SNOW AND ICE IN NORTHERN DISTRICTS

Chill Blast Comes; Warning Sent Ranchers; Mantle of White Over Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 15.—The Pacific northwest was in the grip of real winter weather today. Snow and ice and falling temperatures were reported in many areas, according to the United States district weather office here.

Winter came in with a chill blast and plenty of snow in Portland, the mercury dropping 13 degrees in two hours this morning. At 5 a. m. the thermometer read 47 degrees and at 7 a. m. it had dropped to 34 degrees.

Continued fall of snow was expected here and across Oregon and Washington areas were also in line for stormy weather. Warning was sent out to ranchers to protect their stock.

At Kamloops, B. C., a foot of snow and zero weather was reported. A high barometer in Alaska, which slowly moved down the coast is the cause of the present storm, the weather office said.

Heavy, wet snow continued to fall all morning in Portland and many parts of the northwest and the weather bureau predicted the storm might reach damaging proportions.

Power Wires Break
Telephone lines from Portland to St. Helens and Astoria went out for a time but were restored.

Broken limbs of trees and telephone poles caused twenty breaks in high voltage and power lines of two Portland electric companies.

A temperature of 24 degrees was the forecast here tonight which was expected to turn the slushy streets into ice rinks.

Moffet, chief of the bureau of aeronautics in the navy department.

This giant of the air which the admiral told the committee the navy department has been figuring on, he estimated could make forty trips annually between New York and London and earn approximately a profit of $4,856,000.

ENGLAND MAY TAKE HAND IN REVOLT

Latest Moroccan Outbreak Causes Foreign Office Much Concern

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The foreign office today denied that British interests were threatened as yet by the new revolt of Rif tribesmen near Tangier. England and France have entered into no agreement regarding concerted action there, the foreign office announced.

However, it was believed Great Britain later may have to take a hand in the Moroccan situation, as a result of the latest outbreak at Alcazar Kiber.

British rights in Tangier may be endangered by this latest aggression of the tribesmen, it was thought.

The British press is playing up the new revolt as well as the heavy cost of the Spanish withdrawal from most of Morocco.

The Spanish embassy today said the revolts of the Anjeria tribes were due to propaganda from the outside which started in Egypt, spread to Tunis and now had affected 10,000 Anjeria Arabs.

Tribesmen Take Spanish Posts In Morocco

ANGIER, Morocco, Dec. 15.—Freed from the danger of a flank attack by the Spanish retreat, the Anjeria tribesmen today were in possession of the Spanish post at Alcazar Kiber. Several Spanish were taken prisoners in the attack and held as hostages against the possibility of reprisal attacks by Spanish airplanes.

Other posts have fallen, it was reported here, and more are being taken by the tribesmen.

The move has exposed twenty miles of the Tetuan-Ceuta railway, endangering the supply service to Tetuan. Steamers from Gibraltar have ceased calling at the port of Tetuan, which is under rebel fire.

Military Governors Agree To Step Down When Force Threatened

PEKING, Dec. 15.—The Peking military expedition against Chi Hsieh Yuan, military governor of Kiangsu province has been temporarily held up, due to word received here today that he has complied with the central government's mandate and resigned from his office, it was announced at the foreign office this afternoon.

However, it was added, the expedition may yet have work ahead of it, for Peking has also ordered Sun Chuan Chuan Fang, Tuchun of Chekiang, adjacent to Kiangsu, to resign his post, and, unless Sun obeys promptly, force will be used to oust him. Tuchun Sun is the last Chihli party militarist now in office.

Decision to put McCoy on the stand came, it was said, at the insistence of the defendant, who demanded that he give his version of Mrs. Mors' death. McCoy will testify that Mrs. Mors killed herself, his attorneys said.

The state is expected to finish its case tomorrow, permitting the defense to open its case Wednesday.

D. H. Smith May Be Chosen Member of City Council

D. H. SMITH, manager of the Brand Boulevard branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank, whose friends are urging him to permit his name to be presented to the City Council to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Councilman Asa Hall. Mr. Smith has the matter under consideration.

D. H. Smith, manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank, recently elected president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and prominent in the city's development, may be appointed to the City Council to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Councilman Asa Hall.

A committee of citizens, including members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the Glendale Realty board and representatives of other organizations, visited Mr. Smith today to secure his consent to the presentation of his name to the City Council, which has the power, under the city charter, to fill the vacancy.

It is understood that Mr. Smith at first declined to permit his name to come before the council for consideration. However, the committee and other citizens continued to urge that he agree to serve if tendered the appointment by the council and, it is stated, Mr. Smith finally declared that he would take the matter under consideration.

Well Informed Citizen
Friends of Mr. Smith, and they are many in Glendale, declare that he would make an ideal city councillor, due to his financial experience, his knowledge of Glendale, his service in connection with various big projects, his civic information gained while vice-president and now president of the Chamber of Commerce and, in brief, because of his standing as a citizen generally.

When seen by a reporter for The Evening News, Mr. Smith declared that he was undecided as to his course of action relative to permitting his name to come before the council, saying that he had no definite statement to make until later.

Council Holds Session
The City Council held a special meeting this morning to pass a resolution of sympathy in the death of Councilman Asa Hall, a copy of which appears elsewhere in today's Glendale Evening News and to make arrangements to adopt a resolution.

Lawrence M. Hight.

SEEK INCREASE TO MEET PAY BOOST FOR EMPLOYEES

Second, Third Class Matter, Parcels Post, Registered Letters Face Raise

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—An administration drive for $68,000,000 increase in postal rates to pay for wage advances to postoffice employees will be started within ten days by the opening of public hearings, it was announced today by Senator Sterling, Republican, of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate postoffice committee.

The new rate measure, Sterling said, will be drafted to conform with the recommendations of Postmaster General New, which called for sharp increases on second and third-class matter, the parcels post, parcel insurance, money orders, registered letters, special deliveries and C. O. D. service. The bulk of the raise, however, would fall upon newspapers, magazines and other periodicals.

Sterling planned to confer today with other administration leaders to map out a program of procedure. The rate measure either will be introduced separately or it will be linked with the postal salary bill, which President Coolidge vetoed last spring. The salary bill meanwhile remains before the Senate, with its authors seeking to postpone a vote to override the veto until after the rate measure has been considered.

Opposition to the proposed rate increases was being organized by the American Newspaper Publishers' association which condemned the new schedule as certain to "absolutely prohibit the circulation of newspapers in the mail."

The association objected particularly to a 100 per cent rate increase urged by New on second class mail in the first and second zones. This rate would affect every newspaper, because of the distribution of country circulation in the mails.

The schedule also found critics in the Senate, where some condemned the administration "for attempting to defeat the pay bill by linking it to a revenue measure."

This action was taken by the council to enable all city employees who so desire to attend the funeral exercises, which will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Glendale Presbyterian church, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor, officiating. Interment will be held at the Hollywood cemetery, Santa Monica boulevard, Los Angeles. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Kiefer & Eyrick.

Gilluly and C. E. Kimlin—were present. Virgil B. Stone, city manager, and A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, were also present.

The matter of appointing a successor to fill Mr. Hall's unexpired term was not taken up. The council will meet again on Thursday.

New Postal Rate Schedule To Be Offered In Senate Tomorrow, Is Announced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The administration's new postal rate schedule, intended to raise $68,000,000 from advanced charges on second, third and fourth class mail service, will be linked to the vetoed postal salary bill and introduced as a joint measure in the Senate tomorrow, it was announced this afternoon by Senator Sterling, Republican, of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate postoffice committee.

This action will be taken on the recommendation of Postmaster-General New, Sterling said, in an effort to meet President Coolidge's objections to salary increases for postal employees. The move, however, was opposed by Democratic senators favoring the pay increases, who denounced it as a scheme to defeat the pay bill.

SCIENTISTS HEAR GUY MOORE TALK

Speaker at Occult Church Sees Marked Change In World Belief

Guy Moore, speaker in the Occult Science of Christ Church, 113 South Orange street, spoke last night on "The New Tablet of the Law." He said:

"A careful observer of the religious situation in the world today cannot but see that a marked change is becoming evident in connection with what were, formerly, fundamental religious teachings and beliefs. Perhaps the most profound of these is the slow transformation of the conception of God. Several generations ago, the conception that the word 'God' brought to the minds of most people was that of a wrathful Being who was ready, perhaps eager, to punish and condemn all who transgressed the law that He was supposed to have imposed upon us for all time. That illogical and repellent conception is, happily, gradually being replaced by the idea that God is good, that He is not a wrathful God to be feared, but that He is a loving one to be loved. The logical deduction from this new realization is that belief that one now finds prevalent in many a Church, that there is no Hell.

Second Great Idea
"A second great idea that is now being realized in many religious organizations is the belief that God is not only good, but that He dwells within us. The old conception of a deity whose abode was above and beyond our world, in some heaven, and for whom the earth served as a 'footstool', is practically gone. More and more, it seems, thinking people of the churches are feeling it necessary to believe that there is no division between the nature of God and that of man, and, to put it briefly, that in some mysterious fashion we are God ourselves.

"Now these two great ideas, that God is good and that He dwells within every living thing, are two of those new and progressive religious conceptions that really are constituting a New Tablet of the Law which is superseding and rendering obsolete the old Mosaic Tablet which, I feel, we had long outgrown. In view of these new and more potent realizations that are now becoming ours, let us go forward to the accomplishment of the future without fear of God or man, basing our actions and beliefs upon this New and more splendid Tablet of the Law, in order that we may carry forth God's Plan among men."

CHURCH GOING IS PASTOR'S SERMON

Dr. Winnard Cites Seven Given By Merchant As Argument

"Reasons for Attending Church Services" was the sermon given by Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor of the Tropic Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He had previously sent letters to all the members asking that they mail him their personal reasons for attending church on Sundays. Most of the reasons, he said, may be summed up in the testimony of one business man who gave the following reasons:

- "I attend church because I am a Christian."
- "Because of my love for my Savior."
- "Because I want to learn all I can and be of some service in His work."
- "Because I try to keep the Sabbath day holy."
- "Because I love to worship my Savior Jesus Christ."
- "Because I am sure it is my duty and if I stay away my conscience hurts."
- "Because of my love for my pastor."

