Professor Edwin Mims of Vanderbilt University to Deliver Address

GLENDALE Union high school today has 178 seniors who are feverishly marking-time in anticipation of tomorrow night's commencement exercises at the Glendale Theatre when they will receive their official passports to a "more abundant life."

Professor Edwin Mims, member of the faculty of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, and exchange professor during the past term at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, will be the speaker of the occasion. The subject of his address will be: "Life As An Adventure."

Professor Mims is a prominent author, lecturer and educator. He contributed the articles upon "Shakespeare" appearing in the "Encyclopedia Americana." He has edited several English classics and has lectured before the New York Chautauqua and under the auspices of a number of universities including Stanford. He is a director of the Modern Language Association of America and a member of the National Council of Teachers of English. He is also a member of the Joint Hymn Book Committee of the Methodist church. He was born in Richmond, Arkansas, and has degrees from both Vanderbilt and Cornell universities.

"I feel that we are particularly fortunate in obtaining a man of this calibre to address the graduating class," remarked George U. Moyle, principal of the high school. "He is a very fine orator and I am sure he will bring a message that will be worth while."

The class of 1923 will meet on the campus about 7 o'clock tomorrow night. Girls will be attired in white dresses and will wear white shoes and stockings. Each will carry a bouquet of long-stemmed Russell dark pink roses, being bought from 120 South Brand boulevard, the Glendale Florist Shop. Boys will wear white trousers and dark coats. They will wear white shoes and hose. The graduating class will be accompanied by its class teachers: Mrs. Helen S. Moir and Earl T. Brown.

The route of march will be north on Maryland to the rear of the theatre which will be entered simultaneously from the two doors at the side of the auditorium. The single lines will then march up the side aisles to the rear of the theatre where they will join and march in a double column to the reserved front section.

The professional march, which will be played upon the organ by Paul Carson, will be Schubert's "Military March."

Program Is Complete Kressler's "Rondino" will be played as an instrumental duet by Miss Dorothy Marie Watson, violin, and Miss Marjorie Jean Bailey, harp.

The Senior Boys' Glee club will sing two numbers at this time: "Sylvia," by Oley Speaks, and "The Old Road," by Prindle Scott. A cornet solo by Ivan Dow will follow. This will be Gilbert's "Bonnie, Sweet Bessie."

White Star Line Plans Move To Test Dry Order

LONDON, June 20.—The White Star Line decided today to test the United States "dry ship" edict. The Olympic sailed for New York carrying liquor for the return voyage, sealed by their customs officials. In order to seize the liquor it would be necessary for American officers to break the British seals.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Customs rules will be strictly enforced in the case of the liner Olympic, unless orders to the contrary are received from Washington, a member of the law division of the customs house stated today. The seals on the Olympic will be broken, the liquor seized, and punishment prescribed by the law will be meted out to the guilty ones, it was said.

LYNCHING CROWD FOILED IN RAID

1 Killed, Several Wounded, As Sheriff Defies Mob Seeking Negro

BULLETIN SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—Governor Thomas W. Hardwick this afternoon declared martial law in Savannah as a result of the storming of the county jail here early today, costing the life of Claude Parker and serious injury to several others. He stated that troops would be held as guard to the jail the remainder of the week or until the tension had died down.

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—One man is dead and several others are wounded as a result of an attempted jail delivery here early today.

A mob estimated by Savannah officers to include more than 3000 men stormed the jail after midnight in an unsuccessful effort to reach a negro accused of assaulting a white woman.

The jail today was under heavy guard by the state militia, called out when some 170 officers decided they were unable to protect their prisoner. Further violence was not expected. About 9 o'clock the men began to gather at the fair grounds four miles from the jail. County officers were notified and began immediately to gather forces to prevent the lynching.

Sheriff M. W. Dixon, with all of Savannah's peace officers, met the mob in the courtyard of the jail and warned the men against "coming a step closer."

"If that negro is taken from that jail tonight it will be over my dead body," he declared. Militia Called Out The fire department was called out to aid in dispersing the crowd, but to no avail. One hundred members of the state militia were then rushed to the scene, but seemed only to increase the fury of the men whose demands for the negro were becoming louder and louder.

Four hundred more state guards were then added to the little force at the jail and attempted to scatter the crowd. In the confusion Claude Parker fell dead.

No one is able to say whose bullet was responsible. Members of the mob, which quickly dispersed after Parker's death, declared officers fired into the crowd, while officers express their belief he was killed by a bullet from the crowd. Hundreds of shots were fired.

RAID DRUG STORE

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—In a raid by prohibition officers today on a pharmacy in South Broadway, two employees of the place were arrested on a charge of selling liquor, in violation of the Volstead act. The men arrested were Paul G. Henderson and W. B. Corner. No details of the arrests were learned.

Oakmont Country Club's Contract Let For $70,292

Construction work on Oakmont Country club in the Sparr Heights section of beautiful Verdugo canyon, Glendale, will be started immediately, as a result of the board of directors last night accepting the bid of the Edwards, Wilsey & Dixon company of Los Angeles, amounting to $70,292.

The total cost of the building, unfinished, will amount to $85,000 when segregated equipment contracts are included and the swimming pool provided, according to Charles Cressey, architect, representing the Roy L. Kent company which will supervise the construction. Bids were opened at 8 o'clock by the following officers of the Oakmont Country club of Glendale, Inc.: H. S. Webb, president; H. M. Parker, vice-president and general manager; Noel C. Edwards, secretary; A. L. Baird, Harry E. Hall, F. J. W. Henry and C. C. Cooper, directors.

One of the determining factors in the contract was the four and one-half month time limit set by the successful bidder which will give the Glendale people an opportunity to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner and perhaps a Halloween party at Oakmont Country club this year.

Other bids were as follows: Crisman-Palladine Co., Glendale (time required — eight months), $68,858. Elmer Elliott, general contractor, plus lowest segregated bids, including Newton Electric Co., Coker & Taylor, Henry Hooper, all of Glendale, $73,313. Harris & Thayer of Los Angeles submitted a percentage bid.

HIGH SCHOOL MOUNT ETNA EARLY DAYS ARE AGAIN RECALLED

Remember First Graduates? And Teacher Moyses? And Happy Times?

By GIL A. COWAN NEARLY a generation has passed since the first graduates of Glendale Union high school received their diplomas. This week 178 more will be honored at exercises to be held in the Glendale Theatre on Thursday night. It is the largest class turned out from the local institution of higher education and compares well with 444 Pasadena graduates and eighty-one in South Pasadena, in proportion to population.

Glendale Union high school was established during the school year of 1902 with Principal Evans and Miss Edwards as instructors. In the fall of 1902 Principal George U. Moyses, who is celebrating the twentieth anniversary of his school work here, opened regular classes with Miss Sue Barnwell and Miss Edwards assisting.

Evidence of Growth From an enrollment of twenty-eight in 1902 an enrollment of 1912 in 1923 the growth of Glendale Union high school has been the chronicle of Glendale's increasing population. Miss Annie McIntyre, now principal of the Central avenue school, was one of the first to attend Glendale high as a special student preparing for college work.

Her brother, J. F. McIntyre, commercial agent of the public service department; E. D. Goode and Frank Taylor were among the principal committeemen in obtaining the school, although history shows that practically the entire community was interested in the project. The building in which the first graduation was held was located at Brand boulevard and Broadway.

On Program in 1904 In 1904 the great event of commencement week became an annual affair. The Misses Helen Bary; Fay Goode, Flora Kughen and Nola E. Lyman were graduated with honors, the program including a violin solo by Miss Elizabeth Myers; invocation by Rev. E. B. Chapin; address by the Hon. W. W. Harris; vocal solo by Miss Weber; presentation of the class by Principal George U. Moyses and presentation of diplomas by Theodore B. Kanouse, president of the school board, who is still living in Los Angeles. Miss Bary, who was a brilliant girl of Russian descent, is reported a resident of the east where she is in educational work; Miss Goode married the Rev. Milton Robison and resides at College View, N. Y.; Miss Kughen also (Continued on page 8)

For some time the British have been complaining of the treatment of their immigrants at Ellis Island.

MOUNT ETNA LAVA FLOOD ROLLS UPON 11 TOWNS

About 100,000 Persons Are Made Homeless; Many Millions Damage

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL For International News Service ROME, June 20.—Nearly 100,000 persons were homeless today from the torrent of destruction which continues to roll in a devastating stream from the flaming crater of Mount Etna. Eleven Sicilian towns and cities have been completely or partially destroyed by the relentless sweep of the river of molten lava.

It is feared that Giarre, a town of 17,000 souls, and Linguaglossa, a community of 13,000 residents, are doomed. The whole of eastern Sicily is buried under a blanket of ashes, cinders and volcanic dust. Clouds of cinders, borne by the wind, are falling upon the mainland.

Huge Lava Stream A lava stream 2000 feet wide and eight feet high is creeping onward, but the progress has been somewhat retarded by the hilly nature of the country about the foot of the volcano. The continued eruption has heightened the fears of earthquake.

The devastating river of lava is nearing the sea between Messina and Thormin, both of which places are crowded with panic-stricken refugees. Fascist troops were sent into some of the threatened villages to drive out the inhabitants. The people, dazed by fear, were reluctant to flee from their homes.

Long lines of military motor lorries fill the roads, carrying the most valuable belongings of the villagers.

So far no loss of life has been reported, owing to the slowness of the lava river in spreading and the absence of earthquakes.

Smoke from Vesuvius Smoke is rolling from the crater of Vesuvius, but so far this volcano has not joined Etna in active eruption. Precautionary measures are being taken to safeguard the residents about Vesuvius.

The spectacle of Etna during the night made a grand but terrifying scene. A steady rain of red hot lava poured upward, lighting the sky with its fiery glow. The glare could be seen for 200 miles. As the flame and lava vomited skyward, accompanied by the thunderous detonations, spurts of black smoke and steam rolled from the burning mountain top. There was a steady rain of ashes and cinders. A glowing wall of fire ran along the mountain base where the slowly moving lava was setting fire to vineyards, groves and dwellings. Beneath the orange glow in the night sky line was a dense, thick pall of smoke which eddied in the wind from the sea.

Tourists Flock There Tourists watched the terrible spectacle spellbound. Some even traveled from Rome to get a glimpse of the tragic grandeur. It acted as though nature were in a war with her fiercest artillery in this battle against the works of man.

Premier Mussolini sent word that he would leave at once for Catania to aid the rescue work. Towards noon two divergent streams of lava began advancing upon Linguaglossa. The outlying villages of Catena and Cerreto were submerged and destroyed, making 300 additional families homeless.

The damage is mounting steadily by millions of dollars.

Colorado River Pact Solution Is Sought

BISBEE, Ariz., June 20.—With Governor Hunt present, the committee of nine appointed by the state executive to solve Arizona's problems in connection with the Colorado river pact continued in session here today. The pact which has the development and flood control of the Colorado river as its object was not ratified by Arizona. Other meetings of the committee will be held later. It is expected that it will require two months to evolve the Arizona plan which will then be submitted to a conference of all of the states affected by the river project. Until that time no intimation of the nature of the plan will be given out, it was said.

IGNORE SOLONS, GOMPERS' ADVICE

Labor Chief Tells Farmers To Organize for Own Advantage

CHICAGO, June 20.—Let the farmers organize and work out their own salvation, independent of the law-makers. This was the advice of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, given in a speech before the National Wheat conference here today. The problem of the farmer, who finds himself bankrupt because of the low price of wheat, is linked with the question of wages for industrial labor, Gompers said. "You will not induce the people to eat more wheat if you threaten the income out of which they buy wheat," he said. "The income of the farmer can never be greater if industrial wages are either to stand still or go down. The products of the wage are largely bought by the populations of the city and the populations of the cities are composed mostly of wage earners. "The state of the farmer may be described as an economic mal-adjustment, and that being the case, it can be righted. It seems easy to rush to the law-makers and ask for laws. Let me assure you, out of a long and economic experience, that there is no great magic in a law. You will not stop the economic machine and reverse its operation by the enactment of a law. Neither congress nor state legislature can build the body of our effort or shape our course."

COUNCIL VOTES TO FINANCE PLAN

Decides to Pay $300 Per Month for Support of Community Service

The support of Community Service to the extent of $300 a month out of the municipal treasury was "the bone of contention" in this morning's session in the council chamber at the city hall on the public hearing, as required by the charter, upon the budget for the next fiscal year. After discussion lasting over an hour, Councilman W. A. Horn made a motion that an appropriation of $300 per month should be made, $270 for the salary of R. E. Tucker, local director of Community Service, and $30 a month for the cost of operating his automobile, and that he should be under the direct supervision of the Park commission. The motion was seconded by Councilman Sam Davis and carried.

Val M. Hollister, president of Glendale Community Service, inquired if the city administration was making no provisions in the budget to continue this work. He called attention to the fact that the City Council of Pasadena and the Pasadena School Board recently appropriated $10,000 apiece for this work. He also mentioned a large bond issue by the city of Los Angeles to further the necessities of recreation.

Opposes $300 Salary

Following the expression of an objection by Councilman Asa Hall that he was opposed to paying R. E. Tucker, local secretary of Community Service, a salary of $300 a month, it was explained that this sum covers all expenses connected with the position such as rent, stationery and the cost of operating his own automobile.

