

CITY VITAL STATISTICS

DEATHS RUNNING AHEAD OF BIRTHS IN GLENDALE THIS YEAR

Vital statistics in Glendale show considerable difference between this year and last. Glendale is healthy climate and the natural death rate of the city is very low; but as all over California the death rate here is vastly increased by the number of people who come in to the city for the purpose of seeking to regain their health. How much of this is to be found in Glendale can be seen in the number of deaths of persons who have been in the State only a few years, sometimes only a few months.

This year the deaths are running far ahead of the births. Last year it was just the opposite. This year statistics show 76 deaths since Jan. 1 and 46 births during the same time. Last year there were 108 births to Jan. 1 and from Aug. 8 to Jan. 1 there were 63 births. Previous to Aug. 8 the city did not make any record of births. The new law which makes it imperative on the city clerk to keep a birth as well as a death record went into force Aug. 8.

Looking over the causes of death it can be seen that the causes of death are varied. Beginning with mitral insufficiency and ringing the changes on endocarditis, dilatation, hardening of the arteries, myocarditis, acute dilatation of the heart, paralysis of the heart, angina pectoris, case after case of heart disease appears.

Kidney disease also is a frequent cause of death. In the forms of nephritis, Bright's disease and diabetes it accounts for a large number of deaths. Bronchial-pneumonia, pulmonary phthisis, and tubercular disease of different kinds take their toll. Cancer of the stomach, cirrhosis of the liver, gangrene of the bowels, apoplexy, a few cases of poisoning, a case or two of suicide by shooting or poisoning, cystitis, cerebral hemorrhage, one case of typhoid-pneumonia and a few scattering rarer diseases seem to make up the list of ills to which flesh is heir in Glendale.

That there has been no outbreak of any of the zymotic diseases or any serious illness of any kind is greatly to the credit of the sanitary head of the city, Dr. Chase, and the other medical men who so ably second his efforts in all parts of the city.

With pure air and an excellent and uncontaminated water supply Glendale can point to a health record of which any city could well be proud. It is not at all likely that there will be any outbreak of the epidemic of infantile paralysis that is at present devastating New York state in California. Even if there should it must be remembered that when the outbreak of poliomyelitis affected Los Angeles about three years ago it did not amount to anything and did not last long. Sunlight and open air are its greatest enemies. Glendale is fortunate in these two respects and has the additional advantage of having one of the purest water supplies in the State.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS RETURN

Eight of the local Camp Fire girls under the chaperonage of their guardian, Mrs. H. A. McPherson, returned last night tired but happy, after a wonderful ten days spent at Sturtevant's camp. The girls hiked down the trail from the camp, which is nine long mountain miles. The girls in the party were Misses Left Siple, Nora Smith, Dorothy Stanton, Myrtle Tummel, Elsie Tyler, Mary Hunt, Vera McPherson and Margaret McPherson. This is the fourth year that the Camp Fire girls have gone camping with Mrs. McPherson as chaperone and they unanimously declare that this was the best time of all. They describe Sturtevant's as a perfectly wonderful camp, way up among the pines, with a brook of pure mountain water. They took many hikes from the camp, one to the observatory on Mt. Wilson where they viewed the heavens at night through the wonderful telescope and returned to camp at sunrise. They invaded the realm of the deer and the fox and enjoyed all the delights of a life close to nature.

GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY

Officers and directors of the Glendale Garden society are asked to attend an executive meeting at 1222 Milford street, on Monday evening, July 24, at 7:30 o'clock. Plans for the annual picnic will be discussed, and earnest consideration will be made of the method of raising funds for next year's Flower Show.

DRAMATIC RECITAL

MISS WEILER GIVES FINE INTERPRETATION OF EDWARD PEUPLE'S PLAY

Those who have seen Edward Peuple's play, "The Prince Chap," given by a full company, will realize how great a task Miss Emma Lee Weiler imposed on herself Friday night, when she undertook to interpret the play, and impersonate the different characters without any assistance but her native genius. That she succeeded in this difficult work is a testimony to her ability, her training and her diligence and her memory. She presented the different characters of Peyton the artist, Claudia, as a child and as a woman; Claudia's mother, Puckers, the London slavey; Jack and Helner, in a most convincing manner and brought the various scenes before the audience in a most realistic manner.

Miss Weiler's variation in tone, her mastery of emotion, and the fact that in no instance did she overdo her work are testimonies to her great dramatic instinct and ability. She was pleasing in early scenes where Claudia is a little child and naive and womanly in the later scenes just before she confesses to her guardian that she loves him.

The entertainment was given in Butler's hall, under the auspices of the First Methodist-Episcopal church. There was a large attendance and the audience was enthusiastic throughout the whole performance. The hall was beautifully decorated in orange and white, with a profusion of pennants and ribbons. The talented reader gave her dramatic interpretation on a stage that was tastefully adorned with hydrangeas, marguerites and ferns.

In the course of the evening Mr. Richard Berry, the well-known pianist, gave a wonderful interpretation of Rachminoff's striking Prelude in C Sharp Minor, for which he was enthusiastically applauded, responding with Elgar's beautiful "Salut d'Amour."

Miss Dorothy Hobbs sang Bohm's "Still As the Night" with great purity of tone and excellent sympathy and understanding, giving as an encore "The Bluebird." She was accompanied by Miss Katherine Hobbs.

Dr. P. O. Lucas sang in a most attractive tenor voice of great power and clarity of tone and with excellent enunciation, Tate's lovely song, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." He responded to his encore with Rogers' "The Star." Mrs. Albert Scholes accompanied him on the piano with the restraint of a true artist.

In every way this was a most enjoyable affair. The audience manifested their appreciation of Miss Weiler's thorough mastery of her presentation by repeated applause and she established herself in their judgment as a reader of a very high quality.

INJURED ARM IN PRESS

While operating a printing press, Saturday, Fred Wilkinson, 221 Central avenue, was severely injured. He had stooped to pick up some paper which had fallen close to the press when he accidentally allowed his loose shirt sleeve to touch one of the cog wheels. The wheel, which was revolving at a considerable rate, drew his left arm into the cogs of the wheel and crushed it very badly. He was attended by Dr. Teel and was taken to the Mission hospital, where the wound was dressed. It is hoped that the arm may be saved.

