The Epistle Dedicatorie.

of Nobilitie. There is a kinde of humble Ambition, not vn-commendable, when the silence of study breakes forth into Discourse, coveting rather encouragement then Applause; yet herein Censure commonly is too severe an Auditor, without the moderation of an able Patronage. I have ever beene slow in courtship of greatnesse, not ignorant of such defects as are frequent to Opinion: but the Iustice of your Inclination to Industry, emboldens my weaknesse, of confidence, to relish an experience of your Mercy, as many brave Dangers have tasted of your Courage. Your Lordship stroue to be knowne to the world (when the world knew you least) by voluntary but excellent Attempts: Like Allowance I plead of being knowne to your Lordship (in this low presumption) by tendring to a favourable entertainment, a Dedication offred from a heart, that can be as truely sensible of any least respect, as ever professe the owner in my best, my readiest services, A Lover of your naturall Love to Vertue,

John Ford.

The Broken HEART.

After so many quarrels, as dissention,
Fury, and Rage had brauch't in blood, and sometimes
With death to such confederates, as sided
With now dead Thrasus, and your selfe my Lord,
Our present King Amiclas reconcil'd
Your eager swords, and Seal'd a gentle peace :
Friends you profess your selues, which to confirme,
A resolution for a lasting league
Betwixt your Families was entertain'd,
By ioyning in a Hymenean bond,
Me, and the faire Pentheas, onely daughter
To Thrasus. Crot. What of this? Org. Much, much (deere sir)
A freedome of conuerse, an enterchange
Of holy, and chaste loue, so fixt our soules
In a firme growth of holy vnion, that no Time
Can eat into the pledge ; we had enioy'd
The sweets our vows expected, had not cruelty
Preuented all those triumphs we prepar'd for,
By Thrasus his vntimely death. Crot. Most certaine.

Org. From this time sprouted vp that poysonous stalk
Of Aconite, whose ripened fruit hath ravisht
All health, all comfort of a happy life :
For Ithocles her brother, proud of youth,
And prouder in his power, nourisht closely
The memory of former discontents.
To glory in reuenge, by cunning partly,
Partly by threats, 'a wooes at once, and forces
His virtuous sister to admit a marriage
With Basanes, a Noble man, in honour
And riches, I confesse beyond my fortunes.

Crot. All this is no sound reason to importune
My leave for thy departure. Org. Now it followes,
Beauteous Pentheas wedded to this torture
By an insulting brother, being secretly
Compeld to yeeld her virgine freedome vp
To him, who neuer can vsurpe her heart
Before contracted mine, is now so yolk'd

To a most barbarous thraldome, misery,
Affliction, that he fauors not humanity.
Whose sorrow melts not into more then pittie;
In hearing but her name. Crot. As how pray? Org. Bassanes
The man that calls her wife; considers truly
What Heaven of perfections he is Lord of,
By thinking faire Penibea his: This thought
Begets a kinde of Monster-Loue, which Loue
Is nurse vnto a feare so strong, and seruile,
As brands all dotage with a Iealousie.
All eyes who gaze vpon that shrine of beauty,
He doth resoluē, doe homage to the miracle;
Some one, he is assur'd, may now or then
(If opportunity but sort) preuaile:
So much out of a selfe-vnworthinesse
His feares transport him, not that he findes cause
In her obedience, but his owne distrust.

Crot. You spin out your discourse. Org. My griefs are violent
For knowing how the Maid was heretofore
Courtēd by me, his iealousies grow wild
That I should steale againe into her fauours,
And vndermine her vertues: which the gods
Know I nor dare, nor dreame of: hence, from hence,
I vndertake a voluntary exile.
First, by my absence to take off the eares
Of Iealous Bassanes, but chiefly (Sir)
To free Penibea from a hell on earth:
Lastly, to lose the memory of something,
Her presence makes to liue in me afresh.

Crot. Enough (my Orgilus) enough: To Athens
I giue a full consent: — Alas good Lady —
Wee shall heare from thee often? Org. Often. Crot. See
Thy Sister comes to giue a farewell.

Enter Euphrania.

Euphr. Brother.

Org. Euphrania, thus vpon thy cheekes I print
A brothers kisse, more carefull of thine honour,

The Broken HEART.

Thy health, and thy well-doing, then my life.
 Before we part, in presence of our father,
 I must preferre a suit to 'ee. Euphr. You may stile it,
 My brother, a command. Org. That you will promise
 To passe neuer to any man, how euer worthy,
 Your faith, till with our Fathers leave
 I giue a free consent. Crot. An easie motion,
 I'le promise for her, Orgilus. Org. Your pardon;
Euphrasia's oath must yeeld me satisfaction.

Euphr. By Vesta's sacred fires I sweare. Crot. And I
 By great Apello's beames ioyne in the vow;
 Not without thy allowance, to bestow her
 On any liuing. Org. Deere Euphrasia
 Mistake me not; farre, farre 'tis from my thought,
 As farre from any wish of mine, to hinder
 Preferment to an honourable bed,
 Or sitting Fortune: thou art young, and handsome;
 And 'twere iniustice; more, a tyrannie
 Not to aduance thy merit. Trust me Sister,
 It shall be my first care to see thee match'd
 As may become thy choyce, and our contents:
 I haue your oath. Euphr. You haue: but meane you brother
 To leave us as you say? Crot. I, I, Euphrasia:
 He has iust grounds direct him: I will proue
 A father and a brother to thee. Euphr. Heauen
 Does looke into the secrets of all hearts:
 Gods you haue mercy with 'ee, else— Crot. Doubt nothing:
 Thy brother will returne in safety to vs.

Org. Soules sunke in sorrowes, never are without 'em;
 They change fresh ayres, but beare their griefes about 'em.

Exeunt omnes.

Flourish.

Scene 2.

Enter Amyclas the King, Armostes, Prophilus, and attendants.

Amy. The Spartane gods are gracious, our humility
 Shall bend before their Altars, and perfume

This

Their Temples with abundant sacrifice.
See Lords, Amyclas your old King is entering Into his youth againe. I shall shake off
This silver badge of age, and change this snow
For haire as gay as are Apollo's lockes;
Our heart leaps in new vigour. Armo. May old time
Run backe to double your long life (great Sir)

Amy. It will, it must Armostes, thy bold Nephew,
Death-braving Ithacles, brings to our gates
Triumphs and peace vpon his conquering sword.
Laconia is a monarchy at length;
Hath in this latter warre trod vnderfoot
Messenus pride; Massene bowes her necke
To Lacedaemons royalty: ô 'twas
A glorious victory, and doth deserue
More then a Chronicle; a Temple Lords,
A Temple, to the name of Ithacles.
Where didst thou leave him Prophilus? Proph. At Pepkon
Most gracious Soueraigne; twenty of the noblest
Of the Messenians, there attend your pleasure
For such conditions as you shall propose,
In settling peace, and liberty of life.

Amy. When comes your friend the General? Pro. He promis'd
To follow with all speed conuenient.

Enter Croton, Calantha, Chrystalla, Philema and Euphrania.

Amy. Our daughter:— Deere Calantha, the happy newes,
The conquest of Messene, hath already
Enrich'd thy knowledge. Calan. With the circumstance
And manner of the fight, related faithfully
By Prophilus himseife; but pray Sir, tell me,
How doth the youthfull Generall demean
His actions in these fortunes? Proph. Excellent Princess,
Your owne faire eyes may soone report a truth
Vnto your judgement, with what moderation,
Calmenesse of nature, measure, bounds and limits
Of thankfulness, and ioy, 'a doth digest

The Broken HEART.

Such amplitude of his successe, as would
In others, moulded of a spirit lesse cleare,
Advançe 'em to comparison with heaven.
But Ithocles, — Cal. Your friend. — Proph. He is so Madam,
In which the period of my Fate consists :
He in this Firmament of honour, stands
Like a Starre fixt, not mov'd with any thunder
Of popular applause, or sudden lightning
Of selfe-opinion : He hath serv'd his Country,
And thinks 'twas but his duty. Crot. You describe
A miracle of man. Amy. Such Crotolen,
On forfeit of a Kings word thou wilt finde him :
Harke, warning of his coming, all attend him.

Fleurish.

Enter Ithocles, Hemophil, and Groncas : the rest of the Lords ushering him in.

Amy. Returne into these armes, thy home, thy sanctuary,
Delight of Sparta, treasure of my bosome,
Mine owne, owne Ithocles. Itho. Your humblest subiect.

Armo. Proud of the blood I claime an Interest in;
As brother to thy mother, I embrace thee
Right noble Nephew. Itho. Sir, your love's too partiall.
Crot. Our Country speakes by me, who by thy valour,
Wildome and service, shares in this great action;
Returning thee, in part of thy due merits,
A generall welcom. Itho. You exceed in bounty.

Calan. Chrystalla, Philena, the Chaplet. — Ithocles
Vpon the wings of Fame, the singular
And cholen fortune of an high attempt,
Is borne so past the view of common sight,
That I my selfe, with mine owne hands, haue wrought
To crowne thy Temples, this provinciall garland;
Accept, weare, and enjoy it, as our gift
Deserv'd, not purchas'd. Itho. Y' are a royall mayd.

Amy. Shee is in all our daughter. Itho. Let me blush,

Acknow

The Broken H E A R T.

Acknowledging how poorely I haue seru'd,
 What nothings I haue done, compar'd with th' honours
 Heap'd on the issue of a willing minde ;
 In that lay mine ability, that onely.
 For who is he so sluggish from his birth ?
 So litt'e worthy of a name, or country,
 That owes not out of gratitude for life,
 A debt of Seruice, in what kinde soeuer
 Safety or Counsaile of the Common-wealth
 Requires for payment? Cal. A speaks truth. Itho. Whom heauen
 Is pleas'd to stile victorious, there, to such,
 Applause runs madding, like the drunken priests
 In Bacchus sacrifices without Reason ;
 Voycing the Leader-on a Demi-god :
 When as indeed, each common souldiers blood
 Drops downe as current coyne in that hard purchase,
 As his, whose much more delicate condition
 Hath suckt the milke of ease. Iudgement commands,
 But Resolution executes : I vse not
 Before this royall presence, these fit sleights,
 As in contempt of such as can direct :
 My speech hath other end ; not to attribute
 All praise to one mans fortune, which is strengthened
 By many hands. — For instance, here is Prophilus
 A Gentleman (I cannot flatter truth)
 Of much desert ; and, though in other ranke,
 Both Hemophil and Gronens were not missing
 To wish their Countries peace ; for in a word,
 All there did striue their best, and 'twas our duty.
Amy. Courtiers turne souldiers? — we vouchsafe our hand,
 Obserue your great example. Hemo. With all diligence,
Gron. Obsequiously and houely. Amy. Some repose
 After these toyles are needfull ; we must thinke on Conditions for the Conquered ; they expect 'em.
 On, — come my Ithocles. Euphr. Sir with your fauour,
 I need not a supporter. Proph. Fate instructs me.
Exeunt. Maient Hemophil, Gronens, Christalla et Philemas.
Hemophil

The Broken HEART.

Hemophillstaves, Chrystalla, Groncas, Philena.

Chry. With me? Phil. Indeed I dare not stay. Hem. Sweet Lady
Souldiers are blunt,— your lip. Christ. Fye, this is rudenesse;
You went not hence such creatures. Gron. Spirit of valour
Is of a mounting nature. Phil. It appeares so :

Pray in earnest, how many men apeece
Haue yontwo beene the death of? Gron. Faith not many;
We were compos'd of mercy. Hemo. For our daring
Yon heard the Generals approbation
Before the King. Christ. You wish'd your Countries peace:
That shew'd your charity; where are your spoyles,
Such as the Souldier fights for? Phil. They are comming.

Chri. By the next Carrier, are they not? Gro. Sweet Philena,
When I was in the thickest of mine enemies,
Slashing off one mans head, anothers nose,
Anothers armes and legs. Phil. And altogether.

Gron. Then would I with a sigh remember thee;
And cry deare Philena, 'tis for thy sake
I doe these deeds of wonder :— dost not loue me
With all thy heart now? Phil. Now as heretofore.

I haue not put my loue to vse, the principall
Will hardiy yeeld an Interest. Gron. By Mars
I'll marry thee. Phil. By Vulcan y'are forsworne,
Except my mind doe alter strangely. Gron. One word.

Chri. You lye beyond all modesty, — forbear me.

Hem. I'll make thee mistresse of a City, 'tis
Mine owne by conquest. Chri. By petition; sue for't
In Forma pauperis : — City? Kennell. Gallants
Off with your Fathers, put on aprons, Gallants;
Learne to reele, thrum, or trim a Ladies dog,
And be good quiet soules of peace Hobgoblins.

Hem. Christalla? Chri. Practise to drill hogs, in hope
To share in the Acorns. Souldiers? Corn-cutters;
But not so valiant: they oft-times draw blood,
Which you darst neuer doe. When you have practis'd
More wit, or more civility, wee'll ranke 'ee
I'th list of men: till then, braue things at armes

The Broken HEART:

Date not to speake to vs, — most potent Gronem.

Phil. And Hemophil the hardy, — at your seruices?

Gron. They scorne vs as they did before we went.

Hem. Hang 'em, let vs scorne them, and be reueng'd.

Eexunt Chri. et Philema.

Gron. Shall we? Hem. We will; and when we sleight them thus,
Instead of following them, they'll follow vs.

It is a womans nature. Gron. 'Tis a scuruy one.

EXCHUS OMNES.

SCENE 3.

Enter Tecnius a Philosopher, and Orgilus disguised like a Scholler of his.

Tecn. Tempt not the Stars (young man) thou canst not play
With the senerity of Fate: this change
Of habit, and disguise in outward view,
Hides not the secrets of thy soule within thee,
From their quicke-piercing eyes, which diue at all times
Downs to thy thoughts: in thy aspect I note
A consequence of danger. Org. Giue me leave
(Graue Tecnius) without fore-dooming destiny,
Vnder thy roose to ease my silent grieues,
By applying to my hidden wounds, the balme
Of thy Oraculous Lectures: if my fortune
Run such a crooked by-way, as to wrest
My steps to ruine, yet thy learned precepts
Shall call me backe, and set my footings streight:
I will not count the world. Tecn. Ah Orgilus,
Neglects in young men of delights, and
Run often to extremities; they care not
For harmes to others, who contemne their owne.

Org. But I (most learned Artist) am not so much
At odds with Nature, that I grutch the thrift
Of any true deseruer: nor doth malice
Of present hopes, so checke them with despaire,
As that I yeld to thought of more affliction

The Broken HEART.

Then what is incident to frailty : wherefore
Impute not this retired course of living
Some little time, to any other cause,
Then what I iustly render : the information
Of an vnsetled minde, as the effect
Must clearely witnesse. Teon. Spirit of truth inspire thee.
On these conditions I conceale thy change,
And willingly admit thee for an Auditor.

