, Md., Jan. 17, 1839. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1868, 1870, and 1872; and was elected a representative from Maryland to the forty-seventh congress as a democrat.

CHAPMAN, AUGUSTUS A., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1847.

CHAPMAN, BIRD B., congressman, was born in Connecticut. He moved to Nebraska, and was elected a delegate from that territory to the thirty-fourth congress.

CHAPMAN, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1799, in Newtown, Conn. He was three times elected to the legislature; from 1841 to 1845 was United States district attorney; and was a representative in congress from 1851 to 1853. He was temperance candidate for governor in 1854. He died Aug. 7, 1869, in Hartford, Conn.

CHAPMAN, CHARLES HIRAM, educator, college president, was born Oct. 23, 1859, in Columbia county, Wis. He graduated from Johns Hopkins university, where for many years he filled the chair of professor of mathematics, which position he resigned to accept the presidency of the university of Oregon.

CHAPMAN, CHRISTOPHER E., lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 24, 1860, in New Shoreham, R. I. He attended Brown university, and in 1884 graduated in law from the Boston university. In 1887-89 he was a member of the house of representatives of the Rhode Island legislature; and in the senate from 1890 to 1897 consecutively. He procured appropriations aggregating one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars from the state of Rhode Island and the United States government for harbor refuge at New Shoreham Great Pond harbor, in his native town.

CHAPMAN, FRANK MICHLER, ornithologist, author, was born in 1864, in New Jersey. He is a well-known ornithologist, and assistant curator of the department of ornithology and mammalogy in the American Museum of Natural History, of New York city. He is the author of Hand-book of Birds of Eastern North America; and Bird-Life: A Guide to the Study of Our Common Birds.

CHAPMAN, GEORGE H., soldier. He was appointed a brigadier-general in 1864; and in 1865 received the brevet of major-general.

CHAPMAN, GEORGE THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 21, 1786, in England. He was an episcopal clergyman, and the author of Sketches of Alumni of Dartmouth College from 1771 to 1868. He died Oct. 18, 1872, in Newburyport, Mass.

CHAPMAN, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1805, in Pennsylvania. He was a member of the state senate for three years, from January, 1843, and president judge of the fifteenth judicial district of Pennsylvania for some years after leaving the senate. He was a representative in the thirty-fifth congress from Pennsylvania; and was elected president judge of the seventh judicial district of Pennsylvania in 1861.

CHAPMAN, HENRY CADWALADER, physician, author, was born Aug. 17, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a noted physician of Philadelphia, and the author of Evolution of Life; and History of the Discovery of the Circulation of the Blood.

CHAPMAN, ISAAC NEWTON, civil engineer, inventor, was born Dec. 10, 1838, in Lima, Ohio. He attended the public schools of his native county, and graduated from the Willamette university of Salem, Ore. In 1855-56 he served in the Indian wars of Oregon and Washington. He has been United States deputy surveyor; city engineer of Alameda, Cal.; and has been successful as a surveyor of mines and mineral lands. He is the inventor of an automatic sewer flusher in use in Alameda and other cities.

CHAPMAN, JACOB, clergyman, genealogist, was born in March, 1810, in Tamworth, N. H. He received his education at the Dartmouth college, and the Andover Theological seminary, and attained eminence as a clergyman. He is the author of five volumes of Genealogy on the Folsom, Philbrick, Lane, Weeks, and Chapman Families.

CHAPMAN, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1797 to 1799.

CHAPMAN, JOHN, clergyman, was born Aug. 21, 1829, in Greenland, N. H. He served in various churches in New England, according to the assignment made by the conference, until 1871, when he was transferred to Brooklyn and New York. In 1891 he was elected chaplain to the university of Pennsylvania.

CHAPMAN, JOHN A., soldier, author, poet, was born March 9, 1821, in Edgefield county, S. C. He served as a volunteer in the war, and was wounded. Since retiring from business in 1888 he has been closely engaged in the study and writing of the history of his own state. He is the author of a meritorious poem entitled The Ideal Man. In 1875 he published a volume of verse, The Walk and Other Poems; and in 1879 appeared Within the Vale.

CHAPMAN, JOHN GRANT, lawyer, congressman, was born July 5, 1798, in Charles county, Md. Between the years

1824 and 1844 he was almost constantly in the legislature of Maryland. In 1845 he was elected a representative in congress, and re-elected in 1847, serving on important committees, and doing much good for his constituents and the public at large; was chosen president of the convention which framed the constitution of Maryland in 1851. His last public office was to preside as chairman of the national whig convention which met in Baltimore in 1856, to nominate Millard Fillmore for the presidency. He died Dec. 10, 1856.

CHAPMAN, JOHN GADSBY, painter, was born in 1808, in Alexandria, Va. He became a successful etcher and wood-engraver, made illustrations for many books, among others Harper's illustrated Bible, and published a Drawing-Book, which has passed through many editions in this country and in England. Among his works in oil are Baptism of Pocahontas, in the capitol at Washington; Etruscan Girl; and Sunset on the Campagna. He died Nov. 28, 1889, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CHAPMAN, JOSEPH GILBERT, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born in 1840, in Oxford, N. Y. He has been prominently identified with the best life of St. Louis and its educational and philanthropic movements, and has been a trustee of Washington university for the past fifteen years. He was president of the St. Louis Museum and School of Fine Arts, to whose endowment he contributed largely.

CHAPMAN, MARIA WESFON, reformer, was born in 1806, in Weymouth, Mass. She was principal of the newly established young ladies' high school in Boston in 1829-30. She returned to this country in 1856, and in 1877 published the autobiography of her intimate friend, Harriet Martineau. She died in 1885, in Weymouth, Mass.

CHAPMAN, MILLIE J., educator, physician, was born July 23, 1845, in Crawford county, Pa. She received her education in the public schools, at the state normal school, and the medical college. For twelve years she was engaged in educational work. Since becoming a physician she has held many official positions in local, state and national medical societies. She is one of the physicians in the Homeopathic hospital; an attending physician for two Children's homes; and lecturer on physics at a co-educational college of Pittsburg, Pa.

CHAPMAN, NATHANIEL, educator, physician, author, was born May 28, 1780, in Summer Hill, Va. He was a Philadelphia physician and professor of medicine in the university of Pennsylvania in 1814-50. He was the author of Materia Medica and Therapeutics, long a valued textbook; Select Speeches (edited); Lectures on Eruptive Fevers, Hemorrhages and Dropsies; and Lectures on Thoracic Viscera. He died July 1, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CHAPMAN, PLEASANT T., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Oct. 8, 1854, in Johnson county, Va. In 1877 he was elected superintendent of the Johnson county schools, and reappointed for a short time in 1881. In 1882 he was elected county judge; and in 1890-94 was elected to the Illinois state senate.

CHAPMAN, REUBEN, congressman, governor, was born July 15, 1799, in Randolph county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Alabama from 1835 to 1848; and was governor of that state from 1847 to 1849. He died May 17, 1882, in Huntsville, Ala.

CHAPMAN, REUBEN ATWATER, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 20, 1801, in Russell, Mass. He practiced successively in Westfield, Monson, Ware, and Springfield. He died June 28, 1873, in Switzerland.

CHAPMAN, THOMAS CORWIN, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Nov. 12, 1844, in Conneaut, Ohio. He has filled the positions of prosecuting attorney, probate judge, and served with distinction as a member of the Missouri state legislature.

CHAPMAN, WARREN HOSEA, physician, author, was born May 5, 1821, in Tolland, Conn. He studied medicine and settled in Peoria, where he became eminent in his profession. Dr. Chapman was prominent in the arrangements that led to the establishment of a summer school of science in Peoria, and was president of the scientific association under whose direction the school was formed. He is the author of Geology of Peoria County; Chemistry of the Rocks; and Systems of Stratified Rocks.

CHAPMAN, WILLIAM CARROLL, physician, journalist, was born June 17, 1863, in Hartford, Ky. He is assistant to the chair of clinical medicine and to the chair of chemical physiology in the Kentucky school of medicine; secretary of the publication committee of the Kentucky State Medical society; and editor of the Medical Progress.

CHAPMAN, WILLIAM W., congressman. He was a delegate to congress from the territory of Iowa from 1839 to 1841.

CHAPPELL, ABSALOM HARRIS, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Dec. 18, 1801, in Hancock county, Ga. He was a representative of the Georgia state legislature for three terms; a member of the state senate, and president of that body; and in 1842-43 became a member of the twenty-eighth congress. He died Dec. 11, 1878.

CHAPPELL, JOHN J., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1782, in Fairfield, S. C. He was a solicitor of equity, colonel of militia, a trustee of the state college in 1809, and a bank director. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1813 to 1817.

CHARLES, MRS. EMILY THORNTON, journalist, author, was born in 1845, in Indiana. She is a Washington journalist who has published two volumes of verse, Hawthorn Blossoms; and Lyrical Poems.

CHARLTON, ROBERT MILLEDGE, lawyer, congressman, author, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1807, in Savannah, Ga. He served in the state legislature; became United States district attorney; and in his twenty-seventh year was appointed judge of the supreme court of eastern Georgia. He was a poet, and published a volume of poems in 1839; and also published a prose work entitled Leaves from the Portfolio of a Georgia Lawyer; as well as a variety of historical and other lectures and literary addresses. He served in congress as a senator from Georgia, by appointment, during a part of the years 1852 and 1853. He died Jan. 18, 1854, in Savannah, Ga.

