FOREWORD

This gazetteer contains the names of the administrative divisions of mainland China, under the Chinese Communist regime, at the province, subprovince, and hsien levels, and the seats of all such administrative divisions both as established before 1947 by the Government of the Republic of China and as of 1960 according to the Communist regime. The more than 16,600 entries include standard names approved by the Board on Geographic Names and unapproved variant names. The gazetteer consists of three parts, as follows:

Part I. — General List: An alphabetical list of about 11,900 entries containing the names of all Communist administrative divisions at the province, subprovince, and hsien levels and the names of Communist and Nationalist seats, with Nationalist names, conventional names, and unapproved variant names cross-referenced to Communist names.

Part II. — Administrative Seats: Parallel lists of about 2,560 names of present and former Communist and Nationalist administrative seats (populated places), alphabetically arranged by the Communist name.

Part III. — Administrative Divisions: Names of the 2,156 province-, subprovince-, and hsien-level administrative areas of mainland (Communist) China in separate listings for the 28 first-order divisions.

Information applying specifically to each of the parts is provided at the end of the foreword.

“Mainland” or “Communist” China, as used herein, includes Sinkiang and Tibet. This gazetteer excludes Taiwan, Quemoy, and other islands under Nationalist control. Nationalist names in the gazetteer are derived from pre-1948 sources; the Communist names are based on Chung-hua Jen-min Kung-ho-kuo Hsing-cheng-ch'ü Hua-chien-ts'e (Administrative Divisions of the Peoples Republic of China), Ministry of Interior, Peking, 1960.

The Board on Geographic Names recommends the use of Nationalist names in mainland China. For most villages and physical features these are the same as the Communist names and are the only names available. However, Communist administrative divisions and their seats often differ in name and identity from the Nationalist divisions and seats. The Board therefore also approves the former for provisional use with disclaimers to the effect that the names do not reflect political recognition by the United States Government. This gazetteer supplements, without superseding, other Board gazetteers containing only Nationalist names by providing standard forms of the provisionally approved names of Communist entities.

Romanization and Printing Form

Approved names in the gazetteer have been romanized from Chinese sources by use of the modified Wade-Giles transcription system as adopted by the Board on Geographic Names. This system is set forth in Key to Wade-Giles Romanization of Chinese Characters, Army Map Service, Washington, November 1944.

Two diacritical marks occur in approved romanizations of Chinese names: the umlaut (as in chü) and the apostrophe or sign of aspiration (as in ch'i). Specific and generic name elements of romanizations of Chinese names are written as separate words. The hyphen is used between romanizations of individual characters in a single name element. In writing Chinese names in capitals and lowercase letters all separate words are capitalized; initial letters following hyphens are not capitalized. Conventional names are English and should be so written.

In most cases, both long and short forms of administrative division names are approved, as shown by partial underlining. Where part of a name is underlined in the gazetteer the use of the part not underlined is optional.

Where two or more names are approved for a feature, each is identified in parentheses and either or all may be used.

In a few cases the generic part of the name precedes the specific part; these parts have been transposed in the listings: thus Pan-na I-wu is listed as I-wu, Pan-na.

Administrative Divisions

Mainland China as organized by the Communist regime consists of 28 administrative divisions at the first-order or provincial level, as follows: 21 sheng (province), 5 tzu-chih-ch'ü (autonomous region), and 2 shih (municipality).

Hsien-level administrative divisions in 1960 consisted of 1,643 hsien, 147 shih (municipality), 55 tzu-chih-hsien (autonomous hsien), 48 ch'i (banner), 20 ch'ü (ward), 5 kung-tso wei-yüan-hui (work committee), 5 pan-na (administrative area), 3 tzu-chih-ch'i (autonomous banner), 1 chen (administrative town), and 1 kuan-li-chü (control bureau). These are classified as second-order administrative divisions.

Intermediate between the province-level and the hsien-level divisions are the subprovincial administrative divisions. In this classification in 1960 there were 124 chuan-ch'ü (special district), 35 shih (municipality), 29 tzu-chih-chou (autonomous district), 7 meng (league), 3 hsing-cheng-ch'ü (administrative district), and 1 kung-yeh-ch'ü (industrial district). These do not constitute an established grade in the order of administrative divisions.

Shih occur at all levels, depending on their administrative status and function.

Administrative Seats

Seats of the administrative divisions of mainland China at the province level are important cities or towns within the divisions. At this level, except for the municipalities of Shanghai and Peking, the seat names usually are different from the division names. Thus the seat of Chi-lin

Sheng (Kirin Province) is Ch'ang-ch'un but the seat of Shang-hai Shih (Shanghai Municipality) is Shang-hai (Shanghai).

At the hsien level, however, and to a lesser extent at the subprovince level, the administrative seat usually has the same specific name as the administrative area. Thus Chieh-shou is the seat of Chieh-shou Hsien. Accordingly, when a different town is designated as the administrative seat of a hsien, that town is given the name of the hsien and the former seat is given another, sometimes an older name or the hsien name with a prefix or suffix. Thus the relocation of a hsien seat usually results in name changes for two populated places, the new and the former hsien seats. Under the Communist regime many Nationalist hsien seats have been relocated and many other administrative seats have been renamed for other reasons.

Latitude and Longitude

Geographic coordinates are given for all entries in the gazetteer. They are intended for finding purposes only. They were read at the map symbol for administrative seats and at the same symbol for corresponding divisions at the subprovince and hsien levels. Coordinates were read at the approximate geographic center for provinces and other first-order divisions. The positioning of features often differs widely on Chinese maps, and the coordinates for a given place may vary with the source.

