McWILLIE, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, banker, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 17, 1795, near Liberty Hill, S. C. He was a representative and senator in the legislature of South Carolina; and moved to Mississippi in 1845. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851. He was also president of a bank for several years; was elected governor of the state in 1858; and during the rebellion was active as a confederate. He died March 3, 1869, in Kirkwood, Miss.

MEACHAM, JAMES, educator, congressman, was born in 1810 in Rutland, Vt. He was called from his parish to the professorship of elocution and English literature in Middlebury college. In 1849 he was elected a representative in congress, and twice re-elected. He died Aug. 22, 1856, in Middlebury, Vt.

MEACHAM, JOSEPH, clergyman, was born Feb. 22, 1742, in Enfield, Conn. He was the leading agent in organizing the so-called shaker church and its system of community of interests. He died Aug. 16, 1796, in New Lebanon.

MEAD, CHARLES MARSH, theologian, author, was born Jan. 28, 1836, in Cornwall, Conn. Since 1892 he has filled the chair of dogmatic theology in the Hartford Theological seminary. For ten years he traveled extensively in Europe; and is the author of Supernatural Revelation; Romans Dissected; The Soul Here and Hereafter; Christ and Criticism; and various other works.

MEAD, COWLES, congressman. He was elected a representative in congress from Georgia in 1805, but his election was successfully contested by Thomas Spalding. In 1806 he was appointed secretary of Mississippi territory.

MEAD, EDWARD C., historian, author, was born Jan. 12, 1837, in Newton, Mass. At one time he was professor of music on the violin; and is the author of a Genealogical History of the Lee Family of Virginia and Maryland; and other works.

MEAD, EDWIN DOAK, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 29, 1849, in Chesterfield, N. H. He is a Boston writer and lecturer upon social and historical topics, and editor of the New England Magazine. He is the author of Martin Luther: a Study of the Reformation; The Philosophy of Carlyle; and The Roman Church and the Public Schools.

MEAD, ELIZABETH STORRS BILLINGS, college president, was born about 1835, in Conway, Mass. In 1890 she was elected president of Mount Holyoke college, which position she still holds.

MEAD, JAMES PITTS, lawyer, lecturer, was born Feb. 19, 1857, in Adrian, Mich. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Joplin, Mo., and as a lecturer is well known throughout the state of Missouri. He is a member of the corps of lecturers of the American Institute of Civics; and president of the district work of the southwest Missouri Young Men's Christian association.

MEAD, LARKIN GOLDSMITH, sculptor, was born Jan. 11, 1835, in Chesterfield, N. H. He executed the celebrated Recording Angel, the colossal statue of Vermont placed over the dome of the state house at Montpelier, and other statues, prominent among which is the monument placed over Lincoln's tomb at Springfield, Ill.

MEAD, RICHARD HOMER, physician, journalist, was born Jan. 16, 1847, in Huntsville, Ill. He received his education in the common schools, and graduated from the Medical college of Keokuk, Iowa. During the civil war he served as a private in company K, eighth regiment Iowa cavalry, and is prominent and active in Grand Army of the Republic work. He has been examiner in the pension office at Washington, D. C., and has filled various other public positions of trust. In writing he has an incisive and instructive style; has contributed extensively to medical journals, and is the editor of the Register of Camden, Ill.

MEAD, THEODORE HOE, manufacturer, author, was born Jan. 1, 1837, in New York city. He became a contributor to the leading periodicals of the day, and is the author of a number of books entitled Horsemanship for Woman; Health Without Medicine; and Our Mother Tongue.

MEAD, VARNUM B., railroad president, was born Oct. 16, 1832, in Boxford, Mass. Since 1883 he has been president of the Franklin and Megantic railroad.

MEAD, WARREN HEWITT, lawyer, state legislator, was born Nov. 25, 1836, in Genoa, N. Y. In 1877 he was elected a member of the Kentucky legislature; and re-elected in 1878. He is now practicing law at Louisville, Ky.

MEADE, EDWIN RUTHVEN, lawyer, congressman, was born July 6, 1836, in Norwich, N. Y. He was admitted to practice in 1858; settled in New York city; and was elected a representative to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

MEADE, GEORGE, soldier, was born Nov. 2, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was brevetted major and lieutenant-colonel, United States army, for gallant and meritorious services during the civil war.

MEADE, GEORGE GORDON, soldier, was born Dec. 31, 1815, in Cadiz, Spain. He took an active part in many of the noted battles of the civil war, but his name will ever be identified with the great battle of Gettysburg, which he commanded on the first, second and third days of July, 1863, the victory of which produced such decided results. In 1864 he was promoted to major-general in the United States army, and as a special honor was given the command of the grand review which took place in Washington after the close of the war. He died Nov. 6, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MEADE, RICHARD K., lawyer, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1847 to 1853. He was appointed in 1853 charge d'affaires to Sardinia, and in 1857 was appointed minister to Brazil, which mission he held until 1861. He died April 20, 1862, in Virginia.

MEADE, RICHARD KIDDER, soldier, was born July 14, 1746, in Virginia. He entered the revolutionary army in 1775, soon after his return to Virginia, and was one of the twenty-four persons that on June 24 of that year daringly removed the arms from Lord Dnmore's house and placed them in the magazine in Williamsburg. He superintended the execution of Major André. He died in February, 1805, in Clarke county, Va.

MEADE, RICHARD WORSAM, naval officer, was born in 1807 in Spain. He entered the United States navy as a midshipman in 1826, and passed that grade in 1834. He was retired with the rank of commodore in 1867. He died April 16, 1870, in New York city.

MEADE, WILLIAM, bishop, author, was born Nov. 11, 1789, in Clarke county, Va. He was the third protestant episcopal bishop of Virginia, and the author of Family Prayers; Old Churches of Virginia; Lectures on the Pastoral Office; and Reasons for Loving the Episcopal Church. He died March 14, 1862, in Richmond, Va.

MEAGHER, THOMAS FRANCIS, soldier, was born Aug. 3, 1823, in Ireland. He served with distinction through the civil war, and was made a brigadier-general. In 1865 he was appointed secretary of Montana territory, and in 1866 governor pro tempore of Montana territory. He was for many years engaged in journalism, and was the author of Speeches on the Legislative Independence of Ireland. He was drowned July 1, 1867, at Fort Benton, Mont.

MEAHAN, BRYAN F., lawyer, legislator, was born May 1, 1857, in New London, Conn. In 1882 he was elected a member of the Connecticut legislature from New London, and received the reelection. He is prosecuting attorney of New London.

MEANS, ALEXANDER, educator, college president, poet, was born Feb. 6, 1801, in Statesville, N. C. He taught school for a while; and practiced medicine for six years in Covington, Ga. In 1834 he was elected rector of the Georgia conference manual labor school; and in 1853 was elected president of the Masonic Female college. The following year he was elected to the presidency of Emory college. He was the author of a volume entitled A Cluster of Poems for the Home and Heart; and also published numerous sermons, addresses and scientific papers. He died June 5, 1883, in Covington, Ga.

MEANS, HUGH, banker, iron manufacturer, state legislator, was born Oct. 14, 1812, at Spartanburg, S. C. He has been president of the Ashland National bank in Kentucky since its foundation. In 1843 he was elected to represent Adams county in the Ohio legislature, and served one term.

MEANS, JOHN HUGH, soldier, governor, was born Aug. 18, 1812, in Fairfield, S. C. He was governor of that state from 1850 to 1852. He was colonel in the confederate army, and was killed at the second battle of Bull Run. He died Aug. 28, 1862, in Manassas, Va.

MEARS, JOHN WILLIAM, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 10, 1825, in Reading, Pa. He was a presbyterian clergyman, professor in Hamilton college in 1870-81, and the author of The Bible in the Workshop; The Martyrs of France; The Beggars of Holland; The Story of Madagascar; The Heroes of Bohemia; and From Exile to Overthrow. He died Nov. 10, 1881, in Clinton, N. Y.

MEASE, JAMES, physician, author, was born in 1771 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the first vice-president of the Philadelphia Athenæum and an active member of the Philosophical society. His publications are Geological Account of the United States; Picture of Philadelphia; On William Penn's Treaty with the Indians. He died May 15, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MEASE, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1746 in Ireland. He subscribed four thousand pounds for the army in 1780. For the last thirty years of his life he was one of the admiralty surveyors of the port of Philadelphia. He died in 1826 in Philadelphia, Pa.

MEBANE, ALEXANDER, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1744, in Hawfield, N. C. He was a member of the convention that met in 1776 to frame the state constitution. He served a number of years in the North Carolina legislature, and was in congress from North Carolina during the years 1793 and 1794. He died July 5, 1795, in Orange county, N. C.

MEDARY, SAMUEL, journalist, governor, was born Feb. 25, 1810, in Montgomery county, Pa. He was governor of the territory of Minnesota in 1857 and 1858; governor of Kansas in 1859 and 1860, and was a peace democrat during the rebellion. He died Nov. 7, 1864, in Columbus, Ohio.

MEDBERRY, REBECCA, author, was born in 1808 in Roxbury, Mass. She was the author of several memoirs and Sunday-school books. She died in 1868, in Lynn, Mass.

MEDILL, JOSEPH, proprietor of The Chicago Tribune, was born April 6, 1823, in New Brunswick, Canada. In the winter of 1854-55 he bought a large interest in The Chicago Tribune, and this newspaper, then bankrupt, was placed by the new owners upon a paying basis. In 1874 he bought full control and The Tribune has since made his fortune. In 1870, as a member of the Illinois constitutional convention, Mr. Medill became the author of the clause securing minority representation, and proposed other important provisions, which were adopted. The annexation of various suburbs to Chicago, in order to aid in securing the World's Fair for Chicago, originated with him.

MEDILL, WILLIAM, lawyer, legislator, congressman, governor, was born in 1805 in New Castle county, Del. He was elected to the Ohio state legislature, serving a number of years, and was twice elected speaker. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1839 to 1843. He was appointed assistant postmaster-general, and subsequently held the office of commissioner of Indian affairs. In 1850 he was a member of the convention called to revise the state constitution, and was chosen chairman. In 1851 and 1852 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Ohio, and in 1853 was elected governor of Ohio. He was appointed first comptroller of the United States treasury. He died Sept. 2, 1865, in Lancaster, Ohio.

MEECH, EZRA, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born July 26, 1773, in New London, Conn. He settled in Vermont, and in 1822 and 1823 was elected chief justice of Chittenden county. He was a member of the constitutional conventions of 1822 and 1826, and in 1805 and 1807 was elected to the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1819 to 1821, and again from 1825 to 1827. In 1841 he was a presidential elector. He died Sept. 23, 1856, in Shelburne, Vt.

MEECH, JEANNETTE DUBOIS, educator, evangelist, was born Aug. 10, 1835, in Fraukford, Philadelphia, Pa. For many years she taught school in Philadelphia; was principal of the Industrial Art school in Vineland and in Jersey Shore, Pa., and for many years was a teacher in the Maryland State Industrial School for Girls. She was licensed to preach in South Vineland, where she was assistant pastor for seven years; has been county superintendent; national lecturer in narcotics for the Woman's Christian Temperance union; and has been president of various societies.

MEECH, WILLIAM WITTER, clergyman, was born in 1825, in North Stonington, Conn. In 1848 he was licensed to preach by the First Baptist church of Norwich, Conn., and two years later was ordained. He has held pastorates in various cities, and since 1875 has been pastor in South Vineland, N. J. In 1862 he was appointed by Abraham Lincoln as hospital chaplain, and served at Newport News, Louisville and Bowling Green. He was afterward regimental chaplain, with the rank of major. He is the author of a book entitled Quince Culture; is a member of the New Jersey State Horticultural society, and secretary of the Vineland Horticultural society.

MEEHAN, THOMAS, nurseryman, journalist, botanist, author, was born March 21, 1826, in England. He has devoted his life to scientific pursuits, and in early life had a love for natural history. He has had charge of a number of botanic gardens and in 1853 published Handbook of American Ornamental Trees. In 1854 he established the Meehan Nursery; and in 1860 founded the Gardener's Monthly, of which he was sole editor for thirty years. In 1880 he established a publication entitled the Flowers and Ferns of the United States, which was subsequently merged into Meehan's Monthly, which is still published in Philadelphia, Pa. He is botanist of the board of agriculture of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In science he became famous through his study of the relation of sex in plants, credit for which is given him in the Encyclopedia Britannica. His life work is the illustrated Native Flowers and Ferns of the United States, published by Prang and Company in book form, and then as a serial in Meehan's Monthly.

MEEHAN, WILLIAM E., botanist, editor, author, was born Aug. 31, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the eldest son of Thomas Meehan, the eminent botanist. He followed the florist business for several years; during 1885-87 he was editor of a newspaper in Germantown; then became a reporter on the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and since 1891 has been associate editor of that publication. In 1892 he was a member of the Peary Relief expedition to North Greenland, as its botanist. He is the author of In Arctic Seas; The Flora of Greenland; Fish, Fishing and Fisheries of Pennsylvania, and other works. He was the originator of the children's playground movement in Philadelphia.

MEEK, ALEXANDER BEAUFORT, jurist, journalist, author, was born July 17, 1814, in Columbia, S. C. He was an Alabama jurist and journalist, and the author of Red Eagle; Songs and Poems of the South; and Romantic Passages in Southern History. He died Nov. 30, 1865, in Columbus, Miss.

MEEK, FIELDING BRADFORD, paleontologist, author, was born Dec. 10, 1817, in Madison, Md. He was a paleontologist in government service, and the author of Paleontology of the Upper Missouri; Check List of North American Invertebrate Fossils; and Report on Fossils of the Upper Missouri Country. He died Dec. 21, 1876, in Washington, D. C.

MEEKER, BENJAMIN B., lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Minnesota. In 1850 he was appointed a judge of the United States court for that district. His judicial decisions are to be found in the various law reports, and show great learning. He took an active part in public affairs, and contributed numerous articles to literature, which have been a valuable acquisition to law literature of the times.

MEEKER, JOSEPH RUSLING, artist, was born April 21, 1827, in Newark, N. J. He has shown a special sympathy with southern scenery, and has successfully rendered the landscapes of Louisiana. Among his paintings are The Indian Chief; The Acadians in the Atchafalaya; The Vale of Cashmere; The Lotos Eaters; and Louisiana Bayou.

MEEKER, MOSES, pioneer, author, soldier, was born July 17, 1790, in Newark, N. J. He served in the Wisconsin legislature in 1840-43, and in the first constitutional convention in 1846. He published a History of the Early Lead Regions, in the sixth volume of the Wisconsin Historical Society Collections. He died July 7, 1865, in Shullsburg, Wis.

MEEKISON, DAVID, soldier, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Nov. 14, 1849, in Dundee, Scotland. He emigrated with his parents in 1855 to Napoleon, Ohio, where he has since resided, except three years' service in the fourth United States artillery. He attended the common schools until his fourteenth year, and then entered a printing office, and studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1873. Although always a democrat he has been twice appointed to office by republican authorities, first as town clerk and afterward as county prosecuting attorney for the county to fill a vacancy. He was afterward elected and re-elected to the same office; in 1881 he was elected probate judge, and served two terms. In 1886 he established a banking business in Napoleon, Ohio, under the name of Meekison bank, to which he has given his principal attention, except that required by the duties of mayor of Napoleon, Ohio, in which office he is now serving his fourth consecutive term. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

MEEKS, EUGENE, artist, was born in 1843 in New York. Most of his professional life has been passed at Florence, Italy, and he is an associate of the Florence academy. Among his works are, Little Nell and Her Grandfather; Bridal Chamber in Palazzo Manzi-Lucca; Gondola Party, Venice; Startling Bit of Gossip; and Halt at the Golden Lion.

MEES, CARL LEE, scientist, was born May 20, 1853, in Columbus, Ohio. He attended the Ohio State university, and the Imperial university of Berlin. For five years he was professor of physical science in the Male High school of Louisville, Ky.; for six years was professor of physics and chemistry in the Ohio university; since 1887 has been professor of physics in the Rose Polytechnic institute of Terre Haute, Ind.; and has been president of the institution since 1894.

MEGAPOLENSIS, JOHANNES, clergyman, author, was born in 1603 in Holland. He was a Dutch clergyman of the New Amsterdam colony, the first protestant missionary to the Indians; and the author of Short Account of the Mohawk Indians. He died in 1670.

MEIGHEN, BENJAMIN F., lawyer, was born Oct. 31, 1847, in Greene county, Pa. He attended the South Western Normal college of New California, Pa.; and in 1873 graduated from the Waynesburg college with the degree of A. M. In 1875 he was admitted to the bar; has been prosecuting attorney of Marshall county, W. Va., for eight years; and has a large practice in Moundsville. For two years he was chairman of the republican state executive committee, and subsequently was a candidate for judge of the circuit court.

MEIGS, CHARLES DELUCENA, physician, author, was born Feb. 19, 1792, in Bermuda. He was a noted Philadelphia physician, professor in Jefferson Medical college in 1841-61; and the author of Philadelphia Practice of Midwifery; Science and Art of Obstetrics; Treatment of Child-Bed Fevers; and Acute and Chronic Diseases of the Neck of the Uterus. He died June 22, 1869, in Delaware county, Pa.

MEIGS, HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 28, 1782, in New Haven, Conn. He was elected a representative in congress from New York city from 1819 to 1821. For many years he was an active officer, recording secretary, and trustee of the American institute in New York. He died May 20, 1861, in New York.

MEIGS, JAMES AITKIN, physician, naturalist, author, was born July 31, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a physician and naturalist of Philadelphia, author of Cranial Characteristics, and other scientific monographs. He died Nov. 9, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MEIGS, JOHN FORSYTH, physician, author, was born Oct. 3, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician; and the author of Memoir of C. D. Meigs; and Diseases of Children. He died Dec. 16, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MEIGS, JOHN RODGERS, soldier, was born Feb. 9, 1842, in Washington, D. C. He attained the office of chief engineer of the army of the Shenandoah, and while making a military reconnoissance was shot by guerrillas. He died Oct. 3, 1864, in Harrisburg, Va.

MEIGS, JOSIAH, educator, public official, was born Aug. 21, 1757, in Middletown, Conn. He was the second man appointed to be commissioner of the general land office in Washington, having been appointed in 1814, and remaining in office until 1822. He died Sept. 4, 1822, in Washington, D. C.

MEIGS, MONTGOMERY C., soldier, civil engineer, was born May 3, 1816, in Augusta, Ga. He studied at the university of Pennsylvania, and graduated from the United States Military academy in 1836. He received an appointment in the artillery, but was transferred to the corps of engineering. He took a part in building Fort Delaware, in the improvement in the Delaware river and Delaware bay, and in the construction of Forts Wayne, Porter, Niagara and Ontario. He superintended the building of the new wings and iron dome of the capitol extension, the extension of the postoffice department building, and the completion of Fort Madison in Annapolis. In 1861 he was made quartermaster-general of the United States army, with the rank of brigadier-general; and he continued to hold that office until his retirement from active service in 1882. No man did more or better service during the civil war than Gen. Meigs. He died Jan. 2, 1892, in Washington, D. C.

MEIGS, RETURN JONATHAN, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born in Middletown, Conn. He was judge of the supreme court of Ohio; was a senator in congress from 1808 to 1810; and was governor of the state from 1810 to 1814. He was appointed postmaster-general of the United States in 1814, and held the office nine years. He died March 29, 1825, in Marietta.

MEIGS, RETURN JONATHAN, lawyer, author, was born April 14, 1801, in Clark county, Ky. He was a noted lawyer of Tennessee; and the author of Reports of Tennessee Supreme Court Cases; Digest of Tennessee Decisions; and The Code of Tennessee.

MEIKLEJOHN, GEORGE D., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 26, 1857, in Waupaca county, Wis. He was educated at the State Normal school of Oshkosh, Wis.; and the Michigan university of Ann Arbor. He was principal of the high school of Weyauwega, his native place; and of Liscomb, Iowa. In 1880 he graduated from the law department of the Michigan university; and since that time, when not in office, he has practiced law. For three years he was county attorney for Nance county; was elected to the state senate of Nebraska in 1884 and in 1886; and was president of the senate during his second term. In 1888-90 he was lieutenant-governor of Nebraska; and was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican. He declined a renomination for congress; and in 1897 was appointed assistant secretary of war.

MEISTER, CATHERINE B., author, was born Jan. 16, 1874, in Reading, Pa. She is the assistant secretary of the Luther league of America, and the author of several works.

MEISTER, EMIL, clergyman, journalist, was born May 18, 1850, in Germany. He is prominent as one of the foremost clergymen of the German evangelical Lutheran church, and as the founder of the A. Herr Smith Memorial church of Lancaster, Pa. He still edits two magazines—the Family Friend, and Church Messenger.

MELDRIM, PETER W., lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 4, 1848, in Savannah, Ga. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, attended the Chatham academy; and graduated from the university of Georgia with the degrees of A. B. and A. M. He has been mayor of his native city; has been a member of the Georgia state legislature; and served with distinction as a member of the state senate. He is president of the Alumni society of the university of Georgia; and is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

MELICK, JOHN E., railroad president, was born Sept. 1, 1855, in Lebanon, N. J. In 1895 he became president of the Whippany River railroad at Morristown, N. J.

MELINE, JAMES FLORANT, was born in 1811 in Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. He was a New York writer, an officer in the federal army during the civil war; and the author of Two Thousand Miles on Horseback; Commercial Traveling; Mary, Queen of Scots and Her Latest English Historian, an attack upon Froude's view of the subject; and Life of Sixtus V. He died Aug. 14, 1873, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

MELISH, JOHN, traveler, author, was born in 1781 in Scotland. He was a noted traveler of Scottish birth; and the author of Travels in the United States, etc.; Description of the Roads, etc.; Description of the United States; Necessity of Protecting Manufactures; Information for Emigrants; and Statistical View of the United States. He died Sept. 30, 1822, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MELL, PATRICK HUES, clergyman, author, was born July 19, 1814, in Walthourville, Ga. He was a baptist clergyman and educator of Georgia, and vice-chancellor of the university of Georgia. He was the author of Baptism; Corrective Church Discipline; Parliamentary Practice; The Philosophy of Prayer; Church Polity; and Predestination. He died Jan. 26, 1888, in Athens, Ga.

MELL, PATRICK HUES, geologist, was born May 24, 1850, in Penfield, Ga. During 1874-77 he was state chemist of Georgia; during 1884-93 was the director of the state weather service of Alabama; and in 1897 was president of the botanical section of Agricultural Colleges association. He is the author of Botanical Laboratory Guide; Climatology of Alabama; Climatology of Cotton Plant; and various other works on geology, mining and botany.

MELLEN, GEORGE WASHINGTON, business man, legislator, was born May 11, 1837, in Hartford, Conn. He is a successful merchant of Great Barrington, Mass.; and during 1896-97 was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature.

MELLEN, GRENVILLE, lawyer, author, poet, was born June 19, 1799, in Biddeford, Maine. He was a lawyer of New York city, whose poetry was once very popular and much praised by critics, but is now forgotten. He was the author of Our Chronicle of '26, a satire; The Martyr's Triumph, and Other Poems; The Passions; Glad Tales and Sad Tales, a collection of tales in prose; and The Rest of the Nations. He died Sept. 5, 1841, in New York.

MELLEN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1722 in Hopkinton, Mass. He was pastor of Hanover, Mass., in 1784-1805, and afterward removed to Reading, Mass. He published eight occasional sermons, and Fifteen Discourses on Doctrinal Subjects. He died in 1807 in Reading, Mass.

MELLEN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1752 in Sterling, Mass. He was minister of Barnstable, Mass., and after retiring from the pastorate removed to Cambridge. He published eight separate sermons and discourses, and two Dudleian Lectures. He died in 1828 in Cambridge, Mass.

MELLEN, PRENTISS, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Oct. 11, 1764, in Sterling, Mass. In 1817 he was chosen a senator in congress from Massachusetts; and a presidential elector in 1817. On the separation of Maine in 1820 he resigned his seat in the senate, and was elected the first chief justice of the supreme court of Maine. He died Dec. 31, 1840, in Portland, Maine.

MELLEN, W. H., merchant, educator, poet, was born Aug. 5, 1840, in Gerry, N. Y. In 1878 he closed out his mercantile business in Chautauqua and moved to Lane, Kan., and subsequently to Greeley, where he took charge of the city schools for two years. He has served as county register of deeds and county treasurer at Garnett; where he has also been engaged in the wholesale and retail business. He has contributed extensively to current publications; and some of his poems have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

MELLETT, ARTHUR C., governor, was born June 23, 1842, in Henry county, Ind. In 1864 he graduated from the Indiana university, and immediately entered the northern army, serving as a private in company H, ninth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry, until the close of the war. He was subsequently admitted to the bar; was prosecuting attorney of Muncie in 1868; served as a member of the Indiana house of representatives in 1871; and was the author of the Indiana school law which laid the foundation of the present excellent public school system of that state. In 1878 he moved to Springfield, Dakota territory; was appointed register of the general land office; and two years later moved to Watertown. In 1889 he was appointed governor of the territory; and in 1889 was elected governor of South Dakota. He was the last governor of the territory of Dakota, and the first governor of the state of South Dakota.

MELLYCK, ANDREW D., lawyer, author, was born in 1844 in New Jersey. He was a lawyer of Plainfield, N. J.; and the author of The Story of an Old Farm; and The Hessians in New Jersey. He died in 1895.

MELLSH, DAVID B., journalist, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1831, in Oxford, Mass. He was for several years a stenographer for the civil authorities; and also wrote for the newspapers. In 1871 he was appointed an assistant appraiser in the custom house; and in 1872 was elected a representative from New York to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died May 23, 1874, in the Government Hospital for the Insane.

MELLON, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, banker, was born Feb. 13, 1813, in Ireland. During 1859-70 he held the office of assistant law judge of the court of common pleas in Pennsylvania, and then declined a renomination. In 1870 he opened the door of the private bank now known as Thomas Mellon and Sons in Pittsburg, Pa., and he is yet the head of this concern.

MELOY, JOHN, farmer, legislator, was born June 18, 1804, in Lancaster county, Pa. For two terms he served as a member of the Pennsylvania legislature.

MELSHEIMER, FREDERICK VALENTINE, clergyman, educator, was born Sept. 29, 1749, in Germany. In 1787 he became an instructor in Franklin college, Lancaster, and he was pastor at Hanover, York county, in 1790-1814. He died July 4, 1814, in Hanover, Pa.

MELVILLE, EUNICE, journalist, was born June 23, 1863, in Minneiska, Minn. She is now the editor and publisher of The National Rebekah of Minneapolis, Minn., a journal devoted to the woman's branch of Odd Fellowship throughout the world. For eight years she has been secretary of the Rebekah state assembly of Minnesota.

MELVILLE, GEORGE WALLACE, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 10, 1841, in New York city. He has been chief of the bureau of steam engineering in the United States navy since 1887. He is a survivor of the ill-fated Jeannette, of which he was engineer; and the author of In the Lena Delta, a Narrative of the Search for Lieutenant-Commander De Long and His Companions.

MELVILLE, HENRY, bishop coadjutor of Alabama, was born July 28, 1848, in Leesburg, Va. He was consecrated bishop coadjutor of Alabama in St. Paul's church, Selma, Ala., in 1891.

MELVILLE, HERMAN, author, poet, was born Aug. 1, 1819, in New York city. He was a novelist of New York city, for many years employed in the custom-house. He was the author of Typee; Omoo; White Jacket; Redburn; Mardi; Pierre; Israel Potter; The Piazza Tales; Moby Dick; The Confidence Man; Battle Pieces, a volume of verse; Clarel, a poem; John Marr and Other Sailors; and Timoleon, a collection of poems. He died Sept. 28, 1891, in New York city.

MENDENHALL, GEORGE, physician, author, was born May 5, 1814, in Sharon, Pa. On the organization of the United States sanitary commission at the beginning of the civil war, he was one of the associates and president of the Cincinnati branch of the commission. He was the author of The Medical Student's Vademecum. He died June 4, 1874, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

MENDENHALL, JAMES WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1842 in Ohio. He was a methodist clergyman, editor of The Methodist Review from 1888; and the author of Echoes from Palestine; and Plato and Paul. He died in 1892.

MENDENHALL, THOMAS CORWIN, educator, scientist, author, was born Oct. 4, 1841, near Hanoverton, Ohio. He is a prominent scientist; president of the Worcester Polytechnic institute from 1894; and author of A Century of Electricity.

MENDOZA, FRANCISCO FELIX, physician, pharmacist, editor, author, was born July 10, 1851, in Havana, Cuba. He studied medicine in America and Europe, and attended the hospitals of Europe. During 1876-85 he practiced in Pinar Del Rio and Guines, Cuba; and in 1885-88 he practiced medicine in Mexico city, Vera Cruz, Pueblo, and other places. He has edited different political and medical newspapers in Mexico and Cuba; and is the author of the Directorio Biografico Profesional Hispano-Americano. In 1888 he went to Key West, and in 1894 moved to Tampa, Fla., where he is now actively engaged in his profession.

MENEES, THOMAS, physician, educator, state senator, was born June 26, 1823, near Nashville, Tenn. In 1874 he was chosen professor of materia medica and therapeutics in the university of Nashville, and in 1875 he was transferred to the chair of obstetrics. He was also elected to the same place in Vanderbilt university and became dean of its medical department. He was a member of the Tennessee state senate in 1857, and of the confederate congress during the civil war.

MENIFEE, RICHARD H., congressman. He was a member of congress from Kentucky from 1837 to 1839. He died Feb. 21, 1841, in Frankfort, Ky.

MENKEN, ADAH ISAACS, actress, poet, was born June 15, 1835, near New Orleans, La. She was an actress of Jewish birth whose name originally was Dolores Adios Fuertes. She was the author of Memories; and Infelicia. She died Aug. 10, 1868, in Paris, France.

MENZIES, JOHN W., lawyer, congressman, was born April 12, 1819, in Fayette county, Ky. In 1841 he established himself in Covington, Ky.; and in 1848 and 1855 was elected to the general assembly of Kentucky. In 1861 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-seventh congress.

MERCEIN, THOMAS FITZ RAN-DOLPH, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 27, 1825, in New York city. He was a methodist clergyman of New York state; and the author of Natural Goodness; The Wise Master Builder; and Childhood and the Church. He died Sept. 15, 1856, in Sheffield, Mass.

MERCER, ANNE JANE, philanthropist, was born in October, 1817, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was well known as a philanthropist of her time. She died April 5, 1886, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MERCER, CHARLES FENTON, soldier, lawyer, congressman, author, was born June 6, 1778, in Fredericksburg, Va. From 1810 to 1817 he was a member of the general assembly of Virginia. In 1813 he was appointed aid to the governor, and rose to the rank of brigadier-general of militia. He was a member of congress from 1817 to 1840. He was the author of The Weakness and Inefficiency of the Government of the United States, which was not published until 1863. He died May 4, 1858, in Howard, Va.

MERCER, DAVID H., lawyer, congressman, was born July 9, 1857, in Benton county, Iowa. He studied law one year and then entered the senior class of the law department of Michigan state university, graduating in 1882, after which he returned to Brownville to practice his profession. He served one term as city clerk and police judge; and was twice elected secretary of the republican state central committee. He moved to Omaha in 1885 and for several years was chairman of the republican city and county committees; and was elected secretary of the national republican congressional committee in 1896. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MERCER, GEORGE A., lawyer, author, was born Feb. 9, 1835, in Savannah, Ga. From 1872-74 he served in the Georgia legislature; and was United States district judge for the southern district of Georgia.

MERCER, HENRY WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born July 13, 1839, in England. He is the author of a temperance work entitled A Root of Bitterness.

MERCER, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1747 in Hampton county, Va. He was a member of the house of burgesses; and a member of all the Virginia conventions, and of the committee of safety. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1779 and 1780; and a judge of admiralty, and of the first court of appeals of Virginia. He died in June, 1793, in Hampton county, Va.

MERCER, JESSE, clergyman, was born Dec. 16, 1769, in Halifax county, N. C. He has filled pastorates in the baptist churches in Pennsylvania; and was the founder of Mercer university. He died Sept. 6, 1841.

MERCER, JOHN FRANCIS, soldier, congressman, governor, was born May 17, 1759, in Stafford county, Va. He was a soldier of the revolution; and was a member of the old congress from Virginia from 1782 to 1785. He was a member, from Maryland, of the convention which framed the federal constitution, but did not sign that instrument. He was a representative in the new congress from 1792 to 1794. He was governor of Maryland from 1801 to 1803; and also a member of the legislature of that state. He died Aug. 30, 1821, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MERCER, MARGARET, philanthropist, author, was born in 1792 in Annapolis, Md. She voluntarily reduced herself from affluence to poverty by freeing her slaves and sending them to Liberia, and she subsequently taught for twenty years in Virginia. She prepared two volumes for her pupils, Studies for Bible Classes; and Ethics, a Series of Lectures to Young Ladies. She died in June, 1846, in Virginia.

MERCUR, ANNA HUBBARD, poet, was born in Lancaster, Mass. While at Rutgers college she took the gold medal for an essay. Her first published poem was set to music for the graduating class by George Root. She has been a constant contributor to magazines and journals, and her letters from France and Germany have been a valuable acquisition to historical literature. She is the author of a work entitled Cosmos and Other Poems, which contains a number of meritorious poems.

MERCUR, JAMES, educator, scientist, author, was born in 1842 in Pennsylvania. He was a scientist and army officer; professor at West Point since 1884; and the author of Elements of the Art of War; and Military Mines, Blasting, and Demolitions. He died in 1896.

MERCUR, ULYSSES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1818, in Towanda, Pa. In 1861 he was appointed president judge of the thirteenth judicial district of Pennsylvania, and elected to the office in October following for a term of ten years, but resigned on being elected, in 1864, a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-ninth congress. He was re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses. He died June 6, 1887, in Wallingford, Pa.

MEREDITH, ELISHA E., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1848, in Sumter county, Ala. He served in the state senate of Virginia from 1883 to 1887; and was presidential elector in 1888. He was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

MEREDITH, SAMUEL, soldier, financier, congressman, was born in 1740 in Philadelphia, Pa. He served for a time in the colonial legislature of Pennsylvania; and was a delegate from that state to the continental congress in 1787 and 1788. On the organization of the federal government he was appointed treasurer of the United States, in which office he continued until 1801, when he resigned. He died March 10, 1817, in Belmont, Pa.

MEREDITH, SOLOMON, soldier, state legislator, was born May 29, 1810, in Guilford county, N. C. He was chosen sheriff of Fort Wayne county, Ind., in 1834 and 1836, thrice elected to legislature in 1846-48, and in 1849 became United States marshal for the district of Indiana. In 1854 he was again chosen to the legislature. In July, 1861, he became colonel of the nineteenth Indiana regiment, which saw its first service in Virginia, and lost half its effective force at Gainesville, where he was wounded. He died Oct. 21, 1875, in Cambridge City, Ind.

MEREDITH, SULLIVAN AMORY, soldier, was born July 5, 1816, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served in the civil war, and was promoted to brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 27, 1874, in Buffalo, N. Y.

MEREDITH, WILLIAM MORRIS, lawyer, was born June 8, 1799, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state constitutional convention of 1837; was secretary of the treasury from 1849 to 1850; and attorney-general of Pennsylvania from 1861 to 1867. He was president of the state constitutional convention of 1872. He died Aug. 17, 1873, in Philadelphia.

MERIAM, EBENEZER, meteorologist, was born June 20, 1794, in Concord, Mass. He was the originator of the theory of cycles of atmospherical phenomena, upon which he published articles that attracted the attention of scientists at home and abroad. He began in 1841, at his own expense, the publication of The Municipal Gazette in New York. He died March 19, 1864, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

MERIWETHER, DAVID, soldier, congressman, was born in 1755 in Virginia. In 1785 he settled in Wilkes county, Ga., which he represented in the legislature for several terms. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1802 to 1807. He died Nov. 16, 1822, near Athens, Ga.

MERIWETHER, DAVID, governor, United States senator, was born Oct. 30, 1800, in Louisa county, Va. He was a senator in congress from Kentucky for one session in 1852; and was appointed in 1853 governor of the territory of New Mexico.

MERIWETHER, MRS. ELIZABETH [AVERY], author, was born in 1832 in Tennessee. She is a novelist of Memphis, Tenn.; and the author of The Master of Red Leaf; Black and White; The Ku Klux Klan; and My First and Last Love.

MERIWETHER, I. A., congressman, was born in Georgia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843.

MERIWETHER, JAMES, congressman, was born in Wilkes county, Ga. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1825 to 1827.

MERIWETHER, LEE, public official, author, was born Dec. 25, 1862, in Columbus, Miss. He is a special agent of the United States bureau of labor; and the author of A Tramp Trip: How to See Europe on Fifty Cents a Day; The Tramp at Home; and Afloat and Ashore on the Mediterranean.

MERKLIN, LEON CHARLES, linguist, was born in 1740 in New Orleans, La. He is known by several treatises on the North American Indian dialects, which he pretended to have learned in trading with the Indians. He died in 1797 in Paris, France.

MERREFIELD, JOSEPH, author, poet, was born Dec. 19, 1820, in Franklin, Ohio. He has been secretary of the Maryland Historical society; president of the society for the Protection of Children, and an officer in many charitable institutions. He is now treasurer of the Johns Hopkins hospital of Baltimore. He is the author of two prose stories; and numerous poems.

MERRELL, EDWARD H., educator, college president, was born April 15, 1835, in New Hartford, N. Y. Since 1862 he has been professor in the Ripon college, Wisconsin, of which institution he was president during 1876-91, and now fills the chair of philosophy.

MERRIAM, AUGUSTUS CHAPMAN, educator, author, was born in 1843 in New York. He was a Greek scholar; adjunct professor of Greek at Columbia college; and the author of Law Code of Gortynia in Crete; Inscriptions on the Obelisk Crab; The Phœnicians of Homer; and Sixth and Seventh Books of Herodotus. He died in 1895.

MERRIAM, CHARLES, publisher, philanthropist, was born Nov. 21, 1806, in West Brookfield, Mass. He was active in benevolent works and contributed $5,000 and numerous books for the establishment of a public library in Springfield. He bequeathed $50,000 to missionary, Bible and other religious societies. He died July 9, 1887, in Springfield, Mass.

MERRIAM, CLINTON HART, naturalist, author, was born in 1855 in New York. He is a naturalist of note, chief of the United States biological survey; and the author of Vertebrates of the Adirondack Region; and Mammals of the Adirondacks.

MERRIAM, CLINTON L., merchant, banker, congressman, was born March 25, 1824, in Leyden, N. Y. He was elected from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican.

MERRIAM, FLORENCE AUGUSTA, author, was born in 1863 in New York. She is a Washington writer; and the author of A-Birding on a Bronco; My Summer in a Mormon Village; and Birds Through an Opera Glass.

MERRIAM, FRANK F., journalist, legislator, was born Dec. 22, 1865, in Hopkinton, Iowa. He is the editor and proprietor of the Hopkinton Leader in Iowa; and served with distinction as a member of the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh general assemblies of the Iowa state legislature.

MERRIAM, GEORGE, publisher, was born Jan. 20, 1803, in Worcester, Mass. In 1831 he removed to Springfield with his brother and established in 1832 the publishing house of G. and C. Merriam. Their earliest publications were law books, editions of the Bible, and school books. He died June 22, 1880, in Springfield, Mass.

MERRIAM, GEORGE SPRING, author, was born in 1843 in Maine. He is the author of A Living Faith; Life and Times of Samuel Bowles; The Way of Life; The Story of William and Lucy Smith; A Symphony of the Spirit; The Chief End of Man; and Reminiscences and Letters of Caroline C. Briggs.

MERRIAM, WILLIAM RUSH, governor, was born July 26, 1849, at Wadham's Mills, N. Y. When eleven years of age he moved with his parents to Minnesota, and has since resided in St. Paul, except when at college in Racine, Wis. For awhile he was clerk in the First National bank; was appointed cashier of the Merchant's National bank in 1873; was elected its vice-president in 1881; and since 1882 has been president of that institution. In 1882 he was elected to the Minnesota state legislature; was again elected in 1886, and was chosen speaker. In 1888 he was elected governor of Minnesota, and received the re-election two years later. He is a liberal contributor to charitable enterprises; has been prominently interested in agricultural matters; has served as vice-president and president of the State Agricultural association.

MERRICK, CAROLINA ELIZABETH, reformer, was born Nov. 24, 1825, in Cottingham Hall, La. She was educated by private tutors, and received instruction from the professors in the college at Jackson, La. She has been president of the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church; and other societies. She formed the first suffrage society in the state of Louisiana, and was elected its president. For ten years she has been the president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Louisiana; and for the same length of time her husband was chief justice of Louisiana.

MERRICK, EDWIN T., lawyer, jurist, was born July 9, 1809, in Wilbraham, Mass. He served as district judge of the Florida parishes and was twice chief justice of Louisiana. He died Jan. 12, 1897.

MERRICK, FREDERICK, educator, college president, was born in 1810, in Wilbraham, Mass. In 1860 he was elected president of the Ohio Wesleyan university, resigning in 1875.

MERRICK, JAMES LYMAN, missionary, author, poet, was born Oct. 11, 1803, in Monson, Mass. During 1834-45 he was a missionary in Persia; and subsequently was pastor of the congregational church of Amherst. He was the author of Pilgrim's Harp, a volume of poems; Life and Religion of Mohammed; and a Genealogy of the Merrick Family. He died June 18, 1866, in Amherst, Mass.

MERRICK, PLINY, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Aug. 2, 1794, in Brookfield, Mass. In 1827 he was a representative in the legislature for Worcester; in 1843 became judge of the court of common pleas; and in 1844 of the municipal court. He was a state senator in 1850; and during 1853-64 was judge of the Massachusetts supreme court. He died Feb. 1, 1867, in Boston, Mass.

MERRICK, SAMUEL VAUGHAN, manufacturer, was born May 4, 1801, in Hallowell, Maine. He studied engineering, and about 1835 established at Philadelphia the Southwark iron foundry, which became the finest work of the kind in this country. He died Aug. 18, 1870, in Philadelphia.

MERRICK, WILLIAM DUHURST, United States senator, was born Oct. 25, 1793, in Annapolis, Md. He served in the United States senate from 1838 to 1845. He was the author of the cheap postage scheme in congress. He died Feb. 5, 1857, in Washington, D. C.

MERRICK, WILLIAM MATTHEWS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1818, in Charles county, Md. In 1854 he was appointed associate judge of the United States circuit court of the District of Columbia; when this court was abolished, in 1863, he retired to Maryland to the practice of his profession. In 1866 and 1867 he was senior professor of law in Columbian college; and was elected to the Maryland legislature in 1870. He was a representative to the forty-second congress as a democrat. In 1885 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. He died Feb. 4, 1889, in Washington, D. C.

MERRILL, AYRES PHILLIPS, physician, author, was born April 17, 1793, in Pittsfield, Mass. He was a physician of Memphis, and subsequently of New York city; and the author of Lectures on Fevers. He died Nov. 3, 1873, in New York.

MERRILL, CHARLES AMOS, lawyer, editor, was born Sept. 23, 1843, in Boston, Mass. He attended the Concord High school; Dartmouth college for two years; and the Wesleyan university for two years, from which latter institution he graduated in 1864; graduated from the Columbia Law school in 1868, and a year later from the Harvard Law school. He has been secretary of sergeant-at-arms of the United States; secretary of Senator Patterson; examiner in division of referred claims of paymaster-general's office; and paymaster's clerk United States army; and editor of the Supplement to the Massachusetts Statutes. He is now one of the foremost lawyers of New England, and has a lucrative practice at Worcester, Mass.

MERRILL, DANIEL, clergyman, author, was born March 18, 1765, in Rowley, Md. After serving three years in the revolutionary army he entered Dartmouth, where he was graduated in 1789. He then studied theology and was licensed to preach in 1791. He was a founder and efficient friend of Waterville college, serving as trustee for twelve years after its organization. He published Eight Letters on Open Communion; Letters Occasioned by the Rev. Samuel Worcester's Two Discourses; Mode and Subjects of Baptism Examined, with a Miniature History of Baptism; and Balaam Disappointed. He died June 3, 1833, in Sedgwick, Maine.

MERRILL, FRANK THAYER, artist, was born in 1848, in Boston, Mass. He has attained success as an artist; among his best known works are: Lalla Rookh; Prince and the Pauper; Courtship of Miles Standish; My Days and Nights on the Battlefield; The Man Without a Country; and Rip Van Winkle.

MERRILL, GEORGE PERKINS, educator, lecturer, author, was born May 31, 1854, in Auburn, Maine. He is a geologist, professor in Columbian university, Washington, from 1893; and the author of Stones for Building and Decoration; and Handbook of the Geological Department, Smithsonian Institution.

MERRILL, GEORGE W., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born June 26, 1837, in Turner, Maine. He entered the union army, and was commissioned first lieutenant of company F, sixtieth regiment of Indiana volunteers; and subsequently to major of his regiment. He removed to Nevada, and engaged in the practice of his profession. He was district attorney for about twelve years; and in 1880 was elected a representative in the state legislature, and at the session of 1881 was elected speaker. In 1883 he was appointed land attorney of the state; and in 1885 was appointed minister resident of the United States to the Hawaiian Islands.

MERRILL, LEWIS, soldier, was born Oct. 28, 1834, in New Berlin, Pa. He organized a regiment of Missouri volunteer cavalry, of which he was appointed colonel, and the regiment was called Merrill's Horse.

MERRILL, MOODY, lawyer, state senator, was born June 27, 1836, in Camp-ton, N. H. In 1868 he was elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives; in 1873-74 was a member of the senate; and after retiring from political life became president of the Highland Street railway of Boston.

MERRILL, ORSAMUS C., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1776 in Vermont. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1817 to 1820. He also held the positions of county attorney for two years; state councillor for four years; state senator for one year; register of probate for two years; and judge of probate for six years. He died April 11, 1865, in Bennington.

MERRILL, SAMUEL, merchant, soldier, legislator, governor, was born Aug. 7, 1822, in Turner, Maine. In 1854 he was elected to the New Hampshire state legislature. He went to Iowa in 1856; and in 1860 was elected to the legislature of that state. He was subsequently elected governor of Iowa, serving in that capacity from 1868 to 1872.

MERRILL, SELAH, clergyman, author, was born May 2, 1837, in Canton, Conn. He is a congregational clergyman and archæologist, United States consul at Jerusalem in 1882-86. He is the author of East of the Jordan; Galilee in the Time of Christ; Greek Inscriptions Collected in 1875-77 East of the Jordan; and The Site of Calvary.

MERRILL, SHERBURN SANBORN, railroad manager, was born July 28, 1818, in Alexandria, N. H. In 1865 he became general manager of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad in Milwaukee.

MERRILL, STEPHEN MASON, bishop, author, was born Sept. 16, 1825, in Jefferson county, Ohio. He is a methodist bishop in Ohio; and the author of Christian Baptism: New Testament Idea of Hell; The Second Coming of Christ: Aspects of Christian Experience; Digest of Methodist Law; Outlines of Thought on Probation; and Mary of Nazareth and Her Family.

MERRILL, WILLIAM BRADFORD, journalist, was born Feb. 27, 1861, in Salisbury, N. H. In 1891 he became managing editor of The New York Press, which position he still holds.

MERRILL, WILLIAM EMORY, military engineer, author, was born Oct. 11, 1837, in Wisconsin. He is a military engineer in the United States army; and the author of Iron Truss Bridges; and Improvement of Tidal Rivers.

MERRIMAN, EDWARD MUNROE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 11, 1843, in Auburn, N. Y. In 1867 he graduated from the United States Military academy of West Point; and during 1867-71 was lieutenant in the first regiment United States artillery. He is a successful lawyer in Little Rock, Ark.; and for four successive terms has been judge of the county court of Arkansas.

MERRIMAN, MANSFIELD, civil engineer, educator, author, was born March 27, 1848, in Southington, Conn. He is a civil engineer, professor at Lehigh university since 1881; and the author of Continuous Bridges; Elements of the Method of Least Squares; The Figure of the Earth; Mechanics of Materials; Treatise on Hydraulics; Text-Book on Retaining Walls and Masonry Dams; Introduction to Geodetic Surveying; and Text-Book on Roofs and Bridges.

MERRIMAN, TRUMAN ADAMS, soldier, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Sept. 5, 1839, in Anburn, N. Y. He entered the union army in 1861 as captain in the ninety-second New York infantry, and was mustered out of service in 1864 as lieutenant-colonel. In 1884 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-ninth congress, and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

MERRIMON, AUGUSTUS SUMMERFIELD, jurist, legislator, United States senator, was born Sept. 15, 1830, in North Carolina. He was a member of the legislature of North Carolina in 1860, and was elected a judge of the superior court in 1866, but in 1867 resigned rather than obey a military order. He was elected to the United States senate for the term commencing in 1873 and ending in 1879.

MERRITT, ANNA LEA, artist, author, was born Sept. 13, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. Of her pictures Eve Overcome by Remorse has attracted the most attention. She published a memorial of her husband entitled Henry Merritt's Art Criticism and Romance, with Recollections and Twenty-three Etchings.

MERRITT, SAMUEL A., state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1828, in Staunton, Va. He was county clerk in California in 1850; a member of the state assembly in 1851 and 1852; a member of the state senate in 1857-62, and was elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat.

MERRITT, TIMOTHY, clergyman, journalist, was born in October, 1775, in Barkhamsted, Conn. He was a methodist clergyman and journalist, and the author of Christian Manual; Convert's Guide; Discussion Against Universal Salvation; Validity of Infant Baptism; and Lectures on Universal Salvation. He died May 2, 1845, in Lynn, Mass.

MERRITT, WESLEY, soldier, was born June 16, 1836, in New York city. For gallant and meritorious services during the battle of Gettysburg he was brevetted major.

MERTON, HOLMES WHITTIER, lecturer, author, was born April 5, 1860, in Lebanon, Ohio. He has delivered a thousand lectures on human government and education; and has discovered important laws in biology and physiology. Among his works are Descriptive Mentality; and The Harmonic Republic. In painting he has executed the Muscles of an Athlete; with many large paintings on anatomy and histology.

MERVIN, ORANGE, congressman, was born in Litchfield, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1825 to 1829.

MERVINE, WILLIAM, naval officer, was born in 1790 in Pennsylvania. He entered the navy, and was made midshipman in 1809. He was placed on the retired list in 1861, promoted commodore in 1862 and rear-admiral in 1866. He died Sept. 15, 1868, in Utica, N. Y.

MERWIN, ELIAS, lawyer, author, was born in 1825 in Connecticut. He was a Boston lawyer, professor of equity in Boston university from 1854, and the author of The Principles of Equity and Equity Pleading. He died in 1891.

MERWIN, J. B., journalist. As the editor of the American Journal of Education his power has been felt throughout the United States, for, with pen and voice, he is constantly pleading for large and better systems of education.

MESERVE, FRANK PIERCE, merchant, was born Nov. 30, 1852, in Rochester, N. H. He attended the West Lebanon academy, Maine, and subsequently moved to Redlands, Cal., where he is a successful clothing merchant. For four years he was a member of the city council, and for two years was library trustee. In 1894 he was a candidate for the California state assembly. He is a prominent member of various fraternal orders, and takes an active part in public affairs.

MESICK, WILLIAM S., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 26, 1856, in Newark, N. Y. Since 1881 he has been in active practice of the law; and held the office of prosecuting attorney of Antrim county, Mich., for one term. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MESSENGER, LILLIAN ROZELL, poet, was born in 1853 in Kentucky. In 1886 she published a volume of prose and verse entitled Fragments from an Old Inn; and the following year appeared The Vision of Gold, and Other Poems; and The Southern Cross is her latest volume. These works contain many rare gems of thought that entitle her to a laurel wreath of fame as a national poet.

MESSER, ASA, educator, college president, was born in 1769 in Methuen, Mass. After six years of service he was advanced in 1796 to the professorship of learned languages in the Brown university. In 1799 he was transferred to the chair of mathematics and natural philosophy, and on the resignation of Jonathan Maxcy in 1802 was appointed president of the college. He died Oct. 11, 1836, in Providence, R. I.

MESSINGER, ROBERT HINCKLEY, poet, was born in 1811 in Boston, Mass. His poems were written between 1827 and 1832, and appeared in the New York American. The principal one, Give Me the Old, was published in that journal in 1838. He died Oct. 1, 1874, in Stamford, Conn.

MESSLER, ABRAHAM, clergyman, was born Nov. 15, 1800, in Whitehouse, N. J. He was pastor of the reformed Dutch churches in Pompton Plains and in Montville from 1829 till 1832, and became subsequently pastor of the churches of this denomination in Raritan and Somerville, N. J. His publications include Fruits of Early Piety; St. Paul's Gratitude to Onesiphorus; and Sermon on the Death of President Lincoln. He died June 12, 1882, in Somerville, N. J.

MESSMER, SEBASTIAN SEBBARD, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 29, 1847, in Switzerland. For eight years he was professor of theology in South Orange, N. J., and for two years professor of canon law in the Catholic university of Washington, D. C. Since 1892 he has been bishop of the diocese of Green Bay, Wis.

METCALF, ARUNAH, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1811 to 1813; and subsequently served four years in the assembly of New York from Otsego county.

METCALF, LORETTUS SUTTON, journalist, was born Oct. 17, 1837, in Monmouth, Maine. In 1886 he founded The Forum, of which he was editor-in-chief for five years, when he moved to Florida and established in Jacksonville The Florida Citizen.

METCALF, MASON JEROME, inventor, was born Oct. 16, 1807, in Fairfax, Maine. His most important invention was a method of producing letter-stencils by means of dies, which he was the first to practice and bring into use. He died July 23, 1883, in Monmouth, Maine.

METCALF, RALPH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 21, 1798, in Charlestown, N. H. He began the practice of law at Newport, N. H., in 1826, and was secretary of state for several years from 1830. He was register of probate for Sullivan county in 1845, and was chairman of the committee for compiling the laws of the state in 1852. He was governor of New Hampshire in 1855 and 1856. He died Aug. 26, 1858, in Claremont, N. H.

METCALF, RICHARD, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 19, 1829, in Providence, R. I. He was a unitarian clergyman, pastor at Winchester, Mass., in 1866-81; and the author of Letter and Spirit; and The Abiding Memory, a collection of Sermons. He died June 30, 1881, in Winchester, Mass.

METCALF, THERON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 16, 1784, in Franklin, Mass. He was a jurist of Massachusetts; and the author of Principles of the Law of Contracts; Digest of Massachusetts Supreme Court Cases in 1816-23; and Reports, in 1840-49. He died Nov. 12, 1875, in Boston, Mass.

METCALFE, HENRY, educator, author, was born Oct. 29, 1847, in New York city. He is an instructor of ordnance at West Point who has published The Cost of Manufactures; and Ordnance and Gun-nery.

METCALFE, HENRY B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1805, in Albany, N. Y. He was county judge from 1847 to 1874, when he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress.

METCALFE, JOHN A., lawyer, orator, was born April 19, 1853, in Clark county, Ky. For many years he taught school in Illinois, and since 1884 has practiced law in Iowa, and has a lucrative practice in Newton. As a political orator he is well known in the west, and lectured extensively during the political campaign of 1896, gaining a reputation as a brilliant and patriotic platform speaker.

METCALFE, LYNE SHACKELFORD, soldier, merchant, congressman, was born April 21, 1822, in Madisonville, Ky. He moved to St. Louis, Mo., in 1863; served in the city council there, and was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

METCALFE, SAMUEL L., scientist, physician, author, was born Sept. 21, 1798, near Winchester, Va. He was a physician and scientist of New York city, and the author of Narratives of Indian Warfare in the West; New Theory of Terrestrial Magnetism; and Caloric. He died July 17, 1856, in Cape May, N. J.

METCALFE, THOMAS, soldier, state legislator, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born March 20, 1780, in Fauquier county, Va. He was a member of the Kentucky legislature for several years. He was a representative in congress from 1819 to 1829, when he was elected governor of Kentucky, which office he held until 1833. In 1834 he was elected to the state senate, and in 1840 was chosen president of the board of internal improvement. In 1848 he was appointed and elected to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Crittenden in the senate of the United States. He died Aug. 18, 1855, in Nicholas county, Ky.

METEER, JOHN, lawyer, journalist, was born Dec. 11, 1872, in Parsons, Kan. He is the editor and part owner of The Advocate of Richfield, Utah; and a lawyer of that city. He is prominent in political affairs; was twice elected chairman of the Richfield republicans; and has taken an active part in the material advancement of his city and county.

METTKE, HANS, musician, composer, was born July 24, 1856, in Posen. He has published numerous compositions for voice, piano and orchestra, and is the author of numerous letters on musical history.

MEYER, ADOLPH, soldier, planter, congressman, was born Oct. 19, 1842. He was elected from Louisiana to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

MEYER, CORNELIA BEEBEE, the wife of the Hon. John Meyer of Newton, Iowa, was born Sept. 8, 1832, in Bristol, N. Y. In 1853 she graduated from the Oberlin college, Ohio, and was one of the most active, persevering and self-sacrificing for others' good in her time. Previously she had received the rudiments of her education in the public schools, in which she also was a teacher. She was an untiring worker and leader during the war in the Woman's Relief corps; and was ever active in the Woman's Christian Temperance union, Young Men's Christian association, the W. S. A. and the Y. P. S. C. E., always spending her time in things promotive for good. In 1853 she was married to Mr. Meyer, and was a leader in the religious and educational affairs of Newton, Iowa, until her death on July 24, 1895.

MEYER, JOHN, soldier, farmer, merchant, legislator, was born Feb. 26, 1826, near Bellefonte, Pa. In 1846 he attended the Mifflinburg academy, Pennsylvania; in 1853 he graduated from the Oberlin college, Ohio, and subsequently taught in the common and academic schools, and in Oberlin college. In 1861 he was a representative in the ninth general assembly of Iowa. In 1862 he was captain of company K, twenty-eighth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry; served three years in the war; was in many hard-fought battles, and for bravery was commissioned major and colonel. In 1865 he was elected state senator, and served in the eleventh and twelfth assemblies, and again served with distinction in the seventeenth and eighteenth general assemblies. In 1878 he was a Grant elector; has been trustee and treasurer of the Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' home; has been a trustee of the Iowa college since 1860; for sixteen years was chairman of the committee of instruction and instructors; for twelve years was president of the school board; for ten years was city councilman of Newton, Iowa; and was an original abolitionist and a conductor on the underground railroad.

MEYER, LUCY RIDER, educator, journalist, author, was born in September, 1849, in Weybridge, Vt. She is the founder and principal of the Chicago Training school; also founder of the deaconess work of the methodist episcopal church of America; and editor-in-chief of the Deaconess Advocate.

MEYERHARDT, MAX, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 24, 1855, in Germany. When a year old he came to America with his parents, and was educated in Nashville, Tenn., and Rome, Ga. He is an able lawyer of Rome, Ga., of which city he has been a member of the board of education for fourteen years. He has been city attorney and county attorney; and has served with distinction as judge of his city and county. He is a prominent Mason, and has filled several of the highest offices in that order.

MEYERS, BENJAMIN F., journalist, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born July 6, 1833, in Centerville, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature in 1864, and a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1864. He became editor and proprietor of the Bedford Gazette in 1857, and one of the proprietors and editor-in-chief of the Harrisburg Daily Patriot in 1868. He was elected to the forty-second congress.

MICHEL, JOHN ALFRED, public official, financier, was born Aug. 7, 1836, in New Orleans, La. He has filled numerous positions of trust in Brownsville, Texas; has been county assessor, president of the city council, collector of taxes, and during 1893-97 was collector of customs for the district of Brazos de Santiago.

MICHEL, JOHN T., lawyer, legislator, was born in May, 1838, in Jefferson, La. In 1892 he was elected a member of the Louisiana house of representatives, and in 1896 he was secretary of state of Louisiana.

MICHELSON, ALBERT ABRAHAM, physicist, author, was born Dec. 19, 1852, in Poland. His researches at the United States naval academy during 1878-80 resulted in his experimental determination of the velocity of light as 186,305 miles a second.

MICHIE, PETER SMITH, engineer, educator, author, was born March 24, 1839, in Scotland. He is a military engineer, professor of mathematics at West Point since 1871, and the author of Wave Motion Relating to Sound and Light; Life of General Upton; Analytical Mechanics; Hydromechanics; and Practical Astronomy.

MIDDLESWARTH, NER, state legislator, congressman, was born about 1780 in New Jersey. On moving to Pennsylvania he was elected to the state legislature and made speaker. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855. He died June 2, 1865, in Beavertown, Pa.

MIDDLETON, ARTHUR, signer of the declaration of independence, was born June 26, 1742, in Middleton Place, S. C. He was the author of the first draft of the South Carolina state constitution. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1776 to 1778, and again from 1781 to 1783, and signed the declaration of independence. He served frequently in the state legislature. He died Jan. 1, 1787, in Goose Creek, S. C.

MIDDLETON, EDWARD, naval officer. He entered the United States navy in 1828, and in 1876 was made rear-admiral. He died April 27, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

MIDDLETON, GEORGE, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 14, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was twice elected to the legislature of New Jersey, and was elected a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-eighth congress.

MIDDLETON, HENRY, congressman, was born in 1717 in South Carolina. He was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress from 1774 to 1776, and was the second member called to officiate as president of that body. He died June 13, 1784, in Charleston, S. C.

MIDDLETON, HENRY, state legislator, state senator, congressman, governor, was born in 1771 in Middleton Place, S. C. He was chosen a representative in the South Carolina state legislature in 1801, and then state senator until elected governor in 1810. From 1815 to 1819 he was a representative in congress, and in 1820 was appointed minister to Russia, which position he filled for many years. He died June 14, 1846, in Charleston, S. C.

MIDDLETON, HENRY, author, was born March 16, 1797, in France. He was a prominent writer of Charleston, and the author of Prospects of Disunion; The Government and the Currency; Economical Causes of Slavery in the United States, and Obstacles to Its Abolition; The Government of India; and Universal Suffrage. He died March 15, 1878, in Washington, D. C.

MIDDLETON, JOHN IZARD, author, was born in 1785 in Middleton Place, S. C. His work on Grecian Remains in Italy, etc., was the first contribution made by an American to the knowledge of classical antiquity. He died in November, 1849, in France.

MIDDLETON, JOHN IZARD, state legislator, was born Feb. 3, 1800, in Middleton Place, S. C. He became a large rice planter in Prince George, S. C., representing that parish in the state legislature from 1832 till 1840, and in 1848 was speaker of the house. He died Jan. 12, 1877, in Summerville, S. C.

MIEGE, JOHN BAPTIST, bishop, was born Sept. 18, 1815, in Savoy. In 1851 he was consecrated bishop of Messina; and shortly afterward built an industrial school for the Osages. In 1877 he founded a college in Detroit, Mich. He died July 20, 1884, in Woodstock, Md.

MIELZINER, MOSES, rabbi, author, was born in 1828 in Germany. In 1879 he was elected professor of the Talmud and the rabbinical disciplines of the Hebrew Union college of Cincinnati, Ohio. He has also published a number of sermons, lectures, and scholarly articles in German, Danish and English, and some occasional poems in classical Hebrew.

MIERS, ROBERT W., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 27, 1848, in Decatur county, Ind.

He is a graduate of both the literary and the law departments of Indiana university, and commenced the practice of law at Bloomington, Ind., in April, 1872. He was elected prosecuting attorney for the tenth judicial circuit of Indiana in 1875, and re-elected in 1877. He was elected to the house of representatives of the Indiana legislature in 1879, and was a trustee of the Indiana university from 1881 to 1893. He was appointed judge of the tenth judicial circuit of Indiana in 1883 to fill an unexpired term, and was elected judge of the same circuit in 1890 and served as judge until 1896. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

MIFFLIN, THOMAS, soldier, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born in 1744 in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1772 he was a representative from Philadelphia in the provincial assembly, and was a delegate to the continental congress from Pennsylvania from 1774 to 1776. He distinguished himself as major in the army at the battle of Lexington, and in 1777 attained the rank of major-general. In 1782 he was again sent as a delegate to the continental congress, serving until 1783, and was president of that body. In 1785 he was speaker of the state legislature, and in 1787 was a member of the convention which framed the constitution of the United States, and signed that instrument. In 1788 he was made president of the supreme executive council. In 1790 he was a member of the convention for framing the state constitution of Pennsylvania, and was chosen first governor, and served nine years, and was again sent to the legislature. He died Jan. 20, 1800, in Lancaster, Pa.

MIFFLIN, WARNER, reformer, was born Oct. 21, 1745, in Accomac county, Va. His efforts to bring about emancipation of slaves were untiring. He died Oct. 16, 1798, in Camden, Del.

MIGNOT, LOUIS REMY, painter, was born in 1831 in Charleston, S. C. Among his earlier pictures are Twilight in the Tropics; Southern Harvest; Tropical Scenery; and Source of the Susquehanna, which was exhibited at the Paris exposition of 1867. He also painted Niagara, a view from the American side. He exhibited at the Royal academy in London, Lagoon of Guayaquil, South America; and A Winter Morning, in 1863; Evening in the Tropics, in 1865; and Under the Equator, in 1866. He died in September, 1870, in England.

MILAM, JOHN HENRY, lawyer, was born Dec. 5, 1865, in Warren county, N. C. He attended the Oakville academy and the university of North Carolina, and is now one of the leading lawyers of the south, at Warrenton, N. C.

MILBURN, WILLIAM E. F., soldier, educator, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 15, 1842, in Milburnton, Tenn. In 1871 he graduated from the Grant university, and in 1874 from the university of Michigan, with the degree of A. M. During the war he served in the United States army as first sergeant and first lieutenant in company B, twelfth regiment Tennessee volunteer cavalry, and was in twenty-seven engagements. During 1871-73 he was professor of mathematics in the Grant university; has been a member of the board of education of Greeneville, Tenn.; a director in the Greene County bank, and commander of the department of Tennessee, Grand Army of the Republic. For four years he served with distinction as a member of the Tennessee state legislature, and is one of the foremost lawyers of the south.

MILBURN, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 26, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a methodist clergyman, famous as the blind preacher, who has been six times chaplain of the United States house of representatives; and the author of Rifle, Axe, and Saddle Bags; Ten Years of Preacher Life; and Pioneers and People of the Mississippi Valley. He has also contributed extensively to current and religious publications of the United States.

MILES, FREDERICK, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 19, 1815, in Goshen, Conn. He was elected a state senator for a term of two years, resigned in 1879, having been elected a representative from Connecticut to the forty-sixth congress. He was re-elected to the forty-seventh congress; declined a re-nomination; and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

MILES, GEORGE HENRY, lawyer, educator, author, poet, was born July 31, 1824, in Baltimore, Md. He was a Maryland lawyer and educator, and professor of English literature at Mount St. Mary's college, Emmetsburg, Md. Besides his dramas, Cromwell; Mahomet; De Soto, he published Christine, and Other Poems; Abu Hassan the Wag, or the Sleeper Awakened; A Review of Hamlet; and The Truce of God. He died July 23, 1871, in Emmetsburg, Md.

MILES, GEORGE WASHINGTON, educator, scientist, was born May 14, 1859, in Fort Adams, Miss. He graduated from the State university of Missouri with the degree of M. S. He has attained success in educational work; has been superintendent of schools; and is now professor of geology, mineralogy and astronomy in the New Mexico college of agriculture and mechanic arts of Mesilla Park, N. M.

He has accomplished considerable original work in astronomy and geology, and received the astronomical medal when he graduated with the degree of A. B. at the Missouri State university in 1884. He has since contributed many valuable articles to scientific papers, and is a member of various scientific associations.

MILES, HENRY ADOLPHUS, clergyman, author, was born May 30, 1809, in Grafton, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of eastern Massachusetts, and the author of Lowell as It Was and Is; Grains of Gold; Gospel Narratives; Words of a Friend; Modern Ideas of the Birth of Jesus; and Traces of Picture Writing in the Bible. He died in 1895.

MILES, JAMES WARLEY, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 24, 1818, in Charleston, S. C. He was an episcopal clergyman of Charleston, and the author of Philosophic Theology, or Ultimate Grounds of all Religious Belief Based on Reason. He died in August, 1875, in Charleston, S. C.

MILES, JOSHUA WELDON, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 9, 1858, in Somerset county, Md. He was elected state's attorney of Somerset county, Md., in 1893, and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

MILES, NELSON APPLETON, soldier, author, was born Aug. 8, 1839, in Westminster, Mass. He is a noted soldier of the United States army who served as a brigadier-general of volunteers during the civil war. He became a major-general in 1890. He has successfully conducted Indian campaigns, and has on several occasions prevented Indian wars by judicious and humane settlement of difficulties without the use of military power. He is now commander-in-chief of the United States army. He is the author of Personal Recollections.

MILES, PLINY, traveler, author, was born Nov. 16, 1818, in Watertown, N. Y. He was a traveler who made his home in London in his later years, and the author of Statistical Register; Elements of Mnemotechny, or Art of Memory; Northufari, or Rambles in Iceland; Ocean Steam Navigation; and Postal Reform. He died April 7, 1865, on the Island of Malt.

MILES, RICHARD PIUS, Roman catholic bishop, was born May 17, 1791, in Prince George county, Md. In 1837 the see of Nashville, embracing the state of Tennessee, was created, and in 1838 he was consecrated its first bishop. He died Feb. 17, 1860, in Nashville, Tenn.

MILES, THADDEUS WHITE, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 11, 1874, in Carthage, Mo. He received his education at the Friends' Polytechnic institute and the Capital Business college of Salem, Ore. He has taught in the commercial and shorthand departments of the Southern Oregon State Normal school, and is now engaged in the practice of law.

MILES, WILLIAM PORCHER, educator, soldier, congressman, was born July 4, 1828, in Charleston, S. C. He was for several years assistant professor of mathematics in Charleston college. He was mayor of Charleston in 1856 and 1857. He was elected a representative from South Carolina to the thirty-fifth congress, and re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress; was elected a member of the South Carolina seceding convention in 1860; and resigned his seat in congress. He served as a colonel in the confederate army and as a member of the confederate congress.

MILEY, JOHN, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1813 in Ohio. He was a methodist minister and educator; and professor of systematic theology in Drew seminary, Madison, N. J., since 1873. He was the author of The Atonement in Christ; and Systematic Theology. He died in 1895.

MILHAN, JOHN J. DE, soldier, physician, was born Dec. 23, 1828, in France. He served through the civil war and for meritorious services received the rank of brigadier-general.

MILLAR, A. B., educator, college president, was born Oct. 16, 1829, in Brownsville, Pa. In 1853 he graduated from the Waynesburg college; and for forty years has been its president.

MILLAR, ALEXANDER COPELAND, educator, clergyman, state legislator, was born May 17, 1861, in McKeesport, Pa. He has served as a member of the state legislature; and is now the president of Hendricks college of Conway, Ark.

MILLARD, DAVID, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 24, 1794, in Ballston, N. Y. He was a minister of the christian denomination, professor at Meadville seminary, Pennsylvania, in 1845-67; and the author of The True Messiah Exalted; and Journal of Travels in Egypt. He died Aug. 3, 1873, in Jackson, Mich.

MILLARD, DAVID E., clergyman, author, was born March 16, 1829, in West Bloomfield, N. Y. In 1852 he graduated from the Meadville Theological seminary of Pennsylvania. He has filled pastorates in his native city, in New Bedford, Mass., Jackson, Marshall, and Belding, Mich.; and has been president of the Michigan christian conference. During the war Mr. Millard and his wife were united in the military agency under the appointment of the governor of Michigan, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., and did most efficient service. He is the author of numerous religious and secular articles, and a poet of rare ability.

MILLARD, H. HIRST, clergyman, was born Jan. 20, 1857, in Arcola, Va. He attended Mount Vernon college and the Drew Theological seminary, receiving the degree of A. M. He is one of the most eloquent and popular clergymen of the north Nebraska conference; and is now pastor of the methodist episcopal church of Wayne, Neb.

MILLARD, HARRISON, soldier, musician, poet, was born Nov. 27, 1829, in Boston, Mass. His best-known songs are Waiting; When the Tide Comes In; Viva L'America; Under the Daisies; and Say not Farewell.

MILLARD, STEPHEN C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1841, in Stanford, Vt. He was elected to the forty-eighth congress from New York; and received the re-election to the forty-ninth congress.

MILLEDDGE, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born in Savannah, Ga. He served in the Georgia legislature; in 1780 was appointed attorney-general of the state, and governor in 1802. He was a representative in congress from 1792 to 1802, excepting one term; and a senator of the United States from 1806 to 1809. He was the principal founder of the university of Georgia, and presented the land which forms its site. He died Feb. 9, 1818, in Sand Hills.

MILLEDOIER, PHILIP, college president, was born Sept. 22, 1775, in Rhinebeck, N. Y. He was for several years president of Rutgers college, New Jersey; and was one of the founders of the American Bible society. In 1800 he moved to Philadelphia; was settled over the Third Presbyterian church; and in 1804 became pastor of the Collegiate Presbyterian churches in New York city, with special care of the Rutgers Street church in 1805. His publications include many sermons and addresses. He died Sept. 23, 1852, on Staten Island, N. Y.

MILLEN, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1804, in Savannah, Ga. He served in the legislature of Georgia. He was elected from Georgia to the national house of representatives in the twenty-eighth congress. He died Oct. 15, 1843, near Savannah, Ga.

MILLEN, LORING R., railroad president, was born Oct. 9, 1857, in Savannah, Ga. Since 1888 he has been president of the Millen and Southern railway.

MILLER, A. C., physician, lecturer, was born Sept. 7, 1832, in Salt Creek, Ohio. During the entire civil war he served as surgeon. In 1875 he settled in Cleveland, Ohio, and took a leading part in the reorganization of the faculty of the medical department of the Wooster university. He died June 21, 1886.

MILLER, A. C., educator, college president. In 1887 he was called to the presidency of Hendrix college, which was then called the Central Collegiate institute, which office he still holds.

MILLER, ADALINE DICKMAN, educator, editor, was born July 26, 1859, in West Union, Iowa. She received the degree of B. S. from the Western college of Toledo, Iowa; and received the degree of M. S. from the same institution three years later. She has filled the chair of history and literature, and also ancient languages, in the Avalon college, Mo. She has also taught German in various institutions. She has contributed extensively to current literature; and has been the editor of various publications.

MILLER, ANDREW G., lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He was an early emigrant to Wisconsin; and was one of the earliest territorial judges. About the year 1849 he was appointed United States judge for the district of Wisconsin, residing at Milwaukee.

MILLER, MRS. ANNIE [JENNESS], publisher, author, was born in 1859 in New Hampshire. She is a dress reformer of New York city, publisher of The Jenness Miller Magazine; and the author of Physical Beauty; Mother and Babe; and Barbara Thayer, a novel.

MILLER, CHARLES HENRY, artist, author, was born March 20, 1842, in New York city. This well-known landscape painter was called by Bayard Taylor the artistic discoverer of the little continent of Long Island. He is president of the Art club of New York, and other societies. He is the author of The Philosophy of Art in America.

MILLER, CHARLES RANSOM, journalist, was born Jan. 17, 1849, in Hanover, N. H. In 1872 he graduated from Dartmouth college; and for several years was associated with the Springfield Republican. Since 1879 he has been connected with the New York Times; after serving in various capacities he became editorial writer in 1881; and since 1883 has been editor-in-chief of that publication.

MILLER, CINCINNATUS HINER—Joaquin Miller—author, poet, was born Nov. 10, 1841, in Wabash district, Ind. He is a poet and prose writer who, after a life of adventure in California, went to London in 1870, and speedily became famous as the author of Songs of the Sierras. Since 1887 he has lived in Oakland, Cal. He is the author of Songs of the Sierras; The Ship of the Desert; Songs of the Sunland; in prose: The Danites in the Sierras; Shadows of Shasta; Memorie and Rime; '49, or the Gold Seekers of the Sierras; The One Fair Woman; The Destruction of Gotham; and The Building of the City Beautiful, a poetic romance.

MILLER, DANIEL F., lawyer, legislator, poet, was born Oct. 4, 1814, near Frostburgh, Md. For forty years Mr. Miller was a member of the Iowa territorial legislature, and during 1850-51 was a member of congress. Since 1835 he has followed the profession of law, and is now a resident of Keokuk, Iowa. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

MILLER, DANIEL H., congressman, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1823 to 1831. He died about 1880.

MILLER, EDMUND BOSTON, clergyman, was born Feb. 2, 1853, in Greenville, S. C. He attended the Southwestern Baptist university of Jackson, Tenn., during 1876-80; and the Southern Baptist Theological seminary of Louisville, Ky., during 1880-83, and received the degree of D. D. During 1883-93 he was pastor of the First Baptist church of Grenada, Miss.; and since 1893 has been pastor of the First Baptist church of Arkadelphia, Ark. In 1892-93 he was vice-president of the home mission board; in 1895-97 was vice-president of the foreign mission board; and since 1893 he has been financial secretary of the board of ministerial education, Ouachita college.

MILLER, EDWARD, physician, lecturer, was born May 9, 1760, in Dover, Del. He became resident physician of New York city in 1803, professor of the practice of medicine in the university of New York in 1807, and clinical lecturer in New York hospital in 1809. He died March 17, 1812, in New York city.

MILLER, ELEAZER HUTCHINSON, artist, was born Feb. 28, 1831, in Shepherdstown, Va. He has attained a national reputation as a successful artist. He took up that fascinating but difficult branch of the fine arts, and achieved a marked success.

MILLER, ELIHU SPENCER, lawyer, educator, author, poet, was born Sept. 3, 1817, in Princeton, N. J. He was a lawyer of Philadelphia; professor in the university of Pennsylvania; and the author of Treatise on the Law of Partition by Writ in Pennsylvania; and Caprices, a volume of verse. He died March 6, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MILLER, MRS. EMILY HUNTINGTON, educator, author, was born in 1833 in Connecticut. She is an educator of Evans-ton, Ill., president of the Woman's college of the Northwestern university, and a popular writer of semi-religious fiction for young people. She is the author of From Avalon, and Other Poems; The Royal Road to Fortune; The Kirkwood Series; Captain Fritz; and Little Neighbors.

MILLER, EZRA, inventor, jurist, lawyer, state senator, was born May 12, 1812, in New Jersey. In 1842 he moved to Wisconsin and settled in Magnolia, where he was soon elected justice of the peace for two terms. In 1852 he was chosen a state senator and served one term, refusing a renomination.

MILLER, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, naval officer, was born June 12, 1842, in Elkton, Md. In 1861 he entered the navy as a volunteer officer; served during the civil war; and three years after it was transferred to the regular service. In 1870 he was commissioned a lieutenant; was promoted to lieutenant commander in 1882; and retired in 1885. In 1877 he was connected with the bureau of equipment; during 1877-79 was on the Portsmouth, engaged in special service; also on special service during 1879-81 on the Ticonderoga; and the Colorado in 1881-83.

MILLER, GEORGE F., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 5, 1809, in Chillisquaquo, Pa. He was secretary of the Lewisburg university in Pennsylvania. In 1864 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-ninth congress; and re-elected to the fortieth congress.

MILLER, GEORGE M., educator, poet, was born May 21, 1872, in Cleversburg, Pa. After receiving a liberal education he entered educational work. He has contributed extensively to the periodical press, and is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

MILLER, MRS. HARRIET MANN, author, was born in 1831 in New York. She is a writer of Brooklyn; and the author of A Bird-Lover in the West; Little Brothers of the Air; Bird-Ways; In Nesting Time; Four-Handed Folk; Little Folks in Feathers and Fur; Nimpo's Troubles; Queer Pets at Marcy's; Our Home Pets; and Little People of Asia.

MILLER, HENRY, physician, educator, author, was born Nov. 1, 1800, in Lexington, Ky. He was professor of obstetrics and the diseases of women and children in Louisville university till 1869, when he became professor emeritus. He published A Treatise on Human Parturition. He died Feb. 9, 1874, in Louisville, Ky.

MILLER, HENRY, educator, merchant, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 19, 1849, in Germany. In 1892 he was elected municipal judge of Marathon county, Wis.; and two years later became county judge. In 1897 he was again elected to the latter office for term ending in 1902.

MILLER, HENRY C., pioneer, farmer, was born April 17, 1820, in Clermont county, Ohio. He moved to Decatur county, Ind., when it was an unbroken forest, abounding in deer, wolves and bears. He helped to build the first railroad in the state; has been a justice of the peace; has filled various positions of trust; and received the nomination for representative in the Indiana state legislature.

MILLER, HERBERT J., journalist, state senator, was born July 13, 1855, in Deerfield, Wis. He is the editor and owner of the Rock County Herald of Luverne, Minn. In 1894 he was elected to the Minnesota state senate, receiving the re-election in 1898.

MILLER, HOMER VIRGIL MILTON, United States senator, was born April 29, 1814, in Pendleton district, S. C. In 1863 he was elected a United States senator from Georgia; and in 1890 was appointed principal physician of the penitentiary of Georgia.

MILLER, HUGH J., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 31, 1866, in Genoa, Minn. He received a liberal education in the public school; was engaged in educational work for five years; and subsequently graduated from the university of Michigan with the degree of LL. B. He has attained success as a lawyer in Livingston, Mont; has been county attorney of Park county during 1891-94; and has held various other public positions of trust. On April 19, 1897, Gov. Robert B. Smith appointed him judge advocate of Montana, with the rank of major, on his official staff.

MILLER, IRVIN, clergyman, legislator, was born Nov. 11, 1836, in Lebanon, Ky. In 1855 he moved to Mississippi; served in the confederate army in company K, second regiment Mississippi cavalry, Gen. Armstrong's brigade. In 1865 he was licensed to preach; was ordained deacon in 1869; and elder in 1873; and has since attained prominence as a successful clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, south. In 1890 he represented Leake county in the Mississippi constitutional convention; and in 1896 served as a member of the Mississippi state senate.

MILLER, IRVING J. A., journalist, poet, was born Oct. 14, 1866, in Worcester, Ohio. He is the author of a volume entitled Fireside Poems.

MILLER, J. ALLEN, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Aug. 2, 1866, in Rossville, Ind. He was a member of the parliament of religions during the Columbian exposition. This popular educator is the president of the Ashland university, Ohio.

MILLER, JACOB, soldier, musician, artist, was born July 24, 1833, in Germany. Early in life he took an active interest in revolutionary movements, and in 1853 emigrated to the United States. During the civil war he served in the third regiment Wisconsin volunteer cavalry, and served on detail duty most of the time. Since 1859 he has been prominently identified with the business and public affairs of Menomonic, Wis.; has been treasurer for a number of years, and filled various other positions of trust. He is a musician of ability, and for many years taught music and drawing, and his paintings have received first premiums in numerous art exhibitions.

MILLER, JACOB F., lawyer, state legislator, was born Nov. 25, 1837, in Claverack, N. Y. In 1861 he was admitted to the bar; and has practiced his profession in the city of New York since that time. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1883.

MILLER, JACOB WELSH, lawyer, United States senator, was born in November, 1800, in German Valley, N. J. He was a senator in congress from New Jersey from 1841 until 1853. He died Sept. 30, 1862, in Morristown, N. J.

MILLER, JAMES, soldier, governor, was born April 25, 1776, in Peterborough, N. H. He entered the army in 1808 as a major; in 1812 was brevetted a colonel for gallantry at Fort George; and was subsequently made a major-general and received a gold medal from congress. He was made governor of the territory of Arkansas, where he served until 1825; and from that year until 1849 was collector of customs at Salem, Mass. He died July 7, 1851, in Temple, N. H.

MILLER, JAMES FERGURSON, naval officer, was born April 29, 1805, in Peterborough, N. H. He served through the Mexican war, but in consequence of African fever, from which he never fully recovered, was placed in the reserved list in 1855. He became commander on the retired list in 1861, and commodore in 1867. He died July 11, 1868, in Boston, Mass.

MILLER, JAMES FRANCIS, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 1, 1832, in Tennessee. He never was a candidate for or held any public office until elected a representative from Texas to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

MILLER, JAMES RUSSELL, clergyman, author, was born in 1840 in Pennsylvania. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of Week Day Religion; Home Making; In His Steps; Silent Time; Come Ye Apart; The Marriage Altar; Practical Religion; Bits of Pasture; Making the Most of Life; Mary of Bethany; The Dew of Thy Youth; and The Every Day of Life.

MILLER, JESSE, congressman, governor. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1836 to 1837. He was appointed first auditor of the treasury, and held the position until 1841. He was canal commissioner of Pennsylvania in 1845 and 1846; and was secretary of state from 1846 to 1848, serving for a short time as acting governor of the state. He died Aug. 20, 1850, in Harrisburg.

MILLER, JOHN, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1774, in Amentia, N. Y. From 1812 to 1821 he was a justice of the peace in New York. He was a member of the state legislature in 1817, 1820 and 1845; and was a representative from New York to the nineteenth congress. He died in March, 1862.

MILLER, JOHN, soldier, journalist, congressman, governor, was born in 1780 in Steubenville, Ohio. He was appointed register of the land office in Missouri. He was subsequently elected governor of the state, serving from 1826 to 1832. He was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1837 to 1843. He died March 18, 1846, near Florrissant, Mo.

MILLER, JOHN, soldier, clergyman, author, was born April 6, 1819, in Princeton, N. J. He was a presbyterian clergyman who was a colonel in the confederate army during the civil war, and who lived in Princeton, New Jersey, from 1871. He was tried for heresy, but allowed to withdraw from the presbytery, and subsequently established several independent churches in the vicinity of Princeton. He was the author of Design of the Church; Commentary on the Proverbs; Fetich in Theology; Metaphysics; Are Souls Immortal?; Was Christ in Adam?; Is God a Creed?; Theology; and Commentary on Romans. He died in 1895.

MILLER, JOHN A., scientist, inventor, was born June 17, 1840, in Germany. In 1853 he emigrated with his parents to the United States and settled in St. Louis, Mo. By trade he is a practical watchmaker, and has attained prominence as a scientist and inventor, and is one of the leading promoters of distributing weather signals. He lives in Cairo, Ill., and in 1894-95 was grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias.

MILLER, JOHN F., merchant, banker, was born April 9, 1836, in Germany. He emigrated to America in 1857, and worked on the railroads in Minnesota, and in the brickyards of that state. Since 1880 he has been engaged principally in the lumber business, and is vice-president of the Beaver Dam Lumber company of Cumberland, Wis. In 1883 he established the bank of Cumberland; is now its president.

He has taken an active part in the public affairs of his town, and laid out, platted and owns the best part of same.

MILLER, JOHN FRANKLIN, soldier, United States senator, was born Nov. 21, 1831, in South Bend, Ind. He served throughout the war, rising to the rank of brigadier-general and brevet major-general. He was elected a senator of the United States from California for the term of six years from 1881. He died March 8, 1886, in Washington.

MILLER, JOHN G., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1812 in Kentucky. In 1835 he moved to Missouri; and in 1846 was elected to the state legislature. From 1853 to the time of his death he was a representative in congress from Missouri. He died May 11, 1856, in Saline county, Mo.

MILLER, JOHN K., congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1851.

MILLER, JONATHAN P., reformer, was born in 1797 in Randolph, Vt. He inroduced anti-slavery resolutions into the Vermont legislature in 1833. He was a delegate from his state to the world's anti-slavery convention in London in 1840. He died in 1847 in Montpelier.

MILLER, JOSEPH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Ohio. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-fifth congress. He was subsequently appointed United States judge for the territory of Nebraska.

MILLER, JOSEPH NELSON, naval officer, was born Nov. 22, 1836, in Ohio. He entered the navy in 1851, became past midshipman in 1856, master in 1858, lieutenant in 1860, and lieutenant-commander in 1872.

MILLER, KILLIAN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born July 30, 1785, in Claverack, N. Y. In 1824 and 1827 he was a member of the New York general assembly; in 1837 was elected county clerk, which office he held for three years; and in 1854 was chosen a representative in the thirty-fourth congress.

MILLER, LEWIS, manufacturer, inventor, was born Aug. 24, 1829. In 1851 he went to Greentown to enter the factory of Ball, Aultman and Company, manufacturers of plows and mowing and threshing machines. In the fall of the same year, the works were moved to Canton, O. He soon became superintendent, and in 1855 he invented the Buckeye mower and reaper. Since then he has patented about a hundred inventions, having been aided in his early experiments by his brother. In 1863 a new farm implements firm was organized under the name of Aultman, Miller and Company, which established factories in Akron and Canton, Ohio, and in 1864 Mr. Miller moved to Akron.

MILLER, LUCAS M., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1824 in Greece. He moved to the territory of Wisconsin and settled in Oshkosh in 1846. In 1853 he was a member of the Wisconsin legislature. He was one of the commissioners of the state board of public works; and for the last ten years has been chairman of the county board of supervisors of Winnebago county. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

MILLER, MADISON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Feb. 6, 1811, in Mercer, Pa. In 1865 he received the brevet of brigadier-general for meritorious service at Wilson's Creek and Shiloh. He was in the Missouri senate in 1865, and since 1867 has been fund commissioner of the Missouri railroad.

MILLER, MRS. MINNIE [WILLIS] [BAINES], author, was born in 1845 in New Hampshire. She is a religious writer of Springfield, Ohio; and the author of The Silent Land; His Cousin, the Doctor; and The Pilgrim Vision.

MILLER, MORRIS SMITH, soldier, jurist, state senator, was born April 2, 1814, in Utica, N. Y. He served during the Canada border disturbances, was in the Florida and Mexican wars, and in 1861, as quartermaster at Washington, D. C., was responsible for all the arrangements for the arrival of troops to defend the capital. He died March 11, 1870, in New Orleans, La.

MILLER, MORRIS S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1769. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1813 to 1815. In 1819 he was appointed a commissioner to superintend a treaty with the Seneca Indians; and was also judge of a county court. He died Nov. 15, 1824, in Utica, N. Y.

MILLER, NATHAN, congressman, was born about 1750 in Rhode Island. He was a delegate to the continental congress from Rhode Island in 1785 and 1786. He died in 1787 in Rhode Island.

MILLER, ORRIN L., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1856, in Newburg, Maine. In 1887 he was appointed district judge for the twenty-ninth judicial district of Kansas; and in November of the same year was elected to that office for four years. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

MILLER, PLEASANT M., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1809 to 1811.

MILLER, RICHARD THOMPSON, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1845, in Cape May City, N. J. He received his education at Pottstown, Pa., and at Easton, Conn.; and subsequently received instruction at the West Jersey academy of Bridgeton, N. J., and from private tutors. He soon acquired prominence as an able lawyer; was elected city solicitor of Cape May City, and prosecutor of pleas for Cape May county. He has served with distinction as district judge of Camden City; law judge of Camden county; and is now circuit court judge of New Jersey. He is prominent in the public affairs of his state; and ranks high in several fraternal orders.

MILLER, ROSWELL, railroad president, since 1890 he has been president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

MILLER, RUFUS W., clergyman, journalist, author, was born May 12, 1862, in Easton, Pa. He was the founder of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip; is the editor of The Brotherhood Star, in Reading, Pa.; and the author of What a Young Boy Ought to Know.

MILLER, RUTGER B., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative from that state to the twenty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy.

MILLER, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 31, 1769, in Dover, Del. He was a presbyterian clergyman, pastor of the Brick church, New York city, in 1793-1813, and professor of ecclesiastical history at Princeton Theological seminary for the remainder of his life. He was the author of Presbyterianism the Truly Primitive and Apostolic Constitution of the Church of Christ; Letters on Clerical Habits and Manners; Letters on Unitarians; Life of Jonathan Edwards; Letters on the Christian Ministry; and Letters on Church Government. He died Jan. 7, 1850, in Princeton, N. J.

MILLER, SAMUEL, lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 23, 1816, in Princeton, N. J. He was principal of the West Jersey collegiate institute in 1845-57, and from 1857 till 1873 was in charge of the church in Oceanic, N. J. He published Report of the Presbyterian Church Case. He died Oct. 12, 1883, in Mount Holly, N. J.

MILLER, SAMUEL F., state legislator, congressman, was born May 27, 1827, in Franklin, N. Y. In 1854 he was elected to the New York legislature; and in 1850 and 1857 was supervisor of Franklin. He was for fifteen years identified as colonel with the state militia. In 1862 he was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress. He was elected to the forty-fourth congress.

MILLER, SAMUEL FREEMAN, physician, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 5, 1816, in Richmond, Ky. He settled in Iowa and became one of the leaders of the republican party in that state. In 1862 he was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the United States. He was the author of The Supreme Court of the United States, a series of biographies; and Reports of Supreme Court Decisions. He died Oct. 12, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

MILLER, SAMUEL H., lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born April 19, 1840, in Mercer county, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

MILLER, SMITH, agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was a member of both branches of the legislature of Indiana; and was a representative in congress from 1853 to 1855.

MILLER, SOLOMON, journalist, legislator, was born Jan. 22, 1831, near Lafayette, Ind. He commenced life as a printer, and became founder of the Troy (Kas.) Chief in 1857. He was a member of the Kansas legislature in 1862, and state senator for four terms. This veteran editor still continues his editorial work.

MILLER, STEPHEN, governor, was born Jan. 7, 1816, in Perry county, Pa. He was governor of Minnesota from 1863 to 1866. He died Aug. 18, 1881, in Worthington, Minn.

MILLER, STEPHEN DECATUR, lawyer, United States senator, governor, was born in May, 1787, in Waxsaw settlement, S. C. He served in the South Carolina senate in 1822; represented his native state in the lower house of congress from 1814 to 1819; and was governor of South Carolina from 1828 to 1830. He was elected a senator in congress for the term from 1831 to 1837, but resigned on account of his health at the end of two years. He died March 8, 1838, in Raymond, Miss.

MILLER, STEPHEN FRANKS, lawyer, author, was born about 1810 in North Carolina. He was a once noted Georgia lawyer; and the author of Bench and Bar of Georgia; Wilkins Wylder, or the Successful Man; and Memoir of General Blackshear and the War in Georgia. He died in 1867 in Oglethorpe, Ga.

MILLER, STERLING JACKSON, educator, public official, clergyman, was born June 1, 1868, near Spencer, W. Va. He attended the West Virginia Conference seminary; Marshall college; the West Virginia university; and the Franklin college of Ohio, from which latter institution he received the degree of Ph. B. He taught school for several years; then entered mercantile business; and has filled various public positions of trust. He is a member of the West Virginia conference of the methodist episcopal church; has filled several pastorates; and is now filling a pastorate in Morgantown, W. Va.

MILLER, THEODORE, lawyer, jurist, was born in May, 1816, in Hudson, N. Y. He was made associate justice of the court of appeals of New York in 1874 and held office till 1886, when he was retired on account of age.

MILLER, THOMAS E., lawyer, state legislator, state senator, congressman, was born June 17, 1849, in Ferrybeeville, S. C. He was elected to the lower house of the South Carolina legislature in 1874, 1876 and 1878, and to the state senate in 1880. He was returned to the lower house in 1886; and in 1878 he was nominated by his party for lieutenant-governor of South Carolina. He was nominated by the republicans in 1888 and elected to the fifty-first congress, but was counted out by the democratic returning boards.

MILLER, THOMAS J., manufacturer, state senator, was born Oct. 30, 1857, in North Annville, Pa. For many years he has been a successful manufacturer of cigars in Olympia, Wash., where he also owns an extensive prune orchard. In 1896 he was elected a member of the Washington state senate.

MILLER, WARNER, soldier, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 12, 1838, in Oswego county, N. Y. He was elected a representative in the New York state legislature in 1874 and 1875. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses; and elected a senator of the United States from New York to fill a vacancy in 1881.

MILLER, WARREN, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born April 2, 1847, in Meigs county, Ohio. He served as assistant prosecuting attorney for Jackson county, W. Va., one term and as prosecuting attorney eight years from 1881. He was a member of the West Virginia legislature in 1890-91. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MILLER, WILLIAM, state legislator, governor, was born in Warren county, N. C. From 1810 to 1814 he served in the North Carolina legislature and was governor of the state from 1814 to 1817.

MILLER, WILLIAM, founder of the sect of Millerites, was born April 24, 1781, in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1833 he began to predict that the end of the world would come in 1843, when the faithful would be translated. His followers, who are said to have numbered nearly fifty thousand, greatly decreased after his death. He died Dec. 20, 1849, in Low Hampton, N. Y.

MILLER, WILLIAM H., congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1828, in Perry county, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress.

MILLER, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, soldier, lawyer, was born Sept. 6, 1840, in Augusta, N. Y. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Indiana at Indianapolis; and has been attorney-general of the United States.

MILLER, WILLIAM R., lawyer, governor, was born Nov. 27, 1823, near Batesville, Ark. In 1857 he removed to Little Rock, Ark.; and served as auditor, by re-elections, until 1865. In 1866 he was again elected auditor. He returned to Batesville and resumed the practice of his profession; and in 1874 was again elected auditor of the state, serving until 1877. In 1876 he was elected governor of Arkansas; and was re-elected in 1878, serving until 1881. In 1874 he again took up his residence in Little Rock; was deputy state treasurer in 1881 and 1882; and in 1886 was again elected state auditor.

MILLER, WILLIAM S., congressman. He was a representative from congress from New York from 1845 to 1847. He died Nov. 9, 1854, in New York city.

MILLET, FRANCIS DAVIS, artist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1846, in Mattapois-ett, Mass. He is an artist and author of New York City. He is the author of A Capillary Crime, and Other Stories; and The Danube from the Black Forest to the Black Sea.

MILLHOLLAND, JAMES A., railroad president, was born Dec. 8, 1842, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1893 he has been president of the George's Creek and Cumberland railroad at Cumberland, Md.

MILLIGAN, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1795, in Cecil county, Md. In 1830 he was elected a member of the house of representatives in congress from Delaware, and served from 1831 to 1839. In 1839 he was appointed judge of the superior court of the state of Delaware.

MILLIGAN, ROBERT, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born July 25, 1814, in Ireland. He was a Campbellite clergyman and educator; and president of Kentucky university in 1859-66. He was the author of Brief Treatise on Prayer; Reason and Revelation; Scheme of Redemption; The Great Commission; and Analysis of the New Testament Commentary on Hebrews. He died March 20, 1875, in Lexington, Ky.

MILLIGAN, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist. He was a citizen of Tennessee, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Nebraska, residing at Dakota City.

MILLIGAN, WILLIAM McKINDREE, lawyer, legislator, was born March 13, 1851, in Bedford, Ind. He attended the DePauw university of Indiana, then known as the Asbury university. He served with distinction as a member of the Kansas state legislature; has been county attorney; and is one of the leading lawyers of Kansas, at Pittsburg.

MILLIKEN, SETH L., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 12, 1831, in Montville, Maine. In 1856 he was elected a representative in the Maine legislature, and was re-elected the following year. He engaged in the practice of law at Belfast, Maine; and was elected a representative from Maine to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

MILLIKIN, CHARLES W., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1827, in Graves county, Ky. He was attorney of Simpson county, Ky., five years; was appointed in 1867 attorney for the fourth judicial district of Kentucky to fill a vacancy; and elected the following August to serve out the unexpired term, and re-elected in 1868 for a full term of six years. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

MILLS, ABRAHAM, educator, author, was born in 1769 in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a popular educator of New York city who, besides editing a number of text-books, was author of Literature and Literary Men of Great Britain and Ireland; Outlines of Rhetoric; Poets and Poetry of the Ancient Greeks; and Compendium of the History of the Ancient Hebrews. He died July 8, 1867, in New York.

MILLS, CALEB, educator, was born July 29, 1806, in Dunbarton, N. H. He was the second state superintendent of Indiana, and father of the free schools of Indiana. He was noted throughout the state as a lecturer. One of his most popular lectures was entitled Suggestions to Youth on the Right Formation of Character. On retiring from the state superintendency he resumed the chair of Greek in the Wabash college, and continued until his death, which occurred Oct. 17, 1879.

MILLS, CHARLES A., educator, author. After receiving his education he began educational work. He is also a constant contributor to current literature.

MILLS, CHARLES K., physician, specialist, was born Dec. 4, 1845, near Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated in medicine from the medical department of the university of Pennsylvania; and was professor of mental diseases and of medical jurisprudence in that institution. He has been professor of diseases of the nervous system in the Philadelphia Polytechnic and the Woman's Medical college of Pennsylvania. He has been president of the American Neurological association, and is a prominent member of various medical societies.

MILLS, CLARK, sculptor, was born Dec. 1, 1815, in Onondaga county, N. Y. He was the designer of the equestrian statue of Gen. Jackson in Lafayette square, Washington, D. C. The equestrian statue of Washington in Washington circle of the same city is also his work. The colossal statue of Freedom, eighteen feet high and weighing fifteen tons, crowning the dome of the national capitol, though designed by Crawford, was cast in bronze by Mr. Mills, at Bladensburg. He died Jan. 12, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

MILLS, DANIEL W., soldier, merchant, congressman, was born Feb. 25, 1838, near Waynesville, Ohio. From 1877 to 1881 he served as warden of the Cook County hospital, Chicago, Ill.; and was twice elected alderman of his ward. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MILLS, ELIJAH HUNT, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 1, 1776, in Chesterfield, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1815 to 1819; and a senator in congress from 1820 to 1827. He died May 5, 1829, in Northampton.

MILLS, FREDERICK JOHN, civil engineer, legislator, lieutenant-governor, was born in 1865 in Vermont. Since 1895 he has been state engineer of Idaho. In 1893 he was elected a member of the Idaho legislature; and in 1896 was elected lieutenant-governor of Idaho.

MILLS, HENRY EDMUND, lawyer, author, was born June 24, 1850, in Montrose, Pa. He has attained prominence as a successful lawyer in St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of a work entitled Laws of Eminent Domain.

MILLS, J. WARNER, lawyer, legal author, was born July 6, 1852, in Lancaster, Wis. In 1875 he graduated from the university of Wisconsin. He is one of the leading lawyers of Denver, Colo., where he is president of the state board of charities and corrections. He is the founder of the jury system of Colorado; and drew the bill giving to women the right of equal suffrage with men in the state of Colorado, and canvassed the state for its approval. He is profoundly interested in social and labor questions, and lectures extensively on those subjects, and gives freely his time to promote equity and justice. He is the editor and part owner of The Legal Adviser of Denver, Colo.

MILLS, JOB S., educator, clergyman, bishop, sociologist, was born Feb. 28, 1848, in Bartlett, Ohio. He was educated at the Bartlett academy, and the Illinois Wesleyan university, from the latter institution receiving in course the degrees of B. Ph., M. A. and Ph. D.; and also the degree of M. A. from Otterbein university. In 1871 he was ordained a clergyman of the United Brethren church. In 1887 he became professor of English literature and rhetoric in the Western college, Iowa; and in 1889 was elected president of that institution, serving also in the chair of mental and moral philosophy. In 1893 Dr. Mills was elected bishop, which position he has filled with distinguished ability. He has delivered several courses of lectures on sociology and kindred topics.

MILLS, ROBERT, architect, author, was born Aug. 12, 1781, in Charleston, S. C. He was an architect of Washington, and the original designer of the Washington monument. He was the author of Statistics of South Carolina; American Pharos, or Lighthouse Guide; and Guide to the National Executive Offices. He died March 3, 1855, in Washington, D. C.

MILLS, ROGER Q., soldier, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born March 30, 1832, in Todd county, Ky. He moved to Texas in 1849; was a member of the Texas legislature in 1859 and 1860; and was colonel of the Tenth Texas regiment. He was elected to congress as a democrat in 1873 and served continuously until he resigned to accept the position of United States senator, to which he was elected in 1892. He was re-elected in 1893.

MILLS, SAMUEL J., clergyman, was born April 21, 1783, in Torrington, Conn. As the father of foreign missions he organized the first society in America to contemplate foreign missions in 1808; and in 1817 visited Africa in company with the Rev. E. Burgess, to select a site for a colony, and died on his way home, June 16, 1818.

MILLS, SAMUEL JOHN, clergyman, author, was born May 16, 1743, in Kent, Conn. For many years he edited the Connecticut Evangelical Magazine, and, in addition to various sermons that he preached on special occasions, he published a volume of Sermons Collected. He died May 11, 1833, in Torrington, Conn.

MILLS, MRS. SARAH M., reformer, author, was born May 14, 1820, in Danbury, Conn. She has been a lecturer and voluminous writer on finance, industrial and tariff reforms. She was the vice-president and one of the organizers of the Chicago Philosophical society. She is the author of two philosophical novels, Four Girl Farmers; and Eve and Mary, besides other minor works of fiction and philosophy.

MILLS, SEBASTIAN BACH, pianist, composer, was born March 13, 1839, in England. He has appeared in concerts in the United States and in Europe, and is one of the best known of American pianists. Among his numerous compositions are three Tarantelles; Murmuring Fountain; Polonaise; Fairy Fingers; and Recollections of Home; Saltarello; and two Etudes de Concert.

MILLS, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Feb. 24, 1801, in New York city. In 1857 he was presiding justice of the supreme court of New York. He published an edition of Blackstone's Commentaries, with reference to American cases. He died Oct. 6, 1886, in Morristown, N. J.

MILLSON, JOHN S., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1808, in Norfolk, Va. He was elected a representative from Virginia in the thirty-first congress, which position he filled by re-elections until 1860. In 1844 and 1848 he was presidential elector. He died Feb. 26, 1874, in Norfolk, Va.

MILLSPAUGH, FRANK ROSEBROOK, bishop of Kansas, was born April 12, 1848, in Nicholas, N. Y. He is the author of numerous sermons and addresses.

MILLWARD, JOHN, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-sixth congress.

MILLWARD, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857.

MILMORE, MARTIN, sculptor, was born Sept. 14, 1844, in Ireland. His principal works are busts of Longfellow, Sumner, and Gen. Thayer. His statues of Ceres, Flora and Pomona are in the Horticultural hall of Boston, Mass.

MILNE, WILLIAM JAMES, educator, author, was born May 26, 1843, in Scotland. He organized the State Normal and Training school of Geneseo, N. Y., with which institution he was connected for eighteen years. In 1889 he became president of the State Normal college of Albany, N. Y. He is the author of a series of mathematical text books for schools entitled the Inductive Series.

MILNES, ALFRED, soldier, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born May 28, 1844, in England. He has served the city of Coldwater, Mich., as alderman for one term and as mayor for two terms. He was elected to the state senate in 1888 and re-elected in 1890. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Michigan in 1894; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican to fill a vacancy.

MILNES, WILLIAM, manufacturer, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1827, in England. In 1865 he moved to Virginia and purchased the extensive property located in Page and Rockingham counties known as the Shenandoah Iron works. He was elected to the forty-first congress as a representative from Virginia.

MILNOR, JAMES, lawyer, clergyman, congressman, was born June 20, 1773, in Philadelphia, Pa. From 1811 to 1813 he was a representative from Pennsylvania in congress. In 1814 he was ordained a clergyman, and in 1816 was called to the rectorship of St. George's church of New York city. He was one of the founders of the New York Deaf and Dumb institution. He died April 8, 1844, in New York city.

MILNOR, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Philadelphia. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1807 to 1811, from 1815 to 1817, and again from 1821 to 1822.

MILROY, ROBERT HUSTON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 11, 1816, in Washington county, Ind. In the war with Mexico he served as captain in the first Indiana volunteers. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Indiana in 1849-50, and in 1851 was appointed judge of the eighth judicial circuit court of Indiana. At the beginning of the civil war he issued a call for volunteers and was made a captain, becoming colonel of the ninth Indiana volunteers in 1861. He died in April, 1890, in Olympia, Wash.

MILTENBERGER, GEORGE WARNER, physician, educator, was born March 17, 1819, in Baltimore, Md. He was elected demonstrator of anatomy by the faculty of the university of Maryland, which place he continued to fill until 1852. In 1852 he succeeded to the chair of materia medica, therapeutics, and pathology, and in 1855 he was chosen dean of the faculty.

MILTON, JOHN, governor. He was governor of Florida from 1861 to 1864.

MINARD, ABEL, philanthropist, was born Sept. 25, 1814, in Massachusetts. Besides giving to various charitable objects, he founded the Minard home in Morristown, N. J., at an expense of $50,000, for the education of female orphans of Methodist clergymen. He died Jan. 31, 1871, in Morristown, N. J.

MINER, AHIMAN L., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in Vermont. He was a state representative in the legislature in 1838, 1839 and 1845; a state senator in 1849; and county attorney for two years. He was register of probate for seven years; judge of probate from 1846 to 1849; and a representative in congress from Vermont from 1851 to 1853. He died July 29, 1886.

MINER, ALONZO AMES, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1814, in Lempster, N. H. He was a prominent universalist clergyman of Boston; and the author of Bible Exercises; Right and Duty of Prohibition; and Old Forts Taken. He died in 1896.

MINER, CHARLES, journalist, congressman, author, was born Feb. 1, 1780, in Norwich, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1825 to 1828. He was the author of an interesting work entitled History of Wyoming, and was one of the first men in this country to introduce and write upon the silk-growing business. He also wrote Essays from the Desk of Poor Robert. He died Oct. 26, 1865, in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

MINER, HENRY CLAY, business man, congressman, was born March 23, 1842, in New York city. He was educated at the

New York city grammar schools and at the American Institute school; studied the drug business and has been more or less engaged in that business. In 1864 he went out in advance of Signor Blitz, the magician and bird trainer; his next engagement was with Thayer and Noyes's circus, and eventually he became the head of a metropolitan theater, and then rose to the proprietorship of five popular Thespian resorts—the Fifth Avenue, the People's, Miner's Bowery, Eighth Avenue, and Miner's Newark theaters. He is president of the Miner Lithographing company, owns extensive phosphate interests in the south, holds large blocks of railway and mining stock in western corporations, directs a New York newspaper syndicate, and is the owner of a large drug store and photographic material house in New York city. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

MINER, PHINEAS, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1779. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut during the years 1834 and 1835 to fill a vacancy. He died Sept. 16, 1839, in Litchfield, Conn.

MINER, MRS. S. ISADORIE, poet, was born Sept. 25, 1863, in Battle Creek, Mich. She is the editor of the Battle Creek Review; and is connected with the Good Health Publishing company of that city.

MINER, THOMAS, physician, author, was born Oct. 15, 1777, in Middletown, Conn. He contributed to periodicals biological sketches of Connecticut physicians, medical essays, and translations from French medical works. With Dr. William Tully he published Essays upon Fevers and Other Medical Subjects; and Account of Typhus Syncopalis. He died April 23, 1841, in Worcester, Mass.

MINES, JOHN FLAVEL, journalist, author, poet, was born Jan. 27, 1835, in France. He was a journalist of New York city; and the author of Heroes of the Last Lustre, a poem; and A Tour Around New York by Mr. Felix Oldboy. He died in 1891.

MINICK, JOHN B., journalist, was born in 1836 in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1866 he moved to Michigan, engaged in railroading, and became one of the proprietors of the Marquette Mining Journal. In 1872 he moved to Washington, D. C.; was private secretary to the postmaster-general during 1880-88; and was engaged meanwhile in the publishing and printing business. He established and published The National Weekly, The People's Journal, and other periodicals. Since 1893 he has been identified with some of the largest commercial enterprises of Philadelphia, Pa., which city is now his home.

MINICK, JOHN D., educator, college president, was born Aug. 18, 1859, in Shade Gap, Pa. He has taught in the high schools of Pennsylvania and Maryland; and is now the president of the Davenport college of Lenoir, N. C.

MINIFIE, WILLIAM, architect, educator, author, was born Aug. 14, 1805, in England. He was an architect and educator of Baltimore; and the author of Text-Book of Mechanical Drawing; Text-Book of Geometrical Drawing; Theory and Application of Color; and Popular Lectures on Drawing and Design. He died Oct. 24, 1880, in Baltimore, Md.

MINOR, EDWARD S., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born in 1840 in Jefferson county, N. Y. He was elected to the Wisconsin assembly in 1877 and re-elected in 1880 and 1881. He was elected to the state senate and served in that body in 1883 and 1885. He has been mayor of the city of Sturgeon Bay; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MINOR, JOHN BARBEE, educator, author, was born June 2, 1813, in Louisa county, Va. He was a professor of law in the University of Virginia; and the author of Virginia Report of 1799-1800; Synopsis of the Law of Crimes and Punishments; and Institutes of Common and Statute Law. He died in 1895.

MINOR, LUCIAN, lawyer, author, was born in 1802 in Louisa county, Va. He was a lawyer of Williamsburg, Va.; and the author of Reasons for Abolishing the Liquor Traffic; and Travels in New England. He died in 1858 in Williamsburg, Va.

MINOR, ROBERT CRANNELL, artist, was born April 30, 1840, in New York city. His works include Evening; Dawn; Studio of Corot; and Under the Oaks. Among those of his later paintings that he has shown at the National academy are The Wold of Kent, England; The Cradle of the Hudson; The Close of Day; and A Mountain Path.

MINOR, VIRGINIA LOUISA, reformer, was born March 27, 1824, in Goochland county, Va. She was the first woman in the United States to claim suffrage as a right, and not as a favor. With this end in view, in 1872 she brought the matter before the courts, taking it finally to the United States supreme court.

MINOT, CHARLES SEDGWICK, biologist, author, was born Dec. 23, 1852, in West Roxbury, Mass. In 1880 he became lecturer on embryology in Harvard Medical school and instructor in oral pathology and surgery. These appointments he held until 1883, when he became assistant professor of histology and embryology at that institution.

MINOT, FRANCIS, physician, educator, author, was born April 12, 1821, in Boston, Mass. In 1871 he was made assistant professor of the theory and practice of medicine, and clinical lecturer on the diseases of women and children, in the medical department of Harvard, which places he held until 1874, when he was made full professor of the theory and practice of physic.

MINOT, GEORGE, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 5, 1817, in Haverhill, Mass. He edited Digest of the Decisions of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts; and rendered valuable aid to Richard Peter, Jr., in the preparation of the first eight volumes of the United States Statutes at Large, the index of which he prepared. He died April 15, 1856, in Reading, Mass.

MINOT, GEORGE RICHARDS, jurist, author, was born Dec. 22, 1758, in Boston, Mass. He was made chief justice of the court of common pleas in 1799, and judge of the municipal court of Boston on its establishment in 1800, which office he held until his death. He was one of the founders of the Massachusetts Historical society, and edited three volumes of its Collections. He published History of the Insurrection in Massachusetts in 1786; and Continuation of the History of Massachusetts Bay from the Year 1748. He died Jan. 2, 1802, in Boston, Mass.

MINOT, HENRY DAVIS, railroad president, author, was born in 1859 in Massachusetts. He was at the time of his death a railway president in Minnesota. While a schoolboy at Roxbury he wrote at the age of sixteen The Land-Birds and Game-Birds of New England. He died in 1890.

MINOT, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born in 1849 in Massachusetts. He is a Boston lawyer; and the author of Taxation in Massachusetts; and Local Taxation and Municipal Extravagance.

MINTURN, ROBERT B., merchant, philanthropist, was born Nov. 16, 1805, in New York city. By his energy and ability the shipping house of Grinnell, Minturn and Company, in which he achieved fortune and reputation, became one of the great shipping houses of the world. He died Jan. 9, 1866, in New York city.

MINTURN, ROBERT BOWNE, author, was born Feb. 21, 1836, in New York city. He is the author of From New York to Delhi, a popular book of travels.

MIRES, AUSTIN, lawyer, public official, was born Feb. 11, 1852, in Des Moines county, Iowa. In 1853 he crossed the plains with his parents, and resided in Douglas county, Ore., until 1873. He graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan, with the degree of LL. B. For many years he taught school; was mail agent for three years; and served as chief clerk of the Oregon state senate. Since 1883 he has been engaged in the practice of law at Ellensburg, Wash.; has been mayor of that city, city treasurer, and city attorney. He was a delegate from his county to the constitutional convention that framed the constitution for the state of Washington. For three years he was a member of the state board of equalization and appeals; and for seven years was vice-president of the Ellensburg National bank.

MISSEMER, J. R., journalist, was born March 24, 1851, in Mount Joy, Pa. He is the editor and publisher of The Advocate of Steelton, Pa.; and for the past twenty years has been engaged in journalism. In his early days he taught school; at the age of twenty-two years was elected a justice of the peace; and in 1874 became editor of the Milton Grove News. In 1878 he established the Mount Joy Star and News, and during the following ten years also conducted a newspaper syndicate. In 1888 he purchased The Advocate, which he still edits and publishes with the assistance of his son, George W. Missemmer.

MITCHEL, ELISHA, chemist, was born Aug. 19, 1793, in Washington county, Conn. Being appointed state surveyor of North Carolina, he was the first to discover that the mountains of that state were the highest east of the Rockies. He lost his life upon the Black Dome June 27, 1857, which has since been called Mount Mitchel.

MITCHEL, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, journalist, author, was born in 1839. He is the fiction editor of the American Press association; and the author of Chattanooga, a Romance of the American Civil War; Chickamauga, a Romance of the American Civil War; and Ormsby MacKnight Mitchel, Astronomer and General.

MITCHEL, ORMSBY MAC KNIGHT, soldier, astronomer, author, was born July 28, 1810, in Morganfield, Ky. He was an astronomer of distinction, director of the Dudley observatory at Albany, and a prominent union general in the civil war. He was the author of Planetary and Stellar Worlds; The Orbs of Heaven; Elementary Treatise on the Sun, Planets, etc.; and Astronomy of the Bible. The direct cause of the establishment of the observatories at Albany, Clinton, Allegheny City, Cincinnati, Washington, and Cambridge, is due to the impetus given to that study by his popular lectures. He died Oct. 30, 1862, in Beaufort, N. C.

MITCHELL, ABRAM W., physician, surgeon, legislator, was born Feb. 8, 1862, in Lempster, N. H. He has served with distinction as a member of the New Hampshire state legislature, and was on several important committees.

MITCHELL, ALEXANDER, banker, congressman, was born Oct. 18, 1817, in Scotland. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-second and forty-third congresses; and was the democratic candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1879. He died April 19, 1887, in New York city.

MITCHELL, ALFRED, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1841 in England. In 1879 he emigrated to the United States; and has since attained success as an able lawyer in the state of New York. For sixteen years he served in various capacities for the Equitable Mercantile company of New York city, and is now dean of its legal staff. He served as a police justice of Whitestone, Long Island, N. Y.; and his name is frequently mentioned for the office of justice for his division of the recently enacted Greater New York city.

MITCHELL, ANDERSON, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1800 in Caswell county, N. C. He was elected to the North Carolina legislature; and was a member of congress in 1842 and 1843.

MITCHELL, ANNIE MARIA, author, was born in 1847 in Massachusetts. She is a writer of religious juveniles, among which are Martha's Gift; and Freed Boy in Alabama.

MITCHELL, CHARLES BURTON, United States senator, was born Sept. 19, 1815, in Gallatin, Tenn. He was elected a senator in congress from Arkansas for a term of six years, commencing March 4, 1861, but was expelled by the senate July 11, 1861. He died Sept. 20, 1864, in Washington, Ark.

MITCHELL, CHARLES F., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1841.

MITCHELL, CHARLES LE MOYNE, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1844, in New Haven, Conn. He was a representative in the Connecticut state legislature in 1878; and was elected a representative from Connecticut to the forty-eighth congress. He was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

MITCHELL, DAVID, soldier, state legislator, was born July 17, 1742, in Cumberland county, Pa. He fought throughout the entire revolutionary war, serving as a major in Colonel John Watts's battalion in the battle of Long Island. He represented his county in the Pennsylvania legislature from 1786 till 1805, and served as a presidential elector in 1813, and in 1817. In 1800 he was appointed brigadier-general of the militia of Cumberland and Franklin counties. He died May 25, 1818, in Juniata, Pa.

MITCHELL, DAVID BRADIE, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Oct. 22, 1766, in Scotland. He was elected solicitor-general of Georgia in 1795; and was a member of the legislature in 1796. He was governor of the state from 1809 to 1813, and from 1815 to 1818. He died April 22, 1837, in Milledgeville, Ga.

MITCHELL, DONALD GRANT, author, was born April 12, 1822, in Norwich, Conn. He is best known by his earlier and still popular works, Dream Life; and Reveries of a Bachelor, books of a pleasantly sentimental cast. His other works include My Farm at Edgewood; Dr. Johns, a novel; Rural Studies; Fresh Gleaning from the Old Fields of Europe; The Battle Summer, or Paris in 1848; The Lorgnette; Fudge Doings; Seven Stories; Wet Days at Edgewood; About Old Story-Tellers; The Woodbridge Record, a genealogy; Bound Together; A Sheaf of Papers; Out of Town Places, a revision of Rural Studies; English Lands, Letters, and Kings; and American Lands and Letters.

MITCHELL, EDWARD COPPEE, lawyer, author, was born July 24, 1826, in Savannah, Ga. He was a real estate lawyer of Philadelphia; and the author of Separate Use in Pennsylvania; Contracts for Land Sales in Pennsylvania; and Equitable Relations of Buyer and Seller. He died Jan. 25, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MITCHELL, EDWARD CUSHING, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 20, 1829, in East Bridgewater, Mass. He is a baptist clergyman and educator; president of Leland university of New Orleans since 1887; and the author of Les Sources du Nouveau Testament; Hebrew Introduction; Guide to the Authenticity, Canon, and Text of the New Testament; and The Critical Handbook.

MITCHELL, ELISHA, geologist, author, was born Aug. 19, 1793, in Washington, Conn. He was an educator of note, and professor of geology in the university of North Carolina since 1825. While exploring the mountain region of North Carolina he lost his life. He is buried on the summit of the mountain bearing his name. He was the author of Elements of Geology; and Reports on North Carolina Geology. He died June 27, 1857, on Black Mountain, N. C.

MITCHELL, GEORGE E., congressman, was born in Cecil county, Md. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1823 to 1827, and again from 1829 to 1832. He died June 28, 1832, in Washington, D. C.

MITCHELL, HENRY, physician, congressman, was born in 1784, in Woodbury, Conn. He moved to New York, and in 1827 he was elected to the legislature of his adopted state. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1833 to 1835. He died Jan. 12, 1858, in Norwich, N. Y.

MITCHELL, HENRY, hydrographer, author, was born Sept. 16, 1830, in Nantucket, Mass. He is a hydrographer of prominence, among whose scientific monographs are Physical Hydrography of the Maine Coast; The Estuary of the Delaware; and Reclamation of Tide Lands.

MITCHELL, HINCKLEY GILBERT, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 22, 1846, in Lee, N. Y. He is a methodist clergyman and educator; professor at Wesleyan university since 1884; and the author of Final Constructions of Biblical Hebrew; Hebrew Lessons; Amos, an Essay in Exegesis; and The Pentateuch.

MITCHELL, J. WALTER, educator, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 2, 1853, in Edgefield county, S. C. He attended the Trinity college, Texas; the Vanderbilt university, Tennessee; and the South Carolina college of Columbia. For fifteen years he taught school; and graduated in 1886 in law with the degree of LL. B. For four years he was judge of probate of Lexington county, S. C.; and for two years served with distinction as a representative in the South Carolina state legislature.

MITCHELL, JAMES C., congressman, was born about 1790 in Mecklenburg county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1825 to 1829. He died Aug. 7, 1843, near Jackson, Miss.

MITCHELL, JAMES L., soldier, lawyer, was born Sept. 29, 1834, in Shelby county, Ky. He was state's attorney for the nineteenth judicial district of Indiana; and mayor of Indianapolis. He died Feb. 21, 1894.

MITCHELL, JAMES S., congressman, was born in York county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1821 to 1827.

MITCHELL, JAMES TYNDALE, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 9, 1834, in Belleville, Ill. He attended the Harvard university and the university of Pennsylvania Law school. During 1862-87 he was editor-in-chief of the American Law Register; during 1871-88 was judge of common pleas at Philadelphia; and since 1889 has been justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania. He is a vice-provost of the Law academy of Philadelphia; and president of the council of the Pennsylvania Historical society. He is the author of A History of the District Court; Mitchell on Motions and Rules; and other works.

MITCHELL, JOHN, congressman, was born in Perry county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1825 to 1829. He died in August, 1849, in Beaver, Pa.

MITCHELL, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1794, in Chester, Conn. He was a congregational minister of Stratford, Conn.; and the author of Letters to a Disbeliever in Revivals; Notes from Over the Sea; Reminiscences of College Scenes and Characters; My Mother; and Rachel Kell, or the Diamond. He died April 28, 1870, in Stratford, Conn.

MITCHELL, JOHN AMES, journalist, author, was born in 1845 in Massachusetts. He is a journalist of New York city; founder of Life in 1883, and its editor from that date. He is the author of The Summer School of Philosophy at Mount Desert; The Romance of the Moon; The Last American; Amos Judd, a novel; and That First Affair, and Other Stories.

MITCHELL, JOHN GRANT, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 6, 1838, in Piqua, Ohio. He was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865, and brevetted major-general of volunteers, to date from March 13, for special gallantry in the battle of Bentonville, N. C., March 17, 1865.

MITCHELL, JOHN HIPPLE, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 22, 1835, in Washington county, Pa. He received a public school education and the instruction of a private tutor; studied and practiced law, and moved to California and practiced law, first in San Luis Obispo and then in San Francisco. In 1860 he moved to Portland, Ore.; and was elected corporation attorney of Portland in 1861, and served one year. He was elected as a republican to the state senate in 1862, and served four years, the last two as president of that body. He was commissioned by the governor of Oregon in 1865 lieutenant-colonel in the state militia; and was a candidate for United States senator in 1866, and was defeated in the party caucus by one vote. He was chosen professor of medical jurisprudence in Willamette university of Salem in 1867, and served in that position nearly four years. He was elected to the United States senate in 1872, and served until 1879. He was again elected to the United States senate in 1885 as a republican, and was re-elected in 1891.

MITCHELL, JOHN KEARSLEY, physician, author, poet, was born May 12, 1798, in Shepherdstown, Va. He was a physician of Philadelphia, of eminence as a medical lecturer; and the author of Indecision, and Other Poems; St. Helena, a poem; Remote Consequences of Injuries of Nerves; Cryptogamic Origin of Malarious and Epidemic Fevers; and Five Essays on Fevers. He died April 4, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa.; and his death was sincerely mourned.

MITCHELL, JOHN INSCHO, soldier, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born July 28, 1838, in Tioga, Pa. He was district attorney of Tioga county, Pa., from 1868 to 1871; and was a representative in the state legislature from 1872 to 1876. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses; and was elected a senator of the United States from Pennsylvania for the term of six years from March 4, 1881.

MITCHELL, JOHN LENDRUM, soldier, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 19, 1842, in Milwaukee, Wis. He was a member of the state senate of Wisconsin in 1872-73 and 1875-76. He is vice-president of the Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Company bank, and of the Northwestern National Insurance company in Milwaukee, Wis. He was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat; and was elected to the United States senate, and took his seat March 4, 1893. His term of service will expire March 3, 1899.

MITCHELL, JOHN MURRAY, lawyer, congressman, was born March 18, 1858, in New York city. In 1889 he entered into law partnership with his two brothers, Edward and William, the former of whom was United States attorney for the southern district of New York by appointment of President Harrison. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses from New York as a republican.

MITCHELL, JOSEPH DANIEL, conchologist, legislator, was born Oct. 22, 1848, in Point Comfort. He has served as a representative in the state legislature of Texas, and is the father of the fish and oyster laws of Texas. He has published notes on Texas shells; and is a member of the Texas Academy of Science, and the Smithsonian institution.

MITCHELL, MRS. LUCY MYERS [WRIGHT], archaeologist, author, was born in 1845 in Persia. She was an archaeologist who spent much of her life abroad. Her only writing, a History of Ancient Sculpture, is one of the best books in English upon Greek art. She died in 1888.

MITCHELL, MARIA, astronomer, was born Aug. 1, 1818, in Nantucket, Mass. She was a distinguished astronomer, and professor at Vassar college in 1865. Her scientific papers have not been collected. She died June 28, 1889, in Lyons, Mass.

MITCHELL, MARION J., educator, poet, was born Sept. 4, 1836, in Buffalo, N. Y. She received a thorough education, and inherited literary tastes from her parents. She has contributed extensively both prose and verse to current literature; and is the author of a volume of poems. Her poetic work shows natural powers of imagination and expression. Her poems have been given a place in several standard collections, and are a valuable acquisition to the literature of the times.

MITCHELL, NAHUM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Feb. 12, 1769, in East Bridgewater, Mass. From 1811 to 1821 he was judge of the circuit court of common pleas, and afterward chief justice of Massachusetts. From 1798 to 1812 he was a representative in the general court; a representative in congress from 1803 to 1805; and in 1813 and 1814 was state senator. From 1814 to 1820 he was one of the governor's council; and from 1822 to 1827 was treasurer of the state. In 1840 he published a History of Bridgewater, Massachusetts; and a volume of sacred music entitled the Bridgewater Collection. He also wrote Grammar of Music. He died Aug. 1, 1853, in Plymouth.

MITCHELL, NATHANIEL, congressman. He was a delegate from Delaware to the continental congress from 1786 to 1788.

MITCHELL, NEAL, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 21, 1855, in Jacksonville, Fla. He attended the Maine Wesleyan university, Lapham institute, Amherst college, and several medical colleges of New York and Brooklyn, and in Berlin, Germany. In 1888 he was president of the board of health in the yellow fever epidemic in Jacksonville; and is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons in the south.

MITCHELL, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1833 to 1835.

MITCHELL, ROBERT B., soldier, lawyer, governor, was born April 4, 1823, in Richland county, Ohio. He moved to Kansas in 1856; and was in the territorial legislature in 1857 and 1858. He was state treasurer from 1858 to 1861; and adjutant-general in 1860 and 1861. He raised a regiment of cavalry; and was made brigadier-general in 1862. He was appointed governor of New Mexico in November, 1865. He died Jan. 26, 1882, in Washington, D. C.

MITCHELL, ROBERT G., lawyer, state senator, was born July 15, 1843, in Thomas county, Ga. In 1866 he was elected solicitor-general; in 1884-85 was elected a senator from Georgia; and in 1890 was chosen president of that body.

MITCHELL, SAMUEL, mine owner and financier, was born April 11, 1846, in England. In 1864 he emigrated to the United States, and engaged, and obtained a position with the Madison Copper Mining company, and subsequently with various other companies. In 1876 he organized the Mitchell Iron Mine company, and in 1878 discovered what was known as the National Iron mine. In 1883 he began operations in the Neganuee mine; and during the year 1894 they took out of the mine nearly a quarter of a million tons of ore. He is the president and general manager of the Blue mine of Neganuee. He is president of the First National bank of Hurley, Wis.; was one of the organizers of the Bank of Ishpeming; is a stockholder in the Lincoln National bank of Chicago, and is interested in various other financial institutions.

MITCHELL, SAMUEL AUGUSTUS, author, was born March 30, 1792, in Bristol, Conn. He was a noted geographer of Philadelphia who, besides publishing a series of geographies, was author also of General View of the World; and New Traveler's Guide. He died Dec. 20, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MITCHELL, SAMUEL THOMAS, educator, college president, was born Sept. 24, 1851, in Toledo, Ohio. In 1879 he became principal of Lincoln institute, Jefferson City, Mo., where he remained until 1884; and he has since been president of Wilberforce university.

MITCHELL, SILAS WEIR, physician, author, poet, was born Feb. 15, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a distinguished physician of Philadelphia, well known also as novelist and poet. His professional writings include Wear and Tear, or Hints for the Overworked; Injuries of the Nerves; Nurse and Patient; Fat and Blood; Doctor and Patient. In fiction he has published Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker; Hephzibah Guinness; In War Times; Roland Blake; Far in the Forest; Phillip Vernon; Prince Little Boy, and Other Tales out of Fairy Land; Characteristics; A Madeira Party; When all the Woods are Green; and, in verse, Francis Drake, a Tragedy of the Sea; The Mother, and Other Poems; The Cup of Youth; The Hill of Stones, and Other Poems; A Psalm of Death; and A Masque, and Other Poems.

MITCHELL, STEPHEN MIX, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 9, 1743, in Wethersfield, Conn. In 1779 he was appointed a judge of the Hartford county, Conn., court; and in 1790 placed at the head of that court. He was a delegate to the old congress in 1783 and 1785; and in 1793 was appointed to the United States senate, which position he held until 1795. In 1795 he was appointed judge of the superior court of Connecticut; and in 1807 chief justice of that court, which office he held until 1814. He died Sept. 30, 1835, in Wethersfield, Conn.

MITCHELL, THOMAS R., congressman, was born in Georgetown, S. C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1821 to 1823, from 1825 to 1829, and again from 1831 to 1833. He died in 1837.

MITCHELL, W. P., physician, surgeon, was born March 2, 1862, in Middletown, Ind. In 1883 he graduated from the Medical college of Danville, Ind.; and the following year from the Rush Medical college of Chicago. He is one of the foremost physicians of Wisconsin; has a large practice in Spring Green; and is the medical examiner for five large life insurance companies.

MITCHELL, WALTER, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1826 in Massachusetts. He is an episcopal clergyman of New York city; and the author of Two Strings to His Bow; Bryan Maurice, a novel; and Poems. Tacking Ship off Shore is the poem by which he is best known.

MITCHELL, WILL WARD, poet, was born Dec. 1, 1870, near Lexington, Mo. He is a successful journalist of Higginsville, Mo.; and is the author of a number of meritorious poems which have appeared in the periodical press and several standard collections.

MITCHELL, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 9, 1793, in Chester, Conn. He was a congregational minister of Texas who published A Doctrinal Guide for Young Christians; and Coleridge and the Moral Tendency of his Writings. He died Aug. 1, 1867, in Corpus Christi, Tex.

MITCHELL, WILLIAM, theater-manager, was born in 1798 in England. In 1836 he came to this country under an engagement with the lessees of the old National theater in New York city, where he made his debut as Jem Baggs in The Wandering Minstrel, and eventually became stage-manager. He died May 12, 1856, in New York city.

MITCHELL, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative from Indiana to the thirty-seventh congress. He died in September, 1865, in Macon, Ga.

MITCHILL, SAMUEL LATHAM, clergyman, congressman, United States senator, author, was born Aug. 20, 1764, in North Hempstead, N. Y. He was a famous physician and man of letters of New York city who filled there a position very similar to that of Oliver Wendell Holmes in Boston at a later day, the two men having many points of resemblance. He was long a professor of chemistry in Columbia college. He was a representative in congress from 1801 to 1804; and again in 1810-13; and a United States senator in 1804-09. Among his writings are: Life of Tammany, the Indian Chief; Picture of New York; and Description of Schooley's Mountain.

MOAK, NATHANIEL CLEVELAND, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 3, 1833, in Sharon, N. Y. He was an Albany lawyer; and the author of Albany Penitentiary Statutes; English Reports; and English Digest.

MOELLER, LOUIS CHARLES, artist, was born Aug. 5, 1855, in New York city. He has attained success as a painter; and has exhibited his productions in various exhibitions. He is an associate of the National Academy of Design; and is a pleasing genre painter. Among his principal works are: A Girl in a Snow Storm; Puzzled; Morning News; Stubborn; Bluffing; A Doubtful Investment; and A Siesta.

MOELLER, LOUIS FREDERICK, artist, was born in 1855 in New York city. He attended the National Academy of Design, and the academy in Munich, Germany; and has attained a national reputation as a successful artist. He received a medal at the Royal academy in Munich; and received the first prize at the National Academy of Design for the picture entitled Puzzled.

MOFFAT, EDWARD STEWART, mining engineer, was born Jan. 5, 1844, in Oxford, Ohio. In 1868 he became adjunct professor of mining and metallurgy in Lafayette, where he remained until 1870, and he afterward held the superintendency of various iron-works till 1882, when he became superintendent of the Lackawanna Iron and Coal company, of which corporation he was made general manager in 1886.

MOFFAT, JAMES CLEMENT, clergyman, author, was born May 30, 1811, in Scotland. He was a presbyterian clergyman and educator; professor at Princeton Theological seminary in 1853-90; and the author of Comparative History of Religions; Life of Dr. Chalmers; Song and Scenery, or a Summer Ramble in Scotland; Alwyn, a Romance of Study, in verse; The Church in Scotland; Church History in Brief; Rhyme of the North Country; and The Story of a Dedicated Life. He died June 7, 1890, in Princeton, N. J.

MOFFAT, WILLIAM DAVID, author, was born in 1865 in New Jersey. He is a New York writer of stories for boys, business manager of The Book Buyer and of Scribner's Magazine; and the author of The County Pennant; The Crimson Banner; Brad Mattoon; and Not Without Honor, a novel.

MOFFATT, SETH C., lawyer, legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1841, in Battle Creek, Mich. He was prosecuting attorney for Leelanau county, Mich., for six years; and was deputy collector of customs at Northport for six years. He was a state senator in 1871 and 1872; was a member of the state constitutional commission in 1873; and was register of the United States land office at Traverse City, Mich., from 1874 to 1878. He was prosecuting attorney for Grand Traverse county, Mich., in 1878; and was a representative in, and speaker of, the lower house of the Michigan legislature in 1881 and 1882. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

MOFFET, JOHN, chemist, congressman, was born in 1832 in Ireland. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first congress.

MOFFIT, HOSEA, legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served six years in the legislature of that state; and was a representative in congress from 1813 to 1817.

MOFFITT, JOHN M., sculptor, was born in 1837 in England. Many of the altars in the principal churches in New York city were designed by him. Among his latest works are the plan for the soldiers' monument in East Rock park, New Haven, Conn., and the drum of the Yorktown revolutionary monument, erected in 1881. He died Sept. 15, 1887, in London, England.

MOFFITT, JOHN M., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 8, 1843, in Chazy, N. Y. From 1866 till 1872 he was deputy collector of customs at Rouse's Point, N. Y.; and from 1872 till the present time has been engaged in the manufacture of charcoal bloom iron, and director in the People's National bank of Malone, N. Y. He was elected to the fiftieth congress; and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

MOHN, THORBJORN N., clergyman, college president, was born in 1844 in Norway. He has filled pastorates in Chicago, and for twenty-two years in St. Paul, Minn. He is the president of St. Olaf college of Northfield, Minn.

MOISE, PENINA, poet, was born April 23, 1797, in Charleston, S. C. She was the author of a volume of poems entitled Fancy's Sketch-Book. She died Sept. 13, 1880, in Charleston, S. C.

MOLDENKE, CHARLES EDWARD, author, was born Oct. 10, 1860, in Prussia. He published the text of the New York obelisk, with explanations, the first print in hieroglyphic type ever issued in America; and The World's Most Ancient Fairy-Tale, the Two Brothers, in hieratic.

MOLDENKE, EDWARD FREDERICK, clergyman, journalist, author, poet, was born Aug. 10, 1836, in Prussia. In 1865 he was editor of the Gemeindeblatt at Watertown, Wis.; and has been editor of Siloah, a monthly paper of the general council in the interest of German home missions, since 1882. He is the author of Luther-Büchlein, a poem.

MOLINEUX, EDWARD LESLIE, soldier, was born Oct. 12, 1833, in London, England. At the beginning of the war he was lieutenant-colonel of the twenty-third regiment New York national guard; and in 1862 went to the front as colonel of the one hundred and fifty-ninth New York volunteers. He participated in the campaigns of Port Hudson, Red River, Petersburg, and in the Shenandoah Valley; and he received the brevet of major-general in 1865. In 1880 he was appointed brigadier-general of the eleventh brigade of the New York national guard; and in 1885 was elected major-general of the second division. General Molineux is a member of the New York firm of C. T. Reynolds and Company, the largest paint house in the United States. He has contributed to current literature various papers on military subjects.

MOLONY, RICHARD S., physician, congressman, was born in Northfield, N. H. He was a representative from Illinois to the thirty-second congress.

MOMBERGER, WILLIAM, artist, was born June 7, 1829, in Germany. He built a studio at Morrisania, N. Y., where he has painted several landscapes, among the Catskills; Through the Woods; Harvest Moon; and Island on the Susquehanna River.

MOMBERT, JACOB ISIDOR, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 6, 1829, in Germany. He is an episcopal clergyman of Paterson, N. J.; and the author of Faith Victorious; Handbook of the English Versions of the Bible; Great Lives; History of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania; History of Charles the Great; and Short History of the Crusades.

MONARCH, MARTIN V., railroad president, was born in 1842 in Kentucky. In 1889 he became president of the Owensboro Falls of Rough and Green River railroad.

MONDELL, FRANK W., congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. He is a successful discoverer, developer, and manager of extensive coal interests at Newcastle, Wyo., of which city he has served five times as mayor. He attended the local district schools of Iowa; and received instruction in the higher branches from a private tutor. He engaged in mercantile pursuits and in railway construction in various western states and territories; and settled in Wyoming in 1887. He was elected mayor of the new town of Newcastle in 1888, and served until 1895. He was elected a member of the first state senate in 1890; and served as president of that body at the session of 1892. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Minneapolis in 1892; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican. In 1897 he was appointed assistant commissioner of the general land office.

MONELL, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Columbia county, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1821, and again from 1829 to 1831. He died in December, 1860.

MONEY, HERNANDO DE SOTO, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 26, 1839, in Holmes county,

Miss. He received his education in the university of Mississippi. He was a member of the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat. In 1896-97 he was appointed a member of the United States senate to fill a vacancy; and was elected for a full term commencing March 4, 1899. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention of 1872; and of the Chicago convention of 1896.

MONFORT, FRANCIS CASSETTE, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 1, 1844, in Greensburg, Ind. He is a presbyterian minister and editor of Cincinnati; and the author of Sermons for Silent Sabbaths; and Socialism and City Evangelization.

MONFORT, FRANKLIN P., lawyer, jurist, was born June 6, 1842, in Shelby, Mich. He graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan; has been justice of the peace; circuit court commissioner; for three terms was prosecuting attorney of Macomb county, Mich.; and now has a large practice in Mt. Clemens, Mich.

MONIS, JUDAH, educator, author, was born Feb. 4, 1683, in Italy. From 1722 till 1761 he taught Hebrew in Harvard university. He published Truth, Whole Truth, Nothing but the Truth; and A Hebrew Grammar. He died April 25, 1764, in Northborough, Mass.

MONK, EDWARD R., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 31, 1854, in Alliance, Ohio. He has been county judge of Tombstone county, Ariz., and also probate judge of the same place. He is a successful lawyer of Tucson, Ariz.; has been receiver in the United States land office; civil service examiner; and secretary of the board of regents of the university of Arizona.

MONNETT, HAMLIN VIRGIL, soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 21, 1843, in Bucyrus, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city; attended the Hospital Medical college of St. Joseph, Mo.; and graduated from the Marion Sims College of Medicine at St. Louis, Mo.

During the war he served in the eighty-sixth and one hundred and thirty-sixth regiments Ohio volunteer infantry. He commenced life as a school teacher, and has attained prominence as one of the leading physicians of Iowa, where he has a large practice, with headquarters at Orient.

MONROE, ANDREW, clergyman, was born Oct. 29, 1792, in Hampshire county, Va. He was a pioneer worker in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri; and a member during his life of eleven general conferences. He died Nov. 18, 1871, in Mexico.

MONROE, HARRIET, author, poet, was born in 1860 in Illinois. She is a poet of Chicago; and the author of Valeria, and Other Poems; and Life of John Well-born Root.

MONROE, JAMES, fifth president of the United States, was born April 28, 1758, in the county of Westmoreland, Va., and graduated at William and Mary college in 1776. He then joined the continental army, where he remained three years, and was promoted to the rank of captain. He then commenced the study of law under Thomas Jefferson, and in 1782 he was elected to the Virginia legislature. The next year he was chosen one of the executive council, in which he continued until 1783, when he was elected a member of the continental congress, and held that office three years. During his attendance at New York, in 1785, as a member of congress, he married a daughter of Mr. L. Kortright. In 1787 he was elected to the state legislature, and in 1788 he was a member of the convention to decide upon the adoption of the new constitution.

He was elected United States senator in 1788, and at the expiration of his term, in 1794, he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the court of Versailles, and was recalled in 1796. In 1799 he was elected governor of Virginia, and served the constitutional term of three years. In 1803 he was appointed envoy extraordinary to France, to negotiate for the purchase of Louisiana. In 1810 he was elected to the legislature and the same year was commissioned minister plenipotentiary to England. In 1811 Mr. Monroe was again elected governor of Virginia, but was soon after appointed secretary of state by President Madison, and in 1814 he was appointed to the war department, which he took without relinquishing the former post. He was elected president of the United States in 1816, and was inaugurated March 4, 1817; he was re-elected in 1820, and took the oath of office March 5, 1821, the 4th being Sunday. His term of office expired March 4, 1825, and he retired to his residence in Loudoun county, Va., where he resided until 1831, when he removed to New York city, and took up his residence with his son-in-law. He died on the 4th of July, 1831. Monroe held office twenty-six years. He died so poor that he was buried at the expense of his relatives. He was the author of State Papers; Tour of Observation in 1817; The People; The Sovereigns; and View of the Conduct of the Executive in the Foreign Affairs of the United States.

MONROE, JAMES, soldier, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1799, in Albemarle, Va. He was in congress in 1839-41 from New York; and was chosen again in 1846, but his seat was contested, and congress ordered a new election, at which he refused to be a candidate. In 1850-52 he was in the New York legislature. He died Sept. 7, 1870, in Orange, N. J.

MONROE, JAMES, educator, United States senator, congressman, was born July 18, 1821, in Plainfield, Conn. He was a professor in Oberlin college from 1849 until 1862. He was a member of the Connecticut state house of representatives in 1856-59, and of the state senate in 1860-62; and was chosen president of the senate in 1861, and again in 1862. He was United States consul at Rio Janeiro from 1863 to 1869; serving for several months of 1869 as charge d' affaires ad interim at that capital. He was elected to the forty-second, forty-third, and forty-fourth congresses; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses. Since leaving congress he has filled the chair of political science and modern history in Oberlin college.

MONROE, THOMAS B., lawyer, jurist, was a citizen of Kentucky. In 1834 he was appointed United States judge for the district of Kentucky.

MONROE, V., lawyer, jurist, was born in Kentucky. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Washington, residing at Olympia.

MONROE, WILL S., educator, lecturer, poet, was born in Wyoming Valley, Pa. For three years he was city superintendent of schools of Pasadena, Cal. He is the author of Poets and Prose Writers of Wyoming Valley; and his poems have appeared in Peterson's Magazine, Journal of Education, and other publications.

MONSARRAT, NICHOLAS, railroad president, was born March 1, 1839, in Canada. Since 1895 he has been president of the Columbus, Sandusky and Hocking railroad.

MONTAGUE, CHARLES HOWARD, journalist, author, was born in 1858 in Massachusetts. He was a journalist of Boston, city editor of The Globe; and the author of The Romance of the Lilies; The Face of Rosenfel; Two Strokes of the Bell; The Doctor's Mistake; and The Countess Muta. He died in 1889.

MONTAGUE, ROBERT L., jurist, legislator, congressman, was born May 23, 1819, in Middlesex county, Va. He served in the confederate congress of Virginia from 1863 until it ceased to exist. In 1873 he was elected judge of the eighth judicial circuit, and for several years he was president of the General Baptist association of Virginia. He died March 4, 1880.

MONTAGUE, WILLIAM LEWIS, clergyman, author, was born April 6, 1831, in Belchertown, Mass. He is a congregational clergyman, professor of modern languages at Amherst college since 1862; and the author of Comparative Spanish Grammar; Manual of Italian Grammar; and Introduction to Italian Literature.

MONTANYA, J. D. L., legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served two years in the assembly of that state; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1839 to 1841.

MONTEFIORE, JOSEPH H., journalist, lawyer, was born March 19, 1848, in St. Albans, Vt. He learned the printer's trade in all its branches; served one year as a soldier in the army of the gulf; was admitted to the bar; and was the editor of the successful daily and weekly newspaper of his native city before he was twenty-one years of age. During 1873-78 he was the editor of the Baldwin Bulletin, Hammond Independent, and Wilson Pioneer, three papers issued from one office in Wisconsin. During 1878-80 he was a writer for the St. Paul Globe and the Minneapolis Tribune; and then became proprietor and editor of the Minneapolis Herald. Since 1880 he has practiced law in St. Albans, Vt.

MONTEFIORE, JOSHUA, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 10, 1762, in London, England. He was the author of Commercial and Notarial Precedents; Commercial Dictionary; Traders' Compendium; United States Traders' Compendium; Law and Treatise on Bookkeeping; and Laws of Land and Sea. He died June 26, 1843, in St. Albans, Vt.

MONTGOMERY, ALEXANDER B., jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1837, in Hardin county, Ky. He was elected county judge of Hardin county, Ky., in 1870, serving till 1874; and he was elected to the state senate in 1877, serving till 1881. He was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, and fifty-second congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

MONTGOMERY, BENJAMIN F., lawyer, politician, was born Feb. 28, 1834, in Richland county, Ohio. He received a liberal education in the common schools and at the academy of Ashland, Ohio. He has attained success as an able lawyer in Colorado Springs, Colo.; and has been a delegate to four national democratic conventions.

MONTGOMERY, DANIEL, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1807 to 1809.

MONTGOMERY, GEORGE WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born April 6, 1810, in Portland, Maine. He is a universalist clergyman of Rochester, N. Y.; and the author of Illustrations of the Law of Kindness; and Sermons.

MONTGOMERY, JABEZ, educator, scientist, was born Oct. 5, 1839, in Plainfield, Ind. He received his education at the Michigan university, from which institution he received in course the degrees of B. S., M. S., and Ph. D. During 1867-79 he was professor of science at the Woodstock college, Ontario; and while teaching there he raised money and built the largest astronomical observatory in the dominion at that time; and for nine years he there filled the position of director of the chief meteorological station. During 1881-83 he taught physics and chemistry in the Indianapolis High school; and during 1883-89 filled the chair of natural science in the Kalamazoo college, Michigan. Since 1890 he has been engaged in the Ann Arbor High school as teacher of astronomy, botany and chemistry.

MONTGOMERY, JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born July 6, 1722, in Ireland. He served as captain in the expedition against the Indians under General John Forbes, his commission bearing the date of May 7, 1758. He was in other ways prominent in local affairs, and was county treasurer in 1767-76. He became a member of the continental congress. He died Sept. 3, 1808, in Carlisle, Pa.

MONTGOMERY, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1807 to 1811. He was also mayor of Baltimore.

MONTGOMERY, JOHN ALEXANDER, railroad president, was born Aug. 30, 1851, in Lewisburg, Vt. Since 1888 he has been president of the Mary Lee Coal and Railway company at Birmingham, Ala.

MONTGOMERY, JOHN BERRIEN, naval officer, was born Nov. 17, 1794, in Allentown, N. J. He served in the various wars of the United States; and in 1866 was placed on the retired list as rear admiral. In 1813 he received a sword and thanks of congress for services in Perry's victory on Lake Erie.

MONTGOMERY, JOHN G., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in 1805 in Northumberland, Pa. He was elected to the Pennsylvania state legislature in 1855; and was elected a member of the thirty-fifth congress from Pennsylvania, but died before taking his seat. He died April 24, 1857, in Danville, Pa.

MONTGOMERY, JOSEPH, congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress from 1780 to 1784. He died Oct. 14, 1794, in Harrisburg, Pa.

MONTGOMERY, JUSTIN ROBERT M., lawyer, jurist, was born May 12, 1849, in Eaton Rapids, Mich. Since 1877 he has practiced law in Grand Rapids, Mich.; and was assistant United States attorney from that time until 1881. In that year he was elected judge of the seventeenth judicial circuit; was re-elected and served until 1888. In 1891 he was elected a justice of the supreme court of Michigan for term expiring in 1901.

MONTGOMERY, MARCUS WHITMAN, clergyman, author, was born in 1839 in New York. He was a congregational clergyman, instructor in Chicago Theological seminary since 1890; and the author of History of Jay County, Indiana; A Wind from the Holy Spirit; and The Mormon Delusion. He died in 1894.

MONTGOMERY, MARTIN VAN BUREN, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 20, 1840, in Eaton Rapids, Mich. In 1870 he was elected a representative in the Michigan state legislature and served two years. In 1875 he moved to Lansing, Mich.; in 1876 was a delegate to the democratic national convention; and in 1885 was appointed commissioner of patents in the department of the interior at Washington. In 1887 he became associate judge of the supreme court of Columbia.

MONTGOMERY, RICHARD, soldier, was born Dec. 2, 1736, in Ireland. He entered the British army, and was shortly afterward ordered to America. He returned to Europe, but came back to America in 1773, and purchased a farm at King's Bridge, N. Y. In 1775 he was elected to represent Dutchess county in the first New York provincial convention. The same year he was appointed a brigadier-general; and was killed at the battle of Quebec, Dec. 31, 1775. A marble monument was erected to his memory in New York city.

MONTGOMERY, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Nelson county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1813 to 1815, and again from 1821 to 1823. He died April 2, 1828.

MONTGOMERY, THOMAS HARRISON, president of the American Fire Insurance company, was born Feb. 23, 1830, in Philadelphia, Pa. He attended the university of Pennsylvania, and in 1851 graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. Since 1859 he has been a fire underwriter, and since 1882 president of the American Fire Insurance company of Philadelphia. He is a member of the Pennsylvania and New York Historical societies; of the Sons of the Revolution, Colonial Wars, Colonial Society of Pennsylvania, and various other orders; and is prominent in the business and public affairs of his city and state.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1793 to 1795.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM, legislator, congressman, was born in Guilford county, N. C. He was elected to the North Carolina general assembly in 1824, where he served, with but one intermission, until 1834, when he was elected a representative in congress, and continued in that position until 1841. He died Nov. 27, 1844.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born April 11, 1819, in Canton, Pa. He was elected a representative in congress from Pennsylvania in 1856, serving in the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He died April 28, 1870, in Washington, Pa.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, soldier, farmer, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 18, 1844, in Winston county, Miss. He left the Union university of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and enlisted in the twelfth regiment, Mississippi infantry; and after twelve months joined cavalry service, was promoted to captain, and was engaged in the principal fights and skirmishes. After the war he went to the law school of Lexington, Ky., and has been a successful lawyer and farmer of Edwards, Miss. In 1873 he served as a member of the Mississippi state senate. He was among the first to raise the cry against carpet bag rule in Mississippi, and in 1875 commanded the citizen forces that went to Jackson to demand that the negro militia companies be disbanded, and was successful in that demand.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM B., missionary, author, was born about 1790, in Danville, Pa. In 1833 he completed an elementary book that contained translations of various passages of Scripture. This was the first work written in the Osage language, and was published in Boston after his death. He died Aug. 17, 1834, in Union Station, Kan.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM READING, soldier, was born July 10, 1801, in Monmouth county, N. J. He took part in the war with Mexico, and was promoted to major in 1852. In 1861 he was commissioned a brigadier-general of volunteers, and subsequently became military governor of Alexandria, Va. He died May 31, 1871, in Bristol, Pa.

MONTGOMERY, WILLIAM WATTS, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 11, 1827, in Augusta, Ga. In 1872 he was appointed judge of the supreme court of Georgia.

MONTGOMERY, ZACHARIAH, congressman, was born March 6, 1825, in Nelson county, Ky. In 1856 he was appointed district attorney of Sutter county, Cal.; and was re-elected. In 1860 he was elected a representative in the California legislature; and in 1885 was appointed United States attorney-general for the department of the interior.

MONTI, LUIGI, educator, author, was born in 1810 in Sicily. He is an educator of New York city who appears in Longfellow's Tales of a Wayside Inn as The Young Sicilian. He is the author of An American Consul Abroad; and Leone, a novel.

MOOAR, GEORGE, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1830 in Massachusetts. He is a congregational clergyman, and professor in Pacific Theological seminary at Oakland, Cal., since 1870. He is the author of The Religion of Loyalty; and Prominent Characteristics of Congregational Churches.

MOODY, DWIGHT LYMAN, evangelist, author, was born Feb. 5, 1837, in Northfield, Mass. He is a celebrated evangelist. Among his more important writings are The Second Coming of Christ; The Way and the Word; Secret Power; The Way to God; Glad Tidings; Great Joy; To All People; Bible Characters; and How to Study the Bible.

MOODY, FRANK SIMS, lawyer, banker, state senator, was born Oct. 29, 1849, in Tuscaloosa, Ala. In 1877 he was elected president of the First National bank of Tuscaloosa, Ala. He was elected in 1894 to the Alabama state senate.

MOODY, GIDEON C. soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Oct. 16, 1832, in Cortland, N. Y. He moved to Dakota in 1864; was a member of the house of representatives of Dakota territory in 1867-69, and in 1874; and was speaker of the house in 1868-69 and in 1874. He was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Dakota territory in 1878, and served as such until April 1, 1883. He was elected by the legislature which assembled under the constitution of 1885 as one of the United States senators for the state of South Dakota; was again elected one of the United States senators for the state of South Dakota in 1889, under the provisions of the act of congress admitting South Dakota and other states into the union. He took his seat Dec. 2, 1889; his term of service expired March 3, 1891.

MOODY, JOEL, lawyer, state senator, author, was born Oct. 28, 1834, in New Brunswick. From 1865-81 he served in the Kansas state legislature; for four years was assistant secretary of the senate; and then became a state senator and a regent of the university of Kansas. He is the author of Science of Evil; Junius Unmasked; and a volume of poems, entitled The Song of Kansas. His poems have also been included in several standard collections.

MOODY, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1876, in Newbury, Mass. He was instrumental in founding a congregational church in Providence, R. I., and possessed great influence among the churches. His publications include State of the Damned; Judas Hung up in Chains; and Election Sermon. He died Nov. 13, 1947.

MOODY, WILLIAM H., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 23, 1853, in Newbury, Mass. He was district attorney for the eastern district of Massachusetts from 1890 to 1895; he was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican, at a special election, to fill a vacancy; and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MOODY, WILLIAM LEWIS, soldier, merchant, state legislator, was born May 19, 1828, in Essex county, Va. In 1866 he removed to Galveston and entered the cotton factorage business, his firm now being W. L. Moody and Co. He was president of the Galveston cotton exchange for thirteen years. In 1874 he was elected a representative to the Texas legislature, and during the same session became financial agent for Texas, for the sale of its bonds, and as such successfully negotiated the loan.

MOODY, ZENAS F. soldier, surveyor, merchant, state legislator, governor, was born May 27, 1832, in Granby, Mass. He settled in Oregon in 1851; was a surveyor; and in 1856 was appointed government inspector of the United States surveys in California. For many years he was a mail contractor between The Dalles and Portland. In 1880 he was elected a member of the state legislature; and was speaker of the house the following session. In 1882 he was elected governor of Oregon, and served for four years.

MOOERS, BENJAMIN, soldier, state legislator, was born April 1, 1758, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1783 he settled in the vicinity of Plattsburg, N. Y., then a wilderness, was for eight years a member of the New York legislature, and held various other offices. He was a major-general of militia, and as such commanded at the battle of Plattsburg, in 1814. He died Feb. 20, 1838, in Plattsburg, N. Y.

MOON, JOHN AUSTIN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 22, 1855, in Albemarle county, Va. He was elected attorney for the city of Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1881 and 1882; and was appointed special circuit judge in 1889, and twice reappointed, and held the office continuously under special commissions until 1891. He was appointed as regular judge for the fourth circuit, and held under this commission until 1892, when he was elected circuit judge; and was re-elected in 1894 for a term of eight years. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

MOON, JOHN W., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 18, 1836, in Wayne county, Mich. He was elected to the Michigan state senate in 1884, and re-elected in 1886; and was elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican.

MOONEY, EDWARD LUDLOW, artist, was born March 25, 1813, in New York city. He executed six admirable copies of Inman's portrait of Martin Van Buren. He was elected an associate of the academy in 1839, and an academician in 1840. Among them were likenesses of Commodore Oliver H. Perry and of Governor William H. Seward, the latter now in the state house at Albany, also that of Achmet Ben Aman, the commander of the Imam of Muscat's frigate Sultan, purchased by the common council of New York. He died July 10, 1887, in New York city.

MOONEY, SAMUEL L., railroad president, was born June 14, 1813, in Powhatan, Ohio. Since 1881 he has been president of the Bellaire, Janesville and Cincinnati railroad.

MOOR, WYMAN BRADLEY SEVEY, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Nov. 3, 1814, in Waterville, Maine. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1839; and was attorney-general of that state from 1844 to 1848. By appointment he succeeded John Fairfield as a senator in congress, serving from January to June, 1848. He subsequently devoted much attention to the railroad interests of his state; and in 1857 was appointed consul general for the British American provinces. He died Feb. 16, 1869, in Lynchburg, Va.

MOORE, ALFRED, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born May 21, 1755, in Brunswick county, N. C. In 1790 he was elected attorney-general of North Carolina; and was appointed judge in 1798. He was associate judge of the supreme court of the United States from 1799 to 1805. He died Oct. 15, 1810, in Belfont, N. C.

MOORE, ALANSON WOOD, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 14, 1838, in De Kalb county, Ga. He was elected to the Louisiana state legislature in 1892, and was re-elected in 1894. He has delivered lectures on Intellectual, Moral and Physical Culture; and is an ardent prohibitionist.

MOORE, ANDREW, congressman, was born in 1752 in Cannisello, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1789 to 1797, and again from 1803 to 1804, when he was appointed to the United States senate. He died April 14, 1821, near Lexington, Va.

MOORE, ANDREW B. educator, governor. He was governor of Alabama from 1857 to 1863. He died April 5, 1873, in Marion, Ala.

MOORE, MRS. ANNIE AUBERTINE [WOODWARD], author, was born Sept. 27, 1841, in Montgomery county, Pa. She is a Wisconsin translator of note from the Norse; co-translator with Anderson of Björnson's novels, and editor of Echoes from Mist Land.

MOORE, AUDREY C., journalist, physician, was born March 12, 1867, in La Grange, Mo. He is a prominent physician of Anaheim, Cal.; and is the editor and owner of the Osteopath, a medical journal. He is vice-president of the Pacific School of Osteopathy, and demonstrator in osteopathy in that institution.

MOORE, AUGUSTA, poet. She has contributed a number of poems to the leading periodical and local press of Maine.

MOORE, BARTHOLOMEW FIGURES, lawyer, state legislator, was born Jan. 29, 1801, in Halifax county, N. C. He was in the North Carolina legislature in 1836-44. He was attorney-general of North Carolina in 1848, and was appointed to revise the laws of that state in 1849-54. He died Nov. 27, 1878, in Raleigh, N. C.

MOORE, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born March 29, 1801, in Boston, Mass. He was a successful journalist and author of Boston, Mass.; and founded Zion's Herald in 1823.

MOORE, CHARLES CALDWELL, inventor, was born Feb. 13, 1830, in Marion, N. Y. He served in the civil war and was made quartermaster, serving in that capacity for three years. In 1865 he invented and patented the Moore's cushioned blotter.

MOORE, CHARLES HERBERT, educator, author, was born in 1840 in New York. He is a professor of art at Harvard university, and the author of The Development and Character of Gothic Architecture, a work of much value; and Examples for Elementary Practice in Delineation.

MOORE, CHARLES LEONARD, lawyer, author, poet, was born March 16, 1854, in Philadelphia. He is a lawyer and poet of Philadelphia; and the author of Poems Antique and Modern; Banquet of Palacios, a Comedy; and A Book of Day Dreams, a volume of poems.

MOORE, MRS. CLARA [JESSUP], author, poet, was born Feb. 16, 1824, in Philadelphia. She is a Philadelphia author who lived much abroad, mainly in London. She is the author of Master Jacky's Holidays; Frank and Fanny; The Diamond Cross; Mabel's Mission; Poems and Stories; On Dangerous Ground, a novel; Gondaline's Lesson; Sensible Etiquette; Slander and Gossip; Social Ethics; and The Warden's Tale, and Other Poems.

MOORE, CLEMENT CLARKE, educator, author, poet, was born July 15, 1779, in New York city. He was an educator of New York city, and professor of oriental literature in the General Theological seminary in 1821-63. He published a Hebrew-English Lexicon and a volume of poems, but is more widely known as the author of the famous poem, The Visit of St. Nicholas. He died July 10, 1863, in Newport, R. I.

MOORE, DAVID ALBERT, physician, author, was born Nov. 8, 1814, in Lansing, N. Y. He is a physician of Syracuse, and the author of A Panorama of Time; and How She Won Him.

MOORE, DUNLOP, clergyman, author, was born July 25, 1830, in Ireland. Since 1875 he has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church of New Brighton, Pa. He assisted in translating the Scriptures into the Gjurati language, wrote treatises on Mohammedanism and Jainism, and edited a monthly periodical, The Gnyan-dipaka, in the same tongue.

MOORE, EDWIN WARD, naval officer, was born in 1811, in Alexandria, Va. In 1836 he was selected by the new government of Texas for the chief command of its navy, with the rank of commodore. He died Oct. 5, 1865, in New York city.

MOORE, ELIAKIM HASTINGS, surveyor, banker, congressman, was born June 19, 1812, in Worcester county, Mass. From 1836 to 1846 he was county surveyor of Ohio; and from 1846 to 1860 county auditor. He was a director, and then president for many years, of the Athens branch of the State Bank of Ohio, and subsequently of the First National bank of Athens. In 1862 he was appointed a collector of internal revenue; and in 1868 was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-first congress.

MOORE, ELY, journalist, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1835 to 1839. He was appointed ludian agent in Kansas territory; and at the time of his death was register of a land office in Kansas. He died Jan. 26, 1860.

MOORE, ERASMUS DARWIN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 30, 1802, in Winsted, Conn. He was a congregational minister and editor of Boston, and the author of Life Scenes in Mission Fields; and The New Heart. He died in 1889.

MOORE, FRANK, author, was born Dec. 17, 1828, in Concord, N. H. He is a writer of New York city who has edited a Cyclopedia of American Eloquence; and The Rebellion Record, and other compilations. Women of the War is one of his original works.

MOORE, FREDERIC A., journalist, poet, was born Feb. 11, 1826, in Bristol, N. H. He is the author of The Book of Gems.

MOORE, GABRIEL, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born about 1790, in Stokes county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from Alabama from 1822 to 1829; governor of the state from 1829 to 1831; and a senator in congress from 1831 to 1837. He died June 9, 1844, in Caddo, Texas.

MOORE, GEORGE HENRY, author, was born April 20, 1823, in Concord, N. H. He was the superintendent of the Lenox library, New York city, from 1872 till his death. He was the author of History of the Jurisprudence of New York; Treason of Charles Lee; Notes on the History of Slavery in Massachusetts; Washington as an Angler; and Employment of Negroes in the Revolutionary Army. He died in 1892.

MOORE, HARRY HUMPHREY, artist, was born July 2, 1844, in New York city. His works, which are chiefly on Moorish, Spanish and Japanese subjects, include Almea, the figure of a Moorish dancer in the Alhambra, for which he received a medal at the Philadelphia Centennial exhibition in 1876; The Blind Guitar Player; A Moorish Bazaar; A Bulgarian; A Moorish Merchant; A Morning Call in Japan; The Dainio; and A Garden Party at the Alhambra.

MOORE, HEMAN ALLEN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1810, in Plainfield, Vt. He was appointed adjutant-general of the Ohio state militia; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to the time of his death. He died April 3, 1844, in Columbus, Ohio.

MOORE, HENRIETTA G., universalist minister, temperance worker, lecturer, was born in Newark, Ohio. For a number of years she was engaged in educational work; and then took up the temperance crusade movement. As a temperance organizer she has labored in every state and territory in the union. In 1891 she was regularly ordained a minister of the universalist church by the Ohio universalist convention in Columbus. She fills a pastorate in Springfield, Ohio; and is also prominently identified with the prohibitionists.

MOORE, HENRY, governor of New York, was born in 1713, in Jamaica, W. I. He was the only native colonist that was ever governor of New York. He died Sept. 11, 1769, in New York city.

MOORE, HENRY D., merchant, congressman, was born April 17, 1817, in Goshen, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1849 to 1853; and for several years after leaving congress was treasurer of Pennsylvania.

MOORE, HENRY EATON, journalist, composer, was born July 31, 1803, in Andover, N. H. He established and edited the Grafton Journal in Plymouth, N. H., in 1824-26, and subsequently taught music in Concord, N. H., and in Cambridge, Mass. A short time before his death he began the publication of the Boston Eoliad, a weekly musical journal. His publications include The Musical Catechism, and other musical works. He died Oct. 23, 1831, in East Cambridge, Mass.

MOORE, HORACE L., soldier, merchant, congressman, was born Feb. 25, 1837, in Mantua, Ohio. He enlisted as a private soldier in the second Kansas infantry May 14, 1861, and served continuously until June 30, 1865, when he was mustered out of the service as lieutenant-colonel of the fourth Arkansas cavalry; and commanded the eighteenth and nineteenth regiments of Kansas cavalry in the United States service, serving against the Indians on the plains in 1867-68. He has been engaged in mercantile pursuits since the close of his service in the army, except for two years, when he was treasurer of Douglas county, Kansas. He was elected to the fifty-third congress. He is now engaged in compiling a genealogy of the Moore family.

MOORE, HORATIO NEWTON, author, was born in 1814 in New Jersey. He was the author of Orlando, a tragedy; The Regicide, a drama; Memoir of the Duanes; Mary Morris, a novel; and Lives of Marion and Wayne. He died Aug. 26, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MOORE, JACOB BAILEY, journalist, author, was born Oct. 31, 1797, in Andover, N. H. He was a journalist who was postmaster of San Francisco in 1849-53, and the author of Laws of Trade in the United States; Gazetteer of New Hampshire; and Annals of Concord, New Hampshire. He died Sept. 1, 1853, in Bellows Falls, N. Y.

MOORE, JAMES, governor, was born about 1640 in Ireland. He emigrated to this country about 1665, settled in Charleston, S. C., and in 1700 was governor of the state. He died in 1729 in Charleston, S. C.

MOORE, JAMES, soldier, was born in 1737, in New Hanover, N. C. He served in the revolutionary war and was promoted brigadier-general; made commander-in-chief of the southern department, and received the thanks of congress. He died Jan. 15, 1777, in Wilmington, N. C.

MOORE, JEHIEL TUTTLE, physician, surgeon, lecturer, was born Oct. 4, 1848, in Ontario, Canada. He was dean of the Minneapolis college of physicians and surgeons for thirteen years, and lecturer on theory and practice of medicine for the past fourteen years.

MOORE, JESSE HALE, soldier, educator, clergyman, congressman, was born April 22, 1817, in St. Clair county, Ill. He served in the civil war and was brevetted a brigadier-general. After the war he re-entered the pulpit, and was presiding elder at Decatur. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-first congress; and was re-elected to the forty-second congress.

MOORE, JOHN, state legislator, state senator, congressman, was born in 1788, in Berkeley county, Va. From 1825 to 1834 he was a member of the Louisiana state legislature; and also served several years in the state senate. He was a representative in congress from Louisiana from 1841 to 1843, and again from 1851 to 1853. He died in June, 1867, in Louisiana.

MOORE, JOHN, Roman catholic bishop, was born June 27, 1835, in Ireland. He was consecrated second bishop of St. Augustine, Fla., in the pro-cathedral, Charleston, in 1877.

MOORE, JOHN GODFREY, founder, was born July 7, 1847, in Steuben, Maine. In 1880, when the Western Union telegraph Co. had apparently absorbed all its rivals, Messrs. Evans and Moore entertained the idea of constructing lines connecting the principal cities and of leasing wires to bankers and merchants during business hours and to newspapers at night.

Abundant capital was forthcoming for the purpose, and the projectors had soon stretched wires, connecting the cities of New York, Boston and Washington. Finally, the Western Union Telegraph Co. purchased the lines of the American Union Telegraph Co., and then Mr. Moore organized the Mutual Union Telegraph Co.

MOORE, JOHN WEEKS, author, was born April 11, 1807, in Andover, N. H. He was the author of Historical Gatherings Relating to Printers, Printing, and Publishing. He died in 1889.

MOORE, JOSEPH B., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Nov. 3, 1845, in Commerce, Mich. Since 1868 he has practiced law in Lapeer, Mich. For eight years he served as judge of the sixth judicial circuit; was a member of the state senate in 1879; was prosecuting attorney of Lapeer county for two terms; and in 1895 was elected justice of the supreme court.

MOORE, JOSEPH WEST, author. He is the author of Picturesque Washington; The American Congress; and A History of National Legislation and Political Events.

MOORE, JUDSON L., musician, composer, was born Sept. 12, 1857, in Bethlehem, Ga. He is the author of a number of pieces of Sunday-school and singing class music.

MOORE, LABAN T., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 13, 1829, in Cabell county, Va. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-sixth congress; and served as a colonel in the army during the rebellion.

MOORE, LITTLETON WILDE, soldier, jurist, congressman, was born in 1835 in Alabama. He was elected to the constitutional convention of Texas in 1875; was elected district judge in 1876; and remained upon the bench till 1885. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses; and was re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

MOORE, LUCAS, farmer, public official, was born July 8, 1861, in Washington county, Ky. He is a successful farmer of Lebanon, Ky.; and commissioner of agriculture, labor and statistics for the state of Kentucky.

MOORE, MARSHAL F., governor, was born in New York. He moved to Ohio and was appointed from that state governor of the territory of Washington, residing at Olympia.

MOORE, MARTIN, clergyman, journalist, author, was born April 22, 1790, in Sterling, Mass. He edited the Boston Recorder twenty years, and in 1861-66 was a vice-president of the New England historical-genealogical society. He published a History of Natick; and Life of John Eliot. He died March 12, 1866, in Cambridge, Mass.

MOORE, MARTIN V., author, poet, was born April 12, 1837, in Johnson county, Tenn. His literary work has been confined chiefly to prose writing, and he has done much in the line of editorial work, in miscellaneous short stories, sketches, magazine articles, book reviews, scientific papers, political and historical works, and is the author of several large prose works. His poems have appeared in Harper's Magazine, Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine, The Atlanta Constitution, and in several standard collections.

MOORE, MRS. ELLA MAUDE, poet, She is a successful writer of Thomaston, Maine; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Songs; and of Sunshine and Shadow, which has attracted favorable notice from the press and public. She is also a constant contributor of poems to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States; and her poems have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard collections.

MOORE, MONTA J., lawyer, legislator, was born March 28, 1866, in Cameron, Texas. During 1892-94 he was a member of the state democratic executive committee; in 1892 was elected a member of the house of representatives of the Texas legislature. He was defeated for nomination for congress by Governor George C. Pendleton in 1894; and in 1896 he declined the nomination for congress. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the west, and has a large practice in his native city.

MOORE, NAPOLEON BONAPARTE, lawyer, banker, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 7, 1832, in London, Ohio. He was county judge of Page county, Iowa, for several years; and a member of the senate of that state. Since 1888 he has resided in Fort Worth, engaged in law and banking.

MOORE, NATHANIEL F., college president, author, was born Dec. 25, 1782, in Newtown, L. I. In 1842-49 he was president of Columbia college. He was the author of Ancient Mineralogy; Lectures on Greek Language and Literature; An Introduction to Universal Grammar; and a Historical Sketch of Columbia College. He died April 7, 1872, in The Highlands of the Hudson.

MOORE, NICHOLAS R., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1803 to 1811, and again from 1813 to 1816. He died in 1816 in Baltimore.

MOORE, ORREN C., journalist, legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1839, in New Hampton, N. H. He is a journalist, establishing the Nashua Daily Telegraph in 1869, which he still edits and conducts. He served six terms in the lower branch of the New Hampshire legislature, and one term in the upper branch; was a member of the state tax commission; and chairman of the state railroad commission for three years. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

MOORE, OSCAR F., congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857.

MOORE, RICHARD CHANNING, protestant episcopal bishop, was born Aug. 21, 1762, in New York city. He accepted a call to St. Andrew's, Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., which he held for twenty-one years. He received the degree of D. D. from Dartmouth in 1805. In 1808 he was a clerical deputy to the general convention of his church in Baltimore, Md., and was chairman of the committee on additions to its hymnal. In 1809 he accepted the rectorship of St. Stephen's, New York city, where he remained for five years. He was consecrated bishop of Virginia in 1814. He died Nov. 11, 1841, in New York city.

MOORE, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Washington county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1821.

MOORE, S. McD., soldier, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1835; and served in the confederate army during the rebellion.

MOORE, SAMUEL, physician, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1819 to 1822. He died Feb. 18, 1861.

MOORE, MRS. SUSAN TEACKLE [SMITH], author, was born in Maryland. She is a novelist of Brooklyn, and the author of Ryle's Open Gate.

MOORE, SYDENHAM E., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Rutherford county, Tenn. He was judge of the county court of Greene county, Ala., for six years; and for a short time also of the circuit court of that state. He resigned his judgeship, and went to Mexico as captain of a volunteer company. On his return home he was elected brigadier-general of militia. In 1857 he was chosen a member of the thirty-fifth congress; and re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He also took part in the rebellion as a colonel.

MOORE, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1801 to 1813, and again from 1815 to 1817.

MOORE, THOMAS OVERTON, governor, was born in North Carolina. He settled in Rapides Parish as a cotton planter; in 1856 was elected to the state senate of Louisiana; and in 1860 was elected governor, serving four years. He died at his home in June, 1876.

MOORE, THOMAS PATRICK, soldier, congressman, was born in 1797, in Charlotte county, Va. He was an officer in the war. He was a member of congress from 1823 to 1829 from Kentucky; and was minister to the republic of Colombia in 1829. He was lieutenant-colonel in the regular army during the war with Mexico; and his last public position was that of a member of the convention for revising the constitution of Kentucky. He died July 21, 1853, in Harrodsburg, Ky.

MOORE, THOMAS S., congressman, was born in Jefferson county, Va. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1820 to 1823.

MOORE, THOMAS VERNON, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 1, 1818, in Newville, Pa. He was a presbyterian minister of Nashville, and the author of Last Words of Jesus; God's University, or the World a School; The Culdee Church; Corporate Life of the Church; and The Last Days of Jesus. He died Aug. 5, 1871, in Nashville, Tenn.

MOORE, WALTER BURRITT, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 25, 1836, in Bristol, Vt. He removed to New York and with Paul A. Chadbourne he edited The Public Service of the State of New York, in three volumes.

MOORE, WILLIAM, lawyer, was born in 1734, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1781 he was elected president of the executive council of Pennsylvania, resigning in 1782. He died July 24, 1793.

MOORE, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1810, in Montgomery county, Pa. He was twice elected a judge of the court of common pleas for Atlantic county, N. J., serving in all ten years. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the fortieth and forty-first congresses.

MOORE, WILLIAM EVES, clergyman, author, was born April 1, 1823, in Strasburg, Pa. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Columbus, Ohio, since 1872; and the author of New Digest of the General Assembly; and The Presbyterian Digest.

MOORE, WILLIAM ROBERT, merchant, congressman, was born March 28, 1830, in Huntsville, Ala. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-seventh congress as a republican.

MOORE, WILLIAM S., journalist, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1822, in Bethlehem, Pa. He was elected to the forty-third congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

MOORE, WILLIAM THOMAS, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Aug. 27, 1832, in Henry county, Ky. He is a voluminous writer. Most prominent among the productions of his pen are Views of Life, a beautiful book, full of practical thoughts on every-day subjects, and free from pulpit cant; and, The Living Pulpit of the Christian Church.

MOORE, ZEPHANIAH SWIFT, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 20, 1770, in Palmer, Mass. He was president of Williams college in 1815; and in 1822 became the first president of Amherst college. He died June 30, 1823, in Amherst, Mass.

MOOREHEAD, WARREN KING, archæologist, author, was born in 1866 in Italy. He is an archæologist of Italian birth, but American parentage, curator of the Ohio State Archæological Museum at Columbus. He is the author of Primitive Man in Ohio; Fort Ancient; The Great Prehistoric Earthwork of Warren County, Ohio; Wapeta, the Sioux, a Story of Indian Life; and Field Work.

MOORHEAD, JAMES KENNEDY, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1806, in Halifax, Pa. In 1836 he moved to Pittsburg, Pa.; there took an active part in improving the navigation of the Monongahela. He was made president of a company bearing that name, and established in that city the Union Cotton factory. In 1838 he received the militia title of adjutant-general. In 1859 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, and fortieth congresses as a republican. He died March 6, 1884, in Pittsburg, Pa.

MORAIS, SABATO, clergyman, was born April 29, 1824, in Italy. He took an active part in the establishment of the conservative Jewish theological seminary of New York, opened in 1887, of which he was chosen president, and has been active in furthering Jewish charitable and educational progress in Philadelphia.

MORAN, JANE WORMLEY BLACKBURN, author, was born Nov. 14, 1842, in Spring Grove, Va. She is the author of Miss Washington of Virginia; What a Man Can do with a Woman's Life; and other works. She is the wife of Frank Bergen Moran, a son of the millionaire banker of New York city, who is well known by several remarkable books on government, free trade, and political economy. She resides in Charlottesville, Va.

MORAN, LEON, artist, was born in 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has exhibited numerous paintings at the National academy, which include Waylaid; An Interrupted Conspiracy; and An Amateur. Among his most successful works are The Duel; An Idyl; Eel Fishing; and Intercepted Dispatches.

MORAN, MRS. MARY NIMMO, artist, was born May 10, 1842, in Scotland. She has attained eminence in America as a successful artist; and is the wife of the well known landscape painter.

MORAN, PERCY, artist, was born in 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. He excels in portraying female heads and figures, and his touch is crisp and decided. Among his recent paintings are Divided Attention, for which he received the first prize at the New York academy of design in 1886; A Corner of the Studio; and The Wood Cutter's Daughter.

MORAN, PETER, artist, was born in 1842 in England. He is a successful artist of Philadelphia, Pa.

MORAN, THOMAS, artist, was born Jan. 12, 1837, in England. Among his important works are The Pass of Glencoe; The Mountain of the Holy Cross, which he exhibited at the Centennial of 1876, and for which he received a medal and diploma.

MORDECAI, ALFRED, soldier, author, was born Jan. 3, 1804, in Warrenton, N. C. He was a soldier and military engineer; secretary of the Pennsylvania Canal company since 1867; and the author of Digest of Military Laws; Ordnance Manual; Reports of Gunpowder Experiments; and Artillery for United States Land Service. He died Oct. 23, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MORDEN, WILLIAM J., inventor, was born in 1832. He was the inventor in 1868 of the first U plate frog and crossing, which invention is now in use on every railroad in America. At the time of his death he was president of the Morden Frog and Crossing works, a plant which covers five acres at South Chicago. He died Feb. 27, 1897, in Chicago, Ill.

MORE, PAUL ELMER, educator, author, was born in 1864 in Missouri. He is an instructor in Sanskrit and Greek at Bryn Mawr college; and the author of The Great Refusal; Being Letters of a Dreamer in Gotham.

MORE, THOMAS ROMAN, stockman, poet, was born Sept. 27, 1856, in Santa Barbara, Cal. After graduating from the Ann Arbor high school, he attended the Michigan university. He is a successful stockman, and the owner of several large ranches in California. His poems have appeared in various newspapers and magazines, and in several standard works.

MOREHEAD, CHARLES R., merchant, banker, was born Feb. 28, 1836, in Richmond, Mo. He attended the Masonic college of Lexington, Mo. He was assistant general agent and chief clerk of the United States Transportation company in the Utah expedition of 1857; and in 1868-69 was mayor of Leavenworth, Kan. He has been president of the State National bank of El Paso, Texas, since its organization in 1881; was president of the board of education in 1893-94; and since 1860 has been a successful merchant and banker. In 1895 he was elected knight commander of the Court of Honor, Scottish rite masons, by the supreme council at Washington, D. C.

MOREHEAD, CHARLES SLAUGHTER, lawyer, legislator, congressman, governor, was born July 7, 1802, in Nelson county, Ky. He was elected to the Kentucky state legislature, serving during 1828 and 1829. In 1832 he was appointed attorney-general of Kentucky, which office he held five years. In 1838-40 he was again returned to the legislature, officiating during the latter year as speaker. He was re-elected and made speaker in 1841. He was again re-elected in 1842 and 1844, and for the third time chosen speaker. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1847 to 1851; in 1853 was once more returned to the legislature; and in 1855 was elected governor of Kentucky. He died Dec. 23, 1868, in Greenville, Miss.

MOREHEAD, I. T., congressman. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1851 to 1853.

MOREHEAD, JAMES TURNER, lawyer, legislator, governor, United States senator, was born May 24, 1797, in Covington, Ky. He served three years in the Kentucky state legislature; in 1832 was elected lieutenant-governor of Kentucky, and in 1834 became governor. In 1837 he was again elected to the legislature. In 1838 he was appointed president of the board of internal improvements, which office he held until 1841, when he was elected to the United States senate for the term of six years. He died Dec. 28, 1854, in Covington, Ky.

MOREHEAD, JOHN MOTLEY, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born July 4, 1796, in Pennsylvania county, Va. He served in the North Carolina legislature, and early became a whig, being a warm friend of Henry Clay. From 1841 till 1845 he was governor of North Carolina. He died Aug. 28, 1866, in Rockbridge, Va.

MOREHOUSE, S. THOMAS, journalist, was born Nov. 13, 1849, in Walton, N. Y. He received his education in the Walton academy, and soon after entered journalistic work. He is the editor and publisher of the Evening Star of Ridgway, Pa. the first and only daily paper in Elk county. He was the founder and editor of the Reporter of Walton, N. Y.; and is also the editor of the Elk Democrat.

MORELAND, MARY L., educator, evangelist, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 23, 1858, in Westfield, Mass. For many years she taught in the public schools; was ordained in 1889; and is now the pastor of the Union congregational church of McLean, Ill. She is a successful lecturer, evangelist, and the author of Which: Right or Wrong; Under His Wings; and other works.

MORELL, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, was born March 22, 1786, in Lenox, Mass. From 1832 till 1836 he was United States judge of Michigan territory, and he was a judge of the Michigan supreme court from 1836 till 1843, and its chief justice from July 18, 1843, until his death. He died March 8, 1845, in Detroit, Mich.

MORELL, GEORGE WEBB, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 8, 1815, in Coopers-town, N. Y. He was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers in 1861, and was promoted major-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 12, 1883, in Scarborough, N. Y.

MOREY, CHARLES ANSON, educator, banker, lawyer, was born Aug. 9, 1851, in Orange county, Vt. He has been a successful educator, and is now a noted lawyer and banker of Winona, Minn. He has been president of the Normal school of Winona; and president of the Winona Savings bank.

MOREY, FRANK, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born July 11, 1840, in Boston, Mass. He entered the army, and served principally on staff duty. He settled in Louisiana in 1866, and engaged in cotton planting and in the insurance business. He was a member of the assembly in 1868 and 1869; and was appointed a commissioner to revise the statutes and codes of the state. He was elected to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican.

MOREY, HENRY LEE, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born April 8, 1841, in Butler county, Ohio. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1865, attaining the rank of captain. He studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1867, and commenced practice at Hamilton, Ohio. In 1871 he was elected city solicitor of Hamilton to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected for the term of two years. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Butler county in 1873; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

MORFIT, CAMPBELL, chemist, author, was born Nov. 19, 1820, in Herculaneum, Mo. He is the author of Practical Treatise on the Making of Soaps; Pure Fertilizers and Phosphates; Arts of Tanning and Currying; and Use and Manufacture of Perfumery.

MORFIT, CLARENCE, chemist, author, was born May 16, 1828, in Washington, D. C. He filled the office of assistant melter and refiner in the United States assay office in New York city for seven years. Meanwhile he was also associated with his brother in his analytical work in New York city, and was joint author with his brother of the second edition of Chemical and Pharmaceutical Manipulations.

MORFORD, HENRY, journalist, author, was born March 10, 1823, in New Monmouth, N. J. He was a journalist of New York city who wrote a number of novels, dramas and poems of ephemeral merit. The Bells of Shandon is his best known play, and among his novels are, Shoulder Straps; Days of Shoddy; Only a Commoner. Other works are, Rhymes of Twenty Years; Rhymes of an Editor; and Sprees and Splashes. He died May 5, 1881, in New York city.

MORGAN, ABEL, clergyman, author, was born in 1673 in Wales. He was a Welsh baptist minister who came to Philadelphia from Wales in 1712. He was the author of Cyd Gordiad, a Scripture concordance published in 1730, the second Welsh book printed in America. He died Dec. 16, 1722, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MORGAN, ABNER, soldier, legislator, was born June 9, 1746, in Brimfield, Mass. He served through the revolutionary war; and received the rank of major. For eighteen years he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. He died Nov. 7, 1837, in Lima, N. Y.

MORGAN, CHARLES HALE, soldier, was born Nov. 6, 1834, in Manlius, N. Y. He was brevetted brigadier-general, United States army, in 1865, for services in the field during the war, and made full brigadier-general of volunteers in May, 1865. He died Dec. 20, 1875, in California.

MORGAN, CHARLES HENRY, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born July 5, 1842, in Allegany county, N. Y. He became prosecuting attorney for Benton county. He was elected to the state legislature. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-eighth, and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

MORGAN, CHRISTOPHER, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1808, in Groton, Conn. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1839 to 1843; was secretary of state of New York from 1848 to 1852; and was mayor of Auburn in 1860.

MORGAN, DANIEL, soldier, congressman, was born about 1736 in New Jersey. In 1755 he served as a private soldier under General Braddock. In 1778 he commanded a corps on the Schuylkill to cut off supplies from the British in Philadelphia; served in the southern campaign under General Greene, and advanced to the rank of brigadier-general, receiving from congress a gold medal for the skill and bravery he displayed at the battle of Cowpens in the defeat of Tarleton. He was a representative in congress from 1795 to 1799. He died July 6, 1802, in Winchester, Va.

MORGAN, DAVID BANISTER, soldier, legislator, was born in 1773, in West Springfield, Mass. He removed to Louisiana in 1803, served in the territorial legislature; was a member of the constitutional convention; and after the admission of Louisiana to the union was in the state legislature. He died July 15, 1848, in Covington, La.

MORGAN, EDWIN BARBER, merchant, congressman, philanthropist, was born May 2, 1806, in Aurora, N. Y. He was elected to the thirty-third congress as a representative from New York; and was re-elected to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He died Oct. 13, 1881, in Aurora, N. Y.

MORGAN, EDWIN DENNISON, soldier, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Feb. 8, 1811, in Washington, Mass. In 1849 he was chosen an alderman of New York city; during the same year was elected to the state senate, and served two terms. In 1858 he was elected governor of New York, and re-elected in 1860. In 1861 he was appointed major-general of volunteers, and, although he rendered much service, declined all compensation. In 1863 he was elected a senator in congress from New York for the term ending in 1869. He died Feb. 14, 1883, in New York city.

MORGAN, EDWIN WRIGHT, soldier, educator, was born in 1814 in Pennsylvania. From 1866 till his death he was professor of mathematics in Lehigh university. He died April 16, 1869, in Bethlehem, Pa.

MORGAN, GEORGE W., soldier, congressman, was born Sept. 20, 1820, in Washington, Pa. In 1843 he settled at Mount Vernon, Ohio, and adopted the profession of the law. He served in the Mexican war as colonel of the second Ohio infantry, and for his services at the battles of Contreras and Churubusco was brevetted a brigadier-general in the regular army. In 1855 he was appointed consul at Marseilles. In 1858 was appointed minister resident at Lisbon. In 1866 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the fortieth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a democrat.

MORGAN, GEORGE WASHBOURNE, organist, was born April 9, 1822, in England. He has been organist of St. Thomas' and Grace episcopal churches, and St. Ann's and St. Stephen's Roman catholic churches, and of the Brooklyn tabernacle. He has played in various parts of the United States with much success, and since 1880 has given annual organ recitals at Chickering hall.

MORGAN, HELEN CLARISSA, educator, was born Feb. 25, 1845, in Masonville, N. Y. She began by giving instruction in Latin, Greek and mathematics in Fiske school, Ohio, and when the institution had become firmly established she was formally given the professorship of Latin, thus being the first woman to occupy a professor's chair in an American co-educational university.

MORGAN, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1825, in Newton, Conn. He was a once prominent methodist minister and lecturer of Boston; and the author of Ned Nevins, the Newsboy; The Fallen Priest; Sketches and Sermons; The Shadowy Hand, or Life Struggles; and Boston Inside Out. He died March 23, 1884, in Boston, Mass.

MORGAN, JAMES, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1811 to 1813.

MORGAN, JAMES APPLETON, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 2, 1850, in Portland, Maine. He is a lawyer of New York city, and the author of Laws of Literature; The Shakespearean Myth; A History of the Shakespeare Text; Some Shakespearean Commentators; Shakespeare in Fact and Criticism; Venus and Adonis; A Study in Warwickshire Dialect; and English Version of Legal Maxims.

MORGAN, JAMES BRAINERD, journalist, poet, was born in Berkeley county, W. Va. In 1870 he founded the Times of Gerardstown, W. Va., of which publication he is still editor and owner. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems, some of which were included in Poets of America, and other standard national collections. He has been grand secretary of the Independent Order of Good Templars; and is prominent in the public affairs of his county and state, and a member of various fraternal orders. Mr. Morgan is an earnest advocate of the temperance reform, and has written largely in both prose and verse in its behalf. In the Independent Order of Good Templars he found congenial work and merited appreciation, having been the secretary of the grand lodge of the state for the past ten years and been sent several times as its representative in the highest legislative body of the order in the world.

MORGAN, JAMES BRIGHT, soldier, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born March 14, 1835, in Lincoln county, Tenn. He was a member of the state senate of Mississippi in 1876-78; and in 1878 was appointed chancellor of the third chancery district, serving four years. He was grand master of masons in Mississippi; and in 1884 was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

MORGAN, JAMES DADY, soldier, was born Aug. 1, 1810, in Boston, Mass. In 1861 he became lieutenant-colonel of the seventh Illinois regiment, and for meritorious services was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862. He was brevetted major-general of volunteers in 1865.

MORGAN, JAMES HENRY, man-of-affairs, was born Jan. 31, 1853, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the founder and secretary general of the Military Order of Foreign Wars of the United States; and is president of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York.

MORGAN, JOHN HUNT, soldier, was born June 1, 1826, in Huntsville, Ala. He entered the confederate army as captain of the Kentucky volunteers; and in 1862 he was appointed major-general. He died Sept. 4, 1864, in Greenville, Tenn.

MORGAN, JOHN J., legislator, congressman, was born in 1769, in Queens county, N. Y. He was a member of the New York assembly; a representative in congress from that state from 1821 to 1825; and again in the assembly in 1836 and 1840. He died July 29, 1849.

MORGAN, JOHN TYLER, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 20, 1824, in Athens, Tenn. He was a presidential elector in 1860 from Alabama. In 1861 he was a delegate to the state convention called to consider the question of secession. He entered the confederate army in that year, and served throughout the war, rising to the rank of brigadier-general. He was again a presidential elector in 1876; and was elected to the United States senate for six years from 1877; and re-elected in 1882, 1888 and 1894.

MORGAN, LEWIS HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 21, 1818, in Aurora, N. Y. He was a lawyer of Rochester, N. Y., widely known as an ethnologist, and the author of League of the Iroquois; Systems of Consanguinity and Affinity of the Human Family; The American Beaver and His Works; Ancient Society; and Horses and Horse Life of the American Aborigines. He died Dec. 17, 1881, in Rochester, N. Y.

MORGAN, MAUD, harpist, was born Nov. 22, 1864, in New York city. She studied music with her father and with the harpist Alfred Toumlin. She first appeared in 1875 in a concert with Ole Bull. She possesses good technique, and has been well received in New York and elsewhere.

MORGAN, MATTHEW SOMERVILLE, artist, author, was born April 27, 1839, in England. He was associated with Frank C. Burnand, William S. Gilbert and others, in the establishment of the London Fun, and a volume of his cartoons in this paper has been published under the title American War Cartoons.

MORGAN, MORRIS HICKY, educator, author, was born in 1859 on Long Island. He is a professor of Greek and Latin at Harvard university, and the author of De ignis eliciendi modis apud antiquos; Dictionary to Xenophon's Anabasis; and The Art of Horsemanship by Xenophon, a translation with Essays and Notes.

MORGAN, PHILIP HICKY, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 9, 1825, in Baton Rouge, La. He was elected judge of the second district court of New Orleans in 1855; and served by re-election until 1861. He was appointed United States district attorney for the eastern district of Louisiana; resigned and was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of the state in 1873, serving until 1877.

MORGAN, THOMAS J., soldier, was born Aug. 17, 1839, in Franklin, Ind. He served through the civil war and attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1891 he was elected commissioner of Indian affairs.

MORGAN, THOMAS REES, machinist, inventor, manufacturer, was born March 31, 1834, in Wales. At a very early age he developed unusual mechanical and inventive talent; and early in life occupied positions as a machinist in some of the largest iron works in Cardiff. In 1865 he emigrated to America, subsequently moving to Pittsburg, where he engaged in manufacturing steam hammers and other special machinery. In 1871 he moved to Alliance, Ohio, where he has continued the same business on a very extensive scale. He gathered around him hundreds of trained mechanics and draughtsmen, the various departments of the factory being under the charge of his sons, who are young men of decidedly rare ability. The Morgan Engineering company gives employment to six hundred trained workmen; the machinery produced being mostly of Mr. Morgan's own designing, and is largely covered by patents. He is president of the City Savings bank of Alliance; a director of the Alliance Bank company; president of the Alliance board of trade; vice-president of the Mutual Electric Light and Power company; and in his department of business is one of the best informed men in America. He is one of the trustees of Mount Union college; a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers; American Institute of Mechanical Engineers of the United States; and a member of the Iron and Steel Institute and Mechanical Engineers of Great Britain. He died Sept. 6, 1897.

MORGAN, THOMAS REES, machinist, inventor, manufacturer, was born March 31, 1834, in Wales. At a very early age he developed unusual mechanical and inventive talent; and early in life occupied positions as a machinist in some of the largest iron works in Cardiff. In 1865 he emigrated to America, subsequently moving to Pittsburg, where he engaged in manufacturing steam hammers and other special machinery. In 1871 he moved to Alliance, Ohio, where he has continued the same business on a very extensive scale. He gathered around him hundreds of trained mechanics and draughtsmen, the various departments of the factory being under the charge of his sons, who are young men of decidedly rare ability. The Morgan Engineering company gives employment to six hundred trained workmen; the machinery produced being mostly of Mr. Morgan's own designing, and is largely covered by patents. He is president of the City Savings bank of Alliance; a director of the Alliance Bank company; president of the Alliance board of trade; vice-president of the Mutual Electric Light and Power company; and in his department of business is one of the best informed men in America. He is one of the trustees of Mount Union college; a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers; American Institute of Mechanical Engineers of the United States; and a member of the Iron and Steel Institute and Mechanical Engineers of Great Britain. He died Sept. 6, 1897.

MORGAN, WILLIAM, public official, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1801, in Virginia. He served as a representative in congress from Virginia from 1835 to 1839. In 1840 he was appointed a clerk in the house of representatives, from which position he was transferred to the legislature of Virginia, and declined a re-election. He was a democratic elector in 1844.

MORGAN, WILLIAM, artist, was born in 1826, in London, England. He is a member of the American Art union and the Artists' Fund society. His works include Emancipation; The Legend; Song without Words; Motherhood; Reverie; In the Hay-Loft; Summer; The Sortie; Andante; Blowing Bubbles; and La Mandolinata.

MORGAN, WILLIAM A., journalist, legislator, was born March 7, 1840, in Ireland. For three years he was a soldier during the civil war in the twenty-third Kentucky volunteer infantry; and has served as a representative and state senator in the Kansas legislature.

MORGAN, WILLIAM FERDINAND, clergyman, was born Dec. 21, 1817, in Hartford, Conn. In 1857 he was called to St. Thomas's church, New York city. In 1888 he received the rectorship of St. Thomas, and was made rector emeritus of that church for life. He died May 19, 1888, in New York city.

MORIARTY, JAMES JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 8, 1843, in Ireland. He was a Roman catholic clergyman of New York state; and the author of Wayside Pencilings; Stumbling Blocks made Stepping Stones on the Way to the Catholic Faith; All for Love; and The Keys of the Kingdom. He died Dec. 4, 1887, in Utica, N. Y.

MORIARTY, PATRICK EUGENE, clergyman, author, was born July 4, 1804, in Ireland. He was an Augustinian priest of Philadelphia, father superior of his order in the United States; and the author of Life of St. Augustine. He died July 10, 1875, in Villanova, Pa.

MORISON, JOHN HOPKINS, clergyman, author, was born July 25, 1808, in Peterborough, N. H. He was a unitarian clergyman, pastor at Milton, Mass., in 1846-85; and the author of Life of Honorable Jeremiah Smith; Disquisitions and Notes on the Gospel of Saint Matthew; and The Great Poets as Religious Teachers. He died in 1896.

MORISON, NATHANIEL HOLMES, educator, was born Dec. 14, 1815, in Peterborough, N. H. In 1867 he accepted the provostship of Peabody institute, Baltimore, the duties of which, although light, are important. He died Nov. 15, 1890, in Baltimore, Md.

MORISON, ROBERT BROWN, physician, author, was born March 13, 1851, in Baltimore, Md. In 1884 he began the practice of dermatology in Baltimore, being the first physician in that city to take up that specialty exclusively.

MORLEY, EDWARD WILLIAMS, chemist, was born Jan. 29, 1838, in Newark, N. J. His original works include a series of measurements prepared for the purpose of showing precision in the micrometric readings of graduations.

MORPHIS, JOSEPH L., soldier, legislator, congressman, was born April 17, 1831, in McNairy county, Tenn. He was a member of the Tennessee state legislature in 1859. He moved to Mississippi in 1863; and was elected to the state constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1865. He was a member of the state legislature in 1866-68; and was elected to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican.

MORRELL, BENJAMIN, navigator, author, was born in 1795, in Worcester county, Mass. He was a navigator who published a noted Narrative of Four Voyages to the South Seas. He died in 1839.

MORRELL, DANIEL J., manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 8, 1821, in North Berwick, Maine. He served for a time in the councils of Johnstown, Pa.; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a republican. In 1875 he was appointed a commissioner to the centennial exhibition.

MORRELL, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born March 22, 1786, in Lenox, Mass. He was a lawyer in Cooperstown, N. Y.; and was appointed first judge of Otsego county court in 1827. He was a member of the assembly in 1829; and was reappointed judge in 1832. He was United States judge of Michigan territory from 1832 to 1836; judge of the superior court of Michigan from 1836 to 1843; and chief justice from July 18, 1843, to 1845. He died March 8, 1845, in Detroit, Mich.

MORRELL, IMOGENE ROBINSON, artist, was born in Attleboro, Mass. She painted a Historical Portrait of General John A. Dix, which was afterward purchased for the capitol at Washington; and portraits of Howell Cobb and John C. Spencer, ex-secretaries of the United States treasury. Her two large historical pictures, Washington, and the Battle of the Puritans have been highly praised both in this country and in France.

MORRELL, THOMAS, soldier, clergyman, was born Nov. 22, 1747, in New York city. At the time of his death he had been fifty-three years a preacher of the gospel, and was one of the pioneers of American methodism. He died Aug. 9, 1838, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

MORRIL, DAVID LAWRENCE, physician, state senator, United States senator, governor, was born June 10, 1772, in Epping, N. H. He was a representative in the general court of New Hampshire in 1811, 1812, and 1816; and in 1816 was chosen to the United States senate for six years. He subsequently became a member of the state senate, and its president. Afterwards, for four successive terms, he was elected governor of New Hampshire. He died Jan. 28, 1849, in Concord, N. H.

MORRILL, AMOS, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 25, 1809, in Salisbury, Mass. In 1867 he was appointed one of the judges of the supreme court of Texas; and chosen chief justice of the court. In 1873 he was commissioned judge of the United States district court for the eastern district of Texas.

MORRILL, ANSON PEASLEE, manufacturer, legislator, congressman, was born June 10, 1803, in Belgrade, Maine. He was for several years a member of the Maine legislature; was governor of Maine in 1855; and in 1860 was elected a representative from Maine to the thirty-seventh congress. He died July 4, 1887, in Augusta, Maine.

MORRILL, EDMUND N., legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1834, in Westbrook, Maine. In 1856 he was elected a member of the school board of Westbrook. In 1857 he moved to Brown county, Kan.; and in October of that year was elected a representative in the first free state legislature elected in that territory. In 1858 he was elected a representative in the legislature under the Lecompton constitution; and in 1872 was elected a state senator, and was re-elected in 1876. He was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

MORRILL, JUSTIN SMITH, congressman, United States senator, author, was born April 14, 1810, in Stratford, Vt. He was elected a representative from Vermont to the thirty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, and thirty-ninth congresses. In 1866 he was elected a senator in congress from Vermont for the term commencing in 1867; and was re-elected in 1872, in 1878, in 1884, in 1890, and in 1896. He is the author of Self-Consciousness of Noted Persons.

MORRILL, LOT MYRICK, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, governor, was born May 3, 1813, in Belgrade, Maine. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1854; of the senate in 1856, and made its president. He was elected governor of Maine in 1858, and re-elected in 1859 and 1860. In 1861 he was elected a senator in congress to fill a vacancy. He was also elected United States senator to succeed William P. Fessenden, for the term ending in 1877; and resigned in 1876 to accept the office of secretary of the treasury, in the cabinet of President Grant, serving until 1877. He was then appointed collector of the port of Portland, Maine. He died Jan. 10, 1883, in Augusta, Maine.

MORRILL, SAMUEL P., clergyman, public official, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1816, in Chesterville, Maine. In 1857 he was elected for five years register of deeds for Franklin county, Maine; and re-elected to the same office in 1867. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Maine to the forty-first congress as a republican.

MORRIS, BENJAMIN WISTAR, bishop, was born May 30, 1819, in Wellsborough, Pa. He was consecrated missionary bishop of Oregon and Washington territory in 1868.

MORRIS, CALVARY, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1837 to 1844.

MORRIS, CASPAR, physician, author, poet, was born May 2, 1805, in Philadelphia. He was a noted Philadelphia physician; and the author of Life of William Wilberforce; Lectures on Scarlet Fever; Hospital Construction; and Heart Voices and Home Songs. He died March 16, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MORRIS, CHARLES, educator, author, was born Oct. 1, 1833, in Chester, Pa. He is an earnest student of general science, and an active member of the academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of A Manual of Classical Literature; The Aryan Race; and Civilization. He has also published compilations of Half Hours with the Best American Authors, in eighteen volumes; Historical Tales, in six volumes; Tales from the Dramatists; and a History of the United States for school purposes.

MORRIS, CHARLES, congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress from 1783 to 1784.

MORRIS, CHARLES, naval officer, was born July 26, 1784, in Woodstock, Conn. He served during the war with Tripoli in 1801-05; and during 1816-17 commanded the naval forces in the Gulf of Mexico. He filled numerous offices; was commissioned to inspect the dock-yards of England and France; for many years had supervision of the Naval academy. He died Jan. 27, 1856, in Washington, D. C.

MORRIS, CHARLES D'URBAN, educator, author, was born Feb. 17, 1827, in England. He was an educator who was professor of Latin and Greek in Johns Hopkins university in 1876; and the author of A Compendious Grammar of Attic Greek; Compendious Grammar of the Latin Language; and Principia Latina. He died Feb. 7, 1886, in Baltimore, Md.

MORRIS, CLARA, actress, was born about 1846, in Cleveland, Ohio. She made her debut upon the stage at the age of fifteen. Her great success has been in the representation of strongly emotional scenes.

MORRIS, DANIEL, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 4, 1812, in Seneca county, N. Y. He was at one time district attorney for Yates county; and served one term in the New York state legislature. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress.

MORRIS, EDMUND, journalist, author, was born Aug. 28, 1804, in Burlington, N. J. He was a journalist and agricultural writer of Burlington, N. J.; and the author of Ten Acres Enough; How to Get a Farm and Where to Find One; and Farming for Boys. He died May 4, 1874, in Burlington, N. J.

MORRIS, EDWARD JOY, legislator, diplomat, congressman, author, was born July 15, 1815, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania in 1841-43; and was elected to the twenty-eighth congress as representative from the first congressional district. On his return to Philadelphia he was chosen a member of the board of directors of Girard college; and in 1856 was again elected to the state legislature. In the fall of that year he was elected to the thirty-fifth congress. He was the author of A Tour Through Turkey, Greece and Egypt; The Turkish Empire, Social and Political; Afraja, or Life and Love in Norway; and Corsica, Social and Political. He died Dec. 31, 1881, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MORRIS, EDWIN DAFYDD, clergyman, educator, author, was born Oct. 31, 1825, in Utica, N. Y. He is a presbyterian minister and educator, professor of theology in Lane seminary since 1874; and the author of Outlines of Christian Doctrine; Ecclesiology; Salvation After Death; and A Defense of Lane Seminary.

MORRIS, MRS. EUGENIA LAURA [TUTTLE], author, was born in 1833 in Connecticut. She is a writer of New Haven; and the author of A Spinster's Leaflets; A Hilltop Summer; and Aunt Billy.

MORRIS, FRANCIS, naval officer, was born in 1842 in New York. He served in the United States navy during the civil war, attaining for meritorious services the rank of commodore. He died Feb. 12, 1883, in Newport, R. I.

MORRIS, FREEMAN P., lawyer, legislator, was born March 19, 1854, in Cook county, Ill. He received his education in the Blue Island High school, the Cook County Normal school, and the Northwestern university. He is a prominent lawyer of Waukegan, Ill., where for many years he has been president of the board of education. He has been a member of the thirty-fourth, thirty-sixth, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, and fortieth general assemblies of the Illinois state legislature, and served as chairman of the joint and house caucus for three sessions. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1896; and is a member of the Illinois National guard, with rank of colonel.

MORRIS, GEORGE POPE, journalist, author, poet, was born Oct. 10, 1802, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a journalist of New York city; and assisted in founding

The New York Mirror, and The Home Journal. He was famous as a songwriter, and now chiefly remembered for such poems as My Mother's Bible; Woodman, Spare that Tree. He was for many years editor of The Home Journal, and one of the prominent literary figures of the metropolis. He was the author of Briarelliff, a drama; The Little Frenchman; and Poems. He died July 6, 1864, in New York city.

MORRIS, GEORGE SYLVESTER, educator, author, was born Nov. 15, 1840, in Norwich, Vt. He was an educator and philosophical writer, who was professor at the university of Michigan in 1870. He was the author of British Thought and Thinkers; Kant's Critique of Pure Reason, a Critical Exposition; Philosophy and Christianity; and Hegel's Philosophy of the State and of History. He died in 1889.