CHARLTON, THOMAS USHER PULASKI, lawyer, jurist, legislator, author, was born in 1779, in South Carolina. In 1803 he was a member of the Georgia state legislature; attorney-general during 1804-8; and judge of the superior court of the eastern circuit of Georgia during 1808-12. He was again a member of the legislature in 1812; mayor of Savannah in 1819-20; and again judge of the superior court in 1824. He published a volume of reports; a Life of James Jackson; and other works. He died in December, 1835.

CHARLTON, WALTER GLASCO, lawyer, was born June 5, 1851, in Savannah, Ga. He received his education at the Rock academy; the Pen-Lucy school of Baltimore county, Md.; and the university of Virginia. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Savannah, Ga., of which city he has served as alderman for three terms. He has been solicitor of the eastern circuit of Georgia; chairman of the democratic party of Chatham county for three terms; chairman of the democratic congressional convention of the first district in 1886; and temporary chairman of the state convention in 1885.

CHASE, AARON AUGUSTUS, soldier, lawyer, journalist. He served with distinction as a soldier during the civil war, and is a prominent member of the G. A. R. In 1863 he was admitted to the bar; and for many years was editor and proprietor of The Times of Scranton, Pa. His editorial championship of the workingmen during the labor troubles of the seventies caused him to be twice imprisoned because of his attitude. In 1885 he resumed the practice of law, and is now one of the foremost members of that profession in Pennsylvania at Scranton.

CHASE, AARON W., soldier, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1841, in St. Lawrence county, N. Y. He served through the war in company I, eighth Illinois cavalry; became first lieutenant, and was severely wounded. He has been school director, justice of the peace, and treasurer of Fillmore county, Neb.

CHASE, ANN, patriot, was born 1809, in Ireland. Through her stratagems and secretly imparted information, the United States troops captured Tampico without the loss of a single man. The government gratefully acknowledged the service. She died Dec. 24, 1874, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CHASE, BENJAMIN, clergyman, geologist, was born in 1789, in New Hampshire. He was also a geologist, and presented Oakland, Miss., college with a valuable collection of fossils, which he had gathered during his journeys. He died Oct. 11, 1870, in Natchez, Miss.

CHASE, CHAMPION SPALDING, lawyer, statesman, was born March 20, 1820, in Cornish, N. H. In 1856 he was elected to the Wisconsin state senate; and in 1862 was commissioned paymaster in the union army, with the rank of major of cavalry. In 1866 he went to Omaha, and was the first attorney-general of that state. In 1874 he was elected mayor of Omaha, and served seven years. He has held many positions of honor, and in 1872 the Nebraska legislature named Chase county for him; and the citizens of Champion, a manufacturing town in that county, adopted his first name for their town.

CHASE, CHARLES M., journalist, son of General E. B. Chase, was born Nov. 6, 1839, in Lyndon, Vt. During 1857-61 he was police magistrate, lawyer and editor at Sycamore, Ill.; and in 1861 was the leader of the band in the thirteenth regiment Illinois volunteer infantry. In 1865 he established The Vermont Union in Lyndon, and has ever since been its editor and owner. In 1866 and 1868 he was democratic candidate for congress; delegate to the democratic national convention in 1876. He has been a justice of the peace for twenty years in Lyndon, Vt., and president of the school board for fourteen years. Since 1892 he has been president of the Citizens' Savings Bank and Trust company.

CHASE, DENISON, inventor, was born April 13, 1830, in Concord, Vt. He has made several inventions. The most important, however, is the turbine water-wheel, which for years has been recognized as the best made. He is president of the Chase Turbine Manufacturing company, which employs about seventy-five hands.

CHASE, DUDLEY, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Dec. 30, 1771, in Cornish, N. H. He was state's attorney for Orange county; was a member of the constitutional conventions of 1814 and 1822; was a representative from Randolph to the legislature of Vermont in 1805-12, during five years of which he was speaker. He was again elected representative from the same town in 1823 and 1824; and was elected United States senator from Vermont from 1813 to 1819. He resigned his seat in 1817; and was chief justice of the supreme court of Vermont in 1817-21. In 1824 he was again chosen United States senator from 1825 to 1831. He died Feb. 23, 1846, in Randolph, Vt.

CHASE, EPAPHRAS B., soldier, legislator, was born Oct. 10, 1800, in Bradford, Vt. He was president of the Lyndon bank from its organization till his death. He was one of the organizers of the Vermont state agricultural society, and a long time director. From 1833-36 he was general of the first Vermont brigade, and was a representative in the Vermont state legislature. He died in September, 1867.

CHASE, FREDERIC AUGUSTUS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Jan. 29, 1833, in King's Ferry, N. Y. After being ordained as a presbyterian clergyman, he had charge of churches in Parishville and Lyndonville, N. Y. From 1868 till 1870 he was president of a female seminary in Lyons, Iowa; and in 1872 became professor of natural sciences in Fisk university of Nashville, Tenn.

CHASE, GEORGE, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 29, 1849, in Portland, Maine. He is a professor of criminal law at Columbia college, and the author of The American Students' Blackstone.

CHASE, GEORGE COLBY, educator, college president, was born March 15, 1844, in Unity, Maine. He has filled the chair of professor of ancient classics in New Hampton literary institution, and from 1872-94 was professor of English literature in Bates college, when he was appointed president of that institution.

CHASE, GEORGE LEWIS, underwriter, was born Jan. 13, 1828, in Millbury, Mass. In 1866 he became president of the Hartford Insurance company; and in 1876 was elected president of the national board of fire underwriters. He has been a prominent directorate of many banking and financial institutions of Hartford, Conn.

CHASE, GEORGE WINGATE, congressman, author, was born in 1826 in Haverhill, Mass. During 1853-55 he was a representative in congress from New York state. He was the author of History of Haverhill, 1640-1860; The Freemason's Monitor; Masonic Dictionary and Manual of Masonic Law; and Tactics for Knights Templars and Appendant Authors. He died May 1, 1867, in Maryland, N. Y.

CHASE, HARRY, painter was born in 1853 in Woodstock, Vt. His principal works are Breezy Afternoon off the Battery in New York; Low Tide on the Welsh Coast; Outward-bound Whaler; Bringing the Fish Ashore; and New York Harbor.

CHASE, HIRAM W., banker, was born Jan. 12, 1823, in Auburn, N. Y. He has been prominently identified with the railroad interests of Lafayette, Ind. He was largely instrumental in establishing the Lafayette Savings bank in 1869.

CHASE, HORACE, state legislator, was born in New England. He was a member of the first constitutional convention of Wisconsin and a member of the first state legislature. He was mayor of Milwaukee in 1862-63. He died in 1887.

CHASE, IRAH, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 5, 1793, in Stratton, Vt. He was a baptist clergyman of prominence who founded the theological seminary at Newton Centre, Mass., and was professor there in 1825-45. He was the author of Life of Bunyan; Design of Baptism; The Jewish Tabernacle; Infant Baptism an Invention of Men; and The Constitutions of the Holy Apostles. He died Nov. 1, 1864, in Newton, Mass.

CHASE, JEREMIAH T., congressman. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1783 to 1784.

CHASE, JULIA CLARKE, poet, was born April 9, 1856, in Neosho, Wis. She has written one thousand poems, besides a great deal of prose, stories and sketches for children.

CHASE, LUCIEN B., congressman, author, was born Aug. 9, 1817, in Vermont. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1845 to 1847, and for a second term, ending in 1849. He was the author of a work entitled History of President Polk's Administration. He died Dec. 14, 1864, in Vermont.

CHASE, LYMAN CLEVELAND, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 2, 1839, in Rutland, Ohio. He attended the district schools in Ohio; commenced teaching at the age of fifteen, and in 1866 graduated from the Hillsdale college. The same year he entered Atwood institute, Ohio, as principal. In 1869 he was ordained a clergyman in the free baptist church. In 1882 he moved to Kansas, and the following year became superintendent of missions in the freewill baptist church and has ever since been engaged in ministerial work. He is the author of Contending for the Faith; and Christian's Manual of His Essentials to Success in Christian Life and Work.

CHASE, MARTHA ELLEN, educator, was born Dec. 5, 1846, in Lyndon, Vt. She is the daughter of General E. B. Chase; has always been engaged in educational work; and in 1877 established the Santa Rosa seminary, California, of which she is still principal. She has contributed extensively to the educational literature of the times; and also on current topics.

CHASE, PHILANDER, bishop, author, was born Dec. 14, 1775, in Cornish, N. H. He was the first protestant episcopal bishop of Ohio, and later of Illinois. He founded Kenyon college at Gambier, Ohio. He was the author of A Plea for the West; Defence of Kenyon College; and Reminiscences. He died Sept. 20, 1852, at Jubilee College, Ill.

CHASE, PHILIP STEPHEN, soldier, legislator, was born Nov. 3, 1843, in Portsmouth, R. I. He was a soldier in the civil war, and in 1883 was appointed department commander Grand Army of the Republic. In 1868 he was a member of the Rhode Island legislature, and in 1895 was elected city auditor of Providence, R. I. He was an officer of the Rhode Island militia for fourteen years, thirteen of which was assistant adjutant general with rank of lieutenant colonel.

CHASE, PLINY EARLE, educator, scientist, author, was born Aug. 18, 1820, in Worcester, Mass. He was an educator and scientist of Philadelphia and the author of Numerical Relations of Gravity and Magnetism; Elements of Meteorology; Elements of Arithmetic; and Common School Arithmetic. He died Dec. 17, 1886, in Haverford, Pa.