WRITE NOTICES LEGIBLY

It is the practice of the majority of those who have in charge giving publicity to church and society announcements to hand the notices to the Evening News' office in legible form. However, there are a few who persist in phoning the announcements which places an additional burden on the publisher and also gives an opportunity for errors that would not be possible when a written notice is received at the office. The News is pleased to give space to these announcements and will consider it an additional favor if notices will be furnished in writing instead of by phone.

FELL INTO BOILING WATER

Howard Parker, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Parker, 412 N. Louise street, fell into a kettle of boiling water, Wednesday, and was badly burned about the legs. The burns are fortunately of a superficial character, as he was picked out almost immediately after he fell. He is getting along nicely but will not be able to walk for several weeks.

WEATHER FORECAST—Cloudy along the coast tonight; fair Sunday; southwesterly winds.

BRITISH MAKE PROGRESS AT SOME POINTS

STRENUOUS FIGHTING AT THE LEIPSIK SALIENT—GERMANS THROWN BACK WITH LOSS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, July 22.—Gen. Haig, commander-in-chief of the British forces on the western front, reports today that the fighting has been comparatively slow. The British are consolidating their positions and taking more ground where necessary to them. German attacks have been thrown back with considerable loss especially at the Leipsic salient where they managed in great force to penetrate the trenches. At other points all along the front artillery combats have been going on for 12 hours.

GERMANS ATTACK AT MANY POINTS

FRENCH REPORT TEUTONS SENDING LARGE BODIES OF TROOPS AGAINST CAPTURED POSITIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 22.—German attacks on the positions captured from them on both banks of the Somme were launched this morning. They were thrown back at various points but have returned reinforced and the assault and defense are continuing. Assaults are also being made on the Belgian front at Dixmude but these have also been repelled and the Belgian guns are keeping up a constant bombardment of the German defenses.

WILSON DESIRES TO SIFT MEXICAN TROUBLE

PRESIDENT BELIEVES COMMISSIONERS SHOULD INVESTIGATE INTERESTS THAT ARE FOMENTING WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—President Wilson is anxious that any joint commission appointed by Mexico and the United States should make a thorough investigation of the circumstances that brought on the border raids. It is stated that powerful influences are even now trying to bring on war between the two countries that they may profit. The president is anxious that any commission appointed shall investigate these influences with a view to ascertaining their actions in connection with the attack on Columbus, N. M., and other incidents.

RUSSIAN ATTACK SLACKENING IN NORTH

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, July 22.—Field-Marshal Von Hindenburg reports that the Russian attacks on the Riga sector are growing feebler. He says that Kuropatkin has used up a great many men in assaults that have produced nothing. In reports from the Styria region the Russians are acknowledged to have made some small gains and to have driven the Austrians from several strong positions on the Lipa.

SUBMARINES TO PROTECT DEUTSCHLAND

TEUTONS SAID TO HAVE TWO ARMED SUBMARINES WAITING TO ESCORT MERCHANT UNDER-SEA BOAT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BALTIMORE, July 22.—The people of Baltimore may have some more excitement before the German super-submarine Deutschland gets away from this coast. It is reported that two large German submarines have been seen outside the three-mile limit. These boats may yet encounter British warships as a determined attempt is to be made to destroy the Deutschland, with its cargo of nickel and rubber. It is said that those two submarines conveyed the Bremen, the second super-submarine to sail for the United States. There may be a fight at any moment between these vessels and the British cruisers.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS TAKES JUMP

POLIOMYELITIS ACCOUNTS FOR DEATHS OF THIRTY-NINE CHILDREN IN NEW YORK IN LAST 24 HOURS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, July 22.—There were 39 deaths from poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) during the past 24 hours. This is a big jump. It was thought that the disease was slackening. Towns outside of this city are beginning to show symptoms of panic. It is possible that this outbreak of panic may help to spread the epidemic.

DAMAGE SUITS FOR EASTLAND DISASTER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, July 2.—Echoes of the famous Eastland disaster in which hundreds of people lost their lives, were revived today when suits for loss of life amounting to $1,500,000 were filed in connection with that river tragedy.

WHITE RIBBON PARTY

SUCCESSFUL GATHERING HELD ON LAWN AT D. J. GRAHAM RESIDENCE

The White Ribboners of Glendale held a most successful and largely attended lawn party, at the home of Mrs. David J. Graham, 235 E. Third street, Friday afternoon. The lawn had been prepared with seats and awnings and amid the beautiful roses and orange trees of that shady spot a most successful gathering was held. Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, president of the local W. C. T. U., assisted the hostess in the arrangements and conducted the business of the afternoon with dispatch and interest.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the State Convention of Young People's societies, which is to be held Aug. 24-25. A committee was also appointed to secure conveyances for the annual picnic of the organization, that is to be held at the L. E. Brown ranch, Sycamore canyon, Aug. 4.

Miss Marjorie Garstang, of Los Angeles, county secretary of the Loyal Temperance League, was then introduced by the president. Miss Garstang gave an interesting address to the children and having formed them up in line taught them several temperance "yells" and flag drills. She told them of the work that is being done throughout the State by the Young Campaigners and the Loyal Temperance league and impressed on them how great an opportunity they had to help to make California dry. She informed them that there were 20,000 due-paying members in the Loyal Temperance League and hundreds of associate members. The society was doing excellent work in training up a new generation to be the foe of intemperance and the advocate of prohibition. She said that there were 1500 members of the Loyal Temperance league in Southern California with hundreds of Young Campaigners. The twenty-five children present were enrolled by Miss Garstang for Glendale.

During the absence of Mrs. Steel, local secretary of the Loyal Temperance league, Mrs. Opal Greenwalt and Mrs. Louisa Morton will have charge of the children's work. This branch will meet at the Third Street school grounds, Friday afternoon, July 28, at 3 p. m. It is desired that the club get ready for the demonstration at the Young People's convention.

In the course of the afternoon little Patricia St. Clair gave several readings. Mrs. John A. St. Clair gave a dramatic reading of the powerful temperance poem, "The Return of the Prodigal," and in response to an encore the amusing imitation trill poem, "The Lovers' Mocking Bird."