I'll to my study. Org. I to contemplations :
In these delightfull walkes — thus metamorphiz'd,
I may without suspicion hearken after

Penibee vsage, and Euphranias faith :
Loue ! thou art full of mystery : the Deities
Themselues are not secure, in searching out
The secrets of those flames, which hidden wast
A breast, made tributary to the Lawes
Of beauty ; Physicke yet hath neuer found
A remedy, to cure a Louers wound.

Ha ? who are those that crosse yon priuate walke
Into the shadowing groue, in amorous foldings ?

Prophilus passeth ouer, supporting
Euphrania, and whispering.

My Sister ; o my Sister ? 'tis Euphrania !
With Prophilus, supported too ; I would
It were an Apparition ; Prophilus.
Is Ithocles his friend : It strangely puzzles me :
Againe ? helpe me my booke ; this Schollers habit
Must stand my priuilege : my mind is busie,
Mine eyes, and eares are open.

Enter againe Prophilus and Euphrania

walkes by reading.

Proph. Doe not wast
The span of this stolne time (lent by the gods
For precious vse) in nicenesse ! Bright Euphrania,
Should I repeat old vowes, or study new,
For purchase of beleeft to my desires —

Org. Desires ? Proph. My seruice, my integrity
Org. That's better. Proph. I should but repeat a lesson

The Broken HEART.

Oft cōn'd without a prompter ; but thine eyes,
My Loue is honourable — Org. So was mine
To my Penthea: chafly honourable.

Proph. Nor wants there more addition to my wish
Of happinesse, then hauing thee a wife,
Already sure of Ithacles a friend,
Firme, and vn-alterable. Org. But a brother
More cruell then the graue. Euphr. What can you looke for
In answer to your noble protestations,
From an vnskilfull mayd, but language suited
To a diuided minde? Org. Hold out Euphranea.

Euphr. Know Prophilus, I neuer vnder-valued
(From the first time you mentioned worthy loue)
Your merit, meanes, or person: It had beene
A fault of iudgement in me, and a dulnesse
In my affections, not to weigh and thanke
My better Starres, that offered me the grace
Of so much blisfulnesse. For to speake truth,
The law of my desires kept equall pace
With yours, nor haue I left that resolution;
But onely in a word, what-euer choyce
Liues nearest in my heart, must first procure
Consent, both from my father, and my brother,
E're he can owne me his. Org. She is forsworne else.

Proph. Leauē me that taske. Euphr. My brother e're he parted
To Athens, had my oath. Org. Yes, yes, 'a had sure.

Proph. I doubt not with the meanes the Court supplies,
But to preuaile at pleasure. Org. Very likely.

Proph. Meane time, best, dearest, I may build my hopes
On the foundation of thy constant suffrance

In any opposition. Euphr. Death shall sooner

Diuorce life, and the ioyes I haue in lining,

Then my chaste vows from truth. Proph. On thy faire hand

I seale the like. Org. There is no faith in woman —

Passion? ô be contain'd: my very heart-strings

Are on the Tenters. Euphr. Sir, we are over-heard;

Cupid protect vs: 'twas a stirring (Sir)

The Broken HEART.

Of some one neere. Proph. Your feares are needlesse, Lady;
None haue access into these priuate pleasures,
Except some neere in Court, or bosome Student
From Ticnsem his Oratory; granted
By speciall fauour lately from the King
Vnto the graue Philosopher. Exphr. Me thinks
I heare one talking to himselfe: I see him.

Proph. 'Tis a poore Scholler, as I told you Lady.

Org. I am discouered — Say it: is it possible
With a smooth tongue, a leering countenance,
Flattery, or force of reason (— I come t'ee Sir)
To turne, or to appease the raging Sea?

Answer to that, — your Art? what Art to catch
And hold fast in a net the Sunnes small Atomes?
No, no; they'll out, they'll out; ye may as easily
Out-run a Cloud, driven by a Northerne blast,
As fiddle fiddle so. Peace, or speake sense.

Exphr. Call you this thing a Scholler? 'las hee's lunaticke.

Proph. Obserue him (sweet) 'tis but his recreation.

Org. But will you heare a little I you are so teatchy,

You keepe no rule in argument; Philosophy
Workes not vpon impossibilities,
But naturall conclusions. — Mew? — absurd;

The metaphisicks are but speculations
Of the celestiall bodies, or such accidents

As not mixt perfectly, in the Ayre ingendred,
Appeare to vs vnnaturall; that's all.

Proue it; — yet with a reuerence to your gravity,
I'le baulke illiterate sawcinesse, submitting
My sole opinion to the touch of writers.

Proph. Now let vs fall in with him. Org. Ha ha ha.

These Apish boyes, when they but tast the Grammates,
And principals of Theory, imagine

They can oppose their teachers. Confidence
Leads many into errors. Proph. By your leaue Sir.

Exphr. Are you a Scholler (friend?) Org. I am (gay creature)
With pardon of your Deities, a mushrome.

On whom the dew of heauen drops now and then :
The Sunne shines on me too, I thanke his beames,
Sometime I feele their warmth ; and eat, and sleepe.

Proph. Does Tecnicus read to thee ? Org. Yes forsooth,
He is my master surely, yonder dore

Opens vpon his Study. Proph. Happy creatures ;
Such people toyle not (sweet) in heats of State,
Nor sink in thawes of greatnesse : Their affections
Keepe order with the limits of their modesty :
Their loue is loue of vertue. ——— What's thy name ?

Org. Aplosus (sumptuous master) a poore wretch.

Enphr. Dost thou want any thing ? Org. Books (Venus) books.

Proph. Lady, a new conceit comes in my thought,
And most auailable for both our comforts.

Enphr. My Lord. — Proph. Whiles I endeavour to deserue
Your fathers blessing to our loues, this Scholler
May daily at some certaine houres attend,
What notice I can write of my sucresse,
Here in this groue, and giue it to your hands :
The like from you to me ; so can we neuer,
Barr'd of our mutuall speech, want sure intelligence ;
And thus our hearts may talke when our tongues cannot.

Enphr. Occasion is most fauourable, vse it.

Proph. Aplosus, wilt thou wait vs twice a day ;
At nine i'th morning, and at foure at night,
Here in this Bower, to conuey such letters
As each shall send to other ? Doe it willingly,
Safely, and secretly, and I will furnish
Thy Study, or what else thou canst desire.

Org. I once make me thankfull, thankfull, I beseech thee
Propitious Ioue, I will proue sure and trusty.
You will not faile me bookes. Proph. Nor ought besides
Thy heart can wish. This Ladies name's Eufranea,
Mine Prophi'us. Org. I haue a pretty memory,
It must proue my best friend. — I will not misse
One minute of the houres appoynted. Proph. Writes
The bookes thou wouldst haue bought thee in a note,

The Broken HEART.

Or take thy selfe some money. Org. No, no money :
Money to Schollers is a spirit inuisible,
We dare not finger it; or bookes, or nothing.

Proph. Bookes of what sort thou wilt : doe not forget
Our names. Org. I warrant 'ee, I warrant 'ee.

Proph. Smile Hymen on the growth of our desires,
Wee'll feed thy torches with eternall fires. Exeunt, manet Org.

Org. Put out thy Torches Hymen, or their light
Shall meet a darkenesse of eternall night.
Inspire me Mercury with swift deceits;
Ingenious Fate has leapt into mine armes,
Beyond the compasse of my braine. ——— Mortality
Creeps on the dung of earth, and cannot reach
The riddles, which are purpos'd by the gods.

Great Arts best write themselves in their owne stories,
They dye too basely, who out-live their glories. Exit.

Actus Secundus : Scena prima.

Enter Bassanes and Phulas.

Bass. I'le haue that window next the street dam'd vp ;
It giues too full a prospect to temptation,
And courts a Gazers glances : there's a lust
Committed by the eye, that sweats, and trauels,
Plots, wakes, contriues, till the deformed bear-whelpe
Adultery be lick'd into the act,
The very act ; that light shall be dam'd vp ;
D'ee heare Sir ? Phul. I doe heare my Lord ; a Mason
Shall be prouided suddenly. Bass. Some Rogue,
Some Rogue of your confederacy, (factor
For slaues and strumpets) to conuey close packets
From this spruce springall, and the tother youngster ;
That gawdy Eare-wrig, or my Lord, your Patron,
Whole prisoner you are. ——— I'le teare thy throat out

Sonne

The Broken H E A R T.

Sonne of a Cat, ill-looking Houndf-head; rip vp
Thy viterous maw, if I but scent a paper,
A scroll, but halfe as big as what can couer
A wart vpon thy nose, a spot, a pimple,
Directed to my Lady: it may proue
A mysticall preparatiue to lewdnesse.

Phul. Care shall be had. — I will turne euery thread
About me to an eye. — here's a sweet life.

Bass. The City houswiues, cunning in the traffique
Of Chamber-merchandise, set all at price
By whole-sale, yet they wipe their mouthes, and simper,
Cull, kisse, and cry Sweet-hart, and stroake the head
Which they haue branch'd, and all is well againe:
Dull clods of dirt, who dare not feele the rubs
Stucke on the fore-heads? Phul. 'Tis a villanous world,
One cannot hold his owne in't. Bass. Dames at Court
Who flaunt in riots, runne another byas:
Their pleasure heaues the patient Assie that suffers
Vp on the stilts of Office, titles, Incomes;
Promotion iustifies the shame, and sues for't:
Poore Honour I thou art stab'd, and bleed'st to death
By such vnlawfull hire. The Country mistresse
Is yet more wary, and in blushes hides
What euer trespasse drawes her troth to guilt;
But all are false. On this truth I am bold,
No woman but can fall, and doth, or would. —

Now for the newest newes about the Citie;
What blab the voyces sirrha? Phul. O my Lord,
The rarest, quaintest, strangest, tickling newes
That euer — Bass. Hey da, vp and ride me Rascall,
What is't? Phul. Forsooth (they say) the King has mew'd
All his gray beard, in stead of which is budded
Another of a pure Carnation colour,
Speckled with Greene and Russer. Bass. Ignorant blocke.

Phul. Yes truly, and 'tis talkt about the streets,
That since Lord Ishacles came home, the Lyons
Neuer left roaring, at which noyse the Beares.

The Broken HEART.

Haue dane'd their very hearts out. Bass. Dance out thine too.

Phul. Besides, Lord Orgilus is fled to Athens

Vpon a fiery Dragon, and 'tis thought

A' neuer can returne. Bass. Grant it Apollo.

Phul. Moreouer, please your Lordship, 'tis reported

For certaine, that whoeuer is found icalous

Without apparant prooffe that's wife is wanton,

Shall be diuorc'd: but this is but she-newes,

I had it from a midwife. I haue more yet.

Bass. Anticke, no more; Ideors and stupid fooles

Grate my calamities. Why to be faire

Should yeeld presumption of a faulty soule?

Looké to the deores. Phul. The horne of plenty cress him?

Exit Phul.

Bass. Swörmes of confusion huddle in my thoughts

In rare distemper. Beauty? ô it is

An vnmatcht blessing, or a horrid curse.

Enter Penthea, and Granps an old Lady.

Shee comes, she comes, so shoots the morning forth,

Spangled with pearles of transparent dew;

The way to pouerty is to be rich;

As I in her am wealthy, but for her

In all contents a Bankrupt. ——— Lou'd Penthea,

How fares my hearts best ioy? Gran. In sooth not well,

She is so ouer-sad. Bass. Leaué chattering Mag-pyc. —

Thy brother is return'd (sweet) safe, and honour'd

With a Triumphant victory: thou shalt visit him;

We will to Court, where, if it be thy pleasure,

Thou shalt appeare in such a rauishing lustre

Of Iewels aboue value, that the Dames

Who braue it there, in rage to be out-shin'd,

Shall hide them in their Closets, and unseene

Fret in their teares; whiles euery wondring eye

Shall craue none other brightnesse but thy presence.

Choose thine owne recreations, be a Queene

Of what delights thou fanciest best, what company,

What place, what times, doe any thing, doe all things

Youth

The Broken HEART.

Youth can command ; so thou wilt chase these clouds
From the pure firmament of thy faire lookes,

Gran. Now 'tis well said my Lord, what Lady ? laugh,
Be merry, time is precious. Bass. Furies whip thee.

Pen. Alas my Lord, this language to your Hand-maid
Sounds as would musicke to the deafe : I need

No brauceries nor cost of Art, to draw
The whitenesse of my name into offence ;

Let such (if any such there are) who couet

A curiosity of admiration,

By laying out their plenty to full view,

Appeare in gawdy out-sides ; my attires

Shall suit the inward fashion of my minde ;

From which, if your opinion nobly plac'd,

Change not the Liuory your words bestow,

My Fortunes with my hopes are at the highest.

Bass. This house me thinkes stands somewhat too much inward,

It is too melancholy, wee'll reioiue

Nearer the Court ; or what thinks my Penthea

Of the delightfull Island we command ?

Rule me as thou canst wish. Pen. I am no Mistresse ;

Whither you please, I must attend ; all wayes

Are alike pleasant to me. Gran. Island ? prison :

A prison is as gay some : wee'll no Islands :

Marry out vpon 'em, whom shall we see there ?

Seagulls, and Porpiseis, and water-rats,

And Crabs, and Mewes, and Dogfish ? goodly geere

For a young Ladies dealing, or an old ones :

On no termes Islands, I'll be stew'd first. Bass. Graniss,

You are a Iugling Bawd. — This sadnesse (sweetest)

Becomes not youthfull blood, — (I'll haue you pounded)

For my sake put on a more chearefull mirth,

Thou't marre thy cheekes, and make me old in griefes.

— (Damnab! Bitch-foxe.) Gran. I am thicke of hearing

Still when the wind blowes Southerly. What thinke 'ee,

If your fresh Lady breed young bones (my Lord ?)

Wood not a chopping boy d'ee good at heart ?

The Broken HEART.

But as you said. Bass, I'll spit thee on a stake,
Or chop thee into collops. Gran. Pray speake louder.
Sure, sure, the wind blowes South still. Pen. Thou prat'st madly.

Bass. 'Tis very hot; I sweat extremely. — Now.

Enter Phulas.

Phul. A heard of Lords, Sir. Bass. Ha? Phul. A flock of Ladies.

Bass. Where? Phul. Shoalds of horses. Bass. Peasant, how? Phul.
In drifts—th'one enter, th'other stand without, sir. (Caroches
And now I vanish. Exit Phulas.

*Enter Prophilus, Hemophil, Greneas, Christalla

Proph. Noble Bassanes.

Bass. Most welcome Prophilus, Ladies, Gentlemen,
To all, my heart is open, you all honour me.

(A tympany swels in my head a'ready)

Honour me bountifully. — (How they flutter, Wagtailes and Iayes together?) Proph. From your brother,
By virtue of your loue to him, I require
Your instant presence fairest. Pen. He is well Sir.

Proph. The gods preserue him euer: yet (deare beauty)

I finde some alteration in him lately,

Since his returne to Sparta. My good Lord,

I pray vse no delay. Bass. We had not needed

An inuitation, if his sisters health

Had not fallen into question. — Hast Penthea,

Slacke not a minute: lead the way good Prophilus,

I'll follow step by step. Proph. Your arme faire Madam.