CHASE, SALMON PORTLAND, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Jan. 13, 1808, in Cornish, N. H. His first public position was that of school examiner in Cincinnati, in 1839; in 1840 was a city councilman; in 1845 projected what was called a liberty convention; and was a member of the free-soil convention held at Buffalo in 1848. He was a senator in congress, from Ohio, from 1849 to 1855; was elected governor of Ohio in 1855, and re-elected in 1857. In 1860 he was again chosen a senator in congress. In 1864 he was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. By virtue of his position as chief justice he presided over the senate while acting as a court of impeachment, during the trial of President Andrew Johnson, in 1868. He died May 7, 1873, in New York city.

CHASE, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress, from New York, from 1827 to 1829.

CHASE, SAMUEL, jurist, statesman, was born April 17, 1741, in Somerset county, Maryland. He was sent by Maryland as a delegate to the continental congress, where he served from 1774 to 1778, and in 1784 and 1785. He was a signer of the declaration of independence. In 1788 he was appointed chief justice of the criminal court; was a member of the convention that ratified the federal constitution, and in 1796 was appointed an associate on the supreme bench. He died June 19, 1811.

CHASE, THOMAS, educator, college president, author, was born June 16, 1827, in Worcester, Mass. He was an educator of Pennsylvania, and president of Haverford college. He was co-editor with George Stuart of a series of classical textbooks, and also published Hellas, her Monuments and Scenery, descriptive of his travels in Greece. He died in 1892.

CHASE, WILLIAM EZRA, educator, lawyer, was born Jan. 1, 1872, in Fremont, Neb. He graduated from the Iowa college in 1891, with the degree of A. B. For two years he was professor of ancient and modern languages in Hull academy, Iowa; in 1893-94 was instructor in the Calumet high school, Michigan; in 1894-95 was principal of public schools in Benjamin, Tex.; and in 1895-96 was connected with the Epworth seminary, Iowa.

CHASE, WILLIAM MERRITT, painter was born Nov. 1, 1849, in Franklin, Ind. Fish Market; The Dowager; Broken Jug; Ready for a Ride; The Apprentice; portrait of General Webb; and portrait of Peter Cooper (1882).

CHASE, WILLIAM THOMAS, clergyman, was born July 11, 1839, in Hallowell, Maine. He occupied the pulpit of the famous Ruggles Street church for two and one-half years, when he was called, in 1891, to the Fifth baptist church of Philadelphia. He is trustee of the Newton Theological institution and president of the baptist education society of Maine.

CHASSAIGNAC, CHARLES LOUIS, surgeon, was born Jan. 25, 1862, in New Orleans, La. He attended the New Orleans central high school; college of Brothers of the Sacred Heart; and graduated in medicine from the university of Louisiana. He has been president of the Orleans parish medical society; and is now professor of genito-urinary and rectal diseases in the New Orleans poly-clinic. He is president of the New Orleans sanitarium; editor of the New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal; and has held other medical positions of honor.

CHASTAIN, EDWARD W., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress, from Georgia, from 1851 to 1855.

CHATARD, FRANCIS SILAS, bishop, author, was born in 1834 in Baltimore, Md. He is the Roman catholic bishop of Vincennes, Ind., and the author of Christian Truths.

CHATFIELD, A. G., jurist. He was an early emigrant to Minnesota, and in 1853 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Minnesota.

CHATFIELD-TAYLOR, HOBART CHATFIELD, author, was born in 1865 in Illinois. He is the author of With Edge Tools; An American Peeress; Two Women and a Fool; and The Land of the Castanet.

CHATTERTON, FENIMORE, lawyer, legislator, was born July 21, 1860, in Oswego, N. Y. During 1870-78 he attended the public schools of Washington, D. C., and the preparatory department of the Columbia college. In 1888 he was treasurer and probate judge of Carbon county, Wyo.; in 1890-92 was state senator for two terms; the latter year serving as vice-president of the state senate. In 1894-96 he served two terms as prosecuting attorney of Carbon; and is known as one of the foremost lawyers in the west, with a large practice at Rawlins, Wyo.

CHAUNCEY, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, was born June 11, 1747, in Durham, Conn. He became state's attorney in 1776. He was a judge of the superior court from 1789 till 1793, and was for forty years a lecturer on jurisprudence. He was the principal founder and president of the first agricultural society in Connecticut. He died April 28, 1823, in New Haven, Conn.

CHAUNCEY, ISAAC, naval officer, was born Feb. 20, 1772, in Black Rock, Conn. He made several successful voyages to the East Indies in the ships of John Jacob Astor. He distinguished himself in several actions off Tripoli and was thanked by congress for his services. He served with distinction in the war of 1812; and in 1833-40 was president of the board of navy commissioners in Washington, D. C., in which city he died Jan. 27, 1840.

CHAUNCEY, CHARLES, clergyman, college president, author, was born in 1592 in England. He was a puritan clergyman, vicar of Ware in 1627-35. He came to America in 1638, and was thirteen years minister at Scituate. He was the second president of Harvard college, succeeding Henry Dunster in 1654. His most important work is a series of twenty-six Sermons on Justification. Antisynodalia Scripta America, a controversial pamphlet, appeared in 1662. He died Feb. 19, 1672.

CHAUNCEY, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 1, 1705, in Boston. Seasonable Thoughts on the State of Religion in New England; Discourse on Eu- thusiasm, directed against Whitefield, of whose teachings he was a strong opponent; Letters to Whitefield; Complete View of Episcopacy; The Mystery Hid from the Ages; Benevolence of the Deity; Five Dissertations on the Fall and its Consequences; and Validity of Presbyterian Ordination. He died Feb. 10, 1787.

CHAUVENET, REGIS, chemist, was born Oct. 7, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. From 1872 till 1875 he was chancellor of the Missouri geological survey, and for some time held a similar relation to the city of St. Louis. In the year 1883 he became professor of chemistry and president of the Colorado state school of mines in Golden.

CHAUVENET, WILLIAM, author, was born May 24, 1820, in Milford, Pa. He was a mathematician who was chancellor of Washington university, St. Louis, in 1862-69. He was the author of Binomial Theorem and Logarithms; Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Manual of Spherical and Practical Astronomy; and Elementary Geometry. He died Dec. 13, 1870, in St. Paul, Minn.

CHAVEZ, J. FRANCISCO, soldier, congressman, was born June 27, 1833, in Padillas, N. M. He was appointed major of the first regiment of infantry raised in New Mexico; after participating in several battles and seeing much active service on the frontier he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. In 1865 he was elected a delegate from New Mexico to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a democrat.

CHAVIS, JORDAN DOUGLAS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Aug. 9, 1863, near Greensboro, N. C. Since 1893 he has been president of the Bennett college of Greensboro, N. C. He completed his college course in 1887, and attained success as an educator and Methodist clergyman.

CHEADLE, JOSEPH B., journalist, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1842, in Perrysville, Ind. He entered the editorial profession, which occupation he has since followed. He was elected to the fiftieth congress and re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

CHEATHAM, HENRY PLUMMER, congressman, was born Dec. 27, 1857, in Granville, N. C. He was elected principal of the Plymouth state normal school immediately after his graduation, and served in that capacity until 1885. He is the only colored representative in the fifty-first congress. He was elected to the fifty-first and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a republican. In 1897 he was appointed recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia.

CHEATHAM, RICHARD, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee, from 1837 to 1839. He died in September, 1845.

CHECKLEY, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1680 in Boston, Mass. He was an episcopal clergyman of Rhode Island, noted in his day for his witty, reckless attacks on his theological opponents. He was the author of Choice Dialogues About Predestination. He died in 1753 in Providence, R. I.

CHEESMAN, JOHN CUMMINGS, physician, was born July 20, 1788, in New York city. He held many important offices, among which were surgeon to the Charity hospital on Blackwell's island, and surgeon to Bellevue hospital. For forty years he was professionally connected with the New York hospital. He died Oct. 11, 1862, in New York city.

CHEETHAM, JAMES, journalist, author, was born in 1772 in England. He was an English journalist who came to America in 1798, and became editor of The American Citizen. He was the author of Nine Letters on Burr's Defection; Reply to Aristides; and Life of Thomas Paine, a work written from a hostile point of view. He died Sept. 10, 1810, in New York city.

CHEEVER, ALONZO W., farmer, lecturer, journalist, was born Feb. 27, 1831, in Wrentham, Mass. He was state cattle commissioner during 1885-92; and has lectured on agriculture in all the north-eastern states, state institute service. Since 1873 he has been agricultural editor of The New England Farmer.

CHEEVER, EZEKIEL, educator, author, was born Jan. 25, 1614, in London, England. He was a colonial educator of Boston, who was master of the Latin school for many years, and was author of Scripture Prophecies Explained, an essay on the millennium; Latin Accidence, for a century a standard introductory Latin text-book in New England. He died Aug. 21, 1708, in Boston, Mass.

CHEEVER, GEORGE BARRELL, clergyman, author, was born April 17, 1807, in Hallowell, Maine. He was a noted congregational clergyman of New York city, and the author of Deacon Giles's Distillery; Studies in Poetry; Wanderings of a Pilgrim in the Shadow of Mont Blanc; Lectures on Pilgrim's Progress; Journal of the Pilgrims at Plymouth; God Against Slavery; Incidents and Memories of the Christian Life; The Guilt of Slavery; The Republic or the Oligarchy, Which?; Faith, Doubt, and Evidence; God's Timepiece for Man's Eternity; Lectures on Cowper; and Windings of the River of the Water of Life. He died Oct. 1, 1890, in Englewood, N. J.

CHEEVER, HENRY MARTYN, lawyer, was born June 20, in Stillwater, N. Y. He attained success as a lawyer; has lectured on Presbyterianism and Catholicity; was organizer of the Westminster church of Detroit; and trustee of several large institutions of Detroit, Mich.

