Number: WAR 86238

From WDSCA PT for USPOLAD

Fol left State Dept by officer of Nz Leg: "For some weeks the Nz Govt has been endeavoring to secure approval for Mrs. Quilliam to join her husband, Brigadier R. H. Quilliam, Nz Associate Prosecutor for Inter War Crimes Tribunal in Tokyo. SCAP has so far refused permission, upon the grounds of inadequate housing and uncertain duration of stay. Mrs. Quilliams visit to Japan to join her husband has been approved by the CINC of the British Commonwealth Occupation Force, who has also approved of her residing with Brig Quilliam in the Canadian Emb. It also appears that according to advice received by the Nz Govt, Brig Quilliams task will not be finished before the middle of next year, when he will have spent some 18 months in Tokyo. The Nz Govt is most anxious that Brig Quilliam should continue in his position, which he contemplated relinquishing unless he is joined by Mrs. Quilliam, and consequently desires to make every effort to secure the necessary permission. It is considered that the refusal by the Supreme Commander of this the Nz Govts sole request to him, may perhaps be based upon inadequate consideration, and it is earnestly hoped that the matter may be well and thoroughly re-considered with a view to making an early and favorable decision."

Japanese Agrarian reform is subj.

Fol are questions raised at recent meeting of FEC subcommittee. Would appreciate answers thereto for use by US members of said subcommittee.

1. Why is the limit on land to be retained by a landlord in Hokkaido 12 CHO as compared with 3 CHO outside of Hokkaido when, according to Japanese statistics, land outside of Hokkaido is only about twice as productive per acre as land in Hokkaido?

2. Will the Govt subsidy be paid on all land purchased from landlords under the land reform program, in excess of the 3 or 12 CHO to be retained by such landlords? If not, how many CHO of land will the subsidy be paid?

3. How were the average prices to be paid per CHO of land by cultivator to the landlord arrived at? Is there any statistical basis for these figures?

4. Why was it decided that, in any future renegotitation of purchase contracts, purchasers payments should be allowed to go as high as 1/3 of the gross yield of land, when the present purchase prices, amortized over 30 years, would appear, at present crop prices, to constitute about 3% of the gross yield of the land?

Cannot reconcile current request for Haggard as your top public relations man, CAF 15 in view of theater selecting Leon Durst over Haggard in Aug when both were offered at CAF 12. As you know, CAD and State Dept negotiations for man to fill this job have been aimed at obtaining Drew Middleton or man of Middleton caliber. Middleton out but search is continuing for someone of same stature and would not recommend dropping our sights despite drawbacks and delay. Importantance this position recognized by all. Mr Petersen has interviewed Haggard whom he considers good number 2 or section chief materiel, but had no idea he was being considered for number 1 job. He concurs that efforts should continue to recruit someone who will meet all requirements, quite possibly at personal sacrifice in salary. Have discussed with Gen Parks who concurs in prolonging search. Hope position can be filled immediate future.

Re part 5. Suggest that media providing essential svs to Japan be permitted to continue to secure partial compensation by sale of svs for yen usable to pay operating costs in Japan properly allocable to provision such svs. Any excess yen accumulated over and above expenditures for spd types of operating costs would be turned over to SCAP periodically, and SCAP would pay to Japanese foreign trade fund (Every effort should be made to limit yen prices paid so there will be no substantial excess yen accumulations).

All expenses allocable to procurement of services in Japan for use outside Japan should be paid in yen procured by interested media with dollar remittances. Provision of svs to Japan for benefit of occupation and collection of svs from Japan for use by media outside Japan should be considered completely sep opr and no yen collected in Japan should be usable to pay any part of expenses (Including Japan-US cable charges) of procurement of svs for use outside Japan, which must be considered Japanese exports payable in full in dollars by recipient. Acct by agencies should be made to SCAP of total yen revenue and yen expenditures with sep breakdown of oprs for supply of cultural material and acquisition any material for sale outside Japan.