LADY STEALS FLOWERS

Blue flowers are comparatively rare. Several magnificent heads of the beautiful blue Agapanthus, grown by Mr. J. H. Woods of 1222 Milford street, had just come into blossom when an elderly lady deliberately crossed the lawn to the shrubbery, broke off every head of bloom and carried them away. In other words, she stole. Now Mr. Woods and his wife, Mrs. Nanno Woods, exercise true Irish generosity at all times, and give most bountifully to every one who desires anything they may happen to possess; there is no need to steal anything from the Woods' garden. "Ask, and it shall be given." The lady guilty of this unladylike act was watched by a neighbor who supposed that permission had been granted. Mr. and Mrs. Woods invite the lady in question to ask in future for what she desires, and her arms will be laden with flowers.

WORK ON RAILWAY

In accordance with its determination to improve its Eagle Rock line and make it continuous to Broadway and Brand the new management of the Glendale-Montrose railroad has a gang of twelve men at work opening up the track from Glendale avenue eastward. The work is progressing satisfactorily. The new broad gauge ties are being distributed all along the line and the work of substituting them for the present narrow gauge ties will begin at once.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC EXTENSION

The Pacific Electric extension from Glendale avenue to the Childs' tract has been pushed with praiseworthy diligence. The new power poles are now in all along the line of street involved and most of the old, unsightly poles have been removed. It is expected that the cars will be running out to the tract before long.

FAVORS CONSOLIDATION

CITY ATTORNEY SHAW OF TROPICO SAYS ANNEXATION IS LOGICAL

Tropico Sentinel:

"I am in favor of the consolidation of Tropico and Glendale, and have been ever since I came to this vicinity to live about five years ago, because the existence of two separate city governments seems to me illogical and unnecessary. The territory included in the two cities is one in natural location, character of population and general problems to be dealt with by the city government.

"Tropico is too small to conduct a city government economically. By this I do not mean to criticize any city officials, past or present; but the overhead expenses of carrying on a small city is necessarily larger in proportion to its size than in the case of a large city.

"It has been said by some opponents of the proposed consolidation that Glendale has a large indebtedness, and Tropico has none, and that Glendale wants us to increase its bonding capacity. The present indebtedness of Glendale need not bother us, for if the proposed consolidation carries, property in Tropico will never be taxed to pay one dollar of that indebtedness. Glendale has, however, a debt of $333,000.00 for water and lighting system bonds, which are entirely taken care of from the revenue of the systems, no taxes being levied therefor.

"As to future bonds, Glendale could not issue any without giving us a chance to vote on them, if consolidation carries. It is does not carry, Glendale can still issue $295,000.00 more bonds upon the basis of its present assessed valuation, so it does not appear to need us to increase its bonding capacity.

"Coming to tax rates, they were as follows last year, excluding the bond rates from consideration: Glendale, $1.1075, Tropico, $1.10. The Glendale rate mentioned is what we would have paid if in Glendale, and the difference is so slight as to be unimportant.

"I have said nothing about the schools for the reason that consolidation will have no effect thereon. (Mr. Shaw is a resident of Tropico and is at present serving as city attorney of that city).

DANCING PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker, 227 S. Central avenue, gave a very enjoyable dancing party, Tuesday night, in honor of Hanson Garrett, 1530 Vine street, who is to leave Glendale shortly to attend the University of California at Berkeley. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses and a pleasant time was spent in dancing. Cake and ice cream were served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker and the guest of honor, Hanson Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lehman of Eagle Rock and their daughter Helen Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oxley of Los Angeles, Mrs. H. G. Hosford, Mrs. Dow, Dorothy Dow, Mr. Robert Philp, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Miss Lillian Jennings of Little Rock, Ark.

RAISE IN ASSESSED VALUATION OF PROPERTY

It has been reported by a few property owners in Glendale that there has been a raise in the assessed valuations of property made by the city assessor. At the present writing the Evening News is unable to state the facts as to the authority for increasing the assessed valuation of property in Glendale. The rumor is that it has been increased as much as 20 or 25 per cent in some localities. It has been stated that the minutes of the Board of Trustees do not show that any raise in the assessed valuation of property was ordered by them.

GLENDALE VOLUNTEERS

Quite a number of the Glendale contingent of volunteers went down to Tropico Friday evening to assist at the drill of the section belonging to that center. The men were divided into squads as usual and squad drill was carried on under the supervision of Captain Johnson and his officers. The men are showing already considerable signs of improvement and drill with some precision.

NEW M. E. CHURCH

Elsewhere in this issue there is a notice published by authority of the secretary of the First Methodist Episcopal church Building committee calling for bids to do the excavating for the new church building which is soon to be built at the southeast corner of Third and Kenwood streets.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1916

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO

Those who imagine that the Mexicans are not capable of putting up a strenuous fight are likely to be very much astonished at the capacity of the armies of the southern republic if a contest should ever arise between this country and its southern neighbor. It is credibly stated that reports that are published daily in certain newspapers representing the Mexicans as so pitifully weak that a strong wind would blow them to pieces and so wretchedly armed that a few shots would disperse them, are put forth to influence this country to intervene in Mexico as soon as possible.

Those who have lived in Mexico for a long time, of whom quite a number have recently arrived in this country, are agreed on the point that the Mexicans, whether Carranzistas, Villistas, or Zapatistas, are well armed and plentifully supplied with ammunition. Whoever may go hungry in Mexico the armies must be fed. Whoever may be naked the armies must be clothed. Though a hundred children die every day the armies must have ammunition and the field guns and machine guns must be fed.

There are not lacking those who say that the Mexicans are much better supplied with everything than the United States troops. They are not likely to succumb so easily as might be supposed and up to this point they have shown no intention of backing down. On the contrary it is the American troops that have been compelled in view of the paucity of their numbers to contract their front and fall back on a base much nearer the American border than that they were occupying.

This has not failed to have its influence on the Mexicans. The peons are just ignorant enough to be easily persuaded that the Americans have retired because they are afraid to advance. This has accounted for the flocking to Villa's standard of a great many fighting men. It is easy for Villa to get support under these circumstances. He has successfully eluded the United States troops and has bidden defiance to the Carranzistas. He is a popular hero and will never have any lack of followers when he chooses to begin campaigning in earnest.

