ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

To the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia :

The Directors of the Girard College respectfully present to Councils the

of that Institution, containing a statement of its present condition, and its progress during the past year.

The blessings of health have been signally vouchsafed to the College since the last Annual Report. No death has taken place during that period within its walls of either officer or pupil, nor has any serious disease prevailed, which did not readily yield to the skill and care of those specially entrusted with that department. When the ordinary vicissitudes connected with the lives of children are considered, and especially when it is remembered how unfavorable to health is the condition in life from which a large proportion of its pupils are taken, this unusual manifestation calls for the deepest gratitude to that Divine Power which has thus so signally shielded the home of the orphan.

The progress of the Institution, during the past year, has been peaceful, happy, and in general satisfactory. Nothing has occurred to mar its harmony, to disturb its relations, or prevent the accomplishment of those purposes of charity intended by its generous founder. The full fruition of a scheme of benevolence which not only contemplates the protection, the support, and the education of a poor boy during the tender years of orphanage, but which extends to the period of legal manhood, and to the acquisition of an occupation by which he is to become useful to society as well as to support himself—which must occupy at least eleven, and may be enlarged to fifteen years of protection and care—must, of course, be a question of time. Eleven years have now passed by since the opening of the College in the quiet preparation for this time, when the practical results of the endowment are to be seen and felt in their most extended sense. A few of its pupils have now reached the period of freedom from the apprenticeship which was provided for them, and from this time forth, there is annually to be given to the world a regular body of educated young men—small, it is true, in number at present, but to be largely increased hereafter—who, the Directors trust will, by their practically useful and moral lives, and by the intelligent skill they will bring with them into their respective arts, keep green the memory of Mr. Girard in this community, and prove a living honor to the Institution which has fostered them.

The number of orphans now residing in the College and enrolled upon its catalogue, is three hundred and thirty. Of these, seventy-nine are receiving instruction in the Principal Department; one hundred and one in Primary School No. 1; one hundred and thirty in Primary School No. 2; and twenty in Primary School No. 3. Twenty-five pupils have left during the year, to engage in various occupations; three have been withdrawn by their friends, with consent of the Directors; and two have been dismissed for cause; making the number now in the College thirty less than at the time the last Annual Report was published. The Board have been constrained, for reasons set forth in a more advanced portion of the Report, to leave these vacancies unfilled for the present. A catalogue is appended, which gives the name of each orphan, with a number indicating his relative conduct or scholarship, and the dates of his birth and his entrance into the Institution.

The College originally opened with a class of one hundred children, which number has been since increased to three hundred and sixty, the present complement of the Institution. It is the earnest wish of the Directors that this number might be enlarged from time to time, in proportion as the hitherto unproductive portions of Mr. Girard's estate become developed, and the revenue is increased. This would be in consonance with the strongly expressed wish of the founder, would enable his bounty to be distributed over a much larger field than hitherto, and would greatly diminish, in proportion, the present expense of supporting and educating each orphan.

Many of the important expenditures in an Institution of this character, such as the repairs of buildings, improvement of grounds, and even the cost of light and heat, would not be greatly, if at all enlarged, were its population to be eight hundred instead of four hundred, while the number of officers, care takers and domestics required, would not be proportionably increased with the additional pupils.

This subject is one which the Directors submit with great earnestness to the thought and consideration of Councils.

Several changes have taken place, during the past year, in the corps of officers connected with the Department of Instruction. Three of the female teachers having resigned their offices, the Board, in June last, filled these vacancies by the appointment of Miss Annie Scott to the position of Second Assistant in Primary School No. 1, and Miss Rose Reilly and Miss Emily Brown, to the places of Third Assistant Teachers. At the same time, Miss Mary Lynch, who had for many years acceptably discharged the duties of First Assistant in Primary School No. 2, was promoted to be Principal of Primary No. 1; Miss Susan Statzell was promoted from the position of Second Assistant in Primary No. 1, to that of First Assistant in Primary No. 2; and Miss Keturah Cole was transferred from the office of Third Assistant to be Second Assistant in the same school. The newly appointed teachers were selected, after a careful public examination as to their qualifications in the various branches they are called upon to teach, in which examination all who were applicants for appointment participated at the same time. The entire fairness of this mode of selecting teachers, and the manifest advantage to the Institution from such a course, make it desirable that all vacancies which may occur in the Department of Instruction, shall be hereafter filled in the same manner. On the first of January last, Prof. F. A. Brégy assumed the duties of Instructor of French and Spanish, to which office he had been previously elected, in the place of Prof. Gengembre, resigned. The experience and reputation which Prof. Brégy had previously gained as the teacher of these languages in the High School of the city of Philadelphia, leads the Board to anticipate that this branch of the instruction of the College will assume the importance it deserves, and which the express direction of the founder seemed to indicate.