Exeunt omnes sed Bass. & Gran.

Bass. One word with your old Bawdship: th' hadst bin better
Raile at the sinnesthou worshipst, then haue thwarted.

My will. I'll vse thee curtedly. Gran. You dote,

You are beside your selfe. A Politician

In ialousie? No, y'are too grosse, too vulgar.

Pish, teach not me my trade, I know my cue:

My crossing you, sinks me into her trust,

By which I shall know all: my trade's a sure one.

B. ff. Forgiue me, Gran, tis was consideration.

The Broken HEART.

I rellisht not, but haue a care now. Gran. Feare not,
I am no new-come-too't. Bass. Thy life's vpon it,
And so is mine. My Agonies are infinite. Exeunt omnes.

Scene 2.

Enter Ithocles alone.

Itho. Ambition ? 'tis of vipers breed, it knawes
A passage through the wombe that gaue it motion.
Ambition ? like a seeled Doue, mounts vpward,
Higher and higher still to pearch on clouds,
But tumbles headlong downe with heauier ruine.
So squibs and crackers flye into the ayre,
Then onely breaking with a noyse, they vanish
In stench and smoke : Morality appli'd
To timely practice, keeps the soule in tune,
At whose sweet musicke all our actions dance ;
But this is forme of books, and schoole-tradition,
It physicks not the sicknesse of a minde
Broken with griefes : stro'g Feauers are not eas'd
With counsell, but with best receipts, and meanes :
Meanes, speedy meanes, and certaine ; that's the cure.

Enter Armoster and Crotolon.

Armo. You sticke (Lord Crotolon) vpon a point
Too nice, and too vaneecessary. Prophilus
Iseuery way desertfull. I am confident
Your wisdome is too ripe to need instruction
From your sonnes rutillage. Crot. Yet not so ripe
(My Lord Armoster) that it dares to doe
Vpon the painted meat of smooth perswasion,
Which tempts me to a breach of faith. Itho. Not yet
Resolu'd (my Lord ?) why if your sonnes consent
Be so auailable, wee'll write to Aibius
For his repaire to Sparta. The Kings hand
Will ioyne with our desires, he has beene mou'd too't.

Armo. Yes, and the King himselfe importun'd Crotolon
For a dispatch. Crot. Kings may command, their wils

The Broken HEART.

Are Lawes not to be questioned. Itbo. By this marriage
You knit an union so deuout, so hearty,
Betweene your loues to me, and mine to yours,
As if mine owne blood had an interest in it;
For Prophilus is mine, and I am his.

Crot. My Lord, my Lord. Itb. What, good Sir? speak your thought.

Crot. Had this sincerity beene reall once,
My Orgilus had not beene new vn-win'd,
Nor your lost Sister buried in a Bride-bed.
Your Vnckle here, Armoster knowes this truth,
For had your father Thrasus liu'd, but peace
Dwell in his graue: I haue done. Armo. Y're bold and bitter.

Itbo. 'A presses home the iniury, it smarts;
No reprehensions Vnckle, I deserue 'em.
Yet gentle Sir, consider what the heat
Of an vnsteady youth, a giddy braine,
Greene indiscretion, flattery of greatnesse,
Rauennesse of iudgement, wilfulnesse in folly,
Thoughts vagrant as the wind, and as vncertaine,
Might lead a boy in yeeres too; 'twas a fault,
A Capitall fault, for then I could not diue
Into the secrets of commanding Loue:
Since when, experience by the extremities (in others)
Hath forc'd me to collect. And trust me Crotolon,
I will redeeme those wrongs with any seruice
Your satisfaction can require for currant.

Armo. Thy acknowledgement is satisfaction.
What would you more? Crot. I'me conquer'd: if Euphrania
Her selfe admit the motion, let it be so.
I doubt not my sonnes liking. Itbo. Vse my fortunes,
Life, power, sword, and heart, all are your owne.

Enter Bassanes, Prophilus, Calantha, Penthea, Euphrania, Chrystalla, Philema, and Granfis.

Armo. The Princeesse with your sister. Calan. I present 'ee
A stranger here in Court (my Lord,) for did not Desire of seeing you, draw her abroad,
We had not beene made happy in her company.

The Broken HEART?

Itb. You are a gracious Princeſſe. — Siſter, wedlocke
Holds too ſeuere a paſſion in your nature,
Which can engroſſe all duty to your husband,
Without attendance on ſo deare a miſtreſſe.
'Tis not my brothers pleaſure, I preſume,
T'immure her in a chamber. Baſſ. 'Tis her will,
Shee gouernes her owne houres; (noble Itbocles)
We thanke the gods for your ſucceſſe, and welfare.
Our Lady has of late beene indispos'd,
Elſe we had waited on you with the fiſt.

Itbo. How does Penthea now? Pen. You beſt know brother,
From whom my health and comforts are deriv'd.

Baſſ. I like the answer well; 'tis ſad, and modeſt;
There may be tricks, yet, tricks. — Have an eye Graniſis.

Calan. Now Crotolon, the ſuit we ioynd in muſt not Fall by too long demurre. Crot. 'Tis granted, Princeſſe,
For my part. Armo. With condition, that his ſonne
Fauour the Contract. Calan. Such delay is eaſie.

The ioyes of marriage make thee, Prophilius,
A proud deſeruer of Euphrania's loue,
And her of thy deſert. Proph. Moſt ſweetly gracious?

Baſſ. The ioyes of marriage are the heauen on earth,
Life's paradise (great Princeſſe) the ſoules quiet,
Sinewes of concord, earthly immortality,
Eternity of pleaſures; no reſtoratiues
Like to a conſtant woman. — (but where is ſhe?
'Twould puzzle all the gods, but to create
Such a new monſter.) — I can ſpeake by prooſe,
For I reſt in Elizium, 'tis my happineſſe.

Crot. Euphrania how are you reſolu'd, (ſpeake freely)
In your affections to this Gentleman?

Euphr. Nor more, nor leſſe then as his loue assures me,
Which (if your liking with my brothers warrants)
I cannot but approue in all points worthy.

Crot. So, ſo, I know your answer. Itb. 'T had bin pittie
To ſunder hearts ſo equally conſented.

Enter Hemophil.

The Broken HEART.

Him. The King (Lord Ishocles) commands your presence;
And (fairest Princess) yours. Calan. We will attend him.

Enter Groneas.

Gron. Where are the Lords? all must vnto the King
Without delay: the Prince of Argos— Calan. Well Sir.

Gron. Is comming to the Court, sweet Lady. Calan. How!
The Prince of Argos? Gron. 'Twas my fortune, Madam,
T' enioy the honour of these happy tidings.

Lib. Penthes! Pen. Brother! Ish. Let me an howre hence
Meet you alone, within the Palace groue,
I haue some secret with you. — Prethe friend
Conduct her thither, and haue speciall care
The walks be clear'd of any to disturbe vs.

Proph. I shall. Bass. How's that? Ish. Alone, pray be alone.
I am your creature, princeffe. — on my Lords. Exeunt.

Bassanes.

Bass. Alone, alone? what meanes that word alone?
Why might not I be there? — hum! — hee's her brother;
Brothers and sisters are but flesh and blood,
And this same whorson Court-ease is temptation
To a rebellion in the veines: — Besides,
His fine friend Prophylus must be her guardian.
Why may not he dispatch a businesse nimbly
Before the other come? — or — pandring, pandring,
For one another? bee't to sister, mother,
Wife, Couzen, any thing, 'mongst youths of mettall,
Is in request: It is so — Stubborne Fate:
But if I be a Cuckold, and can know it,
I will be fell, and fell.

Enter Groneas.

Gron. My Lord, y'are call'd for.

Bass. Most hartily I thanke ye, where's my wife pray?

Gron. Retir'd amongst the Ladies. Bass. Still I thanke 'ee:
There's an old waiter with her, saw you her too?

Bass. Asleepe? sleepe Sir! Gron. Is your Lordship troubled?
You will not to the King? Bass. Your humblest Vassaile.

Gron.

The Broken HEART.

Gron. Your seruant my good Lord. Bass. I wait your footsteps.

Exeunt.

Scene the third.

Prophilus, Penthea.

Proph. In this walke (Lady) will your brother find you:
And with your fauour, giue me leaue a little
To worke a preparation, in his fashion
I haue obseru'd of late, some kind of slacknesse
To such alacrity as Nature
And custome tooke delight in: Sadnesse growes
Vpon his recreations, which he boards
In such a willing silence, that to question
The grounds will argue skill in friendship,
And lesse good manners. Pen. Sir, I'me not inquisitiue
Of secrecies without an inuitation.

Phoph. With pardon, Lady, not a fillable
Of mine implies so rude a sense; the drift.—

Enter Orgilus.

Proph. Doe thy best
To make this Lady merry for an houre.

Exit.

Org. Your will shall be a law, Sir. Pen. Prethe leaue me,
I haue some priuate thoughts I would account with:
Vse thou thine owne. Org. Speake on, faire nimph, our soules
Can dance as well to musicke of the Spheares
As any's who haue feasted with the gods.

Pen. Your Schoole terms are too trouble some. Org. What heauen
Refines mortality from drosse of earth,
But such as vncompounded beauty hallowes
With glorified perfection. Pen. Set thy wits
In a lesse wild proportion. Org. Time can neuer
On the white table of vnguiltly faith
Write counterfeit dishonour; turne those eyes
(The arrowes of pure loue) vpon that fire
Which once rose to a flame, perfum'd with vowes.
As sweetly scented as the Incense smoking
The holiest Artars, Virgin teares (like

On

The Broken HEART.

On Vesta's odours) sprinkled dewes to feed 'em,
And to increase their seruour. Pen. Be not franticke.

Org. All pleasures are but meere imagination,
Feeding the hungry appetite with steame,
And sight of banquet, whilst the body pines,
Not relishing the reall tast of food,
Such is the leanneffe of a heart diuided
From entercourse of troth-contracted lones;
No horror should deface that precious figure
Seal'd with the liuely stampe of equall soules.

Pen. Away, some fury hath bewitch'd thy tongue:
The breath of ignorance that flies from thence,
Ripens a knowledge in me of afflictions,
Aboue all suffrance. — Thing of talke be gone,
Be gone without reply. Org. Be iust, Penthea,
In thy commands: when thou send'st forth a doome
Of banishment, know first on whom it lights;
Thus I take off the shrowd, in which my cares
Are folded vp from view of common eyes;
What is thy sentence next? Pen. Rash man, thou layest
A blemish on mine honour with the hazard
Of thy too desperate life: yet I professe,
By all the Lawes of ceremonious wedlocke,
I haue not giuen admittance to one thought
Of female change, since cruelty enforc'd
Diurce betwixt my body and my heart:
Why would you fall from goodnesse thus? Org. O rather Examine me how I could liue to say
I haue bin much, much wrong'd; 'tis for thy sake
I put on this Imposture; deare Penthea,
If thy soft bosome be not turn'd to marble,
Thou'lt pittie our calamities; my Interest
Confirms me thou art mine still. Pen. Lend your hand;
With both of mine I claspe it thus, thus kisse it,
Thus kneele before ye. Org. You instruct my duty.

Pen. We may stand vp: Haue you ought else to vrge
Of new demand? as for the old forget it,

'Tis buried in an everlasting silence,
And shall be, shall be euer; what more would ye?

Org. I would possesse my wife, the equity
Of very reason bids me. Pen. Is that all?

Org. Why 'tis the all of me my selfe. Pen. Remoue
Your steps some distance from me; at this space
A few words I dare change; but first put on
Your borrowed shape. Org. You are obey'd, 'tis done:

Pen. How (Orgilus) by promise I was thine,
The heauens doe witnesse; they can witnesse too
A rape done on my truth: how I doe loue thee
Yet Orgilus, and yet, must best appeare
Intendering thy freedome; for I find
The constant preservation of thy merit,
By thy not daring to attempt my fame
With iniury of any loose conceit,

Which might giue deeper wounds to discontents:
Continue this faire race, then though I cannot
Add to thy comfort, yet I shall more often
Remember from what fortune I am fallen,
And pittie mine owne ruine. — Live, line happy,
Happy in thy next choyce, that thou maist people
This barren age with vertues in thy issue:

And ô, when thou art married, thinke on me
With mercy, not contempt: I hope thy wife,
Hearing my story, will not scorne my fall:
Now let vs part. Org. Part I yet aduise thee better:
Pen. Pen is the wife to Orgilus,

And euer shall be. Pen. Neuer shall nor will.

Org. How! Pen. Heare me, in a word I'll tell thee why:
The Virgin dowry which my birth bestow'd,
Is rauish'd by another: my true loue
Abhorres to thinke, that Orgilus deseru'd
No better fauours then a second bed.

Org. I must not take this reason. Pen. To confirme it,
Should I outline my bondage, let me meet
Another worse then this, and lesse desir'd,

The Broken HEART.

If of all the men alive thou shouldst but touch
My lip, or hand againe. Org. Penhea, now
I tell'ee you grow wanton in my sufferance;
Come sweet, th'art mine. Pen. Vnciuill Sir, forbear,
Or I can turne affection into vengeance;
Your reputation (if you value any)
Lyes bleeding at my feet. Vnworthy man,
If euer henceforth thou appeare in language,
Message, or letter to betray my frailty,
I'll call thy former protestations lust,
And curse my Starres for forfeit of my iudgement.
Goe thou, fit onely for disguise and walkes,
To hide thy shame: this once I spare thy life;
I laugh at mine owne confidence; my sorrowes
By thee are made inferiour to my fortunes.
If euer thou didst harbour worthy loue,
Dare not to answer. My good Genius guide me,
That I may neuer see thee more. — Goe from me.

Org. I'etreate my vaile of politicke French off,
And stand vp like a man resolu'd to doe
Action, not words shall shew me. O Penhea.

Exit Orgilus.

Pen. 'A sigh'd my name sure as he parted from me,
I feare I was too rough: Alas poore Gentleman,
'A look'd not like the ruines of his youth,
But like the ruines of those ruines: Honour,
How much we fight with weaknesse to preserue thee?

Enter Bassanes and Granfis.

Bass. Fye on thee, damb thee, rotten magot, damb thee,
Sleepe? sleepe at Court? and now? Aches, convulsions,
Impostumes, rhemes, gouts, palsies clog thy bones
A dozen yeeres more yet. Gran. Now y'are in humors.

Bass. Shee's by her selfe, there's hope of that; shee's sad too,
Shee's in strong contemplation: yes, and fixt,
The signes are whole some. Gran. Very whole some truly.

Bass. Hold your chops night mare. — Lady, come your brother
Is carried to his closet; you must thither.

Pen. Not well, my Lord? Bass. A sudden fit, 'twill off;

The Broken HEART.

Some surfeit or disorder. — How doest deereſt ?

Pen. Your newes is none o'ch beſt.

Enter Philus.

Proph. The chiefe of men,
The excellentest Ishacles, deſires
Your preſence Madam. Baſſ. We are haſting to him.