It must never be forgotten that a couple of years ago Villa was a hero and was receiving publicity in the United States as if he were a world's leader. His character has not changed since that time and his influence may have waned but it is rising again as the Mexicans see that he has successfully defied the United States and is living at ease and going about in safety as though there were no cause of quarrel between him and Carranza or between him and the United States.

Villa is a power in Mexico that must still be reckoned with. He is an individual of great magnetism. His name is one where-with to conjure and in his name an army can be raised at any moment. Carranza is an estimable man but he is pretty nearly a figurehead. Behind him stands the greater figure of Obregon, who is the life and soul of the Carranzista movement—a gentleman and an educated man, a man of culture, the highest type of man, a soldier, a musician, an artist, an astronomer, a linguist and a master of the literature of Europe. He is one who, if he had leisure, would become the historian of Mexico; meanwhile he fights her battles. These two men, Obregon and Villa, are extremes. The one is the hero of the moneyed circles; the other the champion of the common people.

FISHERIES OF CALIFORNIA

Both the interior and the coastal waters of California abound in food and game fish, offering inducements to the pleasure-seeker and the profit-seeker. The lakes and mountain rivers of the Yosemite are full of trout. There are countless other rivers in the northern part of the state that afford an abundant supply of trout for the followers of Izaak Walton.

One hundred and sixty-five species of coldwater fauna are to be found north of Point Concepcion, and 117 species of semi-tropical fauna found south of Point Concepcion, beyond the reach of the cold currents of the North. Of these 133 varieties are to be found in the San Francisco markets, including oysters and shell fish. Overfishing and destruction of spawning beds through lumbering and placer mining caused such a steady decrease in the supply of salmon in the Sacramento basin that measures had to be taken to restore that estuary to its former condition. Through the work of the Federal and State commissions, however, the rivers have been restocked and now there are more salmon in the Sacramento river than ever before, but they are mostly marketed as fish.

The State maintains seven hatcheries, at one of which, the Sisson hatchery, more trout and salmon fry are hatched than in any other hatchery of the world. There is one hatchery and two egg-collecting stations under Federal supervision.

Alaska is a great source of fish supply. In 1915 there were two hatcheries there in which 48,524,000 salmon fry were hatched and liberated. The Alaska packing industry is a great affair. The value of the pack in 1915 was approximately $7,500,000. Canned salmon and other fisheries products are sent by sea from San Francisco to nearly every country in the world. The shipments of canned salmon for 1915 had a total value of $5,791,513. The Alaska Packers' association report their pack for 1915 as 1,024,040 cases. The California Salmon Packing companies report their pack for 1915 as 1,453,182 cases.

Another important fish industry in California is the sardine business. The California sardine is becoming quite popular in Europe and South America. In 1915 it was valued at $300,000 and reported as amounting to 50,000 cases. A much larger pack is anticipated this year.

Another of the industries connected with fish packing is the tuna industry. According to the Western Canner and Packer the tuna pack for the season 1915 amounted to 350,000 cases, with an approximate value of $1,573,000; this was a slight increase over the pack of 1914. Several tuna packing companies have enlarged their plants and increased their industry. Demand for this fish has out-lived the supply; the packers have practically no stock on hand. The tuna, as every Southern Californian knows, is found off this coast; but unfortunately the supply is limited and uncertain.

According to the latest inside information of the score or two of experts in Mexican affairs who are constantly telling us something wonderful, Carranza is being supplied with gold from Japan, ostensibly from private individuals but really from Carranza. The object of this subsidy is stated to be the obtaining of fishery rights on the coast of Lower California, while behind the rights are the wrongs that are to be perpetrated on the United States of America.

THE CHEERFUL INDIGO BIRD

The indigo bird is a cheerful fellow, nor does he keep his cheerfulness all to himself and his family, but proclaims it to the world and brightens up his immediate surroundings as a sunbeam brightens a cellar. There he sits upon a telegraph wire, just above the dust and the noise of a country road, through the long hot days of June, July and even August, and sings and sings and sings! Many another bird can sing a sweeter song than his, many a bird has a fuller, richer note, but none more cheerful, none so consistently, constantly and invariably chock full of cheer. It is a jingling little song which begins about where he would naturally finish and finishes just when you are expecting some more, and then he adds a note or two extra for good measure. Then he waits a half minute or longer and does it all over again. You can pass beneath him, if you go sharply about your business, and it will not disturb his performance in the least, but if you show too much interest in the little singer he stops, cocks his head at you a second and is away, a flash of blue, scuttling into a convenient thicket—but not the thicket which hides the nest he has been singing about all this time.—Ohio State Journal.

RESOLUTION NO. 919

A RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE ORDERING CERTAIN IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE ON A PORTION OF GLENDALE AVENUE IN SAID CITY.

SECTION 1—That the improvement herein described is required by the public interest and convenience, and the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, State of California, hereby orders the improvement to be made on a portion of Glendale Avenue described in Resolution of Intention Number 917, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a description of said work.

SECTION 2—That the said contemplated work or improvement in the opinion of said Board of Trustees is of more than local or ordinary public benefit, and said Board of Trustees hereby declares that the cost of said work or improvement shall be assessed to a district which is more particularly described in Resolution of Intention Number 917. Bonds will be issued as provided for in said Resolution of Intention Number 917.

SECTION 3—The Glendale Evening News, a daily newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in said City of Glendale, is hereby designated as the newspaper in which this Resolution and notice of said improvement inviting sealed proposals shall be published in the manner and form and by the persons required by law.

SECTION 4—The City Clerk of the City of Glendale is hereby directed to post conspicuously for five days on or near the chamber door of the Board of Trustees, in the manner and form required by law, a notice with Specifications, inviting sealed proposals or bids for doing said work; and said City Clerk is hereby directed to publish for two days in said newspaper hereby designated for that purpose, as aforesaid, in the manner and in the form required by law, a notice of said work inviting sealed proposals or bids for doing said work, and referring to the Specifications posted or on file.

Said notice shall require all proposals or bids offered to be accompanied by a certified check or bond, either, as prescribed by law, and for an amount not less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal. Said City Clerk is also hereby directed to publish this Resolution for two days, in the manner required by law, in said newspaper designated for that purpose, as aforesaid.