Councilman W. A. Horn expressed his opinion that the sum of $300 a month was none too much to spend for recreation, but that it should be administered under the direct control of the city administration. Rev. C. M. Calderwood and Dr. Jessie Russell, both members of the Park commission, both called attention to the fact this commission is authorized by ordinance to employ and supervise the activities of a recreational director.

Make Arguments

C. D. Lusby asserted that he had been under the impression that the Community Service work was to be financed without cost to the citizens of Glendale. This impression was not shared by others who expressed themselves on the subject. L. T. Rowley, attendance officer for the school systems and member of the Park commission, emphasized the importance of Community Service activities in preventing juvenile delinquency. A. L. Baird, chairman of the music committee of Community Service, called attention to the fact that taxpayers attending the community sings seem to think that the work is worth while.

BURGLAR KILLED BY MILLIONAIRE

James A. Folger Surprises Thief in Home and Fires Fatal Shot

SAN MATEO, June 20.—Surprising a burglar prowling about his palatial Woodside mansion, James A. Folger, millionaire coffee importer, shot and killed the man early today. Sheriff Lampkin was summoned and found several thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry in the pockets of the dead man which had been stolen from the homes of other Woodside millionaires, including that of Daniel C. Jackling, copper magnate. Folger early today heard a noise on the second floor of the house, and, securing a gun, quietly left his bedroom and hid in the hallway outside. The burglar evidently heard his movements and attempted to go downstairs. Young Folger fired three shots, two of which entered the burglar's body. The burglar con- (Continued on page 8)

HARDING AND PARTY START ON 15,000 MILE TRIP

President to Make Scores of Talks and Will Reply To Critics

By GEO. R. HOLMES For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 20.—President Harding today on the most momentous journey he has undertaken during his tenancy of the White House—a trip that certainly will have an important, if not vital, bearing on next year's presidential campaign.

He will cross the continent by rail and then almost completely encircle it by water before his return to the White House ten weeks hence. He will deliver scores of speeches, inspect two of America's most important possessions and visit at least two foreign countries—Canada and Panama.

From almost every conceivable aspect, his 15,000-mile jaunt is the most ambitious trip a president of the United States has ever engaged upon.

Three Phases Of Trip

The trip has been divided into three distinct phases: First—Speaking trip across the country, in which he will answer critics of his administration upon every major subject in government, and report to the people on the state of the Union.

Second—A survey of Alaska, which is the first step in a concerted effort to open up this vast territory to economic and commercial development.

Third—A visit to Porto Rico, designed to allay some of the anti-American political turmoil there, which already has cost the withdrawal of one governor, and which is continuing under his successor.

Important as the final phase of the trip may be, it is on the cross-country trip that the eyes of all political leaders are turned today, for, in the speeches which Mr. Harding will scatter between St. Louis tomorrow night and San Diego on August 4, he will explain, defend and challenge critics of his administration on every issue from the world court to prohibition.

Leaders Differ

A wide difference of opinion exists among political leaders of both parties as to the effect of the president's journey. There are both Republican and Democratic leaders who assert privately their belief that the question of Mr. Harding's nomination for a second term hinges, to a great degree on his cross-country trip; there are others, while admitting the political potentialities of the journey, proclaim a renomination is assured whatever the west's reaction to the president's utterance. Mr. Harding himself is strictly (Continued on page 8)

Adventists Will Open Four Weeks' Institute In Nursing Treatment

A four weeks' institute opens at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Tuesday, June 26th, continuing until July 24, when trained nurses from practically all sanitariums and treatment rooms operated by the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, west of the Mississippi river, will assemble for study and observation under a dozen or more capable teachers gathered from many points of the west and middle-west. Dr. A. W. Truman, secretary of the medical department of the denomination, who is coming from Washington, D. C., to attend this convention, will be among the experienced teachers whose aim it is to give the workers additional inspiration together with instruction, many of the courses being particularly designed to help those nurses who feel the need for further knowledge before attempting active work.

During this institute, it is announced, an intensive course will be given in the ministry of healing, child welfare and school nursing, methods of class-room teaching, Bible hygiene, preventive medicine, public presentation of health principles, educational gymnastics and nursing technique and procedure. Exhibits of health educational methods of work for camp meetings, churches, schools, sanitariums, evangelistic efforts and foreign mission fields will be an important feature of the institute.

"Every class will be conducted with the object of informing students how much knowledge they receive may be applied to our organized work," states Dr. Truman. "Nurses will learn how best to give our health principles in connection with our educational system, through the home missionary and missionary volunteer activities, in our churches, in evangelistic efforts at camp meetings, and in all other activities in which skillful teachers of health principles are needed to give a well-balanced message to all classes of people."

Many noted teachers of the institute ever held by the denomination on the Pacific Coast, and teachers from various parts of the western half of the country will be among the instructors. The teachers will include: Dr. A. W. Truman, Dr. Elsie Merritt, Dr. Belle Wood-Comstock, Miss Mattie Barber, R. N., Mrs. Alice Holton, R. N., Miss Helen Rice, R. N., Miss Franke Cobian, R. N., Miss Edna Burney, R. N., Mrs. Daisy Harris, R. N., Miss Kathryn Jensen, R. N., Miss Veda Marsh, R. N., Elder J. L. McElhanev.

In addition to these, local Glendale, White Memorial and Loma Linda physicians will also take part in the program. Methods of giving instruction will be as follows:

1. The students will participate in discussion, study and recite from books, undertake the planning of courses and various methods of work in cooperation with their instructors—in short, it will be an intensive course of study for nurses to meet their need as summer school sessions meet the teacher's need for improvement.

2. Informal groups will be organized to discuss various subjects between hours of class work.

3. Exhibits on topics taught will further stimulate interest. These will be changed from time to time.

4. Groups will be arranged for short excursions to hospitals and centers of interest that bear upon the subject of public health. The capital city offers many advantages to the student in any line of endeavor.

5. Specialists will be secured for lectures in various fields which deal with public health.

6. Courses Are Varied

The curriculum will include: 1. Bible Hygiene—These lessons will include the subject of Bible hygiene and health. Special emphasis will be placed on the manner in which these Bible truths can be incorporated in health talks, lessons and through contact with individuals. A portion of the course will deal with the relation of spiritual vigor to physical health.

2. Ministry of Healing—A course of lessons based on this text will acquaint the workers with the great truths and scientific facts contained in this basic health book.

3. Denominational Health Administration

4. Child Welfare and School Nursing—Child health, the normal healthy child and the health problems of school life together with methods which are especially adapted for the 25,000 children in Adventist church schools and

COMMENT That's All

'Old Guard' Is Still Busy When Real Problem Comes Hot, Cold, Snow And Rain We Want Our Collars!

By Gil A. Cowan

STATE Controller Ray L. Riley is the "bucking horse" of the present administration in California. It would appear from dispatches received from Sacramento. Mr. Riley is taking the opportunity to hamper the administration of various self-supporting departments by halting employees' salaries.

Having witnessed the inception of Mr. Riley's position in regard to the budget act passed by the legislature, we are prone to say that it is the controller's effort to embarrass Governor Richardson. Further, he is undoubtedly motivated by those remaining remnants of the McCabe machine which have been discredited.

In the dispatch regarding the present situation it says that "State Controller Ray L. Riley announced that he will halt all state activities dependent upon Governor Richardson's budget system," etc. That does the governor an injustice. It was the Commonwealth club that wished the budget act on the state—AND IT WAS INTENDED TO DEFEAT RICHARDSON!

Yet, when the McCabe-Stephens combine found it was a boomerang they brought every influence to bear in the legislature to make the budget a farce. Failing in this they now depend on H. H. Riley, one of the old guard at the capitol, who are still to be ousted.

Thousands of people in Sicily are being driven from their homes by Mount Etna's eruptions. More than 50,000 people are homeless. Messina, the city destroyed by earthquake a few years ago, again becomes the city of horror with families madly searching for their loved ones; people starving in the streets; refugees fighting for their earthly possessions—a story which can only be painted in pictures.

Add to this the rumblings of Vesuvius and the fears of the folks residing on the Neapolitan bay. The forebodings of a catastrophe are here and every hour becomes more tense as the graph instruments today tick the latest toll of nature's subterranean revolution.

Then we read of the soldiers' efforts to dig trenches which will divert the lava flow and protect the cities in its path. It is a brave effort, yet how pitifully incapable we humans become when it comes to dealing with real problems.

We get all excited over the building of a railroad station or the selection of a postoffice site here in Glendale. What if Mount Verdugo took a notion to slobber molten rock all over the town. That would give us something to think about and in a common defense we would stand shoulder to shoulder fighting for our Glendale.

Snow at Sisson, Calif., yesterday morning gave that place the honor of being the coolest town reporting to the United States weather bureau. Of all freak climate this state is deserving of the coldest iceless.

At Guadalupe, for instance, they have desert sands so cold you can freeze of a night, it is said. In Imperial valley or at Sacramento, it is as warm as you may wish. And it rains in midsummer where it isn't supposed to, not to mention the fact that the skies blacken the character of Southern California known as the land of sunshine.

With all the faults enumerated, the weather might be worse here and elsewhere. We aren't used to the kind being served right now, that's all.

"Freedom of the dress" is the new war cry with the women. Goshamighty, but we never knew they had anything but freedom. They are free to dress about any way they please, just so they dress.

"I wonder when we can get the collars off the men," said one of the modistes recently. Ye gods, are they going to take the privilege of losing collar buttons, tying neckties and fighting laundrymen from the men folks?

It is time for all free men to organize, that's all. Otherwise our

Exact Replica Of Persian Home, Modern Conveniences Added, Is Completed Here

Awake! For the morning in the Bowl of Night Has flung the stone that puts the Stars to Flight; And lo, the Hunter of the East has caught The Sultan's turret in a Noose of Light.

OMAR KHAYYAM, astronomer-poet-philosopher and champion pessimist, never had the opportunity of living in a Persian domicile—with modern plumbing. Neither did he ever have the privilege of walking a mile for a camel. Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Fairbanks and daughter, Miss Helena Fairbanks, this week are moving into their new twelve-room home at 1625 Grand View road, which is an exact replica of a Persian residence with the exception that it has hardwood floors, electric lights, and transparent windows—additions which would cause even a sultan's heart to flutter with envy. He probably would even be willing to overlook the fact that there are no accommodations for a harem.

East meets west upon the south slope of this hill, where a powerful telescope could discern mermaids in the blue waters of the Pacific, and the marked slate-colored silhouette of the Fairbanks' home reflects the shadows of "that inverted bowl they call the sky, whereunder crawling, cooped we live and die."

A two-acre oasis on the north-west corner of Tenth street and Grand View road is rapidly being transformed into a garden—as a refutation of the opinion prevalent until a few years ago that the hill-tops are as worthless as the desert.

Autos More Reliable Caravans move upon uncertain time-tables. With all due respect for the stomach of the dromedary, automobiles are much more reliable and much more comfortable. However, the Fairbanks home may be reached by either an automobile—or a camel.

"If you ride a camel up here," said Mr. Fairbanks indicating the two-car garage to the rear of the west side of the house, "you will have to give it a drink of gasoline. Our well is not well, yet."

"Look to the blowing rose about us," remarked Omar. "Lo, laughing she says: 'Unto the wind I blow, at once the silken tassel of my purse tear and its treasure on the garden throw.'"

Rose bushes will have a part in the landscaping of the estate. Brilliant petunias now flank the house. Many of them are of a deep blue and are creations of Luther Burbank, the wizard of horticulture. A rockery is being created upon the east side of the house out of rocks which were formed many thousands of years before Mr. Khayyam signed the first prohibition pledge: "Come, fill the cup, and in the fire of spring, your winter garment of repentance fling."

A small garden about forty feet wide and twenty-five feet long beautifies a small terrace in front of the residence. From this may be enjoyed a panoramic view of the San Fernando valley with its marls of trade.

Potter's clay may be all right to "thump" but, in reflecting upon a suitable building material, Mr. Fairbanks preferred a substance more durable, despite the fact that a home is "By a tent where takes his one day's rest, a Sultan to the realm of Death address."

However, it is likely that the solid concrete walls of this residence will be here many years after "The worldly hope men set their hearts upon turns to ashes— one it prospers; and anon, like snow upon the desert's dusty face, lighting a little hour or two—is gone."

Winding paths, which the desert winds will not be permitted to obliterate with sand, join and lead up a cement stoop, under a small archway, and through the terraced garden to the front entrance.

The vestibule is a sky-lined sun-parlor about sixteen by eighteen feet in size, with the flooring checker-board of alternate black and maroon colored blocks of rubble-stone. This room divides the twentieth century, as revealed in the highly polished floor of the parlor, which lies to the east, from the scene to the north which is one from "The Arabian Nights."

A brick-floored patio about twenty by thirty feet in size surrounds a rectangular pond about five by fifteen feet in dimensions, married men will be emasculated, and the rest of us will be annihilated in no time at all.

If there's anything in a name, Governor J. A. O. Preuss of Minnesota, senator-elect, is scheduled to make his name known in the four corners of the globe. Having won the election in his state to represent it at the capital, he has started a move to increase the consumption of wheat foods.

"Eventually, why not now?" is his slogan, it would appear.

Evangelist to Speak At New Gospel Church Rev. L. B. Compton will deliver an outstanding address at 7:30 o'clock tonight on the topic, "Ninety and Nine Who Need No Repentance," the new Gospel Tabernacle church at the corner of Louise and Chestnut streets, announces Rev. C. H. Christman, pastor.