CHEEVER, HENRY THEODORE, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 6, 1814, in Hallowell, Maine. He was a congregational clergyman, and the author of Way Marks in the Moral War with Slavery; Correspondences of Faith and Views of Madame Guyon; The Island World of the Pacific; Life in the Sandwich Islands; The Whale and his Captors; The Palpit and the Pew; Life of Nathaniel Cheever; Life of Walter Colton; and Captain Cagar. He died in 1897.

CHEEVER, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 22, 1787, in North Brookfield, Mass. He was elected district attorney at Troy, N. Y.; and was elected the first county judge of Albany, N. Y. He died Sept. 25, 1874, in Waterford, N. Y.

CHENEY, ARTHUR, was born Jan. 14, 1837, in South Manchester, Conn. He interested himself in the drama and built the Globe theater of Boston, originally called Selwyn's theater, for the purpose of giving the best plays in a thorough and artistic way. He died in December, 1878, in South Manchester, Conn.

CHENEY, BENJAMIN PIERCE, pioneer, was born Aug. 12, 1815, in New England. In 1880 he merged his business into that of the American Express company, taking stock in payment. He was promptly made a director of the American Express company, and remained such the rest of his life, being the largest individual stockholder in the company. He died July 23, 1895, in Wellesley, Mass.

CHENEY, BENJAMIN PIERCE, railroad president, was born April 8, 1866, in Boston, Mass. He is president of the National City and Otis railway.

CHENEY, CHARLES EDWARD, clergyman, was born Feb. 12, 1836, in Canandaigua, N. Y. Soon after his ordination he became rector of Christ church, Chicago. Mr. Cheney was elected missionary bishop of the northwest, for the new organization, in 1873.

CHENEY, MRS. EDNAH DOW, educator, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 27, 1829, in Boston, Mass. She is a Boston writer, associated in early life with the prominent New England transcendentalists, who has been active in the woman suffrage movement, and whose writing has had more or less to do with philosophical themes. Her principal works comprise Hand-book of American History for Colored People; Faithful to the Light, and Other Tales; Stories of the Olden Time; Gleanings in the Fields of Art; Life of Louisa Alcott, supra; Life of Christian Daniel Rauch, Sculptor; Memoir of John Cheney, Engraver; Memoir of Dr. Susan Dimock; Nora's Return, a sequel to Ibsen's Doll House; Sally Williams; and the Mountain Girl.

CHENEY, EMELINE BURLINGAME, missionary, was born Sept. 22, 1836, in Smithfield, R. I. She has been president of the Rhode Island Woman's Christian Temperance union; and president of the Free Baptist Woman's Missionary society. She is a licensed preacher, and was three times a delegate to the free baptist triennial conference; and was editor of the Missionary Helper for many years.

CHENEY, MRS. HARRIET VAUGHAN (FOSTER), author, was born in 1815 in Massachusetts. She is the author of Confessions of an Early Martyr; A Peep at the Pilgrims in 1636; The Rivals of Arcadia; Sketches from the Life of Christ; and The Sunday School, or Village Sketches.

CHENEY, JOHN VANCE, librarian, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1848, in New York. He practiced law for a while; and subsequently became librarian of the public library in San Francisco, Cal. In 1897 he was elected librarian of the Newberry library of Chicago. His poetical works include Thistle Drift; Wood Blooms; and Queen Helen and Other Poems. In prose, his best known works are The Old Doctor, a Romance of Queer Village; The Golden Guess, a series of critical essays; and That Dome in Air, a similar collection of critical studies.

CHENEY, PERSON COLBY, manufacturer, governor, United States senator, was born Feb. 25, 1828, in Ashland, N. H. He was president of the Amoskeag Fibre Ware company; and in 1853 was a representative in the New Hampshire legislature. In 1862 he entered the union army as regimental quartermaster. In 1864 he was elected railroad commissioner, serving three years. In 1871 he was elected mayor of Manchester, N. H.; in 1875 was elected governor of New Hampshire, and was re-elected in 1876; he was appointed United States senator to fill a vacancy, serving from 1886 to 1889.

CHENEY, SETH WELLS, artist, was born Nov. 26, 1810, in South Manchester, Conn. He was one of the earliest American artists in black and white, and excelled in giving spirituality to his portraits and ideal female faces, which are still sought by collectors. Among his works are portraits of the Theodore Parker with his wife; and Eparaim Peabody; Rosalie; and A Roman Girl. He died Sept. 10, 1856, in South Manchester, Conn.

CHENEY, SIMON PEASE, musical educator, author, was born in 1818 in New Hampshire. He was a once noted musical educator of Vermont, and the author of The American Singing Book; and Wood Notes Wild, notations of bird music. He died in 1890.

CHENEY, THESEUS APOLEON, author, was born March 16, 1830, in Leon, N. Y. He was a writer who devoted his attention to the history of the western portion of his native state. He was the author of Report on the Ancient Monuments of Western New York; Historical Sketch of the Chemung Valley; Historical Sketch of Eighteen Counties of Central and Southern New York; Laron; Relations of Government to Science; and Antiquarian Researches. He died Aug. 2, 1878, in Starkey, N. Y.

CHENEY, WARD, pioneer manufacturer, was born in 1813, in South Manchester, Conn. His silk thread having been once accepted as excellent in quality, the Cheney factory gained ground every year in spite of many trials. Arthur, Charles and Frank W. Cheney, brothers, successively joined the founder. He died March 22, 1876, in South Manchester, Conn.

CHENOWETH, JAMES Q., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Feb. 9, 1841, in Louisville, Ky. He was elected a state senator of Kentucky; served three sessions and resigned. In 1875 he was appointed district judge in Texas; and was elected a representative in the seventeenth and eighteenth legislatures of Texas. In 1885 he was appointed first auditor of the United States treasury.

CHENOWETH, WILLIAM J., physician, surgeon, was born Dec. 1, 1823, in Greensburg, Ky. In 1840 he graduated with the degree of A. B. from the Augusta college, Kentucky; and three years later received the degree of A. M. from the same institution. He has attained success in his profession at Decatur, Ill.; and is prominently connected with the leading medical societies and other institutions.

CHENOWITH, F. A., jurist, was born in Ohio. He was appointed associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Washington.

CHERRY, WILLIAM JOHN, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 23, 1859, in Chester county, South Carolina. He was educated in his native state at Newberry college; and in 1881 began educational work, subsequently adopting law as his profession. Since 1885 he has practiced law in Rock Hill, S. C. where he has been city attorney for a number of years, and is the legal adviser and attorney for a number of large corporations; and is also very prominent in politics. He has given considerable time to newspaper work, and is the author of a work entitled A Hand-Book of Rock Hill.

CHESEBRO, CAROLINE, educator, author, was born about 1820 in Canandaigua, N. Y. She was a writer of stories and sketches who was during the latter part of her life a teacher in the Packer institute of Brooklyn. Her writing displays much individuality, and the novel, The Foe in the Household, her finest work, is a careful study of some unfamiliar phases of Pennsylvania life. Her other works include The Beautiful Gate and Other Sketches; Peter Carradine; The Children of Light; Susan, the Fisherman's Daughter; The Little Cross Bearers; Dreamland by Daylight; Philly and Kit; Victoria; Amy Carr; and The Glen Cabin. She died Feb. 16, 1873, in Piermont, N. Y.

CHESEBROUGH, AMOS SHEFFIELD, D. D., clergyman, author, was born Aug. 22, 1813, in Stonington, Conn. In 1835 he graduated from Yale university; and from Yale Theological seminary in 1840. He has been pastor of congregational churches in Chester, Glastonbury and Durham, Conn.; and previously was principal of Hadley and Westfield academies, Massachusetts. He is a member of the corporation of Yale university, and author of several works on Church Work and Christian Nurture.

CHESEBROUGH, ELLIS SYLVESTER, civil engineer, was born July 6, 1813, in Baltimore, Md. In 1855 he became engineer for the Chicago board of sewerage commissioners, and in that capacity planned the sewerage system of the city. In 1879 he resigned the office of commissioner of public works. He achieved a high reputation as an authority on the water supply and sewage of cities, and in that capacity was consulted by the officials of New York, Boston, Cambridge, Toronto, Detroit, Memphis, Milwaukee, and other cities. In 1877-78 he was president of the American society of civil engineers. He died Aug. 19, 1886, in Chicago, Ill.

CHESEBROUGH, ROBERT AUGUSTUS, manufacturer, inventor, was born Jan. 9, 1837, in England. As a result of continual experiments in distilling and filtering petroleum, he discovered and patented, in 1870, the substance now known as vaseline. In 1881 he erected the huge office building, which bears his name, in New York city. He introduced heating and ventilating appliances of his own invention into this structure; and these have since attracted wide attention among architects and owners. The Real Estate exchange originated with him.

CHESHIRE, JOSEPH BLOUNT, bishop of North Carolina, author, was born March 27, 1850, in Tarborough, N. C. He has published several valuable monographs. Among his works are: Early Conventions of the Church in North Carolina; Fragments of North Carolina Church History; The Church in the Province of North Carolina; Decay and Revival; and Parson Miller and White Haven Church.

CHESNEY, ELIJAH, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born May 29, 1842, in Dumfries, Ontario, Canada. He graduated with honors in the classical course from the Woodstock college in 1864; and completed the full theological course of studies in the same institution. He has filled pastorates in Canada and Michigan; he has many times held the position of moderator and president of religious councils, associations and conventions; and by appointment preached sermons and delivered addresses at such assemblies. For twelve years he has been a member of the Michigan state home mission board in connection with the baptist state convention, and was for several years its secretary.