Adopted and approved this 20th day of July, 1916. (Seal) J. S. THOMPSON, President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale. Attest: J. C. SHERER, City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, County of Los Angeles, ss. J. C. Sherer, City Clerk of the City of Glendale, do hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly adopted by the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, State of California, and signed by the President of said Board at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 20th day of July, 1916.

AYES—Grist, Jackson, Muhleman, Thompson, Woodberry. NOES—None. ABSENT—None. J. C. SHERER, City Clerk of the City of Glendale. 28212

NOTICE INVITING STREET WORK PROPOSALS

Pursuant to Statute and to Resolution Number 919 of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, California, adopted the 20th day of July, 1916, directing this notice, the undersigned invites and will receive at his office, in the City Hall, No. 575 West Broadway, near Glendale Avenue, up to 7:30 p. m. of Thursday, the 3rd day of August, 1916, sealed proposals or bids for the following improvement to be done according to the specifications and plans adopted for the said work, on file, to-wit:

The work on a portion of Glendale Avenue described in Resolution of Intention Number 917 of the City of Glendale, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a description of said work; specifications, numbers 12 and 23 referred to in said description, are on file in the office of the City Clerk, also posted near the chamber door of the Board of Trustees.

The district to be assessed for the expenses of said work is described in Resolution of Intention Number 917.

Bidders must file with each proposal or bid a check payable to the order of the President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, or a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and two sureties, who shall justify before any officer competent to administer oaths, for double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions.

In bidding use blanks which will be furnished by the City Clerk upon application. Glendale, Cal., 21st day of July, 1916. J. C. SHERER, City Clerk and Ex-officio Clerk of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, California. 28212

JERSEY CLOTH IN DEMAND

Summer sport suits, extra jackets and separate skirts of jersey cloth lead in popularity this season. This material is light yet warm, is soft and pliable, and wears exceptionally well. It comes, too, in charming colors. A pretty tennis costume seen recently showed a skirt of jersey cloth in a deep gold, worn with a blouse of palest yellow batiste. A broad hat of deep yellow with an appliqued poppy in black made an attractive combination. "Tropicloth" is the name of another popular fabric. It is a wool material, of pure mohair, in light weight, and comes in beautiful shades.

ORIGIN OF THE UMBRELLA

The origin of the umbrella is unknown, although it frequently appears in the sculptures of ancient Egypt and Ninevah. Umbrellas were not introduced into England until the seventeenth century, at first being used only by women.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Many subscribers to the Glendale Evening News have formed the habit of having the paper sent to their address while absent from Glendale on a vacation. The management of the Evening News is always pleased to make the change of address and have the paper mailed regularly to subscribers who are visiting at the beaches or elsewhere. Many Glendale people have also formed the habit of having the Tri-City Progress, which is the weekly edition of the Glendale News, mailed regularly to relatives and friends in other states. The subscription to this paper paid in advance is $1 per year or $1.50 when not paid in advance. These papers are devoted to the interests of Glendale and the perusal of either one of them will readily reveal the worth of the paper as a local publication.

Seal Beach begins another of its record breaking weeks next Sunday, at which time there will be a monster bathers' parade both afternoon and night. Following the night parade a carnival will be given with Watson's Royal Scotch Band and Highland dancers as a special attraction. Aside from their concert they give exhibitions of their Highland Flings sword dancing, old time folk dancing and reels. They will give their entertainment on the pier in the cafe and on Seal bay so that all will have the opportunity of seeing this remarkable troupe of entertainers. On July 26th, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County hold their regular monthly business meeting together with a sunset banquet and entertainment. This day has also been set aside as Orange County Day at Seal Beach; a special fireworks program has been arranged with the wonderful scintillator effects. This same program will be followed on Thursday, the 27th, half fare day from Los Angeles, together with extra day fireworks for the "kiddies." The seals in Alamitos Bay are attracting a great deal of attention and most any time during the day can be seen sunning themselves on the sand or playing in the waters of the ocean. The Glendale Band, that made such a hit with their splendid music last Sunday, will be heard again at this popular resort before the summer is over as plans are under way to have a regular Glendale Day at Seal Beach some time in August.

A stoneless prune has been developed. It takes its place with the seedless orange.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

The Epworth League three-cent social held at the schoolhouse Friday evening was a very decided success both from a social and a financial point of view. There was a good crowd present and there were no dull moments during the evening. Many diversions had been provided to keep the guests entertained as well as to attract the pennies from their pockets. Admission to the building was only three cents and each separate attraction cost 3 cents. There was a fishing pond, fortune telling booth, etc. Ice cream and cake were served and a fancy work booth attested to the fact that the ladies of the league had been busy for some time. In one of the rooms a set of questions was posted on the wall and answers were found in articles about the room. In the auditorium an excellent program was given, the Misses Sharp and Mr. J. B. Clark entertaining with some excellent music. Mrs. R. D. Jones gave some readings that were also enjoyed and appreciated. The second part of the program consisted of tableaux. Mrs. C. M. Robinson, president of the league, was very active in arranging and carrying out this social and she was very ably assisted by the members. The League is jubilant over the fact that $20 was cleared from the proceeds of the social.

Miss Mary Robinson Baxter, of Bartlesville, Okla., who has been the house guest of her cousins, Mrs. Daniel Campbell and Mrs. Arthur Campbell of North Glendale, and of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. McPeak of Los Angeles, has been the recipient of much attention during her stay here. A week ago Mrs. Daniel Campbell gave an elaborate musicale in her honor at Ard-Eevin, the Campbell's foothill home. Miss McPeak of Los Angeles recently gave a luncheon for twenty-four in honor of her cousin, while Miss Glissman complimented the visitor with a luncheon for sixteen. Mrs. Charles Stivers of Los Angeles will give an afternoon affair complimenting Miss Baxter next Wednesday; Mrs. W. J. Clendenin of 246 Orange street, Glendale, has issued invitations for a luncheon Friday, the 28th, and Mrs. W. E. Evans of 113 Orange street, Glendale, will entertain for the charming visitor on the afternoon of July 29.