Variety was a feature of the program by the Orpheus Four of Los Angeles last night in the Tuesday Afternoon club-house under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church.

Vocal selections by this quartet ranged from familiar hymns, such as "Nearer My God, to Thee," through operatic numbers, including a special arrangement of the "Sextette from Lucia," to popular numbers such as "Carolina in the Morning" and "Barney Google."

Samuel Glasse, tenor, sang as solos, "Face to Face," "The Wood Is Waiting for the Sunrise" and "Little Gypsy Sweetheart"—all of which were well received.

KEARNS REFUSES BET OF $20,000

Gibbons' Manager Offers to Shoot Bankroll on Tom's Chances

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

SHELBY, Mont., June 20.—Exchanging amenities for the first time in five years, Jack Kearns and Eddie Kane, arch-enemies, and respective managers of Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons, engaged in an impromptu duel of words which culminated in an offer by Kane to chance $20,000 on his man's chances. Kearns, however, was not listening. He never bets on fights, he said. Kane's obvious faith in his man and the apparent sincerity of his offer was the sensation of Shelby today.

"They seem to think Tom is a pushover for Dempsey," said Kane to the writer. "Where that idea originated I can't imagine. Gibbons is faster than Dempsey, is in much better condition, and has had the advantage of working with better sparring partners. Dempsey can hit harder, I admit, but my man will surprise everyone with his hitting. This is the year for champions to be knocked off, and the biggest of the lot is due for a fall on July 1."

Very Few Wagers

Sentiment is crystallizing in favor of Gibbons, largely because Dempsey does not appear to be taking the fight seriously and has failed to reach anything resembling the form he displayed in slapping William and Carpenter to sleep. Offers to bet, however, are as scarce as pink overcoats.

Dan Tracy, the new promoter, is giving some indication of his business acumen by planning a series of bouts in the arena on July 3. A match between Jimmy Delaney and Jack Burke, light heavyweight sparring partners of Gibbons and Dempsey, respectively, is one of those in prospect. Tracy has accepted the terms of Jimmy Dougherty of Philadelphia to referee the big bout.

Gibbons Busy Boxing

SHELBY, Mont., June 20.—Although Tom Gibbons is in good shape for his battle with Jack Dempsey on July 4, his training program calls for eight fast rounds of boxing every day from now until he knocks off work the day before the fight. Manager Eddie Kane said there will be no more days of rest for the challenger, that he needs plenty of boxing and that he is going to get it.

Some criticism has been heard because Gibbons has no good in-fighter working with him. It is argued that Dempsey's body attack is the thing Gibbons must overcome if he hopes to win, and that he is doing little to develop a defense against it, his work consisting mostly of boxing at long range.

Pity Poor Old Eddie Collins! He Has Slipped—Into Lead Again

Whoozat young feller showing a clean pair of spiked heels to the whole pack in the American league in stealing bases? And while playing the game of his life at second?

Why, that's Eddie Collins himself.

And this after fifteen full campaigns under the big top and over a stretch of eighteen years. For the peerless Edward is in his eighteenth year as a member of a big league team. His first two seasons, however, he played in but a total of twenty-three games.

Statistics place Collins as one of the wonder players of the game. But they fall short because the figuring boys can't tabulate what Eddie carries in his modest dome.

Collins stands out as one of the brainiest ball players the game ever has known. His keen thinking, his disposition and his seeming immunity from injury make him a much more valuable player than mere mechanical effort could hope to.

Is Truly .300 Hitter

For the benefit of the boys who would rather figure averages than have two bucks on a 100 to 1 shot Eddie has batted .300 or better in thirteen of the seventeen seasons up to 1923. Eight of these 13 campaigns ran in a row. In 1920, his best year he soared to the dizzy heights of .369.

When the present scramble began Eddie had already swiped 614 bases. His biggest year on the paths was in 1910 when he tore into 81 bases ahead of the throw.

He holds the major league record for sacrificing, having laid down his baseball life 421 times before starting this season.

That his speed isn't confined to stealing bases or beating out hits is indicated by the fact that he is one of the speediest and surest fielders in the biz. In 1920 he hung up the remarkable record of having started 38 double plays. And one can't loaf on starting these two-ply killings.

Eddie might have reached the pinnacle of baseball success without Connie Mack but to the beanpole gent of the Quaker City goes the honor of finding Edward the ever youthful and bringing him out.

From College to Majors

Collins was playing baseball at Columbia university back in about 1904 when Connie Mack first looked him over. "Tis said that Collins slipped quietly over to Philadelphia for a couple of tryouts before completing his college studies. Which overt act made the college authorities say naughty, naughty. They would not let the other boys play with the bad Eddie after that. As soon as he was graduated Collins joined the Athletics, and broke into the lineup for the first time late in the 1906 campaign. But he didn't play second. He played short. Connie tried him there and in the outfield before finally placing him at second.

Collins grew up with the other members of that wonderful "$100,000 infield" Connie developed—playing with Stuffy McInnis, Jack Barry and Frank Baker. When Connie broke up his White Elephant outfit after the 1914 disaster in the world's series, Collins was sold to the White Sox.

The fact that the White Sox hesitated to part with Collins for fabulous sums in real cash and playing material last winter, when the Yankees were after him, proved Collins' greatness.

The White Sox bosses would have been closing up their business had they sold Collins. For what George Sisler was to the Browns and Tris Speaker has been to the Indians, that much and more is Edward Collins of Tarrytown, N. Y., to the White Sox. And may his tribe increase.

U. S. Boxers in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 20.—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine idol, is seeking new opponents to test his prowess. Firpo, victorious by the knockout route over Jim Hibbard, American heavyweight, yesterday failed to show a single mark of his two-round battle. Hibbard scarcely laid a glove on the Argentine mauler.

The uneven match raised the ire of the spectators and it took hundreds of police and armed soldiers to maintain order at the ring. Firpo has challenged any American heavyweight to come to Mexico to meet him. He added, "The game is good down here."

Many Guests Attend Pythian Lodge Meet

Delegations from Pasadena, Van Nuys, Alhambra, Hollywood and Los Angeles were in attendance last night at the meeting of Glendale Knights of Pythias in the lodge hall on South Brand boulevard. Another of Branch Rickey's recruit pitchers, Jack Knight, is going like a house afire for Houston in the Texas league. Rickey will soon pan out 100 per cent in the stock he has stored on his farms.

Ty Cobb will have a winner if it takes all the money in Detroit to get it. The fans are turning out as never before and Ty wants to show them he is a great manager as well as a star player. Wherever there is a likely player Cobb has a scout look him over.

It is reported that one of the greatest college pitchers of modern baseball will join the Tigers as soon as his college career ends. Although other clubs have been after this youngster, Cobb's agents are said to have obtained his promise to join the Detroit team next year.

In the meantime Cobb is not overlooking an unsuccessful bid for Lefty Groves, the Baltimore pitcher who whiffed eighty-four men in fifty-six innings. Cobb has turned his check book toward Manager Duggan and Ty wants to tempt the Baltimore midget to part with Joe Boley, for whose services President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club had offered $100,000 with no success.

The Detroit manager also made an effort to get Cliff Brady back from Rochester.

Jim Edwards, the Cleveland Southpaw, is like Adolfo Luque. No matter how well he pitches, he is almost certain to lose.

Syl Johnson has been a big disappointment as a pitcher to Ty Cobb, the Tiger chief.

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The owner of any major or minor baseball league team who is in need of a manager to try to inject some winning notions into a losing aggregation could go much further and fare much worse than by securing the services of Rollie Zeider, one of the greatest infielders that every took his position on a Pacific coast league team. Zeider recently was made a free agent by Manager Jimmie Middleton of the Portland club. This player has a unique record and is one of the best known ball players up and down the coast.

Zeider started his class AA baseball career with the San Francisco club in 1907 and with the exception of Buddy Ryan, now of the Sacramento club, is the oldest player in length of service on the coast. That year San Francisco won the pennant and Seider played at third base did as much as any man on the team to bring about this result.

Eastern scouts had their eyes on Zeider during 1907, 1908, and 1909, and he was drafted by Charlie Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox. On this club he was chief adviser, and played under Duffy, considered by many one of the greatest leaders the major leagues has known.

Zeider played with the Sox for three years, 1910 to 1912, inclusive, and then was traded to the New York Yankees, and when the Federal League started up in 1914 Rollie signed with the Chicago club in that outlaw league and played with that team during the two years that the league was in existence.

With his reinstatement he immediately signed up with the Chicago Cubs with whom he played during the seasons of 1916, 1917 and 1918. He made an enviable reputation for himself during that interval.

A tempting offer giving him the managership of the Toledo club of the American Association lured him from the playing ranks for a year. In that time the call of the coast was strong in his ears, and, with the close of the 1919 baseball season, Zeider returned to his old love, the Pacific Coast league and joined the Oakland club in that organization. In 1921 he went to Los Angeles and last year played with Vernon. Portland got him this year and, for no special reason that anyone can explain, this valuable player was set at liberty a few days ago.

He can still play ball, but whether or not he stepped on the field, his knowledge of the game makes him a valuable acquisition. Fans believe that he can manage any man's club.

TUJUNGA START PLANS TO DRILL OIL WELLS

Leases on Land at Tujunga Sought by Agent of Unnamed Company

That the recent flurry in regard to developments in the oil drilling line is not a flurry and nothing more is evidenced by the activities of the Tujunga Valley Land company, who are sending out letters to land owners in the vicinity of west Tujunga, a copy of one being shown below.

A. Charles Carr was in the neighborhood a few weeks ago and interviewed a number of the Sunland residents as well as Tujunga property owners in regard to their attitude on leasing their land to a company not named for the purpose of prospecting for oil in this locality, which has been declared as favorable by several men of reputation in the business.

The proposition was to have a geologist investigate the territory, providing the attitude of the property owners would warrant an outlay of money necessary for this investigation, and if his report was favorable the unnamed company would lease the land on a royalty basis, with a clause providing for a substantial cash bond, to be forfeited by the company to the land owners at the expiration of a certain length of time in the event that the company did not go forward with the proposed development work.

That the land company thinks well of the proposition, they state out by the tone of the letter. The attitude of the individual land owners will probably determine the next step.

Ready to Lease

Dear Sir:—Since you purchased a lot from the Tujunga Valley Land company, in Tract No. 4129, the oil lease has expired and the lessor has no further rights in the property. Recently we have had several new propositions made to us, and one outfit is now trying to lease 100 acres or more including Tract 4129. This company will enter into an agreement to start drilling within six months. The lease will be a community proposition, all parties thereto sharing equally in the production, on a pro-rata basis, at one-sixth royalty.

The Tujunga Valley Land company has gone over the matter carefully, and has decided to sign up for all lots still owned by us—provided the other lot owners will co-operate.

We believe our lands are oil-bearing, and, in order to get action, we suggest that you write to us by return mail as to your attitude, which we hope will be favorable. A test well would have been drilled long ago, but for the hesitancy of land owners in giving the oil people a fair chance. Our only hope is to give them our united backing, and if that is given, the Sunland field will be opened in short order.

Misplaced Sympathy

Most people are familiar with the quizzical character who received with amusement the report of his own death and joyfully stated that he believed the statement was slightly exaggerated, but it remained for a Tujunga man to bring the story down to modern form.

Mr. Paykel, who resides at 335 North Stevens Way, made his stop at the postoffice on a recent day, as was his custom, to get the mail. He received among other matter, a letter addressed to Mrs. Paykel, which he dutifully carried home unopened, as a model husband should do.

Mrs. Paykel received the letter in feminine fashion and turned it over to a few times, wondering whom it was from and finally decided that she would have to open it to find out. This accomplished she found that it was from a very dear friend in a distant city. She then proceeded to read the first part of the letter, and registered in turn, first bewilderment, then astonishment and indignation in turn, followed a little later by amusement.

She called her husband and informed him of the contents of the letter and he, too, registered mixed emotions, including considerable amusement. The letter was in the form of a condolence from the friend, expressing her deep sympathy with Mrs. Paykel in her hour of bereavement caused by the death of her husband. Mr. Paykel pinched himself and found that he was very much alive and needless to say very much among those present and believes, with his now famous contemporary, that the report of his demise is slightly exaggerated.

George Harris, Jr., son of "The Philosopher of the Hill Tribes," as his father is known to countless radio fans who have heard and enjoyed his readings, is on a trip around the world as mess boy on the steamer J. He has just arrived at the age of twenty-one in this novel manner. His cousin, Sam McBride, is with him on the trip. They expect to visit many foreign lands before returning to California.

SUNLAND BOOK FAST BOYS ON BOXING CARD

Fight Fans Will See String Of Clever Fighters in Bouts Tonight

A double main event is booked for the boxing show at Twin Pipes, Sunland, this evening, June 20. Kid Essex of Glendale and Kid Williams, the Lanker-shim Peach, are billed as one-half of the attraction. The old favorite of the valley fans, Bob Kelley of Los Angeles, who has made three starts at Sunland and won two by knockouts and the other going to a draw, fighting with a thumb in splints, is carded for a meeting with Kid Herman of Oakland. It is the general opinion of the bugs who have seen Kelley here that Kid Herman of Oakland will wish he had stayed there after the first few minutes of introduction to Bob. Before the last time stepping four rounds to a draw that was pronounced the berries by the furious mob, Williams was on the last card at Sunland and knocked out Sailer O'Brien, who learned that hitting targets with sixteen-inch guns is much easier than hitting Williams' chin with the leather pillow.