In connection with this subject, the Board desire to record their sense of the loss which has been sustained in the resignation of Miss Mary H. Turner, who retired from the College in June last. Connected with the Institution from its opening, and during the larger portion of that time discharging the highly important duties of Principal of Primary School, No. 1, the value of her services, and the skill and fidelity with which they were rendered, deserve this permanent expression, and the assurance that in her new sphere of life she carries with her the attachment of those who have been associated with her, the gratitude of her pupils, and the best wishes of the Directors.

An important modification in the relations which the different schools bear to each other, has recently been introduced by the advice, and at the request of the President of the College. The system hitherto in use in the Institution, was based upon the division of the schools into the Principal Department and Primary Schools, Nos. 1 and 2, analogous in their relations and rank to the Primary, Grammar, and High Schools now existing in the public system of education.

The pupils admitted to the College were placed according to the amount of their previous education, in the different classes of the lowest school, or Primary, No. 2; and as they completed the course of instruction in that school, were promoted to Primary, No. 1, and from thence ultimately to the still higher course of the Principal Department. The new plan which has recently gone into operation, contemplates first, the equalizing of the two primary schools, both as to relative rank, and the extent and character of the instruction imparted in each; and, secondly, the establishment of a new or infant department, for such orphans as enter the Institution entirely uneducated, or who, from deficient mental powers, lag behind their better constituted companions. For it will be remembered, that the qualifications for admission into the College are, by the terms of the will, orphanage and destitution,—not mental activity or education. Hence, there have always been pupils in the Institution who are unable to keep pace with the others, and who, while deriving themselves but little benefit from the education provided for them, act as a drag upon the progress of the rest of the class. The practical disadvantage which has been felt thus far from this cause has been so great, that it will be hereafter a subject of serious consideration whether some particular grade of mental ability should not be required as the basis of admission. Mr. Girard sets forth in his will, that he has been moved in the foundation of the College by a desire to provide "a better education, as well as a more comfortable maintenance" for the poor, than "they usually receive from the application of the Public Funds." It is therefore to be not a mere orphan-house, but an Institution of learning also. It is not easy to devise a plan by which this difficulty may be overcome, and which will work satisfactorily, and above all, without injustice. Some modification of the present system of admission might perhaps be introduced, by which the orphans could be received temporarily and on probation, until a correct decision could be had as to the possibility of profitably instructing them, instead of the casual and insufficient examination, which can alone be made now under the present system.

It is the belief of the President of the College that this change in the schools will result beneficially to their interests, first, by removing what has hitherto been a bar to their progress, and, secondly, by establishing a healthy competition between the primary schools, which will be mutually advantageous to each.

The Infant Department has been placed under the charge of Miss Emily Brown; and it has been found desirable, on account of the tender age of the children who are in it, to remove them from the main building to the western out-building, known as No, 5, where a room has been specially fitted up for their instruction.

The number of orphans at present in this department is twenty. As this school has been established but for a few weeks, no statement of the condition of instruction in it is submitted. Should the creation of this department prove to possess the advantages which are anticipated, it would be highly desirable that, as soon as the revenues of the fund will warrant it, a separate building should be erected for its especial use. The occupancy of No. 5 should be regarded as a temporary expedient, which will be attended with many inconveniences.

Primary School, No. 2, contains at the present time one hundred and thirty pupils. It is under the charge of Miss Jane Overn as principal, Miss Susan Statzel as first assistant, Miss Keturah Cole as second assistant, and Miss Rose Reilly as third assistant teachers. At the date of the last Annual Report, the number of orphans registered in this school was one hundred and forty-nine. In November, twenty of the youngest and least advanced of the pupils were transferred to the Juvenile School, and one was received from Primary School, No. 1. The age of the youngest orphan in this school is eight years, that of the eldest fifteen years and three months, and the average age of the school is ten years and three months. The following tabular statement will show the branches at present taught in it, and the average condition of the different classes. It is but justice to these teachers, who have faithfully and zealously discharged their duties, to state that the school average has been much reduced by the changes referred to above, which, while they promise future advantages, have necessarily much disturbed the condition, subjects of instruction, and progress of the scholars.

In the Primary School No. 1, the number of scholars is one hundred and one. Miss Mary Lynch is principal of this school, assisted by Miss Angeline Turner as first assistant, and Miss Annie Scott as second assistant teachers. The age of the youngest pupil in this school is nine years and nine months; the age of the eldest is fifteen years and four months; and the average age of the school is twelve years and six months. There were one hundred and fourteen pupils in this Department at the date of publication of the last Annual Report. During the year ten were promoted to the Principal Department, one was indentured, one removed to Primary School No. 2, and the indentures of one canceled.

The condition of the respective classes, as well as the various branches taught, are exhibited by the following tabular statement. The progress of this school, which has not been subjected to the inconveniences referred to in No. 2, exhibits a gratifying increase in the general average, and is the best evidence of the skill and fidelity with which the teachers have discharged their duties.

