THE UNION- THE HUNTER PRESERVED. MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 2,1825.

EFIn today's paper we publish the report of the joi sittee of both houses of the legislature, on the e and charles of the New Orleans navigation company.

Is it possible that any member of the legislature could have takan offenes at our jesting mode of arguing against changing the cent of government to Baton Rouge? Or is any much so weak as to think that those remarks emanated from the plate printers or that if they did, he is amonable to the hour for morely popular contiments freely expressed. The writer of those remarks humb'y hopes that

GARLIORT BANKING COMPANY. We four that the temof frenda or the duplicity of chemics has really injured the hall to incornate this company. A capital of one million only was at first demanded by the company; and this amount might have been useful if not necessary. But when · capital F-raised to 6 millions; when it is privileged to have 6 branches; and required to contribute only the very dubious bonus of a losn on incontestable security to one or two pet to projects hereafter of internal improvement; the friende of the bill may justly appreliend its safety in the hands of the

THE MILITIA. As most of the citizens of the state are nore or less interested in the militia system, it may be well to give an abstract of the law lately introduced in the hous of representatives, radically to alter or amend the system. All free white males from 18 to 45 years sid, who have re sided two months in the state-not otherwise exempted-are t menable to serve in the militia. The existing divisions & c of the militia into companies, battalions, regiments, squadrons, he gades and divisions are continued; but may be all toold by the governor, and in some instances by the colonel

The repective daties, etc. of commissioned and noncommissioned officers are stated; and the mode of electing a m jor general has been altered; but that of electing a brigadier general and other superior officers to transferred from the former law -most of the sections of that law from the 20th being here embodé d'entire, or very slightly modified.

The opera of the 'Barber of Saville' will this evening h rformed at the American theatre. The Rosina of Mrs Estent—when fact performed—circited justly the applause of the autience; and few have performed the barber and old doctor better than THORNE and REYNOLDSON. We hope that the performances of the evening with anable, us not only t and Williamson, who did not (at its last representation) display that thet and tatent which they are known or believed o possess. The young lady and the gentlemen are favorites with the public; but aliquandi bonus Hemorus dormitat, they are sometimes carelessly or culpally indifferent.

How is that at this then re which has e is of the best operatic companies in the country, althouse of the worst orch catras, good or first fate operas are seldom performed?-Were the energies of Mesdames Knight, Rowe and Russell, and Misses Nelson and Petrie combined with those of Merats K ene, Hidges, Thorne, Reynoldson and Williamson, wha a cum rous audience might be attracted! But those proficient performers must give way to Messrs. Herr Cline, Mili and Hackett-and Hackett must have 200 dollars every night he playe, although he has actually played to an audi ence consisting of 122 persons. Is not the fact a sufficien caution to other managers as well as our own, against rashly engaging empirical itinorants-ind never engaging them except at un ad valorem sa ary?

Zamps, or the Bride of Marble was performed last evening at the French theatre, to a numerous, fashionable and admiring audience. Contrasted with the American theatre, the superiority is manifest in favor of this-who her we consider the orchestra; the accommodations for visitors; the appearance is ease and efficiency of the dramatic corps; the movements of the machinery—in short the foul ensemble within. The joint committee to whom was referred the matter of the Orleans Navigation Company, beg leave to report:

That owing to the delicate and important character of the day which seemed necessarily invotved in the faithful performance of the trust confided; your committee felt constrained at the very threshold of their labors, to examine animetry into the eact of incorporation, is order that they might more clearly understand, the nature, character, and reciprocal tenor of the compact existing between the company and the inhabitants of the community. The attention of the committee, was almost exclusively directed to the provision contained in the 9th section of the act of incorporation by which it clearly appears, that the company were competed before they could legally cuerce the justices of the information of the Bayou St. John, so has to admit at low tides the entrance of vessels drawing three compelled before they could legally course the insyment of toll, to improve the navigation of the Bayou St John, so hat to admit at loss tides the entrance of vessels drawing three feet water. It seems that the company so understood the condition, for they if due coursent true, did so improve the navigation of the Bayou St John as to admit vessels drawing three feet water and upwards to enter the bayou, and therespon commenced receiving their tolls in accordance with the provisions of the charter. On the second part, the ordinance relative to the cemetery was considered—the chief objection to which were the clauses preventing the construction of tombe in the new cemetery. Mesers McCready and McFartane deprecating the inaction of such a prevention; asserting it was an aristocratic measure; that it would prevent the burying of persons in the cometery; and that it would unjustly deprive the trands or claims of the deceased of the customary privilege of creating some kind of munument sacred to the memory of the decea.

o. Icears Mercier and Bermuden contended that the chief Mosers Mereier and Bermudez contended that the chief use of this burying ground given by Blanc was to serve in series of epidemics, when the nun ber of the dead are until olded unusually; that altho this converge was chiefly for the prior then dying, yet that none were prevenued from interring their friends in the public buriel ground, where they may erect tombs or monuments; that those public harying grounds will serve the city for 100 years to come; that the new cometery may likely be seen within the pre-incts of the in abited parts of the city, and may be used for building by the city; that it is preporte adopt precentionary measures to prevent any hostation or difficulty in so disposing of the cemetry when required; and that this is the whole design at the ord name. I'me public burying grounds are free and algo up a tell for years to come, where they may erect no eniments or time—what hen is the necessity for erecting monuments in this comercy, or the propriety of insisting or being there buried when it must soon be alternated to other pitrieses ? The connectry is not designed as a pormaing a seing there suried when it must soon be alternated to efter privaces? The connettery is not designed as a permanent burying ground; and was used only used anxiety to the public places, at periods of epidemics.

But as the topic seemed to exil a heated feelings, Mr Mercier ended the debate by withdrawing the section preventing the erection of tombe or monuments in the consetery.

The ranginder of the produce was adouted.

The remainder of the ordinance was adopted. desired to report at next are The secretary read a letter from Mr Pile the surveyor, complaining of some remarks made on him at the preceding session, by the member from the fourth ward; and itreating that gentleman form one of a committee to exanne the subject—granted.