Glendale Fighters and Kelley is a good clean fighter and knows his business, keeps in shape and goes in to win in a clean manner, which makes him popular with the fans. He will be a favorite over Herman, although the latter is credited with decisions over some fast boys in the bay country. They scale at 135 pounds and Essex and Williams weigh in at 118 pounds.

Walter Dodge, of Glendale, another favorite at this club, will trade with Kid Galloway of San Pedro. If the Kid lives up to the reputation established by San Pedro fighters in the past, there will be plenty of action in this special event. The boys meet at 1:35 p.m.

Kid Carr, of Glendale, and Cyclone Julius meet at 1:12 p.m. and Irish Heine and Cyclone and Battling Gonzales meet in the curtain raiser, at 1:10 p.m.

Reservations may be made at the Lunch Box in the rear of Spohr's Pharmacy on Broadway, Glendale, and at Twin Pipes and Rice's confectionery, Sunland.

Thirty-six Mothers Under 15 Years Old

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—Thirty-six California girls under 15 years of age became mothers during last year, according to birth statistics made public today by L. E. Ross, head of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. The majority of the girl-mothers were 14 years old at the time their babies were born.

The age of the average California mother at the birth of her first baby is 23.9-10 years, Ross said.

Children born to women between 15 and 20 years of age during the year totaled 8172.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys If Back Pains You Or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Motor Big Factor in 4 Day Plane Flight

SAN DIEGO, June 20.—"It all depends on the success of the mid-air refueling system and the ability of the motor to keep going," said Major Arnold, commandant of Rockwell Field, when interviewed regarding the proposed attempt to fly for four days and four nights without pause, scheduled to start here June 26.

"In preliminary tests we have successfully passed gas, oil and water by gravily from a plane flying directly over the receiving plane. The method is not really so hazardous as might be imagined, though it requires extreme precision and flying judgment."

"Though our 400-horsepower Liberty is the most dependable aeronautical motor in the world, the tremendous strain it bears when called upon to spin at high

Heron also ordered the abandonment of departments dealing with speech defects and training of teachers for kindergarten work among foreign-speaking children because of the reduced budget.

Masher Fined $100 For Accosting Girl

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Determined to put an end to the antics of "mashers" who are said to loiter in districts where telephone exchanges are located and at times when the girl operators leave their work, Special Agent H. A. Hensley of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company yesterday arrested Newton Charles, twenty-one, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

The arrest was made after Charles was said to have accosted Miss Catherine Carlson of the Hollywood exchange. Agent Hensley made the arrest when Charles drew up to the curb in his machine and asked her to take an automobile ride. Charles pleaded guilty to the charge when taken before Judge Richardson and was fined $100 or 100 days in jail. He paid the fine.

Native Sons Demand Recall of Officers

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—Recall of California officers who have failed to prosecute Japanese guilty of evading the Anti-Alien Land Law is strongly urged by the "Grizzly Bear," official organ of the Native Sons of the Golden West, in the June issue.

"The derelicts should be replaced, via the recall, with others who have the desire and determination rigidly to enforce the law," the Native Sons' publication asserts.

County officers are singled out in the editorial as the chief "weaklings," guilty of allowing the Nipponese to escape the provisions of the land law.

Blame Wreck of Bank On Oil Speculation

WICHITA, Kan., June 20.—The trail of a million and a half dollars missing from the bond department of the American State Bank of Wichita is a trail of petroleum. Enterprises of the southwest benefitted to the extent of more than that amount through the manipulations of Phillip A. Drumm, cashier of the bank, according to bank attorneys, after a hasty examination of Drumm and the situation at the bank.

Through this the institution, the second largest bank in the state, and for years regarded as one of the strongest banks in the entire southwest, is wrecked and in the hands of the state banking department.

Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars of the one and one-half million dollars which has been

BURGLAR KILLED BY MILLIONAIRE

tinued his flight downstairs and outside.

Folger summoned Sheriff Lampkin and the latter made a search of the grounds, finding the body of the burglar in a clump of bushes 300 feet from the Folger house.

Find Loot In Pockets

Folger said that he ordered the man to halt and throw up his hands as he fled downstairs and only fired when his command was disobeyed.

Sheriff Lampkin summoned the coroner, who took the body to Redwood City to await identification. The dead man was apparently about 40 years of age. His pockets were laden with loot, some of which had been obtained at the Folger home.

A diamond pin and two diamond bar pins were immediately identified as having been stolen from the Jackling home about two weeks ago. It is believed that all of the property on the man's person will be identified as having come from the homes of the wealthy residents of Woodside and Burlingame.

Folger, who shot the burglar, is the son of the founder of Folger & Company, tea and coffee importers.

It is possible that the burglar is the same who was discovered in the residence of William H. Crocker Monday night and frightened away by Miss Helen Crocker.

DESCRIBES IDEAL NON-SKID TIRES

Principal Factors Embodied In Manufacture Told By Engineer

Three principal factors are embodied in the designing of the ideal non-skid tire, and these factors give the engineer no child's task if the finished product is to be scientifically correct and thoroughly efficient.

E. E. Hazelrigg, chemical engineer and rubber expert with the Spreckels "Savage" Tire company, now manager of their Los Angeles branch, describes these factors and tells of their application to proper tire designing.

Symbolism is the tire engineer's chief stumbling block, he says. Duplication of design must be avoided obviously, and a tread must be originated that is both distinctive and symbolic, as well as efficient for its purpose.

The best authorities, according to Hazelrigg, agree on these cardinal non-skid factors:

First—Traction—The most perfect traction or grip on the road surface calls for either ridges or depressions at approximately right angles to the center line of the tread.

Second—Lateral Stability—To prevent side skidding there should be either ridges or depressions approximately parallel to the center line of the tread.

Third—Speed—The ideal non-skid tire must not drag on the road. To satisfy this requirement, the design must have a smooth, unbroken surface on the crown or center line of the tread.

The Spreckels "Savage" engineers, says Hazelrigg, "considered themselves particularly fortunate when they had the task of designing a non-skid tire, for they had the letter 'S' to use, providing for the Savage Aristocrat Cord a unique, symbolic, and yet efficient design for the ideal non-skid tire."

The Jellison Motor company, 1006 South Broad, carries the exclusive agency for Savage tires.

OPENS TRACT IN PAGOIMA REGION

University Gardens Will Be Site of New City, Promoter's Aim

Rich with the historical romance and natural beauty of California, the great San Fernando valley provides a wonderful background for Glendale, and Glendaleans cannot fail to profit by any development of the valley lands.

One of the beauty spots in the valley now under development is University Gardens, 15,000 of the choicest acreage in the valley. This land lies in the fertile Pacoima district, where it is planned that a second Glendale is to be.

Opportunity for investment in the Pacoima district is now being offered to Glendaleans by the opening of a branch office of the University Gardens company at 206 East Broadway, with Melvin E. Rickerson as salesman.

"I am trying to sell something I am interested in myself," said Mr. Rickerson. "I have been in touch with Glendale during its development into a city, and I have seen the prosperity enjoyed by the small investor here.

Here are a few summer fineries which may be added to the wardrobe after such necessities as the tailored suit, the top coat, the sports clothes and the simple all-occasion frock have been purchased. These luxuries will round out a wardrobe, making it complete for every occasion on the summer calendar.

In the center is shown the pleated skirt which leads all else in fashion's fancy this season. Here it is made of tan crepe de chine and worn with a short side tied blouse or jacket of brown tulle.

The collar is edged with a soft band of "vatika" sateen. This type of costume is smart for afternoon affairs and street wear.

For evening wear the petaled gown of soft pastel shades in chiffon shown at the right. With it is worn a cape which reflects the popularity of ribbon. It is a soft rippling wrap of gray ribbon which shades from delicate light gray tones to a deeper gray at the hem.

A standing collar is studded with ribbon rosettes. The hat is gray horsehair of the finest quality with silver lace forming a delicate trimming. The entire outfit is youthful and girlish and quite suitable for the most formal of summer fetes.

At the left is shown the Spanish comb for evening wear which is being worn quite as much for summer coiffures as it was for winter toilettes. A large jewel-studded design is worn here and it is placed at the side in the more American fashion rather than erect at the back as the Spanish woman wears her hair ornaments.

The matron may wear the comb, but the young girl should leave her hair unadorned or wear a silver or flowered bandeau.

If one's vacation is to be spent at a fashionable resort and is to last any length of time such fineries as these will surely be wanted.

REALTY BUSINESS LURES NEWCOMER

Salesman Resigns Position To Buy Partnership in Local Firm

H. C. Barr of Portland, Ore., who has been a traveling salesman for several years covering the Pacific Coast from Mexico to Canada, has purchased a half interest in the C. M. Realty Company, 114 West Broadway, where he will be associated with C. L. Meredith.

Mr. Barr was "sold" on Glendale, the fastest growing city in America, a year ago when he chanced to come here on business.

He resigned his position June 1 to enter the local realty field and after looking over the situation he feels positive the most wonderful opportunities exist in Glendale and vicinity, for he has seen practically all of the coast towns develop and knows that people are headed this way.

married and resides in Salt Lake City. Miss Lyman resides in Los Angeles, having wedded T. E. Graham. And it was the latter who gave the writer the account of the first graduation.

Whole Town Turns Out

It was an event for which the entire town turned out, back in the days when grain fields and orchards occupied the major portion of Glendale townsite. There were eleven boys and seventeen girls in the high school the first year, the total of twenty-eight increasing to forty-eight the next term. In 1904 there were fifty-six attending and in 1905 the roll shows sixty-five with five graduates.

Spanning a few years we find that in 1913, a point midway between the founding of the school and its standing today, there were 350 attending. The writer, in the year 1914, essayed to predict an enrollment of more than 400 and Principal Moyses wanted to invoke court-martial proceedings. However, our estimate was outdone by 428 students showing up during the term. Next year it will go over the 2000 mark even with the loss of Eagle Rock and La Canada districts.

20 Years of Service

In talking over the early days of Glendale high with Miss McIntyre yesterday she stated that Miss Barnwell, one of her instructors, had become noted in social service work. Miss Edwards has been lost track of, but Mr. Moyses remains at the helm of an institution which soon will find itself in a modern new home at the corner of Verdugo road and Broadway, where more than a million dollars is being invested in the grounds and plant.

When the present principal took charge he had to teach, keep records, advise students—in fact, attend to everything. Today he is kept busy directing the policy of the institution with a business manager, two vice principals, several office assistants and nearly four score instructors looking to Principal Moyses for the leadership and experience gained in twenty years' service to his community.

Forgive the sinner and cast no stone. As one who is sinless stands alone.

derful opportunities exist in Glendale and vicinity, for he has seen practically all of the coast towns develop and knows that people are headed this way.

WANT HEDGES AT SCHOOL GROUNDS

Dust From Playgrounds at Columbus Avenue Is Nuisance, Claim

A petition requesting the improvement of the Columbus school grounds was received last night by the City Board of Education.

"We, the undersigned property owners," it asserts, "request that you improve the Columbus Avenue School Grounds on the Milford street side by planting a hedge approximately fifteen feet back from the sidewalk, planting grass between the hedge and the sidewalk and in the parkway and suitable trees in the parkway."

"The dust that arises from the school grounds is carried into the homes of the property in the near vicinity of the school and we feel that the improvement would not only beautify the property but would also serve to abate the nuisance of the dust.

"This matter has been brought to the attention of the school board previously without action being taken. We now respectfully request that the improvement be made without further delay."

After discussion upon the subject, the school board came to the conclusion that it would be impossible to set the proposed hedge fifteen feet back from the sidewalk without curtailing the size of the playground which is one of the smallest in the local

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Tom Mix in Arabia," starring the popular William Fox player, shows at the Glendale theatre today. It is a rollicking, speedy vehicle, with just a wee touch of burlesque, and takes every hill on high. It has a camel that is worth walking two miles to see—and an automobile chase that is worth a whole flock of camels.

Mix and his director, Lynn Reynolds, are responsible for the story, which is interesting enough to be the thousand and second tale of the Arabian Nights. It opens with the star as boss of a ranch, to which come, in search of atmosphere, a professor of the Oriental, with his family.

They stay but a short time and then are off to Arabia, leaving Tom brooding. Then he goes to Arabia himself, where he finds himself precipitated into a wild adventure with sheiks, harems, mosques, masks—and a girl.

K. C. WILL PICNIC AT PARK SUNDAY

All of Glendale Is Welcome
To Join in Fun, Say
Lodge Officials

The Knights of Columbus have completed all of their arrangements for their first annual picnic to be held next Sunday at Verdugo park, and the members of the order and the guests who will flock to the park are expected to run into the thousands.

Among the many features that have been arranged for the day there are games and sports for grown-ups and children, and the glee club of the Elks' Lodge, No. 99, composed of forty superb male voices, will assist in entertaining the members and their guests.

Joseph Sheehan, known as America's foremost tenor, has been secured for the picnic, and he will render a number of songs during the afternoon and evening, and the program will also include a number of movie stars and noted orators who will address the throngs.

Every number on the program is of the highest order, according to Milton H. Berry, who is in charge of the arrangements, and he and those who are associated with him in staging the Knights of Columbus first annual picnic have extended an invitation to all of Glendale to be present at the park and share in the day's enjoyment.