In the Principal Department seventy-nine scholars are receiving instruction. Prof. Lemuel Stephens still continues at the head of this school, assisted by Mr. Warren Holden as Instructor of Mathematics, and Mr. Joseph C. Turner as Teacher of English Studies. The instruction in drawing, writing and book-keeping, is under the charge of Prof. George J. Becker, and that of French and Spanish is conducted by Prof. F. A. Brégy. The age of the youngest pupil in this school is twelve years and five months; the age of the oldest is sixteen years and eleven months; and the average age of the school is fourteen years and one and a half months. At the date of the last Annual Report there were ninety scholars in this Department. During the year twenty-eight pupils have left the school, of whom twenty-one had regularly completed the college course of study, and seven left the classes irregularly, without having finished the course. On the first of October a class of ten pupils was received from the Primary School, making the present number of scholars in the Department seventy-nine. Professor Stephens reports the condition and progress of the school to be entirely satisfactory, and the discipline and spirit quite as good as at any former period. The following tabular statement exhibits the studies and averages of the different classes.

The annual distribution of premiums among the pupils was made in the chapel of the College upon the 31st day of December, in the presence of the Directors and several members of Councils. Ninety-five pupils received premiums for good conduct and fair scholarship, seventy-seven for good conduct and improvement in scholarship, thirty-nine for good conduct, forty-eight for scholarship, forty-six for improvement in conduct or in scholarship since last year, and three for improvement since the last examination. Twenty pupils received no premiums. It has been found that this annual distribution of prizes at New Year creates an interesting and beneficial excitement throughout the schools, the good effect of which is perceptible not only on the better portion of the pupils, but also on those who most need a stimulus to improvement.

The system of management and officers of the Household Department remain, with but little change, the same as at the date of the last report. The Directors are renewedly sensible of the great importance to the future happiness and prosperity of the orphans, arising from the influences which are exerted by a well conducted household. The moral and home-training of a lad is of as great value, and will conduce as much to his prosperity and success, as his mental education. It may, perhaps, be difficult to introduce into so large a household the happy individual influences of a well regulated private family, and to surround the child with the same atmosphere of love and harmony which he would find there; but this condition can at least be approximated to, and nothing shall be left undone by the Board to accomplish it, or to contribute to so desirable a result.

The buildings and grounds are reported by the steward to be in excellent condition. The former have recently been put in good repair, while the grounds have been improved by top-dressing and by planting a row of shade trees along the side walk upon the eastern front of the College, and from the gate to the Ridge avenue upon the southern line.

The building which was authorized by Councils to be constructed for the purpose of an hospital or infirmary, has been erected during the past season. As soon as some few remaining details are completed, and the necessary furniture introduced, the building will be ready for occupancy. This building, which is fifty feet square, has been erected at the distance of one hundred feet west from the westernmost out-building, known as No. 5, and on a line with the north end thereof. Everything which the skill and experience, joined to the great personal attention and care, of the architect, (who is a member of the Board,) could suggest, has been done to render this edifice thoroughly adapted to the purposes for which it is specially designed. The main requirements of an hospital, namely, thorough ventilation, and the means to isolate patients in cases of contagious disease, have been especially provided for. Double walls surround the building, the spaces between which act as air ducts, by means of which the impure atmosphere of each ward or room can be rapidly discharged, and its place supplied by fresh and wholesome air, heated or not, as may be desired. In addition, each chamber is made to open upon a large corridor, which extends to the roof, and is there connected with a lantern, forming an air shaft in itself, which secures very thorough ventilation. The building is heated by the most approved form of hot water apparatus placed in fire-proof chambers, and for proper protection in case of fire from other causes, the rooms are counterscaled with mortar in the interstices, and the stairways are all constructed of iron.

A kitchen for the special purpose of this building, an apothecary shop, baths, water closets and other appliances for the comfort and care of the sick, have been also introduced. The structure has been erected by contract, and its entire cost, when ready for use, including the costly but efficient heating apparatus and the necessary furniture, will be about $17,500. It is proposed by the Directors to have the adjacent ground graded and planted with shade trees, the whole to be surrounded by an ornamental fence, so that the sick may have the advantage of exercise in the open air, and at the same time be isolated from the other pupils. The size and arrangements of this Infirmary are sufficient not only to meet the present necessities of the College, but will be adequate for its purposes for very many years to come.

As soon as the Infirmary is occupied, which will be in a few weeks, the rooms hitherto used for the sick in No. 4, will be vacant, and space will thus be afforded for the comfortable accommodation of forty additional pupils. Should it be the pleasure of Councils, that the number of orphans should be thus increased, a small appropriation in addition to the annual estimate for 1859, will be required.