CHESTER, ALBERT HUNTINGTON, educator, author, was born Nov. 22, 1843, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. He is a professor of chemistry and metallurgy at Hamilton college, and the author of Dictionary of the Names of Minerals; and Catalogue of Minerals with their Chemical Composition and Synonyms.

CHESTER, FREDERICK DIXON WALTHALL, geologist, was born Oct. 8, 1861, in West Indies. He is a geologist of Delaware who has written many monographs upon local state geology.

CHESTER, JOHN, soldier, state legislator, was born Jan. 29, 1749, in Wethersfield, Conn. He was a representative in the legislature in 1772, served with distinction as a captain at the battle of Bunker Hill, became a colonel, and continued in the continental army until 1777. Afterward he sat in the Connecticut legislature, in which he was chosen speaker; was a member of the council in 1788-91 and 1803; supervisor of the district of Connecticut from 1791 to 1801. He died Nov. 4, 1809, in Wethersfield, Conn.

CHESTER, JOSEPH LEMUEL, journalist, author, was born April 30, 1821, in Norwich, Conn. He was a Philadelphia journalist who went to England in 1858, living in London, and devoting himself to antiquarian research till he became one of the most famous genealogists of his day. His own writings include Greenwood Cemetery and Other Poems; Treatise on the Laws of Repulsion; Educational Laws of Virginia: the personal narrative of Margaret Douglass, imprisoned for the crime of teaching free colored children to read; John Rogers, the Compiler of the English Bible; and Preliminary Investigation of the Alleged Ancestry of George Washington. His most important antiquarian work is an edition of the Marriage, Baptismal, and Burial Registers of Westminster Abbey, with notes, on which he spent seventeen years' labor. He edited also the parish registers of six London city churches. He died May 28, 1882, in London, England.

CHESTERMAN, ALONZO DECATUR, A. M., educator, was born Jan. 15, 1840, in Hanover county, Va. In 1860 he graduated from the Hampden Sidney college, Virginia. He has been principal of the Florence academy, Alabama; principal of the Marshall state normal college, West Virginia; principal of the Holly Springs normal institute, and of the classical school, Mississippi.

CHESTNUT, JAMES, soldier, state senator, congressman, was born in 1815, in Camden, S. C. He was a member of the state legislature in 1842-52; from 1854 to 1858 was a member of the state senate; and was appointed to the United States senate, taking his seat during the second session of the thirty-fifth congress.

CHETLAIN, AUGUSTA LOUIS, soldier, banker, was born Dec. 26, 1824, in St. Louis, Mo. He attended the common schools of Galena, Ill.; became a merchant in that city; and was the first volunteer at a meeting held in response to the president's call after the bombardment of Fort Sumter in 1861. He was commissioned lieutenant-colonel in the twelfth regiment Illinois infantry; and in 1863 was promoted brigadier-general. He raised a force of seventeen thousand men, for which service he was brevetted major-general; and served gallantly for five years in the war. During 1867-69 he was assessor of internal revenue for the district of Utah; and was then appointed United States consul at Brussels. During 1872-93 he was engaged as a banker and stockbroker in Chicago.

CHETWOOD, JOHN, lawyer, author, was born April 28, 1859, in Elizabeth, N. J. He graduated from the law school of the Columbia college, and has attained prominence as a lawyer. He is the author of Immigration Fallacies; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

CHETWOOD, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1769, in Elizabethtown, N. J. He at one time served in the state council of New Jersey; and was elected to congress from that state, to fill a vacancy during the administration of President Jackson. He died Dec. 18, 1857, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

CHEVERUS, JEAN L., Roman catholic bishop, was born Jan. 28, 1768, in France. In 1808 the diocese of Boston was created, and in 1810 he was consecrated first bishop of Boston. In 1818 he purchased and dedicated St. Augustine's, the first catholic cemetery in Boston. In 1823 he returned to France, and in 1836 was proclaimed a cardinal. He died July 19, 1836.

CHEVES, LANGDON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 17, 1776, in Rocky River, S. C. He was elected to the state legislature in 1808; was a presidential elector in 1809; and afterward attorney-general of the state. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1811 to 1816, and was speaker during the second session of the thirteenth congress. He was also a commissioner of claims under the treaty of Ghent; judge of the court of common pleas from 1816 to 1819, and for a time president of the United States bank. He died June 25, 1857, in Columbia, S. C.

CHEW, BENJAMIN, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 29, 1722, in West River, Md. In 1774 he became chief justice of the state of Pennsylvania. For several years was speaker in the house of delegates; and in 1790 was appointed president of the high court of errors and appeals. He died Jan. 20, 1810.

CHICKERING, CHARLES A., educator, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1843, in Harrisburg, N. Y. He was a member of the assembly in 1879, 1880, and 1881; was elected clerk of the assembly in 1884, and re-elected in 1885-90. He has been chairman of the republican county committee of Lewis county, secretary of the republican state committee, and also a member of the executive committee of that body. He was elected to the fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

CHICKERING, JESSE, physician, author, was born Aug. 31, 1797, in Dover, N. H. He was a Boston physician who was a unitarian minister in his earlier career, and later became a noted writer on political economy. He was the author of Statistical View of the Population of Massachusetts, 1765-1840; Emigration into the United States; Reports on the Census of Boston; and Letter to the President on Slavery in Relation to Constitutional Government in Great Britain and the United States. He died May 29, 1855, in West Roxbury, Mass.

CHICKERING, JOHN WHITE, clergyman, author, was born in 1808, in Massachusetts. He was a congregational clergyman of Portland, Maine, in 1835-65, and the author of What it is to Believe in Christ, a very widely circulated tract; and The Hillside Church.

CHICKERING, JONAS, manufacturer, inventor, was born April 5, 1797, in New Ipswich, N. H. He manufactured Chickering pianos; and invented various improvements. He died Dec. 8, 1853, in Boston, Mass.

CHICKERING, THOMAS EDWARD, soldier, manufacturer, was born Oct. 22, 1824, in Boston, Mass. The Chickering developed a piano of brilliant quality, which vied with the Steinway piano for the favor of musicians and the public, and has been practically the only American rival of the Steinway among those who are content with nothing less than first-class instruments. The principal salesroom of the firm was in New York city. In 1862 he left Boston in command of the forty-first Massachusetts volunteers, and at the close of the war was brevetted brigadier-general. He died Feb. 14, 1871, in Boston, Mass.

CHILCOTT, GEORGE MILES, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Jan. 2, 1828, in Huntingdon, Pa. He was elected to the territorial legislature. In 1859 he settled in Colorado; in 1861 was elected to the legislature of that territory; in 1862 was admitted to the bar of the same; and in 1863 was appointed a register of the land office, serving four years. In 1866 he was elected a delegate from Colorado to the fortieth congress; and in 1882 was appointed a United States senator from Colorado, to fill a vacancy. He died March 6, 1891, in St. Louis, Mo.

CHILD, DAVID LEE, journalist, was born July 8, 1794, in West Boylston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1817; was secretary of legation in Lisbon about 1820, and was admitted to the bar. He edited the Massachusetts Journal about 1830, and while a member of the legislature denounced the annexation of Texas, afterward publishing a pamphlet on the subject, entitled Naboth's Vineyard. With his wife he edited the Anti-Slavery Standard in New York in 1843-44. He was distinguished for the independence of his character, and the boldness with which he denounced social wrongs. He died Sept. 18, 1874, in Wayland, Mass.

CHILD, FRANCIS JAMES, educator, author, was born Feb. 1, 1825, in Boston, Mass. He was a professor at Harvard university in 1851-96, and the foremost authority upon all matters pertaining to ballad literature. He edited the American edition of The British Poets, in 130 volumes; English and Scottish Popular Ballads; The Debate between the Body and the Soul, and other specimens of mediæval literature. As a Chaucerian scholar he had few equals. He was the author of Observations on the Language of Chaucer; and Observations on the Language of Gower's Confessio Amantis.

CHILD, MRS. LYDIA MARIA, author, was born Feb. 11, 1802, in Medford, Mass. She was a famous writer whose literary career began with the publication of Hobomok, a Tale of Early Times, in 1821, and closed with Aspirations of the World, in 1878. In 1833 she sacrificed much of her popularity by her Appeal for that Class of Americans Called Africans, and was ever after prominent as an abolitionist, assisting her husband in editing the National Anti-Slavery Standard. Among her other works are included The Rebels, a novel in which occurs a speech by James Otis and a sermon by Whitefield, long supposed to be real and not imaginary; The First Settlers of New England; The Mother's Book; The Girl's Book; Philothea, a Greek romance; The Power of Kindness; Isaac T. Hopper, a True Life, a popular biography of a noted Quaker abolitionist; The Progress of Religious Ideas; Autumnal Leaves; Looking Toward Sunset; The Freedman's Book; and Miria, a Romance of the Republic. She died Oct. 20, 1880, in Wayland, Mass.

CHILDS, GEORGE WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born May 12, 1829, in Baltimore, Md. He was a noted journalist of Philadelphia who established the Public Ledger in 1864, and was the author of Recollections of General Grant; and Personal Recollections. For nearly two years, in 1842-43, he was an apprentice on board the ship Pennsylvania of the United States navy. In 1850 he became a member of the publishing firm of Peterson and Co., which was changed to Childs and Peterson. In 1864 he purchased The Public Ledger of Philadelphia. As a philanthropist he was very liberal; and gave freely of his means to many charitable institutions. He died Feb. 3, 1894, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CHILDS, HENRY HALSEY, physician, was born June 7, 1783, in Pittsfield, Mass. He organized the Berkshire medical institute, which became a college in 1837, and of which he was professor of the theory and practice of medicine, and president until 1863. He represented Pittsfield in the legislature of 1816 and 1827; in the constitutional convention of 1820; state senator in 1837, and was lieutenant governor of Massachusetts in 1843. He died March 22, 1868, in Boston, Mass.