At the evening service Dr. Winnard discussed the reasons why some people do not attend church services. "Aside from three who were kept away by sickness," he said, "there was not a single satisfactory reason given for not being present at the regular services of the church."

SENTIMENT PLUS RELIGION SERMON

Rev. Calderwood Talks On Place Heart And Mind Have In Church

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church took as his subject "Sentiment in Religion" for his sermon yesterday morning. He said:

"God has given us intelligence and we should use what we have. Reason is a vital part of religious activity. 'Come now let us reason together.' A great effort of Jesus' life was to get men to think straight. Paul was always reasoning with men. We are asked to love the Lord our God with our minds. But we are more than logic machines. A geometry or an algebra may be perfectly true but they do not compass all of life. There are great regions of our personalities that reason never touches.

"Religion without sentiment is a life without loves. The finer things in our lives cannot be described or demonstrated. We know oftentimes that our whole beings are transformed by sentiments. There is the lock of hair, the photograph, the old book, the letter, the child's shoe, the building, the alma mater; little things and big things made invaluable by sentiment."

Hearts Plus Mind
"Man does not live by common sense alone. Reason may point to some judgment as definite as the north star but just as remote from our loves and experiences. It is the sentiment that we weave around a thing that warms our hearts. We are hearts as well as heads and 'out of the heart are the issues of life.' As a man thinketh in his heart, 'so is he.' We are to love God with our hearts as well as our minds.

"God loves us. Jesus loved us and for love and sentiment gave his life. People have done mighty and heroic things for sentiment. Our hearts must not be cold and calculating. Sometimes it must be unreasonable, and because of it we must do unreasonable things. There is no reason in sacrifice, but there is beautiful sentiment."

"It is worth while to keep alive and nourish our better sentiments. Let the old song stir you once again, read out of the old book again, sit in the old pew again, read Mother's letter again, think of a loving and dying Saviour again, love the old loves again and life is made richer and sweeter."

PSALMS TAKEN AS LUTHERAN TALK

Rev. Kringel Says These Are 'Prayer Book Of Bible'

"Thy Word is a Light Unto My Path" was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. Henry O. Kringel at the services at the Zion Lutheran church, corner of North Isabel street and East California avenue. He said:

"Thy Word is a Light Unto My Path." This text is taken from the Psalms. The Psalms are the prayer book of the Bible. That Christian is to be called who has not learned to pray, to sing, to weep and to rejoice with David, Asaph, and others in the Psalms. Here in the Psalms the child of God can always find expression for the joy and the cries of his heart. There is a holy fire in them that can fill us with glowing joy in the midst of this cold world.

"The Psalm from which our passage has been taken, contains 176 verses. It is just as deep and broad as it is long. This 119th Psalm is a hymn on the Word of God in 176 variations, one subject, but not one repetition, one theme, but not one idle word. The entire Psalm is evidence that the Psalmist spoke the truth when, in the 11th verse, he declares of the word of God: 'Thy Testimonies have I taken as an heritage forever; for they are the rejoicing of my heart.'

Longest of Psalms
"Some may fall asleep while reading this—the longest of the Psalms, but whoever can say of the Word of God that it is the rejoicing of his heart, he will read and re-read this very Psalm with increasing delight. In matters pertaining to this earthly life only, God has generally left man to learn and advance by means of his senses and experience.

"For instance, God has never told us how to treat certain bodily diseases. By painstaking study and careful experience man has advanced in his knowledge of diseases and their cure. And so it is also in political science, commerce, shipping, railroading and hundreds of other things that pertain to this earthly life. There is one question, however, which God has not left for man to answer. God has settled it beyond a doubt. It is this 'What must I do to be saved?'

"This question concerns eternity, judgment, heaven and hell. God has answered this question in His Word, the Bible. God is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to the repentance of their sins and unto faith in the only begotten Son, Jesus Christ, for in Him we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace."

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, Dec. 15.—"A Night In Hawaii" ended a perfect day in Verdugo City on Saturday when the entire Fowler building, which has just been completed at a cost in excess of $1,000, was formally opened to the public of La Crescenta valley. During the day the stores and market on the ground floor were opened in fitting style. Cobbs' grocery had four demonstrators of various foods to present their wares to the housewife, the Hodensack meat market also had a demonstrator present.

Flowers in the market made the occasion a festive one in appearance, baskets expressing the compliments of the donors being noticed from the Verdugo City Drug store, Mrs. A. Bert and Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Fowler. The firms having space in the new market are: A. T. Cobb Grocery Co., Tomerline's vegetable stand, Hodensack meat market and Mrs. Margery Tomerline's bakery.

At 8:30 o'clock the auditorium upstairs was thrown open. The auditorium was decorated in hangings of soft orange tones with curtains of cream-colored silk marquiset which blend harmoniously with the blue-toned walls.

As a complete surprise to Harry Fowler, president of Verdugo City Association of Commerce, his fellow members sent a huge floral horse shoe. Mr. Fowler expressed his appreciation of the thoughtful gifts of the association members. Other large pieces were from the May & Hellman Co. of Glendale, who constructed the building; California Glass & Paint Co., Coker & Taylor, Glendale, and numerous baskets from personal friends.

As each person came up the stairs they were presented with a lei. Three native Hawaiians played during the program, singing during some of the numbers. Refreshments consisting of cake, sandwiches and punch were served by Arthur Sitch. The novelty feature was the prize waltz, the contestants having to dance the old-fashioned waltz minus any of the modern steps. The first prize, a large box of bon bons, went to Mrs. A. Gorham of Arcadia; the second prize of the same sort was awarded to Mrs. Sherman Young of Montrose, while the bottle of pickles went to Mrs. F. Fleming and E. Reiser of Verdugo City.

Members of the committee on arrangements were F. Fleming, George Hansen, E. Busch and Tom Benito, Jr., G. Bowlius and E. Reiser.

During the event the La Crescenta valley fire engine was brought from retirement in Los Angeles and placed on exhibition on the sidewalk with Fire Chief Duncan in full uniform in charge.

CAMP FOLLOWERS TEXT OF SERMON

Rev. Thomas Tells Grand View Church-Goers To Join Army

Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of the Grand View Community church, took as his theme, "Camp Followers, or Soldiers" for his sermon yesterday morning. He said:

"There are two kinds of people in every congregation, and too often the same two kinds in the membership of the church. The proper conception of the church is that the army of the Lord, fighting the battles of light against darkness, good against evil, joy against sorrow, enlightenment against ignorance, hope against despair, life against death. The church militant is the grandest army that ever marched beneath the sun.

In the challenge of its conflicts is found the great moral equivalent of war. Its wars are fought to redeem and to build, never to destroy mankind. But in every war of history there have been the soldiers who fought and put all they had and all they were into the cause, and there have also been the camp followers who lived off the rations, the pay, the sacrifices and the victories of the soldiers and got all they could out of the cause.

"Every general and every true soldier has contempt for them while they remain camp followers. But when they get the vision and turn into soldiers, ah, that is different. The great problem of the church today is to turn all its camp followers and spiritual profiteers into good soldiers."

"Are you a camp follower or a soldier? Identify yourself. The true marks of a soldier are these: loyalty to the cause, that brings sacrificial obedience; willingness to endure hardship and willingness to co-operate, which brings victory. Identify yourself, so that your friends and your Lord can identify you."

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Dec. 15.—Tomorrow afternoon the children of the Montrose school will present a program for parents at the Montrose Community church, as the school auditorium has not the seating capacity needed for the occasion. Practically all of the grades are participating in the affair, which will be in the nature of a Christmas play, with the added feature of music by the La Crescenta school orchestra. Rumors are also abroad that Santa Claus himself is to be present, which will add to the gaiety of the afternoon's entertainment. Every parent and child in the valley is invited. The program will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The children of Mrs. Eichbauer's private school gave a very enjoyable entertainment and program, full of the Christmas theme at the home of Mrs. T. C. Potts. The home was gayly decorated with holiday greens and brilliant trimmings of silver and red. The main feature of the program was the play given by all the pupils, entitled "The Doll's Wish." Helen Potts, who is a pupil of Miss Marie Walsh in expression, recited "Kittie's Baby" and, as an encore, "Dear Old Santa Claus." "Songs of Yuletide," also folk dances in keeping with the season, were given by the school. Miss Margaret Eichbauer played "Mimmet in G Minor," also "Poem in G Major," while her sister, Elizabeth, gave "Allegro" by Mozart, and "In the Hayfield," by Mokreys.

Children who enjoyed the afternoon were Jean Nielson, Alan Spilher Jr., Hope Harper, Margaret and Elizabeth Eichbauer, Philip Van Deusen, Douglas Porteous, Katherine Brooke, Robert Clark and Helen Potts.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Dec. 15.—Petitions for incorporation have been circulated among the electors of Sunland and a hearing before the county supervisors will be held at soon as the preliminary details are completed. More than the required number of signatures were secured and the circulators of the petitions report that there is apparently little opposition to the proposition to incorporate Sunland as a city of the sixth class. The boundary line on the east is a line east of Palm avenue, and, if adopted, would place five acres of Tunjuna school board property in the city of Sunland. A first grade department for Tunjuna children is now being conducted on the property. The water line is the Los Angeles city limit line, across the Tunjuna wash.

Tomorrow, December 16, there will be a Christmas entertainment at the Sunland school house, with a Christmas tree for the children. A series of Christmas tableaux will be given and a chorus will sing carols.

Twenty conversions are the result of the revival meetings that have been held at the Baptist church by Rev. W. E. Smith, assisted by Mrs. H. E. Hemmiston and C. E. Bodenhouse. Six baptisms were made Sunday evening.

A substantial sum was added to the Christmas fund for the Sunland children at a silver tea and musicale recently given by the Parent-Teacher association.

INJUNCTION ON ASSESSMENT IS PLAN

Property Owners Prepare to Take Legal Steps in Canyon Road Fight

Two important steps preparatory to filing injunction proceedings against the city of Glendale in the controversy over the Sycamore Canyon road assessment were taken Saturday night and today when a protest, declaring the assessment to be illegal was drawn up and signed by seventy-six property owners and plans for hiring an attorney and conducting a preliminary survey of the legal status of the case were laid.