ATTENTION YOUNG PEOPLE

All boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 20 who live in Glendale and do not attend any Sunday School, are especially invited to be present at the First Methodist church, Third street and Dayton Court, July 30 and again August 6 at 9:40. Cut this article out and bring it with you to give to the usher at the door as it will entitle you to a reserved seat. Tue-Thur-Sat-8

EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY

The above heading applies quite aptly to the political career of Gov. Hiram Johnson. Gov. Johnson came before the people some eight years ago as a great political reformer and it may be truthfully said of him that he and his friends called attention to many of the shortcomings of officeholders but as years have rolled on it has become very evident to many of the people that Johnson too is not politically perfect. His hobby horse, the employers' liability proposition, which became a law during his administration, has been ridden at such a dangerous speed that the attention of the people of the state has been called to the injustice of the law and a reaction is setting in that is resulting in Governor Johnson becoming unpopular as a trustworthy leader. It has become very evident that seekers of subordinate state positions are the ones who are favoring the carrying out of Governor Johnson's political aspirations.

NEW THOUGHT FESTIVAL

The New Thought Center of Glendale announces a New Thought Festival for Friday, July 28. This will be an all-day session at La Ramada with services at 11 a. m., 3 and 8 p. m., and a picnic lunch at noon. Good speakers and splendid music are being arranged for, many prominent New Thought people being on the program.

RED CROSS SOCIETY

The Glendale branch of the British Red Cross society of Southern California will meet in the classrooms of St. Mark's Episcopal church Monday, July 23. This will be the regular meeting of the society. The hostess of the day will be Mrs. Georgiana Boll. The usual work will be done for the benefit of the war hospitals.

MANY ANCIENT HARDWOODS PERISH

A bulletin compiled by Frank Hall Knowlton, and published by the Department of the Interior at Washington, indicates that our forests were richer in trees, particularly hardwoods, a great many thousands of years ago than they were at the time of the discovery of America. The evidence is found in the records of geology, where imprints of leaves have been preserved in the rocks. An examination of the lists of leaves thus preserved shows that many species once growing in America are no longer found here.

There are now two species of persimmon in the United States. There were once seventeen species. Fifteen have disappeared. The record goes back to Cretaceous time, some hundreds of thousands of years ago.

There were eighteen species of yellow poplar. Only one remains. Some of the most ancient had leaves shaped much like those of willows, except that the apex was cut off, with the telltale notch which identifies yellow poplar to this day.

There is now a single species of red gum, but twenty-three species once grew in American forests.

There were twenty-three kinds of elm then, and five are here now.

Our single species of sassafras is all that remains of the twenty-five species which once grew on this continent.

We still have three sycamore, one in California, one in Arizona, and one east of the Rocky mountains, but there were once thirty kinds.

There are now four kinds of walnut in this country, but thirty-five kinds grew here in the past.

Our forests are still well supplied with magnolias, there being seven; but thirty-nine species grew in America at former periods.

Cottonwoods, including the aspens and balm of Gilead, still number ten species in the United States, and it is a generous number; but no fewer than eighty-three species left records in the rocks during past ages.

Two fig trees survive, both in Florida; but these are the lone survivors of ninety-nine species which once grew wild in the American woods.

But the most interesting of all is the records of oak. This is now the most abundant hardwood of the United States. It is most abundant in actual amount of wood and also in number of species. There are now 52 in this country, but 126 kinds of oak once grew here.

In most instances the past records are preserved by leaf prints in stone or clay, and the print of a leaf does not tell how large was the tree from which it came. Some of those enumerated above may have been only shrubs or small plants. There is no way of certainly determining that fact when the tree itself was never seen and no part of the trunk has been preserved.

A DIFFERENCE IN SPOONS

There are three cups of hot coffee on a tray, each holding a spoon of different material—one sterling silver, one plated ware, one wooden for kitchen use. We lift the three spoons in succession, and find to our surprise that the handle of one is intensely hot, the second is slightly warmed, and the third is quite cold. "Why is my spoon hot?" comes the instant inquiry. And the reason comes, in scientific terms, "One material is a good conductor of heat, and another is not." "A conductor of heat" merely means that a material allows the heat to pass through it readily, so that when one end is heated, the warmth passes quickly through to the other end. Silver is a good conductor of heat, and that handle is hot almost instantly. The plated spoon is not all silver, but is alloyed with different metals which do not conduct the heat readily, and the plated handle is barely warmed in consequence. But wood does not conduct heat at all, and the wooden handle remains quite cold even though the bowl is immersed in steaming hot coffee.

One might naturally expect wood to be more receptive of heat than iron, but such is not the case. The wood will burn, but the heat will not pass through it. A stick of wood, blazing at one end, can be held in the hand without the least discomfort, for the other end is not even warm. But an iron poker, left in the fire, is soon so hot that the handle cannot be touched.

Whenever we notice an object hot at one end and cold at the other, we may say safely, "This material is not a good conductor of heat." On the other hand, when both ends are hot, we know it is a good conductor.

What seems to grow fairer to me as life goes by is the love and grace and tenderness of it; not its wit, and cleverness, and grandeur of knowledge—grand as knowledge is—but just the laughter of little children, and the friendship of friends, and the cozy talk by the fireside, and the sight of flowers, and the sound of music.—John Richard Green.

MISSIONARY TO THE GOTH

Ulflas, the Christian missionary to the Gothic race, was himself a Goth, born in 311. While quite young he was sent to Constantinople probably as a hostage for his tribe. Christianity was not unknown among his people, as the good tidings had been brought by Christian captives, but it is probable that the conversion of Ulflas took place in Constantinople. Here, too, he learned Greek and Latin, a knowledge indispensable for the work he was to do. When about thirty he was ordained Missionary Bishop and sent back to his countrymen. His success was so great during the next seven years that persecution broke out, and a large body of Christians with Ulflas as leader, crossed the Danube, and founded a colony. Unfortunately, the Church at this time was divided on questions of doctrine, and in addition to the persecution from the pagans, it suffered from internal controversies. Perhaps the greatest work of Ulflas is his version of the Scriptures, which establishes his claim to the title of "Father of Teutonic literature."