MORRIS, GOUVERNEUR, congressman, United States senator, author, was born Jan. 31, 1752, in Morrisania, N. Y. In 1775 he was a delegate to the provincial congress from New York, and signed the articles of confederation. He was a commissioner to England in 1789; was the second president of the New York Historical society; and in 1792 was appointed minister to France, and remained in that capacity till 1794. In 1800 he was chosen a senator of the United States from New York, serving three years. He was the author of Observations on the American Revolution; and selections, etc. He died Nov. 6, 1816, in Morrisania, N. Y.

MORRIS, HARRISON SMITH, author, poet, was born in 1856 in Pennsylvania. He is the author of A Duet in Lyrics (verse, with J. A. Henry); Madonna, and Other Poems. He has edited Tales from Ten Poets; In the Yule Log Glow; and Where Meadows Meet the Sea, and an edition of Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare with a continuation and completion.

MORRIS, HERBERT WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born July 21, 1818, in Wales. He is a presbyterian clergyman; since 1877 retired from the ministry and devoted to literary pursuits. He is the author of Science and the Bible; Present Conflict of Science with Religion; The Testimony of the Ages; The Celestial Symbol Interpreted; and Natural Law and Gospel Teachings.

MORRIS, ISAAC NEWTON, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 22, 1812, in Bethel, Ohio. In 1841 he was chosen president of the Illinois and Michigan Canal company; and in 1846 was elected to the state legislature from Adams county. In 1856 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-fifth congress, and re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. In 1869 he was appointed a commissioner for the Pacific railroad.

MORRIS, JAMES CHESTON, physician, author, was born May 28, 1831, in Philadelphia. He is a Philadelphia physician; and the author of The Milk Supply of Large Cities; The Water Supply of Philadelphia; and Annals of Hygiene.

MORRIS, JAMES R., state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 10, 1820, in Greene county, Pa. He was a member of congress in 1843 and 1845. Having become a resident of Ohio he was in 1848 elected to the legislature of that state. In 1860 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-seventh congress; and in 1862 was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress.

MORRIS, JOHN GOTTLIEB, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1803, in York, Pa. He was a noted lutheran divine of Baltimore, founder of The Lutheran Observer, and long professor of natural history in the university of Maryland. He was the author of Catechumen's and Communicant's Companion; Popular Exposition of the Gospels; Life of John Arndt; Life of Catherine de Bora; The Blind Girl of Wittenberg; Fifty Years in the Lutheran Ministry; The Diet of Augsburg; Journeys of Luther; Luther at Wartburg and Coburg; and Lutheran Doctrine of the Lord's Supper.

MORRIS, JOHN VICTOR, clergyman, was born May 23, 1863, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1889 he graduated from the Adrian college, Mich. He filled pastorates in Ohio for two years; and since 1893 has filled pastorates in Nebraska and Kansas. He is a member of the north-western Kansas conference of the methodist episcopal church.

MORRIS, JONATHAN D., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1804 in Clermont county Ohio. He served for twenty years as clerk of the court of common pleas, and of the superior court of Clermont county, Ohio. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1849 to 1851. He died May 16, 1875, in Connersville, Ind.

MORRIS, JOSEPH, merchant, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1795, in Greene county, Pa. In 1824 he was elected sheriff of his native county. In 1829 he removed to Ohio and devoted himself to merchandising. He was elected to the Ohio legislature in 1833 and 1834; and was treasurer of Monroe county for one year. He was elected to congress in 1843, and re-elected in 1845, serving two entire terms. He died Oct. 23, 1854, in Woodsfield, Ohio.

MORRIS, LEWIS, jurist, legislator, governor, was born in 1671 in New York city. He was chief justice of New York and New Jersey for several years; state councillor from 1710 to 1738, acting governor in 1731; and governor of New Jersey from 1738 till his death. He died May 21, 1746, in Kingsbury, N. J.

MORRIS, LEWIS, signer of the declaration of independence, was born in 1726 in Morrisania, N. Y. He was a delegate from New York to the continental congress from 1775 to 1777; was one of the signers of the declaration of independence; and served in the legislature of New York. He was also in the field, and rose to the rank of major-general of militia. He died Jan. 22, 1798, in New York.

MORRIS, LEWIS R., congressman, was born in 1757. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1797 to 1803. He died in 1825.

MORRIS, MATHIAS, congressman, was born in 1785. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1835 to 1839. He died Nov. 9, 1839, in Doylestown, Pa.

MORRIS, MOSES, lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 8, 1799, in Pittsfield, N. H. In 1839 he was elected to the New Hampshire state senate; re-elected in 1847, and held this position until his death. He died Jan. 11, 1855, in Washington, D. C.

MORRIS, PAGE, educator, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 30, 1853, in Lynchburg, Va. In 1873 he was appointed professor of mathematics in the Texas Military institute, and removed to Austin, Tex.; and in 1876 was elected professor of applied mathematics in the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas, located near Bryan, in that state, where he remained for three years. In 1889 he was elected municipal judge of the city of Duluth; in 1894 was elected by the city council of Duluth city attorney; and in 1895 was appointed by the governor district judge of the eleventh judicial district of Minnesota. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MORRIS, PHINEAS PEMBERTON, lawyer, author, was born May 2, 1817, in Bucks county, Pa. He was a lawyer of Philadelphia, professor of law in the university of Pennsylvania since 1862; and the author of The Law of Replevin; and Mining Rights in Pennsylvania.

MORRIS, RAMSAY, actor, author, was born in January, 1858, in New York. He is an actor and playwright of New York city. He dramatized his own novel, Crucify Him, with the title, The Tigress.

MORRIS, ROBERT, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Jan. 20, 1734, in England. He was a member of the congress of 1776, from Pennsylvania, and signed the declaration of independence, and also the articles of confederation. In 1781 he obtained the control of the American finances, and rendered important services to his adopted country. He was a member of the convention which framed the present constitution, and signed that instrument. He was chosen a United States senator, serving from 1789 to 1795. He died May 8, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MORRIS, ROBERT, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1745. He was chief justice of New Jersey during the revolution, and a United States judge of the district court from 1789 to 1815. He died May 2, 1815, in New Brunswick, N. J.

MORRIS, ROBERT, author, was born Aug. 31, 1818, in Massachusetts. He was a writer of Lagrange, Ky.; and the author of History of the Morgan Affair; Lights and Shadows of Freemasonry; Code of Masonic Law; History of Freemasonry in Kentucky; Freemasonry in the Holy Land; and The Poetry of Freemasonry. He died July 31, 1888, in Lagrange, Ky.

MORRIS, ROBERT HUNTER, jurist, governor, was born about 1700 in Morrisania, N. Y. He was justice of New Jersey in 1738-64; member of the council of New Jersey in 1738; and governor of Pennsylvania from 1754 to 1756. He died Jan. 27, 1764, in Shrewsbury, N. Y.

MORRIS, ROBERT TUTTLE, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 14, 1857, in Seymour, Conn. He is an optimistic philosopher and one of the rising surgeons of New York city. He is the author of a number of works. His best writings are those on scientific and medical subjects.

MORRIS, SAMUEL WELLS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was for many years judge of the district court of Tioga county, Pa.; and was a member of the house of representatives in congress from 1837 to 1841. He died May 25, 1847, in Wellsborough, Pa.

MORRIS, THOMAS, jurist, United States senator, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1776, in Augusta county, Va. In 1806 he was elected to the legislature of Ohio, and represented Clermont county, either in the senate or house, for a period of twenty-four years, doing much to develop the resources of his adopted state. He was chief judge of Ohio; and was elected a senator in congress for the long term from 1833 to 1839. He died Dec. 7, 1844, in Bethel, Ohio.

MORRIS, THOMAS, state legislator, congressman. He was for three years a member of the New York assembly from Ontario county; and was a representative in congress from 1801 to 1803.

MORRIS, THOMAS A., civil engineer, railroad president, was born Dec. 26, 1811, in Nicholas county, Ky. When the civil war broke out he was appointed quartermaster-general. From 1866 to 1869 he was president and chief engineer of the Indianapolis and St. Louis railroad, building the road from Terre Haute to Indianapolis. From 1869 to 1872 he was receiver of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette railroad, and in 1877 he was appointed as one of the commissioners to select plans and superintend the construction of the new state capitol.

MORRIS, THOMAS ASBURY, bishop, author, was born April 28, 1794, near Charlestown, Va. He was a methodist bishop in Ohio; and the author of Church Polity; Essays, etc.; and Sketches of Western Methodism. He died Sept. 2, 1874, in Springfield, Ohio.

MORRIS, THOMAS J., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 24, 1837, in Baltimore, Md. He was appointed United States district judge for the district of Maryland in 1879.

MORRIS, THOMAS J., clergyman, philosopher, author, was born Dec. 30, 1843, in Mariana, Fla. He graduated from the university of the South of Sewanee, Tenn.; and for many years was a successful clergyman of the episcopal church. For the past ten years he has been engaged in the study of the philosophy of life; and is the author of Ideal Life, which is devoted to the elevation of humanity through the evolution of the mind.

MORRIS, THOMAS P., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 1, 1857, in New Orleans, La. In 1868 he moved to Texas, and is now a successful lawyer in Stockdale. He has been a justice of the peace; for fourteen years postmaster; and has filled various other positions of trust.

MORRIS, WILLIAM HOPKINS, soldier, author, was born April 22, 1826, in New York. He was a brigadier-general of the United States volunteers in the civil war, and was brevetted major-general. He is the author of Field Tactics for Infantry; and Infantry Tactics.

MORRISON, CHARLES ROBERT, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1819 in New Hampshire. He was a jurist of Concord, N. H.; and the author of Digest of New Hampshire Reports; Probate Directory; Justice and Sheriff and Attorney's Assistant; Town Officer; Digest of Common-School Laws; and Proofs of Christ's Resurrection from a Lawyer's Standpoint. He died Sept. 15, 1893.

MORRISON, GEORGE WASHINGTON, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1809, in Fairlee, Vt. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1850 to 1851, and again from 1853 to 1855.

MORRISON, JAMES, army contractor, state legislator, was born in 1755 in Cumberland county, Pa. In 1792 he moved to Lexington, Ky. There he became successively land commissioner, representative in the legislature, supervisor of the revenue, navy agent, contractor for the northwestern army during the war of 1812, quartermaster-general, president of the Lexington branch of the United States bank, and chairman of the board of trustees of Transylvania university. He died April 23, 1823, in Washington, D. C.

MORRISON, JAMES DOW, missionary bishop of Duluth, Minn., was born Oct. 16, 1844, in Waddington, N. Y. In 1896 he was unanimously elected by the house of bishops to the missionary jurisdiction of Duluth, and was consecrated on Feb. 2, 1897, in All Saints' cathedral, Albany, N. Y.

MORRISON, JAMES L. D., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Illinois. He was elected to the senate of Illinois in 1854; and was a representative in congress from that state during the third session of the thirty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy.

MORRISON, JOHN A., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

MORRISON, LEONARD ALLISON, state senator, antiquarian, author, was born Feb. 21, 1843, in Windham, N. H. During 1885-87 he was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives; and a state senator in 1887-89. He is the author of History of the Morison or Morrison Family; History of Wyndham in New Hampshire; Rambles in Europe, with Historical Facts Relating to Scotch-American Families; Among the Scotch-Irish; The Norris Family in America; The Allison Family; The Sinclair Family; and other genealogical works.

MORRISON, ROBERT, railroad president, was born Oct. 14, 1842, in Cleveland, Tenn. Since 1890 he has been president of the Kymulga and Coosa River railroad.

MORRISON, WILLIAM, explorer, was born in 1785 in Montreal, Canada. He made extensive explorations in the northwest territory while in charge of John Jacob Astor's fur trade in Canada. He rendered many important services to geography, and was the first white man who explored the sources of the Mississippi river. He died Aug. 7, 1866, on Morrison Island.

MORRISON, WILLIAM RALLS, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 14, 1825, in Monroe county, Ill. In 1852 he was chosen clerk of Monroe county, Ill., which office he resigned to go into the state legislature, where he served three years; and was speaker of the house in 1859. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-eighth congress; and re-elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. In 1887 he was appointed a member of the inter-state railroad commission.

MORRISON, WILLARD LA GRANGE, educator, was born Nov. 5, 1859, in Alpha, Ind. He is one of the foremost educators of his native state, and is now superintendent of public schools of Scott county, Ind.

MORRISSEY, JOHN, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1831, in Ireland. He was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth and forty-first congresses; and in 1875 was elected to the senate of New York. He died May 1, 1878.

MORROW, JEREMIAH, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 6, 1771, in Gettysburg, Pa. He was chosen a member of the territorial legislature in 1800; and was the first representative in congress from Ohio, serving from 1803 to 1813. He was a senator in congress from 1813 to 1819; and in 1814 was appointed a commissioner to treat with the Indians. In 1821 he was a presidential elector; and was governor of Ohio from 1822 to 1826. He was elected to congress in 1840 to fill a vacancy and served until 1843. He died March 22, 1852, in Warren county.

MORROW, NESTOR, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 11, 1850, in Kaufman county, Texas. For four years he was county attorney of his native county; and for four years served as county judge. He is a successful lawyer of Kaufman, Texas; and for two years was a member of the board of managers of the North Texas Insane asylum.

MORROW, WILLIAM W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 15, 1843, near Milton, Ind. He moved with his parents to Illinois in 1845; and to California in 1859. He was appointed assistant United States attorney for California in 1870. He was elected to the forty-ninth congress and re-elected in 1886 and in 1888. He was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of California by President Harrison in 1891; and United States circuit judge for the ninth judicial circuit by President McKinley in 1897.

MORSE, ABNER, clergyman, genealogist, author, was born Sept. 5, 1793, in Medway, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman and genealogist of Sharon, Mass.; and the author of Memorial of the Morses; Genealogy of Early Planters in Massachusetts; and Descendants of Several Ancient Puritans. He died May 16, 1865, in Sharon, Mass.

MORSE, ALPHEUS CARY, artist, architect, was born June 3, 1818, in Boston, Mass. He was the builder of the Rhode Island hospital and Sale's Memorial hall of Providence. Early in life he became well known as an artist in portraiture, chiefly in crayon; but later in life he devoted himself almost wholly to architecture.

MORSE, MRS. CHARLOTTE DUNNING [WOOD], author, was born in 1858 in New York. She is a novelist; and the author of Upon a Cast, a society novel; A Step Aside; and Cabin and Gondola.

MORSE, DAVID APPLETON, physician, journalist, was born Dec. 12, 1840, in Ellsworth, Ohio. In 1877 he was called to Columbus, Ohio, where he has since held the professorship of nervous disorders and insanity in Starling Medical college and the post of physician to Columbus Hospital for the Insane. He is editor of the department of nervous disorders and insanity in the Lancet and Observer.

MORSE, EDWARD SYLVESTER, physician, author, was born June 18, 1838, in Portland, Maine. He is an eminent biologist of Salem, Mass., who has published First Book, on Zoölogy; Japanese Homes, and many scientific papers.

MORSE, ELIJAH ADAMS, soldier, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born May 25, 1841, in South Bend, Ind.

In 1876 he entered public life as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature; and since that time has served in the senate, the governor's council, and has four times been elected a member of congress. He served as a soldier during the civil war; for three months under

Gen. Butler in Virginia; one year as a corporal under Gen. Banks in Louisiana; and was taken prisoner at the capture of Brashear City, La. He is a successful business man and extensive manufacturer; and is the proprietor of the Rising Sun Black Lead works of Canton, Mass., manufacturers of the famous Rising Sun stove polish. His service in the United States house of representatives was in the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican, declining the re-election to the fifty-fifth.

MORSE, FRANK EUGENE, musician, composer, was born Nov. 10, 1856, in Bradford, Mass. For many years he was a teacher of vocal music in the Conservatory and the Wellesley College School of Music. He is the author of a number of compositions; and the compiler and publisher of the Musician's Calendar.

MORSE, FREEMAN H., state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1807, in Bath, Maine. He was in the Maine legislature from 1840 to 1844, and also in 1853 and 1856; and was mayor of Bath for three years. He was elected to congress in 1843, serving one term; and was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth congress from Maine; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He was a member of the peace congress of 1861; and was appointed by President Lincoln consul at London.

MORSE, HARMON NORTHRUP, chemist, author, was born Oct. 15, 1848, in Cambridge, Vt. In 1876 he became associate professor of chemistry and sub-director of the chemical laboratory at Johns Hopkins. His papers number about twenty-five, and have appeared in the American Chemical Journal.

MORSE, HENRY DUTTON, diamond-cutter, inventor, was born April 20, 1826, in Boston, Mass. In 1869 he established his fame as a diamond-cutter by the skill that he displayed in the treatment of a fifty-carat stone found in Manchester, nearly opposite Richmond, Va. He invented a cutting and polishing machine, which reduced in a great measure the tediousness and inaccuracy of the old manual process. He died Jan. 1, 1888, in Jamaica Plains, Mass.

MORSE, ISAAC EDWARDS, lawyer, congressman, was born May 22, 1809, in Attakapas, La. He was a representative from Louisiana in the twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth, thirtieth, and thirty-first congresses; and was subsequently attorney-general of Louisiana. He died Feb. 11, 1866, in New Orleans, La.

MORSE, JAMES HERBERT, educator, poet, was born in 1841, in Massachusetts. He is an educator and poet of New York city; and the author of Summer Haven Songs.

MORSE, JEDIDIAH, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 23, 1761, in Woodstock, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of New England. He is sometimes styled the Father of American Geography, his being the first school text-books in America of any importance. He was the author of Elements of Geography; American Gazetteer; Annals of the American Revolution; Compendious History of New England; Geography Made Easy; and American Geography. He died June 9, 1826, in New Haven, Conn.

MORSE, JOHN TORREY, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 9, 1840, in Boston, Mass. He is a lawyer of Boston; and the author of Lives of Hamilton, J. Q. Adams, Jefferson, John Adams, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Lincoln, Franklin; Banks and Banking; Arbitration and Award; and Famous Trials.

MORSE, LEOPOLD, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1831, in Bavaria. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and fiftieth congresses as a democrat.

MORSE, MRS. LUCY [GIBBONS], author, was born in 1839 in New York. She is a novelist of New York city; and the author of Rachel Stanwood, a Story; and The Chezzles, a Story of Young People.

MORSE, O. A., lawyer, congressman, was born March 26, 1815, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth congress from New York.

MORSE, RICHARD CARY, journalist, was born June 18, 1795, in Charlestown, Mass. He, with his brother Sidney, established the New York Observer, and for thirty-five years was its proprietor and associate editor. He died Sept. 23, 1868, in Germany.

MORSE, SAMUEL BALDWIN, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 26, 1834, in Fayette, Maine. He has filled pastorates in the baptist church in Stockton and Oakland, Cal.; and since 1887 has been president of California college.

MORSE, SAMUEL FINLEY BREESE, inventor, artist, author, was born April 27, 1791, in Charlestown, Mass. He founded the National Academy of Design in New York, and was its annually elected president for many years. His most wonderful invention, the recording electric telegraph, has been called the greatest triumph which human genius has obtained over space and time.

The first telegraphic message, What hath God wrought, was sent over the wires May 24, 1844, and was dictated by Anna G. Ellis, daughter of the commissioner of patents, who came early in the morning to inform him of the appropriation from congress of thirty thousand dollars for the construction of his first telegraphic line between Baltimore and Washington. He was the author of Foreign Conspiracies against the Liberties of the United States; Our Liberties Defended; and Imminent Dangers through Foreign Immigration. He died April 2, 1872, in New York.

MORSE, SIDNEY EDWARDS, journalist, geographer, author, was born Feb. 7, 1794, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a journalist and geographer of New York city; and the author of System of Modern Geography; and Premium Questions on Slavery. With a younger brother he founded the New York Observer in 1823. He died Dec. 24, 1871, in New York city.

MORSE, T. VERNETTE, artist, author, was born in 1851, in Cortland county, N. Y. In 1892 he came to Chicago and established Arts of America, which was so successful that two years later he organized the Central Art association of America for the promotion and dispersion of good art among the people.

MORSELL, JAMES S., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 10, 1775, in Calvert county, Md. He served as a volunteer soldier in the war of 1812; and in 1816 was appointed a judge of the United States court for the District of Columbia, and continued in that capacity until 1863. He died Jan. 11, 1870, in Prince George county, Md.

MORTON, ALEXANDER, inventor, was born March 8, 1820, in Scotland. He began the manufacture of gold pens in New York city during the summer of 1851, and between that year and 1860 invented automatic processes for pointing, tempering, and grinding them. He died Oct. 12, 1869, in New York city.

MORTON, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born in 1620 in England. He was a puritan clergyman who came to New England in 1686, and was minister at Charlestown and vice-president of Harvard college. He was the author of The Ark: its Loss and Recovery; and System of Logic, long a text-book at Harvard. He died April 11, 1698, in Boston, Mass.

MORTON, CHARLES ADAMS, soldier, merchant, banker. After leaving school he engaged in the commission and wholesale grocery business with his brother at St. Louis, with a branch house at Memphis, Tenn. At the commencement of hostilities in the spring of 1861 he received authority from Governor Dick Yates of Illinois, to raise a company, which went into camp at Camp Butler, and with others formed the thirty-second Illinois infantry, commanded by Colonel John Logan. In November, 1861, Colonel Morton was detached from his regiment and ordered to report to General Sherman for duty as commissary of subsistence. In April, 1863, he was promoted to a lieutenant-colonelcy, and assigned to duty as chief of commissary of subsistence, fifteenth army corps, Major-General W. T. Sherman commanding. Subsequently, upon the return to Washington of General Macfeely, he was assigned to duty as chief C. S. of the army of the Tennessee, and did not leave the army until the winter of 1865. From 1865 to 1871 he resided in St. Louis. In the latter year he removed to St. Paul, where he engaged in banking, real estate and commission business until 1880, when he removed to Fargo, and organized the firm of Morton and Company, for the transaction of real estate and commission business. He was also president of the Exchange bank of Fargo from 1888 to 1892.

MORTON, GEORGE, lawyer, was born June 23, 1859, in Ontario, Canada. He graduated from the Victoria university; was admitted to the bar at Albany in 1884; and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Ogdensburg, N. Y. He has made his mark as a criminal lawyer, and was one of the counsel to defend Frank Conroy, the wife murderer.

MORTON, ELIZA H., author, poet, was born July 18, 1853, in Deering, Me. She is the author of Potter's series of Geographies; and a volume of poems entitled Still Waters. She is also known as the author of The Songs My Mother Sang; My Mission; I Glory in the Cross; and many other hymns, made popular in D. L. Moody revival meetings.

MORTON, HENRY, physicist, college president, author, was born Dec. 11, 1836, in New York city. He was a noted physicist, president of the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., from 1870; and the author of The Student's Practical Chemistry, and many valuable scientific monographs.

MORTON, JACKSON, manufacturer, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 10, 1794, in Spottsylvania county, Va. He was a senator in congress from Florida from 1849 to 1855; and served in the rebellion as a member of the confederate congress. He died Nov. 20, 1874, in Santa Rosa county, Fla.

MORTON, JAMES FERDINAND, educator, clergyman, was born Jan. 24, 1844, in Nova Scotia. He has filled the chair of New Testament Exegesis in the Theological institute of Newton, Mass.; and since 1891 has filled the chair in the Proctor academy of Andover, N. H. He has done considerable editorial work, and is a constant contributor to current literature.

MORTON, JAMES ST. CLAIR, soldier, author, was born Sept. 24, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a federal officer killed in the attack upon Petersburg; and the author of Instruction in Engineering; New System of Fortifications; Memoir on Fortification; and Dangers and Defenses of New York City. He died June 17, 1864, in Petersburg, Va.

MORTON, JENNIE C., poet, was born in Bell's Grove, Ky. She is the daughter of Judge Franklin Bryan Chinn. As a poet of genius Mrs. Morton is recognized the country over; and is considered one of the sweetest poets of central Kentucky. She is the author of a centennial poem, which was read on the occasion of the centennial commission anniversary.

Her longest and best poem, which is entitled A Rhyme of the Women of Frankfort, and two other beautiful poems of hers entitled, Frankfort, and the Elkhorn, were handsomely illustrated by photographic pictures of the scenes and points of interest described in them. A number of copies were published in a brochure at five and ten dollars per copy, and were purchased and sent abroad as souvenirs.

MORTON, JEREMIAH, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851.

MORTON, JOHN, signer of the declaration of independence, was born in 1724 in Ridley, Pa. He was appointed a justice of the peace; and was soon elected to the New York assembly of the state. He was a member of the New York congress in 1765. He was a judge of the supreme court; was a signer of the declaration of independence; and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1777. He died April, 1777, in Delaware county, Pa.

MORTON, JULIUS STERLING, journalist, legislator, was born April 22, 1832, in Jefferson county, N. Y. He located in Nebraska in 1854, in Bellevue, and in the following year issued the first number of the Nebraska City News. He was elected to the territorial legislature the same year and re-elected in 1857. He is the author of the arbor day legislation, which provides that one day in each year, April 22, be made a public holiday and be devoted to tree planting, and which has been adopted in forty-two states. He was appointed secretary of agriculture by President Cleveland, and entered upon his duties March 7, 1893.

MORTON, LEVI PARSONS, vice-president of the United States, was born May 26, 1824, in Shoreham, Vt. He was for many years financier and banker, and entered political life by being elected to congress in 1878. In 1889 he was inaugurated as vice-president of the United States, and subsequently became governor of New York.

MORTON, MARCUS, jurist, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 19, 1784, in Freetown, Mass. In 1811 he was chosen clerk of the Massachusetts senate; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1817 to 1821. In 1823 he was a member of the executive council of that state; in 1824 was elected lieutenant-governor; and was subsequently a judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts from 1825 to 1840. He was governor of the state from 1840 to 1841, and again from 1843 to 1844. He was collector of Boston from 1845 to 1849; and a member of the state legislature in 1858. He died Feb. 6, 1864, in Taunton.

MORTON, MARCUS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born April 8, 1819, in Taunton, Mass. In 1858 he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature. In 1859 he became judge of the superior court of Massachusetts, and in 1872 was made chief justice of the supreme court.

MORTON, MARTHA, dramatist, author, was born in 1865 in New York city. She is the author of Geoffrey Middleton, Gentleman, an American play that has run successfully in New York city and elsewhere.

MORTON, NATHANIEL, author, was born in 1613 in Holland. He was secretary of the Plymouth colony from 1647 till his death, whose New England's Memorial is well known among colonial annals. He died in 1686.

MORTON, OLIVER P., jurist, governor, United States senator, was born Aug. 4, 1823, in Saultsbury, Ind. In 1852 he was elected circuit judge of the fifth judicial circuit of Indiana. In 1860 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Indiana; and in 1861, on the transfer of Governor H. S. Lane to the United States senate, assumed the office of governor and held it four years. In 1864 he was elected governor for a second term. In 1867 he was elected a senator in congress for the term ending in 1873; and was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1879. He died Nov. 1, 1877, in Indianapolis, Ind.

MORTON, OLIVER THROCK, lawyer, author, was born in 1860 in Indiana. He is a lawyer of Chicago; and the author of The Southern Empire, with Other Papers.

MORTON, SAMUEL GEORGE, physician, scientist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1799, in Philadelphia. He was a prominent Philadelphia physician and scientist, and president of the Academy of Natural Sciences. He was the author of Crania Americana; Crania Egyptica; and Illustrated System of Human Anatomy. He died May 15, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MORTON, MRS. SARAH WENTWORTH [APTHORPE], author, poet, was born Aug. 29, 1759, in Braintree, Mass. She was a verse-writer of Quincy, Mass.; and the author of Ouabi, an Indian Tale in four cantos; and My Mind and its Thoughts. She died May 14, 1846, in Quincy, Mass.

MORTON, THOMAS, author, was born about 1575 in England. He was a famous adventurer who, settling himself at Mount Wollaston, which he termed Ma-re Mount, scandalized the colonists at Plymouth and Boston by his sports and carousals. The New English Canaan is a sarcastic and humorous description of his pious neighbors and their country. He died in 1646 in Maine.

MORTON, THOMAS GEORGE, physician, author, was born Aug. 8, 1835, in Philadelphia. He is a Philadelphia physician; and the author of Surgery in the Pennsylvania Hospital; an Epitome of Practice from 1756; and Transfusion of Blood and its Practical Application.

MORTON, WILLIAM THOMAS GREEN, dentist, was born Aug. 19, 1819, in Charlton, Mass. He first discovered the anæsthetic treatment now used by all dentists; and the French Academy of Sciences voted him an award of twenty-five hundred francs for the application of the discovery for surgical operations. He died July 15, 1868, in New York city.

MORWITZ, EDWARD, journalist, inventor, author, was born June 12, 1815, in Prussia. In 1850 he came to this country, settling in Philadelphia, where in 1853 he purchased the German Democrat, which is still edited and published by him. He has invented an improved needle-gun. He has published numerous books, including a History of Medicine; and German-American Dictionary.

MOSBY, JOHN SINGLETON, soldier, author, was born Dec. 6, 1833, in Powhatan county, Va. He is a famous confederate cavalry leader, consul at Hong Kong in 1878-85; and subsequently a lawyer in San Francisco. He is the author of War Reminiscences.

MOSBY, MARY WEBSTER, author, was born in April, 1791, in Henrico county, Va. She published a book entitled Pocahontas. She died Nov. 19, 1844, in Richmond, Va.

MOSELEY, JONATHAN OGDEN, congressman, was born in 1762 in East Haddam, Conn. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1805 to 1821. He died Sept. 9, 1839, in Saginaw, Mich.

MOSELEY, WILLIAM A., state senator, congressman. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1835; of the state senate from 1838 to 1841; and a representative in congress from 1843 to 1847.

MOSELEY, WILLIAM D., governor, was born Feb. 1, 1795, in Lenoir county, N. C. He was governor of Florida from 1845 to 1849. He died Jan. 4, 1863, in Palatka, Fla.

MOSES, CHARLES L., agriculturist, congressman, was born May 2, 1856, in Coweta county, Ga. He was elected from Georgia to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

MOSES, F. J., governor. He was governor of South Carolina from 1873 to 1875.

MOSGROVE, JAMES, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 14, 1821, in Kittanning, Pa. He became president of the Kittanning Iron company; and also president of the First National bank of Kittanning, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh congress as a democrat.

MOSHER, MRS. JENNIE M., author, poet, was born Sept. 20, 1845, in New York (Orleans county). She is prominent in missionary and temperance work, and was president of the Missionary society of Independence, Iowa. She is the author of a volume entitled Story of the Bible in Rhyme.

MOSLER, HENRY, artist, was born June 6, 1841, in New York city. During the civil war he was an art correspondent for Harper's Weekly; and also painted portraits of a number of generals while in camp. His best known works are, Early Cares; Quadroon Girl; Wedding Morning; and The Last Sacrament.

MOSS, JOHN CALVIN, inventor, was born Jan. 5, 1838, near Bentleysville, Pa. He was the first to make photo-engraving a practical business success, and while his methods have never been patented, he is known as the inventor of what is called the Moss process: Moss new process; and the Moss-type process.

MOSS, JOHN R., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 7, 1844, in Powhatan county, Va. He was a member of the Virginia legislature in 1869, and also in 1885. Since 1891 he has been county judge.

MOSS, LEMUEL, educator, journalist, college president, author, was born Dec. 27, 1829, near Burlington, Ky. In 1874-75 he was president of the university of Chicago, and in 1875-84 of Indiana university. He has written Annals of the United States Christian Commission, and various articles on educational and religious subjects. He also edited The Baptists and the National Centenary.

MOSS, LEON F., educator, college president, lawyer, poet, was born Sept. 12, 1861, in Cuba. In 1882 he was president of the Western Normal college of Bushnell, Ill.; and in 1883-84 was city attorney at Ipava, Ill. He is the author of a number of poems.

MOTLEY, JOHN LOTHROP, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born April 15, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He was a distinguished historian who was minister to Austria in 1861-67, and to England in 1869-70. He was the author of Morton's Hope, a romance; Merry Mount, a romance; The Rise of the Dutch Republic; The History of the United Netherlands; and Life and Death of John of Barneveld. He died May 29, 1877, in Dorchester, England.

MOTT, FERRIS O., jurist, state legislator, was born Jan. 9, 1850, near Ithaca, N. Y. He received his education in the common schools of Michigan; learned the carpenter's trade; and since 1878 has lived in Harper, Kas. In 1890 he was elected probate judge; and in 1894 was elected a representative in the state legislature.

MOTT, GEORGE SCUDDER, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 25, 1829, in New York city. He is a presbyterian minister of Flemington, N. J.; and the author of The Prodigal Son; The Resurrection of the Dead; and The Perfect Law.

MOTT, GERSHOM, soldier, was born April 7, 1822, near Trenton, N. J. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862; and in 1864 was brevetted major-general for distinguished services during the war. He died May 29, 1884, in New York city.

MOTT, GORDON N., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 12, 1812, in Zanesville, Ohio. In 1849 he emigrated to California; and in 1850 was elected judge of Sutter county. In 1851 he was appointed a district judge; and in 1861 was appointed a justice of the supreme court of Nevada territory. In 1862 he was elected a delegate from that territory to the thirty-eighth congress.

MOTT, HENRY AUGUSTUS, chemist, author, was born Oct. 22, 1852, in Clifton, N. Y. He was a chemist of New York city; and the author of The Chemist's Manual; Was Man Created?; The Air We Breathe; and Fallacy of the Present Theory of Sound. He died in 1896.

MOTT, JAMES, congressman, was born June 20, 1788, in North Hempstead, Del. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1801 to 1805. He had previously been treasurer of the state; and was a presidential elector in 1809. He died Jan. 26, 1868, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

MOTT, RICHARD, merchant, congressman, was born July 21, 1804, in Mamaroneck, N. Y. He was a merchant of Toledo, Ohio; and was elected to the thirty-fourth congress; and re-elected to the thirty-fifth congress.

MOTT, VALENTINE, surgeon, author, was born April 26, 1785, in Glen Cove, L. I. He was a celebrated surgeon of New York city; and one of the founders of Rutgers Medical college. He was the author of Travels in Europe and the East; Mott's Cliniques; and a translation of Velpeau's Operative Surgery, and surgical papers. He died April 26, 1865, in New York city.

MOTT, VALENTINE, physician, author, was born Nov. 17, 1852, in New York city. In 1887 he went to Paris as the representative of the American Pasteur institute, and studied under Louis Pasteur the prophylactic treatment for hydrophobia, which he introduced into the United States, bringing away the first inoculated rabbit that Pasteur allowed to leave his laboratory. His principal medical paper is Rabies and How to Prevent It, being a Discussion of Hydrophobia and the Pasteur Method of Treatment.

MOTT, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, philanthropist, was born Jan. 12, 1785, in New York city. He established in 1807 the House of Refuge, the Eastern dispensary, the Home for the Friendless, the Colored Orphans' asylum, the Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, and the Woman's hospital, in New York city. He died May 3, 1867, in New York city.

MOTTE, ISAAC, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1738, in South Carolina. In 1780-82 he represented South Carolina in the continental congress. He was a member of the state convention that ratified the United States constitution, and was appointed naval officer of the port of Charleston, holding that office till his death. He died May 8, 1795, in South Carolina.

MOULD, JACOB WREY, architect, was born in 1825 in England. He came to New York in 1853; and in 1857 he was appointed assistant architect of public works. In 1870 he became chief architect. His last work was the design for the temporary tomb of Gen. Grant in Riverside park, which he executed in a few minutes. He died June 14, 1886, in New York city.

MOULTON, JOSEPH WHITE, author, was born in June, 1789, in Stratford, Conn. He is an antiquarian writer of Roslyn, L. I.; and the author of History of the State of New York; and Chancery Practice of New York. He died April 20, 1875, in Roslyn, N. Y.

MOULTON, LOUISE C., author, was born April 10, 1835, in Pomfret, Conn. In 1856 she began writing for Harper's Magazine and various other periodicals. She is the author of Swallow Flights; Random Rambles; Ourselves and Our Neighbors; and a volume of poems entitled In the Garden of Dreams.

MOULTON, LUTHER V., lawyer, author, was born Sept. 27, 1843, in Howard, Mich. He is a successful lawyer of Grand Rapids, Mich. He has had charge of a number of the most important civil cases tried in his state; and has contributed a number of articles to law literature. He is also a noted writer on financial topics, his articles constantly appearing in financial publications. He is the author of a work entitled Science of Money and American Finances.

MOULTON, MACE, lawyer, congressman, was born in New Hampshire. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847; and a state counselor in 1848 and 1849.

MOULTON, RICHARD GREEN, educator, author, was born in 1849 in England. He is an educator of note, professor in the university of Chicago; and the author of Ancient Classical Drama; The University Extension Movement; and Shakespeare as a Dramatic Artist.

MOULTON, SAMUEL W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1822, in Wenham, Mass. He was a member of the Illinois legislature from 1852 to 1859; was a presidential elector in 1856; and was the author of the present common school system of the state. He was chosen president of the board of education of Illinois in 1859, and held the position in 1864, when he was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-ninth congress. He was elected to the forty-seventh congress; and re-elected to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

MOULTRIE, JAMES, physician, educator, was born March 27, 1793, in Charleston, S. C. On the organization of the Medical College of South Carolina in 1824 he was elected professor of anatomy, but declined. In 1833 he was elected to the chair of physiology and accepted, retaining it until 1867. He died in April, 1869, in Charleston, S. C.

MOULTRIE, WILLIAM, soldier, congressman, was born in 1731 in South Carolina. He was a member of the provincial congress in 1775. In 1776 he was made brigadier-general; in 1779 defeated a superior British force near Beaufort; and the same year opposed the advance upon Charleston, and held the city until the approach of Gen. Lincoln. He also distinguished himself in 1780 at Charleston, and was imprisoned until exchanged for Gen. Burgoyne. He was major-general in 1782; was governor of South Carolina from 1785 to 1786, and from 1794 to 1796. While a prisoner he wrote his Memoirs of the Revolution. He died Sept. 27, 1805, in Charleston, S. C.

and was imprisoned until exchanged for Gen. Burgoyne. He was major-general in 1782; was governor of South Carolina from 1785 to 1786, and from 1794 to 1796. While a prisoner he wrote his Memoirs of the Revolution. He died Sept. 27, 1805, in Charleston, S. C.

MOUNT, JAMES ATWELL, farmer, legislator, governor, was born March 23, 1843, in Montgomery county, Ind. He has been president of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of his county, and has served as a state senator. He has filled with honor the high office of governor of Indiana.

MOUNT, WILLIAM SIDNEY, painter, was born Nov. 26, 1807, in Setauket, N. Y. The first painting that he exhibited was The Daughter of Jairus, which was followed by other works of a similar character. Among his subsequent works are, Men Husking Corn; Walking the Crack; The Courtship; Sportsman's Last Visit; Farmer's Noon; The Raffle; Bargaining for a Horse; and The Truant Gamblers, in the New York Historical society; The Ringing of the Pigs; The Lucky Throw; Boys Trapping; Dance of the Haymakers; Power of Music; and Music is Contagious. He died Nov. 19, 1868, in Setauket, L. I.

MOUNTFORD, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born May 31, 1816, in England. He was a unitarian clergyman of Boston who became a spiritualist in his later years; and was the author of Martyria; Euthanasia, or Happy Talk Toward the End of Life; Christianity the Deliverance of the Soul; Minutes Past and Present; and Thorpe, a Quiet English Town. He died April 20, 1885, in Boston, Mass.

MOULTON, ALEXANDRE, ninth governor of Louisiana, was born Nov. 19, 1804, in Lafayette, La. He practiced law for a while, and in 1826 became a representative in the state legislature; served several terms; and for two sessions was speaker of the house. In 1837 he was elected to congress; served on important committees; and was appointed governor in 1843. At the time of his death he was probably the oldest surviving United States senator; and was one of the best governors Louisiana ever had. He died Feb. 12, 1885, in Lafayette, La.

MOUTON, JEAN JACQUES ALEXANDRE ALFRED, soldier, was born Feb. 18, 1829, in Opelouse, La. He served in the civil war and was successively promoted brigadier and major-general in the confederate service. He died April 8, 1864, in Mansfield, La.

MOWER, HORACE, lawyer, jurist, was born in Vermont. He moved to Michigan, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of New Mexico, residing at Santa Fe.

MOWER, JOSEPH ANTHONY, soldier, was born Aug. 22, 1827, in Woodstock, Vt. He was brevetted major-general in the regular army for gallantry during the civil war. He died Jan. 6, 1870, in New Orleans, La.

MOWERS, BERK, musician, composer, was born in Cleversburg, Pa., in which city he still resides. For many years he was engaged in educational work; read music and studied art under the best masters. He has directed conventions; taught many and different musical organizations; and is the author of the musical composition entitled Shed a Tear. He is the author of many selections, both vocal and instrumental; and the author of a music-book for Sabbath school use entitled Golden Grains. In 1892 he was elected justice of the peace; and takes an active part in public affairs.

MOWRY, DANIEL, JR., jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in Smithfield, R. I. He was in the colonial general assembly at the time they passed the act which renounced allegiance to the king. He was judge of the court of common pleas in Rhode Island. He was elected a delegate to the continental congress from that state in 1781.

MOWRY, SYLVESTER, soldier, author, was born in 1830 in Providence, R. I. He was an army officer who resigned in 1858; and the author of Arizona and Sonora; and the Geography, History, and Resources of the Silver Regions of North America. He died Oct. 16, 1871, in London, England.

MOWRY, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, educator, author, was born Aug. 13, 1829, in Uxbridge, Mass. He is an educator of Boston; and the author of Talks with My Boys; Studies in Civil Government; Elements of Civil Government; and School History of the United States.

MOYLAN, STEPHEN, soldier, was born in 1734 in Ireland. He served with distinction through the revolutionary war; and was brevetted brigadier-general in 1783. He died April 11, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa.

MOYLAN, WILLIAM, college president, was born June 22, 1822, in Ireland. In 1865 he was elected president of St. John's college, resigning in 1868. He died Jan. 14, 1891, in Fordham, N. Y.

MOYLE, JAMES H., lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 17, 1858, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He received his education at the university of Utah, and at the university of Michigan, attending both the literary and the law departments. During 1886-90 he was prosecuting attorney for Salt Lake county; and in 1880 was a member of the Utah territorial legislature. He has been president of the board of trustees of the State Reform school, and for six years was one of its trustees. He is a director in a number of the leading corporations of Utah, including banking, commercial, mining, live stock and abstracting.

MOYNAHAN, JAMES, merchant, state senator, was born June 7, 1842, in Greenfield, Mich. He is a successful miner and merchant of Alma, Colo.; has been mayor of his city; and served as a member of the Colorado state senate, of which body he was president pro tem.

MOZIER, JOSEPH, merchant, sculptor, was born Aug. 22, 1812, in Burlington, Vt. His principal works are Pocahontas; The Wept of the Wish-ton-Wish, which he repeated several times; Truth; Silence, both in the Mercantile library, New York; Rebecca at the Well; Esther; Indian Girl at the Grave of her Lover; Jephthah's Daughter; The Peri; and Rizpah. He died in October, 1870, in Switzerland.

MOZLEY, NORMAN A., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1865, in Johnson county, Ill. He was elected from Missouri to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

MUDD, SYDNEY EMANUEL, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1858, in Charles county, Md. He was elected to the Maryland state house of delegates in 1879 and re-elected in 1881. He was elected to the fifty-first and defeated for the fifty-second congress; and was elected to the state house of delegates in 1895, and was speaker of that body. He was delegate to the national republican convention in 1896; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

MUDGE, ALFRED, publisher, was born April 25, 1805, in Portsmouth, N. H. He printed, among other specimens of fine work, History of the City Hall, published by the city authorities of Boston; a genealogical record of the descendants of Hugh Clark, of Watertown; and the Mudge Memorials, being an account of the Mudge family. He died Aug. 14, 1882, in Hull, Mass.

MUDGE, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, lawyer, state senator, was born Aug. 11, 1817, in Orrington, Maine. He settled in Kansas in 1862, and in 1864-65 was state senator. He died Nov. 21, 1879, in Manhattan, Kas.

MUDGE, ENOCH, clergyman, author, was born June 28, 1776, in Lynn, Mass. He was a noted methodist itinerant preacher of New England; and the author of Notes on the Parables; Lynn, a Poem; The Juvenile Expositor; Lectures to Seamen. He died April 2, 1850, in Lynn, Mass.

MUDGE, ZACHARIAH ATWELL, clergyman, author, was born July 2, 1813, in Orrington, Maine. He was a methodist clergyman of Massachusetts; and the author of The Christian Statesman; Views from Plymouth Rock; Witch Hill, a History of Salem Witchcraft; Life of Abraham Lincoln; Footprints of Roger Williams; Arctic Heroes; Fur-clad Adventurers; History of Suffolk County, Massachusetts; and The Luck of Alden Farm. He died in 1888.

MUFFLY, JOSEPH WENDEL, educator. He is prominently identified with the educational and public affairs of Des Moines, Iowa.

MUHLEMAN, ROBERT W., physician, surgeon, business man, was born May 5, 1853, in Hannibal, Ohio. He attended the Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio, and the Pulte Medical college of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Bellaire, Ohio. He has been superintendent of the Hannibal schools; president of the Crystal Window Glass company of Bellaire, Ohio; president of the Seal Glass Mandolin company; vice-president of the Ohio Valley Telephone company.

MUHLENBERG, FRANCIS SAMUEL, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 22, 1795, in Philadelphia, Pa. He moved to Ohio; became a member of the legislature of that state; and was a representative from Ohio in the twentieth congress. He died in 1832 in Pickaway county, Ohio.

MUHLENBERG, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Aug. 25, 1818, in Lancaster, Pa. He has been professor in Franklin college from 1838 to 1850; of Greek in Pennsylvania college from 1850 till 1867; first president of Muhlenberg college, Pa., from 1867 till 1876, and professor of the Greek language and literature in the university of Pennsylvania since 1876. He has published his Inaugural Address as president of Muhlenberg college; Semi-Centennial Address at Pennsylvania college, and other addresses.

MUHLENBERG, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS CONRAD, clergyman, congressman, was born Jan. 1, 1750, in Trappe, Pa. In 1773 he was pastor of Christ's church, New York city, retiring from the ministry in 1779, when he entered the continental congress as the representative of the Pennsylvania Germans. He was the presiding officer of the assembly in his own state, and speaker of the first and third congresses. He died June 4, 1801, in Lancaster, Pa.

MUHLENBERG, GOTTHILF HENRY ERNST, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 11, 1753, in Trappe, Pa. He was a lutheran divine of Philadelphia, famous as a botanist in his day; and the author of Catalogus Plantarum Americæ Septentrionalis; and English and German Lexicon and Grammar. He died May 23, 1815, in Lancaster, Pa.

MUHLENBERG, HENRY AUGUSTUS, clergyman, congressman, was born May 13, 1782, in Lancaster, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to congress in 1828, and served from 1829 until 1838, when he resigned his seat and accepted the mission to Austria, about that time created. In 1835 he was the candidate of a portion of the democratic party for governor; and in 1838 was appointed minister to Austria. He died Aug. 12, 1844, in Reading, Pa.

MUHLENBERG, HENRY AUGUSTUS, JR., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in July, 1823, in Reading, Pa. He was elected to the Pennsylvania state senate in 1848, of which body he at once became a leading member. He wrote a Life of General Muhlenberg. He was elected a member of the thirty-third congress. He died Jan. 9, 1854, in Washington.

MUHLENBERG, JOHN PETER GABRIEL, bishop, soldier, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 1, 1746, in Trappe, Pa. In 1774 he was elected to the house of burgesses of Virginia. He raised the eighth Virginia regiment, and was made its colonel. In 1777 he was made brigadier-general. After the war he was elected vice-president of Pennsylvania; was a presidential elector in 1797; and was a member of the first, third and sixth congresses from Pennsylvania. He was United States senator in 1801, which office he resigned in 1802. He was appointed supervisor of revenue for Pennsylvania in that year; and was appointed collector of the port of Philadelphia. Muhlenberg college was named after him. He died Oct. 1, 1807, near Philadelphia.

MUHLENBERG, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, poet, was born Sept. 16, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a distinguished episcopal clergyman, rector of the Church of the Holy Communion in New York city in 1846-77. He was the founder of St. Luke's hospital, and organized the first protestant sisterhood in America. His hymn, I Would not Live Alway, is widely known. He was the author of Church Poetry; Music of the Church; People's Psalter; Evangelical Catholic Papers; Christ and the Bible; Family Prayers; Letters on Protestant Sisterhoods; St. Johnland; and Ideal and Actual. He died April 8, 1877, in New York city.

MUIR, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born April 12, 1757, in Scotland. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Alexandria, Va.; and the author of An Examination of the Principles in the Age of Reason, in Ten Discourses; and Sermons. He died Aug. 20, 1820, in Alexandria, Va.

MUIR, JOHN, scientist, explorer, author, was born in 1838 in Scotland. He is a noted California scientist and explorer, discoverer of the Muir Glacier in Alaska; and the author of The Mountains of California.

MULDROW, HENRY LOWNDES, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in Mississippi. He served in the confederate army from 1861 to 1865, rising to the rank of colonel. He was district attorney for the sixth judicial district of Mississippi from 1869 to 1871. He was elected a representative in the state legislature in 1875; and was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

MULFORD, ELISHA, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 19, 1833, in Montrose, Pa. He was an episcopal clergyman of Cambridge, lecturer in the Episcopal Theological school there, and prominent among broad church thinkers. He was the author of The Nation; The Foundations of Civil Order and Political Life in the United States; and The Republic of God. He died Dec. 9, 1885, in Cambridge, Mass.

MULFORD, PRENTICE, journalist, author, was born in 1834 in Long Island. He was a journalist of New York city and San Francisco; and the author of The Swamp Angel; Life by Land and Sea; and Your Forces and How to Use Them.

MULLANY, JAMES ROBERT MADISON, naval officer, was born Oct. 26, 1818, in New York city. He was actively engaged in the Mexican and civil wars, and attained the rank of commodore. He died Sept. 17, 1887, in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

MULLANY, PATRICK FRANCIS, educator, author, was born June 29, 1847, in Ireland. He was a Roman catholic educator of the order of Brothers of the Christian Schools; president of Rock Hill college in 1878-89, and subsequently a resident of New York city. He was the author of The Development of English Literature: Old English Period; Philosophy of Literature: Psychological Aspects of Education; Address on Thinking; Aristotle and the Christian Church; Culture of the Spiritual Sense; and Phases of Thought and Criticism. He died in 1893.

MULLEN, TOBIAS, bishop, was born in 1818 in Ireland. He was consecrated bishop of Erie in 1868.

MULLER, ALBERT A., poet, clergyman, was born about 1800 in Charleston, S. C. One of his poems was largely copied in the newspapers and appeared as the first piece in the early American editions of Moore's Sacred Melodies. He published a volume of poems, which attracted much attention.

MULLER, CARL CHRISTIAN, author, musician, was born July 3, 1831, in Germany. He was leader of the orchestra at the old Barnum's museum; and since 1879 he has been professor of harmony of the New York College of Music.

MULLER, NICHOLAS, banker, legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 15, 1836, in Germany. He was a promoter of and director in the Germania bank of New York city. He was a member of the state assembly in 1875 and 1876; and of the democratic state central committee in 1875. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses; was also elected to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

MULLER, NIKOLAUS, poet, was born in 1809 in Germany. He was a German poet who emigrated to New York city in 1853 and established himself there as a printer. He died in 1873.

MULLER, RICHARD A., artist, engraver, was born March 27, 1850, in Bavaria, Germany. He has attained eminence as an artist and engraver on wood.

MULLER-URY, ADOLPH FELIX, portrait painter, was born Feb. 28, 1862, in Switzerland. Among his most important portraits are Cardinal Gibbons; Chauncey M. Depew; J. J. Hill of St. Paul; and a full-size portrait of Gen. Grant.

MULLETT, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Oct. 17, 1784, in Wittingham, Vt. He was admitted to the bar in 1814; and in 1823 was elected to the New York legislature, serving two terms. In 1846 he was made attorney for Buffalo, and in 1847 he became justice of the supreme court of New York. He died Sept. 10, 1858.

MULLIGAN, JAMES A., soldier, was born June 25, 1830, in Utica, N. Y. In 1850 he graduated from the university of St. Mary's-of-the-Lake of Chicago; published a Roman catholic paper; and in 1857 began practicing law in Chicago. When the civil war opened he organized and was chosen colonel of the twenty-third Illinois regiment, known as the Irish brigade. He was fatally wounded

July 24, 1864, at the battle of Winchester, and died two days later.

MULLIGAN, JOHN, railroad president, was born Jan. 12, 1820, in Hartford, Conn. Since 1890 he has been president of the Connecticut River railroad.

MULLIN, JOSEPH, congressman, was born in Ireland. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1849.

MULLINS, JAMES, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 15, 1807, in Bedford county, Tenn. In 1831 he was made a colonel of militia; and from 1840 to 1846 was a county sheriff. He was a delegate to the Nashville convention of 1865; and was elected to the state legislature in the same year, and made speaker. In 1867 he was elected a representative from Tennessee to the fortieth congress.

MULVANY, PETER, merchant, contractor, poet, was born Nov. 20, 1844, in Ireland. He is a successful merchant, hotel keeper, railroad contractor and builder of Salida, Colo. For twelve years he has been a director in the Salida Building and Loan association. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems, and has contributed extensively to the periodical press on educational and other topics.

MUMFORD, GEORGE, legislator, congressman, was born in Rowan county, N. C. He represented it in the general assembly in 1810 and 1811; and was a representative in congress from 1817 to 1819. He died Dec. 31, 1818, in Washington.

MUMFORD, GURDON S., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1805 to 1811.

MUNDAY, JOHN WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born in 1844 in Indiana. He is a lawyer of Chicago; and the author of The Spanish Galleon; and The Lost Canyon of the Toltecs, both tales of adventure for boys.

MUNDE, PAUL FORTUNATUS, physician, author, was born Sept. 7, 1846, in Saxony. He is a prominent New York physician; and the author of Obstetric Palpation; Minor Surgical Gynecology; and Management of Pregnancy.

MUNFORD, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, poet, was born Aug. 15, 1775, in Mecklenburg county, Va. He was a lawyer of Richmond, Va., who, beside several volumes of Law Reports, published a volume of Poems (1798) and a scholarly blank-verse translation of the Iliad. He died June 21, 1825, in Richmond, Va.

MUNGEN, WILLIAM, soldier, journalist, congressman, was born May 12, 1821, in Baltimore, Md. In 1846 and 1848 he was chosen a county auditor of Ohio; and in 1851 was elected to the state senate and declined a re-election. He was appointed state agent to visit all the Ohio troops in the department of Tennessee with poll-books and tally-sheets; and in 1864 was appointed to perform the same duty for the Ohio troops in the army of the Potomac. In 1866 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the fortieth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first congress as a democrat.

MUNGER, THEODORE THORNTON, clergyman, author, was born March 5, 1830, in Bainbridge, N. Y. He was a congregational clergyman of New Haven, prominent among liberal thinkers of that faith; and the author of On the Threshold; The Freedom of Faith; Lamps and Paths; and The Appeal to Life.

MUNKITTRICK, RICHARD KENDALL, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1853 in England. He is a humorous writer of New York city on the editorial staff of Puck; and the author of The Moon Prince, a juvenile; Farming; and The Acrobatic Muse, a collection of humorous verse.

MUNN, GEORGE F., artist, was born in 1852 in Utica, N. Y. He has painted and sketched in Brittany, and has exhibited at the Dudley gallery, London, at Birmingham, and elsewhere. Among his works are Wild Flowers; Roses; Meadow-Sweet; and A Sunny Day, Brittany.

MUNRO, GEORGE, publisher, was born Nov. 12, 1825, in Nova Scotia. In 1867 he published the Fireside Companion; was the first to issue a series of cheap novels in the form of a weekly journal, and in this form East Lynne first appeared in 1877. He died April 23, 1896, in Pine Hill, N. Y.

MUNROE, CHARLES EDWARD, educator, chemist, author, was born May 24, 1849, in Cambridge, Mass. He has been professor of chemistry in the United States Naval academy, and in the United States Naval War college and Torpedo station; and is now dean of the Columbian university of Washington, D. C. He is the author of one hundred scientific papers.

MUNROE, [CHARLES] KIRK, author, was born in 1850 in Wisconsin. She is a popular writer, now resident in Florida, whose writings are mainly for juvenile readers. She is the author of Wakulla; Life of Mrs. Stowe; The Flamingo Feather; Derriek Sterling; Crystal Jack and Co.; The Golden Days of '49; Dorymates; Under Orders; Prince Dusty; Campmates; Canoemates; Cab and Caboose; Raftmates; The Coral Ship; The White Conquerors; The Fur Seal's Tooth; Big Cypress; Snow-Shoes and Sledges; Totem of the Bear; Rick Dale; A Young War Chief; and At War with Pontiac.

MUNROE, JAMES, legislator, state senator, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was elected a representative in congress from New York, serving from 1839 to 1841. He was a member of the assembly of New York in 1850 and 1852, and a state senator during the three subsequent years. He died in 1870 in New Jersey.

MUNROE, JOHN, soldier, was born about 1796 in Scotland. He was military and civil governor of New Mexico from October, 1849, till 1850, and was promoted lieutenant-colonel in 1856. He died April 26, 1861, in New Brunswick, N. J.

MUNSELL, FRANKLIN, journalist, author, was born in 1857 in New York. He is a publisher of Albany; and the author of Chips for the Chimney Corner; and The Bibliography of Albany.

MUNSELL, JOEL, printer, publisher, author, was born April 14, 1808, in Northfield, Mass. He was a printer and publisher of Albany; and the author of Outlines of the History of Printing; Every-Day Book of History and Chronology; and Chronology of Paper and Paper-Making. He died Jan. 15, 1880, in Albany, N. Y.

MUNSEY, FRANK ANDREW, journalist, author, was born in 1854 in Maine. He is a prominent magazine publisher of New York city; and the author of Afloat in a Great City; The Boy Broker; and Deringforth.

MUNSON, ENEAS, physician, educator, legislator, was born June 24, 1734, in New Haven, Conn. He was president of the Medical society of Connecticut, and was a professor in the Medical school of Yale from its organization till his death. During the revolutionary war he was often a member of the legislature. He died June 16, 1826, in New Haven, Conn.

MUNSON, JAMES EUGENE, phonographer, author, was born May 12, 1835, in Paris, N. Y. He is a phonographer of New York city; and the author of The Complete Phonographer; Dictionary of Practical Phonography; and Phrase Book of Practical Phonography.

MUNSON, LOVELAND, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 21, 1843, in Manchester, Vt. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1870; of the house of representatives in 1872, 1874 and 1882; and a member of the state senate in 1878. He was register of probate during 1866-76; and a judge of probate in 1883-89. The latter year he became a judge; and was re-elected four times, serving until 1898.

MUNSON, LYMAN E., lawyer, jurist. He was appointed chief justice of the United States court for the territory of Montana.

MUNSON, MYRON ANDREWS, educator, clergyman, author, was born May 5, 1835, in Chester, Mass. He graduated from Harvard in 1860; and from Andover Theological seminary in 1864. He has made a tour in Europe; served as a soldier; taught Latin, German, English literature and geology; and performed ministerial duty in Vermont, Minnesota, New York and Massachusetts. His health failing, he engaged in historical research, and is the author of The Munson Record, in two volumes; and has issued a dozen pamphlets on diverse themes.

MUNSON, SAMUEL LYMAN, manufacturer, financier, was born June 14, 1844, in Huntington, Mass. He is a successful manufacturer of shirts and collars of Albany, N. Y. He is a trustee and secretary of the Home Savings bank; and a director of the Albany Exchange National bank.

MUNSON, PETER, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 14, 1859, in Sweden. He graduated from the Wesleyan university of Fullerton, Neb.; from the Swedish Theological seminary of Evanston, Ill.; and for three years attended the Illinois Wesleyan university of Bloomington. For several years he was engaged in educational work; is now pastor and secretary of the western Swedish conference; and also missionary secretary of the Kansas-Nebraska district.

MUNSON, WILLIAM BENJAMIN, railroad president, was born Jan. 7, 1846, in Fulton county, Ill. In 1888 he became president of the Denison and Washita Valley railway.

MURAT, NAPOLEON ACHILLE, author, was born Jan. 21, 1801, in Paris, France. In his youth he bore the title of Prince of the Two Sicilies. He came to the United States in 1821, was naturalized and settled in Tallahassee, Fla. He was mayor of that place in 1824, and postmaster in 1826-28. He died April 15, 1847, in Waseeissa, Fla.

MURBAUGH, EDMUND DANDRIDGE, educator, college president, was born Nov. 18, 1853, in Uniontown, Ala. He attended the Mary college, and the university of Virginia, after receiving the rudiments of his education in Fredericksburg. He has attained success as an educator; has been president of the A. and M. college of Oklahoma; and is now the president of the Oklahoma Territorial Normal school.

MURCH, THOMPSON H., stone cutter, journalist, congressman, was born March 29, 1838, in Hampden, Maine. For eighteen years he was a stone cutter, and in 1877 became the editor and publisher of The Granite-Cutters' International Journal. He was elected a representative from Maine to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

MURDOCH, JAMES EDWARD, actor, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 25, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a noted actor and lecturer; and the author of Orthophony; The Stage; Plea for Spoken Language; and Analytic Elocution. He died in 1893.

MURDOCK, HAROLD, author, was born in 1862 in Massachusetts. He is a bank cashier of Boston; and the author of The Reconstruction of Europe, a Sketch of the Diplomatic and Military History of Continental Europe from the Rise to the Fall of the Second French Empire.

MURDOCK, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 16, 1776, in Westbrook, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman and educator of New Haven. He was the author of Sketches of Modern Philosophy, and translator of Mosheim's Ecclesiastical History, and other works, as well as of a Literal Translation of the New Testament from the Ancient Syriac. He died Aug. 10, 1856, in Columbus, Miss.

MURDOCK, SAMUEL A., soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 12, 1848, in Mt. Holly, N. J. During the civil war he was a private soldier in company F, eleventh regiment Illinois volunteer cavalry, and was one of the youngest men in that regiment. He is a prominent lawyer of Havana, Ill.; has been city attorney for four terms; and has filled various public positions of honor in his city, county and state.

MURFREE, FANNY NOAILLES DICKINSON, author. She is the author of Felicia, a novel.

MURFREE, MARY NOAILLES—Charles Egbert Craddock—author, was born about 1840 in Grantlands, Tenn. She is the author of In the Tennessee Mountains; Where the Battle was Fought; The Prophet of the Great Smoky Mountains; Down the Ravine; His Vanished Star; In the Clouds; The Story of Keedon Bluffs; The Despot of Broomsedge Cove; In the Stranger People's Country; The Phantoms of the Footbridge; The Mystery of Witch-Face Mountain, and Other Stories; and The Juggler.

MURFREE, WILLIAM H., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Hertford county, N. C. He served in the North Carolina state legislature in 1805; was a representative in congress from 1813 to 1817; and was a presidential elector in 1813. He died in Nashville, Tenn.

MURFREE, WILLIAM LAW, lawyer, author, was born July 19, 1817, in Murfreesboro, N. C. In 1881 he edited the Central Law Journal; and is the author of A Treatise on the Law of Sheriffs; Official Bonds; and Practice before Justices of the Peace. He died Aug. 23, 1892, in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

MURPHEY, ABNER GOFF, educator, college president, was born Oct. 18, 1831, in Knox county, Ohio. He is the president of Logan Female college of Russellville, Ky.

MURPHEY, ARCHIBALD DEBOW, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1777 in Caswell county, N. C. He was the author of numerous law works, and a history of his state. He died Feb. 3, 1832, in Hillsborough, N. C.

MURPHY, LADY BLANCHE ELIZABETH MARY ANNUNCIATA [NOEL], author, was born about 1850 in England. She is the author of On the Rhine, and Other Sketches. She died March 22, 1881, in North Conway, N. H.

MURPHY, CHARLES, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from 1851 to 1853.

MURPHY, EDGAR GARDNER, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 31, 1869, in Fort Smith, Ark. He now fills a pastorate in Kingston, N. Y. He is the author of The Larger Life; Words for the Church; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

MURPHY, EDWARD, JR., state legislator, United States senator, was born Dec. 15, 1836, in Troy, N. Y. He was elected to the New York state legislature in 1875, and re-elected in 1877, 1879 and in 1881. He was elected United States senator to fill a vacancy, and took his seat March 4, 1893. His term of service in the senate will expire March 3, 1899.

MURPHY, EVERETT J., state legislator, congressman, was born July 24, 1852, in Nashville, Ill. In 1886 he was elected a representative to the general assembly of Illinois, and in 1889 was appointed warden of the Southern Illinois penitentiary, which position he held until 1892, when he removed to East St. Louis, where he now resides. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

MURPHY, FRANKLIN, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1836, in Jersey City, N. J. In 1865 he founded the firm of Murphy and Co., varnish manufacturers of Newark. Since then, his time, energies and great business capacity have been devoted, in the main, to the promotion of this trade. The Murphy varnishes are now sold all over the world, and the Murphy Varnish Co., which succeeded the firm in 1891, and of which Mr. Murphy is president, has factories in Newark, Chicago, St. Louis, and Cleveland, and transacts an enormous business. He has served as member of the Newark common council and of the New Jersey legislature; is now chairman of the republican state committee, and is active in each campaign.

MURPHY, GEORGE ARTHUR, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 25, 1858, in Starke county, Ind. In 1888 he moved to Beatrice, Neb. In 1890 he was chosen city attorney; in 1894 was elected county attorney; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Nebraska state legislature.

MURPHY, HENRY CRUSE, lawyer, state legislator, state senator, congressman, author, was born July 5, 1810, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was at one time attorney for the city of Brooklyn; and was elected mayor of that city in 1842. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1849; and was appointed minister to The Hague. On his return from Europe he was elected to the legislature of New York, serving in both the assembly and senate. He was again elected to the state senate in 1868 and 1869. In 1868 he published a translation from the Dutch entitled Journal of a Voyage to New York in 1679-80. His other works are: Henry Hudson in Holland; and Anthology of the New Netherlands. He died Dec. 11, 1882, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

MURPHY, ISAAC, governor. He was governor of Arkansas from 1864 to 1868.

MURPHY, JAMES A., lawyer, was born June 21, 1862, in Clermont, Iowa. He attended the Commercial college of Dubuque, Iowa; was postmaster of Carrington, N. D., for two years; has been clerk of the district court; and in 1893-95 was deputy commissioner of insurance for North Dakota. He has a large practice in Jamestown, N. D.; and takes a prominent part in the public affairs of his county and state.

MURPHY, JEREMIAH H., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 19, 1835, in Lowell, Mass. He was mayor of Davenport, Iowa, in 1873; and was a state senator from 1874 to 1878. He was again elected mayor of Davenport in 1880. He was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

MURPHY, JOHN, congressman, governor, was born in 1786, in Columbia, S. C. He moved to Alabama in 1817; was governor of Alabama from 1825 to 1829; and a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1835. He died Sept. 21, 1841, in Clarke county, Ala.

MURPHY, JOHN, publisher, was born March 12, 1812, in Ireland. In 1855 he printed a translation of the Definition of the Dogma of the Immaculate Conception, for which Pope Pius IX sent him a gold medal. He died May 27, 1880, in Baltimore, Md.

MURPHY, JOHN ALBERT, clergyman, poet, was born Jan. 24, 1837, in Rich Fork, N. C. He received his education at the Catawba college, N. C., from which institution he received his degree of D. D.; and the degree of A. M. was conferred upon him by Trinity college. In 1857 he joined the St. Louis conference of the methodist episcopal church south; and in 1879 was transferred to the northwest Texas conference.

MURPHY, JOHN FRANCIS, landscape-painter, was born Dec. 11, 1853, in Oswego, N. Y. In 1885 he received the second Hallgarten prize for his painting Tints of a Vanished Past, and he took the Webb prize at the Society of American Artists in 1887. His works include Sunny Slopes; Upland Cornfield; October; Late Afternoon; April Weather; Woodland; Rocky Slope; Weedy Brook; Sultry Season; Edge of a Pond; After the Frosts; The Yellow Leaf; Indian Summer; Sun-down; and Brooks and Fields.

MURPHY, JOHN L., lawyer, jurist, was born in Tennessee. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Montana, residing in Virginia City.

MURPHY, JOHN McLEOD, civil engineer, was born Feb. 14, 1827, in North-castle, N. Y. He entered the United States navy as midshipman in 1841; was promoted past midshipman in 1847; and resigned in 1852. He died June 1, 1871, in New York city.

MURPHY, NATHAN O., congressman, governor, was born in 1849, in Lincoln county, Maine. He settled in Prescott, Ariz., in 1883. The governorship was tendered to him and he took his seat in 1892. He was the unanimous nominee of his party for delegate to the fifty-fourth congress, and was elected by a large plurality.

MURPHY, ROBERT S., soldier, public official, legislator, was born April 15, 1840, in Paulding county, Ohio. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in company E, thirtieth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry; was continuously in the service, and participated in the battle of Shiloh, the siege of Vicksburg, and numerous other engagements until 1865; and was commissioned first lieutenant of marines

May 9, 1864. He has filled numerous public positions of trust in Mandale, Ohio; has been justice of the peace and county auditor; and was elected to the seventy-second general assembly of the Ohio state legislature as a republican.

MURPHY, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 6, 1823, in Ireland. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of Pastoral Theology; Pastor and People; and Duties of Church Members.

MURPHY, THOMAS F., lawyer, was born Aug. 19, 1850, in Syracuse, N. Y. In 1876 he was admitted to the bar, and is now a prominent lawyer in his native city. He has filled various public positions of honor in Syracuse; and has always taken an active part in political affairs.

MURRAH, PENDLETON, governor, was born in Alabama. He was governor of Texas from 1863 to 1865. He died Sept. 23, 1865, in Monterey, Mexico.

MURRAH, WILLIAM BELTON, clergyman, college president, was born in May, 1851, in Pickensville, Ala. He attended the Southern university of Greensboro, Ala. He is an eminent clergyman, and has filled pastorates in a number of important churches. For many years he was vice-president of the Whitworth Female college; and is now president of Millsops college, Jackson.

MURRAY, ALEXANDER, naval officer, was born in 1816 in Philadelphia. He entered the United States navy in 1835; became commodore in 1871, and rear-admiral on the retired list in 1876. He died Nov. 10, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

MURRAY, AMBROSE S., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses.

MURRAY, DAVID, educator, author, was born Oct. 15, 1830, in Bovina, N. Y. He is an educator of New York city, foreign adviser to the Japanese government on education; and the author of Manual of Land Surveying; Outline History of Japanese Education; and The Story of Japan.

MURRAY, DAVID RODMAN, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born March 13, 1847, in Cloverport, Ky. He graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan. He served in the union army as adjutant of the seventeenth regiment Kentucky volunteer cavalry, and was mustered out in October, 1865, in Louisville, Ky.; and was subsequently acting assistant adjutant-general of the second Kentucky brigade. During 1877-81

he served with distinction as a state senator in the Kentucky legislature. He is one of the leading lawyers of Kentucky, and resides in his native city.

MURRAY, ELI HOUSTON, governor, was born Sept. 12, 1844, in Breckinridge county, Ky. He was for a time United States marshal for Kentucky. In 1880 he was appointed governor of the territory of Utah for the term of four years.

MURRAY, EPHRAIM CLARK, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 5, 1861, in Edisto Island, S. C. He has filled various pastorates in the churches of North and South Carolina; and is now the president of the Presbyterian college of South Carolina.

MURRAY, GEORGE WASHINGTON, congressman, was born Sept. 22, 1853, near Rembert, S. C. He was elected from South Carolina to the fifty-third, and was re-nominated for the fifty-fourth congress by the republicans.

MURRAY, HANNAH LINDLEY, translator, author, was born March 10, 1777, in New York city. She painted, wrote verses and hymns, and, aided by her sister, composed a poem in eight books on the Restoration of the Jews. She died July 3, 1836, in New York city.

MURRAY, JAMES ORMSBEE, educator, author, was born in 1827. He is an educator, professor of English literature in Princeton college, and dean of the college from 1886. He is the author of Life of Francis Wayland.

MURRAY, JOHN, congressman, was born in Lancaster, Pa. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1821.

MURRAY, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born May 22, 1742, in Ireland. He held presbyterian pastorates in Philadelphia, Boothbay, Maine, and Newburyport, Mass. He published Sermons on Justification; and Sermons on the Original Sin Imputed. He died March 13, 1793, in Newburyport, Mass.

MURRAY, JOHN L., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1838 to 1839.

MURRAY, JOHN O'KANE, physician, author, was born Dec. 22, 1847, in Ireland. He was a physician and author of New York city; and the author of Popular History of the Catholic Church in the United States; Catholic Pioneers of America; Lessons in English Literature; The Prose and Poetry of Ireland; Little Lives of the Great Saints; and Catholic Heroes and Heroines of America. He died July 30, 1885, in Chicago, Ill.

MURRAY, JOHN YOUNG, physician, surgeon, legislator, was born May 6, 1829, in McNairy county, Tenn. He has filled the principal offices of his town, county and state; has held, among other positions, that of county treasurer, sheriff, and served with distinction as a member of the Mississippi state legislature. Since 1849 he has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession, and has attained prominence as one of the leading physicians of the south. He has been president of the Mississippi State Medical association; president of the Tri-State Medical association, which includes the states of Tennessee, Arkansas, and Mississippi. He has been grand master and grand high priest of Masons of Mississippi; and is well known throughout the state as a man of scholarly attainments and integrity.

MURRAY, LINDLEY, educator, author, was born April 22, 1745, near Lancaster, Pa. He was a famous grammarian whose life after 1784 was passed near York, England. He was the author of Grammar of the English Language; Power of Religion on the Mind; and Compendium of Religious Faith and Practice. He died Feb. 16, 1826, in England.

MURRAY, NICHOLAS, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 25, 1802, in Ireland. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Elizabeth, N. J., famous in his day as a controversialist; and the author of Letters by Kirwan to Bishop Hughes; Romanism at Home; Men and Things; The Happy Home; Preachers and Preaching; and Parish and Other Pencilings. He died Feb. 4, 1861, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

MURRAY, RICHARD A., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 18, 1833, in Champlain, N. Y. He served as a soldier during the civil war, and was colonel of the ninth regiment Minnesota militia. He is a prominent lawyer of Madison, S. D., where he has filled the office of county judge.

MURRAY, ROBERT, surgeon, was born Aug. 6, 1822, in Howard county, Md. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States army in 1846; and received the brevets of lieutenant-colonel and colonel in 1865 for meritorious service during the civil war.

MURRAY, ROBERT M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1841, in Concord, Ohio. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

MURRAY, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Northumberland county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1821 to 1823.

MURRAY, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1855.

MURRAY, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, clergyman, author, was born April 26, 1840, in Guilford, Conn. He was a noted congregational minister, pastor of Park Street church, Boston, in 1868-74; and the author of Adventures in the Wilderness; Adirondack Tales; Deacons; Music Hall Sermons; The Perfect Horse; Sermons from Park Street Pulpit; How Deacon Tubner Kept New Year's; The Doom of Mamelons; Daylight Land; and Words Fittly Spoken.

MURRAY, WILLIAM VANS, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, author, was born in 1762, in Cambridge, Md. He was soon elected to a seat in the Maryland legislature; and in 1791 was elected a representative in congress, and continued in that position until 1797, when he declined being a candidate. He was appointed minister to the Netherlands; and in connection with Mr. Ellsworth and Mr. Davie, negotiated a treaty with France in 1800. He was the author of a treatise on The Constitution and Laws of the United States. He died Dec. 11, 1803, in Cambridge, Md.

MUSICK, JOHN ROY, author, poet, was born Feb. 28, 1849, in St. Louis, Mo. He is a novelist and historian of Kirksville, Mo.; and the author of The Banker of Bedford; History Stories of Wisconsin; Calamity Row; Brother against Brother; Mysterious Mr. Howard; and a series of twelve Columbian historical novels, including Columbia; Estevan; St. Augustine; Pocahontas; The Pilgrims; A Century Too Soon, a story of Bacon's Rebellion; The Witch of Salem; Braddock; Independence; Sustained Honor; Humbled Pride; and Union.

MUSSEY, REUBEN DIMOND, physician, author, was born June 23, 1780, in Pelham, N. H. He was a Boston physician who published Health: its Friends and its Foes. He died June 21, 1866, in Boston, Mass.

MUSSEY, WILLIAM HEBERDON, surgeon, educator, was born Sept. 30, 1818, in Hanover. He was a medical inspector in the civil war; professor of operative and clinical surgery in the Miami Medical college, Ohio, in 1865-82; and surgeon-general of Ohio in 1876. He died Aug. 1, 1882, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

MUTCHLER, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 21, 1831, in Northampton county, Pa. In 1860 he was elected prothonotary of his native county, and re-elected in 1863; and was for two years an assessor of internal revenue. In 1869 and 1870 he was chairman of the democratic state committee. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fourth congress; and was again a representative in the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

MUTCHMORE, SAMUEL ALEXANDER, clergyman, journalist, author. Since 1882 he has been pastor of the Memorial church of Philadelphia. He is the author of A Visit of Japheth to Shem and Ham; The Mongal; The Mikado; and The Missionary.

MUTTER, THOMAS DENT, physician, author, was born March 9, 1811, in Richmond, Va. In 1841-56 he was professor of surgery in Jefferson Medical college. He wrote an account of the salt sulphur springs of Virginia, an essay on Club-Foot, contributed various professional papers to periodicals, and published an edition of Robert Liston's Lectures on the Operations of Surgery, with additions. He died March 16, 1859, in Charleston, S. C.

MUZZEY, ARTEMAS BOWERS, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 21, 1802, in Lexington, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of Massachusetts who retired from active ministry in 1865. He was the author of The Blade and the Ear; Prime Movers of the Revolution; The Young Men's Friend; Moral Teacher; Christ in the Will, the Heart, and Life; The Higher Education; Immortality in the Light of Scripture and Science; Truths Consequent upon Belief in God; and Education of Old Age. He died in 1892.

MYER, ALBERT JAMES, soldier, author, was born Sept. 20, 1827, in Newburg, N. Y. He was a brigadier-general in the United States army, for some years chief signal officer; and author of Manual of Signals for Use in the Field. He died Aug. 24, 1880, in Buffalo, N. Y.

MYERS, AMOS, lawyer, congressman, was born April 23, 1824, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1847 he was appointed a district attorney; and in 1862 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress.

MYERS, EDMUND T. D., railroad president, was born July 13, 1830, in Richmond, Va. Since 1859 he has been president of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad.

MYERS, JOHN GILLESPIE, merchant, banker. In 1860 he commenced business for himself at the corner of Bleeker and Christopher streets, New York, where he remained until 1865. Removing then to Albany, which is yet his home, he continues to manage an extensive modern dry goods business. In addition to this, he devotes considerable of his time to building and improving city property, of which he is a large owner. He is vice-president of the Merchant's National bank, vice-president of the Commerce Insurance Co., vice-president of the National Savings bank, director of the Albany railway, a governor of the Albany hospital, a trustee of the Orphan asylum, the Female academy, and the Fort Orange club.

MYERS, LEONARD, lawyer, congressman, translator, was born Nov. 13, 1827, in Attleborough, Pa. He was solicitor for two municipal districts in Philadelphia; and codified the ordinances for the consolidation of the city. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second, and forty-third congresses as a republican.

MYERS, PETER HAMILTON, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 4, 1812, in Herkimer, N. Y. He was a lawyer and roman-cer of Brooklyn; and the author of The First of the Knickerbockers, a tale; The Young Patriot; The King of the Hurons; and The Prisoner of the Border. He died Aug. 30, 1878, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Besides his published works he was a constant contributor to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States.

MYERS, PHILIP VAN NESS, educator, author, was born in 1846 in New York. He is an educator of Cincinnati, professor of history and political economy in the university of Cincinnati in 1890, and dean of the university in 1895. He is the author of Life and Nature under the Tropics; Remains of Lost Empires; Outlines of Ancient History; Outlines of Mediæval and Modern History; A History of Greece; The Eastern Nations and Greece; A History of Rome; and General History.

MYERS, MRS. SARAH ANN [IRWIN], was born in 1800, in Wilmington, Del. She was a writer and artist of Carlisle, Pa. Among her many contributions to juvenile literature are, Margaret Gordon; Impatient Ellen; and The Silk-Weaver of Lyons. She died Dec. 11, 1876, in Carlisle, Pa.

MYERS, WILLIAM FENTON, lawyer, was born June 7, 1868, in Florida, N. Y.

After receiving the rudiments of his education in the public schools, he attended Amsterdam academy, and subsequently graduated from the law department of the Northwestern university with the degree of LL. B. He was admitted to the bar, and is now a successful lawyer of Amsterdam, N. Y., where he is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

MYRICK, MILTON HILLS, lawyer, jurist, was born May 28, 1826, in Marshall, N. Y. During 1872-80 he was probate judge of the city and county of San Francisco; and during 1880-87 was associate justice of the supreme court of California.

NABERS, BENJAMIN D., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was elected a representative in congress from Mississippi from 1851 to 1853. Returning to Tennessee he was a presidential elector in 1861 from that state.

NACK, JAMES, author, poet, was born Jan. 4, 1809, in New York city. He was a deaf and dumb poet of New York city; and the author of The Legend of the Ark; Earl Rupert; The Immortal, a dramatic romance; and The Romance of the King, and Other Poems. He died Sept. 23, 1879, in New York city.

NADAL, BERNHARD HARRISON, clergyman, author, was born March 27, 1812, in Talbot county, Md. He was a methodist clergyman and educator of Virginia who published New Life Dawning. He died June 20, 1870, in Madison, N. J.

NADAL, EHRMAN SYME, journalist, author, was born Feb. 13, 1843, in Lewisburg, W. Va. He is a journalist who has lived much in London as secretary of legation in 1870, 1871, and 1877-84. He is the author of Essays at Home and Elsewhere; Impressions of London Social Life; and Zweiback, or Notes of a Professional Exile.

NAFTZGER, GEORGE EDWARD, journalist, lecturer, poet, was born April 30, 1859, in Lima, Ohio. After receiving a liberal education, he learned the printer's trade, and in 1879 became associate editor of The Herald of Edgerton, Ohio. He has since been identified with different Ohio newspapers, including the Sunday Morning Gossip, Spencerville Journal, St. Mary Argus, and the Democrat of Lancaster, Ill. During 1888-89 he lectured extensively in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. He has contributed to many of the leading publications of America; and his poems have been given a place in Poets of America, and other standard works.

NAISBITT, HENRY W., journalist, poet, was born Nov. 7, 1829, in England. Since 1854 he has lived in Utah, excepting occasional visits to the east and two years in Europe. He is the editor and owner of a monthly magazine entitled Zion's Home Monthly, published in Salt Lake City, Utah; and has contributed valuable papers to the leading newspapers and magazines of America. As a poet he has written many of great merit, some of which have appeared in Poets of America, and other national collections.

NANCE, ALBINUS, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born March 30, 1848, in La Fayette, Ill. He served in the union army throughout the civil war. In 1871 he moved to Nebraska; was a representative in the state legislature in 1875-78; and was speaker of the house the two latter years. He was elected governor of Nebraska in 1878, and re-elected in 1880.

NAPHEGI, GABOR, author, poet, was born in 1824 in Hungary. He was a native of Buda-Pesth who became a naturalized American citizen in 1868. He was the author of Ghardia, or Ninety Days in the Desert; The Album of Language; Hungary; Among the Arabs; and The Grand Review of the Dead, a volume of poetry. He died in 1884.

NAPHEYS, GEORGE HENRY, physician, author, was born in 1842 in Pennsylvania. He was a prominent physician and medical writer of Philadelphia; and the author of The Body and its Ailments; Modern Medical Therapeutics; Modern Surgical Therapeutics; The Transmission of Life; Physical Life of Woman; Prevention and Cure of Disease; and Personal Beauty. He died in 1876.

NASH, ABNER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 8, 1716, in Prince Edward county, Va. He was the first elected speaker of the North Carolina senate, serving several terms. He was the second governor of the state under the constitution in 1781. From 1782 to 1785 he was in the assembly; and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1782 to 1786. He died Dec. 2, 1786, in New York.

NASH, CHARLES E., soldier, congressman, was born May 23, 1844, in Opelousas, La. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Louisiana to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

NASH, FRANCIS, soldier, was born May 10, 1720, in Prince Edward county, Va. He was commissioned brigadier-general by the continental congress in 1777, and commanded a brigade at the battle of Germantown, where he was mortally wounded. He died Oct. 7, 1777, in Germantown, Pa.

NASH, FREDERICK, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Feb. 9, 1781, in New Berne, N. C. He represented New Berne in the legislature in 1813-17. He was a judge of the superior court from 1818 till his resignation in 1824; and was re-elected to that office in 1836. He died Dec. 5, 1858, in Hillsborough, N. C.

NASH, HENRY SYLVESTER, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1854 in Ohio. He is an episcopal clergyman of Cambridge, Mass., and professor of New Testament interpretation in the Episcopal Theological school since 1884. He is the author of The Genesis of the Social Conscience; and The Relation Between the Establishment of Christianity in Europe and the Social Question.

NASH, SIMEON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1804, in South Hadley, Mass. He was a jurist of Gallipolis, Ohio; and the author of Digest of Ohio Reports; Pleading and Practice under the Civil Code; Morality and the State; and Crime and the Family. He died Jan. 19, 1879, in Gallipolis, Ohio.

NASH, WILEY NORRIS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born in 1846, in Noxbee, Miss. He served gallantly in the confederate service, and gained the rank of sergeant. He served with distinction in the Mississippi state legislature; and is now attorney-general of the state of Mississippi.

NASON, ELIAS, clergyman, author, was born April 21, 1811, in Wrentham, Mass. He was a congregational minister of North Billerica, Mass., among whose numerous religious biographical and historical writings are, Gazetteer of Massachusetts; Life of John A. Andrew; Lives of Moody and Sankey; Life of Charles Sumner; Life of Henry Wilson; History of Middlesex County; Originality; Thou Shalt Not Steal; and Fountains of Salvation. He died June 17, 1887, in North Billerica, Mass.

NASON, MRS. EMMA [HUNTINGTON], poet, was born in 1845 in Maine. She is a poet of Augusta, Maine; and the author of White Sails (verse); The Tower, with Legends and Lyrics.

NASON, HENRY BRADFORD, educator, author, was born June 22, 1831, in Foxborough, Mass. He was a professor of chemistry in the Troy Polytechnic institute; and the author of Table of Reactions for Qualitative Analysis; and Table for Qualitative Analysis in Colors. He died in 1895.

NAST, THOMAS, caricaturist, was born Sept. 27, 1840, in Bavaria. When fifteen years old he began to furnish illustrations to the papers, and during the war began his long series of effective political caricatures in Harper's Weekly.

NAST, WILLIAM, clergyman, journalist, author, was born June 15, 1807, in Germany. He is a methodist minister of Cincinnati, editor of The Christian Apologist for many years; and the author of Christological Meditations; Gospel Records; A German Commentary on the New Testament; and Das Christenthum und seine Gegensätze.

NAUDAIN, ARNOLD, United States senator, was born Jan. 6, 1790, in Dover, Del. He was a senator in congress from Delaware from 1829 to 1836. He died Jan. 4, 1872, in Odessa, Del.

NAVARRO, MADAME MARY ANTOINETTE [ANDERSON] DE, actress, author, was born in 1859 in California. She was a popular actress who retired from the stage in 1890, was married to M. de Navarro soon after, and has since lived in England. She is the author of A Few Memories, an autobiography.

NAYLOR, CHARLES, soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1806, in Philadelphia county, Pa. He represented his native district in congress from 1837 to 1841. He died Dec. 24, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NEAD, BENJAMIN MATTHIAS, lawyer, journalist, author, was born July 14, 1847, in Antrim, Pa. He is a lawyer and journalist of Harrisburg; and the author of Sketches of Early Chambersburg; Guide to County Officers; Early Government of Pennsylvania; and Brief Review of the Financial History of Pennsylvania.

NEAGLE, JOHN, portrait-painter, was born Nov. 4, 1796, in Boston, Mass. His first decided success was a portrait of the Rev. Dr. Joseph Pilmore, which is in St. George's hall, Philadelphia. In 1825 he painted his celebrated full-length portrait of Patrick Lyon, the blacksmith, at his forge, which is now in the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, Philadelphia. He died Sept. 17, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NEAL, DAVID DOLLOFF, artist, was born Oct. 20, 1837, in Lowell, Mass. His first figure composition, James Watt, was exhibited at the Royal academy in London; and in 1875 he painted his best-known work, The First Meeting of Mary Stuart and Rizzio. When it was first exhibited in 1876, it received the great medal from the Royal Bavarian academy.

NEAL, ELIAS CRAIG, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 28, 1833, in Barnstead, N. H. After receiving a thorough education, he entered into the active practice of his profession, and became one of the leading physicians in New England.

NEAL, GEORGE PHILIP, physician, surgeon, was born Nov. 10, 1852, in Ohio. He graduated in 1874 from the Iowa State university, and soon attained success in his profession at Fort Madison, Iowa. He was appointed postmaster by the president; has been health officer; and president of the board of the United States examining surgeons.

NEAL, HENRY AUGUSTUS, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 13, 1846, in Tuf-tonboro, N. H. He is an eminent attorney of Charleston, Ill.; has been mayor of his city; and served as a member of the thirtieth and thirty-first general assemblies of the state of Illinois.

NEAL, HENRY S., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 25, 1828, in Gallipolis, Ohio. He was elected a state senator in 1861, and re-elected in 1863. He was appointed consul of the United States at Lisbon, Portugal, in 1869; and was charge d' affaires during a part of 1869 and 1870. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, and forty-seventh congresses.

NEAL, JOHN, author, poet, was born Aug. 25, 1793, in Portland, Maine. He was a once famous writer of Portland, Maine. He was the author of Keep Cool, a novel; The Battle of Niagara, a poem; Goldau, and Other Poems; Rachel Dyer, a novel; Downeasters, a novel; True Womanhood; Bentham's Morals and Legislation; Great Mysteries and Little Plagues; and Wandering Recollections of a Somewhat Busy Life. He died June 21, 1876, in Portland, Maine.

NEAL, JOHN RANDOLPH, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1838, in Anderson county, Tenn. He enlisted in the confederate army; and in 1863 was promoted to a colonelcy. In 1874 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee legislature; in 1878 was elected a state senator, and upon the assembling of the legislature in 1879 was elected speaker of the senate, and ex-officio lieutenant-governor of the state; and in 1880 he was a presidential elector. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-ninth congress; and re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

NEAL, JOSEPH CLAY, humorist, author, was born Feb. 3, 1807, in Greenland, N. H. He was a journalist of Philadelphia who founded The Saturday Gazette, and was a popular humorist in his day. He was the author of Charcoal Sketches; and Peter Ploddy, and Other Oddities. His humor lies in the delineation of small spend-thrifts, pretenders to fashion, bores, and the frayed-out gentleman. He died July 18, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NEAL, LAWRENCE TALBOTT, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 22, 1844, in Parkersburg, W. Va. He was solicitor of Chillicothe, Ohio, in 1867; and was elected to the legislature in 1867. He was attorney of Ross county in 1870, and held that office until 1872, when he resigned. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

NEALE, JAMES BROWN, lawyer, jurist. In 1879 he was appointed judge of the thirty-third judicial district of Pennsylvania, holding that office for ten years.

NEALE, LEONARD, archbishop, was born Oct. 15, 1746, in Port Tobacco, Md. In Philadelphia he was appointed vicar-general for the northern states. In 1799 he was made president of Georgetown college, which had been founded a few years before by the Jesuits of Maryland. He died June 15, 1817, in Georgetown, D. C.

NEALE, RAPHAEL, congressman, was born in St. Mary's county, Md. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1825.

NEALE, ROLLIN HEBER, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 23, 1808, in Southington, Conn. He is the author of a work entitled Burning Bush, several sermons, and a Harvard college Dudgeon lecture. He died Sept. 19, 1879, in Boston, Mass.

NEAR, IRVIN W., lawyer, was born Jan. 26, 1835, in Alexandria, N. Y. He attended the Orleans academy, the Falley seminary, and the college of Montreal. He was admitted to the bar in 1858; has been district attorney of Steuben county, N. Y.; and has attained prominence as one of the leading lawyers of his state at Hornellsville. He has served with distinction as mayor of his city; has been commissioner of land titles; secretary of the New York and Pennsylvania Railroad company; and also secretary of the Rochester, Hornellsville and Lackawanna Railroad company.

NEBEKER, AQUILA, ranchman, lawyer, legislator, was born June 9, 1859, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He served several sessions in the Utah legislature, and was presiding officer of the state senate in the session of 1896.

NEBEKER, GEORGE, jurist, railroad president, was born Aug. 20, 1813, in Pickaway county, Ohio. For a period of fifteen consecutive years, from 1845 to 1860, he acted as justice of the peace in Terre Haute, Ind. He was elected president of the Attica and Terre Haute Railroad company, the road being afterward consolidated and merged into the Chicago and Danville railroad.

NEBINGER, ANDREW, physician, author, was born Dec. 12, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was surgeon-in-charge of the Cooper-shop volunteer hospital and dispensary. He was the author of various medical papers and addresses to societies. He died April 12, 1886, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NECKERE, LEO RAYMOND DE, bishop, was born June 6, 1800. He was the third Roman catholic bishop of New Orleans, La. He died Sept. 4, 1833, in New Orleans, La.

NEECE, WILLIAM H., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1831, in Logan county, Ill. He was admitted to the bar and commenced practice in 1858 in Macomb, Ill. In 1864 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; and in 1871 was again elected to the legislature. In 1878 he was elected state senator, and served four years; and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

NEEDHAM, CHARLES AUSTIN, artist, was born Oct. 30, 1844, in Buffalo, N. Y. He has attained a national reputation as a noted artist; among his best-known works are Mott Haven Canal, New York; Near Factory Hollow; and Dream of Autumn.

NEEDHAM, ELIAS PARKMAN, inventor, was born Sept. 12, 1812, in Delhi, N. Y. In 1878 he conceived the idea of using strips of perforated paper for the automatic production of music, which resulted in the mechanical organette or automatic organ. He died Nov. 28, 1889, in New York city.

NEELY, HENRY ADAMS, D. D., clergyman, bishop, was born May 14, 1830, in Fayetteville, N. Y. He was ordained a priest in 1854, and consecrated bishop of Maine in 1867. His writings consist of sermons, addresses, and hymns.

NEELY, SIDNEY SMITH, legislator, was born Feb. 22, 1832, in Lincoln county, Ky. He received his education at the Central college of Danville, Ky.; has been a justice of the peace, notary public, postmaster, and served with distinction as a member of the Missouri state legislature. He is prominent in the business affairs of Sibley, Mo., and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

NEELEY, THOMAS B., clergyman, author, was born in 18—. He is a methodist clergyman, and the author of Young Workers in the Church; The Church Lyceum; Parliamentary Practice; Evolution of Episcopacy and Organic Methodism; The Parliamentarian; and The Governing Conference in Methodism.

NEFF, HENRY H., soldier, journalist, state legislator, was born June 5, 1815, in Preble county, Ohio. In the year 1843 he began the publication of the Winchester Patriot, which he continued for nine years. He was elected to the Indiana state legislature in 1847 on the whig ticket, and in 1852 was elected clerk of the court, serving in that capacity eight years.

NEGLEY, JAMES SCOTT, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1826, in East Liberty, Pa. He entered the volunteer service in 1861; raised a brigade in three days, and was made a brigadier-general. He defended Nashville in 1862; was promoted to a major-general for gallant services at Stone River; and served with credit in the campaign of Tallahomah, Alabama, and Georgia. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

NEHLIG, VICTOR, artist, was born in 1830 in France. His principal works, many of which are illustrative of American history, are The Cavalry Charge of St. Harry B. Hidden, in the New York Historical society; The Artist's Dream; The Captive Huguenot; Gertrude of Wyoming; Hiawatha and Minnehaha; Armor in the Olden Time; Battle of Antietam; Battle of Gettysburg; Waiting for My Enemy; Serenade; The Bravo; Mahogany Cutting; and The Princess Pocahontas.

NEIL, JOHN B., governor. He was appointed governor of Idaho for the term of four years from July, 1880.

NEILL, EDWARD DUFFIELD, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 9, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a reformed episcopal clergyman of St. Paul, but formerly a presbyterian clergyman. He was the author of History of Minnesota; Terra Mariæ, or Threads of Maryland History; The Fairfaxes of England and America; History of the Virginia Company; English Colonization of America in the Seventeenth Century; Founders of Virginia; Virginia Vetusta; Virginia Carolorum; and Concise History of Minnesota. He died Sept. 26, 1893, in St. Paul, Minn.

NEILL, JOHN, physician, author, was born July 9, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician, and the author of Neill on the Veins; and Compend of Medicine. He died Feb. 11, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NEILL, ROBERT, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 12, 1838, in Independence county, Ark. He was lieutenant-colonel of Arkansas state guards from 1874 to 1877, and brigadier-general of state militia from 1877 to 1882. He has served two terms as a member of the democratic state central committee of Arkansas since 1886; and was nominated and elected to the fifty-third congress and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

NEILL, THOMAS HEWSON, soldier, was born April 9, 1826, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was acting inspector-general in Sheridan's Shenandoah campaign, and at the close of the war received the brevets of brigadier-general, United States army, and major-general of volunteers. He was commandant of cadets at the United States military academy from 1875 till 1879, and in 1883 he was retired.

NEILL, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1778 near McKeesport, Pa. He was a presbyterian minister of Philadelphia, president of Dickinson college in 1824-29; and the author of Lectures on Bible History; Divine Origin of the Christian Religion; and Ministry of Fifty Years. He died Aug. 8, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NEILSON, JOHN, congressman, was born March 11, 1745, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress in 1778 and 1779. He died March 3, 1833, in New Brunswick, N. J.

NEILSON, JOSEPH, author, was born in 1813 in New York. He was the author of Memoirs of Rufus Choate, with some Consideration of His Studies, Opinions, and Style. He died in 1888.

NEILGAN, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in Ireland. He was the author of Saintly Characters; The Rosary; Manual for Confraternities; and other religious works. He died Jan. 30, 1880, in New York city.

NELSON, CHARLES A., civil engineer, librarian, poet, was born April 14, 1839, in Calais, Maine. For many years he was librarian at the Gorham academy; then at the New York Astor library; and now at the New Orleans Memorial library. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

NELSON, CLEVELAND KINLOCK, clergyman, bishop, was born May 23, 1852, in Greenwood, Va. He has filled many important pastorates in the presbyterian church, and in 1892 was consecrated bishop of Georgia.

NELSON, DANIEL THURBER, physician, educator, was born Sept. 16, 1839, in Milford, Mass. In 1866 he was elected professor of physiology and histology at Chicago Medical college, which chair he then held until 1880, and in 1881 he was made adjunct professor of gynecology at Rush Medical college. He has invented an improved trivalve speculum and other surgical instruments.

NELSON, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 24, 1793, near Jonesborough, Tenn. He was a presbyterian minister and educator of Missouri and Illinois. His principal work, Cause and Cure of Infidelity, has been widely read. He died Oct. 17, 1844, in Oakland, Ill.

NELSON, HARRY LEVERETT, lawyer, author, was born in 1858 in Massachusetts. He was a lawyer of Worcester, Mass., and the author of Bird Songs About Worcester, a collection of nature studies. He died in 1889.

NELSON, HENRY ADDISON, clergyman, educator, journalist, author, was born Oct. 31, 1820, in Amherst, Mass. He is a presbyterian clergyman, professor at Lane seminary in 1868-74, and from 1886 editor of The Church at Home and Abroad. He is the author of Seeing Jesus; Sin and Salvation; and Home Whispers.

NELSON, HENRY LOOMIS, journalist, author, was born in 1846 in New York. He is a journalist of New York city, and editor-in-chief of Harper's Weekly. He is the author of The Money We Need; Our Unjust Tariff Law; and John Rantoul, a novel.

NELSON, HOMER A., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 31, 1829, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He was elected judge of Dutchess county, N. Y., for four years, and in 1859 was re-elected for a second term. In 1862 he was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress. In 1867 he was elected secretary of state; and re-elected in 1868 and 1869.

NELSON, HUGH, lawyer, jurist, diplomat, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1768, in Virginia. He was speaker of the house of delegates of Virginia; a judge of the general court; and a presidential elector in 1809. He was a member of congress from 1811 to 1823; and was immediately afterward appointed American minister to Spain. He died March 18, 1836, in Albemarle county.

NELSON, JEREMIAH, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 14, 1769, in Rowley, Mass. He served as a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1805 to 1807, and again from 1815 to 1823. He died Oct. 2, 1838, in Newburyport, Mass.

NELSON, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born June 1, 1791, in Fredericktown, Md. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1821 to 1823. In 1831 he was appointed charge d'affaires to the Two Sicilies; and in 1844 was appointed attorney-general of the United States. He died Jan. 8, 1860, in Baltimore, Md.

NELSON, JOSIAH C., farmer, legislator, was born May 25, 1827, in Jackson county, Mo. He was elected in 1858 as a member of the Missouri state legislature, the first legislature of that state; and he received the re-election for two successive terms.

NELSON, JULIA BULLARD, educator, lecturer, philanthropist, was born May 13, 1842, in High Ridge, Ky. She has taught school in Minnesota, Connecticut, Texas, and Tennessee; and has attained success as a lecturer and missionary.

For many years she was an organizer and lecturer of the Minnesota National American Woman Suffrage association; and became famous in the lecture field as the champion of woman's right to the ballot. She has been president of the Minnesota Woman's Suffrage association; and vice-president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Minnesota. She is the widow of a soldier and spent many years as a missionary among the freed men of the south, and has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press.

NELSON, KNUTE, soldier, lawyer, governor, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 2, 1843, in Norway. He was a representative in the Wisconsin legislature in 1868 and 1869. He removed to Minnesota in 1871; was a state senator in 1875-78; was prosecuting attorney of Douglas county for three years; became a regent of the Minnesota state university; and was a presidential elector in 1880. He was elected a representative from Minnesota to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses. He was elected governor of Minnesota in 1892; and re-elected in 1894. In 1895 he was elected United States senator for term ending in 1901.

NELSON, RENSSELAER RUSSELL, lawyer, jurist, was born May 12, 1826, in Cooperstown, N. Y. In 1857 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of Minnesota territory; and in 1858 district judge of the United States for the state of Minnesota.

NELSON, ROGER, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1755 in Fredericktown, Md. He was a general in the revolutionary war. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1804 to 1810; was several years in the Virginia legislature; and from 1810 to 1815 was judge of the upper district of that state. He died June 7, 1815, in Fredericktown, Md.

NELSON, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 10, 1792, in Hebron, N. Y. In 1823 he was made judge of the circuit court of New York, which position he held for eight years. In 1831 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of that state; and in 1837 was made chief justice, and held the position until 1845, when he was appointed a justice of the supreme court of the United States. He died Dec. 13, 1873, in Cooperstown, N. Y.

NELSON, THOMAS, merchant, was born Feb. 20, 1677, in Scotland. He settled in Virginia, and founded the town of York, where he built the first custom house in the colonies, one of the earliest brick buildings in the state. He died Oct. 7, 1745, in Yorktown, Va.

NELSON, THOMAS, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Dec. 26, 1738, in Yorktown, Va. He was elected to the Virginia house of burgesses; and was re-elected to that position. After attending various local conventions he was elected a delegate to the continental congress from 1775 to 1777, and again from 1779 to 1780. He was a signer of the declaration of independence; took part in the military affairs of the time as a brigadier-general; and served in the state legislature. In 1781 he was elected governor of Virginia. He died Jan. 4, 1789, in Hanover county, Va.

NELSON, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 23, 1819, in Peekskill, N. Y. In 1851 he was appointed chief justice of the United States court for the territory of Oregon.

NELSON, THOMAS AMOS ROGERS, lawyer, congressman, was born March 19, 1812, in Roane county, Tenn. He served as a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-sixth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress, but was prevented from taking his seat by the forcible action of the confederate government. He died Aug. 24, 1873, in Knoxville, Tenn.

NELSON, THOMAS LEVERETT, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born March 4, 1827, in Haverhill, N. H. He was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature in 1869. In 1878 he was appointed United States district judge for the district of Massachusetts.

NELSON, THOMAS M., soldier, congressman, was born in 1782 in Virginia. He served with distinction in the war of 1812 as a captain of infantry; and after the war was promoted to the rank of major, but resigned his commission. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1816 to 1819. He died Nov. 10, 1853.

NELSON, WILLIAM, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 29, 1784, in Clinton, N. Y. He was a district attorney for the counties of Westchester, Putnam and Rockland, for a period of thirty years. He was a member of the assembly of New York in 1819 and 1820; and a state senator in 1823. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1851. He died Oct. 2, 1869, in Peekskill, N. Y.

NELSON, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Sept. 27, 1824, in Maysville, Ky. In 1840 he graduated from the Naval academy of Annapolis, Md., and as a midshipman, his first duty was in the sloop-of-war Yorktown. He then served on various vessels, and in 1855 was promoted to a lieutenant, and in 1857 joined in the expedition of Commodore Perry to China and Japan. He has been given the credit of keeping Kentucky in the union; saved her seventy-five thousand volunteers to the national flag; spared the Ohio border the terrible shock of contending armies, and transferred the theater of war hundreds of miles southward to the banks of the Cumberland and the Tennessee. He was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers, and at the time of his death held the rank of lieutenant-commander. He was shot on Sept. 29, 1862, by Gen. Davis.

NELSON, WILLIAM ROCKILL, journalist, was born March 7, 1841, in Fort Wayne, Ind. He is the editor-in-chief of the Kansas City Star.

NERAZ, JEAN CLAUDE, Roman catholic bishop, was born in 1829 in France. He was nominated second bishop of San Antonio, and consecrated in 1881.

NERBY, R. L., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 27, 1836, in Hill Pleasant, Va. During the war he was a major in the confederate service, and was three times wounded. He has been county judge, circuit judge, and president of the state board of agriculture of Virginia. He has practiced successfully in Williamsburg, Va.; and is now president of the bank of his city. He is the author of several works, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

NES, HENRY, congressman, was born in 1799 in York, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1843 to 1845, and again from 1846 to 1850. He died Sept. 10, 1850.

NESBIT, WILLIAM LYON, agriculturist, lecturer, legislator, was born March 7, 1842, near Lewisburg, Pa. He is a successful farmer and lecturer on the sciences related to agriculture; has been state statistical agent for Pennsylvania for the United States department of agriculture, and in 1896 was elected a member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives.

NESBITT, WILSON, congressman. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1817 to 1819.

NESMITH, JAMES ERNEST, artist, author, poet, was born in 1856 in Massachusetts. He is an artist and poet of Lowell, Mass.; and the author of Monadnock, and Other Sketches in Verse; Philoctetes, and Other Poems; and Life and Addresses of Governor Greenhalge.

NESMITH, JAMES WILLSON, soldier, congressman, United States senator, was born July 23, 1820, in Washington county, Maine. In 1857 he was appointed superintendent of Indian affairs for Oregon and Washington territories. He was elected a senator in congress from Oregon for the term beginning in 1861 and ending in 1867. While devoting himself to farming in Oregon he was elected to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy. He died June 17, 1885, in Polk county, Ore.

NESMITH, JOHN, manufacturer, inventor, was born Aug. 3, 1793, in Londonderry, N. H. He secured the water supply of Winnipiseogee and Squam lakes for Lowell mills; secured site for city of Lawrence, Mass., and control of water-power; and invented machines for making wire fences and shawl fringe. He was lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts in 1862. He died Oct. 15, 1869, in Lowell, Mass.

NETTLETON, ALURED BAYARD, soldier, was born Nov. 14, 1838, in Berlin, Ohio. He served through the civil war, attaining the rank of brigadier-general.

NETTLETON, ASHAEL, clergyman, author, was born April 21, 1783, in North Killingworth, Conn. From 1812 till 1822 he served as a revivalist in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York. He compiled a book entitled Village Hymns. His Remains and Sermons were edited by Rev. Bennet Tyler. He died May 16, 1844, in Windsor, Conn.

NEVADA, EMMA WIXOM, singer, was born in 1861 in Nevada, Cal. She has an extensive repertoire, including principally Italian operas, but she has also appeared in oratorio in England. She sang in La Sonnambula at her first appearance in New York in 1884.

NEVILLE, JOSEPH, soldier, congressman. He was a revolutionary officer, brigadier of state militia, and commissioner to run the boundary line between Virginia and Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1793 to 1795. He died March 4, 1819, in Hardy county, Va.

NEVILLE, MORGAN, author, was born in 1756 in Pittsburg, Pa. He acquired a wide reputation by his tale of Mike Fink, the Last of the Boatmen, published in the Western Souvenir for 1829. He died in 1839 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

NEVIN, ALFRED, clergyman, journalist, author, was born March 14, 1816, in Shippensburg, Pa. He was a prominent presbyterian clergyman and religious editor of Philadelphia; and the author of Words of Comfort for Doubting Hearts; The Voice of God; The Man of Faith; Letters to Colonel Ingersoll; Christian's Rest; Guide to the Oracles; and Triumph of Truth. He died in 1890.

NEVIN, BLANCHE, sculptor, was born Sept. 25, 1841, in Mercersburg, Pa. In addition to numerous portrait-busts, she has executed statues of Maud Muller; Eve; Cinderella; and Gen. Peter Muhlenberg, which is in the capitol at Washington.

NEVIN, DAVID ROBERT BRUCE, lawyer, journalist, was born Nov. 28, 1828, in Shippensburg, Pa. For many years he was connected with the Philadelphia press; was assistant editor of the Presbyterian Encyclopædia; and publisher and editor of Continental Sketches of Distinguished Pennsylvanians.

NEVIN, EDWIN HENRY, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 9, 1814, in Shippensburg, Pa. He is a German reformed clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of The City of God; Humanity and Its Responsibilities; Thoughts About Christ; and The Minister's Handbook.

NEVIN, GEORGE BALCH, composer, author, was born March 15, 1859, in Shippensburg, Pa. He is the author of The Hills of God; At the Cross; and the Minster Song.

NEVIN, JOHN WILLIAMSON, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 20, 1803, near Strasburg, Pa. He was an eminent German reformed clergyman of Lancaster, Pa., and president of Franklin and Marshall college in 1866-76. Prior to his presidency he had been active as a theologian at Mercersburg, and his works form the basis of what is styled the Mercersburg Theology. He was the author of History and Genesis of the Heidelberg Catechism; The Mystical Presence; Anti-Christ; The Anxious Bench; and Biblical Antiquities. He died June 6, 1886, in Lancaster, Pa.

NEVIN, ROBERT JENKINS, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 24, 1839, in Allegheny, Pa. In 1861-65 he served in the civil war, rising to the rank of captain and brevet major. Since 1869 he has been rector of St. Paul's American church in Rome, Italy, which he built. He is the author of Reunion Conferences at Bonn; and St. Paul's within the Walls.

NEVIN, WILLIAM CHANNING, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 1, 1844, in New Athens, Ohio. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia; and the author of History of All Religions; Life of Albert Barnes; The Blue Ray of Sunlight; A Slight Misunderstanding; A Wild Goose Chase; In the Nick of Time; Joshua Whitcomb's Tribulations; and A Summer School Adventure.

NEVIN, WILLIAM WILBERFORCE, journalist, author, was born March 1, 1836, in Allegheny, Pa. He is a journalist and railway director of Philadelphia who has published Vignettes of Travel.

NEVINS, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 13, 1797, in Norwich, Conn. He was a presbyterian minister of Baltimore; and the author of Thoughts on Popery; Practical Thoughts; and Select Remains, with Memoir. He died Sept. 14, 1835, in Baltimore, Md.

NEVIUS, MRS. HELEN S. [COAN], author, was born in 1832 in New York. She is the author of Catechism of Christian Doctrine, in Chinese; Our Life in China; and Life of J. L. Nevius.

NEVIUS, JOHN LIVINGSTON, missionary, author, was born in 1829 in New York. He was a presbyterian missionary in Ningpo; and the author of China and the Chinese; San-Poh, or North of the Hills; Methods of Missionary Work; Demon Possession; and a number of works in Chinese. He died in 1893.

NEW, ANTHONY, congressman, was born in 1747 in Gloucester county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1793 to 1805. On taking up his residence in Kentucky he was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1811 to 1813, from 1817 to 1818, and from 1821 to 1823. He died March 2, 1833, in Elkton, Ky.

NEW, JEPHTHA D., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1830, in Vernon, Ind. He was elected district prosecuting attorney of Indiana in 1862, and served two years. He was elected judge of common pleas in 1864, and served four years. He was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fourth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

NEW, JOHN CHALFANT, lawyer, state senator, was born July 6, 1831, in Vernon, Ind. In 1861 he was appointed quartermaster-general of Indiana, serving as such until elected to the state senate. In 1865 he was elected cashier of the First National bank of Indianapolis, serving as such until appointed in 1875 as treasurer of the United States. He was assistant secretary of the United States treasury from 1882 to 1884; and during 1889-93 was consul-general of the United States at London, England.

NEWBEGIN, HENRY, lawyer, was born May 2, 1833, in Pownel, Maine. In 1857 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and since 1886 has been overseer of that institution. For twelve years he was general counsel of the Chicago division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; has been local counsel for the Wabash railroad since 1870; and since 1882 has had considerable practice in the supreme court of the United States. He has a large practice in Defiance, Ohio; and takes an active part in republican politics.

NEWBERRY, JOHN STOUGHTON, manufacturer, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1826, in Waterville, N. Y. In 1864 he engaged largely in manufacturing enterprises in Detroit, Mich. He was elected as a representative from Michigan to the forty-sixth congress as a republican. He died Jan. 2, 1887, in Detroit, Mich.

NEWBERRY, JOHN STRONG, geologist, educator, author, was born Dec. 22, 1822, in Windsor, Conn. He was a geologist who was professor of geology in the School of Mines of Columbia college in 1866-92, and state geologist of Ohio from 1869. He published nine volumes of reports relating to the geological survey of Ohio; and Paleozoic Fishes of North America, and many scientific papers. He died in 1892.

NEWBERRY, WALTER C., soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 23, 1835, in Sangerfield, N. Y. He served during the war in volunteer armies of the United States as private, lieutenant, captain, major, lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general by brevet. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

NEWBERRY, WALTER LOOMIS, merchant, philanthropist, was born Sept. 18, 1804, in East Windsor, Conn. He was one of the founders of the Merchants' Loan and Trust Company's bank of Chicago; and president of the Galena railroad, now the great Northwestern railroad. In 1841 he was active in founding the Young Men's Library association of Chicago, and was its first president. He visited Europe in 1868, and died on his homeward voyage on Nov. 6. He left nearly two million dollars to found a library, to be named for him, and located in the north division of Chicago, which is now consummated, the famous Newberry library, one of the finest institutions in America.

NEWBOLD, JOSHUA G., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, governor, was born May 12, 1830, in Fayette county, Pa. In 1862 he entered the union army as captain of the twenty-fifth regiment of Iowa volunteers; served as judge advocate, with headquarters at Woodville, Ala. He was elected a representative in the thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth and eighteenth general assemblies of the state of Iowa. In 1876 he was elected lieutenant-governor; and was governor of Iowa in 1877 and 1878. He held a number of county offices, and practiced law at Mt. Pleasant.

NEWBOLD, THOMAS, state legislator, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1807 to 1813, after which he served in the legislature of that state. He died in December, 1823, in Burlington county, N. J.

NEWBURY, SAMUEL, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Nov. 3, 1803, in Panton, Vt. He organized and was pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Indianapolis, Ind. He was president of Wabash college.

NEWBURY, SAMUEL SERGEANT, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 8, 1835, in Indianapolis. He practiced his profession with success in Dubuque, Iowa, and Detroit, Mich. During the civil war he went to the front to help Gen. Meade, and was killed at the taking of Welden railroad in 1864.

NEWBY, W. E., journalist, was born April 27, 1865, in Greensboro, Ind. He has been connected with the Indianapolis Journal, the Springfield Republic-Times; for many years was editor of the Rushville Graphic; and is now the editor and owner of The Sun of Knightstown, Ind. He was appointed consul-general to Paris by President McKinley; and has filled numerous other positions of trust.

NEWCOMB, C. A., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born July 1, 1830, in Mercer county, Pa. He removed to Iowa, and was a circuit judge for two years; and judge of a county court for three years. He settled in Missouri, and was elected for two years to the legislature of that state. In 1866 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the fortieth congress.

NEWCOMB, HARVEY, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 2, 1803, in Thetford, Vt. He was a congregational clergyman of western Pennsylvania and other localities among whose many moral and religious works, mainly juvenile in character, are, Young Lady's Guide; How to Be a Man; How to Be a Lady; and Manners and Customs of North American Indians. He died Aug. 30, 1863, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

NEWCOMB, HORATIO VICTOR, railroad president, banker, was born July 26, 1844, in Louisville, Ky. Upon the death of the senior Newcomb, Aug. 24, 1874, he entered upon a short but extremely successful career as a railroad man. Having been elected a director of the railroad company, a little later he became vice-president and then president. To the development of the Louisville and Nashville railroad as a property, the new officer devoted a vast amount of labor and untiring energy and contributed largely to make the system the great property it is to-day. In 1880 he removed to New York city and organized the United States National bank, of which the stockholders elected him president.

NEWCOMB, SIMON, astronomer, educator, author, was born March 12, 1835, in Wallace, N. S. He is an astronomer of distinction, superintendent of the Nautical Almanac, issued by the navy department, from 1877, and professor of astronomy and mathematics at Johns Hopkins university in 1884-93. He is the author of Popular Astronomy; School Astronomy; Geometry; Analytic Geometry; Essentials of Trigonometry; Calculus; A Plain Man's Talk on the Labor Question; Principles of Political Economy; and The A. B. C. of Finance.

NEWELL, CHARLES M., sailor, physician, author, poet, was born Nov. 23, 1821, in Concord, Mass. When seventeen years of age he went to sea as a sailor, and followed that occupation. He became master of a ship at the age of twenty-six, and continued so for ten years. He then left the sea to study medicine, in which he has been very successful. He has published, in addition to medical literature, six volumes of prose, entitled The Voyage of the Fleetwing; The Isle of Palms; The Wreck of the Greyhound; and others, which have given him a world-wide reputation as a writer of sea-stories.

NEWELL, FRANK R., journalist, was born May 23, 1854, in Chicago, Ill. He is the business manager of the City Printing company of Cleveland, Ohio, and the editor-in-chief of The Ancient Craft Mason.

NEWELL, HARRIET ATWOOD, missionary, was born Oct. 10, 1793, in Haverhill, Mass. She was one of the first female missionaries from the United States. She died Nov. 30, 1812, on the Isle of France.

NEWELL, HUGH, educator, artist, was born Oct. 4, 1830, in Ireland. In 1879 he became professor of drawing in Johns Hopkins university. In Baltimore he gained gold medals in 1853 and 1858, and a silver one in 1859. His works include Smithy; Basket of Grapes; In the Cottage Window; The Country Musician; Husking Corn in the Field; Grapes; and From the East and West.

NEWELL, LAURA E., song writer, was born Feb. 5, 1854, in New Marlborough, Mass. She has furnished songs and music to many eminent composers, and her songs and poems are read and sung throughout America. She is the author of a thousand poems, which have appeared in the Youth's Companion, Arthur's Magazine, and the leading publications of America. Her poems have also been given a place in Woman in Sacred Song, and other standard collections.

NEWELL, McFADDEN ALEXANDER, educator, journalist, was born Sept. 7, 1824, in Ireland. He became principal of the State Normal school at Baltimore in 1865, and in 1868 state superintendent of public instruction. With Prof. William R. Creery he has published a series of text-books, entitled The Maryland Series; and he is the author of annual state school reports.

NEWELL, ROBERT HENRY, journalist, author, poet, was born Dec. 13, 1836, in New York city. He is a journalist of New York city, at one time popular as a humorist. He is the author of Versatilities, a collection of humorous and other verses; The Palace Beautiful, and Other Poems; Avery Glibun, an American romance; The Walking Doll, a novel; There Was Once a Man; and Studies in Stanzas.

NEWELL, SAMUEL, missionary, author, was born July 25, 1785, in Durham, Maine. He was a noted baptist missionary in Bombay; and the author of The Conversion of the World; and Life of Harriet Newell (his first wife), which was widely popular. He died March 30, 1821, in Bombay, India.

NEWELL, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, physician, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 5, 1819, in Franklin, Ohio. He was elected a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1847 to 1851; and in 1856 was elected governor of New Jersey for the term ending in 1860. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention of 1864; and was also elected to the thirty-ninth congress. In 1880 he was appointed governor of Washington territory for a term of four years.

NEWELL, WILLIAM WELLS, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1839 in Massachusetts. He is a folk-lore scholar of Cambridge, editor of The Journal of American Folk-Lore since 1888; and the author of Games and Songs of American Children; and Words for Music, a collection of poems.

NEWHALL, CHARLES STEDMAN, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1842 in Massachusetts. He is a clergyman and educator of Asbury Park, N. J.; and the author of The Trees of North-eastern America; The Shrubs of North-eastern America; The Vines of North-eastern America; The Leaf-Collector's Handbook and Herbarium. His writings for young people include Harry's Trip to the Orient; Joe and the Howards; and Ruthie's Story.

NEWHALL, MRS. L. E. TERRY, author, poet, was born July 19, 1861, in Dutch Flat, Cal. She is a successful writer of Newhall, Cal.; and the author of three novels entitled Adopted; The Death Trust; and The Bride of Infelice; and also a volume of poems.

NEWHARD, PETER, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1839 to 1843.

NEWHOUSE, FINLEY D., clergyman, lecturer, author, was born July 27, 1857, in Rochester, Ind. For a number of years he filled the chair of Greek in the American college of Concepcion, Chili; and now fills a pastorate in Minneapolis, Minn. He is a brilliant lecturer; and the author of a college romance entitled The Three C's; and a religious work entitled Why I Am a Protestant.

NEWHOUSE, SAMUEL, railroad president, was born Oct. 14, 1853, in New York city. In 1894 he was elected president of the Denver, Lakewood and Golden railroad, which position he now fills.

NEWHOUSE, SIMEON EDGAR, educator, lawyer, was born Aug. 14, 1865, in Elktion, Ohio. After receiving a thorough education, he entered educational work, and was professor of sciences in the high school of Greenville, Ohio; and subsequently became superintendent of schools at Salem, S. D. He is now a successful lawyer of Golden City, Mo.; has been city attorney; and filled various other public positions of honor.

NEWKIRK, DANIEL L., educator, poet, was born Jan. 14, 1859, in Clermont county, Ohio. He received his education at the Drake university, and was subsequently professor of natural sciences in the normal department of his alma mater. He holds a life diploma from the state board of examiners of Iowa, and is one of the foremost educators of the west. He has written extensively both prose and verse; and his poems have appeared in Poets of America and other standard publications.

NEWLANDS, FRANCIS G., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 28, 1848, in Natchez, Miss. He was elected from Nevada to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and having received his nomination from both the silver party and the democratic party was re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

NEWLIN, ENOCH E., lawyer, was born Feb. 22, 1858, in Crawford county, Ill. He was admitted to the bar in 1882; was state's attorney of his county for eight years; and is now a master in chancery.

NEWMAN, ALEXANDER, state senator, congressman, was born in 1806 in Orange county, Va. In 1836 he was elected a representative to the Virginia state legislature, where he served several years; and was also elected to the state senate. From 1845 to 1849 he was postmaster of Wheeling; and was elected a representative from Virginia to the thirty-first congress. He died in July, 1840, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

NEWMAN, CHARLES GORDON, soldier, journalist, was born in 1841 in Richmond, Va. He is the editor and owner of the Daily and Weekly Commercial of Pine Bluff, Ark.; and contributes extensively to current literature.

NEWMAN, DANIEL, soldier, congressman, was born about 1780 in North Carolina. He was lieutenant-colonel commanding Georgia volunteers in 1813; and was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1831 to 1833. He died Jan. 16, 1851, in Walker county, Ga.

NEWMAN, DE WITT L., journalist, was born Dec. 4, 1870, in Gillsburg, Miss. For many years he was engaged in educational work; and is now the editor and owner of The Times of Osyka, Miss.

NEWMAN, FRANCIS MARION, educator, lawyer, was born Nov. 4, 1860, in Washington county, Texas. In 1885 he graduated from the Baylor university, and for many years was engaged in educational work. Since 1887 he has been practicing law in Brady, Texas; where he is prominently identified with the public affairs of his county and state.

NEWMAN, HENRY R., artist, was born about 1833 in New York city. In 1877 he exhibited at the academy a View of Florence, and in Florence in 1878 a Study of Pink and White Oleanders; and Grapes and Olives. The same year he sent to the Grosvenor gallery, London, Flowers; and An Architectural Study.

NEWMAN, J. R., journalist, was born Oct. 19, 1859, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the editor and owner of The Times of Harrison, Mo., of which city he has served as mayor. In 1886 he was elected president of the Arkansas Press association.

NEWMAN, JAMES WIRT, journalist, legislator, was born March 12, 1841, in Highland county, Ohio. For two terms he was a member of the Ohio state senate; and during 1883-84 was secretary of state of Ohio. For thirty years he has been editor and owner of the Portsmouth Times.

NEWMAN, JOHN PHILIP, bishop, author, was born Sept. 1, 1826, in New York city. He is a methodist bishop at Omaha, at one time a prominent Washington pastor; and the author of From Dan to Beersheba; Thrones and Palaces of Babylon and Nineveh; Christianity Triumphant; America for Americans; and The Supremacy of Law.

NEWMAN, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born in 1602 in England. He published A Concordance for the Bible. It was known as the Cambridge Concordance, and was at one time supposed to be the first work of the kind printed in the English language. He died July 5, 1663, in Rehoboth, Mass.

NEWMAN, SAMUEL PHILLIPS, educator, author, was born in 1797 in Andover, Mass. In 1818 he became a tutor in Bowdoin college, and the following year was chosen professor of ancient languages. In 1824 he was transferred to the chair of rhetoric and oratory. After twenty-one years in that institution he took charge of the normal school at Barre, Mass. He was the author of a treatise on rhetoric, which is still a textbook in a multitude of schools and numerous colleges. He was also the author of an elementary work on Political Economy. He died Feb. 10, 1842, in Andover, Mass.

NEWMAN, WILLIAM TRUSLOW, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 23, 1843, in Knoxville, Tenn. For twelve years he was actively engaged in the practice of law in Atlanta, Ga.; and since 1886 has been United States district judge.

NEWSHAM, JOSEPH PARKINSON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born May 24, 1837, in Preston, England. In his youth his parents settled in Monroe county, Ill., and subsequently moved to St. Louis, Mo. He there attended the public schools and clerked in a store. He studied law in Edwardsville, Ill.; was admitted to the bar, and acquired a reputation as a successful lawyer and eloquent orator. During the war he obtained the rank of first lieutenant of cavalry on the staff of General John T. Fremont; and was afterward first lieutenant and adjutant of the thirty-second Missouri infantry. After the war he settled in Ascension parish, La., and there taught school and practiced law; took a part in the reconstruction acts of congress; and was elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a republican. For many years he was the editor and owner of a republican newspaper; has been a strong advocate of home protection, and has taken an active part in public affairs; has been parish attorney, district attorney, and filled various other positions with scrupulous energy and consummate ability.

NEWMAN, CHURUBUSCO, lawyer, legislator, was born May 15, 1848, in St. Helena parish, La. He received the rudiments of his education in the home schools, and then attended the state university of Louisiana. After leaving college he taught school for three years; was admitted to the bar in 1870; and soon attained prominence as an able lawyer of Monroe, La. In 1879 he was elected to the state senate of Louisiana, and served for four years. In 1886 he was elected a member of congress and during his congressional career secured several measures of importance to his district and state.

NEWMAN, DANIEL HOWE, railroad president, was born June 23, 1827, in Hubbardstown, Mass. Since 1887 he has been president of the Hoosac Tunnel and Wilmington railroad, at Holyoke, Mass.

NEWTON, EBEN, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1795, in Goshen, Conn. In 1842 he was elected a member of the Ohio senate, and was soon afterward elected president judge of the third circuit. He was elected a representative in congress for the term from 1851 to 1853, and in 1856 was elected president of the Ashtabula and New Lisbon Railroad company, in which position he remained until 1859, when he declined a reelection.

NEWTON, HENRY, educator, author, was born Aug. 12, 1845, in New York city. In 1877 he was made professor of mining and metallurgy in the Ohio State university. He was the author of a work entitled Reports on the Geology and Resources of the Black Hills of Dakota. He died Aug. 5, 1877, in Black Hills, S. D.

NEWTON, HENRY J., inventor, was born Feb. 23, 1823, in Harleton, Pa. He invented the first permanent collodion emulsion in 1875, and afterward became known as father of the dry-plate process in America. He died Dec. 23, 1895, in New York city.

NEWTON, HUBERT ANSON, educator, author, was born March 19, 1830, in Sherburne, N. Y. He was elected full professor in Yale in 1855, which he has since continued without interruption. His scientific work in pure mathematics includes researches on the Construction of Certain Curves by Points; Certain Transcendental Curves, and similar papers, but his most valuable investigations have been in connection with meteors.

NEWTON, ISAAC, naval architect, was born Jan. 16, 1794, in Schodack, N. Y. He was the founder of the People's line of steamboats between Albany and New York, and he was also interested in the construction of many ocean steamers. He died Nov. 22, 1858, in New York city.

NEWTON, ISAAC, civil engineer, was born Aug. 4, 1837, in New York city. At the beginning of the civil war he was appointed first assistant engineer in the United States navy. Later he became supervising constructor of iron-clads for the United States government in New York, and in this capacity superintended the building, among others, of the Puritan and Dictator. He died Sept. 25, 1884, in New York city.

NEWTON, JOHN, soldier, civil engineer, was born Aug. 24, 1823, in Norfolk, Va. In 1842 he graduated from the Military academy at West Point, and received the appointment of brevet second lieutenant in the corps of engineers. In 1858 he was made chief engineer of the Utah expedition; in 1861 was chief engineer of the department of the Shenandoah; and then became assistant engineer in the construction of the defences of Washington. He was given the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers, and subsequently was made a brigadier-general in the regular army. His greatest achievement was the improvement of Hell Gate channel.

NEWTON, JOHN THOMAS, naval officer, was born May 20, 1793, in Alexandria, Va. In 1852-55 he was flag-officer of the home squadron, which gave him the title of commodore. The last two years of his life he was in command of the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H. He died July 28, 1857, in Washington, D. C.

NEWTON, RICHARD, clergyman, author, was born July 25, 1813, in England. He was an episcopal clergyman of Philadelphia, long prominent among extreme low churchmen, and the author of The King's Highway; The Great Pilot; Rills from the Fountain of Life; Bible Promises; and Natural History of the Bible. He died May 25, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NEWTON, RICHARD HEBER, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 31, 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is an episcopal clergyman of New York city, rector of All Souls church, and prominent as a very broad church theologian. He is the author of Womanhood; The Morals of Trade; The Right and Wrong Uses of the Bible; The Book of the Beginnings; Philistinism; Social Studies; Church and Creed; and The Children's Church.

NEWTON, ROBERT SAFFORD, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 12, 1818, in Gallipolis, Ohio. He was a surgeon of New York city, and the author of Eclectic Treatise in the Practice of Medicine; and Antiseptic Surgery. He died Oct. 9, 1881, in New York city.

NEWTON, ROBERT SAFFORD, physician, journalist, educator, author, was born Sept. 2, 1855, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was professor of diseases of the eye, throat, and skin, in the New York Eclectic Medical college in 1881-86, and also dean of the faculty. He edited the New York Quarterly Cancer Journal in 1880-81, and the New York Medical Eclectic from 1877 till 1885.

NEWTON, THOMAS, congressman, was born in 1769 in Norfolk, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1801 to 1829, and again from 1831 to 1833. He died Aug. 5, 1847, in Norfolk, Va.

NEWTON, THOMAS W., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Arkansas in February and March, 1847.

NEWTON, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1820 in England. He was a reformed episcopal clergyman of West Chester, Pa., and the author of The First Two Visions of the Book of Daniel; The Morning Star, and Other Poems; and Nature's Testimony to Nature's God.

NEWTON, WILLIAM WILBERFORCE, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 4, 1843, in Philadelphia. He is an episcopal clergyman of Pittsfield, Mass., and the author of Essays of To-Day, Religious and Theological; The Legend of St. Telemachus; The Voice of St. John, and Other Poems; Summer Sermons; The Voice Out of Egypt; Ragnar, the Sea King; Paradise; The Priest and the Man, or Abelard and Héloïse, an historical novel; Life of W. A. Muhlenberg; and several collections of sermons to children, including The Wicket Gate; The Interpreter's House; Little and Wise; and A Father's Blessing.

NEWTON, WILLOUGHBY, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845.

NIBLACK, SILAS N., congressman. He was elected a representative from Florida to the forty-second congress, having successfully contested the seat claimed by Josiah T. Walls.

NIBLACK, WILLIAM E., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born May 19, 1822, in Dubois county, Ind.

In 1843 he was appointed county surveyor, and in 1849 was elected to the Indiana state legislature, where he served until 1852. In 1854 he was appointed a circuit judge, and subsequently elected for six years. He was elected a representative in the thirty-fifth congress from Indiana, and re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He was elected to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses.

NICHOLAS, GEORGE, soldier, lawyer, was born about 1755 in Hanover, Va. He was a leading member of the convention which ratified the federal constitution, and a prominent member of the house of delegates in Virginia. He moved to Kentucky in 1790; was a member of the convention for framing a state constitution, and was the author of that instrument. He was the first attorney-general of the state. He died in 1799 in Kentucky.

NICHOLAS, JOHN, congressman, state senator, was born Jan. 19, 1761, in Williamsburg, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1793 to 1801. He subsequently removed to Geneva, N. Y., whence he was elected to the state senate from 1806 to 1809. He died Dec. 31, 1819, in Geneva, N. Y.

NICHOLAS, PHILIP NORBORNE, lawyer, jurist, banker, was born in 1773 in Williamsburg, Va. For many years he was president of the Farmers' bank of Virginia, and was judge of the general court of Virginia from about 1823 till his death. He died Aug. 8, 1849, in Richmond, Va.

NICHOLAS, ROBERT CARTER, lawyer, jurist, public official, was born in 1715 in Hanover, Va. He represented James City in the house of burgesses of Virginia when very young. He continued in that position until the house of delegates was organized in 1777; and was a member of that body until 1779, when he was appointed a judge of the high court of chancery, and subsequently of the court of appeals. He was treasurer of the colony from 1776 to 1777; and in 1773 was a member of the committee of correspondence. He died in 1780 in Hanover, Va.

NICHOLAS, ROBERT CARTER, soldier, public official, was born about 1793 in Hanover, Va. He was appointed captain of the twentieth infantry in 1812; major of the twelfth infantry in 1813, and lieutenant-colonel in 1814. He was charge d'affaires to Naples, and subsequently secretary of state of Louisiana. In 1851 he became state superintendent of public instruction. He died Dec. 24, 1857, in Terrebonne, La.

NICHOLAS, SAMUEL SMITH, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1796 in Lexington, Ky. In 1831 he was appointed judge of the court of appeals; and he was subsequently a member of the Kentucky state legislature. He assisted in preparing the revised code of Kentucky, and was the author of a series of essays on Constitutional Law. He died Nov. 27, 1869, in Louisville, Ky.

NICHOLAS, WILSON CARY, soldier, United States senator, governor, was born about 1757 in Hanover, Va. He was governor of Virginia; was an officer in the war of the revolution, and a member of the convention which ratified the constitution of the United States. He was a distinguished member of the senate of the United States from 1799 to 1804; and of the national house of representatives from 1807 to 1809. In 1804 he resigned his seat in the senate, and accepted the office of collector of the ports of Norfolk and Portsmouth. He was afterward again a member of the house, but resigned his seat in 1809. In 1814 he was governor, and remained in office until 1817. He died Oct. 10, 1820, in Milton, Ohio.

NICHOLLS, FRANCIS TILLOU, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Aug. 20, 1834, in Donaldsonville, La. The most notable fact of his life is that to him is due the organization of the first temperance society of Louisiana, of which he was president. During the civil war he was in the confederate service, and became brigadier-general. During 1888-92 he served with distinction as governor of Louisiana, and to him is principally due the defeat of the Louisiana lottery.

NICHOLLS, JOHN C., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 25, 1834, in Clinton, Ga. He served in the confederate army throughout the war; was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1865, and was a presidential elector in 1868. He was elected to the state senate in 1870 and served five years, and was a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1876. He was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-sixth congress, and was also elected to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

NICHOLLS, RHODA, artist, was born in England. In 1896 she received a silver medal at the Atlanta (Ga.) international exposition on her water-color entitled Searching the Scriptures.

NICHOLS, ALVA W., physician, surgeon, was born in 1848, near Grand Rapids, Mich. He acquired his education at the district school and the high schools of Grand Rapids and Greenville. He studied medicine at the State university at Ann Arbor; in 1874 graduated from the Bellevue Hospital Medical college of New York city; and has since been successfully engaged in the practice of his profession at Greenville. In 1886 he was a nominee for state senator; in 1888 he was a fusion elector, and since 1878 has been a greenbacker and populist. He has filled various public offices of honor; is a member of the leading medical societies, and a member and hearty supporter of various fraternal orders. In 1894 he was a candidate for governor of Michigan and made a remarkably successful canvass on the people's ticket for that high office.

NICHOLS, CLARINDA HOWARD, reformer, was born Jan. 25, 1810, in Townsend, Vt. She was instrumental in securing the passage of the first bill in the Vermont legislature that recognized the civil existence of wives. She afterward emigrated to Kansas, served one term as recording clerk of the state legislature, and removed to Pomo, Cal., in 1871. She died Jan. 11, 1885, in Pomo, Cal.

NICHOLS, EDWARD LEAMINGTON, Ph. D., educator, physicist, author, was born Sept. 14, 1854, in England. Since 1887 he has been professor of physics in Cornell university. He is the founder and editor-in-chief of the Physical Review, and is the author of A Laboratory Manual of Physics and Applied Electricity, in two volumes; The Elements of Physics; and The Outlines of Physics.

NICHOLS, EDWARD TATNALL, naval officer, was born March 1, 1823, in Augusta, Ga. He was appointed to the United States naval academy in 1866; became commodore in 1872, rear-admiral in 1878, and was placed on the retired list in March, 1885. He died Oct. 12, 1886, in Pomfret, Conn.

NICHOLS, EDWARD W., artist, was born in December, 1820, in Oxford, N. H. He has attained success as an artist of New York city, where he opened a studio. He died Sept. 18, 1871, in Peekskill, N. Y.

NICHOLS, ERNEST FOX, educator, author, was born June 1, 1869, in Leavenworth, Kan. In 1891-92 he was a fellow in physics in the Cornell university, and since 1892 has filled the chair of physics in the Colgate university of Hamilton, N. Y. He is the author of a number of important researches in the Heat Spectrum.

NICHOLS, FRANCIS T., governor. He was governor of Louisiana from 1876 to 1880.

NICHOLS, GEORGE WARD, author, was born June 21, 1837, in Mt. Desert, Maine. He was a writer on art and music who was president of the Cincinnati college of Music, and the author of The Story of the Great March; Art Education Applied to Industry; Pottery; and Sanctuary, a story of the Civil War. He died Sept. 15, 1885, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

NICHOLS, ICHABOD, clergyman, author, was born July 7, 1784, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a unitarian minister of Portland, Maine, in 1814-55, and from the latter date a resident of Cambridge. He was the author of Natural Theology; Hours with the Evangelists; and Remembered Words. He died Jan. 2, 1859, in Cambridge, Mass.

NICHOLS, JAMES ROBINSON, chemist, author, was born July 19, 1819, in West Amesbury (now Merrimac), Mass. He was a manufacturing chemist of Boston who founded The Journal of Chemistry (now The Popular Science News) in 1866, and was the author of What, When, and Where? Fireside Science; Chemistry of the Farm; and The New Agriculture. He died Jan. 2, 1888, in Haverhill, Mass.

NICHOLS, JOHN, educator, congressman, was born Nov. 14, 1834, in Wake county, N. C. From 1873 till 1877 he was principal of the North Carolina institute for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, in Raleigh, N. C. In 1881 he was appointed postmaster at Raleigh. He has been secretary and treasurer of the State Fair association for a number of years, and was elected to the fiftieth congress as an independent.

NICHOLS, MRS. MARY SARGEANT, physician, author, was born Aug. 10, 1810, in Goffstown, N. H. She is a hydropathic physician, and the author of Lectures on Anatomy and Physiology; Experience in Water Cure; A Woman's Work in Water Cure and Sanitary Education. As Mary Orme she published the novels, Uncle John; Agnes Norris; and The Two Loves, Eros and Anteros.

NICHOLS, MATTHIAS H., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 3, 1824, in Salem county, N. J. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses.

NICHOLS, MOSES, physician, soldier, was born in 1759 in Amherst, N. H. He was a general of militia during the revolution. He died in May, 1790, in Amherst, N. H.

NICHOLS, MRS REBECCA S. (REED), poet, was born in August, 1820, in Greenwich, N. J. She is a poet of Cincinnati, and the author of Bernice, and Other Poems; and Songs of the Heart.

NICHOLS, ROLAND, poet, was born Aug. 1, 1865, in Shalersville, Ohio. He has contributed numerous poems to the leading periodicals of Ohio.

NICHOLS, STARR HOYT, broker, author, was born in 1834 in Connecticut. He is a broker of New York city, in earlier life a unitarian minister. He has published Monte Rosa, the Epic of an Alp.

NICHOLS, THOMAS L., physician, author, was born in 1820. He is an American physician who settled in Malvern, England, near the opening of the civil war, and the author of Women in All Ages; Esoteric Anthropology; Forty Years of American Life; How to Cook; How to Behave; How to Live on Sixpence a Day; and Human Physiology the Basis of Sanitary Reforms.

NICHOLS, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, soldier, was born May 12, 1818, in Philadelphia. He became colonel and brevet brigadier-general in 1864, and brevet major-general in 1865 for meritorious service during the civil war. At the time of his death he was chief of staff and adjutant-general of the military department of Missouri. He died April 8, 1869, in St. Louis, Mo.

NICHOLS, WILLIAM RIPLEY, chemist, educator, author, was born April 30, 1847, in Boston, Mass. He was devoted to the interests of the institute of Technology, and compiled a record of the Publications of Its Officers, Students, and Alumni, in which may be found a complete list of his own papers down to 1882. Besides his scientific papers he published in book-form An Elementary Manual of Chemistry, abridged from Eliot and Storer's Manual. He died July 14, 1886, in Germany.

NICHOLSON, ALFRED OSBORNE POPE, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 31, 1808, in Williamson county, Tenn. He was a member of the Tennessee state legislature from 1833 to 1839; was a senator in congress from that state from 1840 to 1842; and was a member of the state senate from 1843 to 1845. He was chancellor of the middle division of the state in 1845; was president of the bank of Tennessee in 1846 and 1847, and was elected printer of the house of representatives by the thirty-third congress, and printer of the senate by the thirty-fourth congress. He was elected a senator in congress from Tennessee for the term commencing in 1859 and ending in 1865, but was expelled July 11, 1861. He died March 23, 1876, in Columbia, Tenn.

NICHOLSON, MRS. ELIZA JANE (POITEVENT), journalist, author, poet, was born in 1849 in Mississippi. She was a journalist of New Orleans, owner and editor of The Picayune, and the first woman in the world to own and manage a great daily paper. She was the author of Lyrics. She died in 1896.

NICHOLSON, FRANCIS, governor. He was lieutenant-governor of New York under Andros; was governor of Virginia in 1690-92, and from 1699 to 1705; and governor of Maryland in 1694-99. He died March 5, 1728, in London, England.

NICHOLSON, ISAAC LEA, bishop of Milwaukee, Wis., was born Jan. 18, 1844, in Baltimore, Md. He was consecrated bishop of Milwaukee in St. Mark's church, Philadelphia, in 1891. He has published occasional sermons, addresses and pastorals, and has compiled several liturgical manuals.

NICHOLSON, JAMES BARTRAM, author, was born Jan. 28, 1820, in St. Louis, Mo. He is a prominent bookbinder of Philadelphia, and the author of a Manual of Bookbinding, an exhaustive treatise on the subject.

NICHOLSON, JAMES OSCAR, lawyer, politician, was born March 29, 1847, in Pike county, Ill. During the civil war he served as a soldier in the union army at the age of seventeen. He subsequently lived in Missouri, California, Oregon and Washington territory, and since 1878 has been engaged in the practice of law in Texas, and since 1881 in Laredo. He has taken an active part in political affairs; has been a delegate from his county to every state democratic convention in Texas for the past fourteen years, and was a delegate to the national democratic conventions in 1892 and in 1896.

NICHOLSON, JAMES WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, naval officer, was born March 10, 1821, in Dedham, Mass. He served in the United States navy during the civil war, attaining the rank of admiral. He died Oct. 28, 1887, in New York city.

NICHOLSON, JASPER HOPPER, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1770 in Maryland. In 1805 he was appointed chief justice of the sixth judicial district, and was also a judge of the court of appeals of Maryland. From 1799 to 1806 he was a representative in congress. He died March 4, 1817, in Maryland.

NICHOLSON, JOHN, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1765. He was for several years a member of the New York assembly; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1809 to 1811. He died in January, 1820.

NICHOLSON, JOHN A., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 17, 1827, in Laurel, Del. He was elected a representative from Delaware to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth congress as a democrat.

NICHOLSON, JOHN REED, lawyer, jurist, was born May 19, 1849, in Dover, Del. He has served with distinction as attorney-general of Delaware, and is now chancellor of the state of Delaware.

NICHOLSON, SAMUEL, naval officer, was born in 1743 in Maryland. He was the first commander of the frigate Constitution, the building of which he superintended. At the time of his death he was at the head of the navy. He died Dec. 29, 1813, in Charlestown, Mass.

NICHOLSON, TIMOTHY, educator, philanthropist, was born Nov. 9, 1828, in Belvidere, N. C. He is prominent in temperance reform, a member of the Indiana state board of charities and corrections since 1889, and president of the state conference of charities since 1896.

NICHOLSON, WILLIAM RUFUS, bishop, author, was born Jan. 8, 1822, in Green county, Miss. He is a reformed episcopal bishop, dean of the theological seminary of that faith in Philadelphia, and the author of The Blessedness of Heaven; Why I Became a reformed Episcopalian; The Real Presence; and The Call to the Ministry.

NICHOLSON, WILLIAM THOMAS, inventor, manufacturer, was born March 22, 1834, in Pawtucket, R. I. He was famous as the inventor of the first successful machine for cutting files, and as the founder and president for thirty years of the Nicholson File company, one of the great manufacturing corporations of the east. He attended the common schools until the age of thirteen, and then, after a year spent at Uxbridge academy, entered a machine shop to learn the trade of a machinist. He branched out for himself in the manufacture of machinery and machine tools, in Providence, R. I., and during the civil war executed heavy government contracts for supplying parts of rifles. In 1864 he went to work in earnest upon an idea which had long occupied his mind, the invention of an improved machine for cutting files. After considerable study and labor he succeeded in perfecting an invention, and after securing his patents, immediately organized a stock company for the utilization of it. After years of experiment, and the inspection of the various methods by which files were produced both in this country and abroad, and the construction of a variety of machinery, for which over forty patents were obtained, he brought his company to the position which he desired, that of being the largest manufacturers of files in the world, and of producing a recognizedly superior quality article. He died Oct. 17, 1893, in Providence, R. I.

NICKERSON, CHARLES SUMNER, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 28, 1861, in Chatham, Mass. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and attended Tufts College Divinity school. For four years he was a displayman in the United States signal service; since 1886 has been a successful clergyman, and now fills a pastorate in Newton, Mass. He is the author of a volume entitled Noble Living; and a constant contributor to religious publications.

NICKERSON, FRANKLIN STEVEN, soldier, was born Aug. 27, 1826, in Swanville, Maine. During the civil war he served gallantly, and became major and lieutenant-colonel of the fourth regiment, and in 1862 he was commissioned a brigadier-general. In 1873 he opened a law office in Boston, and is noted as one of the foremost lawyers of New England.

NICKERSON, SAMUEL M., banker. He is an able financier, and one of the foremost bankers of Chicago, Ill.

NICKLIN, PHILIP HOLBROOK, author, was born in 1786 in Philadelphia. He contributed articles on conchology to Silliman's Journal, and to other periodicals; wrote Letters Descriptive of the Virginia Springs; Pleasant Peregrinations Through Pennsylvania; and Remarks on Literary Property. He died March 2, 1842, in Philadelphia.

NICOL, CHARLES EDWARD, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 22, 1854, in Brentsville, Va. He attended the Richmond college and the university of Virginia. He served with distinction as a member of the house of delegates of Virginia for three sessions; and since 1895 he has been judge of the eleventh judicial circuit of Virginia. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the south and resides in Manassas, Va.

NICOLAY, JOHN GEORGE, public official, author, was born Feb. 26, 1826, in Bavaria. He was the private secretary of President Lincoln, and marshal of the United States supreme court in 1872-87. He is the author of The Outbreak of the Rebellion; and Abraham Lincoln, a History.

NICOLL, HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1812, in New York city. He was a member of the New York constitutional convention of 1846, and was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1849.

NICOLL, JAMES CRAIG, artist, was born Nov. 22, 1846, in New York city. He was elected president of the Artists' Fund society in 1887, and was one of the founders of the American water-color society, and its secretary for several years. Among his water-colors, by which he is perhaps best known, are On the Gulf of St. Lawrence; Foggy Morning, Grand Menan; Moonlight, Cape Ann; Coast View in Spring; and Off Portland Harbor.

NICOLL, JOHN C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Georgia. In 1839 he was appointed United States judge for the district of Georgia.

NICOLLET, JEAN NICHOLAS, explorer, was born July 24, 1786, in Cluses, Savoy. After exploring the southern states he studied the great basin that is embraced by the sources of the Red, Arkansas and Missouri rivers, and in 1836 extended his investigations to the sources of the Mississippi. On his return to Washington he was engaged by the war department to visit the far west and prepare a general report and map for the government. He died Sept. 11, 1843, in Washington, D. C.

NICOLLS, RICHARD, governor, was born in 1624 in England. He was the first English governor of New York. He died May 28, 1672, at sea.

NICOLSON, FRANK WALTER, educator, author, was born Nov. 4, 1864, in Sackville, Canada. Since 1895 he has been instructor of Latin in the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn. He is the author of Phonics of Science; Plutus of Aristophanes; and has contributed several articles to Harvard classical studies.

NICOLSON, SAMUEL, inventor, was born Dec. 22, 1792, in Plymouth, Mass. He was the inventor of the Nicolson pavement, which has been extensively used in all the principal cities of the United States, and in various other countries. He died Jan. 6, 1868.

NICUM, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 6, 1851, in Germany. He is a prominent lutheran minister of Rochester, N. Y., who has published History of the New York Ministerium; Gleichniss-Reden Jesu; Weihnachts Andacht; and a translation of Wolf's Lutherans in America.

NIEDRINGHAUS, FREDERICK G., manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in Germany. In 1862 he began the stamping of tinware; in 1866 the business was incorporated under the name of St. Louis Stamping company, in Missouri, of which he is president. In 1874 he invented what is called granite ironware, and in 1881 established extensive rolling mills. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

NIEMAN, L. W., journalist, was born Dec. 13, 1857, in Mukwonago, Wis. He is editor and proprietor of the Milwaukee Journal, which was the first two-cent daily publication in the state of Wisconsin.

NIEMEYER, JOHN HENRY, artist, was born June 25, 1839, in Germany. He has painted various genre pictures and portraits, among the best of which are Gutenberg Inventing Movable Type; a portrait of Theodore D. Woolsey; The Braid; Where? Why?; and Sancta Simplicitas.

NIERIKER, MRS. MAY (ALCOTT), artist, author, was born in 1840 in Massachusetts. She is an artist who published Concord Sketches; and Studying Art Abroad. She died in 1879.

NIETERT, HENRY JOHN, banker, legislator, was born March 12, 1848, in Dayton, Ohio. He organized the Exchange bank of Walker, Iowa, in 1885, and is its president. He served as a member of the house in the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth general assemblies of Iowa.

NILES, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 21, 1850, in Kosciusko, Miss. In 1878 and in 1886 he served as a member of the Mississippi state legislature and in 1880 was a delegate to the national republican convention. He is a successful lawyer of his native city; was United States district attorney for the northern district of Mississippi in 1890-91; and in 1892 was appointed by President Harrison as United States district judge for the northern and southern districts of Mississippi.

NILES, HEZEKIAH, journalist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1777, in Chester county, Pa. He was a journalist of Baltimore, founder of Niles's Register. The towns of Niles, Mich., and Niles, Ohio, were named in his honor. He is the author of Quill Driving; and Principles and Acts of the Revolutionary Period. He died April 2, 1839, in Wilmington, Del.

NILES, JASON, congressman. He was elected to the forty-third congress from Mississippi.

NILES, JOHN B., lawyer, educator, state senator, was born Sept. 13, 1808, in Fairlee, Vt. He was elected to the Indiana state senate in 1864, where he served one term. For twelve years he occupied the chair of professor of chemistry in the Indiana Medical college, located at Laporte, having been elected to the position in 1840.

NILES, JOHN MILTON, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, author, was born Aug. 20, 1787, in Windsor, Conn. He was made a senator in congress in 1835, in which position he remained until 1839. In 1840 he was appointed postmaster-general, and in 1842 was again elected to the United States senate, serving six years. He edited a Gazetteer of Connecticut and Rhode Island; and wrote a History of South America; The Civil War; and several biographical works. He died May 31, 1856, in Hartford, Conn.

NILES, NATHANIEL, lawyer, inventor, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born April 3, 1741, in South Kensington, R. I. He was the inventor of making wire from bar iron by water power, and erected at Norwich, Conn., a woolen-card manufactory. He was a member of the Vermont legislature, and speaker of the house. He was a judge of the supreme court of Vermont, and was six times a presidential elector. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1791 to 1795. He wrote poetry and many sermons, and preached in his own house twelve years. He died Oct. 31, 1828, in West Fairlee, Vt.

NILES, NATHANIEL, lawyer, banker, was born Sept. 15, 1835, in South Kensington, R. I. He became speaker of the New Jersey assembly in 1872, government director of the Union Pacific railroad in 1879, and since 1884 has been president of the Tradesmen's National bank of New York city.

NILES, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1744, in Braintree, Mass. He was ordained pastor of a congregational church in Abington in 1771, and preached there for forty years. He published a sermon on the death of General Washington; and a sermon before the Massachusetts Missionary society. He died Jan. 16, 1814, in Abington, Mass.

NILES, WILLIAM WOODRUFF, bishop, was born May 24, 1832, in Canada. In 1857 he graduated from the Trinity college of Hartford; and in 1861 from the Berkeley Divinity school of Middletown, Conn. The same year he was ordained a deacon, and a priest in 1862. He then took charge as rector of St. Philip's of Wiscasset, Maine. In 1864 he returned to Connecticut and filled the chair of Latin language and literature in Trinity college. In 1870 he was consecrated second bishop of New Hampshire. He is the author of numerous Addresses and Essays; and for a while was editor of The Churchman.

NINDE, WILLIAM XAVIER, clergyman, bishop, was born June 21, 1832, in Cortland, N. Y. He attended the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn.; has filled various pastorates in the methodist episcopal church; and for many years was president of the Garrett Biblical institute of Evanston, Ill. In 1881 he was a delegate to the methodist ecumenical conference in London.

Since 1884 he has been bishop of the methodist episcopal church, and resides in Detroit, Mich.

NINDEMANN, WILLIAM FRIEDRICH CARL, explorer, inventor, author, was born April 22, 1850, in Germany. He went on the arctic expedition in the steamer Polaris, which sailed from New London in 1871. He has invented a tong for the gaff of fore-and-aft rigged vessels, which was patented in 1883; and is the author of a pamphlet entitled Eines Deutschen Matrosen Nordpolfahrten.

NIPHER, FRANCIS EUGENE, scientist, author, was born Dec. 10, 1847, in Port Byron, N. Y. For many years he was professor of physics and electrical engineering in the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. He has been president of the St. Louis Academy of Science, and also of the Engineers' club. He is the author of Theory of Magnetic Measurements; A Mathematical Treatise on Electricity and Magnetism; and many scientific papers.

NISBET, EUGENIUS ARISTIDES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 7, 1803, near Union Point, Ga. He was for several years a judge of the supreme court of the state. He was a representative in congress from 1839 to 1841; took an active part in the rebellion of 1861; and became a member of the confederate congress. It is stated that Judge Nisbet drew the original resolutions dissolving the connection of the state of Georgia with the American Union at the time of the outbreak of the civil war. He died March 18, 1871, in Macon, Ga.

NITSCH, MRS. HELEN ALICE (MATTHEWS), author, was born in England. She was a writer on domestic science whose home was at Plainfield, N. J., and was the author of Choice Cookery; Culture and Cooking; Ten Dollars Enough; Perfect Bread; Gentle Bread-Winners; Molly Bishop's Family; and Progressive Housekeeping. She died in 1889.

NIVEN, ARCHIBALD C., state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847; and a member of the state legislature in 1864.

NIXON, JOHN, soldier, was born March 4, 1725, in Framingham, Mass. He was appointed brigadier-general in 1776, and intrusted with the command of Governor's Island, New York harbor. He died March 24, 1815, in Middlebury, Vt.

NIXON, JOHN THOMPSON, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 31, 1820, in Fairton, N. J. He served in the New Jersey legislature from 1848 to 1850, during the last year as speaker. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-sixth congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress. He was a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866, and in 1870 was appointed United States judge for the district of New Jersey. He died Sept. 28, 1889, in Stockbridge, Mass.

NOAH, MORDECAI MANUEL, journalist, author, was born July 14, 1785, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a once noted journalist of New York city, who endeavored unsuccessfully to found a Jewish colony on Grand Island, in the Niagara river. He was the author of Travels in England, France and Spain; Gleanings from a Gathered Harvest. He wrote several successful plays, among which are, The Siege of Tripoli; and The Fortress of Sorrente. He died May 22, 1851, in New York city.

NOATMAN, FRANKLIN S., poet, was born July 31, 1858, in Wethersfield, N. Y. He is the author of numerous hymns and religious poems, and has published a work entitled Glimpses of the New Jerusalem. He is known in his native state as the Bard of North Java.

NOBLE, ANNETTE LUCILE, author, was born July 12, 1844, in Albion, N. Y. She is a fiction writer of Albion, N. Y., among whose works are Uncle Jack's Executors; Eunice Lathrop, Spinster; Love and Shawl-Straps; After the Failure; and The Silent Man's Legacy.

NOBLE, CALISTA, educator, poet, was born Jan. 11, 1835, in Crawford county, Pa. After receiving a liberal education, she became a school teacher, and has attained success as an educator. She has written both prose and verse for the periodical press, and some of her poems have been included in several national collections.

NOBLE, DAVID A., lawyer, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. On moving to Michigan, he was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855.

NOBLE, EDMUND, journalist, author. He is a journalist who traveled in Russia in 1882-84, and since 1884 has lived in Boston. He is the author of The Russian Revolt.

NOBLE, JAMES, state senator, was born about 1790 in Battletown, Va. He was a senator in congress from Indiana from 1816 to 1831. He died Feb. 26, 1831, in Washington, D. C.

NOBLE, JOHN WILLOCK, lawyer, soldier, was born Oct. 26, 1831, in Lancaster, Ohio. He served two years as city attorney of Keokuk, Iowa. He entered the service as first lieutenant in 1862, and was brevetted brigadier-general for distinguished and meritorious services in the field. He was appointed United States district attorney for eastern Missouri in 1867, which office he resigned in 1870. He was appointed secretary of the interior in 1889.

NOBLE, LOUIS LEGRAND, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 26, 1813, in Lisbon, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman who held various rectorships successively in the state of New York; and the author of Ne-Ma-Nin, an Indian story in verse; The Course of Empire, a work relating to the artist Cole; The Lady Angelina, and Other Poems; and A Voyage to the Arctic Seas. He died Feb. 6, 1882, in Ionia, Mich.

NOBLE, PATRICK, lawyer, state senator, governor, was born in 1787 in Abbeville district, S. C. He was a state representative from South Carolina in 1812; was speaker from 1818 to 1824, and again from 1832. In 1836 he was president of the state senate, and was governor from 1838 to 1840. He died April 7, 1840, in Abbeville, S. C.

NOBLE, THOMAS SATTERWHITE, artist, was born May 29, 1835, in Lexington, Ky. He studied art in Paris, and has attained success as a painter of history, genre and portraiture. In 1865 he exhibited his first important canvas, The Slave Market; in 1866 he exhibited Margaret Garner, a tragedy from real life; and in 1867 he painted The Price of Blood, a successful picture depicting slave life. In 1868 he was elected to fill the chair of fine arts in the university of Cincinnati, the art department of which institution in 1884 was transferred to the Cincinnati Museum association, of which Mr. Noble is still the presiding officer. Other of his works are: John Brown; Witchill; Forgiveness; and other subject pictures; and his principal portraits are of Joseph Longworth, Reuben R. Springer, Col. George Ward Nichols, David Sinton, and others.

NOBLE, WARREN P., lawyer, legislator, was born June 14, 1820, near Berwick, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Ohio, and graduated from the academy of John McGregor in Wadsworth, Ohio. He then taught in the public schools of Fostoria, and had for his pupils Hon. Charles Foster, Judge Lawrence and Judge Coplee. Since 1843 he has been engaged in the practice of law, and has become one of the foremost lawyers of Ohio at Tiffin. He served two terms in the house of representatives of Ohio, and was twice elected prosecuting attorney of his county. During 1861-65 he served with distinction as a member of congress. He was one of the organizers of the Ohio State university; was a director of the railroad from Tiffin to Toledo; and for many years was president of the Commercial bank of Tiffin, of which he is now vice-president.

NOBLE, WILLIAM H., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1788 in New York. He served three years in the assembly of that state from Cayuga county, and was a representative in congress from New York from 1837 to 1839. He died Feb. 5, 1850, in Rochester.

NOEL, EDMOND FAVOR, lawyer, legislator, was born March 4, 1856, near Lexington, Miss. During 1882-84 he was a member of the Mississippi state legislature; and in 1896 he was elected a member of the state senate for four years. He is an able lawyer of Lexington, Miss., and during 1887-91 served with distinction as district attorney.

NOELL, JOHN W., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 15, 1816, in Bradford county, Va. He served four years in the state senate of Missouri. In 1858 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-sixth congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth congresses. He died March 14, 1863, in Washington.

NOELL, THOMAS E., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born April 3, 1839, in Perryville, Mo. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth congress. He died Oct. 3, 1867, in St. Louis.

NOKES, SYLVESTER D., soldier, farmer, politician, was born Feb. 11, 1835, in Franklin county, N. Y. In 1862 he enlisted in company E. one hundred and nineteenth Illinois volunteer infantry; he was mustered in as second lieutenant, and was subsequently promoted to captain. He is a successful farmer of Brown county, Ill.; is prominent in the political affairs of his county and state; and has filled a number of important public offices.

NOLAN, DANIEL M., merchant, poet, was born June 17, 1842, in Ireland. He emigrated to America in 1865, and is now a successful merchant of Haverhill, Mass., and is known in New England as the Grocer-Poet. He has written extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press, and is the author of a volume of his collected poems, which contain wit, humor and pathos.

NOLAN, MICHAEL N., manufacturer, congressman, was born in May, 1834, in Ireland. He was elected mayor of the city of Albany, N. Y., in 1878, re-elected in 1880, and again re-elected in 1882, while serving as a member of congress. He was elected to the forty-seventh congress as a democrat.

NOLEN, JAMES THEODORE, educator, college president, was born April 22, 1863, in Franklin, N. C. He attended the Emory and Henry college, Virginia, and the Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn. This successful educator has been principal of the Williston academy, Tennessee, and is now president of the Florida Conference college of Leesburg, Fla.

NOON, ALONZO ARTHUR, railroad president, was born June 28, 1837, in England. He has been president of the Salt Lake and Mercur Railroad company since its organization.

NOONAN, GEORGE H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He practiced law in Texas until elected judge of the district court in 1862, and has held the office of judge continuously from that time to the present. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

NORCROSS, AMASA, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 26, 1824, in Rindge, N. H. He was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1858, 1859 and 1862; was assessor of internal revenue from 1862 to 1873, and was mayor of Fitchburg in 1873 and 1874. He was a state senator in 1874; and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican. He is president of the Fitchburg Mutual Fire Insurance company and other institutions.

NORDHEIMER, ISAAC, educator, author, was born in 1809 in Germany. He was an educator of New York city, and instructor in sacred literature at Union Theological seminary in 1838-42. He was the author of Hebrew Grammar; and Grammatical Analysis of Select Portions of Scripture. He died Nov. 3, 1842, in New York city.

NORDHOFF, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Aug. 31, 1830, in Prussia. He is a journalist of New York city, and the author of Man-of-War Life; The Merchant Vessel; Whaling and Fishing; Man-of-War Yarns; Cape Cod and All Along Shore; Peninsular California; Northern California; Secession Is Rebellion; Communitistic Societies of the United States; Politics for Young Americans; and God and the Future Life.

NORMAN, BENJAMIN MOORE, author, was born Dec. 22, 1809, in Hudson, N. Y. He was a bookseller of New Orleans, and the author of Rambles in Yucatan; New Orleans and Its Environs; and Rambles by Land and Water. He died Feb. 1, 1860, near Summit, Miss.

NORMAN, HENRY, journalist, author, was born in 1858 in Massachusetts. He is a journalist of prominence, and the author of The Peoples and Politics of the Far East; and The Real Japan.

NORRIS, ALEXANDER WILSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator. He served in the civil war and attained the rank of captain. In 1881 he was elected to the Pennsylvania state senate.

NORRIS, BASIL, soldier, surgeon, was born March 9, 1828, in Montgomery county, Md. He was physician to the executive mansion during the terms of office of Andrew Johnson and General Grant, and was medical officer in charge of all the sick of the regular army in Washington, D. C., during 1863-84. He is the author of papers on Dislocation of the Astragalus; Extirpation of the Entire Tongue; Personal Experience with Mad Dogs; and other surgical papers of value.

NORRIS, BENJAMIN W., congressman, was born in 1819 in Kennebeck county, Maine. He was appointed a paymaster. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the fortieth congress as a republican. He died Jan. 27, 1873, in Montgomery.

NORRIS, GEORGE WASHINGTON, physician, author, was born Nov. 6, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician, and the author of Contributions to Practical Surgery; and Early History of Medicine in Philadelphia. He died March 4, 1875, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NORRIS, ISAAC, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born July 21, 1671, in England. He was in the assembly for many years; speaker of the house in 1712, and justice for Philadelphia for many years. He died June 4, 1735, in Philadelphia.

NORRIS, ISAAC, statesman, was born Oct. 2, 1701, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1851 he was elected speaker of the assembly, and held that office for fifteen years. In the first year of his administration the old state house bell was ordered from England, and he proposed the inscription: Proclaim liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof. He died June 13, 1766, near Philadelphia, Pa.

NORRIS, JOHN, merchant, state senator, philanthropist, was born June 10, 1748, in Salem, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts senate. He was one of the founders of Andover Theological seminary and a large contributor to benevolent and religious enterprises. He died Dec. 22, 1808, in Salem, Mass.

NORRIS, JOHN SAMUEL, clergyman, poet, was born Dec. 4, 1844, in England. He has filled pastorates in the Christian churches of Rochester, N. Y., and many of the western states. He is the author of a work entitled Songs of the Soul.

NORRIS, MOSES, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 8, 1799, in Pittsfield, N. H. In 1839 he was elected to the New Hampshire state legislature, and in 1840 was speaker of the house; and in 1841 was elected a member of the state council. In 1843 he was elected a representative in congress, where he continued four years. In 1847 he was again a member of the legislature, and speaker, and while serving in that capacity was elected a senator in congress, serving from 1849 to 1855. He died Jan. 11, 1855, in Washington, D. C.

NORRIS, THADDEUS, author, was born Aug. 15, 1811, in Warrentown, Va. He was a Philadelphia business man who wrote much on sporting topics, and was the author of American Angler's Book; and American Fish Culture. He died April 10, 1877, in Philadelphia, Pa.

NORRIS, WILLIAM FISHER, physician, author, was born Jan. 6, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has served as assistant surgeon in the United States army with the rank of captain. For many years he has been professor of ophthalmology in the university of Pennsylvania, and is the author of a text-book on that subject.

NORTH, CHARLES HAMILTON, merchant, was born April 8, 1832, in Thomasville, Ga. His youth was passed in West

Windsor, Vt. He attended the common schools and subsequently entered the French academy of Waltham, Mass. For many years he was engaged in mercantile pursuits, and in 1867 built the packing house in Somerville, Mass. He is the founder of the North Packing and Provision company of Somerville, Mass., and a director in several business corporations.

NORTH, EDWARD, educator, was born March 9, 1820, in Berlin, Conn. For forty years he has been the necrologist of Hamilton, and since 1881 has been a trustee of that college. He was president of the New York State Teachers' association in 1865.

NORTH, ELISHA, physician, author, was born Jan. 8, 1771, in Goshen, Conn. He was a physician of New London, Conn., and the author of Treatise on Spotted Fever; Outlines of the Science of Life; and Uncle Toby's Pilgrim's Progress in Phrenology. He died Dec. 29, 1843, in New London, Conn.

NORTH, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the district of Nevada, residing at Carson City.

NORTH, SIMEON, clergyman, educator, was born Sept. 7, 1802, in Berlin, Conn. He became professor of Greek and Latin at Hamilton college, held office for ten years, and from 1839 until his resignation in 1857 was president of the college. He was ordained to the ministry of the congregational church in 1842. He died Feb. 12, 1884, in Clinton, N. Y.

NORTH, WILLIAM, soldier, United States senator, was born in 1755 in Fort Frederick, Maine. He was aid to Baron Steuben in the revolutionary war, and afterward appointed adjutant-general. He was a senator in congress from New York, by appointment, in 1798, to fill a vacancy. He died Jan. 3, 1836, in New York city.

NORTHCUT, HOSEA ALLEN, evangelist, was born Nov. 13, 1843, in Hannibal, Mo. In 1864 he was elected an elder of the church at Millport, Mo., and has attained success as a general evangelist of the Christian church, and it is said that over twenty thousand have been converted under his ministry in the United States and Canada.

NORTHCUTT, WILLIAM A., lawyer, lieutenant-governor, was born in Murfreesboro, Tenn. He taught school for a while, and was admitted to the bar in 1887. Two years later he moved to Illinois; in 1882 was elected state's attorney of Bond county, and was re-elected in 1884 and in 1888. In 1890 he was elected head consul of the Modern Woodmen of America, to which position he has been twice unanimously re-elected. In 1892 he was a republican candidate for congress, and in 1896 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Illinois.

NORTHEND, CHARLES, educator, author, was born April 2, 1814, in Newbury, Mass. He was a prominent educator of Connecticut, and the author of Teacher and Parent; Teachers' Associations; Annals of American Institutes of Instruction; and Life of Elihu Burritt. He died in 1895.

NORTHEND, WILLIAM DUMMER, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 26, 1823, in Newbury, Mass. He is a lawyer of Salem, Mass., and the author of Speeches and Essays on Political Subjects; and The Bay Colony.

NORTHERN, WILLIAM J., state senator, governor, was born July 9, 1835, in Jones county, Ga. He was a member of the Georgia legislature in 1877 and 1878; in 1880-81 he was a member of the state senate, and in 1890 was elected governor of Georgia.

NORTHROP, BIRDSEY GRANT, educator, author, was born in 1817 in Connecticut. He is a prominent Connecticut educator, secretary of the state board of education in 1869-82; and the author of Education Abroad; Rural Improvement; and Tree-Planting.

NORTHROP, CYRUS, educator, college president, was born Sept. 30, 1834, in Ridgefield, Conn. In 1861-63 he was clerk, first of the Connecticut house of representatives, and then of the senate. He was professor of rhetoric and English literature in Yale from 1863 till 1884, when he became president of the university of Minnesota.

NORTHROP, HARRY PINCKNEY, Roman catholic bishop, was born May 5, 1842, in Charleston, S. C. He was raised to the episcopate in 1882, as vicar-apostolic of North Carolina, receiving the title of Bishop of Rosalia.

NORTHRUP, ANSEL JUDD, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 30, 1833, in Smithfield, N. Y. In 1870 he was appointed United States circuit court commissioner, and soon afterward became United States examiner in equity. During 1882-94 he was county judge of Onondaga, N. Y. He is the author of Camps and Tramps in the Adirondacks; and Sconset Cottage Life, a Summer on Nantucket Island.

NORTHRUP, GEORGE WASHINGTON, clergyman, educator, was born Oct. 15, 1826, in Antwerp, N. Y. In 1858 he was called to the professorship of church history in the Rochester seminary, and in 1867 he became president of Chicago Baptist Theological seminary, Morgan Park.

NORTHWAY, STEPHEN A., lawyer, congressman, was born June 19, 1833, in Christian Hollow, N. Y. In 1861 he was elected prosecuting attorney and located in Jefferson, Ohio, where he resided and practiced law until his death. In 1863 he was re-elected prosecuting attorney. In 1865 he was elected to the state house of representatives and served two years. He was elected to the fifty-third congress; was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican. He died Sept. 8, 1898, in Jefferson, Ohio.

NORTON, ANDREWS, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 31, 1786, in Hingham, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of Cambridge, professor of sacred literature in Harvard university in 1819-30; and prominent among conservative theologians of his faith. He was the author of Historical Evidences of the Genuineness of the Gospels; Internal Evidences of the Genuineness of the Gospels; Tracts Concerning Christianity; and Reasons for Not Believing the Doctrines of the Trinitarians. He died Sept. 18, 1852, in Newport, R. I.

NORTON, AUGUSTUS THEODORE, clergyman, author, was born March 28, 1808, in Cornwall, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Alton, Ill., and the author of a History of the Presbyterian Church in Illinois. He died April 29, 1884, in Alton, Ill.

NORTON, CHARLES ELIOT, educator, author, was born Nov. 16, 1827, in Cambridge, Mass. He is a distinguished Dante scholar and a high authority on the history of art, and since 1875 professor of the history of art in Harvard university. He has edited the Letters of J. R. Lowell; the Writings of G. W. Curtis; the Goethe and Carlyle Correspondence; the Letters of Carlyle; and has translated Dante's Vita Nuova and Divina Commedia. His other works include, Historical Studies of Church-Building in the Middle Ages; Notes of Travel and Study in Italy; and Considerations of Some Recent Social Theories.

NORTON, CHARLES LEDYARD, journalist, author, was born June 11, 1837, in Farmington, Conn. He is a journalist of New York city; since 1893 editor of Outing; and the author of Handbook of Florida; Political Americanisms; Jack Benson's Log; and A Medal of Honor Man, a book for boys.

NORTON, DANIEL SHELDON, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born April 12, 1829, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. In 1857 he was elected to the Minnesota state senate, declining re-election in 1859; and was again re-elected in 1860, and also in 1863 and 1864, having been a member of the state house of representatives in 1862. In 1865 he took his seat as a senator in congress from Minnesota for the term ending in 1871. He died July 14, 1870, in Washington, D. C.

NORTON, EBENEZER F., state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served in the state assembly from Erie county in 1823; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1829 to 1831.

NORTON, ELIJAH H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 24, 1821, in Logan county, Ky. In 1852 he was chosen a judge of the circuit court of Missouri; and was re-elected to the same position in 1857. After resigning the judgeship in 1860 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-seventh congress.

NORTON, FRANK HENRY, journalist, author, was born March 20, 1836, in Hingham, Mass. He is a journalist of New York city, and the author of Lives of General Hancock, Alexander Stephens; and Daniel Boone, a romance.

NORTON, FREDERICK CALVIN, journalist, author, was born March 24, 1873, in Guilford, Conn. He received a liberal education, and has since been engaged in journalism. He is the editor of the Echo of Guilford, Conn.; and the author of The History of Christ Church; Lives of the Governors of Connecticut; and other works.

NORTON, GEORGE HABLEY, clergyman, author, was born May 7, 1824, in Ontario county, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman of Alexandria, Va., who published Inquiry into the Nature and Extent of the Holy Catholic Church. He died in 1893.

NORTON, GEORGE PIERCE, lawyer, was born Nov. 19, 1872, in Dover, N. H. He graduated from the law department of the Columbia college of New York city; and has attained success as an able lawyer of Kansas City, Mo.

NORTON, HERMAN, evangelist, author, was born July 2, 1799, in New Hartford, N. Y. He was a presbyterian evangelist in New York state, and the author of The Christian and Deist in Contrast; Signs of Danger and Promise; and Startling Facts for American Protestants. He died Nov. 20, 1850, in Hartford, N. Y.

NORTON, JAMES, educator, jurist, public official, was born Sept. 9, 1833, in Hiram, Ohio. He was the son of a carpenter, and was disabled by an accident in 1845. In 1851 he began school teaching at Hiram, Ohio, the same term as did James A. Garfield. After teaching school for several years he was elected county recorder of Portage county in 1861; was re-elected and served six years in all, residing in the county seat of Ravenna. In 1867 he returned to Garrettsville, which has ever since been his home. He was one of the founders of a bank in Garrettsville, and was its cashier. He subsequently became superintendent of the Garrettsville schools; was mayor of his city two terms; has been a member of the board of education for seven terms of three years each; was clerk of the board for twenty years; and for many terms served with distinction as a justice of the peace. His son, James Edgar, was born March 18, 1866, in Ravenna, Ohio. In 1873 he commenced his course in the Garrettsville schools and completed the course when sixteen years old. The subject of his oration at graduation was The Heirs of the Ages; suggested by Tennyson's Poets of Locks Hall. In 1884 he was examined by the county board of school examiners and received a certificate for three years. As he was hastening to his rooms in the Garfield House he slipped and fell against the east corner of the upper step, and died from his injuries on May 3, 1887.

NORTON, JAMES, farmer, legislator, member of congress, was born Oct. 8, 1843, in Marion county, S. C. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and graduated from the Crouchatow academy. In 1870-72 he was school commissioner of his native county; in 1886-87, and 1890-92 he served with distinction as a member of the South Carolina house of representatives; and in 1894 was elected comptroller general of his state, receiving the re-election in 1896. In 1897 he resigned that position to serve in the fifty-fifth congress of the United States. He is a successful farmer of Mullins, S. C.

NORTON, JAMES ALBERT, soldier, physician, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 11, 1843, in Seneca county, Ohio. He served six years in the Ohio house of representatives from 1873 to 1879; and was speaker pro tempore of that body for two years. He was appointed commissioner of railroads and telegraphs; and resigned to accept a position in railroad service. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

NORTON, JESSE O., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in Vermont. In 1847 he was a member of the Illinois state constitutional convention; and was a member of the state legislature in 1851 and 1852. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses. In 1857 he was elected judge of the eleventh judicial district of Illinois, holding the office until 1862. In 1863 he was again elected a representative in congress.

NORTON, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born May 6, 1606, in England. He was a puritan clergyman who came to New England in 1635, and in 1653 succeeded John Cotton as teacher of the church at Boston. Among his writings are, The Heart of New England Rent at the Blasphemies of the Present Generation; and Life of Mr. John Cotton. He died April 5, 1663, in Boston, Mass.

NORTON, JOHN, clergyman, poet, was born in 1651, in Ipswich, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman, pastor of the church at Hingham in 1678-1716, and is remembered for his Elegy on Anne Bradstreet, a poem of some force and merit. He died in 1716.

NORTON, JOHN DUDLEY, lumber merchant, legislator, was born Dec. 18, 1843, in Van Buren, N. Y. His early life was spent on a farm. Prior to entering college he attended the Eldridge academy, and the Cortland academy. In 1867 he graduated from the Hamilton college of Clinton, N. Y. He then moved west and in 1868 became largely interested in Michigan pine lands, and made Pontiac his home. In 1874 and 1876 he was elected on the democratic ticket from Oakland county to the Michigan state legislature. In 1876 he was a delegate to the national democratic convention; subsequently was a candidate for state treasurer; and always took an active part in political affairs. He was a charter member of the First National bank, now known as the First Commercial bank of Pontiac. From 1883 he was the treasurer of the Eastern Michigan Insane Asylum; and was a strong financial supporter of the Michigan Military academy of Orchard Lake. He died March 21, 1895.

NORTON, JOHN NICHOLAS, clergyman, author, was born in 1820, in Waterloo, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman of Louisville, among whose many works are, Lives of Bishops White, Seabury, Bowen, Freeman, Provost, Stewart, Wilson, Claggett, Henshaw; Short Sermons for Families; The King's Ferry Boat; and Lives of Washington, Franklin, Bishop Berkeley, Archbishop Cranmer. He died Jan. 18, 1881, in Louisville, Ky.

NORTON, JOHN PITKIN, educator, chemist, was born July 19, 1822, in Albany, N. Y. He was made first professor of agricultural chemistry and of vegetable and animal physiology in Yale; and entered on the active duties of his chair in the autumn of 1847, and continued there until his death. He died Sept. 5, 1852, in Farmington, Conn.

NORTON, MRS. MINERVA [BRACE], author, was born in 1837 in New York. She is an educator of Beloit, Wis., and the author of In and Around Berlin; and Service in the King's Gardens.

NORTON, NELSON I., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born March 30, 1829, in Cattaraugus county, N. Y. He was appointed a justice of the peace; was six years a county assessor; and five years a county supervisor. He was elected to the New York state legislature in 1861; and was a presidential elector in 1872; and in 1875 was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy.

NORTON, RICHARD HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 6, 1849, in Troy, Mo. He has practiced law since 1870 in Troy, Mo. He was elected to the fifty-first congress, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

NORTON, S. F., journalist. He is one of the oldest and ablest editors in the west; and the founder of the Chicago Sentinel.

NORTON, SIDNEY AUGUSTUS, educator, author, was born Jan. 11, 1835, in Bloomfield, Ohio. He is a scientist who has been professor of chemistry in Ohio university from 1873; and is the author of Elements of Natural Philosophy; Elements of Physics; Elements of Inorganic Chemistry; and Organic Chemistry.

NORTON, THOMAS HERBERT, scientist, author, was born June 30, 1851, in Rushford, N. Y. During 1878-83 he was manager of chemical works in Paris, France; and since 1883 has filled the chair of chemistry in the university of Cincinnati. He is the author of numerous researches in chemistry.

NORTON, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, educator, author, was born Oct. 25, 1810, in East Bloomfield, N. Y. He was a professor of civil engineering in Sheffield Scientific school, Yale university, from 1852. He was the author of Elementary Treatise on Astronomy; and First Book of Natural Philosophy and Astronomy. His contributions to current publications on scientific subjects were highly valued. He died Sept. 21, 1883, in New Haven, Conn.

NORTON, WILLIAM HARMON, geologist, author, was born April 3, 1856, in Willoughby, Ohio. He is now special assistant of the Iowa state geological survey. He is the author of Artesian Wells of Iowa; and has written several scientific papers on geology and paleontology.

NORVAL, THEOPHILUS L., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Aug. 26, 1847, in Fulton county, Ill. In 1879 he was elected to the Nebraska state senate. In 1883 he was appointed judge of the sixth judicial district to fill a vacancy, and filled that office continuously until elected in 1889 a judge of the supreme court. He has also held that office continuously since, serving one term as chief justice; and was re-elected in 1895 for the term expiring in 1902.

NORVELL, JOHN, journalist, state senator, was born in 1790, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the editor of a newspaper in Philadelphia; and was subsequently appointed postmaster of Detroit, Mich. Having become identified with the territory of Michigan, he became one of the senators in congress from the new state, serving in that capacity from 1835 to 1841. He died April 11, 1850, in Detroit, Mich.

NORWOOD, HAL L., lawyer, was born in 1871. He was admitted to the bar in 1893, and has attained success as a rising lawyer of Lockesburg, Ark., and has filled several positions of honor.

NORWOOD, THOMAS MANSON, lawyer, United States senator, congressman, was born April 26, 1830, in Talbot county, Ga.

He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1852. He moved to Savannah in 1852; and was a member of the Georgia legislature in 1861 and 1862. He was a presidential elector in 1868; and was elected to the United States senate in 1871 for the term ending in 1877, serving on the committees on pensions, transportation, land claims, and revolutionary claims. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

NORWOOD, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, was born April 15, 1843, in Ireland. He emigrated with his parents to the United States in 1846; and received his education in Cincinnati and Eaton, Ohio. During 1861-65 he served gallantly as a soldier in the union army, and is now a prominent lawyer of Pittsburg, Pa.

NOTHOMB, HENRY ED, educator, poet, was born Oct. 10, 1865, near Rockford, Ill. He graduated in 1887 from the Iowa State normal school of Cedar Falls, with the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Didactics. He has attained success as an educator, and has been professor of rhetoric, literature and oratory in the Iowa institutes and the schools of Illinois. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems which have appeared in Poets of America and other standard collections.

NOTT, ABRAHAM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1768, in Saybrook, Conn. In 1794 he settled on the Pacolet river, S. C., and continued the practice of his profession. He was a representative in congress from 1799 to 1801, when he was elected a judge of the court of appeals, and judge of the superior court. He died June 18, 1830, in Fairfield, S. C.

NOTT, CHARLES COOPER, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 16, 1827, in Schenectady, N. Y. He served as a captain of cavalry and also lieutenant-colonel and colonel of New York volunteers during the rebellion. In 1865 he was appointed one of the judges of the court of claims in Washington.

NOTT, EDWARD, governor, was born in 1657. He was governor of Virginia from 1705 until his death. He died Aug. 23, 1706, in Williamsburg, Va.

NOTT, ELIPHALET, clergyman, college president, author, was born June 25, 1773, in Ashford, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of note; and president of Union college in 1804-66, being president for nearly sixty years. As a pulpit orator he will retain his celebrity by his sermon on the death of Alexander Hamilton. He was the author of Counsels to Young Men; and Lectures on Temperance. He died Jan. 29, 1866, in Schenectady, N. Y.

NOTT, JOSIAH CLARK, physician, author, was born March 24, 1804, in Columbia, S. C. He was a physician of Mobile, who wrote The Physical History of the Jewish Race, and was co-author with Gliddon of the once famous Types of Mankind; and of Indigenous Races of the Earth. He died March 31, 1873, in Mobile, Ala.

NOTT, SAMUEL, clergyman, educator, was born Jan. 23, 1754, in Saybrook, Conn. In 1781 he became pastor of the congregational church in Franklin, Conn., where he continued until his death, a period of seventy-one years. He died May 26, 1852, in Franklin, Conn.

NOTT, SAMUEL, missionary, author, was born Sept. 11, 1788, in Franklin, Conn. He was pastor successively of churches in Galway, N. Y., and Wareham, Mass., and established at the latter place in 1849 a private academy, which he conducted successfully for seventeen years. His publications include Sixteen Years' Preaching and Procedure at Wareham; and Slavery and the Remedy. He died June 1, 1869, in Hartford, Conn.

NOURSE, AMOS, physician, educator, United States senator, was born Dec. 17, 1794, in Bolton, Mass. He was a medical lecturer at Bowdoin college from 1846 to 1854; and medical professor since 1854. He was also postmaster of Hallowell, Maine; and collector of customs at Bath. He was a senator in congress from Maine from January to March in 1857. He died April 17, 1877, in Bath, Maine.

NOURSE, JAMES DUNCAN, journalist, author, was born Sept. 26, 1817, in Bardstow, Ky. He was a journalist of St. Louis, and the author of The Forest Knight, a novel; Leavenworth, a story of the Mississippi; and God in History. He died June 1, 1854, in St. Louis, Mo.

NOURSE, JOSEPH, soldier, public official, was born July 16, 1754, in England. He entered the revolutionary army in 1776, as secretary to General Charles Lee; was clerk and auditor of the board of war from 1777 until appointed assistant auditor-general in 1781; and was register of the United States treasury from 1789 to 1829. He was a vice-president of the American Bible society. He died Sept. 1, 1841, in Georgetown, D. C.

NOURSE, JOSEPH EVERETT, educator, author, was born April 17, 1819, in Washington, D. C. He was a professor in the naval academy in 1850-81; and the author of Astronomical and Meteorological Observations; and American Explorations in the Ice Zones.

NOVELL, WINSLOW A., journalist, manufacturer, public official, was born Jan. 31, 1840, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was an alderman of Milwaukee, Wis., in 1872; commissioner of public works in 1873-76; and postmaster of Milwaukee during 1889-93. For many years he has been chief clerk of the assembly of the Wisconsin state legislature.

NOVY, FREDERICK GEORGE, educator, author, was born Dec. 9, 1864, in Chicago, Ill. He fills the chair of hygiene and physiological chemistry in the university of Michigan. He is the author of works on bacteriology, physiological chemistry, and has contributed valuable papers to American and foreign journals.

NOWLIN, SAMUEL HENRY, soldier, journalist, public official, was born April 11, 1844, in Stewartsville, Va. At the age of seventeen he entered the confederate army, and served through the entire war. For three terms he was a mayor of Salem, Va., in which city he conducted a drug business for ten years. In 1877 he moved to Arkansas; was commissioner in charge of state exhibits made by Arkansas at the Louisville exposition of 1883; was general manager of the State exposition at Little Rock in 1887; and during 1884-88 he was state statistician for the United States department of agriculture. He was the founder of the American Horticultural society in 1879-80; and during 1894-98 was president of the Arkansas State Horticultural society. In 1878-82 he edited Spirit of Arkansas; edited the Rural Southwest in 1882-85; edited the Arkansas Farmer in 1889-94; and since 1894 has been engaged in encyclopedic work.

NOYES, ARTHUR AMES, educator, author, was born in 1865 in Massachusetts. He is a professor of chemistry in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who has published a treatise on Qualitative Chemical Analysis.

NOYES, CHARLES HENRY, lawyer, author, poet, was born in 1849 in Michigan. He is a lawyer and poet of Warren, Pa., who has published Studies in Verse.

NOYES, CROSBY STUART, journalist, was born Feb. 16, 1825, in Minot, Maine. In 1867 he became editor-in-chief of the Washington Star, which position he still fills.

NOYES, EDWARD FOLLENSBEE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Oct. 3, 1832, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1861 he entered the union army as major of the thirty-ninth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry; and was subsequently brevetted a brigadier-general. In 1867 he was elected probate judge of Hamilton county, Ohio, for a term of three years. In 1871 he was elected governor of Ohio. In 1877 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to France. He died Sept. 4, 1890, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

NOYES, GEORGE RAPALL, clergyman, author, was born March 6, 1798, in Newburyport, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman, eminent as a biblical scholar, and professor of Hebrew in Harvard university since 1840. He published translations with notes of the Psalms, Job, Ecclesiastes, Canticles, the Prophets, and Proverbs; and a translation of the New Testament. He died June 3, 1868, in Cambridge, Mass.

NOYES, HENRY DRURY, ophthalmologist, author, was born in 1832 in New York. He is an ophthalmologist of New York city; and the author of Treatise on Diseases of the Eye; and Text Book on Diseases of the Eye.

NOYES, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in 1608, in England. He was a puritan clergyman of Newbury, Mass., pastor of the church there in 1635-56, and the author of The Temple Measured; and Moses and Aaron, or the Rights of Church and State. He died Oct. 22, 1656, in Newbury, Mass.

NOYES, JAMES OSCAR, physician, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1829, in Niles, N. Y. He was a physician and journalist of New Orleans, and the author of Roumania; and The Gypsies: their History, Origin, and Manner of Life. He died Sept. 11, 1872, in New Orleans, La.

NOYES, JOHN, congressman, was born in 1763. He was elected a representative in congress from Vermont from 1815 to 1817. He died in 1841.

NOYES, JOHN HUMPHREY, author, was born Sept. 6, 1811, in Brattleborough, Vt. He was a noted religionist who founded the Oneida community, and other associations of socialists. He was the author of The Second Coming of Christ; Salvation from Sin the End of Christian Faith; History of American Socialisms; and House Talks. He died April 13, 1886, in Niagara Falls, Canada.

NOYES, JOSEPH C., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1798, in Portland, Maine. He was a member of the state legislature in 1833; and a representative in congress from Maine from 1837 to 1839. He was collector of the Passamaquoddy district from 1841 to 1843; and was subsequently treasurer of a Portland savings bank. He died July 21, 1868, in Portland, Maine.

NOYES, STEPHEN BUTTERICK, librarian, was born Aug. 28, 1833, in Brookfield, Mass. In 1857 he was in charge of the Athenaeum library, out of which grew the Mercantile library, and subsequently the Brooklyn library. He was congressional librarian in Washington in 1866-68, but in the next year returned to his post at the Brooklyn library, where he labored for ten years in the preparation of its catalogue. He died March 8, 1885, in Deland, Fla.

NOYES, WILLIAM ALBERT, educator, author, was born Nov. 6, 1857, in Independence, Iowa. He has filled the chair of chemistry in the university of Tennessee, and since 1896 in the Rose Polytechnic institute of Terre Haute, Ind. He is the author of a work entitled Qualitative Analysis, and another entitled Organic Chemistry for the Laboratory.

NUCKOLLS, STEPHEN F., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 16, 1825, in Grayson county, Va. He was one of the founders of Nebraska City; and was a member of the legislature in 1859. In 1860 he went to Colorado territory, and engaged in mining. From 1864 to 1867 he resided in New York city. He settled in Cheyenne, Wyoming territory, in 1867; and upon the organization of Wyoming territory in 1869 he was elected a delegate to the forty-first congress.

NUCKOLLS, WILLIAM C., lawyer, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1827 to 1833.

NUGEN, ROBERT H., congressman, was born in 1809, in Wasington county, Pa. In 1860 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-seventh congress.

NUNN, DAVID A., state senator, congressman, was born July 26, 1832, in Haywood county, Tenn. In 1863 he was elected to the Tennessee state senate; in 1865 to the state house of representatives; and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the fortieth and forty-third congresses.

NUNNALLY, GUSTAVUS ALONZO, college president, was born March 24, 1811, in Walton county, Ga. From 1890-93 he was president of Mercer university.

NUTE, ALONZO, soldier, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1826, in Milton, N. H. In 1861 he entered the union army in the sixth New Hampshire volunteers and served until incapacitated for duty on the staffs of Generals Griffin and Rush Hawkins. He was elected a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives in 1866; and of the state senate for 1867-68. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

NUTT, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 5, 1836, in Topsham, Vt. During the civil war he served with distinction and was rapidly promoted until he was brevetted colonel of volunteers. During 1871-72 he served two terms in the general court of Massachusetts. He was trial justice of Natick, Mass., for six years; and is now a successful lawyer of that city. He has filled all the important offices in his city and county in the gift of the people.

NUTTALL, THOMAS, ornithologist, author, was born in 1786 in England. He was a noted ornithologist and botanist of English birth, whose life was mainly spent in the United States, but who returned to England in 1842. He was the author of The Genera of North American Plants; Travels in Arkansas in 1819; The North American Sylva; Manual of the Ornithology of the United States and Canada. He died in 1859.

NUTTING, NEWTON W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 22, 1840, in Oswego county, N. Y. He was school commissioner for four years; was district attorney of Oswego county from 1869 to 1872; and was county judge from January, 1878, to March, 1883. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress; and was elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

NYE, EDGAR WILSON, journalist, author, was born Aug. 25, 1850, in Shirley, Maine. He was the author of Bill Nye and the Boomerang; Forty Liars, and Other Lies; Baled Hay; Bill Nye's Blossom Rock; Remarks; Bill Nye's Thinks; The Cadi, a comedy; Comic History of the United States; A Guest at the Ludlow, and Other Stories; and Comic History of England. He died in 1896.

NYE, JAMES WARREN, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 10, 1814, in De Ruyter, N. Y. In 1861 he was appointed governor of Nevada territory, in which position he continued until the adoption of the state constitution, when he was chosen a senator in congress from the new state for the term commencing in 1865 and ending in 1867. In 1867 he was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1873. He died Dec. 25, 1876, in White Plains, N. Y.

NYE, MORTIMER, lawyer, lieutenant-governor, was born Nov. 12, 1833, in Wadsworth, Ohio. He has gained prominence as an astute lawyer in La Porte, Ind., of which city he was mayor for four terms. In 1884 he was presidential elector; and four years ending January, 1897, he served with distinction as lieutenant-governor of Indiana.

NYGREN, JOHN L., mechanic, was born Dec. 20, 1863, in Sweden. He is a successful mechanic of Tacoma, Wash.; and the inventor of various improvements in mechanics.

NYSTROM, JOHN WILLIAM, civil engineer, author. He was an engineer in the United States navy, and the author of Treatise on Parabolic Construction of Ships; Technological Education; The Force of Falling Bodies; Treatise on the Elements of Mechanics; New Treatise on Steam Engineering; Pocket Book of Mechanics and Engineering; Principles of Dynamics; and Treatise on Screw Propellers. He died in 1885.

OADAMS, T. S., clergyman, poet. He fills a pastorate in the congregational church of Maquoketa, Iowa; and is the author of a number of poems, some of which have been set to music.

OAKES, JAMES, soldier, was born April 4, 1826, near Limestoneville, Pa. He was brevetted brigadier-general United States army in 1865, and commissioned colonel in 1866; and in 1879 was retired from active service.

OAKES, THOMAS FLETCHER, railroad president, was born July 16, 1843, in Boston, Mass. In 1893 he became president of the Northern Pacific railroad.

OAKES, URIAN, clergyman, college president, poet, was born in 1631 in England. He was a congregational clergyman, pastor of the church in Cambridge, and president of Harvard college in 1675-81. He is chiefly remembered for his Elegy upon the Death of Thomas Shepard, a notable poem in six-lined stanzas; but his sermons, in point of style, are the best which were written in America during the colonial period. He died July 25, 1681, in Cambridge, Mass.

OAKEY, ALEXANDER F., architect, author, was born in 1850 in New York. He is an architect of Buffalo, and the author of Building a Home; Home Grounds; and The Art of Life and the Life of Art.

OAKEY, EMILY SULLIVAN, educator, author, poet, was born Oct. 8, 1829, in Albany, N. Y. She was an educator of Albany, and the author of Dialogues and Conversations; and At the Foot of Parnassus, a collection of poems. She died May 11, 1883, in Albany, N. Y.

OAKLEY, HENRY AUGUSTUS, financier, author, was born Sept. 20, 1827, in New York city. In 1851 he became secretary of the Howard fire insurance company, of which he was subsequently chosen vice-president, and finally president, of New York city. He has been a frequent contributor to the literary press, and is the author of A Christmas Reverie, and Other Sketches; Outline of a Course of English Reading; Historical Sketch of the Howard Insurance Company; and Addresses as President of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

OAKLEY, THOMAS JACKSON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1783, in Dutchess county, N. Y. In 1813 he was elected a representative in congress from New York, where he continued until 1815. He was elected a member of the assembly; was appointed attorney-general of the state of New York in 1819; and in 1820 again served in the assembly. In 1827 he was again elected to congress. In 1828, when the superior court of New York city was organized, he was appointed one of its judges; and on the reorganization of the court under the constitution of 1846, was elected the chief justice, and continued in that position until his death. He died May 11, 1857, in New York city.

OAKMAN, WALTER GEORGE, railroad president, was born May 10, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was president of the Richmond and Danville Railroad company; and of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad company.

OATES, ALICE, actress, singer, was born Sept. 22, 1849, in Nashville, Tenn. She has attained a national reputation as a noted actress and vocalist. She died Jan. 10, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

OATES, JAMES WYATT, lawyer, was born in January, 1850, in Alabama. He received his education in the Emory and Henry college, Va.; and is now a leading attorney of California at Santa Rosa. During 1876-77 he was major in the Alabama state troops. In 1879 he moved to California; and during 1885-90 was special United States attorney for California in charge of timber deprecation suits involving nearly three million dollars. In 1890 he was the democratic nominee for superior judge of Sonoma county.

OATES, WILLIAM C., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 30, 1835, in Bullock county, Ala. He was a representative in the Alabama state legislature from 1870 to 1872; and was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1875. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. In 1894 he was elected governor of Alabama; and declined a second term. He now practices law in Montgomery, Ala.

OBENCHAIN, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, college president, was born April 27, 1841, in Buchanan, Va. In 1883 he was chosen president of Ogden college of Bowling Green, Ky.

OBER, FREDERICK ALBION, author, was born Feb. 13, 1849, in Beverly, Mass. He is a writer of Beverly, Mass., well known as a traveler, and the author of Camps in the Caribbees; Young Folks' History of Mexico; The Silver City; Travels in Mexico; Mexican Resources and Guide to Mexico; Montezuma's Gold Mines; The Knockabout Club in the Antilles; The Knockabout Club in the Everglades; In the Wake of Columbus; and Josephine, Empress of the French.

OBERTHOLTZER, ELLIS PAXON, journalist, author, was born in 1868 in Pennsylvania. He is a Philadelphia journalist, and the author of The Referendum in America, a Discussion of Law-Making by Popular Vote.

OBERTHOLTZER, SARA LOUISA, reformer, poet, was born May 20, 1841, in Chester county, Pa. She is the author of several volumes of poetical works entitled Violet Lee; Come for Arbutus, Hope's Heart Bells; Daisies of Verse; Souvenir of Occasions; and other works; and has also contributed extensively to magazines and newspapers. She has been president of the Longport Agassiz Microscopical society; president of the Soldiers' Aid society; president of the World's and National Woman's Christian Temperance union; and superintendent of School Savings bank of Pennsylvania.

O'BLENESS, HAMILTON CREE, author, poet, was born June 30, 1846, in Washington county, Ohio. He is the author of a number of works on philosophy and metaphysics.

O'BRIEN, FITZ JAMES, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1828 in Ireland. He was a brilliant but erratic journalist of New York city, and the author of Poems and Stories; The Diamond Lens, and Other Stories. He died April 6, 1862, in Cumberland, Md.

O'BRIEN, FRANK P., journalist, was born Feb. 29, 1844, in Ireland. In 1887 he was president and general manager of the Birmingham Herald. He is director of the Southern Press association; and is owner of one of the finest theaters in the south, which bears his name.

O'BRIEN, JAMES, state senator, congressman, was born March 13, 1841, in Ireland. He settled in New York city; was elected an alderman in 1864; and re-elected in 1866; and was elected sheriff in 1867. He was elected state senator in 1871; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth congress.

O'BRIEN, JAMES WILLIAM, merchant, poet, was born July 13, 1846, in Quebec, Canada. For many years he was a commercial traveler, and has a varied and adventurous career. He has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press, and several of his poems have been incorporated into Poets of America and other standard works.

O'BRIEN, JEREMIAH, farmer, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1768, in Machias, Maine. He served six years in the Maine legislature; and was a representative in congress from Maine from 1823 to 1831. He died May 30, 1858, in Boston, Mass.

O'BRIEN, JOHN, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1841 in Ireland. He was a Roman catholic clergyman and educator, and professor of ecclesiastical history and sacred theology in Mount St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, Md., in 1877. He published, in 1879, A History of the Mass and its Ceremonies in the Eastern and Western Churches, which has since passed through fourteen editions. He died in 1879.

O'BRIEN, MARTIN H., lawyer, was born May 18, 1850, in Clinton county, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools; attended the Notre Dame academy of Indiana; and was admitted to practice law in New York in 1874. He has since attained prominence as an able lawyer of Plattsburg, N. Y.; and has an extensive practice in the state and federal courts.

He takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state, and is a prominent member of various fraternal orders.

O'BRIEN, THOMAS DILLON, lawyer, was born Feb. 14, 1859, in La Point, Wis. Since 1880 he has been actively engaged in the profession of law in St. Paul, Minn.; has been assistant city attorney of St. Paul, and county attorney or Ramsey county. He has been state president of the Catholic Total Abstinence societies of Minnesota; captain of the first battery artillery, Minnesota national guards; and a trustee of the state board of hospitals for insane.

O'BRIEN, WILLIAM J., lawyer, congressman, was born May 28, 1836, in Baltimore, Md. He was elected from Maryland to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

O'BRIEN, WILLIAM SHONEY, capitalist, was born in 1825 in Ireland. He was one of the four principal stockholders of the mine on the Comstock ledge in Nevada, called the Big Bonanza, which was discovered in 1874. He left a fortune of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. He died May 2, 1878, in San Rafael, Cal.

O'CALLAGHAN, EDMUND BAILEY, physician, journalist, author, was born Feb. 29, 1797, in Ireland. He was an historical writer of Albany, and subsequently of New York city, and the author of History of New Netherlands; and Jesuit Relations; Documentary History of New York. He edited many volumes of state and colonial records. He died May 27, 1880, in New York city.

OCHILTREE, THOMAS P., soldier, congressman, was born in 1837 in Texas. He was appointed United States marshal in his native state; and was for a time state commissioner of emigration, to visit Europe. He was elected a representative from Texas to the forty-eighth congress.

OCHILTREE, WILLIAM B., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1811 in North Carolina. In 1846 he was appointed the first district judge of Texas; in 1855-56 he was a representative in the legislature; and in 1861 was a member of the first confederate congress. He died in December, 1867, in Marshall, Texas.

OCHS, GEORGE WASHINGTON, journalist, was born Oct. 27, 1861, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1896 he became publisher and manager of the Chattanooga Daily Times. For three years he was president of the police commissioners. In 1893 he was elected mayor of his city and received the re-election two years later.

OCHTMAN, LEONARD, artist, was born Oct. 21, 1854, in Holland. He has attained a national reputation as a successful artist; and has erected a studio in Connecticut, where he spends his summers.

O'CONNELL, DANIEL J., poet. He is a writer of Owatonna, Minn.; and the author of a number of poems.

O'CONNELL, JEREMIAH JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1821, in Ireland. He is a Roman catholic priest of the Benedictine order in North Carolina; and the author of Catholicity in the Carolinas and Georgia; and Conferences on the Blessed Trinity.

O'CONNOR, JAMES, educator, college president, bishop, was born Sept. 10, 1823, in Ireland. He was made president of St. Michael's seminary of Glenwood in 1857. He was transferred to the seminary at Overbrook in 1863, where, while acting as director, he filled the chairs of philosophy, moral theology, and ecclesiastical history. He was nominated vicar-apostolic of Nebraska, and consecrated bishop of Dibona in partibus infidelium in 1876. He died May 27, 1890, in Omaha, Neb.

O'CONNOR, JOSEPH, journalist, poet, was born in 1841 in New York. He is a journalist of Rochester, N. Y., whose collected Poems appeared in 1895.

O'CONNOR, M. P., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1831, in Beaufort, S. C. He was a representative in the legislature of South Carolina from 1858 to 1865; and was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat. He died April 26, 1881.

O'CONNOR, THOMAS WILLIAM, educator, state senator, was born July 4, 1868, in White county, Ind. He is a successful educator; has filled numerous public offices of trust; and is now serving a term of four years as a member of the Indiana state senate.

O'CONNOR, WILLIAM DOUGLAS, author, was born Jan. 2, 1833, in Boston, Mass. He was a clerk in the civil service at Washington, and the author of Harrington, a novel; The Good Gray Poet, a defence of Walt Whitman; The Ghost; Three Tales; and Hamlet's Note Book. He died May 9, 1889, in Washington, D. C.

O'CONOR, CHARLES, lawyer, was born Jan. 22, 1804, in New York city. In 1848 he was a candidate for lieutenant-governor of New York; and after the civil war was senior counsel for Jefferson Davis, when the latter was indicted for treason. He was undoubtedly the greatest lawyer of his time. He died May 12, 1884, in Nantucket, R. I.

O'CONOR, JOHN FRANCIS XAVIER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 1, 1852, in New York city. He is a Roman catholic clergyman of the Society of Jesus; a professor in Boston college; and the author of Something Real; Lyric and Dramatic Poetry; and Reading and the Mind.

O'CONNOR, THOMAS, journalist, author, was born Sept. 1, 1770, in Ireland. He established in 1812 the Shamrock, and the Globe, founded in 1815 in New York city. He also published several pamphlets on Irish or Roman catholic questions, and volumes entitled Selections from Several Literary Works. He died Feb. 9, 1855, in New York city.

ODELL, JACOB, soldier, was born July 25, 1756, in Greenburg, N. Y. He was a brigadier-general in the continental army during the war of the revolution, and afterward a member of the New York state assembly, representing Westchester county in 1812-13; and a member of the presidential electoral college in 1820 and 1828. He died in 1846, in Yonkers, N. Y.

ODELL, BENJAMIN B., business man, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1854, in Newburg, N. Y. He was elected from New York to the fifty-fourth, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

O'DELL, JOSEPH C., farmer, clergyman, jurist, state legislator, was born Nov. 10, 1850, in Reynolds county, Mo. He is a successful farmer and a noted clergyman of Ruble, Mo. He has served two terms as county judge; and has been a member of the Missouri state legislature.

ODELL, MOSES FOWLER, congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1818, in Tarrytown, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress. In 1865 he was appointed naval agent for the port of New York. He died June 13, 1866, in New York city.

ODELL, N. HOLMES, banker, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1828, near Tarrytown, N. Y. He was a member of the New York assembly during two successive sessions, closing in 1861. He was founder of the First National bank at Tarrytown, and was its first cashier, which office he resigned in 1864. He was elected county treasurer in 1866, and re-elected in 1869 and 1872. In 1874 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

ODENHEIMER, WILLIAM HENRY, bishop, author, was born Aug. 11, 1817, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the third protestant episcopal bishop of New Jersey in 1859-74, becoming bishop of Northern New Jersey in the latter year. He was the author of Origin of the Prayer Book; Essay on Canon Law; The Sacred Scriptures the Imperial Record of the Holy Trinity; Jerusalem and Its Vicinity; The Devout Churchman's Companion; The True Catholic no Romanist; Thoughts on Immersion; Bishop White's Opinions; and Sermons, with Memoirs. He died Aug. 14, 1879, in Burlington, N. J.

ODIN, JOHN MARY, archbishop, was born Feb. 25, 1801, in France. In 1822 he was sent on a mission to Missouri; taught in Missouri and Texas; and was an energetic promoter of emigration. He became an archbishop in Texas of the Roman catholic church. He died May 25, 1870, in France.

ODIORNE, THOMAS, manufacturer, author, was born April 26, 1769, in Exeter, N. H. He was an iron manufacturer of Malden, Mass., and the author of The Progress of Refinement, a Poem; and Fame and Miscellanies. He died May 18, 1851, in Malden, Mass.