Only exception this principle might be allowance by fair yen profit on sale of svs to Japan, which might be retained by supplying company to pay parts of costs of procurement of svs for use outside Japan by same company, (with exception of Japan-US cable costs which will continue on present collect basis). Cable charges to Japan must be paid in dollars, and reimbursement for such charges would have to come from trust fund. Therefore, proposal urad C 65274 on pmt handling charge press messages not recommended. It is suggested that pmt of US-Japan cable costs to extent approved by SCAP be part of overall reorientation program payable from export-import acct.

Reurad CC 5933 concur in your view that present ration levels must eventually be raised to prevent continuing physical deterioration from permanently damaging gen health German population to point where realization of continuing objectives of occupation will prove impossible. As auth of target ration of 1800 calories per day for normal consumer for F/Y 48 involves departure from current interpretation of prevention of disease and unrest policy matter has been referred to SWNCC for determination.

Future budgetary action on such proposal might not present insurmountable difficulties if food imports to Germany were only demand on appropriated funds and if economy all governmental operations were not now paramount consideration. Anticipate deficiency appropriation of $370,000,000 will have hard sledding. We are taking over on Jan 1st sup reqmts for Ryukyus and US Zone Austria for which no funds have been appropriated. Pres has directed WD to take necessary action to support an adequate Korean sup program.

Reqmts presented Budget Advisory Committee for govt and relief of occupied areas for FY 48 total over $1,270,000,000. Anticipate that when appropriation is finally made by Congress it will be substantially below this amt. In accordance with your estimate for US Zone Germany, it includes food imports to sup 1550 calorie ration for normal consumer. It is now being reviewed by BAC and next step will be presentation to Budget Bureau.

CINCAFPAC, Tokyo, Japan

Number: WAR 81893

From WDSCA 40. Reurad June CX 61806.

On 1 Aug Civil Aeronautics Board with Presidential approval announced its so called Pacific decision awarding new routes for US airlines to Alaska, the Orient and Australia. Following routes are those intended to serve Japan:

Northwest Airlines to operate from NY, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul via Edmonton to Anchorage (with another route Seattle to Anchorage) thence proceeding via Aleutians and Kuriles to Tokyo, Shanghai and terminating at Manila. Another sector to be operated by Northwest extends from Tokyo to Harbin thence to Mukden, Darien, Peiping and Nanking to Shanghai, while still another sector would connect Tokyo and Shanghai via Seoul. (For your restricted info, present bilateral negotiations with Chinese indicate some question of getting into Manchuria although we are still pressing for stop at Mukden at least. Northwest says it can operate North Pacific without stopping at Kuriles.)

2. Pan American Airways presently certified Pacific route from the US West Coast to Hong Kong via Midway, Wake, Guam, and Manila is amplified to provide a new route from US, Honolulu and Midway into Tokyo, thence to Shanghai and Hong Kong to Saigon (where connection is made with PanAms round the world route via India) and onward to Singapore and Batavia.

State informs us that in line with this Govts policy of extending international network of US Airlines and promoting general development of International Air Transport, it is desired to obtain at proper time rights of transit and non-traffic stop in Japanese Territory, as well as right to pick and discharge international traffic in passengers cargo and mail at Tokyo, on aforementioned routes. It is contemplated such rights would be granted this Govt which in turn would permit aforementioned airlines to exercise them under their CAB certificates.

Directive now being drafted but not finally approved contemplates SCAP would control International Civil Avaiation serving Japan, and that no discrimination would be exercised against Nationals of any United Nation which does not discriminate against civil aviation of Allied Nations in former enemy countries occupied by it. Will be sent you for comment soonest. Have noted ured CX 61806. On bais directive along above lines can you state informally when you will be prepared to grant auth for transit and non-traffic stop to commercial airlines? Can you foresee when right to pick up and discharge international traffic in passengers, cargo and mail and Tokyo, limited if necessary due to other policies to Govt pers and cargo, can be granted?

As illustration of arrangements necessary, Northwest estimates it will need to have one or two or its employees in Japan to work out detailed operating arrangements for a number of weeks prior to initiation of operations. For transit and refueling operation about 15 US pers will be required as regular employees. They propose to bring in by private cargo ships fuel, supplies and equip, prefabricated housing, and food. Discussions and proceeding with Treasury respect problems of financing necessary expenditures in Japan including probable employment of Japanese clerical workers and common labor.