The subject of admission to the benefits of the College has been, during the past year, one of unusual interest and consideration by the Board. It will be remembered that the Will of Stephen Girard declares the Institution to be for the benefit of "poor white male orphan children;" but he did not set forth in that instrument what he intended by the phrase "orphan." In the absence of such a definition by the Testator, the practice has been since the opening of the College, to accept what was believed to be the strict legal interpretation of the word in the State of Pennsylvania, namely, a "fatherless child." While this acceptance has been acquiesced in, yet there has been among the Directors a decided but respectful and kind difference of opinion as to its true interpretation, and the intention of the Testator. In the month of June last, the Board directed its Committee of Admission, who have particular charge of this subject, to give preference hereafter in admission, to children who have lost both parents, provided their condition renders them special objects of consideration. In accordance with these instructions, the Committee in November last, reported the names of twenty-one whole orphans to fill vacancies now existing, whose cases were considered and determined with reference to priority of application, and the Board directed their admission. Of these children, seven were born within, and fourteen without the limits of the old city of Philadelphia. The reception of these children into the College, however, has been prevented by a process from the Supreme Court, granted upon the application of a half orphan, whose mother is still living, which restrained the Directors from admitting them, on the ground that an orphan is a "fatherless" and not solely a "parentless child."

It is highly desirable that this vexed question should be authoritatively and definitely settled, and for this purpose, an appeal has been taken to the Court in Banc, from which it is believed an early decision will be had. Until this decision is made, it is deemed proper and respectful not to fill the vacancies now existing in the College, with either class of applicants.

It is hardly necessary to say, that in thus departing from the previously established custom, the Directors have alone desired to carry out in the most faithful manner, the solemn wishes of the Founder of the College, as they understand them, and to accomplish the greatest good to the most deserving, and that whatever may be the decision of the highest tribunal of the State, its mandates shall not only be faithfully, but cheerfully and kindly carried out.

The number of apprentices who have been placed out to learn an art or trade, was, at the date of the last annual report, one hundred and seventy-seven. Since that period three have died, the indentures of eight have been canceled for satisfactory reasons, and four have been re-bound to other persons. During the year, twenty-five orphans have been provided with situations, and been indentured to various occupations; two are now awaiting the result of the usual probation; five remain in the College, eligible to be bound out; and the term of apprenticeship of eight has expired.

The number of apprentices now registered upon the catalogue as being taught an occupation, is one hundred and eighty-seven, of whom one hundred and twenty-eight were bound to persons residing within the city of Philadelphia, and fifty-nine are with masters residing in other parts of Pennsylvania. Of these orphans, one hundred and twenty-nine were indentured to reside in the families of their masters, and fifty-eight have been bound with permission to live with their friends, or other approved persons.

The following tabular statement exhibits the relative proportion of occupations to which they have been apprenticed :

Appended to this report will be found a catalogue, containing a list of the apprentices, the dates of their birth, and the names, occupations, and places of residence of the masters.

The usual inquiries were again addressed to all masters, at the termination of the year, as to the progress and conduct of their apprentices. A portion of the favorable answers received are given in connection with the report, by which it will be seen that many of our former pupils are fully accomplishing the hopes that were fondly entertained of them. A few instances have occurred of apprentices claiming to be free before the time shown by the records of the College, on the ground of an error in their ages. It may be well to state that such rules have been adopted as to the evidence now required in making application for admission, as will effectually prevent hereafter such occurrences, whether they are the result of error or intention.

The tabular statement annexed to this report will exhibit the appropriations made for the support of the College, and the expenditures of the institution during the year. It is gratifying to be able to report, that while every proper expenditure has been made which was required for the comfortable maintenance and education of the orphans, these sums, by the exercise of a judicious economy, were made amply sufficient for the purpose, and over five thousand dollars of the amounts appropriated were returned unexpended to the fund.

In concluding another annual report, the Directors would again express to Councils their high sense of the responsibilities which have been entrusted to them, and their anxious desire that those responsibilities shall be so discharged as to best conduce to the welfare of the orphan, to the intent of Mr. Girard, and the honor and welfare of the city of Philadelphia. While it is an arduous, it is at the same time a grateful and a pleasant duty to administer so noble a charity ; to aid in supplying the wants of the fatherless and the destitute; to help to rescue and make useful citizens of those, who by the loss of their protectors and the accidents of fortune, would be thrown upon the charities of the world; and to assist in distributing moral and intellectual culture. With such a sense of the trust committed to them, the Directors can promise an earnest effort to administer it in purity and faithfulness, and with an humble hope that the Almighty Being who has thus far so kindly watched over the College, will continue to dispense his blessings to the institution and its inmates.

GIRARD COLLEGE, Feb'y 9th, 1859.

LETTERS.

[From H. S. BOARDMAN, Manufacturer of Britannia Ware, Phila.]