Arrangements have been made with the Glendale authorities for the proper and orderly handling of the traffic and the parking of the cars that will be used to carry the thousands of people to Verdugo park, which has been secured from Haddock & Nibley for this occasion.

C. C. Directors Consider Location Of Postoffice; Federal Building Urged

THE postoffice question in several of its ramifications came up for consideration at the weekly luncheon of the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in the Citizens building yesterday, when Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson appeared to discuss with the board the various aspects of the situation, especially with regard to the possibility of securing a federal building for Glendale. Postmaster Jackson stated that the better course to be followed, in his opinion, was to move the postoffice into leased quarters, in order to secure the additional space needed to handle the rapidly growing post-office business of the city, rather than attempt to secure a federal building at this time, a course that would require three or four years and that would call for a special act of congress to secure the needed appropriations for the project.

The federal building, the postmaster explained, houses all of the activities of the government in the district where it is located, and at present all of this is passing through the postoffice here and is being handled by himself, and he declared that he strongly favors the securing of adequate leased quarters, and for this object he asked that the Chamber of Commerce get behind the move and lend its influence to have the present project carried through without permitting a fight to develop between any of the local interests as to the most suitable site.

Reports Unfounded
He, himself, he asserted, could not recommend any site, nor has he done so, in spite of the reports that have already gained circulation to the effect that the site for the new office has already been selected, reports which he characterized as being without foundation. The only point that he is concerned in, Postmaster Jackson declared, is to see the new office placed where it will be of the greatest service and accommodation to the people of Glendale. Postmaster Jackson recounted the efforts that he has made since he assumed office last year to secure a better mail service for Glendale, stating that the extension of service that he has been able to obtain has not represented an increase in the emoluments of his office and has only brought to him a greater amount of work than he had been doing previously.

The consent of the government to house the Glendale postoffice in a more commodious building, he asserted, was only secured after it had been flatly turned down at first, and the proposal to establish the office in new quarters, with 12,000 feet of floor space and at the expenditure of $15,000, he regards as a signal victory for his administration.

Captain Jackson stated that it was his intention to establish substations at various points throughout Glendale as the demand for them develop, and in this course he said that he had been assured of the co-operation of the department.

Alleges Slight
Director W. E. Hewitt expressed himself as favoring the move to secure a federal building for Glendale, and urged that the city's slogan, "The Fastest Growing City in America," be kept before the minds of the people here and also of the government. Glendale, he declared, is now in the making, and he believed the Chamber of Commerce should have been consulted in the matter of the location of a new postoffice, instead of being, as he claimed, sidetracked and slighted. Every city outsider, he asserted, and Postmaster Jackson's argument that the federal authorities consider only present needs and direct requirements does not hold water. R. F. Kitterman took the same position as did Mr. Hewitt, saying that the Chamber of Commerce should be considered in determining the location of the postoffice, and he

Evangelistic Services Drawing Many People

The attendance is increasing at the revival held by the Nazarene church, 10 West Harvard street, according to a report of the meeting last night.

The solo was sung by H. Hull of Los Angeles, "Wonderful Love," and Rev. Swaney took as the text for his sermon Hebrews 11:1.

The service tonight will begin at 7:30 o'clock and will be preceded by a prayer service.

Gum Machine In Collapse; Small Boys In Riot

THIS is a tale of a bad penny. Pinched by a small boy until it was flatter than most profiles of Abraham Lincoln, the 1 cent piece yesterday afternoon was placed in the gum machine parked in front of Spohr's drug store, corner Brand boulevard and Broadway.

The little lad had his eyes on one of the licorice gum balls while he poked away at the stuck up machine. Like Humpty Dumpty, sitting on the wall, it took a great fall and the clatter of glass and rolling gum attracted a miniature mob. The boy who caused the catastrophe "beat it," with "Cap" Loving of the police department on his trail.

Other urchins, some of them barefooted, were right in the strewn glass, to rescue the rolling gun, not to mention the scattered coppers. And all Mr. Spohr has to show for the machine's contents is the bad penny which stuck in the mechanism.

FRANK C. AYARS TELLS OF CAMP

Chairman of Boy Scouts Outing Committee Is Pleased With Site

"The Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District are getting ready for one of the finest camping and outing seasons which has ever been arranged for boys," said Frank C. Ayars, chairman of the camping committee. Mr. Ayars has been an enthusiastic live wire in scouting for more than three years. He served as a Scoutmaster and a committeeman of Troop No. 3, Glendale, before becoming a member of the scout executive board. He has a boy in scouting who is anticipating with keen pleasure this summer's camping trip.

Now that so much has been said about the man who is responsible in the last analysis for this year's big camping project, let him tell in his own words about the 1923 co-operative troop camps which will be held near Lake Arrowhead from June 27 to July 30. He says:

"If the number of applications for reservations at Camp Roylton, being received by the various scoutmasters, and the indication of the success of the 1922 co-operative troop camps I would say without a doubt that the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District were going to have a banner season of camping, hiking and the out-of-doors."

Ideal Camp Site
"To the eleven of us men who took the trip to Lake Arrowhead for the express purpose of finding a camp site for our scouts it seemed that a more ideal place would be hard to find anywhere.

"There, with a gurgling mountain stream, on each side of the camp, with giant pine, maple and alder trees all about; with real wild mountains on every side, and with Lake Arrowhead but a short hike from the camp, personally, I don't see how the boys can help but have the time of their lives.

"The greatest interest of the boys themselves in the outdoor program and the opportunities offered for camping, swimming, hiking and travel at Camp Roylton, would satisfy, I feel sure, the heart of any red-blooded Scout.

The nation-wide movement toward outdoor recreation, and camping in particular, in America has grown up since the advent of Scouting as a national movement for boys. Scouting has had and will continue to have, a large part in the development of methods of utilizing the out-of-doors in a way which will be most beneficial in particular to the American principles and placing the safeguards which in all kinds of camps time allow boys much at the same time without the unnecessary hazards which are so often present.

"The camping program has been considered so important by the National Boy Scout Council that the constitution places upon each council the responsibility of providing facilities and leadership for at least one week in a summer vacation camp.

"Last year more than 60 per cent of our Scouts attended the Catalina Camp, but our boys did not have the opportunity because of the geography of the island to do the kind of scouting which has to do with the study of trees, birds, pioneering and those things which can only be done in the mountain regions that are thickly covered with vegetation.

Boys Not Unguided
"This year we will meet that craving of the boys' for something wild, but we do not intend to let the boy go unguided. Our troop camps this summer will be ones of definite instruction, developing self-reliance, resourcefulness, cleanliness, godliness and other many qualities.

"No, indeed, we are not going to overlook the religious side of the boys' training. As Boy Scouts we respect the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion, and accordingly non-sectarian chapel services will be conducted every Sunday morning under the auspices of the 'camp spy pilot.' Groups desiring special services peculiar to their own church will be encouraged to hold sessions together, providing an authorized priest, rabbi, clergyman or layman is present to take charge.

"The camp motto is 'safety first.' Competent and experienced adult leadership will be in the camp at all times. Hikes and special trips will be supervised by an adult leader. Complete first aid equipment and appliances will be maintained. A reliable doctor is located at Lake Arrowhead. Government telephone service will be at our disposal in case of emergency.

"All in all, this camping trip will be the year's big adventure for every red-blooded Scout in the Verdugo Hills district, and we want to give every one of the boys an opportunity to go."

Cultivate Friendly Spirit! Be Cheerful! And Smile! Make Glendale Glad City!

By GIL A. COWAN

GLENDALE should be known for its friendly spirit. We'll say so, for we have felt it. Over at the high school yesterday we met up with old acquaintances and new and they all seemed to have a smile and a handclasp that was catching. It wasn't the first place this attitude of amiability has been noted, either. When a stranger is in our midst somebody is ever ready to get acquainted, there are friends from the old home town who are glad to see you, and new friends who are eager for the opportunity of knowing who you are, where you have come from, what you are doing, ad infinitum.

That is the reason for the intimate personal column in The Glendale Evening News each night, and it is wonderful the number of reunions effected through its columns. It may not interest you to know about visitors at the neighbors', although it should. They may come from the same place you left years ago. And they may know people you knew.

Form Fast Friendships
Another thing we like to see in the papers every night is the accounts of parties, club meetings and the like. They are friendly affairs at which the women become better acquainted and fast friendships are formed. Just like a lodge or luncheon club with the business men, the social events bring the wives and mothers and daughters together under most favorable circumstances.

The fact that Glendale is blessed with many good organizations, however, is no reason we should not go a step farther and appoint ourselves a committee of one to get acquainted with other people here and become a part of the social and business life. You will not find a better place in which to plant seeds of friendship than right in this homeland. And the crop you reap will more than repay the effort.

Glad Hand Great Asset
A glad hand is the greatest asset known outside of a pleasant smile. You can develop a hand-shake that is convincing, and if you practice a little the smiles will indelibly mark your physiognomy with friendly assurance. Crack a lip, if need be, folks, and learn how to smile.

Take Ed Nisle, the clothier, for instance. There's a cheerful fellow who makes you feel like investing a week's wages in a suit of clothes every time you meet him. And Herman Nelson at the Glendale avenue branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank has one of those gloom-chasing countenances that is worth more than our borrowing capacity.

Mayor Spencer Robinson is another citizen and official who capitalizes his good humor, even when he has to walk with a cane. And Charley Hatz, who knows how to be nice to everyone, looks like Old Sol on the cloudiest of days. Mrs. B. F. Cook, of cafe fame, is another one who gets more enjoyment out of her work than most of us mortals and you'll find that friendly smile early in the morning or a few minutes before midnight just the same.

It's Really Catching
It was A. L. Ferguson, vice principal of the high school, who started me thinking of all the smiles I have met since returning to Glendale. He was so "darned" glad to see me that I wasted Biological Survey.

MADRIGAL CLUB PLANS EXTENSION

Officers Outline Program to Be Carried Out in Coming Season

Plans for extension were made yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the board of the Madrigal club with the newly-elected president, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, at 327 North Maryland avenue.

The Madrigal club is one of the most active music organizations in Glendale, and members and friends will be interested in the plans formulated yesterday by the officers for the next year.

In addition to active members, it was decided to enroll patron members, associate members and student members. All will be privileged to attend all club rehearsals and concerts.

In charge of the various branches will be Mrs. A. M. Drepper, active members; Mrs. Helen MacMullin, patron members; Mrs. H. L. Bullinger, associate members; Mrs. L. E. Richardson, student members; Mrs. Charles H. Meadows, chairman of voice, assisted by Mrs. Roberta T. Young; Mrs. C. A. Parker, chairman of music, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Wright and Mrs. Helen MacMullin.

The next business meeting of the club will be held early in September to consider plans for opening the busiest season in the club's history.

Sale of the bonds must be effected within the next sixty days, Johnson said, as the highway commission will need the money to apply to going contracts.

TODAY—The "Flight of the Farmer"; A Method to Relieve It. Tomorrow—Better Transit for Chicago; Plan General Consolidation; Subway Project is Popular.—By Kenneth Harris.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The flight of the farmer is an old song in the land.

Politicians have thundered over it, economists have pondered over it, bankers have shaken their heads over it, Congress has enacted laws and then still more laws—and still the embattled farmer is the one outstanding man in the United States of whom it truthfully can be said that he is not getting his share of the prosperity fruit which is dropping from the trees these days.

Remedial measures have failed to remedy, corrective steps have failed to correct—and yet, according to Senator Royal S. Copeland (D.), of New York, it is astonishingly simple how easy of solution the farmer's problem is. It can be expressed in three words:

"Eat more bread!"
"In normal times," said Senator Copeland, "the United States exports about 170,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. Since the war and the impoverishment of Europe the markets to which the American farmer looked to absorb his surplus wheat and grains has been cut off.

"This is the problem—this surplus wheat. But it is remarkable how easily the problem of surplus wheat would disappear if everyone were to eat an extra slice of bread at each meal.
"If every man, woman and child in the United States—some 110,000,000—would so balance his daily diet as to include this extra slice of bread, the annual surplus of 170,000,000 bushels of wheat would be absorbed at once.

One hundred and ten million slices of bread three times a day

"As long as I am off the road anyway," said Billy after he lost sight of the hotel, "I might as well go farther and see what it is. Well, I'll be stumped! If it isn't a really, truly graveyard, and the graves are as close together as peas in a pod! These graves show that there must be a very unhealthy place to live."

"Not at all! Not at all!" said a voice behind him.
Billy gave a start of surprise to hear a voice speak to him when he thought there was no living thing near.

He turned quickly to see who had spoken and saw standing close up against the fence that surrounded the cemetery a rawboned, thin looking old goat.
"Surprised you, did I?" said the old goat. "Expect you thought it was one of them poor dead fellows that was speaking to you, didn't you?"

"Yes, I am afraid I did at first. You surprised me so. I did not think there was a living thing for a mile around. Perhaps you can tell me how all these people happen to be buried here, if this is a healthful place as you say it is."
"It wasn't when these poor fellows passed in their checks, but it is now since the Americans came here with all their new fangled scientific ways of preventing disease."