Pen. In vaine we labour in this courſe of life
To piece our iourney out at length, or craue
Reſpite of breath, our home is in the graue.

Baſſ. Perfect Philoſophy : then let vs care
To liue ſo that our reckonings may fall euen
When w' are to make account. Proph. He cannot ſcare
Who builds on noble grounds : ſickneſſe or paine
Is the deſeruers exerciſe, and ſuch
Your vertuous brother to the world is knowne,
Speake comfort to him Lady, be all gentle ;
Starres fall but in the groſſeneſſe of our ſight,
A good man dying, th' Earth doth loſe a light.

Exeunt omnes

Actus Tertius : Scena prima.

Enter Tecnicus, and Orgilus in his owne ſhape.

Tecn. BE well aduiſ'd, let not a reſolution
Of giddy raſhneſſe choake the breath of reaſon.

Org. It ſhall not, moſt ſage Maſter. Tecn. I am iealous :
For if the borrowed ſhape ſo late put on,
Infer'd a conſequence, we muſt conclude
Some violent deſigne of ſudden nature
Hath ſhooke that ſhadow off, to flye vpon
A new-hatch'd execution : Orgilus,
Take heed thou haſt not (vnder our integrity)
Shrowded vnlawfull plots : our mortall eyes
Pierce not the ſecrets of your hearts, the gods
Are onely priuie to them. Org. Learned Tecnicus,

The Broken HEART.

Such doubts are causelesse, and to cleere the truth
From misconceit, the present State commands me.
The Prince of Argos comes himselſe in perſon
In queſt of great Calantha for his Bride,
Our kingdomes heire; beſides, mine onely ſiſter
Euphrania is diſpos'd to Prophilus.
Laſtly, the King is ſending letters for me
To Athens, for my quicke repaire to Court.
Pleaſe to accept theſe Reaſons. Tec. Juſt ones, Orgilus,
Not to be contradicted: yet beware
Of an vnſure foundation; no faire colours
Can fortiſe a building faintly ioyned.
I haue obſeru'd a growth in thy aſpect:
Of dangerous extent, ſudden, and (looke too't)
I might adde certaine — Org. My aſpect? could Art
Runne through mine inmoſt thoughts, it ſhould not liſe
An inclination there, more then what ſuited
With juſtice of mine honour. Tec. I beleeue it.
But know then Orgilus what honour is:
Honour conſiſts not in a bare opinion
By doing any act that feeds content;
Braue in appearance, 'cauſe we thinke it braue:
Such honour comes by accident, not nature
Preceeding from the vices of our paſſion
Which makes our reaſon drunke. But reall Honour
Is the reward of vertue, and acquir'd
By Juſtice or by valour, which for Baſes
Teach Juſtice to vphold it. He then failſe
In honour, who for lucre or Renenge
Commits theſts, murders, Treasons and Adulteries,
With ſuch like, by intrenching on juſt Lawes,
Whoſe ſou'raignty is beſt preſeru'd by Juſtice.
Thus as you ſee how honour muſt be grounded:
On knowledge, not opinion: For opinion
Relyes on probability and Accident,
But knowledge on Neceſſity and Truth:
I leaue thee to the ſit conſideration.

The Broken HEART.

Of what becomes the grace of reall Honour,
Wishing successe to all thy vertuous meanings.

Org. The gods increasethy wildome (reuerend Oracle)
And in thy precepts make me euer thrifty.

Exit Org.

Tecn. I thanke thy wish. ——— Much mystery of Fate
Lyes hid in that mans fortunes, Curiosity
May lead his actions into rare attempts;
But let the gods be moderators still,
No humane power can preuent their will.

Enter Armoestes.

From whence come 'ee? Armo. From King Amyclas; (pardon
My interruption of your Studies) — Here
In this seal'd box he sends a treasure deare.
To him as his Crowne, 'a prays your grauity
You would examine, ponder, sift and bolt
The pith and circumstance of euey rittle
The scroll within containes. Tecn. What is't Armoestes?

Armo. It is the health of Sparta, the Kings life,
Sinewes and safety of the Common-wealth,
The summe of what the Oracle deliuer'd,
When last he visited the propheticke Temple
At Delphos; what his reasons are for which
After so long a silence he requires
You counsaile now (grane man) his maiesty
Will soone himselfe acquaint you with. Tecn. Apello
Inspire my Intellect. ——— The Prince of Argos
Is entertain'd. Armo. He is, and has demanded
Our Princeesse for his wife; which I conceive
One speciall cause the King importunes you
For resolution of the Oracle.

Tecn. My duty to the King, good peace to Sparta,
And faire day to Armoestes. Armo. Like to Tecnicus.

Exit Armo.

The Broken HEART.

Soft Musicke. A Song.

Can you paint a thought? or number
Euery fancy in a slumber?

Can you count soft minutes rouing
From a dyals point by mouing?

Can you graspe a sigh? or lastly,
Rob a Virgins honour chastyly?

No, o no; yet you may.

Sooner doe both that and this,

This and that, and neuer misse,

Then by any praisedisplay

Beauties beauty, such a glory

As beyond all Fate, all Story,

All armes, all arts,

All loues, all hearts,

Greater then those, or they,

Doe, shall, and must obey.

{ During which time, Enters Prophilus, Bassanes, Penhea, Gransis, passing over the Stage; Bassanes and Gransis enter againe softly, speaking to severall Bands, and listen.

Bass. All silent, calme, secure. — Gransis, no creaking?

No noyse; dost heare nothing? Grans. Not a mouse,

Or whisper of the winde. Bass. The floore is matted,

The bed posts sure are Steele or marble. — Souldiers

Should not affect (me thinkes) straines so effeminate;

Sounds of such delicacy are but fawnings

Vpon the sloth of Luxury: they heighten

Cinders of couert lust vp to a flame.

Grans. What doe you meane (my Lord) speak low; that gabling

Of yours will but vndoe vs. Bass. Chamber-combats

Are felt, not hard. Pro. A wakes. Bass. What's that? lib. Who's there

Sister? all quit the roome else. Bass. 'Tis consented.

Enter

Enter Prophilus.

Proph. Lord Bassanes, your brother would be priuate,
We must forbear; his sleepe hath newly left him.
Please 'ee withdraw? Bass. By any meanes, 'tis fit.

Proph. Pray Gentlewoman walke too. Gran. Yes, I will Sir.

Exeunt omnes.

Ithocles discovered in a Chayre, and Penibea.

Itho. Sit nearer sister to me, nearer yet;
We had one Father, in one wombe tooke life,
Were brought vp twins together, yet hane liu'd
At distance like two strangers. I could wish
That the first pillow whereon I was cradell'd,
Had prou'd to me a graue. Pen. You had beene happy:
Then had you neuer knowne that sinne of life
Which blots all following glories with a vengeance,
For forfeiting the last will of the dead,
From whom you had your being. Itho. Sad Penibea,
Thou canst not be too cruell; my rash spleene
Hath with a violent hand pluck'd from thy bosome
A louer-blest heart, to grind it into dust,
For which mine's now a breaking. Pen. Not yet, heauen
I doe beseech thee: first let some wild fires
Scorch, not consume it; may the heat be cherisht
With desires infinite, but hopes impossible.

Itho. Wrong'd soule, thy prayers are heard. Pen. Here lo I breathe
A miserable creature led to ruine
By an vnnaturall brother. Itho. I consume
In languishing affections for that trespassse,
Yet cannot dye. Pen. The handmaid to the wages,
The vntroubled of Country toyle, drinks streames
With leaping kids, and with the bleating lambes;
And so allayes her thirst secure, whiles I
Quench my hot sighes with fleetings of my teares.

Itho. The labourer doth eat his coursest bread,
Earn'd with his sweat, and lyes him downe to sleepe;
Which euery bit I touch turnes in digestion.
To gall, as bitter as Penibea's curse.

The Broken HEART.

Put me to any penance for my tyranny,
And I will call thee mercifull. Pen. Pray kill me,
Rid me from living with a jealous husband,
Then we will ioyne in friendship, be againe
Brother and sister. — Kill me pray: nay, will 'ee?

Itho. How does thy Lord esteeme thee? Pen. Such an one
As onely you haue made me; a faith-breaker,
A spotted whore, forgie me; I am one
In art, not in desires, the gods must witnesse.

Itho. Thou dost belye thy friend. Pen. I doe not Ithocles;
For she that's wife to Orgilus, and liues
In knowne Adultery with Bassanes,
Is at the best a whore. Wilt kill me now?
The ashes of our parents will assume
Some dreadfull figure, and appeare to charge
Thy bloody guilt, that hast betray'd their name
To infamy, in this reproachfull match.

Itho. After my victories abroad, at home
I meet despaire; ingratitude of nature
Hath made my actions monstrous: thou shalt stand
A Deity (my sister) and be worship'd,
For thy resolu'd martyrdom: wrong'd maids,
And married wiues shall to thy hallowed shrine
Offer their orisons, and sacrifice
Pure Turtles crown'd with mirtle, if thy pittie
Vnto a yeelding brothers pressure, lend
One finger but to ease it. Pen. O no more.

Itho. Death waits to waite me to the Stygian bankes,
And free me from this Chaos of my bondage,
And till thou wilt forgie, I must indure.

Pen. Who is the Saint you serue? Itho. Friendship, or
Of birth to any but my sister, durst not
Haue mou'd that question as a secret, Sister:
I dare not murmur to my selfe. Pen. Let me,
By your new protestations I coniure 'ee,
Partake her name. Itho. Her name, — 'tis, — 'tis, I dare not.

Pen. All your respects are forg'd. Itho. They are not. — Peace
Calantha

The Broken HEART.

Calantha is the Princess, the Kings daughter,
Sole heire of Sparta — Me most miserable,
Doe I now loue thee? for my iniuries
Reuenge thy selfe with brauery, and gossip
My treasons to the Kings eares. Doe; Calantha
Knowes it not yet, nor Prophilus my nearest.

Penh. Suppose you were contracted to her, would it not
Split euen your very soule to see her father
Snatch her out of your armes against her will,
And force her on the Prince of Argos? Itho. Trouble not
The fountaines of mine eyes with thine owne story,
I swear in blood for't. Pen. We are reconcil'd:
Alas, Sir, being children, but two branches
Of one stocke, 'tis not fit we should diuide:
Haue comfort, you may find it. Itho. Yes in thee:
Onely in thee Penbea mine. Pen. If sorrowes
Haue not too much dull'd my infected braine,
Ple cheere inuention for an active straine.

Itho. Mad man! why haue I wrong'd a maid so excellent?

Enter Bassanes with a ponyard, Prophilus, Groncas, Hemophil and Granfis.

Bass. I can forbear no longer: more, I will not;
Keepe off your hands, or fall vpon my point:
Patience is tyr'd, for like a slow-pac'd Ass
Ye ride my easie nature, and proclaime
My sloth to vengeance, a reproach and property.

Itho. The meaning of this rudenesse. Proph. Hee's distracted.

Pen. O my grien'd Lord, Granf. Sweet Lady come not neere him;
He holds his perillous weapon in his hand
To pricke 'a cares not whom, nor where, — see, see, see.

Bass. My birth is noble, though the popular blast
Of vanity, as giddy as thy youth,
Hath rear'd thy name vp to bestride a cloud,
Or progresse in the Chariot of the Sunne;
I am no clod of trade, to lackey pride,
Nor like your slave of expectation waite
The bawdy hinges of your dores, or whistle

The Broken HEART.

For myſticall conueyance to your bed-ſports.

Gron. Fine humors, they become him. Hem. How 'a ſtares,
Struts, puffes, and ſweats : moſt admirable lunacy ?

Icho. But that I may conceiue the ſpirit of wine
Has tooke poſſeſſion of your ſoberer cuſtome,
I'de ſay you were vnmanly. Pen. Deare brother.

Baſſ. Vnmanly — Mew Kitling — ſmooth formality
Is vſher to the rankneſſe of the blood,
But Impudence beares vp the traine : Indeed, ſir,
Your fiery mettrall, or your ſpringall blaze
Of huge renowne, is no ſufficient Royalty
To print vpon my forehead the ſcorne Cuckold.

Icho. His lealouſie has rob'd him of his wits,
'A talkes 'a knowes not what. Baſſ. Yes, and 'a knowes
To whom 'a talkes ; to one that franks his luſt
In Swine-ſecurity of beſtiall inceſt.

Ith. Hah deuill. Baſſ. I will hallo't, though I bluſh more
To name the filthineſſe, than thou to act it.

Ith. Monſter ! Proph. Sir by our friendship. Pen. By our bloods,
Will you quite both vndoe vs, Brother ? Gronſ. Out on him,
Theſe are his megrims, firks and melancholies.

Hem. Well ſaid, old Touch-hole. Gron. Kick him out at doores.

Pen. With fauour let me ſpeake. — My Lord ? what ſlackneſſe
In my obedience hath deſeru'd this rage ?

Except humility and ſilent duty
Haue drawne on your vnquiet, my ſimplicity
Ne're ſtudied your vexation. Baſſ. Light of beauty,
Deale not vngently with a deſperate wound !
No breach of reaſon dares make warre with her
Whoſe lookes are ſoueraignty, whoſe breath is balme
O that I could preſerue thee in fruition

As in deuotion ! Pen. Sir, may euery euill
Lock'd in Pandora's box, ſhowre (in your preſence)
On my vnhappy head, if ſince you made me
A partner in your bed, I haue beene faulty
In one vnſcemely thought againſt your honour.

Icho. Purge not his griefes, Penibea. Baſſ. Yes, ſay on,

Excellent

The Broken HEART.

Excellent creature— Good be not a hinderance
To peace, and praise of vertue. — O my senses
Are charm'd with sounds scalestiall. — On, deare, on;
I neuer gaue you one ill word; say, did I?
Indeed I did not. Pen. Nor, by Iuno's forehead,
Was I e're guilty of a wanton error.

Bass. A goddesse, let me kneele. Grans. Alas kind Animall;

Itbo. No, but for pennance. Bass. Noble sir, what is it?
With gladnesse I embrace it; yet pray let not
My rashnesse teach you to be too vnmmercifull.

Itbo. When you shall shew good prooffe that manly wisdom,
Not ouer-sway'd by passion, or opinion,
Knowes how to lead iudgement; then this Lady
Your wife, my sister, shall returne in safety
Home to be guided by you, but till first
I can, out of cleare euidence approue it,
Shee shall be my care. Bass. Rip my bosome vp,

I'll stand the execution with a constancy:
This torture is vn-sufferable. Itbo. Well Sir,
I dare not trust her to your fury. Bass. But
Penthea sayes not so. Pen. She needs no tongue
To plead excuse, who neuer purpos'd wrong.

Hemo. Virgin of reuerence and antiquity
Stay you behind. Gron. The Court wants not your diligence.

Exeunt omnes, sed Bass. & Grans.

Grans. What will you doe my Lord? my Lady's gone,
I am deny'd to follow. Bass. I may see her,
Or speake to her once more. Grans. And feele her too, man;
Be of good cheare, she's your owne flesh and bone.