Philadelphia, Feb. 9th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your inquiries respecting our apprentice, Wm. J. McGirr, I can only say he is generally a very good boy—ingenious, anxious to learn, and getting along very well with his trade. He will become of age in September next. He resides with his mother, who watches over his moral conduct, and speaks of him as a dutiful son.

Respectfully yours,

H. S. BOARDMAN,
245 Arch street.

---

[From JAS. N. MARKS, Druggist, Philadelphia.]

West Philadelphia, Jan. 6th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—It affords me great pleasure to answer in a favorable manner, the inquiries you have been pleased to make through your circular of the 21st ult., in relation to Thos. J. Hedges.

He is diligent, civil, faithful and obedient, and has also made such progress as can reasonably be expected of him.

He has never been absent from my employment without leave. When not engaged in business, his hours, I believe, are spent to his credit and improvement.

He resides in my family, and submits to the discipline of my household, keeps good hours, generally attends public worship; is correct in his morals, cleanly in his person, orderly in his habits, and his general behaviour such as I entirely approve.

Yours respectfully,

JAS. N. MARKS.

[From J. KEMP, Surveyor, Hollidaysburg.]

Hollidaysburg, Dec. 31st, 1858.

SIR:—In answer to your circular for reports, I have to say, that Arthur K. Gilbert is a most excellent boy, and every inquiry may be regarded as answered affirmatively and creditably to him. He promises to make a man of no ordinary mark.

The attendance upon church ministration, on the part of Arthur, is quite regular.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH KEMP.

[From JOS. WATERMAN, Plumber, &c., Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, Jan. 7th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—It affords me great pleasure to respond favorably to the interrogatories contained in your annual circular, concerning the boys apprenticed to me by the Directors of the Girard College. The lad, (Wm. A. Harvie,) continues to make rapid progress in his business, and if he continues progressing at the rate he has been, he will soon become complete master of his trade. He has never deserted, nor been absent without leave. His associates are proper, and his whole deportment favorable.

Very respectfully,
JOSEPH WATERMAN,
Plumber and Gas Fitter,
No. 1116 Girard avenue.

[From W. M. REILLY, Druggist, Philadelphia.]

Second and Wharton, Jan. 26, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—John Ward is entirely commendable in every respect, and I again report favorably to all of your questions.

Respectfully yours,
WM. M. REILLY.

[From Col. EWING BROWNFIELD, Merchant, Uniontown.]

Uniontown, Jan. 5th, 1859.

DEAR SIR :—Your letter asking information concerning the progress and behaviour of the two boys apprenticed by the Directors of the Girard College to me, has been duly received.

It affords me great pleasure to be able to make a very favorable report concerning them.

Wm. H. Hinsey has succeeded admirably in acquiring a knowledge of the mercantile business. He is an active and intelligent salesman, a correct and beautiful penman and book-keeper.

He has been honest, faithful and obedient. He has merited and received the esteem and confidence of my customers and the community. He resides in my family, and has always been kind and agreeable, and is a great favorite with my whole household.

The term of his apprenticeship expired on the 23d ult., and he "is a workman that needeth not to be ashamed."

I have concluded a bargain by which he will remain in my family and employment.

Wm. Henry Kilpatrick is very attentive, and is making creditable progress in gaining a knowledge of business. He resides in my family, and having quite a literary taste, spends most of his leisure hours in acquiring useful knowledge.

His morals and companions are unexceptionable.

He attends worship regularly, and is cleanly and correct in his person and habits.

Respectfully, yours, &c.,

EWING BROWNFIELD.

[From W. E. HAMILL, Farmer, Philadelphia.]

DEAR SIR :—Your circular of 25th ult. was duly received.

It affords me pleasure to be able to forward a favorable reply to the several inquiries it contains.

By this time next year, John A. Cope will have attained his majority, and unless present indications prove fallacious, he will complete his apprenticeship with credit to all concerned.

Very truly yours,

WM. E. HAMILL.

[From P. S. DECHERT, Printer, Chambersburg.]

Valley Spirit Office, Chambersburg, Jan. 19, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 25th inst. is received.

John L. Gink has now been with me two years, and is one of the best of boys—an honor to the institution. He applies himself diligently to his occupation, is civil, faithful and obedient, and has made good progress. His hours, when not engaged at work, are generally well spent, and his associates proper companions. He resides in my family, keeps good hours, and attends public worship with the family; is correct in his morals, cleanly in his person, orderly in his habits, and general behaviour such as I approve.

I would take another like him, only at the present time should want one larger. Have you such a one?

Respectfully yours,

P. S. DECHERT.

[From Messrs. BUZBY & Co., Merchants, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, February 5th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your circular, requesting information as to John M. Edgar, a pupil of your Institution, and now nearly one year in our employ, we are gratified to be able to speak in very favorable terms. We have found him diligent, civil, faithful and obedient, and the progress he has made has been very satisfactory. His habits, so far as we have observed, are steady and good, and if he will persevere as he has begun, he cannot fail to make an useful and valuable citizen.