THINGS TO FORGET

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget the slander you have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the faultfinding and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and remember only the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeable of life; they will come, but they will grow larger when you remember them; and the constant thought of the acts of meanness, or, worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday; start out with a clean sheet for today, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.—Selected.

GOOD MANNERS NOT SUPERFICIAL

Good manners are a factor in success everywhere. There is hardly a line of business where politeness is not a help, while often it is the only thing which redeems from failure. The doors of good society swing open for the young people who have that air of good breeding which comes when the courtesies of life are practiced habitually. But it should be remembered that good manners are not superficial. The true gentleman has the pleasure and the welfare of others at heart, and the golden rule rather than the latest manual of etiquette is his guide.—Selected.

GIVING A PET SHOW

Did you ever think of giving a pet show at your home? It's lots of fun. Just ask a number of your boy and girl friends to come and bring their pet cats, dogs, rabbits, birds, etc., and they will spend a happy afternoon comparing their pets and talking about them. You might have simple little prizes of pictures for the cleanest, the liveliest, the ones with the nicest disposition and the one who can do the best tricks, etc. Do not let the pets be handled too much, or they will be miserable and get a bad opinion of parties in general, says the Detroit Free Press. Perhaps your mother will let you serve nice cold lemonade to your guests after the show is over.

WATERPROOFING ELEPHANT BUTTE DAM

In order to waterproof the upstream face of the Elephant Butte dam of the United States Reclamation Service in New Mexico, says Engineering Record, a wooden raft was launched in the water of the reservoir formed by the structure and from it a mixture of cement, sand and water was shot onto the face of the dam by means of a gun operated by compressed air. The coating was applied in horizontal strips about ten feet high and the length of the dam at water level. The mortar waterproofing coating was applied in four layers, each about one-quarter inch thick. Numerous samples taken from the face of the dam showed perfect adhesion of the waterproofing coat to the original concrete.

INCUCCATE THRIFT

One of the most important lessons that a child can learn is that money is the representative of labor; a reward for services rendered; compensation for doing something, and not a gift to be had for the asking. The penny that is earned has a vastly different aspect from the one that is solicited. When the child grows up he will find that the world will not hand out money for the asking, but only in return for value.

The growing boy or girl can have no better lesson than to be compelled to return something for their spending money. Even though the service rendered be trivial, such as carrying wood, washing dishes, dusting, etc., the value of the lesson remains. After earning money by labor, it becomes necessary that it should be well spent in order that the benefit, both morally and financially, be lasting. If the child is merely taught to earn in order to spend, he is acquiring spendthrift habits which will enlarge as the years go by and be disastrous. Every parent owes a duty to the child in training it first to earn largely and then to spend wisely.

SIX OF ONE

One of the stories told of the strange methods of the Mexican police officials is the following: A man who was "wanted" in Mexico was photographed in six different positions and the pictures duly circulated among the police departments. The chief of one of these wrote to headquarters a few days after the issue of the set of portraits, reporting as follows: "I have received the portraits of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. Have arrested five of them and the sixth is under observation and will be secured shortly."

TENNIS AT NIGHT

The plan of artificially lighting public tennis courts for night playing has been put in operation in Indianapolis, Indiana. Arrangements have been completed for the wiring of all the tennis courts at Fairmont Park, which is a great public playground.

This gives people an opportunity to play the game who have been deprived of the privileges heretofore because they were compelled to work during the day. It has been noted that the average person who is able to play only at long intervals is inclined to play too long or too hard, and his holiday is likely to be physically harmful rather than beneficial.

By providing opportunities for outdoor sports at night the exercise can be taken more regularly. The authorities at Indianapolis, in common with other cities, are pleased at the revival of interest in amateur sports. It is said that amateur baseball teams have not been so numerous in years, and more persons are playing tennis than ever before.

AN ICE MINE

At Coudersport, Pennsylvania, is a strange ice mine which freezes in summer and thaws in winter. According to the Scientific American, it is a pit forty feet deep and twelve feet in diameter, up which pours a peculiar mist which comes from openings all the way from the top to the bottom.

As soon as warm weather arrives frost appears on the walls of the shaft and soon tiny icicles form rapidly, until the huge icicles, often two feet thick, reach from the top to the bottom of the mine. Geologists can offer no explanation.

COLLEGE LOCOMOTIVE

A small locomotive which runs thirty miles an hour standing still, paradoxical as that may seem, is the retired passenger engine used by the students of an Iowa College, for the experimental demonstrations in the Department of Mechanics. It has been disconnected so that it touches no rails, but merely transmits its power to other machinery.

Machines have been invented with which bulbs like the gladiolus and the lily, and such plants as tomatoes and strawberries, can be set out.

Out-of-door tramping is becoming more and more popular. When not carried to excess, it is one of the most beneficial exercises. Pedestrian clubs are being formed all over the country. Many persons are thus tramping into health and happiness.

LEARN-TO-SWIM WEEK

New York City has instituted a novelty for midsummer known as "Learn to Swim Week." For seven days the public at large and school children were urged to learn as much about swimming as possible—its advisability and necessity. To that end special facilities were provided for instructing applicants, and competent instructors were placed in charge. Lessons for the most part were free.

By this method the New York authorities hope to reduce the number of deaths due to drowning. Last year the figures showed that 458 persons, men, women, and children, perished in the waters of New York because they were unable to swim. How many others narrowly escaped the same death in the same period no one can say. The police records alone recorded the rescue of hundreds. In almost every instance the fatality and the near-fatality might have been averted had the victims been possessed of only enough knowledge of swimming to keep themselves afloat until assistance could reach them.

Features of this novel week were athletic sports and swimming contests, the latter held in the gymnasiums, swimming pools, and floating baths of the schools, parks and other public buildings.

CANADA'S GREAT WORK

When the present chapter of Canadian history comes to be written, not the least important item will mention that in the days toward the close of the year 1915 and the beginning of 1916, when international affairs were in confusion, the Dominion opened a new transcontinental railway, thereby making available to man's uses a further strip of this continent extending from coast to coast. It was a magnificent demonstration of Canada's faith in her future and that of the empire of which she is a part.