Both Northwest and PANAM believe they could start regular sv into and thru Japan within three months but would desire send few representatives to Tokyo in immediate future to work out detailed operating arrangements.

Proposed operations US Airlines names above, and presumably International Airlines of other countries are not regarded by State as solely commercial ventures but also as means of strengthening international air network. Also, failure to get stop at Tokyo would seriously hinder implementation of CABs entire Pacific route decision.

Separate telegram will be sent to Hodges re Korea.

Your assumption correct.

In view of instructions contained ourad re applicability of rate to be used for remittances to Germany and since in our view conversion into RM of dollar assets of repatriates is a form of remittance we cannot agree to suggestion contained herein that two and one half to one rate should be used. Full release follows: "Continuation of the Joint State War Navy Program for utilizing the scientific knowledge and skills of selected German and Austrian specialists in science and technology to further American military research and development has been announced by the State, War and Navy Departments.

It is planned within the next several months to bring to the United States additional volunteer Austro-German specialists to join the more than 200 brought over since the end of the war in Europe.

These men, who will be thoroughly screened on the basis of ability and potential contribution to furthering Americas military and industrial development necessary to the defense and prosperity of the nation will at first concentrate their efforts exclusively on Army-Navy projects.

Upon completion of their work for the Army and the Navy they will be madeavailable to American industry through auspices of the Department of Commerce after a further thorough screening and investigation to determine their eligibility for status under immigration laws.

American industry is already benefiting from the work of the scientists brought here under the original program. Results of their research for the military organizations which may be of general interest and value and do not conflict with questions of military security are being distributed to private industry and research centers through the Publication Board of the Department of Commerce.

The armed services plan as soon as it is practicable to release the services of the majority of the Austro-German specialists to private industry.

In addition to their valuable work in such fields as electronics, supersonics, guided missiles and jet propulsion for the armed services, they are also making distinctive contributions in such fields of general interest to industry as fuels and lubricants, diesel and turbo jet engines, optics, synthetics and other phases of applied physics and chemistry.

The original program of utilizing German and Austrian scientists and technicians in furthering the war against Japan was conceived following VE Day and approved by the Departments of State, War and Navy.

Due to the known value of the skills and knowledge of these men and the overall shortage of trained scientific and technical personnel in their specialized fields in the United States it has recently been decided to bring over a select number as immigrants for permanent employment in civil industrial research and development as well as on military projects.

The policy of utilizing the scientific skills of Germans and Austrians is also being followed by other Allied powers participating in the European occupation.

By August 1946 over 200 of the leading Austro-German scientists were working for the armed services under contract and in a limited custody.

It is planned that within the next 12 months Austro-German scientists will be joined by their families; some of them may eventually be permitted to become permanent residents of the United States so that their abilities will become a permanent asset of the nation.

All of the people concerned are screened in Europe and undergo further thorough screening and investigation here before they are assigned to military projects or before their qualification for permanent status is determined.

Detailed security safeguards have been established. No scientist will begin work on any research or development project prior to careful examination of his political background and will remain under observation for the period of limited custody before transportation of his family to the United States or processing of his request for immigration status and release from protective custody.

It is emphasized that those found to be active Nazis, war criminals or suspected war criminals are eliminated from the entire program of utilizing Austro-German scientific knowledge and skill through a thorough screening first in Europe and again in the United States, and that all specialists brought to the United States are volunteers."

Secretary of State's speech at Stuttgart will have to be kept alive for some time,

(A) Because it represents key document of US policy toward Germany of unprecedented explicitness and significance;

(B) Because likely provoke continued strong reactions and may be subj to misinterpretation, both inside and outside Germany;

(C) Because audiences other zones Germany unlikely receive full presentation of its contents through their info media.