O'DONNELL, DANIEL KANE, journalist, author, was born in 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia journalist who published The Song of Iron and the Song of Slaves, with Other Poems. He died Sept. 8, 1871, in Philadelphia, Pa.

O'DONNELL, JAMES, soldier, journalist, congressman, was born March 25, 1840, in Norwalk, Conn. In 1861 he enlisted in the first Michigan infantry, and served out his time, participating in the first battle of Bull Run. He was recorder of the city of Jackson, Mich., in 1863-66. He established the Jackson Daily Citizen in 1865; and continued its owner and editor. He was presidential elector in 1872, and was designated by the state electoral college as messenger to convey the vote of Michigan to Washington. He was elected mayor of Jackson in 1876, and in 1884 he was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican.

O'DONNELL, JESSIE FREMONT, author, was born in New York. She is a writer of Lowville, N. Y., and the author of Heart Lyrics; and Horseback Sketches.

O'FERRALL, CHARLES TRIPLETT, lawyer, legislator, congressman, governor, was born Oct. 21, 1840, near Brucetown, Va. He received his education in the common schools, and Washington college, now known as the Washington and Lee university. In 1861 he enlisted in the cavalry service of the confederate state as a private; passed through all the grades from sergeant to colonel, and at the surrender of Lee was in command of all the confederate cavalry in the Shenandoah valley, and was eight times wounded. He located at Harrisonburgh, where he commenced the practice of his profession. He was a member of the general assembly of Virginia in 1871-73; judge of the county court of Rockingham county in 1874-80; and democratic state canvasser in 1880-83. In 1882 he was the democratic nominee for congress in the seventh district; and was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses, and was re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

OFFICIER, MORRIS, missionary, author, was born July 21, 1823, in Holmes county, Ohio. He was a lutheran missionary, and the author of Plea for a Lutheran Mission in Africa; Western Africa a Mission Field; and African Bible Pictures. He died Nov. 1, 1874, in Topeka, Kan.

OGDEN, AARON, soldier, governor, United States senator, was born Dec. 3, 1756, in Elizabethtown, N. J. He was a senator in congress from 1801 to 1803; and was governor of New Jersey in 1812. At the time of his death he was president-general of the Society of Cincinnati. He died April 19, 1830, in Jersey City, N. J.

OGDEN, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born about 1707, in Newark, N. J. He went to England in 1783 as agent for the New Jersey loyalists in prosecuting their claims for compensation, and secured an allowance for his own estates, which were valued at $100,000. He died in June, 1800, in Whitestone, N. J.

OGDEN, DAVID A., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Morristown, N. J. He was a member of the assembly in 1814 and 1815; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1817 to 1819. He died June 9, 1829, in Montreal, Canada.

OGDEN, ELIAS BAILEY DAYTON, lawyer, jurist, was born May 22, 1799, in Elizabethtown, N. J. In 1848 he became associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey. He died Feb. 24, 1865, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

OGDEN, HENRY W., soldier, agriculturist, congressman, was born Oct. 21, 1842, in Abingdon, Va. He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1879, and of the state house of representatives in 1880; and re-elected in 1884, and was speaker of the house from 1884 to 1888. He was elected as a democrat from Louisiana to the fifty-third congress, to fill a vacancy; and was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

OGDEN, JOHN COSENS, clergyman, author, was born about 1740, in New Jersey. He was a successful clergyman of New England; and the author of A History of the Moravians; and several religious works. He died in 1800 in Chestertown, Md.

OGDEN, MATTHIAS, soldier, was born Oct. 22, 1754, in Elizabethtown, N. J. At the close of the war he received the brevet of brigadier-general, to date from Sept. 20, 1783. He was a member of the legislative council in 1785, and in 1789 a presidential elector. He died March 31, 1791, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

OGDEN, OCTAVIUS NASH, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 14, 1852, in New Orleans, La. His father was Abner Nash

Ogden, one of the justices of the supreme court of Louisiana, and a grandson of Abner Nash, the first governor of North Carolina. He received his early education in New Orleans, and finished his studies at the university of Virginia. He was admitted to the bar in 1873, and has attained success in his profession at New Orleans. He is the author of Hali-mah, an Indian Legend; Dominic You; and other works, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

OGDEN, ROBERT, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1716, in Elizabethtown, N. J. He was a delegate from New Jersey to the colonial congress, which met in New York in 1765. He died Jan. 1, 1787, in Sparta, N. J.

OGDEN, ROBERT NASH, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 5, 1839, in Baton Rouge, La. He served with distinction in the confederate army. For a while he was speaker of the house of representatives, and subsequently became one of the judges of the court of appeals of New Orleans. He is the author of a novel entitled Who Did It?

OGDEN, WESLEY, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1818, in Brockport, N. Y. He settled in San Antonio, Texas. During 1865-67 he held the office of district attorney, and then was district judge until 1870, when he became a judge of the state supreme court.

OGIER, ISAAC S. K., lawyer, jurist, was born in South Carolina. He was an early emigrant to California, and resided at Los Angeles. In 1858 he was appointed judge of the United States court for the southern district of California.

OGILBY, JOHN DAVID, clergyman educator, author, was born Dec. 30, 1810, in Ireland. He was ordained both deacon and priest by Bishop Onderdonk, of New York, in 1838. Three years later he was elected professor of ecclesiastical history in the General Theological seminary. His chief publications were: An Outline of the Argument Against the Validity of Lay Baptism; and The Catholic Church in England and America. He died Feb. 2, 1851, in Paris, France.

OGILVIE, CLINTON, artist, was born Dec. 28, 1838, in New York city. In 1864 he was elected an associate member of the National Academy of design, and he has since exhibited there The Valley of Schwytz, Switzerland; Lake Como, near Bellagio; Among the Adirondacks; The Sunny Summer-Time; Summer Afternoon in the Adirondacks; and The Mountain Brook.

OGLE, ALEXANDER, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1765 in Maryland. In 1806 he was elected to the state legislature, and frequently re-elected. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1817 to 1819, and subsequently served several years in the two houses of the state legislature. He was a general of militia, and for nine years was prothonotary of his county. He died Oct. 14, 1852, in Pennsylvania.

OGLE, ANDREW J., congressman, was born in 1822, in Somerset, Pa. He was prothonotary of his county when twenty-one years of age. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1849 to 1851. He was appointed charge d'affaires to Denmark in 1852. He died about 1853.

OGLE, BENJAMIN, state legislator, governor, was born Feb. 7, 1746, in Annapolis, Md. He was a member of the council of Maryland before the revolution, and was governor from 1798 to 1801. He died July 6, 1809, in Annapolis, Md.

OGLE, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1798 in Somerset, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1837 to 1841. He died May 10, 1841.

OGLE, SAMUEL, governor, was born in England. He was governor of Maryland during 1737-42, and again in 1747.

OGLESBY, RICHARD JAMES, soldier, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born July 25, 1824, in Oldham county, Ky. He was elected to the Illinois state senate in 1860, and resigned to enter the volunteer service in 1861. At the commencement of the rebellion he was chosen colonel; afterward appointed brigadier-general; and in 1863 a major-general. He resigned in 1864, and was elected governor of Illinois. He was again elected governor in 1872, and a few months thereafter was elected to the United States senate for the term ending in 1879. In 1884 he was again elected governor of Illinois for a term of four years.

O'GORMAN, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born April 8, 1847, in Boston, Mass. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of St. Paul, Minn., and attended the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. He served two years as sheriff of Ramsey county, Minn., and for six years was judge of probate. He is one of the leading lawyers of the west at St. Paul, Minn.

O'HARA, JAMES E., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1844, in New York city. He was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

O'HARA, THEODORE, soldier, author, was born Feb. 11, 1820, in Danville, Ky. He was an officer in the United States army during the Mexican war, and subsequently in the confederate army. He is remembered for his poem, The Bivouac of the Dead, stanzas from which have been inscribed on tablets in several of the national cemeteries. He died June 6, 1867, near Guerrytown, Ala.

O'HARA, WARREN JOSEPH, physician, was born Sept. 13, 1867, in Philadelphia, Pa. He attended the public schools of Philadelphia, Mount Pleasant high school, the International Commercial college of Saginaw, Mich., and subsequently graduated in medicine from the Rush Medical college of Chicago. He is physician to the Mercy hospital of Big Rapids, Mich., and is a member of the leading medical bodies. His contributions to medical journals are considered of great value.

O'HARA, WILLIAM, Roman catholic bishop, was born about 1816 in Ireland. In 1868 the diocese of Scranton was formed out of that of Philadelphia, and he was appointed its first bishop.

O'HARNETT, MORRISON J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born June 27, 1828, in Carlyle, Ill. He served as a soldier in the Mexican war, and during the civil war was captain of company D, fifteenth Illinois cavalry. He has been judge of his county, and has served as a member of the Illinois state legislature.

OHLLIGER, LEWIS P., business man, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1843, in Bavaria. He was appointed a trustee of the Wooster and Lodi railway, of which he is now president. He was elected from Ohio to the fifty-second congress as a democrat to fill a vacancy.

O'KEEFE, JOHN FRANCIS, educator, lawyer, was born Dec. 28, 1860, in Wilson, N. Y. He attended the Wilson academy and the Mount Union college, Ohio, and for several years taught school. He was admitted to practice in the supreme court of Michigan and the federal courts of the United States. He makes a specialty of corporation law, and is the general counsel for the Saginaw and Bay City Rapid Transit Railway company.

OLCOTT, SIMEON, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Oct. 1, 1735, in Connecticut. In 1784 he was appointed chief justice of the court of common pleas of New Hampshire; in 1790 a judge of the superior court; chief judge of the same court in 1795; and was a senator in congress from New Hampshire from 1801 to 1805. He died Feb. 22, 1815, in Charlestown, S. C.

OLDEN, CHARLES SMITH, merchant, manufacturer, state senator, governor, was born Feb. 19, 1799, in Princeton, N. J. Between the years 1844 and 1850 he was twice elected to the state senate, and in 1859 was elected governor of New Jersey. He died April 7, 1876, in Princeton, N. J.

OLDHAM, HERBERT, musician, composer, was born March 1, 1853, in Ireland. He is the author of a number of compositions for the voice, pianoforte and the organ.

OLDHAM, WILLIAMSON S., lawyer, orator, author, was born June 19, 1813, in Franklin county, Tenn. This brilliant orator and author was a member of the Texas-Arkansas house of representatives in 1841, and was elected speaker of that body. During 1844-48 he was judge of the supreme court of Arkansas. He was a member of the secession convention of Texas, and a senator from that state in the confederate states senate during 1861-65. He is the author of a Digest of the Laws of Texas, published in 1858.

OLDS, EDSON B., state senator, congressman, was born in Vermont. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1849 to 1855. He was elected a member of the assembly of Ohio, having previously served six years in the state legislature, and been speaker of the senate. He died Jan. 24, 1869, in Lancaster, Ohio.

OLDS, JOSEPH, lawyer, jurist, was born April 15, 1832, in Circleville, Ohio. In 1868 he was elected judge of the judicial district of Ohio, resigning in 1873.

OLIN, ABRAHAM B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1808 in Shaftsbury, Vt. He was for three years recorder of the city of Troy, N. Y. He was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth congress from New York. He was re-elected to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses; and in 1863 was appointed a judge of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. He died July 7, 1879, in Washington, D. C.

OLIN, GIDEON, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born about 1750 in Rhode Island. He was a member of the Vermont state legislature and speaker of the house; a judge of the county court, and a representative in congress from 1803 to 1807. He died Aug. 6, 1822, in Shaftsbury, Vt.

OLIN, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1767 in Rhode Island. He was elected to the general assembly of Rhode Island in 1799, and, excepting four years, continued to serve in that capacity until 1825. He was an associate judge of the Addison county court from 1801 to 1806; and was chief judge of said court in 1807, and from 1810 to 1824. He was chosen a representative in congress to fill a vacancy in 1824, and was also, at one time, lieutenant-governor of the state. He died in 1837 in Salisbury, Vt.

OLIN, MRS. JULIA MATILDA (LYNCH), author, was born Dec. 14, 1814, in New York city. She was the author of Words of the Wise; Four Days in July; Curious and Useful Questions on the Bible; and The Perfect Light. She died May 1, 1879, in New York city.

OLIN, STEPHEN, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 2, 1797, in Leicester, Vt. He was a Methodist clergyman and educator; president of Wesleyan university in 1842, and the author of Travels in Egypt, Arabia Petraea, and the Holy Land; Greece and the Golden Horn; College Life, Its Theory and Practice; and Youthful Piety. He died Aug. 16, 1851, in Middletown, Conn.

OLIPHANT, E. P., lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He was appointed from that state an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Washington, residing at Whatcomb.

OLIPHANT, LAWRENCE, author, was born in 1829 in Ceylon. He is the author of a number of works, and, with his wife, wrote the peculiar and almost incomprehensible book, entitled Sympneumata. He died Dec. 23, 1888, in England.

OLIVER, ADDISON, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1833 in Washington county, Pa. He settled in western Iowa in 1857; was elected to the Iowa house of representatives in 1863; and to the Iowa senate in 1865. He was elected judge of the fourth judicial circuit in 1868, and twice re-elected to the same office, which he continued to hold until elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

OLIVER, ALICE MAY, educator, poet, was born in Lakeland, Minn. She is known as the Prairie Poet, and resides in Luverne, Minn. She is a successful school teacher and the author of a volume of poems entitled Fragments of Thought.

OLIVER, ANDREW, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Nov. 13, 1731, in Boston, Mass. He represented Salem in the general court in 1766; and before the revolution was judge of the Essex county court of common pleas. He published an Essay on Comets, in which he maintained that they were habitable worlds. He died in December, 1799, in Salem, Mass.

OLIVER, ANDREW, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Springfield, N. Y. He was appointed to succeed his father as first judge of the court of common pleas of New York in 1843, which position he held until the adoption of the new state constitution. In 1846 he was elected judge of the Surrogate and county courts. In 1852 he was elected a representative to the thirty-third congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-fourth congress.

OLIVER, BENJAMIN LYNDE, lawyer, author, was born in 1788, in Marblehead, Mass. He was a lawyer of Boston, and the author of Hints on the Pursuit of Happiness; Rights of an American Citizen; Law Summary; Practical Conveyancing; Forms of Practice; and Forms of Chancery. He died in 1843.

OLIVER, DAVID DYKINS, surveyor, lumberman, was born Aug. 8, 1814, in Green county, N. Y. He taught school and continued his studies at the same time. He subsequently taught in Pontiac, Mich., and became a land surveyor. In 1844 he began a mercantile career, and five years later purchased the first saw mill erected in Alpena county. For ten years he was on the board of supervisors, and in 1857 was elected county surveyor, which position he filled for twelve years. He was also judge of probate. He is the author of Water, Its Formation and Effect Geologically Considered; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

OLIVER, FITCH EDWARD, physician, journalist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1819, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1860 he assumed the editorship of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal in Massachusetts. He was one of the translators of Chomel's Treatise on General Pathology, and published the Lynde Diaries.

OLIVER, MRS. GRACE ATKINSON (LITTLE) (ELLIS), littérateur, author, poet, was born Sept. 24, 1844, in Boston, Mass. She is a littérateur of Salem, Mass., and the author of Lives of Mrs. Barbauld, Maria Edgeworth, Theodore Parker, Dean

Stanley. She has edited Tales of Maria Edgeworth; Essays of Mrs. Barbauld; and Tales and Poems of Ann and Jane Taylor.

OLIVER, JAMES, inventor, was born Aug. 28, 1823, in Scotland. He moved to South Bend in 1855 and began to manufacture plows. He met with some losses, much hard work, and many discouragements, but finally invented the chilled plow, which has since made his fortune. The little old shop of 1855 has now been succeeded by a plant owned by the Oliver Chilled Plow Works, covering fifty-eight acres, twenty-five of them under roof, and the Oliver chilled plows are sold in every part of the world.

OLIVER, JAMES EDWARD, educator, author, mathematician, was born July 27, 1829, in Portland, Maine. In 1871 he became assistant professor of mathematics at Cornell, and two years later he was given full possession of the chair. He has published A Treatise on Trigonometry.

OLIVER, MRS. MARTHA (CAPPS), author, poet, was born in 1845 in Illinois. She is a writer of Jacksonville, Ill. Her writings in poetry for juvenile readers comprise, The Story of Columbus; In Slavery Days; and The Far West.

OLIVER, MORDECAI, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 22, 1819, in Anderson county, Ky. He was elected circuit attorney for the fifth judicial circuit of Missouri in 1848. In 1852 he was elected a member of the thirty-third congress, and re-elected to the thirty-fourth congress.

OLIVER, PAUL AMBROSE, soldier, manufacturer, inventor, was born July 18, 1830, on shipboard in the English channel. In 1870 he established a powder factory near Wilkesbarre, Pa., where he has since been engaged in the manufacture of explosives, using for that purpose machinery of his own invention. He has invented a bayonet-fastening and a screw-headed key.

OLIVER, PETER, lawyer, jurist, was born March 26, 1713, in Boston, Mass. He was made a justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts in 1756, and in 1771 became chief justice. He was also one of the mandamus councillors. He died Oct. 13, 1791, in England.

OLIVER, PETER, lawyer, author, was born in 1822 in Hanover, N. H. He was a lawyer of Boston whose Puritan Commonwealth, an historical review of the Puritan government of Massachusetts, presents a not altogether favorable picture of the period under discussion. He died in 1855 at sea.

OLIVER, ROBERT, soldier, was born in 1738 in Boston, Mass. For some time he acted as adjutant-general of the northern army, and excelled as a disciplinarian. In 1782 he received the brevet of colonel. He was one of the first settlers of Marietta, Ohio, in 1788, was chosen a representative in the territorial legislature in 1798, became a member of the council in 1799. He died in May, 1810, in Marietta, Ohio.

OLIVER, WILLIAM M., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in Springfield, N. Y. He was for a long time first judge of the court of common pleas; was a state senator and lieutenant-governor in 1830, and a representative from New York in the twenty-seventh congress.

OLLENDORP, CHRISTIAN GEORGE ANDREAS, missionary, author, was born March 8, 1721, in Saxony. He was a Moravian missionary; and the author of a work entitled History of the Missions of the Brethren on the Caribbean Islands, St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John. He died March 9, 1787.

OLMSTED, ALEXANDER FISHER, educator, author, was born Dec. 20, 1822, in Chapel Hill, N. C. He was a professor of chemistry in the university of North Carolina who published Elements of Chemistry. He died May 5, 1853, in New Haven, Conn.

OLMSTED, DENISON, educator, author, was born June 18, 1791, in East Hartford, Conn. He was a scientist who was professor of natural philosophy at Yale college in 1825, and the author of Letters on Astronomy; Compendium of Natural Philosophy; Students' commonplace Book; and Introduction to Natural Philosophy. He died May 13, 1859, in New Haven, Conn.

OLMSTED, EDWIN B., educator, clergyman, inventor, was born Aug. 20, 1826, in Sidney, N. Y. He received his education at the Franklin institute, New York. He has been superintendent of schools of Akron, Ohio, and several other places, north and south; has been pastor of Arcade, N. Y., and other baptist churches. He was the first inventor of paper bag machines, and also invented machines for making envelopes for wrapping and packing tobacco, starch and like articles; and for making various other kinds of boxes. He designed and superintended the construction of the dead letter office at Washington, D. C. He was city editor of the Daily National Intelligencer of Washington, D. C., until its suspension, when he became editor-in-chief of the Saturday Evening Visitor. During the war he became captain of company H, fourth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry, and was mustered out by reason of wounds received in the service.

OLMSTED, ELIZABETH MARTHA, journalist, poet, was born Dec. 31, 1825, in Caledonia, N. Y. For several years she taught school in Canandaigua, N. Y., and at the Ingham university. She has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the New York Independent, and the leading newspapers and magazines in America. During the civil war she wrote many spirited lyrics, among which are the well-known Our Boys Going to the War; The Clarion; and the Upas.

OLMSTED, ELMER BENTON, lawyer, financier, politician, was born Dec. 22, 1860, in Jersey Shore, Pa. He attended the Dickinson college, of Pennsylvania, from which institution he graduated in 1884. He then began the study of law at Williamsport, Pa., and soon afterward became managing clerk in one of the largest law offices in New York city. In 1889 he moved to St. Paul, Minn., where he has since been engaged in the practice of law. He has made a specialty of real estate, banking and commercial law and probate practice. He is considered authority on mortgage foreclosures and titles, and has an extensive clientage reaching into many of the states. He also represents several banks in making loans, examining titles, and foreclosing mortgages. He is a director in the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce, and in 1892 was a delegate to the national republican convention.

OLMSTED, FRANCIS ALLYN, physician, author, was born July 14, 1819, in Chapel Hill, N. C. He was a physician who published Incidents of a Whaling Voyage. He died July 19, 1844, in New Haven, Conn.

OLMSTED, FREDERICK LAW, landscape architect, author, was born April 26, 1822, in Hartford, Conn. He received a liberal education and studied under private tutors. He has attained prominence as a landscape architect; has been president of the board of park commissioners of New York city; and commissioner of Yosemite Valley. In 1850 he made a pedestrian tour through Great Britain and parts of continental Europe for the purpose of observing closely the agricultural and ornamental grounds of the various countries. He is the author of Walks and Talks of An American Farmer in England; A Journey Through Texas; A Journey in the Back Country; and other works. He has filled numerous public positions of trust: in 1861 was appointed a member of the commission of inquiry and advice in regard to the sanitary condition of the United States forces. He was active in the founding of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and of the American Museum of Natural History. In 1872 he was appointed president of the department of public parks in New York. Since 1886 he has been largely occupied in laying out an extensive system of parks and parkways for the city of Boston.

OLMSTEAD, JOHN WESLEY, journalist, clergyman, was born Nov. 13, 1836, in Saratoga county, N. Y. In 1846 he became editor of the Christian Reflector in Boston. On the union of this paper with The Watchman, in 1848, he took editorial control of the consolidated journals, and continued in that post until 1877. In 1878 he established The Watchtower, a baptist journal in New York, but subsequently returned to The Watchman, of which he is now editor-in-chief.

OLMSTED, MARLIN EDGAR, lawyer, legislator, railroad president, congressman, was born in Potter county, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and subsequently attended Coudersport academy. He is one of the leading lawyers of Harrisburg, Pa.; has been counsel of his city; president and general counsel for the Beach Railroad company; also president of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad company. He has been counsel for the Lehigh Valley Railroad company; the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company; Delaware and Hudson Canal company; Lehigh Coal and Navigation company; the Western Union Telegraph company, and many other corporations. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress, and served with distinction in that body.

OLNEY, CHARLES FAYETTE, educator, was born Aug. 27, 1831, in Hartford, Conn. He established a high school in Stafford, Conn.; for thirty years was engaged in educational work in New York city, and was one of the founders of the New York Teachers' association.

OLNEY, CYRUS, lawyer, jurist, was born in New York. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Oregon, and in 1853 was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for that district.

OLNEY, EDWARD, educator, author, was born July 24, 1827, in Moreau, N. Y. This eminent educator was the author of fourteen complete books of mathematics, from primary arithmetics to general geometry and calculus. He died Jan. 16, 1887; in Ann Arbor, Mich.

OLNEY, JESSE, educator, author, was born Oct. 12, 1798, in Tolland county, Conn. He was a noted educator of Connecticut; and the author of The National Preceptor; Geography and Atlas; and History of the United States. He died July 31, 1872, in Stratford, Conn.

OLNEY, RICHARD, lawyer, state legislator, secretary of state, was born Jan. 15, 1835, in Oxford, Mass. He served as a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in the year 1874; and was appointed attorney-general by President Cleveland, and entered upon his duties in 1893. He was appointed secretary of state June 8, 1895, to fill a vacancy, and took the oath of office June 10, 1895.

OLSON, JULIUS E., educator, author, was born Nov. 9, 1858, in Cambridge, Wis. He has been connected with his alma mater as instructor and professor of Scandinavian, and since 1884 has filled the chair of languages and literature. He is the author of Norwegian Grammar and Reader; and other works.

OLSON, MARTIN CONRAD, orator, was born Aug. 13, 1871, in Chicago, Ill. He received his education in the grammar schools of Chicago, and graduated from the Soper school of oratory. He has been secretary of the Luther League of Illinois, and is now general secretary of the Luther League of America; and also director of the Rock River Chautauqua assembly at Dixon, Ill.

OLSSSEN, WILLIAM WHITTINGHAM, educator, clergyman, author, was born May 11, 1827, in New York city. He is an episcopal clergyman and educator, and professor of mathematics in St. Stephen's college, Annandale, New York, from 1871. He is the author of Personality, Human and Divine; and Revelation, Universal and Special.

OLSSON, OLOF, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 31, 1841, in Sweden. He is a lutheran clergyman, president of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., since 1891, and the author of At the Cross; Greetings from Afar, a volume of travel; and The Christian Hope.

ONDERDONK, BENJAMIN TREADWELL, clergyman, theologian, bishop, was born July 15, 1791, in New York city. In 1809 he graduated from Columbia college; in 1813 became assistant pastor of Trinity parish in New York city; and became a favorite preacher. In 1820 he was elected professor of ecclesiastical history in the General Theological seminary of New York; and in 1830 was consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of the diocese of New York. He died April 30, 1861, in New York city.

ONDERDONK, HENRY, educator, author, was born June 11, 1804, in North Hempstead, N. Y. He was an educator of Long Island, principal of Union Hall academy in 1832-65, and the author of Queens County in Old Times; Annals of Hempstead, 1643-1832; and Long Island and New York in Olden Times. He died June 22, 1886, in Jamaica, N. Y.

ONDERDONK, HENRY USTICK, bishop, author, was born March 16, 1789, in New York city. He was the second protestant episcopal bishop of Pennsylvania, and the author of Episcopacy Tested by Scripture, republished as Episcopacy Examined and Re-Examined; Essay on Regeneration; Sermons and Charges; and Family Devotions. He died Dec. 6, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa.

O'NEAL, EDWARD ASBURY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born in Madison county, Ala. He entered the confederate army as a captain, in 1861, and rapidly rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1882 he was elected governor of Alabama; and was re-elected in 1884.

O'NEAL, WILLIAM WALKER, journalist, was born Oct. 17, 1873, in Maryville, Mo. He attended the State university of Missouri; became a reporter on the St. Joseph Daily News and the Kansas City Times; was editor of the Iowa Inter-State Herald; and is now the editor and owner of The Graphic of Firth, Neb.

O'NEALL, JOHN BELTON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 10, 1793, in Bush River, S. C. He was a South Carolina jurist, and the author of Digest of the Negro Law; Annals of Newberry District; and Bench and Bar of South Carolina. He died Sept. 27, 1863, in Newberry, S. C.

O'NEALL, JOHN H., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1838, near Newberry, S. C. He represented Daviess county in the Indiana state legislature in 1866; was appointed prosecuting attorney for the eleventh judicial circuit in 1873, and was elected to the same office in 1874, but resigned before his term was out. He has been repeatedly honored by election to the board of trustees of the public schools, and was elected to the fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

O'NEIL, JOSEPH H., state legislator, congressman, was born March 23, 1853, in Fall River, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1878-84; was a member of the board of directors for public institutions for five years, the last eighteen months being chairman of the board; and was city clerk of Boston in 1887 and 1888. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

O'NEILL, CHARLES, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 21, 1821, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1850-52 he was in the state legislature, and in 1853 in the state senate. He was again elected to the legislature in 1859, and in 1862 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress. He was elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican.

O'NEILL, EDWARD, banker, state legislator. He served four terms as a member of the Wisconsin state legislature; and introduced the bill which brought about the establishment of the State Reform school at Waukesha. He was president of the Merchants' Exchange bank of Milwaukee; and served that city four times as mayor.

O'NEILL, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 17, 1821, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1844 he moved to Ohio, and there practiced law in the supreme court. In 1855 he was elected prosecuting attorney for Muskingum county. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-eighth congress.

O'NEILL, JOHN J., manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born June 25, 1846, in St. Louis, Mo. He was in the government civil service during the civil war, and was afterward engaged in manufacturing pursuits. In 1872 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; and was re-elected in 1874 and 1876. He was elected to the municipal assembly of St. Louis in 1879, and re-elected in 1881. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

OPDALE, NELLIE MANN, educator, missionary, lecturer, was born May 17, 1860, in New Lisbon, Wis. She received her education in the public schools of Racine, and subsequently taught school in that city. She has held various positions in the Woman's Christian Temperance union; was state lecturer of the Wisconsin Woman's Suffrage association; addressed the state legislature during two different sessions, and is now an ordained minister of the universalist church.

OPDYKE, GEORGE, banker, public official, author, was born Dec. 7, 1805, in Kingwood, N. J. He was a banker of New York city, and mayor of that city in 1862-63. He was the author of Treatise on Political Economy; Report on the Currency; and Official Documents and Addresses. He died June 12, 1880, in New York city.

OPPER, FREDERICK BURR, artist, was born Jan. 2, 1857, in Madison, Ohio. In 1877 he became an artist on the staff of Frank Leslie's periodicals, and for three years filled the position of humorous and special artist; and since 1880 he has been engaged on the staff of Puck, New York's great humorous journal.

ORANGE, WILL J., journalist, poet, mine owner, politician, was born March 30, 1858, near Albion, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and graduated from Bayliss college. In 1886 he purchased The Rustler of Silver Cliff, Col.; and soon became prominent in political and mining circles. He was one of the organizers of the mining congress, and suggested the name of the Silver Republican Party. He has filled numerous public positions of honor, and in 1896 was elected regent of the university of Colorado for a term of six years. He has written extensively for the periodical press, and has attained prominence in the west as a humorous poet.

ORCUTT, CHARLES RUSSELL, hot-anist, and introducer of new seeds and plants, especially cacti. He is the editor and owner of the West American Scientist of San Diego, Cal., which was established in 1884.

ORD, EDWARD OTHO CRESAP, soldier, was born Oct. 18, 1818, in Cumberland, Md. In 1839 he graduated from the United States Military academy. He served in the Florida war against the Seminole Indians in 1839-42; and during the civil war attained the rank of major-general of volunteers. In the camp and on the march he was exceedingly careful of his soldiers, providing for their comfort, their clothing, and their medical attendance; and he showed equal solicitude for the sick and wounded. He died July 22, 1883, in Havana, Cuba.

ORD, GEORGE, naturalist, was born in 1781 in Philadelphia. He was an intimate friend of Alexander Wilson, the naturalist, and accompanied him on many of his rambles. After Wilson's death in 1813 Mr. Ord completed the eighth volume of the former's American Ornithology. In 1825 he prepared a new edition of the last three volumes of the ornithology, and in 1828 issued his Life of Wilson as a separate volume. He died Jan. 24, 1866, in Philadelphia.

ORDWAY, JOHN MORSE, chemist, author, was born April 23, 1823, in Amesbury, Mass. He has been professor of chemistry and metallurgy in the institute of Technology in Boston, Mass., for fifteen years, and is now professor of industrial chemistry of the Tulane university of New Orleans, La. He is the author of Plantarum Ordium Indicator, and other works.

ORDWAY, NEHEMIAH G., merchant, state senator, governor, was born Nov. 10, 1828, in Warner, N. H. In 1861 he was appointed general agent of the post office department for the New England states, with headquarters at Boston. In 1863 he was elected sergeant-at-arms of the United States house of representatives, and served during the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. In 1875 he was elected a representative in the New Hampshire legislature, and was re-elected in 1876 and 1877. In 1879 he was elected a state senator, and in 1880 was appointed governor of Dakota territory for the term of four years.

O'REILLY, BERNARD, Roman catholic bishop, was born in 1803 in Ireland. In 1847 he removed to Buffalo and was made vicar-general of the diocese and president of the seminary, having also in charge the hospital of the Sisters of Charity. In 1850 he was consecrated bishop of Hartford. He died in 1856 at sea.

O'REILLY, DANIEL, public official, congressman, was born June 3, 1838, in Ireland. He settled in Brooklyn, N. Y.; was city weigher; and was a member of the board of aldermen in 1873-75. He acted as supervisor of Kings county in 1874-75, and during 1875 was president pro tem of the board of aldermen. He was also acting mayor on several occasions; and was again elected alderman for the years 1878 and 1879. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth congress.

O'REILLY, HENRY, journalist, author, was born Feb. 6, 1806, in Ireland. He was a journalist of Rochester, and the author of New York Sketches of Rochester; and American Political Anti-Masonry. He died Aug. 17, 1886, in Rochester, N. Y.

O'REILLY, JOHN BOYLE, journalist, author, poet, was born June 28, 1844, in Ireland. He was a noted journalist of Boston, editor of The Pilot. In his youth he was concerned in a fenian outbreak in Ireland, and banished to Australia. Escaping thence he came to America in 1869 and settled in Boston, where his talents speedily secured recognition. Much of his work in verse is ephemeral, but his best lines have the ring of true poetry. He was the author of Songs, Legends, and Ballads; Moondyne; The Statues in the Block, and Other Poems; Songs of the Southern Seas; In Bohemia. In prose he published, Stories and Sketches; and The Ethics of Boxing. He died Aug. 10, 1890, in Hull, Mass.

O'REILLY, PATRICK THOMAS, Roman catholic bishop, was born Dec. 24, 1833, in Ireland. He was consecrated first bishop of Springfield in 1870.

ORFF, ANNIE L. Y., journalist, was born in Albany, N. Y. She is the editor and owner of the Chaperone Magazine of St. Louis, Mo., and since the death of Kate Field she unquestionably takes first place as the leading successful female publisher in the United States. She is also publisher of the St. Louis Elite, a weekly society journal.

ORGAN, BENJAMIN SIMPSON, soldier, lawyer, lecturer, jurist, legislator, was born April 2, 1847, in Wilson county, Tenn. He received his education in the common schools of Illinois and the academy of Xenia. At the age of sixteen years he enlisted in the one hundred and thirty-sixth Illinois volunteer infantry, and served gallantly throughout the war. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of Mount Carmel, Ill., and as a lecturer on religious subjects. He has been county judge, and served with distinction as a member of the general assembly of the Illinois state legislature.

OR'IRDAN, JAMES, civil engineer, educator, author, poet, was born about 1840 in Ireland. He is the author of half a dozen novels; several volumes on educational subjects; and a number of poems. Although he is a civil engineer, he has generally been engaged in educational work in Soney Hollow, N. Y.

ORMAN, JAMES B., state senator, was born Nov. 4, 1849, in Muscatine, Iowa. In 1880 he was elected representative to the third general assembly; and in 1883 to 1885 he served in the state senate from Colorado.

ORMOND, ALEXANDER THOMAS, educator, author, was born in 1847 in Pennsylvania. He is Stuart professor of mental science and logic at Princeton university since 1883, and the author of Basal Concepts in Philosophy.

ORMSBY, STEPHEN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1765 in Virginia. He was a judge of the circuit court of Kentucky; a brigade-major under Harmer in his campaign of 1790; and a representative in congress from 1811 to 1817. He died Sept. 6, 1846, in Louisville, Ky.

ORMSBY, THOMAS J., soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 2, 1842, in Petersburg, Va. He served as an officer in the confederate army, and has filled various civil offices for the past fifteen years. He is a successful lawyer of Pine Bluff, Ark.; and has attained success as an apiarist.

ORMSBY, WATERMAN LILLY, engraver, inventor, was born in 1809 in Hampton, Conn. He was for many years an engraver in New York city. He invented several ruling machines, transfer-presses, and other implements that are used in bank-note engraving, a machine for engraving on steel called the gram-magraph, and one for splitting wood. He died Nov. 1, 1883, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ORNE, AZOR, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 22, 1731, in Marblehead, Mass. He became a judge of the general court of Massachusetts in 1775, and in January, 1776, was appointed by the provincial congress one of the three major-generals of Massachusetts militia. After the adoption of the state constitution in 1780 he was in the state senate and council for many years. He died June 6, 1796, in Boston, Mass.

ORNE, MRS. CAROLINE (CHAPLIN), author, was born in Massachusetts. She was a popular magazinist, who was the author of more than two hundred and fifty stories. She died in 1882.

ORNE, CAROLINE FRANCES, author, poet, was born in 1818 in Massachusetts. She is a Cambridge writer of verse, and also of stories for children. Her life has all been passed in Cambridge, her native place. She is the author of A Day in the Woodlands; Lucy's Party, and Other Tales; Sweet Auburn and Mount Auburn, with Other Poems; and Morning Songs of American Freedom.

ORR, ALEXANDER D., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1765 in Virginia. He removed to Kentucky, and in 1784 settled in Mason county. He was a member of the state legislature in 1792. Upon the admission of Kentucky into the Union he was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1792 to 1797. He died June 21, 1835, in Paris, Ky.

ORR, BENJAMIN, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Dec. 1, 1772, in Bedford, N. H. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1817 to 1819. He was the author of an oration on the death of Washington in 1800. He died Sept. 5, 1828, in Brunswick, Maine.

ORR, HUGH, manufacturer, inventor, was born Jan. 13, 1717, in Scotland. His muskets made for the state of Massachusetts are said to have been the first manufactured in New England. He also invented machines for cleaning flaxseed, and manufacturing cotton. He died Dec. 6, 1798, in Bridgewater, Mass.

ORR, JACKSON, soldier, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 21, 1832, in Fayette county, Ohio. He served in the army as captain in the tenth Iowa infantry. He was a member of the legislature of Iowa in 1868. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican.

ORR, JAMES LAWRENCE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born May 18, 1822, in Craytonville, S. C. In 1844 he was elected to the state legislature, and was re-elected in 1845. In 1848 he was elected a representative in congress from South Carolina, to which position he was subsequently re-elected, and on the assembling of the thirty-fifth congress was elected speaker. In 1860 he was appointed one of the commissioners to visit Washington in behalf of South Carolina, and in 1865 was elected governor of South Carolina. He was subsequently appointed minister to Russia. He died May 5, 1873, in St. Petersburg, Russia.

ORR, JOHN WALKINSHAW, civil engineer, poet, was born Aug. 27, 1858, in Albia, Iowa. He is a telegraph operator, machinist and civil engineer. He has written extensively for the periodical press, and his poems have appeared in several standard works.

ORR, JOHN WILLIAM, wood-engraver, was born March 31, 1815, in Ireland. His first important work was for the frontispieces for Harper's Illustrated Shakespeare. When he removed to New York, wood-engraving was but little used, but by advertising extensively, engaging the best assistants he could procure, and by introducing new inventions, he placed his establishment in the front rank of his profession, which position it retained for more than a quarter of a century. He died March 4, 1887, in Jersey City.

ORR, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Westmoreland county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1825 to 1829.

ORR, ROBERT, inventor. He was the inventor of an improved method of making scythes with the trip-hammer, and was the pioneer in New England in the manufacture of iron shovels. In 1804 he was master-armorer at the United States arsenal at Springfield, Mass.

ORR, WILLIAM, manufacturer, inventor, was born March 13, 1808, in Ireland.

He was engaged in the printing of wall paper under the firm name of A. and W. Orr. His inventions consisted in engraving and disposing the designs or patterns on a cylinder.

ORRICK, JOHN CROMWELL, lawyer, state legislator, was born Oct. 25, 1840, in St. Charles, Mo. In 1866 he was elected circuit attorney; and in 1868 was elected to the Missouri house of representatives.

ORTH, GODLOVE STONER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 22, 1817, near Lebanon, Pa. In 1843 and 1846 he was elected to the Indiana state senate, serving six years in all, one year as president of that body. He was a presidential elector in 1848, and was a member of the peace congress of 1861. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Indiana to the thirty-eighth congress. He was re-elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first and forty-third congresses. In 1875 he was appointed minister to Austria. He was again elected to congress as a representative from Indiana to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses. He died Dec. 16, 1882, in Lafayette, Ind.

ORTON, EDWARD, geologist, college president, was born March 9, 1829, in Deposit, N. Y. During 1873-81 he was president of the Ohio State university, and still holds the chair of geology in that institution. Since 1869 he has been state geologist of Ohio and in 1896 was elected president of the Geological Society of America. He is the author of Economic Geology of Ohio; and Petroleum and Inflammable Gas.

ORTON, JAMES, educator, clergyman author, was born April 21, 1830, in Seneca Falls, N. Y. He was a congregational clergyman, well known as a naturalist, who was professor of natural history at Vassar college in 1869-77, and the author of Comparative Zoology; The Andes and the Amazon; Underground Treasures; and Liberal Education of Women. He died Sept. 25, 1877, in Peru.

ORTON, JASON ROCKWOOD, author, poet, was born in 1806 in Hamilton, N. Y. He was a littérateur of New York city, and the author of Poetical Sketches; Arnold, and Other Poems; Camp Fires of the Red Men; and Confidential Experiences of a Spiritualist. He died Feb. 13, 1867, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ORTON, WILLIAM, was born June 14, 1826, in Cuba, N. Y. He was appointed from that state in 1865 commissioner of internal revenue in the United States treasury, but only held the office one year. He afterward became president of the Western Union Telegraph company in New York city.

ORUM, JULIA ANNA, educator, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 28, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. She has been principal in the Philadelphia School of Elocution; principal in Mt. Lake Park Summer school of Voice Education; and instructor of voice training in the Woman's college of Baltimore. She is a successful Shakespearean reader and lecturer; is the author of a work entitled Voice Educa- tion, and is a constant contributor to the best periodical publications.

ORWIG, SAMUEL H., lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 18, 1836, in Mifflinburg, Pa. He was admitted to the bar in 1860; and was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature in 1864-65, declining re-election.

OSBORN, CHASE S., journalist, public official, was born Jan. 22, 1860, in Huntington county, Ind. In 1880 he became managing editor of The Signal of Milwaukee, Wis., and subsequently filled an editorial position on the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin. In 1883 he became editor and part proprietor of the Florence Mining News, and in 1887 established the Miner and Manufacturer of Milwaukee, Wis. He then became city editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, and is now the editor and proprietor of The News of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. He has been state game and fish warden for the state of Michigan; has been postmaster of his city, and has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

OSBORN, HENRY FAIRFIELD, educator, author, was born in 1857 in Connecticut. He is a professor of biology at Columbia college, and the author of From the Greeks to Darwin, an outline of the evolution idea.

OSBORN, HENRY STAFFORD, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 17, 1823, in Philadelphia. He is a presbyterian clergyman and educator, and professor in Miami university, Ohio, in 1871-73. He is the author of Palestine Past and Present; Fruits and Flowers of the Holy Land; Scientific Metallurgy of Iron and Steel in the United States; Manual of Bible Geography; Ancient Egypt in the Light of Recent Discoveries; Little Pilgrims in the Holy Land; New Descriptive Geography of Palestine; The Prospector's Field Book and Guide; and A Practical Manual of Minerals, Mines and Mining.

OSBORN, JOHN, soldier, physician, author, was born March 17, 1741, in Middletown, Conn. He attained note as a chemist, and is said to have had the most valuable medical library in the state. Before the revolution he published a translation of Condamine's Treatise on Inoculation, with an original appendix. He died in June, 1825, in Middletown, Conn.

OSBORN, JOHN CHURCHILL, physician, educator, poet, was born in September, 1766, in Middletown, Conn. In 1808 he was appointed professor of the institutes of medicine in Columbia, which office he resigned in 1813 to accept the chair of obstetrics in the New York college of physicians and surgeons. He was a connoisseur in poetry, belles-lettres, and painting. Joel Barlow submitted the poem of The Vision of Columbus to him for revision. He died March 5, 1819, in the Island of St. Croix.

OSBORN, JOHN E., physician, legislator, congressman, governor, was born June 9, 1858, in Westport, N. Y. He was elected in 1883 to the Wyoming territorial legislature, and in 1888 was elected mayor of the city of Rawlins. In 1892 he was elected governor of Wyoming, and at the expiration of his official term as governor he was unanimously renominated by his party for a second term, but owing to important business engagements declined the honor. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

OSBORN, LAUGHTON, artist, was born in 1809 in New York city. He was an artist and writer of New York city, and the author of Confessions of a Poet; Sixty Years of the Life of Jeremy Levis; The Vision of Rubeta; Arthur Carryl; Händ- book of Oil Painting; and Travels by Sea and Land. He died Dec. 12, 1878, in New York city.

OSBORN, R. H., physician, surgeon, state senator, was born June 27, 1823, in North Bloomfield, Ohio. He taught school for three years, and in 1849 graduated from the Medical college of Cleveland, Ohio. He has attained success as an eminent physician and surgeon of Michigan, and is the oldest physician on Lake Superior. In 1877-78 he served with distinction as a member of the state senate of the Michigan state legislature. He has been a school director for twenty-five years; is vice-president of the Merchants' and Miners' bank of Calumet, and a director of the Farmingdale Land and Live Stock company of South Dakota.

OSBORN, SELLECK, journalist, poet, was born in 1783 in Trumbull, Conn. He was a journalist, once popular as a poet, who published Poems, Moral, Sentimental, and Satirical. He died Oct. 1, 1826, in Philadelphia, Pa.

OSBORN, THOMAS A., lawyer, state senator, governor, was born Oct. 26, 1836, in Meadville, Pa. He practiced law in Pontiac, Mich.; and was elected county attorney of Doniphan county in 1858. He was elected state senator in 1859; and in 1862 became president of the senate. The same year he was elected lieutenant-governor of the state. He was United States marshal from 1864 to 1866; and was elected governor of Kansas in 1872 and re-elected in 1874. He was United States minister to Chili from 1877 to 1881; and in 1881 was promoted to the post of United States minister to Brazil.

OSBORN, THOMAS W., lawyer, soldier, United States senator, was born March 9, 1836, in Scotch Plains, N. J. He was elected to the Florida state senate; and was elected a senator in congress from Florida for the term ending in 1873.

OSBORNE, EDWIN S., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 7, 1839, in Bethany, Pa. In 1861 he enlisted in the union army; and in 1863 was promoted to major and appointed assistant inspector-general. After the close of the war he was detailed as a judge advocate in the bureau of military justice, at Washington. In 1883 he was commander of the department of Pennsylvania Grand Army of the Republic. In 1884 he was elected a representative-at-large from Pennsylvania to the forty-ninth congress; and re-elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

OSBORNE, JOHN E., physician, legislator, governor, was born June 19, 1858, in Westport, N. Y. He first was apprenticed to a druggist in Vermont; later studied medicine and attended the medical lectures at the university of Vermont, graduating in 1880. He moved west, opened a drug store in Rawlins, Wyo., where he accumulated a fortune and established an enviable reputation as a physician. He is probably the largest individual sheep holder in Wyoming, his flocks numbering over thirty thousand. In 1882 he was elected a member of the territorial legislature; in 1888 was elected mayor of Rawlins; and in 1896 was elected governor of Wyoming. He is president of the Rawlins Electric Light company; secretary of the Rawlins Wool Storage company; president of the Rawlins Hotel company; and director of a large drug supply house.

OSBORNE, [SAMUEL] DUFFIELD, author, was born in 1858 on Long Island. He is a littérateur of New York city; and the author of The Spell of Ashtaroth; and The Robe of Nessus.

OSBORNE, THOMAS B., lawyer, jurist, educator, congressman, was born in 1797 in Fairfield county, Conn. He was for several years judge of Fairfield county, Conn.; and was a representative in congress from 1839 to 1843. In 1848 he settled in New Haven, and became a professor in the law department of Yale college. He died Sept. 2, 1869, in New Haven, Conn.

OSBORNE, THOMAS M., railroad president, was born Sept. 23, 1859, in Auburn, N. Y. In 1886 he became president of the Owasco River railroad, at Auburn, N. Y.

OSBURN, NEHEMIAH, contractor, was born Aug. 9, 1801, in Pompey, N. Y. He constructed for the United States court houses in Detroit, Cincinnati and Baltimore, beside government buildings in Milwaukee, Rochester and many other cities. He died Jan. 10, 1892, in Rochester, N. Y.

OSCANYAN, HATCHIK, author, was born in 1818 in Turkey. He is an Armenian writer of New York city who took the name of Christopher; and is the author of Acaby, a satirical romance; Veronica, a novel; Bedig, a work for young readers; and The Sultan and His People, once a very popular work.

OSGOOD, MRS. FRANCES SARGENT [LOCKE], poet, was born June 18, 1811, in Boston, Mass. She was a poet whose poems were for a time extremely popular. She was the author of The Casket of Fate; A Wreath of Wild Flowers from New England; The Happy Release, a play written for Sheridan Knowles; and Poems. She died May 12, 1850, in Hingham, Mass.

OSGOOD, GAYTON P., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1797. He served in the Massachusetts legislature in 1829 and 1831; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1832 to 1835. He died June 26, 1861.

OSGOOD, HELEN LOUISE GIBSON, philanthropist, was born about 1835 in Boston, Mass. She organized and conducted for many months a hospital for one thousand colored soldiers of the army of the Potomac, and displayed great executive ability. She died April 20, 1868, in Newton Centre, Mass.

OSGOOD, HOWARD, clergyman, educator, was born Jan. 4, 1831, in Plaquemine parish, La. In 1868 he was called to the professorship of Hebrew in Crozer Theological seminary, Pa. In 1875 he was elected to the same chair in Rochester Theological seminary.

OSGOOD, JASON C., inventor, was born Nov. 16, 1804, in Nassau, N. Y. In 1846 he invented the celebrated Osgood dredging machine, which made his name known the world over.

OSGOOD, KATE PUTNAM, author, poet, was born in 1841 in Fryeburg, Maine. Her best known poem, Driving Home the Cows, published anonymously in Harper's Magazine, in March, 1865, was copied by nearly every journal in the United States, and was one of the few poems of merit that were suggested by the civil war.

OSGOOD, SAMUEL, soldier, merchant, state senator, congressman, author, was born Feb. 14, 1748, in Andover, Mass. He was a member of the provincial congress. He was a member of the house until 1780, and then state senator. He was delegate to the continental congress from 1780 to 1784; first commissioner of the United States treasury from 1785 to 1789; and United States postmaster-general from 1789 to 1791. He was the author of Chronology; Remarks on Daniel and Revelation; Letters on Episcopacy; Theology and Metaphysics, and other subjects. He died Aug. 12, 1813, in New York city.

OSGOOD, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 30, 1812, in Charlestown, Pa. He was a unitarian clergyman, pastor of the Church of the Messiah in New York city in 1849-69. He was the author of Studies in Christian Biography; God with Men; Mile-Stones in our Life Journey; The Hearthstone; Student Life; The Gospel Among the Animals; and American Leaves. He died April 14, 1880, in New York city.

O'SHEA, JOHN, public officer, legislator, was born Feb. 17, 1859, in Chicago, Ill. During 1882-86 he was deputy county clerk; clerk in election commissioner's office in 1888; division clerk in the water office during 1889-91; and deputy clerk of the superior court during 1893-97. He served with distinction in the thirty-third, thirty-fourth and fortieth general assemblies of the Illinois state legislature. He is also interested in the real estate business.

OSLER, WILLIAM, physician, educator, author, was born in 1849 in Ontario. He is a physician, professor in Johns Hopkins university since 1889; and the author of Clinical Notes on Small-Pox; Histology Notes for Students; Cerebral Palsies of Children; Principles and Practice of Medicine; and Diagnosis of Abdominal Tumors.

OSMER, J. H., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 22, 1833. He moved to Franklin, Pa., in 1865; was a member of the republican state committee; and a delegate to the republican national convention of 1876. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-sixth congress as a republican.

OSMOND, ALFRED, educator, jurist, poet, was born Oct. 5, 1861, in Willard, Utah. In 1886 he graduated from the Deseret university of Salt Lake City, Utah. He studied law in the university of Michigan. During 1886-88 he taught school. He moved to Paris, Idaho, and was there elected probate judge of Bear Lake county, and county superintendent of schools. He is the author of a volume of poems and has contributed extensively to current literature, and his poems have been given a place in several standard collections.

OSMOND, S. M., author, poet. He is the author of Sulamith, a metrical romance.

OSMUN, GILBERT R., soldier, journalist, was born Oct. 8, 1845, in Newark, N. J. He became city editor of the Times of Port Huron, Mich., then of the Saginaw Republican; and for ten years was state editor of the Detroit Evening News. He was private secretary to Gov. Alger until he assumed the duties of secretary of state.

OSMUN, THOMAS EMBLEY, author, was born Feb. 26, 1826, in Summit county, Ohio. He is an author of New York city; and has written The Verbalist; The Orthoepist; an annotated edition of Cobbett's Grammar; The Mentor; Acting and Actors; and The Essentials of Elocution.

OSTROM, ERNEST R., journalist, poet, was born April 1, 1868, near Victor, Iowa. He is the editor and part owner of the Criterion of Danbury, Iowa; has contributed extensively to periodical literature; and some of his poems have appeared in standard collections.

OSWALD, FELIX LEOPOLD, naturalist, author, was born in 1845 in Belgium. He is a naturalist of Tennessee; and the author of Physical Education; Summerland Sketches; Zoological Sketches; Household Remedies; The Secret of the East, or the Origin of the Christian Religion; Days and Nights in the Tropics; The Bible of Nature; and The Poison Problem.

OTERO, MARIANO S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1844, in Peralta, N. M. He was probate judge from 1871 to 1879; was nominated a delegate to the forty-fourth congress, but declined; and was elected a delegate from New Mexico to the forty-sixth congress as a republican.

OTERO, MIGUEL A., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born June 21, 1829, in Valencia, N. M. He was elected to the New Mexico territorial legislature. For a time he held the office of attorney-general for the territory; and in 1855 was elected a delegate to congress from New Mexico. He died May 31, 1882.

OTEY, JAMES HARVEY, educator, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 27, 1800, in Liberty, Va. In 1820 he graduated from the university of North Carolina; and became a tutor in Latin and Greek in that institution. He was ordained a clergyman of the protestant episcopal church; and was consecrated bishop of Tennessee in 1834. He was the pioneer bishop of his church in the southwest; and became known as the Good Bishop. He published numerous addresses and sermons; and one volume entitled The Unity of the Church. He died April 23, 1863, in Memphis, Tenn.

OTEY, PETER J., soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 22, 1840, in Lynchburg, Va. He joined the confederate army and participated in the western campaign culminating at Donelson and Shiloh. He returned with his command and was with the army of northern Virginia and remained in the infantry until the close of the war. His career has been that of a thorough business man in railroad, banking and insurance since 1869, from which time he has been active in the politics of his state, though never asking for office till 1894, when he was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

OTIS, CHARLES EUGENE, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1847 in Prairieville, Mich. He moved to Minnesota in 1871; served one year as a member of the St. Paul board of education; and two terms as a member of the common council. In 1889 he was appointed judge to fill a vacancy; was elected to the same office in 1890, and re-elected in 1896.

OTIS, ELISHA GRAVES, inventor, was born Aug. 3, 1811, in Halifax, Vt. He put into practical operation a hoisting machine that embodied some novel features calculated to automatically prevent loss of life in case of the breaking of the lifting cable. In 1867 his sons organized a stock company to carry on the manufacture of his inventions, and its business now amounts to about $2,000,000 per annum. He died April 8, 1861, in Yonkers, N. Y.

OTIS, ELIZA A., journalist, poet. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Echoes from Elfland. She is the wife of Col. Harrison Gray Otis, owner and editor-in-chief of the Los Angeles Times, of which publication Mrs. Otis is associate editor.

OTIS, MRS. ELIZA [HENDERSON], journalist, poet, was born July 27, 1796, in Boston, Mass. She was a once prominent philanthropist and social leader in Boston who wrote The Barclays of Boston, a novel. She died April 8, 1861, in Yonkers, N. Y.

OTIS, ELWELL STEPHEN, soldier, author, was born March 25, 1838, in Frederick City, Md. He is a United States army officer; and the author of The Indian Question.

OTIS, FESSENDEN NOTT, physician, author, was born May 6, 1825, in Ballston, N. Y. He is a physician of New York city; and the author of Lessons in Drawing; Tropical Journeys; History of the Panama Railroad; Stricture of the Male Urethra; Clinical Lessons on Syphilis; and Physiology of Syphilitic Infection.

OTIS, GEORGE ALEXANDER, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 12, 1830, in Boston, Mass. He was a surgeon who was curator of the Army Medical museum at Washington; and the author of Report of Surgical Cases Treated in the United States Army, 1867-71; and Amputation at the Hip Joint. He died Feb. 23, 1881, in Washington, D. C.

OTIS, HARRISON GRAY, jurist, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 8, 1765, in Boston, Mass. He was for many years an active and leading member of the Massachusetts state legislature, serving as speaker and president of the senate. He was chosen a representative in congress from the Suffolk district in 1797, and served through President Adams's administration. In 1817 he was chosen a senator in congress, where he remained for five years. He was also judge of the court of common pleas; and mayor of Boston. He was the author of Letters in Defense of the Hartford Convention; and Orations and Addresses. He died Oct. 28, 1848, in Boston, Mass.

OTIS, JAMES, soldier, orator, author, was born Feb. 5, 1725, in West Barnstable, Mass. He was a celebrated orator and politician, and one of the most active advocates of American independence. He was the author of Rights of the British Colonies Asserted and Approved; Vindication of the British Colonies; Considerations on Behalf of the Colonists; and A Vindication of the Rights of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts Bay. He was killed by lightning May 23, 1783, in Andover, Mass.

OTIS, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1801 in Maine. He served five years in the Maine legislature; was a commissioner for settling the northeastern boundary; and was a representative in congress from Maine from 1849 to 1851. He died Oct. 17, 1856.

OTIS, JOHN GRANT, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 10, 1838, in Danby, Vt. For over twenty years he has been engaged in the dairy business near Topeka, Kas. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a people's party candidate.

OTIS, NORTON PRENTISS, manufacturer, state legislator, was born March 18, 1840, in Halifax, Vt. He is president of Otis Brothers and Company. Some of the largest elevators in the world are the product of these works, including the one in the Washington monument, and the famous elevator in the Eiffel tower in Paris. He was elected mayor of Yonkers in 1880 and state assemblyman in 1883.

OTIS, SAMUEL ALLYNE, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 24, 1740, in Barnstable, Mass. In 1776 he was a representative in the assembly; and subsequently a member of the convention which framed the constitution of Massachusetts. From 1787 to 1788 he was a delegate to the continental congress, and upon the adoption of the constitution was appointed secretary of the senate, holding that office for more than thirty years. He died April 22, 1814, in Washington.

OTJEN, THEOBOLD, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 27, 1851, in West China, Mich. He practiced law in Detroit during 1875-83, when he removed to Milwaukee, where he has since resided, engaged in the practice of law and in the real estate business. He was elected a member of the common council of the city of Milwaukee in 1887, and was re-elected for three successive terms, serving seven years in all. He was a trustee of the Milwaukee public library from 1887 to 1891, and a trustee of the Milwaukee public museum from 1891 to 1894. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

OTKEN, CHARLES H., clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Feb. 26, 1839, in New Orleans, La. He received the rudiments of his education in the public and private schools, and attended the Mississippi college of Clinton. During 1867-77 he was principal of the Peabody public school of Summit, Miss.; was founder of the Lea Female college of Summit, and served as its president for seventeen years. Since 1894 he has been president of the McComb Female institute, Miss. He has been trustee of the university of Mississippi for four years, and a trustee of the Mississippi college for twelve years, from which latter institution he received the degree of LL. D. He is the author of a work on economics entitled The Ills of the South; and has contributed essays and various articles to the Times-Democrat of New Orleans, and other publications. In 1864 he was ordained a clergyman in the baptist church; has filled several pastorates in Mississippi; and for twelve years gave his whole time to teaching. He was twice offered the position of state superintendent of public education in Mississippi, but declined the honor.

OTT, ISAAC, physician, author, was born Nov. 30, 1847, in Northampton county, Pa. He is a physician who has published Cocaine, Veratria, and Gelsemium; Action of Medicines; and Physiology and Pathology of the Nervous System.

OTTENDORFER, ANNA, philanthropist, was born Feb. 13, 1815, in Moravia. In 1875 she established in Astoria, L. I., the Isabella Home for Aged Women, named in memory of a deceased daughter, expending $150,000 on the building and endowment. She contributed $40,000 to an educational fund, built the women's pavilion of the German hospital, New York city, at a cost of $75,000, and gave $100,000 for a German dispensary. She died April 1, 1884, in New York city.

OTTENDORFER, OSWALD, journalist, was born Dec. 26, 1826, in Moravia. In 1872-74 he was an alderman, and in 1874 a candidate for mayor of New York city. He gave $300,000 to build and endow an educational institution in his native town in Austria, founded on Long Island a home for aged and indigent men, and established the Ottendorfer free library in Second avenue, New York city, at an original cost of $50,000, which has been augmented by annual gifts.

OTTO, WILLIAM TOD, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 19, 1817, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected a district judge in Indiana for six years; and became a professor of law in the university of Indiana. In 1863 he was appointed assistant secretary of the interior department, and remained in that position until 1871, when he was appointed arbitrator on the part of the United States, on the commission for the settlement of claims of American citizens against Spain. In 1875 he was appointed reporter of decisions of the supreme court.

OTTS, JOHN MARTIN PHILIP, clergyman, author, was born June 7, 1838, in Union, S. C. He is a presbyterian minister of Talladega, Ala.; and the author of Nicodemus with Jesus; Light and Life for a Dead World; The Southern Pen and Pulpit; Inter-denominational Literature; The Gospel of Honesty; Laconisms; The Fifth Gospel; Unsettled Questions; and At Mother's Knee.

OURY, GRANVILLE H., legislator, congressman, was born March 12, 1825, in Abington, Va. In 1849 he went to California and engaged in mining; and in 1856 settled in Arizona. He was elected a representative in the territorial legislature in 1866, 1873 and 1875, serving as speaker the first two terms. He was elected a delegate from Arizona to the forty-seventh congress as a democrat.

OUTCALT, OTTO O., journalist, legislator, was born Nov. 2, 1858, in Wilmington, Ohio. He is the editor and owner of The Courier of Burlington, Kas., in which state he has served as a member of the legislature.

OUTERBRIDGE, ALBERT ALBONY, lawyer, journalist, was born April 20, 1841, in Bermuda. Since 1874 he has been the editor-in-chief of the Weekly Notes of Cases, of which seventeen volumes have been published in Philadelphia. He was appointed reporter to the supreme court of Pennsylvania in 1881, and edited several volumes of reports. This office he resigned Jan. 1, 1885, to become the trust officer of the Land Title and Trust company of Philadelphia.

OUTHWAITE, JOSEPH H., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1841, in Cleveland, Ohio. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Franklin county, Ohio, in 1874, and again in 1876. He was one of the trustees of the County Children's home from 1879 until 1883; was one of the trustees of the sinking fund of the city of Columbus in 1883; and in 1884 was reappointed for a term of five years. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat. In 1895 he was appointed civilian member of the board of ordnance and fortification, Columbus, Ohio.

OUTLAW, DAVID, lawyer, congressman, was born in Bertie county, N. C. He served three years in the house of commons; was elected solicitor of Edenton district in 1836; and was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1847 to 1853.

OUTLAW, GEORGE C., state senator, congressman, was born in Bertie county, N. C. He was a member of the house of commons in 1796; and in the North Carolina state senate a number of years thereafter. He was a representative in congress during the years 1824 and 1825. He died Aug. 15, 1836.

OVALLE, JOHN, journalist, clergyman, lecturer, was born Jan. 28, 1863, in Sweden. He is a successful pastor of the Scandinavian methodist episcopal church; has organized churches and secured church properties at Port Lavaca, Victoria, Jasmine, Ganado, Louise, El Campo and Galveston, Texas. In Galveston he also organized the Galveston Port society, of which he is chaplain. He founded and edited the Gospel Herald, and now fills a pastorate in Georgetown, Texas.

OVERALL, JOHN WILFORD, journalist, author, poet, was born Sept. 25, 1822, in Shenandoah Valley, Va. He has been editorially connected with the press of Mobile, Richmond, Galveston and St. Louis; and from 1876 with the press of New York, principally as literary editor of the Mercury. He is the author of Catechism of the Constitution of the United States; and a number of meritorious poems.

OVERMAN, FREDERICK, civil engineer, author, was born about 1810 in Germany. He was a mining engineer of Philadelphia; and the author of The Manufacture of Iron; The Manufacture of Steel; Political Mineralogy; Moulder's and Founder's Pocket Guide; Mechanics for the Millwright, etc.; and Treatise on Metallurgy. He died in 1852 in Philadelphia, Pa.

OVERMAN, LEE S., lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1854, in Salisbury, N. C. He is a successful lawyer of his native city; was a member of the house of representatives of North Carolina in 1883, 1885, 1887 and in 1893, and was speaker of the house during the latter term. He has been president of the North Carolina Railroad company; and in 1897 was the democratic nominee for United States senator.

OVERMYER, JOHN, legislator. This able lawyer has served as a member of the Indiana state legislature, and was elected speaker of the house.

OVERSTREET, JAMES, congressman, was born in Barnwell, S. C. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1822. He died in 1822.

OVERSTREET, JESSE, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1859, in Johnson county, Ind. He was admitted to the bar in 1886; and is a successful lawyer of Indianapolis, Ind. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

OVERTON, EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 4, 1836, in Towanda, Pa. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1864, rising to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a republican.

OVERTON, WALTER H., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Louisiana from 1829 to 1831.

OWEN, ABRAHAM, soldier, jurist, legislator, was born in 1769 in Prince Edward county, Va. He was surveyor of Shelby county in 1796, subsequently a magistrate, and colonel of the first militia regiment raised in Kentucky. He was in the legislature in 1798, a member of the state constitutional convention the next year, and state senator in 1810. He died Nov. 7, 1811, in Tippecanoe county, Ind.

OWEN, ALFRED, clergyman, college president, was born July 20, 1829, in China, Maine. He has filled pastorates in various cities and for several years was president of the Denison university of Granville, Ohio. He is now president of the Roger Williams university of Nashville, Tenn.

OWEN, ALLEN F., diplomat, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He moved to Georgia; and was elected a representative in congress from 1849 to 1851. He was subsequently appointed consul at Havana.

OWEN, DAVID DALE, geologist, author, was born June 24, 1807, in Scotland. He was state geologist of Indiana; and the author of Report of a Geological Survey of Kentucky; Geological Survey of Wisconsin; and Report of a Geological Reconnaissance. He died Nov. 13, 1860, in New Harmony, Ind.

OWEN, FRANCIS BROWNING, lawyer, poet, was born in October, 1830, in Macomb county, Mich. He attended the Branch university of Ann Arbor, Mich., and has attained success as a noted lawyer in Berrien Springs, Mich. He is the author of The Legend of Winona; Poems; Columbia, and Other Poems; Two Bells; Forty Sonnets; and other poetical works.

OWEN, GEORGE W., congressman, was born in 1798 in Brunswick county, Va. He was a speaker of the house of representatives in Alabama; and mayor of Mobile. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1823 to 1829, when he was appointed collector of the port of Mobile. He died Aug. 18, 1839, in Mobile, Ala.

OWEN, JAMES, planter, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1784 in Bladen county, N. C. He was a general of militia; and was four years a member of the legislature. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1817 to 1819. He died Sept. 4, 1865, in Wilmington, N. C.

OWEN, JOHN, planter, state legislator, governor, was born in August, 1787, in Bladen county, N. C. He was in the legislature in 1812-28; and was elected governor of North Carolina in the latter year. He died Oct. 12, 1841, in Pittsburg, N. C.

OWEN, JOHN, publisher, was born March 28, 1805, in Portland, Maine. He aided Mr. Longfellow in the preparation of his Poems of Places, especially in veri-fyng authorship. He was also the friend and literary adviser of Charles Sumner, and induced him to publish his writings in a uniform edition. He died April 22, 1882, in Cambridge, Mass.

OWEN, JOHN JASON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 13, 1803, in Colebrook, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman and educator of New York city; and the author of Commentary on the Gospels; Acts of the Apostles in Greek, with Lexicon; and text-book editions of Xenophon, Thucydides, and Homer. He died April 18, 1869, in New York city.

OWEN, JOSHUA THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, journalist, was born March 29, 1821, in Wales. He founded in 1871 the New York Daily Register, a law journal, which became the official organ of the New York courts in 1873, and he continued on its editorial staff until his death. He died Nov. 7, 1887, in Chestnut Hill, Pa.

OWEN, MARY ALICIA, author. Her work entitled Voodoo Tales has been a pronounced success in America and Europe. She has also written a book entitled Voodoo Magic, for the English Folk-Lore Society; and a novel of Indian life entitled The Daughter of Alouette; and she is also the author of Myths, Customs and Ceremonials of the Aïgonquin Tribes in the Middle West.

Since 1892 she has read many papers on Indian life before eastern and southern audiences; and she possesses one of the largest collections of Indian beadwork in the world.

OWEN, MOSES, poet, was born in 1838, in Bath, Maine. He was the author of a volume of poems entitled Plymouth Church, and Other Poems. He died in November, 1878, in Augusta, Maine.

OWEN, RICHARD, geologist, author, was born Jan. 6, 1810, in Scotland. He was a geologist of New Harmony, Ind. He succeeded his brother David as state geologist in 1860, and was author of a Key to the Geology of the Globe. He died in 1890.

OWEN, ROBERT, social reformer, philanthropist, was born May 14, 1771, in North Wales. He endeavored to embody his social reform principles in a community three times, the last at New Harmony, Ind., but they were all unsuccessful. His followers bore the name of Owenites, from which sprang the English Chartists. He died Nov. 19, 1858, in North Wales.

OWEN, ROBERT DALE, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Nov. 9, 1800, in Scotland. In 1835 he was chosen to the Indiana legislature, and twice re-elected. In 1843 he was elected a representative in congress from Indiana, and re-elected in 1845. In 1853 he was appointed minister to Naples. He was active in political life, and was an ardent advocate of spiritualism. He was the author of Outlines of the System of Education at New Lanark; Moral Physiology; Popular Traits; Pocahontas, a drama; Hints on Public Architecture; The Wrong of Slavery and the Right of Freedom; Footfalls on the Boundary of Another World; Beyond the Breakers, a novel; Threading my Way; and Debatable Land between this World and the Next. He died June 17, 1877, on Lake George, N. Y.

OWEN, ROBERT LATHAM, lawyer, politician, banker, was born Feb. 2, 1856, in Lynchburg, Va. He attended the Washington and Lee university of Lexington, Va.; took the debaters' medal, the president's scholarship; was valedictorian of his class; and in 1877 received the degree of A. M. He then taught school in Baltimore, and in the Cherokee Orphan asylum. He edited the Indian Chieftain; was secretary of the Old Settlers of Cherokee; was secretary of the board of education of the Cherokee nation; president of the Indian International Fair association; was United States Indian agent to the Cherokees, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks, and Seminoles. He served as secretary of the first bar association in Indian territory; founded and became president of the First National bank of Muskogee in 1890; and was fiscal agent for the Choctaw nation with a one-million-dollar bond in 1889. Mr. Owen has distinguished himself by diplomatic services rendered the Indians of the Indian territory; framed the present school laws of the Cherokee nation, and organized on improved lines their schools.

OWEN, SAMUEL JOSEPH, farmer, journalist, was born Dec. 30, 1867, near Blue Mountain, Miss. He is a successful farmer and editor and publisher of The Southern Sentinel of Ripley, Miss. He has filled various offices of trust in his county and state; and is prominent in religious affairs.

OWEN, TIMOTHY S., educator, lawyer, author, was born July 18, 1865, near Peytonsburg, Ky. He obtained a common school education and was engaged in teaching in the public schools of his native county for three years. He attended the National Normal university at Lebanon, Ohio; studied law and was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of the state of Ohio in 1893. He has built up a very lucrative law practice in Muncie, Ind.; and is one of the prominent republican speakers of his section of the country. He was engaged in a number of joint discussions with the best orators and speakers of the democratic party and advocates of free silver.

OWEN, WILLIAM D., clergyman, congressman, author, was born Sept. 6, 1846, in Bloomington, Ind. He entered the ministry of the Christian church, and removed to Logansport in 1881. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican. He was engaged in literary pursuits, being the author, among other writings, of Success in Life; and The Genius of Industry.

OWEN, WILLIAM MILLER, soldier, author, was born Jan. 10, 1832, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He served in the confederate army with the Washington artillery of New Orleans. In 1890 he assisted Mrs. Jefferson Davis in the preparation of the military chapters of her Memoir of her husband. He is the author of In Camp and Battle with the Washington Artillery. He died Jan. 10, 1893, in New Orleans.

OWENS, MRS. FRANCES E., educator, journalist, author, was born May 4, 1843, in Sidney, N. Y. She taught for eight years in the Chicago public schools. She is the author of Mrs. Owens's Cook Book, which has had an extensive sale in the United States. She is also the author of a very comprehensive Household Manual; and is the associate editor of The Chef, a culinary magazine of Chicago.

OWENS, GEORGE W., lawyer, congressman. He was a prominent member of the Georgia bar; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1839. He died in 1856, in Savannah.

OWENS, JAMES W., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1837, in Springfield township, Ind. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Licking county in 1867, and re-elected in 1869. He was elected to the Ohio senate in 1875, and re-elected in 1877, and was elected president of the senate. He was elected to the fifty-first, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

OWENS, WILLIAM A., lawyer, was born Feb. 4, 1862, in Well Spring, Tenn. He attended the best schools; was admitted to the bar, and has attained success as an able lawyer in Tazewell, Tenn.

OWENS, WILLIAM CLAIBORNE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 17, 1849, in Scott county, Ky. He was elected county attorney for Scott county in 1874, and resigned in 1877. He served five terms in the Kentucky legislature, one term as speaker of the house of representatives. He was democratic elector in 1880 and delegate from the state at large to the Chicago convention in 1892. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

OWSLEY, BRYAN Y., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843.

OWSLEY, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born in 1782, in Virginia. He represented Garrard county for several years in the Kentucky legislature; and was judge of the supreme court of the state from 1812 to 1828. He removed to Boyle county in 1843; and was governor of Kentucky from 1844 to 1848. He died in December, 1862, in Danville, Ky.

OXENBRIDGE, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 30, 1609, in England. He was a popular preacher, and published The Duty of Watchfulness; Election Sermon; Seasonable Seeking of God; and Proposition for Propagating the Gospel by Christian Colonies in Guiana. He died Dec. 28, 1674, in Boston, Mass.

PABOR, WILLIAM EDGAR, journalist, author, poet, was born May 31, 1834, in Harlem, N. Y. In 1870 he moved to Colorado; and he was one of the founders of Greeley, Colorado Springs, and Fort Collins. In 1888 he founded The Fruit Star; and was subsequently president of the Colorado State Editorial association. He now resides in Denver; and is a constant contributor of both prose and verse to periodical literature.

PABST, FREDERICK, brewer, was born March 28, 1836, in Germany. He is the proprietor of the largest brewery in the world in Milwaukee, Wis. He now controls about $4,000,000 of real estate in Milwaukee aside from the breweries, and owns the Wauwatosa farm near the city, devoted to the breeding of Percheron horses. He is president of the Wisconsin National bank.

PACA, WILLIAM, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Oct. 31, 1740, in Wye Hall, Md. He was a member of the Maryland legislature in 1771, and opposed the royal government. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1779; and was a signer of the declaration of independence. He was state senator from 1777 to 1779; chief justice of the state from 1778 to 1780; and chief judge of the court of appeals and admiralty from 1780 to 1782. He was elected governor in 1782 and 1786. He was a member of the convention which ratified the constitution in 1788; and was United States district judge from 1789 until his death. He died in 1799.

PACHECO, ROMUALDO, agriculturist, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 31, 1831, in Santa Barbara, Cal. He was a representative in the California state legislature in 1853; and in 1855 was elected county judge, and served four years. He was a state senator in 1851, and again in 1861. He was elected state treasurer in 1863; and was again in the state legislature in 1868. He was elected lieutenant-governor in 1871; and became governor by the election of Governor Booth to the United States senate. He was elected a representative from California to the forty-fifth congress, but his seat was successfully contested; and was re-elected to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

PACKARD, ALPHEUS SPRING, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1798, in Chelmsford, Mass. In 1816 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and subsequently attained success in educational work. During 1819-24 he was a tutor in his alma mater; during 1824-65 he filled the chair of Latin and Greek languages; and was also college librarian. He edited the works of Dr. Appleton in two volumes; contributed valuable papers on the history of the monument on Bunker Hill to the Maine Historical society; and various other papers to the North American Review and other publications. He died July 13, 1884, on Squirrel Island, Maine.

PACKARD, ALPHEUS SPRING, naturalist, educator, author, was born Feb. 19, 1839, in Brunswick, Maine. He is a naturalist of eminence, and professor of geology and zoölogy in Brown university since 1878. He is the author of Zoölogy; Life Histories of Animals, or Comparative Embryology; Guide to the Study of Insects; Half-Hours with Insects; Our Common Insects; Entomology for Beginners; A Naturalist on the Labrador Coast; and Observations on the Glacial Phenomena of Labrador and Maine.

PACKARD, MRS. ELIZABETH PARSONS WARE, reformer, philanthropist, was born in 1816, in Ware, Mass. Her father was the founder of the town of her nativity. She secured the adoption for thirty-four states of laws for the protection of insane persons; and further secured in many states legal recognition of married women regarding their property. She gave thirty years of her life to this humane work, and expended fifty thousand dollars in prosecuting the work. She died in July, 1895.

PACKARD, FREDERICK ADOLPHUS, author, was born Sept. 25, 1794, in Marlborough, Mass. He was a Philadelphia writer and editor for nearly forty years of the publications of the American Sunday School union. He was the author of

The Teacher Taught; Life of Robert Owen; Visit to European Hospitals; The Teacher Teaching; and Union Bible Dictionary. He died Nov. 11, 1867, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PACKARD, HEZEKIAH, soldier, clergyman, educator, author, was born Dec. 6, 1761, in North Bridgewater, Mass. He originated the Bible society of Lincoln county, Maine; the Eastern Evangelical society, which existed for a few years; and was a member of the board of trustees and overseers of Bowdoin college for more than twenty years. He published The Christian's Manual, and numerous sermons. He died April 22, 1849, in Salem, Mass.

PACKARD, JASPER, soldier, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1832, in Austintown, Ohio. He moved to Laporte, Ind., and there edited the Union newspaper. In 1865 he was appointed a brigadier-general by brevet, for meritorious services during the war. In 1866 he became auditor of Laporte county, holding the office until 1868, when he was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-first congress. He was re-elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican. He is now the editor and owner of The Evening and Weekly Tribune of New Albany, Ind.

PACKARD, JOHN HOOKER, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 15, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a surgeon of Philadelphia, surgeon to the Pennsylvania hospital from 1884; and the author of Manual of Minor Surgery; Lectures on Inflammation; Handbook of Operative Surgery; and Sea Air and Sea Bathing.

PACKARD, LEWIS RICHARD, educator, author, was born Aug. 22, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an educator who was professor of Greek at Yale university from 1866; and author of Studies in Greek Thought. He died Oct. 26, 1884, in New Haven, Conn.

PACKARD, N. LUTHER, clergyman, evangelist, was born Dec. 31, 1851, in Brockton, Mass. He graduated with honors from the Wisconsin State university, and from the Chicago Theological seminary. He has attained success as an eminent clergyman of the congregational church; and has filled pastorates in Nashua, Iowa, and Buffalo Center, Iowa. For ten years he was president of the third district of the Young People's State Christian Endeavor of Iowa; has also been the state superintendent for Iowa of the Iowa congregational churches; and also a state evangelist of Iowa.

PACKARD, SILAS SADLER, educator, author, was born April 28, 1826, in Cummington, Mass. He is an educator who founded a business college in New York city. He is the best-known business-college man in the United States, and he was very successful in promoting the business educators' exhibit at the World's Fair. He is the author of Bryant and Stratton's Book-keeping Series; Complete Course of Business Training; Commercial Arithmetic; and New Manual of Bookkeeping.

PACKARD, SOPHIA B., educator, was born Jan. 3, 1824, in New Salem, Mass. In 1881 she opened a school for women and girls at Atlanta, Ga. She died June 21, 1891, in Washington, D. C.

PACKER, ASA, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1806, in Groton, Conn. He designed and built the Lehigh Valley railroad, as well as the railroad leading from Mauch Chunk to Erie. He gave five hundred thousand dollars and land to found the Lehigh university. He was elected to the Pennsylvania state legislature; served as judge of a county court; and was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1853 to 1857. In 1875 he was appointed a commissioner to the centennial exhibition. He died May 17, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PACKER, HORACE B., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Wellsboro, Pa. He was elected district attorney for three years, and served one year by appointment just prior to his election. In 1884 he was elected to the Pennsylvania house of representatives, and re-elected in 1886. In 1888 he was elected to the state senate; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

PACKER, JOHN B., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 21, 1824, in Sunbury, Pa. He was a district attorney from 1842 to 1847; and was a member of the state legislature in 1850 and 1851. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first congress. He served on the committees on banking and currency, and the interior department; and was re-elected to the forty-second, forty-third, and forty-fourth congresses as a republican. He served on several important committees, and as chairman of the committee on post-offices and post roads. He died July 7, 1891, in Sunbury, Pa.

PACKER, WILLIAM FISHER, journalist, state senator, governor, was born April 2, 1807, in Howard, Pa. He published the Lycoming Gazette from 1827 to 1836; was canal commissioner from 1839 to 1842; and state auditor from 1842 to 1845. He was state senator from 1845 to 1848; and then president of the Susquehanna Railroad company until its consolidation with the Northern Central Railroad company, of which he was director until 1858. He was governor of Pennsylvania from 1858 to 1861. He died Sept. 27, 1870, in Williamsport, Pa.

PADDOCK, ALGERNON SIDNEY, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Nov. 9, 1830, in Glens Falls, N. Y.

He settled in Nebraska in 1857; was a delegate to the national republican convention in 1860; and was appointed secretary of Nebraska territory in 1861, which office he held until the admission of the state in 1867. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention of 1864; was a candidate for congress in 1868; and was appointed governor of Wyoming territory in 1868, and declined the office. He was elected a senator in congress from Nebraska for the term commencing in 1875 and ending in 1881; and was re-elected for term ending in 1893. In 1882-86 he was a member of the Utah commission. He died Oct. 17, 1897, in Beatrice, Neb.

PADDOCK, BENJAMIN HENRY, bishop, author, was born Feb. 28, 1828, in Norwich, Conn. He was the fifth protestant episcopal bishop of Massachusetts in 1873-91; and the author of Ten Years in the Episcopate; The First Century of the Diocese of Massachusetts; The Pastoral Relation; and The Foundation of Religious Belief. He died in 1891.

PADDOCK, MRS. CORNELIA, author, was born in 18—. She is the author of In the Toils; and The Fate of Madame la Tour, a Tale of Great Salt Lake.

PADDOCK, JOHN ADAMS, protestant episcopal bishop, author, was born Jan. 19, 1825, in Norwich, Conn. In 1880 he was consecrated missionary bishop of Washington territory. His publications include several occasional sermons and addresses, and a History of Christ Church of Stratford, Conn.

PADELFOURD, SETH, governor. He was elected governor of Rhode Island in 1869, and remained in office until 1875. He died Aug. 26, 1878, in Providence, R. I.

PAGE, CARROLL SMALLEY, merchant, banker, legislator, governor, was born Jan. 10, 1843, in Westfield, Vt. He attended the Lamaille Central academy of Hyde Park, Vt. In 1869-72 he was a member of the Vermont house of representatives; in 1874-76 a member of the state senate; during 1872-88 was a member of the republican state committee, and chairman of that committee in 1886-88. During 1890-92 he served with distinction as governor of Vermont. He is a successful merchant and dealer in green calfskin, and in that line of business is said to be the largest dealer in the world. He is president of the bank, and prominently identified with various other business enterprises.

PAGE, CHARLES EDWARD, physician, author, was born in 1840 in Maine. He is a physician of Boston; and the author of How to Treat the Baby; Natural Cure of Consumption; Horses: their Feed and Feet; and Pneumonia and Typhoid Fever.

PAGE, CHARLES GRAFTON, public official, author, was born Jan. 25, 1812, in Salem, Mass. He was an examiner in the patent office at Washington from 1840, who published Psychomaney, Spirit Rappings, and Table Tippings Exposed. He died May 5, 1868, in Washington, D. C.

PAGE, CHARLES HARRISON, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born July 19, 1843, in Gloucester, R. I. In 1872 he was admitted to the Rhode Island bar, and has practiced his profession since in Providence. He was elected to the state house of representatives in 1872 and 1873 from his native place; and in 1874 was elected to the state senate, and re-elected in 1875, 1884, 1885, and 1890. He was elected to the fifty-second congress; and was re-elected to the fifty-third congress at a special election.

PAGE, CHARLES HARRISON, JR., lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 26, 1870, in Scituate, R. I. He practices law in his native city; and since 1895 has served as a member of the Rhode Island state senate.

PAGE, DAVID PERKINS, educator, author, was born July 4, 1810, in Epping, N. H. He was a prominent educator of Albany; and the author of Theory and Practice of Teaching, which was long popular. He died Jan. 1, 1848, in Albany, N. Y.

PAGE, EMILY REBECCA, poet, was born May 5, 1834, in Bradford, Vt. She was a poet of Vermont whose work, which enjoyed local fame, is included in the volume, Lily of the Valley. She died Feb. 14, 1862, in Chelsea, Mass.

PAGE, HENRY C., journalist, was born April 1, 1833, in Troy, N. Y. This well-known journalist is the editor and owner of the Bayonne Herald; and has been president of the Editorial Press association of New Jersey.

PAGE, HORACE FRANCIS, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1833, in Orleans county, N. Y. He was elected from Pennsylvania to the forty-third congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

PAGE, JEFFERSON G., soldier, physician, surgeon, was born March 10, 1836, in Wilson county, Tenn. In 1862 he enlisted in company A, eighth regiment Kentucky cavalry; and was subsequently commissioned hospital steward. He is now a successful physician of Doniphan, Mo. In 1895 he was elected vice-president of the National league for Missouri; has been a delegate to numerous medical congresses and has contributed valuable articles to medical literature.

PAGE, JOHN, soldier, congressman, governor, author, was born April 17, 1743, in Rosewell, Va. He was lieutenant-governor of Virginia. He commanded a militia regiment during the British invasion; and was one of the first representatives to congress from Virginia, serving from 1789 to 1797. He was presidential elector in 1800; and governor of the state from 1802 to 1805. He published addresses to the people in 1796 to 1799; and was commissioner of loans for Virginia from 1806 until his death. He died Oct. 11, 1808, in Richmond, Va.

PAGE, JOHN, agriculturist, state legislator, United States senator, governor, was born May 21, 1787, in Haverhill, N. H. He served in the New Hampshire legislature in 1818, 1819, 1820, and 1835; and in 1836 was chosen a member of the executive council, and again in 1838. During the intervening year, 1837, he served as a senator in congress to fill a vacancy. He was governor of New Hampshire from 1839 to 1842. He died Sept. 8, 1865, in Concord, N. H.

PAGE, JOHN B., governor, was born in 1826, in Rutland, Vt. He was governor of that state from 1867 to 1869. He died Oct. 24, 1885.

PAGE, JULIAETTE NASH, educator, poet, was born July 2, 1819, in Sherburne, N. Y. She taught private scholars in music, French, and intellectual and moral sciences. In 1846 she was married to General C. W. Page, and was left a widow in 1870. Her son, Charles F. N. Page, is the editor of The Western Gardener of Des Moines, Iowa, where he is a prominent seed merchant.

PAGE, MANN, congressman, was born in 1749, in Rosewell, Va. He was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress in 1777. He died near Fredericksburg, Va.

PAGE, OLIN W. WINFIELD, poet. He is a poet of rare excellence, and well-known throughout New England. He is the author of a published volume of collected poems, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

PAGE, RICHARD CHANNING MOORE, physician, author, was born Jan. 2, 1841, in Keswick, Va. During the civil war he served in the confederate army. He entered as a private; was severely wounded at Gettysburg; and in 1864 was made chief of artillery for the department of southwest Virginia and East Tennessee on the staff of General John C. Breckinridge. Since 1868 he has practiced medicine in the city of New York; has been house physician at Bellevue hospital, and house surgeon in the Woman's hospital. Since 1886 he has been professor of the diseases of the chest and general medicine in the New York Polyclinic. He is the author of A Practice of Medicine; Page's Physical Diagnosis; Chart of Physical Science; and numerous pamphlets on medical subjects. He is also the author of a Genealogy of the Page Family in Virginia.

PAGE, ROBERT, congressman, was born in 1764, in North End, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1799 to 1801. He died Jan. 1, 1840, in Virginia.

PAGE, SHERMAN, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He served in the assembly of New York from Otsego county in 1827; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1837. He was also judge of the common pleas in Otsego county. He died in Unadilla, N. Y.

PAGE, THOMAS JEFFERSON, soldier, author, was born Jan. 4, 1808, in Shelby, Va. He was a naval officer in the service of the southern confederacy in 1861-62; and the author of La Plata, the Argentine Confederation, and Paraguay.

PAGE, THOMAS NELSON, lawyer, author, was born April 23, 1853, in Oakland, Va. He is a lawyer of Richmond, Va., whose studies of southern life are notable for a singular charm of style. He is the author of In Old Virginia; Two Little Confederates; On Newfound River; Elsket, and Other Stories; The Old South; Pastime Stories; Essays, Social and Political; Unc' Edinburg, a Plantation Echo; The Burial of the Guns; Polly; Among the Camps; Meh Lady; Marse Chan; and Befo' de War.

PAGE, WALTER HINES, journalist, was born Aug. 15, 1855, in Cary, N. C. In 1887 he became manager and stockholder of the Forum, one of the most important high-class periodicals in the United States; and in 1891 he became its editor.

PAGE, WILLIAM BYRD, surgeon, educator, was born May 19, 1817, in Pagebrook, Va. He was for many years professor of surgery in Pennsylvania Medical college, and surgeon to the Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind. He died Feb. 18, 1877, in Philadelphia.

PAIGE, ALLEN WALLACE, legislator, was born Feb. 28, 1855, in Sherman, Conn. He is the senior partner of the firm of Paige and Carroll, one of the most successful law firms in Bridgeport, Conn. In 1882 he was elected a member of the lower house of the general assembly, and in 1890 was returned to the house from the town of Huntington.

PAIGE, ALONZO CHRISTOPHER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born July 31, 1797, in Schaghticoke, N. Y. He was sent to the New York legislature in 1826, and served for four years. In 1837-42 he was a member of the state senate. On the introduction of the elective judiciary system in 1847 he was chosen a judge of the supreme court, and served for four years. He compiled eleven volumes of Reports of Cases in the Court of Chancery, four of which he revised and annotated in 1856-57. He died March 31, 1868, in Schenectady, N. Y.

PAIGE, CHARLES L., poet, was born Dec. 9, 1859, in Pontiac, Ill. Since 1873 he has lived in Shasta, Cal., and has served as postmaster, telegraph operator, and been a successful merchant. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled The White Shoshone; and other works. He is also a constant contributor of both prose and verse to current publications; and his poems have been given a place in several standard collections.

PAIGE, DAVID RAYMOND, merchant, congressman, was born April 8, 1844, in Madison, Ohio. He engaged in the hardware business in Akron, Ohio; and was elected treasurer of Summit county in 1874, and re-elected in 1876. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

PAIGE, LUCIUS ROBINSON, clergyman, author, was born March 8, 1802, in Hardwick, Mass. He was a universalist clergyman who retired from the ministry in 1839, and subsequently filled several offices of trust in Cambridge. He was the author of Commentary on the New Testament; History of Cambridge, 1630-1877, with Genealogical Register; and History of Hardwick, Massachusetts. He died in 1896.

PAINE, ALBERT WARE, lawyer, was born Aug. 16, 1812, in Winslow, Maine. He has practiced law for sixty-two years continuously. In the state of Maine he has been bank and insurance examiner, insurance commissioner, tax commissioner, president of Maine Telegraph company, and president of the Penobscot bar. He is the author of Paine Genealogy and New Philosophy, and has contributed extensively to current publications.

PAINE, CHARLES, manufacturer, governor, was born April 15, 1799, in Williamstown, Vt. He was a liberal patron of the university of Vermont and the Northfield academy; and was governor of the state from 1841 to 1843. He died July 6, 1853, in Waco, Texas.

PAINE, CHARLES JACKSON, soldier, was born Aug. 26, 1833, in Boston, Mass. He served with distinction through the civil war, and attained the brevet of major-general of volunteers. He has taken much interest in yachting; and was one of the builders of the Puritan; and in 1886-87 built alone Mayflower.

PAINE, ELEAZAR A., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born Sept. 10, 1815, in Parkman, Ohio. He served in the Illinois state legislature in 1852-53. He served with distinction through the civil war, and attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Dec. 16, 1882, in Jersey City, N. J.

PAINE, ELIJAH, lawyer, United States senator, was born Jan. 21, 1757, in Brooklyn, Conn. In 1787 he was elected to the Vermont state legislature, and so continued until 1791, when he was appointed judge of the supreme court. He was a trustee of Dartmouth college; president of the Vermont Colonization society; and a pecuniary benefactor of the university of Vermont. He was a senator in congress from Vermont from 1795 to 1801; and in 1801 was appointed judge of the district court of Vermont, which office he held until within a month of his death, when he resigned. He died April 28, 1842, in Williamstown, Vt.

PAINE, ELIJAH, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 10, 1796, in Williamstown, Vt. He was a jurist and legal writer of New York city; and the author of Paine's Reports; and Practice in Civil Actions and Proceedings in the State of New York. He died Oct. 6, 1853, in New York city.

PAINE, EPHRAIM, congressman. He was a delegate from New York to the continental congress in 1784 and 1785.

PAINE, HALBERT E., soldier, congressman, author, was born Feb. 4, 1826, in Chardon, Ohio. He entered the army in 1861 as colonel of the fourth Wisconsin regiment; and was brevetted a major-general in 1865. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses as a republican. He is the author of a Treatise on the Law of Elections to Public Offices.

PAINE, HARRIET ELIZA, educator, author, was born in 18—, in Massachusetts. She is a Boston educator; and the author of Girls and Women, a helpful book for girls.

PAINE, HORACE MARSHFIELD, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 19, 1827, in Paris, N. Y. He began to practice as a homeopathist in Albany, where he has continued, with the exception of the years 1855-65, when he was in Clinton, N. Y. He was an editor of the Medical Union of New York in 1873-74; and is the author of many contributions to medical literature.

PAINE, JOHN ALSOP, archaeologist, was born Jan. 14, 1840, in Newark, N. J. In 1872 he was appointed archaeologist to the first expedition that was sent by the Palestine Exploration society to regions east of the Jordan and the Dead sea. In 1873 he discovered and deciphered one Roman and two Greek inscriptions near Beirut, Syria, the chief one of which, in Greek, he made the subject of a special report, and it was published in the Second Statement of the society.

PAINE, JOHN KNOWLES, musician, composer, was born Jan. 9, 1839, in Portland, Maine. He has given organ concerts in Europe and America; and many of his orchestral works have been performed in the principal cities of the United States. His first symphony was brought out by Theodore Thomas in 1876. He composed the centennial hymn to the words of John G. Whittier that was sung at the opening of the exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876. He is ranked among the foremost living composers.

PAINE, LEVI LEONARD, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 10, 1848, in Holbrook, Mass. He is professor of ecclesiastical history in the Bangor Theological seminary; and a congregational clergyman well known throughout the United States. He is the author of a volume of sermons and addresses, and has contributed various articles to religious journals.

PAINE, MARTYN, physician, author, was born July 8, 1794, in Williamstown, Vt. He was a physician of New York city; and the author of Medical and Physiological Commentaries; Institutes of Medicine; The Cholera Asphyxia of New York (1832); Physiology of Digestion; Physiology of the Soul and Instinct as Distinguished from Materialism; Review of Theoretical Geology; The Philosophy of Vitality; Defense of the Medical Profession of the United States; A Therapeutical Arrangement of Materia Medica; and Organic Life Distinguished from Chemical and Physical Doctrines. He died Nov. 10, 1877, in New York city.

PAINE, ROBERT, bishop, author, was born Nov. 12, 1799, in Parson county, N. C. He was a prominent methodist bishop whose Life and Times of Bishop McKendree was once a popular biography. He died Oct. 20, 1882, in Aberdeen, Miss.

PAINE, ROBERT T., congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857.

PAINE, ROBERT TREAT, signer of the declaration of independence, was born March 11, 1731, in Boston, Mass. In 1773 he was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature; and was a delegate to the provincial congress from 1774 to 1775. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1778, and a signer of the declaration of independence. In 1776 he was one of the deputies sent by congress to visit the army of Schuyler in the north. He was speaker of the house of representatives of the state in 1777. He was attorney-general of Massachusetts, and a member of the executive council. He was judge of the supreme court of the state from 1790 to 1804; and was founder of the American academy of Massachusetts in 1780. He died May 11, 1814, in Boston, Mass.

PAINE, ROBERT TREAT, author, poet, was born Dec. 9, 1773, in Taunton, Mass. He was once a noted poet of Boston whose spirited song, Adams and Liberty, has preserved his memory. He gave up his profession of law for literary pursuits, and received large sums for his poems, among which are, The Invention of Letters, and The Ruling Passion. His work was stilted and conventional, with the exception of the song named above. His collected Verse and Prose, edited by Prentiss, appeared in 1812. He died Nov. 13, 1811, in Boston, Mass.

PAINE, THOMAS, author, was born Jan. 29, 1737, in England. He was a celebrated political and deistical writer of English birth who came to America in 1774, and in 1776 issued his famous pamphlet, Common Sense, which was of great service to the American cause. In the American Crisis, published in numbers, 1776-83, he continued his defense of America. His other works include, The Rights of Man, a reply to Burke's Reflections on the French Revolution; and The Age of Reason. He died June 8, 1809, in New York.

PAINE, TIMOTHY OTIS, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 13, 1824, in Winslow, Maine. He was a Swedenborgian clergyman of Elmwood, Mass.; and the author of Solomon's Temple and Capitol and Idolatrous High Places. He died in 1895.

PAINE, WILLIAM, physician, journalist, educator, author, was born in 1821, in Chesterfield, Mass. He became professor of the principles and practice of medicine and pathology in the Eclectic Medical college of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; and became editor of the Eclectic Medical Journal in that city, and of the University Journal of Medicine and Surgery. He is the author of Epitome of the American Eclectic Practice of Medicine; American Eclectic Practice of Surgery, Obstetrics, and Diseases of Women and Children; and The Domestic Practice of Medicine.

PAINE, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, was born Feb. 23, 1863, in Milan, N. H. He received a liberal education, and graduated from the Harvard Law school. He has served as justice of the peace; has been solicitor for Rockingham county, N. H.; and for six years was a member of the school board of Newmarket, N. H. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Berlin, N. H.

PAINTER, GAMALIEL, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born May 22, 1743, in New Haven, Conn. In 1773 he erected the first house in Middlebury, Vt. He was a delegate to the convention that declared the independence of Vermont in 1777. He was a state representative; judge of the county court, and councilor in 1813 and 1814; and a member of the first constitutional convention of Vermont in 1793. He was principal founder of Middlebury college, to which, at his death, he left a bequest of about ten thousand dollars. He died May 22, 1819, in Middlebury, Vt.

PALEN, JOSEPH G., lawyer, jurist, was born in New York. He was appointed chief justice of the supreme court for the territory of New Mexico. He died Dec. 21, 1875, in Santa Fe, N. M.

PALEN, RUFUS, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1839 to 1841.

PALENSKE, LOUIS, merchant, banker, state legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1858, in Kansas. He is a successful merchant of Alma, Kan.; and president of the Alma National bank. In 1897 he was elected a member of the Kansas state legislature, and has always taken great interest in educational legislation.

PALFREY, FRANCIS WINTHROP, soldier, author, was born April 11, 1831, in Boston. He was an officer in the federal army during the civil war, and from 1872 register of bankruptcy in Boston. He was the author of Antietam and Fredericksburg; and Memoir of William Francis Bartlett. He died Dec. 5, 1889, in France.

PALFREY, JOHN CARVER, soldier, banker, educator, author, was born Dec. 25, 1833, in Cambridge, Mass. He was brevetted major, lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general, United States army, in 1865. He became overseer of the Thayer School of Civil Engineering in Dartmouth in 1868, and is a vice-president of the Webster bank in Boston.

PALFREY, JOHN GORHAM, educator, journalist, clergyman, congressman, lecturer, author, was born May 2, 1796, in Boston, Mass. He was ordained a unitarian preacher in 1818; was subsequently, for a number of years, editor of the North American Review; was professor of sacred literature in Harvard college from 1830 to 1838. During the years 1842 and 1847 he was a member of the general court; and was elected secretary of the commonwealth of Massachusetts. He was a member of congress from 1847 to 1849. In 1861 he was appointed postmaster of Boston. His literary reputation rests upon his History of New England, a painstaking work. Other works by him are, Lectures on the Jewish Scriptures; and The Relation between Judaism and Christianity. He died April 26, 1881, in Cambridge, Mass.

PALFREY, SARAH HAMMOND, author, poet, was born Dec. 11, 1823, in Boston, Mass. She is a novelist and poet of Cambridge. Her work in verse comprises Prénices; Sir Pavon and St. Pavon; The Chapel; The Blossoming Rod; and Agnes Wentworth. In fiction she has published Katharine Morne; and Herman, or Young Knighthood.

PALFREY, WARWICK, journalist, state legislator, author, was born in 1787, in Salem, Mass. He began his apprenticeship in the Essex Register office in 1801, and was its editor from 1805 till his death. He was a member of the city council of Salem, and of both branches of the Massachusetts legislature for several years. He was the author of Evangelical Psalms. He died Aug. 23, 1838, in Salem, Mass.

PALLEN, MONTROSE ANDERSON, educator, inventor, author, was born Jan. 2, 1836, in Vicksburg, Mass. In 1883 he assisted in forming the Post-Graduate Medical college in New York city. He has written much for medical periodicals, and published Abnormalities of Vision and Ophthalmoscope; Uterine Abnormalities; Prophylaxis of Pregnancy; and Dysmenorrhœa.

PALMER, AARON, educator, writer, was born Dec. 26, 1860, in Mount Carroll, Ill. He has attained success in educational work; in 1888-89 was superintendent of schools at Savanna, and has since been superintendent of schools in Oxford Junction and Anamosa, Iowa. He has contributed extensively to the periodical press on educational and other topics.

PALMER, ALBERT GALLATIN, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 11, 1813, in North Stonington, Conn. He has spent his ministerial life in preaching to the baptist church in Stonington borough, Conn. Besides a large number of published sermons, he is the author of an Historical Discourse; and many poems, among them a translation of the Dies Iræ. He has issued a collection of these, with the title Psalms of Faith and Songs of Life.

PALMER, ALBERT MARSHMAN, theater-manager, was born July 27, 1838, in North Stonington, Conn. He served as librarian of the Mercantile library in New York city. In June, 1872, he assumed the management of the Union Square theater in New York, and continued there until 1882; and in 1884 assumed control of the Madison Square theater in New York. He is one of the founders of the Actors' fund of America, and is now its president.

PALMER, ALICE ELVIRA, educator, college president, was born Feb. 21, 1855, in Colesville, N. Y. In 1879 she was appointed professor in history in the Wellesley college; and in 1882 she became president of that college.

PALMER, ALONZO BENJAMIN, educator, physician, author, was born Oct. 6, 1815, in Richfield, N. Y. He was a physician who was medical professor in the university of Michigan in 1852; and the author of Homœopathy, What Is It?; The Treatment of the Science and Practice of Medicine; Epidemic Cholera; Temperance Teachings of Science; and Diarrhœa and Dysentery. He died Dec. 23, 1887, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

PALMER, MRS. ANNA [CAMPBELL], author, poet, was born Feb. 3, 1854, in Elmira, N. Y. She is a writer of Elmira, N. Y.; and the author of The Summer-ville Prize; Little Brown Seed; Lally Gay; Lally Gay and her Sister; and Verses from a Mother's Corner.

PALMER, ANTHONY, governor, was born in England. He was a justice of the peace and of the county courts of Philadelphia county from 1718 until 1732, and for several years one of the judges of the court of common pleas. He was colonial governor for many years. He died in May, 1749, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PALMER, BENJAMIN MORGAN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 25, 1781, in Philadelphia. He was pastor for several years of the presbyterian church in Beaufort, S. C., and from 1817 till 1835 of a church in Charleston. In addition to numerous sermons he published The Family Companion. He died Oct. 9, 1847, in Charleston, S. C.

PALMER, BENJAMIN MORGAN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 25, 1818, in Charleston, S. C. He is a presbyterian minister of New Orleans; and the author of Life and Letters of James Thornwell; Sermons; The Family in its Civil and Churchly Aspects; Formation of Character; The Broken Home; and Theology of Prayer.

PALMER, BERIAH, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served four years in the assembly of New York from Saratoga county; and was a representative in congress from 1803 to 1805.

PALMER, C. S., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 2, 1844, in Underhill, Vt. In 1876 and 1877 he was state's attorney for Chittenden county, Vt., and in 1880 and 1881 was a representative in the Vermont legislature. In 1882 he was appointed assistant United States attorney for the territory of Dakota; and in 1883 was appointed a member of the territorial board of tax commissioners. In 1884 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Dakota. He was judge advocate general for Dakota for the year 1885.

PALMER, CHARLES JAMES, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 4, 1854, in Fairfield, Maine. He has filled pastorates in Bangor, Maine, and Lanesboro, Mass.; and is the author of a History of Lanesboro, Lenox and Otis, Mass.

PALMER, COURTLANDT, lawyer, author, was born March 25, 1843, in New York city. He established the Nineteenth Century club of New York city in 1880, and as the president of that organization delivered many addresses and contributed largely to the literature of free thought. He died July 23, 1888, at Lake Dunmore, Vt.

PALMER, ELIHU, clergyman, author, was born in 1764 in Canterbury, Conn. He was a writer of New York city who was in his early career a congregational minister, but became a deist and a political agitator. He was the author of The Principles of Nature; and Prospect or View of the Moral World from 1804. He died April 7, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PALMER, FANNY PURDY, public official, author, poet, was born July 11, 1839, in New York city. She is auditor of the general federation of women's clubs; president of the Short Story club of Providence, R. I., and identified in various other ways with women's club interests. She has served several terms on the school committee of Providence; has been a member of the board of visitors to state institutions where women are imprisoned; and in 1894 was appointed state inspector of factories and workshops, which involves a great deal of important public work. She is the author of A Dead Level, and Other Episodes, and a volume of poems.

PALMER, FRANCIS WAYLAND, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 11, 1827, in Manchester, Ind. He worked as a journeyman printer in New York city; and was for ten years the publisher and editor of the James-town Journal, in Chautauqua county. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1853 and 1854. He moved to Iowa in 1858, and became editor and part owner of the Dubuque Times. In 1860 he was elected printer for the state, holding the office eight years. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-first congress; and was re-elected to the forty-second congress as a republican.

PALMER, GEORGE HERBERT, educator, author, was born in 18... in Massachusetts. He is professor of natural religion, moral philosophy, and civil polity at Harvard university. He has published The New Education, and an English translation of the Odyssey in rhythmic prose.

PALMER, GEORGE W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 13, 1818, in Hoosick, N. Y. He was surrogate of Clinton county from 1843 to 1847; and a representative in the thirty-fifth congress from New York. He was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. In 1866 he was appointed a judge of the mixed court at Sierra Leone, under the treaty with Great Britain for the more effectual suppression of the slave trade.

PALMER, MRS. HENRIETTA [LEE], author, was born Feb. 6, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. She is the author of The Stratford Gallery, or the Shakespeare Sisterhood; Home Life in the Bible; and The Heroines of Shakespeare.

PALMER, HENRY E., soldier, legislator, was born July 31, 1841, in Madison, Ohio. He was the first white settler in the Big Horn mountain region of Wyoming, and was captured by the Indians and kept a prisoner three weeks. For twenty years he has been in the business of general insurance, and has become prominent in various societies.

PALMER, HORATIO RICHMOND, musician, author, was born Sept. 26, 1834, in Sherburne, N. Y. He is the author of Elements of Musical Composition; and Theory of Music.

PALMER, INNIS NEWTON, soldier, was born March 30, 1824, in Buffalo, N. Y. He was brigadier-general in the union army at Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill.

PALMER, JAMES SHEDDEN, naval officer, was born in 1810 in New Jersey. He served in the United States navy during the civil war; and for meritorious services received the rank of rear admiral. He died Dec. 7, 1867.

PALMER, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1785 in Hoosick, N. Y. He was elected from New York a representative to congress in 1817, but before the expiration of his term was chosen district attorney for Clinton county, in which capacity he served until 1831. During that year he was made the first judge of said county, and held the office until 1836. He was again elected to congress in 1837, and served one term. He died Dec. 8, 1840, in the West Indies.

PALMER, JOHN MCAULEY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Sept. 13, 1817, in Scott county, Ky. In 1843 he was elected probate judge of Macoupin county, Ill.; in 1847 was elected a member of the convention to amend the state constitution; in 1848 was re-elected probate judge, and in November of the same year was elected county judge, which office he held until 1852, when he was elected to the state senate to fill a vacancy; and was elected again in 1854. In 1859 he was a candidate for congress. In 1861 he was elected colonel of the fourteenth regiment of Illinois infantry; was promoted to brigadier-general of volunteers; and was promoted to major-general of volunteers. He removed to Springfield in 1867; and was elected governor of Illinois in 1868. In 1890 he was elected United States senator.

PALMER, JOHN WILLIAMSON, physician, author, was born April 4, 1825, in Baltimore, Md. He was a physician and writer of Baltimore and subsequently of New York city. He was the author of The Queen's Heart; a Comedy; The Beauties and Curiosities of Engraving; After His Kind, a novel; The Golden Dragon, or Up and Down the Irrawaddi; and The New and the Old, or California and India. He died in 1896.

PALMER, JOSEPH, soldier, congressman, was born in 1718 in Massachusetts. He was a member of the provincial congress in 1777. In 1777 he was appointed brigadier-general commanding the Massachusetts militia in the defense of Rhode Island. He died Dec. 25, 1788, in Roxbury, Mass.

PALMER, JULIUS AUBOINEAU, author, was born in 1840 in Massachusetts. He is the author of About Mushrooms; Memories of Hawaii; One Voyage and its Consequences; Mushrooms of America; and Again in Hawaii.

PALMER, MINNIE, actress, was born March 3, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa. She has attained a national reputation as a successful actress.

PALMER, MRS. PHOEBE WORRELL, evangelist, author, was born Dec. 18, 1807, in New York city. She was a Wesleyan evangelist of New York city, whose writing is mainly concerned with the doctrine of perfection. She was the author of The Way of Holiness; Entire Devotion; Faith and its Effect; Promises of the Father; Four Years in the Old World; and Pioneer Experiences. She died Nov. 2, 1874, in New York city.

PALMER, POTTER, financier, was born in 1826 in Rensselaerville, N. Y. He built the Palmer house and erected a number of other buildings and became one of the most energetic of that group of confident men who evoked a greater Chicago from the ashes of the conflagration of 1871. The Lake Shore drive originated with Mr. Palmer.

PALMER, RAY, clergyman, author, poet, was born Nov. 12, 1808, in Little Compton, R. I. He was a congregational clergyman of Albany, widely known as a writer of hymns, the most famous of which is, My Faith Looks up to Thee. Home, or the Unlost Paradise; Spiritual Improvement; Closet Hours; Hymns and Poems; Hymns of My Holy Hours; Remember Me; and Voices of Hope and Gladness.

PALMER, ROBERT M., journalist, lawyer, state senator, was born in 1820 in Mount Holly, N. J. In 1850 he was elected district attorney for Schuylkill county, N. J.; and subsequently to the state senate, over which he presided as speaker. In 1861 he was appointed minister to the Argentine Confederation, but was compelled to resign on account of his health. He died April 26, 1862, at sea.

PALMER, WALTER LAUNT, artist, was born Aug. 1, 1854, in Albany, N. Y. In 1881 he was elected a member of the Society of American Artists, and in 1887 he received the second Hallgarten prize for his January, which painting also gained him his election as an associate of the National academy. Among his works are Dining-Room at Appledale (1879); An Editor's Study; Waving Grain (1881); Venice; The Oat-Field; The Inlet; and An Early Snow.

PALMER, WILLIAM ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, governor, United States senator, was born Sept. 12, 1791, in Hebron, Conn. He was a member of the Vermont legislature for six years; judge of the supreme court in 1816; and was a senator in congress from Vermont from 1818 to 1825. He was governor of Vermont from 1831 to 1835; a member of the constitutional convention of 1828 and 1836; and judge of probate and of the county court. He was two years a state senator. He died Dec. 3, 1860, in Danville, Vt.

PALMER, WILLIAM J., railroad president, was born Sept. 18, 1836, in Kent county, Del. Since 1883 he has been president of the Rio Grande Western railroad; and was also for several years president of the Mexican National railroad.

PALMER, WILLIAM LEDYARD, clergyman, was born Jan. 21, 1820, in Lenox, Madison county, N. Y. He graduated in 1856 from the collegiate department of the Madison university, now known as the Colgate university; and in 1859 he graduated from the theological department of the same institution, receiving in course the degree of A. M. For five years he was pastor in East

Poultney, Vt.; for five years was pastor in West Cornwall, Vt.; for nine years was pastor in Middletown Springs, Vt.; for three years was pastor in Manchester, Mich.; and since 1896 has been pastor in Norvell, Mich. He has published sermons, addresses; and for half a century has contributed extensively to religious literature.

PALMER, WILLIAM PITT, business man, poet, was born Feb. 22, 1805, in Stockbridge, Mass. He was an insurance president of New York city, known also as a verse writer. He was the author of Light; and Echoes of Half a Century, a collection of poems. He died May 2, 1884, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PALMORE, WILLIAM B., clergyman, lecturer, editor, was born Feb. 24, 1844, in Fayette county, Tenn. He received his education at the Vanderbilt university. During the civil war he carried Gen. John S. Marmaduke's division flag while a boy in the confederate army. He has been a successful clergyman and lecturer; and for many years has been the editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate.

PAMMEL, LOUIS HERMANN, botanist, was born April 19, 1862, in La Crosse, Wis. He attended the country schools, and in 1885 graduated from the university of Wisconsin; subsequently attending the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo., and doing research work in the Missouri botanical garden. For several years he was an assistant in the Shaw School of Botany; and was also employed by the Texas agricultural experiment station. Since 1889 he has filled the chair of botany in the Iowa Agricultural college; and also botanist of the Iowa agricultural experiment station, and has been engaged to do some special work for the United States department of agriculture.

PANCOAST, JOSEPH, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1805 in Burlington, N. J. He was an eminent surgeon of Philadelphia, professor of surgery in Jefferson Medical college in 1838-74; and the author of Operative Surgery; Essays and Lectures; and System of Anatomy. He died March 7, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PANCOAST, SETH, educator, physician, author, was born July 28, 1823, in Darby, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician, professor in Pennsylvania Medical college in 1854-62; and the author of The Cabala; Consumption; Ladies' Medical Guide; Boyhood Perils; and Bright's Disease. He died Dec. 16, 1889, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PANCOAST, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 11, 1835, in Philadelphia. In 1874 he succeeded his father as professor in Jefferson Medical college. In 1884 he secured the bodies of the Siamese twins, and proved that the band could not have been safely cut except in their childhood. He became professor of the Philadelphia Medico-chirurgical college in 1886.

PANGBORN, FREDERIC W., journalist, poet, was born March 7, 1855, in St. Albans, Vt. For twenty years he has been connected with the Evening Journal of Jersey City, N. J., and is now its managing editor. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems, many of which have appeared in standard collections.

PAQUIN, PAUL, physician, author, was born in 1860 in Canada. He is the author of The Supreme Passions of Man; The Microscopical Diagnosis of Human Nature; and The Basis of Character and the Diseases of Personality.

PARDEE, DON A., soldier, jurist, was born March 29, 1837, in Wadsworth, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and graduated from the United States Naval academy. He served during the civil war as captain, major, lieutenant-colonel and brevet brigadier-general of the United States volunteers. He is a noted lawyer of New Orleans, La.; has been register in bankruptcy; in 1868 was elected state judge; and is now judge of the United States circuit court of the fifth judicial circuit.

PARET, THOMAS DUNKIN, inventor, was born Dec. 20, 1837, in New York city. He has taken a leading part in the development and extension of grinding processes, and has been president of the Tantine company at Stroudsburg, Pa., which manufactures emery-wheels, since its organization in 1867. He has contributed many technical articles to scientific periodicals.

PARET, WILLIAM, bishop of Maryland, was born Sept. 23, 1826, in New York city. He is the author of St. Peter and the Primacy of the Roman See; Our Freedom and Our Catholic Heritage; The Method and Work of Lent, and other works.

PARISH, AARON SMITH, educator, was born Dec. 28, 1841, in Farmer, N. Y. For over twenty years he has been proprietor of the Business college of Grand Rapids, Mich.

PARISH, ELIJAH, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 7, 1762, in Lebanon, Conn. He was a congregational minister, pastor at Byfield, Mass., in 1787-1825. He was co-author with Jedediah Morse of several geographical works, and wrote a New System of Modern Geography. He died Oct. 15, 1825, in Byfield, Mass.

PARK, BENJAMIN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 2, 1777, in New Jersey. From 1805 to 1808 he was a delegate in congress from Indiana territory; and was soon after appointed judge of the district court, which office he held until his death. He died July 12, 1835, in Salem, Ind.

PARK, EDWARDS AMASA, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1808, in Providence, R. I. He is a congregational clergyman in Andover, Mass., professor in the Theological seminary there in 1835-81; and the author of Discourses and Treatises on the Atonement; Discourses on Some Theological Doctrines as Related to the Religious Character; and Lives of S Hopkins, and others.

PARK, I. V., journalist, was born Dec. 7, 1848, in Franklin county, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the district schools, and subsequently attended the Wesleyan university of Bloomington, Ill. He has been a general writer for the press, and correspondent of leading metropolitan journals; and is now the editor and owner of The Daily and Weekly Times of Joliet, Ill.

PARK, JAMES, iron-master, was born Jan. 11, 1820, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1863 he was the first to introduce the Siemens gas-furnace into this country. He had a high reputation as a progressive leader among iron-masters, and was active in the American Institute of Mining Engineers. He died April 21, 1883, in Allegheny, Pa.

PARK, JOHN, physician, journalist, was born Jan. 7, 1775, in Windham, N. H. In 1803 he established at Newburyport, Mass., the New England Repository, a semi-weekly federalist journal, which he afterward transferred to Boston. In 1811 he disposed of his newspaper and established at Boston a high-school for young women, which he conducted with great success for twenty years. In 1814 he published the Boston Spectator. He died March 2, 1852, in Worcester, Mass.

PARK, ROSWELL, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 1, 1807, in Lebanon, Conn. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator, president and chancellor of Racine college in 1852-63; and the author of Sketch of the History of West Point; Jerusalem, and Other Poems; and Pantology, or Systematic Survey of Human Knowledge. He died July 16, 1869, in Chicago, Ill.

PARK, ROSWELL, educator, author, was born in 1852 in Lebanon, Conn. He is a professor of surgery in the university of Buffalo from 1883 who has published Lectures on Surgical Pathology.

PARKE, JOHN, soldier, author, was born April 7, 1754, in Dover, Del. He was an officer in the American army during the revolution, who published The Lyric Works of Horace. The translation, in rhymed verse, was dedicated to Washington, and in it the names of American patriots were substituted for those of the Roman worthies. He died Dec. 11, 1789, near Dover, Del.

PARKE, JOHN GRUBB, soldier, educator, author, was born Sept. 22, 1827, in Chester county, Pa. He was a soldier of distinction who was superintendent of the United States Military academy in 1887, and was retired from active service in 1889. He is the author of United States Laws Relating to Public Works; and Laws Relating to the Construction of Bridges over Navigable Waters.

PARKE, THOMAS, educator, physician, college president, lecturer, was born Aug. 6, 1749, in Chester county, Pa. In 1787 he was one of the founders of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, and from 1818 until his death he was president of this body, and was the last survivor of its founders. He died Jan. 9, 1835, in Philadelphia.

PARKER, ABRAHAM X., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 14, 1831, in Granville, Vt. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1863 and 1864; and a state senator from 1868 to 1871. He was elected a representative from New York in the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican.

PARKER, AMASA JUNIUS, was born June 2, 1807, in Sharon, Conn. In 1833 he was elected a representative in the New York state legislature; and in 1835 was chosen a regent of the university. From 1837 to 1839 he was a representative in congress. In 1844 he was appointed a circuit judge and vice-chancellor of the court of equity. Soon after the adoption of a new state constitution, he became a judge of the supreme court of New York. In 1859 he was appointed United States attorney for the district of New York. He died May 13, 1890, in Albany, N. Y.

PARKER, AMASA J., lawyer, state senator, was born May 6, 1843, in Delhi, N. Y.; and is a son of the late Judge Amasa J. Parker. In 1863 he graduated from Union college, and in the year following from the Albany Law school, and has since practiced his profession in Albany, N. Y. Since 1864 he has been connected with the national guard, having served from private to brigadier-general. In 1882 he was elected to the New York state assembly; and for three terms has been a member of the state senate, in 1886-87, in 1892-93, and again in 1894-95.

PARKER, AMOS ANDREW, legislator, journalist, author, was born in 1792 in Fitzwilliam, N. H. For several years he was editor of the New Hampshire Statesman; and served thirteen sessions in the New Hampshire legislature. He is the author of several books, among which are A Trip to the West of Texas; and Poems at Four-Score.

PARKER, ANDREW, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

PARKER, BENJAMIN S., merchant, author, poet, was born Feb. 10, 1833, in Indiana. For twenty years he has been a merchant of New Castle, Ind. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled The Cabin in the Clearing; and has also compiled a volume of Indiana poetry.

PARKER, BOWDOIN S., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 10, 1841, in Conway, Mass. He is a successful lawyer of Boston, Mass.; was a member of the city council for three years; and for two years served with distinction as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. He is a veteran of the war of the rebellion; a commissioned officer of the Massachusetts volunteer militia for eighteen years, and was placed on the retired list with rank of lieutenant-colonel.

PARKER, C. M., educator, journalist, was born Sept. 17, 1860, in Wilkes county, N. C. He is the founder, editor and owner of The School News of Taylorville, Ill.

PARKER, CHARLES, manufacturer, was born Jan. 2, 1809, in Cheshire, Conn. He is the president of the Charles Parker company, iron founders and producers of hardware, and of Parker Bro's, manufacturers of guns; and is one of the most valuable residents of Meriden, Conn., and has done as much as any other man there to convert that city into the perfect hive of industry which it is.

It was he who first introduced steam power into a factory in Meriden. His little shop has now grown into five separate and distinct factories, all located in different parts of Meriden, and there is also a factory at Yalesville, a village three miles from Meriden.

PARKER, CORTLANDT, lawyer, was born June 27, 1818, in Perth Amboy, N. J. He was one of the revisers of the laws of New Jersey in 1875, and a commissioner to settle the boundaries between that state and Delaware.

PARKER, DANIEL, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 29, 1782, in Shirley, Mass. He became chief clerk in the United States war department in 1810, adjutant and inspector-general, Nov. 22, 1814, paymaster-general in 1821, and in 1841 he returned to the war department as chief clerk. He published an Army Register.

PARKER, EDWARD GRIFFIN, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 16, 1825, in Boston, Mass. He was a lawyer of New York city; and the author of The Golden Age of American Oratory; and Reminiscences of Rufus Choate. He died March 30, 1868, in New York city.

PARKER, EDWIN POND, clergyman, author, poet, was born Jan. 13, 1836, in Castine, Maine. He is a congregational clergyman of Hartford, pastor of the south church from 1860; and the author of Book of Praise; Memorial of H. Bushnell; and The Ministry of Natural Beauty.

PARKER, MRS. ELIZABETH LOWBER [CHANDLER]—Bessie Chandler—author, was born in 1856 in New York. She is a writer of Batavia, N. Y., who has contributed much to magazines. She is the author of A Woman who Failed and Others.

PARKER, FOXHALL ALEXANDER, naval officer, author, was born Aug. 5, 1821, in New York city. He was a commodore in the United States navy; and the author of Fleet Tactics under Steam; The Naval Howitzer Afloat; The Naval Howitzer Ashore; The Fleets of the World; The Battle of Mobile Bay; and Elia, or Spain Fifty Years Ago, a translation from the Spanish. He died June 10, 1879, in Annapolis, Md.

PARKER, FRANCIS WAYLAND, soldier, educator, author, was born Oct. 9, 1837, in Bedford, N. H. He is a prominent educator of Chicago, principal of the Cook County Normal school, and formerly supervisor of the Boston schools. He is the author of Talks on Teaching; The Practical Teacher; Course in Arithmetic; and How to Teach Geography.

PARKER, GEORGE WASHINGTON, railroad president, was born in August, 1836, in Springfield, Ill. He was president of the Second National bank of Charleston; and in 1887 was elected president of the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute railroad, which position he still holds.

PARKER, GILBERT, author, was born in 1861, in Ontario, Canada. He is a popular Canadian novelist now living in the United States; and the author of Pierre and His People; Tales of the Far North; An Adventurer of the North; A Romany of the Snows; A Lover's Diary; When Valmond Came to Pontiac; The Seats of the Mighty; and The Pomp of the La-villettes.

PARKER, MRS. HELEN FITCH, author, was born Dec. 20, 1827, in Auburn, N. Y. She was the author of Sunrise and Sunset; Morning Stars of the New World; Rambles After Land Shells; Missions and Martyrs of Madagascar; Frank's Search for Sea Shells; Constance of Aylmer, a tale; Blind Florette; and Arthur's Aquarium. She died Dec. 4, 1874, in Amherst, Mass.

PARKER, HENRY, governor, was born about 1690, near Savannah, Ga. During 1750-54 he was governor of Georgia. He died about 1778, on the Isle of Hope, Ga.

PARKER, HENRY LANGDON, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 7, 1832, in Acton, Mass. During 1887-90 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature, and has filled several judicial positions.

PARKER, HENRY WEBSTER, educator, clergyman, poet, was born Sept. 7, 1824, in Danby, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman and educator, professor of mental science in Iowa college from 1879; and the author of The Story of a Soul, a poem; and Verse.

PARKER, HOSEA W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born May 30, 1833, in Lempster, N. H. He was a member of the legislature of New Hampshire in 1859. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

PARKER, ISAAC, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 17, 1768, in Boston, Mass. He was elected to congress, serving as a representative from 1797 to 1799. He was appointed, by President Adams, marshal for the district of Maine, which office he held until 1801. He afterward removed to Portland. In 1806 he became judge of the supreme court, and in 1814 chief justice, which position he occupied for sixteen years. For several years he was professor of law in Harvard university. He died May 26, 1830, in Boston, Mass.

PARKER, ISAAC C., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 15, 1838, in Belmont county, Ohio. He removed to St. Joseph, Mo.; and was elected city attorney in 1862 and 1863. In 1868 he was elected circuit judge for six years, but resigned in 1870; and was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses. In 1875 he was appointed chief justice of Utah; and in March of the same year was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Arkansas.

PARKER, JAMES, physician, congressman, was born in 1768, in Boston, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1813 to 1815, and from 1819 to 1821. He died Nov. 9, 1837, in Gardiner, Maine.

PARKER, JAMES, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born March 3, 1776, in Bethlehem, N. J. He was a member of the New Jersey legislature in 1806-18; and was a representative in congress from 1833 to 1837. He served as one of the commissioners on the part of New Jersey to settle the boundary and jurisdiction between New York and New Jersey. He died April 1, 1868, in Perth Amboy, N. J.

PARKER, JAMES CUTTER DUNN, musician, author, was born June 2, 1828, in Boston, Mass. He is a Boston musician; and the author of Manual of Harmony; and Theoretical and Practical Harmony.

PARKER, JAMES HENRY, banker, was born Jan. 4, 1843, in Johnston county, N. C. In 1882 he moved to New York and carried on a cotton and commission business with success, serving for two years as president of the Cotton exchange. In 1891 the United States National bank called him to its presidency and he is yet at its head.

PARKER, JOEL, educator, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Jan. 25, 1795, in Jaffrey, N. H. He was a jurist of Massachusetts, professor of law at Harvard university in 1847-75; and the author of The War Power of Congress; The Right of Secession; The Non-Extension of Slavery; Constitutional Law; Revolution and Construction; The Three Powers of Government; and Conflict of Decisions. He died Aug. 17, 1875, in Cambridge, Mass.

PARKER, JOEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 27, 1799, in Bethel, Nt. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city; and the author of Lectures on Unitarianism; Invitations to True Happiness; Reasonings of a Pastor; Sermons; and Notes on Twelve Psalms. He died May 2, 1873, in New York city.

PARKER, JOEL, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 24, 1816, near Freehold, N. J. He received a common school education at Trenton; graduated at Princeton college in 1839; studied law, and came to the bar in 1842. He was elected to the state legislature in 1847; and was, for a time, attorney for his county. In 1861 he was elected major-general of volunteers.

In 1862 he was elected governor of New Jersey for three years; and was again elected governor in 1871. He died Jan. 2, 1888, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PARKER, JOHN, congressman, was born Jan. 24, 1749, in Charleston, S. C. He was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress from 1786 to 1788. He died April 20, 1822, near Charleston, S. C.

PARKER, JOHN ADAMS, artist, was born Nov. 29, 1829, in New York city. Mountain scenery has especially claimed his attention, and the Adirondacks, the Catskills, and the White mountains have furnished him with most of the subjects for his paintings. They include Twilight in the Adirondacks; Winter; Winter

Twilight; and Landscape in the Adirondacks—Twilight.

PARKER, JOHN MASON, lawyer, congressman, was born June 14, 1805, in Granville, N. Y. He was a representative in the thirty-fifth congress from New York.

PARKER, JOSIAH, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1789 to 1801.

PARKER, LINUS, methodist episcopal bishop, was born in 1829, in Rome, N. Y. He was editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate in New Orleans, La., for some time. Early in his ministry he was elected a delegate to the general conference, and sat in its quadrennial sessions from 1870 till 1882, inclusive. In the latter year he was elected a bishop. He died March 5, 1885, in New Orleans, La.

PARKER, NAHUM, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born March 4, 1760, in Cheshire county, N. H. He was a state counselor of New Hampshire from 1805 to 1807. He was United States senator from 1807 to 1810; judge of the court of common pleas from 1822 to 1825; and president of the state senate in 1828. He died Nov. 12, 1839, in Fitzwilliam, N. H.

PARKER, NATHAN HOWE, author. He is the author of Iowa as It Is in 1855; Kansas and Nebraska Handbook for 1857-58; The Missouri Handbook; and Missouri as It Is in 1867.

PARKER, NELSON AUGUSTUS, soldier, lawyer, was born July 18, 1840, in Hamburg, N. Y. In 1868 he graduated from the law department of the Michigan university; and since 1869 has practiced law in Benzie and adjoining counties with success. He has been prosecuting attorney of Benzie county; has been candidate for judge of probate and for circuit judge; and in 1884 was a delegate to the national greenback convention. In 1868 he was a delegate to the national soldiers' convention at Chicago; and voted to nominate General U. S. Grant for his first term as president. During the war he was sergeant, lieutenant and captain of company B, twentieth regiment, Michigan volunteer infantry.

PARKER, MRS. PERMELIA JANE (MARSH), author, was born June 16, 1836, in Milan, N. Y. She is a writer of Rochester, N. Y., and the author of Toiling and Hoping, a novel; The Boy Missionary; Losing the Way; Under His Banner; The Midnight Cry, a novel of the Millerite delusion; Rochester, a Story Historical; Life of S. F. B. Morse; The Morgan Boys; Around the Manger; and Andy, the story of a Troublesome Boy.

PARKER, PETER, missionary, author, was born June 18, 1804, in Framingham, Mass. He was a congregational missionary and diplomat in China, and after 1857 a resident of Washington. He was the author of Journal of an Expedition from Singapore to Japan; and Statement Respecting Hospitals in China. He died Jan. 10, 1888, in Washington, D. C.

PARKER, RICHARD, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851.

PARKER, RICHARD ELLIOTT, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Dec. 27, 1783, in Westmoreland county, Va. In early life he was a member of the Virginia house of delegates; and was for many years a judge of the general and circuit courts of Virginia. He was also a judge of the supreme court of appeals; and for a brief period in 1836 and 1837 was a senator in congress. He died Sept. 9, 1840, in Richmond, Va.

PARKER, RICHARD GREEN, educator, author, was born in 1798 in Massachusetts. He was an educator of Boston; and the author of Natural Philosophy; and Aids to English Composition. He died in 1869.

PARKER, RICHARD WAYNE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 6, 1848, in Morristown, N. J. He is a successful lawyer of Newark, N. J.; and was a member of the house of assembly of New Jersey in 1885 and 1886. He was the republican candidate for the fifty-third congress and was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

PARKER, SAMUEL, protestant episcopal bishop, author, was born Aug. 17, 1744, in Portsmouth, N. H. In 1803 he was unanimously elected to the episcopate of Massachusetts, and was consecrated in Trinity church, New York city, in 1804. He published an Annual Election Sermon Before the Legislature of Massachusetts; a Sermon for the Benefit of the Boston Female Asylum; and several other occasional discourses. He died Dec. 6, 1804, in Boston, Mass.

PARKER, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born April 23, 1779, in Ashfield, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of New York state, said to have been the first who suggested the possibility of a railway through the Rocky mountains to the Pacific ocean. He published, Exploring Tour Beyond the Rocky Mountains. He died March 24, 1866, in Ithaca, N. Y.

PARKER, SAMUEL W., journalist, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1805, in Jefferson county, N. Y. He was elected to the Indiana legislature in 1836, where he served five years. He was two years attorney for the state, and was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1851 to 1855.

PARKER, SEVERN E., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Northampton county, Va. He was a prominent member of the Virginia legislature; and a representative in congress from 1819 to 1821. He died Oct. 21, 1836, in Northampton, Va.

PARKER, THEODORE, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 24, 1810, in Lexington, Mass. He was a famous unitarian clergyman of West Roxbury, Mass. He was the author of Miscellaneous Writings; Sermons on Theism, Atheism, and Popular Theology; Occasional Sermons and Speeches; Matters Pertaining to Religion; Additional Sermons and Speeches; Sermons for the Times; Experience as a Minister; West Roxbury Sermons; Prayers; Lessons from the World of Matter and the World of Mind; Historic Americans; and Views of Religion. His complete works, as edited by Frances Power Cobbe, fill twelve volumes. He died May 10, 1860, in Florence, Italy.

PARKER, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born June 8, 1595, in England. He was a learned puritan clergyman who was one of the founders of Newbury, Mass., and its first pastor. Parker River, in that region, is named in his honor. He was the author of Letter on Church Government; Prophecies of Daniel Expounded; Methodus Gratiæ Diviniæ; and Theses de Traductione Peccatoris ad Vitam. He died April 24, 1677, in Newbury, Mass.

PARKER, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist. He was a citizen of South Carolina; and in 1812 was appointed judge of the United States court for the district of South Carolina.

PARKER, WILLARD, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 2, 1800, in Hillsborough, N. H. He was a distinguished surgeon of Philadelphia, professor of surgery in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1839-69; and the author of Cystotomy; Spontaneous Fractures; and The Concussion of Nerves. He died April 25, 1884, in New York city.

PARKER, WILLIAM HARWAR, naval officer, author, was born Oct. 8, 1826, in New York city. He was an officer in the confederate navy during the civil war; and the author of Instruction for Naval Light Artillery; and Recollections of a Naval Officer.

PARKER, WILLIAM THORNTON, A. M., M. D., physician, artist, was born Jan. 8, 1818, in Groveland, Mass. As an anatomical artist he is said to have been unrivaled, his Anatomical Atlas being a work of great value.

PARKER, WILLIAM THORNTON, surgeon, inventor, author, was born Dec. 24, 1849, in Boston, Mass. He founded the Medical Guild of St. Luke's, and was the originator to provide a National Sanitarium for Consumptives. He was appointed acting professor of American jurisprudence in the college of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago.

PARKHILL, CHARLES BRECKINRIDGE, lawyer, legislator, was born June 23, 1859, at Tusculwilla, Fla., the plantation home of his parents.

His father, Captain George W. Parkhill, was a member of the secession convention of Florida, and lost his life in the confederate army. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Monticello; then attended the Randolph-Macon college of Ashland, Va.; and finally studied law at the university of Virginia. Since 1883 he has practiced law in Pensacola, Fla.; has been county attorney; and in 1897 was appointed prosecuting attorney for the criminal court of record for the term of four years. In 1888 he was elected state senator; has taken part in the democratic state and congressional conventions, and is recognized as a popular orator of unusual eloquence and ability. In 1890 he was elected grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Florida.

PARKHURST, CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, author, was born April 17, 1842, in Framingham, Mass. He is a presbyterian clergyman of New York city, pastor of the Madison Square church from 1880, and very prominent as a municipal reformer. He is the author of Forms of the Latin Verb Illustrated by the Sanskrit; The Blind Man's Creed; The Pattern on the Mount; Three Gates on a Side; What Would the World Be Without Religion?; The Swiss Guide; and Our Fight with Tammany.

PARKHURST, MATTHEW M., soldier, clergyman, was born July 13, 1834, in Oswego, N. Y. He has filled pastorates in the episcopal church in Boston, Milwaukee and Chicago; and has contributed valuable articles to current literature.

PARKINSON, JOHN BARBER, educator, was born April 11, 1834, in Edwardsville, Ill. He has filled numerous chairs in the university of Wisconsin, of which he is vice-president since 1885; and professor of constitutional and international law since 1893.

PARKINSON, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 8, 1774, in Frederick county, Md. He was a baptist clergyman of New York city; and the author of Ecclesiastical History; Public Ministry of the Word; and Sermons on Deuteronomy xxxii. He died March 10, 1848, in New York city.

PARKMAN, FRANCIS, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1788, in Boston, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of Boston; and the author of The Offering of Sympathy. He died Nov. 12, 1852, in Boston, Mass.

PARKMAN, FRANCIS, historian, author, was born Sept. 16, 1823, in Boston, Mass. He was the foremost of American historians. The work of his life was the series of historical narratives called France and England in North America, begun in 1864 and completed in 1892. He was the author of Pioneers of France in the New World; The Jesuits in North America; La Salle and the Discovery of the Great West; The Old Régime in Canada; Count Frontenac and New France under Louis XIV; A Half Century of Conflict; and Montcalm and Wolfe. The Conspiracy of Pontiac forms a sequel to the work, though first issued in 1857. He died in 1893.

PARKMAN, GEORGE, physician, author, was born in 1791 in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston physician who published Insanity and the Management of the Insane. He died in November, 1849, in Boston, Mass.

PARKS, GORHAM, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1793 in Massachusetts. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1833 to 1837; and from 1838 to 1841 was United States marshal for the district of Maine. From 1843 to 1845 he was United States attorney; and from 1845 to 1849 was United States consul at Rio Janeiro.

PARKS, LEIGHTON, clergyman, author, was born in 1855 in New York. He is an episcopal clergyman of Boston; rector of Emmanuel church from 1878; and the author of His Star in the East; and Winning of the Soul, and Other Sermons.

PARKS, SAMUEL C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Vermont. He was appointed a justice of the United States court for the territory of Idaho. He afterward resided in New Mexico; and in 1882 was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Wyoming.

PARKS, SAMUEL SHAW, lawyer, was born May 6, 1863, in Palmer, Mass. His mother is a descendant from the first settlers of Plymouth who came over in the Mayflower. In 1879 he entered Monson academy, graduating therefrom in 1882. He entered Amherst college in 1882, and received the degree of B. A. in 1886. In 1888 he graduated from the Union college of Law, and since that time has practiced his profession in Chicago. He is a democrat of very pronounced views; and is a member of various silver and other political clubs. He was married in 1888 to Grace Runyan, daughter of E. F. Runyan, a noted lawyer of Chicago; and they have two children.

PARLOA, MARIA, author, was born in 1843 in Massachusetts. She is a lecturer and writer upon domestic economy, especially upon the science of food preparation; and the author of First Principles of Household Management and Cookery; Kitchen Companion; The Young Housekeeper; and New Cook Book and Marketing Guide.

PARMELEE, THEODORE NELSON, journalist, author, was born in 1804 in Connecticut. He was editor for several years of the Buffalo Commercial, and author of some of the biographies in the volume Men of Progress; of a series of political reminiscences that were published in Harper's Magazine under the title Recollections of an Old Stager; and of numerous fugitive articles. He died July 3, 1874, in Branford, Conn.

PARMENTER, WILLIAM, naval officer, state senator, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He was a state senator in 1836; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1837 to 1845. He was a naval officer at Boston from 1845 to 1849. He died Feb. 27, 1866, in Cambridge, Mass.

PARR, FRANKLIN J., lawyer, was born Nov. 30, 1865, near Pekin, Ill. He received a liberal education, was admitted to the bar, and has attained success as one of the leading lawyers of Iowa at Fort Dodge. He has been a school director in Illinois; and city attorney for Storm Lake, Iowa. He holds the degrees of B. S. and LL. B., and contributes extensively to law literature.

PARRENT, JOHN M., educator, was born May 28, 1859, in Alton, Ky. He attended the Kentucky Military institute, and the Normal college; and has since been engaged in educational work. He first taught in the public schools of Kentucky, then at the Lawrenceburg seminary, then at the Normal college; and in 1888 moved to Montana. For four years he was principal of the Lewistown graded schools, and in 1892 was elected county superintendent of schools.

PARRETT, WILLIAM F., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 10, 1825, in Blairsville, Ind. In 1858 he was elected to the Indiana legislature and served during the general and special sessions; in 1859 was appointed judge of the fifteenth circuit, to which position he was elected for six years at the election following his appointment; and after his election he returned to Evansville, where he has since resided. In 1865 he was re-elected for a term of six years. In 1873 he was appointed judge of the first circuit, and was elected to the same position; and twice re-elected, 1879 and 1884. He was elected to the fifty-first congress; and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

PARRIS, ALBION KEITH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born Jan. 19, 1788, in Auburn, Maine. In 1811 he was appointed attorney for Oxford county, Maine; in 1813 was elected to the general court; and in 1814 was chosen a state senator. He was elected a representative in congress in 1815, and again in 1817. He was appointed judge of the federal district court in 1818. In 1820 he was appointed judge of probate for Cumberland county. He was five times elected governor of Maine from 1822 to 1827; and was a senator in congress in 1827 and 1828. He was appointed judge of the supreme court of the state in 1828, holding the office until 1836, when he became second comptroller in the federal treasury department. He left that office in 1850, and returned to Portland. In 1852 he was elected mayor. He died Feb. 11, 1857, in Portland, Maine.

PARRIS, VIRGIL D., lawyer, state senator, congressman. He was assistant secretary of the state senate in 1831; and was a member of the Maine legislature from 1833 to 1839. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1838 to 1841; and a state senator in 1842 and 1843. He was a United States marshal for Maine from 1844 to 1848; United States special mail agent from 1853 to 1856; and subsequently held the office of naval storekeeper at Kittery, Maine. He died June 13, 1874, in Kittery, Maine.

PARRISH, CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, educator, college president, was born April 18, 1859, in Lexington, Ky. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city; and attended the state university of Louisville, in which institution he was subsequently secretary, treasurer and professor of Greek. He is now pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Louisville and president of the Eckstein Norton university.

PARRISH, EDWARD, educator, college president, author, was born May 31, 1822, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an educator and pharmacist of Philadelphia, and president of Swarthmore college in 1868-70. He was the author of Introduction to Practical Pharmacy; The Phantom Bouquet, a Treatise on Skeletonizing Leaves; and Essay on Education in the Society of Friends. He died in 1872.

PARRISH, ISAAC, congressman, was born in 1811 in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1839 to 1841, and again from 1845 to 1847.

PARRISH, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 7, 1729, in Baltimore, Md. He was a Quaker preacher of Pennsylvania noted as an early opponent of slavery, who published Remarks on the Slavery of the Black Race. He died Oct. 21, 1807, in Baltimore, Md.

PARRISH, JOSEPH, physician, author, was born Sept. 2, 1779, in Philadelphia. He was an eminent Philadelphia physician who was the author of Practical Observations on Strangulated Hernia. He died in 1840.

PARRISH, JOSEPH, physician, author, was born Nov. 11, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a physician at Burlington, N. J., famous as an authority upon the treatment of inebriates; and the author of Alcoholic Inebriety from the Medical Standpoint. He died in 1891.

PARRISH, ROB ROY, poet, was born Jan. 15, 1846, in Noble county, Ohio. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Echoes From the Vale.

PARROTT, ENOCH GREENLEAF, naval officer, was born Dec. 10, 1814, in Portsmouth, N. H. He entered the United States navy as a midshipman in 1831, became lieutenant in 1841. He was commissioned captain in 1866, commodore in 1870, rear-admiral in 1873, and was retired in 1874. He died May 10, 1879, in New York city.

PARROTT, JOHN FRANCIS, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1768 in Greenland, N. H. He was in 1811 a member of the New Hampshire legislature; a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1817 to 1819; and a senator of the United States from 1819 to 1825. In 1826 he was appointed postmaster at Portsmouth. He died July 9, 1836, in Greenland, N. H.

PARROTT, MARCUS J., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 27, 1828, in Hamburg, S. C. He was a member of the Ohio legislature in 1853 and 1854. He was elected a delegate to the thirty-fifth congress from Kansas territory; and re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress.

PARROTT, MATT, journalist, legislator, was born May 11, 1837, in Schoharie, N. Y. He is a noted journalist of Waterloo, Iowa, of which city he has been mayor. For eight years he served as a state senator in the Iowa legislature, and is now serving as lieutenant-governor of that state.

PARROTT, ROBERT PARKER, soldier, inventor, was born Oct. 5, 1804, in Lee, N. H. He was a captain of ordnance in the United States army, and invented the Parrott system of rifled cannon and projectiles. He died Dec. 24, 1877, in Cold Spring, N. Y.

PARRY, CHARLES CHRISTOPHER, botanist, author, was born Aug. 28, 1823, in England. He was a botanist of Davenport, Iowa, among whose writings are, Botanical Observations in Western Wyoming; and Botanical Observations in Southern Utah. He died Feb. 20, 1890.

PARSON, SAMUEL H., lawyer, jurist. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory northwest of the Ohio river.

PARSONS, ALBERT ROSS, musician, composer, was born Nov. 16, 1847, in Sandusky, Ohio. He has attained national prominence as a musician of New York city; and has composed many pieces. Among his best known are: The Night Has a Thousand Eyes; Break, Break; Etude; and many other pieces.

PARSONS, ANDREW, state senator, governor, was born July 22, 1817, in Hoo-sick, N. Y. In 1846 he was elected to the Michigan state senate; and in 1853 was elected governor, resigning in 1855. He died June 6, 1855.

PARSONS, ANSON VIRGIL, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1799 in Granville, Mass. In 1840 he was president judge of the court of common pleas of the Dauphin judicial district. In 1842 he became secretary of the commonwealth. He returned to the bench as judge of the court of common pleas of Philadelphia in 1843. He resumed practice in 1851, when the judiciary became elective. With Judge Edward King, he published Select Cases in Equity, in two volumes. He died Sept. 23, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PARSONS, CHARLES, artist, was born May 8, 1821, in England. Since 1861 he has been at the head of the art department of Harper and Brothers. Among his recent paintings are An Old Orchard, Long Island; and Amagansett, L. I.

PARSONS, CHARLES, railroad president, was born Feb. 6, 1829, in Alfred, Maine. Since 1894 he has been president of the South Carolina and Georgia railway.

PARSONS, CHARLES WILLIAM, physician, educator, author, was born Sept. 6, 1823, in Providence, R. I. He settled in practice in Providence; was professor of physiology in Brown in 1874-82; and is the author of two Fiske fund prize dissertations, and many medical and historical papers.

PARSONS, CHARLES WESLEY, orator, clergyman, was born Jan. 7, 1851, in Otsego county, N. Y. He received his education at the Cazenovia seminary; the Wyoming Conference seminary of Kingston, Pa.; and the Drew Theological seminary of Madison, N. J. He has attained distinction as a brilliant orator, and as one of the leading clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal church. He has filled pastorates in Fairfield, Gouverneur, Watertown, and Rome, N. Y.; in Kansas City, Mo.; Newark, N. J.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; and is now pastor of the Chestnut Street church of Portland, Maine.

PARSONS, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 28, 1749, in Amherst, N. H. He gave the ground on which Amherst college is built; contributed to its support; and wrote Election Sermon; and Ordination Sermon. He died May 18, 1823, in Wethersfield, Conn.

PARSONS, EDWARD YOUNG, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 12, 1842, in Jefferson county, Ky. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the forty-fourth congress. He died July 8, 1876.

PARSONS, MRS. FRANCES THEODORA [SMITH] [DANA], author, was born in 1861 in New York. She is a writer of Albany whose books were published under the name of Mrs. William Starr Dana. She is the author of How to Know the Wild Flowers; According to Season; and Plants and Their Children.

PARSONS, FRANK, lawyer, author, was born in 1855 in New Jersey. He is a lawyer of Boston; and the author of The World's Best Books; and Our Country's Need, or the Development of a Scientific Industrial System. He has edited several legal works.

PARSONS, GEORGE FREDERIC, journalist, author, was born in 1840 in England. He is a journalist of New York city; and the author of Life of J. W. Marshall, Discoverer of Gold in California; and Middle Ground, a novel.

PARSONS, GEORGE M., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 15, 1850, in Cambridge City, Ind. While attending high school in Hamilton, Ohio, he enlisted as a private soldier in the eighty-ninth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry, being but fifteen years of age. At the close of the war he entered a commercial college; took up the study of law; and has attained success as one of the leading lawyers of Idaho at Boise City. He was a member of the seventh and tenth sessions of the Idaho territorial legislature; in 1883-84 was probate judge of Alturas county; and for two terms during 1893-96 was attorney-general of Idaho.

PARSONS, HENRY BETTS, chemist, educator, author, was born Nov. 20, 1855, in Asia Minor. His Method for the Proximate Analysis of Plants was published in the chief chemical journals of the world, and universally adopted. He died Aug. 21, 1885, in Tucson, Ariz.

PARSONS, J. D., librarian. He is librarian of the public library of Newburyport, Mass.; and is a constant contributor to current publications.

PARSONS, JONATHAN, clergyman, author, was born in 1705 in Massachusetts. He was a presbyterian minister of Newburyport, who adopted the views of Whitefield, and in whose house that famous preacher died. He was the author of Lectures on Justification; Good News from a Far Country, said to be the first book published in New Hampshire; Sixty Sermons; and Freedom from Ecclesiastical and Civil Slavery the Purchase of Christ. He died in 1776.

PARSONS, LEVI, lawyer, jurist, railroad president, was born July 1, 1822, in Kingsboro, N. Y. He was elected judge of the San Francisco district in 1850, subsequently engaged in business, and built the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, of which he became the first president. He died Oct. 23, 1887, in New York city.

PARSONS, LEWIS BALDWIN, soldier, lawyer, was born April 5, 1818, in Genesee county, N. Y. In 1864 he was placed in charge of all railroad and river army transportation in the United States. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865, and in 1866 was brevetted major-general of volunteers.

PARSONS, LEWIS E., governor. He was appointed provisional governor of Alabama in 1865.

PARSONS, MOSBY MONROE, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born in 1819 in Virginia. He was attorney-general of Missouri in 1853-57, and subsequently became a member of the state senate. He was active in organizing the state militia, and raised a mounted brigade which he commanded with the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 17, 1865, in Camargo, Mexico.

PARSONS, RICHARD C., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1826, in New London, Conn. In 1851 he was elected a member of the city council of Cleveland, and the next year president of that body. In 1857 he was elected to the Ohio legislature; re-elected, and chosen speaker of the house. He was appointed consul at Rio Janeiro; was appointed collector of internal revenue at Cleveland for four years; and in 1866 received the appointment of marshal of the supreme court of the United States, and served six years. He was elected to the forty-third congress.

PARSONS, SAMUEL HOLDEN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 14, 1737, in Lyme, Conn. He was elected a member of the Connecticut assembly in 1762, and successively for eighteen sessions. He was made brigadier-general by congress in 1776; and major-general in 1780. In 1785 he was appointed by congress a commissioner to treat with the Indians at Miami; was a member of the convention of Connecticut which ratified the federal constitution of 1788; and was appointed first judge of the northwest territory. In 1789 he was state commissioner for treating with the Indians on the western reserve of Connecticut; and settled on the Ohio river in 1787, and published an essay on the antiquities of the western states. He was drowned Nov. 17, 1789, in Big Beaver river, Ohio.

PARSONS, THEOPHILUS, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Feb. 24, 1750, in Byfield, Mass. He was a jurist of Newburyport and after 1800 of Boston, and chief justice of Massachusetts from 1801. He was the author of Commentaries on the Law of the United States; and The Essex Result, a famous political pamphlet of 1777. He died Oct. 30, 1813, in Boston, Mass.

PARSONS, THEOPHILUS, educator, author, was born May 17, 1797, in Newburyport, Mass. He was a noted legal writer, Dane professor of law in Harvard university from 1847, and an eminent Swedenborgian thinker. He was the author of Treatise on the Law of Contracts; Elements of Mercantile Law; The Laws of Business; Maritime Law; Law of Promissory Notes; Principles of the Law of Partnership; The Law of Marine Insurance; Treatise on the Law of Partnership; Political, Personal, and Property Rights of a United States Citizen; Memoir of Chief Justice Parsons; The Ministry of Sorrow; Dens Homo; The Infinite and the Finite; Essays; Outlines of the Religion and Philosophy of Swedenborg; and The Mystery of Life. He died Jan. 26, 1882, in Cambridge, Mass.

PARSONS, THOMAS WILLIAM, author, poet, was born Aug. 18, 1819, in Boston, Mass. He was a poet of Boston who for some years practiced his profession of dentistry there. The quality of his writing is uneven, but in such poems as the Lines on a Bust of Dante, and When Francesca Sings, he is at his best. His work includes a much admired though incomplete translation in English verse of Dante's Divina Commedia, of which an edition was issued in 1893, with introduction by C. E. Norton, and memorial sketch by Miss Guiney; Ghetto di Roma; The Magnolia; The Old Home at Sudbury; The Shadow of the Obelisk, and Other Poems; and Poems. He died in 1892.

PARSONS, USHER, surgeon, was born Aug. 8, 1788, in Alfred, Maine. He was a surgeon of Providence; and the author of The Art of Making Anatomic Preparations; Prize Dissertations; Sailors' Physician; History of the Battle of Lake Erie; and Life of Sir William Pepperell. He died Dec. 19, 1868, in Providence, R. I.

PARSONS, WILLIAM, surveyor, was born in England. In 1743 he was appointed surveyor-general of Pennsylvania, resigning in 1748. He died in December, 1757, in Easton, Pa.

PARTHMORE, E. WINFIELD SCOTT, business man, author, was born July 25, 1852, in Highspire, Pa. He is largely interested in building and loan associations. He is the author of A Genealogy of the Parthmore Family; and A Genealogy of the Luding Bretz Family.

PARTON, ARTHUR, artist, was born March 26, 1842, in Hudson, N. Y. In 1886 he received a gold medal at the prize exhibition at the American Art association for his Evening after the Rain. His pictures include November; On the Road to Mt. Marcy; and A Mountain Brook.

PARTON, ERNEST, artist, was born March 17, 1845, in Hudson, N. Y. Among his paintings are Morning Mist; Papa's Luncheon; Placid Stream; and Sunny September.

PARTON, JAMES, author, was born Feb. 9, 1822, in England. He was a popular writer of English birth who came to America when very young and for the latter part of his life resided in Newburyport. The permanent value of his writing is not great, with the possible exception of his Life of Voltaire. He was the author of Lives of Greeley, Aaron Burr, Andrew Jackson, Franklin, Jefferson; General Butler in New Orleans; Famous Americans of Recent Times; Smoking and Drinking; Captains of Industry; Triumphs of Enterprise; Noted Women of America and Europe; The People's Book of Biography; Caricature and Other Comic Art; and Topics of the Times. He died in 1891.

PARTON, MRS. SARAH PAYSON [WILLIS] [ELDRIDGE], author, was born July 7, 1811, in Portland, Maine. She was a once popular but now neglected writer who for some sixteen years contributed a weekly article to The New York Ledger. She was the author of Rose Clark, a novel; Ruth Hall, a novel more or less autobiographic; Fern Leaves; Folly as It Flies; Ginger Snaps; and Capers Sauce. She died Oct. 10, 1872.

PARTRIDGE, GEORGE, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1740, in Duxbury, Mass. He was a delegate to the continental congress from Massachusetts from 1776 to 1778, and in 1784; and a representative in congress after the adoption of the constitution, from 1789 to 1791. He died July 7, 1828, in Duxbury, Mass.

PARTRIDGE, OLIVER, congressman, was born June 13, 1712, in Hatfield, Mass. He was a member of the first colonial congress in 1765. He died July 21, 1792, in Hatfield, Mass.

PARTRIDGE, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843. He died April 2, 1883.

PARTRIDGE, WILLIAM ORDWAY, sculptor, author, poet, was born in 1861 in France. He is a sculptor of Milton, Mass.; and the author of Art for America; The Technique of Sculpture; and The Song Life of a Sculptor.

PARVIN, THEODORE SUTTON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1817, in Cumberland county, N. J. He was elected three consecutive terms as judge of the probate court of Iowa. He has been grand secretary of the Masonic lodge of Iowa, and has edited a full set of the annals of the grand lodge from its organization, comprising thirteen large volumes. He is the author of History of Iowa; and History of Templary in Iowa.

PARVIN, THEOPHILUS, physician, author, was born Jan. 8, 1829, in Argentine Republic. He is a Philadelphia physician; professor in Jefferson Medical college; and has published The Science and Art of Obstetrics.

PASCHAL, THOMAS M., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 15, 1845, in Alexandria, La. He moved to Brackett, Texas, in 1873, and practiced law till 1875, when elected judge of the twenty-fourth judicial district, to which position he was re-elected in 1880 and 1884. In 1876 he was appointed agent between the United States and Mexico, and was reappointed in 1880. In 1875 he returned to Castroville and was elected judge of the thirty-eighth judicial district in 1888. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

PASCHALL, GEORGE WASHINGTON, lawyer, jurist, educator, author, was born Nov. 23, 1812, in Skull Shoals, Ga. He was a jurist of Texas, and later of Washington, where he was professor of jurisprudence in Georgetown college. He was the author of Annotated Digest of Texas Laws; Decisions of Texas Supreme Court; and Annotated Constitution of the United States. He died Feb. 16, 1878, in Washington, D. C.

PASCO, SAMUEL, soldier, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born June 28, 1834, in London, England. When quite young he moved with his father first to Prince Edward Island, thence to Massachusetts; was prepared for college at the high school in Charlestown; and graduated at Harvard in 1858. In 1859 he went to Florida to take charge of the Waukeenah academy of Jefferson county, where he has ever since resided. In 1861 he entered the confederate army as a private. He was admitted to the bar in 1865; in 1872 became a member of the democratic state committee; and from 1876 to 1888 was its chairman. He has represented Florida on the democratic national committee since 1880; and in 1880 was elected a presidential elector at large; in 1885 was president of the constitutional convention of his state; and in 1887, while speaker of the state house of representatives, was elected to the United States senate as a democrat, to succeed Charles W. Jones; and was re-elected to the same office. His term of service will expire March 3, 1899.

PASKO, WESLEY WASHINGTON, inventor, author, was born Jan. 4, 1840, in Waterloo, N. Y. He is the inventor of the Pasko Press; and is the author of Biographical History of Indiana; History of Butler County, Ohio; A Dictionary of Printing and Bookmaking; and Men Who Advertise.

PATCHIN, CLINTON H., lawyer, state legislator, was born Aug. 31, 1830, in Rochester, N. Y. For many years he was state sealer of weights and measures; has served with distinction as a member of both houses of the state legislature of Nevada; and for many years was district attorney of Lincoln county. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Nevada at Pioche, and a contributor to law journals and the periodical press of the west.

PATCHIN, JARED, lawyer, jurist, was born April 18, 1828, in Benton, N. Y. He was a member of the Florida state legislature; was county attorney; and in 1868 was judge of the circuit court.

PATERSON, DONALD, educator, physician, lawyer, was born Jan. 4, 1837, in Bennettsville, S. C. He graduated in both law and medicine from the state university of Georgia. He has been a professor of mathematics in several institutions; a justice of the peace for many years, and a leading attorney and practicing physician and druggist of Concord, Fla.

PATERSON, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1744 in New Britain, Conn. He was a member of the first provincial congress which met at Salem in 1744; and also of the congress of 1775. In 1777 he was made a brigadier-general; and in 1783 became major-general. In 1792 he was a member of the New York assembly; of the constitutional convention of 1801; and a member of congress in 1803-05. He died July 19, 1808, in Whitney's Point, N. Y.

PATERSON, JOHN, mathematician, author, was born Jan. 11, 1801, in Paterson, N. J. He published a work on the Calculus of Operations, to which was added a supplemental volume; and papers on Weights and Measures. He died July 31, 1882, in Albany, N. Y.

PATERSON, STEPHEN VAN RENSSELAER, poet, was born in 1817 in New Jersey. He was a poet of New Jersey, whose version of The Moss Rose from the German of Krummacker is his best-known poem. He was the author of Poems of Twin Graduates of the College of New Jersey. He died in 1872.

PATERSON, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born in 1745 at sea. He was a member of the convention which framed the first constitution of New Jersey in 1776; and from that time until the year 1786 was attorney-general of the state. He was a member of the convention which framed the federal constitution, which instrument he signed. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1780 and 1781; and was one of the first senators in congress from 1789 to 1790, when he resigned. He was governor of New Jersey from 1791 to 1794, when he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of the United States, which position he held until his death. In 1798 and 1799 he revised, by authority of the legislature, the laws of New Jersey, a work highly esteemed, and the foundation of the jurisprudence of the state. He died Sept. 9, 1806, in Albany, N. Y.

PATERSON, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, author, poet, was born in 1817 in New Jersey. He is a jurist of Perth Amboy, N. J.; and the co-author with his brother Stephen of Poems of Twin Graduates of the College of New Jersey.

PATILLO, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1726 in Scotland. He was active in pre-revolutionary movements, a member of the North Carolina provincial congress in 1775, and was chaplain to that body, and chairman of the committee of the whole. He died in 1801 in Dinwiddie county, Va.

PATRICK, JAMES RHEECE, lawyer, was born March 4, 1855, in Armstrong county, Pa. In 1882 he was admitted to the bar at Springfield, Ill.; and subsequently served as city attorney of Paxton, Ill. In 1884 he moved to Nebraska, and now has a large practice in Holdrege, where he takes an important part in public affairs.

PATRICK, MARSENA R., soldier, was born March 15, 1811, in Houndsfield, N. Y. At the beginning of the civil war he was made inspector-general of the New York militia, and became brigadier-general of volunteers in March, 1862. He died July 27, 1888, in Dayton, Ohio.

PATTEE, FRED LEWIS, educator, author, was born March 22, 1863, in Bristol, N. H. He now fills the chair of English and rhetoric in the Pennsylvania state college. He is the author of A History of American Literature; and a volume of poems entitled The Wine of May.

PATTEN, CLAUDIUS BUCHANAN, banker, author, was born in 1835. He was a banker of Boston who published in 1885 England as Seen by an American Banker. He died in 1886.

PATTEN, ELLEN, educator, poet, was born May 9, 1834, in Hiram, Ohio. After receiving a liberal education she attained success in educational work. She has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press, and her poems have been included in several standard works.

PATTEN, GEORGE WASHINGTON, soldier, author, poet, was born Dec. 26, 1808, in Newport, R. I. He was an officer in the United States army who wrote the noted lyrics, The Seminole's Reply; and Joys That We've Tasted. His published books include, Army Manual; Infantry Tactics; Cavalry Drill; and Voices of the Border, a volume of verse. He died in 1882.

PATTEN, JAMES EDWIN, journalist, was born Sept. 2, 1865, in Cherry Valley, Ill. He received a liberal education; and published the first school paper in the state of South Dakota at Madison in 1885. In 1887 he founded The Salem Special of Salem, S. D., and has since been its editor and proprietor. In 1894-95 he served as president of the South Dakota Press association.

PATTEN, JARVIS, sea captain, author, was born in 1828 in Bowdoinham, Maine. He was several times member of the city council of Bath, Maine; compiled and published a work on the Seaports of the World, a valuable book of reference.

PATTEN, JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born in 1746 in Kent county, Del. He was commissioned major in 1779, and fought in almost every battle from Long Island to Camden, at which he was taken prisoner. He served in the continental congress in 1785-86, and in the third congress in 1793-94, but his seat was successfully contested in the latter year. He died June 17, 1801, in Dover, Del.

PATTEN, JOHN D., congressman. He was elected from Pennsylvania to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat and greenbacker.

PATTEN, SIMON NELSON, educator, author, was born in 1852 in Illinois. He is a professor of political economy in the university of Pennsylvania from 1888; and the author of The Stability of Prices; The Consumption of Wealth; Economic Basis of Protection; Principles of Rational Taxation; Educational Value of Political Economy; Theory of Dynamic Economics; The Premises of Political Economy; and The Theory of Social Forces.

PATTEN, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1763 in Halifax, Mass. He was pastor of the Second Congregational church at Newport, R. I., from 1786 till 1833. He published several separate sermons; Christianity the True Religion, a reply to Thomas Paine; Memoir of Mrs. Ruth Patten, his mother, and the daughter of Rev. Eleazar Wheelock; and Reminiscences of Rev. Samuel Hopkins. He died March 9, 1839, in Hartford, Conn.

PATTENGILL, HENRY R., educator, journalist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1852, in Mount Vision, N. Y. He was professor of literature in the Michigan Agricultural college during 1886-89; and during 1892-97 was superintendent of public instruction in Michigan. He is the editor and publisher of the Michigan School Moderator, and Timely Topics, of Lansing; and is the author of several text-books and educational manuals.

PATTERSON, ALEXANDER A., railroad president, was born Dec. 18, 1852, in Saratoga, N. Y. In 1889 he became president of the St. Joseph Valley railway.

PATTERSON, CARLILE POLLOCK, naval officer, civil engineer, was born Aug. 24, 1816, in Shieldsborough, Miss. He was appointed a midshipman in the United States navy in 1830; and subsequently attained the rank of lieutenant. For many years he was hydrographic inspector and a member of the lighthouse board. He died Aug. 15, 1881, near Washington, D. C.

PATTERSON, CHRISTOPHER STUART, lawyer, educator, author, was born in 1842 in Pennsylvania. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia, and professor of the law of real estate in the university of Pennsylvania from 1887. He is the author of Memoir of Theodore Cuyler; Railway Accident Law; Federal Restraints on State Action; and The United States and the State under the Constitution.

PATTERSON, DANIEL TOD, naval officer, was born March 6, 1786, on Long Island, N. Y. In 1828 he was made naval commissioner, and in 1832-36 he commanded the Mediterranean squadron, after which he was, until his death, commandant of the navy-yard at Washington. He died Aug. 15, 1839, in Washington, D. C.

PATTERSON, DAVID TROTTER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1819, in Greene county, Tenn. He was elected a judge of the circuit court in 1854; and re-elected in 1862. In 1865 he was elected a senator in congress from Tennessee for the term ending in 1869, taking his seat on the last day of the first session of the thirty-third congress. He was son-in-law of President Andrew Johnson.

PATTERSON, FRANCIS ENGLE, soldier, was born June 24, 1827, in Philadelphia. He became brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862, and participated in the peninsular campaign. He died Nov. 22, 1862, in Fairfax Court-House, Va.

PATTERSON, GEORGE WASHINGTON, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 11, 1799, in Londonderry, N. H. He was a member of the New York state assembly for eight years from 1832 to 1840, the last two of which he was speaker. He was basin commissioner at Albany; and harbor commissioner and quarantine commissioner at New York. He was elected lieutenant-governor of the state in 1848. He was for several years supervisor of Westfield; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

PATTERSON, JAMES KENNEDY, educator, college president, was born March 26, 1833, in Glasgow, Scotland. He entered the Hanover college, Indiana, in 1851, and in course received the degrees of B. A., A. M. and Ph. D. He has attained success in educational work; for three years was principal of the Greenville Presbyterian academy, Ky.; was professor of languages, history and metaphysics in various institutions; and since 1869 has been president of the States college of Kentucky, which has been built up mainly by his efforts. He has been a delegate from Kentucky to the international congress of geographical sciences at Paris in 1875; and a delegate to the British association for the Advancement of Science at Leeds in 1890; and is a member of numerous scientific bodies.

PATTERSON, JAMES WILLIS, educator, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born July 2, 1823, in Henniker, N. H. In 1862 he served in the New Hampshire legislature; and was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the thirty-eighth congress. In 1864 he was appointed a regent of the Smithsonian institution, and was reappointed in 1865. He was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress; and in 1866 was elected a senator in congress for the term commencing in 1867 and ending in 1873. He died May 4, 1893, in Hanover, N. H.; and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol.

PATTERSON, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1823 to 1825.

PATTERSON, JOHN, state legislator, congressman. He was for four years a member of the assembly of New York; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1803 to 1805.

PATTERSON, JOHN JAMES, soldier, journalist, United States senator, was born Aug. 8, 1830, in Waterloo, Pa. He was editor of the Juniata Sentinel in 1852, and for ten years afterward was editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature in 1858, and the three succeeding years. He removed to South Carolina in 1869; and was elected to the senate of the United States for the term commencing in 1873 and ending in 1879.

PATTERSON, JOHN LETCHER, educator, poet, was born June 10, 1862, in Lexington, Ky. He is principal of the high school at Versailles, Ky., and is the author of a volume of poems.

PATTERSON, JOHN THOMAS, president of Hocker college, was born Dec. 22, 1826, in Winchester, Ky. In 1853 he built and put in operation what is known as the Patterson Female institute, which he still owns, situated at North Middletown, in Bourbon county, Ky., designed for young ladies. In 1876 he accepted the presidency of Hocker Female college.

PATTERSON, JOSIAH, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born April 14, 1837, in Morgan county, Ala. He located in Memphis, Tenn., in 1872, where he has since resided. In 1882 he was elected to the lower branch of the state legislature; in 1888 he was an elector for the state at large on the democratic ticket; and in 1890 was a candidate for governor. He was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

PATTERSON, MINNIE W., poet, was born in 1845 in Michigan. She has translated several volumes into English from the Norse language. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Pebbles from Old Pathways.

PATTERSON, MORRIS, philanthropist, was born Oct. 26, 1809, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was active in the affairs of the presbyterian church; the founder of the Pennsylvania Working Home for Blind Men, and took active and substantial interest in philanthropic movements in Philadelphia. He died Oct. 23, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PATTERSON, ROBERT, soldier, educator, author, was born May 30, 1743, in Ireland. He was a brigade-major in the revolutionary war; professor of mathematics in the university of Pennsylvania from 1779 to 1814, and was for some time vice-provost. In 1805 he was made director of the United States mint. He published The Newtonian System; Treatise on Arithmetic; edited Ferguson's Mechanics; his Astronomy; John Webster's Natural Philosophy; and Ewing's Natural Philosophy. He died July 22, 1824, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PATTERSON, ROBERT, soldier, manufacturer, was born Jan. 12, 1792, in Ireland. In 1846 he was made major-general of volunteers; and served with distinction in the Mexican war.

PATTERSON, ROBERT, lawyer, was born Feb. 4, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1845 he became clerk to the director of the United States mint in Philadelphia. In 1868 he drafted the plan of the Fidelity Trust, Safe Deposit and Insurance company, the first institution of that nature in Philadelphia, and became its secretary and treasurer.

PATTERSON, ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born in 1829 in Ireland. Since 1880 he has been pastor of a church in Erocklyn, Cal. His publications include The Fables of Infidelity and the Facts of Faith; The American Sabbath; The Sabbath, Scientific, American, and Christian; Christianity the only Republican Religion; Christ's Testimony to the Scriptures; and Egypt's Place in History.

PATTERSON, ROBERT MASKELL, educator, was born March 23, 1787, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected professor of natural philosophy and chemistry in the university of Philadelphia; professor in the university of Virginia from 1828 to 1835; and director of the United States mint, Philadelphia, from 1835 to 1853. He died Sept. 5, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PATTERSON, ROBERT MAYNE, clergyman, author, was born July 17, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Philadelphia; and the author of History of Presbyterianism in Philadelphia; Paradise; Visions of Heaven; Elijah the Favored Man; and History of the Synod of Pennsylvania.

PATTERSON, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Lancaster county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1825.

PATTERSON, THOMAS H., naval officer, was born in May, 1820, in New Orleans, La. He was commissioned captain in 1866, commodore in 1871, commanded the navy-yard at Washington, D. C., was president of the naval board of examiners in 1876-77, and in the latter year became rear-admiral. He was retired in 1883. He died April 10, 1890, in Chicago, Ill.

PATTERSON, THOMAS J., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845.

PATTERSON, THOMAS M., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1840, in Ireland. In 1874 he was appointed attorney for the city of Denver, Colo. He was elected a delegate from Colorado to the forty-fourth congress; and upon the admission of Colorado as a state in 1876 was elected a representative from that state to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat.

PATTERSON, WALTER, state legislator, congressman, was born in Columbia county, N. Y. He was a member of the assembly of New York in 1818 from Columbia county; and a representative in congress from 1821 to 1823.

PATTERSON, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Maryland. He settled in Ohio; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1838.

PATTERSON, WILLIAM, congressman, was born June 4, 1789, in Londonderry, N. H. He was elected a representative in congress from New York from 1837 to 1839. He died Aug. 14, 1838, in Warsaw, N. Y.

PATTI, ADELINA, vocalist, was born Feb. 19, 1843, in Spain. At the age of nine years Adele made a tour with Strakosch and Ole Bull, singing popular opera music. She has since attained a reputation as the foremost vocalist of the time.

PATTI, CARLOTTA, vocalist, was born in 1840 in Florence, Italy. She is a sister of Adelina Patti; and first made her appearance in concert in New York city. She has become very popular in the United States and has filled engagements in the principal cities.

PATTISON, EVERETT W., soldier, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 22, 1839, in Waterville, Maine. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the west at St. Louis, Mo.; and the author of Missouri Digest; and numerous articles in law periodicals.

PATTISON, GRANVILLE SHARP, anatomist, author, was born in 1791 in Scotland. He is a professor of anatomy in the university of Pennsylvania; and is the author of a work entitled Anatomical Atlas. He died Nov. 12, 1851, in New York city.

PATTISON, JOHN M., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 13, 1847, in Clermont county, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio state legislature from Hamilton county in 1873; and was attorney for the committee of safety of Cincinnati in 1871-76. He was elected vice-president and manager of the Union Central Life Insurance company of Cincinnati in 1881 and president in 1891. He was elected state senator to fill a vacancy in 1890; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

PATTISON, ROBERT EMORY, lawyer, governor, was born Dec. 8, 1850, in Quantico, Md. In 1882 he was elected governor of Pennsylvania for the term of four years from January, 1883.

PATTISON, ROBERT EVERETT, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 9, 1800, in Benson, Vt. He was successively a professor in Newton Theological seminary, in Shurtleff college, and in the Union Baptist Theological seminary, Chicago. He was the author of a Commentary on the Epistle to the Ephesians. He died in 1874 in St. Louis, Mo.

PATTISON, T. HARWOOD, clergyman, educator, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 14, 1838, in Launceston, Cornwall, England. After graduating he took part in the political liberal movement in the north of England, and published his work entitled Present Day Lectures. In 1874 he traveled in the United States, and accepted a call to the First Baptist church of New Haven, Conn.; and thence was called to the Emmanuel church of Albany, N. Y. In 1881 he accepted the chair of homiletics and pastoral theology in the Rochester Theological seminary; and in 1895 published The History of the English Bible; which was followed by other works.

PATTON, ALFRED SPENCER, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 12, 1825, in England. In 1864 he was invited to Utica, N. Y., and there built the Tabernacle Baptist church. In 1872 he purchased the American Baptist, an anti-slavery journal, in New York city, changing its name to The Baptist Weekly. He wrote Light in the Valley; My Joy and Crown; Kincaid, the Hero Missionary; The Losing and Taking of Mansoul, or Lectures on the Holy War; and Live for Jesus. He died Jan. 12, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PATTON, DAVID H., soldier, physician, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1837, in Fleming county, Ky. He was elected from Indiana to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

PATTON, FRANCIS LANDEY, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 22, 1843, in Bermuda. In 1888 he became president of Princeton college. He is the author of Inspiration of the Scriptures; and Summary of Christian Doctrine.

PATTON, JACOB HARRIS, author, was born in 1812 in Pennsylvania. He is an historical writer of New York city; and the author of Concise History of the American People; Yorktown, 1781-1881; The Democratic Party: Its History and Influence; Brief History of the Presbyterian Church in the United States; Natural Resources of the United States; Political Economy for American Youth; Four Hundred Years of American History; and Political Parties in the United States.

PATTON, JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born in 1746 in Kent county, Del. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1785 to 1786; and was a representative in congress from Delaware from 1793 to 1794. He died in June, 1801.

PATTON, JOHN, banker, congressman, was born Jan. 6, 1823, in Covington, Pa. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-seventh congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress.

PATTON, JOHN, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 30, 1850, in Curmersville, Pa. He graduated from Yale college in 1875; and from the Columbia Law school in 1887. The following year he moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he is one of the leading lawyers of that state. On May 5, 1894, he was appointed United States senator from Michigan, upon the death of Senator Stockbridge; and served until the election of a successor.

PATTON, JOHN D., merchant, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1829, in Indiana, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-eighth congress.

PATTON, JOHN MERCER, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1796 in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1830 to 1838. He was for some years, and at the time of his death, judge of the court of appeals. He died Oct. 20, 1858, in Richmond, Va.

PATTON, R. M., governor. He was elected governor of Alabama, and remained in the office until 1868.

PATTON, THOMAS DUNCAN, journalist, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 24, 1865, in Ripley, Miss. For many years he was the editor of the Arkansian, and is now a prominent lawyer of Cotton Plant, Ark. In 1895 and in 1897 he served as a member of the Arkansas state legislature.

PATTON, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 23, 1798, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city, founder of the Union Theological seminary; and the author of The Laws of Fermentation and the Wines of the Ancients; The Judgment of Jerusalem Predicted in Scripture; Jesus of Nazareth; and Bible Principles and Bible Characters. He died Sept. 9, 1879, in New Haven, Conn.

PATTON, WILLIAM WESTON, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 19, 1821, in New York city. He was a congregational clergyman in New York city, and president of Howard university from 1877. He was the author of Spiritual Victory; Pray- er and Its Remarkable Answers; The Young Man's Friend; Conscience and Law; and Slavery and Infidelity. He died Dec. 31, 1889, in Westfield, N. J.

PAUL, AUGUSTUS CHOUTEAU, soldier, was born April 16, 1842, in Albany, N. Y. He was brevetted major for gallantry in the Wilderness, and lieutenant-colonel for meritorious conduct at Spottsylvania court house.

PAUL, HENRY MARTYN, astronomer, educator, was born June 25, 1851, in Hyde Park, Mass. During 1880-83 he was professor of astronomy in the university of Tokio, Japan, after which he returned to his post in Washington. He is the author of astronomical monographs that have been published as appendices to the annual volumes of the Observations of the United States naval observatory.

PAUL, HOWARD, actor, author, was born Nov. 16, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of a serial entitled Dashes of American Humor, which attained popularity both in England and the United States. He next published a successful drama entitled A Mob Cap. His other principal works are: The Young Chemist; Pastimes of Youth; and The Book of American Songs, with notes biographical and critical.

PAUL, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 30, 1839, in Rockingham county, Va. He was elected state senator in 1877, and re-elected in 1879; and was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses. In 1883 he was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Virginia.

PAULDING, HIRAM, naval officer, was born Dec. 11, 1797, in New York city. In 1811 he entered the navy as a midshipman; was promoted to commander in 1837; in 1844 became captain; and was promoted rear-admiral on the retired list in 1862. He died Oct. 20, 1878, in Huntington, N. Y.

PAULDING, JAMES KIRKE, author, was born Aug. 22, 1779, in Mount Pleasant, N. Y. He was a versatile and once popular writer of New York city, the friend of Irving, and co-author with him of The Salmagundi Papers in 1807. He was secretary of the navy in 1837-41. His various writings include: The Diverting History of John Bull and Brother Jonathan, his most successful work; Salmagundi, a second series, 1819; Koningsmarke, the Long Finne, a novel; John Bull in America; The Dutchman's Fire-side; Lay of the Scottish Fiddle, a travesty of the Lay of the Last Minstrel; Westward Ho; Merry Tales of the Three Wise Men of Gotham; The Puritan and His Daughter; The New Mirror for Travelers; The Backwoodsman, a poem; The Bucktails, a Comedy; Letters from the South; Life of George Washington; and Slavery in America, a spirited defence of that institution.

PAULDING, JOHN, patriot, was born in 1758 in New York city. He was one of the three captors of André, and received from congress a silver medal and an annuity of two hundred dollars. In 1827 a marble monument was erected to his memory in the churchyard near Peekskill, by the corporation of New York. He died Feb. 18, 1818, in Staatsburg, N. Y.

PAULDING, TATTNALL, soldier, business man, was born July 5, 1840, in Huntington, N. Y. During the war he served in the sixth regiment United States cavalry as captain, and was brevetted lieutenant-colonel. He is president of the Delaware Insurance company of Philadelphia, Pa., and prominent in the public and business affairs of that city.

PAULDING, WILLIAM, JR., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1769 in Tarrytown, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1811 to 1813. He died Feb. 11, 1854, in Tarrytown, N. Y.

PAULUS, CHRISTOPHER, accountant, state legislator, was born April 17, 1852, in Milwaukee, Wis. For four years he was clerk of the circuit and county courts of Milwaukee county, and during 1890-94 was a member and secretary of the board of trustees of the Asylum for the Chronic Insane of Milwaukee county. In 1895 and 1896 he served with distinction as a member of the Wisconsin state assembly; and took an active part in passing several bills of importance to the welfare of his state.

PAWLING, LEVI, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1817 to 1819.

PANSON, EDWARD M., journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 3, 1824, in Buckingham, Pa. He learned the printing business, and in 1842 founded the Newtown Journal; and in 1847 moved to Philadelphia, where he established the Daily News. He subsequently turned his attention to the study of law, and was admitted to the bar in 1850. In 1869 he was appointed judge of the court of common pleas in the city of Philadelphia; and the following year was elected to the office. In 1874 he was elected justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, and subsequently chief justice. He edited Brown's Collection of Laws, and is the author of Memoirs of the Johnson Family.

PANSON, WILLIAM ALPHA, lawyer, author, poet, was born July 6, 1850, in Greene county, Ohio. In 1875 he graduated from the Cincinnati Law school, and now practices law in Jamestown, Ohio. For years he has been a writer for various periodicals, and has received prizes for several essays. He is the author of a work of fiction entitled A Buckeye Baron; and a volume of poetical works.

PAXTON, JAMES W., was born in 1821 in Virginia. In 1860 he was made president of the Northwestern bank of Virginiia, in Wheeling, and converted it later into the present National bank of West Virginia. A handsome public fountain which stands in front of the city building in Wheeling, the gift of Mr. Paxton in 1858, is only one of the many quiet and generous acts which have denoted his public spirit, liberality and interest in the city's welfare. He was a member and was chairman of the committee on finance and taxation and one of the commissioners, appointed by the convention, to present the document for approval by congress and ask for the admission of West Virginia as an independent state into the Union.

PAXTON, JOHN R., soldier, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 18, 1843, in Canonsburg, Pa. He was pastor of the New York avenue presbyterian church in Washington, D. C., from 1878 till 1882, when he became pastor of the Forty-second street presbyterian church in New York city. In 1887 he became chaplain of the seventh regiment of New York. He has published several addresses and sermons.

PAXTON, WILLIAM M., lawyer, generalist, poet, was born March 2, 1819, in Washington, Ky. In 1835 he entered Centre college, Kentucky, and remained four years. After studying law, he settled at Platte City, Mo., which is still his home. In 1874, in the midst of a successful practice, he became hard of hearing, and had to retire from the bar. From this time he gave his attention to poesy. In 1880 he issued a small volume of poetry, entitled A Century Hence, and Other Poems. In 1887 he published a volume of four hundred and fifty-four pages entitled Poems. He has since published in pamphlet form, A Story of the Flood; and The Vision of Narva, a Legend of Parkville.

PAXTON, WILLIAM MILLER, educator, clergyman, was born June 7, 1824, in Adams county, Pa. In 1843 he graduated from the Pennsylvania college, and from the Princeton Theological seminary in 1848, and has received the degrees of D. D. and LL. D. He filled pastorates in Greencastle and Pittsburg, Pa.; was professor of sacred rhetoric in the Western Theological seminary during 1860-65; was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of New York city, during 1866-83; and for several years was a lecturer in the Union Theological seminary. Since 1883 he has been professor of ecclesiastical, homiletical and pastoral theology in the Princeton Theological seminary. In 1880 he was moderator of the general assembly of the presbyterian church of the United States; since 1866 has been a member of the board of foreign missions, and president of the board in 1881-83; and since 1867 has been a trustee of the Princeton college.

PAYMENT, RICHARD C., dentist, public official, was born June 10, 1841, in Detroit, Mich. He received a liberal education, and is one of the foremost dentists of Detroit, Mich.

During 1873-75 he was postmaster at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; and has filled various public positions of honor. He has been a delegate to various dental congresses, stands high in his profession and contributes valuable articles to current publications.

PAYNE, CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 24, 1830, in Taunton, Mass. He is a methodist clergyman and educator, president of Ohio Wesleyan university in 1876-88, and the author of The Social Gass and Christian Obligation; Daniel, the Uncompromising Young Man; Guides and Guards in Character-Building; Methodism, Its History and Results; Temperance; and Women and Their Work in Methodism.

PAYNE, CHARLES S., merchant, theologian. He has been engaged chiefly in mercantile, manufacturing and general business; and has given all his spare time to the study of theological subjects. One of his best lectures, which has been delivered in some of the largest cities in the Union, is entitled Creation and Fall of Man. His theories portend to reform in theology; and has published a work on that subject.

PAYNE, DANIEL ALEXANDER, bishop, author, was born Feb. 24, 1811, in Charleston, S. C. He is a methodist bishop of African descent, president of Wilberforce university in 1865-76, and the author of Domestic Education; History of the African Methodist Church; and Recollections of Men and Things.

PAYNE, EDWARD DUGGAN, surgeon, author, was born July 2, 1836, in Reading, Pa. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States navy in 1861. He became past assistant surgeon in 1865, surgeon in 1871, and was retired in 1876 on account of the failure of his health. He has published reports of cases in Contributions to Medical Science in the United States Navy Department; Medical Essays; and United States Naval Sanitary and Medical Reports.

PAYNE, ELWOOD MILTON, educator, lawyer, was born Nov. 7, 1869, in Pennsylvania, Ohio. He has taught school in Ohio, Montana and Idaho, and subsequently graduated in law from the Northern Indiana Law school. After practicing a while in Arkansas, he moved to Chickasha, I. T., where he has attained prominence as an able lawyer.

PAYNE, HENRY B., lawyer, manufacturer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 30, 1810, in Madison county, N. Y. He was a presidential elector in 1848; was elected a state senator in 1849 and 1850, and was, for several years, a member of the Cleveland city council. He was president of the Columbus Railroad company. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-fourth congress. In 1884 he was elected a United States senator from Ohio for six years from 1885.

PAYNE, HENRY C., railroad president, was born Nov. 23, 1843, in Ashfield, Mass. Since 1894 he has been president of the Chicago and Northern Pacific, and the Chicago and Calumet Terminal railways.

PAYNE, JOHN, protestant episcopal bishop, was born Jan. 9, 1815, in Westmoreland county, Va. After a long and arduous service of nearly twenty years on the coast of western Africa, Bishop Payne returned to the United States in 1871, completely broken in health and strength. He died Oct. 23, 1874, in Westmoreland county, Va.

PAYNE, JOHN HOWARD, dramatist, actor, was born June 9, 1792, in New York city. He was a dramatist and actor of New York city in whose drama of Clari, the Maid of Milan, occurs the famous lyric, Home, Sweet Home, his chief claim to remembrance. From 1841 till his death he was United States consul at Tunis, his remains being removed from there to Washington in 1883. His best plays include Brutus; Virginius; and Charles II. He died in 1852 in Tunis, Africa.

PAYNE, PERRY W., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 11, 1833, in Allegheny county, N. Y. He has attained prominence as a lawyer of ability in Cleveland, Ohio, in which city he has been a justice of the peace and a member of the board of education.

PAYNE, SERENO E., lawyer, congressman, was born June 26, 1843, in Hamilton, N. Y. During 1868-71 he was city clerk of Auburn, N. Y.; supervisor in 1871-72; district attorney of his county during 1873-79; and during 1879-82 was president of the board of education. He was elected to the forty-eighth congress as a republican; and received the re-election to the forty-ninth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

PAYNE, WILLIAM HAROLD, educator, college president, author, was born May 12, 1836, in Farmington, N. Y. For twenty-five years he was superintendent of schools in Michigan; professor of science and art of teaching in the university of Michigan for eight years; and since 1887 has been chancellor of the university of Nashville, and president of the Peabody Normal college of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of School Supervision; Outlines of Educational Doctrine; Contributions to the Science of Education; and Lectures on Pedagogy.

PAYNE, WILLIAM MORTON, educator, critic, author, was born in 1858 in Massachusetts. He is an educator and literary critic of Chicago, and professor of physical science in the high school. He is the author of Our New Education; and Little Leaders.

PAYNE, WILLIAM RILEY, educator, financier, was born Sept. 24, 1862, in Three Rivers, Mich. He received his education at the university of Michigan, and is now secretary and treasurer of the university of Nashville, and the Peabody Normal college. He is also secretary of the board of education of Nashville, Tenn., and has filled various other public positions of trust. He is an authority on educational matters; and the author of valuable papers on that subject.

PAYNE, WILLIAM WALLACE, educator, journalist, author, was born May 19, 1837, in Somerset, Mich. He was professor of mathematics and astronomy at Carleton college and director of its observatory. He is director of the Minnesota state weather service. In 1867 he projected The Minnesota Teacher and Journal of Education, which he continued for six years, and in 1882 he established The Sidereal Messenger, which he still edits.

PAYNE, WINTER W., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1807, in Fauquier county, Va. He was elected to the Alabama legislature in 1831, and with the exception of one year, served in that capacity until 1849. He was a representative in congress from Alabama from 1841 to 1847.

PAYNTER, LEMUEL, congressman, was born in Delaware. He was elected a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1837 to 1841.

PAYNTER, SAMUEL, governor. He was elected governor of Delaware in 1824, and remained in office three years.

PAYNTER, THOMAS H., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 9, 1851, in Lewis county, Ky. He was appointed attorney for Greenup county, Ky., in 1876, and held that office, under appointment, until 1878, at which time he was elected to the same office, which he held until 1882. He was elected to the fifty-first congress, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

PAYSON, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 25, 1783, in Rindge, N. H. He was a congregational clergyman of Portland, Maine, whose three volumes of Sermons were for a long time widely popular in the religious world. He died Oct. 22, 1827, in Portland, Maine.

PAYSON, EDWARD, author, was born in 1814. He was a writer of Deering, Maine, and the author of The Law of Equivalents in Its Relations to Political and Social Ethics; Doctor Tom; and The Maine Law in the Balance. He died in 1890.

PAYSON, LEWIS E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 17, 1840, in Providence, R. I. He moved to Pontiac, Ill., in 1865, and was judge of the county court from 1869 to 1873. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-seventh congress, and re-elected to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

PAYSON, PHILLIPS, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 18, 1736, in Walpole, Mass. From 1757 until his death he was pastor of the congregational church in Chelsea, Mass. He published tracts on astronomy and natural philosophy in the Transactions of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; and several sermons, the best known of which is that on the Battle of Lexington; and on the Death of Washington. He died Jan. 11, 1801, in Chelsea, Mass.

PAYSON, SETH, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 29, 1758, in Walpole, Mass. From 1782 until his death he was pastor of the congregational church in Rindge, N. H. He published numerous sermons, and a work against secret societies, entitled Proofs of the Existence and Dangerous Tendencies of Modern Illuminism. He died Feb. 26, 1820, in Rindge, N. H.

PEABODY, ANDREW PRESTON, clergyman, educator, author, was born March 19, 1811, in Beverly, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of eminence, pastor of a church at Portsmouth, N. H., in 1833-60, and Plummer professor of Christian morals at Harvard university in 1860-81. He was the author of Sermons of Consolation; Lectures on Christian Doctrine; Christianity the Fruit of Nature; Moral Philosophy; Faults and Graces of Conversation; Sermons for Children; Christianity and Science; King's Chapel Sermons; Reminiscences of European Travel; Christian Belief and Life; Baccalaureate Sermons; Building a Character; Harvard Graduates Whom I Have Known; Harvard Reminiscences; and translations of the ethical writings of Cicero and Plutarch's Delay of Divine Justice. He died in 1893.

PEABODY, CHARLES AUGUSTUS, lawyer, jurist, was born July 10, 1814, in Sandwich, N. H. He has twice been judge of the supreme court of New York, and also has been judge of the United States provisional court of Louisiana, and chief justice of the supreme court of the state of Louisiana. Nearly the whole of his professional life has been spent in New York city, with the exception of the few years, during the war, when he was presiding over the courts above mentioned in the south.

PEABODY, ELIZABETH PALMER, educator, author, was born May 16, 1804, in Billerica, Mass. She was a noted educator of Boston, and very active in awakening American interest in the kindergarten system, and in her early life associated in teaching with A. B. Alcott, as related in her Record of a School. Her other works include: Chronological History of the United States; Kindergarten Guide; Æsthetic Papers; Letters to Kindergarteners; First Steps to History; Reminiscences of Dr. Channing; and Last Evening with Allston, and Other Papers. She died Jan. 4, 1894, in Jamaica Plains, Mass.

PEABODY, EPHRAIM, clergyman, author, was born March 22, 1807, in Wilton, N. H. He was pastor of King's chapel of Boston in 1846-56; originator of Boston Provident society; and was the author of sermons and Christian Days and Thoughts. He died Nov. 28, 1856, in Boston, Mass.

PEABODY, GEORGE, banker, philanthropist, was born Feb. 18, 1795, in Danvers, Mass. He is said to have given more than $2,000,000 to the founding of colleges, schools and scientific institutions, and $300,000 for the benefit of the working classes of London. He established Yale college of New Haven, Conn.; assisted Peabody Museum of Natural History, and the Peabody museum and professorship of American archæology and ethnology in connection with the Harvard university, by a donation of $150,000 for each. He died Nov. 4, 1869, in London, England.

PEABODY, JAMES H., merchant, banker, was born Aug. 21, 1852, in Orange county, Vt. In 1871 he moved to Pueblo, Colo., where he was employed in a dry-goods store; and afterward moved to Denver, thence to Canon City, where in 1875 he took charge of the management of the store of James Clelland, the leading merchant of that city. He subsequently became a partner, and in 1881 purchased the entire business. In 1885 he was elected county clerk; is prominent in municipal affairs, and president of the First National bank, of which he was one of the organizers.

PEABODY, OLIVER WILLIAM BOURNE, clergyman, lawyer, author, was born July 9, 1799, in Exeter, N. H. He was a lawyer and journalist of Boston, subsequently a unitarian clergyman and pastor of a church in Burlington, Vt., in 1845-48. He published Lives of Generals Sullivan and Putnam, in Sparks's American Biography; and an edition of Shakespeare with Life and Notes. He died July 5, 1848, in Burlington, Vt.

PEABODY, PHILIP GLENDOWER, lawyer, was born Feb. 22, 1857, in New York city, and is a son of Charles A. Peabody, an eminent jurist. He graduated from Columbia college in 1877; in 1880 from the Columbia Law school, and was admitted to the New York bar. In 1885 he moved to Boston, where he has been president of the New England Anti-Vivisection society for many years. He is also president of the National Constitutional Liberty league; president of the National Scientific Family Culture institute; vice-president of the Massachusetts society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; and vice-president of the Illinois Anti-Vivisection society. He has received the degrees of A. B., A. M., LL. B. and M. D. He is an extensive traveler and has visited nearly all the countries of Europe. He has one of the largest private libraries in Boston, numbering about ten thousand volumes, for which he has erected a suitable library building.

PEABODY, SELIM HOBART, educator, scientist, author, was born Aug. 20, 1829, in Rockingham, Vt. He has been president of the university of Illinois; president of the Chicago Academy of Sciences; president of State Teachers' associations of Wisconsin and Illinois; president of the National Council of Education; and in 1893 he was chief of the department of liberal arts, World's Columbian exposition. He is the author of works on natural history, arithmetic, astronomy; compiler of American Patriotism, and first editor-in-chief of the International Encyclopedia.

PEABODY, THOMAS HAZARD, lawyer, journalist, was born Sept. 23, 1839, in North Stonington, Conn. In 1888 he began the publication of the Westerly Daily Tribune, R. I., the first prohibition daily newspaper in the world, and he still remains the editor and owner. He has been a member of the general assembly of Rhode Island, and has been the prohibition candidate for governor and for congressman several times.

PEABODY, WILLIAM BOURNE OLIVER, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1799 in New Hampshire. He was a unitarian clergyman, pastor of a church in Springfield, Mass., in 1820-47. He was the author of Lives of A. Wilson, Cotton Mather, Brainerd, and Oglethorpe, in Sparks's American Biography; and Report on Birds of the Commonwealth. As a poet he is best represented by such poems as Monadnock; Hymn of Nature; and Winter Night. He died May 28, 1847, in Springfield, Mass.

PEACOCK, DRED, educator, college president, was born April 12, 1864, in Stantonsburg, N. C. In 1887 he graduated as valedictorian from Trinity college, North Carolina, receiving the degrees of A. B. and A. M. In 1887-88 he was principal of the Lexington Female seminary; was professor of Latin and science in the Greensboro Female college in 1888-94, and since 1894 has been president of that institution.

PEACOCK, THOMAS BROWER, poet, was born April 16, 1852, in Cambridge, Ohio. For ten years he was associate editor of the Kansas Democrat of Topeka. He is the author of The Vendetta and Other Poems; The Rhyme of the Border War; Poems of the Plains and Songs of the Solitudes, and other works. During the World's Columbian exposition he read his famous Columbian Ode before the public press congress, which was highly praised. As a lecturer he has attained phenomenal success.

PEAKE, EBENEZER STEELE, clergyman, missionary, was born Jan. 15, 1830, in Andes, N. Y. He received his education at the Academy at the Academy of Kingsborough, and subsequently attended the Academy of Delhi, N. Y. In 1848 he was principal of a classical parish school at Cohoes, N. Y., and the following year entered the Theological seminary of the episcopal church at Nashotah, Wis. In 1852 he was ordained, and immediately elected tutor at Nashotah, holding that position for the next three years. At the wish of Bishop Kemper he moved to Wisconsin, and in 1856 became an associate of the Rev. Dr. Breck in the mission to the Chippewa Indians. With his wife he spent six years among the Indians at the mission of Gull Lake and Crow Wing. Next he was chaplain of the twenty-eighth regiment, Wisconsin volunteer infantry, going with them to the field in the southwest, and remaining to the end of the war. He returned to Minnesota, but accepted the rectorship of the Trinity church of San Jose, Cal.; and four years later of St. Luke's church, of San Francisco, spending twelve years in California. In 1878 he returned to Minnesota, and engaged in missionary work along the Northern Pacific railroad, so continuing until 1889, when he accepted the chaplaincy of St. Mary's Hall, of Faribault, Minn., the famous school for girls.

PEAKE, THOMAS DE WITT, educator, clergyman, author, was born March 19, 1843, in Princeton, Ohio. He received his education in the public schools and graduated from Hartsville university. For many years he was a successful teacher; was educated for the law, and is now one of the foremost clergymen of the methodist episcopal church in Wisconsin at Beloit. He is also an orator of unusual power, and a noted theologian. He is the author of Sanctification; The Symbolism of Solomon's Temple; Methodism and the Children; The Intermediate State; and other works. He is a prominent Mason, and owns the largest private library in the state of Wisconsin.

PEAKES, EMILY W., educator, poet, was born Dec. 1, 1847, in Harmony, Maine. She is a teacher of literature in the high school of Terre Haute, Ind., and is the author of a number of poems.

PEALE, ANNA CLAYPOOLE, artist, was born March 6, 1791, in Philadelphia, Pa. She devoted herself at first to still-life subjects, but afterward followed miniature-painting. She executed miniatures of Gen. Lallemand, James Monroe, Andrew Jackson, and Com. William Bainbridge. She died Dec. 25, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, CHARLES WILSON, artist, inventor, author, was born April 16, 1741, in Chestertown, Md. He was an artist, inventor, and miscellaneous writer of Philadelphia, among whose works are, On Building Wooden Bridges; Domestic Happiness; and Economy in Fnel. He died Feb. 22, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, JAMES, soldier, artist, was born in 1749, in Annapolis, Md. He turned his attention principally to portrait-painting, executing many miniatures and portraits in oil, including a full-length portrait of Washington, which has been engraved. One of his portraits of Washington is in the New York Historical society; the other, painted in 1795, in Independence hall, Philadelphia. He died May 24, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, JAMES, artist, was born March 6, 1779, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1813 he exhibited, at the Columbia society of Artists, a view of High street bridge. His other works include a painting of an engagement between the privateer schooner Cornet, of Baltimore, and a Portuguese sloop-of-war; View of Germantown; View of Water-Gap and Breaking Away of a Storm; and Fairmount Water-Works. He died Oct. 27, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, RAPHAELLE, artist, was born Feb. 17, 1774, in Annapolis, Md. He began painting portraits in 1804, but paid also much attention to the painting of still-life subjects, in which branch of art he was very successful. He died March 25, 1825, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, REMBRANDT, artist, author, was born Feb. 22, 1788, in Bucks county, Pa. He was an artist of Philadelphia and the author of Notes on Italy; Portfolio of an Artist; and Graphics. He died Oct. 3, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, SARAH M., artist, was born May 19, 1800, in Philadelphia. She executed portraits of Com. William Bainbridge, Henry A. Wise, Caleb Cushing, Dixon H. Lewis, and other public men. Lafayette accorded her four sittings in 1825. She died Feb. 4, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALE, TITIAN RAMSEY, artist, author, was born in 1800 in Philadelphia. From 1849 till 1872 he was an examiner in the patent-office at Washington. He was the author of Mammalia and Ornithology. He died March 13, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEALER, RUSSELL R., lawyer, state legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 1, 1842, in Greenwood, Pa. Since 1867 he has practiced law in Three Rivers, Mich. He has been prosecuting attorney; circuit court commissioner; member of the state legislature, and in 1881 was elected judge of the fifteenth circuit.

PEARCE, CHARLES EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Whitesboro, N. Y. He settled in St. Louis in 1866, where he was admitted to the bar, and began the practice of law in 1867. In 1891 he was appointed chairman Sioux indian commission; and in 1894 went to India and Japan to investigate the industries of the Orient. In 1896 he was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

PEARCE, CHARLES SPRAGUE, artist, was born Oct. 13, 1831, in Boston, Mass. His best known works are, Death of the First-Born of Egypt; Pet of the Harem; and Decapitation of John the Baptist, of which the latter received honorable mention at the salon, a prize at the Philadelphia academy, and a medal in Boston.

PEARCE, CROMWELL, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 13, 1772, in Willistown, Pa. He was a captain of militia in 1793-98. He resigned from the army in 1815, became sheriff of Chester county, Pa., was a presidential elector in 1824; and in 1825-39 was an associate justice of the county court. He died April 2, 1852, in Willistown, Pa.

PEARCE, DUTTEE JEREAULD, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 10, 1789, on Prudence Island, R. I. He was at one time attorney-general of state, and United States district attorney for his district. He was a representative in congress from Rhode Island from 1825 to 1833, and again from 1835 to 1837. He was a presidential elector in 1821; and served in the legislature of Rhode Island. He died May 9, 1849, in Newport, R. I.

PEARCE, EBENEZER, soldier, educator, journalist, was born Oct. 6, 1839, in Evansburgh, Pa. He is now the editor and owner of The Republican, of White Hall, Ill.; and is prominent in public affairs.

PEARCE, JAMES ALFRED, lawyer, educator, legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 14, 1805, in Alexandria, Va. He was a member of the Maryland legislature in 1831. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1839, and from 1841 to 1843. He was a senator in congress from 1843 to 1862. He held the post of professor of law in Washington college, of Chestertown, and was a regent of the Smithsonian institution. He was re-elected to the senate for the term commencing March, 1863. He died Dec. 20, 1862, in Chestertown, Md.

PEARCE, JOHN J., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857. He died May 30, 1888, in Harrisburg, Pa.

PEARLE, MARY, temperance advocate, lecturer, poet, was born Nov. 23, 1849, in Ireland. She received her education in Dublin; and held many important positions in different schools and missions in the land of her nativity. In 1881 she came to America, and seven years later was engaged in lecturing in Ohio on temperance and social purity. She is corresponding secretary and lecturer for the Woman's Christian Temperance union; and secretary of the Peace by Arbitration society. She is the author of a large number of poems, some of which have appeared in several standard collections.

PEARSE, JOHN BARNARD, chemist, author, was born April 19, 1842, in Philadelphia. He was in charge of the chemical division of the United States army laboratory in Philadelphia in 1863-65. He has published A Concise History of the Iron Manufacture of America.

PEARSON, ALBERT J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 20, 1846, in Centerville, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney of Monroe county, Ohio, for three successive terms; and a member of the state senate for two years. He was probate judge of Monroe county for six years. He was elected to the Fifty-second and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

PEARSON, ALFRED L., soldier, author, was born Dec. 28, 1838, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1888 he became commander of the National Union Veteran legion. He edited the Sunday Critic in 1886-87, and is the author of three plays.

PEARSON, JOHN, clergyman, lecturer, reformer, was born Dec. 25, 1842, in Ireland. He is an eminent clergyman of the episcopal church, and since 1865 has filled some of the most responsible pastorates in the Cincinnati conference. He has served full terms as presiding elder of several districts with distinguished success, and was stationed in Cincinnati for sixteen years. He was a delegate to the general conference of 1892, and a reserve delegate to the general conferences of 1888 and 1896. He is a member of a dozen boards of trustees, and for many years has been secretary of the board of trustees of the methodist episcopal church. He was one of the founders of the methodist deaconess work, and the Christ hospital of Cincinnati. For seven years he was president of the Law and Order league and of the Municipal Reform league of Cincinnati; and for over thirty years has contributed valuable articles to current publications.

PEARSON, JONATHAN, genealogist, educator, author, was born Feb. 23, 1813, in Chichester, N. H. He is a genealogist who was professor of chemistry and subsequently of botany at Union college from 1839. He is the author of Early Records of the County of Albany; Genealogy of the First Settlers of Albany; and Genealogies of the First Settlers of Schenectady.

PEARSON, JOSEPH, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Rowan county, N. C. He served two years in the state legislature, and was a representative in congress from North Carolina, from 1809 to 1815. He died Oct. 27, 1834, in Salisbury, N. C.

PEARSON, PETER HENRY, educator, author, was born March 30, 1864, in Sweden. He has been the traveling correspondent of several leading newspapers, and is the author of a History of Sweden.

PEARSON, RICHARD MUMFORD, lawyer, jurist, was born June 28, 1805, in Davie county, N. C. He was in the North Carolina legislature in 1829-33, and an unsuccessful candidate for congress in 1834. He was a judge of the superior court in 1836-48, and at the latter date he was elevated to the supreme bench. He died Jan. 12, 1878, in Winston, N. C.

PEARSON, RICHMOND, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 26, 1852, in Richmond Hill, N. C. In 1874 he was appointed United States consul at Verviers and Liege, Belgium; was a member of the North Carolina legislature in 1885 and again in 1887. He was one of the originators of the coalition which overwhelmed the democratic party in North Carolina in 1894. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as an independent protectionist, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

PEARSONS, DANIEL KIMBALL, philanthropist, was born April 14, 1820, in Bradford, Vt. Among his many gifts for the advancement of Christianity, education and charity, have been $280,000 to the Chicago Theological seminary; $200,000 to Beloit college; $50,000 each to Knox college, Colorado college, Yankton college, the Pacific university in Oregon, Whitman college in Washington, and Drury college in Missouri; $60,000 to a hospital in Chicago; and $50,000 for the relief of the suffering poor.

PEASE, ALFRED HOMPHEREYS, musician, composer, was born May 6, 1838, in Cleveland, Ohio. He was a brilliant pianist and the author of a number of well known compositions. He died July 12, 1882, in St. Louis, Mo.

PEASE, EDWARD M., lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born in Connecticut. He was secretary of the general council of the provincial government of Texas in 1835-36; then became chief clerk of the navy department, and afterward chief clerk of the treasury department of the Texas government. In 1836 he was clerk of the judiciary committee of the house of representatives of Texas. In 1837 he became comptroller of public accounts of Texas, and in 1846 was elected a representative in the Texas legislature. He was re-elected in 1848 and 1850, and in 1853 was elected governor of Texas, and was re-elected in 1855. He was provisional governor, by appointment, from 1867 to 1869. He died in 1883.

PEASE, GEORGE E. H., lawyer, state senator, was born Oct. 31, 1833, in Norfolk, Conn. In 1876 he was a member of the Colorado state constitutional convention; a state representative in 1885-87, and in 1892 was elected to the state senate. He died May 22, 1895.

PEASE, HENRY ROBERTS, soldier, journalist, United States senator, was born Feb. 19, 1835, in Connecticut. In 1865 he was appointed superintendent of education for the state of Louisiana, while under military rule, and was elected superintendent of education of the state in 1869. He edited and published the Mississippi Educational Journal, the first magazine ever devoted to popular education in the south. He was elected to the United States senate to fill a vacancy for the term ending in 1875.

PEASE, JOSEPH IVES, engraver, was born Aug. 9, 1809, in Norfolk, Va. His plates are engraved in pure line, with much taste and excellence of execution, and are faithful renderings of the original paintings. His Tough Story, after Mount; Mumble the Peg, after Inman; and Young Traders, after Page, are choice examples of his work. He died July 2, 1883, in Twin Lakes, Conn.