In this 3,000-mile-long strip, in itself an empire, there are snow-capped mountains whose peaks are yet untrodden by the foot of man. There are broad rivers whose furthest reaches are unexplored, huge forests untraveled save by a few trappers and Indians, great lakes as yet unnamed, and mineral wealth the extent of which can merely be guessed at. The officials opened the line by sending a record-breaking passenger train from Quebec to Vancouver and return. The train itself was a full quarter of a mile long. It is a proud claim of the new railway that it has already put 600 towns on the Canadian map.

ALWAYS THE SAME

Every one likes a spice of variety, even in character and conduct, but an even temper is a boon to its possessor and a blessing to others.

"It is true that the friend you refer to is not brilliant," said one, replying to the remark of another, "but there is one delightful thing about him. He is always the same. You know where to find him, and how he will meet you. He is not on fire one day and freezing the next, so that you have to take his temperature before you venture to proceed." This is a compliment worth winning and a trait worth cultivating. The fickle, changeable spirit which is never the same, is a constant puzzle and perplexity to friends, and a source of unhappiness to the owner. He is likely to accuse others of his own failing, for in their uncertainty about his attitude, they cannot be "the same" themselves.

Is it possible to cultivate an even temper, a cordial address and an equitable spirit? Yes, by grace divine, it is. One should not spend his time grumbling at the jolts received over the rough road before his door, but should make sturdy effort to even the way. It may be a hard and unpleasant task, but that does not prove it to be impossible, by any means. And as to the idea that because a thing is difficult it is not a duty, away with it! What one ought to do, one can do, and one must.—Selected.

TRIALS MAY BECOME BLESSINGS

Our severest trials are not to be spoken of to others, yet they are never for ourselves alone. When we have a peculiarly trying experience, we ought to ask ourselves how we can improve this for the benefit of somebody else. It ought to make us wiser and more sympathetic in behalf of those who are liable to a similar experience, or who are suffering because of one through which they have passed. Personal disappointments that we must keep to ourselves are not to be kept for ourselves. While saying nothing about them, we ought to feel and speak more tenderly in view of them, and so our trials may become a blessing to others.—Sunday School Times.

Owls are fast disappearing, yet of all birds they should be protected. One pair of owls is said to equal a dozen cats, having been known to bring a mouse to their young every ten or fifteen minutes. These owls caught at least seven or eight thousand mice in one year.

In the West several silver fox farms have been established. These are proving profitable, as the silver fox is becoming scarce.

"CANDLE DAY" AT SAN FERNANDO MISSION

August 6th next will be a great day at the old Mission of San Fernando when the Landmarks Club of Los Angeles, Mr. Chas. F. Lummis president, will hold a celebration of the discovery of this valley in 1769 when Gov. Gaspar de Portola and Father Crespi encamped on the site of the Mission, which was erected in 1797. This party had left Los Angeles the day before, 24 hours after the first white men laid eyes upon the site of the "Angel City."

All who have seen the "Mission Play" are somewhat familiar with the story of the Missions, reaching from San Diego along the coast to Monterey, a day's journey apart, that wonderful chain established by that great civilizer, the Church, binding together the old and the new under the dispensation of the Prince of Peace.

It is quite fitting that Miss Lucretia del Valle, who has become a part of Mr. McGroarty's great play and is a descendant of one of the historic families who figured largely in the early days of the San Fernando valley, should take an active part in this celebration and so we find that she is chairman of the Mission "Candle Day," for the funds that it is desired to raise for the purpose of restoring this valuable old landmark are to be secured by selling candles at one dollar each. Each candle sold will bear the name of the purchaser and on the day of the celebration the candles will all be lighted.

The occasion promises to be one of the most interesting that the valley has witnessed in recent years and the cause deserves the enthusiastic support of our people.

MISSIONARY TO THE FRENCH

St. Martin, the great missionary to ancient France, was born in Pannonia, now a part of the Austrian empire, about 316. His parents were heathen, but he from his childhood was responsive to the appeal of Christianity and at ten he became a catechumen. At fifteen he entered the army, though not voluntarily, and it was while stationed at Amiens that he divided his cloak with a beggar, and later had the dream or vision of Christ which has made the act immortal. Two years later he left the army, and took a humble office in the church. He returned once to his old home, for the purpose of converting his father and mother, and succeeded in bringing his mother to accept Christianity. His piety caused him to be made Bishop of Tours in 371 and until his death, thirty years later, he was untiring in his efforts to purge France of heathenism.

USES OF COMPRESSED AIR

Some of the latest uses to which compressed air is being put are decidedly ingenious. Among these are keeping cutting tools cool while working, blowing dirt and dust from machinery, removing lint from textile mills, raising the nap on heavy fabric, finishing silk ribbons, polishing metal, and even mixing paints and varnishes.

One inventor has constructed a device for making a room fly-proof, by a curtain of rushing air at the entrance, through which no winged thing can pass.

PERISCOPES FOR RAILWAYS

No longer is a periscope used exclusively on submarines, for the instrument invented for war is now being utilized by the Santa Fe Railway system to save human life.

In the case of street grade crossings, where it is especially difficult for even the watchman to see approaching trains, because of curves or other obstructions, periscopes fifteen to twenty feet in length are used to watch the trains, under such circumstances. The periscopes extend over the roofs of buildings that obstruct the view.

SAND FOR AUTOS

An automobile specialist of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, has applied for patent rights on a device to prevent or minimize skidding. The appliance utilizes the principle of strewing sand on smooth surfaces to make a rough path for wheels. Like locomotives and street cars motor cars are to be equipped with sand boxes, from which pipes extend to a position just in front of the rear wheel. A button in reach of the driver opens a valve and sand is strewn on the ground in the path of the driving wheels.

POWER FROM OCEAN CURRENT

Efforts are now being made to utilize the swift tidal currents in the Bay of Fundy in the production of power. This body of water separates the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. It is a body of water some forty miles in width, split by a narrow neck of land into two almost equal legs or bays. In this great body of water the tides of the ocean rise to a greater height than in any other place in the world.

In some places there are very swift currents exceeding the flow of the swiftest river, and it is a utilization of these currents for power that is now being planned in the maritime provinces of Canada.

The loon is, perhaps, the most alert of aquatic birds. When hunted, it dives and swims a great distance under the water before coming to the surface. Its nest is built at the very edge of the shore so it and the baby loons can be pushed into the water in times of danger.