The protest against the assessment district was drawn up by Attorney Kemper Cambell, one of the property owners involved in the controversy. He presented it at a mass meeting of citizens at the Glendale Intermediate school Saturday night and it was signed by all those present. Attorney Cambell explained that this is the first step towards seeking an injunction and is required by law in the event any further legal action is to be taken. It will be presented to the City Council on or before December 18.

The assessment committee of the Southeast Glendale Improvement association met last night and completed plans for collecting sufficient funds to hire an attorney to conduct a preliminary investigation of the assessment proceedings.

To Cover District This investigation was suggested by Mr. Cambell, who declared three classes of property owners were affected by the assessment. He said that if it were found that the actual assessment proceedings were conducted in a legal valid manner, there would remain only a question as to the fairness of the distribution of the assessment, and that this angle would affect only a minority number of the property owners. The survey, it is believed, will determine these points definitely.

It is the plan of the committee to cover the entire assessment district, seeking funds to assist in the preliminary legal work. Canvassing of the district was commenced today. R. Belcher, chairman, announced that, either Kemper Cambell or some one he would suggest would be the attorney re-

Passes Away

MRS. BARONECE HELENE STEWART, who died at her home in Glendale today.

Mrs. Baronece Helene Stewart, wife of James T. Stewart, owner of the C. & S. cafeteria, died this morning, Monday, December 15, 1924, at the family home, 346 West Doran street. She had been in poor health for several months. News of her death will bring sadness to a wide circle of friends in Glendale and in Missouri and Michigan, where the family formerly lived.

Baronece Helene Bettis was born January 14, 1894, in St. Joseph, Missouri. There she grew to girlhood and attended school. For a time she lived with her family in Michigan. Later they again resided in St. Joseph. In both states they have hosts of friends. It was in St. Joseph that the Stewarts were married in 1914. They have resided in Glendale since December 5, 1915. Just a year ago in September Mr. and Mrs. Stewart enjoyed a motor trip of over 1500 miles to visit relatives and friends in Missouri. The trip, while filled with happy renewals of associations and friendships, was very strenuous for Mrs. Stewart, whose health became weaker after her return home.

Surviving the deceased are her husband, James T. Stewart; a little daughter, Betty Jane; her mother, Mrs. W. J. Stocker of 600

 At the meeting Saturday night Mr. Cambell asked that he not be considered but that some other attorney be hired to handle the fight.

TEACHERS SET FOR ANNUAL INSTITUTE

While 7,500 Pupils Take Holiday 316 Mentors Will Convene

While the 7500 pupils enrolled in the twelve elementary and two high schools of this city are enjoying Christmas vacation that began with the closing of school last Friday and continues until Monday, December 29, their 316 teachers are preparing to spend Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week at the Teachers' institute, which opened today in Los Angeles.

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, and George U. Moyle, Glendale Union High school principal, will be among those in attendance. The state law requires all teachers in the public school system to put in five days each year at institute. As the Glendale teachers already have credit for one day in October and one day in November of the present year, it is pointed out, three more days is the maximum they are required to attend although many will put in additional time.

General Sessions General sessions for elementary and kindergarten teachers opened today at the Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, and for secondary school teachers the sessions opened today at the Trinity auditorium. The principal morning speaker at the Philharmonic auditorium was Alfred M. Hitchcock, supervisor of English for the Hartford, Conn., elementary schools. Professor Wallace Miller of the University of Missouri also spoke. At the Trinity auditorium, the principal morning address was given by Professor H. H. Newman of the University of Chicago. Arthur D. Dean, former instructor at the Columbia university, also spoke.

A number of Glendale Union High school teachers will attend the lectures tomorrow at the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Mr. Moyle said. Professor Robert A. Millikan, world-famous scientist, and winner of the 1923 Nobel prize for physics, will discuss the atom. Ernest C. Watson, associate professor of physics at Caltek, will also speak.

Give Yourself With Gift

The true Yuletide spirit is not expressed unless the thought of the giver goes with the Christmas present, as one poet summarizes it: "The gift without the giver is bare." Little things, made easily, will carry the holiday spirit better than expensive articles, bought with only a sense of duty.

By MRS. MARY MORTON
 Written for The Evening News.

Giving yourself with your gift. That's the secret of successful Christmas giving. Who wants a gift that cost no one any time or thought; that is picked at random out of a collection of things with the remark: "Here, send this to so and so. I've got to send her something and this will suit as well as anything." Probably followed by the comment, "That probably cost as much as the thing she sent me last year."

Doesn't it make you want to flee to the uttermost parts of the earth to get away from such mental approach to the jolliest and kindest holiday season of the whole year? If we had our way no one would be cold, hungry or forgotten at Christmas time. What do we want most, all of us? Is it material things? Isn't it just to be remembered.

A cheery letter, a card with a pretty verse and a friend's name scribbled thereon, are much, much better than an expensive gift that had no loving thought to prompt its sending. There are many things you can make yourself—pretty and useful things—sewing or pasting bits of yourself into the present. For you cannot work on something for a person and not think a good deal about the recipient and your thoughts are apt to be very kind.

The craze for making things from sealing wax and crepe paper has by no means died down. Necklaces, pendants, hand-decorated candles, vases and lamps are among the many pretty, inexpensive things you may make. Pretty baskets that are so effective for holding the new dried and painted flowers and grasses are easily made by weaving twisted

COLLEGE CLUB GIVES XMAS PROGRAM

Women Discuss Cultural Requirements Predicted For Entrance

Discussion of possible cultural entrance requirements by California universities was heard Saturday afternoon at the meeting of Glendale College Women's club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Action was deferred until more thorough knowledge of the subject is had, it was said. Mrs. Frank W. Parr, club president, presided.

In keeping with the holiday spirit were the Christmas decorations. Red carnations and poinsettias and greenery carried out the Christmas color scheme, red and green. In the tea room, Miss Clara Lauderdale, chairman, had arranged a table with Christmas flowers and red candles.

Christmas Singing Christmas carols of various countries were sung by the Madrigal club trio, Mesdames Frank Arnold, Charles A. Parker and A. M. Draper. Mrs. Perry Rogers was accompanist. They sang the American carol "Sleep Holy Babe" (Matthews); "Bohemian," "Come All Ye Shepherds" (Riedel); English, "Christmas Carol" (Shelley); French, "Holly and the Berry."

Featuring the program was a review reading by Mrs. Max Lynn Green of the play "Mary the Third" by Crothers. The play deals with problems of the home and young people. Mrs. Green made a plea to mothers for a better understanding of young people.

NAZARENES IN DEDICATION SERVICES

New First Church Built On Acacia Avenue Is Thrown Open

The new First Church of the Nazarenes at 417 East Acacia avenue was dedicated with special services yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. James I. Hill of Pasadena, district church superintendent, officiated, and gave the dedicatory address. A large congregation of Glendale Nazarenes and their friends attended. Special musical numbers, including a vocal duet by Rev. H. A. Scheide-man, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Edna Valjean of Los Angeles, and a solo by Mrs. Loretta Hull, also of Los Angeles, featured the service. Vernon Wilson, church pianist, accompanied. About $1200 for improvements on the church were raised through voluntary subscriptions at the service.

The afternoon service was followed by a special meeting of the Young People's society, at which a young people's choir was organized under the direction of Doty L. Anderson. Vernon Wilcox is president of the society.

Special observances throughout the day marked the dedication. In the morning, at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. Hill spoke on "Resisting the Holy Ghost." At the regular night service, Rev. Fred St. Clair, evangelist, preached on "Striving With the Holy Spirit." A quartet composed of Rev. and Mrs. Scheide-man, W. C. Blake and Mrs. Valjean rendered "Constantly Abiding." There were a solo by Mrs. Hull and numbers by the newly-organized young people's choir.

Men's Club to Elect Officers on Tuesday

Officers will be elected by the Men's club of the First Congregational church at the dinner meeting Tuesday night at the church. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. H. C. Wilcox, retiring president, will preside over a business hour.

ARE YOU SATISFIED

With a Guarantee of 8%, With the Possibility of Making 100% Upon the Soundest Real Estate Investments in Glendale

I ran an ad in Monday's News where I advertised eight lots for $5000.00 each, $2500.00 down and $2500.00 in three years, guaranteeing that, if in one year you have not sold these lots at a profit, I would buy them back, paying you 8% on your investment plus all expenses for escrows and taxes that you may have paid out. This guarantee gives you the advantage of taking the profit upon the increase which there is bound to be upon these lots. They are now $1000.00 underpriced, and on December 20th I will raise the price of these lots to $6000.00, and they will never again be a cent less. I still have five of these lots left.

How long are you going to read about the great increase in value in San Fernando Road Industrial property without taking advantage of it?

According to your leading Realtors in this city, I paid six times the value of this property when I bought it two years ago. The lots in this district cost me less than $1100.00 each, and today they are selling from $6000.00 to $15,000.00. Now, when are you going to share in the profits?

You know that I advertised in 1922 and 1923, offering to buy back any property that I had sold, paying 33 1/3 per cent annually on the investment. When I sold this property I did not guarantee to buy it back, but I told the investors that they could make at least 10 per cent on their investment. I am more convinced in my mind now than ever that the future opportunities for profit are greater than those of the past.

I am constructing buildings as fast as I can raise the money to build them. Every time I erect a building I increase the value of this property. I know the value of industrial property in this territory, and if you will take time to investigate or have any Realtor in this city investigate this for you, you will find that I am giving you a price of from $1000.00 to $3500.00 cheaper than any lot in the Industrial District.

Buy this property through your own broker. There isn't a Real Estate broker in Glendale but what knows that my statements are facts. I have to have co-operation to build this district up, and I am getting it.

As I was told a year ago by a leading banker, it is the hardest thing in the world to put money in people's pockets. Now, take $2500.00 and purchase one of these lots before December 20th and make yourself a profit of not less than $2500.00 in less than three years.

Remember, I sell these with a guarantee to give you your money back in one year, if you are not satisfied, plus 8% on every dollar you have invested.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

WE MUST RESPECT—
Our children's rights if they ever respect ours.
Our neighbors if we are to have standing in the community.

TRY GLENDALE FIRST

When the Chamber of Commerce inaugurated a campaign to "Try Glendale First" and to "Trade in Glendale," it set in motion machinery that will develop a Greater Glendale.

Glendale people should employ Glendale workmen and patronize Glendale merchants. This is the only course to pursue even from a selfish standpoint.

