MANCHURIAN QUESTION.

Count Cassini Says Nothing Finally Settled Between Russia and United States.

(Associated Press.)

Paris, July 20.—A correspondent of the Associated Press had an interview with Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador to the United States, who is here with his daughter spending part of his leave of absence in Paris. He said: "It is not correct, as called, that I arranged with Secretary Hay before my departure the question of open ports in Manchuria. It is true that Hay called on me June 28th, but it was a friendly visit and entirely unofficial. The Manchurian ports were mentioned during our conversation, but no definite arrangement was completed. The conversation was cordial, courteous and friendly, but it did not go beyond that, I expect, however, that a mutually satisfactory understanding regarding the Manchurian question will eventually be reached between the two governments. But I repeat no such arrangements have been made by me. What has been done by the chargé d'affaires since my departure, 14 days ago, I do not know."

DEATH OF THE HOLY PONTIFF

Pope Leo XIII. Passed Away in Rome This Morning—Sketch of His Long Career

(Associated Press.)

Rome, July 20.—The Pope died at 4:04 this afternoon.

At 9:30 a.m. this morning the following medical bulletin was issued: "During the night the Holy Father rested only at short intervals. His general condition remains grave. Pulse 94; respiration 32; temperature 36.2 centigrade. (Signed) Lapponi; Mazzoni."

At 11:40 a.m. there was great alarm at the Vatican as the Pope was suffering from a grave increase of cardiac affection. Dr. Lapponi really thought the able paraphernalia, plainly indicating that he had come to stay, ordering his carriage to go home and not return. After him came two other princes of the churches. All of the grave preoccupied faces returned each others greeting with such expressions as "I have not slept at all," "I think we are at the end," "Or the beginning," retorted a bystander to the cardinal who spoke, the latter being considered very likely to be the next Pope.

When the bulletin announcing the Pontiff's condition was posted one in the assemblage remarked, "His agony is at its end had arrived, and Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, the grand penitentiary, began the prayers for the dying, and gave the Pontiff absolution in articulo mortis. His death was considered so imminent that all the cardinals were present and the members of the diplomatic corps were admitted to the sick room. According to tradition, Popes must die surrounded by the Sacred College, the Pontifical court and the diplomats accredited to the Vatican.

At 3:40 p.m. the Pope, after suffering a cardiac attack, rallied, though continuing in an extremely grave condition.

At 4:30 p.m. Dr. Mazzoni was hastily recalled to the Vatican, and it was believed the supreme moment was very near.

The Pope had another brief lucid interval about 3 o'clock and muttered a few words to those present.

At 4 p.m. the Pope had lost all consciousness, and at 4:04 p.m. he passed away.

Awaiting Morning News.

Rome, July 20.—An attempt was made to gather something regarding the Pope's condition from the expression on the face of Centra, the Pontiff's valet, as he opened the window of the room of His Holiness at daybreak this morning. This has for days past been the last act of the night watchers in the piazza of St. Peter's before going to the well earned rest and being replaced by others. This morning, as usual, their eyes were fixed on the window, but the time passed and still the shutters remained sealed. Seconds grew into minutes, but still there was no movement, and this fact produced an irritation upon those gathered upon the piazza.

"What can it mean?" the people asked. "The Pope must have passed away."

With this idea in mind some sped into the city, while others less precipitate besieged the bronze doors which were being opened, to be received by the surly Swiss guard who in bad Italian, told them to go away, as they knew of the Pope's condition.

The general depression was augmented by the weather, the sky being very much overcast, producing what is called the Sirocce, which makes one dull and heavy and takes away all energy and spirits.

As the morning wore on but still early, Cardinal Oreglia, the dean of the Sacred College, who has always shown great eagerness to assume command, which, however, he cannot do until Pope Leo is actually dead, arrived with considerable restlessness the Pontiff opened his eyes, which fell on Cardinal Oreglia, who was at his side, he said solemnly, "By your eminence, who will so soon seduce the reins of the supreme power, I confide the church in these difficult times."

Then Monsignor Bislet, the master of the chamber, asked for the Pope's benediction for the court, which the Pontiff granted, adding: "Be this my last greeting." Then the Pontiff gave his hand to kiss to the cardinals present, who were Oreglia, Rampoli, Serafino, Van Nutei, Della Volpe and Vivesyto. Dr. Lapponi profited by the Pope's animation to administer restoratives, whereupon the patient sank back as suddenly as he had revived consciousness, although the Pontiff continues in a general condition of lethargy he has spells when his reason reasserts itself. During one of these conscious periods he murmured benedictions and solemnly confided the interests of the church to Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the Sacred College. A report of the Pope's death gained wide circulation, but it was soon authoritatively contradicted. At 2 p.m. the patient was still alive, but his condition was extremely grave.

The words the Pope addressed to Cardinal Oreglia, and which may perhaps prove to be his last utterance, the last supreme effort of his intelligence, which has astonished the world, are much commented upon, and it is wondered whether the intention of Leo XIII. was to indicate Cardinal Oreglia as his successor. They will certainly have considerable weight in the decision of the cardinals who will take part in the conclave.

Announcing the Death.

New York, July 20.—Owing to the strained relations between the Quirinal and the Vatican, the Italian government determined some time ago to leave to the Vatican the duty of announcing the death of the Pope to the world. To this end it was arranged to stop all telegraphic communication from Rome at the moment of the death of the Pontiff, and to turn over the wires to Cardinal Rampoli, to enable him to make an official statement.

Preparations for Conclave.

Paris, July 20.—The Sacred College has decided that the seclusion of the cardinals during the conclave shall be carried out with the strictest formalities. It will even be impossible for the cardinals to look out of the windows of the Vatican; guards will watch the coming and going of every one. Cardinal Oreglia has ordered all the telephones in the Vatican to be removed before the conclave begins.