Very truly yours,

BUZBY & CO.

[From WELLS, RIDDLE & Co., Manufacturers of Whips, York Co.]

Wellsville, January 14th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your inquiries of December 25th, we are happy to say that the three boys with us—Joseph Hobson, John Raphun, and William McLaren, are all we could reasonably expect as apprentices. They are respectful and obedient, and are progressing finely in their business.

Respectfully yours,

WELLS, RIDDLE & CO.

[From Messrs. CANBY & BRO., Plumbers, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, 12mo. 27th, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your general inquiries in regard to our two apprentices, Jesse E. Pugh and Aug. J. Goodwin, we may say that they continue to give satisfaction, and we are very much in hopes they will turn out to be good men and practical mechanics.

Very respectfully,

CANBY & BRO.

[From G. RAYMOND, Printer, Hollidaysburg, Pa.]

Whig Office, Hollidaysburg, Pa., Dec. 29th, 1858.

SIR:—I take pleasure in answering your inquiries in relation to Master Edward Albright, the young man in my employ, from Girard College.

To your first inquiry, I have to say, that he has applied himself diligently to his occupation; that he is civil, faithful and obedient. I take pleasure in saying, that he has made as much progress in the business of printing as I could have expected for the time he has been with me.

2d. He has never been out of my employment.

3d. His hours are good, and when at leisure from duties connected with the office, he is employed reading in either the family or office. His associates are of the proper kind—those that will not lead him astray.

4th. He resides in my family; submits cheerfully to the discipline of the household; attends public worship regularly; is correct in his morals, as far as my knowledge extends; cleanly in his person; orderly in his habits, and his general behaviour very good.

I take pleasure in adding, that from his past deportment, he promises to make himself proficient in the art and mystery of printing, and useful as a citizen.

Yours, truly,

GEO. RAYMOND,

Editor of "Whig."

[From W. A. WHITE, Merchant, Clinton County.]

Clinton County Pa., January 1st, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to yours of the 25th ult, I would say of William B. Liddle, that he applies himself to business, is civil faithful and obedient, and has made reasonable progress. He has never deserted my employment, and very seldom absented himself without leave; employs a good part of his leisure hours in reading. His associates are few, but proper companions. He resides in my family and submits willingly to the discipline of the household; keeps good hours, attends public worship and sabbath school, and is, so far as I am aware, correct in his morals and orderly in his habits. His general behaviour is good. I have not confined him very closely to in-door business, his inclination seems to be rather more to out-door occupation, but after a little more experience, in-doors I think will do very well. I am very well satisfied with him.

Yours respectfully,

W. A. WHITE.

[From R. BUIST, Horticulturist, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, January 1st, 1859:

DEAR SIR:—I have yours of the 25th ult. It is with unfeigned pleasure that I make the following reply to your questions of James La Serre. He is quite attentive to his duties, being civil, faithful, and quite obedient. He has never been absent in any shape or form, except by permission.

He resides with his mother, attends public worship, is correct in his morals, cleanly in his person, quite orderly, and of excellent behaviour.

Very truly yours,

R. BUIST.

[From H. BARTON, Farmer, Lancaster County.]

Upper Leacock, Jan'y 3d, 1859.

SIR:—Your letter of inquiry in regard to the lads from your Institution, has been received. In reply to the question concerning William Ebert, I will say, first, he applies himself diligently to his occupation; is civil, faithful and obedient, and has made reasonable progress in his profession.

He has never been absent from my employment, except at the present time, when he is on a visit to his relatives in Philadelphia. His leisure hours are generally spent in reading, he has few associates out of my own family, to whose discipline he submits. He attends public worship, whenever practicable, and is, to the best of my knowledge, correct in his morals. He is not so cleanly in his person, nor so orderly in his habits, as I would desire, but I hope time and experience will correct both these faults; he is, with this exception, all I could wish or expect in a lad.

The last boy, William Sharp, suits me so far—likes his situation and is willing to remain. You will, therefore, please to forward his indentures to me, at your earliest convenience.

Respectfully yours,

H. BARTON.

[From ELI HOLDEN, Watchmaker, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, Jan'y 4th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—I take much pleasure in being able to answer all your inquiries satisfactorily. Benjamin F. Keyser, the third boy from the Institution, is rendering satisfaction.

Samuel H. Jenkins is attentive to business, and making good progress.

John F. Garrot has served out an honorable apprenticeship, and is now pursuing his business in Alabama, where he has a permanent engagement.

Respectfully,

ELI HOLDEN,
708 Market street.

---

[From P. B. WILSON, Merchant, Bellefonte.]