PEASE, PHINEAS, soldier, was born April 16, 1826, in Somers, Conn. He became lieutenant-colonel of the forty-ninth Illinois infantry at the beginning of the civil war, and in 1865 he received the brevet of brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1885 he became receiver and general manager of the Cleveland and Marietta railroad.

PEASE, THEODORE CLAUDIUS, clergyman, author, was born in 1853 in New York. He was a congregational clergyman of Malden, Mass., and the author of The Christian Ministry. He died in 1893.

PEASELEE, EDMUND RANDOLPH, physician, educator, author, was born Jan. 22, 1814, in Rockingham county, N. H. He was a physician of New York city, medical professor in several institutions, and the author of Human Histology; and Ovarian Tumors. He died Jan. 12, 1878, in New York city.

PEASLEE, CHARLES H., public official, congressman, was born in February, 1804, in Gilmanton, N. H. He was a state representative from 1833 to 1837, and adjutant-general of New Hampshire from 1839 to 1847. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1853, and was collector of customs at Boston from 1853 to 1857. He died in October, 1866, in St. Paul, Minn.

PEATTIE, MRS. ELIA WILKINSON, journalist, author, was born in 1862 in Michigan. She is a journalist of Chicago, and the author of The Judge, a novel; A Trip Through Wonderland, a volume of Alaska travel; With Scrip and Staff, a story of the Children's Crusade; and A Mountain Woman.

PECK, ASAHIEL, governor, was born in 1803 in Royalton, Mass. In 1874 he was elected governor of Vermont, serving until 1876.

PECK, CLARISSA C., philanthropist, was born in 1797. She became well known as a philanthropist of her time. She died in 1884.

PECK, EBENEZER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born May 22, 1805, in Portland, Maine. In 1835 he emigrated to Chicago, Ill., and was several times elected to the senate and house of representatives of that state. He was appointed reporter of its decisions by the supreme court of Illinois, which office he held for more than thirteen years from 1850, and until he was, in 1863, made one of the judges of the court of claims in Washington.

PECK, EDWARD JAMES, philanthropist, was born Oct. 16, 1806, near New Haven, Conn. He left one hundred thousand dollars to Wabash college, Indiana. He died Nov. 6, 1876, in Indianapolis, Ind.

PECK, ERASMUS D., physician, surgeon, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1808, in Connecticut. He moved to Ohio in 1830, and was elected a member of the Ohio legislature in 1856 and 1858. He was examining surgeon for the army and for pensions. He was elected to the forty-first congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-second congress as a republican.

PECK, FERDINAND WYTHE, philanthropist, was born July 15, 1848, in Chicago, Ill. He has contributed liberally to the cultivation of musical taste, and in 1886 organized and became president of a joint stock company for the erection of the Chicago auditorium and hotel, the largest building of its kind in the United States.

PECK, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 8, 1797, in Middlefield, N. Y. He was a methodist clergyman of prominence who was editor of several denominational journals, and the author of Christian Perfection; Early Methodism; Wyoming and Its History; Universalism Examined; History of the Apostles and Evangelists; Rule of Faith; and Manly Character. He died May 20, 1876, in Scranton, Pa.

PECK, GEORGE WASHINGTON, journalist, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Dec. 4, 1817, in Rehoboth, Mass. He removed to Michigan, and was a member of the legislature of that state in 1846 and 1847, serving as speaker during the latter year. He was afterwards chosen secretary of state, and was a representative in congress from Michigan from 1855 to 1857. He was the author of Melbourne and the Chincho Islands. He died June 6, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

PECK, GEORGE WESLEY, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 7, 1849, in Kingston, Pa. He is a methodist clergyman of western New York, and the author of The Realization and Benefit of Ideals; and Walk in the Light.

PECK, GEORGE WILBUR, journalist, governor, was born Sept. 28, 1840, in Henderson, N. Y. He learned the printer's trade, and has principally been engaged in journalism. In 1863 he entered the war as a member of the fourth regiment, Wisconsin volunteer cavalry, and was soon commissioned as second lieutenant of company L. After the war he established The Representative of Ripon, Wis.; was elected city treasurer in 1867, and subsequently was engaged as editor by M. M. Pomeroy, first in New York city, and then on the La Crosse Democrat. He served as chief of police of La Crosse. In 1847 he started The Sun, which he subsequently moved to Milwaukee; attained success as a humorous paper, and for many years had a circulation of eighty thousand copies per week. He was elected the fifth democratic governor of Wisconsin, and served during 1891-94 with distinction in that high office.

PECK, HARRY THURSTON, educator, author, was born in 1856 in Connecticut. He is a professor of Latin at Columbia college; a literary critic; and the author of Latin Pronunciation; and The Semitic Theory of Creation.

PECK, JARED V., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855.

PECK, JAMES H., lawyer, jurist, was born in Tennessee. He was made judge of the United States district court for Missouri. He died May 1, 1837, in St. Charles, Mo.

PECK, JESSE TRUESDELL, bishop, author, was born April 4, 1811, in Middlefield, N. Y. He was a bishop in the Methodist church; and the author of The Central Idea of Christianity; The True Woman; What Must I Do to be Saved?; and The Great Republic. He died May 17, 1883, in Syracuse, N. Y.

PECK, JOHN EDWIN, lawyer, was born Aug. 14, 1868, in Blacksburg, Va. He received a liberal education, and finished at the West Virginia university. He has attained success as a lawyer of Logan, W. Va.; and has been prosecuting attorney of his county.

PECK, JOHN JAMES, soldier, was born Jan. 4, 1821, in Manlius, N. Y. During 1859-61 he was president of the board of education of Syracuse, N. Y. In 1861 he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers; and served with distinction throughout the civil war. He died April 21, 1878, in Syracuse, N. Y.

PECK, LUCIUS B., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1799, in Waterbury, Vt. He served in the Vermont state legislature; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1851. From 1853 to 1857 he was United States attorney for Vermont, and subsequently president of the Vermont and Canada railroad. He died in December, 1866, in Lowell, Mass.

PECK, LUTHER C., lawyer, congressman. He settled at Nunda, N. Y., in the practice of law, in which he attained eminence. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1837 to 1841. He died Feb. 5, 1876, in Nunda, N. Y.

PECK, LUTHER WESLEY, clergyman, poet, was born in 1825, in Wyoming valley, Pa. He has published The Golden Age, a poem; and other works.

PECK, MARTIN H., journalist, writer, was born July 26, 1870, in Pekin, Minn. His poems and humorous sketches of country life which were at first published in the local papers were widely read and copied. He is the editor and owner of Peck's Sun of Barnesville, Minn. He also has a large farm in Wilkins county, and is very prominent in public affairs.

PECK, SAMUEL MINTURN, physician, poet, was born in 1854, in Alabama. He is a popular poet and physician of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and the author of Cap and Bells; Rings and Love Knots; Rhymes and Roses; and Fair Women of To-Day.

PECK, THEODORE SAFFORD, soldier, was born March 22, 1843, in Burlington, Vt. He served through the civil war; and for gallant and meritorious services received the rank of brigadier-general.

PECK, WILLIAM DANDRIDGE, naturalist, educator, author, was born May 8, 1763, in Boston, Mass. He was made professor of his specialty in Harvard, which chair he held from 1805 till 1822. He published a catalogue of American and Foreign Plants; and several articles in the collections of the Massachusetts Historical society, which include The Description of the Atherine; History of the Slug-Worm; and Method of Taking Impressions of Vegetable Leaves by Means of Smoke. He also published an account of a sea-serpent in the Memoirs of the American Academy. He died Oct. 3, 1822, in Cambridge, Mass.

PECK, WILLIAM FARLEY, journalist, author, was born Feb. 4, 1840, in Rochester, N. Y. He was connected with the press of Rochester, N. Y., for several years, and is the author of Semi-Centennial History of Rochester.

PECK, WILLIAM GUY, soldier, educator, author, was born Oct. 16, 1820, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a soldier and mathematician, professor in Columbia college from 1857; and the author of Elementary Mechanics; and Popular Astronomy. He died in 1892.

PECK, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, author, was born Sept. 30, 1830, in Augusta, Ga. He is an educator of Georgia and a prolific writer of sensational novels. Among them are The McDonalds, or the Ashes of Southern Homes; The Confederate Flag of the Ocean; and The Brother's Vengeance.

PECKHAM, RUFUS W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1809, in Rensselaerville, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855; and in 1859 was elected judge of the supreme court. He died Nov. 22, 1873, at sea.

PECKHAM, RUFUS WHEELER, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, was born Nov. 8, 1838, in Albany, N. Y. In 1868 he was elected district attorney of Albany county; was subsequently corporation counsel of Albany city; and in 1883 was elected a justice of the supreme court of the state. While serving as such he was elected in 1886 an associate judge of the court of appeals of New York state, and while occupying a seat on that bench he was, in December, 1895, appointed by President Cleveland an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

PECKHAM, STEPHEN FARNUM, chemist, was born March 26, 1839, near Providence, R. I. During the civil war he served as hospital steward; and was later in charge of the chemical department of the United States army laboratory in Philadelphia. He subsequently attained national reputation as a noted chemist.

PECKHAM, WHEELER HAZARD, lawyer, was born Jan. 1, 1833, in Albany, N. Y. He was appointed district attorney of New York in 1884, which office he resigned in the same year. For many years he has practiced law in New York city.

PEDDER, JAMES, agriculturist, journalist, author, was born July 29, 1775, in England. He was an agricultural writer who came to America in 1832, and settled in Philadelphia as a sugar manufacturer. From 1844 to 1859 he edited The Boston Cultivator. He was the author of The Farmer's Land Measure; The Yellow Shoestrings; and Frank. He died Aug. 30, 1859, in Roxbury, Mass.

PEDDIE, THOMAS B., manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He located at Newark, N. J., and engaged in manufacturing. He was elected to the state legislature in 1863 and 1864; was mayor of Newark from 1865 to 1868; and was president of the board of trade of that city in 1873. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-fifth congress.

PEEBLES, MRS. MARY LOUISE [PARMELEE], author, was born Dec. 10, 1833, in Lansingburg, N. Y. She is a writer of religious juvenile tales and other works, among them being The Little Captain; Helps Over Hard Places; The Good Fight; Where Honor Leads; A Question of Honor, a story; The Magnet Stones; and The Two Blizzards.

PEED, HENRY A., journalist, state senator, was born Nov. 9, 1846, in Plymouth, Ind. In 1872 he was elected by his party to represent his district in the Indiana state legislature, serving at both the special and regular sessions during the term. He was also a member of the committee on ways and means. In 1874 he was elected to the senate from his district, consisting of the counties of Martin, Dubois, and Orange, and served four years. At the session of 1875 he was an active member of the judiciary committee, and in 1877 was appointed chairman of the committee on railroads.

PEEK, HERMANUS, state legislator, congressman, was born in Albany, N. Y. He was for two years a member of the New York assembly from Schenectady county; and a representative in congress from New York from 1819 to 1821.

PEEL, SAMUEL W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1831, in Independence county, Ark. In 1867 he settled at Bentonville, Ark.; and was appointed prosecuting attorney in 1873, and was elected to that office in 1874, serving four years. He was elected a representative from Arkansas to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, and fifty-second congresses as a democrat.

PEELLE, STANTON J., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1843, in Wayne county, Ind. He entered the union army in 1861, and served three years. He was deputy district attorney of Marion county for two years; and was a representative in the state legislature from 1877 to 1879. He was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

PEELLE, WILLIAM ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Sept. 18, 1819, in Richmond county, N. C. He has served as prosecuting attorney; has been a member of the lower house of the Indiana general assembly; and judge of common pleas court, criminal and circuit courts. He has also been secretary of state of Indiana.

PEERS, BENJAMIN ORRS, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1800, in Loudoun county, Va. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator of Kentucky, founder of the common school system of Kentucky; and the author of American Education. He died Aug. 20, 1842, in Louisville, Ky.

PEERY, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a delegate from Delaware to the continental congress from 1785 to 1786.

PEET, DUDLEY, physician, author, was born July 9, 1830, in Hartford, Conn. He studied and practiced medicine in New York, and became an instructor in the New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes. He was the author of a Manual of Inorganic Chemistry for Students, which was revised and enlarged by Isaac L. Peet in 1868. He died April 18, 1862, in New York city.

PEET, HARVEY PRINDLE, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1794, in Bethlehem, Conn. He was a noted educator of deaf-mutes in New York city; and the author of Course of Instruction for the Deaf and Dumb; Legal Rights of the Deaf and Dumb; and History of the United States. He died Jan. 1, 1873, in New York city.

PEET, STEPHEN, missionary, author, was born in 1795, in Sandgate, Vt. In 1837 he became minister of Green Bay, Wis., and assisted in founding Beloit college and thirty churches. He then went to Milwaukee, and subsequently took charge of an institute in Batavia, Ill. He was the author of a History of the Presbyterian and Congregational Churches and Ministers of Wisconsin. He died March 21, 1855, in Chicago, Ill.

PEET, STEPHEN DENISON, clergyman, anthropologist, author, was born Dec. 2, 1820, in Euclid, Ohio. He is a congregational minister, eminent as an anthropologist; and the author of The Ashtabula Disaster; History of Ashtabula County, Ohio; Ancient Architecture in America; History of Early Missions in Wisconsin; Picture Writing; Primitive Symbolisms; and The Effigy Mounds of Wisconsin.

PEFFER, WILLIAM ALFRED, lawyer, journalist, United States senator, was born Sept. 10, 1831, in Cumberland county, Pa. He began teaching at the age of fifteen years; taught during winter and farmed in summer; removed to Indiana in 1853, and opened a farm in St. Joseph county. He removed to Missouri in 1859, and purchased a farm in Morgan county. Because of the war he moved to Illinois in 1862, and enlisted as a private in company F, eighty-third Illinois infantry. He was promoted to second lieutenant in March, 1863; and served as regimental quartermaster and adjutant, post adjutant, judge-advocate of a military commission, and depot quartermaster in the engineer department at Nashville. He began the practice of law in Clarksville, Tenn., in 1865; moved to Kansas in 1870; and practiced law there until 1878, in the meantime establishing and conducting two newspapers, the Fredonia Journal and Coffeyville Journal. He was elected to the state senate in 1874; was republican presidential elector in 1880; and became editor of the Kansas Farmer in 1881. He was elected to the United States senate as a member of the people's party; took his seat March 4, 1891. His term of service expired March 3, 1897. He is the author of The Tariff Manual; and The Way Out.

PEFFLEY, DAVID FRANKLIN, journalist, poet, was born May 5, 1854, in Bainbridge, Ind. For several years he taught school, then took up newspaper work. In 1880 he moved to Kansas, and has edited and published newspapers in that state, and in New Mexico. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Songs of Sentiment; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

PEGRAM, JOHN, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1818 to 1819 to fill a vacancy.

PEGRAM, WILLIAM JOHNSON, soldier, was born in 1841, in Petersburg, Va. He served with distinction in the confederate army; attained the rank of brigadier-general, and was killed in battle April 2, 1865, in Petersburg, Va.

PEIRCE, BENJAMIN, merchant, author, was born Sept. 30, 1778, in Salem, Mass. He was a merchant of Salem, Mass., subsequently librarian of Harvard university; and published a History of Harvard University from 1636 to the American Revolution. He died July 28, 1831, in Cambridge, Mass.

PEIRCE, BENJAMIN, mathematician, educator, author, was born April 4, 1809, in Salem, Mass. He was an eminent mathematician, and professor of mathematics and astronomy at Harvard university in 1833-67. He was the author of Elementary Treatise on Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Elementary Treatise on Sound; Curves, Functions, and Forces; and Ideality in the Physical Sciences. He died Oct. 6, 1880, in Cambridge, Mass.

PEIRCE, BENJAMIN OSGOOD, educator, author, was born Feb. 11, 1854, in Beverly, Mass. He is a professor of physics at Harvard university from 1884; and author of Theory of the Newtonian Potential Functions.

PEIRCE, BRADFORD KINNEY, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Feb. 3, 1819, in Royalton, Vt. He was editor of Zion's Herald in 1872-88. He was the author of Bible Scholar's Manual; The Eminent Dead; Notes on the Acts; The Word of God Opened; A Half Century with Juvenile Delinquents; Trials of an Inventor; Audubon's Adventures; Stories from Life which the Chaplain Told; The Chaplain with the Children; The Young Shetlander and His Home; and Hymns of the Higher Life. He died in 1889.

PEIRCE, CHARLES HENRY, physician, author, was born Jan. 28, 1814, in Salem, Mass. In 1850 he received the appointment of examiner of medicines for the port of Boston. He was the translator of Dr. Julius A. Stockhardt's Principles of Chemistry. He also published Examination of Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals as to their Purity. He died June 16, 1855, in Cambridge, Mass.

PEIRCE, CHARLES SANDERS, physician, author, was born Sept. 30, 1839, in Cambridge, Mass. He is a physician and lecturer on logic; and the author of Studies in Logic.

PEIRCE, EBENEZER WEAVER, soldier, author, was born April 5, 1822, in Freetown, Mass. He was an officer in the federal army during the civil war; and the author of The Peirce Family of the Old Colony; Indian History, Biography, and Genealogy; and Contributions, Biographical.

PEIRCE, JAMES MILLS, educator, author, was born May 1, 1834, in Cambridge, Mass. He is an educator at Harvard university from 1867; and the author of Text-Book of Analytical Geometry; and Elements of Logarithms.

PEIRCE, JOSEPH DEXTER, farmer, legislator, was born Dec. 5, 1857, in Newburgh, N. Y. He is a successful farmer; and has served as a member of the lower house of the North Dakota legislature.

PEIRCE, ROBERT B. F., soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 17, 1843, in Laurel, Ind. He graduated in a classical course from the Washburn college of Crawfordsville, Ind. He served during the war as a lieutenant in the one hundred and thirty-fifth regiment of the Indiana volunteer infantry. He is a noted lawyer of Indianapolis, Ind.; has been state's attorney; and served as a member of the forty-seventh congress as a republican.

PEIRCE, THOMAS, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1786, in Chester county, Pa. He wrote numerous prize poems, the chief of which was Muse of Hesperia; and contributed largely to literary journals. His last published poem, Knowledge is Power, appeared in 1827. He died in 1850, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PEIRCE, WILLIAM FOSTER, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 3, 1868, in Chicopee Falls, Mass. He was prepared for college at the Springfield High school; graduating in 1888 from Amherst college; then he attended the Cornell university for one year for the study of philosophy and economics. He has filled professorships in the Ohio university, university of Colorado, and Kenyon college of Gambier, Ohio, of which latter institution he has been president since 1896.

PEIRCE, WILLIAM SHANNON, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 3, 1815, in New Castle, Del. In 1866 he became a judge of the court of common pleas in Philadelphia, which office he held by subsequent elections until his death. He died April 4, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PEIRSON, MRS. LYDIA JANE [WHEELER], poet, was born in 1802, in Middletown, Conn. She was a poet of Adrian, Mich.; and the author of Forest Leaves, and Other Poems; and The Forest Minstrel. She died in 1862, in Adrian, Mich.

PELHAM, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 12, 1835, in Person county, N. C. He entered the confederate service in 1862; was elected judge of the tenth judicial circuit of Alabama in 1868; and was elected to the forty-third congress as a republican.

PELHAM, PETER, artist, was born in England. He was the first engraver and earliest known artist in New England, and came from London to Boston at the close of the first quarter of the eighteenth century. His earliest known work here is a portrait of Cotton Mather, dated 1727. He died in December, 1751, in Boston, Mass.

PELL, ELLA FERRIS, painter, sculptor, was born Jan. 18, 1846, in St. Louis, Mo. She has given special attention to portraiture and figure composition. Her most important work is The Angel Showing Adam the Consequences of His Sin. She is the president of the Liberal Art league of New York city.

PELLEW, [WILLIAM] GEORGE, author, was born in 1859, in England. He was a writer of New York city; and the author of Jane Austen's Novels, a Dissertation; In Castle and Cabin, or Talks in Ireland; Woman and the Commonwealth; and Life of John Jay. He died in 1893.

PELTON, GUY R., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 3, 1825, in Great Barrington, Mass. In 1851 he opened a law office in New York city; and in 1854 was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-fourth congress.

PELTON, JOHN COTTER, educator, poet. He is known as the father of the San Francisco schools. Since 1849 he has been engaged as an educator in California, and was San Francisco's first superintendent of schools. He is the author of a volume of poems; and has contributed extensively to periodical literature. His poems have been given a place in Poets of America, and several other, standard collections.

PEMBERTON, EBENEZER, clergyman, author, was born in 1704, in Boston, Mass. He was a presbyterian clergyman prominent as a loyalist in Boston at the opening of the revolution. He was the author of Sermons on Several Subjects; Practical Discourses: Salvation by Grace; and Occasional Sermons. He died Sept. 9, 1779, in Boston, Mass.

PEMBERTON, JAMES LEE, politician, was born July 22, 1866, in Turley's Mills, Tenn. He received the rudiments of his education at the common schools, and at the department of law of the Georgetown university of Washington, D. C. He was president of the Central McKinley and Hobart club of Rutledge, Tenn.; has been justice of the peace for Grainger county; and clerk of the circuit court. He has twice declined nominations to the lower house of the general assembly.

PEMBERTON, THOMAS, merchant, author, was born in 1728, in Boston, Mass. He wrote a journal of the revolutionary war; and his Chronology of Massachusetts, in five manuscript volumes, was made use of by Dr. Holmes. He died July 5, 1807, in Boston, Mass.

PENCE, LAFE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 23, 1857, in Columbus, Ind. He was elected to the Colorado state legislature, and after the session in 1885 located in Denver. In 1887 he was appointed county attorney for Arapahoe county; and reappointed county attorney in 1888. In 1892 he was nominated by the populists and silver democrats as candidate for congress from the first district, and was elected in November.

PENCE, WALLACE M., lawyer, was born March 27, 1860, in Henderson county, Ill. He received his education at the Western Normal college of Shenandoah, Iowa, graduating with the degree of B. S.; and attended the law department of the Kansas State university of Lawrence. He is now a prominent lawyer of Salinas City, Cal.; and contributes extensively to law literature.

PENDERGAST, WILLIAM WIRT, educator, jurist, was born Jan. 31, 1833, in Durham, N. H. He received his education at the Durham academy, at Phillips academy, and in 1854 graduated from Bowdoin college. He has been judge of probate of McLeod county, Minn.; was superintendent of schools of that county for eight years; for twenty years was superintendent and principal of the Hutchinson High school; and for six years was assistant state superintendent of public instruction. He has been principal of the School of Agriculture, and university of Minnesota, for five years; and for five years has been superintendent of public instruction for the state of Minnesota, his last term expiring in 1898.

PENDERGRAST, GARRETT JESSE, naval officer, was born Dec. 5, 1802, in Kentucky. He was appointed commandant of the Philadelphia navy-yard, which post he filled until two days before his death. Under the reorganization of the navy he was twelfth commodore on the retired list, which rank he attained in 1862. He died Nov. 7, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PENDLETON, EDMUND, lawyer, jurist, statesman, was born Sept. 9, 1721, in Carolina county, Va. He was a member of the house of burgesses in 1752, and was subsequently speaker of that body. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1775; president of the Virginia conventions of 1775 and 1776; and drew up the resolutions for the declaration of independence. He was speaker and president of the chancery court; and in 1779 president of the court of appeals. In 1788 he presided over the convention which adopted the federal constitution. He died Oct. 23, 1803, in Richmond, Va.

PENDLETON, EDMUND H., congressman, was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1833.

PENDLETON, EDMUND MONROE, physician, author, was born March 19, 1815, in Eatonton, Ga. He was a physician who published Scientific Agriculture. He died Jan. 26, 1884, in Atlanta, Ga.

PENDLETON, GEORGE C., farmer, soldier, financier, state legislator, congressman, was born April 23, 1845, in Coffee county, Tenn. He was a merchant; then a farmer and dealer in real estate. He was in the confederate service as private in Fount's company, Burford's regiment, Parson's brigade, Texas cavalry. He was a member of the eighteenth, nineteenth, and twentieth Texas legislatures, and speaker of the twentieth. He was elected lieutenant-governor in 1890; and was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat. While in congress he served on several important committees.

PENDLETON, GEORGE HUNT, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born July 25, 1825, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was a member of the state senate of Ohio in 1854 and 1855; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, and thirty-eighth congresses. In 1864 he was nominated for the office of vice-president of the United States. In 1869 he was appointed president of the Kentucky Central Railroad company. He was elected a United States senator from Ohio for the term of six years from March 4, 1879. He died Nov. 24, 1889, in Belgium.

PENDLETON, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born about 1750, in Culpeper county, Va. He was appointed judge in 1776; and when the British overran the state he joined the patriot forces and fought at Eutaw. He resumed his judgeship in 1782; originated the county court act of South Carolina, and was one of three judges appointed to revise the laws of the state in 1785. He died Jan. 10, 1789, in Greenville, S. C.

PENDLETON, ISAAC, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born April 3, 1832, in Norwich, N. Y. In 1862 he was a representative of his district in the Iowa legislature; and for four years was district judge. He died July 17, 1896, in Sioux City, Iowa.

PENDLETON, JAMES M., merchant, banker, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 10, 1822, in Pendleton Hill, Conn. He received a thorough education; and became engaged in mercantile business and banking in Rhode Island. He was a member of the Rhode Island state senate in 1862-65; a delegate to the national republican convention of Chicago in 1868; and a presidential elector. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses, serving on the committee on revision of laws; and various other committees.

PENDLETON, JAMES MADISON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 20, 1811, in Spotsylvania county, Va. He was a baptist clergyman of Upland, Pa.; and the author of Three Reasons Why I Am a Baptist; Church Manual; Christian Doctrines; Sermons; Distinctive Principles of Baptists; and Atonement of Christ. He died in 1891.

PENDLETON, JOHN O., congressman, He is a resident of Wheeling, W. Va.; and was elected to the house of representatives of the fifty-first congress in 1888, and was unseated in 1890. He was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

PENDLETON, JOHN S., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1845 to 1847, and for a second term, ending in 1849. In 1851 he was appointed minister resident to the Argentine confederation. He died Nov. 19, 1868, in Culpeper county, Va.

PENDLETON, LOUIS [BEAUREGARD], author, was born in 1861, in Georgia. He is a novelist of Philadelphia; and the author of Bewitched, and Other Stories; In the Wire Grass, a novel of Southern Georgia; King Tom and the Runaways, a juvenile tale; The Wedding Garment, a Tale of the Life to Come; The Sons of Ham; Corona of the Nantahalas; and In the Okefenokee, a juvenile tale.

PENDLETON, NATHANIEL, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1756, in Culpeper county, Va. He entered the revolutionary army at nineteen years of age, served with the rank of major on the staff of General Nathaniel Greene, and received the thanks of congress for his gallantry at Eutaw. He afterward settled in Georgia, and became United States district judge. He died Oct. 20, 1821, in New York city.

PENDLETON, NATHANIEL GREENE, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in August, 1793, in Savannah, Ga. In 1825 he was elected to the senate of Ohio, and was re-elected. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1841 to 1843.

PENDLETON, SAMUEL EVANS, clergyman, was born in 1840, in Logan county, Ill. He received his education at the Chaddock college of Illinois, and has attained prominence as one of the foremost clergymen in the United States. He has preached in all the principal cities of the union; for fifteen years has been presiding elder in the Kansas conference; and has been a delegate to the general conference four times.

PENDLETON, WILLIAM NELSON, soldier, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 26, 1809, in Richmond, Va. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator of Virginia, a confederate officer during the civil war, and subsequently rector of Grace church, Lexington, Va. He was the author of Science a Witness for the Bible. He died in 1883.

PENEWELL, MARY AMELIA, educator, poet, was born March 7, 1848, near Ellicottville, N. Y. She is the author of a large number of poems, and one published work.

PENHALLOW, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 2, 1665, in England. He was a citizen of Portsmouth, N. H., and chief justice of New Hampshire in 1717-26. He published in 1726 a realistic and valuable History of the Wars of New England with the Eastern Indians. He died Dec. 2, 1726, in Portsmouth, N. H.

PENICK, CHARLES CLIFTON, bishop, poet, was born Dec. 9, 1843, in Charlotte county, Va. He is the third protestant episcopal bishop of the West African mission. He was consecrated in 1877, resigned in 1883, and is now (1898) a general agent at Baltimore of the commission on work among the colored people. He is the author of More than a Prophet, or Chapters on St. John the Evangelist.

PENICK, HENRY E., journalist, was born in 1874, in Brunswick, Mo. He is the editor and owner of The Record of Cabool, Mo.; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

PENNINGTON, EDWARD, author, was born Sept. 3, 1667, in England. He became in 1700 surveyor-general of Pennsylvania. He published The Discoverer Discovered; Rabshakeh Rebuked; and Some Brief Observations upon George Keith's Earnest Expostulation. He died Nov. 11, 1711, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PENNINGTON, HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 19, 1807, in Philadelphia. He edited and published, with numerous additions, Henry James Holthouse's New Law Dictionary. He died Nov. 11, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PENNINGTON, JOHN, physician, author, was born Sept. 29, 1768, in Philadelphia. He was a member of the American Philosophical society; and the author of Chemical and Economical Essays to Illustrate the Connection between Chemistry and the Arts; and Inaugural Dissertation on the Phenomena, Causes, and Effects of Fermentation. He died Sept. 20, 1793, in Philadelphia.

PENNINGTON, JOHN, author, was born Aug. 1, 1799, in Mulberry Hill, N. J. For many years he was the most noted importer of foreign books in Philadelphia. In addition to critical articles, he published An Examination of Beauchamp Plantagenet's Description of the Province of New Albion; Scraps, Osteologic and Archæological; and he edited Description of New York, by Daniel Danton, London, 1670; Reprinted by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He died March 18, 1867, in Philadelphia.

PENNINGTON, JOHN B., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1825, near New Castle, Del. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1857. He was appointed United States attorney for the district of Delaware in 1868; and attorney-general of the state in 1874. He was elected to the fiftyth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a democrat.

PENN, ALEXANDER G., congressman, was born in Virginia. He settled in Louisiana; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

PENN, JOHN, governor, was born July 14, 1729, in London. He was governor of Pennsylvania from 1763 to 1771, and from 1773 to 1775. He died Feb. 9, 1795, in Bucks county, Pa.

PENN, JOHN, signer of the declaration of independence, was born May 17, 1741, in Caroline county, Va. He was a delegate from North Carolina to the continental congress from 1775 to 1780, and signed the declaration of independence, as well as the articles of confederation. In 1784 he was appointed receiver of taxes. He died Oct. 26, 1800, in North Carolina.

PENN, JOHN, governor, author, was born Feb. 23, 1760, in England. He was governor of the island of Portland, where he built Pennsylvania castle. He was a member of parliament in 1802. He published a tragedy, some pamphlets, and a volume of poems. He died June 21, 1834 in Stoke Pogis.

PENN, THOMAS, philanthropist, was born March 8, 1702, in England. He founded the college of Pennsylvania, as well as the hospital and library there. He died March 21, 1775, in London.

PENN, WILLIAM, the founder of Pennsylvania, was born Oct. 14, 1644, in London, England. He obtained from the king, Charles II., a tract of land west of the Delaware and north of Maryland, in payment for a claim against the government which he inherited from his father. He sailed from England in September, 1682, and in November of the same year held the famous treaty with the Indians which was the only league between the aborigines and the Christians that was never sworn to, and the only one never broken. He died July 30, 1718, in England.

PENNEL, MRS. ELIZABETH [ROBINS], author. She is a writer who has lived in London for many years; and the author of Life of Mary Wollstonecraft; A Canterbury Pilgrimage; Two Pilgrims' Progress; Our Sentimental Journey through France and Italy; Our Journey to the Hebrides; To Gipsyland; Play in Provence; and The Feasts of Autolykus.

PENNEL, JOSEPH, artist, author, was born in 1859, in Pennsylvania. He is an artist living in London who has illustrated his wife's books; and published Pen Drawing and Pen Draughtsmen; The Jew at Home; and Modern Illustration.

PENNEL, WILLIAM D., manufacturer, was born May 20, 1847, in Portland, Maine. In 1881 he was elected a member of the Maine house of representatives; in 1883 he was elected a member of the state senate; and in 1885 became president of that body.

PENNEL, WILLIAM W., physician, poet, was born Feb. 2, 1853, in Holmes county, Ohio. He is a successful physician in Nashville, Ohio; and in addition to his medical work he has issued a small volume of poetical and other compositions.

PENNIMAN, EBENEZER JENCKES, merchant, congressman, was born in Lansingburg, N. Y. He moved to Michigan in 1835; and was elected a representative to the thirty-second congress.

PENNINGTON, ALEXANDER CUMMINGS MACWHORTER, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born July 2, 1810, in Newark, N. J. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1853 to 1857. He also served two years in the state legislature; and subsequently settled in the city of New York. He died Jan. 25, 1867, in New York city.

PENNINGTON, I. L., governor, author, was born in North Carolina. In 1874 he was appointed governor of Dakota.

PENNINGTON, SAMUEL, journalist, state legislator, was born March 8, 1765, in Newark, N. J. In 1799 he became editor and one of the proprietors of the Sentinel of Freedom of Newark, N. J. Between 1810 and 1825 he was elected eleven times a member of the legislature, and was once speaker of the house. He died March 6, 1835, in Newark, N. J.

PENNINGTON, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born May 4, 1796, in Newark, N. J. In 1837 he was elected governor of New Jersey, and annually re-elected until 1843, acting at the same time as chancellor of the state, ex-officio, and taking a prominent part in what was known as the broad seal controversy. In 1858 he was elected a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-sixth congress; and after the lapse of two months from taking his seat was elected speaker of the house of representatives. He died Feb. 16, 1862, in Newark, N. J.

PENNINGTON, WILLIAM SANFORD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born in 1757, in Newark, N. J. He was a member of the legislature of New Jersey; was chancellor of the state, and author of New Jersey Court Reports, published from 1803 to 1816; and in 1825. He was governor of New Jersey from 1813 to 1815. He was appointed associate judge of the supreme court of New Jersey in 1804; and judge of the United States district court from 1815 to 1826. He died Sept. 17, 1826, in Newark, N. J.

PENNOCK, ALEXANDER MOSELY, naval officer, was born Nov. 1, 1813, in Norfolk, Va. In 1868 he was commissioned commodore, and rear-admiral in 1872. He died Sept. 20, 1876, in Portsmouth, N. H.

PENNOCK, MORRIS C., merchant, banker, poet, was born May 22, 1830, in Chester county, Pa. His father, John

Pennock, moved to a farm near Salem, Ohio, in 1832. His early manhood was spent in farming, teaching and clerking. In 1862 he settled in Alliance, Ohio, and established the hardware firm of Wright and Pennock, which is still flourishing. He was one of the founders of the Alliance Bank company, the leading financial institution of the city, of which he is president. His tastes are literary and artistic, and find expression in occasional poetical contributions to different journals, selections from which appear in Poets of America, and other standard works.

PENNOYER, SYLVESTER, educator, merchant, governor, was born July 6, 1831, in Groton, N. Y. During 1887-95 he served with distinction as governor of Oregon. In 1896 he was elected mayor of Portland.

PENNY, VIRGINIA, author, was born Jan. 18, 1826, in Louisville, Ky. She is an educator who has written much in relation to wider opportunities for women. She is the author of The Employment of Women; Five Hundred Occupations Adapted to Women; and Think and Act.

PENNYBACKER, ISAAC SAMUALS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 12, 1807, in Shenandoah county, Va. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1839; then judge of the district court of western Virginia; and was a senator in congress for the term from 1845 to 1851. He died Jan. 12, 1847, in Washington, D. C.

PENNYPACKER, ELIJAH FUNK, reformer, financier, state legislator, was born Nov. 20, 1804, in Chester county, Pa. He became interested in real estate; was in the Pennsylvania legislature in 1831-35; chairman of its committee on banks, and a principal mover in the establishment of public schools. He was an organizer of the Pennsylvania Mutual Fire Insurance company in 1869, and became president, holding office till January, 1887, when he resigned. He died Jan. 4, 1888, in Phoenixville, Pa.

PENNYPACKER, ISAAC RUSLING, journalist, poet, was born in 1852, in Pennsylvania. He is a journalist and poet of Philadelphia; and the author of Gettysburg, and Other Poems.

PENNYPACKER, SAMUEL WHITAKER, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 9, 1843, in Phoenixville, Pa. He is a jurist of Philadelphia; and the author of Annals of Phoenixville; Pennsylvania Supreme Court Reports; and Historical and Biographical Sketches.

PENROD, WILLIAM K., journalist, was born March 5, 1873, in Ragsville, Ind. He has taught school and published several newspapers, and is now the editor and owner of the Odon Journal, Indiana.

PENROSE, BOIES, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 1, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected to the Pennsylvania house of representatives from the eighth Philadelphia district in 1884. In connection with Edward P. Allinson he wrote, at the request of Johns Hopkins university, for the university studies in historical and political science, a History of the City Government of Philadelphia. He was elected to the Pennsylvania state senate from the sixth Philadelphia district in 1886, re-elected in 1890, and again in 1894. He was elected president pro tempore of the senate in 1889, and re-elected in 1891. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican to succeed J. Donald Cameron, and took his seat March 4, 1897. His term of service will expire March 3, 1903.

PENROSE, RICHARD ALEXANDER FULLERTON, educator, physician, surgeon, was born March 24, 1827, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1863 he became professor of obstetrics and of the diseases of women and children in the university of Pennsylvania, which post he still holds. He is one of the founders of the Children's hospital of Philadelphia, the American Gynaecological society, and the Gynacean hospital.

PENTECOST, GEORGE FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 23, 1843, in Albion, Ill. He was a congregational minister in Brooklyn in 1881-90, and subsequently an evangelist in America and England. He is the author of The Angel in the Marble; In the Volume of the Book; Out of Egypt; The Christian and the Modern Dance; Bible Studies; The Gospel of Luke; and Grace Abounding in the Forgiveness of Sins.

PEPPER, GEORGE DANA BOARDMAN, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Feb. 5, 1833, in Ware, Mass. He is a baptist clergyman and educator, president of Colby university from 1882; and the author of Outlines of Theology.

PEPPER, WILLIAM, physician, author, was born Aug. 21, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is an eminent Philadelphia physician, provost of the university of Pennsylvania in 1881-94; and the author of Higher Medical Education; and Diseases of Children.

PEPPERRELL, WILLIAM, soldier, was born June 27, 1696, in Kittery, Maine. He was a son of Colonel William Pepperrell and Margery Bray, both natives of England. He was taught the art of surveying land and of navigating a ship; and subsequently was in business with his father as a dealer in naval stores, fish and provisions. In 1726 he was brevetted colonel, and placed in command of all the militia of Maine. In the same year he was elected a state representative; and for thirty-two years was a member of the board of councilors. He was elected commander-in-chief of the body of New England volunteers; and after a siege of forty-nine days he succeeded in the reduction of Louisburg, the strongest fortress in America, which the French had built at a cost of six million dollars. He was acting governor of Massachusetts in 1756-58. He died July 6, 1759, in Kittery, Maine.

PEPPE, W. D., educator, was born Dec. 8, 1854, in Champaign county, Ohio. He received his education at the Ohio Normal university and has attained success in educational work. He has been superintendent of schools of Delta, Genoa, and North Lewisburg, Ohio; and is a member of the executive committee of the Northwestern Ohio Teachers' association.

PERCE, ELBERT, littérateur, author, was born Aug. 17, 1831, in New York city. He was a writer of New York city and the author of Old Carl the Cooper; The Last of His Name; The Battle Roll; Gulliver Joi; his Three Voyages; and several translations from the Swedish of Carlén. He died Jan. 18, 1868, in Brooklyn.

PERCE, LEGRAND W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 19, 1836, in Buffalo, N. Y. He was appointed captain of the United States volunteers in 1863, and brevetted colonel in 1865. He settled in Mississippi; and was elected to the forty-first congress, and re-elected to the forty-second congress as a republican.

PERCIVAL, CHESTER SMITH, educator, clergyman, poet, was born March 12, 1822, in Vernon, N. Y. In 1864 he accepted a call to become rector of Grace church at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He is the author of a work entitled Hours of Musing; and At the Grave of James G. Percival.

PERCIVAL, JAMES GATES, geologist, poet, was born Sept. 15, 1795, in Lexington, Conn. He was a poet once popular, but now wholly neglected. He was the author of Seneca Lake and The Coral Grove, which are still found lingering in anthologies; Prometheus; Clio; Dream of a Day and Poems. He was a geologist of some reputation, and published Geological Surveys of Connecticut and Wisconsin. He died May 2, 1856, in Hazel Green, Wis.

PERCY, GEORGE, soldier, governor, author, was born Sept. 4, 1586, in England. In 1610 he became governor of Virginia. He published Observations Gathered out of a Discourse of the Plantations of the Southerne Colonie in Virginia by the English; also included in Samuel Purchas's Filigrimes, 1685-90. He died in March, 1632, in Lyon House, England.

PERCY, TOWNSEND, journalist, explorer, author, was born March 26, 1854, in Troy, N. Y. He is a son of John Townsend Percy, the eminent lawyer. He received his education at the Troy academy and the Cazenovia seminary. He has been an explorer in Panama and Central America; and is a fellow royal of the Geographical society. He is a successful dramatic critic and playwright; the author of Appleton's Dictionary of New York; and other works. He is now the financial editor of the London Financial News, and resides in New York city.

PEREA, FRANCISCO, congressman, was born Jan. 9, 1831, in Bernalillo, N. M. In 1863 he was elected a delegate from New Mexico to the thirty-eighth congress.

PERHAM, SIDNEY, agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born March 27, 1819, in Woodstock, Maine. In 1855 he was a member of the Maine legislature, and officiated as speaker. In 1856 he was a presidential elector. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Maine to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. In 1875 he was elected secretary of the state of Maine.

PERKINS, BISHOP, congressman, was born in New Hampshire. He settled in New York; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855.

PERKINS, BISHOP W., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 18, 1841, in Rochester, Ohio. He enlisted in the union army from Illinois, served until 1866, performing important duties, and rising to the rank of captain and acting adjutant-general; and was wounded at Fort Donelson. He returned home when mustered out of service; and in 1869 moved to Oswego, Kas. In 1870 he was elected probate judge, and was re-elected in 1872. In 1873 he was appointed judge of the eleventh judicial district of the state; in November of that year was elected to the same position; and was re-elected in 1874, and again in 1878. He was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-eighth congress; was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses. In 1892 he was appointed United States senator to fill a vacancy.

PERKINS, CHARLES CALLAHAN, critic, author, was born March 1, 1823, in Boston, Mass. He was a prominent art patron and critic of Boston; and the author of Raphael and Michael Angelo; Tuscan Sculptors; Italian Sculptors; Historical Handbook of Italian Sculptors; and History of the Boston Handel and Haydn Society. He died Aug. 25, 1886, in Windsor, Vt.

PERKINS, CHARLES EDGAR, lawyer, jurist, was born July 22, 1821, in Hartland, Vt. In 1856 he settled in Galesville, Wis.; has been registrar of deeds for Trempealeau county, Wis., for six years; was clerk of the court for four years; county judge for seven years; county clerk for two years; has been town clerk of Galesville, Wis., and town clerk of Arcadia, Wis.; and justice of the peace in Galesville and Arcadia for fourteen years.

PERKINS, CHARLES ELLIOTT, railroad president, was born Nov. 24, 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1881 he has been president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad; and of the Burlington and Missouri River railroad in Nebraska.

PERKINS, CHARLES HENRY, machinist, inventor, was born Aug. 27, 1830, in Taunton, Mass. In 1867 he discovered an entirely new process for making horseshoes, and commenced their manufacture under the name of the Rhode Island Horseshoe company, Providence, R. I.

PERKINS, EDWIN HAZEN, musician, composer, was born Sept. 28, 1840, in Stockbridge, Mass. He has been a successful teacher of singing in Vermont and Massachusetts, and is the author of several compositions.

PERKINS, ELIAS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 5, 1767, in Norwich, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1801 to 1803. He was subsequently chosen judge of the court for the county of New London, which office he held until he became ineligible from his advanced years. He was mayor of the city of New London from 1829 to 1832. He died Sept. 27, 1845, in New London, Conn.

PERKINS, ELIZA B., educator, minister, was born May 17, 1849, in Indiana. For many years she was engaged in educational work. She subsequently entered the ministry, and was the first woman of the congregational church ordained in Nebraska. Her whole time is now devoted to ministerial work, and she fills with distinction a pastorate in Hastings, Neb.

PERKINS, MRS. ELMIRA [JOHNSON], missionary, poet, was born in 1814 in Maine. She was a missionary among the Indians in Oregon. Her later life was passed in Boston. She was the author of Harp of the Willows, a volume of verse. She died in 1896.

PERKINS, FREDERIC BEECHER, librarian, author, was born Sept. 27, 1828, in Hartford, Conn. He is a librarian; and the author of Scrope, or the Lost Library, a novel; Devil Puzzlers, and Other Studies; My Three Conversations with Miss Chester; Life of Dickens; and Cheek List of American Local History.

PERKINS, GEORGE CLEMENT, banker, legislator, governor, United States senator, was born in 1839, in Kennebunkport, Maine. At the age of twelve years he went to sea as a cabin boy; followed this calling and that of a sailor for several years; and in 1855 shipped before the mast on a sailing vessel bound for San Francisco, Cal. He engaged in business at Oroville and was very successful; and subsequently engaged in banking, milling, mining, and the steamship business, in which he has been engaged during the past twenty-three years, operating steamships on the coasts of California, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, Alaska and Mexico. In 1868 he was elected to the state senate, serving eight years. He has been president of the Merchants' exchange in San Francisco. In 1879 he was elected governor of California, serving until January, 1883. He was appointed United States senator in 1893 to fill, until the election of his successor, the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Leland Stanford, and took his seat Aug. 8, 1893. He was re-elected in 1897 for term ending in 1903.

PERKINS, GEORGE D., soldier, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1840, in Holly, N. Y. He moved to Sioux City, Iowa, in 1869, and has been editor of the Journal since. He was a member of the Iowa senate in 1874-76; and was appointed United States marshal for the northern district of Iowa. He was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

PERKINS, GEORGE HAMILTON, naval officer, was born Oct. 20, 1836, in Hopkinton, N. H. He became lieutenant-commander in 1862. During 1865-66 he was superintendent of ironclads in New Orleans, and became commander in 1871. He resides in Boston, Mass.; and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the New Hampshire state capitol.

PERKINS, GEORGE HENRY, naturalist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1844, in East Cambridge, Mass. He is a naturalist, state entomologist of Vermont; and the author of The Injurious Insects of Vermont; and The Flora of Vermont.

PERKINS, GEORGE ROBERTS, educator, mathematician, author, was born May 3, 1812, in Otsego county, N. Y. He was an educator of New York state, who published Plane and Solid Geometry, and other mathematical text-books. He died Aug. 22, 1876, in Hartford, Conn.

PERKINS, HENRY BISHOP, financier, state senator, was born March 1, 1824, in Warren, Ohio. He is best known as president of the First National bank of Warren, vice-president of the Republic Iron company, and promoter of other industries. In 1879 he was elected a member of the Ohio state senate, and was re-elected in 1881.

PERKINS, HENRY SOUTHWICK, musician, was born March 20, 1833, in Stockbridge, Vt. Since 1872 he has lived in Chicago, Ill., and in 1875-76 he visited Europe for study. He has conducted more than two hundred musical conventions and festivals in various parts of the United States, is known as a composer of vocal music, and has published a large number of music collections.

PERKINS, JABEZ, physician, surgeon, legislator, was born Oct. 20, 1820, in Defiance, Ohio. For ten years he practiced medicine in Springville, Mich., and since 1860 in Owosso. In 1862 he took charge of a hospital in Nashville; became surgeon of Kentucky volunteers; and medical director of the second army corps, and subsequently of the cavalry corps, army of the Cumberland. During 1858-

59 he served with distinction as a representative in the Michigan state legislature.

PERKINS, JACOB, mechanic, inventor, was born July 9, 1766, in Newburyport, Mass. Among his inventions is a machine for cutting and heading nails at a single operation. He was the originator of using steel, instead of copper plates, for engraving banknotes.

PERKINS, JAMES BRECK, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 4, 1847, in St. Croix Falls, Wis. He is a lawyer of Rochester, N. Y.; and the author of France Under Mazarin; France Under the Regency; and France Under Louis XV.

PERKINS, JAMES HANDASYD, clergyman, author, was born July 31, 1810, in Boston, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of Cincinnati, very active in the cause of prison discipline reform; and the author of Annals of the West. He died Dec. 14, 1849, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PERKINS, JARED, state legislator, congressman, was born in New Hampshire. He held the position of state counselor from 1846 to 1849; was a state representative in 1850; was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1851 to 1853. He died Oct. 14, 1854, in Nashua, N. H.

PERKINS, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 1, 1819, in Louisiana. He was chosen a judge of the circuit court of Louisiana; and held this position until elected to congress in 1853, where he advocated democratic measures, and remained until 1855.

PERKINS, JONATHAN COGSWELL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1809, in Ipswich, Mass. He practiced successfully at Salem for thirteen years, when he became judge of the court of common pleas of Massachusetts. He served in the state senate in 1846-48. He assisted in editing Digest of Decisions of the Courts of Common Law and Admiralty. He died Dec. 12, 1877, in Salem, Mass.

PERKINS, JUSTIN, missionary, author, was born March 12, 1805, in West Springfield, Mass. He was a congregational missionary in Persia; and the author of Residence of Eight Years in Persia; and Missionary Life in Persia. He died Dec. 31, 1869, in Chicopee, Mass.

PERKINS, MAURICE, educator, author, was born March 14, 1836, in New London, Conn. He was a professor of chemistry at Union college; and is the author of a Manual of Qualitative Analysis.

PERKINS, NATHAN, clergyman, author, was born May 14, 1749, in Lisbon, Conn. He was a minister of West Hartford Congregational church in 1772, where he remained till his death. He published Four Letters on the Anabaptists, a volume of sermons; and thirteen occasional sermons and discourses. He died Jan. 18, 1838, in West Hartford.

PERKINS, ORSON, singer, composer, was born Dec. 17, 1802, in Hartland, Vt. He was a successful singing class teacher for forty years, and a conspicuous chorister; and also a composer of church music. He died April 17, 1882, in Taftsville, Vt.

PERKINS, SAMUEL, lawyer, author, was born in 1767 in New Lisbon, Conn. He was a lawyer of Windham, Conn.; and the author of History of the Late War between the United States and Great Britain (1825); General Jackson's Conduct in the Seminole War; and Historical Sketches of the United States. He died in September, 1850, in Windham, Conn.

PERKINS, SAMUEL ELLIOTT, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Dec. 6, 1811, in Brattleborough, Vt. He was judge of the superior court of Marion county, Ind., in 1873-76, and in the latter year was again placed on the supreme bench, of which he was chief justice at his death. He was professor of law in the Northwestern Christian university, and editor and proprietor of The Jeffersonian, a democratic paper, and published Digest of the Decisions of the Supreme Court of Indiana. He died Dec. 17, 1879, in Indianapolis, Ind.

PERKINS, SARAH MARIA CLINTON, editor, lecturer, was born April 23, 1824, near Cooperstown, N. Y. Early in life she was engaged in educational work; and subsequently married a New England clergyman. For many years she was one of the national organizers of the Woman's Christian Temperance union; has been district president, and filled various other positions in reform associations. She is a brilliant lecturer, and the editor of A True Republic, published in Cleveland, Ohio.

PERKINS, SIMON, pioneer, was born Sept. 17, 1771, in Norwich, Conn. He was the first postmaster in the Western Reserve, at Warren, Ohio, and was intrusted with the arrangement of other postoffices in that region. In 1807, at the request of the government, he established expresses through the Indian country to Detroit. He died Nov. 19, 1844, in Warren, Ohio.

PERKINS, WILLIAM OSCAR, musician, composer, was born May 23, 1831, in Stockbridge, Vt. He has taught voice and harmony for many years in New York city, and is the author of a large number of singing books.

PERKINS, WILLIAM RUFUS, educator, author, was born in 1847 in Pennsylvania. He was an educator and poet, and professor of history in the Iowa State university in 1887-95. He was the author of two careful historical monographs, History of the Trappist Abbey of New Melleray; and History of the Amana Society; and of Eleusis and Lesser Poems, a striking collection of musical meditative verse. He died in 1895.

PERKINS, WILLIAM YOUNG, farmer, mine owner, legislator, was born March 8, 1849, in Grayson county, Va. In 1866 he moved to Texas, and there served two years in the ranger service against the Comanche Indians. In 1877 he was a member of the famous Virginia state convention. In 1887 he moved to Idaho, where he is a successful farmer and miner at Soldier. In 1889 he was elected to the territorial legislature; to the Idaho state legislature in 1890-97; and took an important part in the deliberations of that body. He has been a member of nearly every territorial and state convention in Idaho since 1888.

PERLEY, IRA, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Nov. 9, 1799, in Boxford, Mass. He was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature. He died Feb. 26, 1874, in Concord, N. H.

PERLEY, SIDNEY, lawyer, author, was born March 6, 1858, in Boxford, Mass. He has written and compiled a number of works on a great variety of topics, among which are the following: History of Boxford, Mass.; Goodridge Memorial; Poets of Essex County, Mass.; Historic Stories in New England; Principles of Law of Interest; and Mortuary Law.

PEROT, THOMAS MORRIS, merchant, philanthropist, was born May 8, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa. He bore an active part in founding the Woman's Medical college in Philadelphia, the first institution of the kind in the world, and has been for many years its president.

PERRILL, AUGUSTUS L., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1845 to 1847.

PERRIN, ABNER MONROE, soldier, was born in 1829 in Abbeville county, S. C. He entered the confederate army as captain of the fourteenth South Carolina volunteers, and was promoted colonel in 1863, and brigadier-general in 1864, with the command of an Alabama brigade. He died May 11, 1864, in Spottsylvania, Va.

PERRIN, HENRY MARTIN, lawyer, financier, jurist, legislator, was born June 23, 1830, in Berlin, Vt. He received his education at the Dartmouth college, and the Albany Law school. He was known in his adopted state as the poor man's friend. He was judge of probate, and served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state senate. He was a successful financier and real estate agent of St. John's, Mich., where he died, Jan. 7, 1896; and at the time of his death he was one of the oldest and most highly respected members of the Clinton county bar.

PERRIN, RAYMOND S., author, was born in 18— . He was the author of The Student's Dreams; and The Religion of Philosophy, or the Unification of Knowledge.

PERRINE, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1827 in New York. He was a methodist clergyman, professor for some years in Albion college, Mich.; and the author of The Principles of Church Government with Special Application to the Polity of Episcopal Methodism. He died in 1880.

PERRY, AMOS, author, was born Aug. 12, 1812, in South Natick, Mass. He is a Providence writer, who was superintendent of the state census in 1865; and is the author of Carthage and Tunis.

PERRY, ARTHUR LATHAM, educator, author, was born Feb. 27, 1830, in Lyme, N. H. He is a professor of history and political economy at Williams college from 1853, and a prominent advocate of free trade. He is the author of Elements of Political Economy; Introduction to Political Economy; Principles of Political Economy; and Origins of Williamstown.

PERRY, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, lawyer, governor, author, was born May 20, 1805, in Pendleton district, S. C. He entered upon the practice of law in Greenville, S. C.; and in 1835 was elected a state senator. After the close of the war he was elected governor of South Carolina. In 1870 he was elected United States senator, but was not permitted to take his seat; and in 1872 was elected a representative in congress, but was again refused admission to a congressional seat. He was the author of Reminiscences of Public Men; and Sketches of Eminent Statesmen. He died Dec. 3, 1886, near Greenville, S. C.

PERRY, BLISS, educator, author, was born Nov. 25, 1860, in Williamstown, Mass. He now holds a professorship in the Princeton university. He is the author of The Plated City; Salem Kittredge, and Other Stories; and The Broughton House. He has edited Selections from Burke, and Scott's Woodstock and Ivanhoe.

PERRY, CHARLES W., merchant, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Jan. 9, 1845, in Ludlow, Vt. Since 1872 he has been a merchant and manufacturer of Pierport, Mich.; and since 1895 has served two terms as a member of the Michigan state legislature.

PERRY, CHARLOTTE AUGUSTA, author, poet, was born in 1848 in Wisconsin. She is a poet of Milwaukee; and the author of Carlotta Perry's Poems.

PERRY, EDWARD AYLESWORTH, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born March 15, 1833, in Richmond, Mass. At the commencement of the civil war he entered the confederate service as captain; and was afterward commissioned as brigadier-general. He was elected governor of Florida for the term of four years, from January, 1885. He died Oct. 15, 1889, in Kerrville, Texas.

PERRY, EDWARD DELEVAN, educator, author, was born in 1854 in New York. He is a professor of Sanskrit in Columbia college; and the author of Indra in the Rigveda; and A Sanskrit Primer.

PERRY, ELI, banker, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1799, in Cambridge, N. Y. He received a good education, commenced business as a dealer in provisions, and continued it for twenty-five years. He was elected alderman and member of the assembly of the state. In 1851 he was elected mayor of Albany, which office he held twelve years. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses. He died May 17, 1864, in Albany, N. Y.

PERRY, ELMER ARTHUR, educator, lawyer, legislator, was born March 31, 1861, in Mt. Sterling, Ill. He was city attorney for Mt. Sterling, Ill., for three terms; and served as a member of the thirty-ninth and fortieth general assemblies of the Illinois state legislature.

PERRY, ENOCH WOOD, artist, was born July 31, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He exhibited first in the Academy of Design in 1858, was elected an associate in 1868, and academician in 1869. Among his genre pictures are The Weaver; Fire-side Stories; Lost Art; and Thanksgiving Time.

PERRY, JOHN J., lawyer, state legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1811, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was elected to the Maine legislature in 1839, 1842 and 1843; and was afterward, for seven years, major-general of the Maine militia. In 1846 and 1847 he was elected to the state senate; and was a representative in congress from 1855 to 1857. He was elected a representative from Maine to the thirty-sixth congress.

PERRY, MRS. LILLA CABOT, author. She published a volume entitled The Heart of the Weed.

PERRY, MADISON S., governor. He was governor of Florida from 1857 to 1861.

PERRY, MARY ALICE, author, was born in 1854 in Massachusetts. She is a writer of fiction; and the author of Es-ther Pennefather; and More Ways Than One. She died in 1883.

PERRY, MATTHEW CALBRAITH, naval officer, was born about 1821. He was made a lieutenant in 1848, and served for several years on the coast survey. After various services he was placed on the retired list, receiving his commission as captain in 1867. He died Nov. 16, 1873, in New York city.

PERRY, NEHEMIAH, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 30, 1816, in Ridgefield, Conn. He was for many years the presiding member of the common council of Newark, N. J.; and served a number of years in the legislature of that state. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-seventh congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress.

PERRY, NORA, author, poet, was born in 1741 in Massachusetts. Her poems include After the Ball, and Other Poems; Her Lover's Friend, and Other Poems; New Songs and Ballads; and Legends and Lyrics. She was the author of The Tragedy of the Unexpected, and Other Stories; For a Woman, a novel; The Youngest Miss Lorton, and Other Stories; A Book of Love Stories; A Rosebud Garden of Girls; A Flock of Girls and Their Friends; A Flock of Girls and Boys; Another Flock of Girls; Three Little Daughters of the Revolution; and Hope Benham. She died in 1896.

PERRY, OLIVER HAZARD, naval officer, was born Aug. 23, 1785, in South Kingston, R. I. Perry's victory in the battle of Lake Erie, Sept. 10, 1813, with his laconic dispatch to Gen. Harrison, We have met the enemy and they are ours, makes his name one to glitter on the page of American history. He was greatly honored for what he accomplished, the United States congress voting him thanks, a medal and the rank of captain. He died Aug. 23, 1819, on the Island of Trinidad. A granite obelisk was erected to his memory by the state of Rhode Island.

PERRY, RUFUS LEWIS, clergyman, linguist, author, was born in 1833, in Tennessee. He was a baptist clergyman of African descent, widely known as a linguist. Among his various writings is The Cushite, or the Children of Ham as seen by Ancient Historians and Poets. He died in 1895.

PERRY, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847; and was a circuit judge from 1851 to 1861, and from 1864 to 1871. He died June 27, 1871, in Cumberland, Md.

PERRY, THOMAS SERGEANT, educator, author, was born Jan. 23, 1845, in Newport, R. I. He is an educator of Boston; and the author of English Literature in the Eighteenth Century; Life of Lieber; From Opitz to Lessing, a Study of Pseudo-Classicism in Literature; The Evolution of the Snob; and History of Greek Literature.

PERRY, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist. In 1790 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory lying south of the Ohio river.

PERRY, WILLIAM, manufacturer, surgeon, physician, was born Dec. 20, 1788, in Norton, Mass. He discovered the true character of British gum, or charred potato starch, which was formerly used largely as sizing in cotton mills, and liable to heavy duty. He engaged in its manufacture at Exeter from 1828 till 1835. He died Jan. 11, 1887, in Exeter, N. H.

PERRY, WILLIAM F., railroad president, was born Feb. 1, 1826, in Bridgton, Maine. Since 1882 he has been president of the Bridgton and Saco River railroad.

PERRY, WILLIAM HAYNE, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 9, 1837, in Greenville, S. C. He entered the confederate army in 1861 and served throughout the war, being promoted to first lieutenant and adjutant. He was a representative in the South Carolina state legislature; and in 1868 was elected solicitor of the western circuit and served four years. In 1880 he was elected state senator and served four years. In 1884 he was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

PERRY, WILLIAM STEVENS, bishop, author, was born Jan. 22, 1832, in Rhode Island. He is the second protestant episcopal bishop of Iowa; and prominent among high churchmen. He is the author of The Documentary History of the Protestant Episcopal Church; The History of the American Episcopal Church; Life Lessons from the Book of Proverbs; Some Summer Days Abroad; The General Ecclesiastical Constitution of the American Church; and The American Episcopate.

PERSHING, DANIEL H., railroad president, was born May 25, 1831, in Fayette county, Pa. Since 1881 he has been president of the Greenlick railway at Stauffer, Pa.

PERSONS, HENRY, soldier, agriculturist, congressman, was born in 1834 in Monroe county, Ga. He devoted his attention to agriculture; served in the confederate army as captain; and was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

PETER, GEORGE, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 28, 1779, in Georgetown, Md. He entered the United States army in 1799, and resigned in 1809; and served as major of volunteers during the war of 1812. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1816 to 1819, and again from 1825 to 1827. He was twice elected to the state legislature, and also served the public as commissioner of public works for the state of Maryland. He died June 22, 1861, in Montgomery county, Md.

PETER, ROBERT, chemist, author, was born Jan. 21, 1805, in England. In 1832 he delivered a course of chemical lectures at the Eclectic institute of Lexington, Conn., where he filled the chair of chemistry. During the civil war he was a surgeon in charge of the United States general hospitals in Lexington. He is the author of A Digest of the Report of the Geological Surveys of Arkansas; and other geological works.

PETER, SARAH, philanthropist, was born May 16, 1800, in Valley Mills, Ohio. She founded the School of Design for Women in Philadelphia, which was opened in 1850, and bestowed her wealth on many charitable institutions. She established several sisterhoods in Cincinnati, and founded convents in Philadelphia. She died Feb. 6, 1877, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PETERKIN, GEORGE WILLIAM, bishop of West Virginia, was born March 21, 1841, in Washington county, Md. He was elected first bishop of West Virginia, and was consecrated in St. Matthew's church, Wheeling, Va., on May 30, 1878. The bishop has published several occasional sermons and addresses.

PETERS, ALICE E. HECKLER, educator, poet, was born March 30, 1845, in Dayton, Ohio. For many years she taught private classes; has been a regular newspaper contributor; and a poet of rare genius. She has been the secretary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society; treasurer of the Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference Home Missionary society; secretary of the Woman's Relief corps; and an indefatigable worker in religious, reform and social work.

PETERS, BERNARD, journalist, was born in October, 1827, in Germany. In 1868 he bought a half interest in the Brooklyn Times; six years later came in control of the paper.

PETERS, CHRISTIAN HENRY FREDERICK, astronomer, author, was born Sept. 19, 1813. He was a German astronomer, director of the observatory at Hamilton college in 1858-90, and discovered over forty asteroids. He was the author of Celestial Charts. He died in 1890.

PETERS, EDWARD DYER, metallurgist, author, was born June 1, 1849, in Dorchester, Mass. He is a metallurgist who has published Modern American Methods of Copper Smelting.

PETERS, GEORGE NATHANIEL HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 30, 1825, in New Berlin, Pa. He is a lutheran minister of Ohio; and the author of The Theocratic Kingdom of Christ.

PETERS, HUGH, poet, was born Jan. 30, 1807, in Hebron, Conn. He wrote a series of humorous Yankee lyrics, which were printed in the New England Weekly Review. His farewell to Connecticut, written on Long Island sound, and entitled My Native Land, is considered his best poem. He died June 9, 1831, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PETERS, JOHN A., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1822, in Ellsworth, Maine. In 1862 and 1863 he was elected to the senate of Maine; in 1864 was elected to the house of representatives; and at the close of 1864 and also in 1865 and 1866 was elected by the legislature attorney-general of the state. He was elected a representative from Maine to the fortieth congress; was re-elected to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican.

PETERS, JOHN CHARLES, physician, author, was born July 6, 1819, in New York city. He was a physician of New York city of note as a bacteriologist; and the author of Diseases of the Brain and Nervous System; Diseases of Women; Diseases of the Eye; Notes on Asiatic Cholera; and A New Materia Medica. He died in 1893.

PETERS, JOHN S., state legislator, governor, was born in 1778 in Connecticut. He was several years in the state legislature; was lieutenant-governor from 1827 to 1831; and was governor of Connecticut from 1831 to 1833. He died April 1, 1858, in Hebron, Conn.

PETERS, JOHN THOMPSON, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 11, 1765, in Hebron, Conn. In 1813 he was appointed collector of revenue, and in 1818 was made judge of the state supreme court, which office he held for many years. He died Aug. 28, 1834, in Hartford, Conn.

PETERS, MADISON C., clergyman, orator, author, was born Nov. 6, 1859, in Lehigh county, Pa. At the age of twenty-three he filled the pastorate of one of the oldest presbyterian churches in Philadelphia; and five years later was called to the Bloomingdale Reformed church of New York city, and his congregation is composed of twelve different denominations. This popular preacher and brilliant orator is the author of Sanctified Spice; Empty Pews; The Path of Glory; Popular Sins; Wrongs to be Righted; and several other works.

PETERS, MASON SUMMERS, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 3, 1844, in Clay county, Mo. He moved in 1886 to Wyandotte county, Kas., where he now resides; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat-populist.

PETERS, MATTHEW H., soldier, journalist, poet, legislator, was born June 6, 1843, in Rhenish, Bavaria. He was brought to this country when an infant, and has grown up thoroughly imbued with the spirit of American institutions. He served four years as a union soldier during the civil war; was twice severely wounded; rising from the rank of a private to the rank of major in his regiment—the seventy-fourth Ohio. He has served one term in the Illinois legislature, and was mayor of Watseka for four years. In 1872 he founded the Iroquois County Times of Watseka, Ill.; and his poems have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

PETERS, MOSES A., clergyman, educator, was born June 8, 1851, near Slattington, Pa. After receiving a liberal education he taught in the public schools. In 1870 he was graduated from the Classical Preparatory course, Kingston, Pa.; and four years later was graduated from Ursinus college. He then entered the Yale Divinity school, graduating therefrom in 1877. During 1877-80 he served as pastor of St. John's Reformed church of Hamburg, Pa.; was a delegate to the Robert Raikes' centenary, held in London in 1880; and served as professor of natural science and languages in Galesville university, Wis., during 1881-87. He then studied abroad in Edinburgh and Berlin universities. During 1888-93 he was professor of chemistry and natural history in Ursinus college; and since 1889 has occupied the chair of New Testament literature and exegesis. He has also taught the history of philosophy in the same institution. He has translated into English Rev. Otto Thelemann's Commentary on the Heidelberg Catechism.

PETERS, MRS. PHILLIS [WHEATLEY], author, poet, was born in 1754 in Senegal. She was a verse writer of African birth brought to Boston in childhood as a slave. Poems on Various Occasions, Religious and Moral, appeared in London in 1772, and won a fleeting popularity there, the author being regarded as a prodigy. She died in 1784.

PETERS, RICHARD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born June 22, 1744, in Belmont, Pa. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1782 to 1783. He was judge of the district court of Pennsylvania which situation he occupied until his death. He was first president of the company who built the permanent bridge over the Schuylkill at Philadelphia; and in 1797 published his experiments in agriculture and improvements in American husbandry. He died Aug. 22, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PETERS, RICHARD, lawyer, author, was born in August, 1780, in Belmont, Pa. He succeeded Henry Wheaton as reporter of the United States supreme court. He edited Chitty on Bills of Exchange; and Bushrod Washington's Circuit Court Reports. He died May 2, 1848, in Belmont, Pa.

PETERS, RICHARD, railroad president, was born Nov. 10, 1810, in Germantown, Pa. In 1870 he organized and became president of the Atlanta Street railway.

PETERS, SAMUEL ANDREW, clergyman, author, was born in 1735 in Connecticut. He was an episcopal clergyman of Hartford who published a famous General History of Connecticut by a Gentleman of that Province, a curious satirical production, to which may be traced the well known fable of the Connecticut Blue Laws. Other works of his include a Life of Rev. Hugh Peters; and History of Hebron, Connecticut. He died in 1826.

PETERS, SAMUEL RITTER, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 16, 1842, in Pickaway county, Ohio. He moved to Kansas in 1873, and engaged in the practice of law at Marion Centre. He was elected state senator in 1874; in 1875 was appointed judge of the ninth judicial district; and in the succeeding November was elected to the same position, and was re-elected in 1879. He moved to Newton in 1876; was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

PETERS, WILLIAM CUMMING, musician, composer, was born March 10, 1805, in England. He compiled numerous collections of music, including The Catholic Harmonist; and Catholic Harp; and systems of instruction for the voice and different instruments, among them the Eclectic Piano Instructor. He died April 20, 1866, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PETERSEN, ERASMUS SMITH, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 24, 1863, in Norway. He is a successful lawyer of Park River, N. D.; has been county judge; and takes an active part in political affairs.

PETERSILEA, CARLYLE, musician, was born Jan. 14, 1844, in Boston, Mass. Since 1886 he has taught in the New England Conservatory of Music. He is the author of an original piano system; and has also invented a mute piano for practice.

PETERSON, ARTHUR, naval officer, poet, was born Sept. 20, 1851, in Germantown, Pa. He is a naval officer who has published Songs of New Sweden.

PETERSON, CHARLES JACOBS, publisher, author, was born July 20, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia publisher and novelist, and the founder of Peter's Magazine. He was the author of Kate Aylesford; Cruising in the Last War; Military Heroes of the United States; Grace Dudley, or Arnold at Saratoga; Mabel, or Darkness and Dawn; and The Old Stone Mansion. He died March 4, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PETERSON, FREDERICK, physician, poet, was born in 1859 in Minnesota. He is a physician and poet; and the author of Poems and Swedish Translations; and in the Shade of Ygdrasil.

PETERSON, HENRY, journalist, poet, was born Dec. 7, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia poet, and editor for many years of The Saturday Evening Post. He was the author of The Modern Job, and Other Poems; Faire-Mount; Bessie's Lovers; and Cæsar, a Dramatic Study. He died in 1891.

PETERSON, ROBERT EVANS, author, was born Nov. 12, 1812, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia writer whose principal work is The Roman Catholic not the Only True Religion. He died in 1894.

PETERSON, SARAH WEBB, journalist, poet, was born Nov. 9, 1829, in Wilmington, Del. She edited The Lady's Friend for ten years; and has written several poems.

PETERSON, THEODORE, clergyman, was born July 4, 1873, in Sweden. He graduated from the Theological seminary and the Northwestern university of Evanston, Ill., and is now a successful clergyman of Braddock, Pa.

PETERSON, THEOPHILUS BEASLEY, publisher, was born Feb. 14, 1821, in Philadelphia, Pa. His first publication was issued in 1846, being a reprint of Lady Charlotte Bury's novel The Divorced. In 1858 he admitted his brothers, George W. and Thomas, into partnership, under the firm name of T. B. Peterson and Brothers. His firm has also made a specialty of publishing cook-books.

PETRIE, GEORGE, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1849.

PETRIKEN, DAVID, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1841. He died Jan. 3, 1849.

PETTEE, OTIS, inventor, railroad president, was born March 5, 1795, in Foxborough, Mass. He made several inventions in cotton machinery, notably in roving frames or double speeders, by introducing a geared cone, with gears arranged in a hyperbolic series. In 1848 he became president of the Charles River railroad, which place he filled until his death. He died Feb. 12, 1853, in Newton Upper Falls, Mass.

PETTEE, WILLIAM HENRY, mining engineer, educator, was born Jan. 13, 1838, in Newton Upper Falls, Mass. In 1875 he was called to the university of Michigan, where he has since remained, and now fills the chair of mineralogy, economic geology, and mining engineering.

PETTEES, JOHN J., soldier, governor. He was governor of Mississippi from 1860 to 1862; and was a brigadier-general in the confederate service. He was killed July 20, 1864, in the battle of Peach Creek.

PETTIBONE, AUGUSTUS H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 21, 1835, in Bedford, Ohio. He commenced the practice of law in La Crosse, Wis.; served in the union army from 1861 to 1865, rising to the rank of major. He settled in Tennessee; was elected attorney-general for the first judicial circuit; and was a presidential elector in 1868 and 1876. He was assistant United States district attorney for several years; and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

PETTIGREW, CHARLES, clergyman, was born in 1748 in Pennsylvania. In 1790 he took some steps toward organizing the episcopal church in North Carolina. In 1794 a convention was held in Tarboro, a constitution was framed and adopted, and Mr. Pettigrew was elected bishop. He died April 7, 1807, in Tyrrel county, N. C.

PETTIGREW, EBENEZER, congressman, was born March 10, 1783, near Edenton, N. C. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1835 to 1837. He died July 8, 1848, in Magnolia, N. C.

PETTIGREW, RICHARD FRANKLIN, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born in July, 1848, in Ludlow, Vt. He went to Dakota in 1869 in the employ of a United States deputy surveyor; located in Sioux Falls, where he engaged in the surveying and real estate business. He opened a law office in 1872, and has been in the practice of his profession since. He was elected to the Dakota legislature as a member of the council in 1877 and re-elected in 1879. He was elected to the forty-seventh congress as delegate from Dakota territory; and was elected to the territorial council of 1884-85. He was elected United States senator in 1889, and took his seat Dec. 2; was re-elected in 1895.

PETTINGILL, AMOS, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 9, 1780, in Salem, N. H. He was a methodist clergyman and educator of Connecticut; and the author of View of the Heavens; and The Spirit of Methodism. He died Aug. 17, 1830, in Salem Bridge, Conn.

PETTINGILL, JOHN HANCOCK, clergyman, author, was born May 11, 1815, in Manchester, Vt. He was a congregational clergyman in Ohio, widely known as an earnest believer in conditional immortality. He was the author of The Theological Trilemma; Platonism versus Christianity; Bible Terminology; Life Everlasting; The Unspeakable Gift; and Views and Reviews in Eschatology. He died Feb. 27, 1887, in New Haven, Conn.

PETTIS, S. NEWTON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1828 in Ashtabula county, Ohio. In 1861 he was appointed a justice of the United States court for Colorado; before the close of that year he resigned, and came to Pennsylvania. He was subsequently elected a representative from that state to the fortieth congress to fill a vacancy; and in 1878 he was appointed minister resident to Bolivia, remaining there until 1880.

PETTIS, SPENCER, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1802 in Virginia. He was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, serving from 1829 to 1831. He died Aug. 26, 1831, in St. Louis.

PETTIT, CHARLES, soldier, lawyer, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1736 near Amwell, N. J. He was in the continental congress from 1785 to 1787; and an advocate for the adoption of the federal constitution in the general convention at Harrisburg. He died Sept. 4, 1806, in Philadelphia.

PETTIT, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born June 24, 1807, in Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. He was a member of the Indiana state legislature; and United States district attorney. He served in the house of representatives in congress from 1843 to 1847; and in the United States senate from 1853 to 1855. He was a presidential elector in 1852; and in 1859 was appointed chief justice of the federal courts of Kansas. He died Jan. 17, 1877, in Lafayette.

PETTIT, JOHN U., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in New York. He was appointed judge of the Upper Wabash circuit court of Indiana. He was elected to congress as a representative from that state in 1854; and was re-elected to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

PETTIT, THOMAS MCKEAN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Dec. 26, 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was city solicitor of Philadelphia in 1820, and shortly afterward was deputy state attorney-general. He was in the legislature in 1830-31; associate judge of the district court in 1832-35; and its presiding judge for the next ten years, subsequently declining further service. In 1853 he became director of the United States mint, which post he held for a month before his death. He died May 30, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PETTUS, EDMUND WINSTON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born July 6, 1821, in Limestone county, Ala. He was elected judge of the seventh circuit of Alabama in 1855, but resigned that office in 1858, and removed to Dallas county, where he now resides. In 1861 he went into the confederate army as major of the twentieth Alabama infantry; and in 1863 was made a brigadier-general of infantry, and served till the close of the war. He was elected by the legislature of Alabama United States senator for the term commencing March 4, 1897.

PETZEL, ERNST AUGUST EDWARD, educator, lecturer, author, was born July 12, 1866, in Koëningsberg, Prussia. At the age of sixteen he entered the university of Watertown, Wis.; and subsequently studied in Berlin. After receiving his degree of Ph. D., he returned to America, and has since held several honorable professorships in the leading institutions. In 1894 he was called to the chair of philosophy and Teutonic languages in the Angustana college of Canton, S. D. He has devoted much time to literary pursuits—in writing poetry, stories, scientific articles and translating from German into English, and English into German. He is a great student and a brilliant lecturer.

PEYTON, BAILIE, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1803, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1833 to 1837. In 1849 he was appointed minister to Chili; and was subsequently elected United States district attorney for Louisiana. In 1861 he was a presidential elector for the state of Tennessee; and subsequently served in the confederate army during the war of the rebellion. He died Aug. 19, 1868, in Gallatin, Tenn.

PEYTON, EPHRAIM GEOFFREY, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Oct. 20, 1802, near Elizabethtown, Ky. He settled in Gallatin, Miss.; served one term in the legislature; and was appointed a judge of the state supreme court in 1868; and was chief justice from 1870 till his retirement in 1875. He died Sept. 5, 1876, in Jackson, Miss.

PEYTON, JOHN LEWIS, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 15, 1824, in Staunton, Va. He is a lawyer of Staunton, Va., who served as an officer in the confederate service. He is the author of Adventures of my Grandfather; History of Au- gusta County, Virginia; The American Crisis; Over the Alleghanies; and Memorials of Nature and Art.

PEYTON, JOHN ROWZE, soldier, was born Oct. 19, 1754, in Stony Hill, Va. He served through the civil war, winning the sobriquet of Hero Boy of '76. He died in 1798 in Stony Hill, Va.

PEYTON, JOSEPH H., state senator, congressman, was born in 1813 in Sumner county, Tenn. He was frequently elected to the senate of Tennessee; and was a representative in congress from 1843 to 1845. He died Nov. 12, 1845, in Sumner county, Tenn.

PEYTON, ROBERT LUDWELL YATES, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1825 in Loudoun county, Va. In 1855 he was elected to the Missouri state senate; and in 1861 was a member of the confederate senate. He died in 1863.

PEYTON, SAMUEL O., physician, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1804 in Bullitt county, Ky. In 1835 he was elected to the state legislature; was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1847 to 1849; and was also elected to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He died in January, 1870, in Hartford, Ky.

PFEIFER, WILLIAM, farmer, legislator, was born March 29, 1863, in Washington county, Wis. He is a successful farmer of Douglas county, S. D.; was elected justice of the peace in 1894; and in 1896 was elected a representative in the South Dakota state legislature.

PFEIFFER, CARL, architect, was born in 1834 in Germany. He established himself as an architect in New York city in 1864, and became eminent. Among the New York buildings that were designed or erected by him are the Church of the Messiah, the Roosevelt and City hospitals, the Berkshire apartment-house, and the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. He died April 27, 1888, in Washington, D. C.

PFRIMMER, WILL W., public official, lecturer, poet, was born Jan. 27, 1856, in Metropolis City, Ill. He was elected to the office of superintendent of schools in Metropolis City, Ill. He is a popular lecturer before teachers' institutes. He has published one volume of poems, Driftwood, which found favorable reception. It is now in its second edition.

PHALEN, FRANK LOWE, clergyman, lecturer, was born May 9, 1859, in Williamstown, N. Y. During 1896-98 he was chaplain of the New Hampshire legislature; and has been secretary of the New Hampshire Unitarian association.

PHELAN, JAMES, lawyer, journalist, congressman, author, was born Dec. 7, 1856, in Aberdeen, Miss. He was a Memphis lawyer and journalist; and served as a representative in the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat. He was the author of Philip Massinger and his Plays; and History of Tennessee. He died Jan. 30, 1891, in Bahama Islands.

PHELAN, JOHN DENNIS, journalist, lawyer, jurist, educator, state legislator, was born March 23, 1809, in New Brunswick, N. J. He became editor of the Huntsville Democrat; was in the Alabama legislature in 1833-34; attorney general of the state in 1836; speaker of the house in 1839; and a judge of the circuit court in 1841-51. He was then elevated to the supreme bench, held office for two years, and again in 1863-65. He became professor of law in the university of the South in 1869, holding the chair till his death. He died Sept. 9, 1879, in Birmingham, Ala.

PHELPS, ABNER, physician, author, was born Sept. 5, 1799, in Belchertown, Mass. He published the Crucifixion of Christ, Anatomically Considered. He died Feb. 4, 1873, in Boston, Mass.

PHELPS, ALFRED C., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 4, 1842, in Woodville, Miss. During the civil war he served as first lieutenant of company I, ninety-third United States colored infantry, and in 1877 was elected a member of the state legislature of Colorado. For nearly a quarter of a century he has been a member of the firm of Benedict and Phelps of Denver, Col., of which city he was city attorney in 1877-78.

PHELPS, MRS. ALMIRA (HART) (LINCOLN), educator, author, was born July 15, 1793, in Berlin, Conn. She was a noted educator of Baltimore who published many text-books on the natural sciences. Among her works are, Geology for Beginners; Christian Households; Ida Norman, a tale; Familiar Lectures on Botany; and Hours with My Pupils. She died July 15, 1884, in Baltimore, Md.

PHELPS, AMOS AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born in 1805 in Farmington, Conn. He edited the Emancipation, and was secretary of the American Anti-Slavery society for several years. He published Lectures on Slavery and Its Remedy; Book of the Sabbath; and Letters to Dr. Bacon and to Dr. Stowe. He died Sept. 12, 1847, in Roxbury, Mass.

PHELPS, AUSTIN, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 7, 1820, in Brookfield, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Andover, Mass., and professor of sacred rhetoric in the Theological seminary there in 1848-79. He was the author of The Still Hour; The New Birth; The Theory of Preaching; English Style in Public Discourse; The Solitude of Christ; Studies of the Old Testament; Men and Books; My Study, and Other Essays; My Portfolio; and My Note-Book. He died Oct. 13, 1890, in Bar Harbor, Maine.

PHELPS, CHARLES EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 1, 1833, in Guilford, Vt. He was elected a representative from Maryland to the thirty-ninth congress, and was, subsequently, commissioned a brigadier-general for gallant conduct at the battle of Spottsylvania. He was re-elected to the fortieth congress, and in 1864 was one of a commission to revise the militia laws of Maryland.

PHELPS, DARWIN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in East Granby, Conn. In 1855 he was elected to the Pennsylvania state legislature, and in 1868 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first congress as a republican.

PHELPS, DRYDEN WILLIAM, clergyman, poet, was born in New Haven, Conn. He has filled pastorates in the baptist churches of Wilmington, Vt.; and is the author of a number of poems.

PHELPS, EDWARD JOHN, lawyer, educator, public official, was born July 11, 1822, in Middlebury, Vt. He was second comptroller of the United States treasury from 1851 to 1853; was a member of the Vermont constitutional convention in 1870; and was elected president of the American Bar association in 1880. He became professor of law in Yale college in 1881, and in 1885 was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Great Britain.

PHELPS, ELISHA, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 7, 1779, in Simsbury, Conn. He was several times a member of the house of representatives and of the senate of his native state; and was speaker of the house of representatives in the legislature in 1821 and 1829. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1819 to 1821, and also from 1825 to 1829. He was comptroller of the state from 1830 to 1834, and in 1835 was appointed one of the commissioners to revise the statutes of Connecticut. He died April 18, 1847, in Simsbury, Conn.

PHELPS, MRS. ELIZABETH (STUART), author, was born Aug. 13, 1815, in Andover, Mass. She was a writer whose Sunnyside, and A Peep at Number Five, stories descriptive of clerical life, were once widely popular. She wrote, also, Last Sheaf from Sunnyside, and a number of Sunday-school tales, the latter over the signature H. Trusta. She died Nov. 30, 1852, in Boston, Mass.

PHELPS, GEORGE DWIGHT, philanthropist, was born in 1803 in Simsbury, Conn. He was the first president of the New York Young Men's society, which was founded in 1831, and was the precursor of the Young Men's Christian association. He died Aug. 31, 1872, in New York city.

PHELPS, GEORGE MAY, inventor, was born March 19, 1820, in Watervliet, N. Y. His most valuable invention was the motor-printer, which is now in use on the lines of the Western Union Telegraph company. He died May 18, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PHELPS, GUY ROWLAND, capitalist, was born in April, 1802, in Simsbury, Conn. In 1846 he founded the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, and he was its president until his death. He was the author of that plan which permits the policy-holder to anticipate the presumed surplus by an increased insurance from the beginning. He died March 18, 1869, in Hartford, Conn.

PHELPS, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 12, 1822, in Colebrook, Conn. He was a member of the Connecticut state house of representatives in 1853-56, and of the state senate in 1858-59. He was elected a judge of the superior court of Connecticut in 1863 for the term of eight years, and was re-elected for a similar term in 1871. He was elected a judge of the supreme court of errors of the state in 1873, and resigned in 1875 upon his election to the forty-fourth congress. He was a member of the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses, and was re-elected to the forty-seventh congress as a democrat.

PHELPS, JOHN SMITH, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, born Dec. 28, 1814, in Simsbury, Conn. In 1840 he was chosen by the people of Greene county, Mo., to represent them in the legislature. Having been appointed brigade-inspector in 1841, he has since borne the title of major. In 1844 he was elected a representative to the twenty-ninth congress, serving in that position until the close of the thirty-sixth congress, and was a member of the select committee of thirty-three on the rebellious states. He was also re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress; served as colonel of volunteers in 1861, and in 1862 he was appointed military governor of Arkansas. In 1876 he was elected governor of Missouri. He died Nov. 20, 1886, in St. Louis, Mo.

PHELPS, JOHN WOLCOTT, soldier, author, poet, was born Nov. 13, 1813, in Guilford, Vt. He was a writer of Brattleboro, Vt., who was an officer in the United States army in the Mexican war and became a brigadier-general of United States volunteers in the civil war. In 1880 he was the presidential nominee of the American party. He was the author of Sibylline Leaves; Good Behavior; History of Madagascar; and The Fables of Florian in English Verse. He died Feb. 2, 1885, in Guilford, Vt.

PHELPS, LAUNCELOT, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1839.

PHELPS, NOAH AMHERST, lawyer, state legislator, author, was born Oct. 16, 1788, in Simsbury, Conn. He was a member of both houses of the Connecticut legislature for several terms, and secretary of state of Connecticut in 1843-44. He published History of Simsbury, Granby, and Canton, Conn., from 1642 to 1645; and History of the Copper Mines and Newgate Prison at Granby. He died Aug. 26, 1872, in Simsbury, Conn.

PHELPS, OLIVER, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1749 in Windsor, Conn. He opened the first land office in America at Canandaigua, and his system became the model for all subsequent surveys. In 1795 he was one of the purchasers of the western reserve, in Ohio, comprising three million three hundred thousand acres; and afterwards removed to Canandaigua. He represented that district in congress from 1803 to 1805, and was a judge of the circuit court. He died Feb. 21, 1809, in Canandaigua, N. Y.

PHELPS, SAMUEL SHETHAR, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born May 13, 1793, in Litchfield, Conn. He entered the American army, and before the close of his military career was appointed paymaster. He was a member of the council of censors, and wrote the address issued by that body. In 1831 he was chosen a member of the legislative council of Vermont, and was soon afterward appointed judge of the supreme court of the state, in which position he remained until 1838. He was a senator in congress from 1839 to 1851, and in 1853 was appointed to the senate to fill a vacancy. He died March 25, 1855, in Middlebury, Vt.

PHELPS, SETH L., naval officer. He served throughout the war of the rebellion, rising to the rank of captain. In 1865 he resigned his commission and entered the service of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, and became vice-president of the company. He resigned in 1878, to accept the appointment of commissioner of the District of Columbia, and in 1883 was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Peru. He died at his post shortly after entering upon the discharge of his duties.

PHELPS, SYLVANUS DRYDEN, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 15, 1816, in Suffield, Conn. He is a baptist clergyman of New Haven, and subsequently of Hartford, and the author of Eloquence of Nature, and Other Poems; Sunlight and Heartlight, and Other Poems; The Poet's Song for Heart and Home; Bible Lands; and Sermons in the Four Quarters of the Globe.

PHELPS, THOMAS STOWELL, naval officer, author, was born Nov. 2, 1822, in Buckfield, Maine. He was a rear-admiral in the United States navy who retired in 1885. He is the author of Reminiscences of Washington Territory.

PHELPS, TIMOTHY G., congressman, was born in New York. He removed to California and was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-seventh congress.

PHELPS, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, educator, author, was born Feb. 15, 1822, in Auburn, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and at Auburn academy, and the State Normal school of Albany. He has been president of the State Normal schools in New Jersey, Minnesota, and Wisconsin for nearly a quarter of a century, and for four years was superintendent of public schools of Winona, Minn. In 1875-76 he was president of the National Educational association, and in 1876 he was president of the first international congress of educators. He has been secretary of the Chambers of Commerce at St. Paul and Duluth for nearly five years, and for six years was secretary of the board of trade of Winona. He organized the movement in behalf of the Sault Ste. Marie canal enlargement, a deep waterway from the great lakes to the sea, in 1877; was temporary chairman and permanent secretary of the convention held at Sault Ste. Marie, which inaugurated that movement, and was on the special committee sent to Washington to secure the largest appropriation ever made up to that time for the canal enlargement.

PHELPS, WILLIAM LYON, educator, author, was born in 1865 in Connecticut. He is an instructor at Yale university, and the author of The Beginnings of the English Romantic Movement.

PHELPS, WILLIAM W., journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 1, 1826, in Oakland county, Mich. In 1852 and 1853 he held the office of commissioner for his native county, performing the duties of judge at chambers. In 1854 he was appointed register of the United States land office at Red Wing, in Minnesota. In 1857 he was elected a representative from Minnesota to the thirty-fifth congress. In 1860 he assumed the editorship of the Red Wing Sentinel.

PHELPS, WILLIAM WALTER, lawyer, banker, congressman, was born Aug. 24, 1839, in New York city. He was elected from New York a representative to the forty-third congress, and was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1880. He was appointed United States minister to Austria in 1881, and was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican.

PHELPS, WILLIAM WINES, journalist, state legislator, poet, was born Feb. 17, 1792, in Hanover, N. J. He removed to Missouri, and established the first morning paper at Independence, Mo., in 1832. He was in the Utah legislature in 1850-57, speaker of the house for several terms, and a justice of the peace. He wrote some of the most popular hymns in the Mormon hymn-book. He died March 7, 1872, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

PHIFER, CHARLES LINCOLN, journalist, poet, was born July 16, 1860, in Fayette county, Ill. He is a successful journalist of California, Mo., and the author of several pamphlets of verse; and a volume of poems entitled Annals of the Earth.

PHILBRICK, EDWARD SOUTHWICK, sanitarian, author, was born in 1827 in Massachusetts. He was a sanitarian who published American Sanitary Engineering.

PHILBRICK, EDWARD WHITE, educator, lawyer, was born April 4, 1861, in Jefferson, Maine. He received his education in the public schools of Maine, Kent's Hill seminary, and the university of Michigan. He has been superintendent of schools in Somerville, Maine, and is now an able lawyer of Boston, Mass.

PHILBRICK, JOHN DUDLEY, educator, author, was born May 27, 1818, in Deerfield, N. H. He was a prominent educator of Boston who published nearly fifty valuable public school reports, and City School Systems in the United States. He died Feb. 2, 1886, in Danvers, Mass.

PHILBROOK, H. B., lawyer, author. He is a successful lawyer of New York city; has lectured extensively throughout the United States, and is the author of Electricity in Nature; Marriage; Astronomy; and various other works.

PHILES, GEORGE PHILIP, bibliographer, was born April 15, 1828, in Ithaca, N. Y. He has contributed to literary journals under the pen-name of Paulus Silentiarius; edited The Philobiblion; and assisted in preparing the Bibliotheca Americana Vetustissima, compiled by Henry Harrisse (1866). He has also issued The Bhagvat-Geeta, or Dialogues of Kreesna and Arjoon.

PHILIPS, GEORGE MORRIS, educator, author, was born Oct. 28, 1851, in Atglen, Pa. Since 1881 he has been principal of the West Chester State Normal school, and was offered the presidency of Bucknell university in 1888, and in 1890 was tendered the superintendency of public instruction of Pennsylvania by Governor Beaver. He is the author of valuable published papers on Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, Civil Government; and Geography of Pennsylvania.

PHILIPS, JOHN FINIS, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 31, 1834, in Boone county, Mo. He served the government as colonel of a regiment of cavalry throughout the civil war, a part of the time was brigade-commander, and was promoted to brigadier-general. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-fourth congress, and was elected to the forty-sixth congress to fill a vacancy. He is now United States district judge at Kansas City, Mo.

PHILIPS, SAMUEL, clergyman, educator, author, was born June 14, 1823, near Hagerstown, Md. He is a German reformed clergyman, professor in Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Pa., from 1866, and the author of Gethsemane and the Cross; The Christian Home; The Voice of Blood; and The Communion of Saints.

PHILLIPS, A. S., educator, journalist, was born Jan. 8, 1858, in Barnesville, Ohio. He received his education in the State Normal school of Ohio, and the Kansas seminary. For ten years he was engaged in educational work, and is now editor and owner of The Sentinel of Junction City, Kan.

PHILLIPS, ALBERT MERRITT, civil engineer, genealogist, was born Oct. 9, 1843, in Charlton, Mass. In 1885 he published a history of the Phillips family. He is a prominent surveyor and conveyancer of Auburn, Mass., where he has held many public offices of trust.

PHILLIPS, ARTHUR CLINTON, journalist, lawyer, was born Sept. 16, 1859, in Phillips, Maine. During 1877-81 he was deputy United States consul at Fort Erie, Canada. During 1881-88 he was editor of the Sioux Falls Daily Press, Daily Argus-Leader, Daily Tribune and Daily Leader, and in 1892 was editor and proprietor of the Sioux Falls Daily Gazette, S. D. He is now one of the leading lawyers of the northwest, and is also very prominent in various fraternal orders.

PHILLIPS, BARNET, journalist, author, was born Nov. 9, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a journalist of New York city, on the staff of The Times from 1872, and the author of The Struggle, a novel; and Burning Their Ships.

PHILLIPS, DAVID, journalist, politician, was born Feb. 4, 1872, in Lockport, Ill. He learned the printer's trade; was proof-reader and telegraph editor on the Duluth Tribune, and is now the editor and owner of The Tribune of Mazeppa, Minn. He is also prominent in the political affairs of his county and state.

PHILLIPS, DUDLEY B., lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 1, 1860, in Clayton, Ohio. He is a prominent lawyer of Manchester, Ohio, of which city he served as mayor for six years, and for four years was a state senator from the seventh district of Ohio.

PHILLIPS, FRANKLIN F., A. M., educator, scientist, poet, was born Dec. 21, 1852, in Searsmont, Maine. He graduated from Nichols' Latin school of Lewiston, Maine, in 1873; and from Bates' college with high honors in 1877. After leaving college he was engaged in educational work for six years, five years as principal of the Rockland High school. In 1880 he was commissioned state assayer of Maine, and served in that capacity for three years. Since 1883 he has been engaged in a very successful business which allows him to gratify his taste for scientific investigation. He is by nature a poet; has written an amount of spirited and graceful poetry, some of which has been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

PHILLIPS, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born in 1593 in England. He was a puritan clergyman, minister at Watertown, Mass., from 1630 till his death; and published a treatise on Infant Baptism. He died July 1, 1644, in Watertown, Mass.

PHILLIPS, GEORGE SEARLE, lecturer, author, was born in 1818 in England. He was a writer and lecturer of Yorkshire, England, who, after some years of literary work in the United States, became, in 1873, an inmate of an insane asylum in New Jersey. He was the author of Chapters in the History of a Life; Life of Ebenezer Elliott; Memoirs of Wordsworth; The Gypsies of the Dane's Dyke; and Chicago and Her Churches. He died in 1889.

PHILLIPS, HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 6, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia, and the author of History of American Colonial Paper Currency; History of American Continental Paper Money; Pleasures of Numismatic Science; Poems from the Spanish and German; and Faust, from the German of Chamisso.

PHILLIPS, HENRY M., congressman, was born June 30, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fifth congress. He died Aug. 3, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PHILLIPS, JAMES, clergyman, educator, was born April 22, 1792, in England. In 1826 he became professor of mathematics in the university of North Carolina, where he remained till his death. He projected a complete course of mathematical studies, and prepared treatises on algebra, geometry, trigonometry and kindred subjects. He died March 16, 1867, in Chapel Hill, N. C.

PHILLIPS, JOHN, benefactor, was born Dec. 6, 1719, in Andover, Mass. with his brother he founded Phillips Andover academy, April 21, 1778, giving to it $31,000, besides a third interest in his estate, and in 1781 he founded Phillips Exeter academy, and endowed it with $134,000. He died April 21, 1795, in Exeter, N. H.

PHILLIPS, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 26, 1770, in Boston, Mass. He was sent to the Massachusetts senate in 1804, and continued member of that body until his death, serving as presiding officer in 1813-23. He was elected first mayor of Boston in 1822. He died May 23, 1823, in Boston, Mass.

PHILLIPS, JOHN, congressman, was born in Chester county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1821 to 1823.

PHILLIPS, JOHN, physician, state senator, was born Nov. 4, 1823, in Richmond, Vt. Since 1848 he has been a physician of Stevens Point, Wis. He was a member of the Wisconsin state assembly in 1860-64, and was pension examiner during 1863-85. He was regent of normal schools during 1876-91; and treasurer and president of the Stevens Point board of education during 1876-81.

PHILLIPS, MAUDE GILLETTE, educator, author, was born in 1860, in Massachusetts. She is an educator who has published A Popular Manual of English Literature.

PHILLIPS, MILTON C., lawyer, was born July 25, 1856, in Royalton, Wis. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and subsequently attended Oberlin college, Ohio. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Wisconsin at Oshkosh; and has served with distinction as United States district attorney for the eastern district of Wisconsin.

PHILLIPS, PHILIP, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1807, in Charleston, S. C. In 1834 he was elected for two years to the South Carolina state legislature. In 1837 he was elected president of the Alabama democratic state convention, and in 1844 was elected to the legislature. In 1851 he was again elected to the legislature. He was a representative in congress from Alabama, from 1853 to 1855, and declined a re-election. He died Jan. 14, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

PHILLIPS, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 17, 1690, in Salem, Mass. He was ordained minister of the south parish of Andover in 1711, which relationship lasted during his lifetime. He published an Elegy; and numerous religious treatises and occasional sermons. He died June 5, 1771, in Andover, Mass.

PHILLIPS, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 7, 1751, in North Andover, Mass. He was a member of the provincial congress, and of the constitutional convention of 1779, for twenty years a state senator, and for fifteen years its president. He was a judge of the court of common pleas in 1781-98, a commissioner of the state in Shays's insurrection, and was lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts at the time of his death. He died Feb. 10, 1802, in North Andover, Mass.

PHILLIPS, STEPHEN CLARENDON, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1801, in Salem, Mass. He was chosen a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature; from 1830 to 1831 was state senator, and in 1832 and 1833 was again a member of the house. From 1834 to 1838 he represented Massachusetts in congress. He died June 26, 1857, at sea.

PHILLIPS, THOMAS W., public official, congressman, was born Feb. 23, 1835, in Beaver county, Pa. When the Producers' Protective association was formed in 1887, he was elected president of the association without opposition, and continued to serve in that capacity for three years. He is president of the Citizens' National bank of New Castle, Pa., and president of the electric street railway of the same place. He was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

PHILLIPS, WENDELL, orator, author, was born Nov. 29, 1811, in Boston, Mass. He was a celebrated orator of Boston, a

Feb. 2, 1884, in Boston, Mass.

PHILLIPS, WILLARD, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 19, 1784, in Bridgewater, Mass. He was a lawyer of Boston, and the author of Treatise on the Law of Insurance; Manual of Political Economy; The Law of Patents; The Inventor's Guide; and Protection and Free Trade. He died Sept. 9, 1873, in Cambridge, Mass.

PHILLIPS, WILLIAM A., soldier, journalist, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1826, in Scotland. He went to Kansas as a writer for the New York Tribune. He entered the army as major in 1861, and commanded an Indian regiment during the war in the west. He was a member of the state legislature of Kansas. He was elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

PHILLIPSE, FREDERICK, philanthropist, was born in 1626 in Holland. In 1699 he erected at his own expense, opposite Castle Phillipse, a substantial church, which is now the oldest religious edifice in the state of New York. He was a member of the governor's council for more than twenty years. He died Dec. 23, 1702, in New York city.

PHILSON, ROBERT, governor, was born in Ireland. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1819 to 1821.

PHIN, JOHN, journalist, author, was born Sept. 9, 1832, in Scotland. He is a New York publisher of technical journals, and the author of Open-Air Grape Culture; Chemical History of the Creation; Practical Treatise on Lightning Rods; How to Use the Microscope; Workshop Companion; Preparation and Use of Cements and Glue; Dictionary of Practical Agriculture; Trade Secrets and Private Recipes; and A Pocket Dictionary of Monetary and Coinage Terms.

PHINIZY, CHARLES H., railroad president, was born Jan. 16, 1835, in Augusta, Ga. From 1882-87 he was president of the Augusta cotton factory, and in 1888 became president of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, and of the Western railroad of Atlanta.

PHINNEY, EDWIN R., manufacturer, state legislator, was born Aug. 3, 1846, in Bangor, Maine. In 1883 he served with distinction as a representative in the Michigan state legislature. He is now president of the Cleveland Shingle company of Cleveland, Ohio.

PHIPPS, WILLIAM, governor, was born Feb. 2, 1651, in Maine. He served in the colonial army against the French in 1690, and in 1692 became the first royal governor of Massachusetts. He died Feb. 18, 1695, in London, England.

PHISTER, ELIJAH CONNER, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 8, 1822, in Maysville, Ky. He was mayor of Maysville in 1847 and 1848, and was elected circuit judge in 1856 and served six years. He was a representative in the state legislature from 1867 to 1871, and was elected a representative from Kentucky to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

PHOENIX, J. PHILLIPS, state legislator, congressman, was born in Morristown, N. J. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1845, and was a member of the state assembly in 1848 from New York city. He was again in congress from 1849 to 1851. He died May 4, 1859, in New York.

PHOENIX, STEPHEN WHITNEY, benefactor, author, was born May 25, 1839, in New York city. He left his books relating to heraldry and genealogy to the New York Historical society, together with a legacy of $15,000, the income of which is to be invested in books on kindred subjects. His curiosities, works of art, pictures, and coins, to the Metropolitan Museum of Art; and his general library of books, to be known as The Phoenix Collection, to Columbia, with $500,000 for technical use, eventually, in the school of mines. He died Nov. 3, 1881, in New York city.

PHYFE, WILLIAM HENRY PINKNEY, author, was born in 1855 in New York. He is an author of New York city, and has written How Should I Pronounce? The School Pronouncer; Seven Thousand Words Often Mispronounced; The Test Pronouncer; and Five Thousand Words Commonly Misspelled.

PHYSICK, PHILIP SYNG, surgeon, was born July 7, 1768, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a student of the celebrated John Hunter, and distinguished himself by his faithful attention to his professional duties during the frightful mortality caused by the yellow fever in Philadelphia, 1793, when not only citizens, but even physicians, fled from the city. In 1825 he was elected a member of the French Royal Academy of Medicine, and is said to be the first American who received this honor. He died Dec. 15, 1837, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PIATT, DONN, soldier, lawyer, journalist, author, poet, was born June 29, 1819, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was a lawyer and journalist of Washington, and during the civil war a federal officer. He was the author of Sunday Meditations; Memories of the Men Who Saved the Union; Poems and Plays; Life of General George H. Thomas; and The Lone Grave of the Shenandoah. He died in 1891.

PIATT, JOHN JAMES, poet, was born March 1, 1835, in James Mills (now Milton), Ind. He is a poet who was consul at Cork in 1882-93. He has been a prolific writer of verse, but The Morning Street, one of his earlier poems, still ranks as his finest effort. He is the author of Landmarks; Western Windows; Poems of House and Home; Idyls and Lyrics of the Ohio Valley; Poems in Sunshine and Firelight; The Lost Farm, and Other Poems; At the Holy Well; A Dream of Church Windows (a revised edition of Poems of House and Home); The Lost Hunting Ground; and Little New World Idyls. His prose is included in Penciled Fly-Leaves; and A Return to Paradise.

PIATT, LOUISE KIRBY, author, was born Nov. 25, 1826, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She accompanied her husband to Europe when he was appointed secretary of legation, and contributed letters to the Home Journal, which were afterward published in book-form as Bell Smith Abroad. She died Oct. 2, 1864.

PIATT, MRS. SARAH MORGAN (BRYAN), poet, was born Aug. 11, 1836, in Lexington, Ky. She is a noted poet, and is the author of A Woman's Poems; A Voyage to the Fortunate Isles, and Other Poems; That New World, and Other Poems; Dramatic Persons and Moods; An Irish Garland; In Primrose Time; The Witch in the Glass; Complete Poems (1894); An Enchanted Castle; and Child's World Ballads.

PICARD, GEORGE HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 3, 1850, in Baldwin, Ohio. He is a physician and novelist of New York city, and the author of A Matter of Taste; A Mission Flower; and Old Boniface.

PICK, BERNHARD, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 19, 1842, in Prussia. He is a lutheran clergyman of Pennsylvania, prior to 1884 a presbyterian minister; and the author of Luther as a Hymnist; Historical Sketch of the Jews; Life of Christ according to Extra Canonical Sources; Index to the Ante-Nicene Fathers; and The Talmud: What It Is.

PICKARD, JOSEPH COFFIN, educator, was born in September, 1826, in Auburn. In 1873 he became professor of the English language and literature in the Industrial university at Urbana, Ill.

PICKARD, SAMUEL THOMAS, journalist, author, was born in 1828 in Massachusetts. He is a writer who for many years edited the Portland (Maine) Transcript. He is the author of Life and Letters of John Greenleaf Whittier.

PICKENS, ANDREW J., soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 19, 1739, in Paxton, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature from the close of the war until 1793, when he was elected a representative in congress from 1793 to 1795. In 1795 he was commissioned major-general of the South Carolina militia, and was frequently a commissioner to treat with the Indians. He died Aug. 17, 1817, in Pendleton district, S. C.

PICKENS, FRANCIS WILKINSON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, governor, was born April 7, 1805, in Togaddo, S. C. In 1832 he was a member of the South Carolina state legislature, and took part in the nullification excitement. He was a representative in congress from 1835 to 1845. In 1844 he was elected to the state senate, and was minister to Russia from 1857 to 1860. When South Carolina seceded from the Union he was chosen governor of the state. He died Jan. 25, 1869, in Edgefield, S. C.

PICKENS, ISRAEL, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born Jan. 30, 1780, in Mecklenburg county (now Cabarrus), N. C. He served one year in the North Carolina state legislature. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1811 to 1817, in which year he was appointed register of the land office of Mississippi territory. On removing to Alabama he was elected governor of that state in 1821, and in 1826 was a senator in congress from Alabama. He died April 24, 1827, in Cabarrus, N. C.

PICKENS, RUPERT T., lawyer, legislator, was born April 4, 1860, in Buncombe county, N. C. He has been mayor of Ellijay, Ga., and during 1891-96 was mayor of Lexington, N. C., in which city he is a prominent lawyer. He has served as a representative in the North Carolina state legislature, and takes an active part in the public affairs of his state.

PICKERING, CHARLES, naturalist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1805, in Susquehanna county, Pa. He was a naturalist of eminence, and the author of Races of Men and Their Geographical Distribution; Geographical Distribution of Animals and Men; and Chronological History of Plants. He died March 17, 1878, in Boston, Mass.

PICKERING, EDWARD CHARLES, author, was born July 19, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He is the director of Harvard observatory at Cambridge, and author of Elements of Physical Manipulation.

PICKERING, HENRY, poet, was born Oct. 8, 1781, in Newburg, N. Y. He was a poet of New York who published Ruins of Præstum; Athens, and Other Poems; and The Buckwheat Cake. He died Oct. 8, 1871, in Newburg, N. Y.

PICKERING, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 22, 1737, in Newington, N. H. He was a member of the convention which framed the constitution of New Hampshire. He was a judge of the supreme court of New Hampshire from 1790 to 1795, and was at one time chief justice. He was subsequently judge of the United States district court for New Hampshire. He died April 11, 1805, in Portsmouth.

PICKERING, JOHN, lawyer, linguist, author, was born Feb. 7, 1777, in Salem, Mass. He was a lawyer of Boston and a linguist of eminence, and the author of Greek and English Lexicon; Collection of Words and Phrases Supposed to be Peculiar to the United States; and Remarks on the Indian Languages of North America. He died May 5, 1846, in Boston, Mass.

PICKERING, MRS. M., educator, poet, was born in 1830, in Steubenville, Ohio. For thirteen years she was engaged in educational work; and also took an active part in religious and temperance work. She is a poet of ability, and the author of a volume of collected poems. She is also represented in Poets of America and other standard works.

PICKERING, OCTAVIUS, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 2, 1791, in Wyoming, Pa. He was a Boston lawyer who published Reports of Cases in the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts in 1822-40; and Life of Timothy Pickering (completed by Upham). He died Oct. 29, 1868, in Boston, Mass.

PICKERING, TIMOTHY, statesman, cabinet officer, was born July 17, 1745, in Salem, Mass. In 1776 he was appointed one of the judges of the court of common pleas for Essex, Mass., and sole judge of the maritime court for the middle district. In 1777 he became adjutant-general, and subsequently quartermaster-general. In 1791 he was made postmaster-general; in 1794 secretary of war, and the following year was appointed secretary of state. In 1803 he was elected a United States senator to fill a vacancy; and two years later was elected for a term of six years. He died Jan. 9, 1829, in Salem, Mass.

PICKERING, WILLIAM, governor, was born in England. In 1861 he was appointed from Illinois governor of the territory of Washington, residing in Olympia, serving in office until 1867.

PICKERING, WILLIAM HENRY, astronomer, educator, author, was born Feb. 15, 1858, in Boston, Mass. He is an astronomer, professor in Harvard university from 1887, and the author of Walking Guide to the White Mountain Range.

PICKETT, ALBERT JAMES, author, was born Aug. 13, 1810, in Anson county, N. C. He was a writer of Montgomery, Ala., who published a History of Alabama. He died Oct. 28, 1858, in Montgomery, Ala.

PICKETT, GEORGE EDWARD, soldier, was born Jan. 25, 1825, in Richmond, Va. In 1861 he joined the confederate army as colonel, and attained the rank of major-general.

PICKETT, JAMES C., soldier, lawyer, journalist, state legislator, was born Feb. 6, 1793, in Fauquier county, Va. In the war of 1812 he was an officer in the United States artillery, and served also in the army from 1818 to 1821. He was a member of the Virginia legislature in 1822; and secretary of the state from 1825 to 1828. He was secretary of legation to Columbia from 1829 to 1833. He was commissioner of the United States patent office in 1835; was fourth auditor of the treasury from 1835 to 1838; and was minister to Ecuador in 1838. He was charge d'affaires to Peru from 1838 to 1845. He died July 10, 1872, in Washington.

PICKLE, GEORGE WESLEY, lawyer, was born March 6, 1845, in Knox county, Tenn. He received his education in the East Tennessee university and the Princeton college of New Jersey. Since 1886 he has been attorney-general and reporter of Tennessee. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the south; takes an active part in political affairs; has filled several public positions of honor; and contributes extensively to law literature and the periodical press.

PICKLER, JOHN A., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 24, 1844, near Salem, Ind. He removed to Muscatine, Iowa, in 1874; and was a Garfield elector, second district of Iowa, in 1880. He was elected to the Iowa legislature in 1881. He moved to Dakota in 1883, and was elected to the Dakota legislature in 1884, and appointed inspector in public-land service in interior department in 1889. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second, and fifty-third congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

PICKMAN, BENJAMIN, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born in 1763. In 1800 he was elected to the Massachusetts state legislature; was elected a state senator, and was re-elected a number of years. In 1807 he became a member of the executive council, and was a representative in congress from 1809 to 1811. In 1820 he was a member of the convention for revising the state constitution. He died in August, 1843, in Salem, Mass.

PICKNELL, WILLIAM LAMB, artist, was born Oct. 23, 1854, in Hinesburg, Vt. Among his works are Route de Concarneau; On the Borders of the Marsh, in the Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia; A Stormy Day; Coast of Ipswich, in Boston Art Museum; Sunshine and Drifting Sand; A Sultry Day; Wintery March; Bleak December; After the Storm; and November Solitude.

PICOTTE, THEOPHILE E., journalist, was born Oct. 26, 1848, in Montreal, Canada. He is the editor and owner of The Times of Hailey, Idaho, one of the foremost daily and weekly newspapers of that state.

PICTON, THOMAS, politician, lawyer, soldier, journalist, author, was born May 9, 1822, in New York city. He edited the True National Democrat, the organ of the free-soilers in New York city. On the reorganization of the Sunday Mercury, he became one of its editors, and contributed to the paper a series of popular stories under the name of Paul Preston. These were subsequently published in book-form, and had an extensive sale. At the beginning of the civil war he raised a battalion, which was consolidated with the thirty-eighth New York regiment, with which he went to the field. He was the author of Reminiscences of a Sporting Journalist. He died Feb. 20, 1891, in New York city.

PIDCOCK, JAMES NELSON, civil engineer, agriculturist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1836, in White House, N. J. He was state senator from 1877 to 1880, and in 1884 was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-ninth congress, and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

PIEHN, LOUIS H., banker, was born March 10, 1837, in Germany. He emigrated to the United States in 1852, and twenty years later settled in Nora Springs, Iowa, where he is president of the First National bank. He is also the president of the Anti-Vaccination society of America, and president of the United States Medical Liberty league.

PIEPER, FRANZ AUGUST OTTO, clergyman, author, was born June 27, 1852, in Germany. In 1878 he became professor of theology in Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo. This post he held until 1887, when he was elected president of the institution. He is a frequent contributor to denominational periodicals, and has published several works in German.

PIERCE, BENJAMIN, soldier, governor, was born Dec. 25, 1757, in Chelmsford, Mass. He joined the revolutionary army after the battle of Lexington, and remained in it through the war; and served as ensign, lieutenant and brigadier-general. From 1789 to 1802 he was a member of the general council, and chancellor from 1803 to 1809, and again from 1814 to 1818. He was high sheriff from 1809 to 1814, and again from 1818 to 1823, and was governor from 1827 to 1829. He died April 1, 1839, in Hillsborough, N. H.

PIERCE, BENJAMIN, educator, author, was born April 4, 1809, in Salem, Mass. He was president of the American Institution for the Advancement of Science in 1853; one of the council which established Dudley Observatory in 1855; superintendent of the United States coast survey from 1867 to 1874. He was a contributor to several scientific journals, and was the author of Treatise on Analytic Mechanics; Associative Algebra; and Theory of the Taus of Comets. He discovered and announced the fluidity of Saturn's rings in 1851, and prepared a volume of lunar tables for the Nautical Almanac.

PIERCE, BYRON ROOT, soldier, was born Sept. 20, 1829, in East Bloomfield, N. Y. At the beginning of the civil war he enlisted in the third Michigan volunteers. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864, and brevetted major-general in 1865.

PIERCE, CHARLES W., soldier, congressman, was born in 1823 in New York. He was a lieutenant in the Illinois volunteers soon after the commencement of the rebellion. He settled in Alabama in 1867, and in 1868 was elected a representative from that state to the fortieth congress.

PIERCE, DAVID G., clergyman, poet, was born April 27, 1840, in South Britain, Conn. He has filled pastorates in the congregational churches of South Britain, Conn., and is the author of a volume of poems.

PIERCE, EDWARD LILLIE, lawyer, author, was born March 29, 1829, in Stoughton, Mass. He was a prominent Boston lawyer, and the author of American Railroad Law; Life of Charles Sumner; The Law of Railroads; and Enfranchisement and Citizenship.

PIERCE, EMMONS S., poet, was born Jan. 27, 1831, in Erie county, N. Y. He is a well-known horseman of Springfield, N. Y., and the author of a volume entitled Poems of the Turf, and Other Ballads.

PIERCE, FRANKLIN, fourteenth president of the United States, was born Nov. 23, 1804, in Hillsborough, N. H. He graduated at Bowdoin college in 1824, and then entered the law school at Northampton, Mass., where he remained two years. In 1829 he was elected to the New Hampshire legislature, where he served four years, and the last two years was speaker of the house. In 1833 he was elected a representative in congress, and held the office four years. He married Miss Jane M. Appleton in 1834. In 1837 he was elected to the United States senate, and in 1842 resigned his seat. When the Mexican war broke out he accepted the commission of brigadier-general, and distinguished himself at the battles of Cerro-Gordo and Chapultepec. In 1850 he presided over the constitutional convention of New Hampshire. June 1, 1852, the national democratic convention met at Baltimore. The two-thirds rule was adopted. The balloting began June 3, and on the first ballot Lewis Cass received 114 votes; James Buchanan, 93; William L. Marcy, 27; Stephen Arnold Douglas, 20. The seventeenth ballot that day stood: For Cass, 99; Buchanan, 87; Douglas, 50; Marcy, 26. The second day's balloting closed with the thirty-third trial, as follows: Cass, 123; Buchanan, 72; Douglas, 60; Marcy, 25. On the thirty-sixth ballot the Virginia delegation cast their votes for Franklin Pierce, and on the forty-ninth he received the unanimous vote of the convention. William Rufus King was nominated for vice-president. Being duly elected, they were inaugurated March 4, 1853. There was not a change made in his cabinet officers during his administration, a thing that has never before or since happened. He left the presidential chair March 4, 1857, and returned to his home in New Hampshire, where he died Oct. 8, 1869. Pierce held office about seventeen years. He left about fifty thousand dollars.

PIERCE, FREDERICK CLIFTON, author, was born July 30, 1856, in Worcester county, Mass. He is an Illinois writer who has written town histories of Barre and Grafton, Mass., and of Rockford, Ill.; The Harwood Genealogy; Pierce History and Genealogy; Peirce History and Genealogy; and Pearse and Pearce Genealogy.

PIERCE, GEORGE EDMUND, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 9, 1794, in Southbury, Conn. For twelve years he was a clergyman; and during 1834-55 was president of the Western Reserve college. He died May 28, 1871, in Hudson, Ohio.

PIERCE, GEORGE FOSTER, bishop, author, was born Feb. 3, 1811, in Greene county, Ga. In 1854 he was elected and ordained methodist episcopal bishop at Columbus, Ga. He was the author of Incidents of Western Travel. In 1842 he was elected president of Emory college, resigning in 1854. The degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Transylvania university, and that of LL. D. by Randolph Macon college. He died Sept. 3, 1884, near Sparta, Ga.

PIERCE, GILBERT ASHVILLE, soldier, lawyer, journalist, governor, United States senator, author, was born Jan. 11, 1838, in Cattaraugus county, N. Y. In 1868 he was elected a representative in the Indiana legislature. In 1872 he accepted an editorial position on the Chicago Inter-Ocean; was made managing editor of that paper in 1876, and remained in editorial charge until 1881, when he was tendered, and accepted, the position of chief editorial writer on the Chicago Daily News. He was the author of the Dickens Dictionary, and of two novels of a political character, as well as a number of plays. In 1884 he was appointed governor of the territory of Dakota; and in 1889 became a United States senator from North Dakota.

PIERCE, HENRY LILLIE, manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 23, 1825, in Stoughton, Mass. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1860, 1861, 1862 and 1866; was an alderman of the city of Boston in 1870 and 1871, and was mayor of Boston in 1873. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy, and in 1874 was elected to the forty-fourth congress as a republican.

PIERCE, HENRY NILES, bishop of Arkansas and the Indian territory, was born Oct. 19, 1820, in Pawtucket, R. I. He was elected missionary bishop of Arkansas and the Indian territory, and was consecrated in Christ church, Mobile, on Jan. 25, 1870. He has published numerous occasional sermons, essays, and addresses, and is the author of The Agnostic, and Other Poems.

PIERCE, JOHN, antiquarian, was born July 14, 1773, in Dorchester, Mass. He was an authority on genealogical and historical researches. He was for twenty years president of the Massachusetts Bible society, of which he was one of the founders. His works consist of eighteen manuscript volumes, which were bequeathed by him to the Massachusetts Historical society. He died Aug. 24, 1849, in Brookline, Mass.

PIERCE, JOHN DAVIS, clergyman, state legislator, author, was born Feb. 18, 1797, in Chesterfield, N. H. He was superintendent of public instruction in Michigan for two years, during that time edited and published the Journal of Education, and also edited at one time the Democratic Expounder at Marshall. He is credited with being the author of the Michigan free-school system. He died April 5, 1882, in Medford, Mass.

PIERCE, JOSEPH, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire during the years 1801 and 1802.

PIERCE, LEWIS, lawyer, state legislator, was born April, 1832, in Gorham. He has represented Portland in the Maine legislature, has been public administrator for the county of Cumberland, and has served on the school committee of Portland.

PIERCE, NATHANIEL, lawyer, state legislator, was born in March, 1832, in Newburyport, Mass. He is a successful lawyer of Newburyport. He has been repeatedly mayor of his city, and has represented it in the legislature.

PIERCE, RAY VAUGHN, manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 6, 1840, in Stark, N. Y. The World's Medical Dispensary association, of which he is president and almost sole owner, was created for the more systematic manufacture of his popular remedies. He was elected to the state senate in 1877; and in 1878 was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth congress.

PIERCE, RICE A., lawyer, congressman, was born July 3, 1848, in Dresden, Tenn. He was elected district attorney-general of the twelfth judicial circuit in 1874; and re-elected in 1878 for a full term of eight years. He was elected to the forty-eighth, fifty-first, and fifty-second congresses as a democrat; ran as an independent free coinage democrat in 1892 and was defeated; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

PIERCE, ROBERT B. F., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 15, 1843, in Laurel, Ind. He served in the union army during the war of the rebellion. He was prosecuting attorney at Crawfordsville from 1868 to 1874, and in 1880 was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-seventh congress.

PIERCE, THOMAS MAY, author, was born Dec. 10, 1837, in Chester, Pa. He is the author of Test Business Problems; Pierce's School Manual of Business Forms and Customs; and Pierce's School Manual of Bookkeeping.

PIERCE, WILLIAM, soldier, congressman, author, was born about 1740 in Georgia. He served in the revolutionary war as an aide-de-camp to General Greene, and for his services a sword was presented to him by the old congress. He was a delegate from Georgia to the continental congress, and was a member of the convention which framed the federal constitution. While in congress he wrote his impressions of the men who served in that body, which were long afterward published in a Savannah paper. He died about 1806.

PIERCE, WILLIAM HALFORD, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 12, 1862, in Equality, Ill. He attended the Illinois State Normal school; the Shurtleff college; and graduated from the McKendree college and the Garrett Biblical institute. In 1883 he joined the southern Illinois conference, and two years later was transferred to the Rock River conference; and is an eminent clergyman of the methodist episcopal church. He is the author of works on Agonography, a system of shorthand writing without angles. He is also a successful lecturer on popular subjects.

PIERCE, WINSLOW SMITH, pioneer, educator, author, was born May 3, 1819, in Boston, Mass. He was one of the originators of the first line of steamships between the Isthmus of Panama and San Francisco. He settled in Indiana in 1860, devoted himself largely to the coal and iron industries, and laid out and at one time owned a large part of Indianapolis. He left in manuscript a complete collection of material for a book entitled Reminiscences of Public Men from 1828 to 1888. He died July 29, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PIERPONT, FRANCIS HARRISON, lawyer, governor, was born Jan. 25, 1814, in Monongalia county, Va. From 1861 to 1868 he was the governor of West Virginia, and has held numerous offices under the United States government.

PIERPONT, JAMES, clergyman, was born in 1661, in Massachusetts. He was a clergyman, and one of the founders of Yale college. He died Nov. 14, 1714, in New Haven, Conn.

PIERPONT, JOHN, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 6, 1785, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a unitarian clergyman of Boston, pastor of the Hollis street church in 1819-45. He wrote a volume of sacred verse, Airs of Palestine, and a number of domestic lyrics, which were very popular, Passing Away being the best known of any. He compiled several school readers, the most noted of which was The American First-Class Book. He died Aug. 26, 1866, in Medford, Mass.

PIERREPONT, EDWARDS, lawyer, jurist, was born March 4, 1817, in North Haven, Conn. He was judge of the New York supreme court from 1857 to 1860; and in 1862 was made a member of the military commission for the trial of prisoners of state. He was United States attorney for the southern district of New York in 1869-70. He was appointed attorney-general of the United States in 1875. In 1876 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Great Britain. He died March 6, 1892, in New York city.

PIERREPONT, EDWARD WILLOUGHBY, public official, author, was born in 1860 in New York. He was charge d'affaires at Rome at the time of his death. He was the author of From Fifth Avenue to Alaska. He died in 1885.

PIERSE, EDWIN HALL, musician, composer, was born Dec. 25, 1868, in Auburn, N. Y. He is director of the school of music at Ripon college of Wisconsin, and the author of numerous compositions for the piano.

PIERSON, ABRAHAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1641, in Lynn, Mass. He was the first rector of Yale college, serving from 1701-07. He is the author of a text-book on Natural Philosophy, which was used for twenty-five years. He died March 5, 1707, in New Haven, Conn.

PIERSON, ARTHUR TAPPAN, clergyman, author, was born in 1837 in New York. He is a congregational clergyman of note, and the author of Acts of the Holy Spirit; Many Infallible Proofs; The Crisis of Missions; The Miracles of Missions; The Divine Art of Preaching; The Heart of the Gospel; Keys to the Word; and Lessons on Prayer.

PIERSON, MRS. CORNELIA (TUT-HILL), author, was born in 1820 in Connecticut. She was the author of Our Little Comfort; Wreaths and Blossoms for the Church; When Are We Happiest? and The Belle, the Blue, and the Bigot. She died in 1870.

PIERSON, DELAVAN L., poet. He is a writer of Philadelphia, Pa., and the author of a number of poems.

PIERSON, HAMILTON WILCOX, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 22, 1817, in Bergen, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman in Kentucky, and the author of Thomas Jefferson at Monticello; and In the Brush, or Old-Time Social, Political and Religious Life in the Southwest.

PIERSON, ISAAC, physician, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1770, in New Jersey. He practiced medicine for forty years and was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1827 to 1831. He died Sept. 22, 1833, in New Jersey.

PIERSON, JEREMIAH H., congressman, was born in Essex county, N. J. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1821 to 1823.

PIERSON, JOB, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1835. He died April 9, 1860.

PIGOTT, JAMES P., lawyer, congressman, was born in New Haven, Conn. He is a noted lawyer of New Haven; was chairman of the state delegation to the democratic national convention in 1888, and was elected to the fifty-third congress.

PIKE, ALBERT, lawyer, journalist, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1809, in Boston, Mass. He was a lawyer and journalist of Little Rock, Memphis, and Washington successively, who served as an officer in the confederate army. He was the author of Hymns to the Gods; Prose Sketches and Poems; Nugæ, a collection of Poems; and Arkansas Supreme Court Reports, 1840-45. He died April 2, 1891, in Washington, D. C.

PIKE, AUSTIN F., lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 14, 1819, in Hebron, N. H. He was a member of the New Hampshire house of representatives in 1850, 1851, 1852, 1865 and 1866, and speaker during the last two years. He was a presidential elector in 1852; was a member of the New Hampshire senate in 1857 and 1858, and was president of the senate in the latter year. He was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the forty-third congress; and in 1883 was elected a United States senator from New Hampshire for the term of six years from March 4, 1883. He died Oct. 8, 1886, in Franklin, N. H.

PIKE, FRANCES WEST ATHERTON, author, was born March 17, 1819, in Prospect, Maine. She has published Step by Step; Here and Hereafter; Katherine Morris; Sunset Stories, in six volumes; Climbing and Sliding; and Striving and Gaining.

PIKE, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 9, 1817, in Calais, Maine. He was a member of the Maine legislature, serving one term as speaker of the house of representatives. In 1860 he was elected a representative from Maine to the thirty-seventh congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. He died Dec. 2, 1886, in Calais, Maine.

PIKE, JAMES, clergyman, congressman, was born in November, 1818, in Salisbury, Mass. He was a minister in the methodist episcopal church from 1841 to 1854; and was elected a representative from New Hampshire in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses.

PIKE, JAMES SHEPARD, journalist, author, was born Sept. 8, 1811, in Calais, Maine. He was a journalist of New York city who was minister to the Netherlands, in 1861-66, and the author of A Prostrate State; The Restoration of the Currency; The Financial Crisis; Horace Greeley in 1872; The First Blows of the Civil War; The New Puritan; and New England Two Hundred Years Ago. He died Nov. 24, 1882, in Calais, Maine.

PIKE, JOSEPH W., farmer, educator, was born Feb. 16, 1832, in Columbiana county, Ohio. He has been a justice of the peace, town councilman, school teacher, and prominent in religious affairs in Iowa at Millersville and Sioux City. He has contributed articles on politics, temperance and prohibition for thirty-five years. His poems have appeared in several standard works, and in the leading magazines and newspapers of the United States.

PIKE, MRS. MARY HAYDEN (GREEN), author, was born Nov. 30, 1825, in Eastport, Maine. She was a once popular novelist, and the author of Ida May; Caste; Agnes; and Bond and Free.

PIKE, ZEBULON MONTGOMERY, soldier, traveler, was born Jan. 5, 1779, in Lambertton, N. J. He was a surveyor of the newly acquired territory of Louisiana in 1805, and discovered that lofty peak of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado which bears his name. He died April 27, 1813.

PILCHER, ELIJAH HOMES, clergyman, author, was born June 2, 1810, in Athens, Ohio. He was a methodist clergyman of Michigan who wrote a History of Protestantism in Michigan. He died April 7, 1887, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PILCHER, JAMES J., surgeon, author, was born March 18, 1857, in Adrian, Mich. He was surgeon in the army; professor of military surgery in the Ohio Medical university; and of military hygiene in the Starling Medical college. He is the author of First Aid in Illness and Injury; and a number of other popular medical works.

PILE, WILLIAM A., soldier, clergyman, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1829, near Indianapolis, Ind. He was a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, and a member of the Missouri conference at the commencement of the rebellion. In 1861 he joined the Missouri volunteers as chaplain; in 1862 had command of a battery of artillery as captain, and was soon afterward promoted to the rank of colonel of infantry. In 1863 he was appointed a brigadier-general of United States volunteers, and was in the Missouri campaign under General Lyon. In 1866 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the fortieth congress, and in 1869 was appointed governor of New Mexico. In 1871 he was appointed minister resident to Venezuela. He died July 7, 1889, in Monrovia, Cal.

PILGRIM, WILLIAM MAWER, merchant, legislator, was born Nov. 2, 1839, in England. This successful merchant has served as a representative in the legislature of Illinois from Bradford.

PILLING, JAMES CONSTANTINE, ethnologist, author, was born Nov. 16, 1846, in Washington, D. C. He was an ethnologist of distinction in the government service, among whose writings are Bibliographies of the Languages of the North American Indians, of the Eskimoan Languages, of the Siouan, of the Iroquoian, and others. He died in 1895.

PILLOW, GIDEON JOHNSON, soldier, was born June 8, 1806, in Williamson county, Tenn. He became a brigadier-general in 1846, and in 1861 major-general. He died Oct. 6, 1878, in Lee county, Ark.

PILLSBURY, ALBERT E., lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 19, 1849, in Milford, N. H. He has attained eminence as one of the foremost lawyers of New England, and has a large practice in Boston, Mass. He has filled various positions in financial, charitable and other corporations and associations. During 1876-78 he was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives; a member of the Massachusetts state senate in 1884-86, and president of the senate in 1885-86. In 1891-93 he was attorney-general of Massachusetts; and now holds the chair of constitutional law in the Law school of the Boston university. He has received the honorary degree of A. M. from the Harvard university.

PILLSBURY, CHARLES ALFRED, merchant, was born about 1843 in Warner, N. H. In 1869 he came west and settled in Minneapolis. He went about the study of milling flour in a scientific way and in a short time mastered it. At that time there were four or five old-fashioned mills in the town, and he undertook to introduce new methods by replacing the old stone grinders with steel ones. In 1872 he enlarged his plant, took his father and brother into partnership, and by 1890 he had built up the largest flour mill in the world. The new process created a demand for hard spring wheat, which had always ranked as less desirable than the soft winter cereal. In 1890 an English syndicate capitalized the concern, and Mr. Pillsbury is its manager. The Pillsbury mills are run on the profit-sharing plan.

PILLSBURY, JOHN S., merchant, state senator, governor, was born in 1827, in New Hampshire. In 1854 he removed to Minnesota and settled at the Falls of St. Anthony; and engaged in business as a hardware merchant. He was for twelve years a member of the Minnesota state senate; and in 1864 was president of the board of regents of the State university of Minnesota. In 1877 he was elected governor of Minnesota, and in 1880 was re-elected, serving until 1884.

PILLSBURY, OLIVER, educator, state legislator, was born Feb. 16, 1817, in Henniker, N. H. He served three terms in the New Hampshire legislature, was a state councillor in 1862 and 1863, displaying executive ability and energy in business connected with the New Hampshire quota of troops, and in 1869 was appointed the first insurance commissioner of the state, holding the office till his death. He died Feb. 22, 1888, in Concord, N. H.

PILLSBURY, PARKER, abolitionist, reformer, author, was born Sept. 22, 1809, in Hamilton, Mass. In his infancy his parents moved to Henniker, N. H., where he received his education in the common schools. In 1839 he was licensed to preach, but subsequently abandoned the pulpit and threw himself into the cause of emancipation. His greatest work in the anti-slavery cause was upon the platform, but for a time he had editorial charge of the Herald of Freedom, and later of the National Anti-Slavery Standard. From 1840 until the legal extinction of slavery he was one of the most zealous and effective of the abolition orators; and visited England in its cause in 1854. He subsequently engaged in the elevation of woman and kindred reforms in conjunction with Mrs. Stanton and Susan B. Anthony. In his later years he has been a student of theosophy, spiritism and other philosophical and psychological subjects. He is the author of Acts of the Anti-Slavery Apostles; and a large number of addresses and articles on various subjects. He resides in Concord, N. H.

PILSBURY, TIMOTHY, state senator, congressman, was born April 12, 1789, in Newbury, Mass. He settled in Maine; was appointed a member of the executive council; and also served in the state legislature. He went from Maine to Ohio, thence to Louisiana, and finally to Texas. He served a number of years in the senate and house of representatives of Texas; and when that republic came into the union he was elected a representative in congress from 1846 to 1849. He died Nov. 23, 1858, near Danville, Texas.

PINCHBACK, PINCKNEY BENTON STEWART, journalist, state senator, was born May 10, 1827, in Macon, Ga. He is of African descent; was a member of the constitutional convention of 1867; state senator in 1868; and in 1870 established the New Orleans Louisianian.

PINCKNEY, CHARLES, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1758 in Charleston, S. C. He served in the provincial legislature; and was a member of the provincial congress in 1785. In 1787 he was a delegate to the convention which framed the constitution of the United States, and signed that instrument. He was governor of South Carolina from 1789 to 1792, and from 1796 to 1798. He was a senator in congress from 1798 to 1801; and in 1801 was appointed minister to Spain, holding that position until 1805. He served in the state legislature in 1810 and 1812; and was a representative in congress from 1819 to 1821. He died Oct. 29, 1824, in Charleston, S. C.

PINCKNEY, CHARLES COTESWORTH soldier, lawyer, jurist, public official, author, was born Feb. 25, 1746, in Charleston, S. C. He was a member of the first provincial congress of South Carolina in 1775; and was a captain, and soon after colonel of the first South Carolina regiment. In 1779 he was president of the South Carolina senate; and defended Charleston against General Provoost. He was a member of the convention which framed the federal constitution. He was major-general of state militia; and in 1796 was minister to France. On his return home he was made major-general; was a candidate for the vice-presidency in 1800; and was the author of the famous sentiment: Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute. He died Aug. 16, 1825, in Charleston, S. C.

PINCKNEY, CHARLES COTESWORTH, clergyman, author, was born July 31, 1812, in Charleston, S. C. He is an episcopal clergyman of Charleston; and the author of Life of General Thomas Pinckney.

PINCKNEY, HENRY LAURENS, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Sept. 24, 1794, in Charleston, S. C. He was a member of the South Carolina legislature from 1816 to 1832; and was mayor of Charleston in 1832, and in 1839 and 1840. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1833 to 1837; and was subsequently collector of the port, and a member of the legislature. He was editor of the Charleston Mercury in 1819; and was a prominent leader in the state rights party. He was the author of Memoirs of Jonathan Maxey; Robert Y. Hayne; and Andrew Jackson. He died Feb. 3, 1863, in Charleston, S. C.

PINCKNEY, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Oct. 23, 1750, in Charleston, S. C. He was governor of South Carolina from 1787 to 1789; was minister to Great Britain from 1792 to 1794; and in the latter year went on a mission to Spain, where he made the treaty of St. Ildefonso, securing to the United States the free navigation of the Mississippi. In 1796 he returned to Charleston; and was elected a representative in congress from 1799 to 1801. He died Nov. 2, 1828, in Charleston, S. C.

PINDALL, JAMES, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1820, when he resigned.

PINDAR, JOHN S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1835, in Sharon, N. Y. In 1868 he was elected the first police justice of the village of Cobleskill, N. Y. In 1872 he was elected trustee of the village, in which position he continued to serve until 1882, when he was elected president of the village; and was annually twice re-elected. In 1884 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to fill a vacancy in the fifty-first congress.

PINDAR, SUSAN, author, was born about 1820 in Tarrytown, N. Y. She is the author of Susan Pindar's Story Books; and Legends of the Flowers.

PINGREE, HAZEN S., merchant, governor, was born Aug. 30, 1842, in Denmark, Maine. He was elected mayor of Detroit in 1886 and served three successive terms. He was elected governor of Michigan in 1896.

PINGREE, SAMUEL EVERETT, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Aug. 2, 1832, in Salisbury, N. H. He was twice elected state's attorney for Windsor county, Vt.; and in 1882 was elected lieutenant-governor of Vermont, serving two years. In 1884 he was elected governor of Vermont for a term of two years.

PINKERTON, ALFRED S., lawyer, was born March 19, 1856, in Lancaster, Pa. In 1886 he was elected a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives; and in 1890 was elected to the state senate.

PINKERTON, ALLAN, detective, author, was born Aug. 25, 1819, in Scotland. He is a chartist who came to America in 1842 and settled in Chicago, where he founded a famous detective agency. He was the author of The Molly Maguires and the Detectives; Criminal Reminiscences; The Spy of the Rebellion; Thirty Years a Detective; and Railroad Forgers and the Detectives. He died July 1, 1884, in Chicago, Ill.

PINKLEY, VIRGIL A., orator, poet, was born Feb. 18, 1852, in Girard, Ill. He is the director of elocution and oratory in the college of Music of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of a standard work entitled Essentials of Elocution and Oratory; and a volume of poems.

PINKNEY, FREDERICK, lawyer, journalist, poet, was born Oct. 14, 1804, at sea. He was deputy attorney-general of Maryland, and assistant editor of the Maryland, and subsequently of the Baltimore Patriot. During the civil war he published poems and songs that became popular. He died June 13, 1873.

PINKNEY, NINIAN, soldier, author, was born in 1776 in Baltimore, Md. He became captain in 1807, was major of the fifth infantry, and aide to Gen. James Wilkinson in 1813, became lieutenant-colonel in 1814, and in 1820 was promoted colonel. He was the author of a book entitled Travels in the South of France and in the Interior of the Provinces of Provence and Languedoc by a Route Never Before Performed. He died Dec. 16, 1825, in Baltimore, Md.

PINKNEY, NINIAN, surgeon, was born June 7, 1811, in Annapolis, Md. He entered the United States navy as assistant surgeon in 1834, became surgeon in 1841, and became medical director with the rank of commodore in 1871. He died Dec. 15, 1877, near Easton, Md.

PINKNEY, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born March 17, 1764, in Annapolis, Md. He was a member of the convention which ratified the federal constitution; and from 1789 to 1792 was a representative in congress. In 1795 he was a member of the state legislature. In 1806 he was envoy extraordinary to England, and in 1808 was made minister plenipotentiary. He settled in Baltimore in 1811; was soon after a member of the state senate; and in 1811 was attorney-general. He was a representative in congress in 1815 and 1816; and was then made minister to Russia and envoy to Naples. In 1819 he was elected a member of the United States senate, and continued in that station until his death. He died Feb. 25, 1822, in Washington, D. C.

PINKNEY, WILLIAM, bishop, was born April 17, 1810, in Annapolis, Md. He was the fifth protestant episcopal bishop of Maryland. He died July 4, 1883.

PINNELL, ETHAN ALLEN, educator, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 17, 1834, in Crawford county, Mo. He received his education in the public schools of Missouri; and subsequently taught in the schools of Missouri and Illinois. He served four years in the confederate service as captain of company D, eighth regiment Missouri infantry. After the war he continued teaching until 1873. when he was admitted to the bar at Steelville, Mo. During 1882-86 he was judge of probate in his native county; and attained success as an able lawyer. In 1893 he moved to Florida, where he is a solicitor in chancery, abstractor of land titles, and successful lawyer at Bronson.

PINNEY, DANIEL H., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born June 2, 1837, in Albion, N. Y. He was a representative in the Illinois state legislature in 1876 and 1877; and in 1883 was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona.

PINNEY, LAURA YOUNG, author, poet, was born in Iowa. She is the author of a collection of poems entitled Within the Golden Gate.

PINNEY, NORMAN, clergyman, educator, author, was born Oct. 21, 1800, in Simsbury, Conn. In 1852 he was associated with Joseph Rindge in establishing a large boys' school, which was called the Collegiate institute of Mobile. He contributed poetry to periodicals, and was the author of a series of text-books, including First Book in French; Key to the Same; Progressive French Reader; and Practical French Reader. He died Oct. 1, 1862, in New Orleans, La.

PINTARD, LEWIS, merchant, was born Oct. 12, 1732, in New York city. He ranked as one of the great merchants of his time, and was one of the incorporators of the chamber of commerce, which was established by George III in 1770 and by the New York legislature in 1784. He died March 25, 1818, in Princeton, N. J.

PIPER, RICHARD UPTON, physician, author, was born April 3, 1818, in Stratham, N. H. He is a Chicago physician; and the author of Operative Surgery; and The Trees of America.

PIPER, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1811 to 1813.

PIPER, WILLIAM A., soldier, congressman, was born in 1825 in Franklin county, Pa. He moved to California in 1849, in San Francisco. In 1874 he was elected a representative from California to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

PIRCE, WILLIAM A., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1824, in Scituate, R. I. In 1855 he was elected a state senator; and in 1858 and again in 1862 was elected a representative in the Rhode Island legislature. In 1862 he was appointed assessor of internal revenue for the second district of Rhode Island, which position he held until the office was abolished in 1873. In 1879 he was again elected a member of the state house of representatives, and was re-elected in 1880 and 1881. In 1882 he was again elected state senator. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Rhode Island to the forty-ninth congress.

PIRTLE, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Nov. 5, 1798, in Washington county, Ky. In 1825 he was appointed a judge of the general court to fill a vacancy. He was chancellor of the Louisville chancery court and professor of constitutional law, equity, and commercial law in the university of Louisville in 1846-68. He published Digest of the Decisions of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky. He died March 28, 1880, in Louisville, Ky.

PISE, CHARLES CONSTANTINE, clergyman, author, was born in 1802 in Annapolis, Md. He was a once prominent Roman catholic clergyman of Brooklyn; and the author of History of the Church to the Reformation; The Acts of the Apostles in Blank Verse; Father Rowland; Indian Cottage, a Unitarian Story; The Pleasures of Religion, and Other Poems; Horæ Vagabundæ; Alethia; Zenosis; Letters to Ada; Lives of St. Ignatius and His First Companions; Notes on a Protestant Catechism; and Christianity and the Church. He died May 26, 1866, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PITCHER, JAMES, clergyman, educator, author, was born Oct. 11, 1845, near the village of Knox, N. Y. He received a thorough education and the degree of A. M. was conferred upon him by the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y., and the degree of D. D. by the Hartwick seminary, in which latter institution he was principal for nineteen years, and in 1891 was made professor of English and natural sciences. He is the author of Outlines of Surveying and Navigation; The Hermit of Moss Pond, in rhyme; Rip Van Winkle, in rhyme; and other works.

PITCHER, JAMES ROBERTSON, financier, was born March 5, 1845, in Windham, N. Y. In 1877 he founded the United States Mutual Accident association.

PITCHER, NATHANIEL, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born in 1777 in Litchfield, Conn. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1806, 1815, 1816, and 1817; and was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1821. In 1828 he was lieutenant-governor and acting governor of the state; and was subsequently commissioner to survey the state roads. He was representative in congress from New York from 1819 to 1823, and again from 1831 to 1833. He died May 25, 1836, in Sandy Hill, N. Y.

PITCHER, THOMAS GAMBLE, soldier, was born Oct. 23, 1824, in Rockport, Ind. During 1871-77 he was governor of the soldiers' home at Washington, D. C.; and during 1880-87 was superintendent of the New York State Soldiers' and Sailors' home.

PITCHER, ZINA, physician, was born April 12, 1797, in Sandy Hill, N. Y. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the United States army in 1822; and surgeon with rank of major in 1832. He was a regent of the university of Michigan in 1837-52. He died April 5, 1872, in Detroit, Mich.

PITKIN, ALFRED HENRY, educator, lawyer, clergyman, was born Sept. 4, 1867, in Watson, Ill. After receiving the rudiments of his education in the public schools, he attended McKendree college of Lebanon, Ill. For many years he was engaged in educational work, and was professor of the Shumway High school. He was next admitted to the bar, and practiced that profession with success. He is now a successful clergyman of the methodist episcopal church at Odin, Ill.; and has filled pastorates in various other cities. He has attained success in rebuilding churches and parsonages; has received the degree of Ph. D.; is an orator of great power; and prominent in the Epworth league of southern Illinois.

PITKIN, FREDERICK WALKER, governor, was born Aug. 31, 1837, in Manchester, Conn. In 1878 he was elected governor of Colorado, and re-elected to this office in 1880 as a republican. He died Dec. 18, 1886, in Pueblo, Colo.

PITKIN, TIMOTHY, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Jan. 21, 1766, in Farmington, Conn. He was for several years a member of the Connecticut legislature; and was speaker of the house during five sessions. He was a representative in congress from 1805 to 1819. He was the author of Statistical View of the Commerce of the United States; and Political and Civil History of the United States from 1763 to the Close of Washington's Administration. He died Dec. 18, 1847, in New Haven, Conn.

PITKIN, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1664 in Hartford, Conn. He was judge of the county and probate courts and of the court of assistants in Connecticut from 1702 till 1711 when the superior court was established in place of the court of assistants, and of which he was chief justice in 1713. This office was held by four successive generations of William Pitkins. He died April 3, 1723, in Hartford, Conn.

PITKIN, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born April 30, 1694, in Hartford, Conn. He was a member of the council in 1734; and was appointed a judge of the state court of Connecticut in 1741. He was lieutenant-governor and chief justice from 1754 to 1766; and in 1754 was one of the delegates to the convention at Albany. He was governor of Connecticut from 1766 to 1769. He died Oct. 1, 1769, in Hartford, Conn.

PITMAN, BENN, author, educator, art critic, was born July 22, 1822, in Trowbridge, England. In 1857, after four years of experimenting he was the first to perfect the modern method of producing and printing from relief copper plates. For this he received a silver medal from the Art and Manufacturers' exposition. During 1873-93 he was a lecturer on art and teacher of practical art in the Cincinnati Art academy. He is the author of The Reporter's Companion; Manual of Phonography; and Phonographic Dictionary.

PITMAN, CHARLES W., congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1849 to 1851.

PITMAN, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1784 in Rhode Island. He was for forty years a judge of the United States district court in his state. He died Nov. 17, 1864, in Providence, R. I.

PITMAN, MRS. MARIE J. [DAVIS], journalist, author, was born March 17, 1850, in Hartwick, N. Y. She was a journalist and correspondent of Boston who published European Breezes and a number of juvenile stories. She died Nov. 30, 1888, in Hartwick, N. Y.

PITNEY, MAHLON, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1858, in Morristown, N. J. He is a successful lawyer of Morristown, N. J. In 1894 he was elected to the fifty-fourth congress; was re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

PITRAT, JULIUS E., manufacturer, inventor, was born Dec. 26, 1817, in Lyons, France. He emigrated to the United States in 1839; during 1885-88 he invented the computing scale.

PITTENGER, WILLIAM, soldier, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1840, in Knoxville, Ohio. He is a methodist clergyman and educator of Philadelphia, a federal soldier during the civil war; and the author of Daring and Suffering; Oratory, Sacred and Secular; and Extempore Speech.

PITTS, EDMUND LEVI, lawyer, state senator, was born May 23, 1839, in Yates, N. Y. He was a member of the New York assembly from 1864 till 1868, and its speaker in 1867. From 1869 till 1873 he was United States assessor of internal revenue. He was a state senator from 1880 till 1887, serving as president pro tempore in 1886-87.

PITTS, JOHN, state senator, congressman, was born in 1738 in Boston, Mass. He was selectman of Boston from 1773 till 1778; represented the city in several provincial congresses; and was speaker of the house in 1778, and afterward state senator. He died in 1815 in Tyngsboro.

PITTSINGER, MRS. ELIZA A., poet, was born March 18, 1837, in Westhampton, Mass. She commenced life as a school teacher, then became a proofreader and reviewer in Boston. She moved to California, where she attracted attention by her stirring war songs and poems written during the civil war. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Bugle Peals; and her poems have been included in Poets of America, and several other standard collections.

PITZER, ALEXANDER WHITE, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 14, 1834, in Salem, Mass. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Washington, professor of biblical literature in Howard university from 1875; and the author of Ecce Deus Homo; Christ the Teacher of Men; The New Life and Not the Higher Life; Confidence in Christ; and other works.

PLAISTED, HARRIS MERRILL, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 2, 1828, in Jefferson, N. H. In 1861 he entered the volunteer service as lieutenant-colonel; and became a major-general by brevet. He served two years in the New Hampshire legislature; and was attorney-general for Maine from 1873 to 1875. He was elected a representative from that state to the forty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy. He was governor of Maine from 1881 to 1883.

PLANT, DAVID, state senator, congressman, was born in Stratford, Conn. In 1819 and 1820 he was speaker of the state house of representatives; in 1821 a member of the state senate; and was twice re-elected. From 1823 to 1827 he was lieutenant-governor of the state; and from 1827 to 1829 was a representative in congress from Connecticut. He died Oct. 18, 1851.

PLANT, HENRY BRADLEY, president of the Plant system, was born Oct. 27, 1819, in Branford, Conn. He is president of the Plant system of railway and steamship lines and of the Southern and the Texas Express companies.

PLANTEN, JOHN RUTGER, diplomat, was born Nov. 30, 1835, in Amsterdam, Netherlands. He attended the primary school in the Netherlands; the Columbia grammar schools of New York city; and the Columbia college. During 1874-84 he was vice-consul of the Netherlands; and since 1884 has been consul-general of the Netherlands.

PLANTS, TOBIAS A., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 17, 1811, in Beaver county, Pa. He was a member of the Ohio legislature from 1858 to 1861. In 1864 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fortieth congress as a republican.

PLASSMANN, ERNST, artist, was born June 14, 1823, in Sondern, Westphalia. He executed many models for statuettes and ornamental metal work, and gained several medals at the American institute for his work in woodcarving and plaster models. He published Modern Gothic Ornaments, with thirty-three plates. He died Nov. 28, 1877, in New York city.

PLATER, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in 1736 in St. Mary's county, Md. He was judge of the Maryland court of appeals; and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1778 to 1781. He was president of the convention which ratified the federal constitution; and was governor of Maryland in 1792. He died Feb. 10, 1792, in Annapolis, Md.

PLATER, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1801 to 1805.

PLATT, CHARLES ADAMS, artist, was born Oct. 16, 1861, in New York city. He has given much attention to etching, in which branch of art he has been very successful. His works include Interior of Fishhouses; Fishing Boats; Provincial Fishing Village; Old Houses Near Bruges; Deventer, Holland; Quai des Orfèvres, Paris; and Dieppe.

PLATT, CHARLES DAVIS, educator, author, was born March 18, 1856, in Elizabeth, N. J. He has been principal of the Morris academy at Morristown, N. J., since 1883. He is the author of a volume entitled Ballads of New Jersey in the Revolution.

PLATT, FRANKLIN, geologist, author, was born Nov. 19, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a Pennsylvania geologist, president of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal company from 1881; and the author of Coke Manufacturing; Waste in Mining Anthracite; and other volumes of geological reports.

PLATT, JAMES H., soldier, physician, banker, congressman, was born July 13, 1837, in Canada. He was elected a member of the constitutional convention of Virginia in 1867. He was president of the People's Savings bank of Petersburg; and was elected a representative to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican.

PLATT, JONAS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 30, 1769, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He was judge of the supreme court of New York; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1799 to 1801. He died Feb. 22, 1834, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

PLATT, ORVILLE HITCHCOCK, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born July 19, 1827, in Washington, Conn. He was clerk of the Connecticut state senate in 1855 and 1856; and was secretary of the state in 1857. He was a state senator in 1861 and 1862; and was a representative in the state legislature in 1864 and 1869, serving the latter year as speaker. He was elected a senator of the United States from Connecticut as a republican for the term of six years from March 4, 1879; in 1885 was re-elected for a second term, ending March 3, 1891; and was again elected in 1897 for term ending in 1903.

PLATT, THOMAS COLLIER, merchant, banker, congressman, United States senator, was born July 15, 1833, in Owego, N. Y. He was president of the Tioga National bank at its organization; and became largely interested in the lumbering business in Michigan. He was county clerk of the county of Tioga in 1859, 1860, and 1861; and was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses. He was elected United States senator in 1881, and resigned that office

May 16 of the same year; and was chosen secretary and director of the United States Express company in 1879, and in 1880 was elected president of the company. He was member and president of the board of quarantine commissioners of New York from 1880 till 1888. He was president of the Southern Central railroad. He was elected United States senator in 1896, and took his seat March 4, 1897. His term of service will expire March 3, 1903.

PLATT, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, author, was born April 16, 1821, in Amenia, N. Y. He is an episcopal clergyman of Rochester, N. Y., and more recently of Petersburg, Va. He is the author of Influence of Religion in the Development of Jurisprudence; After Death—What?; God Out and Man In; and The Philosophy of the Supernatural.

PLATT, ZEPHANIAH, congressman, was born in 1740 in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a delegate from New York to the continental congress from 1784 to 1786.

PLATT, ZEPHANIAH, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1796 in Plattsburg, N. Y. He was appointed by the United States government its attorney to settle its claims on the Pacific coast. He was state attorney-general of Michigan for several years, and took high rank at the bar. He removed to South Carolina at the close of the civil war, and from 1868 until his death was judge of the second circuit. He died April 20, 1871, in Aiken, S. C.

PLAUTZ, SAMUEL, clergyman, college president, was born June 13, 1859, in Gloversville, N. Y. For many years he filled a pastorate in Detroit; and is now the president of the Lawrence university of Appleton, Wis.

PLEASANTON, AUGUSTUS JAMES, soldier, author, was born in 1808 in District of Columbia. He was an army officer prominent for a short time as the author of a work on the Influence of the Blue Ray in Developing Animal and Vegetable Life. He died in 1894.

PLEASANTS, JAMES, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born Oct. 24, 1769, in Goochland county, Va. He was a representative in congress from 1811 to 1819; and was United States senator from 1819 to 1822. He was governor of Virginia from 1822 to 1825. He died Nov. 9, 1836, in Goochland county, Va.

PLEASANTS, JOHN HAMPDEN, journalist, was born Jan. 4, 1797, in Goochland county, Va. He removed to Richmond, Va., and in 1824 founded the Constitutional Whig and Public Advertiser, and was its chief editor for twenty-two years. He died Feb. 27, 1846, in Richmond, Va.

PLEASANTON, ALFRED, soldier, was born June 7, 1824, in Washington, D. C. In 1844 he graduated from the United States Military academy. He took part in the Mexican war; served on frontier duty; and was an adjutant-general in the Seminole war. In 1861 he was appointed major; in 1862 was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers; and subsequently became a major-general. He participated in the numerous actions that preceded the battle of Gettysburg, and was commander-in-chief of the cavalry in that engagement. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of the United States army. In 1868 he became United States collector of internal revenue; and a few years later was appointed president of the Terre Haute and Cincinnati railroad.

PLOWMAN, THOMAS SCALES, soldier, merchant, banker, congressman, was born June 8, 1843. After the war he engaged in the mercantile business; and was three times mayor of Talladega, Ala. For a number of years he has been president of the First National bank of Talladega, which he organized. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

PLUMB, CHARLES SUMNER, educator, author, was born April 21, 1860, in Westfield, Mass. He has been professor of agriculture in various institutions; and since 1890 with the Purdue university of La Fayette, Ind. He is the author of A Biographical Directory of American Agricultural Scientists; Indian Corn Culture; and during 1887-91 edited and published a monthly magazine entitled Agricultural Science.

PLUMB, PRESTON B., soldier, journalist, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Oct. 12, 1837, in Berkshire, Ohio. In 1856 he moved to Kansas; and the following year was instrumental in laying out the town site of Emporia; and founded The Kansas News. In 1851 he was a member of the Leavenworth constitutional convention; was admitted to the bar in 1861; and served with distinction through the civil war, attaining the rank of colonel. In 1867-68 he was a representative in the state legislature; and in 1877 became a United States senator from Kansas; and was re-elected in 1883 and in 1888. For fifteen years he was president of the Emporia National bank. He died Dec. 20, 1891, in Washington, D. C.

PLUMB, RALPH, soldier, merchant, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 29, 1816, in Busti, N. Y. In 1854 he was elected a representative in the Ohio state legislature and served three sessions. He was brevetted lieutenant-colonel for long and meritorious service in the civil war. In 1866 he moved to Illinois; and in 1882 was elected mayor of Streator without an opposing vote, and continued in that office until 1885. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican.

PLUMER, ARNOLD, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1843. He was subsequently appointed United States marshal for the western district of Pennsylvania.

PLUMER, GEORGE, congressman, was born in Allegheny county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1821 to 1827.

PLUMER, WILLIAM, lawyer, state legislator, governor, United States senator, was born June 25, 1759, in Newburyport, Mass. He was for many years solicitor for the county of Rockingham; was for eight years a member of the state legislature, two years speaker of the house; and served as a member and president of the state senate. He was a senator in congress from 1802 to 1807; and was governor of New Hampshire in 1813, and from 1816 to 1819. He died June 22, 1850, in Epping, N. H.

PLUMER, WILLIAM, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, author, poet, was born Oct. 9, 1789, in Epping, N. H. He frequently served in the state legislature; and was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1819 to 1825. He was an active congressional opponent of slavery; and the author of Lyra Sacra; and A Pastoral on the Story of Ruth. He died Sept. 18, 1854, in Epping, N. H.

PLUMER, WILLIAM SWAN, educator, clergyman, author, was born July 25, 1802, in Griersburg (now Darlington), Pa. He was a presbyterian clergyman of extreme Calvinistic views, and professor of theology in the Theological seminary at Columbia, S. C., in 1856-80. His principal writings include, Pastoral Theology; Jehovah-jireh; Studies in the Book of Psalms; The Book of Our Salvation: Words of Truth and Love; The Saint and The Sinner; Vital Godliness; Commentary on Romans; and A Word to the Weary. He died in 1880.

PLUMLEY, BENJAMIN RUSH, author, was born March 10, 1816, in Newton, Pa. During the civil war he served on the staff of Gen. John C. Fremont, and subsequently he was on that of Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks. He afterward settled in Galveston, Texas. His works include Kathaleen McKinley, the Kerry Girl; Rachel Lockwood; Lays of the Quakers, which appeared in the Knickerbocker; and Oriental Ballads, in the Atlantic Monthly. He died Dec. 9, 1887, in Galveston, Texas.

PLUMLEY, GARDINER S., clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 11, 1827, in Washington, D. C. For many years he has edited The Learner and Teacher of New York City. He has composed numerous hymns; and is the author of a volume of poems.

PLUMMER, FRANKLIN E., lawyer, jurist, congressman. He was at one time a judge of the circuit court of Mississippi; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1831 to 1835. He died Sept. 24, 1852, in Jackson, Miss.

PLUMMER, JOSEPH B., soldier, was born Aug. 10, 1820, in Barre, Mass. He served in Florida, on the western frontier, and in the Mexican war, became lieutenant in 1848, and captain in 1852. He was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers, and became major of infantry in 1862. He died Aug. 9, 1862, near Corinth, Miss.

PLUMMER, WILLIAM A., lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 2, 1865, in Gilmanston, N. H. He attended the Gilmanton academy, Dartmouth college, and the Boston University School of Law. In 1893 he served with distinction as a representative in the New Hampshire legislature. He is now a prominent lawyer of Laconia, N. H., and a member of the board of education of that city. He is a member of the national democratic state committee; and in 1896 was alternate delegate to the national democratic convention.

PLUMSTED, CLEMENT, mayor of Philadelphia, was born in 1680 in Philadelphia. He came to Philadelphia about the time he attained his majority, became a successful merchant, and its mayor. He died May 26, 1745, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PLUNKETT, JOSEPH DANIEL, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born July 5, 1842, in Ireland. He served as a soldier during the civil war. He entered into the active practice of law in New Haven, Conn. During 1883-84 he represented his district in the general assembly of Connecticut.

PLYMPTON, GEORGE WASHINGTON, civil engineer, journalist, author, was born Nov. 18, 1827, in Waltham, Mass. He is a civil engineer of note, editor of Van Nostrand's Engineering Magazine in 1870-86; and the author of The Blow-pipe; The Starfinder; and The Aneroid.

POCAHONTAS, Indian heroine, was born in 1594. She was a daughter of Powhatan, an Indian chief of Virginia. She saved the life of Capt. John Smith, who was condemned to death by her father. She subsequently married Thomas Rolfe; accompanied her husband to England, where she was presented to court. She died a year later, at the age of twenty-three, leaving one son. This son was educated in England; afterward returned to Virginia; became wealthy and distinguished; and from whom have descended several well-known families of that state. She died in 1617.

POE, CASWELL T., physician, surgeon, poet, was born March 27, 1830, in Richmond, Va. For nearly half a century he has followed his profession of physician and surgeon, and for the past quarter of a century has practiced in Grand Island, Neb. He was city physician for six terms; county physician for nine years; and medical director of St. Frances hospital for five years; voluntarily resigning each of these positions because of his advanced age. He is a descendant of the Poe family of which Edgar Allan Poe was a member. Dr. Poe is the author of a number of poems of merit which have been given a place in several standard collections.

POE, EDGAR ALLAN, author, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1809, in Boston, Mass. At nineteen he published his first volume, Tamerlane, and Other Poems. He led a wandering, dissipated life, editing at various times Graham's Magazine, The Southern Literary Messenger, and other periodicals, and died of delirium tremens in Baltimore. Among his prose tales, The Gold Bug; The Fall of the House of Usher; and Ligeia, are especially characteristic of his genius, while such poems as The Bells, The Raven, Annabel Lee, display wonderful melody and perfect mastery of metre. Beside Tamerlane, his writings include, The Conchologist's First Book; Eureka, a Prose Poem; The Raven, and Other Poems; Tales of the Grotesque and Arabesque; and The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym. The best edition of Poe is that edited by E. C. Steadman and G. E. Woodbury, in ten volumes. He died Oct. 7, 1849, in Baltimore, Md.

POE, ORLANDO METCALFE, soldier, was born March 7, 1832, in Navarre, Ohio. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious service during the civil war.

POEHLER, HENRY, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 22, 1833, in Germany. He was elected a representative in the first legislature of Minnesota after its admission as a state in 1857 and 1858, and again in 1865. He was a state senator in 1872 and 1873, and in 1876 and 1877; and was elected a representative from Minnesota to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

POINDEXTER, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born in 1779 in Louisa county, Va. He was made attorney-general of Mississippi; was a delegate to congress from the territory from 1807 to 1813, when he was appointed federal judge of the territory. He was a representative in congress from 1817 to 1819; was the second governor of Mississippi under the state constitution from 1819 to 1821; and was a United States senator from Mississippi from 1830 to 1835. He died Sept. 5, 1853, in Jackson, Miss.

POINSETT, JOEL ROBERTS, congressman, author, was born March 2, 1779, in Charleston, S. C. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1821 to 1825. He was appointed United States minister to Mexico; and was secretary of war under President Van Buren. He was a botanist of some note, the genus Poinsettia having been named in his honor; and the author of Notes on Mexico, made in 1822. He died Dec. 14, 1851, in Statesburg, S. C.

POLAND, JOHN SCROGGS, soldier, educator, author, was born Oct. 14, 1836, in Princeton, Ind. In 1886 he was promoted lieutenant-colonel of the twenty-first infantry. He has published Digest of the Military Laws of the United States.

POLAND, LUKE P., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 1, 1815, in Westford, Vt. In 1848 he was elected one of the judges of the supreme court of Vermont, which office he continued to hold by annual elections until 1865, when he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the United States senate. Just before his appointment to the United States senate he had been re-elected to the supreme bench, upon which he held the position of chief justice, to which he was promoted in 1860. He was subsequently elected a representative from Vermont to the fortieth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. He died July 2, 1887, in Waterville, Vt.

POLK, CHARLES, state senator, governor, was born in 1787 in Kent county, Del. He served in the Delaware state senate; was register of wills for a long time; and was collector of customs. He was twice governor of the state, once by election, and once by substitution as speaker of the senate. He died Oct. 28, 1857.

POLK, JAMES KNOX, eleventh president of the United States, was born Nov. 2, 1795, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. His ancestors' name was Pollock. In 1806 his father and family moved to Nashville, Tenn. James graduated at the university of North Carolina in 1818, and was admitted to the bar in 1820. In 1823 he was elected to the Tennessee legislature, and was a member of that body two years. In 1825 he was elected to the national house of representatives. He held the office by re-elections for fourteen years, and was chosen speaker of the house two terms. He was elected governor of Tennessee in 1839, and was a candidate for re-election in 1841, but was defeated. He was again a candidate for the same office in 1843, and was again defeated. On the 27th of May, 1844, the national democratic convention assembled at Baltimore. On the first ballot Martin Van Buren received 146 votes; Lewis Cass, 83; Richard Mentor Johnson, 24; John Caldwell Calhoun, 6, and 7 scattering. Mr. Van Buren received a majority, but a rule of the convention required a two-thirds vote to nominate. On the eighth ballot Van Buren received 104; Cass, 114; James Knox Polk, 44. On the ninth ballot the vote was unanimous for Mr. Polk. George Mifflin Dallas was nominated for vice-president. They were elected the coming autumn, and took the oath of office March 4, 1845. On the 3d of March, 1849, Mr. Polk's administration closed. He returned to his home in Nashville, and died June 15, 1849. Polk held office twenty-two years. He left about $150,000.

POLK, JEFFERSON SCOTT, lawyer, railway president, was born Feb. 18, 1831, near Georgetown, Ky. He received his education at the Georgetown college, and was admitted to the bar in 1854. In 1856 he moved to Des Moines, Iowa, where he engaged in the practice of law, and soon ranked with the ablest lawyers in the state. In 1885 he retired from the active practice of the law, and devoted his time and attention to his various personal interests; and has since then been engaged in promoting the building of various railroads leading into the city of Des Moines; in building other public improvements; and is largely interested in and president of the consolidated street railway system in the city of Des Moines.

POLK, JOHN A., farmer, legislator, was born March 12, 1829, in Nelson county, Ky. He has given much of his time to grange and farmers' institute work; and for two terms was a representative in the Indiana state legislature. He is president of the Indianapolis, Greenwood and Franklin Electric railroad.

POLK, LUCIUS EUGENE, soldier, state senator, was born July 10, 1833, in Salisbury, N. C. At the beginning of the civil war he entered the confederate army as a private under Gen. Patrick R. Cleburne, but was soon commissioned first lieutenant. He was rapidly promoted until he was made brigadier-general in 1862. In 1884 he was a delegate to the national democratic convention at Chicago, and in 1887 became a member of the senate of the state of Tennessee.

POLK, MILTON D., journalist, lawyer, legislator, was born March 29, 1858, in New Castle, Ind. His father was born in South Carolina, of the same family as James K. Polk. He received his education in the Nebraska state university. During 1888-89 he represented his county in the Nebraska state senate; has practiced law since 1890 in Plattsmouth, Neb.; and since 1891 has been editor and owner of the Daily News and the News-Herald of that city.

POLK, TRUSTEN, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born May 29, 1811, in Sussex county, Del. In 1856 he was elected governor of Missouri; and resigned for a seat in the United States senate, to which he was elected for a term of six years from March 4, 1857. He was expelled for disloyalty Jan. 10, 1862. He died April 16, 1876, in St. Louis, Mo.

POLK, WILLIAM, patriot, was born July 9, 1758, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. In 1787 he was elected a member of the general assembly; and in 1812 was appointed a brigadier-general in the regular army. He died Jan. 4, 1834, in Raleigh, N. C.

POLK, WILLIAM HAWKINS, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born May 24, 1815, in Maury county, Tenn. In 1841 and 1843 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee state legislature; and was appointed charge d' affaires to Naples, where he negotiated a treaty with the Two Sicilies. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1851 to 1853. He was a brother of President Polk. He died Dec. 16, 1862, in Nashville, Tenn.

POLLARD, EDWARD ALBERT, journalist, author, was born Feb. 27, 1828, in Nelson county, Va. He was a once noted journalist of Richmond, Va., and an active opponent of the policy of Jefferson Davis during the civil war. He was the author of Black Diamonds; Letters of the Southern Spy; Southern History of the War; Observations in the North; The Lost Cause; The Lost Cause Regained; Lee and his Lieutenants; Life of Jefferson Davis, with the Secret History of the Confederacy; and The Virginia Tourist. He died Dec. 12, 1872, in Lynchburg, Va.

POLLARD, HENRY M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 14, 1836, in Plymouth, Vt. In 1865 he moved to Chillicothe, Mo., and practiced law. He was elected to the forty-fifth congress.

POLLARD, HENRY RIVES, journalist, was born Aug. 29, 1833, in Nelson county, Va. In 1867 he established, with his brother, Southern Opinion, in Richmond, Va., of which he continued until his death one of the editors and proprietors. He died Nov. 24, 1868, in Richmond, Va.

POLLARD, JOSEPH GREELEY, manufacturer, legislator, was born Feb. 11, 1833, in Milton, N. H. He was a successful leather manufacturer in Woburn, Mass., but is not in active business now. During 1866-68 he was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives, and in 1869-70 was a member of the state senate.

POLLARD, JOSEPHINE, littérateur, author, was born about 1840 in New York city. She was a writer of New York city, whose work was mainly intended for juvenile readers. She was the author of The Gypsy Books; A Piece of Silver; Elfin Land; Vagrant Verses; Songs of Bird Life; The Decorative Sisters; The Boston Tea Party; and Gellivor, a Christmas Legend.

POLLOCK, AUGUSTUS, merchant, banker, was born July 5, 1830, in Westphalia. He emigrated to America in 1849; and in 1852 started in business for himself in Baltimore, Md. Two years later he moved his business to Wheeling, W. Va., which has since been his home. In 1860 he established a wholesale notion house in Wheeling, which he continued until 1871. He then founded a cigar and tobacco factory, which he still continues, employing regularly over one hundred hands in the production of Crown Stogie cigars. He has always been a leader in every movement that had for its object the development of the business interests of his adopted city. He had been president of the German bank; president of the West Virginia Tobacco company; a director in the German Insurance company, and other incorporations. During the civil war he encouraged the organization of the first German company of Wheeling volunteers in the union army, and enlisted himself in the home guards.

POLLOCK, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 11, 1810, in Milton, Pa. He was a judge of the court of common pleas; was a representative in congress from his native state from 1843 to 1849; and was governor of Pennsylvania from 1855 to 1858. He was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861; and in that year was appointed director of the United States mint in Philadelphia, serving as such until 1867. He died April 19, 1890, in Lock Haven, Pa.

POLLOCK, WILLIAM D., educator, lawyer, was born Oct. 24, 1862, in Onslow county, N. C. He received his education in the university of North Carolina; has been superintendent of public instruction, mayor of Kingston, N. C.; and chairman of the democratic executive committee of his county. He is a prominent lawyer of Kingston, N. C.

POLSLEY, DANIEL, agriculturist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1803, near Fairmont, Va. He was elected lieutenant-governor of the state, which position he held until West Virginia was admitted into the union. He was subsequently elected judge of the seventh judicial circuit for six years; and in 1866 was elected a representative from West Virginia to the fortieth congress as a republican.

POMEROY, BENJAMIN, clergyman, was born Nov. 19, 1704, in Suffield, Conn. He was ordained pastor on Dec. 16, 1735, in Hebron. During the French and Indian war he was chaplain to the American army, and he filled a like office during the revolutionary war. He was active in the movement that led to the founding of Dartmouth college, becoming one of its first trustees. He died Dec. 22, 1784, in Hebron, Conn.

POMEROY, CHARLES, lawyer, banker, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1825, in Meriden, Conn. He became president of the national bank in Fort Dodge, Iowa. He was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-first congress as a republican.

POMEROY, JOHN NORTON, educator, lawyer, author, was born April 12, 1828, in Rochester, N. Y. He was a lawyer of Rochester, N. Y., but subsequently professor of law in the university of California in 1878-85. He was the author of Introduction to Municipal Law; Remedies and Remedial Rights; Specific Performance of Contract; Equity Jurisprudence; Riparian Rights; Introduction to United States Constitutional Law; and Lectures on International Law in Time of Peace. He died Feb. 15, 1885, in San Francisco, Cal.

POMEROY, MARCUS MILLS, journalist, author, was born Dec. 25, 1833, in Elmira, N. Y. He was a journalist successively of La Crosse, Wis.; New York city, and Chicago. He was the author of Sense; Nonsense; Gold Dust; Brick Dust; Our Saturday Nights; Home Harmonies; and Perpetual Money. He died in 1896.

POMEROY, SAMUEL CLARKE, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Jan. 3, 1816, in Southampton, Mass. He was elected to the legislature of Massachusetts in 1852. He moved to Kansas; and in 1861 took his seat in the United States senate from Kansas for six years. He was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1873; and subsequently settled in Washington city.

POMEROY, SETH, soldier, was born May 20, 1706, in Northampton, Mass. He was an ardent patriot, and in 1774-75 served as a delegate to the provincial congress, by which he was elected a general officer in 1774, and brigadier-general in 1775. He died Feb. 19, 1777, in Peekskill.

POMEROY, THEODORE MEDAD, lawyer, banker, congressman, was born Dec. 31, 1824, in Cayuga, N. Y. During 1851-56 he was district attorney of Cayuga county, N. Y.; a member of the assembly of the New York state legislature in 1857; and a member of the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, and fortieth congresses during 1861-69, being speaker of the house in 1869. In 1875-76 he was mayor of the city of Auburn, N. Y.; was a state senator in 1878-79; and has taken an active part in the public and political affairs of his state.

POND, BENJAMIN, state legislator, congressman. He served four years in the assembly of New York from Essex county. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1811 to 1813; and was re-elected. He died in June, 1815, in Schroom, N. Y.

POND, C. H., governor. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Connecticut in 1853; and was subsequently acting governor of the state for almost one year.

POND, CHESTER PRATT, educator, author, poet, was born Nov. 10, 1827, in Venango county, Pa. In 1857 he opened the business school in Kansas at Leavenworth. For fifty years he has been a business college teacher; and now conducts a private school of business in Topeka. He is the author of several prose works, and a volume of poems.

POND, ENOCH, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born July 29, 1791, in Wrentham, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman, professor in the Theological seminary at Bangor, Maine, from 1832, and its president from 1856. He was the author of Text-Book of Ecclesiastical History; Pastoral Theology; Memoir of Zinzendorf; Life of Increase Mather; Plato: his Life, Works, Opinions, and Influence; Christian Theology; and History of God's Church. He died Jan. 21, 1882, in Bangor, Maine.

POND, FREDERICK EUGENE, author, was born April 8, 1856, in Backwaukee, Wis. He is a sporting writer and editor of Chicago; and the author of Handbook for Young Sportsmen; Memoirs of Eminent Sportsmen; and Gun Trial and Field Records of America.

POND, GEORGE EDWARD, journalist, author, was born March 11, 1837, in Boston, Mass. He is a journalist of New York and Philadelphia, editor of The Army and Navy Journal; and the author of The Shenandoah Valley in 1864.

POND, JAMES BURTON, soldier, lecture manager, was born June 11, 1838, in Cuba, N. Y. He served in the civil war; attained for gallant services the rank of major. After the civil war he entered into the mercantile business; and is now a lecture manager.

POND, SAMUEL WILLIAM, missionary, author, was born April 10, 1808, in Washington, Conn. He is a congregational missionary to the Indians in Minnesota; and the author of History of Joseph in the Dakota Language; and Wonapi Inonpa, the Second Dakota Reading Book.

POND, WILLIAM ADAMS, soldier, music-publisher, was born Oct. 6, 1824, in Albany, N. Y. He became well known as a publisher, and at the time of his death was president of the United States Music Publishers' association. He died Aug. 12, 1885, in New York city.

PONDER, JAMES, merchant, state senator, governor, was born Oct. 31, 1819, in Milton, Del. In 1856 he was elected a representative to the Delaware legislature; and in 1864 was elected state senator, and in 1867 became speaker of that body. In 1870 he was elected governor of Delaware for the term ending in 1875.

POOK, SAMUEL HARTT, naval constructor, was born Jan. 17, 1827, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1842 he became a naval architect, and in 1866 was appointed constructor in the United States navy.

POOK, SAMUEL MOORE, naval constructor, was born Aug. 15, 1804, in Boston, Mass. He was the inventor of numerous devices connected with his profession, and wrote A Method of Comparing the Lines; and Draughting Vessels Propelled by Sail or Steam. He died Dec. 2, 1878, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

POOL, CHARLES C., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1845 in Elizabeth City, N. C. He was a member of the state constitutional convention in 1868, and in 1870 was elected a judge of the superior court of the state of North Carolina. He was twice elected a member of congress, and in 1896 became mayor of his native city.

POOL, JOHN, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 16, 1826, in Pasquotank county, N. C. He was elected to the North Carolina state senate in 1856 and 1858; and was again chosen to the state senate as a peace candidate. He took a leading part in the movements for peace. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1865, and was again elected to the senate. In 1865 he was elected a senator in congress from North Carolina, but was not admitted; and in 1868 was re-elected to the same position for the term ending in 1873. He died Aug. 18, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

POOL, MARIA LOUISE, author, was born in 1845 in Massachusetts. She was a novelist of Rockland, Mass., for many years a writer for the New York Tribune; and the author of In Buncombe County; A Vacation in a Buggy; Tenting at Stony Beach; Dolly; Roweny in Boston; Mrs. Keats Bradford; Out of Step; The Two Salomes; Katharine North; Mrs. Gerald; Against Human Nature; In a Dike Shanty; In the First Person; and Boss and Other Dogs.

POOL, WALTER F., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1850, in Elizabeth City, N. C. He was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-eighth congress. He died Aug. 25, 1883, in Elizabeth City, N. C.

POOLE, DANIEL, soldier, manufacturer, inventor, was born June 10, 1797, in Abington, Mass. He was the inventor and patentee of shoe nails, and other valuable nails and tacks, which he manufactured in Philadelphia, Pa. About 1827 he invented and patented a cracker machine, and also a spinning jenny. He also invented a dredging machine, brick-making machinery, and a quartz crusher. He died March 5, 1864, at Mt. Carmel, Ill., of which city he was mayor in 1854.

POOLE, EDWARD, colonist, was born in 1609 in Weymouth, England. In 1639 he came to America and founded Weymouth, Mass. He was a large landed proprietor, an influential man, and died in 1664.

POOLE, EDWARD VALENTINE, banker, was born April 3, 1826, in Philadelphia, Pa. He founded the First National bank of Pittston, Pa., and the Home Savings bank of South Waverly, Pa. He was captain of an independent military company. He died Oct. 6, 1887, in Wyoming, Del.

POOLE, FITCH, journalist, librarian, state legislator, author, poet, was born June 13, 1803, in Danvers, Mass. He edited the Danvers Wizard from its establishment in 1859 till 1868. He was the founder of the Mechanics' Institute library, which afterward became the Peabody institute, and he was its librarian from 1856 till his death. He was in the legislature in 1841-42, and held several local offices. He was the author of numerous satirical ballads that attained popularity, the best known of which was Giles Corey's Dream. He died Aug. 19, 1873, in Peabody, Mass.

POOLE, MRS. HESTER MARTHA [HUNT], author, was born in 1843 in Vermont. She is a writer living at Metuchen, N. J., who has written much for periodicals on social and domestic topics; and the author of Fruits and How to Use Them.

POOLE, JAMES EARL, lawyer, journalist, was born Sept. 10, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served as mayor of Weimar, Tex., for two terms; in 1880 he was prosecuting attorney of his county; and in 1884-90 was county judge for three terms. He is the editor and owner of the Free Press of Haskell, Tex.

POOLE, MURRAY EDWARD, lawyer, author, was born July 17, 1857, in Centre Moreland, Pa. He attended the Wyoming seminary, and in 1880 graduated from the Cornell university with the degree of A. B. In 1889 he was admitted to the bar; and the same year was appointed special county judge by Governor David B. Hill. He is the author of the History of Edward Poole of Weymouth, Mass.;

and His Descendants; and has contributed to several cyclopedias and numerous leading newspapers and magazines. He is a member of the American Historical association, the American Bar association, Society of the Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, Military Society of Foreign Wars, Society of the War of 1812, and over eighty other historical and learned societies in the United States and foreign countries.

POOLE, SAMUEL, legislator, was born in 1790 in Weymouth, Mass. He was one of the original settlers of Abington, Mass., and the first representative of that place to the general court in 1735, in which he served several successive years. He died in 1785.

POOLE, SAMUEL, JR., patriot of the revolutionary war, was born Sept. 18, 1813, in Abington, Mass. He was a representative to the general court in 1765, and 1778-80, and a member of the first state constitutional convention of 1879. He died April 28, 1796, in Plainfield, Mass.

POOLE, SAMUEL, soldier, farmer, was born Aug. 27, 1736, in Abington, Mass. He was a soldier in the old French and Indian wars, and became a second-lieutenant in the revolutionary war, in which he served five years. He died Dec. 19, 1830, at Easton, Mass.

POOLE, STEPHEN D., educator, journalist, was born in 1852 in North Carolina. In 1882 he became state superintendent of public instruction of North Carolina; and subsequently was editor of the New Orleans Daily Bee. He died in 1889 in New Orleans, La.

POOLE, THEODORE L., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born April 10, 1840, in Elbridge, N. Y. He enlisted as quartermaster-sergeant in the one hundred and twenty-second regiment New York volunteers in 1862. He was discharged as captain and brevet major in 1866. He was county clerk of Onondaga county in 1868-70; and United States pension agent for the western district of New York from 1879 to 1888; commander of the department of New York, Grand Army of the Republic, in 1892. He has been engaged in the manufacture of salt and is interested in various manufacturing and other corporations; and is one of the directors of the bank of Syracuse. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

POOLE, WILLIAM FREDERICK, bibliographer, librarian, author, was born Dec. 24, 1821, in Salem, Mass. He was a bibliographer of Chicago, librarian of the Public library there in 1874-87, and, from the latter date, of the Newberry library, Chicago. He is best known as compiler of Poole's Index to Periodical Literature. Two supplementary volumes carry the work forward to January, 1892. Other works of his are, Anti-Slavery Opinions before 1800; The Battle of the Dictionaries; Websterian Orthography; and Cotton Mather and Salem Witchcraft. He died in 1894.

POOLE, WILLARD HENRY, educator, author, was born in 1864 in Massachusetts. He is an educator of Fall River, Mass.; and the author of Elementary Course in Experimental Physics.

POOLEY, JAMES HENRY, educator, journalist, physician, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 17, 1839, in England. Since 1883 he has held the chair of surgery in Toledo Medical college. He has edited the Ohio Medical and Surgical Journal since 1876, and has been a voluminous contributor to surgical literature.

POOR, CHARLES HENRY, naval officer, was born June 11, 1808, in Cambridge, Mass. He served with distinction in the civil war, attaining the rank of rear-admiral. He died Nov. 5, 1882, in Washington, D. C.

POOR, ENOCH, soldier, was born June 21, 1736, in Andover, Mass. He served through the civil war, attaining the rank of brigadier-general in 1777. He died Sept. 8, 1780, in Hackensack, N. J.

POOR, HENRY VARNUM, lawyer, journalist, author, was born in December, 1812, in Andover, Maine. In 1868 he published a Manual of the Railroads of the United States, which has been issued yearly. In 1877 he published Money: its Laws and History, a large octavo volume, as also a work entitled Resumption and the Silver Question. Besides these more important works he has been a frequent contributor to the newspapers and periodicals on a great variety of topics, and is now, it is said, engaged on a History of the United States.

POOR, JOHN ALFRED, lawyer, journalist, author, was born Jan. 8, 1808, in Andover, Maine. He was the first active promoter of the present railroad system of his native state; originated the European and North American line; and wrote Vindication of the Claims of Sir Ferdinando Gorges as the Founder of English Colonization in America. He died Sept. 5, 1871, in Portland, Maine.

POORE, BENJAMIN PERLEY, journalist, author, was born Nov. 2, 1820, in Newburyport, Mass. He was a once well-known journalist of Washington; and the author of Campaign Life of Zachary Taylor; Early Life of Napoleon; Rise and Fall of Louis Philippe; Agricultural History of Essex County, Massachusetts; Life of Burnside; Political Register and Congressional Directory, 1776-1878; and Perley's Reminiscences of Sixty Years. He died May 30, 1887, in Washington, D. C.

POORE, HENRY RANKIN, artist, educator, was born March 21, 1859, in Newark, N. J. He studied in Paris, and for many years has been instructor in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; and is professor of Chautauqua School of Fine Arts.

POPE, ALBERT A., soldier, manufacturer, was born May 20, 1843, in Boston, Mass. He served as a soldier during the civil war; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel. The Pope Manufacturing company, for which Colonel Pope supplied the capital, and of which he has from the outset been president and active manager, was organized early in 1877 for the marketing of small patented articles. The same year he visited England, and placed an order for an importation of English bicycles. The first bicycles were manufactured in the United States in 1878 by the Weed Sewing Machine company of Hartford, Conn. They were soon controlled and finally bought out by Colonel Pope. He has built up a large business, employing a capital of over two millions of dollars, utilizing four factories at Hartford, Conn.

POPE, BENJAMIN W., educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 20, 1853, in Franklin county, Ill. He attended the university of Champaign, Illinois, and the St. Louis and Chicago Law schools. He has been superintendent of schools in Du Quoin and Tamawa, Ill.; and was admitted to the bar in 1878. During 1890-94 he was county judge of Perry county; and since 1893 has been postmaster of Du Quoin, Ill.

POPE, CADESMAN, educator, clergyman, was born June 21, 1838, near Flat Shoals, Ga. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city, finishing at Emory college of Oxford, Ga. In 1858 he entered the Georgia conference of the methodist episcopal church south, was transferred to Arkansas, where he filled important stations for twenty years; four years of which he was presiding elder in the Little Rock conference. In 1879 he returned to Georgia and preached for seven years; then for twelve years was president of the Female college of Millersburg, Ky.

POPE, CHARLES ALEXANDER, surgeon, was born March 15, 1818, in Huntsville, Ala. He became professor of anatomy, and afterward of surgery in St. Louis university; aided in organizing St. Louis Medical college, and was president of the American Medical association in 1853. He died July 6, 1870, in Paris, Mo.

POPE, FRANKLIN LEONARD, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 2, 1840, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was an electrical engineer of New York city; and the author of Modern Practice of the Electric Telegraph; and Life and Work of Joseph Henry.

POPE, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, governor, was born in 1770 in Prince William county, Va. He moved to Kentucky; served a number of years in the legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1801. He was a senator in congress from that state from 1807 to 1813; and in 1829 was appointed governor of the territory of Arkansas. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1843. He died July 12, 1845, in Springfield, Ky.

POPE, JOHN, soldier, author, was born March 16, 1822, in Louisville, Ky. He was a prominent general in the federal army during the civil war. In 1882 he was made a major-general in the regular army; assigned to the department of the Pacific in 1884; and retired in 1886. He was the author of a Memoir of his campaigns in Virginia; and also published a valuable work on Explorations from the Red River to the Rio Grande. He died Sept. 23, 1892.

POPE, JOHN HUNTER, physician, author, was born Feb. 12, 1845, in Washington, Ga. From 1874 till 1875 he was secretary of the Harrison county, Texas, Medical association; and in 1879-80 he was president of the Texas State Medical association. He has published a History of Epidemic of Yellow Fever at Marshall, Tex.; Report on Climatology and Epidemics of Texas; and Report on the Science and Progress of Medicine.

POPE, MRS. MARION [MANVILLE], poet, was born in 1859 in Wisconsin. She is a poet whose home in recent years has been in Valparaiso, Chili; and is the author of Over the Divide, and Other Verses.

POPE, NATHANIEL, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1784, in Louisville, Ky. He practiced law in St. Genevieve, Mo.; was appointed secretary of the territory of Illinois in 1809, and removed there; and was elected delegate to congress in 1817. In 1818, when Illinois was admitted as a state, he was appointed United States district judge, and held that office until his death. He died Jan. 23, 1850, in St. Louis, Mo.

POPE, PATRICK, H., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1833 to 1835. He died in May, 1841, in Louisville, Ky.

POPE, WILLIAM COX, clergyman, author, was born April 21, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has been rector of the church of the Good Shepherd of St. Paul, Minn., from its organization in 1868 to the present time. He is the author of several religious works.

POPE, WINFIELD SCOTT, lawyer, legislator, was born July 20, 1847, in Davidson county, N. C. He is an eminent lawyer of Jefferson City, Mo.; has served two terms in the state legislature of Missouri.

POPPELTON, EARLEY F., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1834, in Richland county, Ohio. In 1861 he moved to Delaware, Ohio; was elected state senator in 1870 to fill a vacancy; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

PORCHER, FRANCIS PEYRE, physician, botanist, author, was born Dec. 14, 1825, in St. John's, Berkeley, S. C. He was a physician and botanist of Charleston; and the author of Sketch of the Medical Botany of South Carolina; and Resources of the Southern Fields and Forests. He died in 1895.

PORTER, ALBERT G., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born April 20, 1824, in Lawrenceburg, Ind. He was appointed reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Indiana, publishing five volumes. He served two terms as city attorney of Indianapolis; and was twice elected a member of the city council. In 1858 he was elected a representative from Indiana to the thirty-sixth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress. In 1878 he was appointed first comptroller in the treasury of the United States; and in 1880 was elected governor of Indiana for four years from January, 1881.

PORTER, ALEXANDER J., lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born in 1786 in Ireland. In 1810 he removed to St. Martinsville, La.; and was active in framing the state constitution in 1811. He became a judge of the supreme court of the state in 1821, and served fifteen years. He was United States senator from 1833 to 1837; and was re-elected in 1843, but ill-health prevented him from taking his seat. He died Jan. 13, 1844, in Attakapas, La.

PORTER, ANDREW, soldier, was born Sept. 24, 1743, in Worcester, Pa. In the war of 1812 he was appointed brigadier-general in the regular army and secretary of war, but declined both positions on the ground that a younger man might serve the country more efficiently. He died Nov. 16, 1813, in Harrisburg, Pa.

PORTER, ANDREW, soldier, was born July 10, 1819, in Lancaster, Pa. He served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers in 1861. He died Jan. 4, 1872, in Paris, France.

PORTER, AUGUSTUS STEELE, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 18, 1798, in Canandaigua, N. Y. He practiced law for twenty years at Detroit, Mich., of which city he was chosen mayor in 1838. He was a senator in congress from Michigan from 1840 to 1845. He died Sept. 18, 1872, in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

PORTER, BENJAMIN CURTIS, artist, was born Aug. 27, 1843, in Melrose, Mass. His works include Henry V. and the Princess Kate; The Mandolin-Player; Cupid with Butterflies; The Hour-Glass; Portrait of Lady, with Dog, in the Corcoran gallery, Washington; and Portrait of Boy with Dog.

PORTER, BENJAMIN F., soldier, jurist, was born Dec. 25, 1843, near Mount Vernon, Ala. During the war he served in company E, eleventh Alabama regiment; served in the Virginia army, and was captured at Sharpsburg, Md. He was wounded at Salem church, and again at railroad below Petersburg; and was in the Mahone brigade. For six years he was clerk of the circuit court, and justice of the peace; in 1880 was elected judge of the probate court, and ex-officio judge of the county court of Washington county, Ala., and he is now serving his third term of six years.

PORTER, BENJAMIN FICKLING, lawyer, author, was born in 1808 in Charleston, S. C. He attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers of Alabama; and took part in many of the leading cases tried in that state for the past fifty years. He has also contributed valuable articles to law journals, and also to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States. He is the author of Alabama Supreme Court Reports; and Offices of Executors and Administrators.

PORTER, CHARLES A., senator, legislator, was born May 15, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1872-75 he was a representative to the Pennsylvania legislature; and in 1890 was elected to the senate.

PORTER, CHARLES H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Cairo, N. Y. He settled at Norfolk, Va.; was attorney for the commonwealth from 1863 until 1870; and attorney for the city one year. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Virginia in 1867 and 1868; and was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-first and forty-second congresses as a republican.

PORTER, CHARLES TALBOT, civil engineer, author, was born in 1826 in New York. He is a mechanical engineer of prominence; and the author of Mechanics and Faith, a Study of the Spiritual Truths in Nature.

PORTER, CYRUS KINNE, architect, was born Aug. 27, 1828, in Cicero, N. Y. Among the notable buildings erected recently which show his complete mastery of every detail of his profession, may be mentioned the Coal and Iron exchange, Trinity church, St. Patrick's church, and the Builder's exchange, Buffalo, N. Y.

PORTER, DAVID, naval officer, author, was born Feb. 1, 1780, in Boston, Mass. He was a once noted commodore in the United States navy; and in 1839 became United States resident minister to Turkey. He was the author of Journal of a Cruise to the Pacific Ocean in 1812-15; and Constantinople and its Environs. He died March 3, 1843, in Turkey.

PORTER, DAVID DIXON, naval officer, author, was born June 8, 1813, in Chester, Pa. He was an admiral of the federal army who commanded the fleet at the storming of Fort Fisher, and amused his latest years by the composition of sensational romances. He was the author of Life of Commodore Porter; Allan Dare and Robert le Diable; Adventures of Harry Marline; Arthur Merton, a romance; Incidents and Anecdotes of the Civil War; and History of the Navy in the War of the Rebellion. He died Feb. 13, 1891, in Washington, D. C.

PORTER, DAVID RITTENHOUSE, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Oct. 31, 1788, in Norristown, Pa. He was a member of each branch of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He was governor of Pennsylvania from 1839 to 1845; and his election in 1838 in Philadelphia county gave rise to much excitement at the state capitol, known as the Buckshot War, growing out of a charge of irregularity in the election. He died Aug. 6, 1867, in Harrisburg, Pa.

PORTER, EBENEZER, clergyman, educator, author, was born Oct. 5, 1772, in Cromwell, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman and educator, of contemporary renown as a preacher. He was professor of sacred rhetoric at Andover Theological seminary in 1812-32, and president of that institution from 1827 till his death. Among his publications are The Young Preacher's Manual; A Rhetorical Reader, which reached its three hundredth edition; Lectures on Homiletics; and Lectures on Eloquence and Style. He died April 8, 1834, in Andover.

PORTER, FITZ-JOHN, soldier, author, was born June 13, 1822, in Portsmouth, N. H. He is a brevet brigadier-general (dismissed from the service in 1863, reinstated by act of congress in 1886. After his retirement from the army he was appointed commissioner of public works of New York city; and was employed by the New Jersey Central Railroad company as assistant receiver for several years. He received an appointment as police commissioner of the city of New York and on the expiration of his term of office in that department he was appointed fire commissioner, from which place he retired at the close of his term. He then became a cashier in the New York postoffice. He is the author of Narrative of the Services of the Fifth Army Corps in 1862 in Northern Virginia.

PORTER, GEORGE BRYAN, lawyer, governor, was born Feb. 9, 1791, in Norristown, Pa. He was governor of Michigan territory from 1831 to 1834. He died July 18, 1835, in Detroit, Mich.

PORTER, GEORGE LORING, soldier, physician, surgeon, was born April 29, 1838, in Concord, N. H. He attended the New London academy, and the Brown university of Providence, R. I., from which institution he graduated in 1859 with the degree of A. M. During the war he was captain and brevet major in the United States army. In 1862 he was assigned to duty at the General hospital at Strasburg, placed in charge of the hospital and took care of the confederate wounded also. He has attained success in his profession at Bridgeport, Conn.; has been president of the Connecticut Medical society, and vice-president of several medical bodies. He has contributed valuable papers for medical literature, and was instrumental in the passage of the coroner's law of Connecticut in 1882.

PORTER, GEORGE W., soldier, was born about 1806. He was a lieutenant in the thirty-eighth United States infantry in 1814-15; and made many valuable inventions, including the Porter rifle. He died Nov. 7, 1856, in Memphis, Tenn.

PORTER, GILCHRIST, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1851 to 1857.

PORTER, HENRY H., lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 17, 1838, in Holmes county, Ohio. He was admitted to the bar in 1870; and in 1880-81 was a member of the house of representatives of the sixty-fourth general assembly of Ohio.

PORTER, HENRY OGDEN, naval officer, was born in 1823 in Washington, D. C. He served in one of Walker's expeditions to Central America, where he fought bravely, and was wounded several times. Afterward he was appointed lieutenant in the United States revenue marine, and during the civil war was made acting master in the navy April 24, 1862, serving as executive officer on the Hatteras when that vessel was sunk by the confederate steamer Alabama. He died in 1872 in Baltimore, Md.

PORTER, HORACE, soldier, was born April 15, 1837, in Huntington, Pa. He served through the civil war; and for meritorious services received the rank of brigadier-general. He was the first president of the New York West Shore and Buffalo railroad.

PORTER, J. DE FOREST, lawyer, jurist, was born in New York. He settled in Nebraska; and in 1872 was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court for the territory of Arizona, residing in Arizona City.

PORTER, JAMES, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Williamstown, Mass. He was a member of the state assembly in 1814 and 1815; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1817 to 1819. After leaving congress he was appointed register of the court of chancery, which office he held until his death, in Albany, N. Y.

PORTER, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in 1800 in Maine. He was a prominent methodist clergyman of Boston; and the author of History of Methodism; The Winning Worker; Hints to Self-Educated Ministers; and Compendium of Methodism. He died April 16, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

PORTER, JAMES DAVIS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born Dec. 7, 1828, in Paris, Tenn. In 1859 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee legislature. He served in the confederate army throughout the civil war as chief of staff on the staff of General Cheatam. In 1870 he was elected a member of the state constitutional convention of Tennessee; and in the summer of the same year was elected circuit judge for the twelfth judicial circuit of Tennessee. In 1874 he was elected governor of Tennessee, serving until 1879. In 1880 he was elected president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad company, and was four times re-elected. In 1885 he was appointed assistant secretary of state.

PORTER, JAMES MADISON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 6, 1793, in Salem, Mass. He was one of the founders of Lafayette college at Easton, Pa., and for twenty-five years president of its board of trustees. He was president judge of the twelfth and twenty-second judicial districts of Pennsylvania. He died Nov. 11, 1862, in Easton, Pa.

PORTER, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1806 to 1811, having first been elected to fill a vacancy.

PORTER, JOHN ADDISON, educator, author, was born March 15, 1822, in Catsville, N. Y. He was a professor of chemistry at Yale college in 1852-64; and the author of Principles of Chemistry; and First Book of Chemistry. He died Aug. 25, 1866, in New Haven, Conn.

PORTER, JOHN ADDISON, journalist, public official, author, was born April 17, 1856, in New Haven, Conn. He is the editor and proprietor of the Hartford Post. He was elected to the Connecticut house of representatives in 1892; and was presented as a candidate for governor in the republican state conventions of Connecticut in 1894 and 1896. He was appointed secretary to President McKinley Feb. 5, 1897. He is the author of Administration of the City of Washington; and Sketches of Yale Life.

PORTER, LINN BOYD, author. He is a novelist of Cambridge whose writings have been extremely popular, although severely criticised from a literary point of view as well as from an ethical standpoint. Among them are Thou Shalt Not; Speaking of Ellen; A Black Adonis; and Out of Wedlock.

PORTER, MRS. LYDIA ANN [EMERSON], educator, author, was born Oct. 14, 1816, in Newburyport, Mass. She is an educator of Springfield, Vt.; and the author of Uncle Jerry's Letters to Young Mothers; and The Lost Will.

PORTER, MOSES, soldier, was born in 1755 in Danvers, Mass. He entered the revolutionary army as a lieutenant in 1775; and served at Bunker Hill and through the war. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1813, and became colonel of the first artillery in 1821. He died April 14, 1822, in Cambridge, Mass.

PORTER, NOAH, clergyman, author, was born in December, 1781, in Farmington, Conn. He was ordained pastor of the congregational church in his native town, which charge he held until his death. He published occasional sermons in the National Preacher, a Half-Century Discourse in the fiftieth year of his ministry, and contributed to the Christian Spectator. He died Sept. 24, 1866, in Farmington, Conn.

PORTER, NOAH, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1811, in Farmington, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Connecticut, president of Yale college in 1871-85, and a metaphysician of distinction. He was the author of The Human Intellect; Books and Reading; Elements of Intellectual Science; Elements of Moral Science; The American Colleges and the American Public; Science and Sentiment; Bishop Berkeley; Fifteen Years in Yale College Chapel, a volume of sermons; and The Science of Nature and the Science of Man. He died March 4, 1892, in New Haven, Conn.

PORTER, PETER AUGUSTUS, soldier, state legislator, was born in 1827 in Black Rock, N. Y. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1862; and in that year he raised a regiment, afterward consolidated with the eighth New York artillery, and was placed in command, and served on garrison duty. He was killed June 3, 1864, in the battle of Cold Harbor, Va.

PORTER, PETER BUEL, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1773, in Salisbury, Conn. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1809 to 1813, and from 1815 to 1816, when he resigned. In 1813 he was made major-general, and chief in command of the state troops. Soon after the war he was chosen secretary of the state of New York; and in 1816 was appointed commissioner under the treaty of Ghent. In 1828 he was appointed secretary of war. He died March 20, 1844, in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

PORTER, ROSE, author, was born in 1845 in New York. She is an author of New Haven who has written and compiled a large number of religious books. Among her original works are Summer Driftwood for the Winter Fire; A Modern St. Christopher; Our Saints, a Family Story; and My Son's Wife.

PORTER, RUFUS, journalist, inventor, was born May 1, 1792, in West Boxford, Mass. In 1840 he became editor of the New York Mechanic, which prospered, and in the following year he moved it to Boston, where he called it the American Mechanic. The new art of electrotyping there attracted his attention, and he gave up editorial work in order to occupy himself with the new invention. He died Aug. 13, 1884, in New Haven, Conn.

PORTER, SAMUEL, journalist, educator, author, was born Jan. 12, 1810, in Farmington, Conn. He has made a special study of phonetics, was editor of the American Annals of the Deaf and Dumb from 1854 till 1860; and has published The Vowel Elements in Speech, a Phonological and Philological Essay.

PORTER, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in May, 1734, in Farmington, Conn. For ten years he was judge of the supreme and county courts of Vermont. He died in August, 1833, in Granville, N. Y.

PORTER, THOMAS CONRAD, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 22, 1822, in Alexandria, Pa. He is a German reformed clergyman famous as a botanist, and professor of botany at Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., from 1866. He is the author of Sketch of the Flora of Pennsylvania; Sketch of the Botany of the United States; Synopsis of the Flora of Colorado (with J. M. Coulter); The Carices of Pennsylvania; and The Grasses of Pennsylvania.

PORTER, THOMAS F., business man, journalist, poet, was born Oct. 30, 1847, in Nova Scotia. He received a thorough education, and for many years was engaged in journalistic work. He wrote a column weekly for the Danbury News in its palmy days; and is a contributor of both prose and verse to Judge, the Boston Journal, Yankee Blade, the Waverly Magazine, and the periodical press generally. He has written a number of poems of merit, some of which have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works. He is engaged principally in real estate and insurance at Lynn, Mass., where he takes a prominent part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

PORTER, THOMAS P., lawyer, was born July 7, 1821, in Richmond, Ky. In 1859 he was unanimously elected permanent speaker of the senate.

PORTER, TIMOTHY H., state senator, congressman, was born in New Haven, Conn. He served five years in the assembly of New York; and also served five years in the state senate. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1825 to 1827.

PORTER, WARREN HART, lawyer, was born Nov. 4, 1837, in Cattaraugus, N. Y. He received his education in the public and private schools, and at the university of Wisconsin. He is a prominent lawyer of Jefferson, Wis.; has for many years been city attorney; and has held numerous other public positions of trust.

PORTER, WILBUR F., lawyer, public official, was born June 22, 1831, in Schuylers, N. Y. He is a successful lawyer of Watertown, N. Y.; has been mayor of his city for five terms; and is now a member of the court of claims of the state of New York.

PORTER, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 24, 1821, in Huntingdon county, Pa. He was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia in 1842; was sheriff of that city in 1843; and was city solicitor in 1856. He was judge of the superior court in 1858. He was the author of Essay on Law, and Sheriffs; Life of Chief Justice John Gibson; and Addresses. He died June 28, 1886, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PORTER, WILLIAM DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 3, 1848, in Freeman's Landing, W. Va. In 1870 he was admitted to the bar, and practiced law until he was elevated to the bench in 1891. He has served faithfully as a judge of the court of common pleas of the fifth judicial district of Pennsylvania.

PORTER, WILLIAM F., farmer, legislator, was born June 1, 1861, in Champaign, Ill. In 1879 he moved to Nebraska; and served with distinction as a member in the twenty-second and twenty-third sessions of the Nebraska state legislature. He is a successful farmer of Clarks, Neb.; and is now serving as secretary of the state of Nebraska.

PORTER, WILLIAM H., farmer, legislator, was born May 8, 1856, in Hatfield, Mass. He is a successful farmer of Agawam, Mass.; prominent in the public affairs of his state; and secretary of the Hampden Agricultural society. In 1897 he was elected a member of the Massachusetts state legislature.

PORTER, WILLIAM TROTTER, journalist, was born Dec. 24, 1809, in Newbury, Vt. In 1829 he became connected with the Farmer's Herald at St. Johnsbury, Vt., and the following year he became associate editor of The Enquirer at Norwich. His cherished project was put into effect in 1831, when he issued the initial number of the Spirit of the Times, the first sporting journal in the United States. He died July 20, 1858, in New York city.

PORTER, WILLIAM WOOD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 8, 1826, in Orange county, Va. He was elected district attorney of San Joaquin county, Cal. In 1855 he became county judge of Calaveras county to fill a vacancy; and in 1856 was elected to the same office for a full term of four years. At the breaking out of the civil war in 1861 he returned to Virginia and entered the confederate army as aid to Gen. George B. Crittenden. In 1872 he returned to California and settled at Santa Rosa in the practice of law; and in 1885 was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona.

PORTERFIELD, CHARLES, soldier, was born in 1750 in Frederick county, Va. He was first sergeant of Capt. Daniel Morgan's company in the revolutionary war, and was captured in the assault on Quebec, Dec. 31, 1775. After being exchanged he served as captain until 1777, then he was appointed lieutenant-colonel of a Virginia regiment, and was mortally wounded in the battle of Camden, S. C., Aug. 16, 1780, and died in the following October on the banks of the Santee river

PORTERFIELD, GEORGE A., soldier, banker, was born Nov. 24, 1822, in Berkeley county, Va., now West Virginia. In 1844 he graduated from the Virginia Military institute of Lexington. In 1846 he helped to raise a company of volunteers for service in the war with Mexico. July 10, 1847, he was appointed adjutant of the Virginia regiment at Buena Vista; and on Oct. 27 of the same year was promoted to acting-assistant adjutant-general to the division stationed at and near Buena Vista; which position he held until the end of the war. He declined a place on the staff of Gen. Wood. In 1861 he was appointed colonel of volunteers in the confederate service, and was ordered to raise a command in northwestern Virginia. He collected a force of about eight hundred men; was subsequently relieved of command; and later served on the staff of Gen. W. W. Loring; was in command of a brigade under Gen. Edward Johnson, but retired from the service in May, 1862. He is a prominent banker of Charlestown, W. Va.

PORTERFIELD, ROBERT, soldier, jurist, was born Feb. 22, 1752, in Frederick county, Va. He was appointed a lieutenant in the continental army in 1776; was promoted to a captaincy, and served in Col. Daniel Morgan's regiment until 1779, when he was appointed aid to Gen. William Woodford; and in 1780 was surrendered with him a prisoner of war in the siege of Charleston. In the war of 1812 he was a brigadier-general of militia; and an unsuccessful candidate of the federal party for congress in 1889. He was a justice of Augusta county, Va., for more than fifty years; was twice high sheriff, and died in that county Feb. 13, 1843.