The Pontiff's Life.

Pope Leo XIII. (Giacchino Pecci, who was born of an old patrician family of Carpineto, a village of Central Italy, on March 2nd, 1810, was elected to the papal throne on February 20th, 1878. He studied at the college Romano, graduated in law and theology, and, becoming a favorite with Pope Gregory XVI., was named by him a prelate of the household. As delegate successively at Benevento, Spoleto and Perugia he showed great energy in the government of these provinces, and was especially vigorous and successful in suppressing brigandage. Though but 33 years of age, he was, in 1843, made Archbishop of Palermo, and sent to Brussels as papal nuncio.

In 1846 Gregory elected Pecci for the dignity of cardinal, but his friendly views in favor of the young archbishop were frustrated by death, and it was not until 1853 that Gregory's successor, Pius IX., said it to confer the cardinal's hat. Cardinal Pecci was no favorite of the all-powerful Cardinal Antonelli, and was accordingly not prominent in papal councils; but in 1877 he was made Camerlengo (papal finance minister), and at the death of Pius IX. was chosen his successor.

After his accession, he refused to accept the income regularly voted him by the Italian parliament, and confined his movements to the vatican palace and grounds secured to him by the government. He issued numerous encyclicals demanding a restoration of the temporal power and sovereignty. In Italy he some years ago showed a disposition to recede somewhat from his extremist position; restored the privilege of the priesthood to take part in political meetings and exercise the franchise. He also evinced some desire for a reconciliation with the state, based on a restricted sovereignty over the portion of Rome on which the vatican palace and St. Peter's church stand, with the part of territory extending as far as Civita Vecchia, which would permit the reception of embassies on papal territory. In Germany he brought the "culturbampf" to a fairly successful issue, so that the administration of Roman Catholic church affairs is far more satisfactory to the government and to the papacy than for many years. In France he made terms with the government after the proscription acts 1870-80 and 1883, which secured conditional toleration for the clergy. In Ireland he condemned "boycotting" and the "plan of campaign," but otherwise left the management of affairs in the hands of the local church authorities. In the bishop of Trentoferrara, near Rome, which had become completely Latinized, he ordered the reedoption of the Oriental rite for public worship, and the restoration of the old basilica to its former style of architecture. The importance of this step as a movement toward reconciliation will be understood when it is known that there are numerous communities in Italy and Sicily who worship in Greek according to the Greek rite, and yet are unattached to Rome. He also issued encyclicals strongly condemning Socialism, Nihilism and Communism.

On December 31st, 1887, Leo celebrated the golden jubilee of his priesthood, and received $6,700,000 in Peter's pence, and gifts worth nearly $20,000,000 from all parts of the world.

Eighty-eight persons charged with taking part in the recent riots at Evansville have been indicted by the grand jury. It is said that more than half of those indicted are negroes.

THE VISIT TO IRELAND.

The King and Queen, accompanied by Princess Victoria, left London This Morning.

(Associated Press.)

London, July 20.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria and their suites, left London at 1 p.m. for Ireland. Though the day was gloomy large crowds gathered in front of Buckingham palace and about the route to Euston station, and enthusiastically cheered their Majesties. Elaborate arrangements were made for the comfort of the distinguished travelers. The departure platform was closed to the public this morning. The royal train was beautifully decorated. With the cheers of the people ringing in their ears the King and Queen left London for Holywood, where the royal yacht was awaiting their Majesties. They expect to reach Kingstown at 9 to-morrow morning.

Anarchists Believed to Be Preparing to Kill Emperor William of Germany.

(Associated Press.)

London, July 20.—A dispatch to the Morning Leader says the Norwegian police are anxious regarding an Anarchist plot against Emperor William, who is cruising in northern waters. The dispatch says King Oscar received a warning from Chicago that two Anarchists, a man and woman, the former a Swede and the latter a Norwegian, had left America on board a Norwegian steamer bound for Norway. They were traced to Walmoe, in the southwestern part of Sweden, and thence to Copenhagen, where a search is now being made for them. It is considered alarming that they timed their movements of these localities to correspond with the dates when it was known that Emperor William and King Oscar would meet.

Y., on Saturday. Calvin Delaney, of Nyack, N. Y., captain of the Reliance, was drowned, his crew being unable to reach him on account of the City of Troy happening along and backing water. The members of the crew, with the exception of Captain Delaney, were rescued.

Luther Stiefinger, an eminent electrical engineer, died on Saturday at Pasadena, Cal., of consumption, aged 58 years. Stiefinger, next to Edison, his friend, was responsible for the invention of more electrical appliances than any other man. He had charge of the electric lighting at the Pan-American exposition.

NO TRAP LICENSES FOR THE SEASON

PRIOR CABINET HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS

Their Right to Action in Regard to the Foreshores Not Recognized—A. B. Aylesworth for Commissioner.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, July 20.—As traps cannot be used this year, no licenses will be issued at present. The action of the provincial government in granting licenses for all the foreshores and territorial waters on Vancouver Island has caused the minister to postpone until next year a final decision on the trap question. The government here refuse to recognize the right of the local government to determine who are to receive trap licenses, as the Prior government attempted to do when it encouraged squatters to grab all the foreshore in sight. If it had not been for this trap licenses would have been issued this year.

Terms of Bill.

Hon. R. Prefontaine, in introducing his bill to amend the Fisheries Act to-day, said that it was decided to hold in abeyance the issuing of fish traps. The bill provided for the issue of licenses to use purse seines in British Columbia. Provision was also made in the bill to use explosives, rockets or firearms to kill seal, porpoise, walrus and whales.

Supreme Court.