For your info and guidance State Dept suggests fol points be stressed in future comments on speech:

(1) Motive behind this declaration of policy can be seen in Secretary's statement that "The millions of Germans should not be forced to live in doubt as to their fate." Secretary's speech was made in an effort to let Germans know where they stand, as far as intentions of this Govt are concerned. Desire to give full and frank info to people concerned is characteristic of practice of democratic government.

(2) Secretary has made clear that American position toward Germany is predicated on two fundamental tenets:

(1) Determination to eliminate once and for all possibility of revival of German aggression at any time; and at same time

(2) Desire to see Germany re-emerge as nation, headed by democratic government, working and living on sound economic basis, ultimately to be accepted into "an honorable place among free and peace-loving nations of world"

(3) American desire for speedy and eff settlement of German program is integral part of US Foreign Policy, whose main objective is maintenance of world peace.

(4) Details of US program for Germany's rehabilitation logical and simple:

a. On economic side, US holds that prevailing hardships are essentially inevitable consequence of policies of Nazi regime and its defeat. But we want to see these hardships lessened (rather than aggravated or perpetuated) through establishment of conditions which will permit Germany to improve her standard of living through hard work and ultimately to achieve self-supporting balanced economy.

To these ends, US stands for treatment of Germany as an economic unit, elimination of inter-zonal economic barriers, speedy establishment of central adm agencies, especially in fields of finance, agriculture, transport, industry, and foreign trade, and level of industry to be left to Germany which is compatible with above-stated principle. Mindful of experience after last war, US believes Germany's reparations bill should be settled quickly and does not believe reparations should be exacted from current industrial output (over prolonged period of time)

b. On political side, US considers present status of Germany, with lack of German government, as provisional condition. US is aware of ill-effects of domination of Germany by "armies of alien soldiers and alien bureaucrats," although it realizes its present necessity. US thinks that the time has come for Germans to prepare for establishment of central government of their own, "under proper safeguards." It favors "early establishment of provisional German government," viz "German National Council," to function under supervision of Allied Control Council, and to be composed of government heads of various German states or provinces. This provisional government should in time be replaced by elected body.

Future German constitution whose drafting should be task of national council, should be Federal in character, its final form to be decided, subj to apl by Allied Control Council, by elected German government and ratified by German people. American insistence on Federal nature of future German government is merely implementation of Potsdam declaration, which provides that "The adm of affairs in Germany should be directed toward decentralization of political structure and development of local responsibility".

In this connection we should explain that US will not agree to permit re-establishment of arbitrary central government of Nazi type. Central government which US wishes to see established is to be one whose representative character is insured by its firm ties with people and with their local and regional units. We should explain that this position does not involve any intention of "dismembering" Germany. Without going into details, we should state that American conception is more closely related to German"Bundesstaat," than to more loosely linked "Staatenbund" of German past. We should stress that American idea is to develop government structure from bottom to top, and to guard against creation of highly centralized structure which would lend itself to usurpation of peoples will by dictatorial forces. But US will support establishment of central government strong enough to meet legitimate peace time needs of reintegrated Germany.

(5) We should emphasize American position on final settlement of Germany's territorial status.

(6) We should stress that Secretary envisages Germany's acceptance, "in time," among members of United Nations."

(7) We should stress that speech represents strong reassertion of US determination to live up to its commitment for control and occupation of Germany.

(8) We should stress American awareness that Secretary has expounded only US program for Germany. While determined to put its full weight behind realization of this policy, US must anticipate exchange of differing views among four powers responsible for control of Germany.

(9) In presenting future inter-Allied discussions, we should stress US initiative in arriving, with greatest possible speed, at practical solution of German problem which shall insure that Germany shall not become pawn or satellite "in military struggle for power between East and West." To give non-Jewish DPs better understanding of possibilities and difficulties of resettlement and to stimulate repatriation, suggest that (in agreement with UNRRA) statement along fol lines be circulated among DPs, posted in each DP camp (except those for Jewish persecutees) in your zone, and released to press. This statement is based on present situation in Western Hemisphere countries.

"US policy toward DPs is to encourage voluntary repatriation wherever possible as best solution for all concerned. As it is, moreover, manifestly impossible to continue operating DP camps indefinitely, US Govt has assisted in initiating international action to investigate resettlement opportunities for those DPs unwilling for valid reasons to return to their homelands. Negotiations for resettlement have been instituted with number of countries in Western Hemisphere.