PORTIER, MICHEL, bishop, was born Sept. 7, 1795, in France. In 1826 he was consecrated Roman catholic bishop of Olena, at St. Augustine, Fla. He died May 14, 1859, in Mobile, Ala.

PORY, JOHN, pioneer, was born about 1570 in England. During 1619-21 he was secretary of the Virginia colony, and he was elected speaker of the first representative assembly that was ever held in this country, which convened in Jamestown in 1619. He died before 1635 in Virginia.

POSEY, CARNOT, soldier, was born Aug. 5, 1818, in Wilkinson county, Miss. He became colonel of the sixteenth Mississippi regiment in 1861, and was appointed brigadier-general in the confederate army in 1862. He died Nov. 13, 1863, in Charlottesville, Va.

POSEY, JOHN W., lawyer, public official, was born Aug. 6, 1847, in Petersburg, Ind. He attended the Georgetown academy, and the Baylor university. He is a successful lawyer and land agent of Austin, Texas; has been county treasurer; justice of the peace; county commissioner of Nolan county; and has held various other public positions of trust.

POSEY, THOMAS, soldier, United States senator, was born July 9, 1750, in Virginia. From 1786 to 1793 he was county lieutenant of Spottsylvania, Va., and was appointed brigadier-general. He was a state senator; and was lieutenant-governor of Virginia for four years. He was major-general of Kentucky levees in 1809. He was United States senator from Louisiana in 1812, by appointment of the governor. He was governor of Indian territory from 1813 to 1816; and was agent of Indian affairs in 1816, which position he held until his death. He died March 19, 1818, in Shawneetown, Ill.

POSSE, NILS, educator, author, was born in 1862 in Sweden. He was a Boston instructor in gymnastics; and the author of Special Kinesiology of Educational Gymnastics; Medical Gymnastics; and Scientific Aspect of Swedish Gymnastics. He died in 1895.

POST, GEORGE A., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1854, in Cuba, N. Y. He entered the service of the Erie Railway company; and was for several years secretary of the motive power department. He was elected chief Burgess of Susquehanna in 1877. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

POST, ISAAC, philanthropist, author, was born Feb. 26, 1798, in Westbury, N. Y. He resided in Rochester when public attention was first attracted to the manifestations by the Fox sisters, and became one of the earliest converts to spiritualism. He was the author of Voices from the Spirit World, being Communications from Many Spirits, by the Hand of Isaac Post, Medium. He died May 9, 1872, in Rochester, N. Y.

POST, JOTHAM, state legislator, congressman. He was a member of the New York assembly for four years from the city of New York; and was a representative in congress from his native state from 1813 to 1815.

POST, MINTURN, physician, was born June 28, 1808, in New York city. In 1843 he was called to be medical examiner of the New York Life Insurance company. He translated and added notes to Raciborski's Auscultation and Percussion. He died April 26, 1869, in New York city.

POST, MORTON E., congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1840, in Monroe county, N. Y. He was elected a member of the territorial council in 1878; and was elected the delegate from Wyoming to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat.

POST, PHILIP SIDNEY, soldier, congressman, was born March 19, 1833, in Florida, N. Y. He entered the union army in 1861 as second lieutenant fifty-ninth Illinois infantry, and was promoted brigadier-general by brevet. He was appointed consul to Vienna in 1866; was promoted consul-general for Austria-Hungary in 1874; and was a member at large of the Illinois republican state central committee from 1882 to 1886. He was commander department of Illinois Grand Army of the Republic in 1886. He was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses. He died Jan. 6, 1895, in Washington, D. C., before taking his seat in the fifty-fourth congress.

POST, TRUMAN MARCELLUS, clergyman, author, was born June 3, 1810, in Middlebury, Vt. He was a congregational clergyman and editor of St. Louis, professor of history in Washington university; and the author of The Skeptical Era in Modern History. He died Dec. 31, 1886, in St. Louis, Mo.

POST, WALDRON KINTZING, lawyer, author, was born in 1868 in New York. He is a lawyer of New York city; and the author of Harvard Stories.

POSTON, CHARLES D., pioneer, congressman, was born April 20, 1825, in Hardin county, Ky. In 1854 he went to Arizona as the pioneer of silver mining enterprises in that territory; and on the organization of a territorial government for Arizona was appointed superintendent of Indian affairs for the territory. At the first election held he was elected the delegate from Arizona to the thirty-eighth congress, taking his seat at the second session.

POTTER, ALLEN, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 2, 1818, in Saratoga county, N. Y. He served one term in the Michigan legislature. He subsequently turned his attention to banking, and became president of the National bank of Kalamazoo. He was elected president of the village in 1859, 1863, 1870 and 1872; president of the local board of education in 1870 and 1871; and was president of the Kalamazoo and South Haven Railroad company. He was defeated for congress in 1872; and in 1874 was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-fourth congress.

POTTER, ALONZO, protestant episcopal bishop, author, was born July 6, 1800, in La Grange, N. Y. He was the third protestant episcopal bishop of Pennsylvania and an active promoter of educational movements. He was the author of The Principles of Science Applied to Domestic and Mechanical Arts; Religious Philosophy; Political Economy; and co-author with G. B. Emerson of The School and the Schoolmaster. He died July 4, 1865, in San Francisco, Cal.

POTTER, BUTLER WILLIS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 18, 1843, in Colesville, N. Y. In 1868 he was admitted to the bar and soon after opened an office in Worcester, Mass. For three terms he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature; and was appointed ballot law commissioner of state of Massachusetts. He is the author of The Road and Roadside, a legal treatise.

POTTER, CHARLES NELSON, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 31, 1852, in Cooperstown, N. Y. For four years he was attorney general of Wyoming. In 1889 he was elected a member of the constitutional convention at Wyoming; and in 1894 was elected judge of the supreme court for a term of eight years.

POTTER, CLARKSON NOTT, surveyor, lawyer, congressman, was born April 25, 1825, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was a surveyor in Wisconsin; studied law in that state, and after coming to the bar commenced the practice of his profession in New York city in 1847. In 1868 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first congress; and was re-elected to the two succeeding congresses; and was also elected to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat. He died Jan. 23, 1882, in New York city.

POTTER, EDWARD EELLS, naval officer, was born May 9, 1833, in Medina, N. Y. He was made commandant of the navy yard at League Island, Pa., in December, 1886, and now fills that place.

POTTER, ELIPHALET NOTT, clergyman, educator, author, college president, was born Sept. 20, 1836, in Schenectady, N. Y.; and is a son of Bishop Alonzo Potter. In 1871 he was elected president of Union college; and in 1884 accepted the presidency of Hobart college, which he resigned in 1896. He is the author of Parochial Sermons; and Christian Evidences.

POTTER, ELISHA REYNOLDS, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1764, in South Kingston, R. I. In 1796 he was elected a representative in congress from Rhode Island to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the fifth congress. He was again a representative from 1809 to 1815; and was elected to the state legislature in 1793, and by semi-annual elections under the old charter system continued to serve until his death, excepting when in congress, and was five times elected speaker. He died Sept. 26, 1835, in Kingston, R. I.

POTTER, ELISHA REYNOLDS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, author, was born June 20, 1811, in South Kingston, R. I. He was for several years a member of the Rhode Island state legislature; and was adjutant-general of the state in 1835 and 1836. He was a representative in congress from Rhode Island from 1843 to 1845; and was state commissioner of public schools from 1849 to 1854. He was subsequently chosen a judge of the supreme court of the state, and became chief justice. As an author he published Early History of Narragansett; Paper Money in Rhode Island; and valuable contributions on Suffrage and Public Schools. He died April 10, 1882, in South Kingston, R. I.

POTTER, EMERY D., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845, and again from 1849 to 1851. He was subsequently appointed United States judge for the territory of Utah.

POTTER, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1765 in Granville county, N. C. In 1801 he was appointed United States judge of the fifth circuit; and in 1802 was made judge of the United States district court for the state of North Carolina, which position he held until his death. He died Dec. 20, 1857, in Fayetteville, N. Y.

POTTER, HENRY CODMAN, bishop, author, was born May 25, 1835, in Schenectady, N. Y. He is the sixth protestant episcopal bishop of New York, and prominent among broad church thinkers. He is the author of Sermons of the City; The Gates of the East; A Winter in Egypt and Syria; Sisterhoods and Deaconesses; and Waymarks.

POTTER, HORATIO, educator, bishop, was born Feb. 9, 1802, in Beekman, N. Y. In 1833 he became rector of St. Peter's church, Albany, N. Y., and held that post till 1854, when he was consecrated provisional bishop of the diocese of New York. He died Jan. 2, 1887, in New York.

POTTER, JOHN FOX, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born May 11, 1817, in Augusta, Maine. He was a representative in the legislature of Wisconsin in 1856; and was a judge of Walworth county from 1842 to 1846. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. He was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861; and was appointed consul-general to British North America at Montreal.

POTTER, LUDLOW DAY, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 3, 1823, in New Providence, N. J. This eminent clergyman of the presbyterian church was for ten years professor in Glendale Female college, Ohio; and since 1865 has been its president.

POTTER, ORLANDO BRONSON, lawyer, manufacturer, congressman, was born March 10, 1823, in Charlemont, Mass. He matured and laid before Secretary Chase of the United States treasury, and President Lincoln, a plan for a national banking system; this plan was adopted, with a few slight modifications, and was the basis of the present national banking system of the country. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress as a union democrat. He died Jan. 2, 1894.

POTTER, PLATT, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 6, 1800, in Galway, N. Y. He was a jurist of Schenectady, and the author of Potter's Dwarris; Treatise on Corporations; and Equity Jurisprudence. He died in 1891.

POTTER, PLEASANT J., banker, philanthropist, was born March 29, 1820, in Warren county, Ky. He has served as a member of the Kentucky legislature. He is president of the old banking house of P. J. Potter and Company. He has been a liberal contributor to churches and schools; and Potter college for young ladies was named in his honor.

POTTER, ROBERT, lawyer, state legislator, congressman. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1826; was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1829 to 1831; and was a second time in the legislature. He was killed in Texas.

POTTER, ROBERT B., soldier, was born July 16, 1829, in Schenectady, N. Y. He served through the civil war, attaining the rank of brigadier and major-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 18, 1887, in Newport, R. I.

POTTER, SAMUEL JOHN, state senator, was born June 29, 1739, in Kingston, R. I. He was at one time deputy governor; and in 1792 and 1796 was a presidential elector. He was a senator in congress from Rhode Island during the years 1803 and 1804. He died Sept. 6, 1808, in Washington, D. C.

POTTER, THOMAS J., railroad manager, was born Aug. 16, 1840, in Burlington, Iowa. In 1866 he was appointed agent of the same corporation at Burlington, Iowa. In 1873 the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy company secured his services. He was first agent, then assistant superintendent, afterward general manager, and finally general manager and vice-president. He was chosen vice-president of the St. Louis and Keokuk, of the Chicago, Burlington and Kansas City, of the Chicago and Iowa, of the Hannibal and St. Joseph, and of the Burlington and Missouri River roads, respectively. He died March 9, 1888, in Washington, D. C.

POTTER, WILLIAM BLEECKER, mining engineer, was born March 23, 1846, in Schenectady, N. Y. In 1871 he was called to the chair of mining and metallurgy at Washington university, St. Louis, Mo. In 1888 he was elected president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

POTTER, WILLIAM JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in 1830 in Massachusetts. He was a unitarian clergyman of New Bedford for many years, prominent as a radical thinker; and the author of Twenty-Five Sermons of Twenty-Five Years; and Lectures and Sermons. He died in 1894.

POTTER, WILLIAM W., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1837 to 1839. He died Oct. 28, 1839, in Bellefonte, Pa.

POTTIER, AUGUSTE, decorator, was born in 1823, in France. He has a large business in New York under the firm name of Pottier and Stymus, decorators and designers, which has proved to be a success.

POTTLE, ABEL WARREN, clergyman, was born Sept. 23, 1834, in Salem, Maine. He received his education at the Farmington academy, the Maine Wesleyan seminary, and the Boston Theological school. He has attained eminence as a successful methodist episcopal clergyman, and has filled pastorates in Bethel, Oxford, Westbrook, Portland, Kittery, Waterville, Saco, Bath and Bowdoinham.

POTTLE, EMORY B., lawyer, state legislator, congressman. He served one term in the legislature of New York. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress.

POTTS, BENJAMIN F., governor. He was governor of the territory of Montana from 1870 to 1883.

POTTS, DAVID, congressman, was born in 1793 in Chester county, Pa. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1831 to 1839. He died in 1863.

POTTS, JAMES HENRY, clergyman, journalist, author, was born June 12, 1848, in Canada. He is a methodist clergyman; and editor of The Michigan Christian Advocate from 1877. He is the author of Methodism in the Field; Golden Dawn; Spiritual Life; Our Thorns and Crowns; and Faith Made Easy.

POTTS, RICHARD, state senator, congressman, governor, was born in July, 1753, in Upper Marlborough, Md. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1781 and 1782; and was governor of Maryland during the same years. He was a senator in congress from that state from 1792 to 1796. He died Nov. 26, 1808, in Frederick county, Md.

POTTS, STACEY GARDNER, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Nov. 9, 1799, in Harrisburg, Pa. He was a jurist of Trenton, N. J.; and the author of Village Tales; and Precedents and Notes of Practice in the New Jersey Chancery Court. He died April 9, 1865, in Trenton, N. J.

POTTS, WILLIAM STEPHENS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 13, 1802, in Northumberland county, Pa. He was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of St. Louis, Mo., in 1828-35, president of Marion college for the subsequent four years; founded the Second Presbyterian church of St. Louis in 1838, and was its pastor till his death. He published several sermons. He died March 27, 1852, in St. Louis, Mo.

POUJADE, JOSEPH, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 6, 1852, in Marion county, Ore. In 1873 he settled in Nevada and served as state senator during 1885-87; assemblyman in 1889; and lieutenant-governor in 1891-94. During those four years he was also adjutant-general, state librarian and president of the senate.

POULSON, ZACHARIAH, journalist, was born Sept. 5, 1761, in Philadelphia, Pa. For many years he was printer to the senate of Pennsylvania. In 1800 he began the publication of the American Daily Advertiser, the first daily in the United States; and he continued as its editor and proprietor till its discontinuance in 1839. He issued Poulson's Town and Country Almanac and other works. He died July 31, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

POUND, CUTHBERT W., lawyer, educator, was born June 20, 1864, in Lockport, N. Y. In 1886 he was admitted to the bar, and was city attorney of Lockport, N. Y., during 1888-90. In 1893 he was elected to the state senate. In 1895 he accepted the law professorship at Cornell university.

POUND, ROSCOE, educator, author, was born Oct. 27, 1870, in Lincoln, Neb.

Since 1892 he has been director of the botanical survey of Nebraska. He is the author of numerous botanical papers and monographs, mostly on the fungi.

POUND, THADDEUS C., educator, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1832, in Pennsylvania. For a number of years he taught school, and then was a bookkeeper. It was through his efforts that the city of Chippewa Falls was developed; and he was instrumental in securing its railroad facilities and in causing its river and other improvements to be made. He served four terms in the Wisconsin legislature; one term as lieutenant-governor; and has represented his district in the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican. In 1876 he was commissioner from Wisconsin to the Philadelphia exposition; and has always supported measures designed to promote internal commerce.

POUNDSTONE, ALEXANDER M., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born Feb. 26, 1835, in Fayette county, Pa. He served as a captain in the United States army during the civil war. For fourteen years he was prosecuting attorney of Buckhannon, W. Va.; and for two terms served as a member of the legislature of that state.

POWDERLY, TERENCE VINCENT, labor advocate, author, was born Jan. 22, 1849, in Carbondale, Pa. Since 1869 he has lived in Scranton, Pa. In 1879 he was elected general master-workman of the Knights of Labor; and has since been re-elected nearly a dozen times. In 1878 he was elected mayor of Scranton by the labor vote; and was several times re-elected as a democrat to that office. He has been connected with several labor publications; and is the author of A History of the Origin and Principles of the Knights of Labor.

POWELL, AARON MACY, journalist, reformer, lecturer, author, was born March 26, 1832, in Clinton, N. Y. Since 1872 he has been secretary of the National Temperance society and editor of the National Temperance Advocate in New York. In 1886 he also took charge of the Philanthropist. He is the author of State Regulation of Vice.

POWELL, ALFRED H., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1781, in Loudoun county, Va. He served in the Virginia state legislature, and one or two state conventions; and was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1825 to 1827. He died in 1831 in Winchester, Va.

POWELL, CHARLES GRANSON, journalist, politician, was born Dec. 1, 1829, in Monroe county, N. Y. He was a delegate to the national republican conventions in 1868 and in 1872; and postmaster at La Porte, Ind., during 1877-82. He is the editor and owner of The Herald, and also of The Republican, of La Porte, Ind. He has contributed extensively to current literature on various topics; and has filled numerous public positions of honor in his city, county and state.

POWELL, CUTHBERT, state legislator, congressman. He was at one time mayor of Alexandria in Virginia; and on his removal to Loudoun county was elected to the legislature. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1841 to 1843. He died May 8, 1849, in Langollen, Va.

POWELL, D. FRANK, physician, surgeon, scientist, was born May 25, 1847, in Sullivan county, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common district schools; at the Columbia college; the Louisville Medical college; and the Kentucky School of Medicine. He is a prominent physician and surgeon of La Crosse, Wis.; has served four times as mayor of that city; has twice been an independent candidate for governor of Wisconsin; and twice a candidate for congress from the seventh congressional district on the people's party ticket. He is a scientist of note, and an investigator of prehistoric and aboriginal race history.

POWELL, EDWARD PAYSON, clergyman, author, was born in 1833 in New York. He is a clergyman who has held pastorates in congregational and unitarian churches successively, and has long been a resident in Clinton, N. Y. He is the author of Our Heredity from God; and Liberty and Life.

POWELL, EVAN, railroad president, was born June 2, 1834, in Wales. Since 1891 he has been president of the Powellton and Pocahontas railway.

POWELL, JAMES L., soldier, farmer, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 24, 1834, in Plentiff, Va. In 1860 he was state's attorney for Roane county; in 1861 was a captain in the Wise legion; and during 1877-85 was a member of the Virginia state legislature; in both the house and the senate. During 1879-82 he was state's attorney for Spotsylvania county, Va.; and has filled various other public positions of trust. He was the only son (of four) that survived the war. He has been eminently successful as a farmer, lawyer and statesman; and still resides in the place of his nativity.

POWELL, JOHN WESLEY, geologist, author, was born March 24, 1834, in Mount Morris, N. Y. He is an eminent geologist, director of the United States geological survey in 1879-94; and the author of Exploration of the Uinta Mountains; The Arid Regions of the United States; Introduction to the Study of the Indian Languages; Studies in Sociology; and Canyons of the Colorado.

POWELL, JOSEPH, merchant, banker, congressman, was born June 23, 1848, in Towanda, Pa. He became president of the First National bank of Towanda, and engaged in other business enterprises. He was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

POWELL, JOSEPH, merchant, banker, congressman, was born June 23, 1848, in Towanda, Pa. He became president of the First National bank of Towanda, and engaged in other business enterprises. He was a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

POWELL, LAZARUS WHITEHEAD, lawyer, state legislator, governor, United States senator, was born Oct. 6, 1812, in Henderson county, Ky. In 1836 he was elected to the Kentucky legislature; was a presidential elector in 1844; and was governor of Kentucky from 1851 to 1855. He was chosen a senator in congress for the long term commencing in 1859. He died July 3, 1867, in Henderson county, Ky.

POWELL, LEVIN, soldier, congressman, was born in 1738 in Loudoun county, Va. He served through the war of the revolution in the Virginia line of the continental army, and rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He resided in Loudoun county, Va.; and was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1799 to 1801. He died Aug. 6, 1810, at Bedford, Pa.

POWELL, LEVIN MYNE, naval officer, was born in 1800 in Loudoun county, Va. He was appointed midshipman in the United States navy in 1817; became lieutenant in 1826; and received the thanks of congress for his services during that campaign. He died Jan. 15, 1885, in Washington, D. C.

POWELL, NATHAN, pioneer, merchant, banker, was born Oct. 18, 1814, in Frederick county, Md. In 1848 he assisted in reorganizing the old Madison Life, Fire and Marine Insurance company, in Madison, Ind. He became one of its largest stockholders, and has been its president since 1851.

POWELL, PAULUS, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was elected a representative in congress from that state in 1849; and continued in that capacity to the close of the thirty-fifth congress.

POWELL, SAMUEL, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1815 to 1817.

POWELL, SIMON T., banker, lawyer, was born Aug. 21, 1821, near Cambridge City, Ind. In 1877 he was made president of the Bundy National bank, in New Castle, Ind. In 1871 he was honored by President Grant with the appointment of supervisor of internal revenue.

POWELL, THOMAS, author, was born Sept. 3, 1809, in London, England. He was an English writer who came to America in 1849, and was for many years connected with the Frank Leslie publications. He wrote a number of plays, among which are, True at Last; The Shepherd's Well. Other works of his are, Florentine Tales; Tales from Boccaccio; Florentine Tales; Tales from England; and Living Authors of America. He died Jan. 13, 1887, in Newark, N. J.

POWELL, WILLIAM BYRD, educator, physician, was born Jan. 8, 1799, in Bourbon county, Ky. In 1865 he was chosen professor emeritus of cerebral physiology in the New York Eclectic Medical college, but he did not lecture in that institution. He died July 3, 1867, in Henderson, Ky.

POWELL, WILLIAM HENRY, artist, was born Feb. 14, 1823, in New York city. He exhibited first at the Academy of Design, N. Y., in 1838, and was elected an associate in 1839; and attained note as a painter. He died Oct. 6, 1879, in New York city.

POWELL, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, manufacturer, was born May 10, 1825, in South Wales. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in October, 1864. After the war he settled in West Virginia, declined a nomination for congress in 1865, and was a republican presidential elector in 1868. He is president of a manufacturing company in Belleville, Ill.

POWER, FREDERICK BELDING, chemist, educator, author, was born March 4, 1853, in Hudson, N. Y. In 1881-83 he was professor of analytical chemistry at Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, and he then was called to the chair of pharmacy and materia medica in the university of Wisconsin, with charge of the newly established department of pharmacy. He is the author of several medical works.

POWER, THOMAS C., civil engineer, United States senator, governor, was born May 22, 1839, in Dubuque, Iowa. In 1867 he located at Fort Benton, the head of navigation; and was president of the Benton P. line of steamers. He is interested in cattle, mines and various mercantile companies. He located in Helena in 1878; and was elected a member of the first constitutional convention of Montana in 1883. He was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1888; and was nominated by the republicans of his state for governor in 1889. He was elected to the United States senate in 1890.

POWERS, DANIEL WILLIAM, banker, financier, was born June 14, 1818, in Batavia, N. Y. Two handsome buildings have been constructed in Rochester by him—one of them the Powers Commercial building, for business and office purposes, which now contains the Powers Art gallery, valued at over $1,000,000, and the Powers hotel, connecting on all floors above the first with the former. He was for fourteen years president of the trustees of the city hospital, and is now president of the Home for the Friendless and the Powers Banking company.

POWERS, EDWARD, civil engineer, author, was born Sept. 1, 1830, in Amenia, N. Y. He is a civil engineer who published a work entitled War and the Weather, or the Artificial Production of Rain.

POWERS, ELIZA HOWARD, philanthropist, was born in 1802. From 1862 till 1864 she was associate manager of the United States sanitary commission of New Jersey, and acting president of the Florence Nightingale Relief association of Paterson, N. J. The forty-eighth congress voted her a pension. She died Aug. 25, 1887, in Washington, D. C.

POWERS, GEORGE HERMAN, oculist, aurist, was born June 13, 1840, in Boston, Mass. Since 1866 he has practiced his profession in San Francisco, Cal.; has been oculist to the city and county hospitals and various other hospitals of San Francisco. For many years he filled the chair of ophthalmology and otology in the university of California; and is noted as one of the foremost oculists and aurists in America.

POWERS, GERSHOM, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1829 to 1831.

POWERS, GRANT, clergyman, author, was born May 31, 1784, in Hollis, N. H. He was a minister at Haverhill, N. H., in 1815-29; and at Goshen, Conn., from 1829 till his death. He published Essay on False Hope in Religion; Centennial Address; and Historical Sketches of the Settlement of the Coos Country, 1784-85. He died April 10, 1841, in Goshen, Conn.

POWERS, HENRY H., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born May 29, 1835, in Morristown, Vt. He was a member of the house of representatives of Vermont in 1858; and was prosecuting attorney of Lamoille county in 1861-62. He was a member of the state senate in 1872-73; and was speaker of the house of representatives in 1874. He was judge of the supreme court of Vermont from 1874 to 1890; and was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

POWERS, HIRAM, sculptor, was born July 29, 1805, in Woodstock, Vt. Among his many works is his Greek Slave, which became widely celebrated, and placed the artist in the first rank of sculptors. He died June 27, 1873, in Florence, Italy.

POWERS, HORATIO NELSON, clergyman, author, was born April 30, 1826, in Amenia, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman of Chicago, Bridgeport, and, in his latest years, of Piermont, N. Y., who was favorably known as a poet. He was the author of Early and Late; Poems; Ten Years of Song; Lyrics of the Hudson; and Through the Year, a volume of religious essays. He died Sept. 6, 1890, in Piermont, N. Y.

POWERS, JAMES KNOX, educator, college president, was born Aug. 15, 1851, near Florence, Ala. The same day that he graduated from the university of Alabama he was notified of his election to the chair of mathematics in the Alabama State Normal college, of which institution he has been president since 1888.

POWERS, LLEWELLYN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1838 in Pittsfield, Maine. He was prosecuting attorney from 1864 to 1871; was collector of customs for the district of Aroostook, Maine, from 1868 to 1872; and was a representative in the state legislature in 1874, 1875 and 1876. He was elected a representative from Maine to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

POWERS, ORLANDO W., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born June 16, 1850, in Pultneyville, N. Y. In 1885 he was associate justice of Utah; and a member of the Utah legislature in 1894.

POWERS, RIDGELY C., soldier, governor, was born Dec. 24, 1826, in Mecca, Ohio. He served as an assistant adjutant-general in the war for the union. He moved to the state of Mississippi in 1865; was lieutenant-governor in 1870; and in 1871 was elected governor of the state.

POWERS, THEODORE TAYLOR, educator, lawyer, was born Jan. 21, 1866, in Centerville, Iowa. He received a liberal education in the public schools, and was a graduate of the law department of Drake university at Des Moines, Iowa. For several years he was engaged in educational work; was a candidate for state representative for Appanoose county, Iowa, in 1893; and is now a prominent lawyer of Phoenix, Arizona.

POWERS, WILBUR HOWARD, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 22, 1849, in Croydon, N. H. He attended the public schools; graduated from Kimball Union academy in 1871; from Dartmouth college in 1875; from Boston university School of Law in 1878, with the degree of LL. B.; and in 1880 he received the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth college. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Hyde Park, Mass.; was town solicitor in 1889-90; a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature during 1890-92; and presidential elector in 1897. Since 1893 he has been a member of the park commission, being also its secretary and chairman.

POWELL, THOMAS, governor, author, was born in 1720 in England. In 1757 he was elected governor of Massachusetts, resigning in 1760. He wrote The Middle States of America; and Letters Advocating Free Trade. He died Feb. 25, 1805, in England.

POYAS, CATHERINE GENDRON, poet, was born April 27, 1813, in Charleston, S. C. She was a poet of Charleston; and the author of Huguenot Daughters, and Other Verses; and A Year of Grief. She died Feb. 7, 1882, in Charleston, S. C.

POYDRAS, JULIAN, congressman, was born April 3, 1746, in France. He was a delegate in congress from the territory of Louisiana from 1809 to 1812. He died June 2, 1824, in Louisiana.

PRALL, JOHN ANDREW, lawyer, was born Jan. 13, 1827, in Woodford county, Ky. In 1859 he was nominated for the state senate from Kentucky. He entered the senate and was chairman of the committee on federal relations continuously for six years. He was the candidate of his party for the senate of the United States, and received forty-seven votes on joint-ballot, the largest republican vote ever cast in the Kentucky legislature.

PRALL, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born April 6, 1853, in Paterson, N. J. In 1883 he was elected to the assembly of New Jersey, and took a leading part in what was called the railway taxation issue. He drafted and secured the enactment of the free public library law, under which all the free public libraries of New Jersey have been established. In 1887 he was admitted to priesthood, and is now rector of St. John's church, Detroit, Mich.

PRATT, ALICE EDWARDS, educator, poet. She is a writer of Rosa, Cal.; and the author of a number of poems.

PRATT, CALVIN EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 23, 1828, in Princeton, Mass. In 1862 he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1869 he was elected a judge of the supreme court of the state of New York, and he was re-elected in 1877 for fourteen years.

PRATT, CHARLES, philanthropist, was born Oct. 2, 1830, in Watertown, Mass. He displayed great interest in educational matters, and founded in Brooklyn the Pratt Industrial institute. This receives its support from the Astral flats, which were built by him, and conveyed to the institute. He died May 4, 1891, in New York city.

PRATT, CHARLES A., journalist, poet, was born Jan. 20, 1856, in Pennsylvania. From 1885-89 he was postmaster of Peoria; and in 1890 bought The Times of Sheffield, Ill.

PRATT, DANIEL DARWIN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 26, 1813, in Palermo, Maine. In 1851 and 1853 he was elected to the Indiana state legislature; and was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1860, officiating as leading secretary. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-first congress; and in 1869 was elected a senator in congress for the term ending in 1875. In 1875 he was appointed commissioner of internal revenue. He died June 17, 1877, in Logansport, Ind.

PRATT, DANIEL JOHNSON, author, was born March 8, 1827, in Westmoreland, N. Y. He was the author of Annals of Public Education in the State of New York, 1626-1746. He died Sept. 12, 1884, in Albany, N. Y.

PRATT, MRS. ELLA [FARMAN], author, was born in New York. She is a popular writer for young people, long the editor of The Wide Awake, and more recently of Our Little Men and Women. Among her writings are, Good-for-Nothing Polly; A Girl's Money; A Little Woman; A White Hand; and Happy Children.

PRATT, ENOCH, merchant, banker, philanthropist, was born Sept. 10, 1808, in Middleborough, Mass. He has given in the most liberal manner to schools, churches, and charities and has established in Baltimore the Enoch Pratt Free library, at a cost of $400,000 in real estate and $833,000 in cash.

PRATT, HENRY O., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1838, in Foxcroft, Maine. He served as a private in the army; practiced law at Charles City, Iowa, in 1864; and was elected to the Iowa house of representatives in 1869, and re-elected in 1871. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a republican.

PRATT, JACOB LORING, clergyman, author, was born in 1835. He was a clergyman of Maine; and the author of Evening Rest; Branches of Palm; Broken Fetters; The Mask Lifted; Bonnie Aerie; Mecca; and The Crown of Silver. He died in 1891.

PRATT, JAMES H., lawyer, politician, was born Nov. 16, 1850, in Linn county, Mo. He is one of the leading lawyers of his native state at Neosha; has been city attorney for four years; and served as engrossing clerk in the Missouri house of representatives. He takes a prominent part in the public affairs of his city, county and state; and is secretary of the democratic state executive judicial committee for the eastern judicial district of Missouri.

PRATT, JAMES T., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1805 in Middletown, Conn. He served in the Connecticut legislature; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855. He was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861.

PRATT, JOHN, college president, was born Oct. 12, 1800, in Thompson, Conn. He was the first president of Denison university, Ohio, serving from 1831-37. He died in 1882 in Granville, Ohio.

PRATT, JULIUS HOWARD, manufacturer, railroad builder, was born Aug. 1, 1821, in Meriden, Conn. He commenced business in 1842 as a manufacturer of ivory goods, which proved to be a success. His most important achievement was the building of the New York and Greenwood Lake railway.

PRATT, MATTHEW, artist, was born Sept. 25, 1734, in Philadelphia, Pa. His portraits, in the execution of which he proved himself an artist of undoubted talent, include those of Rev. Archdeacon Mann, of Dublin, the Duke of Portland, the Duchess of Manchester, Governor Andrew Hamilton, and Governor Cadwalader Colden, of New York. He painted also The London School of Artists, which Thomas Sully pronounced well executed. He died Jan. 9, 1805, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PRATT, O. C., lawyer, jurist, was born in New York. He removed to Illinois, and from that state was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Oregon, residing at Oregon City.

PRATT, ORSON, educator, author, was born Sept. 19, 1811, in Hartford, N. Y. He was a Mormon apostle and educator, professor of mathematics in Deseret university. He was the author of Divine Authenticity of the Book of Mormon; Cubic and Bi-Quadratic Equations; The Great First Cause; and The Absurdities of Immaterialism. He died Oct. 3, 1881, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

PRATT, PARLEY PARKER, missionary, author, was born April 12, 1807, in Burlington, N. Y. He was a baptist preacher before his conversion to Mormonism in 1830, and became one of the most earnest and eloquent ministers in the church of latter-day saints. In 1835 he was appointed one of the first twelve apostles. He was one of the pioneers of 1847, when the valley of the Great Salt Lake was selected as a place of settlement for the exiled saints. He explored the region in 1849, and built a road in what is known as Parley's canon. Parley's peak is also named after him. He was the author of Voice of Warning and Instruction to All People; History of the Persecutions of Missouri; and Key to the Science of Theology. He was assassinated May 13, 1857, near Van Buren, Ark.

PRATT, PETER, lawyer, author. He was eminent as a lawyer and published The Prey Taken from the Strong, or an Historical Account of the Recovery of One from the Dangerous Errors of Quakerism. He died in November, 1730, in New London, Conn.

PRATT, ROBERT M., artist, was born in 1811 in Binghamton, N. Y. Among his numerous portraits are those of Aaron D. Shattuck and George H. Smillie, both in the possession of the Academy of Design. He was elected an associate of the National academy in 1849, and an academician in 1851. He died Aug. 31, 1880, in New York city.

PRATT, SAMUEL WHEELER, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 9, 1838, in Livonia, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman at Monroe, Mich., from 1883; and the author of Summer at Peace Cottage, or Talks About Home Life; The Gospel of the Holy Spirit; and Life of St. Paul.

PRATT, THOMAS GEORGE, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 18, 1804, in Georgetown, D. C. He frequently served in the Maryland senate; and was a presidential elector in 1837. He was governor of Maryland from 1844 to 1848; and was a senator in congress from that state from 1850 to 1857. He died Nov. 9, 1869, in Baltimore, Md.

PRATT, ZADOCK, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1790, in Stephenstown, N. Y. In 1823 he was elected a colonel of militia; and in 1830 was elected to the New York state senate. In 1836 he was a presidential elector; and was elected to congress in 1836 and 1842. He died April 6, 1871, in Bergen, N. J.

PRAY, ISAAC CLARK, journalist, author, was born May 15, 1813, in Boston, Mass. He was a journalist, playwright and theatrical manager of New York city; and the author of Prose and Verse; The Book of the Drama; Memoirs of James Gordon Bennett; and Virginius. He died Nov. 28, 1869, in New York city.

PRAY, LEWIS GLOVER, philanthropist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1793, in Quincy, Miss. He was a Boston philanthropist who published Child's First Book of Thought; History of Sunday-Schools; and The Sylphid's School, and Other Pieces in Verse. He died in 1882.

PRAY, PUBLIUS RUTILIUS RUFUS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, author, was born in 1795 in Maine. He practiced law in Hancock county, Miss.; served in the legislature in 1828; and was president of the convention that adopted the revised constitution of 1832. In 1833 he was appointed by the legislature to revise the laws of the state, which work he completed after great labor. From 1837 till his death he was judge of the high court of errors and appeals. He published Revised Statutes of the State of Missouri. He died Jan. 11, 1840, in Pearlinton, Miss.

PREBLE, EDWARD, naval officer, was born Aug. 15, 1761, in Portland, Maine. He is famous for the success of his squadron, under his flagship the Constitution, sent against Tripoli in 1803. For these services he received a gold medal from congress. He died Aug. 25, 1807, in Portland, Maine.

PREBLE, GEORGE HENRY, naval officer, author, was born Feb. 25, 1816, in Portland, Maine. He was a rear-admiral in the United States navy; and the author of History of the American Flag; Chronological History of Steam Navigation; and The Preble Family in America. He died March 1, 1885, in Boston, Mass.

PREBLE, HARRIET, educator, author, was born in 1795 in England. She published translations into French prose of Bulwer's poem The Rebel, with an historical introduction, and of James Fenimore Cooper's Notions of the Americans, and left several works in manuscript. She died Feb. 4, 1854, in West Manchester, Pa.

PREBLE, HENRY, educator, author, was born in 1853 in Maine. He is an educator who was professor of Latin at Harvard university. He has edited a revised edition of Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar, and several volumes of Latin classics.

PREBLE, JEDEDIAH, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born in 1707 in Wells, Maine. In 1774 he was commissioned brigadier-general by the provincial congress of Massachusetts, and he was afterward made major-general, but refused on account of age. He was judge of the court of common pleas in 1778, and a member of the state senate in 1780. He died March 11, 1784, in Portland, Maine.

PRENDERGAST, DAVIS McGEE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1816, in Shelbyville, Tenn. He attended the Cumberland college, Ky.; and the East Tennessee university of Knoxville. He served as a member of the tenth and thirteenth state legislatures of Texas; and filled with distinction the office of judge of the thirteenth judicial district of Texas. He is a successful lawyer of Mexia, Texas; a decided prohibitionist; and in 1892 was nominated by that party for governor of Texas.

PRENTICE, GEORGE, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1834 in Massachusetts. He was a methodist clergyman, professor of modern languages at Wesleyan university; and the author of Life of Bishop Gilbert Haven: Rome and Italy at the Opening of the Ecumenical Council, from the French of Pressensé; and Life of Wilbur Fisk.

PRENTICE, GEORGE A., lawyer, jurist, was born May 25, 1844, in Frankfort, Ky. During 1858-61 he attended the Kentucky Military institute, and received a thorough education. For a quarter of a century he has been actively engaged in the practice of law; has been county attorney; served with distinction as county judge; and is now one of the foremost lawyers of the south at Morganfield, Ky.

He has filled several public positions of honor.

PRENTICE, GEORGE DENISON, journalist, author, poet, was born Dec. 18, 1820, in Preston, Conn. In 1823 he graduated from Brown university; and in 1829 was admitted to the bar, but never practiced. In 1825 he became editor of the Connecticut Mirror; in 1828 became editor of the New England Weekly Review; and during 1831-70 was editor of the Louisville Journal. He was widely known for his witticisms. He was the author of Life of Henry Clay; and a volume of selections from his writings entitled Prenticeana. He died Jan. 22, 1870, in Louisville, Ky. A collection of his poems was published in 1876.

PRENTIS, ROBERT RIDDICK, lawyer, jurist, was born May 24, 1855, in Albemarle county, Va. During 1883-85 he was mayor of Suffolk, Va.; presidential elector in 1892; and is now judge of the first judicial circuit court of Virginia.

PRENTISS, ALBERT NELSON, educator, author, was born May 22, 1836, in Cazenovia, N. Y. In 1868 he was elected professor of botany and horticulture in the Michigan Agriculture college, which position he now holds. He has written a monograph on the hemlock, and other botanical papers.

PRENTISS, BENJAMIN MAYBERRY, soldier, was born Nov. 23, 1819, in Belleville, W. Va. He organized a company of volunteers for service in the civil war, and his bravery earned him the sobriquet of The Hero of Shiloh, and he was promoted to brigadier-general of United States volunteers.

PRENTISS, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born in October, 1774, in Reading, Mass. He was a journalist of Washington; and the author of Fugitive Essays in Prose and Verse; Poems; History of the United States; Trial of Calvin and Hopkins; and Lives of Robert Treat Paine and General William Eaton. He died Oct. 20, 1820, in Brimfield, Mass.

PRENTISS, MRS. ELIZABETH [PAYSON], author, was born Oct. 26, 1818, in Portland, Maine. She was a popular writer of religious fiction whose Stepping Heavenward has been widely read. Among her many other works are Pemaquid; The Home at Graylock; Aunt Jane's Hero; The Flower of the Family; Little Susy Series; and Fred, Maria and Me. She died Aug. 13, 1878, in Dorset, Vt.

PRENTISS, GEORGE LEWIS, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 12, 1816, in Gorham, Maine. He is a presbyterian clergyman of New York city; and professor of pastoral theology in Union seminary from 1873. He is the author of Memoir of Seargent Prentiss; Life of Elizabeth Prentiss; Our National Bane; The Problem of the Veto Power; The Argument between Union Seminary and the General Assembly; and Fifty Years of Union Seminary.

PRENTISS, JOHN HOLMES, journalist, congressman, was born April 17, 1784, in Worcester, Mass. In 1808 he established the Freeman's Journal in Cooperstown, N. Y., which he edited with ability and success until 1849. He was a representative from New York to the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth congresses. He died June 26, 1864, in Cooperstown, N. Y.

PRENTISS, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born March 31, 1782, in Stonington, Conn. In 1824 and 1825 he represented Montpelier, Vt., in the state legislature; and in 1829 was elected chief justice of the supreme court of the state. He was a senator in congress from Vermont from 1831 to 1842. In 1842 he was appointed judge of the federal district court in Vermont, which office he held at the time of his death. He died Jan. 15, 1857, in Montpelier, Vt.

PRENTISS, SEARGENT SMITH, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1808, in Portland, Maine. He was elected to the Mississippi state legislature in 1835; and in 1837 was chosen a representative in congress from Mississippi for the years 1838 and 1839. As a jury orator he was acknowledged as having no equal in the southwestern states. He died July 1, 1850, in Longwood, Miss.

PRENTISS, THEODORE, lawyer, state legislator, was born Sept. 10, 1815, in Montpelier, Vt. He served in the Wisconsin legislature, and was three times elected mayor of Watertown.

PRENTISS, WILLIAM A., merchant, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born in 1799 in Massachusetts. In 1836 he moved to Milwaukee, Wis.; in 1847 became a justice of the peace; was four years a member of the upper branch of the territorial legislature; and was its president in 1840. In 1858 he became mayor of Milwaukee.

PRESCOTT, ALBERT BENJAMIN, chemist, author, was born Dec. 12, 1832, in Hastings, N. Y. He is a chemist who has been dean of the School of Pharmacy at Michigan university from 1876; and the author of Outlines of Proximate Organic Analysis; Chemical Examination of Alcoholic Liquors; Organic Analysis; and Qualitative Analysis.

PRESCOTT, BENJAMIN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 16, 1687, in Concord, Mass. He was the author of Examination of Certain Remarks; Letter to Joshua Gee; Letter to Rev. George Whitefield; and A Free and a Calm Consideration of the Unhappy Misunderstandings and Debates between Great Britain and the American Colonies. He died May 28, 1777, in Danvers, Mass.

PRESCOTT, BENJAMIN F., journalist, lawyer, governor, was born Feb. 26, 1833, in Epping, N. H. He became associate editor of the Independent Democrat newspaper of Concord, N. H., and continued as such until 1866. He was elected secretary of state in 1872, 1873, 1875 and 1876. He was elected governor of New Hampshire in 1877 and re-elected in 1878.

PRESCOTT, CYRUS D., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1836, in New Hartford, N. Y. He was a member of the board of aldermen of Rome, N. Y., from 1874 to 1876; a member of the state house of representatives in 1878; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

PRESCOTT, GEORGE BARTLETT, electrician, author, was born Sept. 16, 1830, in Kingston, N. H. In 1873 he visited Europe in the interest of the Western Union Telegraph company for the purpose of investigating the various systems of telegraphy in operation there, and found many important objects of recommendation, which he patented in the United States and Great Britain. He has published History, Theory and Practice of the Electric Telegraph; The Proposed Union of the Telegraph and Postal Systems (New York); The Government and the Telegraph; and Electricity and the Electric Telegraph. He died in 1894.

PRESCOTT, OLIVER, soldier, jurist, was born April 27, 1731, in Groton, Mass. In 1778 he was appointed third major-general of militia in Massachusetts, and in 1781 he became second major-general, but soon afterward he resigned. From 1779 till his death he was judge of probate for Middlesex county. He died Nov. 17, 1804, in Groton, Mass.

PRESCOTT, OLIVER, physician, author, was born April 4, 1762, in Groton, Mass. He removed to Newburyport in 1811, practicing successfully there till his death. He was often a representative in the legislature, and was a founder, trustee, and treasurer of Groton academy. He died Sept. 26, 1827, in Newburyport.

PRESCOTT, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Feb. 20, 1726, in Groton, Mass. He fought with distinguished bravery at the battle of Bunker Hill, where he was one of the chief commanders. He died Oct. 13, 1795, in Pepperell, Mass.

PRESCOTT, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Aug. 19, 1762, in Pepperell, Mass. He removed to Salem, Mass., and after representing that town for several years in the legislature, he was elected a state senator by the federal party for Essex county, first in 1806, and again in 1813. He died Dec. 8, 1844, in Boston, Mass.

PRESCOTT, WILLIAM, physician, author, was born Dec. 29, 1788, in Gilman-ton, N. H. He was an enthusiastic collector of minerals and shells, and was a member of many literary and scientific societies. He wrote the Prescott Memorial. He died Oct. 18, 1875, in Gilman-ton, N. H.

PRESCOTT, WILLIAM C., lawyer, legis-lator, was born Dec. 11, 1848, in New Hartford, N. Y. During 1893-94 he was a member of the New York state legislature. He is a prominent lawyer of Herkimer, N. Y., and grand marshal of Free and Ac-cepted Masons of his state.

PRESCOTT, WILLIAM HICKLING, his-torian, author, was born May 4, 1796, in Salem, Mass. He was a celebrated his-torian of Boston. In 1837 his History of the Reign of Ferdinand and Isabella ap-peared and brought him instant fame. It was followed by The Conquest of Mexico; The Conquest of Peru; an edition of Robertson's Charles V., with Prescott's own work on the cloister life of that monarch; History of Philip II.; and Biographical and Critical Miscellanies. He died Jan. 28, 1850, in Boston, Mass.

PRESSEY, EDWARD PEARSON, edu-cator, clergyman, sociologist, was born in 1869 in Salem, N. H. He attended the Pinkerton academy of Derry, N. H.; and graduated from Harvard college and from Harvard Divinity school. He has been a successful teacher in the Boston public schools; and now fills a pastorate in the First Congregational church of Rowe, Mass. He is a practical sociologist, and contributes extensively to current liter-ature.

PRESTON, ACHSAH ANNIE, author, was born Oct. 18, 1840, in Vernon, Vt. For forty years she has contributed to the leading publications of America.

PRESTON, ANN, physician, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 1, 1813, in West Grove, Pa. She was active in the estab-lishment of the Woman's hospital of Philadelphia, and was from its beginning one of the managers, its corresponding secretary, and its consulting physician. She published various essays on the medi-cal education of women, and was the au-thor of a book of poems entitled Cousin Ann's Stories for Children. She died April 18, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PRESTON, CHARLES, legislator, was born March 10, 1856, in Milbrook, N. Y. He is a representative of the South Da-kota state legislature. He is the owner of a ranch of two thousand acres well stocked with sheep.

PRESTON, DAVID, banker, philanthro-pist, was born Sept. 20, 1826, in Harmony, N. Y. He established himself as a banker in Detroit and Chicago. He gave about $200,000 to charities, and pledged himself to raise from the people of Michigan $60,-000, giving himself nearly one-half of this sum, for Albion college, of which he was a trustee from 1862 till his death. He died April 24, 1887, in Detroit, Mich.

PRESTON, FRANCIS, congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1765, in Botetourt coun-ty, Va. He was a member of congress from Virginia from 1793 to 1797. He died May 25, 1835, in Columbia, S. C.

PRESTON, HARRIET WATERS, au-thor, was born in 1843 in Danvers, Mass. She is a high authority upon Provencal literature and a writer of literary criti-cism and historical studies who has lived much in Europe. She is the author of Aspendale; Love in the Nineteenth Cen-tury; Troubadours and Trouvères; A Year in Eden; Is That All? a novel; and The Georgics of Virgil in English Verse.

PRESTON, JACOB A., congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a repre-sentative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845.

PRESTON, JAMES PATTON, soldier, governor, was born in 1774 in Montgom-ery county, Va. For many years he was postmaster of the city of Richmond; and was governor of Virginia from 1816 to 1819. He died May 4, 1843, in Smithfield, Va.

PRESTON, MRS. MARGARET [JUN-KIN], author, poet, was born in 1825 in Philadelphia, Pa. She was a poet and prose writer of Lexington, Va., and later of Baltimore; and the author of Old Song and New; Beechenbrook, a Rhyme of the War; Colonial Ballads, Sonnets, and Other Verse; For Love's Sake; The Young Ruler's Question; Silverwood, a novel; and A Handful of Monographs.

PRESTON, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1665 in Patuxent, Md. He was chosen mayor of Philadelphia in 1711; and in 1714 became the treasurer of the province, retaining the office until his death. In 1726 he became a justice of the peace and of the court of common pleas. He died Sept. 10, 1743, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PRESTON, THOMAS LEWIS, manufac-turer, state legislator, author, was born Nov. 28, 1812, in Botetourt county, Va. He was for many years engaged in Wash-ington and Smith counties, Va., in the manufacture of salt, in which he made material improvements. He was twice a member of the legislature, for many years a visitor of the university of Virginia, and twice its rector. He has published Life of Elizabeth Russell, Wife of Gen. William Campbell of King's Mountain.

PRESTON, THOMAS SCOTT, clergy-m-an, author, was born July 23, 1824, in Hartford, Conn. He was a Roman cath-olic clergyman, but prior to 1849 in orders in the episcopal church. From 1881 he was a domestic prelate of the papal house-hold with the title of monsignore. He was the author of Protestantism and the Bible; Reason and Revelation; Christ and the Church; The Ark of the Coven-ant; and Sermons for the Seasons; Life of St. Mary Magdalene; Life of St. Vincent de Paul; Christian Unity; and Purga-torian Manual. He died in 1891.

PRESTON, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1816, in Louisville, Ky. He went to Mexico as a lieutenant-colonel of the Kentucky volunteers; and served in the convention called to frame anew the con-stitution of Kentucky. In 1850 and 1851 he was elected to the state legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1852, voting for Scott. He was elected a repre-sentative from Kentucky to the thirty-second congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the thirty-third congress. In 1858 he was appointed minister to Spain. He took part in the rebellion, and was a brigadier-general; and in 1868 was elect-ed to the state legislature. He died Sept. 21, 1887, in Lexington, Ky.

PRESTON, WILLIAM BALLARD, sec-retary of navy, was born Nov. 25, 1805, in Smithfield, Va. He graduated from the university of Vir-ginia, and attained prominence as a suc-cessful lawyer. He served a number of terms in the Vir-ginia state senate; and in 1846 was sent to congress. In 1849 was appointed secre-tary of navy. He was elected to the confederate senate in 1861; and was a member of that body at the time of his death. He died Nov. 16, 1862, in Mont-gomery county, Va.

PRESTON, WILLIAM CAMPBELL, lawyer, United States senator, was born Dec. 27, 1794, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was admitted to the bar in 1821, and com-menced the practice of law in Virginia. In 1822 he moved to Columbia, S. C.; and in 1832 was elected to the senate of the United States from South Carolina. In 1855 he became president of the university of South Carolina. He died May 22, 1860, in Columbia, S. C.

PRETTYMAN, ELIJAH BARRETT, ed-ucator, was born Feb. 20, 1830, in Wil-lyamsport, Pa. He attended a classical school in Baltimore; then attended the Cumberland acad-emy; and subse-quently graduated from Dickinson academy. He has at-tained success in ed-ucational work; has been principal of Brookeville acad-emy; principal of Maryland State Nor-malschool; and state superintendent of public instruction of Maryland. He is prominent in education-al affairs; and has contributed valuable articles to educational journals.

PREVOST, CHARLES MALLET, sol-dier, lawyer, was born Sept. 19, 1818, in Baltimore, Md. He was appointed United States marshal for the territory of Wis-consin, and he was subsequently deputy collector of the port of Philadelphia. He died Nov. 5, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PREVOST, JOHN B., lawyer, jurist. In 1804 he was appointed a judge of the United States court for the territory of Orleans.

PREYER, HUGO, journalist, writer, orator, was born Jan. 20, 1847, in Prussia. Since 1872 he has been engaged in re-form work; was publisher of the Ohio Staats Zeitung of Canton, Ohio; and the Colorado Staats Zeitung of Denver, Colo. He has deliv-ered speeches in nearly every state in the union; and in 1878 was the candi-date for lieutenant-governor of Ohio on the greenback ticket.

He has been national chairman of the greenback labor party; for two years was state chairman of the people's party of Ohio; and for four years was a member of the national committee of the people's party, receiving the re-election for a sec-ond term of four years more.

PRICE, ANDREW, lawyer, planter, congressman, was born April 2, 1854, in Chatsworth plantation, La. He was elected from Louisiana to the fifty-first congress to fill a vacancy. He was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

PRICE, BRUCE, architect, author, was born Sept. 12, 1845, in Cumberland, Md. He is an architect of New York city; and the author of A Large Country House.

PRICE, CURTIS E., surgeon, was born Sept. 25, 1840, in Letimbreville, Ohio. He entered the army as surgeon, and was brevetted lieutenant-colonel for gallant conduct at the battle of Nashville; served with the army of the Cumberland until the close of the war; and since 1867 has been in the regular service of the United States army as surgeon.

PRICE, E. B., poet. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Beulah.

PRICE, ELI KIRK, lawyer, author, was born July 20, 1797, in Bradford, Pa. He was a Philadelphia lawyer of prominence and the author of Law of Limitations and Liens against Real Estate. He died Nov. 14, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PRICE, GEORGE EDMUND, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 9, 1848, in Moorefield, W. Va. He is a prominent lawyer of Charleston, W. Va. During 1883-90 he was a state senator of the West Virginia legislature, and in 1885-87 was president of that body.

PRICE, GEORGE WASHINGTON FER-GUS, educator, was born Sept. 24, 1830, in Butler county, Ala. In 1872 he became president of the Methodist Female college at Huntsville, Ala., resigning in 1880, when he removed to Nashville, Tenn., and established there the Nashville College for Young Ladies.

PRICE, HIRAM, public official, congressman, was born Jan. 10, 1814, in Washington county, Pa. He was president of the State bank of Iowa from 1859 to 1866; and was paymaster-general of Iowa during the civil war. He was elected a representative from Iowa to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-fifth, and forty-sixth congresses. He was president of the Davenport and St. Paul Railroad company.

PRICE, HUGH H., merchant, congressman, was born Dec. 2, 1859, in Black River Falls, Wis. He is engaged in milling and lumber business in Black River Falls, Wis.; and was elected to the forty-ninth congress as a republican to fill a vacancy.

PRICE, IRA MAURICE, educator, author, was born in 1856 in Ohio. He is an educator of Chicago, professor of Semitic languages in the university of Chicago from 1892; and the author of Syllabus of Old Testament History.

PRICE, RODMAN McCAULEY, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born May 5, 1816, in Sussex county, N. J. He was appointed purser in the navy in 1840; and is said to have been the first person to exercise judicial functions under the American flag on the Pacific coast, as alcalde. In 1848 he was made naval agent for the Pacific coast; was a representative in congress from his native state from 1851 to 1853; and was subsequently elected governor of New Jersey. He caused the establishment in that state of a normal school, and did much to improve the militia of the state. He was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861.

PRICE, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, United States senator, was born Aug. 18, 1805, in Fauquier county, Va. He served several terms in the Virginia state legislature; and in 1863 was elected lieutenant-governor of Virginia, holding the office until the close of the civil war. In 1876 he was appointed United States senator, serving about two months. He died Feb. 25, 1884, in Leesburg, Va.

PRICE, STERLING, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Sept. 12, 1809, in Prince Edward county, Va. He was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1845 to 1847; and was governor of that state from 1853 to 1857. He was identified with the great rebellion of 1861 as a major-general. He died Sept. 29, 1867, in St. Louis, Mo.

PRICE, THEOPHILUS TOWNSEND, physician, author, poet, was born May 21, 1828, in Cape May county, N. J. Since 1879 he has been acting assistant surgeon in the United States marine hospital service, the first and only appointment of the kind in New Jersey. He has served in the New Jersey legislature. He is the author of the entire historical and descriptive part of the Historical and Biographical Atlas of the New Jersey Coast.

PRICE, THOMAS LAWSON, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1809, near Danville, Va. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-seventh congress. He died July 15, 1870, in Lexington, Mo.

PRICE, THOMAS RANDOLPH, educator, author, was born in 1839 in Virginia. He is a professor of English literature at Columbia college from 1882; and the author of The Teaching of the Mother Tongue; and Shakespeare's Verse Construction.

PRICE, TITUS ELLSWORTH, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 18, 1861, in Solon, Ohio. For three successive terms he was city treasurer of Highmore, S. D.; during 1887-91 was superintendent of public instruction for Hyde county; and in 1891-93 was state's attorney for the same county. In 1893 he was a member of the South Dakota house of representatives; and in 1895 was a delegate to the national republican league convention held in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1895 he moved to Yankton, S. D., where he is engaged in the practice of law, and very prominent in political affairs.

PRICE, WALTER, farmer, politician, writer, was born July 19, 1860, in Marshall county, Iowa. He is a successful farmer of Milford, S. D.; a writer on economic questions from the farmer's standpoint; and for ten years has been a correspondent of the Dakota Ruralist and other reform papers. He has been postmaster of his city, and held various other offices; has been chairman of the county committee; a member of the state committee of the people's party of South Dakota; and was the nominee for state senator in 1892.

PRICE, WILLIAM P., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1835, in Dahlonega, Ga. He practiced law at Greenville, S. C., and was a member of the state legislature in 1864-66. He returned to Georgia in 1866, and was a member of the legislature of Georgia in 1868. He was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-first congress, and was re-elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat.

PRICE, WILLIAM THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born July 19, 1830, near Marlinton, W. Va. He was prepared for college at the Hillsboro academy, and graduated in 1854 from Washington college, now called the Washington and Lee university, receiving a forty-dollar gold medal as the first honor graduate. In 1857 he completed his theological studies at the Union Theological seminary, and was licensed the same year to preach. His time has since been devoted mainly to the ministry of the presbyterian church—for forty years—twelve years as home missionary in Bath and Highland counties, Va.; sixteen years as pastor in Cooke's Creek church in Rockingham, Va., and twelve years as pastor in Huntersville and Marlinton churches. He has contributed extensively to religious literature; and is the author of several published works.

PRICE, WILLIAM THOMPSON, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born June 17, 1824, in Barre township, Pa. He was judge of Jackson county, Wis., once by election and once by appointment, and was a representative in the state legislature in 1851 and 1852. He was a state senator in 1857, 1870, 1871, 1878, 1879, 1880 and 1881. He was collector of internal revenue from 1863 to 1865. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses. He died Dec. 6, 1886, in Eau Claire, Wis.

PRICKETT, HENRY E., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Feb. 1, 1829, in England. He was county judge of Jackson county, Wis., from 1856 to 1860, and was a representative in the state legislature in 1858. He settled in Idaho territory; was a member of the council of the territorial legislature in 1875, and in 1876 was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Idaho, and was reappointed in 1880.

PRICKETT, JACOB P., journalist, poet, was born May 10, 1836, in Benton, Ind. He is the editor of the Albion New Era of his native state, and is the author of a number of poems.

PRIDEMORE, AUBURN LORENZO, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born June 27, 1837, in Scott county, Va. He was elected to the Virginia assembly in 1865, but the close of the war annulled the election. He practiced law in Jonesville, Va.; was a state senator from 1871 to 1875, and was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat.

PRIEST, HENRY SAMUEL, jurist, was born Feb. 7, 1853, in Ralls county, Mo. In 1894 he was appointed United States district judge for the eastern district of Missouri.

PRIEST, JOSIAH, author, was born about 1790 in New York. He was a harness-maker of New York state, some of whose books were very popular. He was the author of Wonders of Nature; View of the Millennium; Stories of the Revolution; American Antiquities; and Slavery in the Light of History and Scripture. He died about 1850.

PRIME, BENJAMIN YOUNG, physician, author, poet, was born Dec. 20, 1733, in Huntington, L. I. He was a physician of Huntington, L. I., who wrote patriotic verses during the revolutionary period. The Patriot Muse, published in 1764, includes his earlier poems. Columbia's Glory, or British Pride Humbled, is a long poem printed in 1791. He died Oct. 31, 1791, in Huntington, N. Y.

PRIME, EDWARD DORR GRIFFIN, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Nov. 2, 1814, in Cambridge, N. Y. He was a presbyterian clergyman who was one of the editors of The New York Observer, to which he contributed the Letters of Eusebius. He was the author of Around the World; and Forty Years in the Turkish Empire, or Memoirs of Reverend William Goodell. He died April 7, 1891, in New York.

PRIME, FREDERICK, geologist, educator, was born March 1, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1870 he was elected professor of mining and metallurgy at Lafayette, and in 1874 he became assistant geologist on the geological survey of Pennsylvania, both of which places he filled until 1879. At the world's fair of 1876 he was judge of the group on mining and metallurgy, filling the office of secretary to the board.

PRIME, FREDERICK EDWARD, soldier, was born Sept. 24, 1829, in Italy. He was promoted major in 1863, brevetted lieutenant-colonel the following month for meritorious services before Vicksburg, and colonel and brigadier-general in 1865 for gallant conduct throughout the war.

PRIME, NATHANIEL SCUDDER, clergyman, author, was born April 21, 1785, in Huntington, L. I. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Newburgh, N. Y., and the author of Familiar Illustration of Christian Baptism; and History of Long Island. He died March 27, 1856, in Mamaroneck, N. Y.

PRIME, SAMUEL IRENÆUS, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Nov. 4, 1812, in Ballston, N. Y. He was a presbyterian clergyman, editor of The New York Observer for forty-five years. He was the author of Fifteen Years of Prayer; Irenæus Letters; The Old White Meeting-House; Life in New York; Annals of the English Bible; Songs of the Soul; Life of S. B. F. Morse; Prayer and Its Answer; Walking with God; Travels in Europe and the East; The Bible in the Levant; The Alhambra and the Kremlin; and Under the Trees. He died July 18, 1885, in Manchester, Vt.

PRIME, WILLIAM COWPER, journalist, educator, author, was born Oct. 31, 1825, in Cambridge, N. Y. He is a lawyer and journalist, and professor of the history of art at Princeton college from 1884. He is the author of Boat Life in Egypt; Tent Life in the Holy Land; Pottery and Porcelain; The Owl Creek Letters; Coins, Medals and Seals; I Go A-Fishing; Holy Cross; Along New England Roads; and Among the Northern Hills.

PRINCE, CHARLES H., soldier, public official, congressman, was born May 9, 1837, in Buckfield, Maine. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Georgia to the fortieth congress as a republican.

PRINCE, GEORGE W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 4, 1854, in Tazewell county, Ill. He was elected a member of the lower house of the general assembly of Illinois in 1888, and was re-elected in 1890. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress at a special election held in 1895, to fill a vacancy, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

PRINCE, MRS. HELEN CHOATE (PRATT), author, was born in 1857 in Massachusetts. She is a novelist now living in France, and the author of The Story of Christine Rochefort; and A Transatlantic Chatelaine.

PRINCE, HENRY, soldier, was born June 19, 1811, in Eastport, Maine. In the civil war he took part in the northern Virginia campaign, and was made brigadier-general of volunteers.

PRINCE, L. BRADFORD, lawyer, jurist, senator, governor, author, was born July 3, 1840, in Flushing, N. Y. In 1871 he was elected to the New York assembly from Queens county; in 1875 was a member of the state senate; in 1879 was elected chief justice of New Mexico; and in 1889 was elected governor. He is the author of American Nationality; General Laws of New Mexico; History of New Mexico; and The American Church and Its Name.

PRINCE, NATHAN, missionary, author, was born Nov. 30, 1698, in Sandwich, Mass. He took orders in the Church of England, and was sent as a missionary to the Mosquito Indians in Central America. He published an Essay to Solve the Difficulties Attending the Several Accounts Given of the Resurrection; and an Account of the Constitution and Government of Harvard College from 1636 to 1742. He died July 25, 1748, in Honduras.

PRINCE, OLIVER HILLHOUSE, lawyer, congressman, author, was born about 1787 in Connecticut. He published a Digest of the Laws of Georgia. He was a senator in congress from Georgia during the years 1828 and 1829. He died Oct. 9, 1837, at sea.

PRINCE, THOMAS, governor, was born in 1601, in England. He came to America on the Mayflower; and during 1634-38 was governor of Plymouth Colony, and also during 1657-73. He died March 29, 1673, in Plymouth, Mass.

PRINCE, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born May 15, 1687, in Sandwich, Mass. He was a congregational minister, pastor of the Old South church in Boston, 1718-58, and one of the most fair-minded, accurate historical writers that America has had. His library now forms a separate collection in the Boston public library. He is the author of Earthquakes of New England (1755); and Chronological History of New England. He died Oct. 22, 1758, in Boston, Mass.

PRINCE, THOMAS, editor, was born Feb. 27, 1722, in Boston, Mass. He edited the earliest American periodical, which was entitled Christian History, and contained accounts of the revival and propagation of religion in Great Britain and America for 1743. He died Sept. 30, 1748, in Boston, Mass.

PRINCE, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1823 to 1824. He died Sept. 8, 1824, in Princeton, Ind.

PRINCE, WILLIAM, horticulturist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1766, in Flushing, L. I. He was a horticulturist of Flushing, L. I., whose Treatise on Horticulture (1826) was the first comprehensive work on the subject published in the United States. He died April 9, 1842, in Flushing, N. Y.

PRINCE, WILLIAM ROBERT, horticulturist, author, was born Nov. 6, 1795, in Flushing, L. I. He was a horticulturist of Flushing, and the author of History of the Vine (with W. Prince); Pomological Manual; and Manual of Roses. He died March 28, 1869, in Flushing, N. Y.

PRINDLE, ELIZUR H., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born May 6, 1829, in Newton, Conn. He was district attorney of Chenango county, N. Y., in 1860-62, and was a member of the state assembly in 1863. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second congress as a republican.

PRINGLE, BENJAMIN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 9, 1807, in Richfield, N. Y. He moved to Batavia, N. Y., in 1830, and attained success as an able lawyer. He held the office of judge in the court of common pleas, and was a member of the thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses. He served in the assembly in 1862, and in 1863 was appointed by President Lincoln a judge under a treaty with Great Britain for the suppression of the slave trade. He died June 7, 1887.

PRINGREY, DARIUS HARLAN, lawyer, author, was born April 23, 1841, in Andover, N. Y. In 1877 he was admitted to the bar, and the following year began the practice of law at Bloomington, Ill. He is the author of two legal works: Chattel Mortgages; and Mortgages of Real Property, in two volumes.

PRITCHARD, JETER CONNELLY, journalist, state legislator, United States senator, was born July 12, 1857, in Jonesboro, Tenn. He was joint editor and owner of the Roan Mountain Republican until 1887, when he removed to Marshall, N. C. He was elected to the legislature in 1884, 1886, and 1890; was the republican candidate for lieutenant-governor in 1888 and was the republican caucus in 1887. In 1894 he became prominent in the co-operation movement in North Carolina, and the success of that movement resulted in his election to the United States senate to fill a vacancy. He was re-elected in 1897 for term expiring March 3, 1903.

PROCTOR, EDNA DEAN, littérateur, author, was born Oct. 10, 1838, in Henniker, N. H. She is a writer formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y., now of South Framingham, Mass. She is the author of Poems; A Russian Journey; and The Song of the Ancient People.

PROCTOR, LUCIEN BROCK, author, was born March 6, 1826, in Hanover, N. H. He is a legal writer of Albany, and the author of The Bench and the Bar of the State of New York; Lives of the State Chancellors; Life of Thomas Emmet; Lawyer and Client; Bench and Bar of King's County; and Legal History of Albany and Schenectady Counties.

PROCTOR, REDFIELD, soldier, state senator, governor, United States senator, was born June 1, 1831, in Caveudish, Vt.

He served as lieutenant and quartermaster of the third regiment of Vermont volunteers, and was major of the fifth and colonel of the fifteenth Vermont regiments. He was a member of the Vermont house of representatives in 1867, 1868, and 1888; was a member of the state senate and president pro tempore of that body in 1874 and 1875; and was lieutenant-governor from 1876 to 1878 and governor from 1878 to 1880. He was a delegate to the republican national conventions of 1884 and 1888, and was appointed secretary of war by President Harrison in 1889. In 1891 he resigned from the cabinet to accept the appointment as United States senator, and was elected by the Vermont legislature to fill both the unexpired and the full terms. His term of service will expire in 1899. During 1869-89 he was actively engaged in the marble business; organized and was president of the Vermont Marble company, which became the largest producer and manufacturer of marble in the world.

PROCTOR, THOMAS, soldier, was born in 1739 in Ireland. In 1793 he became brigadier-general of the Pennsylvania troops, and marched against the whiskey insurgents at the head of the first brigade. After this he became major-general of the Philadelphia militia. He died March 16, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PROCTOR, THOMAS H., manufacturer, author, was born March 12, 1842, in Marblehead, Mass. He is a successful shoe manufacturer of Vineland, N. J., and the present head of the populist party of New Jersey. He was educated in the public schools of his native city; took a course in a leading business college; started in the shoe manufacturing business in 1866, and removed to Vineland four years later. He is an able and interesting speaker, and an advocate of woman's suffrage and temperance. He is the author of a work entitled The Banker's Dream, a monograph disguised as a story.

PROCTOR, WILLIAM LAWRENCE, lumber merchant, was born March 26, 1837, in Washington, N. H. He received the rudiments of his education in the district schools; attended Tubbs' Union academy; and finished with two terms in the New London academy. In 1857 he worked for his uncle at Burlington, Vt., in the lumber business; and two years later continued in the same business at Ogdensburg, N. Y. He has filled all the important offices in that city, and was its mayor in 1871-74, and 1884, and in 1886; and since 1887 has been one of the managers of the St. Lawrence State hospital. In 1888 he was the presidential elector, and cast his vote for Benjamin Harrison for president. In 1896 he was a delegate to the republican national convention; and since 1882 has been one of the republican state committeemen. Since 1882 he has also been one of the superintendents of the poor; and trustee and president of the Ogdensburg cemetery since 1880. Since 1857 he has been respectively, employee, manager, vice-president and president of the Skillings, Whitney and Barnes Lumber company.

PROFIT, GEORGE H., diplomat, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1839 to 1843, and in 1843 was United States minister to Brazil. He died Sept. 5, 1847, in Louisville, Ky.

PROONIE, JOHN WILLIAM, educator, chemist, was born June 19, 1866, in Cole's Creek, Miss. He has been a fellow in chemistry of the university of Mississippi, and professor of natural sciences and chairman of the faculty in the Mississippi college.

PROSE, JOSEPH BENSON, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 8, 1856, in Patriot, Ohio. He received a liberal education in the public schools, and subsequently attended the Ohio university for three years. In his early days he was engaged in educational work; and is now a prominent lawyer of Kansas at Hoisington. He is attorney for the Missouri and Pacific Railway company; and a most successful commercial and corporation lawyer.

PROSSER, WILLIAM F., soldier, merchant, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 16, 1834, in Williamsport, Pa. He was elected a representative in the Tennessee state legislature in 1867, and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-first congress as a republican.

PROUD, ROBERT, author, was born May 10, 1728, in England. He was the author of a History of Pennsylvania. He died July 7, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PROUDFIT, ALEXANDER MON-CRIEF, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 10, 1770, in Pequea, Pa. He was an associate reformed presbyterian clergyman, and the author of Discourses on the Parables; and Theological Works. He died Nov. 23, 1843, in New Brunswick, N. J.

PROUDFIT, DAVID LAW, soldier, poet, was born Oct. 27, 1842, in Newburgh, N. Y. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, gaining the rank of major. He afterward entered business in New York city. His poems have been collected in two volumes entitled, Love Among the Gamins; and Mask and Domino. He died in 1897.

PROUDFIT, JOHN WILLIAMS, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 22, 1803, in Salem, N. Y. He was a Dutch reformed clergyman, professor of Greek in Rutgers college, 1840-64, and the author of Man's Two-Fold Life. He died March 9, 1870, in New Brunswick, N. J.

PROUTY, CHARLES AZRO, lawyer, state legislator, was born Oct. 9, 1853, in Newport, R. I. In 1882-86 he was state's attorney, and in 1888 was elected a member of the Rhode Island house of representatives. In 1896 he was appointed a member of the inter-state commerce commission at Washington, D. C.

PRUDDEN, THEOPHILE MITCHELL, educator, physician, author, was born in 1849 in Connecticut. He is a New York physician, professor of pathology in the college of Physicians and Surgeons, and the author of Manual of Normal Histology (with Delafield); Dust and Its Dangers; Water and Ice; Handbook of Pathological Anatomy; and Story of the Bacteria.

PRUD'HOMME, JOHN FRANCIS EUGENE, engraver, was born Oct. 4, 1800, in West Indies. At the age of seventeen he essayed engraving portraits, and produced several fine plates for Longacre and Herring's National Portrait Gallery of Distinguished Americans. He also engraved some plates for the annuals that were fashionable at that time. He is the oldest living American engraver.

PRUITT, WILLIAM MONTCALM, educator, was born Nov. 21, 1866, in Meridianville, Ala. He attended the State Normal and Industrial school of Huntsville, Ala.; and graduated from the Southland college, Arkansas, with the degree of B. S. He has attained success as a teacher in the public schools of Arkansas, and is now principal of the Normal department of Southland college.

PRUYN, JOHN VAN SCHAICK LANSING, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 22, 1811, in Albany, N. Y. In 1844 he was made a member of the board of regents, and in 1862 chancellor of the university of New York. He was a state senator in 1862, and at a special election in 1863 was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress to fill a vacancy. He was re-elected to the fortieth congress. He died Nov. 21, 1877, in Clifton Springs, N. Y.

PRUYN, ISAAC, lawyer, banker, was born Nov. 25, 1816, in Kinderhook, N. Y. He was one of the incorporators of the Catskill Mountain railroad; and also trustee and director of several banking and railroad corporations.

PRYOR, LUKE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born July 5, 1820, in Madison county, Ala. In 1845 he moved to Limestone county, Ala., and in 1855 was elected a representative in the state legislature. In 1880 he was appointed United States senator, and was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

PRYOR, ROGER ATKINSON, soldier, legislator, jurist, congressman, was born July 19, 1828, near Petersburg, Va. He was a brigadier-general in the confederate army and a member of the confederate congress. He was a member of the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses, special minister to Greece under the Pierce administration, and judge of court of common pleas in New York city, where he was also justice of the supreme court.

PUFFER, REUBEN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 7, 1756, in Sudbury, Mass. In 1781 he became pastor of the congregational church in Berlin, which charge he held till his death. He published an election sermon; Dudleian Lecture at Harvard; an Address; Convention Sermon; and Two Sermons. He died April 9, 1829, in Berlin, Mass.

PUGH, MRS. ELIZA LOFTON (PHILIPS)—ARRIA—author, was born in 1841 in Louisiana. She is a novelist of Assumption Parish, La., and the author of Not a Hero; and In a Crucible.

PUGH, EVAN, chemist, college president, was born Feb. 29, 1828, in Nottingham, Pa. In 1859 he accepted the presidency of Pennsylvania Agricultural college. He at once organized a new scheme of instruction, planned and superintended the erection of the college buildings. He died April 29, 1864, in Bellefontaine, Pa.

PUGH, GEORGE ELLIS, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born Nov. 28, 1822, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was a representative in the Ohio legislature in 1848 and 1849. He was appointed solicitor of the city of Cincinnati in 1850, and was attorney-general of the state in 1851. He was elected a senator in congress from 1855 for six years. He died July 19, 1876, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PUGH, JAMES LAWRENCE, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 12, 1820, in Burke county, Pa. He was a presidential elector in 1848, 1856, and 1876, and was elected a representative from Alabama to the thirty-sixth congress. In 1861 he was elected to the confederate congress, and was re-elected in 1863. He was elected a United States senator from Alabama in 1885 to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected in 1884 and in 1890.

PUGH, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1805 to 1809.

PUGH, JOHN HOWARD, physician, banker, congressman, was born June 23, 1827, in Chester county, Pa. He moved to Burlington, N. J., and commenced the practice of his profession in 1854. In 1869 he was elected president of the Mechanics' National bank of Burlington, and was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

PUGH, SAMUEL J., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 28, 1850, in Greenup county, Ky. He has held successively the offices of city attorney in 1872-73; master commissioner of the circuit court in 1874-80; county attorney in 1878-86; and county judge in 1886-90. He was delegate to the Kentucky constitutional convention in 1890-91, and state senator in 1893-94. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

PUGSLEY, JACOB J., lawyer, congressman, was born in Dutchess county, N. Y. He served in both branches of the Ohio state legislature. He was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

PULTZER, JOSEPH, soldier, lawyer, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born April 10, 1847, in Hungary. He was elected a representative in the Missouri legislature in 1869. In the spring of 1883 he bought the New York World, of which he became the editor and sole proprietor. In 1884 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-ninth congress.

PULLE, WILLIAM ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 18, 1819, in Richmond county, N. C. He has been prosecuting attorney, judge of the common pleas, and secretary of the state of Indiana. He has been one of the foremost lawyers of Indiana, and resides in Centerville.

PULLEN, MRS. ELISABETH (JONES) (CAVAZZA), author, was born in Maine. She is a littérateur of Portland, Maine, and the author of Don Finimondone: Calabrian Sketches.

PULLMAN, GEORGE MORTIMER, founder and president of the Pullman Palace Car company, was born March 3, 1831, in Brockton, N. Y. In 1859 he settled in Chicago during the period when the whole city was being lifted bodily to a higher level, and gained perhaps $20,000 by raising the Mattison house and various blocks of buildings and the level of certain streets under contract. It was in 1859 that the attention of Mr. Pullman was first drawn, by traveling in one between Buffalo and Westfield, to the uncomfortable sleeping cars of that day, then consisting of ordinary passenger cars with three rows of bunks on each side. After conversations on the subject with Hon. Benjamin Field of New York state, Mr. Pullman became a partner of Mr. Field in the operation of sleeping cars on the Chicago and Alton and the old Galena railroads.

PULLMAN, JAMES MINTON, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Aug. 21, 1836, in Portland, N. Y. Since 1885 he has been pastor of the First Universalist church in Lynn, Mass., and he is president of the Associated Charities of that city. He edited the Christian Leader several years, and has published reviews and lectures.

PULTE, JOSEPH HIPPOLYT. physician, author, was born Oct. 6, 1811, in Germany. He was a physician of Cleveland, and the author of The Homeopathic Domestic Physician; The Science of Medicine; and The Woman's Medical Guide. He died Feb. 24, 1884, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PUMPELLY, MRS. MARY HOLLENBACK (WELLES), poet, was born May 6, 1803, in Athens, Pa. She was a verse-writer whose religious historical poems were collected in a volume in 1852. She died in 1879.

PUMPELLY, RAPHAEL, educator, geologist, author, was born Sept. 8, 1837, in Owego, N. Y. He is a geologist of note, professor of mining engineering at Harvard university from 1866, and the author of Geological Researches in China; Across America and Asia; and Notes of a Five-Years' Journey Around the World.

PUNCHARD, GEORGE, journalist, clergyman, author, was born June 7, 1806, in Salem, Mass. He was a Boston journalist, for many years editor of The Traveller, but who, prior to 1845, was a congregational clergyman in New Hampshire. He was the author of History of Congregationalism from A. D. 250; and View of Congregationalism. He died April 2, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

PURCE, CHARLES LEE, clergyman, educator, college president, was born July 4, 1856, in Charleston, S. C. He received the rudiments of his education in the public, private and high schools of his native city; attended the Benedict college of Columbia, S. C., the Richmond Theological seminary, and correspondence courses in Greek and Hebrew at Chicago, Ill. He has attained eminence as a baptist clergyman, and has filled pastorates in South Carolina, Alabama and Louisville, Ky. For two years he filled the chair of Greek and Latin in the Selma university, Ala.; and for eight years was its president. He has been the general missionary of the American Baptist Home Mission society of New York for Alabama, and is now the president of the State university of Louisville, Ky.

PURCELL, JOHN BAPTIST, archbishop, was born Feb. 26, 1800, in Ireland. In 1828 he became president of St. Mary's college of Emmettsburg, Md. In 1850 he was made a Roman catholic archbishop at Cleveland, Ohio. He died July 4, 1883, in Brown county, Ohio.

PURDON, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, was born in 1784 in Philadelphia, Pa. He served in the Pennsylvania legislature, and was active in public affairs. He published an Abridgement of the Laws of Pennsylvania from 1700. He died Oct. 3, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa.

PURDY, SMITH M., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845.

PURDY, TRUMAN H., educator, lawyer, legislator, poet, was born June 26, 1830, in Wayne county, Pa. In his youth he taught school, and for ten years was a newspaper editor. For two terms he served with distinction as a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature. He has attained success in the practice of law at Sunbury, Pa., deals in real estate, and is connected with several manufacturing enterprises. He is the author of three volumes of poems, entitled Doubter, Legends of the Susquehanna; and The Inn at Orr; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

PURIFOY, JOHN, jurist, legislator, was born March 21, 1842, in Dallas county, Ala. He served one term as probate judge of Wilcox county, Ala.; in 1890 was elected a member of the house of representatives; and in 1892 became state auditor of Alabama.

PURINTON, DANIEL BOARDMAN, educator, college president, author, was born Feb. 15, 1850, in Reno, Va. He received a thorough education at George's Creek academy, Pennsylvania, and the university of West Virginia. He was instructor in Latin and Greek during 1873-78 in the West Virginia university; professor of logic in 1878-80; professor of mathematics during 1880-85; of metaphysics during 1885-89; and during 1881-89 was vice-president and acting president of that institution. He has been councilman and mayor of Morgantown, W. Va. Since 1890 he has been president of the Denison university of Granville, Ohio. He is the author of Christian Theism; and some forty pieces of published sacred music, including words.

PURMAN, WILLIAM J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 11, 1840, in Centre county, Pa. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Florida in 1868, and soon after was elected to the state senate. He was secretary of state in 1868; was judge of Jackson county court in 1868; and was re-elected in 1869. He was assessor of United States internal revenue for Florida in 1870, and was chairman of the republican state executive committee in 1872. He was elected a representative from Florida to the forty-third congress, and was re-elected to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican.

PURPLE, EDWIN RUTHVEN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 30, 1831, in Sherburne, N. Y. In 1862 he discovered, in connection with John White and five others, the first gold in Montana, on Willard's creek, a tributary of Beaver Head river. He contributed to the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, and published a Genealogy. He died Jan. 20, 1879, in New York city.

PURPLE, NORMAN HIGGINS, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 29, 1808, in Exeter, N. Y. In 1840-42 he was state's attorney for the ninth judicial circuit of Illinois, and from 1845 till 1848 he was associate judge of the supreme court. He published Statutes of Illinois Relating to Real Estate; and A Compilation of the Statutes of Illinois of a General Nature in Force Jan. 1, 1856. These works were adopted by the general assembly. He died Aug. 9, 1863, in Chicago, Ill.

PURPLE, SAMUEL SMITH, physician, author, was born June 24, 1822, in Lebanon, N. Y. He is a physician of New York city, and the author of The Corpus Luteum; Menstruation; Contributions to the Practice of Midwifery; and Observations on Wounds of the Heart.

PURSE, DANIEL GUGEL, merchant, capitalist, was born Nov. 14, 1839, in Savannah, Ga. After teaching school for a while, he entered commercial life in Savannah. During the civil war he served in the confederate army, and gained the rank of captain of infantry attached to the engineer corps. Previous to 1885 he was a prominent dealer in fertilizers and coal, which enabled him to amass a large fortune. Among his greatest achievements are the development of Tybee Island, almost a sand desert, into a popular summer resort; the construction of the Savannah and Tybee railroad over large reaches of salt marsh, and the introduction into Savannah of both artesian wells and electric lights.

PURVES, GEORGE TYBOUT, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1852 in Pennsylvania. He is a presbyterian clergyman, professor of New Testament literature at Princeton college from 1892, and the author of The Testimony of Justin Martyr to Early Christianity.

PURVIANCE, SAMUEL A., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 8, 1809, in Butler, Pa. He was a representative from Pennsylvania in the thirty-fifth congress.

PURVIANCE, SAMUEL D., congressman. He was a member of congress from North Carolina, from 1803 to 1805.

PURVIS, ROBERT, abolitionist, was born Aug. 4, 1810, in Charleston, S. C. In 1833 he was a member of the Philadelphia convention, which formed the American Anti-Slavery society; and was its vice-president for many years. His house was a well-known station on the underground railroad, and his carriages were always at the service of fugitive slaves.

PURYEAR, RICHARD C., soldier, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1801, in Mecklenburg, Va. He moved to North Carolina, and was elected a representative in the legislature of that state. In 1840 he was elected to the state senate, and in 1844, 1846, and 1852 was again elected to the lower house of the legislature. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1853 to 1857. He took part in the rebellion of 1861 as a member of the confederate congress.

PUSEY, CHARLES J., railroad president, was born April 14, 1837, in Chester county, Pa. In 1892 he became president of the St. Lawrence Railway company, and in 1893 also became president of the Brockville and New York Bridge company of Canada.

PUSEY, WILLIAM H. M., banker, congressman, was born July 29, 1826, in Washington county, Pa. He is a private banker, was a member of the Iowa state senate during 1858-62, and was elected to the forty-eighth congress as a democrat.

PUTMAN, GEORGE I., journalist, author, was born April 24, 1860, in Napanock, N. Y. He is the editor and owner of The Advocate of Claremont, N. H., and the author of two army novels entitled In Blue Uniform; and On the Offensive.

PUTNAM, ALBIGENCE WALDO, lawyer, author, was born March 11, 1799, in Marietta, Ohio. He was a lawyer of Nashville, and the author of History of Middle Tennessee; Life and Times of General James Robertson; and Life of General John Sevier. He died Jan. 20, 1869, in Nashville, Tenn.

PUTNAM, DOUGLAS, railroad president, was born Aug. 21, 1838, in Ohio. Since 1890 he has been president of the Ashland Coal and Iron railway.

PUTNAM, FREDERIC WARD, curator, was born April 16, 1839, in Salem, Mass., a direct descendant of John Putnam, one of the earliest settlers of Salem. He has for many years been professor of archaeology and ethnology in the Harvard university; curator of the Peabody museum, and curator of anthropology in the American Museum of Natural History in New York city. During the past thirty-three years he has been engaged in exploration and in directing the explorations of his students and assistants, in North, Central and South America. He is the author of over three hundred scientific papers. He received the degree of master of arts from Williams college, and the degree of doctor of science from the university of Pennsylvania.

PUTNAM, GEORGE F., banker, legislator, was born Nov. 6, 1841, in Croydon, N. H. In 1867, 1870-72 he was a member of the New Hampshire legislature, and in 1892 he became president of the American National bank of Kansas City.

PUTNAM, GEORGE HAVEN, soldier, journalist, author, was born April 2, 1844, in London, England. He served as a soldier during the civil war, and was mustered out as brevet-major in 1865. He is a member of the firm of G. P. Putnam's Sons, the great book publishers of New York city. He is the author of Authors and Publishers; International Copyright; and Authors and Their Public in Ancient Times.

PUTNAM, GEORGE PALMER, journalist, author, was born Feb. 7, 1814, in Brunswick, Maine. He was a well-known publisher of New York city, the founder of the present publishing house of G. P. Putnam's Sons. He was the author of The Tourist in Europe; American Facts; and The World's Progress. He died Dec. 20, 1872, in New York city.

PUTNAM, GIDEON, founder, was born in 1764, in Sutton, Mass. He moved to Saratoga; and his first child was the first white child born in that city. In 1802 he built and conducted the first hotel, which is now the Grand Union hotel. He became the founder of Saratoga Springs, where he died Dec. 1, 1812.

PUTNAM, HARVEY, lawyer, state legislator, congressman. He was a leading member of the bar of Genesee county, N. Y.; was several times a member of the New York legislature; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1851. He died Sept. 21, 1855, in Attica, N. Y.

PUTNAM, HOLDEN ADELMORE, clergyman, was born Jan. 24, 1859, in Hinckley, Ohio. He received his education in the Hillsdale college and the Union Theological seminary. He has been pastor of the First Congregational churches of Tipton, Ypsilanti, Sault Ste. Marie, and since 1893 has filled a pastorate in Hudson, Mich.

PUTNAM, ISRAEL, soldier, was born Jan. 7, 1718, in Salem, Mass. He distinguished himself during the French and Indian war by his reckless courage, and was particularly noted for his bravery at the battle of Bunker Hill. He died May 19, 1790, in Brooklyn, Conn.

PUTNAM, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1725 in Danvers, Mass. On the organization of the government of the province of New Brunswick in 1783, he was appointed a member of the royal council and a judge of the superior court. He died Oct. 23, 1789, in New Brunswick, Maine.

PUTNAM, JAMES OSBORNE, lawyer, state senator, congressman, author, was born July 4, 1818, in Attica, N. Y. He represented the Buffalo district in the state senate of New York in 1854 and 1855. He was a presidential elector-at-large in 1860, and was United States consul at Havre, France, from 1861-66. He was United States minister to Belgium from 1860 to July, 1862, and was the United States delegate to the international property congress held in Paris, France, in 1880. He wrote a volume of his Addresses and Miscellanies, which was published in 1880.

PUTNAM, MRS. KATHARINE HUNT (PALMER), author, was born March 1, 1792, in Framingham, Mass. She was a Boston writer, and the author of Scripture Text Book; and The Old Testament Unveiled. She died Jan. 8, 1869, in New York city.

PUTNAM, MRS. MARY (LOWELL), author, was born Dec. 3, 1810, in Boston, Mass. She is a life-long resident of Boston, and the author of Fifteen Days; History of the Court of Hungary; Records of an Obscure Man; Tragedy of Errors; and Tragedy of Success.

PUTNAM, RUFUS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 9, 1738, in Sutton, Mass. In 1783 he was made brigadier-general; was aid to General Lincoln during Shay's rebellion; and in 1778 was superintendent of the Ohio company, and founded Marietta, Ohio. In 1789 he was judge of the supreme court of northwest territory; in 1792 was brigadier-general of Wayne's army; and in 1793, as United States commissioner, concluded an important treaty with eight tribes of Indians at Vincennes, Ind. From 1793 to 1803 he was United States surveyor-general, and was a member of the constitutional convention of Ohio. He died May 1, 1824, in Marietta, Ohio.

PUTNAM, RUTH, author. She is the author of Life of William the Silent.

PUTNAM, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born April 13, 1768, in Danvers, Mass. He soon attained high rank at the Essex county bar, and represented that county in the state senate in 1808-14, and in the legislature in 1812. From 1814 till 1842 he was judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He died July 3, 1853, in Somerville, Mass.

PUTNAM, MRS. SARAH A. BROCK, author, was born in 1845 in Madison Court House, Va. She is a writer of New York city, and the author of Richmond During the War; The Southern Amaranth; Keneth, My King; and Myra, a novel.

PUTNEY, FRANK H., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1841 in Rockford, Ill. During the civil war he was a member of the twelfth Wisconsin infantry. He has served a term as county judge of Waukesha county, and as postmaster of Waukesha.

PYLE, HOWARD, artist, author, was born March 5, 1853, in Wilmington, Del. He is an artist and littérateur of Wilmington, Del., and the author of The Merrie Adventures of Robin Hood; Within the Capes, a novel; Otto of the Silver Hand; Twilight Land; The Garden Behind the Moon; Pepper and Salt, or Seasoning for Young Folk; A Modern Aladdin; The Rose of Paradise; Men of Iron, a romance of chivalry; and Jack Ballister's Fortunes.

PYNCHON, THOMAS RUGGLES, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born in 1823 in Connecticut. He is an episcopal clergyman and educator, president of Trinity college in 1874-83, and professor of chemistry there, and the author of Bishop Butler: a Religious Philosopher for All Time; and Introduction to Chemical Physics.

PYNCHON, WILLIAM, author, was born in 1590 in England. He was a noted colonist of New England who founded the town of Springfield, Mass., in 1636. In 1652 he returned to England. The Meritorious Price of Our Redemption, first published in 1650, excited a storm of controversy, and was publicly burned on Boston Common as an heretical book. It was reprinted in 1655 as The Meritorious Price of Man's Redemption, or Christ's Satisfaction Discussed and Explained, with a rejoinder to Rev. John Norton's Answer; The Jewish Synagogue; How the First Sabbath was Ordained; and The Covenant of Nature made with Adam. He died in 1662.

QUACKENBOS, GEORGE PAYN, educator, author, was born Sept. 4, 1826, in New York city. He was an educator of New York city, and the author of School History of the United States; Natural Philosophy; a series of English grammars; and An Advanced Course of Rhetoric. He died July 24, 1881, in Merri-mack county, N. Y.

QUACKENBOS, JOHN DUNCAN, educator, author, was born April 22, 1848, in New York city. He was an adjunct professor of English literature at Columbia college from 1884, and the author of Illustrated History of the World; History of the English Language; History of Ancient Literature; and Practical Rhetoric.

QUACKENBUSH, JOHN A., merchant, congressman, was born Oct. 15, 1828, in Schaghticoke, N. Y. He was elected a member of the New York assembly from the second district of Rensselaer county in the fall of 1862; and was elected sheriff of Rensselaer county in the fall of 1873, and served three years. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses as a republican.

QUACKENBUSH, NATHAN RICE, clergyman, was born April 4, 1837, in New York city. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city, and graduated from the St. Lawrence university of Canton, N. Y. He has attained success as one of the foremost clergymen of the universalist church; filled a pastorate for six years in Benton Harbor, Mich., and since 1892 has filled a pastorate in Plain City, Ohio. He contributes extensively to current literature on religious and educational topics.

QUACKENBUSH, STEPHEN PLATT, naval officer, was born Jan. 23, 1823, in Albany, N. Y. During the civil war he attained the rank of commodore. He died Feb. 4, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

QUALTROUGH, EDWARD F., naval officer, author, was born in 1850 in New York. He is a United States naval officer who has published The Sailor's Handy Book and Yachtsman's Manual; and The Boat Sailor's Manual.

QUARLES, GREENFIELD, lawyer, legislator, was born April 1, 1847, in Christian county, Ky. In 1879 and in 1881 he was a member of the Arkansas house of representatives; filled the same position in 1895, and is now a member of the state senate. In 1884-86 he was prosecuting attorney of the first district of his state.

QUARLES, JAMES M., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1823, in Louisa county, Va. In 1846 he became attorney-general of the tenth district of Tennessee; and was a presidential elector in 1851. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-sixth congress.

QUARLES, TUNSTALL, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1817 to 1820; and was subsequently receiver of public moneys at Cape Girardeau, Mo.

QUARTER, WILLIAM, bishop, was born Jan. 24, 1806, in Ireland. In 1844 he was consecrated first Roman catholic bishop of Chicago, and completed the Chicago cathedral from his own resources. He died April 10, 1848, in Chicago, Ill.

QUARTLEY, FREDERICK WILLIAM, engraver, was born July 5, 1808, in England. His best-known work is in Picturesque America; and Picturesque Europe. He also painted with some success. Among his pictures are Niagara Falls; Butter-Milk Falls; and Catskill Falls. He died April 5, 1874, in New York city.

QUAY, MATTHEW STANLEY, soldier, United States senator, was born Sept. 30, 1833, in Dillsburg, Pa. He was military secretary to the governor of Pennsylvania in 1861-65, and was a member of the legislature in 1865-67. He was secretary of the commonwealth in 1871-78; was recorder of the city of Philadelphia, and chairman of the republican state committee in 1878-79; was secretary of the commonwealth in 1879-82, and was delegate-at-large to the republican national conventions of 1872, 1876 and 1880. He was elected state treasurer in 1885. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican, and was re-elected in 1893.

QUAYLE, ALBERT JOHNSON, lawyer, was born Sept. 14, 1872, in Moberly, Mo.

He graduated from the State university of Columbia, Mo., and has attained success as an able lawyer in the place of his nativity, where he takes an active part in public affairs.

QUAYLE, WILLIAM ALFRED, college president, was born June 25, 1860, in Parkville, Mo. In 1890 he was elected president of the Baker university, Kan., which position he still holds.

QUEEN, WALTER W., naval officer, was born Oct. 6, 1824, in Washington, D. C. He served with distinction through the Mexican war, and during the civil war became a commander. He was commissioned captain in 1874; commodore in 1883; and rear-admiral in 1886.

QUICK, CHARLES WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 4, 1822, in New York city. He edited The Episcopal Recorder in 1866-81; The Christian Woman in 1885, and the works of Ezekiel Hopkins: Righteousness by Faith, by Charles P. McIlvaine, and the works of John Owen.

QUIGG, LEMUEL E., journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1863, in Cecil county, Md. He is by profession a journalist; was a member of the editorial staff of the New York Tribune for ten years, and subsequently editor in chief of the New York Press. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

QUILLIN, LEMUEL ABNER, merchant, actor, was born June 12, 1849, in Syracuse, Ohio. For many years he was connected with a circus, and has traveled all over the world several times. He is now a successful merchant of North Branch, Minn., and proprietor of Quillin's Opera house. He is the author of a volume of songs, and has contributed extensively to periodical literature.

QUIMBY, ISAAC NEWTON, physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 5, 1831, near Basking Ridge, N. J. For many years he was engaged in the flour and milling business at Somerville and Zanesville, Ohio. In 1859 he graduated in medicine; and during the war served as a volunteer surgeon with General McClellan's forces. In 1866-68 he was a lecturer in the university medical college of New York city. He was the originator of Christ's hospital in 1868, and was surgeon to the same until 1873. He is also one of the attending surgeons of the city hospital of Jersey City. He is the author of valuable papers on medical subjects, and a member of the leading medical bodies of Europe and America.

QUIMBY, ISAIAS W., educator, lawyer, legislator, was born May 5, 1837, near Oakland, Ohio. He has served two terms of two years each in the Ohio state legislature; and under the Harrison administration was special examiner in pension bureau, and in board of pension appeals.

QUIMBY, LUCY HILL, philanthropist, educator, writer, was born Jan. 18, 1849, in Rochester, N. Y. In 1864 she founded the Misses Calvin's school in Rochester; and in 1866 was married to Captain W. M. Quimby, who died ten years later. For the past twenty years she has been principal of the Nausemond seminary of Suffolk, Va.; has introduced modern methods and modern text books in the normal schools of Virginia, and has contributed extensively to educational literature.

QUIN, MINNIE, educator, poet, was born in December, 1867, in Atlanta, Ga. She is a successful educator in her native city, and the author of a volume of poems entitled May Blossoms.

QUINBY, GEORGE WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 20, 1810, in Westbrook, Maine. He was a universalist clergyman in Maine and Ohio, and the author of The Salvation of Christ; Brief Exposition of Universalism; Marriage and Its Duties; The Gallows, the Prison, and the Poor House; and Heaven Our Home. He died Jan. 10, 1884, in Augusta, Maine.

QUINBY, WILLIAM EMORY, journalist, was born Dec. 14, 1835, in Brewer, Maine. In 1863 he was made managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, and in 1872 became its owner.

QUINCY, ABRAHAM HOWARD, merchant, journalist, author, was born November, 1767, in Boston. In 1808 his interest in the disputes with Great Britain led him into the field of journalism, and that year published the first number of a weekly paper entitled the Columbian Detector. In 1809 it was published twice a week. It was afterward merged in the Boston Patriot. From 1828 to 1832 he lived at Eastport, Maine, where for a short time he edited the Northern Light. He died Sept. 11, 1840, in Washington, D. C.

QUINCY, EDMUND, statesman, was born Oct. 24, 1681, in Quincy, Mass. He was a statesman in the colonial times. He was the ancestor of a very distinguished line of Massachusetts statesmen. He died Feb. 23, 1738, in London, England.

QUINCY, EDMUND, merchant, author, was born in 1703 in Braintree, Mass. He was a Boston merchant who wrote a Treatise on Hemp Husbandry. He died in 1788.

QUINCY, EDMUND, author, was born Feb. 1, 1808, in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston writer whose literary fame was hardly proportioned to his deserts; and the author of Wensley, and Other Stories; The Haunted Adjutant, and Other Stories; and Life of President Josiah Quincy. He died May 17, 1877, in Dedham, Mass.

QUINCY, JOSIAH, patriot, was born in 1709, in Braintree, Mass. In 1775 he was one of the commissioners to treat with New York as to military defences against the French. He died in 1784.

QUINCY JOSIAH, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 23, 1744, in Boston, Mass. He was a famous Boston lawyer and patriot, and very prominent at the opening of the revolutionary period. He was the author of Observations on the Boston Port Bill. He died at sea April 26, 1775, near Gloucester, Mass.

QUINCY, JOSIAH, lawyer, jurist, college president, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 4, 1772, in Boston, Mass. In 1804 he was chosen a representative from Massachusetts in the congress of the United States, and held that position eight successive years. He was chosen state senator for Suffolk from 1814 to 1821, was a representative from Boston, and was speaker of the house in 1820. He was judge of the municipal court in Boston in 1821 and 1822. He was mayor of Boston in 1823, and held the office of mayor six successive years. In 1829 he was chosen president of Harvard university, and held that office until his resignation in 1845. His published works are Speeches in Congress, and Orations on Various Occasions; Memoir of Josiah Quincy, Jr., of Massachusetts; Centennial Address on the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Settlement of Boston; A History of Harvard University from 1636 to 1836; Memoir of James Grahame, Historian of the United States Army; Memoir of Major Samuel Shaw; History of the Boston Athenæum; and other works. He died July 1, 1864, in Quincy, Mass.

QUINCY, JOSIAH, state senator, author, was born Jan. 17, 1802, in Boston, Mass. He was the fourth mayor of Boston in 1845-49; and was a member of the Massachusetts senate. He was the author of a work entitled Figures of the Past. He died Nov. 2, 1882, in Quincy, Mass.

QUINCY, JOSIAH PHILLIPS, littérateur, author, was born Nov. 28, 1829, in Boston, Mass. He is a littérateur of Boston, and the author of Charicles, a drama; Lyteria, a drama; The Peckster Professorship, a Story; and The Protection of Majorities, and Other Papers.

QUINCY, SAMUEL MILLER, soldier, lawyer, author, was born in 1833 in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston lawyer who served in the federal army during the civil war, and the author of The Man Who Was Not a Colonel; and A Prisoner's Diary. He died in 1887.

QUINLAN, JOHN, bishop, college president, was born Oct. 19, 1826, in Ireland. He was nominated for the diocese of Mobile, and he was consecrated bishop in 1859. He died March 9, 1883, in New Orleans, La.

QUINN, JOHN, lawyer, banker, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 9, 1839, in Ireland. He is president of the West Side Electric Light and Power company, and a director in the Homestead bank of New York, being one of the founders of the bank. He was elected to the legislature in 1882, and was a member of the board of aldermen for the years 1885-87; was a delegate to the democratic national convention at Chicago in 1884, and to St. Louis in 1888. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a democrat. He is now commissioner of appraisal for the taking of lands for water reservoir purposes for the city of New York, of which commission he is chairman.

QUINN, TERENCE J., state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1836, in Albany, N. Y. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1874, and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth congress. He died June 18, 1878.

QUINNEY, WILLIAM RUTHERFORD, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 28, 1861, in Union county, Ark. In 1888 he was elected to the house of representatives of Arkansas; received the re-election two years later; and in 1892 became a member of the state senate.

QUINT, ALONZO HALL, clergyman, author, was born March 22, 1828, in Barnstead, N. H. He was a prominent congregational clergyman of Boston, and the author of The Potomac and the Rappahannock, or Army Notes; and Records of the Second Massachusetts Infantry, 1861-65.

QUINTARD, CHARLES TODD, bishop of Tennessee, was born Dec. 22, 1824, in Stamford, Conn. At the beginning of the civil war he was elected chaplain of the first Tennessee regiment, and he served throughout the war, being frequently called upon to exercise his medical knowledge as physician and surgeon. The university of the South was entirely swept away by the war, nothing being left but its landed estate of 10,000 acres. Bishop Quintard re-established the university on a sound financial basis, and was its first vice-chancellor.

QUINTARD, GEORGE WILLIAM, manufacturer, president and director of corporations, was born April 22, 1822, in Stamford, Conn. In 1867 he sold the Morgan Iron works in order to devote his own attention to the New York and Charleston Steamship company, of which he had become president and part proprietor. He managed the company well, but did not find in its operations sufficient scope for his overflowing energy. In 1869, accordingly, he established the Quintard Iron works, occupying a site at 742 East Twelfth street, extending through to East Eleventh street, on the East river, a few blocks above the Morgan Iron works. Here he resumed the construction of marine engines and machinery, and in a short time developed the plant into an extensive establishment, making it in time one of the most prominent in the United States.

QUINTON, AMELIA STONE, president of the Women's National Indian association, is a lineal descendant of Governor Bradford of the Mayflower, and was born near Syracuse, N. Y. For many years she was engaged in educational work, at first among prisons, reformatories and asylums in New York; but in 1874 she entered the Women's Christian Temperance union, and was soon elected New York state organizer. In 1877 Miss Stone went to Europe and there addressed many readings in London and elsewhere; and the following year was married to Richard L. Quinton, A. M., an eminent lecturer, and they settled in Philadelphia in the spring of 1889. She organized the Women's National Indian association, which led to the passage of the Dawes severalty bill, which in 1887 gained for the Indians the right of holding lands in severalty.

QUITMAN, FREDERICK HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 7, 1760, in Westphalia. He was a lutheran clergyman of Rhinebeck, N. Y., and the author of Treatise on Magic; and Sermons on the Reformation. He died June 26, 1832, in Rhinebeck, N. Y.

QUITMAN, JOHN ANTHONY, soldier, educator, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1799, in Rhinebeck, N. Y. He was professor of law in Mount Airy college, Pennsylvania. In 1820 he moved to Ohio, and in 1821 moved to Natchez, Miss. In 1827 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; in 1828 was appointed chancellor of the state, serving three years; and served as a delegate to a state constitutional convention. In 1835 he was elected to the state senate, and, as president of that body, was called upon to perform the duties of governor. In 1836 he distinguished himself as a soldier and leader in behalf of Texas against Mexico. He was judge of the high court of errors and appeals of Mississippi; served with distinction in the Mexican war, and was for a time the American governor of Mexico, and became a major-general in the army. He was a presidential elector in 1848, and was governor of Mississippi in 1850.

QUITMAN, JOHN ANTHONY, soldier, educator, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1799, in Rhinebeck, N. Y. He was professor of law in Mount Airy college, Pennsylvania. In 1820 he moved to Ohio, and in 1821 moved to Natchez, Miss. In 1827 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; in 1828 was appointed chancellor of the state, serving three years; and served as a delegate to a state constitutional convention. In 1835 he was elected to the state senate, and, as president of that body, was called upon to perform the duties of governor. In 1836 he distinguished himself as a soldier and leader in behalf of Texas against Mexico. He was judge of the high court of errors and appeals of Mississippi; served with distinction in the Mexican war, and was for a time the American governor of Mexico, and became a major-general in the army. He was a presidential elector in 1848, and was governor of Mississippi in 1850.

In 1855 he was elected a representative in congress from Mississippi, and was re-elected in 1857. He died July 17, 1858, in Natchez, Miss.

RABURN, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, state senator, governor, was born April 8, 1771, in Halifax county, N. C. He was a judge of the inferior court, was a member of the assembly; was a state senator; and was governor of Georgia from 1817 to 1819. He died Oct. 23, 1819, in Hancock county, Ga.

RADEMACHER, JOSEPH, Roman catholic bishop, was born Dec. 3, 1840, in Westphalia, Mich. He was nominated to the see of Nashville and was consecrated bishop in 1883.

RADER, CARY MELVIN, lawyer, politician, was born July 27, 1868, in Carroll county, Ind. He received a thorough education, and in 1891 graduated from the law department of the Central Normal college of Danville, Ind. The following year he located in Walla Walla, Wash.; has been city attorney and filled various other public positions of trust.

RADER, LEWIS ELLSWORTH, journalist, legislator, was born March 16, 1864, in Hazel Dell, Ill. In 1894 he was elected a member of the Washington legislature from Pierce county, and in 1896 he received the re-election. He is a successful journalist, poet, and for several years was editor of the Walla Walla Daily Statesman.

RADFORD, WILLIAM, naval officer, was born March 1, 1808, in Fincastle, Va. He was appointed rear-admiral in 1866; commanded the European squadron in 1869-70, and was retired in March, 1870. He died Jan. 8, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

RADFORD, WILLIAM, merchant, congressman, was born June 24, 1814, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In 1862 he was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress. He died Jan. 18, 1870, in Youkers, N. Y.

RAE, LUZERNE, educator, was born Dec. 22, 1811, in New Haven, Conn. In 1831 he became instructor of the deaf and dumb in the Hartford asylum, which office he held until his death. He was editor of the Religious Herald from 1843 till 1847, and of the American Annals of the Deaf and Dumb from 1848 till 1854; and published anonymously numerous poems, which were collected and printed privately under the title of Text and Context. He died Sept. 16, 1854, in Hartford, Conn.

RAFF, GEORGE WERTZ, banker, author, was born March 24, 1825, in Tuscawas, Ohio. He was a savings bank president of Canton, Ohio, and the author of Guide to Executors and Administrators in Ohio; Manual of Pensions; The Law Relating to Roads in Ohio; and War Claimant's Guide. He died April 14, 1888, in Canton, Ohio.

RAFFERTY, WILLIAM, college president, was born in Ireland. In 1824 he was elected president of St. John's college, Annapolis, Md., which position he resigned in 1831.

RAFINESQUE, CONSTANTINE SMALTZ, botanist, author, was born in 1784 in Turkey. He was an eccentric naturalist and botanist of French parentage who, after years of travel, settled in Philadelphia. Among his many works are Medical Flora of the United States; A Life of Travel and Researches; Annals of Kentucky; and Recent and Fossil Conchology. He died Sept. 18, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAGAN, WILLIS EUGENE, merchant, was born Jan. 12, 1852, in Albany, N. Y. In 1878 he became a member of one of the largest wholesale dry goods houses in the south, and is president of the Southern Railway Equipment company.

RAGLAND, CHARLES A., lawyer, was born Aug. 2, 1844, in Halifax county, Va. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Stockton, Mo.; has been city attorney, justice of the peace, mayor of his city, and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

RAGLAND, H. CLAY, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born May 7, 1844, in Goochland county, Va. In 1887 he established the Logan Banner, of which he is still editor and owner. During 1887-88 he was a member of the West Virginia state legislature.

RAGOZIN, MADAME ZENAIDE AL-EXEIEVNA, author, was born about 1835 in Russia. She is a Russian historical writer, naturalized in the United States in 1874, and the author of The Story of Chaldea; The Story of Assyria; The Story of Media and Babylon; and The Story of Vedde India.

RAGUET, CONDY, lawyer, state senator, author, was born Jan. 28, 1784, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1815 he was a member of the Pennsylvania assembly, and afterward of the state senate. He was editor of several journals; and the author of The Principles of Free Trade; A Treatise on Currency and Banking; and other works. He died March 22, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAINES, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 6, 1840, in Canandaigua, N. Y. He was a member of the assembly of the state of New York in 1881, 1882 and 1885, and was state senator in 1886-89. He was elected to the fifty-first and re-elected to the fifty-second congresses as a republican.

RAINEY, JOSEPH H., state senator, congressman, was born June 21, 1832, in Georgetown, S. C. He was elected a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1868, and was a member of the state senate of South Carolina in 1870. He was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses as a republican. He died Aug. 1, 1887, in Georgetown, S. C.

RAINS, GABRIEL JAMES, soldier, was born in June, 1803, in Craven county, N. C. He served with distinction in the Mexican war, and attained the rank of brigadier-general in 1855. In 1861 he joined the confederate army, and died Sept. 6, 1861, in Aiken, S. C.

RAINS, GEORGE WASHINGTON, soldier, educator, author, was born in 1817 in Craven county, N. C. He is a confederate army officer, and professor of chemistry at the university of Georgia from 1867. He is the author of Steam Portable Engines; Rudimentary Course of Analytical and Applied Chemistry; and Chemical Qualitative Analysis.

RAINSFORD, WILLIAM STEPHEN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 30, 1850, in Ireland. He is a prominent episcopal clergyman of New York city, rector of St. George's church from 1883, and an active worker in philanthropic and other reforms. He is the author of Sermons Preached in St. George's; and The Church's Opportunity in the City of Today.

RALPH, JULIAN, journalist, author, was born in 1853 in New York. He is a popular journalist and litterateur, and the author of On Canada's Frontier; Dixie;

Our Great West; Chicago and the World's Fair; People We Pass; and Alone in China, and Other Stories.

RALSTON, ROBERT, merchant, was born in 1761, in Brandywine, Pa. He contributed largely to the establishment of the Widows' and Orphans' asylum, and the Mariner's church in Philadelphia, founded the Philadelphia Bible society, which was the first of the kind on this continent, and in 1819 became first president of the board of education of the presbyterian church. He died Aug. 11, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RALSTON, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born in 1756 in Ireland. He was a presbyterian clergyman in what is now Monongahela City, Pa., from 1796 till his death, and the author of On Baptism; The Last Plagues; and The Currycomb. He died Sept. 25, 1851, in Carroll, Pa.

RALSTON, THOMAS NEELY, clergyman, journalist, author, was born March 21, 1806, in Bourbon county, Ky. He is a methodist clergyman and religious editor of Kentucky, and the author of Elements of Divinity; Evidences of Christianity; Ecce Unitas; and Bible Truths.

RAMBAUT, MRS. MARY LUCINDA BONNEY, educator, was born June 8, 1816, in Hamilton, N. Y. She is a successful educator of Hamilton, N. Y.

RAMSAY, DAVID, physician, congressman, author, was born April 2, 1749, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a physician of Charleston, eminent among early American historians. He served in the Carolina legislature throughout the revolutionary war, and was also in the army as a surgeon. He was a delegate to congress in 1782 and 1786. He was the author of History of the American Revolution; History of the United States; Life of Washington; and History of South Carolina. He died May 8, 1815, in Charleston, S. C.

RAMSAY, NATHANIEL, soldier, congressman, was born May 1, 1751, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1785 to 1787. He died Oct. 23, 1817, in Baltimore, Ind.

RAMSAY, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1835, and again from 1841 to 1843.

RAMSAY, MRS. VIENNA G.—(MORRELL), author, was born in 1817 in Maine. She is the author of Facts on Missions; Evenings with the Children; and A Legend of the White Hills, and Other Poems.

RAMSEUR, STEPHEN DODSON, soldier, was born May 31, 1837, in Lincoln, N. C. In 1861 he entered the confederate service as captain of the light artillery. He attained the rank of major-general. He died Oct. 20, 1864, in Winchester, Va.

RAMSEY, ALEXANDER, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born Sept. 8, 1815, in Harrisburg, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1843 to 1847. In 1849 he was appointed the first territorial governor of Minnesota. In 1855 he was mayor of the city of St. Paul, Minn.; and was elected governor of the state of Minnesota in 1858, and served until 1862. In 1863 he was elected a senator in congress from Minnesota, for the term ending in 1869, and was re-elected for the term ending in 1875.

RAMSEY, GEORGE JUNKIN, educator, college president, was born June 28, 1858, in Rockbridge, Va. He has been professor of Latin and Greek in the Ogdenville college of Bowling Green, Ky.; and since 1884 has been president of the Silliman institute of Clinton, La. Since 1897 he has been president of the Southern Educational association.

RAMSEY, WILLIAM, surveyor, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1779, in Sterrett's Gap, Pa. In 1803 he was appointed surveyor of his native county, an office held by his father during the revolution; and also held the offices of prothonotary, register, recorder, and clerk of the orphans' court. In 1826 he was elected a member of congress from Pennsylvania; and was re-elected in 1828 and 1830. He died in September, 1831, in Carlisle, Pa.

RAMSEY, WILLIAM S., lawyer, congressman, was born June 12, 1810, in Carlisle, Pa. He was elected a representative in congress in 1838; and was re-elected in 1840. He died Oct. 17, 1840, in Baltimore, Md.

RAND, ASA, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 6, 1783, in Rindge, N. H. He was a congregational clergyman in Maine and New York prominent as an opponent of slavery; and the author of Teachers' Manual in English Grammar; and The Slave-Catcher Caught in the Meshes of Eternal Law. He died Aug. 24, 1871, in Ashburnham, Mass.

RAND, BENJAMIN, educator, author, was born Feb. 16, 1792, in Charlestown, Mass. He is an instructor in philosophy at Harvard university; and the author of Economic History Since 1763; A Bibliography of Economics; and also bibliographies of aesthetics, ethics, psychology, metaphysics, logic, history of philosophy, and philosophy of religion.

RAND, BENJAMIN HOWARD, educator, author, was born Feb. 16, 1792, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a Philadelphia teacher of penmanship who published The American Penman and similar works. He died June 9, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAND, BENJAMIN HOWARD, physician, author, was born Oct. 1, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a physician of Philadelphia; and the author of Outlines of Medical Chemistry; and Elements of Medical Chemistry. He died Feb. 14, 1883, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAND, EDWARD AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born in April, 1837, in Portsmouth, N. H. He is an episcopal clergyman, rector at Watertown, Mass., from 1883; and the author of Christmas Jack; Behind Manhattan Gables; School and Camp Series; Sailor Boy Bob; Pushing Ahead; and Fighting the Sea Series.

RAND, EDWARD DEAN, lawyer, jurist, poet, was born Dec. 26, 1821, in Bath, N. H. In 1874 he was made judge of the circuit court. He is a poet of note and a lawyer of ability.

RAND, EDWARD SPRAGUE, horticulturist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1834, in Boston, Mass. He was formerly a floriculturist of Dedham, Mass.; and the author of Garden Flowers; Complete Manual of Orchard-Culture; Popular Flowers; Rhododendrons; Flowers for the Parlor and Garden; The Window Gardener; and Life Memoirs and Other Poems.

RAND, ISAAC, physician, author, was born April 27, 1743, in Charlestown, Mass. From 1798 till 1804 he was president of the Massachusetts Medical society, and he was also a corresponding member of the London Medical society. He published papers on Hydrocephalus Internus; Yellow Fever; and on The Use of Warm Bath and Digitalis in Pulmonary Consumption. He died Dec. 11, 1822, in Boston, Mass.

RAND, JASPER, lawyer, legislator, was born in March, 1829, in Charlestown, Mass. In 1849 he sailed around the Horn to California, where he engaged in mining successfully. In 1862 he moved to Idaho; thence two years later to Missoula, Mont., where he served two terms as a member of the territorial council. Since that time he has been engaged in the practice of law at Lewiston, Idaho; and has been mayor of that city.

RAND, MRS. MARY FRANCES [ABBOTT], author, was born in 1840 in Maine. She is the author of Holly and Mistletoe; and Home-Spun Yarns for Christmas Stockings.

RAND, THEODORE DEHON, mineralogist, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 16, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. He early turned his attention to natural science, especially to mineralogy, and his cabinet of specimens ranks as one of the best private collections in the United States, containing very nearly a complete set of the rocks and minerals of Philadelphia and its vicinity. He is the author of several mineralogical and geological works.

RAND, WILLIAM WILBERFORCE, was born Dec. 8, 1816, in Gorham, Maine. He was pastor of the Reformed Dutch church of Canastota, N. Y., from 1841 till 1845; editor for the American Tract Society, New York city, in 1848-72, and has since been its publishing secretary. He is the author of Songs of Zion; Dictionary of the Bible for General Use; and other smaller books.

RANDALL, ALEXANDER, congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843.

RANDALL, ALEXANDER WILLIAMS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born Oct. 31, 1819, in Ames, N. Y. He was appointed postmaster of Waukesha, Wis.; and in 1854 was elected to the state legislature. In 1856 he was appointed judge of the second judicial district of the state; and in 1857 and 1859 was elected governor of Wisconsin. At the close of the war he was appointed assistant postmaster-general. In 1866 he entered President Johnson's cabinet as postmaster-general. He died July 25, 1872, in Elmira, N. Y.

RANDALL, ARCHIBALD, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1818 in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1834 he was appointed judge of the court of common pleas at Philadelphia, Pa.; and in 1842 was appointed judge of the United States district court for the eastern district of Pennsylvania. In 1844 he presided over both the district and circuit courts. His decisions in bankruptcy are in the Pennsylvania Law Journal from 1842 to 1846. He died May 30, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RANDALL, BENJAMIN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 14, 1857, in Bath, Maine. He was a member of the state senate in 1833; and was a representative in congress from Maine from 1839 to 1843. He was appointed collector of the port of Bath, Maine.

RANDALL, CHARLES S., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 20, 1824, in New Bedford, Mass. He retired from mercantile business in 1872; was for three years a member of the Massachusetts republican state committee; and represented the third Massachusetts senatorial district in the state senate in 1883 and 1884. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican.

RANDALL, DAVID AUSTIN, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Jan. 14, 1813, in Colchester, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman and religious editor of Ohio; and the author of God's Handwriting in Egypt; and The Wonderful Tent, or the Mosaic Tabernacle. He died June 27, 1884, in Columbus, Ohio.

RANDALL, EMILIUS OVIATT, lawyer, lecturer, writer, was born Oct. 28, 1850, in Richfield, Ohio. He graduated from Cornell university; and from the college of law of the Ohio state university. He has been a reporter of the supreme court of Ohio; secretary of the Ohio State Historical society; and professor of commercial law in the Ohio state university. He is a successful public lecturer on art, history and literature; a writer of note; and the editor of Decision of the Supreme Court of Ohio. He is also president of the Columbus board of trade.

RANDALL, HENRY STEPHENS, educator, author, was born in 1811 in Madison county, N. Y. He was a prominent advocate of public instruction in New York state; and the author of Sheep Husbandry; Fine Wool Sheep Husbandry; Practical Shepherd; and Life of Thomas Jefferson. He died Aug. 14, 1876, in Cortland, N. Y.

RANDALL, JAMES RYDER, author, was born Jan. 1, 1839, in Baltimore, Md. He is a journalist of Augusta, Ga., and elsewhere in the south, who has written a number of spirited lyrics, the best known of which is the famous song, Maryland, My Maryland.

RANDALL, JOHN WITT, poet, was born Nov. 6, 1813, in Boston, Mass. He has been largely occupied with the cultivation of an ancestral country-seat in Stow, Mass., and has accumulated one of the rarest and most original collections of engravings in the United States. Besides doing other literary work, he has written six volumes of poems, of which only one has been published, Consolations of Solitude.

RANDALL, PERRY A., lawyer, business man, was born July 24, 1847, in Avilla, Ind. In 1867 he graduated from the Fort Wayne high school; from the university of Michigan in 1871, and from the law department of the same institution in 1873. The same year he began the practice of law in Fort Wayne, Ind., where he has since attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of that state. He was one of the founders of the Fort Wayne Electric company, and its vice-president since 1882. He is vice-president of the Fort Wayne Furniture company, also of the Indiana Machine works; and is financially interested in numerous other business enterprises.

RANDALL, SAMUEL JACKSON, merchant, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served one term in the state senate of Pennsylvania. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat. He was speaker of the house during the forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses. He died April 12, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

RANDALL, SAMUEL SIDWELL, educator, author, was born May 27, 1809, in Norwich, N. Y. He was a superintendent of public schools in New York city in 1854-70; and the author of History of the State of New York; Mental and Moral Culture; Principles of Popular Education; and Incitements to the Study of Geology. He died June 3, 1881, in New York city.

RANDALL, T., lawyer, jurist, was a native of Maryland. He removed to Tallahassee, Fla.; and was appointed United States judge for the territory of Florida, holding the position until 1832.

RANDALL, WILLIAM H., lawyer, congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress.

RANDLE, FREDERICK ALANSON, lawyer, historical novelist, was born Jan. 21, 1854, in Bunker Hill, Ill. He attended the McKendree college; and has attained success as an able lawyer of his native state at Hillsboro. He is the author of several historical novels; and has contributed extensively to periodical literature.

RANDOLPH, ALFRED MAGILL, bishop of southern Virginia, was born Aug. 31, 1836, in Winchester, Va. In 1894 the diocese of Virginia was divided, and Dr. Randolph chose the new see of southern Virginia.

RANDOLPH, ANSON DAVIES FITZ, journalist, author, was born in 1820 in New Jersey. He was a publisher and religious verse-writer of New York city; and the author of Hopefully Waiting; Verses; At the Beautiful Gate; The Palace of the King; and Unto the Desired Haven. He died in 1896.

RANDOLPH, BEVERLY, state legislator, governor, was born in 1754. He was a member of the Virginia assembly during the revolution; and was governor of Virginia during 1788-91. He died in February, 1797, in Cumberland, Va.

RANDOLPH, DAVID B. F., clergyman, was born Jan. 23, 1848, in Newark, N. J. In 1871 he graduated from the Drew Theological seminary with the degree of B. D. The same year he joined the Newark annual conference of the methodist episcopal church, and has filled pastorates in Hoboken, Newark, Hackettstown, West New Brighton, and is now pastor of the Trinity church of Jersey City.

RANDOLPH, EDMUND, congressman, governor, was born in Virginia. He was a delegate to the continental congress from Virginia from 1779 to 1783; and in 1788 was a member of the convention which framed the constitution of the United States, but voted against its adoption. In 1788 he was governor of Virginia. In 1789 he was attorney-general of the United States; and in 1794 was secretary of state of the United States. He died Sept. 13, 1813.

RANDOLPH, EDMUND, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born June 9, 1820, in Richmond, Va. He was for several years clerk of the United States circuit court for Louisiana, but in 1849 he removed to California. He was an active member of the legislature that met at San José in 1849 to organize a state government. He died Sept. 8, 1861, in San Francisco, Cal.

RANDOLPH, JACOB, physician, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 25, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa. He had acquired a wide reputation as a surgeon, and in 1831 introduced in the United States the operation of lithotripsy. He published several reports of successful operations. He died April 12, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RANDOLPH, JAMES FITZ, journalist, banker, state legislator, congressman, was born June 26, 1791, in Middlesex county, N. J. He became editor of the Fredonian, a weekly newspaper, in 1812, and continued in that capacity for thirty years. He was appointed collector of internal revenue of the United States in 1815, and held that office until the close of the war in Texas. He was subsequently clerk of the court of common pleas for his native county; and was for two years a member of the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1828 to 1833; and was afterwards president of a bank in New Brunswick for ten years. He died March 19, 1871, in Jersey City, N. J.

RANDOLPH, JAMES HENRY, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 19, 1825, in Jefferson county, Tenn. He was a representative in the Tennessee state legislature in 1857-61; and was a state senator in 1865. He was elected judge of the second judicial circuit of the state in 1869, and re-elected in 1870. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-fifth congress.

RANDOLPH, JOHN, lawyer, was born in 1727 in Williamsburg, Va. He was a noted lawyer of his time; and for several years was king's attorney under Governor Fauquier. He died Jan. 31, 1784.

RANDOLPH, JOHN, of Roanoke, statesman, was born June 2, 1773, in Chesterfield, Va. He was elected from Virginia a representative in congress in 1799, and continued a member of the house of representatives, with the exception of two intervals of two years each, until 1823. In that year he was a member of the convention to revise the constitution of Virginia, and was afterwards appointed minister plenipotentiary to Russia in 1830. During 1825 to 1827 he was a senator of the United States. He had a quarrel with Henry Clay which resulted in a duel, when he allowed himself to be shot at and then threw away his fire. He died June 24, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RANDOLPH, JOHN S., stock-raiser, legislator, jurist, was born June 15, 1832, in McLean county, Ill. He attended the Wesleyan university of Bloomington, Ill., and subsequently moved to Idaho, where he is a successful farmer and stock-raiser of Latah county. He has been justice of the peace and probate judge; and was elected to the legislature of Idaho in 1895, and received the re-election in 1897. He has taken an active part in legislative matters, and has served on many important committees.

RANDOLPH, JOSEPH, FITZ, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1803 in New Jersey. He settled at Monmouth Court House, N. J., and was appointed state's attorney for the county. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1843. In 1844 he was a member of the convention which framed the state constitution. In 1845 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of New Jersey for a term of seven years. He was a member of the peace congress of 1861.

RANDOLPH, PETER, lawyer, jurist, was born in Maryland. He moved to Mississippi, and was appointed a judge of the United States court for the district of Mississippi.

RANDOLPH, PEYTON, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1721 in Williamsburg, Va. In 1756 he was appointed king's attorney for the colony of Virginia, and held the office for many years. In 1766 he was elected speaker of the house of burgesses; and in 1773 was a member of the committee on correspondence. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1775, and was the first president of that body. He died Oct. 22, 1775, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RANDOLPH, SARAH NICHOLAS, educator, author, was born Oct. 12, 1839, in Edge Hill, Va. She is an educator of Baltimore; and the author of The Domestic Life of Thomas Jefferson; The Lord Will Provide; and The Life of Stonewall Jackson.

RANDOLPH, THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN, state legislator, governor, United States senator, was born June 24, 1816, in New Brunswick, N. J. In 1860 he was elected to the New Jersey house of assembly, and declined the speakership of that body. In 1861 he was elected state senator to fill a vacancy; and re-elected in 1862, serving until 1865. He was elected governor of New Jersey in 1868. He was elected United States senator from New Jersey in 1874 for six years. He died Nov. 7, 1883, in Morristown, N. J.

RANDOLPH, THOMAS JEFFERSON, author, was born Sept. 12, 1792, in Monticello, Va. He was the author of a book entitled Sixty Years' Reminiscences of the Currency of the United States. He died Oct. 8, 1875, in Edge Hill, Va.

RANDOLPH, THOMAS MANN, patriot, was born in 1741 in Tuckahoe, Va. He was a member of the Virginia house of burgesses, and of the convention of 1776. He was also a member of the colonial committee of safety from the first. He died Nov. 19, 1793, in Tuckahoe, Va.

RANDOLPH, THOMAS MANN, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Oct. 1, 1768, in Tuckahoe, Va. He was a representative in congress from 1803 to 1807; was appointed colonel of the twentieth infantry in 1813; and was governor of Virginia from 1819 to 1822. He died June 20, 1828, in Monticello, Va.

RANDOLPH, WARREN, clergyman, was born March 30, 1826, in Middlesex county, N. J. Since 1879 he has been pastor of the Central Baptist church of Newport, R. I.

RANEY, GEORGE P., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 11, 1845, in Leon county, Fla. He graduated from the law school of the university of Virginia; and has attained success as an able lawyer of Tallahassee, Fla. He entered the confederate army in 1863, and served till the close of the war. During 1868-70 he was a member of the Florida state legislature; and during 1877-85 was attorney-general of Florida. During 1885-89 he was associate justice of the state supreme court; and in 1889-94 was chief justice of the supreme court of Florida.

RANEY, JOHN H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 28, 1849, in Wayne county, Mo. He was elected judge of the county court of Wayne county, Mo., and served one term; and was elected and served three full terms as prosecuting attorney of said county. He was one of the board of regents of the State Normal school located at Cape Girardeau, Mo., by appointment of Governor Stone, his term of service expiring with the year 1895. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

RANKIN, CHRISTOPHER, congressman, was born in Washington county, Pa.

He was a representative in congress from Mississippi from 1819 to 1826. He died March 14, 1826, in Washington city.

RANKIN, DAVID, banker, philanthropist, state legislator, was born May 28, 1825, in Sullivan county, Ind. He was chosen by the republican party a representative in the Illinois legislature for three terms. He is president of the First National bank of Tarkio, Mo.; and is a hearty supporter of any educational, philanthropic or other good work.

RANKIN, DAVID NEVIN, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 27, 1834, in Shippenburg, Pa. In 1864-66 he was medical examiner of the United States pension bureau, and since 1865 he has been chief physician of the penitentiary of western Pennsylvania.

RANKIN, JEREMIAH EAMES, D. D., LL. D., clergyman, poet, educator, was born Jan. 20, 1828, in Thornton, N. H. He has filled pastorates in various cities and for many years has been president of the Howard university of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Auld Scotch Mither, and Other Poems; Subduing Kingdoms; The Hotel of God, and Other Sermons; Atheism of the Heart; Christ His Own Interpreter; and Ingleside Rhaims.

RANKIN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 4, 1793, in Dandridge, Tenn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Ripley, Ohio, famous as an abolitionist, and many times mobbed for his anti-slavery zeal. He was the author of Letters on American Slavery; and The Covenant of Grace. He died March 18, 1886, near Dandridge, Tenn.

RANKIN, JOHN CHAMBERS, clergyman, author, was born May 18, 1816, in Guilford county, N. C. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Baskingridge, N. J., from 1851; and the author of The Coming of the Lord.

RANKIN, JOSEPH, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 25, 1823, in Passaic, N. J. He served three years in the union army during the civil war; and served in the Wisconsin state legislature eleven years. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat. He died Nov. 8, 1885, in Washington, D. C.

RANKIN, LELAND, journalist, was born June 16, 1867, in Nashville, Tenn. He attended Webb's Classical Training school, and the Southwestern Presbyterian university of Clarksville, Tenn. He has worked on newspapers in Texas, New Orleans, St. Louis, and elsewhere; has been literary editor of the Nashville Banner; chief of the bureau of promotion and publicity at the Tennessee centennial; and director of the Tennessee centennial. He is now the president and manager of the Nashville American, which publishes daily, Sunday, and semi-weekly editions, and is one of the foremost newspapers of the south.

RANKIN, WILLIAM BRADSHAW, college president, was born Sept. 3, 1825, in Little Chucky, Tenn. In 1867 he was chosen president of the Washington college, which position he held until 1875.

RANEY, AMBROSE ARNOLD, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 16, 1821, in Townshend, Vt. He was corporation counsel of Boston in 1855 and 1856; was a representative in the state legislature in 1857, 1863, and 1864; and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

RANNEY, AMBROSE LOOMIS, physician, educator, author, was born in 1848. He is a physician, professor of nervous diseases in the university of the city of New York; and the author of A Practical Treatise on Surgical Diagnosis; Applied Anatomy of the Nervous System; Practical Medical Anatomy; and Lectures on Nervous Diseases.

RANNEY, RUFUS PERCIVAL, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 13, 1813, in Blandford, Mass. He was chosen by the Ohio legislature about the same time a judge of the supreme court, and in 1851 was elected by the people, under the new constitution, to the same office, which he held till 1857. In that year he was appointed United States district attorney for Ohio, and in 1859 was defeated as the democratic candidate for governor. In 1862 he was again elected a judge of the supreme court, but in 1864 resigned, and resumed practice in Cleveland.

RANNEY, WILLIAM, soldier, author, was born May 9, 1813, in Middletown, Conn. Among his works are Boone's First View of Kentucky; On the Wing; Washington on his Mission to the Indians; and Duck-Shooting, which is in the Corcoran gallery. He died Nov. 18, 1857, in West Hoboken, N. J.

RANSBOTTOM, CLAUDE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born July 4, 1838, in Indianapolis, Ind. He attended the Yale college; and subsequently was admitted to the bar. He has served with distinction as judge of the forty-fourth judicial circuit of Indiana; and has been a member of the Indiana state legislature; and filled the high office of lieutenant-governor of Indiana. While a member of the state legislature he took an active part in the deliberations of that body, and was one of its most fluent speakers. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Indiana at Winamac; and contributes extensively to law literature.

RANSIER, ALONZO JACOB, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1836, in Charleston, S. C. He was elected to the South Carolina state legislature in 1868. He was elected a presidential elector in 1868; and lieutenant-governor in 1870. He was elected to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died Aug. 17, 1882, in Charleston, S. C.

RANSOM, EPAPHRODITUS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born in February in Shelburne Falls, Mass. He served a number of years in the Michigan legislature; and was judge of the supreme court. From 1847 to 1849 he was governor of the state. He was appointed receiver of the land office for one of the districts of Kansas, and died there before the expiration of his term. He died in November, 1859, in Fort Scott, Kan.

RANSOM, MATHEW WHITAKER, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Oct. 8, 1826, in Warren county, N. C. He was elected attorney-general of North Carolina in 1852; was a member of the legislature in 1858-60; and was a peace commissioner from the state to the congress of southern states at Montgomery, Ala., in 1861. He entered the confederate army; was lieutenant-colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general, and surrendered at Appomattox. He was elected to the United States senate in 1872 for the term ending in 1877, and was re-elected in 1876, 1883, and 1889.

RANSOM, ROBERT, soldier, was born about 1830 in North Carolina. He was made colonel of the ninth North Carolina cavalry; became brigadier-general in 1862 and major-general in 1863 in the confederate service.

RANSOM, TRUMAN BISHOP, soldier, educator, was born in 1802 in Woodstock, Vt. He was instructor in mathematics in the United States navy, did much to reorganize the Vermont militia, in which he was major-general in 1837-44, and in 1844 succeeded Captain Partridge as president of the university. He died Sept. 13, 1847, in the City of Mexico.

RANSOM, THOMAS EDWARD GREENFIELD, soldier, was born Nov. 29, 1834, in Norwich, Vt. He served through the civil war, attaining the rank of major-general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious services. He died Oct. 20, 1864, near Rome, Ga.

RANTOUL, ROBERT, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 13, 1805, in Beverly, Mass. He was elected to the Massachusetts state legislature in 1834; and in 1837 a member of the Massachusetts board of education. In 1838 he removed to Boston; in 1843 was appointed collector of that port; and in 1845 was appointed United States district attorney for Massachusetts. In 1851 he succeeded Mr. Webster in the United States senate, but remained there only a short time. He was a representative in congress from 1851 to the time of his death. His writings have since been published in a large volume. He died Aug. 7, 1852, in Washington, D. C.

RANTOUL, ROBERT SAMUEL, anti-quarian, lawyer, state legislator, was born June 2, 1832, in Beverly, Mass. He settled in Beverly, which he represented in the legislature in 1858, and afterward removed to Salem, Mass. He was collector of Salem in 1865-69, and representative from that town in 1884-85. He has published many historical and genealogical papers in the collections of the Essex institute, of which he is a vice-president.

RAOUL, WILLIAM GREENE, railroad president, was born July 4, 1843, in Livingston Parish, La. Since 1887 he has been president of the Mexican National railroad at New York city.

RAPALLO, CHARLES ANTHONY, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 15, 1823, in New York city. He became a successful practitioner, and was elected a judge of the New York court of appeals, taking his seat on the bench in 1870; and in 1884 he was elected for a second term of fourteen years by the united vote of both political parties. He died Dec. 28, 1887, in New York city.

RAPELJE, STEWART, author, was born in 1842 in New York. He was a legal writer of New York city; and the author of Digest of Decisions of New York Courts to 1881; Digest of Federal Decisions and Statutes from the Earliest Period to 1880; Treatise on the Law of Witnesses; and Dictionary of American and English Decisions. He died in 1896.

RAPHALL, MORRIS JACOB, clergyman, author, was born in September, 1798, in Sweden. He was a Jewish clergyman once prominent in New York city; and the author of Post-Biblical History of the Jews; Literature of the Jews in Spain; Social Condition of the Jews; Festivals of the Lord; and The Path to Immortality. He died June 23, 1868, in New York city.

RAPIER, JAMES T., congressman, was born in 1840 in Florence, Ala. He was elected from Alabama to the forty-third congress; and re-elected to the forty-fourth congress.

RAREY, JOHN S., author, was born in 1828 in Franklin county, Ohio. He was a famous horse-tamer who wrote a Treatise on Horse-Training that was very extensively circulated. He died Oct. 4, 1866, in Cleveland, Ohio.

RARIDEN, JAMES, lawyer, congressman, was born in Kentucky. He became eminent as a lawyer; and was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1837 to 1841. He died in Cambridge City, Ind.

RATHBONE, ESTES GEORGE, banker, state senator, was born June 30, 1848, in Hebron, Pa. He is a successful banker of Hamilton, Ohio. For nine years he was special agent of the United States treasury; chief of special examiners of pension office for three years; state senator of Ohio for two years; chief postoffice inspector for two years; and fourth assistant postmaster general under President Harrison.

RATHBONE, JOHN FINLEY, soldier, manufacturer, was born Oct. 18, 1821, in Albany, N. Y. In 1845 he built a foundry in Albany that is now one of the largest establishments of the kind in the world. He was appointed adjutant-general of New York, with the rank of major-general.

RATHBONE, JUSTUS HENRY, founder, was born Oct. 29, 1839, in Deerfield, N. Y. He was the founder of the Knights of Pythias. He died in 1890 in Lima, Ohio.

RATHBUN, GEORGE, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1847.

RATLIFF, JOSEPH C., state legislator, was born July 6, 1827, near Richmond, Ind. In 1875 he was chosen to represent Wayne county in the Indiana state legislature; and in 1876 he was appointed by the governor a trustee of the Purdue university, and was reappointed in 1877 for the term of three years. In 1870 he was elected president of the Wayne County Turnpike company.

RATLIFF, RYLAND, educator, botanist, was born in 1858 near Marion, Ind. Since 1886 he has been an instructor of natural science in Fairmount academy, Indiana. He has made a special study of botany and general biology.

RAU, CHARLES, archæologist, author, was born in 1826 in Belgium. He was an archæologist of distinction of Belgian birth who settled in the United States in 1848, and was curator of antiquities in the United States National museum in 1875-87. He was the author of Early Man in Europe; and Prehistoric Fishing. He died July 25, 1887, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAUB, ALBERT NEWTON, educator, college president, author, was born March 28, 1840, in Lancaster county, Pa. After attending the State Normal school of Millersville, Pa., he began educational work. He has been superintendent of the Ashland public schools; superintendent of the Lock Haven public schools, Pennsylvania; principal of the State Normal school of Lock Haven, Pa.;

and is now the president of the Delaware college of Newark. He is the author of twenty-six books, including text-books on grammar, reading, spelling, arithmetic, literature, and pedagogy. His lessons, etc., are especially commendable works, and the best of their kind.

RAUCH, FRIEDRICH AUGUSTUS, psychologist, author, was born July 27, 1806, in Germany. He was a psychologist of Mercersburg, Pa., prominent among thinkers of the German reformed faith. He was the author of Psychology: a View of the Human Soul; and The Inner Life of the Christian. He died March 2, 1841, in Mercersburg, Pa.

RAUCH, JOHN HENRY, physician, author, was born Sept. 4, 1828, in Lebanon, Pa. In 1857 he was professor of materia medica and medical botany in the Rush Medical college of Chicago, Ill.; and in 1859 filled the same chair in the Chicago College of Pharmacy, of which he was one of the organizers. His chief work as a writer is embodied in the reports of the Illinois state board of health in eight volumes.

RAUE, CHARLES GODLOVE, physician, educator, author, was born May 11, 1820, in Saxony. From 1864 till 1871 he was professor of pathology and practice at the Homœopathic college of Pennsylvania, and at Hahnemann Medical college in Philadelphia. He is the author of Special Pathology and Diagnostics with Therapeutic Hints; and Annual Record of Homœopathic Literature.

RAUM, GREEN BERRY, soldier, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Dec. 11, 1829, in Golconda, Ill. In 1861 he participated in the war for the union as major of the fifty-sixth Illinois volunteers, and was promoted to the rank of brevet brigadier-general in 1864, and to the full rank of brigadier in 1865. In 1866 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the fortieth congress as a republican. He was commissioner of internal revenue from 1876 to 1883; and subsequently United States commissioner of pensions. He is the author of The Existing Conflict between Republican Government and Southern Oligarchy.

RAVENEL, HENRY WILLIAM, botanist, author, was born May 19, 1814, in St. John's Parish Berkeley, S. C. He was a botanist of Aiken, S. C., distinguished for his knowledge of fungi; and was the author of Fungi Caroliniani Exsiccati; and Fungi Americani Exsiccati. He died July 17, 1887, in Aiken, S. C.

RAVENEL, ST. JULIEN, chemist, surgeon, was born Dec. 15, 1819, in Charleston, S. C. He was surgeon-in-chief of the confederate hospital in Columbia, and was director of the confederate laboratory in that city for the preparation of medical supplies. At the close of the war he returned to Charleston, and in 1866 he discovered the value of the phosphate deposits in the vicinity of that city for agricultural purposes. He died March 16, 1882, in Charleston, S. C.

RAVENSROFT, D. W., author, poet, was born in 1852 in California. Under the nom de plume of The Exile he has contributed upwards of a thousand poems to current literature. He is the author of The Spirit of Unrest; Idyls; and several novels.

RAWLE, FRANCIS, author, was born in 1660 in England. He was a Quaker colonist of Pennsylvania whose Ways and Means for the Inhabitants of Delaware to become Rich is said to have been the first book printed by Franklin. He died March 5, 1727, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAWLE, FRANCIS, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 7, 1846, in Mifflin county, Pa. In 1871 he was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia. He has published two revised editions of Bouvier's Law Dictionary, in which are given over seven hundred subjects not named in the original work.

RAWLE, HENRY, soldier, lawyer, manufacturer, iron master, was born Aug. 21, 1833, in Mifflin county, Pa. He engaged extensively in the coal and iron business in Erie, Pa., and established the Erie blast-furnace and Erie rolling-mill. In 1874-76 he was mayor of Erie, and from 1870 till 1878 he was treasurer of Pennsylvania.

RAWLE, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born April 28, 1759, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a distinguished lawyer of Philadelphia; and the author of View of the Constitution of the United States; and The Study of the Law. He died April 12, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAWLE, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born July 19, 1788, in Philadelphia, Pa. As reporter of the state supreme court, he published twenty-five volumes of reports. He died Aug. 9, 1858, in Montgomery county, N. Y.

RAWLE, WILLIAM BROOKE, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 29, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia who has published The Right Flank at Gettysburg; and With Gregg in the Gettysburg Campaign.

RAWLE, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 31, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a prominent lawyer of Philadelphia; and the author of Law of Covenants for Title; Some Contrasts in the Growth of Pennsylvania in English Law; and Equity in Pennsylvania. He died April 19, 1889, in Philadelphia.

RAWLES, RICHARD H., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 15, 1850, in Nausemond county, Va. He was a state senator in the Virginia legislature from the thirty-second senatorial district; and has been judge of the county and criminal court of his native county.

RAWLES, WILLIAM A., educator, author, was born Dec. 4, 1863, in Remington, Ind. He has filled the chair of American history and politics in various institutions, and since 1894 in the Indiana university. He is the author of Civil Government of Indiana, and other works.

RAWLINS, JOHN AARON, soldier, secretary of war, was born Feb. 13, 1831, in East Galena, Ill. He was assistant adjutant-general; and after seeing much service in the field rose by degrees to the rank of major-general by brevet in 1865. He served as chief of staff to the general commanding the armies. On the accession of General Grant to the presidency, he was appointed secretary of war. He died Sept. 9, 1869, in Washington, D. C.

RAWLINS, JOSEPH L., lawyer, educator, congressman, United States senator, was born March 28, 1850, in Salt Lake county, Utah. He was professor in the university of Deseret in Salt Lake City, Utah, for two years. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as delegate on the democratic ticket; and was elected to the United States senate as a democrat in 1897.

RAWSON, ALBERT LEIGHTON, author, was born Oct. 15, 1829, in Chester, Vt. He is a traveler of note who has published Histories of All Religions; Antiquities of the Orient; The Unseen World; and a number of dictionaries and vocabularies of Oriental tongues.

RAWSON, EDWARD, author, was born April 16, 1815, in England. He was one of the first secretaries of the general court of Massachusetts colony. He died March 27, 1893, in Boston, Mass.

RAY, ANNA CHAPIN, author, was born in 1865 in Massachusetts. She is a writer of West Haven, Conn., whose tales for juvenile reading have been popular. She is the author of Cadets of Fleming Hall; Half a Dozen Boys; Half a Dozen Girls; In Blue Creek Cañon; Dick; and Margaret Davis Tutor.

RAY, FABIUS MAXIMUS, lawyer, educator, state legislator, author, was born in March, 1837, in East Windham, Maine.

In 1867 entertaining the project of abandoning the law, he entered the senior class of the Divinity school in Cambridge and graduated, but never received ordination, and in a year or two resumed the legal profession in Portland, which he continues in the firm of Ray and Dyer. He represented Westbrook in the Maine legislature of 1871-72. He published a volume of poems in 1873. He taught a school in Saccarappa in 1865 and in the winter of 1869-70, and has had several private pupils in modern languages and the classics.

RAY, GEORGE W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 3, 1844, in Otselic, N. Y. He received his education at the Norwich academy, New York; and has attained eminence as one of the leading lawyers of the east at Norwich. He served with distinction in congress, in the forty-eighth, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and fifty-fifth congresses. He is a member of the republican state committee; chairman of the republican county committee; and a member of the board of education of Norwich, N. Y.

RAY, HARRY PALMER, journalist, author, was born July 2, 1866, in Phelps, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Coldwater, Mich., and subsequently attended the Chicago university and Union College of Law. For eighteen years he has been engaged in newspaper work; several years of which were with the Associated Press. He has contributed to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Republican, and Post-Dispatch; the Chicago Tribune, and the Cincinnati Enquirer. He is one of the leading turf writers in America; the editor of Whip and Spur of Philadelphia, Pa., and the author of several works of fiction.

RAY, ISAAC, physician, author, was born Jan. 16, 1807, in Beverly, Mass. He was a physician of Philadelphia; and the author of Conversations on Animal Economy; Education in Relation to the Health of the Brain; Mental Hygiene; and Medical Jurisprudence of Insanity. He died March 31, 1881, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RAY, JAMES BROWN, governor, was born Feb. 19, 1794, in Jefferson county, Ky. He was governor of Indiana from 1825 to 1831. He died Aug. 4, 1848, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

RAY, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, was born Oct. 14, 1816, in Washington county, Mo. He removed to Monroe, La., and took high rank in his profession. He was elected in 1844 to the state house of representatives, and in 1850 to the state senate. In 1854 and again in 1859 he was nominated by the whigs for lieutenant-governor. He died March 4, 1888, in New Orleans, La.

RAY, JOSEPH, educator, mathematician, author, was born Nov. 25, 1807, in Virginia. He received his degree of M. D. from the Ohio Medical college; and was for a time surgeon in the Cincinnati hospital. During 1834-51 he held the chair of mathematics in Woodward college; and from about 1849 he was president of the board of directors of the Cincinnati House of Refuge. He published an eclectic series of arithmetics long popular in the western states. He died April 17, 1865, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

RAY, JOSEPH WARREN, lawyer, congressman, was born May 25, 1849, in Greene county, Pa. He has practiced his profession since 1876 in Waynesburg, Pa.; and was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

RAY, OSSIAN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1835, in Hinesburg, Vt. He was a representative in the New Hampshire state legislature in 1868 and 1869. He was United States district attorney in 1879 and 1880. He was a member of the forty-sixth congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

RAY, WILLIAM, author, was born Dec. 8, 1771, in Salisbury, Conn. He was the author of Horrors of Slavery; and a book of poems. He died in 1827 in Auburn, N. Y.

RAY, WILLIAM H., merchant, banker, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1812, in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was elected from Illinois to the forty-third congress.

RAYMOND, ANDREW VAN VRANKEN, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 8, 1854, in Vischer's Ferry, N. Y. This eminent clergyman was pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church of Albany, N. Y., for eight years; and since 1895 has been president of the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y.

RAYMOND, ANNIE LOUISE CARY, vocalist, was born Oct. 22, 1842, in Wayne, Maine. She is one of the most noted concert singers in the United States.

RAYMOND, BENJAMIN WRIGHT, merchant, was born Oct. 23, 1801, in Rome, N. Y. In 1839 he was elected the third mayor of Chicago, and he was re-elected in 1842. He was one of the originators of the city of Lake Forest, a founder of Lake Forest university and president of its board of trustees; and was a member of the board of trustees of Beloit college and Rockford Female seminary. In 1864 he organized the Elgin National Watch company, and became its president. He died April 5, 1883, in Chicago, Ill.

RAYMOND, CHARLES W., lawyer, jurist, orator, was born in Dubuque, Iowa. His father, William M. Raymond, was captain of company C, fifty-second Indiana volunteer infantry, and lost his life in the battle of Nashville. Charles W. Raymond was educated at the Grand Prairie seminary of Onarga, Ill., and at the Wabash college. He attained prominence at the Illinois bar at Watseka; and was vice-president of the State Bar association when Lyman Trumbull was president. In 1895-96 he was president of the Republican league of Illinois; and was chairman of the Illinois delegation of the National Republican league convention at Cleveland in 1895. In 1894 he was elected a judge; and in 1897 was tendered the position of United States civil service commissioner. He has delivered numerous public addresses throughout the United States on current subjects.

RAYMOND, GEORGE LANSING, educator, author, poet, was born Sept. 3, 1839, in Chicago, Ill. He is a professor of oratory at Princeton college from 1881. His writings in verse include Colony ballads; A Life in Song; Ballads of the Revolution, and Other Poems; Sketches in Song; and Pictures in Verse. He is the author of The Orator's Manual; Modern Fishers of Men, a novel; Poetry as a Representative Art; The Genesis of Art Form; Art in Theory; Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture as Representative Arts; Rhythm and Harmony in Poetry and Music; and Ideals Made Real.

RAYMOND, HENRY JARVIS, journalist, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Jan. 24, 1820, in Lima, N. Y. In 1849 he was elected to the New York state assembly; was re-elected and made speaker. In 1851 he established the New York Times. He was subsequently chosen lieutenant-governor of New York; and was again elected to the state legislature. In 1864 he was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-ninth congress. He was the author of Life of Lincoln; Political Lessons of the Revolution; History of the Administration of Lincoln; and Letters to Mr. Yancey. He died June 18, 1869, in New York city.

RAYMOND, JAMES, lawyer, author, was born in 1796 in Connecticut. In 1844 he was elected a member of the Maryland house of delegates, and in 1847 he was appointed state's attorney. He published Digest of the Maryland Chancery Decision; and Political, a book in opposition to Know-nothingism as a phase of politics in the state of Maryland. He died in January, 1858, in Westminster, Md.

RAYMOND, JEROME HALE, educator, college president, was born March 10, 1869, in Clinton, Iowa. He attended the public schools of Chicago, Ill.; the Northwestern academy of Evanston; received the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from the Northwestern university, and the degree of Ph. D. from the university of Chicago. He has been professor of history and political science in the Lawrence university; lecturer in sociology in the university of Chicago; professor of sociology in the university of Wisconsin; and since 1897 has been president of the West Virginia university. As an educator his work has been chiefly in university extension.

RAYMOND, JOHN BALDWIN, soldier, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1844, in Lockport, N. Y. He served in the union army throughout the war of the rebellion, rising to the rank of captain. In 1877 he was appointed United States marshal for the territory of Dakota, and served five years, declining a re-appointment. He was elected the delegate from Dakota to the forty-eighth congress as a republican. He died Dec. 27, 1885.

RAYMOND, LEVI BEARDSLEY, soldier, journalist, was born July 3, 1838, in Alleghany county, N. Y. For over twenty years he has been a member of the school board of Hampton, Iowa; was county superintendent of schools during 1867-69, and again in 1875-76. He is the editor and part owner of the Franklin County Recorder of Hampton, Iowa; has been postmaster; and since 1896 has been trustee of the Iowa Soldiers' home.

RAYMOND, MINER, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 29, 1811, in New York city. He is a methodist clergyman of Illinois, theological professor in Garrett Biblical institute at Evanston, Ill., from 1864; and the author of Systematic Theology.

RAYMOND, ROBERT RAIKES, journalist, educator, author, was born in 1819 in New York city. He edited the Syracuse Free Democrat in 1852, and the Evening Chronicle in 1853-54, and was professor of elocution and English in Brooklyn Polytechnic institute from 1857 till 1864. He published Gems from Tupper; Little Don Quixote, from the German; and Patriotic Speaker. He died Nov. 16, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

RAYMOND, ROSSITER WORTHINGTON, civil engineer, journalist, author, was born April 27, 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a mining engineer of Brooklyn, editor of The Engineering and Mining Journal from 1868. Among his technical and other writings are included, Mines and Mining of the Rocky Mountains; Mines, Mills, and Furnaces of the Pacific Slope; Silver and Gold; Brave Hearts, a novel; The Man in the Moon, and Other People; The Book of Job; Essays and a Metrical Paraphrase; The Merry-Go-Round; and Two Ghosts, and Other Tales.

RAYMOND, SARAH E., educator, philanthropist, was born Oct. 20, 1842, in Big Grove, Ill. She was educated at the public high school and academy; by private tutors in various branches; and in 1866 graduated from a three years' course in the Illinois State Normal university. She has become one of the most distinguished educators in Illinois. In 1866-68 she was an instructor at the Fowler institute of Newark, Ill.; then for six years in the schools of Bloomington, Ill.; and in 1874 was elected secretary of the school board and superintendent of all the Bloomington city schools, which position she held for eighteen years, resigning in August, 1892. She was the first woman in the United States elected to the position of superintendent of city schools. She was president of the Central Illinois Teachers' association; president of the Women's State Teachers' association; president of the Bloomington Public library for ten years, and one of its directors for nineteen years; and for several years she was president of the Woman's Educational association of the Illinois Wesleyan university. Since 1892 she has resided in Boston, engaged in literary work.

RAYNER, ISIDOR, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 11, 1850. In 1878 he was elected to the Maryland legislature for two years. In 1886 he was elected to the state senate from Baltimore City for four years; and was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-second congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

RAYNER, KENNETH, state legislator, congressman, author, was born in 1808 in Bertie county, N. C. In 1835 he was a member of the North Carolina house of commons, and the same year was a member of the convention to revise the state constitution. He served again in the local legislature in 1836 and 1838; and was a representative in congress from 1839 to 1845, and a presidential elector in 1848. In 1846, for the third time, he went into the legislature. In 1866 he published the Life and Services of Andrew Johnson. In 1877 he was appointed solicitor of the treasury of the United States. He died Feb. 5, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

RAYNOLDS, L. D., journalist, was born Sept. 24, 1847, in Ohio. He is now the editor and owner of the Chicago Express, the oldest reform paper in the United States.

RAYNOR, ARLINGTON, lecturer, was born July 7, 1872, in New York city. He has attained prominence as a lecturer in New York city, where he is secretary for the Young Men's Christian association.

REA, DAVID, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1831, in Ripley county, Ind. He is a noted lawyer of Savannah, Mo.; and was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat.

REA, JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born in 1755 in Pennsylvania. He served during the revolutionary war; was several times a member of the Pennsylvania state house of representatives, and was five times elected as a democrat to congress, serving from 1803 till 1815, except in 1811-13. He died Feb. 6, 1829, in Chambersburg, Pa.

REA, JOHN PATTERSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 13, 1840, in Chester county, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of his native county; attended the Hopewell academy; and graduated in 1867 in the classical course from the Ohio Wesleyan university. During the war he was second lieutenant, first lieutenant and captain in the first regiment of the Ohio volunteer cavalry; was brevet major United States volunteer, and subsequently was captain company A, first regiment Minnesota national guard; and then brigadier-general. He has been judge of the probate court of Hennepin county, Minn.; district judge of the fourth judicial district of Minnesota; and in 1876-77 was editor of the Minneapolis Tribune. He is prominent in the business and political affairs of Minneapolis, Minn., and stands high in several fraternal orders.

REA, MRS. JULIE [FOSTER], singer, author, was born in 1814, in England. She was an opera singer and dramatic critic of Philadelphia, and the author of The Ins and Outs of Paris: Italy and the War of 1859; and Parisian Pickings. She died in 1866.

READ, ABNER, naval officer, was born April 5, 1821, in Urbana, Ohio. He served with distinction in the civil war and attained the rank of commodore. He died July 12, 1863, in Baton Rouge, La.

READ, ALMON H., state legislator, state senator, was born June 12, 1790, in Shelburne, Vt. He was frequently elected to the Pennsylvania state legislature; and also to the senate. In 1840 he was appointed treasurer of the state; and in 1841 was elected to fill a vacancy in the national house of representatives; and re-elected to the succeeding congress. He died June 3, 1844, in Montrose, Pa.

READ, BENJAMIN M., lawyer, legislator, was born September, 1854, in Las Cruces, N. M. He has been private secretary to Governors L. A. Sheldon and E. G. Ross. He has been a translator of the New Mexico laws; professor of English and Spanish; and in 1885 was admitted to the supreme court of New Mexico. In 1890-91 he was a member of the New Mexico legislature; has been vice-president for New Mexico of the National Republican league, and was a delegate to the conventions of the National Republican league in 1894 and in 1896. He has been pension agent; and since 1876 has been a delegate to nearly all the republican territorial conventions in New Mexico.

READ, COLLINSON, lawyer, author, was born in 1751, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was appointed deputy register of wills for the county, and afterward practiced law in Philadelphia. He published a Digest of the Laws of Pennsylvania; Abridgment of the Laws of Pennsylvania; American Pleader's Assistant; and Precedents in the Office of a Justice of the Peace. He died March 1, 1815, in Reading, Pa.

READ, DANIEL, composer, was born Nov. 16, 1757, in Attleborough, Mass. He published in 1791 The American Singing-Book, or a New and Easy Guide to the Art of Psalmody; and in 1793 Columbian Harmony, a collection of devotional music. Subsequently he published a New Collection of Psalm-Tunes, which came to be known as the Litchfield Collection, containing many tunes of his own composition (Dedham, 1805), Windham, Greenwich, Sherburne, Russia, Stafford, and others of Read's hymn-tunes are still in general use in American churches. He died in 1841, in New Haven, Conn.

READ, DANIEL, educator, college president, was born June 24, 1805, in Marietta, Ohio. In 1856 he became professor of mental and moral philosophy in Wisconsin university, and in 1863 entered on the presidency of Missouri state university, Columbia, which office he filled until 1876. He died Oct. 3, 1878, in Keokuk, Iowa.

READ, GEORGE, signer of declaration of independence, was born Sept. 17, 1733, in Cecil county, Md. He was made attorney-general of the three lower counties on the Delaware in 1763, and held the office until he was chosen a delegate to congress in 1775. In 1776 he was a signer of the declaration of independence. He was elected a member of the United States senate, serving from 1789 to 1793; and was then appointed chief justice of the supreme court of Delaware, in which office he remained until his death in 1798. He died Sept. 21, 1798.

READ, GEORGE CAMPBELL, naval officer, was born about 1757, in Ireland. He was promoted commander in 1816, and captain in 1825; took charge of the East India squadron in 1840, and of the squadron on the coast of Africa in 1846. He died Aug. 22, 1862, in Philadelphia.

READ, HOLLIS, missionary, author, was born Aug. 26, 1802, in Newfane, Vt. He was a presbyterian foreign missionary, who after 1835 was settled over various New Jersey parishes. He was the author of Journal in India; The Hand of God in History, a very popular book at one time; The Palace of the Great King; India and Its People; The Coming Crisis of the World; The Negro Problem Solved; and The Devil in History. He died April 7, 1887, in Somerville, N. J.

READ, J., congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress in 1787 and 1788.

READ, JACOB, lawyer, jurist, congressman, state senator, was born 1752, in South Carolina. He was a delegate from South Carolina to the continental congress from 1783 to 1786; and was elected a senator in congress from that state for the term from 1795 to 1802. In 1801 he was appointed judge of the United States district court of South Carolina. He died July 17, 1816, in Charleston, S. C.

READ, JANE MARIA, author, was born in 1853, in Massachusetts. She is poet of Colebrook Springs, Mass., who has published Between the Centuries, and Other Poems.

READ, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, was born July 7, 1769, in Newcastle, Del. He was appointed in 1797 agent-general of the United States under Jay's treaty, and held that office until its expiration in 1809. He was also a member of the supreme and common councils of Philadelphia and of the Pennsylvania legislature, and in 1816 chairman of its celebrated committee of seventeen. He succeeded Nicholas Biddle in the Pennsylvania senate in 1816. He died July 13, 1854, in Trenton, N. J.

READ, JOHN, lawyer, was born about 1673 in Mendon, Mass. He was an active member of the provincial house of representatives, and of the council during Governor William Shirley's administration. He contributed greatly to the reform of legal phraseology, being the first to reduce the antiquated forms and redundant phrases of deeds of conveyance to simpler and clearer language. He died Feb. 7, 1749, in Boston, Mass.

READ, JOHN MEREDITH, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 21, 1837, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a lawyer of Albany, N. Y., who was minister to Greece in 1873-79, and subsequently filled other important diplomatic positions. He was the author of An Historical Inquiry Concerning Hendrick Hudson. He died in 1896.

READ, LAZARUS H., lawyer, jurist. In 1853 he was appointed judge of the United States court for the territory of Utah.

READ, MATTHEW CANFIELD, lawyer, lecturer, was born Aug. 21, 1823, in Williamsfield, Ohio. During the war he was United States sanitary commissioner; has been collector of revenue; a member of the Ohio geological corps; and lecturer on biology and practical geology.

READ, NATHAN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 2, 1759, in Warren, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1800 to 1803. He removed to Hallowell, Maine, and was for many years judge of the court of common pleas. He died Jan. 20, 1849, near Belfast, Maine.

READ, NELL M., educator, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1873, in Carimona, Minn. She has attained success in educational work, and still resides in her native state at Preston. She has contributed extensively to current literature, and is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

READ, OPIE, journalist, author, was born in 1852, in Tennessee. He is a journalist now living in Chicago, who edited The Arkansas Traveler for some years, and whose studies of Arkansas life have been widely read. He is the author of My Young Master; An Arkansas Planter; Len Gansett; Up Terrapin River; A Kentucky Colonel; On the Suwannee River; Miss Polly Lopp, and Other Stories; The Captain's Romance; and The Jucklins, a novel.

READ, THEODORE, soldier, lawyer, was born April 11, 1836, in Athens, Ohio. He served in various battles in General Grant's campaign, and in 1864 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for services in the field. He lost his life in the last encounter between the armies of Generals Grant and Lee. He died April 5, 1865, in Farmville, Va.

READ, THOMAS, naval officer, was born in 1740, in New Castle, Del. He was the first naval officer to obtain the rank of commodore in the American navy. He died Oct. 26, 1788, in White Hill, N. J.

READ, THOMAS, clergyman, was born in March, 1746, in Chester county, Pa. In August, 1777, he performed an important service for the American cause by drawing for General Washington a map that showed the topography of the country and a route by which he could retreat from Stanton, and avoid a conflict with the superior British force that had landed at Elk ferry, and was advancing on the American camp. He died June 14, 1823, in Wilmington, Del.

READ, THOMAS B., state senator. He was a senator in congress from Mississippi from 1826 to 1827, and also during the session of 1829. He died Nov. 26, 1829, in Lexington, Ky.

READ, THOMAS BUCHANAN, artist, poet, was born March 12, 1822, in Chester county, Pa. He was a poet and artist of Philadelphia, whose later years were spent in Florence and Rome. As a poet he is best known by the famous Sheridan's Ride; Drifting; and The Closing Scene; and it is by these poems that he will continue to be remembered. He is the author of Poems; Lays and Ballads; The Pilgrims of the Great St. Bernard, a prose romance; The New Pastoral; The House by the Sea; The Wagoner of the Alleghanies, in which occurs the fine lyric beginning, The maid who binds her warrior's sash; Sylvia; A Voyage to Iceland; A Summer Story; and Sheridan's Ride, and Other Poems. His complete poems were issued in 1882. He died May 11, 1872, in New York city.

READ, WILLIAM B., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1820, in Hardin county, Ky. He was elected to the state senate of Kentucky in 1857, and again in 1861. He was elected to the legislature of Kentucky in 1867; and was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a democrat.

READE, EDWIN G., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1812, in Orange county, N. C. He was elected from North Carolina a representative in congress in 1855, serving until 1857.

READER, FRANK S., soldier, journalist, was born Nov. 17, 1842, in Coal Center, Pa. He served as a soldier during the civil war in the second regiment Virginia volunteer infantry; and in 1863 changed to the fifth regiment of the West Virginia cavalry. He was captured on June 20, 1864, and subsequently escaped. For several years he was a clergyman in the methodist church, but retired on account of ill-health. In 1874 he established the Beaver Valley News of New Brighton, Pa.; and began the daily edition in 1893. He is the author of The Life of Moody and Sankey; A History of the Fifth West Virginia Cavalry; and has contributed various historical sketches and other articles to the periodical press generally.

READING, JOHN R., physician, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1826, in Philadelphia county, Pa. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first congress.

READY, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 22, 1802, in Readyville, Tenn. He was a member of the Tennessee legislature in 1835, and closely identified with the organization of the judiciary. By special commission he twice presided in the supreme court of Tennessee. He was elected a representative in congress from that state in 1853, to which position he was twice re-elected.

READY, SAMUEL, philanthropist, was born March 8, 1789, in Baltimore, Md. He obtained a charter in 1864, and, having no immediate family, left $371,000, constituting the bulk of his fortune, as an endowment for the Samuel Ready asylum. The institution, which is in the northern part of Baltimore, was opened in 1888. He died Nov. 28, 1871, in Baltimore, Md.

REAGAN, JOHN HENNINGER, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 8, 1818, in Sevier county, Tenn. He was appointed deputy surveyor in the republic of Texas in 1840; and in 1843 was a justice of the peace, and a militia captain. In 1846 he was probate judge and colonel of militia; and was elected a member of the legislature in 1847. He was a judge of the district court from 1852 to 1857; and in 1856 was elected a member of the thirty-fifth congress. He was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress; withdrew in February, 1861, and became postmaster-general of the confederate government. He was elected to the forty-fourth congress as a representative from Texas, and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat; and became a United States senator in 1887.

REALF, RICHARD, soldier, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1834, in England. He was a journalist and poet of Pittsburg who was a federal officer during the civil war. He was the author of Guesses at the Beautiful. He died Oct. 28, 1878, in Oakland, Cal.

REAM, VINNIE, sculptor, was born in 1850, in Mississippi. She has modeled characteristic busts of Horace Greeley and Senator Sherman; and her bust of Liszt and her America, or the Four Sisters, have been much talked about.

REAMY, THADDEUS ASBURY, physician, surgeon, author, was born April 28, 1829, in Frederick county, Va. He received the degree of A. M. from the Ohio Wesleyan university; and the degree of L. L. D. from Cornell college. He has been professor of clinical gynæcology in the Medical college of Ohio, and in the medical department of the Cincinnati university. He has also been gynæcologist to the Cincinnati hospital, the Good Samaritan hospital, and the Woman's hospital. He is the proprietor of a large private hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio; is a member of the leading medical bodies of Europe and America; and a well known writer on medical and surgical diseases of women.

REAVIS, ISAAC, lawyer, jurist, was born in Illinois. He removed to Nebraska, and was appointed from that territory an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Arizona, residing in Arizona City.

REAVIS, LOGAN URIAH, journalist, author, was born March 26, 1831, in Sangamon Bottom, Ill. He was a St. Louis journalist, who published St. Louis, the Future Great City of the World; Life of Horace Greeley; Thoughts for the Young Men and Women of America; Life of General Harney; and Railway and River System. He died April 25, 1889, in St. Louis, Mo.

RECTOR, ELBRIDGE LEE, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 16, 1847, in Seguin, Texas. He received his education at the university of Virginia; and since 1877 has been engaged in the practice of law in San Saba, Texas. He has always been a student of political economy; has contributed articles on monetary topics to the American Magazine of Civics; and is the author of a work entitled The Science of Exchange.

RECTOR, HENRY M., governor. He was governor of Arkansas from 1860 to 1864.

REDDALL, HENRY FREDERICK, journalist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1852, in England. He has been a contributor to periodicals under the pen-name of Frederic Allred. Since 1881 he has been associate editor of The People's Cyclopædia. He has published From the Golden Gate to the Golden Horn; Who Was He?, six historical sketches; School-Boy Days in Merrie England; Courtship, Love and Wedlock; and Fancy, Fact and Fable.

REDE, WYLLYS, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1859, in Monmouth, Ill. He graduated from Williams college in 1882; studied at the General Theological seminary of New York; and spent a year in the post-graduate study at Oxford university. He has filled pastorates in Maine, Virginia and Maryland, and is now rector of the Emanuel church of Rockford, Ill. He is the author of The Communion of Saints; Striving for the Mastery; and other works.

REDFIELD, AMASA ANGELL, lawyer, author, was born May 19, 1837, in Clyde, Wayne county, N. Y. He is a lawyer of New York city, and the author of Handbook of United States Tax Laws; Law and Practice of Surrogates' Courts; and Reports of Surrogates' Courts of New York State, 1864-82.

REDFIELD, ISAAC FLETCHER, lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 10, 1804, in Wethersfield, Vt. He was a lawyer who was chief justice of Vermont in 1852-60, and a resident of Boston after the latter date. He was the author of The Law of Railways; The Law of Wills; Law of Carriers and Bailments; Leading American Railway Cases; and Civil Pleading. He died March 23, 1876, in Charlestown, Mass.

REDFIELD, JOHN HOWARD, naturalist, author, was born July 10, 1815, in Cromwell, Conn. He was appointed conservator of the herbarium of the Philadelphia academy of Natural Sciences in 1876, and he has contributed botanical papers to the Bulletin of the Torrey Botanical Club, and to the Botanical Gazette. He has also published Genealogical History of the Redfield Family in the United States.

REDFIELD, WILLIAM CHARLES, meteorologist, author, was born March 26, 1789, in Middletown, Conn. He conceived the fundamental idea of his famous law of storms as early as 1821, and promulgated his theory in 1831. He was first president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He was the author of On Whirlwind Storms; and other works. He died Feb. 12, 1857, in New York city.

REDING, JOHN R., congressman, was born in New Hampshire. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1845; and from 1853 to 1858 held the office of naval storekeeper at Portsmouth.

REDMAN, JOHN, physician, author, was born Feb. 27, 1722, in Philadelphia, Pa. On the foundation of the Philadelphia college of Physicians in 1786 he was chosen president of that body, and for many years he was one of the physicians of the city hospital. He died March 19, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa.

REDPATH, JAMES, journalist, author, was born in 1833. He was a New York journalist for many years on the staff of The Tribune, and prominent as an abolitionist. He was the author of The Roving Editor; Handbook of Kansas Territory; Public Life of Captain John Brown; Echoes of Harper's Ferry; Guide to Hayti; and Talks About Ireland. He died Feb. 10, 1891, in New York city.

REDWAY, JACQUES WARDLAW, geographer, educator, author, was born May 5, 1849, in Nashville, Tenn. He is a geographer and educator of California, and the author of Complete Geography; Manual of Physical Geography; and Manual of Geography and Travel.

REDWINE, HYRAM G., educator, lawyer, was born April 6, 1868, in Graves county, Ky. He attended the West Kentucky college of Mayfield; and the Northern Indiana Law school of Valparaiso. For many years he was engaged in educational work; was editor of the Republican of Marshall, Ark.; and since 1893 has practiced law with success at Salmon, Idaho.

REDWINE, ROBERT B., merchant, lawyer, was born July 12, 1860, in Union county, N. C. Early in life he became a successful farmer and merchant; and subsequently turned his attention to law; taking a course at Bingham school, and later graduated from the law school of the university of North Carolina. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Monroe, N. C.; was presidential elector on the national democratic ticket in 1896; and takes a prominent part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

REDWOOD, ABRAHAM, philanthropist, was born in 1709, in the West Indies. He was a Quaker, and founder of the Redwood library, to which he gave five hundred pounds. He died March 3, 1788, in Newport, R. I.

REED, ANNA MORRISON, author, lecturer, poet, was born in Dubuque, Iowa. Besides writing for the press east and west, she published between 1880 and 1896 two different editions of her poems, a third compilation being about to issue. She has been called on to lecture before the Agricultural association of Northern California; and was appointed one of the commissioners on the state board for the Columbian exposition in 1892. Her organizing talents won her the distinction of again being solicited to aid in raising funds for the Midwinter Fair of San Francisco the following year, in which she was eminently successful. She is a life member of the Pacific Coast Woman's Press association. A native of Iowa.

REED, CALEB, journalist, was born April 22, 1797, in West Bridgewater, Mass.

He was a believer in the doctrines of Swedenborg, and for more than twenty years edited the New Jerusalem Magazine, devoted to their promulgation. He published The General Principles of English Grammar. He died Oct. 14, 1854, in Boston, Mass.

REED, CHARLES ANDREW, lawyer, author, publisher, was born June 16, 1836, in Weymouth, Mass. During 1881-82 he was a member of the house of the Massachusetts state legislature; and in 1886-87 was a member of the senate. During 1879-94 he was city solicitor of Taunton, and in 1895 was elected mayor. He is secretary of the Old Colony Historical society, and has written various articles of local history.

REED, CHARLES M., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845.

REED, DAVID, scholar, philanthropist, was born Feb. 6, 1790, in Easton, Mass. He founded the Christian Register in Boston in 1821; and was one of the founders of the American Anti-Slavery society in 1828. He died June 7, 1870, in Boston, Mass.

REED, EDWARD C., lawyer, congressman, was born March 8, 1793, in Fitzwilliam, N. H. He settled at Homer, N. Y., as a lawyer; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1833.

REED, EDWIN, scholar, author, was born in 1835, in Bath, Maine. He is a Shakespearean scholar who has published Bacon vs. Shakspeare, a history of the controversy, with arguments pro and con.

REED, ELIZABETH ARMSTRONG, author, was born May 16, 1842, in Winthrop, Maine. She is the author of The Bible Triumphant; Earnest Words; and Hindu Literature.

REED, EMILIE McKIM, was born May 10, 1840, in Baltimore, Md. She represented Maryland in the Woman's Pavilion in the Centennial exposition of 1876; was a member of the board of lady managers at the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago; and was appointed by the governor of Maryland as chairman of the woman's committee for Maryland for the Atlanta exposition. For seventeen years she has been president of the Baltimore Decorative Art society; and secretary and vice-president respectively of the National and Maryland Society of Colonial Dames of America.

REED, GEORGE E., journalist, was born Feb. 4, 1872, in Shippensburg, Pa. He is the editor and owner of the Observer of Prairie Depot, Ohio; and has contributed extensively to periodical literature. In 1896-97 he was enrolling clerk of the Ohio house of representatives; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

REED, GEORGE EDWARD, clergyman, college president, was born March 28, 1846, in Brownville, Maine. This eminent clergyman is the honored president of Dickinson college of Carlisle, Pa.

REED, GILBERT B., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1828, in Steuben county, N. Y. He is president judge of the court of appeals of Colorado, to which state he removed in 1860. He was judge of the miners court until 1861; was then elected prosecuting attorney, which position he resigned and practiced law until 1888. In that year he was appointed judge of the supreme court commission, which position he held until appointed to his present position.

REED, HARRY W., clergyman, writer, was born May 7, 1855, in New York city. He received a thorough education at the public schools, Adelphi academy of Brooklyn, N. Y., Colgate university, the Union Theological seminary, and the Hamilton Theological seminary. He has attained eminence as a successful baptist clergyman, and has filled pastorates in Weymington, N. Y.; Belvidere and Waukegan, Ill.; and at La Crosse, Wis. He is a fluent speaker at young people's conventions and other denominational gatherings; and is engaged quite extensively in the review of denominational and other religious books.

REED, HENRY, educator, author, was born July 11, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an educator of Philadelphia; and professor of English literature in the university of Pennsylvania. He was the author of Lectures on English History; Lectures on English Literature; and Lectures on the British Poets. He died Sept. 27, 1854, at sea.

REED, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 22, 1846, in Philadelphia. He is a Philadelphia jurist who has published The Law of the Statute of Frauds.

REED, HORATIO BLAKE, soldier, was born Jan. 22, 1837, in Rockaway, L. I. He was brevetted lieutenant-colonel in the regular army for meritorious services during the civil war. He died March 7, 1888, in Togus, Maine.

REED, HUGH, educator, author, was born Aug. 17, 1850, in Richmond, Ind. He is a military educator of Virginia, and the author of Signal Tactics; Cadet Regulations; Military Science and Tactics; and Broom Tactics.

REED, ISAAC, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1810, in Waldoborough, Maine. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1852 to 1853; served six years in the state legislature; was state treasurer in 1856; and was president of the Waldoborough bank.

REED, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in 1834, in Massachusetts. He is a Swedenborgian clergyman of Boston from 1858, and the author of Men and Women; Religion and Life; and Swedenborg and the New Church.

REED, JOHN, clergyman, congressman, was born Nov. 11, 1751, in Framingham, Mass. He was ordained a minister of the Gospel in 1780, and settled at West Bridgewater, Mass.; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1795 to 1801. He died Feb. 17, 1831, in West Bridgewater, Mass.

REED, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 2, 1781, in West Bridgewater, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1813 to 1817, and again from 1821 to 1841; and was lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts from 1844 to 1851. He died Nov. 25, 1860, in Bridgewater, Mass.

REED, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, educator, author, was born in 1786, in Pennsylvania. He was a Pennsylvania jurist, professor of law in Dickinson college of Carlisle in 1824-50, and author of The Pennsylvania Blackstone. He died June 19, 1850, in Carlisle, Pa.

REED, JOSEPH, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 27, 1741, in New Jersey. In 1776 he was appointed adjutant-general of the army; and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1777 to 1778, and a signer of the Articles of confederation. He was president of Pennsylvania in the latter year until 1781. He died March 4, 1785, in Philadelphia.

REED, JOSEPH, lawyer, author, was born July 11, 1772, in Philadelphia, Pa. From 1800 to 1809 he was a prothonotary of the supreme court, and then attorney-general of Pennsylvania in 1810-11. He became recorder of the city of Philadelphia in 1810, continuing in that office till 1829; and published The Laws of Pennsylvania, in five volumes.

REED, JOSEPH, soldier, was born Aug. 27, 1841, in Trenton, N. J. He was a distinguished soldier of the revolutionary war; and in 1878 was elected president of the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania, resigning in 1881.

REED, JOSEPH R., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born March 12, 1835, in Ashland county, Ohio. He was a member of the Iowa state senate in 1866 and 1868; was judge of the district court from Sept. 1, 1872, to Jan. 1, 1884, and judge of the supreme court of the state from the latter date to 1889; and was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican. In 1891 he was appointed chief justice of the court of private law claims, which position he still holds.

REED, JOSEPH SAMUEL, merchant, poet, was born in December, 1852, in Sullivan, Ind. He is a successful merchant in his native city; the author of a volume of poems entitled Winnowed Grasses, which bears the imprint of nature; and his writings appear in various periodicals and standard collections.

REED, PHILIP, state senator, congressman, was born about 1760, in Kent county, Md. He was a senator in congress from Maryland from 1806 to 1813; and was a representative in congress from 1817 to 1819, and again from 1822 to 1823. He died Nov. 2, 1829, in Huntingville, Md.

REED, ROBERT R., physician, state legislator, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He served one or two terms in the legislature of Pennsylvania; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851. He died Dec. 15, 1864, in Harrisburg, Pa.

REED, SAMPSON, journalist, author, was born June 10, 1800, in West Bridgewater, Mass. He was a Swedenborgian writer of Boston, editor of The New Church Magazine for Children, and the author of Observations on the Growth of the Mind. He died July 8, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

REED, THOMAS BRACKETT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 18, 1839, in Portland, Maine. He was a member of the Maine state house of representatives in 1868-69, and of the state senate in 1870; was attorney-general of Maine in 1870-72; and was city solicitor of Portland in 1874-77. He was elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses; and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican. He was elected speaker of the house of representatives Dec. 2, 1889, Dec. 2, 1895, and March 15, 1897.

REED, WILLIAM, merchant, philanthropist, congressman, was born in 1777, in Marblehead, Mass. He was a member of congress from Massachusetts from 1811 to 1815. Besides liberal bequests to heirs and relatives, he left $68,000 to benevolent objects. He died Feb. 18, 1837, in Marblehead, Mass.

REED, WILLIAM BRADFORD, lawyer, author, was born June 30, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was attorney-general in Pennsylvania in 1838; was United States minister to China in 1857 and 1858; and negotiated the treaty ratified in 1861. He was the author of Life and Correspondence of Joseph Reed; Life of Esther Reed; Vindication of Joseph Reed. He died Feb. 18, 1886, in New York city.

REEDER, ANDREW HORATIO, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Aug. 6, 1807, in Easton, Pa. In 1854 he was appointed the first governor of Kansas; and subsequently served in congress; and was also a United States senator. He was the author of Kansas. He died July 5, 1854, in Easton, Pa.

REEDER, CHARLES, merchant, manufacturer, author, was born Oct. 30, 1817, in Baltimore, Md. He is a merchant and manufacturer of Baltimore; and the author of Caloric, a Review of the Dynamic Theory of Heat.

REEDER, FRANK, soldier, lawyer, was born May 22, 1845, in Easton, Pa. He served through the civil war; attaining for meritorious services the rank of brigadier-general. At the close of the war he studied law and practiced in New York.

REES, JOHN KROM, astronomer, educator, author, was born Oct. 27, 1851, in New York city. He is an astronomer, professor at Columbia college, and director of the observatory from 1881. He is the author of Report on the Solar Eclipse, 1878; International Time System; and Observations of the Transit of Venus, 1882.

REESE, CHAUNCEY B., civil engineer, was born Dec. 28, 1837, in Canastota, N. Y. He rendered valuable service in the Virginia peninsular campaign, in constructing bridges, roads, and field works; particularly the bridge, 2,000 feet in length, over the Chickahominy. He died Sept. 22, 1870, in Mobile, Ala.

REESE, DAVID A., congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1853 to 1855.

REESE, DAVID MEREDITH, physician, author, was born in 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an eminent physician of New York city, superintendent of the city public schools at one period, and the author of Strictures on Health; Review of the Anti-Slavery Society's First Annual Report; Quakerism versus Calvinism; Phrenology Known by Its Fruits; Medical Lexicon of Modern Terminology; and Humburgs of New York. He died Aug. 12, 1861, in New York city.

REESE, JOHN JAMES, physician, educator, author, was born June 16, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician, professor of jurisprudence in the university of Pennsylvania, and the author of American Medical Formulary; Analysis of Physiology; Manual of Toxicology; and Text-Book of Medical Jurisprudence.

REESE, LEVI H., clergyman, was born Feb. 8, 1806, in Harford county, Md. In 1826 he entered the ministry of the methodist episcopal church. In the controversy that resulted in the formation of the methodist protestant church, he joined the Union society, became secretary of that body, and was the first pastor that was ordained in that organization. He died Sept. 21, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

REESE, LIZETTE WOODWORTH, educator, poet, was born in 1856, in Maryland. She is a poet and educator of Baltimore, and the author of A Branch of May; A Handful of Lavender; and A Quiet Road.

REESE, SEABORN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1846, in Madison, Ga. In 1872 he was elected a representative in the Georgia state legislature for the term of two years; was solicitor-general of the northern judicial circuit from 1877 to 1880; and was a presidential elector in 1880. He was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-seventh congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

REESE, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born in 1742, in Pennsylvania. He became pastor of Salem church, S. C. He published a valuable essay on the Influence of Religion on Civil Society. He died August, 1794, in Pendleton, S. C.

REESE, WILLIAM M., college president, was born Dec. 16, 1847, in Warren county, Ga. In 1885 he was elected president of the Baptist college at Mt. Lebanon, La., which position he resigned after many years of service on account of ill-health.

REEVE, EMILY A., educator, poet, was born March 23, 1859, in Franklin county, Iowa. She received her education in the common schools, the Geneva school, and graduated from the Iowa State Agricultural college. She has been a successful teacher and county superintendent of schools; and her poems have been extensively published in the newspapers of Iowa.

REEVE, ISAAC VAN DUZEN, soldier, was born July 29, 1813, in Butternuts, N. Y. He was brevetted brigadier-general in the United States army in 1865 for faithful and meritorious service during the civil war. He died Dec. 31, 1890, in New York city.

REEVE, JAMES KNAPP, author, was born in 1856, in New York. He is a novelist of Franklin, Ohio, and the author of Vawder's Understudy; and The Three Richard Whalens.

REEVE, TAPPING, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 1, 1744, in Brookhaven. He was an eminent jurist of Litchfield, Conn., and the author of Law of Baron and Femme, of Parent and Child, of Guardian and Ward, of Servant and Master; and Treatise on the Law of Descents in the Several United States. He died Dec. 13, 1823, in Richfield, Conn.

REEVE, WILLIAM W., soldier, clergyman, was born Oct. 12, 1832, near Selma, Ala. He graduated with first honor at the Howard college, Ala., and took a full course and graduated from Rochester Theological seminary of New York city. He went into the confederate army as captain of artillery; was afterward elected major; and subsequently promoted to lieutenant-colonel. He has traveled in Europe; and is now a baptist clergyman in Eufaula, Ala. The degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by the university of Alabama.

REEVES, HENRY A., lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born in 1833, in Sag Harbor, N. Y. He graduated at Union college, N. Y., in 1852, taught school for two years; studied law. He came to the bar in Brooklyn in 1857; and in 1858 purchased the Republican Watchman, published at Greenport, L. I., and edited the same. In 1861 he was arrested by order of Secretary Seward and confinned for five weeks in Fort Lafayette for alleged disloyalty. In 1868 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first congress as a democrat.

REEVES, MARION CALHOUN LE-GARE, author, was born about 1854, in Charleston, S. C. He is a novelist of Washington, and the author of Ingenisco; Randolph Honor; Sea Drift; A Little Maid of Arcadie; Wearithorne; and with Emily Read, Old Martin Boscawen's Jest; and Pilot Fortune.

REEVES, REUBEN A., jurist, was born Aug. 9, 1821, in Todd county, Ky. In 1855 he was appointed one of the supreme judges in New Mexico.

REEVES, WALTER, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 25, 1848 near Brownsville, Pa. He removed to Illinois in 1856; in childhood lived on a farm; became a teacher and then a lawyer; was admitted to the bar of the state of Illinois in 1875; and was admitted to the bar of the supreme court of the United States in 1885. He was elected to the fifty-fourth, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress. In politics he is a republican. He devoted himself to internal improvements of the country and especially of the state of Illinois. The construction and completion of the Illinois and Mississippi canal, and the improvement of the Chicago river at a total expenditure of about six and a half millions of dollars by the general government were part the results of his efforts.

REHAN, ADA, actress, was born April 22, 1859, in Ireland. She first appeared in Newark, in the play Across the Continent. Subsequently she acted at Mrs. Drew's theater in Philadelphia. She became famous, as early as 1880, in the character of Theika, in The Passing Regiment. Her versatility of dramatic talent is wonderful.

REHN, FRANK KNOX MORTON, artist, was born April 12, 1848, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was awarded in 1882 the first prize for marine painting at the St. Louis exposition; in 1885 the first prize at the water color exhibition of the American Art association, and in 1886 a gold medal at the Prize fund exhibition. His paintings include Looking Down on the Sea from the Rocks at Magnolia, Mass.; A Missing Vessel; Close of a Summer Day; and Evening, Gloucester Harbor.

REICH, JACQUES, artist, was born Aug. 10, 1852, in Hungary. In 1885 he came to New York and made all the pen and ink portraits for Scribner's Cyclopædia of Painters and Paintings, as well as numerous others for periodicals. He drew the portraits for Appleton's Annual Cyclopædia for 1886, 1887, and 1888. Early in 1886 he began to execute the sixteen hundred portraits for this work, to which task he gave almost exclusive attention till it was completed in December, 1888.

REICHEL, WILLIAM CORNELIUS, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 9, 1742, in Salem, N. C. He was a Moravian clergyman and educator of Bethlehem, Pa., among whose writings are Moravianism in New York and Connecticut; Memorials of the Moravian Church; and A Red Rose from the Olden Time. He died April 18, 1825, in Prussia.

REICHERT, EDWARD TYSON, physician, educator, author, was born in 1855, in Pennsylvania. He is a Philadelphia physician and educator, professor of physiology in the university of Pennsylvania from 1886, and was the author of A Text-Book of Physiology.

REID, DAVID BOSWELL, chemist, author, was born in 1805, in Scotland. He was a chemist who came to America in 1856, and was director of the medical inspection of the United States sanitary commission. He was the author of In- roduction to the Study of Chemistry; Rudiments of Chemistry of Daily Life; and Ventilation for American Dwellings. He died April 5, 1863, in Washington, D. C.

REID, DAVID SETTLE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born April 19, 1813, in Rockingham county, N. C. He was elected to the North Carolina state legislature in 1835, and served continuously until 1842. In 1843 he was elected a representative in congress from North Carolina; and was re-elected in 1845. In 1850 he was elected governor of North Carolina; and was re-elected in 1852, serving until 1855, when he was elected a senator in congress for four years.

REID, GEORGE L., author, poet. He is a writer of Menasha, Wis., and the author of a volume of poems entitled The Heather Bell.

REID, HUGH THOMPSON, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 18, 1811, in Union county, Ind. In 1840-42 he was prosecuting attorney for Lee, Des Moines, Henry, Jefferson and Van Buren counties, Iowa, holding high rank as a land lawyer. He was president for four years of the Des Moines Valley railroad. He entered the volunteer service as colonel of the fifteenth Iowa infantry in 1861; and was appointed brigadier-general in 1863. He died Aug. 21, 1874, in Keokuk, Iowa.

REID, JAMES, college president, was born in Canada. In 1890 he was elected president of the college of Montana, which position he still holds.

REID, JAMES MADISON, railroad president, was born April 10, 1849, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He is president of the Ursina and North Fork railway at Conneltsville, Ga.

REID, JAMES WESLEY, lawyer, congressman, was born June 11, 1849, in Wentworth, N. C. He was elected county treasurer of Rockingham county, N. C., in 1874; and was continuously re-elected until November, 1884. He was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-ninth congress; and in January, 1855, at a special election, was elected to the forty-eighth congress to fill a vacancy.

REID, JOHN MORRISON, clergyman, author, was born May 30, 1820, in New York city. He is a methodist clergyman and editor of religious journals who secured the library of Von Ranke for Syracuse university. He is the author of Missions of the Methodist Church; and Doomed Religions.

REID, JOHN W., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born June 14, 1821, in Lynchburg, Va. He settled in Jackson county; served two sessions in the Missouri legislature; and was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-seventh congress. He was expelled from the house in December, 1861.

REID, MRS. MARY J., poet. She is a writer of Alameda, Cal., and her poems have appeared in the leading magazines and journals of California.

REID, ROBERT, artist, was born July 29, 1863, in Stockbridge, Mass. He has attained a world wide reputation as a successful artist of New York.

REID, ROBERT RAYMOND, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in 1789 in Beaufort District, S. C. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1818 to 1823, and was elected mayor of Augusta on his retirement from congress. He was also a judge of the superior court of Georgia, and in 1832 was appointed district judge for eastern Florida. He was appointed governor of the territory of Florida from 1839 to 1841. He died July 1, 1841, near Tallahassee, Fla.

REID, SAMUEL CHESTER, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1818, in New York city. He is a lawyer of New Orleans, and the author of The United States Bankrupt Law of 1841; and The Battle of Chickamauga.

REID, WHITELAW, journalist, author, was born Oct. 27, 1837, in Xenia, Ohio. He early began to edit papers with great success, and his abilities as a war correspondent, during the civil war, gave him great distinction. In 1869 he became managing editor of the New York Tribune. He was the author of After the War, a Southern Tour; Ohio in the War; Schools of Journalism; and Newspaper Tendencies.

REID, WILLIAM JAMES, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1834, in South Argyle, N. Y. He is a united presbyterian clergyman, pastor at Pittsburg from 1889, and the author of Lectures on the Revelation; and United Presbyterianism.

REID, WILLIAM S., college president, was born April 21, 1778, in Chester county, Pa. In 1806 he was elected president of Hampden-Sidney college. He died June 23, 1853.

REID, WILLIAM THOMAS, soldier, educator, was born Nov. 8, 1842, in Jacksonville, Ill. He received his education at Harvard college. During the war he served as a soldier in the union army, with the rank of sergeant, and was mustered out with recommendation as major. He has been headmaster of the high school of Newport, R. I.; headmaster's assistant of the Boston Latin school; superintendent Brookline schools; headmaster boys' high school of San Francisco; headmaster of the Belmont school, and president of the university of California. His administration was characterized by a wisely conservative devotion to high educational ideals; and after four years of tireless industry, he resigned to carry out a long-cherished plan of founding a school which should do for the Pacific coast what Rugby has done for England. In pursuance of this plan, he opened the Belmont school of Belmont, Cal., in 1885, of which he is still the head.

REILLY, JAMES B., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1854, in Schuylkill county, Pa. He was elected district attorney in 1871, and served in that office until 1875. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fourth congress; was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress. He also served in the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a democrat.

REILLY, JAMES W., soldier, was born about 1842. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864. In 1866 he was assistant ordnance officer in the arsenal in Washington, D. C., and he was afterward assistant officer at Watervliet arsenal, N. Y.

REILLY, JOHN, manufacturer, congressman, was born Feb. 22, 1836, in Abnerville, Pa. He was president of the board of city commissioners of Altoona in 1867 and 1868; was president of the Bell's Gap Railroad company during 1872 and 1873; and was also connected with the manufacturing and mining interests of the state. In 1874 he was elected a representative to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

REILLY, WILSON, lawyer, congressman. In 1857 he was elected a representative in congress from Pennsylvania.

REILY, GEORGE WOLF, physician, banker, was born March 31, 1834, in Harrisburg, Pa. He received his education at the Harrisburg academy, Yale college, and the university of Pennsylvania. For many years he practiced his profession, which he devoted largely to charity among the needy of the city. In 1871 he was elected president of the Harrisburg National bank. He has been president of the Harrisburg Gas company, and a director in various business institutions. He died Feb. 8, 1892, in Harrisburg, Pa.

REILY, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, was born April 12, 1752, in England. He was not a brilliant orator, but was a polished writer, and left several manuscripts. He published A Compendium for Pennsylvania Justices of the Peace, which was the first work of its character printed in this country. He died May 2, 1810, in Myers-town, Pa.

REILY, LUTHER, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1839.

REILY, WILLIAM McCLELLAN, clergyman, educator, author, was born Aug. 8, 1837, in York, Pa. He is a German reformed clergyman and educator of Allentown, Pa., president of the female college there from 1888. He is the author of The Artist and his Mission.

REIMENSNYDER, JUNIUS BENJAMIN, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 24, 1841, in Staunton, Va. He is a lutheran clergyman of New York city from 1880; and the author of Heavenward; Doom Eternal; Lutheran Literature; its Distinctive Traits; Work and Personality of Luther; Six Days of Creation; and Lutheran Manual.

REINAGLE, HUGH, artist, was born about 1790 in Philadelphia, Pa. For many years he was engaged as a scene-painter in New York, and produced also a panorama of New York, which was exhibited in that city. He was one of the original thirty members of the National Academy of Design, and exhibited there, in 1831, a View of the Falls of Mount Ida. His Macdonough's Victory on Lake Champlain was engraved by Benjamin Tanner in 1810. He died May, 1834, in New Orleans, La.

REINBERGER, IRVING, lawyer, was born Jan. 31, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. He received a liberal education; and is now one of the foremost lawyers of Arkansas at Pine Bluff. He has been assistant prosecuting attorney for the eleventh judicial circuit of Arkansas; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

REINHART, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, artist, was born Aug. 29, 1829, in Waynesburg, Pa. Among his works, many of which have been engraved, are Cleopatra; Evangeline; Pocahontas; Katrina Van Tassel; Washington Receiving the News of Arnold's Treason; Consolation; After the Crucifixion; Nymphs of the Wood; Young Franklin and Sir William Keith; The Regatta; The Pride of the Village; Captain Kidd and the Governor; and Baby Mine. He died May 3, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

REINHART, CHARLES STANLEY, artist, was born May 16, 1844, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is well known for his excellent work in black and white for book and magazine illustration. His works in oil include Clearing Up; Caught Napping; Reconnoitring; Rebuke; September Morning; Old Life Boats; Coast of Normandy; In a Garden; Mussel Fisherwoman; Flats at Villerville; Sunday; English Garden; and Washed Ashore.

REINHART, JOSEPH W., railroad president, was born Sept. 17, 1851, in Pittsburg, Pa. As general auditor and vice-president of the company, he formulated, in 1889, the plan for financial reorganization of The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railroad, and carried it out with such success that the company, recognizing his sagacity and foresight, advanced him through different stages to the presidency in 1893. He is now president of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé, the St. Louis, Kansas City and Colorado, the Atlantic and Pacific, the Colorado Midland, the Wichita and Western, the Southern California, the New Mexico and Arizona, and the Sonora railroads.

RELF, SAMUEL, journalist, was born March 22, 1776, in Virginia. He became connected with the National Gazette in Philadelphia, Pa., of which he was for many years the editor and its owner. He died Feb. 14, 1823, in Virginia.

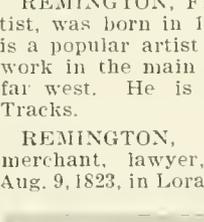

RELFE, JAMES H., congressman, was born in Virginia. He settled in Missouri; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1847.

REMEY, GEORGE C., naval officer. After the end of the civil war he was made a lieutenant commander, and later served in numerous posts of the navy on land and on sea. In 1885 he was made a captain, and in the same year was placed in command of the Charleston squadron of evolution. He is an able officer, and has handled the affairs of war at Key West to the entire satisfaction of the authorities.

REMINGTON, MRS. ALICE M., poet, was born Nov. 6, 1852, in Brookville, Pa. She is the author of a number of poems.

REMINGTON, FREDERIC, author, artist, was born in 1861 in New York. He is a popular artist and illustrator, whose work in the main reflects the life of the far west. He is the author of Pony Tracks.

REMINGTON, HENRY WILLIAMS, merchant, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 9, 1823, in Lorain county, Ohio. He has been prosecuting attorney; chairman of town board of supervisors; a member of the Wisconsin state legislature; president of the Wisconsin Valley railroad; appraiser of school and university lands for the state of Wisconsin in 1851; and has been a successful lawyer, farmer, merchant and railroad builder. He has done much work in land surveying for the state of Wisconsin and for private individuals. He is best known as a writer and speaker on political and judicial questions. In 1854 he set in motion at Madison, Wis., a movement which resulted in closing saloons on election and other public days in Wisconsin, which movement has since spread to other states.

REMINGTON, JOSEPH PRICE, educator, author, was born March 26, 1847, in Philadelphia. He is a professor of pharmacy in the Philadelphia college of Pharmacy from 1874; and the author of The Practice of Pharmacy.

REMINGTON, PHILO, inventor, was born Oct. 31, 1816, in Litchfield, N. Y. With his brothers, Sammel and Eliphalet, the firm of E. Remington and Sons was established, and for upward of twenty-five years he continued in charge of the mechanical department. In 1886 the Remingtons disposed of their type-writing-machine manufacturing business, and soon afterward the firm of E. Remington and Sons went into liquidation. Since then Mr. Remington has lived in retirement. Philo Remington was for nearly twenty years president of the village of Ilion, and with his brother has given Syracuse university sums aggregating $250,000.

REMINGTON, STEPHEN, missionary, author, was born May 16, 1803, in Bedford, N. Y. He was a baptist minister, but prior to 1845 a preacher of the methodist faith; and the author of Reasons for Becoming a Baptist; and A Defence of Restricted Communion. He died March 23, 1869, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

REMSEN, IRA, chemist, educator, author, was born Feb. 10, 1846, in New York city. He is an eminent chemist, professor of chemistry at Johns Hopkins university from 1876; and the author of Chemical Experiments.

RENCHE, ABRAHAM, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born in Wake county, N. C. He was elected to congress from North Carolina, where he served from 1829 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1843. He was charge d'affaires to Portugal in 1843; and was appointed, by President Buchanan, governor of the territory of New Mexico.

RENO, CONRAD, lawyer, author, was born in 1859 in Alabama. He is a lawyer of Boston; and the author of Employers' Liability Act.

RENO, JESSE LEE, soldier, was born June 20, 1823, in Wheeling, W. Va. In 1846 he graduated from West Point; served in the Mexican war; and received two brevets for gallantry. In 1861 he was commissioned a brigadier-general, and the following year became a major-general of volunteers. He led a brigade under Gen. Burnside in the taking of Roanoke Island; repelled the confederates under General Lee; and was killed in action on the evening of Sept. 14, 1862.

RENWICK, EDWARD SABINE, expert, was born Jan. 3, 1823, in New York city. Since 1849 he has been engaged mainly as an expert in the trials of patent cases in the United States courts. In 1862, in connection with his brother, Henry B. Renwick, he devised methods for the repair of the steamer Great Eastern while afloat, and successfully accomplished it, replating a fracture in the bilge 82 feet long and about 10 feet broad at the widest place.

RENWICK, JAMES, scientist, educator, author, was born May 30, 1790, in England. He was a prominent scientist of New York city, and professor of natural and experimental philosophy and chemistry at Columbia college from 1820 to 1853. He was the author of Lives of Rittenhouse, Fulton, Count Rumford, in Sparks's American Biography; Outlines of Natural Philosophy; Treatise on the Steam Engine; Elements of Mechanics; and Lives of Jay, Hamilton, De Witt Clinton. He died Jan. 12, 1863, in New York.

RENWICK, JAMES, architect, was born Nov. 3, 1818, in New York city. He designed St. Bartholomew's church and the Church of the Covenant of New York city.

REPPLIER, AGNES, essayist, author, was born in 1855 in Pennsylvania. She is a popular essayist of Philadelphia; and the author of Books and Men; Points of View; In the Dozy Hours, and Other Papers; Essays in Idleness; Essays in Miniature; and Varia.

REQUA, HARRIET W., missionary, poet, was born in Arcade, N. Y. She is the author of two volumes of poems entitled Stones for the Temple; and Ziona, the Bride of the King.

REQUA, ISAAC LAWRENCE, mining engineer, was born Nov. 22, 1828, in Tarrytown, N. Y. He was for twenty years chairman of the republican state committee, and was tendered the nomination for governor, which he felt obliged to decline. He is president of the Central Pacific railroad, the Eureka and Palisade railway, and the Oakland bank of savings in Oakland, Cal.

REQUIER, AUGUSTUS JULIAN, lawyer, author, was born May 27, 1825, in Charleston, S. C. He was a lawyer of Mobile prior to the civil war, and subsequently of New York city. He was the author of The Old Sanctuary, a romance; Poems; and the dramas, Marco Bozzaris; and The Spanish Exile. He died March 19, 1887, in New York city.

REULING, GEORGE, physician, educator, inventor, author, was born Nov. 11, 1839, in Germany. He has invented a microtome for microscopical sections, and a ring-shaped silver-sling for the extraction of cataract within the capsule. He has written on Detachment of the Choroid after Extraction of Cataract; Extraction of Cataract within the Capsule; and Destruction of a Cyst of the Iris by Galvano-Cautery.

REVEAL, WILLIAM O., farmer, public official, was born Jan. 1, 1860, in Broad Ripple, Ind. He is a successful farmer near Indianapolis, Ind.; has been county commissioner; and is a fluent speaker on agricultural and political topics.

REVELS, HIRAM R., clergyman, United States senator, was born Sept. 1, 1822, in Fayetteville, N. C. He settled at Natchez, Miss.; was chosen a member of the city council; and was a senator in congress from Mississippi from 1870 to 1871.

REVERE, JOSEPH WARREN, soldier, author, was born May 17, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He was an officer in the federal army during the civil war; and the author of Keel and Saddle; and Retrospect of Forty Years' Military Service (1872). He died April 20, 1880, in Hoboken, N. J.

REVERE, PAUL, patriot, engraver, was born Jan. 1, 1735, in Boston, Mass. He was one of the noted Boston tea party, and is famous for his midnight-ride through the county of Middlesex, to give notice of the intended attack of Gen. Gage. The town of North Chelsea, Mass., was named Revere in his honor in 1871. He died May 10, 1818, in Boston, Mass.

REVERE, PAUL JOSEPH, soldier, was born Sept. 10, 1832, in Boston, Mass. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers for bravery at Gettysburg, where he received a fatal wound in the second day's battle. He died July 4, 1863, in Westminster, Md.

REXDALE, ROBERT (pseud.), journalist, author, poet, was born in 1859 in Maine. He was a journalist and poet of Portland, Maine; and the author of Drifting Songs and Sketches; Saved by the Sword, a novel; and The Cuban Liberator.

REXFORD, EBEN EUGENE, poet, author, was born July 16, 1848, in Johnsbury, N. Y. He is a popular poet and song writer of Shiocton, Wis., whose poem Silver Threads Among the Gold has been set to music and widely sung. He is the author of Brother and Lover; Grandmother's Garden; and John Fielding and His Enemy.

REYBURN, JOHN EDGAR, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 7, 1845, in New Carlisle, Ohio. He was educated by private tutor and at Saunders institute, West Philadelphia; studied law and was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia in 1870. He was a member of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania, sessions of 1871, 1874, 1875, and 1876; and was elected a member of the senate of Pennsylvania for a term of four years from 1876; and re-elected in 1880. He was elected president pro tempore for the session of 1883; and was re-elected senator in 1884, and again elected in 1888 for a term of four years. He was elected as a republican to fill the unexpired term of Hon. William D. Kelley in the fifty-first congress in 1890, and was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

REYNOLDS, CHARLES BUTLER, educator, was born in South East, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools and graduated from the Illinois Wesleyan university. He has filled important positions; for sixteen years was superintendent of city schools of Clinton, Mo.; and is now principal and superintendent of city schools in Kansas City, Mo.

REYNOLDS, DANIEL H., soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 14, 1822, in Centreburg, Ohio. In 1861 he was elected captain of a company for service in the confederate army, and was promoted brigadier-general in 1864. He was state senator in Arkansas in 1866-67.

REYNOLDS, ELMER ROBERT, ethnologist, author, was born July 30, 1846, in Dansville, N. Y. He is an ethnologist in the United States civil service from 1877; and the author of A Scientific Visit to the Caverns of Luray; Shell Mounds, etc., of the Choptank Indians; and Aboriginal Soapstone Quarries in the District of Columbia.

REYNOLDS, FRANCES, journalist, poet, was born Dec. 4, 1853, in Mt. Carmel, Ill. Since the death of her husband she has been the editor and owner of The Gazette of Mariposa, Cal. She is also the author of a volume of poems.

REYNOLDS, GIDEON, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1851.

REYNOLDS, J. MASON, poet. He was a journalist of Grand Rapids, Mich.; and the author of a volume of poems.

REYNOLDS, JAMES B., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1815 to 1817, and again from 1823 to 1825.