The government called A. B. Aylesworth, who is in England, asking him to accept the vacant position on the Supreme court, and also to act as commissioner on the Alaska boundary case left vacant by the death of Mr. Justice Armour.

Marine and Fisheries.

The marine and fisheries department, on representations from British Columbia, will order the clearing away of a portion of the dam on Quesnel river, which is responsible for the destruction of thousands of salmon by its tendency to force their way up to the headwaters of this stream. The dam was sanctioned by the local government.

Morrison Opposes Traps.

Auly Morrison in the House to-day spoke strongly against the use of traps. He said that to do so on the part of the department would be indefensible.

SINKING OF THE NORTH PACIFIC

OLD-TIME STEAMER SINKS OFF TOWNSEND

Everybody Saved—Grave Charges Regarding Conduct of Officers—Life-Saving Facilities.

The old steamer North Pacific, Capt. Suddergreen, struck on the rocks near Marrowstone Point just south of Fort Flagg, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning while on her way from Seattle to Vancouver with passengers and freight.

of the fourteen passengers who were aboard her at the time reached Victoria from Port Townsend on the steamer Majestic last evening. They lost all their personal effects, and tell of a somewhat miraculous escape from drowning.

The night was fortunately a calm one, although in the locality mentioned the waters are always disturbed by strong currents and tides.

It anything could be more deplorable than this it was the condition of the life preservers and life boats when it was found necessary to resort to them.

When the steamer struck there was no panic or excitement on the vessel. There was likewise, according to the passengers' story, no one to direct the lowering of boats.

The North Pacific. The North Pacific was built in 1871, especially for the Victoria and Sound route. There had been fierce competition in the steambot trade of the Sound in that year and a truce was effected by the payment of a subsidy of $1,400 a month to Finch and Wright.

When the tug came along side in response to the vigorous tooting of the whistle operated by a passenger, a number of passengers were taken aboard her. One of the passengers said the manœuvre was successful, inasmuch as the wrecked steamer was drawn out of deep water, but as soon as the line was released she slid back again.

Henry Libak, a young man en route to Vancouver to work in an electrical display theatre, gave his version of the wreck in the following: "I was sitting inside, aft, reading, when something about 2 o'clock a sudden shock threw me off the seat. After that I heard a grating sound as though the steamer was dragging over some rocks, and then she seemed to get into deep water again.

The same gentleman said that one of the passengers pulled the whistle wire in response to which the tug came along. A line was passed aboard the steamer, and the tug started to pull ashore. Unfortunately, however, the latter ran aground.

L. B. Hicks, who was bound to the Terminal City "to spy out the land" (for employment), said he was hurled from his berth by the shock. He rushed out and after investigating the situation, he alarmed the two women.

BEAT CHAMPIONS IN A GREAT GAME

ROYAL CITY TWELVE LOST TO VANCOUVER

It Was Royal Struggle and Best Team Won—Victoria Again Defeated by Hoquiam.

The Vancouver stickhandlers turned down the mighty New Westminster aggregation on their own grounds on Saturday afternoon by a score of 7 to 5.

The game was witnessed by more than 6,000 people, and quite naturally the excitement and enthusiasm were intense.

The Westminister team came on to the field at 3:40 and got a rousing reception, and 20 minutes later the Vancouver team followed and were loudly cheered by the thousands of Vancouverites present.

The first goal was scored on one of the famous Westminister rushes. Turnbull doing the final work in 1 min. 18 2/3 seconds. It was only 3 minutes, however, before the score was evened.

The game opened with several attempts by New Westminster to score, and then Vancouver took a chance, at shooting, but Cheyne was there with the goods.

Harry Latham got hit on the knee, but after a minute's delay pluckily continued the game. Matheson went tried a shot on Cheyne, with the result that it struck the stick of the famous goalkeeper and then glanced into the net.

With the score against them, the Westminsters worked hard, and "Billy" Gifford fired a few hot shots without result.

The next two games fell to New Westminster in quick order, Turnbull scoring one on a rush in 20 seconds, and Lynch the other in 6 seconds.

More Westminister shots were effectively blocked by Norman on the resumption of play and the excitement waxed warm. Vancouver, to save her flags, hunched in front, and this was effective until the whistle blew for half time, the score standing 5 to 3 in favor of the Vancouver aggregation.

After the beginning of the second half, a couple of minutes' play Harry Latham, however, declared that it was not a goal because Latham had committed a foul, by touching the ball before he shot.

At three-quarter time the score stood 7 to 4 in favor of Vancouver.

In the last quarter Vancouver hunched on the field and the Westminister team, although they played up better than in any of the previous quarters, were unable to score more than once.

A little excitement took place during this quarter. A spectator, sporting the green and red, used some insulting language to Gray, one of the Westminister players.

Gray stood it for some time, and when an intermission took place, and when an intermission took place, and when an intermission took place, and when an intermission took place.

Will Gifford came on again, and after some pretty combination scoring the Westminister. Time 10 minutes 31 seconds.

Then the Vancouver team commenced to kill time by long passings and dallies with the ball. Some little amusement was caused by one of the Westminister players pausing to look at the leg of a Vancouver defence player, which was beautifully posed for a drop.

Time was called, and the match ended as already stated, in favor of Vancouver.

In its notes the Vancouver paper says: Some explanation should be forthcoming from those in charge of the match arrangements regarding the Press accommodation. It is understood that the matter will be brought up at the next meeting of the Provincial Association.

Two incidents during the progress of the game marred what would otherwise have been a model championship match. Gifford deliberately slapped Referee Cullin in the face in the centre of the field because he was ordered off for rough playing.

The other incident caused considerable commotion on the grand stand. Several boys were calling Gray, of New Westminster, "butcher," whereupon he jumped the fence and struck a young man in the face with his stick.