When a man applies for a position, when he meets a prospect hoping to make a sale or close a deal of some kind, or when he goes out socially he tries to make the best appearance possible.

The same thing is true of a city. Its business section is its outward appearance, for it is the part the visitor sees first. And if it is not attractive and up-to-date the city may not get a further hearing.

So it is important to every resident of Glendale, especially every property owner, that our business centers be attractive and our business men be alert, for it is this that attracts new people, and a growing population means rising property values.

There is sufficient building and other development work being done in Glendale to maintain an army of workers, and it is essential that Glendale should employ her own people. Other communities look after their own, and we must do the same.

FEDERAL BUILDING

The Pomona Chamber of Commerce has sent to Congressman Walter F. Lineberger at Washington a petition for a federal building for Pomona to house the postoffice and other federal agencies of the district.

PROHIBITION'S RECORD

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, in a speech recently named some of the achievements of prohibition. They include a reduction in the mortality rate, a lowering of industrial accidents, the elimination of a large per cent of drink-caused poverty.

LA FOLLETTE MADE US THINK

A very prominent lawyer said the other day, "My observation leads me to believe that on the whole it was a good thing for the country that Senator La Follette was a candidate for president on the platform which he dictated."

TWO MORE JONAHS!

Are Modern Women Losing Their Beauty?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Jean Gabriel Doumergue, a French painter, says that women were fifty per cent more beautiful fifty years ago than they are now.

American artists seem to think differently. M. Doumergue says that women nowadays are too pampered, take too little exercise, and eat and drink too much.

Mr. Howard Chandler Christy, on the contrary, the famous American artist and acknowledged judge of feminine beauty, said that he had never heard of M. Doumergue, but if the gentleman had recently been at Atlantic City and seen the Beauty Show he would have changed his mind.

Mr. Christy, however, agreed with M. Doumergue in one respect, that is, that drinking is one of the worst enemies of feminine beauty. "Aside from the moral question," he said, "it will ruin any girl's good looks. Drinking leaves a strained expression. It will destroy the most beautiful face ever made."

Harrison Fisher, the noted magazine cover artist, also disagrees with M. Doumergue. While he says that he cannot speak with authority of the ladies of fifty years ago, as he was not painting then, judging by the paintings he has seen he would judge that the young girls of today are more beautiful than their grandmothers.

This, if for no other reason, is due to the modern sensible dress. Freedom of limb movement and the athletics of today tend to make women beautiful.

Beauty is a matter of what you are accustomed to. Most of us would think that the women we have to do with are more beautiful than the women of other times and other places.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

If you have been following this series of presentations of the proverbs of the various peoples, you probably have noticed that, while there is a distinct flavor to the maxims of each people, they all have a common foundation. After all there is only one wisdom, as was discovered long ago.

Note the similarity in spirit of the proverbs of India, to which this column is devoted today, to those of other races. (This is Number 5 of the series.)

Time flies, words last. Who will praise the bridegroom? His own mother.

Anything that blossoms must also decay. A small leak will sink a big ship.

Depend on others and you will always repent. An open enemy is better than a secret friend.

When there is a surfeit of words there is a famine of intelligence. Two quarrel and a third profits by it.

Personal experience is better to follow than the scriptures. There are as many characters as there are individuals.

The crow was killed by the storm; he died by my curse, says the owl. One does not know the worth of teeth while they last.

Where the corpse is, there will the vulture be. All are ready to be partners in a man's success, none in his misfortunes.

One woman is wealth to you, another is ruination. The tongue is a sword; the tongue kills and the tongue saves.

Where there are no trees the castor-oil plant is looked upon as a big tree. If taken to excess even nectar is a poison.

Famine destroys when it ceases. If one only knows the matter it is secret, if two it is public.

The handle of the ax is the enemy of its family. Marry the daughter on knowing the mother.

Smiles

A young woman just home from college was very enthusiastic about the wonderful benefits of physical culture. She said to her father:

"Just watch this exercise. To develop the arms, I grasp the rod by one end and moved it slowly from right to left."

"Well, well," exclaimed her father. "What science won't discover next. If that rod had straw at the other end, you'd be sweeping."

He was wandering around aimlessly in a department store when the floorwalker approached him.

"Well, she's a sort of limousine, with heavy tread, and usually runs in low."

ONLY A COINCIDENCE "Yes," said the dark man, "my name is Isaac Abraham Jacob Cohen, but I don't like it. It cost me $20 the other day."

"How was that?" "It was this way. I was in court, and the judge said to me, 'What is your name?' and I said 'Isaac Abraham Jacob Cohen,' and he said, 'Are you a Jew?' and I said, 'Do be a fool,' and he said, '$20 fine.'"

An egg weighing eleven ounces, believed to be the largest on record, was laid recently by an Oregon hen.

Horoscope

Although Venus is in benefic aspect, it is read as an unfortunate rule by astrologers, for Saturn, Mars and Jupiter are all adverse.

There is a fairly favorable sign for all who sell merchandise that women covet and it should be rather a lucky day for shopping.

Under this direction of the stars women may be averse for romance and may be inclined to take the initiative in the sending of notes or messages, so men may well be on their guard.

The seers declare that more than ever before girls will demand from men many attentions that will be costly and will involve serious consequences.

It is significant that under this direction of the stars, which influences women toward the pursuit of romance, sinister planets threaten.

There is a sign that certainly indicates the most widespread discontent among workers and persons of moderate means.

Unless the seers are wrong the new year is to be a time that is of supreme significance in world history.

Errors, misunderstandings, deceptions and disappointments appear to be forecast for today, so it is wise to be very circumspect in social as well as business affairs.

The aspect of the Moon today is said to be likely to produce vivid and even symbolical dreams. Persons who have amassed great wealth or have climbed high in governmental affairs should be on their guard, for they will be the targets of thoughts of extraordinary malice as popular discontent is fomented by secret influences.

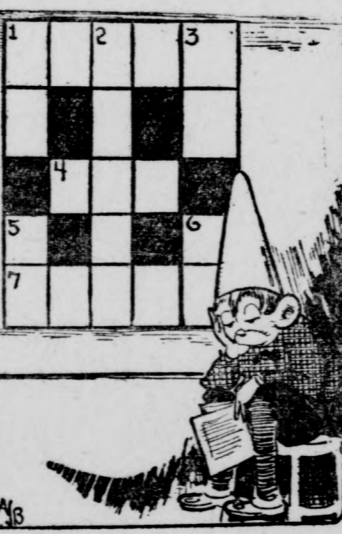

Jupiter is in an aspect that is held to retard a return to great prosperity, although business will constantly improve in many lines of activity.

Theaters and places of amusement should have a winter of much prosperity, for there will be a great craving for entertainment that banishes bad care.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect much profit in business during the coming year. They should guard against domestic dissensions. Young girls probably will have many suitors.

Children born on this day may be rather too care-free for their own good. These subjects of Sagittarius usually crave travel and change; they put amusement before work, but generally succeed in making their lives successful as well as pleasant.

Today's Poem

MY PAL Some one is looking for me, And I am looking for him. He probably never saw me, I probably never saw him.

But whether in glory of morning Or at tranquil end of day, Each is secretly longing For the other to come his way.

Perchance we have passed in the night time, When beneath the starlight dim, His face was not plain to me, And mine was not plain to him.

Perhaps we have passed in the mid day, When glamour and worldly whim Blinded his eyes to me, And dulled my own to him.

In every face that I pass, As through the crowd I go, I am always looking for eyes, That my own shall surely know.

Never shall life's duller hours Deprive me the hope to find Him in whose heart there is dwelling A hope of a similar kind.

I know some day I shall meet him; I know not where nor when, But I shall be silently seeking From this day until then. —Bayne Beauchamp.

Glendale has been enjoying recently some rare volcanic pictures. The peak north direct on Brand boulevard has been especially favored with cloud-caps, seemingly a part of the mountain, yet shaping up pyramidal much resembling Actna or Vesuvius, and at the apex smoke seemed to emit as from a crater. Omitting the flame of the actual eruptions the Glendale type is just as beautiful, while it lasts, and it is not at all dangerous.

Owners of property abutting the thirty feet strip west of the Glendale Union High school, where formerly Maryland avenue extended to Colorado boulevard, wish that portion opened as a street and improved. They also want a name for the street.

An application has been favored for O. A. Fish to open a filling

PROPOSED TAX MEASURE IS DISCUSSED

Added Costs to Motorists Estimated If Gasoline Rate Increased

The following article is taken from the Standard Bulletin, December issue, and deals with the question of more taxes for motorists. The Bulletin is published by the Standard Oil Co. (California), of San Francisco.

An economically unsound proposal has been made in California for an increase in the tax on gasoline, and there are reports that similar suggestions have been made in other Pacific coast states.

The gasoline tax, originating on the Pacific coast five years ago, has proved quite contagious, and it is now in effect in some thirty-six states. Its alleged popularity is largely due to its apparent ease of collection brought about by saddling the work and expense upon oil companies, and to a feeling that the motorists who use roads should pay for them, even though this in reality means that a decided minority of the people are made to pay for public improvements which are of unquestionable value and benefit to the whole people.

Those who propose the new California tax ignore this very important economic principle. In California there is one motor car to every 3.5 or 4 people in the state. Under this new proposal between 25 and 30 percent of the people would pay for improvements of obvious benefit to all the rest of the people, who pay nothing.

All Are Benefited
Good roads inevitably benefit all—they increase business in towns, they enhance property values in the country or wherever they pass. For example, a man may own inaccessible property worth fifty dollars an acre. A new state highway passes through and the land becomes worth, possibly, one hundred dollars or more per acre. Yet under this proposed way of financing highway construction—a new way in California and a departure from the policy which created the present splendid highway system—the fortunate property owner pays nothing for the highway beyond, perhaps, ten or twenty dollars a year if he happens to own a motor car.

In California there are no direct state taxes on individuals, other than motor vehicle taxes, the revenues of the state being principally derived from taxes on public and private corporations. Under the proposals which have been made, the present generation would pay for things of benefit to future generations, again a radical departure from the accepted theory of financing permanent public improvements of any character.

The proposed taxes will place a new burden upon an already heavily taxed motorist and upon motor vehicle operation, which is calculated to have a bad effect upon the automobile industry. Motor cars are now taxed in many ways, and each additional tax increases sales resistance, something to which the motor car dealers of the state should give attention.