Bass. Diseases desperate must find cares alike:
She swore she has beene true. Grans. True on my modesty.

Bass. Let him want truth who credits not her vowe;
Much wrong I did her, but her brother infinite;
Rumor will voyce me the contempt of manhood,
Should I run on thus. Some way I must try
To out-doe Art, and cry a lealoufie,

Exeunt omnes.

The Broken HEART.

Flourish.

{ Enter Amyclas, Nearchus leading Calantha, Ar-
mostes, Crotolon, Euphranea, Christalla, Philema, and Amelus. }

Amy. Cozen of Argos, what the heauens haue pleas'd
In their vncchanging Counsels to conclude
For both our kingdomes weale, we must submit to:
Nor can we be vnthankfull to their bounties,
Who when we were euen creeping to our graues,
Sent vs a daughter; in whose birth, our hope
Continues of succession: As you are
In title next, being grandchilde to our Aunt,
So we in heart desire you may sit nearest
Calantha's loue; since we haue euer vow'd
Not to inforce affection by our will,
But by her owne choyce to confirme it gladly.

Near. You speake the nature of a right iust father:
I come not hither roughly to demand
My Cozens thraldome, but to free mine owne:
Report of great Calantha's beauty, vertue,
Sweetnesse, and singular perfections, courted
All eares to credit what I finde was publish'd
By constant trath: from which if any seruice
Of my desert can purchase faire construction,
This Lady must command it. Calan. Princely Sir,
So well you know how to professe obseruance,
That you instruct your hearers to become
Practitioners in duty; of which number
I'll study to be chiefe. Near. Chiefe, glorious Virgine,
In my deuotions, as in all mens wonder.

Amy. Excellent Cozen, we deny no libertie;
Use thine owne opportunities. — Atmostes,
We must consult with the Philosophers,
The businesse is of weight. Armost. Sir, at your pleasure.
Amy. You told me, Crotolon, your sonne's return'd
From Athens? wherefore comes he not to Court.

The Broken HEART:

As we commanded? Crot. He shall soone attend
Your royall will, great Sir. Amy. The marriage
Betweene young Prophilus and Euphranea,
Tasts of too much delay: Crot. My Lord. Amy. Some pleasures
At celebration of it would giue life
To th' entertainment of the Prince our kinsman:
Our Court weares grauity more then we relish.

Armo. Yet the heauens smile on all your high attempts,
Without a Cloud. Crot. So may the gods protect vs.

Calan. A Prince, a subiect? Near. Yes, to beauties scepter:
As all hearts kneele to mine. Calan. You are too Courly.

To them,

Ithocles, Orgilus, Propbilus

Itho. Your safe returne to Sparta is most welcome,
Tioy to meet you here, and as occasion
Shall grant vs priuacy, will yeeld you reasons
Why I should couet to deserue the title
Of your respected friend: for without Complement
Beleeue it, Orgilus, 'tis my ambition.

Org. Your Lordship may command me your poore seruant.

Itho. So amorously close close? — so soone? — my heart!

Proph. What sudden change is next? Itho. Life to the King,
To whom I here present this Noble gentleman,
New come from Athens; Royall Sir, vouchsafe
Your gracious hand in fauour of his merit.

Crot. My sonne prefer'd by Ithocles? Amy. Our bounties
Shall open to thee Orgilus; for instance,
Harke in thine eare; if out of those inuentions
Which flow in Athens, thou hast there ingroft
Some rarity of wit to grace the Nuptials
Of thy faire sister, and renoune our Court
In th' eyes of this young Prince, we shall be debtr
To thy conceit, thinks on't. Org. Your Highnesse honours me.

Near. My tongue and heart are twins. Calan. A noble birth
Becomming such a father. — worthy Orgilus,
You are a guest most wish'd for. Org. May my duty
Still rise in your opinion, sacred Princess.

The Broken HEART.

Itho. Euphranes's brother, sir, a Gentleman
Well worthy of your knowledge. Near. We embrace him,
Proud of so deare acquaintance. Amy. All prepare
For Reuels and disport: the ioyes of Hymen,
Like Phæbus in his lustre, puts to flight
All mists of dulnesse; crowne the houres with gladnesse:
No sounds but musicke, no discourse but mirth.

Calan. Thine arme I prethe Ithocles. — Nay, good
My Lord keepe on your way, I am prouided.

Near. I dare not disobey. Itho. Most heauenly Lady. Exeunt.

Enter Croetolon, Orgilus.

Crot. The King hath spoke his mind. Org. His will he hath;
But were it lawfull to hold plea against
The power of greatnesse, not the reason, haply
Such vnder-shrubs as subiects, sometimes might Borrow of Nature, Iustice, to informe
That licence soueraignty holds without checke
Ouer a mecke obedience. Crot. How resolute you
Touching your sisters marriage? Prophilus
Is a deseruing, and a hopefull youth.

Org. I enuy not his merit, but applaud it:
Could with him thrife in all his best desires,
And with a willingnesse inleague our blood
With his, for purchase of full growth in friendship.
He neuer touch'd on any wrong that malic'd
The honour of our house, nor stirr'd our peace;
Yet, with your fauour, let me not forget
Vnder whose wing he gathers warmth and comfort;
Whose creature he is bound, made, and must liue so.

Crot. Sonne, sonne, I find in thee a harsh condition;
No curtesie can winne it; 'tis too ranckorous.

Org. Good Sir be not seuer in your construction;
I am no stranger to such easie calmes
As sit in tender bosomes: Lordly Ithocles
Hath grac'd my entertainment in abundance;
Too humbly hath descended from that height
Of arrogance and spleene which wrought the rape

The Broken HEART.

On grieu'd Penthea's purity; his scorne
Of my vatoward fortunes is reclaim'd
Vnto a Courtship, almost to a fawning:
I'll kisse his foot, since you will haue it so.

Crot. Since I will haue it so? Friend I will haue it so
Without our ruine by your politike plots;
Or Wolfe of hatred snarling in your breast;
You haue a spirit, Sir, haue ye? a familiar
That poasts i'th ayre for your intelligence?
Some such Hobgoblin hurried you from Athens,
For yet you come vnsent for. Org. If vnwelcome,
I might haue found a graue there. Crot. Sure your businesse
Was soone dispatch'd, or your mind alter'd quickly.

Org. 'Twas care, Sir, of my health, cut short my iourney;
For there, a generall infection
Threatens a desolation. Crot. And I feare
Thou hast brought backe a worse infection with thee,
Infection of thy mind; which, as thou sayst,
Threatens the desolation of our family.

Org. Forbid it our deare Genius, I will rather
Be made a Sacrifice on Thrasus monument,
Or kneele to Isocles his sonne in dust,
Then woode a fathers curse: My sisters marriage
With Prophilus, is from my heart confirm'd:
May I liue hated, may I dye despis'd,
If I omit to further it in all

That can concerne me. Crot. I haue beene too rough,
My duty to my King made me so earnest;
Excuse it Orgilus. Org. Deare Sir.

Enter to them,

Prophilus, Euphranea, Isocles, Groueus, Hemophil.

Crot. Here comes

Euphranea, with Prophilus and Isocles.

Org. Most honored — euer famous. Isbo. Your true friend,
On earth not any truer. — With smooth eyes
Looke on this worthy couple, your consent
Can onely make them one. Org. They haue it. — Sister,

Thou

The Broken HEART.

Thou pawn'dst to me an oath, of which ingagement
I neuer will release thee, if thou aym'st
At any other choyce then this. Euphr. Deare brother,
At him or none. Crot. To which my blessing's added.

Org. Which till a greater ceremony perfect,
Euphranea lend thy hand; here take her Prophilus,
Liue long a happy man and wife; and further,
That these in presence may conclude an omen,
Thus for a Bridall song I close my wishes:

Comforts lasting, Loues increasing,

Like soft houres neuer ceasing;

Plenties pleasure, peace complying

Without iarres, or tongues enuying;

Hearts by holy Vnion wedded

More then theirs, by custome bedded;

Fruitfull issues; life so graced,

Not by age to be defaced;

Budging, as the yeare ensueth,

Euery spring another youth:

All what thought can adde beside,

Crowne this Bridegrome and this Bride.

Proph. You haue seal'd ioy close to my soule: Euphranea,

Now I may call thee mine. Itho. I but exchange

One good friend for another. Org. If these Gallants

Will please to grace a poore inuention,

By ioyning with me in some flight deuise,

I'll venture on a straine, my younger dayes

Haue studied for delight. Hem. With thankfull willingnesse

I offer my attendance: Gron. No en'cuour

Of mine shall faile to shew it selfe. Itho. We will

All ioyne to wait on thy directions, Orgilus.

Org. O my good Lord, your fauours flow towards

A too vnworthy worne; but as you please,

I am what you will shape me. Itho. A fast friend.

Crot. I thanke thee sonne for this acknowledgements,

It is a sight of gladnesse. Org. But my duty.

Exeunt omnes.

The Broken HEART.

Enter Calantha, Penthea, Christalla, Philema.

Calan. Who e're would speake with vs, deny his entrance:
Be carefull of our charge. Chri. We shall madam.

Calan. Except the King himselfe, giue none admittance,
Not any. Phil. Madam it shall be our care.

Exeunt

Calantha, Penthea.

Calan. Being alone, Penthea, you haue granted
The oportunity you sought, and might
At all times haue commanded. Pen. 'Tis a benefit
Which I shall owe your goodnesse euen in death for:
My glasse of life (sweet Princeesse hath few minutes
Remaining to runne downe; the sands are spent;
For by an inward messenger I feele
The summons of departure short and certaine.

Calan. You feed too much your melancholly. Pen. Glories
Of humane greatnesse are but pleasing dreames,
And shadowes soone decaying: on the stage
Of my mortality, my youth hath acted
Some scenes of vanity, drawne out at length
By varied pleasures, sweetned in the mixture,
But Tragical in issue; Beauty, pompe,
With euery sensuality our giddinesse
Doth frame an Idoll, are vnconstrant friends
When any troubled passion makes assault
On the vnguarded Castle of the mind.

Calan. Contemne not your condition, for the prooffe
Of bare opinion onely: to what end
Reach all these Morall texts? Pen. To place before 'ee
A perfect mirror, wherein you may see
How weary I am of a lingring life,
Who count the best a misery. Calan. Indeed
You haue no little cause; yet none so great
As to distrust a remedy. Pen. That remedy
Must be a winding sheet, a fold of lead,
And some vntrod-on corner in the earth.
Not to detain your expectation, Princeesse,
I haue an humble suit. Calan. Speake, I enioy it.

The Broken HEART.

Vouchsafe then to be my Executrix,
And take that trouble on 'ee, to dispose
Such Legacies, as I bequeath impartially:
I haue not much to giue, the paines are easie,
Heauen will reward your piety, and thanke it
When I am dead; for sure I must not liue,
I hope I cannot. Calan. Now beshrew thy sadnesse;
Thou turn'st me too much woman. Pen. Her faire eyes
Melt into passion; Then I haue assurance
Encouraging my boldnesse. — In this paper
My Will was Character'd; which you, with pardon,
Shall now know from mine owne mouth. Calan. Talke on, prethe,
It is a pretty earnest. Pen. I haue left me
But three poore Iewels to bequeath; The first is
My youth; for though I am much old in griefes,
In yeares I am a child. Calan. To whom that?
Pen. To Virgin-wiues, such as abuse not wedlocke
By freedome of desires, but couet chiefly
The pledges of chaste beds, for tyes of loue,
Rather than ranging of their blood: And next
To married maids, such as preferre the number
Of honorable issue in their vertues,
Before the flattery of delights by marriage,
May those be euer young. Calan. A second Iewell
You meane to part with. Pen. 'Tis my Fame, I trust,
By scandall yet vntouch'd; this I bequeath
To memory, and Times old daughter Truth:
If euer my vnhappy name find mention
When I am false to dust, may it deserue
Be-seeming charity without dishonour.
Calan. How handsomely thou playst with harmlesse sport
Of meere imagination; speake the last,
I strangely like thy will. Pen. This Iewell, Madam,
Is dearely precious to me; you must vse
The best of your discretion to imploy
This gift as I intend it. Calan. Doe not doubt me.
Pen. 'Tis long agoe since first I lost my heart,

The Broken HEART.

Long I haue liu'd without it, else for certaine
I should haue giuen that too ; but in stead
Of it, to great Calantha, Sparta's heire,
By seruice bound, and by affection vow'd,
I doe bequeath in holiest rites of loue
Mine onely brother Ithocles. Calan. What saydst thou?

Pen. Impute not, heauen-blest Lady, to ambition,
A faith as humbly perfect as the prayers
Of a deuoted suppliant can indow it :

Looke on him, Princessse, with an eye of pittie ;
How like the ghost of what he late appear'd,
A' moues before you. Calan. Shall I answer here,
Or lend my care too grossely ? Pen. First, his heart
Shall fall in Cynders, scorch'd by your disdainc,
E're he will dare, poore man, to ope an eye
On these diuine lookes, but with low-bent thoughts
Accusing such presumption ; as for words,
A' dares not vtter any but of seruice :

Yet this lost creature loues 'ee. — Be a Princessse
In sweetnesse as in blood ; giue him his doome,
Or raise him vp to comfort. Calan. What new change
Appeares in my behauiour, that thou dar'st
Tempt my displeasure ? Pen. I must leaue the world
To reuell Elizium, and 'tis iust

To wish my brother some aduantage here :
Yet by my best hopes, Ithocles is ignorant
Of this pursuit. But if you please to kill him,
Lend him one angry looke, or one harsh word,
And you shall soone conclude how strong a power
Your absolute authority holds ouer
His life and end. Calan. You haue forgot, Penthea,
How still I haue a father. Pen. But remember
I am a sister, though to me this brother
Hath beene you know vnkinde : o most vnkinde !

Calan. Christalla, Philema, where are 'ce ? — Lady,
Your checkelyes in my silence.

Enter Christalla and Philema.

The Broken HEART.

Both. Madam, here.

Calan. I thinke 'ee sleepe, 'ee drones; wait on Penthea Vnto her lodging. — Ithocles? wrong'd Lady!

Pen. My reckonings are made euen, Death or Fate Can now nor strike too soone, nor force too late,

Exeunt.

Actus Quartus: Scena prima.

Enter Ithocles and Armostes.

Itho. FORbeare your Inquisition; curiosity Is of too subtile, and too searching nature: In feares of loue too quicke; too slow of credit: I am not what you doubt me. Arm. Nephew, be then As I would wish; — all is not right, — Good heauen. Confirm your Resolutions for dependance On worthy ends which may aduance your quiet.

Ith. I did the Noble Orgilus much iniury, But grieu'd Penthea more: I now repent it; Now, Vncle, now; this Now, is now too late: So prouident is folly in sad issue, That after-wit, like Bankrupts debts, stand tailyed Without all possibilities of payment: Sure he's an honest, very honest Gentleman; A man of single meaning. Arm. I beleue it: Yet Nephew, 'tis the tongue informes our cares; Our eyes can neuer pierce into the thoughts, For they are lodg'd too inward: — but I question No truth in Orgilus. — The Princeesse (Sir)

Ith. The Princeesse? ha? Arm. With her the Prince of Argos.