Referee Cullin performed his difficult task admirably, and his decisions gave no opportunity for objection from spectators or players. He was firm, and delivered his decisions quickly, refusing to be in any way influenced by captives.

The official standing of the clubs in the league is as follows: Vancouver—Played 4, won 4, lost 0. To play 4.

Westminister—Played 3, won 1, lost 2. To play 5.

Victoria—Played 3, won 0, lost 3. To play 5.

In the match between Nanaimo and Victoria intermediate teams at the Caledonian grounds on Saturday the home twelve was victorious by a score of 5 to 2.

Those who attended witnessed a fairly good exhibition of the Canadian national game. The opposing teams were evenly matched, and there were few moments during the game that were not exciting.

Neither team scored in the first quarter, checking on both sides being very close. But in the second quarter G. Simpson, of the local twelve, and S. Hague, of the Nanaimo aggregation, scored.

The order in which the goals were scored follows: First goal, Victoria, Simpson, 27 minutes.

Second goal, Nanaimo, Hague, 3 minutes.

Third goal, Victoria, Simpson, 5 minutes.

Fourth goal, Victoria, Handley, 7 minutes.

Fifth goal, Nanaimo, Hague, 2 minutes.

Sixth goal, Victoria, Simpson, 16 minutes.

Seventh goal, Victoria, Handley, 2 minutes.

lead. Hoquiam chalked down another in their seventh and Gifford's error.

The game looked like Victoria's even in Hoquiam's last inning. Baker went out on a fly to Goward, Graham, who got first on a single and stole second, was caught at third. Two men were out, but Philbrick and Halbert reached the bags on hits, and the crowd became apprehensive.

That settled the game. Victoria failed to score in their half, and Hoquiam won. It is understood that there will be no further experimenting with players and positions on the Victoria team.

NOTES. The game lacked ginger. The Hoquiam nine is not a strong one, and under ordinary circumstances Victoria would have won.

The bad condition of Chase's arm has considerable bearing on the results. His injury was received while he was sliding home in a previous game, when his arm was badly lacerated, and it is understood a small bone broken.

Whalen made a two-base hit on Saturday, but he was certainly very much off color behind the bat. Rithet and McConnell, good batters and fielders, who were unable to play on Saturday, were greatly missed.

CRICKET. SOLDIERS BEATEN BADLY. The Garrison eleven from Work Point were badly beaten at Vancouver on Saturday afternoon. The following score tells the story:

MOB OUTRAGES.

It is a sick day indeed in which at least one lynching is not reported from the United States. The newspapers are quite diligent in pointing out the evils that are likely to follow in the trail of this popular pastime, the preachers are preaching—some for and some against—this form of recreation which prances around in the name of justice, public men express themselves energetically in general condemnation, but the savagery instead of abating and showing signs of decay is becoming more popular and apparently will soon become as common in the north as it now is in the region in which it originated.

In the early stages of the disease or mania the mobs were content with the summary execution of "justice" after the manner prescribed by "Judge" Lynch. Then the sentence was pronounced, according to the popular belief, for one particular form of crime. Now the calendar has been lengthened and broadened until it comprises offences of a comparatively trivial character. At the same time the appetite for the horrible has developed with what it has fed upon until the sight of a suspended victim vainly struggling for a supply of the breath of life does not come up to the popular idea of real sport. In the earlier ages in the history of the world men, and women too, abused themselves with the sight of tortures inflicted upon fellow beings. When common forms of devilry palled with repetition new ideas in torture were evolved. Hungry wild beasts tore the victims provided too quickly. The fire was too quickly merciful in its work. Red hot pincers for tearing the shrinking flesh, fiery irons for the destruction of the tender eyeballs, the rack for stretching the obdurate limbs, and many other devices of diabolical ingenuity calculated to keep a permanent supply of sources of amusement continually in stock, were invented. In fact, the genius for invention in these days was particularly directed along these lines. Our neighbors are, therefore, but in the second stage of the great game. They have ascended from the gibbet to the stake, with a preliminary accompaniment of hacking with the knife, and other gentle ticklings of an equally merciful character.

As we have said, the calendar of alleged crimes calling for summary treatment is also being rapidly enlarged. In the preliminary stages there was an attempt to establish cures against suspects if the criminals were not actually caught in the act. A few days ago one who was merely suspected of knowing the hiding-place of the actual culprit was executed, after the popular fashion because he either could not or would not reveal the place of refuge of the person sought. In such a case it is not straining the imagination to infer that it was the power rather than the will that was lacking. There is no doubt whatever that there is reason for alarm in the United States in regard to the tendencies of the times. The people do not appear to be satisfied with freedom and liberty within the bounds of the law which is the foundation of all true freedom. They have to an extent which is exciting misgivings substantial anarchy for public order. They lay all the blame upon the law, which they claim is slow in its operations, and cannot be depended upon to operate justly. The machinery for the enforcement of law is either completely out of order or is in the control of persons who for political or other reasons refuse to put it in operation. That is to say, the petty politician, the curse of democracies, is at the bottom of all the trouble. And how are you going to suppress the petty politician in the United States? This it is that makes the situation alarming.

There surely cannot be the least doubt that the real people of the United States, the people who are the strength of the republic, will eventually rise and in their might proclaim that this terrific reproach to the nation shall be wiped out. But will they be aroused in time? It is a healthy sign that our neighbors are becoming sensitive in regard to the opinions of neighboring peoples. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer admits that when it says: "No matter how we may squirm under such criticisms we cannot deny their truth or force. Had the crimes which have recently been perpetrated by mobs in the United States occurred in Turkey peninsula there is no question that the powers of Europe would have entered an emphatic protest against them, and they might possibly have led to armed intervention. The United States is rather too big to be disciplined and no one cares to undertake the task. Moreover, the friendship of the United States is being sedulously cultivated by all of the European powers at the present time. It is worth cultivating. But it is altogether probable that when we hereafter protest against outrages perpetrated elsewhere in the world we will receive official notification to clean up our own back yard before directing the attention of the sanitary authorities to the condition of our neighbors' premises."