CHILDS, HENRY WARREN, lawyer, was born Nov. 24, 1848, in Belgium, N. Y. In 1887 he was appointed assistant attorney-general and took up his residence in St. Paul, Minn. In 1892 he was elected attorney-general; and in 1894 was re-elected to the same office.

CHILDS, JOHN LEWIS, horticulturist, journalist, was born May 13, 1856. He established The Mayflower, which is made up of the prominent floriculturists, horticulturists and agriculturists in the world.

CHILDS, ORVILLE WHITMORE, engineer, was born Dec. 27, 1802, in Stillwater, N. Y. He was chief engineer of the Terre Haute and Alton railroad in 1855-58, and was afterward employed by the state to fix the boundaries of the city and county of New York. He was president of the Central Transportation company and of the Philadelphia car-works. He died Sept. 6, 1870, in Philadelphia, Pa.

CHILDS, ROBERT A., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 22, 1845, in Malone, N. Y. He enlisted in General Stephen A. Hurlbut's company, which subsequently became a part of the fifteenth Illinois infantry volunteers, and served throughout the war. In 1884 he was presidential elector; and was elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican.

CHILDS, THOMAS, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative from that state during the thirty-fourth congress.

CHILDS, TIMOTHY, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He was a member of the assembly of New York in 1828 and 1833; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1829 to 1831, from 1835 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1843. He died in November, 1847, in Santa Cruz.

CHILDS, WILLIAM H., lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 4, 1841, in Paris, Ky. This eminent lawyer was a member of the Montana territorial legislature in 1866; and became president of the upper house the following year.

CHILES, MRS. MARY ELIZA, author, poet, was born in 1820, in Kentucky. Among her writings are Louisa Elton, a reply to Uncle Tom; Bandits of Italy; Oswyn Dudley; and Select Poems.

CHILLSON, WILLIAM DEEL, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 19, 1825, in Ticonderoga, N. Y. In early life he was steam engineer and steam sawmill builder, and sawed the first board cut by steam power in Minnesota, at St. Paul, in 1850. He has traveled and lectured on Science and the Bible, and is the author of a religious work. He has attained success in the practice of law, and has twice filled the office of county judge.

CHILSON, GARDNER, inventor, was born in 1804, in Thompson, Conn. He went to Boston in 1837, and engaged in the manufacture of stoves and furnaces at Mansfield, Mass. As early as 1844 he devised a furnace that received a prize medal at the London world's fair in 1851. Among his numerous inventions are conical radiators, applied to stoves and furnaces. He died Nov. 21, 1877.

CHILTON, HORACE, lawyer, United States senator, was born in Tyler, Tex. He was a delegate at large from Texas to the national democratic convention at St. Louis in 1888; and served one term as assistant attorney-general of Texas by appointment. He was elected to the United States senate without practical opposition, as the successor of Hon. Richard Coke. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

CHILTON, SAMUEL, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1804, in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845; and after retiring from congress was a member of the state constitutional convention. He died Jan. 14, 1867, in Fauquier county, Va.

CHILTON, THOMAS, clergyman, was born July 30, 1798, in Garrard county, Ky. He was a member of the Kentucky state legislature for several sessions, and for four terms a member of congress from Kentucky, during 1829-37. While practicing law with success he became a baptist preacher, and moved to Alabama, and was elected president of the Alabama baptist state convention, and soon abandoned the law. He died Aug. 15, 1854, in Montgomery, Tex.

CHILTON, WILLIAM P., jurist, lawyer, statesman, was born in Kentucky. He was, at different times, a member of each house of the Alabama legislature. In 1848 he was elected to the supreme court of Alabama, serving part of the time as chief justice for a term of ten years. During the existence of the confederate government, 1861-65, he was a member of its congress. He died Jan. 20, 1871, in Alabama.

CHINN, JOSEPH W., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1831 to 1835. He died Dec. 5, 1840, in Richmond, Va.

CHINN, THOMAS W., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was elected a representative in congress from Louisiana from 1839 to 1841.

CHIPMAN, DANIEL, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Oct. 22, 1765, in Salisbury, Conn. He was for many years in the legislature, and was frequently speaker of the house of representatives of his state. He was a member of the last state constitutional convention; was the first reporter of the decisions of the supreme court, and author of an able work on Law Contracts for the Sale of Specific Articles. He was a member of congress from 1815 to 1817. He died April 23, 1850, in Ripton, Vt.

CHIPMAN, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1785, in Vermont. He was appointed a judge of the United States for the territory of Michigan; removed to Detroit, and from that time until his death was one of the most influential citizens of the state. He died April 27, 1867, in Detroit, Mich.

CHIPMAN, J. LOGAN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 5, 1830, in Detroit, Mich. In 1856 he was elected city attorney of Detroit, and held that position till 1861. In 1863 he was elected to the Michigan legislature; and in 1865 was appointed attorney of the police board of Detroit. In 1879 he was elected judge of the superior court of Detroit, to which position he was re-elected at the end of six years. He was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a democrat.

CHIPMAN, JOHN S., congressman, was born in Vermont. He was a representative in congress from Michigan from 1845 to 1847; and subsequently moved to California.

CHIPMAN, MARCELLUS A., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 27, 1852, in Noblesville, Ind. In 1873 he graduated from the law school of the Indiana state university, receiving the degree of LL. B. In 1882 he was appointed judge of the Madison circuit court, Indiana, which position he filled with distinction for eight years; and out of over twelve hundred cases tried and decided, only two were reversed by the supreme court. He is the grand master of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of the state of Indiana.

CHIPMAN, NATHANIEL, lawyer, jurist, educator, author, was born Nov. 15, 1752, in Salisbury, Conn. He was professor of law for twenty-eight years in Middlebury college. In 1786 he was elected a judge of the supreme court; in 1789 was chosen chief justice; and in 1791 was appointed judge of the United States district court. He was subsequently again elected chief justice; and from 1797 to 1803 was a member of the United States senate from Vermont. In 1793 he published Sketches of the Principles of Government; and Reports and Dissertations. He died Feb. 13, 1843, in Tinmouth, Vt.

CHIPMAN, NORTON P., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 7, 1834, in Milford Centre, Ohio. At the close of the war he was brevetted brigadier-general; and settled at Washington city, where he had previously been on duty for two years. He was appointed secretary of the territorial government of the District of Columbia at its organization; and was elected a delegate to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican.

CHISHOLM, ALEXANDER R., soldier, journalist, was born Nov. 19, 1834, in Beaufort, S. C. He served in the civil war as a confederate soldier; and rose to the rank of colonel. In 1869 he removed to New York city, and established The Financial and Mining Record, in connection with a bond and stock brokerage business.

CHISHOLM, WALTER SCOTT, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 17, 1836, in Columbus, Ga. He was judge of Savannah city court during 1863-78; was president of the Alabama Midland railroad; and director of a number of business corporations. He died Dec. 5, 1890, in New York.

CHISHOLM, WILLIAM, manufacturer, inventor, was born Aug. 12, 1825, in Fife-shire, Ohio. He invented machinery for the manufacture of steel shovels, spades and scoops; and established The Chisholm steel shovel works of Cleveland.

CHITTENDEN, EZRA P., educator, clergyman, poet, was born Feb. 22, 1851, in Westbrook, Conn. As an educator he has been professor of mental and physical sciences in the St. John's school of Salina, Kan.; and he has filled many important pastorates in the congregational church. The work of his life is The Pleroma, a Poem of the Christ, the brilliancy of which proves him to be a musical and scholarly poet.

CHITTENDEN, LUCIUS EUGENE, lawyer, author, was born in 1824, in Vermont. He is the author of Personal Reminiscences; Recollections of Lincoln and his Administration; An Unknown Heroine, an historical episode of the war between the states; and The Capture of Ticonderoga.

CHITTENDEN, MARTIN, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born March 12, 1769, in Salisbury, Conn. He was a member of the convention that adopted the United States constitution; in 1790 was elected county clerk and representative, to which position he was re-elected for six years successively, and also at occasional subsequent intervals. He was judge of the county court from 1793 to 1795; chief justice from 1796 to 1803; and was a representative in congress from 1803 to 1813. He was governor of Vermont in 1813 and 1814; and was judge of probate in 1821 and 1822. He died Sept. 5, 1841, in Williston, Vt.

CHITTENDEN, RUSSELL HENRY, educator, author, was born Feb. 18, 1856, in New Haven, Conn. He is a professor of chemistry in the Sheffield scientific school at Yale university, and the author of Studies from the Laboratory of Physiology and Chemistry in Sheffield Scientific School; and On Digestive Proteolysis.

CHITTENDEN, SIMEON BALDWIN, railroad president, congressman, was born March 29, 1814, in Guilford, Conn. He was vice-president of the New York Chamber of Commerce from 1867 to 1869; one of the directors in the Continental bank, and New London Shore-Line Railroad of Connecticut. He was elected to the forty-third congress, to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses. He died April 14, 1889, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CHITTENDEN, SIMEON DUDLEY, railroad manager, was born July 20, 1851, in Guilford, Conn. During 1873-94 he was connected with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad; and since 1895 has been general manager of the Carra-belle, Tallahassee and Georgia railroad.

CHITTENDEN, T. C., congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He was elected a representative from that state to the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh congresses.