Enter Nearchus leading Calantha, Amelus,

Christalla, Philema.

Near. Great (faire one) grace my hopes with any instance Of Liuey, from the allowance of your fauour, This little sparke. Cal. A Toy, Near. Loue feasts on Toyes,

For

The Broken HEART:

For Cupid is a child, — vouchsafe this bounty :
 It cannot beny'd. Calan. You shall not value
 (Sweet Cozen) at a price what I count cheape,
 So cheape, that let him take it who dares stoope for't,
 And giue it at next meeting to a Mistresse,
 Shee'll thanke him for't, perhaps.

Casts it to Ithocles.

Ame. The Ring, Sir, is
 The Princesses, I could haue tooke it vp.

Ith. Learne manners, prethe. — To the blessed owner
 Vpon my knees. Near. Y'are sawcy. Cal. This is pretty;
 I am, belike, a Mistresse. — wondrous pretty :
 Let the man keepe his fortune, since he found it;
 He's worthy on't. — On Cozen. Ith. Follow Spaniell,
 I'll force 'ee to a fawning else. Ame. You dare not.

Exeunt. Manent Isha. & Armest.

Arm. My Lord, you were too forward. Ith. Looke 'ee Vncle :
 Some such there are whose liberall contents
 Swarme without care in euery sort of plenty ;
 Who, after full repasts, can lay them downe
 To sleepe ; and they sleepe, Vncle : in which silence
 Their very dreames present 'em choyce of pleasures :
 Pleasures (obserue me Vncle) of rare object :
 Here heaps of gold, there Increments of honors ;
 Now change of garments, then the votes of people ;
 Anon varieties of beauties, courting
 In flatteries of the night, exchange of dalliance,
 Yet these are still but dreames : giue me felicity
 Of which my senses waking are partakers ;
 A reall, visible, materiall happinesse :
 And then too, when I stagger in expectance
 Of the least comfort that can cherish life :
 I saw it (Sir) I saw it ; for it came
 From her owne hand. Arm. The Princess threw it t'ee.

Itho. True, and she said — well I remember what.
 Her Cozen Prince would beg it. Arm. Yes, and parted
 In anger at your taking on't. Ith. Pentsheal !
 Oh thou hast pleaded with a powerfull language !

The Broken HEART.

I want a fee to gratifie thy myrit.

But I will doe — Arm. What is't you say? Itho. In anger,

In anger let him part; for could his breath,
Like whirlwinds, toss such servile slaues as licke

The dust his footsteps print, into a vapour,

It durst not stirre a haire of mine; It should not,

I'de rend it vp by th' roots first. To be any thing

Calantha smiles on, is to be a blessing

More sacred than a petty-Prince of Argos

Can wish to equall, or in worth or Title.

Arm. Containe your selfe, my Lord, Ixion ayming

To embrace Iuno, bosom'd but a cloud,

And begat Centaurus: 'tis an vsfull morall,

Ambition hatch'd in clouds of meere opinion,

Proues but in birth a prodigie. Itho. I thanke 'ee;

Yet, with your Licence, I should seeme vncharitable

To gentler Fate, if relishing the dainties

Of a soules settled peace, I were so feeble

Not to digest it. Arm. He deserues small trust

Who is not priny Counsellor to himselfe.

Enter Nearchus, Orgilus, and Amelus.

Near. Braue me? Org. Your Excellence mistakes his temper,

For Ithocles in fashion of his mind

Is beautifull, soft, gentle, the cleare mirror

Of absolute perfection. Amel. Was't your modesty

Term'd any of the Prince his seruants Spaniell?

Your Nurse sure taught you other language. Itho. Language?

Near. A gallant Man at armes is here: a Doctor

In feats of Chivalry; blunt, and rough spoken,

Vouchsafing not the fustian of ciuility,

Which rash spirits stile good manners. Ith. Manners?

Org. No more (Illustrious Sir) 'tis matchlesse Ithocles.

Near. You might haue vnderstood who I am. Ith. Yes,

I did — else — but the presence calm'd th' affront;

Y're Cozen to the Princeesse. Near. To the King too;

A certaine Instrument that lent supportance

To your Collosicke greatnesse: — to that King too

The Broken HEART,

You might haue added. Itho. There is more diuinity
In beauty then in Maiesty. Arm. O fie, fie.

Near. This odde youths pride tarnes hereticke in loyalty?
Sirrah ! low Mushrooms neuer riual Cedars.

Exeunt Nearchus & Amelus.

Itho. Come backe : what pittifull dull thing am I
So to be tamely scoulded at ? Come backe ;
Let him come backe and eccho once againe
That scornefull sound of Mushrome ; painted colts,
Like Heralds coats, guilt o're with Crownes and Scepters,
May bait a muffed Lion. Arm. Cozen, Coxen,
Thy tongue is not thy friend. Org. In point of honour
Discretion knowes no bounds. Amelus told me
'Twas all about a little Ring. Itho. A Ring
The Princesse threw away, and I tooke vp :
Admit she threw 't to me ; what arme of brasle
Can snatch it hence ? No, could a' grind the hoope
To powder, a' might sooner reach my heart
Then steale and weare one dust on't. — Orgilus,
I am extreemely wrong'd. Org. A Ladies fauour
Is not to be so slighted. Itho. Slighted. Arm. Quiet
These vaine vnruly passions, which will render ye
Into a madnesse. Org. Griefes will haue their vent.

Enter Technicus.

Arm. Welcome ; thou com'st in season (reuerend man)

To powre the balfome of a supplying patience

Into the festering wound of ill-spent fury.

Org. What makes He here ? Tecn. The hurts are yet but mortall,
Which shortly will proue deadly : To the King,

Armestes, see in safety thou deliuer

This seal'd vp counsaile ; bid him with a constancy

Peruse the secrets of the gods : ——— ô Sparta,

ô Lacedemon ! double nam'd, but one

In fate : when Kingdomes reele (marke well my Saw)

Their heads must needs be giddy : tell the King

That henceforth he no more must enquire after

My aged head : Apollo wils it so ;

The Broken HEART.

I am for Delphos. Arm. Not without some conference
With our great master. Tecn. Neuer more to see him,
A greater Prince commands me. — Itkocles,

*When youth is ripe, and Age from time doth part,
The lueleffe Trunke shall wed the Broken Heart.*

Lib. What's this, if vnderstood? Tecn. List Orgilus,
Remember what I told thee long before,
These teares shall be my witnesse. Arm. 'Las good man!

Tecn. Let craft with curtesie a while conferre,
Reuenge proues its owne Exccationer.

Org. Darke sentences are for Apollo's Priests:
I am not Oedipus. Tecn. My howre is come;

Cheare vp the King: farewell to all. — O Sparta;

O Lacedemon. Arm. If propheticke fire

Exit. Tecn.

Haue warm'd this old mans bosome, we might construe
His words to fatall sense. Lib. Leauē to the powers
Above vs, the effects of their decrees;

My burthen lyes within me. Seruile feares

Preuent no great effects. — Diuine Calamities.

Arm. The gods be still propitious. — Exeunt, manet Org.

Org. Something oddly

The booke-maniprated; yet a' talk'd it weeping:

Let craft with curtesie a while conferre,

Reuenge proues its owne executioner.

Conne it againe; for what? It shall not puzzle me;

'Tis dotage of a withered braine. — Penthea

Forbad me not her presence; I may see her,

And gaze my fill: why see her then I may;

When if I faint to speake, I must be silent.

Exit Org.

Enter Bassanes, Granfus, and Phulas.

Bass. Pray vse your Recreations, all the seruice

I will expect, is quietnesse amongst 'ee:

Take liberty at home, abroad, at all times,

And in your charities appease the gods

Whom I with my distractions haue offended.

Granf. Faire blessings on thy heart. Phul. Here's a rare Change;
My Lord, to cure the itch, is surely gelded;

The

The Broken HEART.

The Cuckold, in conceit, hath cast his hornes?

Bass. Betake 'ee to your severall occasions,
And wherein I haue heretofore bene faulty,
Let your constructions mildly passe it ouer,
Henceforth I'll study reformation, — more;
I haue not for employment. Gran. O sweet man!
Thou art the very hony-combe of honesty.

Phul. The garland of good-will; — Old Lady, hold vp
Thy reuerend snout, and trot behind me softly,
As it becomes a Moile of ancient carriage. Exeunt, maue Bass.

Bass. Beasts onely capable of sense, enioy
The benefit of food and ease with thankfulness;
Such silly creatures, with a grudging, kicke not
Against the portion Nature hath bestow'd;
But men endow'd with reason, and the vse
Of reason, to distinguish from the chaffe
Of abied scarcicy, the Quintessence,
Soule, and Elixar of the Earths abundance,
The treasures of the Sea, the Ayre, nay heauen
Repining at these glories of creation,
Are verier beasts than beasts; and of those beasts
The worst am I; I, who was made a Monarch
Of what a heart could wish, for a chaste wife,
Endeuour'd what in me lay, to pull downe
That Temple built for adoration onely,
And leuel'd in the dust of causelesse scandalls;
But to redeeme a sacrilege so impious,
Humility shall powre before the deities:
I haue incens'd a largenesse of more patience
Then their displeased Altars can require:
No tempests of commotion shall disquiet
The calmes of my composure.

Enter Orgilus.

Org. I haue found thee,
Thou patron of more horrors then the bulke
Of manhood, hoop'd about with ribs of Iron,
Whom in thy brest: Penthea (Bassanes)

The Broken HEART.

Curst by thy Iealousies; more, by thy dorage
Is left a prey to words. Bass. Exercise
Your trials for addition to my pennance,
I am resolu'd. Org. Play not with misery
Past cure: some angry Minister of Fate hath Depos'd the Empreſſe of her ſoule, her reason,
From its moſt proper Throne; but what's the miracle
More new, I, I haue ſeene it, and yet liue.

Bass. You may delude my ſenſes, not my iudgement:
'Tis anchor'd into a firme reſolution,
Dalliance of Mirth or Wit can ne're vnfixe it.
Practiſe yet further. Org. May thy death of lone to her
Damne all thy comforts to a laſting faſt
From euery ioy of life: Thou barren rocke,
By thee we haue bee ſplit in ken of harbour.

Enter Ithocles, Penſhea her haire about her eares,

Philema, Chriſtalla.

Ith. Siſter looke vp, your Ithocles, your brother
Speakes t'ee: why doe you weepe? Deere, turae not from me:
Here is a killing fight: lo, Baſſanes,
A lamentable obiect. Org. Man, doſt ſee?
Sports are more gameſome; am I yet in merriment?
Why doſt not laugh? Bass. Diuine, and beſt of Ladies,
Pleaſe to forget my out-rage? mercy euer
Cannot but lodge vnder a rooſe ſo excellient:
I haue caſt off that cruelty of frenzy
Which once appear'd, Impoſtors, and then iugled
To cheat my ſleeps of reſt. Org. Was I in earneſt?

Pen. Sure if we were all Sirens, we ſhould ſing pittifully,
And 'twere a comely muſicke, when in parts
One ſung anothers knell: the Turtle ſighes
When he hath loſt his mate; and yet ſome ſay
A' muſt be dead firſt: 'tis a fine deceit
To paſſe away in a dreame: indeed I'ue ſlept
With mine eyes open a great while. No falſhood
Equals a broken faith; there's not a haire
Sticks on my head but like a laden Plummet

The Broken HEART.

It sinkes me to the graue: I must creepe thither;
The iourney is not long. Ith. But thou, Penhea,
Hast many yeeres, I hope, to number yet
E're thou canst trauell that way. Bass. Let the Swan first
Be wrap'd vp in an euerlasting darknesse,
Before the light of nature, chiefly form'd
For the whole worlds delight, feeles an Ecclipse
So vniuersall. Org. Wisdome (looke 'ee)
Begins to raue: — art thou mad too, antiquity?

Pen. Since I was first a wife, I might haue beene
Mother to many pretty prattling Babes:
They would haue smil'd when I smil'd; and, for certaine,
I should haue cry'd when they cry'd; — truly brother,
My father would haue pick'd me out a husband,
And then my little ones had beene no bastards;
But 'tis too late for me to marry now,
I am past child-bearing; 'tis not my fault.

Bass. Fall on me, if there be a burning Etna,
And bury me in flames; sweats hot as sulphure,
Boyle through my pores: affliction hath in store
No torture like to this. Org. Behold a patience
Lay by thy whyning gray dissimulation,
Doe something worth a Chronicle; shew Iustice
Vpon the Author of this mischiefe; dig out
The lealouies that hatch'd this thraldome first
With thine owne ponyard: euery anticke rapture
Can roare as thine does. Ith. Orgilus forbear.

Bass. Disturbe him not, it is a talking motion
Prouided for my torment: what a foole am I
To bawdy passion? e're I'll speake a word
I will looke on and burst. Pen. I lou'd you once.

Org. Thou didst, wrong'd creature, in despite of malice;
For it I loue thee euer. Pen. Spare your hand,
Beleeue me, I'll not hurt it. Org. Paine my heart to Complaine not though I wring it hard: I'll kisse it;
O 'tis a fine soft paine: harke in thine care,
Like whom doe I looke, prethe? nay, no whispering.

The Broken HEART.

Goodnesse I we had beene happy : too much happinesse
Will make folke proud they say — but that is he ; } points at
And yet he paid for't home ; alas, his heart. } Ithacles.
Is crept into the cabinet of the Princeesse ;
We shall haue points and bridelaces. Remember
When we last gather'd Roses in the garden
I found my wits, but truly you lost yours :
That's He, and still 'tis He. Ith. Poore soule, how idely
Her fancies guide her tongue. Bass. Keepe in vexation,
And breake not into clamour. Org. She has tutor'd me :
Some powerfull inspiration checks my lazinesse :
Now let me kisse your hand, grien'd beauty. Pen. Kisse it.
Alacke, alacke, his lips be wondrous cold ;
Deare soule, h'as lost his colour : haue 'ee scene
A straying heart & all crannies, euery drop
Of blood is turn'd to an Amethist,
Which married Bachelours hang in their cares.
Org. Peace vs her into Elizium :
If this be madnesse, madnesse is an Oracle. Exit Org.
Ith. Christalla, Philena, when slept my sister,
Her rauings are so wild. Chri. Sir, not these ten dayes.
Phil. We watch by her continually ; besides,
We cannot any way pray her to eat.
Bass. Oh — misery of miseries ! Pen. Take comfort,
You may liue well, and dye a good old man.
By yea and nay, an oath not to be broken,
If you had ioyn'd our hands once in the Temple,
Twas since my father dy'd, for had he liu'd
He would haue don't : I must haue call'd you father :
Oh my wrack'd honour ruin'd by those Tyrants,
A cruell brother, and a desperate dotage !
There is no peace left for a rauish'd wife
Widdow'd by lawlesse marriage ; to all memory,
Penthea's, poore Penthea's name is strumpeted :
But since her blood was season'd by the forscit
Of noble shame, with mixtures of pollution,
Her blood ('tis iust) be henceforth neuer heightened

With

The Broken HEART:

With tast of sustenance. Starue; let that fulnesse
Whose plurisie hath feuer'd faith and modesty,
Forgiue me: ô I faint. Arm. Be not so wilfull,
Sweet Neece, to worke thine owne destruction. Lib. Nature
Will call her daughter, monster, — what? not eat?
Refuse the onely ordinary meanes

Which are ordain'd for life? be not, my sister,
A murtheresse to thy selfe. — Hear'st thou this, Bassanes?