Motorists' Taxes
The motorist's list of taxes is formidable. First there is a 5 per cent federal excise tax on the purchase of a pleasure car, or 3 per cent on a commercial car. There is also a 5 per cent general excise tax on parts and accessories. If the car is a vehicle for hire, there is a $10 federal occupational tax on vehicles carrying seven passengers or less, and $20 if it carries more than seven.

In California there is a state registration fee of $3 on all cars, while commercial vehicles are taxed up to $50 additional, depending on weight and character of tires. There is in California a two-cent gasoline tax which estimates show amounts to an average of $10 a year for passenger cars and $20 for trucks. Every car owner also pays a personal property tax on assessed valuation.

There are two proposals as to gasoline tax being discussed in California—one for one-cent increase, making a total of three cents, and another for a two-cent increase, making a total of four cents. Nor is this all. It is also proposed that the registration fee be increased from $3 to $5 on all cars, and that the extra weight fees on commercial vehicles be increased by two-thirds. The proposed increases on passenger cars would amount to $7 in one case and $12 additional in another, depending on whether the gasoline tax is one or two cents.

With a commercial vehicle of, say, 4,000 pounds weight, the increase would be $18.66 if the tax is increased one cent per gallon, or $28.66 if the tax is increased two cents, and proportionately greater for heavier cars. These estimates are based on passenger cars using an average of 500 gallons annually and on commercial cars using 1,000 gallons. These are considered conservative figures.

Until recently the gasoline tax has never been passed upon by the people of any state. Always state legislatures have found it a relatively easy task to impose and to collect. At the last election the people of Massachusetts had opportunity to register their opinion. A two-cent-per-gallon tax had been passed by the legislature. The motor car dealers of Massachusetts thought that this addition to an already large list of taxes was too much, and they brought about a referendum. The people spoke, to the extent of defeating the tax entirely by 270,000 votes.

There is another very important point. It is the gross unfairness of singling out any one commodity to carry a great load of taxation

Director

JOHN SMALLMAN, who will direct the presentation of "Messiah" at the Broadway High school tomorrow night.

John Smallman, who is to direct the rendition of Handel's "Messiah" at the Glendale High school auditorium tomorrow night is recognized as the greatest director of oratorio in the west. For the past four months he has been training the chorus of 200 voices of Glendale people and a highly artistic and finished performance of the great Christmas music is assured.

Four soloists will sing, accompanied by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra and a capacity house is indicated by the advanced sale of the reserved seats. Mr. Smallman is a baritone who is recognized as one of California's outstanding artists of musical expression and his voice has been heard many times in concerts in Glendale. At his studio in Los Angeles where he teaches voice, he has a constant waiting list of advanced pupils.

As director of the Los Angeles Oratorio and the famous First Congregational chorus choir, Mr. Smallman has made a name for himself as a musician of high attainment and Glendale is, indeed, fortunate that a director of his high calibre could be persuaded to devote the time necessary to undertake the work of training the large chorus which will give a highly artistic performance.

The production is being given in the interest of better music for the city of Glendale by the oratorio section of the Glendale Music club. Every organization in the city is co-operating with the club to make Tuesday "Messiah Night."

Arrangement has been made with the Pacific Electric railway to provide busses and transportation so that the crowd may be easily taken care of.

GASOLINE TAX FOUGHT BY OIL MEN

Producers Claim State Fee Per Gallon Too High; Plan Campaign

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 15—As a result of the informal conferences held here during the meeting of the American Petroleum Institute the oil producers and distributors of the country have decided to make an aggressive fight against a further increase of state taxes on gasoline.

Some states already are assessing a tax of three cents a gallon and a few of these are proposing to raise it to four. The burden is being borne without any great complaint at the present moment because of the low price of gasoline, but the moment the cost of motor fuel begins to mount, as the oil men say it must within the next few years, there is certain to be a great outcry and the oil companies feel they will be heavily assailed. There fore while they do not have to stand the tax which is always passed on to the consumer, they feel the industry owes it to the motoring public to do all it can to keep the tax within reason.

There is a tendency in virtually all the states to look to a gasoline levy as a means of raising additional revenue. Judge Amos L. Beatty, head of the Texas Company, frankly discussed the situation with his fellow oil executives.

Tax Is General
"Nearly all of the states now impose a tax on some amount on each gallon of gasoline sold," he said. "The tendency is pronounced and continues. The states that are lower than others are inclined to increase their rates. Each seems afraid that it may not obtain its production of revenue compared with other states."

"What will be the situation when production declines and is less than potential consumption? Prices will advance. They will advance and these taxes will apply nevertheless and be passed on to the consumer. The way is just that much added to the price already considered high for a product that must be had. The taxes are not so objectionable when the price is low, and in most states they serve an important purpose.

"But when prices go higher, without the taxes, it may be found necessary to revise the rates downward. What the traffic can stand now it may not stand then. It is always difficult to reduce taxes and we may see the time when these taxes will oppress consumers on the one hand and cut into our sales on the other. That will be bad for the industry, bad for the public and bad for the state."

Hit Fake Promoters
The oil men of the country are going to try to protect the public in another respect—that of riding it of the influence of the fake and flashy promoters. This is one case in which the cooperation of the government at Washington is desired.

There are no actual statistics available but the statement has been made here that the chance of a "wild cat" drilling in hit-or-miss fashion bringing in a producing well is just about one in several hundred. Even where geologists have surveyed field and reported conditions favorable chances are enhanced to only about one in fifty—certainly not more than one in twenty.

The best advice given to a public that is lured so often to invest in oil ventures which are little understood is to buy stock only in a company which is in a continuous business and capable of drilling wells over a number of years. Such a company should get a definite return according to the law of averages but those who back a company or an individual prepared to drill only one or two wells, are indulging in a hazardous bet for high stakes, like betting on a horse in a race of a hundred entries, and have no just cause for complaint if they fail.

Romance of Oil
Yet the romance of oil is far from dead. Only this week in the new field at Wortham, Texas, two gushers have been "shot" running thousands of barrels a day and worth millions of dollars. Here the field had been explored by the geologists, the students of rocks and sands of land conformations and "Domes" and success at certain points seemed almost guaranteed. Yet but a short distance away from the gushers another well had been drilled deeper and deeper with the prospect that the best it may be nothing more than a "pumper" from which a few barrels a day may be reluctantly extracted at high cost.

The geologist is not infallible; "he cannot tap the rocks and produce oil at will." It is his task of "finding oil" was an exact science, oil would be less valuable than it is today. Many dry-hole tragedies have had as their requiem, "The geologist said there was oil."

But, speaking of domes in connection with oil, the name of a certain Tea Pot was not mentioned during the entire session of the oil men. That dome does not mean as much in the industry as the public has imagined. The position of the institute is that the Fall scandals did not touch the industry as a whole.

Honeymoon by airplane was enjoyed by a prominent couple of London recently.

Motorist Held Pending Probe of Auto Crash

Frank C. McClintock of 1261 Elm avenue, was arrested last night by officers of the Glendale police department, at the request of Deputy Sheriff Stoddard of Los Angeles county, following an automobile accident earlier in the night on River road, Los Angeles. Arresting officers went to McClintock's home, where they found him bleeding at the mouth, they said.

WANTED!

Capable business man with from $5000 to $10,000 cash or collateral to aid in financing the continued expansion of a rapidly growing manufacturing and merchandising business in Glendale.

The man desired is one preferably over thirty years of age with a successful experience in sales management or business administration who must be quite capable of assuming responsibility and with the qualities of leadership well developed.

The industry inserting this advertisement is one which commenced operations on June 1st this year with one man, who without capital, friends or credit, and in spite of quiet times and the off season for his line, has in that short time evolved an incorporated industry doing business on a cash basis that now employs a permanent, ever-increasing payroll of thirty-four residents of Glendale.

This unusual record of growth and expansion has been accomplished without ostentatious advertising or promotion schemes and hot air, but, to the contrary, is the result of new, bright and intelligent merchandising ideas, several good formulas, manufacturing A-1 good goods, plus real service, co-operative effort and everlasting hard work throughout the organization.

The business is amply financed for present needs and can give references to satisfy the most exacting, including leading business houses in Los Angeles, as well as banks.

Having made a very satisfactory start in covering the whole of Southern California, this concern is preparing to open a branch in San Francisco on Feb. 1st, for the purpose of handling Northern California, besides which the foundations are being laid for the merchandising throughout the entire U. S. A. of a specialty which is having an immense local sale in California.

This necessarily brief advertisement opens the way for some intelligent man with abundance of ambition and initiative, plus an appetite for work, to secure a hard job involving plenty of toil and responsibility and offering as a reward a substantial interest in the early stages of what is speedily becoming an organization of magnitude and wealthy independence.

Every Dollar Spent In Glendale Stores Makes Glendale One Dollar Richer

Without analyzing the matter one might think the larger the city, the better the stores and the more reasonable the prices. Up to a certain point this is true. The village general store cannot carry the merchandise or offer the shopping facilities of the city department store. Where the population is too small to support them, good stores cannot exist.

Glendale, today, has reached the point where her population can and does support business, professions and trades of all kinds as good as the best.

Glendale has come into her own as a big city and a shopping center in such a short time that her people might be excused if they had not yet awakened to the fact that they need not go out of Glendale to do their trading. We should overlook the matter, also, if some of our newer residents take it for granted that they can buy to a better advantage in a larger city.

Glendale people, generally speaking, have risen to the occasion and have given their support whole-heartedly to the local stores, professions and trades, helping to create a business center that is the envy of larger cities.

The advertisers listed on this page have banded together to promote Community Loyalty. They ask only a chance to prove to the few who trade out of town that they can do their buying in Glendale as advantageously and with far less time and friction than in any near-by city.

The holiday season should be a good time to try out Glendale business. The cars are overcrowded. Traffic conditions are abominable and the big city streets and stores are jammed. Save money, time, strength and shoe leather and convince yourself that you can do as well in Glendale stores as anywhere.

