9. MONTGOMERY:

Hello, consumers. This is Don Montgomery again your Consumers' Counsel in the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Today we're going to fill that request you made last week - and tell you some more about the plan for sharing America's meat supply between all of us - so that you and I and Bill Jenkins can all have a fairer chance to get our share.

10. FREYMAN:

Who's Bill Jenkins, Hr. Montgomery?

11. MOHTGONERY:

That fellow who runs the filling station down on the corner, Mrs. Freyman. He's a consumer - just like you. I might have said David Freyman - or Sven Lundquist - or Joe Whitkowski. We're all in this war together - all us Americans. And we all must have a chance to get the stuff that helps us fight. Meat's one of the things we need.

12. FREYNAM:

As I remember, Mr. Montgomery - you said once before that this share-the-meat plan doesn't guarantee that all the people in America will get some meat.

13. MONTGONERY:

No, but this plan will help more people to get meat than if we didn't share. That is - people who can afford to buy it.

14. FREY AN:

But what if they can't even find it? Thy, do you know, last week I —

15. MONTGOMERY: Just a minute - before we get too far into this.

I'd like to turn the microphone over to our consumer reporter, Johnny Smith. Johnny ---

16. JOHN: (FADING IN) Here I am. And - what's that you were saying, Mrs. Froyman?

17. FREY AV: One day last week, Johnny, I went to three different stores before I found any bacon.

18. JOHN: Any bacon! Well, now isn't that just too bad!

19. FREYMAN: Well, I know it's short, but ---

20. JOHN: How'd you like to go to the store and find no meat at all?

21. FREYMAN: Oh, things aren't that bad ---

22. JOHN: They are for some people.

23. FREY AN: Tho?

24. JOHN:

Vell, I know a couple - San and Mary Briggs. They both work in a small war factory. Mary used to stay home and keep house and take care of the family, but now - since everybody's needed on the job - she leaves the baby at a nursery school and goes back to punching a time clock.

25. SOUND: SNEAK IN FACTORY SOUNDS.

26. JOHN:

Well, one day recently, when the five o'clock whistle blew, Mary was ---

27. SOUND: WHISTLE, OFF. - MACHINES STOP.

28. MARY:

Thank heaven!

29. JULIA: ~

Geo, Mary, I thought this day would never end.

30. MARY:

My day's just beginning. Having Tr. Tate and his wife over for dinner tonight.

31. JULIA:

(IPPESCED) Tr. Tate...! You mean - the boss?

32. MARY:

Yes. Sam's gotten quite friendly with him - since their boy's in the same company with ours - at Guadalcanal.

33. JULIA:

Gee!

34. MARY:

Wish I weren't so tired ---

35. JULIA:

Gosh, how you can go home now and cook a dinner ---!

36. SAM:

(FADING IN) Mary ---!

37. MARY:

Hello, dear.

38. SAM:

Suppose I go collect the baby ---

39. MARY:

Oh, Sar - would you? Then I can stop at the meat marke t.

40. SIM:

You mean - you even have to shop yet?

- 41. MARY: Ryan's wasn't open when I came by this morning.

  I won't be long ---
- 42. SAT: What are we going to have, honey? It's got to be good, you know.
- 43. WMY: Well, I thought steak, if I can get a nice one.
- 44. S'J': Swell! (FADING) And I'll bring Judy right on home soon as I can get there.
- 45. SOUND: FACTORY SOUNDS UP, FLDE. FIDE IN STORE SOUNDS.

  CLISH REGISTER, OFF.
- 46. TYUI: (FADING III) Evenin', Frs. Priggs.
- 47. MARY: Hello, Mr. Ryan.
- 48. RYAN: Hope you're not comin' for meat, ma'am, 'cause if you are ---
- 49. MARY: Steak. Don't tell me you haven't got any!
- 50. RYAN: Look at this showcase.
- 51. M.RY: Why....!
- 52. PYNY: Just as hare as Nother Hubbard's cupboard.
- 53. MARY: But you must have some meat ---!
- 54. TYM: I sh I did, Ma'am. Wish I did.
- 55. MARY: But what's the matter?

- 56. NYAN: Couldn't get my full order this mornin', and these women around here they just cleaned me out.
- 57. MARY: I wonder if any place else is open.
- 58. RY/N: Don't know of any, Mrs. Briggs except Ashloy's.
- 59. M.W: Haven't got time to go that far... But I must have some meat!
- 60. TYAN: Yell, I'll tell you, ma'am I've sot one little piece o' lamb shoulder here. Set it aside for myself ---
- 61. MARY: Oh, Mr. Ryan I wouldn't think of ---
- 62. TYAN:

  No, I want you to have it. I know you're workin' hard those days at the factory. You need meat worse'n I do.
- 63. May: Well, it isn't just for myself. We've invited friends for dinner.
- 64. RYAN:

  Oh, well this wouldn't hardly be enough for more'n two people unless.... I tell you what you do you can make it into a goulash!