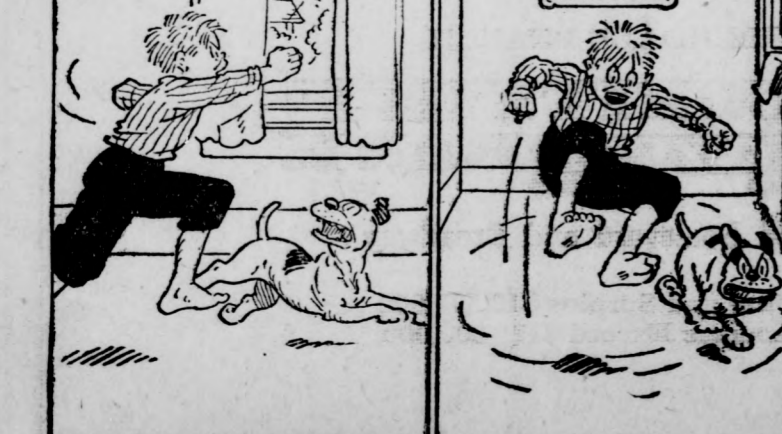

"How do they do that?" asked Billy.
"By keeping things strictly clean, draining the swamps and killing the mosquitoes. You would never believe the changes that have taken place here in the short space of five or six years. Where the people used to die by the hundreds, with malaria and yellow fever and other diseases, why, they seldom have a death now, and if they have a case now, the patient is rushed to the hospital and cured before he knows he is sick. So now the Canal Zone and Panama are considered the most healthful places to live along this immediate coast."

"As I am a stranger here, could you tell me the shortest way to the big hotel I saw on top of the mountain?" asked Billy.
"I guess you mean the Tivoli," for that is the finest hotel we have here, and it is on top of a mountain overlooking the country and ocean for miles around."

"That is the one. And if you would start me off right, I think I could find it."
"I haven't anything to do this morning, so I will go along with you and show you the way," and the two goats trotted off together.

Seeing a tempting looking flower by the wayside, Billy was about to eat it when the old goat stopped him.
(Tomorrow you'll hear why his new acquaintance stopped him.)
On a glorious sunny afternoon the old palace of Versailles gazed drowsily with its thousand glass eyes on the humans who wandered around it, says the Washington Star. "A small table set, strange to say, a man and a girl.
"Say, Harry," quoth the lady, "we haven't kept up that diary for a week. Let's have a look at it."
"Here you are," said Harry. "I hope you got a better memory than I have."
"Say, Harry."
"Yes."

"CAP" STUBBS—Highway Men, Beware!

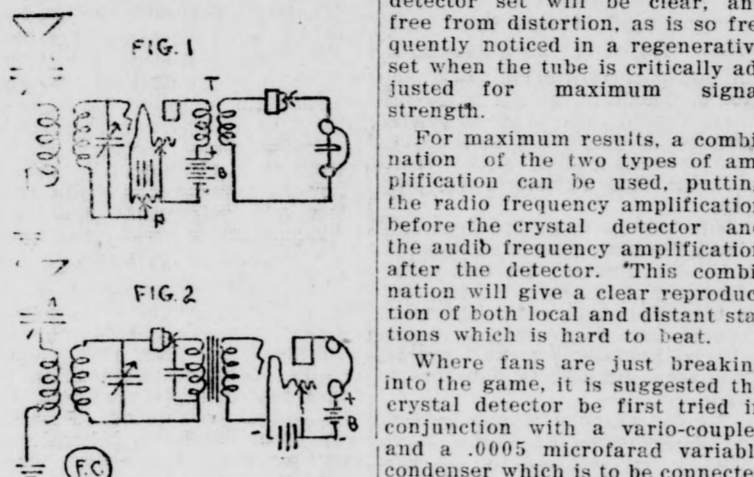

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

ADDING ONE STEP TO CRYSTAL SET

A crystal detector reproduces radiophone broadcasting much better than an audion, and for this reason a great many fans do not want to give up the crystal detector even though its receiving range is usually limited to nearby stations, and not enough volume is received to operate a horn or other loud speaking device.

To bring in more distant stations you can add one stage of radio frequency amplification by adding an audion to your set together with a radio frequency transformer or by using a tuned radio frequency hookup. The former is the simpler of the two. This is shown in Figure 1, and consists of an audion of the amplifier type, transformer, potentiometer, socket, rheostat and 45 volt B battery besides your regular loose coupler crystal set. This form of amplification will allow you to pick up a great many more stations than you would otherwise get on just the crystal detector and when tuned properly increases the range of a crystal detector a great deal. No definite distances can be given for any type of set as it depends on its location and conditions beyond control of either the transmitting or receiving stations.

Tuning of this set is the same as though no radio frequency amplification were added except the potentiometer may require a little adjusting after signals have been tuned in. Putting radio frequency on your set will not increase the sound of local or nearby stations, but will increase the strength of signals from more distant ones.

Figure 2 shows one stage of audio frequency amplification. If signals are louder on the detector than on the amplifier the B battery may be reversed. It is next to impossible to tune out a nearby station when signals are forced.
Radio doctors are as good in their line as other specialists. It pays to get one if an expensive set won't work right.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY FEEDS THE BIRDS

Uncle Wiggily hopped along in front of his hollow stump bungalow. He looked up at the blue sky. He looked down at the brown earth. He heard the gentle wind blowing through the trees.
"It is a lovely day. I am sure I shall have some wonderful adventures," said the bunny rabbit gentleman to himself as he twinkled his pink nose.

But, no sooner had he said this, and was thinking how beautiful it was out of doors, than, all of a sudden, a sad voice called:
"Oh, dear! How much trouble I have! Oh, I don't know what I am going to do!"

"Dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Who are you, and if I may ask, what is your trouble?"
"Trouble!" cried the voice sadly. "Trouble is what I have most of in this world. Listen! A piece of tree branch fell on my wife while she was sitting in our nest, keeping our little ones warm. My wife has a broken leg and she can not do anything for a week or more. I hurried off in such a hurry to get the doctor for her that I flew into a barbed wire fence and hurt one of my wings. So I can fly only a little bit. And who will feed our four hungry little birds? I'm sure I don't know! Oh, such trouble!"

With this a big, red, father, robin bird fluttered to the ground near where Uncle Wiggily stood, and there was a rustle in the branches of the tree over head.
"That's my wife up on the nest now," said Mr. Robin. "Yes, what is it?" he chirped, for Mrs. Robin was speaking.

"Are you getting something to eat for Chipper, Chapper, Cherrio and Ripple?" asked Mrs. Robin.
"Those are the names of our four little robins," whispered the father bird to Uncle Wiggily. "Why no, my dear wife, I haven't as yet, been able to get anything to eat," he answered Mrs. Robin. "I can scarcely hobble over the ground, much less fly and—"
"Oh, dear! What is to become of me and my little birds?" sighed poor Mrs. Robin up in the nest with a broken leg.

"Ha! Here is where I can help!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Please let me feed your little birds. Wait here!"
Leaving Mr. Robin, with the torn wing outside the bungalow, Mr. Longears hurried inside.
"Quick, Nurse Jane!" cried the bunny gentleman, "fix me up a basket of carrot bread, turnip jam, apple pie, cheese sandwiches and some molasses coffee. Quick if you please!"
"Are you going on a picnic?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"No, I am going to feed some little robin birds," was the answer. But when Uncle Wiggily took outside the basket of food Nurse Jane gave him the father robin gave one look, fluttered his good wing and said:
"Oh, my dear Uncle Wiggily, you are very kind, but my little birds can't eat this food. They need bugs and worms—the bad bugs and bad worms that otherwise would spoil your garden if we didn't take them away. But to get bugs and worms my wife and I need to dig them or pull them from the ground, and this we can't do, for my wife has a broken leg and I have a sore wing. You are very kind, but this food will not do."

"Ha! Then I know what I can do!" cried the bunny. "I am a very good digger in the earth. All rabbits are. I'll scratch up a lot of loose dirt with my paws and you can pick out the worms and bugs and take them to your wife and little ones in the nest, can't you?"

"Oh, indeed, right gladly will I do that!" chirped the father robin. So he stood by while Uncle Wiggily dug up the earth in his garden. Bug after bug and worm after worm was turned out and as fast as they appeared the father robin took this food in his bill and fluttered up to the nest where his wife and baby birds waited.
"Oh, thank you so much, Uncle Wiggily," called down Mrs. Robin as she dropped the bugs and worms into the hungry beaks of "Wait, I haven't finished yet," said the bunny. Then he dug more in the dirt, scattering the sand and gravel about in a regular cloud. And when the Bob Cat crept up, hoping to nibble the bunny's ears Uncle Wiggily scratched so much dirt in the bad chap's face that the Bob Cat howled "Yow!" and away he ran.

Then the bunny dug more worms and bugs for the little robins, and as they cuddled down under their mother's wing, they softly sang:
"Uncle Wiggily was good to us! He was—very—kind—and—good!" And then the baby robins went to sleep.

And if the window shade doesn't spring up to the ceiling to see whether the wall paper is trying to turn a somersault over the chandelier, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the toad's song.

HERBERT L. PRATT
Herbert L. Pratt, senior vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of New York for the last twelve years and son of the founder of the Pratt Institute, was elected president of the company recently. Pratt succeeds H. C. Folger.
Pratt has been connected with the Standard Oil Company for twenty-seven years. He is a native of Brooklyn, where he was born November 21, 1871. His family was established in America during Colonial days.
Charles Pratt, father of the new president, established an oil converting plant on the East river when crude oil was first discovered in this country on a large scale. "Pratt's Astral Oil" has become a popular brand. The business grew to large proportions and Charles Pratt joined John D. Rockefeller in the early Standard Oil organization.
Began as Clerk
Herbert L. Pratt attended

Brooklyn schools as a boy and then entered Amherst College, from which he was graduated. His first position was as clerk with the Bergen Point Chemical Works. Within a short time he was made assistant to the manager of the Standard Oil Company's Pratt Works and the Queens County Works.
As president of the Standard Oil Company of New York, Folger has been receiving an annual salary of $100,000.
Other Connections
In addition to being president and director of the Standard Oil Company of New York, Pratt is president and is a director of Frederick Looser & Co., Inc., trustee of the Bankers' Trust Company and a trustee of the Pratt Institute.
During the war Pratt took charge of the reorganization of the canteen service of the Y. M. C. A.

Oil and the Puppets

Today's Short Story by Ad Schuster

The parents of Arthur Gray and Lola Moon, though separated by many miles, had one purpose in common. It concerned matrimony, wealth and pretense, and was centered upon the two young persons.

Lola was sent to a co-educational college with as fine a wardrobe as any girl in the place.

"Remember always," her mother said, "you are wealthy. Act dress and talk as if you were used to riches and riches will be your reward. We cannot afford to send you to college; it will be difficult for us to get along while you are gone. Marry a rich man and we will be satisfied. It will be worth our sacrifice."

The words persisted in Lola's mind as she rode in the train to the college city. She asked herself if she were not to make a sacrifice. A sense of detachment came with her removal from a home in which everything was built on make-believe and she reviewed the incidents of her girlhood in a new light. All the time, she decided, she was being trained for this role she must now enact. It was not fair to ask a girl to retrieve the family fortunes.

Arthur Gray, in another coach of the same train, was on his way to the same college. When he had protested that his parents could not afford to send him to so expensive a school and had begged for the chance to help earn his way through, his father had shown more anger than the lad had ever seen in the thin and nervous parent.

"Don't you see?" the father had asked. "You are going to mix with young people from all over the country. You will meet the sons and daughters of the rich. It is an opportunity for you to be one of them, to make an impression and to—to get a start in life."

"You mean," Arthur replied, "I am to marry a rich girl?"

"Rich girls," the father said, "are no worse than poor ones, and it is absolutely necessary."

In college Arthur met Lola, and she was a mutual relief. The girl decided that, distasteful as was the idea of seeking a rich mate, there was no harm done when one really fell in love with a man of money. "I would love Arthur," she told herself "even if he were poor." And she wrote home that she had made friends with one of the wealthiest young men in school.

Lola's clothes and air of affluence impressed the young man. At first he balked at the thought of money, and then fell so deeply under the spell of her beauty and charm that he asked no questions.

Every housekeeper will want to put up at least a few jars of cherries this year. For there is no more decorative — not to say delicious! — fruit to combine with a luscious salad or to garnish a tempting dessert. Can them as follows:

To Can Sweet Cherries.—The choicest variety is perhaps best for canning—although sour cherries may be put up in a sweeter syrup with excellent results. Wash the cherries in cold water and pit them. Sterilize your glass jars by boiling them for 20 minutes, with their covers, in clear water. Drain and, while still hot, pack them with the cherries. Whatever juice you saved when pitting the cherries, should now be added to the jar. Have ready a hot sirup made as follows: To six quarts of cherries allow three pounds of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water; combine and bring this sugar and water to a boil, then let continue to boil for ten minutes. Turn it over the fruit in the jars.

Now put a fresh rubber on the jar. (This rubber should be merely dipped for an instant in boiling water to sterilize it.) Then put on the glass cap of the jar. Partially seal—that is, put up the top wire, over cap, but do not press down side wire. Sink the jar into boiling water in your wash-boiler canner (stand it on a wire rack in the canner, so that the boiling water will circulate under the jar as well as around it), and watch closely to see when the water again starts to boil. When it does, let it continue to simmer for 15 minutes. It is best not to have this boiling water rise over the top of the jars; let it come to within an inch from the jar top.

At the end of this 15-minute period of "processing" remove jar from the canner, completely seal (that is, press down side wire) and invert to cool and test for leaks. If it leaks, you must open it, put on a fresh rubber, and process for five minutes longer, partially sealed, as just described above; then completely seal and again test for leaks.