You will not only better yourself by acquiring the habit of trading in Glendale, but you will be helping to build a Greater Glendale, for every dollar spent here makes the city that much richer.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Dec. 15.—The Bible section of the Women's Twentieth Century club will meet Thursday, December 18. The time is 10 o'clock in the morning. The place is the clubhouse.
Mrs. Abigail O. Sheariff, formerly of Davenport, Iowa, now residing in Pasadena, conducts the class. Mrs. Sheariff was superintendent of primary schools in Davenport, conducted the Bible study for the Y. W. C. A. of that city and has given Bible lectures before clubs and societies.
Rev. William Middlemas, pastor of the Presbyterian church, addressed the last meeting of the Women's club, speaking on "Spiritual Preparation for Christmas." There will be no meeting of the club on Thursday, December 25.

J. Angelillo, builder, has erected a mammoth Christmas tree on Oak Grove avenue, which he has decorated and will maintain from this time until Christmas. The tree is at the location of the large sycamore tree on Oak Grove avenue and many are making trips at night to see it with its myriad lights gleaming.
The Travel club of the Women's Twentieth Century club will not meet until the first Tuesday afternoon in January, when the members will gather at the club house from 2 until 4 o'clock and at which time they will begin the study of India. Everyone is welcome.
Miss Ida B. Dumke is entertaining her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. S. Dumke of Laws, California, and her brother, Mr. H. S. Dumke is now on his way to visit his sister for a short stay.

The little daughters of Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes of Alverne avenue will appear with their mother at Glenwood Mission Inn during Christmas week. Little Mary Elizabeth and Bettie Hughes are well known to all radio listeners in who have heard them in their mother's original stories every week for the past year over KFSG or KHJ. They are now broadcasting from KNX.
Snow in the Antarctic during the winter is composed of such small crystals that it is almost like dust.
Only one of the "Seven Wonders of the World" survives, that being the Pyramid of Cheops at Ghizeh,

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Dec. 15.—The schools of this city will be vacant for nearly three weeks, closing December 17 and not reopening until January 5. Three extra days are given, as in other cities of Los Angeles county, in order that Burbank teachers may attend the Institute on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.
The annual election in the local Masonic lodge, just held, places Walter Lawrence in the highest position, that of worshipful master. Others are: Earl Dufur, senior warden; Jack Lockwood, junior warden; L. D. Davidson, secretary, and R. O. Church, treasurer. The trustees are: Chas. B. Fischer, J. D. Radcliff and A. Sence. The appointive positions have not yet been filled nor is the date of installation yet known.

The first section of the Burbank sewer is now practically complete and is being tested by C. J. Doolittle, inspector. This section includes all the main gravity lines from Third street on the north to Flower and Varney streets on the south. All that now remains for the completion of the first section is construction of the pressure system, installation of electrical pumps and turning on of the electricity.
Alex and Hans Ihle of Chicago arrived here recently and are visiting at the home of their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Huber of 440 San Jose avenue. They will spend the winter here. They drove through by automobile in ten days without trouble, making the journey over the Santa Fe trail. Very few storms were encountered, though they found snow in the Colorado mountains.

Judges have been named to pass on the costumes to be worn at the Shriners' mask ball New Year's Eve, at Benmar Hills. They are Mrs. Walter Fisher, Mrs. May Clarke and J. C. Crawford.
Trotzky Visits Resort To Rid Grippe Attack
MOSCOW, Dec. 15.—Leon Trotzky, Soviet commissar for war, has departed for the south, the public health commissar announced today. Trotzky has been suffering from an aggravated case of la grippe and seeks rest, the health commissar said.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Dec. 15.—Pupils of the La Crescenta school will enjoy a turkey dinner tomorrow at the school cafeteria. Potatoes, cranberry sauce, gravy and a generous serving of the kingly fowl will be given each child. Ice cream, pie and other edibles will be extra. To facilitate matters, several of the mothers have volunteered to help in the serving of the meal which is being given instead of the regular Christmas tree and candy, as the school has such an increased enrollment as to make it impossible to seat all parents and children of the district in the auditorium.
The P.-T. A. donated $40 to purchase the turkeys for the dinner while parents of the valley are making and donating the pies.

Mrs. E. L. Wemple of Honolulu avenue, Verdugo City, is entertaining as her house guest her mother, Mrs. E. Flinn, of San Francisco. Mrs. Flinn who has visited here before, has just returned from an extensive tour of the eastern states.
Dr. E. L. Wemple of Verdugo City announces the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Handley of Mills avenue, Honolulu, on Saturday, December 13, 1924, at the Glendale Research hospital where she and her mother are progressing nicely.

CHAPTER LXV

"This is an amazing place, with an amazing atmosphere," he declared. "Even when one entertains like an ambassador—as no ambassador of today could—no ambassador in the background there is that little god calling. We leave our seats at the opera to tempt chance. We forget sometimes, watching the spinning of that wheel, that the most beautiful woman of our desire is waiting for us. How is it with you, Mr. Blunn? They tell me that you are one of the richest men in the world, but I have seen you standing watching that table as though nothing but an earthquake could move you until the little ball had found its place."

"I feel it," Blunn acknowledged. "I have even gone as far, following out the trend of your thoughts, as to try to appreciate the psychological side of it. It isn't always the money that counts. Your Majesty has, if I might be permitted to say so, exaggerated when he speaks of wealth, but still it is not the money at all which one thinks of. There is a personal sense of triumph when your number turns up. You feel that you have backed yourself against a mighty organization and won. You are supremely indifferent to the fact that chance has aided you. You have an absolute conviction that it is your own cleverness. That is the secret of the thrill when your number turns up and the crumples fill your pockets."

Mademoiselle Lebrun sang, and afterwards there was a little movement of departure.

"Will you please escort me up to the Club?" Gertrude whispered to her neighbor.

Grant bowed.

"With pleasure," he assented. There were other influences at work, however. Blunn turned to her good-humoredly, with the air of one making a pleasing announcement. The Prince was laughing a little in the background.

"His Majesty asks for the pleasure of conducting you to the Rooms, Princess."

"If you will do me that honor," the King murmured, bowing. "I shall bring back luck," Gertrude warned him, her voice trembling a little.

"You will give me, even in that event, what counts, perhaps, for more—very charming company," was the gallant rejoinder.

Susan came up to Grant, smiling, about half an hour later. She had left Bobby Lancaster and his sister seated on a divan.

"Aren't you flattered, Grant?" she exclaimed. "You've been labelled dangerous. Kings have been summoned to the help of the terrified husband. Look, they've made the poor woman sit at a table and play roulette, which she hates, with His Majesty on one side, her husband behind her chair, and Blunn, like a patron saint, hovering around."

Grant looked at the little phalanx and nodded.

"Well," he admitted, "I'm half It does seem to be a plot. Where's It does seem to be a plot. Where's your father?"

"Gone home," she answered. "He was very angry with Mr. Blunn."

All the same, it was clever," Grant observed. "I bet he's got a dozen copies of those few remarks of his ready for print and distribution in the States. The audacity of it all is amazing. There were you and I and Gertrude, to say nothing of the whole secret, absolutely within a few yards of him—knew how he fought to get that gloomy Scandinavian back to Nice in time to vote. He just laughs at us and ignores it all. We're only one or two. It is the millions he wants. It's magnificent!"

"Since I'm afraid it's quite hopeless for you to get anywhere near the enchanting Princess, would you like to talk to me for a few minutes?" she invited.

"We'll find that greedy corner in the Bar," he assented, turning away with her, "where you eat up all the chocolate eclairs."

She sighed.

"I wish I weren't so fond of food. People won't believe that I have sentiment when they watch my appetite. However," she went on cheerfully, "I shan't want anything more to eat today, nor tomorrow, as a matter of fact."

"It was a great dinner," he acknowledged. "We'll have an orangeade and go through the courses. They were something to dream of."

"If you're going to talk about food," she began peevishly.

"Not necessarily food," he interrupted, as they selected their easy chairs. "There were the wines—that Chateau Yquem, for instance. Terrible to drink it after champagne, but it was a dream."

"How long are you going to stay in the States?" she asked.

"Until you're grown up," he replied. "Then I'm coming back to see what sort of a woman you have become."

"You will probably find me married to Bobby Lancaster," she warned him. "He proposed to me tonight in an entirely different way and I was really touched. I don't see why one should wait forever for a man who never asks one, and who talks about going to the other end of the world as though he was slipping into Corret's to have his hair cut."

"Meaning me?"

"Meaning you."

For a single moment Grant felt that he had exchanged his thirty-one years for her nineteen. She was smiling at him with all the genteel savoir faire of a woman of the world. He himself was embarrassed.

"Aren't you by way of being an extremist?" he enquired.

"Even if one might hesitate to ask you to leap into sedate middle age, it seems rather a pity for you to marry into the nursery."

"Bobby is twenty-four," she declared indignantly.

"You amaze me," he confessed. "But consider those twenty-four years. We will leave out the perambulator stages. Fifteen to nineteen at Eton—cricket and rackets. Twenty to twenty-four, a guardsman—rather more cricket, rather more rackets. It is a full and busy life, child, but it makes for youth."

She smiled serenely.

"You don't understand," she remonstrated. "Cricket is almost our religion. I asked the Captain of the Australians to

THE GATEWAY

Pola Negri in "Forbidden Paradise," adapted by Agnes Christine Johnson from the stage play, "The Zarina," opens today at the Gateway theatre, showing today and tomorrow.

Ernst Lubitsch, German director who megaphoned Pola through the scenes of "Passion," directed her in "Forbidden Paradise." In support of the Polish star are Rod La Roque, Adolphe Menjou and Pauline Starke.

The story fits the emotional Pola like a glove giving her opportunity to show flashes of the passionate spirit that won her popularity when she first appeared on the screen of this country in the German made picture, "Passion."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Only 38" will open Wednesday for another week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, announces Mrs. Florence Dobinson. This play is one of the most pleasing the Dobinson Players have yet put on and is proving very popular.

Included in the cast are Gertrude Keller, Olaf Hytten, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, William H. Stephens, Thyra Ruhland, Gertrude Rothe, Richard Ehlers and George C. Pearce. Among some of the Glendalians appearing in the college scene are Helen Anderson, Winifred Anderson, Edwards Rothe, Harry Glazier, Maurice Widdows and Harold Teffy.

"Only 38" is from the pen of A. E. Thomas, one of the most popular dramatists in America, and deals with the lighter aspects of college life. It is noted for its comedy situations and clever characterizations.

marry me when I was fourteen."

"He spared you?"