THE POPE.

Vicenzo Gioacchino Raffaele Aloysius Peci, Leo XIII, the 258th Bishop of Rome, whose death affects to-day so large a portion of Christendom and deeply interests the whole world, will take rank among the most brilliant of Roman ecclesiastics. With great natural capacity, he acquired and developed powers of the highest order, and in more than one field. A profound scholar, whose Latin was the envy of his contemporaries, a poet, with a neat turn for Italian and Latin verse of a small but graceful kind, a philosopher, who had won his doctorate at twenty-one; a scientific student, who would have been a great chemist; he was one of the ablest provincial governors produced by the Papal system in the days of the Temporal Power; he was a great theologian, a distinguished canonist, a master of civil law; and when he obtained the Tiara, and was suddenly called upon to assuage the passions everywhere aroused by the events and policy of Pio Nono, his statesmanship was as consummate as his personal bearing was noble and gracious. Leo XIII was supposed to be the choice of the Moderate party among the Cardinals, and there were some who hailed him as Pius IX, had been hailed, "The Reforming Pope." Certainly there was need at this crisis in the history of the Papacy of a man who knew how to give guidance. The Revolution of 1870, by depriving him of Rome, had made him declare himself a prisoner in the Vatican. He was struggling against the vast majority of the Italian people. The disciplinary measures by which the dogma of infallibility had been grossly abused, had led to positive persecution in Germany. The French clergy were permitted, if not encouraged, to set themselves against the Republic. There were some who, mistaking that save and conciliatory manner of his, thought that the new Pope would make his peace with the new King, that he would surrender to Prince Bismarck and Dr. Falk, and that he would make concessions to the party in France. Leo had written strongly in favor of the Temporal Power while at Bernini, twenty years before. He did not budge from his position. He rejected the "Law of Guarantees" as Pius had done; he would have none of the money voted by the Italian parliament. He stood up for the rights of the Church in Germany and for the privileges of the religious orders in France, like his predecessor. But he did it all with such gentleness and touching regret that he began to win back the sentiments Pius had alienated. He wrote a kindly letter to the great Emperor, and received an equivocal reply. He wrote again, pleading for freedom for Catholic people to observe the laws of their own Church. Presently the German change began, his purpose, never wavering, he won. The Kaiser, like a predecessor, went, metaphorically at all events, to Canossa. Bismarck himself suggested the Pope as mediator in the next international dispute he had. So with France. The clergy were given to understand that the Church recognized all forms of government. There was a "rally" to the Republic; and the Church of France has since enjoyed fair peace. Even in England Pope Pius had made serious unnecessary, as it seemed. Mr. Gladstone had been driven by the Vatican's treatment of his Irish University Bill, 1873, to write pamphlets and articles against the Pope. Leo adopted a kinder method. He did what he could to assist in the proper government of Ireland, not without solicitation. His subsequent condemnations of the Plan of Campaign and boycotting as political methods are still subjects of controversy; but they show a readiness able Joseph Chamberlain" is his proper, and only, titular designation. That, however, being a considerable mouthful, the newspapers usually speak of him as "Mr. Chamberlain," which the irreverent commonality, in conversation, shorten into "Joe." Mr. Gladstone, titularly, was in the same position, precisely, as Mr. Chamberlain, and it is rather curious that the people never called him "Bill" or "Willie," but delighted, apparently, in giving his long name in full, "William Ewart Gladstone," for some reason that does not lie on the surface, as, in comparing the two men, Mr. Chamberlain is the more "stand-out" from a popular point of view. Be that as it may, the designation "honorable" cannot be prefixed correctly to the name of any British politician—unless he happens to be the son of a peer as above mentioned, and "Right Honorable" applies only to the few who are Privy Counsellors (and, by courtesy, to certain mayors and lord provosts). The old country is the most truly democratic nation in the world, and, as a fact, though this is contrary to common opinion, there are, comparatively few titles there, but they swarm in her colonies and in the United States—"honorable" here, "the United States" there. In this our own back garden of the Empire, with its population of one-fifth of a million, there are, comparatively, more titles, giving precedence, than in any area of the old country with ten millions of a population, though the latter included many retired "rankers" from the colonies, India and the two services. A few peers—a handful of baronets and a bunch of, for the most part, civic knights—fill it all. Nor have the modern increases of population, with the bestowal of population.

RECORDS ON THE RAIL.

To the Editor:—Still referring to the disputed cable message the record run of the Great Western railway, I find that the Seattle Post-Intelligencer quotes the time as 22:34 minutes (June 15th). Of course this fact does not prove that that is the correct reading of the cable, but at the same time I think that it is. However, when the English papers arrive we shall probably get to know the truth of the matter and why a world's record is claimed. J. A. B., Victoria, July 17th, 1903.

TITLES OF COURTESY.