CHITTENDEN, THOMAS, soldier, legislator, governor, was born Jan. 6, 1730, in East Guilford, Conn. He was for many years a representative in the legislature, and justice of the peace. In 1774 he moved to the New Hampshire grants, as Vermont was then called, and settled at Williston, on the Onion river. He rendered service to the state in the councils during the revolution; was a member of the convention in 1777 which declared Vermont an independent state, and was one of the commissioners to solicit admission into the confederacy. In 1777 he was a member of the state constitutional convention; president of the council of safety; and in 1778 was chosen governor of the state, and, with the exception of one year, filled that office until his death. He died Aug. 24, 1797, in Williston, Vt.

CHITTICK, OLIVER USHER FUNSTON, clergyman, was born Oct. 13, 1870, in Canada. He received a thorough collegiate education; has attained distinction as an eloquent clergyman of the methodist church, and now fills a pastorate in Washta, Iowa.

CHIVERS, THOMAS HOLLEY, physician, poet, was born in 1807. He was a Georgia physician and poet, and the author of Virginia, or Songs of My Summer Nights; Atlanta, a Paul Epic in Three Lustra; and The Lost Pleiad. He died in 1858.

CHOATE, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1796. He served in both branches of the Massachusetts legislature. He held the office of trial justice for many years in Essex, and was an active supporter of benevolent institutions. He died Dec. 15, 1872, in Essex, Mass.

CHOATE, ISAAC BASSETT, educator, poet, was born July 12, 1833, in Naples, Maine. He is an educator of Boston, and the author of Elements of English Speech; and Wells of English.

CHOATE, JOSEPH HODGES, lawyer, was born Jan. 24, 1832, in Salem, Mass. As one of the old committee of seventy, which routed the Tweed ring, he obtained the reinstatement of Gen. Fitz John Porter to his rank in the army after a prolonged struggle, and successfully defended the Cesnola collection of ancient statuary in the Metropolitan Museum of Art against imputations affecting its integrity.

CHOATE, RUFUS, lawyer, statesman, author, was born Oct. 1, 1799, in Essex, Mass. In 1825 he was elected a representative to the Massachusetts legislature; and in 1827 was in the senate of the same state. In 1832 he was elected a member of congress from the Essex district; declined a re-election in 1834, and removed to Boston, to devote himself to his profession. On the retirement of Mr. Webster from the senate, Mr. Choate was elected to fill the vacancy. He was the author of Addresses and Orations. He died July 13, 1850, in Halifax, N. S.

CHOATE, WILLIAM GARDINER, jurist, was born about 1830 in Massachusetts. For some time he was United States judge of the southern district of New York, an office which he resigned to resume the practice of his profession in New York city.

CHOPE, EDWARD B., soldier, entomologist, was born in 1839, in Detroit, Mich. He served three years in the army during the civil war; and was severely wounded at the battle of Gettysburg. In 1888 he became connected with the Milwaukee Public museum, and since 1896 with the Field Columbian museum of Chicago; and has attained prominence as a noted entomologist.

CHOPIN, MRS. KATE, author, was born in 1851 in Missouri. She is a writer of St. Louis, and the author of Bayou Folk; and At Fault, a novel.

CHOULES, JOHN OVERTON, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 5, 1801, in England. He was a baptist clergyman of Newport, and the author of History of Missions; Christian Offering; Young Americans Abroad; and Cruise of Steam Yacht North Star. He died Jan. 5, 1856, in New York city.

CHOUTEAU, PIERRE, fur merchant. About 1806 he visited Dubuque in a canoe to trade with the Sac and Fox Indians. Several other large dealers in furs were at times the partners of Mr. Chouteau, among them, John Jacob Astor of New York. In 1834 his associates and he purchased Mr. Astor's interest in the American Fur company.

CHRISMAN, JAMES S., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a member of the constitutional convention of that state in 1849; and a representative in congress from 1853 to 1855. He was a member of the executive council of the state from 1861 to 1865, and was a member of the confederate congress during its existence.

CHRISTENSEN, CHRISTIAN T., soldier, was born Jan. 26, 1832, in Denmark. He served in the civil war and attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1890 he was elected president of the Brooklyn Trust company.

CHRISTIAN, GEORGE CLARK, soldier, lawyer, lecturer, politician, was born Feb. 20, 1841, in Elkton, Ky. He served during the war in the confederate army, and rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He has taken an active part in politics, and was for many years one of the leaders of the prohibition party in the United States. For twenty years he was professor of medical jurisprudence and insanity in the Bennett Medical college of Chicago, and was one of the founders of that institution. He founded the Inter-State Summer Normal and Educational assembly of Eureka Springs, Ark., and was its manager for three years.

CHRISTIAN, GEORGE HENRY, miller, was born Jan. 14, 1839, in Alabama. In 1867 he moved from Chicago to Minneapolis; and later, with C. C. Washburn, engaged extensively in the flouring industry there. The business was conducted under the name of Geo. H. Christian and Co. until 1875, when the senior partner retired, and his properties were transferred to the Northwestern Consolidated Milling company. He is now president and chief owner of the Hardwood Manufacturing company of Minneapolis, Minn.

CHRISTIAN, JOSEPH, state senator, jurist, was born July 10, 1828, in Middlesex county, Va. Before and during the war he was a member of the senate of Virginia, and at its close he was made a district judge, and soon advanced to the supreme court of appeals. His name has been prominent as a candidate for the United States senate, and also for the supreme court of the United States.

CHRISTIANCY, ISAAC P., lawyer, statesman, was born March, 1812, in Johnstown, N. Y. He was prosecuting attorney for Monroe county, and in 1848 attended the free soil convention in Buffalo. In 1849 he was elected to the state senate; in 1852 was the candidate for governor of the free soil party, and was a prime mover in the political combinations of 1854. He was a delegate to the Philadelphia convention of 1856, and soon afterwards purchased The Monroe Commercial and became its editor. In 1857 he was elected a judge of the supreme court of the state, and in 1865 re-elected for eight years by the unanimous vote of all parties. He served as an officer on the staffs of Generals A. A. Humphreys and G. A. Custer during the rebellion; and was elected a senator in congress from Michigan for the term ending in 1881, and resigned in January, 1879, to accept the appointment of United States minister to Peru. He died Sept. 8, 1890, in Lansing, Mich.

CHRISTIANSEN, CHARLES, clergyman. He has attained eminence as a prominent minister in the congregational church, and has filled many important pastorates in Illinois, and now resides in Danway.

CHRISTIE, GABRIEL, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1793 to 1797, and from 1799 to 1801.

CHRISTIE, WILLIAM H., soldier, physician, was born March 31, 1844, in Bergen county, N. J. In 1868 he graduated from the Rush Medical college of Chicago, Ill. He served as a private soldier during the civil war. In 1884 he was a delegate to the national republican convention. Since 1890 he has filled the chair of materia medica and principles of therapeutics in the Omaha Medical college, Neb. He is a member of the national, state, district, and other medical societies; and has contributed extensively to medical literature and the periodical press generally.

CHRISTY, EDWIN P., minstrel, was born in 1815. He organized the original Christy's Minstrels, in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1842, and was afterward their manager. He took the troupe to London, met with great success both here and there, and retired with a fortune in 1854. He died May 21, 1862, in New York city.

CHRISTY, GEORGE N., minstrel, was born Nov. 6, 1827, in Palmyra, N. Y. He made his first appearance in Buffalo in 1839, under E. P. Christy's management. After the organization of the Christy minstrels he was the star of the troupe, and was the original Lucy Long and Cachuca. He died May 12, 1868, in New York city.

CHRISTY, JOHN H., congressman. He was elected a representative from Georgia to the fortieth congress.

CHRISTY, SAMUEL W., lawyer, legislator, was born June 20, 1856, in Keokuk, county, Iowa. He was elected a representative of the Nebraska legislature in 1889, and in 1896 was a delegate to the republican national convention at St. Louis.

CHRISTY, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 6, 1791, in Georgetown, Ky. He served under Harrison in the war of 1812, and became a merchant in New Orleans. He published a Digest of the Decisions of the Supreme Court of Louisiana.

CHRYSLER, MORGAN HENRY, soldier, was born Sept. 30, 1826, in Ghent, N. Y. He was present at the capture of Mobile, with its surrounding defences, was brevetted brigadier-general in 1864, and made brigadier-general of volunteers and brevet major-general in 1865.

CHUBB, HENRY STEDMAN, state legislator, was born March 24, 1858, in Edgerton, Wis. He was director and general manager of the Heather Island Orange company; was president of a building and loan association. He served two years in the state legislature; and has been president of the council and mayor of his town.

CHUBBUCK, SAMUEL W., inventor, was born in 1800 in Vermont. He made, it is said, the first telegraphic instrument ever manufactured. One of his inventions was that by which the paper on the reel could be used forty times. The circuit-closer attachment to the key, and the famous pony sounder, were also invented by him. He was a collector of coins and scientific instruments, and at one time had a coin collection valued at $30,000. He died June 28, 1875, in Utica, N. Y.

CHURCH, ALBERT ENSIGN, educator, author, was born in 1807 in Salisbury, Conn. He was a mathematical professor at West Point, 1833-78, and the author of Elements of Differential Calculus; Elements of the Calculus of Variations; Elements of Analytical Geometry; Elements of Descriptive Geometry; and Elements of Analytical Trigonometry. He died March 30, 1878, in West Point, N. Y.