She nodded.

"He gave me his daughter's photograph. She was much older than I was, very thin and she quainted. It wasn't really a romance—it was cricket."

"Is Bobby any good?" he asked.

She sighed.

"That's rather the pity of it," she admitted. "He very seldom makes any runs and he has ninety-five different excuses, or rather explanations, for the way in which he got out."

"I don't think I'm missing much in cricket," Grant reflected. "I played halfback for Harvard. Football isn't a bad game, you know."

She looked at him sympathetically.

"That must have been back in the dim past," she observed. "Long before the sedate middle-aged feeling came upon you."

UNCLE WIGGLY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGLY AND SUSIE'S STOCKINGS

Once upon a time as Uncle Wiggly was hopping through the woods, he saw Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl sitting on a stump. She was all by herself.

"My! I wonder why Susie is sitting there alone?" thought Uncle Wiggly. "Can it be that she has been disorderly in school and the Lady Mouse Teacher has sent Susie out here to be punished? I hope not, but I'll ask her."

As Uncle Wiggly hopped nearer to the little rabbit girl he saw that she had in her paws a pair of stockings with holes in—quite large holes they were, too and Susie's toes must have stuck out when she wore the stockings.

"What is the matter, Susie?" asked the bunny gentleman, "and why are you out here in the woods with holes in your stockings?"

"I came out here to mend my stockings for Christmas," answered Susie, trying to make her pink nose twinkle as Uncle Wiggly did his, "only her nose was smaller. You know it will soon be Christmas for you, if she were going to hang up my stockings to have Santa Claus fill them with presents. But if my stockings have holes in, all the presents will fall out."

"That is very likely to happen," agreed the bunny gentleman.

"But I don't know how to mend these stockings very well," said Susie. "Mother told me to darn them, so I brought them here to the woods."

"Why did you do that, Susie?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"I thought perhaps I might see the Darning Needle bug lady and she would mend my stockings for me," answered the rabbit girl.

"Well, the Darning Needle lady, or Dragon Fly, might mend your stockings for you, if she were here," said Mr. Longears. "But this is winter and the Darning Needles have gone down South, where it is warm. However, perhaps I can mend your stockings for you, Susie."

"Oh, can you? How?" cried Susie.

"I'll show you," spoke Uncle Wiggly. He found a pine tree with some sticky gum trickling from a hole in the bark. The bunny gentleman took some of this sticky gum, and then he gnawed a bit of bark from the white birch tree. Uncle Wiggly gummed pieces of bark over the holes in Susie's stockings.

"There!" he cried. "You can't see the holes any more. It isn't as neatly done as if they were darned, but perhaps it will do."

"Will my stockings hold Christmas presents now?" asked Susie. "I'm going to try. I'll fill them with stones and see if any fall out of the places where the holes were. If no stones drop out then I'll be sure no presents will fall out."

So Susie filled both stockings with stones, and the patches which Uncle Wiggly had gummed on held tightly. Susie swung her stockings around her head and cried: "Hurray!"

"Hurray! Yes, that's what I say!" growled the Woozie Wolf suddenly popping out of the bushes. "Hurray, for I'm going to nibble Uncle Wiggly's ears today!"

"Oh, no you aren't!" sweetly said Susie. "No you aren't, you had old Wolfie, you!" With that she once more swung her stockings filled with stones, and

FRIENDS, FOES IN WILSON TRIBUTE

Private Ceremony Attended By President, Friends Recalls War Head

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—In the same solemn chamber where his spoken word so often affected the destiny of the nation and the history of the world, the friends and foes of Woodrow Wilson gathered today in an official ceremony and paid tribute to his greatness. It was a private ceremony from which the general public was excluded. But, seated in front of the dais, from which in life he uttered the words that sent the nation into the World War, were the president of the United States, an ex-president, justices of the supreme court, senators, representatives, diplomats, the great and near-great of the nation today, old friends and fellow counselors—and, lastly, the little group of relatives who surrounded him in the last day of his tragic exile in S street. They heard from Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, a scholarly presentation of Woodrow Wilson, the student, the man, the teacher, the executive and the crusader.

ONE MAN KILLED IN POWDER BLAST

Glaze Mill Explosion Near Seattle Wrecks Plant; Probe Started

SEATTLE, Dec. 15.—One man was killed and damage to the extent of $100,000 was done to buildings at the Dupont Powder company's plant two miles west of Camp Lewis in an explosion which rattled windows in West Seattle shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The explosion occurred in the glaze mill of the black powder mill, a unit of the major plant where from 120 to 125 men are employed. No explanation of the immediate cause of the explosion was obtainable at the plant. It is customary for workmen to leave the mill when the glazing process starts and with the possible exception of one or two men, no one appears to know what touched off the blast. John Ellgood, the dead man, may have been the only witness to the accident. The company is making an investigation but has not been able to obtain an explanation.

Japan Not to Protest California's Crop Law

TOKIO, Dec. 15.—Stories published in the Japanese press that Japan intends to protest to Washington against the California crop law decision were denied here today by the foreign office, which pointed out that question is one which does not come within the scope of diplomatic jurisdiction.

GEORGE LYONS IS NAMED PRESIDENT

Replaces George Karr Head Of Community Service; Councilmen Speak

George Lyons, Glendale business man and director of the Chamber of Commerce, was unanimously elected president of Glendale Community Service at the first board meeting of the new year today at noon. The meeting was held at the Harriett Mae Tea room. Mr. Lyons replaces George B. Karr, who was named new president of Community Service at the annual meeting several weeks ago. Mr. Karr declined to accept the presidency, due to the press of other business. Alexander Stewart, executive director of the Civic Music and Art association and head of the Elstedford movement in Southern California, spoke at the meeting, declaring Glendale community service was serving to guard against development of over emphasis among the numerous organizations in the city by affording a means of intercommunication between the many clubs. He said this same object was being carried out by the Elstedford by getting all Southern California communities together. He praised the large place given to musical activities in Glendale.

A. L. Baird presided until the election of Mr. Lyons. C. C. Cooper, retiring treasurer, read the financial report for 1924 which showed the organization to be in a healthy condition. Upon motion by Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, secretary, the community service went on record advocating that the Glendale Community Chest drive be continued until the whole quota set at the outset be attained. It was pointed out by Mrs. Hutchinson that community service for one thing, could not readily cut the budget below the estimate already given. A check for a portion of Community Service budget was received today. Richardson D. White declared that a supplementary drive to complete the chest quota was under consideration.

Councilmen Speak
An announcement was made of the community Christmas program to take place at the Harvard High school on Christmas eve when a pantomime, featuring Glendale people and a huge chorus of voices will be held. Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilmen Davis, Kimlin and Gilhuly spoke, pledging support of the city to Community Service and praising the work being done. Councilman Davis declared he believed more support through taxation should be given the movement.

NEW YORK CLOSING

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Bullish factors were in the ascendancy in the stock market today and stock prices in every division of the speculative list moved upward at a brisk pace. The railroad stocks were the first to point the way to the higher levels and a number of stocks in this group featured in sensational advances in prices. Not in ten years has Atchison sold at today's record price of 120 1/2; Central of New Jersey at 270. Baltimore and Ohio, above $80, recorded the highest price since 1917. Great Northern, New Haven and a score of well known rails enjoyed an active market and generally at advances from Saturday's closing levels. Good buying of the copper, equipment, sugar and even the oil stocks revealed the comparatively small floating supply of many stocks in these groups and prices moved forward at a brisk pace. Pools in Worthington pump, Replique Steel and other industrial and specialty stocks displayed them to the best advantage and price gains in some of these stocks exceeded 3 points. Bulls in the oil stocks pointed to the enormous increase in the current consumption of oil products and the prevailing belief that the next move in prices would be upward. General Electric was the outstanding leader in the high priced industrial group. In unusually active trade, the stock pushed up to 234 1/2, a gain of 8 1/2 points and a new high since 1902; cast Iron Pipe gained nearly 8 points and sold up to 144. Buying of this stock today was reported to be for the account of W. C. Durant and other bullish traders who sold a string of their stocks last week. Stock sales 1,734,700 shares; bonds $12,613,000.

Radio Interests Seek Control In Philippines

MANILA, Dec. 15.—The naval radio agreement by which all wireless communication between the Philippines and the United States is controlled by the United States navy will come to an end July, 1925, unless it is renewed, it was learned here today. Officials of the Radio Corporation of America, who are seeking to build a plant here to complete their far eastern system, are said to be trying to block renewal of the naval agreement so that radio communication from the islands may be in the hands of commercial companies. Congress will decide the issue involved, it is believed.

AIR FLIGHT IS DEAF MUTE'S SAVIOUR

English Girl Speaks And Hears After Dive In Plane Tail Spin

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Is the airplane, agency of so many other benefactions, now to offer hearing to the deaf and restore speech to the deaf?

An interview with Gwendolyn Caswell, 20-year-old English girl who was a deaf mute last week but has partial hearing and speech today, is almost convincing that the airplane offers the relief sought for others similarly afflicted.

"Great dives in airplanes should help others who are helping me," the girl says, halting, carefully, barely audible in the first real efforts of her life to speak. Deaf since she was nine months old, like other deaf persons she had failed to learn to talk because unable to hear what she was saying.

"But now, in seven more rides, I am sure that all of my hearing will be restored," Miss Caswell explained slowly. "Now I can hear music, but not words. I can hear singing and orchestra playing. I heard the automobile for the first time. It was wonderful and when all hearing returns, I shall be completely happy."

Take Great Dive
"It was all a pleasant experience. We just went up in the airplane nearly a mile. Then we took a great dive. They called it a tail-spin. There was a bang in my ears as we dropped. After that I heard the motor and on the ground was able to hear sound for the first time."

"Probably others could do the same thing, I hope they can. It is so pleasant to be able to hear."

All this, barely understandable, but said by one who only a day or so ago was unable to speak a word, furnished proof of the airplane's accomplishments. Doctors, the girl said, had been unable to help her. Time after time physicians had reported the ailment incurable.

But through the airplane drop, the changing air pressure had brought a shock to the diaphragm of the ear, which restored its sensitiveness to a degree. That is the explanation the doctors give.

"Registration cards for the realtors' educational class will be provided and all members wishing to join the class may do so at the meeting. Registrations will close Wednesday night, according to D. C. Casselman, chairman of the educational committee."