REYNOLDS, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Feb. 26, 1789, in Montgomery county, Pa. He was a justice of the supreme court of Illinois in 1818. He was a member of the legislature from 1826-30, 1846-48, 1852-54; and served during the last term as speaker. He was governor of Illinois from 1830 to 1834; commanded the Illinois volunteers during the Black Hawk war in 1832; and was a representative in congress from 1835 to 1837, and from 1839 to 1843. He published Pioneer History of Illinois; Glance at the Crystal Palace, and Sketches of Travel; My Life and Times; and at one time conducted the Belleville Eagle, a daily paper. He died May 8, 1865, in Belleville, Ill.

REYNOLDS, JOHN H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 21, 1819, in Moreau, N. Y. In 1853 he was appointed postmaster at Albany, N. Y.; and in 1858 was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-sixth congress. He was subsequently appointed a judge of the court of appeals of New York; and also a commissioner of appeals. He died Sept. 24, 1875, in Kinderhook.

REYNOLDS, JOHN PARKER, agriculturist, journalist, was born March 1, 1820, in Lebanon, Ohio. In 1868 he moved to Chicago, and the next year he became first editor of the National Live Stock Journal.

REYNOLDS, JOSEPH, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1837; and also served in the assembly of that state in 1819.

REYNOLDS, JOSEPH SMITH, soldier, lawyer, was born Dec. 3, 1839, in New Lenox, Ill. He took part in seventeen battles, was wounded three times, and for gallant and meritorious service was promoted to a captaincy, subsequently to colonel; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He has been elected as representative and senator to the Illinois legislature, and was a commissioner from Illinois to the universal exposition at Vienna in 1873.

REYNOLDS, ROBERT J., legislator, governor, was born March 17, 1838, in Smyrna, Del. In 1868 he was elected to the Delaware general assembly; was elected state treasurer in 1869, and re-elected to the same office in 1871. He was chairman of the democratic state central committee; and chairman of the state committee in numerous campaigns. On Jan. 20, 1891, he was inaugurated governor of Delaware; and for four years filled that office with distinction. Governor Reynolds has been in politics for over thirty years, and has never lost a political battle. Since 1861 he has principally been engaged in farming near Petersburg, Del.; has extensive peach orchards, and is a successful farmer and fruit grower.

REYNOLDS, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born March 12, 1796, in Bracken county, Ky. He settled in Illinois; was elected a representative in the legislature and made speaker; and was attorney-general of the state. He was judge of the supreme court. In 1828 he moved to Missouri, where he was a member of the state legislature; president judge of a court of justice; and was governor of Missouri from 1840 to 1844. He died Feb. 9, 1844, in Jefferson City, Mo.

REYNOLDS, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Dec. 18, 1815, in Lancaster, Pa. In 1873 he was appointed rear-admiral in the United States navy. He died Nov. 5, 1879, in Washington.

REYNOLDS, WILLIAM H., farmer, legislator, was born in Polk county, Fla. He is a successful farmer of Lakeland, Fla.; was elected to the Florida state senate, and was made president of that body. He has been a presidential elector; and is now state comptroller of Florida.

REYNOLDS, WILLIAM H., legislator, was born Feb. 28, 1868, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He has served as assemblyman and senator in the New York state legislature.

REYNOLDS, WILLIAM MORTON, clergyman, author, was born March 4, 1812, in Fayette county, Pa. He was the author of Discourse on the Swedish Churches. He translated from the Swedish of Israel Acrelius, A History of New Sweden, with introduction and notes. He died Sept. 5, 1876, in Oak Park, Ill.

RHEA, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1803 to 1815, and from 1817 to 1823. In 1816 he was appointed United States commissioner to treat with the Choctaws. He died May 27, 1832.

RHEA, JOHN S., lawyer, congressman, was born March 9, 1855, in Russellville, Ky. He was elected prosecuting attorney for Logan county, Ky., in 1878, and again elected in 1882. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democratic-populist.

RHEES, WILLIAM JONES, author, was born March 13, 1830, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the chief clerk of the Smithsonian institution from 1852, who has published, among other works, The Smithsonian Institution; and James Smithson and His Bequest.

RHETT, ROBERT BARNWELL, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 24, 1800, in Beaufort, S. C. In 1826 he was elected to the South Carolina state legislature; and in 1832 was elected attorney-general of South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from 1838 to 1849; and was a senator in congress during the years 1850, 1851, and a part of 1852. He died Sept. 14, 1876, in Saint James parish, La.

RHIND, ALEXANDER GOLDEN, naval officer, was born Oct. 31, 1821, in New York city. He served in the United States navy during the civil war; attaining the rank of rear-admiral.

RHINE, ALICE HYNEMAN, author, was born Jan. 31, 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a daughter of Leon Hyneman, and has gained a reputation as a writer of prose and verse for the periodical press. She has contributed numerous articles to the Popular Science Monthly, the North American Review, and the Forum, and has edited an illustrated work on Niagara.

RHOADS, JAMES E., physician, college president, philanthropist. He was a religious teacher and the organizer of schools among the negroes of the south and the Indians. He was the first president of Bryn Mawr college, and filled that position during 1885-94. He died Jan. 2, 1895, in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

RHOADS, THOMAS J. B., physician, surgeon, merchant, banker, poet, was born Sept. 26, 1837, in Berks county, Pa.

He received a thorough education, and for many years was engaged in educational work. He prosecuted his studies and subsequently entered the Medical college of Philadelphia, from which institution he graduated in 1861. In 1862 he was commissioned as assistant surgeon of the one hundred and sixty-ninth regiment Pennsylvania volunteer infantry. Together with his brother, Reuben, he had charge of the forces at Fort Keys and the hospital on the point. In the spring of 1863 Dr.

Rhoads moved with his regiment and remained with it as acting assistant surgeon until it was mustered out of the service. After the war he settled down to the practice of his profession at Boyertown, Pa. In 1883 he organized the Farmer's National bank of Boyertown, and has ever since been its president. He is also a successful merchant; takes an active part in public affairs; and contributes both prose and verse to current literature.

RHODABECK, JESSE C., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 11, 1831, in Chester county, Pa. He received his education in Granville, Ohio; and is now a prominent lawyer of Council Bluffs, Iowa. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, and was promoted to captain. He has always taken an active part in public affairs; has been judge of the district court; and has filled with distinction various public offices of trust. He has also contributed literary articles on various topics to current literature.

RHODERICK, GEORGE CARLTON, editor, poet, was born Feb. 19, 1861, in Middletown, Md. He is the local and news editor of The Valley Register of Middletown, Md., of which his father has been editor and proprietor for forty-four years, it having been established in 1844; correspondent for a number of metropolitan dailies; and manager of the Western Union Telegraph office. For many years he published a humorous publication; has written a number of meritorious poems, some of which have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

RHODES, ALBERT, author, was born Feb. 1, 1840, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is a writer who was successively United States consul at Jerusalem, Rotterdam, Rouen, and Elberstadt, and since 1885 has been a resident of Paris. He is the author of Jerusalem as It Is; The French at Home; and Monsieur at Home.

RHODES, JAMES FORD, author, was born in 1848. He is a historian of Boston; and the author of History of the United States from the Compromise of 1850.

RHODES, JOHN HENRY, soldier, lawyer, educator, was born Feb. 8, 1836, in Morrow county, Ohio. He served as a soldier during the civil war, and was mustered out in 1865 as lieutenant-colonel. During 1886-87 he was a member of the Ohio state legislature. He moved to Clyde, Ohio, in 1869, where he has been engaged in the practice of law since 1870.

RHODES, MOSHEIM, clergyman, author, was born April 14, 1837, in Williamsburg, Pa. He is a Lutheran clergyman of St. Louis from 1874; and the author of Life Thoughts for Young Men; Life Thoughts for Young Women; Recognition in Heaven; Vital Questions; The Throne of Grace; and Expository Lectures on Philipians.

RHODES, ROBERT LEWIS, educator, business man, was born Nov. 4, 1837, in Hephzibah, Ga. For many years he was a school teacher; and during the civil war was a conductor for mail trains. For the past ten years he has been postmaster of his native village; where he is a successful farmer, real estate agent, and takes an active part in the public affairs of his county and state.

RHODES, SAMUEL, congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress from 1774 to 1775.

RHODES, WILLIAM HENRY, poet, was born July 16, 1822, in Bertie county, N. C. He was the author of The Indian Gallows, and Other Poems; and of a volume called Caxton's Book. He died in 1852.

RIBBLE, WILLIAM, farmer, jurist, state legislator, was born Oct. 10, 1819, in Montgomery county, Va. In 1843 he was elected justice of the peace, and some time afterward was appointed major of the Indiana state militia. He was elected to the Indiana legislature.

RICAUD, JAMES BARROLL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1808, in Baltimore, Md. He was a member of the house of delegates of Maryland in 1834; and of the state senate of Maryland from 1836 to 1844. He was a presidential elector in 1836 and 1844; and was a representative in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. He was appointed judge of the circuit court. He died Jan. 26, 1866, in Chestertown, Md.

RICE, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, manufacturer, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 30, 1818, in Newton, Mass. In 1853 he was elected to the common council of Boston, and became the president of that body; and was mayor of Boston in 1856 and 1857. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-sixth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He was subsequently elected mayor of Boston; and was governor of Massachusetts from 1876 to 1879.

RICE, ALLEN THORNDIKE, journalist, author, was born June 1, 1853, in Boston, Mass. He organized in 1879 and subsequently directed what is popularly known as the Charnay expedition, which was despatched under the joint auspices of the United States and France, to investigate systematically the remains of ancient civilization in Central America and Mexico. He edited Reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln; and contributed to Ancient Cities of the New World. He died May 16, 1889, in New York city.

RICE, ALONZO E., lawyer, legislator, was born May 6, 1857, in Fayette county, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and attended the Central university of Pella, Iowa. In 1884 he was a surveyor in Holt county, Neb.; and during 1885-86 he served as a representative in the lower house of the Nebraska legislature. He is a successful lawyer of Centralia, Wash.; was city attorney in 1892; and during 1893-94 was prosecuting attorney for Lewis county.

RICE, AMERICUS VESPUCIUS, soldier, banker, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1835, in Perryville, Ohio. He served in the war for the union from 1861 to 1865 entering as a private and coming out as a brigadier-general. In 1868 he became manager of a banking house in Ottawa, Ohio; and in 1874 was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress.

RICE, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born May 26, 1828, in East Otto, N. Y. He was elected to the Kentucky state legislature in 1865; and was a presidential elector in 1856. After the war he settled in Little Rock, Ark., and organized the republican party in that state. In 1868 he was elected a senator in congress from Arkansas, for the term ending in 1873.

RICE, DAVID HALL, lawyer, author, was born in 1841 in Massachusetts. He is a lawyer of Boston, living in Brookline, Mass.; and the author of Protective Philosophy; and Digest of Decisions of Commissioner of Patents, 1869-80.

RICE, EDMUND, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 14, 1819, in Waitsfield, Vt. He moved to St. Paul in 1849, and practiced law till 1856. He was president of the Minnesota and Pacific Railroad company from 1857 till 1863; St. Paul and Pacific railroad 1863 till 1872, and trustee till 1879; and president St. Paul and Chicago 1863 till 1877. He was a member of the territorial legislature 1851; and was state senator 1864-66, 1874-76. He was a member of the state house of representatives 1867, 1872, 1877, and 1878; was mayor of St. Paul 1881-83; and re-elected in 1885. He was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

RICE, EDWARD Y., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1820, in Logan county, Ky. In 1847 he was elected county recorder of Montgomery county, Ill.; was a member of the legislature in 1849; and was elected judge of Montgomery county, and served two years. He was appointed master in chancery from 1853 until 1857, when he was elected judge of the eighteenth circuit of Illinois; and was re-elected in 1861, and in 1867. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Illinois in 1869; and was elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat.

RICE, EDWIN WILBUR, clergyman, editor, author, was born July 24, 1831, near Gloversville, N. Y. He received a thorough education at the Kingsboro academy and the academy of Little Falls, N. Y. He studied theology at the Union Theological seminary of New York city, and was ordained in 1860 at La Crosse, Wis., where he had previously been engaged in educational work. He has been the editor-in-chief of the American Sunday School union since 1878. He had served as a missionary of the union in the northwest, as superintendent of an important district, and as assistant secretary of missionary work. He knew by personal observation what teachers and pupils needed, and few men could have met the need so ably. The Scholars' Handbook; the Lesson Leaves; and the first Sunday School Quarterly ever issued, besides fifteen exhaustive works of larger scope, two of which we have already mentioned, are evidences of his devotion and capacity in service.

RICE, FRANK, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 15, 1845, in Seneca, N. Y. He is a successful lawyer of Canandaigua, N. Y.; has been a member of the New York state assembly; county judge; and secretary of state of the state of New York.

RICE, FRANK P., capitalist, state senator, was born Oct. 28, 1838, in Claremont, N. H. In 1882 he was a member of the Georgia state senate; and was a member of the state legislature for several terms.

RICE, FRANK S., lawyer, author, was born Feb. 3, 1850, in Elmira, N. Y. He is the author of a book entitled Civil and Criminal Evidence; and Annotation Code of Civil Procedure.

RICE, GEORGE EDWARD, poet, was born July 10, 1822, in Boston, Mass. He was a verse-writer of Boston; and the author of Ephemeral; Nugamenta; and A New Play in an Old Garb, a fanciful adaptation of Hamlet. He died Aug. 10, 1861, in Roxbury, Mass.

RICE, HARVEY, lawyer, author, poet, was born in June, 1800, in Conway Mass., Mass. He was a prominent lawyer of Cleveland; and the author of Mount Vernon, and Other Poems; Select Poems; Nature and Culture; Pioneers of the Western Reserve; Sketches of Western Life; and The Founder of the City of Cleveland.

Besides the publication of these works, he contributed valuable articles and poems to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States. He died in 1891 in Cleveland, Ohio.

RICE, HENRY MOWER, surveyor, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 29, 1816, in Waitsfield, Vt. In 1853 he was elected a delegate to congress from Minnesota; and was re-elected in 1855. In 1857 he was elected a senator in congress from Minnesota for the term of six years.

RICE, ISAAC LEOPOLD, lawyer, author, was born in 1850 in Bavaria. He is a lawyer of New York city who has written What Is Music?

RICE, JAMES CLAY, soldier, was born Dec. 27, 1829, in Worthington, Mass. He served through the civil war, attaining for gallant and meritorious services the rank of brigadier-general. He died May 11, 1864, in Spottsylvania, Va.

RICE, JAMES MONTGOMERY, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born March 8, 1842, in Monmouth, Ill. In 1887 he settled in Peoria, Ill., where he has since been engaged in the practice of law. He served one term in the Illinois state legislature during 1871-72. He is the author of a Range Manual, now adopted and used in five states for the national guards as an authority; and also Small Arms Practice for the National Guards. He is the inventor and patentee of a practical moving target, used with great success by both the regular troops and the national guards.

RICE, JOHN ANDREW, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 25, 1867, in Colleton county, S. C. This eminent methodist episcopal clergyman was elected president of the Columbia Female college, South Carolina, in 1894.

RICE, JOHN B., soldier, physician, surgeon, congressman, was born at Fremont, Ohio. He adopted the medical profession; served in the union army as assistant surgeon, surgeon, and surgeon-in-chief of a division during the war of the rebellion; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-seventh congress as a republican.

RICE, JOHN B., librarian, congressman, was born in 1809 in Easton, Md. He was elected mayor of Chicago in 1865; and re-elected in 1867. He was elected to the forty-third congress; and was appointed librarian of the house of representatives. He died Dec. 17, 1874, in Norfolk, Va.

RICE, JOHN H., merchant, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1816, in Mount Vernon, Ky. In 1852 he was elected a state attorney for three years; was re-elected, and held the office until he was chosen a representative from Maine to the thirty-seventh congress. He was re-elected to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses.

RICE, JOHN HOLT, educator, author, was born Nov. 23, 1777, in New London, Va. In 1822 he filled the chair of theology in Hampden-Sidney college, which position he filled until his death. He was the author of a work entitled Historical and Philosophical Considerations on Religion. He died Sept. 3, 1831.

RICE, JOHN M., state legislator, congressman, was born in Floyd county, Ky. He served in the legislature of Kentucky in 1859 and 1867; and was elected a representative from Kentucky to the forty-first congress, and was re-elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat.

RICE, LUTHER, clergyman, missionary, philanthropist, was born March 25, 1783, in Northborough, Mass. He attained prominence as an eminent clergyman of the congregational church; was a missionary in India; and it was mainly through his influence and efforts that the Columbian university of Washington, D. C., was established. He died Sept. 25, 1836, in Edgefield, S. C.

RICE, MARTIN HENRY, clergyman, journalist, was born Oct. 4, 1829, in Jamaica, Vt. He always took a deep interest in Masonry, and has lectured extensively on that subject. He has been grand master; grand high priest and illustrious grand master of Masons in Indiana. He is best known as the editor of the Masonic Advocate, on which for a quarter of a century his time and talents, his pen and brain, have been actively employed in spreading true Masonic light and knowledge to his uninformed brethren.

RICE, NATHAN LEWIS, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1807, in Garrard county, Ky. He was a presbyterian clergyman of note who held pastorates in St. Louis, Cincinnati and New York city, and was an active controversialist. He was the author of Romanism the Enemy of Free Institutions; The Signs of the Times; Baptism; The Pulpit; and Discourses. He died June 11, 1877, in Chatham, Ky.

RICE, ROSELLA, author, was born Aug. 11, 1827, in Perrysville, Ohio. She published a novel entitled Mabel, or Heart Histories. In 1871-72 she contributed, under the pen-name of Pipsissway Potts, a serial entitled Other People's Windows, to Timothy S. Arthur's Home Magazine.

RICE, SAMUEL ALLEN, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 27, 1828, in Penn Yan, N. Y. In 1856 he was chosen attorney-general of Iowa, and in 1858 he was continued in that office for a second term. He entered the national army as colonel of the thirty-third Iowa volunteers, his commission dating from Aug. 10, 1862. For bravery at Helena, Ark., he was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died July 6, 1864, in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

RICE, THERON M., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 21, 1829, in Mecca, Ohio. In 1858 he moved to Missouri; served in the union army during the war of the rebellion, rising to the rank of colonel. At the close of the war he resumed the practice of law at Tipton, Mo.; and was elected circuit judge in 1868, and served six years. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-seventh congress.

RICE, THOMAS, lawyer, congressman. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1813; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1815 to 1819. He died in 1854.

RICE, THOMAS D., actor, was born May 20, 1808, in New York city. About 1832 he began his career in negro minstrelsy at the Pittsburg and Louisville theaters with success, repeating his performances in the eastern cities for several years to crowded houses. For a short time in 1858 he was with Wood's minstrels, where his name stood for the shadow of an attraction. He died Sept. 19, 1860, in New York city.

RICE, VICTOR MOREAU, educator, was born April 5, 1818, in Mayville, N. Y. The New York legislature having created a department of public instruction in 1854, he was elected the first state superintendent for three years. He was thrice re-elected, filling the office till 1866. He died Oct. 17, 1869, in Oneida, N. Y.

RICE, VIETTS LYSANDER, engineer, inventor, was born in 1844 in Windsor, Vt. He is manager of Filer, Stowell and Company; and of the North Star Iron works of Minneapolis. His inventions are the Narod ore pulverizer, the gravity mill and the granulating mill. He is also president of the American Ore Machinery company of New York city.

RICE, WILLARD MARTIN, clergyman, author, was born April 30, 1817, in Lowville, N. Y. Since 1876 he has devoted himself entirely to the work of the presbyterian board of publication. He has prepared Westminster Question Book; Lesson Leaf; and the Quarterly.

RICE, WILLIAM, educator, clergyman, was born March 10, 1821, in Springfield, Mass. He graduated from the Wesleyan academy of Wilbraham, Mass.; and during 1841-97 he was a successful clergyman in the methodist episcopal church. His pastorates were chiefly in Boston and vicinity. During 1861-97 he was also librarian of the Springfield city library; and for eighteen years was member of the Massachusetts state board of education. He died Aug. 17, 1897, in Springfield, Mass.

RICE, WILLIAM E., lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 28, 1852, near Albion, N. Y. He graduated from the Michigan State Normal school, and for several years was engaged in educational work. In 1883 he was admitted to the bar, and is now a successful lawyer and fruit grower of Rogers City, Mich. In 1888-89 he was prosecuting attorney of Presque Isle county, and was again elected to that office in 1896. In 1895-96 he served with distinction as a representative in the Michigan state legislature, and was on several important committees. He died in January, 1898.

RICE, WILLIAM J., lawyer, journalist, was born July 3, 1864, in Carter county, Ky. He is a successful lawyer of Rainier, Ore.; and the editor and owner of The Review of that city.

RICE, WILLIAM W., lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 21, 1845, in Marblehead, Mass. He was judge of insolvency for Worcester county in 1858; was mayor of Worcester in 1860; and was district attorney for the middle district of Massachusetts from 1869 to 1874. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1875; and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

RICH, CHARLES, congressman, was born in 1771 in Hampshire county, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1811 to 1812, and again from 1817 to 1824. He died Oct. 15, 1824, in Shoreham, Vt.

RICH, MRS. HELEN [HINSDALE], author, poet, was born in 1827 in New York. She is a poet of Chicago; and the author of A Dream of the Adirondacks, and Other Poems; and Madame de Staël.

RICH, ISAAC, merchant, was born in 1801 in Wellfleet, Mass. In the course of years he became a successful fish merchant, and subsequently a millionaire, gave largely to educational and charitable institutions, and, in addition to numerous bequests, left the greater part of his estate, appraised at $1,700,000, to the trustees of the Boston Wesleyan university. He died Jan. 13, 1872, in Boston, Mass.

RICH, JOHN T., agriculturist, state senator, congressman, was born April 23, 1841, in Conneautville, Pa. He was elected a representative in the Michigan state legislature in 1872, 1874, 1876, and 1878, serving as speaker during the last two terms; and was state senator in 1880. In 1881 he was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-seventh congress to fill a vacancy.

RICH, SANFORD CLARK, educator, clergyman, lawyer, was born May 2, 1863, in Morgantown, W. Va. He received his education at the Drew Theological seminary; was engaged in educational work for eight years; was a clergyman for six years; and is now a successful lawyer of Pleasanton, Kan. He has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press, and several of his poems have been included in standard works.

RICHARD, GABRIEL, missionary, educator, congressman, was born Oct. 15, 1767, in France. He was for a time professor of mathematics in St. Mary's college, Maryland; labored in Illinois as a missionary; and went to Detroit in 1799, whence he was sent as a delegate to congress in 1823. He died Sept. 13, 1832, in Detroit, Mich.

RICHARDS, BENJAMIN WOOD, public official, state legislator, was born in November, 1797, in Burlington county, N. J. He was appointed by President Jackson a director of the United States bank, which office he resigned to become mayor of Philadelphia in 1830-31. He was one of the earliest directors of Girard college; the originator, founder, and president until his death of the Girard Life and Trust company, and a founder with John Vaughan of the Blind asylum. He died July 13, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RICHARDS, CHARLES COMSTOCK, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 16, 1859, in Salt Lake City. In 1888 he was elected a representative in the territorial legislature of Utah; and in 1890 was a senator of that body. He was secretary of the territory from May 16, 1893, to Jan. 6, 1896, when that territory became a state; and he was the acting governor at the time of admission, and turned the executive office over to the governor of the state.

RICHARDS, CHARLES HERBERT, clergyman, author, was born March 18, 1839, in Meriden, N. H. He was pastor of a congregational church in Kokomo, Ind., in 1866-67, and since that time has had charge of the First Congregational church in Madison, Wis. He is the author of Will Phillips; Songs of Christian Praise; Scripture Selections for Public Worship; and Songs of Praise and Prayer.

RICHARDS, CHARLES L., lawyer, legislator, was born March 21, 1856, near Woodstock, Ill. For two terms this successful lawyer was prosecuting attorney of Thayer county, Neb.; and in 1895 he was elected a member of the Nebraska state legislature, of which body he was speaker.

RICHARDS, MRS. CORNELIA HOLROYD [BRADLEY], author, was born Nov. 1, 1822, in Hudson, N. Y. She is the author of At Home and Abroad, or How to Behave; Pleasure and Profit, or Lessons on the Lord's Prayer; Hester and I; and Memoir of Mrs. Haven.

RICHARDS, CYRUS SMITH, educator, author, was born March 11, 1808, in Hartford, Vt. He was principal of Kimball Union academy, Meriden, N. H., and from 1871 until his death had charge of the preparatory department of Howard university of Washington, D. C. He was the author of Latin Lessons and Tables; Outlines of Latin Grammar; and an Introduction to Cæsar: First Latin Lessons. He died July 19, 1885, in Madison, Wis.

RICHARDS, MRS. ELLEN HENRIETTA [SWALLOW], educator, author, was born Dec. 3, 1842, in Dunstable, Mass. She is an instructor in sanitary chemistry in the Massachusetts institute of Technology; and is the author of Chemistry of Cookery and Cleaning; Food Materials and Their Adulterations; and First Lessons in Minerals.

RICHARDS, FRANCIS HENRY, inventor, was born Oct. 20, 1850, in New Hartford, Conn. He has invented a great many valuable machines and devices, which he has given to the public.

RICHARDS, FRANKLIN DEWEY, Mormon apostle, state legislator, was born April 2, 1821, in Richmond, Mass. In 1849 he was ordained one of the twelve apostles of Salt Lake City; in 1852 was a member of the legislature; and re-elected in 1856. In 1889 he became historian and general recorder of the church at Salt Lake City, which position he still holds.

RICHARDS, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born in Rhode Island. He was pastor of a universalist church in Portsmouth, N. H., from 1793 till 1809, and subsequently in Philadelphia, where he established the Freemason's Magazine and General Miscellany, and edited it for two years. He was the author of odes, Masonic orations, An Historical Discourse on the Death of Gen. Washington, and many patriotic poems descriptive of the revolution. He died March 1, 1814, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RICHARDS, GEORGE, railroad president, was born March 21, 1833, in Pottsville, Pa. Since 1862 he has been president of the Hibernia Mine railroad; is also president of the Hibernia Underground railroad, and Dover and Rockaway railroad.

RICHARDS, HELEN DOROTHY WHITON, author. She was the author of several juvenile books, including Robert Walbar: Hemlock Ridge; and The Conquered Heart.

RICHARDS, JACOB, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1803 to 1809.

RICHARDS, JAMES A. D., lawyer, congressman, was born March 22, 1845, in Boston, Mass. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat from Ohio.

RICHARDS, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1795 to 1797.

RICHARDS, JOHN, state legislator, congressman. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1814 and 1815; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1823 to 1825.

RICHARDS, JOSEPH WILLIAM, Ph. D., mineralogist, author, was born July 28, 1864, in England. He is the author of the only work in the English language on aluminum. Since 1887 he has been professor of metallurgy, mineralogy and blowpipe analysis in the Lehigh university of Bethlehem, Pa.

RICHARDS, L. L. GREENE, editor, poet, was born April 8, 1849, in Kaneshville, Iowa. At the age of twenty-three she became the editor of the Woman's Exponent—the first woman's paper published in Utah; herself Utah's first lady editor. The year following she married Levi Willard Richards, but five years later she was compelled through failing health and domestic duties to relinquish her business pursuits and to turn the publication over to the hands of Mrs. Emmeline B. Wells, under whose care it still flourishes.

RICHARDS, MRS. LAURA ELIZABETH [HOWE], author, was born in 1850 in Massachusetts. She is a writer of juvenile books, whose home is in Gardiner, Maine; and the author of The Joyous Story of Toto; Toto's Merry Winter; In My Nursery; Five Mice; Captain January; Jim of Hellas; and Queen Hildegarde.

RICHARDS, LOUIS HARRY, railroad president, was born April 7, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1878 he has been president of the Potomac, Fredericksburg and Piedmont railroad.

RICHARDS, MRS. MARIA [TOLMAN], educator, author, was born Oct. 8, 1821, in Dorchester, Mass. She is an educator and lecturer of Providence; and the author of Life in Judea; and Life in Israel.

RICHARDS, MARK, state legislator, congressman, was born in New Haven, Conn. He was a member of the state legislature for eight years; was county sheriff for five years; was a presidential elector in 1813; and was a state counselor in 1813 and 1815. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1817 to 1821; and was lieutenant-governor of Vermont in 1830.

RICHARDS, MATTHIAS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1757. He was a judge of Berks county, Pa., from 1788 to 1797; and was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1807 to 1811. He died in 1830.

RICHARDS, MATTHIAS HENRY, clergyman, educator, journalist, was born June 17, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1880 he has been editor of Church Lesson-Leaves; and Helper; and since 1886 the managing editor of the Church Messenger at Allentown, Pa.

RICHARDS, ROBERT HALLOWELL, metallurgist, educator, inventor, was born Aug. 26, 1844, in Gardiner, Maine. He has invented a jet aspirator for chemical and physical laboratories; and an ore-separator for the Lake Superior copper mills. During 1886 he was president of the American institute of Mining Engineers.

RICHARDS, SARAH J., philanthropist, was born in 1820. She was a noted philanthropist of her time. She died in 1893.

RICHARDS, THOMAS ADDISON, artist, educator, was born Dec. 3, 1820, in England. Since 1867 he has been professor of art in the university of the city of New York, which gave him the honorary degree of M. A. in 1878. His numerous paintings include Alastor, or the Spirit of Solitude; and The Indian's Paradise.

RICHARDS, W. AVERY, clergyman, author, poet, was born Dec. 28, 1838, in Clyde, Ohio. He has filled pastorates in the Methodist churches of Dixon, Prairie City, Sioux City, and Fort Dodge, Iowa; and is the author of a volume of poems.

RICHARDS, WILLIAM, missionary, was born Aug. 22, 1792, in Plainfield, Mass. In 1822 he embarked as a missionary to the Sandwich islands. In 1838 he became counselor, chaplain and interpreter to the king, and after the recognition of the independence of the islands by foreign powers was sent as ambassador to England, and to other courts. He died Dec. 7, 1847, in Honolulu.

RICHARDS, WILLIAM ALFORD, farmer, civil engineer, governor, was born March 9, 1849, in Hazel Green, Wis. He has been county surveyor in California and Colorado, and during 1889-93 was United States surveyor-general of Wyoming. Jan. 7, 1895, he was inaugurated governor of Wyoming for a term of four years.

RICHARDS, WILLIAM CAREY, clergyman, author, poet, was born Nov. 24, 1818, in England. He was a baptist minister of Chicago, widely known as a lecturer upon physical science, and the author of Baptist Banquets; The Lord Is My Shepherd; The Mountain Anthem; Our Father in Heaven, a series of sonnets; and Science in Song. He died in 1892.

RICHARDS, WILLIAM TROST, artist, was born Nov. 14, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa. Among his works in oil are Tulip-Trees (1859); Midsummer; Woods in June (1864); and Mid Ocean. His work in water-colors has become widely known, and includes Cedars on the Sea-Shore (1873); Paradise, Newport; Sand-Hills, Coast, N. J.; King Arthur's Castle, Tintagel, Cornwall; Mullion Gull Rock, Tintagel, Cornwall (1882); The Unresting Sea (1884).

RICHARDS, ZALMON, educator, was born Aug. 11, 1811, in Cummington, Mass. He attended Williams college during 1831-

36; was principal of the Union academy of his native city for three years; of the Stillwater academy for ten years; of the preparatory department of the Columbian college for three years; and of the Union academy during 1851-66. For two years he was superintendent of public schools of Washington, D. C., and for three years was a clerk in the bureau of education. Since 1856 he has been president and a member of the National Educational association.

RICHARDSON, MRS. ABBY (SAGE), educator, author, poet, was born in 1835. She is an educator and lecturer upon literature, and the author of Familiar Talks on English Literature; Stories from Old English Poetry; History of Our Country; and Abelard and Heloise, a Mediæval Romance. She has edited Songs from the Old Dramatists, and other works.

RICHARDSON, ALBERT DEANE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1833, in Franklin, Mass. He was a journalist of New York city, and famous as the war correspondent of The Tribune during the civil war. He was the author of Beyond the Mississippi; Personal History of Ulysses Grant; The Field, the Dungeon, and the Escape; and Garnered Sheaves. He died Dec. 2, 1868, in New York city.

RICHARDSON, BEALE HOWARD, journalist, was born in 1843, in Baltimore, Md. In 1889 he obtained control of the Georgia Enquirer Sun, which under his management became remarkably successful.

RICHARDSON, CHARLES ALBERT, soldier, lawyer, public official, was born Aug. 14, 1829, in Freetown, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and attended Cortland academy of Homer, N. Y. He has been county treasurer and surrogate of Ontario county, N. Y.; New York state commissioner for Gettysburg and Chattanooga monuments; and United States commissioner for Gettysburg national park. During the civil war he served in the union army as lieutenant, captain and major of the one hundred and twenty-sixth regiment New York volunteer infantry. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the east, and has a large practice at Canandaigua, N. Y.

RICHARDSON, CHARLES FRANCIS, educator, author, was born May 29, 1851, in Hallowell, Maine. He was a professor of English literature at Dartmouth college from 1882, and is the author of Primer of American Literature; The Cross, a collection of verse; American Literature, 1607-1885; and The Choice of Books. Co-editor with H. A. Clark of The College Book.

RICHARDSON, DAVID P., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 28, 1833, in Macedon, N. Y. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1864; removed to Angelica in 1866, and engaged in the practice of his profession. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

RICHARDSON, E. C., librarian. He is the librarian of the Princeton university, and a regular contributor to historical literature.

RICHARDSON, GEORGE F., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born July 1, 1850, in Jamestown, Mich.

He was the son of a pioneer farmer, and his occupation in life has been principally that of a farmer. He received his education in the common schools. He was elected township clerk eight years in succession, and in 1884 was elected to the Michigan legislature, and again in 1890. The democrats controlled the organization of the house, and he was elected speaker pro tempore, and was elected to the fifty-third congress by the democrats and populists. He was the editor of The Free Coinage Independent, which is now published as The Middle West of Grand Rapids, Mich.

RICHARDSON, HOBART WOOD, journalist, author, was born in 1831. He was a journalist of Portland, Maine, and the author of Paper Money; The National Banks; and The Standard Dollar. He died in 1889.

RICHARDSON, J. M., soldier, poet, was born March 13, 1831, in South Carolina. He served in the civil war as a confederate, attaining the rank of colonel. He has contributed both prose and verse to the leading magazines and journals of South Carolina.

RICHARDSON, JAMES B., governor, was born in South Carolina. He was governor of that state from 1802 to 1804.

RICHARDSON, JAMES DANIEL, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 10, 1843, in Rutherford county, Tenn. In 1870 he was elected a representative in the Tennessee state legislature, and was elected speaker on the first day of the session. In 1872 he was elected state senator and served two years, and in 1873, when thirty years of age, was made grand master of Masons for the state of Tennessee. He also became grand high priest of the grand chapter of the state. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

RICHARDSON, JOHN FRAM, educator, author, was born Feb. 7, 1808, in Vernon, N. Y. He believed he had discovered the true pronunciation of Latin, as spoken by the ancient Romans, and in the face of much opposition taught it to his pupils. It has since been adopted by many of the foremost educators. He published Roman Orthoepy: a Plea for the Restoration of the True System of Latin Pronunciation. He died Feb. 10, 1868, in Rochester, N. Y.

RICHARDSON, JOHN PETER, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born April 14, 1801, in Hickory Hill, S. C. He was a member of the South Carolina state legislature from 1824 to 1826; was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1840; and was governor of South Carolina from 1840 to 1842. He died Jan. 24, 1864, in Fulton, S. C.

RICHARDSON, JOHN S., soldier, lawyer, agriculturist, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1828, in Sumter district, S. C. He served in the confederate army as a commissioned officer during the war of the rebellion. He was a member of the South Carolina state house of representatives from 1865 to 1867. He was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

RICHARDSON, JOHN SMYTHE, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born April 11, 1777, in Sumter, S. C. He was an associate judge of the general sessions and of the common pleas, and presiding judge of the court of appeals; and was elected a member of congress in 1820, but owing to some exigency in his private affairs, was not qualified. He was a member of the state legislature, and attorney-general for the state of South Carolina. He died May 8, 1850, in Charleston, S. C.

RICHARDSON, JOSEPH, clergyman, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1778, in Billerica, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1827 to 1831; and was senior pastor over the First church at Hingham for fifty years. He died Sept. 25, 1871, in Hingham, Mass.

RICHARDSON, JOSEPH, architect, was born Sept. 7, 1814, in England. Thirty years ago he established a line of steamboats between New York and Bridgeport, Conn., which he yet controls. The water works at Laramie City are another monument to his enterprise, he having been their originator and builder. He also built the water works at Houston, Texas.

RICHARDSON, NATHANIEL SMITH, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Jan. 8, 1810, in Middlebury, Conn. He was an episcopal clergyman who was editor of The American Church Review, and was the author of Reasons Why I am a Churchman; Reasons Why I am not a Papist; and Evidences of Natural and Revealed Religion. He died Aug. 7, 1883, in Bridgeport, Conn.

RICHARDSON, RICHARD, patriot, soldier, was born in 1704 near Jamestown, Va. In 1775 he was a member of the council of safety at Charleston, S. C.; and in 1776 became a brigadier-general. He died in September, 1781, near Salisbury, S. C.

RICHARDSON, SHERMAN D., soldier, journalist, poet, was born Jan. 2, 1847, in Stafford, Conn. Colonel Richardson was an officer in the civil war. He learned the printing business, and has been editor, cartoonist, special correspondent and contributor to various newspapers and magazines. He is known as the War Poet; has given public readings of his own works with success; and is the author of a volume of poems.

RICHARDSON, T., journalist, public official, was born Oct. 22, 1844, in Port Gibson, Miss. For eighteen years he has been an alderman of his native city; postmaster for twenty years, and a delegate to the republican national conventions of 1884 and 1896. He is the editor and owner of The Vidette of Port Gibson, Miss.

RICHARDSON, WILLIAM ADAMS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, author, was born Nov. 2, 1821, in Tynborough, Mass. In 1855 he was appointed to revise the statutes of Massachusetts, and subsequently was appointed to edit the annual supplements to the general statutes, which he continued to do for twenty-two years. In 1856 he became a judge of probate, and two years later judge of probate and insolvency, serving as such for sixteen years. He became assistant secretary of the treasury department, and in 1871 went to Europe as a financial agent for the government. In 1873 he was appointed secretary of the treasury, and in 1874 accepted a seat on the bench of the United States court of claims. In 1885 he was appointed chief justice of the United States court of claims. He was the author of The Banking Laws of Massachusetts; History of the Court of Claims; Practical Information Concerning the United States Public Debt; and National Banking Laws.

RICHARDSON, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, soldier, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, governor, was born Oct. 11, 1811, in Fayette county, Ky. In 1835 he was elected state attorney; in 1836 a member of the Illinois state legislature, and in 1838 was elected to the state senate. In 1844 he was again elected to the legislature, and made speaker of the house; and was also chosen a presidential elector in 1844. In 1846 he served as captain in the Mexican war. In 1847 he was elected a representative in congress from Illinois, where he continued to serve by re-election until 1856. In 1857 he was appointed governor of Nebraska, and in 1860 was elected to the house of representatives, and was elected a senator in congress to fill a vacancy. He died Dec. 27, 1875, in Quincy, Ill.

RICHARDSON, WILLIAM MERCHANT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1774, in Pelham, N. H. He was a member of congress from Massachusetts from 1811 to 1814, when he resigned. He removed to Portsmouth, N. H., in 1814, and was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire in 1816. He was the author of The New Hampshire Justice, and The Town Officer; and a considerable portion of the first and second volumes of The New Hampshire Reports was drawn up by him. He died March 3, 1838, in Chester, N. H.

RICHE, GEORGE INMAN, lawyer, educator, was born Jan. 21, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was paymaster of United States volunteers, and in 1864-67 he was a member of the common council. He is best known for his educational work. In 1867-86 he was the principal of the Philadelphia high school.

RICHEY, ISABEL GRIMES, poet, was born in Lancaster, Mo. She is a writer of Plattsmouth, Neb., and the author of a volume of poems entitled A Harp of the West.

RICHEY, JAMES, educator, poet, was born July 15, 1818, in Pendleton county, Ky. Despite the advanced age of Mr. Richey he still teaches school. For more than half a century he has contributed to educational journals and the periodical press; and his poems have been given a place in several standard collections.

RICHEY, JAMES C., soldier, journalist, was born July 13, 1847, in New Castle, Pa. During the civil war he served as a union soldier, and has been on the frontier since the war. He is the editor and owner of The Times of Wichita, Kan.; has been alderman of his city and filled various other public positions of trust.

RICHMOND, DEAN, merchant, railroad president, was born March 31, 1804, in Barnard, Vt. He moved to Buffalo in 1842, and after the consolidation of the railroads forming the New York Central he moved to Batavia, N. Y. He was first vice-president of the company; was elected its president in 1864, and was the first railroad man to advocate the laying of steel rails. He died Aug. 27, 1866, in New York city.

RICHMOND, MRS. EUPHEMIA JOHNSON (GUERNSEY), author, was born in 1825 in New York. She is a writer of Upton, N. Y., and the author of Hope Raymond; Two Paths; The McAllisters, a temperance tale; The Jewelled Serpent; The Fatal Dower; and Anna Maynard, the King's Daughter.

RICHMOND, HIRAM H., lawyer, congressman, was born May 17, 1810, in Chautauqua, N. Y. He was elected from New York to the forty-third congress.

RICHMOND, JACOB L., soldier, farmer, lawyer, business man, was born June 16, 1836, in Wayne, N. Y. He received his education in the common and high schools and attended a commercial college in St. Louis, Mo. He served as a union soldier during the civil war; was commissioned first lieutenant, and promoted to captain for bravery and efficiency during the siege of Vicksburg. For fifteen successive years he was inspector of customs; has been United States circuit court commissioner; and was clerk of the district court for fifteen years. He has filled the office of justice of the peace, and various other public offices of trust. He is prominent in the Masonic and other fraternal orders; and resides in Minnekaukau, N. D.

RICHMOND, JAMES BUCHANAN, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Turkey Cove, Va. He served in the confederate army, rising to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

RICHMOND, JAMES COOK, clergyman, author, was born in 1808, in Providence, R. I. He traveled extensively in Europe, and was the author of a Visit to Iowa in 1846: A Midsummer Day Dream; and Metacomet, the first canto of an epic poem. He died July 20, 1866, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

RICHMOND, JONATHAN, pioneer, congressman, was born in 1774 in Bristol, Mass. He was one of the pioneers of western New York in 1813; was once collector of the customs for the United States and was a representative in congress from New York from 1819 to 1821. He died July 29, 1853, in Cayuga, N. Y.

RICHMOND, LEWIS, soldier, merchant, diplomat, was born March 12, 1824, in Providence, R. I. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1875 he was appointed United States consul in Ireland; subsequently in Italy; and in 1884 was appointed minister resident at Lisbon, Portugal.

RICHMOND, MARY ELIZABETH MEAD, philanthropist, was born in June, 1813, in Troy, N. Y. From 1853 until her death in 1895 she resided in Batavia, N. Y. The Richmond Memorial Library building of that city was erected by her at a cost of thirty thousand dollars, in memory of her son, Dean Richmond, who died in 1885. She performed many generous acts.

RICHTER, E. L., journalist, was born in Harrison, Ohio. He received a liberal education, and attended the Northwestern Ohio Normal school. He has been a telegraph operator, assistant superintendent train dispatcher; and is now the editor and owner of The Pioneer of Larimore, N. D.

RICHTER, JOHN G. A., legislator, was born April 30, 1862, in Allegheny City, Pa. In 1888 he organized the first council of the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics, in the city of Canton, Ohio, in which society he has since held high offices.

RICKARDS, JOHN EZRA, merchant, legislator, governor, was born July 23, 1848, in Delaware City, Del. His early life was spent on a farm; and was subsequently a clerk and bookkeeper. In 1870 he located in Colorado, and nine years later in California; and in 1882 in Butte City, Mont., which has since been his home. In 1888 and again in 1892 he was elected to represent the laymen of Montana in the general conference of the methodist episcopal church. He served as a member of the board of aldermen in Butte; was elected a member of the constitutional convention; then became lieutenant-governor; and in 1892 was elected governor of Montana, and was popularly known as Montana's model governor. He was instrumental in the establishment of a reform school; is a strong and unyielding advocate of bimetallism, and his well-known ability and integrity of purpose have made him invincible in every political contest he has undertaken.

RICKETTS, JAMES BREWERTON, soldier, was born June 21, 1817, in New York city. In 1839 he graduated from the United States Military academy. In 1864 he passed from the campaign against Richmond to the defence of Washington, when threatened by General Early; and then took part under Sheridan in the pursuit through the Valley, receiving at Cedar Creek a wound which disabled him for the winter. He received the brevets of major-general of volunteers in 1864, and of brigadier and major-general in the regular army in 1865. He died Sept. 22, 1887, in Washington, D. C.

RICKOFF, ANDREW JACKSON, educator, was born Aug. 23, 1824, in Mercer, N. J. The credit is awarded him of reorganizing the schools both of Cincinnati and Cleveland, and largely influencing the school systems in Ohio.

RICORD, MRS. ELIZABETH (STRYKER), author, was born in 1788 on Long Island. She was an educator of Geneva, N. Y., and after 1845 a resident of Newark, N. J. She was the author of Philosophy of the Mind; and Zamba, or the Insurrection, a Dramatic Poem. She died Oct. 10, 1865, in Newark, N. J.

RICORD, FREDERICK WILLIAM, lawyer, educator, author, poet, was born Oct. 7, 1819, in West Indies. He is a lawyer and educator of Newark, N. J., and the author of History of Rome; The Youth's Grammar; English Songs from Foreign Tongues; and The Self-Tormentor, from the Latin of Terentius, with More English Songs.

RICORD, JEAN BAPTISTE, physician, naturalist, author, was born in 1777 in France. He was a French physician and naturalist who settled in New York city, and was the author of Improved French Grammar; and several French works. He died in 1837 in the West Indies.

RIDDELL, JOHN LEONARD, physician, educator, inventor, author, was born Feb. 20, 1807, in Leyden, Mass. He was melter and refiner at the United States mint in New Orleans, the inventor of a binocular microscope and magnifying glass, and discovered the microscopical characteristics of the blood and black vomit in yellow fever. He first brought to notice the botanical genus Riddellia, which was named for him.

RIDDLE, ALBERT GALLATIN, lawyer, author, congressman, was born May 28, 1816, in Monson, Mass. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-seventh congress; and subsequently practiced law in Washington, D. C. He has written a number of romances of early life in Ohio. He is the author of The House of Ross; Bart Ridgeley; Alice Brand; The Tory's Daughter; Mark

Loan; The Portrait; Personal Recollections of War Times; Students and Lawyers; Life of Benjamin Wade; Life of Garfield; and Speeches and Arguments.

RIDDLE, GEORGE READE, civil engineer, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1817 in New Castle, Del. He was appointed deputy attorney-general for his native county, which position he held until 1850, when he was elected a representative from Delaware to the thirty-second congress. He was re-elected to the thirty-third congress. In 1864 he was elected a senator in congress from Delaware, for the term ending in 1869. He died March 29, 1867, in Washington City.

RIDDLE, H. T., congressman. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-fourth congress.

RIDDLE, HAYWOOD YANCEY, lawyer, congressman, was born June 20, 1834, in Van Buren, Tenn. From 1865 to 1875 he was clerk and master of the Lebanon chancery court. He was then elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-fourth congress to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat.

RIDDLE, MATTHEW BROWN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 17, 1836, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was an original member of the New Testament revision committee formed in 1871, translated and edited the epistles to the Romans, Galatians, Ephesians, and Colossians in the American edition of Lange's Commentary; contributed to Rev. Dr. Philip Schaff's Popular Illustrated Commentary on the New Testament; and to his International Revision Commentary (New York, 1882).

RIDDLEBERGER, HARRISON HOLT, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Oct. 4, 1844, in Edinburg, Va. He was elected a representative in the Virginia state legislature in 1871, and again in 1873. He was elected a commonwealth attorney in 1875 and 1879, and in the latter year was elected state senator. He was a presidential elector in 1876 and 1880; and in 1881 was elected United States senator from Virginia for the term of six years from March 4, 1883. He died Jan. 24, 1890, in Woodstock, Va.

RIDEING, WILLIAM HENRY, littérateur, journalist, author, was born Feb. 17, 1853, in England. He is a Boston writer on the editorial staff of The Youth's Companion, and the author of Pacific Railway Illustrated; A Saddle in the Wild West; Boys in the Mountains and on the Plains; Boys Coastwise; Stray Moments with Thackeray; Alpenstock; Young Folks' History of London; The Boyhood of Living Authors; Thackeray's London; A Little Upstart, a novel; In the Land of Lorna Doone; and The Captured Cunarder.

RIDER, GEORGE THOMAS, educator, journalist, author, was born Feb. 21, 1829, in Rice City, R. I. In 1860 he removed to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he conducted the Cottage Hill seminary for young ladies till 1874. He is on the editorial staff of the New York Churchman. He has published Plain Music for the Book of Common Prayer; Lyra Anglicana, or a Hymnal of Sacred Poetry, selected from the Best English Writers, and arranged after the Order of the Apostles' Creed; and Lyra Americana, or Verses of Praise and Faith from American Poets.

RIDER, HENRY CLOSS, educator, was born Dec. 14, 1832, in Esperance, N. Y. He is the founder and present superintendent of the Northern New York institute for Deaf Mutes.

RIDER, JOHN J., farmer, legislator, was born Feb. 23, 1840, in Exeter, N. Y. This successful farmer is the owner of three hundred acres, and makes a specialty of dairying and hop raising. In 1894 he served as a member of the New York state legislature, and received the reelection to a second term.

RIDGAWAY, HENRY BASCOM, clergyman, educator, author, was born Sept. 7, 1830, in Talbot county, Md. He was a methodist clergyman and educator of Illinois, and president of the Garrett Biblical institute at Evanston, Ill., from 1882. He was the author of Life of Alfred Cookman; The Lord's Land, or Travels in Sinai and Palestine; and Lives of Bishops Janes, Waugh, Simpsou. He died in 1895.

RIDGELEY, HENRY M., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1778. He was a lawyer by profession, and for many years was a distinguished member of the Delaware bar. He was a representative in congress from Delaware from 1811 to 1815; and filled a vacancy as senator in congress from 1826 to 1829. He died Aug. 7, 1847, in Dover, Del.

RIDGELY, CHARLES, soldier, state senator, governor, was born Dec. 6, 1762. He served in the state senate, and was chosen governor of Maryland three times successively, in 1815-17. He was also brigadier-general of Maryland militia. He died July 17, 1829, in Hampton, Md.

RIDGELY, EDWIN REED, soldier, merchant, congressman, was born May 9, 1844, in Crawford county, Kan. In the early seventies he engaged in the Texas cattle trade, personally sharing in and directing the gathering of cattle on the range and driving them to the Kansas markets. Subsequently he extended his cattle operations to the Pacific coast, including Washington territory, Oregon and California. He lived in Ogden, Utah, from 1889 to 1893. He was nominated by the people's and democratic parties and elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

RIDGELY, HENRY MOORE, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1778, in Dover, Del. He was elected and re-elected to congress as a federalist, serving from 1811 till 1815. He then returned to Dover and continued to practice his profession until he was elected United States senator from Delaware in place of Nicholas Van Dyke, deceased. He held the seat from 1827 till 1829. He died Aug. 7, 1847, in Dover, Del.

RIDGELY, JAMES LOT, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 27, 1807, in Baltimore, Md. He was a member of the Baltimore council in 1834-35; of the state house of delegates in 1838, and of the constitutional conventions of 1849 and 1864. He was for twelve years register of wills for Baltimore county, several years president of the board of education, and aided in establishing the present public school system in 1848. He is the principal author of the various rituals that are now in use. He has also written Odd-Fellowship—What Is It? The Odd-Fellow's Pocket Companion; and many other works of a similar character. He was the editor of The Covenant, the official magazine of the order. He died Nov. 16, 1881, in Baltimore, Md.

RIDGELY, NICHOLAS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Sept. 30, 1762, in Dover, Del. He was attorney-general and member of the Delaware legislature. In 1801 he was appointed chancellor of the state of Delaware, and held that office for twenty-nine years until his death. He died April 1, 1830, in Georgetown, Del.

RIDGELY, RICHARD, congressman. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1785 to 1786.

RIDGEWAY, ROBERT, journalist, congressman. He was a representative from Virginia to the fortieth congress. He was at one time editor of the Richmond Whig. He died Oct. 16, 1869, in Amherst county, Va.

RIDGWAY, JACOB ELWOOD, banker, financier, was born Aug. 14, 1824, in Salem, N. J. He was one of the founders of the Union Passenger railway, now known as the Philadelphia Traction company. Several large ships were also built by him.

RIDGWAY, JOSEPH, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born May 6, 1783, on Staten Island, N. Y. In 1828 he was elected to the legislature of Ohio, and was re-elected in 1830; and was a representative in congress from Ohio, from 1837 to 1843.

RIDGWAY, ROBERT, ornithologist, author, was born July 2, 1850, in Mount Carmel, Ill. He was an eminent ornithologist of Washington, and curator of the department of birds in the National museum from 1879. He is the author of The Birds of Colorado; Ornithology of the Fortieth Parallel; Manual of North American Birds; and History of North American Birds.

RIDINGS, ADA NENETA, educator, poet, was born Dec. 22, 1870, in Hollowtown, Ohio. Since the age of six she has resided in Caldwell, Kan. She has attained success in educational work, and is the author of numerous poems of merit.

RIDINGS, S. P., lawyer, poet, was born in 1868 in Highland county, Ohio. He was raised on the frontiers of Kansas, received a thorough education, and graduated from the State university of Kansas. He has attained success in the practice of law in Oklahoma; and in literature has gained the name of The Poet of Pond Creek.

RIDLON, G. T., clergyman, jurist, author, was born July 12, 1841, in Hollis, Maine. During the civil war he served in the union army in the seventeenth and twenty-seventh regiments of Maine volunteer infantry. He is the author of A History of the Ancient Ryedales; Burbank Genealogy; Hamblyns of Beech Hill; Saco Valley Settlements and Families; and Rambles in Europe.

RIDPATH, JOHN CLARK, author, poet, was born April 26, 1840, in Putnam county, Ind. In 1885 he published his Cyclopedia of Universal History in four volumes. He is the author of Life and Work of James G. Blaine; Popular and Academic Histories of the United States; History of Texas; Life of Garfield; History of the World; Christopher Columbus; Columbia, a Quadricentennial Story; Great Races of Mankind; and Epic of Life, a poem.

RIED, SAMUEL CHESTER, naval officer, was born Aug. 25, 1783, in Norwich, Conn. He was in active service during the war of 1812, and regulated the pilot-boats and signals at the Battery and the Narrows. He was also designer of the present United States flag. He died Jan. 28, 1861, in New York.

RIEF, CHARLES, legislator, poet, was born Nov. 13, 1842, in Germany. His career has been an eventful one; he has traveled around the world twice; and has contributed many historical papers of value on the countries he has visited. He is prominent in the municipal affairs of Grand Island, Neb.; is a member of the city council; president of the board of education; and has represented his county in the Nebraska legislature.

RIFE, JOHN W., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1846, in Middletown, Pa. He was a member of the house of representatives of Pennsylvania in 1885 and 1886. He was elected to the fifty-first congress, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a republican.

RIGBY, ISAAC ALBERT, lawyer, writer, was born May 13, 1861, in Doniphan county, Kan. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools; attended the Kansas State university, from which institution he received the degree of LL. B. in 1885. He is a successful lawyer of Concordia, Kan.; has been president of the board of education; county attorney; and a delegate to republican congressional and state conventions. He has contributed extensively to law literature and the periodical press generally.

RIGDON, JONATHAN, educator, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 22, 1858, in Rigdon, Ind. He attended the National

Normal university of Lebanon, Ohio; and later took the philosophical course in the Central Normal college of Danville, and subsequently graduated from the Boston university. Since 1885 he has filled the chair of philosophy and literary criticism in the Central Normal college of Danville, Ind. He is a successful lecturer, and the author of a series of grammars that have become very popular. He is also the author of Psychology; and is at work on a brief introduction to Shakespeare, and a work on Psychology. His lecture on The Tempest has attracted widespread attention, and he has delivered several courses of lectures in Indiana designed especially for teachers' associations and literary societies.

RIGDON, SIDNEY, printer, was born Feb. 19, 1793, in St. Clair, Pa. It is said that Rigdon was the printer who first made public, in connection with Joseph Smith, The Book of Mormon, a manuscript given him to be printed by one Spaulding, its author. He died July 14, 1876, in Friendship, N. Y.

RIGGEN, JOHN A., soldier, physician, surgeon, legislator, was born Oct. 29, 1841, in Stark county, Ill. He was a member of the eighteenth regiment Missouri veteran volunteer infantry during four years' service, and was promoted to corporal, sergeant, sergeant-major, second lieutenant, and first lieutenant. He has attained prominence as a noted physician and surgeon of Iowa at What Cheer; was president of the Keokuk County Medical society in 1886-87; was senior vice-commander of the Iowa department of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1888; since 1882 has been division surgeon of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern railroad. During 1894-98 he served with distinction as state senator in the Iowa state legislature, and was on several important committees.

RIGGS, ANNA R., educator, reformer, was born Jan. 28, 1835, in Cynthiana, Ky. For five years she was financial secretary of the Woman's Educational association, in connection with the Illinois Wesleyan university of Bloomington, Ill., during 1876-81. She then removed with her husband to Portland, Ore., and has been eight years state president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. She was one of the founders of the Refuge for Fallen Girls, since changed to Florence Crittenton home. For twenty years she has been engaged in philanthropic work; and is now the president of the board of managers of the Florence Crittenton home; and state lecturer for rescue work.

RIGGS, ELLAS, missionary, author, was born Nov. 19, 1810, in New Providence, N. J. He was a congregational missionary in Constantinople, famous as a linguist, among whose writings are, Manual of the Chaldee Language; Grammar of the Modern Armenian Language; Notes of Difficult Passages of the New Testament; and A Harmony of the Gospels, in Bulgarian.

RIGGS, GEORGE WASHINGTON, banker, was born July 4, 1813, in Georgetown, D. C. He formed the banking house of Corcoran and Riggs, which acquired a national fame during the Mexican war by taking up the entire loan that was called for by the government in 1847 and 1848. He died Aug. 24, 1881, in Green Hill, Md.

RIGGS, JAMES MILTON, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 17, 1839, in Scott county, Ill. He was elected a representative in the Illinois state legislature in 1870, and in 1872 was elected state's attorney for Scott county, and served four years. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

RIGGS, JAMES STEVENSON, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1853 in New York. He is a presbyterian clergyman, professor in Auburn Theological seminary from 1881, and has published The Bible in Art.

RIGGS, JETUR R., physician, state senator, congressman, was born June 20, 1809, in Morris county, N. J. He served two years in the New Jersey legislature. He spent one or two years in charge of the hospital at Sutter's Fort, California, and in 1855 was elected, for three years, to the senate of New Jersey. In 1858 he was elected a representative in congress from New Jersey. He died Nov. 5, 1869, in Drakesville.

RIGGS, JOHN D. S., college president, author, was born Jan. 29, 1851, in Washington, Pa. This eminent educator has filled chairs in the leading colleges, and since 1896 has been president of the Ottawa university, Kansas. He is the author of In Latinum, a work in Latin prose composition in two volumes.

RIGGS, MRS. KATE DOUGLAS (SMITH) (WIGGIN), author, poet, was born in Massachusetts. She is a popular writer of New York city, and the author of Timothy's Quest; Polly Oliver's Problem; The Birds' Christmas Carol; The Story of Patsy; A Summer in a Canon; Children's Rights; A Cathedral Courtship, and Penelope's English Experiences; The Village Watch-Tower; Marm Lisa; and Nine Love Songs and a Carol. She has also written in collaboration with her sister, Nora Archibald Smith, The Story Hour; and The Republic of Childhood.

RIGGS, LEWIS, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843.

RIGGS, LUTHER GRANGER, journalist, poet, was born Sept. 28, 1837, in Fairfield county, Tenn. He was for five successive years an official reporter of the Connecticut state senate. In 1875 he published a collection of his miscellaneous poems. He is now editor of The Recorder, of Richmond, Ill.

RIGGS, STEPHEN RETURN, missionary, author, was born March 23, 1812, in Steubenville, Ohio. He was a missionary to the Indians in Minnesota and Dakota, and the author of Forty Years Among the Sioux; The Bible in Dakota; and many translations and other writings relating to the Dakota Indians. He died Aug. 24, 1883, in Beloit, Wis.

RIIS, JACOB AUGUST, author, was born in 1849 in Dakota. He is a New York writer on social problems and the author of How the Other Half Lives; The Children of the Poor; and Nibsy's Christ-mas.

RIKER, JAMES, historian, author, was born May 11, 1822, in New York city. In addition to addresses and brochures upon the history of the Dutch settlers of New York, he is the author of A Brief History of the Riker Family; The Annals of Newtown; Harlem: Its Origin and Early Annals; and The Indian History of Tioga County, in a gazetteer of that county (Syracuse, 1888). He died July 15, 1889, in Waverly, N. Y.

RIKER, RICHARD, lawyer, was born Sept. 9, 1773, in Newtown, L. I., N. Y. From 1802 till 1840 he was district attorney for New York, Westchester and Queens counties, and he was recorder of the city in 1815-19, 1821-23 and 1824-38. Fitz-Greene Halleck made Mr. Riker the subject of his poem, The Recorder. He died Sept. 26, 1842, in New York city.

RIKER, SAMUEL, state legislator, congressman. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1784, and was a representative in congress from that state from 1804 to 1805, and again from 1807 to 1809.

RILEY, BENNETT, soldier, was born Nov. 27, 1787, in Alexandria, Va. He received the brevet of brigadier-general in 1847 for gallantry at Cerro Gordo, and that of major-general in 1847 for Contreras. At the conclusion of the war he was placed in command of the Pacific department, with headquarters at Monterey. He was appointed military governor of California, and served as the first chief magistrate of the territory and until the admission of the state into the union. He died June 9, 1853, in Buffalo, N. Y.

RILEY, CHARLES VALENTINE, entomologist, author, was born Sept. 18, 1843, in England. He was a distinguished entomologist of Washington, at one period state entomologist of Missouri, and from 1881 till his death in charge of the entomological division of the United States department of agriculture. He was the author of The Locust Plague in the United States; Potato Pests; and Noxious, Beneficial, and Other Insects of Missouri. He died in 1895.

RILEY, ELIHU SAMUEL, lawyer, author, was born May 2, 1845, in Annapolis, Md. He is the author of The Ancient City, a History of Annapolis, Md.; and is the editor and compiler of the City Code of Annapolis; the Maryland Manual; and the Memorial Volume of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Removal of the Capitol of Maryland from St. Mary's to Annapolis.

RILEY, HENRY HIRAM, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 1, 1813, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was a lawyer of Constantine, Mich., once known as a humorous writer; and the author of Paddleford and Its People; and The Paddleford Papers, or Humors of the West. He died Feb. 8, 1888, in Constantine, Mich.

RILEY, JAMES, mariner, author, was born Oct. 27, 1777, in Middletown, Conn. He was a mariner who was enslaved by the Arabs of Africa in 1815 and ransomed by Mr. Willshire, the British consul, at Mogadore. In 1821 he settled in Ohio and founded the town of Willshire, named in honor of the consul. From his journals was prepared, in 1816, the Authentic Narrative of the Loss of the American Brig Commerce on the West Coast of Africa, with a Description of Timbuctoo. He died March 15, 1840, at sea.

RILEY, JAMES, author, poet, was born in 1848 in Ireland. He is a poet of Boston whose unpretentious Poems, published in 1886, reached a third edition in 1888.

RILEY, JAMES WHITCOMB, poet, was born about 1852 in Greenfield, Ind. He is a very popular poet of Indianapolis whose dialect poems of Hoosier life have been greatly praised. His earliest work appeared over the signature, Benjamin F. Johnson of Boone. His dialect and other poems display much real feeling and originality. He is the author of The Old Swimmin' Hole and 'Leven More Poems; The Boss Girl, and Other Sketches; Afterwhiles; Old-Fashioned Roses; Pipes o' Pan at Zekesbury; Rhymes of Childhood; Flying Islands of the Night; Neighborly Poems; An Old Sweetheart of Mine; Green Fields and Running Brooks; Poems Here at Home; Armazindy; and A Child World.

RILEY, JOHN CAMPBELL, physician, author, was born Dec. 16, 1828, in Georgetown, D. C. He was a Washington physician who wrote a Compend of Materia Medica and Therapeutics. He died Feb. 22, 1879, in Washington, D. C.

RIMMER, CAROLINE HUNT, author, was born in 1851 in Massachusetts. She is the author of Animal Drawing.

RIMMER, WILLIAM, sculptor, artist, educator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1816, in England. He was a Boston painter, sculptor and teacher of art anatomy, who also practiced medicine, but gave up his profession to devote himself to art. He was the author of Art Anatomy; and Elements of Design. He died Aug. 20, 1879, in South Milford, Mass.

RINAKER, JOHN IRVING, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Baltimore, Md. In 1862 he raised and organized the one hundred and twenty-second regiment of Illinois infantry volunteers, and was mustered into the military service of the United States Sept. 4, 1862, as colonel of that regiment, and served three years, till the close of the war. He was made brevet brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious services in the field. He served as presidential elector on the republican ticket twice—in 1872 as elector for the seventeenth congressional district of Illinois and in 1876 as elector for the state at large; and was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1876 and again in 1884. He was a member of the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners of Illinois under Governor Oglesby from 1885 to 1889. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress in 1894 as a republican.

RINEHART, WILLIAM HENRY, sculptor, was born Sept. 13, 1825, near Union Bridge, Md. He was commissioned to finish the modeling of the bronze doors of the capitol at Washington, which Crawford had left unfinished at his death. Copies of several of his noted pieces are in the Corcoran Gallery of Art, in Washington, D. C.

RING, LLEWELLYN BICKNELL, journalist, was born June 12, 1854, in Cooksville, Wis. He is the editor and proprietor of The Times of Neillsville, Wis. He has served as deputy United States marshal at Shanghai, China, and was subsequently engaged in newspaper work at Washington, D. C., and at La Crosse, Wis.

RINGGOLD, CADWALADER, naval officer, was born Aug. 20, 1802, in Washington county, Md. He was commissioned commodore in 1862, and placed on the retired list in 1864. He was promoted to rear-admiral in 1866. He died April 29, 1867, in New York city.

RINGGOLD, GEORGE HAY, soldier, author, was born in 1814 in Hagerstown, Md. He served in the pay department during the Mexican war, became lieutenant-colonel and deputy paymaster-general in May, 1862, and was in charge of the paymasters of the department of the Pacific from 1861 till his death. He was an accomplished scholar, draughtsman, and painter, and published Fountain Rock, Amy Weir, and Other Metrical Pastimes. He died April 4, 1864, in San Francisco, Cal.

RINGGOLD, SAMUEL, congressman, was born Jan. 13, 1770, in Chestertown, Md. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1810 to 1815, and again from 1817 to 1821. He died Oct. 18, 1829, in Frederick county, Md.

RINGGOLD, SAMUEL, soldier, inventor, was born in 1800 in Washington county, Md. He became captain in 1836, participated in the Florida war, and was brevetted major for active and efficient conduct during hostilities. He introduced flying artillery into this country, and invented a saddle-tree, which was subsequently known as the McClelland saddle, and a rebounding hammer made of brass for exploding the fulminating primers for field-guns, that prevented the blowing away of the hammer. He died May 11, 1846, in Point Isabel, Tex.

RINGOLD, THOMAS, congressman. He was a delegate from Maryland to the colonial congress, which met in New York in 1765.

RINGOLSKY, ISSIE JOSEPH, lawyer, was born Sept. 24, 1864, in Leavenworth, Kan. He received the rudiments of his education in the high school of his native city; and from the law and literary departments of the university of Michigan. He is one of the leading lawyers of Kansas City, Mo., and has the largest practice of any individual lawyer in that city.

RINGS, DANIEL, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Arkansas, and was the first chief justice of the supreme court of the state. He died Sept. 3, 1873, in Little Rock, Ark.

RIORDAN, PATRICK WILLIAM, educator, Roman catholic archbishop, was born Aug. 27, 1841, in Ireland. From 1868 till 1871 he was engaged in missionary work at Joliet, Ill., after which he became rector of St. James's church, Chicago. While he was thus engaged he received notice of his appointment as titular bishop of Cabasa, and coadjutor, with the right of succession, to Archbishop Joseph S. Alemany, of San Francisco.

RIORDAN, ROGER, journalist, author, was born in 1848 in Ireland. He is a New York city journalist, and the author of A Score of Etchings; and Sunrise Stories, a Glance at the Literature of Japan.

RIPLEY, EDWARD PAYSON, railroad president, was born Oct. 30, 1845, in Dorchester, Mass. Since 1896 he has been president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway at Chicago, Ill.

RIPLEY, ELEAZAR WHEELOCK, soldier, congressman, was born April 15, 1782, in Hanover, N. H. He was speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1811. He moved to Louisiana, whence he was elected to congress, serving from 1835 to the time of his death. He died March 2, 1839, in West Feliciana, La.

RIPLEY, EZRA, clergyman, author, was born May 1, 1751, in Woodstock, Conn. He was a chaplain in the army, and a popular clergyman of Concord, Mass. He was the author of A History of the Fight at Concord. He died Sept. 21, 1841, in Concord, Mass.

RIPLEY, GEORGE, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Oct. 3, 1802, in Greenfield, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman who was pastor in Boston in 1826-41, and then for several years the chief promoter of the famous Brook Farm experiment. In 1849 he became literary editor of The New York Tribune, and continued in that position until his death. With C. A. Dana he edited the American Cyclopedia, 1857-63, and also the revised edition of the same, 1873-76. His literary criticisms exerted a wide and beneficial influence. He was the author of Discourses on the Philosophy of Religion; and Letters to Andrews Norton on the Latest Form of Infidelity. He died July 4, 1880, in New York city.

RIPLEY, HENRY JONES, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 28, 1798, in Boston, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman who held a pastorate in Georgia in 1819-26, and from 1826 to 1860 was a professor in the Theological seminary at Newton, Mass. He was the author of Notes on the Gospels, Acts, Hebrews; Christian Baptism; Church Polity; and The Exclusiveness of the Baptists. He died May 21, 1875, in Newton Center, Mass.

RIPLEY, HENRY WHEELOCK, merchant, author, was born June 30, 1828, in Fryeburg, Maine. He is a great grandson of Eleazer E. Wheelock, the founder and first president of Dartmouth college. He received his education in the Fryeburg academy, and for many years was engaged in mercantile business. He was inspector of customs in Portland, Maine, in 1860, and is the author of The History of the White Mountains.

RIPLEY, JAMES W., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman. He served four years in the legislature of Maine; was an officer in the last war with England, and was a member of congress from Maine from 1826 to 1830, when he was appointed collector of customs for the Passamaquoddy district of Maine. He died in June, 1835.

RIPLEY, JAMES WOLFE, soldier, was born Dec. 10, 1794, in Windham, Conn. He served in the second war with Great Britain. He received the brevet of brigadier-general United States army in July, 1861, and in August was promoted to the full rank. From his retirement until his death he was inspector of the armament of fortifications on the New England coast. In 1865 he received the brevet of major-general United States army for long and faithful service. He died March 16, 1870, in Hartford, Conn.

RIPLEY, ROSWELL SABINE, soldier, author, was born March 14, 1823, in Worthington, Ohio. He was a confederate army officer of prominence who wrote a History of the Mexican War. He died March 26, 1887, in New York city.

RIPLEY, THOMAS C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 2, 1807, in Easton, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the twenty-ninth congress to fill a vacancy. In 1854 he moved to Saginaw, Mich.

RISING, WILLARD BRADLEY, chemist, educator, was born Sept. 26, 1839, in Mecklenburg, N. Y. For several years he was consulting analyst to the state viticultural commission, and was entrusted with important studies connected with the chemistry of wine. In 1885 he was appointed state analyst of California, with charge of the examination of various food-products.

RISLEY, ELIJAH, congressman, was born in 1780 in Connecticut. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1849 to 1851. He died Jan. 9, 1870, in Fredonia, Conn.

RISLEY, SAMUEL DOTY, soldier, surgeon, author, was born Jan. 16, 1845, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has invented an optometer with perimeter attachment for measuring errors of refraction in the human eye and mapping the field of vision, and an ophthalmoscope with cylindrical lenses, securing a wide range of spherico-cylindrical lenses. He has published numerous papers on his specialty, which include The More Frequently Occurring Forms of Conjunctival Disease; and the Mydriatics Compared.

RISTY, AUSTIN G., educator, legislator, was born April 8, 1855, in Norway. In 1867 he emigrated to the United States, and for seventeen years taught school. He is an ardent advocate of temperance; has filled numerous municipal offices, and served as a member of the South Dakota state legislature.

RISUM, OTTO A., soldier, merchant, legislator, was born Feb. 23, 1835, in Norway. He is a successful merchant of Pulcifer, Wis., and for sixteen years its postmaster. He has served as a member of the Wisconsin state assembly, and has always taken a prominent part in politics.

RITAN, OLE A., lumberman, merchant, was born Feb. 16, 1849, in Norway. In 1867 he emigrated to the United States, and in 1874 located in Wisconsin. Four years later he established a general store in Cumberland, Wis., the first one built on the island. He has attained success in business, and has taken an active part in the public affairs of his city and county. He was one of the first board of aldermen when the city was organized, and was previously president of the village council.

RITCH, JOHN WARREN, architect, was born June 22, 1822, in Putnam, N. Y. Among his important works in New York city are the Bank of Commerce, the Union Dime Savings bank, the buildings of the American Express company and the Merchants' Despatch company, St. Luke's hospital, the State Emigrant hospital, the Nursery and Child's hospital, and the artificial islands and Quarantine hospital in the lower bay. During 1847-48 he edited the American Architect.

RITCH, WILLIAM GILLET, legislator, governor, was born May 4, 1830, in Wawarsing, N. Y. He was elected to the state senate of the Wisconsin legislature, and was chosen a member of the electoral college. In 1869 he established the Winnebago County Press at Neenah. In 1873 President Grant appointed him secretary of the territory of New Mexico, which he filled for twelve years, three years of which he served as governor. He is the author of two volumes of Spanish-American history, entitled The Blue Book of New Mexico Aztlan.

RITCHEY, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He settled in Ohio, and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1849, and again from 1853 to 1855.

RITCHEY, MRS. ANNA CORA (OGDEN) (MOWATT), actress, author, was born in 1822 in France. She was a once popular actress who retired from the stage in 1854, and for the last ten years of her life lived in Florence and London. Her writings include several novels: The Fortune Hunter; The Mute Singer; Fairy Fingers; Evelyn; The Twin Roses; The Clergyman's Wife; two successful plays, Fashion and Armand; Mimic Life, or Before and Behind the Curtain; and Autobiography of an Actress, the last named an exceedingly popular book. She died in 1870.

RITCHIE, BYRON F., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1853, in Grafton, Ohio. He was admitted to the bar in 1874; and has since practiced his chosen profession in Toledo, Ohio. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

RITCHIE, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 19, 1812, in Canansburg, Pa. He was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses. After leaving congress he held the office of judge for about one year. He died Jan. 24, 1867, in Pittsburg, Pa.

RITCHIE, HENRY J., railroad president, was born Feb. 11, 1865, in Canada. Since 1895 he has been president of the St. Augustine and South Beach railway.

RITCHIE, JAMES MONROE, lawyer, congressman, was born July 28, 1829, in Scotland. He adopted the profession of the law. He was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1880 from Ohio, and elected to the forty-seventh congress.

RITCHIE, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1831, in Frederick City, Md. In 1860 he was elected a presidential elector; in 1867 was elected attorney for Frederick county to serve for four years; and was elected a representative from Maryland to the forty-second congress.

RITCHIE, THOMAS, journalist, was born Nov. 5, 1778, in Essex county, Va. He became editor of the Richmond Examiner in 1804, whose name he changed to the Enquirer, and he continued to edit and publish it for forty years. At the request of President Polk he resigned the Enquirer to his two sons in 1845, and, removing to Washington, assumed the editorial control of the Union, the organ of the administration, but retired in 1849. He died Jan. 12, 1854, in Richmond, Va.

RITESMAN, JOHN SMART, farmer, public official, was born Jan. 1, 1830, in Morgan county, Ind. In 1876 he moved to Kansas, and has been successful in farming, and has a fine farm at Bennington. He has been justice of the peace for a number of years, and held various other public offices of trust in his county.

RITNER, JOSEPH, state legislator, governor, was born March 25, 1780, in Berks county, Pa. He was frequently a member of the legislature of Pennsylvania from 1820 to 1827; and was the candidate of the anti-Masons for governor in 1829, but was defeated. He was afterwards governor from 1835 to 1839. He died Oct. 16, 1869, in Carlisle, Pa.

RITTENHOUSE, DAVID, scientist, was born April 8, 1732, in Roxborough, Pa. In 1763 he was employed to determine Mason and Dixon's Line, which he did with instruments of his own construction, and afterwards fixed the boundaries of several other states. He was appointed by the American Philosophical society to observe the transit of Venus in 1769. From 1777 to 1789 he was treasurer of Pennsylvania. He was a director of the United States mint from 1792 to 1795. He died June 26, 1796, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RITTENHOUSE, LAURA J., author, poet, was born in 1841 in Grand Chain, Ill. She is the author of two books: Out of the Depths, a poem; and a book of temperance stories for young children.

RITTER, ABRAHAM, merchant, author, was born in September, 1792, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a merchant of Philadelphia, and the author of History of the Moravian Church in Philadelphia; and Philadelphia and Her Merchants. He died Oct. 8, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RITTER, BURWELL C., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 6, 1810, in Barren county, Ky. He was a member of the legislature of Kentucky in 1843 and 1850, and in 1864 was a presidential elector. In 1865 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-ninth congress.

RITTER, CARLTON M., educator, college president, was born Sept. 1, 1850, in East Varick, N. Y. After receiving the rudiments of his education, he attended the State Normal college of Albany, N. Y.; and has since attained prominence as one of the foremost educators of California. He has been principal of the Grammar school, and vice-principal of the High school of Stockton, and professor of mathematics in the State Normal school of Chico, of which institution he is now president.

RITTER, MRS. FANNY RAYMOND, author, poet, was born in 18—, in East Varick, N. Y. She is the author of Woman as a Musician; Some Famous Songs, an Art Historical Sketch; and Songs and Ballads.

RITTER, FREDERICK LOUIS, musician, composer, author, was born in 1834 in France. He was a musician of Alsace who came to the United States in 1856, and becoming professor of music at Vassar college in 1867, retained that position until his death. He was the author of Music in England; Music in America; History of Music in the Form of Lectures; and Manual of Musical History. He died in 1891.

RITTER, GEORGE ALEXANDER, lawyer, writer, was born Feb. 2, 1854, in Edwardsville, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Nauvoo, Ill.; attended Baylee's Commercial college of Keokuk, Iowa; the Christian Brothers academy; and the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo. He was admitted to the bar in 1870 in St. Louis, Mo., and for many years practiced law with success in Nauvoo, Ill. He was offered many public positions of trust, but always declined; and his name was several times mentioned in connection with the governorship of Illinois by the public press and the young democracy. He is the author of a work entitled The Lawyer and the Law as a Profession; has made numerous contributions to legal science, and his essay entitled Legal Reform was brought to the attention of the Illinois State Bar association. He has always written on and espoused the cause of a uniform system or code of pleading, as against the old common law form of pleading. He has advocated numerous reforms through the press, and has made some valuable contributions to mental science. He is an honorary member of various societies; advocated the building of the Nauvoo High school; and was instrumental in other improvements in his city, county and state. On account of his wife's health he moved to Denver, Col., in 1897, where he is now engaged in the law and collections.

RITZER, JOHN, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 6, 1779, in Exeter Township, Pa. The election to the convention to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania in 1836, and elections to seats in the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth congresses, from Pennsylvania, came to him as spontaneous declarations of popular confidence and respect. He died Nov. 24, 1851, in Reading, Pa.

RITZEMA, JOHANNES, clergyman, author, was born in 1710 in Holland. He was senior minister of the reformed Dutch church of New York city, held pastoral relations there from 1744 till 1784, and frequently preached at Harlem, Phillipsburg, Fordham, and Cortlandt. He was one of the original trustees of Columbia college. He died in 1795 in Kinderhook, N. Y.

RIVERS, RICHARD HENDERSON, clergyman, educator, author, was born Sept. 11, 1814, in Montgomery county, Tenn. He was a methodist clergyman and educator of Alabama, and for many years pastor in Louisville in 1883-87. He was the author of Mental Philosophy; Moral Philosophy; Our Young People; Life of Robert Paine; and Arrows from Two Quivers. He died in 1894.

RIVERS, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress from 1855 to 1857.

RIVERS, WILLIAM JAMES, educator, college president, author, was born July 18, 1822, in Charleston, S. C. He graduated from the South Carolina college of Columbia in 1841. For seventeen years he was professor of Greek literature in the State college of South Carolina; and for fourteen years was president of a college in Maryland. He is the author of The Early History of South Carolina; Topics in the History of South Carolina; a volume of College Addresses and Other Occasional Pieces; The Poems of Eldred; and numerous poems.

RIVES, ALFRED LANDON, civil engineer, was born March 25, 1830, in France. He was an assistant engineer in completing the United States capitol building, Washington, D. C., and in building the aqueduct there, in charge of the United States survey in improving the Potomac river; and designed and constructed the Cabin John bridge, near Washington, which at the time of its completion was the largest single-arch stone bridge in the world.

RIVES, AMELIE, author, was born Aug. 23, 1863, in Richmond, Va. Her first work was a story in the Atlantic Monthly, which has since appeared with others in book-form under the title of A Brother to Dragons, and Other Old-Time Tales. Her subsequent work includes stories and poems, and a novel entitled The Quick or the Dead?

RIVES, FRANCIS E., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1841. He died Nov. 30, 1861.

RIVES, MRS. JUDITH PAGE (WALKER), author, was born March 24, 1802, in Castle Hill, Va. She was the author of Souvenirs of a Residence in Europe; Home and the World; The Canary Bird; and Epitome of the Bible. She died Jan. 23, 1882, in Castle Hill, Va.

RIVES, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born June 17, 1806, in Nelson county, Va. He settled in Albemarle county, Va., from which he was elected to the state legislature at intervals from 1835 to 1861, the latest years in the senate. In 1866 he was appointed to the supreme court of appeals of Virginia, and his opinions were published in several volumes. He gave up his seat on the bench in 1869; and in 1871 was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Virginia.

RIVES, WILLIAM CABELL, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, author, was born May 4, 1793, in Nelson county, Va. He was elected to the legislature of Virginia in 1817-19, from Nelson county, and in 1822 was elected to the same position from Albemarle county. In 1823 he was elected a representative in congress, and served for three successive terms. In 1829 he was appointed minister to France. In 1832 was elected a senator in congress. He was re-elected in 1835, and served until 1839. In 1840 he was elected to the senate, for a third term, where he remained until 1845. In 1849 he was a second time appointed minister to France; and returned to the United States in 1853. He published a history of the Life and Times of James Madison. He took part in the rebellion of 1861 as a member of the so-called confederate congress. He died April 25, 1868, in Castle Hill, Va.

RIXEY, JOHN FRANKLIN, agriculturist, lawyer, congressman. He was educated in the common schools, at Bethel academy, and at the university of Virginia. He attained success as a farmer; and is one of the foremost lawyers of Virginia. For twelve years he was commonwealth attorney for Culpeper county; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat. He has served on several important committees, and always takes an active part in debates.

ROACH, JOHN, shipbuilder, was born Dec. 25, 1813, in Ireland. In 1840 he went to Illinois to buy land, but he returned to New York, and worked as a machinist for several years, and then established a foundry with three fellow-workmen. The explosion of a boiler nearly ruined him financially, but he rebuilt his works, which were known as the Ætna Iron works. Here he constructed the largest engines that had been built in the United States at that time, and also the first compound engines. In 1868 he bought the Morgan Iron works in New York city, and also the Neptune, Franklin Forge, and Allaire works, and in 1871 the ship yards in Chester, Pa., that were owned by Rainer and Sons. He died Jan. 10, 1887, in New York city.

ROACH, JOHN DANIEL, soldier, lawyer, was born May 1, 1842, in Monroe county, Ala. He graduated from the university of Virginia, at Charlottesville.

During the war he served under Gen. R. E. Lee from April, 1861, to February, 1865; and subsequently taught school in Alabama. He takes an active interest in the political affairs of Louisiana at Mansfield, where he has a lucrative practice, and has been successfully engaged in law for over a quarter of a century.

ROACH, WILLIAM NATHANIEL, agriculturist, state legislator, United States senator, was born Sept. 25, 1840, in Washington, D. C. He was mayor of Larimore, S. D., from 1883 to 1887; was a member of the territorial legislature of the session of 1885, and was twice democratic candidate for governor of his state. He was elected United States senator in 1893.

ROANE, ARCHIBALD, governor. He was governor of Tennessee from 1801 to 1803.

ROANE, JOHN, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a presidential elector in 1809; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1815 to 1817; from 1827 to 1831, and for a third term from 1835 to 1837. He died Dec. 18, 1869, in Washington, D. C.

ROANE, JOHN J., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia, his native state, from 1831 to 1833.

ROANE, JOHN SELDEN, soldier, governor, was born Jan. 8, 1817, in Wilson county, Tenn. He was governor of Arkansas from 1848 to 1852; and was a brigadier-general in the confederate army. He died April 7, 1867, in Pine Bluff, Ark.

ROANE, JOHN T., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1809 to 1815.

ROANE, SPENCER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born April 4, 1762, in Essex, Va. He was successively a member of the assembly, council and senate. In 1789 he was appointed a judge of the general court; and in 1794 a judge of the court of errors.

ROANE, WILLIAM HARRISON, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1788 in Virginia. He was twice elected a member of the executive council of Virginia; and was once a delegate to the general assembly. He was a representative in congress from 1815 to 1817; and was a senator of the United States from 1837 to 1841. He died May 11, 1845, in Tree Hill, Va.

ROBB, EDWARD, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born March 19, 1857, in Brazeau, Mo. He was educated in the common schools, Brazeau academy, Fruitland Normal institute, and the Missouri state university; graduated from the law department of the Missouri State university in March, 1879, and the May following located in Perryville, where he has since been engaged in the practice of his profession. He was elected prosecuting attorney of Perry county in 1880; and re-elected in 1882. He was elected a member of the legislature in 1884, and re-elected in 1886. He was appointed assistant attorney-general of the state in 1889, which position he held for the term of four years. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

ROBB, JAMES BURCH, lawyer, author, was born April 14, 1817, in Baltimore, Md. He prepared and published a valuable compilation of Patent Cases in Supreme and County Courts of the United States to 1850, in two volumes. He died Nov. 3, 1876, in Boston, Mass.

ROBB, JAMES HAMPDEN, banker, state senator, was born Oct. 27, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the legislature of New York in 1882; and state senator in 1884-85.

ROBB, W. H., journalist, state legislator, was born in 1856, in Williamsport, Pa. For over a quarter of a century he has been the editor and owner of the Independent American of Creston, Iowa, a daily and weekly newspaper, and one of the ablest reform journals in the United States. He has served two terms as a member of the Iowa state legislature.

ROBBIE, REUBEN, congressman, was born in Vermont. He settled in New York, and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

ROBBIN, STEPHEN HERBERT, clergyman, was born Oct. 4, 1858, in Canada. He received the rudiments of his education in the Ontario public schools, and graduated from the St. Lawrence university of Canton, N. Y. He is now one of the foremost clergymen of New England; has filled pastorates in Genoa and Victor, N. Y.; Bay City, Mich.; and Boston, Mass. He has been president of the Social union; is a member of the Boston Art club; chairman of the creed revision committee in Chicago in 1897; and a prominent Mason and a member of various societies.

ROBBINS, ASHER, lawyer, state senator, was born Oct. 26, 1757, in Wethersfield, Conn. He was United States district attorney in 1812. He was a leading senator in congress from Rhode Island from 1825 to 1839; and was a member of the Rhode Island legislature for many years. He died Feb. 25, 1845, in Newport, R. I.

ROBBINS, CHANDLER, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 24, 1738, in Branford, Conn. He published A Reply to John Cotton's Essays on Baptism; An Address at Plymouth to the Inhabitants assembled to celebrate the victories of the French Republic over their Invaders; An Anniversary Sermon on the Landing at Plymouth; and other discourses. He died June 30, 1799, in Plymouth, Mass.

ROBBINS, CHANDLER, was born Feb. 14, 1810, in Lynn, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman of Boston, pastor of the Second church in 1833-74; and the author of Liturgy for the Use of a Christian Church; History of the Second or Old North Church; Memoir of Benjamin Curtis; and Portrait of a Christian Drawn from Life. He died Sept. 11, 1882, in Weston, Mass.

ROBBINS, EDWARD EVERETT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 27, 1860, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He was admitted to the Westmoreland, Pa., bar in 1884, and at once engaged in the practice of law; and was nominated for district attorney in 1886. He was elected in 1888 to the state senate, and served in that body till 1892. He is major and quartermaster of the second brigade, state militia; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ROBBINS, ELIZA, educator, author, was born in 1786 in Massachusetts. She was an educator in Boston for many years; and the author of Elements of Mythology; Grecian History; and Tales from American History. She died in 1853.

ROBBINS, FRANCIS LE BARON, clergyman, was born May 2, 1830, in Camillus, N. Y. He took up the work of founding a church in Kensington, the center of the manufacturing district of Philadelphia. In this he succeeded, and in 1886 the Beacon Presbyterian church was dedicated.

ROBBINS, GASTON A., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 26, 1859, in Alabama. He entered the university of North Carolina in 1877, and graduated in 1879, studied law with Dick and Dillard, at Greensboro, N. C. He was admitted to practice law in the supreme court of North Carolina in 1880. Returning then to Selma, Ala., he employed himself in the practice of the law; and was presidential elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket in 1884. He was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat. His father, a noted lawyer, was killed in the confederate service in 1864.

ROBBINS, GEORGE R., physician, congressman, was born Sept. 24, 1812, in Alentown, N. J. He was elected from New Jersey to the house of representatives of the thirty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-fifth congress.

ROBBINS, HENRY ALFRED, physician, author, was born Feb. 9, 1833, in St. Louis, Mo. He is a prominent physician of Washington City; and is the author of Non-Venereal Syphilis; Organic Syphilis; and Under the Red Flag of the Commune.

ROBBINS, HORACE WOLCOTT, artist, was born Oct. 21, 1842, in Mobile, Ala. Many of his works are pictures of mountain and lake scenery, in the delineation of which he has, perhaps, been most successful. His oil-paintings include Blue Hills of Jamaica; Passing Shower, Jamaica; Roadside Elms; Harbor Islands, Lake George; Lake Katahdin, Maine; Early Autumn, Adirondacks; Sunset on the Tunxis; Darkening in the Evening Glory; and The Lane.

ROBBINS, JANE BODWELL BARNETT, educator, pioneer, was born Feb. 24, 1815, in Methuen, Mass. She was a pioneer in Wisconsin in 1855, in Minnesota in 1856, and in Washington territory in 1858. She was an active teacher, pioneer, Sunday-school and Woman's Christian Temperance union worker, and a missionary and suffrage patron. She voted in the years 1881-87 in Washington territory; and there died on Nov. 19, 1894, at Cheney.

ROBBINS, JOHN, manufacturer, congressman, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He was for several years engaged in the iron and steel business. He was elected to congress in 1848, 1850 and 1852; subsequently held a number of local positions; and in 1874 was elected to the forty-fourth congress as a democrat.

ROBBINS, JOSEPH, patriot, revolutionary soldier, was born Feb. 22, 1729, in Acton, Mass. He commanded a company of yeomanry in the first fight with the British at the old North Bridge at Concord, April 19, 1775, in response to the call of Paul Revere. On patriot's day, 1895, the citizens of Acton, Concord and Lexington set up a large memorial stone on the place where once stood the home of Capt. Joseph Robbins. He died March 31, 1800.

ROBBINS, MRS. MARY CAROLINE [PIKE], author, was born in 1842, in Maine. She is a writer for the magazines on art, landscape gardening, and kindred topics; and is the author of The Rescue of An Oil Place.

ROBBINS, RENSSELAER DAVID CHANCEFORD, linguist, educator, author, was born Dec. 23, 1811, in Wardsborough, Vt. He contributed to the Bibliotheca Sacra, translated Egypt and the Books of Moses from the German of E. W. Hengstenberg; and Xenophon's Memorabilia of Socrates, with notes, and edited the third and fourth editions of Prof. Moses Stuart's Commentaries on the Epistles to the Romans, Hebrews and Ecclesiastes. He died Nov. 3, 1882, in Newton Highlands, Mass.

ROBBINS, ROYAL, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 21, 1788, in Wethersfield, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman, pastor at Kensington, Conn., in 1816-61; and the author of Outlines of Ancient History; and The World Displayed. He died March 26, 1861, in Berlin, Conn.

ROBBINS, WILLIAM M., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1829 in Randolph county, N. C. He was elected to the senate of North Carolina in 1868, and re-elected in 1870. He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat.

ROBERDEAU, DANIEL, congressman, was born in 1727 in the West Indies. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress from 1777 to 1779; and was a signer of the articles of confederation. He died Jan. 5, 1795, in Winchester, Va.

ROBERTS, ADA PALMER, author, poet, was born Feb. 14, 1852, in North East, N. Y. Prior to her marriage in 1878 she taught music. She is the author of a number of popular stories; and her poems have appeared in several standard works.

ROBERTS, MRS. ANNA SMITH [RICKEY], poet, was born Dec. 23, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was a poet who published Forest Flowers of the West. She died Aug. 10, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROBERTS, ANTHONY E., merchant, congressman, was born in October, 1803, in Chester county, Pa. In 1839 he was elected sheriff of Lancaster county, and held the office till 1842; and in 1849 was appointed marshal of the eastern district of Pennsylvania. He was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-fifth congress.

ROBERTS, BENJAMIN STONE, soldier, was born in 1811 in Manchester, Vt. In 1835 he graduated from West Point; and practiced law in Iowa in 1843-46. He then re-entered the army; served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of major general. After two years as professor of tactics at Yale college, he retired from active service in 1870; and then undertook the manufacture and sale of a rifle of his own invention. He died Jan. 29, 1875, in Washington, D. C.

ROBERTS, BENJAMIN TITUS, clergyman, author, was born in 1823 in New York. He was a free methodist clergyman of North Chili, N. Y., founder of Chesbrough academy there in 1865, and president of that institution in 1869-93. He was the author of Fishers of Men; Why Another Sect; First Lessons on Money; and Ordaining Women. He died in 1893.

ROBERTS, CHARLES B., lawyer, legislator, jurist, congressman, was born April 19, 1842, in Uniontown, Md. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and graduated at Calvert college of New Windsor, Md. During 1874-78 he was a member of congress from the second Maryland congressional district. For four years he was attorney general of Maryland; afterward became associate judge of the court of appeals of Maryland; and subsequently chief judge of the fifth judicial circuit of Maryland.

ROBERTS, CHARLES GEORGE DOUGLAS, littérateur, author, poet, was born in 1860 in New Brunswick. He is a popular Canadian poet and writer, formerly a professor of literature in King's college, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and in recent years a resident of New York city. His work in verse includes, Orion, and Other Poems; in Divers Tones; The Book of the Native. His prose comprises, Earth's Enigmas, a collection of short stories; The Forge in the Forest, an Acadian Romance; A History of Canada; Around the Camp Fire; Canadian Guide Book; Reube Dare's Shad Boat; Raid from Beausejour, and How the Carter Boys Lifted the Mortgage.

ROBERTS, ELLIS H., journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1827, in Utica, N. Y. He was a member of the legislature of the state of New York in 1867. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses. He was the author of Government Revenue; and New York, the Planting and Growth of the Empire State.

ROBERTS, ELWOOD, educator, journalist, author, poet, was born Jan. 22, 1846, in Wilmington, Del. He received a liberal education; and for fourteen years taught in the public and private schools of Pennsylvania. Since 1882 he has been engaged in editorial work on the Norristown Herald, one of the foremost daily and weekly newspapers of the east. He is one of the founders of the Montgomery County Historical society, and is its librarian. He is the author of a series of papers on Valley Forge Camp-Ground, now being published in book form; a volume of poems entitled Lyrics of Quakerism; and he is greatly interested in genealogical research.

ROBERTS, GEORGE BROOKE, railroad president, was born Jan. 15, 1833, in Montgomery county, Pa. Since 1880 he has been president of the Pennsylvania railroad; and is also president of numerous other railroad corporations.

ROBERTS, GEORGE LITCH, lawyer, was born Dec. 30, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He is one of the foremost patent lawyers in the United States.

ROBERTS, HOWARD, sculptor, was born April 9, 1843, in Philadelphia. He opened a studio in Philadelphia, and produced there his first work of note, the statuette Hester and Pearl, from Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter. Among his other works are Hypatia; Lucille, a bust; Lot's Wife, a statuette; and numerous ideal and portrait busts. His statue of Robert Fulton is in the capitol at Washington.

ROBERTS, ISAAC PHILIPS, professor of agriculture, was born July 24, 1833, in East Varick, N. Y. He is professor of agriculture in and director of the College of Agriculture and experimental station of the Cornell university. He is also on the editorial staff of the Country Gentleman.

ROBERTS, JAMES ARTHUR, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born March 8, 1847, in Waterboro, Maine. In 1870 he graduated from Bowdoin college. At the age of seventeen he joined the seventh Maine battery, and took part in the final engagements of the civil war. After leaving college he taught school in Portland, Maine; and in 1875 was admitted to the bar at Buffalo, N. Y. During 1879-80 he was a member of the New York state assembly. He was appointed a member of the park commission; and has been vice-president, director, attorney, or secretary of a score of institutions in one state of New York. In 1893 he was elected state comptroller for the state of New York.

ROBERTS, JAMES BOOTH, actor, author, was born Sept. 27, 1818, in New Castle, Del. In 1851 he went to England and played at Drury Lane theater, London, in the characters of Sir Giles Overreach, King Lear, and Richard III. He wrote a version of Goethe's Faust which he produced in Philadelphia, playing Mephistopheles.

ROBERTS, JOB, agriculturist, jurist, author, was born March 23, 1757, near Gwynedd, Pa. He was among the first to introduce and breed merino sheep in Pennsylvania, and promoted the manufacture of silk. He published The Pennsylvania Farmer, being a Selection from the Most Approved Treatises in Husbandry. He died Aug. 20, 1851, near Gwynedd, Pa.

ROBERTS, JOHN BINGHAM, author, was born in 1852 in Pennsylvania. He is a Philadelphia physician; and the author of Paracentesis of the Pericardium; and Compendium of Anatomy.

ROBERTS, JOHN FRANCIS, legislator, was born May 10, 1856, in Phelps county, Mo. In 1893 he served as a member of the Arkansas state legislature. He was twice president of the county Farmer's Alliance, and has been a delegate to the state alliance of Little Rock, Ark.

ROBERTS, JONATHAN, state senator, congressman, United States senator, was born Aug. 16, 1771, in Upper Merion, Pa. He was elected to both branches of the Pennsylvania legislature; was a representative in congress from 1811 to 1814. From 1814 to 1821 he was a senator of the United States. In 1841 he was appointed collector of the port of Philadelphia. He died July 21, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROBERTS, JOSEPH, soldier, educator, author, was born Dec. 30, 1814, in Middletown, Del. He was promoted colonel in the fourth artillery in 1877; and was placed on the retired list. He is the author of a Hand-Book of Artillery (New York, 1860).

ROBERTS, JOSEPH JENKINS, president of Liberia, was born March 15, 1809, in Norfolk, Va. When the colony of Liberia was founded by the American Colonization society he was first lieutenant-governor and then governor of the colony, and, upon the formation of the republic in 1848, he was elected its first president, serving four years. He died Feb. 24, 1876, in Liberia.

ROBERTS, ORAN MILO, soldier, lawyer, jurist, agriculturist, educator, governor, was born July 9, 1815, in Laurens district, S. C. In 1841 he moved to Texas, and settled at St. Augustine in the practice of his profession; and in 1844 was appointed district attorney, holding the office until the annexation of Texas to the United States. In 1846 he was appointed judge of the fifth judicial district of Texas; and in 1857 was elected an associate justice of the supreme court of Texas. In 1862 he resigned and entered the confederate army as colonel of the eleventh Texas infantry. He was elected a United States senator, but was not admitted to his seat. From 1868 to 1870 he was professor of law and agriculture in the institute at Gilmer, Texas. In 1871 he was appointed chief justice of the state; and was elected to that position in 1876. In 1878 he was elected governor of Texas; and was re-elected in 1880. In 1883 he became professor of law in the university of Texas. He was the author of Governor Robinson's Texas.

ROBERTS, ROBERT ELLIS, merchant, author, was born June 3, 1809, in Utica, N. Y. He was a prominent merchant and citizen of Detroit; and the author of Sketches of Detroit; and The City of the Straits. He died Feb. 18, 1881, in Detroit, Mich.

ROBERTS, ROBERT RICHFORD, missionary, was born Aug. 2, 1778, in Frederick county, Md. He was called by the Indians the grandfather of all the missionaries. His history is identified with the early methodist church. He died March 26, 1843, in Lawrence county, Ind.

ROBERTS, ROBERT W., congressman, was born in Delaware. He settled in Mississippi; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1847.

ROBERTS, SARAH, author, was born July 26, 1812, in Portsmouth. She was the author of My Childhood; My Step-Mother; and Voice of the Grass. She died March 16, 1869, in New York city.

ROBERTS, SOLOMON WHITE, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 3, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a distinguished civil engineer of Pennsylvania; and the author of The Destiny of Pittsburgh. He died March 20, 1882, in Atlantic City, N. J.

ROBERTS, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 25, 1809, in Wales. He was a Welsh presbyterian clergyman of Utica from 1875. He published, in Welsh, The Abrahamic Covenant; and The Election of Grace. He died in 1887.

ROBERTS, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1844, in Wales. He is a presbyterian clergyman, professor of theology in Lane seminary, in 1886-93, and stated clerk of the general assembly from 1884. He is the author of History of the Presbyterian Church in the United States; Ecclesiastical Status of Theological Seminaries; and The Presbyterian System.

ROBERTS, WILLIAM RANDALL, merchant, congressman, was born Feb. 6, 1830, in Ireland. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a democrat, and in 1885 was appointed United States minister to Chili.

ROBERTSON, ALEXANDER, artist, was born in 1768 in Scotland. He painted landscapes in water-color, and, like his brother, was well known as a teacher. He died May 27, 1841, in New York city.

ROBERTSON, ANTHONY LISPENDARD, lawyer, jurist, was born June 8, 1808, in New York city. He was assistant vice-chancellor in 1846-48, surrogate of New York city in 1848, and in 1859 was elected a judge of the superior court. In 1864 he was elected for a second term, and in 1866 was chosen chief justice by his associates. He died Dec. 18, 1868, in New York city.

ROBERTSON, ARCHIBALD, artist, was born May 8, 1763, in Scotland. From 1792 till 1821 Robertson followed his profession as a painter and instructor in New York, working mostly in water-colors and crayons. In 1802 he assisted in the project of forming an art academy, and in 1816, on the founding of the American academy, he was elected a director. He died Dec. 6, 1835, in New York city.

ROBERTSON, EDWARD WHITE, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 13, 1823, near Nashville, Tenn. He was a representative in the Louisiana state legislature from 1847 to 1849; and again in the legislature in 1853. He was state auditor from 1857 to 1862. He entered the confederate army in the latter year as captain, and served throughout the war. He was elected a representative from Louisiana to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses. He died August, 1887, in Washington, D. C.

ROBERTSON, FELIX, physician, was born Jan. 17, 1780, in Nashville, Tenn. He was thoroughly identified with the city of Nashville, being the first male child born in the city, practiced medicine there forty years, was twice mayor, also long a president of the Bank of Tennessee, and a presiding officer of the university of Nashville. He died Sept. 10, 1865, in Nashville, Tenn.

ROBERTSON, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, educator, state legislator, was born Nov. 18, 1790, in Mercer county, Ky. In 1816 he was elected a representative in congress, and served from 1817 to 1821. He was a member of the legislature, and speaker of the house during four sessions, ending in 1827. In 1828 he was secretary of state, and the same year was chosen judge of the court of appeals. In 1829 he was commissioned chief justice of Kentucky. He was professor of law in Transylvania university for twenty-three years. He died May 17, 1874, in Lexington.

ROBERTSON, JOHN, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1834 to 1839.

ROBERTSON, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, author, poet, was born in 1787 near Petersburg, Va. He was a Virginia jurist; and the author of Riego, or the Spanish Martyr, a tragedy; and Opuscula, a book of verse. He died July 5, 1873, in Mount Athos, Va.

ROBERTSON, JOHN HENRY, journalist, reformer, was born July 30, 1866, near Pine Bluff, Ark. He is a prominent member of the Knights of Labor; has been its district secretary, state statistician, state secretary-treasurer; general worthy inspector; secretary of the general co-operative board; general organizer; and during 1892-97 was a representative to the general assembly of the order of the Knights of Labor. In 1894 he was Arkansas state secretary of the Farmer's Alliance; and in 1894-95 was assistant secretary of the State Horticultural society. He is a successful journalist of Little Rock, Ark., and takes an active part in reform work.

ROBERTSON, MERCER L., lawyer, was born April 22, 1859, in Alexandria, Va. In 1881 he graduated at the Law university of Virginia; and in 1882 received the degree of B. L. from Yale college. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Texas at Dallas; has been alderman of his city, and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

ROBERTSON, ROBERT HENDERSON, architect, was born April 29, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. Among many buildings of his design are the Madison Avenue Methodist church, St. James's Episcopal church, the Young Women's Christian association building, the Church of the Holy Spirit, Phillips Presbyterian church, the New York club building, the Railroad Men's building, St. Augustine chapel, Grace chapel, and the Mott Haven railroad station, all in New York city.

ROBERTSON, ROBERT STODDART, soldier, lawyer, statesman, was born April 16, 1839, in North Argyle, N. Y. He served as a soldier during the civil war, and was promoted to colonel of New York volunteers. During 1871-76 he was register in bankruptcy; in 1886-88 he was lieutenant-governor of Indiana; and during 1881-94 was a member of the Utah commission. He is prominently identified with the public institutions of Fort Wayne, Ind.; and has filled numerous public positions of honor in that city.

ROBERTSON, SAMUEL MATTHEWS, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, educator, was born Jan. 1, 1852, in Plaquemine, La. He was elected a member of the Louisiana state legislature from the parish of East Baton Rouge in 1879 for a term of four years. In 1880 he was elected a member of the faculty of the Louisiana State university and Agricultural and Mechanical college; and filled the chair of natural history in that institution and the position of commandant of cadets until he was elected to the fiftieth congress to fill a vacancy created by the death of his father, E. W. Robertson. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses; and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

ROBERTSON, THOMAS A., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1848, in Hodgenville, Ky. He was twice elected school commissioner of La Rue county, Ky.; and afterward was elected county attorney. In 1877 he was elected a representative in the state legislature. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

ROBERTSON, THOMAS BOLLING, a Virginian, became Louisiana's governor in 1820. In 1805 he moved from Virginia to the territory of New Orleans; and became its attorney general. In 1807 he was secretary of the territory, and for a time acted as United States district attorney. He was the first representative elected to the United States congress from Louisiana after it became a state. He resigned the governorship in 1824 to accept the United States judgeship. He died Oct. 5, 1828, in White Sulphur Springs, Va.

ROBERTSON, THOMAS JAMES, planter, state senator, was born Aug. 3, 1823, in Fairfield county, S. C. In 1868 he was elected a senator in congress from South Carolina for the term ending in 1871; and was re-elected for the term ending in 1877.

ROBERTSON, WILLIAM ADDISON ROAN, farmer, lawyer, was born July 25, 1849, in Carlinville, Ill. He attended the public schools, the university of Carlinville, the Illinois college, and the Harvard Law school. He has had a varied career; was connected with the Fargo Daily Argus for five years; has attained success as a lawyer at Carlinville, Ill.; and now resides in Florida.

ROBERTSON, WILLIAM AIRD, accountant, journalist, was born Dec. 17, 1866, in Glasgow, Scotland. He is an expert accountant of Salt Lake City, Utah; and a journalist and mining promoter of prominence. He has also attained success in the insurance business; and takes an active part in business enterprises and political affairs.

ROBERTSON, WILLIAM D., railroad president, was born Jan. 31, 1810, in South Argyle, N. Y. Since 1884 he has been president of the Greenwich and Johnsonville railway at Greenwich, N. Y.

ROBERTSON, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 10, 1823, in Bedford, N. Y. In 1848 he was elected to the New York assembly, and re-elected in 1849. In 1854 he was elected to the state senate. In 1856 he was elected for four years judge of Westchester county; and was re-elected in 1859, and also in 1863, serving eleven years in all. In 1866 he was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth congress; and in 1875 he was elected to the senate of New York.

ROBERTSON, WINDHAM, governor, was born Jan. 26, 1803, in Manchester, Va. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Virginia in 1834; and in 1836 was made acting-governor of the state, remaining in that position until 1837. He died Feb. 11, 1888, in Washington county, Va.

ROBESON, GEORGE MAXWELL, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1827 in Warren county, N. J. In 1859 he was appointed prosecuting attorney for Camden county. On the outbreak of the rebellion was appointed a brigadier-general, and took an active part in the organization of troops. In 1867 he was appointed attorney-general of New Jersey, which position he resigned to accept a seat, in 1869, in the cabinet of President Grant, as secretary of the navy. He remained in the cabinet until the advent of President Hayes in 1877; and was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

ROBIE, FREDERICK, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1822, in Gorbam, Maine. He was a representative in the Maine state legislature for seven years, serving as speaker for two sessions; and was a state senator for two terms. He served as paymaster in the union army throughout the civil war. He was a member of the executive council on the staff of the governor of Maine for four years; and was made master of the Maine State Grange of Patrons of Husbandry. In 1882 he was elected governor of Maine for the term of two years; and was re-elected in 1884.

ROBIE, THOMAS, librarian, author, was born March 20, 1689, in Boston, Mass. He was librarian of Harvard college in 1712-13, and from 1714 till 1723 was a tutor. He published a book entitled The Knowledge of Christ; and in the Transactions of the Philosophical society a paper on Alkaline Salts; and one on The Venom of the Spider. He died Aug. 28, 1729, in Boston, Mass.

ROBINS, HENRY EPHRAIM, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Sept. 27, 1827, in Hartford, Conn. In 1867 he took the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Rochester, N. Y., and he remained there until 1873, when he was called to the presidency of Colby university, Waterville, Maine. For nearly ten years he administered the affairs of this college with success. In 1882 he was elected to the chair of Christian ethics in Rochester Theological seminary.

ROBINSON, ALEXANDER KELLEY, lawyer, was born July 26, 1850, in Galatin county, Ill. He received a thorough education in the schools of Shawneetown, Ill. He then studied law; and has since attained success in that profession in California. In 1890-92 he was district attorney of Placer county, Cal.; and filled that office with distinction. He has a lucrative practice in Auburn, Cal.; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state. He is a member of various fraternal orders; and has held numerous public positions of trust.

ROBINSON, MRS. ANNIE DOUGLAS [GREEN]—Marian Douglas—author, poet, was born Jan. 12, 1842, in Plymouth, N. H. She is a writer of Bristol, N. H.; and the author of Picture Poems for Young Folks; and Peter and Polly, or Home Life in New England One Hundred Years Ago.

ROBINSON, CHARLES, physician, lawyer, governor, was born July 21, 1818, in Hardwick, Mass. His father was a farmer, a strong abolitionist, and a descendant of the John Robinson of Plymouth colony fame. He received his education at the Hadley and Amherst academies, Amherst college and the medical schools of Pittsfield, Mass., and Woodstock, Vt. For many years he practiced his profession at Belchertown and Pittsfield, and at Springfield opened a hospital. In 1849 he went to California, suffered shipwreck on his return on the coast of Mexico; and while in California served in the legislature. After his return to Massachusetts he was editor of the Fitchburg News for two years; and in 1854 became identified with the free state movement in Kansas. Doubtless his influence in laying the foundation of that state was greater than any other single individual. He was elected governor of the territory, and in 1861 was elected governor of the state under the recognized constitution; and he became popularly known as the war governor of Kansas. He was instrumental in the establishment of the first school in Lawrence; was identified with the founding of the state university, of which he was regent for many years, and at his death bequeathed $150,000 to that institution. For forty years he was identified with the best interests of the political and social affairs of the state; and the people of Kansas duly acknowledged his great and lasting service. He was the author of The Kansas Conflict. He died Aug. 17, 1894, at his home, near Lawrence, Kas.

ROBINSON, CHARLES SEYMOUR, clergyman, author, was born March 31, 1829, in Bennington, Vt. He is a presbyterian clergyman of prominence in New York city, well known as an hymnologist. Besides Laudes Domini, and other hymnals, he has published Church Work, a volume of sermons; Studies on the New Testament; Studies of Neglected Texts; The Pharaohs of the Bondage and the Exodus; Simon Peter, his Life and Work; Studies in Mark's Gospel; Simon Peter's Later Life and Labors; Sermons in Songs; and Sabbath Evening Sermons.

ROBINSON, CHRISTOPHER, lawyer, congressman, was born in Rhode Island. He was attorney general of Rhode Island; and was elected a representative from Rhode Island to the thirty-sixth congress. In 1861 he was appointed minister to Peru.

ROBINSON, CONWAY, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 15, 1805, in Richmond, Va. He devoted himself for many years to a revision of the civil and criminal code of Virginia; and he was the author of a number of valuable law works. He died Jan. 30, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROBINSON, DAVID, soldier, was born Nov. 4, 1754, in Hardwick, Mass. He served through the war of 1812, attaining for meritorious service the rank of major-general. He died Dec. 11, 1843.

ROBINSON, EDITH, author, was born in 1858 in Massachusetts. She is a Boston novelist; and the author of A Forced Acquaintance; Penhallow Tales; and A Loyal Little Maid.

ROBINSON, EDWARD, merchant, state senator, was born in 1796 in Connecticut. He served two years in the Maine senate. He was a representative in congress from Maine during the years 1838 and 1839; and in 1840 was a presidential elector. He died Feb. 20, 1857.

ROBINSON, EDWARD, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 10, 1794, in Southington, Conn. He was a distinguished congregational clergyman and biblical scholar of New York city, a professor in Union seminary in 1837-63, and the founder of the Bibliotheca Sacra. He was the author of Harmony of the Four Gospels, in Greek; Harmony of the Four Gospels, in English; Biblical Researches in Palestine; Physical Geography of the Holy Land; and A Greek and English Lexicon of the New Testament. He died Jan. 27, 1863, in New York city.

ROBINSON, EDWARD BRECK, musician, poet, was born May 29, 1821, in Dorchester, Mass. He was the first organist of the First Parish church, Portland, Maine; and was a partner in the firm of Andrews and Robinson, manufacturers of pianos and organs. He is the author of a number of poems, some of which have been set to music.

ROBINSON, EDWARD MURPHY, lawyer, legislator, was born March 11, 1872, in Stockton, Ala. He received the degree of B. A. from the university of Alabama, and the degree of LL. B. from the same institution. He studied law at the university of Virginia, and has attained success in that profession in his native state at Mobile. He has filled numerous public offices of trust, and in 1894-95 and 1896-97 served as a member of the state legislature, and was chairman of the committee on education in the house, and a member of the judiciary committee. He is also captain of the Mobile rifle company.

ROBINSON, EZEKIEL GILMAN, clergyman, college president, author, was born March 23, 1815, in Attleborough, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman and educator, president of the Brown university in 1872-89; and the author of Yale Lectures on Preaching; Principles and Practice of Morality; and Christian Evidences. He died in 1894.

ROBINSON, FANNIE, educator, poet, was born Sept. 30, 1847, in Carlindale, Pa. She attended the Albany Female college, and Rutgers Female college. For twenty years she has been engaged in educational work, and most of the time as principal and preceptress. Her poems have appeared in Harper's Monthly, Cosmopolitan, and other leading magazines.

ROBINSON, FAYETTE, author, was born in Virginia. He was the author of Mexico and her Military Chieftains; Account of the Organization of the United States Army; California and the Gold Regions; Spanish Grammar; Wizard of the Wave, a romance; and a number of translations from the French. He died in 1859.

ROBINSON, FRANK TORREY, journalist, author, was born in 1845 in Massachusetts. He is a journalist and art critic of Boston, and more recently one of the curators of the Metropolitan museum of New York city. He is the author of Quaint New England; Living New England Artists; and History of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment of Volunteer Militia.

ROBINSON, FRED ERNEST, poet, was born Feb. 22, 1865, in Cato, Wis. He is the author of a number of poems.

ROBINSON, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 1, 1835, in Hubbardston, Mass. For many years he was judge of the district court of East Hampton, Mass.

ROBINSON, GEORGE DEXTER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, governor, was born Jan. 20, 1834, in Lexington, Mass. He was a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature in 1874; and a state senator in 1876. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican. In 1883 he was elected governor of Massachusetts, and resigned his seat in congress to assume the duties of that office from January, 1884; and was re-elected in 1884 and 1885.

ROBINSON, MRS. HARRIET JANE [HANSON], suffragist, author, poet, was born Feb. 8, 1825, in Boston, Mass. She is a prominent woman suffragist of Malden, Mass. In her early life she was one of the contributors to the noted Lowell Offering; and the author of Massachusetts in the Woman Suffrage Movement; Captain Mary Miller, a drama; Early Factory Labor in New England; and The New Pandora, a drama in blank verse.

ROBINSON, HARRY PERRY, littérateur, author, was born in 1860 in East Indies. He is an English writer, resident in the United States from 1883, and now living in Chicago. He is a brother of Philip Robinson, the English writer. He is the author of Men Born Equal, a novel; and monographs on railway topics.

ROBINSON, HENRY A., statistician, political economist, was born July 25, 1840, in Bay de Verte, N. B. His parents removed to the United States when he was seven years of age, first to Maine and then to Ohio. During the civil war he served a short time in the union army. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, and practiced. He has, however, devoted his best energies to political economy and statistics, and has written extensively on these and kindred subjects. He has been labor commissioner and statistician of the labor bureau of Michigan. He has been president of the National Statistical association at Washington, D. C., and is now its first vice-president; and is a member of various other statistical bodies. He is a fluent speaker, and has done much platform talking on economical and political subjects.

ROBINSON, HENRY CORNELIUS, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 28, 1832, in Hartford, Conn. He has been mayor of his native city; a representative in the Connecticut state legislature; and a member of the state constitutional convention.

ROBINSON, HORATIO NELSON, educator, mathematician, author, was born Jan. 1, 1806, in Hartwick, N. Y. He was a mathematician and educator of Cincinnati, Ohio, after 1854 a resident of Eldridge, N. Y. He was the author of University Algebra; Mathematical Recreations; Treatise on Surveying and Navigation; Treatise on Astronomy; and Analytical Geometry and Conic Sections. He died Jan. 19, 1867, in Eldridge, N. Y.

ROBINSON, J. F., governor. He was governor of Kentucky from 1861 to 1863.

ROBINSON, JAMES C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1822 in Edgar county, Ill. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-sixth congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth congresses. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a democrat.

ROBINSON, JAMES HERVEY, state legislator, was born Jan. 31, 1802, in Morristown, N. J. He was chosen a member of the New Jersey legislature in 1840, and again in 1842, serving two terms, with credit to himself and to his constituency.

ROBINSON, JAMES M., machinist, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1861 in Allen county, Ind. At the age of fifteen he took employment in a shop at Fort Wayne as a machine hand, and from that time till the present has supported and kept house with his mother; and while working at his trade he studied law. In 1881 he entered the office of Judge Walpole G. Colerick, who was then in congress; and in 1882 was admitted to practice in the state and United States courts. In 1886 and 1888 he was unanimously nominated for prosecuting attorney and elected, filling that position for four years. He was unanimously nominated by the democrats in 1896 and elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat, representing the twelfth congressional district of Indiana.

ROBINSON, JAMES SIDNEY, soldier, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 14, 1827, near Mansfield, Ohio. In 1856 he was elected chief clerk of the Ohio house of representatives, and served two terms. He enlisted in the union army in 1861 and served throughout the war, rising to the rank of brigadier-general and brevet major-general. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

ROBINSON, JAMES W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1826, in Union county, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio legislature in 1858, 1860, and 1864; and was elected to the forty-third congress.

ROBINSON, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 8, 1768, in Cabarrus county, N. C. He was the author of a work entitled Eulogy on Washington. He died Dec. 14, 1843.

ROBINSON, JOHN BUCHANAN, naval officer, journalist, congressman, was born May 23, 1846, in Allegheny City. He is at present proprietor of the Media Ledger and is the largest stockholder in the West Chester Publishing company, West Chester, Pa. He was elected to the state legislature, lower house, 1884; re-elected in 1886; was elected to the state senate in 1889; and elected to the fifty-second congress in 1890. He was re-elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican.

ROBINSON, JOHN BUNYAN, clergyman, lecturer, author, poet, was born April 11, 1834, in Osceola, Ohio. In 1860 he graduated at the Ohio Wesleyan university. He has been principal of the Mount Washington seminary, near Cincinnati; and was successively president of Willoughby college, Fort Wayne college, New Hampshire seminary and Female college, and Jennings seminary. He has lectured extensively; and is the author of Infidelity Considered; Vinves of Eshcol; Commencements; and various other prose works; and a volume of poetical works entitled Emeline. He is represented in Poets of America and other standard works.

ROBINSON, JOHN CLEVELAND, soldier, was born April 10, 1814, ininghamton, N. Y. He was brevetted a major-general of the United States army. He participated in the Mexican war, Seminole war, Indian troubles in Texas, Mormon troubles in Utah, and served with distinction through the civil war. In 1872 he was chosen lieutenant-governor of his state.

ROBINSON, JOHN HOVEY, physician, author, was born in 1825 in Maine. He is a physician who wrote a large number of sensational romances of slight literary merit, among which are, White Rover; Nightshade; and Silver-Knife.

ROBINSON, JOHN L., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1847 to 1853. In 1857 he was appointed United States marshal for the district of Indiana. He died March 21, 1860, in Indiana.

ROBINSON, JOHN M., lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born in 1793 in Kentucky. He was one of the early settlers of Illinois, and one of the judges of the supreme court of that state. He was a senator in congress from 1830 to 1842. He died April 27, 1843, in Ottawa, Ill.

ROBINSON, JOHN STANIFORD, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 10, 1804, in Bennington, Vt. He was for many years in the state legislature; and was governor of Vermont from 1853 to 1854. He died April 24, 1860, in Cheltenham, S. C.

ROBINSON, JONATHAN, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Aug. 24, 1756, in Hardwick, Mass. He was appointed chief justice of Vermont in 1801; and in 1806 was elected a senator in congress, serving from 1807 to 1815. He died Nov. 3, 1819, in Bennington, Vt.

ROBINSON, LEORA BETTISON, educator, author, was born June 8, 1840, in Little Rock, Ark. Together with her husband she established the Holyoke academy of Louisville, Ky. She is the author of House with Spectacles; Than; Patsy; and other works.

ROBINSON, LUCIUS, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born Nov. 4, 1810, in Windham, N. Y. He was district attorney of Greene county, N. Y., from 1837 to 1840. In the latter year he moved to New York city; and in 1843 was appointed commissioner in chancery. In 1859 he was elected a representative in the New York legislature; and was re-elected in 1860. In 1861 he was elected comptroller of the state; and was re-elected in 1863. In 1871 he was a member of the state constitutional commission; in 1875 was again elected comptroller; and in 1876 was elected governor of New York.

ROBINSON, MRS. MARTHA HARRISON, author, was born in Virginia. She is a writer of Philadelphia who has published a number of translations from the French, and Helen Erskine, an original novel.

ROBINSON, MARTIN L., educator, lawyer, was born Oct. 18, 1860, in Paintsville, Ky. For fifteen years he was engaged in educational work; and is now a successful lawyer of Boons Camp, Ky., where he is prominent in public affairs.

ROBINSON, MRS. MARY DOMMET [NAUMAN], author, was born in Pennsylvania. She is a novelist of Lancaster, Pa.; and the author of Twisted Threads; Sidney Elliot; The Enchanted Princess; Clyde Wardleigh's Promise; and Eva's Adventures in Shadowland.

ROBINSON, MERRITT M., lawyer, author, was born about 1810 in Louisiana. He was the reporter of the supreme court of Louisiana from 1841 till 1847. He published a useful Digest of the Penal Laws of Louisiana, Analytically Arranged. His Reports, comprising sixteen volumes, including four that he edited, were enriched with valuable marginal notes. He died June 5, 1850, in Louisiana.

ROBINSON, MILTON S., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 20, 1832, in Versailles, Ind. He entered the army as lieutenant-colonel; and rose to the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He was a member of the state senate from 1867 to 1870; and in 1874 was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

ROBINSON, MOSES, state legislator, governor, United States senator, was born March 15, 1741, in Hardwick, Mass. He served in the legislature of Vermont; and was governor of that state from 1789 to 1790. He was a member of the senate of the United States from Vermont under the administration of President Washington from 1791 to 1796. He died May 26, 1813, in Bennington, Vt.

ROBINSON, ORRIN W., lumber merchant, state senator, was born Aug. 12, 1834, in Claremont, N. H. In 1873 he organized the Sturgeon River Lumber company of Chassell, Mich., of which he is still president. He was a member of the Michigan house of representatives in 1896; and served with distinction as a member of the state senate in 1897-98.

ROBINSON, ORVILLE, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845; and also served four years in the assembly of that state from Oswego county.

ROBINSON, ROWLAND EVANS, farmer, author, was born in 1833 in Vermont. He is a farmer of Ferrisburgh, Vt.; and the author of Danvis Folks, a novel; Vermont: a Study of Independence; Uncle Lisha's Shop; and In New England Woods and Fields.

ROBINSON, SAMUEL, soldier, was born Aug. 9, 1738, in Hardwick, Mass. He was the first justice of the peace appointed in town under the authority of Vermont in 1778, and was also during the same year one of the judges of a special court. He died May 3, 1813, in Bennington, Vt.

ROBINSON, SARA TAPPAN DOOLITTLE, author, was born July 12, 1827, in Belchertown, Mass. She is the wife of the late ex-Governor Charles Robinson, frequently called the war governor of Kansas. She received a thorough education in the classical school of her native city, now known as Salem academy. Mrs. Robinson is the author of Kansas, its Interior and Exterior Life, a book which was widely circulated and had great influence in the Kansas struggle. She is a pleasing writer, and has contributed extensively to the periodical press. She was the daughter of Myron Lawrence, a distinguished lawyer, who did his state great honor in various public capacities.

ROBINSON, SOLON, journalist, author, was born Oct. 21, 1803, near Tolland, Conn. He was a journalist of New York city long known as an agricultural writer for The Tribune, and after 1870 a resident of Jacksonville, Fla. He was the author of Hot Corn, or Life Scenes in New York, a very popular book for a short period; Facts for Farmers, which was extensively circulated; How to Live, or Domestic Economy Illustrated; and Me-wou-i-toe. He died Nov. 3, 1880, in Jacksonville, Fla.

ROBINSON, STILLMAN WILLIAMS, educator, civil engineer, author, was born March 6, 1838, in South Reading, Vt. He is a civil engineer, professor of physics at Ohio State university from 1878; and the author of Practical Treatise on the Teeth of Wheels; Railroad Economics; and Strength of Wrought-Iron Bridge Materials.

ROBINSON, STUART, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1814, in Ireland. He is a presbyterian clergyman of prominence in Louisville, and the author of Discourses of Redemption; and The Church of God. He died Oct. 5, 1881, in Louisville, Ky.

ROBINSON, MRS. THERESE ALBERTINE LOUISE [VON JAKOB]—Talvi—author, was born in 1797 in Georgia. She was an able and learned author who wrote both in English and German, using the pseudonym Talvi in the latter case. She was the author of Characteristik der Volkslieder germanischen Nationen; Die Unechtheit der Lieder Ossians; Aus der Geschichte der ersten Ansiedelungen in den Vereinigten Staaten; Die Colonisation von New England; Fifteen Years, a Picture from the Last Century; Historical View of the Language and Literature of the Slavic Nations. She also wrote a number of stories which her daughter translated from the German, including Psyche; Heloise; Life's Discipline; and The Exiles. She died in 1869.

ROBINSON, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Delaware from 1839 to 1841. He died Oct. 28, 1843, in Sussex county, Del.

ROBINSON, THOMAS, artist, was born Aug. 23, 1835, in Pictou, N. S. He has attained a national reputation throughout the United States as a noted artist. He died March 1, 1888, in Providence, R. I.

ROBINSON, TRACY, business man, author, poet, was born in New York. He was an official of the Panama railway in 1861-74, and subsequently a resident of New York city. He is the author of Song of the Palm, and Other Poems.

ROBINSON, WALTER A., educator, was born Dec. 15, 1854, in East Orrington, Maine. His work in Franklin gave him a reputation as a prominent educator in New Hampshire, and led to his being elected president of the State Teachers' association.

ROBINSON, WILLIAM ERIGENA, journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born May 6, 1814, in Ireland. He was a frequent writer for the New York Herald; and in 1844 became identified with the New York Tribune, signing his communications Richelieu. In 1848 and 1849 he became identified as editor with a weekly paper called The People. He practiced law in New York from 1853 to 1862; and in 1862 was appointed United States assessor of internal revenue for the city of Brooklyn. In 1866 he was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth congress; and was again a representative in the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 23, 1892, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROBINSON, WILLIAM STEVENS, —Warrington—journalist, author, was born Dec. 7, 1818, in Concord, Mass. He was a journalist of Boston long known as the Boston correspondent of the New York Tribune and the Springfield Republican. He was the author of The Salary Grab; Manual of Parliamentary Practice; Warrington's Pen Portraits; and Personal and Political. He died March 11, 1876, in Malden, Mass.

ROBISON, DAVID F., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857.

ROBINSON, JAMES DICKEY, surgeon, was born April 23, 1820, in Wooster, Ohio. During the Mexican war he was surgeon in the third regiment Ohio infantry; and during the civil war was commissioned surgeon in the sixteenth Ohio infantry. He performed the first amputation made during the civil war. He died May 10, 1895, in Wooster, Ohio.

ROBSON, STUART, actor, was born March 4, 1836, in Annapolis, Md. He has attained a national reputation throughout the United States as a noted actor.

ROBYN, ALFRED GEORGE, musician, composer, was born April 29, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of the operettas, Beans and Buttons; Court Martial; Soldier in Petticoats; and A Slim Legacy. Among his popular ballads are: You; Answer; Yearning; and It Was a Dream.

ROCHE, JAMES JEFFREY, journalist, author, was born in 1847 in Ireland. He is a popular Boston journalist, since 1890 the editor of The Pilot; and the author of Songs and Satires; Ballads of Blue Water; Life of John Boyle O'Reilly; The Story of the Flibusters; and His Majesty the King.

ROCHESTER, NATHANIEL, soldier, was born Feb. 21, 1752, in Westmoreland county, Va. He was a major-general during the revolution. In 1818 he purchased large tracts of land in the Genesee valley and settled in Rochester, which has been named after him. He died May 17, 1831, in Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, PAUL A., railroad manager, was born Aug. 21, 1857, in Rochester, N. Y. He received his education at the United States Military academy and at the Rochester university. He has been in railroad service since 1878; has been in the engineer's corps of several railroads; and since 1895 has been general eastern agent of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway at New York city.

ROCHESTER, THOMAS FORTESCUE, physician, author, was born Oct. 8, 1823, in Rochester, N. Y. He was a prominent physician of Buffalo; and the author of The Army Surgeon; and Medical Men and Medical Matters in 1776. He died May 24, 1887, in Buffalo, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, WILLIAM BEATTY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in Washington county, Md. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1821 to 1823. He subsequently held the office of circuit judge in New York, but resigned to compete with De Witt Clinton for the office of governor. He died June 15, 1838, at sea.

ROCHESTER, WILLIAM BEATTY, soldier, was born Feb. 15, 1826, in Angelica, N. Y. He entered the United States service as major and additional paymaster of volunteers in 1861. He was transferred to the permanent establishment as paymaster in 1867, and in February, 1882, was appointed paymaster-general of the army, with the rank of brigadier-general.

ROCKEFELLER, JOHN DAVISON, founder of the Standard Oil company, was born July 8, 1839, in Richford, N. Y. In 1870 the firm of Rockefeller, Andrews and Flagler dissolved and organized the Standard Oil company of Ohio, with John D. Rockefeller as its president and William Rockefeller as vice-president. The Standard Oil companies have been able to reduce the cost of oil to consumers, and they now own thousands of acres of oil lands, an extensive system of wells, refineries, pipe lines, oil steamships and business houses in all the principal cities of the United States and the representative cities of nearly every civilized country on the face of the globe. They control the greater part of the petroleum business of this country and export much of the oil used in other countries.

ROCKEFELLER, WILLIAM, president of the Standard Oil company, was born May 31, 1841, in Tioga county, N. Y. In 1865 he came to New York and established the firm of Rockefeller and Company to sell and handle in this market the oils of the two concerns in Cleveland. In 1867 all three firms were dissolved to be succeeded by Rockefeller, Andrews and Flagler of Cleveland and New York city, William Rockefeller taking charge of the business in New York.

ROCKEL, WILLIAM MAHLON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 18, 1855, in Clark county, Ohio. In 1887 he was admitted to the bar; and has attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of Ohio at Springfield. He is probate judge of Clark county; and is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state. He is the author of Questions From Ohio Supreme Court; Ohio Mechanic's Lien Law; and Complete Guide for Township Officials.

ROCKFORD, J. A., lawyer, was born Feb. 16, 1860, in Kankakee, Ill. He is a successful lawyer of North Yakima, Wash., and has been prosecuting attorney of his county for two terms. He is prominent in Masonry; was one of a commission of five from the grand lodge of Washington to visit the World's Masonic congress held in Chicago in 1893.

ROCKHILL, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He settled in Indiana; and was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1849.

ROCKWELL, ALPHONSO DAVID, physician, author, was born May 18, 1840, in New Canaan county, Conn. He is a physician of New York city; and the author of Relation of Electricity to Medicine and Surgery; and Medical and Surgical Uses of Electricity.

ROCKWELL, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 22, 1806, in Colebrook, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman who held pastorates in the New England and other states; and the author of Sketches of Foreign Travel and Life at Sea; and The Catskill Mountains and the Region Around. He died April 17, 1882, in Albany, N. Y.

ROCKWELL, FRANCIS W., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, governor, was born May 26, 1844, in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1873 he was appointed one of the special justices of the district court of Central Berkshire, Mass.; and held several local offices. In 1879 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; in 1881 was elected a state senator; and was re-elected in 1882. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-eighth congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican. From its incorporation in 1893 he has been president of the City Savings bank of Pittsfield, Mass.

ROCKWELL, HOSEA H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1840 in Tioga county, Pa. Since 1869 he has practiced law in Elmira, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania assembly in 1877; for several years was city attorney of Elmira; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He was the only member from his state who voted in behalf of the free coinage of silver. In 1896 he presided at the New York state democratic convention.

ROCKWELL, JOEL EDSON, clergyman, author, was born May 4, 1816, in Salisbury, Vt. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Stapleton, Staten Island; and the author of Sketches of the Presbyterian Church; The Young Christian Warned; Scenes and Impressions Abroad; My Sheet Anchor; and Seed Thoughts. He died July 29, 1882, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROCKWELL, JOHN ARNOLD, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Aug. 27, 1803, in Norwich, Conn. He was twice elected to the Connecticut state senate; and was at one time judge of the county court for New London county. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1845 to 1849. He was the author of Spanish and American Law in Relation to Mines and Titles to Real Estate. He died Feb. 10, 1861, in Washington, D. C.

ROCKWELL, JULIUS, journalist, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born April 26, 1805, in Colebrook, Conn. He was a representative in congress from 1847 to 1851; and was a United States senator during 1853-55. He died May 19, 1888, in Lenox, Mass.

ROCKWOOD, CHARLES GREENE, banker, was born July 19, 1814, in Boston, Mass. For the past forty years he has been cashier and then president of the National Newark Banking company of Newark, N. J.

ROCKWOOD, CHARLES GREENE, JR., mathematician, was born Jan. 11, 1843, in New York city. He has filled the chair of mathematics in Bowdoin college, Rutgers college, and since 1877 in the Princeton university.

ROCKWOOD, GEORGE GARDNER, journalist, photographer, author, was born April 12, 1832, in Troy, N. Y. He was managing editor of the Troy Daily Post, Troy, N. Y. He became interested in photography in 1855; was the first to make the carte de visite photograph in this country. He is the author of the scientific hoax, Brain Pictures, which appeared in a New York paper in 1887.

RODDEY, PHILIP DALE, soldier, was born in 1818 in North Carolina. He organized a company of scouts early in 1861 for the confederate service, and subsequently a brigade, and was commissioned brigadier-general in 1863.

RODENBOUGH, THEOPHILUS FRANCIS, soldier, author, was born Nov. 5, 1838, in Easton, Pa. He is a federal army officer, assistant inspector-general of New York state in 1880-83; and the author of From Everglade to Canon with the Second United States Cavalry; Afghanistan and the Anglo-Russian Dispute; and Uncle Sam's Medal of Honor.

RODES, ROBERT EMMETT, soldier, was born March 29, 1826, in Lynchburg, Va. He served in the confederate army during the civil war; attaining the rank of major-general. He died Sept. 19, 1864, in Winchester, Va.

RODGERS, CHRISTOPHER RAYMOND PERRY, naval officer, was born Nov. 14, 1819, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He served in the United States navy; and in 1874 was commissioned rear admiral. He died Jan. 8, 1892, in Washington, D. C.

RODGERS, GEORGE WASHINGTON, naval officer, was born Feb. 22, 1787, in Harford county, Md. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1804, was commissioned lieutenant in 1810. He was commissioned captain in 1825; and at his death was commodore commanding the Brazil squadron. He died May 21, 1832, in South America.

RODGERS, JOHN, naval officer, was born Aug. 8, 1812, in Harford county, Md. He served in the United States navy during the civil war, attaining the rank of rear admiral. He died May 5, 1882, in Washington, D. C.

RODGERS, ROBERT L., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 14, 1847, in Sandersville, Ga. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools; attended Washington institute in 1860; the Milledgeville academy in 1861-62; in 1863 he entered as a cadet in the Georgia Military institute; and in May, 1864, entered the confederate army and served until the close of the war.

During 1869-73 and 1892-94 he was a justice of the peace; in 1873-75 was master of Sandersville grange; and at the same time was district lecturer of the Patrons of Husbandry. In 1873-74 he was editor of The Sandersville Herald; in 1876 was county attorney; and during 1877-80 he was judge of the county court. In 1876-78 he was captain of the Washington rifles; and since 1888 has been historian of Atlanta camp Confederate Veterans. He now practices law in Atlanta, Ga.; and is known as one of the foremost lawyers of the South.

RODGERS, SAMUEL ANDREW, lawyer, jurist, was born March 5, 1830, in Knox county, Tenn. In 1878 he was elected from Loudon, Tenn., judge of the third judicial circuit court, and served for three successive terms of eight years each.

RODMAN, ISAAC PEACE, soldier, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Aug. 18, 1822, in South Kingston, R. I. He sat in both houses of the Rhode Island legislature for several terms. He was made lieutenant-colonel of the fourth Rhode Island volunteers in 1861, and soon afterward was commissioned as brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Sept. 30, 1862, in Sharpsburg, Md.

RODMAN, THOMAS JEFFERSON, soldier, inventor, author, was born July 30, 1815, in Salem, Ind. He was an army officer, brevetted brigadier-general in 1865. He invented the method of hollow casting; and was the author of Report of Experiments on Metals for Cannon and Cannon Powder. He died June 7, 1871, in Rock Island, Ill.

RODMAN, WILLIAM, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1757, in Bensalem, Pa. He was for many years in the legislature of his native state; and was a representative in congress from 1811 to 1813. He died July 27, 1824, in Bensalem, Pa.

RODNEY, CÆSAR, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Oct. 7, 1728, in Dover, Del. He was high sheriff, justice of the peace, and a judge in his native county; and in 1762 was elected to the state legislature, serving several years, and as speaker in 1769. He was a delegate to the New York congress in 1765; and was a delegate from Delaware to the continental congress from 1774 to 1778, and in 1783. He was a signer of the declaration of independence; was appointed judge of the supreme court of Delaware; also served for a time as general of militia; and was president of the state of Delaware. He died June 29, 1784, in Dover, Del.

RODNEY, CÆSAR AUGUSTUS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, United States senator, was born Jan. 4, 1772, in Dover, Del. He was a representative in congress from Delaware from 1803 to 1805. He was appointed attorney-general of the United States by President Jefferson. He was again a representative in congress from Delaware from 1819 to 1821; and was a senator of the United States from 1821 to 1823, in which year he was appointed United States minister to Buenos Ayres. He was the author of Reports on the Present State of the United Provinces of South America. He died June 10, 1824, in Buenos Ayres.

RODNEY, CALEB, governor. He was acting governor of Delaware in 1822 and 1823 to fill a vacancy.

RODNEY, DANIEL, congressman, governor, United States senator, was born in 1764 in Delaware. He was a presidential elector in 1809; and was governor of Delaware from 1814 to 1817. He was a representative in congress from the state of Delaware from 1822 to 1823; and was a senator in congress from 1826 to 1827. He died Sept. 2, 1846, in Delaware.

RODNEY, GEORGE B., congressman, was born in Delaware. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1841 to 1845; and was a delegate in 1861 to the peace congress of Washington.

RODNEY, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 4, 1744, in Sussex county, Del. He was a delegate from Delaware to the continental congress from 1781 to 1783, and from 1785 to 1787. In 1803 he was appointed United States judge for the territory of Mississippi. He died Jan. 2, 1811, in Rodney, Miss.

ROE, ALFRED SEELYE, educator, legislator, author, was born June 8, 1844, in Rose, N. Y. He served as a soldier during the civil war; and during 1892-97 was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. He is the author of several books and pamphlets on educational, military and historical subjects.

ROE, AZEL STEVENS, author, was born Aug. 16, 1798, in New York city. He was a once popular novelist who was for many years a wine merchant of New York city. He was the author of True to the Last; A Long Look Ahead; Time and Tide; To Love and To Be Loved; James Montjoy; True Love Rewarded; How Could He Help It?; Looking Around; Woman Our Angel; and The Cloud in the Heart. He died Jan. 1, 1886, in East Windsor Hill, Conn.

ROE, EDWARD PAYSON, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1838, in New Windsor, N. Y. He was a presbyterian clergyman who retired from the ministry, and, living at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, devoted himself to novel-writing. Barriers Burned Away; Opening a Chestnut Burr; A Face Illumined; His Sombre Rivals; What Can She Do?; Near to Nature's Heart; From Jest to Earnest; A Knight of the Nineteenth Century; A Day of Fate; Without a Home; A Young Girl's Wooing; An Original Belle; Driven Back to Eden; Nature's Serial Story; The Earth Trembled; Miss Lou; Taken Alive, and Other Stories. He also published two horticultural books, The Home Acre; and Success with Small Fruits. He died July 19, 1888, in Cornwall, N. Y.

ROE, EDWARD REYNOLDS, author. He is a novelist of Chicago; and the author of Brought to Bay; The Grey and the Blue; God Reigns; Lay Sermons; From the Beaten Path; and May and June.

ROE, FRANCIS A., rear-admiral, was born Oct. 4, 1823, in Elmira, N. Y. He served in the navy during the Mexican and civil wars; was commander of several United States battleships, and fought a fleet of pirate war junks in China in 1853. During his service in the United States navy he was promoted from midshipman to rear-admiral.

ROE, HARRE ALLAN, poet, was born April 8, 1860, in Havana, Cuba. In 1873 he moved to Bloomington, Ill.; thence to Franklin Grove. His poems have appeared in the Detroit Free Press and other papers, and in several standard works.

ROE, J. E., author. He is the author of Bacon's Drama of the DeFoe Period, and other works.

ROEBLING, JOHN AUGUSTUS, civil engineer, author, was born June 12, 1806, in Prussia. He was a civil engineer of note who built the suspension bridge across the Ohio between Cincinnati and Covington, and was the designer of the Brooklyn bridge; and the author of Long and Short Span Railway Bridges. He died July 22, 1869, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROEBLING, WASHINGTON AUGUSTUS, soldier, engineer, author, was born May 26, 1837, in Saxonburg, Pa. A suspension bridge was built over the Potomac at Harper's Ferry by him and many other balloon ascensions were made for reconnoitering purposes and it was during one of these that he became the first to discover General Lee's army in motion for the march into Pennsylvania. Resigning in 1865 he took almost entire charge of building the suspension bridge in Cincinnati. Then came the Brooklyn bridge project, greatest work of all, undertaken first by his father. He is the author of Military Suspension Bridges.

ROEHR, JULIUS EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1892 he was elected a state senator for four years to the Wisconsin legislature. He is a successful lawyer and jurist of Milwaukee, Wis.

ROELKER, BERNARD, lawyer, author, was born April 24, 1816, in Germany. In 1856 he removed to the city of New York, and entered the firm of Laur and Roelker. He soon established a large practice among the Germans. He published Constitutions of France; Argument in Favor of the Constitutionality of the Legal-Tender Clause in the Act of Congress, Feb. 25, 1862; and Manual for the Use of Notaries Public and Bankers. He also translated from the Swedish The Magic Goblet, a novel, and made a German adaptation of Cushing's Manual of Parliamentary Practice. He died March 5, 1888, in New York city.

ROEMER, JEAN, educator, college president, author, was born about 1815 in England. He was an educator of New York city, vice-president of the college of the city of New York from 1869; and the author of Dictionary of English-French Idioms; Polyglot Readers; Cavalry; Principles of General Grammar; Cours de lecture et de traduction; Origins of the English People and Language; and Left in the Wilderness. He died Aug. 31, 1892, in Lenox, Mass.

ROGDE, PETER JACOB, lawyer, was born Feb. 4, 1864, in Lee county, Ill. He received his education at the Northwestern university at Naperville, Ill.; the Luther college of Decorah, Iowa; and the law department of the university of Iowa. He is a prominent lawyer of Sioux Falls, S. D.; has been state's attorney of his county; and takes an active part in public affairs.

ROGE, MRS. CHARLOTTE FISKE [BATES], educator, poet, was born in 1838 in New York. She is an educator and verse-writer of Cambridge and New York city who has written Risk, and Other Poems, and edited The Cambridge Book of Poetry and other works.

ROGERS, ANDREW J., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born July 1, 1828, in Hamburg, N. J. In 1862 he was elected a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress.

ROGERS, ANNA M., educator, poet, was born in 1847 in Canada. She received her education in private seminaries, and has attained success in educational work. For many years she has taught French in the public schools of San Francisco; and is the author of a volume of poems.

ROGERS, ANTHONY A. C., merchant, congressman, was born Feb. 14, 1821, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was elected a representative from Arkansas to the forty-first congress.

ROGERS, ASA, soldier, civil engineer, legislator, politician, was born Aug. 20, 1836, in Oakham, Va. He was a civil engineer up to April, 1861, when he entered the confederate service as a lieutenant in the first Virginia cavalry; was promoted to captain after the battles around Richmond in 1862; and served till the surrender at Appomattox. He then again took up engineering, and was elected railroad commissioner in 1880. In 1884 he was elected to the Virginia state senate; and in 1885 was appointed collector of internal revenue by President Arthur. For seventeen years he has been secretary of the republican state committee of Virginia.

ROGERS, B. F., clergyman, poet. He is an eminent clergyman in the congregational church of Ft. Atkinson, Wis.; and is the author of a number of poems.

ROGERS, BARTON, educator, clergyman, poet, was born July 23, 1831, in Piermont, N. H. For three years he was chaplain of the fifteenth Illinois infantry during the civil war. He is a universalist clergyman and well-known in his denomination as an organizer and builder of churches.

ROGERS, CHARLES, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He served in the assembly of New York from Washington county in 1833 and 1837; and was a representative in congress from 1843 to 1845.

ROGERS, DANIEL, governor. He was governor of Pennsylvania in the years 1797 and 1798.

ROGERS, DENNIS LUCRETIVS, lawyer, was born July 26, 1850, in Grand Rapids, Mich. He received the rudiments of his education in the schools of his native city; and attended the Michigan state university. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer in his native city; is captain of the second regiment of the Michigan national guard; and is prominent in public affairs.

ROGERS, EBENEZER PLATT, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 18, 1817, in New York city. In 1862 he accepted the charge of the South Reformed church in New York city, where he continued until a few months before his death. He was the author of Earnest Words to Young Men in a Series of Discourses; and Historical Discourse on the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Albany. He died Oct. 23, 1881, in Montclair, N. J.

ROGERS, EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1780 in Connecticut. He was for many years county judge of Madison county, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1845. He died May 23, 1857, in Galway, N. Y.

ROGERS, FAIRMAN, educator, author, was born Nov. 1, 1833, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a professor of civil engineering in the university of Pennsylvania in 1855-70; and the author of The Magnetism of Iron Vessels.

ROGERS, FRANKLIN WHITING, artist, was born Aug. 27, 1854, in Cambridge, Mass. He has devoted himself especially to the painting of dogs. Among his works are The Two Friends; Steady; Resignation; Loo; and Mischief.

ROGERS, HENRY DARWIN, educator, geologist, author, was born Aug. 1, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a noted geologist who was professor in the university of Pennsylvania in 1835-46, and held the chair of natural history in the Scottish university of Glasgow from 1857 till his death. He was the author of The Geology of Pennsylvania; and Geological Map of Pennsylvania. He died May 29, 1866, near Glasgow, Scotland.

ROGERS, HENRY J., inventor, was born in 1811 in Baltimore, Md. He devised the code of signals by means of flags that is known by his name, which was adopted by the United States navy in 1846 and modified in 1861. He also devised a code of signals by means of colored lights, which was the first pyrotechnic system invented. He died Aug. 20, 1879, in Baltimore, Md.

ROGERS, HENRY WADE, lawyer, educator, college president, was born Oct. 10, 1853, in Trenton Falls, N. Y. Since 1890 he has been president of the Northwestern university of Evanston and Chicago. He has written a law treatise on Expert Testimony; compiled the Illinois Citations; and contributed to Forum, the North American Review, and other publications.

ROGERS, HORATIO, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 18, 1836, in Providence, R. I. He is a Providence jurist who has published The Private Libraries of Providence; Mary Dyer of Rhode Island, the Quaker Martyr; and edited Hadden's Journal and Orderly Books.

ROGERS, J. H., musician, composer, was born in Germany. He is a successful musician of Cleveland, Ohio; and the author of a number of songs and compositions.

ROGERS, JAMES, lawyer, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1837, and again from 1839 to 1843.

ROGERS, JAMES HARRIS, electrician, inventor, was born July 13, 1850, in Franklin, Tenn. In 1877 he was appointed electrician at the United States capitol in Washington, D. C., and he continued in that office until 1883. He was the inventor of the secret telephone that was sold in New York for $80,000, also of the national improved telephone, and of the pan-electric system. He has lately devised what he calls visual synchronism.

ROGERS, JAMES WEBB, soldier, clergyman, lawyer, author, poet, was born July 11, 1822, in Hillsborough, N. C. He is a writer who in early life was an episcopal clergyman in Tennessee, and during the civil war a confederate officer. He became a Roman catholic in 1878 and settled in Washington as a lawyer. He is the author of Lafitte, or the Greek Slave; Arlington, and Other Poems; and Parthenon.

ROGERS, JOHN, college president, was born in January in 1631 in England. In 1682 he was elected president of Harvard college, resigning in 1684. He died July 2, 1684, in Cambridge, Mass.

ROGERS, JOHN, congressman. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1775 to 1776; and was chancellor of the state. He died in 1789 in Annapolis, Md.

ROGERS, JOHN, merchant, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 9, 1813, in Caldwell, N. Y. He was elected from New York to the forty-second congress as a democrat.

ROGERS, JOHN, sculptor, was born Oct. 30, 1829, in Salem, Mass. He is modeler of the famed Rogers' groups, which he began as illustrations of the civil war.

ROGERS, JOHN C., physician, legislator, was born March 26, 1835, in Ireland. During the civil war he served in the army as assistant surgeon, and has practiced medicine in Pembroke, Maine, since 1866. In 1890 he was elected to the state senate of Maine.

ROGERS, JOHN HENRY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1845, in Bertie county, N. C. He served in the confederate army from March, 1862, to the close of the war, rising to the rank of first lieutenant. In 1877 he was elected circuit judge, and was re-elected in 1878. He resigned in 1882, and was elected a representative from Arkansas to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses as a democrat. In 1896 he was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Arkansas.

ROGERS, JOHN R., merchant, journalist, governor, author, was born Sept. 4, 1838, in Brunswick, Maine. He was educated in his native town, learned the drug business in Boston and followed it for some years in Mississippi and Maine. He engaged in farming in Iowa and Kansas, and held several public offices in the latter state, serving as a commissioner of Harvey county for some years. He established and was editor for three years of the Kansas Commoner, now published at Wichita. He came to Washington in 1890, locating at Puyallup, where he has since resided. He was a member of the fourth legislature as a representative from Pierce county, and took a very active interest in legislation pertaining to education, coal mining and taxation. In 1896 he was elected governor of Washington. He was the author of the measure familiarly known as the barefoot school-boy law, and it was due chiefly to his energetic efforts that the bill was enacted after a memorable contest.

ROGERS, MINA L., poet, was born Sept. 22, 1840, in Franklin county, Mo. She has written both prose and verse for the periodical press; and her poems appear in Poets of America, Woman in Sacred Song, and other standard works.

ROGERS, NATHANIEL PEABODY, journalist, author, was born June 3, 1794, in Portsmouth, N. H. He established at Concord, N. H., the Herald of Freedom in 1838, one of the pioneer anti-slavery papers in the United States. He wrote for the New York Tribune over the signature The Old Man of the Mountains. He died Oct. 18, 1846, in Concord, N. H.

ROGERS, NINA MANDEVILLE, educator, poet, was born April 17, 1842, in Natchez, Miss. She has attained a favorable reputation as a poet of the south, especially in the state of South Carolina. For many years she has been engaged in educational work, and resides in Florence, S. C.

ROGERS, ORVILLE D., poet, was born in 1867 in Marietta, Iowa. He has been editor of the Brooklyne Blade of Denver, Col.; and has filled several public positions in Kit Carson county, Col. He has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press; and his poems have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

ROGERS, RANDOLPH, sculptor, was born July 6, 1825, in Auburn, N. Y. He opened a studio in New York, where he remained until 1855. Among his earlier works are Ruth, an ideal bust; Nydia; Boy Skating; Isaac, full-length; and the statue of John Adams, in Mt. Auburn cemetery. One of his best-known works, the bas-reliefs on the doors of the capitol at Washington, representing scenes in the life of Columbus, was designed in 1858, and cast in bronze at Munich. In 1861 he completed the Washington monument at Richmond, which had been left unfinished by Thomas Crawford.

ROGERS, ROBERT CAMERON, littérateur, author, was born in 1862 in New York. He is a littérateur of Buffalo; and the author of The Wind in the Clearing, and Other Poems: Will of the Wasp, a yarn of the War of 1812; and Old Dorset, a collection of short stories.

ROGERS, ROBERT WILLIAM, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1864 in Pennsylvania. He is a methodist clergyman and educator, professor of Hebrew in Drew Theological seminary, Madison, N. J., from 1893; and the author of Two Texts of Esarhaddon; Unpublished Inscriptions of Esarhaddon; and The Inscriptions of Sennacherib.

ROGERS, SHERMAN SKINNER, lawyer, legislator, was born April 16, 1830, in Bath, N. Y. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Buffalo, N. Y., where he has practiced his profession since 1854. In 1873 he was a member of the constitutional commission of New York; in 1875-76 was a senator in the New York state legislature; and during 1884-87 was one of the first commissioners of the Niagara Falls state reservation. Since 1881 he has been president of the Reform association of Buffalo, N. Y.; and has always been active in public affairs pertaining to the material interests of his adopted city.

ROGERS, SION H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1825, in Wake county, N. C. He was elected to the thirty-third congress; and was elected to the legislature of North Carolina in 1860. He served in the confederate army as colonel of the forty-seventh North Carolina regiment. He was attorney-general of North Carolina from 1862 to 1868; and was elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat.

ROGERS, THOMAS J., journalist, congressman, author, was born in 1781 in Ireland. He was the author of biographical dictionaries of revolutionary worthies; edited a political paper; and was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1818 to 1824. He died Dec. 7, 1832, in New York city.

ROGERS, WILLIAM, educator, clergyman, was born July 22, 1751, in Newport, R. I. In 1789 he was chosen professor of oratory and English literature in the college of Philadelphia, and in 1792 to the same post in its successor, the university of Pennsylvania, which place he resigned in 1811. He died April 7, 1824, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROGERS, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, astronomer, educator, was born Nov. 13, 1822, in Waterford, Conn. The observatory at Alfred was built and equipped by him. In 1870 he was appointed assistant in the Harvard observatory, and he became in 1877 assistant professor of astronomy. In 1886 he was called to the chair of astronomy and physics at Colby university.

ROGERS, WILLIAM BARTON, scientist, college president, author, was born Dec. 7, 1804, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an eminent scientist of Boston, the founder of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1862, and its president in 1862-70, and again in 1878-81. He was the author of The Geology of the Virginias; Elements of Mechanical Philosophy; and The Strength of Materials. He died May 30, 1882, in Boston, Mass.

ROGERS, WILLIAM F., soldier, congressman, was born March 1, 1820, in Northampton county, Pa. In 1864 he was appointed provost marshal of the thirtieth district of New York. He was elected comptroller of the city of Buffalo in 1866, and mayor in 1868. He was appointed major-general of the fourth division national guard; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress.

ROHBE, JOHN MARTIN, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 28, 1852, in St. Louis, Mo. He graduated from the Central Wesleyan college of Warren-ton, Mo., and immediately began educational work. In 1881 he entered the St. Louis German Methodist Episcopal conference, and has filled pastorates in Mount Vernon, Bland, Morrison, Pinckney, and Steinhagen, Mo. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Central Wesleyan college; and the author of The Joy of Prayer, a work on devotion, now in its third edition.

ROHE, GEORGE HENRY, physician, author, was born Jan. 26, 1851, in Baltimore, Md. He is a successful physician of Baltimore, Md.; and author of Textbook of Hygiene; Manual of Skin Diseases; and Annual, Universal and Medical Sciences.

ROHLFS, MRS. ANNA KATHARINE [GREEN], author, was born Nov. 11, 1846, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is a very popular novelist of Buffalo whose detective romances display much inventive skill. She is the author of The Sword of Damocles; The Leavenworth Case; A Strange Disappearance; Hand and Ring; The Mill Mystery; Behind Closed Doors; Cynthia Wakeham's Money; Marked Personal; Miss Hurd; An Enigma; Dr. Izard; Old Stone House, and Other Stories; 7 to 12; X, Y, Z; The Doctor, His Wife, and the Clock; That Affair Next Door; Risifi's Daughter, a drama; and The Defense of the Bride, and Other Poems.

ROHRBACHER, PHILLIPP, engineer, business man, was born Jan. 30, 1838, in Germany. In 1853 he crossed the plains to California, and became chief engineer of the Stockton fire department. He was the president of the United States Brewing company of San Francisco, Cal., and president of the Royal Eagle Distilleries company of San Francisco and Owensboro, Ky. He was supreme arch of the United States United Ancient Order of Druids at the time of his death, which occurred on April 25, 1897, in San Francisco, Cal.

ROLFE, JOHN CAREW, educator, author, was born in 1859 in Massachusetts. He is a professor of Latin in the university of Michigan; and the author of Heauton Timorumenos of Terence.

ROLFE, WILLIAM JAMES, scholar, educator, author, was born Dec. 10, 1827, in Newburyport, Mass. He is a distinguished Shakespearean scholar and educator of Cambridge. He has published Shakespeare the Boy; two annotated editions of Shakespeare, the Friendly Edition in twenty volumes, and a School Edition in forty volumes; and a series of annotated editions of selections from Tennyson, Browning, Wordsworth, Gray, Goldsmith, Scott, and other English poets. He has also edited Craik's English of Shakespeare; and is co-author with J. H. Hanson of several classical text-books, and with J. A. Gillet of The Cambridge Physics.

ROLLINS, MRS. ALICE MARLAND [WELLINGTON], author, poet, was born June 12, 1847, in Boston, Mass. She is a writer of New York city; and the author of My Welcome Beyond, and Other Poems; The Ring of Amethyst, and Other Poems; The Story of a Ranch; All Sorts of Children; The Three Tetons; From Palm to Glacier; and Uncle Tom's Tenement, a study of New York tenement-house life.

ROLLINS, MRS. CLARA [SHERWOOD], author, was born in 1868 in Missouri. She is a Boston writer of short stories; and the author of A Burne Jones Head; and Threads of Life.

ROLLINS, DANIEL G., lawyer, was born Oct. 18, 1842, in Great Falls, N. H. He was assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York in 1866-69; assistant district attorney of New York county in 1873-80; then district attorney till 1882, and then surrogate of the county till 1888.

ROLLINS, EDWARD HENRY, merchant, congressman, United States senator, was born Oct. 3, 1824, in Rollinford, N. H. He was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature in 1855-57, serving as speaker during the last two years. He was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the thirty-seventh congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He was elected secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad company in 1869, and treasurer in 1871. He resigned those positions when elected a United States senator from New Hampshire for the term of six years from March 4, 1877. His portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol. He died July 31, 1889, on the Isle of Shoals, N. H.

ROLLINS, MRS. ELLEN CHAPMAN [HOBBS], author, was born April 30, 1831, in Wakefield, N. H. She was a writer of Philadelphia; and the author of New England Bygones; and Old-Time Child-life. She died May 29, 1881, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROLLINS, FRANK WEST, legislator, was born Feb. 24, 1860, in Concord, N. H. He served with distinction in the New Hampshire state senate in 1895; and was made president of that body. He still resides in the place of his nativity; and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol.

ROLLINS, JAMES SIDNEY, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 19, 1812, in Richmond, Ky. In 1838 he was elected to the Missouri state legislature, and was re-elected in 1840 and 1842. In 1846 he was elected to the state senate, serving four years; and in 1854 was again elected to the legislature. In 1860 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-seventh congress; and in 1862 was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress. He died Nov. 9, 1888, near Columbia, Mo.

ROLLINS, NATHANIEL, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 29, 1832, in St. Albans, Maine. He received his education in the common schools and at Hartland academy. During the civil war he was a captain in the second regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry. In 1885 he was a member of the Colorado legislature; and has attained prominence in that state as an able lawyer of Leadville. In 1894 he was elected department commander, department of Colorado and Wyoming, Grand Army of the Republic. During his term of office the strike and serious riots of Cripple Creek occurred; he immediately issued a circular letter, which was instrumental in restraining old soldiers from taking sides with the lawless element; and his services called forth a letter of approval from General Nelson A. Miles.

ROMAIN, ARMAND, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 22, 1871, in New Orleans, La. After receiving the rudiments of his education in the public schools, he attended the Tulane university of Louisiana. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of his native city; has been the republican candidate for congress; and in 1896 was elected to the state senate of Louisiana.

ROMAN, ALFRED, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1824 in St. James' Parish, La. In 1880 he was appointed judge of the criminal court of New Orleans for a term of eight years. He was the author of The Military Operations of General Beauregard. He died Sept. 20, 1892, in New Orleans, La.

ROMAN, ANDREW BIENVENU, governor, was born March 5, 1795, in Opelousas. In 1818 he was a member of the Louisiana house of representatives; was several times re-elected; and for four years was speaker. He became parish judge, and entered upon his duties as governor in 1831; and was again elected to that office in 1838. He died Jan. 26, 1866, after having served Louisiana during years of sorrow and trial.

ROMAN, J. DIXON, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1847 to 1849; and was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died Jan. 19, 1867, in Maryland.

ROMANS, BERNARD, engineer, author, was born about 1720 in Holland. He served in the revolutionary war as engineer, and is the author of Concise Natural History of East and West Florida; and also a Map of the Seat of the War.

ROMEIS, JACOB, business man, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1835, in Germany. In 1874 he was elected a member of the board of aldermen of Toledo, Ohio, and was re-elected in 1876. He was president of the board in 1877; and in 1879 was elected mayor of the city, and was re-elected in 1881 and 1883. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-ninth congress; and re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

ROMERO, TRINIDAD, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born June 15, 1835, in Santa Fe, N. M. He was a representative in the territorial legislature in 1863. He was elected probate judge of San Miguel county in 1867; and was elected a delegate from New Mexico to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

ROMEYN, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in 1797 in Greenbush, N. Y. He published The Crisis, a sermon; and a Plea for the Evangelical Press. He died Sept. 7, 1859, in New Brunswick.

ROMEYN, JAMES VAN CAMPEN, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1765, in Minisink, N. Y. In 1799-1834 he was pastor of the united congregations of the Dutch reformed church in Hackensack and Schraalenburgh, N. J. He published an Address to the Students of the Theological Seminary. He died June 27, 1840, in Hackensack, N. J.

ROMEYN, JEREMIAH, clergyman, linguist, was born Dec. 24, 1768, in Woodstock, N. Y. He was an eminent linguist, and from 1797 till his death was professor of Hebrew in the Dutch reformed church. He died July 17, 1818, in Woodstock, N. Y.

ROMEYN, THEODORIC (called Dirck) (ro-miné), clergyman, was born June 12, 1744, in Hackensack, N. J. He was one of the founders of the academy that subsequently became Union college, and from 1797 till 1804 was professor of theology in the general synod of the reformed Dutch church. He died April 16, 1804, in Schenectady, N. Y.

ROMEYN, THEODORE BAYARD, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 22, 1827, in Nassau, N. Y. He was pastor of the reformed Dutch church in Blawenburg, N. J., in 1850-55, and from the latter date until his death of the first reformed church at Hackensack. He published Historical Discourse; and The Adaptation of the Reformed Church in America to American Character. He died Aug. 29, 1885, in Hackensack, N. J.

ROMNEY, CAROLINA WESTCOTT, educator, inventor, was born in Clyde, N. Y. She became a literary editor on the Chicago Times, and subsequently was its traveling correspondent. She has published newspapers of her own, and a morning daily in Durango, Col. As an inventor she received ten awards from the World's Columbian exposition of Chicago in 1893.

RONAYNE, MAURICE, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1828 in Ireland. He was a Roman catholic clergyman and educator of New York city; and professor of history at St. Francis Xavier's college from 1888. He is the author of Religion and Science; and God Knowable and Known.

RONDTHALER, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 6, 1817, in York, Pa. In 1853-54 he was president of Nazareth Hall, Pennsylvania. He was the author of a Life of John Heckewelder. He died March 5, 1855, in Nazareth, Pa.

ROOD, OGDEN NICHOLAS, physicist, educator, author, was born Feb. 3, 1831, in Danbury, Conn. He is a physicist of note, professor of physics at Columbia college from 1863; and author of Modern Chromatics.

ROORBACH, ORVILLE AUGUSTUS, journalist, author, was born Jan. 20, 1803, in Red Hook, N. Y. He published Bibliotheca Americana from 1820 to 1861. He died June 21, 1861, in Schenectady, N. Y.

ROOSA, DANIEL BENNETT ST. JOHN, physician, educator, author, was born April 4, 1838, in Bethel, N. Y. He is a prominent physician of New York city, and a professor at the university of the city of New York in 1863-82. He is the author of Treatise on the Ear; A Doctor's Suggestion; and On the Necessity of Wearing Glasses.

ROOSE, F. F., educator, author, was born July 3, 1855, in Moline, Ill. In 1884 he founded the Lincoln Business college, Nebraska; and in 1891 founded the Lincoln Normal university, the construction of which cost one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. For three years he was president and owner of the Omaha Business college. He was one of the founders of the Woodmen of the World; and he is now the supreme commander of the Fraternal Union of America.

ROOSEVELT, HILBORNE LEWIS, organ-builder, was born Dec. 21, 1849, in New York city. He established factories in New York city, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and built some of the largest organs in the United States, including that in Garden City cathedral, Long Island, and Grace church, New York city, each of which contains twenty miles of electric wire. He died Dec. 30, 1886, in New York city.

ROOSEVELT, JAMES HENRY, philanthropist, was born Nov. 10, 1800, in New York city. He accumulated the sum that he intended from his early manhood to leave for some charitable object. By the terms of his will he left the principal part of his estate to found a noble hospital in New York city which bears his name, and was formally opened in 1871. The property left by him was valued at about $1,000,000. He died Nov. 30, 1863, in New York city.

ROOSEVELT, JAMES JOHN, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1795, in New York city. In 1835 and 1840 he was a member of the New York state legislature; and in 1842 and 1843 was a representative in congress from New York city. He was judge of the supreme court of the state in 1851; was an attorney of the United States; and held the office of judge eight years. He died April 5, 1875, in New York.

ROOSEVELT, ROBERT B., lawyer, congressman, author, was born Aug. 7, 1829, in New York city. In 1868 he was appointed commissioner of fisheries for the state of New York; and from 1868 edited The New York Citizen. He was elected a representative to the forty-second congress as a democrat. He was United States minister to the Netherlands in 1888-89. He was the author of The Game Fish of North America; Coast and Game Birds of the Northern States; Florida and the Game Water Birds; Love and Luck; Progressive Petticoats; and Five Acres Too Much, a Satire.

ROOSEVELT, THEODORE, politician, reformer, soldier, author, was born Oct. 27, 1858, in New York city. He is a politician and municipal reformer of New York city; and president of the board of police commissioners of New York city from 1895 to 1897, when he resigned that position to become assistant secretary of the navy. He is the author of The Naval War of 1812; Hunting Adventures of a Ranchman; Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail; The Winning of the West; The Wilderness Hunter; Essays on Practical Politics; History of the City of New York; and Lives of Thomas H. Benton and Gouverneur Morris. During the Spanish-American war he served with distinction as colonel of the Rough Riders. In November, 1898, he was elected governor of the state of New York.

ROOT, DAVID, clergyman, philanthropist, was born in 1790 in Pomfret, Vt. He held pastorates in Guilford and New Haven, Conn., till 1852, when he retired. He gave $10,000 to endow a professorship in Beloit college, Wisconsin; $20,000 to Yale Theological seminary, and $5,000 to the American Missionary society. He died Aug. 30, 1873, in Chicago, Ill.

ROOT, ELIHU, lawyer, was born Feb. 15, 1845, in Clinton, N. Y. He settled in New York city, where he has attained high reputation; and in 1883-85 was United States district attorney for the southern district of New York.

ROOT, ERASTUS, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 16, 1773, in Hebron, Conn. He was a representative in the New York assembly eleven years; was speaker of the house three years; and was state senator eight years. He was a representative in congress from 1803 to 1805, and from 1809 to 1817, when he resigned and was appointed postmaster at Delhi, N. Y. In 1822 he was chosen lieutenant-governor of the state; was again elected to congress from 1831 to 1833. He died in 1846 in New York city.

ROOT, FREDERIC WOODMAN, musician, composer, was born June 13, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He has been very successful as a teacher of vocal music, and has published Root's School of Singing. From 1871 till 1875 he edited the Song Messenger.

ROOT, JESSE, soldier, clergyman, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1736, in Coventry, Conn. He settled in Hartford, Conn.; took part in the revolutionary war; and was a delegate to the continental congress from 1778 to 1783. He was appointed judge of the superior court in 1779; and chief justice of Connecticut from 1796 until his resignation in 1807. He died March 29, 1822, in Coventry, Conn.

ROOT, JOSEPH C., author, and founder of Woodcraft, was born Dec. 3, 1844, in Chester, Mass. When ten years of age his parents removed to Lyons, Iowa. He received a liberal education; began business for himself in a book-store; afterward operated flouring mills and elevators; and was United States deputy collector when barely of age. In 1860 he founded the public library of Lyons, Iowa; was admitted to the bar in 1879, and founded Woodcraft and promulgated its rituals and teachings in 1883. He has been twice mayor of Lyons, Iowa; has been prominently identified in various business enterprises; proposed and agitated the construction of the Iowa Midland railway; and is the secretary of the Chicago, Lyons and Pacific railway. He established the first telephone exchange west of the Mississippi river; has been editor of two newspapers of extended circulation; and is the author of several books. He is the sovereign commander of the Woodmen of the World, and resides at Omaha, Neb. The entire system now embraces half a million members, has disbursed many millions of dollars, and is increasing rapidly.

ROOT, JOSEPH M., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1817, in Cayuga, N. Y. He was appointed prosecuting attorney in Ohio; and in 1840 was elected to the state senate. He served as a representative in congress from 1845 to 1851.

ROOTS, LOGAN H., soldier, educator, congressman, was born March 26, 1841, in Perry county, Ill. After the war he settled in Arkansas as a planter. He was elected a representative from that state to the fortieth congress, and re-elected to the forty-first congress as a republican.

ROOTS, PHILANDER KEEP, civil engineer, banker, was born June 4, 1838, in Tolland county, Conn. He is the son of the noted educator, Prof. B. G. Roots of Illinois. He received his education in the Carrollton academy of Illinois and the Wesleyan university of Bloomington. For several years he was principal of the high school in DuQuoin, Ill. He has been resident engineer on the Mobile and Ohio railroad in Kentucky and Tennessee; United States deputy surveyor in Nevada; chief engineer of the Cairo and Fulton railroad in Arkansas and Missouri; and for over twenty years has been engaged in banking in Little Rock, Ark. He is a prominent Mason and ranks high in various other fraternal orders.

ROPES, JOHN CODMAN, lawyer, author, was born April 28, 1836, in Russia. He is a lawyer of Boston well known as a military historian; and the author of The Army under Pope; The Campaign of Waterloo; Atlas of Waterloo; The First Napoleon; and The Story of the Civil War.

RORER, SARAH TYSON, lecturer, author. She is a popular writer and lecturer on cooking.

ROSE, AQUILA, printer, poet, was born in 1695 in England. He was a printer and verse writer of Philadelphia whose Poems on Several Occasions were collected after his death. He died Aug. 22, 1723, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROSE, CHAUNCEY, was born Dec. 24, 1794, in Wethersfield, Conn. He organized the Terre Haute and Indianapolis railroad in 1847, and was the first president. It was his means and influence that caused the construction of the Evansville, Terre Haute and Chicago railroad. He established and endowed the Ladies' Aid society of Terre Haute. He contributed generously to the support of Wabash college. To Providence hospital he gave a large sum of money; and he established and endowed the Rose Polytechnic institute, under the name of the Terre Haute school of Industrial Science. He died Aug. 13, 1877, in Terre Haute, Ind.

ROSE, DANIEL DE VINNE, soldier, educator, physician, author, was born May 28, 1843, in Onondaga county, N. Y.

He moved to Michigan with his parents; and served in the civil war in the eleventh regiment Michigan volunteer infantry for more than three years. He then became a student and teacher, which he continued until he graduated with the degree of bachelor of science, and later doctor of medicine; since which time he has devoted himself to his profession of medicine and literary work. He has become a prominent physician of Burlington, Iowa; has been county physician, coroner, and medical director of the Grand Army of the Republic. He is the author of What Every Woman Should Know; Physiology of Woman; and numerous other articles in journals and other periodicals.

ROSE, JAMES A., lawyer, secretary of state, was born Oct. 13, 1850, in Pope county, Ill. He was in 1896 elected secretary of state of Illinois.

ROSE, ROBERT L., farmer, congressman, was born Oct. 12, 1804, in Geneva, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1851.

ROSE, ROBERT S., congressman, was born in 1772 in Henrico county, Va. He was a representative in congress from the state of New York from 1823 to 1827, and again from 1829 to 1831. He died Nov. 24, 1835, in Waterloo, N. Y.

ROSE, THOMAS ELLWOOD, soldier, was born March 12, 1830, in Bucks county, Pa. Col. Thomas E. Rose, with one hundred and eight other union officers, by tunneling from a cellar, escaped from Libby prison; and among all the thrilling incidents in the history of Libby prison none exceed in interest this celebrated tunnel escape which occurred on the night of Feb. 9, 1864. Of the one hundred and nine men fifty-nine reached the union lines, forty-eight were recaptured and two drowned. After days of suffering he was again captured and sent back to Libby prison, but a few months after was exchanged for a confederate colonel. Col. Rose since the war has served with the sixteenth United States infantry, in which he holds a captain's commission.

ROSE, U. M., lawyer, legislator, was born March 5, 1834, in Marion county, Ky. He is a successful lawyer of Little Rock, Ark., and during 1860-65 was chancellor of the state of Arkansas.

ROSE, WILLIAM G., lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 23, 1829, in Mercer county, Pa. This prominent lawyer of Cleveland, Ohio, served his city as mayor for two terms; and was candidate for lieutenant-governor of Ohio in 1883. Before moving to Ohio he served as a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature.

ROSECRANS, WILLIAM STARKE, soldier, civil engineer, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 6, 1819, in Kingston, Ohio. He graduated from West Point in 1842. He was appointed aid to General McClellan in Ohio; was appointed colonel and chief engineer of Ohio; and was commissioned colonel of Ohio volunteers, and brigadier-general United States army. In 1864 he commanded the department of Missouri; was made brevet major-general United States army in 1865; and resigned in 1867. He was minister to Mexico in 1868, but was recalled in a few months. He was elected a representative from California to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was appointed register of the treasury at Washington. He died in 1898.

ROSELJUS, CHRISTIAN, journalist, lawyer, was born Aug. 10, 1803, in Germany. In 1831 he was appointed attorney-general of Louisiana. He was for many years dean of the university of Louisiana; and for the last twenty-three years of his life was professor of civil law in that institution. He died Sept. 5, 1873, in New Orleans, La.

ROSENBERG, DAVID H., clergyman, physician, surgeon, was born May 19, 1837, in Montgomery county, Pa. For twenty-five years he has been a minister in the evangelical church; and is now a doctor of medicine at Mascotte, Fla.

ROSENFELD, MAURICE BERNHARD, musician, composer, was born Dec. 31, 1865, in Austria. He is a teacher in the Chicago Musical college; and the composer of numerous pieces for piano, violin and string instruments.

ROSENGARTEN, JOSEPH GEORGE, lawyer, author, was born July 14, 1835, in Philadelphia. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia; and the author of The German Soldier in the Wars of the United States.

ROSENKRANS, S. ALICE, poet. She has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press; and some of her poems have appeared in standard works.

ROSENOW, MAX GUSTAV GEORGE, engraver, artist, was born Aug. 17, 1864, in Germany. He received his education at the Bohn school of Berlin, Germany; studied art under Professor Bühler; and has attained success as a lithographer, engraver, and script designer. He is the senior member of Rosenow and Company, new process engravers, Chicago, Ill. He has designed numerous book covers for the foremost publishing houses of the west; and designed the cover for this volume of Herringshaw's American Biography.

ROSENTHAL, LEWIS, journalist, author, was born Sept. 10, 1856, in Baltimore, Md. He is a journalist who has published America and France; and The Influence of the United States on France in the Eighteenth Century.

ROSENTHAL, MAX, artist, was born Nov. 23, 1833, in Russia. He made the chomo-lithographic plates for what is believed to be the first fully illustrated book by this process in the United States, Wild Scenes and Wild Hunters. After 1884 he turned his attention to etching, and he has since executed one hundred and fifty portraits of eminent Americans and British officers, together with numerous large plates, among which are Storm Approaches; Doris, the Shepherd's Maiden; and Marguerite.

ROSENTHAL, TOBY EDWARD, artist, was born March 15, 1848, in New Haven, Conn. His more important works are Love's Last Offering; Spring's Joy and Sorrow; Morning Prayers in Bach's Family, which was bought by the Saxon government, and is now in the museum of Leipsic; Elaine; Young Monk in Refectory; and Forbidden Longings.

ROSS, ABEL HASTINGS, clergyman, author, was born April 28, 1831, in Winchendon, Mass. Since 1872 he has been a lecturer on church polity in the Oberlin Theological seminary of Ohio. He is the author of a number of valuable papers on religious topics, and various books and pamphlets.

ROSS, ALEXANDER COFFMAN, merchant, composer, inventor, was born May 31, 1812, in Zanesville, Ohio. From a boy he was interested in scientific inventions, and he is said to have produced the first daguerreotype ever made in this country. He was one of the most enterprising business men in Zanesville, and accumulated a large property. He died Feb. 25, 1883, in Zanesville, Ohio.

ROSS, CHARLES ALEXANDER, educator, public official, was born May 16, 1863, in Presque Isle, Maine. He received his education in the St. John's English and Classical school, and for many years was engaged in educational work. He is prominent in the public affairs of Washington, and since 1894 has been clerk of Whitman county, state of Washington.

ROSS, CLINTON, author, was born in 1861 in New York. He is a novelist of New York city; and the author of The Silent Workman; The Countess Bettina; The Speculator; Adventures of Three Worthies; Improbable Tales; Two Soldiers and a Politician; The Puppet; The Scarlet Coat; Battle Tales; Bobbie McDuff; The Meddling Hussy; and Zuleika.

ROSS, DAVID, congressman, was born about 1750 in Maryland. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1786 to 1787.

ROSS, EDMUND GIBSON, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 7, 1826, in Ashland, Ohio. He learned the art of printing at Huron, Ohio. He became editor of the Kansas Tribune, at that time the only free-state paper in the territory, all others having been destroyed. He entered the union army as a private soldier, and was promoted to the rank of major in the war for the suppression of the rebellion. He was appointed to the United States senate as a republican to fill a vacancy and served during 1866-71.

ROSS, FRANK WARD, physician, surgeon, lecturer, was born July 10, 1859, in Horseheads, N. Y. He has been president of the Elmira Academy of Medicine; professor of X-ray and medico-legal electricity in the National college of Electro-therapeutics; and was formerly lecturer on electro-therapeutics at the Niagara university. He is a successful scientist and medical electrician; and has contributed many papers and given many lectures to medical and scientific bodies.

ROSS, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 25, 1796, in Cobham, Va. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Huntsville, Ala.; and the author of Slavery as Ordained of God. He died April 13, 1883, in Huntsville, Ala.

ROSS, GEORGE, signer of the declaration of independence, was born in 1730 in New Castle, Del. In 1768 he was elected to the colonial legislature; was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1777; and was one of the signers of the declaration of independence. In 1779 he was appointed judge of the court of admiralty for Pennsylvania. He died in July, 1779, in Lancaster, Pa.

ROSS, HENRY HOWARD, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Essex county, N. Y. For fifty years he was a representative in congress from New York from 1825 to 1827; and was county judge of Essex county in 1847 and 1848. He was a presidential elector in 1848, heading the state ticket, and officiating as president of the electoral college. He died Sept. 14, 1862, in Essex, N. Y.

ROSS, JAMES, educator, author. He published a Greek Grammar in Latin; translated the Shorter Catechism into Latin; and wrote a number of poems in Latin. He died in September, 1786.

ROSS, JAMES, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 12, 1762, in York county, Pa. He was a senator in congress from Pennsylvania from 1794 to 1803. He died Nov. 27, 1847, in Allegheny City, Pa.

ROSS, JOHN, merchant, was born Jan. 29, 1726, in Ross, Scotland. In 1775 he was appointed muster-master of the Pennsylvania navy. In 1776 he was employed by the committee of commerce of congress to purchase clothes, arms, and powder for the use of the army. He died in March, 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ROSS, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1809 to 1811, and again from 1815 to 1818, having resigned.

ROSS, JOHN WESLEY, lawyer, public official, was born June 23, 1841, in Lewistown, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in private schools; attended the Lewistown, Ill., seminary until 1856; the Illinois college in 1856-62; and the Harvard Law school in 1864-65. The degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him by the Georgetown university in 1885. He was postmaster of Washington, D. C., in 1888-90; was appointed by President Harrison commissioner of the District of Columbia in September, 1890, receiving the reappointment to the same position by President Cleveland, and again by President McKinley; and is president of the board of commissioners. For two terms he was president of the board of trustees of the public schools of Washington, D. C.; and is one of the foremost lawyers of that city.

ROSS, LAWRENCE SULLIVAN, soldier, governor, was born Sept. 27, 1838, in Bentonport, Iowa. He became colonel of the sixth Texas regiment of cavalry in the confederate army in 1862; and was made brigadier-general in 1863. In 1886 he became governor of Texas.

ROSS, LEONARD FULTON, soldier, lawyer, was born July 18, 1823, in Fulton county, Ill. He was chosen in 1861 colonel of the seventeenth Illinois regiment which he had raised; and was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers in April 25, 1862. In 1867 he was appointed collector of internal revenue for the ninth district of Illinois. He has imported fine stock into this country, and has a large farm in Iowa.

ROSS, LEWIS W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1812, in Seneca county, N. Y. In 1840 and 1844 he was elected to the Illinois state legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1848. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses as a democrat.

ROSS, MILES, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born April 30, 1828, in Raritan township, N. J. He was a representative to the New Jersey state legislature for two years. In 1874 he was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

ROSS, SAMUEL, state senator, was born July 14, 1865, in Patchogue, N. Y., which is still his place of residence. He has served with distinction in the state senate; and filled numerous public positions of honor in his city, county and state.

ROSS, SOBEISKI, civil engineer, congressman, was born May 16, 1828, in Coudersport, Pa. He was engaged in settling land in the northern counties of Pennsylvania; and was elected to the forty-third congress, and re-elected to the forty-fourth congress as a republican.

ROSS, THOMAS, congressman, was born in 1825 in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1853.

ROSS, THOMAS R., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1789. He was a representative from Ohio to the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth congresses. He died June 28, 1869, in Lebanon, Ohio.

ROSS, WILLIAM H., governor, was born in Delaware. He was elected governor of that state in 1851, continuing in office until 1855.

ROSS, WILLIAM WALLACE, educator, lawyer, was born Dec. 24, 1834, in Seville, Ohio. For thirty-three years he has been superintendent of the schools of Fremont, Ohio; has been president of the Ohio State Teachers' association; president of the Tri-State association of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana; and president of the Ohio state board of examiners.

ROSSE, IRVING C., neurologist, scientist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1842, in East New Market, Md. He received his education at the St. John's college of Annapolis; the United States Military academy of West Point; the university of Maryland; the New York university; and the principal clinics in Europe. He has been assistant surgeon in the United States army; surgeon to the revenue cutter bureau; surgeon of the Soldiers' home in Milwaukee; and United States examining surgeon for the District of Columbia. He was a juror to the Paris exposition; a member of the cholera commission to Europe in 1893; and professor of the diseases of the nervous system in the Georgetown university. He has done considerable literary work for medical journals upon popular scientific and geographical subjects; and is the author of The Cruise of the Corwin to Alaska and the North West Arctic Ocean; The First Landlug on Wrangel Island; and various other works.

ROSSELL, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1761 in New Jersey. He was for many years a judge of the United States district court; and also a judge of the supreme court of New Jersey. He died June 20, 1840, in Mount Holly, N. J.

ROSSER, LEONIDAS, clergyman, author, was born July 31, 1815, in Petersburg, Va. He was a methodist clergyman of Virginia; and the author of Baptism; Experimental Religion; Class Meetings; Recognition in Heaven; Open Communion; Initial Life; and Reply to Howell's Evils of Baptism. He died in 1892.

ROSSER, THOMAS LAFAYETTE, soldier, was born Oct. 15, 1836, in Campbell county, Va. He was a brigadier-general and commanded a brigade during the civil war in the confederate cavalry in Hampton's division.

ROSSITER, CLINTON L., railroad president, was born Feb. 13, 1860, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1895 he became president of the Brooklyn Heights railroad at Brooklyn, N. Y.

ROSSITER, THOMAS PRICHARD, artist, was born Sept. 29, 1817, in New Haven, Conn. He has painted a large number of historical and scriptural pictures, and also numerous portraits. He died May 17, 1871, in Cold Springs, N. Y.

ROSSMAN, GEORGE P., lawyer, politician, was born Aug. 14, 1859, in Plymouth, Wis. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Ashland. He has been district attorney for Ashland county; and city attorney of Ashland for three terms. He has been a chairman of the county committee, a member of the state central committee for Wisconsin; and a delegate to the state convention three times.

ROTCH, ABBOTT LAWRENCE, meteorologist, author, was born in 1861 in Massachusetts. He is a meteorologist who founded the Blue Hill meteorological observatory in Milton, Mass., in 1885, and who has published many valuable meteorological papers.

ROTH, THEOPHILUS B., educator, clergyman, journalist, was born Feb. 9, 1853, in Prospect, Pa. In 1893 he became president of Thiel college of Greencastle, Pa. He is the founder and editor of the Young Lutheran, which has the largest circulation of all English Lutheran papers.

ROTHERMEL, PETER FREDERICK, artist, was born July 18, 1817, in Nescopeck, Pa. He was elected a member of the Pennsylvania academy, of which institution he had been director from 1847 to 1855. His best works are: De Soto Discovering the Mississippi; Embarkation of Columbus, in the Pennsylvania academy; Christian Martyrs in the Coliseum; a series of paintings illustrative of William H. Prescott's History of the Conquest of Mexico.

ROTHERT, HENRY W., merchant, legislator, was born Sept. 11, 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has been mayor of Keokuk, Iowa; and for two terms was a member of the state senate, and became lieutenant-governor of Iowa by succession as president of the senate. He has been register of the land office at Cheyenne, Wyo.; and is now superintendent of the Iowa School for the Deaf.

ROTHROCK, JOSEPH TRIMBLE, educator, author, was born April 9, 1839, in McVeytown, Pa. He is a professor of botany in the university of Pennsylvania from 1877; and the author of Botany of the Wheeler Expedition; Vacation Cruisings; Flora of Alaska; and Revision of the North American Gaurineæ.

ROTHWELL, GIDEON F., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1836 in Callaway county, Mo. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

ROUMFORT, AUGUSTUS LOUIS, soldier, educator, state legislator, was born Dec. 10, 1796, in Paris, France. He was professor of mathematics at Mount Airy college at Germantown during 1818-26, and from that time till 1834 superintendent of a military school in that town. He was in the Pennsylvania legislature in 1843-44, and harbor-master of Philadelphia in 1845-48. He had been made captain of Pennsylvania militia in 1820, and in 1843 had risen to the rank of brigadier-general. He died Aug. 2, 1878, in Harrisburg, Pa.

ROUND, WILLIAM MARSHALL FITZ, author, was born March 26, 1845, in Pawtucket, R. I. He is a writer active in prison reforms. His books for juvenile readers include Achshah; Child Marion Abroad; Torn and Mended; Hal; and Rosecroft.

ROUNDS, STERLING PARKER, printer, was born June 27, 1828, in Berkshire, Vt. He migrated to Chicago in 1851; and soon afterward opened a printers' warehouse. In 1856 the business was extended by the addition of the printers' electrotype foundry, and the first number of Rounds' Printers' Cabinet, still in existence, was issued. He was appointed public printer in 1881; but he removed to Omaha in 1885 and was identified with the Republican till his death. He died Dec. 17, 1887, in Omaha, Neb.

ROUNER, DAVID ARGYLE, soldier, farmer, lawyer, legislator, was born April 20, 1842, in Sligo, Ky. He served as a soldier in the confederate army; was a member of the thirty-first and thirty-second Missouri general assembly; and a member of the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh state senate. He is the author of many of the revenue laws of Missouri.

ROUQUETTE, ADRIEN EMMANUEL, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 13, 1813, in New Orleans, La. He was a Roman catholic clergyman and educator of New Orleans, known as the Abbé Rouquette. He was the author of a volume entitled Wild Flowers. He died July 15, 1887, in New Orleans, La.

ROUQUETTE, FRANCOIS DOMINIQUE, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 2, 1810, in New Orleans, La. He is a lawyer who resided in France for the greater part of his life. He is the author of a work in French and English on the Choctaw Indians.

ROURKE, PATRICK HENRY, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 28, 1854, in Norristown, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and attended the Northern Indiana Normal college of Valparaiso, Ind. In 1882 he was admitted to the bar in Chicago, Ill., and moved the same year to the territory of Dakota. He took up the practice of his profession at Lisbon, N. D.; has been city attorney; mayor of his city; district attorney; state's attorney; and in 1892 was the republican nominee for attorney-general. He served with distinction as state senator in the North Dakota state senate; and has been United States district attorney for the district of North Dakota.

ROUSE, HENRY CLARK, railroad president, was born March 15, 1853, in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1892 he was elected president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway company; and in 1893 was appointed receiver of the Northern Pacific, a position he still holds.

ROUSSEAU, LOVELL HARRISON, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1818, in Lincoln county,

Ky. He was elected for three years to the legislature of Indiana, and for three years to the senate of the state. He served through the war with Mexico as a captain, and was present at Buena Vista. In 1850 he returned to Louisville, where he subsequently resided. In 1860 he was elected, by both political parties, to the senate of Kentucky. In 1861 he was commissioned a colonel of volunteers; was appointed a brigadier-general; and in 1862 appointed a major-general. In 1865 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-ninth congress. In 1867 he was appointed a brigadier-general in the regular army, and was assigned to duty in the new territory of Alaska. He died Jan. 7, 1869, in New Orleans, La.

ROUTT, ELIZA FRANKLIN, author, was born in 1842 in Springfield, Ill. She is most noted as a social leader and philanthropist. She is the wife of Col. Routt, the first governor of Colorado in 1878, who was again elected to the high office in 1891. She has given much attention to literary work.

ROUTT, JOHN L., governor. He was a resident of Denver, Colo. In 1871 he was appointed second assistant postmaster-general, in which capacity he served until 1875. He was governor of Colorado territory during a part of the year 1875; and in 1876 was elected governor of the new state of Colorado, holding the office until 1879.

ROWAN, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1773 in Pennsylvania. He was elected from Kentucky a member of congress from 1807 to 1809; and was for many years a member of the general assembly. He was a judge of the court of appeals in 1819; was a senator in congress from 1825 to 1831; and his last public position was that of minister to the Two Sicilies. He died July 13, 1853, in Louisville, Ky.

ROWAN, STEPHEN CLEGG, soldier, was born in December, 1808, in Ireland. In 1870 he was vice-admiral of the United States navy. He died March 31, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

ROWE, CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1834, in Guilford, Maine. In 1864 he was commissioned a chaplain in the United States army. He has filled pastorates in the baptist church ever since in the vicinity of Boston. For a time he was connected with the editorial department of The Watchman of Boston; and he is the author of a number of poems and sacred hymns.

ROWE, MRS. HARRIET GOULD, author, was born in 1854 in Maine. She is a writer of Bangor, Maine; and the author of Re-told Tales of the Hills and Shores of Maine; and Queenshithe.

ROWE, HENRY CLARK, was born April 23, 1851, in New Haven, Conn. He is the pioneer in deep water oyster culture in Long Island sound, and he received the first grant of oyster ground outside of the harbors in 1874. From 1875 until the present time he has secured such legislation from year to year as the growth of the business required. During 1897 he planted nearly three million bushels of shells and other material on his grounds, which comprise nearly ten thousand acres. He is regarded as an authority on the propagation and culture of oysters; and is the author of The Oyster Industry; and various papers read before the International Fisheries congress at Chicago in 1893, and before other societies.

ROWE, PETER, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1853 to 1855.

ROWELL, GEORGE PRESBURY, journalist, was born July 4, 1838, in Concord, Vt. In 1867 he took up his residence in New York, where he began the publication of Rowell's Newspaper Directory.

ROWELL, JONATHAN H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 10, 1833, in Haverhill, N. H. He served three years in the union army during the civil war as a line officer. He was state's attorney of the eighth judicial district at Bloomington, Ill., from 1868 to 1872. He was a presidential elector in 1880; and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

ROWLAND, ALFRED, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1844, in Lumberton, N. C. In 1867 he was elected by the county court register of deeds for Robeson county, N. C.; and was a member of the general assembly of North Carolina in 1876-77, and again in 1880-81. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

ROWLAND, DAVID, congressman. He was a delegate from Connecticut to the colonial congress which met in New York in 1765.

ROWLAND, HENRY AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 18, 1804, in Windsor, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Newark, N. J.; and the author of Common Maxims of Infidelity; The Path of Life; Light in a Dark Valley; and The Way of Peace. He died Sept. 4, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

ROWLAND, HENRY AUGUSTUS, scientist, was born Nov. 27, 1848, in Honesdale, Pa. In 1884 he received the Rumford medal for his researches in light and heat.

ROWLAND, WILLIAM, ship builder, was born April 28, 1828, in Monmouth Junction, N. J. In 1894 he built the Priscilla of the Fall River line, which is acknowledged to be the finest vessel afloat. He also finished the ships owned by the Old Dominion line of steamers.

ROWLEY, ELIZA A., educator, poet, was born March 1, 1834, in Oneida county, N. Y. For many years she taught school and music, sung soprano and alto, and served as organist in several churches. She has filled positions of honor in various societies in Nebraska; and is the author of a number of poems which have appeared in the periodical press.

ROWLEY, THOMAS ALGEO, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 5, 1808, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was made brigadier-general for services at Fredericksburg, Va., in November, 1862, and resigned his commission Dec. 29, 1864. From 1866 till 1870 he was United States marshal for the western district of Pennsylvania, and he now practices law in Pittsburg, Pa.

ROWLEY, WILLIAM REUBEN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1824, in Gouverneur, N. Y. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865. He then returned to Galena, Ill.; was elected county judge in 1877, which office he held at his death, and was also engaged in real estate business. He died Feb. 9, 1886, in Chicago, Ill.

ROWSE, SAMUEL WORCESTER, artist, was born Jan. 29, 1822, in Bath, Maine. He has devoted himself to drawing in black and white, and his works in crayon, chiefly portraits and ideal heads of children, are well known to the public.

ROWSON, MRS. SUSANNA [HAWELL], author, was born in 1762 in England. She was a once famous novelist whose Charlotte Temple was the most popular tale of its day. In 1793 she came again to America, and after a short career as an actress opened a school in Boston, which was very successful. Her writings include Victoria; Mary, or the Test of Honour; The Fille de Chambre; The Inquisitor; The Trials of the Heart; Reuben and Rachel; Lucy Temple, a sequel to Charlotte Temple; Miscellaneous Poems; The Slaves of Algiers, an opera; The Volunteers, a farce; and The French Patriot, a comedy. She died March 2, 1824, in Boston, Mass.

ROYALL, MRS. ANNE, journalist, author, was born June 11, 1769, in Virginia. She was a well-known and unpopular Washington journalist, editor of the Washington Paul Pry, whose literary style was quite devoid of merit. She was the author of The Black Book; The Tennessean, a novel; Sketches of History, Life, and Manners in the United States; and A Southern Tour; Letters from Alabama. She died Oct. 1, 1854, in Washington, D. C.

ROYALL, ISAAC, soldier, philanthropist, was born about 1720. Among numerous bequests he left 2,000 acres of land in Worcester county, Mass., for the endowment of a law professorship in Harvard. This was established in 1815 and is known by his name. The town of Royalston, Worcester county, Mass., was named for him. He died in October, 1781, in England.

ROYCE, HOMER ELIHU, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born June 14, 1820, in East Berkshire, Vt. He was a member of the Vermont state legislature in 1846 and 1847; and was prosecuting attorney for the state in 1848. He was a state senator in 1849-51; and was elected a representative from Vermont to the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress.

ROYCE, JOSIAH, educator, author, was born Nov. 20, 1855, in Grass Valley, Cal. He is a professor of the history of philosophy at Harvard university; and the author of The Religious Aspect of Philosophy; California: a Study of American Character; The Feud of Oakfield Creek, a novel; Primer of Logical Analysis; and The Spirit of Modern Philosophy.

ROYCE, STEPHEN, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, was born Aug. 12, 1787, in Tinnmouth, Vt. He was a member of the Vermont legislature in 1815 and 1816, from Sheldon county, and from 1822 to 1824 from St. Albans county. He was judge of the supreme court of the state in 1826 and 1827, and from 1829 to 1852. He was chief justice from 1846 to 1851; and was governor of Vermont from 1854 to 1856. He died Nov. 11, 1868, in East Berkshire, Vt.

ROYE, EDWARD JAMES, philanthropist, was born Feb. 3, 1815, in Newark, Ohio. He became president of Liberia, where he died Feb. 12, 1872.

ROYER, JOHN A., soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 15, 1840, in Franklin county, Pa. During the civil war he was appointed surgeon in the department of Virginia; subsequently raised a cavalry company, and was commissioned first lieutenant. For twenty-five years he practiced medicine in Carey, Ohio; and since 1893 in Toledo. For four years he was examining pension agent; and has filled numerous other positions of honor.

ROYER, JOHN GROFF, educator, college president, was born April 22, 1838, in Hartleton, Pa. This well-known educator has been president of the Mt. Morris college, Illinois, since 1884.

ROYSE, LEMUEL W., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1848, in Kosciusko county, Ind. In 1876 he was elected prosecuting attorney for the thirty-third judicial circuit of Indiana, which office he held two years. He was elected mayor of the city of Warsaw in 1885 and held this office until 1891. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

RUBLEE, HORACE, journalist, state librarian, was born Aug. 19, 1829, in Berkshire, Vt. In 1869 he was appointed United States minister to Switzerland, and held that position until 1880. In 1881 he assumed the editorship of the Milwaukee Republican and News; and in 1892 became editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel.

RUCKER, DANIEL HENRY, soldier, was born April 28, 1812, in Belleville, N. J. In 1865 he received the brevets of major-general, United States army, and major-general, United States volunteers, for faithful and meritorious service during the war.

RUCKER, HOWARD LEWIS, educator, was born Jan. 12, 1852, in Jacksonville, Ill. He is president of the university of Commerce and Finance in Minneapolis, Minn.

RUCKER, WILLIAM P., soldier, farmer, physician, lawyer, was born Nov. 9, 1831, in Lynchburg, Va. He received his education in Collins institute, the university of Virginia, and the Jefferson Medical college. He was prosecuting attorney for two years for Greenbrier county, W. Va.; and two years for Pocahontas county. During the war he served as a major of the thirteenth regiment West Virginia infantry; was aid-de-camp to Generals Fremont, Sigel and Crook; commanded for a short time the third district of the West Virginia home guards. After the war he was a successful merchant and tobacconist of Lynchburg, Va. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the south, and practices his profession in Lewisburg, W. Va.

RUDDER, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1820 in British Guinea. He was an episcopal clergyman of Philadelphia, rector of St. Stephen's church; and the author of Sermons; and A Rationale of the Church's Liturgic Worship.

RUDE, MRS. ELLEN SERGEANT, poet, was born March 17, 1838, in Sodus, N. Y. She is a temperance advocate of St. Augustine, Fla.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Magnolia Leaves.

RUDEL, CHARLES A., public official, was born Aug. 26, 1868, in Baden, Germany. He is prominent in political affairs of Peoria, Ill., was town clerk of Peoria township in 1893; and since 1894 has served as county clerk.

RUDY, MARTIN, pharmacist, was born Oct. 23, 1860, in Oregon, Pa. He is one of the leading registered pharmacists and manufacturing chemists in Pennsylvania. His name and his goods have a worldwide reputation, and have done as much as any other local industry to make the city of Lancaster, Pa., familiar to people all over the civilized world; his business extending to England, Mexico, Australia and other foreign countries.

RUEBSAM, JOHN EMIL HERMAN, inventor, was born March 19, 1841, in Prussia. He was operator and inventor for the movement treatment at the Union hospital of Philadelphia, Pa., in 1876; and he is the inventor of various kinds of apparatus for medical use.

RUFFIN, EDMUND, soldier, agriculturist, journalist, state legislator, author, was born Jan. 5, 1794, in Prince George county, Va. He served in the Virginia legislature, was secretary of the state board of agriculture, agricultural surveyor of South Carolina, for many years was president of the Virginia Agricultural society, and was the discoverer of the value of marl as a fertilizer of poor soil, by the use of which millions of dollars were added to the value of real estate of eastern Virginia. He published Essay on Calcareous Manures; Essay on Agricultural Education; and Anticipations of the Future to Serve as Lessons for the Present Time. He died June 15, 1865, in Redmoor, Va.

RUFFIN, MARGARET E., poet, was born Aug. 26, 1857, in Baldwin county, Ala. She is proficient in music, a linguist, and the author of a volume of poems entitled Drifting Leaves.

RUFFIN, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Edgecombe county, N. C. He served as circuit attorney of the seventh judicial circuit of the state of Missouri from 1844 to 1848. He was elected a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He took part in the rebellion of 1861 as a member of the confederate congress, having previously been a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died in October, 1863, in Alexandria, Va.

RUFFIN, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 17, 1787, in King and Queen county, Va. He served in the North Carolina legislature in 1813-16, becoming speaker in the latter year; was judge of the supreme court in 1816-18, and elected again from 1825; and was chief justice of the state supreme court from 1829 till 1852, and again in 1856-58, after which he served as presiding judge of the county court. He died Jan. 15, 1870, in Hillsboro, N. C.

RUFFNER, HENRY, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 19, 1789, in Page county, Va. He was a presbyterian clergyman of Virginia; a noted opponent of slavery; and the author of Fathers of the Desert; a History of Monarchism; and Future Punishment. He died Dec. 17, 1861, in Maiden, Va.

RUFFNER, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1824, in Virginia. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Philadelphia, and from 1870 state superintendent of public instruction in Virginia. He is the author of Charity and the Clergy.

RUGER, THOMAS HOWARD, soldier, was born April 2, 1833, in Lima, N. Y. In 1862 he was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers, and was subsequently promoted to major-general. In 1868 he was provisional governor of Georgia; and during 1871-76 was superintendent of the United States Military academy.

RUGER, WILLIAM CRAWFORD, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 30, 1824, in Bridgewater, N. Y. In 1882 he was elected chief judge of the New York court of appeals.

RUGGLES, BENJAMIN, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Feb. 21, 1782, in Pomfret, Conn. In 1810 he was elected president judge of the court of common pleas for the third circuit of Ohio. He was elected a senator of the United States from Ohio, serving from 1815 to 1833. He died Sept. 2, 1857, in St. Clairsville, Ohio.

RUGGLES, CHARLES HERMAN, was born Feb. 10, 1789, in Milford, Conn. Removing to New York he was a member of the New York legislature in 1820. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1821 to 1823; and was for many years a judge of the circuit court. He served for a second term in the state legislature; was made a judge of the court of appeals and presiding judge from 1853; and retired from the bench in 1855. He died June 16, 1865, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

RUGGLES, DANIEL, soldier, was born Jan. 31, 1810, in Barre, Mass. He joined the confederate army, and was commissioned brigadier-general in the same year. He became major-general in 1863, and commanded the department of the Mississippi.

RUGGLES, EMILY, merchant, was born July 16, 1827, in Dorchester, Mass. She is a descendant of Peregrine White, the first child born among the Pilgrims of Massachusetts. Being deeply interested in the reforms of the day, she was one of the first women in Massachusetts elected to the office of school committee.

RUGGLES, GEORGE DAVID, soldier, was born Sept. 11, 1833, in Newburgh, N. Y. In 1855 he graduated from West Point; and served on the frontier and in the territories until 1861. During the civil war he served with Patterson in 1861; in charge of the organization of the volunteer army in 1861-62; chief of staff under Pope in 1862; and with Secretary Stanton in 1863. During 1863-64 he was in the conscription bureau and inspection; and in 1865 was adjutant-general army of the Potomac under Meade. During 1868-76 he was in the department of the Platte; and during the next four years was in the department of the Dakota. He won many brevets for bravery and meritorious services; attained the rank of adjutant-general of the army; and was retired in 1896.

RUGGLES, HENRY STODDARD, financier, author, was born Oct. 31, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He has been for many years engaged in the management of trust property, having charge of large estates in Boston. His residence is in the town of Wakefield, a suburb of that city.

During his leisure, he has turned his attention somewhat towards literature, writing over his own name as well as his nom-de-plume of Henry Stoddard. He has also contributed many papers to historical and other periodicals in addition to several books; and his writings have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

RUGGLES, JOHN, mechanic, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Oct. 8, 1789, in Westborough, Mass. He was nine times elected to the Maine legislature, and officiated as speaker three years. From 1831 to 1835 he was judge of the court of common pleas. He was a senator in congress from Maine from 1835 to 1841. He died June 20, 1874, in Thomaston, Maine.

RUGGLES, JOSEPH WESLEY, musician, composer, was born Dec. 2, 1837, in Milan, Ohio. He is a director of the Conservatory School of Music at the Upper Iowa university of Fayette. He is the author of a number of anthems, cantatas, and Sunday school songs.

RUGGLES, NATHANIEL, congressman, was born in 1761 in Massachusetts. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1813 to 1819. He died Dec. 19, 1819, in Roxbury, Mass.

RUGGLES, SAMUEL BULKELEY, lawyer, financier, was born April 11, 1800, in New Milford, Conn. He was one of the organizers of the Erie canal; and was a representative of the United States in the international monetary conference at Paris in 1867. He laid out and presented Gramercy Park to the city of New York. He died Aug. 28, 1881, in Fire Island, N. Y.

RUGGLES, STEPHEN PRESTON, inventor, was born July 4, 1808, in Windsor, Vt. He was the original inventor of the movable platen in printing presses, and of many other features which are still in use in printing presses. He also invented types, presses, and paper for printing for the blind, which now, like his devices for stereotyping, paper-cutting and ruling and metal working machinery, have become common property. He died May 28, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

RUGGLES, WILLIAM, educator, philanthropist, was born Sept. 5, 1797, in Rochester, Mass. He was a generous contributor to charitable objects, especially those of the baptist denomination. To Karen Theological school, in Burmah, he gave during his life $15,000, and at his death he left it a legacy of $25,000. He died Sept. 10, 1877, in Washington, D. C.

RULISON, NELSON SOMERVILLE, bishop, was born April 24, 1842, in Carthage, N. Y. In 1867 he became rector of Zion church of Morris, N. Y.; and three years later went to Jersey City, and there founded and built the St. John's Free church. He was subsequently consecrated protestant episcopal bishop of central Pennsylvania.