Bass. Fo, I am busie; for I haue not thoughts
Enow to thinke all shall be well anon,
'Tis tumbling in my head: there is a mastery
In Art to fatten and keepe smooth the outside;
Yes, and to comfort vp the vitall spirits
Without the helpe of food, fumes or perfumes,
Perfumes or fumes: let her alone, I'll search out
The tricke on't. Pen. Lead me gently; heauens reward ye:
Griefes are sure friends; they leaue (without controule)
Nor cure nor comforts for a leprous soule.

Exeunt the maids supprecing Penheas.

Bass. I grant t'ee; and will put in practice instantly
What you shall still admire: 'tis wonderfull,
'Tis super singular, not to be match'd:
Yet when I'ue don't, I'ue don't; ye shall all thanke mee.

Exit Bassanes?

Arm. The sight is full of terror. Lib. On my soule
Lyes such an infinite clogge of massie dulnesse,
As that I haue not sense enough to feele it.
See, Vncle, th'augury thing returnes againe,
Shall's welcome him with Thunder? we are haunted;
And must vse exorcisme to coniure downe
This spirit of maluolence. Arm. Mildly, Nephew.

Enter Nearchus and Amelius.

Near. I come not, Sir, to chide your late disorder:
Admitting that th'inurement to a roughnesse
In Souldiers of your yeares and fortunes, chiefly
So lately prosperous, hath not yet shooke off

The Broken HEART.

The custome of the warre in houres of leisure;
Nor shall you need excuse, since y' are to render
Account to that faire Excellence, the Princeesse,
Who in her priuate Gallery expects it
From your owne mouth alone: I am a messenger
But to her pleasure. Ith. Excellent Nearchus,
Be Prince still of my seruices, and conquer,
Without the combat of dispute; I honour 'ee.

Near. The King is on a sudden indispos'd,
Physicians are call'd for; 'twere fit, Armistes,
You should be neere him. Arm. Sir, I kisse your hands. Exeunt
Manent Nearchus & Amelius

Near. Amelus, I perceiue Calantha's bosome
Is warm'd with other fires then such as can
Take strength from any fuell of the loue
I might addresse to her: young Ithocles,
Or euer I mistake, is Lord ascendant
Of her deuotions; one, to speake him truly,
In euery disposition nobly fashioned,

Ame. But can your Highnesse brooke to be so riuall'd,
Considering th' inequality of the persons?

Near. I can, Amelus; for affections iniur'd
By tyrannie, or rigour of compulsion,
Like Tempest-threatned Trees vnfirmly rooted,
Ne're spring to timely growth: obserue, for instance,
Life-spent Penthea, and vnhappy Orgilus.

Ame. How does your grace determine? Near. To be ialous
In publike, of what priuately I'll further;
And though they shall not know, yet they shall finde it.

Exeunt omnes.

{ Enter Hemophil and Groneas leading Amyclus, and placing him in a Chayre, followed by Armistes, Crosol-
lon, and Prophilus. }

Amy. Our daughter is not neere? Arm. She is retired, Sir,
Into her gallery. Amy. Where's the Prince our Cozen?
Prop. New walk'd into the Groe (my Lord.) Amy. All leave vs
Except Armistes, and you Crosolon;

The Broken HEART,

We would be priuate. Proph. Health vnto your Maiesty.

Exeunt Prophilus, Hemophil, & Gronsas.

Amy. What, Tecnicus is gone? Arm. He is to Delphos;
And to your Royall hands presents this box.

Amy. Vnseale it, good Armostes, therein lyes
The secrets of the Oracle; out with it;

Apollo liue our patron: read, Armostes.

Arm. The plot in which the Vine takes root,
Begins to dry, from head to foot,
The stocke soone withering, want of sap
Doth cause to quail the budding grape:
But from the neighboring Elme, a dew
Shall drop and feed the Plot anew.

Amy. That is the Oracle, what exposition
Makes the Philosopher? Arm. This brieffe one, onely:

The plot is Sparta, the dry'd Vine the King;
The quailing grape his daughter; but the thing
Of most importance, not to be reueal'd,
Is a neere Prince, the Elme; the rest conceal'd.

Tecnicus.

Amy. Enough; although the opening of this Riddle
Is but it selfe a Riddle, yet we construe
How neere our lab'ring age drawes to a rest:
But must Calantha quail to that young grape
Vntimely budded! I could mourne for her,
Her tenderesse hath yet deseru'd no rigor
So to be crost by Fate. Arm. You misapply, Sir;
With fauour let me speake it what Apollo
Hath clouded in hid sense: I here coniecture
Her marriage with some neighb'ring Prince, the dew
Of which befriending Elme shall ener strengthen
Your Subiects with a Soueraignty of power.

Crot. Besides, most gracious Lord, the pith of Oracles
Is to be then digested, when th' euents
Expound their truth, not brought assoone to light
As utter'd; Truth is Child of Time, and herein
I finde no scruple, rather cause of comfort,

[With

The Broken HEART.

With unity of kingdomes. Amy. May it proue so
For weale of this deare Nation. — where is Ithocles?
Armostes, Crotolon; when this wither'd Vine
Of my fraile carkasse, on the funerall Pile,
Is fir'd into its ashes, let that young man
Be hedg'd about still with your cares and lones;
Much owe I to his worth, much to his seruice.
Let such as wait come in now. Arm. All attend here.

Enter Ithocles, Calantha, Prophilus, Orgilus, Euphranea, Hemophil, and Gronaeas.

Cal. Deare Sir, King, Father! Ith. O my royall Master!

Amy. Cleane not my heart (sweet Twins of my life's solace)
With your fore-iudging feares: there is no Physicke
So cunningly restorative to cherish
The fall of Age, or call backe youth and vigor,
As your consents in duty: I will shake off
This languishing disease of time, to quicken
Fresh pleasures in these drooping houres of sadnesse:
Is faire Euphranea married yet to Prophilus?

Crot. This morning, gracious Lord. Org. This very morning,
Which with your Highnesse leaue you may obserue too.
Our sister lookes (me thinks) mirthfull and sprightly;
As if her chaster fancy could already
Expound the riddle of her gaine in losing
A trifle; Maids know onely that they know not;
Pish, prethe blush not; 'tis but honest change
Of fashion in the garment, loose for streight;
And so the modest maid is made a wife:
Shrewd businesse, is't not sister? Euph. You are pleasant.

Amy. We thanke thee, Orgilus, this mirth becomes thee:
But wherefore sits the Court in such a silence?
A wedding without Reuels is not seemly:

Cal. Your late indisposition, Sir, forbade it.

Amy. Be it thy charge, Calantha, to set forward
The bridall sports, to which I will be present:
If not, at least consenting: mine owne Ithocles,
I haue done little for thee yet. lib. Y'haue built me

The Broken HEART.

To the full height I stand in. Cal. Now or neuer
May I propose a suit. Amy. Demand and haue it.

Cal. Pray Sir giue me this young man, and no further
Account him yours, then he deserues in all things
To be thought worthy mine; I will esteeme him
According to his merit. Amy. Still th'art my daughter,
Still grow'it vpon my heart; giue me thine hand;

Calantha take thine owne; in noble actions
Thou'lt find him firme and absolute: I would not
Haue parted with thee, Ithocles, to any
But to a mistresse who is all what I am.

Ith. A change (great King) most wisht for, cause the sam. —

Cal. Th'art mine. — Haue I now kept my word. Ith. Diuinely.

Org. Rich fortuness guard to fauour of a Princeesse,
Rocke thee (braue man) in euer crowned plenty;
Y'are minion of the time, be thankfull for it:
Ho, here's a swinge in Destiny. — Apparent,
The youth is vp on tiptoe, yet may stumble.

Amy. On to your recreations; now conuey me
Vnto my bed-chamber: none on his forehead

Were a distemper'd looke. Omnes. The gods preferue 'ee.

Cal. Sweet be not from my sight. Ith. My whole felicity.

Exeunt carrying out of the King, Orgilus stays Ithocles.

Org. Shall I be bold my Lord? Ith. Thou canst not, Orgilus;

Call me thine owne, for Prophilus must henceforth

Be all thy sisters; friendship, though it cease not

In marriage, yet is oft at lesse command

Then when a single freedome can dispose it.

Org. Most right, my most good Lord, my most great Lord,
My gracious Princely Lord, I might adde royall.

Ith. Royall, a Subiect royall? Org. Why not, pray Sir?

The Soueraignty of Kingdomes in their nonage
Stoop'd to desert, not birth: there's as much merit
In clearenesse of affection, as in puddle

Of generation: you haue conquer'd Loue

Even in the loueliest, if I greatly erre not,

The Sonne of Venus hath bequeath'd his quiver

The Broken HEART.

Away ; and harke ye, till you see vs next,
No sillable that she is dead. — Away, Exeunt Phil. & Chris.
Keepe a smooth brow. — My Lord. Ith. Mine onely sister,
Another is not left me. Org. Take that chayre,
I'll seat me here in this : betweene vs sits
The obiekt of our sorrowes; some few teares
Wee'll part among vs; I perhaps can mixe
One lamentable story to prepare 'em.
There, there, sit there, my Lord. Ith. Yes, as you please.

Ithocles sits downe, and is catcht in the Engine.

What meanes this treachery? Org. Caught, you are caught
Young master: 'tis thy throne of Coronation,
Thou foole of greatnesse: see, I take this vail off;
Suruey a beauty wither'd by the flames
Of an insulting Phaeton her brother.

Ith. Thou mean'st to kill me basely. Org. I foreknow
The last act of her life, and train'd thee hither
To sacrifice a Tyrant to a Turtle.

You dream't of kingdomes, did'ee? how to bosome
The delicacies of a youngling Princeesse,
How with this nod to grace that subtil Courtier,
How with that frowne to make this Noble tremble,
And so forth; whiles Penthea's grones, and tortures,
Her agonies, her miseries, afflictions,
Ne're toucht vpon your thought; as for my iniuries,
Alas they were beneath your royall pittie,
But yet they liu'd, thou proud man, to confound thee:
Behold thy fate, this Steele. Ith. Strike home; a courage
As keene as thy reuenge shall giue it welcome:

But presse faint not; if the wound close vp,
Tent it with double force, and search it deeply.
Thou look'st that I should whine, and beg compassion;
As loath to leaue the vainnesse of my glories;
A statelier resolution armes my confidence,
To cozen thee of honour; neither could I,
With equall tryall of vnequall fortune,
By hazard of a duell, 'twere a brauery

The Broken HEART:

Too mighty for a slave intending murder :
On to the Execution, and inherit
A conflict with thy horrors. Org. By Apollo,
Thou talk'st a goodly language ; for requitall,
I will report thee to thy mistress richly :
And take this peace along ; some few short minutes
Determin'd, my resolves shall quickly follow
Thy wrathfull ghost ; then if we tug for mastery,
Penthea sacred eyes shall lend new courage.
Giue me thy hand, be healthfull in thy parting
From lost mortality : thus, thus, I free it.

kills him.

Ith. Yet, yet, I scorne to shrinke. Org. Keepe vp thy spirit :
I will be gentle euen in blood ; to linger
Paine, which I strue to cure, were to be cruell.

Ith. Nimble in vengeance I forgiue thee ; follow
Safety, with best successe ô may it prosper !

Penthea, by thy side thy brother bleeds :
The earnest of his wrongs to thy forc'd faith,
Thoughts of ambition, or delicious banquet,
With beauty, youth, and loue, together perissh
In my last breath, which on the sacred Altar

Of a long look'd for peace - now - moues - to heauen. moritur.

Org. Farewell ; faire spring of manhood ; henceforth welcome
Best expectation of a noble suffrance :

I'll locke the bodies safe, till what must follow
Shall be approu'd. — Sweet Twins shine stars for euer.

In vaine they build their hopes, whose life is shame,
No monument lasts but a happy Name.

Exit Orgilus.

Actus Quintus : Scena prima.

Enter Bassanes alone.

Bass. A Thens, to Athens I haue sent, the Nursery
Of Greece for learning, and the Fount of knowledge :
I 3

For

The Broken HEART.

For here in Sparta there's not left amongst vs
One wise man to direct, we're all turn'd madcaps;
'Tis said, Apollo is the god of herbs;
Then certainly he knowes the vertue of 'em:
To *Deipho*s I haue sent to; if there can be
A helpe for nature, we are sure yet.

Org. Honour

Attend thy counsels euer. Bass. I beseech thee
With all my heart let me goe from thee quietly,
I will not ought to doe with thee of all men.
The doublers of a Hare, or, in a morning,
Salutes from a splay-footed witch, to drop
Three drops of blood at th' nose iust, and no more,
Croaking of Rauens, or the screech of Owles,
Are not so boading mischiefe as thy crossing
My priuate meditations: shun me, prethe;
And if I cannot loue thee hartily,

I'll loue thee as well as I can. Org. Noble Bassanes
Mistake me not. Bass. Phew, then we shall be troubled;
Thou wert ordain'd my plague, heauen make me thankfull,
And giue me patience too, heauen I beseech thee.

Org. Accept a league of amity; for henceforth,
I vow by my best Genius, in a fillable,
Neuer to speake vexation; I will study
Seruice and friendship with a zealous sorrow
For my past inciuitie towards 'ee.

Bass. Heydey! good words, good words, I must beleene 'em,
And be a Coxcombe for my labor. Org. Vse not
So hard a Language; your mildoubt is causelesse:
For instance; if you promise to put on
A constancy of patience, such a patience
As Chronicle, or history ne're mentioned,
As followes not example, but shall stand
A wonder, and a Theame for imitation,
The first, the Index pointing to a second,
I will acquaint 'ee with an ynmatch'd secret,

Whole

The Broken HEART.

Whose knowledge to your griefes shall set a period.

Bass. Thou canst not (Orgilus) 'tis in the power
Of the gods onely ; yet for satisfaction,
Because I note an earnest in thine vtterance,
Vnforc'd, and naturally free, be resolute
The Virgin Bayes shall not withstand the lightning
With a more carelesse danger, than my constancy
The full of thy relation : could it moue
Distraction in a senselesse marble statue,
It should finde me a rocke : I doe expect now
Some truth of vnheard moment. Org. To your patience
You must adde priuacie, as strong in silence
As mysteries lock'd vp in Iones owne bosoms:

Bass. A skull hid in the earth a treble age,
Shall sooner prate. Org. Lastly, to such direction
As the feuerity of a glorious Action
Deserues to lead your wildome and your iudgement,
You ought to yeeld obedience. Bass. With assurance
Of will and thankfulnesse. Org. With manly courage
Please then to follow me. Bass. Where e're, I feare not.