Bellefonte, January 18th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—I received your circular sometime ago, requesting me to give answers in relation to Isaac Mitchell, the boy I have from Girard College. I would say that, in a few words, he has fully come up to my expectations in every respect, and am happy to inform you so—in every interrogatory, favorable.

Respectfully yours,

P. B. WILSON.

[From JOHN M. BROOMALL, Attorney-at-Law, Chester.]

Chester, December 28th, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your questions in relation to William Ward, the apprentice from the Girard College, under my charge, I take pleasure in saying, that he applies himself diligently to his occupation—is civil, faithful and obedient—that he has never been absent from my employment, except with my consent for a day or so, and then very rarely. That his hours are chiefly spent in my office and at his studies, when not in my business. His behaviour and habits are all that I can desire, and I am quite satisfied with the progress he is making in his profession. In fact, I may answer all your questions decidedly in his favor. With his present application to business and his abilities, I cannot doubt that he will do credit to the Institution from which he derived his early education.

Yours truly, &c.,

JNO. M. BROOMALL.

[From SPENCER ROBERTS, Dentist, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, January 10th, 1859.

In answer to the questions furnished me in your circular, I may say, that the boy James M. Gordon is an industrious, civil, faithful and obedient boy; he has progressed as fast as I could expect.

He has never been absent without my permission, and I believe such time is generally spent with his relatives and friends.

He has connected himself with Dr. McDowall's Church, and regularly attends the same, and also the Sabbath School connected with it.

He resides in my family, and his habits and behaviour are very commendable. He appears to be well satisfied with his home, and if he continues his course he will be an ornament to society.

Yours with respect,

SPENCER ROBERTS, Dentist,

No. 424 N. Sixth street.

[From J. PARRY, Farmer, Chester County.]

Leiperville, January 6th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—I duly received your circular, and proceed to answer your questions in their order. Robert Ruddock applies himself to his work diligently; he is obedient and faithful, and has made as much progress as could be reasonably expected in the time.

He has never absented himself from my employment without permission. His evenings are generally spent at home, and his associates are few and such as I approve. He resides in my family, submits to my discipline, keep good hours, and attends church every week. His morals are good, habits orderly, and his behaviour such as I generally approve.

Very respectfully yours,

JACOB PARRY.

[From R. P. SMITH, Map Publisher, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, 12mo. 29th, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to yours of 25th inst., James Gessler, who is apprenticed to me, has been in one of my workshops, not under my immediate supervision, and my report is through the foreman.

I believe him to be faithful, civil and obedient, and likely to make due progress in his trade.

I do not think that he has needlessly absented himself, etc.

He resides with his mother in a distant part of the town, and I do not know as to his companions, etc.

I believe him to be correct in his morals, cleanly in his person, orderly in his habits, and conducting himself now, as I would approve.

Respectfully, your friend,

ROB'T PEARSALL SMITH.

[From CLEMENT JAGGARD, Merchant, Altoona.]

Springfield, Mo., January 18th, 1859.

Your favor of December 25th has been forwarded to me, and as you will expect an answer before my return to Altoona will make it possible to write from home, I would say, that Henry Wonderly has been attentive to his duties, and is in the main civil and obedient, and has made as much progress as I could reasonably expect.

To your second inquiry I can say, that he has never been absent from his duties.

To the third—his hours, when not engaged in business, are to the best of my knowledge, spent in reading and studying good books. His companions are, I am satisfied, proper associates.

To your last general inquiry, it affords me pleasure to say, that he is always respectful when in my house. He sleeps at my store, and is regular and exact in his hours of retiring, and has never been out at an unsuitable hour. He is a regular attendant at the Methodist Sabbath School and Church; he is, I think, correct in his morals, is quite orderly in his habits, and excepting that he is not quite as cleanly in his person as I could desire, I could answer your last inquiry, without a qualification, affirmatively.

Respectfully yours,

CLEMENT JAGGARD.

[From E. WILCOX, Custom House Broker, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, January 7th, 1859.

DEAR SIR :—In reply to the circular from the Directors of the Girard College, I state with much pleasure, that the conduct of Charles Vollum continues to be very satisfactory.

Charles resides with his mother, and so far as I know, has deserved, and no doubt has received, the approbation of his mother on all the matters stated in the last question in the circular.

Yours respectfully,

EDMUND WILCOX.

[From JNO. C. BROWN, Merchant, Parksburgh.]

Chandlers, December 29th, 1858.

DEAR SIR :—In compliance with a communication received yesterday, in the form of a circular, I would proceed to answer the proposed questions, and am happy to be able to answer in the following manner.

George W. Wakefield, who has been apprenticed to me in merchandising, has been faithful and as attentive to business as I at any time require from those in my employ. I have found him civil and obedient, willing to be instructed, and he has made rapid proficiency in business. He has not deserted, nor been absent from my employment at any time, without authority from me to visit his friends in the city.