- 65. MAY: Oh, no now, really, I ---
- 66. TYAN: Well, I know goulash ain't steak, but it can be mighty tasty.

- 67. Whi: I like a good goulash. And since I've got to have something ---
- 68. TYAN: Sure I'll wrap this up, and you take it right along.

69. SOUND: VARAPPING PAPER.

- 70. MIX: That's awfully nice of you, Ir. Lyan.
- 71. TAN:

  Tish I could give you something better, but the way some o' these women crowd in here grabbing up all they can lay their hands on... Had to ration the coffee myself a pound to a customer.

- 72. MAY: Good for you.
- 73. TYCH:

  But meat's different. I can't keep track o' who's already had their two-and-a-half pounds a week, and who hasn't. I'll be mighty glad when the Government gets it rationed.... Vell, here you are, majam ---
- 74. M.Y: Thank you, Mr. Tyan.
- 75. NYAM: (TUINING ODD) And I hope your company likes it.
- 76. MAY: I'm sure they will. Goodby.
- 77. RYAN: (FADING) Good day.
- 78. SOUND: CASH REGISTER, FADING. FADE IN KITCHEN SOUNDS.

79. SAM: (FADING IN) Geo, honey, the dinner smells wonderful!

Even Mr. Tate remarked about it. How soon before it's ready?

80. TATE: Any minute now. Just about to put things on the table.

81. Sim: Here - I'll help. Should I take out the steak?

82. MTY: Som - we haven't got any steak.

83. SAF: No? That have we got?

84. MACY: This ---

85. SOUND: COVER TIKEN OFF A STEW PAN.

86. SAN: What's that mess?

87. MARY: Lamb goulash.

88. SAM: Goulash!

89. MARY: It was the only meat I could get.

90. SAM: But honey -! The boss for dinner, and ---!

91. MARY: Te'll just have to make the best of it.... Here put it on the table, will you? I'll bring in the rest.

92. SAM: (GRUPBLING) My gosh! Our one chance to make a good impression, and ---

93. MARY: (SOTTO) Sh! The Tates will hear you. (LOUDER) Well,

I guess everything's ready ......

94. TATE: (OFF. HEARTY TYPE) 'evening, Mrs. Briggs!

95. MARY: Good evening, Mr. Tate - Mrs. Tate.

96. MRS. TATE: (RATHER HAUGHTY, RESERVED) Good evening.

97. MARY: Won't you come into the dining room?

98. MRS. TATE: Thank you. So nice of you to ask us to dinner.

99. SAM: Yell, it's not really much of a dinner ---

It's bound to be - if your wife cooked it. You know, Briggs, it takes a remarkable woman to hold down a job and be a mother and a housewife at the same time. I'm not sure my wife could do it.

101. SAM: Now, Mr. Tate ---!

102. MARY: Of course she could - if she had to.

103. MRS. TATE: I'm not so sure. It's hard enough just running a house these days - with the servant problem what it is. Why, pretty soon I may have to do my own cooking ---!

104. SAM: Yell, as I say - this dinner isn't really a fair sample of Mary's cooking.

105. M.PY: I'm rather ashamed to have to serve you people this . . . well, I call it goulash.

106. TATE: (DELIGHTED) Goulash! great! Why, I haven't had a good goulash in - I don't know when.

107. MARY: We had planned to have steak tonight, but Ryan's meat market was out of everything but this.

108. TATE: That's funny. Virginia said she got some steak there just this morning. Didn't you, dear?

109. MRS. TATE: Two steaks. I thought I'd better take them - while he had them.

110. MAY: That time did you go?

111. TATE:

Oh, first thing in the morning - ten o'clock. You have to these days - in order to get anything. I got a nice roast too. Lucky our refrigerator is large enough ---

112. FARY: Well, that must take care of your five pounds of meat for the whole week.

113. MRS. TATE: Oh, I don't worry about that.

114. TATE: What are you women talking about - "five pounds of meat" ---?

115. IRS. TATE: 'hy, there's some new idea going around that every person ought to be limited to two and a half pounds of moat a week.