To the Editor:—You will not, I am sure, deem me too critical if, in relation to the frequent designation of Mr. Chamberlain here as the "Hon. Joseph," I remind you that there is no such individual title as "Honorable" in the old country, though a few organizations were, or are, entitled to the designation, as, for instance, the East India Company, or the Honorable Artillery Company of London. The sons of peers, of a certain grade, are commonly called "honorable," but that is by courtesy, indicating only the father's rank, if it indicates anything. On the other hand, all members of the Privy Council are styled "The Right Honorable," with a definite rank preferred by some to that of a baronetcy or knighthood, and, as the different secretaries of state must be members of that body, and Mr. Chamberlain is one of these secretaries, the "Right Honor-was told this tale of the adventures of a young Eskimo, who had recently courted the daughter of an esq., the huts of the lovers were not far removed, but one night the terrific cold ripped a great crevasse in the ice and the young man's house was left isolated. A gorge 100 feet deep and 20 feet wide separated it from the igloo, or hut, containing his sweetheart, but there was a narrow bridge of ice left across the crevasse, and this, the young man found, would bear his weight. Both men sleep in bags. The lover decided that he would that night cross the ice bridge, and the maiden he loved; bear her to his hut and then break down the bridge, so that he and she together might enjoy their honeymoon unmolested. He planned very successfully. He crept, in the dead of night, into his enemy's hut; he snatched up the maiden in her sack without awaking anyone; he bare her over the ice bridge safely and then he opened the sack to embrace his bride. But, behold! his contents, he gave a loud cry. It was not the maiden, but her father, that he had stolen.

I WONDER WHY. Mary Farrar. I wonder why the world's so bright, No matter what the weather, So full of beauty and delight, For us to share together; I wonder why the sky should be So deeply blue above you; Perhaps it is because you see, I love you!

I wonder why my heart should sing All day a song of gladness; Why every season should be Spring, No thought of care or sadness; Why every night the stars should glow With meanings just above me; Perhaps it's just because I know You love me!

THE GREAT MISUNDERSTOOD. Punch. ("Some of these men just come from England to 'live out' with the Ontario farmers have brought with them cricket and rowing outfits, golf clubs and tennis rackets. And the farmer stares at the new hired man, and the new hired man stares at the farmer.")

"The two farmers pulled up their respective beards. "Hello, Bill!" "Hello, Sam!" "I hear yeh've got a gentleman farmer workin' for yeh." "Yep." "Where did yeh get him?" "He was shunted off down at the station 'foter night. Has big mild eyes, so I thought I'd bring him home for the children to play with." "D'yer think you can keep him tame?" "Sure I can. He cuts out of my hand already."

"Yeh don't say. Is he an H-dropper or an A-fattener?" "No, he's the real thing, all right. Wears the latest little knee pants when he goes out walking on Sundays." "Go on—Is he the son of a belted knight or has he come from a country vicarage—the youngest of seventeen?" "I don't know. He hasn't worked yet." "Well, have you taken him around the farm and introduced him to the cows and horses?" "What for?" "Why, if he's a trueborn Englishman he'll not even speak to your colts pup without first having a formal introduction."

"I ought to have known that, but I forgot. I'll see that he gets a right knock-down this afternoon."

"What's he doin' fer yeh to-day?" "I set him to siftin' seed corn with his tennis racket."

"That's a good idea, and say, you'll find them steel-headed stiffer clubs fine for keeping the cooler clean when yeh're plowin' in weeds. But I must be goin' now, Geddy!" "So long, Sam."

"So long, Sam. Don't fail to let him see that we're Imperial ideas over here, and that no one man can be the whole bloomin' Empire."

"O, I'll tend to his case, don't you fret. So long." —C. A. Nuck.

DROWSIN'. Atlanta Constitution. If a fellow feels like drowsin' in this weather, let him drowse—Go drowsin' with the daisies or loatin' with the cows! Though he thinks it's time for blizzards, and the best should call a halt! Yet the good Lord runs the weather, an' it ain't a feller's fault!

The Victoria Farmers' Institute has a membership of over 200, and is doing considerable good work throughout the district. The latest move is the forming of an information bureau. A bulletin board has been posted up at Bray's livery stable, and when a member has stock or produce which he wants to dispose of and does not know of a customer, he sends particulars to the secretary, who posts it up on the board. City merchants might save many a fruitless trip by observing this board now and then.

It was a banner excursion that which went to Nanaimo yesterday to witness the baseball game between the local senior nine and the Black Diamond team. Nine cars left the E. & N. depot in the morning, crowded with the excursionists, and this crowd was augmented by another carload of people on the return trip. The baseball match resulted in a win for the home nine by a score of eleven to four, this too, despite the fact that James Holmes, Victoria's crack pitcher, was engaged by the Nanaimo team for the game.

Labor hall was quiet last night to listen to an able and interesting lecture on "The Socialist Party, Its Organization, Its Aims and Objects, and Why Workingmen Should Belong to It," by R. P. Pettipiece, editor of the Western Clarion, of Vancouver. The speaker described the Socialist movement as being now a world-wide political movement; a class-conscious organism, primarily a working-class movement; it was revolutionary, in that it desired a complete change of the present economic system, and had no patience with palliatives or reforms to patch up the existing wage system. Capitalism had in itself the germs of its own destruction, while the Socialist aimed at a revolution in thought which would culminate in a peaceful revolution at the ballot box. He urged the timid, hesitating, would-be Socialist to come into this world-wide movement and assist in this grand work for the liberation of all humanity.

glacier in Lynn canal. Heretofore the ship has approached only close enough for the excursionists to view the face of the glacier. This time, however, a landing was found, and the 148-party spent some time at that point. Davidson glacier is about two miles wide and thirty miles long, and connects with Muir glacier. The excursionists were able to reach the top of the glacier, and several photographs were taken. All over the top of the glacier are deep blue holes, in some places 100 feet deep. The excursionists approached close enough to see the bottom. The Davidson glacier has never been visited before, but in the future the ship will stop on each trip.

THE NEW GOLD STRIKE.

Manager of a White Horse Bank Brings Confirmation of the News.