Immigration into US is definitely limited within current laws to specific quotas. Possibility of any liberalization of these laws is uncertain. Canadian Govt has not announced any policy for admission of DPs other than 4,000 Poles from Italy, and it is understood that no special provision for admission of unusual numbers of immigrants exists at this time.

Conversations with Latin American Govts indicate that resettlement of DPs in those countries is not likely to begin in any sizeable numbers for at least a year, nor will conditions of resettlement be easy. These countries desire chiefly small family units of skilled farmers able to work in subtropical or tropical climate, often under pioneering circumstances. Smaller numbers of mechanics, semi-skilled factory operatives, and construction workers may also be admitted. Countries often prefer immigration of nationalities not included in DP categories. It may be expected that before new immigrants can acquire land holdings of their own most of them will have to work for varying periods as farm laborers at modest wage level. Indeed substantial improvement in their economic conditions in countries of reception over such conditions in countries of origin is problematical. Large or rapid group resettlement programs cannot be expected unless substantial gifts or loans in foreign exchange or machinery imports are provided. Possibility of this is not great.

In view of this info it is believed that each of you should reexamine desirability of repatriation to your own homeland while there are still months of good weather ahead. For vast majority of DPs the only alternatives to repatriation are:

1. Resettlement possibly after a wait of several years, for a limited number of acceptable immigrants, probably several thousand miles away in sparsely inhabited areas under conditions such as those cited, or

2. Eventual absorption into German population.

This info is presented so that you will have something more than rumors of easy, quick and large-scale resettlement upon which to base your decision on returning to your homeland."

Request report of your action this matter.

Number: WAR 99343

From WDSCA PT. Reured Aug C 64260.

Day before receipt of your C 64260, Brit again inquired of State Dept concerning Heseltines apmt.

They informed State they did not intend to press for apmt of other experts but feel their property interests in Japan warrant pressing matter of Heseltines apmt.

Brit latest note on subject contains fol: "Selection of Mr Heseltine arose as result of request by General MacArthur in March asking that Allies should send representatives to Japan to assist in identification of property belonging to Nationals of their respective countries. The Supreme Commander indicated that he would not be ready to receive such representatives before July. Toward end of May General Hq approached the United Kingdom Liaison Mission asking that assistance should be given on such work pending arrival of the British representative selected for these duties. It is apparent therefore that it is desired by both Supreme Commander and His Majestys Govt that work of custodian office, in its relation to British properties, should be conducted without delay."

"Mechanics of apmt of Mr Heseltine have unfortunately served to prevent assumption of his duties. It is necessary for him to be provided with food and lodging and this Embassy inquired of State Dept on June 22 whether Supreme Commander would agree to provide rations and accommodations, against pmt if necessary. In their reply of 11 July the State Dept recalled that, whereas this Embassy had been previously advised that matter of apmt of British Nationals to staff of Supreme Recent SWNCC decision permits dollars in export funds to be used for implementation of reorientation program. This includes inter alia books, newspapers, periodicals, films exchange of persons (including students, educators, scientific pers and other cultural representatives (music, art, translation rights and copyrights, and imported sups) such as paper (and services) such as wire services (necessary to effective program.)

At present time, privately owned US cultural media can participate in reorientation program only if they can afford dollar outlays with no gusrantee of return. Representation such media could be broadened if each were reimbursed in dollars to extent you consider activities essential.

Request your views as to degree of essentiality of this program to objectives of occupation compared with balance category 2 program already submitted in Japanese civilian import rqmts program revision 1, dated 11 June 1946. Indicate maximum doller expenditure you will authorize for various parts of program as listed above to be added to import program for screening here.

In this connection, news agencies and other cultural activities now licensed are pressing to obtain dollars in return for services in Japan. Understand news services have indicated to you monthly dollar remts not in excess of total dollars $30,000 per month for AP, UP, and INS.

Unless you have made statement as indicated in TFGCG 471 it is suggest fol be used as basis for public statement.