Exeunt omnes

Scene 2.

Lowd musicke.

Enter Groncas and Hemophil leading Euphranea, Christalla and Philema leading Prophilus, Nearchus supporting Calantha ; Crotolon, and Amelus ; cease lowd Musicke, all make a stand.

Cal. We misse our seruant Ithocles and Orgilus,
On whom attend they ? Crot. My sonne, gracious Princessesse,
Whisper'd some new deuice, to which these Reuels
Should be but vs her : wherein I conceiue
Lord Ithocles and he himselfe are Actors.

Cal. A faire excuse for absence : as for Bassanes,
Delights to him are troublesome ; Armofes
Is with the King. Crot. He is. Cal. On to the dance :
Deare Cozen, hand you the Bride, the Bridegroome must be Intrusted to my Courtship : be not iealous,

Euphranea

The Broken HEART.

Euphranea, I shall scarcely proue a temptresse ;
Fall to our dance.

Musicks.

Nearchus dance with Euphranea, Prophilus with Calantha,
Christalla with Hemophil, Philema with Groncas.

Dance the first change; during which, Enter Armoftes.

Arm. The King your father's dead. ——— in Calantha's eare.

Cal. To the other change. Arm. Is't possible?

Dance againe. Enter Bassanes.

Bass. O Madam!

Penthea, poore Penthea's staru'd. Cal. Beshrew thee,
Lead to the next. Bass. Amazement duls my senses.

Dance againe. Enter Orgilus.

Org. Braue Ithocles is murther'd, murther'd cruelly.

Cal. How dull this musicke sounds? strike vp more sprightly;
Our footings are not actiue like our heart
Which treads the nimbler measure. Org. I am thunder-strooke.

Last change. Cease musicke.

Cal. So, let us breath a while: hath not this motion
Rais'd fresher colour on your cheeks? Near. Sweet Princeesse,
A perfect purity of blood enamels
The beauty of your white. Cal. We all looke cheerfully:
And Cozen, 'tis, me thinks, a rare presumption
In any, who prefers our lawfull pleasures
Before their owne sowre censure, to interrupt
The custome of this Ceremony bluntly.

Near. None dares, Lady.

Cal. Yes, yes; some hollow voyce deliuer'd to me
How that the King was dead. Arm. The King is dead:
That fatall newes was mine; for in mine armes
He breath'd his last, and with his Crowne bequeath'd 'ee
Your mothers wedding Ring, which here I tender.
Cros. Most strange! Cal. Peace crown his ashes: we are queen then.

Near. Long liue Calantha, Sparta's Soueraigne Queene.

Omnes. Long liue the Queene. Cal. What whispered Bassanes?

Bass. That my Penthea, miserable soule,
Was staru'd to death. Cal. Shee's happy; she hath finish'd

A long and painefull progreffe. — A third murmure
 Pierc'd mine vnwilling eares. Org. That Ishocles
 Was murther'd; rather butcher'd, had not brauery
 Of an vndaunted spirit, conquering terror,
 Proclaim'd his last Act triumph ouer ruine.
Arm. How? murther'd? Cal. By whose hand? Org. By mine; this
 Was instrument to my reuenge: the reasons
 Are iust and knowne: quit him of these, and then
 Neuer liu'd Gentleman of greater merit,
 Hope, or abiliment to steere a kingdome.

Crot. Fye Orgilus. Euph. Fye brother. Cal. You haue done it;
Bass. How it was done let him report, the forfeit
 Of whose alleageance to our lawes doth conet
 Rigour of Iustice; but that done it is,
 Mine eyes haue beene an euidence of credit
 Too sure to be conuinc'd: Armostes, rent not
 Thine Arteries with hearing the bare circumstances
 Of these calamities: thou'lt lost a Nephew,
 A Neece, and I a wife: continue man still,
 Make me the patterne of digesting euils,
 Who can out-lieue my mighty ones, not shrinking
 At such a pressure as would sinke a soule
 Into what's most of death, the worst of horrors:
 But I haue seal'd a couenant with sadnesse,
 And enter'd into bonds without condition
 To stand these tempests calmly; marke me, Nobles;
 I doe not shed a teare, not for Penthea;
 Excellent misery! Cal. We begin our reigne
 With a first act of Iustice: thy confession,
 Vnhappy Orgilus, doomes thee a sentence;
 But yet thy fathers, or thy sisters presence
 Shall be excus'd: giue, Crotolon, a blessing
 To thy lost sonne: Enphranea, take a farewell,
 And both be gone. Crot. Confirm me thee, noble sorrow,
 In worthy resolution. Euph. Could my teares speake,
 My griefes were sleight. Org. All gooddesse dwell amongst yee:
 Enioy my sister, Prophilus; my vengeance

The Broken HEART.

Aym'd neuer at thy preiudice. Cal. Now withdraw:

Exeunt Crotolon, Prophilus, & Enphrasus.

Bloody relator of thy staines in blood;
For that thou hast reported him whose fortunes
And life by thee are both at once snatch'd from him,
With honourable mention; make thy choyce
Of what death likes thee best, there's all our bounty.
But to excuse delayes, let me (deare Cozen)
Intreat you and these Lords see execution
Instant before 'ee part. Near. Your will commands vs:

Org. One suit, iust Queene, my last; vouchsafe your clemency,
That by no common hand I be diuided
From this my humble frailty. Cal. To their wisdomes
Who are to be spectators of thine end,
I make the reference: those that are dead,
Are dead; had they not now dy'd, of necessity
They must haue payd the debt they ow'd to nature,
One time or other. — Vse dispatch, my Lords,
Wee'll suddenly prepare our Coronation.

Exeunt Calantha, Philena, Christall.

Arm. 'Tis strange, these Tragedies should neuer touch on
Her female pitty. Bass. She has a masculine spirit:
And wherefore should I pule, and like a girle,
Put finger in the eye: let's be all toughnesse,
Without distinction betwixt sex and sex.

Near. Now Orgilus thy choyce. Org. To bleed to death.

Arm. The Executioner. Org. My selfe, no Surgeon.

I am well skill'd in letting blood: bind fast
This arme, that so the pipes may from their conduits
Conuey a full streame: here's a skillfull Instrument;
Onely I am a beggar to some charity

To speed me in this Execution,
By lending th'other pricke to th' tother arme,
When this is babbling life out. Bass. I am for 'ee!

It most concernes my art, my care, my credit;
Quicke, fillet both this armes. Org. Gramercy friendship,
Such curtesies are reall, which flow cherefully.

With

The Broken HEART.

Without an expectation of requitall.
Reach me a staffe in this hand : if a pronenesse,
Or custome in my nature, from my cradle,
Had beene inclin'd to fierce and eager bloodshed ;
A coward guilt, hid in a coward quaking,
Would haue betray'd fame to ignoble flight,
And vagabond pursuit of dreadfull safety :
But looke vpon my steddinesse, and scorne not
The sicknesse of my fortune, which since Bassanes
Was husband to Penthea, had laine bed-rid :
We trifle time in words : thus I shew cunning
In opening of a veine too full, too liuely.

Arm. Desperate courage. Org. Honourable infamy.

Lens. I tremble at the sight. Gron. Would I were loose.

Bass. It sparkles like a lusty wine new broacht ;
The vessell must be found from which it issues ;
Graspe hard this other stick : I'll be as nimble,
But prethe looke not pale ; haue at 'ee, stretch out
Thine arme with vigor, and vnshooke vertue.
Good ; ô I enuy not a Riuall fitted
To conquer in extremities ; this pastime
Appeares maiesticall : some high tun'd poem
Hereafter shall deliuer to posterity
The writers glory, and his subiects triumph :
How is't man, droope not yet. Org. I feele no palsies :
On a paire royall doe I wait in death ;
My Soueraigne, as his Liegeman ; on my Mistresse,
As a deuoted seruant ; and on Libooles,
As if no braue, yet no vnworthy enemy :
Nor did I vse an engine to intrap
His life, out of a slauish feare to combate
Youth, strength, or cunning, but for that I durst not
Engage the goodnesse of a cause on fortune,
By which his name might haue out-fac'd my vengeance :
An Technic, inspir'd with Phebus fire,
I call to mind thy Augury, 'twas perfect ;
Reuenge proues its owne Executioner.

The Broken HEART.

When feeble man is bending to his mother,
The dust 'a was first fram'd on, thus he totters.

Bass. Life's fountaine is dry'd vp. Org. So falls the Standards
Of my prerogatiue in being a creature:

A mist hangs o're mine eyes; the Sun's bright splendor
Is clouded in an euerlasting shadow:

Welcome thou yce that sit'st about my heart,
No heat can euer thaw thee. Near. Speech hath left him. dyes.

Bass. A' has shooke hands with time: his funerall vrne
Shall be my charge: remoue the bloodlesse bodie;

The Coronation must require attendance:

That past, my few dayes can be but one mourning. Exeunt.

An Altar couered with white:

*Two lights of Virgin wax, during which musicke of Recorders, enter foure bearing libbocks on a heafe, or in a chaire, in a rich robe, and a Crowne on his head; place him on one side of the Altar, after him enter Calantha in a white robe, and crown'd Euphranea;
Philema, Christalla in white, Nearchus, Armosles, Crocton,
Prophilus, Amelus, Bassanes, Lemophil, and Groncas. Calantha goes and kneeles before the Altar, the rest stand off, the women kneeling behind; cease Recorders during her deuotions. Sosa musicke. Calantha and the rest rise doing obeysance to the Altar.*

Cal. Our Orisons are heard, the gods are mercifull:

Now tell me, you whose loyalties payes tribute

To vs your lawfull Soueraigne, how vnskillfull

Your duties or obedience is, to render

Subiection to the Scepter of a Virgin,

Who haue beene euer fortunate in Princes

Of masculine and stirring composition?

A woman has enough to gouerne wisely

Her owne demeanours, passions, and diuisions.

A Nation warlike and inur'd to practice

Of policy and labour, cannot brooke

A feminate authority: we therefore

Command your counsaile, how you may aduise vs

In choosing of a husband whose abilities

Can better guide this kingdome. Near. Royall Lady,
Your law is in your will. Arm. We haue seene tokens
Of constancy too lately to mistrust it.

Crot. Yet if your highnesse settle on a choice
By your owne iudgement both allow'd and lik'd of,
Sparta may grow in power, and proceed
To an increasing height. Cal. Hold you the same minde.

Bass. Alas great mistris, reason is so clouded
With the thicke darkenesse of my infinites woes
That I forecast, nor dangers, hopes, or safety :
Give me some corner of the world to weare out
The remnant of the minutes I must number,
Where I may heare no sounds, but sad complaints
Of Virgins who have lost contracted partners ;
Of husbands howling that their wives were ravish'd
By some untimely fate ; of friends divided
By churlish opposition, or of fathers
Weeping upon their childrens slaughtered carcases ;
Or daughters groaning ore their fathers hearfes,
And I can dwell there, and with these keepe consort
As musicall as theirs : what can you looke for
From an old foolish peevish doting man,
But crasinesse of age ? Cal. Cozen of Argos, Near. Madam ?

Cal. Were I presently
To choose you for my Lord, Ile open freely
What articles I would propose to treat on
Before our marriage. Near. Name them vertuous Lady.

Cal. I would presume you would retaine the royalty
Of Sparta in her owne bounds : then in Argos
Armostes might be Viceroy ; in Messene
Might Crotolon beare sway, and Bassanes —

Bass. I, Queene ? alas ! what I ? Cal. Be Sparta's Marshall ;
The multitudes of high imployments could not
But set a peace to priuate griefes : these Gentlemen,
Gronas and Lemophil, with worthy pensions
Should wait vpon your person in your Chamber :
I would bestow Christalls on Amelus,

The Broken HEART!

Shee'll proue a constant wife, and Philema
Should into Vesta's Temple. Bass. This is a Testament,
It sounds not like conditions on a marriage.

Near. All this should be perform'd, Cal. Lastly, for Prophileus,
He should be (Cozen) solemnly inuested
In all those honors, titles, and preferments
Which his deare friend, and my neglected husband
Too short a time enioy'd. Proph. I am vnworthy
To live in your remembrance. Enph. Excellent Lady!

Near. Madam, what meanes that word neglected husband?

Cal. Forgiue me: now I turne to thee thou shadow
Of my contracted Lord: beare witnesse all,
I put my mother wedding Ring vpon
His finger, 'twas my fathers last bequest:
Thus I new marry him whose wife I am;
Death shall not separate vs: ô my Lords,
I but deceiu'd your eyes with Anticke gesture,
When one newes straight came huddling on another,
Of death, and death, and death, still I danc'd forward,
But it strooke home, and here, and in an instant,
Be such meere women, who with shrieks and out-cries
Can vow a present end to all their sorrowes,
Yet live to vow new pleasures, and out-live them:
They are the silent griefes which cut the hart-strings;
Let me dye smiling. Near. 'Tis a truth too ominous.

Cal. One kisse on these cold lips, my last; cracke, cracke!
Argos now's Sparta's King: command the voyces
Which wait at th' Altar, now to sing the song
I fitted for my end. Near. Sirs, the song.

Song

A Song.

All. Glories, pleasures, pomps, delights, and ease,
Can but please

outward senses, when the mind
Is not vntroubled, or by peace refin'd.

1. Crownes may flourish and decay,
Beauties shine, but fade away.

2. Youth may reuell, yet it must
Lye downe in a bed of dust:

3. Earthly honors flow and wast,
Time alone doth change and last.

All. Sorrowes mingled with contents, prepare
Rest for care;

Loue onely reignes in death: though Art
Can find no comfort for a broken heart.

Arm. Looke to the Queene. Bass. Her heart is broke indeed:
O royall maid, would thou hadst mist this part;

Yet 'twas a braue one: I must weepe to see

Her smile in death. Arm. Wise Tecnicus, thus said he;

When youth is ripe, and age from time doth part,

The liuelesse Trunke shall wed the broken heart:

'Tis here fulfill'd. Near. I am your King. Omnes. Long liue

Nearchus King of Sparta. Near. Her last will

Shall neuer be digrest from; wait in order

Vpon these faithfull louers as becomes vs.

The Counsels of the gods are neuer knowne;

Till men can call th' effects of them their owne:

The Epilogue.

VHere Noble Indgements, and cleare eyes are fix'd
To grace Endeavour, there sits Truth not mix'd
With Ignorance : those censures may command
Beleeefe, which talke not, till they vnderstand.
Let some say This was flat ; Some here the Sceane
Fell from its height ; Another that the Meane
Was ill obseru'd, in such a growing passion
As it transcended either state or fashion :
Some few may cry 'twas pretty, well or so,
But, — and there shrugge in silence : yet we know
Our writers ayme, was in the whole addrest
Well to deserue of All ; but please the Best.
Which granted, by th' allowance of this straine,
The Broken Heart may be piec't vp againe.