Jackie Coogan Now Has Tiny Baby Brother

Jackie Coogan is wearing a broad grin on his "million dollar" face today, for his fondest dream has come true. He has a baby brother, born at the Glendale hospital, 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, December 13.

"Of course, I really wanted a sister," he confessed, when he heard the news. "That would have been my dearest dream of all. But deep down in my heart I am glad it's a boy. It's sure wonderful to have a brother."

Jackie's rival for parental affection has lots of dark hair and looks like Mrs. Lillian Coogan, his mother. The baby has not yet been named. Dr. H. G. Westphal was the physician in charge. Mrs. Coogan came to the hospital Friday. Both mother and son are well.

The Coogan suite at the Glendale hospital is literally heaped with costly flowers, bearing the cards of many of the most celebrated stars, directors and producers in the Hollywood film colony.

EXTEND SCOPE OF TRADE CAMPAIGN

C. C. Directors Ask Builders, Contractors to Employ Glendale Men

In accordance with a suggestion made through the columns of The Glendale Evening News by L. L. Byers, 810 South Glendale avenue, and with action taken by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting, the following resolution, extending the scope of the "Try Glendale First" campaign, was given out from the executive offices of the chamber today:

"Moved by Director Fox and seconded by Director Karr, that the 'Trade at Home' resolution be amended by inserting the following paragraphs:

"We further ask all builders, contractors and other employers to co-operate in the letting of contracts to Glendale contractors and the employment of Glendale employees (both men and women) insofar as it is possible so to do;

"We recognize that Glendale employees and the wages they receive are the backbone of prosperity and the greatest means by which business houses and industry may flourish;

"We recognize that the expenditures of these working men and women depend entirely upon the wages which they receive for labor, and that the employment of Glendale labor on any and all occasions is not only right in principle, but necessary for the prosperity and advancement of Glendale;

"Further, that the same principle applies to all lines of business and professional activity in all walks of life and we most sincerely urge that Glendale people in every manner whatsoever give their support to other Glendale people and Glendale institutions."

New Member

WILLIAM V. LAWLOR, who has joined the advisory board of the Gibraltar Finance corporation.

The latest addition to advisory board of Gibraltar Finance corporation, 218 South Brand boulevard, and a man who adds materially to the strength of that board, is William V. Lawlor, 1842 Gardena avenue, who has conclusively demonstrated his business ability in recent years by his efficient handling of the Glendale branch of the Los Angeles Evening Herald. That Mr. Lawlor is a young man of unusual ability along the business line is generally known in Glendale, and his decision to become affiliated with this finance and mortgage corporation, shows conclusively that it is one of leading organizations of its kind in this section of the country.

For four years Mr. Lawlor has managed the Glendale branch of The Evening Herald, during which time he has lived in Glendale, having purchased the home he and his family now occupy on Gardena avenue.

Previous to coming here Mr. Lawlor was circulation manager of the San Diego Sun, and previous to that time he was in the real estate business for six years in Buena Vista.

In becoming affiliated with the Gibraltar Finance corporation, Mr. Lawlor is branching out farther into the business life of Glendale and in so doing has "fixed his wagon to the finest kind of a star."

Sunland's Moonshine In Eclipse for Xmas

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—Sunland's moonshine will not gladden the hearts of scofflaws this Yuletide, according to George Contreras, head of county's dry squad. His men yesterday seized more than 100,000 gallons of mash at a plant near Sunland, north of Glendale, disguised as a peaceful farm. Three stills with a capacity of twenty-five gallons of white lightning daily were dismantled and transported to this city today after the mash had been mixed thoroughly into Mother Earth. Tony Bruno, sole custodian of the plant, is in the county jail. UNDERWEAR IS SETTLED BY SHIVERS

Manufacturers Say Early Fall Proved Record For Sales

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

UTICA, N. Y., Dec. 15.—"What's a read?" That's the cry of the newshybs all over America as they shiver beneath piles of papers. They do not get a complete answer but present production proves that among other things the public reads underwear advertisements. Also that, in spite of the fact that the red flannels of our ancestors have passed except among ball players like "Bullet Joe" Bush in midsummer, the American people take off the short ones and put on heavier undergarments when Jack Frost commences a tour of the country. These facts became evident at the meeting of the Associated Knit Underwear Manufacturers of America here today.

In the underwear business, the early fall proved a record season in the great American sport of passing the buck. Retailers, finding demand dull owing to the open fall weather, declined to lay in heavy stocks. Manufacturers having few orders on their books, declined to "carry the hod" for the retailers. Along came cold weather with a crowd of customers surging around the underwear counters. Retail stocks were soon exhausted. Manufacturers' stocks followed suit and the factories now are working day and night turning out knit garments calculated to withstand the assaults of zero weather.

Shivers decide
A couple of shivers have determined consumers to take not what they want but what they can get. Men who spend their days in steamheated offices are wringing in garments that would do for an Arctic, while outdoor workers in the fields and woods are slapping brisk arms about themselves in medium weight products.

This condition gradually is righting itself and city dwellers are being supplied with garments of worsted, wool, cotton or mixtures of those materials which weigh 10 to 14 pounds to the dozen union suits while the weights of those furnished the country dealers range from 16 pounds to the dozen up. This condition has led to no marked increase in prices. No change is contemplated during the remainder of the heavy weight season. The main effect, however, has been to stimulate demand in advance for spring weights. This buying has been most satisfactory in spite of the unrest in primary markets for wool and cotton.

One thing which the makers of heavies have been able to eliminate is the necessity to scratch. Woolen garments have been so softened in manufacture that much of the dread attending the winter change has been done away with.

morning but will not consider the matter at that time, according to Mr. Sone, it being the unanimous opinion that, out of respect for the memory of Mr. Hall, no hasty action in filling the vacancy should be taken.

Many Applicants Mr. Sone admitted that between ten and fifteen applicants have already approached members of the council and himself, seeking "pledges" that they receive endorsement for the position.

Miss Eleanor Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sawyer of 700 East Windsor road, graduate of Glendale Union High school, class of '22, whose clever acting in the presentation of 'Clare and I' has led her to be chosen as the lead in the junior class play of Occidental college, 'Polly with a Past,' to be given tomorrow afternoon and night at the South Pasadena High school.

GLENDALIAN GIVEN LEAD IN OCCIDENTAL PRODUCTION OF BOLTON COMEDY

The play is a three-act comedy by George Middleton and Guy Bolton. Miss Ellen Haven Gould, instructor in elocution department at the college, directed the production.

There is another church where the attendance at the prayer meeting is quite large for the membership of the church. The church I speak of is the First Church of the Nazarene which has a membership of about 60 and there is never less than 35 and sometimes 40 at the prayer meeting and Tuesday evening, December 2, there were 44 at the meeting. The church probably more members of the Nazarene church that attend the prayer meeting (for the size of the church I mean) than any church in Glendale.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Christmas shopping is at its height in Glendale, with but eight more shopping days. Saturday the stores of Glendale impressed Archie Parker, former merchant, to say he had never seen business better. Also, the stocks are better than ever, he commented to the writer.

Trading in Glendale is a pleasure. The stores are ready for your patronage. The service is better than usual, and as Mr. Parker found, the stocks are quite complete. However, do not delay. If you wait until the day before Christmas you do not give the merchants opportunity to fill broken lines.

Buy your gifts now and avoid the last minute rush.

The question has been raised regarding high taxes in Glendale and other incorporated cities of Los Angeles county—and particularly Los Angeles.

One reason advanced is the large amount of highly populated unincorporated area—a half dozen cities, in fact—dependent on county government, which is charged against the incorporated and unincorporated territory.

There has been a tendency on the part of communities, Tujunga and Casa Verdugo being two of the lesser examples close at hand, not to incorporate, or become a part of some other city. No doubt there are reasons for this, but the people residing in such unincorporated areas are causing costs of county government to mount.

There is one community boasting 25,000 population, just east of Los Angeles, which is not incorporated. Much money is spent there by the county in fire protection, police work done by the sheriff's office and the improvement of highways. Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale and other cities maintaining departments for similar work suffer their taxpayers to be charged for the benefits gained by unincorporated area.

It has been said county officials oppose incorporation, although that assertion is difficult to prove. It might be well for civic organizations to insist that incorporation be urged upon towns and districts of sufficient size to be chartered as cities. Some measure of relief would be granted the county, the writer believes.

City taxes are comparatively low, when one considers the benefits derived therefrom. Communities which are not incorporated have false economy ideas when they continue under county jurisdiction, for it is impossible to the county to meet all their requirements.

But when the county raises valuations in incorporated cities because of the benefits derived from such incorporation, it is time for cities to demand that closely populated county areas pay their own way.

Glendale obtained many hundreds of dollars' worth of publicity from the games won by its high school football teams this season. Also, the high school athletic fund was greatly enriched by the large number attending Saturday's games at Occidental's Patterson stadium.

Double the number of football fans are expected to see this coming Saturday's game between Compton and Glendale. Every loyal civic booster should be present at Washington park to cheer for Glendale. It's a good way to advertise.

And then something by way of a celebration should be held for the football players to let them know how much their sturdy efforts are appreciated.

True Spirit of Xmas Is That of Giving strands of crepe paper, afterwards shellacking the finished article. It is wonderful to be able to give gifts de luxe like the lovely three-strand necklace of pearls clasped with emerald cabochon with wristlet and little finger-ring to match or the fan of ombre ostrich in rose shades, pictured above. But if one cannot give these or other equally luxurious gifts one can put so much loving thought into choosing just the inexpensive gift that will please the friend you have in mind.

In this way you will be happy with your heart full of the true Christmas spirit as you do your shopping or make your modest gifts and the recipient will also be pleased.

I want just to say a word about gifts for children. Did you ever notice how some simple toy from the 10-cent store will please a child and he will play with it for hours and neglect the more elaborate things? Sometimes a child will have many friends and relations who vie with each other in showering it with ingenious toys and the child is soon satiated. The tiny fingers of a child of from two to five years cannot manage the mechanical or electrical toys that the children as the latter can seldom play with them alone. And the tiny girl will love and appreciate a rosy-cheeked rag doll that can go to bed with her and share all her play much more than the fine one that has real hair, opens and shuts its eyes and talks—but must not be handled.