Locational Reference

The publication listed below may be helpful as a locational reference although the names in it are not necessarily those approved by the Board as standard names:

China, Provisional Atlas of Communist Administrative Units. Prepared by Central Intelligence Agency, 1959; originally distributed by U. S. Department of Commerce, Office of Technical Services, Washington 25, D. C.; now available only in major or special libraries.

Reporting of Errors

It is requested that all who use this gazetteer aid in its correction for future printings by reporting errors to the Board on Geographic Names, Department of the Interior, Washington 25, D. C. A statement of the source of the correct information will be helpful.

EXPLANATION OF PARTS

Part I. — General List

The first column of this list contains all names of this volume in alphabetical order. Included are: 1) the Chinese names, and such conventional names as are approved, of all Communist administrative divisions at the province, subprovince, and hsien levels, and 2) Chinese and conventional approved names of both Nationalist and Communist administrative seats at the corresponding levels. Since this is primarily a listing of Communist names, all other names, forms, and spellings are cross-referenced to the Communist names by use of the word "see." (In the case of administrative seats, cross-references have generally been omitted when the only variation is the presence or absence of such repetitive suffixes as -hsien and -shih.) Users of the gazetteer should always refer to main entries for approved names.

The following terms occur as generic elements in approved names of administrative divisions. The meanings indicated are those generally used in English translation.

- chen administrative town (hsien level)
- ch'i banner (hsien level)
- ch'ü ward (hsien level; Pei-ching and Shang-hai only)
- chuan-ch'ü special district (subprovincial level)
- hsien hsien (hsien level)
- hsing-cheng-ch'ü administrative district (subprovincial level)
- kuan-li-chü control bureau (hsien level)

- kung-tso wei-yüan-hui work committee (hsien level)
- kung-yeh-ch'ü industrial district (subprovincial level)
- meng league (subprovincial level)
- pan-na administrative area (hsien level)
- sheng province (provincial level)
- shih municipality (provincial, subprovincial, and hsien levels)
- tzu-chih-ch'i autonomous banner (hsien level)
- tzu-chih-chou autonomous district (subprovincial level)
- tzu-chih-ch'ü autonomous region (provincial level)
- tzu-chih-hsien autonomous hsien (hsien level)

The second column contains abbreviations of designations, as follows:

- ADMH administrative division (hsien level): chen, ch'i, ch'ü, hsien, kuan-li-chü, kung-tso wei-yüan-hui, pan-na, shih, tzu-chih-ch'i, and tzu-chih-hsien.
- ADMP administrative division (province level): sheng, tzu-chih-ch'ü, and shih.
- ADMS administrative division (subprovince level): chuan-ch'ü, hsing-cheng-ch'ü, kung-yeh-ch'ü, meng, shih, and tzu-chih-chou.
- PPL populated place: Nationalist administrative seat as of 1947, nonadministrative in 1960.
- PPLH populated place (hsien level): Communist hsien-level seat in 1960.
- PPLP populated place (province level): Communist province-level seat in 1960.
- PPLS populated place (subprovince level): Communist subprovince-level seat in 1960.

The same populated place may be the seat of administrative divisions at different levels. Where this occurs the populated place is listed as the administrative seat of the highest ranking division; that is, province-level seats (PPLP) outrank subprovince-level seats (PPLS), and they in turn outrank hsien-level seats (PPLH). Thus Ho-fei in Anhwei Province is listed as the province seat (PPLP) although it also serves as the seat of the subprovincial Ho-fei Shih.

Latitude and longitude are indicated in the third and fourth columns.

The last column indicates by name or five-letter symbol the province-level division in which the place or area is located, as follows:

Part II. — Administrative Seats

This part of the gazetteer is designed primarily to relate Nationalist and Communist names of the populated places that are the seats or former seats of administrative divisions.

Column one consists of Communist names of populated places that are either present administrative seats or former Nationalist seats.

The corresponding Nationalist names for the same places appear in column two. Where Communist and Nationalist names are identical, the name has been repeated in column two. Where the Communist administrative seat is a new town, and in the dozen or so cases where the Communist administrative seat could not be identified with a former town, column two has been left blank. In rare instances a name will be repeated in successive lines in the first column, one identified in the sixth column by C or CN, the other by N. In these cases the one with N is a former Nationalist seat for which a new Communist name has not been identified.

Latitude and longitude are indicated in columns three and four, respectively.

The name of the first-order administrative division or a five-letter symbol of the name, as described under Part I, appears in the fifth column.

The sixth column indicates the type of administrative seat as follows:

- C Communist administrative seat as of 1960, nonadministrative or nonexistent in 1947.
- N Nationalist administrative seat as of 1947, nonadministrative in 1960.
- CN Communist and Nationalist administrative seat (but not necessarily at the same level).

These letters relate to places at the coordinates given, but the same names may have been applied to different entities at other times when the seats were at different locations.

Part III. — Administrative Divisions

Part III consists of hierarchical listings by province-level administrative divisions arranged alphabetically by their conventional names.

Subheadings within each of the 28 listings categorize the levels and types of administrative divisions within the province. Subprovince-level divisions are in first position, followed by hsien-level divisions. Names are listed alphabetically under each subheading. Meanings of generic name elements may be determined from the list in the explanation of Part I.

Except as indicated parenthetically, Communist administrative seat names can be determined from Part III by omitting the generic term of the subdivision name, that is, the term in the subheading of the list. Thus seat names are often but not always the same as underlined short forms of administrative division names. Seat names may be confirmed by reference to Part II.

Geographic coordinates in the last two columns are those for the seats of the administrative divisions.