I would advise all my Housekeeper Readers to send to Washington, D. C., for the Farmer's Bulletin No. 1211 entitled "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," which can be obtained without charge if you write to the Division of Publications, Washington, D. C., and ask for it.

THE BELOVED CATALOGUE

Don't you love catalogues? Next to a real gossip letter, from someone who knows how to write letters, I think I would rather get a catalogue of some article I am interested in than anything else in my mail.

A catalogue means that one can have much of the joy of shopping while seated in one's own comfortable chair in front of the fire or on the cool porch. And while energetic youth may prefer the excitement of genuine shopping, as one grows older one grows a bit more willing to take the comfort and let some of the excitement go.

The Seed Catalogue
 The song of seed catalogues has already been adequately sung by more than one author. I am sure all the marvelous colors that never were on land or sea are achieved in those catalogues or on the covers of the seed packages. And surely never bloomed the rose so red as in that catalogue pictured bed.

"Half the fun in sowing flower seeds," says Walter Pritchard Eaton, "comes from your hope of achieving those golden promises held out by the seed catalogues—like a second marriage, plus too often the triumph of hope over experience."

Then there is the catalogue of the mail order house, with its gamut of necessities and unecessaries from basinettes to tombstones.

Those Gasoline Savers
 And the catalogue of clothes to entrance and entice the lady of the house. And the catalogue of automobile accessories over which the male member can pore for hours, only lifting his nose to say: "I think we ought to have this. It gives you 2000 miles more on your tires," or "I don't believe in putting a lot of extras on a car, but I don't know but what it would be foolish not to get that. They guarantee that you cut down your gas twenty per cent and give you your money back if it doesn't." (I have computed that if we put on every gasoline saver advertised year. An interesting and yet a made and all the savings they promise, we should never have to buy any gasoline, but should probably accumulate a gallon or so every hundred miles.)

The furniture catalogue is another happy hunting ground, a sort of borderland where day-dreams of the wonderful things one is going to buy when one's ship comes in and considerations of the next piece of furniture one will actually buy mingle. One can gloat over the fascinating set of porch furniture one would buy if Great-Aunt Jane should leave one a few thousands, and then one can spend another happy hour comparing the different offerings in the line of children's dresses—which one is really going to buy.

The Old Catalogue
 In our household we have had a habit of filing catalogues each in a separate folder. For whenever the feminine half of the household has just about decided to make a purchase, the male half restrains her by looking at the 1918 catalogue and telling her that the price of the dresser she is about to buy for $21 was then $9.95. And it does seem so extravagant to buy things that one could have bought for half as much five years ago.

But the most fascinating catalogue of all, the most universally fascinating catalogue at least, is the one that pictures ready-cut or ready-built houses. I have seldom found anyone who would not pore with interest over a pile of such catalogues. The potential bride, of course, but the old man whose building days are over, too.

A new and wonderful catalogue came in tonight's mail. We came home from the post office without a letter (isn't it strange that one always writes more letters than one gets, who gets those extra letters?) and yet we felt rich because we carried the newest and most fascinating of the household catalogues. And that's what occasioned the outburst with which I started this talk.

BEAUTY CHATS

THE MANICURE

Begin your manicure by assembling all your tools on a convenient low table. You'll want a towel, a bowl of very warm soapy water, with a little perfume or lemon Juice in it if you want the manicure to be specially refreshing. Use a long flexible nail file, a filing with an end for cleaning under the nails, an orange wood stick, one end wrapped in a little cotton, manicure scissors, emery papers, buffer, polishing paste or powder, and a small jar of any sort of cream. You can include a little pumice powder, or cuticle solvent, if you use anything extra for removing the dead skin. But these last aren't really necessary.

File your nails to whichever shape best suits your hand—a moderately pointed oval is safest. Soak the finger tips a few minutes in the warm water, clean under the nails, smooth them off with the emery board, slip the blades of the scissors under each corner of the nail, and clip off the rough bits which collect.

Ordinarily, pushing back the surrounding skin will be enough. But in some cases, powdered pumice must be rubbed around the nail, soaked off and the skin cut smooth, or any one of the patented solvents may be used. As these methods are drying, a special amount of cream is necessary afterwards or the nails will become dry and brittle. In most cases, however, pushing back the skin, then using the buffer vigorously with the polishing powder and clipping off the rough bits of skin which the powder shows up, is quite enough. Wash off the powder and rub in cream. Let the cream stay on as long as possible, wipe around each nail with the cotton wrapped end of the orange stick, and polish once more with a clean buffer, or the same one wiped free of powder.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Balanced Diet
 There are fifteen elements in the body. These are supplied by six groups of foods: Proteins, fats, carbohydrates, mineral elements, vitamins and water. I have given you talks on all of these groups. Now we must talk a little on the proper proportions and amounts of them to take. In other words, we must talk on the balanced diet.

Food has a three-fold function:

1. It must supply all of the elements which are necessary to make the structure of the living cells.
2. It must supply energy for the activities, internal and external.
3. It must regulate the vital processes to produce that harmony which means health.

We might add a fourth: To add to the joys of life.

All human history attests that happiness for man—the hungry since Eve ate apples, much depends on dinner.—Byron.

When our food is taken in such amounts and proportions that all of these functions are fulfilled, then we have a balanced diet. Our knowledge of what constitutes a balanced diet for man at different ages and activities has been gained by:

1. Many accurate experiments in the nutrition laboratories with apparatus (respiration and food calorimeters) devised to measure the energy of man at different ages and activities, and the energy of foods.
2. Other experiments covering certain periods of time on groups of men—soldiers, students, professors of nutrition, etc., who volunteer for the work.
3. Observations and histories of different peoples of good nutrition.
4. Animal experimentation.

Now, briefly, what has been found to be a balanced diet, and how are we to know when we have one?

First, we must consider the total amount of food taken. If you maintain normal weight (normal weight will fluctuate two or three pounds from day to day, due to varying retention of water in the system), you can be pretty sure that the amount of food you are taking is right, and that the proportions must be more or less right also. That is why I pay so much attention to normal weight in my teachings. For children, normal weight must include normal rate of gain.

Second, we must consider the proportions of the different elements contained in this total amount of food we take. These should be ten to fifteen per cent protein, twenty-five to thirty per cent fat, and sixty to sixty-five per cent carbohydrates. Taking the highest proportions of protein and fat for the children's needs, this table will do for them as well as for adults. The vitamins and mineral elements we do not express in percentages, as I have explained to you in previous papers; but if you include in your diet the right proportions of protein, fats and carbohydrates (as given above), the vitamins and mineral salts will largely take care of themselves in such a normal diet.

Now these figures will mean nothing to you without a knowledge of the unit by which they are measured, the calories. So you must have that knowledge. And it is not difficult, for, if you know the approximate caloric value of the chief foods, you can easily reckon the value of the others accurately enough for your purpose.

If you know the protein value of the main foods and so get the correct proportions of protein in your diet, and if you take very little free fat (and that mostly in the form of butter), I believe that in most normal cases you can ignore the calculations of the fat and carbohydrates. This means that if you know the total number of calories you can consume and retain your normal weight, and if you observe these cautions regarding an excess of free fat, and see that the proteins in your diet are not excessive or too limited, your selection of food will automatically supply sufficient carbohydrates and fats.

Now I want to add another "if." IF you include in your diet at least a pint of milk in some form (for children this should be one and a half pints to one quart), a big serving of cooked greens, a big fresh salad, some fresh fruit when obtainable (canned or dried when not), and whole-grained foods (bread and cereals)—IF, I say, you include these foods in your daily diet, you are going to get the correct proportions of fats, carbohydrates and proteins, but the correct proportions of vitamins and mineral elements. This, with a plentiful supply of pure water, will give you a balanced diet.

HEART-HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please tell me if there is a law preventing cruelty toward children?
 F. D. H.

Yes, there is a law preventing cruelty to children. If you know of a case, report it to the police.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens and I admire a certain young man. He seems to like me quite well. There is going to be a weiner bake in this town and each girl is supposed to invite a boy. What would you say when you invited him? Would it be correct to send him a note inviting him about the weiner bake?
 BETTY.

It would be correct to write a note inviting the boy to the weiner bake, or to ask him personally. Simply tell him when and where it will be and ask him to go with you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old and I am working at my first position as a stenographer. There is a young man in the office who seems to be interested in me and he has invited me to go to the theatre with him some night. I have asked my employer about him and he says he is a very fine man. I did not tell my employer about the invitation. Would it be correct for me to go to the theatre with him?
 THELMA F.

There is no reason why you should not accept the invitation to go to the theatre with the young man in the office. It might be well, however, to invite him to call at your home before you accept his invitation.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman. My mother is a widow and my husband and I are living with her. I also have an unmarried sister at home. For some reason my mother and sister do not seem to like my husband. I cannot see why, because he tries to do what is right and he is just as good to me as a man could possibly be. He says he is not happy though, and he wants to go to housekeeping by ourselves. When I talk of it to my mother she simply won't listen to such a thing. She cries and seems to feel so terribly that I really don't know what to do. My mother has had a great deal of unhappiness and I don't want to cause her any more. Under the circumstances, what would you advise me to do?

 MRS. T. H. G.

I would advise you to go to housekeeping with your husband. It is not at all fair to him to remain in the home of your mother with conditions as they are. Of course your mother thinks it will break her heart to lose you, but after the change has been made she will adjust herself to it and she will find just as much happiness in her visits to you and your visits to her. She and your sister will be company for each other, and so you do not have to think of your mother as being alone. It seems to me your way is clear and there is only one course for you to follow.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A young man has asked me to go off with him some Sunday for a picnic. Nothing was said about the lunch. Am I supposed to take it? I don't know whether that would be correct or not.
 IN DOUBT.

Usually the girl takes the lunch to a picnic, but sometimes it is not necessary for her to do so. I would advise you to ask the young man if he would like to have you take a lunch.

DINNER STORIES

A crowd had gathered in the great man's studio to see his pictures before they were sent to the academy. The girl strolling around turned to the artist and remarked:

"Strange that angels are always women, isn't it?"

"Yes," said the artist, with a twinkle. "Shows artists don't know much about women, doesn't it?"

"It may be so," retorted the girl, "but it certainly shows they know a lot about men!"

A young man in college was quite a wag; though able enough, he was not noted for his scholarship, recites Judge. Finally, owing to lack of zeal in study and to press of social activities, he approached mid-term in very serious condition. Rumor placed him first in his class, while it conceded first honor to his friend, Bill.

One day the witty youth was bragging:

"Tell you what, fellows, me and Bill are running that junior class, Bill's leading, and I'm pushing!"

Senator Lodge was talking at a luncheon about political oratory, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

"A critic," he said, "went by request to hear a certain politician make a speech.

"Well," said the politician, after he'd got through "well, how was it?"

"Sound—very sound," said the critic.

"Yes," said the politician, and then, hungry for more, he beamed, and added: "Sound—and what else?"

"Nothing else—only sound," said the critic.

EAGLE ROCK

FRIENDS SHOWER GIFTS ON BRIDES

Many Parties Are Held for Eagle Rock Girls Who Plan Matrimony

June showers have a way of coming right indoors, and Eagle Rock is no exception to the rule. No roof can keep them out and windows are not proof against them. Even doors they delight to defy!

Another peculiar thing about these June showers is the way they are followed shortly after by the faint tinkle of bells, while from the clear sky come other showers—rice and confetti this time, with perhaps an old shoe or two intermingled, for good luck.

Among the precipitations of this character registered at the Eagle Rock "Fair Weather" Bureau during the month of June, 1923, are the following:

Mrs. Bertha Pearce of 106 East Park avenue entertained with a bridal shower for Miss Lily Pearce, who will become a bride in the very near future. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns, crapepiss, yellow canas, marigolds and nasturtiums, the gold color scheme being carried out to the smallest detail, with a miniature bride standing in the midst of a bed of ferns, as a centerpiece for the table. The shower fell from a "pot of gold" and was of a nature that will be very useful in the new home.

Teacher Honored

Mrs. Normal C. Hayhurst of 341 Oak street, Glendale, entertained at her home a number of teachers from the Central school, in honor of Miss Mary Ostergard, one of the teachers of that school, who will become the bride of Alva Hall of Glendale. The house was effectively decorated with crapepiss, bachelor buttons and corn flowers. The shower broke from a cask, the only hint being receipt of a bouquet containing a note on which was written a paragraph of instruction as to the whereabouts of a certain package—and so on until many beautiful and useful gifts had been located.

Miss Dorothy E. Johns, another Central school teacher, will become the bride of John McNary of Eagle Rock. She was given a "surprise" shower by the teachers of Central school, being delighted upon opening her "hope chest" to find in it many objects new to it and to her.

Miss Mary Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Reeves of 123 South Douglas avenue, was given a delightful shower on June 8, at the home of her sister, Mrs. O. N. Hardy, of Hollywood, and on the following day was married to Edward B. Pence of a local realty company. They spent a brief honeymoon at Riverside and Long Beach, but expect to go east later in the summer, visiting Mr. Pence's mother in Washington, D. C.

Miss Lena Horn was also married on June 9, the groom being Mr. Cammack, who has for some years been in the electrical business on South Castle avenue. The marriage took place at the home of Mrs. W. J. Roach of Hollywood. The bride came from Sullivan, Ill., just a few days before the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. E. Morgan Isaac.