CHURCH, AUSTIN, manufacturer, was born Jan. 8, 1799, in East Haddam, Conn. During the practice of his profession in Ithaca, Rochester, Utica and Coopers-town, N. Y., he originated the notion of substituting bi-carbonate of soda in place of the kindred preparation of potash for baking purposes, and in 1832 established in Rochester the pioneer factory in this line. Success rewarded his enterprise, and, in 1845, he removed the business to New York city, where his firm of Church and Co. rose during the thirty years following to a leading position in the trade. He died Aug. 7, 1879, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

CHURCH, BENJAMIN, soldier, author, was born in 1639 in Duxbury, Mass. He was a famous colonial soldier, the conqueror of King Philip, and the founder of Little Compton, Rhode Island. Entertaining Passages Relating to Philip's War is a personal narrative of his adventures. He died Jan. 17, 1718, in New Compton, R. I.

CHURCH, BENJAMIN, physician, author, poet, was born in 1734 in Rhode Island. He was a Boston physician of considerable note as a political satirist and poet; and is the author of The Times, a political satire; Elegy on Dr. Mayhew; Address to a Provincial Bashaw; and Elegy on the Death of Whitefield. He died in 1776.

CHURCH, BENJAMIN SILLIMAN, civil engineer, was born April 17, 1836, in Belvidere. He has had charge of the water supply of the city of New York from time to time during the past thirty years. His greatest achievement has been the projecting and constructing of the new Croton aqueduct, the source of the water supply of New York city.

CHURCH, EDWARD B., educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 7, 1844, in Grenville, Miss. In 1880 he established the Irving institute for the higher education of women at San Francisco, Cal.

CHURCH, MRS. ELLA RODMAN, author, was born in 1831 in New York. She is a popular and prolific writer of miscellaneous works, among which are Flights of Fancy; Grandmother's Recollections; The Catanese; Christmas Wreath; Golden Days; Flyers and Crawlers, or Talks About Insects; Talks by the Seashore; Among the Trees at Elmridge; Flower Talks at Elmridge; Home Animals; Some Useful Animals; How to Furnish a Home; and Money-Making for Ladies.

CHURCH, FRANCIS PHARCELLUS, journalist, was born Feb. 22, 1839, in Rochester, N. Y. He became one of the editors and publishers of the Army and Navy Journal, and later, with his brother, founded and edited the Galaxy magazine. He is also a leading editorial writer for New York daily journals.

CHURCH, FREDERICK E., artist, was born May 4, 1826, in Hartford, Conn. He is well known as a landscape painter, and his View of Niagara Falls, now in the Corcoran art gallery of Washington, D. C., won a prize at the French exhibition in 1867.

CHURCH, FREDERICK S., painter, was born in 1842 in Grand Rapids, Mich.

He paints in oil and water-color, and draws in black and white, and has furnished many illustrations for books and periodicals. His principal works are Sea Princess; Back from the Beach; Muskrat's Nest; Foggy Day; A Willing Captive; Retaliation; Peacocks in the Snow; The Sorceress; and Pegasus Captured.

CHURCH, IRVING PORTER, educator, author, was born July 22, 1851, in Ansonia, Conn. He is a professor of engineering at Cornell university, and the author of Statics and Dynamics for Engineering Students; Mechanics of Materials; Hydraulics and Pneumatics, three works which were afterwards published as Mechanics of Engineering; and Notes and Examples in Mechanics.

CHURCH, JARVIS S., lawyer, jurist, was born April 2, 1830, in Springboro, Crawford county, Pa. He received his education at the Kingsville academy, Ohio; and the Oberlin college. He was admitted to the bar in Waterloo, Iowa, in 1857, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Auburn, Neb. For three years he was county judge in Cerro Gordo county, Iowa; and ten years served as county judge of Nebraska county, Neb. His decisions have shown him to possess a clear legal mind, for judicial fairness and justice. He is prominent in the public affairs of his county and state.

CHURCH, JOHN ADAMS, mining engineer, author, was born April 5, 1843, in Rochester, N. Y. He is the author of The Mining Schools of the United States; Notes on a Metallurgical Journey in Europe; The Comstock Lode; Report on the Striking of Artesian Water; and Arizona.

CHURCH, LEONARD C., soldier, state legislator, was born Jan. 31, 1846, in Walworth, Wis. He served during the civil war in company L, third Wisconsin cavalry. He was county treasurer for three terms, and in 1896 was elected a member of the Wisconsin state assembly.

CHURCH, LOUIS KOSSUTH, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Dec. 11, 1846, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was the son of Judge Rodney C. Church, a noted jurist of Brooklyn, who died in 1871. He finished his education in the Columbia Law college, and became a noted lawyer in New York city. He served in the state legislature during 1882-85; was a Cleveland reformer, and with Theodore Roosevelt was active in bringing about municipal reforms. In 1885 his name was mentioned for the office of secretary of state, and also for congress, but he accepted from President Cleveland an appointment as associate judge of the supreme court in the fifth judicial district of Dakota territory. He filled this position until December, 1886, when he was appointed territorial governor. In 1889 he resigned, and a year later entered the practice of law in Seattle, Wash., and in 1891 moved to Everett, where he died Nov. 25, 1897.

CHURCH, PHARCELLUS, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 11, 1801, in Seneca, N. Y. He was the author of Philosophy of Benevolence; Religious Dissensions, their Cause and Cure; Antioch, or Increase of Moral Power in the Church; Mapleton, or More Work for the Maine Law; Seed-Truths; and Theodosia. He died June 5, 1886, in Tarrytown, N. Y.

CHURCH, SAMUEL HARDEN, author, was born in 1858 in Pennsylvania. He is the author of Oliver Cromwell, a careful historical study.

CHURCH, SANFORD ELIAS, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born April 18, 1815, in Milford, N. Y. In 1842 he was a member of the state assembly from Orleans county, and from that time he was active in the support of the democratic party. He was district attorney for his county in 1846-47, lieutenant-governor in 1851-55, comptroller of the state, 1858-59, and a member of the state constitutional convention of 1867, serving as chairman of the committee on finance. He died May 14, 1880, in Albion, N. Y.

CHURCH, WILLIAM CONANT, soldier, journalist, was born Aug. 11, 1836, in Rochester, N. Y. He received his education at the Rochester Collegiate institute and the Public Latin school at Boston. During the war he served as captain and brevet lieutenant-colonel of the United States volunteers. He served as government inspector of the Northern Pacific Railroad company; was vice-commander of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion; chairman of the committee to investigate the care of the insane, and has filled various other public positions of honor. He is now the editor of the Army and Navy Journal of New York city.

CHURCH, WILLIAM E., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 7, 1841, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He enlisted in the union army in 1862, and was promoted to the rank of captain and assistant adjutant-general. In 1883 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Dakota territory.

CHURCHILL, JOHN CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 17, 1821, in Mooers, N. Y. From 1857 to 1859 he was the district attorney for Oswego county, and was county judge of the same county from 1860 to 1863. In 1866 he was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth congress, and re-elected to the forty-first congress.

CHURCHILL, THOMAS J., statesman. He was governor of Arkansas from 1881 to 1883.

CHURCHMAN, JOHN, author, was born in Maryland. He belonged to the Society of Friends, and was noted for his investigations into the causes of the variations of the magnetic needle. In addition to several philosophical treatises, he also published a variation-chart of the Globe, Magnetic Atlas, and Explanation. He died July 24, 1805.

CHURCHWELL, WILLIAM M., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1852 to 1855.

CHUTE, HORATIO NELSON, educator, author, was born Dec. 26, 1847, in Canada. He graduated from the university of Michigan; and since 1873 has been an instructor of science in the Ann Arbor High school. He is the author of Elements of Physics; Physical Laboratory Manual, and Laboratory Work.

CHUTE, WILLIAM EDWARD, educator, author, was born April 24, 1832, in Nova Scotia. He has taught school and given singing lessons for forty years in New York, Minnesota, Missouri, Michigan and Maine. He is the author of the Chute Genealogy and other works; and has assisted in the editing of the Baptist Hymn Writer; American Musicians; and other musical and hymnal works.

CILLEY, BRADBURY, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1813 to 1817.

CILLEY, JONATHAN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born July 2, 1802, in Nottingham, N. H. He was at one time speaker of the house of representatives of Maine, of which he was a member from 1832 to 1837; and was a presidential elector in 1832. He was a member of congress from Maine from 1837 to the time of his death. He died Feb. 24, 1838, in Bladensburg, Md.

CILLEY, JONATHAN PRINCE, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 29, 1835, in Thomaston, Maine. He attended the Military academy of Pembroke, N. H., and in 1858 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and has since attained prominence as an eminent lawyer of Rockland, Maine. During the civil war he served in the first regiment of the Maine cavalry, and became captain, major, colonel, and brevet brigadier-general. He served as a member of the Maine state legislature, and in 1876-78 was adjutant-general of Maine. He is the author of a genealogy of the Cilley family.

CILLEY, JOSEPH, soldier, was born in 1735, in Nottingham, N. H. He was a colonel in the first New Hampshire regiment in the revolutionary war, and major-general of militia in 1786. He died Aug. 25, 1799, in Nottingham, N. H.

CILLEY, JOSEPH, United States senator, was born Jan. 4, 1791, in Nottingham, N. H. He was a senator in congress from that state from 1846 to 1847. He died Sept. 16, 1887, in Nottingham, N. H.

CIST, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1738, in Russia. He began the publication of The American Herald in 1784, and of the Columbian Magazine in 1786. Mr. Cist aided the colonial government during the revolution by endorsing large amounts of continental currency, which later he was compelled to redeem. He was the first person to introduce anthracite coal into general use in the United States. In 1792 he was a member of the Lehigh Coal company. He died Dec. 2, 1805, in Philadelphia, Pa.