RUMFORD, BENJAMIN THOMPSON, count, philosopher, statesman, author, was born in 1753 in Maine. He was a statesman and philosopher. After serving Great Britain in the war of the revolution, he entered the service of the elector of Bavaria, rose to the position of minister of war, and was created count of the Holy Roman empire, taking his title Rumford from Rumford, now Concord, N. H. He was the author of Essays: Political, Economical, and Philosophical. He died Aug. 21, 1814, near Paris, France.

RUMPLE, JETHRO, clergyman, author, was born March 10, 1827, in Cabarrus county, N. C. He was ordained to the presbyterian ministry in 1857. After holding pastorates in Mecklenburg county, he was called in 1860 to Salisbury, N. C., where he has since remained. He has taken an active part in the councils of his church, and published History of Rowan County, N. C.; and History of the First Fifty Years of Davidson College; and History of Presbyterianism in North Carolina.

RUMSEY, BENJAMIN, congressman, was born about 1730. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1776 to 1778.

RUMSEY, DAVID, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1851.

RUMSEY, EDWARD, congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1839.

RUMSEY, JOSEPH B., railroad president, was born Aug. 29, 1842, in Mainesburg, Pa. Since 1892 he has been president of the Olean, Oswayo and Eastern railroad.

RUNCIE, MRS. CONSTANCE [FAUNT LE ROY], author, poet, was born Jan. 15, 1836, in Indianapolis, Ind.

She is a writer whose home was many years at St. Joseph, Mo. She is the author of Divinely Led; Poems, Dramatic and Lyric; Woman's Work; Felix Mendelssohn; and Children's Stories and Fables. Besides the publication of these works, she has contributed both prose and verse to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States.

RUNK, JOHN, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a presidential elector in 1841; and was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1845 to 1847.

RUNKLE, JOHN DANIEL, educator, mathematician, author, was born Oct. 11, 1822, in Root, N. Y. He is a noted mathematician, professor of mathematics in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1870-78; and the author of Elements of Plane and Solid Analytic Geometry.

RUNKLE, LUCIA ISABELLA, author, was born Aug. 20, 1844, in North Brookfield, Mass. For many years she was an editorial writer and contributor to the New York Tribune, in which she published a brilliant series of articles on Cooking, treated from an artistic standpoint, which attracted much attention.

RUNNELS, HARRISON R., state legislator, governor, was born in Mississippi. He emigrated to Texas in 1841, served in the legislature of the state and was speaker of the house; and in 1855 was elected lieutenant-governor. In 1857 he was elected governor of Texas. He died in Cowie county, Miss.

RUNNELS, HIRAM G., governor. He was governor of Mississippi from 1833 to 1835.

RUNYAN, JOHN N., soldier, was born April 26, 1846, in Warsaw, Ind. He left Warsaw in December, 1861, with a number of recruits for company E, twelfth Indiana infantry. He was promoted second lieutenant in 1863. At the battle of Chickamauga, the captain and first lieutenant being wounded early in the action, the command of his company devolved upon Lieutenant Runyan. As a drill master he was one of the best. It was while engaged in a sharp skirmish, June 15, 1864, at the foot of Kenesaw Mountain, that Lieutenant Runyan displayed remarkable bravery.

RUPP, ISAAC DANIEL, author, was born July 10, 1803, in Cumberland county, Pa. He was an industrious local historian of Pennsylvania, who, besides writing histories of nearly thirty counties in his state, published also Events in Indian History; History of Religious Denominations in the United States; Early History of Western Pennsylvania; and Thirty Thousand Names of German Emigrants. He died May 31, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RUSCHENBERGER, WILLIAM S. W., naval surgeon, author, was born Sept. 4, 1807, in Cumberland county, N. Y. He was a noted naval surgeon and naturalist of Philadelphia, and the author of Elements of Natural History; A Voyage Around the World; Three Weeks in the Pacific; Notes and Commentaries During Voyages to Brazil and China; Lexicon of Natural History Terms; Account of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Philadelphia; and The Brothers Rogers. He died in 1895.

RUSH, BENJAMIN, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Dec. 24, 1745, in Bristol, Pa. He was an earnest advocate of the cause of liberty; was a delegate to the continental congress in 1776 and 1777, and a signer of the declaration of independence. He was a member of the convention called to ratify the federal constitution, and subsequently held the post of cashier of the United States mint. He took an active part in the society for the Abolition of Slavery, the Philadelphia Bible society, the Philadelphia Medical society, and the American Philosophical society. He was the author of Treatise on Diseases of the Mind; Essays, Literary, Moral and Philosophical; and Sixteen Introductory Lectures. He died April 19, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RUSH, BENJAMIN, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 23, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a lawyer of Philadelphia, and the author of Appeal for the Union; and Letters on the Rebellion, 1862. He died June 30, 1877, in Paris, France.

RUSH, JACOB, lawyer, jurist, author, was born in 1746 in Byberry township, Pa. He was a Philadelphia jurist, and the author of Charges on Moral and Religious Subjects; Character of Christ; and Christian Baptism. He died Jan. 5, 1820, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RUSH, JAMES, philanthropist, author, was born March 1, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a distinguished Philadelphia citizen, and the founder of the Ridgeway library, to which he left one million dollars. He was the author of The Philosophy of the Human Voice; Analysis of the Human Intellect; and Rhymes of Contrast on Wisdom and Folly. He died May 26, 1869, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RUSH, RICHARD, lawyer, orator, author, was born Aug. 29, 1780, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1814 he was appointed attorney-general of the United States. In 1817 he was appointed minister to England, serving until 1825. He was secretary of the treasury under President J. Q. Adams; was candidate for vice-president on the ticket with Adams, and in 1847 was appointed minister to France, remaining in office ten years. In 1833 he published A Residence at the Court of St. James; a Sequel to it in 1845, and in 1857, Familiar Letters of Washington. In 1860 a volume of Occasional Productions was published. He died July 30, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RUSK, HARRY WELLES, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 17, 1852, in Baltimore, Md. In 1872

he graduated from the Maryland university law school with the degree of LL. B. For six years he was a member of the Maryland house of delegates; and for four years a member of the Maryland senate. He was elected a representative from Baltimore to the forty-ninth congress to fill a vacancy; and was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses.

RUSK, JEREMIAH McLAIN, soldier, state legislator, congressman, was born June 17, 1830, in Morgan county, Ohio.

He was a member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1862. He was commissioned major of Wisconsin volunteers in 1862, and was brevetted brigadier - general. He was elected bank comptroller of Wisconsin in 1866, and re-elected for 1868. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the forty-second, forty-third and forty-fourth congresses. He was elected governor of Wisconsin in 1882, and was re-elected in 1884 and in 1886. In 1889 he was elected secretary of agriculture.

RUSK, THOMAS JEFFERSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Aug. 8, 1802, in Camden, S. C. He served as a member of the house of representatives and as chief justice of the supreme court, which last office he resigned early in 1842. In 1845 he was president of the convention that consummated the annexation of Texas to the United States. Upon the admission of Texas into the Union in 1845 he was elected one of the senators in the congress of the United States, in which office he served two terms and was re-elected for the third term, ending in 1863. He died July 29, 1856, in Nacogdoches, Texas.

RUSS, JOHN, congressman, was born in Ipswich, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1819 to 1823. He died June 22, 1832, in Hartford, Conn.

RUSSELL, ADDISON PEALE, journalist, author, was born in 1826 in Ohio. He is an Ohio journalist, and essayist, now living in retirement in Wilmington, Ohio. He is the author of Half Tints; Library Notes; Thomas Corwin, a Sketch; Characteristics; A Club of One; In a Chub Corner; and Sub-Coelum.

RUSSELL, ALFRED, jurist, scholar, orator, was born March 18, 1830, in Plymouth, N. H. In 1850 he graduated from Dartmouth college, and in 1852 from the Harvard college law school. The same year he was admitted to the bar of New Hampshire; the following year to the bar of Michigan; to the bar of the United States circuit court on June 25, 1853, and to the bar of the supreme court of the United States at Washington in 1858. He took part in the formation of the republican party. In 1864 he was sent to Montreal and Toronto by Secretary Seward to procure extradition of the St. Albans and Lake Erie raiders. He was appointed United States district attorney by President Lincoln; and has been professor of federal jurisprudence in the Detroit College of Law. He is the author of many patriotic and college addresses, and has achieved a national reputation among the lawyers and scholars of America.

RUSSELL, AMOS B., clergyman, poet, was born Feb. 24, 1825, in Woodstock, N. H. After taking a theological course he became pastor of the methodist church of Gilmanton, N. H. He has traveled extensively in Europe; and now fills the pastorate in East Lempster. His poems have appeared in the Boston Christian Witness, and other prominent religious publications; and his poems also appeared in Poets of America and other standard works; and are a valuable acquisition to American literature.

RUSSELL, ARCHIBALD, philanthropist, was born in 1811 in Scotland. He settled in New York city in 1836, where he devoted his time and fortune to benevolent and educational enterprises, founding the Five Points mission, of which he was president for eighteen years, and aiding in establishing the Half-Orphan asylum, of which he was a vice-president. He died April 12, 1871, in New York city.

RUSSELL, BENJAMIN, soldier, journalist, state senator, author, was born Sept. 13, 1761, in Boston, Mass. For twenty-four years he was a representative from Boston to the general court, and was several years in the state senate. For many years he was the editor and owner of the Columbian Sentinel. He died Jan. 4, 1845, in Boston, Mass.

RUSSELL, BENJAMIN EDWARD, soldier, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 5, 1845, in Monticello, Fla. He entered the confederate army as a drummer boy in the first Georgia regiment, and upon the disbanding of this regiment he immediately enlisted in the eighth Florida regiment, continuing with it the last three years of the war with the rank of first lieutenant. He entered the printing business, and has been twenty-one years editor of the Bainbridge Democrat. In 1877 he was a delegate to the state constitutional convention; delegate to the national democratic convention in 1880, and mayor of Bainbridge in 1881-82. He was a representative in the legislature 1882-83, and postmaster at Bainbridge from 1885 to 1890. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

RUSSELL, BENJAMIN F., lawyer, journalist, legislator, was born Oct. 26, 1844, in Greenwood, Maine. During the civil war he served as lieutenant in the third regiment Massachusetts cavalry. He has served as a representative in the Missouri state legislature, and has been speaker in that body.

RUSSELL, CHARLES ADDISON, soldier, merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born March 2, 1852, in Worcester, Mass. He received a public school and collegiate education, and in 1873 graduated from Yale college. During 1881-82 he was aide - de - camp on Governor Bigelow's staff, with the rank of colonel. In 1883 he was a member of the general assembly of Connecticut; and in 1885-86 was secretary of state of Connecticut. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses. He is a successful woolen merchant of Killingly, Conn.

RUSSELL, DANIEL LINDSAY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 7, 1845, in Brunswick county, N. C. He was elected to the North Carolina state legislature in 1864, and re-elected in 1865. He was elected judge of the superior courts for the fourth judicial circuit in 1868, and served six years; and was again elected to the legislature in 1876. He was elected to the forty-sixth congress.

RUSSELL, DAVID, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1800 in Massachusetts. He was in the legislature in 1816 and in 1830, subsequently United States district attorney for northern New York, and in 1835-41 was a member of congress. He died Nov. 24, 1862, in Salem, N. Y.

RUSSELL, EMORY POOLE, musician, educator, lecturer, was born Sept. 20, 1855, in New York city. This eminent musician was proprietor and director of the Conservatory of Music in New York state, and is now director of music in Providence, R. I.

RUSSELL, FRANCIS THAYER, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 10, 1828, in Roxbury, Mass. He is an episcopal clergyman and educator of Waterbury, Conn., rector of St. Margaret's school there, and voice instructor in the General Theological seminary in New York city. He is the author of The Use of the Voice.

RUSSELL, GEORGE H., scientific tanner, was born April 27, 1835, in Laughentown, Pa. For many years he was superintendent of the Russell Belting and Tanning company of Baltimore, Md., and New York city. He is the inventor of a system of tanning fine oak harness leather, a process which makes a fine grade out of a fair sole leather for fine work, nice russet and belting.

RUSSELL, HARRY LUMAN, bacteriologist, author, was born March 12, 1866, in Poyette, Wis. For many years he has filled the chair of bacteriology in the university of Wisconsin; and is the consulting bacteriologist to the Wisconsin state board of health. He has made valuable researches in bacteriology; and is the author of Russell's Outlines of Dairy Bacteriology.

RUSSELL, HENRY, author, was born Dec. 24, 1842, in Port Kent, N. Y. He is the author of a number of songs. Among his best known are, The Maniac; I'm Afloat; The Ivy Green; A Life on the Green Wave; Woodman, Spare that Tree; The Old Arm-Chair; and There's a Good Time Coming, Boys.

RUSSELL, IRWIN, author, was born in 1853. He is a southern writer of dialect verse; and the author of Dialect Poems. He died in 1879.

RUSSELL, ISRAEL COOK, educator, geologist, author, was born Dec. 10, 1852, in Garrattsville, N. Y. He is a professor of geology in the university of Michigan from 1892, and a geologist in the United States geological survey, in 1880-92. He is the author of Lakes of North America; Lake Lahontan; Quaternary History of Moro Valley; Glaciers of North America; Present and Extinct Lakes of Nevada; and Volcanoes of North America, and many geological reports.

RUSSELL, JAMES, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Oct. 1, 1640, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a representative in 1679, an assistant in 1680-86, and one of Gov. Joseph Dudley's council. He was a member of the council of safety in 1689, a leader in the revolutionary movement of that day, a councillor under the new charter in 1692, and was a judge and treasurer of Massachusetts in 1680-86. He died April 28, 1709, in Charlestown, Mass.

RUSSELL, JAMES M., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1786, in York, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1841 to 1843. He died Dec. 20, 1870, in Bedford, Pa.

RUSSELL, JEREMIAH, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1843 to 1845.

RUSSELL, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1805 to 1809.

RUSSELL, JOHN E., agriculturist, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1834, in Greenfield, Mass. He was elected secretary of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture in 1880, and was five times re-elected, serving until he was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

RUSSELL, JOHN HENRY, naval officer, was born July 4, 1827, in Frederick City, Md. He served in the United States navy during the civil war, attaining the rank of lieutenant-commander in 1862; and in 1886 he was commissioned rear-admiral.

RUSSELL, JONATHAN, diplomat, congressman, was born in 1771 in Providence, R. I. He was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Sweden in 1814, and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1821 to 1823. He died Feb. 19, 1832, in Milton, Mass.

RUSSELL, JOSEPH, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1845 to 1847, and from 1851 to 1853.

RUSSELL, L. A., musician, author, was born in 1834, in Newark, N. J. He is the musical director of the Newark College of Music, the author of How to Read Music; and composer of several pieces for the pianoforte, voice, orchestra and chorus.

RUSSELL, LAWRENCE, lawyer, state legislator, was born Aug. 3, 1855, in Russellville, Ark. During 1891-94 he served as a representative in the Arkansas state legislature. He is an able lawyer and practices his profession in Russellville, Ark.

RUSSELL, LILLIAN, operatic singer, was born Dec. 4, 1861, in Clinton, Iowa. Her father was Charles E. Leonard, who died in 1897, and for many years prior to his death was a member of the firm of Knight and Leonard, the well-known printers and publishers of Chicago. Her mother, Cynthia Leonard, has been for many years a prominent advocate of female suffrage and other reforms. Lillian made her debut as a ballad singer in New York city; went to Europe in 1883, and from 1885 attained rank as one of the foremost operatic singers of the century. Her labors on the stage have been highly profitable, and she is now the possessor of a comfortable home in New York city. She has been married and has one daughter.

RUSSELL, NOADIAH, clergyman, was born in 1659 in Middletown, Conn. In 1688 he was ordained minister of the church in Middletown, where he remained until his death. He was one of the twelve founders of Yale, and a trustee of that college. His Diary is published in the New England Historical Register for January, 1853. He died Dec. 3, 1713, in Middletown, Conn.

RUSSELL, O. E., business man, was born May 4, 1848, in Meigs county, Ohio. He is a successful business man of Middleport, Ohio, where he is engaged in the stationery and printing business. He has been a member of the city council; a delegate of the supreme council of the A. P. A. at Washington, and has filled various other public positions of trust.

RUSSELL, RICHARD, colonist, was born in 1612 in England. He came to this country in 1640, was a representative in 1646, speaker of the house in 1648-49, 1654, 1656, and 1658, assistant in 1659-76, and treasurer of Massachusetts from 1644 until his death. He died May 14, 1674, in Charlestown, Mass.

RUSSELL, S. DOUGLAS, lawyer, journalist, was born Aug. 3, 1862, in Natchez, Miss. He received his education in the Alcon university of Rodney, Miss., and is now a prominent lawyer of Kingfisher City, O. T., and the editor and owner of The Constitution of that city.

RUSSELL, SAMUEL L., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1855.

RUSSELL, SHELDON C., soldier, lawyer, was born May 26, 1832, in Wayne county, Pa. He attended the academy in Coudersport, Pa., where he also studied law. In 1856 he moved to Kansas, and was admitted to the bar three years later at Lawrence, where he has since been successfully engaged in the practice of his profession. In 1861 he enlisted in the eighth regiment, Kansas volunteer infantry, as first lieutenant and adjutant; served in the army of the Cumberland; and was later commissioned a major of the thirteenth Kansas. He represented Douglas county in the state convention that nominated Governor S. J. Crawford, and was offered the position of paymaster in the regular army by Abraham Lincoln.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Ireland. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1827 to 1833, and again from 1841 to 1843.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 20, 1690, in Middletown, Conn. He declined the presidency of Yale college, was one of its trustees, and published a sermon entitled The Decay of Love to God in Churches.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM, elocutionist, author, was born April 28, 1798, in Scotland. He was an elocutionist of note, widely known in his day as a teacher, and the author of Orthophony, or Vocal Culture; Pulpit Elocution; Lessons in Enunciation; and Grammar of Composition. He died May 17, 1873, in Lancaster, Mass.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM, author, was born Dec. 28, 1835, in Tennessee. He is a practical horseshoer; and is the author of a work entitled Russell on Scientific Horseshoeing. He is conceded to be the standard authority on horseshoeing; has over two hundred different styles of horseshoes, which have been made during the past half century, and at the World's Columbian exposition he received the first prize medal and diploma.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM, educator, college president, was born July 16, 1842, near Centerville, Ind. He received a thorough education in the common schools, Richmond academy, and the Illinois State Normal university. In 1869 he was superintendent of schools of Marion, Ind., and during the years 1877-85 was a teacher in the Marion public schools and the Marion Normal school. Since 1890 he has been connected with the Southland college, and since 1891 has been its president.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM A., manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born April 22, 1831, in Wells River, Vt. He was a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature in 1869, and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM EUSTIS, governor, author, was born Sept. 6, 1857, in Cambridge, Mass. He was mayor of Cambridge during 1884-88; and for three terms he served as governor of Massachusetts during 1890-93. He was the author of Speeches and Messages. He died in 1896.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM F., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in Saugerties, N. Y. He was a member of the legislature of New York in 1850. He was elected a representative from New York in the thirty-fifth congress.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM HOWARD, lawyer, was born Nov. 24, 1867, in Livermore, Pa. In 1879 he moved to Kansas with his parents; and is now a prominent lawyer of La Crosse. In his youth he taught school, herded cattle, and was local manager for an eastern lumber company. He organized a camp Sons of Veterans, and was subsequently elected commander-in-chief.

RUST, ALBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in Virginia. Removing to Arkansas he was a representative in congress from that state from 1855 to 1857, and again from 1859 to 1861. He took part in the rebellion of 1861, and was a brigadier-general.

RUST, MRS. ELIZABETH L., author, was born in Ellicott City, Md. She is the general corresponding secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal Church from its formation. As secretary of this great institution she has written seventeen annual reports, in which are discussed almost every phase of home missionary work.

RUST, RICHARD S., clergyman, college president, philanthropist, was born Sept. 12, 1815, in Ipswich, Mass. As early as 1837 he was a lecturer on anti-slavery in New England. He originated and published the American Pulpit. He was president of Ellington seminary in 1842; of the New Hampshire conference seminary and Female college in 1850-54; in 1858 was elected the first president of Wilberforce college of Ohio, and in 1863 was elected president of the Wesleyan college for Women at Cincinnati, Ohio. For twenty-five years he was field and corresponding secretary of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational society of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which he was one of the founders.

RUST, WILLIAM APPLETON, physician, druggist, legislator, was born June 22, 1823, in Gorham, Maine. He attended the Gorham academy, Maine Medical school, and in 1846 graduated at the New York university. He has been trustee of the Maine State Reform school; member of the Massachusetts house of representatives, and a member of the Boston school board. He has been a trustee of the city hospital; a director of the Metropolitan railroad; for twenty-five years a director of the Blackstone National bank; and vice-president of the Penny Savings bank. For eighteen years he practiced medicine with success, and since 1865 has been a successful wholesale druggist of Boston.

RUTER, MARTIN, clergyman, college president, author, was born April 3, 1785, in Charlton, Mass. When Augusta college, Kentucky, was established in 1828 he was selected for the presidency, and he held that office until he resigned in order to return to the ministry in 1832. He preached in Pittsburg, Pa., for two years, and then became president of Allegheny college. Obtaining the appointment of superintendent of the mission to Texas, he resigned in July, 1837. Rutersville, Texas, was named for him, and the college there was founded in his honor. He published a Collection of Miscellaneous Pieces. He died May 16, 1838, in Washington, Texas.

RUTGERS, HENRY, soldier, philanthropist, was born Oct. 7, 1745, in New York city. He was a member of the New York assembly, and during 1802-26 was a regent in the New York State university. Rutgers college of New Brunswick, N. J., was named in his honor, he having contributed five thousand dollars to its funds.

RUTHERFOORD, JOHN, governor, was born Dec. 6, 1792, in Richmond, Va. In 1841 he was elected governor of Virginia, serving until 1842. He died in July, 1865.

RUTHERFORD, ALLAN, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 29, 1839, in New York city. He served as a volunteer officer during the rebellion, and became a brigadier-general by brevet. In 1866 he was appointed a captain in the regular army; and resigned in 1870 to accept the office of third auditor of the United States treasury.

RUTHERFORD, GRIFFITH, soldier, was born about 1731 in Ireland. In 1776 he was appointed a brigadier-general by the provincial congress. In 1784 he was a state senator in South Carolina. Ten years later he became president of the Tennessee legislative council. A county in North Carolina, and also in Tennessee, bear his name. He died in 1794 in Tennessee.

RUTHERFORD, JOHN, governor. He was a native of Virginia. He was governor of that state in 1841 and 1842.

RUTHERFORD, JOHN, lawyer, United States senator, was born in September, 1760, in New York city. He was a senator of the United States from New Jersey from 1791 to 1798; was a presidential elector in 1798, 1813, and 1821, and was the last survivor of the senators in congress during the administration of President Washington. He died Feb. 23, 1840, in Rutherford, N. J.

RUTHERFORD, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, was born Dec. 6, 1792, in Richmond, Va. He was for many years president of the Virginia Mutual Assurance society, the first institution of this kind in the state, and held that post until his death. He became lieutenant-governor of Virginia in 1840. He died in July, 1866, in Richmond, Va.

RUTHERFORD, MILDRED LEWIS, educator, author, was born July 16, 1852, in Athens, Ga. She received her education in the Lucy Cobb institute of Athens, Ga., and during 1880-95 she was principal in that institution. She has been president of the Ladies' Memorial association since 1888; president of the Daughters of the Confederacy since its organization; and is the state historian for Georgia in the U. D. C. She is the author of English Authors; American Authors; Bible Questions; Bible Authors; Mannie Brown, That School Girl; Edward Kennedy, That College Boy; and other works.

RUTHERFORD, ROBERT, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1793 to 1797.

RUTHERFORD, JOHN, United States senator, was born in 1760 in New York city. In 1798 he served as a United States senator. He died Feb. 23, 1840, in New Jersey.

RUTHRAUFF, JOHN M., clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 13, 1846, near Canton, Ohio. This eminent clergyman was president of the Rock River assembly during 1878-95, and is now president of Carthage college, Illinois.

RUTLEDGE, EDWARD, signer of the declaration of independence, was born Nov. 23, 1749, in Charleston, S. C. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1774 to 1777, and signed the declaration of independence. He served in the state assembly, and in 1798 was elected governor of South Carolina. He died Jan. 23, 1800, in Charleston, S. C.

RUTLEDGE, EDWARD, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 11, 1799, in Charleston, S. C. He was an episcopal clergyman who was professor of moral philosophy at the university of Pennsylvania, and the author of The Family Altar; and History of the Church of England. He died March 13, 1832, in Savannah, Ga.

RUTLEDGE, HUGH, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born about 1741 in Charleston, S. C. In 1782-85 he was speaker of the South Carolina state house of representatives. In 1791 he was chosen by the legislature one of the three judges of the court of equity as reconstituted by a lately enacted law, which office he filled till his death. He died in January, 1811, in Charleston, S. C.

RUTLEDGE, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in 1739 in Charleston, S. C. He was a delegate to the continental congress; and in 1776 was appointed president of South Carolina, and commander-in-chief of that colony, having also been a member of the convention of 1774. He was governor of the state in 1779; was chancellor of the state in 1784; and was a member of the convention to frame the constitution of the United States, and signed that instrument. He was a representative in congress from 1797 to 1803. After having been judge of the court of chancery, chief justice of South Carolina, and judge of the supreme court of the United States, he was finally promoted to the position of chief justice, but was not confirmed by the senate. He died in July, 1800, in Charleston, S. C.

RUTTENBER, EDWARD MANNING, antiquarian, author, was born July 17, 1824, in Bennington, Vt. He is an antiquary of Newburg, N. Y., who has published a History of Newburg; History of Orange County; and History of the Hudson River Tribes.

RUTTER, JAMES H., railroad president, was born Feb. 3, 1836, in Lowell, Mass. In 1883 he was president of the New York Central Railroad company. He died June 27, 1885.

RYALL, D. D., lawyer, congressman, was born in Trenton, N. J. He adopted the profession of the law; and was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1839 to 1841.

RYALS, GARLAND MITCHELL, farmer, legislator, was born May 27, 1839, in Cumberland county, Va. During the civil war he was color bearer of his company; became second sergeant, and was finally promoted to captain and major of cavalry, and served on the staffs of Lee, Stuart and Hampton. After the war he engaged in merchandising, railroading and farming; and in 1869 moved to Savannah, Ga. In 1875 he was connected with a cotton farm, and since 1880 has pursued truck farming. In 1890 he served with distinction as a member of the Georgia state legislature. He is vice-president of the Farmers' National congress, and has filled various other public offices of trust.

RYAN, ABRAM JOSEPH—Father Ryan—clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 15, 1839, in Norfolk, Va. He was a Roman catholic priest and verse-writer of the south whose verse has been much over-praised in some quarters. He was the author of Poems, Patriotic, Religious, and Miscellaneous; The Conquered Banner, and Other Poems; and A Crown for Our Queen. He died April 22, 1886, in Louisville, Ky.

RYAN, EDWARD GEORGE, journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 13, 1810, in Ireland. He was city attorney of Milwaukee in 1870-72, and in 1874 was appointed chief justice of the state to fill a vacancy; and was elected to the office in the following April. He died Oct. 19, 1880, in Milwaukee, Wis.

RYAN, EMMONS BLACKBURN, lawyer, public official, was born Nov. 20, 1832, in Lexington, Ky. He was educated at the Transylvania university of his native city. He moved to California in 1849, and subsequently engaged in the provision business in Sacramento. For many years he was assessor of that city, and was connected with the paymaster's department of the army during 1864-66. In 1868 he became private secretary to Senator Stanford, which confidential position he filled until 1871. Since that time he has been general tax commissioner of San Francisco, Cal., and for twenty-six years tax attorney for the Central Pacific Railroad company and the Southern Pacific Railroad company.

RYAN, GEORGE PARKER, naval officer, was born May 8, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He organized parties for the observation of the transit of Venus in 1874, and was selected to take charge of the expedition to Kerguelen islands. At the time of his death he was one of the most scientific navigators of the service. He died Nov. 24, 1877, at sea.

RYAN, JAMES, Roman catholic bishop, was born in 1848 in Ireland. After his ordination he was on the Kentucky mission for seven years, principally at St. Martin's, Meade county, and at Elizabethtown, Hardin county. He moved to the Peoria diocese in Illinois in 1878, and was appointed pastor at Wataga. In 1888 he was nominated to the bishopric of Alton.

RYAN, JOHN, college president, was born June 24, 1810, in Ireland. He was ordained a Roman catholic priest; and in 1850 was elected president of St. Francis Xavier college, resigning in 1856. He died in 1861, in New York city.

RYAN, MRS. MARAH ELLIS (MARTIN), actress, author, was born in 1860 in Pennsylvania. She is an actress and novelist living at Fayette Springs, Pa., and the author of A Pagan of the Alleghanies; Merze; On Love's Domains; Told in the Hills; and Squaw Eloise.

RYAN, PATRICK JOHN, archbishop, was born Feb. 20, 1831, in Ireland. During the war he acted as chaplain to the Gratiot Street Military prison and hospital, and after the war was appointed rector of St. John's church. In 1872 he was consecrated bishop of St. Louis, and subsequently archbishop; and in 1884 was transferred to Philadelphia as its archbishop. He is the author of What Catholics do Not Believe; and Some of the Causes of Modern Religious Scepticism.

RYAN, STEPHEN VINCENT, bishop, author, was born Jan. 1, 1825, in Ontario. He was the Roman catholic bishop of Buffalo from 1860, and the author of The Claims of a Protestant Episcopal Bishop to Apostolical Succession and Valid Orders Disproved.

RYAN, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 25, 1837, in Oxford, N. Y. In 1865 he moved to Kansas and settled in Topeka; was county attorney for eight years; and was assistant United States attorney from 1873 to 1877. He was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a republican.

RYAN, THOMAS F., capitalist, was born Oct. 17, 1851, in Blue Ridge, Va. In 1886 he joined hands with William C.

Whitney in securing and consolidating the various street surface railroads in New York, which now comprise the large system owned by the Metropolitan Traction company. He is a director in the Southern railway, the Hocking Valley, the Flint and Pere Marquette and the Georgia Central railroads, the Metropolitan Traction company, the Consolidated Traction company, the Bank of New Amsterdam, and many other corporations of like nature. The success of his business career, culminating in a fortune estimated at several millions, is obviously due to indomitable will power, unrelenting perseverance and breadth of mental vision.

RYAN, WILLIAM, farmer, merchant, congressman, was born in 1840 in Ireland. He was a member of the New York state assembly in 1891 and 1892, and was elected as a democrat to the fifty-third congress.

RYAN, WILLIAM REDMOND, author, soldier, was born in England. He published Personal Adventures in California, which was illustrated from his own drawings, and contains many interesting details of early pioneer life in California.

RYDER, ALBERT PINKHAM, artist, was born March 19, 1847, in New Bedford. Among his works are Wandering Cow; Curfew Hour; Pegasus; Farm-Yard; The Waste of Waters Is Their Field; Little Maid of Arcady; Temple of the Mind; and Phantom Ship.

RYDER, EDGAR L., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 13, 1860, in Sing Sing, N. Y. He has become prominent as a lawyer, journalist, and writer on economic subjects. He has served as a member of the New York state assembly.

RYDER, JAMES, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 8, 1800, in Ireland. In 1839 he became pastor of St. Mary's church, Philadelphia, and in the following year he took charge of a church in Frederick, Md., which he soon left to assume the presidency of Georgetown college. From 1843 till 1845 he was superior of the Jesuit order in the United States. In 1846 he became president of the college of the Holy Cross, which had been established three years before at Worcester, Mass. He died Jan. 12, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa.

RYDER, PLATT POWELL, artist, was born June 11, 1821, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Among his genre paintings are Life's Evening; Spinning; An Interior; Farewell; Spinning-Wheel; Reading the Cup; Welcome Step (1883); Clean Shave; Washing-Day; Bill of Fare; Fireside; and Watching and Waiting. He was elected an associate of the National academy in 1868, and was also a founder of the Brooklyn Academy of Design.

RYDER, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, was born July 13, 1822, in Provincetown, Mass. He became pastor of the universalist church in Roxbury, Mass., where he remained ten years. He resigned this post to accept a call to St. Paul's church of Chicago, in 1860. He bequeathed more than half a million dollars to charitable, educational and religious institutions. He died March 8, 1888, in Chicago, Ill.

RYERSON, MARTIN, merchant, lawyer, jurist, was born in New Jersey. He was associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey, and in 1874 was appointed one of the judges of the court organized in Washington for the purpose of adjudicating the Alabama claims. He died in June, 1875, in Newton, N. J.

RYERSON, MARTIN, merchant, was born Jan. 6, 1818. In 1839 Mr. Ryerson engaged with a merchant and lumberman of Muskegon, Mich., continuing with him for two years. Being impressed with the timber wealth of the country and its prospective profit, he bargained for his employer's interest in the saw mill and engaged in the manufacture of lumber—at first upon a small scale. The rise of western towns supplied him with an excellent market, and he gradually increased his facilities until the business eventually grew to be one of the largest of the kind in the west. He erected in Lincoln park, Chicago, a bronze group of statuary in memory of the Ottawa nation, for whom in his early life he had acquired a profound admiration. He died Sept. 6, 1887, in Boston, Mass.

RYLANCE, JOSEPH HINE, clergyman, author, was born June 16, 1826, in England. He is an episcopal clergyman of New York city, and rector of St. Mark's in the Bowery from 1871, and prominent among broad churchmen. He is the author of Preachers and Preaching; Essays on Miracles; Social Questions; and Pulpit Talks on Topics of the Time.

RYLAND, JOHN EDWIN, lawyer, jurist, was born July 8, 1830, in Fayette, Mo. During 1862-65 he was circuit attorney of the sixth judicial circuit of Missouri, and subsequently he became judge of the criminal court of the fifteenth judicial district of Missouri.

RYLAND, ROBERT, clergyman, college president, was born March 14, 1805, in King and Queen county, Va. In 1832 he took charge of the manual-labor school in Richmond, and when that school was chartered in 1844 as Richmond college he was made its president, serving until 1866. For twenty-five years he acted as pastor of the First African Baptist church of Richmond, during which time he baptized into its fellowship nearly 4,000 persons. In 1868 he removed to Kentucky, where he has been engaged in the work of teaching and preaching.

RYLAND, WILLIAM SEMPLE, clergyman, college president, was born June 4, 1836, in Richmond, Va. This eminent clergyman and educator has held chairs in the Female institute of Mississippi; and Lexington Female college of Kentucky, of which he became president. He is professor of natural science in Bethel college of Russellville, Ky., and has been its president since 1889.

RYON, JAMES, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 13, 1831, in Elkland, Pa. He was admitted to the bar in 1856, and in 1861 was elected to the Pennsylvania state legislature. He was elected president judge of Schuylkill county, and displayed high judicial management in the affairs of the bench.

RYON, JOHN W., lawyer, congressman, was born March 4, 1825, in Tioga county, Pa. He was district attorney of his native county from 1850 to 1856; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

SABIN, ALVAH, clergyman, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1793, in Georgia, Vt. He served ten years in the Vermont state legislature; was secretary of state for Vermont in 1841, and was a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1857.

SABIN, CHAUNCEY BREWER, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Aug. 6, 1824, in Oneonta, N. Y. In 1873 he was elected a representative in the Texas state legislature, and in 1874 was appointed postmaster at Galveston, which office he held until 1883. In 1884 he was appointed United States district judge for the eastern district of Texas.

SABIN, DAVID D., merchant, banker, legislator, was born Dec. 31, 1830, in Chenango, N. Y. He was a member of the Iowa state legislature from the fifty-ninth district. He is a successful merchant and banker of Belvidere, Ill.

SABIN, DWIGHT MAY, soldier, manufacturer, state legislator, United States senator, was born April 25, 1844, in Marseilles, Ill. He moved to Minnesota in 1868 and in 1870 was elected a state senator, and was re-elected in 1871. He served several terms as a representative in the state legislature, became president of several large manufacturing companies, and was elected a United States senator from Minnesota for six years from March 4, 1883.

SABIN, ELIJAH ROBINSON, evangelist, author, was born Sept. 10, 1776, in Tolland, Conn. He was a methodist evangelist of New England, and the author of The Road to Happiness; and Charles Observer. He died May 4, 1818, in Augusta, Ga.

SABIN, GEORGE M., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 18, 1835, in Cuyahoga county, Ohio. He moved to Nevada in 1868, and practiced law, and in 1882 was appointed United States district judge for the district of Nevada, residing at Carson City.

SABIN, JOSEPH, publisher, bibliophile, author, was born Dec. 9, 1821, in England. He was an English publisher and bibliophile who came to America in 1848, and finally settling in New York city, became widely known as a bookseller and collector of rare books. He was the author of The Thirty-Nine Articles of the Church of England, with Scriptural Proofs; Bibliotheca Americana; and Bibliography of Bibliographies. He died June 5, 1881, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

SABINE, LORENZO, merchant, state legislator, congressman, author, was born Feb. 28, 1803, in New Lisbon, N. H. He was for some time secretary of the Boston board of trade; was three times elected to the legislature of Maine from Eastport; and was at one time deputy collector of the port of Passamaquoddy. He held, in Massachusetts, the position of confidential agent of the treasury department, and was a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-second congress. He was the author of a Life of Commodore Preble; The American Loyalists; Report on the American Fisheries; and Notes on Duels and Duelling. He died April 14, 1877, in Boston, Mass.

SACHS, BERNARD, physician, author, was born in 1858 in Maryland. He is a physician of New York city, well known as a neurologist, and the author of Nervous and Mental Diseases of Childhood, and many professional monographs.

SACHSE, JULIUS FRIEDRICH, journalist, author, was born in 1842 in Pennsylvania. He is a journalist of Philadelphia; and the author of The German Pietists of Provincial Pennsylvania; and The Genesis of the Lutheran Church in Pennsylvania.

SACKETT, MYRON W., journalist, was born Oct. 24, 1841, in Sonthington, Ohio. He received his education in the common schools and at Mahoning academy of Canfield, Ohio. His early life was passed in mercantile pursuits in Meadville and Pittsburg, Pa. In 1871 he became identified with the Ancient Order of United Workmen, a mutual protection organization; since 1878 he has devoted his entire time to its interests, and since 1879 has been its supreme secretary. Its members now number half a million; and have paid out over eighty million dollars to deceased members. For many years he has also been the secretary-treasurer of the National Fraternal congress, wherein is represented forty-two fraternal benefit orders. For a number of years past he has also been editor-in-chief of the Keystone Workman, and has contributed to periodical literature various articles on reform and kindred subjects.

SACKETT, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 18, 1812, in Aurelius, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1849 to 1853. He practiced law in Saratoga Springs.

SADLER, ORIN WINSLOW, doctor of medicine, was born Jan. 2, 1843, in Brewerton, N. Y. He received a thorough education, and attended the Michigan university and the medical department of the Northwestern university of Chicago. He is a successful oculist and aurist of Pittsburg, Pa., and a member of the leading medical bodies of America and Europe.

SADLER, THOMAS WILLIAM, soldier, agriculturist, lawyer, congressman, was born April 17, 1831, near Russellville, Ala. He was county superintendent of education from 1875 to 1884; and was a presidential elector in 1880. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

SADLER, ANNA TERESA, author, was born Jan. 19, 1854, in Montreal, Canada. She is the author of Seven Years and Mair; The King's Page; Ethel Hamilton; Names that Live, a volume of biographies; Women of Catholicity; The Silent Woman of Alood; and many translations from the French, Italian and German.

SADLER, MRS. MARY ANNE (MADDEN), author, was born Dec. 31, 1820, in Ireland. She is a prominent writer of Roman catholic Sunday-school tales, and wife of J. Sadler, a New York publisher. Among her many writings are, Alice Riordan; Red Hand of Ulster; The Daughter of Tyrconnell; and The Old House by the Boyne.

SADTLER, BENJAMIN, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 25, 1823, in Baltimore, Md. In 1875 he accepted the presidency of Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Pa. He has published numerous baccalaureate discourses and addresses, including A Rebellious Nation Reproved; and The Causes and Remedies of the Losses of Her Population by the Lutheran Church in America.

SADTLER, SAMUEL PHILIP, chemist, educator, author, was born July 18, 1847, in Pine Grove, Pa. He is a chemist of Philadelphia, and professor in the university of Pennsylvania from 1875. He is the author of Chemical Experimentation; Handbook of Industrial Organic Chemistry; and A Text-Book of Chemistry.

SAFFOLD, REUBEN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 4, 1788, in Wilkes county, Ga. During the Indian troubles he commanded a volunteer company, and he subsequently served several terms in the legislature of Mississippi territory. He was made a circuit judge, and was one of the three judges that were appointed to the supreme bench in 1832, serving as chief justice in 1835-36. He died Feb. 15, 1847, in Dallas county, Ala.

SAFFORD, A. P. K., governor. He was governor of the territory of Arizona from 1870 to 1878.

SAFFORD, JAMES MERRILL, educator, geologist, chemist, was born Aug. 13, 1822, in Putnam, now a part of Zanesville, Ohio. In 1844 he graduated at the Ohio university, and afterward attended Yale university, from which institution he subsequently received the degree of Ph. D. During 1848-72 he was professor of natural science in Cumberland university; during 1873-96 was professor of chemistry in the medical department of the university of Nashville; in the medical department of the Vanderbilt university during 1873-94; and since 1875 he has also been professor of natural history and geology in the Vanderbilt university. In 1854-60 he was state geologist at Tennessee, and since 1871 has filled the same position. He is the author of a series of reports on the Geology of Tennessee, and various other works.

SAFFORD, TRUMAN HENRY, astronomer, educator, author, was born Jan. 6, 1836, in Royalton, Vt. He is an astronomer of note, famous in childhood as a mathematician, and professor of astronomy at Williams college from 1876. He is the author of Mathematical Teaching and Its Modern Methods.

SAFFORD, WILLIAM HARRISON, was born Feb. 19, 1821, in Parkersburg, W. Va. He is a lawyer of Chillicothe, Ohio, and the author of Life of Blennerhasset; and The Blennerhasset Papers.

SAGE, EBENEZER, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1809 to 1815, and again from 1819 to 1820. He died in 1834.

SAGE, GARDNER AVERY, surveyor, philanthropist, was born May 3, 1813, in New York city. He built and endowed the library of the Theological seminary at New Brunswick, N. J., which bears his name, and which he presented to the general synod. His gifts amounted to nearly $250,000. He died Aug. 22, 1882, in Sulphur Springs, Va.

SAGE, GEORGE R., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 24, 1828, in Erie, Pa. He was prosecuting attorney three terms in Lebanon, Ohio. He returned to Cincinnati in 1865, and practiced law in the firm of Sage and Hinkle until appointed, in 1883, United States district judge for the southern district of Ohio.

SAGE, HENRY W., financier, state legislator, was born Jan. 31, 1813, in Middletown, Conn. About 1854, he built a saw mill at Lake Simcoe, in Canada, and later became a lumber operator in West Bay City, Mich., and one of the largest owners of pine lands in that state. He has given more than $1,250,000 to Cornell university; and Sage college for women, a chapel, a library and other buildings there are monuments to his liberality. In 1847 he was, as a republican, elected to the New York legislature, and in 1892 was a candidate for elector.

SAGE, RUSSELL, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1816, in Oneida county, N. Y. In 1841 he was elected an alderman of the city of Troy, N. Y., and by annual re-elections, served seven years in that capacity. He was treasurer of Rensselaer county for seven years, in which office he was especially popular. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1853 to 1857, and was the first man who advocated, on the floor of congress, the purchase of Mount Vernon by the general government. For twelve years he was president and vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad; and is director in many of the largest railroads in America.

SAILLY, PETER, public official, congressman, was born in France. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1805 to 1807. He was appointed, by President Jefferson, collector of customs for the district of Champlain, holding the office until his death. He died in 1826 in Pittsburg, Pa.

SAINT GAUDENS, AUGUSTUS, sculptor, was born March 1, 1848, in Ireland. He has been president of the Society of American Artists. His more important works are the bas-relief Adoration of the Cross by Angels, in St. Thomas's church, New York; statues of Admiral David G. Farragut, in New York; of Robert R. Randall, at Sailor's Snug Harbor, Staten Island, N. Y., and of Abraham Lincoln, in Chicago.

SAINT GAUDENS, LOUIS, sculptor, was born Jan. 8, 1854, in New York. He has modeled a Faun; St. John, for the Church of the Incarnation, New York, and other statues, and has assisted his brother in most of his works.

SAJOUS, CHARLES EUCHARISTE, physician, author, was born Dec. 13, 1852, in Paris, France. He became clinical chief in the throat department of Jefferson college hospital of Philadelphia, and finally lecturer in the college proper. In 1888 he edited and brought to a successful issue one of the largest medical works of the time, the Annals of the Universal Medical Sciences.

SALES, FRANCIS, educator, author, was born in 1771 in France. He was instructor at Harvard in French and Spanish from 1816 till 1839, and afterward in Spanish alone till the year of his death. He edited and enlarged Augustin E. Jousse's Grammar of the Spanish Language; and published critical and annotated editions of the Spanish dramatists, Don Quixote, and other Spanish classics, the Fables of Fontaine, with notes, and treatises on the French and Spanish languages. He died Feb. 16, 1854, in Cambridge, Mass.

SALISBURY, EDWARD ELBRIDGE, philologist, educator, author, was born April 6, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He is a philologist of distinction, professor of Arabic at Yale university in 1841-56; and the author of General and Biographical Monographs.

SALISBURY, JAMES HENRY, physician, author, was born Oct. 13, 1823, in Scott, N. Y. In 1864 he settled in Cleveland, Ohio, where he assisted in establishing the Charity Hospital Medical college, before which he lectured till 1866 on physiology and histology. He has been president of the institute of Micrology since 1878. Among his publications are a prize essay on the Anatomy and History of Plants; and one on the Chemical and Physiological Examinations of the Maize Plant during the Various Stages of Its Growth.

SALOMON, EDWARD, lawyer, governor, was born in 1828 in Prussia. He became a lawyer, was governor of Wisconsin in 1862-63, and then practiced in New York city.

SALOMON, FREDERICK, soldier, surveyor, was born April 7, 1826, in Prussia. He served through the civil war, receiving the brevet of major-general in 1865. He was subsequently for several years surveyor-general of Utah territory.

SALSBUURY, ELIAS D., lawyer, was born July 23, 1867, in the village of Locke, Ind. He received his education at the university of Michigan, and graduated from the law department of that institution. He is a prominent lawyer of Goshen, Ind., and first distinguished himself as an able lawyer in his defense of Hendryx in the famous Hendryx-Calkins murder case.

SALT, ENOCH, musician, composer, was born April 9, 1856, in Covington, Ky. In 1876 he was the organist at the Centennial exhibition, and is now an organist of Portsmouth, Ohio. He is the composer of several songs, church music, and several sonatas for the piano.

SALTER, RICHARD, clergyman, philanthropist, author, was born in 1723 in Boston, Mass. He gave to Yale college in 1781 a farm, which was sold for $2,000, for the purpose of promoting the study of Hebrew and other oriental languages. He published an Election Sermon; and began a Commentary on the New Testament. He died April 14, 1789, in Mansfield, Conn.

SALTER, SUMNER, musician, composer, was born June 24, 1856, in Burlington, Iowa. He is a noted organist and director, and the author of a number of songs and church music.

SALTER, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 17, 1821, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1846 he has been pastor of the congregational church of Burlington, Iowa. He is the author of The Life of James W. Grimes.

SALTER, WILLIAM D., naval officer, was born in 1794 in New York city. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1809, became lieutenant in 1814, was made master-commandant in 1831, captain in 1839, and commodore on the retired list in 1862. He died Jan. 3, 1869, in Elizabeth, N. J.

SALTONSTALL, DUDLEY, naval officer, was born Sept. 8, 1738, in New London, Conn. He was a commodore in the continental navy. He died in 1796, in the West Indies.

SALTONSTALL, GURDON, clergyman, governor, was born March 27, 1666, in Haverhill, Mass. He was governor of Connecticut from 1707 till his death, and he bequeathed one thousand pounds to the university of Haverhill to educate students for the ministry. He died Oct. 1, 1724.

SALTONSTALL, LEVERETT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 13, 1783, in Haverhill, Mass. He was a state senator in 1831, and was mayor of Salem, Mass., from 1836 to 1838. He was a presidential elector in 1837, and frequently served in the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from 1838 to 1843. He died May 8, 1845, in Salem, Mass.

SALTONSTALL, LEVERETT, lawyer, genealogist, was born March 16, 1825, in Salem, Mass. In 1885 he was appointed collector of customs for the port of Boston and Charlestown. He is an active member of the Massachusetts Historical society and of other learned bodies, and compiled a genealogical history of his family.

SALTUS, EDGAR EVERTSON, author, was born in June, 1858, in New York city. He is a novelist of New York city, and the author of Balzac: a Study; The Philosophy of Disenchantment; The Anatomy of Negation; Mr. Incoul's Misadventure; The Truth about Tristram Varick; Eden: A Transaction in Hearts; When Dreams Come True; and The Pace that Kills.

SALTUS, FRANCIS SALTUS, poet, was born in 1849 in New York. He was a poet much of whose life was passed abroad. He was the author of Honey and Gall; Shadows and Ideals; The Witch of Endor; Romance of the Opera; Kings of Song; The Bayadere, and Other Sonnets. He died June 25, 1889.

SALYER, JOHN PRESTON, lawyer, state senator, was born Feb. 9, 1855, in Floyd, Ky. In 1893 he was elected from the thirty-fourth district of Kentucky as a member of the state senate, for the period of four years.

SALZMANN, JOSEPH, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 17, 1819, in Austria. He succeeded Archbishop Henni as president of the Theological seminary of St. Francis. He was one of the founders of the Seebote, a German periodical published at Milwaukee, to which he was a frequent contributor. He died Jan. 17, 1874, in Milwaukee, Wis.

SAMFORD, WILLIAM J., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1844, in Greenville, Ga. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1875; was a presidential elector in 1876; and was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

SAMMONS, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1803 to 1807, and again from 1809 to 1813.

SAMPLE, ROBERT FLEMING, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 19, 1829, in Corning, N. Y. He is a member of various church boards, and a director of the McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, Ill. Besides numerous pamphlets and sermons, he has published several books for the young on Christian experience, and also a Memoir of Rev. John C. Thom.

SAMPLE, SAMUEL C., congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1843 to 1845.

SAMPSON, ARCHIBALD J., soldier, lawyer, lecturer, was born in Ohio. In 1873 he moved to Colorado, and in 1876 was elected attorney-general of that state. He subsequently settled in Phoenix, Ariz., and in 1896 was elected department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of Arizona. He has delivered lectures upon Mexico; Music of the War; Music and Musicians; Lincoln; and other subjects.

SAMPSON, EZEKIEL S., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1831, in Huron county, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney in 1856-58, in Sigourney, Iowa. He was captain in the fifth Iowa infantry in 1861 and 1862, and lieutenant-colonel in 1863 and 1864. He was a state senator in 1866; and was judge of the sixth judicial district of Iowa from 1867 to 1875. He was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-fourth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

SAMPSON, EZRA, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Feb. 12, 1749, in Middleborough, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman at Plympton, Mass., in 1775-95, and subsequently a journalist in Hartford. He was the author of Beauties of the Bible; The Historical Dictionary; The Sham Patriot Unmasked; and The Brief Remarker on the Ways of Men. He died Dec. 12, 1823, in New York city.

SAMPSON, JOHN PATTERSON, lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 13, 1837, in Wilmington, N. C. He is a clergyman of the African methodist church, and prior to 1882 a lawyer in Washington. He is the author of Common Sense Physiology; The Disappointed Bride; Temperament and Phrenology of Mixed Races; Jolly People; and Illustrations in Theology.

SAMPSON, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 17, 1764, in Ireland. He was a famous lawyer of New York city who came to America in 1798, having previously been a barrister in Dublin. He was the author of Sampson Against the Philistines, or the Reform of Lawsuits; and Memoir of William Sampson. He died Dec. 27, 1836, in New York city.

SAMPSON, WILLIAM THOMAS, naval officer, was born Feb. 8, 1840, in Palmyra, N. Y. He came out of the naval academy in 1860 and went into service on the frigate Potomac. He was made master in 1861, lieutenant in 1862, and served on the practice ship John Adams for one year. After that he was a lieutenant on the ironclad Patapsco with the South Atlantic blockading squadron. He escaped luckily from that ship when she was destroyed in Charleston harbor on Jan. 15, 1865. After the war Captain Sampson served on the flagship Colorado and became lieutenant-commander in 1866. For three years, until 1871, he was stationed at the naval academy. He was then assigned to the Congress, served a year on that ship at the European station and got his commission as commander on Aug. 9, 1874. He was placed in command of the third-rater Alert, on which he served until 1875. Since then he has commanded the Swatara, has served at the academy, at the observatory, at the torpedo station and in other posts. In 1898 he was made rear-admiral for his services during the Spanish-American war.

SAMPSON, ZABDIEL, lawyer, congressman, was born in Plympton, Mass. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1817 to 1819; and in 1820 was appointed collector of customs at Plymouth. He died July 19, 1828, in Plymouth, Mass.

SAMPSON, CALEB, clergyman, was born March 19, 1858, in South Wales. He received a thorough education; and since 1884 has been distinguished as an eminent congregational clergyman; and now fills a pastorate in Oak Hill, Ohio. He is prominent among the Welshmen of this country; and was a candidate for the consulship at Swansea, Wales.

SAMPSON, DEBORAH, patriot, was born Dec. 17, 1760, in Plympton, Mass. At the outbreak of the revolution, she assumed male attire and enlisted in the army under the name of Robert Shirtleff. Accustomed to out-door labor, she was able to fulfill the duties of a soldier. She was twice wounded. Washington, on being apprised of her sex, called her to him, and without speaking to her, handed her a discharge. She afterward married Benjamin Gannett. She died April 29, 1827, in Sharon, Mass.

SAMPSON, GEORGE WHITEFIELD, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 29, 1819, in Harvard, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman and educator of New York city; and president of Rutgers Female college from 1871. He was a voluminous writer whose principal works comprise, Elements of Art Criticism; Physical Media in Spiritual Manifestations; The Atonement; The Divine Law as to Wines; Idols of Fashion and Culture; Tested Truths as to Relations of Capital and Labor; Outlines of the History of Ethnics; Spiritualism Tested, originally issued as To Daimonion; Guide to Self-Education; The Bible Revisers' Greek Text; and Guide to Bible Interpretation. He died in 1896.

SAMUEL, GREEN B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1794 in Virginia. He was elected from Virginia a representative in congress from 1838 to 1841, and was, for eleven years, judge of the supreme court of appeals. He died Jan. 5, 1859, in Richmond, Va.

SAMUELS, ADELAIDE FRANCES, was born Sept. 24, 1845, in Boston, Mass. She is a writer for juveniles, and the author of Dick and Daisy Series; Dick Travers Abroad Series; and Daisy Travers.

SAMUELS, EDWARD AUGUSTUS, naturalist, author, was born July 4, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He is a Boston naturalist, and the author of Ornithology and Oölogy of New England; Among the Birds; Mammalogy of New England; and The Living World.

SAMUELS, SAMUEL, inventor, author, was born March 14, 1825, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a noted seaman and inventor who organized the Steam Heating company of New York city in 1881. He is the author of From Forecastle to Cabin.

SAMUELS, MRS. SUSAN BLAGGE (CALDWELL), author, was born Oct. 21, 1848, in Dedham, Mass. She is a popular writer for juveniles, and the author of The Golden Rule Series.

SANBORN, ALVAN FRANCIS, author, was born Oct. 9, 1822, in Hampton Falls, N. H. He is the author of Moody's Lodging House, and Other Tenement Sketches; and Meg McIntyre's Raffle, and Other Stories.

SANBORN, CHARLES HENRY, physician, state legislator, author, was born Oct. 9, 1822, in Hampton Falls, N. H. He was active in the political revolt of the independent democrats of New Hampshire in 1845, which ended in detaching the state from its pro-slavery position. In 1854-55 he was a member of the legislature. He published The North and the South.

SANBORN, EDWIN DAVID, educator, author, was born May 14, 1808, in Gilmanton, N. H. He was an educator who was professor of literature at Dartmouth college in 1863-85, and the author of a History of New Hampshire. He died Dec. 29, 1885, in Hanover, N. H.

SANBORN, FRANKLIN BENJAMIN, journalist, author, was born Dec. 15, 1831, in Hampton Falls, N. H. He is a noted journalist and reformer living at Concord, Mass., and connected with The Springfield Republican from 1868. He is the author of Life of Thoreau; Life and Letters of John Brown; and Life of Dr. S. E. Howe.

SANBORN, HELEN JOSEPHINE, author, was born in 1857 in Maine. She is the author of A Winter in Central America, a volume of travels.

SANBORN, KATHERINE ABBOTT, educator, author, poet, was born in 1839 in Hanover, N. H. She is a popular and versatile writer of ephemeral books, who was professor of English literature at Smith college prior to 1886. She is the author of Home Pictures of English Poets; Vanity and Insanity of Genius; Adopting an Abandoned Farm; Abandoning an Adopted Farm; A Truthful Woman in Southern California; My Literary Zoo; and a number of compilations.

SANBORN, MRS. MARY [FARLEY], author, was born in 18—. She is a novelist of Boston; and the author of Sweet and Twenty; It came to Pass; and Paula Ferris.

SANBORN, WALTER HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1845, in Epsom, N. H. In 1891 he was elected from St. Paul, Minn., judge of the United States circuit court for the eighth circuit.

SANDEMAN, ROBERT, founder of a sect, author, was born in 1718 in Perth, Scotland. He was the founder of the Sandemanian sect, who came to America in 1764 and gathered a church at Danbury, Conn., where he died. He was the author of Letters on Theron and Aspasio; and Thoughts on Christianity. He died April 2, 1771, in Danbury, Conn.

SANDERS, BILLINGTON, McCARTER, college president, was born Dec. 2, 1789, in Columbia county, Ga. In 1833 he was elected the first president of Mercer university, serving until 1839. He died May 12, 1852, in Penfield, Ga.

SANDERS, BLEUFORD B., soldier, merchant, educator, clergyman, was born Sept. 19, 1840, near Carrollton, Ala. In 1861 he enlisted as a confederate soldier, and served four years; when he began educational work and taught for eight years. He then entered mercantile business until 1886, when he became a minister of the gospel, and is now pastor of the First Christian church of Austin, Tex., which has one of the largest congregations of that church in the state. For eight years he was an evangelist and served under the auspices of the Texas State Missionary board of the Christian church.

SANDERS, DANIEL CLARKE, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 3, 1768, in Sturbridge, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman and educator, president of the university of Vermont in 1800-14, and subsequently pastor at Medfield, Mass. He was the author of A History of the Indian Wars with the First Settlers of the United States, which he published in 1812. He died Oct. 18, 1850, in Medfield, Mass.

SANDERS, DANIEL JACKSON, college president, was born Feb. 15, 1847, near Winnsboro, S. C. In 1891 he was elected president of Biddle university, Charlotte, N. C.

SANDERS, MRS. ELIZABETH [ELKINS], author, was born in 1762 in Salem, Mass. She was a writer of Salem, Mass., and the author of Conversations, principally on the Aborigines of North America; First Settlers of New England; and Reviews. She died Aug. 10, 1851, in Salem, Mass.

SANDERS, JAMES T., lawyer, was born Oct. 6, 1868, in Hawkinsville, Ga. He received a thorough education and attended the Mercer university of Macon, Ga. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Florida at Miami; has been prosecuting attorney for Brevard and Dade counties; attorney for the board of county commissioners for four years; attorney for several large corporations; and makes a specialty of real estate and corporation law.

SANDERS, JOHN, civil engineer, author, was born in 1810 in Lexington, Ky. He was employed in the improvements on Delaware bay and river, and in constructing Fort Delaware. He published Memoirs on the Resources of the Valley of the Ohio. He died July 29, 1858, in Fort Delaware, Del.

SANDERS, WILBUR F., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born May 2, 1834, in Leon, N. Y. He was the republican candidate for delegate to congress in 1864, 1867, 1880 and 1886; was delegate to the republican national conventions of 1868, 1872, 1876 and 1884; and was a member of the legislative assembly of Montana from 1872 till 1880 inclusive. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican, and took his seat April 16, 1890.

SANDERS, WILLIAM PRICE, soldier, was born Aug. 12, 1833, in Lexington, Ky. He engaged in the battles of Yorktown, Williamsburg, Mechanicsville and Hanover Court-House during the Virginia peninsular campaign; and became brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863. He died Nov. 18, 1863, in Knoxville, Tenn.

SANDERSON, AUSTIN A., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 4, 1848, in New York city. During 1891-97 he was judge of the superior court of San Francisco. He was one of the ablest of San Francisco's many judges, and is now regarded as among her foremost lawyers.

SANDERSON, FREDERICK H., clergyman, lecturer, was born Sept. 3, 1855, in Toronto, Canada. He received his education in the Collegiate institute and theological department of the Victoria university of Coburg, Ontario, Canada. In 1882 he moved to Iowa, and immediately came into prominence through his abilities as a clergyman and popular lecturer. He was chaplain of the sixth regiment Iowa national guards; president of the Iowa state Epworth league; and was chosen as one of the eminent preachers at the Iowa state fair. In 1894 he moved to Omaha, Neb., where he is pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church.

SANDERSON, JOHN, educator, author, was born in 1783 in Carlisle, Pa. He was an educator of Philadelphia, classical professor in the high school in 1836-44, and of some note in his day as a humorist. He was the author of The American in Paris; The American in England; and the first two volumes of the Biography of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence. He died April 5, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SANDERSON, JOHN PHILIP, soldier, author, was born Feb. 13, 1818, in Lebanon county, Pa. He was an officer in the federal army; and the author of Views and Opinions of American Statesmen on Foreign Immigration; and Republican Landmarks. He died Oct. 14, 1864, in St. Louis, Mo.

SANDERSON, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born May 23, 1823, in Ireland. He is a presbyterian clergyman in New York and other localities; and the author of Jesus on the Holy Mount; Memorial Tributes; and The Bow in the Cloud.

SANDFORD, EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Sept. 22, 1809, in Ovid, N. Y. He began practice in New York city, and in 1842 was appointed judge of the criminal court of that city. He was a member of the New York senate in 1843. He died Sept. 27, 1854, at sea.

SANDFORD, JOHN, state senator, congressman. He was a representative in congress from 1841 to 1843; and was a member of the New York senate in the extra session of 1851. He died in October, 1857, in Amsterdam, N. Y.

SANDFORD, JONAH, state legislator, congressman. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1827 and 1830, from the county of St. Lawrence; and was a representative in congress from 1830 to 1831.

SANDFORD, LEWIS HALSEY, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 8, 1807, in Ovid, N. Y. He removed to New York city in 1833, and in 1843 was chosen assistant vice-chancellor of the first circuit. He became vice-chancellor in 1846, and from 1847 till his death was associate justice of the superior court of New York. He published Catalogue of the New York Law Institute; New York Chancery Reports; and New York Superior Court Reports. He died July 27, 1852, in Toledo, Ohio.

SANDFORD, THOMAS, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1762 in Westmoreland county, Va. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1799; was several times a member of the Kentucky legislature; and was a representative in congress from 1803 to 1807. He was drowned Dec. 10, 1808, in the Ohio river.

SANDIDGL, JOHN M., planter, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 7, 1817, in Franklin county, Ga. He served as a member of the legislature of Louisiana from 1846 to 1855; and was speaker of the house in the Louisiana legislature in 1854 and 1855. He was elected a representative from Louisiana to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses.

SANDIFORD, RALPH, author, was born in 1693 in England. He published A Brief Examination of the Practice of the Times, by the Foregoing and Present Dispensation. He died May 28, 1733, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SANDS, ALEXANDER HAMILTON, lawyer, author, was born May 2, 1828, in Williamsburg, Va. He was a lawyer of Richmond, Va., who entered the baptist ministry not long before his death. He was the author of History of a Suit in Equity; Recreations of a Southern Barrister; Practical Law Forms; and Sermons by a Village Pastor. He died Dec. 22, 1887, in Richmond, Va.

SANDS, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, naval officer, was born Feb. 11, 1811, in Baltimore, Md. He entered the navy in 1828; served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars; was commissioned rear-admiral in 1871; and placed on the retired list three years later. He died June 30, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

SANDS, JOHN D., clergyman, was born Feb. 8, 1815, in England. He is an eminent congregational clergyman; and during the war was chaplain in the nineteenth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry. He has filled pastorates in Essex, Vt.; several churches in Iowa; and now fills the pastorate in the Congregational church of Belmond, Iowa.

SANDS, JOSHUA, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1758 in Queens county, N. Y. During the war of 1775 he was a member of the Brooklyn home guards; in 1797 was appointed collector of customs for the port of New York; and was at one time a magistrate in Kings county. He also took an active part in the revolutionary war to its close. He was a member of the New York senate from Kings county from 1792 to 1799; and was a representative in congress from 1803 to 1804, and again from 1825 to 1827. He died Sept. 13, 1835, in Queens county, N. Y.

SANDS, JOSHUA RATOON, naval officer, was born May 15, 1795, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1812 he became a midshipman; lieutenant in 1818; commander in 1840; captain in 1854; and commodore on the retired list in 1862.

SANDS, ROBERT CHARLES, journalist, author, poet, was born May 11, 1799, in Flatbush, L. I. He was a journalist and verse-writer of New York city who wrote a Life of Paul Jones; The Talisman; and co-author with Eastburn of the once noted poem Yamoyden. He died in December, 1832, in Hoboken, N. J.

SANFORD, DAVID, clergyman, was born Dec. 11, 1737, in Milford, Conn. He was ordained pastor of the Congregational church at Medway, Mass., where he passed the remainder of his life, with the exception of a brief period, during which he served as a chaplain in the revolutionary army. He early resisted the oppression of Great Britain, and relinquished his salary for a time. He died April 7, 1810, in Medford, Mass.

SANFORD, EDWARD, journalist, state senator, poet, was born July 8, 1805, in Albany, N. Y. In 1838 he was made assistant naval officer at the port of New York, and also held the office of secretary to the commission to restore the duties on goods that had been destroyed by the great fire of 1835. In 1843 he was elected to the state senate. Among his best-known compositions, only a few of which appeared over his own name, are a poetical address to Black Hawk; and The Loves of the Shell-Fishes. He died Aug. 28, 1876, in Gowanda, N. Y.

SANFORD, EZEKIEL, author, was born in 1796 in Ridgefield, Conn. he was the author of A History of the United States Before the Revolution; and a novel entitled The Humors on Utopia. He died in 1822 in Columbia, S. C.

SANFORD, HENRY C., lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 11, 1833, in Maine. This prominent lawyer of Akron, Ohio, has been prosecuting attorney of his city and county; and for two terms has served as a member of the Ohio state legislature.

SANFORD, JAMES T., agriculturist, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1823 to 1825. Having acquired a large property in the pursuits of agriculture, he appropriated a part of his wealth to the establishment of Jackson college. He died about 1880.

SANFORD, JONAH, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1789 in Cornwall, Vt. In 1829 and 1830 he represented his county in the New York state legislature; and was a representative in congress to fill a vacancy in 1830-31. He was one of the associate judges of the court of common pleas. He died Dec. 25, 1867, in Hopkinton.

SANFORD, LAURA G., historian. She is the author of a History of Erie County, Pennsylvania, which is considered one of the most meritorious local histories of that state.

SANFORD, NATHAN, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Nov. 5, 1771, in Bridgehampton, L. I. He was United States commissioner of bankruptcy for New York in 1802; was United States district attorney for New York from 1803 to 1816; and was speaker of the assembly in 1811. He was afterward state senator; and was a United States senator from 1815 to 1821, and again from 1825 to 1831. He was chancellor of New York from 1823 to 1825. He died Oct. 17, 1838, in Flushing, N. Y.

SANFORD, STEPHEN, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 26, 1826, in Amsterdam, N. Y. The Amsterdam Reservoir company, by which a thousand acres have been flooded with the waters of the Chuctanunda creek, supplying an immense water power for his own and other manufactories, originated with him, and has been managed by him as president. He also founded and became president of the Amsterdam city national bank. He was a representative from New York to the forty-first congress.

SANFORD, THADDEUS, journalist, banker, was born in 1791 in Connecticut. In 1828 he became the editor and proprietor of the Mobile Register. He continued to conduct that journal, with the exception of the period between 1837 and 1841, for twenty-six years. In 1833 he was elected president of the bank of Mobile, and in 1853 he was appointed collector of the port, holding the office throughout Buchanan's administration. He died April 30, 1867, in Mobile, Ala.

SANGER, GEORGE PARTRIDGE, lawyer, journalist, was born Nov. 27, 1819, in Dover, Mass. He was for many years the editor of The American Almanac, and also edited the Boston Law Reporter. He edited, with George Minot, the United States Statutes at Large, Treaties, Proclamations, etc.; and in 1862-63, with John G. Locke, revised and consolidated the city ordinances of Boston, Mass., and collated the state municipal laws. He died July 3, 1890, in Swampscott, Mass.

SANGER, JANE, business woman, poet, was born in 1829 in Nelson, N. Y. She is the owner of a photograph gallery, and part-owner of a book bindery at Fort Scott, Kan. She is the author of a large number of poems; has contributed extensively to current literature; and her political poems have attracted much attention.

SANGSTER, MRS. MARGARET ELIZABETH [MUNSON], journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 22, 1838, in New Rochelle, N. Y. She is a journalist of New York city, editor of Harper's Bazar from 1889, and a popular verse-writer whose domestic poems display sentiment of a very genuine kind. Her writings in verse comprise, On the Road Home; Easter Bells; Poems of the Household; Home Fairies and Heart Flowers. She has also written a Manual of Missions of the Reformed Church, and several books for girls, including Hours with Girls; Home and Heaven; Splendid Times; Five Happy Weeks; May Stanhope and her Friend; Miss Dewbury's School; Little Knights and Ladies; and Maidie's Problem.

SANKEY, IRA DAVID, evangelist, vocalist, author, was born Aug. 28, 1840, in Edinburg, Pa. He was a musical evangelist, and co-laborer of Dwight L. Moody. He is the author of several popular hymns, and is one of the compilers of the revival hymn book entitled Gospel Songs.

SANTAYANA, GEORGE, educator, author, poet, was born in 1863 in Spain. He is an instructor in philosophy at Harvard university; and the author of Sonnets and Other Poems; and The Sense of Beauty; being the Outlines of Æsthetic Theory.

SAPP, OSCAR L., lawyer, college president, was born May 5, 1869, in Kernersville, N. C. He has been mayor of his native town and during 1891-92 was president of the Enfield Collegiate institute.

SAPP, WILLIAM FLETCHER, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1824, in Danville, Ohio. In 1860 he removed to Nebraska; and in 1861 was appointed adjutant-general of Nebraska territory, and subsequently elected to the territorial legislature. He served in the union army as lieutenant-colonel. He moved to Iowa; and was a state representative in 1865. He was United States district attorney from 1869 to 1873. He was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-fifth congress; was re-elected to the forty-sixth congress as a republican.

SAPP, WILLIAM R., congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1853 to 1857.

SARGEANT, NATHANIEL PEASLEE, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 2, 1731, in Methuen, Mass. He was elected a delegate to the provincial congress in 1775; and was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature in 1776. He was judge of the supreme court of the state; and became chief justice in 1789. He died Oct. 12, 1791, in Haverhill, Mass.

SARGENT, AARON AUGUSTUS, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 28, 1827, in Newburyport, Mass.

In 1861 he was elected a representative from California to the thirty-seventh congress, serving as a member of the select committee on the Pacific railroad, to which enterprise he was particularly devoted, and was re-elected to the forty-first and forty-second congresses. He was elected a senator in congress for the term commencing in 1873 and ending in 1879, serving on the committees on naval affairs, mines and mining, and appropriations; and in 1882 was appointed United States minister to Germany. He died Aug. 14, 1887, in San Francisco, Cal.

SARGENT, CHARLES SPRAGUE, journalist, botanist, educator, author, was born April 24, 1841, in Boston, Mass. He is a botanist of eminence, Arnold professor of arboriculture at Harvard university from 1879, and editor of Garden and Forest from 1888. He is the author of The Silva of North America; Report on the Forests of North America; The Woods of the United States; and Notes on the Forest Flora of Japan.

SARGENT, DUDLEY ALLEN, medical examiner, lecturer, inventor, author, was born Sept. 28, 1849, in Belfast, Maine. He received the degrees of A. B., A. M. and S. D. from Bowdoin college; and the degree of M. D. from Yale college. He is the director of the Hemenway gymnasium of the Harvard university at Cambridge, Mass. He has been president of the American association for the Advancement of Physical Education; has invented various gymnastic appliances; has lectured extensively on physical training; and is the author of a number of works on these topics.

SARGENT, EPES, journalist, author, poet, was born Sept. 27, 1813, in Gloucester, Mass. He was a once prominent Boston journalist and poet, who perhaps will be longest remembered by the familiar poem, Life on the Ocean Wave. His verse includes, Songs of the Sea; Poems; and The Woman who Dared. In fiction he published, Wealth and Worth; What's to be Done?; Fleetwood; and Peculiar, a tale of the Great Rebellion. He wrote the dramas, Bride of Genoa; Velasco; Change Makes Change; and The Priestess. His miscellaneous writings comprise, Life of Henry Clay; American Adventures by Land and Sea; Arctic Adventures by Sea and Land; Original Dialogues; Planchette, the Despair of Science; and Memoir of Franklin. He edited a popular series of school and critical editions of many English poets, and Harper's Cyclopedia of Poetry. He died Dec. 31, 1880, in Boston, Mass.

SARGENT, FITZWILLIAM, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 17, 1820, in Gloucester, Mass. He is a Philadelphia surgeon who went to live in Switzerland in 1854; and is the author of Bandaging and Other Operations of Minor Surgery.

SARGENT, GEORGE HENRY, manufacturer, was born Oct. 29, 1828, in Worcester, Mass. In 1853 he joined his brother, Joseph Bradford Sargent in the manufacture of hardware. His principal factories were established in 1863, and being enlarged from time to time now represent an investment of millions of dollars and stand as a monumental instance of the progress and growth of American manufactures during the past forty years.

SARGENT, HENRY, artist, was born Nov. 25, 1770, in Gloucester, Mass. He is widely known through his engraving, The Landing of the Pilgrims. He died Feb. 21, 1845, in Boston, Mass.

SARGENT, HENRY WINTHROP, horticulturist, author, was born Nov. 26, 1810, in Boston, Mass. He was a noted horticulturist of Fishkill, N. Y.; and the author of Skeleton Routes through England, etc.; and Treatise on Landscape Gardening. He died Nov. 10, 1882, in Hudson, N. Y.

SARGENT, HORACE BINNEY, soldier, was born June 30, 1821, in Quincy, Mass. During the civil war he served with distinction, and was brevetted brigadier-general.

SARGENT, JAMES, inventor, was born Dec. 1, 1824, in Chester, Vt. He invented a lock that was proof against professional skill, for which, in 1865, he received a patent. He then established himself in Rochester, N. Y., where he began his manufacture. In 1873 he invented the timelocks that bear his name, which were the first ever successfully used in this country.

SARGENT, JOHN OSBORNE, lawyer, journalist, author, was born Sept. 20, 1811, in Gloucester, Mass. He was a lawyer and journalist of New York city. He translated Grün's Last Knight; and published, also, Papers for the Times by a Berkshire Farmer; and Horatian Echoes; Translation of the Odes of Horace. He died in 1891.

SARGENT, JOHN SINGER, artist, was born in 1856 in Italy. Among his figure-pieces are Fishing for Oysters at Cancale; and Neapolitan Children Bathing. He is especially noted for his excellent portraits.

SARGENT, LUCIUS MANLIUS, author, was born June 25, 1786, in Boston, Mass. He was a once prominent temperance advocate of Boston; and the author of Temperance Tales, a very popular work; Dealings with the Dead; The Irrepressible Conflict; Hubert and Ellen; and Other Poems; and Translations from the Minor Latin Poets. He died June 2, 1867, in West Roxbury, Mass.

SARGENT, NATHAN, lawyer, journalist, jurist, author, was born May 5, 1794, in Pultney, Vt. In 1830 he went to Philadelphia and established a whig newspaper. He subsequently became the Washington correspondent of the United States Gazette of Philadelphia. He was register of the treasury from 1851 to 1853; and in 1861 was appointed commissioner of customs, and held the position until 1871. At the time of his death he was president of the Washington reform school, and his last literary labor was the preparation of a work entitled Public Men and Events. He also wrote Life of Henry Clay. He died Feb. 2, 1875, in Washington, D. C.

SARGENT, WINTHROP, soldier, governor, poet, was born May 1, 1753, in Gloucester, Mass. He attained the rank of major, serving during the entire war. He became connected with the Ohio company, and in 1786 was appointed surveyor of the northwest territory; and became its secretary in 1787. He was governor of the territory of Mississippi from 1798 to 1801; and was adjutant-general of St. Clair's army in the unfortunate expedition against the Indians, in 1791, and was wounded. He was adjutant-general and inspector in Wayne's campaign in 1794 and 1795. He was the author of Boston, a Poem; and Papers Relating to Certain American Antiquities. He died June 3, 1820.

SARGENT, WINTHROP, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 23, 1825, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a lawyer of New York city; and the author of Life of Major André, a work displaying much research. He also edited the History of Braddock's Expedition, from Original Papers. He died May 18, 1870, in Paris, France.

SARTAIN, EMILY, artist, was born March 17, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the principal of the Philadelphia school of Design for women. She gained a medal in 1876 at the Centennial exhibition for her painting entitled Reproof.

SARTAIN, JOHN, engraver, was born Oct. 24, 1808, in London, England. In 1830 he brought the art of mezzotint to the United States. He established Sartain's Magazine in New York city; and attained national reputation as a successful engraver. His most noted plates are Christ Rejected; The Ironworker; King Solomon; Civil War in Missouri; Home-stead of Henry Clay; and The Battle of Gettysburg. For sixty-seven years he lived in Philadelphia; was director of the Academy of Fine Arts for twenty-three years; was chief of the bureau of art at the Centennial exposition; and he has received thirty decorations and medals. His children inherit their father's genius: Samuel is an engraver of portraits; William is a New York painter and president of the Art club of that city, and his daughter Emily is an artist and art critic of note, and was a member of the international jury of awards of the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago. He died in 1898 in Philadelphia, Pa.

SARTAIN, SAMUEL, engraver, was born Oct. 8, 1830, in Philadelphia. His prints include Clear the Track; Christ blessing Little Children; One of the Chosen; Christ stilling the Tempest; The Song of the Angels; Evangeline; and various portraits after Thomas Sully, John Neagle, and others.

SARTAIN, WILLIAM, artist, educator, was born Nov. 21, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has been professor in various art institutes and received a silver medal from Boston and from the Pennsylvania academy of fine arts. His pictures have a place in several of the public art galleries.

SARTWELL, HENRY PARKER, physician, botanist, author, was born April 1, 1792, in Pittsfield, Mass. He was a botanist and physician of Penn Yan, N. Y., who from 1840 devoted his attention to the genus Carex. His herbarium of more than eight thousand specimens is in Hamilton college. He is the author of Carices Americanae Exsiccatae. He died Nov. 15, 1867, in Penn Yan, N. Y.

SASNETT, WILLIAM JACOB, clergyman, educator, was born April 29, 1820, in Hancock, Ga. He was professor of English in Emory college, Georgia, in 1849-57; president of Lagrange female college in 1858, and the next year became principal of East Alabama college in Auburn. He died Nov. 3, 1865, in Montgomery, Ala.

SATTERFIELD, DAVID JUNKIN, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Oct. 16, 1844, in Pulaski, Pa. He received his education in the Princeton college of New Jersey and the Western Theological seminary of Allegheny, Pa. During 1873-85 he was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Beaver, Pa.; and since 1886 has been president of the Scotia seminary of Concord, N. C.

SATTERLEE, FRANCIS LE ROY, physician, author, was born June 15, 1847, in New York city. Since 1869 he has been professor of chemistry, materia medica and therapeutics in the New York college of Dentistry, and is the author of The Treatment of Erysipelas; and a Treatise on Gout and Rheumatism.

SATTERLEE, HENRY YATES, bishop, author, was born Jan. 11, 1843, in New York city. He is the first protestant episcopal bishop of Washington, and prior to 1896 a prominent clergyman of New York city. He is the author of A Creedless Gospel and the Gospel Creed.

SATTERLEE, RICHARD SHERWOOD, soldier, surgeon, was born Dec. 6, 1798, in Fairfield, N. Y. He became United States medical purveyor in 1853, held that office till the close of the civil war, and in 1864 was brevetted lieutenant-colonel, colonel, and brigadier-general. He became lieutenant-colonel and chief medical purveyor in 1866, and was retired in 1869. He died Nov. 10, 1880, in New York city.

SATTERLEE, WALTER, artist, was born Jan. 18, 1844, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1886 he gained the Clarke prize at the academy. Among his works are the oil paintings, Contemplation, in Smith college, Northampton, Mass.; Extremes Meet, and The Convent Composer; Autumn; Good-bye Summer; and Fortune by Tea Leaves. His pencil has been frequently employed in book illustration, and he is well known as a teacher.

SATTERTHWAIT, JOSHUA W., business man legislator, was born March 29, 1835, in Seneca, Ohio. He is a successful druggist of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; was trustee of the Iowa State Normal school for twelve years; and served with distinction as a member of the thirteenth general assembly of the Iowa state legislature.

SATTERTHWAITE, THOMAS E., physician, surgeon, author, was born March 26, 1843, in New York city. He filled the chair of surgery in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York city. He is the author of A Manual of Histology; Practical Bacteriology; and numerous medical papers.

SAUERHERING, EDWARD, pharmacist, congressman, was born June 24, 1864, in Mayville, Wis. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican from Mayville, Wis.

SAUL, GEORGE W., railroad president, was born Oct. 16, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio. From 1889 to 1892 he was president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad; and he was also president of various other railroad corporations at Cleveland, Ohio.

SAULSBURY, ELI, lawyer, state legislator, United States senator, was born Dec. 29, 1817, in Kent county, Del. He was a member of the state legislature of Delaware in 1853 and 1854; and was elected a senator in congress in 1871 for the term ending in 1877; and was re-elected in 1877 and again in 1883.

SAULSBURY, GOVE, governor, was born in Delaware. He was elected governor of Delaware in 1865 until 1871.

SAULSBURY, WILLARD, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 2, 1820, in Kent county, Del. In 1850 he was appointed attorney-general of Delaware, holding the office five years. In 1859 he was elected a senator in congress for the term ending in 1865; and was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1871.

SAUNDERS, ALVIN, merchant, banker, governor, United States senator, was born July 12, 1817, in Fleming county, Ky. He was postmaster at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, for seven years. He was a state senator for eight years; and was one of the commissioners appointed by congress to organize the Pacific Railroad company. He was governor of the territory of Nebraska from 1861 until it was admitted as a state in 1867; and was elected a United States senator from Nebraska for the term of six years from March 4, 1877.

SAUNDERS, EPHRAIM DOD, clergyman, philanthropist, was born Sept. 30, 1808, in Brookside, N. J. In 1871 he gave the buildings and grounds, which were valued at $100,000, to found, as a memorial of his son, Courtland, the Presbyterian hospital, toward whose endowment he raised $100,000 more by his personal efforts. He died Sept. 13, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SAUNDERS, JAMES NEWTON, lawyer, state legislator, was born April 2, 1864, in Springfield, Ky. This eminent lawyer has served as a member of the Kentucky state legislature; and for many years was a member of the Kentucky railroad commission.

SAUNDERS, FREDERICK, librarian, author, was born Aug. 14, 1807, in England. He was the librarian of the Astor library, New York city, in 1859-96; and is the author of New York in a Nut-Shell; Salad for the Solitary and Salad for the Social; Memoirs of the Great Metropolis; The Story of Some Famous Books; Story of the Discovery of the New World by Columbus; Pastime Papers; Stray Leaves of Literature; and Character Studies.

SAUNDERS, ROBERT, college president, was born Jan. 25, 1805, in Williamsburg, Va. He was fourteenth president of the William and Mary college; and president of the York River railroad. He died Sept. 11, 1868.

SAUNDERS, ROMULUS MITCHELL, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born March 3, 1791, in Caswell county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1821 to 1827, and from 1841 to 1845. In 1828 he was attorney-general of the state. In 1835 he was elected a judge of the state supreme court; and in 1846 was appointed minister to Spain, where he remained four years. On his return was again elected to the legislature of North Carolina; and afterward devoted much attention to the railroad improvements of the state. He died April 21, 1867, in Raleigh, N. C.

SAUNDERS, WILLIAM LAURENCE, author, was born July 30, 1835, in Raleigh, N. C. He is the author of a work entitled the Colonial Records of North Carolina. He died April 2, 1891, in Raleigh, N. C.

SAVAGE, EDWARD, artist, was born Nov. 26, 1761, in Princeton, Mass. He produced the well-known Family Group at Mount Vernon. This was for a long time exhibited in the museum that Savage established in New York, and is now in the Boston museum. His portraits of Washington and Henry Knox were frequently engraved by the artist himself and by others. He died July 6, 1817, in Princeton, Mass.

SAVAGE, EDWARD HARTWELL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 18, 1812, in Alstead, N. H. He was a Boston policeman and justice of the peace; and the author of Boston Police Recollections; and Five Thousand Boston Events, 1630-1880.

SAVAGE, GEORGE MARTIN, clergyman, educator, was born Feb. 5, 1849, in Tishomingo county, Miss. This eminent clergyman has been president of the Southwestern Baptist university of Jackson, Tenn., since 1890; and for twenty-five years has been pastor of various baptist churches.

SAVAGE, JAMES, lawyer, genealogist, author, was born July 13, 1784, in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston lawyer eminent as a genealogist. He is best known as the author of a Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England, upon which twenty years of labor were expended. He died March 8, 1873, in Boston, Mass.

SAVAGE, JAMES WOODRUFF, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 2, 1826, in Bedford, N. H. In 1847 he graduated from Harvard university with the degree of B. A.; and in 1850 was admitted to the bar in New York city. In 1861 he was commissioned captain in the regular army and assigned as aid-de-camp to the staff of General Fremont. He was subsequently promoted to major, lieutenant-colonel and became colonel of the twelfth New York volunteer cavalry. In 1867 he moved to Omaha, Neb.; and in 1875, was elected judge of the third judicial district, and in 1879 received the election for a second term. In 1885 he was appointed a government director of the Union Pacific Railway company. He has written extensively articles on historical and law subjects, and is a member of various historical societies of New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Missouri.

SAVAGE, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1779 in New York. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1814; and from 1815 to 1819 was a representative in congress from that state. He subsequently held the positions of district attorney, comptroller of the state, chief justice of the supreme court of New York, and treasurer of the United States for New York. He was a presidential elector in 1845. He died Oct. 19, 1863, in Utica, N. Y.

SAVAGE, JOHN, journalist, author, poet, was born Dec. 13, 1828, in Ireland. He was a journalist of New York city, and subsequently of Washington. He was the author of Poems; Picturesque Ireland; Lays of the Folkstead; Modern Revolutionary History of Ireland; Our Living Representative Men; Life of Andrew Johnson; Fenian Heroes and Martyrs; Sibyl, a tragedy; and several other plays. He died Dec. 13, 1828, in Dublin, Ireland.

SAVAGE, JOHN HOUSTON, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1815, in McMinnville Tenn. He was attorney-general of the fourth district of Tennessee in 1841, and held the office until 1847. He was elected a representative in congress in 1849; was re-elected in 1851; and was again elected to congress in 1855 and 1857.

SAVAGE, JOHN S., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1841, in Clermont county, Ohio. He was admitted to the bar in Clinton county, Ohio, in 1865; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-fourth congress.

SAVAGE, MINOT JUDSON, clergyman, author, poet, was born June 10, 1841, in Norridgewock, Maine. He was educated principally at Bowdoin college; and in 1864 graduated at the Bangor Theological seminary. He has been a congregational missionary in California; has been pastor of the several prominent churches; and is now pastor of the church of the Unity of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Christianity the Science of Manhood; Beliefs About Man; Belief in God; Life Questions; Poems; The Religion of Evolution; The Religion of Morals; Talks About Jesus; The Modern Sphinx; Man, Woman and Child; Social Problems; My Creed; Religious Reconstruction; Signs of the Times; Helps for Daily Living; Four Great Questions Concerning God; The Evolution of Christianity; Is This a Good World?; Jesus and Modern Life; A Man; Light on the Cloud; Bluffton, a novel; and The Minister's Handbook.

SAVAGE, PHILIP HENRY, author, poet, was born in 1868 in Massachusetts. He is a Boston writer; and the author of First Poems and Fragments.

SAVAGE, RICHARD HENRY, author, poet, was born in 1846 in New York. He is the author of My Official Wife; For Life and Love; A Daughter of Judas; The Anarchist; Delilah of Harlem; In the Old Chateau; The Little Judge of Lagunitas; The Masked Venus; The Flying Halcyon; Miss Devereux of the Mariquita; and After Many Years, and Other Poems.

SAVAGE, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, educator, clergyman, author, poet, was born Sept. 27, 1833, in Woolwich, Maine. During the civil war he was a captain in the seventeenth regiment Maine volunteer infantry. He has become distinguished as an eminent clergyman, and now fills a pastorate in Watertown, Mass. He has published numerous sermons, essays, and poems.

SAVITZ, JEROHN JOSEPH, educator, was born Jan. 1, 1866, in Easton, Pa. He attended the Kutztown Normal school; Fayette college for three years; and took a course at the Illinois Wesleyan university, and at Wooster, Ohio. Since 1882 he has been engaged in educational work, and for the past seven years has been supervising principal of schools of Slatington, Pa. He received the degree of A. M. from Ursinus university in 1893.

SAWTELLE, CHARLES GREENE, soldier, was born May 10, 1834, in Norridgewock. In 1864 he was in charge of steam transportation in the department of the gulf, and was chief quartermaster in the military division of west Mississippi in 1864-65.

SAWTELLE, CULLEN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Norridgewock, Maine. He served eight years as register of probate; was a state senator during the years 1843 and 1844; and was a representative in congress from Maine from 1845 to 1847, and again from 1849 to 1851.

SAWTELLE, HENRY ALLEN, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 11, 1832, in Sidney, Maine. He was a baptist clergyman of San Francisco and elsewhere; and the author of Open Communion; and Things to Think Of. He died Nov. 22, 1885, in Waterville, Maine.

SAWTELLE, LELIA ROBINSON, lawyer, author, was born July 23, 1850, in Boston, Mass. She was a successful lawyer of Boston, Mass., and author of Law Made Easy; and the Law of Husband and Wife. She died Aug. 10, 1891.

SAWYER, MRS. CATHARINE MCHETABEL [FISHER], author, was born Dec. 8, 1812, in Newton, Mass. She is the author of The Poetry of Hebrew Tradition. For many years she was editor of The Ladies' Repository.

SAWYER, CLAUDE EPAMINONDAS, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 25, 1851, in Sawyers Mills, S. C. For four years he served as a member of the South Carolina legislature; was presidential elector in 1888; and has filled various other public positions of honor. He was a member of the historic Wallace house in 1876, and took a prominent part in behalf of peace in quelling the riots of 1876. He was subsequently a colonel on Hampton Wade's staff, and on the staffs of several succeeding governors. While a member of the legislature he took an important part in the deliberations of that body. For many years he was official reporter of the second judicial circuit; is the editor of a monthly magazine; and prominent in masonry and other fraternal orders at Aiken, S. C.

SAWYER, ELBERT H., soldier, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Dec. 18, 1843, in Milford, Mich. He received his education in the public schools, Fenton seminary, Kalamazoo college, the La Grange college of Missouri, and the Theological seminary of Chicago. For nearly a quarter of a century he has been a clergyman; for ten years a college professor and president; for four years was president of the Baptist convention of Colorado; in 1889 was president of the baptist ministers' conference at St. Louis; and now resides in Kirkwood, Mo. During the war he served as a private soldier in the eighth regiment Michigan volunteer infantry; was wounded by shell in his right hand at Antietam; and was conspicuous in the charge of the slope and in protecting regimental colors.

SAWYER, FREDERICK ADOLPHUS, educator, United States senator, was born Dec. 12, 1822, in Boston, Mass. In 1859 he went to Charleston, S. C., and had charge of the normal school there until 1861. He was elected a senator in congress from South Carolina for the term ending in 1873; and was subsequently appointed assistant secretary of the treasury.

SAWYER, FREDERICK WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born April 22, 1810, in Saco, Maine. He was a Boston lawyer; and the author of Merchant's and Chipmaster's Guide; Plea for Amusements; and Hits at American Whims. He died in 1875 in Boston, Mass.

SAWYER, GEORGE SMALL, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 7, 1841, in Standish, Maine. In 1862 he was admitted to the bar in Maine; in 1864 was elected district attorney of Ormsby county, Nev.; and in 1870 was made district attorney of Lincoln county. During 1889-91 he served with distinction as a member of the state senate of Nevada. In 1884 he was elected superintendent of schools; and in 1894 was a candidate for attorney-general of Nevada on the populist ticket.

SAWYER, HORACE BUCKLIN, naval officer, was born Feb. 22, 1797, in Burlington, Vt. In 1856 the legislature of Vermont gave him a handsome sword for his services in the second war with Great Britain. He died Feb. 14, 1860, in Washington, D. C.

SAWYER, JOHN GILBERT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 5, 1825, in Brandon, Vt. He was a justice of the peace in Albion from 1852 to 1858; was district attorney of Orleans county from 1863 to 1866; and was judge and surrogate of Orleans county from 1868 to 1884. In the latter year he was elected a representative from Vermont to the forty-ninth congress; and was re-elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

SAWYER, LEICESTER AMBROSE, educator, clergyman, author, was born July 28, 1807, in Pinckney, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman and educator, after 1860 a resident of Whitesboro, N. Y.; and the author of Elements of Biblical Interpretation; Mental Philosophy; Moral Philosophy; A Critical Exposition of Baptism; Organic Christianity; and Reconstruction of Bible Theories. He made a translation of the Scriptures, of which the New Testament was published.

SAWYER, LEMUEL, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, author, was born in 1777 in North Carolina. He was in the North Carolina state legislature in 1801; and was a representative from North Carolina to congress in 1807-13. He subsequently served in the same capacity from 1817 to 1823, and from 1825 to 1829. About 1850 he moved to Washington, and held a clerkship in one of the departments. He published a Life of John Randolph; and an Autobiography. He died Jan. 9, 1852, in Washington, D. C.

SAWYER, LORENZO, lawyer, jurist, was born May 23, 1820, in Le Roy, N. Y. In 1854 he was elected attorney for San Francisco; and was afterward appointed judge of the district court for the state. In 1863 he was elected one of the justices of the supreme court of the state; was chief justice from 1868 to 1870; and in the latter year was commissioned United States circuit judge for the ninth circuit, residing in San Francisco, Cal.

SAWYER, LUCY SARGENT, missionary, was born April 3, 1840, in Belfast, Maine. Her whole life has been spent in mission work; and in 1882 she was elected president of the Woman's Home Missionary society.

SAWYER, MOSES HAVENS, lawyer, author, was born June 6, 1827, in Mystic, Conn. In 1886 he was appointed United States consul at Trinidad and Tobago. He is the author of Lieutenant Colburn; History of Annexation of Tobago; Judicature; Mortgages; Desertion of Seamen; Immigration and Ornithology.

SAWYER, PHILETUS, merchant, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 22, 1816, in Whiting, Vt. He was elected to the legislature of Wisconsin in 1857 and 1861; and in 1863 was elected mayor of Oshkosh, and re-elected in 1864. He was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-ninth congress. He was also a delegate to the Philadelphia Loyalists' convention of 1866; and was re-elected to the fortieth congress. He was also re-elected to the three succeeding congresses; and declined a re-election. He was elected a United States senator from Wisconsin for the term of six years, from March 4, 1881; and was re-elected in 1887. In 1896 he was chairman of the republican convention at St. Louis, Mo., that nominated William McKinley for president of the United States.

SAWYER, S. T., journalist, congressman, was born in 1800 in North Carolina. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1839. He was appointed collector of customs at Norfolk, Va.; and was subsequently editor of the Norfolk Argus. He died Nov. 29, 1865, in New Jersey.

SAWYER, SAMUEL L., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 27, 1813, in Mount Vernon, N. H. He moved to Missouri in 1838; and was elected circuit attorney in 1848, and re-elected in 1852. He was elected a circuit judge in 1871, and re-elected in 1874. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-sixth congress as an independent democrat.

SAWYER, SYLVANUS, inventor, was born April 15, 1822, in Templeton, Mass. His inventions have entirely revolutionized the chair-cane business; and in 1853 he invented improvements in rifle and cannon projectiles.

SAWYER, THOMAS JEFFERSON, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1804, in Reading, Vt. He is a universalist clergyman and educator, and after 1869 a professor of theology at Tufts college. He is the author of Doctrine of Eternal Salvation; Who is God,—the Son or the Father?; and Endless Punishment in the Very Words of Its Advocates.

SAWYER, WILLARD S., musician, composer, was born Sept. 4, 1860, in New York city. He is a teacher of the piano and violin in Brooklyn, N. Y.; and the author of Sawyer's Piano Student's Practice Records.

SAWYER, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Ohio. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1849.

SAXE, JACOB BRADFORD, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1819, in Greenfield, N. Y. Since 1843 he has been a successful clergyman of the universalist church, and now fills a pastorate in Fort Scott, Kan. He is a constant contributor to various publications; and is the author of a volume entitled The Organic Laws.

SAXE, JOHN GODFREY, lawyer, journalist, poet, was born June 2, 1816, in Highgate, Vt. He was a lawyer and journalist of Vermont and subsequently of New York, widely known as a humorous poet. He was the author of Progress; A New Rape of the Lock; The Proud Miss McBride; The Money King; Clever Songs of Many Nations; The Masquerade; Leisure Day Rhymes; and Fables and Lyrics in Rhyme. He died March 31, 1887, in Albany, N. Y.

SAXTON, CHARLES TERRY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, lieutenant-governor, was born July 2, 1846, in Clyde, N. Y. He enlisted during the civil war in the nineteenth New York infantry, and mustered out as sergeant-major; and has held high office in the Grand Army of the Republic. In 1867 he was admitted to the bar, and after practicing his profession for awhile in Grand Rapids, Mich., he opened an office in his native city, where he has acquired prominence as a counsel learned in the law. In 1887-89 he was a member of the New York state assembly; a state senator in 1890-94; and was inaugurated lieutenant-governor of his state on Jan. 1, 1895. He introduced the Australian ballot system in New York; in 1894 he appointed the Luxow committee; and has always taken an active part in reform legislation. He received the degree of doctor of laws from the Union university, and in 1892 was elected chancellor of that institution. He is a fluent and forcible writer; and has contributed to the North American Review and other current publications.

SAXTON, JOSEPH, inventor, was born March 22, 1799, in Huntington county, Pa. He made the clock which still marks the time from the belfry of Independence hall in Philadelphia, when he was but eighteen, and subsequently added many ingenious devices to science. He was one of the original incorporators of the National Academy of Science. He died Oct. 26, 1873, in Washington, D. C.

SAXTON, RUFUS, soldier, was born Oct. 19, 1824, in Greenfield, Mass. He served with distinction through the civil war, and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general in the United States army. In 1882 he was promoted to colonel and assistant quartermaster-general.

SAY, BENJAMIN, physician, congressman, was born in 1756 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1808 to 1809 to fill a vacancy. He died April 3, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SAY, THOMAS, zoölogist, author, was born July 27, 1787, in Philadelphia. He was a zoölogist who was the first curator of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences. In 1825 he removed to New Harmony, Ind., and was the agent of the Owen socialist colony there. He was the author of Vocabularies of Indian languages; American Conchology; and American Entomology. His Complete Writings on Conchology have been edited by Binney, and those on Entomology by Le Conte. He died Oct. 10, 1834, in New Harmony, Ind.

SAYERS, JOSEPH D., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 23, 1841, in Grenada, Miss. He served as a member of the Texas state senate in the session of 1873; and was lieutenant-governor of Texas in 1879-80. He was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

SAYLER, HENRY B., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 31, 1836, in Montgomery county, Ohio. He enlisted in the army as lieutenant; and was promoted to major of the one hundred and eighteenth Indiana infantry. He was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-third congress as a republican.

SAYLER, JOSEPH HENRY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 9, 1846, in Farmington, Ill. He served during the civil war as a private soldier in the sixty-first and eighty-third regiments Illinois volunteer infantry. He is an able lawyer of Marysville, Mo., of which city he has served as mayor for three terms. He is now probate judge of his county.

SAYLER, MILTON, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1831, in Lewisburg, Ohio. He was a member of the Ohio state legislature in 1862 and 1863, and of the city councils in 1864 and 1865. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress as a democrat.

SAYLES, FREDERIC CLARK, manufacturer, was born July 17, 1835. He became the partner of his brother in 1863, and was an active co-laborer with him in the development of the Moshassuck bleaching and nearly all the other milling enterprises controlled by the Sayles family. He has served as mayor of Pawtucket, in which city he lives.

SAYLES, JOHN, educator, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 9, 1825, in Vernon, N. Y. He was a Texas jurist, and professor in Baylor university from 1880. He was the author of Practice in the District and Supreme Courts of Texas; Civil Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in the State of Texas; Principles of Pleading in Civil Actions in the Courts of Texas; Probate Laws of Texas; Laws of Business; Constitution of Texas, with Notes; and Notes on Texan Reports.

SAYRE, DAVID AUSTEN, philanthropist, was born March 12, 1793, in Bottle Hill, N. J. He removed in early life to Lexington, where he became a successful merchant and banker. Though repeatedly meeting with heavy losses, he gave about $500,000 to benevolent objects during his lifetime, including $100,000 to found the Sayre institute. He died Sept. 11, 1870, in Lexington, Ky.

SAYRE, EMILIUS, KITCHELL, educator, lawyer, was born March 20, 1810, in Battle Hill, N. J. He attended the schools of Elizabethtown, N. J.; received the degree of A. B. from Amherst college in 1826, and the degree of A. M. in 1831 from the same institution; and the degree of LL. B. from the Transylvania college in 1833. During 1828-31 he was a professor in the Washington institute, New York; during 1833-52 was a lawyer in Lexington, Ky.; and since that time has been a farmer in Missouri. During 1861-63 he was a member of the Missouri state constitutional convention; and has filled various other public positions of honor in Lewis county and the state of Missouri.

SAYRE, LEWIS ALBERT, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 29, 1820, in Bottlehill, N. J. He is a distinguished surgeon of New York city, and professor of orthopædic surgery in Bellevue Hospital college. He is the author of a Practical Manual of the Treatment of Club-Foot; Lectures on Orthopædic Surgery; and Spinal Curvature and Its Treatment.

SCALES, ALFRED MOORE, JR., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 26, 1827, in Reedsville, N. C. He was elected to the legislature of North Carolina in 1852 and 1856; and in 1857 was elected a representative from his native state to the thirty-fifth congress. He was a presidential elector in 1861; and was elected to the forty-fourth congress. He was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eight congresses. In 1884 he was elected governor of North Carolina for four years.

SCALES, JOHN, educator, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1835, in Nottingham, N. H. He was fitted for college at the Colby university, and graduated from Dartmouth college in 1863. He then engaged in educational work as principal of the Wolfborough and Gilmanton academies till 1869; and during 1869-83 was principal of the Franklin academy of Dover, N. H. Since 1883 he has been editor of the Dover Daily Republican, the leading republican journal in New Hampshire; has contributed to various publications; and is the author of several works. He has been trustee of the state normal school; and is a member of the school committee of Dover. He is prominent in political affairs; a Knight Templar and thirty-second degree Mason; and a member of various fraternal orders.

SCAMMON, CHARLES MELLVILLE, navigator, author, was born May 28, 1825, in Pittston, Maine. He is the author of a work on The Marine Mammals of the Northwestern Coast of America and the American Whale Fishery.

SCAMMON, ELIAKIM PARKER, soldier, educator, was born Dec. 27, 1816, in Whitefield, Maine. He was professor in Mount St. Mary's college of Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1856-58, and president of the Polytechnic college in that city from 1859-61. He became colonel of the twenty-third Ohio regiment in 1861, served in western Virginia and Maryland, and was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers.

SCAMMON, JAMES, educator, lawyer, littérateur, was born June 10, 1844, in Strathan, N. H., on the old homestead occupied by the family continuously for two hundred and fifty years. He received a thorough education, graduated from the Brown university in 1868, and from the Albany Law school two years later. He has been superintendent of public schools in his native city; and principal in the River Point Classical seminary, Rhode Island. For the past twenty-five years he has been a prominent lawyer of Kansas City, Mo.; has been general counsel of the Kansas City and Eastern Railway company; president of the Franklin Savings bank; and president of the board of managers of the Jackson County Reform school. He is also president of the Speery Associate Electric company; president and chairman of the board of managers of the Kansas City Humane society; president for twenty years of the All Souls Unitarian Church society; and for several years president of the Missouri valley conference of unitarian churches. He is a director in a dozen business enterprises; is best known as a lawyer and scholar, and has a library of several thousand volumes.

SCAMMON, JOHN F., merchant, banker, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1786, in Saco, Maine. He served in the Massachusetts legislature as a representative during 1817, and in the Maine legislature in 1820 and 1821. He was collector of customs at Saco from 1829 to 1841. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1845 to 1847; and was a state senator in 1855. He died May 23, 1858.

SCAMMON, JONATHAN YOUNG, lawyer, journalist, statesman, was born July 27, 1812, in Whitefield, Maine. He was one of the main organizers and directors of the first railroad west of Lake Michigan, now the Northwestern. He laid the foundation of the first successful public school system in Chicago. He was one of the founders of the Chicago Astronomical society, and its first president. In 1872 he established the Chicago Inter Ocean as a republican paper. He founded the Hahnemann hospital and other institutions. He was a member of the Illinois state legislature. He died March 17, 1890, in Chicago, Ill.

SCANLAN, LAWRENCE, clergyman, bishop, was born Sept. 28, 1843, in Ireland. In 1868 he was ordained a priest in Dublin, and in 1873 was consecrated bishop of Salt Lake City, Utah.

SCANLAND, MRS. AGNES LEONARD, author, was born Jan. 20, 1842, in Louisville, Ky. She is a writer of Leadville, Colo.; and the author of several works.

SCANNELL, RICHARD, bishop, was born May 12, 1844, in Ireland. He is an eminent Roman catholic bishop of Concordia, Kan.

SCARBOROUGH, JOHN, bishop of New Jersey, was born April 25, 1831, in Ireland. He has filled pastorates in Troy and New York city; and became protestant episcopal bishop of New Jersey.

SCARBOROUGH, JOHN CATRE, soldier, educator, college president, was born Sept. 22, 1841, in Wake county, N. C. During 1877-85 he was state superintendent of public instruction for North Carolina, and again filled that office during 1893-97. He is now president of the Chowan Baptist Female institute of Murfreesborough, N. C.

SCARBOROUGH, WILLIAM SAUNDERS, educator, author, was born Feb. 16, 1852, in Macon, Ga. He is an educator of African descent, professor of ancient languages in Wilberforce university, Ohio, from 1877; and the author of First Lessons in Greek; and Theory and Functions of the Thematic Vowel in the Greek Verb.

SCARBROUGH, WILLIAM, planter, inventor, was born Feb. 18, 1776, in Lower Three Runs, S. C. He built the first ocean steam boat, The Savannah, that crossed the Atlantic in 1819. He died June 11, 1838, in New York.

SCATES, THOMAS A., educator, lawyer, was born Oct. 31, 1859, in Union City, Tenn. He received a thorough education in the high schools of Kansas, and at Eastman's Business college of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He taught school for several years, and for two years was principal of the Kinsley High school, Kansas. He is a prominent lawyer of Liberal, Kansas; was county commissioner of Seward county for six years; and county attorney for three years. He takes a prominent part in the public affairs of his city, county and state; and is a member of several fraternal orders.

SCHAEFFER, CHARLES ASHMEAD, chemist, college president, was born Aug. 14, 1843, in Harrisburg, Pa. For many years he was professor of chemistry in Cornell university, and is now president of the state university of Iowa.

SCHAEFFER, CHARLES FREDERICK, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1807, in Germantown, Pa. He was professor of systematic theology in the Lutheran Theological seminary at Philadelphia in 1864-76. He was the author of A System of Lutheran Theology, one of several important works, which he translated from the German. He died Nov. 23, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SCHAEFFER, CHARLES WILLIAM, educator, clergyman, author, was born May 5, 1813, in Hagerstown, Md. He was professor of church history in the Philadelphia Lutheran seminary from 1864; and the author of History of the Lutheran Church in the United States; and Family Prayers.

SCHAEFFER, DAVID FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born July 22, 1787, in Carlisle, Pa. From 1808 until his death he was pastor of the Lutheran church in Frederick, Md. He was the author of Historical Address on the Reformation. He died in May, 1837, in Frederick, Md.

SCHAEFFER, FREDERICK CHRISTIAN, educator, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 12, 1792, in Germantown, Pa. He filled pastorates in Harrisburg and New York city; and published Parables and Parabolic Sayings. He died in March, 1831, in New York city.

SCHAFF, DAVID T., clergyman, author, was born Oct. 17, 1852, in Mercersburg, Pa. He is now a pastor of the presbyterian church in Jacksonville, Ill. He was the co-editor of the Schaff-Herzog Religious Encyclopedia, a work of four volumes.

SCHALLER, ALBERT, lawyer, legislator, was born May 20, 1856, in Chicago, Ill. He received a thorough education in St. Vincent's college of Cape Girardeau, Mo.; in France; and at the St. Louis Law school. During 1880-91 he was county attorney of Duluth county, Minn.; during 1891-96 was city attorney of Hastings, Minn.; and also in 1895-96 was city attorney of South St. Paul. During 1895-98 he served with distinction as a state senator in the Minnesota legislature, and took an active part in the deliberations of that body. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the northwest, and has a large practice in Hastings, Minn.

SCHANCK, JOHN STILWELL, physician, educator, was born Feb. 24, 1817. He received his education in the schools of Middletown and Freehold, N. J.; then at the celebrated academy at Lenox, Mass.; and in 1840 graduated at the Princeton college of New Jersey. In 1843 he received his medical degree from the university of Pennsylvania, and practiced medicine from that time in Princeton, N. J. For nearly fifty years he has delivered a course of lectures on anatomy, physiology and zoölogy in the Princeton college; and from 1856-93 he also filled the chair of chemistry in the same institution. He has served that noted college under four presidents with great distinction.

SCHARF, JOHN THOMAS, author, was born May 1, 1843, in Baltimore, Md. He is an historical writer of Baltimore; and the author of Chronicles of Baltimore; History of Maryland; History of Baltimore; History of Western Maryland; History of the City of St. Louis; History of Philadelphia; History of the Confederate Navy; and History of Delaware.

SCHAUFFLER, WILLIAM GOTTLIEB, missionary, author, was born Aug. 22, 1798, in Germany. He was a congregational missionary in Turkey well known as a linguist. He translated the Bible into Hebrew-Spanish and Turkish, and also wrote Essay on the Right Use of Property; and Meditations on the Last Day of Christ. He died Jan. 27, 1883, in New York city.

SCHAYER, MRS. JULIA [THOMPSON] [VON STORCH], author, was born in 1840 in Maine. She is a Washington writer; and the author of The Tiger Lily and Other Stories.

SHELL, RICHARD, congressman. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-third congress, to fill a vacancy.

SCHMIDT, ALEXANDER JACOB, statistician, author, was born March 16, 1826, in Prussia. He was a statistician of note who was assistant superintendent of schools in New York city in 1874-81. He was the author of Latin English Dictionary; Statistics of the World; and Cyclopaedia of Education. He died May 21, 1881, in Hoboken, N. J.

SCHENCK, ABRAHAM H., manufacturer, congressman, was born in 1777. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1804-06; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1815 to 1817. He died in 1831.

SCHENCK, FERDINAND S., physician, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 11, 1790, in Middlesex county, N. J. In 1829 he was elected to the state legislature, and was re-elected in 1830 and 1831. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1833 to 1837. He was soon afterward elected a justice of the court of errors and appeals, which he held for eight years. He died May 17, 1860, in Camden, N. J.

SCHENCK, NOAH HUNT, clergyman, journalist, author, was born June 30, 1805, in Pennington, N. J. He founded and edited The Western Churchman during his pastorate in Chicago, and in 1867 became co-editor of The Protestant Churchman in New York. He was the author of numerous published sermons and addresses, of which a collection has appeared in book form. He died Jan. 4, 1885, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

SCHENCK, ROBERT CUMMING, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1809, in Franklin, Ohio. In 1840 he was elected a representative to the Ohio legislature; was re-elected in 1842; and was a representative in congress from his native state from 1843 to 1851. In 1861 he served as brigadier and major-general in the union army; and in 1862 was elected to the thirty-eighth congress. He was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress. He was re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses. In 1870 he was appointed minister to England; and on his return to the United States, settled in Washington city in the practice of his profession. He died March 23, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

SCHENCK, WILLIAM EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born March 29, 1819, in Princeton, N. J. He is a presbyterian minister of Philadelphia; and the author of Children in Heaven; Nearing Home; and The Fountain for Sin; Church Extension in Cities.

SCHERER, JOHN JACOB, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Feb. 7, 1830, in Wythe county, Va. He was president of Colorado college, Texas, for twenty years; president of Marion Female college, Virginia; and president of the general synod south of the Lutheran church.

SCHERESCHEWSKY, SAMUEL ISAAC JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born May 6, 1831, in Russia. He is third protestant episcopal bishop of the China mission. He was consecrated in 1877, but resigned his office in 1883 and lived for some years in Cambridge, but since 1895 has lived at Shanghai. He is the author of a translation of the Bible into Chinese.

SCHERMERHORN, ABRAHAM M., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1849 to 1853. He died Aug. 22, 1855, in Rochester, N. Y.

SCHERMERHORN, SIMON J., farmer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 26, 1827, in Rotterdam, N. Y. In 1862 he was elected without opposition to the New York state legislature. He is interested in banking, being a director and trustee of local banks. He was on the Cleveland electoral ticket in 1888, representing the old twentieth district of the state of New York; and was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

SCHIEFFLIN, SAMUEL BRADHURST, author, was born Feb. 24, 1811, in New York city. He is a business man of New York city who wrote on religious topics. He is the author of Message to the Ruling Elders; Foundations of History; Words to Christian Teachers; and The Church in Ephesus and the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches.

SCHIEREN, CHARLES A., manufacturer, inventor, was born Feb. 28, 1842, in Germany. In 1882 he established the present firm of Chas. A. Schieren and Co. of Brooklyn, N. Y., manufacturers of leather belting. He was the inventor of the electric belt, consisting of a coating of composition spread over the belt to preserve the leather.

SCHINDLER, SOLOMON, clergyman, author, was born in 1842 in Silesia. He is a Hebrew clergyman now living in Cambridge but formerly in charge of Temple Adath Israel, Boston. He is the author of Young West, a sequel to Looking Backward; Messianic Exhortations and Modern Judaism; and Dissolving Views on the History of Judaism.

SCHLEICHER, GUSTAVE, civil engineer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 19, 1823, in Germany. He moved to Texas in 1847; served in the state legislature in 1853 and 1854; and from 1859 to 1861 served in the state senate. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Texas to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat. He died Jan. 10, 1879, in Washington City, Pa.

SCHLEY, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, governor, author, was born Dec. 15, 1786, in Frederick, Md. In 1825 he was elected a judge of the superior court of the middle district of Georgia, and was elected to the state legislature in 1830. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1833 to 1835; and during the two succeeding years was governor of Georgia. He published a Digest of the English Statutes. At the time of his death he was president of the Medical college of Georgia. He died Nov. 20, 1858, in Augusta, Ga.

SCHLEY, WINFIELD SCOTT, naval officer, explorer, author, was born Oct. 9, 1839, near Frederick, Md. He attended the naval academy during 1856-60; and was promoted to master in 1861. He was in all the engagements which led to the capture of Port Hudson in 1863. In 1866 he was commissioned a lieutenant-commander; and commander in 1874. During 1880-83 he was light-house inpector; in 1884 was in charge of the Greely expedition; and in 1885-89 was chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting. He was promoted to captain in 1888; and in 1898 gained distinction during the Spanish-American war in the destruction and capture of the Spanish fleet. He is the author of The Rescue of Greely.

SCHMAUK, THEODORE EMANUEL, journalist, author, was born May 30, 1860, in Lancaster, Pa. He has been president of the Pennsylvania German society, and chancellor of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua. He is editor-in-chief of The Lutheran and several church publications; and the author of The Negative Criticism; The Art of Conversation; The Voice of Speech and Song; and various other works.

SCHMIDT, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, educator, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Jan. 2, 1837, in Germany. He has for years been a leader among the Norwegian Lutherans. In 1873 he was sent as delegate from the Norwegian synod to the general assembly of the Norwegian Mission society at Christiania, Norway. He was editor of the Lutheran Watchman in Decorah, Iowa, in 1864-65.

SCHMIDT, HENRY IMMANUEL, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 21, 1806, in Nazareth, Pa. He was a Lutheran clergyman and educator of New York city, professor of German in Columbia college in 1848-80, and the author of History of Education; The Lutheran Doctrine of the Lord's Supper; and Course of American Geography. He died Feb. 11, 1889, in New York city.

SCHMITZ, JOHN PETER, merchant, physician, surgeon, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 24, 1834, in Germany. In 1855 he emigrated to America and engaged in mercantile pursuits. In 1875 he entered the Cooper Medical college of San Francisco; and subsequently attended the California Medical college, graduating therefrom in 1881, and has since attained prominence as a successful physician of San Francisco, and a noted lecturer and teacher of physiology to medical students, having held the chair of physiology in the California Medical college since 1886. He is the author of a work on Human Physiology, Analysis and Digest, for the use of Medical Students and Practitioners; and valuable papers and pamphlets on the cause of diphtheria and croup have appeared from his pen.

SCHMUCKER, JOHN GEORGE, clergyman, author, poet, was born Aug. 18, 1771, in Germany. He was a frequent contributor to periodicals, and a poet of merit.

Among his works are, Prophetic History of the Christian Religion, or Explanation of the Revelation of St. John. He died Oct. 7, 1854, in Williamsburg, Pa.

SCHMUCKER, SAMUEL MOSHEIM, author, was born Jan. 12, 1823, in New Market, Va. He was a Philadelphia author who was in the early part of his career a Lutheran minister. He was the author of Errors of Modern Infidelity; The Spanish Wife, a play; History of the Four Georges; History of All Religions; Court and Reign of Catharine II.; Lives of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Webster, Clay, Dr. Kane, Fremont; Memorable Scenes in French History; History of the Modern Jews; History of Napoleon Third; Arctic Explorations; and History of the Civil War in the United States. He died May 12, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SCHMUCKER, SAMUEL SIMON, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 28, 1799, in Hagerstown, Md. He was a Lutheran clergyman and educator, and professor in the Theological seminary at Gettysburg in 1826-64. He was the author of Elements of Popular Theology; Psychology; Lutheran Manual; Lutheran Symbols, or American Lutheranism Vindicated; Church of the Redeemer; and The Unity of Christ's Church. He died July 26, 1873, in Gettysburg, Pa.

SCHNECK, BENJAMIN SHRODER, clergyman, author, was born March 14, 1806, in Upper Bern, Pa. He was a Lutheran clergyman, pastor at Chambersburg from 1855, and the author of Die deutsche Kanzel; The Burning of Chambersburg; and Mercersburg Theology. He died April 19, 1874, in Chambersburg, Pa.

SCHODDE, GEORGE HENRY, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 15, 1854, in Allegheny City, Pa. He was professor at Capitol university from 1880; and the author of The Book of Enoch translated from the Ethiopic, with Notes; and A Day in Capernaum, from the German of Delitzsch.

SCHOEPFLE, HENRY, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 12, 1867, in Sandusky, Ohio. He received his education in the Northwestern Normal university of Adair, Ohio, and graduated from the Cincinnati Law school. For many years he was engaged in educational work; is now a prominent lawyer of Sandusky, Ohio; is serving as city solicitor, and takes an active part in public affairs.

SCHOFIELD, JOHN McALLISTER, soldier, was born Sept. 29, 1831, in Chautauqua county, N. Y. In 1853 he graduated from the United States Military academy; was assigned to the first regiment of artillery, and during 1855-60 was professor of natural philosophy. In 1861 he was commissioned captain. During the civil war he served as major of the first Missouri volunteers; was appointed chief of staff, and the same year became brigadier-general of the Missouri militia. In 1862 he was appointed major-general of volunteers, and in 1864, for his services at the battle of Franklin, he was made brigadier-general and brevet major-general in the regular army. General Schofield succeeded Edwin M. Stanton as secretary of war; and in 1869 he was appointed major-general. During 1876-81 he was superintendent of the United States Military academy; and in 1895 was retired from active service.

SCHOOLCRAFT, HENRY ROWE, ethnologist, author, poet, was born March 29, 1793, in Albany county, N. Y. He was an eminent ethnologist and geologist, thirty years of whose life were spent among the Indians, chiefly at Mackinaw. He discovered the source of the Mississippi. Among his many works are included, View of the Lead Mines of Missouri; Alcic Discoveries; Historical Information Concerning the Indian Tribes; Narrative of an Expedition to Itasca Lake; Oneota, reissued as The Indian and His Wigwam; The Myth of Hiawatha; Personal Memoirs of Thirty Years' Residence with Indian Tribes; Scenes and Adventures in the Ozark Mountains; Life of General Cass, and several volumes of verse. He died Dec. 10, 1864, in Washington, D. C.

SCHOOLCRAFT, JOHN L., merchant, banker, congressman, was born in Albany, N. Y. He was for many years president of the Commercial bank of Albany, and was a representative in congress from New York from 1849 to 1853. He died in May, 1860, in Canada.

SCHOOLCRAFT, MRS. MARY (HOWARD), author, was born in Beaufort, S. C. She is the author of The Black Gauntlet, a Tale of Plantation Life.

SCHOONMAKER, AUGUSTUS, lawyer, was born March 2, 1828, in Rochester, N. Y. In 1876-77 he was a member of the New York state senate, and in 1878-79 he was attorney-general of New York.

SCHOONMAKER, CORNELIUS C., congressman, was born in June, 1745, in Rochester, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1791 to 1793, and was, for fourteen years, before and after the above term, a member of the New York assembly, from the county of Ulster. He died in 1796, in Shawangunk, N. Y.

SCHOONMAKER, MARIUS, lawyer, congressman, author, was born April 24, 1811, in Kingston, N. Y. He was elected to congress as a whig and served from 1851 till 1853. In 1854 he was auditor of the canal department, and in 1855-56 he served as superintendent of the bank department of the state of New York. He has published speeches in congress on Public Lands; The Slave Question; and is the author of a History of Kingston from its First Settlement to 1820.

SCHOONMAKER, MARTINUS, clergyman, was born in 1737 in Rochester, N. Y. In 1784 he fixed his residence at Flatbush, and assumed charge of the six congregations in Kings county. He died in 1824 in Flatbush, N. Y.

SCHOTT, CHARLES ANTONY, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 7, 1826, in Germany. He entered the service of the United States coast survey, and is the author of numerous works on meteorology.

SCHOULER, JAMES, educator, lawyer, author, was born March 20, 1839, in West Cambridge, Mass. He is a lawyer and historian of Boston, professor in the law school of Boston university; and the author of The Law of Bailments; The Law of Personal Property; The Law of Husband and Wife; Law of Executors and Administrators; Law of Wills; A History of the United States under the Constitution; Life of Thomas Jefferson; and Historical Briefs.

SCHOULER, WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born Dec. 31, 1814, in Scotland. He was a journalist of Boston who published A History of Massachusetts during the Civil War. He died Oct. 24, 1872, in West Roxbury, Mass.

SCHRIVER, EDMUND, soldier, was born Sept. 16, 1812, in York, Pa. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and was brevetted major-general of the United States army in 1865.

SCHROEBACH, JAMES, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 15, 1847, in Germany. He came to America in 1864. In 1892 he was consecrated bishop of the diocese of La Crosse, having for ten years previous been its vicar-general.

SCHROEDER, CHARLES H., educator, poet, was born March 16, 1858, in Boeuf Creek, Mo. After studying the normal course at the university of Missouri for three years, he first taught school at New Haven in 1884 as principal; then at Angusta, Mo., for four years, and has since been principal of various schools. He is the author of a pastoral story entitled Enos and Aurelia; and his poems have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

SCHROEDER, FREDERICK A., state senator, was born March 9, 1833, in Germany. In 1871 he was elected mayor of Brooklyn; and in 1879 was a member of the state senate from New York.

SCHROEDER, JOHN FREDERICK, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 8, 1800, in Baltimore, Md. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator of Flushing, L. I., and the author of Life of Washington; Maxims of Washington; Class Book of Astronomy; and Sunday Addresses. He died Feb. 26, 1857, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

SCHUETTE, CONRAD HERMAN LOUIS, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 17, 1843, in Germany. He was pastor at Delaware, Ohio, in 1865-72, has been professor of mathematics and natural science in Capitol university since 1872, and since 1881 also professor of ethics, symbolics, and homiletics in the theological department. He has been editor-in-chief of the Columbus Theological Magazine since 1886, and has published The Church Member's Manual; and The State, the Church, and the School.

SCHULTE, MRS. MARY JEMMA (McCOLL), poet, was born in 1847 in England. She is a verse-writer of Jersey City, and the author of Bide a Wee, and Other Poems.

SCHULTZ, EMANUEL, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 25, 1819, in Berks county, Pa. In 1875 he was elected a member of the Ohio house of representatives; and was elected to the forty-seventh congress.

SCHULTZ, IRWIN WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 6, 1855, in Phillipsburg, N. J. He has served his native city as mayor, and is the presiding judge of the court of common pleas of his county.

SCHULTZE, AUGUSTUS, educator, author, was born Feb. 3, 1840, in Germany. For fifteen years this eminent theologian and philologist was professor of exegesis and dogmatics at the Moravian college and Theological seminary of Bethlehem, Pa., and since 1885 has been its president. He is the author of The Mission Fields of the Moravian Church; Grammar and Vocabulary of the Alaskan Eskimo Language; The Theology of Peter and Paul, and other works.

SCHULTZE, JOHN S., railroad president, was born Sept. 30, 1837, in Centre county, Pa. Since 1878 he has been president of the Newburg, Dutchess and Connecticut railroad.

SCHULZE, JOHN ANDREW, governor, was born July 19, 1775, in Tulpehocken, Pa. In 1823 he was elected governor of Pennsylvania, serving until 1829. He died Nov. 18, 1852, in Lancaster, Pa.

SCHUMACHER, JAMES MADISON, banker, state senator, was born Nov. 18, 1843, in Mohawk, N. Y. For one term he was a member of the Florida state senate. In 1890-93 he was president of the State Bankers' association; was president of the Jacksonville and Atlantic railroad; and was vice-president of the Maine Street Electric railroad.

SCHUMAKER, JOHN G., lawyer, congressman, was born June 27, 1826, in Claverack, N. Y. In 1856 he was elected district attorney for Kings county; and in 1862 and 1864 was elected corporation counsel for the city of Brooklyn. In 1868 he was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first congress; and was also elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a democrat.

SCHUNEMAN, MARTIN G., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1805 to 1807.

SCHUREMAN, JAMES, merchant, congressman, United States senator, was born Feb. 12, 1756, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1786 and 1787; was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1789 to 1791, and from 1797 to 1799; and was a senator in congress from 1799 to 1801. He was again a representative from 1813 to 1815; and was at one time mayor of New Brunswick. He died Jan. 23, 1824, in New Brunswick, N. J.

SCHURMAN, JACOB GOULD, educator, college president, author, was born May 22, 1854, in Prince Edward Island. For many years he was a successful Canadian educator; and since 1892 has been president of Cornell university of Ithaca, N. Y. He is the president of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the United States and Maryland. He is the author of Kantian Ethics and the Ethics of Evolution; The Ethical Import of Darwinism; Belief in God; and Agnosticism and Religion.

SCHURZ, CARL, soldier, journalist, United States senator, author, was born March 2, 1829, near Cologne, Germany.

He emigrated to the United States in 1852. In 1861 he was selected by President Lincoln as minister to Spain; and was then appointed a brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1865 and 1866 he was a Washington correspondent for the New York Tribune, and was subsequently connected with the press of Detroit and St. Louis. He was elected a senator in congress from Missouri for the term commencing in 1869 and ending in 1875. In 1876 he became secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President Hayes. He afterwards became editor of the New York Evening Post, in which position he continued until 1884. He is the author of Speeches; Life of Henry Clay; and Abraham Lincoln, an essay.

SCHUSSELE, CHRISTIAN, artist, was born April 16, 1824, in Alsace. He worked at chromo-lithography, which he had also followed in France, but later he devoted himself almost entirely to painting. His best-known works are Clear the Track; Franklin before the Lords in Council; Men of Progress, in Cooper institute, New York; Zeisberger Preaching to the In- dians; The Iron-Worker and King Solomon; Washington at Valley Forge (1862); and Home on Furlough, and McClellan at Antietam. He died Aug. 20, 1879, in Merchantville, N. J.

SCHUWERK, WILLIAM MARTIN, lawyer, legislator, was born April 12, 1856, in Cleveland, Ohio. For many years this able lawyer was the prosecuting attorney for Evansville, Ill. He served as a member of the thirty-sixth general assembly of the Illinois legislature.

SCHUYLER, AARON, educator, mathematician, author, was born Feb. 7, 1828, in New York. He is a mathematician who was professor in Baldwin university and president of that institution in 1875-81, and since 1885 a professor in Kansas Wesleyan university. He is the author of The Human Soul; Higher Arithmetic; Principles of Logic; Surveying and Navigation; Elements of Geometry; and Empirical and Rational Psychology.

SCHUYLER, ANTHONY, clergyman, author, was born July 8, 1816, in Geneva, N. Y. He is an episcopal clergyman, rector of Grace church at Orange, N. J., from 1868, and author of Household Religion.

SCHUYLER, GEORGE LEE, author, was born June 9, 1811, in Rhinebeck, N. Y.; has been active in yachting matters, and in 1882 the America's cup was returned to him, as its sole surviving donor, by the New York Yacht club. He has published Correspondence and Remarks upon Bancroft's History of the Northern Campaigns in 1877; and The Character of Major-General Philip Schuyler.

SCHUYLER, GEORGE WASHINGTON, state official, author, was born Feb. 2, 1810, in Stillwater, N. Y. He was a prominent state official of New York for many years; and the author of Colonial New York; and Philip Schuyler and His Family. He died Feb. 1, 1888, in Ithaca, N. Y.

SCHUYLER, MONTGOMERY, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1814, in New York city. He was an episcopal clergyman of St. Louis, rector of Christ church from 1854; and the author of The Church: its Ministry and Worship; and The Pioneer Church. He died in 1896.

SCHUYLER, MONTGOMERY, journalist, author, was born Aug. 19, 1843, in Ithaca, N. Y. He is a journalist of New York city on the staff of The Times; and the author of Studies in American Architecture.

SCHUYLER, PETER, soldier, merchant, was born Sept. 17, 1657, in Albany, N. Y. He was a successful merchant of Albany, and its first mayor. He died Feb. 19, 1724, in Albany, N. Y.

SCHUYLER, PHILIP, soldier, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 22, 1733, in Albany, N. Y. He was appointed major-general in the army of the revolution in 1775, and dispatched to the fortifications of the north of New York, to prepare for the invasion of Canada. He was a delegate to congress previous to the present constitution; and was a senator of the United States by appointment from 1789 to 1791, and again in 1797. He died Nov. 18, 1804, in Albany, N. Y.

SCHUYLER, PHILIP J., congressman, was born in 1768. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1817 to 1819. He died Feb. 21, 1835, in New York city.

SCHUYLER, RICHARD, soldier, legislator, was born in 1733 in Albany, N. Y. He was a captain under Sir William Johnson, and was in active public service until the revolution. He was a general in the patriot army, and was a legislator after the war. He died in 1804.

SCHWARTS, JOHN, soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 27, 1793, in Berke county, Pa. He served as lieutenant in the last war with Great Britain. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth congress. He died in July, 1860.

SCHWARTZ, JACOB, librarian, was born March 13, 1846, in New York city. In 1863 he entered the Apprentices' library of New York, of which he became chief librarian in 1871. The method of management that is followed there was devised by him. He has contributed to the Library Journal and other periodicals.

SCHWATKA, FREDERICK, naval officer, author. He was a naval officer and explorer; and the author of In the Land of Cave and Cliff Dwellers; Nimrod in the North; Along Alaska's Great River; and The Children of the Cold. He died in 1892.

SCHWEINITZ, EDMUND ALEXANDER, bishop, college president, author, was born March 20, 1825, in Bethlehem, Pa. He was a Moravian bishop in Pennsylvania, president of the Moravian college in 1867-84; and the author of The Moravian Manual; The Moravian Episcopate; Life of Zeisberger, the Western Pioneer and Apostle to the Indians; Some of the Fathers of the American Moravian Church; History of the Church known as the Unitas Fratrum; and Systematic Benevolence. He died Dec. 18, 1887, in Bethlehem, Pa.

SCHWEINITZ, LEWIS DAVID DE, clergyman, botanist, author, was born Feb. 13, 1780, in Bethlehem, Pa. He was a Moravian clergyman of Bethlehem, Pa., famous in his day as a botanist; and the author of Conspetus Fungorum Lusatiæ; Synopsis Fungorum Carolinae Superioris; Synopsis Fungorum in America; and Boreali Media Digentium. He died Feb. 8, 1834, in Bethlehem, Pa.

SCHWINDT, G. E., statesman. He is prominently identified with the educational and business interests of Prentice, Wis.; and has filled numerous public offices of trust in his city, county, and state.

SCOFIELD, CYRUS INGERSON, clergyman, state legislator, was born Aug. 19, 1844, in Clinton, Mich. This eminent clergyman of the congregational church was a pastor for twelve years in Dallas, Tex. In 1872 he was elected a member of the Kansas state legislature.

SCOFIELD, EDWARD, soldier, state senator, governor, was born March 28, 1842, in Oconto, Pa. During the civil war he served with distinction in the eleventh Pennsylvania reserved; and received the brevet of major. In 1886 he was elected state senator for four years; and in 1896 was elected governor of Wisconsin.

SCOFIELD, GLENNI W., lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born March 11, 1817, in Chautauqua county, N. Y. In 1850 and 1851 he was a member of the Pennsylvania assembly, and from 1857 to 1859 was in the state senate. In 1861 he was appointed president judge of the eighteenth judicial district of the state. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second, and forty-third congresses as a republican.

He was register of the treasury of the United States from 1878 to 1881, when he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court of claims.

SCOLLARD, CLINTON, educator, author, poet, was born Sept. 18, 1861, in Clinton, N. Y. He is an educator of Clinton, N. Y., professor of English literature and Anglo-Saxon at Hamilton college in 1888-96, and a well-known poet of the day. His writings in verse include Pictures in Song; With Reed and Lyre; Old and New World Lyrics; Giovia and Giulia; Songs of Sunrise Lands; Hills of Song; Skenandoo; and A Boy's Book of Rhyme. In prose he has published Under Summer Skies; and On Sunny Shores.

SCOTTFORD, HENRY CLINTON, clergyman, was born Oct. 30, 1849, in Saline, Mich. He is the son of Rev. John Scottford, a congregational minister who died in 1881, and was the author of several works. He received his education in the Olivet college, from which institution he received the degrees of A. B. and A. M.; the degree of B. D. was conferred by the Yale Theological seminary; and the degree of D. D. by the Philander Smith college. This eminent minister of the congregational church has filled pastorates in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan, and is now pastor of his church in Nashua, Iowa. While filling a pastorate in Kansas City he was the editor of The Church Builder and The Christian Era.

SCOTT, ABRAHAM M., governor. He was governor of Mississippi from 1831 to 1833.

SCOTT, ALLEN DARLING, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Jan. 15, 1831, in Springville, N. Y. For many years he was a lecturer and instructor of the law school of the Buffalo university. For two years he was surrogate of his county, and for two terms county judge. He served as a state senator of the New York legislature from the thirty-second senatorial district.

SCOTT, ANDREW, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Arkansas; and in 1819 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for that territory.

SCOTT, AUSTIN, educator, college president, was born Aug. 10, 1848, in Maunree, Ohio. In 1883 he was appointed professor of history, political economy and constitutional law of the Rutgers college, holding this position until 1890, when he became president of the same college.

SCOTT, CHARLES, soldier, governor, was born in 1733 in Cumberland county, Va. He was appointed colonel of the third Virginia battalion in 1776, and was made brigadier-general in 1777. He was governor of Kentucky from 1808 to 1812. He died Oct. 23, 1813.

SCOTT, CHARLES, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 12, 1811, in Knoxville, Tenn. He was a lawyer of Jackson, Miss.; and the author of Analogy of Ancient Craft Masonry to Natural and Revealed Religion; and The Keystone of the Masonic Arch. He died May 30, 1861, in Jackson, Miss.

SCOTT, CHARLES, soldier, lawyer, banker, was born Nov. 7, 1847, in Jackson, Miss. At the age of fifteen he joined the confederate army, and served with distinction. He is one of the leading lawyers of the south at Rosedale, Miss.; the president of the bank of Rosedale; prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state; and for many years was president of the Mississippi levee commissioners. He is possessed of a constructive talent which places him in the front rank of lawmakers; and his name has several times been mentioned in connection with the senatorship of his state.

SCOTT, CHARLES FREDERICK, journalist, legislator, was born Sept. 7, 1860, near Iola, Kansas. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of his native county, and at the Kansas State university. Since 1892 he has been the owner and editor of The Register of Iola, Kan. In 1891 he was a member of the board of regents of the state university; was president of the Kansas State Editorial association in 1893; president of the Kansas State Republican league in 1895; and a candidate for presidential elector in 1896. During 1892-96 he was a member of the senate of the Kansas state legislature; and on several important committees; and served with distinction in that body.

SCOTT, CHARLES L., soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1827, in Richmond, Va. In 1856 he was elected a representative from California to the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He left his seat in congress in March, 1861, and went to Alabama, where he enlisted in the confederate army, and was elected major of his regiment. In 1877 he removed to Monroe county, Ala., and engaged in planting. In 1881 he resumed the practice of his profession at Monroeville, Ala.; and in 1885 was appointed United States minister to Venezuela.

SCOTT, CHARLES WINFIELD, physician, author, was born in October, 1849, in Johnson, Vt. For many years he practiced medicine in his native town; moved to Hartford, Conn., in 1876, and was there elected a member of the court of common council in 1881-83. In 1883 he moved to Kansas City, Mo., and was appointed professor of anatomy at the Kansas City Hospital of Medicine; and is now a prominent physician of Boston, Mass. In 1863, when thirteen years of age, he enlisted in the union army; at fourteen years of age he was chief bugler and dispatch carrier in the second brigade of the first division second corps army of the Potomac; was one of the youngest soldiers of the war, and was wounded at the battle of Cold Harbor, Va. He is the author of a work entitled Key Notes of Health and a Century of Life; and several medical papers on Hygiene and Health.

SCOTT, EBEN[EZER] GREENOUGH, author, was born in 1836 in Pennsylvania. He is a writer of Wilkesbarre, Pa.; and the author of Development of Constitutional Liberty in the English Colonies of America; Commentaries upon the Interstate System of Pennsylvania; and Reconstruction During the Civil War in the United States of America.

SCOTT, EDWARD, lawyer, author, was born in 1774 in Virginia. He was a Tennessee lawyer, prominent in the state's early history, who published Laws of the State of Tennessee in 1822. He died in 1852.

SCOTT, FREDERICK R., railroad president, was born in 1830 in Ireland. Since 1873 he has been president of Richmond and Petersburg railroad.

SCOTT, GUSTAVUS, lawyer, congressman, was born in Prince William county, Va. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1784 to 1785. He died in 1801 in Washington, D. C.

SCOTT, GUSTAVUS HALL, naval officer, was born June 13, 1812, in Fairfax county, Va. He served in the civil war with distinction, attaining the rank of rear-admiral, United States navy. He died March 23, 1882, in Washington, D. C.

SCOTT, HARVEY D., congressman, was born in Ohio. He removed to Indiana; and was elected a representative from Indiana to the thirty-fourth congress.

SCOTT, HARVEY W., journalist, was born Feb. 1, 1838, near Peoria, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in various schools in Oregon, and graduated from the Pacific university. In 1864 he moved to Portland, Ore., intending to follow the profession of law, but took up writing for the press. Since 1865 he has been the editor of The Oregonian, the leading daily newspaper of that state. To this publication he has since devoted his attention. He is a clear and forcible writer, and a man of executive ability and untiring energy.

SCOTT, HENRY LEE, soldier, author, was born in 1814 in North Carolina. He was an army officer who served in the Mexican and civil wars, and was the author of A Military Dictionary. He died in 1886.

SCOTT, HUGH REID, lawyer, banker, state senator, was born in 1855 in Rockingham county, N. C. In 1878 he was prosecuting attorney of his native county, and during 1881-84 was a member of the state senate of the North Carolina legislature. In 1885 he organized the Reidsville bank, and has ever since been its president.

SCOTT, IRVING MURRAY, mechanical engineer, was born Dec. 25, 1837, in Hebron Mills, Md. He has invented numerous appliances connected with engines; and also in mining machinery. He has been president of the Mechanics' institute and of the Art institute of San Francisco, Cal. He is at the head of the Union Iron works, and built the battleship Oregon.

SCOTT, JAMES, lawyer, jurist. In 1813 he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Indiana.

SCOTT, JAMES, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1806 in Scotland. He was pastor at German Valley and Newark, N. J. He published a dissertation on the genius of Robert Pollok in his Life, and before his death completed a narrative poem called The Guardian Angel. He died in 1857 in Newark, N. J.

SCOTT, JAMES W., journalist, was born June 26, 1849, in Walworth county. He is the editor and owner of the Chicago Evening Post.

SCOTT, JEANNE McCLAIN, editor, author, was born Aug. 12, 1849, in Carthage-on-the-Cumberland, Tenn. She attended the Sacred Heart college of New Orleans, and in 1863 graduated from the Huntsville college, Alabama. She is the editor of the Arkansas Traveler, and a contributor to eastern and southern magazines. She is a successful syndicate writer and the author of four books.

SCOTT, JOHN, congressman, was born in 1782 in Hanover county, Va. He was a delegate to congress from the territory of Missouri from 1816 to 1821; and was a representative in congress from Missouri from 1821 to 1827. He died in 1861 in St. Genevieve, Mo.

SCOTT, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Huntingdon county, Penn., from 1829 to 1831.

SCOTT, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 27, 1820, in Washington county, Pa. He is a methodist protestant clergyman of Cincinnati; and the author of Pulpit Echoes; and The Land of Sojourn.

SCOTT, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, United States senator, was born July 14, 1824, in Alexandria, Pa. He was a prosecuting attorney from 1846 to 1849; was for ten years solicitor for the Pennsylvania Railroad company; and in 1862 was elected to the state legislature. He was elected a senator in congress from Pennsylvania for the term commencing in 1869 and ending in 1875. He died March 22, 1889, in Pittsburg, Pa.

SCOTT, JOHN G., manufacturer, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-eighth congress to fill a vacancy.

SCOTT, JOHN M., clergyman, educator, poet, was born in 1855 in Westmoreland county, Pa. He is a successful educator and baptist clergyman of Sewickly, Pa.; and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

SCOTT, JOHN MORIN, congressman, was born in 1730 in New York. He was secretary of the state of New York in 1778 and 1779; and was a delegate from New York to the continental congress from 1780 to 1783. He died Sept. 14, 1784, in New York.

SCOTT, JOHN MORIN, soldier, lawyer, was born Oct. 25, 1789, in New York city. He was for many years a member of the Philadelphia city councils, a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1837, and in 1841-44 served as mayor.

SCOTT, JOHN T., jurist, was born May 6, 1831, in Glasgow, Ky. He removed to Terre Haute, Ind.; and in 1868 he was elected judge of the court of common pleas, and was again elected to the judgeship in 1872.

SCOTT, JOHN W., educator, clergyman, was born Jan. 22, 1800, in Beaver county, Pa. He graduated from the university of Pennsylvania; taught school for a number of years; and during 1824-81 he filled the chair of natural science and mathematics in various institutions. In 1830 he was ordained a clergyman in the presbyterian church; and during the Harrison administration he was a member of the president's family at the White house. His son, John Neal Scott, is a noted lawyer of Port Townsend, Wash.; and his daughter is the wife of ex-President Benjamin Harrison.

SCOTT, JULIAN, artist, was born Feb. 14, 1846, in Johnson, Vt. Among his works, mostly pictures of army life, are Rear-Guard at White Oak Swamp, owned by the Union League club; Battle of Cedar Creek, in the state-house at Montpelier, Vt.; Battle of Golding's Farm; The Recall; On Board the Hartford; and Old Records.

SCOTT, LAWRENCE W., journalist, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 29, 1846, in Monongalia county, Vt. In his youth he learned the printer's trade in Texas, and was local editor of the Daily Leader of Covington, Ky. In 1866 he entered the ministry, and became somewhat distinguished as a theological disputant. In 1872 he returned to Texas, where he published the Olive Branch, which was afterward consolidated with the Southern Christian Weekly. He is the author of Paradox, and Other Poems, and several prose works.

SCOTT, ORANGE, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 13, 1800, in Brookfield, Vt. Besides many contributions to the press, he was the author of An Appeal to the Methodist Episcopal Church. He died July 31, 1847, in Newark, N. J.

SCOTT, OWEN, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born July 6, 1848, near Effingham, Ill. He was elected superintendent of schools for Effingham county, Ill., and served in that capacity eight years; was admitted to the bar by the Illinois supreme court in 1874, and practiced law for ten years, leaving this to engage in newspaper work. He published the Effingham Democrat, leaving it to become proprietor and manager of the Bloomington Daily and Weekly Bulletin; and also publishes monthly the Illinois Freeman. He was elected city attorney and mayor of Effingham; was deputy collector of internal revenue; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

SCOTT, ROBERT KINGSTON, soldier, physician, governor, was born July 8, 1826, in Armstrong county, Pa. He was in Sherman's operations before Atlanta, and in the march to the sea. He was assistant commissary from 1865 to 1868; and was governor of South Carolina from 1868 to 1871.

SCOTT, ROBERT NICHOLSON, soldier, author, was born Jan. 21, 1838, in Winchester county, Tenn. He was an army officer, in charge of the publication of war records at Washington in 1877-87, who published a Digest of the Military Laws of the United States. He died March 5, 1887, in Washington, D. C.

SCOTT, RUFUS LEONARD, lawyer, was born March 31, 1835, in Lanesborough, Mass. In 1861 he was admitted to the bar, and has since continued the practice of law in the city of New York, residing in Brooklyn. In 1877 he was elected registrar of arrars for the city of Brooklyn; and he was instrumental in having the plan of advertising the tax sales in pamphlet form for distribution, with a reference notice in the daily papers, instead of advertising in detail through the press; and this measure subsequently became a law. He has been a member of the board of aldermen; a member of the board of education; was a leader in securing rapid transit for the city; one of the promoters and founders of the Bushwick and East Brooklyn dispensary; and also one of the founders of the Bushwick Savings bank.

SCOTT, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1789 to 1791, and again from 1793 to 1795.

SCOTT, THOMAS ALEXANDER, soldier, railroad president, was born Dec. 28, 1824, in London, Pa. He was commissioned colonel of the District of Columbia volunteers; a few weeks later was appointed in charge of all government rail-ways and telegraphs. In 1861 he was appointed assistant secretary of war, and in 1863 became colonel and assistant quartermaster on the staff of General

Hooker. During 1871-72 he was president of the Union Pacific Railway company; in 1872 was elected president of the Texas Pacific Railway company; and in 1873 was elected president of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway company. In 1874 he was elected president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. He died May 21, 1881, in Darby, Pa.

SCOTT, THOMAS FIELDING, protestant episcopal bishop, was born March 12, 1807, in Iredell county, N. C. He was elected missionary bishop of Oregon and Washington territories, and was consecrated in Christ church, Savannah, Ga., in 1854. He died July 14, 1867, in New York city.

SCOTT, THOMAS GIBNEY, clergyman, home missionary, was born Aug. 2, 1824, in Uniontown, Pa. He received his education at the Franklin college of Ohio, and the Theological seminary of New Albany, Ind. He has attained success as an eminent clergyman and home missionary, and has filled pastorates in Westfield, Pa., in Mechanicstown and Beech Springs, Ohio; and now fills a pastorate in Champaign, Ill.

SCOTT, THOMAS SMITH, clergyman, was born Nov. 9, 1849, in Enon Valley, Pa. He attended the new Lisbon High school; the Union academy of Poland, Ohio, and the Western Reserve college; and subsequently studied in the Theological seminary of Auburn, and the Union Theological seminary of Schenectady. This eminent presbyterian clergyman has filled pastorates in East Cleveland, Ohio; Rockford, Ill.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Vincennes, Ind.; and Middletown, Ohio. He has contributed extensively to the New York Observer, New York Independent, and other publications, principally on religious and educational topics.

SCOTT, WALTER, author, was born Oct. 31, 1796, in Scotland. He was one of the founders of the Disciples or Campbellites; and was the author of The Gospel Restored; and The Great Demonstration. He died April 23, 1861, in May's Lick, Ky.

SCOTT, WALTER GAY, journalist, lawyer, was born Feb. 21, 1853, in Washington, Pa. He started in life as a printer, and became a successful journalist. He has attained distinction as an able lawyer of St. Johns, Ariz.; has been court commissioner; district attorney; and filled numerous positions of honor.

SCOTT, WILLIAM AMASA, educator, author, was born April 17, 1862, in Clarkson, N. Y. He has filled the chair of history and political science in various institutions, principally in the university of Wisconsin. He is the author of Repudiation of State Debts; and various articles on economic subjects.

SCOTT, WILLIAM ANDERSON, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 31, 1813, in Rock Creek, Tenn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of San Francisco, professor in the Theological seminary there from 1871; and the author of The Bible and Politics; Strauss and Renan; Daniel: a Model for Young Men; Achan in El Dorado; The Giant Judge; The Church in the Army; The Christ of the Apostles' Creed; and Trade and Letters. He died Jan. 14, 1885, in San Francisco, Cal.

SCOTT, WILLIAM COWPER, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 13, 1817, in Martinsburg, Va. He was pastor of several churches in his native state till his death, except during two years, when feeble health compelled him to desist from preaching, and he was occupied in teaching and writing for periodicals. He was the author of a work on Genius and Faith, or Poetry and Religion in their Mutual Relations. He died Oct. 23, 1854, in Bethesda, Va.

SCOTT, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, college president, was born Sept. 14, 1810, in Chauncey, Ohio. He filled the chair of Greek in the Ohio university of Athens during 1869-72, and was its president during 1872-83; and from that time until 1895 he was president of the Ohio state university, in which he now fills the chair of philosophy.

SCOTT, WILLIAM L., manufacturer, congressman, was born July 2, 1828, in Washington, D. C. He was a page in the national house of representatives from 1840 to 1846; and in 1848 settled at Erie, Pa. As president or director he was interested in twenty-two thousand miles of completed road, probably the largest mileage in the management of which one man was ever interested. He was elected mayor of Erie in 1866, and again in 1871. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-ninth congress; and re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

SCOTT, WINFIELD, soldier, lawyer, author, was born June 13, 1786, in Petersburg, Va. He joined the army in 1808; was made lieutenant-colonel in 1812, and passed through the war that ensued with great honor to himself and his company. He was brevetted major-general in 1814, and was made general-in-chief of the army in 1841. He was made lieutenant-general in 1855. He was voted a gold medal for his service in the war of 1812. He was a candidate for the presidency in 1852. He was the author of General Regulations of the Army; System of Infantry and Rifle Tactics; and Autobiography (1864). He died May 29, 1866, in West Point, N. Y.

SCOLLER, JAMES BROWN, clergyman, author, was born July 12, 1820, near Newville, Pa. He is a prominent united presbyterian clergyman; and the author of Manual of the United Presbyterian Church; History of the United Presbyterian Church; and Calvinism: its History and Influence.

SCOVEL, SYLVESTER F., clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 29, 1835, in Harrison, Ohio. During 1857-83 he filled pastorates in the presbyterian church, when he was appointed president of Wooster university of Ohio.

SCOVILLE, JONATHAN, manufacturer, congressman, was born in Salisbury, Conn. He removed to Buffalo, N. Y., in 1860, and engaged in the manufacture of car wheels. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-sixth congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-seventh congress.

SCOVILLE, JOSEPH A., journalist, author, was born in 1811 in Connecticut. He was a journalist of New York city, clerk of the common council, and at one period private secretary to Calhoun. He was the author of Adventures of Clarence Bolton, or Life in New York; The Old Merchants of New York; Vigor, a novel; and Marion. He died in 1864.

SCRANTON, GEORGE WHITEFIELD, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 11, 1811, in Madison, Conn. In 1858 he was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress. He died March 24, 1861, in Scranton, Pa.

SCRANTON, JOSEPH A., journalist, congressman, was born July 26, 1838, in Madison, Conn. He was collector of internal revenue from 1862 to 1866; and in 1867 founded the Scranton Republican newspaper. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh congress; and re-elected to the forty-ninth, fifty-first, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth congresses as a republican.

SCREVEN, JAMES, soldier, was born about 1744 in Georgia. He early espoused the patriot cause, and in 1774 was one of the committee that drew up articles of association for the defense of liberty in Georgia. He died Nov. 24, 1778, in Midway, Ga.

SCREVEN, JAMES PROCTOR, state senator, railroad president, was born Oct. 11, 1799, in Bluffton, S. C. In 1855 he was elected state senator from South Carolina and in 1866 mayor of Savannah. He is the president of the Savannah, Albany and Gulf, and the Atlantic and Gulf railroads. He died July 16, 1859.

SCREVEN, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1629 in England. He came to this country about 1640, settled about sixty miles north of Charleston, and was the original proprietor of the land on which the town of Georgetown was built. He was the author of An Ornament for Church Members, published after his death. He died in 1713 in Georgetown, S. C.

SCRIBNER, CHARLES, publisher, was born Feb. 21, 1821, in New York city. In 1865 he began the publication of Hours at Home in New York city, a monthly magazine, which in 1870 was merged in Scribner's Monthly, under the editorship of Josiah G. Holland, and which was published by a separate company, Scribner and Co., with Dr. Holland and Roswell Smith as part owners. He died Aug. 26, 1871, in Switzerland.

SCRIBNER, EUGENE D., journalist, lawyer, orator, was born Dec. 21, 1867, in Delafield, Wis. He received his education in the public schools of Fulton and Saratoga counties, N. Y. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Northville, N. Y.; and as an orator and journalist is well known. He is president of the Northville Electric Light and Power company; and is interested in various other business enterprises. In 1894 he was a candidate for member of the New York state assembly from Fulton county; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

SCRIPTURE, EDWARD WHEELER, scientist, author, was born in 1864 in New Hampshire. He is a scientist, director of the physical laboratory of Yale university; and the author of Thinking, Feeling, Doing, a popular psychology; The New Psychology; and Studies from the Yale Physical Laboratory.

SCRUGGS, WILLIAM L., journalist, lawyer, public official, was born Sept. 14, 1834, in Knoxville, Tenn. He was editor of the Columbus Sun from 1861 to 1864; and in 1865 became editor of the New Era of Atlanta, Ga. In 1872 he was appointed United States assessor of internal revenue for the district of Georgia. In 1873-76 he was appointed minister of the United States to the United States of Colombia; and in 1879 was appointed United States consul in China.

SCUDDER, ELIZA, poet, was born in 1821 in Massachusetts. She was a hymn-writer of Massachusetts; and the author of Hymns and Sonnets. She died in 1896.

SCUDDER, HENRY J., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1825 in Northport, L. I. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-third congress as a republican. He died Feb. 12, 1886, in New York city.

SCUDDER, HENRY MARTYN, clergyman, missionary, author, was born Feb. 5, 1822, in Ceylon. He was a presbyterian clergyman and missionary, pastor in Chicago in 1882-87, and from 1887 a missionary in Japan. He published in the Tamil language Liturgy of the Dutch Reformed Church; The Bazaar Book; Sweet Savors of Divine Truth; and Spiritual Teaching. He died in 1895.

SCUDDER, HORACE ELISHA, littérateur, author, was born Oct. 16, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He is a Boston writer, editor of The Atlantic Monthly from 1890; and the author of Seven Little People and Their Friends; Dream Children; Stories from my Attic; The Dwellers in Five-Sisters' Court; Stories and Romances; Boston Town; Life of Noah Webster; A History of the United States; A Short History of the United States; The Book of Fables; The Book of Folk Stories; Fables and Folk Stories; George Washington: an Historical Biography; Men and Letters, a volume of essays; Childhood in Literature and Art; Recollections of Samuel Breck; and The Bodley Books, a series of popular juveniles.

SCUDDER, ISAAC W., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1818 in Elizabeth, N. J. He was twice prosecutor of the court of common pleas for Hudson county; and was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-third congress.

SCUDDER, JARED WATERBURY, missionary, author, was born in 1830 in Ceylon. He was ordained a missionary to India under the reformed Dutch church, and since 1857 has held native charges there. He has published translations from the Tamil of Henry M. Scudder's Spiritual Teaching, and his Bazaar Book; and a History of the Arcot Mission.

SCUDDER, JOHN, missionary, physician, author, was born Sept. 3, 1793, in Freehold, N. J. He was a Dutch reformed missionary and physician in Ceylon in 1820-39; and the author of Letters from the East; Letters to Pious Young Men; and Promises for Passing Over Jordan. He died Jan. 13, 1855, in Africa.

SCUDDER, JOHN A., physician, state legislator, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He served a number of years in the assembly of his native state; and was a representative in congress from New Jersey to fill a vacancy.

SCUDDER, JOHN KING, educator, physician, was born May 16, 1865, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1886 he received the degree of B. A. from the Cincinnati university, and subsequently the degree of M. A. from the same institution. He also studied at the Eclectic Medical institute of Cincinnati, of which institution he has been secretary since 1887; and a member of the Ohio State Board of Medical Registration and Examination since 1896. He is connected with the publishing house of the Scudder Brothers company, medical publishers and booksellers of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the publishers of the Eclectic Medical Journal.

SCUDDER, JOHN MILTON, physician, author, was born Sept. 14, 1829, in Harrison, Ohio. During 1839-43 he attended the Miami university of Oxford, Ohio; and subsequently the Eclectic Medical institute of Cincinnati, Ohio, from which institution he received his medical degree. During 1830-94 he was professor of medicine; was the editor of the Eclectic Medical Journal during 1863-94; and was the author of the following works: Specific Medication; Specific Diagnosis; Principles of Medicine; Practice of Medicine; Materia Medica; Diseases of Children; Diseases of Women; Venereal; and Medicated Inhalations. He died Feb. 17, 1894, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

SCUDDER, MOSES LEWIS, broker, author, was born in 1843 in Massachusetts. He is a broker of Chicago; and the author of Brief Honors, a romance; Almost an Englishman; National Banking; Congested Prices; and The Labor Value Prophecy.

SCUDDER, NATHANIEL, congressman, was born May 10, 1733, near Huntington, N. Y. He was a delegate from New Jersey to the continental congress from 1777 to 1779; and was one of the signers of the articles of confederation. He died Oct. 17, 1781, in Shrewsbury, N. J.

SCUDDER, SAMUEL HUBBARD, naturalist, author, was born in 1837 in Massachusetts. He is a naturalist of Cambridge; and the author of The Butterflies of the Eastern United States and Canada; Butterflies, their Structure, Changes, and Life Histories; Brief Guide to the Commoner Butterflies; The Life of a Butterfly; Frail Children of the Air; Excursions into the World of Butterflies; A Century of Orthoptera; and The Fossil Insects of North America.

SCUDDER, TREADWELL, state legislator, congressman. He was for six years a member of the New York assembly; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1817 to 1819.

SCUDDER, VIDA DUTTON, educator, author, was born Dec. 15, 1861, in India. He is an educator of Massachusetts, professor in Wellesley college; and the author of How the Rain Sprites were Freed; The Life of the Spirit in the Modern English Poets; The Witness of Denial; and The Prometheus Unbound of Shelley.

SCUDDER, ZENO, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1807, in Barnstable, Mass. He was president of the Massachusetts senate; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1851 to 1854. He died June 26, 1857, in Barnstable, Mass.

SCULL, EDWARD, journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1818 in Pittsburgh, Pa. He published and edited the Somerset Herald since 1852, in Somerset, Pa. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a republican.

SCULLY, JOHN, college president, was born Sept. 23, 1846, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1888 he was elected president of St. John's college, Fordham, N. Y., resigning in 1891.

SCURRY, RICHARDSON, congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was elected a representative in congress from Texas from 1851 to 1853.

SEABROOK, WHITEMARSH B., state senator, congressman, was born in 1795 in South Carolina. He served in the state senate; was president of the State Agricultural society; and was governor of South Carolina from 1848 to 1850. He died April 16, 1855, in St. Luke's Parish, S. C.

SEABURY, GEORGE J., manufacturer, was born Nov. 10, 1844. He will be known in history as the father and organizer of his branch of pharmaceutical chemistry, chiefly for his original work, inventions and improvements on old methods. His firm have invariably received the highest awards over all American and European competitors, notably in Paris, London, Vienna, Philadelphia,

New York, Chicago, Liverpool, Melbourne, Montreal, and at many other world's exhibitions, forty-nine gold medals and special diplomas having been awarded them.

SEABURY, SAMUEL, bishop, author, was born Nov. 30, 1729, in Groton, Conn. He was the first protestant episcopal bishop of Connecticut. During the early days of the American revolution he attracted much attention by his pamphlets signed A. W. Farmer, which sharply criticized the actions of the patriots. They include, Free Thoughts on the Proceedings of the Continental Congress; The Continental Congress Canvassed; and View of the Controversy between Great Britain and her English Colonies. His sermons have been issued in three volumes. He died Feb. 29, 1796, in New London, Conn.

SEABURY, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born June 9, 1801, in New London. He was an episcopal clergyman of New York city, prominent among High Churchmen, and professor in the General Theological seminary. He was the author of Continuity of the Church of England; Mary the Virgin; Historical Sketch of Augustine of Hippo; Supremacy of Conscience; American Slavery Justified; Theory and Use of the Calendar; and Discourses on the Holy Calendar. He died Oct. 10, 1872, in New York city.

SEABURY, WILLIAM JONES, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 25, 1837, in New York city. He is an episcopal clergyman of New York city, rector of the church of the Annunciation from 1868, and professor in the General seminary from 1873. He is the author of Suggestions in Aid of Devotion; and Introduction to the Study of Ecclesiastical Polity.

SEAL, RODERICK, lawyer, congressman, was born in Harrison county, Miss. He was a representative in the legislature; and in 1875 was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-fourth congress.

SEALSFIELD, CHARLES, author, was born March 3, 1793, in Moravia. He was the author of Tokiah, or the White Rose; The Viceroy and the Aristocrat; The Cabin Book, or Life in Texas; and Scenes and Adventures in Central America. He died May 26, 1864.

SEAMAN, EZRA CHAMPION, comptroller, author, was born Oct. 14, 1805, in Chatham, N. Y. He was the comptroller of the treasury in 1849-53, and subsequently inspector of the Michigan State prisons. He was the author of Essays on the Progress of Nations; Commentaries on the Constitution, Laws, People, and History of the United States; The American System of Government; and Views of Nature. He died July 1, 1880, in Ann Arbor, Mich.

SEAMAN, HENRY J., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847.

SEAMAN, VALENTINE, physician, author, was born April 2, 1770, in Hempstead, L. I. He was a once prominent physician of New York city, active in introducing the practice of vaccination. He was the author of Waters of Saratoga; Midwife's Monitor; and On Vaccination. He died July 3, 1817, in New York city.

SEARCH, PRESTON WILLIS, educator, lecturer, was born April 10, 1853, in Marion, Ohio. He received his education at the university of Wooster, Ohio. In 1873-74 he was principal of Millersburg academy of Ohio; and has since been superintendent of public schools in West Liberty and Sidney, Ohio; in Pueblo, Colo.; in Los Angeles, Cal.; and since 1896 in Holyoke, Mass. He is a noted writer and lecturer on Individualism in Education, of which doctrine he is the leading exponent. He was the originator of the Pueblo plan of individual instruction; and is the editor of The Advance in Education.

SEARIGHT, THOMAS B., lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1827, in Fayette county, Pa. In 1848 he graduated from the Washington college, and was intimately associated with James G. Blaine while at college. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the east; has a large practice in Uniontown, Pa.; has served as a representative in both houses of the Pennsylvania state legislature; and is the author of The History of the National Road; Letters on States' Rights; and various other valuable contributions to historical literature.

SEARING, JOHN A., agriculturist, congressman, was born May 14, 1814, in Queens county, N. Y. He was chosen a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress.

SEARING, MRS. LAURA CATHERINE [REDDEN], author, poet, was born Feb. 9, 1840, in Somerset county, Md. She is a poet and journalist now living in California, but from 1868-76 on the staff of The New York Mail. She is the author of Sounds from Secret Chambers; Poems; Idylls of Battle; and Brother and Sister.

SEARL, FERNANDO C., lawyer, poet, was born July 18, 1825, in Scioto county, Ohio. He is a prominent attorney of Portsmouth, Ohio, where he has been engaged in the practice of his profession for many years, and has filled various public positions of trust. He has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press, and his poems have appeared in the leading magazines of America, and in Poets of America and other standard works. He is the author of a volume of Collected Poems.

SEARLE, ARTHUR, astronomer, educator, author, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in England. He is a professor of astronomy at Harvard university from 1887, who has published Outlines of Astronomy.

SEARLE, GEORGE MARY, astronomer, educator, author, was born June 27, 1839, in England. He went to Harvard as assistant in the observatory in 1866, and remained there until 1868, when he joined the Paulists, and was ordained as a priest in that community in March, 1871, having been converted to the Roman catholic faith in 1862. He has had charge of the science teaching of the seminary that forms part of the home in New York.

SEARLE, JAMES, merchant, congressman, was born about 1730 in New York city. He settled in Philadelphia about 1763. He signed the non-importation agreement of 1765; was one of the managers of the United States lottery from 1776 to 1778. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1778 to 1780. He died Aug. 7, 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SEARLES, WILLIAM HENRY, civil engineer, author, was born in 1837 in Ohio. He is a civil engineer; and the author of Field Engineering; and The Railroad Spiral.

SEARS, BARNAS, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1802, in Sandisfield, Mass. He was a baptist clergyman and educator of prominence in his day. He was professor at Newton Theological seminary in 1836-48, and president of Brown university in 1855-67. He is the author of Life of Luther; The Ciceronian or Prussian Mode of Instruction in Latin; and Essays on Classical Literature. He died July 6, 1880, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

SEARS, CLINTON BROOKS, civil and military engineer, was born June 2, 1844, in Penn Yan, N. Y. He attended the Ohio Wesleyan university, and graduated from the United States Military academy in 1867. During the civil war he served as a volunteer, and was in the battles of Richmond and Perryville, Ky.; and Stone River, Tenn. He was color-sergeant of the ninety-fifth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry in the Vicksburg campaign. Since his graduation in 1867 he has been in charge of various public works, civil and military, on the Atlantic and Pacific coast, and in the Mississippi valley. He is now major in the corps of engineers of the United States army in charge of river and harbor works, with headquarters at Duluth, Minn.

SEARS, EDMUND HAMILTON, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1810 in Sandisfield, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman and religious poet, and pastor at Weston, Mass., in 1865-76. He wrote the familiar Christmas hymn, Calm on the Listening Ear of Night. Regeneration; Foregleams and Foreshadows of Immortality, originally published as Athanasia; The Fourth Gospel the Heart of Christ; Christ in the Life; Sermons and Songs of the Christian Life; Pictures of the Olden Time; and That Glorious Song of Old. He died Jan. 14, 1876, in Weston, Mass.

SEARS, EDWARD I., journalist, educator, author, was born in 1819 in Ireland. He was professor of languages in Manhattan college. He became editor and proprietor of the National Quarterly, a literary magazine, in 1860, and conducted it until his death. He published, under the pen-name of H. E. Chevalier, Legends of the Sea. He died Dec. 7, 1876, in New York city.

SEARS, GEORGE W., soldier, author, was born in 1821 in Massachusetts. He is a writer of Wellsboro, Pa., who served in the federal army during the civil war. He is the author of Woodcraft; and Forest Runes (verse).

SEARS, ISAAC, soldier, congressman, patriot, was born in 1729, in Norwalk, Conn. On the passage of the stamp act he ardently engaged in the patriot cause and became an active member of the Sons of Liberty. He was a member of the provincial congress of New York in 1783 and of the assembly in the same year. He died Oct. 28, 1786, in China.

SEARS [JOSEPH] HAMBLEN, author, was born in 1865 in Massachusetts. He is a writer of New York city; and the author of The Governments of the World Today.

SEARS, ROBERT, publisher, was born June 28, 1810, in St. John, N. B. His books were among the first of the now well-known class of books sold exclusively by subscription.

SEARS, SCHUYLER EARL, clergyman, poet, was born April 7, 1868, in Sharon, Ohio. He graduated from the Baldwin university and the Drew Theological seminary, and has received the degree of B. A. He now fills a pastorate in the methodist episcopal church at Perrysville, Ohio; and is the author of more than a hundred poems, which have appeared in the Cleveland Leader, and other current periodicals.

SEAT, WILLIAM J., business man, legislator, was born June 14, 1866, in Polk county, Ore. He is a successful business man of Vollmer, Idaho; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Idaho state legislature.

SEATON, WILLIAM WINSTON, journalist, public official, was born Jan. 11, 1785, in King William county, Va. He became connected with the Register, in Raleigh; in 1812 went to Washington city and joined his brother-in-law in the management of the National Intelligencer, with which he was most honorably identified until his death. He was frequently elected mayor; was a regent of the Smithsonian institution; in conjunction with Mr. Gales, was one of the public printers for very many years. He died June 16, 1866, in Washington, D. C.

SEAVER, EBENEZER, congressman, was born in 1763. He was a member of the state legislature from 1794 to 1802; was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1820; and a representative in congress from Massachusetts in 1803-13. He died March 1, 1844, in Roxbury, Mass.

SEAWELL, MOLLY ELLIOTT, author, was born in 18-- in Virginia. She is a Washington writer and newspaper correspondent; and the author of The Sprightly Romance of Marsac; Hale Weston, a novel; The Berkeleys and their Neighbors; Throckmorton; Maid Marian, and Other Stories; Children of Destiny; Little Jarvis; Midshipman Paulding; Paul Jones; Decatur and Somers; Through Thick and Thin; A Strange, Sad Comedy; and Quarterdeck and Fok'sle.

SEAWELL, WASHINGTON, soldier, was born in 1802 in Virginia. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of brigadier-general in 1865.

SEAY, WILLIAM A., lawyer, jurist, educator, state legislator, was born April 19, 1831, near Burkeville, Va. He was a professor in the Louisiana State Military school; was an engineer officer in the confederate army under General Price; and received a majority of the votes cast for judge of the district court in 1872, but the returning board decided that he was not elected. He was elected a representative to the Louisiana legislature in 1881, and again in 1884. In 1884 he was appointed commissioner to revise the statute laws of the state; and in 1885 was appointed United States minister to Bolivia.

SEBASTIAN, WILLIAM KING, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born in 1814 in Vernon, Tenn. He was appointed prosecuting attorney, and held the office until 1837. He was circuit judge from 1840 to 1842; and in the latter year was appointed a state supreme judge. He was a state senator, and president of the state senate in 1846; and was a presidential elector in 1848. He was a United States senator from Arkansas from 1847 to 1853; and was re-elected for the term ending in 1859, and, in the latter year, was re-elected for a term of six years. He was expelled for disloyalty in 1861. He died May 20, 1865, in Memphis, Tenn.

SECCOMB, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born April 25, 1708, in Medford, Mass. He was a congregational minister at Harvard, Mass., in 1733-57, and after 1763 at Chester, Nova Scotia. He was the author of Father Abbey's Will, a once extremely popular piece of doggerel, which was followed by The Letter to the Widow Abbey. He died in January, 1793, in Nova Scotia.

SECCOMB, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born in 1706 in Medford, Mass. He was a congregational minister at Kingston, N. H., from 1737, and author of A Plain and Brief Rehearsal of the Operations of Christ as God. He died in 1760.

SECOR, EUGENE, banker, poet, was born in 1841 in Peekskill, N. Y. He was chosen the first mayor of Forest City, Iowa, and re-elected three consecutive times. He is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

SEDDON, JAMES ALEXANDER, lawyer, congressman, was born July 13, 1815, in Falmouth, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847, and again from 1849 to 1851. He was a member of the confederate government as a representative in congress in 1861, having previously been a delegate to the peace congress of that year. In 1862 he became the confederate secretary of war. He died Aug. 19, 1880, in Virginia.

SEDDON, JAMES ALEXANDER, lawyer, congressman, was born July 13, 1815, in Falmouth, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1845 to 1847, and again from 1849 to 1851. He was a member of the confederate government as a representative in congress in 1861, having previously been a delegate to the peace congress of that year. In 1862 he became the confederate secretary of war. He died Aug. 19, 1880, in Virginia.

SEDGWICK, ARTHUR GEORGE, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 6, 1844, in New York city. He is a lawyer of New York city; and the author of Principles and Practices Governing the Trial of Title to Land; and Elements of Damages.

SEDGWICK, C. B., lawyer, congressman, was born in March, 1815, in Pompey, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-sixth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress. In 1863 he was appointed a commissioner to look after certain naval affairs.

SEDGWICK, CATHARINE MARIA, author, was born Dec. 28, 1789, in Stockbridge, Mass. She was a once famous novelist whose name was for a time the foremost among those of American literary women. She was the author of Hope Leslie; Redwood; The New England Tale; The Traveler; Clarence; Le Bossu; The Linwoods; Married or Single (1857), include her novels. Other works for older readers are, Letters from Abroad; and Historical Sketches of the Old Painters. Her juvenile moral tales, of which Live and Let Live; Poor Rich Man and Rich Poor Man; Means and Ends; and Morals and Manners, are good examples, are as entertaining as they were popular. For a half century she was principal of a school for girls in Stockbridge, Mass., her native town. She died July 31, 1867, near Roxbury, Mass.

SEDGWICK, MRS. ELIZABETH BUCKMINSTER [DWIGHT], author, was born in 1791 in Massachusetts. She was a teacher for many years; and the author of Beatitudes and Pleasant Sundays; Lessons Without Books; A Talk with My Pupils; and Stories of the Spanish Conquest. She died in 1864.

SEDGWICK, JOHN, soldier, was born Sept. 13, 1813, in Cornwall, Conn. In 1837 he graduated from the United States Military academy at West Point; was appointed second lieutenant, and was first engaged in the Seminole war. In 1846 he entered the Mexican war as first lieutenant of artillery; and for his gallantry received the brevets of captain and of major. In 1862 he was made colonel of the first regular cavalry; was commissioned brigadier-general of the United States volunteers; and subsequently became major-general. He was killed in 1864 by a bullet from a sharp-shooter. A monument was erected to his memory in 1868 upon the grounds of the United States Military academy at West Point.

SEDGWICK, MRS. SUSAN LIVINGSTON [RIDLEY], author, was born about 1789. She was a writer for young people; and the author of Walter Thornley; The Morals of Pleasure; The Young Emigrants; Allen Prescott; and Alida, or Town and Country. She died in 1867.

SEDGWICK, THEODORE, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1746, in Hartford, Conn. He was a zealous patriot in the revolutionary war; was a member of the provincial congress in 1785 and 1786; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts, after the adoption of the constitution, from 1789 to 1796. He was a senator of the United States from 1796 to 1798. In 1799 he was again a member of the house, and was chosen speaker. From 1802 until his death he was a judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts. He died Jan. 24, 1813, in Boston, Mass.

SEDGWICK, THEODORE, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 31, 1780, in Sheffield, Mass. He was a lawyer of Albany, and from 1819 a resident of Stockbridge, Mass., and the author of Public and Private Economy; and Hints to My Countrymen. He died Nov. 7, 1839, in Pittsfield, Mass.

SEDGWICK, THEODORE, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 27, 1811, in Albany, N. Y. He was a lawyer of New York city, and the author of Rules which Govern the Interpretation and Application of Statutory and Court Law; and Treatise on the Measure of Damages, a work of much importance. He died Dec. 9, 1859, in Stockbridge, Mass.

SEEDLEY, HENRY, journalist, author, was born April 4, 1835, in Boston, Mass. He engaged in journalism, was one of the editors of the New York Times and the Evening Post, and for some time was an editor of the Commercial Advertiser. He is the author of Dangerfield's Rest, a Romance; and Marion Rooke, or the Quest for Fortune.

SEEDLEY, WILLIAM HENRY, actor, was born Dec. 4, 1806, in Wales. His first appearance in New York was at the old Chatham street theater in 1840, when he acted Edgar to the Lear of Junius Brutus Booth. He also appeared acceptably as Laertes, Gratiano, and Marc Antony. His last professional appearance in New York was made at the Winter garden in 1865. He died Jan. 17, 1872, in San Francisco, Cal.

SEELEY, ELIAS P., governor. He was governor of New Jersey for a part of the year 1833.

SEELEY, JOHN E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 1, 1810, in Ovid, N. Y. He was elected county judge and surrogate in 1851, and served four years; and was a presidential elector in 1860 and also in 1864. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second congress.

SEELY, EDWARD HOWARD, author, was born in 1856, in New York. He was a writer of New York city, and the author of A Lone Star Bo-peep, and Other Tales of Texan Ranch Life; A Ranchman's Stories; A Nymph of the West; The Jonah of Lucky Valley, and Other Stories; and A Border Leander. He died in 1894.

SEELYE, MRS. ELIZABETH [EGGLESTON], author, was born in 1858, in Minnesota. She is a writer living at Lake George, N. Y., and the author of The Story of Columbus; Montezuma; Brandt and Red Jacket; Pocahontas; Tecumseh (with E. Eggleston); and The Story of Washington.

SEELYE, JULIUS HAWTRY, clergyman, college president, congressman, author, was born Sept. 14, 1824, in Bethel, Conn. He was ordained pastor of the Dutch reformed church in Schenectady, N. Y., in 1853, and remained there until appointed professor at Amherst college in 1858; and was its president during 1876-90. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-fourth congress. He was the author of Natural Religion; The Way, the Truth, and the Life; Christian Missions; and Duty. He died in 1895.

SEELYE, LAUREMUS CLARK, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 20, 1837, in Bethel, Conn. For eight years this eminent clergyman was professor of English literature and rhetoric in Amherst college; and since 1873 has been president of the Smith College for Women of Northampton, Mass.

SEEMULLER, MRS. ANNIE MON-CURE [CRANE], author, was born in 1838, in Maryland. She is a novelist of New York city, whose somewhat striking fictions were popular for a brief period. She was the author of Emily Chester; Reginald Archer; and Opportunity. She died in 1872.

SEERLEY, HOMER H., statesman. He is prominently identified with the educational and public interests of Cedar Falls, Iowa; and has filled several positions of honor in his city, county and state.

SEERLEY, JOHN J., lawyer, congressman, was born March 13, 1852, in Toulon, Ill. He was city solicitor of Burlington, Iowa, for six years; was the candidate of the democratic party for congress in 1888; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

SEGAR, JOSEPH E., state legislator, congressman, was born June 1, 1804, in King William county, Va. In 1838 he was elected to the house of delegates of Virginia, and continued to serve for several years; and was again elected to the same position in 1848, and continued to serve almost uninterruptedly until the state rebelled against the union. After eastern Virginia was restored to the federal authority, he was elected a representative from Virginia to the thirty-seventh congress. He died in 1855.

SEGUIN, EDOUARD, physician, author, was born Jan. 20, 1812, in France. He was a French physician who came to the United States in 1848 and whose specialty was the training of idiots. Among his many works on this and other professional topics are, New Facts Concerning Idiocy; Family Thermometer; Medical Thermometry; and Idiocy and Its Treatment by the Physiological Methods. He died Oct. 28, 1880, in New York city.

SEGUR, SETH WILLARD, clergyman, author, was born in 1831, in Vermont. He was a congregational clergyman of Ohio, and subsequently of Massachusetts, and was the author of Relation and Responsibilities of Pastor and People; The True Manhood; The Nation's Hope; and National Blessings and Duties. He died in 1875.

SEIDENBUSH, RUPERT, Roman catholic bishop, was born Oct. 30, 1830, in Bavaria. The northern part of Minnesota was erected into a vicariate apostolic by a papal brief on Feb. 12, 1875, and he was appointed its vicar apostolic, under the title of bishop of Halia in partibus.

SEIP, THEODORE LORENZO, college president, was born June 25, 1842, in Easton, Pa. In 1886 he was elected president of the Muhlenberg college, Pa., which position he still holds.

SEISS, JOSEPH AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born March 18, 1823, in Graceham, Md. He is an eminent lutheran clergyman of Philadelphia, pastor of the Church of the Holy Communion, and a voluminous writer on religious themes. He is the author of The Gospel in the Stars; The Miracle in Stone, a re-statement of Piazzzi Smyth's famous theory of the Pyramid; Lectures on the Apocalypse; Lectures on the Epistle to the Hebrews; Luther and the Reformation; The Lutheran Church; Recreation Songs; Life After Death; Right Life; The Children of Silence, the Story of the Deaf; Christ's Descent into Hell; The Last Times; and Voices from Babylon.

SELDEN, DUDLEY, lawyer, congressman. He was a prominent member of the New York bar; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1833 to 1835. He died Nov. 7, 1855, in Paris, France.

SELDEN, HENRY ROGERS, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 14, 1805, in Lyme, Conn. In 1862 he was appointed a judge of the court of appeals to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his brother, and he was afterward elected for a full term, but resigned in 1864. He published Reports, New York Court of Appeals, 1851-54, in six volumes. He died Sept. 18, 1885, in Rochester, N. Y.

SELDEN, JOSEPH, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Arkansas; and in 1820 was appointed judge of the United States court for the territory of Arkansas.

SELDEN, SAMUEL LEE, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 12, 1800, in Lyme, Conn. He began to practice law in Rochester, N. Y., in 1825, was chancery clerk and first judge of common pleas in Monroe county for many years, and in 1847 was elected justice of the supreme court. In 1856 he was elected judge of the court of appeals, which place he resigned in 1862. He died Sept. 20, 1876, in Rochester, N. Y.

SELFRIDGE, THOMAS OLIVER, naval officer, was born April 24, 1804, in Boston, Mass. He became a rear admiral on the retired list in 1870.

SELFRIDGE, THOMAS OLIVER, naval officer, was born Feb. 6, 1837, in Charlestown, Mass. In 1870 he was the commander of the Darien exploring expedition.

SELIGMAN, EDWIN ROBERT ANDERSON, educator, author, was born in 1861, in New York. He is a professor of political economy and finance in Columbia college, and the author of Chapters on Mediæval Guilds in England; Owen and the Christian Socialists; Railway Tariffs; Shifting and Incidence of Taxation; Progressive Taxation in Theory and Practice; and Essays on Taxation.

SELKIRK, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 13, 1809, in Waterbury, Conn. He was ordained deacon in the protestant episcopal church, and became priest in 1844. He was then rector of Trinity church, Albany, N. Y., in which he continued until 1884, when he became rector emeritus. He has published An Address on the Laying of the Corner-Stone of Trinity Church; and History of Trinity Church.

SELLERS, COLEMAN, civil engineer, was born Jan. 28, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1889 he was called upon to advise as to the development of the water power of Niagara Falls, and chiefly upon his advice was that work undertaken; and he is now president and chief engineer of the Niagara Falls Power Co. He has occupied the position of president of the Franklin institute, Pa.; and of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art.

SELLERS, JAMES F., lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 12, 1849, in Decatur county, Tenn. He has served as a member of the Arkansas state legislature for five terms; and is well known as an able lawyer of Perryville, Ark.

SELLERS, L. M., journalist, legislator, was born July 2, 1848, in Franklin county, Pa. This successful journalist of Cedar Springs, Mich., has served as a member of the Michigan state legislature; and was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1892.

SELLSTEDT, LARS GUSTAF, artist, was born April 30, 1819, in Sweden. He has devoted himself chiefly to portraiture, his works in that line including Solomon G. Haven; George W. Clinton; and Millard Fillmore.

SELPH, E. E., lawyer, public official, was born Dec. 3, 1860, in Salem, Ore. He is one of the leading lawyers of Tillamook, Ore.; has been mayor of that city; city attorney; deputy district attorney; and is now a member of the board of trustees of McMinnville college, in which institution he received his education.

SELVAGE, THOMAS HENRY, lawyer, orator, was born April 22, 1857, in Orient, Maine. In 1888 he was admitted to the bar; and is now a prominent lawyer of Eureka, Cal. He has been district attorney of Humboldt county; secretary of the Humboldt chamber of commerce; and took an active part as a platform speaker during the presidential election of 1896 for McKinley and Hobart. He is an astute lawyer, and a prominent member in various fraternal orders.

SELYE, LEWIS, manufacturer, congressman, was born July 11, 1808, in Chittenango, N. Y. He became extensively engaged in the manufacturing business in Rochester, N. Y. He was for seven years the treasurer of the county; and in 1866 was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth congress.

SEMLING, C. KNUTE, educator, journalist, was born June 8, 1865, in Norway. He has been principally engaged in educational work; was professor in Druffat college of Portland, N. D.; was editor of the Northwest Standard at Grafton, N. D.; has been justice of the peace of Halsted; and during 1892-94 was proprietor of the Halsted Reporter. He now resides in Gary, Minn., engaged in journalistic work.

SEMMES, ALEXANDER JENKINS, clergyman, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 17, 1828, in Georgetown, D. C. He was a surgeon in the confederate navy who became a Roman catholic clergyman, president of Pio Nono college, Macon, Ga., from 1886. He is the author of Medical Sketches of Paris; Gunshot Wounds; and Notes from a Surgical Diary.

SEMMES, BENEDICT J., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1789, in Charles county, Md. In 1821 he was elected to the Maryland state legislature; was again elected in 1825, 1827 and 1828, and during one season was chosen speaker of the house of delegates. In 1829 he was elected a representative in congress from Maryland; and was re-elected in 1831. He again served in the state legislature in 1842 and 1843.

SEMMES, RAPHAEL, naval officer, author, was born Sept. 27, 1809, in Charles county, Md. He was a celebrated naval officer in the confederate service during the civil war as commander of the Alabama. He was the author of Service Afloat and Ashore During the Mexican War; Campaign of General Scott in the Valley of Mexico; The Cruise of the Alabama; and Memoirs of Service Afloat During the War Between the States. He died Aug. 30, 1877, in Mobile, Ala.

SEMMES, THOMAS JENKINS, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1824, in Georgetown, D. C. He is a noted lawyer of New Orleans, La.; and represented his state in the confederate senate. During 1873-79 he filled the chair of civil law in the university of Indiana. In 1887 he was president of the American Bar association.

SEMPLÉ, EUGENE, lawyer, governor, was born June 12, 1840, in Bogota, New Granada, South America. He graduated from the law school of the Cincinnati university in 1863; was a practicing lawyer in Portland, Ore., in 1864; editor of the Daily Oregon Herald in 1869; and state printer of Oregon in 1872. He was governor of Washington territory in 1888; candidate of the democratic party for governor of Washington in 1889; and harbor line commissioner of the state in 1891. In 1897 he became president of the Seattle and Lake Washington Waterway Co.

SEMPLÉ, JAMES, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1798, in Greene county, Ky. He was colonel of an Illinois regiment in the Black Hawk war; brigadier-general of the militia; speaker of the house of representatives; attorney general; chief justice of the supreme court and senator in congress from Illinois; and minister to New Grenada from the United States. He took a prominent part in the agitation for settling and holding the Oregon country, making speeches in that behalf in the Mississippi valley in 1842, and introducing, Jan. 8, 1844, in the United States senate, a resolution directing the president of the United States to give notice to his Britannic majesty of the desire of this country to abrogate the treaty by which the two countries jointly occupied the Pacific coast of America, from the Mexican province of California to the Russian province of Alaska. He died Dec. 20, 1866, in Elsie Landing, Ill.

SEMPLÉ, ROBERT, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 12, 1851, in Wilkinson county, Miss. In 1869 he graduated from the Virginia Military institute of Lexington, and received the degree of bachelor of law from Washington college in 1870. The following year he was admitted to the bar; moved to Louisiana, and began practice at New Rhodes, which has since been his home. He has been district attorney and district judge; and has filled various other public offices of trust and honor. He has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press; and while at college was assistant professor of languages at the Virginia Military institute during 1869-70.

SEMPLÉ, ROBERT BAYLOR, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 20, 1769, in Virginia. He was a noted baptist clergyman of Virginia; and the author of A History of the Virginia Baptists; and other works. He died Dec. 25, 1831, in Fredericksburg, Va.

SENEFF, MICHAEL BURNS LOOR, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 27, 1862, in Fayette county, Pa. Since 1895 this eminent clergyman has been president of Westfield college, Ill.

SENER, JAMES BEVERLY, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 18, 1837, in Fredericksburg, Va. He was sergeant of the city of Fredericksburg in 1863; was army correspondent of the southern associated press with General Lee's army during the civil war; and from 1865 was editor of the Fredericksburg Ledger. He was elected a representative from Virginia to the forty-third congress. He was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Wyoming in 1879.

SENEY, GEORGE EBBERT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, author, was born May 29, 1832, in Uniontown, Pa. In 1857 he was elected judge of the common pleas court, and served five years. He served as a commissioned officer in the union army during the civil war. He was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1876. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses. In 1887 he was chairman of the democratic state convention of Ohio. He was the author of Senev's Code of Procedure.

SENEY, GEORGE INGRAHAM, philanthropist, banker, was born May 12, 1826, in Astoria, L. I. He rose from the post of paying teller in the Metropolitan bank, New York city, to the presidency of that institution, holding the latter office in 1877-84. He founded the Senev scholarships and largely endowed Wesleyan university, and has contributed to miscellaneous charities more than $400,000.

SENEY, JOSHUA, congressman, was born in 1750, on eastern shore of Maryland. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1787 and 1788; and was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1789 to 1792. He was presidential elector in 1792. He died in 1799, in Maryland.

SENN, NICHOLAS, physician, author, was born Oct. 31, 1844, in Switzerland. In 1890 he was appointed surgeon-general of Wisconsin; and now holds the same position in Illinois. He is the author of The Surgical Bacteriology; Intestinal Surgery; Principles of Surgery; and Syllabus of Surgery.

SENER, DEWITT C., governor, He was governor of Tennessee in 1869-71.

SENER, ISAAC, physician, surgeon, author, was born in 1755, in New Hampshire. He was a surgeon in the revolutionary army, and accompanied Benedict Arnold's expedition to Quebec, an interesting account of which he published in the Bulletin of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He died Dec. 20, 1799, in Newport, R. I.

SENER, WILLIAM T., congressman, was born in 1802, in Granger county, Tenn. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1843 to 1845. He died Aug. 28, 1849.

SERFASS, TILGHMAN H., educator, was born Aug. 17, 1855, in Gilbert, Pa. He attended Weaversville academy, Shippenburg State Normal school, and the Muhlenburg college. For eight years he taught in the public schools of his native city, and for four years was vice-principal of Fairview academy. Then for seven years he was principal of Fairview academy; was elected superintendent of schools in 1893, and received the re-election in 1896.

SERGEANT, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1779, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected from Pennsylvania a representative to congress, and served from 1815 to 1823, from 1827 to 1829, and from 1837 to 1842. He was especially famous for his part in the great Missouri compromise in 1820. In 1832 he was the whig candidate for vice-president, being upon the same ticket with Henry Clay. He died Nov. 25, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SERGEANT, JONATHAN DICKINSON, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1746, in Newark, N. J. He was a member of the continental congress in 1776 and 1777; and took his seat a few days after the declaration of independence. In 1777 he became attorney-general of Pennsylvania. He died Oct. 8, 1793, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SERGEANT, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 14, 1782, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia jurist, and the author of Treatise on the Law of Pennsylvania Relating to Proceedings by Foreign Attachment; Constitutional Law; View of the Land Laws of Pennsylvania; and Sketch of the National Judiciary Powers. He died May 8, 1860, in Philadelphia.

SERVICE, FRANCIS G., lawyer, jurist, was born in New Jersey. He removed to Ohio, from which state he was appointed an associate justice for the territory of Montana, residing at Virginia City.

SESSION, WALTER L., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Brandon, Vt. He was commissioner of schools for several years; was a member of the New York assembly in 1853 and 1854; and was a member of the state senate in 1859 and 1865. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses; and in 1884 was elected a representative to the forty-ninth congress as a republican.

SESSUMS, DAVIS, bishop of Louisiana, was born July 7, 1858, in Houston, Texas. He is an eloquent orator, and a metaphysician of some note. He has published various metaphysical theses, together with some episcopal addresses, lectures and sermons.

SETH, JAMES, educator, author, was born in 1860, in Scotland. He is a professor of moral philosophy in Cornell university from 1896, and the author of A Study of Ethical Principles.

SETON, MRS. ELIZABETH ANN [BAYLEY], author, was born Aug. 28, 1774, in New York city. She was the founder and first superior of the order of Sisters of Charity in the United States. After the death of her husband she became a Roman catholic, took the veil as a sister of charity in 1809, and in 1812 founded at Emmetsburg, Md., the first American house of the order. She was the author of a volume entitled Memoirs of Mrs. Seton, written by Herself: A Fragment of Real History, which was published in 1817. She died Jan. 4, 1821, in Emmetsburg, Md.

SETON, ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 28, 1839, in Italy. He is a Roman catholic clergyman of Jersey City, dean of the monsignori in the United States, and the author of Memoirs, Letters and Journal of E. Seton; and Essays on Various Subjects, principally Roman.

SETON, WILLIAM, naval officer, author, poet, was born Jan. 28, 1835, in New York city. He is a naval officer of the United States, and the author of Romance of the Charter Oak; The Pride of Lexington; Rachel's Fate, and Other Tales; The Poor Millionaire; The Shamrock Gone West; Moida, a Tale of the Tyrol; and The Pioneer, a poem.

SETTLE, EVAN E., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1848, in Frankfort, Ky. He was elected county attorney from Owenton, Ky., in 1878, re-elected in 1882, and again in 1886. He resigned in 1887, and was twice elected to the Kentucky legislature, and served in that body in sessions of 1887-88 and 1889-90. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

SETTLE, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1791, in Rockingham county, N. C. He was a representative in the legislature of that state in 1815, and in 1826-28; at which last session he was speaker of the house of commons. He was a representative in congress from 1817 to 1821; in 1832 was chosen judge of the superior court of law and equity, and held the office for twenty years. He died Aug. 5, 1857, in Rockingham county, N. C.

SETTLE, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 23, 1831, in Rockingham county, N. C. In 1854 he was elected a representative in the North Carolina legislature; and was re-elected in 1856 and 1858, serving as speaker of the house during his last term. In 1859 and 1862 he was elected solicitor of the fourth circuit, holding the office until 1865. In the latter year was elected a member of the state constitutional convention, and in the fall of the same year was elected a state senator. In 1868 he was elected a judge of the supreme court of North Carolina; and in 1872 was appointed a judge of the supreme court of North Carolina, to fill a vacancy. In 1877 he was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of Florida.

SETTLE, THOMAS, lawyer, congressman, was born March 10, 1865, in Rockingham county, N. C. He was nominated by the republican party a candidate for congress in 1892, and elected; was re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress from Reidsville, N. C.

SEVER, ANNE ELIZABETH PARSONS, benefactor, was born May 29, 1810, in Boston, Mass. She bequeathed $100,000 to Harvard to build a hall for undergraduates, which should be called by her name, and $20,000 for the purchase of books for its library. She also willed $10,000 to the Boston children's hospital, and $5,000 each to five benevolent institutions in that city, $5,000 to the New England historic-genealogical society, and an equal sum to the General Theological library, to the Boston training school for nurses, and the Connecticut retreat for the insane. She died Dec. 15, 1879, in Boston, Mass.

SEVERANCE, LUTHER, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 28, 1797, in Montague, Mass. He was the founder of the Kennebec Journal, and editor from 1825 to 1849. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1843 to 1847; and was frequently a member of the Maine legislature, serving five years in the assembly and two years in the senate. He died Jan. 25, 1855, in Augusta, Maine.

SEVERANCE, MARK SIBLEY, author, was born in 1846, in Massachusetts. He is the author of Hammersmith: his Harvard Days, a novel.

SEVERY, MELVIN LINWOOD, dramatist, poet, was born Aug. 5, 1863, in Melrose, Mass. He is the author of a dozen plays and a volume entitled Fleur-de-Lis. He is also a lecturer and instructor of oratory in Boston, Mass.

SEVIER, AMBROSE HUNDLEY, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 1, 1801, in Green county, Tenn. He was elected a member of the Arkansas state legislature; first in 1823 and again in 1825. From 1827 to 1836 he was a delegate to congress from Arkansas; when the territory became a state, in 1836, he was elected a senator to congress. He died Dec. 21, 1848, in Little Rock, Ark.

SEVIER, JOHN, soldier, congressman, governor, was born in 1744, in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina in 1790 and 1791; from 1796 to 1801, and 1803 to 1809 was governor of Tennessee; and was representative in congress from Tennessee from 1811 to 1815. He was then appointed one of the commissioners to ascertain the boundary line of the Creek territory. He died Sept. 24, 1815, in Fort Deatur, I. T.

SEVIER, JOHN, pioneer, was born Sept. 23, 1745, in Rockingham county, Va. He was a pioneer in North Carolina; and served several terms in the legislature of that state from Wapauga. He was also a district judge, and filled various other positions of honor.

SEWALL, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 7, 1735, in York, Maine. He was representative for York in 1776; was chosen a member of the council of Massachusetts; and was appointed in 1777 a justice of the superior court. From 1789 till 1818 he was United States judge for the district of Maine. He died Oct. 22, 1825, in York, Maine.

SEWALL, FRANK, clergyman, author, was born in 1837, in Maine. He is a Swedenborgian clergyman of Washington, and the author of Moody Mike, or the Power of Love; The Hem of His Garment; The Pillow of Stones; The New Ethics; The New Metaphysics; and Angelo and Ariel.

SEWALL, MRS. HARRIET [WINSLOW], poet, was born in 1819, in Maine. She was a religious poet of Boston, some of whose lyrics are found in the anthologies. A collection of her Poems, with Memoir by Mrs. E. Cheney, appeared in 1889. She died in 1889.

SEWALL, JOHN SMITH, clergyman, educator, was born March 20, 1830, in Newcastle, Maine. He was pastor of the congregational church at Wenham, Mass., till 1867, when he became professor of rhetoric and English literature at Bowdoin. He exchanged this chair in 1875 for that of homiletics at Bangor Theological seminary.

SEWALL, JOSEPH ADDISON, college president, was born in 1830, in Maine. In 1877 he was elected the first president of the university of Colorado, serving until 1888.

SEWALL, JOTHAM, clergyman, was born Jan. 1, 1760, in York, Maine. His ministry extended over a period of fifty years, and in this time he preached four and a half times on an average every week. His field was confined chiefly to Maine and parts of New Hampshire and Rhode Island. He died Oct. 3, 1850, in Chesterville, Maine.

SEWALL, MAY WRIGHT, educator, lecturer, writer, was born May 27, 1844, in Greenfield, Wis. She received the rudiments of her education in the district schools; attended the Tafton academy and Northwestern university. She has been president of the National Council of Women of the United States; president of the Propylæum association of Indianapolis; and president of the Ramabai Circle of Indianapolis. She has contributed to the press on historical, literary and reform subjects; a large number of pamphlets and monographs on educational and reform topics; and her public addresses have been very numerous. She is now engaged in educational work in Indianapolis, Ind., and has charge of the Girls' Classical school of that city, of which her husband was the founder.

SEWALL, RUFUS KING, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 21, 1811, in Edgcomb, Maine. He is a lawyer of Wiscasset, Maine, and the author of Lectures on the Holy Spirit; Sketches of St. Augustine; and Ancient Dominions of Maine.

SEWALL, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 28, 1652, in England. He was a noted jurist of Boston, best remembered for his connection with the Salem witchcraft trials. He was the author of The Selling of Joseph; Answer to Queries Respecting America; Accomplishment of Prophecies; Memorial Relating to the Kennebec Indians; and Description of the New Heaven. He died Jan. 1, 1730, in Boston, Mass.

SEWALL, SAMUEL, civil engineer, inventor, was born in 1724, in York, Maine. He is said to have been the first to drive piles as a foundation for bridges, introducing this device at York in 1761. In 1786 he erected the Charlestown bridge on this plan. He died July 28, 1815, in York, Maine.

SEWALL, SAMUEL, clergyman, author, was born June 1, 1785, in Marblehead, Mass. He was pastor of the congregational church at Burlington, Mass., from 1814 till his death. He was fond of antiquarian studies, and left a History of Woburn, Mass., from the Grant of Its Territory to Charlestown in 1640 to 1860. He died Feb. 18, 1868, in Burlington, Mass.

SEWALL, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1757, in Boston, Mass. In 1796 he was elected from Massachusetts a representative in congress, serving until 1800. In 1800 he was placed upon the bench of the supreme court of Massachusetts, and in 1813 was appointed chief justice of that court. He died June 8, 1811, in Wiscasset, Maine.

SEWALL, STEPHEN, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 18, 1704, in Salem, Mass. He was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Massachusetts. In 1752 he was made chief justice, and he served in that capacity, and also as a member of the council, till the close of his life. He died Sept. 10, 1760.

SEWALL, STEPHEN, scholar, educator, author, was born April 4, 1734, in York, Maine. He was a Hebrew scholar, professor of Hebrew at Harvard college in 1765-85, among whose writings are, Hebrew Grammar; Scripture Account of the Shechinah; and Carmina Sacra quæ Latine Græceque condidit America. He died July 23, 1804, in Boston, Mass.

SEWALL, THEODORE LORETT, educator, was born Sept. 20, 1853, in Germantown, Ohio. He received his education in the classical and commercial academy of Wilmington, Del.; and graduated from Harvard in 1874, with the degree of A. B.; and from the Harvard Law school two years later. The same year he opened the Boys' Classical school at Indianapolis; and in 1882 founded the Girls' Classical school in the same city, of which his wife, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, is principal. For ten years he was secretary of the Indianapolis Literary club, and was one year its president. For five years he was secretary of the Contemporary club; founder and secretary of the Indiana Harvard club; and is interested in various reforms, civil service reform, higher education, and in the political enfranchisement of women.

SEWARD, CLARENCE ARMSTRONG, lawyer, was born Oct. 7, 1828, in New York city. He was judge-advocate-general of the state of New York in 1856-60. After the attempted assassination of Secretary Seward and his son, Frederick W., he was appointed acting assistant secretary of state.

SEWARD, FREDERICK A., lawyer, state legislator, was born in New York. He was for several years an assistant secretary of the state department; in 1866 was commissioned to negotiate for the cession of Samana Bay; and was subsequently elected to the legislature of New York.

SEWARD, FREDERICK WILLIAM, journalist, lawyer, author, was born July 8, 1830, in Auburn, N. Y. He was associate editor of the Albany Evening Journal till 1861, when he was appointed assistant secretary of state, which office he held for the eight years that his father was secretary. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1875. He was assistant secretary of state again in 1877-81. His principal publication is the Life and Letters of his father.

SEWARD, GEORGE FREDERICK, diplomat, author, was born Nov. 8, 1840, in Florida, N. Y. He was a nephew of W. H. Seward, and minister to China in 1876-80. He was the author of Chinese Immigration in Its Social and Economical Aspects.

SEWARD, JAMES L., lawyer, congressman. In 1836 he was elected to the Georgia state legislature, serving several years. He entered congress in 1853, as a representative from Georgia, and continued there to the close of the thirty-fifth congress.

SEWARD, THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN, editor, author, was born Jan. 25, 1897, in Florida, N. Y. He received his education in the Seward institute of his native city; at the Normal Musical institute of New York city; and in London, England. He was for many years the editor of the New York Musical Gazette, and the Musical Reform; and for many years professor of Music Teacher's college of New York city. He is the author of The School of Life; Heaven Every Day; and of many music books for church and social use. He was the founder of the Brotherhood of Christian Unity, of East Orange, N. J.; and is still its manager.

SEWARD, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, state senator, author, was born May 16, 1801, in Florida, N. Y. In 1820 he was elected to the state senate for four years. In 1834 he was an unsuccessful candidate for governor of the state; in 1838 was renominated and was elected for two years; and was re-elected for two years. In 1849 he was chosen a senator in congress from New York for six years; and was re-elected in 1855, and held the position until he became secretary of state, under President Lincoln, in 1861. In 1849 published the Life and Public Services of John Quincy Adams; and his own life and collected speeches were published in four volumes, between 1853 and 1862. He was also the author of Orations and Speeches; Diplomatic History of the Civil War; and Travels Around the World. He died Oct. 10, 1872, in Auburn, N. Y.

SEWELL, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Oct. 7, 1735, in York, Maine. He was a member of the Maine legislature; was chosen councillor; and in 1777 was appointed a justice of the superior court. From 1789 to 1818 he was judge of the United States district court of Maine. He died Oct. 22, 1825, in York, Maine.

SEWELL, JAMES, congressman. He was a representative from Maryland in the third session of the twenty-seventh congress to fill a vacancy.

SEWELL, WILLIAM JOYCE, soldier, United States senator, was born Dec. 6, 1835, in Ireland. He served in the merchant marine for a few years; then went to Chicago, Ill., and engaged in business. He entered the union army in 1861 as a captain, and was mustered out of service at the close of the war as a brevet major-general. He served in the state senate of New Jersey nine years, three years as president of the senate. He was a delegate to all the republican national conventions from 1876 to 1896; and was elected a senator of the United States from New Jersey for the term of six years from March 4, 1881; and was re-elected in 1895 for term expiring in 1901.

SEXTON, HENRY D., financier, was born Nov. 18, 1854, in East St. Louis, Ill. He has been a successful real estate dealer, financier, and insurance broker of East St. Louis, Ill. He is now vice-president of the Workingmen's Banking company; president of the Second Mutual Loan association; president of the State Savings and Loan association; vice-president of the East St. Louis Electric Street Railroad company; secretary and treasurer of the Citizens' Electric Light and Power company; and president of the Main Street Safe Deposit company. He is also prominent in various other business enterprises, and takes an active part in public affairs.

SEXTON, JAMES A., soldier, manufacturer, was born Jan. 5, 1844, in Chicago, Ill. In 1861 he enlisted as a private soldier; was commissioned a first lieutenant; and participated in nearly all the campaigns of the army of the Tennessee. After the war he remained two years in Alabama; and in 1867 returned to Chicago and founded the firm of J. A. and T. S. Sexton, which after the Chicago fire was succeeded by Cribben, Sexton and Company. This firm is still in the business as manufacturers of stoves, hollow-ware, and plumbers' supplies, and has become widely known throughout the United States. During 1889-93 he was postmaster of Chicago. He has been a presidential elector; a colonel in the Illinois national guard; and has held various other positions of honor in his native state. In 1898 he became grand commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

SEXTON, LEONIDAS, lawyer, congressman, was born May 19, 1827, in Rushville, Ind. He was a representative in the Indiana state legislature in 1856; lieutenant-governor from 1873 to 1877; and was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

SEXTON, PLINY T., lawyer, banker, was born June 12, 1840, in Palmyra, N. Y. He is president of the First National bank of Palmyra, of which city he was president for four years. He has been president of the board of education for six years; and in 1890 was elected regent of the university of the state of New York, which is a life position.

SEYBERT, ADAM, chemist, congressman, author, was born May 16, 1773, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia chemist; and a member of congress from 1809 to 1815, and again from 1817 to 1819. He was the author of The Statistical Annals of the United States, 1789-1818. It was in a notice of this book for The Edinburgh Review that Sydney Smith made the famous query, Who reads an American book? He died May 2, 1825, in Paris, France.

SEYFFARTH, GUSTAVUS, scientist, educator, author, was born July 13, 1796, in Saxony. He was a German scientist who was professor of oriental archaeology at Leipzig university in 1825-55, and, coming to America in the latter year, was professor at Concordia seminary in St. Louis in 1855-71. The remainder of his life was passed in New York city. Among his voluminous writings are, Rudimenta Hieroglyphica; Grammatica Aegyptiaca; and Egyptian Theology according to a Paris Mummy Coffin. He died Nov. 17, 1885, in New York city.

SEYMOUR, AUGUSTUS SHERRILL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Nov. 30, 1836, in Ithaca, N. Y. He moved to Newberne, N. C., and was appointed criminal judge of that city in 1868. He was a representative in the state legislature from 1868 to 1870; was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1871; and state senator from 1872 to 1874. He was judge of the state superior court from 1874 to 1882; and in 1882 became United States district judge.

SEYMOUR, CHARLES B., journalist, author, was born in 1829 in England. In 1849 he became connected with the New York Times, serving as musical and dramatic editor until his death. He was correspondent for the Times at the Paris exposition of 1867, where his services as one of the American commission procured him a medal from the emperor. He was the author of Self-Made Men. He died May 2, 1869, in New York city.

SEYMOUR, CHARLES W., lawyer, legislator, was born June 4, 1838, in Hartford, Ohio. In 1860 he graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university, and received the degrees of A. B. and A. M. During 1862-64 he served with distinction as a member of the Nebraska legislature. During the civil war he served in the union army. For twenty-five years he has been master in chancery, and United States commissioner for the same number of years. He is one of the leading lawyers of the west in Nebraska City; has been city attorney for eight years; chairman of the republican state central committee; a thirty-second degree member of the Knight Templars; and has filled various high offices in masonry and other fraternal orders.

SEYMOUR, DAVID L., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1802 in Connecticut. In 1836 he was a member of the New York state legislature; and was a master in chancery. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1845, and from 1851 to 1853. He died Oct. 11, 1867, in Lanesborough, Mass.

SEYMOUR, EDWARD WOODRUFF, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 30, 1832, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a representative in the Connecticut state legislature in 1859, 1860, 1870, and 1871. In 1875 he moved to Bridgeport; and in 1876 was a state senator. He was elected a representative from Connecticut to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress as a democrat.