Mr. C. G. K. Nourse, manager of the White Horse branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, arrived in Vancouver from Skagway on Saturday, bringing confirmation of the reported gold discovery and stamped in a new district to the northwest of White Horse. Mr. Nourse is the pioneer Bank of Commerce official in the Yukon district, having been there for nearly six years, and is well prepared to judge of the situation. He had seen some of the gold brought out, and, judging from the reports, the strike should prove a rich one. The stampede to the scene was very thorough, and had almost emptied White Horse. Prominent men such as Judge Jackson, Mr. F. F. McKittrick, of the Electric Works; Mr. McLaughlin and others joined in the rush, and pack horses could not be secured in White Horse for love or money the day he left. The Northwest Mounted Police had dispatched officers to the scene to preserve order, etc., and other officials were being sent in.

A powder magazine exploded at Roanoke, Va., on Saturday afternoon while a Norfolk & Western passenger train was passing. The windows of the cars were smashed and the sides of the coaches damaged. Many passengers were injured and badly shaken up.

IS SEEKING MORE.

Washington, July 18.—No communication has yet reached the state department from the British government about several islands off the coast of Borneo, claimed by the United States. Secretary of State Hay has looked personally into the matter and satisfied himself that the British government had not the shadow of a claim on the islands in question. When the British inquiry reaches here the attention of the London government will be called to the treaty of 1885 between Great Britain, Germany and Spain by which the last named nation was to have title over all the islands outside a marine league's distance of the Borneo coast. Charts and maps show the location of the seven islands in controversy clearly outside of the marine league, and therefore under the treaties with Spain and the Sultan of Jolo the property of the United States. It is explained that the islands have strategic importance.

THE "CHIEFTAIN'S" FIGHT WITH WHALE

HER VAIN STRUGGLE TO LAND LEVIATHAN

An Eighty-Two Pound Salmon Taken by A. B. C. Boat—Latest News From Essington.

(Special Correspondence of the Times.)
Port Essington, July 14.—The political campaign opened here on the 30th ult., when at a well attended meeting of the Conservatives of the district Mr. C. W. Clifford was unanimously nominated as the Conservative candidate for the parliamentary division at the coming general election. Mr. Clifford announced that the Hon. R. McBride and himself would visit Port Essington later on and deliver campaign speeches. He especially alluded to the advantages of the Kitimat-Hazelton railway scheme, and felt sure that a Conservative government would favor it. The registration of voters of both parties is proceeding briskly. The steamer Hazelton somewhat unexpectedly got away on her first trip up the river on Tuesday, 8th inst., and took a full complement of passengers for Hazelton, as well as freight for the salmon hatchery on the Lakelse river. This telegraph line being down between this place and Kitsasnoo Canyon, the news of the height of the river at the canyon was previously unavailable, and it was thought that the canyon would not be navigable for another fortnight.

The fishing season has been very backward, and so far the catch has not fulfilled expectations. Sockeyes, however, are now beginning to run. A monster spring salmon weighing 82 pounds was recently caught by one of the boats belonging to the A. B. C. Packing Co. The latest fishing yarn is a whale story. One of the boats out at sea made a haul of a young 30-foot sperm whale, which played havoc with the net and threatened the boat. The Skeena Packing Co.'s tug "Chieftain" went to the rescue, and succeeded in getting a line round the whale's head, and every ounce of lead on board the steamer was fired into the black carcass, several charges of shot penetrating the blow hole, but without much effect. The whale in its struggles spun the "Chieftain" round like a top. Eventually it sank, a dead weight, in a vertical position, tail downward, and the rope unfortunately slipping over its head, the captive was lost.

The D. G. S. Kestrel anchored in the river on Sunday evening, and left again on Monday afternoon.

Several enjoyable social functions have taken place. On Dominion Day Mr. and Mrs. Kirby gave a dance at the Hotel Essington. On the 9th inst., Mrs. J. Cunningham gave a tennis tea. Mr. J. Cunningham is president of the local tennis club. The 4th of July was celebrated at the North Pacific cannery by sports of various kinds. Miss Wallace, of Essington, brought back nearly all the ladies' prizes. Later in the afternoon the steamer Hazelton, several of the tannery tugs, and the Alaskan from the American side landed crowds of excursionists, and Port Essington was made gay for the rest of the evening with bands and fireworks.

Dr. Whittington, superintendent of the Methodist missions on the coast, is up the river on a tour of inspection, and Mr. C. B. Sward, fishery inspector, is here for a few days, having been superintending operations at the hatchery up the river. Mr. R. Cunningham has had plans drawn for an extension of the Hotel Essington, which will nearly double its present capacity, and this increased accommodation is badly needed when the steamers come in, and especially in the spring and fall when Port Essington fills up with passengers bound north or south, or to and from the interior.

Mr. George Cunningham goes south on business in the steamer Danube this week.

Dr. Quinan, of Victoria, has had a dentist's parlor opened at the Hotel Essington for some weeks past.

Mr. J. Bryden has been here awaiting new materials for work on his mine up the Oxstall river. The diamond drill recently at work broke off some 6 feet down, but a new drill will shortly be in operation.