I have reason to believe that his leisure hours are spent in useful study, and although he does not now reside with me, he has ingratiated himself into the good-will of my family. He is moral in his character, and has connected himself with a bible class in the church of which I am a member, and am happy to say that he has turned his attention to religious matters, and although he has not yet connected himself with any branch of the Christian Church, his purpose is to do so, soon. His general behaviour meets my approbation, and if you have another to suit me as well, I will accept of him immediately, as I propose taking George in my own family, and putting another in his place.

Yours very respectfully,

JNO. C. BROWN.

[From P. W. HOOPES, Farmer, West Chester.]

West Chester, 1st month 5th, 1859.

RESPECTED FRIEND:—I am much pleased in being able to furnish affirmative answers to all inquiries in relation to my apprentice, Joseph W. Oswald, and hope he may, with the blessing of Providence, become a useful man in the community.

Very respectfully,

PIERCE HOOPES.

[From W. STRUTHERS, Marble Mason, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, February 1st, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your circular, I take very great pleasure in assuring you that Henry E. Wrigley is all I could desire. Thanks to your early training, his talent will not be hid; and if he continues to improve as he has done this last year, he will reflect credit on the Institution, profit to me, and will build up a name for himself, which will insure him a useful life.

Very respectfully,

WM. STRUTHERS,
1022 Market street.

[From SAMUEL L. ADDAMS, Farmer, Shippensburg.]

Shippensburg, December 29th, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—Yours of December 25th, was duly received, and it affords me much pleasure to be able to answer all your queries favorably. Ervin Sheets, since he has been in my employ, and particularly for the two last years, his progress and general deportment has been such as to meet my approbation.

Yours, respectfully,

SAM'L L. ADDAMS.

[From ERNST WERNER, Fresco Painter, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, January 20th, 1859.

DEAR SIR:—I reply to you with pleasure, that to all your inquiries David Vetter is again fully entitled to a good and favorable report.

Yours, respectfully,

ERNST WERNER.

[From J. W. TORREY, Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, December 29th, 1858.

SIR:—It gives me great pleasure to commend James H. Windrim, architect's apprentice, for diligent application to his occupation, for civility, faithfulness, and obedience.

As might be expected, his progress is marked in theoretical and practical architecture. He has been absent from work but one day, and that on account of sickness.

Since my last report, the circle of his acquaintance has been but slightly increased; his associates being three worthy young men. He resides in my family, and by example and precept aids in maintaining the discipline of the household. To the rest of your inquiries, I answer yes.

His course of instruction since leaving College has been—one year and nine months with John Notman, Esq., at architectural drawing and study—one year with Thomas Bateman, Esq., of West Chester, builder, at practical carpentry, under whose instruction the jack plane and rip saw have become as playthings to your former school boy, so that his frame has grown to the proportions of vigorous manhood.

At present he is perfecting his practice under Archibald Catnach, Esq., one of our best and most experienced builders; attaining that minute knowledge of workmanship and materials, the want of which has made so many beautiful plans of OFFICE Architects worth but little more than the paper on which they are drawn.

With great respect,

I am truly yours,

J. W. TORREY.

[From JOHN A. WRIGHT, Iron Manufacturer, Lewistown.]

*Freedom Iron Company, }
Lewistown, Mifflin Co., Dec. 29th, 1858. }*

DEAR SIR:—I answer to your queries as to young Wallace, he is diligent, civil, faithful, and obedient; never deserted, or been absent without leave first obtained; keeps good hours, and no improper associations; submits to discipline of my household, and attends public worship; is correct in morals, cleanly in person, orderly in habits, and his behaviour merits my approval.

Yours, &c.,

JOHN A. WRIGHT.

---

[From T. MORRIS PEROT & Co., Philadelphia.]

Philadelphia, December 29th, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your favor of the 25th instant, we can state with pleasure as follows:—"John W. Moore" applies himself diligently to business, is entirely civil, faithful, and obedient; has made good progress; has never been absent, except with permission. We believe his time away from the store is spent profitably, and in good company. He is residing with his mother, and his general character, with the exception of a little more care and attention, is all we could wish.

Yours, truly,

T. MORRIS PEROT & Co.

[From W. W. WILSON, Manufacturer of Jewelry, Pittsburg.]

Pittsburg, December 29th, 1858.

DEAR SIR:—Your favor of 25th instant is received. Charles Raphun is diligent and faithful in the discharge of his duties, and is making a reasonable progress in his trade.

He does not absent himself from business, but is attentive, civil, and obedient.

He employs his leisure hours in reading and studies, in my private library.

His associates are very few, and none of improper character.

He resides in my family, attends church with me, and is correct in deportment, orderly in habits, and generally merits my approval.

Yours, respectfully,

W. W. WILSON.