C. of C. Office Hours
Donnell Montgomery, secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, has instituted temporary office hours from 1 to 2 o'clock each afternoon, at his desk on the platform of the City Hall auditorium, when he will be pleased to meet anyone having business to transact.

Summer at Beach
Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Steward and family of 148 Rowland avenue have gone to Hermosa Beach for the summer, having rented the house of H. S. Bourne.

The personnel of Eagle Rock's police department now numbers fourteen.
The Union Oil Company is erecting a service station at the northwest corner of Central avenue and Colorado boulevard.

Mrs. George Howard of North Central avenue is planning to spend the summer at her former home in Iowa.

Gordon Stevens, a piano teacher, has purchased the property at 129 North Acacia avenue and will build a duplex there.
Mrs. M. Leonhardt of Rowland avenue awaits the arrival from Germany of a sister, who is coming to make her home with her.

H. I. De Vol of the realty firm of Haas & De Vol, 204 East Colorado boulevard, reports that he is looking after outside work to a large extent and that sales are brisk for this season, with things generally on an upward trend.
Mrs. B. J. Lippold of 221 East Sycamore avenue recently entertained the members of the Central school orchestra at her home, music and refreshments balancing each other on a fine program of social pleasure.

IN HOLLYWOOD
By a clever arrangement of mirrors a watchman in one passage is able to see into all the others surrounding the vault in a new bank in Hollywood.

If the mask could be dropped from the face of sinners at a given signal it would be easy to count those who never wore one.

BURBANK

BUYS CORNER AT COST OF $24,750

Hollywood Man Secures Property; Subway Under S. P. Tracks, Plan

The corner of San Fernando road and Tujunga avenue, adjacent to the Ramsey building has been purchased by R. Neiderhauser, of Hollywood, for $24,750, according to Robert T. See, also of Hollywood.

The corner has a frontage of fifty-five feet on the boulevard, making the purchase $450 per front foot.
Plans are under way to make Central avenue one of the most desirable streets of the city. A petition that has been circulating among property owners has been presented to the city trustees, calling for paving, laying of water mains and other developments, along a stretch from San Fernando boulevard to the city limits.

Included in the plans is the project of making a subway under the Southern Pacific tracks, and the widening of the entire street to eighty feet, for which a right-of-way has already been obtained.
It is planned, moreover, to continue the improvements beyond the city limits, to the Lankershim boulevard, where Central avenue is already eighty feet wide.

Historical Site Bought
The property known as the old Rancho de Cahuenaga, located on Lankershim boulevard directly opposite Universal City, has been leased in part by the city of Los Angeles, and will be converted into a memorial and museum.

The portion leased comprises lots sixteen and seventeen in the University tract and has been utilized largely as a dog and cat hospital. It was on this exact spot that the famous treaty of Cahuenaga was signed by Col. John C. Fremont and Gen. Adres Pico, on January 13, 1847, whereby the entire state of California passed out of the possession of Mexico, to become a portion of the United States of America.

Zoning plans once more agitated the board of trustees, at their meeting Tuesday night, several members of the Planning Commission being present, with a system evolved some time ago, providing for a business district along both sides of San Fernando road, extending from the industrial zone on the south to Fourth street on the north, said industrial district extending along both sides of the S. P. tracks, and the section from Fourth to Seventh streets, on San Fernando boulevard, to be devoted to apartment houses and bungalow courts, with all property above Seventh exclusively residential.

Legion Holds Council
The Burbank post, American Legion, held a council in the Army last night, representatives from Van Nuys, Owensmouth, Gard and Tujunga posts being present.

The local post has taken a lease on the Army, by the terms of which the legion will not only have the use of the hall, but also of the club room, showers and gymnasium.
It was brought out that the posts of the San Fernando valley Inter-Post Council would unite with Owensmouth in a big July 4th celebration.

All visiting legionnaires expressed themselves as agreeably surprised with the new home of the local post.

Personal Notes
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Offill, of 326 Orange Grove avenue, have with them their daughter, Miss Edith Offill, from Montrose, Colo., a teacher in the public schools there. Miss Offill plans to attend summer school in Los Angeles.

E. E. Robertson is building a duplex at the corner of Varney street and Verdugo avenue.
B. P. Gibbs, of South Cypress avenue, has purchased the J. Frank Haugart home on Roycroft avenue and will move to that place.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Whiteside recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lord and children, of Pasadena, together with their daughter Miss Pearl Whiteside, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber have bought the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Hubbard, on Magnolia avenue, and will live there.
Mrs. P. A. Fainot has received word that her daughter, Mrs. Cora Wilson, with her two sons, are motoring from Linton, Ind., and will arrive in Burbank shortly.

G. T. Richard is in Oregon, where he will spend the summer for his health.
Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hoffman, from Los Angeles, have bought a five-acre ranch in Tujunga pass.

C. of C. Directors Meet at Luncheon

Intons of thanks were passed, to be forwarded to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for its assistance in the work.

On motion of C. D. Lusby it was decided that the question of the adoption of the borough system of municipal government be considered at the Friday night meeting of the board, and that Attorney Bert P. Woodard be invited to attend the meeting and explain the subject in detail.

RESTORE HEARING
That humming and singing will make it possible for partially deaf persons to regain their hearing is contended by a Brooklyn, N. Y., physician.

Nitrogen is extracted from the air by electricity in Norway, Germany and to a limited extent in the United States.

MONTROSE

BUSY CORNER IS SOLD, IS RUMOR

New High Figure Set for Boulevard Frontage On Main Street

The corner of Montrose and Honolulu avenues is rapidly taking on the appearance of a thriving city intersection. The Theodore Belanger block, at the northwest point of the square, of concrete and brick construction, is leased to George Charbonneau, whose Bluebird Cafe opened last Saturday; and to Joseph E. Belanger, son of the owner, who is a graduate chemist and will open a drug store within a few days.

The southwest corner, occupied by the Montrose State bank, is watching the southeast corner with interest. Here are two filling stations and a number of small businesses, in the opinion of progressive citizens, must sooner or later yield to an imposing structure at this point. It is in fact rumored that this corner was purchased within the last two or three days, at a figure that sets a new high level for boulevard frontage.

F. J. Sweeney, proprietor of the garage and service station on this corner, states that his observation of automobile traffic at this point, during the past few months, has led him to the conclusion that the increase is steady and the number of vehicles going by in the course of a day is far up in the thousands.

That values are not tied to this corner but extend back along both intersecting arteries is attested by the two story brick recently erected on the north side of West Honolulu avenue, about a half a block from Montrose avenue, by C. J. Reinhardt, who has leased space in the new building to Dr. John, a dentist, from Chicago; and to Dr. Turner, an osteopath.

George Charbonneau, proprietor of the Bluebird cafe in the Belanger building, wishes to thank the following local business men for the beautiful floral decorations tendered him on the opening of his store: Fraser, of Fraser's dry goods store; C. G. Howard, real estate; C. L. Mead, gas station; T. C. Voorhees, contractor, and C. J. Young, garage, La Crescenta.

Mr. Charbonneau states that the dance, sponsored by himself, at his own expense, in the new Belanger building, last Saturday night, was a big success. The two cakes he contributed, and which were raffled off, brought $17.50—$10 for the larger one and $7.50 for the smaller. Joseph E. Belanger, proprietor of the forthcoming drug store, being one of the lucky two.

A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra, of Glendale, who furnished the music, played all the sweeter by reason of the fine chicken dinner furnished them gratis by the Bluebird's proprietor, these repasts being a product of the culinary art of Sam Alexander, former proprietor of the Driftwood Inn, Tropic, who is now Mr. Charbonneau's esteemed chef.

LA CRESCENTA

EX-SERVICE MEN ATTEND BANQUET

Service Plan Store Launched To Furnish Electrical Equipment

A party of former service men and their wives attended the monthly banquet held by those interested in the 100 Service Plan Store situated at 5177 Hollywood boulevard. These men have all had a course in salesmanship and launched this store which is the first of a chain, not as a plea for charity, but an honest, square dealing store where your money will go farther in buying any electrical appliance for the home.

"Service" Is Store Motto
Those attending the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Card, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Siekert and Mr. and Mrs. Stone.
Dr. Nettleton has rented his new bungalow on Mayfield avenue through the Darrow-Card real estate office.

Miss Marion Kieth of Altura avenue will entertain on Friday evening for the local high school graduates.
Mrs. Francis Yair, who has been a guest at the "Mount," has moved to the Mortimer court in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Klatt of Sansborne avenue are moving into their beautiful $10,000 home, which was designed for them by Harry Peters, architect of Oxford, Eng.
Dr. Miller, M. D., a recent newcomer who has just completed his new cottage on East Montrose avenue, is opening an office in this residence.

The La Crescenta Pharmacy has been newly calcimined and is now being remodeled, new partitions, etc., being built and new wall and show cases will be installed at a later date.
Dr. C. M. Karr is opening an office in his residence at 110 West Honolulu avenue. He is a graduate osteopath and chiropractor of several years' standing, having taught in Eclectic School of Chiropractic in Los Angeles for some time.

He will specialize in the ailments of growing children in which he has been particularly successful. He has also made a specialty of diagnosis for a period of years.
Dr. Hammond, of Montrose avenue, has had as her week end guest her niece, Mrs. Allright and her son.

Mr. Poole of Florentina drive has joined the ranks of real estate men. He has not as yet got an office but expects to have one in the near future.

The bids on the school additions were all rejected and when plans are re-drafted bids will be received again.
The Driftwood Inn, Tropic, who is now Mr. Charbonneau's esteemed chef.

A SAVAGE TIRE "AD" ... WITH COMMENTS

No. 5 OF A SERIES

I can't recall whether I've heard this statement at some time or not, but it appears to be true that "we appreciate most that which we understand best." The artist or the person with knowledge of art best appreciates the masterpiece, and musicians or those trained in music recognize the beautiful rendering of a composition—because they understand the motifs, the technique, the thought, the purpose, or whatever it may be, that is expressed. It would seem that the same thing ought to apply in other lines of endeavor or methods of expression—the building of tires, or the designing of an advertisement, for example. With this in mind, we've arranged a series of "ads" with comments on the side. It is true, too, that people usually like to learn something about the other fellow's business, and we see no reason why our business should be an exception. Royal B. Lee, Advertising Manager.

PRIDE OF THE SAVAGE TIRE TRIBE

The artisan takes pride in doing good things well. Given correct design, fine raw materials, proper tools, a reputation to sustain, and recognition for work well performed, there is a real incentive to build better than a mere commodity.

Such is the situation in the factory where the Savage "Aristocrat" Cord is built. Our men know the quality and texture of the raw materials they are working with, they appreciate the excellence of the Aristocrat design, they realize the care that must be exercised to maintain the splendid reputation gained by their product—and they build accordingly.

Surely they may be pardoned for a deep-rooted pride in this product of theirs. It performs so remarkably well, it is so handsome, it is the expression of their best effort—and you can be proud of it, too.

It will serve you well, add to the pleasure of driving with to the beauty of your car. This, the men who build it know.

For Satisfaction, Quality or Price Buy SAVAGE TIRES FROM NEARBY DEALERS

Here the artist was asked to "register" pride and affection in picturing our Indian character. Rather a difficult combination, we'll admit, but he did it very well. This same artist abhors anything approaching the "mechanical," so we had to have another artist draw the tire. This latter artist couldn't for the world have originated the Indian—he could have copied it very nicely, but that is all. And that is the way it goes.

This is purely a descriptive headline to tie up the illustration with the text that follows.

What a constructive force pride is! True, it is sometimes used most foolishly, but in the main it makes us strive for better and better things, and helps to keep us from slipping back. Our workmen are proud of the Aristocrat Cord. Their pride will not permit them to injure the product they are working on, consciously. Surely men like these, and the product they build so well, are worthy subjects to present to our readers. We do it here.

Where pride is woven into a product like it is in ours, you can't make a grave error in buying it—for satisfaction, quality, price, or any other worthy consideration. We suggest here that you make your next tire purchase from our line. You will find a nice wide range to select from.

For your convenience, we list the dealers who will be glad to give you latest information on prices, etc. It won't cost you anything to call on them for this and you can compare our tires with those you are already using, if you wish to. We invite comparison.

Will Honor Memories Of Muir and Swett

MARTINEZ, June 18.—A movement is under way to have the memories of Dr. John Swett and Dr. John Muir, for many years two of California's most noted citizens, kept fresh by the erection of a suitable memorial monument in the Alhambra valley, where their old homes stand a few miles apart. One suggestion is that life-sized statues of the two men be erected.
Although John Muir, famous naturalist, wandered in quest of knowledge from Alaska, where he discovered the now famous Muir glacier, to the equator, Alhambra valley was always "home," and in a secluded spot along Alhambra creek is his tomb.

Foreign Ships May Have Medicinal Hooch

WASHINGTON, June 20.—At least some of the difficulties arising from the enforcement of the new dry ship regulations will be swept aside by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's decision that liquor brought into American ports on foreign vessels is exempt from the Volstead act so long as it is in the custody of the ship's surgeon, officials of the Treasury Department said today.
Mellon's instructions, giving foreign ships permission to carry large stores of "medicinal" liquor, were issued to the United States public health service.

British Debt Pact Executed and Signed

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The contract under which Great Britain will extinguish her $4,600,000,000 war debt to the United States during the next sixty-two years was finally executed yesterday afternoon and deposited in the vault at the Treasury Department.
The agreement was signed by President Harding and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for the United States, and by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, for his government.