 116. TATE: What?

117. MARY: It's a Government request. Until they can get meat rationing going, we're all supposed to limit ourselves.

118. TATE: To just two and a half pounds of meat a week?

119. MARY: Im-hm - and that's supposed to include the meat we eat in restaurants or other people's houses.

120. TATE: Why, Virginia - how come I haven't heard of this?

121. MRS. TATE: Oh, I think it's a lot of nonsense. I read in the papers that America has more neat this year than ever before.

122. MARY: But a good deal of that meat has to go to feed our allies - and our boys at the front.

123. TATE:

Why, sure, Virginia - you wouldn't want Billy to go hungry, would you - just so we can have a couple of steaks?

124. MRS. TATE: But that's ridiculous, William. Billy always ate meat at home anyhow. Thy should the fact that he's now in the Army make any difference?

Because he's probably eating twice as much now - when he car get it. That extra strength of his has got to come from somewhere, and if it's off our dinner table - I say okay.

126. MMS. TATE: You mean to stell me you! be willing to go without meat a couple of evenings every week?

127. TATE: Why, sure - if I have to.

128. MRS. TATM: Now, Milliam Tate - I know you better than that.

129. TATE:

This, maybe we wouldn't exactly have to go without

it. Maybe we could have things like this goulash.

This doesn't take so much neat - does it, Trs.

Briggs?

130. MAR: Not as much as a straight meat dish would.

131. TATE: And it that's mighty good. Why don't we ever have this at home?

132. HRS. TATE: Why, I - I don't know. I just never thought of it.

But my dear - re've all got to think of things like that these days - how to economize and cut down waste.

We in the factory, same as you in the home. They're watching me mighty close, to see I don't get more than my share of steel and copper. Suppose I did grab up more than my share? That would happen?

134. MRC. TAIN: Till, I suppose some other factory wouldn't have snough.

135. TATE:

Smartly. They might even have to shut down. And this the same with next. If you and I didn't have a couple of steals and a roast in our ice box right now, why the Eriggs probably could have gotten some for their simmer tonight. Not that I didn't enjoy this couldsh. It tasted wenderful.

136. SAM:

Have some none, Wr. Tate?

137. TATE:

Don't care if I do, Sar.

130. Sown:

SPOOM OF PLATE - SERVING.

139. TATE:

Her - just a minuto!

140. SAII:

Surely you can eat this ruch ---

141. TATE:

I can all right, but -- Mrs. wriggs -- Midnet you say that the ment we eat in other prophets homes rust be counted in as part of our weekly allowance?

142. MARY:

That's right.

143. TATE:

Tell, I've is the e than my chare already this week. You'll better take that off my plate, Sec.

144. SAM:

Art, now, Mr. Tate ---

145. TATE:

We, I mean that. I'm going to start right new limiting ryself to my share of America's reat supply. I don't want to feel - when I sit down at the table - that I'm eating somebody else's share.

If my boy can risk his life at the Front to help to win this war, I guess I can do my part by giving up a little reat now and then.

(PAUSE)

146. JOHN:

And that's the way we'll have to book at it,

"rs. Froyran - if we want to keep America strong and on the job.

147. FREYWAII:

Each of us limit ourselves to our share and no mare.

148. JOHN:

That's the way - the only fair way to divide up

America's and supply. If the don't ration or share the reat, then the people of the the most time to shop will get it all - just like Mrs. Tate there.

149. FREYMAN:

Well, the was just thoughtless, Johnny. She didn't stop to think what effect her selfishness would have on the lives of other people.

150. JOHN:

That's no excuse. We can't afford to have selfish or thoughtless citizens in vartice. We've all got to consider the good of the whole country - if we want to win this war.

151. F'RY'A":

Women - are sort of at a loss what to serve now, when Shey're asked to cut down on rest.

152. JOHN:

Thy, there are a lot of things they can serve.

153. FRIMMAN:

All right - suppose you give us some suggestions.

154. JOHN:

All right - I will - cost of these come straight from the Bureau of Home Jeonemics. First of all - you can serve fish and poultry - without counting there as part of your two-and-a-half pounds.

155. FRYMAN:

And variety meats too - can't va? That's what they call heart and liver and kidneys and such things these days.

156. JOHN:

Yes, those are also outside the limited ments. You can serve then as often as you want to.

157. FREY AN:

Then, actually, the only meats we have to figure in as part of our weekly two and a half pounds are regular cuts of beef, yeal, pork, and lamb, and canned

158. JOHM:

That's right. And to make that meat supply so as far as possible, you ought to learn how to use all kinds of cuts of meat - and tasty ways to cook left-overs.

159. PRIY'AN:

But that's asking quite a lot of us housewives,

Johnny. How are we over going to learn all that with all we have to do these days?