the Starrs control of that rich route, and they arranged to maintain the monopoly by building the North Pacific, a boat which retained her prestige longer than any other Puget Sound steamer, with the possible exception of the Eliza Anderson. The North Pacific was launched at San Francisco on May 18th, and arrived at Olympia June 14th, 1871. With such a comparatively economical, as well as well equipped craft, the Starrs decided they could work against any opposition which might arise, and accordingly discontinued the subsidy to the owners of the Olympia, which in a very short time was back on the route. Then began one of the greatest struggles in steamboating that the Sound has yet seen. Captain Starr opened hostilities with a grand free excursion on June 29th. Two days before he raced the North Pacific against the Olympia, making the run from Victoria to Port Townsend in two hours and forty-one minutes, three minutes better time than that of his opponent. Finally, after an extended period of warfare, another compromise was reached whereby the Olympia was withdrawn from the service and the North Pacific was kept on the run. In 1876 she raced with the steamer Dakota, making the trip to Port Townsend in two hours and a half, beating her rival by half a mile. The Starrs kept the steamer on the Victoria route until they had disposed of their interests to the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company. In 1888 she broke a walking beam and cylinder, sustaining damages amounting to $30,000, but was again repaired, and continued in commission, except at intervals, until the Union Pacific abandoned the run. She was then laid up, but made occasional trips in place of the City of Kingston, until February 1894, when she was retired for a number of years. Subsequently she was placed back on the run again, and for some time was operated in opposition to the Rosalie. For a time she entered the Klondike trade, and eventually a new run was found for her on the Seattle and Vancouver run, where she was used in connection with the Mailand by the Western Steam Navigation Company, of Seattle. Capt. Roberts began his career with the North Pacific, and among others who have seen service have been the late Capt. Morrison and many prominent steamboat men. The steamer was 178 feet long and 52 feet beam over all.

WILSHIRE'S FOR JULY.

In view of the enormous gains recently made by the Socialists in Germany, Mary Simons Johnston's article on the Rise of Socialism in America, in Wilshire's Magazine for July, is timely and suggestive reading. Marvelous Ocean Dredges, by A. G. Hubert, is a graphic and fully illustrated description of the construction and operation of the big dredging vessels that are now at work on the difficult underwater enterprise of digging out the new 40-foot Ambrose channel in New York harbor. In The Borderland of Utopia, W. P. Portland attacks Editor Wilshire's well-known economic position, and the editor ably defends his views. "The Leaves of Life Are Dropping One by One" is an interesting sketch of the character and work of Hon. F. O. MacCartney, the brilliant Socialist leader who died recently in Massachusetts, written by Margaret Halle, a personal friend and co-worker. While Slaves is a description by a Southern writer who thoroughly knows his ground, of the conditions in the Southern cotton mills, with particular reference to the employment of child labor. Julian Hawthorne in Cosmic Consciousness discusses the philosophy of a possible conscious realization by the individual of his unity with the whole, a theory which is growing in popularity from day to day. The Kepp-ton-Wace Letters, recently published by MacMillan, receives a very extended and sympathetic review. The editorial discuss in a statesman-like manner The Future Policy of the United States and Joseph Chamberlain's Programme. Numerous illustrations, short sketches and poems serve to diversify and lighten up this unusually attractive number.

A TECHNICAL POINT. Are B. C. Members at Ottawa Entitled to Registration?

Application is to be made to the courts tomorrow to compel the collector of votes to accept for registration the names of a number of residents of Victoria who are temporarily out of the province. The point has arisen in connection with the registration of the names of the Ottawa members, the registrar holding that they must have actually resided in the province for a certain period anterior to the placing of their names on the lists. As there seems to be no probability of the session closing till late in August or September, the enforcement of this rule would disfranchise Senator Templeman, Messrs. Riley, Earle and others.

August or September, the enforcement of this rule would disfranchise Senator Templeman, Messrs. Riley, Earle and others.

In view of this fact a stated case will be taken to the court, and application be made for a writ of mandamus to compel the collector of votes to register the names. H. Dallas Holmbeck, K. C., who has taken the initiative in the matter, will be assisted by L. P. Duff, K. C., representing the Liberals, and the registrar will be represented by the Deputy Attorney-General, Mr. McLean.

It is contended that the position of these members is somewhat analogous to that of a British consul, who may represent his country abroad in an official way, but who, wherever he may be acting, is still technically on British soil.

Steamers Amor, Cottage City and the Danube Have Arrived From Northern Ports. Appropriate Addresses Were Delivered Both Morning and Evening by Rev. W. J. Hindley.

There was a report in circulation on the waterfront this morning to the effect that the American brig, Challenger, Capt. Fowkes, had been quarantined at William Head, Inquiry from Dr. Watt, however, elicited the information that the rumor is entirely incorrect.

The Challenger left Mazatlan on June 28th, and arrived at William Head last night, where she remained at anchor until this morning, doubtless giving the erroneous impression that she had been quarantined.

TESTING DEFENDERS. Results of Two Days' Trials Between Reliance and Constitution.

The latest aspirant for cup-defending honors, the Reliance, was defeated on Friday by the Constitution in the initial run of the New York yacht cruise from Gloucester to New Haven, Conn.

The new boat led almost from the start and was in her usual position at the finish, but the Belmont boat, after being at one time more than a mile astern, came up with a rush at the close, and was only fifty-nine seconds behind her rival at the line.

As the Reliance allows the Constitution two minutes and seventeen seconds in thirty-seven miles, the length of the run, the latter won by one minute and six seconds.

During the first ten minutes the Reliance and Constitution pulled by the Columbia very rapidly, but fifteen minutes after the wind fell almost flat.

During the next hour there was a fine tussle between the Reliance and the Columbia, and at one time the latter succeeded in getting out ahead to the extent of about a quarter of a mile.

The breeze proved fickle, however, and when it dropped it left the Reliance first, so that the Constitution was able to draw up to her, but could not quite catch her.

While the Reliance managed to cross in the lead, the Belmont boat was one second less than a minute astern, both boats flying across the line under a great press of sails.

The Reliance beat the Constitution in elapsed time by fifty-nine seconds and the Columbia seven minutes and twenty-one seconds.

Club fleet made a remarkably quick run from New Haven to New London port, 30 miles, and the Reliance not only led the fleet, but retrieved her laurels by defeating the Constitution by 6 minutes 31 seconds.

The schooner yacht Navahoe was the first boat to reach Red on Saturday in the handicap yacht race from the Island of Heligoland to this place, which was stated Thursday.