State, War and Navy Depts concur that issuance of public statement or statements by General Hodge condemning undemocratic practices of certain elements of extreme right and extreme left, including Korean Communist Party, would have desirable effect of winning vacillating leftist groups away from communist domination if statements are phrased as exposure of specific individuals or groups because of specific actions and not as condemnation of any political ideology. General denunciation of communist ideology might have adverse effect on Paris negotiations. By refraining from any open denouncement along ideological lines, position would be preserved that would not compromise possible future local or governmental negotiations between US and USSR. Suggestion contained in urad that references to foreign direction would be eliminated is concurrred in here. Statements should not be defensive in approach, should be bolstered by clear indication that does not contemplate withdrawal from Korea before true independence is assured, and should be combined or synchronized with positive steps toward self-gov.

In any statement that is made it may be found desirable to cover points.

Dictatorship by minority, obstructionism and terrorism are antithesis of democracy. Few Koreans who follow such tactics are injuring cause of independence and democracy, are hurting their fellow Koreans, and harming Korea. Each act of terrorism or obstructionism delays day of complete independence. Each time Korean shows that he has surrendered his independence of judgment and each time some small group attempts to impose its will on Korean people, progress toward achievement of independence is impeded. This general line of argument may be supported by examples of type cited in urad. Such examples should be as factual as possible and should indicate that we condemn only persons or groups that commit undemocratic acts. If possible, some of examples should be of undemocratic acts by extreme rightists as well as by Korean communists.

From the Joint Chiefs of Staff to MacArthur.

State, War and Navy Departments request that the following be transmitted to the United States Representative on the Allied Council for Japan for his personal information and guidance, with the information that it is furnished for his assistance and it is not believed desirable to introduce or discuss it as a whole in the Allied Council for Japan:

"Regarding the terms of reference of the Far Eastern Commission and the Allied Council for Japan, following are the views of the U.S. Government:

1. Review of U.S. Directives to the Supreme Commander: U.S. directives issued through the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers, either pursuant to policy decisions of the Far Eastern Commission or prior to the formulation of such policy decision, are subject to review by the Commission to the extent that the subject or substance of such directive is within the review jurisdiction of the Commission. In any case where the Commission is dissatisfied with a U. S. directive within the Commission's jurisdiction the appropriate action by the Commission is to issue a statement of policy which will cause the U.S. Government to change the directive.

2. Review of actions taken by the Supreme Commander.

a. Action taken pursuant to specific directives. Whenever the Commission is dissatisfied with an action taken by the Supreme Commander and the U.S. Government determines that such action was taken pursuant to a specific directive issued to him through the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the appropriate action by the Commission would be to review the directive, not the action of the Supreme Commander.

b. Action taken by Supreme Commander pursuant to broad directives. The Supreme Commander takes many actions upon his own initiative to implement broad directives issued by the United States Government. When the Far Eastern Commission has under consideration a policy which would reverse any such action, the recommendations of the Supreme Commander thereon should be given full weight by the Commission because of the political undesirability in Japan of reversing the Supreme Commander on any important phase of the occupation. The statement in the Moscow agreement that 'the functions of the Far Eastern Commission shall be ..... to review ..... any action taken by the Supreme Commander involving policy decisions within the jurisdiction of the Commission' shall be interpreted to mean that, although the Far Eastern Commission in arriving at a policy decision may discuss any action taken by the Supreme Commander, formal review action should be limited to those matters upon which the Commission has reached a policy decision. The action taken by the Commission as a result of such review should be either a clarification of its earlier policy decision or a statement to the United States Government indicating the Commission's objection to the Supreme Commander's action and its reasons for considering the action to be inconsistent with its policy decision.

3. Administrative authority of the Supreme Commander. It is to be noted that in the discharge of his responsibilities as the sole executive authority for the occupation, the Supreme Commander necessarily initiates and accomplishes many details of administration, flowing from the surrender terms and the basic policy directives, which are not covered by individual directives. The Supreme Commander's duty and authority to undertake such necessary administrative actions are implicit in the Moscow agreement.