160. July: I have just the ticket for you - might or, in this brokket ---

161. PREFAR: (WEADING) What for Thrifty Poclet ....

162. JOHY: Just look through it.

163. TRIYMAN: (TIADING. LINE WO IT a ENTUSHASE) "Jotting the good from rest... Chemper cuts... Stone --- With recipes!

164. JOHU: Lots of recipes. Forty-six pages ---

165. FREYHAM: "Quick dishes with left-over ... Liver and other variety neats... Soups and chewders ----"

166. JOHN: Just about over thing you want --- isn't them?

167. FREY AN: I should say so! This is won---! (THIM, TEPLATED)

But loc't have or the lack of the book, Johnny
It says - Price - ton cents."

168. JOHN: That's what it's supposed to sell for, but we're offering this book to you free - if you get your orders in early.

169. FREYMAN: If we just write to the Consumers! Counsel?

127 mg

170. JOUN:

That's it - the Consumers' Counsel - Norethant of Agriculture - inshington, D.C. And for these members of our mudiance the dealt ince that address as well as you do, we'll report it again later in the program - so they can jet it down.

171. FRY M:

Thy, every woman in the country will wont a copy will wont a copy of this! Six needs it - to bely how share Apprica's neet supply.

172. JOHN:

And that's just the our Constant of Jone 1 has arranged to send there becklets to you - because you need them. Isn't that of just, I'r. Tentgeway?

173. POTTGOLERY:

Focuse you need that - and learnes a small hope and them frights - and the und the Tate - and do this thereid - and every other person in this country - if we exact to min this year. Melve, of to make you fit as a fiddle - and in the pink - and on the job. And then we've got to keep you that way. In I the same jobs for any allies and our armed forces.

And now - the part we've of left for as hundred and turnty-of ht million has icons the month actually fighting - that ourt must be divided Sairly. In In land, you know, where next is retioned, and where the supply is such small a per person than it is here, it's divided up so that the marrie and to the temperat jobs - the ones tent reed to rest strungth - . et more most them the folls the have it easier. Per historica, an best store as just heard, Pary triggs, who were to lime a new factory and ron a home has less, would be deally get a live or show of the most than the. Tate the hist stand he a and novementarited herself such. That's the import would work in in Asnd. Since one story the Itid bure in America, and sence Mrs. Tata was soldlish it worked just the other own wound.

A 1 ... . Of course, after while - when we get rationing joing here - re'll all have to divide up herica's meet supply. In the meantime - well, it's all just up to our own conscience. If there's anyone who likes to grab the biggest share for himself like irs. Tate, for example - even when she knows somebody else will have to go without - well, I suppose she'll go right on doing it - war or no war. I have for the sake of the rest of Arenica - that we'll win in spite of her. I hope that before it's ever she'll swing around to help us.

You know how I lost at it? See a to be that each one of us has contact as a real contract with a hundred and twenty—eight million other Americans not in uniform — a contract to give them a fair chance at the available ment supply. Some of these millions of people never have had the and a half pounds of sent a week — never in their lives. And some of them won't be able to buy it now — even if it's available. These are the (remissions we need to help the most — the ones we need to help stronger, so that can be their post in the var job. To be jet to so, they get the atmost they need — if not through neat, then with the other foods which supply the same food values.

That's part of our job in order to win this war.

Your job and my job. The real in this car to pather, friends, and the outcome will depend on every one of us.

174. FRIMEN: You know, Mr. Hontgraphy, I think I can do by part a lot better in this seat sharing plan if I have a copy of that recipe book Johns, markiened - West for Thrifty Fouls.

175. POWTONETY: And I want you so have it to. Just write to us - at the Consumers! Journ 1 - Department of Agriculture - Washington, N.C. and say you want the booklet on rest.

176. FROYUM: Then give our own may a real address and the call letters of our in his station ---

177. Intropings: Static might. And we'll and the secipe be k

170. FRENISH: I'll got on request is to mail tonight. And - T been smooth rangest, Mr. Montgerouse - for meet Saturday's a degree.

179. PONTONEY: What's that?

180. FRITTI: Tell, I wish you'd tell us corrething about cook thes. Which kinds are best. And are we going to be able to get them in spite of the war, and - oh, I have lots of questions I'd like to ask you.

181. INTHOUSEN: All right then - that's are assign ant for wext Saturday - Cosmetics.

Cond. I'll be here!

183. ANHOUNCER:

and meanthile - for your copy of this in a recipe hook - West for Thrifty Falls." Trite to the Consumers! Counsel - Department of A rigulture -Machineton, P.O.