SEYMOUR, GEORGE FRANKLIN, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Jan. 5, 1829, in New York city. He was the founder of St. Stephen's college of Annandale, N. Y. For many years he was dean and professor of ecclesiastical history in the General Theological seminary, New York; he is the bishop of Springfield, Ill., to which high office he has been elected three times. He is the author of Modern Romanism Not Catholicity.

SEYMOUR, HENRY, merchant, state senator, was born May 30, 1780, in Litchfield, Conn. He served in both branches of the New York legislature, and was mayor of Utica, canal commissioner, and president of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company. He died Aug. 26, 1837, in Utica, N. Y.

SEYMOUR, HENRY WILLIAM, manufacturer, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1834 in Brockport, N. Y. In 1880 he was elected to the Michigan state house of representatives from the Cheboygan district; was elected state senator in 1882 from the thirtieth district; and in 1886 was re-elected from the same district. He was elected to the fiftieth congress as a republican.

SEYMOUR, HORATIO, lawyer, state senator, was born May 31, 1778, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a judge of probate and a member of the council of Vermont. He was a senator in congress from Vermont from 1821 to 1833.

SEYMOUR, HORATIO, lawyer, state legislator, governor, was born May 31, 1810, in Pompey Hill, N. Y. He was a member of the New York state assembly in 1841; was mayor of Utica in 1842, and was speaker of the lower house of the legislature in 1845.

He was governor of New York from 1853 to 1855, and from 1863 to 1865. In 1868 he was nominated for the presidency of the United States, but received only eighty electoral votes, and was defeated by General Grant. He died Feb. 12, 1886, in Utica, N. Y.

SEYMOUR, JOHN, governor. In 1703 he was appointed governor of Maryland serving until 1709. He died July 30, 1709.

SEYMOUR, MRS. MARY (HARRISON), author, was born Sept. 7, 1835, in Oxford, Conn. She is a writer of Hartford whose writings are mainly for juvenile readers. Among them are, Mollie's Christmas Stocking; Sunshine and Starlight; Recompense; Through the Darkness; and Ned, Nellie, and Amy.

SEYMOUR, MOSES, soldier, state legislator, was born July 23, 1742, in Hartford, Conn. He held the office of town-clerk of Litchfield for thirty-seven years consecutively from 1789 till his death, was elected annually to the legislature from 1795 till 1811, and was active in the affairs of the protestant episcopal church. He died Sept. 17, 1826, in Litchfield, Conn.

SEYMOUR, ORIGEN STORRS, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1804, in Litchfield, Conn. He served in the Connecticut state legislature, and was speaker in 1850. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1851 to 1855, and in the latter year was appointed judge of the superior court, holding the office until 1863. In 1870 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of errors, and in 1873 was appointed chief justice of the same. He died Aug. 12, 1881, in Litchfield, Conn.

SEYMOUR, THOMAS DAY, educator, author, was born in 1840 in Ohio. He is a professor of Greek at Yale university from 1880, and the author of Homeric Vocabulary; School Iliad; Selected Odes of Pindar, with Notes; Introduction to the Language and Verse of Homer; and Homer's Iliad.

SEYMOUR, THOMAS HART, soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born in 1808 in Hartford, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1843 to 1845. In 1846 he went to Mexico as a major of the New England regiment. He was elected governor of the state of Connecticut in 1850, and was three times re-elected. He was subsequently appointed minister to Russia. He died Sept. 3, 1868, in Hartford, Conn.

SEYMOUR, TRUMAN, soldier, was born Sept. 25, 1824, in Burlington, Vt. He served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars, and attained the brevet of major-general in the United States army.

SEYMOUR, WILLIAM, state legislator, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He served as a member of the New York assembly in 1832 and 1834; and was a representative in congress from 1835 to 1837.

SHACKELFORD, JAMES M., soldier, lawyer, was born July 7, 1827, in Lincoln county, Ky. He served in the Mexican war as a lieutenant; and during the civil war attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. Since 1865 he has practiced law in Evansville, Ind., and in 1880 was a republican presidential elector.

SHADWICK, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a member of congress from North Carolina during the years 1796 and 1797.

SHAFER, HELEN ALMIRA, educator, was born Sept. 23, 1839, in Newark, N. J. In 1877 she became professor of mathematics at Wellesley college, near Boston, Mass., and was made president of this institution in 1888.

SHAFER, JACOB K., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 26, 1826, in Rockingham county, Va. In 1849 he moved to Stockton, Cal., and in 1850 was elected district attorney. In 1852 he was elected mayor of Stockton, and in 1853 was judge of San Joaquin county, and continued in office until 1862, when he removed to Washington territory. He was elected delegate from the territory of Washington to the forty-first congress as a democrat.

SHAFFNER, TALIAFERRO PRESTON, inventor, author, was born in 1818 in Smithfield, Va. He was an inventor of note, and the author of The Telegraph Companion; The Telegraph Manual; The Secession War in America; History of America; and Odd Fellowship. He died Dec. 11, 1881, in Troy, N. Y.

SHAFROTH, JOHN F., lawyer, congressman, was born June 9, 1854, in Fayette, Mo. He practiced law at Fayette, Mo., until 1879, when he removed to Denver, Col., where he has ever since pursued his profession. In 1887 he was elected city attorney of Denver, and was re-elected to the same position in 1889. He was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a silver republican.

SHAFTER, JAMES McMILLAN, lawyer, state legislator, was born May 27, 1816, in Athens, Vt. He was admitted to the bar in 1810, practiced law in Townsend and Burlington, Vt., served in the legislature, and in 1842-49 was secretary of state. Removing to Wisconsin in 1849, he served in the legislature, was its speaker, and in 1852 was a defeated candidate for congress. In 1852 he removed to California; served in the California senate in 1861-62, and again in 1863-64.

SHAFTER, OSCAR LOVELL, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1812, in Athens, Vt. In 1854 he removed to California, and practiced his profession there until 1864, when he became associate justice of the state supreme court for a term of ten years. He died Jan. 23, 1873, in Florence, Italy.

SHAFTER, WILLIAM R., soldier, was born in 1835 in Kalamazoo county, Mich. He served in the civil war as first lieutenant of the seventh Michigan infantry, and as major and lieutenant-colonel of the nineteenth Michigan infantry. He was engaged in a dozen hotly contested battles, and was brevetted first as colonel and then as brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious conduct. In 1866 he was commissioned lieutenant-colonel in the regular army, and in 1897 was commissioned brigadier-general. During the Spanish-American war he was in full command of the United States forces in Cuba; and won international fame for his brilliant capture of Santiago.

SHAKESPEARE, EDWARD ORAM, physician, was born May 19, 1846, in Dover, Del. He spent six months in studying cholera, and made his report to congress. He is a member of several medical societies of Philadelphia, Pa., and has devised for clinical purposes a new ophthalmoscope and ophthalmometer.

SHALER, ALEXANDER, soldier, engineer, author, was born March 19, 1827, in Haddam, Conn. He was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863, and brevetted major-general of volunteers in 1865. He was consulting engineer to the Chicago board of police and fire in 1874-75, being charged with the re-organization and the instruction of the fire department in that city. From 1867 till 1886 he was major-general of the first division of the national guard of New York, and was an organizer and president of the National Rifle association of the United States. He published a Manual of Arms for Light Infantry Using the Rifle Musket.

SHALER, NATHANIEL SOUTHGATE, geologist, educator, author, was born Feb. 22, 1841, in Newport, Ky. He is an eminent geologist, professor of paleontology at Harvard university in 1868-87, and of geology from 1887. He is the author of Kentucky Geological Reports; Kentucky, a Pioneer Commonwealth; The Nature of Intellectual Property and Its Importance to the State; The Interpretation of Nature; The Story of Our Continent; Illustrations of the Earth's Surface; Glaciers (with W. M. Davis); The United States of America: a study of the American Commonwealth; First Book in Geology; Nature and Man in America; Sea and Land: Features of Coasts and Oceans; Aspects of the Earth; Fossil Branchiopods of the Ohio Valley; American Highways; and Domesticated Animals: Their Relation to Man.

SHALLENBERGER, WILLIAM S., soldier, merchant, legislator, was born Nov. 24, 1839, in Mt. Pleasant, Pa. He received his education in the Mt. Pleasant academy and the Bucknell university. During the war he served with distinction as adjutant in the one hundred and fortieth regiment Pennsylvania volunteer infantry, and subsequently until 1876 was a successful merchant. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican. Since 1883 he has been in the banking business; and has been treasurer of various corporations; and was appointed by Governor Beaver of Pennsylvania as a member of the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal. He was a director of the chamber of commerce of Pittsburg; vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers for Pennsylvania for the first years and president of the Pennsylvania Baptist Mission society for several years.

SHANAHAN, JEREMIAH FRANCIS, bishop, was born July 17, 1834, in Silver Lake, Pa. He became an eminent bishop of the Roman catholic church in Pennsylvania. He died Sept. 24, 1886, in Harrisburg, Pa.

SHANKLIN, CHARLES S., journalist, was born Sept. 2, 1857, in Linn county, Iowa. He attended the Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Iowa. He is a member of the Iowa bar, being admitted at the age of twenty years. For four years he was editor and proprietor of the Springville New Era; for two years of the Cedar Rapids Standard; is now the editor and owner of The Saturday Argus of Marion, Iowa; and also editor of the political pages of the Marion Sentinel.

SHANKLIN, GEORGE S., congressman. He was a presidential elector in 1864, and was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-ninth congress.

SHANKLIN, JOHN H., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 2, 1824, in Monroe county, W. Va. For many years he was engaged in educational work; judge of Grundy county, and since 1851 has practiced law in Trenton, Mo. He served in the Mexican war; and in 1861 was commissioned division inspector, with the rank of colonel. He served in the twenty-third regiment Missouri volunteer infantry; subsequently mustered in two battalions of Missouri militia, and in 1862 helped to organize the third regiment

Missouri state militia. He was commissioned lieutenant-colonel; and subsequently organized the thirtieth regiment enrolled militia of Missouri; and was commissioned as colonel of the same. He was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the existing constitution of Missouri. In 1869-71 he was president of the Chillicothe and Des Moines City Railroad company. He is president of the Grundy County Coal company; president of the Trenton Handle Manufacturing company; and for many years was president of the Trenton Gas and Electric Light company.

SHANKS, JOHN P. C., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born June 17, 1826, in Martinsburg, Va. He was elected to the Indiana legislature in 1853 and 1854; and in 1860 was elected a representative from Indiana to the thirty-seventh congress. He visited the field of Bull Run in July, 1861, as a spectator, but became a participant. He was a delegate to the Pittsburgh soldiers' convention of 1866; and again elected to the fortieth congress. He was re-elected to the forty-first, forty-second, and forty-third congresses as a republican. In 1875 he was appointed an Indian agent.

SHANKS, WILLIAM FRANKLIN GORE, journalist, was born April 20, 1837, in Shelbyville, Ky. He is a journalist of New York city, and the author of Recollections of Distinguished Generals; and A Noble Treason, a tragedy.

SHANLY, CHARLES DAWSON, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1811 in Ireland. He was a journalist and versewriter of New York city. The Walker in the Snow is his best-known poem. He was the author of A Jolly Bear and His Friends; The Monkey of Porto Bello; and The Truant Chicken. He died in 1875.

SHANNON, JOHN PRIMROSE, lawyer, was born Aug. 4, 1850, in Augusta, Ga. He is one of the foremost lawyers of the south, and is prominent in the public affairs of Georgia at Elberton. In 1892 he was a democratic elector, and during 1894-96 was grand master of the Masons of Georgia.

SHANNON, RICHARD CUTTS, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1839, in New London, Conn. He was educated at the public schools and at Colby university, from which he was graduated as a member of the class of 1862. He enlisted as a private in company H, fifth Maine volunteers in 1861, and was promoted to second sergeant, and in 1861 commissioned first lieutenant of the same company.

In 1862 he was commissioned captain and assistant adjutant-general of volunteers, serving continuously till the end of the war, receiving the brevets of major and lieutenant-colonel of volunteers. In 1871 he was appointed by President Grant secretary of the United States legation at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and served until 1875, when he resigned. In 1876 he took charge of the Botanical Garden Railroad company, an American enterprise in Brazil, of which he subsequently became the vice-president and general manager, and finally the president. In 1891 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the Republics of Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Salvador, and served until 1893. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

SHANNON, ROBERT THOMAS, lawyer, author, was born May 5, 1860, in Perry county, Tenn. He received his education at the Cloverdale seminary, Vanderbilt university, and the Cumberland university. He is a prominent lawyer of Nashville, Tenn., and the author of The Code of Tennessee, Annotated; A Code Supplement; and is the editor of the fifth edition of the Tennessee Form Book.

SHANNON, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio in 1826 and 1827.

SHANNON, THOMAS B., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1827 in Westmoreland county, Pa. From 1854 to 1861 he was engaged in merchandising in California. He served four sessions in the California legislature, and in 1863 was elected a representative from California to the thirty-eighth congress.

SHANNON, WILSON, lawyer, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 24, 1802, in Belmont county, Ohio. In 1835 he was prosecuting attorney for the state of Ohio; was elected governor of Ohio in 1837, and again in 1842, and in 1844 was appointed United States minister to Mexico. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1853 to 1855, and in 1855 was appointed governor of the territory of Kansas. He died Aug. 31, 1877, in Lawrence, Kan.

SHAPLEIGH, FRANK HENRY, artist, was born March 7, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He has spent his professional life in his native city. His paintings include Venice; Yosemite Valley; Mirror Lake; Cathedral Rocks; Mount Washington; Cohasset Harbor; Northern Peaks; and The White Mountains.

SHAPLEY, RUFUS EDMONDS, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 4, 1840, in Carlisle, Pa. He is the author of The Library of Wit and Humor; and The Overcrowding of the Learned Professions.

SHARKEY, EMMA AUGUSTA, journalist, author, was born Sept. 15, 1858, in Rochester, N. Y. She is a successful journalist and story writer; and is the author of nearly a hundred serial stories and novels, and over one thousand sketches; besides numerous poems. Her writings generally appear under the nom de plume of E. Burke Collins. Her novels chiefly represent life in the south, more especially the pine woods of Louisiana, her hitherto and also untrodden field of literature. In 1884 she married Robert R. Sharkey, a Mississippi cotton planter.

SHARKEY, WILLIAM LEWIS, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born in 1797 in Muschel Shoals, Tenn. He was presiding judge of the high court of errors in Mississippi, and was provisional governor of Mississippi in 1865 and 1866. He was one of the foremost lawyers and jurists of his time; was a delegate to all the leading political conventions; and active in all public affairs which tended to the benefit of the state of Mississippi. He died April 29, 1873, in Washington, D. C.

SHARON, WILLIAM, United States senator, was born Jan. 9, 1821, in Smithfield, Ohio. On removing to Nevada he became largely interested in mining operations: the only public position of a political character he ever accepted was that of a senator in congress from Nevada, to which he was elected for the term beginning in 1875 and ending in 1881. He was largely interested in the financial affairs of the Pacific slope, and was trustee of the Bank of California. He died Nov. 13, 1885, in Smithfield, Ohio.

SHARP, JOHN T., farmer, merchant, state senator, was born in 1852. He was mayor of Elm City, N. C., for three years, and in 1897 was elected a state senator.

SHARP, KATE D., poet. She is a writer of London, Ohio, and the author of a volume of poems entitled Eleanor's Courtship.

SHARP, ROBERT, educator, author, was born Oct. 24, 1852, in Lawrenceville, Va. Since 1880 he has been professor of Greek and English in the Tulane university of New Orleans, La. He is the author of A Treatise on the Use of the Infinitive in Herodotus; and various other works.

SHARP, SOLOMON P., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1780 in Virginia. He served a number of years in the Kentucky state legislature, and was attorney-general of the state. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1813 to 1817. He fell by the hand of an assassin, while a member of the legislature, in November, 1835.

SHARP, SOLOMON Z., college president, author, was born Dec. 21, 1835, in Allenville, Pa. He has been state geologist of Kansas, and is now the president of McPherson college of that state. He is the author of a work entitled History of the Brethren.

SHARPE, GEORGE HENRY, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born Feb. 26, 1828, in Kingston, N. Y. He served upon the staffs of Generals Hooker, Meade and Grant, and was brevetted brigadier-general in 1864, and major-general in 1865. In 1870-73 he was United States marshal for the southern district of New York, and took the census that demonstrated the great election frauds of 1868 in New York city, which led to the enforcement of the federal election law for the first time in 1871. He was surveyor of customs for New York from 1873 till 1878. He was a member of the assembly in 1879-83, and in 1880-81 was the speaker.

SHARPE, HORATIO, governor. In 1753 he was elected proprietary governor of Maryland, serving until 1769.

SHARPE, PETER, state legislator, congressman. He was a representative in the New York legislature from 1814 to 1820. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1821 to 1823, and in 1827 was a member of the tariff convention.

SHARPE, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1742, in Cecil county, Md. He was a delegate to the provincial congress in 1775 and 1776; was aide-de-camp to General Rutherford in the Indian campaign of 1776, and was one of the commissioners who made a treaty with them in 1777. He was a representative from North Carolina to the continental congress from 1779 to 1782. He died in July, 1818, in Iredell county, N. C.

SHARPE, WILLIAM HAMILTON, orange grower, legislator, was born May 5, 1836, in Lowndes county, Ga. In 1866 he was a delegate to the reconstruction convention; was a member of the state senate of Florida during 1878-86; and was a delegate to the interstate agricultural convention at Atlanta, Ga. For many years he has been chairman of the board of county commissioners of Brevard county, Fla.; is a successful orange grower of Sharpes, Indian River, Fla.; and the president of the Orange Growers' association of Indian River, at City Point, Fla.

SHARPS, CHRISTIAN, inventor, was born in 1811 in New Jersey. His principal invention was the Sharps breech-loading rifle, and in 1854 he removed to Hartford, Conn., to superintend the manufacture of this rifle. He died March 13, 1874, in Vernon, Conn.

SHARSWOOD, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 7, 1810, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was an eminent Philadelphia jurist, and the author of Professional Ethics; Popular Lectures on Common Law; Lectures on Commercial Law; and Sharswood's Blackstone. He died May 28, 1883, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SHARSWOOD, WILLIAM, author, was born in 1836 in Philadelphia. He has published Studia Physica, a series of monographs; Elenore, a Drama; and The Miscellaneous Writings of William Sharswood.

SHATTUC, WILLIAM B., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born June 11, 1841, in North Hector, N. Y. He was a commissioned officer in the union army during the rebellion, in the army of the frontier. For thirty years previous to 1895 he was an officer in the railway traffic service, and is now retired from business. He lives in Madisonville, Ohio. In 1895 he was elected one of the state senators from Hamilton county to the seventy-second general assembly, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

SHATTUCK, AARON DRAPER, artist, inventor, was born March 9, 1832, in Francetown, N. H. The first picture that he exhibited at the academy was a Study of Grasses and Flowers. The following year he was elected an associate, and he became an academician in 1861. In 1867 he held the post of recording secretary. He invented in 1883-85 a stretcher-frame with keys, a great improvement on the old methods of tightening canvases.

SHATTUCK, GEORGE CHEYNE, physician, author, was born July 17, 1783, in Templeton, Mass. He contributed largely to Dartmouth college, and built its observatory, which he furnished with valuable instruments. Shattuck school, at Fari-bault, Minn., a collegiate boarding-school under the auspices of the protestant episcopal church, of which Dr. Shattuck was a liberal patron, was named for him. He published two Boylston prize dissertations, entitled Structure and Physiology of the Skin; and Causes of Biliary Secretions; and Yellow Fever of Gibraltar in 1828. He died March 18, 1854, in Boston, Mass.

SHATTUCK, MRS. HARRIETTE (ROBINSON), author, was born in 1850 in Massachusetts. She is a writer of Malden, Mass., who has published The Story of Dante's Divine Comedy; Little Folks East and West; and Woman's Manual of Parliamentary Law.

SHATTUCK, JOSEPH CUMMINGS, educator, legislator, was born Feb. 28, 1835, in Marlborough, N. H. For three terms he was superintendent of public instruction of Colorado; was professor of pedagogics and dean of the faculty of the university of Denver for three years; of which institution he is now the financial agent. He has served as a member of the Colorado state legislature.

SHATTUCK, LEMUEL, state legislator, author, was born Oct. 15, 1793, in Ashby, Mass. He was for several years a representative in the legislature. In 1844 he was one of the founders of the New England Historic-Genealogical society, and he was its vice-president for five years. He published History of Concord, Mass.; Vital Statistics of Boston; The Census of Boston; Report on the Sanitary Condition of Massachusetts; and Memorials of the Descendants of William Shattuck. He died Jan. 17, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

SHATTUCK, WALTER WHELOCK, lawyer, was born July 1, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has been justice of the peace, and filled various other public positions of trust in Missouri. Soon after 1880 he moved to California; was editor of a paper for ten years; and has attained prominence as an able lawyer in that state at Kiswich. He is also prominent in the I. O. O. F., and other fraternal orders.

SHAVER, GEORGE FREDERICK, inventor, was born Nov. 4, 1855, in Ripley, N. Y. He has recently been engaged in the introduction of his improved mechanical telephone, was president of the Consolidated Telephone company in 1883-86, and since 1887 has been vice-president and general manager of the Shaver corporation, which has charge of that and other of his inventions.

SHAVER, LEONIDAS, lawyer, jurist, was an early emigrant to Utah, and in 1853 was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Utah.

SHAW, AARON, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1811 in Orange county, N. Y. He served several terms in the state legislature. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-fifth congress, and served one term; was then elected circuit judge, and served six years. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-eighth congress as a republican.

SHAW, ALBERT, journalist, author, was born July 23, 1857, in New London, Ohio. He is a journalist of New York city, and the American editor of The Review of Reviews from 1891. He is the author of Icaria, a Chapter in the History of Communism; Local Government in Illinois; Co-operation in a Western City; Municipal Government in Great Britain; and Municipal Government in Continental Europe.

SHAW, ALBERT DUANE, soldier, state legislator, was born Dec. 27, 1841, in Lyme, N. Y. He served in the thirty-fifth New York regiment in 1861-63, and was elected to the legislature in 1867. He was appointed United States consul at Toronto, Canada, in 1868, and in 1878 promoted to Manchester, England, where he served till 1885.

SHAW, ANNIE CORNELIA, artist, was born Sept. 16, 1852, in West Troy, N. Y. She is a well-known artist of Chicago, Ill.

SHAW, C. AUSTIN, artist, writer, was born Oct. 24, 1840, in West Milton, Ohio. He was a successful landscape painter, in Providence, R. I. and afterward edited a magazine entitled Language and Thought. In 1871 he entered the signal service, and held positions in Minnesota, Dakota, Madison, Wis., and Erie, Pa. In 1887 he retired from public service and devoted his time entirely to literature; and was the author of a number of meritorious essays, which have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

SHAW, CHARLES, lawyer, author, was born in 1782 in Bath, Maine. He was a lawyer of Montgomery, Ala., who published A Topographical Description of Boston from Its First Settlement. He died in 1828, in Montgomery, Ala.

SHAW, FRANK T., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1841, in Woodsborough, Md. In 1873 he was elected clerk of the circuit court for Carroll county, Md., for the term of six years, and was re-elected in 1879. In 1884 he was elected a representative from Maryland to the forty-ninth congress, and was re-elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

SHAW, GEORGE G., lawyer, was born Jan. 29, 1866, in Homer, La. After receiving his education he taught school for a while, and is now a prominent lawyer of Kaufman, Texas. He is prominent in Masonry and other fraternal orders; and in 1896 was elected mayor of Kaufman.

SHAW, HENRY, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1788 in Windham county, Vt. He was nominated for congress before he was eligible, and in 1816 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the sixteenth congress. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature for eighteen years, and was also a member of the governor's council. In 1848 he moved to New York, and resided at Fort Washington, on the Hudson. He was a member of the board of education in New York city, and two years in the common council, and in 1853 was elected a member of the New York assembly. He died Oct. 14, 1857, in Peekskill, N. Y.

SHAW, HENRY, philanthropist, was born July 24, 1800, in England. In 1885 he gave to Washington university improved real estate that yields $5,000 yearly income, which was used in organizing and maintaining a school of botany as a department of the university. At the same time the Missouri botanical garden and arboretum were placed in such relation to the school as to secure their full uses for scientific study and investigation to the professor and students for all time to come. He died Aug. 25, 1889, in St. Louis, Mo.

SHAW, HENRY M., soldier, physician, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1819, in Newport, R. I. He moved to North Carolina, and was a state senator in 1852. He was a representative from North Carolina to the thirty-third and thirty-fifth congresses. During the war of the rebellion he served as a colonel in the confederate army. He died in February, 1864, in Newberne, N. C.

SHAW, HENRY WHEELER—Josh Billings—humorist, author, was born April 21, 1818, in Lanesborough, Mass. He was the author of Josh Billings's Sayings; Everybody's Friend; Josh Billings's Trump Cards; and Josh Billings's Spice Box. He died Oct. 14, 1885, in Monterey, Cal.

SHAW, JAMES DICKSON, soldier, clergyman, journalist, was born Dec. 27, 1841, in Walker county, Texas. He served four years as a soldier in the confederate army, and surrendered at the close of the war as a second lieutenant. For twelve years he was a clergyman in the methodist episcopal church south, and since 1883 has been editor of The Independent Pulpit of Waco, Texas.

SHAW, JOHN, physician, surgeon, poet, was born May 4, 1778, in Annapolis, Md. He was a contributor to The Portfolio. His poems, with a memoir, and extracts from his foreign correspondence and journals, were published in 1810. He died Jan. 10, 1809, at sea.

SHAW, JOHN G., business man, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 16, 1859, near Fayetteville, N. C. He located at Fayetteville, N. C., and was elected county attorney for Cumberland county in 1890, and held the position for four years. He was a democratic candidate for presidential elector in 1892 and was elected; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

SHAW, LEMUEL, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 9, 1781, in Barnstable, Mass. He drafted the charter of the city of Boston, and for twenty-seven years was one of the corporation of Harvard college. He died March 30, 1861, in Boston, Mass.

SHAW, LESLIE MORTIMER, lawyer, financier, was born in 1848 in Lamoille county, Vt. In 1869 he moved to Iowa, taught school and attended Cornell college of Mount Vernon, from which institution he graduated. He graduated in law from the Iowa Law school of Des Moines, and in 1876 began the practice of law in Denison, Iowa. He is also a successful financier, owns two banks, and has loaned over two million dollars on Iowa farms. He has taken an active part in the business and public affairs of his adopted state, and in 1896 was republican nominee for governor of that state.

SHAW, MILTON GILMAN, lumberman, legislator, was born Dec. 31, 1820, in Industry, Maine. In 1841 he began life in the lumber business at Greenville, Maine, then almost in the heart of the pine forests of Maine; and he now owns an immense area of timber lands in Maine, including several townships. He has filled different public offices, and was a member of the legislature in 1859.

SHAW, OLIVER, musician, composer, was born in 1776. He composed Home of My Soul, and other popular pieces of music. He died Dec. 31, 1848, in Providence, R. I.

SHAW, ROBERT GOULD, merchant, was born June 4, 1773, in Gouldsborough, Maine. He bequeathed over a hundred thousand dollars to philanthropic purposes. He died May 3, 1853, in Boston, Mass.

SHAW, ROBERT GOULD, soldier, was born Oct. 10, 1837, in Boston, Mass. He became colonel of the fifty-fourth Massachusetts, the first regiment of colored troops from a free state that was mustered into the United States service. He died July 18, 1863, in Fort Wagner, S. C.

SHAW, RODNEY K., soldier, lawyer, writer, was born Dec. 13, 1829, in Copenhagen, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of his native county; attended Union academy of Bellville, N. Y.; the Lowville academy; and subsequently graduated from a Chautauqua course. During the war he served as captain of the sixty-third regiment, Ohio volunteer infantry; and was commissioner for relief of soldier-comrades of his county. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Ohio at Marietta; and has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the periodical press.

SHAW, SAMUEL, physician, surgeon, state legislator, congressman, was born in December, 1768, in Dighton, Mass. In 1799 he was returned as a member of the Vermont legislature, and was for some time a member of the state council. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1808 to 1813. On his retirement from congress he was appointed surgeon in the army, and removed to the city of New York. He died Oct. 22, 1827, in Clarendon, Vt.

SHAW, THOMAS, educator, author, was born in 1843 in Ontario. He is a Canadian educator, since 1893 professor of animal husbandry at the Minnesota agricultural experiment station, and the author of The First Principles of Agriculture; and Weeds and How to Eradicate Them.

SHAW, THOMPSON DARRAH, naval officer, was born Aug. 20, 1801, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was retired in 1862 on his own application, after more than forty years' service. He was continued on special duty at New York, Philadelphia, and Boston in 1863-67, and was promoted to commodore on the retired list in 1867. He died July 26, 1874, in Germantown, Pa.

SHAW, TRISTAM, congressman, was born in 1787 in New Hampshire. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1839 to 1843. He died March 14, 1843, in Exeter, N. H.

SHAW, WILLIAM SMITH, lawyer, philanthropist, born Aug. 12, 1778, in Haverhill, Mass. He was admitted to the bar in April, 1804, and in the same year became treasurer of the Anthology society, the nucleus of the Boston Athenæum. He devoted much of his time to the collection of its library, and became known as Athenæum Shaw. He was the first to suggest making the library public, and connecting with it a reading room. After the incorporation of the institution he was its secretary and librarian till 1823, and its secretary alone till 1824. At his decease he left it collections of coins, pamphlets and books to the value of $10,000. He died April 25, 1826, in Boston, Mass.

SHEA, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, author, was born June 10, 1826, in Ireland. He was a jurist who was chief justice of the city court of New York, and the author of Alexander Hamilton: a Historical Study; and Nature and Form of the American Government.

SHEA, JOHN AUGUSTUS, journalist, poet, was born in 1802 in Ireland. He was an Irish verse-writer who came to America in 1827, and was a journalist in New York city. His writings include, Adolph; Parnassian Wild Flowers; Ruddeki, an Eastern Romance, in verse; and Clontarf, a Poem. He died Aug. 15, 1845, in New York.

SHEA, JOHN DAWSON GILMARY, journalist, author, was born July 22, 1824, in New York city. He was an historical writer of note, for a number of years editor of Frank Leslie's Chimney Corner, in New York city. He was the author of The Catholic Church in the United States; Legendary History of Ireland; History of Catholic Indian Missions; Discovery and Exploration of the Mississippi Valley; Early Voyages Up and Down the Mississippi; Novum Belgium, an Account of New Netherlands, 1633-44; The Operations of the French under De Grasse; Life of Pius Ninth; The Catholic Church in Colonial Days; The Catholic Hierarchy of the United States; and Life and Times of Archbishop Carroll. He died in 1892.

SHEA, JOSEPH, college president, was born Dec. 31, 1829, in Fordham, N. Y. For six years he was president of St. John's college, Fordham, N. Y. He died Dec. 5, 1881, in New York city.

SHEAFE, JAMES, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 16, 1755, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1799 to 1801; and was a senator in congress in 1801 and 1802, resigning June, 1802. He died Dec. 5, 1829, in Portsmouth, N. H.

SHEAFER, PETER WENRICK, mining engineer, was born March 31, 1819, in Halifax, Pa. In 1848 he settled in Pottsville and devoted his attention to mining engineering, and he has been specially active in the development of the coal and iron interests of that district. He issued in 1875, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Historical society, a map of Pennsylvania as it was in 1775.

SHEAFFER, SAMUEL G., lawyer, public official, was born May 13, 1841, near Shippensburg, Pa. He received his education in the common schools and the Shippensburg academy. He has been post-master, justice of the peace, clerk of the courts of Ness county, police judge of Ness city, and filled various other public positions of honor. He is a successful lawyer and promoter of patriotic associations and public enterprises, and is adjutant-general battalion of America.

SHEAKLEY, JAMES, public official, legislator, governor, was born April 24, 1830, in Sheakleyville, Pa. When nineteen years of age he went to California, and for three years was engaged in the mining of gold. He then returned to Sheakleyville and bought the old homestead. He embarked in the drygoods business in Greenville, in 1860; was one of the pioneers in the oil excitement in western Pennsylvania, and for nearly twenty years was extensively engaged in the production and shipping of petroleum. He served as a democrat in the forty-fourth congress, and in 1887 was appointed by President Cleveland as United States commissioner of Alaska, and the educational department made him superintendent of schools for southeastern Alaska. In 1892 he was appointed governor of Alaska by President Cleveland, and served in that high office with distinction.

SHEARER, JOHN BUNYAN, clergyman, college president, was born July 19, 1832, in Appomattox county, Va. This eminent presbyterian clergyman and professor of biblical instruction and moral philosophy during 1870-75 was president of the Stewart college of Clarksville, Tenn. For thirteen years he was president of the Southwestern Presbyterian university; and since 1888 has been president of Davidson college, North Carolina.

SHEARMAN, THOMAS GASKELL, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 25, 1834, in England. He is a lawyer and political economist of New York city, and the author of Law of Practice and Pleadings; Law of Negligence; Talks on Free Trade; Does Protection Protect? Pauper Labor of Europe; The Single Tax; National Taxation; Henry George's Mistake; and Crooked Taxation.

SHEATS, CHARLES CHRISTOPHER, state legislator, congressman, was born April 10, 1839, in Walker county, Ala. He was elected to the Alabama state legislature in 1861; and was a presidential elector in 1868. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-third congress. In 1875 he was appointed sixth auditor of the United States treasury.

SHEATS, WILLIAM NICHOLAS, educator, state superintendent of public instruction, was born March 5, 1851, in Auburn, Ga. He graduated from Emory college at Oxford, Ga., in 1874. He then taught in the Fletcher institute during 1873-74, and in various other institutions until 1881. In 1880 he was elected superintendent of public instruction of Alachua county, and filled that position by constant re-elections until 1892, since which time he has been state superintendent of public instruction of Florida. In 1885 he was elected a member of the state constitutional convention, and was the author of the article on education adopted by that body, which laid the foundation of the state's educational system, and placed Florida in the lead in public education among all of her southern sisters. His work as state superintendent has been highly successful.

SHECUT, JOHN LINNÆUS EDWARD WHITRIDGE, physician, scientist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1770, in Beaufort, S. C. He was a once eminent physician and scientist of Charleston, and the author of Flora Carolinensis; Medical and Philosophical Essays; Elements of Natural Philosophy; and A New Theory of the Earth. He died in 1836 in Charleston, S. C.

SHEDD, JOEL HERBERT, civil engineer, author, was born May 31, 1834, in Pepperell, Mass. He is an eminent civil engineer of Providence, whose most important professional labor is the Providence waterworks. He has written a work on Landscape Gardening, and many important professional papers.

SHEDD, MRS. JULIA ANN (CLARK), author, was born Aug. 8, 1834, in Newport, Maine. She was the author of Famous Painters and Paintings; Famous Sculptors and Sculpture; The Ghiberti Gates; and Raphael: His Madonnas and Holy Families.

SHEDD, WILLIAM GREENOUGH THAYER, educator, clergyman, author, was born June 21, 1820, in Acton, Mass. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city, professor in Union seminary in 1863-90, and a theologian of a very conservative type. He is the author of History of Christian Doctrine; Sermons to the Natural Man; Homiletics and Pastoral Theology; Theological Essays; Sermons to the Spiritual Man; Endless Punishment; Dogmatic Theology; The Pro-Revision of the Westminster Standards; Calvinism Pure and Mixed; and Literary Essays.

SHEEDY, MORGAN M., priest, writer, was born Oct. 8, 1853, in Ireland. He was ordained in the Pittsburg cathedral in 1876. He was immediately assigned as professor of theology and history in Saint Michael's seminary, where he continued until the closing of that institution. As a successful pastor he became widely known through his work on educational lines with young men. In Pittsburg the school, hall and free library that he established were centers of the very best influence felt in the whole community. He was the founder of the Pittsburg Polytechnic society and is a member of the Writers' club, the Academy of Science, the Western Pennsylvania Historical society, and other literary bodies. He has always been one of the leaders in the temperance movement and for four years was the vice-president of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of America. He is the author of Christian Unity; and of a work entitled Social Problems.

SHEEHAN, WILLIAM FRANCIS, lieutenant-governor, was born Nov. 6, 1859, in New York. In 1892 he was elected lieutenant-governor of the state of New York.

SHEELEIGH, MATTHIAS, clergyman, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1821, in Charleston, Pa. Since 1860 he has edited the Lutheran Sunday School Herald of Fort Washington, Pa. He is the author of American Ecclesiastical; A Gettysburgiad; Luther: a Song Tribute; Brief History of Luther; and Outlines of Old and New Testament History.

SHEFFER, DANIEL, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative to congress from that state from 1837 to 1839.

SHEFFEY, DANIEL, lawyer, banker, congressman, was born in 1770 in Frederick, Md. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1809 to 1817. He died Dec. 3, 1830, in Augusta, Va.

SHEFFIELD, JOSEPH EARLE, merchant, philanthropist, was born June 19, 1793, in Southport, Conn. His donations to Yale have been munificent. In 1860 the name of its scientific department, which was reorganized and placed on a firm basis by his liberality, was changed to the Sheffield scientific school in his honor. Its two buildings are called respectively Sheffield hall and North Sheffield hall. He gave to other colleges, seminaries, and religious institutions, and his gifts amounted to more than $1,000,000. He died Feb. 16, 1882, in New Haven, Conn.

SHEFFIELD, WILLIAM PAINE, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 30, 1819, on Block Island, R. I. In 1845 he was elected, from his native town, a member of the state assembly. Removing his residence to Tiverton, he was again elected to the assembly in 1849, where he continued to serve until 1853, when he resigned his seat, and settled in Newport, and represented that city in the assembly from 1857 to 1861. He was elected a representative from Rhode Island to the thirty-seventh congress, and in 1869 was appointed one of the commissioners to revise the laws of Rhode Island.

SHELBY, ISAAC, soldier, surveyor, state legislator, governor, was born Dec. 11, 1750, near Hagerstown, Md. He became a surveyor in western Virginia. In 1774 he was lieutenant in his father's company at the battle of Point Pleasant, Va.; was a captain in 1776; and was made commissary in 1777. He was a member of the legislature in 1779; was commissioned a major by Governor Jefferson, and in 1780 was made colonel, and defeated Major Ferguson at the battle of King's Mountain. He was a member of the legislature of North Carolina in 1781 and 1782. In 1788 he settled at Travelers' Rest, Kentucky; was governor of Kentucky from 1792 to 1796, after its separation from Virginia, and in 1813 joined General Harrison. In 1818 he was a commissioner, with General Jackson, to treat with the Cherokee Indians. A county in Kentucky and a college in Shelbyville were named for him. He died July 18, 1826, in Lincoln county, Ky.

SHELBY, WILLIAM R., railroad official, was born Dec. 4, 1842, in Lincoln county, Ky. He is now vice-president and treasurer of the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad company. He has been also extensively engaged in wheat raising in the northwest, and since 1875 has managed the Cass farm, a portion of which is more generally known as the great Dalrymple farm.

SHELDON, A. W., soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born July 18, 1842, in Granville, Ohio. He was judge advocate of the first division of the national guard of the state of New York, with the rank of colonel from 1875 to 1881. He was judge advocate of the department of New York, Grand Army of the Republic, in 1877 and 1878. In 1881 he moved to Baltimore, and became editor of the Baltimore Herald. In 1883 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona territory.

SHELDON, CARLOS D., congressman. He takes an active part in the business and public affairs of Houghton, Mich.; and was elected from the twelfth district to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

SHELDON, CHARLES H., soldier, governor, was born in 1840 in Johnson, Vt. For ten years he lived in southern Illinois; in Kentucky three years; and in 1881 moved to Dakota. He was a member of the territorial council of 1887; and in 1892 was elected governor.

SHELDON, CLESSON PARMENTER, clergyman, was born May 9, 1813, in Bernardston, Mass. In 1845 he graduated from the Madison university of Hamilton, N. Y. He became an eminent clergyman of the baptist church; filled pastorates in Whitesboro, Hamilton, Buffalo, and for nineteen years in Troy, N. Y., where he died Oct. 25, 1888.

SHELDON, DAVID NEWTON, clergyman, college president, author, was born June 26, 1807, in Suffield, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman who became a unitarian in 1856. He was president of Colby university in 1843-53; and the author of Sin and Redemption.

SHELDON, EDWARD AUSTIN, educator, author, was born Oct. 4, 1823, in Perry Centre, N. Y. He is a noted educator of Oswego, principal of the normal school there from 1862; and the author of Manual of Elementary Training; and Lessons on Objects.

SHELDON, EDWARD STEVENS, educator, author, was born in 1851 in Maine. He is a professor of Romance philology at Harvard university from 1883; and the author of Short German Grammar and monographs.

SHELDON, GEORGE LAWSON, farmer, banker, was born May 31, 1870, in Nehawka, Neb. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools; received the degree of B. L. from the university of Nebraska; and the degree of B. A. from Harvard university. He has been a member of the republican state committee from the fourth district of Nebraska; is the president of the Nehawka bank; and was captain of company A, Nebraska university cadets.

SHELDON, GEORGE WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born Jan. 28, 1843, in Summerville, S. C. He is a journalist and art critic of New York city, now in charge of the London office of D. Appleton and Company, publishers. He is the author of American Painters; The Story of the Volunteer Fire Department of New York City; Hours with Art and Artists; Selections in Modern Art; and Recent Ideals of American Art.

SHELDON, HENRY CLAY, educator, clergyman, author, was born March 12, 1845, in Martinburg, N. Y. He is a methodist clergyman, professor of historic theology in Boston university from 1882. He is the author of History of Christian Doctrine; and History of the Christian Church.

SHELDON, HENRY L., librarian, was born Aug. 15, 1821, in Middlebury, Vt. He is the founder and librarian of the Sheldon Art museum of his native city. He was city clerk for twenty-five years, and an expert accountant and bookkeeper.

SHELDON, LIONEL ALLEN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Aug. 30, 1829, in Otsego, N. Y. He served one term as judge of probate in Lorain county, Ohio. In 1861 he entered the volunteer army as a captain; was soon promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel; and at the close of the war was brevetted a brigadier-general. He subsequently settled in New Orleans, La., and devoted himself to his profession. In 1868 he was elected a representative from Louisiana to the forty-first congress; and was re-elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses. In 1881 he was appointed governor of the territory of New Mexico.

SHELDON, MARY DOWNING, educator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1850, in Oswego, N. Y. In 1874 she served as professor of history in Wellesley in 1876-78, and subsequently occupied the same chair in the state normal school, Oswego, N. Y. She has published Studies in General History; and Teacher's Manual.

SHELDON, PORTER, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1831, in Victor, N. Y. In 1862 he was a member of the constitutional convention of Illinois; and in 1868 was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first congress as a republican.

SHELDON, WILLIAM EVARTS, educator, journalist, was born Oct. 22, 1832, in Dorset, Vt. He has attained success as an educator, and his life has been devoted to teaching, school supervision, and educational journalism. In 1863-64 he was president of the Massachusetts Teachers' association; was president of the American Institute of Instruction in 1867; president of the National Educational association in 1887; and since 1884 has been a member of the national council of education. He is the editor of The Journal of Education; Current History; American Primary Teacher; and Modern Methods; all of which are published in Boston, Mass.

SHELL, GEORGE W., soldier, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1831, in Laurens county, S. C. He entered the confederate army in 1861, and remained in the service until the surrender at Appomattox. He served as private, lieutenant, and captain. He served as clerk of court for Laurens, S. C., for six years; and was elected to the fifty-second, and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

SHELLABARGER, SAMUEL, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1817, in Clarke county, Ohio. He was a member of the first legislature in Ohio that met under the present constitution, and in 1860 was elected to congress as a republican. He took his seat in the special session that met in accordance with President Lincoln's call in 1861; and served in 1861-63, in 1865-69, and in 1870-73. He was United States minister to Portugal in 1869-70, and in 1874-75 was one of the civil service commission.

SHELLEY, CHARLES M., soldier, architect, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1833, in Sullivan county, Tenn. He entered the confederate army in 1861, and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses. In 1885 he was appointed fourth auditor in the United States treasury at Washington.

SHELLEY, HARRY ROWE, musician, composer, was born June 8, 1858, in New Haven, Conn. He is a successful organist, and the author of many pieces of church music.

SHELTON, FREDERICK WILLIAM, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1814 in Jamaica, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman of Carthage Landing, N. Y., who wrote in both prose and verse a number of humorous and satirical books. He was the author of The Trollopia, or The Traveling Gentleman in America; The Rector of St. Bardolph's; Peeps from the Belfry, or the Parish Sketch-Book; Saulander and the Dragon, a romance; Up the River, a collection of rural sketches; Chrystalline, a romance; The Gold Mania; and Use and Abuse of Reason. He died June 20, 1881, in Carthage Landing, N. Y.

SHELTON, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, artist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1840, in Allen's Hill, N. Y. He served as a soldier during the civil war and was promoted to lieutenant. He is probably best known as the author of A Man Without a Memory, published in Scribner's. He is also the author of Capture and Escape, which is a true narrative of his personal experiences as a federal artilleryman.

SHEPARD, CHARLES B., congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1807, in Newberne, N. C. He was elected to congress from North Carolina in 1837, where he continued to serve until 1841. He died in October, 1843.

SHEPARD, CHARLES UPHAM, educator, geologist, author, was born June 29, 1804, in Little Compton, R. I. He was a geologist, professor of geology at Amherst college, who published a valuable Report on the Geology of Connecticut. He died May 1, 1886, in Charleston, S. C.

SHEPARD, CHARLES UPHAM, chemist, was born Oct. 4, 1842, in New Haven, Conn. In 1887 he presented the second cabinet of minerals that was left by his father, numbering more than ten thousand specimens, to the collection of Amherst; and his cabinet of two hundred different meteorites has been deposited in the United States National museum of Washington, D. C.

SHEPARD, EDWARD MORSE, lawyer, author, was born in 1850 in New York. He is a lawyer of Brooklyn; and the author of A Life of Martin Van Buren.

SHEPARD, ELIHU HOTCHKISS, educator, author, was born in 1795 in Vermont. He was an educator of St. Louis; and the author of Autobiography; and Early History of St. Louis and Missouri. He died in 1876.

SHEPARD, ELLIOTT FITCH, soldier, lawyer, journalist, was born July 25, 1833, in Jamestown, N. Y. He was instrumental in raising the fifty-first New York regiment, which was named for him the Shepard rifles. He was the founder of the New York State Bar association in 1876, which has formed the model for the organization of similar associations in other states. In 1888 he purchased the New York Mail and Express.

SHEPARD, GEORGE BOHAN, lawyer, inventor, was born Sept. 23, 1847, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. He received his rudimentary education in the public schools of that city, and the higher branches at private institutions there. In 1862 he began the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1869; and since that time he has never discontinued practice, though his other undertakings have interfered with active litigation. From 1873 he served two terms as clerk of surrogate's court of St. Lawrence county, and on Dec. 17, 1879, was appointed United States deputy collector of internal revenue for St. Lawrence and Franklin counties, serving as such until the office was filled by the incoming of the democratic administration. He introduced the electric telephone in his native county, building several local exchanges and the connecting county lines. He inherits a natural taste for mechanics, and is a direct lineal descendant from Hezekiah Huntington of Windham, Conn., who manufactured the first guns made in America, and who was appointed by Gen. Washington repairer of arms for the continental army. He also numbers among his ancestors Gov. Bradford of Plymouth colony. Mr. Shepard has made a number of useful inventions, including early improvements in the typewriter and copygraph; and he has recently perfected a successful rotary engine. He is at present engaged upon an improved machine to furnish stereotype plates for printing, which promises a revolution in that art; and still resides in the place of his nativity.

SHEPARD, IRWIN, soldier, educator, college president, was born July 5, 1843, in Skaneateles, N. Y. He served three years during the civil war in the ninth army corps. Since 1879 he has been president of the state normal school of Winona, Minn.

SHEPARD, ISAAC FITZGERALD, soldier, author, was born July 7, 1816, in Natick, Mass. He was a federal officer in the civil war who was consul at Swatow and Hankow in 1874-80; and the author of Pebbles from Castalia; Poetry of Feeling; Scenes and Songs of Social Life; and Household Tales. He died in 1889.

SHEPARD, LILLIE R., poet. She is a writer of Melrose, Mass.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Rays of Light.

SHEPARD, SIDNEY, manufacturer, capitalist, was born Sept. 28, 1814, in Coblesville, N. Y. In 1849 he became the proprietor of the Shepard Iron works; which institution also became one of the largest importers of tinplate, manufacturers of stamp metalware, and dealers in hardware and tinners' supplies in the United States. He was prominent in railroad affairs, and for many years a director in the Alabama Central, the Mobile and Ohio, and the New Jersey Central railroads. He steadfastly declined the candidacy for various important public offices. In 1885 he transferred his interest in the Shepard Iron works to his son, C. Sidney Shepard of New Haven, N. Y.

SHEPARD, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 5, 1605, in England. He was a puritan clergyman who came to America in 1635, and from 1636 until his death was minister of what is now the Shepard church in Cambridge. He was the author of New England's Lamentations for Old England's Present Errors; The Sound Beleever; The Clear Sunshine of the Gospel; Theses Sabbaticæ; Subjection to Christ; The Parable of the Ten Virgins Opened and Applied; and Autobiography. His Sermons, with Memoir by Alger, were printed in three volumes in 1853. He died Aug. 25, 1649, in Cambridge, Mass.

SHEPARD, WILLIAM, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1737, near Boston, Mass. In 1780 he was promoted to the rank of brigadier-general under General Lafayette; and after the war was a brigadier-general of militia. In 1785 and 1786 he was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature; in the latter year was appointed a major-general, and in the same year was summoned from his farm to assume command of the national forces at Springfield, Mass., on the outbreak of the Shay rebellion. He was a presidential elector in 1788 and 1792; was a member of the state executive council from 1792 to 1796; and was a representative from Massachusetts to the national congress from 1793 to 1803. He died Nov. 11, 1817, in Westfield, Mass.

SHEPARD, WILLIAM B., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1799 in Newberne, N. C. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1827 to 1837, when he declined a re-election. In 1838 he was elected to the state senate, where he served five terms. He died June 20, 1852, in Elizabeth City, N. J.

SHEPHERD, ALEXANDER B., soldier, governor, was born Jan. 31, 1835, in Washington, D. C. In 1873 he was appointed the second governor of the District of Columbia; and remained in office until the form of government was again changed.

SHEPHERD, FRANK, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Jan. 28, 1853, in Lenawee county, Mich. Since 1879 he has practiced law in Cheboygan, Mich. In 1880-82 he was prosecuting attorney; was appointed judge of probate in 1886; and elected to the same office in 1888. In 1897 he was elected a member of the Michigan state legislature.

SHEPHERD, JAMES EDWARD, lawyer, educator, was born in July, 1847, in Nausemond county, Va. In 1882 he was elected judge of the superior court from Raleigh, N. C.; and during 1888-95 was a justice of the supreme court, last two years of which he served as chief justice.

SHEPHERD, JAMES OSGOOD, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born in Palmyra, Va. He was a graduate of the university of Virginia; engaged in educational work, and became county superintendent of schools. He is now an able lawyer of Virginia at Buena Vista; has been judge of the corporation court of Roanoke; and judge of Hustings court, Buena Vista.

SHEPHERD, NATHANIEL GRAHAM, author, was born in 1835 in New York city. At the beginning of the civil war he became a war correspondent for the New York Tribune. He contributed largely to periodicals and journals; and was the author of The Dead Drummer-Boy; The Roll-Call; and A Summer Reminiscence. He died May 23, 1869, in New York city.

SHEPHERD, OLIVER LATHROP, soldier, was born Aug. 15, 1815, in Clifton, Pa. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars, and in 1863 was brevetted brigadier-general. In 1870 he was retired from the army.

SHEPHERD, WILLIAM, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1737, in Massachusetts. In 1783 he was chosen a brigadier-general, having fought in twenty-two battles; and was subsequently a major-general of militia. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1797 to 1803. He died Nov. 11, 1817, in Westfield, Mass.

SHEPHERD, WILLIAM ROBERT, author. He is the author of History of Proprietary Government in Pennsylvania.

SHEPLEY, ETHER, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, United States senator, was born Nov. 2, 1789, in Groton, Mass. He was in the Massachusetts legislature in 1819; was a member of the convention that framed the first constitution of Maine in 1820; and was for thirteen years attorney of the United States for Maine. He was a senator in congress from Maine from 1833 to 1836. After leaving the senate of the United States he was chosen a justice of the supreme court of Maine, and subsequently chief justice of the same, which latter position he held until 1855. He died Jan. 15, 1877, in Portland, Maine.

SHEPLEY, GEORGE FORSTER, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 1, 1819, in Saco, Maine. He removed to Portland, Maine; was appointed by President Polk United States district attorney, which position he held until 1861. When the civil war broke out he became colonel of the twelfth Maine volunteers. He was made brigadier-general; and was military governor of Louisiana from 1862 to 1864. He was military governor of Richmond on its surrender in 1865. In 1871 he was United States circuit judge of the first circuit. He died July 20, 1878, in Portland, Maine.

SHEPLOR, MATTHIAS, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1837 to 1839.

SHEPPARD, FRANCIS MARION, physician, legislator, was born Dec. 22, 1863, in Monticello, Miss. After receiving the rudiments of his education in the common schools, he attended the university of Louisville, Ky., graduating therefrom in 1893. He is a successful physician of Waynesboro, Miss.; and in 1896 became a representative in the lower house of the Mississippi state legislature, his term expiring in 1900.

SHEPPARD, FURMAN, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 21, 1823, in Bridgeton, N. J. He is a Philadelphia lawyer who has published The Constitutional Text-Book; and other works.

SHEPPARD, JOHN HANNIBAL, lawyer, author, was born March 17, 1789, in England. In addition to several Masonic and antiquarian addresses, he was the author of occasional poems; of Reminiscences of the Vaughan Family; and The Life of Samuel Tucker, Commodore in the American Revolution. He died June 25, 1873, in Boston, Mass.

SHEPPARD, NATHAN, educator, journalist, author, was born Nov. 9, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He was a journalist and educator who was a special correspondent of The Cincinnati Gazette during the Franco-German war; and the author of Shut Up in Paris During the Siege; Darwinism Stated by Himself; Before an Audience; and Saratoga Chips. He died Jan. 24, 1888, in New York city.

SHEPPERD, AUGUSTUS H., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born in Surry county, N. C. He served in the house of commons of North Carolina from 1822 to 1826; and was a representative in congress from 1829 to 1839, from 1841 to 1843, and again from 1847 to 1851.

SHERBURN, JOEL OSMAN, clergyman, legislator, was born Nov. 21, 1845, in Plainfield, Vt. For twenty-five years he has been a clergyman and presiding elder in the Vermont conference; now fills a pastorate in Williamstown, Vt.; and in 1882 he represented the town of Rochester in the Vermont state legislature.

SHERBURNE, JOHN HENRY, author, was born in 1794 in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a register of the navy in Washington; and the author of Osceola, a tragedy; Erratic Poems; Life of John Paul Jones; The Tourist's Guide in Europe; and A Suppressed History of the Administration of John Adams. He died in 1850 in Europe.

SHERBURNE, JOHN SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1757 in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1793 to 1797; and was United States district attorney in 1803; and judge of the United States district court from 1803 to 1830. He died Aug. 2, 1830, in Portsmouth, N. H.

SHERBURNE, MOSES, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Minnesota; and in 1853 was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for Minnesota.

SHEREDINE, UPTON, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1791 to 1793.

SHERIDAN, PHILIP HENRY, soldier, author, was born March 6, 1831, in Albany, N. Y. In 1853 he graduated from the United States Military academy.

During the civil war he attained high rank as a soldier; and for his gallantry was made a major-general in the United States regular army, in President Lincoln's words: For the personal gallantry, military skill, and just confidence in the courage and gallantry of your troops, displayed by you at Cedar Run, whereby, under the blessing of Providence, your routed army was reorganized, a great national disaster averted, and a brilliant victory achieved over the rebels for the third time in pitched battle within thirty days. In 1883 he became general-in-chief of the regular army. He died Aug. 5, 1888, in Nonquitt, Mass.; and the same year his Personal Memoirs were published.

SHERIDAN, WILLIAM E., actor, was born June 1, 1839, in Boston, Mass. He attained a national reputation through the world as a successful tragedian. He died May 31, 1887.

SHERMAN, ADRIAN C., legislator, was born March 20, 1846, in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. He served as a soldier for five years during the civil war; and for four years he was a member of the Kansas state legislature.

SHERMAN, ANTHONY S., railroad manager, financier, was born July 1, 1852, in Newport, R. I. For a quarter of a century he has been secretary and treasurer of the Newport and Wickford railroad.

SHERMAN, BUREN ROBINSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born May 28, 1836, in Phelps, N. Y. He received his education in the Union school of his native city, and the academy of Elmira, N. Y. During the war he served as captain in the thirteenth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry, and was severely wounded at the battle of Shiloh on April 6, 1862. He moved to Iowa in 1855, first to Tama county, thence in 1859 to Benton, where he resided at the time of his election as governor in 1881. He served with distinction as governor of Iowa; was re-elected and served until 1885. For several years he was a clerk of the district court of Benton county; then served as county judge; and for three terms during 1875-80 he was auditor of the state of Iowa; stepping directly from that position into the executive chair. His knowledge of the law, and his public services to the state admirably qualified him for the position of governor; and he was always found to be equal to great emergencies.

SHERMAN, CHARLES TAYLOR, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 3, 1811, in Norwalk, Conn. In 1866 he became one of the first government directors of the Union Pacific Railroad company; and in 1867 was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of Ohio. He died Jan. 1, 1879, in Cleveland, Ohio.

SHERMAN, EDWIN ALLEN, lawyer, was born Oct. 20, 1873, in Seattle, Wash. He received a thorough education in the public schools of Oakland, Cal.; and in private academies. He has attained success in the profession of law; is legal adviser for numerous corporations, political combinations, and fraternal organizations. He has filled various offices in bar associations and clubs; and although offered several important political positions has steadfastly declined in order to give his entire time to his professional duties.

SHERMAN, ELIJAH B., lawyer, legislator, was born June 18, 1832, in Fairfield, Vt. In 1876 he was elected a representative to the Illinois legislature and was re-elected in 1878; and in 1879 he was appointed one of the masters in chancery of the court of the United States.

SHERMAN, ELMER EMMETT, educator, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 7, 1861, in Fountain Green, Ill. He attended Howe's academy of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; the Laharpe seminary, Illinois; the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Keokuk, Iowa; and the Illinois Medical college of Chicago. For many years he was a teacher in graded and country schools, and actively engaged in institute work. He has always taken great interest in Sunday school work; has been president of several religious and literary societies, and furnished written work for conventions.

SHERMAN, FRANK DEMPSTER, educator, author, was born in 1860 in New York city. He is a lyricist of New York city; adjunct professor of architecture at Columbia college; and the author of Madrigals and Catches; Lyrics for a Lute; Little-Folk Lyrics; and New Waggings of Old Tales.

SHERMAN, HENRY, lawyer, author, was born March 6, 1808, in Albany, N. Y. He was a Hartford lawyer, author of An Analytical Digest of the Laws of Marine Insurance to the Present Time; The Gov- ernmental History of the United States; and Slavery in the United States. He died March 28, 1879, in Washington, D. C.

SHERMAN, J. W., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress.

SHERMAN, JAMES SCHOOLCRAFT, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 24, 1855, in Utica, N. Y. He received an academic and collegiate education, graduating from Hamilton college in the class of 1878; and was admitted to the bar in 1880, becoming a member of the firm of Cookinham and Sherman. He was elected mayor of Utica, N. Y., in 1884, as a republican, receiving a substantial majority in a democratic city. He was chairman of the republican state convention in Saratoga in 1895; and was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

SHERMAN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1772 in New Haven, Conn. He was a unitarian clergyman of Trenton Falls, N. Y., where he conducted an academy. From 1797 to 1805 he was a congregational minister at Mansfield, Conn., but resigned his charge on account of his becoming a unitarian. He was the author of One God in One Person Only, the first noteworthy defense of unitarianism in America; Philosophy of Language Illustrated; and A Description of Trenton Falls. He died Aug. 2, 1828, in Trenton Falls, N. Y.

SHERMAN, JOHN, lawyer, statesman, was born May 10, 1823, in Lancaster, Ohio. He is of Anglo-Saxon ancestry.

He received an academic education; studied law, and was admitted to the bar May 11, 1844. He was a delegate in the national whig conventions of 1848 and 1852, and presided over the first republican convention in Ohio in 1855. He was a representative in the thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses, and was the republican candidate for speaker in the winter of 1859-60. He was elected to the United States senate in March, 1861, and re-elected in 1866 and 1872. He was appointed secretary of the treasury in March, 1877, and served as such during President Hayes' administration; was again elected to the United States senate in 1880, and was re-elected in 1886 and 1892. He was president of the senate from 1885 till 1887; and resigned his seat in the senate to accept the position of secretary of state in President McKinley's cabinet. He is the author of Recollections of Forty Years in the House, Senate and Cabinet; and Selected Speeches and Reports on Taxation, 1859-78.

SHERMAN, ROBERT MINOT, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born May 22, 1773, in Woburn, Mass. He was a member of the Connecticut general assembly in 1798; and was a member of the state senate from 1814 to 1818. He was a judge of the superior court and the supreme court of errors from 1840 to 1842. He died Dec. 30, 1844, in Fairfield, Conn.

SHERMAN, ROGER, signer of the declaration of independence, was born April 19, 1721, in Newton, Mass. He was judge of the county, superior and supreme courts for a period of twenty-three years. He was a member of the first congress in 1774, and continued in congress for many years. He signed the declaration of independence in 1776, and also the articles of confederation and the constitution. After the adoption of the constitution of the United States, in regard to which he took a prominent part, he was elected a representative in congress from Connecticut. He was chosen a senator of the United States in 1791, continuing in that station until his death. He died July 23, 1793, in New Haven, Conn.

SHERMAN, SIDNEY, pioneer, was born in March, 1805, in Massachusetts. In 1839 he was elected major-general of the Texan republic; in 1842 he served in its congress; and in 1862-63 in the state legislature. He died in 1873 in Galveston, Texas.

SHERMAN, SOCRATES N., congressman, was born in Vermont. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress.

SHERMAN, THOMAS WEST, soldier, was born March 26, 1813, in Newport, R. I. He served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died March 16, 1879, in Newport, R. I.

SHERMAN, WILLIAM TECUMSEH, soldier, author, was born Feb. 8, 1820, in Mansfield, Ohio. In 1861 he was appointed a colonel of infantry in the United States army and commanded a brigade at Bull Run. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers, and had command of the Kentucky department. He was made major-general; and in 1864 made one of the most famous military marches of modern times, going from Atlanta to Savannah, with sixty thousand men, which great enterprise soon brought the war to a conclusion. He was made brigadier-general in the United States army in 1863, major-general in 1864, lieutenant-general in 1866, and general-in-chief of the army in 1869. In 1869 he was appointed secretary of war. A Memoir of His Life and Campaign has been published; and also his The Military Lessons of the War. He died in 1891.

SHERRICK, FANNIE I., poet, was born in St. Louis, Mo. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Star Dust.

SHERRILL, ELJAKIM, soldier, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1849. He served as an officer in the rebellion, and was killed at the battle of Gettysburg.

SHERRILL, JOSEPH E., journalist, clergyman, was born Jan. 19, 1852, in Putnam county, Ind. Since 1886 he has been proprietor of the Normal Publishing house of Danville, Ind.; and has attained prominence as an evangelist in the baptist church.

SHERROD, WILLIAM C., soldier, planter, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 17, 1835, in Courtland, Ala. He served in the state legislature of Alabama in 1859 and 1860; and was an officer in the confederate army during the civil war. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-first congress as a democrat.

SHERWIN, JOHN C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 8, 1838, in Saint Lawrence, N. Y. He was twice elected county clerk of Kane county, Ill.; and was city attorney of Aurora. He served three years in the union army during the war of the rebellion; and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a republican.

SHERWIN, THOMAS, educator, author, was born March 26, 1799, in Westmoreland, N. H. He was a noted educator of Boston, master of the high school in 1838-69, and author of treatises on algebra. He died July 23, 1869, in Dedham, Mass.

SHERWOOD, ADIEL, educator, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 3, 1791, in Fort Edward, N. Y. He was a baptist minister and educator of Georgia; and the author of Gazetteer of Georgia; Christian and Jewish Churches; and Notes on the New Testament. He died Aug. 18, 1879, in St. Louis, Mo.

SHERWOOD, MRS. EMILY [LEE], journalist, author, was born in 1843 in Indiana. She is a Washington journalist who has published Willis Peyton, a novel.

SHERWOOD, HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1817, in Bridgeport, Conn. He devoted himself to the practice of law during twenty-four years; and was elected to the forty-second congress as a democrat from Wellsborough, Pa. He has attained prominence as one of the foremost lawyers of Pennsylvania; is also noted as an eloquent speaker; and contributes valuable articles to the leading newspapers and magazines of the United States.

SHERWOOD, ISAAC R., soldier, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1835, in Stanford, N. Y. He established the Williams county Gazette of Bryan, Ohio; and in 1859 was elected probate judge of Williams county, which position he resigned to enter the army in 1861. He was commissioned major in 1863; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel in 1864; and commanded his regiment to the close of the war, receiving a brevet of brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious services. He edited the Toledo Commercial, and was an editorial writer on the Cleveland Leader. He was elected secretary of state for Ohio in 1868; and re-elected in 1870. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-third congress as a republican. He is the author of a volume entitled Army Gray-back, a book of humorous verse.

SHERWOOD, JAMES MANNING, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Sept. 29, 1814, in Fishkill, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman and editor of religious journals; and the author of A Plea for the Old Foundations; The History of the Cross; and Books and Authors. He died Oct. 22, 1890, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

SHERWOOD, JOHN D., author, was born Oct. 15, 1818, in Fishkill, N. Y. He was the author of Comic History of the United States; and The Case of Cuba. He died in 1891.

SHERWOOD, MRS. KATHERINE MARGARET, journalist, author, poet, was born Sept. 24, 1841, in Poland, Ohio. She is a poet and journalist of Canton, Ohio; and has been especially successful as a writer of army lyrics and poems for military occasions. She is the author of Camp Fire and Memorial Poems; and Columbia. Since 1882 she has been editor of the woman's department of the National Tribune, published at Washington, D. C., in the interest of the union soldiers.

SHERWOOD, MRS. MARY ELIZABETH [WILSON], author, was born about 1830 in Keene, N. H. She is a Washington novelist and miscellaneous writer; and the author of The Sarcasm of Destiny; A Transplanted Rose; Amenities of Home; Home Amusements; Manners and Social Usages; Royal Girls and Royal Courts; Sweet Brier; Roxobel; and The Art of Entertaining.

SHERWOOD, SAMUEL, lawyer, congressman, was a representative in congress from New York from 1813 to 1815. He died in November, 1862, in New York.

SHERWOOD, SAMUEL B., congressman, was born in Connecticut. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1817 to 1819. He died in 1833.

SHERWOOD, THOMAS ADIEL, lawyer, jurist, was born June 2, 1834, in Eatonton, Ga. In 1872 he was elected to the bench of the supreme court of the state of Missouri, served two successive terms of ten years, and was re-elected in 1892.

SHERZER, JANE BELLE, educator, was born Oct. 23, 1858, in Franklin, Ohio. She received her education in the public schools of her native city, and studied four years at the university of Michigan, receiving the degree of Ph. D. She also studied in Paris, and has traveled extensively through the principal countries of Europe, and in Egypt and Palestine. She is a successful public speaker, and the author of a series of articles on foreign travel.

SHEW, JOEL, physician, author, was born Nov. 13, 1816, in Providence, N. Y. He was a hydropathic physician of New York state, among whose writings are, Hydropathy, or the Water Cure; Cholera Treated by Water; and The Hydropathic Family Physician. He died Oct. 6, 1855, in Oyster Bay, N. Y.

SHIEL, GEORGE K., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born about 1815, in Ireland. He practiced law in Salem, Ore., during 1854-61. He was elected a representative from Oregon to the thirty-seventh congress. He died Dec. 14, 1893, in Salem, Ore.

SHIELDS, CHARLES WOODRUFF, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 4, 1825, in New Albany, Ind. He is a presbyterian clergyman, professor of the harmony of science and revealed religion at Princeton college from 1865, and active in behalf of church unity. He is the author of The Presbyterian Book of Common Prayer According to the Revision of the Westminster Divines; Philosophia Ultima, or Science of the Sciences; The Order of the Sciences; Religion and Science in Their Relations to Philosophy; Essays on Church Unity; The Historic Episcopate; The Question of Unity; and The United Church of the United States.

SHIELDS, EBENEZER J., congressman, was born in Georgia. He was elected a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1835 to 1839. He died May 20, 1846.

SHIELDS, JAMES, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1829 to 1831. He died in 1831 in Butler county, Ohio.

SHIELDS, JAMES, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, governor, United States senator, was born in 1810 in Ireland. In 1836 he was elected a member of the Illinois legislature; was elected auditor of the state in 1839; and in 1843 was appointed judge of the supreme court of Illinois. In 1845 he was appointed commissioner of the general land office in the department of the interior at Washington. At the commencement of the Mexican war he was appointed brigadier-general in the United States army; and was promoted to the rank of brevet major-general. In 1848 he was appointed governor of Oregon territory; and in 1849 was elected to a seat in the United States senate from the state of Illinois for the term of six years. He subsequently took up his residence in the territory of Minnesota; and in 1857 when it became a state, was elected to represent the same in the senate of the United States, in which position he served two years. He subsequently settled in Missouri; and was elected a United States senator from Missouri in 1879. He died June 1, 1879, in Ottumwa, Iowa.

SHIELDS, JOHN C., lawyer, jurist. In 1885 he was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona for the term of four years; resided at Prescott, Ariz.

SHIELDS, JOHN FRANKLIN, educator, was born June 25, 1868, in Chester, Pa. He received his education in the Pennsylvania State college and the university of Pennsylvania. He has attained success in educational work, and is now professor of mathematics in the Adelphi college of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a member of the American Mathematical society; and is mathematical censor for several leading publishers.

SHIELDS, MARY, philanthropist, was born Jan. 12, 1820, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was active in benevolent work, and bequeathed $1,400,000 for charitable purposes. She died Oct. 8, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SHIELDS, MRS. SARAH ANNIE [FROST], author. She is the author of Parlor Charades and Proverbs; Laws and By-Laws of American Society; The Art of Dressing Well; Almost a Woman; and Sunshine for Rainy Days.

SHIELDS, WILLIAM BAYARD, lawyer, jurist. He was an early emigrant to Mississippi; and in 1818 was appointed district judge of the United States court for the state of Mississippi.

SHIELDS, ROBERT, banker, poet, was born Nov. 21, 1825, in Edinburgh, Scotland. He is well versed in the Latin classics, and acquired a good knowledge of Latin, French and Greek, and a course in the higher mathematics. He was trained as a mechanical and civil engineer. He took part in the first surveys of the Milwaukee and Prairie du Chien railway, which is now known as the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. As locating and division engineer he remained with the road until its completion to the Mississippi in 1857, and subsequently did government surveying in Wisconsin. He was also two years engaged in railroad work in Ohio. In 1861 he organized the bank of Neenah, which four years later became the National bank of Neenah, of which he is president. He has been president of the city public library since its commencement. He is a member of the American Numismatic and Archaeological society, and also is a member of two historical societies. Mr. Shields is the author of a volume, The Story of the Token as Belonging to the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

SHILLABER, BENJAMIN PENHALLOW, journalist, author, was born July 12, 1814, in Portsmouth, N. H. He was a journalist of Boston, once widely known as a humorist, whose latest years were spent in Chelsea, Mass. He was the author of Life and Sayings of Mrs. Partington; Partingtonian Patchwork; Mrs. Partington's Mother Goose; Ike Partington Stories; Lines in Pleasant Places; Wide Swath, a volume of collected verse; Rhymes with Reason; Cruises with Captain Bob; and The Double-Runner Club. He died Nov. 25, 1890, in Chelsea, Mass.

SHIMEALL, RICHARD CUNNINGHAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1803 in New York city. He was an episcopal clergyman who adopted reformed Dutch tenets in 1834, and subsequently became a presbyterian. He was a noted biblical scholar of millenarian views. He was the author of The End of Prelacy; Christ's Second Coming; Prophetic Career and Destiny of Napoleon III; Unseen World; and Political Economy of Prophecy. He died March 19, 1874, in New York city.

SHIMER, FRANCES A. WOOD, college president, was born Aug. 31, 1826, in Milton, N. Y. She is the founder and president of the Mount Carroll seminary and Conservatory of Music of Mount Carroll, Ill., which institution she founded in 1852.

SHINDLER, MRS. MARY STANLEY BUNCE [PALMER] [DANA], poet, was born Feb. 15, 1810, in Beaufort, S. C. She was a once popular South Carolina verse-writer whose home was at Nacogdoches, Texas, after 1869. In 1844 she became a unitarian, and published the next year Letters on the Trinity. In 1848 she married her second husband, an episcopal clergyman, and was received into his church. She was the author of The Northern Harp; The Southern Harp; The Parted Family, and Other Poems; The Temperance Lyre; and several prose works, including Charles Martin, or the Young Patriot; The Young Sailor; Fore-castle Tom; and A Southerner Among the Spirits. She died in 1883.

SHINE, JOHN W., lawyer, was born April 8, 1864, in Middleton Center, Ontario, Canada. When about a year old his parents moved to Austin Port, Mich.; and he is now one of the foremost lawyers of that state at Sault Ste. Marie; and for two terms has served as its city attorney.

SHINN, ASA, clergyman, author, was born May 3, 1781, in New Jersey. He was a methodist protestant minister in Ohio; and the author of Essay on the Plan of Salvation; and Benevolence and Rectitude of the Supreme Being. He died in February, 1853, in Brattleboro, Vt.

SHINN, CHARLES HOWARD, author, was born in 1852 in Texas. He is a California writer who has published Mining Camps, a Study in American Frontier Government; and The Story of the Mine.

SHINN, EARL, journalist, author, was born in 1837 in Pennsylvania. He was a New York journalist, at one period art critic of The Nation; and the author of The New Hyperion; from Paris to Marly by Way of the Rhine; and Studies in Modern French Art.

SHINN, GEORGE WOLFE, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is an episcopal clergyman, rector of Grace church, Newton, Mass., from 1875; and the author of Friendly Talks About Marriage; Manual of the Prayer Book; Manna of Church History; Questions about Our Church; Questions that Trouble Beginners in Religion; Stories for Christmas Time; and Some Modern Substitutes for Christianity.

SHINN, WILLIAM N., farmer, congressman, was born in New Jersey. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1833 to 1837.

SHIPHERD, JOHN J., founder, was born March 28, 1802, in West Granville, N. Y. He was the founder of Oberlin college. He died in 1844.

SHIPHERD, ZEBULON R., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1813 to 1815. He died in Moriah, N. Y.

SHIPMAN, GEORGE ELIAS, physician, journalist, was born March 4, 1820, in New York city. In 1846 he removed to Chicago, where he soon had a large and lucrative practice. In 1865 he became editor of the United States Medical and Surgical Journal, and the next year published The Homœopathic Guide.

SHIPMAN, NATHANIEL, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1828, in Southbury, Conn. In 1851 he engaged in the practice of the law at Hartford, Conn.; was a representative in the state legislature in 1857; and was executive secretary of Governor William A. Buckingham from 1858 to 1862. In 1873 he was appointed United States district judge for the district of Connecticut.

SHIPP, ALBERT MICAHAH, clergyman, educator, author, was born Feb. 15, 1819, in Stokes county, N. C. He was a methodist clergyman and educator, professor of theology in Vanderbilt university from 1874, and the author of The History of Methodism in South Carolina. He died in 1887.

SHIPP, BERNARD, poet, was born April 30, 1813, near Natchez, Miss. He is a poet of Natchez, and subsequently of Louisville; and the author of Fame, and Other Poems; and Progress of Freedom, and Other Poems.

SHIPPEN, EDWARD, merchant, lawyer, jurist, was born July 9, 1703, in Boston, Mass. In 1744 he was elected mayor of Boston. In 1745, and for several years thereafter, he was one of the judges of the court of common pleas. In 1752 he moved to Lancaster, where he was appointed prothonotary, and continued such until 1778. He was a county judge under both the provincial and state governments. In early life he laid out and founded Shippensburg, Pa. In 1746-48 he was one of the founders of the college of New Jersey. He died Sept. 25, 1781, in Lancaster, Pa.

SHIPPEN, EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 16, 1729, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was judge of the admiralty court for the province; in 1791 was appointed judge of the supreme court, and in 1799 became chief justice. He died April 16, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SHIPPEN, RUSH RHEES, educator, clergyman, was born Jan. 18, 1828, in Meadville, Pa. He attended the Allegheny college and the Theological school of Meadville, Pa.; and for a while was engaged in educational work. During 1849-57 he was pastor of the First Unitarian church of Chicago, Ill.; and during 1858-71 of the Unity church of Worcester, Mass. Then for ten years he was secretary of the American Unitarian association. During 1881-95 he was a pastor of All Souls church of Washington, D. C.; and since November, 1895, has been pastor of the Unity church of Brockton, Mass.

SHIPPEN, WILLIAM, physician, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1712, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a member of the junta, and aided in founding the Pennsylvania hospital, of which he was the physician from 1753 till 1778, the Public academy, and its successor, the university of Pennsylvania, being chosen in 1749 one of the first trustees of the academy. In 1778 he was chosen by the assembly of Pennsylvania to the continental congress, and he was re-elected in 1779. He died Nov. 4, 1801, in Germantown, Pa.

SHIPPEN, WILLIAM, physician, lecturer, was born Oct. 21, 1736, in Philadelphia. In 1762 he entered on the practice of his profession in Philadelphia, Pa., and in the same year began the first course of lectures on anatomy that was ever delivered in this country. He died July 11, 1808, in Germantown, Pa.

SHIRAS, ALEXANDER EAKIN, soldier, was born Aug. 10, 1812, in Philadelphia, Pa. A large share of the credit for the manner in which the national armies were supplied during the civil war is due to him. At the close of the war he was brevetted brigadier-general and major-general, United States army. He died April 14, 1875, in Washington, D. C.

SHIRAS, GEORGE W., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 26, 1832, in Pittsburg, Pa. He practiced law successfully in Pittsburg till his appointment in 1892 as an associate justice of the United States supreme court.

SHIRAS, OLIVER P., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 22, 1833, in Pittsburg, Pa. He removed to Dubuque, Iowa, and was there admitted to the bar in 1856. He was aid-de-camp and judge advocate on the staff of General Herron in the army of the frontier during 1862 and 1863; and in 1882 was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of Iowa.

SHIRK, DAVID FRANKLIN, educator, was born July 10, 1859, in Carroll county, Ill. This popular educator has been principal of several large schools; county superintendent of public instruction of Dickinson county, Kan., and has contributed extensively to current literature on educational topics.

SHIRK, MILTON SMITH, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Nov. 29, 1818, in Butler county, Ohio. For sixty years he has been successfully engaged as a teacher in the various grades of school, and for fifty years he has been engaged in the ministry in various cities, and at the Coliseum Place Baptist church of New Orleans, La. He received his education in the Miami university and the Granville college, Ohio; and was a graduate of the Madison university of Hamilton, N. Y. He has been president of the Pearl River institute, president of the Amite Female seminary, Mississippi, and the Shreveport university, Louisiana.

SHIRLAW, WALTER, artist, was born Aug. 6, 1838, in Scotland. He first exhibited at the National academy in 1861, and subsequently decided to devote himself altogether to art. He was elected an academicien of the Chicago Academy of Design in 1868.

SHIRLEY, JOHN MILTON, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 16, 1831, in Sanbornton, N. H. He was a lawyer of Andover, N. H., and the author of The Early Jurisprudence of New Hampshire; Complete History of the Dartmouth College Case; and Reports of Cases in Supreme Judicial Court. He died May 21, 1887, in Andover, N. H.

SHIRLEY, MOSES GAGE, farmer, poet, was born May 15, 1865, in Goffstown, N. H. He is a farmer in the place of his nativity; and the author of A Book of Poems.

SHIRLEY, WILLIAM, soldier, governor, author, was born in 1693 in England. He was a noted colonial soldier who planned the conquest of Cape Breton, and was governor of Massachusetts in 1741-45. He was the author of Electra, a tragedy; The Birth of Hercules, a masque; Letter to the Duke of Newcastle, with Journal of the Siege of Louisburg; and The Conduct of General Shirley Briefly Stated. He died March 24, 1771, in Roxbury, Mass.

SHIVELY, BENJAMIN F., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born March 20, 1857, in St. Joseph county, Ind. During 1874-80 he taught school; and then engaged in journalism.

He was elected to the forty-eighth congress to fill a vacancy. He graduated in law from the Ann Arbor university with the class of 1886, and was admitted to the bar. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. In 1896 he was the democratic nominee for governor of Indiana.

SHOBER, FRANCIS E., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 12, 1831, in Salem, N. C. In 1853 he located in Salisbury, N. C. In 1862 he was elected to the state assembly as a conservative, and continued in that position until the close of the war. He subsequently served one session in the state senate, and was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-first and forty-second congresses. He was acting secretary of the United States senate from 1881 to 1883.

SHOCK, WILLIAM HENRY, naval officer, was born June 15, 1821, in Baltimore, Md. In January, 1845, he entered the United States naval service. He served under Commodore Perry during the Mexican war; and under Admiral Farragut during the civil war. In 1877 he was appointed engineer-in-chief of the United States navy; and retired in June, 1883 (age limit under the law) with rank of commodore. He is a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States; National Geographical society, American Society of Naval Engineers, Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, and the Philosophical society of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Steam Boilers, Their Design, Construction and Management.

SHOEMAKER, GEORGE WASHINGTON, inventor, was born Dec. 14, 1861, near Williamsport, Pa. Having mechanical ability, he made various improvements in his father's woolen mill, and in 1886 invented a ring-machine, by which wool-spinning may be carried on continuously.

SHOEMAKER, HENRY F., banker, railroad president, born March 28, 1845, in Pennsylvania. In 1887 he was elected president of the Mineral Range railroad, and in 1888 he bought a large interest in the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad, and later, with others, became one of the dominant spirits in the company and was made chairman of its executive committee. He has been successful in his undertakings and is now president of the Dayton and Union and the Cincinnati, Dayton and Ironton railroads. He was also at one time engaged in the mining of bituminous coal in the Kanawha valley, W. Va.

SHOEMAKER, JACOB W., educator, inventor, artist, author, was born April 18, 1842, in West Overton, Pa. He was the founder and president of the National School of Elocution and Oratory of Philadelphia, Pa., and died May 15, 1880.

SHOEMAKER, MRS. JACOB W., elocutionist, author. She is the wife of the late Jacob W. Shoemaker, the founder and president of the National School of Elocution and Oratory of Philadelphia, Pa., and since the death of her husband in 1880 she has continued the management of that institution.

SHOEMAKER, JOHN CHAPMAN, state senator, was born April 8, 1826, in Perry county, Ind. In 1868 he was elected a member of the lower house of the Indiana legislature, in which body he again brought into prominence the same practical views of legislation that so eminently distinguished him while a member of the senate.

SHOEMAKER, LAZARUS D., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1819, in Kingston, Pa. He graduated at Yale college in 1840, studied and practiced law in Wilkesbarre, Pa. He was a member of the state senate in 1866-68, and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-second and forty-third congresses as a republican, serving as chairman of the committee on revolutionary pensions, and on that of claims.

SHOEMAKER, MICHAEL MYERS, author, was born in 1853 in Kentucky. He is a writer of travels, and the author of Eastward to the Land of Morning; The Kingdom of the White Woman, a volume of Mexican travel; and Trans-Caspia: the Sealed Provinces of the Czar.

SHOEMAKER, WILLIAM LUKEN, physician, philologist, poet, was born July 19, 1823, in Georgetown, D. C. His poems, bird songs, translations from the German of Heine and others, are distinguished by rare perfection of form and melody. He is best known for his Sweetheart Bird Song, set to music by Balfe, the English composer. As a linguist and poet he holds a masterly rank.

SHOLES, CHARLES CLARK, journalist, state senator, was born Jan. 8, 1816, in Norwich, Conn. He settled in Kenosha, Wis., in 1847, of which place he was several times mayor, frequently represented Kenosha county both in the assembly and senate of the state, and in one session was chosen speaker of the former body. He died Oct. 5, 1867, in Kenosha, Wis.

SHOLLS, CHRISTOPHER LATHAM, journalist, inventor, was born Feb. 14, 1819, in Mooresburg, Pa. In addition to his work as a journalist, which has been his profession when not holding office, he has interested himself in inventions, the most important of which is the typewriting machine that was introduced through the firm of E. Remington and Sons. In 1873 this invention passed into the hands of the Remingtons for manufacture, since which time many minor improvements have been added to it, increasing its usefulness.

SHONK, GEORGE W., lawyer, congressman, was born April 26, 1850, in Plymouth, Pa. He was admitted to the bar of Luzerne county, Pa., in 1876, and has practiced his profession at Wilkesbarre since. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a republican.

SHORT, ALFRED, manufacturer, legislator, was born Jan. 1, 1847, in Sharon, Pa. He attended the Richburg academy, the Friendship academy, and the Alfred academy, in the state of New York. He is a successful manufacturer of North East, Pa.; has been mayor of his city, and president of the school board. In 1878-79 he served with distinction as a member of the state assembly of Pennsylvania.

In 1888 he was a delegate to the democratic national convention at St. Louis; and has always taken an active part in political affairs. He is president of the People's Savings institution of Erie county, and president of the Eureka Tempered Copper works of North East, Pa.

SHORT, CHARLES, college president, author, was born May 28, 1821, in Haverhill, Mass. In 1863 he became seventh president of the Kenyon college, and is the author of On the Order of Words in Attic-Greek Prose; and Mitchell's Ancient Geography. He died Dec. 24, 1886, in New York city.

SHORT, CHARLES WILKINS, botanist, was born Oct. 6, 1794, in Woodford county, Ky. In 1838 he moved to Louisville, Ky., where he was associated with several others in founding the medical department of the university of Louisville, and continued to hold a chair in that institution until 1849, when he retired. He then devoted himself to the collection of plants and flowers, and, with Dr. Robert Peter and Henry A. Griswold, prepared Plants of Kentucky. He died March 7, 1863, in Louisville, Ky.

SHORTALL, JOHN GEORGE, humanitarian, was born Sept. 20, 1838, in Ireland.

He entered upon the business of making records of abstracts of title to lands in Cook county, Ill. He did great service in the collection and preservation of his valuable abstracts of title. He is president of the Illinois Humane society, and is associated with the National and State Humane associations.

SHORTER, ELI S., lawyer, planter, congressman, was born March 15, 1823, in Monticello, Ga. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth congresses.

SHORTER, JAMES ALEXANDER, bishop, was born Feb. 4, 1817, in Washington, D. C. He was elected bishop of the African-American methodist episcopal church in 1868, and sent more fully to organize the church in the extreme southwest, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas. As president of the Missionary society of his church, he has succeeded in opening the work in Hayti and Africa, whither missionaries have been sent.

SHORTER, JOHN GILL, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, governor, was born in 1818 in Jasper county, Ga. He was for several years a state senator from Alabama. From 1855 to 1861 was circuit judge for his district. He was a member of the confederate congress, and was governor of Alabama from 1861 to 1863. He died May 29, 1872, in Eufaula, Ala.

SHOTWELL, AMBROSE MILTON, genealogist, educator, author, was born May 20, 1853, in Elba, N. Y. He has been a successful teacher in schools for the blind, and is now embosser of literature in the Michigan School for the Blind of Lansing. He is the author of Annals of Our Colonial Ancestors and Their Descendants; and other works.

SHOUP, FRANCIS ASBURY, soldier, clergyman, educator, author, born March 22, 1834, in Laurel, Ind. He was an episcopal clergyman and educator of Sewanee, Tenn., professor of metaphysics in the university of the South, and a confederate officer in the civil war. He was the author of Infantry Tactics; Artillery Division Drill; and Elements of Algebra. He died in 1896.

SHOUP, GEORGE L., soldier, merchant, governor, United States senator, was born June 15, 1836, in Kittanning, Pa. He enlisted in Captain Backus's independent company of scouts, and was soon thereafter commissioned second lieutenant, and was commissioned colonel of the third Colorado cavalry in 1864. He engaged in the mercantile business in Virginia City, Mont., in 1866, and during the same year established a business at Salmon City, Idaho; and since 1866 has been engaged in mining, stock raising, mercantile, and other business in Idaho. He was a member of the territorial legislature during the eighth and tenth sessions. He was United States commissioner for Idaho at the World's Cotton Centennial exposition at New Orleans, La., in 1884-85, and was again placed on the republican national committee in 1888, re-elected in 1892 and again in 1896. He was appointed governor of Idaho territory in 1889, which position he held until elected governor of the state of Idaho in 1890. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican in 1890, and was re-elected in 1895. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

SHOWALTER, JOSEPH B., educator, was born Feb. 11, 1851, near Smithfield, Pa. He taught school in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, and Illinois. He has filled numerous local offices in Chicora, Pa., and in his county and state. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

SHOWER, JACOB, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1853 to 1855.

SHRADY, JOHN, physician, author, was born March 13, 1830, in New York city, N. Y. He is a prominent lawyer of New York city, and is the author of Transactions; The Psychical Aspects of Insanity; The Shadow Line of Insanity; Signs of the Moribund Condition; and Two Hundred Years of Medicine.

SHREVE, HENRY MILLER, inventor, born Oct. 21, 1785, in Burlington county, N. J. In 1815 he ascended the Mississippi to Louisville in the Enterprise, the first steam vessel that ever performed that voyage, and subsequently he built the Washington on a plan of his own invention, with improvements that made it superior to Robert Fulton's boat. In 1817 his vessel made its first trip laden with passengers and freight, and demonstrated its superiority. When its success was thoroughly shown, Fulton and his associates, having the exclusive right to navigate all vessels propelled by fire and steam in the rivers of said territory, entered suit against him and seized his boats; but the case was decided in his favor. In 1826 he was appointed superintendent of western river improvements, which place he held until 1841. He died March 6, 1854, in St. Louis, Mo.

SHREVE, SAMUEL HENRY, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 2, 1829, in Trenton, N. J. He was a civil engineer of New York city, and the author of The Strength of Bridges and Roofs. He died Nov. 27, 1884, in New York city.

SHREVE, THOMAS H., journalist, author, poet, was born in 1808, in Alexandria, Va. He was a journalist of Louisville, and the author of Drayton, an American Tale; and Poems. He died Dec. 23, 1853, in Louisville, Ky.

SHRIVER, ALFRED JENKINS, lawyer, author, was born in 1867 in Baltimore, Md., where he has attained prominence as a successful lawyer. He received the degree of A. B. from the Johns Hopkins university, and LL. B. from the law school of the university of Maryland. He is the author of several monographs on legal subjects, which have attracted favorable attention.

SHUBRICK, WILLIAM BRADFORD, naval officer, was born Oct. 31, 1790, on Bull's Island, S. C. He served through the Mexican and civil wars, attaining for meritorious services the rank of rear-admiral. He died May 27, 1874, in Washington.

SHUCK, MRS. HENRIETTA [HALL], author, was born Oct. 28, 1817, in Kilmarnock, Va. She was the wife of a missionary in China; and the author of Scenes in China. She died Nov. 27, 1844, in Hong Kong, China.

SHUCK, WILLIAM ROBERT, lawyer, politician, was born July 15, 1864, in Arkansas. He studied law in the St. Louis Law school; was admitted to the bar in Houston, and has attained success in his profession at Eminence, Mo. He has been commissioner of his county; was elected prosecuting attorney in 1896; is a prominent democrat in politics; and has served two terms on the staff of the secretary of the Missouri senate.

SHUEY, MRS. LILLIAN HINNMAN, author, poet, was born March 22, 1853, in Toulon, Ill. She is a writer of Lorin, Cal.; the author of two prose works entitled Hilda, and Don Luis' Wife; and a volume of poems entitled California Sunshine.

SHUEY, WILLIAM JOHN, journalist, was born Feb. 9, 1827, in Miamisburg, Ohio. In 1866 he became sole agent, which position he has since occupied, of the United Brethren Publishing house of Dayton, Ohio.

SHUFELDT, ROBERT WILSON, naval officer, was born Feb. 21, 1832, in Red Hook, N. Y. He became a midshipman in 1839; served in the Mexican and civil wars; was promoted to rear-admiral in 1883; and retired the following year.

SHUFORD, ALONZO CRAIG, agriculturist, congressman, was born March 1, 1858, in Catawba county, N. C. He was made county lecturer and later district lecturer of the alliance; was elected delegate to the labor conference in St. Louis in 1892; and also delegate for the state at large to the populist convention in Omaha in the same year. He was elected vice-president of the state alliance in 1894; and was elected from North Carolina to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a populist.

SHULTZ, EMANUEL, manufacturer, state legislator, congressman, was born July 25, 1819, in Berks county, Pa. He was elected in 1875 a member of the Ohio state legislature and served two years; and was elected to the forty-seventh congress as a republican.

SHULTZ, JAMES, lawyer, was born in July, 1848, in Van Buren county, Iowa. He is one of the foremost lawyers of Kansas at Eureka; and prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

SHULTZ, JOSEPH S., educator, author, poet, was born March 13, 1863, in De Graff, Ohio. For many years he was professor of mathematics and English literature in Wilder college. He is the author of Observations in the Northwest; Looking Upward; and a number of meritorious poems.

SHULTZ, THEODORE, missionary, translator, was born Dec. 17, 1770, in Germany. He entered the foreign mission field of the Moravian church in 1799, and was sent to Surinam, South America, where he served seven years. He revised and improved a Dictionary, and translated a Harmony of the Gospels into the Arrawak language. He died Aug. 4, 1850, in Salem, N. C.

SHULZE, JOHN ANDREW, state legislator, governor, was born July 19, 1775, in Tulpehocken, Pa. He represented Lebanon county for several years in the state legislature; and was governor of Pennsylvania from 1823 to 1829. He died Nov. 19, 1852, in Lancaster, Pa.

SHUMWAY, FRANK L. was born Jan. 25, 1878, in Richmondville, N. Y. He has attained success as an educator; and resides in Normal Circle, Oneonta, N. Y.

SHUMWAY, HENRY COTTON, soldier, artist, was born July 4, 1807, in Middletown, Conn. For many years he followed his profession as a miniature-painter successfully in New York and other cities. Among the numerous eminent men that sat to him were Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, and Prince Napoleon, whose portraits he painted in 1838. He died May 6, 1884, in New York.

SHUNK, FRANCIS RAWN, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Aug. 7, 1778, in Trappe, Pa. He established himself for the practice of law in Pittsburg; and was governor of Pennsylvania from 1845 to 1848. He died July 30, 1848, in Harrisburg.

SHUPE, HENRY FOX, journalist, clergyman, was born March 18, 1860, in Scottsdale, Pa. In 1893 he was elected editor of The Watchword in Dayton, Ohio. He has been one of the most earnest advocates of the Christian Endeavor movement, and for several years served the cause as one of the vice-presidents of the Pennsylvania union.

SHURTLEFF, BENJAMIN, physician, philanthropist. He donated ten thousand dollars to the Baptist college of Upper Alton, Ill. The name of this institution was changed in 1835 to Shurtleff college in his honor.

SHURTLEFF, ERNEST WARBURTON, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 4, 1862, in Boston, Mass. He is a congregational clergyman and verse-writer of Plymouth, Mass.; and the author of Poems; Easter Gleams; Song of Hope; When I was a Child; and New Year's Peace.

SHURTLEFF, GEORGE AUGUSTUS, physician, author, was born Aug. 5, 1819, in Carver, Mass. In 1872 he was elected president of the State Medical society of California, holding this position until 1883. He is the author of Medical Jurisprudence of Insanity; The Obscure Forms of Epilepsy and the Responsibilities of Epileptics; and Suicide.

SHURTLEFF, NATHANIEL BRAD-STREET, antiquarian, author, was born June 29, 1810, in Boston, Mass. He was an antiquarian of Boston; and the author of Elements of Phrenology; A Perpetual Calendar of Old and New Style; Topographical Description of Boston; and Passengers of the Mayflower in 1620. With D. Pulsiter he edited The Records of the Colony of New Plymouth, in twelve volumes. He died Oct. 17, 1874, in Boston, Mass.

SHURTLEFF, ROSWELL MORSE, artist, was born June 14, 1838, in Rindge, N. H. His animal paintings first gained him distinction, and of these the best known are The Wolf at the Door, and A Race for Life. Among his later works in oil, most of which are scenes in the Adirondacks, are On the Alert; Autumn Gold; Gleams of Sunshine (1881); and A Song of Summer Woods.

SHUTE, SAMUEL, governor, was born in 1653 in England. During 1716-23 he was governor of Massachusetts. He died April 15, 1742, in England.

SHUTE, SAMUEL MOORE, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 24, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1859 he became professor of the English language and literature in Columbian university, Washington, D. C. He is the author of a Manual of Anglo-Saxon.

SHUTTER, MARION DANIEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 4, 1863, in New Philadelphia, Ohio. He has been pastor of the Olivet Baptist church of Minneapolis, Minn., and is now pastor of the First Universalist church of that city. He is the author of Wit and Humor of the Bible; Justice and Mercy; and Child of Nature.

SIBBET, S. D., physician, author, poet, was born in Northampton, Pa. For a quarter of a century he has divided his time between the practice of medicine and scientific researches in Beaver Falls, Pa. He is the author of a number of medical books, and a volume of poems.

SIBLER, WILHELM, clergyman, author, was born in 1801 in Prussia. He was a Lutheran clergyman of Missouri; and the author of Sermons on the Epistles and Gospels of the Christian Year.

SIBLER, WILLIAM BIENHAUSER, college president, was born Nov. 22, 1826, in New York city. In 1870-71 he was president of Albion college, New York city. He is the author of Progressive Lessons in Greek; Elementary Latin Grammar; A History of St. James Methodist Episcopal Church at Harlem, New York city; and Parallel Classics.

SIBLEY, FRANK J., lecturer, journalist, author, was born Aug. 11, 1847, in Royalton, N. Y. He received his education at Lockport academy, and has attained success as a temperance lecturer and author. In 1877 he was secretary of the prohibition New York state central committee, and of Kansas in 1880. During 1882-85 he was grand chief templar of Good Templars of Nebraska; and since 1893 has filled the same office for Georgia. During 1889-93 he organized a company and built the town of Demorest, Ga. He has founded various newspapers, and is the author of a number of works on Temperance.

SIBLEY, HENRY HASTINGS, soldier, congressman, governor, was born Feb. 20, 1811, in Detroit, Mich. He was a delegate to congress from Minnesota territory from 1849 to 1853. In 1857 he was elected its first governor; and was a brigadier-general of volunteers during the rebellion. He commanded an expedition against the Minnesota Indians in 1863; and was subsequently brevetted a major-general of volunteers. He died Feb. 18, 1891, in St. Paul, Minn.

SIBLEY, HIRAM, financier, was born Feb. 6, 1807, in North Adams, Mass. He was instrumental in obtaining from congress an appropriation in aid of Morse's experiments and interested himself in telegraphy from the beginning. His telegraphs eventually extended over thirteen states; were consolidated under the name of the Western Union Telegraph company, of which he was president for seventeen years. He became the largest owner of improved lands in the United States, owning the Burr Oaks farm of nearly forty thousand acres in Illinois; and the Howland Island farm of Cayuga, N. Y. He gave a one hundred thousand dollar building to hold a public library and the collections of the Rochester university; and various other sums were donated by him. He died July 12, 1888, in Rochester, N. Y.

SIBLEY, HIRAM LUTHER, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born May 4, 1836, in Gustavus, Ohio. For fourteen years he was judge of the court of common pleas of the seventh district of Ohio; and in 1897 became circuit judge of the fourth Ohio circuit for a term of six years. He has received the degrees of A. M. and LL. D., and is noted as one of the foremost lawyers of Ohio at Marietta.

SIBLEY, JOHN LANGDON, librarian, author, was born Dec. 29, 1804, in Union, Maine. He was the librarian of Harvard university in 1841-77; and the author of History of the Town of Union, Maine; and Biographical Sketches of Harvard University Graduates. He died Dec. 9, 1885, in Cambridge, Mass.

SIBLEY, JONAS, state legislator, congressman, was born March 17, 1762, in Sutton, Mass. From 1806 to 1823 he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature; was an elector for president in 1820; and served again in both houses of the legislature. He was a member of congress from Worcester county from 1823 to 1825. He died Feb. 10, 1834, in Sutton, Mass.

SIBLEY, JOSEPH C., manufacturer, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1850, in Friendship, N. Y. He is extensively engaged in farming and stock raising; is a manufacturer of lubricating and signal oils, and interested in various other manufacturing and business enterprises. He has been mayor of Franklin, Pa.; and president of the Pennsylvania State Dairymen's association. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the fifty-third congress; and in 1896 his name was put forward for the presidency of the United States by the silver party of the east.

SIBLEY, MARK HOPKINS, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1796 in Great Barrington, Mass. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1834 and 1835. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1839; and was subsequently a state senator; and in 1846 a county judge. He died Sept. 8, 1852, in Canandaigua, N. Y.

SIBLEY, SOLOMON, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1769, in Sutton, Mass. He moved to Detroit, Mich., in 1797; and in 1799 was elected to the first territorial legislature of the North-western territory. He was a delegate to congress from the territory of Michigan from 1820 to 1823; and in 1824 was appointed judge of the supreme court of Michigan, and held the office until 1836. He died April 4, 1846, in Detroit, Mich.

SICKEL, HORATIO GATES, soldier, was born April 2, 1817, in Belmont, Pa. He entered the United States service in 1861 as colonel of the third regiment of the Pennsylvania reserve corps, and succeeded General George G. Meade in the command of the brigade. He died April 18, 1896, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SICKLES, DANIEL EDGAR, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1823, in New York city. In 1847 he was elected to the assembly of New York, and in 1856 to the state senate. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-sixth congress. He served in the union army during the rebellion; lost a leg in battle, and attained the rank of major-general of volunteers. In 1866 he was appointed minister resident to the Netherlands, but declined. He was subsequently appointed a colonel in the regular army; and in 1867 was brevetted a major-general for gallant and meritorious services at Gettysburg. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

SICKLES, NICHOLAS, congressman, was born in Kinderhook, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from 1835 to 1837. He died May 13, 1845, in Kingston, N. Y.

SIDELL, WILL TECUMSEH, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 20, 1865, in Monroe county, Ohio. For many years he was engaged in educational work; and became superintendent of schools for Wetzel county, W. Va. He was also editor of the Wetzel Democrat for several years. He is now a prominent lawyer of New Martinsville, W. Va.; has been twice mayor of that city; and has been connected with a number of building and loan associations, and taken an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

SIDWELL, MILTON CRAVEN, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 16, 1855, in Overton county, Tenn. He has held the office of county surveyor of Clay county, Tenn.; was superintendent of public instruction for four years of Pickett county, and four years held the same position in Clay county, Tenn.; and attained success as an educator. He is a prominent lawyer of Celina, Tenn.; has held the position of special judge in five courts; has been attorney general pro tempore; and has taken a prominent part in politics. He stands high in Masonry; and is a member of several fraternal orders.

SIGEL, FRANZ, soldier, was born Nov. 18, 1824, in Germany. He served with distinction through the civil war, attaining the rank of brigadier-general.

SIGOURNEY, MRS. LYDIA HOWARD [HUNTLY], author, poet, was born Sept. 1, 1791, in Norwich, Conn. She was one of the most popular of the earlier American writers. She was nearly all her life a resident of Hartford. Among her prose writings are Myrtis; Post Meridian; Letters to My Pupils; Letters to Young Ladies; Traits of the Aborigines in America; and Letters of Life. Other Works are Pocahontas; Moral Pieces in Prose and Verse; Poetry for Children; and Zinzendorf, and Other Poems. She died June 10, 1865, in Hartford, Conn.

SIGSBEE, CHARLES D., naval officer, was born in the state of New York. During 1859-63 he attended the naval academy and served in the civil war in the west gulf squadron. He was in the battle of Mobile bay, and at both attacks at Fort Fisher; and in the final assault on same. In 1867 he was commissioned lieutenant, and lieutenant-commander in 1868. During 1869-71 he was on duty at the naval academy; and was promoted to commander in 1882. He was in command of the warship Maine, which was destroyed by a sub-marine mine in Havana harbor. He rendered important service during the Spanish-American war.

SIKES, MRS. OLIVE [LOGAN], actress, author, was born in 1841 in New York. She is an actress and author, popular at one period as a lecturer; and the author of Photographs of Paris Life; Chateau Frissac, or Home Scenes in France; John Morris's Money; Somebody's Stockings; Propos of Women and Theaters; Before the Footlights and Behind the Scenes; The Mimic World; Get Thee Behind Me, Satan; and They Met by Chance, a novel.

SIKES, WILLIAM WIRT, journalist, author, was born in 1836 in Watertown, N. Y. He was a journalist of New York city who was consul at Cardiff, Wales, in 1876-83; and the author of British Goblins; Welsh Folk-Lore; One Poor Girl; Rambles and Studies in Old South Wales; and Studies of Assassination. He died Aug. 19, 1883, in London, England.

SILKMAN, THEODORE HANNIBAL, lawyer, public official, was born March 25, 1858, in New York city. He received his education in Hooper's academy of Yonkers, N. Y. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar and has since practiced law continuously in New York city. He has been United States commissioner for the city of Yonkers; police commissioner for six years; and is now president of the board. He began a term of six years as surrogate of West Chester county, N. Y., in 1895.

SILL, EDWARD ROWLAND, educator, poet, was born April 29, 1841, in Windsor, Conn. He was a poet and educator of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and professor in the university of California in 1874-82. He was the author of The Hermitage, and Later Poems; and Poems. He died Feb. 27, 1887, in Cleveland, Ohio.

SILL, JOHN MAHELOM BERRY, educator, author, was born Nov. 23, 1831, in Black Rock, N. Y. He is a Michigan educator of prominence, principal of the State Normal school; and the author of Synthesis of the English Sentence; and Practical Lessons in English.

SILL, JOSHUA WOODROW, soldier, was born Dec. 6, 1831, in Chillicothe, Ohio. At the beginning of the civil war in April he at once offered his services to the governor of Ohio, and was commissioned assistant adjutant-general of that state. He was commissioned colonel of the thirty-third Ohio volunteers, and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He died Dec. 31, 1862, in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

SILL, THOMAS H., lawyer, congressman, was born in Connecticut. In 1826 he was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania to fill a vacancy; and was again a representative in congress from 1829 to 1831.

SILLIMAN, AUGUSTUS ELY, financier, author, was born April 11, 1807, in Newport, R. I. He was a banker of New York city who published A Gallop Among American Scenery. He died May 30, 1884, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

SILLIMAN, BENJAMIN, educator, naturalist, author, was born Aug. 8, 1779, in North Stratford, Conn. He was a chemist of distinction, professor of chemistry at Yale university in 1802-55; and the founder in 1818 of Silliman's Journal of Science and Art. He was the author of Journal of Travels in England; Narrative of a Visit to Europe (1853); Elements of Chemistry; and Consistency of Modern Geology with Sacred History. He died Nov. 24, 1864, in New Haven, Conn.

SILLIMAN, BENJAMIN, chemist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1816, in New Haven, Conn. He was a professor of chemistry at Yale university from 1846 until his death, and editor of Silliman's Journal. He was the author of First Principles of Chemistry; American Contributions to Chemistry; and Principles of Physics. He died Jan. 14, 1885, in New Haven, Conn.

SILLIMAN, BENJAMIN DOUGLAS, lawyer, state legislator, was born Sept. 14, 1805, in Newport, R. I. He was elected to the New York legislature in 1838. In 1865 he was appointed United States attorney for the eastern district of New York.

SILLIMAN, GOLD SELLECK, soldier, was born May 7, 1732, in Fairfield, Conn. At the beginning of the revolutionary war he was colonel of cavalry in the local militia. During the greater part of the war he held the rank of brigadier-general and was charged with the defense of the southwestern frontier of Connecticut, which, owing to the long occupation of New York city by the British, was a duty that required much vigilance. He died July 31, 1790, in Fairfield, Conn.

SILLOWAY, THOMAS WILLIAM, architect, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 7, 1828, in Newburyport, Mass. He is a Boston architect who became a universalist minister in 1862; and the author of Theognis; Text-Book of Modern Carpentry; Warming and Ventilation; and Cathedral Towns of England.

SILSBEE, MRS. MARIANNE CABOT [DEVEREUX], author, was born in 1812. She was a Boston writer who published A Half Century in Salem, and several compilations of poems. She died in 1889.

SILSBEE, NATHANIEL, merchant, congressman, United States senator, was born in 1773 in Essex county, Mass. He was frequently elected to the Massachusetts state legislature; and was for three years president of the state senate. He served as a representative in congress from 1816 to 1820; and was a senator of the United States from 1826 to 1835. He was a presidential elector in 1837. He died July 1, 1850, in Salem, Mass.

SILSBY, WILLIAM H., soldier, farmer, was born Aug. 31, 1832, in Union county, Pa. He served with distinction during the civil war in the union army. He was first lieutenant of company 1, and captain of company A, in the tenth regiment Iowa volunteer infantry; and was promoted to lieutenant and colonel of his regiment. He is now a successful farmer of Ashland, Oregon.

SILVER, THOMAS, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born June 17, 1830, in Greenwich, N. J. He was a civil engineer well known as an inventor; and the author of A Trip to the North Pole, or Theory of the Origin of Icebergs. He died April 12, 1888, in New York city.

SILVESTER, PETER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born in New York. He was a member of the Albany committee of safety in 1774; and of the New York provincial congress. He was a judge of the common pleas in 1776; and was elected a member of the first congress under the federal constitution. He was subsequently a state senator. He died Jan. 30, 1845, in Kinderhook, N. Y.

SILVESTER, PETER H., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 17, 1807, in Kinderhook, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1851.

SILVESTER, RICHARD WILLIAM, educator, agriculturist, was born Sept. 16, 1857, in Norfolk, Va. In 1877 he graduated from the Virginia Military institute. The same year he was elected professor of mathematics and military tactics at the Charlotte academy; in 1886 the chair of German was added to his duties; and in 1889 he was elected principal of the same institution. In 1890 he was elected president of the Maryland Agricultural college, and has since filled that position with distinction.

SIMKINS, ARTHUR, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, was born about 1750 in Virginia. At the beginning of the revolutionary war he took sides with the patriots, and his place, known as Cedar Fields, was burned by the tories. After the war he was chosen a member of the general assembly, and retained his seat for nearly twenty years. He died in 1826 in Edgefield, S. C.

SIMKINS, ELDRED, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1779, in Edgefield, S. C. He served frequently in the legislature; was lieutenant-governor of South Carolina in 1812; and was a general of militia. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1817 to 1821. He died in 1832 in Edgefield, S. C.

SIMMONS, F. M., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1854, in Jones county, S. C. In 1876 he moved to New Berne, N. C., where he has since resided and practiced his profession. He was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

SIMMONS, GEORGE A., state legislator, congressman, was born in 1771 in New Hampshire. He served a number of years in the assembly of New Hampshire; and was elected a representative from New Hampshire to the thirty-third and thirty-fourth congresses. He died Oct. 27, 1857, in Keesville, N. Y.

SIMMONS, GEORGE FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born March 24, 1814, in Boston, Mass. He was a well-known clergyman of Massachusetts, and the state of New York; and published a number of sermons and religious works. He died Sept. 5, 1855, in Concord, Mass.

SIMMONS, GUSTAVUS LINCOLN, surgeon, physician, author, was born March 13, 1832, in Hingham, Mass. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Sacramento, Cal.; and is the author of The Feigned Insanity of the Public Administrator and Murderer Troy Dye.

SIMMONS, JAMES, lawyer, author, was born June 11, 1821, in Middlebury, Vt. Besides filling several minor offices he was clerk of the county circuit court of Wisconsin from 1861 till 1871. He has published Simmons's Wisconsin Digest; Supplements to the same; Supplement to Wait's Digest, New York Reports; and Simmons's New Wisconsin Digest.

SIMMONS, JAMES FOWLER, farmer, manufacturer, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 10, 1795, in Little Compton, R. I. He was a member of the general assembly of Rhode Island from 1828 to 1841. He was elected to the United States senate in 1841 for six years to March 3, 1847; and was again chosen senator for the term beginning March 4, 1857. He died July 10, 1864, in Johnson, R. I.

SIMMONS, JAMES WRIGHT, poet, was born in South Carolina. He published Blue Beard, a Poem; and The Greek Girl. A series of metrical tales, Wood Notes from the West, remain in manuscript. Verses by both brothers may be found in Duyekinck's Cyclopædia of American Literature.

SIMMONS, P. R., business man, was born April 14, 1874, in Yankton, S. D. For many years he has been identified with the lumber business, and is prominent in the public affairs of Madison, Wis.

SIMMONS, THOMAS JEFFERSON, lawyer, jurist, was born June 25, 1837, in Crawford county, Ga. In 1871 and 1875 he was elected state senator from Georgia; in 1878 judge of the superior court; and in 1887 chief justice of the supreme court.

SIMMONS, WILLIAM HAYNE, poet, was born about 1875 in South Carolina. While in Charleston he published anonymously an Indian poem entitled Onea. He is also the author of A History of the Seminoles.

SIMMONS, WILLIAM JOHNSON, clergyman, author, was born June 29, 1849, in Charleston, S. C. He is a baptist minister of African birth who has published Men of Mark.

SIMMS, JEPHTHA ROOT, author, was born Dec. 31, 1807, in Canterbury, Conn. In 1829 he began the retail dry goods business in New York city; and three years later continued the business in Schoharie county, N. Y.

After 1842 he filled the office of toll collector, and for nine years was ticket agent. His spare hours were employed in collecting an assortment of fossils, which he sold for five thousand dollars to the state of New York for the Geological museum of Albany. He was a rapid writer and a voluminous contributor to current literature. He was the author of a History of Schoharie County; The American Spy, Nathan Hale; Trappers of New York; The Frontiersmen; and numerous lectures and poems. He died May 31, 1883, in Fort Plain, N. Y.

SIMMS, JOSEPH, physiognomist, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 3, 1833, in Plainfield Center, N. Y. He received his education at the academy of West Winfield, N. Y.; and has attained success and a world-wide reputation as a lecturer on physiognomy. During 1854-84 he delivered lectures in all parts of the world, his principal lecture being How to Rise in the World. He taught school in New York,

New Jersey, Wisconsin, and Illinois, later studied medicine and surgery, and practiced his profession for a short time. During 1854-84 he lectured on physiognomy and physiology with marked success in all parts of the world. He is the author of a Physiognomical Chart; Nature's Revelations of Character; Book of Scientific Lectures; Health and Character; Practical and Scientific Physiognomy; and other works.

SIMMS, WILLIAM E., congressman, was born in Kentucky. He was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-sixth congress.

SIMMS, WILLIAM GILMORE, author, poet, was born April 17, 1806, in Charleston, S. C. He was a voluminous romancer and verse-writer of Charleston. He was the author of The Partisan; The Yemassee; Guy Rivers; Martin Faber; Border Beagles; Beauchampe; and twelve volumes of verse: Atlantis; Lays of the Palmetto; and Areytos, or Songs and Ballads of the South. Other works of his include A History of South Carolina; and Lives of Marion, General Greene, Captain John Smith, and Chevalier Bayard. He died June 11, 1870, in Charleston, S. C.

SIMONDS, WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1822, in Charleston, Mass. He was a Boston journalist who was a very popular writer for young people; and the author of The Aimwell Stories; The Boys' Own Guide; and Boys' Book of Morals and Manners. He died July 7, 1859, in Winchester, Mass.

SIMONDS, WILLIAM EDGAR, soldier, lecturer, congressman, author, was born Nov. 25, 1841, in Collinsville, Conn. Since 1865 he has practiced law in Hartford, Conn. During 1884-93 he filled the lectureship on patent law in the Yale Law school; and for three years in 1891-93 filled the same chair in the Columbia university of Washington, D. C. In 1882 he was elected a member of the Connecticut state legislature; and in 1885 received the reelection and was made speaker. He was a member of the fifty-first congress in 1889-91; and was United States commissioner of patents in 1891-93. He is the author of Design Patents; Digest of Patent Office Decisions; Digest of Patent Cases; and Summary of Patent Law.

SIMONS, MICHAEL LAIRD, journalist, author, was born Sept. 7, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He edited Stodart's Review; condensed D'Aubigne's History of the Reformation; published Half-Hours with the Best Preachers; and continued Duyckinck's Cyclopædia of American Literature, adding about one hundred new names down to 1873. His last work is an extensive History of the World. He died Nov. 17, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SIMONS, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in 1792. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1843 to 1845. He died Jan. 13, 1847, in Bridgeport, Conn.

SIMONS, THOMAS, lawyer, was born Dec. 17, 1834, in Burmah. In 1865 he moved to New York city, and became assistant United States attorney, serving until 1875, when he was appointed an assistant attorney-general of the United States, residing at Washington.

SIMONS, THOMAS YOUNG, soldier, journalist, lawyer, state legislator, was born Oct. 1, 1828, in Charleston, S. C. In 1854-60 he was a member of the South Carolina legislature, and in the latter year a presidential elector. He was also a member of the convention that passed the ordinance of secession in December, 1860, and in the civil war he served as captain of the twenty-seventh South Carolina regiment, and later as judge-advocate. He died April 30, 1878, in Charleston, S. C.

SIMONSON, JOHN SMITH, soldier, was born June 2, 1796, in Uniontown, Pa. At the opening of the civil war he was made superintendent of the volunteer recruiting service at Indianapolis, Ind., and he continued on active military duty till 1869. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general United States army for long and faithful service. He died Dec. 5, 1881, in New Albany, Ind.

SIMONTON, CHARLES BRYSON, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1838, in Tipton county, Tenn. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1877 and 1878; and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

SIMONTON, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a member of congress from Pennsylvania from 1839 to 1843. He died May 18, 1846, in Hanover, Pa.

SIMPKINS, JOHN, state senator, congressman, was born June 27, 1862, in New Bedford, Mass. He served in the Massachusetts state senate in 1890 and 1891; and was a presidential elector for Harrison and Reid in 1892. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

SIMPSON, CHARLES WESLEY, journalist, was born Feb. 11, 1857, in De Witt county, Tex. In 1885 he graduated from the Southwestern university of Georgetown, Tex., and received the degree of A. M. He is the editor and owner of the Spokesman of Colorado, Tex. He has been county treasurer, postmaster, census enumerator, and filled various other public positions of trust.

SIMPSON, EDWARD, naval officer, author, was born March 3, 1824, in New York city. He was a naval officer of prominence, rear-admiral from 1884; and the author of Ordnance and Naval Gunnery; The Naval Mission to Europe; and Report of the Gun Foundry Board. He died Dec. 2, 1888, in Washington, D. C.

SIMPSON, GEORGE SEMMES, pioneer, was born May 7, 1818, in St. Louis, Mo. After various experiences in Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico he built the old fort in 1842 where the city of Pueblo now stands. He died Sept. 4, 1885, in Trinidad, Colo., and was buried in a tomb cut out of the solid rock on the summit of a mountain known as Simpson's Nest, where he had once found shelter from the Indians. A monument marks the spot.

SIMPSON, HARVEY S., railroad president, was born in 1854 in Laurens, S. C. Since 1891 he has been president of the Glenn Springs railroad, South Carolina.

SIMPSON, HENRY, author, was born in 1790 in Pennsylvania. He was a Philadelphia author who published Lives of Eminent Philadelphians. He died March 25, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SIMPSON, JAMES HERVEY, soldier, author, was born March 9, 1813, in New Jersey. He was a colonel of engineers and brevet brigadier-general in the United States army. He was the author of The Shortest Route to California; and Coronado's March in Search of the Seven Cities of Cibola. He died March 2, 1883, in St. Paul, Minn.

SIMPSON, JERRY, sailor, farmer, congressman, was born March 31, 1842, in New Brunswick. In 1878 he drifted to Kansas and is now living six miles from Medicine Lodge, Barber county, where he is engaged in farming and stock raising. He was elected to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses as a farmers' alliance candidate; and was nominated for the fifty-fourth congress, but was defeated at the election; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a demo-populist.

SIMPSON, JOSIAH, lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1812 he was appointed United States judge for the territory of Mississippi.

SIMPSON, MARCUS DE LAFAYETTE, soldier, was born Aug. 28, 1824, in Esperance, N. Y. During the civil war he served in the commissary-general's office, and he was brevetted colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general in 1865.

SIMPSON, MATTHEW, bishop, author, was born June 20, 1811, in Cadiz, Ohio. He was a methodist bishop famous as a pulpit orator; and the author of Lectures on Preaching; A Hundred Years of Methodism; Sermons; and Cyclopædia of Methodism. During 1839-49 he was president of the Indiana Asbury university, now called the De Panw university. He rendered vast services to the country during the civil war; was often sent for to visit Washington; and as early as 1861 he had suggested the necessity of an emancipation proclamation. He died June 18, 1884, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SIMPSON, RICHARD F., state senator, congressman, was born in South Carolina. He was a member of the senate of his native state; and was a representative in congress from South Carolina in 1843-47.

SIMPSON, W. D., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, governor, was born June 11, 1803, in Brunswick county, Va. In 1856 he was elected a representative in the South Carolina state legislature; and was re-elected. He was elected a state senator in 1860. He entered the confederate army as lieutenant-colonel on staff duty; and was afterward major and lieutenant-colonel in the line. In 1863 he was elected a representative in the confederate congress; and in 1868 was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-first congress. In 1876 he was elected lieutenant-governor of South Carolina; and was re-elected in 1878. In 1879 he became governor of the state by the election of Governor Hampton to the United States senate; and in that year was elected chief justice of the supreme court of the state for the term of six years from 1880.

SIMPSON, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, lawyer, scientist, author, was born Jan. 24, 1836, in Knox county, Tenn. He has been county surveyor of Roane and Loudon counties, Tenn.; for sixteen years a member of the magistrate's court of Loudon county; and for twenty-three years postmaster of Stockton. He is a noted scientist, and the author of A Common Sense Commentary on the Bible.

SIMS, ALEXANDER DROMGOOLE, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born June 11, 1803, in Brunswick county, Va. He served in the South Carolina state legislature in 1840 and 1842; and was a member of congress from South Carolina from 1845 to 1848. He died Nov. 11, 1848, in Kingstree, S. C.

SIMS, CHARLES N., clergyman, college president, author, was born May 18, 1835, in Union county, Ind. In 1860 he became president of Valparaiso college, Indiana; and in 1862 was appointed to a pastoral charge in Richmond, Ind. Since 1880 he has been chancellor of Syracuse university. In 1882 and 1883 he was appointed commissioner to the Onondaga Indian nation. He is the author of a Life of Thomas M. Eddy.

SIMS, CLIFFORD STANLEY, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 17, 1839, in Dauphin county, Pa. He was a lawyer of Arkansas, and latterly of New Jersey, whose principal work is The Origin and Signification of Scottish Surnames. He died in 1896.

SIMS, HARRY MARION, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 27, 1851, in Montgomery, Ala. He established himself in New York city, giving much attention to gynecology, on which subject he has lectured for several years before the New York polyclinic. He has prepared an American edition of Dr. Grailly Hewitt's work on Diseases of Women, with additions showing the later improvements in gynecology in this country.

SIMS, HENRY AUGUSTUS, architect, was born Dec. 22, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was long the secretary for foreign correspondence of the American Institute of Architects. He designed many city and country residences and, among other public buildings, the Columbia Avenue and Second Presbyterian churches in Philadelphia, the chapel at Mercersburg, Pa., the court-house at Hagerstown, Md., and the almshouse of Montgomery county, Pa. He died July 10, 1875, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SIMS, JAMES MARION, physician, surgeon, author, was born Jan. 25, 1813, in Lancaster county, S. C. He was a celebrated surgeon of New York city to whose influence is due the establishment of gynecology as a department of medicine; and the author of Clinical Notes on Uterine Surgery; Ovariectomy; and The Story of My Life. He died Nov. 13, 1883, in New York city.

SIMS, JAMES PEACOCK, architect, was born Nov. 15, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He designed, besides many private residences, the building of the Royal Insurance company, Christ church and Holy Trinity Memorial chapels, Philadelphia, and Christ church in Germantown. He died May 20, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SIMS, LEONARD H., congressman, was born in North Carolina. He was elected a representative in congress from Missouri from 1845 to 1847.

SIMS, THETUS WILLETTE, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born April 25, 1852, in Wayne county, Tenn. He was elected county superintendent of public instruction for Perry county, Tenn., in 1882, and held that office for two years. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

SIMS, WINFIELD SCOTT, inventor, was born April 6, 1844, in New York city. He was the first to apply electricity for the propulsion and guidance of movable torpedoes for harbor and coast defense. His torpedo is a submarine boat, with a cylindrical hull of copper and conical ends, supplied with a screw propeller and rudder.

SINCLAIR, BREVARD D., lawyer, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 31, 1859, in Charlotte, N. C. He graduated from the Mantua academy of Philadelphia, Pa., the Princeton university, and the Princeton Theological seminary. During 1877-84 he was a member of the bar of the supreme court of Ohio, North Carolina, and the United States supreme court at Washington, D. C. He then became a clergyman of the presbyterian church, and has filled pastorates in Fowlerville, N. Y.; Newburyport, Mass.; Seattle, Wash.; and now fills a pastorate in St. Mark's church of Yreka, Cal. He is the author of The Crowning Sin of the Age, and other works.

SINCLAIR, CARRIE BELL, poet, was born May 23, 1839, in Milledgeville, Ga. She is a verse writer of Philadelphia; and the author of Poems; and Heart Whispers, or Echoes of Song.

SINCLAIR, CHARLES E., lawyer, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Utah.

SINCLAIR, DANIEL, journalist, was born Jan. 12, 1833, in Scotland. For twenty years he was pastor of Winona, Minn., where he is the editor and owner of the Daily Republican.

SINCLAIR, EDGAR LAFAYETTE, educator, clergyman, was born Oct. 21, 1851, in Branch county, Mich. He attended the Leoni College of the United Brethren; the Olivet college; the Ohio Normal university, from which institution he graduated in 1874. For many years he was engaged in educational work, and became superintendent of schools. During 1879-81 he attended Albion college; has attained prominence as one of the leading clergymen in the methodist episcopal church of Michigan, and now fills a pastorate at Shelby.

SINCLAIR, JOSEPH F., manufacturer, was born May 28, 1847, in Nova Scotia. In 1863 he enlisted in the United States marine corps, and was honorably discharged from the Naval hospital of Brooklyn, N. Y., in May, 1865. In 1879 he moved to Washington territory; built the first saw-mill in Ballard, and in 1888 was president and manager of the same. In 1892 he became interested in the West Coast Mining and Iron company, of which he is still vice-president. In 1893 he was elected department commander of Washington and Alaska Grand Army of the Republic. He has filled various public offices in the gift of the people of Yakima City, Wash., and takes an active part in public affairs.

SINGER, ISAAC MERRITT, inventor, was born Oct. 27, 1811, in Oswego, N. Y. He was a machinist, and devoted himself entirely to the study of improving sewing-machines. After years of close application he succeeded in completing a single-thread, chain-stitch machine, for which he received a patent. He died July 23, 1875, in England.

SINGER, OTTO, musician, composer, was born July 26, 1833, in Germany. He was the author of The Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers; Festival Ode; and has contributed to periodicals articles on historical and æsthetic subjects. He died in January, 1894, in New York city.

SINGERLY, WILLIAM MISKEY, proprietor of The Philadelphia Record, was born Dec. 27, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1877 he bought The Philadelphia Record; and he brought the daily sales from 5,000 to more than 100,000 copies, and made the enterprise profitable. He died in 1898.

SINGISER, THEODORE F., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1845, in Churchtown, Pa. He was employed in the United States treasury at Washington from 1875 to 1879, when he was appointed receiver of public moneys at Oxford, Idaho. In 1880 he was appointed secretary of Idaho territory; was acting governor of the territory during the winter of 1881-82; and was elected the delegate from Idaho to the forty-eighth congress as a republican.

SINGLETON, JAMES W., lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 23, 1811, in Paxton, Va. He served six terms in the Illinois state legislature; and was elected a brigadier-general of state militia. He was president of the Quincy and Toledo, and Quincy, Alton and St. Louis railroads. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses as a democrat.

SINGLETON, OTHO R., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 14, 1814, in Jessamine county, Ky. He was two years in the lower house of the Mississippi legislature; and served six years in the state senate. He was a presidential elector in 1852; and was elected a representative from Mississippi to the thirty-third congress. He was also elected to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses. He joined the great rebellion in 1861, and served as a representative in the confederate congress from 1861 to 1865. In 1875 he was elected a representative to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses as a democrat.

SINGLETON, THOMAS D., congressman. He was elected to congress from South Carolina in 1833, and, while on his way to Washington to take his seat in December, died at Raleigh, N. C.

SINNICKSON, CLEMENT H., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1834, in Salem, N. J. In 1861 he raised a company of volunteers, and enlisted as captain in the fourth regiment of New Jersey volunteers. In 1874 he was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

SINNICKSON, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1745 in Salem county, N. J. He served in the revolutionary war at the battles of Trenton and Princeton in the capacity of captain; and was for many years a member of the council and assembly of New Jersey, and the presiding judge of the court of common pleas. He was a representative in the first congress, after the adoption of the constitution, from 1789 to 1791; and was again a representative in congress from 1797 to 1799. He was a presidential elector in 1801. He died May 15, 1817, in Salem, N. J.

SINNICKSON, THOMAS, merchant, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1786, in Salem, N. J. He was a judge of the court of common pleas for twenty years; was a member of the New Jersey legislature; and judge of the court of errors and appeals. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey during the years 1828 and 1829.

SIPE, WILLIAM ALLEN, lawyer, congressman, was born July 1, 1844, in Harrisonville, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Pittsburg, Pa. He was elected as a democrat to the fifty-second congress to fill a vacancy; and also elected to the fifty-third congress.

SISSON, ABNER, poet. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Common Sense Rhymes.

SITGREAVES, CHARLES, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 22, 1803, in Easton, Pa. He was a member of the New Jersey assembly in 1831 and 1833; in 1834 was a member of the legislative council; and was a member and president of the same in 1835. He was a member of the state senate from 1852 to 1854. In 1864 he was elected a representative from New Jersey to the thirty-ninth congress. He was mayor of Philipsburg in 1861, declining a re-election; was president of the Belvidere and Delaware Railroad company; and was president of the bank at Philipsburg. He was re-elected to the fortieth congress as a democrat.

SITGREAVES, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born about 1740 in New Berne, N. C. He was an officer in the war of the revolution; was a delegate to the continental congress from North Carolina from 1784 to 1785; and in 1790 was appointed attorney-general for that state. He soon afterwards was appointed judge of the United States district court for the district of North Carolina. He died March 4, 1802, in Halifax, N. C.

SITGREAVES, SAMUEL, lawyer, congressman, was born March 16, 1764, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1795 to 1798; and was then appointed commissioner to treat with Great Britain. He died April 4, 1824, in Easton, Pa.

SIVARTHA, ALESHA, author, was born May 16, 1834, in England. During 1859-78 he made discoveries of certain great laws in the constitution of man: That the thirty-six faculties are in twelve groups; that the institutions of society are a direct outgrowth of the mental faculties; and that each faculty creates wants of its own kind. He has also invented a universal language, the Visona, based upon the natural laws of sound, of thought and expression. These discoveries are embodied in The Book of Life, The Visona, and in The Historic Growth of Man.

SIVER, DATUS E., railroad president, was born Oct. 15, 1840, in Milford, N. Y. Since 1888 he has been president of the Cooperstown and Charlotte Valley railroad at Cooperstown, N. Y.

SIZER, NELSON, phrenologist, author, was born May 21, 1812, in Chester, Mass. He has been associate editor and editor of the Phrenological Journal, vice-president of the firm, and president of and teacher in the American Institute of Phrenology. As an author he has published books of great value, such as Forty Years in Phrenology; Choice of Pursuits; and How to Teach.

SKAGGS, ANDREW E., physician, poet, was born April 31, 1862, in New Castle county, Del. He attended the Baltimore Medical college, and the Veterinary Surgeon college. He has filled various public positions of trust in his native county; and is a prominent physician of Townsend. He has contributed many poems to the periodical press; and is widely known as the Poet of Delaware.

SKELTON, CHARLES, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1851 to 1855.

SKENE, ALEXANDER JOHNSTON CHALMERS, physician, author, was born June 17, 1837, in Scotland. He is a Brooklyn physician, professor of gynecology in Long Island College hospital from 1884; and the author of Diseases of the Bladder in Women; and Diseases of Women from the Standpoint of the Physician.

SKIDDY, WILLIAM, wheelwright, manufacturer, banker, was born in 1845, in New York city. He went to Russell's Military school in New Haven, Conn.; and at the breaking out of the war was detailed to assist in drilling three months' volunteers. In 1865 he graduated from Yale college. He subsequently started in business, became interested in mining, and in 1875 became connected with The Stamford Manufacturing company, one of the oldest concerns in the United States, being established in 1796, and of which corporation he is president. He is a director in several banks, and active in various organizations connected with Yale university. He was commissary-general of the state of Connecticut at one time; was a delegate to the national democratic conventions of 1884 and 1892; and has held various positions of honor in Stamford, Conn. He is a prominent member of the protestant episcopal church; and has been a delegate to the general conventions of that church held at Chicago, New York, Baltimore and Minneapolis.

SKILTON, JULIUS AUGUSTUS, physician, surgeon, author, was born June 29, 1833, in Troy, N. Y. He served in New York city during the draft riots, and was medical director of cavalry department of the southwest in 1864-65. In 1869 he was appointed United States consul at the city of Mexico, and in 1872 he was promoted to be consul-general, holding the office until 1878. Besides his annual reports he has published Mining Districts of Parhuca, Real del Monte, El Chico, and Star Rosa, State of Hidalgo, Republic of Mexico.

SKINNER, CHARLES MONTGOMERY, journalist, author, was born in 1852 in New York. He is a journalist of Brooklyn, associate editor of The Eagle; and the author of Villon and the Vagabond, and other plays; Myths and Legends of Our Own Land; and Nature in a City Yard.

SKINNER, CHARLES RUFUS, journalist, state legislator, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1844, in Union Square, N. Y. He was a member of the board of education of Watertown, N. Y., from 1875 to 1883; and was a member of the state house of representatives from 1877 to 1881. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-seventh congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the forty-eighth congress as a republican.

SKINNER, FREDERICK GUSTAVUS, soldier, journalist, author, was born March 11, 1814, in Annapolis, Md. He joined the staff of the Turf, Field and Farm in New York, and, as field editor of that journal, was instrumental in bringing about the first field trial, the first bench-show of dogs, and the first international gun-trial that was ever held in the United States.

SKINNER, HALCYON, inventor, was born March 6, 1824, in Mantua, Ohio. In 1874 he invented a power-loom for weaving moquette carpets, which had up to this date been woven entirely by hand.

SKINNER, HARRY, lawyer, congressman, was born May 25, 1855, in Perquimans county, N. C. In 1890 he was elected to the lower house of the North Carolina legislature. He has served as chairman of the democratic executive committee of his county, chairman of the democratic executive committee of the first congressional district, and on the state central committee. He is chairman of the populist executive committee of his county and on the state central committee; and is a trustee of the state university. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a populist.

SKINNER, HENRY, surgeon, entomologist, author, was born March 27, 1861, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected associate state entomologist of Pennsylvania in 1894; and since 1896 has been professor of entomology in the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, Pa. He is editor of the Entomological News, and has lectured extensively on that subject.

SKINNER, JOHN STUART, journalist, author, was born Feb. 12, 1788, in Maryland. He was the author of Nautical Education; Christmas Gift to Young Agriculturist; Agricultural Chemistry; and Youatt on the House. He died March 21, 1851, in Baltimore, Md.

SKINNER, OTIS AINSWORTH, clergyman, author, was born July 3, 1807, in Royalton, Vt. He was a universalist minister of Boston and elsewhere; and the author of Family Prayer Book; Sermons on Doctrinal Subjects; Universalism Defended; Letters on Revivals; and Moral Duties of Parents. He died Sept. 18, 1861, in Lapierville, Ill.

SKINNER, RICHARD, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born May 30, 1778, in Litchfield, Conn. He moved to Manchester, Vt.; he served in congress from 1813 to 1815; was elected a judge of the supreme court of Vermont in 1816; and became chief justice of that court in 1817. In 1818 he was elected to the lower branch of the legislature, and was speaker. He was governor of Vermont in 1820, 1821 and 1822; and was re-appointed chief justice in 1824. He died May 23, 1833, in Manchester, Vt.

SKINNER, THOMAS GREGORY, farmer, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 21, 1842, in Perquimans county, N. C. He was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-ninth and fifty-first congresses as a democrat.

SKINNER, THOMAS HARVEY, educator, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1791, in Harvey's Neck, N. C. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city, professor of sacred rhetoric in Union seminary in 1848-71; and the author of Religion of the Bible; Aids to Preaching and Hearing; Discussions in Theology; and Thoughts on Evangelizing the World. He died Feb. 1, 1871, in New York city.

SKINNER, THOMAS J., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1796 to 1799, and again from 1803 to 1804.

SKINNER, WELLS HAWKS, educator, author, was born Jan. 1, 1856, in Jefferson county, W. Va. He has been superintendent of city schools in various cities; and in 1895 was president of the Nebraska State Teachers' association. He is the author of Studies in Literature and Composition, and other works.

SLACK, JAMES RICHARD, educator, soldier, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 28, 1818, in Bucks county, Pa. He graduated from the academy of Newton, Pa., and in 1837 moved with his parents to Delaware county, Ind. He next entered educational work, and subsequently was admitted to the bar, and practiced his profession in Huntington. During 1842-51 he filled the office of county auditor; and for two terms was a member of the Indiana state senate. In 1858 he was again elected to the state senate and served four successive terms until 1861. He served in the civil war in the forty-seventh regiment of the Indiana volunteer infantry; was made brigadier-general in 1864; and major-general by brevet in 1866. In 1872 he was elected judge of the twenty-eighth judicial circuit of Indiana, and served in that office until his death on July 28, 1881.

SLADE, CHARLES, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Illinois from 1833 to 1834. He died in July, 1834, in Knox county, Ind.

SLADE, DANIEL DENISON, physician, scientist, author, was born May 10, 1823, in Boston, Mass. He attended the Boston Latin school and graduated from the Harvard university.

He was a physician and scientist, and professor of zoölogy at Harvard university from 1871. He was the author of Diphtheria: its Nature and Treatment; Twelve Days in the Saddle, a Journey in New England in 1883; and Evolution of Horticulture in New England. He died Feb. 11, 1896, in Chestnut Hill, Mass.

SLADE, EMMA M. R. H., was born Jan. 11, 1847, in Lowell, Mass. She is the founder and organizer and first president of the National Society of New England Women; the president of the United States Daughters of 1812 for New York, New Jersey and New England; and a prominent member of the Daughters of the Revolution.

SLADE, JAMES P., educator, college president, was born Feb. 9, 1837, in Westerlo, N. Y. This eminent educator is the state superintendent of public instruction of Illinois, and president of the Almira college.

SLADE, WILLIAM, journalist, lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, author, was born May 9, 1786, in Cornwall, Vt. In 1815 he was elected secretary of state of Vermont, which office he held eight years, during six of which he officiated as judge of the Addison county court. He was subsequently state's attorney for the same county. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1831 to 1843; and on his retirement from congress was elected reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Vermont. In 1844 he was chosen governor of Vermont; and was subsequently made secretary of the national board of popular education. In 1823 he published the Vermont State Papers; in 1825 the Statutes of Vermont; and in 1844 a volume of Vermont Reports. He died Jan. 18, 1859, in Middlebury, Vt.

SLAFTER, CARLOS, educator, author, was born July 21, 1825, in Thetford, Vt. He received his education at the Thetford academy, and in 1849 graduated from Dartmouth college. He taught one year in the Framingham academy; and for forty years, during 1852-92, was principal of the Dedham High school, Mass. In 1865 he was admitted to deacon's orders in the episcopal church; and for three years was chaplain of the county prison at Dedham. He is the author of a Compendium of English Grammar, several novels, and various addresses on patriotic, educational and historical subjects.

SLAFTER, EDMUND FARWELL, clergyman, author, was born May 30, 1816, in Norwich, Vt. For twenty years he was superintendent for the protestant episcopal church and the American Bible society; and since 1877 has devoted his time to historical studies. He is most noted for his Memorial of John Slafter, with genealogical account of his descendants.

SLAGLE, CHARLES W., merchant, philanthropist, was born March 11, 1828, in Hanover, Pa. He is distinguished as a successful merchant and philanthropist of Baltimore, Md.

SLATER, JAMES HARVEY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 28, 1826, in Sangamon county, Ill. He was a member of the Oregon territorial assembly in 1857 and 1858, and of the state assembly immediately after the admission of Oregon as a state. He was elected district attorney in 1866; and was a presidential elector in 1868. He was elected a representative from Oregon to the forty-second congress; and was elected a United States senator from Oregon for the term of six years from March 4, 1879. In 1887 he was appointed railroad commissioner for Oregon.

SLATER, JOHN FOX, philanthropist, was born March 4, 1815, in Slaterville, R. I. He was early interested in the cause of education, and gave liberally for the establishment of the Norwich free academy and other objects. In 1882 he placed in the hands of trustees $1,000,000, the interest of which is to be used for the education of freedmen in the south. He died May 7, 1884, in Norwich, Conn.

SLATER, WILLIAM ALBERT, philanthropist. In 1886 he transferred to the Norwich free academy a building costing one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which he erected in memory of his father, John Fox Slater.

SLAUGHTER, GABRIEL, soldier, farmer, state legislator, governor, was born in 1767 in Virginia. He was frequently a member of the Kentucky state legislature. At the battle of New Orleans he was chosen colonel of a Kentucky regiment, and received the thanks of the legislature. He was chosen lieutenant-governor, and, after the death of Governor Madison, was governor from 1816 to 1820. He died Sept. 9, 1830, in Mercer county, Ky.

SLAUGHTER, GUILFORD H., farmer, state senator, was born Aug. 29, 1828, in Hopkinsville, Ky. He was postmaster for twenty-five years; and for the same period was a justice of the peace. For two terms he served as a state senator.

SLAUGHTER, LINDA W., journalist, poet, was born Feb. 1, 1850, in Harrison county, Ohio. She is a writer of Bismarck, N. D.; and has been vice-president of the Woman's National Press association at Washington, D. C. She is the author of several prose works; and a volume of poems entitled Early Efforts.

SLAUGHTER, PHILIP, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 26, 1808, in Springfield, Va. He was an episcopal clergyman of Virginia, historiographer of the diocese; and the author of The Colonial Church in Virginia; and Man and Woman.

SLAUGHTER, WILLIAM BANK, lawyer, author, was born April 10, 1798, in Culpeper county, Va. He was a Wisconsin lawyer of note who published Reminiscences of Distinguished People I Have Met. He died July 21, 1879, in Madison, Wis.

SLAUGHTER, WILLIAM MONTGOMRIE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born July 25, 1833, near Waverly, Ohio. He received a liberal education at the public schools, and at Otterbein university, Ohio. In 1856 he was a representative in the Nebraska legislature; and in 1859 was a representative in the legislature of Jefferson Territory, now Colorado. In 1859-60 he was judge of appellate court, people's government of Denver. He also served with distinction in the Colorado legislature of 1862, and 1867-68. In 1870 he was chief clerk of the house of representatives, and has filled various other positions of honor. Since 1866 he has been continuously in the practice of law, and now resides at Loveland, Colo.

SLAYDEN, JAMES L., merchant, state legislator, congressman, was born June 1, 1853, in Graves county, Ky. He was a member of the twenty-third legislature of Texas in 1892; declined re-election; and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat. He has taken an active part in various debates on bills that affect the welfare of his state; and has served on numerous important committees. He is a successful cotton merchant of San Antonio, Texas.

SLAYMAKER, AMOS, soldier, congressman, was born March 11, 1755, in London Lands, Pa. He served as a soldier in the revolutionary army. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania during a part of the thirteenth congress to fill a vacancy. He died June 12, 1837, in Salisbury, Pa.

SLEAT, JOHN DRAKE, naval officer, was born in 1780, in New York city. In 1800 he entered the navy as sailing master, passed through all grades, and attained the rank of rear admiral. He died Nov. 28, 1867, in New Brighton, N. Y.

SLEEPER, DAVID L., lawyer, state legislator, was born June 15, 1856, in Iowa. During 1885-91 he was prosecuting attorney of Athens county, Ohio. He was elected as a republican to the seventy-first general assembly of Ohio; and re-elected to the seventy-second general assembly; and served as speaker of the house.

SLEEPER, JOHN SHERBURNE, journalist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1794, in Tyngsboro, Mass. He was a shipmaster and subsequently a journalist of Boston, editor of The Journal in 1834-54; and the author of Tales of the Ocean; Salt-Water Bubbles; Jack in the Forecastle; and Mark Rowland, a Tale of the Sea. He died Nov. 14, 1878, in Boston Highlands, Mass.

SLEEPER, WILLIAM TRUE, clergyman, poet, was born Feb. 9, 1819, in Danbury, N. H. He received his education in Exeter, N. H.; graduated from the university of Vermont in 1850; and three years later from the Andover Theological seminary. For four years he was chaplain of the reform school at Westboro, Mass.; and has filled pastorates at Patten, Sherman and Fort Fairfield, Maine; and for nineteen years at Worcester, Mass. He was supervisor of schools in Aroostook county, Maine, during 1870-72; was editor and founder of the North Star of Caribou, Maine; and the projector and president of the Aroostook River railroad. Since 1853 he has been engaged in the ministry, and has built five churches. He is the author of a volume of poems; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

SLEETH, JAMES M., jurist, state legislator, was born March 24, 1817, in Clarksburg, Va. He was nominated and elected state senator from Shelbyville, Ind., and served one long term of three sessions. He was chosen for the second time in 1851. In 1853 he was elected judge of the court of common pleas, which position he creditably filled for eight years. In 1869 he was again sent to the legislature, to represent the counties of Bartholomew and Shelby.

SLEMMER, ADAM J., soldier, was born in 1828, in Montgomery county, Pa. In 1850 he graduated from West Point; served in the Seminole, Mexican and civil wars. He attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862; and took an active part in the battle of Murfreesboro. From 1863 to the close of the war he served on an examining board as its president. He won the brevets of colonel and brigadier-general in the United States army in 1865; and spent the balance of his life in command at Fort Laramie, Kas., where he died Oct. 7, 1868.

SLEMONS, WILLIAM F., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1830, in Weakly county, Tenn. He entered the southern army in 1861, and remained in service until its close; and rose from lieutenant to brigadier-general, and commanded a division. After the war he was district attorney; and was elected a representative from Arkansas to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

SLENKER, MRS. EMMA [DRAKE], author, was born Dec. 23, 1827, in La Grange, N. Y. She is a writer living at Snowville, Va.; and the author of Studying the Bible: John's Way; The Darwins; Mary Jones; and Little Lessons for Little Folks.

SLEYSER, AARON L., photographer, poet, was born March 11, 1856, in Waupun, Wis. He is a successful photographer of Preston, Minn.; and the author of Howard Gray and Other Poems; and Hours of Pleasure, illustrated.

SLICER, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1801 in Annapolis, Md. He was a methodist clergyman, eight times chaplain of the United States senate; and the author of Appeal on Christian Baptism; and Discourse on Duelling. He died April 23, 1874, in Baltimore, Md.

SLIDELL, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, United States senator, was born about 1793 in New York city. He was appointed United States district attorney; and was frequently elected to the legislature of Louisiana. He was a representative in congress from 1843 to 1845; and while in congress was appointed minister to Mexico. In 1853 he was elected to the United States senate for the unexpired term of Senator Soule; and was re-elected for six years. He died July 29, 1871, in London, England.

SLIGH, JAMES ELISON, clergyman, journalist, lawyer, was born July 31, 1841, in Minden, La. He attended the Minden academy, and received a liberal education. He has been a successful clergyman, and pastor of churches in Greenville, Texas, and White Oaks, N. M. While in New Mexico he was an assayer in a mining camp, and subsequently studied law. Since 1890 he has practiced law in Shelton, Wash.; has been postmaster of his city for three years; and was the founder and editor of the Sentinel of that city.

SLINGERLAND, JOHN I., agriculturist, state legislator, congressman, was born March 1, 1804, in Albany county, N. Y. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1843; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1847 to 1849. He died Oct. 26, 1861, in Albany, N. Y.

SLOAN, A. SCOTT, lawyer, jurist, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1820 in Morrisville, N. Y. He moved to Wisconsin in 1854; was elected to the Wisconsin legislature in 1856; was appointed a circuit judge in 1858; and in 1860 was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-seventh congress.

SLOAN, ANDREW, lawyer, congressman, was born June 10, 1845, in McDonough, Ga. He moved to Savannah, and was appointed deputy collector of customs. He was appointed United States district attorney, and held the position until 1872. In 1872 he was elected a representative from Georgia to the forty-third congress.

SLOAN, CLAY, planter, state senator, was born Aug. 20, 1861, in Smithville, Ark. He has served with distinction as a member of the Arkansas state senate; and has filled the office of auditor of state.

SLOAN, GEORGE BEALE, merchant, state senator, was born June 20, 1831, in Oswego, N. Y. He strongly supported the cause of the union during the civil war, and was four times elected to represent his district in the state assembly, namely, in 1874, 1876, 1877 and 1879, and was, during two terms, chairman of the committee on ways and means, and one term speaker of the assembly. He was also three times elected to the state senate and served continuously from 1886 to 1891.

SLOAN, ITHAMAR C., lawyer, congressman, was born in Madison county, N. Y. He removed to Wisconsin in 1854; and in 1858 and 1860 was chosen district attorney of Rock county. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Wisconsin to the thirty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress.

SLOAN, JAMES, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1803 to 1809. He died in November, 1811, in New Jersey.

SLOAN, JOHN A., soldier, author, was born July 20, 1839, in Greensboro, N. C. He served in the civil war, attaining the rank of colonel. He is the author of a History of North Carolina in the War Between the States. He died in November, 1886, near Baltimore.

SLOAN, SAMUEL, architect, was born March 7, 1815, in Chester county, Pa. He was an architect of Philadelphia; and the author of City and Suburban Architecture; Constructive Architecture; The Model Architect; and Homestead Architecture. He died July 19, 1884, in Raleigh, N. C.

SLOAN, SAMUEL, railroad president, state senator, was born Dec. 25, 1819, in Ireland. He has served in the senate of the New York state legislature. He has been president of the Hudson River railroad, Michigan Central railroad, and various other railroads.

SLOAN, SAMUEL G., educator, clergyman, was born July 12, 1864, in Fulton county, Ill. For many years he was engaged in educational work as a teacher in the public schools and as a college professor. He has attained success as a clergyman in the baptist church, and now fills a pastorate in Pratt, Kas.

SLOANE, JAMES RENWICK WILSON, educator, college president, was born May 29, 1823, in Topsham, Vt. He was president of Richmond college, Ohio, in 1848-50; of Geneva college, in the same state, in 1851-56; and professor of systematic theology and homiletics in Alleghany Theological seminary from 1868 till his death. He died March 6, 1886, in Alleghany City, Pa.

SLOANE, JOHN, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1779 in York, Pa. He was elected a member of the Ohio general assembly in 1804 and 1805, and 1805 was speaker. He was a receiver of public moneys at Canton, Ohio, from 1808 to 1816; and was afterward at Wooster until 1819. He was a colonel of militia during the war of 1812. In 1819 he was elected to congress as a representative from Ohio, continuing a member until 1823. He was secretary of state for three years; and was treasurer of the United States under President Fillmore. He died May 15, 1856, in Wooster, Ohio.

SLOANE, JONATHAN, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He settled in Ohio; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1837.

SLOANE, RUSH RICHARD, lawyer, jurist, financier, was born Sept. 18, 1828, in Sandusky, Ohio. He was twice elected probate judge of Sandusky, Ohio. In 1879 the city of Sandusky made him mayor for a two years' term. Judge Sloane has been a promoter of railroad building in Ohio, and actually built the line between Columbus and Springfield.

SLOANE, THOMAS O'CONNOR, chemist, author, was born Nov. 24, 1851, in New York city. He is a chemist of New York city, on the editorial staff of The Scientific American; and the author of Home Experiments in Science; and Standard Electrical Dictionary.

SLOANE, WILLIAM MILLIGAN, educator, author, was born Nov. 12, 1850, in Richmond, Ohio. He is a professor of history at Columbia college; and the author of The French War and the Revolution; Life of James M'Cosh; and Life of Napoleon Bonaparte.

SLOAT, JOHN DRAKE, naval officer, was born in 1780, in New York city. He served in the war of 1812, and the Mexican and civil wars; attaining for meritorious services the rank of rear admiral. He died Nov. 28, 1867, in New Brighton, N. Y.

SLOCUM, ELLIOTT TRUAX, legislator, capitalist, was born May 15, 1839, in Trenton, Mich. In 1869 he was elected a state senator to the Michigan legislature. He is now one of the directors of the Union Trust company of Detroit.

SLOCUM, HENRY WARNER, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 24, 1827, in New York. In 1859

he was elected to the state legislature; and from 1859 to 1861 was instructor of artillery in the New York militia. When the rebellion broke out he was chosen colonel of the twenty-seventh regiment of New York volunteers; and before the close of 1861 was made brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1862 he was appointed a major-general. In 1868 he was chosen a presidential elector. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-first and forty-second congresses; and was also elected to the forty-eighth congress.

SLOCUM, JANE M., educator, lecturer, was born May 1, 1842, in Slocumville, N. Y. She has attained success in educational work; and has lectured extensively on social economics, social ethics, science of government, and current topics.

SLOCUM, JESSE, congressman. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1817 to 1820. He died Dec. 20, 1820, in Washington, D. C.

SLOCUM, WILLIAM F., clergyman, college president, was born July 29, 1851, in Grafton, Mass. This eminent congregational clergyman has been professor of philosophy and president of Colorado college since 1888.

SLOSS, JOSEPH H., soldier, lawyer, state legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 12, 1826, in Somerville, Ala. He was a member of the Illinois legislature in 1858. He returned to Alabama, and joined the confederate army, in which he served until the close of the war. He was elected mayor of Tusculumbia after the war, and continued in that office until 1870. He was elected a representative from Alabama to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

SLOSSON, MRS. ANNIE [TRUMBULL], author, was born in Connecticut. She is known as an entomologist whose specialty is the study of moths. She is the author of Aunt Liefy; Fishin' Jimmy; Seven Dreamers; The Heresy of Mehetabel Clark; Anna Malann; and The China Hunter's Club.

SLOUGH, JOHN P., soldier, state legislator, author, was born in 1829 in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio state legislature, from which he was expelled for striking a member during debate. In 1852 he was chosen secretary of the central democratic committee. He soon after went to Kansas; and in 1860 removed to Denver city, Colo. On the breaking out of the civil war he served with credit on the southwestern frontiers; and was made a brigadier-general and military governor at Alexandria, in Virginia. At the close of the war he was appointed chief justice of the territory of New Mexico. He died Dec. 16, 1867, in Santa Fe, N. M.

SLUTER, GEORGE LUDEWIG, clergyman, author, was born May 5, 1837, in Germany. He is a lutheran clergyman, pastor at Arlington, N. J., from 1881; and the author of History of Our Beloved Church; Life of Tiberius; and The Religion of Politics.

SMALL, MARION, soldier, educator, poet, was born July 8, 1846, in Whetstone, Ohio. He attended the Wesleyan university of Bloomington, Ill.; served as a soldier in the civil war; has been a successful teacher; has traveled extensively throughout the United States; and is the author of a number of meritorious poems. He is a manufacturer of medical articles in Indianapolis, Ind.

SMALL, ALVIN EDMOND, physician, educator, was born March 4, 1811, in Maine. In 1856 he removed to Chicago and entered at once into an extensive practice, which he continued till his death. Soon after his arrival in that city he was called to the chair of theory and practice in Hahnemann college, which he held for life. He died Dec. 29, 1866, in Chicago.

SMALL, ELWOOD ELDENNE, journalist, poet, was born July 22, 1869, in Marshall, Mich. He is a journalist of Valparaiso, Ind.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Rhymes with Reason and Without.

SMALL, MICHAEL PETER, soldier, was born Aug. 9, 1831, in Harrisburg, Pa. He became brevet colonel of United States volunteers, and brevet brigadier-general in 1865, for meritorious services in the subsistence department during the war. Since 1884 he has been purchasing and depot commissary at Baltimore, Md.

SMALL, WILLIAM B., congressman. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-third congress.

SMALLEY, DAVID A., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born April 6, 1809, in Middlebury, Vt. In 1842 he was elected from Vermont a state senator, and declined a re-election. In 1853 he was appointed collector of customs for Vermont; was a delegate to the Cincinnati convention of 1857; and in that year was appointed United States district judge for the district of Vermont.

SMALLEY, EUGENE VIRGIL, journalist, author, was born July 18, 1841, in Randolph, Ohio. He is a journalist of St. Paul; and the author of History of the Northern Pacific Railroad; and History of the Republican Party.

SMALLEY, FRANK, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Towanda, Pa. He has filled the chairs of geology, zoology and botany in the Syracuse university; and since 1881 has filled the chair of Latin language and literature in the same institution. He is the author of Latin Analysis; Latin Verse; Latin Etymology; Latin Hymns; and other works and translations.

SMALLEY, GEORGE WASHBURN, journalist, author, was born June 2, 1833, in Franklin, Mass. He is a noted journalist who was the London correspondent of the New York Tribune in 1867-95, and from 1895 American correspondent of the London Times. He is the author of London Letters, and Some Others; and Studies of Men.

SMALLEY, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1734, in Lebanon (now Columbia), Conn. He was a congregational clergyman, pastor at New Britain from 1758 till his death; and the author of National and Moral Inability; and Universal Salvation. He died June 1, 1820, in New Britain, Conn.

SMALLS, ROBERT, naval officer, state senator, congressman, was born April 5, 1829, in Beaufort, S. C. In 1868 he was a member of the South Carolina house of representatives; and he also filled the unexpired term in the state senate for two years. In 1872 he was re-elected to that position; and was made brigadier-general and afterwards major-general of state troops. In 1874 he was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses as a republican.

SMART, AMANDA J., poet, was born in 1830, in Thornton, N. H. She has written both prose and verse for the periodical press; and her poems have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

SMART, EPHRAIM K., lawyer, journalist, state senator, congressman, was born in 1813 in Prospect (now Searsport), Maine. In 1841 he was elected state senator from Maine; in 1842 was aid to the governor, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel; and was re-elected to the senate the same year. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1847 to 1849, and from 1851 to 1853. From 1853 to 1858 he was collector of customs at Belfast, Maine. In 1854 he established the Maine Free Press, and was its editor for three years; and in 1858 was again elected to the legislature.

SMART, MRS. HELEN HAMILTON [GARDENER], author, was born in 1853 in Virginia. She is a Boston novelist whose writings are mainly concerned with the furtherance of social reforms. She is the author of An Unofficial Patriot; Is This Your Son, My Lord?; Facts and Fictions of Life; Pray You, Sir, Whose Daughter?; Pushed by Unseen Hands; A Thoughtless Yes; and The Fortunes of Margaret Weld.

SMART, JAMES HENRY, educator, author, college president, was born Jan. 30, 1841, in Center Harbor, N. H. For thirty years he has been a member of the state board of education of Fort Wayne, Ind.; was thrice elected state superintendent of public instruction; and became president of Purdue university in 1883. He is the author of The Indiana Schools and the Men who Work in Them; a History of Institutions in the United States; and a series of valuable Indiana state educational reports.

SMART, JAMES S., soldier, journalist, congressman, was born June 14, 1842, in Baltimore, Md. In 1865 he took charge of the Washington County Post, published at Cambridge, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-third congress as a republican.

SMEAD, ISAAC DAVID, manufacturer, inventor, was born July 31, 1849, in Cole-raine, Mass. He received his education in the district schools, and in 1867 commenced the manufacture of heating and ventilating apparatus in Toledo, Ohio; has since continued in the business with great success; and is the president and superintendent of the Smead Furnace and Foundry company. He was a member of the board of managers of the Ohio penitentiary for four years, and was reappointed to that position for five years. He was commissioner of mechanics and machinery for the Ohio centennial exposition; and has served as colonel on the staff of Governor J. B. Foraker.

SMEAD, WESLEY, physician, philanthropist, author, was born Dec. 23, 1800, in Westchester county, N. Y. He founded in 1850 the Widows' home in Cincinnati, to which he gave $37,000, and gave liberally to every public charity that came to his notice. Besides essays on banking, he published Guide to Wealth, or Pathway to Health, Peace and Competence. He died Jan. 6, 1871, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

SMEDES, MRS. SUSAN [DABNEY], author, was born Aug. 10, 1840, in Raymond, Miss. She is a Mississippi writer now living in Washington, whose Memorials of a Southern Planter is much valued as an accurate picture of southern life.

SMEDLEY, SAMUEL LIGHTFOOT, contractor, author, was born Dec. 29, 1832, in Edgmont, Pa. In 1856 he plotted a district of West Philadelphia into streets, and soon after published the first complete atlas of Philadelphia, which became the standard authority for many years.

SMELT, DENNIS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Georgia from 1806 to 1811.

SMET, PETER JOHN DE, missionary, author, was born Dec. 31, 1801, in Belgium. He was the author of Oregon Missions and Travels; Western Missions and Missionaries; and the New Indian Sketches. He died Aug. 1, 1838, in Newton, Conn.

SMILIE, JOHN, state legislator, congressman, was born in 1741 in Ireland. He served in the legislature of Pennsylvania, his adopted state. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1793 to 1795, and again from 1799 to 1813. In 1797 he was a presidential elector. He died Dec. 30, 1813, in Washington, D. C.

SMILLIE, GEORGE HENRY, artist, was born Dec. 29, 1840, in New York city. He was elected an associate of the National academy in 1864, and an academician in 1882, and is also a member of the Water-color society. Among his works in oil are A Lake in the Woods; A Florida Lagoon; A Goat Pasture; Merrimack River; On the Massachusetts Coast; Summer Morning on Long Island; and Light and Shadow along Shore.

SMILLIE, JAMES, engraver, was born Nov. 23, 1807, in Edinburgh. Among his most noted works are copies of T. Cole's four pictures: The Voyage of Life; Dream of Arcadia; Harvesting; Mount Washington; and Rocky Mountains. He died Dec. 4, 1885, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

SMILLIE, JAMES DAVID, artist, was born Jan. 16, 1833, in New York city. He was one of the founders of the American Water-color society, and for five years its president; also one of the founders of the New York Etching club, of which he subsequently became president.

SMILLIE, NELLIE SHELDON JACOBS, artist, was born Sept. 14, 1854, in New York. Her works include Grandmother's Old Love Letters; When the Dew is on the Grass, in oil; Priscilla; Forgotten Strain; and Family Choir, in water-colors.

SMILLIE, WILLIAM CUNNING, engraver, was born Sept. 23, 1813, in England. He devoted himself to banknote engraving, and was connected with several firms which were ultimately merged in the American Bank Note company.

SMISER, BUTLER, journalist, author, poet, was born July 6, 1862, in Oldham county, Ky. He is editor and owner of The Indian Citizen of Atoka, I. T.; and has contributed both prose and verse to current literature.

SMITH, A. HERR, lawyer, congressman, was born March 7, 1815, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was elected to the house of representatives of Pennsylvania in 1843 and 1844; and in 1845 was elected to the state senate. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses as a republican.

SMITH, ABNER, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 4, 1843, in Orange, Mass. He is a judge of the circuit court of Cook county, Ill., and a man whose high attainments have placed him in the front rank of the representatives of the legal profession. His ancestors on both sides of the house figure prominently in the early history of this country. On graduating from Middlebury college in 1866 he became principal of Newton academy of Vermont, but resigned in 1868, when he came to Chicago to take up the study of his chosen profession. He was admitted to the bar in 1868 at Chicago, where he still resides, and enjoyed a large practice in the state and supreme courts till the fall of 1893, when he was nominated by the republican party for the circuit court judgeship and elected by an overwhelming majority. On the bench as well as at the bar he has made a record that will long command the respect of the people of Illinois. He also possesses great literary ability.

SMITH, ABNER C., lawyer, journalist, jurist, state senator, was born Feb. 14, 1814, in Vermont. In 1839 he moved to Michigan; was judge of the county court; judge of probate; and a state senator from Macomb county in 1845-46. He was the editor and publisher of the Macomb County Gazette; and also of the Ancient Landmark. He died Sept. 20, 1880, in Litchfield, Minn.

SMITH, ALAN PENNEMAN, physician, was born Feb. 3, 1840, in Baltimore, Md. He is connected with nearly all the hospitals of Baltimore as consulting physician or surgeon, and has performed the operation of lithotomy more than one hundred times, successfully in every instance.

SMITH, ALBERT, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 3, 1793, in Hanover, Mass. He was sent to the general court of Massachusetts in 1820. From 1830 to 1838 he was marshal of the United States for Maine. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1839 to 1841; and in 1842 was appointed United States commissioner to settle the northeastern boundary, under the Ashburton treaty, which business was completed in 1847. He died May 29, 1867, in Boston, Mass.

SMITH, ALBERT, state legislator, congressman, was born in New York. He was a member of the New York assembly from Genesee county in 1842; and was a representative in congress from New York from 1843 to 1847.

SMITH, ALFRED BAKER, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 17, 1825, in Massena, N. Y. He received his education at the St. Lawrence academy and Union college of Schenectady, N. Y. During the civil war he was a major in the one hundred and fiftieth regiment New York volunteer infantry; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and colonel of same; and brevetted brigadier-general by President Lincoln for gallant and meritorious services in Georgia and the Carolinas. He took part with his regiment in Gettysburg, and on every march and fight it was in; and commanded the regiment on its march to the sea. He has since become one of the leading lawyers of the east at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; has been its postmaster for eight years; and for thirty-eight years a member of the board of education.

SMITH, ALCOCK C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Kentucky. He moved to Washington territory, from which he was appointed a justice of the United States court for the territory of Idaho.

SMITH, ANDREW J., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 2, 1818, in Chillicothe, Ohio. In 1875-76 he was attorney general of Michigan; in 1878 was appointed judge of the second circuit to fill a vacancy from Cassopolis; and was re-elected to the same office in 1881 for six years.

SMITH, ANDREW JACKSON, soldier, was born April 28, 1815, in Bucks county, Pa. In 1838 he graduated from West Point; served with distinction in the Mexican and civil wars; and attained the brevet of major-general in the United States army.

SMITH, ANDREW ROBINSON GIDDING, physician, surgeon, state senator, was born in May, 1841, in Bridgton, Maine. He entered military service as hospital steward; was promoted assistant surgeon; and has since been United States examining surgeon in Whitefield, Maine. He has represented his town in the state legislature; and his district in the state senate for two sessions.

SMITH, ARTHUR, state legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 15, 1785, in Isle of Wight county, Va. He served with credit at the head of a militia force at Norfolk in 1812; was a member of the privy council of Virginia, and subsequently a member of the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from 1821 to 1825. He died March 30, 1853, in Virginia.

SMITH, ARTHUR DONALDSON, explorer, author, was born in 1864 in Pennsylvania. He is an African explorer; and the author of Through Unknown African Countries.

SMITH, ARTHUR E., poet, was born June 15, 1865, in Granville, N. Y. He is a writer of Belcher, N. Y.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Rural Legends and Lyrics.

SMITH, ASA DODGE, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 21, 1804, in Amherst, N. H. He was a presbyterian clergyman; and was president of Dartmouth college during 1863-77. He published several addresses and sermons. He died Aug. 16, 1877, in Hanover, N. H.

SMITH, ASHBEL, physician, diplomat, author, was born Aug. 13, 1805, in Hartford, Conn. He was a Texas politician and physician; and the author of Account of the Geography of Texas; and Permanent Identity of the Human Race. He died Jan. 21, 1886, in Harris county, Texas.

SMITH, ASHLEY AUBURN, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 28, 1871, in Auburn, Maine. He graduated from Tufts college; and now fills a pastorate in Gloucester, Mass. He is the author of a volume entitled Noble Thoughts for Noble Living.

SMITH, AUGUSTUS LEDYARD, business man, legislator, was born April 5, 1833, in Middletown, Conn. He graduated from the university of Middletown, and subsequently took a position as tutor in the university of Wisconsin at Madison. In 1856 he became connected with the office of school lands in Wisconsin, and with the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement company, and became its secretary and treasurer. In 1861 he accepted the professorship in the United States Naval academy of Annapolis, and was subsequently assigned to duty on the steam frigate Constitution. After the war he resumed his duties with the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement company, which was subsequently merged into the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company; and was continuously with that company until 1872. In 1870 Mr. Smith organized the First National bank of Appleton, and was its president for more than twenty years. In 1881 he was the leading spirit of the Appleton Edison Light company; and in 1894 was elected vice-president of the National Association of the Edison Illuminating companies. In 1866-67 he served as state senator in the Wisconsin legislature; and in 1870 was elected mayor of Appleton. Among the important measures in which he took a leading part was the reorganization of the State university; and while a member of the senate Governor Fairchild appointed him regent, which position he held for six successive years. In 1884 he received the nomination to congress; and was president of the Wisconsin board of World's Fair managers in 1891.

SMITH, AUGUSTUS WILLIAM, educator, author, was born May 12, 1802, in Newport, R. I. He was an educator who was professor of mathematics at Wesleyan university in 1831-51; and president of that institution from 1851. He was the author of Elementary Treatise on Mechanics. He died March 26, 1866, in Annapolis, Md.

SMITH, AZARIAH LAWRENCE, educator, clergyman, poet, was born Nov. 18, 1837, in Tompkins county, N. Y. For thirty years he was engaged in educational work as a teacher in the public schools. He has filled pastorates in several churches in Missouri, and for many years was pastor of the First Baptist church of Mattock, Iowa. He has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press, and some of his poems have been given a place in standard works.

SMITH, BALLARD, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1815 to 1821.

SMITH, BENJAMIN, state legislator, governor, was born in 1750 in Brunswick county, N. C. He was a member of the North Carolina state legislature in 1792; was a general of militia; and was governor of the state from 1810 to 1811. His life was one of many difficulties; was engaged in many duels; but is kindly remembered because of his donation of twenty thousand acres of land to the State university in 1789. He died Feb. 10, 1829, in Smithville, N. C.

SMITH, BENJAMIN BOSWORTH, bishop, was born June 13, 1794, in Bristol, R. I. In 1832 he became a protestant episcopal bishop of the diocese of Kentucky. His earliest work in the ministry was in Marblehead for two years, after which he became rector of St. George's church, Accomack county, Va., and two years later rector of Zion church, Charlestown, with charge of the church in Shepherdstown. He died May 31, 1884, in New York city.

SMITH, BENJAMIN WILSON, educator, clergyman, state legislator, was born Jan. 19, 1830, in Harrison county, Va. He is the senior member of a school supply firm of La Fayette, Ind.; and has served as a member of the Indiana state legislature for three terms.

SMITH, BERNARD, public official, congressman, was born in 1776 in Morristown, N. J. He was sent as a special bearer of dispatches to Europe; and was subsequently collector and postmaster at New Brunswick. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1819 to 1821; and during the latter year was appointed register of the land office in Arkansas, which office he held until his death. He died July 16, 1835, in Little Rock, Ark.

SMITH, BOARDMAN H., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1826, in Whitingham, Vt. He settled in New York; was appointed judge of the Chemung county courts in 1859, and elected to the same office in that year. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

SMITH, BUCKINGHAM, lawyer, diplomat, antiquarian, author, was born Oct. 31, 1810, in Cumberland Island, Ga. He was a Spanish-American scholar and antiquary of note; twice secretary of the United States legation at Mexico; and after 1859 a lawyer in Florida. Among his many publications are Grammatical Sketch of the Heve Language; Grammar of the Pima, or Nevome; and Narratives of the Career of Hernando de Soto in the Conquest of Florida. He died Jan. 5, 1871, in New York city.

SMITH, CALEB BLOOD, congressman, cabinet officer, was born April 16, 1808, in Boston, Mass. In 1832 he established and edited a whig journal called the Indiana Sentinel. In 1833 he was a member of the legislature; and also in 1834-36. He was a representative in congress from Indiana from 1843 to 1849; and was a presidential elector in 1840 and 1856. After leaving congress in 1849 he was appointed one of the members of the board for investigating the claims of American citizens against Mexico; and subsequently practiced his profession in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1861 he was appointed secretary of the interior department. He was a member of the peace congress held in Washington in 1861; and in 1862 was appointed judge of the United States district court for the district of Indiana. He died Jan. 8, 1864, in Indianapolis, Ind.

SMITH, CARL, journalist, poet. He was a successful journalist and on the staff of the Chicago Record. He was the author of a volume of poems entitled Where the Sun Goes Down. He was drowned in September, 1898.

SMITH, CARROLL EARLL, journalist, state legislator, was born Dec. 25, 1832, in Syracuse, N. Y. He was associate editor on the staff of the Syracuse Chronicle. In 1888 he was a member of the New York legislature; and in 1889-93 was postmaster of Syracuse, N. Y.

SMITH, CHARLES, bookseller, was born in 1768 in New York. He was a bookseller in New York city; translated plays for the stage from the German of Kotzebue and Schiller; and edited the Monthly Military Repository in 1796-97. He also published a Political Pocket Almanac in 1797. He died in 1808 in New York city.

SMITH, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 4, 1765, in Philadelphia, Pa. He became president judge in 1819 of the judicial district composed of the counties of Cumberland, Franklin and Adams; and in 1820 of the newly formed district court of Lancaster city and county. His later life was spent in Philadelphia. He was appointed by the legislature in 1810 to revise the laws of the state, and to frame a compilation of them, which he published with a Treatise on the Land Laws of Pennsylvania, in five volumes. He died March 18, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SMITH, CHARLES ADAM, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 25, 1809, in New York city. He was a lutheran clergyman of Rhinebeck, N. Y., and elsewhere. He was the author of The Catechumen's Guide; Men of the Olden Time; Before the Flood and After; Among the Lilies; Inlets and Outlets; Stoneridge, pastoral sketches; and Popular Exposition of the Gospels. He died Feb. 15, 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SMITH, CHARLES BROOKS, soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1844, in Wood county, W. Va. He enlisted in the union army at the age of nineteen years, and was mustered out in 1865. He was twice elected mayor of the city of Parkersburg; and in 1880 was elected sheriff and treasurer of the county of Wood, and served a term of four years; was delegate at large to the national republican convention at Chicago in 1888; and was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

SMITH, CHARLES EMORY, journalist, was born Feb. 18, 1842, in Mansfield, Conn. He became editor of the Albany Express in 1865, and of the Albany Journal in 1870, and since 1880 has conducted the Philadelphia Press. He was president of the New York State Press association in 1874, and delivered the annual address at its meeting. He was a regent of the university of the state of New York in 1879-80; and a delegate to the national republican conventions in 1876 and in 1888.

SMITH, CHARLES FERGUSON, soldier, was born April 24, 1807, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served at the military academy from 1829 till 1842 as assistant instructor of infantry tactics, adjutant, and as commandant of cadets and instructor of infantry tactics. He was with the army of General Zachary Taylor in the military occupation of Texas in 1845-46, and was placed in command of four companies of artillery, acting as infantry, which throughout the war that followed was famous as Smith's light battalion. He died April 25, 1862, in Savannah, Tenn.

SMITH, CHARLES FORSTER, educator, author, was born June 30, 1852, in Abbeville county, S. C. He graduated from the Wafford college, Harvard university, and Leipsic university. He has filled the chair of Greek in various institutions, and now fills that chair in the university of Wisconsin. He is the author of several books, and a number of philological and literary articles.

SMITH, CHARLES HENRY (Bill Arp), lawyer, journalist, author, was born June 15, 1826, in Lawrenceville, Ga. He is a lawyer and journalist of Rome, Ga., and well-known as a humorous contributor to The Atlanta Constitution. He is the author of Bill Arp's Letters; Bill Arp's Scrap Book; The Farm and the Fireside; A Side Show of the Southern Side of the War; and Georgia as a Colony and State in 1733-1893.

SMITH, CHARLES HENRY, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born Nov. 1, 1827, in Hollis, Maine. He has been successively lawyer, soldier, state senator, and army officer, and is now on the retired list of the United States army in Washington, D. C.

SMITH, CHARLES P., merchant, banker, state legislator, was born March 4, 1847, in Canada. He was educated in the public schools of Burlington; is president of the Burlington Savings bank; and in 1894 was elected a member of the Vermont house of representatives.

SMITH, CHARLES PERRIN, genealogist, was born Jan. 5, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. On attaining his majority he became proprietor and editor of The National Standard of Salem, N. J., and conducted it for eleven years. He served in the legislature of 1852, and filled numerous public positions. He was the author of a genealogy. He died Jan. 27, 1883, in Trenton, N. J.

SMITH, CHARLES SHALER, civil engineer, was born Jan. 26, 1836, in Pittsburg, Pa. He constructed the confederate states powder works, one of the largest that had then been built. In 1866 he organized the engineering firm which subsequently became the Baltimore Bridge company, of which he was president and chief engineer. He died Dec. 19, 1886, in St. Louis, Mo.

SMITH, CHESTER G., lawyer, orator, was born Dec. 31, 1870, in Frankfort, Mich. He received a thorough education in the graded and normal schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar at Utica, N. Y. He has a successful practice in Buffalo, N. Y.

SMITH, DABNEY HOWARD, state auditor, was born Nov. 24, 1821, near Georgetown, Ky. In 1849 he was elected to the Kentucky state legislature, and in 1853 he was elected state senator, without opposition, from the district composed of the counties of Scott and Fayette, the latter being the home of Henry Clay.

SMITH, DANIEL, United States senator, was born about 1740 in Fauquier county, Va. He was one of the earliest emigrants to Tennessee, and was a general of militia. He was a senator in congress from Tennessee during the year 1798, and was again a senator from 1805 to 1809. He died in July, 1818.

SMITH, DANIEL, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 16, 1806, in Salisbury, Conn. He was a methodist clergyman of New York state, and very active in the temperance cause. He was the author of Wisdom in Miniature; Gems of Female Biography; Anecdotes for the Young; Teachers' Assistants; Lectures to Young Men; Book of Manners; and Anecdotes of the Christian Ministry. He died June 23, 1852, in Kingston, N. Y.

SMITH, DAVID HIGHBAUGH, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 19, 1854, in Hart county, Ky. He has been practicing law since 1876, and was elected county attorney for Larue county in 1878, for the term of four years. He was elected superintendent of common schools for Larue county in 1878. In 1881 he was elected to represent Larue county in the house of representatives of the general assembly for two years, and in 1885 was elected to the state senate for the term of four years, and re-elected in 1889. At the first meeting of the senate he was elected for the term of two years, at the end of which term he was again elected for a second term of two years, and was president of the senate. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

SMITH, DAVID M., inventor, state legislator, was born in 1809, in Hartland, Vt. The awl-haft as manufactured by him was similar if not identical with the one now known as the Aiken awl. In 1840-41 he represented the town of Gilsom in the New Hampshire legislature, after which he removed to Springfield, Vt. He patented a combination-lock in 1849, of which an English expert named Hobbs, who had opened all the locks that were brought to him in London, said, It cannot be picked. He died Nov. 10, 1881, in Springfield, Vt.

SMITH, DELAZON, journalist, United States senator, was born Oct. 5, 1816, in New Berlin, N. Y. He studied law, became a writer for the press, and was associated with the Rochester True Jeffersonian and the Western Empire of Dayton, Ohio. In 1846 he removed to Iowa territory, where he remained until 1852, when he moved to Oregon territory. In 1854 he was elected to the assembly of Oregon, and was re-elected in 1855 and 1856. In 1857 he was a member of the convention which framed a state constitution, and in 1858 was chosen one of the senators in congress for the prospective state, and took his seat as such in 1859. He was also the editor of the Oregon Democrat. He died Nov. 17, 1860, in Portland, Ore.

SMITH, DEXTER, author, poet, was born in 1842 in Salem, Mass. More than one thousand poems from the pen of this poet have been set to music, and some of his songs have attained circulations running well into millions of copies, notably the lyrics, Ring the Bell Softly, There's Crape on the Door; Cross and Crown; Put Me in My Little Bed; Darling Minnie Lee; and others. Ring the Bell Softly has been translated into several foreign languages. Since 1865 he has edited continuously various musical journals, among them the Orpheus and the Boston Musical Record, which he now conducts. A volume of his poems appeared in 1867.

SMITH, DIETRICH C., soldier, manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born April 4, 1840, in Hanover. He entered the union army in 1861, and served throughout the war, attaining the rank of captain. He engaged in banking and manufacturing in Pekin, Ill.; was a representative in the legislature of Illinois, and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-seventh congress.

SMITH, EDWARD DELAFIELD, lawyer, author, poet, was born May 8, 1826, in Rochester, N. Y. He was a lawyer of New York city, and the author of Avidæ, a poem; Destiny, a poem; Oratory, a poem; Reports of Cases in the New York Court of Common Pleas; and Addresses to Juries in Slave Trade Trials. He died April 13, 1878, in Shrewsbury, N. J.

SMITH, EDWARD HENRY, farmer, congressman, was born in 1809, in Smithtown, N. Y. In 1860 he was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress.

SMITH, EDWARD M., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 6, 1838, in Alstead, N. H. He received a thorough education, attended the academy of Alstead; and in 1860 graduated from the Albany Law school, New York. He has attained success in the profession of law; is one of the foremost lawyers of New England, and still practices in the city of his nativity. He has served with distinction as a member of the New Hampshire state legislature; was superintendent of the school committee for twelve years; has been tax collector for eleven years; and is moderator of Alstead, N. H. He is prominent in the public affairs of his city, county and state; and an active member in several fraternal orders.

SMITH, EDWARD M., railroad president, was born Jan. 5, 1854, in St. Albans, Vt. Since 1896 he has been president of the Central Vermont railroad.

SMITH, EDWARD PARMELEE, clergyman, college president, was born June 3, 1827, in South Britain, Conn. In 1871 he was appointed an Indian agent among the Chippewas in Minnesota; in 1873 he was appointed commissioner of Indian affairs, and in 1875 was appointed president of Howard university. He died June 15, 1876, in Africa.

SMITH, EDWIN BRADBURY, lawyer, state legislator, was born in October, 1832, in Kennebunkport, Maine. He practiced law in Saco, Maine; frequently served in the state legislature, and was chosen speaker in 1871. He was subsequently the official reporter of the supreme court, and in 1875 was appointed first assistant in the office of the attorney-general of the United States.

SMITH, ELDRIDGE, soldier, poet. He served with distinction as a colonel in the United States army during the civil war; and took part in the defence of Baltimore during the raid of General Early in 1864. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled Songs of the Morning. His wife is also the author of a volume of poems entitled Beautiful Builders.

SMITH, ELI, missionary, author, was born Sept. 13, 1801, in Northfield, Conn. He was a congregational missionary at Beirut, and the author of Missionary Researches in Armenia; and an Arabic translation of the Bible. He died Jan. 11, 1857, in Syria.

SMITH, ELI N., lawyer, was born April 24, 1844, in Woodsfield, Ohio. He received a thorough education, and has attained eminence as a successful criminal lawyer of El Dorado, Kan. He has been prosecuting attorney, mayor of his city, and takes a prominent part in public affairs.

SMITH, ELIAS, clergyman, author, was born June 17, 1769, in Lyme, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Massachusetts, and the author of The Clergyman's Looking-Glass; History of Anti-Christ; and Sermons on the Prophecies. He died June 29, 1846, in Lynn, Mass.

SMITH, ELIHU HUBBARD, physician, author, poet, was born Sept. 4, 1771, in Litchfield, Conn. He was a physician and poet of New York city. He was the author of Edwin and Angelina, an opera; and American Poems, Original and Selected. He died Dec. 19, 1798, in New York city.

SMITH, ELIJAH, railroad president, was born April 23, 1840, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been president of the Oregon Improvement company; and has also been president of the Detroit, Hillsdale and South-Western railroad.

SMITH, MRS. ELIZABETH OAKES, author, poet, was born Aug. 12, 1806, in North Yarmouth, Maine. She was a prominent writer of prose and poetry, and was the first woman lecturer in America. Her later years were passed in Hollywood, S. C. Among her many works are, The Sinless Child, and Other Poems; The Newsboy, which first directed public attention to a hitherto neglected class; Riches Without Wings; Old New York, or Jacob Leisler, a tragedy; Woman and Her Needs; Bertha and Lily; and The Western Captive. She died in 1893.

SMITH, EMMETT WERTER, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 1, 1866, in Sexton, Texas. In 1888 he graduated with honors from the Southwestern university; was principal of the high school in East Texas for three years, and in 1892 graduated from the law department of the university of Texas. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Nacogdoches, Texas, where he is also associate editor of The Star-News. He is the author of a number of articles on various topics, which have appeared in current literature.

SMITH, ERASMUS DARWIN, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 10, 1806, in De Ruyter, N. Y. He became a master in chancery in 1832, and was a justice of the supreme court of New York from 1855 till 1877, when he was retired on account of age. He served on the court of appeals in 1862 and 1870, and was general term justice in 1872-77. He died Nov. 11, 1883, in Rochester, N. Y.

SMITH, ERASMUS PESHINE, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 2, 1814, in New York city. He was a jurist and political economist; and the author of Manual of Political Economy. He died Oct. 21, 1882, in Rochester, N. Y.

SMITH, MRS. ERMINNIE ADELLE, scientist, author, was born Feb. 26, 1836, in Marcellus, N. Y. She was an ethnologist who published an Iroquois-English dictionary. She died June 9, 1886, in Jersey City, N. J.

SMITH, ETHAN, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 19, 1762, in Belchertown, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman and city missionary of Boston in 1832-49. He was the author of A View of the Trinity; and A View of the Hebrews, in which the origin of the American Indians was traced to the ten tribes of Israel. He died Aug. 29, 1849, in Pompey, N. Y.

SMITH, EUGENE ALLEN, educator, geologist, was born Oct. 27, 1841, in Alabama. He has attained eminence as a noted geologist; and is connected with the university of Alabama.

SMITH, MRS. EUGENIA M., author, was born in 1852 in Vermont. She is a writer of Dubuque, Iowa, and the author of Winsome but Wicked; The Parson's Sin; and Our Money-Makers, a poultry book.

SMITH, MRS. EVA MUNSON, composer, poet, author, was born July 12, 1843, in Monkton, Vt. She is the author of Woman in Sacred Song, a representative work of what woman has done in hymnology. She is the author of a large number of temperance songs and other works, which have become very popular. Her poems appear in Poets of America and other standard works. Her best known productions are, Woodland Warblings; American Rifle Team March; and I Will Not Leave You Comfortless.

SMITH, FLORENCE, poet, was born in 1845 in New York city. She was a poet of New York city; and published Piero's Painting, and Other Poems. She died in 1871 in New York city.

SMITH, FRANCIS GURNEY, physician, author, was born March 8, 1818, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he was physician in charge of a military hospital. He founded and established the first laboratory in which physiology was taught experimentally and by demonstration in the university of Pennsylvania, was the first president of the Philadelphia Obstetrical society, and vice-president of the American Medical association in 1870. For nine years he was an editor of the Philadelphia Medical Examiner. He contributed frequently to medical literature; translated and edited Barth and Roger's Manual of Auscultation and Percussion; edited Daniel Drake's Systematic Treatise; and was the author of Domestic Medicine, Surgery, and Materia Medica. He died April 6, 1878, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SMITH, FRANCIS HENNEY, soldier, educator, author, was born Oct. 18, 1812, in Norfolk, Va. He was a confederate officer who was professor of mathematics at Hampden Sidney college in 1837-39, and superintendent of the Virginia Military institute in 1839-61, and 1865-90. He was the author of Best Methods of Conducting Common Schools; College Reform; and a series of algebras. He died March 21, 1890, in Lexington, Va.

SMITH, FRANCIS HOPKINSON, artist, civil engineer, author, was born Oct. 23, 1838, in Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Well-Worn Roads of Spain, Holland and Italy; Old Lines in New Black and White; A White Umbrella in Mexico; Colonel Carter of Cartersville, a novel; A Day at Laguerre's, and Other Days; American Illustrators; Venice of To-Day; A Gentleman Vagabond, and Some Others; and Tom Grogan.

SMITH, FRANCIS OSMOND JON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 23, 1806, in Brentwood, N. H. He was elected to the assembly of Maine in 1831; was president of the state senate in 1833, and was a representative in congress from Maine from 1833 to 1839. He was a brilliant orator and parliamentarian; and while in congress served on a number of important committees. He died Oct. 14, 1876, in Deering, Maine.

SMITH, FRANK B., lawyer, jurist, was born March 6, 1861, near Leavenworth, Kan. He held the office of state's attorney for six years, and that of county judge for two years. He is now circuit judge of the fourth judicial circuit of South Dakota.

SMITH, FRANK H., physician, state legislator, was born in 1855 in Jacksonville, Pa. He has been mayor of Goodland, Kan., where he is a successful physician. In 1896 he was elected a member of the Kansas state legislature.

SMITH, FRANK HILL, artist, was born Oct. 15, 1842, in Boston, Mass. His work in oil includes portraits, figure-pieces and landscapes. Some of his Venetian pictures belong to the Somerset club, Boston. He has decorated the Windsor hotel and the opera-house at Holyoke, Mass., and numerous public and private buildings in Boston, Cambridge and other cities.

SMITH, FRANK L., portrait painter, was born Dec. 21, 1860, in Ripon, Wis. Early in life he had a penchant for art; studied under the best masters, and has attained a national reputation as an eminent portrait painter.

SMITH, FRANK SULLIVAN, lawyer, was born Oct. 14, 1851, in Short Tract, N. Y. He received a thorough education; attended Angelica academy; and in 1872 graduated from Yale college. He has attained success as a lawyer, and is one of the foremost in his profession, with offices in New York city and Angelica. He has had much important and successful litigation, notably in relation to Eastern and Northern railroad of Alabama; Schuyler Electric company of Allegheny; and the Kinzua Railroad company. He has been supervisor of Allegheny county, was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1884, has been school commissioner, and was secretary of the republican state committee during 1887-91. He was general counsel of the Sciota Valley and N. E. railroad. He is president of the Allegheny Central Railroad company, and vice-president and counsel of the C., N. Y. and W.; and general counsel of the P. S. and L. E.; and the Michigan Gas company.

SMITH, GENIE M., journalist, author, poet, was born Nov. 17, 1852, in Vermont. She is the author of three novels, one book of poems, and numerous serials, short stories, sketches and other articles. She has been the editor of the Minnesota Housekeeper, Iowa Mid-Continent, and various other publications.

SMITH, GEORGE, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1809 to 1813.

SMITH, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, state senator, author, was born Feb. 12, 1804, in Delaware county, Pa. He served in the state senate in 1832-36. He was an associate judge of the court of common pleas of Delaware county from the latter date till 1857, and was re-elected in 1861 for a term of five years. He was chosen the first superintendent of the Delaware county common schools in 1854, and for the subsequent twenty-five years was president of the school board of Upper Darby school district. He also devoted much attention to scientific pursuits, especially to geology. He was a founder of the Delaware county institute of science, and its president from 1833 until his death, presenting it with his valuable herbarium about 1875. He published several essays and A History of Delaware County, Pa., from the Discovery of the Territory Included Within Its Limits to the Present Time. He died March 10, 1882, in Upper Darby, Pa.

SMITH, GEORGE CARSON, railroad president, was born March 4, 1855, in Granville, Wash. Since 1894 he has been president of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, and also of the Western railway of Alabama.

SMITH, GEORGE HANDY, United States senator, was born July 21, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he was chosen a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature, and was twice re-elected. In 1875 he was elected a state senator, and in 1877 a United States senator. In 1885 and again in 1887 he was chosen president pro tem. of the senate.

SMITH, GEORGE L., soldier, merchant, journalist, congressman, was born Dec. 11, 1840, in Hillsborough county, N. H. He served in the army; settled in Louisiana at the close of the civil war and engaged in mercantile business, and was elected a member of the assembly in 1870 and 1872. He was proprietor of the Shreveport Southwestern Telegram; and was president of a savings bank and trust company. He was elected a representative from Louisiana to the forty-third congress to fill a vacancy.

SMITH, GEORGE W., physician, merchant, banker, was born Dec. 10, 1846, in Hillsdale county, Mich. In 1867 he moved to Owosso, Mich., engaged in the drug business, and there studied medicine. He practiced that profession for a while, and then engaged in the wholesale and retail grocery business. In 1878 he moved to Geneva, Neb., and a year later organized the Geneva Exchange bank, of which he was president. In 1879 the bank's name was changed to the First National bank of Geneva, of which he is still president. He has traveled extensively in Europe, and on his return was elected mayor of his city in 1890. He has also organized several other banks in Nebraska, and has made generous contributions to churches and educational institutions.

SMITH, GEORGE W., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1846, in Putnam county, Ohio. In 1870 he was admitted to the practice of law by the supreme court of Illinois, since which time he has resided in Murphysboro. In 1880 he was the republican elector for his congressional district, and cast the vote of the district for Garfield and Arthur. He was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a republican.

SMITH, GEORGE WASHINGTON, author, was born Aug. 4, 1800, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a founder of the Pennsylvania Historical society; for many years one of its councillors, and at his death senior vice-president. He possessed a large estate, of which he gave liberally to benevolent objects. He published Facts and Arguments in Favor of Adopting Railroads in Preference to Canals; Defence of the Pennsylvania System in Favor of Solitary Confinement of Prisoners; and edited Nicholas Wood's treatise on Railroads. He died April 22, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SMITH, GEORGE WILLIAM, governor. He was governor of Virginia from 1811 to 1812, and lost his life at the burning of the Richmond theater, Dec. 26, 1811.

SMITH, GEORGE WILLIAMSON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1836, in Catskill, N. Y. He was ordained deacon in 1860, and priest in 1864, in the protestant episcopal church, and was an assistant at various churches in Washington, D. C. He was acting professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Newport, R. I., in 1864-65, chaplain at the Annapolis academy in 1865-68, and chaplain on the United States steamship Franklin in 1868-71. He was rector of Grace church, Jamaica, L. I., in 1872-81, of the Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1880-83, and since the latter date has been president of Trinity college. He has published occasional sermons, and is the author of a Memoir of Rev. John H. Van Ingen.

SMITH, GERRIT, philanthropist, congressman, author, was born March 6, 1797, in Utica, N. Y. He was one of the leaders of the Anti-Slavery society, and was noted for his philanthropy. Having inherited one of the largest landed estates in the country, he distributed nearly two hundred thousand acres of it among the poor. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1853 to 1855. He was the author of Speeches in Congress; Sermons and Speeches; The Religion of Reason; The Theologies; and Nature the Basis of a Free Theology. He died Dec. 28, 1874, in New York city.

SMITH, GERTRUDE, author, was born in 1860 in California. She is a Boston writer, whose early life was spent in the west. She is the author of The Rousing of Mrs. Potter, and Other Stories; The Arabella and Araminta Stories; and Deirdra Heywood.

SMITH, GILES ALEXANDER, soldier, was born Sept. 29, 1829, in Jefferson county, N. Y. He became captain in the eighth Missouri volunteers in 1861, and in 1863 was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Nov. 8, 1876, in Bloomington, Ill.

SMITH, GREEN CLAY, soldier, clergyman, congressman, was born July 2, 1830, in Richmond, Ky. He was a school commissioner from 1853 to 1857, establishing a great number of schools. He served as second lieutenant in the Mexican war, and after the breaking out of the rebellion in 1861 had command of the fourth Kentucky cavalry. He was elected to the state legislature; was appointed a brigadier-general in 1862; was subsequently promoted to the rank of major-general; and was present at the battle of Ball's Bluff and about fifty other engagements. In 1863 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-ninth congress. In 1866, while still in congress he was appointed governor of Montana. He subsequently became a preacher in the baptist church in Frankfort, Ky. In 1876 he was the candidate of the prohibition party for the presidency of the United States.

SMITH, GUSTAVUS WOODSON, soldier, author, was born Jan. 1, 1822, in Scott county, Ky. He was a confederate general who lived in New York city from 1876. He was the author of Notes on Life Insurance; and Confederate War Papers. He died in 1896.

SMITH, H. BOARDMAN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 18, 1826, in Whitingham, Vt. He was appointed judge of the Chemung county courts in 1859, and was elected to the same office. He was elected to the forty-second congress, and was re-elected to the forty-third congress as a republican.

SMITH, HAMILTON LANPHERE, educator, author, was born Nov. 5, 1819, in New London, Conn. He is an educator who has been professor of natural philosophy at Hobart college since 1868. He is the author of Natural Philosophy; and First Lessons in Astronomy and Geology.

SMITH, HARRY H., public official, author, was born July 31, 1842, in Fairport, N. Y. In 1870 he was special marshal of the Michigan census. He has been United States national bank examiner. He is the author and compiler of a Digest and Manual; and is a parliamentary author, writer and expert; bank and tariff statistical expert, and magazine writer. He prepared a codification of the rules of the senate, which code was substantially adopted, and Senate Manual, as revised by him was printed. Mr. Smith made two other revisions of the house rules in the forty-ninth and fifty-first congresses, in the latter eliminating all filibustering motion, thus permitting a majority to rule. That code, so prepared by him, was substantially adopted, and became known as the Reed rules. He has prepared the parliamentary history of congress, the manuscript of which will be purchased by congress, in accordance with unanimous recommendations of committees of both houses of congress.

SMITH, HENRY, millwright, congressman, was born July 22, 1838, in Baltimore, Md. The year of his birth he removed with his parents to Massillon, Ohio, and moved to Milwaukee in 1844, where he has since resided. He was a member of the common council of Milwaukee from 1868 till 1872; was a member of the Wisconsin legislature in 1878; and was again a member of the common council from 1880 till 1882. He was city comptroller from 1882 till 1884, and from that date a member of the common council until 1887, when he was elected to the fiftieth congress as the people's party candidate.

SMITH, HENRY, educator, missionary. For several years after graduation from Bowdoin college, he taught in the Portsmouth academy. After three years at Andover he became a successful missionary in western New York. For eleven years he filled a pastorate in the presbyterian church of Camden, N. Y. The Theological school of Auburn, N. Y., was largely benefited by the funds which he raised for it. He was also noted for his great philanthropy and kindness to the poor. He died in July, 1826.

SMITH, HENRY BERNARD, clergyman, was born Feb. 16, 1848, in Marietta, Ohio. He graduated from the Marietta college, and has attained distinction as one of the foremost clergymen in the United States. For sixteen years he was pastor of a large church in Nashua, N. H., and since 1894 has filled a pastorate in Troy, N. Y. For eight years he was chaplain of the second regiment national guard of New Hampshire; and is a prominent Mason.

SMITH, HENRY BOYNTON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 21, 1815, in Portland, Maine. He was a presbyterian clergyman of eminence as a theologian, and professor of systematic theology in Union seminary of New York city in 1854-74. He was the author of Faith and Philosophy; Apologetics; Chronological History of the Church of Christ; Introduction to Christian Theology; and System of Christian Theology. He died Feb. 7, 1876, in New York city.

SMITH, HENRY HOLLINGSWORTH, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 10, 1815, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a surgeon of Philadelphia; and the author of Minor Surgery; System of Operative Surgery; Practice of Surgery; and Professional Visit to London and Paris. He died April 11, 1890, in Philadelphia, Pa.

SMITH, HENRY MAYBELL, educator, clergyman, was born Feb. 14, 1853, in Athens, Ga. He received his education in the common schools of his native city, and graduated from the Atlanta university. For many years he was engaged in educational work; is an eminent clergyman of the baptist church, and now fills a pastorate in Crawford, Ga.

SMITH, HERBERT HUNTINGTON, scientist, author, was born in 1851 in New York. He is a scientist who has been engaged upon geological surveys in Ohio, New York and Brazil. He is the author of Brazil, the Amazons and the Coast.

SMITH, HEZEKIAH BRADLEY, inventor, congressman, was born July 24, 1816, in Bridgewater, Vt. He learned the trade of a cabinet-maker, and became an inventor and manufacturer of wood machinery. He was elected a representative from New Jersey to the forty-sixth congress. He died Nov. 3, 1887, in Smithville, N. J.

SMITH, HEZEKIAH WRIGHT, engraver, was born in 1828 in Edinburgh, Scotland. His most important plates are a full-length of Daniel Webster, after Chester Harding; a three-quarter length Edward Everett, after Moses Wright; and Washington.

SMITH, HIRAM Y., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 22, 1843, in Piqua, Ohio. He was district attorney of the fifth judicial district of Iowa from 1875 to 1879, and was a member from Des Moines of the state senate of Iowa from 1882 to 1884. He was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-eighth congress, to fill a vacancy.

SMITH, HOKE, journalist, cabinet officer, was born Sept. 2, 1855, in Newton, N. C. In 1887 he purchased the Atlanta Journal. Much of the credit for Cleveland's victory in Georgia in 1892 was attributed to the Atlanta Journal and the personal efforts of its proprietor, and in 1893 he was appointed secretary of the interior in President Cleveland's cabinet.

SMITH, HOMER J., educator, clergyman, lecturer, was born Aug. 31, 1846, in Fayette county, Pa. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools, and graduated from the Academy of Sciences of Pittsburg, Pa.; from Mount Union college of Alliance, Ohio; from the Illinois Wesleyan university of Bloomington, and has received the degrees of B. A., M. A., D. D., Ph. D. Since 1870 he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, and was a successful educator, and one of the founders of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league. He is one of the foremost lecturers on scientific and general topics, and now fills a pastorate in Zanesville, Ohio.

SMITH, HORACE WEMYSS, journalist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1825, in Philadelphia county, Pa. He is a Philadelphia journalist whose principal works include: Nuts for Future Historians to Crack; Yorktown Orderly Book; and Life of Reverend William Smith.

SMITH, HUBBARD M., physician, poet, was born Sept. 6, 1820, in Winchester, Ky. Since 1844 he has been engaged in the practice of medicine, and since 1849 in Vincennes, Ind., with the exception of about ten years, in which he was engaged either in editing and publishing the Vincennes Gazette or acting as postmaster. For twelve years he was United States pension surgeon; was one of the charter members of the Western Writers' association of Indiana, and is a member of several medical bodies. He has contributed valuable articles to the medical press, and his poems have been given a place in Poets of America and other standard works.

SMITH, ISAAC, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1736 in Trenton, N. J. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1795 to 1797, and was appointed a commissioner to treat with the Seneca Indians. He was a judge of the superior court of New Jersey. He died Aug. 29, 1807, in Trenton, N. J.

SMITH, ISAAC, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania in 1813-15.

SMITH, ISRAEL, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born April 4, 1759, in Suöeld, Conn. He was sent to the Vermont state legislature from Rutland, and was a representative in congress from 1791 to 1797, and again in 1800. He was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of Vermont in 1797. He was a senator in congress during the years 1801 and 1802, and from 1803 to 1807, when he resigned. He was governor of Vermont in 1807. He died Dec. 2, 1810, in Rutland, Vt.

SMITH, JACKSON L., lawyer, jurist, was born in Callaway county, Mo. In 1877 he was elected attorney-general; was appointed fish commissioner in 1885, and again in 1889. In 1888 he was elected judge of the Kansas City court of appeals, and in 1892 was re-elected for a full term.

SMITH, JAMES, signer of the declaration of independence, was born about 1720 in Ireland. On the approach of war he took an active part in public affairs; raised a company and commanded it in the field; was made a colonel, and also took an active part in raising additional troops. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1776 to 1778; was a signer of the declaration of independence, and in 1780 entered the state legislature. He wrote The Constitutional Power of Great Britain over the Colonies in America, which materially aided the cause of the patriots. He died July 11, 1806, in York, Pa.

SMITH, JAMES, pioneer, author, was born in 1737 in Franklin county, Pa. He was a noted Kentucky pioneer, and the author of Shakerism Developed; Shakerism Detected; Remarkable Adventures in the Life of Colonel James Smith; and Mode and Manner of Indian War. He died in 1812 in Washington county, Ky.

SMITH, JAMES, manufacturer, United States senator, was born June 12, 1851, in Newark, N. J. He was nominated for mayor of his native city but declined, and has been tendered nearly every office in the gift of his party in the state, but has always refused office. He is a manufacturer of patent and enameled leather in Newark, and conducts the largest business of the kind in the country. He was elected to the United States senate as a democrat, and took his seat in 1893.

SMITH, JAMES JACKSON MANNING, soldier, architect, builder, poet, was born Nov. 4, 1839, in Oxford, Ga. During the war he served with distinction in the confederate service. For many years he has resided in Burnet, Texas, engaged as an architect and builder. He has contributed both prose and verse to the periodical press, and takes a prominent part in public affairs.

SMITH, JAMES M. W., journalist, was born in 1855, in Celina, Tenn. He received a thorough education, and attended Mt. Vale academy. He is the editor and owner of The Spy of Tompkinsville, Ky.; has been city marshal, and filled various other public positions of trust.

SMITH, JAMES MILTON, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Oct. 24, 1823, in Twiggs county, Ga. He entered the confederate army in 1861 as major in the thirteenth Georgia regiment, became colonel in 1862, and was a member of the confederate congress from that year until the close of the civil war. He served in the legislature in 1871-72; was speaker, and in 1872 was chosen governor to fill a vacancy, which office he held by re-election till 1874.

SMITH, JAMES S., physician, congressman, was born in Orange county, N. C. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1817 to 1821; and served in the legislature of North Carolina in 1821.

SMITH, JAMES THOMAS, soldier, journalist, was born May 4, 1847, in Ireland. He received his education in the preparatory schools of Connecticut. During 1861-65 he was a lieutenant in the union forces, and up to 1870 served in the regular army. He has been city clerk and city auditor of Denver, Col., and since 1876 has been secretary and director of the state school of mines. He has also been editor and proprietor of the Rocky Mountain News since 1878.

SMITH, JAMES TINKER, poet, was born in 1816, in St. Mary's Parish, La. He translated into English the Meditations of Lamartine; and also published a volume of poems. He died Aug. 10, 1854, in Franklin, La.

SMITH, JAMES WHEATON, clergyman, author, was born June 26, 1823, in Providence, R. I. In 1853 he became pastor of the Spruce street baptist church in Philadelphia, Pa., and he continued in this relation until 1870. He is the author of a Life of John P. Croser.

SMITH, JAMES YOUNGS, manufacturer, governor, was born Sept. 15, 1809, in Groton, Conn. In 1838 he was a cotton manufacturer in Willimantic, Conn., and at Woonsocket, R. I. He was afterward a member of the legislature of Rhode Island for several years. He was mayor of Providence in 1855 and 1857; and was governor of the state from 1863 to 1865. He died March 26, 1876, in Providence, R. I.

SMITH, JANE LUELLE DOWD, educator, author, poet, was born June 6, 1847, in Sheffield, Mass. At the age of eighteen she graduated from the Westfield Normal school. After teaching school for a year, she entered the Ladies' seminary of North Granville, New York, where she graduated valedictorian of the class in 1868. She attained success in educational work; was principal of the South Hampton High school, Sheffield High school, Stamford High school, and the South Egremont academy. In 1875 she was married to Dr. Henry H. Smith of Hudson, N. Y. She is the author of three volumes of verse, entitled Wayside Leaves; Wind Flowers; and Flowers from Foreign Fields.

SMITH, MRS. JEANIE OLIVER, poet, was born in Troy, N. Y. She is a writer of Johnstown, N. Y., and the author of a volume of poems entitled Day Lilies.

SMITH, JEDEDIAH K., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1770. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1807 to 1809, and from 1822 to 1825. He held the office of judge and chief judge of the court of common pleas for Hillsborough county from 1810 to 1814, and was also a state councilor. He died in 1828.

SMITH, JEREMIAH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Nov. 29, 1759, in Peterborough, N. H. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire in 1791, and continued there till 1797, being one of the last survivors of the distinguished men who participated with Washington in the administration of the government. He was chosen governor of New Hampshire in 1809; served as a presidential elector in 1809, and was for several years chief justice of the superior court of the state. He died Sept. 21, 1842, in Dover, N. H.

SMITH, JEROME VAN CROWNINSHIELD, physician, author, was born July 20, 1800, in Conway, N. H. He was a physician of Boston, where he was mayor in 1854, and subsequently of New York city. He was the author of Class Book of Anatomy; Life of Andrew Jackson; Natural History of the Fishes of Massachusetts; Pilgrimage to Palestine; Turkey and the Turks; and The Ways of Women. He died Aug. 21, 1879, in New York city.

SMITH, JESSE C., soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 18, 1808, in Butternuts, N. Y. He was surrogate of Kings county in 1850-55, and state senator in 1862. At the beginning of the civil war he was instrumental in the reorganization of the national guard, and in forming the one hundred and thirty-ninth regiment of New York volunteers. He commanded the eleventh brigade of the national guard at the battle of Gettysburg. After the war he practiced law in Brooklyn.

SMITH, JOB LEWIS, physician, author, was born Oct. 15, 1827, in Spafford, N. Y. He is a physician of New York city who has written a Treatise on Diseases of Children.

SMITH, JOHN, one of the founders of Virginia, was born in 1579 in England. He was a celebrated sea captain and adventurer who was one of the founders of Virginia, and of the company which settled at Jamestown in 1607. He was a forcible, vigorous writer, much given to magnifying his own exploits, and not always to be trusted in the absence of other testimony. He was the author of A True Relation of Virginia; The Generall Historie of Virginia, which is partly original and partly compiled; A Map of Virginia, with a Description of the Country; A Description of New England; An Accidence, or Pathway to Experience; A Sea Grammar; and The True Travels of Captain John Smith. He died in 1631.

SMITH, JOHN, United States senator, was born in 1735 in Hamilton county, Ohio. He was a senator in congress from Ohio from 1803 to 1808, when he resigned. He was a warm personal friend of Aaron Burr, and though for a time suspected, was in reality innocent of treasonable designs. He died June 10, 1816, in Hamilton county, Ohio.

